Undefeated in 17 starts, the Generals will play their final game of the season Sunday night when they meet the First Student Regiment in a benefit game for the American Red Cross. The First Regiment Team is listed among previous victims of the Generals.

Included on the roster of the post champs is Bernard A. Gill, Jr., who was selected All-City, All-State and All-Eastern in 1945, 1946 and 1947. He was also selected All-Southern and in the Durham, N. C. Tournament in 1947. In addition to playing basketball he was a member of the University of Virginia varsity football team in 1947, 48, 49, and 50. He was All-City and All-State in football in 1945 and 1946; All-Southern, 1946; NEA Offensive All-American 2nd Team and Honorable Mention on the Associated Press All-American Team of 1946.

The Third Regiment team will also play the Delta Air Lines March 30.

This game will be a prelim for a meeting between the Herron Globe Trotters and the Hawaiian Sony Club Ambassadors from Honolulu.

508th, ISD Close Season With Victories

Four teams played their last game of the 1952 Fort Benning basketball season Friday night.

The first game of the twin bill saw the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team beat back a determined Provisional Medical Group, 62-60.

The 508th and the Medics had the score tied four times and with one minute to go the score was again tied. It wasn't until the final seconds of the last quarter that the 508th clinched the game on a field goal.

The score, by quarters, with the 508th leading all the way was: 18-19, 37-31 and 51-49.

Walter Larkins, lanky Second Regiment center, led the students to victory with 10 field goals and five successful foul attempts for a total of 25 points. Chuck Clustka, guard, was second high scorer for the students with 24 points.

The score, by periods, with Second Student Regiment on the long end was: 25-10, 44-25, and 65-44.

ASU, CTC Two Win In Final Twin-Bill

In the final twin bill of the 1952 Fort Benning cage season, held at Briant Wells Field House Monday night, the 3440th ASU downed the Lawson Field Flyers 77-71 and CTC No. Two defeated CTC No. One, 97-44.

The victory gave the Service Unit a season total of six wins and nine loses. For the flyers who finished last in the post league, it was defeat number seven against one win.

Area Service unit was paced by their stellar forward, Bill Hahn, who netted a total of 27 points on 12 field goals and three successful foul shots. This gave Hahn a season total of 316 points in 17 games. Harper, guard for ASU was close behind Hahn with 25 points. Center Wesley Braten paced the second game losers with 20 points, while high points man for the winner was Coyler, forward with 16 points.

97 Report For ASU Drill

Looking more like a big league entourage than a single unit team, 97 diamond hopeful last week reported to Coach Lewis Grizzard for ASU Provisional Group's spring baseball drills.

That's enough to field ten teams and still have seven utilitymen and one of the first chores for Grizzard will be trimming the gang to workable size.

Southpaw William Sayers, and Andrew Johnson head a list of 10 pitchers. Sayers, only 20 and a cousin of Brooklyn's Don Newcombe, has played two years of Class B in the Dodger chain, one year with the Newark Eagles in the Negro National League and last year with the Raiders.

Ulus Hale, a vet of 36 years, Bobby Dews, a minor leaguer with 11 years experience and John McCampbell, a class D performer, are listed among the nine catchers.

Eight first basemans are on the roster with L. H. Green, property of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Ervin Johnson, A & M college of Nasvhille, Tenn., expected to battle it out for the job.

Nelvis Tipton, starting his fifth year as a Raider, is among the 11 second base prospects. Third Baseman William Wilson, a class D man, will have to battle 11 men for the hot corner job.

Major Metts, All-Far East pick in 1949, and Frank Early, a man with class B experience, will have competition from nine other short stops.

Bill Hahn, a man who hit .378 for the Raiders last year, Dixie Walker a member of the 1949 All-Far East team and home run king, and Don Harper, property of the Cleveland Indians, find 36 men listed for the outfield positions.

The complete roster:

CATCHERS: Bobby Dews, Ulus Hale, John McCampbell, Waylon Kearney, Richard, Joe Johnson, George Walk-er, James Cochran and Earl Mike.

FIRST BASE: Ben Scotek, Ervin Johnson, Clayton Tolson, James O'Neal, Edgar Poe, James Harman, L. H. Green and Robert Hoffman.

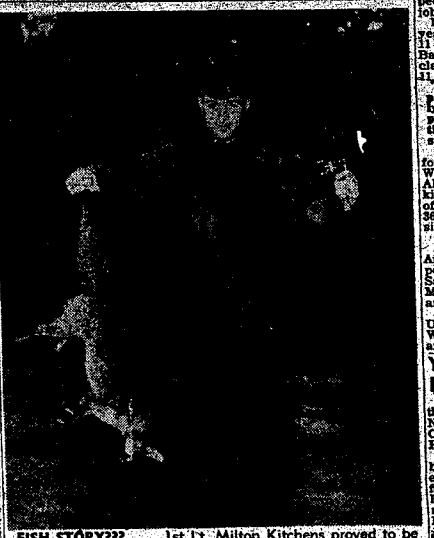
Yankee, Card Game Ducats Go on Sale

Tickets went on sale today for the exhibition game between the New York Yankees and Columbus Cardinals April 7 at Golden Park. Prices range from 95 cents to $2.

Don Bollweg, who played first base for Columbus from 1946-48 is expected to be at the initial sack for the champion Bronx Bombers. He's fighting for the regular assignment after being boosted from Kansas City.



FISH STORY??? . . . 1st Lt. Milton Kitchens proved to be the foxy fellow in another of those "fish stories to end a'l fish stories." While fishing at Mobley's Pond, the rod and reel were jerked from his hand on a cast. Turning around and following the line into the brush, he found the plug hooked into the fox. A bit of fast reeling and a couple of blows from a plank resulted in the scene above.

ASU Holds First Game

Fort Benning baseball enthusiasts have their first glimpse of what to expect this coming season when the Area Service Unit Provisional Group nine played their first inter-squad game of the season Friday.

Catcher Thomas Dozier stole the highlight of the game with a fourth inning, bases empty, home run to deep left field.

Pitchers Chuck Parrish and Ben Johnson hurled shut-out ball for three innings as each team used three pitchers working three innings each.

Giving impressive showings were first baseman L. H. Green, former class B performer, center fielder Bill Hahn, property of the Cleveland Indians and outfielder Don Harper, former player in the Cleveland Indian chain.

Coaches Bobby Dews and Ben Scotek seemed well pleased with the showing of the teams in its initial start although they both point out the pitching seems to give them their biggest headache.

Most of the work is expected to fall on the capable shoulders of Bill Sayers who is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers and who had a 16 and 7 record in the class B Colonial League before joining the Army.

Golf News

A 16 man team from Fort Benning went to LaGrange Sunday to compete in a losers-buy-the-dinner tournament.

The post team did much better than last year, as they held LaGrange to a slight four points margin, 38-34. Last year the Benning team was outclassed to the tune of approximately 30 points.

A return match will be played at Fort Benning on April 6.

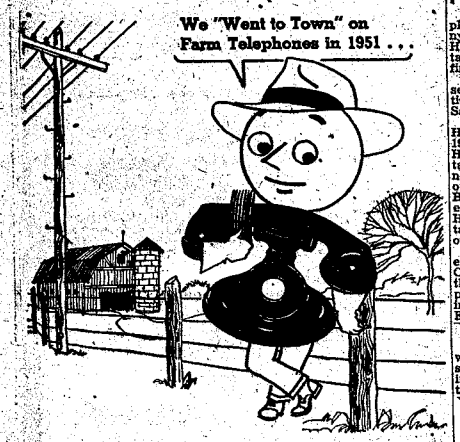
We "Went to Town" on Farm Telephones in 1951 . . .



Southern Rural Telephones Pass the Half Million Mark

THE number of rural telephones served by Southern Bell passed the 520,000 mark in 1951. More than 77,000 were added last year alone.

Even bigger things are planned for 1952, provided we can get the necessary materials. Many more Southern farmers are eager to enjoy the convenience and money-saving advantages of telephone service. We are working hard to fill their needs. And we expect to have another 82,000 rural telephones in service by the end of this year.

Meeting the needs of farm families is a big and costly job. But it's a mighty important job to us—because it's so important to the South's prosperity, in town and on the farm.

Competition Keen As Ladies League Ends

The end of March will also be the end of the Fort Benning Ladies Bowling Leagues for this season.

As the season comes down to the wire, two teams are tied for 1st place in the 8 p.m. league. They are teams three and five.

Top honors for the 8 p. m. league is now being disputed between teams two and five.

Plans are being made for a tournament for the Ladies League but as yet, no definite schedule or teams have been arranged.

Post to Enter Champs in 3rd Army Tourney

The Third Student Regiment, 1952 Fort Benning basketball champion, has accepted a bid to play in the Third Army Tournament at Fort Jackson, S. C. beginning on March 25.

Undefeated in 17 starts, the Generals will play their final game of the season Sunday night when they meet the First Student Regiment in a benefit game for the American Red Cross. The First Regiment team is listed among previous victims of the Generals.

Included on the roster of the post champs is Bernard A. Gill Jr., who was selected All-City, All-State and All-Eastern in 1945, 1946, and 1947. He was also selected All-Southern and All-Duke in the Durham, N. C. Tournament, 1947. In addition to playing basketball he was a member of the varsity football team at the University of Virginia in 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950. He was All-City and All-State in football in 1945 and 1946, All-Southern, 1946; and Honorable Mention on the Associated Press All American Team of 1946.

Guard David Carter, was a member of the 1949 Far East Champs which participated in the All Army tourney.

The Fort Benning champs are coached by Capt. W. C. Hacker, former athletic at the University of Indiana.

Ladies Golf Tourney Draws 1st Place Tie

The regular Friday golf for the Fort Benning Ladies Golf Association was a penalty stroke tournament.

Two of the competitors tied with only four penalty strokes each. They were Catherine Steele and Rachel Vande Vegt. The two will draw at a luncheon to determine 1st and 2nd place honors.

In the 18 hole play, Mary Fry won first place with 7 penalty strokes and Ruth Rafferty came in 2nd with 8 penalty strokes. This twosome was also playing a challenge match with Rafferty taking top billing.

A golf luncheon will be held March 25th at the Country Club.

Post Closing Cage Season

The next to last appearance of any Fort Benning basketball took place Wednesday night at Briant Wells Field House.

First Student Regiment met the Area Service Unit in make-up game that was originally scheduled to be played on Washington's birthday.

League standings will not be affected by the outcome of this game.

Other Benning basketball this week will see the Third Student Regiment in a benefit game for the American Red Cross with the First Student Regiment, on Sunday evening.

This game will start at 8 p.m.

The game is of little importance to the Third Regiment as they have captured the Benning League championship for the 1952 season, with a record of 17 and 0.

The Third Student Regiment recently accepted a bid to play in the Third Army Tournament tha will be held at Fort Jackson S. C., Leginning March 25th.

Blackhawks Suffer

The Blackhawks absorbed their first NCCS Roller Hockey league defeat of the season last night as the Rebels squeezed in a 3-2 triumph over the league leaders.

Jimmy Ennis paced the Rebel victory with two goals, and Earl Conaway added the other. Lee Roe pushed in both of the losers' goals.

CTC Men Run In Florida Meet

BY LEON COHN

Combat Training Command will compete in a regional track and field meet at Florida A & M in Tallahassee March 22. CTC Coach Lawrence A. Williams has accepted an invitation to enter his team against colleges of the Southeast.

Williams welcomes the meet as a tune-up for the Fort Benning track and field tussle next month, and for the Third Army meet in May.

Clifford Williams will go in the two-mile run. He probably won't do it in this first race, but the coach looks for a nine-minute run by Williams before the season is over.

"Cliff is the most improved boy on the team," Coach Williams said last week. "He works very hard, seven days a week, with a schedule for training."

Humberto Ramirez is in the half-mile run. The littie (5'6") Texan has had no running experience, so he will remain a question mark for a while.

The hottest intra-squad battle finds Royce Fortune and Hilton Lyons straining for top spot in the 100- and 220-yard dashes. They've been wheeling around the Doughboy Stadium track neck and neck for weeks now.

George Bell and Kenneth Hampton will team with Fortune and Lyons in the 440 relay. Bell will also be in the broad jump and Hampton doubles as a quarter-miler and mile relay man.

49 Second Quarter

Hampton will run a 49-second quarter this season, Williams predicted. Competing in big meets in New York City from 1947 to last year, he shaved his 440 time to 52 seconds.

Bell is the one bright spot in CTC's field events picture. In an Indiana State high school meet in 1949, he sailed 23 feet. Williams looks for Bell to tack on another three feet to that mark.

Joseph Theard, a powerful 210-pounder, has been working with the shot and discus. Eddie Washington, who played football and now boxes for CTC, also came out last week to try his hand at the strong-arm field events.

Oscar Gonzalez shapes up as the CTC miler. Coach Williams expects him to run the glamor event in about 4:25 or 4:30. In the 1947 and 1948 high school Border Olympics in Texas, he won the mile in the 4:40s and the 880 in around 2:12.

Lionel Pinn, the marathon runner, has been helping Williams coach the team. At the same time, he's training for the five-mile run in the post meet. He won't run in Tallahassee.

Both Williams and Pinn are optimistic about their prospects in the Benning meet next month.

Intensive Training

"For one thing," Williams pointed out, "we're the only ones who have been training. The boys work hard and have gotten into good shape. Some of them are out here in Doughboy Stadium even on Sundays."

Edward Brooks, the team medic, concurs on the team's good shape, although he has been kept busy working the knots out of weary muscles.

Besides physical conditioning, Williams and Pinn have been pounding hard on such technical fundamentals as pacing and proper starting positions. Like a general at his observation post, Williams uses binoculars to keep tabs on how his runners follow the rules of floating and breathing as they circle the big track.

The team looks forward to the Florida A & M meet for the chance it offers to work out on a good—and dry—track. The cinder track was under two to three inches of water, last week forcing the Commanders to run on mushy grass.

All Work, No Play No Good

Figures compiled by their athletic and recreation officer, Lt. Donald LaBlanc, show that some 2,000 men take part each week in Third Student Regiment's sports program. But that doesn't sound right—there aren't that many men in the regiment.

The answer, of course, is that most participate in several or more sports each week, and that brings out another slightly phenomenal fact. The Third is an officer candidate outfit. These ambitious youngsters don't get time off for sports play. In fact, OC training sometimes seems to them designed solely to keep them from doing anything but train.

Still nearly every man in the company is engaged in some sport. Exhibit A for the Third is their entry in the

See Other Pictures Pages 14 and 16

Fort Benning Basketball League. The Generals, after speeding in from a field problem minutes before game time, have won 17 straight to cinch the 1952 post championship.

There have been several occasions when Coach W. C. Hacker has had to play minus two or three regulars up to their neck in duty. And heaven help the basketball player—or any other Third athlete—who gets so many demerits in his training. He's automatically off the squad until his academic work shows vast improvement.

A stranger driving through the Third S. R. area might think he had accidentally wandered into a convention of fireflys. Actually, it's just an endless number of light bulbs on extension cords hanging out the windows of barracks.

The purpose? Night volleyball. It seems to be a passion with officer candidates. One of the Third's best players is Lt. Col. Joe Lamb, commanding officer of the First Battalion. (Col. Harry Grizzard, Third S. R.'s c.o., was an outstanding Army boxer in his West Point days.)

When the Third wanted to shape up some fighters for the current post ring series they had to "beg" a seldom used supply room area, clear and furnish it, before they had a "gym." Cpl. Ferman Edwards was the wheel behind this project.

Like everybody else, the fighters do their daily training after duty hours and on weekends. When they get hit with one of the inevitable details—like charge of quarters — they pinch hit for each other; another fighter will relieve the CQ while he goes through his sparring session.

Softball and baseball are the next items on the Third's agenda. Yep, they have to build their own fields. Lt. Robert Brown is in charge of the softball project and Cpl. Warren Stroh the baseball.

OC Here Was Pro Prospect

Twenty-seventh Officer Candidate Company, Third Student Regiment, has an officer candidate who was also a candidate for the Philadelphia Eagles pro-football team before the Army took over.

Mike Kayserian began his football career at the University of Detroit where he was enrolled as a physical administration student. From 1946-49 he played with the U. of Detroit as fullback and was selected as all-conference several times. The Associated and United Press gave him honorable mention on their all-American teams of 1947 and 49.

Candidate Headlough, who hails from Canton, Ohio, was skating with Barbara Ann Scott back in 1938 when both were young amateurs.

Skating a duet with Donna Atwood and also having a solo act, he was well launched on his professional career with the 1940-43 Ice Capades when he was drafted in 1943.

In 1946 he went back to the Capades but reenlisted in 1948. He was stationed at Juneau, Alaska, with the Air Force.

He joined an inactive skating club in Juneau, sparked it to a figure-skating program and conducted a membership drive which brought enrollment up to 400.

It was as a sideline to this drive that he became interested in Alaska's "Fur Rendezvous."

What "Pioneer Days are to Nevada, the 'Fur Rendezvous" is to Alaska. Queens are crowned, a dog sled marathon is held, and other Alaskan features are put on.

Candidate Headlough's contribution to the "Fur Rendezvous" was a production he had masterminded for his club's 1950 membership drive. With the help of the Army, Navy and Air Force, he set up an outdoor ice rink and auditorium with all equipment necessary to stage "Hello Alaska", his northland ice-capade.

With an initial outlay of $7,000, the show netted $16,000 and at the same time giving 9,000 snow-bound servicemen a good show.

Candidate Headlough plans to keep up with his skating in the Army but hopes to make the service a career.

74 End Course At Food School

Twenty-six students from the mess management course, 40 from the cooks course and eight from the baking course were graduated from the Third Army Area Food Service school Mar. 15.

Pfc. Leola J. Robinson, WAC detachment, Fort Benning, was selected as the honor student in the mess management course, which was designed to prepare qualified noncommissioned officer and selected individuals for the operation and supervision of a unit or consolidated mess. She was awarded a Parker "51" pen and pencil set.

Top student in the baking class was Pfc. Donald E. Micodemus, 301st Food Service squadron, Barksdale Air Force Base, La. He was awarded a bakers decoration set for the course which trains selected individuals in the preparation of pastry in central pastry shops and organizational kitchens.

Cpl. Charles F. Shepherd was the number one student in the cooking course and was presented a set of cooks knives for leading the class.

paign is $85,000,000. Well over a third of the national goal, according to Colonel Perez, is expected to be required for the sole benefit of fighting men, hospitalized men in training, and their families.

The Red Cross has a professional staff at 170 military installations and 158 military hospitals in the U.S. and overseas who work with hometown chapters of the Red Cross in nearly every county in the Union.

Since the outbreak of the war in Korea and stepped-up military training, the Red Cross has had to almost double its number of paid staff assigned to installations, hospitals and in the Korea battle zones.

Army Field Forces Board No. 3, $250.50, 100 per cent

The Infantry School, $803, 100 per cent

The Infantry Center headquarters, $222.50, 97 per cent

First Student Brigade, $10,-864.65, 83 per cent

Combat Training Command, $4,494.54, 73 per cent

Area Service Unit Provisional Group, $2,383.81, 71 per cent

Provisional Medical Group, $834.89, 60 per cent

508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, $1,899, 53 per cent

Infantry School Destchment, $1,182.70, 42 per cent

Civilian Personnel Division, $1,086.34, 28 per cent

Lawson Air Force Base, $500.48, 24 per cent

The Fort Benning Woman's Club has contributed $50, and an additional $500 has been collected through special events held in connection with the campaign.

School in September. He was graudated the following May.

In 1934, General Young was graduated from the signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Then, as a captain he returned to Fort Benning to become an instructor at The Infantry School. In February, 1937, he was appointed assistant secretary of The Infantry School.

Next step in General Young's career was the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he was graduated in June, 1938.

In August, 1939, he was assigned to Schofield Barracks Hawaii, where he became assistant to the assistant chief of staff of the plans and operations division. He joined the 27th Infantry Regiment at Schofield in July of the following year.

Returning to the U. S. in 1940, he was aide-de-camp to the commanding general of the First Army Corps in Columbia, S.C. In July, 1941, he was assigned to Washington, D. C., for duty with the assistant chief of staff, G-4.

Later, in Washington, he was ordered to duty in the Office of Chief of Staff, as assistant secretary, War Department General Staff. In June, 1941, he became secretary, War Department General Staff, in September, 1942, and remained in that position until March, 1943, when he was named assistant commander of the 70th Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash. In June, 1943, he was promoted to the rank of brigadier general.

In October, 1944, he was assigned to the Mediterranean Theater of Operation and in 1945 became assistant division commander of the 3rd Infantry Division, taking part in the action which brought about collapse of German resistance.

In 1945, he was appointed commanding general of the Military District of Washington, with headquarters in the Pentagon.

He was chief of staff of the U. S. Army in the Pacific with headquarters at Fort Shafter, Hawaii from May 1949 until July 1950.

In the fall of 1951 General Young assumed command of the Second Infantry Division in Korea. Prior to this assignment he was with the 82nd Airborne Division.

He was promoted to the rank of major general in 1951.

General and Mrs. Young have one daughter, Corinne, who is married to an Air Force officer. The Young's also have a grand-

RYTHM-ADD INSTRUCTOR SHOWS HAND POSITION

Unique School at Benning Believed Only One of Kind

A unique course, believed to be the first of its kind in the Army, is in progress at The Infantry Center finance officer for finance clerks.

The school is being conducted by Hollis Shiflett, local representative of the Monroe Calculating Machine Company. A 10-hour course, it is meeting for one hour a day, with approximately 40 students in each class.

Mr. Shiflett reported that although he knows this course has been offered to many large firms before, this is the first time it has ever been given at an army base. "I know it's the first time at Fort Benning," he said, "and probably the first time in the Army, so far as I know."

Mr. Johnson said "This rythm-add method could be compared with the touch system in typing. Rather than punch at the keys on the adding machine with one or two fingers, all the fingers are used in a smooth, flowing motion. It's like a person who's been using the hunt-and-peck system of typing switching over to the touch system. He can type faster and more accurately.

"Thus, a person using the rythm-add system will be able to make computations much more rapidly than the person punching the keys."

The course deals mainly with the "Rythm-add" method employed exclusively by the Monroe Company. Willard Johnson, chief of the military pay branch in The Infantry Center Finance office, said that the course is expected to increase the efficiency of clerks by 30 per cent.

"The company guarantees this," Mr. Johnson explained, "in so far as possible where the human factor is concerned. We're very fortunate in having Mr. Shiflett to conduct this course for us, since he has just returned from a two - week course his company offers for field representatives.

Clerks who successfully complete the course will receive a certificate that is recognized by any firm utilizing calculating machines, Mr. Shiflett reported. "That's going to be a boon for a lot of these people when they get out of the Army and begin looking for a job," he said, "Companies such as insurance firms, banks, and other organizations like that almost always honor these certificates, for they know what they stand for.

Library Tells Concert Plans

Two concerts, one at the Main Post Library and the second at Branch Library No. 1 in the hospital area will be held on Mar. 24-25.

The library at the Main Library at 8 p.m. on Mar. 25 will consist of Rostelanetz's Carnival Tropicana, which includes Sibonay, La Cumparsita, Malaguena, Adios, Yours, Caminito and La Golondrina; Tchiakovsky's Nutcracker Suite, with Eugene Ormandy conducting the Philadelphia Orchestra, and Strauss - Dorati's Graduation-Ball Ballet, with Antal Dorati conducting the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

The concert in Branch Library No. 1 at 8 p.m. on March 26 will include Greig's Concerto in A Minor with Arthur Rubinstein, pianist, and Antal Dorati conducting the RCA Victor Symphony Orchestra, and Offenbach's Gaite Parisienne, with Arthur Fiedler conducting the Boston "Pops" Orchestra.

HS Diploma Uneeded

(AFPS) Educational requirements for enlistment in the Women's Army Corps and Women in the Air Force have been lowered. A high school diploma is no longer necessary.

A high school equivalency examination has been instituted, passage of which will qualify the applicant for enlistment examinations. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 35. The minimum enlistment periods are two years for the WAC and three years for the WAF.

VOL. 10 NO. 27 THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1952 Published by The Ledger-Enquirer Co. for America's Most Complete Army Post Twenty-eight Pages

34 Families Begin Living In New Unit

Thirty - four Infantry Center officers' families have set up housekeeping since March 1 in new off - post quarters, and another 16 families are expected to occupy quarters in the same development by the end of this month.

In early June, all units of the newest housing project — the 200 - unit Upatoi Terrace development — are expected to be completed and occupied.

The 2,000,000 construction project began Nov. 14, 1951, in the area east and south of Custer Road Terrace and Battle Park homes. On March 1, 18 families moved into the first completed units.

Columbus' Jordan company, builders of the modern homes, is erecting two types of units in the 83 - building project — a two-family, single - story duplex and a four - family, single story unit. There are 132 duplexes and 68 of the larger four - family homes.

Ownership

Ownership of the buildings will be retained by the Benning Housing corporation which leased the land from the government for 75 years under provisions of the Wheery Act, a bill allowing private contractors to build on government land.

Originally, the project was planned as an additipon to Custer Road Terrace, a 600 - unit project built in 1950. But, only 50 of the new units are adjacent to Custer. The other 150 Upatoi Terrace units are south of Custer Road.

Only kitchens in the new homes will be completely furnished. Additional household furnishings must be installed by occupants.

The rental range of the units will fall into two categories—$70 and $80 a month.

Two - bedroom units will rent for $70, and three - bedroom units will rent for $80.

Third Development

Upatoi Terrace is the third large housing development to rise in the wooded areas just outside Fort Benning's main gate. Its proximity to Battle Park and Custer Road Terrace will permit families to use the shopping center in Custer Terrace.

Brig. Gen. Marcus B. Bell (ret.), former Infantry Center G-4 and now one of the Jordan company's chief field executives, said brighter trim colors are being used on outside doors and window sills. He also said a better quality asbestos material is being used on fronts of the brick veneer units.

General Bell said that designers and landscapers have arranged streets and living units to allow lawn space for children. He said particular emphasis has been placed on overall beautification of the project.

Red Cross Calls for Aid As It Helps in Disaster

As the annual American Red Cross membership drive passed its midway point this month, a large area in Arkansas and surrounding states was overwhelmed by disastrous tornadoes which in their wakes left hundreds of dead, more hundreds of injured, and property damages running into as yet uncounted millions of dollars.

Into this horror-stricken area the American Red Cross has rushed trained workers to succor the injured and to feed, clothe, and provide emergency shelter for the homeless.

The Red Cross has made a sum of one million dollars immediately available for this work of mercy. It is estimated that another four million dollars will be required to meet the human needs which will arise from this greatest tornadic catastrope of the last decade.

This calamity has struck at a time which finds the funds of the Red Cross depleted as a result of normal operations during the past year. It has therefore become increasingly imperative that Fort Benning's contribution to the current Red Cross drive be a substantial one.

The added burdens imposed upon the Red Cross by the recent disaster will not result in a separate appeal for funds. Instead, the current annual drive will be reinforced by the urgency of the requirement for aid to the stricken victims.

As the need has been augmented, so must our contributions be magnified. Now, more than ever before, 100 per cent membership in the American Red Cross by personnel of Fort Benning is an absolute essential.

Benning Saves 3 Million Dollars

Cost-Conscious Quartermaster Pushes Program With a Supply Control System

BY SFC PAT MURPHY

Cost-conscious Quartermaster officials have been gambling with a new supply control system here and the seven-month experiment has saved American taxpayers a whopping $3 million.

The huge savings was made by redistributing excess Infantry Center supplies and equipment stored here over a period of time.

The materiel is being put back on national supply lists to prevent re-ordering of the same equipment.

Quartermaster officials here began the seven - month economy blitzkrieg in August, 1951, by appointing an overall storage officer for Fort Benning warehouses.

Maj. Robert E. Goff, of Tioga, La., the new storage chief, was directed to centralize and coordinate storage and issue at all supply branches — property, subsistence and clothing.

Combed Warehouses

Major Goff and staff of supply surveyors combed warehouses here and found 1,000 tons of excess supplies, ranging from cotter pins to a huge mobile laundry van.

The equipment included 61 tons of assorted clothing, 304 tons of supplementary clothing equipment, 57 tons of furniture, 620 tons of general administrative supplies and six tons of canned food.

At least 100 railroad boxcars were loaded with the equipment and sent to Fort Worth, Tex., to be stored in a large supply redistribution depot.

A new type system of storage control is the basis for the tremendous savings, Major Goff said.

Heretofore, all Army posts, camps and stations have had independent supply sections governing subsistence and clothing and no centralized control was used to keep close watch on overall supply and storage.

New System

But, the new system puts all these sections under a coordinating office which can closely watch storage accumulation through preparing overstock reports and requiring Quartermaster have had a centralized supply control, and the experiment at Fort Benning may be the beginning of an Army - wide changeover in control processes.

Major Goff explained the system this way:

Army supplies and equipment are sent to installations from large Quartermaster depots. When materiel arrives at posts, it is ordinarily consumed within a 90-day period.

Twelth JCOC Plans Ready

Sixty business and professional men are expected to attend the Army phase of the 12th Joint Civilian Orientation Conference which opens here April 4.

These conferences, sponsored by the Defense Department, are designed to show selected civilians what the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps are doing to build up U.S. defense.

The civilian group will arrive at The Infantry Center at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 3. The following day, they will see an Infantry School weapons demonstration, climaxed by the mad minute during which all Infantry weapons are fired simultaneously.

Lunch at the Third Food Service School with enlisted men of the Combat Training Command will be followed by another Infantry School demonstration, Battalion attack.

Official Reception

An official reception and dinner at the Main Officers Mess that evening concludes the first day's program.

The itinerary for Saturday, April 5, includes an Infantry tank team in the attack demonstration and a visit to the Airborne area to witness paratrooper ground training.

The visitors are scheduled to leave Saturday afternoon for the Pensacola, Fla., naval base.

Prior to coming to Fort Benning, the civilians will visit Washington for a series of conferences with Defense Department officials and the Quantico, Va., Marine base and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., for demonstrations.

Among those expected to attend the conference here are Theodore Ammusen, Chief editor, Henry Holt and Company, Publishers; Herold E. Boeschenstein, president and director, Owens - Corning Fiberglas Corporation; James W. Carmey, chairman of the board, Pan-Am Coln Company; Walter J. Currie, deputy assistant administrator, National Production Authority; Ralph Damon, president Trans-World Airlines Inc.; Major Alexander P. de Seversky, director of Republic Aviation.

T. F Dorsey, president, Pittsburgh Steel and Foundry Corporation; John Kieran, writer; Dr. Floyd Miller, vice chairman of the Defense Department's Research and Development Board; Judge Warner Peck of the New York Supreme Court, and Richard L. Simon of Simon and Schuster, Publishers.

RC Gifts Near $28,000 Mark

Contributions to the 1952 Red Cross fund - raising campaign here rose to $27,897.62 this week, a gain of $2,590.71 over last week as officials reported 73 per cent total post participation.

Although no monetary goal has been set for this year, the ultimate goal as set by Col. Gines Perez, executive chairman of the drive is 100 per cent total post participation.

Major units that have reached the 100 per cent total participation mark include Army Field Forces Board No. 3, The Infantry School, Headquarters, The Infantry Center, and American Red Cross Civilian Personnel.

John A. Cramer, field director of the Red Cross here, expressed his gratitude towards the men and women of the post in their cooperate effort to attain the goal Mr. Cramer said, "at the current rate of donations, I feel confident that we will attain our goal and perhaps surpass the monetary donations of last year."

Fort Benning is currently ahead of last years figures for the comparable length of time, and we can well be proud of the cooperation of our personnel", Mr. Cramer said.

National goal for the 1952 campaign has been set at $65,000,000. Well over a third of the national goal, according to Colonel Perez, is expected to be required for the sole benefit of fighting men, hospitalized men; men in training and their families.

Major unit contributions to date and their percentages of participation are:

General Young Can Jump Too

Finished Benning's Airborne Department During 1950

The new commander of The Infantry Center will know his job from the ground up as well as from the sky down.

Major Gen. Robert N. Young received his silver parachute wings from The Infantry School's Airborne Department a little over a year ago. Lt. Col. Richard Seitz, department director, recalled here Friday.

The tough, hard-hitting leader of the Second Division in Korea began his career as a parachutist in August, 1950, when he was named assistant commander of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.

In preparation for his new assignment, General Young, then a colonel, enrolled in The Infantry School here for the rigorous 12-week basic airborne course. Forty years old at the time, he completed the course with keeping pace with men young enough to be his sons.

British Officer Praises TIS

A British Army official, last week termed the mission of The Infantry School here a colossal task.

Brig. I. H. Goode, chief of the British Army staff in Washington, is touring eastern Army installations because he doesn't "believe one can sit in an office chair — even in Washington — and know what goes on in the rest of the country one is in."

The British Army official said he was particularly interested in U. S. Army training, because such knowledge aids in cooperation between British and U. S. Army forces. "My job is to see further, such harmony as possible," he added.

"I am an Infantryman myself," Brigadier Goode explained, "and I have always wanted to see the home of the United States Infantry. In addition I have a kindred feeling for The Infantry School because I served at the British Middle East School of Infantry in Palestine after the last war."

Brigadier Goode visited Fort Monroe, Va., and Fort Bragg, N. C., before coming to The Infantry Center. He returned to Washington Saturday.

Swedish Major Visits Benning, Ranger Camp

Major Anders Grafstrom of the Swedish Army returned to Fort Benning Monday from Dahlonega, Ga., where he visited The Infantry School's Ranger training camp.

The Swedish officer watched Ranger trainees studying mountain tactics at the North Georgia camp.

He left Tuesday morning for New Orleans, La.

Pictorial History Shows War Photos

WASHINGTON (AFPS)— Two volumes of outstanding photos taken in the Mediterranean and European areas of operation during WWII are now being published, the Army announces.

Compiled by the Army's Office of the Chief of Military History, they are: "The War Against Germany and Italy: Mediterranean and Adjacent Areas" and "The War Against Germany: Europe and Adjacent Areas." Both will be sold through the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office.

The books are part of a pictorial record contained in the Army's official narrative "The U. S. Army in World War Two."

Military personnel taking part in "Operation Longhorn," the three-week Army-Air Force maneuver that began in Texas Tuesday, will receive the same Red Cross services they're accustomed to getting in garrison.

The Red Cross task force for the operation will include 25-30 men and women. Field directors of larger units have accompanied these units and will remain with them all the time they're in the field.

Women Red Cross workers will be assigned to the evacuation hospitals spotted throughout the 1,900-square, mile maneuver area.

Principal job of the Red Cross personnel while on maneuvers will be that of handling emergency communications that may arise while servicemen are in the field. For example, sudden illness at home that requires a soldier's presence will be communicated to the field director by the serviceman's hometown Red Cross chapter.

The field director, in turn, will inform the man's commanding officer so that appropriate steps may be taken to get the man on his way home. Field telephones, radio and other facilities will be utilized by Red Cross personnel to communicate with the Red Cross telecommunications terminal that has been established at Fort Hood.

Field directors will be prepared to deliver personal messages to servicemen who cannot be reached by field communications facilities. Women hospital workers of the Red Cross will provide personal and recreational services for men hospitalized while on maneuvers, in addition to any emergency communication or other welfare services.

EMERGENCY SERVICE

Tire repair and emergency gasoline delivery service, formerly offered by the Fort Benning Exchange filling station will be offered by Cox and Kennon garage in the future, except on Sundays, when the filling station will continue to offer the service.

Benning Children's Schools Report Large Increases

Fort Benning's children's schools have grown from a three-teacher, 60-student affair 31 years ago to a whopping enrollment of more than a thousand students this year.

The first school was a converted mess hall in the old Academic area that was used as a night school for soldiers. Today, Fort Benning has five separate school buildings with a sixth under construction.

But the growth has been more than merely additional buildings and increasing the teaching staff of 34.

"Improvement of the calibre of the teaching staff is far more important than bigger buildings and better equipped playgrounds," Mrs. Hazel Scudder, principal says.

This year, for the first time, all the teachers are members of the Georgia Education and National Education Associations.

Last year, the school's curriculum was completely revised. The course of study was designed to meet the individual needs of each pupil. It was adopted as a permanent plan.

Another innovation in the Benning schools' advancement is the personal conference, which is scheduled twice a year with the student's parents. The teachers make regular appointments with the fathers and mothers and discuss their child's points—whether good or bad.

"These makes the relationship between the parent and teacher more concrete, and both can better work towards a school's true goal — to teach the children to think and make decisions for themselves," Mrs. Scudder says.

The physical plant for the school system has grown from the old mess hall to include the Main Post school, which was completed and occupied in 1931, the Hospital Barracks school, which was opened in 1949, the Custer Terrace school completed in 1951, and the Benning Park school, which was opened last year.

In addition to the conventional reading, writing, and arithmetic, the Benning schools offer a variety of extra activities to the energetic youngsters. Last year, expanded physical education activities were made a part of the every day activities as well as an enlarged music program.

The library at the Main Post school has expanded until it has 3,263 books on the shelves. Included are the newest guild books, progressional works, newest new encyclopedias, and many science reference volumes. The library also subscribes to 35 magazines and has a collection of 18 record stories.

Last year, a service training program was set up for the teachers. They study all during the year. An art workshop was established and the teachers had 15 hours of work under the guidance of a special art instructor.

Lt. Col. Lewis T. Martin, Benning School officer, explained, "We are constantly striving to prepare today's pupils for the future. We are helping them in physical, mental, emotional, and social readiness. By the close relationship of teacher, pupil and parent, we find that the high goal we have set is within our reach."

JAG Chief Ends 4-Day TIC Visit

Major Gen. Ernest M. Brannon, the Army's judge advocate general, left Monday for Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., following a two-day inspection of The Infantry Center.

While at Fort Benning, General Brannon conferred with Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, and discussed legal problems with Col. E. J. Walsh, Infantry Center judge advocate.

He was accompanied by Cols. William P. Connally, and Reginald P. Miller, both of his staff in Washington, who interviewed applicants for detail to the Judge Advocate General Corps.

Gen. Brannon is scheduled to visit Camp Rucker, Ala., before returning to Washington. He has already inspected judge advocate activities at Fort Bragg, N. C., and Fort Jackson, S. C.

Officers Mess Alterations Told

New alterations to the upstairs and downstairs of the Main Officers Mess (Club) that will cost approximately $44,000 before they are completed have been undertaken by three Columbus contractors.

First Lt. Walter C. Burgess will supervise the construction.

Cost of the new construction will be paid for from club funds. No government money is being used to make the alterations.

Columbus contractors who will accomplish the alterations are: L. H. Peterson, Superior Fixture Co., and J. B. Geiger and Co.

The date the alterations will be completed was not available.

C of C Officials See Fire Power Demonstration

Officials of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce saw convincing proof of Infantry fire power as they witnessed a demonstration here of the Infantry-tank team in attack Thursday.

The civilian guests, members of the Chamber's board of directors were visibly impressed as tanks swept a hill with smoke flares and saturation fire.

Late in the afternoon, the group joined test pilots from the Lockheed Airplane Corporation, here to learn the Army way of parachuting from aircraft, to watch students training at The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

Spring Fashions Previewed At Annual Women's Show

More than a hundred new fashions for the coming season were shown to a packed audience in the Officer's Club Monday night when the Fort Benning Woman's Club staged its annual fashion show.

"Spring Comes to Fort Benning" was the theme of the 1953 production which featured clothes from Columbus stores worn by members of the club who paraded down a ramp erected in the elaborately decorated club room.

Mrs. Daniel H. Hundley was narrator for the show, which included a wide range of fashions from the most casual cottons to exquisite gowns for formal wear.

One surprise of the evening was participation in the final events of the show by a group of 15 foreign officers now in training at the Infantry School.

In other showings the Woman's Club easter was supported by men in full-dress evening attire.

Showing the latest fashions for the younger sets were Jeanne Sanders, young daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Cecil Sanders, and Christopher Dalla, whose parents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. George C. Dalla, Jr.

The adult models included Mesdames Richard Bresnahan, Howard Beslmear, John C. Cotley, Roger Whiting, Claude Joy, C. B. Hazelrigg, Jean W. Holstein, George Milliner Jr., Robert Daily, Robert Kinkor, Warren E. Nossaman, Joseph Thompson, Allen Burdette, James H. Reynolds, Allen Leonard, Robert Sonstille, Bernard W. Rogers, David L. Cantor, Eldene, Kaufman, Jack Brown, Kelly Arthur Parchen, Robert Sharrer, Charles R. Karlstad, William Beachler, Edmond Lutgarden, Richard Darnell, Fred Black, Wade McKinnon, and Robert O. P. Richmond.

Allied officers participating were Maj. Anders von Buchwald, Denmark; Maj. Vitangelo Mirto, Italy; Maj. Hugo Araeu, Brazil; Maj. Jean Fichoux, France; Maj. Jens Poulsson, Norway; Maj. Hans Ulrich Von Erlach, Switzerland; Capt. Rolando Bernal, Colombia; Lt. Gerhard Van Der Linden, The Netherlands; Lt. Charles Wilmott, Belgium; Capt. Claudio D'anna, Italy; Capt. Rene Meloy II, Denmark; Capt. Gerrit Tack, The Netherlands; Maj. Mario Mossa, Italy; Maj. John Esseman-Beck, Denmark; and Lt. Oscar Van De Pant, Belgium.

The men's evening attire came from Watson-Wade.

School Kids Enact Oils in Assembly

The Children's School regular assembly program on Tuesday featured great paintings portrayed by the students of the fourth grade.

Set in a frame of spring flowers, the famous paintings presented were Boy With Rabbit by Raeburn, Wade Morris; Age of Innocence by Joshua Reynolds; Karen Carel; Blue Boy by Gainsborough, Jimmy Jones; The Torn Hat by Thomas Bailey Kenneth Williams; Song Of The Lark by Jules Breton, Carolyn Wayland, and The Strawberry Girl by Joshua Reynolds, Kay Cowan.

CTC Personnel Hold Family Day Services

Combat Training Command personnel were guests of honor at Family Day services conducted in Chapel No. 4, Sand Hill area, Sunday.

Red Cross Has Helping Hand

Giving to the Red Cross is like taking out insurance—every person in need of help is a potential beneficiary because Red Cross aid reaches out to whoever is in need.

Floods, tornadoes, fires and wars are all in the realm of aid so freely handed out to everyone who has real need. Everyone benefits and it's a privilege for everyone to give. And to soldiers, whether in the combat lines or in need of an emergency leave in the states, the big Red Cross' ready hand has special meaning.

With nearly 3,500,000 men and women in our far-flung military forces, and the number still mounting, the vital Red Cross job of providing service to Americans in uniform is an ever-growing responsibility of the organization.

Field directors at military units, skilled hospital workers helped by trained volunteers, and chapter Home Service workers in the local community combine to maintain a world-wide network of communication and help wherever it is needed. And it was needed on an unprecedented peacetime scale last year as reserves were called back into uniform, military communities mushroomed, rapid troop movements broke up normal routines, and family life was march of events.

In the Far East alone it was necessary to double the Red Cross staff needed to serve our fighting men. In Korea, a staff of nearly 70 veteran workers was built up within the first six months. The first field director into Korea accompanied the earliest contingent of American troops to reach the war area. In Japan, in addition to a sharply increased professional staff, hundreds volunteers were organized to provide the thousands of services required by the wounded, the able-bodied, and their dependents.

In the United States the number of military installations number of field staff increased from 578 to 1,039. The number of volunteers serving at such posts doubled. By the end of the fiscal year a total of 138 military hospitals in the United States and overseas were receiving the services of a resident Red Cross staff—an increase of 27 hospitals during the year.

Service figures reflect the same sharp upward trend. Staff workers at the military installations and in military hospitals handled 316,100 cases and requests of servicemen each month—50 per cent more than in the previous year.

The drive for this year has lasted only a month but the Red Cross service goes on 12 months out of the year. It takes money, and a lot of money to finance such a world-wide service to untold millions. Do yourself a favor and contribute generously to the Red Cross which, in effect, is your Red Cross and mine.

Soldiers Who Can Should Vote

This being "an election year", every soldier who can vote should do so. Not for politics sake, particularly, but with the thought in mind that millions of men have died down through history just for the individual to have the right to vote. The vote is on tiny root of Democracy. Millions of these tiny roots cause Freedom and Liberty to keep flowering and spreading their essence from the Tree of Democracy.

The neglect of one little root or tendril — failure to vote — may not cause the tree to decay right away. But the neglect can gradually spread to the next little root. Let the neglect spread far enough and the whole tree will wither.

Of course, your country will not head for the deminition bowwows, politically speaking, if you do not vote. Still, it would be a citizenlike gesture toward those who have died to gain man tha right to, if you will vote.

Don't be one of those guys who sit at the back end of your organization's meeting hall and say or do nothing — until the officers are elected or the committeemen appointed, and then start griping! (From The Presidian, Presidio of San Francisco.)

Total Peace Requires a Solid Foundation

By Chaplain (Maj) Thomas C. Koch

If there can be total war, there can be total peace. But it must be prepared for. It needs solid foundations. The first foundation is God's law, known and observed in Society. It's observance should be fostered, its violation atoned for. God is the Origin of Society for He created man to live in Society. Our Declaration of Independence is based on this truth, and our Constitution is built on the Declaration.

All human law to be law must reflect God's law. It is the application of God's Law to the details of human life in Society. In observing it, man fulfills God's Will and furthers his destiny. People have forgotten the true meaning of Law. Our crime statistics prove that. Men need God's Law and human laws to enable them to live as men.

God is the Origin of Society and the family is a unit of Society. God established marriage as the origin of the family. God, therefore, is the Author of marriage; man is not. He is free to enter or not to enter marriage. If he enters upon marriage, he enters a unit established by God whose laws are fixed by God. People for the most part, have ignored this Truth, as is evident from our divorce records and other practices which militate against the married state.

The State is made by man for man. Man needs the State to lead a full human life. The family is a unit of the State. The State to fulfill its duty to needs Authority. It must have government, courts, laws and officials.

A form of government based on God's Law and the consent of the governed, that procures the common good or the general welfare, is true and right government. Its name does not matter.

World peace does not depend on a special form of government for all nations. It means a just form of government for all nations. Democracy does not necessarily mean peace, for democracy may be only a name. World Peace and Order can only be built on principles, not on names.

We do not need a New World. We need to rebuild and reform the old World. We must salvage Christian Civilization that men have almost ruined. We must get back to Christ. They must find it again before they can have Peace and Happiness.

What we need is a Way of Life and that is Christianity. This may be attained by any just form of government. We have to struggle against the totalitarian idea. It is a social philosophy that outlaws God and defies the State. It is the idea of decrees instead of laws, issued without the consent of the governed. This idea is not confined to some Powers. It is found among men of all nations, particularly among those men and groups of the same who rule out the idea of God completely.

The first step in the foundation of peace is the recovery of the dignity of the human person. God has given that dignity. From it arise human rights. This essential truth is as old as man. It is announced as self-evident in the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration itself stemmed from Christian Tradition. And sound Peace Plans must follow the Christian Tradition.

Christian Tradition calls for social justice and charity first within the Nations. Each Nation must contribute to World Peace. Unless it has true peace within its own borders, it can contribute nothing. True peace comes from within. A spirit of peace within each Nation first. Then International Peace.

True peace means the living together in tranquility and order. Minds and wills of men must be united in the pursuit of a common objective by a common action. It means unity in diversity. The first thing men must agree on is the correct notion of Society. Society exists for the good of men. Its basis is God. Its function is to help men reach God who is their goal as well as their beginning. Society cannot fulfill its purpose without Law and authority. That is, it needs a Juridical Order.

A true Legal Order must be based on Truth. There are three vicious modern errors that nullify any real Legal Order, they are — Positivism, Racism, and Statism. The chaos of the modern world shows that a real Juridical Order cannot be built on Materialism.

We must return to the true idea of Law which is ethical and spiritual. From True Law there come Order and Tranquility, which is Real Peace.

There are five postulates for a peaceful world order. No State, however small it may be, should be deprived of its freedom, integrity and security; minority groups within the Nation must be protected in their national rights; all Nations must have access to the natural riches of the world; all Nations must honestly agree on a policy of real limitation of armaments; every Nation must refrain from persecuting Religion.

All Foundations for Peace must rest on the Foundation—Religion. Madame Chiang Kai-shek has expressed it well: Religion on which the doors of diplomacy seem to have been slammed is the Main Pillar of civilization. Without it, there can be no international righteousness, no justice, no common decency, no guaranteeing of the honor of the pledged word.

Without Religion, No State can long endure. That should be clear enough, now. If religious principles governed all Treaty Makers there would be no Treaty Breakers. If religious feelings beat in the hearts of all destroyers there would be no destruction.

When National Consciousness and Individual Consciousness are developed thru belief in Religion, when Religion is accepted as the Central Pivot and Motivating Force of Life and Conduct, then the doom of civilization may be averted. But not until Then.

Truce Negotiators Attempt Deadlock Break

Korean truce negotiators were near agreement this week on secret talks aimed at breaking the deadlock over whether war prisoners should have anything to say about being sent back home. A partial blackout already covered the bargaining on war prisoners, and Allied spokesmen hinted it might become total. A news ban, cutting off the reports from delegates attending the talks, would be calculated to relieve the negotiators of the pressure of public opinion as they go along. Many officers believed the resulting freedom of negotiators would make possible a compromise without any loss of face, on voluntary repatriation.

From Washington, the United Press reported that some 600,000 servicemen old enough to vote in this year's presidential election will be barred from casting their ballots by absentee voting laws of some states. Another 1,200,000 members of the armed services are too young to vote, but even if they were not, many would still be unable to participate in the balloting under present absentee laws. The "voteless" total of 1,800,000 represents about half the men and women in the armed forces now.

The shortage of critical materials has eased to such an extent that the government this week authorized the automobile industry to turn out 1,150,000 cars during the third quarter of this year and hinted that all auto production ceilings may be removed. Auto production will be held to about 1,000,000 cars in the April-May-June period. During the following three months the industry will be allocated enough materials or 1,050,000 units, and by stretching these supplies and dipping into inventories, it can turn out at least 1,150,000 cars, Manly Fleischmann, defense production administrator said.

In St. Louis, James P. Finnegan, personal friend of President Truman, was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $10,000 for misconduct as internal revenue collector. He was convicted on two misconduct charges by a federal court jury there March 15. His sentence was imposed after a motion for a new trial was denied by federal judge Rubey M. Hulen.

Post Film Preview

THE AFRICAN QUEEN—Humphrey Bogart, Katherine Hepburn. Filmed in Technicolor in the African jungle the action takes place at the outbreak of World War II when German troops fire a Congo village. The shock kills a British missionary leaving his prim old - maid sister, Hepburn, alone. She is taken aboard the "African Queen", a riverboat, by its skipper, Bogart, who proposes to sit out the war. Hepburn, however, insists on a daring plan to take the boat down the river to destroy a German warship guarding the only invasion route open to the British. Family.

THE LION AND THE HORSE—Steve Cochran. Steve Cochran captures a magnificent wild stallion which is sold for use in rodeos. Subsequently, Cochran regains possession of the animal, breaks it and uses it for exciting work. An escaped circus lion terrorizes the community, but in a fierce battle the stallion kills it. Family.

SOUND OFF—Mickey Rooney, Anne James. Mickey Rooney, an unhibited New York nightclub entertainer, is drafted and sent to Fort Dix, where his shenanigans keep him in constant hot water. He falls in love with an army nurse who promises to be his girl — if he starts acting like a mature individual and good soldier, which Mickey does with conspicuous success. Family.

(This is the sixth in a series of short book reviews taken from a suggested reading list for officers prepared by the Office, Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Monroe, Va.)

SOVIET IMPERIALISM by E. Day Carman (Public Affairs Press, 170 pages) A straight - to - the - point discussion of territorial expansion and its being a fundamental reason for war. Dramatically discussed is Russia's amazing accumulation of 273,947 square land miles and "absorption" of 24,355,500 non-Russian people since 1939. The Soviet acquisitiveness in Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan and other countries is analyzed, and if such manifestations of Soviet imperialism are a threat to peace in our time, then the expansion concepts and techniques of Soviet Russia, as discussed in this book, are of immediate importance. Effective quotations head each chapter.

SOVIET POLITICS — THE DILEMMA OF POWER by Barrington Moore Jr. (Harvard University Press, 503 pages) A profound, thoroughly scholarly book, weighing the effects of certain economic and political aims and accomplishments of the Communist state, Russia, on its behavior patterns and institutions since the Revolution.

The origin of conspiratorial organization as a party apparatus, the device of terror, and democratic centralism of the Bolsheviks are analyzed. Engrossing chapters cover insight on life and party morale and from Captain Elliot Vesey's Old Bottles; The Stalinist Theory of Equality, Revolution from Above; The Transformation of the Peasantry (Kolkhoz) and the Ideology and Foreign Policy.

THREE THOUSAND YEARS OF ESPIONAGE by Kurt Singer (Prentiss Hall, Inc., 382 pages) Spy stories always make good reading and this book is no exception. Kurt Singer, an espionage connoisseur delved into the reports on espionage and came up with 38 daring and hair - raising accounts of international duplicity.

TITO AND GOLIATH by Hamilton F. Armstrong (The Macmillan Company, 312 pages) Twentieth century heresy! The existence of the impossible — Marshall Tito's continued and successful resistance to Stalin and his avoidance of Soviet execution. An important book for its detailed analysis of the break between Tito of Yugoslavia and Marshall Stalin of Russia, with its probable impact on Western policies.

TREASON by Nathaniel Weyl (Public Affairs Press, 491 pages) A virulent, forceful, enlightening book, recounting the background of treason and its dreadful implications from early Anglo - Saxon days to the same and safe definition and punishment of treason in the United States. When the author gets down to case history, [illegible] in the series, [illegible] forming section, [illegible] and [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible]

ABOVE . . . These Rangers have moved out of the swamp and are taking to the surf in another phase of the training being given by The Infantry School at the base near Eglin Air Force Base in Florida. Rangers must be able to fight anywhere, anytime under any conditions. Inflating a five-man rubber raft in preparation for a waterborne raid are (left to right) Cpl. Robert A. Benting, Cpl. Jerry F. Bates, and Sgt. Gerald L. Beauford.

. . . Rangers must always be ready to fight under any conditions. The swamplands near Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and North Georgia's mountains near Dahlonega, are used as simulated battlegrounds for the rugged training.

LEFT . . . Sfc. Erwin L. Williams, left, and Sgt. Erwin A. Fowler, cross an improvised rope bridge during another phase of a rigorous two-week training period in the North Georgia mountains. The Rangers learn to live and fight under crude, grueling field conditions, which are similar to conditions of a battlefield.

. . . The rangers have to learn to move like cats over any terrain night or day. All ranger students are recruited from volunteers who will receive assignments in other units when the training period is completed.

Lt. Col. Galloway Begins Chief Nurse Duties Here

She received her training at Newells and Newells in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1924, where she specialized in obstetrics. She began her Army Nurse career as a second lieutenant here in 1929.

Prior to World War II, the new chief nurse served at Fort Monroe, Va., in the Philippines and at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

During the early war years, Colonel Galloway saw duty in the Hawaiian Islands. She returned to the U. S. in 1943 and was assigned to the Air Corps in Long Beach, Calif.

In 1945 she was appointed chief nurse at Deshon Hospital, Butler, Pa., and in the same year sent to U. S. general hospital in France. She was assigned to Fort McClellan, Ala., in 1946 and remained until the hospital there closed in 1947. After two years at Fort Jackson, S. C., she went to Japan.

Rep. Teague Sees Passage Of Veteran Schooling Bill

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Rep. Olin E. Teague, (D) of Texas, has offered assurances to Servicemen everywhere that Congress is working hard to pass an educational benefit bill during the present session.

The congressman, who heads a select committee investigating the veterans educational training and loan guaranty programs, was one of eight congressmen who recently introduced a bill that would give extensive educational benefits to veterans of the present emergency.

It is one of the many education bills currently under discussion in the House Veterans Affairs committee. In a statement to AFPS, Rep. Teague said:

"I would like to assure every Serviceman that the problem of extending benefits to veterans of the Korean conflict has long occupied congressional thinking. We are trying to come up with a sound and fair bill that will provide an equitable readjustment program."

Then he added, optimistically: "I feel sure that such a bill will be forthcoming during the present session of Congress. We are being very careful, however, to write a bill that would not allow any of the waste and abuses of the former WWII program."

Every man who served in the Armed Forces on or after June 27, 1950, and was honorably discharged or separated is eligible, according to Rep. Teague.

"BENNING IN REVIEW" (WRBL AM-FM, Sat. eve. 6:15) is an all - around variety show with a military flavor. The 122nd Army Band will return to the program this coming Saturday. Featured on last Saturday's "Benning in Review", was vocalist Pfc. Glenn O'dell—recently discharged from the army. Glenn was stationed at Lawson Air Force Base. He plans to return to his old job as a featured soloist on the NBC radio show, "National Barn Dance".

For the next several weeks, you'll be hearing music by the "Melodairs", a very capable aggregation featuring Pfc. Al Palermo, Cpl. Louie Gentile and Sgt. Frank Bagliona. You may have seen and heard these men of music as they performed in the "Block 12, NCO Mess". Al is the gentleman with the accordian — Frank is the lad with the electric guitar, and Lou holds sway with the big, bass fiddle. The recording session was held several evenings ago in the "Block 12" ball room. Put these gentlemen together and you have mighty fine listening.

Be sure to hear them on future "Benning In Review" shows over WRBL.

The review of Fort Benning in years gone by featured such people as ex - army sergeant, Mel Allen - comedian, Bob Hope, and many of the old - time favorite orchestras which used to provide Fort Benning soldiers with music.

THE SUBJECT OF HOW SOLDIERS ACCOUNT FOR PROPERTY INTRUSTED TO THEIR CARE was the topic of discussion on last Sundays "Fort Benning Feature Page". The show explained the operation of accounting for supplies by various technical services on the post.

A RADIO PERSONALITY CONTEST AND PARTY was held last week by the Harmony Church Officer's Club. The party participants came dressed in the costumes of their favorites in the fields of Radio and TV. Musical festivities were provided by the Katenjammers — composed of 122nd Band members, and by Joe Robertson's "Wagonmasters".

Civilian Artist Paints Half Way 'Round World

There's no such thing as a dull moment for one civilian artist-illustrator in The Infantry School Training Publications Department here.

Miss Hester Caffey has dabbed her paint brush half way around the world and spends her spare time painting, designing her own clothes and singing with the Atlanta Civic Opera.

As if that weren't enough, the young Civil Service worker has found time to show her paintings in the Southeastern annual art exhibit and at the Atlanta Art Institute.

Miss Caffey, daugher of Col. and Mrs. Eugene Caffey of Fort McPherson, Ga., graduated from Atlanta Girls high school in 1942 and attended the Atlanta extension of the University of Georgia. She received her bachelor of fine arts degree from the Atlanta Art Institute in 1948.

For a time following her graduation, she did free lance portrait and oil paintings in Atlanta, and in 1949 her work was exhibited in the Southeastern annual art exhibit. Two years later, the Atlanta Art Institute showed her paintings.

Between these exhibits, Miss Caffey found time to design and sculpture the bronze plaque at the entrance to Paton Hall at Fort McPherson and to paint the stained glass windows in the chapel there.

As a member of an Army family, Miss Hester says travelling comes naturally. And she's done plenty of that too.

She has lived in the Panama Canal Zone, Nicaragua, Cuba, Nassau and California. In 1950 she studied art in France, Germany and Italy.

Miss Caffey joined the Training Publications Department's Visual Aids Group here last January. She draws illustrations for field manuals, technical manuals and training literature. She also designs posters and prepares charts and diagrams used as training aids.

Despite her strenuous day-time schedule, Miss Caffey maintains a full program of activities after working hours. She lists dancing as her favorite pastime—next to painting, that is. Besides designing and making her own clothes, she spends many hours swimming and playing tennis during the summer.

Two Cases Show Variety Of Red Cross Operations

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is the policy of the American Red Cross, in cases of this type, to withhold the names of the persons concerned. The following are actual incidents taken from the files of the Fort Benning Red Cross office.

One Saturday afternoon several weeks ago, the Fort Benning Red Cross office received a long distance call from the chapter in Chicago.

The call was made with regard to the wife of a soldier stationed here, requesting that this office contact the soldier and inform him that his wife was seriously ill.

The Red Cross was also requested to advise the soldier that his wife was to undergo a major operation the following day and his presence was requested.

After calling the man's organization, the Red Cross discovered that the man was attending a class and would not be available for at least another hour and a half. The office contacted the instructor and had the man removed from class, taken to regimental headquarters and his leave secured.

The entire operation took less than two hours from the time the initial call was received at Fort Benning from the Chicago Red Cross office.

Another Incident

Another instance of Red Cross assistance came from a serviceman in Korea who was being shipped to Fort Benning where he would be separated from service.

He advised his wife, who was residing in Gainesville, Florida, that he did not know his home telephone number and that she should contact the Fort Benning office of the Red Cross and leave it with them.

The wife gave the number to the Gainesville office of the Red Cross, which in turn, passed the information on to the post chapter.

Three weeks later the soldier arrived a Fort Benning and contacted the office here and received the number from them.

A small service, but one that any soldier would appreciate under the circumstances.

Saddles, Bell Turn Up Here

Here's what the first day's search uncovered:

Maj. Robert Goff, Quartermaster storage officer, said the items were being returned to a large Army depot for "proper disposition."

COME WHAT MAY (Helen O'Connell, Cliffie Stone's Music on Capitol). Vocalist O'Connell recently deserted the field of popular music to record some top hillbilly tunes. But this platter is a departure from the hillbilly trend. As a matter of fact, it could well be the best platter she ever recorded.

The tune itself is highly original, and Cliffie Stone provides a danceable background for the vocal. The reverse side, "Baby We're Really In Love," is strictly hillbilly. The tune is old, but the arrangement is bright—should do big things on the jukeboxes.

BE ANYTHING (Jack Halloran Choir, Eddy Howard Orchestra on Mercury). This is a new tune done in pretty much the same style as maestro Howard does all his platters. "Be Anything" is slow with an easy rhythm, and is certainly one of the season's better tunes. The Jack Halloran Choir has been working with the Howard aggregation for the past few months, and the combination is hard to beat. Reverse side of this platter is "She Took," a novelty tune, faster in temp than "Be Anything," and will probably sell better on the local juke-boxes. The Jack Halloran Choir accompanies the Howard orchestra on this side too.

ON REVIVAL DAY (The Statesmen Quartet, Pianist Hovie Lister, on Capitol). Radio listeners in this area are very familiar with this group of religious singers, because not only are they heard on radio locally, but in personal appearances as well. Hovie Lister is one of music-dom's most versatile pianist—be it popular or religious. This is not the type of religious singing generally associated with Sunday morning church services, but the Statesmen have gained in popularity to the point of recording for a big company like Capitol—hence, this review. Reverse side is "Bound For The Kingdom."

BLUE TANGO (Les Baxter, His Chorus, and Orchestra on Capitol). We would like to go on record as predicting that this tune—and possibly the platter—will be the nation's next BIG hit recording. The tune itself is based on an old Latin melody, and is haunting in quality. The reverse side, "Please, Mr. Sun," was listed by the company as being "A" or the better side, but we don't agree. "Blue Tango" is definitely IT for this musical season.

RECORDS AT RANDOM: "Invitation," Les Baxter, Chorus, Orchestra on Capitol; "Baby Doll," Gordon McCrea, Van Alexander Orchestra on Capitol; "An Irishman Singing The Blues," Bill Bicket Trio, Jimmy Conter on Mercury; "I'll Always Be Following You," Helen O'Connell-Bob Eberly, Harold Mooney Orchestra on Capitol; "Toot, Toot, Tootsie," Jimmy Palmer and orchestra on Mercury.

Quads Will Remain Together Overseas

The Army's only set of drafted quadruplets won't be separated, after all.

Things looked mighty gloomy to the 22-year-old Perricone brothers of Beaumont, Texas, last week when Sgt. Carl received overseas orders. But after his three brothers protested the separation the Army decided to allow all four of them to go overseas together.

They were beaming happily Thursday when told the good news. "We don't care where we go, but we do want to stay together," they said in unison. "We'd also like to stay in Armor, if possible since we've all been in the Armored School."

The quads in addition to Sgt. Carl are Pfcs. Bernard, Donald and Anthony Perricone. They were drafted in 1951 and have been together ever since. At present they are assigned to the 43rd Tank Battalion here.

Army Cost Consciousness Topic Set for Conference

The Army's current cost consciousness program will be carried right down to the individual soldier the week of Mar. 24-29, when it will be used as the subject of the weekly Troop Information Conference.

The Infantry Center troop information and education section here has prepared a seven-page pamphlet to be used in connection with the conference discussion.

The pamphlet gives an introduction to the cost consciousness program, and explains just how it is related to the national economy. It points out that total defense cost may rise this year to a staggering $65 billion, compared to an overall government budget of $85.4 billion.

Broken down into terms that are more readily comprehended by the averge person, this figure represents $350 for every man, women and child in the U. S., of which $418 will be devoted to national security in all its aspects.

The pamphlet also explains the cost consciousness program is nothing new within the Army, although it has, in the past, relied largely upon command action to achieve its objectives. Some of the related programs that have been utilized by the Army are the supply economy program, safety, utilities utilization, and the Army efficiency awards program.

None of these programs compete with or duplicate the cost consciousness program, but each is aimed at getting the most of every dollar.

Frank Pace, Jr., Secretary of the Army, in speaking on the cost consciousness program said, "Much depends on everyone working together in this battle against costs. Our state of preparedness, our economy, and our capacity to help freedom loving people the world over may well depend on how each of us reacts to this challenge."

Cowboy Names In CTC Coral

"Hi'at 'em, podner,"

These words might well be uttered in Combat Training Command these days, what with the namesakes of three famous westerners on the rolls,

Pfc. Zane Gray heads the list, and close behind him are Pfc. Gary Cooper and Pfc. Jack Holt. Members of the 30th Infantry Regiment, neither of the three claims relationship to his namesake.

All they need now to produce a first-class western epic is a mustache - twisting villian.

Candidates May Now Date Wives on Sunday Mornings

Wives of officer candidates will soon be made to feel "at home" under a new program inaugurated by Col. Harry M. Grizzard, commander of the Third Student Regiment.

Colonel Grizzard said that during the initial phase of training, officer candidates have little time to spend with their wives, and as a result often feel left out and become lonely.

Candidates of each class and their wives, in the future, will meet with Colonel Grizzard on the first Sunday of the training cycle following 11 a.m. services at Chapel No. 5 in Harmony Church.

"At these Sunday meetings," Colonel Grizzard said, "the wives will have an opportunity to plan various social functions, and will also have a chance to discuss common problems with other wives."

Chaplain (Capt.) Edwin C. Gumbs, regimental chaplain, said "The wives and children or other members of a candidate's family have always been welcome at any church services, but we feel that this new program will encourage more of them to attend services."

Wives and relatives of candidates will be invited to lunch at the newest company's mess hall on the first Sunday of the cycle as part of the new program. "This will enable the parents and wives of candidates to gain first-hand knowledge of the fine food the candidates are served and the excellent manner in which it's prepared," said Colonel Grizzard.

The program has already been in effect for one week, and married candidates and their wives who have participated in it have been unanimous in their praise for the program.

Airborne Fireman Now Taking Paratrooper Training Here

FORT BENNING, Ga. — Pfc. André Brunette of Fife Lake, Mich., who worked his way through college by parachuting into forest fires, is now a student in The Infantry School's basic airborne course here.

"I want to learn the Army way of jumping," remarked Brunette who was known as a smoke jumper in civilian life. "I've always jumped alone or in small groups, and I'm curious about the Army's mass parachute jumps."

Smoke jumping is a specialized part of the Forestry Service.

"We parachuted over small, isolated forest fires that were impossible to get to on foot," Brunette recalled. "But don't get the wrong idea from the movies," he added. "We didn't jump into roaring forest fires."

The future Army paratrooper made 11 jumps while with the Forestry Service, working for two summers in Idaho and Oregon. He fought fires with teams of three or four men.

"The radioman jumps first," he said, "then signals the others. "We all jumped with climbers and rope but our equipment was dropped separately," he continued.

Smoke jumpers wear canvas suits and football helmets with wire net to protect their heads from tree branches. They are specially trained to land in small cleared spaces between trees.

As a student in basic airborne course No. 25, the veteran jumper will study parachuting from the bottom up. The Army course lasts three weeks.

SOLDIER SHOW . . . The 1952 American Red Cross membership drive and fund campaign here will get a late boost on April 6, when a two-hour musical stage show will be presented in a benefit performance for the Red Cross. Dubbed "Once In A Lifetime", the show will be presented at 6:30 p.m. in Theater No. 1, with proceeds of 40 cents a person going to the Red Cross. The show has been produced and directed by Pfc. Robert F. Biggs, right, and the cast is comprised of members of the Third Student Regiment and Columbus girls. With Private Biggs are, left, Col. Harry M. Grizzard, commander of the Third Student Regiment, and John A. Cramer, field director for the American Red Cross here.

Summer Camp ROTC Plans Told

Some 3,000 college ROTC students will be here June 23-Aug. 1 for the largest summer encampment ever held at The Infantry Center.

They will represent colleges and universities in the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Army areas and in Puerto Rico, Lt. Col. W. E. Hensel of the G-3 office reported. Colonel Hensel will serve as operations officer for the summer camp.

The ROTC summer program is being consolidated which accounts for the large encampment here, Col. Hensel reported. Only three summer camps will be in operation this year — one each in the First and Sixth Army area, in addition to the one here.

Primary purpose of the consolidation is to make sure that college ROTC students receive the same training.

"The importance of advanced ROTC training can not be overstressed because the bulk of our officer material comes from the ROTC programs in colleges and universities," Col. Hensel said.

Colonel William R. Blakely, professor of military science and tactics at the University of Alabama, will be deputy camp commander. Instructors will be selected from the ROTC staffs of the various colleges represented.

Assisting in planning the summer training program here are Lt. Col. Floyd R. Waltz, Major E. Parr and Major Randall Kelly, all of the G-3 section here.

Book Department Opens Display

The Book Department opened its new Infantry School Instructional Material display and sales room last Friday.

This new department of the Book Store will carry a permanent stock of all problems and other instructional material taught by departments of The Infantry School.

"These problems, field manuals, and other texts are our biggest item," stated Lt. William Barrett, chief of the Training Publications Department's Book Store. "We carry more than $20,000 worth of problems alone."

The Book Store also publishes the Infantry School Catalog of Instructional Material which keeps Army, ORC, National Guard, and ROTC units all over the world abreast of the changes in Infantry tactics and doctrine here at The Infantry School.

With this new sales room, the Book Store hopes to keep up with the increasing demand by students at The Infantry School and other military personnel for copies of the school problems.

Some OC Grads May Secure Psychological Staff Jobs

Officer candidates may be assigned to psychological staff agencies and troop units after they're commissioned, provided they meet certain requirements, according to a Department of the Army letter dated March 5, 1952.

Officers who possess one or more of the following qualifications may be selected for such duty:

Bachelor's degree in international relations, political science, journalism, radio engineering, or English (creative writing) from a recognized university or school of foreign service.

Excellent ability to read, write, speak and understand a foreign language, particularly Chinese, Korean, or Slavic.

Practical Experience

Practical experience in press, periodical or publication writing and editing.

Extensive practical experience in radio or television in the programming, production, maintenance and engineering respects.

Detailed knowledge of a specific area in Europe, Asia or Africa, to include a thorough familiarity with its geography and the life and characteristics of the people.

Thorough familiarity with techniques of opinion analysis.

Newly commissioned second lieutenants, except graduates of a Branch Material Officer Candidate School who desire such an assignment should initiate an application within two weeks after reporting to the associate officers' basic course of the army or service in which commissioned. Applications will be forwarded, through channels, to The Adjutant General, where they will be considered within the over-all requirements of the Psychological Warfare Program.

Data

Applications will include name, grade, serial number, arm or service, age, sex, race and a detailed statement of education and practical experience. Immediate commanders will recommend approval or disapproval of the application, with reasons noted therefor.

Second lieutenants commissioned from a branch material officer candidate school may initiate applications within two weeks after reporting to their first duty stations.

The letter pointed out that application under this directive will not insure selection of an officer for a psychological warfare assignment.

Officers who accept Regular Army commissions are not eligible under this program until completion of the two-year initial assignment. However, Regular Army officers are eligible and desired for psychological warfare assignments, and may apply, through chanels under the provisions of Paragraph 10, Army Regulation 605-145, as amended.

Commercial Pilots Learn Correct Jumping Technique

A commercial pilot who has had to jump for his life from airplanes on two different occasions last week completed training at The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

He is Al Hicks, a test flight engineer with Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, and is a two-time member of the world-wide Caterpillar Club, an organization of those who have had to make parachute jumps to save their lives. In both jumps commercial pilot Hicks has come out something less than second best.

So just in case there should happen to be a next trip, Hicks and five other members of Lockheed's test flight crew took a two-day course of instruction here on how to make parachute landings and avoid injuries at the same time. They received their instruction from experts—paratroopers, to whom stepping out of a plane at 1,000 feet is routine.

Hicks made his first jump in September, 1946, while working as a civilian flight engineer on contract jobs for the Air Force. He was one of a crew of seven flying a B-29 out of Victorville, Calif. As the plane got out over the desert, one of the engines caught fire and burned through the wing. The crew bailed out at 19,000 feet. Hicks was next to last to go.

When he landed he broke his leg in four places. It was three months before he could get on his feet again.

Less than a year later, in February, 1947, Hicks had to hit the silk again. This time the terrain was a little more rugged. He was flying as a flight engineer instructor for the Burnside project, rotating aircraft from the Philippines Islands to the United States.

Their B-29 lost two engines on one side because of malfunction. He and a crew of four had to pile out into a dense jungle. It took friendly natives two days to get the group back to civilization. This time Hicks broke his left shoulder.

The heretofore unlucky chutist came through the two-day capsule course at the Airborne Department here unscathed but impressed.

34 Feet Up

After making practice jumps from the door of a mock airplane body 34 feet high and dropping in a parachute from the arm of a tower 250 feet above the ground he had nothing but administration for the airborne Infantryman.

"So help me," he said, "I plan to salute every paratrooper I pass on the street from now on. And I'll make my wife do it too," he added.

This is one place at least that the government is getting its money's worth. test flight mechanic Art Soulis chimed in. "I've never been so sore in my life. These guys surely deserve any extra pay they get."

All of the part-time paratroopers were awarded certificates as honorary jumpers at the completion of their course. Other Lockheed crewmen taking the course besides Hicks and Soulis were pilot Jack Hand, flight mechanic Joe Kilpatrick, co-pilot Del Dellenback and test engineer R. R. Lott.

Full-Blooded Indian Attends Officer Candidate School

A full-blooded Creek Indian returned to the land of his forefathers when he came to Fort Benning to attend Infantry Officer Candidate School.

He is Officer Candidate Richard O. Miles. Muscogee, the name of the county in which Fort Benning is located, means Creek when translated into English. The Creek Indians lived in this area about 100 years ago.

Candidate Miles' great grandparents had farms in this area, according to him. He said that during the Civil War, the Creeks fought on the Confederate side, and after the war the federal government forced the tribe to exchange its land for other land in Oklahoma.

These same great-grandparents were in the long column of Indians that trudged from here to Oklahoma in what was later called the "Trail of Tears" because so many of them died along the way.

The reason he has an Anglo-Saxon name, said Miles, is that many of the Indian families translated their names into English or just adopted the shorter names of their English friends.

Observes Tenth Birthday

MADISON, Wis. —(AFPS)— The United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) this year celebrates its 10th anniversary.

Activated March 27, 1942, USAFI has grown into an educational giant which boasts more than 2,250,000 students enrolled over a ten-year period.

Originally known as "The Army Institute," the activity was redesignated USAFI in February 1943 to allow enrollment of personnel from all branches of the Armed Forces.

After becoming a permanent educational institution of the Armed Forces in 1946, USAFI improved its facilities and worked out plans to provide material and tests comparable to the best available in civilian educational institutions.

An indication of USAFI's popularity is shown in the activity report for January, 1952. During that month USAFI, Madison, handled 248,000 pieces of mail which resulted in the processing of 15,000 enrollments in USAFI courses. It had 13,000 enrollments in courses offered by cooperating colleges and universities, 28,000 lessons from students, 17,000 tests, and 7,000 reports to schools.

Look, Writer, Photographer Visit Benning

Look Magazine Writer Robert Moskin and Photographer James Hanson are at Fort Benning to gather material on members of the West Point class of 1950 to include in a round-up story on graduates of the United States Military Academy.

The article will tell in story and photographs the activities of 1950 academy graduates in the U. S. and at overseas post, including Korea and Europe.

While at Fort Benning, Mr. Moskin and Mr. Hanson are compiling data on West Pointers in The Infantry School and in other post units and activities.

They have photographed USMA alumni going through the infiltration course and at a special party at the Skeet Club to show social activities of West Pointers and their wives.

OC Has Punched Cows, Orders

A member of the Lone Star state who has punched cattle on two continents is now punching out orders as an embryo officer candidate. He is Origen James, of the 25th Officer Candidate Company.

Candidate James was born in Eagle Pass, Texas, in 1931, where his father had a ranch. Seven years later the James family moved to Sewell, Chile, and eight-year-old Ori began helping his father market beef and mutton for South American dinner tables.

After seven years in Latin America, during which he visited Brazil, Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Columbia, he returned to the U. S. to attend Texas Military Institute at San Antonio. After graduation, he enrolled in Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, where he majored in animal husbandry and was a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps there.

Just to keep in shape, he branded cattle and broke wild horses on a ranch in western Texas during summer vacations.

90-Day Cut Told For Korean Vets

Plans for the early release of returned Korean veterans who are serving on active duty involuntarily have been announced by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr.

Those Army officers, warrant officers, and enlisted personnel who have served in Korea since June 24, 1950, and have been returned to the U. S. under the current rotation policy will be released three months in advance of the expiration of their tour of duty or enlistment as extended unless they volunteer to remain on active duty.

Military personnel division officials here said it would be impossible to determine just how many men this policy would effect here. However, they said that it would go into effect immediately. Thus, men whose normal expiration of term of service would fall in late June or early July may look forward to getting out in the next few weeks. Their processing will begin as soon as they become eligible.

A Department of the Army message received here pointed out that the program will apply to Regular Army enlisted men, Enlisted Reservists, Reserve Officers, and inductees.

Non-regular officers may be released when they have three months or less to serve on their current category tour, unless they volunteer to remain on active duty longer. This does not apply to officers serving in categories 1, 2 or 3, the message stated.

Enlisted members of Reserve components will be released when they've completed 21 months or have less than three months left to serve in their enlistment as extended.

Members of the Regular Army will be discharged three months prior to the expiration of their term of service, as extended. Inductees will be relieved of active duty and transferred to the Reserve upon completion of 21 months active service.

The Army emphasized that this program applies only to veterans of Korea already returned to the U. S. under rotation policies which limit service in Korea.

The Army already has a program for releasing Army returnees from any overseas area upon their arrival in the U. S. if they have less than three months active duty service remaining. The new program will equalize the length of service of men who have already been rotated and the men who are currently being returned from overseas.

Two Men Meet, Part, Meet Again

"It may be coincidence your being here, but I'm just about at the stage where I am beginning to wonder," said WOJG U. L. Shaw, when he saw M-Sgt. W. W. Watley.

Mr. Shaw is mess officer of the 24th Company Student Officers Mess branch, First Student Regiment and Sgt. Watley is his mess sergeant.

The reasons for Mr. Shaw's remark?

In 1948 when he was assigned to the Third Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Mr. Shaw's assistant was Sergeant Watley. They served the next two years together.

Mr. Shaw was sent to Korea in 1950 and two months later who should he meet in Korea but his co-worker, Sergeant Watley.

When he became eligible for rotation, Mr. Shaw by his own request was sent to Fort Benning. Shortly afterwards, who should be assigned to his company but Sergeant Watley.

Post Officer Tops Roll of Honor

For the second consecutive quarter, a Fort Benning officer has led the academic honors list of the Columbus Center of the University of Georgia.

Director Rembert G. Houser announced that Capt. Frederick V. Fay of The Infantry School's staff department made A on each of the three courses he took at the Center during the recently concluded quarter.

Capt. Fay topped the list Fall quarter when he was the only student taking three courses to make all A's. Two others taking three courses Winter quarter also made straight A's, including a retired major: Carl E. Fraley, Route 3, Columbus.

Capt. Fay and six other students from Fort Benning who were taking only two courses accounted for half those making straight A's, while two make better than B on two courses.

The other straight A students were First Lt. Richard W. Adams, Seventh company, First Student Training Regiment; Major William David Brodbeck, 14 Lafayette drive; Major Buckner Miller Creel III, G-3, The Infantry Center; Major Albert Francis Leister, Jr., 128 Collins drive; Major Theodore S. Steiger, Weapons department, The Infantry School, and CWO Heinz Henry Volz, P. O. Box 1899, Fort Benning.

Major Ray Bernard Stroup, 2827 Ridgeway, and Lt. Col. Robert H. Wilius, formerly of Headquarters, First Student Brigade, made better than B on two

2 Changes Told For Staff Jobs

Two major staff assignments were announced at The Infantry Center last week.

Col. Eads Graham Hardaway has been named director of The Infantry School's Staff Department, and Lt. Col. Donald Washington is the new headquarters commandant.

Colonel Hardaway succeeds Col. George E. Rush, now deputy assistant commandant of The Infantry School, and Colonel Washington replaces Lt. Col. Robert H. Fell who will attend The Infantry School's basic airborne course.

He has served overseas 45 months, and, during World War II, commanded the Second Battalion, 120th Infantry Regiment, 30th Infantry Division, from July to September, 1944, when he was taken prisoner by the Germans.

A 1937 graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, Colonel Hardaway has attended the battalion commander and staff officer's course at The Infantry School, the Command and General Staff College and the Armed Forces Staff College, at Norfolk, Va.

Colonel Washington comes to Fort Benning from Istanbul, Turkey, where he was an advisor with the U.S. Military Mission. He also was stationed at The Infantry School in 1943-44 as an instructor.

During World War II he commanded the Second Battalion, 424th Infantry Regiment, 106th Division.

Medals Awarded At OCS Parade

Two Fort Benning officers have received the Silver Star for gallantry in action in Korea.

Capt. John K. Lester Jr., of Griffin, Ga., and Capt. Pat W. Grizer of Applachin, Va., were presented the medals by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Infantry Center command.

Captain Lester was awarded the Silver Star for valor while with the Fifth Infantry Regiment, 24th Division near Kongju-dong, Korea, July 23, 1952.

Elements, moving through a mountain pass, were ambushed by numerically superior enemy forces, according to the citation. Capt. Lester, battalion intelligence officer, rushed into the area of heaviest fighting, and with complete disregard for his own safety, repeatedly exposed himself to enemy fire to reorganize and direct the friendly troops," the citation continues.

"Under his energetic and expert leadership, the column was able to move out of the ambushed area," the citation concludes.

Captain Grizer was awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster, in lieu of a second Silver Star, for gallantry while with the Seventh Infantry Regiment, Third Division near Sasong-ni, Korea, June 3, 1951.

Officer Candidate Class No. 11A, which has been promoted to senior status marched in review. The 122nd Army band provided music.

Policy Changes On OC 'Drop-Outs'

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— The Army has announced a change in policy regarding the assignment of OCS students who drop out before they are commissioned. The new policy reads as follows:

"If there is an indication that the OCS candidate has reneged on his statement of intention to complete the course by voluntarily withdrawing from the program, he then becomes ineligible for return to the area [illegible] he received his order [illegible] means that he may be [illegible] as an excep[illegible] policy that a min[illegible] be saved in the [illegible] prior to being [illegible]

Easy. All you have to do is crack a safe, and it's all legal too.

The safe is in the lobby of Service Club No. 1, and contains the money, but it apparently isn't so easy to figure out the combination. Already, more than 6,000 soldiers have tried their hand and failed, Miss Helen Baker, Service Club director said.

The contest, which has already been under way several weeks, will continue until the combination is mastered, Miss Baker added.

Ex-Glass Blower Taking Airborne Training Here

Pvt. Leroy Lindahl of New London, Minn., and a student in The Infantry School's Airborne Department here, is a man with a fine eye and steady hand.

He was a glass blower before he put on an Army uniform.

"But I didn't spend much time blowing those fancy ships and deer that you see glass blowers doing at the circus," Lindahl declares. "I made heat regulators, those little glass tubes used in thermostats."

Lindahl says it takes about nine months to learn how to master this technique. "We leave a hole 15-1000ths of an inch wide in the tube," he continued. "We have a wire exactly 15-1000ths of an inch across with which we measure the hole. But after nine months, you can 'see' when the hole is that width. After that, it's easy!" he claims.

He says all you have to do is take a piece of glass tubing, heat it to a white heat, and blow it into shape. The next step is to let the glass cool, heat it again, and shape it again. "The flame we use is 2000 degrees Farenheit," Lindahl added.

The 22-year-old paratrooper trainee says he chose the airborne for excitement. "I want to see if I can really jump out of an airplane!"

He is a student in basic airborne class No 35.

Patients Treated With Guest Show

The well-known Johnson Family singers and Al and Ivy Walsh entertained for over an hour at the Hospital Red Cross recreation hall, and then made a tour of three wards with their show.

Additional entertainment was made possible by the troupe which gave away five radios to patients in the wards.

The show was sponsored by the Veterans Hospital Program and made possible to the hospital through the Fort Benning Special Services Office.

Med Hours Told For Dependents

Medical care for dependents of military personnel may be obtained during all duty hours at Dispensary A-9 in the Main Hospital area, or at the Columbus Dispensary in the Martin building, Broadway and 13th Streets.

During off-duty hours, medical care is available at Dispensary A-9 only for emergency cases. During these hours, medical doctors on duty are primarily concerned with treatment of patients in the hospital, and non-emergency cases must wait until the medical officer has time to see them.

Hospital officials said this may involve waiting several hours, or may possibly result in the patient not being seen at all, especially in those cases where it is evident that a patient reported during off-duty hours merely as a matter of personal convenience.

First S.R. Cops Boxing Lead

Showdown Looms For Tuesday Go

The ninth in the weekly series of championship post bouts is expected to attract another capacity crowd for 16 scheduled fights starting at 7:15 Tuesday night at Briant Wells Field House.

Just five nights of leather swapping remain to determine the post's 10 individual and team ring kings for 1952. Top men in each division are slated to represent Benning in the Third Army tournament May 9-10.

First Student Regiment's small but loaded boxing team stood in the limelight collectively and individually today in the Fort Benning championship boxing series.

Coach Jerome Perlman's crew picked up five important wins—displaying at least three almost sure champions — on Tuesday's eighth card of the season before 2,550 hysterical fans at Briant Wells Field House.

That boosts the First's point total for the team championship to 104, against 89 for runnerup 508th Airborne, 84 for ASU Provisional Group, and 69 for Combat Training Command.

Out of the running for the title, Provisional Medical Group has nine, Infantry School Detachment, 7, Third Student Regiment, 4, and Second Student Regiment, none.

Boyd Scores Record

James Boyd, Benning's defending light heavyweight champion, finally abandoned his roll as a near recluse last night and took just 56 seconds to shatter the title hopes of Havery Distel, 176 11-2, CTC.

The First S.R. 172-pounder caught Distel with a roundhouse right at that point and Harvey thudded to the canvas, out for a full three minutes. It was the shortest bout in post annals.

Len (The Instructor) James, 132, gave James Hiller, 131 3-4, ISD, a three-round boxing lesson, further establishing his supremacy in the light welter bracket.

Ray Lee, 154 1-4, the First's other heir apparent to the light middleweight togs, decisioned ASU's Freeman Thatcher, but Thatcher lost no face in this one as he put up a struggle that carried after the bell twice.

Anderson Rallies to Win

In the night's best sustained action, Ray Anderson, 155 1-22, CTC, came back from the brink of defeat to put the long arm on Rudolph (Shoulders) Chiles, 156, ASU, in 2:30 of the third.

Anderson knocked Chiles down in the first round, but suffered a badly cut eye in the second as he was battered about freely by the game Chiles.

Complete fight results:

Lou Barnes, 132, First S. R., TKO'd Robert Cotton, 132, ASU, in 2:35 of three; Rollen Martin 132, First S. R., decisioned Hazel Bennett, 128 1-2, ASU; Charles Cummings, 134 1-4, CTC, decisioned Kenny Sulzman, 130, 508th; Raymond Riley, 127, 508th, decisioned Charles McKinney, 124 1-4, ASU; Ray Anderson, 155 1-4, CTC, kayoed Rudolph Chiles, 156, ASU, in 2:30 of three.

Donald Lankrone, 145 1-4, ISD, decisioned Willie Fallen, 139 1-4, 4th Armold Bay, 146 1-2, 508th, TKO'd Marion Medwedell, 147, CTC, in 2:12 of two; Albert Hawthorne, 152, ASU, decisioned Lucian Roberts, 152, ISD; William Brown, 146 1-4, ASU, decisioned Hugh Smith, 152 1-4, First S. R.; Pedro Maniaris, 146 1-2, 508th, decisioned Jesse Jones, 146 1-2, CTC, and Ray Johnson, 152 1-4, ISD, TKO'd Harvey Griffin, 153, in 2:23 of two.

Cardinals Open Play

The Columbus Cardinals' 1952 exhibition game schedule opens with a game against Birmingham of the triple A Southern Association at 8 p.m. March 31 at Golden Park downtown.

Tickets are available to these games at the Special Services sports office in Doughboy Stadium. Feature of the schedule is a game with the New York Yankees at 3 p.m. April 7.

Mrs. Rafferty Wins

Ruth Rafferty and Apn Aschenderman were winners in the mixed nine-hole play respectively golf association play last week. Betty King and Mary Francis Whitworth took seconds.

Perlman's (Ring) Pearls Rated Team To Beat For Post Crown

First Student Regiment's big little boxing team enjoyed the enviable position this week of being the beaks to bust for the 1952 Fort Benning ring crown, which is pretty good considering the size of Coach Jerome Perlman's squad.

The First has only ten leather pushers which makes it the smallest team in the series if you don't count Infantry School Detachment, which only has nine, but also only has five points.

Perlman's gems (pearls, that is) chalked up 85 points in seven weeks to take the team lead over such other aggregations as ASU Provisional Group the defending champs with 30 sluggers, Combat Training Command with 23 and 508th Airborne with 18.

The First's gimmick, of course, is that seven of their ten men class one fighters, that is experienced amateur spokers who pick up five points every time they score a win, or when rivals fighters fail to respond to their challenge.

The post tourney is set up so there is no ducking. Under Perlman, for example, offers one of his sluggers for two weeks in succession without being challenged the kid automatically gets

First Bn. Tops Playoffs In Officer Loop

First Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment, Saturday afternoon will meet one of four teams for the championship of the Officers Bowling League. The team's opponent in the final playoff will emerge from elimination matches this week at the Main Post alleys, where Saturday's match will be bowled at 2 p.m.

The 30th Infantry team has won two matches and a bye in the playoffs. Each of the other four surviving teams has lost one match in the drills elimination play, in which first and second place teams in each of the league's three sections are entered. First Battalion, 30th, won the Section 2 title.

Mahon Tops All-Post '5' Selections

Three members of the unbeaten Third Student Regiment team representing Fort Benning this week in the Third Army hoop tournament at Fort Jackson today were named to The Bayonet's 1952 All-Post Basketball Team.

One of them, Bruce Mahon, former Gettysburg, Pa., College cage whiz who guided the Generals' floor work and poured in 20 points a game, was named Most Valuable Player in the Benning Basketball League which closed out action last week.

Other two Generals picked for the fabled five were guard Barney Gill, a 5-8 former All-Southern and All-American honorable mention at Virginia, and Bill Gillingham, 6-6 center who controlled the backboards like a majority stockholder.

Rounding out the number one squad are Bill Hahn, the league's third best season's scorer despite playing with an eighth place ASU Provisional Group, and Ben Brown, Mr. Bomber for Combat Training Command Team One.

Benny the Bullet shredded the cords for 418 points in 18 games, a 23.2 average which makes the punch of his rivals look no more potent than that served at a Sunday school picnic.

Sylvester Bruten, center for CTC One, was named the loop's Most Improved Player. Bruten was a yearling cager after solidly establishing his mark in Benning football. He overcame a tremendous early season awkwardness and scoring inaptness to actually provide the margin of victory for the Commanders in several of their late games.

At that, Bruten was given only the slightest of margins over John Yaldizian, Infantry School Detachment sparkplug, who bullied the nets for a husky 17.3 points per game finally after getting off to a slow start in the first half.

John has been a stalwart in Benning basketball before, however, and apparently just had trouble working out the kinks this season.

Mahon's edge over teammate Gill for MVP honors also was slight. Gill was the faster man—probably the circuit's speediest—and he hit from inside and out in addition to setting up a good game for his mates.

Still Mahon registered the more points and seemed to be in control of the action most of the time.

Naming the second team from a wealth of talent was no easy chore. Larry Ivan, Elmer Duerst, Truman Medders, Bob Karpinski and Francis Higgins got the nod. Medders almost beat out Gillingham as pivotman on the top team.

Bill Fallon and Yaldizian just missed gaming berths on the second team. Several other players—Charlie Cluzika and Tom Minis—probably would have had first or second team positions if they had played in more games. Both missed the entire first half.

TEAM FETED

Tenth Officer Candidate company's cagemen, who came within a hair of grabbing the officer candidate basketball title, were recently feted at a party given by their coach, Lt. Douglas E. Gill, in Cusetta, Ga.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

—by Cpl. Charles Johnson—

POST BASEBALL fans who have a touch of spring diamond fever, but neither the time nor means to visit the Grapefruit League in Florida, can pacify their appetites with a visit to the St. Louis Cardinals' giant minor league farm camp at nearby Albany, Ga. It's less than a 100 miles down Road 280 which leads out of the Harmony Church and Sand Hill areas.

It's an impressive layout with action often going simultaneously on seven fields. The only larger camp is Dodgertown at Vero Beach. Albany has been a bystop for many a present star, including Vinegar Bend Mizell. Half the pleasure of a camp like this is looking over the youngsters and trying to tab the ones who will have greatness thrust on them within a few short years.

There are games scheduled this Saturday and Sunday afternoons. In between times you can talk baseball with the populace — or the players. Every hotel in the diamond-minded village is tenanted by players. In all of the corner soda shops pennants are awarded or taken away, stars made or cast aside depending on how the conversation goes.

THIS IS the first Bayonet column I have written which hasn't dealt exclusively with post sports. You'll have to forgive me; I've just returned from a week of Grapefruit League coverage, thanks to some accumulated leave time.

IF I HAD to pick 'em right now off what I saw and heard while dashing across Florida by plane, train and auto, here's the way the first division in each circuit would be lined up:

AMERICAN LEAGUE	NATIONAL LEAGUE
New York	Brooklyn
Cleveland	New York
Chicago	St. Louis
Boston	Boston

In this season of player scarcity, caused largely by the draft, it's rookies or younger players who swing the balance in favor of both the Yankees and Dodgers. If you were to select a true all-star National League team off last season's performance Brooklyn would certainly dominate the roster, with few to equal Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe. Only the latter is gone and Clem Labine, who once played at Benning, and lefty Chris Van Cuyk together may fill the void left by Newk.

The Giants will be hurt by the loss of Eddie Stanky. I think few give the Brat the credit he is due. Willie Mays is slated for the Army soon and that's another blow to Leo Durocher. Remember that the Dodgers were playing .500 ball or better right down to the wire, but even that couldn't stand up in the face of the Giants' unprecedented 16 straight and other derring-do feats.

The Cardinals and Braves both have some testy rookies. The Cards probably have the best in Wilmer Mizell, the southpaw from Vinegar Bend, Ala. Grantland Rice rates him the top prospect he has seen in years. If he isn't, then his only logical contender is another left handed pitcher, John Podres, who is trying to make the vast jump from class D to the major leagues with the Dodgers. Podres is a sight to see.

The writers in Florida are generally sticking to the Giants to repeat, but they are engaged in the annual game of picking someone else to beat out the Yankees for the American League pennant. Their most accepted choice is Cleveland, but there are a lot of stories going around about some personal troubles among the Indians. In fact, don't be surprised if either or both Larry Doby and Al Rosen are traded sometime this semester.

Meantime, I'll stick by the Yanks. Young Andy Carey apparently has solved Casey Stengel's third base problem with Gil MacDougald looking better than ever shifted to second base. Kal Segrist and Don Bollweg, who once played for Columbus, are battling for the first base job, but it probably will revert to Joe Collins, with Johnny Hopp and Johnny Mize to fill in.

Segrist is a dandy around the sack, but shys from major league pitching. Bollweg is aging. In the outfield, there are none to replace Joe DiMaggio, but Bob Cerv may fill the bill. He is hitting very well. Mickey Mantle may yet come in for the job, although he wasn't even playing while I was looking last week. In the last few days, however, Mickey has suited up and has sparked the team at bat. His leg is the question mark. Mickey goes like a rabbit straightaway, but Casey Stengel holds his breath when the kid has to turn or stop short.

So you give the Indians second place and hope their hitting jells and that again Bob Feller can have another sensational season like last. Chicago has the type of team that can hustle into third place past a Boston club minus Ted Williams. Everyone at Sarasota talks about Ted as though they had information he will be present all season. And they're talking about the Yanks' Gerry Coleman being given a deferment by the Marines on the strength of his 56-mission diving bombing record of World War II.

Rocket Track Team Shapes Up for Meet

The Second Student regiment Rockets' track and field team is taking shape for the Fort Benning Track and Field meet April 17-18, according to Lt. Andy Morrow, sports officer.

One of the top performers should be Jack Stroud, former University of Tennessee fast ball and track star. He was SEC javelin champ in 1950 and 1951.

Other men who should be among the winners include Tom Gill, 100 - yard dash; Russell White, 100 - yard dash and relay; Don Blankenship, former EUCOM 120 - yard high hurdles and high jump champ; Ed Behrens, former Ripon College pole vaulter; William Cousins, 880-yard run; Art Ellison, 1-miler and broad jump.

George Pickett, high jump; John Bailey, Shot put; Gerard Clemmons, 2-miler; Tom Solomon, 440-yard run; and Chuck Ciustka, hop, step, and jump. With this material the "Rockets" hope to make a goodshowing.

Little League Drill Deadline Set Today

Deadline for reporting for tryouts for the Doughboy Little League is today. Youngsters between eight and 12 years of age will drill at 6 p.m. today at French Field near the hospital in the main post area.

More than 120 young diamond hopefuls have reported thus far with the selection for each of the four teams set March 29. Team practice will begin about April 1.

Smallbore Tests Here April 5-6

Invitations are being sent to some of the finest shooters in the United States to compete in the 1st Annual Fort Benning Winter Registered Smallbore Rifle Tournament to be held on the post April 5 and 6.

The event is open to all shooters in the United States who are members of the National Rifle Association. National Rifle Association membership will be waived for those individuals who have never previously fired in NRA registered tournaments.

Only NRA Affiliated Club Team entries will be accepted. Entries will not be accepted from pick-up teams or state association teams and all firing will be governed by NRA rules.

Entry fees of one dollar will be charged per individual match and team matches fees will be one dollar per member.

All competitors will be classified according to NRA classification rules and shooters entering competition for the first time will be classified in the Marksman class.

Permanent trophies will be awarded to winners of all individual matches and aggregates. Silver medals will be awarded to second winners in each match. Silver medals to 1st and Bronze medals to second high scorers in each class. Medals also will go to each individual on 1st and 2nd place teams. No team class medals will be awarded to the first winner in all aggregate matches regardless of classification and to first winner in each class in Grad aggregate, special merchandise will be awarded.

Some of the competitors who will be seen in the tournament will be Lt. John Kelly, who won the National Smallbore championships at St. Petersburg; Lt. Arthur Jackson, former U. S. Olympic team shooter and Capt. Vic Hansen, winner of the Wimbledon Trophy in 1951.

All entries and inquiries regarding the tournament should be mailed to Lt. Col. Aleck F. MacDonald, President, Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, Box 1469, Fort Benning.

All firing will be conducted at English Range on the Benning reservation and shooting will be from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

With regard to the first Benning tournament, Colonel MacDonald says, "The Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club was established primarily to insure that all personnel would be afforded the opportunity to fire pistols and rifles off-duty and to increase their proficiency with these weapons.

"We scheduled these competitions to insure that we have a high standard of seasoned competitors. This is borne out by the coming appearances of Lieutenants Kelly and Jackson and Captain Hansen."

Saturdays program will be: Match No. 1, 40 shots, 50 meters, Iron Sights; Match No. 2, 40 shots, 50 yards, Iron Sights; Match No. 3, Dewar Course, Iron Sights; Match No. 4, 40 shots, 100 yards, Iron Sights; Match No. 5, Two-man Team Match, Iron Sights, Dewar Course, each team member.

Shooting on Sunday will consist of the following matches: Match No. 6, 40 shots, 50 meters, Any sights; Match No. 7, 40 shots, 50 yards, any sight; Match No. 8, Dewar Course, any sights; Match No. 9, 40 shots, 100 yards, Iron Sights; Match No. 10, International Type Match: 10 shots standing, prone and kneeling at 50 meters, any sights. Proceeds of this match will go to the National Rifle Association Shooting Fund.

Match No. 12, Any Sight Aggregate of matches 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Match No. 13, Grand Aggregate of matches 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9.

'Coon Hunters To Organize Here Saturday

Racoon hunters from Fort Benning and vicinity will meet at the Kings Pond clubhouse at 8 p.m. Saturday to form an organization designed to thin the ranks of preditory animals.

The sportsmen, with the sanction of the Fort Benning Fish and Game Association, will incorporate into their strategy plans to protect nesting quail and conserve wildlife on the reservation. Plans will be made for future coon-on-the-log and other competetive coon dog events.

As an added incentive for all interested night - hunters to attend the preliminary get-together, a mild - coon hunt will follow the meeting.

Hospital Team Tops Section As Officer Keg Ends

The Hospital Administration kegglers, captained by Maj. Ross Haecker, has finished in first place in the first section of the Infantry Center Officer's Bowling League for the 1951-52 season.

The Airborne Department, with a percentage of 765, was in second place and the Infantry School Detachment was in third place with 568.

In the second section the First Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment was in first place with 648, followed by Attack Group, Tactical Department, with 643.

The 24th Evacuation Hospital beat out the Operations and Headquarters team of The Infantry School by a percentage of 631 to 667.

Capt. Harry O. Williams of the Defense Group, Tactical Committee, won a trophy for the season high game of 255 rolled last October 5. Capt. R. J. Parr and Maj. L. A. Carleton also received trophies for their games of 235 and 233 respectively.

Trophies were also awarded to the following individuals for high series (individual scratch): Capt. W. J. McNeese, 630; Capt. L. G. Hoffstetter, 622, and Capt. W. C. Fisher, 616.

Entry blanks for the Fort Benning Association Bowling tournament have been distributed, according to Maj. Sam Allison, tournament committee chairman. Application has been submitted for ABC sanction of the event and all entrants must be ABC members in good standing.

The tournament will be run in 16-man flights in singles and 12 teams per flight in doubles. There will be three games singles, three games doubles, and three games team and allevents competition. Scores will be declared using handicaps.

Deadline for submitting tournament entry blanks has been set as March 28.

Plans have been completed for the officer's league annual 1952 banquet to be held the evening of April 25 at the Main Officer's Mess.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Col. Bruno Jastremski, has announced that the guest speaker will be Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Commandant of The Infantry Center.

Guards Don't Snore Though Rains Pour

The 509th Engineer Combat Company has posted all - night guards over some of their bridge-building equipment along the Chattahoochee to protect it from earth-soaking rains that have been pouring down.

The engineers present many demonstrations of various bridge-building techniques and methods for Infantry School students. Their expensive and hard-to-replace bridge equipment is spotted at various locations along the Chattahoochee and Upatoi.

Three men stood by through-out the night to prevent loss in case the rivers flooded.

Candidate Has Top Phys Mark

Officer Candidate Richard J. Ebin, 17th Officer Candidate company, Third Student regiment, is the second member in his class to score a perfect 500 points for the physical proficiency test.

Ebin, a former track star at West High school, Cleveland, Ohio, did 20 pull-ups, 75 squat jumps, 54 push-ups, 79 sit-ups in two minutes, and ran the 300 yard dash in 44 seconds to score the full 500 points.

Last February, Candidate Freddie Dyer scored the first perfect score since the reopening of Office Candidate School.

TRACK MEET SET

The fifth annual Southern Relays are scheduled April 4-5 in Birmingham, Ala., at Legion Field under sponsorship of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

Benning Fifth In A&M Relays

Some good signs for the upcoming Fort Benning cinder season were in evidence last week when a collection of post thin clads hustled 12 points for a fifth place finish in the Florida A & M College relays at Tallahassee.

First place gold medals for the Doughboys were won by George (Ding Dong) Bell, of Combat Training Command, and Joe Campbell, of Infantry School Detachment.

Campbell, former Ohio State athlete, soared over the 12-foot bar on his third try to win pole vaulting laurels. Bell, who starred for CTC in football, won the broad jump with a mark of 22.5.25.

Bell was leading in the 220 low hurdles by five or six paces when he fell on the last lap and came in fourth.

A CTC quartet placed third for a bronze medal in the 440-yard relays. The members were Royce Fortune, Hilton Lyons, Ken Hampton and Bell. Carroll Dickinson, of CTC, was third in the 120-yard low hurdles with a time of 14.8.

Another CTC clinderman, Lionel Pinn, marathon runner, was informed this week that he will have to run the 26.25 mile course against the clock to turn in a qualifying time which will help decide his eligibility for a tryout with the U. S. Olympic track team.

Pinn plans to clock the distance between now and Saturday and is shooting for a time under two hours and 40 minutes. His best previous marathon mark was 2:33.

Pinn also has entered the Boston Marathon set April 19.

Word was received this week that Dick Ellis, First Student Brigade distance runner, finished 16th in a bulky field of more than 60 in the 12-mile White Horse Road Race in Baltimore. His time was 1.15.11 against the 1.07.3 of Browning Ross, who finished first.

All units on post are expected to step up the tempo of their cinder work this week.

WARMIN' THE BENCH

By Armed Forces Press Service

With the oldtimers: Jim Thorpe upset a mighty Harvard team in 1911 by booting four field goals. He tried to repeat a 40-yarder at the Harvard Stadium recently on a snow-covered field. None of his attempts carried more than 30 yards. Still not bad for a youngster, however . . . Forrest C. (Phog) Allen's Kansas Jayhawkers are among the season's top teams. Back in 1909 the colorful coach tutored three teams at once. They won 74 of 82 games . . . Two veteran baseballers bowed out of the majors last month. "Old Man Mose," Wally Moses, quit the sport after 21 years of active participation. And Sam Chapman told Cleveland's general manager Hank Greenberg he was tired of moving his family around after 11 years. He may play in the Pacific Coast League in 1952.

News of the courts—basketball and tennis: LaSalle College's cage coach Ken Loeffler has a new twist for the game—a defensive quarterback. His team has five defensive formations. Players Tom Gola, Fred Iehle and Jack Moore, standouts for speed, accuracy and play-making, call signals for each formation when a situation arises . . . Australia's Ken McGregory and America's Dick Savitt had similar feuds with their Davis Cup captains. Both were left out of singles competition. Both felt it was unjust. Savitt could not prove to Frank Shields he was wrong in picking Ted Schoeder over him. But McGregor whipped teammate Frank Sedgman, the world's best, to prove his point.

With the servicemen: PFC. Harry B. Conlon of Scott AFB, Ill., at 19 became the youngest national champion in squash. He upset two-time champ Ed Hahn to win the 41st National Squash Racquet Championship . . . Army personnel at Ft. Jackson, S. C., will be taught the art of umpiring by James Loring, formerly of the Pioneer Baseball League.

Professional football's Washington Redskins have always been tough on coaches because owner George Preston Marshall has tried to run the coach as well as the team. But he apparently met his match last fall in Dick Todd, who took over a demoralized team from Herman Ball, at Marshall's order, and produced a dangerous outfit. Now Marshall has considered Todd as a permanent fixture, and at a hefty salary increase.

Around the clubhouse: Comeback in the making is 34-year-old Bill Bevens, Cincinnati. Remembered best for pitching eight and two-thirds hitless, runless innings of the 1947 World Series, he never did anything after Cookie Lavagetto's hit stopped his bid for immortality. A sore arm was the problem but Bill may have licked it . . . Equipment manager Jack Hand of the Tigers reports about 150 broken bats are shipped out at end of the training camp season. Old age, broken seams and autograph hounds account for all but 50 of the 1,440 brand-new baseballs supplied each year . . . No need to raise eyebrows over the "feud" between Rogers Hornsby of the Browns and Paul Richards of the Chisox. Bill Veeck is probably behind it; the two teams open the season at St. Louis.

INDIANAPOLIS —

The Minneapolis Lakers came from behind in the fourth quarter to beat the Indianapolis Olympians last night, 94-87.

George Mikan led the winners with 36 points. The victory gave the Lakers a 2-0 sweep of their first series in the National Basketball Association playoffs and put them in the semifinals against the Rochester Royals.

American Forces Network Has German Eavesdroppers

BY Armed Forces Press Service

One of the most unique radio systems in the world has an audience of more than 20,000,000 eavesdroppers.

The American Forces Network supplying 16 hours of entertainment, information and education daily to the Army's occupation forces in Germany, has an impressive reception with millions of German civilians.

Though AFN broadcasts only in English and aims its programs to meet the interests of Americans in the European Command, it has a marked influence on the German nationals within the American Occupied Zone.

News—one of the radio's biggest attractions—is presented locally with the assistance of the main American news agencies. The network also teaches the German language and campaigns against black marketeers.

Seventy - six hours of each week's programs on AFN are produced locally by its own personnel. The remaining 50 hours are made up with the aid of Armed Forces Radio Service and consist of transcriptions of popular U. S. network presentations and short-waved special events from the U. S.

Army personnel work with American and German civilians to operate the 42 installations required to put the network within hearing distance of all American troops. More than 5,000 miles of high-fidelity transmission lines tie the network together, including links with Austria and Trieste.

The network was born with a patriotic birthdate — July 4, 1943 — in London. Through its nine years of existence AFN has maintained its goal—to make American soldiers feel at home wherever they are stationed in Europe.

Election Rules Explained For Two More States

(This voting information applies to Armed Forces personnel, dependents residing with Armed Forces personnel and U. S. citizens attached to and serving with the Armed Forces of the United States beyond the continental limits of the United States, unless otherwise specified. These persons include civilians employed by the Department of the Army, Navy, Air Force, the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard personnel of the American Red Cross and USO.)

New Jersey

QUALIFICATIONS FOR VOTING

1. Must be at least 21 years of age on date of election.
2. Must be a U. S. citizen having resided in the State of New Jersey for a period of one year, and in the county of residence for five months.
3. Must be a registered voter, except members of the Armed Forces.

REGISTRATION

1. Registration is permanent unless a voter has failed to cast a ballot in a general election at least once every four years. (Thus, if a person failed to vote in 1948, he must re-register before voting in 1952.)
2. Registration is not required for members of the Armed Forces.
3. All other persons must register in person at the office of commissioner of registration at place of residence at any time up to and including the 40th day prior to any election.

OBTAINING BALLOTS AND VOTING

1. Only members of the Armed Forces may apply for absentee ballots by mailing Federal Post Card Application (Standard Form 76) to the county clerk, county of New Jersey residence. Application may be made at any time up to date of election. Ballots will be mailed to voters as early as 30 days before any election. Marked ballots must reach election officials not later than election day.
2. Persons other than members of the Armed Forces may not vote by absentee process.

Pennsylvania

QUALIFICATION FOR VOTING

1. Must be at least 21 years of age on date of election.
2. Must be a U.S. citizen having resided in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a period of one year and in the county of residence for two months.
3. Must be a registered voter except those persons named in paragraph 2 under Registration.

REGISTRATION

1. Registration is permanent unless a person has failed to vote in at least one election during the two immediate preceding years. Thus, if a person failed to vote in 1950 and 1951, he must re-register before voting in 1952.
2. Members of the Armed Forces and bedridden or hospitalized veterans are exempted from all registration requirements.
3. All others, except those persons named in 2 above, must register in person at the office of the county board of elections in the county of Pennsylvania residence.

OBTAINING BALLOTS AND VOTING

1. Those persons named in paragraph 2 under Registration may apply for absentee ballots either by letter or completed Federal Post Card Application (Standard Form 76). Application will be accepted as late as the 20th day before any election. Marked ballots must be returned in time to reach the proper official not later than 10:00 a.m. on Nov. 14, 1952 for the general election.

Souvenir Hunters Make Good Booby Trap Bait

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The first use of the booby trap in modern warfare is generally attributed to the British. In WWI they found it an excellent device for inflicting casualties on an unsuspecting enemy. Since then it has been well exploited by the imagination of man and become a device of diabolical cunning and death.

One can say that the booby trap is nothing more than the outgrowth of the practical joke—but with far more serious consequences.

The Americans, for example, with their passion for souvenir hunting, are fair game for booby traps. The Germans found this out early in WWII and their retreats were marked with ingenious placements of booby traps under or around items that could be considered souvenirs.

The Chinese and North Koreans on the other hand, are particularly susceptible to rice supplies. Many an enemy soldier has carelessly poked his hand into a rice sack only to have it blow up in his face.

The Army Engineer School at Ft. Belvoir, Md., has the difficult task of training men to recognize and dismantle booby traps. A broken-down mock village deep in the woods around Belvoir, they ply their trade. Practically everything in the village is booby trapped but the explosions are only mild puffs. Such innocent things as a shovel leaning against a wall, a door, a rope length of pipe sprawled across a road are made to illustrate the maddening complexity of the booby trap. Students are given [illegible]

Insurance Proceedure Told For Dischargees

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many Servicemen from Korea and elsewhere are being discharged now. Their most frequent questions concern their right to Government life insurance. This is the last of four articles on this subject prepared by the Veterans Administration and distributed by AFPS)

If you were granted a waiver of only a part of your premiums on your permanent plan of Government life insurance while in active service, you must act immediately after your release or separation to keep this insurance in force under full premium-paying conditions.

If you surrendered your permanent plan of Government life insurance for its cash value on or after Apr. 25, 1951, so as to take advantage of the free indemnity protection, you must act within 120 days of release or separation to reinstate the policy or to apply for new permanent plan insurance.

Under the Servicemen's Indemnity and Insurance Acts of 1951, which became law Apr. 25, 1951, if you were in active military service on and after that date, you could take any one of three courses with your permanent NSLI or USGLI policy.

You could: (1) continue to pay the full premium as in the past; (2) apply for waiver of a part of the premium, or (3) surrender the policy for cash value and be covered by the free indemnity protection.

If you elected to pay the full premium you must continue to do so immediately after release or separation from active service if you wish to keep the policy in force thereafter.

If you were granted a waiver of part of your permanent plan premium (under Section 622 of the NSLI Act), you were instructed to pay the full premium while you were in active service and VA would refund the waived portion.

If you surrendered your permanent plan policy for cash you may adopt one of two courses of action if you wish to replace or restore the surrendered permanent plan of insurance. In either of these two courses, the requirements for reinstatement must be met within 120 days following release or separation from active service. The two courses of action are:

1. Apply to Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C., in writing, without a physical examination, for the issuance of a new permanent policy on the same plan, and not in excess of the amount of the policy surrendered or cash, and pay the required premium; or,
2. Reinstate your surrendered permanent plan of insurance, without a physical examination, by paying the required reserve and the premium for the current month. Applications for reinstatement should be mailed to Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

An English friar, Roger Bacon, and a German monk, Berthold Schwartz, both living in the 14th Century, have both been credited with the accidental discovery of gunpowder.

Padre Confuses Fellow Chaplains By Speaking Latin

Three of the four 508th ARCT chaplains are protestant. They are Maj. Perry T. Raley, Capts. Charles A. Meek and Clifford C. Cartee.

When asked how he manages although out-ranked and out-numbered religiously by his fellow chaplains, Chaplain McConville wryly quipped:

"Oh, when they gang up on me, I just speak Latin and that throws confusion into their ranks."

"BEST PLAQUES . . . The 27th Transportation Car Company walked off with four of six plaques awarded monthly in the Area Service Unit Provisional Group. Col. Cortlandt K. The company won plaques for the best supply, training, motor maintenance and safety.

Volunteers Flood Blood Center

An average of 65 donors is processed daily, according to Major Samuel M. Withers Jr., who is in charge of the center.

The Fort Benning quota varies from 48 to 120 pints of blood a day, but "we have always made or exceeded that quota," Major Withers said.

An unofficial organization, known as the Gallon Club, has sprung up here, with membership limited to those persons who have given eight pints of blood.

Donald L. Wallis of LaMarque, Texas, a member of 13th Officer Candidate company who is half way to membership, said he wanted to give blood now, "if I go to Korea, I may need it back."

Gordon F. White of Clinton Iowa, also a member of 13th Officer Candidate Company and a four-time donator said he had a rare type of blood—AB Rh-negative—and "I think people with rare type blood should donate. They are building up a stockpile for an emergency or for themselves," he said.

Blood taken here is sent to laboratories in Newark, N. J., where it is processed into plasma. The plasma then is sent to military hospitals in Korea, or used for wounded servicemen returned from overseas duty.

Airborne Effect Will Be Tested By Science Team

Five members of a scientific testing team from Chicago's Michael Reese Hospital will be here for the next month to assess the effect of airborne training on the average man.

The project is being conducted under a contract from the Army's surgeon general and will include records of chemical reactions, vision, memory, attitude, motives and fears.

A representative group of men beginning training here March 24 will be tested in their barracks before and after training and in the field during training to determine the effect of stress.

Korea Vets Gain From Tax Order

ATLANTA — Gov. Herman Talmadge yesterday signed an executive order to give Korean war veterans a $1,500 deduction on Georgia state income tax.

The executive order expanded benefits in a recent legislative act that gave all present veterans the $1,500 deduction. However, the act did not include veterans who served outside of Korean from 1950 through 1952.

Under the order all veterans of the armed forces would be allowed to deduct $1,500 from their gross income for each year of the three-year period.

Contact Lenses May Be Available For Combat Men

(AFPS) — Old-style spectacles are on their way out if tests now being conducted by the Army Medical Services are successful.

Army Medical scientists at the Army Medical Research Laboratory, Ft. Knox, Ky., are now trying to determine through a series of tests, just how practical is the use of contact lenses by riflemen, tank drivers, gunners and other fighting soldiers.

In hopes of finding a contact lens that would meet requirements of the fighting man, the testing unit at the laboratory is working on four different types of lenses including plastic and glass models, with volunteers wearing them under all types of atmospheric conditions and in temperatures ranging from 30 below zero (F.) to 115 degrees above. The tests duplicate all possible conditions encountered in battle and include use of a parachute mock-up tower, medium tanks, heavy artillery, small arms and bobby traps.

One of the major problems confronting the researcher is the elimination of a mist that gathers between the contact lens and the eye. Similar to the steam that gathers on glasses, the mist is a major problems to a soldier — a tank driver for instance — who in the middle of an attack might have to halt his tank to wipe his lens clean, possibly endangering his life and the lives of his crew.

ning to go to a military academy as commandant of cadets," he said. "But," General Yong continued: "I was given the opportunity to take airborne training, so I decided to continue service in a branch I'd heard so much about."

Won Admiration

The two-star general soon won the admiration of the other members of the class and his instructors. The training had Gen. Young's whole-hearted approbation and his enthusiasm was a good example for many of the younger and more athletic students, Col. Seitz said.

The energetic, wiry general took the entire course, including push-ups, pull-ups and all the other physical training, and came back asking for more.

"More of the so-called older officers should get out from behind their desks and take some exercise like this," he said at the time "and that includes jumping out of airplanes."

He predicted a brilliant future for airborne units.

Important Weapon

"The airborne is a highly important weapon, one that should not be overlooked in the overall development of modern warfare," He encouraged "all young men with an eye toward increased and diversified training to become a part of airborne and its future."

He first came to Fort Benning in 1932 as a student. He returned here in 1934 as an instructor at The Infantry School. From February to September 1937, he was assistant secretary of The Infantry School.

Ex-Cook Now In OCS Here

When the candidates of 13th Officer Candidate Company, Third Student Regiment line up for chow, they know that an expert eye is in their midst to observe the handiwork of the cook.

The eye belongs to Candidate William Lowery of Salisbury, N. C. His expertness in the field is shown in the January issue of Life of the Soldier and Airman. There he is pictured giving instructions in his former job, that of head instructor in the Food Service School at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

"Cooking here at Fort Benning should be very easy," says Lowery, who has had to deal with the cooking problems in the arctic climate and isolation of Alaska's Chugach mountains.

Candidate Lowery has definite opinions of cooks and cooking. For one thing, he takes exception to the idea that cooks don't make good line soldiers.

"Who says cooks can't shoot?" he asked recently, and proceeded to prove his point by firing expert with the M-1 rifle.

Relief Director Tells Appreciation

The director of the Army Emergency Relief has extended his sincere thanks and appreciation to all Fort Benning personnel for the demonstration of support and confidence they accord to the Relief fund during 1951.

A total contribution of $5,026 was utilized by the Army Emergency Relief during 1951. This money came from the Fort Benning Community Chest, which re-

Pay Hike Set By Senators

A pay boost for members of the Armed Forces appeared virtually certain as the Senate this week voted a straight three per cent pay boost, plus increases in rent and food allowances.

The Senate also tacked a rider onto the bill previously passed by the House and called for $45 a month combat pay for men under fire in Korea. Passage of both the pay boost and combat bonus were by unrecorded voice vote in the Senate. Now the measure goes back to the House for action.

The House in January passed a radically different pay bill calling for a 10 per cent pay raise. Unless the House accepts the Senate version, which is unlikely, the differences will be ironed out by a Senate-House conference committee.

Before the combat bonus was passed in the Senate, Sen. Douglas of Illinois tried in vain for a deep slash in hazard pay for fliers, submariners, paratroops and demolition specialists. His proposals were defeated.

The Senate combat bonus would be retroactive to cover men who have or will face enemy fire in Korea, or, if they were killed, to their survivors. It would go to soldiers, sailors and marines who have been under actual enemy fire and who are not eligible for other hazard pay.

Representatives Vinson, Cole and Overton Brooks, both of whom have served on conference committees in the past, were agreed that "some compromise will probably be reached leaving the actual raise somewhere between the Senate and House bills."

Rep. Kilday, one of the leading sponsors of the House bill, hopes that the bill is passed "by May 1 at the latest."

However, April is often a slack month for our nation's legislators due to the Easter holiday. The House is slated for an Easter recess of one week this year, and some Congressmen with long distances to travel may take even more time.

With piles of urgent legislation facing Congress, such as big appropriation bills, the Korean vet-eran bill, and the Armed Forces Reserve Act, congressional observers were reluctant to predict anything—except that a pay bill was in the fire, and will probably be passed this session.

OCS SHOW STARS . . . Eugenia Woods and Alvin Harvey, the two principals in the First OC Regiment's show, "Once In A Lifetime," are promising newcomers in the Fort Benning show business. Eugenia, a senior at Jordan high school in Columbus, is a candidate for Miss Columbus. The show will be presented at the Theater No. 1 on April 6, with the entire proceeds being donated to the American Red Cross. (See story, Page 3).

JCOC Begins Here April 4

60 Business and Professional Leaders to See Infantry Show

Nearly 400 additional spectators are expected to join the 60 business and professional men who have been invited to inspect service installations as guests of the Defense Department.

The largest group, 215 officers from the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., will arrive at Lawson Air Force Base today shortly before the civilians and will see the entire series of demonstrations. They will be accompanied by Adm. Ephraim R. McLean, college commandant.

A party of 45 ROTC cadets from Sidney Lanier High School, Montgomery, Ala., will arrive tomorrow and will be joined in the afternoon by another group of 115 cadets from Tuskegee Institute at Tuskegee, Ala.

Twenty members of the Georgia and Albama Associated Press will see the Saturday morning demonstrations.

Prize Exhibits

Two of the Infantry School's prize exhibits will be paraded. They will be treated to a show of all standard weapons and some that are still in the developmental stages. This demonstration will be climaxed with the ear-splitting "mad minute" when everything from the defensive small arms to the thunderous recoilless rifle is fired at the same time.

Later, seated on grandstands in the center of a pseudo battlefield, the visitors will be literally under fire while seven men battalion in attack demonstration. They will hear the assault planned over inter-unit communications and tanks behind the stands will use overhead fire to saturate a hill in front of the stands. The enemy positions will be scorched by napalm dropped from support aircraft and then will be overrun by friendly forces.

In the evening the conference members will be guests of Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, at an official reception and dinner at the Main Officers' Mess.

Witness Show

Saturday morning the civilians will witness a demonstration of an attack showing coordination of Infantrymen and tanks. After seeing the problem outlined on a relief map they will be shown how the mission is accomplished through effective use of terrain factors and fighting elements.

Final stop on the conference tour will be at the Airborne Department to see the Infantry's fledgling paratroopers in training. There the visitors will watch students making practice jumps from towers 34 and 250 feet high, participating in a strenuous muscle-building physical training program and making the five qualifying jumps from aircraft 1,000 feet above the ground.

The visitors are scheduled to leave Saturday afternoon for the Pensacola, Fla., naval base.

OCs Change Status Of Organization

The Third Student Regiment here became the First Officer Candidate Regiment April 1, Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, said last Saturday.

The new regiment will include the present office of the director of officer candidates and will be under the command of the Infantry School's assistant commandant.

Organized here early in 1951 to administer Infantry officer candidates, the Third Student Regiment has been a part of the First Student Brigade. The First Officer Candidate Regiment will be attached to the brigade for administrative and logistical support only. Colonel Harry Grizzard will remain as commander of the new regiment.

The Officer Candidate School here has a history that stretches back into the early days of World War II. It closed in November, 1947, when a final class of 52 officer candidates were commissioned second lieutenants of Infantry. Officer Candidate Schools were combined that year into one Army Officer Candidate School at Fort Riley, Kans., which trained men for all branches of the service.

During the six years the school operated here from 1941-1947, more than 67,000 second lieutenants were commissioned. Classes during that period turned out more than four times the number of officers graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. up until that time. OCS graduates were twice the strength of the Regular Army of 1915, and approximately the strength of four and one-half World War II infantry divisions.

The Infantry OCS reopened here in February, 1951, to provide more second lieutenants for the rapidly-expanding Army. Original plans called for 13 classes of candidates yearly, but this has been stepped up in the year since its reopening. Beginning in

RC Drive Nets Over $30,000

The 1952 American Red Cross fund drive officially ended Monday with a total of $30,118.66 but drive officials reported that this figure would undoubtedly climb when late reports come in.

The March payday gave the drive a last minute boost from last week's reported total of $27,897.62 to the present figure. Money gained from special events conducted in connection with the drive were $18.90; Civilian special contributions included $30, the Woman's Club; $20, the Catholic fund; and $140.66, the Protestant fund.

Major unit contributions to date and their percentages of participation are:

The Infantry School, $1,132.14, 100 per cent.

Training Group No. 1, $68.00, 100 per cent.

Lawson Air Force Base, $1,191.81, 95 per cent.

First Student Brigade, $17,888.15, 85 per cent.

Easter Service Plans Revealed

Traditional Easter Sunrise services will be held at Fort Benning this year in three different locations.

The main services will be held at Clowdy Field on the Main Post, at 6:30 a.m., April 13, with Infantry Center Chaplain (Col.) Joel M. Wareing presiding. Chaplain (Col.) Lexington S. Sheffield will be the speaker.

Music for this service will be furnished by the Infantry Center Chapel Choir and the 12th Army Band.

Combat Training Command chaplains will hold sunrise services in the area adjacent to Chapel No. 2 at the same time.

Chaplains of the Second Student Regiment and First OC Regiments will hold joint services in the Harmony Church area near First OC Regiment headquarters. Music for the service, which will be at 7:30 a. m., will be furnished by a choir composed of officer candidates.

The sunrise services will come as a climax to a week-long Holy Week program at the Infantry Center chapel.

Holy Week services will begin on Palm Sunday, April 6. Chaplain (Maj.) Robert G. Hyngren will preside at chapel services at 9:30 a.m. and Chaplain Wareing will conduct morning worship at 11 a.m. At 4 p.m., con-

U.S. Army Field Band To Appear Here

The 133-piece U.S. Army Field Band will appear here Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in a free concert for all Infantry Center soldiers and their dependents in Infantry Wells field house.

The band is currently on a 24-city tour that will take it from Washington, D. C. to Havana, Cuba. Capt. John P. Finigan, the band's liaison officer, said the one-night show here would be open only to military personnel and their dependents.

However, he said, the band will make public appearances in Macon on April 6 and Atlanta on April 7.

The band played here in 1950, and staged a show equalling a music hall production with variety acts, choral groups, and symphonic and popular music.

Maj. Chester B. Whitley, band commander and conductor, organized the band in 1946 from

Lt. Gen. Bolte Tells OC Grads Men Army's Main Commodity

"Men are the main commodity of the Army," Lt. Gen. C. L. Bolte told a graduating class of 120 officer candidates here Monday.

"And in no branch of the service is this more true than in the Infantry," he added.

General Bolte, the Army's deputy chief of staff for plans and research, said "the infantryman has to bow his head to no one."

The three-star general, who commanded the 24th Division in Italy during World War II, has two sons, both of whom have fought and been wounded in Korea.

Before the graduation exercises for officer candidate class No. 10, General Bolte, saw another officer candidate group go through its paces. With all the snap and precision of well-seasoned troops, the 17th Officer Candidate Company presented an honor guard for the visiting general. It was the first time on record that an officer candidate company had participated in this formation.

Distinguished and honor graduate of class No. 10 was William W. Tombaugh. His first assignment will be with First OC Regiment here.

Rabid Foxes Threaten Safety In Benning Area

Rabid foxes are definitely present on the Fort Benning reservation, according to an announcement which has appeared in the Daily Bulletin.

Proof exists in the fact that one has already been killed. Every precaution should be taken against being bitten by one of these animals.

The following preventive measures are recommended:

1. Children should not be allowed to walk on any of the outlying and distant parts of the reservation without being accompanied by adults.

2. Picnickers, fishermen, hikers etc. who are out in the woods should carry sticks to ward off attacks should one occur by one of these animals.

3. Any fox killed should be handled carefully and immediately brought to the Post Veterinarian for examination.

4. Any dog bitten or suspected of having been bitten by a fox should be brought to the veterinarian for quarantine.

5. Fox hunters should keep their dogs confined at all times except when actually engaged in hunting. This precaution is necessary in order that the proper protectiveness may be made and prompt attention may be given to the pack should one develop rabies.

6. Stray dogs should be brought to the post veterinarian and after proper observation should be eliminated if not claimed.

New 8th Army Rotation System For Korean Vets

WASHINGTON (AFPS) Eighth Army Headquarters has announced a change in the system for granting rotation service credits for troops in Korea.

As of April 1 three credit zones were established. These are (1) the close combat zones in which troops receive four CMS (Constructive months service) per month, (2) the intermediate combat zone in which troops will receive three CMS per month and (3) the combat support zone in which troops will receive two CMS per month.

Most front-line troops will not be affected. The change mainly affects those in certain support units who are not often exposed to extreme combat hazards. They will now receive three CMS a month. Formerly they received four.

Personnel affected will be division personnel operating forward of division main headquarters with attached units such as artillery battalions, combat engineer units and service support units. Thirty-six CMS will still be required to become eligible for rotation.

Those individuals who still receive the four CMS will be personnel attached to infantry battalions including the regimental combat team reserve; tankers; and artillery observers and pilots committed to action.

Pesonnel of divisions, corps, armies and supporting units not eligible for four or three CMS will receive two.

In explaining the change, the Army pointed out that budget and man - power requirements have reduced the number of troops available as replacements for Korea and the number that can be rotated monthly from Korea.

French Colonel Visits Benning

Col. Paul Louis Gandoet, commandant of the French Infantry School at St. Maixen France, arrived last Sunday for a three-day look at U. S. Infantry School training methods.

Colonel Gandoet, who came here from Fort Hood, Texas, where he saw troops participating in the Exercise Longhorn, spent much of his time inspecting training in weapons and tactics.

He was scheduled to see Infantrymen practicing with the 76-mm rifle, rocket launchers and hand and rifle grenades. He also witnessed The Infantry School's demonstration of the Infantry-Tank team in attack.

The French officer indicated an interest in the correspondence training program and visited the Training Publications and Army Extension Course Departments.

He also toured the Airborne and Communications Departments and the Infantry Officer Candidate School before leaving here yesterday.

Colonel Gandoet is expected to visit Washington, D. C. before returning to France later this month.

WILL ATTEND SCHOOL

M-Sgt. E. J. Browne, 1700 requirement section, Combat Training Command, will leave this assignment to enroll in the advanced Army Administrative courses at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Candidates' Show Scores Hit in First Post Showing

"Once In a Lifetime," a musical show staged and produced by candidates in the First OC Regiment, made its first Fort Benning showing Sunday night in a preview for members of the Regiment at Theater No. 11.

The 100-strong cast is made up of officer candidates and girls from Columbus. First open showing will be held at Theater No. 1 April 6 at 8:30 p.m.

In the preview show, Eugenia Meadows, a Columbus girl who is also a candidate for Miss Columbus, won plaudits for her starring role. With her pleasant soprano voice she entertained the audience with such old favorites as "I'm in the Mood for Love," and "Someone To Watch Over Me," as a duet with the leading man, Candidate Alvin Harvey.

Candidate John Sinclair had the house in an uproar with his imitation of Jimmy Durante. Others singled out for particular praise were Candidate John Weil as "Broadway Harry" and Candidate Frank V. Serresseque for his singing of excerpts from "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Tales of the South Pacific."

The show will be presented Sunday by the Third Student Regiment in cooperation with The Infantry Center Special Services Section. It has been directed by Pfc. Robert F. Biggs.

Admission to the Sunday show will be 40 cents, with all proceeds to be donated to the American Red Cross. The show may later appear at other post theaters.

Times Lensman Visits Benning

George Tames, New York Times photographer, arrived at Fort Benning Thursday after spending three days at The Infantry School's Ranger base near Dahlonega in North Georgia.

Mr. Tames is shooting a series of photographs on Ranger training to illustrate an article on the Rangers written by Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of The New York Times.

While at Dahlonega, Mr. Tames made pictures of the Rangers mountain training. Here at Fort Benning he will shoot photographs of Rangers handling hand-to-hand training and water survival.

War On Waste Pays Off

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following editorial appeared in the New York Herald Tribune on February 5. Secretary of the Army Frank Pace says it is "evidence of the immediate recognition which the (economy) campaign is receiving in the press and before the public" and it "demonstrates the country's appreciation for every step taken to eliminate waste.")

When the United States Army began an economy drive six months ago, the dubious were quick to point out that military establishments were inherently wasteful and that an Army base was no place to begin saving money. Nevertheless, the first reports are now in and them seem to prove that money can be saved by the Army, and that its efficiency can thereby be improved rather than impaired.

At least so says the evidence submitted by the 1st Army, which encompasses the New York area. The 1st Army reports it has saved several million dollars and some 100,000 man-hours since the drive on waste started, and this is something to cheer about at a time when rising costs and increasing expenditures seemingly are regarded as the basic law of the land.

Psychological warfare constitutes an important aspect of the economy campaign, for soldiers are constantly reminded, through the printed and placarded word, that they and their families are helping pay the costs of maintaining an army, and that they themselves can help keep such costs down. But even more important are the determined efforts being made to eliminate red tape and duplication, to get rid of methods that are as expendable as they are expensive.

For example, Camp Kilmer found it possible to cut out or consolidate half its form documents. Fort Dix was able to reduce its gasoline consumption by 20,000 gallons a month and its fuel use by 740 tons of coal. Fort Devens, in Massachusetts, emerged from an intensified salvage program with a $300,000 contribution to the government.

The interesting thing about the program is that officers feel that efficiency has actually been increased through the new methods. It is an eye-opening experience to discover that ingenuity can often accomplish more than extravagance.

Every Army Role Important

A national figure, orating on the radio a few nights ago, stated: "The modern army is just one vast machine... you literally press a button and it is on the move!" Just like that. Such stuff on the cuff opinions react as a soporific on the public mind and minimize the individual soldier's role in the admittedly vast machine. To paraphrase an old saying: The whole is no greater than just like the kingdom being lost its individual parts. A modern army is like a modern automobile—let one so called minor part misfunction or fail to opertate, and it comes to a halt.

And, since the automobile is being compared to an army, what is the most important part of the automobile? The engine? The wheels? The brakes? The gas tank? The carburetor? The spark plugs? The generator? And so on. Or, are the starter button and the steering wheel the most important parts of the car?

The point is: there are no minor parts in the modern automobile, no more than a company, a squad, or an individual soldier is a "minor" part of a modern army. Poor soldiering, failure to know, learn, or act in the moment of combat crisis can weaken the effectiveness of a squad; a squad's defection can throw a platoon or a company out of kilter; and so on. You know, just like the kingdom being lost for want of a nail in the horse's shoes in the first place.

Dirt in the gasoline can stop a car. Leave the petcock on the radiator open and the car will be halted by a burned out engine. Pick up a nail in the tire, and what happens?

The moral is, Soldier; No matter what small role you play (according to your notions) in this man's army, you are necessary to the efficiency and success of the whole outfit!

Chaplain's Corner

Cathedrals Can't Match Natures on Beauties

FINDING GOD IN NATURE

By Chaplain (Capt.) Clarence M. Walton

The coming of spring reminds us of the words of the poet who spoke of finding "sermons in stones, books in running brooks, and good in everything." Another poet of a more recent time gives his testimony to the beauties of nature in these words:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

An ancient poet meditated aloud on finding God in nature, and his meditation is recorded for our inspiration and guidance in the book of the Psalms: "The heavens speak of the glory of God, and the sky shows forth the work of his hands."

It is certainly true that no cathedral has ever been constructed by man that matches the beauty and splendor of the out-door temples designed by the Master of Creation. We have grown so accustomed to hardwood floors and electric lights that we often overlook the beauties of the forest that the enchanting power of the waterfall that produced the electricity.

Much criticism, both humorous and serious, has been made of men who say they worship on the golf course rather than in church. Such criticism no doubt is justified in many instances. However, it must also be said that no man can adequately worship God in a Chapel of Church who does not worship him often in the out-of-doors.

Sooner or later every soldier must go out into the field, and this gives us the opportunity to live and worship in the temples not made with human hands. When close to the heart of nature one feels near to the presence of God. Of all the beauty and grandeur with which the Lord has decorated the earth, there is perhaps nothing more worthy of our reverent meditation than those sentinels of the forest—the TREES.

Especially does the straight and sturdy pine tree suggest the human virtues of honesty and dependability. The Majestic straightness of the pine trees, pointing their natural spires toward heaven, reminds us of the wise old saying that "the road to success may be winding but it is never crooked."

In the field, as in Life, there are many things that are unpleasant. There are steep hills to climb. There is mud to wade through. There are thorns and briars over which we must crawl. But when you are down there in the mud, either literally, or in the never-ending tactical problem of Life, may it give you courage to remember these words: "Down in the mire, Friend? haven't much show? Just remember that out of the mire of things God's lilies grow."

Truce Teams to Meet Again After Deadlock

The U. N. and Communists agreed to meet again at Panmunjom before turning the deadlocked issue of Russia's nomination as a neutral inspection nation over to a higher level. The U. N.'s reply postponed a decision on whether the truce supervision talks would be taken over by subdelegates—admirals and generals. Until now they have been in the hands of lower ranking officers.

Steel wage talks to try to avert an April 8 strike were postponed until Wednesday this week. The new bargaining session between the industry and CIO United Steel workers was delayed, according to a steel executive, because some industry men were late arriving in New York and wanted more time to go over the preliminaries before launching anew their bargaining with the union. The union and the industry are deadlocked over a Wage Stabilization Board report that recommended a 17 1-2-cents-an-hour wage increase for the nation's 650,000 steelworkers. Present average steel wages are about $1.86 an hour.

A gang of 23 desperate convicts at the New Jersey State Prison sheepishly surrendered this week after rioting and barricading themselves in a segregation building for 37 hours. The gang released six trusties held prisoner in the building and then surrendered, one at a time, to prison guards. The convicts were the nucleus of a large group that rioted early Sunday morning demanding better treatment from their keepers.

Nine men rescued from a treacherous ice cap within 400 miles of the North Pole said they never doubted they would be saved. The seven Navy airmen and two civilian scientists, members of a naval expedition studying the deep-freeze storage box of North American weather, planned to continue their work in another plane. They were stranded last week on the ice floe by a broken landing gear on their plane. The Navy said the men survived because extensive preparations for such a mishap had been made well in advance.

Marine Wins Top Position For Cooking

Marine Pfc. Donald A. Helmets walked off with top honors in Cook's Course No. 19 at the Third Army Area Food Service School. This is the first "superior" rating earned in the school since November, 1951.

Of the 11 Marines enrolled in the course, three were in the top 10 per cent, and the remainder were in the top 50 per cent of the 66-man class.

Three Marines are among a group of several hundred attending various courses and classes at The Infantry School and the Food Service School. The majority are enrolled in an automotive maintenance course of The Infantry School, and several are taking paratrooper training in The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

On The Bookshelf

(This is the seventh in a short series of book reviews taken from a suggested reading list prepared by the Office, Chief of Army Field Forces at Fort Monroe, Va.)

UNITED STATES AND JAPAN by E. O. Reischauer (Harvard University Press, 374 pages) An important and reliable volume on Japan prior to American occupation, her attitude to the American conquerors, and what may be expected of Japan in the future. The quality of the book is such, that those requiring background information on how to deal with Japan may readily profit by a study of its ideas and decisions.

U.S.A.: THE PERMANENT REVOLUTION by Russell W. Davenport (Prentice - Hall) A timely book and newly published. Its author, Mr. Davenport, the late Wendell Wilkie's private emissary, redefines the definition of America and warns the U.S. people that the forces of destiny are hammering at their door with world leadership and guidance in its grasp; it is up to them to take the challenge and build a new fount of policy and leadership.

WAR OR PEACE BY JOHN Foster Dulles (The Macmillan Company, 274 pages) Mr. Dulles, now of the State Department, weighs the relationship between the United States and Russia. He pleads for mobilization for peace. Outstanding in this reconstruction of recent international events is Mr. Molotov's chameleon actions towards the foreign ministers present at the 1945 London Conference.

WE OF NAGASAKI by Tasaki Nagai (Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 189 pages) A compelling and unusual book, stressing the spiritual and moral damages of atomic bombing. Eight Christian survivors of the Nagasaki bombing tell their stories. Aside from describing the physical horrors of the bombing, their lasting, overwhelming emotion lies in the fact that their survival was largely due to selfishness and neglect of their loved ones and neighbors.

WHY I ESCAPED by P. Pirogov (Duell Sloan and Pearce, 336 pages) The author, a former Soviet Air Force officer during World War II, relates his experiences in fleeing Russia and his emigration to the United States. Pirogov's escape to the West was the stark horrors of life in the Soviet Union scorch the pages.

THE WOODEN HORSE by Eric Williams (Harper and Brothers, 255 pages) Escape story! A true tale of a ruse that worked. Fantastic, full of humor, danger and wisdom. The suspense bears down and not until the three British prisoners of war from Stalag-Luf III are on their way does breathing become easier.

Ranger Students Finish 3-Phase School Course

BY SFC. PAT MURPHY

Graduation was blessedly close-at this week for 35 weary student Rangers who have spent eight weeks becoming the Army's best small-unit leaders.

The Rangers are the second class of a new-type three-phase course being conducted by The Infantry School's Ranger Department.

Officials announced the students will graduate April 7, and thereafter be reassigned to home units as first-class combat leaders.

Mother Nature threw the Rangers a dose of nasty weather in North Georgia's scrub - pine mountains last week, the final two-week phase of training.

Near - blizzard snow blanketed high terrain training areas early last week, and students executed a 16-hour combat patrol into "enemy" territory over mountains chilled by freezing temperatures.

The 12-day field training near day after students completed a gruelling 72-hour day-and-night reconnaissance - combat patrol across mountains into Aggressor areas where several objectives were destroyed with powerful explosives.

Clear Indication

End of training for the class will give Ranger Department officials a clear indication of the course's effectiveness.

The first class, which graduated last month, and the present class have been termed as "successful experiments," and one spokesman for the department said "there is no doubt in my mind we'll be giving this training for a long time to come."

Developing spirited, well-versed leaders is the Army's long-range interest in Ranger training.

Brain, brawn and courage, according to Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of Army Field Forces and a leading supporter of the new-type training, is the Army's fair estimation of a good small-unit leader.

Good Leaders

"We want good leaders, and if a man successfully completes this type training," General Clark said, "We can safely say he is a good leader. That's what we want."

Infantry School training wizards have concocted for student Rangers one of the Army's most varied, and gruelling programs of instruction, which is divided into three phases.

During the first four weeks of training, student Rangers are in Fort Benning classrooms and on training fields learning cut-and-dried techniques and tactics of a doctrine developed and outlined by The Infantry School.

It's during the following two weeks that Rangers-to-be begin savoring their new speciality. The Infantry School takes the class deep into northwest Florida swamps some 40 miles east of Pensacola where the Air Force has loaned the Army hundreds of acres of impenetrable forest and sloppy marshland for Ranger training.

Most of the training in Florida is in small-team tactics, both in reconnaissance and aggressive patrols. Techniques of personal camouflage single - handed behind-the-lines assault and survival are requirements of all the day-and-night problems.

After Florida

After Florida, Rangers go to North Georgia to use similar small-team techniques in higher and drier terrain.

One additional technique is taught Rangers in mountain training, the art of rappelling with body ropes down sheer-sided peaks and cliffs.

In Georgia, as in Florida, the final field problem is a lengthy, round-the-clock mission deep into an "enemy" area to destroy installations.

At least 450 hours of training are given Rangers and, as one graduate said this week, "It's all training; no horsing around. Everything is out in the field where you can learn what you're supposed to learn."

Ten Ranger classes will have graduated by the end of 1952. Ultimate goal of the program, an officer said, is to have a Ranger in each Army platoon, perhaps in each squad, to raise proficiency and esprit de corps.

PRACTICE . . . Although only practicing, these men of Medical company, 30th Infantry Regiment and their "victim" know the value of the life saving blood plasma which they are administering here. Pfc. Edward Armfield, right, administers the blood while Sgt. Robert Donath (a lieutenant for the demonstration) and Pfc. David Amoriello, center, apply a dressing to Cpl. J. J. Mack who is acting the part of an injured man.

Benning Officer Used Talk To Help Combat Commies

A man who combatted Communism in Korea without a weapon has assumed command of Company C, Infantry School Detachment. He is Capt. Jay Russell, who served in Korea with the First Loudspeaker and Leaflet Company.

A veteran of 14 years service, until the time he joined the company in Korea he had served with Infantry units exclusively. Captain Russell said "I am not overlooking our best psychological warfare weapons—fire power and tactical advantages. These lower the enemy morale and the loudspeaker and leaflet unit augmented the effect. Further, it tells the enemy what he can do about the situation and usually gives instruction on how to surrender."

With loudspeakers mounted on jeeps, trailers, tanks and sometimes even hand-carried, the unit went right to the front lines. According to Captain Russell, although the loudspeaker unit was a small one, it worked with every United Nations organization in Korea and proved very effective in lowering the morale and will to fight of both the Chinese and the North Korean communists.

CAPT. JAY RUSSELL

The effects of warfare of this type cannot be judged by immediate surrenders, according to the captain. "The information broadcasted is directed toward the enemy mind," he said, "but there are a lot of factors which must be favorable before an enemy soldier will desert and surrender."

Captain Russell recalled many instances where soldiers surrendered months after they had heard a broadcast.

"Psychological warfare has its place in combat," said Captain Russell. "It is daily proving more effective. When an enemy soldier quits the battlefield because of loudspeakers or leaflets, it is fairly certain that one friendly soldier's life has been saved."

27th AAA Battery Observes Birthday

Combat Training Command's ack-ack unit, the 27th Anti - Aircraft Artillery Battery, will celebrate its first birthday next Sunday.

The 27th has been at Fort Benning ever since its organization on April 6, 1951. Beginning June 9, the battery has been demonstrating problems for the Infantry School and for officer candidates.

First Lt. James W. O'Connor took command of the battery June 1, and has been CO throughout the battery's service as school troops.

The 27th lists 11 problems in its repertoire of demonstrations. The ack-ack men change their "make-up" readily, sometimes working as anti - aircraft crews and sometimes playing the part of field artillerymen.

LAUGH WEEK . . . Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry top-Kick Otto J. Meyers celebrates National Laugh Week (March 30 - April 5) with the help of Sfc. Jewel Snyder. They recommend a good laugh for everyone.

TIS Quarterly Presents Articles For Infantrymen

Although you won't find it on any corner newsstand, The Infantry School Quarterly occupies a top spot on the popularity list of Infantrymen.

The April Quarterly, second issue published this year, will be mailed to more than 12,000 subscribers all over the world, including not only U.S. Infantrymen, but soldiers of many countries. Lt. Col. Nootkanjanakool of the Thailand Ministry of Defense has a subscription that runs through 1956.

An official publication of The Infantry School here, The Quarterly is designed to keep Infantrymen abreast of progress in their branch of service.

Since the Quarterly is edited at Fort Benning, it naturally reflects the thoughts of The Infantry School. All material submitted for publication is carefully reviewed by academic departments here prior to use. When a controversial subject is covered, both sides are presented to give the subscriber the complete picture.

Anything of Interest

Everything of interest to Infantrymen in training or in battle is of concern to the Quarterly. Each issue contains articles on tactics, communications, weapons, staff procedures, combat tips, automotive and airborne activities and leadership.

The Infantry School's Training Publications Department edits the material for each issue. In considering each article before publication, editors ask one question: "Can Infantrymen in the field use this information?"

If the answer is yes, the editors then edit the contributions for clarity, interest and effectiveness. Gobbledygook and tricky writing are strictly out. "Get the dope to the Doughs" is the unofficial motto of the Journal.

Rich Grounds

The backgrounds of Quarterly authors are as broad as the Army itself. From master sergeants to major generals, and captains to civilians, The Quarterly carries them all. Anyone who has something worth saying to Infantrymen is welcome to contribute an article for publication.

Articles in the April issue, among others, include "Defense of Rear Areas," which covers the newest thought or methods of defending command posts and rear installations against infiltration and guerrilla and airborne attack.

"Sub - Caliber Recoilless Rifles," also in the April issue, deals with the construction of the newest sub - caliber devices for recoilless rifle gunner and loader training. This article is illustrated. These devices save $11 every time a 57 mm weapon is fired and $27 when the 75 mm is fired.

"Signs of the Times," another article, explains recent changes in military symbols and signs. The new North Atlantic Treaty Organization also is fully explained in the illustrated article.

GM Cameramen Take Movie Here

A newsreel camera crew from General Motors Corporation in Detroit arrived at Fort Benning Thursday to begin shooting movies of the new M-135 two and a half ton truck going through its paces.

The crew headed by John K. Ford of GMC public relations department is composed of Joe McKean and Ted Wandel.

With the cooperation of the Automotive Department of The Infantry School the crew began shooting newsreel shots Thursday of the truck climbing steep hills on the Fort Benning reservation.

Later the crew will go to Silver Springs, Fla., to make movies of the truck's performance under water.

Group Halts Services Until Further Notice

Lutheran services at the Hospital Chapel will be discontinued, the TIC Chaplains Office announced.

Civil Service Employe Saves Army $28,000,000

A civil service employe at Fort Benning has saved the Army some $28,000,000 by "tinkering."

He is Ray Miller, superintendent of the Ordnance Armament Shops here, who has been inventing things since he was eight years old.

But his jackpot invention, as far as the Army is concerned, is a "subcaliber device for use with recoilless rifles. The device, in layman's language, enables the rifle to fire a smaller shell than is regularly used in practice. The smaller round produces the same muzzel velocity and simulates the back-blast the larger shell would produce.

One round fired with the new device, costing and a half shell cost approximately $32.

"I've always liked to tinker," says Miller. "When I was eight years old, I designed a plate to be placed under the joints in railroad ties to prevent the "clickety-click" of the wheels. My father had it patented for me, and the railroads still use it."

Knew-How

Mr. Miller served in the Army in World War I, and his mechanical "know-how" led him to Roosevelt Field, N. Y., one of the Army's experimental stations. In 1918, he redesigned the throttle system on the Gnome Monosoupape airplane engine putting back into service 500 previously unserviceable aircraft.

As a civilian at Fort Meade, Md., in 1927, he redesigned the Army's medium tank, giving it a cruising speed of 48 miles per hour, the fastest speed a tank had ever attained. Mr. Miller came to Fort Benning in 1938 "for a change of scene."

His invention in 1949 of a single shot device for the .30 caliber machine gun is estimated to have saved the Army 5,000 man hours a year in the time required to load a belt of ammunition in the gun.

Likes Work

"I like to work for the government," the inventor said. "I feel that my gadgets are really contributing something. Besides, working in the Armament Shops gives me plenty of opportunity to follow my favorite hobby—designing things."

In 1945 he was awarded the Emblem for Exceptional Civilian Service for his design of the M-7 grenade launcher by the Hon. C. E. Wilson. Mr. Miller, son of John C. Miller of Huntingdon, W. Va., and a graduate of Massanutten

Hospital Patio Opening Planned

A new patio, located between Army hospital radio station WFBS and Ward A-10, will be officially opened about April 17, according to Sfc. Murray Pendleton, station manager.

The use of the patio will be restricted to hospital patients, their guests and families.

Converting a rocky plot of ground into a grass-paved, flower-enclosed patio, complete with comfortable lawn furniture, has been the off-duty project of Sergeant Pendleton, Pfc. Thomas Ferrazano, and Cpl. Jerry Wujkowski.

The three men, all on the staff of the hospital radio station, thought up the idea of providing a cool, informal place for the patients to enjoy the programs presented by the bedside network.

With the approval of the hospital commander, Col. Mack M. Green, and Lt. Shirley Tompkins, radio officer, the men began work in early January. Loud speakers were installed on the outside of the building. Clearing of the space, sodding, planting of flowers, and all labor was done by the three soldiers.

Colonel Green was instrumental in securing the out-door furniture and the shrubbery, bulbs and flowers were donated by local nurseries.

Summer plans for the patio include programs, featuring guest artists, to be broadcast direct from the patio.

APPOINTED 2ND LT.

F. G. Lumpkin, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section Two, 3440th Area Service Unit, reverted to Second Lt. April 1st and reported to duty at Fort Bragg, N. C. He was formerly a Sfc. in the 3440th.

Gen. Ennis Earns Wings From Airborne Department

Brig. Gen. William P. Ennis Jr., commander of XVIII Airborne Corps Artillery, Fort Bragg, N. C. was awarded silver paratrooper wings here March 26 following graduation from The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

General Ennis, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. W. P. Ennis of Vineyard Haven, Mass., graduated in 1926 from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. He has seen service in the Philippines, Africa and Italy.

His former assignments include Army G-3, 1949; executive officer of Army Field Forces Board No. 1, Fort Bragg, 1946-48, and IV Corps Artillery commander in Europe, World War II. He attended the National War College in 1948-49.

The jumping general holds the Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters and Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Fourth Division Prints History

The Fourth Infantry Division, which was stationed here from the time it was reactivated in October 1951 until it went overseas, has published a pictorial book covering the unit's activities from reorganization up to the present.

The 68-page booklet is printed on slick magazine paper in four colors. More than 170 photographs team with maps and drawings and the 24,000 word text to present a complete round-up of the division's activities.

The division expects to publish a comparable pictorial book each year.

Infantry School Instructors Get Legions of Merit Here

Two Infantry School instructors, who graduated from Officer Candidate School here during World War II, have received the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious service" in Korea.

Lt. Col. Cecil H. Gates Jr., of Miami, Fla., and Major James M. Gibson of Bristol, Conn., were presented the medals by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander. Both officers are assigned to The Infantry School's Tactical Department.

Colonel Gates won the award for his service from June 29 to Dec. 15, 1951, as assistant chief of staff, G-2, with the 24th Infantry Division in Korea.

He instituted a training school to coordinate the reporting of intelligence and was instrumental in the assignment of the First Dog Scout Platoon committed to the Korean conflict, according to the citation.

Major Gibson was awarded the Legion of Merit for service from Aug. 7, 1950, to July 14, 1951, with the Fifth Cavalry Regiment, First Cavalry Division, in Korea.

His service as S-3 and executive officer of the regiment's First Battalion "was instrumental in welding the unit into a cohesive fighting outfit in the successful defense of Kumsi-ri, in Korea," the citation stated.

April, approximately one class will begin training weekly.

The first two candidates to arrive here for training after the school reopened last year were Sgts. Boyd W. Leer and James R. Smith, who came from Fort Riley, Kans. The first class began on Feb. 18.

The present stepped-up program will move into full swing in April, when classes will arrive and depart every week.

elements of the American Division band, the First Combat Infantry band, and the Infantry group. Since its activation, the band has travelled over 200,000 miles and presented concerts in 300 cities to audiences of over 6,000,000 people.

The band includes a soldier's chorus, trained and directed by Warrant Officer Arthur V. Donofrio. Members of the chorus double in brass as musicians and songsters.

One of the featured entertainment groups within the band is a drum novelty act. Six members of the band's percussion section make up the act, and their drumsticks do tricks that would make professional juggler jealous.

The band has presented concerts in such famous places as Carnegie Hall, the San Francisco Opera House, Brooklyn Conservatory of Music, and Hollywood Bowl. It has made appearances in all 48 states, Canada and Mexico.

Selections for the band's concerts range from the classics through modern and folk music, and are liberally interspersed with marches, since it is, of course, a military band.

Passover Seder Set Next Week

Jewish servicemen stationed here will participate in a Passover Seder on the evenings of April 9 and 10 through arrangements made by the National Jewish Welfare Board — a government-authorized agency for serving the religious, recreational and welfare needs of Jewish servicemen.

Chaplain (1st Lt.) David Raab, Infantry Center Jewish chaplain, and Rabbi Alfred Goodman of Columbus will conduct Passover services at Temple Israel of Columbus on April 9 at 8 p.m. They will conduct a Seder (Passover Supper) the same night at 7 p.m. at the Harmony Club, 612 10th Street.

The Jewish Welfare Board Armed Services Committee of Columbus, headed by Dr. Dave Bergman and David Kulberah, with the aid of Leon Goldberg, JWB - USO area director, has arranged for home hospitality for all Jewish men and women in the Armed Forces who will observe the Passover Sedar at individual family homes.

Chaplain Raab will conduct Passover services at the Fort Benning Army Hospital chapel on April 11 at 8 p.m.

The Passover arrangements in Columbus are part of JWB's world - wide Passover services being conducted this year by Jewish chaplains in Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii, Germany, Austria, the Caribbean, Alaska, Greenland and the U.S.

In northern Greenland, a small group of Jewish soldiers and civilians working on government project "Blue Jay" will gather for services using supplies shipped in especially for the occasion by the JWB. At the other end of the globe, in the heart of Texas, 2,000 Jewish servicemen from 10 camps in five states engaged in Operation Longhorn will have their Passover needs met through frozen, packaged seders furnished by JWB.

At the request of the Japan Logistical Command, JWB shipped 50,000 pounds of Passover foods along with religious literature to the Far East. Individual Passover food packages have been made available to men in isolated units the world over.

Program to Air Soldier Requests

Military personnel from central and southern West Virginia have been invited to take part in a radio program that will make its air debut this Saturday over WCHS in Charleston, W. Va.

The program, entitled "Your G. I. Requests" is being launched by the U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Main Station in Charleston. The station has invited men and women from that locality serving in the Armed Forces to dedicate a record request to members of their families or friends in that area.

"To give the program a personal touch," said Capt. John W. Baichunis, commander of the recruiting station, "persons who have record requests dedicated to them will be notified by mail in advance of the program so they may listen."

Military personnel who would like to make a request are asked to write to "Your G. I. Request," c-o Radio Station WCHS, 111 Virginia Street East, Charleston, West Virginia. They are also asked to include the mailing address of the person to whom they make the dedication so they can be notified.

Two CTC Units Score Perfect Blood Records

Two units in the Combat Training Command scored 100 per cent last week in the Fort Benning Blood Donor Campaign.

Every eligible member of the 509th Engineer Combat Company and Heavy Mortar Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, have given blood within the last two months.

The perfect contributions in the two units has resulted in 143 pints of blood being injected into the Korea-bound lifeline.

Heavy Mortar Company has pledged 100 per cent membership in the "Gallon Club," which is composed of men donating 8 pints of blood.

OC Party Celebrates Senior Status Position

Candidates of 30th Officer Candidate Company, First OC Regiment, celebrated their rise to senior status last week with a company party held at Victory Lodge in the Harmony Church Area.

Approximately 255 candidates, wives and guests attended the party.

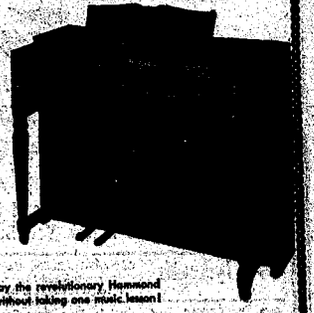
HUMES
Now YOU DON'T HAVE TO READ MUSIC TO PLAY THIS ORGAN


Anyone can play the revolutionary Hammond Chord Organ without taking one music lesson!
Until you have played the Hammond Chord Organ, you'll probably find the facts about it hard to believe. Yet every statement is true. Thousands of people who have never before played any instrument, who didn't know one note of music, actually played the Hammond Chord Organ the first time they tried.
How is it possible? This new kind of instrument is designed so that you play beautiful accompaniment chords by pressing a button with one finger; you play the melody from simple picture music (or standard music if you prefer); pedal notes are harmonized automatically. In a few days you'll perform pieces you once would never have attempted without lessons.
Even practice is fun! Hundreds of selections, both popular and classical, are included with your Hammond Chord Organ—you learn by playing the music you like.
Hard to believe? Stop in, spend half an hour in private with the Hammond Chord Organ. Prove it to yourself. There's no obligation!

MORE VARIETY IN LISTENING — more music — more news — more on - the spot interviews — and more entertainment are the orders of the day on "Benning in Review" (WRBL AM-FM, Sat. eve. 6:15). Variety in music is provided by the 122nd Army Band conducted by WO William R. Trembath. On last Saturday's show, the band presented an unusual arrangement of the march time, "Brewmaster."

Sharing the spotlight is the "Melodairs" composed of Pfc. Al Palermo, Cpl. Louie Gentile and Sgt. Frank Baglione. Listeners to this regular WRBL, Sat. eve., show heard the "Melodairs" in their Latin American treatment of "Tango of Roses."

IF YOU ARE TALENTED in any entertainingly good way let the Radio Section of the Information Center know about it by calling Fort Benning 3212. Perhaps you know of talent worthy of being aired over the Columbus radio stations. To arrange an audition—give the folks in the radio section a call.

Dothan Citizen Returns Mess Card

An envelope, postmarked Dothan, Ala., was delivered to Sfc. Lee Odum, mess steward of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Station 17, 3440th Area Service Unit here. Inside, he found a blue mess card and an unsigned note that read:

"The way the last time may be history by now, so I thought I would send this along to him in care of you. I have a boy in the service, too."

Sergeant Odum says he's sure the unidentified soldier didn't miss a meal, however. Any soldier who loses his mess card can get another one simply by reporting the matter to his unit mess steward would let a man go hungry because of a lost mess card," he said.

Benning Chaplain Attends 'Y' Meet

Chaplain (Major) Robert S. Herndon, assistant Infantry Center chaplain, represented Columbus and Fort Benning at the Southeastern Young Men's Christian Association meeting in Atlanta, March 26-29.

The annual two-day meeting [illegible] Atlanta. The [illegible] were heard covering the past year's activities, and plans established for the coming year.

CFC Man 'Dies' In Training Show

One Combat Training Command soldier is killed again and again, and each time his two assassins get off free.

The man who dies is Cpl. Lewis L. Van Horn, who plays the part of an enemy sentry for Infantry School night problems. His soldier-actor assassins are Cpl. Geeter C. Davis and Cpl. Alexander P. Klapz.

The three are members of the Intelligence and Reconnaissance Platoon of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry Regiment. Corporals Davis and Klapz despondently how silently - moving patrols can sneak up and kill an enemy sentry without making a noise.

Combat experience groomed all three men for the part they now play as demonstration troops for The Infantry School. Corporal Van Horn served with the 25th Infantry Division in Korea, while Corporal Kling and Corporal Davis were members of the Second Infantry Division.

As the enemy sentry dies at The Infantry Center, much of the the hidden mystery and terror of night operations also dies for Infantry students who see the demonstrations.

MINE DETECTOR MAN "WALKS ON EGGSHELLS" Cpl. Timothy Collins Treads Lightly When Hunting Mines

Mine Detectors Play Role Of Importance in Combat

The hard working engineers, cal haystack — and quite a bit heroes of song and fable, play riskier.
one of the most important and dangerous roles in combat, and often go unheralded.

But Infantry School students here get first - class instruction on how to guard against minefields from experts. Mine detector crews of the 40th Engineer Combat Company have whipped up a realistic, down-to-earth show that includes everything but actual TNT.

M-Sgt. Orwin Snow and Sfc. Lloyd W. Sykes, non-commissioned officers in charge of the demonstrations, were both mine detector men in Korea. Sergeant Snow had two trucks blown from under him by mines in combat.

Classes start with a demonstration of mining a field, including booby - trapping, camouflaging and recording. Then the engineers show how to breach the field.

"Our key tool in mine detection is an electronic gadget that looks something like a floor-waxer," Sergeant Sykes explained. "We swing the detector six to nine inches above the ground, cutting swathes through the field and listening for the danger signal, a high - pitched whine."

The whine warns of nearby metal, but it's not always a mine —a piece of metal will often sound the alarm.

Mine designers have complicated life for detection crews. Communists in Korea have harrassed United Nations forces with mines cased in wood or plastic, materials that won't show on the detectors. Another new gadget is a Russian mine set off by electrical impulses sent out by the detector itself.

"When the electronic detectors fail," Sergeant Snow said, "we just dig, using our bayonets to probe with. Besides the bayonet, we have a hollow aluminum probe that echoes a warning sound when it strikes metal.

Important though discovering a mine is, it is only the first step in neutralizing it. The mine may be blown up where it is, or it may be removed to a more suitable spot. Sometimes a mine crater in a strategic spot could delay an entire regiment.

Residents Asked To Report Unused Furniture Now

Occupants of all government quarters on the reservation, including Benning Park Homes, have been requested to report to the Quartermaster all furniture and equipment that is not being used. This announcement has been appearing in recent editions of the Daily Bulletin.

All reports should be made to the Quartermaster Memorandum Receipt Section, Phone TE - 4-4100.

Arrangements will be made for the surplus equipment to be picked up.

Some Soldiers Must Purchase Added Attire

WASHINGTON (AFPS). —Army enlisted men who entered the service between Aug. 1, 1950 and Dec. 31, 1951 may have to purchase $26.05 worth of additional clothing by July 1, 1953.

Exceptions are those serving on returning from the Far East Command; those who will not be on active duty after Jan. 1, 1953 and those who have already purchased the items. The additional clothing will bring the number of items up to the authorized allowance set forth in SR-32-20-2.

As explained by an Army circular soon to be sent to the field, Army personnel who entered the Service after Jan. 1, 1952 have received the additional issue as part of their initial allowance. This is equal to the number of items received by personnel who entered the Army prior to Aug. 1, 1952.

Shortages brought about by the Korean emergency and rapid expansion of the Army forced a cut-back in the number of items issued to personnel coming in after Aug. 1, 1950. These shortages have now been corrected and as of Jan. 1, 1953 the cutback was declared abolished.

Men caught in the cutback were given a monetary allowance in lieu of clothing when they entered the Service. During this period they received approximately $29.20 to $30.60.

Those men, however, who are currently receiving a full clothing issue will not begin to receive any monetary allowance until the beginning of their seventh month of active duty. This equalizes any discrepancy between the two categories.

Items that must be purchased to bring the allowance up to the authorized level are an extra set of fatigues with cap, two extra sets of khakis, two cotton undershirts, two pairs of cotton shorts, one pair of cotton khaki socks and a web belt.

Food Unit Hears Gen. Vogel Talk

Brig. Gen. G. H. Vogel spoke on the purpose of the Quartermaster Association at the March meeting of the Atlanta chapter at the Food Service School here last week.

General Vogel, commander of the Atlanta General Depot and president of the Atlanta chapter, told the gathering that the association is a nation-wide organization whose purpose is to promote understanding between quartermaster procurement agencies and civilian industry. He also discussed the national convention to be held in Atlanta in November.

Membership in the association is made up of Army quartermaster officers and civilian industrialists who supply quartermaster functions.

After dinner, an informal discussion of quartermaster activities was held.

Before the meeting, the visiting group toured quartermaster facilities here, accompanied by Col. Ivan Parr, Infantry enter Quartermaster.

First Holds Lead For Tenth Card

The slam - bang post boxing series reaches the championship stage in 16 bouts scheduled at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday night at Wells Field House.

Class three kings in each of the 10 weight divisions probably will be crowned. Class two champs will be decided the following week, with the class one championships after that.

Class one winners will make up Fort Benning's team for the Third Army tournament May 9-10-at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Most of the post's punchers are class three men, naturally, and the furious battling for titles might carry over into the following week's card.

This will be the tenth in the weekly series of cards and another capacity crowd of over 2,000 fans is expected to jam Briant Wells.

First Student Regiment maintained its slim eight-point first place margin in the Fort Benning boxing series today after Ray Lee, veteran Kansas City amateur champ, punched out a stellar three-round decision over highly touted Freddie Wint Tuesday night at Briant Wells.

The First picked up seven points to swell its total to 211. SU Provisional Group's seven upped their total to 166.

Other teams are 508th Airborne, 94, Combat Training Command, 75, Infantry School Detachment, 21, Provisional Medical Group, 9, and First O. C. Regiment, 4.

And Lee emerged as the post's top light middleweight contender, thanks largely to a sharp left hand which battered the right side of Wint's face and kept the PMG slugger off balance.

Freddie, sporting less nearly two pounds at 153¾, never did get set with his one-two barrage which has accounted for three straight previous wins. It was the fifth in a row for Lee. Who scored a knockdown in the first round.

Complete fight results:

Rifle Shoot Up Saturday

Some 60 shooters — probably including a large contingent of civilians and novices—will fire all day Saturday and Sunday in the first annual Fort Benning Wigher Registered Smallbore Rifle tournament at English Range in the main post area.

It will be the first organized smallbore competition of any size held in the southeastern area in recent years which is expected to account for the enthusiastic civilian entry.

A five-man group from Birmingham has filed entry and a crack four-man Air Force squad will compete.

Heading the list of individual entries probably will be Lt. John Kelly who less than a month ago won the national smallbore championship at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Also, Col. Aleck MacDonald, president of the sponsoring Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, expects numerous individual and two and four-man teams from the post to enter.

"This is the kind of rifle shooting anyone can enter hopefully," he explained. "We'd like to see a lot of entries from post personnel with little or no experience. They'll be placed in the marksman class and it's a good chance for them to start earning an NRA ranking."

One of the top civilian entries should be J. B. Nelson, who recently moved to Atlanta after winning numerous smallbore titles in the southwest.

The universities of Georgia and Tennessee also have indicated they plan to send teams.

Other noteworthy individual entries filed at press time included Lt. Arthur Jones, former Olympic team competitor and Capt. Vic Hanson of the Air Force who won the Wimbledon Trophy in national competition this year.

NRA membership will be waived for shooters who have never competed in registered tournaments but individual NRA affiliated team entries will be accepted. Permanent trophies will be awarded winners of individual matches and aggregates.

Five matches of iron sight firing will be done Saturday and five tests with any sights will be held Sunday. Matches 11, 12, and 13 will be iron sight aggregate, any sight aggregate and grand aggregate.

Nearby Baseball

The Detroit Tigers will meet the Birmingham Barons in Birmingham, Saturday while the Washington Senators are playing Atlanta Crackers at Dothan, in nearby Sunday exhibitions. Both the same teams are paired.

WOMEN BOWLERS

Mrs. Juanita Hart rolled a 180 game as the Fort Benning Women's golf group closed out its season in Columbus last week.

Yanks Head Pro BB Slate

Proof positive that spring is here, the local baseball season flowers into full bloom here next week.

Three exhibition games have been set for Manager Joe Smith's Fort Benning Doughboys.

They meet the local Columbus Cardinals, of the class A Sally League, at 8 p.m., next Thursday, April 10, at Gowdy Field, in their initial action and clash face Omaha, of the class A Western League, here April 12.

In another night game, the Doughboys meet the Cardinals again at Golden Park in Columbus April 14.

Meantime, the only chance this spring for post fans to see a major league team in action will be at 3 p.m. Monday when the New York Yankees face Columbus at Golden Park. Tickets are available at the post sports office in Doughboy Stadium.

The Bronx Bombers will bring their varsity lineup which in exhibitions games this week has read as follows:

Johnny Hopp or Kal Segrist at first base, Gil MacDougald at second, Phil Rizzuto or Jim Brideweiser at short, Andy Carey at third, and Bob Cerv, Mickey Mantle, Gene Woodling, and Hank Bauer in the outfield.

Pitchers had not been designated at press time, but they most likely will include one members of the Yankees' big four—Allie (Double No-Hit) Reynolds, lefty Eddie Lopat Vic Raschi or Tom Morgan, last year's rookie sensation.

Prior to the Yankee game, the Cardinals, piloted by colorful Sheldon (Chief) Bender, meet Omaha at 3 p.m. this Sunday.

Following the Yankee game Monday, Apr. 6, at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Apr. 8, Columbus Athletic Association at S.R.S., Friday, April 11, Rochester at the triple A International League at 3 p.m. April 12, and Des Moines at 3 p.m. April 13.

Some 20-odd candidates have been working out under Smith for positions with the Doughboys. The team will be disbanded following the exhibition games to make way for the post league season which will begin about April 20.

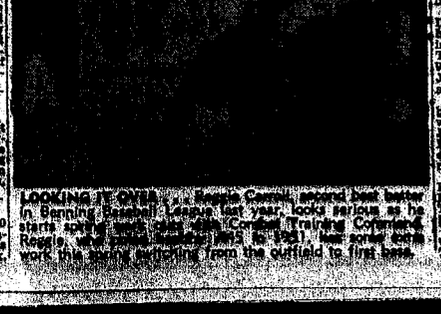
But the Doughboy game will not be discarded for the season. Benning will have a team to represent it in state and regional amateur tournaments later this summer in an effort to win another trip to the national amateurs at Wichita, Kan. The post went to the quarter finals there in 1949.

Smith, veteran of several Doughboy teams, probably will have all of his pitchers in action in the three exhibition games. They are lefty Joe Feinstein, Wall Kilmer, Vince Dickerson, John Freeman, Tony LaCroix and Jack Hronicek.

Ed Gust has held down first base in most of the work out with Sgt. Bergman at second, Johnny Cohen at short and Bill Phillips at third. Other infielders include Wes Kinzel, Paul Bosak, Hanson and Faucett.

Outfielders are Walt Kern, Robert Maurer, Shepherd, Bill Hall and Bill Phillips. Most of the catching will be handled by Marvin Wiseman and Jim Gill.

The season will open with the Columbus Cardinals at 8 p.m. Thursday at Gowdy Field.



LOOKING IT OVER . . . Fencing Coach, second best batter in Benning baseball league last year, looks serious as he stares out with Combat Training Command's Reggie, who's expected to help him this spring patrolling from the outfield to first base.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

AT THE RISK of pointing out what is already obvious, the southeastern area is on the verge of becoming the nation's top center of competitive rifle and pistol shooting. The range choice target-punching plums of the current year are to be harvested hereabouts, and apparently that is only the large beginning of even bigger future seasons.

The 1953 National Highpower Championships — the world series of rifle competition — will be held at the post Aug. 27 through Sept. 7 with some 500 of the nation's top marksmen entered. The NRA Southeastern Regional Smallbore Championships will be fired here July 12-13, and the NRA Southeastern Regional High Power Championships Aug. 9-10.

In addition, the first NRA registered smallbore competition of any size held in the southeast in many a semester is to be fired at English Range here Saturday and Sunday. Less than a month ago, there were over 60 civilian and military entries from nine southern states for the second annual Fort Benning Registered Winter Pistol tournament.

The latter event served as an excellent tuneup for the National Mid-Winter Pistol Championships at Tampa, Fla. Following the Tampa event, most of the better shooters moved into Miami for the Flamingo tournament. It's the scheduling of such events in a close-order series which makes it possible and profitable for the better amateur marksman around the nation to come long distances to compete.

The National Mid-Winter Smallbore Championships were held in St. Petersburg the same week of the pistol firing in Tampa. The National Smallbore Championships, the National Pistol Championships and the National Rifle Association's annual convention all are slated for Jacksonville, Fla., between Aug. 15 and Aug. 24 Thus, between Fort Benning and Jacksonville, the cream of the 1952 bulls-eye crop is just about wrapped up.

Not to be dismissed lightly either is the fact that both the powerful United States Army rifle and pistol teams will train at Fort Benning for the second straight year. Both placed in the top two in national competition last year, under the coaching of two Benning men, Col. Perry D. Swindler, coach of the pistol team since 1949, and Maj. Warren P. Davis, who inherited the All-Army rifle squad last season.

Also, the tryouts for all Army rifle and pistol shooters seeking berths on the U. S. Olympic team this summer are now being held here, as detailed in another story on these pages.

Credit for Benning's meteoric rise in the competitive shooting world goes solely to members of the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, and unofficial group of bulls-eye Rangers who organized themselves some 13 months ago with nothing more in mind at the time than some enjoyable moments among themselves on post ranges.

Since then their ranks have swelled to over 250 and their ambitious program speaks for itself. The group has its own clubhouse and an excellent 50-target pistol range which, I think it is safe to predict, will be increased to as many as 90 targets within the year, and then watch Benning bid for the big prizes!

What is needed now, of course, is for a few other clubs in Georgia and surrounding areas to follow the pattern in increasing their membership and programs and then the southeast can truly be dubbed the nation's shooting capitol. That designation may not be too long in coming.

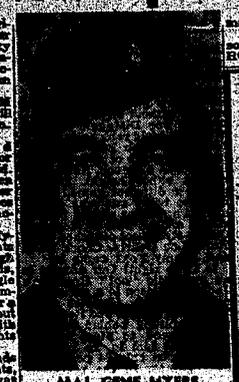
DOUBLELESS USING the new deluxe M-I crystal ball: while I was forced to employ the $1.98 Sears and Roebuck model, Pvt. Herbert Werner, of Third Student Regiment's 27th O.C. Company, writes me that I am as wrong as can be on the World Series day in picking the Yankees and Dodgers to win the 1952 major league cheese cloths.

Werner likes Cleveland and the New York Giants, and goes on to several thousand well chosen words to describe the exact order of finish of all clubs in both leagues, topping off his screwy scrawl by telling who will be the leading hitter, pitcher and the players of the year. Then he draws me, egad, to save his selections so that I may read 'em and weep in October.

In order that all who read my run, here are a couple of Werner's more poignant observations. Duke, Reese, Boone, Avila, Regan, Mitchell and Simpson will give the Tribe the AL's hardest-hitting team and Lemon, Feller and Garcia will each win 20. The White Sox will finish second with Ken Holcombe (who he?) pitcher of the year and Minnie Minoso the batting champ. Vic Wertz, Hoot Evers and Johnny Groth will hit 35 home runs between them while Art Houtteman is winning 16 for Detroit. The Red Sox will finish sixth without Dom and Williams, but Johnny Pesky and Ellis DiMaggio will be the loop's second and third best hitters.

Apparently tiring before he could get into the National League in much detail, Werner merely lists the order of each club, with Brooklyn second, the Cubs fifth and Philadelphia sixth. The other two letters I've got to read before I can say any more on the subject.

Myers New Sports Chief



MAJ. GENE MYERS
. . . New Sports Boss

Maj. Gene Myers, All-American end at the University of Kentucky in 1938, has been named Infantry Center sports officer as successor the veteran Capt. William C. Fannin.

Fannin, who is on ETOCOM orders and Maj. Myers will move into his position when Fannin leaves the post May 2.

Until recently, Myers was a Special Services officer for Combat Training Command. Previously he had been with post Special Services after returning from Special Services school he was recalled to active duty last June.

A native of Harlan, Ky., Myers starred with the Wildcats from 1934 through 1938, although he was only 160 pounds, comparatively light for a single wing ender. He also was named to the All-Southeastern Conference team in 1938, but signed down a contract with the New York football Giants upon graduation.

"I just couldn't see 160-pounds playing center with the Giants, especially when Mel Hein was the guy to beat out of a job," he says wryly. Instead, Myers accepted a position as head freshman mentor and assistant varsity coach with Kentucky, a position which he held until called into service from the ROTC in 1940.

In 1944, he coached the Fourth Infantry Regiment to the Fort Benning Football League championship.

He now designates home as Lexington, Ky., where he owns a sports goods business. He played several other sports in high school but now follows football, horse racing and baseball principally in about that order.

"My big league favorites," he grins, "are the New York Giants and the Kentucky Wildcats."

Myers is not kidding when he calls the Wildcats "big league." Serving as their game scout for awhile, he saw football in all sections of the country and rates the Southeastern Conference as the nation's toughest, with the Big Ten running a close second. He has never been impressed by west coast football, not unlike that same Big Ten which plays in the Rose Bowl.

"Blocking and tackling is the foundation of football and you see the most of that in the SEC," he says. "I guess I'm still partial to the single wing because you get the best blocking and tackling there. The T depends on the quick kick."

Myers played in the single wing, one - platoon era "when you could count on about six regulars having to play full 60 minutes." Married and the father of a son, he was commissioned in the ROTC in 1937.

Dates for Finals Set For Olympic Teams

Dates and sites for final Olympic team tryouts in several sports have been set. The soccer finals will be at St. Louis Monday and Tuesday, wrestling at Iowa State College April 17-19, gymnastics at Penn State College April 25-26, fencing at New York City June 17, weightlifting in New York City June 25-28, rowing at Worcester, Mass., July 3-5, women's track and field at Philadelphia, Pa., July 4, women's swimming and diving at Indianapolis July 4-6.

MASTERS OPENS

GRUNTING TONIGHT

Jack Claybourne, of Hollywood, will wrestle Buddy Jackson, of Columbus, O., in the best two-out-of-three falls feature on the night's grunting card at the downtown Columbus Arena.

EDUCATED TAMER

ROOKIE STARS

Newcomers most likely to make the Brooklyn Dodgers' playing staff are Ben Wade and Johnny Podres, Manager Chuck Dressen wants to farm out a seasoned 19-year old hurler Podres to give him all the work he can handle as he develops into a big leaguer.

CUBS ON TRAVEL

Most interesting thing about the Chicago Cubs is that they get to see Ralph Kiner, Gene Woodling, Hank Sauer and Bill Serena more than any other National League team. They play Pittsburgh seven times, Cincinnati six times and Philadelphia five times.

WARMIN' THE BENCH

Ty Cobb's scathing indictment of modern baseball players as just "part-time athletes" does not ring true. The former Detroit outfielder's 25 years of baseball are not likely to be equalled. But his estimate of the game 22 years after his retirement shows lack of attention. Although Cobb admittedly has not seen a game in two years he makes these changes.—There are no good base runners today. 2—In his day there were no "joke" teams like the St. Louis Browns. 3—Today's game is a slugging match, without any science. 4—Neither Joe DiMaggio not Ted Williams could rank as great hitters . . . Cobb had a lifetime batting average of .367. He stole 96 bases in a season. No one has neared either height. But he played a different game. In his day the home run was almost unknown. Teams played for one run at a time. This strategy and Cobb's style went out when Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Chuck Klein and Jimmy Foxx came in.

Is Cobb right? Our answer is an emphatic "no!" Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson is a great runner. But with Sluggers Duke Snider, Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella hitting behind him, he doesn't need to steal home—they'll bat him in. In 1951 the Browns won only 34 percent of their games. In the preceding 50 years they won only 44 percent.

NEWCOMER BILL HOLTZ (L.) CHECKS EQUIPMENT. ASU Sports Larry Jones, Johnny Wilson Show Way.

Holtz, Boxing Champ at 15, Joins ASU Sports Staff

Newest addition to the ASU Provisional Group athletic and recreation staff is Bill Holtz, 23, who was a Golden Gloves boxing champion before he was 15 and has served combat hitches with both the Navy and Army.

Just returned from Korea, Holtz is now lending an assist with the Raider ring team and plans to go back to pro boxing himself upon discharge.

Fighting flyweight, he won the Golden Gloves title in Chicago in 1943 with an unbeaten record.

He joined the Navy at 15 and worked as an oiler aboard the USS Navasota, representing the ship in his spare time in boxing tournaments in Hawaii and Japan. He won 25 bouts, 15 by kayo.

Turns Pro

Holtz went back to the ring after his discharge, this time as a pro, and won 68 of 110 club fights, mostly at Chicago's Marigold Gardens.

Holtz returned to the Navy following this, however, and served with it until 1950 when he decided to have a try at Army life. He joined the 187th Airborne Regiment which was sent to Korea in 1950.

Serving as a squad leader and BAR man, Holtz was twice wounded and finally hospitalized in Japan. He had two combat jumps.

Expecting to be discharged in October, he holds the Asiatic-Pacific campaign, Philippines Liberation, Japanese Occupation, Silver Star and Naval Service medals and the Purple Heart with cluster.

Big Fight Friday

SUCCESS STORY

Thirteen players from the class A Sally League are on majors rosters this spring. Three former members of the Columbus Cardinals are on the roster of Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals.

Mujica Tests Rhoads in 10 Monday Night

The First Student Regiment scrapper will be seeking his 18th victory, and seventh by kayo here. He took a close decision from Argentinian Tito Markarian in his last local appearance.

Larry had roughed going some six weeks ago, however, when he received a cut eye and was held to a draw by Billy Lauderdale, promising young Florida welter who recently turned pro. Mujica's split orb has mended successfully.

Kaye Record

Rhoads kayoed Pablo Rodriguez in five at Shore Mujica did in two. Richie has also beaten Frankie Leach, Baby Galanio and Joe Westmore.

Hoyt Nunnley, of Atlanta, takes on Benning's Norman Clark in an eight-rounder. They fought to a rugged draw in a previous meeting several months ago.

Benning Women Plan Title Golf Tournament

The Fort Benning Women's Golf Association has scheduled a championship tournament for April 14-18, and will have under consideration plans for an invitation tournament in May.

Sailboat Champ Finds Self Landlocked In Infantry

Paul Gladling, of the Sixth OC Company, may be training for an infantry commission, but there's a bit of salt water flowing in his veins.

He has won the 12th District International star class sailing championships at Lake George, N. Y., and twice captured the state intercollegiate sailing title while studying at Indiana University.

Uncle Sam sent him greetings last May and after being processed at Fort Dix, N. J., Paul put in his bid for officer candidate school. His only hope now is that the Army will station him near a coastline after he earns his bars.

Started Early

With his brother, John, he purchased his first star class craft, the ultimate in the small sailboat field, and with it won the 12th District title after three years of practice.

Bad Storm

"Sailing can be hard and dangerous work," Paul says, recalling a voyage from Toronto, Canada, to Rochester, N. Y. on a 36 foot yawl.

What began as an uneventful midwinter cruise ended in a life-or-death struggle against the elements. For two days the crew fought to remain afloat in one of the fierce winter gales of the Great Lakes.

Using hammers and picks Gindling and his crew battled the ice forming on the boat and after 48 sleepless hours managed to bring the storm-crippled ship into harbor safely.

Smallbore Is Ideal for All

"The .22 - cal. cartridge is still one of the most accurate made," says Maj. Warren Davis, captain of the U. S. Army rifle team, "That's why smallbore competition can be fun for experienced and novice shooters alike."

Maj. Davis, a member of the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, is hoping for a large turnout of new shooters for the club's smallbore tourney Saturday and Sunday.

"Even the service 22 rifle (Springfield) has been used with good success in competitive shooting," he added, but explained that the cost of smallbore shooting gear is comparatively small.

"My .22 target rifle cost in the neighborhood of $36. I picked up a telescopic sight for a couple of dollars and was in business. The ammunition I'll fire Saturday and Sunday will amount to about $1.50, which is cheaper than a round of golf. If you were to buy a complete and good smallbore outfit new it would only run about $150," the major concluded.

Post's Pentathlon Slated April 24

The Infantry Center 1952 Military Pentathlon has been scheduled for April 24. The unique event is open to all personnel on post and units can make as many entries as desired.

Events include a cross country race of approximately four miles using a military map, firing with .45-cal. service pistol, rifle competition with the M-1, a 100-yard swimming race and grenade throwing for distance and accuracy.

Entrants will be required to compete in all five events. One point will be awarded for first place finishes, two points for second and three points for third. The individual with the lowest total score for all events will be the winner.

Nine Post Men Get Life Guard Badges

Women's Meet Set

The Fort Benning women's bowling tournament has been scheduled April 14-16 at the main post alleys, according to announcement by Mrs. Alise Hackett. Approximately ten teams are expected to enter.

A WINNER

In three years as pilot of Albany, Sheldon (Chief) Bender, new manager of the Columbus Cardinals, won two Ga.-Fla. league pennants and finished second.

Gen. Clark Lauds Army Pistol Team

The following message from Gen. Mark Clark, chief of Army Field Forces, has been received by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, commanding general of The Infantry Center:

"Chief Army Field Forces notes with pleasure outstanding record established in National Mid - Winter Pistol Matches by USA (Army) pistol team under leadership of Cpl. Perry D. Swidler, AGC, team captain, and M-Sgt. Huelet L. (Joe) Benton, 82d Infantry, National Mid-Winter champion.

The All - Army squad won five of six team events. Benner won grand aggregate laurels, with Lt. Col. Tom Sharpe third and WOJG Oscar Wannemaker fifth. Nearly 400 shooters competed.

Bragg Cops 3 A Cage Title

Fort Bragg, N. C., led by former New York Knicks' star Carl Braun, were crowned Third Army basketball champs this week after beating Fort Jackson, S. C., 95-58, Saturday night in the finals of the double elimination tournament at Jackson.

Jackson had beaten the Fort Benning entry, Third Student Regiment's Generals, 93-81, and the Doughboys were knocked from the tourney when they lost to Atlanta General Depot, 90-86, in the fourth round.

Only bright note for the post quint was that Barney Gill, chosen as a first string guard on The Bayonet's All - Post team, was picked for the same position on the all-tournament team.

"We just never seemed to be able to relax," commented Generals Coach Bill Hacker as the team returned here Monday.

Regaining lead Jackson, 13-5, after five minutes of play, but had slipped to a 19-21 disadvantage at the quarter. The gap was widened to 39-40 at halftime and Jackson maintained a 15-point margin most of the remaining route.

Service Company Wins

Tom Deegan, a sub who saw star as free throws decided the little action when the Generals racked up 16 straight post wins, was high point man in the game with 21, while Forward Bruce Mahon got 19.

Benning's lone victory came in the third round when they ousted a highly touted Camp Rucker quintet, 59-55.

The Generals had to play the 48-hour games with Atlanta Depot in the afternoon after bouncing Rucker that morning.

Atlanta was the master all the way, coming off the floor with a 46-36 halftime bulge. Gordon Davis and Melvin O'Dell each scored 19 for the winners while Mahon bucketed 23.

Mahon was again the shooting

Little League Teams Picked

Spring training for some 75 deadly serious young baseball players got under way Tuesday as the four teams were set for Fort Benning's first Doughboy Little League.

The post youngsters — all between the ages of eight and 12— will spend a month training, learning the game and playing exhibitions before they go into a regular season of play.

Organized as a part of the Greater Columbus Little League, the winners from the Doughboy circuit will have a chance to go into championship playoffs — all modeled after the action of major leaguers.

The teams are working out at 6 p.m. daily at French Field in the main post area, according to M-Sgt. Raymond Tousignant, president of the league.

The rosters of the four teams follows:

Maj. Gene Holigtein's Airborne Department bowling team scored six straight wins after losing their opening match to win the championship playoffs last week in The Infantry Center Officers Bowling League.

The Airborne lost to First Battalion, 30th Infantry, in their first playoff match, but in their last scored 2749 pins to nip the CTC team by four points. High individual game in the winning match was a 308 rolled by Maj. Donn Yoder.

High set of 521 was carded by Maj. Jack Tallerday.

Meantime, the ABC-sanctioned Fort Benning Association Bowling tournament began Tuesday and will continue through Saturday, April 12, with rolling Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights.

Members of the Airborne Department team this season included Maj. Wallace Olson, Maj. Del Perkins, Maj. Jean Hollstein, Maj. Richard McClure, Capt. W. B. Allen, Maj. Yoder and Maj. Tallerday.

Army Olympic Shooters Here

Some of the dozen-odd Army candidates for the United States Olympic rifle and pistol teams will begin arriving here this week to undergo a vigorous two months of training and quality-ing shooting.

The Army tryouts this week were officially awarded to Fort Benning and the post's Col. Perry D. Swindler was named coach of both the rifle and pistol groups.

Col. Swindler is currently captain of the U. S. Army pistol team. He holds the Army's Distinguished Marksman Badge for both pistol and rifle.

One Olympic rifle team hopeful is Benning's own Capt. James McCubbin. He has already inaugurated a daily training schedule for himself.

The candidates will fire here through May 31. Their three best sets of scores will be submitted to the National Rifle Association which will select the top men to compete in shoulder-to-shoulder competition in June for the Olympic team berth.

Heading the list of pistol candidates is M-Sgt. Heulet (Joe) Benner, defending world's champion who placed second in the 1948 Olympic rapid fire competition using a borrowed weapon.

Benner, from Fort Kobbe, Canal Zone, won the National Mid-Winter pistol title less than a month ago in Tampa, Fla. He copped his world's title in Buenos Aires a year ago.

Other top pistol shooters already selected for the tryouts here are Lt. Col. Thomas Sharpe, of Fort Sill, Okla., number two man on the current All-Army team, WOJG Oscar Weinmeister, of Fort Knox, Ky., Maj. William Hancock, of the Far Eastern Command, 2nd Lt. Lynn B. Moore, of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., and Maj. Ellis Lea, of Ft. Ord, Calif.

Maj. Lea, along with Col. Swindler, is one of 37 living competitors who hold the Army's Distinguished Marksman badge for both pistol and rifle. Maj. Hancock was a member of the 1951 U. S. International team.

Other riflemen already designated for the tryouts are Lt. Col. Thomas Breen, of the Sixth Infantry Division and 2nd Lt. Herbert Voelcker, of Third Army.

Six-man rifle and pistol teams eventually will be selected to represent the United States this summer. They will compete in the International Matches July 6-16 in Oslo and the Olympic Matches in Helsinki July 19-29.

Purdue Back, Ex-Chisox Hurler Here

From the Chicago White Sox and Purdue University to Fort Benning. That's the story of two candidates in the 26th Officer Candidate Company.

Don Ciernlak, who was pitching 'em for the Sox before he had a letter from his draft board, hails from Baltimore, Md. Before joining the Windy City nine he was known as the "reliable Pole" for the Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Hartman, a South Bend, Indiana lad, not only quarterbacked for Purdue, but also majored in physical education there. Making the switch from gridiron to gym floor, Bob then came south to break the all time scoring record with the Florida State College basketball team.

Both Hartman and Ciernak find their co-ordination and timing, drilled in by years of experience, a big help in the rugged business of earning a commission.

Post BB League Opens April 22

Double round robin play followed by a Shaughnessy playoff is schedule to open April 22 in the 1952 Fort Benning Baseball League, but bad weather is wrecking havoc with the selection and practice of most teams.

It is tentatively planned that the league will be in action at Gowdy Field Wednesday and Saturday afternoon each week.

Eight teams are expected to go to the post in the circuit but one of the eight is 506th Airborne which is presently engaged in the Long Horn maneuvers.

Other teams planned are Lawson Air Force Base, First and Second Student Regiments, First Officer Candidate Regiment, Infantry School Detachment, Provisional Medical Group, ASU Provisional Group and Combat Training Command.

Playoffs

At the end of the round robin, the first four teams will be pitted against each other in a Shaughnessy playoff with the second division clubs matched similarly, and Desch Irwin Johnson and First division winners will be declared post champions and the second division winners as runners-up.

Limit on each team is 18 players plus a manager and coach. Deadline for submitting rosters is April 15.

ASU RAIDERS

In the first diamond action of the season, Combat Training Command edged ASU Provisional Group, 5-4, although outhit eight to five. Standout of the seven-inning drill was ASU pitcher Bill Ross who hurled three no-hit innings.

Paul Desch, converted from first base which he had played at Upsala College, N. J. handled the catching chores deftly. He is getting special coaching from Bobby Dews, veteran minor league backstop.

The ASU batting order included Melvis Tipton, 2b, Robert Metz, ss, William Settles, 3b, Bill Hahn, cf, Dixie Walker, rf, William Harper, lf, Al Green, 1b, and Desch. Irwin Johnson and Tom Horn were the other pitchers, the winning running coming in on Horn on a wild pitch.

U. S. Army Photo by Pfc. Cohn.

SECOND S.B. ROCKETS

Ray Parker, who played as a outfielder in the Ga.-Fla. League last season, has trimmed his Second Student Regiment team from 44 candidates to 20.

I.S.D. PROFS

Infielder Howard Harkey has been designated manager of the promising Infantry School Detachment nine. The team has played several intra-squad games.

P.M.G. MEDICS

Adolph Mazeika, former Northwestern University and Chicago semi-pro pitcher, is drilling the Provisional Medical Group baseball team. Mazeika won't have an accurate line on his charges, however, until several absent unit return from the Long Horn maneuver.

One of his most promising candidates is outfielder Tom Gervera, 23, New York sandlotter who was approached by Yankee scouts. Elbert Easley, who played with the hotshot 24th Regiment (25th Div.) team in Japan, is an outstanding first base candidate.

Rifles Clinch Season's Series in CTC Cage

Combat Training Command's Commanders whipped CTC's Rifles, 74-60, Friday night, to take the season's edge 2-1 in the interunit basketball competition.

Just under 6,000 tickets to the benefit game were sold, Lt. Richard P. Crowson, Special Services officer, announced. Proceeds of the game will go to the CTC athletic and recreation fund.

Ben Brown, of the Commanders, and Ed (Hoops) Paquella, of the Rifles, led for high scoring honors with 19 each.

New Hunting Club Formed; Fountain Prex

Lt. Thelbert Fountain, game warden for the Fort Benning Game and Fish Association, this week was elected president of the newly formed Night Hunters Club of America which will promote sportsmanship in hunting and "bring to perfection the natural qualities of the hound by encouraging their owning, breeding and exhibiting.

The club will meet on the first and third Saturdays of each month.

George Hartley, of Midland, Ga., was elected vice-president, E. M. Shine, of Columbus, secretary, and John Jones, of Columbus, treasurer.

James Camp, of Baker Village, and Capt. Craig Scott, of Combat Training Command, were named to the board of governors.

Charter Members

James Attack, of Columbus, Charles Edwards and E. L. Butts, of Seale, Ala., and Arthur Rupp, of Midland, were chosen as a special events committee to plan and officiate at field trials, drag races and other contests.

E Co. Captures Volleyball Go

The 550th Tank Company bowed to Company E in the deciding match, 15-12, 7-15, 15-7.

Headquarters Company, First Battalion, entered the semifinals by defeating Heavy Mortar Company, 15-9, 12-15, 15-13. In the semifinals, the 550th whipped Headquarters, 1st Battalion, 15-8, 18-16.

Saturday's play was a continuation of the championship tournament started March 15. Each of CTC's five battalion sized groupings entered a representative after preliminary play. Company E is champion of the Second Battalion.

Heavy Mortar Co. Top Unit In 41st Battalion Sports

Heavy Mortar Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, has won the title as the 41st Field Artillery Battalion's top unit in sports, 1st Lt. Simeon Smith, battalion athletics and recreation officer, announced this week.

Although the mortarmen are part of the 30th, not of the 41st, they are attached to the artillerymen for participation in battalion level sports. Both units are in Combat Training Command.

In volley ball, Heavey Mortar Company represents the battalion in the CTC tournament. Carlon Brown captains the team and among his key team mates are Wilbern Windom, and Charles Matthews. All three are versatile athlete, with baseball and softball next on their schedule.

Builds Field

Ray H. Erdman's knack for organization and promotion are big factors in the company's sports-mindedness, his buddies testify. He has been especially active in building the company's ball park.

Glamor sports like baseball claim only a fair share of the athletes' time. The mortarmen are also right in there with such sports as horseshoe pitching. Arnold Hallanger in singles champion of the 30th Infantry Regiment, and Coy Christian and Claude Billings are doubles runners-up. Christian has been transferred since pitching in the regimental tournament.

Raab Wins Ping Pong

Edwin Raab, of Medical Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, last week won first place in a Combat Training Command table tennis meet at Service Club Two. He defeated Guido Schoentrup, of Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 30th, in the singles final.

TRACK MEET SET

The 1952 Inter-Service Track and Field Meet will be held at San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif., June 7-8 with the 11th Naval District as host.

Ticklers

By George

MAMBO ITALIANO (Dot 15248) Kenton and Orchestra are in top form on this platter. This number is undoubtedly one of Kenton's compositions, although not his own. It's a rhythmic mambo number, replete with Kenton's "progressive jazz" overtones. And it's terrific. It should just about assure it a chart-topping position. Flip is a ballad to do but so-so.

Don't expect too much from this disc, however. Kenton has done little more than lift 8 key bars from "Mambo Italiano" and, voila, added a mambo beat here in a trumpet solo by Conte Candoli, and when it ends it's the usual Kenton discordant style.

Reverse side is "Yes," with a vocal chorus by Jerri Winters. While the latter tune is original in quality, both sides are rather poor fare from a talented group of musicians such as Kenton employs.

INVITATION (Les Baxter and His Chorus and Orchestra on Capitol). What Stan Kenton has failed to do in producing jazz, such people as Billy May and Les Baxter (and throw in Ray Anthony for good measure) seem to be doing these days. Here is music new in style, and original in quality.

In short—"Invitation" is music played in the best 1952 tradition. The theme itself is from the recent M-G-M motion picture, "Invitation," which starred Van Johnson and Dorothy McGuire, and employs a piano solo by Buddy Cole that adds to the distinction of the platter. Reverse of this disc is "Festival," with the same crew as did "Invitation." Real music lovers can't go wrong on this recording.

PEGGY LEE

EVERYTHING (Peggy Lee, Dick Feller, Orchestra as Capitol) We're a little dangerous to go out on a record as predicting that a particular song or recording will be the nation's next big hit, but we're doing just this on "Everything," by Peggy Lee, one of the country's most popular vocalists.

The tune itself is new, different, and is sung by Peggy Lee—tantalizing, provocative, and sweet. We would suggest that jockeys hear this record with the best girl friend — Spring and Peggy Lee's version of "Everything" seems to go naturally together. Reverse side is "Born On A Bayside," a novelty tune that has a lilt and swing you might like too.

YES SIR, THAT'S MY BABY (Jerry Gray and His Music on Capitol) There was a time when a group of recording musicians around (might still be) called "The Korn Kobblers." The aggregation never did anything sensational but it's platters did well in some sections of the country. Well, Maestro Gray has stolen a leaf from "The Korn Kobblers," added a banjo and a full orchestra, and come up with one of the brightest novelty tunes we've heard in months.

The tune itself — as you probably know — is a bit on the corny side, but it's still good for listening (if not for dancing) pleasure. The reverse side, "Washington And Lee Swing," is likewise an oldie, but when you have such fine tunes by Jerry Gray and His Music, we think you'll agree two better platters [illegible]

"This is tough on grandpap. He's just afeered of a bath as he is of the ba'th"

"Makes You Feel Like John Wayne, Doesn't It?"

Benning Chaplain's Fund Pays For Miracle Drug

Twenty thousand tablets of the miracle drug, sibdesulphone, sent to the Sorokto leper colony in Korea, have brought letters of gratitude to The Infantry Center Chaplain's Office here.

The new sulfa drug, believed to be effective in treating leprosy, was donated to the Sorokto leper colony by the Fort Benning Catholic and Protestant chaplain's fund.

Request for the drug came from Dr. M. C. L. Smith, UN medical representative who administers Sorokto Hospital, to Lt. Col. J. W. Morrison of The Infantry School's Staff Department.

Colonel Morrison, who worked with Dr. Smith when he was advisor to the governor of Chollanamdo province in Korea, turned in the Chaplain's section here for help.

The sibsulphone tablets were sent to Korea last December.

Among those who have written to express their gratitude for the drug were Dr. Sung Yee Kim, acting director of the leprosarium, who said:

"I shall not hesitate to tell the patients of the gift and of the zeal which both the Catholic and Protestant churches have played in raising the money."

Dr. Smith wrote:

"I would also like to add that the sentiments which Dr. Sung has expressed are felt not only by those for whom he speaks, but also by all others of us here."

The Sorokto Leper Colony, on an island off the southern coast of Korea, was established years ago by the Japanese. There are always approximately 6,000 lepers in the colony, Dr. Smith reported, adding:

"The disease is wide spread in Korea, and the means of caring for the afflicted are very inadequate."

Lepers in the colony raise the plant which produces oil of chalmoogra, an unguent which has been used for the treatment of leprosy. They also raise their own food on the island.

About 80 per cent of the lepers there are Christians.

Fifth Army Vets Will Soon Revisit Combat Theater

Thousands of U. S. Fifth Army veterans of World War II are being invited to participate in the first overseas reunion ever staged by an (American Army).

Officials of the Fifth Army Association made the announcement as they disclosed plans for a month-long "Reunion Pilgrimage to the scenes of Fifth Army victories in North Africa and Italy.

A northward flight from the Army's World War II battle progress will take veterans and their families to Italian cities that were involved in the campaigns there. The Pilgrimage will leave Italy on Oct. 30 for the return trip to the U. S.

Special travel and accommodation rates have been arranged and will be disclosed to those interested in joining the Pilgrimage. A map showing points of interest to be visited, and other pertinent information will be furnished with the announcements, Fifth Army Pilgrimage, 30 East 57th Street, New York, N. Y.

Separation Unit Increases Work

The 3440th Area Service Unit Separation Detachment moved into high gear again as it began releasing National Guardsmen and enlisted reservists.

Fifty - two eligibles have started processing for discharge under the provisions of a Department of the Army letter announcing the release of reservists and guardsmen.

First man to receive his papers was Sgt. Dominick T. Triffletti, of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Servict Unit.

Sergeant Triffletti said he would return to the University of South Carolina, where he was studying when he was called to active duty in August, 1950.

Tickets for the Fort Benning Little Theater Group's production of "The Women," by Claire Booth Luce, are on sale now, according to Mrs. Allen L. Peck, publicity chairman.

The tickets went on sale April 1 under the direction of Mrs. Walter B. Yeager, chairman of the box office committee. Tickets are available at the Main Officers' Mess, Lawson Air Force Base Officers' Mess, and the office of Theater No. 1.

The play will be presented on two nights, April 17 and 18, at 8:30, at Theater No. 1. This is the second play presented by the Woman's Club Little Theater this year.

Hadassah Gives Contata

A cantata entitled "Seven Golden Buttons" will be presented by the Columbus chapter of Hadassah following Friday night services at the hospital chapel conducted by Chaplain (1st Lt.) David Raab at 8 p.m.

Autos Here Equal Holland Bicycles

Cars in the U. S. are about as common as bicycles in Holland, according to M-Sgt. Herman Knol, a Dutch Infantry School student assigned to 117th Company, Second Student Regiment.

Sergeant Knol said that the first thing that caught his eye when he landed in New York were the skyscrapers, and next part in the Normandy invasion was the never-ending stream of traffic.

Born and raised in Broummen, Holland, he has been in the Army for 17 years. He served in England during World War II, and with the Princess Irene Royal Netherlands Brigade took part in the Normandy invasion.

Twelfth JCOC Ends Visit

Friday morning the 60 business and professional leaders, huddled in borrowed Army jackets, defied occasional showers, and bitter winds for four hours to witness the Infantry School's famous "mad minute" demonstration, in which all the weapons of an Infantry regiment were fired.

Both the conference members and visiting students from the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., voiced their approval of the show which also was witnessed by ROTC cadets from Sidney Lanier High School, Montgomery Ala.

Later that day the top-flight executives gamely boarded buses in the middle of a teeming downpour to see the battalion in attack demonstration in a problem area in the backwoods of Fort Benning, only to be kept from their objective by axel-deep mud.

One bus carrying Staff College personnel actually got bogged down in the quagmire. Also cheated by the elements were 125 cadets from Tuskegee Institute, Ala., who had planned to join the group for the afternoon.

When the afternoon show was

Building to Start Here on Bridge

Construction of a second access bridge across the Upatoi Creek near Outpost No. 1 will begin here next week, Col. Richard P. Stone, Infantry engineer, announced Tuesday.

Ground - breaking ceremonies for the new re - enforced concrete span will be held at 10 a. m. April 14 at the site of the Lumpkin Road approach to the new structure.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander; Col. Charles H. Karlstad, chief of staff; Col. James R. Torrence, G-4; Col. Robert Erlenkotter, Savannah district engineer; Roy H. Wright, contractor, and Colonel Ebbs are among those expected to attend.

Wright Contracting Company of Columbus has been awarded the contract for the 250 foot two-lane bridge which will be located 800 feet north of the present bridge and will connect Benning Boulevard and Lumpkin Road and the other from a point 500 feet south of Custer Road.

ROK Army Officers Arrive For School

150-Man Group Will Attend Special Course Conducted By Infantry School

One hundred and fifty Republic of Korea Army officers arrived here yesterday morning to attend a special class at The Infantry School.

They are part of the second group of ROK officers to come to the United States under the Mutual Defense Assistance Program to study here and at The Artillery School at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Koreans arrived at Fort Benning by train at 9 a.m. and were greeted by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., The Infantry Center commander, and Fort Benning officials. Music was provided by the 122nd Army Band.

Included in the welcoming delegation were Gen. Meloy; Col. George E. Bush, deputy assistant commandant, The Infantry School; Col. William A. Duncan, Infantry School secretary; Col. Sevier Tupper, commanding officer, First Student Brigade; Col. Kenneth D. Macomber, First Student Regiment commander; Maj. James W. Norwood, commander of the First Battalion, First Student Regiment; Capt. Robert F. Carey, commanding officer, Sixth company, First Battalion, First Student Regiment, Lt. Col. Harold Ayres, director of instruction, TIS, and Capt. John Domenech of the Brigade Allied Liaison Section.

RC Total Nears $35,000 Mark

With contributions still being turned in, the 1952 Red Cross drive at Fort Benning has already netted $34,948.04. This represents an increase of more than $4,000 over last week's figure.

The March payday gave the drive a last minute boost from previous tabulations and it is believed that enough money will eventually be turned in to bring the post total to $36,000.

Colonel Glnes Perez, executive chairman of the drive for Fort Benning said, "As the final results come in, I feel proud that I was able to play a small part in the 1952 Red Cross campaign. The personnel of Fort Benning can well be proud of themselves for giving so generously to such a worthy cause. As in the past, we have proven that when called upon we are ready.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one in the subordinate units who gave so willingly of their time and efforts. It is largely through their work that each and every member of this command was made aware of the drive and the importance connected with the work of the American Red Cross."

"I anticipate," the Colonel said, "that when the final count has been made, Fort Benning

Baseball Action Opens Tonight

The first official baseball action of the season at Fort Benning is on tap at 8 o'clock tonight when the Doughboys take on the Columbus Cardinals at 2,500-seat Doughboy Field in the main post area.

Manager Joe Smith has a scrapping post nine which should prove a worthy adversary to the Cardinals, members of the class A South Atlantic League.

There's other exciting sports fare scheduled this week, including tournament of the year's 1952 softball and golf tournaments, the opening of the post baseball league and the appearance of two

Easter Dawn Program Set

Sunrise Services Arranged At Three Separate Locations

Traditional Easter Sunrise services will be held at three locations here this Sunday so that all Infantry Center soldiers and the throngs of expected guests may attend.

Main services will be held at Gowdy Field on the main post at 6:30 a.m. Infantry Center Chaplain (Col.) Joel M. Wareing, will preside, and Chaplain (Col.) Lexington O. Sheffield will be chief speaker. The Infantry Center Chapel choir and the 122nd Army Band will furnish music for the occasion.

Combat Training Command chaplains will hold their service at 6 a.m near Sand Hill Chapel No 2. Guest speaker will be K. D. Pogue, chaplain of the Veterans Administration high school in Tuskegee, Ala.

The Area Service Unit Provisional Group band will play, and a 68-voice combined choir will sing. CTC's own choir will be joined by choirs from the Sherwood Presbyterian church and Bealwood Baptist church, both of Columbus, according to CTC Chaplain (Capt) Alexander L. Lewis.

Chaplains of the First Officer Candidate Regiment will join with those of the Second Student Regiment to present services at 7:30 a.m. near First OC Regimental headquarters. Maj. Logan Weston will deliver the sermon.

The sunrise services will climax a week-long Holy Week program that has been in progress here throughout the week.

Other services slated for the remainder of this week include Holy Communion tonight at 6:30

Plans for Third Armed Forces Day Announced

The Third Annual Armed Forces Day will be celebrated throughout the American military world on Saturday, May 17.

Col. Walter B. Yeager, project officer for the Fort Benning portion of the event, has announced that the slogan for the 1952 Armed Forces Day is Unity Strength and Freedom. Colonel Yeager also points out that this year's slogan is a quick summation of our national policy.

Assisting Colonel Yeager will be a committee of four field grade officers including Lt. Col. F. B. Meyer, Lawson Air Force Base; Lt. Col. K. A. Grimes, Special Services Office, Maj. E. M. Shaffer Adjutant General Office, and Maj. H. D. Steward, Public Information Office.

Crackdown Set For Violators Of Auto Rules

New traffic regulations to "supply drastic action before an accident occurs" go into effect here April 21, Col. Stephen W. Ackerman, Infantry Center transportation officer, has announced.

Transportation officials hope the regulations will reduce the number of accidents and at the same time save the government money.

Under the new regulations, operators of government vehicles will be relieved from their assignment as drivers after being involved in an accident caused by their own carelessness.

There were 428 accidents on the post in 1951, according to Colonel Ackerman, which cost the government and the people involved approximately $79,588. Since January, there have been 137 accidents here, costing $11,850.

Prompt Trial

The new regulations also provide for summary courts-martial to be set up in each major unit for the prompt trial of traffic violators. Instead of being given a ticket, a soldier involved in an accident will be taken immediately to his organization. A special board will be convened there to try his case while the accident is still fresh in the minds of the violator and witnesses.

To insure that drivers of government vehicles receive standard and thorough training, central driver testing-training units are being organized here in the Combat Training Command, 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, Area Service Unit Provisional Group, Provisional Medical Group, The Infantry

Six Army Generals Schedule Visit to Ranger Department

An action-packed schedule has been arranged for six Army generals who will visit The Infantry School's Ranger Department April 14-15.

Attending a whirlwind orientation session here and at the Ranger Department's Florida camp near Pensacola, will include:

Lt. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, Second Army commander; Maj. Gen. Ray E. Porter, 101st Airborne Division commander; Brig. Gen. Raymond H. S. Williamson, Third Armored Division commander; Brig. Gen. George B. Barth, Fifth Infantry Division commander; Maj. Gen. Albert C. Smith, Fifth Army Command and Maj. Gen. Paul W. Kendall, Sixth Corps commander.

Col. J. B. Crawford of the Office of the Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Monroe, Va., also will attend.

The group is scheduled to arrive here April 15. The following day they will tour the

Thirty-Three NCOs Graduate From Ranger Class Number 2

Of 107 selected volunteers only this small group scored passing grades.

"The Indian fighters of the modern Army," was the term used to describe the Rangers by Lt. Col. Richard Seitz, director of the Infantry School's Airborne Department, who made the graduation address.

Hospitality Wins French Colonel's Praise on Visit

Hospitality at The Infantry Center won the acclaim of Col. Paul Louis Gandoet, commandant of the French Infantry School, during his visit here last week.

"I couldn't have felt more at home," he said. "Your Infantry School is almost identical to ours—probably because of the close cooperation between our Armies in recent years. There have been many exchange students and, of course, the weapon and training methods are the same," he added.

The French officer said he was particularly impressed by the enthusiasm and pride of Infantry School instructors here.

Colonel Gandoet, who has already visited New York and the Exercise Longhorn maneuver area at Fort Hood, Texas, declared:

"Throughout my trip it has been gratifying to receive the same warmth of welcome and good will that we received during World War II while fighting under Gen. Mark Clark and Gen. George Patton in Italy, Tunisia, France and Germany."

While in Texas, Colonel Gandoet visited the command post of the 136th Infantry Regiment, 47th Division, near Cowhouse Creek, and was made an honorary member of the Bearcat Division. He also saw the unit launch an assault on troops from the 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N. C., who were acting as Aggressor forces.

Lt. Fleet Named ASU Legal Officer

First Lt. Erwin Fleet has joined the legal section of Headquarters, Area Service Unit Provisional Group, as unit Legal Officer.

Lieutenant Fleet was a self-employed Attorney - at - Law in Fort Walton, Fla., before reporting to duty at Fort Benning last spring.

He is a graduate of the University of Florida and is a member of the Florida State Bar Association; Pi Lambda Phi, National Fraternity, and Lions International.

LITTLE THEATER THESPIANS EMOTE IN 'THE WOMEN' Left To Right, Ellen Heard As Mary, Rosanne McQuarrie As Sylvia, And Eleanor Enright As Miriam Aaresan

Veils to Be Unwrapped Next Week on Luce's 'The Women'

The Fort Benning Woman's Club will unwrap the veils on its latest performance, "The Women," by Claire Booth Luce, next Thursday and Friday in performances at Theater No. 1. The play begins at 8:30 both nights.

The story is woven around 24 women, their lives, ambitions and desires. Directed by Mrs. Mary A. Leavitt, wife of Capt. A. M. Leavitt, the show stars Mrs. Ellen Heard, wife of Maj. John P. Heard, as Mary Haines, who has been left by her husband.

As the play unfolds, the audience will meet Gladys Walker, wife of Major J. Walker, as Crystal, an ex-sales-girl who scores a hit with Stephens Haines; Jacquelyn Yeager, daughter of Col. Walter Yeager, as Little Mary Haines, daughter of Mary; Alice Duckworth, wife of Capt. B. R. Duckworth, as Mrs. Moorehead, the understanding mother, and Rosanne McQuarrie, wife of Capt. Claude McQuarrie as Sylvia. Mrs. McQuarrie scored a hit with Infantry Center fans in "Over 21," a production staged by the Woman's Club in February.

Bunny Bennett, daughter of Col. Harry L. Bennett (retired) plays the part of Jane, the maid in the Stephen Haines household.

Admission to the play is 80 cents, and tickets are on sale now at the Main Officers Mess, the Lawson Air Force Base Officers Mess, and the office of Theater No. 1.

Medals Awarded 5 TIC Soldiers

Two officers and three enlisted men have been decorated here for services performed in Korea.

Lt. Col. Crandall I. Koons of Creal Springs, Ill., was awarded the Bronze Star Medal; Warrant Officer Charles R. Lyers of Summerville, S. C., the Army Commendation Ribbon, and M. Sgt. Quinton Barnes of Jacksonville, Fla., Sgt. Paul O. Kerey of Pulaski, Ga., and Pvt. Milton G. Mastin Jr., of Columbus, Ga., Purple Heart Medals.

The three enlisted men are patients at the Army Hospital here, where they are recovering from wounds received in Korea. The two officers are assigned to the Provisional Medical Group.

Kid's School Addition Told

Plans have been approved to nearly double the size of the center all purpose building at the Glenn Field Children's School now under construction at Fort Benning.

The $24,000 addition will extend the length of the building from 70 feet to more than 115 feet, according to Col. Daniel H. Hundley, Infantry Center comptroller. It will be used as a combination assembly room, cafeteria, recreation hall and instruction center.

Additional features will be a stage with adjacent dressing rooms and a completely equipped kitchen.

The 300,000 school is scheduled to be completed in September. It will accomodate 390 pupils in grades one to seven.

20 Dutch Students In Weapons Class

Twenty students from the Netherlands Army are among the 197 enrolled in the light and heavy weapons class, 104th Company, Second Student Regiment.

Included in the class are two sets of brothers, John and Warren Pace and Jerry and Chester Musson—all master sergeants.

Mrs. D. H. Hundley Named Woman's Club President

Mrs. Daniel H. Hundley was elected last Monday as president to head a new slate of officers for the Fort Benning Woman's Club. She replaces Mrs. George A. Millener.

The election was held at the Main Officers Mess April 7.

The newly elected officers, who will be installed at the May Breakfast May 8, are Mrs. George E. Bush, first vice president; Mrs. Willard W. Morris, second vice president; Mrs. Richard J. Seitz, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell J. Yetter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles D. McLaughlin, treasurer, and Mrs. J. H. Reynolds, auditor.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Millener, retiring president.

After the election of officers and the business meeting, an exhibition was held and tea was served. The displays, arranged by 15 of the members of the Woman's Club, included items gathered around the world.

Mrs. Perry Swindler was in charge of decorations for the tea table.

Final plans for the art contest were completed. The annual all-post art contest sponsored by the Woman's Club will be held at the Girl Scout cabin May 17-18.

Scouts Depart On River Trip

Six boat loads of Boy Scouts cast off at 8 o'clock this morning from Engineer Landing for a trip down the river to Eufaula, Ala.

Under the leadership of Capt. Robert Ryan, scoutmaster, and Sgt. 1st. W. Deaveiro, assistant scoutmaster, the troop will land at Eufaula, Ala., and camp out for two nights before returning to Benning on Saturday.

The 80 Scouts have been spending their spare time in preparation for their river trip. Several Saturdays have been spent in intensified training on how to handle Engineer boats and also in snake bite training.

Woman's Club Here Readies All-Post Art Competition

The Fort Benning Woman's Club will hold its annual all-post art contest on May 17-18 from 1-5 p. m. at the Girl Scout cabin (Little House).

Competition will be divided into four categories. These include:

Category 1 — Painting. All varieties of subject matter and art forms, including life and still-life studies, land and seascapes, portraits, city and country scenes, imaginative creations and abstractions. Use of all media and techniques is authorized.

Category 2—Drawing. Subject matter applicable for this category may be the same as Category 1. Entered in this category will be etchings, lithographs, pencil sketches, posters and cartoons.

Category 3 — Design. Designs will be original and may apply to any item or object in common use, such as textiles, clothing, boats, furnishings, vehicles weapons and others. Plans for centers or buildings may be submitted.

Category 4—Modelling. Modelling such as sculpture, woodcarving, and ceramics will be accepted. Use of all media and techniques is authorized.

Rules governing entries include:

1. The minimum dimensions for entries under Categories 1, 2, and 3 will be 8 by 10 inches, and the maximum dimensions 36 by 48 inches including mats and frames. Frames are not necessary.

2. Entries will be judged on originality, appeal, technique and composition.

3. All entries of pastel and charcoal must be sprayed with fixing medium to prevent damage. All pencil drawings must be protected by cellophane or tissue.

4. All military personnel on active duty at Fort Benning and Lawson Air Force Base and their dependents are eligible to participate.

5. Certification: Contestants will certify that entries are their own creations.

6. To facilitate cateloging of entries at all levels of competition, two copies of entry form will be attached to each entry.

7. Receiving of entries: Entries will be received at Service Club No. 1 between May 1—11 from 1—7 p. m. Entry forms must be filled out at that time.

8. Return of entries: Entries will be picked up by the participants at the Girl Scout cabin (Little House) on May 19 from noon until 7 p. m.

Prizes and ribbons for first place in the following classes will be awarded:

A. Professional

B. Amateur (Adult)

C. Special Children's Class, age 6—9, 10—15, and 14—19.

Ribbons will be awarded for second and third place.

There must be at least four entries in each category or prizes will not be awarded in that class.

While every possible effort will be made to assure the safe return of all entries, the Woman's Club can assume no responsibility for loss or damage.

For additional information or extra copies of rules, interested persons may call Mrs. James W. Harrison, FB 2903, or Mrs. Schiller Shore, FB 2154.

General Meloy Will Speak To Aggie Grads

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., will be principal speaker at Fort Benning April 21 when Infantry Center alumni of Texas A&M College gather for their annual muster.

General Meloy, Infantry Center commander and honorary president of the Fort Benning Texas Aggie Club, is a former professor of military science and tactics at the Texas college. His son, William, is now a freshman there.

Alumni in this area will celebrate their yearly reunion at dinner in the Fort Benning Country Club. The annual roll call of former Aggies will pay tribute to alumni who gave their lives in military service and will recognize those now in the Armed Forces.

Muster Day commemorates the day in 1836 when the Texas army, led by Gen. Sam Houston, defeated the Mexican army under Gen. Miguel Lopez de Santa Anna at San Jacinto, ensuring Texas' independence from Mexico.

Solon Committee Promises Vet Bill Report in 2 Weeks

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Members of the House Veterans Committee indicate that it will be at least two weeks before a completed version of the K-Vet Bill is finally reported out of Committee.

Committee members and their staffs are meeting almost daily with officials of such organizations as the Veterans Administration, the Office of Education and the General Accounting Office to write a bill that offers the best solution to all major problems. The abuses of the WWII version of a similar bill have forced the committee to proceed with extreme caution.

Student Brigade Observes First Anniversary Here

The First Student Brigade, which comprises 37 per cent of the total strength of The Infantry Center, celebrated its first anniversary April 5.

The date also marked another milestone in the Army career of the brigade's commander, Col. Sever R. Tupper, who in 1941 activated and commanded the World War II unit that grew into the brigade.

The First Student Brigade handles the housing and administration for some 11,000 Infantry School students who yearly pour in from all sections of the U.S. as well as Allied countries.

Among the 25 different nationalities represented in the brigade during the past year were 152 Republic of Korea Army officers who took a special 20-week Infantry officers course.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, in a birthday letter to Col. Tupper said:

"I wish to take this opportunity to congratulate the officers and men of the Brigade on the completion of a year of activity in which they have played an outstanding part in the successful operation of The Infantry School.

"The spirit of cooperation, standards of discipline and operational efficiency of your organization have been of the highest degree, and reflect credit upon yourselves and The Infantry Center."

Post CID Boss Goes to FECOM

Capt. Emmett T. Brice, Chief of the Criminal Investigation division, has been relieved of duty and assigned to EUCOM to report in June.

Captain Brice reported to Benning in 1948 and was assigned to the Criminal Investigation division in July 1949.

Col. Richard S. McConnell, Benning Provost Marshal said, "since Captain Brice took over the section, it has set an outstanding record solving 63 per cent of the criminal cases investigated, recovering over $58,750.00 in stolen government property, and investigating over 3500 complaints."

Capt. Robert M. Davis, commanding officer, 300th Criminal Investigation division, Memphis, Tenn., was designated Chief of the Benning Criminal Investigation division on April 7.

4 ASU Groups Get Award Plaques

Four Area Service Unit Provisional Group organizations have been awarded group plaques for outstanding accomplishments in the fields of troop safety, health and conduct, training, supply, mess and motor maintenance.

The Safety and Training awards were won by the 666th Transportation Truck company. The Supply and Motor Maintenance plaque went to the 27th Transportation Car Company while the Health and Conduct and Mess Awards were awarded to the 122nd Army Band and Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section II, respectively.

Col. C. K. Krams, ASU commanding officer, presented the awards.

Army Offers You Education

Many Fort Benning soldiers are overlooking one of the easiest ways to improve their talents and to become more valuable to themselves and the Army.

The Army believes in education — as evidenced here by The Infantry School — but it also believes in general education and has made it easy for soldiers to gain high school and college level credit that can be applied to degrees and diplomas.

High school certificates and up to one year of college can be had for the asking, provided of course, you can pass the tests given at the I and E center here, where from 75 to 80 per cent of those taking the tests pass. Many colleges recognize these GED credits and most states will award your high school diploma on successful completion of the examinations.

The high school and first year college credit tests are divided into five parts. They are English grammar, social studies, natural science, literature, and mathematics. Mathematics is optional in the college level test.

So much for the credits you may acquire by your present knowledge. There are many other ways in which you can attain credit.

The United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) with headquarters, in Madison, Wis., offers 363 separate courses through correspondence with a range of from the fifth grade through two years of college. The cost of each course is only $2.

Many resident USAFI courses are taught at the I and E center located in building 2512, here at Benning. Classes, which continue for 10 weeks, meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Enrollment is voluntary but once you have signed up for classes, you are expected to attend all the sessions. The courses are free, and the Army even furnishes the books and supplies.

The University of Georgia's College Center which meets three nights a week at the Jordan high school in Columbus, is closely affiliated with the I and E center here which will pay up to 75 per cent of the tuition.

For most courses, the cost to you, besides the books, is only $5. The classes, which meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights include the first two years of study exactly as taught on the campus in Athens.

The Army recognizes many colleges which offer correspondence courses that carry full college credit. Here again, the Army pays the bulk of the cost.

The Army also will give you a two-year Educational Qualification Test (2CX) which is only recognized by the Army. That is, it carries no college credit.

But for whatever reason you might need more education, the Army has provided a way and at small expense to the individual. More education will better equip you for a regular Army career, or you can get a head start on post-service educational plans.

If you want more information, drop by the I and E office where a trained personnel will discuss your school needs. It's easy, and worthwhile.

The Combat Soldier's Tools

A good carpenter knows the tools of his trade. He knows what they can do and he knows how to use them. On his skill depends his job.

To the man in combat, the tools of his trade are his weapons. He also must know what they can do and how to use them. On his skill may depend his life.

Generally speaking, small arms are the individual weapons of the fighting man. Today, the term "small arms" also includes some weapons that are handled by two-or three-man crews. The addition of new weapons, such as bazookas and recoilless rifles, to the small arms family has given infantry greater mobility and firepower.

As a group, our family of small arms is the finest in the world. But a perfect gun has never been built—and it never will be. To obtain some qualities, others have to be sacrificed. The measure of any weapon is how many desirable characteristics are retained and how few are sacrificed. That's why our arms researchers and industrial experts are constantly working to bring out new and better weapons and to improve the old ones.

Did you ever wonder how many small arms are necessary to equip an Army infantry division? Here are the astonishing figures: 7,002 M-1 rifles, 7,033 carbines, 2,654 cal. .45 pistols, 613 submachine guns, 421 BAR'S 200 cal. .30 machine guns, 381 cal. .50 machine guns, 81 2.36-inch rocket launchers, 465 3.5-inch rocket launchers, 120 recoilless rifles —plus 160 mortars, which Army Ordnance classifies as artillery. World Needs More Earnest Faith in God

BY CHAPLAIN
(CAPT.) EDWIN C. GOSSER

You will agree with me that our world desperately needs a more earnest faith in God. The world seems to have lost its anchor and is floating about in a hopeless confusion of wars and rumors of wars.

The confusion comes out of our mutual mistrust at Kaesong, for example, nobody trusts anybody—but Kaesong is only a simple of the world's mental attitude in general. Our future is unpredictable.

There is an ancient law of physics which says that two solid bodies cannot occupy the some space at the same time. You have probably demonstrated that law many times in your life—like when you ran into the edge of a chair in the dark and bruised your shins, or if you have ever been in an automobile accident I won't have to tell you that either you or the other driver were trying to break that ancient law. Instead you probably broke a few bones and smashed a lot of good fenders.

There is a spiritual law, equally exact and equally unbreakable, which declared that a man cannot have faith and doubt at the same time. If he tries he is nervous and upset. He cannot have peace within himself. No man can have peace without faith. But good religion consists of something more than a set of defensible beliefs. We must live as if God were a fact.

It is the man who does not have faith in God who becomes guilty of wrongdoing, who defrauds a neighbor, who violates his own conscience, who breaks a sacred vow who fails his comrades by deserting from his post. It is the man without a faith to guide him who hates another person, who leaves his duty undone, who thinks of himself first in every situation.

It has been said that the man who is all wrapped up in himself makes a small package.

And if a man believes in God and in the brotherhood of man, he must also believe that life has meaning and purpose. In the past enough men have believed in goodness to enable humanity to survive the destructive forces of evil.

Man has become self-centered, believes himself to be self - sufficient, is greedy enough to take something for nothing—regardless of the consequences. Man no longer desires to build. He prefers destroying.

It is a terrible cancer, that is eating away our faith and destroying the greatest good in any of us—love of our fellowmen and love of God.

It seems to me that the world has strayed so far from the spirit of God that those in power, blinded by their ego and vanity and misdirected ambitions, know not what to do. They cannot lead us out of the wilderness of chaos because leadership presupposes a wisdom it does not have and assumes a power it is obviously not qualified to exercise.

These leaders have strayed so far from God and light of truth, they cannot see the horizon any longer. They have forgotten or pushed to the sidelines the law that man cannot live for himself alone.

Let us hope and pray that man can still rise out of the confusion of today. That he will regain his faith. That he will return to God his creator and endeavor to redeem himself. Let us hope that the tiny slingshots of Good will be able to kill the Goliaths of evil that threaten us.

Many in our world are saying, "Whose is the man who can lead us?" We must have someone who can save us from our own selfishness—or we will destroy ourselves in our eagerness to outdo each other.

There are still all too few who believe in Jesus as God's revelation of himself to the world. The writer of a new biography of Jesus says: "The central doctrine of Xy is the incarnation. Jesus is the God who became Man. He took our nature upon him, and knew by experience our happiness, our sorrows, our temptation, our little strength. Assuming our limitations, he showed us how to live. He revealed to us our own possibilities."

Phone Service Is Normal Despite Strike

A strike of 67,000 telephone workers in 43 states this week hardly affected service as union officials withheld all-out picketing, thus sparing a wide-scale tie-up of the nation's already shaky communications system. Some long distance phone calls were delayed, and some pickets were out, but the American Telephone and Telegraph Company said "Most service is normal."

The telephone system had been carrying an extra burden since last week when 90,000 telegraphers struck Western Union Telegraph Company. Business out off from telegrams reverted to telephones. There was no direct connection between the two strikes, though both grew out of wage deadlocks.

General Omar N. Bradley, speaking in Macon, made an urgent plea for the administration's stalemated universal military training program as the democratic answer to the Communist drive to "discredit and destroy us." Said Bradley, "With the trained manpower reserve which universal military training could provide, it is not unlikely that we could eventually reduce the size of our active armed forces materially."

On The Bookshelf

(This is the eighth in a series of short book reviews taken from a suggested reading list for officers prepared by the Office, Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Monroe, Va.)

Reference Books

THE ARMY ALMANAC (U.S.) Government Printing Office, 1,009 pages. May be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.) A reference book touching World War II, but primary emphasis is on facts concerning the U. S. Army. Some chapters of outstanding interest include "The Atomic Bomb," "Geneva Convention Relative to the Treatment of Prisoners of War," "Non-Regular Components," which includes the National Guard, ROTC and ORC, and "Non Profit Making, Service Motivated Associations."

ADMINISTRATION OF AMERICAN FOREIGN AFFAIRS by J. L. McCamy (Albert Knopf, 294 pages) An opportune and thought-provoking work, exploring and evaluating the administration and administrators of U. S. foreign policy from the Department of State to the hundred others on various agencies.

EXPERIMENTS ON MAN by Ralph W. Gerard (Basic Books, 278 pages) A thorough global coverage for its size. In its store of helpful and interesting information, will be found maps, political and physical, high spots of World War II, charts of the solar system and glossary of geographical terms.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS by Robert Strausz and Stefan T. Possony (McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., 247 pages) An extremely valuable and timely book which, in its discussion of the interplay of international relations, points an accusing finger at Democracy's indifference to protect itself from the successes of dictatorship. A thick book, but its conversational tone invites continued interest and attention to its important message. Discussed are cold war techniques, ideologies and foreign politics, ideologies and foreign politics, intelligence vale of other elements in "The Game."

THE NEW YORK YANKEES-COLUMBUS CARDINALS baseball game was broadcast last Monday via tape - recordings by the hospital radio station, WFBS. Through the combined efforts of Sgt. Murray Pendelston, WRBL sportscaster, George Theeringer and the Fort Benning PIO, radio branch, the game was tape-recorded as it was played at Golden Park in Columbus and replayed by automobile back to WFBS where it was aired just a few innings behind the actual game being played in Columbus.

The delayed play - by - play description of the game was carried by the WFBS, hospital bed - side network, and by the out - door speaker of the new WFBS, listening patio.

KOREAN VETERANS AT THE HOSPITAL have been donating their time in a program of tape - recorded interviews to acquaint people with the need for donating blood. The radio branch of TIC has completed a series of recorded interviews with veterans in the hospital who were benefiting from blood transfusions not so long ago in Korea. One master tape - recording has been sent to the Red Cross headquarters in Atlanta where it will be dispatched to other radio stations throughout Georgia.

Many of the interviews with veterans at the hospital will be used on Fort Benning's, Sat. eve., WRBL radio show, "Benning in Review."

THE RED CROSS DRIVE at Fort Benning has officially ended, and as a tribute to all the Infantry Center folks who gave to the campaign, the men of the 122nd Band, conducted by WO William R. Trembath, presented a "Surprise Salute" on last Sunday's "Fort Benning Feature Page" (WGBA AM-FM, noon).

Deserving Units To Get Safety Program Awards

A program of safety awards designed to emphasize the safety program currently in progress here has been inaugurated by the Infantry Center.

Periodic awards will be presented to deserving units and individuals. The Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement will be awarded quarterly to the major subordinate command achieving the greatest percentage of improvement in military injury frequency rate over the previous adjusted average established for that command.

The Certificate will also be awarded to the civilian personnel activity on a similar basis. This will not include activities employing a small number of civilians, but will include Signal, Transportation, Quartermaster, Surgeon, Ordnance and Post Engineer.

The major subordinate command having the best percentage of improvement in military or civilian injury frequency rates over the previous adjusted average or the lowest frequency of Army motor vehicle accidents at the end of the 1952 calendar year will be recommended by The Infantry Center to Third Army as being eligible for consideration for the Third Army Certificate of Merit.

Individual awards include safe driver award cards, motor vehicle and mechanics badge for military drivers, and safety citations for supervisors of civilian employees.

Individuals, in order to win one of these awards, must fill certain requirements. Drivers, either civilian or military, who complete 12 consecutive months of driving without a preventable accident will be eligible. Drivers who operate vehicles incidental to their primary duties, less than 5,000 miles per year, will not be considered eligible.

Army Field Band Scores Hit in Benning Concert

BY SGT. TIM WARREN

A near capacity crowd gave hearty endorsement to the United States Army Field Band at Briant Wells Field House Saturday night.

Anyone who harbors the opinion that bands concern themselves only with marching music would have been greatly relieved to hear Major Chester R. Whiting and his 120 musicians. The 2,000 persons that did attend listened for almost two hours as the celebrated aggregation played everything from novelty numbers to light classics.

The program got under way with the signature of The Army Field Band and then went into the American's Creed. Their versatility became readily apparent as they flawlessly changed their style to go into John Philip Sousa's Cubalanda.

First vocalist of the evening was Sergeant Rex Johnson who gained one of the heartiest responses of the evening with his rendition of Without A Song. His curtain call number was the currently popular French love song Domino.

Change of Pace

Another rapid change of pace by the group which had a great deal of audience appeal was Korsakov's Dance Of The Buffoons.

If audience response could have picked the outstanding performer of the evening, the laurels would have gone to Sergeant First Class Eugene Coughlin who sang Play Gypsies, Dance Gypsies and Old Man River. What particularly pleased the audience was his hands-in-pockets manner of presentation.

Tschaikowsky's 1812 was the band's concluding selection for the evening and was equally well received. The novelty selection was Zounds, Tico Tico.

Soldier Chorus

The Soldier Chorus, under the direction of Warrant Officer Arthur V. Dondero sang the Lord's Prayer by Malotte and Julia W. Howe's Battle Hymn Of The Republic. What could perhaps be termed their biggest bit of the evening was Sound Off with Sfc. Eugene Coughlin calling cadence.

Ponchielli's Dance Of The Hours preceded the band's featured tenor, Sfc. John Riccobene who sang Belle Belle and Sin.

The Drum Novelty Group of the band lived up to all advance publicity with its version of Circlinda. Their almost flawless percussion gymnastics gave them a solid standing with the audience as they went through their routine.

Irish Fantasy and Kings Of The Highway were the closing selections and it was here that the band's narrator, Sfc. Paul V. Heeg displayed his fine ability to the utmost.

Assistant directors for the band are 1st Lts. R. L. Bierly and A. W. R. Sheffle.

The band is currently on a 24-city tour that will take it from Washington, D. C. to Havana, Cuba. Capt. John F. Finigan, band liaison officer, is now in Europe arranging for a tour that the group will make this summer.

C of C Sponsors Play Tonight

The Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a play to be presented tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the Jordan high school auditorium.

Tickets will be $2 per person, and $1 for school-age children. Tickets will be on sale at the box office.

Columbus Lawyers Give Advice To Personnel on Legal Matters

BY SUNNY BENNETT

Infantry Center soldiers and their dependents queue up outside the Legal Assistance Office here every Wednesday afternoon to get free legal advice from members of the Columbus, Ga., Lawyers Club.

Started during World War II as a "patriotic gesture," this service today has become another example of the civilian-military cooperation between Columbus and Fort Benning, says Colonel E. J. Walsh, Infantry Center judge advocate.

A volunteer from the Lawyers Club is here every week to help soldiers and their families untangle such knotty problems as how to handle a landlord, how to get an allotment, adopt a child or collect a debt.

These lawyers work without recompense, according to Colonel Walsh. "Their only reward is cementing relations between Fort Benning and Columbus."

Members of the Columbus Lawyers Club act in an advisory capacity. They do not draw up legal documents, nor do they represent an individual in court unless requested. In such instances, Colonel Walsh said, regular fees are charged.

"We are proud of the cooperation the lawyers of Columbus give the judge advocate office," he added.

A Farm Too

Enlistment Pay Improves Since Revolutionary War

Are you contemplating a reenlistment in the Regular Army? If you are, and think that the benefits aren't just what they could or should be, you would do well to compare the current rates with the offerings that were made to members of Washington's forces. The following is an extract from a recruiting advertisement of 1812:

"By command of the Secretary at War, a recruiting rendezvous is now established at Carlisle Barracks, Penn., for the First Regiment of Light Dragoons, commanded by Colonel Leonard Covington.

"I am authorized by the aforesaid authority to allow each individual recruited for the Dragoons — a bounty of sixteen dollars; and, at the expiration of his term of service, he will moreover be allowed and paid, three months pay, and a farm of 160 acres of land.

"In addition thereto, he will be immediately furnished by the government of the United States, with good horse, a sword, saddle, bridle, holsters, valise, pistols, boots, spurs — and uniform clothing in the most complete and handsome style.

"Our young men will not be backward, at a crisis like the present, in offering themselves, to the military service, of our injured and now menaced country.

"A country, which in spite of all favours which Divine Providence, seems to delight to heap upon it, as marked as it appears for the grasp of European Despotism, provided the scheme of the wicked are permitted to prevail.

"A country, and a constitution of government to which history produces no parallel — and for the protection and support of which, no heart should be unwilling to bleed — for which even the Decrepit would lift his crutch and whole youthful sons at her call, should never hesitate to deeds of desperate valour.

Signed: "A. P. Hayne, Capt. 1st Regt. Light Dragoons, Commanding Carlisle, Penn., 20th June, 1812."

That shows the recruiting technique of another era. It was a newspaper advertisement, 1812 version of how to recruit for the Army. It was discovered in the "History of Carlisle Barracks" authored in 1934 by Lt. Paul E. Zuver of the Medical Administrative Corps.

Each three year hitch today nets $90, four years, $160, five years, $250, six years and unspecified periods, $360.

Benning to Save $517,000 Scrap

Infantry Center trash barrels are going to fill Uncle Sam's pockets this year with an estimated half million dollars.

Engineer and Quartermaster officials have gone into a gigantic scrap collecting and sales business, and by December the government will be richer by at least $517,500.

Figuring on a month-to-month average collection, trash barrels are expected to yield about 22,500 tons of tin cans and paper discarded as salvage by Fort Benning units. This scrap sells for about $23 a ton.

TIC Lieutenant Receives Nation's Highest Award

First Lt. Lloyd L. Burke, now assigned to The Infantry Center, received the Medal of Honor for action in Korea, the Department of the Army announced.

Lieutenant Burke, who was a member of Company G, Fifth Cavalry Regiment, First Cavalry Division, is credited with killing 100 enemy soldiers single-handed while leading a small outnumbered force against the strongly held enemy hill position near Chong-dong, Korea, on Oct. 28, 1951.

According to an eyewitness account he organized and led a 35-man striking force in attack after intense enemy fire had pinned down elements of his company.

Hurling grenades, Lieutenant Burke urged the men to follow him toward three bunkers impeding the advance. With an M-1 rifle and adapter, he made a long assault on the first bunker, wiping out the position and killing the crew. As he closed in on the center bunker he lobbed grenades through the opening and, with his pistol killed three of the occupants as they attempted to surround him.

He ordered his men forward, charged the third emplacement, and caught several grenades in mid-air and hurled them back at the enemy.

When the group was again pinned down by increased fire, Lieutenant Burke dashed through the impact area to an open knoll, set up a light machine gun and poured crippling fire into the enemy ranks, killing approximately 75.

Student Cadre Takes to Field For Bivouac

Last week the Second Student Regiment went tactical!

From the regimental commander, Lt. Col. W. J. Adams, on down, the cadre of the regiment, went to Weems Pond along the Jamestown Road for an overnight bivouac.

There they set up a parade-ground display for a full field inspection.

Following the check of field equipment, the men dug in positions were prepared, and subsequently inspected.

Later, the unit again became non-tactical and spend the night in comporable "comfort."

Emphasis was placed on trained in road marches, full field display, field sanitation and messing in the field.

Bronze Star Goes To Capt. Sturkie For Japan Service

Capt. Herbert S. Sturkie of Columbus was awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service while serving with the Japan Logistical Command in 1950 at a formal review of the Eighth Division's 28th Infantry at Fort Jackson, S. C., Saturday.

Captain Sturkie, commanding officer of Company G, is the son of Mrs. Eddie Sturkie, 2312 Francis Street.

According to his citation, Capt. Sturkie "distinguished himself by meritorious service in connection with military operations against an armed enemy while serving as Post Exchange Train Command from June 30 to Sept. 20, 1950, and officer in charge of the Ancom City Distribution Point for the Japan Central Exchange in Korea from Sept. 21 to Dec. 23, 1950."

Formerly an electrician here, Capt. Sturkie was the first man from the state of Georgia to enlist in the Army after the bombing of Pearl Harbor in 1941. He was commissioned at Fort Benning in July, 1942. A graduate of old Industrial High School, he served 18 months overseas in World War II and spent 26 months in Japan and Korea.

Dutch Officer Renews Friendship Begun in Korea

A friendship that began between two American Army officers and a Netherlands officer in Korea is flourishing and growing every day now that Capt. G. Nico Tack is attending The Infantry School.

Captain Tack was with the advance detachment of the Netherlands forces that went to Korea. His unit was assigned to the Second Division there, and he struck up a strong friendship with Maj. Glne Perry and Capt. Walt Constantine, two American officers now stationed here.

A graduate of the Royal Military Academy of the Netherlands, Captain Tack has been in the Army over 14 years. Prior to coming here, he was attached to the school for non-commissioned officers at Ueuerf. Following graduation, he expects to return as S-3 of the school.

He was a prisoner of war for three years during World War II when Germans overran his country. After he was released, he volunteered for an expedi-tionary force and spent the next year in England.

He later served in the Dutch East Indies, and returned to Holland just a few months before he left to serve in Korea in September 1950.

While his unit was fighting on the Central Korean front, he won the Bronzen Kruis when he took over the company after the company commander was killed. He was seriously injured and had to be evacuated. In addition, he was awarded the silver and bronze stars and the Distinguished Military Service medal with silver star.

"I have the advantage over some of the Allied students here," he said, "because I was closely connected with American soldiers fighting in Korea. I have found living here to be thorough and advanced, and I think I have learned a lot in the few months since I've been here."

Year Shows Only 220 DP's Recruited For U. S. Army

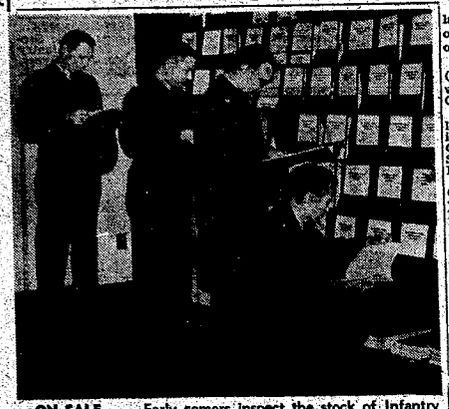
HEIDELBERG, Germany — After a year of effort, only 220 European displaced persons have been recruited into the U.S. Army.

The quota for these aliens was set at 12,500. Army authorities frankly doubt they will ever get even a tenth of them.

When the alien enlistment law was passed by Congress, many expected that Europe's young refugees from war and communism would flock to the American colors by the thousands.

A spokesman at the Army's European headquarters said about 5,000 aliens from 11 countries have applied but most failed to meet qualifications.

Benning Chaplain Roughs It With Rangers In Training



ON SALE . . . Early comers inspect the stock of Infantry School problems on sale in the Book Store's new Instructional Material Sales and Display Room which opened Friday, March 21. The new Instructional Material room will carry a complete stock of Infantry School problems for sale. From left to right are Lt. James M. Hearn, Jr., Capt. Harold Brewer, Maj. Ralph W. Boys, and Lt. Col. Leonard McNutt, all of the Training Publications Department.

One of Fort Benning's chaplains has gone through a little bit of man-made Hades and nature's own high water.

Yet, it wasn't Hades' fire (Capt.) Robert F. Mashburn went through in the service of God and man.

The short, dark-haired chaplain spent two days "roughing it" in the mountainous North Georgia with The Infantry School's second class of student Rangers.

Chaplain Mashburn of the Combat Training Command went voluntarily to Dahlonega, Ga., home of a two-week high-terrain training area for Rangers, as a "morale booster."

Since last January, student Rangers have been training day and night, and Ranger Department Director Col. Henry G. Leonard declared several weeks ago that "good fighting men should be men of Faith."

He asked Mashburn to add the Faith.

Chaplain Mashburn's first day with the Rangers was the most physically demanding. Mother Nature hurled one of her nasty doses of weather — near-blizzard snow—into a 16-hour day-and-night combat patrol which Mashburn asked to accompany.

5,000 Feet Up

Equipped with meager field clothing, a canteen of water and a self-styled walking stick, Mashburn trudged to a mountaintop nearly 3,000 feet high.

When snow began lashing the wooded assembly area, Mashburn helped the students build fires and keep weapons dry.

Shortly before the patrol jumped off on its mission some 10 miles into "enemy" territory, Mashburn shared with the students a C-ration meal.

Ambushed

At one point in the lengthy trek, Mashburn and the patrol were ambushed and fired upon by hidden Aggressor machine gunners and in keeping with the realism, Mashburn said he "hit the dirt right along with the rest of the boys."

He continued with the patrol through Aggressor lines and was nearby when the noisy attack was made on enemy positions.

Mashburn returned across the ice-crusted mountains with the patrol, arriving at the Ranger's base camp in early morning.

Although Ranger officials have set 30 as the age limit for students (an older person is said to be unable to withstand the rigor), 33-year old Chaplain Mashburn made two required drops down steep mountain walls, one of them a dangerous, slick-topped 90-foot side.

JCOC

rained out many of the VIP's returned to the barracks while the rest toured The Infantry School's Automotive Department.

During the evening the civilian leaders were guests of Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Infantry Center commander, at an official dinner at the Main Officers' Mess.

In a brief talk to the distinguished visitors Gen. Meloy said the main tools of war are men, weapons and supplies.

Battlefield Success

Success on the battlefield depends on the proper employment of the tools. To give the guests an idea of Benning's huge size, he pointed out that 66,000 students will be graduated this year from The Infantry School, while 5,000 new second lieutenants will be commissioned at the post.

Saturday, threatening skies and blustery winds forced cancellation of a scheduled heavy equipment drop and mass parachute jump by troops from the Airborne Battalion and The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

The remainder of the program was carried out on schedule though and the visitors, including 20 members of the Georgia and Alabama Associated Press Associations, were able to watch red clay-spattered tanks and hard-fighting Infantrymen launch a successful mock assault on an enemy hill during the demonstration of the Infantry-tank team in an attack.

Training Area

The group then visited the tower training area at the Infantry's School's Airborne Department to see the type of instruction given paratrooper trainees, including physical training, practice jumps from the 34-foot mock tower, landing techniques and control of the canopy during descent and landing. Because of the excessive winds dummies were used to demonstrate drops from the towers.

Also at the Airborne Department the JCOC members and other guests saw vehicles loaded on various types of aircraft and a graphic demonstration of the operation of the T-7 main and reserve parachutes.

Some of the more adventurous visitors took a chilly ride on the Buddy seat at the 250-foot control tower following the tour of the Airborne Department.

The conference members left Lawson Air Force Base by plane Saturday afternoon for Pensacola Naval Base, Fla., the last leg on the orientation tour which started at the Pentagon and included the Quantico, Va., Marine Base and Eglin Air Force Base.

Traffic

School's Automotive Department and post Motor Pool.

The Motor Pool drivers' school, already in operation, will instruct all newly assigned drivers who do not belong to a major post unit in vehicle operation and local traffic regulations. The 40-hour course includes 12 hours in vehicle operation and 28 hours in traffic regulations, hearing tests, reaction time tests, depth perception and field of vision tests. Before completing the course, drivers will be required to drive the field course.

Check Licenses

Licensed drivers of government vehicles will be required to have their present licenses checked at one of the central driver testing-training units before May 1. Licenses which have not been approved by that date will be void, Col. Ackerman pointed out.

Civilian employes here who violate traffic regulations will be reported to The Infantry center commander by the personnel officer of their section, and may be liable to suspension without pay if found guilty. Civilian visitors who are charged with causing a traffic accident will be tried in the Federal District Court at Macon, Ga.

Military personnel now will be responsible for their dependents involved in an accident.

"The owner of a vehicle who lets a minor child or an intoxicated individual drive his car is considered as guilty as the driver in case of an accident," Col. Ackerman stated.

TO LEADERS SCHOOL

Pfc. Donald R. Helfeson, Company E, 30th Infantry, has gone to Fort Jackson, S. C., to attend the Infantry Leadership School.

AT FOOD SCHOOL

Pfc. E. J. St. Cyr, Company E, 30th Infantry, has enrolled in the Third Army Food Service School, here at Fort Benning.

Tots Arrive Two By Two

Doctors at the Army Hospital here had their hands full during March when a record number of military offspring arrived in marching style—two by two.

Twins were born to six Army and Air Force families, according to Col. John Zelenik, chief of the obstetrics-gynecology ward. "We usually average only one set of twins each month — so we have half our year's allotment in less than 30 days."

Of the six sets there were three pairs of boys, two pairs of girls and one family was divided — a boy and a girl.

decorated veterans of more than eight months combat experience. They range in rank from second lieutenant to lieutenant colonel.

20-Week Course

The 20-week course in which they are enrolled is a revamped edition of the 15-week associate Infantry company officers course which is given regularly at The Infantry School for junior U. S. officers. This special course being offered to the Koreans was stripped of five weeks of administration and other subjects not needed by the Koreans.

Few of the visiting students speak English so a full battery of English - speaking Korean interpreters has been supplied to translate the instructors' words into their native tongue.

The classes were inaugurated at the request of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Far East Commander, and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander in Korea, as a result of studies last spring revealing the need for increased emphasis on ROK Army training.

80 Per Cent Instructors

Of the group attending The Infantry School approximately 80 per cent will return to their native country to become instructors at ROK military institutions in the same subjects they soon will be studying here. The remaining 20 per cent will be sent to duty with troops to share their newly acquired knowledge with members of their units.

The Korean Army officers arrived in San Francisco, Calif., April 5 aboard the military transport General Pope. One hundred will attend The Artillery School.

A small corner of Fort Benning has been converted into a home for the visiting students. The Bachelor Officers Quarters and Mess are purely American, but the language, signs and training literature are all Korean.

The first group of ROK Army officers to train in the U.S. arrived here last September and graduated in March. The arrival here tomorrow of the second group will bring the Allied student enrollment at The Infantry School to more than 360, the largest it has ever been.

Medical technicians at the Station hospital periodically put aside their hypodermics and test tubes this month and picked up paint brushes to save the American taxpayer $7,125.

A spokesman for the Fort Benning Army hospital, Maj. Samuel C. Allison, of Sylva, N. C., said the hospital's 1,425 patients beds were painted at the medical center instead of being sent to a commercial firm in Atlanta, Ga.

Major Allison singled out this money saving in a report on seven supply economy drive being effected throughout medical operations here.

Although past figures were not immediately available for comparison, Major Allison said the hospital's present cost for a year's expendables is $460,000, much lower, he said, than similar previous years.

At least 19 expensive ambulances used by small combat units here have been replaced by rugged, all-purpose jeep ambulances which can carry equally as many injured as the larger custom vehicles. The ambulances have been returned to Third Army motor pools for redistribution.

Drugs used in the hospital have been standardized. Doctors, according to a spokesman often have different tastes in medicines, and pharmacies formerly were stocked with an overage of similar drugs. Now, only a minimum of types is used.

Another large savings for the Army-at-large was made here by redistributing to other hospitals vaccines which were approaching expiration date. Sending the medicines for use elsewhere prevented unnecessary reordering of vital drugs.

Hospital economists also pointed to a manpower and general operational savings in daily supply functions. Previously, each of Fort Benning's 63 dispensaries and infirmaries sent one representative each day to pick up supplies at a warehouse.

Faster, more efficient supply distribution is made now with only two men making a round-robin tour of infirmaries.

SERVICEMAN OF THE MONTH . . . Cpl. Frank B. Neal, Headquarters Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Service unit, has been chosen serviceman of the month by the 11th street Armed Forces YMCA in Columbus. Corporal Neal is a member of the 30-man Serviceman's Council at the YMCA, which is set up to plan recreational activities for military personnel. The 22-year old soldier was unanimously selected to the honor position by the members of the council. He is an artillery mechanic at Post Ordnance shops.

TIC Comptroller To Tell Duties

Col. Daniel H. Hundley, Infantry Center comptroller, will discuss the duties and problems of an Army comptroller in a speech at the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., April 14.

He will address students in the university's comptroller course, using examples drawn from situations encountered at The Infantry Center.

Students in the 15-week comptroller course include approximately 190 student officers and senior civilian employes of the Department of the Army, all Army headquarters, the Air Force and the Navy.

It is scheduled to graduate the end of April.

Three WACs Arrive

TIS Students Ready Satire

Members of Infantry Officer Advanced class No. 1 will stage a light satire on The Infantry School at 7 p.m. Saturday in Building HC-2 in the Harmony Church area.

The original stage production, divided into four scenes, will present the student officers' impressions and versions of classroom instruction as they have seen it during their current course.

The production is essentially humorous, and includes an eight-man double quartet in a "two up and one back" formation—whence springs the name of the show, "Two Up and One Back."

EM RETURNS

Cpl. Alvis Leslie has returned to the 509th Engineer Combat Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, following his successful completion of an eight week supply special list course at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Chapel Organist Leaving To Continue Music Study

Easter Sunday will be the last time the organ in The Infantry Center Chapel will respond to the gentle touch of John C. Miller. Long a familiar figure to Fort Benning church-goers, he is resigning to continue his musical studies.

A resident of Columbus he has long been a familiar figure to church-going people and musical groups here at Fort Benning. As organist and choir director for The Infantry Center Chapel since 1948, John has played at hundreds of chapel services, weddings, funerals, and baptisms for the post personnel.

"I have certainly enjoyed my work with music here on the post," Mr. Miller stated. "I don't like to leave, but I want to continue my musical studies and find a little time to practice!"

In addition to his duties as chapel organist, he has played the organ for dinner music at the Main Officers Mess and has twinkled his fingers as pianist for many of the dance bands on the post for the past three years.

Mr. Miller, is employed as an accounting clerk with the Finance Office on the post.

He graduated from Columbus high school in 1939, and attended Emory University until he entered the Navy in 1942. Stationed at the Navel operating Base at Norfold, Va., he used his musical talents in the Welfare and Recreation Office. He served as Yoeman, Second Class on mine sweepers off the Panama Canal zone, and the Philippine Islands until his discharge from the Navy in 1946.

Besides playing the organ and piano, John lists collecting both classical and popular records as his main hobby.

"I don't know whether I'll come back to Benning as an organist," John smiled. "I have no definite plans except study and rest. It's all in the future."

TWO MILES FROM TOWN ON THE BUENA VISTA ROAD

TEX (Stan Freberg with vocal group and orchestra on Capitol) This tune sounds much like Johnny Ray's "Cry." That is because Stan Freberg wanted it that way. Stan's vocalizing even sounds like Ray. There is nothing sentimental about this take-off—according to Stan's version, anyone who doesn't sit right down and cry is strictly a schmoo. Johnny Ray called it "Cry." Stan Freberg calls it "Try," so whaddaya gonna do?

LOVE FOR SALE (Oscar Peterson Trio recorded by Mercury) Oscar and his trio treat this old favorite in a fashion their fans would expect. The tune was arranged and recorded under the supervision of Norman Grantz—famous for his "Jazz at the Philharmonic" series. Reverse side is "Until the Real Thing Comes Along."

AT LAST (Ray Anthony orchestra, vocal by Tommy Mercer and the Anthony choir on Capitol) The arrangement of this tune is reminiscent of the old Glenn Miller recording. Smoothly presented, Anthony's horn gets much of the spotlight in the final bars. Other side is Ray Anthony's strictly instrumental interpretation of "I'll See You in My Dreams."

FESTIVAL (Frankie Carle and his orchestra, vocal by the Continentals on Columbia). This is one of the better dancing arrangements of "Festival." If you try dancing to it, you'll be step-ping lively. The vocal work of the Continentals and the piano-artistry of Frankie Carle make this tune well worth adding to your record library.

THE COLONEL'S DAUGHTER (Freddy Martin and his orchestra, vocal by Murray Arnold and the band, on RCA-Victor) This tune should rank high with any soldier. As the title implies there is a military flavor to this tune. Nothing too different about it, but worth a listen. Other side is the better of the two and more novel. The reverse side has the long title—"If You Don't Hug 'er by Nine O'Clock, You Ain't Gonna Love 'er At All."

SENATOR FROM TENNESSEE (Dinah Shore and Tex Williams on RCA-Victor) Dinah and Tex do a mighty cute and fine job on this novelty, a fast-moving musical conversation about writing a letter to Dinah's senator. The reverse side is another novel thing done by the duo. Both recordings are similar in context and listening appeal.

Benning-Columbus Lift BB Lid Tonight

The Fort Benning Doughboys will assemble as such for the first of the only three games they will play this spring at 8 o'clock tonight to meet the Columbus Cardinals at 3,500-seat Gowdy Field.

Right hander Walter Kimmey, a newcomer to First Student Regiment baseball who brings a year's pro experience with him, will start on the mound for Benning.

He will be followed by lefty Joe Feinstein, Infantry School Detachment hotshot from last year, and John Freeman, young Combat Taining Command ace.

ALTERNATES

Possible starting alternates are heavy hitting outfielders Emil Rukavina, of ISD, and Manager Joe Smith, of First S. R.

The spring series between the Cardinals, of the class A South Atlanta League, and the Doughboys has been a long and hard fought one.

Two games are scheduled this year with Benning meeting them in a return game at 8 p.m. Monday at downtown Golden Park.

The post's only other game is at 2 p.m. Saturday when they take on Omaha, Neb., of the class A Western League at Gowdy Field.

CARDS ROUGH

Manager Sheldon Bender at press time had not selected Cardinal hurlers for tonight's game because of other exhibition game activity every day this week. The Cards, not yet settled with their regular lineup, have found the going rough this spring, but a large part of their difficulty has come from playing teams in higher leagues.

They lost an 8-0 verdict to the New York Yankees Monday afternoon.

Columbus also has a game Friday night, against Louisville of the American Association at Golden Park, and Saturday night they meet Rochester, N. Y., of the International League, same time and place.

They wind up their week's activity with a 3 p.m. game Sunday against Des Moines, Iowa, of the Western loop.

Monday, Tuesday Bouts For Titles

The Herculean task of crowning the post's class two boxing champions will get under way at 7:15 p.m. Monday and will carry over to the same time Tuesday night with the likelihood of 16 bouts or more each night.

It took two nights this week to settle the class three titles and there are more "twos" than "threes."

The class three finals Wednesday night were too late for The Bayonet deadline, but results of Tuesday's prelims are below.

Two class three kings were automatic for lack of opposition. They were the 508th Airborne's Martin Rafferty, bantamweight, and Nelson Hernandez, flyweight.

Several class two champs would seem to be obvious for Tuesday night crowning, and ASU has the most in three of these, but then amateur scrappers being as unpredictable as an ETS date for most of us, anything can happen.

Barnes Big Man

First Student Regiment's Lou Barnes, winner of two by knockout over Bob Cotton and over Harvey Distel and Cotton, apparently is top class two heavy. Distel, of CTC, who was shifted back to class two after being belted out by Jimmy Boyd in 38 seconds, is best of the light heavies. He has won three.

George Blackburn is the favored one among the middleweights, and Rudolph (Shoulders) Chiles ditto among light middles. Both are from ASU Provisional Group. Blackburn has a 2-1 mark and Chiles a 2-4 record against tough foes.

More Favorites

CTC's Arnold Ray is the welterweight favorites, 508th's Kenny Sulzman tops among light welters, and Willie Wright, ASU, Mr. Biz of the lightweights. Ray is unbeaten in three starts, Wright has a 3-2 mark and Sulzman can be much better than his 0-4 record indicates.

Among the little men the likely class two champs are Raymond Kiley, 508th, featherweight, and Yehudi in the tantam and flyweights—no class two men have shown in these brackets.

The First added only two points Tuesday night in the scoring for the Regiment's championship, now having 113, while ASU and 508th each picked up four, now having 107 and 100 respectively. Combat Training Command has 79.

The less - experienced Class Three pugilists put out some rugged performances last night. Most sensational of these was Anthony McGee's win over Al Wogkasch, 182, of 508th. McGee, 183-pound CTC football player, showed unusual skill in handling Wogkasch's free - wheeling attack.

Complete Tuesday results:

Women's Bowling Tourney Up Monday

Action in the three-day Fort Benning Women's Bowling tournament will get under way at 6 p.m. Monday at the main post alleys.

Team rolling is slated Monday, with doubles Tuesday and singles Wednesday, according to Toni Kemp.

The girl's league action has closed out with team five winning the six o'clock action. It was composed of Alice Fugate, Dale Hofstetter and Marge Carter. The winning combination in the eight o'clock circuit was Helen Grammar, Ida Young, Jo Smith and Lynn Bishop.

Brown Tops Post In Rifle Tourney

Post shooters found the going against civilians rough in grabbing trophies, but they were mighty pleased with the overall results as the first annual Fort Benning Registered Smallbore Rifle Tournament was written into the record books last weekend.

Unseasonable weather with high winds ruined the chance for any record scores and limited the field to some 40 contestants instead of the expected 60.

Yet the 40 present represented six states despite the fact that this was the first smallbore action of any scope held in this area in several years.

60 Years Apart

The oldest contestant, Theo Folger, of Cincinnati, was 77 and the youngest 17. The latter were Columbus high school students Roger Swindler and Bill Martin.

Roger is the son of Col. Perry D. Swindler, Fort Benning's prime shooting authority, and was firing his first organized competition.

The universities of Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Auburn also were represented in the two-day affair staged at the excellently conditional English Range in the main post area. Mrs. Catherine Symes, a grandmother from Atlanta, was the only distaff entrant and she won any sight expert class aggregate honors with a heady 1582-86x.

Brown Leads

Fort Benning's top man was WOJG Coats Brown, veteran member of the U.S. Army rifle team, who won sharpshooter grand aggregate laurels with a 3164-173x score.

Lt. Earl Bishop won any sight marksman aggregate firing 1550-68x while Capt. James McClubbin was second iron sight aggregate winner with 1584-77x.

Atlanta Star

Grand aggregate winner was Charles Hamby, veteran shooter from Atlanta, who posted a 3178-206x.

The tourney was run off in excellent time and order by members of the small arms committee of the weapons department, Lt. Col. John Butler was executive officer, Capt. Rinaldo Del Signore, range officer, and Lt. Gene Webb, statistical officer.

Complete results:

Any sight results:

Officer Softball Loop Opens

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, tossed the first pitch to launch the 1952 edition of the Fort Benning Officers Softball league last week.

Capt. H. O. Williams Defense play.

Action in the double round robin loop is scheduled at 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursday through May 29 at French and Blue Fields in the main post area.

Other teams and their managers are Light Weapons, Capt. Rinaldo Del Signore; Heavy Weapons, Lt. R. A. Weston; Attack, Lt. A. J. Rafferty; Staff Personnel Group, Maj. Jack Faublon; Staff, Capt. J. L. Graves; Airborne, Capt. M. P. Hogan, and Headquarters, Maj. R. F. Hatcher.

This week's schedule includes games Friday and next Wednesday. Attack meets Airborne and Staff faces Heavy Weapons Friday, while Personnel Group meets Defense and Airborne tests Light Weapons Wednesday.

General Meloy pitched the first ball to Col. George Bush who hit a "single" to right. Col. Michael Halloran was catching.

In the second night's action the home run blitzing of Capt. William Call and two-hit pitching of Maj. Wallace Olson combined to give Airborne a shutout over Heavy Weapons, 23-0. The winners got 19 hits.

Post Fishing Events Set For May 3-4

Two of the most important days of the year for Fort Benning fishermen will be May 3 and 4.

Those are the dates for the Fish and Game Association's annual Skish and Fishing tournaments respectively. Both events will be at King's Pond.

Fishing will begin at 4:30 a.m. May 4 with prizes offered for largest bream, best string of six bream, largest bass, best string of three bass, largest fish and a junior prize for competitors under 12 years of age.

Boats Ready

Boats will be issued to anglers free of charge on a first come, first serve basis. All participants must register prior to the event and must be members of the Fort Benning Fish and Game Association.

Only Association members will be permitted to fish King's Pond during the tourney. Post fishing regulations which limit the daily bag of bass to six, 12 bream and 24 of any other species will apply.

The skish (bait, fly and spin casting for accuracy) tournament will launch the weekend of piscatorial activity which will include colored sound movies on fishing for members at 8 p.m. May 2 at the Polo Hunt Club.

Hank Brunz, of Newton, Ga., outstanding exponent of proper use of fishing equipment, will appear at skish event to give demonstrations in bait, fly and spin casting and a clinic on angling problems.

Post Gets Chance To Aid Olympics

Post sports fans will get a chance to lend a personal hand to the Army stars who make the U.S. Olympic teams this summer.

Containers for voluntary contributions to the Army Olympic fund will be circulated at all post sports events between now and April 22, and other containers will be placed at public gathering places such as the theaters and service clubs.

Contributions are entirely on a voluntary basis. All United States Olympic squads are financed by private subscription and donation and this is a chance for servicemen to back their own hopefuls.

Coulter to Meet Dillon Thursday

Jack Coulter, Columbus's gift to professional wrestling, will be in for one of his toughest assignments tonight at the Front avenue sports Arena when he takes on Jack Dillon of Chattanooga in the opening preliminary on Promoter Fred Ward's weekly wrestling card.

Dillon is better known to Columbus fans as Black - jack or "Brass - knucks" since his run-in with the police department several weeks ago when he was fined $50.00 for hitting Nitik Carter with genuine padded knucks.

A double main event is slated to wind up the stellar card when Jack (Sockeye) McDonald, the Oregon lumber - jack from Hood River, meets Al Massa of Miami in a best two out of three falls bout and Jack Clayborne recognized Negro heavyweight champion from Hollywood, wrestles Buddy Jackson of Columbus, Ga., in the other one hour bout.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

FIVE OF the ten class one post boxing champs (the sluggers who will represent us in the Third Army tournament at Camp Gordon, Ga., May 9 - 10) are obvious. . .They are heavyweight Dick Lehmann, light heavy James Boyd, welterweight Ernest Hall, featherweight Leander Ray and flyweight Johnny Bissell . . . The former three are from First Student Regiment . . . Coaches Hardy Batchelor, 508th, Jerry Perlman, First S. R. and Larry Jones, ASU, probably will accompany the team to Gordon.

IT'S A girl for Maj. and Mrs. Mark Jensen . . . he's TIC Officers Bowling League secretary. . . Maj. Harold Kopp, the CTC mentor, and his lovely wife have returned to Rhode Island pending his shipment to EUCOM . . . Benning Country Club golfers saddened by the death of the father of pro Charlie Harper. . . The ASU shot putter pictured in last week's sports section was Johnny Irons, not Johnny Gross. LEFT-HANDED golf clubs are available at the Sand Hill links. . .Art Rafferty has jumped from 12th to fifth on the Benning C. C. golf ladder in recent weeks . . . Assistant manager of the Little League Commanders, Lt. Thomas Carcelli, is from the Marine Corps, and the only service not now represented in the program is the Navy . . . Ronald Coapstick, assistant to Columbus Cardinals business manager Bill Bergesch, is a double amputee from the Anzio campaign (Third Division) in Italy.

ONE TRACK STAR you won't see in action in the Benning and Third Army meets is Frank Plumber, former varsity gridder and cager with U. of Oklahoma, now taking an advanced infantry course in First Student Regiment. . .Second in the All - European javelin throw (187 feet) last year he will be in the field at the time of the post meet and assigned to a new station when the 3A event rolls around. . . ASU slugger Freeman Thatcher just got married the night before being beaten by CTC's Gordon Hill last week in the boxing series.

FOR THE information of ISD's Bobby Crawford (and any others who haven't seen the scientific tests which prove it so) a pitcher does curve a baseball and it is NOT an optical illusion. . .If Ewell Blackwell was triplets could Bruce Summers turn his day dreaming into rooting Cincinnati in as National League champs?. . .The post's outdoor swimming pools will be open about May 1. . . . One of the most avid participants in the sports program of Associate Advance Class Four is Capt. Jesus Gonzales, a guest officer student from the Philippines, according to Lt. Allen Selby.

FORMER U. of Florida football center and basketball guard, Joe Wright, is with Sixth O. C. Company, while Melvin Howard, of 19th O. C. Co., is a former Xavier U. varsity cager and was a member of the 82nd Airborne mile relay team which placed first in that event in the 3A track championships in 1949 and 1950. . . Erwin Johnson, ASU cage and diamond artist, upon discharge will re - enter A & M College in Nashville to complete his phys-ed degree and he wants to try the coaching business.

WHEN HE returns from maneuvers, will Lt. Col. Tom Mesereau, of the 508th, sue his father - in - law, Gene Leone, for having the N. Y. Jockey Club approve orange and green as his stable's racing colors when Mr. Leone could have asked for blue and white, the good old infantry pigments?. . . And in passing out laurels for the success of this season's boxing program will everyone remember that it was Col. Ralph Woods, of CTC, who insisted that we had enough boxers for a weekly series instead of a one - shot tournament?

NEW TIC sports officer, Maj. Gene Myers, as Kentucky center played against such now - famous coaching names as Bear Bryant, with Alabama, and Jim Tatum and George Barclay, with North Carolina. . .A former recreation director in New Jersey, Carl Knowles uses his talents to keep Third O. C. Company moving with a lively sports program. . .Every parent on post is trying to get into the act with the youth activities committee now that they see the success of the committee's Little League baseball program, and that's just dandy with Col. Ivan Parr, who is chairman of the group.

LITTLE LEAGUE praxy Ray Tousignant also has a bowling team (Tucker's) in the Columbus Municipal loop which includes Paul Lege, Bill Dempster, Stan Sokolowski, Charlie Macaluso, Art Whittleton and Bob Burns . . . Charlie Cintis was emcee for CTC's recent boxing - basket - ball banquet at which Ben Brown, Sylvester Bruten and Joe Conners got special awards. . .Ruth Rafferty and Irene Curtis, for 18-holers, and Betty Jordan, for nine, currently pace the Benning women's golf ladder.

BENNING BASEBALL gets a nice plug and lefty Joe Feinstein a picture on pages 52 and 53 of Street and Smith's Baseball Pictorial Yearbook now on the news stands . . . Ken Griffin, NCO mess secretary, ran down and killed with his auto on Victory Highway a wildcat which he estimated weighed 30 pounds . . . Tim Warren, who very capably subbed for yours truly during our baseball tour two weeks ago, was a high school track star in his native Canton, N. C.

PMG-First SR Launch Baseball

Three Games Weekly Set In Post Loop

First Student Regiment, which lost the 1951 post baseball championship to the now departed 325th Airborne by the margin of a three-game playoff series, will launch the 1952 Fort Benning Baseball League in a game with Provisional Medical Group at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 23.

Nine teams, or one more than last season, will slug it out for the Infantry Center diamond title in a single round robin series followed by Shaughnessy playoffs.

Night games will be played every Wednesday with 2 p.m. contests each Saturday and Sunday at 3,500 seat Gowdy Field on the main post.

Fanfare

Appropriate ceremonies with bands and other fanfare are being worked out for the April 23 curtain raiser.

Other seven squads in the league will be Combat Training Command, 508th Airborne, Second Student Regiment, ASU Provisional Group, Infantry School Detachment, Lawson Air Force Base and First Officer Candidate Regiment.

First Is Hot

Bob Kinard who piloted the Black Shirts to first place in the recently finished basketball season, has been named manager of the First's baseball team. A former University of Florida athlete he played pro ball in the old class D Florida East Coast League.

Kinard has the makings of a pennant winner with eight of last year's regulars returning to duty. They include Joe Smith, manager of the Doughboys and the First's 1951 skipper.

Veterans

Other returnees are pitchers Walter Kimmey and Vince Dickherber, infielders Bill Phillips, Odell Paul Bonair and Marvin Freeman, and outfielder Bill Brooks.

If this lineup, plugged with several outstanding newcomers, live up to past performance the First will be rated no less than co-favorites for the post championship.

PMG Has Pitching

A quartet of apparently strong right handed pitchers forms the backbone of the Provisional Medical Group nine readying for the Benning Baseball League opener April 23 against First Student Regiment.

Good Gateway

Mazeika will build his infield around the fancy gloving of Al Easley at first base. Other apron men are Tom Towles and Lowell Burke, 2b, Lanier Chumley and Jim Harrison, ss, and Al Milliken, 3b.

Lawson Set

Charlie Urbanowich, mainstay of the late starting Lawson Field basketball team, will pilot the Flyer nine in the Fort Benning Baseball League opening April 23. The Flyers began daily workouts this week.

One of Urbanowich's known regulars would seem to be pitcher Tom Norbut, a southpaw with a couple of seasons of class D pro ball under his belt.

No Manager

Only team not yet set is First O. C. Regiment. The Generals haven't definitely decided on a manager. Meantime, a collection of hopefuls are going through preliminary drills on their own.

Prof Nine Tips Baker Hi, 4-2

Walter Warrick and lefty Joe Feinstein pitched Infantry School Detachment's promising nine to a win over Baker High school of Columbus, 4-2, in a practice game at the Prof field last week.

Warrick started and allowed two hits in five innings and Feinstein gave up one bingle in two innings.

Pacing the IDS attack were Gene Ashley with a home run and Emil Rukavina with a pair of singles. Both are outfield candidates.

Manager Howard Harkey may have the solution to his first base problem in Mel Southall who is now working there.

CTC Mound Trio Blanks Profs, 6-0

Combat Training Command's pitching staff, tabbed as the team's strong point, racked up its first shutout last week, in downing Infantry School Detachment, 6-0, in a practice game.

Adam Zubaty, John Freeman, and Ken Middleton took turns baffling the Profs. In their first practice game, CTC trimmed ASU 8-4, with the same trio hurling.

By Armed Forces Press Service

Eighty-five days of orderly mayhem began at the Milwaukee Arena last week. "Joe Bowler" rolled the first ball to start the 40th annual American Bowling Congress. Some 91,000 bowlers from 13 states and Canada are in the midst of an assault on $450,000 in cash and prizes. All are battling the jinx that has prevented anyone from winning an A.B.C. title two years in a row . . . Singles, doubles and five-man team champions will emerge June 14 when the pins have been counted and the arena cleared.

Bowling enthusiasts revere keglers Hank Marino of Milwaukee (11 perfect 300 games in A. B. C. championships), Chicago's Birk brothers (high team total of 3,234, set in 1938) and Detroit's five-man Stroh team (1951 all-events winner) . . . Last year 17 million bowlers tried their luck on 64,500 alleys. From the 40 Milwaukee Arena alleys will come the best and luckiest of them all this year.

Rimming the basket: Clyde Lovellette's performance in the N.C.A.A. championship play-offs has sealed his bid for all-American. The six-foot, nine-inch pivot man averages 35.3 points in four games to lead Kansas to the title. He was unequalled as a rebounder . . .

Down memory lane: Rookie pitcher Ed Cicotte wants to win a Yankee varsity berth to help the family name. His uncle Ed was on the 1919 Chicago White Sox, nicknamed Black Sox because of the World Series scandal . . . Only six men on the St. Louis Browns 1952 roster were with the club last year. Headed by 20-game winner Ned Garver, the "old guard" includes Duane Pillette, Fred Marsh, Hank Arft, Jim Delsing and Bob Young.

Three Colgate University students hold player contracts in the big leagues this year. Ebba St. Claire, '53, is a catcher with the Boston Braves, pitcher Roger Bowman, '54, is with the Giants and pitcher Rollie Schuster, '52, will perform for the Red Sox . . . Columbia University's Gene Manfrini is an undefeated member of the varsity wrestling team, although totally blind. When Oklahoma and North Texas A&M met in track this year the shot put event drew the hottest interest. Jim Brewer, a 260-pound lighweight, represented the Sooners against North Texas' Louis "Tumbrey" Miller, who weighed in at 320 . . . The Nebraska Cornhuskers have come up with a money-saving triple-header program. The same ticket enabled spectators to see an evening track meet, basketball game and dual wrestling meet, all for the same price.

Football's loss is wrestling's gain this year. Already fighting the mat wars is Leo Nomellini, standout San Francisco "49er" tackle. He donned the tights to "rassle" this winter for extra money.

Nebraska's track fortunes in the won-lost column this winter have taken second place to the achievements of pole vaulter Don Cooper. He's one of four 15-foot men in competition this season, and is considered a strong choice for the 1952 Olympics . . . Title chances for Oklahoma University in wrestling look good for a second successive year. Coach Port Robertson brought the national crown to the Sooners last year after five tries. Oklahoma had not had a mat team for several years before that . . . Australian influence in American college swimming is again being felt this year. Yale's 1951 star, John Marshall, competes against fellow-Aussie John Davies of Michigan for headlines, but not for wins. Davies is a breast stroke swimmer and Marshall is a free style champ.

ISD Two Takes TIC Keg Crown

Infantry School Detachment's Team Two this week became the 1952 Infantry Center Intramural Bowling League champions.

The winners were captured by Sgt. Harold Burns who wound up the season with a 182 pin average. Other team members and their averages were M-Sgt. Red Glassford, 176; Sfc. Fred Furlong, 157; Sgt. Frank Maiesic, 148; Pfc. Gordon Willman, 162; Pfc. Emerson Ballard, 146; Pfc. Bert Love, 172, and Sgt. Raymond, 164.

Lt. Dale Harned's 508th Airborne Team Two finished second in the loop.

Second Place

Bolduc's 187 average was the league's highest.

Special Services will announce a date for trophy presentation to the league's top individual and team performers.

The annual Spring Officers Mess tennis tournament will get under way April 26 and continuing through the following several weekends.

Men's singles and doubles, women's singles and husband and wife doubles are slated, according to Pro Chuck Ewart. Entries must be filed by April 25.

Lonnie Jordan is defending men's singles champion.

A free tennis clinic for children of post personnel is being conducted at 4:30 p.m. Thursday afternoon at the Officers Mess courts. There's a 16 and under age limit.

QUESTIONS

1—Carl Hubbell's outstanding pitching feat in the majors was in the 1934 all-star game when he struck out five of the top American League sluggers in succession. Who were they?

2 — In an old movie called "Prizefighter and the Lady" an outstanding heavyweight contender of the time appeared in the leading role. One of the supporting characters later lost his title to the leading man. Who were the two men?

3—Who holds the scoring record for a single season in professional basketball?

4—With which sport are the Hart, Ross, Lady Byng, Calder and Vezina Trophies associated?

5—Who besides Bobby Jones has won the British and American amateur golf titles and the U. S. Open Golf championship?

ANSWERS

1—Ruth, Gehrig, Simmons and Cronin, in that order.

2—Max Baer was the leading man and Prime Carnera the other actor.

3—George Mikan scored 1,932 points in 1950-51 in the National Basketball Association.

4 — National Hockey League trophies for most valuable player, leading scorer, sportsmanship, rookie-of-the-year and least goals allowed by a goalie in the season, in that order.

5—Lawson Little won the U. S. and British Amateurs in 1934 and 1935 and the U. S. Open in 1940.

Mujica Takes Easy Victory In Columbus

Fort Benning welterweight Larry Mujica lacked the snap to dispose of inept Charlie Hopkins Joe Ferguson, but he took a unanimous 10-round decision from the Charlotte, N. C., battler Monday night at the Columbus Arena.

It was Larry's 12th local pro victory, and it might have been his seventh knockout if he could have put some of his better straight lefts and right hooks back-to-back.

Ferguson matched Mujica fairly evenly for the first several rounds, but gave out as before they reached the midway point. Larry hammered Fergie around the ring for the last five with numerous clinches.

Only round scored for Ferguson on the Baycoat scoreboard was the first in which Mujica was penalized for a low blow. The second was ruled even.

Commanders Win Prep Game

The four-team Doughboy Little League will swing into action May 1 at the Ingersoll St. diamond behind the WAC Detachment area, league president Raymond Tousignant announced today.

Prior to the inaugural action Benning's young diamond stars will take part in a Greater Columbus Little League parade downtown.

General Meloy made an unexpected appearance last Sunday as the Commanders beat the National League Giants, of Columbus, 5-4, at French Field in the first spring exhibition game of the season.

Six Hitter

The Benning squad showed good form for this stage of training. First Baseman Ronnie Hutcheson belted a three-run homer and Lowell Armon slammed a four-bagger with the bases bare.

Mike Hakile went the route, limiting the visitors to six hits. The team was managed by Lt. Col. J. C. Brink and Dr. Frank Sheridan, president of the Greater Columbus LL organization, served as one of the umpires.

Cinder Drills Coming Slowly

Cinder squads in most units were still shaping up slowly this week despite the fact that the annual Fort Benning Track and Field Championships April 18-19 at Doughboy Stadium are just eight days distant.

A last minute flurry of action will probably save the day, however, and there are several outstanding candidates in some of the more important events.

Hottest prospects of the moment would seem to be Royce Fortune, of Combat Training Command, and Joe Campbell, of Infantry School Detachment. Cliff is a good two-miler for CTC.

DEFENDING CHAMP

OHIO STATE

Campbell, former member of the Ohio State freshman team, has shown improving form since winning the Florida A. & M. Relays' pole vault with a 12-foot go. Campbell has crossed the bar at 13 feet previously.

George (Ding Dong) Bell, another CTC entry, has recorded a broad jump of 22 feet, five and a quarter inches.

ASU Provisional Group has a pair of likely shot putters in Bill Desch and Johnny Irons. The Raiders' short distance standouts are John Ryan, Sam Pickle, Mike McLeod and Charlie Coates.

CAGE TO CINDER

Truman Medders, the basketball whiz from Panhandle, Okla., A. & M., is coaching the ISD thinclads and will enter himself in the hurdles events. Medders also may run with the Profs' with S. H. Blackwood, Ed Metke and Campbell.

Other ISD entrants will include S. Sgt. Webster, Don Blankedship, Sgt. McCabe, Clarence Hales and C. B. Caporale. Blankenship [illegible] second in the 1947 EU[illegible] jumps.

[illegible] broad jumping [illegible] outstanding prospect in Don Hibbard and a 50-foot plus shot putter in Walter Jenkins.

Athletic Officer J. R. Freeman will handle the Provisional Medical Group squad. He'll have only a small entry with top men likely to be Bill Street, the footballer, in hurdles, and Freddie Wint, the boxer, in the middle distances.

Barbecue Set For National

At a recent meeting of the finance committee of the National Little League, ways and means for raising the necessary funds for a successful start of the season were discussed.

A barbecue is planned for the evening of April 19 at the Baker Village Administration Building. A delicious menu has been announced, and there will be plenty of the best of foods for all. It is anticipated that the residents of Baker Village, Winterfield and the other sections served by the National League will generously support this affair.

Tickets have been distributed to the players of the several teams, and a friend has offered a prize of five dollars worth of sporting equipment to the boy who sells the most tickets.

CTC Rated Hot Flag Prospect

BY PFC. LEON CORN

In the quest for pre-season pennant favorites in the Fort Benning Baseball League, the finger may be pointing straight at Manager Roy Vollbracht's Combat Training Command.

The Commanders will have all of their talent on one team in contrast to the late basketball season in which they split up for two squads and thus probably missed their chance to win the post hoop loga.

Vollbracht's hopes are based on the return of several stellar regulars who will be bolstered by some promising newcomers. CTC finished second in the first half of 1951's split season, but sagged to fourth in the second half.

Big Four

Stan Edwards, John Freeman and Adam Zubaty, assistant manager, are back on the pitcher's mound, with Ken Middleton filling the fourth slot. Zubaty capped a fine season with a no-hit, no-run game last August.

Middleton, a halfback for the Commanders last fall, pitched for the 14th Infantry at Camp Carson, Col., last year. He played pro ball for Quebec in the Canadian-American League and Rutland, Vt., in the northern League in 1946 and 1947.

Edwards, who had a good season last year, should be better in '52. There's no trace of the sore arm that bothered him occasionally last year.

Rocket Hotter

Catching, a sore spot last year, is relieved by four good prospects.

Charlie Culpepper is battling for the berth against football players Bill Cato, Frantis Keel, and Charles Clutts. Culpepper played for St. Augustine in the Florida State League and Andalusia in the Alabama State League in 1949, batting around .270.

Vollbracht's big switch brings Reggie Carroll in to first base from the outfield. Carroll batted the ball for a .445 average last year, second in the league only to Herb May's fabulous .500, and he figures to be the Commanders' powerhouse this season.

Pro Veteran

May is now a civilian. Carroll played first for the Richmond, Va., Giants in his semi-pro days. In a pinch, he may pitch a few innings. He hurled for the Baltimore Elites of the Negro American League.

Tom Bundy looks like Carroll's replacement in center field. George Gust and Frank Spaniel are good bets to flank him in the outfield. Gust played for the Olean, N. Y., entry in the Penn League.

Bill Toomey of Jose Gomez should be able to fill the hole at third base.

Keystone Combo

Clarence Faucett, who played three years of Army ball in Germany, came out to practice as a highly touted shortstop but it looks as though Bobby Clark will push him over to second base and keep short for himself.

Clark, a Columbus boy, has played for Ozark in the Alabama State League, Hutchinson, Kan., in the Western Association, and Mayfield, Ky., in the Kitty League.

Last year, the Commanders were a little lop-sided at bat, with only a couple of left-handed hitters. This year, the tentative starting line-up includes five lefties.

Vollbracht coached the Camp Carson, Colo., nine to second place in the Fifth Army league last year before moving to Benning. He played second base at Western State College, Macomb, Ill., and went on to three years of minor league pro experience at such towns as Joplin, Mo., in the Western International League, and Dayton, Ohio.

RETURNS FROM SCHOOL

Pfc. Jack Holt Jr., has returned to Company E, 30th Infantry Regiment, following his completion of the automotive maintenance course at Fort Jackson, S. C.

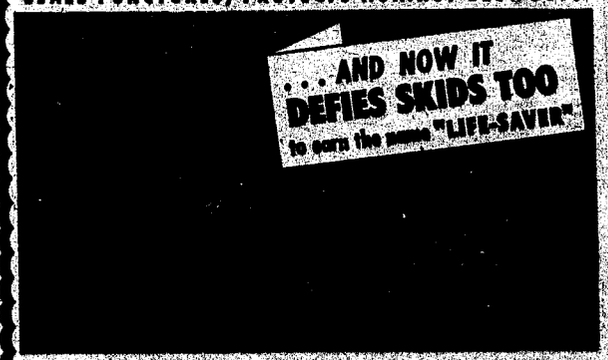
B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire

SEALS PUNCTURES, PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS



• New tread wipes a WET road so DRY you can light a match on it!

The tread of the new B. F. Goodrich "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tire has thousands of flexible "grip blades" so closely spaced you can hardly see them. They wipe a wet road so dry you can light a match on it—grip like a caterpillar tread. As a result, the "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tire stops on wet pavement up to 30% quicker than other tires, has up to 40% more pulling power.

Under laboratory conditions, "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tires have run repeatedly, without penalty of blow out, a mile over the speed limit. In case of punctures, gaping rubber under the tread seals against puncturing object, plugs hole when object is withdrawn.

Military Life No Bar to Education Lieutenant Proves

An example that discounts the theory that military life interferes with scholastic ambitions is that of Second Lt. Bernard J. Townsend, a student in 107th Company, Second Student Regiment.

A veteran of seven years service, he has accumulated a total of 66 semester hours toward a Bachelor of Science degree.

He has taken many of his courses while stationed near state universities which furnished instructors and gave resident credit through USAFI. He has also taken several correspondence course through USAFI.

Two EM Retire With 54 Years

M-Sgt. Russell A. Stow and Sgt. George Gorman, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Service Unit, have retired with a total of 54 years service.

Sergeant Gorman, a native of County Cavan, Ireland, came to the United States in 1905 and enlisted in the Army in 1917. He was a member of the 21st Heavy Field Artillery Battalion of the Fifth Division in Europe during World War I, and went to Europe again during World War II as a member of the 53rd Division.

An expert mortarman, machine gunner and rifleman, Sergeant Gorman holds the Pre-Pearl Harbor Ribbon, Europe-Theatre of Operations Medal with four battle stars, European - Asiatic-Mediterranean Campaign ribbon with three battle stars, and the Good Conduct Medal.

Sergeant Stow enlisted in 1929 and served with the 7th Field Artillery Regiment at Madison Barracks, N. Y. He was then transferred to Fort Benning where he was assigned to Headquarters Detachment Section I until 1942. He was then assigned to the Post Ordnance Section and remained there until his retirement.

NEW EXEC.

Second Lt. R. H. Haigler has been appointed executive officer of Company A, 30th Infantry Regiment. He succeeds 1st Lt. C. E. Cobper.

Safety NCO Back From NYU Course

SFC. George J. Novajoski, Safety NCO for Combat Training Command, has returned from a three - week safety engineering course at New York University.

Through 109 hours of instruction at NYU, Sergeant Novajoski and 28 other soldiers covered details of such topics as accident prevention, investigation and recommendations for accident reduction.

The course, which lasted from March 10 through March 28, was taught at NYU's Center for Safety Education, Division of General Education.

Included among the instructors were Elliott Parker and Donald S. Buck, both of whom visited Fort Benning earlier this spring in conjunction with traffic safety. Mr. Parker is Department of the Army Safety Director and Mr. Buck is Department of the Army Safety Engineer.

30th Infantry Recruiting NCO Recruits Self for Army Hitch

The recruiting NCO of the 30th Infantry Regiment became so enthusiastic over his program that he recruited himself.

M-Sgt. Cleo Gibbs of Birmingham, Ala., whose job is to reenlist men of the 30th Infantry, took himself to The Infantry Center recruiting office here this week, and signed himself up for his eighth hitch in the Army.

"I plan to be a 30-year man," the sergeant smiled. "I've liked the Army ever since I signed up in 1929 with four of my buddies."

Sgt. Gibbs, formerly a semi-pro baseball player in Birmingham, was too young to enter the Army when he tried to enlist the first time.

"But the recruiting officer in Birmingham overlooked my age so I could join up with my buddies," he said.

During his 23 years in the months overseas service.

400 Officers and Men To Take Battle Course

More than 400 officers and enlisted men are scheduled to be run through the battle indoctrination courses by Heavy Mortar Company of the 30th Infantry Regiment.

The first of these were three main post units which were run through last Friday.

Army Gibbs has served with the 34th Infantry Regiment and the 30th Combat Engineer Regiment. He saw World War II combat duty in Europe with the 30th Infantry Regiment and has 66

Mental Health Talks Continue

The third talk on the mental health of babies will be given next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the prenatal clinic (Ward A - 7) by Capt. Allen R. Levin, chief clinical psychologist.

Subjects to be covered include Talking About the Baby; Security and Peacefullness in the Home; Fears; Toilet Training; Friends for the Baby, and Putting Things in the Mouth.

Following the talk, Captain Levin will hold a question-and-answer session. All Fort Benning mothers and expectant mothers are invited to attend.

Giants Not Favored After Loss of Irvin

The New York Giants were no longer regarded as favorites to win the National League pennant after Monte Irvin, the all-around New Jersey athlete and the league's premier RBI man, broke his ankle in two places sliding into third base in an exhibition game at Denver.

Cleveland third baseman Al Rosen threw down his glove in disgust when he realized what had happened. Manager Leo Durocher stamped around the infield and finally withdrew all of the regulars save Willie Mays from the game. Mays broke into tears on the field. He made the play which set up Irwin's move.

ENROLL IN COURSE

Sixteen members of the 30th Infantry Regiment have enrolled in the 40-hour discussion leaders course at the Education Center.

2 Food School Staffers To Give Ration Exhibit

Two members of the staff at the Third Army Food Service School have gone to Tuskegee, Ala., to assist in assembling an Army exhibit on field type rations.

Capt. R. P. Ruppell and S-Sgt. Thaddeus Ryaum are putting the exhibit up for the Seventh Annual Food Show which will begin shortly at Tuskegee Institute.

100 Win Diplomas From Food School

More than 100 students were graduated from the Third Army Food Service School last week.

Graduating with honors were 2nd Lt. R. J. Corsetti, 402 Food Service Squadron, Portland International Airport, Portland, Oregon, in the mess administration course; Pfc. D. A. Helmerk, Maine Administrative Unit, cooking course; Cpl. H. H. Mynao, Headquarters Company, 47th Infantry Division, Camp Rucker, Ala., and M-Sgt. D. E. Fleishman, Headquarters Battery, 3446 ASU, Camp Stewart, Ga.

NEW TWIST

Candidates of the 25th Officer Candidate Regiment have a new twist in their "homework" sessions. They have procured a portable tape recorder that they are using as an aid in ironing out the kinks in their voice delivery technique.

VOL. 10 NO. 30 THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1952 Published by The Ledger-Enquirer Co. for America's Most Complete Army Post Twenty Pages

RC Gifts Top $35,000

Fort Benning's contribution to the 1952 Red Cross campaign has reached a total of $35,606.41, with more expected with the return of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team from Texas maneuvers.

This year's Red Cross drive began February 29 and officially ended March 31. Colonel Gines Perez, executive officer of the First Student Brigade, was campaign chairman of the drive which ultimately encompassed 92 per cent of all Fort Benning personnel.

Maj. Gen. John H. Church was honorary chairman of the drive until his departure from Fort Benning in March.

National goal for the 1952 drive was set at $35,000,000 of which well over a third was destined for the sole benefit of military personnel.

Steady Progress

The first five days of the drive at Fort Benning netted over $17,000 with only nine of the 11 major units reporting. Army Field Forces Board No. 3 was the first unit to hit the 100 per cent contribution mark on the first day of the drive.

Steady progress began during the first week after the initial contributing. An additional $6,000 was collected to bring the total to over $23,000. It was at this point that the Infantry School made the honor roll with 100 per cent participation.

The drive officially ended March 31 with a total of $30,116.66 but unit tabulations, special donations and various athletic events continued to come in to bring the total to its present figure.

Eight major units reached a total of 100 per cent personnel contributions. These include Army Field Forces Board No. 3, The Infantry School, Headquarters The Infantry Center, Civilian Personnel American Red Cross, Training Camp No. 1, First Student Brigade, 3440th Area Service Unit, and Provisional Medical Group.

Final major unit contributions for the drive were as follows:

Army Field Forces Board No. 3, $275.50.

The Infantry School, $1,158.54.

GEN. MELOY BREAKS GBOUND FOR NEW BRIDGE
L to R: C. O. Livingston, Gen. Meloy, M. W. Forte and Robert H. Wright

Ground Broken For New Bridge

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, broke the ground yesterday in ceremonies which began the construction of a new access bridge across Upatoi Creek near Outpost No. 1 at Fort Benning.

Crews began clearing the land on both approaches to the proposed bridge, which will be located 500 feet north of the present bridge and will connect Benning Boulevard and Lumpkin Road.

In a brief talk General Meloy pointed out that the new bridge was necessary to handle traffic to and from the post and that it should make even closer the ties between Fort Benning and its neighbors, Columbus and Phenix City.

Among those attending the ceremonies were Muscogee County Commission Chairman M. W. Forte; County Engineer W. J. Long; County Commissioner C. O. Livingston; Robert H. Wright, contractor; Col. Richard F. Ebbs, Infantry Center engineer; Col. James R. Torrence, G-4; W. H. Price, project engineer; and C. B. Keller, area engineer, Savannah district, representing Col. Robert Erienkotter, who was unable to attend because of illness.

The Wright Contracting Company of Columbus was awarded the contract for the 250 foot two-lane bridge. The company also will build two approaches to the bridge, one from Lumpkin Road and the other from a point 500 feet south of Custer Road. The work is expected to be completed in 18 months.

EM Promotion Plan Tightened By Army

WASHINGTON —(APPS)— In a new circular (Cir. 25) the Army has outlined the ways in which it is tightening its enlisted promotion program.

In addition to the policy that no promotions may be made in the first four pay grades without prior approval of the major command concerned, a number of other changes are listed. They are as follows:

1. Personnel must occupy an authorized vacancy within the major command in either the grade to which promotion is considered or a higher grade for period of time listed: Korean combat zone—one month. Rear area Korean combat zone — two months. All other areas outside of Korea—three months.

2. Suspension of the provision for the promotion of noncems in infantry table of organization units regardless of major command ceiling.

3. Suspension of the provision for the promotion of permanently assigned personnel to E-3 after six months in E-2 and E-4 after 12 months in E-3 or 30 months service.

Combat Injured

4. Suspension of the provision for promotion of combat-injured patients.

5. Suspension of the provision for promotion of cadre personnel.

6. Suspension of the provision for the promotion of personnel for extraordinary or heroic combat action without regard to major command ceilings.

7. Suspension of the provision

TIC, G-4 Named To Hawaii Job

Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., Infantry Center G-4, has been ordered to Fort Shafter, Territory of Hawaii.

He will not leave Fort Benning until June 1. His successor has not been named.

Colonel Torrence came to Fort Benning in August, 1948, from Washington, D. C., where he was chief of the planning branch, Department of the Army.

He was previously stationed here from 1934 to 1940 as a student and instructor at The Infantry School and as a member of the 29th Infantry Regiment.

During World War II, Col. Torrence served with the G-3 section of Allied Force Headquarters in London, Gibraltar, Algiers and Caserta from September, 1942 to December, 1945. He wears the Order of the British Empire, the French Legion of Honor, Croix deGuerre with Palm, Order of the Crown of Italy and Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster.

OC's Ready First Review

French Field Will Be Scene Of Sunday Afternoon Parade

BY SGT. JOE SIMMONS

The First Officer Candidate Regiment will present a regimental parade and review this Sunday at 4:30 p.m. on French Field. This will mark the first time the group has presented a regimental parade since its reopening in February 1951.

Over 3,000 candidates will pass in review before a party headed by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander. With him on the reviewing stand will be Col. Sevier R. Tupper, First Student Brigade commander; Col. Harry M. Grizzard, First OC Regiment commander; Col. John F. Reed, executive for evaluation of the First OC Regiment; Lt. Col. Nell Robinson, Lt. Col. Buford E. Boyd, Lt. Col. Sidney M. Marks, Lt. Col. Joe B. Lamb, and Maj. Clyde M. Akridge.

First Lt. George A. Millener, now S-3 of the Fourth Officer Candidate Battalion, will be presented with the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in Korea. A member of the Third Infantry Division, Lieutenant Millener won the award for action he performed near Majon - Ni, Korea, in November 1950.

Gets Senior Status

The 12th Officer Candidate Company will be presented with a blue streamer showing that it has reached senior status. Each company, at the beginning of its 16th week, wins senior status, with the privileges and duties that go along with it.

Senior Candidates get all the courtesies due officers from other officer candidates, and in addition are given more responsibility.

The regimental and battalion company staffs for the parade will be composed entirely of candidates, with those on the regimental staff and battalion commanders coming from senior companies.

Student Commander

Candidate Ralph L. Ewicker, Fourth OC Company, will serve as regimental commander, and Candidate Leroy Powell, of the same company, will be his adjutant.

Battalion commanders will be First, Candidate Hugh F.

7 Generals Visit Post

Seven Army generals sampled training at The Infantry School here last Monday before flying to the Ranger Department's jungle camp near Pensacola, Fla., for a two-day orientation.

The generals made the most of their brief one-day stay at the largest Infantry post, sandwiching in tour of the Officer Candidate School and the Airborne Department between conferences with Infantry School officials.

At Ranger Department headquarters here the Army leaders received a thorough briefing on the mountain techniques taught at the north Georgia camp at Dahlonega, as well as information on the instruction given here and a preview of what they will see in Florida.

The group will see highlights of the two-week swamp fighting and survival course Tuesday, and from a vantage point in the middle of the Yellow River, watch Ranger trainees participating in a day patrol.

Attending the orientation course were Lt. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, Second Army commander; Maj. Gen. Roy E. Porter, 101st Airborne Division commander; Brig. Gen. Raymond E. S. Williamson, Third Armored Division commander; Brig. Gen. George B. Barth, Fifth Infantry Division commander; Maj. Gen. Albert C. Smith, Fifth Army commander; Maj. Gen. Paul W. Kendall, Sixth Corps commander, and Maj. Gen. Claude Ferenbaugh, inspector of Infantry.

When the tour ended Wednesday Generals Ferenbaugh and Porter returned to Fort Benning for a short visit. The other generals returned to their home stations.

'The Women' Opens Tonight

BY BUNNY BENNETT

The men will learn all about "The Women" when the curtain goes up on Fort Benning Little Theater's production of Clare Booth Luce's play tonight at the Main Post Theater.

The curtain will rise tonight at 8:30 on the story of Mary Haines, played by Mrs. Ellen Heard, whose husband left her for "the other woman."

The other woman, Crystal Allen, is played by Mrs. Gladys Walker. Mrs. Rosanne McCrasrie, who starred as "Paula Wharton" in "Over 21," will be seen as "Sylvia," the "typically feline" friend of Mary Haines.

This second production of the Fort Benning Little Theater features an all-female cast of twenty-four directed by Mrs. Mary Howland Leavitt.

The story of "The Women" is the story of Mary Haines, who is led to divorce her husband because of the gossip of her women friends. Learning from their examples, she takes up

ARC Director Commends TIC

The following letter was sent to Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, by John A. Cramer, Field Director, American Red Cross at Fort Benning, in recognition of the $35,866.41, that was contributed by Fort Benning personnel in the 1952 drive:

Dear General Meloy:

In behalf of the American National Red Cross, I desire to express to you and through you to all members of your command who contributed their time, energy and funds toward the success of the 1952 Red Cross Fund Campaign at Fort Benning, our sincere appreciation for a job well done.

The stimulus given by Major General John H. Church in the early stages of the campaign was an important factor in it's success. His appointment of Colonel Gines Perez as executive chairman was considered and wise. From the beginning Colonel Perez was alert to the purpose of the campaign and gave excellent leadership so necessary for success. The outline for the campaign, which he and his staff prepared, was so well thought out and prepared that our National Headquarters in Washington is recommending it to the Department of National Defense as a model for use at other military and naval installations in future Red Cross fund campaigns.

The executive vice chairmen for major units and those appointed by them in subordinate units gave loyal support throughout the campaign and are commended for their fine accomplishments.

The special committees, namely, Religious Activities, Special Events, Troop Information and Education, and the Publicity Commitee, did an outstanding job.

The publicity given the campaign by way of "The Bayonet" and radio was the best that I have observed or heard of on a military installation. The support given by the Public Information office has been invaluable.

Special Services through it's athletic events and the soldier show, not only contributed the proceeds therefrom but through these activities further publicised the campaign.

Troop Information and Education office prepared outlines for two talks to troops on the Red Cross for which our Southeastern Area Headquarters and our National Headquarters have expressed appreciation. We feel that these talks helped very much toward making the campaign a financial success, but of equal importance is the fact that troops are better informed as to what Red Cross is and does. This also holds true of the Religious Activities Committee through it's services dedicated to the Red Cross.

Again, we want to thank all of those, both military and civilian, who contributed so generously of their time and funds.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN A. CRAMER
Field Director

Watch Out for the Children

April, the month that sees spring in the air, is upon us. Since this is the usual time for bicycles, roller skates, and baseball to blossom forth, maybe it is time for a safety reminder.

In 1950, this country lost over 3,700 potential citizens whose ages ranged from 1 to 14 years. Every day during the year over 10 children were killed by motor vehicles whose drivers' excuses ranged from, "I didn't see him," to "She ran out from between parked cars." These excuses, no matter how valid, are indicative of the negative attitude too many drivers have.

For instance, how many drivers actually slow down to 15 miles per hour in a school zone? Ninety per cent? Eighty per cent? Or is it nearer twenty per cent? School zones are marked, usually several hundred yards from the actual zone, but how many drivers conscientiously use the warning area to slow up to the limit?

The average driver moves along at 25 to 35 miles per hour in all sorts of localities, disregarding children and animals on lawns, sidewalks, and even the street. Common sense dictates that whenever there's a possibility of having an accident, we do all in our power to avoid it; yet excessive speed figures in one out of three vehicle accidents.

From these reminders, take heed! By careful driving, consideration of "the other guy," and the maintenance of a defensive driver's attitude, you may save a life. It may be your own. (This editorial is reprinted from the Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. MISSILEER.)

Chaplain's Corner

Mankind Is Led Only Forward By Jesus Christ

BY CHAPLAIN (CAPT.) ALEXANDER LEWIS

The Sunday after Easter is often called, "Low Sunday", for obvious reasons. The crowd is not here that was here last Sunday. Even we ourselves feel a little let down and dejected. We have come through the long season of lent, we have lived through the critical days of Jerusalem with our Lord, we have also witnessed the glorious welcome and the inhuman crucifixion He suffered. And then comes the great climax of Easter. It is always a day of great power and supreme joy. But there is something about that great climax that takes it out of you just a little.

Some will say, casually, "nothing but emotions", and return to the everyday life we led, making no changes or allocations to live more in Christ. How great it would be if we would recognize Easter everyday of the year. If we would but visualize the great Resurrection of Christ in our hearts each day. Many times I have heard the phrase, "One day a week Christian". How many one day a year Christians do we have in this vast world of God's?

To be sure we must return to life's routines and responsibilities; but they ought to shine with a new meaning. We should see in daily chores new possibilities; new vistas of accomplishment and rewardingness. The elation and emotion of the great moment that lies behind us ought to trickle down into the dryness of our routine, and moisten is as rain does dry ground.

Simon Peter is always a help to us. After his denial and disloyalty, the Resurrection to him must have indeed been a profoundly shaking experience. Some time after the Resurrection, Peter was back again in Galilee. I wonder why he went? Our Lord promised to meet them in Galilee—possibly that is why he went. Or could it be he wanted to test himself to see which appealed to his better judgment, fishing for men, or fishing for fish. When Peter was with his friends by the familiar lakeside in Galilee, he said, "I go a fishing". From this statement, I feel that he was tempted to revert to the life he knew so well. As he cast his nets unto the sea, he began to think; "should I return to this life and retire with a fat income in the village I know and love, or should I fish for men as Jesus long ago told me I would, and perhaps live a life of martyrdom, and die a cruel inhuman death, as our Master did?

This struggle is no confined to Simon Peter alone; that struggle meets everyone of us again and again through our lives. An alteration in circumstances can be the occasion of going forward, or of continuing with our customary way, which is often almost the same thing as going backward. Shall we go forward or backward?

For Simon Peter, this old fishing business was a temporary return to the familiar, unless he was going back on Christ altogether. But there is business in the world to be done; some men have got to stay by. They must catch both fish and men. Most would be Christians, behave entirely too much like everyone round about them, when it comes to everyday living. Instead of lifting homelife and business life to the level of Christians conversion with the world. You know when you hear them say; "I go a fishing", that the higher level is a thing of the past. Is it with you? Did Easter show you something about yourself and your daily occupation that you had never seen before? Have you already forgotten it, or let it grow dim? Or did you let God take hold of you, and begin a new life within you?

Let us pray that in the moment when we say: "I go a fishing", and turn backwards to the old familiar things, Christ may come to us as He came to Simon Peter that morning on the beach of Galilee, and remind us that with Him we can never go backward, but only forward.

Swollen Missouri River Hits Five States

Swirling flood waters of the swollen Missouri river forced evacuation of hundreds of families from towns and cities in Nebraska and Iowa this week. Council Bluffs, Iowa, with nearly 45,000 population was in the threatened area, and three-quarters of the town's population moved to safer ground. Seventeen square miles of Council Bluffs and its sister city, Omaha, became practically ghost towns as the Missouri came pushing down after punishing Pierre, S.D., and Sioux City, Iowa, along with a host of smaller towns.

In two other rich Midwest valleys, the Mississippi and Red River of the north were creating misery. But the grim situation had its lighter side, too. Evacuating South Sioux City, one man took time to scoop up a half-gallon jug of the muddy water and sent it along to the editor of the Omaha World Herald with a cryptic note saying "the other 500-300,000,000 and 1-2 gallons will be along soon."

In Munsan, Korea, a renewal of the vital prisoner exchange talks, which could break the Korean armistice log jam, appeared imminent this week. Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior UN delegate, and Read Adm. R. E. Libby, chief negotiator on the prisoner issue, returned to Korea Monday after a week in Tokyo.

The truce meeting Monday lasted only 15 seconds, the shortest on record. It was the fourth day in a row the record for brevity had been broken. Total meeting time for the four-day period was three minutes and 35 seconds.

In Israel, Christians and Moslems fought this week in bloody clashes at Nazareth, the Galilean mountain town where Jesus lived. Five men were injured, two seriously, and Israel authorities clamped down a tight curfew. The rows were reputedly between Greek Catholic boy scouts and Moslem communists. The Moslems interrupted a mass being said by Greek Orthodox Bishop Hakim that was being broadcast throughout Israel.

Congress Considers Service-Interest Bills

(BY ARMED FORCES PRESS SERVICE)

A draft by the Defense Department of proposed legislation that would "exempt from taxation the amounts paid for admission to theaters and other activities operated by or under the control of the military departments" has been transmitted to the House Ways and Means Committee.

The following bills of interest to Service personnel recently were introduced in Congress:

1. A bill to provide increases in the rates of death pensions payable to certain widows and children of veterans of WWI and WWII or of service on or after June 27, 1950.

2. A bill to provide that no person shall be barred from service in the Armed Forces or discharged solely because he has been classified as a "youthful offender" under the laws of New York.

On The Bookshelf

(This is the ninth and last of a series of short book reviews taken from a suggested reading list prepared by the Office, Chief of Army Field Forces at Fort Monroe, Va.)

NATURAL REGIONS OF THE USSR by L. S. Berg (The Macmillan Company, 436 pages) A valuable reference book. It is one of the few books on the physical aspects of the Soviet Union written by a native Russian and translated into English. It is pure physical geography, descriptive, systematic and comprehansive, of the vast USSR that has mountains 20,000 feet high, arctic tundras, and sub-tropic forests.

THE OFFICERS GUIDE (The Military Service Co.) This 16th edition of "The Officer's Guide," a military encyclopedia, is designed, as its preceding editions, to serve as an informational guide to Army officers on active or inactive service.

POCKET ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ATOMIC ENERGY edited by Frank Gaynor (Philosophical Library, 204 pages) A book which lives up to its name—a compact volume containing a comprehensive list of atomic bomb" definitions and explanations in terms easy to read and grasp. Available German expressions are listed with American terms to enable those knowing German to read German publications on nucleonics. Illustrations, charts and tables comprise more than 50 pages.

THE STATESMAN'S YEAR BOOK edited by S. H. Steinberg (The Macmillan Company, 1,593 pages) Volume contains factual information on government, religion production, education and defense preparedness of all nations.

THE UNIFORM CODE OF MILITARY JUSTICE by C. F. B. Wiener (Callaghan & Co., Press, 318 pages) The book explains the Uniform Code of Military Justice. As of May 31, 1951, it replaced the individual Army and Navy Articles of War and became the approved set of disciplinary articles which affect the Army, Navy and Coast Guard. The book endeavors to explain and compare the new law in the light of the previous Articles of War. It is a "must" for every officer and enlisted man.

FORTY-FIVE FORT BENNING BOY SCOUTS BEGIN TWO-DAY RIVER TRIP
Boat No. 4 Embarks On The Free-Floating Trip Down The Chattahoochee

Scouts Begin River Jaunt

By MAY PIGOTT

Forty-five teen-aged Fort Benning Boy Scouts — usually a landlubber's outfit — turned seafaring last Thursday morning and started a 60 mile junket down the swift Chattahoochee river.

All the youngsters, sons of Infantry Center personnel, shoved off in five Engineer assault boats from a bridge near Lawson Air Force Base here and headed South.

The area adjacent to the pontoon bridge was a beehive of activity prior to their departure. Their first job was to unstack the boats and take them to the banks of the river. Before they were loaded, the troop stood inspection of life jackets and equipment. After loading their equipment, they were given final instructions by Capt. Robert A. Ryan, scoutmaster.

Their plans included a night camping trip on the way, and a landing at Eufaula sometime Friday afternoon. After an overnight stay in the Alabama city, the troop will return to Fort Benning Saturday by bus. The boat will be brought back by truck.

Captain Ryan said that Eufaula Mayor A. D. Wilson had extended a welcome and offered co-operation to the Scouts in setting up their camp. A group of Eufaula Scouts will be on hand to greet the Benning troop.

In addition to Captain Ryan, and M-Sgt. Aubrey Beavours, assistant scoutmaster, the Scouts were accompanied by Capt. John T. Carly, who served as guide in his private motorboat, Capt. Russell D. McGovern and Pfcs. Kenneth L. Johnson and William L. Jenn.

Plans for the trip have been carefully worked out. After permission was obtained from the National Scout headquarters to make the trip, the Scouts received instructions in the use of the boats and an orientation on safety. Two lifeguards were assigned to ride in each boat.

Under the guidance of engineer officers, the boys were briefed in the actual use of the boats at the dam on Upatoi Creek. Also they were required to swim two lengths of a pool.

LONG DRIVE . . . Cpl. Thomas H. Harris, Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 30th Infantry, has been driving military vehicles since 1943 without an accident. Holder of the expert motor badge, Corporal Harris estimates that he has driven between 175,000 and 180,000 miles . . . equal to at least 7 trips around the world. On an average day he figures that he drives between 40 and 70 miles "Just obeying the rules and driving to take care of the other fellow like you take care of yourself."

2 Courses Open By Education Center April 22

The Army Education Center has announced the opening of two courses to begin April 22. They are Begining Typing and Speed Reading.

The course for beginning typists last 10 weeks with classes meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Textbooks will be furnished free of charge and attendance is mandatory once a student has enrolled.

A new group study class in speed reading will begin the same evening and will last for five weeks. Classes will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The reading course, recently installed at the Education Center, is rapidly gaining popularity. It is designed to improve the speed and comprehension of readers. The reading laboratory has installed the most modern and up-to-date equipment for the improvement of reading habits.

Registration for the two courses must be made in Building 2512, Army Education Center, by April 21.

School System Teaches Cost Consciousness

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Courses of instruction in cost consciousness, supply economy and mainpower economy have been included in all levels of the Army school system.

The intensity and scope of the instruction vary in the different academic levels, according to Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. More than 200 hours of cost consciousness instruction have been integrated into the curriculum of the Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Management and economics courses have been added to the instruction at the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., and the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Company officers in training at Ft. Benning, Ga., officer candidates and basic trainees all receive similar economy instruction. The Army Information and Education Program has added cost consciousness indoctrination by providing printed in-

508th Injured Return Home

BY BUNNY BENNETT

One hundred and twenty "wounded veterans" of Exercise Longhorn landed at Lawson Air Force Base Saturday night in one giant C-124 aircraft.

Lt. Col. O. R. Brown, hospital executive officer, and Lt. Col. J. C. Brockman, deputy post surgeon, led a fleet of 29 ambulances, two 1 1-2-ton trucks, and one bus from the Provisional Medical Group's Ambulance Company to transport the injured paratroopers from the C-124 to Fort Benning's Army Hospital.

Sixty five litter patients were carried off the C-124 by medical aid men from the 1st Aero Medical Group, of Donaldson Air Force Base, S. C., and 55 walked down the aircraft's ramps. The injured were part of 221 paratroopers hurt in maneuver jumps. The remainder had been returned to the U. S. Army Hospital at Fort Bragg N. C.

The injured paratroopers boarded the C-124 at Brownwood, Tex., at 2 p.m., CST, for their flight to Fort Benning.

"I didn't think we'd make it, though," Capt. Jess W. Crowder, of San Francisco, Cal., and pilot of the giant aircraft smiled. "We ran into thunderstorms over New Orleans, and hit an air pocket. The plane fell straight down 1,500 feet. Some of the boys were roughed up quite a bit!"

On board the giant aircraft to care for the injured paratroopers were two flight surgeons, two flight nurses, and 12 medical aid men.

Heading the medical group was Flight Surgeon Maj. J. A. Canning, of Bayport, N. Y. He was assisted by Lieutenants Phyllis Weaver, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Lorna R. Thomas, of Abilene, both flight nurses.

6. Suspension of the provision for the promotion of enlisted personnel who successfully complete 18 weeks or more duration in a specific MOS to E-3. However, successful service school graduates who are assigned to E-3 or higher position vacancies may be promoted without regard to time-in-position vacancies.

Leadership Grads

9. Suspension of the provision of leadership course graduates.

10. Suspension of the provision for the promotion of successful graduates of the Ranger Course.

11. exceptionally meritorious individual cases commanders of general officer grade or commanders in positions usually held by general officers may waive time in position requirements provided that a vacancy exists within the major command ceilings.

Specifically the new policy has resulted in the suspension of a number of paragraphs in both SR 615-25-40 and SR 615-25-50. They will remain suspended until further notice.

The Army hopes, however, that it will be able to loosen up the restrictions when the first large numbers of inductees begin to leave the Service, possibly in the Fall.

RADIO NEWS

PFC AL PALERMO'S "MELODAIRES" currently featured on "Benning In Review" (WRBL AM-FM, Sat. eve., 6:15) are looking for a guitar player. The three members of the aggregation have been doing a fine job of providing WRBL listeners with their interpretations of the nation's top tunes, but right now they need another guitar player who can play the currently popular songs.

If one of your talents is being able to play a guitar—contact Al Palermo by calling the office of Special Services at FB 42115.

Al will tell any interested guitarist just what type of popular tunes are performed by the "Melodairs", and just how much money-making possibilities are offered by becoming a member of this musical combo.

Service Interest Bills Postponed Until May, Maybe

AFPS Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Two bill of vital importance to servicemen — the Armed Forces Pay Bill and the K-Vet Bill—will probably have to wait until May for any concrete congressional action.

The pay bill, passed recently by the Senate, is now awaiting the action of a joint conference committee that must reach a compromise version of the bill acceptable to both houses.

The joint conference will not be scheduled until some time after the House reconvenes at the end of its Easter recess. House members are expected to return for busines on April 21.

The K-Vet Bill, now carefully being drafted by members of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, also will not be ready until after the Easter recess. The finished version will then be put before the House.

There is little likelihood that a final version of either bill will be passed in April, but observers put their hopes on May for final passage of both bills.

Work Begins On Room For Engineer Instruction

Construction began here last Thursday on a new classroom designed to streamline engineer instruction at The Infantry School, Col. John Schermerhorn, chairman of the Tactical Department's Engineer Committee has announced.

The building, located on the south bank of Upatoi Creek 200 yards east of the dam, Turpentine Stream from Outpost No. 1, is part of the 1952 building program here. Contract for the $135,824 structure was awarded to the Jordan Contracting Company of Columbus, Ga., by the Savannah, Ga., district engineer.

The new engineer center will be used for instructing military personnel in Engineer operations, employment and techniques and for storage and maintenance of engineer equipment.

It will be approximately 240 feet long and 72 feet wide, containing a general purpose room for storage, displays and exhibits and a classroom with a seating capacity of 200 and stage facilities. The general purpose room also will double as an auxiliary classroom in case of bad weather, Colonel Schermerhorn said.

The single - story building will be constructed of concrete block with a high percentage of window space, said Col. Schermerhorn. It is expected to be completed in six months.

This is the last major project in providing a centralized area for engineer training. When the building is completed both field and classroom instruction can be given in the same area, effecting extensive savings in time and money now used to transport students to different training locations, Colonel Schermerhorn said.

AT LEADERS SCHOOL

Pvt. Wayne S. Greenlee, Company C, 30th Infantry, is now attending Leadership School at Fort Jackson, S. C.

OCs Breakfast While in Bed

Breakfast in bed at OCS?

Impossible, you may say, but that is what happened to the first platoon, Sixth Officer Candidate Company, Sunday morning, April 6.

The special treat was th reward of the company classbook staff as the reward for being the first platoon to subscribe 100 per cent.

The idea was fostered by associate editor, Raymond Cheseldine and initial announcement of the competition was made several weeks ago. Competition was so keen that two platoons were tied for first place and the traditional card-cutting ceremony was necessary to determine the winner.

In addition to the breakfast in bed, the platoon was excused from all formations throughout the day.

NEW 1ST SGT.

M-Sgt. David M. Rayburn, Korean veteran, is the newly appointed 1st Sgt. of 133th Company, Second Student Regiment. He replaces Sgt. L. Crain who has left for duty with Third Army Headquarters, Fort McPherson, Ga.

Of Nine Family Soldiers, Seven Attend West Point

Two lost their lives while serving their country.

The story of this patriotic family was reavealed here when Capt. William E. Burr was assigned to the First Student Brigade as athletic and recreation officer. He is the family's most recent graduate of the military academy. He was commissioned there in 1945.

Capt. Burr's father, Col. William E. Burr, was a graduate of the Point, and his grandfather, Gen. Edward Burr, who graduated in 1835, is now retired and living in Washington, D. C.

Captain Burr's sister, Julie, married a West Pointer, 1st Lt. Charles R. Finley, who graduated in 1943, and a year later was killed in Normandy. Julie did her part in service of her country, too. She enlisted in the Women's Army Corps. His brother Robert, only male member of his immediate family who did not attend the USMA, was a private first class during World War II. He also was killed in Normandy.

Capt. William Burr attended The Infantry School's company officers course here after graduating from the Point. He then volunteered for airborne training and was assigned to a glider regiment of the 13th Airborne Division at Camp McCall, N. C.

In 1944 he joined the 101st Airborne Division, heroes of the Battle of the Bulge. When that division was rotated home, he transferred to the 506th Airborne Infantry Regiment.

OCs Cooperate And Graduate

An old axiom around officer candidate school is "cooperate and graduate."

Candidates in the 25th Officer Candidate Company have developed a very practical application of this maxim. Students in the company who fall below standards in various subjects are taken in hand by a special tutoring committee and given additional instruction.

One group helps train men who fall short in their physical fitness tests. Another conducts general reviewers of daily subjects before examinations. Still a third committee gives short classes on the principles of public speaking to those who lack experience.

The coaching system has helped raise company standards considerably, according to candidates who have benefited from it.

Benning MP Scores As Honor Student

M-Sgt. Kenneth D. Hayse, of the M.P. Detachment, Section 1, 3440th Area Service Unit, has been named honor student in Class 75 of the criminal investigation enlisted course at The Provost Marshal General's School, Camp Gordon, Ga.

A veteran of nine years service, he has been in military police work since 1947, working his way up from platoon sergeant to first sergeant during that time.

He has been assigned to the M.P. Detachment here since October 1951.

Following the completion of the investigation course at Camp Gordon, Sergeant Hayse worked for two weeks with the Atlanta, Ga. police department, before reporting back to duty here.

Former Nurse Now Librarian

A former Georgia nurse who "just couldn't stay away from hospital work" has become librarian at the Army Hospital here.

Miss Mary E. Smith of Palmetto, Ga., who started her nursing career in Georgia's turpentine swamps, now spends her mornings and afternoons pushing her book cart through the wards and helping patients make selections.

"I also act as a sort of chaplain's assistant," she smiled. "Unofficially, of course."

The vivacious brunette, who thought she wanted to be a musician, graduated from the Atlanta Conservatory of Music with a bachelor's degree in piano and violin. She was teaching music when illness in her family led her to study nursing.

Pioneer Nurse

"I was one of the first pioneer nurses in Georgia," Miss Smith recalled, went from the Smokies in North Georgia to the turpentine swamps. To reach some of my patients' homes I had to drive down narrow roads with quick mud on the right and alligators on the left.

Civilian nursing grew too dull for the prolific Miss Smith when World War II broke out and she joined the Nurses Corps. She served in field hospitals in North Africa, France and Germany. After the war, she worked in the Veterans' Hospital in Miami Beach, Fla.

But Miss Smith's interests strayed from nursing to library science. In 1949 she received a master's degree in library science and English literature from Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

She qualified for a Civil Service appointment as librarian in 1950, and joined the hospital library staff. She has been taking books to patients here ever since.

Miss Smith says her work in the hospital here is varied and interesting because "I take the books to them; they don't have to come to me."

Although dancing and horseback riding now take up a great deal of her off-duty time, she hasn't let her interest in music lag. She has also learned to play the pipe organ.

Ten Enlisted Men Graduate From Medical Course Here

Ten enlisted men graduated last Friday from the first medical intermediate course given here. They received their diplomas from Lt. Col. O. R. Brown, executive officer at the U. S. Army Hospital here.

Graduating from the eight - week medical technicians course were Cpl. Arthur N. Anderson, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Cpl. Merle E. Hoye, Iowa City, Iowa; Cpl. John F. Huffstetler, Gastonia, S. C.; Cpl. William J. Hunter, and Cpl. Leonard J. Thurman, both of Madison, Fla.; and Cpl. Charles Williams, Ponca City, Okla. They were assigned to the Medical Detachment of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

Those who completed the eight-week neuro - psychiatric technicians course were Sgt. Charles W. Bryant, Baltimore, Md.; Pfc. Carl L. Schofield, East Sparta, Ohio; Pvt. Richard W. Jenkins, Nashville, Tenn.; and Pvt. James P. Miller, Canton, Ohio. They will be on duty at Army hospitals in the United States.

The medical intermediate course here includes training in dietetics, first aid, and combat medical techniques. The student technicians spend 352 hours on the wards here receiving on-the-job training. The course, also being given at Army hospitals at Camp Gordon, Ga., Fort Jackson, S. C., and Fort Bragg, N. C., supplements a six - week course on the theory of nursing given at the Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The Student Detachment, activated February 18, will graduate a class of 10 to 15 technicians.

Post Soldier Misses Plane, Avoids Crash

Most people like to see their names in print, but Officer Candidate William M. Haddad felt just the opposite—he was glad not to see his name in print recently.

In February, he was scheduled to be a passenger on a plane flying from Elizabeth, N. J., to Florida. At the last minute, his reservation was given to someone with a higher priority. Disappointed, he waited for the next flight.

An hour later, safely on another plane headed for Florida, he heard the tragic news—the flight he had been scheduled to go on had crashed.

"It was one time I was glad not to see my name in the 'among the casualties were' column," he said.

Stars in Columbus For RC Benefit

Red Cross Celebrity Night will present the five movie stars, the Southern debut of the new movie musical Show Boat, a boost to the Red Cross fund drive.

Appearing on the stage will be Frederick Crawford, William Bendix, Elizabeth Scott, Rory Calhoun, and Lilli Palmer.

Red Cross membership cards will be given to all those who purchase a one dollar ticket.

OC Regiment Applies Army Formation for Cleaning

First Officer Candidate Regiment has announced the formation of a new Table of Operations and Equipment for the Infantry squad.

Although it represents a radical departure from the accepted standards its apparent efficiency almost assures its success.

The bufferman is armed with an electric floor buffer, the assistant bufferman cares for extra brushes and floor wax, the fillers are equipped with two rags, one bottle of cleaning fluid, one can of scouring powder and one can of glass wax. The assistant squad leader has no significant duties and therefore may be optional.

Deployment of the squad differs slightly from that already listed in the manual. At the command "Action", the fillers form as skirmishers and assault predetermined positions (generally cubicles). After they accomplish their mission, they signal "Up" and the assistant bufferman advances to the position and applies a light coat of wax.

The bufferman then takes his post three paces to the rear of and centered on the assistant bufferman and awaits the command "Commence buffing". When the mission is accomplished the squad leader gives the command "Cease buffing" and all principles return to their normal positions.

This experimental squad has been endorsed by many regimental officers and the Sixth company candidates are currently awaiting publication of the manual covering their new TO&E.

MSC Women See Fifth Birthday

Members of the Women's Medical Specialist Corps here will celebrate their corps' fifth birthday April 19 with an open house to which Columbus, Ga. and Phenix City, Ala., high school girls have been invited.

The young ladies will tour the Army Hospital here to see the diet kitchens, occupational therapy wards and physical therapy wards, all staffed by members of the WMSC.

Major Christina Ehlers, chief of the Physical Therapy Section; Major Irma Lord, chief dietician, and Capt. Doris Growser, chief of the Occupational Therapy Section, will explain the work of the WMSC.

The Women's Medical Specialist Corps, one of the youngest components of the Army Medical Service, became a unified part of the Regular Army Medical Corps April 16, 1947. The Dietician Service, formerly a separate group, dates its service back to the Spanish American War. Physical Therapy was first used by the Army in World War II.

There are eight members of the WMSC at Fort Benning.

2 CTC Units Hit Top Blood Mark

Two Combat Training Command units have hit the 100 per cent participation mark in the current blood donor drive so far, according to Col. C. H. Owens, Infantry Center G-1.

Heavy Mortar Company of the 30th Infantry Regiment and the 509th Engineer Combat Company have both reached 100 per cent participation of all eligible personnel. Many of the men in these two units have donated blood more than once.

Colonel Owens reported that at a meeting of major unit representatives of the Blood Donor Program held on March 28, major commands were asked to report all 100 per cent units, and that these two are the only ones reported so far.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, has commended both units for their cooperation. In a letter to the commanding officers of the two companies, he said "Such wholehearted participation in this vital program to supply blood for our fighting men in Korea is worthy of highest praise and is indicative of the esprit de corps."

Another Infantry Center unit has saved American taxpayers at least $1,000,000.

Ordnance officials here disclosed that 1,894 tons of brass shell casings and ammunition packing containers were returned for reconditioning during 1951 and that their re-use will save an estimated $1,077,078.

Fort Benning's ammunition supply officer, Capt. Joseph A. Pollack of Millerton, N. Y., said that 52 shipments of usable salvage were made last year to Ordnance depots for reconditioning. The shell casings ranged in size from 105 mm artillery to 30 caliber rifle and machinegun cartridges.

Captain Pollack said that the brass shell casings alone, with a scrap value of $303,000, could not be manufactured for less than $1,000,000. Salvaged brass included 36,000,000 small arms cartridges and 150,000 artillery shell casings.

Ordnance depots receive and process the salvage, then return it to the manufacturers for specialized refurnishing which conditions casings before re-inserting an explosive warhead and powder charge.

Airborne General Visits Fort Benning

Maj. Gen. Ridgeley Gaither, 11th Airborne Division commander, joined Ranger trainees here last week to witness a stream crossing demonstration.

General Gaither, who earlier received an orientation of The Infantry School's Ranger Department, also visited the Airborne Department and conferred with Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander.

The two-star airborne general was commandant of the Parachute School here from 1943-45 before it became the Airborne Department of the Infantry School.

Army Turns Waste Material Into $46,000 Saving Plan

Infantry Center Engineer officials have disclosed that during 1952 $46,000 will be saved here simply by burying garbage instead of burning it.

And, as officials pointed out, the new method will be more sanitary and will help reclaim land otherwise unusable.

Formerly, Army Engineers here used three incinerators staffed by 42 men to burn about 50 truckloads of garbage daily.

The sanitary — fill method — a system used by many large cities — requires only three supervisors, and unlimited truckloads of garbage can be disposed of each day.

A bulldozer digs deep trenches into which the garbage is dumped. When filled, the trenches are covered with thick layers of dirt.

Holtz First Entrant For Post Pentathlon

First listed entry for the Infantry Center 1952 Military Pentathlon April 24 is Bill Holt, of ASU Provisional Group.

The winner will be selected after competing in a four-mile cross country race using a military map, pistol competition using the .45-cal. automatic in slow and rapid fire, rifle competition with the M-1, swimming 100 yards, and, finally, grenade throwing for distance and accuracy.

Names, Cuisine Confusion Seen

Will Cook cook and Baker bake in May with May?

It may be a trifle confusing, but that's what classmates of Pvt. John S. May, Pvt. David L. Cook, and Pfc. Henry F. Baker are asking. The three men are students in the Third Army Area Food Service School here, enrolled in the cook's and baker's course. They're slated to graduate in May, May says.

WAC ASSIGNED

Pfc. Shirley L. Thomas has been assigned to the WAC Detachment, Section 1, 3440th Area Service Unit from Fort Jackson, S. C. She is a graduate of the Adjutant General School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

120 Men Join Reading Classes

No one has yet completed the full 20 hours, but outstanding gains in reading rate and comprehension have already been tallied up, 1st Lt. Stuart Robson, lab instructor, reported.

Maj. R. L. Kerr, of Combat Training Command, using the reading rate controller machine is reading at the rate of 1400 words per minute, about five times faster than the average reader.

Maj. A. G. Canfield of the First Transportation Battalion in seven hours has increased his speed from 440 to 720 words a minute, while Capt. J. L. Osteen Jr., of The Infantry School's Tactical Department has boosted his rate from 243 to 900 words per minute.

Although free reading is a little slower than the machine speed, Lieutenant Robson said that these rates indicate very satisfactory progress in eliminating incorrect reading habits.

The laboratory is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

The 1952 pennant chase in the Fort Benning Baseball League gets under way at 8 p.m. Wednesday at spruced up Gowdy Field with First Student Regiment, one of the hot flag favorites, taking on potentially tough Provisional Medical Group.

The usual opening day ceremonies are on tap, with Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, to pitch the first ball, and the 122nd Band to provide music.

Following the inaugural, the Benning version of the national pastime will be played every Wednesday night and every Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Each of the nine clubs will meet each other once and then wind it up with a Shaughnessy playoff to proclaim the post champs.

Hot Stuff Quick

There won't be any delay in getting into hot action. Manager Adolph Mazeika has come up with one of the best looking Medic nines yet and he has named righthander Ernie Pratt, formerly of St. Edwards in Austin, Texas, to open on the mound.

George Wardell, all-Fort Bragg catcher in 1951, will be behind the plate for the Medics Wednesday. Another promising prospect is Al Easley at first base. Mazeika expects an even better lineup within the week when several of his stars return from the Long Horn maneuver.

Crafty Bob Kinard will divide the First Student Regiment's opening night mound assignment between a pair of former pros, righthander Lloyd Brill, who has pitched class B ball, and lefty Dick Myers, who last hurled for class D West Texas, N. M. Kinard has six regulars returning from last year's squad which missed the pennant by the margin of a single game, lost in a playoff with the now departed 325th ARCT.

Aided by crackerjack newcomers like infielders Johnny Oden and Phil Phillips, who played with the Doughboys last week, the First is a definite threat to go all the way this season.

Their biggest threat judging by pre-season practice efforts will be Combat Training Command. The Commanders unveiled two hotshot pitchers in Ken Middleton and John Freeman who hurled exceptionally well for the Doughboys this week.

CTC also has another starting hurler in Adam (No-Hit) Zubaty and a .400 hitting first baseman in Reggie Carroll. The Commanders will be tough, but any one of three clubs might give them trouble.

Manager Jim Harkey has an experienced Infantry School Detachment crew, ASU Provisional Group had a tremendous turnout even though their work outs have been held in comparative secrecy by Manager Lewis Grizzard, and First O. C. Regiment will be rugged if candidates are made available to the squad.

Other teams are 506th Airborne, which drew a convenient first week bye on the schedule (they're still on maneuvers), Second Student Regiment and Lawson Air Force Base.

Following Wednesday's opener, ISD tests the Flyers Saturday and First O. C. Regiment takes on CTC Sunday. Admission to all games is free.

100 Battle In Track Meet

More than 100 young athletes will go into action Friday and Saturday at Doughboy Stadium and Gowdy Field in the annual Fort Benning Track and Field Championships which will serve as an exciting prelude to the 1952 Third Army Track and Field Championships slated here May 9-10.

Most of the eight teams entered have nursed their hopefuls along in comparative secrecy for the past few weeks, but even the most casual study of practice times and standards indicates that the post record book is due for complete rewriting.

Friday will be devoted to qualifying trials and heats with activity slated to get under way at 1 p. m. Saturday's finals will start at the same time, but a schedule of events will not be announced until after the trials are complete.

Admission to the meet is free. The field events, shot, discus, hammer and javelin, will be held at Gowdy Field.

Last year's first and second place teams—the 325th ARCT and Lawson Field—are not entered this time, but the third Place team in 1951, Combat Training Command, is listed as the current favorite.

Large Entry

A strong bid from the First Student Brigade teams is expected and First Officer Candidate Company has the largest entry of 34 men with a number of outstanding collegiate thin clads among these.

Other teams entered and their finish last year are Provisional Medical Group, fourth; ASU Provisional Group, sixth; Second Student Regiment, seventh, First Student Regiment eighth, Infantry School Detachment, ninth and Army Field Forces which will enter two men this year.

At least two Olympic hopefuls—distance runners Lionel Pinn, of Combat Training Command, and Dick Ellis, of First Student Regiment—will show their talents locally for the first time in the five-mile run.

There are about half a dozen other entrants whose stamping grounds would indicate that they are definite All-Army spoilers material, but it won't be possible to tag them accurately until they have competitive records on the books after Saturday's trials.

Only two defending champions will be on hand.

One is CTC's Royce Fortune, who won the 1951 Javelin title with a 194-6 toss. Fortune's best throw in 1952 is 186-6 and he is expected to improve considerably before the Third Army meets coming up.

Contenders

Other outstanding entrants judged by their previous marks include Don Blankenship, of ISD, who placed second in the 1947 EUCOM high jump, and George Pickett, of Second S. R., who represented N. C. State in the high jump for four years.

CTC's Kenny Hampton, formerly of New York and N. Y. Pioneer Club cinderman, has been timed at 52 seconds recently in the 440-yard dash.

Pre-meet favorite in the broad jump will be CTC's George (Ding Dong) Bell who had a 24-8 mark in the recent Florida A. & M. Relays, while Joe Campbell, of ISD, set up his favoritism to the pole vault there by clearing 12 feet. His best previous mark was 13-feet.

Qualifications Set For Fishing Meet

Anglers interested in taking part in the Fort Benning Fish and Game Association's annual fish and fish tournaments May 3-4 at King's Pond should make sure they hold membership in the Association.

Both of the tournaments are open to members, according to Maj. William Brodbeck, of the committee. Association membership fee is $1.75.

More than $200 in prizes are being offered for the two events. The [illegible] fly and spin casting [illegible] event at 1 p.m. May 3 and the fishing tourney [illegible] May 4 at 8:30 a.m. May 4 and ending at 4 p.m.

[illegible] are the targets.

Two CTC Softball Teams Win Games

Companies I and L packed dynamite in their bats in early games of the Third Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment, softball schedule.

Company I, led the way, whipping Company K, 24-0, in a 27-hit barrage. Company L trounced Company M, 11-3, and had a slightly closer call in trimming Headquarters Company, 6-3.

In the other games of the season's first week, Company M pulled up to a one and one record by nipping Company K in a wild and woolly tussle, 13-12. The short battalion season is scheduled to end May 16.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

FINDING OUT if certain people are willing to be presidential candidates calls for the deductive powers of a Sherlock Holmes, but no such false modesty exists among athletes each four years when it comes time to sift out the Olympic candidates. Every young buck who ever donned a sports monkey suit suddenly emerges as a potential Jim Thorpe, to hear the self-appointed press agents of each tell it.

Which brings up the question of how many, if any, bona fide Olympic team candidates we have at Fort Benning. I have been able to finger only three, and one of those, like General Eisenhower until recently, finds himself torn between military duty and pursuits of greater public acclaim.

The latter would be James Bradford, 23-year-old officer candidate of the 33rd O. C. Company in Harmony Church, who is only the world's second best weightlifter if you judge by last year's international championships and exclude the Russkys, who, of course, are better than everybody yet, but unwilling to compete with the Capitalistic kroawcys.

Bradford, a six-foot, 235-pound Washington, D. C., music student, hoisted 941 pounds at last year's internationals in Milan, Italy, which was just 10 pounds shy of the weights lifted by world champion John Davis. That performance has earned him an official invitation from the Army to get into this year's Olympic tryouts, but Jimmy prefers not to accept if it would mean nullifying his previous officer candidate training, which it almost assuredly would.

When it comes to muscles, Bradford has them in spades.

Following last year's Milan championships, he went to Austria and beat the mark of their champ and Davis by coming up with 970 pounds. That must have really paled the boys from the Pashkudnyak A. C. in Moscow, who claimed they couldn't get visas for the Milan meet, but also absented themselves in Austria when Bradford's name showed up on the entry books.

Jim was among the lifters selected for the 1948 Olympic squad, but he was dropped at the last moment with several others when the Olympic committee had to streamline its squads because of a lack of funds. He went on to win the North American heavyweight championship, however, at Montreal, Canada, setting a press record of 292 pounds. He was the Junior heavyweight national champ with 950 pounds at Baltimore in 1950, and that same year placed third in the senior nationals at Philadelphia. He was headed for the Pan American Olympics in Buenos Aires in 1951, after his European successes, when Uncle Whiskers made him trade in his bar bells for an M-1.

THE OTHER PAIR of Olympic potentials in my books are the more familiar Lionel Pinn and Dick Ellis, who have made their mark by trotting all over the place on God's little green footstool, which is another way of saying they are distance runners. At this writing Dashin' Dick had sanction from the Army to compete in the Boston A. A. Marathon this Saturday and the National Marathon May 19 at Yonkers, N. Y., and similar approval for Pinn was presumed to be following closely.

However, both will skip the Boston run because of the expense (to themselves, inasmuch as they are amateurs) involved, and will go in the five-mile run in this Saturday's Fort Benning Track and Field Championships. They are not passing up as big an opportunity as might seem. Running in the Benning and Third Army five-mile tests here will undoubtedly qualify them for All-Army competition which also leads to Olympic tryouts.

On the other hand, both still plan to compete in the nationals at Yonkers and high finishes there would also earn them Olympic track team tryouts. Rapid Richard finished 16th in his only showing of the current season in the 12-mile White Horse Road Race in Baltimore last month. Of course, the marathon distance is 26 miles, 385 yards and Ellis said he was much stronger at the end of the White Horse, in which he was defeated by lack of early speed needed in a "short" 12-miler when all of his training here had been pointed at gaining stamina for the marathon distance.

At any rate, we'll know for sure about Ellis after the Yonkers test. Pinn, a full-blooded Micmac Indian and a distant relation of Jim Thorpe, has a more complete past performance chart from which to draw speculation.

Lionel clicked off the marathon distance last week in two hours and 37 minutes, which judging by past standards would be good enough to place him among the top five. The U. S. marathon record is a little over 2:25.

Pinn's best prior time is 2:32. It might be explained that when you get it down that fine there don't always mean too much, because marathon courses vary depending on the locale where they are held. Pinn claims that this year's Olympic marathon course in Helsinki, of which he has a map, is less hilly than many races in which he has competed, including the 48-mile Washington Cantennial in which he placed third four years ago.

Lionel has run twice previously in the Boston Marathon, second only to the nationals, and beat Yon Buk Soo, the Korean, who set the present Boston record in 1947, in a special 15-mile match race at Pusan last year.

Doughboys Lose Three Straight In Brief Season

The Doughboys slightly disenchanted baseball season both opened and closed this week and in between the Benning assembly lost three straight, two to the Columbus Cardinals and one to Omaha, another class A team from the Western League.

Of course, their rivals were all well-rated pros, while Manager Joe Smith went with a pick-up nine from various unit teams and was further handicapped by lack of adequate "pre-season" practice.

Still the Doughs might have made it tougher for their big foes if they hadn't committed a horrifying 16 errors.

Big Crowd

They made six of these as they dropped their inaugural to the Cardinals, 7-0, before a healthy turnout of 1,700 at Gowdy Field. Benning's chief trouble in this one, however, was right hander Stan Slack who gave them only six hits and only one man reach third, Emil Rukavina on a booming triple to right center.

Lefty Joe Feinstein, a teammate of Rukavina's from Infantry School Detachment, hurled shutout ball for three of four innings he worked. Reliefer Tony LaCroix, of the 506th, was belted for four hits and as many runs in three frames.

Chris Dubis, of ISD, a former Card farmhand himself until the notorious Duluth, Minn., Baseball Club bus wreck of 1948, gave a good glove performance at first base. He followed suit in the other games and was the team's top hitter with four singles in nine trips.

Benning looked for awhile like they might make trouble for Omaha, but Marty Garlock, lefty righthanded reliefer, came in and put down a rally as Benning bowed, 10-5 before 500 fans at Gowdy Field.

Everybody should have stayed in bed for the finale, the Cards winning an Iceberg Series game, 8-1, before less than 100 Eskimos at Golden Park. It was called off after the seventh because of the cold.

It was a 1-1 game for four frames, but Feinstein was allowed to tarry too long in the cold and got belted out in the fifth under a six-hit Cardinal avalanche.

Seven Title Bouts Set Tuesday

GEORGE ALLEN
. . .needs revenge

It will take just seven bouts Tuesday night to determine Fort Benning's 1952 boxing champions of champions—the class one gladiators who probably will represent us May 9-10 in the Third Army tournament — starting at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday at Briant Wells Field House.

Four of the class one kings are uncontested.

They are:

HEAVYWEIGHT — Dick Lohmann, First S.R.

LIGHT HEAVY — James Boyd, First S.R.

FEATHERWEIGHT— Leander Ray, A.S.U.

FLYWEIGHT— Johnny Bizzell, C.T.C.

The six other champs-to-be will have to work hard for their crowns. Biggest chore will fall to the light middleweight winner. First S. R.'s Ray Lee, unbeaten in five fights, meets CTC's Leon Hall, and the winner faces Freddie Wint, the murderous Medic.

Tough Triangle

Wint's only loss has been to Lee, and he has won two of three victories via kayo. Hall has lost to Wint and Lee, but is much the better of the rest of the light middle class.

Hall had Wint in trouble in their clash. Everyone acknowledged that Freddie could have belted Lee into dreamland if he had ever got inside of Ray's great left hand. So, although Lee is favored to be the next post light middle champ, anything can happen.

A hot fued is expected to explode wide open when ASU's George Allen, defending Third Army bantamweight champion, meets Nori Kawasaki, of the 508th Airborne. Nori ignored George's title a month ago, dumped the 3-A champ and won himself a close decision.

Revenge

It was only the sixth loss in some 61 amateur bouts for Allen, who makes no bones about telling anyone it won't happen again.

Other title bouts match:

LIGHTWEIGHT — Leonard James, First S. R., against Jesse Flores, 508th.

LIGHT WELTER—Ray Leutz, 508th, against Charles Cummings, CTC.

MIDDLE Gordon Ifill, CTC, against Freeman Thatcher, ASU.

Watch out for the James-Flores affair. Len is top rated now after winning four straight including a decision over Flores, but Jesse spoiled James' debut by beating him on the first card of the season.

Fast, Furious

Both are smart ring generals; fast on their feet and hit sharply if not deadly. Flores has won five of six bouts, including two by kayo.

Leutz has beaten Cummings, even though it was two months ago and Charlie has shown tremendous improvement since then in rising from class three to one. Ifill holds two recent verdicts over Thatcher and is another favored to repeat.

That leaves only the Hall-Frank meeting, a peculiar affair in that both have fought only once in the series, Hall decisioning Frank in the first card more than two months ago.

On the chance that the appetites of some ring fans may not have been satisfied by the 12 week gloved mayhem series, an open tourney—for post challengers in all weight divisions regardless of class—has been scheduled for April 29 at Briant Wells.

Pvt. Harlin Poindexter has been assigned to the Heavy Mortar Company, 30th Infantry Regiment.

ASU Seizes Team Ring Lead

ASU Provisional Group, defending post boxing champions, finally got around to acting like it Tuesday night as they scored 21 points in winning three Class Two championships in the 11th week's action in the Fort Benning boxing series at Briant Wells Field House.

Coach Larry Jones' Raiders took over the team trophy lead with 131 points after trailing First Student Regiment and 508th Airborne for seven weeks.

The First is in second place with 117 points, trailed by the 508th, 108; Combat Training Command, 97; Infantry School Detachment, 11; Provisional Medical Group, 9, and First O, C. Regiment, 4.

That puts them in a position for a blistering point showdown with First S. R. next Tuesday in the final championship match which will determine Benning's Class One champs and Third Army boxing team.

The Class Two champions decided last night and how they got their crowns:

HEAVYWEIGHT — Lon Barnes, First S. R., by forfeit over Eddie Washington, CTC.

LIGHTHEAVY — Harvey Distel, CTC, uncontested.

WELTERWEIGHT — Bout between Arnold Ray, 508th, and Milton Marcy, 142 ¾, old Bay, 508th, was stopped in first round when both fighters bled out over their left eyes. They will be rematched.

BANTAM AND FLYWEIGHT divisions were vacant.

Murphy and Wright had to answer the bel twice Tuesday night to gain their crowns. Murphy took a close verdict from George Stampe, 165, First S. R., in his prelim.

Wright won his in more spectacular style, flattening Jim Hiller, 131 1-2, ISD, with a right and left. The bell ending the second round interrupted the count over Hiller, but he was too groggy yet to start the third round.

Only the Class Two welter champion went undecided as a result of a freak accident. Arnold Ray, of 508th, and Milton Marcy, CTC, the contenders, exchanged quick punches after the cuts on each left eye. The bout was stopped and will be rescheduled later.

Murphy's title win was the most speciacular. Suffering from a cut lip and closed left eye, he decked the surprised Blackburn twice in the last round on good rights set up by a southpaw barrage. Ref Jim Mullin stopped it after the second knockdown.

Results of preliminary contests:

Guzman, CTC, decisioned Willie Grabstein, 134¾, ASU; McKinney, ASU, decisioned Samuel Payne, 132, CTC; Blackmon, ASU, TKO'd Elbert Mosby, 161¼, ASU, in 2:01 of two.

Best action in crowning the class three champs a week ago was supplied by 508th's Verne Bottom and Pedro Menjaris. Both completely dominated their opponents and Menjaris may have been the best man among the class three victors.

Closest margin of victory was registered by CTC's Ben Bedon in beating Ronald Swingle, of Infantry School Detachment. All of the class three title bouts went the three-round limit.

MIDDLEWEIGHT — Ben Borden, 161, CTC, decisioned Ronald Swingle, 160, 1ST.

BANTAMWEIGHT — Martin Rafferty, 2028, uncontested.

FLYWEIGHT — Alvaro Nelson - Hernandez, 508th, uncontested.

Swim Record Set

The nine-year old world record for the women's 400-yard free-style relay was set by the Chicago Town Club team in the National AAU Indoor women's swimming meet last week in Daytona Beach, Fla. Jackie Lavine, Jody Alderson, Marlene Cahill and Annie Katelyn negotiated the course in four minutes, five and three-tenths seconds.

Seek Derby Mark

Calumet Farms have bagged four Kentucky Derbies in nine attempts — as with the Pete Coltrane, Bill Hartack and they will shoot for their fifth win in this year's Derby May 3 with Hill Rise, Ben Jones, who has selected five Derby winners, more than any other trainer.

CTC Gets New Pilots, Beat ASU in Prep

Combat Training Command's baseball team got a new set of managers this week as the Commanders slugged out a practice win over ASU Provisional Group, 12-2.

Clark, property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be the team's field captain. His last year in pro ball was in 1948 with Mayfield, Ky., in the Kitty League. Hudson played for the 422nd Infantry Regiment in Germany and holds a degree in physical education.

Third baseman Joe Gomez had 3-for-4 as the Commanders trounced ASU in the exhibition game. Biggest blow was Bernard Barnes' triple. John Freeman worked three innings, giving up ASU's two runs, and Stan Edwards finished the job in shutout fashion.

Admission is $1.

BACK AGAIN . . . Among familiar faces from 1951 season when Fort Benning Baseball League campaign opens Wednesday will be this trio. Left to right, First S. R. infielder Jim Shirley, CTC's Adam (No-Hit) Zubaty, and ASU's heavy hitting outfielder Bill Hahn. They are expected to be big factors in teams' pennant races this summer.

30 Cars Entered In LaGrange Race

Some 30 cars are expected to compete in the Valley Stock Car Racing Association meet at 2 pm. Sunday at LaGrange, Ga., about 40 miles north of Columbus.

Clarence Culpepper and Pete Kelley will be among the favored drivers in the 25-lap feature event. Kenny Goodman, a newcomer to the Association, is another highly touted driver.

41st Battalion Wins 3rd Straight

It's three victories in a row for the 41st Field Artillery Battalion in the Combat Training Command interunit baseball play. The Artillerymen beat Heavy Mortar Company, 7-1, Friday night.

Last week's game was the Mortarmen's second unsuccessful trip to the 41st well. The 78th Engineer Combat Battalion has also bowed to the Artillerymen.

Markarian Tests Meredith Monday

Hal Meredith, Macon, Ga., welterweight, is slated to meet Tito Markarian, of Buenos Aires, in the 10-round main event Monday night at the Columbus Arena, according to Promoter Fred Ward.

Markarian lost a pair of close decisions here to Fort Benning's Larry Mujica, but he is a stubborn, aggressive slugger who usually makes the action interesting. Meredith has been one of the top welter around southern clubs for half a dozen years.

Indians And Bums

The Cleveland Indians and the Brooklyn Dodgers have been picked to win the major league pennants in the annual poll conducted among members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

They were wrong last year picking the Dodgers and Red Sox. This season they rate the Giants and Yankees second. The White Sox were picked third in the American. The Cardinals are liked to place third in the National.

Clamp on Champs

Robert Christenberry, iron-fisted chairman of the New York State athletic commission who is trying to cleanup boxing, says he believes the rules should require champions to defend their titles every six months.

Haecker's 73 Wins Medal

Ross Haecker, veteran Fort Benning golfer, established himself as a solid favorite when he fired a one over par 73 last week for medalist honors in the annual Officers Mess championship tournament at the post country club.

More than 100 players qualified for the event in which first round play began Monday with six flights below the championship group. The title finals will be played the week of May 12.

A dozen other linksmen qualified with scores below 80.

Matt Tatum started his qualifying round in championship manner with a par 36 on the front nine, but he blew to a 10 on the 10th hole with three balls out of bounds and came in finally with an 80.

Good Scores

A 74 was posted by L. C. Kyle Jr., of Columbus, one of the few civilian members of the club eligible for the tourney. A 75 was registered by Bill Harbour, former assistant CTC football coach, and a 76 by Bethell Edrington.

Seventy-sevens were shot by Jim Lynch, R. J. Florian and Bill Caldwell, with 78's by Ed Mann and Jim Adamson, and 79's by Bill Graham, John Acuff, A. A. Miller and 17-year old high school student Bill Duncan.

This week's 16 losers in the championship flight match play will be dropped down to make up the first flight. First round play must be completed by Sunday night.

Meantime, 20 of Benning's better shotmakers will take on a LaGrange, Ga., Country Club team here at 1 p.m. Sunday in a return match. LaGrange won the first test, 38-34.

Soldier Olympic Fund Contributions Close

Fort Benning sports fans will have their last chance Tuesday to contribute to the U.S. Army Olympic fund. That's the date when containers around the post will be taken up.

All U. S. Olympic teams are financed by private contributions and with the Army having a Olympic hopefuls, soldiers are being given this opportunity to back their own sports stars.

Benning Net Team Defeats Maxwell, 6-3

A Fort Benning tennis team from the Officers Mess evened up its series with Maxwell Field at one apiece Saturday when they downed the Flyer netters, 6-3, at the OM courts. The rubber meeting between the two is slated here May 18.

Lonnie Jordan led the Benning attack by downing Maxwell's number one player, A. J. Evans, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3. Leroy Stanley also had to come from behind to take the number two match from Jim Roach, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Benning's other two singles wins were turned in by James Burnett, who beat P.A. Frazer, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, and Don Yoder, who downed D. Steineman, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6. Maxwell's Phil Neal downed Kay Stuart, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, and Robert Alan, Maxwell, stopped Tom Rafferty, 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles, Jordan and Stanley teamed to down Evans and Frazer, 6-2, 1-6, 8-6, while Yoder-Burnett tripped Roach-Steineman in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. Maxwell's Neal-Ogle also downed Benning's Stuart-Butler, 7-5, 1-16, 6-4.

Personnel Defeats Communications, 13-3

Maj. Bill Brodbeck pitched five-hit ball as Personnel Group blasted Communications, 13-3, last week in Officers Softball League action. Lt. Chris Dubia led the winners' attack with a home run.

Personnel Group banged out 14 hits to five for Commo. Lt. Martin was losing hurler. Other league action was the victim of bad weather.

Strong Field For Net Meet

Lonnie Jordan will be trying to latch onto his third consecutive Officers Mess singles tennis crown, but he'll have a record field to compete against in the renewal of the championship tests April 26 at the O. M. courts.

More than 150 netters are expected to enter the event, according to pro Chuck Evert.

In addition to Jordan, former U. of Alabama ace, other strong entrants are Jim Strain, consolation winner in 1951, Leroy Stanley, singles runnerup in 1950, and Tom Toon, a former nationally ranked player.

Entries also have been filed by DeWitt Smith, former No. one player for U. of Maryland, Jim Burnett, a highly regarded newcomer, Kay Stuart and Tom Rafferty, among the seeded in recent tourneys.

Keg Banquet Up Wednesday

The Infantry Center Officers Bowling League trophy awards dinner dance is slated at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Officers Mess. Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center Commander, will be guest speaker.

Maj. Jean Hollstein's Airborne Department team won the league championship. Members of the winning combination were: Maj. Wallace Olson, Maj. Jack Talleday, Maj. Del Perkins, Maj. Don Bowlers are requested to make reservations for the event through Maj. Joe Hennessee at 3651.

Knight Sweeps All In Pistol Shooting

WOJG Robert Knight, of the weapons department, had a 569 x 600 for grand aggregate honors Sunday in the monthly shoot of the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club. A member of the U. S. Army pistol squad, Knight won .22-cal. aggregate with 286 and center fire aggregate with 283.

Surprising as expert winner was 17-year old Roger Swindler firing in his first pistol competition. The son of Benning's noted Col. Perry Swindler, he won expert grand aggregate with 468.

MARION BACK

Marty Marion, 34-year old "Mr. Shortstop," has launched his bid to make a comeback with the St. Louis Browns. Marty, who managed the Cardinals last year and played little, last saw action in 1950 when he was plagued by a bad knee.

College Sports Caravan

By Armed Forces Press Service

When more than 200 college swimmers invaded its campus last week Princeton University became an "Olympic Village." The 39th annual N.C.A.A. swimming championships attracted 61 college and university teams in a preview of the 1952 games. Three of the mermen will compete against the U. S. this summer: Iowa's Ross Lucas of New Zealand, Graham Johnston (Oklahoma) of South Africa and John Marshall (Yale), of Australia. Oklahoma's swimming coach Joe Glander will be mighty busy at Helsinki's Olympic site this summer. He will train the U. S. swimmers, pentathlonners and water polo ists. North Carolina, Yale and Michigan State started something new last week in college baseball. The three squared off at Chapel Hill, N. C., for a three-day round-robin tourney of double-headers.

Texas' famed relays this month will honor the Longhorns' greatest relay team. The quintet of Harvey Wallender, Bey Rockhold, Charles Gruneisen, Jeff Austin and H. V. Reeves won 10 relay championships in the 30's, eight in record time. Two of the records will remain. Jack Barry, former shortstop for Connie Mack, opened his 32nd year this Spring as diamond coach at Holy Cross with an unbeatable mark. Over the years his teams have won at a percentage of .806 in 608 games.

Two important victories in Penn State's capture of 1952 N.C.A.A. wrestling honors were scored by the Lemyre family. Sophomore Dick won the 130-pound title and brother Joe, a junior, won the 147-pound championship. Florida State retained national laurels for the second straight year in gymnastics competition. Coach Harley Price thereby won his sixth title, two at State and four previously at Illinois.

550th Scores Win, Seeks Title Repeat

As pitcher Charles Gwinn went all the way, the 550th Tank Company last week edged out Company I, 30th Infantry Regiment, 4-3, in a Combat Training Command practice softball game.

Roy Walton and Norman Coyan led the attack, with two for four each. Lawrence Wyse, team captain, chipped in a double. Hugh Schuler caught for the tankers.

Isaac Davis, the losing pitcher, was relieved in the seventh inning by Lawrence Buford. Milton Mixon caught.

Title Again

Led by nine veterans of last year's championship team, the 550th looks like the team to beat in the 1952 tussle for the CTC crown.

Charles Watson, who pitched all seven of the tankers' victories in 1951, again will be the mound mainstay.

Norman Coyan and Jack Castle, last season's top hitters for the 550th, are back on deck with good prospects for living up to the .375 to .400 pace they set in '51, when the tankers lost only one game.

Other returnees are Norman Audretch and Chester Weathers, outfield; Perry Lawson, third base; Roy Walton, second base; and Hugh Schuler, catcher. Filling in with the veterans are Benton Taylor, third base; Paul Ford and Rolland Poulson, outfield; and Eljay Gary, pitcher. Team captain Lawrence Wyse will play shortstop.

Cards Launch Home Slate

The Columbus Cardinals, who closed out their spring training with a bang after a slow start, open their 1952 home season at 8 p.m. Friday night against the Montgomery Grays at Golden Park.

Montgomery won the class A Sally League pennant last year and will invade Columbus with most of their championship squad intact.

Skipper Sheldon Bender yesterday named righthander Bob Keree to start on the mound for the Cardinals tomorrow night. Keree was one of the team's most effective hurlers last season although he had only an 8-6 record.

Heavy Hitting

The Cards biggest feat of the season was a victory over Rochester, N. Y., of the triple A International League. They gave a demonstration of their batting potential Sunday in downing Des Moines, 16-3.

Parade Starts Little League

Fort Benning's Dougboy Little League will swing into action May 1 with all the trimmings of a major league opening.

The eight-to-twelve year old post diamond stars will participate in a Greater Columbus Little League parade down Broadway in town at 4 p.m. May 1.

They will be back at the post to play their first double header of the season at 6 p.m. at the new ball field on Ingersoll St. just behind the WAC Detachment area. Complete lighting facilities and bleacher seats have been erected at the field.

Opening Tilts

Meeting in the opening game will be the Rams against the Raiders and the Commanders against the Flyers, according to the schedule released by M-Sgt. Ray Tousignant, league president.

Twin bills will be played each Tuesday and Thursday evenings during the season. Present plans call for the Little Leaguers to meet their coaches at 3 p.m. May 1 at the playing field to assemble for the parade downtown.

The complete Little League schedule:

May 1 — Rams vs. Raiders and Commanders vs. Flyers.
May 6 — Commanders vs. Rams and Raiders vs. Raiders.
May 8 — Flyers vs. Rams and Commanders vs. Raiders.
May 13 — Raiders vs. Flyers and Rams vs. Commanders.
May 15 — Flyers vs. Commanders and Raiders vs. Rams.
May 20 — Raiders vs. Commanders and Rams vs. Flyers.
May 22 — Flyers vs. Commanders and Raiders vs. Rams.
May 27 — Commanders vs. Flyers and Rams vs. Raiders.
May 29 — Rams vs. Flyers and Raiders vs. Commanders.

PERFIDIA (Pianist Ben Light with instrumental accompaniment on Capitol) Featured in the RKO motion picture by the same name, Perfidia has been the subject of numerous vocal arrangements. Light and his side-men treat the tune with a rythmic Cuban flavor which sets it apart from most of the vocal arrangements. On the reverse side, the same aggregation does "Mistakes." The selections are on Capitol platter No. 2023.

TEDD SWELL (Lester Young and his orchestra on Mercury) This old Rogers and Hart standby has grown to be practically a modern classic. Tenor saxman Lester Young leads throughout the arrangement. Flip side is "Let's Fall In Love." Both are Mercury record No. 8363.

I HEAR A RHAPSODY (Dennis Day on RCA-Victor) The naive young man on the Jack Benny program has turned out another pleasing song with this arrangement of the old songs that are creeping back into popularity. Dennis is joined on this one by the Arcadians with a full orchestra backing them up. Reverse side is "Mistakes," both on RCA-Victor No. 20-4560.

BROADWAY (The Flip Phillips quintet on Mercury) People who are unfamiliar with the work of Flip, and his boys may get a shock when they first hear this one. But those of you who like Stan Kenton, George Shearing and Norman Granz, will want to hear it at any rate. Granz and Phillips collaborated on this and the flip side, "Apple Honey," on Mercury label No. 8360.

CAPT. FINOCCHI LT. MALTESE

Two Italian Officers Take Airborne Training Here

Two veteran paratrooper officers of the Italian Army are the latest representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries to attend the Airborne Department of the Infantry School.

They have finished their airborne training and are currently taking the Pathfinder Refresher course.

Captain Finocchi entered the Italian Army in 1937, was commissioned in 1939 and in 1941 volunteered for jump school at Tarquina, suburb of Rome.

Lieutenant Maltese received his commission in 1941 and attended the parachute school in 1942.

According to the two officers, their airborne basic started with a nerve-wracking first day. First, all trainees were taken up in a plane and made to look down at the ground several thousand feet below. The next training step was jumping from a 36 foot tower into a net.

Italian paratrooper training lasted 40 days but only the morning sessions were devoted to jumping instructions. Afternoons were spent taking combat Infantry training. Classes averaged 200 students.

Captain Finocchi pointed out that "One of the greatest confidence facts that the American Airborne has is the reserve chute. Both the British and ourselves jump without a reserve".

Both officers are Italian paratrooper veteran of the African campaigns where they were captured by the British.

Captain Finocchi has a total of 21 jumps and Lieutenant Maltese has 16. They pointed out that officers and enlisted men receive the same hazard pay and are required to make a minimum of six jumps a year.

Candidate Company Poll Shows Variety of Homes

A poll conducted in the 18th Officer Candidate Company, First OC Regiment, indicates that the class has representatives from 32 states, District of Columbia, and the territories of Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska and Canada.

Equally represented are 36 colleges and universities, including some in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Germany.

Post Sergeant Retires After Serving 24 Continuous Years

Sergeant C. W. Bittner, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, First Student Regiment, has retired after completing 24 years continuous active service.

He was presented a certificate of discharge by Col. K. D. Macomber, commanding officer of the First Student Regiment.

Asked how he felt after spending 24 years in the Army, Sergeant Bittner replied, "I enjoyed every minute of it, and would do the same thing again if I had the opportunity."

Sergeant Bittner enlisted at Newark, N.J. and served his first tour of duty at Fort Du Pont, Del. He served in various posts throughout the states and also a tour in Hawaii prior to World War II.

Following World War II he served five years occupation duty in the European Command to "take it easy."

Ex-TV Producer Now OC at Post

A former producer of nation-wide radio and television shows is now putting his know-how and knowledge to work to become an officer in the U.S. Army.

He is Officer Candidate Arnold Morrison, 29th Officer Candidate Company. Before entering the service, he worked as a writer, director and producer for the Mutual Broadcasting System and the Columbia Broadcasting System Television Network in Hollywood.

His shows at CBS included "Peter Potters Platter Parade," "Backstage With WTRY," and "Women Are Wonderful." While with MBS, he acted in several capacities on "Queen for a Day," "The Jack Kirkwood Show," "Song of Liberty," "Count of Monte Cristo," "Straight Arrow," and "What's the Name of That Song?"

Candidate Morrison graduated from the University of Utah before going to work for MBS and CBS.

Aggie Muster Meets April 21

Alumni of Texas A and M College who live in the Columbus area will gather at the Fort Benning Country Club 7:30 p.m. April 21 to carry out a tradition that is 49 years old.

The Fort Benning A and M Club Muster will be one of more than 376 similar held all over the world. On this occasion former Aggies pay tribute to those who have passed on, and to those Texans who won their freedom at the Battle of San Jacinto near Houston, 116 years ago.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Infantry Center commander, will be guest speaker at the Muster. Reservations for the dinner may be made with Capt. Edmund G. Thompson, Weapons Dept. The Infantry School, by calling Fort Benning 3294 or Columbus 31044.

Army Designs New Insulation For Footgear

By Armed Forces Press Service

An Army doesn't travel on its stomach but on its feet. Ask any infantryman if you're in doubt.

Because of the wear an infantryman gives his combat boots the Army has designed a new type of synthetic rubber insulation for its cold weather footgear, which insures protection even if the outer layer is punctured or torn.

The new insulation substitutes a unicellular synthetic rubber for the wool fleece and felt previously used. With the old type of insulation it was necessary to patch holes that developed immediately to prevent the wool from becoming wet and losing its insulation value. The layer of synthetic rubber resists penetration by water and makes it unnecessary to patch the boot immediately.

The new insulation is in the experimental stage and will not be standardized for general issue until extensive field testing has been completed.

VA Dividends Set For All By August

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—Carl R. Gray, Veterans Administration head, has assured Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett that servicemen will receive their 1951 special NSLI dividend some time before Aug. 1, 1952.

The VA head also requested that further inquiries regarding the special dividend be withheld until after July 1, 1952. An estimated 1,333,000 dividends still remain to be processed.

Benning Master Sergeant Rises From Lowest Grade in 10 Mo.

The story of M-Sgt. Johnnie E. Washington is one that is seldom equalled in the Army. He rose from the lowest enlisted rank to the highest in 10 months.

Inducted in October, 1950, he began his sudden spring to the top the following April. He was promoted to corporal that month, and successive promotions came almost once a month until August, when he was upped to master sergeant.

Now assigned to Company L, 30th Infantry Regiment, he made his climb while fighting with the Second Infantry Division in Korea. He served in Korea for exactly a year — from Dec. 3, 1950, to Dec. 3, 1951.

OC Regiment Parades Here

More than 3,000 officer candidates last Sunday paraded in the first full dress review staged here since the reopening of the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

Approximately 5,000 spectators witnessed the review at French Field.

Four Korean war heroes were presented medals prior to the review by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander.

Silver Star Medals went to Major Donald C. McGraw, regimental legal officer, 1st Lt. Hershel E. Chapman, tactical officer of the Third Officer Candidate Company, and 1st Lt. George A. Millener, Jr., S-3 of the Fourth Officer Candidate Battalion.

Col. George A. Millener, head of The Infantry School's Weapons Department presented the Silver Star to his son, Lt. Millener, General Meloy made the other presentations.

Dutch Officers Visiting Post

Three top ranking officers of the Royal Netherlands Army are visiting The Infantry Center. They arrived Tuesday.

Lt. Gen. Adrianus Opsomer, First Corps commander, Maj. Gen. Johannes G. Warringa, Second Infantry Divison commander, and Brig. Gen. J. J. Mariet, inspector of signals, will study U. S. Infantry school activities here with special emphasis on communication.

During the visit they will tour Infantry School departments to see communications, automotive, airborne and Ranger training. They also watched students practicing firing on post ranges and receive orientation on the post's non-academic functions.

Other points on the visitors' itinerary included the Infantry School, Operations Section Army Extension Course and Training Publications Departments, Post Exchange and Commissary.

Before leaving tomorrow they will visit the Infantry Officer Candidate School and the Third Army Area Food Service School.

Citizens-Military Group Works To Solve Post, City Problems

Teamwork pays off—at least it does as far as the 32 members of the Citizens - Military Council are concerned.

This group, composed of officials and civic leaders of Columbus, Ga., and Phenix City, Ala., and Infantry Center officials, solves problems that arise between the civilian and military communities.

Since Fort Benning was established in 1918, a question of primary concern to post commanders has been the continued friendly relationship between the Army and the two cities.

It was not until 1946, however, that an organization designed to air problems and work out solutions was formed. The War Department at that time directed that military councils be appointed to meet with civilian leaders

(See Councils, Page 9)

The first meeting of the newly formed organization was held here Oct. 17, 1946, Maj. Gen. John W. Daniel, then commanding general, served as host.

In his opening address, General O'Daniel summed up the purpose of the Citizens - Military Council when he said:

"The object of these meetings will be to see that the good relations which now exist between Fort Benning and surrounding communities will continue and be improved as they need improving."

Purpose of the council, as set forth in its Constitution, is to settle difficulties which arise due to either post military or civilian policies and to improve community relations.

TOP OCS GRADUATE'S MOTHER PINS ON GOLD BAR

Gen. Meloy Speaks At OC Graduation

"If you want to get a lift in morale and spirit go up front and see the man in the foxhole," Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., told 115 new second lieutenants here last Monday.

Gen. Meloy, Infantry Center commander, who spoke at graduation exercises for Infantry officer candidate class No. 11-A, said:

"To me the most priceless article on the battlefield is the Infantry soldier."

The former commander of the 19th Infantry Regiment in Korea added that "the soldier today is intelligent and must be led intelligently.

"There is no finer job in the Army than the Infantry leader and there is no bigger challenge."

Gen. Meloy urged the new officers to learn to use their eyes.

"You must learn to recognize good and bad performances when you see them. Be critically observant. Know when to criticize and, equally, when to deliver a pat on the back," he said.

He told the group that questionnaires had been submitted to previous graduates of the Infantry Officer Candidate School here and also to their commanding officers. The results of this survey have indicated that the course more than adequately trains the new officers for new jobs and responsibilities they are to assume, he said.

Distinguished and honor graduate was Girard S. Brewer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Brewer of 6683 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, Calif. Lt Brewer's next assignment will be with the 95th Infantry Battalion at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Pay Hike Vote May Come Soon

Wire service reports from Washington this week indicate a possible bright spot on the service pay horizon.

It was reported that the Korean combat pay issue may be ironed out in a Joint Senate-House conference which began meeting yesterday.

Meanwhile, proposals for a general pay raise for service personnel have been tied up by debate on questions of hazard pay and bonuses, according to reports from Washington, and it appears that final action on the cost of living pay boosts proposed in the Congress may be deferred until after 15 May.

Non-College Officers Urged To Enroll Now

All Regular Army officers who are not college graduates are being urged to report to the Army Education Center in Building 2512 for an interview for registration under the special college program for officers.

All interviews should be made before May 16.

Assigned officers other than Regular Army who are not college graduates and would like to participate in the program may consult the information and education officer for opportunities for educational advancement.

VA Discontinues Premium Receipts

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Policy-holders of U. S. Government Life Insurance and of National Service Life Insurance will not receive receipts for insurance premiums becoming due on or after August 1, 1952, the Veterans Administration announces.

Those who wish to maintain a record of their premium payments are advised to make payments by check or postal money order and to keep the cancelled checks or postal money order stubs as evidence of such payments.

However, the VA will continue to maintain the official record of premium payments for the protection of policyholders.

Extension Set For 125,000

Non-Extended Men Affected If Time Ends After July 1

An estimated 125,000 armed forces volunteers whose regular terms of enlistment were due to expire in the year starting July 1, have been frozen in the service for a nine-month period.

The extension applies to Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine volunteers but does not cover selective service registrants who enlisted for 24 months instead of waiting for induction. It does not affect personnel whose enlistments have been previously extended.

According to the Defense Department, the extension was provided in an executive order which President Truman signed last Friday.

The 125,000 troops affected are a small portion of the total armed forces strength of some 3,700,000. The Defense Department gave the extension breakdown as follows: Army 60,500; Navy, 35,000; Air Force, 25,000; and Marines, 4,500.

Defense Department said in a statement that the step was taken reluctantly and "that not all (affected) men would be required to serve the full period of extension and that no man would be kept on duty any longer than absolutely necessary."

All components of the armed services, including the reserves and the National Guard, whether the men are on active duty or not, are to be affected by the extension.

However, the extension does not change the authorized tour of duty of reservists and guardsmen and there is no change in the existing programs for separ-

Troopers Return From 'Long Horn' Maneuver Stint

Some 3,200 paratroopers of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team have returned here after a month's absence during which they took part in Exercise Long Horn, Army-Air Force maneuvers in central Texas.

In a scene reminiscent of a welcome to victorious troops returning from war, families of the men of the 508th stood anxiously by the roadside, frantically trying to catch a glimpse of "their man." The anxiety was present because some 232 of the 508th troopers had been injured when 3,090 of the Red Devils had jumped during strong winds to pull off a successful airborne operation, climax of the maneuvers.

Several Red Devils sported leg and arm casts, and many an ugly bruise was hidden by the green herring bone twill fatigue uniforms as the convoys rolled-ed by. Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., the Infantry Center commander, and Col. Joe S. Lawrie 508th commander.

The troopers were caught with their mouths open in surprise as they returned home to the strain of string music by the 50-piece 122nd Army Band, led by Sfc. Coleman R. Binyon. As one trooper, too young to remember what the end of World War II was like remarked:

"Gosh, if they welcome us like this just for being on maneuvers, what'll it be like when we return from combat?"

The First Lady of the 508th—Mrs. Lawrie—also was present to greet the returning troopers

License Needed By Teen-Agers

The provost marshal's office has issued a reminder regarding the licensing of teen-age drivers on the post.

Post traffic regulations provide that operator's permits will be issued subject to the same restrictions and limitations as those issued by the state.

The minimum license age is 16, but special learner's permits may be issued to 15-year-olds. Holders of these special learners permits must be accompanied by a licensed driver while operating a vehicle.

Maj. Walter H. de Cristoforo, assistant provost marshal, said that this headquarters considers it the parent's responsibility to see that their children do not operate vehicles on the post unless they are properly licensed.

Private Auto Operators Must Re-Register Their Cars

Personnel who operate private vehicles on the post must re-register their cars between May 1 and June 15, according to an announcement made last week.

All military personnel except those with the new, raised-letter license plates, must re-register their automobiles. Civilians using the red tag will not have to re-register their cars at this time.

Before a car can be registered, it must be inspected to see that it meets the mechanical standards required. The inspection may be obtained at the Post Exchange Garage for 25 cents. During the re-registration period, the inspection station will be set up on Edwards Street adjacent to Post Exchange No. 2 and will operate from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

After the mechanical inspection, drivers will obtain a driving permit and complete registration of the car in the provost marshal's office.

Before reporting to the inspection station, drivers should complete an application form, which may be obtained through unit orderly rooms.

In order to prevent congestion at the inspection and registration points, schedules by units will be posted periodically in the Daily Bulletin. It is estimated that 260 vehicles per day can be processed.

Major unit commanders are responsible that members of their command be re-registered within the time limits.

Registration tags will be 76 cents a pair, and will be mounted by the individual owner above or below the state license plates in such a way that none of the lettered or numbered portion of either plate be obscured.

The plates are non-transferable, and will be retained by the individual concerned until departure from Fort Benning on permanent change of station orders, or change of ownership of the registered vehicle. Loss of plates must be reported to the provost marshal within 24 hours.

Lockheed Corporation Host To Allied Student Groups

Allied officers attending The Infantry School here have been taking busmen's holidays in Atlanta and loving it.

So far, four groups of military men from across the seas have been guests of the Marietta division of Lockheed Corporation on all-inclusive sightseeing tours of Civil War battlefields and historical landmarks.

And the visitors have been enjoying every minute of it. Scrambling over the battle-ground at Kennesaw Mountain they have listened avidly to descriptions of the action by their tour guide, asking eagerly: "Who stood where, what tactics were used, what did they wear and what did they eat, and how did it all turn out?"

B. C. Yates who is in charge of the park has kept his inquisitive guests amazed at his vast store of historical knowledge.

Nine different countries were represented in the most recent party. The men, all members of The Infantry School's Advanced Course No. 2, were from Colombia, Denmark, Iran, Italy, Mexico, Philippine Islands, Portugal, Spain and El Salvador.

By Bus

The group, 15 strong, traveled by bus to Atlanta. They saw Georgia's fruit trees in bloom and the many white-columned Southern mansions lining the highways.

After lunch at Fort McPherson, the Allied officers went to Grant Park to see the Cyclorama. Several expressed a desire to shoot pictures of the huge painting to take home as souvenirs. But since cameras are not permitted within the building they contended themselves with snapshots of one another posing on the steps outside.

The sole complaint was that there was not quite enough time to see everything. Several said they were planning to return to Atlanta for another look at the Cyclorama before returning to their homelands.

That evening most of the students sampled American big city night life.

Quiz

Southern hospitality was at its best and many of the officers soon were seated at nearby tables answering questions about their homelands and telling their new friends about their exciting experiences in the United States.

After spending the night at Fort McPherson, the group, accompanied by James H. Dornburg, Lockheed director of economic research, visited Kennesaw Battle Park. They later toured Marietta, to see ante-bellum houses that were used for hospitals, Army headquarters and similar purposes during the War Between The States.

Back at the Lockheed factory in Marietta, the Allied visitors were joined by corporation officials for lunch. They spent several hours touring the plant and receiving orientation on aircraft development in the United States. Each officer was given an embossed cigarette lighter and a selection of colored aircraft pictures as a souvenir of his visit.

2 Chinese Majors First In U.S. School in 5 Years

The first representatives of the Chinese Nationalist Army to be enrolled in any United States Army military school in five years are at Fort Benning's Infantry Center.

Major Chi-Shei Chien and Major Ki-Chang Chu are members of a 144 Officer group studying as Infantry Officers Associate Advance Class number five, located at the twenty-fourth Company, 1st Student Regiment.

The two youthful Majors gained their assignments through competitive examinations conducted on Formosa. As Chiang's representatives, they have completed their fifth week of studying concentrated staff subjects. Despite language difficulties the two officers have adapted themselves to their allied classmates' habits and routine in an admirable fashion. Both are seeing America for the first time and are enthusiastic in their praise of the Infantry and its methods.

When queried as to what aspect of the American way of life was most surprising to them, the two officers came up with identical answers. Automobiles proved to be the great source of amazement. After that in close order came ice water and the abundance of bright lights. "Everybody rides, I mean everybody," were Major Chien's puzzled words.

Major Chu confessed that it was very easy to develop a partiality for the iced tea. He was a bit concerned about what might happen to this change of taste when he returned to Formosa.

Both officers are equally generous in their praise for the friendliness of their American allies. "It makes our task much easier," was the way Major Chien put it. With some ten weeks remaining in their course, the Chinese officers are looking forward to a continuing unfoldment of the latest in military procedures to take back with them to Formosa.

Civilian Saves Nation Money

A Civil Service worker here saves the government approximately $124.15 a month by proper utilization of electric light bulbs.

J. V. Danford, of Columbus, superintendent of the Engineer's Memorandum Receipt Section, says 8,354 bulbs on an average are returned to engineer warehouses each month for inspection. Usable bulbs are re-installed, and approximately 955 bulbs which cost 13 cents each are salvaged monthly.

A study of post buildings to determine the exact bulb wattage for each room also is made periodically, Mr. Danford reported.

"If a room needs only a 50-watt bulb, we use a 50-watt bulb," Mr. Danford stated—"not a 100-watt bulb.

Medical Corps Captain Wins Distinguished Flying Cross

The Distinguished Flying Cross, a coveted medal even for the men who fly the bombers and jets of the Air Force, is more of a rarity when worn by a member of the Army Medical Corps.

But on Capt. Burgess Smith, currently stationed at the Army Hospital here, it looks good. Captain Smith has a solid claim to the honor, even though he has heard of only one other Army doctor who has been awarded the DFC, Brig. Gen. Crawford Sams.

Captain Smith won the DFC along with a Bronze Star Medal when he went along on a helicopter mission to help rescue wounded from a unit surrounded by Communist guerrillas.

He explains it this way:

"We had a group of helicopters operating from our hospital which shuttled to the front lines and evacuated the more seriously wounded. I went along on a mission to get some boys out of an encirclement. Our helicopter developed mechanical trouble and we were stuck.

"Two Navy Corsairs fought off the guerrillas for 24-hours until rescue helicopters could come and get us. Our helicopter had 17 bullet holes picked up from ground fire on our way in for the wounded. We didn't even realize we were under fire."

Close Call

Captain Smith still has a mortar fragment he picked out of his clothes, a souvenir of a close call.

The 26-year-old doctor was actually AWOL when he made his dangerous trip into enemy lines to rescue dying Americans. "While I had the permission of my commanding officer, that kind of thing is not quite in line with existing regulations," he explained.

Captain Smith arrived in Korea a month after the North Koreans broke across the 38th parallel. And he left the U. S. on short notice.

He finished his internship at Reading Hospital in Reading, Pa., at 8 o'clock one morning and received orders at 10 o'clock from the surgeon general to report to Camp Stoneman, Calif., immediately. Stoneman is the Army's last stateside stop for Far East bound personnel.

A native of Hanburg, Pa., Capt. Smith has been on active service for almost two years, including 13 months in Korea with the 8076th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital.

He thinks more lives have been saved by helicopter evacuation and the use of whole blood than by any other factor.

He should know, after a personal trip to bring back 25.

Woman's Club Plans Annual May Breakfast

Mrs. Daniel H. Hundley will be installed as president of the Fort Benning Women's Club at the May Breakfast at the Officers' Mess May 5. She will replace the incumbent, Mrs. George A. Millener, Sr.

The Breakfast, an annual affair of the club, will be the final meeting of the current season. The decorations for the party will feature the May Festival theme.

The other officers being installed with Mrs. Hundley are Mrs. George E. Bush, first vice president; Mrs. Willard W. Morris, second vice president; Mrs. Richard J. Seitz, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell J. Yeter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles V. McLaughlin, treasurer, and Mrs. J. H. Reynolds, auditor.

In charge of the arrangements for the breakfast are Mrs. Harry M. Grizzard, program chairman; Mrs. James P. Thames, chairman of invitations; Mrs. Sevier R. Tupper, house chairman; Mrs. Robert C. Kimker, decorations chairman; Mrs. Daniel H. Hundley, hospitality chairman, and the members of the hospitality committee, Mrs. Charles H. Owens, Mrs. William A. Duncan, Mrs. Perry D. Swinder, Mrs. William J. Eyerly, Mrs. Allen L. Leonard, Mrs. Shepherd A. Booth, Mrs. George A. Millener Jr., Mrs. Sam S. Walker, Mrs. Alvin F. Futrell, Mrs. Thomas G. McCunniff, and Mrs. Albert M. Leavitt.

Reservations for the breakfast may be made by calling Mrs. Harry M. Grizzard at Fort Benning 2153 not later than noon Saturday, May 3. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. following a pregathering in the Corregidor room. The charge will be $1.10 per person.

All Fort Benning officers' wives and guests are invited to attend.

Library Tells Concert Plans

The following record concert will be presented at the Main Post Library on Tuesday, April 29 at 8 p.m.

HS Girls Visit Post Hospital

High school girls of Columbus and Phenix City were entertained Saturday at an open house in the physiotherapy and occupational therapy wards at the U. S. Army Hospital here.

The open house was part of the hospital's celebration of the fifth anniversary of the Women's Medical Specialist Corps.

Major Christine Eilers, chief of the Physiotherapy Section, Major Irma Lord, chief dietician, and Capt. Doris Crowser, chief of the Occupational Therapy Section, explained WMSC's mission to the school girls.

The Women's Medical Specialist Corps, one of the youngest components of the Army Medical Service, became a unified part of the Regular Army Medical Corps April 16, 1947. The Dieticians Service, formerly a separate group, dates its service back to the Spanish American war. Physiotherapy was first used by the Army in World War II.

Little Theater Thespians' 'The Women' Scores Hit

BY SFC. PAT MURPHY

Fort Benning's Little Theater group effortlessly dashed off another two-hour smash Broadway play Thursday and Friday night and it looks as though the small amateur playhouse is in business to stay.

The 650 persons who laughed, chortled and wept joyously through last week's show — "The Women"—watched an all female cast do creditable emoting on one of Broadway's favorite stage pieces.

Clare Booth Luce's play was the second comedy the Little Theater has produced at Fort Benning. Ruth Gordon's "Over 21" drew a two-night record crowd last month.

24-Women Cast

Director Mrs. Albert M. Leavitt's 24-women cast had the stage confidence and professional enthusiasm rarely found in small, Let's-Put-On-a-Play Girls groups.

"The Women" is the ludicrously realistic social story of a man who leaves his wife or another woman. In this story, Mary Haines is the disconsolate spouse played effectively by Mrs. Maj. John P. Heard.

In the story, Mary Haines is led to divorce because of her lady friends' gossip, but learning from their examples of snidery and tittering across the fence prattling gives her the sophistication to win Stephen Haines back.

Louds Mrs. Heard

Mrs. John P. Heard's star role performance was excellent. She realistically characterized the faithful, believing wife who suddenly is struck with marital disaster, reels under its effects, and then attains reconciliation in a Once-Upon-A-Time happy ending.

Never did the show lose pace, spontaneity or continuity. Only during the first scene, when the cast was warming the audience and nerving themselves, too—did one of the players stumble on a line.

Miss Bunny Bennett, as the daughter of Col. H. L. Bennett maid Jane, one of the play's star characters. Even her walk-on spots were good. In the long-speech stretches, Miss Bennett used a Irish brogue and some of the show's best lines to evoke laughter.

Others Score

Rosanne McQuarrie, wife of Capt. Claude M. McQuarrie, playing the snide, ever-gossiping Sylvia, was another of the show's hits. Mrs. S. Fred Cummings, Lyn S. Faulkner, and C. K. Josey scored well as members of the close circle of gossips which undermined Mary Haines' marriage.

Mrs. Richard J. Seitz characterized perhaps the show' funniest character, that of Lucy, an ironjawed bow-legged boomingvoiced female cowpoke who acted as maid and bodyguard to the gals getting Reno-vated.

The show's stage set, simple and attractive, was designed by Pfc. Robert Briggs.

JCOC Visitors Write Praise

Few people who visit The Infantry Center ever forget seeing the might of the World's Most Complete Army post. The business, professional, and military leaders who were part of the Twelfth Joint Civilian Orientation Conference that visited Benning during the first week in April were no exception.

The following passages are typical of the many received here since the conference ended.

A portion of a letter by Rear Admiral E. R. McLean, Jr., U. S. Navy, Acting Commandant AFSC, Norfolk, Va., said:

"All of us were impressed not only by the excellence of each exercise but by the enthusiasm displayed by the participants. It was unfortunate that the weather prevented the entire program from being presented; however, both the faculty and the members of the student body returned with an expanded appreciation of the basic problems of the Infantry."

"The comfortable housing; excellent mess, efficient administration and recreation facilities provided during our stay inspired much favorable comment from the members of our party."

And Harold Boeschenstein, President, Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., Toledo, Ohio, writes, in part:

"I was particularly impressed with the quality of your training program and the attitude and competence of your young officers, both commissioned and non-commissioned, with whom I came in contact. This is reflected in the spirit of pride, new to me, which was so evident in the Infantrymen we talked with and saw in action. I am proud of my designation as an Honorary Doughboy."

Be Careful of Poisonous Plants

Each spring and summer numerous people, through carelessness or ignorance, suffer from contact with poisonous plants. It is painful and uncomfortable to the individual, and it causes uncounted lost man-hours each year. By exercising a little common sense and precaution, most people can avoid poison plants.

The three most common plants, all found in this area, include poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac. Poison ivy is the most common. It is a creeping, clinging vine that covers the ground in dense areas, growing most luxuriantly about fences, and around rock piles. It clings to the trunks of trees, but usually only grows about six feet high. The leaves are shiny green, fairly thick, and usually occur in clusters of three. Usually by mid-summer and always by late summer greenish-gray berries are found on the vines.

Poison oak grows principally in the western states, but is sometimes found in this area. It is quite similar to poison ivy in effect. Poison oak leaves are thick, dull green in color and shaped like an oak tree leaf. The leaves generally grow in clusters of three, sometimes in five.

Poison sumac is a shrub that grows in swampy places. The leaves are thin, dull, long and oval-shaped, and produces a berry somewhat like the poison ivy berry.

Learn to recognize these plants; then avoid them at all costs. All these plants produce an inflammation which usually begins on the backs of fingers, between fingers, and on the wrists and eyelids. The first lesions may appear on the ankles or other parts of the body which have been exposed through the clothing. The inflammation is readily transmitted by the fingers from one part of the body to another.

In selecting camp sites, care should be taken to avoid areas where these plants grow thickly. If you have to work in an area where these plants are found, wear protective gloves and clothing. All clothes, tools and other equipment should be washed in strong soap and water after being used around the plants.

When exposure has occurred, all parts should be thoroughly and repeatedly washed at the earliest practical time. Early washing of the hands with 70 per cent alcohol solution will abort severe reactions. If the dermatitis sets in with intense itching, burning and blistering of the skin, consult a medical officer at once.

But remember that the best cure is prevention. Watch where you're going and avoid these poison plants. And keep in mind the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Prisoners Riot in New Jersey and Michigan

The rioting prisoners in New Jersey and Michigan prisons were top billing in the nation's newspapers this week.

The uprisings began in New Jersey several weeks ago when convicts seized a wing in the Trenton Prison. They were rebelling because of alleged mistreatment by prison officials. Meanwhile, in Jackson, Mich., 170 of the toughest prisoners in Southern Michigan Prison were holed up in a disciplinary block where all were sent for breaches of prison rules. One convict has been slain and at least nine wounded as state troopers and guards quelled part of the wild rioting.

The prisoners were still holding 11 guards as hostages. The prisoners have threatened authorities by saying "If you hurt anyone, we'll cut off one of the screw's (guard's) heads and throw it out to you." The prisoners have been wrecking and burning the block, and prison authorities have estimated the damage as high as $2,000,000.

Along the swollen Missouri river, dike crews strained to hold their own this week in a battle against mud and flood. Rain softened the dikes where men and trucks skidded and slithered through the mud. More showers were forecast, but the army of flood fighters seemed to be winning the battle.

In the danger area below St. Joseph, Mo., no heavy general rain was in sight, but the weather map was full of uncertain spring showers. Along the upper Mississippi, three more Iowa National Guard units were called out to help seven others already on duty. One hundred ten trusties got to dry land safely after a break in the dike flooded the last 1,300 acres of the Kansas State Prison farm near Leavenworth, Kansas.

The prison warden estimated the crop damage at $150,000. In Missouri, Governor Forrest Smith said he would ask President Truman to declare his home state a flood disaster area for the second time in less than a year, clearing the way for an allotment of emergency flood funds.

Three hundred invited guests were slated to see an atomic bomb explosion in the sandy wastes of Nevada Tuesday—the highest and possibly the biggest bomb ever set off inside the United States. The explosion was also slated to be televised, the first time such an undertaking has been attempted.

The bomb, one of a growing family of aerial bombs, will burst between 3,000 and 3,500 feet above the desert floor. The director of the test said the bomb "will be exploded higher in the air than any other we have set off any place." An Air Force B-50 bomber was an altitude of 30,000 feet over Yucca Flat, Nevada.

Recent Popes Agree on Ills of World

BY CHAPLAIN (LT. COL.) S. W. KANE

If we are to help the world back to its feet, we must know what is the matter with it. Recent popes have all agreed on the diagnosis of its ills. Enough, therefore, to cite the present Holy Father, Pius XII.

"Before all else, it is certain that the radical and ultimate basis of the evils which we deplore in modern society is the denial and rejection of a universal norm of morality as well in individual and social life as in international relations; We mean the disregard, so common nowadays, and the forgetfulness of the natural law itself, which has its foundation in God, Almighty Creator and Father of all, supreme and absolute Lawgiver, and Just Judge of human actions."

What the Pope is saying here is that disorder plagues the world because people are making their own moral standards. Think about it for a moment and you will see how true this is. What trivial pretexts are adduced as reasons to justify any kind of conduct! Expediency rather than principle is the norm. For some people, might makes right. Appeals are made to self-interest, to reasons to state, or to "what I do is my own business." In varied forms people dress up their conduct with a veneer of rationalization that tries to hide the fact that they are determined to do as they please. And when people and nations are determined to do what they please, there can't be orderly human relations.

In former ages, with all their sins and miseries, people at least realized when they were doing wrong. The conviction that men were subject to God's laws was a restraint on unbridled license and provided a basis on which to erect tolerable human relations. When people sinned they recognized their sin, and in that knowledge lay the hope of repentance and forgiveness. When everybody admitted a common standard of morality, a sin was called a sin.

Today, with conflicting standards of morality, the sinner poses as saint and curses the saint as though he were a devil.

SKIRTS AHOY! — Esther Williams, Barry Sullivan, Vivian Blaine. While any resemblance between life in the WAVES as shown in this light musical and the real thing is purely coincidental, the requirements for an entertaining program are successfully provided. Family.

WILD STALLION — Ben Johnson and Barbara Woodell. The life of a young boy and his pet colt are followed as they both grow up and serve in the U. S. cavalry in the old favorite days. Family.

CARBINE WILLIAMS — James Stewart, Wendell Corey, Jean Hagen, David Marshall. Williams was caught in a rabbit trap in Korea and was accused of collaborating with the enemy. He was sentenced to prison where he made a model of a new light weight rifle using a fence post, tractor axel and file. Today he holds sixty three basic U. S. patents, the most important of which is for the first carbine to be adopted by the U. S. Army in forty years. Family.

GO FOR BROKE (REVIVAL) Van Johnson, Warner Anderson. Told with blunt realism, relieved by grim humor and intelligently devised, the war story deals with the exploits of the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, a unit composed of Japanese - Americans who volunteered for military service and fought in Italy. Family.

HAS ANYBODY SEEN MY GAL? — Piper Laurie, Charles Coburn, Gigi Perreau. An irascible multimillionaire decides to leave his wealth to the family of his old girl friend. As a test he gives them $100,000. Instead of making them happy the results nearly wreck the family.

TRANSPORTATION CORPS: RESPONSIBILITIES, ORGANIZATION AND OPERATIONS (Government Printing Office, $3.25)

This is part of a sub-series of books under the Army's official narrative, "The U. S. Army in World War II," being prepared by the Office of the Army Chief of Military History. This volume was written by Chester Wardlow, who was on the executive staff of Maj. Gen. Charles P. Gross, chief of transportation during the war.

During World War II, the Transportation Corps accomplished the unprecedented task of moving more than 7,200,000 passengers and 126,797,8 7.5 measurement tons to overseas destinations during the 44 months of the war.

Mr. Wardlow points out that there were three main factors in the American formula for victory: industrial production, employment of combat troops and the transportation of weapons, ammunition, food, clothing and other items to the battle front.

The main body of the volume deals with the orientation of the Transportation Corps in July 1945, its operation in the zone of the interior, organizational makeup and its relationship to other transportation agencies, both military and civilian.

The history dips into the background of various ports of embarkation, including New York, Hampton Roads, Va., New Orleans, La., San Francisco, Calif., Seattle, Wash., Los Angeles, Calif., and other field establishments of the Corps.

The author recounts weaknesses as well as successes of the Corps since both, he states, should be taken into account in planning for possible future emergencies.

This is the first of three volumes in the sub-series that will deal with the Transportation Corps.

OC Regiment Holds Review

3,000 Candidates March In First Regimental Parade

ceived a blue streamer indicating it had attained senior status. Each company is awarded a blue streamer when it reaches its 18th week of training. At the time the candidates are granted special privileges and given additional responsibility.

General Meloy was reviewing officer. Also on the reviewing stand were Col. S. R. Tupper, First Student Brigade commander; Col. B. M. Grizzard, First Officer Candidate Regiment commander; Col. J. F. Reed, executive officer for evaluation of the regiment; Lt. Cols. N. Robinson, B. E. Boyd, S. M. Marks, J. B. Lamb, and Major C. M. Akridge.

The regimental and battalion staffs for the parade were composed entirely of officer candidates. The Second Officer Candidate Battalion was the color battalion, and the 34th Officer Candidate Company was color company. Music for the parade was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

DSC

Lt. Palmer was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for action April 10, 1951, in which he was credited as being instrumental in the capture of a vital hill near the Hwachon Reservoir in Korea.

A member of Company I, 23rd Infantry Regiment, he led his platoon in an attack of "fanatically defended enemy positions." When his unit was pinned down by "devastating volume of automatic weapons, small-arms and mortar fire, he personally charged the nearest hostile emplacement with total disregard for his own safety."

Alternately firing his rifle and throwing grenades, he destroyed an enemy machine gun and killed its three-man crew, according to the citation. He then engaged the enemy troops in hand-to-hand combat, killing one with his bayonet and others with rifle fire.

Major McGraw was awarded the Silver Star for action Sept. 7 and 8 near Taegwon-ni, Korea. A member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 35th Infantry, he "continually exposed himself to enemy fire to direct defensive maneuvers against a fierce enemy assault. When his group was nearly encircled by the infiltrating enemy he led the men through hostile blocks and ambush to friendly elements with minimum casualties," according to the citation.

Silver Star

Lieutenant Chapman, who also received the Silver Star, was responsible for saving the lives of a number of his men Feb. 1, 1951, near Chipyong-ni, Korea. He was a member of Headquarters Company, 23rd Infantry Regiment, Second Infantry Division.

When his platoon was dispersed by heavy fire during an attack on a steep, snow-covered peak, he organized his men into a series of firing lines, enabling the entire platoon to withdraw safely to a friendly area.

Lieutenant Millener was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action Nov. 21, 1950, while serving with Company B, 15th Infantry, Third Infantry Division.

He was wounded in the leg by heavy enemy mortar fire while directing the removal of an enemy road block.

"Although exposed to enemy fire, he continued to move to positions along the road organizing his platoon, directing the drivers into their vehicles and getting them turned around. Under covering fire directed by Lt. Millener, some vehicles with wounded aboard were able to withdraw to their battalion areas."

He is the son of Col. and Mrs. George A. Millener, Sr., of Fort Benning.

The student officers in command positions for the parade were chosen because of their outstanding voice and command abilities and military bearing, Officer Candidate School officials said.

OFFICER CANDIDATES EXECUTE "EYES RIGHT" AS THEY PASS IN REVIEW—The Band Plays As OC Company Marches Past Crowd In First Regimental Parade

SENIOR STATUS—Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr. ties the blue streamer denoting senior status on the guidon of the 12th Officer Candidate Company at the First OC Regimental review held last Sunday. It was the first time the entire regiment has paraded together.

THANKS DAD . . Colonel G. A. Millener, chief of The Infantry Center Weapons Department congratulates his son, 1st Lt. G. A. Millener Jr., after presenting him with the Silver Star. The award presentation was made at the First OC Regimental review held at French Field Sunday afternoon.

FOR GALLANTRY . . Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center Commander, congratulates 1st Lt. Richard A. Palmer, tactical officer for the 21st Officer Candidate Company following presentation of the Distinguished Service Cross. Lieutenant Palmer was awarded the nation's second highest decoration for outstanding action in Korea on April 10, 1951.

Advanced Officer Class No. 1 Adopts Destitute Italian Boy

A 10-year old destitute Italian boy has been adopted by members of advanced officer class No. 1.

The boy is Mario Saverio Pizzuto, whose father died on the Russian front in 1942, and whose mother and grandmother have been trying to support the lad on a $15-a-month pension.

He was adopted by the class at the suggestion of Maj. Edwin H. Patterson, a student, through the Foster Parent's Plan for War Children, Inc., commonly known as PLAN. Mario was selected from among the thousands of underprivileged children that PLAN sponsors in Italy, Belgium, England, France Greece and Holland.

Mario, his mother and grandmother live in a one-room-and-kitchen house in the village of Monacilioni. During the crop season, the mother, sometimes supplements her income with a 50-cents a day earning from picking crops.

The only other aid to their life comes from their small garden where they raise greens for their table.

Ultimate objective of the PLAN program is to support the youngster until he is able to care for his family himself. At present he lacks the strength and endurance necessary to play his favorite game, soccer.

According to the PLAN organization, Mario is an obedient, respectful lad who does very well at school, reads a lot, and thinks he would like to be a school master when he grows up.

Capt. McAlister Sat In On Korean Peace Talks

A man who was at the first peace-talk camp set up in Korea is now commanding Company E, Infantry School Detachment. He is Capt. J. H. McAlister, who at the time was serving with Eighth Army Headquarters.

A veteran of nine and a half years Army service, he graduated from officer candidate school here in 1943 and served in the Pacific theater during World War II. He was ordered to Korea shortly after hostilities broke out in 1950 and assigned to Eighth Army.

"I was just lucky, I guess," he said. "I happened to be at the right place at the right time, and of course our Eighth Army personnel had a lot to do with laying the groundwork for the peace talks."

One day during the course of the negotiations, Captain McAlister was escorting a convoy of newspaper correspondents to the camp when the North Korean guards refused to let the convoy pass. As a result, the talks were called off for a few days, but were later resumed.

Captain McAlister was at the peace camp the day the North Koreans released the first list of names of United Nations prisoners of war.

"All of us connected with the peace talks have felt that eventually the question would be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. The procedure is turning into a long drawn-out business," he said.

Captain McAlister pointed out that language was one of the main barriers in the peace talks. "Everything that is said has to be translated into Korean and Chinese and vice versa," he said. "Patience is the main factor in dealing with them."

CAPT. J. H. MCALISTER

Army Know-How Found In Post I. G. Section

BY SGT. TIM WARREN

When a complaint is registered at the Fort Benning office of the Inspector General, the complainant can be assured that his case is being handled by personnel who know and understand the workings of the Army.

The 10 men who furnish the manpower that operates the office at Fort Benning have a total of 183 years service — eight more than the 175 years that the Office of the Inspector General has been established.

Headed by Col. Leland B. Shaw, a vetran of 25 years military service, the section includes four additional officers and five enlisted personnel.

All officers in the Inspector General section at Fort Benning are either on orders or have been alerted for overseas shipment. Colonel Shaw has been alerted for summer transfer, Lt. Col. Paul E. Doherty, Assistant to Colonel Shaw, is on orders for Hawaii; Major Thomas R. Wheeler, inspecting officer, and Major Stanley H. Shaw, investigating officer are on orders for assignment in Europe.

Colonel Doherty is a veteran of 13 years service, Major Wheeler has served for 17 years and Major Shaw has 14 years service.

Backbone

The five enlisted personnel of the Inspector General section — all master sergeants — comprise the backbone of the inspection teams that are continuously combing the post in an effort to maintain the Army's standards in mess, supply and administrative sections.

These inspection teams, divided into the three main groups are finishing their annual general inspections for the fiscal year. This post wide project calls for the men to continue daily visits to organizations in an effort to check and coordinate with established regulations. Nothing escapes their eyes.

They are required to inspect all unit messing facilities, administrative sections and records of all descriptions, all men assigned to organizations; their equipment, and billets. They also have the opportunity of presenting themselves to each and every man on the post so that any complaints may be brought into light.

Top man with length of service is M-Sgt. Leo Dawson who has 28 years. M-Sgt. Edward P. Hitaffer has 26 years of Army time compiled. M-Sgt. Roy Miller, 15 years, M-Sgt. J. V. Williams, 10 years and M-Sgt. George England, 12 years.

The Fort Benning Inspector General office is open to all persons during duty hours and off-duty appointments may be made by anyone who is unable to find the normal free time.

Colonel Shaw points out that no man may be refused permission to visit their office and that every complaint registered is answered by either a letter or personal interview after the case has been thoroughly investigated.

Approximately 35 per cent of all personnel who come to us with their problems are justified. These, upon investigation, are corrected to the satisfaction of all concerned.

One of the most important duties of the section is visiting units that have recently arrived on post. Once an organization has established itself, representatives of the three teams go to the unit, offer assistance and recommend changes to conform to post policy. These visits are not designed to find fault but rather to show the unit personnel what is expected of them and bring them up to the standards that have been established through constant surveillance of other post organizations.

90-Day Limit Set On Tourist Visas In West Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AFPS)— Dependents of soldiers in Western Germany who hold tourist visas must return to the States after a 90-day visit. At that time their visas will expire. They may not be renewed with in the calendar year.

In a EuCom command directive it was stated that servicemen must register their tourist status dependents with their Headquarters. Those affected will probably be enlisted men in the lower grades whose dependents cannot, under existing regulations, be authorized to accompany them at government expense.

Tourist dependents, the Army said, have created a problem in Western Germany that is too much of a strain on the local economy. Many of them are staying on to wait until they can officially enter the country as dependents. Only two privileges are allowed them; use of the PX and emergency medical care.

Chaplain Speaks At Columbus Meet

Chaplain (Captain) Alexander L. Lewis Sr., addressed the Columbus chapter of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity last Sunday at St. John's Methodist Church. The meeting was held as the fraternity's part in observance of Education Week.

In line with the Education Week slogan, "Bigger and Better Business," Chaplain Lewis spoke to the group on "Service For Humanity."

Colonel Lonning Receives Operations Officer Job

Col. Stanley N. Lonning has been named operations officer of The Infantry School succeeding Col. Michael E. Halloran who has been assigned to the Army inspector general in Atlanta.

He came to Fort Benning in September, 1949, from Gifu, Japan, where he was commanding officer of the 24th Infantry Regiment. He served two other tours of duty here in 1927-31 and 1932-36 as student company commander and with the 29th and 24th Infantry Regiments.

During World War II Colonel Halloran fought in the Leyte-Okinawa campaign with the 38ist Infantry Regiment, 96th Division. He wears the Silver Star, Bronze Star Medal and Legion of Merit.

He received his commission as a second lieutenant at Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark., in August, 1917. He attended The Infantry School in 1927-28 and the Cavalry School at Fort Riley, Kansas, in 1931-32.

Colonel Lonning has been at Fort Benning since July, 1950. He served as chairman of the C Committee of the Attack Group before being named chief of the group.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., he served overseas as a rifle company commander at the British Guiana Base Command and in Europe during World War II.

In Europe he was executive officer of the 413th Infantry Regiment. He served with this unit during the campaigns in Holland and at Aachen and in the advance through Duren, Cologne, Remagen, the Ruhr and to the Weser river.

General Meloy Addresses Muster Day Dinner Affair

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Monday night stressed the value of the Infantryman as an individual in the citizen army which defends the United States.

Speaking at the annual Texas A&M College Muster Day held at the Country Club here, the Infantry Center commander praised the Texas college's training program "which teaches the value of the man, which produces a soldier who will stand and be counted, who is willing to sacrifice all for his country."

The traditional Muster Day celebration commemorates April 21, 1836, the date the Texas army, under Gen. Sam Houston, defeated the Mexican army, under General Miquel Lopez de Santa Anna, at San Jocinto, Texas, ensuring Texas' independence from Mexico.

"This date opened a new era in American history," General Meloy declared. "Because of this battle, the southwestern part of the United States came under American influence."

General Meloy, honorary vice president of the Texas A&M club here, served as professor of military science and tactics at the Texas College. His son, William, is now a student there.

First Lt. Joseph Thomas of The Infantry School's Weapons Department read the invocation to open the Muster Day ceremonies. Second Lt. William D. Barnes of the First Officer Candidate Regiment served as master of ceremonies, and Capt. Donald Weihs of the 30th Infantry Regiment, president of the club, introduced Gen. Meloy.

Capt. Edmund Thompson of the Weapons Department read the traditional Roll Call honoring students of Texas A&M who have died in military service.

The closing benediction was given by 1st Lt. Thomas Spitzerber, a student in The Infantry School.

NEW LIEUTENANT

Gordon A. Truitt, formerly a sergeant in the 41st Field Artillery Battalion, was sworn in as a second lieutenant last week by Lt. Col. James T. Specht, Jr., commander of the 41st. Lieutenant Truitt has been reassigned to the 125th Field Artillery Battalion at Camp Rucker, Ala.

Warfare Breaks Out Here With Pencils And Paper

At least 1,500 Infantry School students and instructors are taking part in a three-day Command Post Exercise, war as it's fought from behind battlefield desks.

The maneuver's director, Lt. Col. James H. Lynch of Orlando, Fla., said the headquarters war game gives students "a chance to apply principles of battlefield command, planning, logistics and intelligence under field conditions."

There are Blue (Friendly) and Red (Aggressor) division, the enemy having only one regiment in theory while the friendly has two regiments.

Two-sided CPX's, Army term for Command Post Exercise, Col. Lynch said, are unique. Most similar exercises have been with only one side conducting the attack on another theoretical force.

Fighting forces, of course, are simulated, but their movements and requirements are the problems of the maneuver. Officials will get actual requests for supplies, carry out processing of replacement personnel, disseminate intelligence information about the "enemy" and thrust forces into action.

Units from regimental to platoon size will be "fighting" the war on paper, and a small corps of umpires will grade commanders' decisions and planning techniques.

One phase of the maneuver will be planning atomic defense, but officials didn't announce that an atom bomb would be theoretically dropped here.

Extension

ting reservists and guardsmen from service.

For example: a guardsman now on active duty and due to be released late this year will still be released. But if his enlistment as a member of the guard was also due to expire sometime during the year, it will be extended for nine months although he will not be on active duty.

Under the law the President has authority to extend regular enlistments for 12 months or less, but no volunteer enlistment may be so extended more than once.

Executive orders in 1950 and 1951 provided for the full 12-month extension of enlistments in the years starting July 1 in each of those years.

According to the Defense Department reduction of the extension period from 12 to nine months is possible because the armed forces have reached a leveling-off stage requiring an overall increase in strength of only 100,000 from June 30, 1952, to June 30, 1953.

It also said that the step was taken to provide training by experienced men for those entering the armed services.

By law, those who are drafted and those who enlist for two years rather than wait for induction cannot be held in service for extra time in the absence of a declaration of an emergency by action of Congress.

Tuskegee Students Tour Fort Benning

Ninety-eight women students from Tuskegee, Ala., Institute toured The Infantry Center last Friday afternoon as part of their visit to Columbus as guests of the New Homemakers Club of Spencer High School.

During their hour-long tour of the post, the visitors saw the Main Post and Lawson Air Force Base. They were served refreshments by the Third Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment.

The students returned to Tuskegee Friday afternoon.

Council

members of the council have found solutions to such problems as off - post housing, religious activities, health, safety and recreational facilities.

The Citizens-Military Council, in cooperation with the Muscogee County (Ga.) Commissioners, helped to launch a project to beautify Victory Memorial Drive which connects Fort Benning with Columbus. The job was completed by the commissioners and state authorities.

OTHER PROJECTS

Other projects were the safety campaign at Benning Park, a government housing project for married enlisted men and their families, and a movement to provide better and a larger number of off-post recreational facilities for Negro troops stationed here.

In last year's council drafted a resolution to the Secretary of Defense, James V. Forrestal, requesting that the Ninth Street USO and the Negro Army-Navy YMCA building in Columbus be kept by the Army to provide recreation for Benning troops. Through their combined efforts, the recreational activities remained open although USO funds had been exhausted.

Several cities and many other Army posts have written to the Citizens-Military Council for advice in forming similar organizations. The Fort Benning-Columbus pattern has been used as an example wherever a military post is located close to a populated area.

Troopers

and she called out by name, greetings to many of the officers and men.

In all, the 508th traveled by truck convoy — 540 vehicles — 1,100 miles to San Angelo, Texas, where they marshalled in a veritible "dust bowl" at Mathis Air Force Base. The total round trip was something over 2,200 miles through Georgia, Alabama Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Colonel Lawrie spoke for the entire 508th when he said: "I'm from Texas myself, but I sure am glad to be back in Georgia and Fort Benning. This green grass looks wonderful . . ."

One night, en route to the maneuvers, the 508th felt the wrath of the weather at Brownwood, Texas, when in a two-hour span they moved into bivouac under sunny skies, started to view movies under starry skies, were blinded by a tremendous dust storm, stoned by a hail-storm, virtually drowned by a driving rain and then wrung themselves out under starry skies.

Of the 232 troopers injured on the D-Day jump all but 39 have returned to the 508th. Several of the less-seriously injured were on hand to greet their buddies as they returned by truck. One is Sfc. Lawrence J. Thomas, 28-year-old Headquarters Company, Second Battalion trooper from Taunton, Mass. wearing an ankle cast on his left leg. Sgt. Thomas commented:

Wonderful Place

"I never realized what a wonderful place Fort Benning and Georgia are until I choked in that Texas dust. Texas people are swell, but their climate . . . ugh!"

General Meloy welcomed the 508th with "Glad to have you back after the wonderful job you did in Exercise 'Long Horn.'" The general gestured to two signs, reading: Welcome Home, Men of the 508th Abn. RCT.

The 508th compiled a fine record, insofar as the movement to and from Texas and the part they played in the war games. There were a minimum of mishaps during truck-convoy travel. The only death was the trooper who died during the airborne operation. This was because of faulty body-position when he left the plane, causing his parachute to become entangled in his equipment. He was Pfc. Clements H. Arvizu, 19, of Baldwin Park, Calif.

The only serious truck mishap occurred on the return trip when two members of the 508th's Intelligence and Reconnaissance Platoon, traveling ahead of the convoy, escaped serious injury when their quarter-ton jeep flipped over as a result of a front right brake reportedly "grabbing" the wheel.

Injured Troopers

The injured troopers, who spent a few hours in the Butler, Ala., Barber Hospital, are Cpls. Eddie Armijo and Charles Montgomery. They have been released to rejoin the 508th.

"Their lives were saved," stated Sfc. Arthur Wahner, "by the 50-caliber machine gun mount which was installed in the jeep by the orders of our platoon sergeant, M-Sgt. James A. Tyron. Had it not been for the mount, the jeep would have fallen on the two men when the vehicle flipped over."

Many of the Red Devils returned with momentoes of Texas. Chaplain (Capt.) Clifford C. Cartee brought back a small calf, which he had purchased near Brownwood. One truck had a huge eagle tied to its radiator. Others carried dried snake skins, fancy leather high-heeled Texas boots, a 10-gallon cowboy hat or two.

"All in all, it was a wonderful lesson in geography," said Pfc. Larry D. Beam, Headquarters and Headquarters Company trooper from San Diego, Calif. "How else could most of us have had a chance to drive through five states and see so many things, all at the expense of the government. Gee, I bet a trip such as the 508th took would cost each man nearly $1,000."

Squad Tests Under Study Here By 4 Researchers

The Army is developing a test here which will determine how proficiently any nine-man rifle squad will perform in combat.

Four top - level civilian researchers are writing and devising the test which, if accepted by the Army, will be used throughout the Army for testing small units.

Dr. M. D. Havron, project director from the Institute for Research in Human Relations, Washington, D. C., said the test development began last September "and will probably be completed the first of October."

The problem is a seven-hour tactical exercise involving four phases of near - real combat: squad as point of an advance guard, squad in attack, squad in defense and squad on reconnaissance patrol.

Small physical obstacles and man-made "enemy" defenses will be used in the circular course to test the squads' reactions. Umpires accompanying the squads will adjudge command decisions.

At least 100 typical Infantry squads will be tested before the test is submitted to the Army. About 35 of the test squads will be from The Infantry Center.

Although the test will be used for measuring squad performance, Dr. Havron said also that "it can be used as a training device and to point out where further training is needed."

"I think there is a general need," Dr. Havron continued, "for incisive studies of small unit effectiveness, before World War II, most people assumed that if you issued a man a rifle, he would use it when the right time came.

"When it was found this had not been true with many men, it became obvious that the whole business of making small units most effective ought to be looked into."

Dr. Havron's three research assistants are R. J. Fay, E. L. Greer and J. E. McGrath.

Ranger Recovers After Snake Bite

Ranger Cpl. Harold W. Lafferty snakes finally caught up with him last week.

Lafferty, a professional reptile raiser as a civilian in Los Angeles, has been instructing Ranger trainees in snake handling at The Infantry School's Ranger Department's jungle and swamp training camp near Pensacola, Fla.

Last Sunday, the inevitable happened—one of Lafferty's pets, a rattlesnake, bit the hand that fed him.

The corporal, following instructions he had given his students, applied a tourniquet, removed most of the venom with his snake-bite kit, and summoned help by radio. Teacher's training proved effective, for Lafferty only slightly the worse for wear, reported for duty the next day.

Fort Benning Reenlists 2,500 Since July 15

Fort Benning has reenlisted its 2,500th soldier since the current recruiting campaign began last July 15.

Sfc. Grady C. Bryson, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, reenlisted for six years to fill his own vacancy, on April 19.

Marine Students Get Commendation

Marine students that are attending the Unit Automotive Course No. 3, 17th Company, First Student Regiment, have been commended for their outstanding participation in the blood donor campaign.

In a letter of commendation, Col. S. R. Tupper, First Brigade commander, cited each member of the class for the response shown since they have been at The Infantry Center.

The class, composed of 92 Marines, contributed 89 pints of whole blood. This is 14 pints in excess of a week's quota for the entire First Student Brigade.

Water Trip Successful; Scouts Await Next Trip

The forty - five seafaring Benning Scouts who made the two-day trip down the Chattahoochee river on April 10 are ready to take to the water again according to the enthusiastic reports of the Scouts.

Curtis Holland, son of Mrs. Collins Bland, has only been a member of Troop No. 27 for about three weeks. He said, "I'm ready to go again. We sure had a swell time, and didn't have any trouble finding a place to camp the first night. Lots of the members of Troop No. 11 were on hand to meet us and all the people of Eufaula were nice to us."

Allen Leonard, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Allen Leonard, Jr., said, "I thought it was a nice trip and I would like to go again soon. Everybody in Eufaula was nice to us and some of the scouts came out to meet us. We had to work to get ready to go on this trip, but it sure was worth it".

"The first day on the river and the night's camping trip were accomplished without accident. The troop headed for the Eufaula shore on the second day at exactly the time set for them to land, according to M-Sgt. W. A. Deavours, assistant scoutmaster.

Eufaula Mayor A. D. Wilson and the citizens of the city formed a welcoming committee to greet the Benning youngsters. They were given the keys to the city.

Camp was set up and uniforms, which were brought by car to Eufaula, were donned. Following uniform inspection, the Troop paraded through town.

Capt. Robert Ryan, scoutmaster, said, "I was very proud of our youngsters. They made a lasting impression on the citizens of Eufaula by their conduct. They were one of the most orderly, easily managed group of boys I have ever worked with. I hope that we can go on another trip soon".

Services Plan To Use Same Pay Cards Now

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — For the first time in history all Services will use identical pay cards. Beginning July 1, 1952 old pay cards will be junked and the new form immediately put into use.

Based largely on the Navy's form 500, the new card (DD113) is the result of years of research by a special committee representing all Services.

Finance officers of all Services agree that the new card will improve office efficiency and eliminate duplication. The card will contain enough information to enable officers to tell at a glance the entire pay status of any member of the Armed Forces.

Financial problems, because of the simplicity and completeness of the new card will be solved much more quickly. Disbursing officers will be able to handle all pay of personnel regardless of service. The card does not change existing pay system in any of the Services.

Capt. Lang Speaks At Cook Graduation

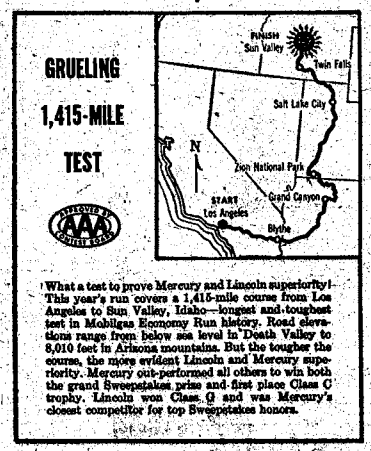
Capt. Gerald M. Lang, Provisional Group Food Service Supervisor, was guest speaker at the graduation of cooking class 20 and mess management class 10 at the Third Army Food Service School.

Diplomas were awarded to 26 enlisted men for the cooking course and 10 for the mess management course.

Chaplain E. C. Gromke gave the invocation and benediction at the graduation.

Standard equipment, accessories, and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice. Driveline optional at extra cost.

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN



What a test to prove Mercury and Lincoln superiority! This year's run covers a 1,415-mile course from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho—longest and toughest ever in Mobilgas Economy Run history. Road elevations range from below sea level in Death Valley to 8,010 feet in Arizona mountains. But the tougher the course, the more evident Lincoln and Mercury superiority. Mercury out-performed all others to win both the grand Sweepstakes prize and first place Class C trophy. Lincoln won Class G and was Mercury's closest competitor for top Sweepstakes honors.

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

Lincoln Again Best in Class—Runs Second in Sweepstakes

Mercury, the car that challenged them all, has done it again . . . won the grand Sweepstakes prize in this "world series" for automobiles.

And this isn't the first time! Just look at Mercury's three-year-in-a-row record: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class! Look at Lincoln, too, Lincoln won Class G first prize, and provided Mercury's closest competition for top Sweepstakes honors.

The Mobilgas Economy Run is open to all cars of every make. Every car is a stock car, selected at random by the A.A.A. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance* determines the winner.

A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with 59.7188 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 25.4093 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8. The Lincoln Capri Sedan with Hydra-Matic transmission won its class prize with 53.9085 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 22.3562 miles per gallon.

That's something to think about when you buy a new car. Mercury, which for months has been challenging the industry to match it, has now proved its superiority for economy.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (with passengers) multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

Drills Start For 3A Meet

The 1952 Benning Track and Field Championships was in the record books today as the post's most successful cinder event of post war years, but as John Paul Jones, paraphrased, might have said: "The (Benning) thinclads have just begun to fight."

Headed by stars from Combat Training Command and First Student Regiment, a post team began working out the kinks this week in preparation for a serious title bid in the Third Army Track and Field melee slated here May 9-10, just two weeks distant.

In most cases, top two finishers in each of last Saturday's 18 events were picked as members of the Doughboy squad and they will conduct drills under Coaches Lawrence Williams, Truman Medders and Dick Ellis, who probably will be official Benning mentors for the 3-A classic.

Commanders Win

Combat Training Command won its first post title of the year in compiling 37 points in Saturday's finals, but they were outdone in individual events, First Student Regiment which was a hair's breadth second with 36 1-2 points.

Other teams in the order of finish were Infantry School Detachment with 29 1-2 points, Second Student Regiment, which was in the thick of contention most of the afternoon before slipping to 27 points, First Officer Candidates Regiment, 21, Provisional Medical Group, 6, Army Field Forces Board Three, 3, and ASU Provisional Group, 2.

CTC finished third last year behind two teams now departed while First Student Regiment was a poor eighth in 1951.

Better Times

Of more importance in view of the stern Third Army competition in the immediate offing times were better this year than last in six running events and in five field tests.

An overall view shows Benning much stronger this year in the field paced by Larry Goins, a whip-armed javelin and discus tosser from University of Southern California, and Walter Jenkins, well-built, 21-year old former Wayne University (Detroit) ace who won the shot put and hammer throw with footage to spare.

That may be putting the cart before old dobbin, however, the (work)horse being Truman Medders, a personally retiring Oklahoman who was not bashful in establishing his mastery in the hurdles and as an anchor man in relays.

Sweeps Hurdles

Winning both the 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles in exceptionally pleasing times for an Army meet, and running the last lap for the ISD mile relay squad, Medders racked up 11 1-2 points to become high man of the meet.

Four men behind him scored double wins to corner 10 points each. They were Jenkins and Goins, Clifford Williams and Wilfred Bivens, who ran like a jowjuiced bunny on opening day of the hunting season in taking the 220-yard and 440-yard runs.

Williams had no near equals in taking the mile and two-mile tests, but his times in both (4:53.4 and 11:23) were below last year's standards, and, Cliff, in short, has got to start slicing some seconds in practice the next fortnight to make a go of it in those 3-A events.

Fortune Repeats

One champion of the 1951 meet managed to repeat Saturday. He was Royce Fortune, of CTC, who took the 100-yard dash in 10.2, two-tenths of a second better than last year, but a time which also will need improvement by 3A-Day.

For some unknown reason, no one has been clocked under ten seconds for the dash on the Benning strip. But the track, too, will come in for a lot of work by the grooms in the next two weeks.

Benning has another solid Third Army title contender in, Ellis, mentor of the First S. R. squad, who had all the precision of a Swiss timepiece in winning the five-mile run in 29:32.7, 40-seconds better than the time he planned for himself and good enough to lap the field of three other contenders twice.

Field Threats

Joe Campbell at 12 - feet in the pole vault and George Bell at 22 - feet and three - quarters inches in the broad jump won handily, but both of those marks were under what these two hopefuls have done previously. With actual competition now under their belts they should be tough May 10.

Two Second Student Regiment entrants, George Pickett and Don Blankenship, divided high jump laurels with identical marks of six-feet, equalling last year's standard, but this is another event which probably will need a couple of inches of improvement.

Hall Haunts Lee; ASU Cops Crown

By CHARLIE JOHNSON

The announcer told the capacity mob that Ray Lee had just been voted Fort Benning's "Best Boxer of 1952," but 25-minutes later the former AAU champion was on the seat of his pants in a corner, battered and baffled, and the post light middleweight championship he had been a 2-to-1 favorite to win was gone.

Leon Hall, 21 - year -old Alabaman, who doesn't believe what he reads in the newspapers, thus became the new champion—if not the "best boxer"—and here's what he did that had 2,500 fans in pandemonium Tuesday night at Briant Wells Field House.

(2) Avenged a previous defeat at the hands of the blond Missourian and ended Lee's five-fight winning streak.

(3) Blasted First Student Regiment—Lee's outfit—right out of the 1952 post team championship which then went to ASU Provisional Group, the defending champs, by a margin of four points.

It was obvious from the start that Hall, who had a 2-2 record previously, had thrown out the odds - makers script when he elected to stand toe to toe with the masterful Lee — and he is that — in the first round.

Hall came out on the short end of that frame, but midway in the second he caught Ray with the rapier right which set up the knockdown.

Working against time after the mandatory eight count, Hall blitzed the groggy Lee with dozens of rights and lefts, but he couldn't deliver the coup de grace to the wounded First S. R. ace.

Lee made a valiant comeback in the third, He stormed Hall, flailed at him from all angles and both took mammoth beatings, but Hall kept his composure — it was Lee's fight to make now — and he was the better off at the end although dead tired.

Unofficially, ASU are again champions with 141 points to 137 for First S. R., with Combat Training Command—Hall's happy gang—pulling post 502th Airborne into third place with 119 points. The Airborne has 108 while three other teams were never in the title contention.

Five other sluggers won clean, hard-fought bouts to take post titles although completely overshadowed the herculean Hall, who played the roll of Goliath to the hilt.

Fort Benning's final fistic fury of the 1952 season will come off at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday in the form of an open tourney for challengers from all three classifications in each of the ten weight divisions.

The action, which will prove nothing other than offering a consolation chance for any eager mittmen who haven't done well by themselves previously, is expected to attract a capacity crowd to Briant Wells Field House.

Meantime, the official shooting is over. We have the post's new team champion and ten fresh class one titleholders.

161 1-2, CTC, defeated Freeman Thatcher, 162 3-4, ASU.

Welterweight — Ernest Hall, 143 3-4, rallied to beat William Franks, 144 3-4, ASU.

Bantamweight — George Allen, 117 1-2, ASU, completely outboxed Nori Kawasaki, 118 1-4, 508th.

Cubs Wallop Rams In Little League

The Cubs of the Little National took a smashing, 18-0 victory from the Rams of the Doughboy Little loop under the arc lights at Fort Benning last night.

Bill "Hack" Wilson and John Cook pounded two round-trippers each and Bob Hoppgood slammed another to pace the Cubs' attack. Cook combined with Allen Taylor to hurl the shutout.

Cardinals Return For 4-Game Series

The Columbus Cardinals, who divided their opening series with the champion Montgomery-Grays, three games to four, will return to Golden Park April 28 for a four-game home stand.

Manager Sheldon Bender's Red Birds will be opposed by Savannah in the series. Army personnel are admitted at reduced prices.

CONGRATULATIONS . . . Gordon Ifill, (left), himself fresh from winning the 1952 Fort Benning middleweight championship, had a big bear hug for lanky Leon Hall who pulled the title tournament's biggest upset Tuesday night by beating Ray Lee for the light middleweight crown. "He has more guts than any fighter I ever saw," said Hall of the beaten Lee who was a 2-to-1 favorite in their bout. (U. S. Army Photo.)

Benning's Hunting Ranges Being Restocked, Planted

The Fish and Game Maintenance Association this week began banding and releasing 25 pair of quail in specially cultivated nesting areas on the reservation in a solid effort to boost Benning's bird population by next fall.

The operation is under the direction of Lt. Col. Ernest Dunham, chairman of the game committee, Lt. Thelbert Fountain, Benning's new game warden, also reported planting of between 15 and 20 acres of feed beds for game birds and the planned consolidation of bird fields which will result in more productive hunting.

Among the crops planted were Korean lespedfzia, harry vetch, brown top millet, peas and combine hegare. Some 200 pounds of seed bed have also been created for later transplanting.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

THE GREATEST DISPLAY of underwear since the walls of the No. One BVD weaving mill collapsed was on display Saturday as over 100 thinclads turned out for the annual Fort Benning Blister and Bunion Derby. Doughboy Stadium took on the appearance of a giant acrobatic effort as they all bent over backwards in an effort to establish new records.

More arches than records fell as a result of the running alas, although standards were lowered for 11 comparable events in the 1951 post meet. Most impressive of these were by Truman Medders and Wilfred Bivens who turned the hurdles and middle distance events into a private chiropodists' convention as they spent most of the afternoon showing the back of their heels to the field.

The efforts of the other contenders was wasted like perfume on a polecat when Bivens, 21-year old former Portsmouth, Va., high school star, was turned loose in the quarter-mile and the 220-yard dash. Knowing his potential, First Student Regiment Coach Dick Ellis told Willing Wilfred to take both events in stride—his stride being about four feet when not trying hard, and he wasn't pressed at all in winning both.

Bivens' 50 seconds flat for the 440 bested his nearest rival by more than a second and was just a second off the time which won last year's Southeastern Conference track meet. Everyone knows, of course, that the subsidized collegians are much more finely trained for their competition than Army trackmen who must double in brass (if the officers in the audience will pardon the expression since Wilfred is but a private first class, not to mention a first class runner, egad!)

In fact, Bivens, who was anchor on the Portsmouth squad which won the Virginia state, and eastern district high school, and Penn Relays prep division 880-yard relay in his senior year in 1950, was scheduled to begin jump training Monday morning following the weekend meet. This will probably he stayed, however, on the very reasonable grounds that Wilfred is now a hot prospect for upcoming Army track competition which will undergo the careful scrutiny of Olympic Committee scouts.

Truman Medders, who is unlike his presidential namesake in that he definitely does choose to run, (although he hasn't confided on which ticket), now looms as one of the most underrated athletes on post if for no other reason than his versatility. He received only the hollow honor of being named second string center on The Bayonet's All-Post basketball team after being the fifth best scorer in the Benning Basketball League despite the fact that his Infantry School Detachment quint finished seventh in a field of ten.

Truman—the runner, not the letter writer—had more bounce to the ounce and more distance to the piston, respectively, and from left to right and back, as he annexed the high and low hurdles and then popped right back as anchor man to make up a 60-yard deficit and win the mile relay for his flagging ISD mates. It also might be noted here that Medders divided his pre-meet time between conditioning himself and coaching the remainder of the ISD underwear models, an effort for which he will be rewarded by being given a piece of the coaching laurels for Benning's team in the Third Army meet May 9-10.

You may never have heard of Panhandle A&M, of which Truman is a prize athlete speciman, but if you think that's bad what about the other entrants in the hurdles events who never even saw Truman? He did the 220-yard lows in 26.3, less than four seconds off last year'S NCAA championship time, and took the 120 highs in 15.6, a fraction more than two seconds off the 1951 NCAA mark. Although the latter time was the same as for last year's Benning meet, the '51 winner, Medic Bill Street, found his case going from bad to verse when he tried to match it Saturday, thusly:

"Bill Street is the man to beat"
Was The Bayonet's pre-meet cry.
Truman proved Johnson was right
As he swiftly passed Billy by.

IF YOU WANT to boil it down that fine, and Saturday's sun was hot enough, y'all, to boil a slice of side meat smothered in cornbread crums down to a rich golden brown, the team championship which went to Combat Training Command was actually decided on a technicality. The officials disqualified CTC's Carol Dickerson as third place finisher (for one point which was the difference in the final team totals) when he bowled over a new dozen barriers in the 120-yard high hurdles.

However, Coach Lawrence Williams, working himself into the finest lather I have seen since my Aunt Minnie forgot to lift her veil before drinking a glass of buttermilk, sprinted the 100-yards to the judge's stands in 9.6, best time of the day, but unofficial, slack and alas, with rule book bared. It clearly states, of course, that a contestant can knock over as many hurdles as his shins will bear the gaff, as long as they are in his lane and not a competitor's, and still win the marbles.

Dickerson was re-instated in his original finishing position and the reassured Commanders went on to the title, not, however, before taking the precaution to call a first aid crew who stood by to treat the wounds of Coach Williams when he fell over backwards with pride because of the feats of fleet feet (who he say?) performed by his cinder Caesars.

Mrs. Hackett Tops Lady Bowlers

Selina Parker and Ruth Jones teamed to cop doubles honors with 946, while high pin fall for the 10 tourney games was registered by Dayle Hofstetter with 1324.

Mrs. Hofstetter also rolled high three games from scratch of 472 while the best three handicap games were represented in Mrs. Hackett's winning singles score.

Runners-up in singles were Betty Jones and Retha Noble. Second place in doubles was annexed by Alice Fugate and Mrs. Hofstetter.

Team Winners

The winning tournament team was composed of Sally Crimmins, Ruth Vognild, Margie Brue, Clare Batts and Alice Brown. Second team members were Margaret Brooks, June Yoder, Pat Tatum, Doris Raudstein and Mrs. Hackett.

In the women's league action recently completed winners of the Women's Club trophy in various groups have been selected. They are Mary Frances Rabinowitz, advance group, and Mrs. Hackett, intermediate group.

Warmin' The Bench

By Armed Forces Press Service

Abe Saperstein has brought back burlesque, but it's a different kind. His Harlem Globetrotters burlesque basketball. Ballhandling tricksters and razzle-dazzle playmakers, they have played against teams in Europe, Africa, Australia, Hawaii, Japan and in the U.S. Currently on a 15-city tour against an all-star college squad, they've just completed a busy year in which they played 340 games and lost only a handful. Blind hook shots, pinpoint passing and trick dribbling done to live music time thrill the "standing room only" crowds in every coliseum . . . But Saperstein's team can play basketball. They whipped George Mikkan and the Minneapolis Lakers when no pro team could match them. Against such collegians as St. John's Zeke Zawoluk, Rod Fletcher of Illinois, Mark Workman of West Virginia and a host of other standouts on the present tour they won six of every seven games. They're good. They've got to be to pack in the fans, but they're good enough to win often and joke with the crowd, too.

New developments: Los Angeles State College had a point and proved it. Coach Saxe Elliot's cage team met an all-star quintet in a game with a 64-point limit. The first team to reach that total won. Each period was completed when one team scored 16 points. Less stalling and fewer fouls resulted in the test.

Things we didn't know: Hockey goalies work hard enough, but their protective gear and pads add more toll. They weigh 50 pounds and the cost of that weight exceeds $300. . . During the National Baseball League's first season in 1876, 70 contests made up one team's season schedule. They played three times a week. Admission to each contest was 50 cents. After the third inning it cost only a dime to get into the park.

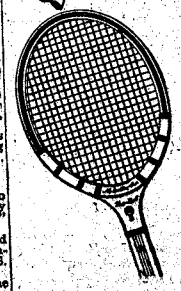
Tune up your tennis game

give it the SPALDING treatment

The Spalding Tennis Ball is one of the famous "Tennis Twins" (identical to the Spalding-made Wright & Ditson). It has all the vital bounce and stamina of the true champion. Stands up under the most gruelling "torture tests". Its scuff-resistant nap gives it that true, accurate flight game after game.



Spalding Kro-Bat The power-packed racket that you wield with point-making sureness. Perfection in construction gives the Kro-Bat its lusty strength and balance. Power reenforcements at all vital points. Special strips of rawhide at shoulders. Stringing stays tight longer. Come in and see it—swing it. Other fine rackets priced to fit any budget.

Two BB Games This Weekend

The 1952 Fort Benning Baseball League season continues to get under way with games Saturday and Sunday afternoon following last night's opening fracas at Gowdy Field.

And if the official league season produces as much of a flurry of activity as has been had in the pre-opening scramble then the post diamond faithful are in for some lulus, indeed.

The ink on the schedule for the remainder of the slate was not quite dry last night when First Student Regiment lifted the lid against Provisional Medical Group, an encounter which was too late for this edition of The Bayonet.

Two Teams Fall

The finger nail - biting delay was caused by the belated withdrawal of two squads; the 506th Airborne and First Officer Candidate Regiment. Officials from both reported too heavy a training duty schedule to fit in the three-times-a-week baseball action.

Forgetting the tribulations and getting down to action, however, Infantry School Detachment, tabbed for a first division finish, meets an improving ASU Provisional Group in daylight derring-do at 2 p.m. Saturday at Gordy Field.

Come Sunday, Combat Training Command and Second Student Regiment single game tilt and place CTC is rated a co-favorite for the flag along with First S. R.

Flyers Idle

That leaves Lawson Air Force Base with a first week bye, and that's the way it will be the remainder of the card in the single round robin play followed by Shaughnessy playoffs, one nine with a bye each week.

The season's first day games, a novelty in itself in this era of arc lights—many produce a lot of fireworks Saturday.

ISD mentor Gene Harkey has nominated Joe Feinstein, the veteran and crafty lefty, for the opening mound assignment and he will be opposed by either Clyde Britton or Bill Ross, both righthanders.

Both squads have won and lost abbreviated practice games. Their probable starting batting orders:

A.S.U.		I.S.D.
Fort Settles, 2b		Bill Hahn, ss
Bill Hahn, ss		Gene Ashley, cf
Hank Walker, cf		Tom Smith, c
Don Harper, 1b		Max Feinstein, 3b
Leroy Green, c		Emil Rukavina, lf
Melvin Tipton, 3b		Jerry Southall, 1b
Bill Desch, c		Gene Markey, 2b
		Bob Dougherty, c

Hahn is a heavy slugging holdover from last year's ASU squad. Metts and Walker were named to FECOM all - star teams, the latter being the only player credited with a home run out of Lou Gehrig Stadium in Tokyo.

Veteran Players

Tipton is another returnee and key man with a steady line of chatter in the infield. Manager Lewis Grizzard reports his only veteran pitcher, Bill Sayers, on the sick list, but he expects the slick righthander to be ready next week.

Harkey has six veterans on the ISD squad including himself. The others are Gill, Feinstein, Rukavina, Southall and Dougherty, an experienced crew which did well last season and can make trouble for this year's favorites.

Sunday's game will be greeted eagerly as first chance for a look-see at the highly touted Commanders. Playing - manager Bobby Clark has four frontline hurlers who saw inning action in training games last week and ready, but he hasn't made a starting choice.

Glen Middleton and Stan Edwards limited ASU to three hits as they blanked ASU's Raiders, 6-0, in one tuneup, and John Freeman and Adam Zubaty scattered seven hits in downing ISD, 10-3, last Friday.

Middleton, Zubaty and Freeman proved themselves in brief stints with the late Doughboy team. A previous sore part, Charlie Culpepper, handled most of the catching chores adequately in both games.

Clark's probable starting batting order includes Tom Butts, rf, Reggie Carroll, cf, Jose Gomez, 3b, Frank Spaniel, lf, Clark, ss, George Gust, 1b, Clarence Faucett, 2b, and Culpepper, c.

Second Student Regiment will be something of an unknown quality until they see game action. The Rockets dropped one lopsided practice tilt to First Student Regiment, 12-3. Mike Michalski banged a triple and single in two trips for the losers.

Tennis Tourney Opens Saturday

Entries must be filed by Friday. Semifinals in the meet will be played May 3 with the finals May 4. The action will be open to the public.

Leonie Jordan, former U. of Alabama netter, will be favored to win his third straight singles crown. One of his top rivals will be Jim Strain, last year's consolation winner.

DeWitt Smith, former number one player with the U. of Maryland, Jim Burnett, Kay Stuart and Tora Rafferty also are seeded singles competitors.

Other singles entries include Walter Fellenz, K. M. Stewart, Pete Snedeker, T. K. Craig, Gus Armijo, Manuel Altamirano, Robert McBride, A. S. Hyman, C. E. Davis, Garland Pinholster, T. A. Toon, Robert Abshire, Red Knudsen, Scotty Kinnon, Tim Inglis, Eames Yates, Rud Lyman, Ed Harding, Jack Butler, S. V. Bingham, Vic Barring, er, Sam King and C. R. Wiselagle.

Duty Call Interrupts Officer Softball Go

The long game played last week in the Officers Softball League never reached a decision as one of the participating teams had to take off for a night problem. Personnel Group was leading Defense, 19-10, in the top half of the seventh inning when the latter squad got its call to duty.

The game will be continued from that point at a later date, but one of Personnel Group's star players will be missing form the lineup then. Lt. Chris Dubia hurt his leg in the game and will be out of action for several weeks.

Track Meet Officials Are Recorded

Officials for the Fort Benning Track and Field Meet last weekend included Maj. Robert Sexton, starter; Lt. Richard Crowson, field judge; Maj. Jack Faubion, field judge; Capt. William Gibson, chief inspector; Maj. Stokes, timer; Sgt. Bill DeLong, clerk of course; Sfc. Phil Derbyshire, and Cpl. William Ferguson, chief of track.

Other officials included Capt. Clyde Richards, Capt. Dale Roley, Sgt. Charlie Clarke, Capt. Bill Harbour, Capt. Lewis Grizzard, Capt. John Corrigan, Capt. Charles Stark, Lt. Allan Brown, Lt. Earl Lockhead and Lt. Dell Evans.

Wiselogle Paces Golf

Barney Wiselogle holed out with a birdie three on the 18th hole to down Bethel Edrington, 1-up in the most stubbornly contested championship flight match last week as first round action in the annual Officer's Mess championship golf tourney was completed at Fort Benning Country Club.

Wiselogle's second shot on the extra hole was just inches short of the pin for an eagle two.

In another good match, veteran Matt Tatum nipped L. C. Kyle, Jr., of Columbus, 1-up. Tatum posted a birdie four on the 18th to decide the issue.

The 16 losers in last week's championship flight will be regrouped in first flight action this week.

Two third flight matches were carried to 20 holes for a decision with E. L. Baker and Bob Doran turning in 1-up wins over J. J. Jordan and Don Bolton respectively.

Results in other championship flight match:

Bob Ives defeated John Acuff, 3 and 2. Jim Lynch defeated B. Kassernan; Art Rafferty beat Sam Walker, 2 and 1. A. Miller defeated E. Perry, Ed Mann beat E. R. Fenstemacher, 3 and 2. W. Brooks beat John Powers by default.

Second flight: E. Bruger beat J. Frye, Aleck MacDonald beat C. Carlies, E. Lowry beat A. F. Hay, B. Richmond defeated A. E. Selby, T. Peterson beat Ray Stroup, R. J. Bigart defeated C. W. Gunderson, L. Dawson beat E. Poole, and Herman Rabinowitz beat B. Boyd.

Third flight: H. F. Howard defeated Bost, 1 up. J. A. Maloney, 5 and 4. G. A. Scott beat Carrington. E. W. Hakala beat L. Shirrill, 3 and 2. Jim Daniels beat Hall, 3 up, and R. L. Coles de-

Benning Golfers Blast LaGrange, 104-58 in Finals

Par took an impressive spanking from both sides Sunday as Fort Benning Country Club golfers scored 70 points to win their home-and-home series with LaGrange Country Club, 104-58, at the post links.

Harper, teaming with Bill Harbour, Combat Training Combball 63 as they downed LaGrange's Nat Slaughter and Hudson, 6 1-2 — 2 1-2. Best ball for the foursome was 59.

Nine Victories

Nine of ten Benning twosomes turned in wins Sunday as Benning avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of LaGrange, 38-34.

Bumann, former Indiana state amateur champion, in 1948 and runnerup in 1950, teamed with Frank Wear, former Texas A & M golfer, to zero Foster and Edge, of LaGrange, 3-0.

Only other shutout score was turned in by Benning's Ed Mann and Bill Graham over Fulmer and King.

In other matches Hunter J. Trotter LaGrange, defeated Hammond - Boecker, 6 1-2 — 2 1-2. Tatum Adamson, Benning defeated B. Trotter - Daniel, 7 1-2 — 1 1-2; Rafferty-McDowell, Benning, defeated Albright-Parker, 7-2; Lynch-Weyane, Benning, defeated Bradfield - Cabell, 7 1-2 — 1 1-2; Fokerts-Rabinowitz, Benning, defeated Morrison-Palmer, 7 1-2 — 1 1-2; Miller-Furlong, Benning, defeated Brady—Perkerson, 5-4 and Kaesserman-Dawson, Benning, downed Sidrid-Finey, 5 1-2 — 1-2.

Youth BB, Swimming Going

The younger generation is beginning to cut a wide swath in Fort Benning sports.

Three district athletic programs for the youngsters were under way this week as projects of Col. Ivan Parr's youth activities committee.

Practice for American Legion senior and junior baseball teams is being held daily at Blue Field with Cpt. Don Mullen coaching the 15 - 18 - year old group and Sgt. Bill Dempster managing the 13-15 olds.

A swimming program for beginning, intermediate and advanced splashers will begin shortly after May 1 with the opening of the post's outdoor pools. Interested youngsters or their parents should contact M-Sgt. Raymond Tousignant at 4-1196 for registration and complete details.

The swimming program, under the direction of Mrs. Toni Kemp and Mrs. M. S. Baxter, Red Cross instructor, will be carried out on a four-days-a-week basis as soon as the youngsters are divided up according to experience and age-groups.

Meantime, four teams in the Doughboy Little League were putting finishing touches on their spring training this week in anticipation of the loop opening May 1 at the new post diamond behind the WAC Detachment.

A baseball clinic for both the Little Leaguers and American Legion players is slated at 7:30 Friday night at Gowdy Field on the main post, Col. Parr announced yesterday.

BENNING RADIO NEWS

AUTHOR JOHN KIERAN will give his impressions of what he saw at Fort Benning when he toured the post with members of the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference on this Sunday's edition of "Fort Benning Feature Page" (WGBA — AM-FM, noon).

The activities, in part, of the 1952 reunion of Fort Benning, Texas A.&M. graduates, will be included in this Sunday's "Feature Page".

"Fort Benning Feature Page" will continue to bring you up-to-the-minute happenings of events as they actually happen at The Infantry Center of our army.

A NEW RADIO PROGRAM has taken to the air over Columbus, radio station, WDAK. The program, "Salute To The OC's", is a musical variety show intended for the listening enjoyment of the officer candidates in training at Fort Benning's OCS, and the last fifteen minutes of the show includes tape - recorded interviews made within the OC training areas.

For this show with a military flavor — tune to WDAK, Sunday afternoons at two-thirty.

WHEN IT'S MONDAY EVENING, it's time for — "Time For Defense" — with the latest in news and features from the Armed Forces, with combat documentaries from Korea presented as a highlight on the program.

For up-to-the-minute reports of our country's state of preparedness — tune to WGBA, ABC network, Monday, 10:30 — 11:00 p.m. EST.

AN ARMY MULE will be the subject of an interview on this Sunday's "Feature Page" heard noon over WGBA. The radio reporter of the Combat Training Command did the unusual in radio when he interviewed — of all things — an army mule who now calls his stable in the CTC, his home in this man's army.

Army Field Forces Board Three is conducting an experiment with the old - fashioned, army mule, and the CTC reporter set-up his portable sound recorder and got a unique interview with one of the mules and its trainer.

The mule did very little of the talking, but the description of the army-mule project by the trainer will be one of the more interesting portions of this Sunday's "Fort Benning Feature Page".

LISTENING REMINDERS: For news, music and variety in listening — hear 'Benning In Review" this Sat. evening at 6:15 over WRBL AM-FM, and for a fifteen - minute comprehensive summary of the week's news at Benning — hear "Benning Newsparade," Sat. eve., 5:30 on WDAK.

Taxi Service Saves Fort Benning Money

A new taxi service here has taken 30 government automobiles off the roads, with the resulting savings to the taxpayer in gasoline, oil and maintenance.

Under the new system a "taxi" pool of government cars has been set up, says Col. S. W. Ackerman, Infantry Center transportation officer. These vehicles are on call for official trips on or off the post.

Previously, each major unit or staff section at Fort Benning had its own government sedan. Now, units which have to make official trips call the "taxi" service, and rides to the same areas are pooled in a single automobile.

Maj. Hitchcock Named Prexy Of Kennel Club

Maj. Raymond Hitchcock this week was elected president of the newly formed Fort Benning Kennel Club. Sgt. Robert Donnahue was named vice-president and trainer.

The group, with headquarters on the main post behind the Fish and Game Maintenance Association headquarters, will train dogs and instruct their members in the training of canines.

Particulars of training will include show stance, information for show, obedience training and attack of jump training. Interested individuals can contact Maj. Hitchcock at 2379 or Sgt. Donnahue at 4-4233.

Olympic Mascot

Donnahue is owner of the 90-pound German shepherd, Gallant which served as the mascot for the U.S. bobsled team in the recently completed Winter Olympic Games. The dog — which has a peculiar liking for making bobsled runs — recently was returned to Donnahue here.

It had traveled with Dick Severino, Donnahue's brother-in-law who is a member of the U.S. bobsled team and an officer in the Air Force. Oddly enough, Gallant, an Army dog, traveled through Europe as the star attraction in an Air Force good will tour.

WAC ASSIGNED

Pfc. Glena K. Boyer has been assigned to the WAC Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Service Unit, where she will serve as a cook. She was formerly assigned to the WAC Detachment at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Benning Quartermaster Saves Taxpayers Over $138,000

Hammers, nails and needle-work here saved American taxpayers last year an estimated $138,261.06.

This dollars-and-cents thrift was reported by Fort Benning Quartermaster officials who said more than 240,000 damaged items were renovated rather than salvaged.

A Quartermaster spokesman, Maj. Russell Vetter of Anniston, Ala., said the repaired items included clothing, canvas, tentage, wood and metal furniture, shoes and office appliances.

Largest savings was in repair of typewriters. By repairing the damaged machines in Army shops, instead of sending them to commercial firms, the government saved at least $47,000, he said.

TIC Sells Hog Feed Monthly for $2,000

The Infantry Center has gone into the hog feed business which nets approximately $2,000 monthly.

Edible garbage, grease and bones left over from unit kitchens here are sold to farmers and civilian firms for use as hog feed or in salvage jobs, according to Maj. Leon Forney, Quartermaster property disposal officer.

The edible garbage nets the government about $1,506.78 each month from farmers in this locality, and civilian firms buy about $432.54 worth of grease and bones.

This money is turned back into Quartermaster funds to be used on post projects.

New York Night Club Singer Serving Benning As a Typist

A night club singer in Maine and New York City before she joined the Army is now playing sweet music on a typewriter as a personnel clerk in the WAC Detachment, Section, 3-4-40th Area Service Unit.

She is Pvt. Theresa Pomerleau, who sang as Terry Martin in Old Orchid Beach, Me., and Rosedale in New York City.

She began her singing career as the female lead in a high school operetta, and broke into the professional ranks when she won a contest sponsored by Elliott Lawrence at the Pier Casino in Old Orchid Beach.

After she graduated from high school as valedictorian of her class, she continued singing and appeared at the Bon Air, the Palace Ball Room, the Town House, and the Morocco House in Old Orchid and Portland, Me.

When she was 18, she joined the WAC and took basic training at Fort Lee, Va. She was then sent to clerk-typist school at Fort Dix, N. J., and while there appeared on the Philadelphia "Open House with Ray Neil" television program.

Private Pomerleau's present plans include singing in a forthcoming soldier show here at Benning.

Senior Status Party At Polo Hunt Club

Capt. and Mrs. E. B. McCoy and Lt. D. M. Abshire were guests of honor at the combination banquet and dance.

In charge of the evening were candidates J. E. Stillman, T. J. Irvin and R. D. Hingle.

Ex-School Teacher Interprets Korean

A former English and music teacher in Seoul, Korea, high school is an interpreter here for South Korean Army officers attending The Infantry School.

He is 1st Lt. Dong Sung Kim. He and 14 other interpreters are currently translating Infantry School instruction for 150 ROKA officers attending the second special associate Infantry company officers course.

Lieutenant Kim was commissioned in September 1950 after the outbreak of the Korean fighting, and was assigned as an interpreter to the Korean Military Advisory Group a short time later. He was assigned here by his government last September, and expects to remain as long as there are Korean officers attending the school.

PENTATHLON CANCELLED

The Fort Benning Military Pentathlon scheduled April 24 has been cancelled because of an insufficient number of entries, according to Capt. William Fannin, post sports officer.

Chaplain Assists In RC Drive

Chaplain (Major) Millard F. Jefferson spoke in Carrollton, Ga., on behalf of increased support for the 1952 Red Cross Drive.

The Combat Training Command Chaplain outlined the services performed by the Red Cross, emphasizing their value to the armed forces.

About 250 people attended the meeting and closed the annual drive with a final contribution following Chaplain Jefferson's address.

2 Generals Speak To Infantry Class

Members of The Infantry School's advanced classes last week heard two outstanding speakers, one a general formerly head of the X Corps in Korea, and the other a retired general who headed Army Field Forces.

On Friday, the classes heard Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, now head of the Army's War College, talk on Korea, about "the guts of fighting," whatever unpleasant things are involved, and "the necessity of being prepared."

Gen. Almond, who commanded the 3rd Infantry Division during a period of heavy fighting in Korea, described General Ridgway's leadership of the Eighth Army as "magnificent," and said that "the Chinese Communists have been on the receiving end of a lot of punishment."

General Almond, whose speech is translated by X Corps interpreters, told the students that they would have to expect "a lot of casualties" in Korea, and that "the Chinese Communist troops are not the equal of the Japanese, but they are good soldiers."

Monday there was another distinguished visitor to the Infantry School, Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, who commanded the 1st Infantry Division in Korea. He told the students that "we are unable to understand the hesitancy we should have to depend on mobility."

Coffee Club Serves Soldiers At Benning's Army Hospital

Patients at the U.S. Army Hospital here have coffee every Friday morning through the generosity of civic organizations in Columbus and surrounding communities.

These weekly gatherings have resulted in the formation of a Coffee Club which meets in the hospital Red Cross Recreation building. Between 300 and 400 hospitalized servicemen are served coffee, doughnuts and cookies weekly, while volunteer entertainers provide amusement.

"We are grateful to the Columbus and the surrounding communities for making this activity possible," said Miss Hazel Turnage, Red Cross recreation worker at the hospital. "It makes a wonderful break in the hospital routine for the patients here.

"Miss Turnage believes hospitalized servicemen, especially the wounded, need "very much to know that the public has not forgotten them. Activities like the Coffee Club make them feel remembered," she continued.

Civic organizations rotate each Friday in sponsoring the patients Coffee Club. Some contribute funds to buy coffee, and others furnish cookies and doughnuts. Each club brings volunteer entertainers to play, sing or dance during the hour - long program.

Columbus organizations which sponsor the coffee hour include the Elks Club, Muscogee County Home Demonstration Clubs and Enal Brith.

Surrounding communities which take part are the LaGrange, Ga., Presbyterian Church and volunteer Red Cross chapters in Troupe County, LaGrange, Langdale and West Point, Ga.

Red Cross Holds Training School

Five Assistant Field Directors of the American Red Cross have completed a two - week training course which was held for the first time at Fort Benning.

John A. Cramer, Field Director of the Benning unit, acted as chief instructor for the school. His staff taught the different phases of Red Cross work.

Subjects covered included everything from administration filing to actual field work of interviewing applicants for various Red Cross services. Mr. Cramer said he expected a similar course would be offered again here in from six weeks to two months.

One of the school's students, Clifford T. Harmond, whose home is at Stafford, Va., was assigned to Benning making 10 assistant field directors stationed at the main unit here. Besides the seven clerical helpers at the main office, there are 17 additional workers assigned to the Fort Benning Army hospital.

Safety Council Planning To Offer Driving Prizes

Infantry Center drivers may soon be jockeying their vehicles through a five-part driving skill test if a plan recommended by the Infantry Center Safety Council is adopted.

In their monthly meeting held Thursday, council members recommended adoption of a "roadeo" test based on the one used by the American Trucking Association to determine who the most skillful drivers at Fort Benning are.

Norman Evans, safety director, said that the Central Post Fund has agreed to allocate $50 a month or $500 a year to be awarded to individual drivers. "We think that the roadeo test is about the best means of determining who should get these cash awards," Mr. Evans said.

The test, as set up by the American Trucking Association consists of five separate parts, and shows a driver's ability in backing, driving between obstacles, parallel parking, angle parking, and precision stops.

In addition to the actual driving tests, drivers will be judged on their appearance and on a written test to determine their knowledge of local and military traffic rules and regulations.

"If this plan is adopted," said Mr. Evans, "we plan to set up post - wide competition. Each company will select its best driver, who will complete against other drivers in his battalion, and the competition will be carried on up until the best Infantry Center driver is selected.

"We feel that this program will make drivers more safety-conscious, and as a result our traffic accidents will drop. The only major accident field in which we did not show an improvement over 1951 figures was traffic accidents.

"This March, there were 45 motor vehicle accidents, while the monthly average for 1951 was only 33.8. This represents an increase of 33.1 per cent.

"However," he continued, "the over-all accident rate was lower for March than the monthly average for last year. There were 126 accidents during March that were serious enough to require a report to higher headquarters. This was a 25 per cent reduction in the number of accidents and a 52 per cent reduction in cost from the average of 1951."

1,550 Soldiers Ask Korea Fighting Duty

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Approximately 1,550 infantrymen from all over the world have volunteered for service in Korea, the Army has announced.

SR 615-220-7 dated Nov. 26, 1951 made it possible for enlisted men qualified in an infantry career field MOS to request transfer to an infantry unit in Korea. Only the Department of the Army may disapprove such applications if the mandatory requirements outlined in the regulation are met.

Employe Utilization Methods Improve Workers Calibre

Personnel management experts at the Civilian Personnel Division here say their "methods of employe utilization result in a higher calibre of Federal employee being hired."

The 10 experts in the Employe Utilization Branch have an average of nine years experience in personnel management. Several have college degrees in business administration and personnel management.

The Civilian Personnel Division carries on a continual recruiting program to secure the right persons for Federal employment, H. A. Rininsland, chief of the Employe Utilization Branch, explained.

Posters announcing job vacancies and examinations to fill these vacancies are placed on post offices and other Federal buildings. The local Board of Civil Service Examiners gives a written and practical examination for a specific type work, such as typist, mechanics, or other positions. Applicants who pass the examinations are qualified when Federal vacancies occur.

Certain qualifications are set up for each type work, Mr. Rininsland points out. Typists are required to type at the rate of 40 words per minute, and stenographers must be able to take shorthand at 80 words per minute.

College Degrees

Specialist ratings require experience and college degrees, Mr. Rininsland continued. "Civil service librarians, for example, must have a bachelor's degree in library science or four years experience in library work before qualifying for Federal employment. Chemists and laboratory technicians must have a bachelor of science degree, and civil, structural or mechanical engineers must hold an engineering degree in their chosen field," he said.

In addition to possessing the necessary qualifications, each prospective employe is interviewed both by a member of the Employe Utilization Branch and by the official wishing to fill a vacancy in his office to ensure that the applicant is suited both in personality and background for the required work, according to Mr. Rininsland.

"We do not want anyone in Civil Service who will not reflect credit on Federal employment," he declared.

Final Choice

"The hiring official makes the final choice," the branch chief continued. "Our branch only analyzes the job and recommends several people for final selection."

After being hired, the new employe is on a trial basis for a year to ensure that he is able to perform his work efficiently. This is part of the total examining and placement process," Mr. Rininsland said.

One of the aims of Civil Service is to select qualified young men and women who will make a career of Federal employment, especially in administrative fields — and who have the capabilities to advance in efficiency and rank through the years, according to the Employe Utilization chief.

General Mueller Addresses Grads

Fer leaders are born but many are created, according to Major Gen. Paul J. Mueller, who spoke at graduation exercises here last week for associate infantry company officer class No. 20.

General Mueller, chief of the Army's Career Management Division, told the 186 junior officers that "few men have either the aptitude or the desire to lead. Although most of them want the prestige, few want the responsibility," he said.

"Army officers have little choice in the matter." General Mueller declared. "With the commission comes the responsibility of being a leader.

"Some men have a natural gift for leadership — it may even be apparent in their youth," General Mueller said. "Most successful leaders must be developed. They must have the will and ambition to develop inherent qualities."

The two-star general gave the Infantry a pat on the back, saying, "I regard the Infantry as the soldiers and the rest of the Army as helpers. The prestige of this branch of the service has been open to question occasionally, but the Infantry really won its place in the sun during World War II."

He urged the graduates to set their standards high and to expect corresponding performance.

Honor graduate was 2nd Lt. Leonard A. Brackebusch, who scored 95.7 out of a possible 100 points.

House Group Ready to Act On K-Vet Bill

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The K-Vet Bill is finally ready for approval by the House-Veterans Committee.

Congressional observers feel confident that the bill will reach the House floor for a vote before the end of May.

The bill will carry free school benefits similar in many ways to those granted WWII veterans. It is expected to cost approximately $13 billion. The program has, however, been tightened up to prevent abuses.

The bill may also contain benefits to include loan guarantees for homes, farms and businesses, social security and possible unemployment insurance coverage. It is not known, however, whether these benefits will actually be a part of the schooling bill or be contained in later legislation.

3 TIS Leaders Visit Rangers

Three Infantry School leaders are visiting the Ranger Department here and at Dahlonega, Ga., this week.

Col. George Millener, director of the Weapons Department, Col. Robert G. Turner, director of the Tactical Department, and Col. Eads G. Hardaway, director of the Staff Department, have joined officers from the Ninth Infantry Division at Fort Dix, N. J., and the 37th Infantry Division at Camp Polk, La., to attend the five-day orientation.

The group returned to Fort Benning Wednesday morning from Dahlonega after three days of following Ranger trainees on mountain problems.

They arrived at the mountain camp Saturday and spent Sunday at Hightower Creek, observing different types of climbing and survival techniques.

Monday the officers saw Rangers formulate and carry out both a day reconnaissance and a night combat patrol.

The visitors will see mountain climbing techniques today and accompany trainees on the daylight portion of a day and night combat patrol.

At Fort Benning the party will see hand to hand combat, attend a lecture on reptiles and receive an orientation on the jungle training taught at the Ranger Department's Florida camp near Pensacola.

The visiting officers are scheduled to return to their home stations Thursday afternoon.

Columbus Safety Director Addresses Safety Meeting

Thomas A. Erwin, Columbus, Ga., Safety Director, was guest speaker at the regular monthly safety meeting at The Infantry Center last Friday night.

Mr. Erwin outlined some of the more serious local problems and their solutions for a group of more than 350 transportation officers and government drivers.

Chief cause of accidents during the last year, according to the guest speaker, was failure to observe the right of way, speeding, driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol, disregarding traffic signals and signs and reckless driving — in that order.

"We have tried to eliminate these factors by making more cases on each of them," Mr. Erwin said.

"Among the things we have done recently to improve the traffic situation in Columbus are new speed limit signs on Victory Drive within the city limits, widening the cross walks in the center of blocks in the addition of no-turn signs in the same areas during rush hours, relocation of loading zones and bus stops out of the direct line of traffic.

"We have also widened Thirteenth Street recently and replaced many two-color traffic lights with the three-color ones to give drivers and pedestrians a warning when the light is to change."

Mr. Erwin said Fort Benning drivers could do a lot to help the traffic situation by observing city traffic regulations as well as they do those on post. "Help to familiarize other Fort Benning personnel with our regulations, too," he urged. "One of the best methods of getting them across is by way of mouth."

Mr. Erwin was introduced by Col. Stephen Ackerman, post Transportation officer. Others present included Col. Charles Karlstad, Infantry Center chief of staff, Maj. Walter H. DeChristoro, assistant provost marshal, and Traffic Capt. E. S. Moncrief, of the Columbus Police Department.

Slated to Take Course

Col. Cortlandt K. Krams, Area Service Unit Provisional Group commander, and Col. Ralph N. Woods, commander of Combat Training Command and have left for one-week schools beginning on April 21.

Colonel Krams reported Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., for a course in preventive maintenance on that date, while Colonel Woods will go to Southern Pines, N. C. to take an air-indoctrination course.

Third Army Stations Receive Honor Award for Safety Score

Fort Benning came in for a pat on the back this week along with all Third Army stations when the National Safety Council awarded the entire Third Army its Award of Honor for reducing motor vehicle accidents and accidental injuries.

The presentation was made at Fort McPherson, Ga. April 28. Ned H. Dearborn, president of the organization, presented the award to Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, Third Army commander, at 3 p.m. Present for the ceremony were officials of the Georgia State Highway Department; Elliot Parker, Department of the Army safety director; W. R. Knapp, Third Army safety director; K. E. Neal, Third Army safety engineer; Col. F. A. Kreidel, Third Army provost marshal and other Third Army staff officers.

Representing the Georgia Highway Patrol were Lt. Col. E. S. Burke, chief of the Patrol's safety education division, and his assistant Sgt. R. L. Crawford.

Based on the marked improvement in traffic safety and other accident prevention records made by the 41 installations within the seven state Third Army area last year, the Award of Honor is one of the highest such commendations presented by the National Safety Council.

Only one other Army command within the continental U.S. received this award for 1951 achievement.

Operations of military vehicles within the Third Army area last year saw the Army chalk up a record of only one accident for every 67,000 miles traveled. A similar low record was set in accidental injuries other than traffic mishaps, with a mark of only one man injured per each 10,562 man-days of operation.

Major installations within the Army area are Fort Benning, Fort McPherson, Ga., Camp Gordon, Ga., Camp Stewart, Ga., Camp Rucker, Ala., Fort McClellan, Ala., Fort Bragg, N.C., and Fort Jackson, S.C.

Spirit of Armed Forces Day Told

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett and the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force issued statements recently, stressing the spirit and purpose of Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 17.

Secretary Lovett said: To our men overseas, and particularly to those who have been engaged in combat in Korea, every day has been an Armed Forces Day of united effort in our common defense of freedom.

"Armed Forces Day this year should serve to emphasize the practical application of unification in action, and to remind us of the continued need for unity in our Armed Forces and among all of our citizens in the interests of security and peace."

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. stated: "The slogan for this third annual Armed Forces Day is most appropriate, for the unity and strength of the Armed Forces exemplify our determination to resist any threat to American rights and liberties.

"The Army is proud to work with its sister Services and is constantly alert to discover ways in which the regular Army, the Organized Reserve and the National Guard can make full and continuing contributions to the welfare of our nation."

Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball asserted: "Armed Forces Day gives all Americans an opportunity to join in a merited tribute to the men and women whose first reponsibility is the security of the nation.

"We of the Navy play host on that day and we invite our citizens to visit the ships and stations of the Navy and the Marine Corps and to see for themselves what we are doing to promote unity, which is the ultimate strength of freedom."

Secretary of the Air Force Thomas K. Finletter stated: "Armed Forces Day is more than a day on which we honor the men and women of our Armed Services. It is a notice to the world that we intend to maintain such strength that war will be unprofitable to any possible enemy.

"The Air Force firmly believes that, if we maintain this strength, there is a real chance that the world will be freed of the threat of war."

Have A Good Insurance Plan

Upon being questioned a number of soldiers did not even know who their beneficiaries were or what settlement provisions were to be made in the event of their death. Do you? Others had designated mother, fathers, brothers, cousins, friends, etc., as beneficiaries several years ago when they first took out their NSLI policies.

Since then, however, they have married and have had children, all who have not been projected by this insurance. Does this apply in your case? Do you know who are the beneficiaries of your insurance policy? Again, others seem to have chosen the option settlement by picking one of four numbers without fully understanding the option settlement.

Do you remember which option you chose? Do you fully understand how it will be paid off? Will it be sufficient to provide your dependents with enough during the period they will need it the most?

Have you ever sat down with your dependents and estimated how much it will cost them to live, how long they will need that amount, how much your wife will need after the children have become self sufficient, and based this estimate on the condition of your dying today?

Have you ever stopped to think that your wife will need an immediate cash reserve available immediately upon your death for the purpose of meeting expenses always caused by a death and readjustment to a life without your continuous support?

Did you know that your NSLI is flexible to the point that you may have a partial cash settlement upon death with the balance paid in monthly installments? Did you know that once you, as the insured, designate an option of payment for your insurance, your beneficiary may not change it to receive more money over a shorter period of time although he or she may change it to receive a lesser amount over a longer period of time?

Remember, it is dependent upon your arriving at a sensible plan now, whether your dependents will be properly cared for. Everything requires your signature and your dead body is incapable of signing anything. Even if you are certain your programming is adequate check with your unit personnel officer. You may be surprised at what you didn't know. (This editorial was reprinted from the Fort Dix, N.J., POST.)

Religious Awakening Becoming Apparent

Chaplain (Capt.) Robert F. Washburn

The religious awakening in America that has become increasingly apparent in recent days has been confirmed by statistics. The National Council Of Churches in a recent survey reported by TIME magazine shows an overall gain of 51.6 per cent in membership in the 54 largest religious bodies during the period 1926-1949. In the same period U. S. population increased about 30 per cent. Regardless of what may be said of church membership such an increase is a token of marked reempbasis on religion. Especially is this true when we take into consideration the falling away in religion prior to this period.

It is hardly necessary to point out that this religious emphasis is no new thing to America. Every school boy well knows that religion was one of the prime factors in the establishing of the 13 original colonies. One of the first acts of our pilgrim fathers after setting foot on this continent was the setting up of religious worship; and the Bible from which the preacher preached on Sunday was a textbook in the school during the week.

With religion so fundamentally linked to the founding of our nation it is almost incredible that there should be such a degeneration in religious thinking and practice as that which followed World War I. Characteristic of this degeneration was the breaking up of multitudes of homes and rampaging juvenile delinquency.

It is significant that when religion was most discredited in America, communism was most favorably viewed. One of the most often repeated Marxist quotations was "Religion is the opiate of the masses." Yet it was during the period when our forefathers most fervently prayed and worshiped that our economic, political and geographical frontiers were most energetically expanded.

In a recent COLLIERS editorial it was pointed out that communism by its misuse of such terms as "true freedom and true democracy and true science", has been able to lead many into believing that its program is progressive when in reality it "actually carries its victims back to a world that existed at the dawn of history. It represents something which free men have been struggling against through the ages. It represents the denial of every ambition for individual freedom".

What then was the cause of this return to religion? Pierce Harris in a recent article on the front page of THE ATLANTA JOURNAL said that on June 6, 1944-Invasion Day "America put God back at the core of things". He pictures a nation moved toward God; people crowding the streets on their way to some church to pray. Perhaps this scene as told by Mr. Harris best illustrates the point. After dinner one evening a woman rose to greet a blond, broad-shouldered young man who had come through the door. Placing her arm affectionately about his shoulders she said without embarrassment, "It was while Jimmie was on Okinawa, we all learned how to pray".

There are many things that would suggest that this revival of religion is particularly fitting in our land; Congress opening its sessions with prayer; a national Thanksgiving Day; the inscription "In God We Trust" on our coins; a General bowing his head amid the ruins of Seoul to repeat the Lord's Prayer. All these and many others speak loudly of the fact that America has a rich religious heritage.

Ike Out, Clark to FECOM, Ridgway to SHAPE

President Truman this week announced several changes in commands of top-ranking generals, brought about by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement that he will return to the U.S. in June. Taking his place in Europe as commander of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe, will be Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, now commander of the Far East Command and former Eighth Army commander in Korea. Stepping into General Ridgway's shoes will be Gen. Mark Clark, now commanding general of Army Field Forces. In turn, Third Army Commander Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge will become Army Field Forces commander. No successor to General Hodge has as yet been named.

The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld a decision of a New York court concerning the system of releasing public school children from classes to receive religious education away from school property. The six to three decision, which brought sharp dissents from Justices Jackson, Black and Frankfurter, in effect sanctions released - time programs involving some two million pupils in most of the 48 states. This ruling came several years after the court held in a similar case that religious instruction cannot be given to pupils, grouped according to sects, on public school property.

The aircraft carrier Wasp limped into port Monday night with 61 survivors from the destroyed minesweeper Hobson, which it cut in two in a mid-Atlantic collision Saturday night. Missing and apparently lost were 176 other members of the Hobson's crew. One of the worst peacetime disasters in American naval history, the Hobson was sliced in two parts by the Wasp and sank within four minutes. The Hobson, along with another converted destroyer, the Rodman, were escorting the Wasp to the Mediterranean in a task force when the accident occurred.

In Whiteville, N.C., a jury has been called in from another county to try 27 men charged with Ku Klux Klan terrorism because there are so many similar unsolved cases in the county where the alleged acts were committed. Solicitor of the Superior Court said that kin of defendants in numerous unsolved cases of floggings and other Klan violence live throughout Columbia County. Two of the defendants on hand for opening of trial of more than two score cases of floggings, kidnappings and other Klan violence were indicted by a grand jury and slated to have their cases tried with 13 others already cited.

Report From Washington

Reservists Responsible for Clothing

Enlisted men released from active duty to a Reserve component will be responsible for items of personal clothing after they leave the Army. Under new regulation SR. 32-135-1, soldiers released from active duty are required to have in their possession, in serviceable condition, personal clothing items authorized for the National Guard or for the Enlisted Reserve Corps. If the individual's clothing record indicates a shortage of items which were previously issued but not turned in, the soldier will be required to purchase the items from personal funds. A showdown inspection will be given prior to release from active duty and again when the individual reports to his Reserve component. A different procedure has been described for personnel under the clothing issue-in-kind system.

On The Bookshelf

BY SGT. TIM WARREN

THE EARTHBREAKERS by Ernest Haycox, Boston; Little, Brown and Company, 405 pages, $3.50.

The Earthbreakers is written by a man who has turned out dozens of lively westerns for magazines and pulp-publications. It does not follow the conventional formula but departs from the form that so many writers of westerns adhere to.

As a reader you will find yourself wandering in an unknown country and mentally involved in problems that the simple frontier rancher and cowboy did not know.

Covering the space of one year, the novel follows a dozen families and three single, unattached men through their final portion of their crossing of the continent in a wagon train to find fertile land in Western Oregon.

The author picks the group up 90 miles from its destination and brings out the perils that have confronted the settlers throughout their journey. They eventually choose a site on the Columbia River called Oregon City.

The settlers start to establish their township as winter is preparing to set in. By the time winter is on them the unity of the group has become endangered by certain antagonisms and rivalries.

As seems to always be inevitable, woman trouble begins almost immediately after the settlement is established. Katherine Gay, daughter of the community leader, was engaged to an amiable young man but she turns to another who is being wooed by Eda Lattimore.

Social life being as it is in small communities, there was nothing that the older women did not know about the younger generation of the group. They naturally disapprove that any young women who was unmarried was a danger to the peace and security of all concerned.

They tolerated Eda because they realized that she was good at heart, just as they tolerated Lucy Collingswood who was unfaithful to her husband. These women could be counted on to accept near starvation and hardships and to keep their husbands and children in health.

It is common in western writings that romance, rather than undiluted sex, always plays a traditional part. Mr. Haycox defies this tradition in his revelations of amorous interludes, but returns to convention in the eventual joining of his hero and heroine, Rice Burnett and Katherine Gay.

The manner in which Mr. Haycox sees fit to do this pays dividends to the readers who stay with him through his 400 odd pages, of some of the easiest - reading western yarn that has been published recently.

If you may be inclined to say that the book is somewhat oversexed, you must also be prepared to argue against those who maintain that the breed of men and woman who tamed the western wilderness was as demanding of life as any that ever lived.

Civilian Employe Owes Job To Affliction, She Says

BY MAY PIGOTT

The new program director of Service Club No. 1 owes her job to affliction.

Miss Mary Mangum, who was assigned to Benning on April 14, is a graduate of Florence State Teachers' College, Florence, Ala., where she majored in Physical Education and Biological Science.

A severe attack of polio when she was 16 years old started her on her career. She spent three months in an iron lung, and nine months on crutches and in braces. Many more months of treatments were required before she could walk.

"I have never been so low in my life. I thought my life was over, that I would never walk again. Since I had always been so active the idea of being an invalid was terrifying", Miss Mangum said.

"I decided that with all the modern methods and treatments to help me, I would do everything in my power not to be an invalid".

During the tedious round of treatments, she watched with great interest the highly skilled physical therapists. From her close connection with the work came the desire to go into that profession.

When she had recovered sufficiently she entered college with that goal in mind. During her early college years she took up ballet and tap dancing as an aid to help build the muscles damaged by her illness.

Changed Mind

During her course of study Mary changed her mind about being a therapist and decided to devote her future to recreational work.

Although she was still going to Birmingham, Ala., for treatment, she lead a more than active life at college. In addition to her studies, ballet and tap, she was a member of the college Glee Club, took piano, and did modeling in her spare time.

Mary decided she wanted to do a special kind of recreational work when she finished college and looked into the possibility of securing a job with the Department of the Army's Special Services section.

Following her graduation from college, she applied to Third Army for the necessary blanks for a Special Services position. She lacked the two years of experience although she had the necessary educational background.

For Experience

Mary applied for and got a position teaching Physical Education at Pell City High School, Pell City, Ala., to obtain the necessary experience. During off duty hours she did recreational and playground work, coached the basketball and softball teams and taught acrobatics. She conducted private classes in ballet, tap, and ballroom dancing. And she still found time to do some modeling.

When the experience was acquired, Miss Mangum again applied to Third Army and was sent to Benning.

An attractive brunette with a sparkling personality, Mary Mangum is very enthusiastic about her job and is tackling the details with her customary vigor.

Kind People

She laughingly said, "This is my first experience with the Army, and army personnel and I have so much to learn about my job. All the staff and the people with whom I have come in contact have been more than kind to me. I am sure I will get the hang of things before too long".

Not content with being a dancer, singer, pianist, and acrobat, she has a scholarship waiting for her. Last year she entered the "Miss Southern Belle", beauty contest in Birmingham, Ala., and walked away with top honors and a scholarship to the Barbizon Model School in New York.

"The scholarship can be used anytime within the next three years, but since I have secured this job, I doubt that I'll use it", she said.

Miss Mangum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mangum of Waterloo, Ala.

TIC Chief Places Wreath On Gen. Benning's Grave

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, placed a wreath on the grave of Confederate Army Major Gen. Henry L. Benning, for whom Fort Benning is named, during Confederate Memorial Day ceremonies in Columbus, Ga., April 26.

Two firing squads from the Combat Training Command here fired volleys over the graves of Confederate dead, following the playing of the National Anthem by Columbus' Junior high school Band. Buglers from the post's 122nd Army Band played taps.

Confederate Memorial Day ceremonies began at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Columbus, where the 122nd Army Band played a serenade of Stephen Foster melodies for 30 minutes. Following the band concert, memorial services were conducted at the church.

A parade formed at 4 p.m. at the junction of Third Avenue and 12th Street, marching east on 12th Street to Sixth Avenue, north on Sixth Avenue and Linwood Boulevard into Linwood Cemetery, where the memorial ceremonies were held, Parade Marshal John Winn announced.

The parade included a motorcycle escort and standard bearers carrying the United States and Confederate States flag. Columbus and Fort Benning officials rode in the parade, escorted by the Junior high school band, ROTC units from Columbus public schools, Columbus High School Band, and other school bands.

Graveside ceremonies at Linwood Cemetery were held from 1:20 to 4:30 p.m.

A Fort Benning firing squad also fired volleys over Confederate graves in Girard Cemetery, Phenix City, Ala., at 4:30 p.m.

Civic ceremonies in Columbus were sponsored by the Columbus chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

198th Artillery Battalion Observes Birthday Today

The 198th, a Kentucky National Guard organization, traces its history back to 1839. The unit arrived at Fort Benning in January from Camp Polk, La. where they were sent after being federalized for the third time.

They were first mustered into federal service for the Mexican War and subsequently served in the Civil War, Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II and have not been called for the Korean conflict.

One of two field artillery battalions at the Infantry School, the 198th shows Infantry students what they can expect from artillery units when they reach combat. The unit has 18 155mm howitzers, the largest type gun at Fort Benning, which are employed to acquaint Infantry officers and officer candidates with the techniques of artillery and the types of artillery support available.

Lt. Col. William J. Takacs, commanding officer, explains "We emphasize accuracy and speed in delivery of fire support for the Infantry. When the doughboys ask for artillery, we have to be able to give it to them where and when they want it."

Only a few of the original complement of officers and men who were with the unit last year are still with it. Most are serving overseas in Korea and in Europe. Many of the battalion's present members are Korean returnees who are contributing their combat-tested knowledge to the unit's effectiveness as school troops.

Having received Infantry tactics as part of their basic training, personnel of the battalion are called on to double as Infantrymen when not busy with artillery duties.

"We considered having a battalion picnic to celebrate the birthday", says Colonel Takacs, "however, taking into consideration the situation that provoked the recall to active duty of this and other units, we think the best way to celebrate our birthday is by working as usual."

HIS SHARE . . . It isn't everyone who can squeeze into a plasma bottle like Pfc. R. C. Davis of Heavy Mortar Company, 30th Infantry, but we can all get into it by donating our share of blood for the Korean lifeline. Heavy Mortar Company has joined the ranks of those organizations which have reached the 100 per cent donation mark among eligible personnel.

RA Personnel May Get Cash

Regular Army personnel who enlisted prior to Oct. 12, 1949 (effective date of the new pay law) may elect to take an enlistment allowance or reenlistment bonus.

An enlistment allowance of $50 a year for each year completed on a former enlistment, not to exceed $300 in lieu of a reenlistment bonus, provided reenlistment is accomplished within 3 months from date of separation is now available.

The following example is cited:

An individual who enlisted in the Regular Army on May 1, 1948 for a period of three years and who was subsequently extended for another year, may reenlist on May 1, 1952 for a period of three years and receive a total of $200 for the four years completed on his previous enlistment.

Payment of this enlistment allowance will not count as one of the four enlistments for which reenlistment bonus is payable. The choosing of an enlistment allowance is entirely elective with the individual and does not preclude his choosing a longer period of service which would authorize a reenlistment bonus in excess of $200.

Current reenlistment bonus rates are as follows:

Three year, $90; four years, $160; five years, $250, and six years and unspecified period, $360.

'Dead' Trooper Comes Alive

508th ARCT Jumper Stays Unconscious for Eight Hours

BY LT. ROBERT W. PEENEY
PIO-508th Abn. ROE

Pvt. Ambrose Harrison Garber, III, today is a very much-alive paratrooper in Battery B of the 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion.

But on April 8—when he parachuted down upon Texas—he was mistakenly tagged "dead on arrival" by Medics of the 24th Evacuation Hospital in the closing phase of Exercise Long Horn.

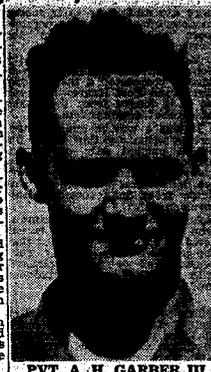
It was an honest mistake because for some eight hours after his parachute slammed him to the ground, Private Garber was unconscious. During his blackout, here's what happened:

He hit the ground hard and went out like a light. A whirring yellow H-19 Army helicopter swooped down, picked up his limp body and flew him some 50 miles to the 24th Evacuation Hospital.

Medics looked at his still form and the tag marked DOA—Dead On Arrival. Two litter-bearers started to carry him to the morgue.

Suddenly, Private Garber sat up. "Where am I," he asked. "Boy, my back hurts!"

The horrified litter-bearers



PVT. A. H. GARBER III

dropped their burden. He was bundled off to a bed. Finally he "came to" to find several nurses and doctors crowded about his bed.

"They made what they thought were witty remarks," recalls Pvt. Garber. "One doctor quipped, 'He doesn't look very dead to me.' The nurses called me their 'prize patient' and 'pride and joy.'

"All I remember," says Garber, "is that I jumped as the No. seven man to the left stick of one of the last planes over Drop-Zone Blue. I didn't even get sick during the 90-minute plane ride through buffeting winds. The last thing I recall is that I was oscillating a lot under my parachute and the ground was coming up mighty fast. . ."

Then there is the trooper who was reported "likely to die" by the 24th medics. All he had was a broken neck. He is Sgt. William C. Mayes, 22-year-old twice-wounded Korean veteran from Birmingham, Ala.

"A little thing like a broken neck isn't going to conk me out," quips Sergeant Mayes. "As soon as I get rid of this white horse-collar (cast), I'll be ready for my 46th jump!"

Sergeant Mayes probably suffered his injury because he rammed into another fellow 508th medic, who had landed safely and was treating another trooper with a dislocated shoulder.

(EDITORS NOTE: Lt. Feeney himself was reported "dead" in the Tulsa, Okla., World in a jumbled-up re-write of a United Press story on the 508th's new historic jump April 8 in Central Texas. The former Buffalo, N. Y., Evening News, sportswriter is going to use the Tulsa World's report of his "death" as a wedge to get a story of the 508th in that paper.

But there were many humorous incidents surrounding the airborne operation of the 3090 Red Devils who poured down upon two fields—Drop-Zone Red and Drop-Zone Blue—that windy, sunny dawn of April 8 some 16 miles south of Goldthwaite, Texas.

Ride 'Em Cowboy

Lt. Col. Clyde M. Dillender Jr., jolly First Battalion commander, tells of "there I was on the ground trying to collapse my own chute when one of the artillery men went skidding past me on his reserve chute and hanging on to the risers of his wind-driven main-chute, yelling 'Hi yo, Silver!'"

Perhaps the "last man" to jump in the 508th was Cpl. Gerald R. Willett, 21-year-old radio-breakdown NCO from Springville, N. Y. Corporal Willett tells his tale this way:

"I was the last man in the right stick of the 51st plane (C-16's) over Drop-Zone Red. When the green light came on, I shuffled down to the door and jumped. At least I thought I did. . . but I found myself hanging outside of the plane, being battered against the fuselage by the hooked inside on the right side of the door.

"Try as I might," says Willett, "I couldn't get loose or get back inside the plane for at least a minute. Finally, the Air Force sergeant yelled, 'You're going to go, trooper,' and pushed me loose. I fell clear and floated down to land some 15 miles south of the drop-zone. I suffered slight injury to my left side when I landed in a pasture and was picked up by the enemy, the 82nd Airborne Division."

Cactus Casualty

Indicative of the high mark of discipline among the Red Devils is the fact that very little equipment was lost. Especially by Headquarters Company of the Third Battalion. That was because the company commander, First Lt. John Lyerly Taft, unable to jump because he had stepped on a prickly cactus-plant one moonlit night, hustled around the drop-zone picking up what helmets, canteens and weapons his men dropped.

One trooper in Company I won a case of beer when he found, the day after the jump, a pair of glasses lost by an officer. The goggles floated down 1,000 feet and didn't break.

If the 508th left its mark on Texas, then Texas also left its mark on the 508th. In the Sand Hill area today you can see any number of troops wearing ten-gallon Texas hats during sports-period. And now and then a pair of red high-heeled cowboy boots.

Several of the "Fury From The Sky" troopers brought back pets such as the armadillo caught by Sfc. Charles G. Fritz of Company I. "I chased it a mile with a bayonet before I got it," he boasts.

Other mementoes include snake-skins, live toads and lizards, a badger, a stuffed eagle and four live squirrels which Company L has in a cage.

Then there's the baby bull which Chaplain (Capt.) Clifford C. Carter bought for $42.50 near Brownwood, Tex. He hauled it back in his trailer, feeding it milk from a steel helmet.

RECRUITING OFFICER

Capt. Frank G. Carr Jr., has been named police and prison and recruiting officer for Combat Training Command. He is a former NCO boxer who was commanding officer of the headquarters and headquarters company, and military policemen.

British Newsman Reassured By Visit to United States

"Reassuring" was the word British Military Coorespondent Chester Wilmot used last Friday to describe the attitude of the people he has talked to in the United States.

The London Observer newspaperman, visiting Fort Benning, said the entire outlook on this side of the ocean was more restrained and moderate than the people in Europe had been led to believe. He said that to find reaction here against the idea of an immediate and all-out preventive war was "most assuring."

Mr. Wilmot who has made several previous visits to the United States and also has had contact with U. S. troops overseas, said he had noticed a definite shift in tactical emphasis "probably due to the Korean war" on his current tour of military training installations.

"Instead of concentrating mainly on the offensive, I now see more extensive training in defensive tactics than before," the visiting newspaperman said. "You are still not giving it as much emphasis as, say, Canada, England or France," he concluded.

The British author, a former British Broadcasting Corporation correspondent during world War II, arrived in New York, March 30, for the publication of his book, "The Struggle for Europe," a current best-seller.

He is now engaged in writing an offical history of the war for Australia. "In the future," Mr. Wilmot said, "I should like to do an overall study of Allied strategy."

Mr. Wilmot spent two days at The Infantry Center. He will visit Fort Bragg, N. C., before returning to England May 9.

Educators Tour Fort Benning

Approximately 125 delegates to the Georgia Distributive Education Convention meeting in Columbus April 22-23 toured the Infantry Center last Sunday.

The education group, whose members are between the ages of 16 and 20, saw the Main Post and Lawson Air Force Base on their hour-long visit here.

Delegates from Alanta, Macon, Augusta and Columbus were represented at the two-day convention. Spencer High School in Columbus was host.

Pioneer Paratrooper Now Benning Civilian Employe

ADOLPH PIONTEK

One of the Army's earliest paratroopers now uses his experience as an officer and enlisted man to advise Infantry Center servicemen on allotments, discharges, officer candidate school and other problems.

Adolph Piontek, chief of the Adjutant General's Enlisted Actions Branch here, spent 12 years in the Army as an enlisted man and officer. He says those years have given him a good background for helping him solve the hundreds of problems that cross his desk each day.

As one of the Army's early paratroopers, he attended the old Parachute School here in 1942 when it was still known as the Provisional Parachute group.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. Piontek graduated from Franklin K. Lane High School there, and enlisted in the Army in 1933. He saw overseas service in the Panama Canal zone and in the Philippines.

Mr. Piontek received his commission from the Infantry Officer Candidate School here in 1941. He was promoted to captain in March, 1943.

During World War II, he served with the 505th Airborne Infantry Regiment, jumping with that unit in Sicily and Italy. Wounds received in action forced him to retire from the Army as a captain in 1946. He then came to Fort Benning to work in the Enlisted Actions Office.

"I've always liked the Army," he said, "so I want to go on working with it as a Civil Service employee."

Mr. Piontek fills in his spare time with gardening, his favorite hobby next to reading old classics of literature.

Now finishing his college education, he attends the University of Georgia Off-Campus Center in Columbus, Ga., where he is specializing in business administration.

BENNING RADIO NEWS

MEN WHO FALL through the sky will take to the air this Sunday noon over Columbus station WGBA AM-FM, when 1st Lt. Robert W. Feeney, PIO for the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, interviews paratroopers, Cpl. Gerald R. Willett and Pvt. Ambrose H. Garber.

The men from the 508th will be featured on the Sunday's "Fort Benning Feature Page" over WGBA. Tune to this station for the true stories of Corporal Willett who was hung up outside of the plane for five miles before he broke loose, and Pvt. Garber who was marked mistakenly dead on arrival for eight hours after he parachuted from his plane.

Listen each Sunday to "Fort Benning Feature Page" for a dramatic presentation of the week's news at The Infantry Center.

ONE OF FORT BENNING'S most talented groups of musicians are currently appearing every Tuesday and Friday evening in the recently opened Cabaret "X" at the Main Officer's Club.

Cpl. Lou Gentile and his versatile "Melodairs", composed of Sgt. Charles Diamonoff who doubles on electric violin and bass; Pfc. Pat Curtis who doubles on piano and accordian, and Sgt. Frank Baglione who plays guitar and piano will be featured on the bandstands of the Officer's Mess every Tuesday and Friday evening, and at Pine Lodge each Wednesday night.

Listeners to "Benning In Review" (WRBL AM-FM, Sat. eve., 6:15) are well - acquainted with the musical abilities of the "Melodairs" who have been performing regularly on the WRBL show.

THE MEN of the 198th Field Artillery battalion will also be honored on this Sunday's "Fort Benning Feature Page" over station WGBA, when the Combat Training Command reporter Pfc. Bill Nowland, interviews personnel of the organization which is celebrating its first anniversary since its reactivation last May 1, 1951.

LISTENING REMINDER: The CBS radio network (WRBL AM-FM, Columbus, Ga.) presents two, highly - informative military news programs each week — "State of the Nation," Sundays at 12:45 p.m. and "You and Your Government" — Saturday, 6:45 p.m.

Both of these programs along with "Time For Defense" (ABC net., Mon. eve., 10:30-11:00) are excellent programs to aid the listener in getting a more complete picture on the American state of military preparedness.

Patients Hear Post Musicians At Foundation

Volunteer musicians from Fort Benning entertained patients at the Warm Springs Infantile Paralysis Foundation last Sunday with an hour and a half program of light and serious music.

Approximately 800 patients at the Warm Springs hospital gathered in the open air patio at the foundation to hear the Army group. Following the show, the foundation entertained the musical group with a box supper.

The Fort Benning entertainers included Pfc. Jerry Glassman, master of ceremonies, Pvt. Leroy Howard, tap dancer, and Pfc. Lou Geisler, vocalist.

Corporal Bernie Walsh entertained the polio patients with sleight of hand tricks, and Pfc. Al Palermo played the accordion.

Lt. Rudy Jorgensen, Infantry Center theater and Soldier Shows officer, sang selections from operettas.

Two group numbers were presented by the Wagonmasters, be Soldiers Shows' hillbilly band, headed by Sgt. Joe Robertson, and a three-piece combo led by Pfc. Norman Packman, a member of the 122nd Army Band at Fort Benning.

Mock War Termed Success, Umpires Reported Here

Umpires of a full-sized war here are adding up their scores to determine how many persons were "killed," who "fought" the hardest and who won.

More than 1,400 Infantry School students and faculty yesterday completed a three - day Command Post Exercise, a war as it is fought from the desks of combat commanders.

It was a war in every sense, except actual fighting troops which existed only on paper. Their "deaths" and "wounds" were administered on paper, too, by umpires watching the students order the forces into battle on maps.

An Infantry School spokesman who said no definite statement could be made now, reported that the problem was "highly successful, and we're very pleased with the showing the students made."

Two Forces

Two forces—Blue (Friendly) and Red (Enemy) — were matched against each other in a 50-square mile area at Fort Benning. Their movements, maneuvers and successes were governed by the decisions of desk bound student commanders.

During the three-days of on-paper fighting, propaganda leaflets were dropped from low-flying airplanes, Air Force fighters simulated strafing swoops across enemy-held areas and mythical artillery barrages smashed into mythical troops.

The only genuine shots fired during the problem were blank cartridges used by a small raiding party which several times assaulted headquarters areas to test defenses.

Otherwise, there was no shooting. Officials also said there were no reports of actual casualties although simulated deaths and injuries climbed toward "several hundred."

The problem said Infantry school officials, gave students a chance to apply under field conditions the techniques of supply, intelligence and tactics learned in classrooms.

"BIGGER BARGAIN today than it was 10 years ago..."

The number of telephones the typical Southern family can call at the local service rate has more than doubled in ten years. And the service is better.

Meanwhile, in a period of rising prices, the price of telephone service has increased far less than wages and family income . . . far less than most of the goods and services that make up the every-day cost of living.

Yes, telephone service always was one of the biggest bargains in the family budget. Today it's an even bigger bargain than it was ten years ago.

Officer Speaks On Propaganda

A former psychological warfare officer in the Third Infantry Division discussed "Communist Propaganda," as a guest lecturer in a troop information hour held in Headquarters and Service Company, First Student Brigade.

He is Capt. Lonnie E. McCugh, who fought Communist propaganda with leaflets and radio broadcasts beamed at the minds of North Korean and Chinese Communists in Korea.

"Although certain aspects of psychological warfare were practiced before recorded history," he said, "our country did not use psychological warfare units as part of our military establishment until we entered World War I.

"By 1944, many psychological warfare units were attached to Army headquarters. In Korea, the operations and effects of this type of warfare were at first closely guarded secrets. But as the intensity and importance of psychological warfare increased, newspapers and radio picked up the story.

"Starting with leaflets dropped behind enemy lines by our planes, our present psychological warfare program reaches the individual soldier in many ways. Loudspeaker units in planes and motor vehicles, as well as portable units, are constantly hammering away at the thoughts of the enemy in his foxhole. In Korea, we used recordings of Chinese folk songs and anthems."

Though many of the methods now being employed are still secret, Captain McCugh explained that the best results are obtained when psychological warfare tactics are used in conjunction with other tactics.

Laundry Tells Limit Changes

The Quartermaster Laundry has announced that the limitation on cotton khaki and fatigue clothing in the 25 piece, $1 bundle is no longer in effect.

All items such as cotton khaki shirts, trousers and HBT within the 25 piece limitation will be starched and pressed in the laundry with no increase in cost to the individual.

The provisions of the 50 cent flat rate bundle still apply in that the limitation of 12 pieces in the bundle, exclusive of laundry bag, may include four pieces of cotton khaki shirts and-or trousers or items of HBT. The processing of one HBT suit may be substituted for each two pieces of khaki.

508th ARCT Ends First Year's Activity May 5

After one of the most gruelling training periods ever put to an airborne outfit, the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team will make note of its first year of reactivation on Monday, May 5.

Commanded by Col. Joe S. Lawrie, the 508th Red Devils have passed all airborne and ground tests and survived two brief maneuvers since their colors were taken out of mothballs at Fort Bragg, N. C., on May 5, 1951.

Actually, May 5 will commemorate the first reactivation anniversary of the 508th Airborne Infantry Regiment. It wasn't until August 1, here at Fort Benning, that the other members of the Airborne RCT were reactivated —the 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion under Lt. Col. John W. Grady and the 598th Airborne Engineer Company, under Capt. Allen P. Liberty.

Both the 508th Infantry and the 320th Artillery have colorful histories and sterling combat records. The 508th Infantry sports seven streamers from its colors for honors earned during World War II at Normandy, Holland, Ardennes and Central Europe. After V-E Day the 508th Red Devils became honor guards for General Eisenhower at Frankfurt, Germany.

The 320th, which began as ground artillery in World War I and finished up as Glider Artillery in World War II with the 82nd Airborne Division, flies nine streamers for the following campaigns: WW I—St. Mihiel, Meuse - Argonne and Lorraine; World War II — Naples-Foggia, Normandy, Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace and Central Europe.

The 320th, on basis of its Army Field Forces tests prior to leaving for Exercise Long Horn in Texas last March, currently is rated one of the Army's top field artillery battalions with the rating of "superior."

7,000 Attempt To Crack Safe

As proof that safe cracking is still a tough racket, more than 7,000 Fort Benning soldiers have attempted to open a safe at Service Club No. 1.

The contest, which has been underway for about five weeks, will continue until some sensitive - fingered soldier manages to work the combination and claim the $15 prize tucked away inside.

Miss Helen Baker, Service Club director, says that the safe has been turned upside down, moved on its side and shaken by eager contestants and still it has not been opened.

Schedule Told For Automobile Registration

The schedule of registration of privately operated motor vehicles has been released by Infantry Center Headquarters.

Civilian personnel operating with the red tags will not have to re-register their vehicles at this time. All military personnel with the exception of those who have the new post tags must re-register their automobiles.

The schedule for registration is as follows:

Infantry School Detachment, May 7 - 20.

Army Field Forces Board No. 3 May 7 - 20.

First Student Brigade, May 21-27.

Combat Training Command, May 28 - June 2.

Area Service Unit Provisional Group June 3 - 4.

Provisional Medical Group, June 5 - 6.

Lawson Air Force Base, June 16.

Training Camp No. 1, June 16.

Application forms will be distributed through units. The hours for inspection and registration are 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. The inspection station is located on Edwards Street between Marchant Street and Wold Avenue.

Two Brothers Become Eagle Scouts Here

Two Fort Benning brothers received the Boy Scout's highest award at a court of honor at Pratt Hall last night. Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, made the presentation.

Phillip and John Gibbs, sons of Capt. and Mrs. John A. Gibs, were awarded the rank of Eagle Scout having completed the requirements for the badges necessary to win the rank.

Fifteen-year-old Phillip started as a Cub Scout in 1945, became a Boy Scout at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., in 1946. John, 14 years old, was a Cub Scout in 1947, and became a full fledged Boy Scout in 1948, at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Study Due On W-O Bill

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, Asst. Defense Secretary, has indicated that the long-awaited Warrant Officer Promotion Bill will soon be submitted to the Bureau of the Budget.

Mrs. Rosenberg pointed out that it was not until Aug. 15 that the studies conducted by the Services were completed. These studies provided information for drafting the bill.

The bill will provide a statutory career plan for warrant officers of all Services. It would eliminate existing differences in the warrant officer systems, which are administrated under four different statutes.

Four new warrant officer grades would be established to conform to the four pay grades created by the Career Compensation Act.

NEWLY ASSIGNED

Recent cadre assignments in 19th Company, 2nd Student Regiment, include Sgt. Jack Rogers, Virgil Harden and Pvt. John Poteet.

MP Association Includes 94 Fort Benning Members

Ninety - four officers and enlisted men of Fort Benning Military Police detachment are members of the Military Police association, one of the newest of national quasi-military organizations.

The Association, which was founded in Georgia and now has its headquarters in Augusta, observed its first birthday anniversary on Saturday, April 26.

Founded primarily to promote comradeship and to provide a means for free exchange of professional and personal information for Army Military Police personnel, the organization now boasts 11,200 members.

It is an adjunct to the Army's Military Police Corps, and was conceived by a group of officers at the Provost Marshal General Center and Provost Marshal General School at Camp Gordon, Ga.

In less than 12 months the organization has acquired 629 members in the seven state Third Army area alone, as well as thousands throughout the United States, Europe, Far East, Hawaii and Alaska. Included in its membership are 1,117 Georgians.

President of the national organization is Col. F. E. Howard, Commanding Officer of the Provost Marshal General Center and Provost Marshal General School at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Maj. Gen. E. P. Parker, the Provost Marshal General, Department of the Army, Washington, is honorary president.

In his congratulations to the organization on its first anniversary, General Parker stated "the success which has attended the Association's first year, surpassing the expectations of even the most optimistic of its founders, is evidence that we have long needed such an organization. Its enthusiastic welcome fortells a bright and useful future in cementing the bonds of comradeship throughout the military police profession.

"Especially gratifying is the fact that the Association's ever-growing membership comes not from any single segment of our profession, but rather includes representation from commissioned and enlisted ranks from each of the services, from among Regulars and Reserves, and from the civilian community as well."

REGIMENTAL PIO

Second Lt. E. M. Rich, former mess officer for 101st Company, Second Student Regiment is now Regimental Public Information Officer. He was replaced by Capt. J. F. Tremblay.

Moroccoan Artist At Post

A young Spanlard Moroccoan artist who hopes to be allowed to stay "in the one country I consider my own" is using his artistic talents as an operational draftsman in the 30th Infantry Regiment.

He is Pfc. Mohamed Ben Abdeslam Drisi, a native of Spanish Morocco. He came to the United States on a visitor's visa in 1950 to visit Arthur L. Loveless, a retired Seattle architect and art patron.

Private Drisi had his visa extended twice, and registered for Selective Service. He was inducted shortly after his visa was extended the second time, and came to Benning last July. There is a bill before the House of Representatives now to allow him to take up permanent residence in the U.S., leading to citizenship outside the immigration quota.

Before coming to the U.S., he was studying at the San Fernando Academy of Fine Arts in Madrid, Spain. "If I don't feel too old when I get out," he said, "I hope to study classical art at the Chicago School of Art. I may also study languages so I can be an interpreter and translator too."

The slight young artist, not quite 21 years old yet, speaks Arabic, Spanish and English fluently. He studied English in the daytime while taking art courses at night in Seattle before he was inducted. "During my first two months in America," he said, "all I could say was 'yes,' 'no,' and 'taxi.'"

Apparently his art hasn't suffered from his Army life, since he won first place in four categories of competition in the Fifth Army Art contest last year — portrait, landscape, poster and cartoon.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Major Earl I. Kite Jr., has succeeded Maj. James G. Evans as executive officer of the First Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment.

AFF Board Has New Executive

Lt. Col. Herbert Cleveland Hicks, Jr., has been named executive officer for Army Field Forces Board No. 3, succeeding Col. William B. Moore.

Col. Moore will be assigned to the Army's Pacific headquarters in Hawaii.

Col. Hicks, who has been director of the Analysis and Research Department of AFF Board No. 3 for the past year and a half, came to The Infantry Center from Fort Leavenworth, Kans., where he was a student at the Command and General Staff College.

He entered the Army as a second lieutenant in 1937 as an ROTC graduate from Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., and was integrated into the Regular Army in 1947.

During World War II he served as regimental S-4 and battalion commander with the 16th Infantry Regiment, First Division. He participated in the campaigns in Africa, Sicily and Europe.

Col. Hicks wears the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star and Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

Former Instructor

He was an Infantry School instructor from 1945 to 1948.

Col. Moore came to The Infantry Center in August, 1947, from Army Field Forces headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va.

A 1932 graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., Col. Moore has served two previous tours of duty at Fort Benning with Company D, 29th Infantry, 1932-1937, and as a student at the Infantry School in 1937.

During his 73 months overseas service, he was assigned to the 45th Infantry at Fort McKinley, P. I., the 27th Infantry in the Aleutian Islands and the 27th Infantry in the Central Pacific and Philippine Islands. During World War II he participated in the Japanese Mandate, Philippine and Aleutian campaigns.

Post Artists Set For Competition

Fort Benning artists are moving into high gear getting their entries ready for the annual Woman's Club sponsored all-post art contest that will be held on May 17-18 at the Girl Scout Little House.

Mrs. James W. Harrison reported that several entrants will have many examples of their work on display.

An unusual exhibit this year, she said, will be Japanese "bonkei," miniature landscapes. Several Army wives who learned this art while in Japan have agreed to place their bankei on exhibit.

Mrs. Harrison reported that May 11 is the deadline for turning entries in at Service Club No. 1. For further information regarding the contest, she may be contacted at Fort Benning 2903.

Benning Prints Own Directory

Each time the Fort Benning telephone directory goes to press the U.S. taxpayer is saved $5,000.

That's how much it cost before it was turned over to commercial firms for printing, says Capt. Edward A. Browning, telephone system supply officer here. It now costs the government nothing, since printing firms sell advertising to cover printing costs.

Under the old system, the directory, published three or four times a year, was printed by government agencies.

Now the only cost to the government is the salaries of civilian employees who spend two weeks typing the manuscript for the book.

PROMOTED

William H. Carter, 509th Engineer Combat Company of the 30th Infantry Regiment, has been promoted to first lieutenant. An enlisted man during World War II, he won his commission as a distinguished military graduate at the University of Alabama last year.

MEDAL OF HONOR HOLDER PAYS ON DEBT
Maj. R. B. Nett, Right, And Maj. S. M. Withers

Benning Major Pays Second Installment on Blood 'Debt'

BY MAY PIGOTT

The second installment on a debt was paid at the Blood Bank at the Fort Benning Army hospital last Monday when Maj. Robert B. Nett contributed his second pint of blood since coming to Benning. He is a member of Second company, First Student regiment.

The major, a World War II Medal of Honor winner, was seriously wounded in the incident that won for him the country's top honor.

Major Nett said, "I owe my country seven pints of blood—that's a small fee to pay for one's life. I contributed once before, and I think it is time to give again. I have five more pints to go".

The blood bank, which was established at Benning in September, originally operated on a 120 pint a day quota. However the current quota is only 4 pints a day.

Operating on a rotation schedule in which each unit furnishes a certain number of blood donor volunteers, the bank is open daily from 8 a.m. until the last volunteer is processed.

Maj. Samuel M. Withers, Jr., officer in charge of the Blood Bank, said, "We are more than meeting our quota. However, we must continue in this all important program if we are to do our part in helping provide the 2,800,000 pints of whole blood needed."

"The Department of Defense needs this amount by July 1 to continue sending the necessary blood to our fighting forces and to help the veterans in our military hospitals", he continued.

Major Nett, who came to Benning in August of last year after serving with Southwest Command, a part of the Japan Logistical Command, thinks that the whole blood is one of the greatest contributing factors to the recovery of many wounded. The fact that the blood is there when it is needed has been instrumental in saving many lives according to the Major.

"I shall never forget that I would not be here today to give blood if it were not for somebody's generosity. I'm hoping the same thing can be said about me."

Medical Service Offers Women Threapy Course

The Army Medical Service is now offering an 18-month course in occupational therapy to women college graduates who meet other requirements for commissioning as Second Lieutenants in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps.

The course is being initiated to meet the growing deficit of qualified occupational therapists needed for the treatment and rehabilitation of wounded or disabled servicemen.

Maj. Gen. George E. Armstrong, Surgeon General of the Army, said the classes would be conducted annually, beginning in the fall, and the curriculum, consisting of both academic and clinical practice phases, would conform to standards established by the American Medical Association.

The Medical Field Service School at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., will be the scene of the academic instruction phase. This will be followed by 36 weeks of practical training of the student officers' knowledge and skill in selected Army hospitals.

Young women selected for the new 18-month course will receive commissions as second lieutenants at the beginning of their training and in advance of certification. As such they will receive the same pay, privileges, and benefits of other Army officers, including quarters and medical and dental care.

College graduates or prospective college graduates who are over 21 years of age may now make application for the course beginning next fall. Detailed information may be obtained by writing directly to The Surgeon General, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C. Attention; Personnel Division.

Post Wacs Act in Film

Members of the WAC Detachment at Fort Benning will be leading ladies in the Army portion of a 30-minute information movie short on women in the Armed Services now being produced by the Department of Defense.

A production crew headed by WAC Major Johanna Mueller from the Defense Department Office of Public Information, visited here last week to film local WAC activities.

In the movie will be pictures of WAVEs at Norfolk, Va., lady Marines at Cherry Point, N.C., and WAFs at Malin Air Force Base, Fla.

Arrangements have been made with major motion picture distributors to show film at civilian theaters throughout the country.

Marine Students Stage Contests

Marine students in Automotive Mechanics Course classes five and six, staged a drill competition Saturday with a party for the winner as the prize.

Under the cadence calling of Sergeants Warren Thompson and Verlyn Holt, the competitors performed the usual movements in FM 22-5 plus in addition to a demonstration of extemporaneous drill.

The judges included Col. K. D. Macomber, commanding officer, First Student Regiment; Maj. P. C. Emily, S-3, First Student Regiment, and Maj. J. F. Taylor, commanding officer, Second Battalion, First Student Regiment.

In announcing Class five as the winner, Colonel Macomber told the members of Class six that there could be no disgrace in a defeat when even the loser was far above the average.

Voting Information Told For Three Southern States

North Carolina

Qualifications for Voting

1. Must be at least 21 years of age not later than date of general election.

2. Must be a U.S. citizen having resided in the state of North Carolina for a period of one year and in the voting precinct for four months.

3. Must be able to read and write any section of the state constitution.

4. Must be a registered voter.

1. Registration is permanent for all voters unless a new statewide registration is announced. (Members of the Armed Forces who have been discharged and "certain Merchant Marine personnel" whose contracts have expired must re-register after severance from their respective services.) Members of the Armed Forces and "certain Merchant Marine personnel" who are currently serving in their respective capacities are not affected by this provision.

2. Qualified members of the Armed Forces and "certain Merchant Marine personnel" become registered automatically for voting when application for ballot has been accepted by appropriate North Carolina officials. Therefore, advance registration prior to voting is unnecessary.

3. All other persons must accomplish registration in person at the office of the registrar, county of residence in North Carolina.

Obtaining Ballots and Voting

1. Member of the Armed Forces and "certain Merchant Marine personnel" may vote by absentee process in primary and general elections. Only one application is required to become registered and to obtain ballots for all primaries and general elections occurring during any one election year. Such application may be made by one of two methods: (a.) By mailing a Application (Standard Form 76) to the Secretary of State, Raleigh, N. C., or to the chairman, county board of elections, at the county seat of residence. It is made at least 90 days prior to any election. (b.) By requesting chairman, county board of elections, to send an "Application for Absentee Ballots and Registration for 1952 Primaries and General Election by Servicemen Form." This application should be made at least 90 days prior to election.

2. All other persons may vote only in general elections by absentee process. Marked ballots may be accepted by election officials not later than election day.

South Carolina

Qualifications for Voting

1. Must be at least 21 years of age on date of election.

2. Must be a U.S. citizen having resided in the State of South Carolina for a period of two years; in the county of residence one year, and in the polling precinct for four months.

3. Must be a registered voter.

Registration

1. Persons registered prior to Jan. 1, 1896 are registered for life. For other persons, registration must be renewed every ten years.

2. Unregistered persons may register on the first Monday of each month throughout the year.

3. Before applying for registration a person must be qualified as follows: (a.) Be able to read and write any section of the state constitution which may be presented to applicant by registration officials (b.) or be able to show proof of ownership of property within the State of Carolina having an assessed value of $300 or more on which all current taxes have been paid.

Obtaining Ballots and Voting

(1) No absentee ballots are issued by the State of South Carolina and none will be accepted in lieu of personal appearance at polling place.

Virginia

Qualifications For Voting

1. Must be at least 21 years of age on date of election.

2. Must be a U.S. citizen having resided in the Commonwealth of Virginia for a period of one year, in the county for six months, and in the election precinct for 30 days.

Poll Tax

1. A poll tax of $1.50 must be paid annually by all persons, except members of the Armed Forces. Those persons becoming 21 years of age during an election year are exempted from that year's poll tax.

Registration

1. Once a voter is registered, such registration is permanent.

2. Members of the Armed Forces may vote in any election without being registered.

3. All persons except members of the Armed Forces must be registered before voting. Registration must be accomplished in person.

Obtaining Ballots and Voting

1. All qualified voters who will be absent from their voting precinct on election day may vote by absentee ballot.

2. Application for absentee ballot should be made to registrar of voting precinct, place of residence, as early as 900 days preceding election for voters in the U.S., and as early as 90 days if voter is outside continental limits of the U.S.

3. Members of the Armed Forces may use Federal Post Card Application (Standard Form 76). All other persons may submit any form of written communication requesting absentee ballot with an explanation of the reason for absentee voting. 508th Slated For Third Maneuver During August

The 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team is slated to take part in its third maneuver in nine months when it journeys to West Virginia in August to play the role of aggressors in Exercise Pine Ridge, the Army's mountain training maneuver.

The announcement of the 508th entry was made by Lt. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, the commanding general of Second Army who also will serve as maneuver director.

With the aim of training men and units for cross - country night and day fighting in mountainous terrain, the Pine Ridge war games will involve approximately 22,500 troops, according to the Army's puplic information division in Washington, D.C.

The 508th will enter the maneuver picture when the exercise concluded with a series of regimental combat team training exercises which will stress offensive and defensive operations. Training in logistical support will be emphasized as well as re-supply by Army helicopter, conventional aircraft and cable ways and evacuation via the same means.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of the Army Field Forces, already has designated the 47th Viking Infantry Division to engage in Exercise Pine Ridge. The exercise will open with a two - week indoctrination training period for selected individuals of the units taking part. A four-week training period will follow, utilizing the skills developed in the indoctrination period.

Mountain Warfare

The 508th will send ten officers to Camp Carson, Colorado, for special training in mountain warfare; they will start training about May 4.

Commanded by Col. Joe S. Lawrie, the 508th started its maneuver - parade last December when it acted as the Aggressor against the 47th Infantry Division on the Vikings' home-reservation, Camp Rucker, Ala. The 508th Red Devils have just returned from Exercise Long Horn in Texas where they pulled off the largest airborne operation in the joint Army - Air Force war games.

On May 12, the 508th will scatter over Fort Benning. The Third Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. John M. Wright Jr., will remain in the 508th's present Sand Hill location to instruct ROTC students this Summer. The rest of the 508th will move to the South Harmony Church area — the old Ranger Training Command site. The 320th Abn. F. A. Battalion will move to billets in the Lawson Field region.

15TH COMPANY GETS CO

First Lt. Fred V. Willis has replaced Capt. Frank E. Knarr as commanding officer of 15th Company, First Student Regiment. Lt. Willis was formerly executive officer of 15th Company.

Soldiers, Wacs Finish Medical Course Here

Four Wac medical and two male neuropsychiatric technicians have graduated from the second medical intermediate course given at the U. S. Army Hospital here.

Col. Mack Green, Infantry Center surgeon, presented diplomas to the six technicians who completed the eight-week courses in dietetics, first aid and combat medical techniques.

The four women medical technicians are Pvt. Delores G. Black, Pvt. Hattie M. Young, Pvt. Vera E. Rogers, and Pvt. Gertrude C. Rivers.

Pvt. William R. Mobley and Pvt. Tommy A. Sherrod received diplomas as neuropsychiatric technicians.

Privates Rivers and Rogers will be stationed at Fort Meade, Md., Black at Beaumont Army Hospital, El Paso, Texas, and Young at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Pvt. Mobley will be on duty in an Army Hospital in the Far East Command, and Pvt. Sherrod will be stationed at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

Instructor for the course is Army Nurse Corps Capt. Beverlee Salome.

Captain Salome served with the 35th Evacuation Hospital in Europe during World War II, where she trained medical technicians. She came to Fort Benning in 1950 from the 279th Station Hospital in Berlin. She holds the Bronze Star Medal.

21 Soldiers Win Conduct Awards

Twenty-one members of the 509th Engineer Combat Company 30th Infantry Regiment, Combat Training Command, have been awarded the Good Conduct Medal, Col. Ralph N. Woods, commanding officer of CTC and the 30th, has announced.

They are M-Sgt. Grover F. Conway, Sfc. Frank L. Bevan, Sfc. John L. Sale, Sgt. William B. Hayes, Sgt. William B. Jacks, Sgt. James Miller, Sgt. Robert Norris, Sgt. Loyd V. Overton, Sgt. William B. Person, Sgt. Charles T. Poole, and Sgt. Vernon A. Thomason.

Career Field USAFI Courses Listed in New Army Phamphlet

WASHINGTON (AFPS) Want a general way in the various specialities. Their greatest value lies in providing eductional backgrounds needed by soldiers in preparing themselves for technical military specialties.

Consult your new DOA pamphlet (No 20-103) entitled "Army Education Courses Related to Military Occupational Specialties." The booklet lists 402 of the 493 MOS' according to career fields and all USAFI courses that would be particularly valuable in each specialty.

They include group study, correspondence and self-teaching courses and run from the high school level through vocational-technical and into college level.

An introduction to the pamphlet points out that completion of the courses does not meet the requirements for promotion. However, they do develop skills and provide knowledge useful in

TO FLYING SCHOOL

First Lt. Harry E. Mendenhall, S-3, First Battalion, Second Student Regiment, has received orders to attend Lisson Pilo school at San Marcos Air Force Base, Texas.

The pamphlet lists a total of 224 titles contained in the USAFI course catalogue. It lists the 224 titles 2,853 times as being valuable for particular specialties.

Colurses in mathematics are those most frequently listed indicating that mathematics is the veritable background of most MOS'. Next in frequency are courses in foremanship, supervision and office management.

The pamphlet has been sent out to all Army Information and Education officers and will be carried as a reference in all Army libraries.

2 Students Write Quarterly Stories

Two students in advanced courses at The Infantry School authored articles in the April issue of The Infantry School Quarterly.

Capt. Kenneth D. Mertel's "Airborne Support Company" is the first article to be published on that subject. Captain Mertel commanded an airborne support company in the 82nd Airborne Division before coming to the School.

Capt. Ralph T. Tierno, a combat veteran who served with the Third Infantry Division in Korea, wrote "An Obligation," an article concerning the gathering of combat intelligence.

The pamphlet has been sent out to all Army Information and Education officers and will be carried as a reference in all Army libraries.

Horsing Around Pays Off Benning Sergeant Proves

SGT. MIKE PASCIOLLA

Horsing around in more ways than one has paid off for Sgt. Mike Pasciolla both in the Army and as a civilian.

Sergeant Pasciolla's horsing around began when he taught horseback riding to children at summer camps near his home in New York. After he entered the Army in 1943, he mixed his horseback teaching to horsing around of another color, to coin a phrase — he became a comedian in soldier shows and a radio entertained.

He took part in the Battle of the Bulge during World War II, was wounded and returned to the U.S. In 1945 he was bound for the Pacific theater when the war ended, and was assigned to Mitchell Convalescent Hospital in San Diego, Calif., where he once began teaching people to ride horses — this time wounded soldiers.

In 1946, Sergeant Pasciolla was sent to Fort Jackson, S.C., where he opened the station hospital radio station and added another facet to his personality as an entertainer. During off - duty time, he appeared in "Skits and Bits," a Third Army Special Services show that toured camps in the Army Area.

He was mong the last to leave Fort Jackson when it was closed in 1950, but he didn't have time to feel sad over leaving — he was on his way to Korea with the 171st Evaduation Hospital.

The unit landed in Japan, and while there Sergeant Pasciolla once more began teaching soldiers to ride horses during off-duty hours to relieve the tedium of training.

Once the hospital was sent to Korea, he took part in three battles before the unit could begin operating. Patients in the hospital were cheered by the antics of the comic as he performed his pantomime act through the wards.

He served as guide for Joe Dimaggio, Audrey Totter and Lefty O'Doole when they toured Korea as part of a special services guest performance tour.

Now, Sergeant Pasciolla is combining his talents as information and education non - commissioned officer for Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section 1, 3440th Area Service Unit.

Ex-Music Student In OC Class Here

Officer Candidate John Lanzillo, 28th Officer Candidate Company, First OC Regiment, is an accomplished musician who was performing with Rudy Vallee at the time of his induction.

A former student in music and composition at New York University, Candidate Lanzillo is an accomplished saxaphonist, clarinetest and flute player who has appeared with Tony Pastor, Ray McKinley, Ralph Flanagan and Tommy Dorsey.

Former Sailor In OC Company

A former sailor who rode out a hurricane aboard an old merchant marine freighter is currently riding out the storms of officer candidate school.

He is Candidate Rodman Carter of the Sixth Officer Candidate Company.

A veteran of five years at sea, OC Carter has served in both the Navy and the merchant marine, and visited 30 countries.

The hurricane he remembers so vividly hit his ship on a run from Houston to Liverpool one night in 1950. The ship was plunged to deck level in mountainous waves and lifeboats and hatches were ripped away by furious winds.

Icebergs, almost invisible in the night, loomed out of the darkness threatening to rip the ship to pieces. The next morning the sea was calm again and the ship limped into port with a quarter of its cargo ruined.

OC Carter claims he's now "out of dry land to stay this time."

Number 15 Key To Benning OC

A peculiar number for anyone to consider their lucky number is 15, but OC Raymond Van Wassenhove has good reason to call it his particular good omen.

He is a member of the 15th Officer Candidate Class, was inducted into the Army on Jan. 15, entered leadership school on June 15, and was married last Dec. 15.

And, when do you suppose his class is scheduled to graduate? You're wrong, it's June 19th.

NEW BATTALION S-3

Capt. John Ellis has succeeded Capt. Robert Currie as S-3 for the Third Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment. Captain Currie has been transferred to the 3440th ASU.

"GEE, WHAT DID I DO TO DESERVE THIS?" Cilla v d Allonermuhle With Her 12-Puppy Litter

Sergeant's Canine Couple Parent 12 Pups at a Time

One baby at a time is enough to keep most parents busy, but a couple here recently became the proud parents of 12—count 'em, 12—bouncing babies.

The parents are Carri v d Friedberger Burg and Cilla v d Allonermuhle, father and mother respectively. They're a pair of Boxer dogs, registered with the American Kennel Club, owned by M-Sgt. Archie B. McRaney, Headquarters and Service Company, First Student Brigade.

The Pedigreed pair was brought from Munich, Germany, by Sergeant McRaney when he was returning from occupation duty there. It cost him $86 per dog, at $1.50 per pound.

"This is her third litter," Sergeant McRaney said, "and we're going to sell the pups just like we did the other litters. But we wouldn't sell the parents for anything."

The proud parents made no comment on their latest litter. Could be they were thinking about all those diapers they'd have to wash.

Two 508th Men Get Hero Awards

Two heroes — one from the Korean battlefields, the other from the skies over Lawson Field here at Fort Benning — were honored during a review by their fellow paratroopers in the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team last Wednesday morning on Tiger Field.

First Lt. James R. Watson, Company C, and Pfc. Frank T. Elliott, Support Company, also of the 508th Abn. RCT, received awards for heroism. Lieutenant Watson, formerly of the 5th Cavalry Regiment of the 1st Cavalry Division, received the Silver Star, with a first and second bronze oak leaf cluster, for gallantry and courageous leadership in the face of an armed enemy in Korea on three occasions during July 1950.

Private First Class Elliott, who had been recommended for the Soldier's Medal, received the Individual Commendation Ribbon with metal pendant, Last Nov. 15 during a JCOC demonstration jump by Support Company on Lawson Field, Elliott grabbed the collapsed parachute of a buddy, Pfc. James R. Hernandes, also of Support, as the latter fell past him at 600 feet above Lawson, saving Hernandes' life.

Four units of the 508th also were honored for exceptional achievement in the 1951 Defense Bond program, receiving scrolled pictures and certificates from Third Army through The Infantry Center. The units are: Support, Company M and Headquarters Company, First Battalion, and Headquarters Company, Third Battalion.

Ranger Yarns Hit Three Journals

The Infantry School's Ranger training is featured in a New York Times magazine story which hit newsstands last Sunday.

The 200-word, five-picture article was written by Times Military Analyst Hanson W. Baldwin and illustrated by Times Photographer George Tames.

Baldwins story outlines the history of Ranger warfare.

Pictures for the story were on-the-spot records of training as conducted in the mountains of North Georgia—near Dahlonega—and around Fort Benning.

Two other picture-text stories about Rangers have been done in the last four weeks. The nationally-distributed Sunday supplement magazine, This Week, featured color pictures last week.

The Infantry Center Public Information Office has written a story and taken color pictures for a forthcoming issue of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution Sunday magazine.

Quick magazine, a national pocket-sized weekly, has also published in its current issue a Ranger training picture of a student sliding down a high rope while a geyser of water shoots skyward.

Speed Reading Course Ends

The first class in speed reading conducted by the post Information and Education Center has been completed.

The class started the 20 hour course with an average reading speed of 348 words per minute and an average comprehension of 81 per cent. On the final reading test it averaged 605 words per minute with an average comprehension of 85 per cent—an increase of 74 per cent.

Fastest readers were Maj. R. L. Kerr, Combat Training Command and Maj. R. F. Dennison, Army Extension Course Department. The two officers finished the course with a reading speed of 924 words per minute. Major Dennison also had 100 per cent comprehension.

Largest rate of increase was made by Maj. D. W. Sisco, Weapons Department, who jumped from 306 words per minute to 796 words per minute with 100 per cent comprehension.

ALL MARINE CLASS

Unit Automotive Class No. 7M which is now forming will be made up entirely of Marines. The class will last 10 weeks.

GOODYEAR TIRES

BETTER FOR SAFETY... On slippery roads you get "stop-quick" traction from Goodyear's extra tread "grip" and better tread design. On all roads you get more tire safety from Goodyear's stronger, tougher bodies.

BETTER FOR MILEAGE... Long after less popular tires are discarded, Goodyears are still rolling safely. Their stronger bodies and tougher treads stand up longer to give many extra miles of safe motoring.

BETTER FOR COMFORT... On rough roads you get a smoother ride because Goodyear's stronger cords give to cushion car-jolting bumps and road shocks.

GEORGE ALLEN MISSES LEFT TO KAWASAKI'S CHIN
Allen avenged previous defeat by Nori and won batam crown
(Other ring kings pictured on following pages.)

JAMES (L.) CONNECTS WITH ONE-TWO ON FLOREZ
Lea's solid attack won him post lightweight championship from Jesse.

Allen Goes 'Fly' In 3A Ring Test

George Allen, the defending Third Army bantamweight champion from naow the time that at Group, may abandon his title and go after the flyweight crown in a move designed to strengthen the overall point-making ability of the Fort Benning boxing team.

The possible shift was decided upon by coaches Jerome Perlman, Hardy Batchelor and Charlie Clutts who have turned the Briant Wells Field House training headquarters in a second Stillman's Gym.

Allen can sweat down beyond the 112-pound fly limit and Johnny Bizzell, of CTC, who won the post flyweight title, is currently sick in the hospital.

More Shifting

This move would leave Nori Kawasaki, veteran Golden Glover from Chicago who beat Allen once this season, to represent Benning in the bantam class in the 3A test at Camp Gordon, Ga., May 9-10.

Jesse Florez, a classy ringman who was unfortunate enough to find himself in the same bracket with the masterful Len James, lightweight champion, in the post series, may drop to featherweight to bolster Leander Ray, the feather king from ASU.

"We're trying to get two men ready in each weight division" explained Perlman. "That gives us a sparring partner for each of the men who will fight at Gordon and it also gives us a substitute in case anything happens to the main guy at the last minute."

Ten Reserves

Perlman hopes to get sanction to take 20 men to the Third Army slugfest.

Harvey Distel, the post's No. two light heavyweight from Combat Training Command, became a late scratch when doctors discovered a rib condition which has been giving him trouble.

Fighters working at "little Stillman's" are heavies Dick Lohman and Lou Barnes, light heavy James Boyd, middle-weights Gordon Hill and Freeman Thatcher, light middles Leon Hall and Ray Lee, welters Ernest Hall and William Franks, light welters Charlie Cummings and Sylvester Sulzman, lightweights Len James and Jesse Florez, featherweight Leander Ray and Charlie Gardner, and bantams George Allen and Nori Kawasaki.

CTC-First SR Vie In Pennant Prevue

Ellis Shift, Tuskegee Go Spot Track

There were a couple of surprising developments this week as serious training began for 23 members of the Fort Benning track and field team who will compete in the Third Army meet at Doughboy Stadium May 9-10.

Coach Lawrence Williams indicated he is expecting the "go" sign to take his squad to the Tuskegee Institute Relays in Alabama this weekend, providing some much - needed actual competition for his hopefuls.

He took his Combat Training Command team to the Florida A & M Relays in Tallahassee prior to the Benning meet and there discovered and developed the stars who brought CTC the post cinder crown two weeks ago.

"Practice is good, but you can't beat actual competition to tell the tale," Williams commented.

Surprise Move

He exploded another slight bombshell when he revealed that Dick Ellis, a veteran distance runner, probably will run the mile for him in the 3A meet.

"Ellis is conscientious and versatile and I believe he can do it if he sets his mind to it," Williams said. "He has the heel and toe action necessary for the mile even though he's been running longer routes."

Except for Ellis who won the post five - mile championship, Benning is sadly lacking for the distance tests. A five or three points finish by Ellis in the mile might mean the difference of the championship for Benning in the Third Army meet.

One Sure Win

Ellis will also run in the 3A five - mile, an event in which he will be a favorite, but will have to pass up the two-mile—which he would prefer to the mile — because of the closeness of the two races on the program.

It will be a Herculean assignment for Dashin' Dick who is also training for the 26-mile National Marathon at Yonkers, N. Y., May 19.

Williams is also counting highly on Truman Medders, Infantry School Detachment ace, in the two hurdles events.

"The only thing wrong with Medders' form is getting out of the hole at the start," Williams noted. "We're working on that and if he comes along I think he'll do the 120-yard hurdles in 15 flat."

Hurdles Hope

Truman was clocked in 15.6 in the Benning 120 hurdles and at 26.3 in the 220-yard hurdles. "I think Larry Goins, of First O.C. Regiment, and Walter Jenkins, of First S.R., can repeat their fine performances in the field events," elaborated Williams. "I'm expecting great efforts from Joe Campbell of I.S.D., and George Bell, of C.T.C., in the vault and broad jump.

"Campbell is working on a new push off the pole which should make him a 13-footer with room to spare and Bell will surprise me if he doesn't dd 24-feet in the broad jump."

Big Worries

Williams' chief worries are the high jump and the 880-yard run. Both marks in the recent post tournament were off previous Benning standards.

Thinclads who have been designated to work out for the post team by nits are:

CTC— Royce Fortune and Hilton Lyons, dash, Cliff Williams and Lionel Pinn, distances and Bell.

First O.C. Reg't. — Gil Downey, dash, Mel Howard, middle distances, Robert Rowell and Goins, field.

First S.R. — Wilfred Bivens, middle distances, Dick Nolan, high jump, Don Hibbard, Hill and Jenkins, field.

ISD — S. L. Webster, James Mendell and Campbell, field, Ed Metke and Joe Negrelli, middle distances, Blackwood and Medders.

PMG — Bill Street, hurdles.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

Saturday, 2 p.m. — CTC vs. First S. R.
Sunday, 2 p.m. - ISD vs. Second S. R.
Wednesday, 2 p.m. - CTC vs. PMG.

First Student Regiment and Combat Training Command, the diamond dandies who won their openers in a breeze, mince bats at 2 p.m. Saturday at Gowdy Field in the feature of three games on tap this week in the flourishing Fort Benning Baseball League.

The printer's ink is hardly dry on the initial week's boxscores, but the Saturday setto may tell more than you think in determining the 1952 pennant winner.

Both clubs are loaded with pitching, hitting, fielding and reserves and are rated much the best in the seven-team circuit which played before 2,500 fans in its first three games.

The pennant preview may be two days distant, but First S. R. Manager Bob Kinard has had no trouble in selecting a pitcher: "With five lefthanders in their regular batting order you can bet I'm throwing a southpaw at 'em," said the skipper.

Southpaws Duel

That means Dick Meyers who last hurled in class C ball with West Texas, N.M. CTC can answer with Adam (No-Hit) Zubaty, Johnny Freeman, Stan Edwards or Middleton again.

Other games this week pit Infantry School Detachment, winner of its first, against Second Student Regiment at 2 p. m. Sunday, and CTC against Provisional Medical Group at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Mid-season pitching form was the order in the openers last week. Lloyd Brill, 22-year old farmhand of the Philadelphia Athletics, gave up three dinky hits and allowed only one man to reach second as the First zeroed the Medics, 18-0, before 1,000 fans in last Wednesday's opener.

Brill fanned 13 and faced only 30 batters.

First Homer

Veteran catcher Paul Bonair led the First's attack with 4-for-5, getting on safely all five times and clouting the season's first homer, an inside-the-park blast to the rightfield corner.

Kinard at second, got 3-for-5, including a triple.

Ken Middleton, who once served 'em up for Albany, N. Y., in the class A Eastern League, pitched a four-hitter and struck out 14 as the Commanders outdid Second Student Regiment, 10-1, before 750 Sunday afternoon.

Middleton served up zeros for seven innings and walked none.

All but two of the CTC starters hit safely in the well-rounded attack with leftfielder Frank Spandel driving in four runs while netting a double in three trips. Playing-Manager Bobby Clark swatted a two-run triple and did some fancy glove work at shortstop.

Best Game

While the favorites were flexing their muscles, Infantry School Detachment and ASU Provisional Group got together Saturday and put on the week's best baseball show for 750 fans, the decision going to ISD, 5-2.

Pitching was again the keynote, ISD's Joe Feinstein recovering from a two-run first inning to hurl eight shutout frames. Outfielder Bill Hahn had tripled behind Major Metis walk and both scored on a single through the box by first baseman Don Harper.

The Profs got into action in the lower second. Dick Willingham scoring on Feinstein's long fly after walking. ISD took over the lead permanently in the third on three runs with a single by Tom Smith and two-bagger by Ray Blankenship paving the way.

The game was replete with fielding gems, including four double plays, and Carroll Mattson, the loser, showed form that should make him a future winner.

Williams After Track Double

Fort Benning's newly named 1952 track coach, First Lt. Lawrence A. Williams, will be looking for his second Army area cinder championship when he sends the Benning thinclads into action in the Third Army meet here May 9-10.

A veteran official, athlete and coach, he was assistant mentor of the Fort Lee, Va., squad which won the Second Army track and field crown in 1943.

His team that year included such greats as Barney Ewell in the dash and Frank Dixon in the mile.

Typical Coach

A chronic worrier in the best tradition of the coaching profession, Williams was named skipper of the Benning team last week after his Combat Training Command squad took the title.

Dick Ellis, superb distance runner and coach of First Student Regiment, and Truman Medders, coach and hurdles whiz for Infantry School Detachment, were named as his assistants.

COACH LARRY WILLIAMS
. . . Solid Background

Williams won a score of second and third place medals in the short distance events in such meets as the Drake, Tuskegee and Prairie View Relays in the late 1930's and early '40's.

Much Experience

He coached track, basketball, and football at his alma mater, Bishop College in Marshall, Tex., and was athletic director at Bowser T. Washington High school in Tulsa prior to being called to active duty last year.

A member of the Southwestern Coaches and Officials Association and the American Association of Physical Education and Recreation, he holds a bachelor's degree from Bishop and a masters from Columbia University of New York in physical education.

He won the Bronze Star serving in the Pacific with the 25th Division in World War II and is presently sports officer of the Third Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

—by Cpl. Charles Johnson—

LET'S FACE IT. The pressure is on Benning athletes. We have been rooting for our track and boxing standard bearers for the past number of weeks, but the cheers might easily turn to jeers on coming weekends unless our cinder burners and leather pushers meet the challenge as expected.

It took 13 weeks to select 10 post ring champions and most of the 2,000-odd fans who saw each of these cards are convinced that the long title series has given us the experience to cut a wide swath in the Third Army tourney at Camp Gordon May 9-10. They're expecting a couple of titles to come back to Benning.

The thinclads turned in some exceptional performances competing among themselves in the post track and field championships two weeks ago. Now they get the acid test in the Third Army meet, with the added responsibility of living up to the honor of being host team.

I can assure you we are going to have a track meet if nobody else save two of the Fort Jackson competitors show. They have Harry Bright who won the Washington Star's 600-yard run Jan. 12 and was a member of the winning mile relay team in this year's Millrose Games with a time of 3:20.7. A veteran of four years of campaigning on the boards in Madison Square Garden, he placed fourth in the 880-yard run in the recent Knights of Columbus meet there, his superiors being Roscoe Browne, national, 1,000-yard champ, Don Gehrmann and Reggie Pearman.

Does that frighten you? Then how about Jackson's Jim Cooke, a six-three, 210 pound Olympic hopeful who claims the following decathlon marks: 100-yard dash in 10.1; broad jump of 22-feet, high jump of six-six, pole vault of 12-feet, four inches, shot put of 51-feet, discus throws of 153-feet, javelin throw of 150-feet, mile run in 4:40, high hurdles in 15 seconds flat and 440 yard dash in 52 seconds. Cooke, a star cinderman at Lincoln, Pa., University; scored 29 points in winning five first places in the Jackson post track meet last week.

I have no reports yet on fighters from other Third Army posts. However, it's a cinch a lot of work is in order for such as heavy Dick Lohmann and James Boyd, who won their crowns with one fight, or Charlie Cummings who had never fought before entering the Benning tourney, and Leon Hall, who will have to prove his win over the poised Ray Lee was no one-time accident.

A VIVID CHAPTER in Benning sports was closed this week as Capt. William Fannin started cleaning out his desk in the Doughboy Stadium offices where he has presided as post sports chief for a good many of his 26 years in the Army. He's on his way to Europe.

No Benning sports story would be complete without a Fannin finale. He was in on the building of such as the old post gym, Doughboy Stadium and the golf course. He coached Benning ring teams for eight years and won seven southeastern AAU and a couple of Golden Gloves titles. He managed a Benning team to the quarterfinals of the National semipro baseball tournament in Wichita four years ago.

The good captain did an exceptional job of public relations for the post by being in his sports activity with that of Columbus. A member of the Elks, American Legion and Knights of Columbus here, he first interested the post in Little League baseball and brought in a lot of local sports promotions for the benefit of post fans.

He has been a staunch supporter of intramural sports competition which allows the greatest number of men to take part. Returning from his second overseas assignment in 1949, he found the sports greats made available by World War II gone and waded into a heavy intramural setup to develop stars within the Army. "The best Army athletes are made in peace time," he said, and has proved it with Benning sports since then.

Good sailing, Captain, and a speedy return!

Carlton New Prexy Of Bowling Loop

Maj. Linwood Carlton last week was named new president of the Infantry Center Officers Bowling League. Maj. William Brodbeck was elected vice-president.

Fld. Wallace Olson was named secretary and Maj. Horace Chrissinger, Jr., treasurer.

Lt. Col. Edwin Waszak was elected president of the Fort Benning Association of the American Bowling Congress and Maj. Gene Myers was voted in as secretary.

Benning Track Marks Better Auburn Meet

The University of Florida beat Auburn, 78 - 48, in a dual meet at Auburn Saturday and three of the times and standards were less than those of the same events in the recent Fort Benning Track and Field Meet.

Benning's Wilfred Bivens did the 440 - yard dash in 50 seconds flat while 50.1 won at Auburn. Larry Goins tossed the javelin more than 194 - feet for Benning while a 187 - foot toss won the collegiate meet, and the 12 - foot vault of ISD's Joe Campbell equalled the Gator-Tiger meet pole vault.

BERG SETS RECORD

Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, set a woman's world golf record Saturday when she fired 30 - 40 - 64 in the women's club open championship at Richmond, Calif. She tallied 10 birdies in bettering men's par of 36-37-73 by eight strokes and lowering the women's world record by two shots.

Post Rifle Aces In Olympic Prep

The Army's best rifle and pistol shooters select few that they are — began drifting in from all points of the compass this week to train and fire record scores which they hope will qualify them for the U.S. Olympic team tryouts at Fort Sheridan, Ill., in June.

Among the latest arrivals were WO Oscar Weinmeister, a member of the 1952 All - Army pistol team from Fort Knox, Ky., and 2nd Lt. Herbert Voelcker, former outstanding collegiate shooter from the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.

But two of the highly regarded competitors had to travel no further than the distance from their quarters to the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club range.

The pair of Benning bulls-eye busters are Capt. James F. McCubbin and WOJG Coats Brown, both members of last year's United States Army rifle team.

One Big Idea

Their daily routine is singular in purpose. They shoot from after breakfast to after sundown six days a week with small bore, big bore and service (M-1) rifles. If the 50-meter target for small bore weapons appears little to the layman, then the 300-meter bull, for large bore, will make him think he's going blind.

Both Brown and McCubbin are working well in practice and must be considered top contenders for final tryout berths.

Brown, from nearby Myrtlewood, Ala., and a permanent resident of Columbus, has done all of his shooting in the Army which he joined in 1934.

Made A-A Teams

He made the All-Infantry rifle team (fore runner of the All-Army team) in 1938 and was also a member in 1939 and '40. There were no teams during the war years until last year when he earned a berth on Maj. Warren Davis' squad which won a score of medals in the nationals in California.

The 43-year old Distinguished Rifle Badge holder, has 25 smallbore and 60 largebore medals. On ROTC duty in the early '40's, he coached the University of Tennessee team which won the national intercollegiate rifle championship in 1940 and '41.

Brown's biggest thrill came in 1939 when he won the national individual .30-cal. title over a field of some 2,700 shooters. He also won the Coast Guard rapid fire match at 300-yards and was a member of the team which won the Rumanian match at Camp Perry, O., that year.

Started Early

McCubbin launched his shooting career by captaining his high school and college teams at Dallas and Arlington, Tex., respectively. He now holds 150 smallbore medals and 30 large bore medals.

A weapons instructor at The Infantry School, he has won three grand aggregates and won the 50-meter iron sight competition in the National Mid-Winter Rifle tournament in St. Petersburg two months ago.

He set a national smallbore anysight record at 100 yards (400-38x) in 1939 which stood for several years and in 1940 set a 50-yard anysight national record (400-39x) which held up for seven years.

Texas Champion

A native of Odessa, Tex., he coached last year's All - Army rifle team in addition to being a competitor and once missed making the U.S. Olympic International team by one-point in competitive eliminations in the southwestern area.

McCubbin was a member of the Texas National Guard team at the nationals in 1939-40 and won the 110 - yard all - comers match both of those years, earning a leg on the Distinguished Marksman badge.

He was a member of the International Dewar team in 1940 and that same year placed in the Scott trophy match at the nationals, joining the Army in 1940 as a private. McCubbin was commissioned in 1941 and spent almost 5 years on active duty last May and there as he had last none of his [illegible] on the Infantry team.

Bragg Squad Due

The Fort Bragg, N. C., 15-man track and field squad, is expected to arrive at Fort Benning late Tuesday or early Wednesday for next weekend's Third Army meet. Bragg held its post cinder meet yesterday.

First Beats Second, 10-6, in Overtime

First Student Regiment for the second time rapped three Second Student Regiment pitchers for seven hits to whip the Rockets, 10-6 in a practice game last week.

The big blow of the game was a bases-loaded triple by Mike Miciaiski, which set a rally rolling for the Second Student Regiment. The game was scheduled for seven innings, but due to the fact it was tied 5-5, they played two extra innings.

112th Company Cops 2nd S. R. Volleyball

The 112th Co., 2nd Student Regiment copped the regimental volleyball crown by edging 122nd Co., 16-14, in the third and deciding game of the series.

Team captain Lt. Walter W. Larkins paced the winning team. Other members of the championship crews were Lts. Galvin, Edmonds, McKellar, Crockett, Ratcliff, Heath, Kirby, Schaffer, Vickery and En-

Club Pistol Shoot Slated This Sunday

The Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club's monthly pistol matches at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the club ranges off Dixie Road in the main post area.

Centerfire and .22-c.l. matches are slated with prizes for all classes. New shooters will be classified according to their scores.

BENTLEY'S

In the powerful new Jones Registered Irons, Spalding has combined every advanced feature of fine club making.

Compact Heads—but not too extreme for the average player. Narrow heel, shorter hosel—hitting weight concentrated behind point of impact. Heavier top line for easier alignment.

The Spalding feel distinguishes these clubs. No sting or harshness. Beautiful in appearance, superb in performance. Set of 8. $94.00 the new JONES WOODS are worthy companions of the Irons. The driver is more compact and moderately deep faced. The other three fairway woods stepped down gradually.

250 Set For Post Fishing Meet

The fish will be lucky if they don't get trampled to death — much less hooked — with some 250 anglers expected to turn out Saturday and Sunday at King's Pond for the Fort Benning Fish and Game Maintenance Association's annual skish and fishing tournaments.

The skish competition — bait, fly and spin casting for accuracy — gets under way at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Pond.

The fishing competition starts at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Nineteen prizes worth more than $300 are being offered for the two events.

Bream and Bass

Prizes will be offered for the largest bream, best string of six bream, largest bass, best string of three bass, largest fish and a junior prize for competitors under 13 years of age.

Boats will be issued to anglers on a first come, first serve basis. The Association has some 60 craft available.

Kings Pond will be closed prior to tournament action which will be restricted to members of the Association and those holding federal permits on payment of registration fee. Memberships will be sold prior to the events, according to Maj. William Brodback, of the tournament committee.

One of the features of Saturday's activity will be the personal appearance Hank Bruns, of Newton, Ga., a nationally known exponent of the proper use of fishing equipment. Bruns will give a skish demonstration and then conduct an open clinic on angling problems.

Non - participants are invited to witness this part of the action. Bruns, representing the South Bend Bait Company of Illinois, also will show color movies on fishing at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Fish and Game Association.

Polo Hunt Club on the main post. The showing will be limited to Association members.

A mobile post exchange unit will be available to the Pond during the tourney. Col. Wolcott Dudley is president of the Fish and Game Association.

Riley Boxer Cops 5A Heavy Crown

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind. — Lloyd Willis, a Fort Riley, Kas., private who claims South Miami, Fla., as home, was named the "most outstanding" boxer in the Fifth Army tournament which ended Friday night at Camp Atterbury.

The 10 surviving fifth army champions now will advance to the All-Army boxing tournament to be held at Fort Monmouth, N. J., May 27-31.

Willis won the heavyweight Fifth Army championship when he knocked out Pvt. Harland Kelly, of Los Angeles, representing Camp McCoy, when the first round was one minute and 35 seconds old.

One Repeater

Of the two defending Fifth Army champions who were among the 60 fighters taking part in the Atterbury eliminations, only one survived.

He was Pfc. Gilmore Slater, a flyweight, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Fort Wood, Mo.

Results of the other championship events included:

BANTAMWEIGHT — Pfc. Don Lee, Des Moines and Camp Atterbury, outpointed Cpl. Richard Kelsoe, Elmore, N. D., and Camp Carson, Colo.

FEATHERWEIGHT — Pvt. James Bast, Philadelphia and Fort Sheridan, Ill., outpointed Pvt. Fred Morales, Galveston, Tex., and Fort Riley, Kas.

LIGHTWEIGHT — Cpl. Sammy Rodgers, Benton Harbor, Mich., and Fort Riley, Kas., won by TKO over Sgt. Preston Wells, Philadelphia and Fort Sheridan, Ill., in 1:59 of first round.

LIGHT WELTERWEIGHT — Pfc. John Hernandez, Amarillo, Tex., and Camp Carson, Colo., outpointed Cpl. Tommy Smith, Cincinnati, and Fort Worth, Tex.

WELTERWEIGHT — Pvt. Frank Smith, Covington, Ky., and Fort Wood, Mo., outpointed Pvt. Richard Lane, Hamburg, N. Y., and Camp Carson, Colo.

LIGHT MIDDLEWEIGHT — Pfc. Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., and Fort Sheridan, outpointed Cpl. Lonnie Wells, Joppa, Md., and Fort Wood, Mo.

MIDDLEWEIGHT — Pvt. Harry Mahnen, Washington, D. C., and Camp Carson, outpointed Pfc. Clarence Riley, Detroit and Fort Riley, Kas.

Willie Pep Fights Ken Leach Monday At Golden Park

Willie Pep, former world's featherweight champion, will meet Kenny Leach, 21-year old cutter living Baltimore, Md., lightweight, in a 10-round fight Monday night at Golden Park in Columbus.

Pep is number one contender for the feather crown which is frozen until champion Sandy Saddler is discharged from the Army. Pep lost the title to Sandy in 1949, won it back in 1949 and failed to gain it back in two later bouts.

The last of those title bouts resulted in both Willie and Sandy being suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Leach has won 29 of 31 pro fights holding wins over such as Armand Savoie, Angelo Kaifos and Nat Davins.

Second Regiment Lists Five Golfers

The Second Student Regiment golf team, slated to enter its own league play next month, currently boasts five men, on the 1st Student Brigade links squad.

Representing the 2nd SR are Lt. Col. Willis Adams, Capt. Hunter Spear, WOJG Jack Tessendorf, Lt. Andy Morrow and M-Sgt. Charles Gunderson.

An inter - regimental golf tournament open to both students and cadre will be held next month.

BOBBY NIXES MAXIM

Sugar Ray Robinson, world middleweight champion, has turned down a match with Joey Maxim for the light heavyweight crown in New York this summer.

Lawrence Is Post's Mr. Golf

M-Sgt. Lester Lawrence, who for the last 19 years has given Fort Benning the finest golf course in the south (with apologies to no one for that statement) is retiring from the Army this month.

But before the post's divot diggers throw away their woods and irons in despair, hear this out. The genial course superintendent will stay on the job, having just signed a contract to take care of the Country Club links as a civilian.

Lawrence has been at Benning since 1920 and has been head groundskeeper at the main post links since they were opened in 1933. Despite play which averages nearly 600 rounds of golf every week end the course is in superb condition.

The greens of the intriguing 18-hole layout are like glass and the fairways trim and green the year 'round despite the adverse weather conditions of winter.

Lawrence also has been a virtual one-man builder in supervising the construction of nine new holes at the club which will be finished in September and spread out the heavy playing load.

LAWRENCE CHECKS NEW COURSE
Sand Will Go In Elaborate Trap

Real Golfing Bargain

The new nine, designed by famed golfing architect Robert Trent Jones, and a duffer's delight, was financed by the Officers Mess, and thanks in large part to Lawrence's efforts the cost will be in the neighborhood of only $25,000.

The genial Lawrence, who uses his off-duty time each year to take courses related to grass and soil care at nearby colleges, got his just recognition recently when queried about taking a job as groundskeeper at the famed Augusta National course, home of the Masters tourney.

Lawrence nixed any idea of leaving the Benning course which he launched and groomed into one rivaling the Augusta layout. Les was quite a shetmaker himself at one time, but gave up the game about ten years ago to devote full time to making things pleasant for other golfers.

Attesting to the course's superiority, the first All-Army links tourney was held here in 1947 and the inter-service tourney was slated here in 1951 when cancelled because of the Korean war.

Lawrence's assistant include Charles Biggs, Ed Blewett, Alan Bowden, Gordon Bynum, Ball Shorter, Blanton Dwight, Levi Passmore, James Williams, Joe Gooch, Aaron Wiley and Robert Robinson.

Col. Charles H. Owens is project officer of the new nine holes and Lt. Col. Herman Rabinowitz chairman of the greens committee. On the membership committee are Maj. W. C. Beachler, Capt. Ed Mann, Capt. William Graham, CWO Emory McDowell and M-Sgt. Emil Kaesserman.

Swim Tryouts Set for Kids

Tryouts for youngsters interested in a summer-long swimming program will be held at 3:30 p.m. May 5-9 at Russ Pool on the main post near Outpost No. One, Col. Ivan Parr, director of youth activities announced yesterday.

Children from five years old up will be grouped into beginners, intermediates and advanced classes and offered instruction which will be on a four-day-a-week basis when the current school term ends.

Classes will start May 12.

Qualified swimming teachers who like to serve in the program are invited to report to Russ pool at 4:30 p.m. May 8. Mrs. M. S. Baxter, Red Cross instructor, and Mrs. Toni Kemp are spearheading the program.

Complete information can be had by calling M-Sgt. Raymond Tousignant at 4-1196.

McNeice Has 4-Hitter In Softball Opener

John McNeice pitched four-hit ball as Headquarters and Headquarters, First Student Brigade, downed Hq. and Service Co., First S. R., 8-5, in the open game of the Student Brigade softball league.

First Battalion, First S. R. downed Student Brigade Casual Company, 12-9, in the second game with Bill Dailey and Bill Hayut connecting for home runs. Col. Kenneth Macchesbet threw the first ball to launch the season.

ARMY TOURNAMENT

Eleven major commands will participate in the All-Army boxing tournament May 27-31 at Fort Monmouth, N. J. In addition to the six ZI army areas, teams will be present from M. D. of Washington, and European, Far Eastern, Pacific and Alaskan Commands.

Benning Loses Pair

The Jackets of the Little Sally League in Columbus defeated the Rams of Fort Benning's Doughboy Little League, 15-12, in a practice game last Saturday, and the Columbus Dodgers beated the Rams, 16-11, Sunday afternoon.

Fussell, Yoder, Peiren, Hartrung, Thade and Combs were the big hitters for the Rams.

Ruben Mendoza, of the 10th Division at Fort Riley, Kans., has been named to the United States Olympic soccer team.

GEORGIA ATHLETES . . . Lt. Garland Pinholster, (right), former basketball and football coach at Summerville, Ga., and Rockmart, Ga., lends helping hand to Capt. Clyde Ehrhardt, former University of Georgia All-America center, in setting up athletic equipment for physical training committee. Both of the Georgians have coaching in mind when they're released from active duty. (U. S. Army Photo.)

Pinholster's Coaching Put Whammy on His Hometown

BY JIM MINTER

Lt. Garland Pinholster is active in Fort Benning's tennis, basketball, softball and vollyball, but his real claim to sports fame is as a freshman high school coach who threw a double whammy on his hometown, Valdosta, Ga.

That was in 1950 when he took over as head basketball coach at Summerville, Ga., after graduating from North Georgia College.

He guided Summerville over Valdosta, 46-43, for the Georgia state prep class A hoop title. The Greenies, with a 30-1 record, had been big favorites.

Next, Pinholster moved to Rockmart, Ga., High as head cage mentor and assistant on the football staff—and Valdosta lost another state crown as the Rockmart gridders bowled them over and then beat Holyhoke, Mass., in the Peanut Bowl in Columbus.

College Success

Two of Pinholster's pupils have gone on to college success. His best cager, at Rockmart, Max Mason, starred with the Kentucky Wildcats freshman basketball team last season, and Hayden Hooper, one of his backs, has nailed down a varsity job with Bear Bryant's eleven.

Pinholster, assigned to Infantry School Detachment and on duty with the physical training committee, was recalled to active duty last June. He is married to Miss Patricia Sanders of Columbus, and is planning to go back to coaching after his present tour of duty.

Buman Won Biggest Golf Tourney With Hole-In-One

When young Paul Buman fired a one-under-par 71 to help a post team down LaGrange Country Club two weeks ago, some of the oldtimers around the Fort Benning Country Club may have raised their eyebrows, but it was just another work-a-day performance for Paul.

A private with Headquarters and Service Co., Airborne Battalion, First Student Regiment, he grew up with a golf course literally as his back yard. Paul's father was manager of a South Bend, Ind., layout.

With that background, he made his high school links squad and won the state prep golf title in 1947 and then went on to star for two seasons with Notre Dame par busters.

His big moment came in 1948, however, when he had to fire a hole-in-one to win the Indiana State Amateur golf tournament. Paul aced the 18th and his rival fired a deuce giving Buman the title one-up in what must rank as one of the greatest finishes in golf.

The same year he was a quarter-finalist in the National Junior tournament in Lincoln, Nebr.

He teamed up with pro Zel Eaton in 1951 to win the California State Pro-Amateur title with a record shattering 66-66.

Shortly after that he won the Santa Anna, Calif., city championship and the following day was inducted into the Army.

Currently an entrant in the First Student Regiment golf tournament, post golf fans seem destined to become well acquainted with the feats of the young Indianan in coming Benning links events.

DRIVING FORM SHOWN BY BETHELL EDRINGTON
Qualifying with 76, he's hot first flight title contender

Duncan, Graham Cop 1 Up

Bill Graham was carried to the 23rd hole before beating Ray Florian, 1 up, and 16-year old Bill Duncan pulled a major upset by beating former pro Bill Harbour, 1 up, over the regulation 18-holes in stunning second round action this week in the annual Officers' Mess Club championship at Fort Benning, C.C.

Young Duncan, son of Col. William Duncan, sunk a 10-foot putt on the 16th to pull within a stroke of Harbour. He holed a four-footer on the 17th to go even and shot a birdie four on the 18th to win it.

Duncan, who advances into the quarter-finals with seven other championship flight shotmakers this weekend, had a one-over-par 73 medal score to Harbour's 74. Graham equalled par four on the 22rd to close out his match with Florian.

In other good championship flight tests, medalist Ross Haecker defeated Jim Adamson, Bill Caldwell downed R. W. Jamison, 1 up on the 19th, Matt Tatum beat Bob Ives, 2 and 1, Jim Lynch bested Art Rafferty, 3 and 2, Barney Wiselogle edged A. Miller, 2 and 1, and Ed Mann defeated W. Brooks, 2 and 1.

Quarter-Finals

In quarter - final tests this weekend Haecker meets Caldwell, Duncan takes on Graham, Tatum faces Lynch and Wiselogle meets Mann. Losers in the second round matches go into action in the championship consolations.

Forfeits were taken by R. M. Flynn, Sam Walker, E. R. Fenstemacher and E. Perry in the first flight. L. C. Kyle defeated John Acuff, 2 and 1, John Henion bested S. Booth and E. Shafer downed Emory McDowell.

In the second flight, Herman Rabinowitz and Bigart took forfeit wins, Richmond defeated Lowry and MacDonald beat Bruger, 4 and 2.

Lower Flights

Baker took a forfeit win, Daniels beat Hakala, 2 and 1 and Ozier beat Doran, 2 up, in third flight action.

Fourth flight play saw Krams beat Edwards, 2 up, Kayes down Rozecki, and Keller top Cochran.

In the fifth flight, Blaney downed Cockarell, 1 up in 21 holes, Koons beat Poole, and Goff nipped Carleton, 3 and 2.

In the sixth flight, Prazenka won over Willis, 3 and 1, Jaremski beat Fleet, Cromwell blasted Bland, 6 and 4, and Myers topped Hicks.

Cardinals Play Five Tilts Here This Weekend

The Columbus Cardinals, battling mightily to stay in the first division in the early Sally League standings, play Savannah at 8 o'clock tonight in the finale of a four game series.

The Red Birds take on the Jacksonville Tars in a four-game series opening Friday night at downtown Golden Park. A doubleheader is set for Sunday afternoon.

Columbus centerfielder Tom Burgess currently is leading Sally League batters with a sterling .464 average. Gil Daley, all-star outfielder in the Georgia-Florida League last year, is the newest addition to the Cardinal roster.

Post Track Marks Better College Go

Florida State University won a triangular track and field meet Saturday over Georgia Tech and Georgia.

The recent Fort Benning Track and Field Meet produced two marks lower than that of Saturday's collegiate competition at Atlanta. George Bell, of CTC, made a broad jump of 20-feet, 3-4 inches, a quarter of an inch better than the Atlanta standard.

Larry Goins, of First O. C. Regiment, tossed the javelin 194 - feet, 9 5-8-inches in the Benning meet while a 168-foot heave won at Atlanta.

All-American Stroud Ends 2nd Sports Effort Here

A former All-American tackle from the University of Tennessee last week completed his second successful chapter in Fort Benning sports and today will shove off for the Far East.

He is Lt. Jack Stroud, star offensive and defensive tackle for the Volunteers from 1947 through 1950, who graduated this week from an associate infantry company officers course with 112th Company, Second Student Regiment.

Stroud is more familiar to post fans as a brilliant linemah with the 1946 Doughboy team which plowed unbeaten through a tough schedule of inter - service competition.

Good Try

Last week in the Benning Track and Field Championships, Stroud took a brief time out from his training to place third in the javelin throw with a heave of 178-feet, 8 5-8 inches.

That's a pretty good standard for a man with about four days of practice under his belt and a very good finish when his chief rival was Larry Goins, the sensational former University of Southern California javelin tosser.

Stroud was elected captain of the Vols in his senior year—his biggest sports thrill — and also played in the All - Star game in Chicago that year. He was ready to sign a contract with the New York Giants when recalled to active duty.

Giants Waiting

Just 24 years old, the 224-pound, six - foot Stroud has a Giant contract waiting for him upon his discharge.

Stroud was first drafted into the service following World War II. After his outstanding performance with the Doughboys he went straight to Tennessee, and last year played with the famed Fort Jackson Golden Arrow Divies, winning a berth on the All-Army team.

"That Jackson squad was good. They had the experienced men, but I'll always have a warm spot in my heart for those 1946 Doughboys," admitted Stroud. The Doughs used the single wing same as Tennessee, so I had to convert to the T at Jackson.

Single Wing Tops

"I'm still a single wing man," he says. "That's real football."

Jack had something of an apology for his appearance in the track meet.

"Football and track were always my two sports," he admitted. "I sure would like to have seen what I could have done against Goins and the others if I could have practiced regularly beforehand.

A graduate of Lowell High school in San Francisco, Stroud now calls Knoxville home. He is married and has two small children.

Mortar Co. Teams Win CTC Games

After two early losses to the 41st Field Artillery Battalion, the baseball team of Heavy Mortar bounced back to take two in a row.

The first was from First Battalion, 30th Infantry, 7 to 0, and the second from Second Battalion, 15-5. Outstanding for his batting and infield work was Lew McIntosh for the Mortarmen.

Not to be outdone by their fellow soldiers, the softball team members of Mortar Company won their first league game with the most plaudits going to Francis White who broke up a fairly even game in the fifth inning with a home run that brought the final score to 17 for Mortar and 12 for the 41st FA Bn.

Four Little League Squads Launch Post Season Tonight

The Doughboy Little League — baseball action by eight-to-12 year olds on post — opens at 6 o'clock tonight with all four teams in action in a doubleheader at the new field south of the WAC Detachment on Ingersoll street.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

He also will take part in a parade of all Greater Columbus Little League players and officials at 4 p.m. today downtown. The parade route will be on Broadway from 14th to 11th streets and across to Second avenue.

M-Sgt. Raymond Tousignant is president of the Doughboy circuit which is starting its first season at Fort Benning as a project of the youth activities committee directed by Col. Ivan Parr.

Big Schedule

The post's four teams will complete an 18-game schedule in nine weeks and then go into playoffs with teams from five other leagues in the Columbus area.

With parents handling the details like coaching, umpiring and scoring, The Rams meet the Raiders in tonight's first game and the Commanders take on the Flyers in the second.

The Rams are managed by Capt. Roy Hendrickson with M-Sgt. James Fussell as assistant skipper. M-Sgt. Mike Brokovich mentors the Raiders and is assisted by Sgt. John Smith. Lt. Col. J. C. Brink pilots the Commanders with Lt. Thomas Carcell, of the Marines, as assistant.

Manager and assistant manager for the Flyers are Maj. Harry Barnes and Capt. Robert Rogers.

Schedule Set

Games are scheduled every Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Ingersoll street field which is rigged with a new lighting system and has ample seating facilities.

The youngsters play on an official diamond scaled down to their size and wear complete baseball uniforms except for a protective headgear designed to protect them when batting.

Rules require that so many youngsters of each age be in action at all times, a move which insures the smallest of them getting into the competition.

Their complete schedule:

The Little League schedule:

May 1 — Rams vs. Raiders and Commanders vs. Flyers.
May 6 — Commanders vs. Rams and Flyers vs. Raiders.
May 8 — Flyers vs. Rams and Commanders vs. Raiders.
May 13 — Raiders vs. Flyers and Rams vs. Commanders.
May 15 — Flyers vs. Commanders and Raiders vs. Rams.

June 10 — Raiders vs. Rams and Flyers vs. Commanders.
June 12 — Rams vs. Commanders and Raiders vs. Flyers.
June 17 — Commanders vs. Flyers and Rams vs. Raiders.
June 19 — Rams vs. Raiders and Commanders vs. Flyers.
June 24 — Rams vs. Commanders and Raiders vs. Flyers.
June 26 — Commanders vs. Rams and Flyers vs. Raiders.
July 1 — Raiders vs. Rams and Flyers vs. Commanders.

Ray Cops Title In Post Finals

Arnold Ray, 146 3-4, of 508th Airborne, pounded out a steady decision over Milton Marcey, 145-1-2, Combat Training Command, to win the Fort Benning class B welterweight championship Tuesday night at Briant Wells Field House.

The bout was postponed from the regular championship card two weeks ago when both boys suffered severe eye cuts in the first round.

The win added three points to the 508th's scoring in the post ring series, making the final totals as follows:

ASU Provisional Group, 141, First Student Regiment, 137, Combat Training Command, 112, and 508th, 111.

The bout officially closed out the post ring season. Five other challenge matches were fought last night.

George Allen, 116 1-2, ASU, defending Third Army bantamweight champ, gave Nori Kawasaki, 118 1-2, 508th, three rounds of boxing lessons in one of these. It was Allen's second straight over Kawasaki.

Kenny Sulzman, 138 1-2, of 508th, impressive in the Diamond Belt tourney here, but winless at Benning, won his first when Jaes Howard, 140 1-4, First S.R. was stopped in 1:58 of one with a cut eye.

Leander Ray, 123 1-2, of ASU, decisioned Charlie Gardner, 124-1-2, First S.R., and Raymond Kiley, 129 3-4, 508th, beat Lucas Guzman, 125, CTC.

In a five - round exhibition, CTC's Bill Ferguson, pro from Miami, boxed First S.R.'s James Boyd, the post's 1952 light heavyweight champ.

OC Teams Challenge In Four Sports

Participation in sports in the 19th Officer Candidate company has reached an all time high, Lt. Bill Gillingham, star of the championship First Officer Candidate (now Third S. R.) basketball team, has four sports activities going in the company area.

Heading the list is softball with volleyball close behind. Next is the ping pong team and then the badminton team. The 19th Officer Candidate company will play all comers in any and all these events during off-duty hours.

CAGERS JAILED

Cornelis Kelleher and Ben Schwartzberg were given a year in jail and Sol Rappaport 10 months for their part in the fixing of the basketball game between Manhattan and DePaul in January, 1951. Two other Manhattan players got suspended sentences.

SWIM MEET SET

The Second Student Regiment has scheduled a unit swimming meet and water carnival May 28-29.

STRANAHAN WINS

Frank Stranahan swept to a smashing 8 and 7 victory over veteran Frank Strafaci in a pouring rain at Pinehurst, N. C., Saturday to win his third North and South Invitation amateur golf title.

FELTON SETS MARK

Sam Felton, a member of the Navy's all - star Olympic training squad who formerly was with Harvard, shattered the hammer throw record Saturday in the 58th annual Penn Relays. Felton's toss went for 183 - feet, 2 3-8 - inches.

Curtiss Wins Play

Irene Curtiss and Tommie Jenkins won the 18-hole trophies in a Fort Benning Women's golf association penalty tournament last week. Betty Lowrey and Mary Frances Rabinowitz paced the nine-holers.

Olga MacAllister and Betty Jordan were hostesses at a golf luncheon following.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs have jumped the gun on the other schools of the nation. With spring practice barely under way the Frogs have a good idea of what their 1952 football squad will look like on opening day. Five fine tailbacks have been heralded for plenty of headlines. They are veterans Gil Bartosh, Ray McKown, Bobby Jack Floyd and newcomers Mal Fowler and Dan Powell . . . California University retained its World Cup rugby championship, whipping the University of British Columbia, 11-6, in the finals. All-American football guard Les Richter earned his second letter by scoring eight of the team's 11 points . . . Yale's head football coach Herman Hickman will have plenty of topflight help this fall. Former Villanova head coach Jordan Olivar and former all-American and all-professional Bill Dudley have joined him as aides. . . .

Frank Dobson, one of the founders of the Southern Conference back at the turn of the century, still thinks track is the "most unselfish sport and the best developer of men."

Yale's swimming rivals John Marshall and Wayne Moore fought tooth-and-nail for every race in the pool this year, but after hours they are friendly—as roommates . . . Opposing pitchers may think they're seeing double when they face the University of Southern California and they're right. Twin brothers Hal and Stan Charnofsky, the Trojans' shortstop-second base combination, are hitting the ball at a .376 and .390 percentage, respectively.

CRICKET TEAMS

A cricket team is made up of 11 players. It consists of a bowler (pitcher); point; cover point; mid off; mid on; short slip; third man; square leg; deep mid off; deep mid on; and wicket keeper (catcher).

ROTC

banza will be deputy camp commander.

The cadet corps will be organized into three battalions of six companies each. The Third Battalion of the 508th Airborne Infantry Regiment will serve as support and demonstration troops.

Most of the cadets are college juniors or seniors. All are in either their first or second year of advanced ROTC.

ROTC headquarters is now located in the Army Hospital area of the Main Post but will move to Sand Hill June 1, according to Major Stanley Parr, from the Infantry Center's Adjutant General's section, who will be camp S-1.

Other staff members will be Lt. Col. William J. McConnell, First Officer Candidate Regiment, camp executive; Col. Edgar S. McKee, Georgia Military Academy, deputy for training; Lt. Col. William E. Hensel, Infantry Center G-3 office, operations officer, and Lt. Col. Floyd Walts, Infantry Center G-4 office, camp S-4.

The training period will be based on a 48-hour week and will be designed to augment instruction received in the classroom during the academic year.

Training will be similar to that given Regular Army training units with emphasis on the technique of firing weapons. Practice marches, field exercises and field maneuvers with full equipment will be used to develop initiative and leadership, according to ROTC officials.

Physical training will be emphasized. High standards will be maintained in military bearing, courtesy, precision, punctuality, neatness of dress and person, discipline and sanitation, they said.

Cooks and mess stewards will be provided by the Third Army Area Food Service School here, and 140 mess attendants will come from the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

Most of the equipment will be provided by post Ordnance, Quartermaster and Engineer stocks supplemented by Third Army.

ARMY'S SHEA WINS

Dick Shea, of Army captured the two - mile event in the third straight year last week - end in the 58th annual Penn Relays at Frankin Field, Philadelphia. His time was 9.33.5.

DYKES LOOKS GOOD

Bobby Dykes, who lost a split decision to Kid Gavilan for the welter title two months ago in Miami, soundly trounced Ted Murray in New York last weekend, setting the stage for a return bout with Gavilan in New York.

DIX WINS AGAIN

Fort Dix has won the First Army boxing championship for the third consecutive year.

ORD RIDING HIGH

The Fort Ord., Calif., post baseball team now has a 13-1 record after beating Santa Clara, 7-2, last week.

TWO PLAYERS KILLED

Two Louisville University gridders, fullback William Pence and center Keith Meyers, were killed in an automobile accident last week in Louisville.

GOLF COURSE OPEN

The nine - hole Sand Hill golf course is open every weekday afternoon after duty hours. Clubs are available at the course.

Following his World War I service at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne in 1918, his career drew little public attention until the mid-thirties when he attended the Command and General Staff School, the Army War College and the Air Corps tactical school.

His brilliant record during World War II brought him two awards, the Legion of Merit and the Distinguished Service Medal three times. He won the DSM for actions in the New Georgia campaign, Leyte campaign, and the Okinawa campaign.

General Hodge held the rank of general throughout he campaigns for which he was decorated and was commanding general of the XIV Corps when it invaded the Philippines.

GATOR SKEIN ENDS

George Tech rallied for four runs in the eighth inning and ended the University of Florida's 14 - game winning streak by beating the Gators, 6-5, last week.

Honor

receive the Medal of Honor, life has been a continual merry-go-round for the bovish - looking lieutenant, his wife, Virginia, and his two-year-old son, Gary Lee.

"For me the most exciting part of the whole business was the ceremony at the White House when the President made the awards," Lieutenant Burke said. "But my wife and my mother were happiest because they know I won't have to fight anymore." (Medal of Honor wearers are exempted from combat duty unless they specifically request it.)

"We spent two weeks before our trip to Washington briefing Gary on how to act when he met Mr. Truman. Although Gary's vocabulary is limited, we managed to coach him on how to say, 'Good Morning, Mr. President,'" Lieutenant Burke said.

"The government provided round - trip transportation for us between our home in Stuttgart, Ark., and Washington.

"Before we returned to Stuttgart Sunday we were extensively entertained," he went on. "We were guests of honor at a benefit dance for former officers presented by the Arkansas Society.

"There were more parties and celebrations after we got home," he added. "We were greeted with a parade and testimonial dinner. Everyone was wonderful but we were pretty well worn out by the time it was all over with."

Lieutenant Burke seemed pleased to be "back at Benning" (he was a student in The Infantry School's basic course in 1949) and is looking forward to having his family join him next month. Mrs. Burke is a school teacher and has to remain in Stuttgart until school is dismissed for the summer.

Lieutenant Burke was a leader as a civilian as well as in the Army. He was president of the junior class in 1949 at Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, Ark., and president of Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity for two years.

Militarily he has made a good record, too. During World War II he was a squad leader with the 10th Combat Engineer Regiment in Italy, participating in the Rome - Arno, Appennines to Po Valley campaigns. He was honor ROTC Cadet at Henderson State in 1949 and Distinguished Military Graduate in 1950, receiving a commission in the Regular Army.

He was with the First Cavalry in Korea from November, 1950 to February, 1952.

"Then we all filed into the President's office — I was carrying Gary — and it all went off as planned. We all shook hands and Gary said his little speech without a hitch. We be-medalled officer and families.

After we had been presented to the President, the entire party went outdoors into the Rose Garden for the award ceremony. There were three of us who were to receive the Medal of Honor.

Simple Ceremony

"The ceremony was simple and brief," he said. President Truman read the citations himself before placing ribbons with the medals around our necks. The entire formation lasted about fifteen minutes. The news reporters and photographers afterwards took another 30 minutes," he added.

"After the President had entered the White House, Gary couldn't contain himself no longer. He began jumping up and down and shouting "I wanna see Harry Truman! I wanna see Harry Truman!

"One official commented that it was a shame the President couldn't have remained to hear his avid admirer," Lieutenant Burke said, "and Washington.

and other factors for our success."

"Stamina is not usually developed to the highest degree at a place like Fort Benning, where the ground is chosen to illustrate the problem, but, rather, on the battlefield in a place like Korea, where the terrain is unknown."

Graduation

General Devers, speaking at graduation ceremonies for the two classes Saturday, pointed out that the job of the Infantryman, comparatively simple at the beginnings of World War II, was daily becoming more complex. "As technological services step forward," he said, "the Infantryman will have to keep pace. It is sometimes said that a war is fought with the weapons of the last war. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"We use new, younger men," he continued, "the most important weapon of any war. These men have new, young ideas to add to their traditional knowledge of warfare they learn right here in The Infantry School. They know how to improvise.

"You young men are going to have the opportunity to improvise and improve existing methods. The ability to improvise is something that cannot be stressed too highly."

Advanced class No. 1 had two honor graduates, Maj. Harry C. Beaumont and Maj. John W. Carley. Honor graduate in Class No. 2 was Maj. John C. Hill.

Extension Course Departments, as well as the close combat and infiltration course in the Harmony area during their stay here.

The Allied officers visited The Infantry School's Operations Office and Library today and saw a 57 mm recoilless rifle demonstration at Patton Range.

They will be honored at an official luncheon at the Main Officers' Mess Thursday and visit the Post Exchange and Commissary and the Infantry Officer Candidate School. Later Thursday they visited the Advanced Infantry Officers Course Command Post Exercise.

Before leaving Fort Benning Friday afternoon for Fort McPherson, Ga., they will tour the Third Army Food Service School.

The Dutch officers have already visited Army Field Forces headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va., Quantico, Va., and Parris Island, S. C. Tomorrow they are scheduled to tour the Armored Center at Fort Knox, Ky., and Gen. Marlet is expected to visit the Signal Center at Fort Monmouth, N. J., before returning to the Netherlands.

GOODY GOODY (Bob Crosby's Bobcats, vocal by Jeanne Gayle on Capitol). This is a new recording of an old song that refuses to be forgotten. This time Bob Crosby and his Bobcats brush off any dust that this lively tune may have collected with an arrangement that is both solid and sound. With Jeanne Gale doing the vocalizing, "Goody Goody" is a well-rounded rendition that will make Bobcat fans want more of the same type discs to be waxed. The reverse side is "It's Been So Long" with Jeanne Gayle doing the vocal.

THE LITTLE WHITE KNISH THAT CRIED (Mickey Katz and his orchestra on Capitol) Mickey is back again with one of his great satires. This record is a take-off much to the sorrow of all Johnny Ray followers on Ray's "The Little White Cloud That Cried." Mickey Katz does a fine interpretation of Johnny Ray's style and, as always, Mickey changes the lyrics to suit himself. The other side is "I'm a Schlemiel of Fortune", a take-off on "Wheel of Fortune." Both songs are novelties done in the manner as only Mickey Katz can render.

BALTIMORE RAG (Ralph Flanagan's orchestra on RCA-Victor) This is Ralph's latest disc featuring his "Artistry in Rhythm" orchestra. "Baltimore Rag" opens and closes with an intricate piano solo and features, in between, exciting sax work, unison riffs, and a solid drum beat. This record has the old-time swing treatment that has made Flanagan a prime favorite. The reverse side is "Singin' in the Rain" with the band doing the vocal refrain.

HALF AS MUCH (Rosemary Clooney with Percy Faith orchestra on Columbia) "Half As Much" is a cute and catchy ballad in which Rosemary Clooney sings about a girl who is asking some boy to love her only half as much as she loves him. Percy Faith's orchestra stays in the background with musical arrangements that enhance Rosemary Clooney's warbling. Other side is "Poor Whip-Poor-Will."

TO BE LOVED BY YOU (Clyde McCoy and his orchestra, vocal by Liz Tilton on Capitol) Clyde McCoy's distinctive blues trumpet and sweet muted "wow-wow" style that made him one of the music world's top instrumentalists are combined in this ballad with Liz Tilton, who takes command of the tune in the vocal department. "I Love to Hear a Choo Choo Train," a orchestra trio doing the vocal is on the reverse side of this disc.

Col. Karlstad Gets Fort Bragg Position

Col. Torrence Will Take Over Chief of Staff Position Here

Col. Charles H. Karlstad, chief of staff of the Infantry Center since November 1949 has been named commandant of The Psychological Warfare Center, Fort Bragg, N. C., according to Department of the Army orders.

He will leave Fort Benning Monday, May 12.

Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., of Erie, Pa., Infantry Center G-4 (supply) will become acting chief of staff of The Infantry Center upon the departure of Colonel Karlstad.

Colonel Karlstad, a veteran of 35 years of military service and a former brigadier general in World War II, has been active in Columbus civic activities since arriving at Fort Benning. He has served as a member of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce board of directors and has been one of the leading members of the Citizens-Military council.

Colonel Karlstad will spend a few days at Army headquarters in Washington, D. C. and several days at Army Field Forces and Third Army Headquarters before reporting to Fort Bragg to assume his new duties.

A graduate of the South Dakota State College, Colonel Karlstad was commissioned a captain in the Organized Reserve Corps on August 15, 1917. In World War I, he commanded a machine gun battalion, as a major, from June 1, 1918, until Sept. 20, 1920. He (See Karlstad, Page 16)

Slash Ordered In Oil Usage

A drastic slash in petroleum products consumption at Fort Benning has been ordered as the result of the nation-wide situation in the petroleum industry and the week-old oil refiners strike.

Issues of petroleum products will be made by the quartermaster on a weekly basis, with issues cut to 50 per cent of normal amounts. To further cut oil and gasoline consumption, special restrictions on transportation went into effect Monday.

Transportation of personnel to and from Columbus in government vehicles is limited to two bus round trips daily. The first will leave the Main Post bus terminal at 9 a.m., and return from the Federal building in Columbus at 11 a.m. In the afternoon, the bus will leave at 2 p.m. and return at 4 p.m.

Bus schedules for the children's schools have been revised to eliminate all transportation for children residing within the area of the reservation in which the school building which they attend is located. Existing regular bus routes on the Main Post, Sand Hill, and Harmony Church areas will be utilized to the highest degree possible.

Army vehicles will be pooled to the highest degree practicable, and student busses will be overloaded to maximum safe standing capacity.

All unit training involving vehicles has been suspended, and as a replacement training will be conducted in areas within marching distance.

All Army aviation activities have been cut to 50 per cent of normal.

Commanders and heads of activities using motor transportation have been urged to use vehicle pools and the "return load" principle to the maximum.

Three Allied Officers Visit Fort Benning

Three Allied officers are expected here May 12-13 to see Infantry School training facilities.

Ranking officer in the group will be Brig. Gen. Puffus of the Netherlands Army. Also expected are Col. P. Borromeo of the Philippines Army and Lt. Col. Washington Siahaan of the Indonesian Army.

Included on their itinerary are visits to The Infantry School's Airborne and Communications Departments. They also will observe firing demonstrations.

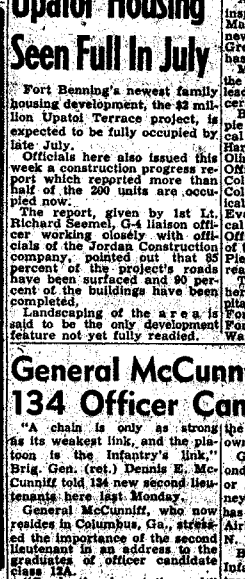
Upatoi Housing Seen Full In July

Fort Benning's newest family housing development, the $2 million Upatoi Terrace project, is expected to be fully occupied by late July.

Officials here also issued this week a construction progress report which reported more than half of the 200 units are occupied now.

The report, given by 1st Lt. Richard Seemel, G-4 liaison officer working closely with officials of the Jordan Construction company, pointed out that 85 percent of the project's roads have been surfaced and 90 percent of the buildings have been completed.

Landscaping of the area is said to be the only development feature not yet fully readied.



HELSINKI HOPE . . . Fort Benning's distance running Dick Ellis is expected to be one of the stars in the Third Army Track and Field Championships here Friday and Saturday. He was member of U. S. Army international pentathlon team last year. Turn to page 13 for stories and other photos.

Officials Inspect Benning As Site Of New Hospital

Army Medical Corps officials inspected The Infantry Center May 7 as a possible site for a new Army Hospital, Col. Mack Green, Infantry Center surgeon, has reported.

Major Gen. George Armstrong, the Army's surgeon general, lead the group of medical officers who included:

Brig. Gen. James O. Gillespie of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council, Brig. Gen. Harold Twitchell and Brig. Gen. Olin Mellney of the Air Force's Office of the Surgeon General, Col. Clement St. John and Lt. Col. Frank Lawford of the Medical Policy Council, Commander Evan Stone of the Navy Medical Corps, James Jenkins of the Office of the Comptroller, Office of the Secretary of Defense, and Pierce Palmer of the Budget Bureau, Hospital Branch.

The medical officials arrived here May 6 from a tour of hospital installations at Fort Dix and Fort Monmouth, N. J. They left Fort Benning yesterday for Washington.

Armed Forces Day Plans Set for Benning, Columbus

BY SFC. PAT MURPHY

Fort Benning will polish its face and practice snappy drill steps this week end, readying itself for a full week of display before thousands of American taxpayers.

Beginning Monday, The Infantry Center will spend a week helping observe Armed Forces Week, which is culminated May 17 with Armed Forces Day.

At least 4,000 Fort Benning troops and hundreds of pieces of equipment will journey to 10 Southern cities May 17 and 18 to join parades and displays as representatives of the ground forces.

Some 2,600 of the Infantry Center marchers will parade in Columbus' giant Armed Forces Day celebration which will include about 4,000 others marching celebrants.

Another 1,200 troops — and their equipment — will be sent to Birmingham, Selma and Montgomery, Ala.; Albany, Rome, Atlanta, Macon and Valdosta, Ga., and Buloxi, Miss.

The Army — and Fort Benning—will be well represented next Thursday when Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, visits Jackson, Tenn., as special guest of the Joint Civic Service Clubs of Jackson.

The Infantry Center itself will throw open all gates throughout the week to welcome hundreds of expected visitors on round-robin tours of the post.

General McCunniff Addresses 134 Officer Candidate Grads

"A chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and the platoon is the Infantry's link," Brig. Gen. (ret.) Dennis E. McCunniff told 134 new second lieutenants here last Monday.

General McCunniff, who now resides in Columbus, Ga., stressed the importance of the second lieutenant in an address to the graduates of officer candidate class 12A.

"Graduation is not the end," he continued, "it is only the beginning of enlarged knowledge and responsibility.

"You must learn to be a leader. A leader conquers fear and inspires love and respect in his men," he declared.

"In battle, when the chips are down, you will meet situations not covered in books," General McCunniff told the new officers. "You must use common sense to make decisions and the life you save may be your own."

General McCunniff pinned second lieutenant's bars on the honor graduate of the class, Gladney D. Smith. Lieutenant Smith has been assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, introduced General McCunniff.

Death Points Your Way, Soldier

You're lucky, soldier.

You weren't killed this week, that's why.

All signs pointed toward your death in the most violent, most expensive way.

In your automobile.

Thus far in 1952 — it's a mere four months old — ten Fort Benning soldiers have been crushed, ripped and bent into death while driving or riding in autos.

Fort Benning's safety director, Norman Evans, can almost predict to the day when another Infantry Center citizen will die behind the wheel of a heavy, speeding vehicle.

He has a near-perfect rule-of-thumb. He has what's termed a "payday cycle." That is to say, within eight days after each payday, a Fort Benning soldier will die in a car. Few times has his method of prediction been inaccurate.

The cycle for the latest payday ends tonight. Mr. Evans said a life probably will have been snuffed out by midnight today.

The 11th Fort Benning auto death this year will fill these shoes:

He'll be at least a corporal, over 23 years old and will die between midnight and dawn. He'll be driving near 70 miles per hour and will have had "a couple drinks."

The road on which he'll die quickly will be in good condition and dry.

Rocket-fast speed of the auto will cause him to lose control, and his death will be against an immovable tree or bridge rail or off the side of a soft, sharp curve.

Only luck, soldier, will save this driver.

Red Cross Drive Breaks Record

The $35,000 plus that Infantry Center soldiers donated to the 1952 Red Cross drive made up a large slice of the record-breaking near two and one-half million dollars donated by members of the Armed Forces the world over this year.

This is the highest donation from servicemen since World War II, Red Cross president E. Roland Harriman reported. Donations from domestic military installations this year totalled $1,789,160 — nearly $50,000 over the amount donated last year, according to Armed Forces Press Service.

Military men and women in Europe and the Far East this year gave $699,568 — more than two and one-half times as much as they gave in 1951.

Mr. Harriman said "This substantial support of the Red Cross fund campaign is gratifying evidence that our extensive program of welfare and recreation services for the Armed Forces is welcomed and appreciated by the serviceman.

"It also demonstrates that, like millions of other Americans, men in uniform — even though far from home—have a vital interest in assisting their friends and neighbors in distress."

Armed Forces Press Service reports that more than a third of the 1952-53 Red Cross budget is esrmarked for the organization's program of services to the Armed Forces and veterans.

Human Beings Seem Incurably Indifferent

CHAPLAIN (MAJ.) LEWIS B. SHEEN

"Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?" This cry, first uttered by a prophet in the sixth century before Christ, has been raised again and again down to our present time. It will probably be on the tongues of feeling humanity until the Last Day. Indifference seems to be an incurable trait of human beings. It is, I suppose one of the cruel manifestations of the core of selfishness which burns within each one of us.

One of the things which struck each Korean rotatee when he set foot on the ZI terra firma was the noticeable indifference of the majority of his compatriots to the horror and the evil through which he had just passed. While he was absorbed in each news broadcast, trying to hear some news of how those whom he had left were fareing, no one else seemed to care. The women chatted about their washing machines and babies and maids, and the men about their cars, their jobs, the high cost of whisky. Our rotatee could not understand this indifference — at first. But after several months, he would have to admit in all truth, that he was becoming just as indifferent. Why is this?

One attends many functions, formal and informal. Chaplains are privileged to mix in all sorts and conditions of groups —in small gatherings in the field, in the barracks, in the homes, in the clubs. The one quality they find lacking in many of these groups is compassion: genuine concern for the welfare of another. Instead of compassion, they see the destroyer: indifference. Why is this?

And yet, the monster indifference can be thwarted. Compassion is the force which alone

It is not necessary to be a brilliant observer of human institutions to see the countless marriages which start out happily enough, but are shortly destroyed by the monster indifference. It is not necessary to be an eminent historian to see rulers to the condition of the ruled, yes, even the indifference of the ruled to their own condition. The monster indifference knows no bounds, it seems.

And yet, the monster indifference can be thwarted. Compassion is the force which alone can pulverize indifference. From whence comes compassion? Here is the rub. Compassion is the active expression of faith in God. It is a sad commentary on the strength of our faith that when the crisis comes in the life of the "religious" man, he allies himself with the forces of indifference rather than with the power of compassion more often than not. It has been said that humankind cannot stand very much reality. This seems to be particularly true of the reality of the relationship of the religious man to God. This relationship is the personal relationship of the creature to the Creator. This is the fact that puts teeth into relition. This is the element that makes religion not the opiate of the poeple, but the power of God to the salvation of the world.

And yet it is precisely this element which many religious people have to ignore, because though they say religion is a personal matter, they interpret that to mean it is an individual matter. This is neatly parodied in one translation of the Latin phrase", semper fidelis" which goes: "I got mine, buddy, to heck with you." What is this but indifference? What is more alien to religion?

The expression of one's religion lies, it seems to me, not so much in whether or not one smokes a cigarette or swims on Sunday, but in the measure of compassion one is able to exercise daily. Do not misunderstand me. The person who attempts to live a compassionate life soon finds out that he is only able to do so as long as he acknowledges the glory, laud and honour the creature owes his Creator. The person who attempts compassion acknowledges that it is the most difficult thing in the world because its price is so high. He then sees indifference as it really is: the refuge of the coward who never dared to try his religion, and the stronghold of those who, having tried and failed, have decided to remain failures.

Army to Induct 31,000 in June and July

By Armed Forces Press Service

The Army has issued a call for 10,000 inducteees in June and 31,000 in July. Quotas for August and September will be about as large as the July call. The Marine Corps, Navy and Air Force believe they can meet their requirements by volunteers. The June and July calls will bring the number of men inducted since the Korean outbreak to 954,430.

A new British aircraft catapult will be adapted for use on U.S. aircraft carriers, the Department of the Navy has announced. Recent tests proved that the catapult, which is powered by steam from the carrier's boilers, could hurl Navy jet fighters into the air even when the carrier was at dockside or headed downwind. First installation will be made on the Essex class carrier USS Hancock.

Collins Tells Congress Ammunition Rationed

Gen. J. Lawton Collins told Congress this week that the Army has had to ration some types of ammunition in Korea because it is not being made as fast as it is fired away. The Army chief of staff made this report to a Senate appropriations sub-committee when he appeared in opposition to cuts in military spending already voted by the House. "Some types of ammunition most important to our front-line soldiers have been rationed in Korea because production still does not equal normal battle expenditures," he said, "and World War II stocks have either been exhausted or have approached exhaustion."

Gen. Omar Bradley, appearing before the same sub-committee, said that Russia's military strength is at a point which "she may well consider adequate to warrant the risk of a major aggression now."

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch won its fifth Pulitzer Prize for its expose of the corruption in the Internal Revenue Department. The Post-Dispatch won previous awards in 1937, 1941, 1948, and 1950. It was cited again this year for disinterested and meritorious public service in its exposure of "shocking evidence of political immorality." The 1952 award for fiction went to Herman Wouk's novel of the wartime Navy, "The Caine Mutiny." Joseph Kramm's "The Shrike" won the drama award.

In honoring the Post Dispatch for the fifth time, the trustees of Columbia Univers said "The work of the Post-Dispatch led to the indictment and prosecution of James P. Finnegan, St. Louis head of the Internal Revenue Bureau, the resignation under fire of William M. Boyle, Democratic National Chairman, and the dismissal or resignation of over 160 employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau all over the country."

On The Bookshelf

BY SGT. TIM WARREN

MY COUSIN RACHEL by Daphne du Maurier, New York; Doubleday and Co. 348 pages, $3.50.

In My Cousin Rachel, Rachel Ashley is a middle aged woman whose every act seems determined to undermine the spirit and happiness of the man she attempts to destroy. Those who remember Max de Winter's second wife in Rebecca will picture her as young, energetic and forever willing and endeavoring to please him.

My Cousin Rachel in itself appears to present the other side of the entire picture that was portrayed in Rebecca.

The historic mansion that Max de Winter brought his wife to in Rebecca bears no resemblance to the old, neglected Cornish farmstead which Rachel invades.

There was never any question of mystery revolving around the death of Max de Winter's Rebecca but there we are faced with the choice of convicting or vindicating Rachel by our own interpretation of the story.

There is also some doubt as to whether or not Rachel murdered her husband with the seeds of the laburnum tree and then attempted to do away with his young cousin, Philip Ashley.

Undoubtedly the reader will entertain thoughts throughout that will cause him to first believe in and then against Rachel. Regardless of the belief of the reader, it must be admitted that Rachel deliberately put [illegible] matter.

Sequence

The story throughout is presented to the reader in a sequence that approximates the way it would be unfolded to a jury — leaving the reader in the same position.

To this member of the jury Rachel is unquestionably guilty of her husband's murder and the attempted murder of his young cousin.

Philip, who has been in excellent health, began to be troubled by headaches and other symptoms that closely paralleled those of his cousin before his death. This continues until he discovers the laburnum seeds in a locked cabinet.

Up until the book is almost finished, there can be no doubt as to the guilt of Rachel but in the end Miss Du Maurier takes an entirely different outlook.

First, there are no seeds in the cabinet. Next, through a letter, the reader is informed that her relations with her adviser were innocent. Prior to this development there is considerable speculation as to the intentions of the two.

At this point Miss Du Maurier tries to bring across the idea that Rachel was innocent throughout and that the two cousins were wrong in their thinking badly of her.

Regardless of the decision at which the reader arrives, the [illegible] is almost a [illegible] remain in [illegible] ter [illegible]

Benning Relaxes By Swimming

"THAT'S NOT FAIR!"—Water fights are fun, and if you don't believe it just ask Pfc. Betty Lezer, or Pfc. Deloris Otterman, two Wacs splashing in Russ Pool. The post pools opened May 3.

"C'MON UP"—Dotty Kimball, 19-year-old daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Robert Kimball, climbs the ladder to the three-meter board at the Officers' Mess swimming pool.

SITTING PRETTY—Pfc. Dorothy Achey perches on the end of the diving board at Russ Pool for the photographer's benefit.

LUCKY LIFEGUARD—Pitiy the plight of lifeguards at Fort Benning swimming pools this summer. All day long they'll be surrounded with such distracting examples of feminine pulchritudiny as Pfc. Leona Ehly, center, and Pfc. Betty Lezer. The lucky lad on the tower is Cpl. Robert Walker.

LOVE'S DIVE—Wac Pfc. Betty Lezer, left, doesn't seem a bit afraid of the diving heights, but her buddy, Pfc. Deloris Otterman appears to be a bit nervous.

24th Evacuation Hospital Treats 1500 on Maneuvers

The 24th Evacuation Hospital treated more than 1,500 sick and injured soldiers during the three months the unit was on Operation Long Horn and gave medical support to approximately 20,000 Aggressor Forces Troops.

It was the second large - scale maneuver in which the hospital took part. The 24th medics formerly supported the 82nd Airborne Division during the Southern Pines Maneuver in North Carolina last August.

The reserve unit was reactivated in September 1950 here at Fort Benning. During World War II, it served in the European theater and won silves bands for its part in operations in Normandy, France, Central Europe and the Rhineland.

Commanded by Col Delmar E. Domke, the 24th supported all "Aggressor" units during Operation Long Horn, the Joint Army-Air Force maneuver that took up a large slice of the Texas soil near Fort Hood, Texas.

The evacuation hospital left here Feb. 2 and returned April 29. During that period, it operated as a station hospital in the field. "We treated only actual casualties," said 2nd Lt. Merlin G. Benson, hospital public information officer, "Most of the patients that were brought to us," he continued, "came via helicopter, and a lot of them that had to be evacuated to Fort Hood went by helicopter, also."

Evacuations

Of the 1,516 patients treated by 24th personnel, 220 were evacuated by ambulances, 157 by air, and the remainder were returned to duty.

Surgical treatment administered included operations for appendectomies, hernias, ruptures, burns, punctures, all types of serious fractures caused mainly by the air drops, and a few wounds caused by blank cartridges. All the operations were performed in the field.

While the hospital was on the maneuver, it made one complete tactical move. It was visited by a number of officers who were unanimous in their comments complimenting the hospital staff according to Colonel Domke. Col. Augusta Short, Fourth Army chief nurse, brought along two nurses from the 28th General Hospital who said they were "getting ideas for our outfit."

Visitors

Other visitors included Maj. Gen. Charles D. Canham, commanding general of the 82nd Airborne Division; Brig. Gen. Joseph P. Cleland, deputy commander of the 82nd Airborne Division and former 508th RCT commander; Brig. Gen. Joseph J. Twitty, commander of the 301st Logistical Command; Col. Ralph Cox, medical consultant for Fourth Army Surgeons Office; Col. Louis F. Saylor, Surgeon for Army Field Forces; Col. David E. Liston, Fourth Army Surgeons Office; Col. Harold S. McBurney, Surgical Consultant for Fourth Army Surgeons office, and various members of their staffs.

Augment Staff

Several Medical Corps Officers from the advanced class at the Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, augmented the regular hospital staff during the maneuver. Orthopedic physicians from Brooke Army Hospital were also on hand to treat fractures that occurred during the Airborne operations.

The X-Ray section was at its busiest during the maneuver, taking 2,106 exposures.

Concerning Exercise Long Horn Colonel Domke said "I was highly pleased with the training the unit received in the care and treatment of actual casualties in the field while on Exercise Long Horn. I feel that this training, under conditions as closely simulating battlefield environment as possible, was our greatest benefit from the maneuver."

Benning WAC Detachment Observes 10th Anniversary

The Women's Army Corps Detachment here will celebrate its corps' 10th birthday and Armed Forces week with an open house May 12.

An invitation has been extended to citizens of the surrounding communities to visit the detachment from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Highlight of the open house festivities will be a cake cutting ceremony.

Fort Benning was one of the first Army posts to which Wacs were assigned. When the first contegent of 150 women soldiers arrived here in February, 1945, the corps was less than a year old.

Brig. Gen. Walter E. Fulton, his staff officers, newsreel cameramen and still photographers greeted the auxiliaries at the Fort Benning depot. In his welcoming speech Gen. Fulton said:

"The assignment of the Women Army Auxiliary Corps (original name of the WAC) to Benning is helping solve the great manpower shortage in the country. Were it not for the Wacs at the post, it would be a decided drain on manpower here and in other camps in necessitating able bodied soldiers to fill non - military jobs."

Little Fuss

The 43rd Post Headquarters Company, under the command of Second Officer Elevyn Rothrock, settled into its new home with less fuss, and in short time the lady soldiers were no longer a curiosity.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill on July 1, 1943, creating the Women's Army Corps as a part of the Army of the United States. This bill gave the women military status and equal rights and benefits with the men. Under the new law, the WAAC became the Wac.

In March, 1944, another group of WACS arrived here for assignment to The Parachute School. Lt. Laura C. Coupe and her 51 enlisted women helped with the rigging and repairing of parachutes.

Capt. Margaret Lloyd, now commands the 100-member WAC detachment here. Wacs are in almost every office on the post. Their jobs range from routine typist duties to more specialized work as hospital and dental technicians and photographers.

In late 1951, Wac Lt. Ellen de Beruff of the local detachment was chosen to appear in the Dean Martin - Jerry Lewis picture being filmed here.

Last April, a production crew from the Office of Public Information, Defense Department, spent several days here photographing the activities of Fort Benning Wacs. The film was a movie short on women in the Armed Services.

In 1950, the Wac softball team here was the Third Army champion, and in 1951-52 season, three girls were members of the all-star basketball team in Columbus, Ga.

Ex-British Cadet In OCS at Benning

A native of England who trained as a cadet in Britain is now serving the U. S. Army and learning to be an officer as a member of the First Officer Candidate Company.

He is Candidate Joseph D. Cullen, who had his choice of becoming an American or British citizen. His parents were naturalized U. S. citizens who lived in England. Candidate Cullen chose to become an American.

He joined the U. S. Army in Southampton, and was sent to Germany for basic training. He was assigned to European Command headquarters before coming to Fort Benning to attend OCS.

NEW JOB

First Lt. Harry E. Mendenhall, formerly S-3 officer for 1st Battalion, 2nd Student Regiment, has been transferred to the 1151h company as company officer.

Two Wacs Agree Army Life Fine

Although from different cities of the United States, Lieutenants Ellen DeBeruff and Jewel Wales of the WAC Detachment agree on one thing, to wit, Army life is great.

Lieutenant DeBeruff, 22-year-old executive officer from Savannah, Ga. enlisted in the WAC in August 1949 and went to Fort Lee, Virginia, where she took her basic training.

After basic training, Lieutenant DeBeruff attended OCS, graduating in April, 1950, when she received her assignment to Fort Benning. She is a graduate of Savannah high school and Armstrong Junior College where she majored in history and political science.

Lieutenant Jewel Wales, the Detachment A & E officer, enlisted right from college with a direct commission and attended the WAC Company Officer course before receiving her Benning assignment.

A graduate of Yuba City high school, Lieutenant Wales attended the University of California where she majored in history and political science, graduating with a BA degree in 1951 when she entered the WAC.

WAC OFFICER ASSIGNED

Second Lt. Jewel A. Wales, WAC Detachment, Section 1, 2440th ASU has been appointed detachment supply officer. A native of Yuba City, Calif., she graduated from the Unversity of California with a Bachelor of Arts degree before entering the Women's Army Corps in July 1951.

Gen. Young Gets Two Decorations

Maj. Gen. Robert N. Young will be wearing two new military decorations when he becomes commander of Fort Benning's Infantry Center and Infantry School sometime next month.

Now serving in Korea, the general has been given an Oak Leaf cluster for rhis Distinguished Service Medal, and the Korean Order of Military Merit, "Tae-Guk."

In ceremonies at Seoul, Korea, Sunday, the citation with the cluster praised his "rare tactical concepts" in, framing the counter attack of his division (the Second division) on Heartbreak ridge, United Press reported.

Until his appointment to the Fort Benning post, Gen. Young was commanding general of the 2nd Division. He was named to replace Maj. General John H. Church, who left Fort Benning in March for extensive medical treatment at the Army and Navy Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, assistant commandant of The Infantry School, is now serving as temporary post commander.

In addition to the two new decorations, Gen. Young holds the Silver Star, Purple Heart, Bronze Star with Cluster, and the Distinguished Service Medal.

VA Says First 1952 Dividends on Way

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The Veterans Administration has reported that the first of its 1952 RSLI dividend checks have already gone out to service personnel.

However, it will not be until at least mid - summer before the checks begin coming out at full speed. The VA is still busy trying to finish mailing checks for the 1951 special dividend. Deadline for completion of that project is sometime during the month of May.

Civilian Employe Plays Part In Fort Benning's Panorama

Harry F. Naehr has been a key figure in The Infantry Center's growth from a peace-time post to a bustling center of military activity.

Mr. Naehr, chief of the Engineer's Utilities Division here, initiated the system of sanitary fills now in use for the disposal of garbage and organized the system used here for the collection of refuse. In 1946, he received the Civilian Meritorious Service Award for "outstanding service as Sanitary Engineer from March 1945 to March 1946."

The veteran Civil Service worker assisted in the construction of the 'hot and cold room' used in equipment testing, and in the installation of the present sewage system and water plant here. He helped set up swimming pools at Sand Hill and Briant Wells Field House.

Mr. Naehr supervises the post's water supply, heating and refrigeration systems, ice plants, cold storage and air conditioning systems, fuel yards, refuse collection and disposal, and hundreds of other related activities.

Growth

"Fort Benning has grown remarkably since I came here in 1939," Mr. Naehr reminisced. "There was no Sand Hill or Harmony Church before World War II. I watched both areas being built in 1940," he said.

"The thing I remember most of those early days," he continued, "was watching the volunteers of the First Parachute Test Platoon swinging down the road. When I think of the wonderful, intangible esprit de corps those men had, it is no wonder to me that the Airborne has grown to be such a huge thing today."

Mr. Naehr, a native of Baltimore, Md., has served in the Navy with the Army from Corregidor to the Panama Canal Zone, from Gibraltar to Hawaii.

Graduated

He graduated from Calvert Hall College in Baltimore in 1915. During World War I, he served in the Navy, guarding merchant ships going to Europe. His love of travel led him to join the Merchant Marine after the war. His voyages took him all over Europe and the Pacific until he accepted a Civil Service appointment as civil engineer in 1920.

He held engineering posts at the State, War and Navy Departments in Washington from 1921 to 1924. He later was an engineer at the Army Medical Center in Washington until 1935, last assignment prior to coming to Fort Benning in 1938.

Mr. Naehr, a registered sanitary engineer and licensed marine engineer, holds membership in many engineering societies, among them the National Society of Professional Engineers, the Society of American Military Engineers, The American Waterwork Association, the Georgia Water and Sewage Association and the Federation of Sewage and Industrial Wastes Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Naehr live at Fort Benning. They have four sons and five daughters. His brother, Col. Melvin Embury of Silver Springs, Md., is a member of the Army Signal Corps.

Wishing-Well Serves As Charity Medium

A wishing-well that will combine charity with hopeful dreams has been built in the 18th Officer Candidate Company area by members of the Fourth Platoon.

"Guaranteed" to contain supernatural powers by its builders, the well occupies a predominant spot in front of the company day room. Each candidate in the company is allowed to pitch one penny per day into the well until graduation, making a wish on each attempt. At graduation, the money will be donated to a charitable institution.

Training Plans Progress For Summer ROTC Men

Plans are progressing for training 2,700 College ROTC students who will spend six weeks here learning to be full - time Infantry soldiers.

Officials of The Infantry School disclosed today that a "rigorous training program" equal to a regular military course is being planned for the summer camp students.

One spokesman here said of the courses to be taught the college students include stream crossing expedients, mine warfare, instruction in armored vehicles and communications. He said the students also would see several Infantry School tactical demonstrations in which combat tactics are applied.

Twenty - eight states will be represented in the ROTC roster when the young men begin arriving here June 21. All of them are cadets in first or second year of the senior Reserve Officer Training Corps programs.

Only three ROTC summer camps are being conducted this year by the Army: the one here and one each in the First and Sixth Army areas.

Students arriving here will be from the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Army areas.

Men of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team's Third Battalion will be support and demonstration troops for the cadets. The Infantry School will provide some instructors for the summer camp.

cials will be conducted on a VIP tour and inspection of the post to see how The Infantry School works.

Special open houses will also be held for the general public at the WAC Detachment and The Infantry School's Airborne Department and Combat Training Command.

Col. Walter B. Yeager, Infantry Center G-3 and director of Fort Benning's Armed Forces Week activities, said he will meet today with the Columbus Citizens Military Council to finalize civic-military Armed Forces Day plans.

Parade

Colonel Yeager previously announced that plans for the May 21 celebration include a downtown parade of men and women from the Air Force, Navy, Marines and Army.

Young people from Columbus high schools and members of civic organizations will also march in the huge parade as civilian representatives in the observance.

Colonel Yeager's meeting with Columbus officials today is not expected to change announced parade plans. He said the conference will merely be a session to confirm previously announced plans.

Thus far, Fort Benning has committed "its fullest cooperation" for the once-a-year military celebration. Most all unrestricted training facilities and areas of The Infantry School will be open for inspection by civilians pouring onto the post next week.

Citizens outside Columbus will also get a glimpse of Fort Benning pomp and power when units of the 30th Infantry Regiment, 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion and 41st Field Artillery Battalion parade in nine other Alabama and Georgia cities.

In Birmingham, Ala., 156 officers and enlisted men from the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team's Headquarters Company will parade May 17. In Rome, Ga., Battery B of the 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion will parade Sunday, May 15th, after having paraded Saturday in Atlanta.

Elsewhere, 400 troops of the 30th Infantry Regiment and 41st Field Artillery Battalion will parade in Macon, Ga. More than 150 troops will parade in Biloxi, Miss., and at nearby Keesler Air Force Base.

Atlanta, Georgia's capital city will see another 400 marchers from the 508th ARCT and 320th AFA parade down Peachtree street.

One of the week's most spectacular Fort Benng displays will be a heavy equipment drop at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., by the 508th ARCT. The number of troops involved in this airborne demonstration is not known.

This is the third Armed Forces Week and Day to be celebrated throughout the world by United States military forces. Separate military "days" were combined in 1950 under unification plans and celebrated jointly on May 17.

Library Tells Concert Plans

The following record concert will be held at the Main Post Library on Tuesday, May 10, at 8 p.m.: Mendelssohn, Ruy Blas Overture, Sir Thomas Beecham conducting the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra; Schumann—Concerto in A Minor, Artur Rubinstein, pianist; Brahms — Symphony No. 2 in D Minor, Pierre Monteux conducting the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Karlstad

served in France and Germany for 11 months during this period.

In 1923, he became an instructor at The Infantry Achool and his tour at Fort Benning lasted until 1927.

From 1938 to 1942 he served as an instructor at the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Following this, he was assigned as chief, Mobilization Branch War Department General Staff.

In 1942, Colonel Karlstad joined the 14th Armored Division where he was promoted to brigadier general while commanding Combat Command A in combat operations in Germany in 1945.

Overseas

After 11 months overseas in World War II, he returned to the United States for a short period prior to a tour of duty in Hawaii that lasted from 1946 until he arrived in Fort Benning 1949.

Colonel Karlstad's decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star, Army Commendation ribbon, French Legion of Honor and French Croix de Guerre with two palms.

Colonel Torrence, who will act as chief of staff until a permanent one is appointed by Maj. Gen. Robert N. Young, newly appointed Infantry Center commander, upon his arrival at Fort Benning in early June, is a graduat of the 1923 West Point class.

During World War II, from 1942 until 1945, Colonel Torrence served in England, North Africa, and Italy. He has a total of 13 months overseas service.

He is presently on orders for duty in Hawaii and will leave Fort Benning in early June.

Colonel Torrence has served at Fort Benning for previous tours of duty as an Infantry School student, an officer in the 29th Infantry, a student in the Infantry School tank course, and an instructor in The Infantry School.

Before coming to Fort Benning in August 1948 Colonel Torrence was chief, Plannong Branch, Department of the Army General Staff in Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL DUTY

Cpl. Richard L. R. Smith has been placed on special duty to attend the enlisted Special Service course at the Adjutant General's school, Fort Benjman Harrison, Indiana, Corporal Smith is mail clerk for Seventh Company, 1st Student Regiment. He will return to the Seventh Company June 15th.

Meat Specialist Demonstrates Art

Not everyone can slice up a carcass of raw beef without getting a spot of blood on them, but V. E. Bigler, a meat specialist from the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, makes a practice of it.

More than 900 instructors and students at the Third Army Food Service School saw Mr. Bigler reduce a side of beef to cookable cuts without splattering a drop of blood.

He stressed that keeping knives sharp and free from grease is one of the chief factors in efficient meat cutting.

"If you know how, you can end up with your clothes as spotless as when you began," he said.

QM Repairs Anything Wearable

"If you wear it, Quartermaster can repair it", is the slogan of the Post Quartermaster Services section.

The Services, divided into three parts, are the Quartermaster Clothing Repair shop, the Quartermaster Repair shop, and the Quartermaster Laundry.

The Clothing Repair shop offers alterations and repairs on all types of clothing. A soldier can have an insignia sewed on for ten cents, sleeves shortened for 25 cents, and a seam taken in for 32 cents.

In the Quartermaster Repair shop, shoes can have whole soles and rubber heels for only $1.60, or just rubber heels for 45 cents.

In reemphasizing the low clothing alteration prices available to Fort Benning personnel, Col. Evan W. Parr, Quartermaster, said that the procedure for using these services had been simplified. A turn-in and pick-up station has been established in the same building.

According to Colonel Parr the item should be taken to the Quartermaster Classification and Repair division, located in building 1733, turned in to the attendant with written instructions for needed repairs. The soldier should obtain a receipt, and then return in a few days to pick up the repaired item.

Pick-Up Stations

There are two shoe pick - up stations for the convenience of Fort Benning personnel. One station is located in the Clothing Sales Store No. 2 on Weld avenue, and the other in Sand Hill Clothing Sales Store No. 3 at the intersection of Columbus and Scott avenues.

The Quartermaster Laundry and dry cleaning is another of the services offered by the Post Quartermaster. All prices for this section are set by the Office of the Quartermaster General.

Colonel Parr said that two types of service in this section are available. A soldier can use either the cash-bundle or the piece-rate service.

The cash-bundle service offers the fifty cent bundle which allows the enlisted person to send 12 items of clothing, plus a barracks bag. Also under the cash-bundle service is the one dollar bundle which allows the soldier twenty-five pieces of clothing, plus a barracks bag.

Under the piece-rate service, two types of dry cleaning service are available one, the individual turn-in at plant, and the other, bundles turned into organization.

Under the individual turn - in plan, the person may take his own bundles to the dry cleaning plant provided it is tagged with a prepared Dry Cleaning List (DD Form 288). At the end of a three day period the bundle may be picked up and paid for.

The bundles turned in to organizations for forwarding must also be completed with the dry cleaning list. The soldier will pay to the organization the piece rate charge of his bundle.

Colonel Parr said that clothing repair tags and shoe repair tags can be obtained at any one of the pick up stations.

79 Set For 3A Track Meet

BY CHARLIE JOHNSON

More than 75 crack cinder stars from six posts launch an all out assault on the record books tomorrow afternoon in the two-day 1952 Third Army Area Track and Field Championships.

It will be the largest and probably the best military meet held in the southeast since World War II when the draft provided an abundance of talent.

The Third Army record book, now dominated largely by Fort Bragg, is expected to take a severe beating, with Fort Jackson, S. C., Bragg and host-team Fort Benning doing the major share of re-writing.

The large number of contestants, selected in tough competition at their respective posts and including about a half dozen Olympic team potentials, will be pitted in qualifying heats starting a 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Finals At Two Fields

The finals get under way at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at spacious Doughboy Stadium. The heavy field events — shot, discus, javelin and hammer — will be contested at the same time across the street at Gowdy Field.

Fort Jackson rates as the team to beat principally because of Helsinki hopefuls Harry Bright, the indoor dash ace, and James Cooke, an awesome decathlon performer.

Cooke and Bright scored 53 points between them in making a shambles of the Jackson meet last week and their past performances indicate that they are good enough to repeat those sterling performances here.

Bright recently returned from a solid campaign in the east in which he ran with the winning New York Pioneer Club mile relay team in the Millrose Games.

He ran fourth in the Knights at Columbus 880 at Madison Square Garden, losing to Roscoe Brown, Don Gehrman and Reggie Pearman, but beat Browne, national 1,000 - yard champ, by running the 880 in 1:56.2 in the last meet of the indoor season at New York City's 369th Armory.

Led Champions

He was second to Oklahoma A & M's Johnny Voight in the Washington, D. C., Star's 600 in February and has already been scheduled for an U. S. Olympic team tryout in the 400 and 800 meter events.

He was co-captain of the AAU indoor sprint medley championship team last season at Seton Hall, N. J. which broke a five year mile relay record in the K of C meet at the Garden.

Cooke, six-foot, three - inch, 210-pound star of the Lincoln, Pa., University team last year was an AAU high jump champion in 1950, placed fifth in the National Decathlon at Tulare, Calif and second in the Kansas Relays deacathlon last year.

His best decathlon marks are 100-yard dash, 10.1; broad jump, 22-feet; high jump, six feet, six inches; pole vault, 12 feet, four inches; shot put, 51 feet, discus, 153 feet; javelin, 150 feet; 440-yard dash, 52 seconds; mile run, 4:40 minutes, and 120-yard high hurdles, 15 seconds.

One other performer stands out head and shoulders above his rivals. He is 21-year old, 203-pound Larry Goins, who holds the current Pacific Coast Conference javelin record. Goins tossed 194 feet, 9 5-8 inches to win the Benning spear crown two weeks ago and in practice has thrown over 200 feet consistently.

Good Dash Test

His toughest competition figures to come from Jim Remlee, who has sailed the spear 189 feet for Fort Jackson.

A pack of former collegiate dash stars will be on hand to make the 100-yard run one of the most spectacular of the 17 events.

Among the entrants and their best times are Don Esslinger, 9.7, from Camp Gordon, Ga., and the University of California, A. J. Hammond, 9.8, from Camp Rucker, Ala., and Cornell University, Peter Boston, 9.8, from Fort Jackson, and Jim Glisson, 9.9, from Jackson and Tulane University.

Claude Sutton, former University of Georgia standout, will run in the 100,220 and 440. Benning's two dash hopefuls are Royce Fortune, post champ, and Hilton Lyons, of Combat Training Command.

Toughest Race

The gruelling five-mile run—20 laps around the Doughboy Stadium track — will be another featured event and Benning's Dick Ellis, an Olympic marathon prospect, will be a favorite along with Fort Bragg's Dick Beaudi, of Kansas State, and Jackson's Rod Washburn, who clocked the distance in 27.56 for Alfred University.

Ellis also will run the mile and will have tough going against Allan Bangs, who did it in 4:27 for Fresno State College and is now running for Camp Gordon., and Jackson's James Henry, who ran a 4:22 mile for the University of Chicago.

Collegiate records may fall in the triple jump, Benning's George (Ding Dong) Bell has hit 24 feet several times in practice, Rucker's A. J. Hammond claims to have bettered the current NCAA standard, and Ronald Soble, coach of the Camp Gordon team, leaped 24 feet, 7 3-4 inches for the University of Michigan.

Benning Threat

Benning's Walter Jenkins looms as a standout in the hammer and shot put.

Jackson's Robert Smith, former Georgia Tech distance runner, has a 9:36 two - mile run to his credit. Another Jackson threat will be Bruce Danfelser with a 13-foot, one inch pole vault on record.

Chief threat to Benning's Truman Medders in the hurdles will be J. A. Dour, of Camp Rucker, who clocked the high barriers in 23 seconds flat for St. Bonaventure's. Rucker's J. C. Edwards, of Jamestown College, has done the 440-yard dash in 48 flat.

Bragg's Elmore Moore has a 48 foot, nine-inch shot put on record.

JOB SWITCH

Captain Charles A. Hagman Jr. has been named the Executive Officer for the 2nd Battalion and Student Regiment. Before his present assignment, Captain Hagman was Commanding Officer of the 1st Battalion.

Mrs. Curtiss Winner In Women's Tourney

Irene Curtiss won the Fort Benning women's golf association 18-hole handicap tournament last week at the Benning C. C. with Wilmirth Baker finishing second. Eva Ulrich topped the nine-holers.

Dates for the association's annual championship tuornament have been changed to May 20, 22 and 23.

BIG GOLF TOURNEY

A crack field including national amateur champ Billy Maxwell, Frank Stranahan and Harvie Ward is expected to play in the 17th annual Southeastern invitational golf tournament June 26-29 at the Columbus Country Club.

Post Hopes For 4 Crowns

Fort Benning's 10-man squad was at Camp Gordon, Ga., today to begin an uphill battle against some 70 other sluggers in an effort to unseat Fort Bragg, N. C., as Third Army Area boxing champions.

Other teams are entered from Camp Gordon, Camp Rucker, Ala., Camp Stewart, Ga., Atlanta General Depot, Fort McClellan, Ala., and Fort Jackson, S.C.

The Benning team, mentored by WO's Jerome Perlman and Hardy Batchelor and Pfc. Bill Ferguson, includes one defending 3-A champion, bantamweight George Allen, of ASU, who will concede that title to fight flyweight for the Doughboys.

The remainder of the squad as picked by the coaches last week:

HEAVYWEIGHT — Dick Lohman, First S.R., 22, 196-pounds, Hastings, Minn. Won 53, lost 7.

LIGHT HEAVY—James Boyd, First S.R., 22, Rocky Mount, N. C. Won 12, lost 3.

MIDDLEWEIGHT — Gordon Ifill, CTC, 22, Cambridge, Mass. Won 30, lost 5.

LIGHT MIDDLE — Ray Lee, First S.R., 21, Kansas City, Mo. Won 110, lost 9.

WELTERWEIGHT — Ernest Hall, First S.R., 24, Cleveland, O. Won 56, lost 5.

LIGHT WEIGHT — Leonard James, First S.R., 19, Philadelphia, Pa. Won 36, lost 5.

FEATHERWEIGHT — Leander Ray, ASU Provisional Group, 23, Philadelphia, Pa. Boxing six months, won nine decisions.

BANTAMWEIGHT — Nori Kawaski, 508th Airborne, 23, Chicago, Ill. Won 45, lost 11.

Lee, Florez, James and Allen stand the best chance of bringing titles back to Benning judging off their own form and such information as is available on their rivals.

Lee, a national AAU champion in 1947 and the post's most experienced ringman, is expected to get some of his toughest competition from Rucker's Donald Carson, Montgomery, Ala., district Golden Gloves champ and an Ala. State GG finalist this year.

Lee was extremely impressive in workouts last week.

Florez, a dandy boxer shy on punching power who beat all comers except James in the Benning ring series, may find Stewart's John Durant a tough cookie. The latter has scored one knockout and 11 TKO's in 15 fights.

Two Tough Foes

Although James, a master stylist and a solid hitter, is rated one of Benning's best pound for pound, he will need everything to get by three foes.

One is Fort Bragg's Robert Prock who has had 50 fights and was Kansas City's junior national GG winner in 1947. He won the Greenville, S.C., AAU title this year and the Bragg title in 1949.

The other is Rucker's Gene Schell, winner of 25 of 28 fights, who recently won the Montgomery, Ala., district GG lightweight title.

Available figures don't indicate any lightweight punchers who figure to top Allen.

Hardy Heavies

One of the most hotly contested titles will be the heavyweight division. Lohmann won the 10th Division heavy crown at Fort Riley, Kas., last year and faced no real threats this season at Benning, but he will be against at least three top notchers at Gordon.

They are Gordon's Ernie Fann, who this year won the East-West GG title in Madison Square Garden and has 40 kayoes in 50 fights, Bragg's John Hoye, runner up for the New England title in 1950 who has claimed 80 decisions and 27 kayos, and Stewart's Jim Craven, who has scored 95 knockouts and lost only 10 of 160 bouts.

Left Out

Three post champions are missing from the 3-A team. They are light middleweight Leon Hall, who scored a sensational upset over Lee in the finals, but has far less overall experience than Ray, flyweight Johnny Bizell, who missed training because of illness, and light welter Charlie Cummings.

Florez, who sweated down all season to make the lightweight division, will be at his natural weight to replace Cummings, a game kid who won five of six fights here, but had never fought previously.

Ping Pong Tourney

The Service Clubs' post championship table tennis tournament has been scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday, May 18, at Club No. One on the main post. Deadline for entries is Thursday. Singles competition only is scheduled.

BRIGHT RING HOPE

Vince Martinez, 23 year old newcomer from Patterson, N.J., knocked out veteran Tony Pelone in one round at Madison Square Garden last Friday.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

—by Cpl. Charles Johnson—

"I KNOW I'll feel better Friday when this thing gets under way, but I sure do feel bad now," said Fort Benning track coach Lawrence Williams as he fretted around the Doughboy Stadium office waiting for the day's practice to begin.

Recording the thought waves of a coach before his big effort, in this case, leading the Doughboys into the Third Army cinder championships, has always been one of my favorite pastimes, which along with the fact that I am alone too much, may explain a lot of things about me, but in this instance should give you a pretty good line on Saturday's liniment and bunion derby.

"What's gonna hurt us," Williams continued in true mournful mentor style, "is that most of these fellows coming in against us have had a lot of actual competition this spring."

"Still, there's a lot in our favor. I can keep my whole squad here until I see how we're doing in the trials Friday. We'll have better team balance than the others. We know this track, which isn't banked on the turns, you know, and that will be in our favor.

"A lot depends on mental attitude. Some of the guys got in easy wins in the post meet and they're a little cocky, but most of them are eager. In fact, some, like Joe Campbell in the pole vault, and Royce Fortune and Hilly Lyons in the dash, figure to do much better when really pressed.

"I haven't seen any broad jump marks this spring that are better than what I know George Bell is capable of doing. Wil Bivens can win the 220 if he starts right and takes a little coaching. Truman Medders has been having trouble with a leg muscle which is odd for a hurdler, but I think he'll be right. Larry Goins is a cinch in the javelin and maybe Jimmy Mendell can get us a second place there.

"We're hurting bad in the high jump and 880, but I'm counting on that team balance to pile us up points. A lot of it depends on the boys, how they react mentally under fire. That's a big item in track."

THOSE BACKWARD broavneys who think the only people interested in discus throwers and other field performers are sculptors should report to Gowdy Field Saturday afternoon. At track meets the field events always get pushed from the main arena, and while the crowd cheers a gang of anemic looking young men running like frightened bunnies, the boys with the Charlie Atlas builds get not so much as a single "oh" or "ah" from impressed feminine spectators. However, that should not be the case at the 3-A meet since Benning's chances of winning the title hinge largely on the production of some exceptional field men, including the remarkable Larry Goins, the javelin man, and handsome Walt Jenkins (with the best build of all, Pranella!) who won the shot and hammer heaves in the Benning meet.

FORMER All-Southern Conference cager Barney Gill, who starred with the champion First O. C. Regiment quint this season, gets his gold bars tomorrow and expects to be assigned here, which immediately drubs him as a football prospect for next fall . . . Tom Harper, former all-city and all-state high school star who played center for Nebraska's 1950 eleven, is now with Second O. C. Co., and new Bayonet staffer, Chuck Parker, was an all-conference gridder in Japan where he played for five years.

CTC ASSISTANT boxing coach Charlie Clatts got sudden orders to Alaska and departed last week end . . . Lt. Col. Herman Rabinowitz, one of Benning's golfing standouts of the past year, will be transferred soon to Atlanta . . . Capts. Bob Ives and Bill Harbour are replacing Emery McDewell and Devert Moore on the Benning C. C. golf committee.

THE ONLY WAY you could beat the current enthusiasm and interest being shown by parents and other youth and sports minded persons on post is for more of them to volunteer to take part in directing Fort Benning's boys' baseball programs.

Like Lt. Col. Johnnie Brink, who has a Little League uniform made up to his own rotund measurements and insists on "being in uniform" to lead his Commanders into game action . . . Or Bayonet writer Tom Warren, spending his leave in Columbus so he can continue to manage the post's junior American Legion team which is sponsored by Tasty Sandwiches.

Ditto Col. Ivan Farr, using a lot of his present leave time in the youth activities headquarters in the olds post gym . . . Jerry Sheldon, the comic, emceed the Little League opening before about 250 fans . . . Joe Robertson, of Soldier Shows, kept the kids and audience alike amused with his clowning . . . And Mrs. Tom Lytle, Mrs. George Combes, Mrs. Barbara Cundall and Mrs. Ray Tousignant who volunteer two nights a week as LL scorers.

The LL program is already such a success that each of the participating teams have farm clubs, which are managed by WO George Combes, M-Sgt. Walter Torres, 14-Aussie Cranston and Lt. Donald Coburn . . . Wac Bob Gott is secretary of the LL, Capt. R. J. Rogers, treasurer and M-Sgt. A. W. Scarboro acts as player agent in addition to his Key Scout duties.

More Games, Dates Added To Post Baseball League

Prompted by the need of more frequent action for their regulars and the enthusiastic response of the fans who have turned out to the tune of 3,950 for the first six games, Fort Benning Baseball League managers Tuesday voted themselves an extra game a week.

Starting tomorrow night, a fourth game will be played each week at 8 p.m. Friday night.

The original playing days, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Wednesday nights, will remain the same.

The coaches were unanimous in turning thumbs down on a proposal to stage the diamond action at any park except Gowdy Field, the well-lighted, 3,500-seat main post layout.

All of the action taken by the managers Tuesday is subject to approval of the Special Services council, but their concurrence is expected since the council suggested the meeting.

Games already in the score book will not be effected by the change in the schedule which now becomes a more fair double round robin competition winding up July 9.

PLAYOFFS ON

The skippers voted 5-1 for a Shaughnessy playoff at the end of the regular season to determine the 1952 Infantry Center baseball champions, but not before some lively debate. Bob Kinard, pilot of the pennant-favored First Student Regiment, argued in favor of deciding the title on a straight won-and-lost record.

Maj. Gene Myers, TIC sports officer, presided at the session, which was attended by Woody Burt, ISD manager, Adolph Mazeika, PMG skipper; Capt. W. E. Bun, First Student Brigade, 1A. Travis Hudson, CTC, Bob Morrow, Second S. R. manager, Lewis Grizzard, ASU pilot, and M-Sgt. John Wilson, also of ASU.

DeLong Has Broken Jaw

DIAMOND DUST: The axiom that umpires always get the best of it was exploded Saturday when Bill DeLong, calling 'em behind the plate, suffered a fractured jaw when struck by a pitch which glanced off his chest. . . . DeLong left the fray and was replaced by Charlie Gaines.

Lefty Dick Myers, who stopped CTC cold for First S. R. Saturday, had an 8-8 record when pitching for Moultrie, Ga., several seasons ago. . . . The 21-year older from Gary, Ind., last toiled for Clovis, New Mexico in the West Texas League.

Centerfielder Joe Smith, the Doughboy skipper who hit the first out-of-the park homer from First S. R. Saturday, has played with both Macon and Columbia in the Sally League and also with Anniston, Ala., and Johnstown, Pa. . . . Now 32, he hit five round trippers last year in the Benning League.

ASU infielder Bill Wilson is out for the season due to a recurring spinal injury. . . . PMG manager Adolph Mazeika unveiled a practically new lineup Wednesday night; men returning from Long Horn maneuvers. . . . Bill Gill, who homered for ISD Sunday, played for Newport News, Va., in the class B Piedmont League in 1950.

ISD skipper Woody Burt, 37, never played pro ball, but has starred with three Doughboy teams and played in the All-Army tourney in 1948. . . . He calls Greenville, Ala., home. . . . Best catch of the season for Second S. R. was made by Lt. Col. Willis Adams, the regimental c.o., who made a bare hand stab of a sharp foul into the first base box seats (Okay, Rockets, we're only kiddin').

Jim Dillion Defeated

Auburn's Olympic hopeful, shot putter Jim Dillion, went down to defeat before Georgia Tech's Fred Berman in a dual meet last weekend in Atlanta. Berman's heave was 51 feet, 11 inches, Dillion threw 49 feet, eight inches.

Auburn's Jackie Creel copped both in the 100 and 220 dashes in 9.8 and 21.3 respectively. Dillion bounced back to win the discus toss with a mark of 152 feet, 2 1-8 inches.

Jordan Wins 3rd Net Title

Lt. Lonnie Jordan won his third straight Officers Mess Spring tennis tournament singles crown Sunday by downing Maj. Leroy Stanley, 6-1, 6-0, in a somewhat better duel than the score indicates.

All but three games went to deuce, but Stanley lacked the power to follow up for the winning points.

The semifinals were reached in three other divisions — women's singles, men's doubles and husband-wife doubles — with the finals slated at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Main Post OM courts.

Jordan defeated Capt. Warren Drake, 6-1, 6-0, in the semis after eliminating Lt. Col. Jack Butler, 6-3, 6-3, in the quarterfinals. Stanely had ousted Capt. DeWitt Smith, 7-5, 6-2, in his semifinal test.

In other quarterfinals, Drake defeated Capt. Art Hyman, 6-4, 6-2, Stanley defeated Maj. Don Yoder, 6-2, 6-0, and Smith downed Capt. James Burnett, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

Women's Play

Semifinalists in women's singles are Sue Leonard, the defending champion, Peggy Kampe, Betty King and Ruth Stanley.

Remaining men's doubles competitors are Yoder-Jordan, defending champs, Stanley-Smith, Burnett-Drake and Capt. Tom Toon-Butler.

Clashing Sunday in the husband-wife semifinals will be Capt and Mrs. Sam King, Capt. and Mrs. Toon, Maj. and Mrs. Stanley and Capt. and Mrs. Burnett.

Little League Off To Fast Start; 2 Games Tonight

The Commanders and Raiders were off to winning starts as opening night jitters before 350 fans made for some free scoring games in the Doughboy Little League inaugural at the main post softball field.

With Welden Sellers smacking three home runs, the Raiders downed the Rams, 26-15, in the first game while the Commanders trimmed the Flyers, 24-9, in the nightcap.

Games are scheduled at 6 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday at the new field just south of the WAC Detachment on Ingersoll Street.

Maj. Harry Barnes' Flyers meet Capt. Roy Hendrickson's Rams and Lt. Col. J. C. Brink's Commanders jest M-Sgt. Mike Brokovich's Raiders in tonight's doubleheader.

In games next Tuesday, the Raiders meet the Flyers and the Rams face the Commanders. Thirty-six games are on the schedule.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, took seriously the responsibility of making the first pitch last Thursday. He threw a half dozen "warm up" shots and then fired the official one in to Col. Ivan Parr, director of post youth activities.

Roy Knapp and Ray Dougan also homered in the Raiders' win while Kenny Smith was credited with the win. Kinnard and Jastremski got two four-baggers each to spark the Commanders' victory.

ISD, First SR Slug Way Into Lead

The spell woven by heady hurling in the first four games came to an end abruptly last weekend as Fort Benning Baseball League batters zeroed in their heavy artillery finally in a pair of games which put First Student Regiment and Infantry School Detachment on top of the standings.

ISD's Professors won their second straight slamming 18 hits for 28 total bases against Second Student Regiment, 18-5, before 500 fans Sunday.

Second baseman Don Blankenship, 22-year old former Carthage, Ill., College player, blasted a bases - loaded home run over the left center screen in the fourth and shortstop Bill Gill followed in the fifth with a two-run homer over the same barrier.

Blankenship got two other hits while outfielder Gene Ashley hit for a double and three singles in six at bats.

In the other game last week Bill Ross and Carroll Mattson combined their mound talents to throw a five-hitter as ASU Provisional Group edged Lawson Field, 4-2, in a well played game.

Ross fanned seven before being removed in the fifth when he gave up a run. Mattson finished the job in one-hit style, striking out 11.

Norbut Stars

The lone safety off him was garnered by Lawson hurler Tom Norbut, a nifty southpaw, who also got the triple which scored Frank Koogler and sent Ross to the showers. Norbut gave up only seven hits in showing a fine assortment which doesn't bode well for his future foes.

Leading the Raider attack was veteran minor league catcher Bobby Dews who slammed one against the left field screen for three bases in going 2-for-5. Dews, who missed a chance at the Dodgers in 1944 when the Army called, promises to become of the loop's top sluggers and can boost ASU's stock considerably.

Lawson needs a little more stick work to become a solid contender. Norbut will play the outfield when not pitching to make use of his slugging power.

Southpaw Jinx

Lefty Dick Myers and a plain case of the old jitters helped CTC to defeat in their important meeting with First S. R. Dick pitched a three-hit shut out for seven innings, but tired badly at the last and needed an assist from Lloyd Brill to get the final out.

CTC is a much better squad than they showed, although with five lefties in the regular batting order they'll continue to have trouble with southpaw pitching.

Second S.R.'s 18-5 loss was a simple case of having no dependable hurlers. Manager Bob Morrow is digging desperately to make some changes on his 2nd crew.

Golf Semis Up This Week

The championship flight semi-finals in the annual Fort Benning Country Club golf tournament were on tap this week end following a quartet of hard fought quarterfinal tests this week.

Bill Caldwell pulled a surprise when he ousted medalist Ross Haecker, 2 and 1, to gain the semis.

He'll meet 16-year old Bill Duncan, Columbus high school student, who continued his mastery over the veterans by dumping Bill Graham, 2 and 1. Their important match is tentatively slated for Saturday afternoon.

In the closest championship match, Barney Wiselogle birdied the 19th hole to nip Ed Mann, 1 up. They were even at the turn, but Wiselogle birdied the 13th and 14th to take the lead. Mann rallied to win the 15th and 16th holes and the 18 up.

Tatum Torrid

Veteran Benning Shotmaker Matt Tatum maintained his pace with a torrid putter and then finished strong to down Jim Lynch 2 and 1, in the other quarterfinal.

Two down at nine, Tatum sunk 30 and 35-foot putts on the 10th and 12th. He birdied the 15th to take the lead, saw the match tied again on 16 and then fired another birdie on 17 to close it out.

One of the finalists in first flight competition became known this week when John Henlon took a default over F. L. Rigdon. He will meet the winner of this week end's L. C. Kyle-E. E. Fenstemacher match next week for the first flight crown. Kyle beat Sam Walker, 1 up.

Consolation

J. B. Adamson, Bill Harbour, Art Rafferty and A. Miller advanced to the semifinals in the championship consolation flight. Adamson, who scored over R. W. Jamison, 3 and 2, faces Harbour, and Rafferty meets Miller, who won on a forfeit.

B. Richmond defeated Alec MacDonald, 4 and 3, and Herman Rabinowitz blasted R. J. Bigart, 8 and 6, in the semifinals of the second flight.

In third flight semifinals, Jim Daniels beat H. F. Howard, 3 and 2, and R. L. Ozier defeated E. L. Baker, 6 and 4.

Mike Kayes went into the fourth flight finals by beating C. K. Krams, and D. L. Keeler defeated R. Cochran in another fourth flight test.

In fifth flight semifinals, Bruer defeated Kermit Blaney, 2 and 1, and Bob Goff downed Koons, 3 and 2. B. Jastremski defeated Stephen Prazenka, 4 and 2, and S. M. Cromwell tripped Joe Myers, 1 up on 19, in the sixth flight semifinals.

Knight Cops Pistol Test

WOJG Robert Knight topped 30 other shooters to win his third grand aggregate Sunday in the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club's monthly pistol meet at the club range on the main post.

Knight's total was 554x600. He also won the expert class center fire match with a 271 in the most successful of the monthly shoots yet held.

Capt. Fred Keifer was second in grand aggregate with 551, while Maj. Warren Davis won expert class aggregate with a 542.

Sharpshooter class aggregate honors went to Capt. J. F. McCubbin with 546 and marksman aggregate laurels to M-Sgt Frank Zalenski, 506.

Winners of .22 cal. matches were Keifer, 284x300, in the master class, Davis, 277, in the expert class, Sgt. Roberts, 269, in the sharpshooter class, and Mrs. Emily Brazil, of Columbus, 267, in the marksman class.

Hoff Leads 180 In Post Fish Meet

A whopping fighter weighing in at seven pounds, 13 ounces won top honors in the bass competition for Cpl. B. J. Hoff, of the Station Hospital, Sunday in the annual Fort Benning Fishing tournament at King's Pond.

More than 180 anglers entered 235 bream and 50 bass in the one-day piscatoral party.

Second best bass catch was made by M-Sgt. Berwyn Reese, of Third Army Food Service School, who hooked a two-pounder. Capt. H. G. Moore, of First Student Regiment, placed third with a bass weighing one pound, nine ounces.

Largest bream of the day was a one-pound, four-ounce scrapper landed by WOJG W. C. Loyd, of Airborne Dept., TIS. Three master sergeants recorded breams weighing one pound, two ounces. They were Alkeus Stokes, of Airborne Battalion, First S. R. Norman McCullough and R. H. Sutton, of Company E, Infantry School Detachment.

Stokes also had the best string of six bream while Sfc. George Shepherd, of Company B, ISD, had best string of three bass. Shepherd won the bait and fly casting tests in Saturday's skish competition.

The junior prize, for anglers under 12 years of age, went to James Lewis, son of Range Guard Daniel T. Lewis.

Prizes were awarded the winners by Col. Wolcott Dudley, president of the sponsoring Fort Benning Fish and Game Maintenance Association.

Pool Area Off Limits

The area around Russ Swimming Pool is off limits to all except authorized personnel according to an announcement which has appeared in the Daily Bulletin.

Parents are cautioned that children should not be allowed to enter this area as the pool reservoir above Russ Pool is very deep. Dumping of trash is also prohibited in the pool.

Tennis Meet May 18

A Fort Benning tennis team will take on Maxwell Air Force Base of Alabama in matches at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 18, at the Main Officers Mess, pfc Chuck Evert announced today. This will be a rubber match between the two clubs.

Three Tourneys, SB Loop Season Set By Council

Dates for the 1952 Infantry Center championship tennis, swimming and golf tournaments were set last Friday by the Special Services council contingent to approval by the commanding general.

The enlisted man's links title will be settled June 25-28 over the nine-hole Sand Hill layout.

First day's action would be devoted to practice with an 18-hole medal play qualifying round followed by match play competition. Top 16 qualifiers will go into the championship flights followed by flights of eight.

The tennis tournament was set June 19-20 at the second cuartel courts on main post.

The post's 1952 swimming champions will be crowned at the Sand Hill pool July 10-11. There will be no limit on the number of contestants, but each swimmer will be restricted to a maximum of three events.

The council also approved the opening of the Fort Benning Softball League for July 1 with nine teams expected to battle for the pennant between then and Aug. 18.

Ticklers

By George

"It isn't what you did wrong on that play—you just didn't do anything right!"

YES (Stan Kenton's Orchestra, vocal by Jerri Winters on Capitol) This short titled song introduces Stan Kenton's new featured vocalist, Jerri Winters. For her debut record with Kenton's orchestra Jerri sings in a hollow-raspy voice that blends perfectly with Kenton's musical stylings. In addition to an outstanding new vocalist this record introduces Conal Candoli to Kenton fans in a smooth trumpet solo. The reverse side in a Kenton arrangement of a Latin American melody entitled "Mambo Rhapsody."

HARLEM NOCTURNE (Billy Rose and Orchestra on MGM) This is a sweet mellow tune that brings heat to the soul by melodic and rythmatic arrangements. Rose's interpretation features in a guest appearance Woody Herman rendering unusually excellent sax solos. Rose's style, while not really changed, is much improved in this new recording of "Harlem Nocturne." The other side is a long - titled original Rose composition, "On a Little Country Road in Switzerland." It is a light instrumental vividly picturing with music the Swiss countryside.

YOU'RE FOR ME, MIMI (Danny Kaye with chorus and orchestra directed by Vic Shoen on Decca) A new Kaye recording in his new improved style. "Mimi" opens with a whistling chorus and is a bright, gay tune about a little French lass who makes all the boys think that she is for each one. Danny holds the gay pace until the closing bars when the whole tempo pops up into a light finish. The tune on the back of this record is "Mademoiselle De Paree."

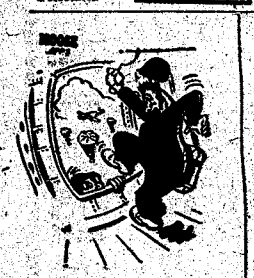
LONSOME AND BLUE (Lilly Ann Carol and the Hi-Hatters on RCA-Victor) This is Lilly Ann Carol's debut record as a star singer and she lives up to her reputation of a torrid torch singer that she built up with Louis Prima's orchestra. She chose "Lonesome and Blue," a fast blues, for her debut with the Hi-Hatters providing the solid instrumental backgrounds. Lilly Ann jumps into a fine arrangement with the brass section of the Hi-Hatters giving just the right accent to her hot explosive style. The reverse side is "Raindrops" in a medium fast tempo, but essentially in the same torrid style.

PLEASE DON'T TALK ABOUT ME WHEN I'M GONE and AIN'T SHE SWEET (Errol Gardner accompanied by John Simmons and Shadow Wilson on Columbia) This record is another addition to the new trend in the recording industry to revert back to arrangements that emphasize the instruments and their capabilities rather than the artist. It presents two tunes in an unspectacular manner that can only be classified as being good music and pleasant listening. The arrangements are rendered by Errol Gardner at the piano with rythym backgrounds by John Simmons on bass and Shadow Wilson on drums. This record is for those people who like genuine entertainment.

MY MOTHER (Hank Snow and the Jordansires with the Rainbow Ranch Boys on RCA-Victor) With Mother's Day approaching Hank Snow has brought out a song that seems to have been written especially for that day. In this original song Hank Snow's interpretation and delivery are inspirational and sincere. This record is a switch from Hank's usual country style and proves him to be a singer of some versatility. The other side is "I Just Called Upstairs," a sacred number equally as inspired as "My Mother."

"SUPRISE"

"MOOOO!"—Sultry Adele Mara, a Republic Studios starlet, models the latest in what the well-dressed cowgirl will wear this season. Like to round up a few cows, podner?



"I Changed My Mind"

"If You Want More, Don't Be Afraid To Ask For It."

Transportation Unit Carries 161,000

An old Army saying claims that "the more road mileage a driver accumulates, the more courteous he becomes." If that old saw holds true, then men of the First Transportation Battalion should be the epitome of politeness.

During the month of March, battalion drivers tallied up 136,169 miles in operational vehicles — 2½ and 2 1-2 ton trucks — and an additional 25,380 miles in administrative vehicles.

In logging these miles, more than 161,000 passengers were transported.

Troops Employed In Atomic Test

By Armed Forces Press Service

A spectacular military exercise was recently completed at Yucca Flat, Nevada, when 2,100 ground and airborne troops actively participated in an atomic explosion.

This marks the first time that troops have been employed in a tactical situation involving the actual explosion of the A-bomb. Ground forces advanced through the area while a parachute detachment was flown over the area to make a combat parachute drop behind the simulated objective.

The weapon used for the test had an energy release greater than those used at Hiroshima, Nagasaki, and in the two Bikini tests. The bomb was dropped from a B-50 bomber at an altitude of 35,000 feet and was fused to detonate at 3,500 feet.

A provisional battalion combat team, drawn from the 11th Airborne Division, the 31st and 47th Infantry Divisions and some members of the 11th Armored Division, plus about 500 Air Force personnel, was dug in on the desert floor in deep foxholes and trenches three to four miles from "ground zero."

After the flash, the troops were out of their trenches before the arrival of the heavy shock wave and were deeply enveloped in the rolling dust. After radiological teams indicated that the ground had become safe the troops advanced directly across ground zero.

At the same time a detachment of paratroopers were withdrawn to the rear, loaded in four C-46s, and flown through the area of the burst to make a combat parachute drop behind the assumed objective.

The explosion was witnessed by the American public on a coast - to - coast television hookup.

Gen. Honnen Gets Extra Star

Brig. Gen. George Honnen has been nominated by President Truman to be a temporary major general, according to an article in Army Times.

General Honnen, formerly assistant commandant of The Infantry School here, is now assistant chief of the Budget Division, Office of the Army Comptroller in Washington.

For First Time

Col. Pittman Gets EUCOM Post

Col. Beauford A. Pittman, director of Quartermaster and Chemical research at Army Field Forces Board No. 3 here, will leave soon for an assignment in Germany.

Officials who announced the change said a replacement has not been selected.

Colonel Pittman was assigned to The Infantry Center last June. The 16 - year Army veteran, who spent 37 months overseas during World War II, will report to Bremerhaven, Germany, sometime in July.

He is a graduate of the Naval College, Newport, R.I., and holds the Legion of Merit and Italian Medal of Military Valor.

Civilian Employe Counts Corpuscles for 20 Years

George A. Woodham has been counting corpuscles for nearly 20 years.

Mr. Woodham, chief technician of the Army Hspital's Chemical Laboratory here, is a chemical analyst whose job is making blood counts, drug analyses and food tests.

The Civil Service employe says chemical analysis is a fascinating profession. He performs an average of 75 chemical tests daily.

At present, Mr. Woodham is making tests with the Van Syke carbon dioxide apparatus, an instrument used to determine body acidity and alkilinity through blood analysis. Chemists use this apparatus to determine by a study of the carbon dioxide content of the blood the cause of a patients going into a coma.

Part of the chemist's time also is spent in training future laboratory technicians for the Army Hospital here.

Award

Mr. Woodham was awarded the Meritorius Service Award in 1948 for outstanding work in ological chemistry and for developing new methods of blood analysis which "often resulted in the saving of patients' lives through accurate diagnosis," according to the citation.

He studied chemistry for two years at Birmingham Southern College before enlisting in the Army in 1933.

He spent five years as an Army medical technician at the hospital here.

"The Army Medical Corps gave me a wonderful opportunity to study laboratory techniques," the former Army corporal stated.

In 1938, he left the Army to become one of the first civilian laboratory technicians here.

AF Day Set For May 17

Soldier Show Opens May 17

The public will have a chance May 17, Armed Forces Day, to see a lighter side of military life here with the opening of Special Services' new musical, "Let Yourself Go." Admission is free.

The 11 - act production will include singers, dancers, magicans skits and larger production numbers.

The show, which begins at 8:45 p.m., at the Main Theater, will be presented before backdrops designed by Cpl. Greg Kaznic. Music will be provided by Pvt. Marvin Packman and the Serenaders.

Many Fort Benning favorites, who have appeared in other Soldier Shows here, are included in the cast.

See Pictures, Page 16

A newcomer to Benning and its Soldier Shows is Lt. Ruddy Jorgensen who was a professional entertainer before entering the service. The youthful tenor has sung the leads in Faust, Il Tre Prince and Vavelleria Rusticana.

Another newcomer who will appear in "Let Yourself Go" is Cpl. Bernie Walsh, a magican who has just returned from Korea where he entertained troops.

COLOR GUARD . . . Color bearers for the Armed Forces Day parade that will be held in Columbus this Saturday include members of the four major services from this area. Marines from the Marine Corps Administrative Unit here, sailors from the Naval Reserve Training Center in Columbus, and soldiers and airmen from The Infantry Center and Lawson Air Force Base will make up the guard.

Benning Prepares For Show Of Arms

A gigantic parade through downtown Columbus will bring to a climax the third anniversary of Armed Forces Week this Saturday, Armed Forces Day.

Armed Forces power has been on display in Columbus and at Fort Benning since Monday, when Armed Forces Week officially began.

Saturday, 3,000 Infantry Center soldiers will join with 2,000 men and women from the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps, civic officials and high school students, for the annual march down Broadway in observance of the Armed Forces.

Others joining in the parade will include 150 cadets from the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps Detachment at Auburn, Ala.; National Guard troops, representatives of the Organized Reserve Corps, high school ROTC units and 150 airmen from Lawson Air Force Base.

A fly-over of C46's from Lawson Air Force Base in tight troop carrier formations will highlight the parade in Columbus.

Fort Benning units represented in the parade will include the 122nd Army Band, the 30th Infantry Regiment's First Battalion, the 41st Field Artillery Battalion's Battery C, the 508th Airborne Infantry Regiment's First and Second Battalions; the 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion's Battery A an Officer Candidate Regiment battalion and a group of Wacs from the Women's Army Corps Detachment.

Headed by a composite color guard representing the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines, the parade will include 30 Army trucks and 12 105mm howitzers.

Plans for the joint service parade are being handled by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce's Military and Naval Affairs Committee, aided by Col. Walter B. Yeager, Infantry Center G-3, who also is director of Fort Benning's Armed Forces Week activities. Col. Yeager has been meeting with the Citizens-Military Council of Columbus and Fort Benning to work out final arrangements.

Strength-Unity-Freedom

Theme of this year's observance of Armed Forces Week is Unity, Strength and Freedom. It is the third joint services day since unification of the Armed Forces eliminating the necessity for a separate celebration by each of the services.

Fort Benning opened wide its gates to the public during the entire week, May 11 - 17. Guests are welcome to tour unrestricted training areas and watch Infantrymen prepare themselves for

Completion Near For K-Vet Bill

WASHINGTON —A new GI Bill of Rights for Korean war veterans is nearing completion today in the House Veterans' Affairs committee.

The group expects to approve the far-reaching measure today or tomorrow. House approval is regarded as certain. The Veterans Administration estimates the first year's cost as 800 million dollers.

Beneficiaries of the legislation will be veterans who served between June 27, 1950, when the United States entered the Korean War, and the issuance of a presidential proclamation or adoption of a Congressional resolution announcing that hostilities have ended.

25 Bills Introduced

The committee is working now on two of 25 bills introduced by various members and seeking in general to reinstate for Korean war veterans the GI benefits extended to World War II ex-servicemen.

The two bills are sponsored by Chairman Rankin (D) Miss., and Rep. Teague (D) Tex. The latter is chairman of a special house committee which has been investigating abuses under the GI program.

When the committee completes action on the legislation, it will decide whether the honor of sponsoring the bill shall go to Rankin or Teague.

Rankin's bill re-enacts most of the provisions of the old GI law, with the exception of the disputed "52-20" provision under which jobless veterans were eligible for $20 a week in unemployment benefits for 52 weeks.

Provides Unemployment Pay

In place of this, Rankin's bill provides for state unemployment compensation, with the federal government paying additional costs.

Teague's bill is restricted to educational and training benefits while Rankin's measure provides for education and training, home, farm and business loan benefits,

Army Resumes Normal Tours July 1, 1952

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The Army has announced that all overseas commands except FECOM will return to normal rotation of enlisted personnel by July 1, 1952. FECOM, with its own particular rotation system, is the only command not affected by the announcement.

On Sept. 1, 1950 oversea tours were extended for six months. On April 1, 1951 the tours were further extended for an additional six months.

Early in September the Army announced that rotation was being resumed in all commands but it will not be until July 1 that normal rotation will be resumed officially.

The new policy will make it possible for enlisted men to be sent back to the U. S. at the expiration of regulation - prescribed tours. By July 1 all men who have served beyond the prescribed tour will be back in the U. S.

The resumption of normal rotation for officers was not mentioned in the announcement.

College Units Move To Post Next Month

Fort Benning personnel will have a chance to attend college-credit courses from the University of Georgia and Albany State College when the centers move branches to the main post next month.

Director Rembert C. Houser of the University of Georgia Center in Columbus said that both branches will serve Fort Benning and Lawson Air Force Base personel. This is the first branch of the University System of Georgia to be opened on a military post.

All classes will be conducted at night in the Troop Information and Education Center here. They are tentatively scheduled to start June 15. The first quarter will end Aug. 22, and the fall quarter will begin in September.

Classes will be taught for two periods on Tuesday and Thursday nights, beginning at 6:20 p.m., according to Mr. Houser. Each class will be in session two hours and 10 minutes with a five-minute break between classes.

Although the Fort Benning college branches are designed primarily for military personnel, they will be open to dependents and possibly civilian employes

3 Allied Officers See U.S. Infantry Training Methods

Military officials of three Allied Countries visited The Infantry Center Tuesday to observe U. S. infantry training methods.

Brig. Gen. K. L. Puttius, superintendent of the Royal Netherlands Military Academy; Col. Fabrizio Borromeo, superintendent of the Philippines Military Academy, and Lt. Col. Washington Siahaan, special assistant to the chief of staff of the Indonesian Army, arrived Monday for a two-day visit.

They visited The Infantry Officer Candidate School and the Third Army Food Service School and witnessed tank demonstrations at Benton Hill before their departure Wednesday.

The military group Monday toured The Infantry School and the Correspondence Office and the Army Extension Course, Automotive and Ranger Departments.

Pres. Truman Proclaims Third Armed Forces Day

(Editor's Note: Saturday, May 17, will be the third time the people of the United States join together in observing the combined and unified Armed Forces. On this memorable occasion, President Truman has issued this proclamation.)

"WHEREAS the armed forces of the United States serve the Nation with unselfish devotion not only in time of war, but also in time of peace; and

"WHEREAS our fighting forces, welded into a unified team that symbolizes our strength as a united people, have been waging a battle of freedom in Korea and are guarding the vital interests of peace in other lands across the sea; and

"WHEREAS it is fitting that we devote one day each year to paying special tribute to these defenders of our liberty:

"NOW, THEREFORE, I HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 17, 1952, as Armed Forces Day; and I direct the Secre-

7 Benning Trackmen Cop Berths on 3rd Army Team

Seven members of the Third Army championship Fort Benning track and field team were picked this week as members of the 18-man squad which will represent the Third Army in the 1952 All Army Track and Field Championships May 30-31 at Berkeley, Calif.

The team was getting final coaching here this week before shoving off for the west coast after Benning's win with 97 points in last Saturday's 2-A flop.

The Doughboy athletes selected were runners Wilfred Bivens, Forest Fortune and Dave Ellis, discus throwers Jim Fleming, Fort and field man Larry Going, Fortune, Bert George (Ding Dong) Bell and Alvin Grimes, K. C. and Alvin Grimes Campbell.

Fortune, second in the 100-yard dash to the Third Army meet last Saturday, had to leave over the weekend and will not participate.

Lt. Cecil Dickerson, coach of the Fort Jackson team which was runner-up to Benning last Saturday, was voted mentor of the Third Army team. He is a former U. of Mississippi and Los Angeles Rams football player.

Others named to the team were Frank Dunnet, James Gilleary and Tommie Boone, Camp Gordon, Ga., Harry Bright, James Cook, Jim Fleming, Fort Benning, Ga., and Alvin Grimes Campbell, of Fort Benning.

Top Safety Officials To Hold Benning Meet Next Tuesday

Top Georgia, Alabama, and Infantry Center safety officials will meet next Tuesday in a safety conference in an effort to further cut down damage done by automobile accidents.

Norman Evans, post safety director, disclosed that the all-day meeting will bring together the best safety experts in a wide radius near Fort Benning.

Keynote speaker at the conference will be Lt. Col. E. S. Burke, deputy director of Georgia's Department of Public Safety, who will discuss accident problems in state and community and means of control.

Chief of the Alabama Department of Public Safety's Service Division, Maj. N. W. Kimbrough, will talk to the assembled officials on safety education and improper attitudes as a factor in accidents.

From Columbus, the meeting will hear public safety director Tom Erwin. He will discuss accidents versus violations.

Other speakers at the seminar-like meeting will include the assistant commandant of the Provost Marshal School, Col. Edward Penaat, Transportation Officer Col. Stephen Ackerman; Infantry Center Surgeon Col. M. M. Green and an unannounced representative from Lawson Air Force Base.

Show Films

Two training films and a drunken driver test will be shown the conference members.

Mr. Evans, who also will be a speaker at the meeting, said the conference was arranged because "fatal and disabling injuries as well as vehicle damage continue to be a matter of concern."

During the first four months of 1952, 11 Fort Benning soldiers have died in auto accidents, Mr. Evans announced, and another 80 persons have been seriously disabled.

At least $250,000 is known to have been lost by the Army in damages to government vehicles here, and Evans said an equal amount "probably" lost on private vehicles wrecked here.

"The increasing number of private vehicles, together with an increase in miles operated during the next four months, will tend to aggravate this situation," Mr. Evans said.

Heretofore, Evans and his safety staff have been able to accurately compute violent auto deaths by using a simple rule-of-thumb. A "payday cycle" in the eight-day period following each pay day — usually is studded with at least one soldier death.

The killed are usually corporals or privates over 23 years old, driving mechanically good automobiles at speeds 70 miles per hour or over. Excessive speed and physical exhaustion have been main factors in many of these accidents.

Ministers' Group Tours Benning

The Columbus - Phenix City Ministerial Alliance toured Fort Benning last Monday as part of The Infantry Center Chaplain Section's celebration of Armed Forces Week.

The clergymen were welcomed by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, at an official luncheon at the Main Officers Mess. The Chaplains Section was host.

The 57 ministers toured the Army Education Center here, where they visited the Remedial Reading Laboratory. They also watched firing demonstrations at Bickford Rocket Range and McAndrews Range, and witnessed airborne training at The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

Infantry Center Chaplain (Col.) Lexington O. Sheffield and Major William Fulton of The Infantry School's Staff Department conducted the clergymen on their tour.

The Ministers Alliance, composed of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen of Columbus and Phenix City, is headed by Rev. Byron E. LeJeune, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Columbus. President of the affiliated Colored Ministers Alliance is Rev. C. C. Cloud, pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Columbus.

Pay Refund Choice Given NSLI Holders

WASHINGTON (AFPS) —Military personnel who have a partial waiver of premium but who are paying full premiums by allotment on permanent plan government life insurance policies have a choice in the way they may obtain refunds.

They can either write to the VA and ask that refunds be sent to them with interest once a year or they may allow the waived portion to accumulate at interest until they are discharged or released from the Service. If they choose the first method they should include their name, address to which the check should be sent, Service serial number and the numbers of the insurance policies."

Involved in the program are permanent plans of NSLI and USGLI such as ordinary life, 20-pay-life, 30-pay-life and endowment plans. Term insurance policies are not included. About 100,000 military personnel are affected.

New Council Forms At Service YMCA

A servicemen's council is being formed at the Columbus Armed Forces Young Men's Christian Association to assist directors and hostesses of the YMCA in planning programs.

Sgt. Pat Clawson is acting as temporary chairman. Meetings of the council are held every Tuesday night at 7:30, and are open to any members of the Armed Forces in the area who wish to attend.

Pistol Expert Writes Article In Quarterly

"Hold It Tight" an article on pistol marksmanship by Major Warren P. Davis, appears in the April issue of the INFANTRY SCHOOL QUARTERLY.

Major Davis, an instructor in the Weapons Department of The Infantry School and one of the Army's best pistol shots, is an authority on marksmanship. A member of several crack Fort Benning pistol teams, Major Davis received further recognition last year when he was named captain of the All-Army Rifle Team. "Hold It Tight" contains many of the principles Major Davis and other experienced marksmen have applied in winning pistol matches.

The April issue of the QUARTERLY is currently being mailed to over 12,000 Infantrymen all over the world. The QUARTERLY is available locally through The Book Store, all of whose branches accept subscriptions at $2.50 a year for the unclassified publication.

General Meloy Will Present Prizes At Benning Art Show

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander will award the prizes to winners in the All-Benning Art exhibit at the Girl Scout Little Cabin at 3 p.m. next Sunday.

Close to a hundred entries have been received for the two-day art show sponsored by the Literature and Arts group of the Fort Benning Woman's Club. Entries have been received from all branches of the military service. A great number of children and adult students will have their work on exhibition.

The four categories of competition are painting, drawing, design and modeling. Prizes will be awarded for first place and ribbons for first and second honorable mention.

According to Mrs. Warren Nossaman, chairman of the Literature and Arts group, an unusual feature of this year's exhibit will be the Japanese "Bankei" or miniature landscapes. Several army wives who learned this art in Japan have agreed to place their basket on exhibit.

Judges for the show are Miss Clayton Reed, Anthony Manl, and Jim Miner, all of Columbus.

The chairman, Mrs. Nossaman, is also in charge of the show, and her committee includes Mrs. Robert McGraw, Mrs. Joe Hennessee, Mrs. James W. Harrison, and Mrs. Schiller Shore.

Marines Receive Highest Scores

Two marines, graduating from the Unit Automotive Mechanics Class No. 5 last Monday, received a letter of commendation from General Guy S. Meloy, Infantry School Commandant, on their exceptional academic performance. These scores are the highest achieved by marines since their arrival.

Pfc. Arthur C. Shimmoeller scored 97 out of a possible 100 per cent. The other marine, Pfc. Donald J. Dickman, scored a 95.6. Out of ten written examinations, Pfc. Schimmoeller and Dickman received seven superior grades.

This is the third graduating class of the Marines since the course was initiated. The class was comprised of 91 Marine students. The top 45 students will be sent to Fort Knox, Kentucky, for further schooling in the Armored School. The rest will be assigned to various posts and stations.

COL. MACK GREEN, RIGHT, TIC SURGEON SHOWS HOSPITAL TO OFFICIALS

Two Sites Considered Here For Proposed Hospital Unit

Two tentative sites are under consideration here for construction of a proposed $7,000,000 500-bed hospital, Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., Infantry Center G-4, said last Thursday.

One is located on First Division Road two miles southeast of Infantry Center headquarters, and the other in the present hospital cantonment area.

Final selection will be made by the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council in Washington.

The proposed hospital will be a self-contained construction with laundry, post exchange and other facilities included in the main building. The hospital will be built with electric and plumbing facilities for possible emergency expansion to a 1,000-bed capacity, according to Col. Richard Ebbs, Infantry Center engineer.

In 1953 Budget

Construction of the new hospital is provided for in the 1952 military construction budget.

It will be built according to standard plans for Armed Forces medical installations and adapted to the Fort Benning site by Col. Robert Erlinkotter, district engineer at Savannah, Ga.

Armed Forces Medical officials conferred here this week with Col. Mack Green, Infantry Center surgeon, Col. Richard Ebbs, engineer, and Col. Tarter Spearman, operations officer here. They discussed the need of Third Army's Medical Section for additional hospital facilities.

Included in the medical group here May 7 were Major Gen. George Armstrong, surgeon general of the Army; Brig. Gen. James Gillespie, Col. Clement St. John and Lt. Col. Frank Lawfod, of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council; Brig. Gens. Harold Twitchell and Olin McInney of the Air Force's Office of the Surgeon General; Commander Evan Stone, Naval Medical Corps; James Jenkins, Officer of the Comptroller, Office of the Secretary of Defense; Pierre Palmer of the Budget Bureau's Hospital Branch and Col. Webb, engineer, and Col. Tarter Spearman, operations officer here. They discussed the need of Third Army's Medical Section.

Col. Barnett Gets Post As TIC G-4

Lt. Col. Frank Barnett of Pontotoc, Miss., became acting G-4 (supply officer), for The Infantry Center last Monday.

He replaces Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., who has been appointed to succeed Col. Charles H. Karlsted as acting chief of staff.

Colonel Karlstad was named commandant of The Psychological Warfare Center at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Colonel Barnett has been a member of the G-4 section here since July, 1950, coming here from the Air University at Maxell Air Force Base, Ala.

He graduated from Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1932, and received his commission as a Reserve lieutenant in 1933.

Colonel Barnett attended the associate company officers course here in 1940, and the associate advanced infantry officers course in 1941. He served with the 31st Infantry Division until 1943.

He saw overseas service in World War II with the 17th Airborne Division in Europe from 1944 to 1945. He also served as provost marshal of the Munich Military Post in Germany from 1946 to 1949.

His decorations include the Silver Star, Bronze Star with three Oak Leaf Clusters and Luxembourg Croix de Guerre.

Gray Ladies' Class Will Begin May 20

A new Gray Lady class will start at the hospital Red Cross section on Tuesday, May 20.

The screening of applicants began last Monday, and will continue through May 19.

The goal for this class has been set at 40 members.

Every applicant will be interviewed by a Red Cross and Gray Lady team to determine her suitability. Following the interview, each applicant will be given a 12-hour training period which will include a lecture series by hospital and Red Cross leaders.

A 10-hour probationary work period on the wards follows the training and lecture period.

In announcing the new class, Miss Sydney Beauxis said "We are hoping to reach our goal of 40 new members. A lot of the Red Cross depend on the Gray Ladies to a great extent. We have a fine group working with us but we need more."

Reds Can't Understand AF Day

If the communist world news agency does its job properly next Saturday, it will duly report the United States' Armed Forces Day, which will be observed by U. S. military installations over the world.

But whatever the red newsmen may write in their reports, they will be unable to put down the event's real significance, not because they wish to distort the truth as they frequently do, but merely because they won't understand the real meaning of the affair.

Armed Forces Day is more than a demonstration of American arms. It is a symbol of America and the free world. The communists could never understand that the day, in one sense, is an act of faith in the very roots of our liberty.

The red readers could not understand that the military demonstration to be put on in Columbus will not be a means of striking terror in the mind of the middle-class American, or that the open houses that Fort Benning is planning are sincere and above board. Should the communist reporters attempt to say these things they are too incredible for the communist mind to understand.

They could never understand that the whole day is the result of cooperative planning by civilian and military authorities alike. They could never understand that the Army didn't force its might on the populace. They could never understand that the soldiers are free men too—free to vote in an honest election in November—free to read what they like—think what they like—and know whom they like.

Armed Forces Day will be celebrated whenever there is a U. S. military unit whether it is Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marines. It is a symbol of the nation's military might through its unity, which, again, symbolizes the unity that all the free world has undertaken to keep the free world free.

Communism is like a fire: It must grow to exist, and choking off its expansion will lead to its ultimate destruction.

The communists continue to delay peace by the endless and premeditated confusion they sponsor in the peace talks. But ultimately, they cannot win by that tactic anymore than they can win by any of their tactics because they are fundamentally wrong. Even the Reds can disobey the rules for only a little while. And their ignorance is the reason their news programs could never report what Armed Forces Day really means.

And it means that America is still strong — stronger than the Communist because we are honest. We are honest in our work, in our goals, and in our methods. And it's honesty that the communist mind cannot understand because to them, it doesn't exist. They destroyed the philosophy, and therefore, will destroy themselves.

Saturday, the world over, free people will be reminded that free Armies still exist and that they have lost none of their potency—they have only strengthened it. Every time the reds have betrayed free men, they have lost one of their weapons, and their weapons are limited. Sooner or later, the weapons will run out and the ammunition to use in them will run out, and any Infantryman knows what that means.

General Bedford Forrest was only half right, It doesn't matter who gets there the fustest; it's the mostest that counts and free people have the mostest of everything except dishonesty.

Light Drinkers Are Dangerous

Light drinkers who drive are a bigger menace than "drunk" motorists, a civilian safety expert at Fort Benning warns.

Norman Evans, Benning's safety director, says 90 per cent of all American drivers think in terms of drunkards, and not "light" drinkers, who cause the most accidents.

Mr. Evans thrust up a dossier of facts and figures about so - called harmless "light drinkers" who drive and wreck hundreds of automobiles annually

These facts revealed that thoroughly imbibed drivers rarely drive cars, primarily because they drop into unconsciousness, or are so completely unbalanced they can't manipulate gear shifts or steering wheel.

"Light drinkers," however, drive and think with all the basic facility of non-drinkers.

But, small shots of any alcohol, Mr. Evans said, blunt judgment, self-criticisms and weakens confidence, thereby leading him onward to more speed and more daring roadway acrobatics.

Safety Director Evans said a series of tests have been given groups of drivers to demonstrate the effects of small sips of whiskey or beer.

Three or four bottles of beer were administered a small group of drivers, and at the end of a waiting period none of them could feel the effects of inebriation. Their speech was not slurred nor was their gait sloppy.

Ability Impaired

Yet, one of these drivers made 15 attempts at backing his car's left rear tire onto a seven inch-wide plank. Driving ability had been impaired by this small drinking by at least 41 per cent of normal efficiency.

Most states term drivers sober if body alcohol content registers .05 per cent or less. Yet, Mr. Evans said a survey conducted throughout the nation by a safety council plainly revealed that a large number of accidents were caused by drivers whose bodies contained less than .03 percent alcohol.

Chaplain's Corner

Prayer Is a Language of the Soul

BY CHAPLAIN DAVID RAAB

No doubt you have heard it said, and perhaps you yourself have said it time and again: "I don't have to go to a Synagogue, Church, Cathedral or Chapel to pray, I can pray at home, or in my barracks". But in reality, did you pray at home, or in your barracks — or for that matter did you pray at all?

Many definitions have been given of prayer, but substantially all agree that prayer is a means of reaching the Master of the Universe. Prayer is thus a ladder to the divine. Furthermore, it is the language of the soul. It brings man in direct contact with God, and through this medium man is made to feel that he is part of great universe. Prayer, furthermore is a state of mind, an attitude. It springs from the heart.

The greatest minds of all time indeed prayed—and prayed fervently. Xenophon began each day with a prayer. Pericles prefaced every address with a prayer. "On the Crown," one of the greatest orations of all time by Demosthenes, and the Great Greek Epic Poem "The Illiad" began with a prayer. Why? What motivated these giants of the intellect, these personifications of rationalism to pour out their hearts before God? William James, perhaps the greatest psychologist of our day says the following: "We hear in these days of scientific enlightenment a great deal of discussion about the efficacy of prayer: and many reasons why we should not pray, while others are given why we should. Very little is said of the reason why we DO pray, which is simply that we cannot help praying. It seems probably that in spite of all that science may do to the contrary, men will continue to pray to the end of time unless their mental nature changes in a manner which nothing we know should lead us to expect".

Yes, we must pray because we cannot help praying. It is part and parcel of our very being. Just as we cannot stop breathing so we cannot stop praying without paying the price.

But in addition to the thought expressed by William James, there are others in the field of psychology and psychiatry who feel strongly about the true value of prayer, God and religion. Dr. William Sadler, the famous American Psychiatrist refuses to treat a patient who does not believe in God, for he feels that it is impossible to cure these patients unless they have something to tie themselves to, and something to love beyond themselves. And Dr. C. J. Jung, one of the outstanding mental doctors, says in his book "Modern Man In Search Of A Soul:" "Among all my patients over 35, there has not been one whose problem in the last resort was not that of finding a religious outlook on life. It is safe to say that every one of them fell ill because he had lost it, and none of them has been really healed who did not regain it."

Thus speak the outstanding Psychologists and Psychiatrists. Why pray? Because it creates a sound mental attitude within us. Why pray? Because it improves our health: Why pray? Because it will keep our equilibrium right. Why pray? Because it will enrich our lives, and add meaning to our existence. Why pray? Because prayer will drive away our fears, frustrations and cynicism.

If you are depressed, friend, go to the house of God. There you will discover, perhaps for the first time that you are not alone; that you are near God; that you are part of a great humanity: that you have worth and are not a worm. Rather, you are a human being created "in the image of God". Go to the Chapel for prayer, for moments of guidance and inspiration.

First Rift Appears In Oil Strikers' Front

Gen. Mark Clark, new Far East commander, said this week that the U. S. Army ransomed Brig. Gen. Frances T. Dodd by making a deal with his Communist captors after they threatened to kill him and make a mass break from their Koje Island prison camp. General Clark made it plain that the promises, extorted by duress from Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, might be revised or ignored completely. To get Dodd, released, the acting camp commander promised to quit screening prisoners on whether they wanted to go back to communism. He also agreed to give the Reds inmates "humane treatment" and granted them the right to set up an organization to work with the camp command.

Further north in Korea, Allied planes struck deep into enemy territory to continue their day-and-night attacks of Communit railways and supply centers. Naval guns pounded Red targets on both coasts, and the U. S. Navy reported that three men died and five were wounded aboard the destroyer James C. Owens in a duel with Red shore batteries. Along the entire 155-mile front, sharp patrol clashes erupted.

Light appeared on the horizon of the oil strike this week as a group of diffident oil strikers indicated they were about ready to end their walkout as government officials said there is a "good possibility" President Truman may resort to the Taft-Hartley Act to end the nation-wide strike. As the 13-day strike by 90,000 oil workers cut sharply into military operations, the first rift in the strikers tightly-knit ranks appeared when nearly 180 of the 1,083 members of the Independent Central States Petroleum Local 101 petitioned for a vote to test "the true sentiment" of striking employes of the Sugar Creek, Mo. refinery of Standard Oil of Indiana.

On The Bookshelf

As usual, there is a tremendous variety of new books being published almost daily by American houses. A brief description of some of these books is given.

LIEUTENANT HORNBLOWER by C. S. Forester: Hornblower has appeared in many, many action packed tales of the sea in Saturday Evening Post, and here, in book form, is another tale in the Hornblower tradition. The famous fictional hero of Nelson's day is sent on a secret mission to the West Indies. And Hornblower triumphs again. The book falls into the pattern of the stories that have gone before, but if you like the Hornblower stories, here is one that will keep you interested until the end.

MY COUSIN RACHEL by Daphne du Maurier. The author of Rebecca again has written a romatic novel in what is becoming her tradition. The book has all the elements of this type work. If you like Miss du Maurier, here is another that you will enjoy reading.

• • •

THROUGH CHARLEY'S DOOR by Emily Kimbrough. All those who read Our Hearts Were Young and Gay, in which Miss Kimbrough collabrated with cornelia Otis Skinner, the hilarious antics are continued. Miss Kimbrough takes up where the earlier book left off. She describes her adventures on the return to Chicago, and lightly reveals the tribulations of her being "kicked from the nest" by her aggressive mother. Job hunting, work on an advertising magazine, and other adventures are told with the ever light turn of her talented pen.

ADVENTURES IN TWO WORLDS by A. J. Cronin: In this work, Dr. Cronin writes of his early years as a struggling physician. He deals with his early successes and failures and struggles to do good to his fellow man. The second part of the book concerns his return to the Catholic faith and some of the decisions he had to make.

their role as defenders of freedom. In addition several special events have been planned here to which the public is invited.

The Infantry School's Airborne Department has scheduled an open house today to celebrate its 10th anniversary in conjunction with the observance of Armed Forces Week. A series of airborne demonstrations begin at 2 p.m. in the ground and tower training areas on the Main Post. Visitors also will get an opportunity to ride in the department's famed "buddy seat" which drops from the 250-foot training towers.

A jumpmaster jump and heavy equipment drop at Lawson Air Force base here, where aircraft used in airborne maneuvers will be displayed, will highlight the afternoon demonstrations.

Three original members of the First Test Platoon, who made the first Army airborne jump will be on hand to explain airborne activities.

They are CWO Lloyd McCullough, M-Sgt. Louis D. Davis and M-Sgt. William N. King. McCullough and Davis have made 200 jumps and King 262.

The Combat Training Command here will hold an open house May 17 for civilian and military visitors.

Display

A static display will be set up at 10 a.m. on Tiger Field in the command's Sand Hill area. Guests also will be invited to tour unit areas, see a demonstration by a drill team and the drum and bugle corps of the 30th Infantry Regiment's Third Battalion, and watch a baseball game at Bullet Field between the Combat Training Command Commanders and the Tuskegee, Ala., Veterans Administration team.

The day will end with an open house at 4:30 p.m. in the Sand Hill Service Club.

The Tiger Field display will include the famous Walker Bulldog, Gen. Patton and light and medium tanks, a searchlight unit, inboard utility boat, an aluminum Infantry support bridge, a 155 mm howitzer and a field type chapel set up for front-line worship.

Various types of combat Infantry equipment and weapons also will be displayed and refreshments will be served from a field kitchen.

Guests will be invited to inspect unit areas to see additional Infantry and field artillery equipment and mess halls. A tank crew also will perform during the day-long celebration.

The Women's Army Corps Detachment here will entertain visitors at an open house Sunday, May 18, the day following Armed Forces Day. The celebration will also be in observance of the crops' 10th birthday. Highlight of the open house festivities will be a cake cutting ceremony.

Fort Benning officers will take the story of the Armed Forces to six civic clubs in Columbus and Talbotton, Ga., during the week.

Lt. Col. Oliver O. Dixon led off the week's schedule when he talked to the Columbus Kiwanis Club on May 13. That same day Lt. Col. Donovan J. Rice spoke to members of the Civitan Club, and that evening Lt. Col. Robert J. Daniels will discuss the Armed Forces in a talk to members of the Lions Club.

The Rotary Club heard Lt. Col. John F. P. Hill on May 14, and Capt. Robert A. Ryan will speak to the Exchange Club May 16.

Major James M. Pratt will be in Talbotton that same day to deliver an armed Forces Week address to the Women's Club.

During the week some 1,200 officers and men from The Infantry Center will participate in parades in five Southeastern cities and at one Air Force Base.

Some 400 troops of the 30th Infantry Regiment and 41st Field Artillery Battalion will parade in Macon, Ga., and more than 150 troops will parade in Biloxi, Miss., and at nearby Keesler Air Force Base.

Atlanta, Georgia's capital city, will see another 400 marchers from the 508th and the 320th parade down Peachtree street.

Infantry equipment, including weapons, radios and trucks will be on display in Selma and Montgomery, Ala., and at Albany and Valdosta, Ga.

A group of 26 officers and enlisted men from the 508th are already at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., where they will demonstrate airborne equipment and a heavy equipment drop from C-119 aircraft May 17. The Leavenworth show is being held in observance of the Kansas post's 125th anniversary and Armed Forces Week.

Boy Scouts

Thirty Boy Scouts from Montezuma, Ga., were Fort Benning's first official guests last week. They arrived here Monday morning for a day-long visit and tour of the post. They received an airborne orientation and saw weapons firing on post ranges. Lunch was served at Warner Range, and they were conducted on a tour of the Main Post.

The Birmingham, Ala., Armed Services Commitee also will be here Monday for a series of demonstrations, and some 120 leading business men and civic officials from Columbus and Phenix City, Ala., will be guests here May 16. They will be welcomed by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, and see Infantry School demonstrations.

Columbus and Fort Benning officials who are members of the Armed Forces Week Planning Group include:

Robert E. Dismukes, chairman, Edgar Chancellor, vice chairman, and L. W. Cunningham, T. Hicks Fort, Jr., Col. (ret.) David Finley, H. S. Jones, Victor Kiraify, Frank Lumpkin, Sr., F. A. Nielsen, Col. (ret.) A. M. Wilson, Lawrence Petri, Fred M. Shiver, N. A. Stokes and Elie Wheat, all of the Chamber of Commerce's Military and Naval Affairs Committee.

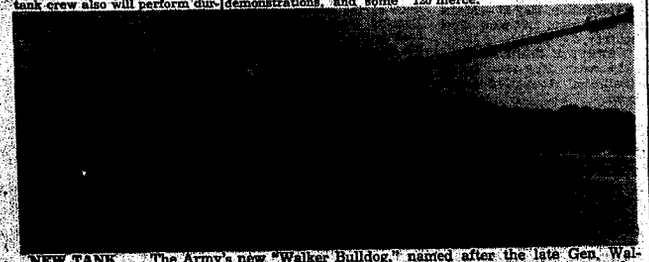
Majors William H. Munn and William P. Mitchell and Capt. here in August, 1940, will be on Robert Brackett of Lawson Air Force Base; Major Hal D. Steward of The Infantry Center Public Information Office; Col. Walter B. Yeager and Major John B. Zanin and William E. Manning of The Infantry Center's G-3 office.

Capt. Andrew J. Wilson of the provost marshal office here; Tom Erwin of the Department of Public Safety; Rev. Byron LeJeune of the Columbus - Phenix City Ministerial Alliance; Lt. Col. Kenneth J. Baggett, Columbus Instructor of the Organized Reserve Corps; Lt. Col. Ernest W. Higgins of the National Guard; Major H. E. Harris of the Columbus Army-Air Force Recruiting Station; Lt. Comdr. Robert H. Ross of the Naval Reserve, and Joe Windsor of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

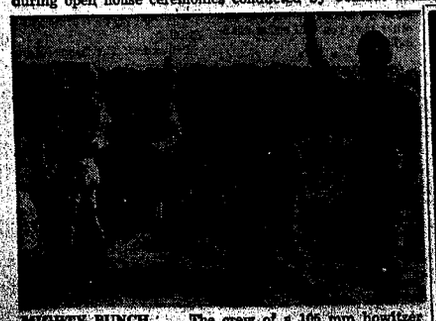
ARMY BAND . . . The 122nd Army Band is one of the musical groups slated to play in the Armed Forces Day parade in Columbus Saturday. The 122nd has been providing music for several Armed Forces Week programs here.

BAZOOKA TEAM . . . The versatile bazooka, dreaded by enemy tanks, is but one of the many weapons in America's arsenal of defense.

TROOP CARRIERS . . . Three C-46's of the 434th Troop Carrier Wing at Lawson Air Force base sail majestically throught the skies. Planes like these will stage a fly-over at the Armed Forces Day parade in Columbus Saturday, May 17.



NEW TANK . . . The Army's new "Walker Bulldog," named after the late Gen. Walton Walker, Eighth Army commander in Korea, will be unveiled here this Saturday during open house ceremonies conducted by Combat Training Command troops.



MIGHTY PUNCH . . . The crew of a 105 mm howitzer stands ready to deliver a Sunday punch to turning enemy troops, symbolizing the strong defenses we have built [illegible] unity.

30TH TANKERS JOCKEY 10 TYPES OF TANK
Two Of The 10 Are An M-4, Left, And An M-24

30th's Tank Company Here Has 10 Different Models

Believed to be one of the only units of its kind in the U. S. Army is the 30th Infantry Regiment's Tank Company. Whereas most tank companies depend upon one particular model tank for their power, the 30th Tank Company uses 10 different tank models in its daily demonstrations for Infantry School classes.

Tank species found in the 30th range from the M-24 light tank, used in the beginning of the Korean war, to the M-43A bulldozer tank that smashed its way through the hedgerows of France during World War II.

Benning Has Former Radio, TV Staffer

A former radio and TV staff announcer and disc jockey is now handling a different type of record as "Cloak and Dagger" NCO for the 423rd Engineer Construction Battalion here at Fort Benning.

He is Corporal Carl A. Hancock, 23, of Binghamton, New York, who formerly worked for Binghamton's WNBF as a staff announcer and ran a 55 minute daily disc jockey show.

Inducted into the service in December of 1950, Cpl. Hancock took his basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey and received his assignment with the 423rd Engineer Construction Battalion at Camp Rucker, Ala.

A graduate of the Intelligence School at Fort Riley, Kansas, he is the Intelligence NCO for the battalion.

Included in the repertoire of the company is one performance that makes it look like a group of sitting ducks in a shooting gallery. Daily, 30th tankers ride in "target tanks" for School demonstrations. Though well-protected by armor, the men claim that it still gives them an eerie feeling to hear and feel bullets ricocheting off the sides of the target tanks.

Experience controls the throttle and swings the turret of most of the company's tanks. Nearly 70 per cent of the men in the unit are combat veterans, either of World War II or the Korean war.

Nearly 3,000,000 pounds of solid armor is wrapped up in the 43 tanks the company uses.

Motor sergeants in a normal tank company have a man-sized job keeping their tanks rolling, but when the variety of parts and methods needed in the maintenance of 10 different types of tank is added, the problem is increased 10-fold.

122nd Band Needs Trombone Tooters

Men who can toot a tuba, trill a trombone or sound a saxophone are needed in the 122nd Army Band.

CWO William R. Trembath, band commander, announced that several vacancies exist in the band, and any musician interested in transferring to the 122nd should contact him. He said that men who can play the tuba, trombone or saxophone are most urgently needed.

Preventive Repair Units Save Over $250 Every Day

An estimated saving of $250 per day by the Preventive Maintenance teams of Post Engineers since their inauguration in February, has more than proven the worth of the teams, according to Col. Richard E. Ebbs, Post Engineer.

Set up to serve a two-fold purpose, the teams are designed to save on manpower and at the same time keep all buildings under the jurisdiction of Post Engineer in good condition.

In four months time, the number of teams has grown from the original three to six mobile team and to fixed teams, said Colonel Ebbs.

To carry out their two-fold function, the teams are transported in specially designed trucks that are complete with a representative stock of normal maintenance items that have worn out.

Primary mission of these six man units is to check each building, make such repairs as is necessary, and to report promptly such repairs that cannot be handled on the spot.

In connection with the repairs that cannot be handled on the post, Colonel Ebbs said, "in the past, we had to send a man to find out the trouble, have him come back to the office and report, then send a man back to repair the quarters. Now we have qualified personnel on hand to check, and when they call in we know exactly what has to be done."

According to Col. Ebbs, the teams have become well known and most of the families prepare detailed lists of all minor repairs before the teams arrive. This is a great help to them, and they can complete their work in less time.

Another Help

Another help in the preventive maintenance of quarters is the plan whereby each set of quarters is turned over to the Engineer team as soon as it is vacated. The team moves in an inrecord time, all minor and major repairs have been taken care of.

"This plan", said the colonel, "is a big factor in the saving of time and gasoline. We can work twice as fast when the house is empty as when occupied."

All six of the teams work on a planned schedule. As the schedule stands now the buildings will be inspected about every four months.

The mobile units are stationed in the quarters and in the hospital area while there is one team assigned to family quarters, one to troop housing in Sand Hill, one to troop housing in Harmony Church, two to troop housing on the main post, and one to class rooms.

Colonel Ebbs said the estimated $250 savings includes the cut in work orders, saving on gasoline, and more important the saving of manpower.

508th ARCT Men Take Part In Leavenworth Anniversary

Twenty-nine paratroopers from the 508th Airborne Infantry Regiment left last week for Fort Leavenworth, Kans., to take part in that post's 125th anniversary celebration.

Making the trip were 26 enlisted men and three officers from the regiment's Third Battalion.

Two enlisted men demonstrated typical airborne soldiers fully equipped for a combat jump. Others showed the proper method of packing parachutes and explain the pathfinder, aerial delivery, heavy equipment drop, parachute maintenance and 75 and 105 mm howitzer displays.

No troop drops were made, officials here said, because of the recent flood in the area around Fort Leavenworth, but the paratroopers dropped heavy equipment from C - 119 transport planes. The drop included two 105 howitzers, a jeep, a 75 pack howitzer and A-5 and A-22 containers.

The troopers were guests at a dance last Saturday night in Kansas City, Kas., returned to Fort Benning last Monday.

Lt. Col. John M. Wright Jr., battalion commander, will lead the group.

ASSIGNED

1Lt. James L. Setzer, mess officer for the 116th Company, Second Student Regiment is on leave. Upon termination of his leave, he will go to a new assignment in Trieste.

House, Senate Receive Bills To Simplify Serviceman's Vote

WASHINGTON — (AFPS) — Identical bills have been introduced in the House and Senate that would iron out all the obstacles in the way of servicemen's voting in the November general elections.

The Senate bill, S 3061, was sponsored jointly by Senators Green, Lehman, Humphrey and Moody. The House bill, HR 7071, was introduced by majority lender McCormack.

The bill would prohibit servicemen from paying a poll tax as a condition of voting. It would also simplify voting procedures and provide that ballots be mailed back in postage - free envelopes marked plainly with red lettering — "Official Election Balloting Material — Via Air Mail."

The bills appear as a direct answer to an appeal recently made to Congress by President Truman. At the time the President urged that Congress pass legislation to insure the serviceman's right to vote.

Called the "Servicemen's Voting Act of 1952," it now goes to the respective rules and administration committees of both houses. Many of the provisions are also extended to cover the families of Service personnel.

A program is also provided by the bill whereby all information concerning servicemen's voting rights and procedures would be disseminated by the Services. This program is already in effect. The Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, Department of Defense, has been channeling this information to servicemen all over the world.

Cold Weather Expert Ends Airborne Training At Post

Capt. Paavo A. Kairinen, one of the Army's coldweather experts, has added paratroop jumping to his repertoire of achievement.

The 40-year-old captain has served in both the Finnish and U. S. armies as an officer and enlisted man. He began his military career in Finland his native land, in 1931, enlisting as a private.

After attending non - commissioned officers and officers classes, he was commissioned a second lieutenant and assigned to an infantry unit near his home, Ylanes. He was released in 1933 following completion of his compulsory training period, and attended the University of Helsinki.

After one year there, he won an appointment to the military academy of Finland, and graduated in 1936 as a second lieutenant in the Finnish Army.

The peacetime years from 1936 to 1939, according to Captain Kairinen, saw the Finnish Army feverishly preparing for an attack from the East with all manner of rugged training. A great deal of physical training was emphasized, including skiing, mountain warfare and guerill ia tactics.

When the Russians attacked Finland in 1939, the Finnish Army held and managed to keep the Russians from taking over all of Finland. As a company and battalion commander, Captain Kairinen fought in the Russo - Finnish war and later served as a general staff officer, having risen to the rank of major.

When World War II ended in 1945, he left Finland and came to the U. S. He resumed his military career in 1947 by enlisting in the U. S. Army, and in less than 10 months rose to sergeant first class. He instructed skiing and cold weather techniques at Camp Carson, Colo., and at Camp Drum in 1951 instructed at the winter indoctrination school.

This school was operated by the First Army in preparation for the big, cold-weather exercise now assigned to the 508rd Airborne Infantry Regiment at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Four members of the 623rd Quartermaster Air Equipment Repair company are attending service schools, 1st Lt. Harry E. Jones has announced.

The men and the schools they are attending are Cpl. Melvin C. Rawlings, Armed Forces Information School, Fort Slocum, N. Y.; Pfc. Johnny Davis, automotive maintenance school, Fort Jackson, S. C.; and Sgt. Edward Christie and Sgt. Manuel D. Tuttle, chemical and biological school, Fort Benning.

Released ORC Officers May Continue Active Duty Rank

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — New policies that allow Organized Reserve Corps officers to be released from active duty in the same temporary rank they held while on active duty has been announced by the Department of the Army.

The Army policy specifies that "all ORC officers who have served satisfactorily in the active Army after June 25, 1950 in a higher temporary grade, up to and including the grade of colonel, will upon relief from active military service, be tendered permanent ORC appointments in grades equivalent to their attained temporary grades."

Qualified officers will automatically be appointed in the ORC by commanders at separation points frrespective of vacancies and without promotion board action. Those who have been already relieved from active duty will be advanced in the ORC by commanders in their area of residence.

Officers promoted under this policy who have not completed the minimum time-in-grade will have the uncompleted time for the next lower grade added to the minimum time-in-grade required in SR14-155-1.

For example, a first Lieutenant, ORC, who was promoted under this policy to the grade of captain, ORC, and had served only two years in the grade of first lieutenant (one year short of the prescribed time-in-grade) will be required to serve in the grade of captain the one year he lacked in the grade of first lieutenant plus the normal five years required for consideration for promotion to major.

OC Regiment Gives $600 to Heart Drive

First Officers Candidate Regiment here has donated more than $600 to the American Heart Association Campaign. The First OC Company leads the list of contributors with over $165, Lt. Bernard J. Ambrose, Regimental Campaign Chairman, said.

The American Heart Association is an organization engaged in research and development of techniques in the cause, effect, and cure of heart diseases on a national scale. Fifty per cent of donations remain in the communities where the money is contributed.

Multi-Decorated Veteran Completes Ranger Course

One of the Army's most decorated Korean veterans is now a full - fledged Ranger.

M-Sgt. Anthony Herbert of Herminie, Pa., who volunteered for the Ranger course because he wanted to take "all of the Army's tough courses," holds 11 medals earned in 11 months in Korea.

The 22-year-old Ranger has almost completed the circuit of "tough" Army schools. He is a graduate of The Infantry School's Airborne Department, the Air Sea Rescue School in Alaska and the Mountain Troops School at Mount Ranier, Wash. Before coming here for Ranger training, he was an instructor at the Mountain Infantry School, Camp Carson, Colo.

While in Korea, Herbert collected the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star with V device for valor, the Distinguished Unit Citation, the Turkish Brigade Patch, the French Ville de Paris Medal, the Korean Service Medal with four battle stars and the Combat Infantry Badge.

The modest young veteran served as honor guard for the peace talks at Kaesong, Korea, and was honored Oct. 25 with a group of United Nations veterans of the Korean campaign on United Nations Day in Washington, D.C. In November, he went to Paris, where the French government presented him with the Ville de Paris Medal for gallantry.

TV Appearance

Before reporting back to his instructor assignment at Camp Carson, Sergeant Herbert was to go to Washington, D.C., this week to appear on television with Col. H. G. Learnard, director of the Ranger Department here, who will present him with the Ranger patch.

Herbert served with the 38th and 23rd Infantry Regiments in Korea, but the fortunes of war found him with the Sixth Republic of Korea Army Division and the United Nations Turkish Brigade for a short time.

When his unit was overrun by the enemy, Corporal Herbert charged the enemy machine gun next until his rifle ammunition and grenades ran out. He continued with a bayonet charge, engaging in hand to hand combat, killing four of the enemy.

This gallant action of Sgt. Mulgol May 10, 1951, won him the Turkish Army's Brigade Patch for valor, the American Silver Star, and a sudden promotion from corporal to master sergeant.

He received the Bronze Star March 15, 1951, while with Company E, 38th Infantry Regiment. It was awarded him for carrying wounded men to safety through vicious enemy fire when his platoon was attacked.

The French government presented him the Ville de Paris Medal for gallantry in carrying a wounded French soldier to safety through enemy mine fields.

24th Infantry Officers Planning Association Unit

A group of officers and enlisted men formerly of the 24th Infantry Division are forming a Fort Benning chapter of the 24th Infantry Division Association.

First item on their agenda for forming the chapter calls for a Dutch supper to be held at the Main Post Cafeteria May 22 at 7 p.m. Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Infantry Center commander and formerly a 24th Division officer, will be chief speaker.

All former members of the Division are cordially invited to attend. Reservations may be made by calling one of the following people:

Capt. William Caldwell, 6-3146; 1st Lt. Bernard Ambrose, 6-1105; or Sfc. Gerald Elam, 6-3145.

Voting Duty Stressed By Brigade Lieutenant

As preferential and party primaries for the major political parties continue to be held throughout the United States, 1st Lt. Glen E. Robinson, information and education officer of the 1st Student Brigade, noted that the distribution of absentee balloting materials and information about soldier voting is saturating the First Student Brigade.

A special memo emphasizing the importance of soldier voting was sent to the I and E officers of each of the student regiments this week emphasizing the importance of this program.

Each unit commander has been requested to designate a "Soldier Voting Officer" to execute the voting responsibilities of the commander in making available to all personnel the necessary information and blank forms to secure absentee ballots. The name of the voting officer is being displayed on I and E boards in all company day rooms.

Federal Post Card Application, Form No. 76 (or USWBC Form No. 1), used to request absentee ballots should be requisitioned through normal channels from the Publications section of the Post Adjutant General's office and distributed at once, Lieutenant Robinson stated.

No advisement of counsel may be disseminated by military personnel regarding the choice of candidates or political parties.

104th Co. Wins Inspection Plaques

Weekly Battalion Competitive Inspections have stirred up keen rivalries among the companies within the Second Student Regiment.

The most recent inspections saw the 104th Company replace the 101st Company as holder of the outstanding awards. One hundred and fourth Company was first place winner on two counts — orderly room and mess.

The 101st Company has won at least three of the five first place plaques each week still managed to gain two — 1&E and supply. The Honors for the best barracks went to the 105th Company.

The 115th and 111th Companies tied for top honors in the Second Battalion. The 115th was voted best in barracks and supply, and the 111th was named outstanding in orderly room and mess.

NEW EXEC NAMED

Lt. Edward James, recent returnee from Korea, has been assigned as the executive officer for the 126th Company, Second Student Regiment.

SIEBYE RETURNS

First Lt. Joseph B. Siebye has returned to duty with the 110th Company, Second Student Regiment, from a five week course with the Airborne School here. Siebye is a former Army football star.

Col. Bush Tells 124 OC Grads Three Points of Leadership

"Be a man, know your job, take care of your men," Col. Geoge E. Bush told 124 graduating officer candidates here last Friday.

Colonel Bush, deputy assistant commandant of The Infantry School, praised these characteristics in stressing the three points of leadership in an address to members of officer candidate class 13 who received their commissions as second lieutenants.

"Leadership is made up of usable knowledge, high moral character and human understanding," Colonel Bush said.

Learn the importance of a positive manner for the successful leader, and your men will follow you. Remember, the Infantry officer's job is of the upmost importance in battle," he added.

Colonel Bush pinned second lieutenant's bars on honor graduate James D. Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Haley of 402 West Oak Street, Carmichael Lieutenant Haley has been assigned to the Fifth Infantry Division at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

Colonel E. H. Hardaway, director of The Infantry School's Staff Department, introduced Col. Bush.

Chaplain (Col.) Lexington, O. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. Major E. M. Shaffer, assistant adjutant general of The Infantry Center, administered the oath of office to the new second lieutenants. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

FOUR MEN ASSIGNED

Four enlisted men have been assigned to the First Transportation Battalion Headquarters Detachment from Fort Jackson, South Carolina. They are Sfc. Grover C. Teague, Cpl. Joseph N. Grist, Herbert H. Collins, and Joseph N. Garner.

Body Bender Began Young In Torso-Twisting Art

A 14 - year - old contortionist who can bend her body into pretzel-like shapes began her torso-twisting career when she was only five years old.

She is Patricia Pasciolla, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Mike Pasciolla.

Patty first began entertaining servicemen when she was a tiny tot at Portsmouth, Va. Servicemen were continually passing by her house, and little Patty, naturally friendly, began singing nursery rhimes, and inventing dance steps to entertain the men.

When the Pasciolla family moved to Fort Jackson, Sergeant Pasciolla decided her talents should be trained, so Patty enrolled in a dance school at nearby Columbia, S.C. Soon, ballet, tap dancing and acrobatics became her daily pastimes.

Patty showed a distinct preference for acrobatic dancing, and seemed to have a special affinity to it. She has kept up with her dancing, and now appears in many benefit shows for the Red Cross, Veteran's Hospitals, and special service shows.

AF Day Prayer

(Editor's Note: This prayer was written especially for Armed Forces Day observance by Chaplain (Maj. Gen.) Charles I. Carpenter, chairman of the Armed Forces Chaplain Board.)

"We humbly beseech Thy blessing, Heavenly Father, upon the arms of our nation on land, on sea and in the air, as we man the ramparts of the free world in defense of home, country and Thy rightful place in the human soul.

"Grant that our arms may serve the ends of Thy justice upon earth. So guide the leaders of our National and Armed Forces, as to insure that our might will ever be tempted with brotherly love, never besmirched with the taint of tyranny.

"Lest we forget our departed comrades - in - arms, from whose fallen hands we have taken up the sacred cause of freedom's right, we implore Thee, Merciful God, to grant unto them that peace and glory which in Thine alone to give. We consecrate unto Thee upon our altars the debt of our national gradtitude which is theirs due. Keep sacred their sacrifice in our hearts. Keep holy our cause in Thy sight.

"Grant that our cause may ever be such as to merit acceptance by Thee as Thine own. Enkindle within us a flame of selfless, unwavering devotion to duty that we may never be found wanting in those qualities of spirit and mind which alone can preserve hearth and home, the peace of our nation and the world.

"We beg this blessing of Thy Providential Love as we face the great, grim task which lies ahead. Amen."

Montezuma Scouts Tour Fort Benning

Thirty Boy Scouts from Troop No. 86, Montezuma, Georgia, toured Fort Benning last Monday.

Lt. Rex M. Welch, Airborne department, was tour guide for the scouts.

Their itinerary included Airborne orientation, lunch at the Food Service school field open mass, a demonstration of machinegun technique of fire, a Galloway Range, and a demonstration in marksmanship in Browning automatic rifle at Red Cloud range.

After their return from the range, they were taken on a tour of the Main Post area.

The scouts were accompanied by W. F. Blanks, scoutmaster, and several groups of parents.

The tour was arranged by Mr. Blanks with the Fort Benning authorities as a reward to the troop for winning the Peach Belt District Scouting Skill rally.

TOURNEYS SET

Second Student Regiment has scheduled a regimental ping pong tourney May 21—22 and a badminton tournament May 28—29.

Senate-House Committee Compromises on Pay Bill

Washington (AFPS)—A House-Senate conference committee has come up with a compromise version of the long awaited military pay bill. The new bill would grant a four - per cent increase in base pay and a 14 per cent increase in quarters and subsistance allowances.

At the same time, conferees junked a Senate proposal to give $45 a month combat pay to men under fire in Korea. House members, however, indicated that they would soon begin hearings on separate legislation to provide the combat bonus.

The pay bill would become effective on the first day of the month in which it is passed. Thus if the bill were passed this month it would be retroactive to May 1.

The new version of the bill represents a compromise between the two original bills. The House called for a blanket ten - percent increase and the Senate a three-percent increase in base pay with increases in allowances running well over 10 percent.

The conferees also slashed a Senate proposal which would have given an extra $10 a month rental allowance to officers with more than two dependents.

The pay bill is expected to come before the House as soon as possible. Congressional observers feel confident that it will get equal priority in the Senate and cautiously comment that "it might very well get through before Memorial Day."

The bill would effect members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Public Health Service and 484 uniformed members of the Maritime Commission.

3 Ornery VIPs Arrive For Fort Benning Stay

Three of the Army's most ornery VIP's have arrived here and they answered a newsman's questions with gusty hee-haws.

This trio of Very Important Persons is different from most who visit The Infantry Center—they're mules.

Unusual importance is being attached by the Army to the long-eared threesome. They were brought cross - country to Fort Benning in Army Field Forces Board No. 3 from Camp Carson, Colo., for special tests.

The mules' master and chief of the special tests, Lt. Col. Estel A. Thompson of Uhrichsville, Ohio, disclosed that the Army is interested in determining how much of an Infantry regiment's equipment mules can carry on their backs.

New Equipment

Colonel Thompson, chief of the animal equipment section at Camp Carson, said tests have been going on for years, but new equipment—fighting weapons, mostly — necessitates revision of hauling saddles and load factors.

Testing here will be with equipment and weapons ranging from typewriters to mortars, and all of it will be loaded atop specially designed carrying saddles.

Colonel Thompson said each of the animals can carry about 300 payload pounds, in addition to a 100-pound leather-and-iron saddle.

No Precedent

The six-week test here, he emphasized, does not establish a precedent.

"What it boils down to," he said, "is a test to see if present standard pack accessories are capable of packing new Infantry equipment. If they aren't, we're going to develop carriers that will."

The Army virtually abandoned the use of animals for transport long ago. Only two full-sized units—the Fourth Field Artillery Battalion (Pack) and 5th Quartermaster Pack Company, both at Camp Carson—are still functioning.

Unauthorized Dumps Forbidden On Post

A number of unauthorized dumps have been discovered on the reservation according to an announcement which has appeared in the Daily Bulletin.

These dumps are particularly noticeable in the vicinity of the Post Trailer Camp, Eighth Division Road, Harmony Church. The practice of disposing of refuse, which includes edible garbage, will be discontinued immediately, the Daily Bulletin reports.

All refuse will be placed in authorized containers at refuse can stands, from which point it will be picked up by the Post Engineer Section.

508TH PIO NAMED

Capt. Arthur S. Hyman has been named athletic and recreation and public information officer of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, replacing 1st Lt. Robert W. Feeney, who has been transferred to the Psychological Warfare Center, Fort Bragg, N. C.

COMMANDER NAMED

Capt. George J. Renfroe, recently returned from Korean duty, has been named the commanding officer of 106th Company, Second Student Regiment.

Women Counselors Advise Soldiers on School Needs

Servicemen here who want to further their education confer with two young 'school marms' employed by the post's Army Education Center.

Known as education counselors, Miss Constance E. Martin of Columbus, Ga., and Mrs. Frances P. Toland of Opelika, Ala., advise an average of 30 servicemen daily on what correspondence course to take, what extension university to enroll in, or what subjects to study at the Army Education Center's Night School here.

Both young Civil Service workers are former teachers in the public school systems of Columbus and Phenix City, Ala.

"Servicemen here come to us for all kinds of advice on education. Some want to finish high school, and many want to take courses which will help them when they have the opportunity to go to college," Miss Martin said.

The Army Education Center, which helps servicemen enroll in night schools such as the University of Georgia extension in Columbus, also offers courses in Spanish, Russian, mathematics, government anl many other subjects.

Miss Martin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin of 1837 Buena Vista Road, Columbus, is a graduate of Columbus high school, and Shorter College in Rome, Ga., where she received her bachelor's degree and teacher's certificate in 1941. She attended at the Columbus Opportunity School until June, 1942.

With USO

She also worked with the USO program in Columbus in 1943, and for the OPA until September, 1943. She served as a medical stenographer at Oliver Gen. in 1945.

Before coming to Fort Benning in August, 1950, Miss Martin taught at Columbus high school from September, 1948 to June, 1950.

Mrs. Toland, sister of Miss Mabel Prince of Dimon Court Apartments, Columbus, brings five years of experience as a public school teacher to her position as education counselor.

A graduate of Beauregard high school in Opelika, Ala., she also attended the University of Georgia and Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn from 1946 to 1950. Before joining the Army Education Center staff here in July, 1950, she taught in the elementary schools of Phenix City, from 1946 to 1950.

Mrs. Toland and her husband Nelson M. Toland, live at Dimon Court Apartments in Columbus.

101st Company Tops Regiment In Won Awards

The 101st Company is dominating the weekly competitive inspections held in the First Battalion of the Second Student Regiment.

In the first week of competition, the company copped four of the five "outstanding" awards, and three the second week.

The inspections are held each Saturday morning, and cover five phases — barracks, supply, mess, orderly room, and information and education.

The 101st, commanded by Capt. Joseph W. Jenkins, was named tops in the battalion in information and education; mess, barracks and supply the first week, with the 106th Company snaring the plaque for outstanding orderly room awards went to the 102nd and 105th companies, respectively.

FINISHES COURSE

Lt. Donald L. Gurganus has returned to duty as unit information and education officer for Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Second Student Regiment. He has completed the advanced officers Infantry course here.

Doctor Gives Benning New Medical Instrument

An Army doctor has given Fort Benning a homemade ballistocardiograph, an instrument which measures the heart's efficiency and believed to be the only one in use in Georgia.

Capt. Richard Duane of Locust, N. J., built the ballistocardiograph for $3, and Col. Mack Green, Infantry Center surgeon, reports that commercial cost of the instrument is about $200. It will be used by doctors at the Army Hospital here.

Captain Duane, assistant chief of Medical Service here, used a piece of aluminum alloy wire and a Bunsen burner stand to construct his delicate instrument. It is now being used successfully in clinics here, according to Col. Bruno Jastremski, chief of Medical Service.

The ballistocardiograph measures the overall efficiency of the heart by recording the motions of body caused by the heart. The instrument is attached to an electrocardiograph machine to record the body's physical fitness and is used in physical examinations.

Used Successfully

Invented several years ago by Dr. Starr of Philadelphia, the ballistocardiograph has been used successfully by many doctors. Its high cost, however, kept the Army hospital here from acquiring one until Captain Duane built one.

The young doctor entered the Army Medical Corps from private practice in March, 1951, and has held the post of assistant chief of medical service at the Infantry Center since then.

He received his bachelor's degree from Princeton University in 1940, and his doctor of medicine degrees from Columbia University in 1943. He was certified a specialist in internal medicine this year.

Captain Duane is a member of the American Medical Association, the New York State Medical Association and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Soldier Magician Entertains Fellow Troops Just For Fun

Cpl. Bernie Walsh, a sligh twinkling - eyed Californian, p ped up here last week and cla ed he's the Army's most hon crook.

In fact, he once "stole" a b load of guarded jewels just prove he could.

But, Walsh's claim to fam isn't thievery — he's a magici an of countless mysterious ta ents.

The business of stealing proves he actually can — without m rors or prompted assistants — make things disappear.

Walsh protests the role of hon est crook, of course, and would rather be known as one of the nation's youngest, cleverest quick - of - hand artists.

Magical Moments

Bernie Walsh is the 20 - year old soldier who toured more than 25,000 miles of Korean battlefield entertaining UN fighters with his astounding repertoire of craftiness. "Magical Moments," the Special Services show in which he starred, is reputedly one of the finest to entertain combat troops.

At this moment, Walsh is the newest part of Fort Benning's Soldier Show Section.

One of Walsh's earliest jobs as a magician was as a self-appointed thief. He told officials of the Bon Marche department store in Seattle, Wash., he could steal anything off stocked counters without being detected. The store agreed to pay him if he could make the haul.

After counter - clerks had been throughly warned of the impending store - wide robbery, Walsh said he entered the shopping center — and it's one of Seattle's largest — and, in less than one hour, had loaded at least a box full of priceless items, including jewelry.

Walsh walked from the store, undetected, and called for the store manager from a nearby coffee shop, where he returned the merchandise and accepted his fee for the robbery.

His Stride

But, according to Walsh, it was not until he enlisted in the Army that he hit his full magical stride.

In Korea, for instance, he entertained Republic of Korea President Sygman Rhee during a command performance. He can't remember the galaxy of two - and three - starred military commanders he entertained with his tricks.

Walsh escapes from underwater imprisonment, picks locks on safes, and can steal almost anything, even from a man who's been alerted.

But, for all his cleverness, Walsh said he will not take advantage of his professional trickery.

"I can probably beat most any guy at cards, or at dice," Walsh said, "simply because I know the tricks he could never see. I could make a fortune in no time at all.

"But," he said, "I use my tricks to entertain, not cheat."

Shortly after he came into the Army, Walsh was used for more than two months in California teaching military policemen some of the methods of card cheats. He lectured and demonstrated most of the known slight - of-hand tricks used by cunning card cheaters.

Folks are always asking Walsh to "show me a trick." Last week he did. He stole the wrist watch right from under the eyes of his one - man audience.

Being the Army's most honest crook, Walsh naturally returned the watch.

China Veteran of 1931 Now MP in 3440th ASU

Sgt. Herbert L. Holden, a military policeman in Section 1, 3440th Area Service Unit says that World War II and the Korean fighting are not the first times he was involved in shooting in the Far East.

In 1931, Holden was a civilian buyer employed by the British-American Tobacco Company in Mukden, Manchuria. Along with 140 other civilians, he was given 24 hours to get out of Mukden by the Japanese.

The China Nationalist Aviation Corps flew them to Shanghai. Four months later, the Japanese began shelling the Woosung ports in Shanghai where three cigarette factories were located. Employees of the company formed the Shanghai Volunteer Corps and fought alongside Chinese Nationalists and Communists against the Japanese.

In the corps, made up entirely of factory employes, was a Russian regiment, French battalion, American company, British company, Jewish company, Scottish company, Greek company and Italian company.

Chiang Kai Shek and Mao Tse Tung, Nationalist and Communist leaders, combined their forces in the battle. In 1937, Mao Tse Tung's communists took over all the tobacco factories and ordered the employees out of the country.

Sergeant Holden left for the United States on the President Coolidge. He says that although many people don't realize it, the Communists and Nationalists began fighting in 1937. As a constant reminder, he says, all Communist planes today bear a black circle with the day and month the fighting began in yellow.

Sergeant Holden enlisted in the Army in 1941 and was commissioned a second lieutenant after graduation from Officer Candidate School at Fort Washington, M.

He was sent to India, and latter attached to Brig Gen. Frank Merrill's famed Marauders as a liaison officer due to his prior experience in China.

He was discharged after the war, but enlisted again in 1948. He was sent to Camp Drake, Japan, and went to Korea with the Tenth Corps. For the first two months, he was the only interpreter in that corps.

He was frost - bitten and returned to the states in 1951, when he was assigned to Fort Benning.

Officers Assigned To ASU Group Here

Three officers have received assignments to ASU Provisional Group Headquars. They are Majors Dudley Stokes, and Arvine Eyer, and WOJG James L. Dyal.

Major Stokes, a native of Columbus, Ga., has been assigned to the Provisional Group S-3 section. He is a veteran of 31 months overseas and a total of 11 years service. Major Stokes is a graduate of Columbus high school, Gordon Military College, and the University of Georgia.

Major Eyers, Silver Star winner, served in both World War II, and Korea. He has been assigned as assistant S-3. Major Eyers hails from St. Johns, Michigan where he graduated from St. Johns High School in 1941.

Warrant Officer Dyal, has been enlisted man, lieutenant, and Warrant Officer, respectively. Mr. Dyal, reported for duty to Fort Benning upon his return from Europe in February 1950. He is assigned to the Personnel office.

Candidates Form 'Hungry 9' Band

Not all that noise out at Harmony Church is caused by officer candidates "sounding off", according to Candidate Bill Stagner, Sixth OC Company.

Candidate Stegner has formed a musical group he humorously calls "Stagner's Hungry Nine." The group plays for dances and other social events for officer candidate companies and service clubs.

The group grew in 12 weeks from a piano player, clarinet player and sax man without a sax into an organized dance band boasting four saxaphones, trumpet, trombone, bass, drums, piano and clarinet.

Candidate Stagner claims that his group, composed entirely of officer candidates, is one of the most changeable bands he's ever known. "Not the quality of the music," he said, "that's always good. What I mean is that change in personnel is almost continual, what with boards and graduations and things like that."

The rapid change-over in personnel has at times presented quite an obstacle to the band, but with a few magicians left as a nucleous each time, the band builds back to full strength.

Before entering the service Candidate Stagner lead dance bands in central and southwes Texas and Chicago.

In The Dark

Fort Benning MP Guided Tennessee Cave Tourist

A 21-year-old military policeman from Cumberland Gap, Tenn. was literally "in the dark" before joining the Army. He was a tourist guide in one of Tennessee's mammoth caves.

He is Pfc. William A. Williams, who began exploring caves as a small lad, poking about in abandoned mines and natural caves near his home. When he was 15, he landed a job as a guide in one of Cumberland's biggest tourist attractions, "Cudjo's Cave."

The explored portion of the cave has its entrance and exit in Tennessee, but winds around in Kentucky underground. Much of the cave is as yet unexplored.

Although the tourist section is roped off and well-lighted to assure maximum safety, Private Williams said he has had to take several scared parties back before they had given half - way through the cave.

He said that his worst scare came when he had been on the job only a few days. "I was sent back to the entrance to get some light bulbs to replace some that had burned out," he explained. "Coming to a split corridor, I took the wrong turn.

"When I realized I was going the wrong way, I turned around to retrace my steps, and lost my flashlight. I was afraid to search for it for fear I'd fall into a crevice. I knew they'd miss me before too long and come looking for me, so I just sat down and waited."

Four hours later, the other guides came and found him.

41 Rangers End Course Saturday

More tough, combat - ready Rangers graduated here last Saturday and they were sternly advised to prepare themselves for "a very tough, very persistent and patient enemy."

The class of 41 graduates heard Col. Donald A. McPheron add:

"This enemy will be with us a long time, undoubtedly through the lives of our grandchildren.

"But," Colonel McPheron continued, "we can conclude our soldiers are better prepared for a fight than the soldiers of any other nation. Our men are good leaders; and their educational standards are far superior to those of any nation which might oppose us."

Colonel McPheron, who is director of The Infantry School's Automotive Department, told the new Rangers that they will assume important leaders roles in new Army assignments.

The Ranger class has spent eight weeks of learning techniques and tactics of small-team behind - enemy - lines warfare. The rigorous course is divided between a jungle training camp in Florida, a mountain training area near Dahlonega, Ga., and Fort Benning.

The new - type Ranger training began early this year, and is expected to graduate 10 classes during 1952.

IT'S A SIN TO TELL A LIE (Dick Hayman and Orchestra on Mercury) This record is a new treatment of an old song. Maestro Dick Hayman begins the arrangement with a piano solo that is joined by a choral group and violin backgrounds. The choral group sings the lyrics in soft, smoothly blended tones, and the general effect is one that will be pleasing to most listeners. Backing this old tune is another oldy, "If Had To Be You," featuring violins in a sparkling instrumental rendition.

HONEST AND TRULY (Billy May and Orchestra on Capitol) The new Billy May orchestra brings back on this record the big band style that was so popular a decade ago with this fresh musical expression of "Honest and Truly". Every instrument is used to full advantage in this lively instrumental arrangement. The reverse side, "When The Swallows Come Back To Capistrano", features the reed section of the orchestra with a dash of brass for seasoning.

WRONG (Ann Gibson with Jerry Shard and Orchestra on Capitol) Here is a new record featuring that new song stylist, Ann Gibson. Ann's voice has a silken quality that is dripping with sugar and sweetness as she renders "Wrong", a blues ballad. Jerry plays a muted trombone solo with the orchestra providing the other backgrounds. Other side is "I Can't Stop Loving You" in a medium tempo.

• • •

SUGAR BLUES ALBLUM (Clyde McCoy and Orchestra on Capitol) This is an album of Clyde McCoy's blues recordings including such greats as "Sugar Blues", "Blues in the Night", "Basin Street Blues", "Memphis Blues", "Wabash Blues" and "St. Louis Blues". All of these selections are very adaptable to Clyde's intriguing and ever-popular "wow-wow" trumpet style and when these records are combined in one album, they make it a "must" item for all records collectors.

• • •

IF THEY ASK ME (Billy Eckstine with Orchestra conducted by Nelson Riddle on MGM) Billy Eckstine brings out another like hit tune with "If They Ask Me", a sentimental ballad. The discing begins with a piano solo and the melody is highlighted by the string section of the orchestra. Eckstine uses his usual expressional style to the greatest advantage to make mediocre lyrics sound first-rate. The reverse side is "Hold Me Close To You," from the motion picture "Skirts Ahoy".

• • •

LOST WITHOUT YOU (Earl Williams with Orchestra directed by George Williams on Okeh) Earl Williams sounds almost like another Billy Eckstine. Although Earl's delivery is not an imitation or impersonation of Eckstine, it is a copy of Eckstine's style. This number, "Lost Without You", is a ballad and George Williams' orchestra does a fine job of providing subtle backgrounds.

Master Sergeant Climbs From Pfc In Only 6 Months

From private first class to master sergeant in only six months is the promotion record of M-Sgt. Archie H. Hayes. The 23-year-old soldier is attached to Headquarters Company, Third battalion, 30th Infantry regiment.

The sergeant, whose home is in Mebane, N. C., was a Pvt-2 when he received his overseas orders last year.

When he joined the 15th Infantry regiment of the Third division he was promoted to private first class. On July 2, he again sewed on another stripe making him a corporal. Nov. 15 was the date he was promoted to sergeant.

Less than a month later, Dec. 9, the youthful soldier became a sergeant first class, and in another month, on Jan. 1, he was dodged Master Sergeant with stars and bars from company on and taking his shoulders.

Extension Courses Offer Means of Getting Ahead

Both officers and enlisted men are being offered a means of improving their professional standings and preparing for promotions at a cost of only 12 minutes a day.

Members of the Regular Army, Reserves or National Guard are eligible to complete streamlined extension courses offered by the Signal School at Fort Monmouth N. J.

By means of such off-duty-hour study, members of any Army component may, in the case of those on active duty, prepare themselves for promotions. In the case of enlisted men, it could be the means of obtaining a commission.

RETURNED

Lt. Fay O. Kinney has returned to the 116th Company Second Student Regiment from the 117th Company. The lieutenant was Commanding Officer of the 117th. His present assignment is, executive and mess officer.

For Reservists it could mean retention of Active Reserve membership and building up retirement credit points. Guardsmen could use the courses as preparation for higher duty.

The courses closely parallel those offered resident students at the Signal School and are available for any rank up through Lieutenant Colonel. They cover both military and technical subjects and are arranged in series to suit the grade of the student. The courses are mailed and may be cancelled at any time. All courses are free.

To obtain credits you must complete two lessons each six months.

Enrollment blanks are available from unit commanding officers. For reservists, see your unit instructor, or, applications may be made direct to the Signal School, Department D, Civilian Component division, Fort Monmouth, N. J.

A list of courses and any additional information may be obtained by writing the Signal School.

Sesquipedalianism Runs Rampant in Reptile Land

BY SFC. PAT MURPHY

This place is simply crawling with Cnemidophorus sibilinatus, Eumneces egregius and Crotalus horridus atricaudatus.

And all of them have families, too.

If you're any kind of biologist, you'll recognize those sesquipedalian names as zoological monickers for ordinary snakes and lizards.

And, The Infantry Center is loaded with scores of these critters' cousins, according to Capt. Joseph A. Pollack of Millerton, N. Y., who is an amateur (and here are a couple more words to stumble on) herpetologist and ichthyologist.

Thirty-five year old Pollack has spent the best part of his life dabbling in both sciences, collecting and analyzing snakes and lizards.

Right now, he is completing a six-year survey of snakes and lizards for Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y.

Began Study

Capt. Pollack and Dr. William J. Hamilton, Jr., Cornell's professor of zoology, began the herpetology study when Pollack was stationed in New Mexico, and carried it through subsequent assignments in South Dakota and South Carolina.

What the experts have been trying to determine are reptile habits of breeding, growth, population density and nourishment.

Fort Benning is the last area to be studied.

Capt. Pollack said more snakes and lizards cover each acre here than any of the other surveyed areas.

Top Honor Awarded To Slain Soldier

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Cpl. John Essebagger, Jr., of Holland, Mich., today was posthumously awarded the 48th Congressional Medal of Honor of the Korean War for covering the withdrawal of two U. S. Third Infantry squads.

Essebagger's citation said that he killed at least 14 Chinese Communists, with rifle and machine gun fire and with hand grenades, before he fell mortally wounded.

His action took place April 25, 1951, during the big Chinese Communist offensive.

Pfc. Henry Belton Wins 508th's Jumping Contest

Pfc. Henry J. Belton of Company A won the spot-jumping contest staged this week by the First Battalion of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

He landed 25 feet, five inches from the target on Lee Field here.

Making his 16th jump, the 23-year old Mt. Vernon, N. Y., paratrooper steered his 28-foot nylon canopy like a master of the airlanes after he had jumped from the C-46 at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

"It was easier than I thought it would be," smiled Belton, sliding down and slipping out of his harness at the feet of his battalion commander, Lt. Col. Clyde M. Dillender, in the middle of the drop-zone. "I watched the others jump and when I got my opening shock, I just started to slip the opposite way the wind was blowing."

Belton won the Class B novice title. The Class A title for senior and master - parachutists was won by M-Sgt. James A. Gorman, 30-year-old Company B master - parachutists from Philadelphia, Pa. Sergeant Gorman landed 167 feet, nine inches from the big white X in the middle of Lee Field. It was his 93rd jump.

The veteran jumpers leaped when the plane was too far to the right of the target coming in, explained Col. Dillender. "I asked the pilot by radio to fly a little more to the left to give the novice jumpers a chance to win."

Class A Vets

Second in the Class A veterans group was Sgt. Frank A. Begay, first jumper of the contest, who landed 215 feet, three inches from the X. Sergeant Begay, who now has 48 leaps, is from Flagstaff, Ariz.

Runner-up in the Class B novice group and next closest leap of the day was by Sgt. Roy H. Clarke, of Victoria, Texas. He landed 33 feet, seven inches from the target.

Pfc. Richard A. Hurd, Company D, of Buffalo, N. Y., was 93 feet off target.

The 508th Red Devils were making their first jumps since last month's Exercise Longhorn war games in Texas. The First Battalion jumped a total of 804 men on Lee Field preceding the spot-jumping contest. A family picnic for the paratroopers and their families followed.

The Second Battalion of the 508th also jumped this week on an uncharted drop-zone in the north end of the Fort Benning reservation. The 550 men leaped on the unimproved field, led by Lt. Col. Herbert V. Mandeld. Two troopers suffered minor bone fractures and eight others were bruised.

The 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion of the 508th will jump approximately 500 men on Lee Field Monday.

Ranger Graduates Receive Expert Infantry Badges

Nine graduates of The Infantry School's Ranger training course No. 3 have received the Expert Infantry Badge for outstanding performance.

Col. H. G. Learnard, director of the Ranger Department made the presentations following an address by Lt. Col. John Acuff, chief of the department's training group.

Receiving badges were SFC. John A. Burger, Sgt. Gene M. Dunn, Sgt. Frank J. Greco, Cpl. Aaron R. Kephart, Kephart of Madero Pa.

SFC. Billy L. Miller, SFC. Louis Ortiz, SFC. Robert C. Poindexter, Cpl. Ray A. Ramsey, and Cpl. James L. Widick.

Post Sergeant Served With Byrd

A 43-year-old former sailor who went to the Antarctic with Admiral Byrd's expedition is now a veteran of Korean fighting and an Army sergeant.

He is Sgt. Donald E. Woodman. Sergeant Woodman switched to the Army 16 months ago, after having served 21 months as a sailor. He joined the Navy when he was 17 in Albany, N.Y.

He volunteered for Admiral Byrd's expedition, and sailed from Norfolk, Va., aboard the U. S. S. Mount Olympus, Byrd's flagship for the expedition. The expedition was soon dubbed "Operation High-Jump", according to Sergeant Woodman, because the ship rode atop the ice instead of plowing through it.

"The ship had a special type of hull," he explained. "It would pack on top the ice until it broke through. Sometimes it seemed like a miracle that it would break through, because the ice was 12 or 14 feet thick in places."

Sergeant Woodman singled out the Navy "brass" that went on the expedition for special praise. "They were testing the effect of cold weather on a man's submerged body," he said. Sometimes they were in the water for almost 15 minutes. Naturally, they had on special cold weather clothes and equipment, but when we pulled them out, some of them were blue."

The temperature skidded to 80 degrees below freezing on the coldest day Sergeant Woodman can remember in the Antarctic.

The Infantry Center's Blood Bank was boosted 250 pints last week when one unit of the First Student Brigade turned out en masse to donate blood.

Men of Company D of the brigade's Airborne Battalion started donating blood at 7:45 one morning at the Army Hospital here. They continued at the rate of 50 every hour until the entire 250 volunteers had contributed.

Capt. Walter R. Adkins of Moravello, Ala., company commander, said it was the second donation for some of the men, all of whom are students in basic airborne course No. 39. Capt. Adkins and his executive officer, Lt. George Clarke of Pine Prairie, La., both Korean veterans, talked to the students informally and asked them to give their blood.

Every man in the company volunteered.

TWO MILES FROM TOWN ON THE BUENA VISTA ROAD

Marathon Saturday

Dashin' Dick Ellis, the man with the fascinatin' (leg) rhythm, ran his competitors completely in the ground in setting a new Third Army five - mile record last Saturday and will keep right on running this weekend in quest of the biggest distance plum of them all.

Ellis, 27-year old master sergeant from First S.R., left by plane Monday for Yonkers, N.Y., where he will compete in the National Marathon, a work out of 26 miles, 385 yards.

Another Benning marathon veteran, Lionel Pinn, of Combat Training Command, accompanied him. Both are on Department of Army orders in bids to qualify for the U. S. Olympic track team tryouts.

High Last Year

Ellis, a member of last year's U.S. Army international military pentathlon team which finished fifth in France, lapped his field handily as he took the 3-A five-mile in 28:7.0, a new record, of course.

Dick, selected for the Third Army team which will compete in the All-Army meet May 27-31 in California, will join his team mates later. He is not likely to meet any very serious five - mile competition on the west coast, but the marathon is another story.

Ellis placed 24th in a field of 56 in the 1951 National Marathon. That's not as bad for this type of race as it might sound, but he will need a better showing to rate Olympic consideration as a marathon performer.

Actually, Dick has had a spectacular thinclad career. With no school competition in his native Attleboro, Mass., he didn't start his running until he came into the Army five years ago. Since then he has won a slew of service crowns and was a member of the 1948 All-EUCOM team.

Pinn, at 29, has had a much more broad distance running career. He has run in the Boston Marathon, second only to the nationals, on two occasions, finishing 13th in his last try.

A full - blooded Micmac Indian who won his first five-miler at 17, the much decorated Korean veteran holds a 12-mile decision over Yon Buk Soo, the Korean who set the present Boston Marathon mark in 1947.

He was third in the 46-mile Washington State Centennial four years ago. Pinn didn't show in the Third Army meet because he's strictly a long distance boy, without the early footing for "short" hauls.

ELLIS PINN

Track Crown To Benning

A keyed up 12-man Fort Benning squad placed in 14 of 17 events to score 57 points and capture the 1952 Third Army Track and Field Championships from six others posts last weekend at Doughboy Stadium and Gowdy Field.

Six of winning Coach Lawrence A. Williams' charges set new 3-A records as a total of 14 old marks went by the boards in the highly successful finals before some 600 spectators.

Benning's overall depth was the deciding factor and came as surprise to everyone except perhaps Williams, who just three weeks previous had mentored Combat Training Command to the post cinder crown.

Jackson Second

Favored Fort Jackson, S. C., finished second with 45 1-2 points. Coach Cecil Dickerson's crew outscored Benning in first place finishes, eight to six, and Jackson Olympic potentials Jim Cooke and Harry Bright copped individual scoring laurels.

(See Story Page One)

Other teams in order of finish were Camp Gordon, Ga., 22, Fort Bragg, N. C., 13 1-2, 11th Airborne Division from Fort Campbell, Ky., 13, and Fort McClellan, Ala., 2.

One of the nation's top decathlon men, Cooke, six-foot, five-inch, 225 pounder, won the discus, shot put and high jump with record marks and placed third in the hammer throw for a total of 19 points.

Bright Wins Three

Bright racked up 15 points in winning the quarter and half mile runs and the hop, step and jump, setting records in the former and latter.

But most of the remaining glory was Benning's.

Setting new records for the post were Wilfred Bivens, Truman Medders, Bill Phillips, Dick Ellis and Larry Goins.

Medders Shines

Infantry School Detachment's Truman Medders, as game a competitor as ever sported the Doughboy blue and white, put up the most stirring battles in the hurdles races.

Still nursing a badly pulled leg muscle, Medders fought off Fort Campbell's superb Richard Carson in a duel to the taps to take the 120-yard high barriers in the record time of 15.2 seconds.

Medders spent his non-running time getting rub downs and massages for his stiff leg, but came back in the 220-yard low hurdles to second, behind Carson by a margin of about eight inches.

The two leaped the last frame neck and neck, but Truman missed stride slightly in landing and was outsprinted to the wire.

Came From Behind

Bivens' late speed paid off as he chipped more than three seconds off the 3-A record in winning the 220-yard dash. The First S.R. entry overhauled Bragg's Claude Sutton, ex-U. of Georgia star, in the stretch and then staved off a determined bid by Gordon's Frank Dusmet. The latter had just set a new mark of 9.8 seconds in the sprint. Bivens' 220 time was 22.7 seconds.

Bell picked up over two feet from recent efforts in the broad jump, but wasn't quite good enough for former U. of Michigan ace Ronald Soble who won it with a leap of 23 feet, 4 1-2 inches.

Bell set the pace in the hop, step and jump with a first time try of 44 feet, 4 3-4 inches, but saw the amazing Bright better it on his last attempt with a 45-foot, 11 3-4—inch go.

Benning didn't figure in the mile, one of the better tests of the day on a sterling 17-event record, Jackson's Jim Henry showed guts in losing the lead on the last lap only to come back with a great stretch kick which gave him the title and a new record of 4:23.8 minutes.

Grandpa Coach

WQJG Jerry Perlman will be hitting off his second major ring coaching assignment in four years when he takes ten Third Army champions to the 1952 All-Army boxing tournament May 27 at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Perlman, of First Student Regiment, skippered an 11th Airborne team to the All-Japan title in 1947-48.

He also coached the 505th Airborne regimental team at Fort Benning in 1942. In the Army since 1939, he has played service football and baseball. He boxed pro in New York from 1932 through 1935 under the name of Jerry Stone, a moniker his father had used in the ring in the old days.

Although still a "youngster" himself, Perlman is grandfather and his son-in-law is a lieutenant in the Army stationed at Camp Rucker, Ala.

How Men Fought

JAMES BOYD, 112, light heavy, Layfod Hill Arch, 1705, Camp Rucker, 2, 1:32 of first, lost to Charlie Symonette, 172, in 1st Service.

DICK LORMANN, 1951/2, heavyweight, lost to Harold Johnson, 1951/2, 11th Airborne.

GORDON IFILL, 161¼, middleweight, lost to Wanda Cox, 11th Airborne.

Lee, Allen James Make 3A Team, Perlman Coach

Three Fort Benning boxers were selected this week to fight in the All-Army tournament and WOJG Jerome Perlman, mentor of the Benning mittman, was picked to coach the Third Army team in the A-A slugfest May 27-31 at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Light middleweight Ray Lee, lightweight Leonard James, both of First Student Regiment, and George Allen, of ASU Provisional Group, won 1952 Third Army championships in their respective weights in the finals Saturday night at Camp Gordon, Ga.

It was the second straight such title for Allen.

Ernest Hall, of First S. R., and Nori Kawanaki, of 508th Airborne, lost the welterweight and bantam crowns respectively in title championship finals.

Bragg Team Champ

Defending team champion Fort Bragg, N. C., copped the team title with 54 points and 4 champions. Fort Benning was second with 38 points.

Benning ring fans had little chance to welcome their heroes, Perlman, Lee, Allen and James left Tuesday night for Gordon where they pick up the rest of the 3-A team for a final week of training before leaving for Fort Monmouth next weekend.

Lee, 154-pound AAU veteran, took a rugged decision from Harold Coles, 154, of the 11th Airborne, in the title bout Saturday. Coles, who was stationed here last fall, is a former Pan American Olympic champion.

Lee boxed Coles masterfully for two rounds and then finished the third with a slugging attack.

James, the 131 3-4—pound Philadelphia cutie, spent three rounds giving Robert Frook, Fort Bragg, a boxing lesson. Frook was national Golden Gloves champ in 1947 and won the Greenville, S. C., AAU crown recently.

Allen didn't have too much trouble in his title setto with Orad Reinhold, 113 pounder, Fort Bragg, but he had to go all out to beat Jim Gordon, 114, of Fort Benning, in the finals.

Perlman was quite satisfied about the verdict. Kawanaki was beaten by Frank Meredith, 118, Fort Bragg.

All champions moved to the Camp Gordon team which will represent the Third Army at Fort Monmouth.

Wade, Childers Pace 114th Softball Win

Wade and Childers were the mound aces as 114th Company defeated Hq. and Hq. Company, 13-2, last night in the opening of the Post Regiment Regiment softball league.

Wade gave up only two hits in the five innings he worked before being relieved by Childers. Wade struck out seven batters.

Games are scheduled Tuesday and Thursday nights of each week in the Regimental league for the 114th Company hill for the distance in the league.

Loop Leading ISD Battles CTC Sunday

Infantry School Detachment's unbeaten baseball legion can find out this week end if they're just feeling spry in the spring or are about to become serious for the summer.

Manager Woody Burt's peppy Professors have a hassle with Provisional Medical Group at 8 p.m. Friday night, which should be a routine win, and tie into big Combat Training Command in a super Sunday special at 2 p.m. at Gowdy Field.

The Profs crashed the headlines last Sunday afternoon when they spoiled First Student Regiment's perfect record with a 5-3 victory in a swell - played game.

Top Pitcher

Little Joe Feinstein, the sunny southpaw who keeps the Prof bench in good humor, tossed a seven-hitter in that one to become the Benning League's No. 1 chunker with a 2-0 mark.

It's a cinch he'll get the starting nod Sunday against CTC which has five portside hitters who fell down and went home in a large way when faced with the lefty slants of First S.R.'s Dick Myers two weeks ago.

In fact, if the Commanders don't find a solution to their southpaw complex soon their pre-season pennant rating is going to become strictly for the history books.

Crash to Hurl

Bob Cronin, who threw an eight - hit win against Second S.R. in his inaugural, probably will toe the rubber against the Medics Friday. PMG with a greatly altered crew could be tough. They have capable hurlers in Floyd Kendall and Shirley Mikus, but their attack is negligible.

Another team to watch is ASU Provisional Group against First S.R. next Wednesday. The Raiders have a well balanced club which could be tough if it starts clicking on all cylinders.

REDS three straight wins are no accident. The Profs are hitting better as a club than any of the other six, with only one regular sticking below the .300 clip.

Smith Big Hitter

Tom Smith, 31-year old center fielder from Jackson, Tenn., with more than a dozen years' of service experience under his belt, is No. 1 on the ISD hit parade with six safeties in 11 trips for a fancy .545 average.

Second baseman Ray Blankenship is hitting .429, and along with a shortstop Bill Gill, .333, gives ISD one of the best defensive keystones in the loop, plus the only one which has hit homers thus far.

Other slugging marks are Gene Adkins, .364; Emil Rukavina, Mail Southall and Dick Willingham, .333, and Bob Dougherty, .111.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

By Cpl. Charles Johnson

FORT BENNING this week has its first Third Army team championship since the Doughboy diamond dandies of 1950 grabbed all the baseball marbles, and the man who ended the two-year title drought was Lt. Lawrence Williams who has more cinder savvy than an attendant in a ship's boiler room. In fact, some of his rivals Saturday probably thought they were on a ship, so much at sea were they in trying to snitch a few points from the Benning track coach's charges.

With the exception perhaps of Dick Ellis and Larry Goins, Williams had no established and proven performers like many of those bearing the standards of the other six teams. But he did have the knack to show his crew how to improve on average performances and condition them mentally to give the best efforts of their collective careers last weekend.

With all credit to the frost runners, the difference between first and second place for the Benning thinclads was the showing of the reserves in picking up vital place points. S. L. Webster, of Infantry School Detachment, is a perfect example of Williams' tutoring and a strong personal desire to make good in the big test.

The 21-year old former Birmingham, Ala., prepster has been an even six-footer for most of his high jumping career, but when the chips were down Saturday he forced himself over the bamboo bar at six feet, four inches to give Benning a tie for second place in that event and two points which looked very imposing at that stage of the meet. The 3-A track title was a ripe reward for Williams who has spent a large part of the two weeks' training period harping on team balance and performance.

The former player and mentor at Bishop College in Marshall, Tex., who has devoted most of his adult life to coaching, professed extreme worry about Benning's chances a few days before the meet, but perhaps the tip off that all was under control came shortly after when he excused Dick Ellis from running the mile.

Williams had started grooming Rapid Richard, a distance performer, for the shorter mile a week ago in hopes that Dick would pick up a couple of place points, but knowingly abandoned this idea as the other squads began to arrive. This was Williams' second army area track title. He was assistant coach of the Fort Lee, Va., team which took the 2-A crown in 1943. A perfectionist in whatever he does, the Combat Training Command officer holds the Bronze Star from the Pacific Campaign in World War II and a masters degree in physical education from Columbia University.

IT WAS NATURAL that the conversation turned to football when Lt. Cecil Dickerson arrived here with his Fort Jackson cinder crew. Dickerson helped coach Jackson's Golden Arrow Dixies, one of the most publicised elevens in service football last fall. They went unbeaten in regular season play and were voted All-Army grid champions by the Army Times, but Dickerson, who figures to be the head grid mentor this year, is not resting on his laurels.

Jackson will open its 1952 season against the pro Philadelphia Eagles in Hershey, Pa., Sept. 20. After that, they tangle with the likes of Quantico, Cherry Point and Parris Island Marines, Jacksonville Navy, Fort Campbell, Bolling Air Force Base, Fort Breckenridge and Camp Atterbury, all strong service elevens last year.

"The team did wonders for post morale," says Dickerson, who played halfback for the University of Mississippi in 1947. "We still had a lot of guys playing football by running an intramural league at regimental level, too, but you couldn't beat the post team for enthusiasm."

Dickerson will add to a long list of personal laurels if he his success as coach of the Third Army team in the All-Army cinder meet in California. After his college days, the 26-year old Indianola, Miss., husky played a season with the Los Angeles Rams. He returned to Mississippi in 1948 as coach at Batesville High school and was voted the state's prep football mentor of the year. His teams were undefeated in 1949 and 1950.

He plans a brief comback with the Rams after his scheduled discharge early next year.

THE DOUGHBOY STADIUM crowd thought it was just fine when a "Bill Phillips, of Fort Benning" won the hammer throw with a 121-foot plus heave which was some 30 feet better than his nearest rival, but you can excuse the fans for scratching their noggins and asking, "Who is he?"

Phillips' name wasn't on the program and not without reason. A busy candidate with 16th D. C. Company, he only learned of the meet last Saturday when he picked up a Columbus paper at breakfast. But that was enough for Bill. A former Brown University weight man, he hied off to the Stadium after duty and volunteered his services to a willing, but surprised Coach Williams.

"I'd heard about the post meet a couple of weeks ago, but I didn't know they would include the hammer throw," smiled the 225-pound Providence, R. I., youth after his toss Saturday. "It was the same story for the Third Army meet and then I saw the newspapers. I figured I used to do pretty well at Brown, so why not give it a try here."

Chalk up five points more for Benning!

Pistol Star Due

Maj. William A. Hancock, regarded as one of the Army's top Olympic pistol shooting hopes, left Tokyo Saturday enroute for Fort Benning where he will undergo training and fire qualifying scores.

Duncan, Tatum Win Semis, Clash In Finals Sunday

Matt Tatum, veteran post linksman, and 16-year old Columbus High school student Bill Duncan won their semifinal matches this week and will meet Sunday in the 36-hole championship finals of the 1952 Fort Benning Country Club golf tournament.

Duncan, son of Col. William Duncan, was carried to 19 holes to beat Bill Caldwell, 1 up, in his semifinal test. Tatum downed Barney Wiselogle, 3 and 1.

Caldwell had a rugged day with his putter missing three of less than 30 inches. He had a chance to birdie the 18th and win the match, but his shot dipped into the cup, then popped back out and hung on the lip.

Duncan closed it out with a par four on the 19th as Caldwell three-putted from the edge of the green.

Rally Falls

Tatum had a two stroke lead turning into the back nine and won the tenth to go three up, but Wiselogle won the next three holes to tie it up in a game comeback try which failed when Tatum took the 16th and 17th.

Tatum and Duncan will tee off at 9 a.m. at the Country Club Sunday in the first 18 holes of the finals and will start the second 18 at 1:30 p.m. Trophy presentations to the winner, runnerup, medalist and flight winners are slated following this match.

Art Rafferty, who took his semifinal match by forfeit, will clash with the winner of the Bill Harbour - Jim Adamson match this weekend in the 18-hold championship consolation flight finals.

John Henion and L. C. Kyle, Jr., of Columbus, meet this week for the first flight title. Henion drubbed F. L. Rigdon, 4 and 3, and Kyle downed E. R. Fenstermacher, 1 up, in the semifinals.

B. Richmond became second flight champion when he defeated Herman Rabinowitz, 1 up, while Mike Kayes won the fourth flight crown by tripping D. L. Keeler.

The third flight finals are yet to be played between Jim Daniels and R. L. Ozier. Bruer beat Bob Goff, 3 and 1, in the fifth flight finals while B. Jastremski routed S. M. Cromwell, 6 and 4, for the sixth flight championship.

Harper Has 64 To Tie Benning Golfing Record

Pro Charlie Harper fired a 31-33—64 Sunday at Fort Benning Country Club to tie the all-time course record.

Harper, playing in a foursome with Ed Mann, George Adjemian and Paul Buman, had 10 birdies, two bogies and six pars. His 31 on the front nine was five under par.

Charlie missed his big chance for a new mark when his drive on the 17th went into the trees. The round was played in a stiff breeze, but Harper, a veteran Florida pro, claims a good wind helps him along.

Post Bowlers Roll In City Tourney

A number of Fort Benning bowlers will take part tonight and Friday night in the City Ten Pin tourney at the downtown City Bowling Center. Doubles action is slated tonight with singles at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Among Benning keglers entered in the scratch competition are Stan Sokolowsky, Bill Dempster, Harold Burns, Trivisonno and Macaluso.

1,000 Troops See Card Tilt

A thousand Fort Benning soldiers selected from all units on post will be guests of the Columbus Cardinals at their game with the Columbia Reds, currently leading the class A Sally League, at 6 p.m. Saturday at Golden Park.

The 122nd Army Band will provide music for the occasion.

Manager Sheldon Benders' Cardinals close out a four-game series with Charleston, S.C., in a single game at 8 o'clock tonight at the downtown park.

They face the first place Reds Friday and Saturday nights and in a doubleheader Sunday afternoon. They close out their home stand in single games with Montgomery at 8 p.m. Monday.

Golf Teams Meet

A 24-man Staff Department golf team challenged a squad from Tactical Department to a golf match this week at Benning Country Club. Playing as No. 1 team for Staff are Jim Lynch and Bill Caldwell, Art Rafferty and Fred Wyant are the top combination for Tactical.

Profs, Rockets, CTC Win As BB Action Increases

FIRST OUTSIDE-THE-PARK HOMER BY JOE SMITH
First S. R. Outfielder Started CTC Rout With 340-Foot Blow

Mel Southall, 22-year old former high school star in Blair, Okla., delivered a two-run single with two down in the eighth to give Infantry School Detachment a 4-3 win over First Student Regiment in the week's best action in the Fort Benning Baseball League.

Second Student Regiment got its first game of the season by beating Lawson Field, 8-3, and Combat Training Command pumped Provisional Medical Group, 11-4, in other games in the past week.

Singles by Joe Smith and Carl Sheppard had scored a run for First S. R. in the sixth to break a 2-2 tie. Starter Lloyd Brill opened the eighth by giving ISD's Bill Gill a single.

BRILL OUT

Lloyd got the next two, but was removed when he passed Emil Rukavina. His successor Dick Myers couldn't find the plate for pinch-hitter Jim Howard who walked to load the sacks. Myers then passed Gene Ashley to force in the tieing run, bringing to bat the lanky Southall who delivered the key blow.

Successive singles by Joe Smith and Bill Brooks set up First S. R.'s initial run in the second. They scored without a hit in the third on two walks and a fielder's choice.

ISD evened it in the fifth on errors by Smith and Bob Kinard, a single by Gill and a long fly by winning tosser Joe Feinstein.

Lawson-Second SR

Lefty Joe Foizey was right and chunked a six-hitter at the Flyers while his mates beat a steady tattoo against Charlie Urbanowich in his mound debut. There were nine errors in the game.

Right fielder Mike Michalski had 3-for-4 for the Rockets who are nasty when their pitching holds up.

C.T.C.-P.M.G.

Stan Edwards, 22-year old righthander from Schnectady, N. Y., threw a five-hitter at the Medics who aren't settled with a regular lineup yet. Edwards has hurled pro ball with Schnectady, Bradford (Pony), Pa., and Vandergrift (MSA-Atlantic), Pa.

First baseman George Gust led the attack with three singles Floyd Kendall proved a better hitter than furier for the Medics with a double and single in two trips.

ONE OUT, ONE ON . . . First S. R.'s Ralph Terry looks safe crossing the bag, but actually CTC first baseman Reggie Carroll had already hit the sack for the out. Reggie is looking to third where he had no play as Bill Brooks sped safely into the far corner. Terry had hit sharp grounder to shortstop Bobby Clark. Jose Gomez is playing third for CTC. (U. S. Army Photo.)

Bright Future Set For A-A Winners

Here's what is in store for any Fort Benning boxers or trackmen who make good in upcoming All-Army tournaments.

Winners in the A-A ring tourney at Fort Monmouth, N. J., will go to the National Invitation boxing tournament at Kansas City, Mo., June 16-18. The victors there will be members of the 1952 U.S. Olympic team.

All-Army track winners in the Berkeley, Calif., tourney May 27-31 will compete in the Inter-Service track and field championships June 6-7 in California.

From there, winners go to the National Invitation meet June 27-28 at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The latter competition will result in the naming of the 32 U. S. Olympic cinder crew.

Mujica Tops Craven In Augusta Fight

Larry Mujica, 138 - pounder from Airborne Battalion of First Student Regiment, finished strong with a solid body attack to decision Johnny Cravens, Florida welter, in a 10 - rounder at Augusta, Ga., last Wednesday night.

Craven started strong against Mujica, but Larrupin' Larry came back with both hands in later rounds. He dumped Craven in the ninth. One judge and the referee favored Mujica, but the second judge called it a draw.

Bradford May Go To Olympic Trial

Jim Bradford, who was willing to give up a chance to participate in this summer's Olympic Games if it meant breaking up his officer candidate training, may go to Helsinki anyway and still wind up with his gold bars.

Ranked the world's second best heavyweight weight lifter, the six-foot, 235-pound Washington, D. C., music student, probably will be flown to the U. S. Olympic lifting tryouts in New York City June 26-29.

This was revealed this week by Maj. Gene Myers, post sports officer, who said such arrangements are being made by the Department of Army.

The tryout dates fall on a Saturday and Sunday which means Bradford could prove his stuff one way or the other without interrupting his training with the 3rd O. C. Company.

If Bradford makes the squad—and off past performance it seems a certainty that he would—he then would be flown with the other six team members to Finland for the weightlifting championships July 25-27 in Helsinki's Messuhaill II.

The 23-year old Bradford was selected as an alternate for the 1948 U. S. Olympic team, but was dropped with several others at the last minute because of a lack of funds to send a full squad.

He placed second to American Johnny Davis, who has been having some hard luck lately, in the international championships last year in Milan, Italy. He hoisted a total of 941 pounds, just 10 pounds shy of Davis' mark.

Maj. Myers is now making arrangements to get proper training equipment for Bradford.

"I've only had 200 pounds to work with in the little company gym we have here," said Brad fond in his usual shy voice. "I'm surprised, myself, however, at how good a condition I'm in. With the right equipment to work with I think I could be ready for the trials in June."

A graduate of DC's Armstrong Tech High and Washington Junior College of Music, the bashful baritone has consistently come up with over 300 pounds in the two-hand press, two-hand snatch and the two-hand clean and jerk—the Olympic events.

Those weights would seem almost a certainty to guarantee him a spot on the U. S. team.

Bradford won the North American heavyweight title in 1948 and set a press record of 292 pounds. He won the national junior heavyweight champion in 1950 with a total of 950 pounds and that same year placed third in the senior nationals at Philadelphia.

Jenkins - Rafferty Win Golf Match At Country Club

Tommie Jenkins and Art Rafferty were carried to 20 holes in defeating Irene Curtis and Hy Rabinowitz in a mixed Scotch foursome tourney at Fort Benning Country Club Sunday.

They were tied with 69's for the regular 18 and halved the 19th before gaining the decision.

Jeanne Nelson and Gene Smith had low gross of 83 with a 30-stroke handicap, while Toni Kemp and Jack Jordan posted a 61 with a 21 handicap.

In ladies match play against par, Tommie Jenkins won the 18-hold competition with Eva Ulrich topping the nine-holers. Mary Frye and Olga McAlister were second in the two divisions respectively.

Mrs. Kampe Wins Women's Singles In Mess Tourney

Peggy Kampe defeated Sue Leonard, 6-1, 6-0, last Sunday to win the 1952 Officers Mess Spring tennis tournament women's single championship.

Mrs. Kampe had defeated Betty King, 6-3, 6-4, in the semi-finals, while Mrs. Leonard won her semifinal match by downing Ruth Ann Stanley, 6-0, 6-1.

Three other championships also were decided in the final day's action. Lt. Lonnie Jordan won the men's singles title two weeks ago.

Jordan teamed with Maj. Don Yoder to defeat Capt. Jim Burnett and Capt. Warren Drake, 8-6, 6-4, in a good match for the men's doubles title. They had previously trimmed Lt. Col. Jack Butler and Capt. Tom Toon, 6-2, 6-4.

Other Titles

Burnett-Drake won their semi-final by nipping Capt. DeWitt Smith-Maj. Leroy Stanley, 8-6, 2-6, 9-7.

In the men's consolation singles, Maj. Fred Knudsen defeated Maj. Bob McBride, 6-2, 6-1, for the title. Knudsen had beaten Sam King, 6-3, 6-1, and McBride downed Lt. Col. Tim Inglis, 6-4, 7-5, in semifinals.

Maj. and Mrs. Leroy Stanley outstroked Capt. and Mrs. Sam King, 6-3, 6-4, for the husband-and-wife doubles championship. The winning pair downed Capt. and Mrs. Duquemin, 6-1, 6-1, in semis.

Mujica Seeks Revenge From Luciano Here

Sonny Luciano, veteran New Jersey welter who holds one of only two decisions here over Fort Benning's Larry Mujica, will meet the First Student Regiment battler in a 10-round rematch Tuesday night at the downtown Columbus Arena.

Luciano took a close, but clean verdict from Larrupin' Larry several months ago.

Since then Luciano has been having some tough breaks campaigning in Florida, but he still packs a lot of experience and savvy for Mujica.

Mujica will be seeking his 14th victory since taking to the pro trail from Fort Benning. He has registered seven kayoes and his only other local loss was to the veteran Chuck Taylor.

Both boys usually give a bell-to-bell accounting. Larrx works with other fighters on post constantly. Luciano plays in Georgia by going to Atlanta for action nearly every week.

Eugene Smith will coach the 148th Transportation Truck Co. team with Joe Toronto as manager.

Second Regiment Company Loaded With Sports Stars

BY E. M. RICH

Star athletes abound in Fort Benning's many units, but Associate Company Officers class 24 of the 102nd Co., Second Student Regiment, seems to have come up with more than its share of talented athletic performers.

There's lanky 2nd Lt. Charles Clustka who lettered in three major sports at U.C.L.A. Clustka was tops in basketball, however, being named to the All-Coast team in 1946. He also was awarded letters in baseball and track. Clustka played on 2nd AR teams in all three sports here.

A former college grid star is 2nd Lt. Fred R. Beaver. He won four letters for his football work with North Carolina State's Wolfpack. He was named to the all-state team in his prep days at Asheville, N. C. high.

Second Lt. Charles Shoemaker was on the varsity baseball team at the University of Georgia and also played one season of Class D pro ball with Leesburg of the Florida State League.

SERVICE STAR

First Lt. Wiastok Bowling won monograms in basketball and football at the University of Mississippi.

An ex-service cage ace is 2nd Lt. Donald Kinkle, Kinkle played on the talented Ft. Jackson team for three years. The Jackson machine snared the Third Army crown two years in a row. He also played in the All-Army tournament in which his team finished third. Kinkle was with the Jackson team that won the southeastern AAU tourney in Atlanta in 949.

Second Lt. Bruce McGhee was awarded a football letter from the University of Maine.

ALL-STATE

A former all-state basketball center from South Dakota is 2nd Lt. Frank Henderson.

First Lt. Michael Zivath was athletic officer with the Third Armored Division in Ft. Knox, Ky. He coached a regimental boxing team to the division crown. He played football, baseball, and softball with a regimental team.

Second Lt. James Powers played baseball on the First Armored team, winners of the Fourth Army title. Powers was also first string offensive end for the First Armored team which was unbeaten in eight games.

Ellis Keeps Muscles Hard In Airborne Battalion Unit

BILL ELLIS

Cpl. Robert Ellis, of Headquarters and Service Company, Airborne Battalion, First Student Regiment, doesn't let any grass grow under his feet when it comes to athletics.

After assignment to the battalion as a cadreman, Ellis observed the emphasis on physical fitness and came up with the idea of a company gymnasium.

With the cooperation of Capt. Harry Gollman, company commander, the company now has a complete set of weight - lifting equipment, inclines, benches, heavy and light punching bags, a set of springs and several pulley exercisers.

Ellis comes by his physical fitness inclinations naturally. A native Texan, he participated in football, basketball, track, boxing and swimming at San Angelo, Texas, High school, competing against such football stars as Doak Walker and Bobby Layne now with the Detroit Lions. At MacMurray College he won a varsity football letter in his freshman year.

Six feet, three inches tall and weighing 235 pounds, Ellis, at 22, is well proportioned physically. Steve Reeves, former "Mr. America" and "Mr. Universe" was his tutor in body-building for seven years at Bert Goodrich's gym in California.

Ellis has lifted competitively against such well known stars as Malcolm Brenner, Reggie Parks and George Eiferman.

2-A Track Test Featured By Dreutzler Win

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. — With Fort Lee's famous miler Lt. Warren Dreutzler gaining most of the attention, 18 men won berths on the 2d Army track and field team here last week-end.

Dreutzler won two events the 1500 meters and 800 meters — and placed second in another — the 400 meters.

All 25 thus qualify for the All-Army track and field competition at the University of California May 30-31. All-Army winners go on to the Inter-Service meet at San Diego, June 7-8, and then to the National Invitational (Olympic finals) in Los Angeles, June 27-28.

The 2d Army champs will remain here to work out until time to depart for the West Coast.

Giant-Owned Hurler Here, But No Pitch

Ted Heltschmidt is a pretty good looking young pitcher, but Fort Benning fans won't get a chance to see the six-foot, two inch, 190-pound righthander in action.

Ted, under contract to the New York Giants, is currently working for his 90 hours with the 32d Officer Candidate Company, and the future second looies have no time off for diamond capers.

Heltschmidt figures he'll get another mound chance after his service, however.

He played one season with the University of Michigan, where he was majoring in engineering and business administration. He began his pro career in 1949 with Trenton, N. J., in the class B Inter-State League, where he won 10 games.

His biggest baseball thrill occurred at Waterloo — a homer, hit to win a game, off game pitcher Jim Konstanty.

Ted was with Sioux City, Ia., in the class A Western League in 1950. He trained with the Giants at Phoenix, Ariz., in 1949 against Yankee foe a homer by Cleveland's Larry Doby is his most memorable spring sight.

Dix Officer Acted As Track Starter

Maj. A. J. Conte, Special Services officer at Fort Dix, N. J., on training duty here, served as starter for last week's Third Army Track and Field Meet at Doughboy Stadium.

Other officials included Maj. Gene Myers, referee, Sfc. B 111 DeLong, clerk of course, Lt. Richard Crowson, head finish judge, Maj. Dudley Stokes, head timer, Maj. Jack Faubion, head field judge, Sgt. Phil Derbyshire, scorer, and Sfc. Elice Ferguson, marshal.

NO HUGGING

The second rule of the Marquis of Queensbury boxing rules, drafted in 1865, stated "No wrestling or hugging allowed."

Brigade Hq, OC Tied for Lead In Golf Tourney

Maj. John Henkin's Brigade Headquarters team and the First O.C. Regiment squad, captained by Lt. Charles Baldwin, remained tied for first place with 2-0 records as the third week of the First Student Brigade spring handicap golf tourney got under way.

Trailing are First and Second Student Regiments with two losses each.

In last week's play, Brigade Headquarters copped low team net honors with a 71.

First O.C. was runnerup with a 72.6.

Lt. Herman Edwards, of First S.R., was awarded two game balls as a prize for his of low net of the week. Lt. Col. Samuel Cromwell, of Brigade Headquarters, and Lt. James Billings, of First O.C., were tied for runner-up honors with a 68.

Other low net scores in last week's play were Lt. Henry Traywick, 69, Maj. Henion, Lt. Robert Osier, Pvt. Paul Buman and Maj. Elmer Baker, 70, and Col. Gines Perez, 72.

Team match winners last week were Brigade Headquarters over First Student Regiment, and First O.C. over Second Student Regiment.

Recreation Chief Lauds Track Meet

"This is one of the best organized and one of the keenest contested services meets I've ever seen," praised Lt. Col. Russell C. Cabot, chief of the recreation division, Third Army Special Services, Saturday at the 3-A cinder championships at Doughboy Stadium.

"I saw a lot of track in the Sixth Army area and in the Far East, but the squads here today top them all for balance and depth," continued Cabot. "I know we'll do well on the west coast in the Army meet."

The 3-A recreation chief spent Friday and Saturday afternoons on the infield at Doughboy Stadium.

SERVICE SPORTS

Augusta, Ga. (AFPS) — A-2C Alfred Mengert, USAF, stationed at Great Falls AFB, Mont., established himself as one of the top amateur golfers in the Armed Forces when he placed fifth among the play - no - pay swingers in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga. A former Walker Cup alternate, the 22-year-old was the only Service golfer invited to the competition. He shot rounds of 74, 77, 78 and 76 for a 305-stroke total. His score ranked him 25th in a field of 62 amateurs and professionals. Sam Snead won the tournament with a low score of 286.

Indiantown Gap, Pa. (AFPS) — Col. Fay R. Dyer, 52-year-old, from Boston, Mass., is a strong prospect for the U. S. fencing team in this year's Olympics at Helsinki, Finland. With the saber, which he considers his "best weapon," Cpl. Dyer just missed an Olympic berth, but he came back strong in the New York City tryouts in the spee competition to secure a place on the team. He survived eight matches, in most of which he was considered the underdog, to gain an invitation to the June National Olympic trials.

Austin Tex. (AFPS)—Ronald Haynes, USN Olympics representative and former San Jose State star, pushed to the favorite's spot in the coming Olympic trials following his victory in the 5,000 - meter run in the Texas Relays here. Haynes bucked a stiff north wind to win in 15:24 minutes, the season's second best time. Bob Kelley of Chicago's Loyola bested that time by three-tenths of a second.

Ft. Monmouth, N.J. (AFPS)—Eleven major commands will send representatives to the All-Army Boxing Tournament here May 27-31. Winners in 10 divisions will represent the Army at the Kansas City, Mo., tournament to decide who goes to the Olympic Games with the U.S team. That tournament is scheduled for June 16-18.

Ames, Iowa — LT John Fletcher, UNS, won one of eight team berths on the U.S. Olympic wrestling squad in competition here. Two other servicemen were named alternates to the 16-man squad. An alternate himself in 1948, Lt. Fletcher won his 1952 place as champion of the 147 1-2-pound class. Jack Blubaugh, USAF, was named alternate in the 125 1-2-pound class and Shuford Swift, USN, earned the same classification in the 191-pound group.

Philadelphia, Pa. — Lockbourne AFB, Ohio led Service squads in the 58th Penn Relays. Paced by S-Sgt. Mal Whitfield, 1948 Olympics 800 - meter champ they won the Class B mile, two - mile and 60 - yard shuttle hurdle relay championships and finished fourth in the half - mile relay. Lt. Otis Chandler, USAF, upset the field in the shot put, and won with a toss of 52' 11". . . LT Sam Felton, USN, established a new meet record in the 16-pound hammer throw, representing the Navy Olympics squad, he flipped the weight 183' 2 3-8" to better the standard by more than seven feet. . . Bill Miller of the Navy Olympic team and Marine Sgt. Jim Gilchrist each won an event. Miller flung the javelin 216' 1 1-4" for his first place and Sgt. Gilchrist high jumped 6' 4" to lead the field.

WARMING THE BENCH

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Baseball's wanddrer has returned to his favorite haunts — the major leagues — after a three-year absence. Louis N. (Bobo) Newsom, who has pitched for every American League club except Chicago and Cleveland, and has been a Cub, Giant and a Brooklyn Dodger twice in a 24-year career, returned to Washington for a fifth term this spring. In a spring exhibition game the 42-year-old hurler outpitched an opponent born six years after Bobo had made his major league debut (1929) in three innings without allowing a hit . . . Newsom fought with every manager under whom he played. His antics on and off the field inspired sportswriters but club owners wouldn't take his wisecracking. Always speaking of himself in the third person, he promised teammates that Bobo would save the day. He often did. Only Bobby Feller ranks with Newsom as an active pitcher with more tan 200 wins to his credit. In 1934, Bobo pitched nine hitless innings before allowing one in the 10th. From time 1933 to 1941 he won 61 games.

For Detroit in 1940 his 21-5 record helped the Tigers to a pennant. In the World Series he pitched three complete games, the final after his father had died, the night before . . . Nobody expects the Senators to do much this season, but Old Bobo will be there to add color, fight and spirit to their efforts.

Splinters from the Bench: Johnny Mize says he'll retire from baseball after this season at the age of 40 . . . Bill Veeck's showmanship has already paid off for the St. Louis Browns. In their first five home games they drew as many fans as had seen half the home games in 1951 . . . Army Lt. Warren Dreutzler's mile victory over Don Gehrmann last winter in 4:09.2 gives the Services a strong contender for Olympics consideration. Dreutzler has been out of competition and training many months before he competed in the Millrose Games. Five weeks after his first race he did the mile in the season's best time.

Playful Airplane Throws Airman, Then Grabs Him

TOKYO, Japan (AFPS) — A radar unit in a mountainous area where rough air and tricky currents set the big transport swerving and pitching violently . . . Capt. Seals, who is attached to the Combat Cargo Command was standing in the open door of the C-46 assisting the crew in preparing to drop 300-pound cargo packs when a twisting maneuver threw him out of the plane.

"I found myself in midair. I was wearing a parachute and tried to push and kick myself away from the plane to keep from being slammed against it," the captain said.

The transport then swerved in the rough air current and scooped Capt. Seals back in through the side door out of which he had been flung—and sent him sprawling on the floor. The plane hit another pocket of turbulent air and this time Capt. Sears was thrown to the ceiling. As he came down a cluster of ferrycans hit his foot, breaking it.

A Mad Marauder Is 'Mr. Mildew'

BY PFC WARREN ADLER
AFPS Washington Correspondent

If you haven't met Mr. Mildew yet you might as well know what he's like. He's a mean, destructive, crotchety, old soul who ought to be locked in stir for the rest of his days.

He'll latch on to almost anything like a parasite. Nothing is safe when he's around—neither food, fabrics, canvas, leather, rubber, paper nor practically anything else.

Some people simply call him mold, but he has a variety of disguises. Sometimes he wears green, brown, black or maybe gray. As a matter of fact, any time you see a discoloring patch on your equipment you'll know he's beginning his deadly work.

If he gets his hands on leather, wipe his mark off quickly and dry. If he's on clothing, brush or wash him off. Make sure that all the soap is rinsed out, then dry well.

Mr. Mildew's worst enemy is plain old sunshine. If the sun's out, air clothes, bedding and equipment. Don't put them away damp. Mildew will do. This consists of a packing crate with a bulb inside and holes drilled on top.

If he creeps into stored supplies spread them out until dry and then brush him off. Don't put the infected supplies close to the clean ones. He's pretty cagy and may contaminate them.

Mr. Mildew likes dampness and darkness. If you keep your equipment dry, cleaned, well-brushed and properly aired he'll keep away. Keep equipment off the ground and never store it while its damp, muddy or dirty. He also likes perspiration and grease, so the Second Battalion, 30th Infantry.

508th Men Get Citizenship In Texas Town

Brownwood, a lively Texas city of some 7,000 Texans, has commended the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team and cited each and every officer and enlisted man as "honorary citizens of the City of Brownwood."

The 508th went into bivouac on two occasions, March 26-27 and April 11-13, in Brownwood, locating at old Camp Bowie to and from Exercise Long Horn, the Texas war games which saw 3146 Red Devil troopers parachute down on Texas.

Duly adopted and passed by the City Council, Brownwood's City Manager, Jack Broad, sent the resolution to Col. Joe S. Lawrie, 506th commander. It reads in part:

WHEREAS Brownwood has been honored by the presence . . . officers and men of the 508th Team . . .

. . . Members of this unit have shown a spirit of friendliness, cooperation and appreciation . . .

. . . Consideration of high qualities of citizenship displayed by men of the 508th which made for a mutual understanding between the military and civilian populations, we hereby designate and proclaim to the world that the officers and men of the 508th are HONORARY CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF BROWNWOOD, TEXAS . . . (they) hereby commended for (their) behavior and performance of obligations . . .

Toward Degree

Any of the courses he explained, can be applied toward a degree at the University of Georgia or can be transferred to other colleges.

Basic courses such as history, English, sociology and mathematics will be offered here in first quarter. Each student may take one or two courses.

In addition, Mr. Houser said, a conference will be held with military personnel now attending the Columbus center to determine what classes they would like taught at Fort Benning.

Final plans for the Fort Benning Branch were approved by Third Army officials and E. A. Lowe, director of the university's Division of General Extension, and his assistant in charge of centers, W. R. Alexander.

Mr. Houser and Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, worked out arrangements locally.

Mr. Houser also praised Col. W. B. Yeager, G-3 of The Infantry Center, and Capt. Robert Stage, troop information and education officer, for their part in completing the plans.

Teague said the legislation should be limited pending completion of investigations still underway by his group and other committees.

Under both bills, a veteran would be entitled to one and one-half days of training for every day of service, with a 36-month ceiling.

An education or training allowance would be paid directly to the veteran, from which he would have to pay for his own tuition, books and supplies, retaining the rest for subsistence.

Pioneer Troopers Will Participate In Demonstration

Three of the Army's first paratroopers will participate in airborne demonstrations here today celebrating the 10th birthday of The Infantry School's Airborne Department.

The pioneer jumpers, formerly members of the original airborne Test Platoon which made the first official Army parachute jump here Aug. 16, 1940, are CWO Loyd McCullough of Columbus, Ga., M-Sgt. William N. King of Nashville, Tenn., and M-Sgt. Louie D. Davis of Lawrenceville, Ga.

McCullough, who has made 200 jumps, is assistant parachute maintenance officer for the Airborne Department. Sergeant King, with 262 jumps, is assigned to the department's supply section. Sergeant Davis is chief of the Tower Training group. He has made 260 jumps.

The demonstrations, to which the public is invited, will begin at 3 p.m. in the ground and tower training area, where visitors will get an opportunity to ride down the 250-foot jump tower in the "buddy seat."

Highlight of the afternoon's show will be a jumpmaster jump and heavy equipment drop at Lawson Air Force Base here, where aircraft used in airborne maneuvers will be on display.

Five End Service In Truck Company

The last five of the original members of the 148th Transportation Truck Company, was relived from duty this week.

The quintet included Sgt. Richard N. Feiber, Cpl. William J. Straucher, Cpl. George D. Simmons, Cpl. Lawrence J. Strikes, and Cpl. Benjamin F. Mata.

The 148th, a National Guard Unit from New York, arrived at Fort Benning with a complement of 68 enlisted men and five officers who have all been transferred within post or sent to duty with the Far East command. The unit is presently manned with Regular Army and US Personnel.

The unit recently returned from Exercise Longhorn with [illegible] ratings for it's performance [illegible] supporting troops, both [illegible] armies.

Fort Benning Receives New Emergency Contact Chart

A new chart with the proper Benning office to contact when an emergency arises, has been put into effect here.

The basis of the new plan was worked out by the Provost Marshal at Fort Jackson, S.C., and forwarded to Third Army. Col. Francis A. Kreidel, former Benning Provost Marshal, sent the outline of the plan to be revised according to need and put into use here.

Col. Richard S. McConnell, Provost Marshall, said that under the new chart many standard operating procedure memorandums have been discarded.

"This chart is easy to follow," he said. "Any man new on the job will have no difficulty at all in case an emergency arises. Each agency has been furnished with a copy, with instructions to have it displayed where it can be reached at all times," Colonel McConnell added.

In the first column is listed possible incidents, and in the following seven are given to detailed instructions for each section as to the exact office and person to contact in case of emergency.

The seven most important telephone numbers are listed prominently at the top of the chart.

"By the use of this plan," Colonel McConnell said, "we will have greater control of all serious incidents, and the proper authorities will be notified and to the scene of the accident in the quickest possible time."

Old Legend Here Claims Army Mule Still Running

The Army legend about Aaron is 30 years old, and it's still as big a tale at it was in 1922.

Fort Benning oldtimers will probably celebrate — but not too noisily — on the anniversary of this story about a mule (that's Aaron) and a military dream to shoot machineguns from the backs of galloping mares.

This is the story as it's recorded in dusty files here:

Certain Cavalry officers recommended to Army researcher the tactic of firing .30 caliber machineguns from the backs of mules.

Aaron, a blue - nosed critter selected by the Army for the test, was equipped with back straps to which the machinegun was attached.

Then, with a volunteer machinegunner atop his back, Aaron was put to a gallop toward a target.

Only 100 yards from the target, the gunner opened fire.

"When the old machinegun started shouting," the records report, "it scared H - - out of Aaron." Old Aaron's reflexes were in top order that day.

Thrown

The machinegunner was thrown so far by Aaron's fright that he landed in the hospital, and the machinegun trigger was bent into firing position.

Aaron just kept raring backward. By the time the last of 250 bullets had been fired from the jammed machinegun atop his back, Aaron had galloped—backwards 276 miles west.

By 1923, Aaron was making his first circumvention of the globe. He was still in reverse clippity-cloppitying up the sides of Fujiyama when the volcanic cone let loose an horrendous eruption of lava. Aaron's west end was sprayed with scorching, molten liquid, which was enough to send the frightened beast scurrying in another direction.

Up to 1939, Aaron had passed Shanghai's Imperial Hotel 17 times, they say.

Officers who observed the test 30 years ago are no longer alive, but Aaron's behavior during first few minutes of the test is basis for disapproval of machine-gun carrying mules.

There's a plan among Army folks these days to mount recoilless rifles atop mules. There's no (pardon the pun) kick that way.

But the real problem on this 30th anniversary of Aaron is where the critter has taken a valuable Army machinegun.

Maj. Lockhart Assigned Battalion Commander

Major Albert E. Lockhart has been named commanding officer of the 1st Battalion 2nd Student Regiment. A veteran of the Korean fighting with the 38th Infantry Regiment, and three years with the occupation forces in Germany, he graduated from OCS at Benning in 1945.

Major Lockhart also graduated from the University of Akron Ohio, in 1941.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Lt. Chester E. Fisher, formerly with the 17th Infantry Regiment, in Korea, has been assigned as executive officer for the 125th Company, Second Student Regiment.

Radio, TV Jockey Rides New Range

A former radio and television staff announcer and disc jockey is now handling a different type of record as "cloak and dagger" non-commissioned officer of the 43rd Engineer Construction Battalion.

He is Cpl. Carl A. Hancock, 23, who formerly worked for radio station WNBF in Binghamton, N. Y., as a staff announcer. He also had a 55-minute daily disc jockey program.

Inducted into the service in December, 1950, Corporal Hancock took his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J. A graduate of the intelligence school at Fort Riley, Kansas, he is now intelligence non-commissioned officer for his battalion.

Two Area Service Unit Men Retire With 51 Yrs.

Two members of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Service Unit have been retired from the Army after completing a total of 51 and one-half years service.

The men are M-Sgt. Howard W. Jennings, with 21 years and five months service, and Sfc. Charles E. Evans, with 30 years service.

LIEUTENANT LEAVES

Lt. William T. Stanley has left Headquarters and Headquarters Company Second Student Regiment for an overseas new assignment.

ALTHOUGH ARMED FORCES WEEK will officially conclude Saturday, "Fort Benning Feature Page" to be heard Sunday at noon over WGBA will emphasize the place of religion in today's military life. Chaplain (Colonel) Lexington C. Sheffield, post chaplain, will introduce some of his assistants and two Columbus mothers in a round-table discussion of the role the chaplain plays in the life of a soldier.

To be heard on the program with Chaplain Sefield will be Chaplain Robert B. Herndon, assistant chaplain of the Infantry Center, Chaplain David Raab, post Jewish chaplain, and Chaplain Steven W. Kane, senior Catholic Chaplain at Fort Benning.

They will answer questions and solve problems posed for them by Mrs. Charles Kolodkin of Columbus, representing the Jewish mothers, and Mrs. Bruce Renfroe of Columbus, representing both the Protestant and Catholic mothers.

EVERYBODY LOVES A PARADE, and with a parade comes a military band. Warrant Officer William R. Trembath and his men of the 122nd Army Band will appear on "Benning In Review" (WRBL AM-FM Saturday evening 6:15) to maintain the martial music which is a vital part of any Armed Forces Day. The brilliance of the stirring airs played by the band will vividly emphasize the spirit of this year's theme of Armed Forces Week which is "Unity, Strength, and Freedom."

Sea Attacker

British Navy Jet Fighter

Mfr: Supermarine (Vickers-Armstrong)

Span: 36'11" Length: 37'6"

This low-mid-wing, single-seat jet fighter was originally designed in 1944 based on the piston-engined Spiteful. Its single turbo-jet engine is installed in the round fuselage just forward of the leading edge of the wing, with exhaust in the tail. Original prototype was made to R. A. F. specifications, where it is known simply as the Attacker. Numerous British models are similarly designated when they are developed for the R. A. F. and R. N.; that is, the naval version of the Spitfire is the Seafire, and the Fury becomes the Sea Fury in the Navy. The Sea Attacker has a maximum speed of 590 miles an hour and an average cruising speed of 380 miles an hour. With external drop tanks, its 890-mile normal range is extended to 1,190 miles.

Note: Evenly tapered wings with blunt tips and the stubby fu. and rudder forwardly placed.

Fort Benning Plays Host To 300 Traffic Officials

Members of the safety conference held here Tuesday heard Lt. Col. E. S. Burke, deputy director of the Georgia Department of Public Safety, say that one out of every three children born today is fated to be seriously injured or killed in a motor vehicle accident.

More than 300 officials from Georgia, Alabama, Columbus and Fort Benning bus and trucking lines, police departments, and civic organizations were attending the day-long conference.

Proper Attitude

Colonel Burke said safety officials and law enforcement agencies must develop proper attitude among drivers.

Pointing out the human error in driving, Colonel Burke said less than three per cent of accidents in the past year have been due to mechanical failure.

The entire field of community accident problems, techniques of safe driving, traffic regulations, the effects of alcohol or fatigue on driving, were discussed.

Seven safety awards were presented to Fort Benning units during the morning session.

The top award from the Third Army went to Lt. Col. L. T. Martin who represented The Infantry Center Signal section. The award was for no disabling injuries from January, 1951 to January, 1952.

Infantry Center awards went to Col. C. K. Krams, ASU commander for the 27th Car Company which drove 106,859 miles in August and September, 1951 without an accident; Col. H. E. Kelly, Army Field Forces Board No. 3, for greater percentage of improvements in military injury rate; Lt. Col. S. C. Brockman, provisional medication group, percentage of reduction of military personnel

Thirteenth JCOC Set for June 3

Some 100 business and professional men are expected to arrive here June 3 to attend the three - day Army phase of the 13th Joint Civilian Orientation Conference.

The group includes manufacturers, bankers, writers and editors representing a majority of the 48 states, Col. Donald McPherson, Infantry Center project officer, announced.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, will welcome the visitors at Lawson Air Force Base, as the 122nd Army Band plays.

The civilians will hear an address later in the day by General Meloy on Infantry Center training methods, followed by a demonstration of Infantry firepower at Hook Range.

An official reception and dinner for the conference members will be held that evening at the Main Officers Mess.

The second day of the conference will include an Infantry-tank team demonstration at Buma Hill, a demonstration of airborne training and techniques by The Infantry School's Airborne Department and the Bat-

2,500 ROTC Cadets to Arrive Here June 20 for Training

Approximately 2,500 ROTC cadets from four Army areas are scheduled to arrive here June 20-21 for the largest summer encampment ever held in the United States.

The students, representing 67 colleges and universities in the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Army areas and Puerto Rico, will be welcomed to The Infantry Center by the commanding general in ceremonies at Doughboy Stadium.

Deputy camp commander will be Col. W. R. Blakely, professor of military science and tactics at the University of Alabama. He will be assisted by Col. E. S. McKee, professor of military science and tactics at Georgia Military Academy near Atlanta, who will be in charge of administration, and Col. C. P. Bender of the University of Mississippi, who will be in charge of training.

One hundred and fifty three professors of military science and tactics and 324 enlisted men from the college ROTC units will form the cadre for the six-week camp in the Sand Hill area of Fort Benning.

The college students will have 34 hours of Infantry School instruction, followed by weapons and tactical demonstrations of Infantry School field problems.

A complete athletic program has been planned for the cadets including softball, volleyball, swimming, golf, badminton and many other team sports.

Eighteen cadet bureaus will be set up in the Sand Hill area under

Operation Begins At Army's First Electronic Range

The Infantry School's new pushbutton range was officially opened Tuesday when Col. S. R. Tupper, acting Infantry Center commander, fired the first shot.

The Army's first completely electronically operated rifle range, it is named in honor of Lt. Albert B. Simpson, who won the Distinguished Service Cross in World War I.

Immediately following the firing of the first shot, officer candidate class No. 30 began the first class in electrically controlled transition firing held here.

Electric Control

The $100,000-plus experiment, built by a New Jersey electronic engineering firm under the auspices of the Weapons Department here, has 36-man-sized targets which rise and fall electrically when a bullet pierces electrified sheets of screen inside the target. Both movements are executed by a small motor.

Lt. Col. John J. Williams of the Weapons Department and project officer for the new range said that the electronically controlled targets will "save manpower, increase range efficiency and put more realism in firing exercises."

Heretofore, at least $130,000 was spent yearly to manually operate the range. Infantry School troops, who formerly were used as manual operators for the targets, will now be able to use

Dutch Colonel Visits Benning

The Netherlands Army's chief of intelligence and training arrived here last Monday to see U. S. Infantry training methods.

Col. C. J. Volk, who was to be on the post three days, was scheduled to visit the Infantry School's Operations Office and Library and the Airborne, Automotive, Army Extension Courses, Communications and Ranger Departments.

He also was to tour the Army Field Printing Plant and Third Army Food Service School and visited the first Officer Candidate Regiment.

Before coming to Fort Benning, Colonel Volk visited Camp Rucker, Ala. He leaves today for Washington, D. C.

Pay Hike Bill Becomes Law

Increase May Be In May Pay; Married Men Get Most Benefit

President Truman signed into law the military pay bill on Tuesday, giving a straight four per cent salary increase and a 14 per cent hike in quarters and subsistence allowance for married men.

The pay increases will be retroactive to May 1. Both the House and Senate approved the bill unanimously.

The bill is a result of compromise between two bills passed by the House and Senate. The measure adopts six important points as follows:

1 — The base pay of all personnel in the Armed Forces will be increased four per cent.

2 — Allowances for quarters and subsistence of all personnel will be increased by 14 per cent.

3 — The base pay of midshipmen and cadets at the Military, Naval and Coast Guard Academies, and of aviation cadets of all Services will be increased four per cent.

5 — A raise in pay of enlisted rates will be authorized for certain members of the maritime service, which is operated under the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce.

6 — Personnel appointed to the Military and Naval Academies prior to 1912 and 1913 will be permitted credit for military and naval service when they retire.

Of the six points, all are permanent except the quarters allow-

K-Vet Bill Past Committee, To House, Senate

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The K-Vet bill has been unanimously approved by the House Veterans Committee. It must now be passed by the House and Senate.

The measure would provide up to 36 months of free schooling, up to $300 in mustering-out pay and government guaranteed loans on homes, farms and businesses.

The benefits would be available to all men and women in uniform between June 27, 1950, and a date to be set later by either Congress or the President.

Chief benefits are: Education — $110 a month for single veterans and up to $160 to those with dependents. Students would be entitled to one and one-half days of free schooling for each day of service. The maximum would be 36 months, the normal period for a four - year college education. Veterans must pay their own tuition and use whatever is left for living expenses.

Housing — Provisions are the same as those in the WWII bill except that home builders will be required to give veteran buyers a one-year warranty that the house is as represented.

Loans

Loans — The government, as before, will guarantee up to 60 per cent of a four per cent loan on home, farm or business with a maximum guaranty of $7,500.

Mustering - out pay — Men up through the Army rank of captain will get $100 for service of less than 60 days, $200 for more than 60 days and $300 for more than 60 days and overseas duty.

Social security — As before, the government will credit each man in Service with $160 monthly salary for figuring social security benefits.

On the job training —

Generals End Benning, Fla., Ranger Tour

Four Army generals who attended an Army Commanders Ranger Orientation conference this week, returned to their home stations yesterday. The group visited Fort Benning before leaving for The Infantry School's jungle camp at Eglin Air Force Base last Monday.

Lt. Gen. W. M. Hoge, Fourth Army commander, headed the official group, which included Major Gen. R. B. Woodruff, XV Corps commander, Major Gen. Leo M. Kreber, 37th Infantry Division commander and Brig. Gen. E. W. Ridings, assistant commander of the 31st Infantry Division.

Col. Savier Tupper, First Student Brigade commander, and Col. Harry Grizzard, commanding officer of First Officer Candidate Regiment, welcomed the visitors following an honor guard ceremony at Chapel Field last Monday.

Troops from officer candidate class No. 18, formed the honor guard, and a 15-gun salute was fired by troops from the 41st Field Artillery Battalion.

Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

The generals spent Monday at The Infantry School's Operations Office and Airborne and Ranger Departments and the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

Graduating OC's Hear Gen. Cook

"The second lieutenant's first duty is to teach his men to survive in combat," Major Gen. (ret.) Gilbert R. Cook told 102 graduating officer candidates last Friday.

"A soldier's welfare is not measured in terms of recreation," General Cook continued. "His welfare is his qualification to do well and survive combat so he can enjoy recreation later."

General Cook said second lieutenants are the instructors of the Army. "A division is only as strong as its teachers—the second lieutenants."

The retired general was principal speaker at graduation ceremonies for Infantry officer candidate class 13A.

He pinned gold second lieutenant's bars on honor graduate Stuart E. Maxin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Maxin of 1214 Glass Avenue, Olympia, Wash. Lt. Maxin has been assigned to the 87th Infantry Division, Camp Polk, La.

Col. George E. Bush, deputy assistant commandant of The Infantry School, introduced Gen. Cook.

Col. Lexington O. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. Major E. M. Shaffer, assistant adjutant general of The Infantry Center, administered the oath of office to the 102 new second lieutenants. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Local Communities Benefit From Army Post Exchanges

Post Exchanges have a healthy impact on the communities near which they are located, according to Lt. Col. M. H. Stetfen, Infantry Center exchange officer.

Pointing out that Post Exchanges are almost entirely self-supporting, Colonel Steffen said that no taxpayers' money appropriated by Congress is used in their operation.

"The PX pays for itself," he declared.

"It buys all the merchandise it sells, pays the wages and salaries of its civilian personnel, maintains and pays for its own vehicles, and even reimburses the government for the utilities it uses," Colonel Steffen continued.

"The PX provides an essential and traditional service to the serviceman, he added, "but it is also highly aware of its community interest and responsibility."

Local People

The exchange creates a local payroll and hires local people for its staff, he pointed out. It utilizes local services and most of its concessions are operated by local businessmen. The procurement policy the exchange follows enables local suppliers to participate in the supply of exchange requirements.

Colonel Steffen said that statistics reveal that the average enlisted man spends less than 20 per cent of his pay in post exchanges, and that average officer less than 10 per cent.

The bulk of PX sales volume is in items of simple necessity. "Over 75 cents of every dollar spent in a PX," Colonel Steffen said, "goes for food and snack items, tobacco, soft drinks shaving supplies and other drug items, uniform clothing and insignia, stationery and things of that sort."

Aids Servicemen

The post exchange aids the serviceman in many ways that are not apparent on the service. Profits from exchanges are used to help provide funds for libraries, hobby shops, athletic equipment, day room furnishings and similar facilities designed to increase a servicemans comfort.

These funds, created by the exchange, one frequently spent locally.

"There are other benefits," Colonel Steffen concluded. "Morale is one of the major benefits. The profits used for welfare purposes help keep a serviceman contented and alert. That has been the job of the PX since 1895, and it will continue to be its job."

Allied Officers End 3-Day Tour Of Food School

Allied military officials who toured the Third Army Food Service School last week declared American Army messes the finest, cleanest and most efficient they had ever seen.

Brig. Gen. K. L. Puffius, superintendent of the Royal Netherlands Military Academy; Col. Patricio Borromeo, superintendent of the Philippines Military Academy, and Lt. Col. Washington Silahaan, special assistant to the chief of staff of the Indonesian Army, received honorary graduation certificates from Capt. Raymond Ruppel, training officer for the Food Service School on completion of their tour of the school and field mess installations here.

The Allied group also visited The Infantry School's Library, Operations Section and Army Extension Course Airborne and Ranger Departments, and witnessed a tank fire demonstration at Bouton Hill.

The officials also inspected the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

All three plan a visit to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., before returning to their own countries.

ISD Athletic Post Goes to Campbell

Lt. Robert Campbell, a former professional boxer who coached the Professors' ring team this season, has been named athletic and recreation officer for Infantry School Detachment.

He replaces Lt. Walter McEver who was injured in an automobile accident recently. Lt. Campbell also played semi-pro football and hockey around his native Syracuse, N. Y.

NEW FIRST COOK

Sgt. Paul F. Rhine, formerly of the 104th Company, Second Student Regiment, has been assigned to the 101st Company as first cook.

Netherlands Colonel Now Advanced Benning Student

Col. Philip Lach De Bere of the Netherlands Army, one time assistant to Prince Bernhard and now a student in associate advance class, No. 5, is one of 11 Dutch officers in the 24th Company, First Student regiment here.

The colonel is a mild mannered, jovial gentleman with a quick, appreciation for the humorous side of life. Considering that his experiences include a three-year stint as a prisoner of war after his country was over-run during World War II, his ready affable nature is appreciated by his 143 Allied classmates.

At present, his regular assignment in the Netherlands is that of commandant of the NCO Cadre School.

The colonel says his duty with the Prince "was an experience that I can never hope to see equaled."

"The Prince, as the Army's inspector general is an exacting, energetic commander, who nevertheless, inspires one. Every moment spent on his staff was a pleasure."

The democratic personality of Queen Juliana was summed up by Col. Lach De Bere as being "truly gracious and completely sincere."

Americans are no strangers to the colonel although this is his first visit to the United States. He hopes to see the nation's capital as well as New York City before he leaves sometime in July.

Meanwhile, advanced Infantry tactics and procedures, taught in a foreign tongue, present no obstacle for Colonel Lach De Bere and his 10 countrymen.

'Let Yourself Go' Scores Hit, Scheduled Again Friday

Fort Benning will have another chance Friday to see Special Services' new soldier show, Let Yourself Go, that has already played to packed Benning houses.

First-nighters saw the opening of the 11 act production at the Main Post Theater last Saturday night. The new show, which lasts for an hour and a half, is composed of music, comedy, and dances. Curtain time Friday is 8:45 p.m. and admission is free.

The revue opens with an overture by Pfc. Mary Packman.

"Let Yourself Go", title song and opening number of the show, by Jacki Raye, Johnny Ramon, Pfc. Lou Geisler and Pvt. Leroy Howard, set a fast pace for the other 10 acts. A complete change of mood followed as the moonlight mood with newcomer Lt. Rudy Jorgensen, doing a beautiful vocal on "Softly as In The Morning Sunrise", and featuring Cpl. Sonya Stacey and ensemble.

An old - timer with soldier shows, Pfc. Jerry Glassman, was at his funniest with rapid cracks which kept the audience howling. "Hillbilly Fever Goin' Round" hit the stage of the theater with a bang when Sgt. Joe Robertson and the Wagonmasters took over with good old mountain music and called for the tremendous applause.

Honest Crook

Cpl. Bernie Walsh, self styled "Army's most honest crook" made his first appearance with the soldier show group and held the audience spellbound with the ease with which he performed his magical feats.

A Benning favorite, Pfc. Lou Geisler, did the vocals on "Old Black Magic" for the tempo tropicale number, which was followed by a comedy skit based on "Whoopee". The two - part scene featured Private Geisler, Nevorah Adams, Private Glassman, and Lieutenant Jorgensen.

Making their second appearance in the show, Jacki Raye and Johnny Ramon gave forth with some close harmony on "I'll String Along With You" and "Go To Sleep".

A fast good comedy number featuring the Two Gregs and A Bob, Pfc. Greg Hunter, Pfc. Bob Channon, and Cpl. Greg Kane, was next. Pfc Jerry Glassman made his second appearance of the show providing a series of laugh provoking gags.

The Rhythm Aces, in a group of numbers titled "After Hours," featured foot tapping, rocking rhythm. Trumpeter Pfc. Issac B. Greggs gave a wonderful rendition of the old favorite "Stardust" "Taps in Taps", featuring Pvt. Leroy Howard, was a fast and intricate tap routine.

The revue was staged by Pfc. Jerry Glassman, and musical direction was under Pfc. Marv Packman. The effective settings were designed by Cpl. Greg Keyne, Sgt. Joe Robertson handled the publicity for the production.

The Serenaders were composed of Pfc. Marv Packman, Cpl. Sam Bilardo, Pfc. Robert Day, Cpl. Richard Fisher, and Pfc. Edward Smith.

Pfc. George Upton, Sgt. Jesse Wilson, Pfc. Alexander Mellick Pfc. Robert Forrestner, Pfc. James F. Stewart, Pfc. Milton Sacks, Pfc. Glenn W. Snider and Sgt. Joe M. Robertson, Sr., made up the Wagonmasters aggregation.

Dancing ensemble included Betty Sheppard, Helen Greenhaw, Ellene Ethredge, Cpl. Sonya Stacey, Pfc. Kay Herman and Cpl. Bernie Walsh.

Vocal ensemble was composed of Cpl. Walter Berry, Cpl. Richard Fisher and Pfc. Lou Gisler.

The Soldier show staff is Lieutenant Jorgensen, Pfc. Robert Channon, Pfc. Greg Hunter, Cpl. Gerald Schmidt, Sfc. Millard C. Snyder, Sgt. Ernest Rice, Sgt. Klaus Becker, Sgt. John Wise, and Pfc. Milton Sacks.

The show was also scheduled for theater No. 11, Tuesday, and theater No. 7, Wednesday.

Experienced

Mrs. Carmody, the wife of Capt. Edward Carmody of the Inspector General's Section here, comes to the Little Theatre with several years exeprience with little theater work in Jacksonville, Fla.

Maj. Sauer is already known to Fort Benning audiences from his portrayal of the homespun millionaire newspaper owner in "Over 21", the Little Theatre's first production.

Supporting roles for the subAectic comedy will be played by Lt. Thomas Lytle, Airborne Battalion, as Captain Landry, a hoary mail boat captain, Lt. Harry Offutt, of the Weapons Department, as the pompous Reverend Shapham, and Pfc. Charles W. Craig a member of the 506th Airborne Regimental Combat Team's Medical Company, as Scotty, Captain Landry's assistant.

Lt. William C. Searcy, of the Weapons Department, will play "Kimo", Dascom's Eskimo houseboy.

Miss Polly Childs, the daughter of Lt. Col. G. W. Childs, and Miss Hilda de Lumpa, the daughter of Capt. Lester D. de Lumpa, will play two Eskimo girls, Little Seal and Snowbird.

Alabama Firm Gets Building Contract Here

The M. R. Thompson Company of Montgomery, Ala., has been awared a $750,314.75 contract for the first phase of a new troop housing construction program here.

Col. Richard E. Ebbs, Infantry Center engineer, said that Col. Robert Erlenkotter, Savannah, Ga.) Engineer District awarded the contract under the 1952 defense construction budget.

The contract covers the clearing, grading and draining of for two buildings, one to be constructed parallel to Sightseeing Road, and the other in the old Reception Center area.

General Hodge Praises Troops

Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge has written an open letter to all personnel of the Third Army as one of his last acts before taking over the reigns as commander of Army Field Forces.

The letter reads:

"Upon the occasion of my relief from assignment as Third Army commander, I desire to express to all my appreciation for the fine service and devotion to duty so amplified during the period of my command.

"The perserverance of all concerned contributed immeasurably toward the attainment of the presently high standard existent throughout the Third Army Area. Everything you have accomplished has been due to the combined efforts, enthusiasm, and splendid cooperation of all ranks and files. Our endeavors in this field will ultimately react to the benefit of the entire Army establishment.

"I wish to thank you all individually and collectively for your loyal support. I am grateful for the opportunity of having had command of such inspiring and loyal personnel. I am confident that each of you will continue to maintain the high standards of conduct and efficiency under the leadership of my successor."

Syrian Colonel Ends TIS Tour

Lt. Col. Jamal Faysal, military commander of Central Syria, who arrived here May 15 left Saturday to attend a sesquicentennial convocation at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

Colonel Faysal, also commandant of the Republic of Syria Military Academy, is touring U. S. military installations as part of a group of Allied military academy superintendents invited to the West Point anniversary celebration May 20 by Department of the Army.

The Syrian colonel began his two-day tour of The Infantry Center with visits to The Infantry School's Operations Office, Library, and Army Extension Courses, Airborne, Ranger and Automotive Departments.

He also toured the First Officer Candidate Regiment.

"I hope to incorporate some of the efficient training methods I have seen here in the training programs of the Syrian Military Academy," Colonel Faysal said. "The American Army's training methods are the most efficient I have seen."

Before going to West Point, Colonel Faysal was scheduled to visit military installations in Washington, D. C.

He is being accompanied by Capt. Lawrence J. Evans, Department of the Army tour director and interpreter.

Capt. G. H. Trabin of The Infantry School's Tactical Department, and Sgt. Hank Chezzo, sergeant guide officer for Colonel Faysal.

Little Theater Prepares 'Petticoat Fever' Next

BY BUNNY BENNET

A husband and wife combination will head the cast of "Petticoat Fever", the Fort Benning Little Theatre's next production.

Mark Reid's non-tropical farce, a story dealing with the life and loves of a wireless operator in Labrador, will go on the boards of the Main Post Theatre July 10 and 11.

Two of the four leading roles will be played by Lt. and Mrs. Charles Thomann as Dascom Dinsmore, the wireless operator and Clara, his fiancee.

Maj. Harold Sauer and Mrs. Edward Carmond will play opposite each other as Sir James Fenton, a stuffy British nobleman whose plane has crashed in the sub - Arctic wilds, and Ethel, his fiancee.

Lt. Thomann, a member of The Infantry School's Weapons Department, is a veteran of the Ernie Pyle Theater in Tokyo, the Civic Theater of Denver, Colo., and the Denver Grand Opera Company. The role of "Clara" will be Mrs. Thomann's first major role in little theater work.

Library Tells Concert Plans

The following record concert will be presented at the Main Post Library, Tuesday, May 27 at 8 p.m.:

Manuel De Falla: El Amor Brujo (Love The Magician). Leopold Stokowski conducting the Hollywood Bowl Symphony Orchestra. Nan Merriman, Mezzo-Soprano.

Khachaturian: Concerto for piano and orchestra. Oscar Levant—pianist. Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of New York.

Guns Are Your Tools of War

Firepower has been a major factor in saving American lives in Korea and bringing the invading communists to a halt.

Throughout the war, superior firepower has been one of the prime reasons for our success against enormously larger forces in Korea. Likewise, the defense of Western Europe against a numerically stronger invading force would depend largely on superior weapons and equipment manned by highly skilled fighting men.

To understand what our firepower consists of, a person would have to study small arms, big guns, tanks, planes, ships, ammunition, guided missiles, radar, atomic bombs and other weapons and equipment. He would also have to know about the use of firepower—how it is brought to bear most effectively on the enemy.

Exactly when guns came into being no one can definitely say. Their earliest beginnings, no doubt, go back to the time when men first began throwing rocks at one another. As men developed slings for their rock throwing, and began fighting with bows and arrows, they also began to build walled enclosures to hide behind. Pounding down these walls wasn't always an easy task with the available equipment.

So, men began looking for something they could use to pound the walls with from a distance. All these weapons that were devised for this task were merely forerunners of weapons we call guns.

Owing to the demands that have come down through the centuries—a demand that continually increases—the artillery missles were increased from balls the size of oranges, to balls weighing as much as 700 pounds.

To accommodate such projectiles, guns had to be proportionately increased in size. Guns used in the 1300 and 1400's were varied widely as to type and construction.

Most were loaded from the muzzle but some were loaded from the breech. Some were open at both ends, and some were little more than hollowed logs, or were made with wooden or iron staves, held together by bands.

The need to standardize these weapons in order to simplify the problems of ammunition, maintenance, and method of movement came to be recognized in the 1500's but standardization didn't get very far.

A further development was the increased usa of guns for field pieces and naval use, in for seige purposes against walled fortifications.

The middle 1800's saw the revolution in gunmaking — rifling. (Rifling a barrel causes the projectile to travel at a greater range with more accuracy.)

Spiral grooving or rifling was developed first with muskets. Only round ammunition was considered practical in guns up until the introduction of rifling because the flight of the projectile was cut short by tumbling.

The big problem then became to increase the size and change the shape of the projectile without increasing the size of the gun bore. Because the longer projectile was heavier than round shot it had a greater striking energy for the same speed on leaving the gun.

In the last 67 years the greatest improvements in our guns have been in their increased effectiveness, strength and accuracy. Ammunition, gun metals and aiming devices has been improved. Another big step in the right direction was the invention of smokeless powder.

What new weapons are arsenals have in store for us cannot now be told. Already however, we have been shown the "Skysweeper", which is designed to shoot down planes with the use of radar.

Despite the fact that the work of two-thirds of the Nation's scientists is now going into research and development of tools or war, it would be foolish to expect too much of science.

You Must Open Your Eyes That You May See

(MAJ.) PERRY T. RALEY

And Elisha prayed, and said, "Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see". And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw, and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha. (2 Kings vi:7)

In the Old Testament account of the prophets, we find many very dramatic incidents that are passed over in so few words that we scarcely note the drama displayed in the scene. Such is the case here of the account of the allies of Elisha against the King of Syria. The servant of Elisha, a young man, was fearful for their lives, but the man of God, displaying an unusual faith, merely prayed. He knew in Whom he had committed his trust, and that his faith was not in vain. His prayer, too, was quite unusual.

He did not ask that the Lord remove them quietly from the scene, nor did he ask that the entire host of the enemy be smitten. He turned from the matter of a prayer of safety entirely and said, "open his eyes that be may see."

There is an expression often used when speaking of a person who may have been taken in by the swindler, or whose conduct leaves him to face the consequences of his misdeeds. We say of such, "he went into it with both eyes open". Generally we mean by this expression that the person was old enough to have known better or that he was intelligent enough to use better judgment. We imply, too, that since he should have had more sense, now he will have to face the consequences, whether they be shameful or painful.

Since this is true regarding a man's outward conduct, how much more can it be observed regarding things spiritual. If a man displays seeming blindness in worldly things, things with which he is more or less familiar, how much more do we note his blindness in matters that pertain to faith, where he has shown a wondrous lack of interest. Faith serves as eyes for the believer, enabling him to see what others cannot. This keeps him quiet and calm, and enables him to check the fears of those who cry as did the young man quoted above, "alas, my master, how shall we do? (v 15)

From this narrative let us learn how much may be around us and yet invisible to the natural eye. The natural eye is blind to heavenly things. God is everywhere; yet never seen by sin blinded eyes. His law touches the thoughts and intents of the heart, yet its spiritual meaning is not perceived.

Men are evil, guilty, fallen; yet they see not their bruise nor sores. Danger is imminent, yet they sport on, blindly dancing at hells mouth. "There is time enough" they say. Instant reaction is made to very physical danger, but the injunction "fear not him which is able to kill the body, and after that have no more they can do, but rather, fear ye him that is able to destroy both body and soul in hell" means nothing to ones who have eyes, but see not.

Man is God's highest creation, but is most ignoble by lack of sight. What a spectacle Samson became — from a judge in Israel to a slave in Phylistia!

This spiritual blindness keeps a man content with the world, but allows him not to see how unsatisfying and poor a thing it is for which he sweats and sins. It makes him proud, thinking he knows all things, when he sees so little of what can be known. He little realizes his danger, for "if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch". May we pray as did Elisha, that it be not said of us "having eyes, they see not", but that we enter life "with both eyes open".

One-Fourth of Striking Oilmen Return to Work

The 20-day oil strike appeared ready to end as we go to press. In Denver, Colo., 10,000 Sinclair employes voted to go back to work. Agreements were also reached by several locals, and union officials in Denver said about one-fourth of the 90,000 workers who have been on strike since April 29 either have returned to work or have agreed to do so shortly. The oil strike struck most severely at aviation, but had little if any effect on the average motorist.

In Korea, Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison will take over the truce talks Friday from Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, who has asked to be relieved. He made this request when the Reds rejected the final Allied compromise offer. Joy, the only member of the team to sit through the entire 10 months of the haggling, will become superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. on June 9.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arrived in Washington by plane this week, and reported immediately to President Truman. He was accompanied to the White House by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. General Ridgway refused to discuss any of the major issues of the day —the Koje incident, the progress of the Korean war, and the deadlocked truce talks — before seeing the president. Top - ranking military and civilian figures were on hand to greet him when he arrived in Washington. He will take over the reins as supreme allied commander in Europe in early June.

In North Wildwood, N. J., a mental patient imitating crazed killer Howard Unruh, who killed 13 persons in Camden, N. J. in 1949, wounded three women in a wild shooting spree. He is Louis M. Yollin, who boasted "an urge to kill." Police said Yollin told them he did the shooting "just for the fun of it." "I get the urge to kill," he said. "It gives me great pleasure and a thrill. I still remember the Howard Unruh incident." None of the three persons he wounded are in serious condition.

Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner was ready to issue an ultimatum to sullen, mutinous Communist prisoners on Koje Island this week to haul down the illegal Communist flags and banners over the compounds. American paratroopers doubletimed around the compounds chanting "Airborne! Airborne!" in a major show of force that brought glares from the prisoners. General Boatner disclosed that the prisoners have begun a new form of harrassing him. "Everyone that can write is writing me a letter which is answered with a form letter of acknowledgement," he said. "They are just trying to harrass me . . . to get me mad." He reaffirmed he intended to be "stern, strict and fair" on the prisoners.

Congress Considers Service - Interest Bills

The following bills of interest to servicemen were recently introduced in Congress:

1. A bill to authorize certain construction at military and naval installations.

2. A bill to increase certain rates of veterans compensation provided for specific Service-incurred disabilities.

3. A bill to authorize the Secretary of the Army to proceed with construction at stations of the Alaskan Communications System.

4. A bill to amend the Public Health Service Act so as to provide for equality of grade, pay, and allowance between the Chief Medical Officer of the Coast Guard and comparable officers of the Army.

Nomination of enlisted personnel to take the Navy-wide preliminary examination for entrance to the Naval Preparatory School as candidates for appointment to the Naval Academy is now underway in all commands, the Department of the Navy has announced. The test will be given July 7. Each year 160 regulars and 160 reservists, from both the Navy and Marine enlisted ranks, are appointed by the Secretary of the Navy to the Naval Academy from top students at the preparatory school. Candidates are selected and examined according to provisions contained in BuPers Manual, 1948, and Marine Corps General Order, 49.

Forthcoming publication of the 12th volume in the series "U. S. Army in WWII" has been announced by the Department of the Army. The book, entitled "The Persian Corridor and Aid to Russia," deals with Army activities in the reinforcement of Russia through the Persian Corridor. It will be published May 27.

On The Bookshelf

WE FISHED ALL NIGHT By Willard Motley, 560 pages, Appleton - Century Crofts. $3.75.

In "We Fished All Night", Willard Motley tells us that we have allowed ourselves to become victims of a system that encourages ruthlessness and allows us to send men to war and destroy their spirits.

We apparently do nothing to correct these faults of an economy that freely spends assets and fails to release liabilities, he asserts.

He sets forth these attitudes in a very long novel that commands respect for its frankness and honesty even though it fails to reach the innermost thoughts.

Mr. Motley offers three cases with which to support his deeply and honestly pessimistic views. The first is that of Aaron, a psychoneurotic poet who disintegrates gradually into a condition to which he is predestined by the circumstances of his background and upbringing.

The second shows the bombastic exhibitionist, Don Lockwood, who flickers wanly in the public eye. He is a fourth rate amateur actor who loses a leg in the war and allows himself, upon his return, to be run for office by a cynical group of underworld politicans.

The third concerns Jim Norris, an ambitious and intelligent union crusader who becomes corrupt in his private life by Army experiences which have led him to kill one child and exploit another sexually.

Of the three attitudes represented, that of Jim is the only one of which we find interasting under contemporary conditions. In an effort to persuade his readers that a meaningful case has been made Mr. Motley compiles scores of factual incidents about strikes, political machines, legislative deals and, in instances, conscience compromises made by court officials.

Mr. Motley might have done better to explore into the deep recesses the story of Jim's reversion to a perverse and appalling infantilism. Instead, he allows Don Lockwood's flashy pilgrimage toward power to dominate the narrative.

His second novel is much less effective than was his first, "Knock On Any Door." Passion seems to have been replaced by a kind of thoroughness which serves only to blunt his purpose.

Columbus Civilian Serves Food School For Many Years

When things go wrong at the Food Service School here, "everybody calls for Josie," according to Lt. Col. John S. Andersen, commandant.

Josie is Miss Josephine Stacks of Columbus, Ga., administrative assistant and secretary to Colonel Andersen.

A veteran Civil Service employe, Miss Stacks has been in government work since 1935 when she took a job with the Civilian Conservation Corps unit here. She later transferred to the Adjutant General's Section and was assigned to her present job in June, 1941.

Although she has worked in the same position for 10 years, the Columbus woman still finds it interesting. She attributes that interest primarily to changing regulations which "give me something new to learn and present a constant challenge."

Miss Stacks apparently has proved herself a valuable asset to the Food Service School. Colonel Andersen says she can "almost always get things straight in a short time." He credits her in helping with the efficient operation of the school.

The Civil Service worker also was responsible for the introduction of a simplified monthly training report which resulted in a savings of $1,500 to the government. She devised the new report in 1944 and became the first female Civil Service worker to win an award under the Army Suggestion Program.

Brig. Gen. William H. Hobson, then post commander, presented Miss Stacks a commendation and a check for $75, her share in the savings she made possible.

"I've been at Benning so long," she says, "that I feel as though I almost own the Food Service School. In fact, I get so interested in some of the school's projects that my family threatens to run me away from home."

MISS JOSEPHINE STACKS

Born and reared in Columbus, Miss Stacks graduated from Columbus high school and took a business course before looking for a job. She worked first as a teller in a Columbus bank and came here after qualifying for a Civil Service position.

She claims she sometimes thinks "it would be nice if I didn't have to work, but I wouldn't change places with anybody in the world."

She is an active member of the Pilot Club and resides with her mother, Mrs. Augusta Meridith, at 803 Broadway in Columbus.

AFF Board Three, 508th Lead in Deposits, Bonds

Army Field Forces Board No. 3 and the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team are dominating soldier-savings programs here, holding down first and second places in Soldiers Deposits and Savings Bonds participation.

Total post participation for the Savings Bond participation program shows that 14.68 of all Infantry Center personnel, both civilians and military, bought bonds in April, either through an allotment or pay reservation or by cash.

Soldiers saving money through Soldier Deposits totalled 3.90 per cent of the total post complement.

AFF Board No. 3 took top honors in Savings Bonds participation for April with the 508th close behind, while the 508th was high in Soldiers Deposits and Board No. 3 trailed in second place.

Board No. 3 had 29.66 per cent participation in Savings Bonds and 7.42 per cent participation in Soldier Deposits, while the 508th had 23.64 per cent participating in Savings Bonds and 13.81 in Soldiers Deposits.

Other units and their comparative standings in April for Soldier Deposits include:

Area Service Unit Provisional Group, 8.56 per cent

First Student Brigade, 2.40 per cent

Combat Training Command, 1.10 per cent

Provisional Medical Group, .64 per cent

Infantry School Detachment, .15 per cent

The comparative standings for Savings Bond participation include:

First Student Brigade, 20.04 per cent

Civilian Personnel Division, 16.06 per cent

Academic Department, 15.61 per cent

The Infantry Center Officers, 12.93 per cent

Area Service Unit Provisional Group, 11.32 per cent

Infantry School Detachment, 11.45 per cent

Provisional Medical Group, 9.78 per cent

Combat Training Command, 8.63 per cent.

Repairs Begin On Post Roads

Several Infantry Center roads are scheduled for resurfacing in the next few weeks, and work began yesterday on the first one. Officials reported that the roads will be partially closed, but one way traffic would be possible.

Work began yesterday on a four and a-half mile section of First Division road beginning at the intersection of Cusseta Highway and extending towards the main highway. Work will continue until June 4.

On June 3, work will begin on Eighth Division Road for one and one - half miles beginning at the intersection of First Division Road extending towards Victory Highway. It is expected to be completed June 6.

Six and one - quarter miles of 101st Airborne Division Road will go under resurfacing June 9, an is expected to be finished June 13. The strip extends from Bradley landing in a southwesterly direction.

General Young Receives French Legion Of Honor

Maj. Gen. Robert N. Young, soon to take over as Infantry Center commander at Fort Benning, has been awarded the French Legion of Honor in Tokyo by the French ambassador for his work in commanding the Second Infantry Division in Korea.

General Young was in Tokyo enroute to the U. S. when the award was made.

In presenting the award French ambassador Maurice Dejean said "It has been the privilege of the French detachment in Korea to fight within the framework of your division. Inspired by your example, you have made our soldiers proud of fighting under your orders."

The general expressed praise for the French detachment and their commander, Col. Francois Barrell. "They are among the most courageous and skillful soldiers in Korea," he said.

The Legion of Honor was the third award conferred on General Young recently. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, had previously presented him the Oak Leaf Cluster to his Distinguished Service Medal, and he received the Order of Military Merit, Taeguk, from Lt. Gen. Lee Chong Chan, chief of staff of the Republic of Korea Army.

General Young assumed command of the Second Division on Sept. 20, 1951, a week after the battle for Heartbreak Ridge had begun. Under his leadership, the ridge was secured on Oct. 13.

General Young's other decorations include the Silver Star, Purple Heart, and Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster. During World War II, he served as assistant division commander of the Third Infantry Division.

Morgue Man Saw No Corpse

Pfc. Vincent Trebay worked for five years in a morgue without seeing a cadaver, although he did see an institution die. Before enteering the Army he worked in the morgue of the old New York Sun.

"Morgue is newspaper parlance for the file room and library containing a complete file of newspapers, pictures and other pertinent material staffers use for reference in their daily work," said The Sun die in 1950 when it was bought out by the World Telegram," he said. "That was about as close as I came to ever seeing a corpse."

A veteran of 10 months in Korea, Private Trebay plans to return to his job in the morgue when he is discharged. He is assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section I, 3440th Area Service Unit.

Company E In Lead

Company E with three wins and no losses is pacing seven other clubs in the Infantry School Detachment Softball League. The winning team will represent ISD in the post softball loop in July.

OFFICER TRANSFERS

First Lt. Chester E. Fisher, has been transferred from Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Second Student Regiment to the 125th Company.

Re-ups Now Total 1,023

At the close of business last Saturday the Fort Benning Recruiting Office had reenlisted a total of 1,023 men since January first.

January was the largest month thus far this year with a total of 162 reenlistments. February was next with 148, March with 131 and April with 108.

The March and April totals will undoubtedly be surpassed by the May total. As of May 15 there had been a total of 118 reenlistments for the month.

AF Day Leaves Greater Awareness Of Military

Armed Forces Day for 1952 has come and gone, and in its wake it left a greater awareness among thousands of people of the might of our country's defenses.

The display of Armed Forces power began last week in downtown Columbus, and reached its climax with a 5,000-man parade down Columbus streets Saturday.

Headed by a composite color guard representing the Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force, the parade included 30 Army trucks and 12 105mm howitzers. Plans for the parade were handled by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce's Military and Naval Affairs Committee, aided by Col. Walter B. Yeager, Infantry Center G-3, who was also director of Fort Benning's Armed Forces Week activities.

The third joint services day theme was Unity, Strength, Freedom. Open houses held by various post units sparked the entire week as visitors thronged to the world's most complete Army post.

Open House

The Infantry School's Airborne Department held an open house May 15, observing Armed Forces Week and its 10th anniversary jointly. A series of ground and airborne demonstrations was presented, and visitors rode in the 250-foot "buddy seat" used in training paratroopers.

Combat Training Command held open house on Armed Forces Day, with a static display of Infantry weapons and equipment set up on Tiger Field. Guests toured unit areas, saw a demonstration by the 30th Infantry Regiment's Third Battalion drum and bugle corps, and watched a baseball game between the CTC Commanders and the Tuskegee, Ala., Veterans Administration team.

On May 18, the Fort Benning WAC Detachment threw open its doors in a joint observance of Armed Forces Week and the Corps' 10th anniversary. Highlight of the open house was a cake-cutting ceremony.

On May 16, businessmen and civic leaders of Columbus and Phenix City attended a special Infantry Center open house. The visitors saw an Airborne demonstration, had lunch in the field, toured the First Officer Candidate Regiment area, and saw a demonstration of the capture of an "enemy hill" by the 550th Tank Company and The Infantry School's Tactical Department.

Ministers Tour

The Columbus-Phenix City Ministerial Association toured Fort Benning May 12 as guests of The Infantry Center's Chaplains Section. The ministers visited the Army Education Center, including the remedial reading laboratory, watched firing demonstrations and witnessed Airborne training.

Also on May 12 Boy Scouts from Montezuma, Ga., were official guests. During their day-long visit, the scouts saw Airborne demonstrations and weapons firing, had lunch in the field, and went on a conducted tour of the post.

Last Saturday, 75 members of the Calhoun County 4-H club toured The Infantry Center. The day before, Georgia Optimists attending a convention in Columbus saw an Infantry-Tank team demonstration and toured the post.

The Saturday parade saw Columbusites and people from surrounding areas throng the streets watching the gigantic parade of Armed might. The parade was led by two military policemen and two civilian policemen on motorcycles, followed by Col. Harry Grizzard, parade commander, and members of his staff that included representatives from Lawson Air Force Base, the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, and Combat Training Command.

Units that took part in the parade included the 122nd Army Band, the 434th Maintenance Squadron from Lawson Air Force Base, 150 cadets from the Naval ROTC unit at Auburn, Ala., the 30th Infantry Regiment's First Battalion, Battery C of the 41st Field Artillery Battalion, the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team's First and Second Battalions, and 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion's Battery A.

A composite officer candidate battalion from the First Officer Candidate Regiment, a detachment from the Women's Army Corps Detachment here, Navy recruiting personnel, representatives of the Organized Reserve Corps, the National Guards, 560th Engineer Combat Battalion and Army and Air Force recruiting officials ended the parade.

All-Benning Art Contest Uncovers Talent Galore

The annual All-Benning Art show held Sunday at the Girl Scout Little Cabin uncovered a host of talented Fort Benning artists as more than 100 entries were judged in the competition.

Col. George A. Millener, Director of The Infantry School's Weapons Department, presented awards to the winners last Sunday afternoon. The contest was sponsored by the Literature and Arts group of the Fort Benning Woman's Club.

Lt. Charles J. Curry took first place in the oil painting category, while Erie Jackson took first honorable mention and Mrs. R. W. Stenquist took second honorable mention.

In the water color painting, Mrs. Gene H. Ives took first place, Pvt. Mohamed B. A. Drisi won first honorable mention, and Erle Jackson won second honorable mention.

Winners in the design category were Cpl. Lewis R. Sinyder, first place, Pfc. Joseph C. Blank, first honorable mention, and Capt. Eric Q. Picker, second honorable mention.

Drawing

First prize in the drawing category was taken by Pvt. Mohamed B. A. Drisi, first honorable mention by Pvt. Stanley Muszeruk, and second honorable mention by Pvt. Mohamed B. A. Drisi.

Carmron Harbin won first prize in modelling.

In the children's group, age 6-9, first prize went to Yvonne Harney, first honorable mention to Douglas Hundley, and second honorable mention to Scott Grieves.

Jim Macomber took first place in the 10-13 age group, while Leslie J. Wiley won first honorable mention and second honorable mention went to Donna Burgett.

Judges for the show were Miss Clayton Reed, Anthony Mani, and Jim Miner, all of Columbus.

The committee in charge of the contest included Mrs. Warren Nocsaman, Mrs. Robert McGraw, Mrs. Joe Hennessee, Mrs. James W. Harrison and Mrs. Schiller Shore.

Summer Play Set for Kids

A summer recreational program for the children of all military personnel will start on June 23 and end on August 1.

The Children's School, in cooperation with the Youth Activities program, will start a playground-type of program. Teachers from the school on the post will act as instructors.

Capt. A. H. Ray, coordinator for the school, said, "This program is a part of the Youth Activities Council over all program to provide the children of Fort Benning with planned and constructive recreation during the summer months."

The playgrounds of Children's School No. 1, No. 2, Custer Terrace and Benning Park will run from 8 a.m. Monday thru Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. schedule for their activities.

The activities will cover outdoor sports, indoor games, athletics, arts and crafts, hobbies, field trips, and excursions. A music and dramatic teacher will circulate among the playgrounds to assist in short periods of rhythmic and group singing and dramatics.

Pay Bill

ance for enlisted personnel. This runs concurrently with the Dependents Act of 1950 which expires April 30, 1953.

At that time, Congress may elect to continue the act or let it drop. If they drop it, this would mean that dependents of enlisted men below the rank of E-4 would not receive any quarters allowance.

The Defense Department has stated that increases in monthly allotment checks reflecting the rate cannot be effected for three months due to mechanical difficulties. The increase, however, will be paid to the individual serviceman as an increment of his regular pay as two months following the month in which the bill is enacted. Thereafter, the raise will be reflected in regular monthly allotment checks.

Leave rations and commuted rations are not increased under the terms of the act. These items are authorized to be adjusted by provisions of the annual appropriations act.

that time for training purposes.

"Training efficiency will be increased as much as 20 per cent, and more students can be put through range firing in a fraction of the time now used," Colonel Williams declared.

Saves Material

Simpson Range will save in material as well as manpower. Self-sealing rubber surfaces on the targets will allow an estimated 1,500 bullets to puncture each square inch without harming the target's electronic system. Targets, which cost about $12 each, will be replaced only once every six months.

Simpson Range is a transition-type firing range whose 32 targets pop up at various distances to give riflemen practice in hitting quick-action human movements.

Four of the targets also will move laterally to simulate a man's running motion.

The new range will use only 10 controllers who will flick switches to raise targets. Manually operated ranges are staffed by about 60 men who stand in pits and raise targets by hand and lower them when riflemen score hits.

On the new range, shooters will have from 30 to 60 seconds to hit the target before it drops automatically.

If a hit is scored, the bullet punctures a wire-mesh screen, short-circuits the target's electrical system and forces it to disappear.

injury for the first quarter of 1952. Colonel Brockman also received an award on behalf of the provisional medical group motor pool which drove 102,582 miles in January and February without an accident.

Lt. Col. M. H. Reynolds, combat training command received an award for the 78 Engineer Battalion which drove 103,976 miles during September and October, 1951 with out an accident; Maj. W. B. Logan, post transportation section, percentage of reduction civilian personnel injured rate for the first quarter of 1952.

Col. Tupper Speaks

Col. S. R. Tupper, acting Infantry Center commander while Brig. Gen. Guy Meloy Jr. in Washington, welcomed the guests.

He said 35,000,000 miles have been driven by military vehicles on the post since the last fatality, as compared to 26 killed in civilian motor vehicle accidents involving military personnel during 1951.

Also speaking at the morning sessions, Columbus Public Safety Director Tom Erwin told the group that violation of the right of way was responsible for the greatest number of accidents in Columbus last year.

Speeding was the second greatest hazard, while driving under the influence of intoxicants ranked third in causing accidents.

Mr. Erwin, in comparing recent accident figures, said that Columbus reached a total of 210 accidents in 1951, as compared with 74 for the first four months of 1952.

Mr. Erwin pointed out that although his department is hampered by lack of funds, co-operation from local authorities and the press has made it possible for the Safety Department to cut accident rates.

They will have lunch that day at the Third Army Food Service School.

The visitors are scheduled to leave Fort Benning June 5 for the Naval Base at Norfolk, Va., to continue their tour of Armed Forces installations.

The 13th Joint Civilian Orientation Conference begins May 27 in Washington, D. C., with a tour of the Pentagon. The civilian group also will visit the Marine Corps Base at Quantico, Va., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., before coming to The Infantry Center.

A tentative rainy day schedule has been arranged for the Benning phase, Col. Donald McPherson reported. It will include a visit to The Infantry School's Operations Office, followed by a demonstration of Infantry firepower at Hook Range.

The rainy day schedule also will include visits to The Infantry School's Airborne, Automotive and Communications Departments and the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

Other Clubs Chase ISD

When practically the same lineup of clubs returned from the 1951 season for the present Fort Benning Baseball League campaign everybody said they would make a much better contest of it.

The attendance to date—some 7,150 fans for just over a dozen games — proves that, but what the rail birds forgot to note was how much better Infantry School Detachment would do this season with practically the same lineup of players from 1951.

The torrid Professors, under the first year management of Woody Burt, racked up two victories this week in a fashion which hints that they might go through the first half of the double round robin schedule unbeaten. It's five straight now.

They showed they had the ninth inning clutch stuff in downing the Provisional Medical Group, 3-2, in a surprise thriller last Friday, and then held together better than Combat Training Command Sunday for a 6-5 decision over the pre-season favorites in a butter-fingers wierdy.

Forced Rest

If the other clubs can't cool the Profs then the schedule will, dictating idleness for the league leaders this coming week while the other clubs catch their breaths and try to catch up, period.

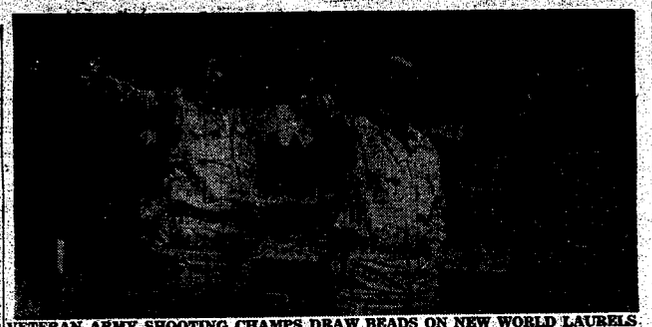
First Student Regiment, still one of the best balanced clubs in the loop, has a chance to close the gap between first and second place to a half game. (They met ASU Provisional Group last night in a game too late for this edition.)

They also face Second Student Regiment at 2 p.m. Saturday at Gowdy Field. The Rockets have shown little in hitting or pitching thus far, but this is something of a family feud and Manager Bob Morrow may be able to fire up his crew long enough to make it interesting.

Either Provisional Medical Group or Lawson Field will come out of the cellar when those two meet at 8 p.m. Friday night at the main post diamond. Both clubs have a couple of good front line pitchers, but they are lacking in offense, which might be the tip off for a close mound duel anyway.

Third place hinges on what ASU and CTC do in games Sunday and Wednesday. The Commanders, who look good on paper, but don't show it in the clutches, have apparent easy pickings against Lawson Field at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Manager Lewis Grizzard's Raiders, another outfit which has jelled well not unlike ISD, spars with the Medics at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.



VETERAN ARMY SHOOTING CHAMPS DRAW BEADS ON NEW WORLD LAURELS
(L. to r.) Maj. William Hancock, M-Sgt. Joe Benner and WO Oscar Weinmeister.

Hancock, Benner Arrive For Olympic Team Bids

Two members of the last United States International shooting team this week settled down to serious business here of earning berths on the 1952 International team and the U. S. Olympic pistol squad.

They are M-Sgt. Joe Benner, the current world's champion pistol shot, and Maj. William Hancock, veteran All - Army team member who arrived at Fort Benning last week from duty in Japan.

Benner and Hancock joined WOJG Oscar Weinmeister, of Fort Knox, Ky., a member of the 1951 All-Army team, who has been training at the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club range for the past several weeks.

All three of them are rated an excellent chance to fire scores here between now and May 31 which will qualify them for the final International and Olympic try outs at Fort Sheridan, Ill., June 19-25, by Benning's keenly critical major domo of Army shooting, Col. Perry D. Swindler.

Dates Listed

The International Matches are slated July 6-16 in Oslo, Norway, with the Olympic competition July 19-29 in Helsinki, Finland.

Benner won his world's title in 1949 in the International Matches and Pan American Olympics in Buenos Aires. Hancock also was on that year's U. S. International squad which won first place in 30-cal., second place in slow fire and third place in rapid fire.

A fourth hopeful, Lt. Col. Tom Sharpe, fro mFort Sill, Okla., is due this week. He and Benner were top men selected by Col. Swindler for this year's All - Army pistol team.

Far East Success

Hancock captained the Far East Headquarters and Service Command squad which won the three major tourneys in Japan in the last year. He copped all of the individual awards in these events.

Holder of the Army's Distinguished Marksman badge for both pistol and rifle, a combination owned by less than 50 active shooters today, Hancock began his gun career in high school inPhoenix, Ariz., and continued it with the U. of Arizona.

He was Sixth Army rifle and pistol champion in 1948-49, but his most noteworthy feat yet came in 1937 when he won the duPont Trophy, emblematic of the nation's top combination large and small bore and pistol shooter.

Benner, who probably holds more medals, trophies and prizes than any shooter, was second in the Olympic rapid fire competition in London and has been a member of the U. S. International team since 1939.

Solid Background

Weinmeister finished in a tie for fourth in the recent National Mid-Winter tournament at Tampa, won by Benner, and in a tie for third in the Flamingo Championships in Miami after again qualifying for the U. S. Army pistol team here.

A native of Atlanta, he climaxed his 12 years of shooting last fall when he placed third in the National Pistol Championships in San Francisco while competing with Col. Swindler's crack crew.

Shooters for the shoulder - to - shoulder try outs at Fort Sheridan will be selected by the National Rifle Association on the basis of their three best gun of scores submitted between February and May 31.

Tatum Tops Duncan For Golf Title

Youth was served royally Sunday as Matt Tatum, 24-year-old second lieutenant who has been playing only three years, defeated Bill Duncan, a 16-year-old in his first tournament action, 7 and 5, in the 36-hole championship flight finals of the 1952 Officers Mess Golf tournament at Fort Benning Country Club.

Tatum was seven-up after the morning round with a medal score of 74. Shooting better in the afternoon, he was even with par for 27 and had Duncan nine down with nine to go.

The Columbus high school student tried to make something of the hopeless situation, however, by winning the next three holes before Tatum closed it out on the 31st. Both played better golf in the afternoon round.

Trips Par

Tatum shot the opening nine in 36, to Duncan's 39, and came in 35 to Bill's 42. The former U. of Florida student fired a one-under-par 35 going out in the afternoon to a one-over 37 for Duncan.

Tatum, who lasted for two rounds in the championship flight of last summer's Southeastern Amateur tournament in Columbus, fashioned an 80 to qualify. He beat L. C. Kyle Jr., Bob Ives and Jim Lancy in succeeding rounds.

The best round of the tournament was fired by veteran Bill Harbour who had a 69 in downing Art Rafferty, 2 and 1, to win the championship consolation. Harbour lost out of the championship flight several weeks ago when nudged by Duncan who fired a 73, his best, to Harbour's 74.

John Henlon took the first flight crown by beating Kyle, 2 and 1, and the second flight title went to Jon Richmond who defeated Herman Rabinowitz, 1 up.

Lower Flights

Jim Daniels beat R. L. Ozier, 2 up, in the third flight finals while Mike Hayes tripped D. L. Keeler for the fourth flight title.

Fifth flight went to James Bruce who downed Bob Goff, 3 and 1, and the sixth flight to Bruno Jastremski who defeated Sam Cromwell, 6 and 4.

An elaborate set of trophies and merchandise prizes were awarded all winners by Col. Charles Owens, president of the board of the Main Officers Mess, following Sunday's action.

Baseball Clinic Set

A baseball clinic for Little League and American Legion players in the Fort Benning and Columbus area is scheduled a week from Saturday, May 31, at Memorial Golden Park. The program will be conducted by the Columbus Cardinals starting at 10:00 a.m.

Sunday Firing Up in Hope Of Making Riflemen Here

Army Field Forces currently is launching a program which will lead to competitive shooting between all soldiers right down to company level, but the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club is going AFF one better for the moment.

The Benning group is offering all of its facilities and talents to all men on post — without any cost to them — in an effort to interest more men in shooting as a hobby and a military skill.

"The rifleman is the heart of the infantry and it stands to reason that we're interested in shooting from that angle," explains Lt. Col. Alack MacDonald, club president. "But shooting also provides a maximum of personal relaxation and sports competition for men who, like their leisure hours outdoors."

Any would-be male Annie Oakleys can draw rifles from their companies on Sunday mornings and report to Easley Range just off Dixie Road on the main post. Dress is optional and you can shoot all you want with ammunition furnished from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

If you're going in for it in a big way, you can get some expert coaching free from Lt. Ruth Brooks, range officer, on the outlines for the clubs to the likes of these meets.

Capt. Rinaldo Del Signore, Capt. Malone and Sfc. Wilburne Fristik, other club members in on the project.

Regardless of how good a shooter you are, now would seem to be the time to get started in the Sunday sessions. Increasing emphasis on Army marksmanship indicated that competitive rifle firing for troops may become mandatory.

Benning's Rifle and Pistol Club plans to launch in the near future a monthly series of service caliber rifle matches open to all post personnel.

Some of Benning's more advanced riflemen can use the Sunday outings to sharpen their sights for two NRA Southeastern Regional tournaments which are scheduled here. They are the small bore rifle tourney July 12-13 and the high power rifle tourney Aug. 9-10.

Also the 1952 National Rifle and Pistol Championships — the World Series of rifle competition — is slated here June 30 through Sept. 1. Most shooters plan to return here June 8.

Lee Hurt, Out Of 3-A Ring; Ernie Hall In

Ray Lee, the blond bomber who was Fort Benning's most experienced and probably best fighter, this week was ruled out of the All Army boxing tournament May 27-31 at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Lee, of Headquarters and Service company, Airborne Battalion, First Student Regiment, is suffering from a recurrance of an old ear infection in addition to having severely strained skin tissues in his left thumb and wrist.

The latter injury was inflicted when he beat Harold Coles, of the 11th Airborne, for the Third Army light middleweight championship two weeks ago. Lee returned Monday from the Third Army team's training site at Camp Gordon, Ga., for medical attention.

Hall Makes It

Another Benning slugger was added to the squad, however. Ernest Hall, 145-pounder from First Student Regiment who was beaten in the 3-A finals, was picked to represent the area in the welter division at Fort Monmouth.

Hall was added when John Burke, of Fort Bragg, was declared out because of cuts suffered when he beat Hall two weeks ago for the welter crown.

Benning's boxing team coach, said late Tuesday he is trying to land Coles to fill Lee's vacancy. Coles, who lost a very close decision to Lee, was last year's All-Army middleweight champ and reached the semi-finals in the Pan American Olympics in Buenos Aires in 1950.

Good Squad

"Hall really looked good in his last fight in the Third Army tourney," commented Perlman Tuesday. "In fact, his loss in the title go was the only decision in the meet I felt like beefing about.

"I think we've got a good team and hope we can bring back at least three titles. Little Len James (lightweight from First Student Regiment) is my main hope, but as luck would have it he has two of the best fighters in the All Army tournament as opponents."

Perlman said the Benning fighters plan to return here June 4.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

M-SGT LEW JENKINS, whom you may have had the pleasure of meeting in a street fight somewhere between here and Rangoon and Pusan, is at Fort Benning replete with guitar and gaping grin. He's an ex - cow poke from Sweetwater, Tex., who never ducked a brawl in his life and he has the Silver Star and the record of the lightweight championship of the world to prove it.

Lew got the Star in Korea — from Bloody Ridge to Heartbreak Hill — where he was a platoon sergeant for nine months. He won the lightweight crown in 1940 by putting the long snore on Lou Ambers in three rounds with one of the hardest right hands seen on any puncher in the last couple of decades.

If you've followed the boxing racket long you don't need much of a refresher course on the skinny - looking ex-champ who when he isn't fighting somebody is one of the nicest guys who ever made a mattress model out of some mother's little boy. He was top box office because he had the killer instinct — like Dempsey — which is what the fight mob goes for, and, like I say, few guys in his division ever hit harder. You can look that up in the books.

Lew himself is not nuts for books and he always cared about as little for training. Which explains why when they forced him to get into shape he beat Bob Montgomery, starched Pete Lello, Bill Marquart and Tippy Larkin and boxed Fritzie Zivic, the welter champ, a draw, and why, when he wouldn't listen any more, he lost to Montgomery, in a rematch, got beat by Red Cochrane, dropped the title to Sammy Angott in 1941 and was belted out by Zivic.

But let Jenkins, who says everything through a thick smile, tell it in his own words.

"I'm having too good a time for a lot of training," he starts. "Good time kid, that's me; set 'em up for everybody every place I go. I'd rather play the guitar and sing cowboy songs, I did, too. Played a string of night spots in Philly —that's home now — New York City and Washington. This was 1950 and they went for me good.

"Maybe in my best years I made $80,000 or $90,000 a year. I've got a house to show for it now. Blew it all. Blew the title and they stole some from me, too. Heck, I changed managers every fight. What a bunch of crooks those guys, but no hard feelings, understand. I've got a boy four. He beats kids six years old and a couple of months makes a lot of difference at that age. I'm just teaching him to protect himself, understand, but if he comes along — well, you read about him in the newspapers one of these days.

"When I had the title there wasn't a mark on me, no nose like this now. I got all this afterwards, fighting a bunch of bums when I'm not in shape, but I still beat most of them. In 1949, after I came out of the Army, won seven straight, beat guys like Red DeFazio and Eddie Glosa, and I'm nothing, not even a shadow of myself. In 1950, I fought a couple more, but I'm 33 then. What can you expect?

"But these guys fighting now. They all woulda rated 10th against the guys in my day. The last good fighter I saw was Joe Louis. Nobody was better than Louis. He would of knocked out Dempsey in two rounds. You know why? 'cause Dempsey comes in like this — arms all over the place like Graziano did against Robinson last month — and Louis gives Dempsey a straight right, like Robinson does Graziano, and that's the end of the fight."

But the wandering and the scuffling is all over for him now, says Jenkins. He's found a home in the Army, and don't smile when you say that to him, pally. With the Coast Guard which he joined in 1942 shortly after losing the title, he made landings on an LST at Sicily, Salerno, in Burma and at Normandy. He's got the British commendation medal and the English pass out war trophies like you give up three - day passes.

Lew became citizen Jenkins in 1945, won four straight fights and then joined the Army because "I'm patriotic or something, but I like it." He pulled duty in Japan, got out in '48 to play the guitar and box some, and re - upped in August 1950 "when the war started," as he says of the United Nations' police action in Korea.

He'll bust the battery on your hearing aid, grandpa, talking about boxing, but he's not much for lip service about the Star. What he does tell is this. His was G Company, 38th Regiment, Second Infantry Division. Last August they got outflanked by Communists and for 21 days they're cut off and it's worse than any fracas he had in any of hobo jungles and saloons on the trail from Sweetwater to Madison Square Garden.

"I'm only the luckiest guy in the world because I came out of that one alive," admits Lew, who practices wearing nothing save the silver and blue combat infantry badge over his left pocket. "Here I am in wars from Normandy to the Philippines and not a scratch yet. Can you beat it?"

You've got to envy a guy like this. He's had the best and the worst and lived and loved every minute of it. His kisser is a mess, but the sincerity of his smile is warm and beautiful. Not many guys could pay the price to live his life and fewer yet would come out of it with "no hard feelings understand." If you like your heros well done, Lew Jenkins is your guy.

Ellis Finishes 13th In National Marathon

Fort Benning's Dick Ellis, Third Army five-mile champion, gave a good account of himself in placing 12th Sunday in the 26-mile, 385-yard National Marathon at Yonkers, N. Y.

Ellis' time was a respectable two hours, 57 minutes and 49 seconds in the gruelling endurance test which attracted more than 75 entries.

Lionel Pinn, another marathon veteran from Fort Benning, placed 35th in the time of 4:19.33.

Dela Fuente Is Out

Vince Dela Fuente, second string quarterback with the champion Special Troops Rams' football team last fall, was discharged this week. The Infantry School Detachment athlete also was prominent in post swimming competition.

Field Trials Saturday

By CAPT. CRAIG SCOTT
PIO, Combat Training Command

The first field trials of Fort Benning's newly organized night Hunters of America Club will get under way at 1 p.m. Saturday at the upper portion of King's Pond.

Drag and river races and coon-on-the-log contest will highlight the proceedings, and for the uninitiated here's a brief breakdown on one of nation's fastest growing sports for outdoorsmen.

A drag race consists of dragging an object, sprinkled with natural coon scent, over a predetermined course terminating a tree, in full spectator view.

A live coon is tied, or placed in a cage, high in the tree. Two flags are placed, one on either side of the scent trail, in the vicinity of the tree. The dogs are brought to the starting line and released on the starter's signal.

Mile Course

The course is usually a mile long or greater and often the race is run off in heats, winning dogs of the preliminary heats competing in the finals.

As the dogs give tongue on the trail, each owner traces his dog's progress by picking out of the music of the pack the long-bawl, chop or bugle voice of his animal. The first dog that barks at the tree in which the coon has been fastened is the tree winner.

The river race is similar to the drag except that it is a rougher course, more deceiving, and part of the time the dogs are swimming or running through water.

Swimming Skill

Courage and training keynote the coon - on - the - log contests. The dogs, one at a time, must swim several yards from shore and pull a large coon off a log then swim for fifteen feet with him in two minutes.

This is a feat that only the best dogs can accomplish. A boat stands by to rescue both dog and coon should the occasion demand.

Coons are changed frequently to prevent them from tiring.

Spectators will be welcomed to the events and guests are invited to enter their dogs at the time of the event. Judges, licensed by the Night-Hunters of America, will officiate.

Endurance, training and grit highlighted the first field try outs of the Nigh-Hunters Club May 3, at Upper King's Pond.

Recent Trial

Bozie, a dog owned and handled by Ed Butts, of Seale, Ala., opened first at the tree. Rocky, owned by Charles Edwards, also of Seale, was line winner in the drag event.

Sgt. Malcom Hinson's dog, Trouble, in a performance that brought gasps of admiration from spectators, won first honors in the coon - on - the - log contest. Lt. Cecil Boggs' big dog, Trump, spilled the snarling coon off the log and provided the onlookers with a lively display of hound courage during the water fight.

Lt. Thelbert Fountain, game warden for the Fort Benning Fish and Game Maintenance Association, is president of the Night Hunters Club which also includes numerous civilians from surrounding communities.

Webster To Go With 3-A Track Team

Another Fort Benning athlete this week was added to the roster of the Third Army track and field team which is continuing drills here in preparation for the 1952 All - Army championships starting May 27 in California.

S. L. Webster, of Infantry School Detachment, was named to the squad to fill the vacancy left when Combat Training Command's Royce Fortune left post on leave.

Fortune had placed second for Benning in the Third Army 100-yard dash.

Webster, former Birmingham, Ala., prep star, finished in a tie for second in the high jump in the recent 3-A meet at Doughboy Stadium. He leaped six feet, four inches which was an even inch under the winning mark of Fort Jackson's giant Jim Cooke.

Seven From Here

That brings to seven the number of Fort Benning speedsters on the team. The others are runners Wilfred Bivens and Dick Ellis, hurdler Truman Medders, and field men Larry Goins, George (Ding Dong) Bell and Joe Campbell.

Third Army track coach, Lt. Cecil Dickerson, of Fort Jackson, was at 3-A headquarters at Fort McPherson early this week to complete arrangements for the team's travel to the west coast.

They probably will leave by plane this weekend for the four-day A-A meet at the University of California's famed Baker Field.

ASU Swim Meet Is Scheduled June 28

An ASU Provisional Group swimming tournament is scheduled June 28th at Briant Wells Field House, 1200. hours.

Events scheduled include 300-yd. Medley relay, 200-yd free style, 50-yd. free style, 1 meter diving competition, 100-yd. back stroke, 100-yd free style, 100 yd breast stroke, 400 yd free style, 3 meter diving competition, 150 yd individual medley, and 400 yd free style relay.

Major Sports Play Slated By CTC

Combat Training Command Special Services is launching a series of sports programs beginning with an eight-team baseball league at battalion level which was to open this week at Bullet Field.

The CTC tennis tournament is set June 5-6, followed by a swimming meet, June 12-13, and the opening of a battalion - level softball league, Aug. 11.

Capt. Bill Harbour, veteran pro, is directing activities for the 1952 Fort Benning golf tournament which will be held at the Sand Hill Course June 25-28. The tourney is open to all enlisted men on post.

Profs Cop Pair, Make It 5 In Row

Fort Benning Baseball League action in the past week went from the brilliant to the brazen, paced by Infantry School Detachment's double win for their fifth in a row against no losses.

In the best game of the young season, the Profs downed Provisional Medical Group, 2-1, in the ninth inning, which halted a good pitching duel between ISD's Bob Cronin, winning his second, and the Medics' Floyd Kendall.

Athletic and stolen base by Medic first baseman Al Easley in the third set up the only tally off Cronin. He scored on succeeding ground outs.

Mound Duel

That one-run margin stood until the ninth when Kendall, former York, Pa., semi-pro hurler, hit leadoff batter Mel Southall who promptly pilfered second. Jim Howard, five-foot, six-inch pinch hitter from Toledo, O., evened it up by blasting a triple off the right field screen.

Howard scored on Ray Blankenship's single after two were out.

Next, the Profs hooked up in what was supposed to be a big pitching duel between their ace Joe Feinstein and CTC's John Freeman. The latter gave up only two runs and Feinstein only one, but a series of skull plays and wild throws behind them made it wind up 6-5 in ISD's favor.

Bad Backstops

The game illustrated one fact which has been obvious most of the league's pitchers are way ahead of their respective catchers.

Going from the good to the goofy, ASU Provisional Group's Raiders hopped into third place when they atom bombed Second Student Regiment, 20-0. A record for errors (12 in all), runs and playing time (three hours) was set in this one and the only thing else you need know about this one is what you'll find in the boxscore.

It was just about as bad when First Student Regiment teed off against Lawson's Dick Ripoll for nine hits and a 15-to-1 decision. Some bad errors behind poor Richard made him look worse.

DIAMOND DUST

7-Inning Limit For Wild Tilts

It's official now. Any team which gets seven runs ahead of its rival in the early stages of a Fort Benning Baseball League game can go home the winner after seven innings.

Athletic and recreation officers from all units concerned voted in the rule Monday. It will prevent fabulous scoring, hitting and error totals on days when one team just doesn't have it.

DIAMOND DUST: Manager Bobby Clark's Commanders downed the Tuskegee Veterans Administration nine, 6-2, Saturday with Bernie Barnes belting a homer and lefty Manford Metcalf pitching the route . . . As a reward, Barnes broke into the CTC lineup in league action Sunday. . . .

Fans reacted with mixed emotions to sheer black basketball jerseys worn with regulation baseball gear otherwise by First S. R. in their game Saturday: Looked very cool, indeed, but not quite like baseball, they opined . . . ASU hurler Bill Boss on emergency leave.

Bill Hahn, ASU outfielder, celebrated his first wedding anniversary Tuesday . . . ISD hurler Bob Cronin gave up a pro diamond career to stay in the Army and now has eight years service to his credit . . . He played football and sat Colorado State College. . . . First sacker Mel Southall one of the most improved veterans on the ISD roster.

Best play of the week was made by Medic third sacker Hal Keating. With two ISD runners on in the seventh, Hal speared a line drive by Bill Gill and doubled off the runner trying to advance from second . . . Incidentally, Floyd Kendall was as right as the new GI pay bill pitching for Manager Adolph Maeika's crew Friday night.

Best line of chatter in the circuit comes from ASU Manager Lewis Grizzard in the third base coach's box . . . Willie Sayers, who pitches, too, moved from seventh to fourth in the Raider BA and Second S. R.'s Mike Michalski from seventh to third.

Property Office Saves Taxpayer's Money Here

The Quartermaster Property Disposal Office here is the Army's right hand when it comes to saving money.

But this office not only saves money, it also makes money for the Army by selling used items.

"We try to save in some way on every item turned in to this office," says Major Leon Forney, officer in charge.

Wooden boxes picked up around the post are available to the units for packing and crating and can be obtained at a saving of 24 or 25 a box over commercial prices, according to Major Forney.

All worn out linen items turned in to the Disposal Office are converted into rags. Approximately 2,000 pounds of rags from these items are turned back to Fort Benning troops weekly. The estimated saving resulting from this process is $800 a week, Major Forney says.

Scrap turned in to the Disposal Office results in a saving also, he said. A piece of copper bar stock, three inches by one fourth inch by seven feet can be obtained from the Disposal section for as little as three dollars and twelve cents. The same size of copper bar is priced at $21.19 if bought on the market.

"We have been able to save in man hours, too," explained the major. "In the past, it took 10 men two days to load a car of scrap metal. Now that we use a clamshell it takes two men only four hours to load the car."

There also is a saving on lumber for small jobs, he explained. A load of lumber is approximately 2,000 board feet, and the cheapest is priced at $100 per 1,000 board feet. The Disposal Officer has sufficient lumber available for small construction jobs at no cost.

This office also resells egg cases and vegetable hampers. If the items are clean and have not been used for garbage, egg cases bring 11 cents and the hampers 66 cents.

Tin cans are sold to an approved detinning company for reclaiming. These cans normally bring $22 a ton, and approximately 50 tons are sold each month.

Major Forney also reported that as soon as a crane and other equipment becomes available to the Disposal Office an estimated 200 tons of scraps can be picked up in the field for as little as $2 a ton.

PVT. JOHN SILLIMAN, chief of A MEDAL OF HONOR WINNER, 1st Lt. Lloyd L. Burke, will tell his own story of heroic action on this Sunday's edition of "Fort Benning Feature Page" (WGBA AM-FM, Sunday noon).

The young, mild-mannered hero of the Korean conflict will be honored guest on the "Feature Page" presentation and his daring story of life in actual combat promises to provide excellent listening.

Lt. Burke hails from Stuttgart, Ark., and was awarded the Medal of Honor on the eleventh day of April, 1952. Make "Fort Benning Feature Page" a listening habit for each Sunday afternoon over radio station, WGBA AM-FM, Columbus, Ga.

MUSIC, NEWS AND A PERSONAL INTERVIEW are the orders of the day on "Benning In Review" (WRBL AM-FM, 6:15, Saturday evening).

The Combat Training Command reporter, Pfc. Bill Nowland, believes in doing the unusual with his portable sound recorder, and the result of his latest in-the-field recording may be heard this Saturday evening on "Benning In Review".

Reporter Nowland placed himself and his recorder in one of the CTC's target tanks and rode with the tank's driver out into the target area where he allowed himself to be fired upon as he rode along inside the tank.

The interview, to say the least, is different, and you will hear the results of recording in when you tune to WRBL this Saturday evening at 6:15.

25-MAN TORNADO EMERGENCY DISASTER TEAM
Food School Students And Cadre Helped Alapaha, Ga.

Third Army Food Service School Helps in Disaster

The Third Army Food Service School's disaster relief team now considers themselves full fledged veterans.

The 25-man relief team has returned from the tornado stricken town of Alapaha, Ga., where disaster victims lined up to receive Army chow from the food school's field kitchen set up in the emergency area.

The disaster team, part of the Food Service School for four years, received its first emergency call May 11, when a tornado destroyed the Georgia town.

Trucks from the First Transportation Battalion here rushed the relief team to Alapaha, where a field kitchen was in operation in a few hours.

The disaster team assisted the Public Health Service of Georgia in maintaining a fresh water supply, and a garbage disposal service, for the stricken town, and served coffee and sandwiches on a 24-hour schedule for relief workers and disaster victims.

The team also assisted in the dusting and spraying the area with DDT and in clearing debris and storing valuable property and merchandise. They returned here May 15.

Lt. Col. John Anderson, commandant of the Third Army Food Service School, headed the Fort Benning team. He was assisted by Lt. Arnold A. Hunter of the First Transportation Battalion, and Lt. Harry L. Butler, training officer at the Food Service School.

The disaster team is composed of staff members and students of the food school.

Ex-Ballet Dancer In OC Regiment

An ex-ballet dancer and instructor in the Infantry?

Sure enough; and he is a member of the First Officer Candidate Company, First OC Regiment.

Ever since he can remember Paul L. Bauerele has been dancing or learning to dance. When he was 14 he began a serious study of the ballet in his home town of Fort Worth, Texas.

As he became well known he graduated to be an instructor in ballet and eventually wound up as a full partner in a Fort Worth dancing school.

Almost any evening he may be found leaping and spinning across the shiny floors of his new home. He explains that these are "bar exercises" and then proceeds to demonstrate the "plie", "arabesque" and other steps familiar to ballet.

Plans for the future? "Just keep on practicing and looking forward to the time when I may dance again", explains the drawling Texan.

Major Barr Writes Quarterly Article

Signs of the Times by Maj. William N. Barr is the subject of an article that appears in the April issue of The Infantry School Quarterly.

The story deals with the standardization of military signs and symbols by all the North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers.

The new NATO system eliminates the obstacle of national differences in military map symbols and enables commanders and staff officers of the allied forces to read the maps of other nations' units without difficulty.

Major Barr, presents the new signs and symbols that are of particular interest to Infantrymen. The new symbols are now being incorporated in all QUARTERLY maps and will be used in the maps prepared for Infantry School instruction.

Plans Are Readied For Memorial Day

Holiday Set Tomorrow

Civilian and military personnel at Fort Benning will have a holiday Friday for Memorial Day.

"All civilian employees will receive the regular eight-hour holiday leave," T. A. Barefoot, chief of the Civilian Personnel Division, stated.

"Only a skeleton crew of emergency personnel, such as firemen and certain key employees at the hospital will report for work on Memorial Day," he concluded.

Infantry Center officials announced that all military personnel would also get a holiday May 30.

Only emergency personnel, such as guard details and key hospital personnel, will report for duty.

Personnel required for duty on the holiday will be notified.

Three Ceremonies and Holiday Arranged for Post Personnel

Fort Benning will observe Memorial Day, May 30, with three separate ceremonies, Col. Walter B. Yeager, Infantry Center G-3, has announced.

A grave decoration ceremony will be held at 10 a.m. in the Post Cemetery, followed by Memorial Day services at 11 a.m. at the flag pole in front of The Infantry School building. Final observance will take place at 2:30 p.m. with special services at the Prisoner of War Monument in Columbus, Ga.

Catholic Lt. Col. Stephen W. Kane, will give the invocation, and Protestant Col. Lexington I. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain, will deliver the sermon.

[Jewish Lt. David Raab will say benediction. Presiding over the services will be Protestant Major Robert B. Herman.

A one-minute period of silence will be observed at the flag pole beginning at 11 a.m., followed by

West Point Class Tour Set June 18

The annual upper class tour of The Infantry Center by the senior class at West Point will begin June 18 this year, with 516 cadets slated to arrive then.

The cadets will be entertained that evening at The Infantry Center commander's official reception and hop at the Main Officers' Mess. Young ladies from Columbus and Fort Benning, and students from Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Ala., have been invited to the hop.

A series of Infantry demonstrations also has been planned to acquaint the future Army officers with Infantry tactics and techniques, Col. Sevier R. Tupper, project officer, announced.

The upperclassmen will watch a rifle and weapons platoon in the attack at Sackett Hill, a small arms fire and the close combat demonstration June 19 at Watkins Range.

They will have lunch in the field, followed by the Rifle Company in the Attack and the Reinforced Rifle Company in the Defense demonstrations.

The cadets also will see the Infantry firepower demonstration, Infantry-tank team in the attack problem and a demonstration of Airborne tactics and techniques.

The cadet softball team will challenge the softball team of

Cost Program Saves $4 Million

The cost consciousness program here has saved $4,500,000, Col. Daniel Hundley, Infantry Center comptroller, said Monday.

Col. Hundley, who presided over a Management Improvement Conference said $20,000 dollars were saved by the Army Efficiency Awards Program alone.

Purpose of the conference was to discuss methods to "get the most out of every defense dollar."

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, opened the conference by pointing out the need for economy in operations.

"The United States is committed to subsidize the entire free world," he said. "These commitments require manpower and supplies," he declared.

Less Money

"We here at Fort Benning, along with all other defense establishments, must operate with fewer men and less money during the coming year."

Gen. Meloy asked Infantry Center officials to expect an honest day's work from every employe, civilian or military, to eliminate waste of every kind, to incur no expense solely for the sake of convenience, and to eliminate all unnecessary activities."

The Management Improvement Program will coordinate

Ethiopian Official Tours TIC Today

Ethiopian Lt. Col. Tesfa Desta will observe Infantry training methods on a tour of The Infantry Center scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Col. Desta, commandant of the Haile Selassie I Military Academy, will be accompanied by Lt. Col. Ralph Eldridge, U.S. military attache-elect to Ethiopia.

During his two-day visit here, Col. Desta will visit The Infantry School's Operations Office, Airborne and Ranger Departments, and the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

The Ethiopian officer will leave Fort Benning May 31 to continue his tour of U. S. military installations.

New Class "Q" SOP Revealed

Dependents of enlisted personnel entitled to receive increased Class Q allotments under amendment to the Career Compensation Act have been urged not to write to finance officers regarding their individual cases.

In virtually all cases the increase will be automatic. Letters of inquiry will serve only to slow the administrative processes. No action by military personnel or their dependents is necessary, the Defense Department stressed.

The Class Q allotment consists of (1) an amount contributed by

Multi-Million Contract Started

The first spade of earth was turned on a $20,000,000 housing project here Monday by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Infantry Center commander, at ground-breaking ceremonies inaugurating the initial phase of work on the project.

The new project, located at the junction of Indian head and Sightseeing Roads on the Main Post, was authorized under the 1952 Military Construction budget.

M. R. Thomason Contracting Company of Montgomery, Ala., was granted the contract for the first phase for a bid of $750,000. The Alabama firm will clear and prepare the land for construction.

Bids for water augmentation have been opened, Col. Richard Ebbs, Infantry Center engineer, said. However, no definite bid has been accepted.

Bids for the other phases will be opened on the following dates: electric facilities, June 10; gas, water and sewer installation, June 13, and buildings June 26.

The housing project will pro-

Post Boys May Enter Derby

The Bayonet is joining forces with the sponsors of the 1953 Soap Box Derby to make this year's running the biggest in history with particular emphasis on Fort Benning entries.

All 11 to 15-year-old male dependents of Fort Benning personnel should register for the July 24 running of the Chattahoochee Valley Soap Box Derby through the Bayonet at the Public Information office located in The Infantry Center Annex.

Sgt. Tim Warren has been named to handle all the Benning contestants. Entry blanks as well as any information about the Derby can be secured from Sergeant Warren. His phone number at the PIO is 3535 and 3536.

Although the race is still more than two months away, there have been more than 30 Columbus entries submitted already. No deadline has been set for entering as yet. However, the boys who enter before June 10 will receive special benefits.

On that date, a Soap Box Derby Rally will be held in Columbus for all those who have signed up for competition. The affair scheduled includes the serving of hot dogs and cold drinks at 4 p.m. at the Columbus Boys Club which is located at 1309 Twenty-ninth street. This will be followed by a showing of the color movie "Winners All".

After the movie there will be a discussion of racer building problems by Derby officials and questions will be answered by an hour-long concert by the 123rd

PX Cards Void After June 30

All current Fort Benning exchange privilege cards will be void after June 30, 1952, Lt. Col. M. H. Steffen, Infantry Center exchange officer has announced.

Issue of new cards for the fiscal year 1953 (July 1, 1953 — June 30, 1953) will begin about June 12, Colonel Steffen said.

He also pointed out that personnel on duty at other stations whose dependents lived in this area should provide their dependents with a letter certified by their commanding officer if they want their dependents to continue enjoying exchange privileges here.

Three Post Men Vie In All-Army Meet

The 1952 All-Army boxing tournament opened Tuesday night at Fort Monmouth, N. J., with possible Olympic berths at stake.

Fort Benning is represented by three fighters. They are welterweight Ernest Hall and lightweight Leonard Jones, of First Student Regiment, and flyweight George Allen, of ABU Provisional Group, as here.

Civilian Attire Rules Outlined

Infantry Center soldiers can enjoy off - duty activities dressed in suit able civilian attire throughout the summer months, Col. James F. Torrence, Infantry Center chief of staff has announced.

Civilian clothing worn will be suitable for the occasion, Colonel Torrence emphasized, and

House May Take Vote On GI Bill Next Week

The new GI Bill, currently being processed in Washington, may come before the House for final approval next week.

The sponsors of the measure which calls for education, loan, unemployment and mustering-out pay benefits anticipate House approval next week and Senate concurrence shortly thereafter.

The bill, as introduced by Rep. Olin E. Teague (D.-Tex.) will grant up to 36 months education to veterans of service on or after June 27, 1950 regardless of where the service was performed.

Persons eligible under the World War II program could take training under both the War II and "Korean" programs up to a maximum of 48 months.

Veterans enrolled in full time training would receive an education and training allowance of $110 monthly if single and, $150 monthly if he has one or more dependents. From this allowance the veteran will be required to pay for his tuition, books and subsistence.

Additional benefits covered by the current bill authorizes GI home, farm and business loans similar to those included in the World War II bill; continues the $160 a month wage credit for the purpose of old-age and survivors insurance benefits; and provides mustering out pay on discharge computed at the rate of $110 for less than 90 days of service; $200 for more than 90 days and $300 for more than 60 days service and service overseas.

Officers above the rank of Captain in the Army, Air Force and Marine Corps and lieutenant senior grade in the Navy would not be eligible for the mustering-out pay.

Retroactive

The pay would be retroactive to all men who were discharged before enactment of the new bill.

First year cost of the bill is estimated at $325 million, and the cost is expected to jump to $836 million yearly when the program gets in full swing.

The education benefits grant one and one half days of training for each day of service on or after June 27, 1950 up to a closing date that will be determined by the President or Congress.

The program of education or training must be initiated within two years after discharge and completed within seven years after discharge. Veteran will be able to make only one change in course program under the terms of the proposed bill.

Enrollment Barred

The measure bars enrollment in any bartendering, dancing or personality development course. Other "avocational and recreational" courses will be permitted only if "bona fide" use in pursuit of his present or contemplated business or occupation.

The education and training allowances stated above for education and training will be cut to $80 and $110 monthly if the veteran is attending school on a three-fourths time basis and to $50 and $70 for a half-time basis.

For apprenticeship or other on-the-job training under the bill the rates are $70 and $95 subject to reduction as the course progresses plus over-all monthly ceilings on earnings and allowances of $225 and $300 respectively.

139 Candidates Win Gold Bars

The most honored branch of the Army is the Infantry, the men who close with the enemy, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger told 139 graduating officer candidates last Friday.

"If you don't like to work with men, stay out of the Infantry," the former World War II Eighth Army commander continued.

The retired general then listed as the most important qualities of leadership, character, valor, courtesy and laughter.

"If you can make your men laugh, you can lead them in combat. Make your men follow you because they respect you, not because you are the boss," Gen. Eichelberger said.

Gen. Eichelberger pinned gold second lieutenant's bars on honor graduate Herbert T. Perrin, son of Brig. Gen. (ret.) and Mrs. H. T. Perrin, of Gambier, Ohio.

Lieutenant Perrin has been assigned as tactical officer to the First Officer Candidate Regiment here.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, introduced General Eichelberger.

Maj. Lewis B. Sheen, assistant Infantry Center chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. Maj. E. M. Shaffer, assistant adjutant general of The Infantry Center, administered the oath of office. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Army Band. During this time the flag will be at half-staff.

A battery from the 41st Field Artillery Battalion will fire the 21-gun national salute at noon, and the flag will be raised to full staff as the band plays the National Anthem.

Fort Benning officials will join Columbus citizens for a tribute to the American fighting man at the 2:30 p.m. observance at the POW monument at the junction of Benning Boulevard and Cusseta Road.

Prior to the services, the 122nd Army Band will play a half-hour concert of patriotic music.

Chaplain (Major) Lewis B. Sheen will give the invocation, and Dr. O. B. Newsome, chaplain of the (Columbus) Charles S. Harrison American Legion Post, will be principal speaker.

Sgt. Donald Carpier of the 30th Infantry Regiment, a World War II prisoner of war, will place a wreath on the monument, and a 30th Infantry firing squad will fire a volley. Taps will be played by two buglers from the band.

The Rev. William C. Oakes, pastor of the Third Avenue Baptist Church in Columbus, will say the benediction.

Guest at the ceremonies will include Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander, Columbus Mayor B. F. Register, members of the City and County Commissions and Firm Roberts, who erected the monument as a memorial to the prisoners of war of World War II.

COMPANY COMMANDER

Capt. J. E. Tremblay Jr., has replaced Capt. Joseph W. Jenkins as company commander for the 101st Company, Second Student Regiment.

BATTALION S-4

Capt. Woodrow I. Wilson, Second Student Regiment, has had his duties changed from battalion executive officer to battalion S-4.

June 3 Marks Vets Corps 36th Army Anniversary

June 3 will mark the 36th anniversary of the Army Veterinary Corps, a corps whose purpose has changed considerably since it was first organized.

When the corps was established in 1916, it was set up to cover the fields of food inspection, preventive medicine, and animal treatment, with emphasis on treatment and control of diseases of Army owned animals.

Today, veterinarians in the Army center their work chiefly on food inspection, since Army ownership of animals has dropped so greatly. Maj. Dwain T. Bowie, Infantry Center veterinarian, said that practically all foods of animal origin purchased by the Army Quartermaster is inspected both at the source and before final acceptance at its destination.

After the food has been inspected, it is up to the veterinarian to see that the products are properly stored until used. Each month here, millions of pounds of foodstuffs are inspected and accepted or rejected.

The veterinarians of the United States and the Army have contributed immeasurably in stamping out diseases and improving the health of our livestock. Through their efforts, cattle in the U. S. have been ridden of tuberculosis, tick fever and hoof and mouth disease. All meats and meat by-products shipped in inter - state commerce must by law be veterinary inspected.

economy planning already in existence at The Infantry Center including programs for manpower economy, work measurement, work simplification, Army efficiency awards, cost consciousness, supply economy, paper conservation and machine utilization.

Infantry Center organizations and Infantry School departments have been asked to appoint a management improvement officer to correlate cost consciousness and supply economy.

Civilian

will include a coat and necktie when appropriate.

Sport shirts may be worn while attending moving pictures in post theaters, sports activities, or service clubs. The term sport shirt includes the T-shirt type, provided it is colored. White T-shirts, regardless of any unit or insignia or designation, are not acceptable as an outer garment in public.

Sport shirts may be worn as an outer garment in the officers mess prior to 5:30 p. m. daily, but after that time coat and tie are required.

Athletic clothing may be worn when actively engaged in athletic activities, or proceeding to or from activities.

Operators of services such as service club hostesses, theater ushers, etc., will refuse service to violators of the clothing regulations.

Under no circumstances, Colonel Torrence emphasized, will civilian clothes be mixed with uniform clothes.

Eighty Expected To Enroll In Benning College Branch

An enrollment of at least 80 for the first quarter of operation at Fort Benning by the Columbus center of the University of Georgia seems assured.

Director Rembert C. Houser said that more than 30 students from the post already have registered for summer quarter classes, which begin June 12.

An additional 50 slips have been issued by the Information and Education office for military personnel to attend under the Army's purchase order plan, he said.

Mr. Houser urged all military personnel and their dependents to register Tuesday, June 3, Thursday, June 5, or Tuesday, June 10.

The office is located in Building 2515 in the TI&E area and will be open from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on those days, he said Those are the only days so far that night hours have been scheduled. Normally the office is open on Tuesday and Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

As a result of the enrollment thus far, Mr. Houser said, one new instructor already has been added to the staff of the Columbus center to teach at both Columbus and Benning.

Military personnel who prefer to attend classes in Columbus still may do so, Mr. Houser emphasized. They are taught each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night in the Jordan high school building, the first one of the summer to meet June 13.

The Fort Benning classes will meet each Tuesday and Thursday, the first from 6:30 p.m. to 8:25 p.m. and the second from 8:30 p.m. to 10:35 p.m.

The entire schedule for Benning classes follows:

First period, English 2x, English composition, first quarter; Sociology E-360, contemporary social problems; Mathematics 99, remedial algebra; Political Science 1, American government; and Economics E-344, personal finance.

Second period, English 224 European literature; Sociology 5, introductory sociology; Mathematics 101x, College algebra; History E-350x, American history, and Economics 5x, principles of Economics.

Scouts Attend Camping Trip

Fort Benning's Boy Scout Troop No. 27 spent last week end on a camping trip at Camp Barnett on Upatoi creek.

Saturday the fathers came out to the Camp. Included in the group were eleven volunteer fathers, who substituted for the fathers oversess.

The Dads played softball, volleyball, and several games of baseball against the scouts.

The trip was cut short by heavy rains.

Instructors Conference Scheduled For June 16

An Infantry instructors conference here June 16 to 21 will draw 80 Infantry instructors from service schools throughout the U. S.

The six-day conference will include demonstrations of the latest Infantry tactics, techniques and instructions methods. The service school instructors also will present instruction problems in other schools to Infantry School officials in round table discussions.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, will welcome the delegates June 16 at an official reception at the Main Officers Mess and at a conference in The Infantry School building June 17.

The instructors will hear a discussion of Infantry developments by members of the Research and Analysis Section, weapons training techniques by members of The Infantry School's Weapons Department, and wheeled transportation in the Infantry regiment by the school's Automotive Department.

The Staff Department will discuss personal management, leadership, physical training, intelligence, map reading, operations, organization and training and logistics.

Other discussion periods will include Infantry tactics by members of the Tactical Department, Infantry training literature and Training Aids by the Training Publications Department, airborne training, Infantry communications and Ranger training.

The conference will close with an Infantry School panel discussion, "The Infantry Instructors' Forum."

The visitors will return to their home stations June 21.

Former Police Commissioner In 3440th ASU

There's a lot of work involved in operating a resort town police force, claims Cpl. Robert Robinson, 31-year old ex - police commissioner of Seabright, N.J. He is now attached to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section 1, 3440th Area Service Unit.

Aside from the administrative duties of a police commissioner, Corporal Robinson often took part in police operations from leading a raid on a gambling house, to spotting pick - pockets on the boardwalk.

"You get all sorts of characters during the season," he explained, "they range from purse snatchers to big time gamblers and con men who prey on the tourist trade, which more than doubles the town's population during the summer months."

"You make a lot of enemies on the 'job though,'" Corporal Robinson admitted. "I've been shot at several times after we pulled a big raid."

When his term of office expired, Cpl. Robinson decided to go back to Army life. After visiting relatives in California, he enlisted at Fort Ord.

August of 1950 found him ducking bullets from a different type of gangster in Korea.

Shortly after the Inchon landing, Corporal Robinson fell from a cliff while seeking cover from heavy enemy fire. He was evacuated shortly afterward to Japan and then to the U.S. Naval hospital in Charleston, S.C.

TAKE COURSE

Sixty-two officers, 51 American and 11 Allied, have reported to Seventh Company, First Student Regiment to take the Officers Communication Course No. 4. The course will be completed in August of this year.

Men and Animals Look for Better Things

BY CHAPLAIN (MAJ.) CHESTER C. MINTON

I'm a Chaplain so, I hear men grumble, as if they were wearing chains.

They complain about little things. Their food, for instance. Or the service. And sometimes they call the coffee "mud".

And I often wonder if it isn't the nature of man to complain about his lot, who he is, what he is, and where he is.

When it is hot, he says, "Ever see anything like this?" And when it's cold, the gas company or the coal man gets it.

Taxes give him indigestion. Prices and wages, unless they are his own, make his eyebrows curl.

Then watch him. He'll often push his dessert back, untouched, but not without saying, "That sweet stuff is no good for you anyway," forgetting how he used to lap it up when he was a kid.

These rumbles all mean there is something going on down deep in the throat, close to the heart, of the masculine volcano.

It is the restless sap of Spring rising in his veins, at this time of year. In the Fall, it is the sap going the other way, and his dread of the ice-cold slush on his ankles, wads of tissue in his pocket, and a niffling cold.

He usually thinks the answer to his complaints is to try to get away from it. He goes South, or he goes North. Or he goes to California.

When he comes back He's got something new to talk about. He feels refreshed. And it soon wears off. But usually he has discovered something which he never mentions, doesn't dare to.

And that is, while he is away, he gets terribly lonesome for the scenes he fled, for the routine which made him grumble, and for the familiar groove in which he took his daily trip around the clock.

I am quite sure, now that I have lived in a few years, that he is most fond of the things that he complains about. But he has become familiar enough with them, that he has lost his respect for the things he does best, and in which he really lives most comfortably.

If you watch an animal in the woods, he is always nosing under the bushes, along the streams, listening, smelling, and seems to be hunting something better than he, or her finds.

And I think we two-legged animals are like that, incurably restless, ranging over across the thin acres of the world, hoping always to find something better than we have on our fat, rich land at home.

So man's complaining about food and service, or the color of the coffee, is a part of man's inborn demand for something better, sweet music to his ego, the rhapsody of the aimless hunt, the periodic sprint from vocation to vocation.

But an even faster sprint is the old two-legged work-horse, heading for the barn, and the stall he knows so well.

For there, within the familiar walls, he his feed and shelter, and his security slowly built of his own ingenuity.

Just try to get him to trade it for a new stake in some of those far and alluring places and you'll see his eyes roll in a kind of fright which makes him sit tighter on his chair.

And if you listen closely to his grumbles, you'll hear distinct hollow overtones.

And hollow they'd have to be, for they come from the imaginings of his head, never from his heart.

Soap Box Derby Is Opportunity

The Chattahoochee Valley Soap Box Derby of 1952 which will take place in Columbus July 24 offers a rare opportunity for boys in the 11 to 15 year age group to take part in a group activity that will have lasting benefits.

Not only will the boys get competition but the knowledge picked up while building the racers will be invaluable.

Last year, no Fort Benning entry was recorded in the Columbus race and this is a startling realization. Military kids have traditionally been without peer when it comes to resourcefulness and inventiveness and a keen taste for competition.

But the fault for the lack of Fort Benning entries may not rest entirely with the kids. Parents must encourage their children to enter and help them with all the advice they have. The boys must do all the work on their cars themselves, but no limit is placed on encouragement or advice offered by others.

Benning units, too, may be overlooking a good opportunity if they fail to sponsor a car for some boy. The cost is small, $10 is the limit except for the wheels, and the benefits will be great. Besides the publicity they will receive by the unit insignia or name on the side of the car, they will have the satisfaction of helping a boy have a big time.

The Soap Box Derby idea was started by a newspaperman, and The Bayonet has taken upon itself the promotion job at Fort Benning.

Benning citizens have always taken part in the community activities, and it is a shame that no one entered from the post last year. But this year can be a different matter. The Soap Box Derby has taken on a national significance, and when all the community winners gather in Akron, Ohio August 10 for the national running, the whole nation will show its interest.

Famous auto racing drivers and officials, as well as representatives from all the automobile and sport industries will be on hand for the final flag.

And the winner will walk away from the victor's circle with a $5,000 scholarship tucked away under his arm. But there are many other prizes too. A brand new Chevrolet will go to the second place winner and every boy in the Akron running will receive a bevy of prizes.

But there are prizes for quite a few in the local race. Prizes, however, are only a minor consideration. The fun and sportsmanship gained by the contestants will be far more valuable.

Summer Is Fun But Hazardous

Even though official summer is still almost a month away, the temperature says differently, and everyone turns to summer activities for fun and relaxation.

But by the same token, summer hazards are lurking for the unwary. The basic precaution for summer safety is the same for the year round — common sense — but many dangers are exclusive with summer fun.

One of the most pleasant summer activities, as well as most dangerous is connected with water sports. The water and sun are fun but also extremely hazardous for the careless. Swimming alone and in strange places, unnecessary horse play, broken glass, and inconsideration can turn a lark into a tragedy.

For the patrons of the organized swimming pools, life guards are on duty for your protection, and their orders must be followed to the letter. But swimming in the 'old swimming hole' tradition needs special precautions. Be careful is the answer for safer fun here.

But many other dangers plague summer fun. For those who love the great outdoors and wooded areas, beware the snakes, poison plants, and sharp edges of broken glass and metal.

On the beaches, the sun can be dangerous too. Take it easy at first, and avoid painful burns.

Medical specialists tell us that many people damage their hearts from too much exercise too soon when vacation season rolls around.

These people, the experts say, come from their jobs that require little or no physical exertion and play 36 holes of golf or a couple sets of tennis without giving their bodies any warning. Frequently they can't take it.

Vacation means fun and frolic but it also means rest and relaxation, so don't come back to your jobs in need of a long rest.

Congress Considers Service

By Armed Forces Press Service

The following bills of interest to Service personnel were recently introduced in Congress:

1. A bill to authorize additional pay for combat duty performed by members of the uniformed services in Korea.

2. A bill to provide for the promotion, precedence, constructive credit, distribution, retention, and elimination of officers of the Reserve components of the Armed Forces of the U. S.

3. A bill to extend benefits of the Veterans Preference Act of 1944 to persons serving in the Armed Forces after the termination of the state of war between the U. S. and Japan prior to July 2, 1945.

4. A bill to authorize the Army Medical Graduate School to award master-of-science degrees in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine and biological sciences involved in health services.

5. A bill to authorize payment in the case of certain officers of the Army of the U.S. separated with impaired hearing, of sums equal to the pay and allowances they would have received if they had been hospitalized in accordance with administrative requirements prior to separation.

6. A bill to provide increases in the rates of death compensation payable to certain widows and children of veterans of WWI and WWII or of service on or after June 27, 1950.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr. has been named to succeed VADM C. Turner Joy as chief of the United Nations Command Korean armistice delegation, the Department of Defense announces. Gen. Harrison has been a member of the Allied team since January. Admiral Joy, who recommended Gen. Harrison as his successor, will depart June 9 for his new assignment as superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Peace Treaty Signed With West Germany

The West German Republic has achieved virtual independence now that the U. S., Great Britain and France have signed a peace treaty in return for West Germany's pledge to fight against Communism. The Western foreign ministers and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer signed the pact in a 20-minute ceremony in the tiny Senate chamber in Bonn, Germany.

The treaty set the stage for the mobilization of 12 West German divisions and their alignment with a European Army to be created under a six-nation defense alliance Pact slated to be signed in Paris yesterday. Secretary of State Dean Acheson assured the 48,000,000 West Germans that they were being accepted back into the community of nations after a world war and seven years of occupation. The signers, along with Adenauer and Acheson, included Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Robert Schuman of France.

A ruling handed down this week by the Supreme Court may mean that city bus-riders will have to be exposed to the caterwauling wail of nasal-toned radio announcers imploring the public to buy "Bloopies sooper - dooper bubble gum." The highest tribunal ruled that it's all right to broadcast music and commercials to streetcar and bus riders. The case involved the Capital Transit Company of Washington, D. C.

The company has signed with a local radio station WWDC - FM for a program that includes music, commercials and weather reports. The program is broadcast through loudspeakers on busses and streetcars throughout the city. The court voted 7 to 1 that no constitutional rights are violated, but Justice Douglas, in a sharp dissent, said he thinks the broadcasts to a captive audience are a violation of a man's privacy.

The American Legion has urged that physically eligible men with no military service by the time they reach 26 years of age be placed in the "ready reserve" for eight years. A Legion spokesman said the present reserve program puts men who have already serve in the position of being the first to be called for a second period of duty ahead of men who have not served at all.

HISTORY OF JAZZ, by Barry Ulanov, Viking Press, $5.00.

Though many books about jazz have appeared in the last 15 years, there has never been, until now, a complete history of jazz in America. Here is the book that will be definite for jazz - intimates, and comprehensive for people who want to understand this distinctive American music.

Mr. Ulanov traces the history of a music that, from a multiplicity of folk and art sources, had a peculiar birth in New Orleans' shoddy Storyville, then ranged forth to Chicago, New York, the West Coast, Europe — every place and any place that it could find audience and sustenance.

This full length accounting of its life and work to date is a timely and invaluable record by one of our ablest critics.

MY LIFE IN CRIME by John Martin, Harper and Brothers, New York, $3.00.

John Martin, the perfect man for the assignment, found a professional criminal, a man who had been a criminal his whole adult life and got the man to talk to him frankly and freely.

This is a true story, a story as amazing and as fascinating as anything in fiction. Gene, which is the name Martin used for his original, began his lawless life when he was 15.

He has been involved in grand larceny, burglary, safe-blowing, arson, assault with intent to kill, armed robbery, and bootlegging.

Martin has caught the criminal's language, has reported what really happens in a criminal's life, in a manner that has been rarely, if ever, equaled.

John Martin is a man who probably knows more about criminals than anyone writing today. He has written articles for Harper's, Saturday Evening Post and Readers Digest.

ROKA Students Train Here

American Way of Life, Fighting Come Easy to These Korea Men Who Are in School At Benning

ARMY MEAL—Three Republic of Korea officers, part of the first class of about 150 that began training here Oct. 4, 1951, pass through a mess line for one of their first meals at Fort Benning. Left to right are Capts. Yun Shin Kim, Sang Ho Nam and Byung Chul Lee.

Columbus Invites Jews to Shovous

Instead of the weekly Jewish Service on the post on Fridays, the personnel of Fort Benning will be guests of Congregations Temple Israel and Shearith Israel of Columbus at Shovous Services.

At Temple Israel a confirmation service will be held on Friday at 8 p. m. with a reception following.

Memorial services will be held at Congregation Shearith Israel at 10 a. m. Saturday. Confirmation services will be held on Sunday at 3 p. m. with reception following.

Shovuos on Pentecost is the festival commerating the wheat harvest in the Holy Land. It also commemorates the giving of the Ten Commandments by Moses.

HONOR GRADUATE

Pfc. S. T. Garner, 550th Tank Company, Combat Training Command, was recently graduated number one in his class at the Tank Leadership Course School at Fort Knox, Ky.

Gibbs Family Gets Double Honor As Sons Win Awards

EAGLES WORK REVERSE TWIST, GIVE PARENTS AWARDS

Left To Right, Mrs. John Gibbs, John, Phillip, And Capt. John Gibbs

Honors come double to the Gibbs family as far as the two oldest sons are concerned.

The brothers, Phillip and John, are son of Capt. and Mrs. John Gibbs. They have been awarded the highest honor in scouting — the Eagle Scout award. Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center Commander pinned on the badges at one of the largest courts of honor the Benning troop has ever held.

Phillip, 16, has been a member of the Scouts since 1948, while 15-year-old John has been a Scout since 1949. Both boys are ardent advocates of scouting.

Starting with the Cub Scouts, the Gibbs boys worked long and hard to pass the tests for merit badges and advancements. Both plan to continue their scouting in the future.

Mrs. Gibbs said with a smile, "I may not be a Scout, but I know a lot about it. My husband and I have gotten so interested in the work the boys are doing that we study and help them all we can".

Captain Gibbs said, "It won't be over when we get through with these two because we have another son who is following in their footsteps. Terry is now a second class scout, and has ambitions to be an Eagle Scout too."

Phillip, who is a Sophmore at Columbus High School, is extremely sports minded. He has passed the requirements and holds the title of Scout Life Guard. He is looking forward with eagerness to the day when he finishes High school and can enter West Point. His plans for the future include following an Army Career.

John, an eighth grade student at Columbus High School, hasn't decided yet what career he plans to follow - but he's pretty sure he doesn't want to be an Army man.

The Gibbs boys are interested in history, and find that their membership in the various troops and sections of the country has been a great help in bringing history from the pages of a book right to them.

Phillip feels that by his scouting experience he will be much better prepared for his years at West Point.

The youngsters made the trip down the Chattahoochee to Eufaula with the Benning troop, marking the first time they had done any scouting of that kind. Their experiences have involved camping on the mountains in snowbound cabins, and trips on a lake.

The boys' father, Captain John Gibbs, is very active with the Cub and Boy Scouts. Mrs. Gibbs thinks that scouting is one of the best things in the world to bring a family closer together.

"The boys are learning invaluable lessons in teamwork, how to get along with people, and above all how to do for themselves," she said.

Following the presentation of the award to the Gibbs boys, Capt. Robert Ryan, Scoutmaster, suggested the sons honor their parents for the help and assistance they had given. With great pleasure, Phillip pinned his award on his father, and John pinned his award on his mother.

All Cowboys Aren't Out West Florida Cowpoke Here Claims

Florida isn't all beautiful beaches and waving palm trees, according to Sgt. James O. Taylor of the 423rd Engineer Construction Battalion.

"There are cowboys in Florida, too," he said. Shifting his 10-gallon hat to the back of his head, he continued "I was roping cattle when I was 13 years old. My brother and I did all kinds of work around Dad's ranch from branding steers to taking care of sick cattle.

The 27-year-old sergeant is from Plant City, Fla., where his father owns a cattle ranch. The ranch has about 500 head of cattle and horses. Continuing his tale of cowboy days in Florida, Sergeant Taylor said "Once we got a batch of horses in and I helped break them.

But it wasn't all work for Sergeant Taylor and his brother. They always made it a point to attend the annual State Championship Rodeo at Arcadia, Fla., and rodeos held in Plant City. Although neither of them were champions each managed to win a few prizes.

Sergeant Taylor enlisted in the Army in 1949 and saw action with the 19th Engineer Construction Battalion in Korea. After 17 months there, he returned to the U. S. with a severe case of pneumonia. After a convalescent furlough, he was assigned to the 423rd Battalion as a platoon sergeant.

Company A Trooper Wins Jumping Test

A novel athletic meet, combining sports - type competition with training, was won recently by PFC. Henry J. Bolton, Co. A, 508th Airborne RGT.

Making 16 parachute jumps from a C-46 at an altitude of 1,000 feet, his most secure landing was 25' 6" from the target on Lee Field. The 22-year-old New Yorker steered his 28-foot nylon canopy closest to the mark in nine fewer attempts than any of his rivals.

It was the 508th's first jump since their participation in Exercise Long Horn, Jan.

Standard Club Fetes Chaplain Before Leaving

A reception in honor of Chaplain (1st Lt.) David Rasb, Post Jewish Chaplain, was held last week at the Standard Club in Columbus. The reception was sponsored by the Armed Service Committee of the Jewish Welfare Board of Columbus.

Chaplain Rasb, who is on orders for FECOM came to Fort Benning in August 1951 from his Congregation Temple Sinai in Lake Charles, La.

During his stay at Fort Benning he built up a following at the Friday evening services and made arrangements for the celebration of all Jewish holidays. He was also a frequent speaker at Protestant services on the post and addressed many civic and religious groups in Columbus.

COT REPAIR IN AIRBORNE COMPANY SAVES MONEY
Left To Right, Pfc. Daniel R. Bishop, Sfc. Terry Scott, And Unidentified Corporal

Airborne Battalion Company A Repairs Own Cots for Economy

Members of Company A of the Airborne Battalion here have gone all out to save the Army money. They started their major project by rebuilding 800 Army cots.

Major overhaul was performed on 150 of the cots, while the remainder were merely repainted and fitted with necessary new parts.

Capt. Harry E. Trigg, company commander, decided on the assembly-line overhaul when he realized the cost of replacing the cots through normal methods. He also discovered that the repair shop didn't have time to rebuild the cots and have them ready for incoming troops.

Two members of the company began an intensive campaign to find fabric springs, metal slats and coil springs. Sfc. Henry Fields and Sfc. Terry Scott found the necessary material and work began.

Ninety cots were moved outside, where men working in teams replaced old springs, scraped off rust, and painted the cots. After the cots were dry, they were moved back into the barracks, ready for incoming men.

This job was just one of several the company personnel have tackled to save Uncle Sam money. Mess hall racks for 800 trays, 1,200 cups, 1,200 bowls and 3,000 pieces of silver were built, and over 400 screens for the 18 buildings in the company area were repaired and painted.

Korean Soldier Breaks Boards With Hands

The sight of 2nd Lt. Tae Hi Nam snapping a three-quarter-of-an-inch board with the back of his hand is enough to make most men shudder.

Lieutenant Tae is a former instructor of unarmed combat at the Korean Academy who is now attending the associate company officer's special class number two. Although impossible for the average person, the board-breaking routine is a phase of training used by unarmed combat experts to toughen their hands to the rigors of their sport.

A former student at the Dong Gook University in Korea majoring in American Literature, Lieutenant Tae instructed in unarmed combat to military and civilian personnel at the Korean Academy during his off duty time.

Lieutenant Tae is the number two Tang Soo Do champion in Korea. He explained that this does not mean he is second best as there are three classifications for combatants. Number two is considered the highest.

A professional who has never been defeated, Lieutenant Tae has fought major engagements in Kumsong, Kapyong and Chupchan, Korea.

We know how much Long Distance calls mean to service men, and we want to give you the best possible service. Here are two ways you can help:

1. If you can give the operator the out-of-town number, she won't have to consult "Information" in the city you're calling and your call will go through faster. Ask for a free folder for recording telephone numbers.

2. Since you may be hard to locate, it is generally better for you to call the folks back home, instead of their calling you. Charges can be reversed.

Long Distance lines are generally less crowded before 6 P. M. and after 9 P. M.

the individual enlisted man, which remains unchanged, and (3) the basic allowance provided the enlisted man for quarters, which is increased 14 per cent under the amendment signed into law by President Truman last week.

The serviceman receives a four per cent increase in his regular pay. For May, June and July, he will receive personally the increase in quarters allowance, but thereafter the allowance will be included in the allotment check mailed to his dependents.

Until September, dependents will receive Class Q allotment checks in the same amount as in the past, with service personnel expected to make adjustment directly with their dependents.

Former Commercial Artist Sketches Benning for Fun

Corporal John Riggen, 26-year-old, commercial artist from Baltimore, Md., keeps in practice by sketching Fort Benning landscape.

Working in the training aids section of the 423rd Engineer Construction Battalions S-3 section, Cpl. Riggen also uses his talents to make up charts and diagrams necessary for Engineering problems.

Cpl. Riggen graduated from Towson High school in Baltimore in 1946. He decided to attend the Maryland Institute where he studied art and graduated in 1950.

At graduation exercises, Cpl. Riggen along with the other students put up a display of his work. Potential employers view the work and select artists they wish to hire.

Impressed by Cpl. Riggens talent, the manager of Todd Art Studios in Baltimore gave him a job. Cpl. Riggen worked at posters, newspaper layouts, and spot illustrations till he was inducted in January 1951.

After basic training, he was assigned to the 423rd Engineer Construction Battalion, then stationed at Camp Rucker, Ala. Now at Fort Benning, Cpl. Riggen spends his spare time, cartooning, and sketching sections of the Fort Benning area.

Cpl. Riggen is a graduate of the Engineer Construction Drafting school located at Fort Belvoire, Virginia, where he finished top man in his class.

French Officers End Course Here

Two French officers, who are parachutists in their own right, have been made honorary American paratroopers.

Capt. Rene Henri Montell and Lt. Pierre Christian Bore were given their jumpers' wings and honorary certificates last Wednesday upon completion of the pathfinder course. Lt. Col. Richard J. Seitz, director of The Infantry School's Airborne Department here made the presentations.

Captain Montell received his wings from the French Airborne School in 1943, and Lieutenant Bore has been a paratrooper since 1946.

Capt. Montell and Lt. Bore, first French Army paratroopers to take the pathfinder course here, will report to their Army on the possibility of including pathfinder courses in airborne training.

NEW LIAISON OFFICER

First Lieutenant C. C. Allison has replaced 1st Lt. F. E. Colon as Allied Liaison Officer for the Second Student Regiment. Lieutenant Colon is on orders for FECOM.

Captain Montell, whose home is in Bellas, is assigned to the Office of the French Airborne Inspector in Paris. Lieutenant Bore of Aulnayssous Bois is an instructor at the French Airborne School at Pau.

773RD TANKERS SPOT "ENEMY" POSITION IN FIELD
First Lt. James V. Pogue, Left, And M-Sgt B. F. Whittington

773rd Tankers 'Disappear' For Intensive Field Training

Men of the 773rd Tank Battalion are disappearing, one company at a time, into the wilds of the Fort Benning reservation for five weeks of intensive in-the-field training.

Lt. Col. Harry L. Johnson, veteran tanker who commands the 773rd, prescribes a full dose when he calls for field training for his men. For five weeks, they eat, sleep, and live in the field, devoid of the comforts of garrison life.

Action keynotes their training. The first four weeks the tankers are in the field is filled with problems of attacking enemy positions, smashing through roadblocks, and firing their weapons.

The fifth week is one of rigid testing designed to see just how much benefit the tankers have received from their intensive field training. Following the tests, the men return to their company areas, while the next company in line moves out to take up the gruelling training.

Pending Legislation Provides New Basis For ORC Advance

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— Legislation providing a statutory basis for promoting Reserve officers is being considered by the House Armed Services Committee.

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, says that the bill provides systems for equality of opportunity for promotion. She thinks it will result in an adequate number of qualified officers in the proper grades and ages to meet Service needs.

"The proposed Reserve Officer Personnel Act," she emphasized, "assures that the best officers are advanced and the inept and inefficient are eliminated."

The Defense and Treasury Departments prepared the legislation for submission to Congress.

Nylon Vests Prove Battle Lifesavers

KOREA. (AFPS) — The Army's new protective vests, made of 12 layers of tough nylon, have proved to be lifesavers in Korea, according to Lt. Col. Andrew Aines, chief of one of the teams testing the vest. Col. Aines reports that not only do the vests boost the morale of the troops, but also that 40 men wearing them have been hit by shell fragments and none of them suffered wounds in the protected areas.

Approximately 2,000 men have worn the vests on patrols since Feb. 7, with only one fatality. The victim was hit by a 30-caliber bullet, something the vest is not expected to stop.

Col. Aines reported that better protection for the soldier is the order of the day. Statistics have shown where most injuries occur. We are applying these statistics to practical tests with these vests."

Youth Group Plans July 4 Activities

The Youth Activities group is planning a big Fourth of July celebration, according to Col. Ivan Farr, president of the Youth Activities Council.

Tentative plans for the day include games by the Little League, exhibitions and parades by the Cub Scouts, Brownies, Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts.

The celebration will take place on French Field and Rine Field. A full schedule of events will be announced later.

Summer Term For Nursery Opens June 2

The summer term of the Fort Benning Woman's Club Nursery school will open on June 2.

Mrs. D. P. Bolton, principal, said that registration could be made by calling Fort Benning 3009 between the hours of 9 and 11:30 a.m.

The normal school hours will be followed during the summer and tuition may be paid by the week or month. Weekly fee is two dollars and monthly fee is eight dollars.

During the past year the playground equipment has been renovated, the inside of the school painted, and a movie projector and screen added.

The official registration for the regular school term is scheduled for August 26, with opening date of school set for Sept. 2.

Chapter Formed By Ex-24th Men

More than 100 former members of the 24th Infantry Division turned out last week for the first meeting of 24th Division veterans here to hear Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., now Infantry Center commander and former commander of the 19th Infantry Regiment, and Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, former 24th commander.

General Eicheleberger, who commanded the 24th during World War II, traced the division's history and activities from Australia through New Guinea, Hollandia, and the Philippines to Korea.

After hearing General Eichelberger and General Meloy speak, the group elected officers of the newly - formed chapter here. Col. Gines Perez is president, M-Sgt. M. Wade vice president, 1st. Lt. Jim H. Hunt secretary, and 1st Lt. Bernard J. Ambrose, corresponding secretary and publicity chairman.

The chapter is tentatively planning a social event for members, their wives and guests, and plans to send delegates to the 1952 convention of the Division Association to be held in Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 15, 16 and 17.

Officers May Shift To Two Branches

WASHINGTON —(AFPS)— The Army is accepting applications from its regular officers who wish to transfer to the Ordnance Corps and the Corps of Engineers.

Officers applying for the Ordnance Corps must be in a permanent grade of major or below and possess a degree in engineering, industrial management, metallurgy (physical), physics, chemistry, mathematics, business administration or be a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy.

Officers applying for the Corps of Engineers must be in a permanent grade of captain or below and possess a degree in engineering or related technical fields. Circular 36 outlines the eligibility requirements for both Corps.

ISD Exhibition Designed To Promote Holiday Safety

"Memorial Day Is To Honor The Dead Not Join Them" is the pointed reminder on the Safety exhibit located in front of Detachment headquarters. The Infantry School detachment.

Lt. Col. John J. Lavin, detachment commander, said the exhibition is designed to make ISD personnel more safety conscious and is in connection with the post wide safety campaign and the safety film being shown at the Main theater.

Focal point of the scene is the badly wrecked car directly behind an open grave marked Reserved For You. To the right of the grave, is a smiling, life size figure of the grim reaper smiling words of welcome.

Three other life size figures in the scene represent the points that liquor and gas do not mix, bad tires cause accidents, and high speed results in tragedies.

A bulletin board of accident pictures and injured complete the layout.

The exhibit was the idea of Cpl. Charles Kindle, Information and Education section. Kindle planned the setting, constructed the figures and secured the car and other accessories for the exhibit.

Capt. Harry Breakiron, I and E Officer, said "The exhibit will remain for a week. When the holiday is over, we will make a tally of accidents of our personnel. The grave will be covered and the number erected over it. We sincerely hope the figure will be a big zero."

Col. Hightower Receives First Oak Leaf Cluster

Col. John M. Hightower, Infantry School director of instruction, was awarded the first bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit here last Thursday.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, made the presentation.

Colonel Hightower, whose home is in Las Cruces, N. Mex., won his second Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious service" as commanding officer of the 32nd Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division in Korea from July 6, 1951, to Feb. 15, 1952.

"With astute judgement and organizational dexterity, Colonel Hightower affected a cohesive, well disciplined command capable of coping with the most rigorous combat conditions," the citation said.

"Surmounting the language barrier, he successfully integrated a foreign expeditionary force and, through superb mastery of military science and diplomatic liaison, attained inspirational teamwork which was reflected in the operational skill and high morale of the command," according to the citation.

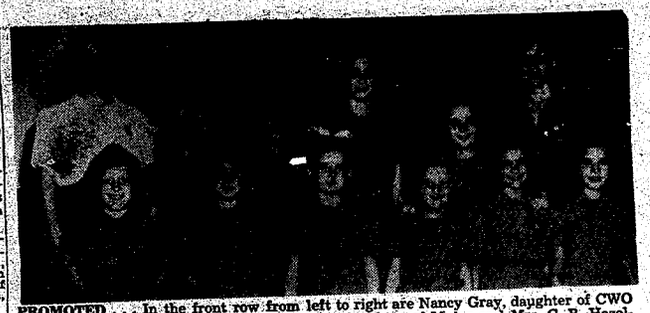
Commissioned

A graduate of New Mexico Agricultural and Mechanical College, Colonel Hightower was commissioned in the Army in 1940.

During World War II, he served with the 23rd Infantry Regiment, Second Infantry Division, in Europe. He graduated from the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., in 1946.

He has been an instructor in the Tactical Department at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., and secretary to the Far East Command General Staff. He came here May 5.

Colonel Hightower also holds the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Purple Heart with three Oak Leaf Clusters and French Croix de Guerre.



PROMOTED . . . In the front row from left to right are Nancy Gray, daughter of CWO and Mrs. Charles Gray; Charlene Hazelrigg, daughter of Major and Mrs. C. B. Hazelrigg; Nancy Cowan, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. K. K. Cowan; Ruth Kues, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. L. Kues; Birdeena Crandall, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. A. R. Crandall, and Lynda Crochet, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. H. J. Crochet. On the back row from left to right are Mrs. C. H. Gray, troop co-leader; Alice Venables, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. R. G. Venables; Sandra Hert, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. O. H. Hert; Lynda Harris, daughter of Major and Mrs. W. D. Harris; Susan McDonald, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. E. F. McDonald, and Mrs. A. R. Crandall, troop leader.

10 Benning Girls Get Brownie Pins

Girl Scout pins were awarded to ten Fort Benning Brownies in "Flying Up" ceremonies at the Infantry Center Rest Camp.

The girls, members of Battle Park and Custer Terrace Brownie Troop No. 78, repeated the Girl Scout oath during candlelight ceremonies led by Mrs. A. R. Crandall, troop leader, and Mrs. C. H. Gray, troop co-leader.

The new Girl Scouts have finished one to three years of Brownie work and passed the Tenderfoot tests for scouting. They nowhold the rank of intermediate Girl Scouts.

Following the ceremonies, the Girl Scouts and their parents held a picnic at the rest camp.

New Field Phone Pecks, Not Rings

A military field telephone that makes a noise like a woodpecker is a new contribution to U. S. armed forces. It was recently approved for use by the Signal Corps.

The "woodpecker" signal replaces a ring. It is pitched at a frequency best for hearing despite background noise and for best hearing even for soldiers whose senses are dulled by combat fatigue.

This sound can be reduced to a whisper or even silenced altogether for safe use in front line positions near the enemy.

Designed for rough, tough field use, it is lighter in weight, smaller in size than the old type and can operate in an emergency without batteries — on voice power alone.

The phone can be dunked in water, used in sub-zero temperatures, in tropical heat and at altitudes over 10,000 feet without trouble to transmission or reception.

The handset is shaved at the ear piece so it can fit beneath a battle helmet. It is also designed so it can be operated by a soldier wearing long, heavy Arctic mittens.

Made of tough new plastics, the transmitter will stand up to a nearby gun blast.

The new set, say Bell Laboratories technicians who developed the instrument, embodies all the new technical knowledge and telephone experience acquired in the last 15 years.

GRADUATES ASSIGNED

Included in the assignment of seven recently commissioned second lieutenants to be assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry are D. F. Montgomery, E. J. Murphy, R. W. Mealy, T. H. Sebring, S. F. Selway, J. E. Stillman, and N. G. Trout.

M-SGT TRANSFERRED

M-Sgt. William L. Parks, sergeant major of the Second Student Regiment, has been transferred to Station Complement, Ft. McPherson, Ga.

NEW ADJUTANT

Second Lt. Walter J. Skridulis has been appointed assistant adjutant for the First Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment.

Social Scientists Observe End of 9-Month Squad Test

Three social scientists have visited Fort Benning to observe the final phase of a nine - month research project on the Infantry squad's combat potential.

Dr. Donald E. Baier headed the group from the Personnel Research Section of the Army Adjutant General's Officer that visited the post for three days last week. He was accompanied by Dr. Melvin R. Marks and Dr. Robert Perloff.

The Department of the Army group observed Infantry squad tests now being conducted in the Alabama area representatives of the Institute for Research in Human Relations.

The squad tests represented the culmination of nine months of research in Infantry combat bulletins, field manuals and other Infantry training literature by the four members of the Institute team to develop a problem designed to test the proficiency of the Infantry squad in combat.

Chairman of the research group that conducted the test here was Dr. M. Dean Havron. He was assigned by Joseph McGrath, Richard J. Fay and E. L. Greer. They began their testing at the Infantry Center last September.

37 Squads

Approximately 37 squads from the 30th Infantry Regiment and the 506th Airborne Regimental Combat Team here were tested in the final three-week series. The seven-hour tests include problems in reconnaissance, attack, defense and point of advance guard. As many as four squads were tested simultaneously.

Upon completion of the squad tests here, the Institute group was scheduled to go to Camp Atterbury, Ind., to conduct similar tests on approximately 65 Infantry squads there.

Final tests results based on the scores of the 100 squads tested will be sent to Army Field Forces headquarters for possible inclusion in future Infantry training literature.

FREEDOM AWARD . . . Jerry F. Gaston, right, receives a Medal of Freedom award from Brig. Gen. Joseph J. Twitty, commander of the Fourth Field Army Service Command at North Fort Hood, Tex. Mr. Gaston, now senior assistant Red Cross field director here, won the award while serving with the 25th Infantry Division in Korea. He became assistant field director here on May 7.

Colonel Hightower Named Director of Instruction

Col. John M. Hightower has replaced Lt. Col. Harold B. Ayres as The Infantry School's director of instruction. Colonel Ayres is scheduled to attend the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Colonel Ayres has held the post since October, 1951.

A graduate of New Mexico Agricultural and Mechanical College, Colonel Hightower received his commission in 1940, and during World War II, he served with the Second Infantry Division in Europe.

He attended the Command and General Staff College in 1946, and was an instructor in the Tactical Department at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., until June, 1948.

Colonel Hightower served as executive officer and secretary to the General Staff of the Far East Command from 1948 to 1951. Before coming here, he commanded the 32nd Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division in Korea from July, 1951, to February, 1952.

Colonel Hightower holds the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Purple Heart with three & Oak Leaf Clusters and the French Croix de Guerre.

Colonel Ayres entered the Army in 1941, after graudating from Louisiana State University.

He saw overseas service during World War II in North Africa and Italy with the 351st Infantry Regiment, and was an instructor in The Infantry School's Weapons Department from January, 1946, until October, 1951.

Colonel Ayres holds the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

GLENN MILLER CONCERT No. 2 album (Glenn Miller and his orchestra on RCA Victor) a great album of music played in the inimitable Miller style. This album is a follow - up to the Glenn Miller Concert Album, but is smoother, hotter and more exciting than the first album. All eight sides are straight instrumentals recorded in the band's heyday. Included in this collector's item are: "Limehouse Blues", "I Got Rhythm", and "Villa". All the selections will bring back memories of the Miller band, often imitated, but never approached.

I'M CONFESSIN' and CARIOCA (Les Paul and Mary Ford on Capitol) Play either side of this record and have a musical treat. The oldy, "I'm Confessin," features Mary Ford's alluring and enticing voice blended by dubbing. Les Paul provides the soft subtle guitar backgrounds with a bass offbeat. On the other side, Les Paul renders "Carioca" in a rapid, sparkling guitar arrangement. The Latin American tempo is not lost in the fast delivery, but demonstrates Les Paul's artistic ability.

WHY DID YOU LEAVE ME (Perry Como with Mitchell Ayers and Orchestra on RCA-Victor) This record is Perry's first release since his album "TV Favorites", a collection of Perry Como's best hits. Perry gives this romantic tune a medium slow delivery, crooning over soft violins. The song builds up to a dramatic climax, in which Como renders some of his biggest and fullest tones. The reverse side is "Lonesome That's All" delivered in an easy, relaxed style.

ACE OF CLUBS (Joe Houston and Orchestra on Imperial) This is the hottest jazz number to be recorded thus far this year. There is an excellent balance of the reed and brass sections with the drums and piano maintaining the beat. Although this is an unusually fine arrangement, it can be recommended only for enthusiasts of red-hot jazz. The back side of this record is "Jump the Blues" a hot blues tune with only a fair vocal by the maestro.

NO STRINGS ATTACHED (Dick Hayman and Orchestra on Mercury) This is an original composition by Dick Hayman and features the lead and most intricate violin artistry to be found outside of symphony orchestras. "No Strings Attached" is a fast, light tune that composer Hayman and musicians play with gusto and merriment. The reverse side is a sentimental tune, "I Get Love with Sewing on My Mind" and has a ington O. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain, will give the invocation and benediction. Music will be furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

A 1911 graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., General Allen served with the 358th Infantry Regiment in Europe during World War I.

He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., The Infantry School here and the Army War College.

During World War II, he commanded the Third Cavalry Division, the First Infantry Division and the 104th Infantry Division.

He retired from the Army in 1946.

General Allen holds the Distinguished Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

the Inspection Committee for the 1952 Soap Box Derby.

Next on the agenda for the day will be swimming for everyone at the Boy's Club starting at 5:30. Afterwards the entire group will adjoin to Golden Park in Columbus and be guests of the Cardinals for their night baseball game against the Jacksonville Tars.

Winner of the Columbus running of the race will rake the colors of the city to Akron, Ohio, on August 10, for the All-American Soap Box Derby. The nation's champion will be picked in that race from among competitors representing 156 communities throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and U. S. occupied Germany.

GREATEST PRIZE EVER

The greatest prize list in All-American Soap Box Derby racing history will be awarded the winner this year. It is headed by a four-year, $5,000 college scholarship which may be used at any college the winner chooses.

More than 60,000 persons are expected to witness this year's race which is the climax of Soap Box Derby car building and racing all over the country.

Many valuable prizes and trophies will go to the winners of the All-American race in addition to a Bulova wrist watch which is given to all of the 156 contestants by the Chevrolet Motor Corporation, co-sponsor of the Derby with leading American newspapers.

Every competing champion also will receive a plastic laminated All-American Soap Box Derby racing diploma, lettered with his name.

The runner-up champion will receive a Chevrolet Styleline sedan with powerglide automatic transmission. Other prizes include a mgotion picture, projecture and camera; television radio combination set; complete shopsmith unit; camera, case, flash attachment and case; portable typewriter, and a roll-up tool cabinet with 29 tools.

INCENTIVE PRIZES

Special trophies, which will also be given will be for the best brakes, best designed car, driver of the fastest heat, best constructed car and the best upholstered car. A gold "Ringmaster" Soap Box Derby ring will be given to the national champion.

In the past years there have been only one or two boys from Fort Benning, Chattahoochee Valley race and this year the Columbus officials are campaigning to get as many entries as possible so that the regional winner will also be the potential victor at the Akron race.

THE LAST TIME . . . M-Sgt. Mile E. Johnson, Combat Training Command recruiting NCO, is being sworn in by 2nd Lt. Donald Black, assistant post recruiting officer for what he says will be the last time. With 16 years service under his belt he signed up for six more. He has served extensively for four years throughout the Third Army Area on recruiting duty and was with the 28th Division during World War II and the 7th Division in Korea.

Letters in Mail Will Inform ORC Officers' Status

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The Army currently is preparing letters to be sent out to 3,100 Reserve officers serving on active duty in grades lower than their ORC commissions.

The letters will inform them as to whether or not they have been recommended for promotion during the next round. Of the officers, 900 have been recommended.

The remaining 2,200 will be allowed to break their category and go off active duty. They may, however, elect to stay on active duty and hope for a promotion at a later date.

The 3,100 officers are those who have not received or been recommended for promotion to their Reserve component grade since the beginning of the Korean conflict.

Evaluated

The records of each of the officers were evaluated by a special board of general officers. The board was composed of one regular Army, one National Guard and two ORC Generals.

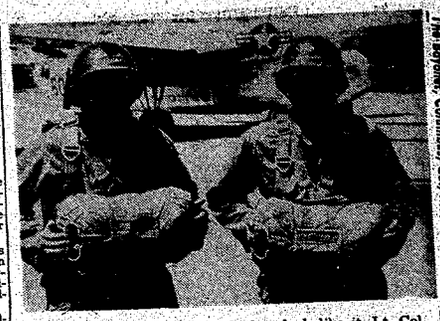
It was their job to determine whether the officers in question were qualified to serve in the next higher grade on active duty. They found only 900 qualified to serve in grades ranging from captain through colonel.

Terms of release for the 2,200 officers not recommended would be the same as those in effect for Reserve component officers on extended active duty involuntarily.

The 900 officers recommended have been integrated into existing recommended lists in order of seniority. They will be promoted as vacancies occur.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Major K. C. Lutz has been named executive officer for the Third Battalion of the Second Student Regiment.



NOT TWINS . . . Even though they look like it, Lt. Col. Harry F. Cameron, left, and Capt. Charles R. Bushong aren't even kin. They do, however, claim Stanford University as their Alma Mater where they were classmates. Neither of the officers had heard from the other in several years when they turned up as students in Company D of the Airborne Battalion. Col. Cameron will return to Fort Leavenworth, Kan. and Captain Bushong will join the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C. when they graduate.

ISD - Flyers Clash Friday

Infantry School Detachment faces Lawson Army Air Field at 8 p.m. Friday at Gowdy Field and if the unbeaten Professors can get by the erratic Flyers they'll turn into the home stretch in the Fort Benning Baseball League with the other six clubs trying to catch up.

Or should we say seven?

Latest development off the playing field this week is that the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team may field a team for the closing weeks of the regular campaign.

The Red Devils originally passed up the post diamond circuit when it looked like some scheduled maneuvers would raid most of their potential athletes, but those plans have been altered.

Potential Spoiler

Starting with an 0-3 record which would leave them some six games off the pace, the 508th wouldn't have a chance of copping the flag, but a strong Red Devil entry could play havoc with the pennant planning of several of the other contenders.

Laying the speculation in favor of fact, however, ISD will have faced every club in the loop after Friday's encounter and the reason they're on top is obvious. They've got the top batter in second baseman Ray Blankenship, 22-year old former Carthage, Ill., College player who has 13 safeties in 23 at bats for a husky .565 BA.

They also have the league's top hurler in lefty Joe Feinstein who has given up only ten runs in 27 innings for three wins.

Stingy Hurler

Bob Cronin, Manager Woody Burt's other flinger, has gone the route in winning two, given up only six runs, and he and Feinstein are the only two all-winning hurlers in the circuit who have lasted the distance every time.

One game was rained out last week, the first weather casualty of the season, and it probably will be re-scheduled soon since it looks like they're all going to have a bearing on the packed standings. The victims were Combat Training Command Lawson Field.

Meantime, the standings may be in for some more radical adjustments in other games this coming week. CTC and ASU Provisional Group will break a tie for third place when they duel at 2 p.m. Sunday in a game that is now rated a tossup.

Second Student Regiment's Rockets and Provisional Medical Group will be fighting it out on the cellar steps when they tangle at 2 p.m. Saturday in another even affair. Next Wednesday night, First Student Regiment will have to get by the Medics to maintain their frantic chase just a half game behind ISD's Professors.

SON OF FAMOUS DAD

Col. Joseph W. Stillwell Jr., son of the late General "Vinegar Joe" Stillwell of World War II fame, has been assigned to First Company, First Student Regiment to attend the Field Officer's Refresher Course.

PIO ON TDY

Capt. J. H. McBride, Public Information Officer for the First Student Regiment, is on TDY for two weeks to attend the Air Specialist course at the USAF Command School, Southern Pines, N. C.

THIS TRIO PROVIDES POWER FOR SECOND S. R.'S ROCKETS
L. to r., Ted York, Hayden Young and Charlie (Bix) Shoemaker.

Action Is Slated Monday On Summer Ring Program

If you have any tears to shed over the demise of Fort Benning's recent and most successful boxing season then save them for a warm day in July. It looks like the cauliflower crew will be back in action soon.

BRUSHING UP . . . It's a little exaggerated here with the use of oversize training aids, but Bill Holtz, of ASU Provisional Group, gives you the idea of what he's boning up on for the annual Fort Benning Military Pentathlon June 10. The one - day event includes rifle shooting, swimming and a timed run over a course which will require map and compass. The event is open to all post personnel. (U. S. Army Photo by Pfc. Jesinsky.)

COMPLETES COURSE

Pfc. James J. George has completed the army course of instruction at the Army Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and returned for duty with the 15th Finance Disbursing Section this station.

132 Youths Splash In Post Swim

Fun in the water will be much safer in the future for 132 post youngsters who are currently taking part in the post Youth Activities Committee's swimming program at Russ Pool.

Seven groups of beginners and one class of intermediates are going through their paces from 3:30 to 5 p.m. daily Monday through Thursday at the main post tank.

The program was organized and is directed by Mrs. Robert C. Baxter. Classes are taught by Sgt. John Lukas and Sgt. Homer Pope.

New Classes Due

New classes will start June 23, and will be held mornings Monday through Thursday. Registration is open to any child six years old and up, and will be taken June 9-13 by M-Sgt. Raymond Tousignant in the Youth Activities Office, Old Gym, phone Fort Benning 4-119.

At the time of registration, each child will be assigned a try-out time between June 16 and June 19 to be assigned to a class commensurate with his ability.

Pupils now attending classes will not need to reregister or try-out again, and will be informed in class when their class will meet under the new schedule.

Rapid Advancement

Classes planned are beginners, intermediates, swimmers, advanced swimmers, and junior and senior life savers. Tests will be given periodically in classes and those who qualify will move to the next higher class and will receive a Red Cross certificate for the class they have completed.

An "Aquaday" is planned at the end of the season. The program will include the awarding of Red Cross certificates, special awards, and races for all classes.

Older persons or scouts who wish to assist with the classes are requested to register with Sgt. Tousignant. Assistants are urged to enroll in the senior life saving or junior life saving classes.

Special Services has called a meeting of unit chiefs Monday to discuss plans for a program which would put the post's best amateur sluggers into action on a twice a month basis.

The present idea would be to hold the cards at huge Doughboy Stadium taking advantage of the summer breezes and eliminating the seating shortage at Briant Wells Field House which just couldn't hold 'em all during the recent championship ring campaign.

Grid Planning

Also on the agenda will be a preliminary discussion on the football program for this coming fall. A post league patterned after last year's spectacular six-team circuit seems to be in the offing.

At least two other Third Army posts, Camp Gordon, Ga., and Fort Bragg, N. C., plan to extend their boxing activities into the summer and have already issued informal challenges to Benning for inter-post competition during the hot months.

Gordon also is planning to bring in professional cards for its soldier fans.

NEW EXEC

First Lt. J. T. Griffin has been appointed executive officer of Service Company, First Student Regiment. He is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, class of 1950, and is a veteran of the Korean conflict.

NEW I AND E CENTER

Fourth Company, First Student Regiment, has constructed a new unit Troop and Information Center within their area unit. The center is constructed of plywood and painted with the company School colors: blue and white.

122nd, 121st Score In Second SR Loop Softball Twin Bill

The 122nd and the 121st Companies were easy winners in a double header last week in the Second Student Regiment Softball League. The 122nd handed the 126th a 9-2 beating, while the 121st swamped Hqs. Company, 19-4.

The 122nd tallied three runs first, fifth and sixth innings in whipping the 122nd, despite the fact it was able to garner but three hits in all. Morrow led the 122nd batsmen with two of the three hits. Phillips was the winning pitcher.

The 126th also collected three hits, one being a home run by Pevlovfky in the fifth. The other 126th tally came in the seventh.

The 121st had things its own way in belting the Hqs. team, with McHill as the winning pitcher.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

by Cpl. Charles Johnson

WE MAY BE seeing the last of Larry Mujica, the deadpanned, quiet New Yorker who is one of the hardest working and most sincere pro fighters to represent Fort Benning in many a semester. Larrupin' Larry's due for discharge in November, thanks to the shaving of extensions for regulars, and has just about made up his mind to a full time bid for boxing glory and gravy.

The time is ripe for him. He's 22 years old and, fistically speaking, has learned and accomplished a great deal since gaining permission last summer to punch for pay in nearby Georgia clubs. Under the circumstances Mujica's as popular as he can get on the southern circuit. He holds the Georgia Welterweight crown which, although bestowed somewhat dubiously, he has zealously defended against all comers who expressed an interest in trying it on for size.

"I joined the Army in 1949 because I didn't feel like I was getting anywhere in boxing," explained the East Side kid who was born into a fighting family. "I've learned a lot since then. I've got my confidence. I figure I'll give boxing two years after I get out to find out if I can make a go of it. I don't expect to be a champion, but there's a place for a good, steady club fighter and that's what I figure I'm ready for.

"When I first started boxing here some of these kids around the post gave me a bad time, cuties like Len James, but for the last couple of months when I worked with those guys I made them do what I wanted them to do. Then I used to box with bigger guys, but I found out that wasn't doing me any good. It's like Willie Pep told me here a couple weeks ago. Leave the heavy fellows alone. They can only hurt you and they don't teach you a thing or help your condition any."

Mujica's pleased with his recent efforts and says his fight a week ago Tuesday with Sonny Luciano was the first one he was really ready for both mentally and physically. He pasted the Jersey welterweight for 10 rounds at the downtown Columbus Arena to reverse a disputed nod he dropped to Luciano last fall. But even so, the young cadreman from the Airborne Battalion of First Student Regiment has not converted all post and Columbus fans to his camp.

There are those who point out that when he faced a real test last summer against the well known Chuck Taylor he was beaten somewhat handily. And they note that Luciano two weeks ago was apparently saving something for the 10-round fight it turned out that he was booked for the following evening against rugged Al (Kid) McCoy in Augusta. This much I'll concede, for Larry; he didn't belong in the same ring with Taylor. I knew Chuck when he fought Sugar Ray Robinson for the title and I know how the Coalport, Pa., veteran fights. He uses all the tricks they ever invented and an inexperienced kid with nothing more than a lot of raw punching and determination is strictly his dish.

As for Luciano, Larry gave another ringwise veteran nine rounds of unrelenting punishment, furnishing Sonny with every chance to make a battle of it in the doing, and in the tenth, when Sonny tried to open up, Larry reversed his style completely to counter punch him silly. I don't know what more he could have done, and I'll go along with Mujica when he says: "I kept him smothered the whole fight. I think if he had opened up on me after the first round I would have hurt him bad."

ANOTHER BENNING fighter is also faced with an important decision. He's Ray Lee, also of First Student Regiment, who just finished winning the Third Army light middleweight toga. Ray is making up his mind about deserting the simon pures in favor of the pro ranks.

Lee is raw in many ways, and not the least of his future assignments is to learn to heed good coaching when it is offered. I have never seen any master of boxing who also wasn't a constant student of the game. But the handsome Lee was certainly the best fighter Benning had in its recent ring season and his left hand was one of the finest I've seen on pro or amateur in quite a few moons. There was a time when the straight left was the essence of ring strategy. It was not the feeble, flicking tap that you see today which can be ignored, but a punishing blow that often produced a knockdown.

"I've been boxing since I was 11 because my father was a fighter and he still has a gym in Kansas City," explains Lee. "Dad always worked on that left and it paid off. I'm just 21 and I guess I've had all the amateur experience a guy can get. I went to the Golden Gloves finals in Chicago in 1947-48. If boxing is ever going to mean anything to me in money I suppose now is about the time."

Flyers Top Medics For First Win

Frank Leto was allowed to tarry on the mound until he had been abused for nine runs, and Lawson Field went on from there to paste Provisional Medical Group, 15-4, last Friday night in a Fort Benning Baseball League game.

A couple of errors and base hits by Al Easley, Charlie Kline and Wade Jones gave the Medics a two-run lead in the second.

They made it 4-to-0 in the third on singles by Bobby Davis and Floyd Kendall and a booming triple by Easley.

Early Tub

But errors and a base - hit barrage dented Leto for five Flyer runs in the fourth and they added four more in the fifth before Manager Adolph Mazeika sent mike Chester to the rescue.

Chester was nicked for four runs in the eighth, but otherwise held up well. The Medics never had another chance to get back, however, as Flyer Manager Charlie Urbanowich finished the last six innings in shut out style scattering five hits.

A couple of pitchers who double in brass in the outfield when they're not hurling paced the hitting for both clubs. Lawson's Tom Norbut got 3-for-5 and Kendall two safeties in four at bats to match Easley's mark.

Pistol Shoot Slated Sunday

The Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club's monthly pistol competition is slated to get under way at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the club range at the extreme end of Lumpkin Road, main post.

The NRA short course with 22-cal. and any center fire pistols will be fired. Medals will be presented in all classes. All post shooters are invited to take part.

Pfc. Dan Galassini fired a 91 with 20 shots at 600 yards last Sunday in the club's weekly informal rifle shoot at Easley Range. Galassini had done little previous shooting.

This score was matched by Capt. Eubert Malone.

Some 23 shooters were on hand before rains drove them to cover, the largest Sunday turnout yet according to Lt. Rufus Brock, who directs of the off-duty program.

Novices Welcome

The Easley range facilities and ammunition is available to all men on post at 9 a.m. every Sunday. No prior experience is required. Interested shooters aredirected to draw rifles from their respective units. Dress is optional.

Easley Range is off Dixie Road in the main post area.

Army marksmen currently training here for Olympic and International team tryouts were feted Tuesday by shooters at Dawson, Ga.

First S.R. Cops Pair; ½ Game Out

First Student Regiment's big bats banged twice last week to win two decisions and pull the Black Shirts to within a half game of unbeaten Infantry School Detachment in the Fort Benning Baseball League.

Manager Bob Kinard's crafty crew has now met every nine in the circuit once and lost only to the Professors.

It took the First until the ninth inning when they scored five runs to ice what had been a good pitching duel with ASU Provisional Group's Carroll Mattson.

The final tally before 600 fans at Gowdy Field last Wednesday was 9-2.

Kinard's Killers went scoreless for six frames against lowly Second, Student Regiment Saturday and then exploded for five markers in the seventh which wrapped up a 6-3 verdict for them.

The First got 22 hits in the two games, including four extra-base blows while three of their hurlers, Lloyd Brill, Dick Myers and Vince Dickherber rationed opponents to 10 safeties.

Brill got his second win at ASU's expense, although Myers came in with one on and one out in the sixth and finished the last four innings in no-hit manner. Dickherber threw seven innings of goose eggs and was seriously nicked only by Ted York's inside-the-park homer.

The latter would have been a single if center fielder Joe Smith hadn't elected to try for the out. Joe over ran the plunging pellet and it rolled almost to the fence before the other fielders could get there.

A trio of veteran First S. R. athletes paced the two - game attack, Smith netting 4-for-8 with Bill Brooks and Paul Bonair close behind with 4-for-9. Infielder Johnny Oden returned to action in the second game, swatted 3-for-4 and got the double which started the First's uprising against the Rockets.

Second S. R. starter Joe Foizey, who had been working a three-hitter until that point, tired badly in the inning, but he would have been out of it with only two runs against him if shortstop Jack Berry hadn't bobbled an infield roller for the third out.

Errors also got the best of ASU hurler Mattson. The brilliant right-hander never got ahead because of a two - run error by rightfielder Dixie Walker in the fourth. With Myers bottling the Raider batters, Mattson gave way completely in the ninth and Clyde Britton came in to get the final three outs, but not before the First had five runs.

ASU's Bobby Dews came up four times and was on safely twice by hits and twice with walks. Dews and Bill Hahn singled in the Raiders' only two runs.

The First pulled off two double plays against the Rockets which were only the sixth and seventh twin killings of the season.

Pierce Hurls 2-Hitter As 105th Triumphs

A tight pitchers' duel was reeled off in Second Student Regiment softball competition last Wednesday with the 105th company topping the 124th, 4-2.

Roy Pierce was the winning twirler, holding the 124th to only two hits, one of which was a home run by Love. The 105th was able to garner but three hits, the big blow being a three-run homer in the fifth by catcher William Wallace.

Draper was charged with the defeat.

Dates for Inter-Service Track Meet Changed

The Armed Forces field and track championships, an eliminating affair for places on the U. S. Olympic games team, will be held at Long Beach June 7-8, instead of at San Diego.

Lt. Comdr. J. W. McGhee of the 11th Naval District, made the announcement of the shift today.

Trials and a few finals will be held on Saturday, and the main show Sunday afternoon.

First SR Takes Week's Golf Play

BY PFC. GEORGE LITTLE

In the fifth week of play in the First Student Brigade Spring Handicap golf tournament low net honors were won by the First Student Regiment team with a 71.4. Brigade Headquarters was runner up with a 73.6.

Pvt. Randy Wilsman of the First Student Regiment squad was awarded two game balls as a prize for his 66 net, the lowest of the week. He also received a third ball for being low man on his team. Capt. Bernerd Beaird, also of the First Student Regiment team, was runner-up with a 67.

Other low individual net scorers in last week's play were Capt. Hunter Spears, 70; Lt. Col. Ernest Sheheen, Maj. John Henion, Maj. Norman Wampler, and Lt. Warren Osbourn, 72.

Team winners last week were First Student Regiment over First Brigade Headquarters, and Second Student Regiment over First Officer Candidate Regiment.

Miller's No-Hitter For 1st Battalion Wins Opening Tilt

Earl Miller, 22-year old right hander from Woodlawn, Va., was at his peak as he pitched a no-hitless innings Tuesday night to give First Battalion, 30th Infantry, a 19-0 victory over the 509th Engineers.

Miller struck out 17 men in the six inning tussle, while walking only one and allowing no hits. Albert Frank, the 509th hurler, gave up four hits and walked four before he was relieved in the fourth by Fernandez.

It was the opening game for the First Battalion.

Cards Play 4 This Weekend

The Columbus Cardinals wind up a series with the Macon Peaches in a single game at 8 o'clock tonight and then meet The Augusta Tigers in a four - game set opening Friday night at downtown Golfers Park. There will be a doubleheader Sunday afternoon.

The Redbirds have been strengthened somewhat since their last showing here. They have added infielder Don Spencer, catcher Mike Curnan and pitchers Norman Shope, Roberto Batancourt and Don Swartz.

Gil Dailey, Columbus leftfielder is hitting .471 although he has played in only 12 games. The Cards walloped the Tigers four straight in a series in Augusta last week-end.

Post Sluggers In Arena Bouts

Al (Kid) McCoy, of Macon, Ga., and Joe Diaz, of Tampa, a couple of hard hitting lightweights who were beaten by Fort Benning's Larry Mujica in their only local losses, will meet in the 10-round star bout Monday night at the downtown Columbus Arena.

McCoy took a split decision from Diaz in a torrid duel between the two several months ago in Tampa.

Diaz recently scored a major victory by defeating Ralph Pearson. He lost to Mujica on a split decision and has nine kayoes scored in his short ring career.

In a special six-round semi-final, James Boyd, Fort Benning light heavyweight champion for two years, will make his pro debut against Billy Ferguson, veteran Miami headliner now on duty with combat Training Command.

Undefeated

Boyd hasn't been anywhere near defeat in two years of post competition and went to the semi-finals in the recent Third Army tournament. Ferguson has been featured in Florida and Caribbean rings for several seasons.

In another six, Benning's Bob Flores will meet Bobby Evans in a rematch. Flores won a slim verdict in their previous meeting two weeks ago.

Other bouts pit Bill Reddish, Brooklyn middleweight, against Ray Anderson, of Columbus, in six, Sammy Firgon, of Canada, against Joe Tunney, Atlanta welter, in six, and Lonard Smith, Columbus middleweight, against Ken Thomas, also of Columbus.

College Ace In Shoot Trial Here

Twenty-two-year old Second Lt. Herbert Voelcker is here this month attempting to make the big jump from the championship ranks of collegiate shooting to a berth on the 1952 U. S. Olympic and International rifle teams.

Voelcker's outstanding record in gallery shooting earned him the nod from the Army to leave the 82nd Airborne at Fort Bragg, N. C., to participate in the regional service try outs now being conducted here by Col. Perry D. Swindler.

The Tonawanda, N. Y., bullseye buster was captain of the 1951 rifle team at Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he earned his BS in mechanical engineering.

Won College Title

His outstanding feat of marksmanship was winning the national collegiate individual shooting crown in 1950 with a 293 score, and as captain in '51 he led the MIT squad to record performances at West Point, Annapolis, New York U., the Coast Guard Academy and U. of Maryland.

They climaxed that season by winning the national team title with a record score of 1437.

High Scorer

Voelcker had also coached the MIT frosh squad which won the national freshman team title in 1947 and was high scorer on the varsity in 1949.

"Gallery shooting is a lot different from this though," he admitted last week while sighting a special .22 on the small 300 yard target at the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club's covered range.

Ex-Clemson Players Head Second SR Sports Lineup

BY E. M. RICH

A collegiate football player who was in two of the nation's top bowl contests is a student in an infantry officer's class in the Second Student Regiment. He's 2nd Lt. James Carothers, one of a long list of ex-college athletes in ACO 29, 123rd Company.

Carothers was a member of the Clemson College football team that mosed out Missouri, 24-23, in the 1949 Gator Bowl game in Jacksonville, Fla., and on the Clemson team that snatched a 15-14 victory from the University of Miami in the 1951 Orange Bowl Classic in Miami.

A four - letter winner in football for Mississippi State's Southeastern Conference entry is 2nd Lt. Paul Younger, who also is in the 123rd.

Second Lt. George Watkins is another former Clemson College athlete. Watkins was on varsity football and baseball teams at the South Carolina school.

Texas Gridder

A football and boxing participant on varsity teams for Texas Tech was 1st Lt. Lewis Alexander. Alexander won letters in the two sports at Hasliel Institute. He also played with the "Flying Kellys" at Kirkland Field, Albuquerque, N.M.

Second Lt. Albert Pratt Jr. was captain of the 1950 Tuskegee Institute football squad in Alabama.

Other former Clemson athletes here are 2nd Lt. Joseph Squires and 2nd Lt. John Cornwell. Squires was on the varsity basketball team while Cornwell played two years of baseball.

Second Lt. William Schneider was awarded letters in basketball and baseball for Kent State University in Ohio.

A varsity track man for CCNY was 2nd Lt. Francis McAllister.

Second Lt. Phillip Peters played four years of lacrosse for the University of Maryland.

A baseball player for North Georgia College was 2nd Lt. William Harris.

Here's How It Feels To Run For 26 Miles

BY DICK ELLIS

I really believe now that I can muster the guts some day soon, perhaps with four or five years more experience, to win the National Marathon or the more famous Boston Marathon.

The course we took (in the National) was hilly and tough over the last five miles and that is when one needs reserve strength and the determination to keep plugging.

Over 90 runners started, but less than 50 finished.

PASSED POST RIVAL

I passed my buddy, Lionel Pinn, (of CTC), at the half-mile mark and opened up a lead of a few hundred yards over the others. I held onto the lead until the seven-mile mark. I was fifth at 10 miles and felt good.

I ran 17th at the 19-mile mark and was tiring at 20, but my legs held up and I overtook several of the better known runners over the last five miles to finish 12th in under three hours for the first time. (Dick's time was 2:57.49. Pinn finished 35th in 4:19.33.)

There were two foreigners in the field so actually I was the tenth place man in the National Senior Marathon finals.

ON SECOND TEAM

My best previous time was three hours and nine minutes last year on an easier road when in my first full marathon I ended up 24th.

I ran with John Lafferty, the sailor, and Jesse Van ant as an entry from the Boston Athletic Association and we took second place in the team competition behind the Millrose A. A. squad.

This road racing seems to be an "old" man's sport. The average age of the first 12 to finish in last month's Boston Marathon was 36 years. The older men like the weather hot, but it was cloudy in Yongers and that suited me fine.

AGE NO HANDICAP

I have noted the ages of some of the better known runners to show you that it takes many years of hard work to reach one's peak in this game and the marathoners are usually at their best after about eight years of competition and when they reach their early 30's.

I don't believe I could have done any better if I hadn't extended myself during the first seven miles. I'm glad I went right out because it's harder to make it up after ten miles.

I shall go as far as possible in the forthcoming distance runs on the west coast, but there are many who can run the distances of two-to-eight miles way and get home way ahead of me.

I'm sure I don't expect to make an Olympic team this year although I never give up hope because I do love sports and love to compete.

Ladies' Golf Finals Set

Irene Curtiss and Joyce Marley will meet in the 18-hole championship finals of the Fort Benning Ladies golf tournament this week after their match was rained out last Sunday afternoon.

A couple of hardy shotmakers plowed throug the goo, however, with Mary Frye beating Ruth Rafferty, 1-up, for the first flight championship. She had beaten Toni Kemp and Tommie Jenkins in preliminary rounds.

Prizes for the winners will be presented by Mrs. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., at a party at 6 p.m. Sunday at Fort Benning Country Club.

Mrs. Curtis is the tournament's defending champion. A consolation prizes was won by Jeanne Nelson with a 104 score.

Airborne Cops 7th Win In First Softball

The Airborne team of the First Student Regiment Softball League went into first place by defeating Third Battalion, 13-0, last week.

The Airborne team ran up the big score behind the two-hit pitching of Charles Howell, of Company C, to become the winner of the first half of the First Regiment's tournament.

The victory was number seven for the Airborne and the third for Howell against no losses. Standouts for the season have been Jean Sites, who pitched 17 strikeouts in one of the early games of the season and Bill Thompson who hit two homers during a doubleheader last week. Eddie Bright, of Company G, is manager of the team.

Other members of the team are Carl Proctor, Co. I, pitcher; Frank Sitak, Co. I, catcher; Al Constance, Hq. & Svc. Co., first base; Kenneth Hemingway, Co. I, shortstop; George Leadbeater, Hq. & Svc. Co., right field; Carlos Gravitte, Hq. & Svc. Co., left field, and Ronald Milton, Co. G, center field.

Upon completion of the regular season June 17 the top two teams from each of the three regiments of the Brigade will participate in a play off to decide the Brigade champions.

'Bama Dog Cops Field Go

Rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a large group of hound owners and spectators who turned out for the first field trials of the Night Hunters of America Club last Saturday at Fort Benning's King's Pond.

The rain held off for the drag and river races, but came down profusely in the coon-on-the log test.

Rocky, a dog owned by Charles Edwards, of Seale, Ala., was line winner in the first heat of the drag race and Bozie, owned by Ed Butts, also of Seale opened first at the tree.

In the second heat, Red, another Butts' entry, was line winner and Joe, owned and handled by John Jones, Columbus, was tree winner. Red, a fast-moving redbone hound, found added speed in the finals to win both line and tree.

Wet dogs, moved in strong from a two and a half mile river race that took them into the water at Kings Pond and across two branches in the nearby bottoms. It was clear at the tree with a dog named Steamboat, owned by Claude Fripp, Midland, Ga., winning the event.

The coon was the winner of the coon-on-the-log contest. Pup, owned by W-O George Hartley, Midland, Ga., gave the outstanding exhibition of the afternoon. In a near-win he moved the large coon to within a few feet of the 36 foot mark. Trump, owned by First Lt. Cecil Boggs, Columbus, and Troupe, owned by Sgt. Malcom Hinson, Fort Benning, failed to repeat their spectacular performance of the early try outs.

Humane treatment and conservation-consciousness strike a strong note in all activities of the club. A club member is assigned the specific duty of attending to the welfare of coons used.

Coon are kept under control by a line running from the shore above the log. All activity stops while frequent checks are made on the coon's condition.

The club has a conservation committee that prevents wild coon from being hunted out in certain areas and prevents wholesale destruction of coons in areas where they have been declared predators of varmints. Restocking and redistribution are included in the conservation committee's plans.

Commanders Set Hot Pace In Little Loop

Carl Benson belted a pair of bases loaded home runs to spark the Commanders to their seventh straight victory in Doughboy Little League action this past week at the main post softball field.

Benson's two blasts helped the Commandos trip the Flyers, 21-7.

The Raiders, Rams and Flyers follow the Commanders in that order in the spirited play for eight to 12 year olds. Games are scheduled at 6:30 tonight and at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the main post softball diamond south of the WAC Detachment.

Heavy Hitters

First baseman Ronnie Hutcheson and catcher Skippy Potter are leading the Commanders' attack with .726 and .650 batting averages respectively.

In another game last week, the Raiders downed the Rams, 7-4, with Weldon Sellers and Doc Leonard hitting four-masters for the winners. Circuit clouts for the losers were delivered by Doug Pelren and Robert Drain.

Post Sergeant Receives Suggestion Certificate

A Fort Benning airborne sergeant has been awarded the Department of the Army's Suggestion Award Certificate for an idea that saved the government $1,864 in the last year.

He is M-Sgt. Theodore J. Pozzi, who is from Santa Rosa, Calif. He award was made last Wednesday by Lt. Col. Richard J. Seitz, director of the Infantry School's Airborne Department.

Sergeant Pazzi, an airborne Department instructor, suggested a method to cut in half the use of parachute release fuses used in heavy equipment drops.

When guns, jeeps and supplies are dropped by parachute, two fuses are used to cut the parachute's safety line and release the chute from the load when the equipment hits the ground. Using one dummy cartridge and one live cartridge, Sergeant Pozzie developed a release system which requires only one fuse to cut the safety line.

Colonel Attends Course For Enlisted Men Here

A colonel is now enrolled in the enlisted Infantry maintenance course which began last Monday.

Colonel Chen Yuen of the Chinese Nationalist Army, Deputy Signal Officer of the Formosa Defense Command is the student.

This unusual situation developed when Brig. Gen. J. P. Willey, Chief, Military Advisory Group on Formosa and the Chinese realized the necessity of organizing a similar course for communications department there. When the course begins, Colonel Yen will be in charge.

A graduate of the National Southwestern Associate University in Kumming with a Bachelor of Engineering degree, he worked for three years in the International Radio Office in the Ministery of Communications. During this time he combined his work with ROTC training.

He was called to active duty as a Major in 1941 and served in India as an instructor with the American Army under General "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell.

The Colonel's next assignment was with the Chinese 38th Army in India which fought from the Ledo Road to Yunan Province in China. When the new Chinese 1st Army was formed, he was promoted to Lt. Col. and Army Signal Officer.

In 1945 and 46 he was sent to Manchuria with the 1st Army and fought the Communists for the first time. He was then ordered to Formosa as Chief of Signal Section, G-3, under Maj. Gen. D. T. Barr, Chief of the American Advisory Group.

Spud Shortage Ends Old Army Peeling Gripe

Fort Benning mess personnel have been deprived of one of their main sources of gripes during the current potato shortage.

According to Col. Ivan Parr, post Quartermaster, Benning has definitely felt the potato shortage and mess personnel have had few potatoes to peel in the past few weeks.

Considerable difficulty has been experienced in securing enough "spuds" to go around to unit mess halls and for consumption in the commissary. However, the Quartermaster Market Center commander at Columbia, S. C., has been able to obtain a small amount of this necessary food from Florida, and two carloads have been received here.

Colonel Parr said, "This is by no means enough for our needs, but it does help the situation. Two carloads is a very small amount considering the personnel stationed here."

According to the colonel, there have been a few days when rice, noodles, spaghetti, and marcaroni had to be substituted for potatoes in issue to the post mess halls. He said that a supply of dehydrated potatoes had been secured in case the shortage continues.

"This dehydrated food will be issued only if the shortage continues", said Colonel Parr, "and a shortage arises in substitutes However, we have every reason to believe there will be an improvement in the situation in the near future".

Ex-Fur Blower In Post Unit

And now we have an ex-fur-blower at Benning.

Twenty - one - year - old Sgt. John McGoniagle, personnel sergeant major for the First Transportation Battalion claims to have been a fur blower in his home town of Charlestown, Mass.

To begin at the beginning Sergeant McGoniagle explains that he worked in the fur storage department of the Jordan Marsh department store in Boston.

"We received furs and other garments for processing before putting them into the cold storage vaults", he said. "Most of the fur coats were Mink and Persian Lamb.

"These garments were taken to the blower room in which I worked. I took the coats and put them on racks where they were subjected to pressure from four air hoses. Then they were placed into a dehothing tank and once again blown with pressure hoses — this time using Gardite gas," he further explained.

The gas is used to insure that all insects which might be imbedded in the coats would be killed. Processing 200 coats by this method takes approximately 30 minutes.

Sergeant McGoniagle says that that was the entire process except for putting the coats into vaults until their owners claim them.

12,000 Subscribe To TIS Quarterly

Over 12,000 Infantrymen are readers of the Infantry School Quarterly, according to Lt. William G. Barrett, Circulating Manager.

"Quarterly circulation has almost doubled since the outbreak of the Korean War," Lieutenant Barrett said. "Circulation has jumped from 6,000 in June, 1950 to over 12,000 today and it's still climbing."

One of the reasons for the Quarterly's increase in circulation is the wide coverage of Infantry subjects it offers. Timely, interesting articles by authors here at Fort Benning and all over the world keep Quarterly readers up-to-date on tactics, communications, staff procedures, weapons, and training methods.

All branch stores of the Book Department accept Quarterly subscriptions.

Branch Library 6 Opens Next Sunday

Branch Library No. 6, located in the Officer Candidate area in Harmony Church, will open Sunday, June 1, according to the Special Service office.

The Library will carry the same type of books as the Main Library, and in the near future will have a music room and record concerts.

Miss Carolyn Piscitello will be the librarian for the new branch.

Fort Benning P-TA Installs New Officers Monday Night

The annual installation of officers for the Fort Benning P-TA was held at the final meeting of the school year at the Children's School last Monday night at 8 p.m.

The new slate of officers installed for the 1952-1953 school year were Col. Kenneth D. Macomber, president; Lt. Col. John R. Richmond, first vice president; Mrs. Michael Brockovich, second vice president; Mrs. H. G. Wilder, secretary, and Sgt. Emil W. Kaeserman, treasurer.

Mrs. Thomas Kane, outgoing president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Hazel Scudder, principal of the school, gave a progress report for the past year and a preview of the extended activities for summer recreation.

After the business meeting, 40 members of the fourth grade flute band gave a concert. The band is under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins. Refreshments were served after the concert.

A-Gun Will Give Close Support

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The Army's newly developed atomic gun can hit its target under any weather conditions and give ground troops the kind of "devastating" close support that never before has been available in warfare, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. has disclosed.

Stressing the progress made by the Armed Forces in atomic armament, Mr. Pace said: "The Army is developing atomic weapons to assist the soldier. We have the prototype of an atomic gun, and are training 'atomic artillerymen' to use it.

"This newly developed atomic gun," he continued, "can give the ground commander tremendous power at his finger tips. . . It would be especially effective in defending against attacking ground forces obliged to mass and expose themselves in an assault. Unlike an air-delivered atomic weapon, the atomic gun can function in all kinds of weather, night or day.

"Carried on a platform suspended between two engine cabs at front and rear, this highly mobile atomic weapon can travel at a speed of about 35 miles per hour on highways."

Sec. Pace also said that atomic guided missiles and rockets for use against ground targets are being developed, and units to fire these weapons have been under training "for some time."

ASSIGNED

Capt. George W. Schwart has been assigned as commanding officer of 106th Company, Second Student Regiment. Former commanding officer, Lt. Don W. Davis will remain with the company as Mess Officer.

Victory Lodge Re-Opens As Officer Candidate Club

Victory Lodge was officially reopened last Saturday when Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander cut the ribbon. The lodge is now the Infantry Officer Candidate Club.

Infantry Center officials and members of the First Officer Candidate Regiment and their wives attended the opening ceremonies. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Refresments were served, and Kay Denson, a Columbus, Georgia musician played a program of popular music on the Hammond organ.

Victory Lodge, formerly a post-wide recreation center, has been completely remodeled. Located on Victory Pond in the Harmony Church area, it features outdoor tables, a knotty pine interior, two fireplaces and wide porches.

Dances will be held at the club on Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons, according to SFC. Kenneth W. Griffin, branch manager of the lodge.

Capt. Howard Hoffman, of the NCO Mess Council, will be mess advisor, assisted by Sergeant Griffin and Candidate John Tachihara, student chairman of the club's board of governors.

Infantry Center officials attending opening ceremonies included Gen. Meloy, Col. John Hightower, director of instruction for The Infantry School, Col. Harry Grizzard, First Officer Candidate Regiment commander, Col. Charles Owens, Infantry Center G-1, Col. George Bush, deputy assistant commandant for The Infantry School, Col. John F. Reed, executive officer for evaluation of officer candidates, and Lt. Col. Neil Robinson, executive officer for administration of the First Officer Candidate Regiment.

New Assignment

Second Lt. Raymond H. Carr, Jr. has been appointed to succeed Capt. Arthur S. Hyman as the A&R—PIO of the 508th Airborne RCT.

Capt. Hyman has gone to the Far East Command.

Prior to coming to the A&R-PIO office, Lieutenant Carr was executive officer of Battery B of the 320th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion.

Episcopal Minister Attends Associate Officers Course

Lt. Col. George L. Barton III is a former battalion commander in Korea who believes firmly that "faith is one of the greatest comforts on the battlefield."

Colonel Barton is an Episcopal lay minister now attending associate Infantry officers advance class No. 8 as a member of the 24th Company, First Student Regiment.

The 34-year-old colonel was a battalion commander in the 32nd Regiment of the Second Infantry Division in Korea, where he mixed prayers with a battle knowhow that led him from battalion executive officer through regimental S-3 to his command spot.

A graduate of Virginia Episcopal School in Lynchburg, Va. and Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y., he was taking a post graduate course at the University of Virginia in 1941 when he quit school to enlist in the Army, because, he says, he could sense what was coming.

He was assigned to the Third Calvary Regiment at Fort Myers, Va., and worked his way up to sergeant before attending officers candidate school at Fort Riley, Kans., where he won his commission.

Colonel Barton volunteered for the then - new paratrooper training, and was among the first graduates in 1943. With the 508th Regiment of the 101st "Screaming Eagles" Division, he fought through the European theater and the heartbreaking "battle of the bulge" where the courage of the men of the 101st won the hearts of the American people.

As a lay minister, Colonel Barton says he is ready to serve wherever and whenever he's needed. He has served as lay reader of the Trinity Church in Mattoon, Ill. and the Grace Church in Yorktown, Va., where he had complete charge of the church and all its affairs, working directly under the bishop of the diocese.

"It has been a humble privilege for me to be able to serve both God and my country," Colonel Barton said. "In any field of mortal combat from time immemorial, men have turned to their religion, whatever it may be, for help and comfort. If I have been able to represent that faith and offered guidance to those who requested it, I feel that I have justified my existence."

Thirteen Graduate From Medic Course

Ten medical and three neuropsychiatric technicians graduated from the medical advanced course at the U.S. Army Hospital here last week.

Lt. Col. O. R. Brown, hospital executive officer, presented the diplomas.

The neuropsychiatric technicians were Pvt. Wendell W. Hall, Jr., and Pvt. James A. Hansen, both assigned to Camp Kilmer, N.J., and Pvt. Anthony R. Jackson, assigned to Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D.C.

The medical technicians were Pvt. David E. Boyett, Pvt. James T. Brunson, and Pvt. Buford O Hedden, assigned to the Far East Command.

Pvt. Douglas Price, assigned to Fort Meade, Md.; Pvt. Betty L. Baxley, assigned to Fort Lee, Va.; Pvt. Annie P. Casto, assigned to Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Cpl. Wayne E. Werren, Pfc. James F. Koontz, and Cpl. David V. Zeigler, assigned to Camp Atterbury, Ind.

43 Men Graduate From Radio Course

Graduation exercises for Class no. 6, Infantry Radio Maintenance, 15th Company, First Student Regiment was held in Brown Hall May 20.

Col. Wolcott K. Dudley, Director of Communication Department gave a short address and awarded certificates to the 43 graduates.

Pvt. Louis A. Clouatre was the honor student.

BENNING RADIO NEWS

Two additional radio stations in Georgia are now carrying programs produced by the Radio Branch of The Infantry Center, Public Information Office. They are WAGA, Atlanta, and WGOV, Valdosta.

The two stations will carry the "Benning In Review" show which is heard locally at 6:15 p.m. each Saturday over WRBL. In addition, a weekly program series is being readied for WPNX, the new Phenix City station. This will give Fort Benning a weekly output of six fifteen-minute radio shows.

A new service to listeners to the Benning radio programs is the addition of combat interviews direct from the battlefield in Korea. By arrangement with the PIO of the Far Eastern Command, the PIO of The Infantry Center now receives at regular intervals taped shots covering every phase of activity in the combat zone. These will be used on the various programs produced each week at Benning.

• • •

"Benning News Parade" for this week will carry the stories of all the big events at Benning. This program is heard over WDAK at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

"Benning In Review" to be aired over WRBL at 6:15 p.m. Satuday will include one of the combat stories just mentioned and good music by the "Melodairs."

"Feature Page," to be heard over WGBA Sunday at noon will carry two stories of men of the Infantry in Korea.

Hill-billy fans at Benning are set to welcome radio-star Ernest Tubbs to The Infantry Center for two performances next Wednesday night, June 4. The Grand Ole Opry performer is scheduled to appear at the Main Theater at 7 p.m. on that date and at Theatre No. 7 in Sand Hill at 8:30 p.m. the same date. Price of admission will be 75 cents. Tubbs will bring a complete troop and will feature Ray Price, new hill-billy sensation.

'Mr. Taxpayer' Can Thank QM Repair Division Here

Mr. Taxpayer, who often complains when the searching fingers of Uncle Sam probe the public pocketbooks, owes a word of thanks to the Quartermaster's Classification and Repair Division here.

This is one place where the practice is saving money, not spending it. During the period from March 1, 1951, through Feb. 29, 1952, this division of Quartermaster netted an estimated saving of $120,664.19. This stacks up into a nice little saving in a time when every penny in the defense budget must count.

During these 12 months the seven shops of the repair division reconditioned 260,430 Quartermaster items and sent them back to units for further use.

The furniture repair shop kept busy with 6,119 items ranging from stuffed chairs and dining tables to desks used in classes conducted by The Infantry School. One of the biggest savings was accomplished by the wood and metal shop which left the taxpayer $24,341.40 ahead of the game. This department is the surgical service to damaged footlockers, Army cans, mess kits, canteens, cooking utensils, beds and many other pieces of equipment important to the welfare and soldier and his unit.

Like New

These worn and battered items come out of the shop glistening with fresh paint and when they are returned to a barracks or mess hall, troops am hardly aware they are not just out of the factory.

Office appliance, and shop where, expert hands repair typewriters, adding machines and other equipment essential to the operation of the many offices on the post, saved a grand total of $51,829.41, although it repaired only 5,283 pieces of equipment.

The seven shops can put back into operation anything from combat boots to a shredded foot stool. And every article that finds its way into the repair shop represents a saving. It means less cash for the citizen to dig out when the revenue man comes around and it also means more funds available for buying guns, tanks and ammunition.

But the motive of the repair division is not entirely mercenary. Sometimes a soldier's life may depend on how well the job is done. This is especially true in the newest shop in operation—air equipment repair.

Here expert hands mend torn and worn parachutes and return them in condition to float a paratrooper to earth and land him whole and ready for the fight. Their work includes replacing cords and nylon panels, a job they must perform to perfection or run the risk of losing many airborne friends.

4th OC Co. Initiates Plan For Committees

The newly-arrived Fourth Officer Candidate Company is establishing a system of committees which is designed to give each of the 190 prospective second lieutenants a part of the company functions.

Beginning this week the candidates will elect company and platoon councils which will be interlocked with a system of committees on Athletic and Recreation, Public Information, Troop Information and Education, Safety, Honor, Company Beautification and a classbook.

A large block diagram illustrating the function of each student government group and its relation to other groups has been drawn up by 1st Lt. George Ladas, tactical officer, and will be presented to the candidates at a forthcoming orientation.

Fourth OC Company, under the guidance of 1st Lt. Huston M. McMurray has graduated a total of 241 officers - more than any other company in the First OC Regiment.

Army To Celebrate Birthday June 14

The Army will observe its 177th birthday Saturday, June 14. A parade, to which the public is invited, will be held at French Field at 10 a.m. to celebrate the anniversary.

Maj. Gen. Robert Young, incoming Infantry Center commanding general, will review the troops. Music for the parade will be furnished by the 13th Army Band.

Featured in the parade will be the oldest Army unit on the installation, Company A, Second Infantry. Also participating will be the Fort Benning organization which is the continuous garrison here in point of service.

Lt. Gen. Withers Tigner, First Army commanding general, will be the principal speaker at the Fort Benning program. Col. H. H. Wade, commanding officer of the 13th Armored Group, will preside.

Chaplain (Capt.) Thomas Towns, and the 13th Armored Band, will participate in the program.

A massed performance by the 13th Armored Group, the Fort Benning Candidate Regiment, the 13th Armored Regiment, and the Army Ground Unit Provisional Company will conclude the ceremonies.

Infantry Regimental Reviews and Parades will be held on the Fort Benning installation from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 14, in observance of the Army's birthday.

Rescue Team Answers Call

For the third time since the first of the year, Fort Benning's Rescue Team has been called into action to assist motorists who had received a call from Phenix City that they were trapped in their cars by high water.

Four men were sent to the scene of Pepper Valley, just outside Phenix City, on the Columbus highway, where they found a group of motorists marooned by the flood waters. Two cars were found to be completely submerged and the occupants were forced to climb on the roofs of their cars to escape the rising waters. Two cars were found in 12 feet of water, and the occupants were forced to climb on the roofs of their cars to escape the rising waters. Two cars were found in 12 feet of water, and the occupants were forced to climb on the roofs of their cars to escape the rising waters.

The rescue team was organized as a result of the Phenix City flood last year. It is equipped to give the first aid to victims of accidents and to assist in the rescue of the sick or injured.

French Army Secretary Tours Fort Benning Today

The secretary of the French bat Team will form an honor guard for M. de Chevigne at 1 p.m. at Cheney Field, and a 19-gun salute will be fired by the Artillery. Following the ceremony, the French party will be escorted by the 13th Army Band.

An official luncheon at the Officers Club will be followed by a tour of the Infantry School. The Infantry Demonstration Regiment will put on a demonstration of the latest methods of fighting. Troops from the regiment, using the latest weapons and equipment, will demonstrate the tactics of the squad, platoon, company and battalion.

Troops from the regiment will also be used in the parade which will be held in honor of M. de Chevigne and his party at 4 p.m. Following the parade, there will be a reception at the Officers Club for the visitors.

Latin General Visits Benning

A Venezuelan Army General visited Fort Benning Monday, while the Infantry School's Commandant's Course and "officers and advisors" from Latin America's military establishments.

Venezuelan Infantry Training Center, and Brig. Gen. Pedro Quijada, Venezuelan Military Attache.

General Soria and Major Fernando E. De Alvarez and Captain Alvaro Vera of the Venezuelan Army have been attending Infantry Training with both.

They visited the Infantry School's Operations Office and Library as well as the Infantry Officer Candidate School.

Service Units to Fort Benning include the Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department, Signal Corps, Transportation Corps, Chemical Warfare Service, Medical Service, Finance Department, Adjutant General's Department, Corps of Engineers, Military Police Corps, Army Air Forces, Army Field Forces, Army Ground Forces, Army Service Forces, Army Security Agency, Army Medical Service, Army Dental Corps, Army Veterinary Corps, Army Nurse Corps, Army Medical Specialist Corps, Army Women's Army Corps, Army Chaplains, Army Judge Advocate General's Department

College Center Registration Open Here Today, Tuesday

Students planning to attend the Fort Benning branch of the University of Georgia this summer have been urged to register today if possible. Classes begin June 12 and end Aug. 21.

Director Rembert C. Houser said that some classes definitely will be closed because 67 students already have registered.

The office on the post, located in Building 2515 in the Troop Information and Education center of the Infantry Center, will be open today and next Tuesday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Despite the size of registration so far, Mr. Houser said, the university has decided to allow dependents to attend the branch at the post instead of having to go to town for college work.

At the same time, he emphasized that military personnel may attend classes either in Columbus on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights, or at the post on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Demand

Because of the greater demand at the post for introductory courses rather than advance work, beginning courses in sociology and mathematics will be taught each of the two periods, the director said. They replace two advance courses originally scheduled.

Students will have a better opportunity to arrange the schedule they want if they register today, he added, instead of waiting, possibly until the class they prefer has been closed.

The director also explained that most of the courses being taught this summer will be prerequisites for courses to be offered this fall. All carry full college credit and may be transferred to other colleges.

Get Slip

Military personnel of both Fort Benning and Lawson Field were also reminded to get from their respective T&E officers a slip allowing students to attend the center under the Army and Air Force Purchase order plans.

The center at Benning is the first to be opened on a military post by the University System of Georgia and represents months of efforts on the part of University and Army officials.

A university policy already in effect at the Columbus center will continue, he said. It provides for military personnel and their dependents to receive full credit for a course if the student is transferred by military order after he has completed half the course, provided he is passing at the time he is transferred.

ESSAY WINNER. Jimmy Reynolds, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James H. Reynolds, has won the Knights of Columbus essay contest with an essay entitled "Why I Am Proud To Be A Catholic." Jimmy, 11, is in the fifth grade of St. Joseph's Academy in Columbus. The contest was for students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Parochial schools in the greater Columbus area. Colonel Reynolds is commanding officer, Third Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment.

New Dayroom Set For OC Cadremen

A consolidated cadre dayroom which will provide some of the finest recreational facilities on the post will soon be opened in the First Officer Candidate Regiment.

The new dayroom, occupying two separate buildings, includes a writing room, reading room, music room, Troop Information and Education Center and a spacious main lounge with television. The dayroom annex includes ping pong and billiards with a snack bar planned in the near future.

Auto Department Saves $50,000

The Infantry School's automotive department has saved an estimated $50,000 through re-distribution of unused auto parts to post units.

This tremendous savings resulted from a reorganization of the department's supply system, credited to Sgt. William R. Johnson of Ahoski, N. C., parts sergeant.

After carefully checking all items on hand in the section, Sgt. Johnson began a mass turn-in project. When he had finished, 2,500 items had been collected from dusty storage bins and in turn put into use by other agencies here.

Sgt. Johnson also consolidated like parts that had been stocked in more than one place in the supply building into one locations making more than two - thirds of the building available for other use.

Approval for this change in the supply system was given Sgt. Johnson by Col. Donald A. McPheron, director of the Automotive Department, who, according to Sgt. Johnson, "is a firm believer in supply economy."

Composers Seek Song Material

Ideas and background material for writing an Army song will be obtained here by six song writers who arrived here June 2, according to Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, Infantry Center special services officer.

The group will visit mess halls, see Infantry School demonstrations, and talk with individual Infantry soldiers.

Included in the group will be Henry Pritchard, Marshall Barker, Robert Sour, Johnnie Parker and Miss Dorcas Cochran. Robert Sanjek, Robert Burton, Major Charles Underwood and John Kane.

Infantry Room Now Reopened

The Main Officers Mess completed their repair and renovation of the new Infantry Room and reopened on June 1. The cocktail lounge is scheduled to open not later than the 15th of the month.

The repairs have been made with the approval of the Board of Governors and the Commanding General at a cost of approximately $15,000. The Infantry room in the basement has been remodeled and enlarged with new doors and arches making it accessible from the main floor and the side entrances.

The new cocktail lounge may be entered from the South porch. There is a grand stair leading up to the main lounge where accommodations have been made for 10 people.

Lt. Walter E. Burgess of the mess staff, has been the architect in the planning the new construction and changes.

TO FECOM

Three members of the 25th Company First Student Regiment, all Korean returnees, are on their way back to the Far East Command for a second tour of duty. The men are, Cpl. Elmer Oliver, PFC Robert D. Jones and Pvt. Robert W. Hiers.

Paramount Cameraman Says Athletes Are Good Troops

Good athletes make good fighters, a Paramount cameraman here to photograph a movie on Rangers said last week.

He is Russell T. Ervin, a New Yorker who also films the Grantland Rice "Sportlight" shorts says he likes to make films of Infantrymen because "they are good athletes — cooperative and enthusiastic."

Mr. Ervin and Paramount Script Writer Roderick M. Warren have been here since May 26 to film "Rugged Rangers," a 10-minute Sportlight short showing the athletic training of The Infantry School's "super soldiers" in the Ranger Department.

"We want to emphasis in our film that Ranger trainees are superbly trained athletes — volunteers from everywhere, Korean veterans and raw draftees."

Ervin and Warren have already completed filming the Ranger Department's jungle training phase at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. They leave Fort Benning Sunday to start shooting the Ranger mountain training at Dahlonega, Ga.

"Rugged Rangers" will be released in August and tentative plans are being made to have the premier here.

The film will be shown in approximately 6,000 theaters in the United States for two years, and then go aboard.

Veteran

Mr. Ervin, a veteran cameraman, is also a veteran Infantryman of World War I.

"I've made films of the Infantry here at Fort Benning for 10 years," he remarked.

During World War II, he made movies here on parachute training and Infantry weapons and arms. His film on amphibious tactics won the 1943 Motion Picture Academy Award.

An ardent camera fan since 1913, he tried to earn a living as an engineer. But when sound came to the movies, he went to work for Fox Studios in Hollywood, now 20th Century Fox.

Sports Shorts

Twenty-two years of filming sports shorts for Paramount Studios have taken Ervin all over South and Central America, England and Europe.

The outbreak of hostilities in Europe in 1938 found him riding the first blackout training from Paris to L'Havre.

Before coming to Fort Benning, the Ervin-Warren team toured Mexico, filming shorts on the Mexican Cavalry's jumping horses, cliff divers and deep sea fishers at Acapulco and jai-alai games in Mexico City.

After they finish "Rugged Rangers", the two are scheduled to go to England and Holland to make more sports films.

"But films about Infantrymen are still my favorites," Ervin smiled.

TRANSFERRED

3rd Army Chief Commends Veterinary Corps Members

Veterinary Corps personnel at Fort Benning as well as those in the Third Army area have been commended on the Corps 36th anniversary which was observed last Tuesday.

In a message from Maj. Gen. William A. Beiderlinden, Third Army commander, he said:

"The 36th anniversary of the founding of the Veterinary Corps will be celebrated on June 3, 1952. It affords me great pleasure to offer my heartiest congratulations to the Veterinary Corps on this their 36th anniversary of faithful, loyal and efficient service.

"By your diligence and professional skill you have more than proved your value to the military forces. For your ceaseless care in safeguarding the wholesomeness and quality of the food which our troops require in their training and combat missions you justly deserve the thanks of all of us in the military service.

"In congratulating the Veterinary Corps on its anniversary I am sure I reflect the sentiments of every commander within this Army area."

Classbook to Have 'Goldrush' Theme

The Goldrush, has been chosen as the theme of the classbook of the 28th Officer Candidate company, First Officer Candidate Regiment. An analogy to the gold rush of the Forty-niners will be made in the publication, the committee says.

Approximately a dozen of the company's candidates are working on preparations for the classbook, which will consist of more than 60 pages.

Committee members headed by Candidates Robert O. Leitch, editorial section, and Joseph E. Royer, photographic section, have scheduled a bulletin board in the company area to keep the candidates informed of their classbooks progress.

M-Sgt. Gets Silver Star Award for Korea Action

The Silver Star Medal, third highest of our combat awards, has been presented to M-Sgt. Harold L. Graham for gallantry in action in Korea.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, made the presentation.

Sgt. Graham, a member of the First Student Brigade's Message Center here, was awarded the medal for heroism while a member of Company C, 23rd Infantry Regiment, Second Infantry Division, near Changnyong Korea, from July to August, 1950.

"With complete disregard for his personal safety, he (Sgt. Graham) constantly exposed himself to intense hostile fire to direct the fire of his men, encouraging them and resupplying them with ammunition," according to the citation.

"When he received orders to withdraw, he personally supervised the evacuation of all personnel and equipment before attempting to leave himself," the citation continues. "He was severely wounded so that he was unable to proceed further. As a result, he spent 12 days behind enemy lines before he succeeded in reaching the safety of his own lines."

He saw overseas service in North Africa, Italy and Germany during World War II, and served with the 758th Tank Battalion here from 1946 to 1947.

Sgt. Graham was on duty with occupation troops in Korea and Japan from 1947 to 1950.

TIS Secretary Goes to Europe

The Infantry School secretary, Col. William A. Duncan, has been ordered to Europe after spending nearly four years here.

His successor has not been named.

Col. Duncan came to Fort Benning from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., in July, 1948.

A 1927 graduate of the University of Missouri, he received his Reserve commission that same year.

Before entering the Army, he was employed by Grover O'Neil and Company of New York and Francis Brothers and Company of St. Louis, Mo.

During World War II, he served with the 32nd Infantry Division in the Australian, New Guinea and Philippines campaign. He was on occupation duty in Japan from 1945 to 1947.

Col. Duncan holds the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

He is the brother of R. G. Duncan of 117 E. Grandriver Street, Clinton, Mo.

Col. and Mrs. Duncan live at Fort Benning. They have one son, William Austin Jr., 16.

Cost Consciousness And You

Cost consciousness itself doesn't save any tax money because it is only a state-of-mind, but it does throw a powerful spot-light on those Army programs which are primarily intended to save money.

Cost consciousness can greatly help these efforts which include:

1. Material Maintenance that includes preventive maintenance and the restoration and reconstruction of damaged and worn weapons and equipment.

2. Supply economy, in the use of supplies, equipment, power and fuel and the elimination of wasteful practices and needless expenditures.

3. Manpower conservation, through work - measurement studies, work simplification, and elimination of non-essential employment.

4. Army Efficiency Awards Program which provides incentives for money - saving suggestions from civilian personnel.

5. Operation Red-tape, which is a concentrated program designed to reduce paper work and simplify the complex procedures of management.

6. Salvage of ferrous and non - ferrous metals, and recovery of waste substances susceptible to reduction, refabrication, and re-use.

These are the programs that save tax money and therefore, you as a taxpayer, save money too.

It is impossible to accurately estimate the actual savings that have been effected by these plans.

However, news articles that have been circulated nationally have totaled savings in excess of 718 million dollars and news articles describing economies effected individually by the various field commanders at their separate installations total more than 11 million dollars.

It doesn't take much time on thinking to eliminate waste, but the combined efforts of a cost-conscious Army results in untold savings for all.

Courtesy Is Contagious

Most of us have seen the movie entitled "A Day In Court" that is being shown to everyone in the Third Army area, and the film's message is in dead earnest.

The movie put the thought over gently but there the gentleness stops. To fail to abide by the movie's theme, "Courtesy Is Contagious," can spell death and destruction to yourself and your fellows.

In the first four months of this year, accidents at Fort Benning have resulted in 11 fatalities, 80 serious disabling injuries, and a monetary loss to the Army of some $250,000 with a like loss to individuals.

Self - destruction is bad enough, but when you risk the life of others, it is criminal. Automobiles are lethal weapons and when unwisely used can kill, and they do kill.

More people have died from automobiles than from all of America's wars and this loss of life is so unnecessary.

And it's nothing wrong with cars either. It's human error and folly that kills and maimes. It's stupidity and ignorance that takes life. It's gross inconsideration and lack of compassion that allows drivers to make the highways death traps for those who venture forth on them.

Think it over!!! What right have you to endanger someone else? What right have you to kill an innocent person simply because you refuse to take care and consider other persons?

This is a free country only so long as you don't injure or kill or damage.

It's easy to take a chance or make a fool of yourself. It's easy to step on the gas or pass on a hill, but it isn't so easy to forget someone you have injured or killed and you wouldn't want to try, so think it over, and take it easy.

There Is Nothing Wrong With Dreaming

BY CHAPLIN (1st Lt)
DAVID RAAB

Man has always been fascinated by his dreams. Although unable to understand this strange phenomenon, yet he tried to find a way to probe and to explain. To our day, psychologists and psychiatrists have given various explanations and have promulgated diverse theories. Whether we accept one theory or another, we may be assured that for many years to come, man would continue to dream, and would still be fascinated by the significance of his dreams.

We might therefore, ask ourselves the question, "What is the attitude of the world toward a dreamer?" It seems that he is always despised and looked down upon. He is discredited usually misunderstood and rejected.

As long as he keeps the dreams to himself, the world takes little notice of him, but as soon as he begins to tell of his dreams to others, he immediately arouses their anger. His dreams may be derived while he is awake, or while he is in a state of reverie. In either case, expressions of his yearning and aspirations are revealed.

Thus possessed of a dream, the individual is looked upon with suspicion, for both the dream and the dreamer appear unrealistic and not of this world. People are satisfied to stay as they are. One who presents any ideals is shrugged off by the remark, "Oh, he is only a dreamer."

People do not like to hear about ideals, visions, plans for bettering society.

They consider ideals as impractical, comprising nothing more than the illusion of the dreamer. Rather, show them a way of getting richer, of amassing wealth and they will welcome you. Show them how to add to their physical comfort and you will be coddled.

Give them motor cars on land; bigger and stronger ships on the sea, and they will bow down before you; invent more advanced submarines to go under the sea, planes to pierce through the clouds, — and they will worship you. When you try, however, to speak to these same people of ideals, you will be rebuked, for it is the material things that seem to have enslaved man.

Yet, we should not become cynics, for while it is true that most men refuse to become dreamers, nevertheless, from time immemorial, certain men received a call and were inspired to walk forward, to open up new worlds and to bring about progress to humanity.

In a word, — to be a dreamer. These dreamers, appearing throughout human history may well be regarded as prophets of truth, protagonists of the march forward of civilization, the march toward understanding, truth and a world of decency.

It is only through great sacrifice on the part of these individuals who arose to the occasion that we have been able to rise from a bestial and primitive society to one which evinces continuous progress.

Joseph was not afraid to be a dreamer. Although sold into slavery by his brothers, he lived to become Prime Minister of Egypt.

The Pilgrim Fathers were not afraid to dream. Their dream and vision made possible our great nation and the American way of life. It brought prestige and leadership to our country.

The dream of Isaiah may yet be realized when nations shall learn to live in peace and in harmony, none to make them afreaid.

Supreme Court Overrules Steel Seizure

The Supreme Court's decision to overrule President Truman's seizure of the Steel industry resulted in an immediate walkout among the nation's 650,000 steelworkers.

Senate and House members almost immediately urged the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley law and called for Congressional action in giving the President authority to cope with the critical labor disputes.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson has warned Russia that the United States will not tolerate the Kremlin's "intimidating gestures" against West Germany and Berlin.

His statement came on the heels of President Truman's request to the Senate for swift approval of two agreements designed to grant West Germany near independence.

Achesen said Russia must have "no misunderstanding" about how the United States would regard "an act" by the Soviet Union or any other country to violate the integrity of the new European Defense Community.

Communist prisoners on Koje Island have defiantly raised a new flagpole on the spot where tank - led American guards previously have pulled down a Red standard.

This new challenge came shortly after Gen. Mark W. Clark served notice that he would throw the full weight of his armed forces behind the crackdown of rebellious captives.

The prisoners were strangely submissive after the removal of the first flag by the Americans and the shooting of a prisoner by a South Korean officer. Other signs and flags were pulled down as the prisoners meekly watched American troops repair damaged barricades.

Russian troops have continued their "baby blockade" of the Helmstedt - Berlin highway and other entries into West Berlin but recently backed down to an armed convoy of American troops.

Anit - Communist West Berliners met the tightening grip on their city with the first outbreak of violence since the Soviets barred their departure from all areas to the surrounding Soviet zone.

At the same time the Communists extended their controls to the border between East Berlin and East Germany unless they had special permits, West Berliners could slip into East Germany through East Berlin.

U. S. Army spokesmen have given the official explanation that the convoys permitted through the blockade were routine movements to and from the training area in Western Germany. But the fact that they were sent out during the present tension was generally interpreted as a warning that the U. S. Army intends to maintain its right to send troops along the highway.

THE SUNDOWNERS, by Jon Cleary, Charles Scribner's Sons, $3.00.

The Carmodys were a family of sundowners, always on the move with the wind and the sun in their faces, their home was a wagonet by day and a tent by night.

In The Sundowners, John Cleary tells the story of a year in the Carmodys' life, a year that was filled with both good and bad times. He writes beautifully of the Australian country, but his special achievement lies in the Carmodys as three people and as a family. One leaves them with regret and yet with the satisfying feeling of having known people of decency, humor and courage.

GATES OF DANNEMORA, by John L. Bonn, Doubleday and Company, $3.00.

By far the most dreaded of all prisons in New York State is Clinton, at Dannemora, called the "Siberia of America", for unruly convicts and incorrigibles. Outside of the death sentence, a term within its gray walls is considered the severest punishment which may be inflicted.

Almost single-handedly combating the grim prison atmosphere, Father Ambrose Hyland, Catholic Chaplain, has spent the last 15 years attempting to rehabilitate these desperate men.

This book, based on case histories of many of the convicts, tells the story of how Father Hyland aided scores of hopeless, hardened criminals to become better citizens when finally released, while other inevitably failed to make the test of freedom.

THE BENGAL TIGER, by Hal Hunter, Thursday and Company, $2.75.

Derby Entrants Time Short

BY SGT. TIM WARREN

Time is growing short for entries in the 1952 Chattahoochee Valley running of the Soap Box Derby. Entries for the Columbus area have totaled more than 40 whereas Fort Benning remains still unrepresented in the event.

Boys who are hesitant about entering the race because of financial barriers in the construction of their cars no longer have cause to worry. All entrants from the post will be assigned to a sponsor who will foot the bill for the racer.

It is not necessary to own a racer to enter the derby but those who start construction early and have time to iron out mechanical flaws have a decided advantage. Construction of a derby entry is simple to any boy between the ages of 11 and 15.

Cost $10

The total cost of the racer cannot exceed $10 with an additional $13 alloted for purchase of wheels and axles. All the running gear may be used in ready - made form.

Except for those parts all the making and shaping and additional work that goes into a car must be performed by the boy. Cars will be closely examined by the Inspection Committee, which may require the boys to prove that he built the car himself.

Entrants may accept limited help from other boys under 16 years of age in designing and assembling the car. Helpers are not permitted to build the entrant's car, or parts of the car. It must be built by the boy who is to drive it in the race.

The combined weight of the racer and driver must not be more than 250 pounds. No loose material of any kind is permitted the car. The car may be built up to maximum weight of boy and car by the addition of wood or metal only provided that it is secure.

Additional information regarding steering mechanisms and running parts are included with the 1952 official Soap Box Derby rule book that each entrant gets when he signs up for the race.

Editors Note — Sgt. Tim Warren of the Bayonet office has been designated to handle the signing up and supervising of all boys that enter the "greatest amateur racing event in the world". His telephone number at Fort Benning is 3535 or 3536.

The greatest prize list in the history of the All - America Soap Box Derby is scheduled for the 1952 running at Akron on the world - famous Derby Downs where annually 60,000 persons gather to witness the spectacle.

Boys who compete for national and international honors at Derby Downs will be the home-town champions from 156 communities in the United States, Alaska, Canada and U. S. occupied Germany.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded at the colorful Banquet of Champions. All the champs will be guests of honor at this big affair seated at a huge, three-tiered speakers' table before approximately 1,500 guests.

The prize list is topped by a four-year $5,000 college scholarship to any school chosen by the boy. The runner-up wins a Chevrolet Styleline sedan with power glide automatic transmission.

Every one of the 156 contestants at the Akron race will receive a Bulova wrist watch and a plastic lamenated All - American Soap Box Derby racing diploma, lettered with his name.

Prizes for the next place winners include:

Third, a Bell and Howell motion picture camera and projector; fourth, a 17-inch Admiral television - radio combination set; fifth, a complete Shopsmith unit (five tools in one); and sixth Sterero Realist camera, - ease flash attachment and viewer.

Also awarded will be for seventh, a Webster portable tape recorder; eight, Rolleicord camera and case; ninth, Royal de luxe portable typewriter; tenth, Stanley roll-up tool cabinet with 29 tools.

Trophies

Special trophies donated by the Chevrolet corporation, co-sponsors of the event are for the best brakes, the best designed car and the boy who drives the fastest heat.

The boy who has the best constructed car wins a plaque and a Stanley de luxe tool bench from the Shell Oil Co; the boy whose car is the best upholstered receives from the Collins and Aikman Corp., a boy's "Team Kit", consisting of equipment for almost every conceivable sport.

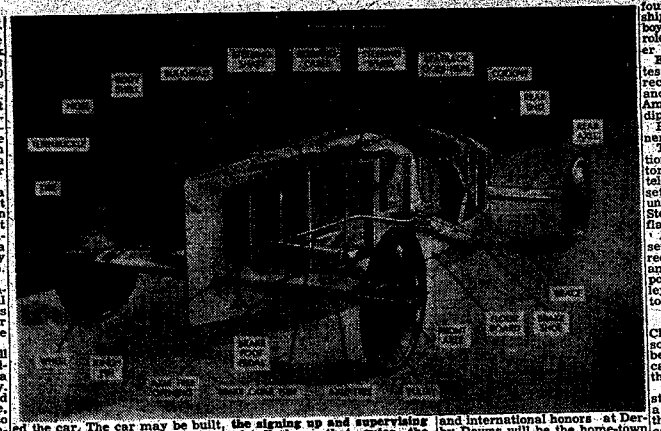
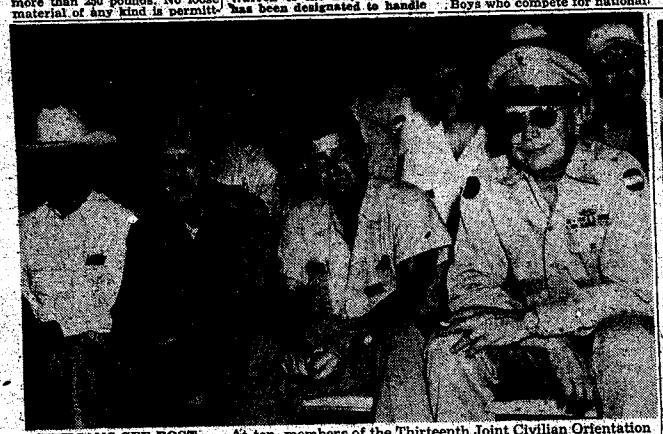
An additional list of prizes that will be awarded for the Chattahoochee Valley running of the Derby will be announced.





CIVILIANS SEE POST . . . At top, members of the Thirteenth Joint Civilian Orientation Conference watch an Infantry School demonstration. From left, they are Paul Moss, Odessa, Texas, lawyer; Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., Infantry Center commander; Frank White, president, Mutual Broadcasting System; Maj. Gen. Claude Ferenbaugh, Army Field Forces inspector of Infantry. At top right three visitors examine a 57- millimeter recoilless rifle during a break at Hook Range. They are, from left, Prescott Sandidge, director, Monsanto Chemical Company, St. Louis; Donald P. Post Lie Detector Team Gets Extra Technician

The third man has been added to Fort Benning's Lie Detector team. Joseph Polonski, assigned to the Provost Marshal Investigation section, has just completed the Operator Course No. 4 at Camp Gordon, Ga.

With the addition of Mr. Polonski, the Benning team becomes one of the few in the Army to have three qualified operators.

This is only the fourth course in this type of work to be graduated at Camp Gordon, and is considered to be very difficult. The eight weeks course which started with 12 members on March 12, graduated only four members of which the Benning man was one.

According to Mr. Polonski, the course not only deals with the actual operation of the Deceptograph, but the operator must also have a knowledge of the mechanism and componentives of parts. The course includes study of philosophy and psychology.

The new operator says that operating a Lie Detector is one of the most interesting jobs he has ever had. In addition, he feels that the operator has a great responsibility to the subject, for in many instances, the operator's reading of the machine is the deciding factor in the guilt or innocence of the party.

He says the Deceptograph is one of the most sensitive machines he has ever worked with. It is one of the most valuable aids in any type of investigation, and is one of the truest aids in detecting the guilt of a party.

Mr. Polonski has been working with the Military Police Corps for six years. Besides the Lie Detector school, he has graduated in courses in the Army Service Forces Training Center, Camp Gordon and the Harbor Craft Training Group course in Coxswain Piloting.

He also attended a course at Carlisle, Pa., and the Criminal Investigation Course here at Benning.

OC Cadremen Get Awards

Four cadremen of the First Officer Candidate Regiment were presented medals last week at a Regimental Cadre parade. Col. Harry M. Grizzard, commanding officer of the First OC Regiment, made the awards on Stroup Field.

Receiving the Bronze Star Medals for meritorious service in Korea were Major Francis M. Watson, Jr., Regimental S-4 officer, 1st. Lt. Richard S. Miller, 29th Officer's Candidate Company. Capt. Charles M. Post, commanding officer Ninth officer Candidate Company received the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star. Cpl. Roland E. Spooner, Service Company, received the Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant for meritorious service in Korea.

Cadet Turner Graduates At U.S. Military Academy

Cadet James J. Turner, son of Col. and Mrs. R. G. Turner, was among the 529 graduates of the United States Military Academy who received their commissions Tuesday.

Colonel Turner is Director of the Tactical Department of The Infantry School and a veteran of 25 years service. Cadet Turner attended Sullivan's Preparatory School in Washington, D. C. prior to his appointment to the Academy.

He was active in intramural athletics for four years on his company teams and was a member of the Cadet Choir, the Forum, the Glee Club and the Hop Committee. During his last year at the Academy he was appointed a Cadet Sergeant in Company M, First Regiment, U. S. Corps of Cadets.

It is no oddity that he should choose the Army way of life as his father is a graduate of the Academy, class of 1927. Colonel Turner's father is a retired Infantry Colonel, his brother is a Captain in the Air Force, one brother - in - law is a retired Infantry Colonel and another brother - in law is Col. G. A. Millener head of the Infantry School Weapons Department.

GI Bill Vote Set

Final House vote on the GI Bill of Rights for service veterans who have been in the Armed Forces since July, 1950, will be held today. It is expected that a possible delay in the passage of the bill may be arise because of a contested clause pertaining to payments direct to veterans rather than to the educational institutions.

President OKs 2 Bills to Aid Disabled Vets

WASHINGTON (FPS) — The President has signed two bills that will boost veterans benefits an estimated $202,000,000 annually.

One of the bills will increase compensation and pension payments for about three million veterans and dependents of deceased veterans. Under this bill, disabled veterans with Service-incurred disabilities will have their pensions increased five percent if they are from 10 to 49 percent disabled and increased 15 percent if they are from 50 to 100 percent disabled.

The other bill will increase the amount of income a veteran may earn and still be eligible for non-Service disability and death benefits.

The increase is intended to offset the rise in the cost of living.

A network program of listenable interest for tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. EST, is "Armed Forces Review" to be heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System. The review will this week visit with Army marine divers a the Transportation Corps School at Fort Eustis, Virginia. Enlisted talent is featured on the program.

Musical portion of the program is varied with S-Sgt Gene Cartrell of MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., fingering the piano keyboard with "Crazy Rhythm," WAF Airman Jeanette Cormier of Washington singing "Embraceable You" in both French and English; and the U. S. Air Force Dance Orchestra under WO Fred Kepner offering a number of selections.

Officers Named To Help Improve Defense Dollars

Each Fort Benning activity now has a management improvement officer, Col. Daniel Hundley, Infantry Center Comptroller, announced last week.

Their appointment follows a Management Improvement Conference held here May 26 to study methods of "getting more defense out of the defense dollar."

They will be responsible for correlating cost consciousness activities and for submitting quarterly reports on supply and manpower economy programs to the comptroller's office.

The management improvement program here includes manpower economy, work measurement, work simplification, Army efficiency awards, cost consciousness, supply economy, paper conservation and machine utilization.

The newly appointed management improvement officials include Robert H. McNulty, Post Ordnance; Miss Mary A. Brazil, Transportation Section; J. L. Mosely, Engineer Section, Capt. Richard Dill, Signal Section; Layne Hudson, Provost Marshal Section; Capt. LG Hofstetter, Jr., Medical Section; Lt. Charles Cooper, Post Quartermaster;

Lt. Col. S. M. Cromwell, First Student Brigade; Lt. Col. Neil Robinson, First Officer Candidate Regiment; Major Carl J. Helton, 3440th Area Service Unit; Capt. Robert A. Doran, Infantry School Academic Detachment, and Major J. M. Brown, Infantry School Academic Department, Major Jason H. Martin, Combat Training Command, and Major James E. Stacy, Infantry Center G-3 Office.

Former Maryland Trooper In Engineer Battalion Here

Being a state policeman is a lot like being a soldier, a former Maryland state trooper stationed at Fort Benning says.

He is Cpl. Alton Phillips who is from Bethesda, Md. He is attached to Headquarters and Service company, 142nd Engineer Construction battalion here.

In April, 1950, the 180 pounder who is 24 years old, was accepted for duty with the Maryland State Police.

"The training I took was very similar to Army basic," he said, "we learned to handle all types of weapons. Our instructors were FBI men and they sure knew their business."

After completing training in May 1950, Cpl. Phillips was assigned to a barrack." Here it was even more like the army," he said, "we had inspections in ranks, on our brass and weapons and our boots had to shine like glass."

According to Cpl. Phillips promotions are much harder than the army. It takes three years to make corporal.

Once assigned a vehicle with a two way radio, Cpl. Phillips never had an uneventfull day. "Suicides, accidents, prowlers and robberies kept me always on the go," he said, "thats what

The last bit of excitement he had before being inducted into the service happened on a routine call to investigate prowlers in a downtown section.

"We didn't know where they were," said Cpl. Phillips, "and they sure surprised us when they jumped out of a drugstore we were passing. They had guns and though, a couple of dope addicts who were probably looking for narcotics when they spotted us.

Inducted into the Army January 1951, Cpl. Phillips took basic at Camp Rucker Ala., and was assigned to the 42nd Engineer Construction Battalion presently stationed here.

Cpl. Phillips is considered on Military leave while in the service, and will receive credit toward promotion and retirement for time spent in the service when he returns to police duty.

GAS SAVER—The old gray mare may not be what she used to be, but the bicycle is still the same, claims Maj. William A. Locy, executive officer of the Airborne Battalion, First Student Regiment, First Student Brigade. With the current gasoline shortage, and the Army's emphasis on cost consciousness and supply economy, Major Locy has begun riding his bike on his daily rounds when time permits.

Soldier Learns to Fight Fires By Correspondence

Education knows no bounds.

And when you have a yearning like Pfc. Marion Todd, Company C, 42nd Engineer Construction Battalion, you can always find a way to attain a goal.

Todd had that-common schoolboy urge to be a fireman as he used to watch the trucks go by in his home town of Perryville, Md., so in 1942 while still in high school he signed up with the local volunteer fire department.

His qualifications for the local unit included the successful completion of a correspondence course in advanced firefighting from the University of Maryland.

He estimates that he took active part in over 100 fires from 1942 to 1948 and that one of them almost cost him his life.

"I was on the first floor of a burning building when I was overcome by smoke", he relates. "I was lucky though and pulled out by another fireman just shortly before the roof of the building caved in."

In 1948 Todd secured a job with the Army Chemical Center at Edgewood, Md. but admits that his there was dull with the rigid fire regulations on the post.

He entered service in January, 1951 and attended the Army Electrician School at Camp Rucker, Ala., before his assignment with the 423rd.

TRANSFER

Sgt. James S. Buffin has been transferred from Casual Company to the 18th Company, First Student Regiment.

Fort Benning Honored Dead In Memorial Day Services

Fort Benning took time out last Friday to honor the troops who have fallen in battle. Memorial day was highlighted with a decoration of graves in the Post Cemetery at 10 a.m. The solemn service was followed by a band concert and flag pole ceremony.

Army chaplains of the three faiths conducted the ceremonies in the cemetery during which Boy and Girl Scouts placed flowers on graves. A firing squad from the 30th Infantry Regiment fired volleys over the graves. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Presiding over the service was Protestant Chaplain (Major) Robert B. Herndon. Lt. Col. Stephen U. Kane, Catholic chaplain, gave the invocation, and Lt. David Haab, Jewish chaplain, said the benediction.

Col. Lexington O. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain, was principal speaker.

The flag pole ceremonies began at 11:30 a.m. when the 122nd Army Band presented a patriotic concert until noon.

Following a moment of silence, a battery from the 41st Field Artillery Battalion fired the 21-gun national salute. As the flag is raised to full staff, the band played the National Anthem.

Monument

Fort Benning officials also joined Columbus citizens at 12:30 p.m. for special memorial services at the Prisoner of War Monument at the junction of Cusseta Road and Benning Boulevard.

The 122nd Army Band presented a 30-minute concert, and Dr. Leonard Cochran, pastor of Columbus' St. Luke Methodist Church, was principal speaker.

Sgt. Donald B. Cartier of the 30th Infantry Regiment and Donald Good of Columbus, both POWs during World War II, placed wreaths on the monument.

A firing squad from the 30th Infantry fired a volley, and two buglers from the 122nd Army Band played taps.

Chaplain (Major) Lewis B. Sheen, gave the invocation, and Rev. William C. Oakes, pastor of Columbus' Third Avenue Baptist Church, gave the benediction.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center Commander, Columbus Mayor B. F. Register, members of the City and County commissions and Firm Roberts, who erected the Prisoner of War Monument in 1947, attended the memorial services.

Lt. Robertson Receives Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster

First Lt. Ralph H. Robertson, awarded the first Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of a second Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in Korea.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, made the presentation during a review of cadre troops of the Second Student regiment here. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Lieutenant Robertson, a student in The Infantry School's Associate Company Officers Course was awarded the medal for gallantry in action on Dec. 13, 1951, near Joskanne, Korea, while a member of the 15th Infantry Regiment, Third Infantry Division.

"When crossing the Yokchon River Lieutenant Robertson's patrol was subjected to heavy enemy fire," according to the citation.

"Lieutenant Robertson left his position to remove the wounded radio man an medical ai dman to safety. He did not retreat across the river, until all the men were removed to safety," the citation continues.

Lieutenant Robertson graduated from Smoaks High School in 1943, and enlisted in the Army in 1945.

He served with the 81st Reconnaissance Squadron in Germany from 1946 to 1948, with the Fifth Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C., from 1948 to 1949, and at Camp Gordon, Ga., from 1949 to 1951.

He received a battlefield commission on Oct. 30, 1951, while on duty with the Third Division in Korea.

Lieutenant Robertson also holds the Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

CTC Chaplain To Head Drive

Chaplain (Major) Millard Jefferson of Combat Training Command, has been appointed Fort Benning's project officer for the United Negro College Fund Drive.

The drive has a goal of one and a half million dollars.

It will be used to supplement the overall expenses of 32 Negro colleges throughout the country. The United Negro College Fund, incorporated in New York, is a non-profit corporation. Dr. F. W. Patterson, president of Tuskegee University, is president of the fund.

Chaplain Jefferson will accept all donations. Checks should be made out to the United Negro College Fund Incorporated.

Student Council Holds Last Meet

The final luncheon of the school year was held last Thursday by the Student Council of the Fort Benning Children's School.

Officers of the Council, which was formed of members from the third through the seventh grades were Ronnie Torrence, president; Dawn Schermerhorn, vice president; Patricia Murphy, secretary, and Fred Millener, treasurer.

Sponsors of the council were Mrs. Ardath Carmichael, Miss Myrtle Harris, Mrs. Beatrice Mayberry, and Miss Marsie Bassett.

Education Center Tells Completions

The Army Education Center announces that the following named men passed General Development Tests or received high school diplomas.

Passing college level tests were S-Sgt. Kenneth L. DeLong, Lawson Field, and OC Wilbert St Onge, Jr., First Student Brigade.

Passing high school level tests were Pfc. John F. Linehan, Pvt. Harold Cunningham of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, Cpl. Jerry N. Lilly First Student Brigade. Cpl. Derwent C. Bailey, Army Service Unit Provisional Group, Pfc. Stanley L. Weber, Infantry School Detachement, Pfc. James J. Hardway, Pfc. Robert D. E. Smith, and Pfc. Richard C. Asnip, Combat Training Command.

50 Benning Kids To Be in Revue

Some 50 Fort Benning boys and girls will take part in a dance review to be presented at the Jordan high school auditorium in Columbus June 12 and 13 at 8:30 p.m.

The revue will be staged by the Fort Benning School of Dance directed by Mrs. Virginia Ogle Bacon.

The four act show will be a replica of Broadway in miniature, complete with scenery and original costumes.

Korea Veteran Wins Silver Star, DFC, OLC

A Silver Star Medal and Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster has been awarded to Capt. William A. Hash of The Infantry School's Aviation Section for gallantry in action in Korea.

Capt. Hash, who is assigned to the Infantry School's Aviation Section received the medals from Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander.

A veteran of 13 months combat in Korea, Capt. Hash was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action July 26, 1950, while a member of Company B, 24th Infantry Regiment.

"Repeatedly exposing himself to intense small arms and automatic weapons fire, Capt. Hash placed himself at the front of his men to lead a determined assault that drove the foe from the objective," according to the citation.

"When ordered to secure more tenable positions, he remained on the hill until all of his men had withdrawn to safety."

The Distinguished Flying Cross came as a result of duty as an Army aviator with the 25th Infantry Division from Oct. 14 to Nov. 7, 1950.

"Capt. Hash completed 50 combat missions in support of the 25th Infantry Division. Despite adverse weather and numerous fire and hazards of weather and mountainous terrain, he flew close-in missions to spot targets for United Nations aircraft and to obtain valuable reconnaissance information," the citation reads.

He won the Oak Leaf Cluster for "extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight during the period Nov. 7 to Dec. 19, 1950," according to the citation.

A 1940 graduate of North Carolina State University, the young flyer was commissioned in the Army in 1942. During World War II he served with the Fourth Infantry Regiment in Alaska.

He attended the Liaison Pilots School in Sweetwater Field, Texas in 1946. He also holds the Air Medal. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hash of Sparta.

Capt. and Mrs. Hash live at 72B Wilson Drive, Columbus, Ga. They have one daughter, Christine, 5.

BABALU (Yma Sumac with orchestra conducted by Moises Vivanco on Capitol) This is the first recording by Yma Sumac in the popular music field, Miss Sumac, who has a four-octave range, uses a deep, rich tone on an all-time favorite. This song also has an excellent orchestration featuring flutes and oboes. The other side is WIMOWEH, which Miss Sumac delivers in a high soprano.

THIS SHIP OF MINE (Stuart Hamblen with Darol Rice and Orchestra on Columbia) This is a country style arrangement of an original religious song by Stuart Hamblen. Hamblen, who wrote, It Is No Secret, and Remember Me, delivers a part of THIS SHIP OF MINE in narration with soft background provided by Darol Rice and Orchestra. BLACK DIAMOND, another original by Hamblen, is on the reverse side.

FAREWELL (Helen O'Connel with Orchestra conducted by Harold Mooney on Capitol) Helen O'Connel goes native on this side of her latest release. FAREWELL is adapted from a Tahitian folk chant that is hundreds of years old. This arrangement has a haunting quality emphasized by native string instruments. On the back is STAR EYES.

production is "pretty much on schedule."

He also said Columbus should not have much trouble getting steel for its proposed municipal auditorium.

Ivy Florman, U. S. ambassador to Bolivia from 1949 to 1951, said the natural resources of all Latin-American countries are available to us for defense.

The civilian guests arrived at Lawson Field Tuesday morning for a two-day stay. They were greeted by Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., commander of The Infantry Center; Maj. Gen. Claude Ferenbaugh, Army Field Forces inspector of infantry; Col. Donald A. McPheran, JCOC project officer at Benning, and Col. Lexington A. Sheffield, Infantry Center chaplain.

At Hook Range

They saw the infantry fire power demonstration that winds up with the famous "mad minute." In the evening, they were entertained with a dinner and reception at the Officer's mess.

Battalion in Attack

The Third Army Food Service School provided lunch yesterday, which was followed by a view of a battalion in attack at Hill No. 4.

After an informal buffet dinner, the guests departed from Lawson Air Force Base for the U. S. Naval Base at Norfolk, last of four service installations on the tour.

In an interview, Defense Production Official Bertrand said:

"I would say generally that today the production program—with the exception of a few areas is pretty much on schedule."

Policy Working Well

Working well, he said, is Surplus Manpower Policy No. 4, which provides that an area or city of 50,000 or more in population, with unemployment of more than 3 per cent because of limitations caused by the defense effort, be certified as a surplus manpower section.

With this arrangement, bidders on negotiated contracts from surplus areas are allowed the contracts if they are willing to meet the low bid in the event they were not the low bidder.

Last week, he said, this act enabled three large areas to be moved from "certified" status. These areas are Detroit, Flint, and Grand Rapids, Mich.

The South has not been affected by the defense program any more than other sections, he said. In some instances, the defense effort has given Southern economy a shot in the arm," he said citing the Lockheed plant in Atlanta and the H-bomb plant near Augusta.

Encouraging Picture

An encouraging picture of Latin-American goodwill towards the United States was given by Mr. Florman, the former ambassador to Bolivia. He said:

"The Latin-Americans, without exception, in my opinion, are all friendly toward the United States. There may be a misunderstanding here and there but they are our friends at heart."

Asked if the Latin-Americans could be of aid in defense of the Western hemisphere, Mr. Florman said:

"The minerals and other materials available in all Latin-American countries are certainly available to us."

He said he believes the U. S. is doing everything possible to maintain goodwill with the South Americas.

Asked about the effect of television on radio, Frank White, president of the Mutual Broadcasting System, said:

"It would be captious to ignore the impact of television. As television network programs become available to communities, the radio in these communities will inevitably feel TV competition."

This competition, he said, means that local radio stations must redouble efforts to supply local services.

"There's no question but that radio's role is justified," he said.

Mr. White had high praise for the Orientation Conference.

"The JCOC," he said, "is important. After what I've seen of the importance of the defense effort in upper most in my mind as compared with radio."

of the Armed Forces, is actually older than the United States.

On June 14, 1775, the Continental Congress established 10 rifle companies, including six from Pennsylvania, two from Virginia, and two from Maryland, to join the militia troops at the seige of Boston. This predates the signing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, by one year.

The Army captured its first field artillery guns from the British Army at the battle of Ticonderoga on May 10, 1775.

Following the American Revolution, Congress authorized a standing army of 80 men, 25 to guard stores at Fort Pitt and 55 to guard West Point. This organization became Battery D, 5th Field Artillery Battalion, the oldest organization in the American Army. It is now a part of the First Infantry Division in Europe.

The United States Military

Academy was founded in 1802, and sent the first professionally trained Army officers into battle during the Mexican War of 1846. The Mexican War also was the first time American troops fought on foreign soil.

Present Lines

In 1908, the Army was organized along its present lines. The office of the Chief of Staff and the General Staff were set up, and relations between civilian and military authority were designated.

The Army has grown in spurts and starts since the American Revolution, which saw only 20,000 men in the Army in 1775. The present day Army has more men in it than the total population of the colonies at that time.

World War I saw four million men under arms, but the years from 1920 to 1939 saw the Army shrink to only three and a half divisions.

Fifteen million men served in the Armed Forces in World War II, 10,000,000 of them in the Army. The Army fell to one million men in 1947, but the outbreak of hostilities in Korea recalled many Reserve and National Guard members back to active service.

The Army grew out of our freedom in 1775 and has defended it ever since. Army doctors discovered the cure for yellow fever in Cuba and Panama, making possible the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Army built the first atom bomb plants, which have been taken over by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Repairs Will Slow Some Water Service

Alterations and additions to hot water heating systems throughout the post will necessitate disrupting water service in certain buildings for a period of one or two hours during the days of repairs.

Occupants of all buildings which will receive this service will receive three hours notice before water is cut off. It has been estimated that four hours work will be necessary to complete the work on each building.

Belgian Paratroop Officer Takes Airborne Course Here

BY LT. JOHN NEAL

A young Belgian officer who will soon be teaching parachute and jungle warfare in the Belgian Congo is now taking Airborne training with Company E of the Airborne Battalion. He is 2nd Lt. Herve Hecq of the Regular Belgian Army.

Lieutenant Hecq, a recent graduate of the Infantry School's Associate Infantry Company Officers Course, is a 1950 graduate of the Ecole Royale Militaire (Military Academy of Belgium) and of Belgium's Parachute School at Schaffen.

Instead of taking his regular Infantry training in the Belgian Army Schools, he volunteered to come to the United States for his Infantry training. While in this country, he expects to attend the Riggers School at Fort Lee, Virginia in addition to the two schools here.

At Fort Lee, he will specialize in the heavy drop techniques which he will use in the Belgian Congo.

LT. HERVE HECQ

Upon completion of his training in the States, Lieutenant Hecq will return to Belgium where he will enter the Special Air Service School which is similar to the OSS training given by the American Army in World War II. He will be taught "behind-the-lines" techniques in demolition, sabotage, intelligence and the training of guerrilla units.

This type of training is given to a small group of the Belgian Army and it is considered quite an honor to be chosen for this type of duty. Mental, physical and security qualifications for SAS training are similar to those required by our OSS troops that worked behind the lines with guerrilla units in Europe and the Philippines during World War II.

By early 1953, Lieutenant Hecq hopes to be in the Congo where he will train Belgian Army units in all types of parachute and jungle warfare. He will spend a three year tour of duty in the Congo before returning to an Airborne unit in Belgium.

In comparing Airborne training here in the States and the training in Belgium Lieutenant Hecq says there seems to be little difference other than the parachute. The Belgians use the British parachute which has no reserve — a fact which has little bearing to the Belgian Army "chutists," according to Lt. Hecq.

Former Chemist Tells Troubles

Pfc. Thomas L. Morrow, Headquarters and Headquarters Section 1 3440 Area Service Unit, says being a steel corporation chemist is hard on the pants.

Private Marrow of Newark, Ohio, was formerly a chemist with the McLouth Steel Corporation of Detroit, Mich., where he operated a spectograph, made chemicals analysis of steel, and performed the various other jobs of a chemist. His work required the use of acids and that's where the pants come in.

"The acid we used would sometimes splash on our pants, and before long the legs would be full of little holes," he said. "I guess I ruined three or four pairs of pants a month," he added.

Private Morrow attended Ohio State University where he majored in chemistry. He entered the service in October of 1950, and has completed the Advanced Chemical Warfare school at the Army Chemical Center in Maryland. Upon completion of the course he was assigned to Fort Benning's Chemical section.

Candidate Group Elects Officers

Third Officer Candidate Company, First Officer Candidate Regiment, has announced the result of student elections.

Heading the list is Candidate Lawrence R. Pedkins won out as Student Honor representative. In this capacity he will act as a member of the student controlled honor board for the First Battalion. OC Robert G. Fitzhenry was elected as his alternate.

The company's Student council was also decided in the voting. Candidate Mason R. Pearson was elected president. Other council members include OC's John C. Benagh, secretary; Murray S. Miller, treasurer, and Nathaniel Gamble, Herbert E. Lister, and Emmet D. Edwards, Jr., Council members.

Customs Sampler Serves on Post

Pfc. J. J. Carofolo, Headquarters Company, First Transportation Battalion, from Boston, Mass., was a sampler with the U. S. Customs Department at the Cunard Docks, in East Boston before coming in the Army.

Starting out with the customs service his job was to take samples of "marandise" and weigh it to determine the rate of duty to be placed on the goods.

Admitting to having run into "monkey business" on occasions, Private Carofolo recalls the time two dozen monkeys escaped from a ship and overran the docks.

"They bit workers, smashed windows and got into everything before escaping into the city," he recalls.

Lieutenant Hackworth Gets Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster

First Lt. David H. Hackworth has received the second Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of a third Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in Korea. He is from Santa Monica, Calif.

Brig. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry Center commander, made the presentation here during a review by troops of the Second Student Regiment. Music was furnished by the 122nd Army Band.

Lieutenant Hackworth was awarded the medal for gallantry near Kumhwa, Korea, Nov. 1951, while a member of the 27th Infantry Regiment, 25th Division.

Wounded while leading his unit in an attack on a hill position, Lieutenant Hackworth "refused to accept aid and continued directing the attack," the citation reads.

Later, after receiving medical aid, he led a "spirited" charge against the enemy. Unable to hold a weapon because of his broken arm, he accepted the assistance of an enlisted man who held the carbine level while Lieutenant Hackworth placed heavy fire on the retreating enemy," according to the citation.

"He refused to return to the rear until he was assured that his men were well organized and all helpless soldiers were brought back to friendly positions," the citation concludes.

He served with the 351st Infantry Regiment, 88th Division in Europe from 1945 to 1950, when he went to Korea.

Lieutenant Hackworth received a battlefield commission May 5, 1951, at Taejon.

He also holds the Bronze Star with V device for valor and Purple Heart with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Troops May Serve In FECOM Longer

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Combat soldiers may soon have to serve in Korea longer than the time prescribed in the existing rotation policy.

This forecast was made by Lt. Gen. A. C. McAuliffe, Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel, during a recent interview.

He based the forecast on the fact that starting this summer the Army will begin to lose large numbers of men who have completed their term of service as prescribed by law.

By the fall of this year, Gen. McAuliffe estimated, draft calls might reach 65,000 monthly. But these new inductees would not be eligible for Korean service until they have at least four months training. This could leave a gap in the flow of replacements to Korea.

Cotton Is Vital To Army Work

BY BUNNY BENNETT

Fort Benning and cotton work hand in hand to make the operations here more efficient and military personel comfortable and well dressed.

The U. S. Army Hospital and the Quartermaster Supply Office are two of Benning's biggest users of cotton and cotton products. Each month, thousands of pounds and hundreds of thousands of yards of cotton materials are used by these units.

The Post Engineers and Ordnance shops are also big consumers by using hundreds of pounds of waste cotton for wiping and polishing engines. And the Quartermaster Classification and Repair Division helps things along by repairing nearly 30,000 pieces of cotton equipment each month.

In Civil War

Cotton influenced the course of the Civil War, and today's Army at Fort Benning lives, sleeps, eats and ties up its wounds with cotton.

"We have a $494,000 inventory value in cotton each month," reported Col. Ivan W. Parr, The Infantry Center's quartermaster. "We issue 1,000 different types of cotton equipment."

When a man enters the Army, the government issues him five pairs of khaki trousers, five khaki shirts, six pairs of shorts, six undershirts, three pair of socks and two neckties — all made of cotton. His other cotton equipment includes a duffle bag, two web belts, two garrison caps, two herringbone twill caps and three sets of twill shirts and trousers. Multiply that issue by the thousands of servicemen here and you have a lot of cotton.

The Quartermaster Clothing Branch here handles 8,000 khaki shirts and trousers a month. Fatigues — the Army's overalls — go out of the Clothing Branch at the rate of 1,000 a month. Servicemen replace 8,000 pairs of socks every 30 days.

Small Items

"In addition to these large figures," said J. H. Bishop, chief clerk of the Clothing Branch, "we also carry smaller numbers of nurses uniforms, poplin shirts, garrison caps and riding breeches for the military police."

"But it's not all clothing in the Quartermaster Supply," said Mrs. Ethel D. Mocrieff, chief clerk of the Stock Control Branch. "We carry all kinds of military equipment made out of cotton — laundry, press covers, burlap and crocus polishing cloths, duck sleeping bags, shoelaces, mops and mosquito nets."

The Equipment Branch sends out 35 flags and guidons each month, and troops on the post use 250,000 yards of tent canvas. Twenty thousand sheets, 10,000 pillowcases and 4,000 mattress covers are sent out each month.

To cut down on loss and waste of equipment and clothing, the Quartermaster Classification and Repair Division mends nearly 20,000 pieces of clothing and equipment monthly. The seamstresses of this division use 12,750,000 yards of cotton thread to repair uniforms, flags, tents and any other material which comes across the aprons of their sewing machines. One thousand yards of pillow ticking are used in the renovation of cotton pillows, and 2,000 yards of cotton tubing and mending tape help put torn seams together again.

Hospital

Fort Benning's U. S. Army Hospital uses its share of cotton, too. Bandages and bed jackets march by King Cotton in an unending procession.

The surgical wards and receiving room use 50,000 yards of gauze bandage a month, and 54,742 cotton dressings are put on broken skin and broken bones. Babies born at the hospital wear made at the hospital.

out 1,950 infant undershirts every year, and the surgeons use 36,000 cotton balls and 5,800 cotton surgical sponges every 30 days.

Hospital beds require 1,500 sheets and 500 pillow cases each month. Hospital personnel use 1,000 towels weekly. Clothing worn by patients and doctors includes 1,600 jackets and trousers each month.

The uses of cotton in the hospital are many and varied—diapers, surgical drapes, bedside screens, swimming trunks for the physiotherapy ward and material for trusses, which are honor guard at Chapel Field at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Invited

All post personnel who are not on duty or are available at that time are also invited to attend the ceremonies.

General Young has served two previous tours of duty at Fort Benning in the 1930s, first as a student of The Infantry School in September, 1932, and later as an instructor in 1934.

He was born in Washington, D. C., on Jan. 14, 1900, and is a graduate of the University of Maryland where he received his AB degree in 1922. He was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry Reserve in July, 1920, and then on Jan. 6, 1923, he was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry in the Regular Army.

As assistant division commander of the Third Infantry Division, General Young was with that unit when it landed in Southern France in 1945 as a part of the Seventh Army. He was second in command during the Third Division's advance through the Colmar pocket into Nuremberg, Augsburg, Munich and finally Berchtesgaden, famed retreat of Adolph Hitler.

His service during World War II was prefaced by tours of duty at Fort Eustis, Va., and Camp Meade, Maryland, with the 34th Infantry in 1922. Headquarters III Corps at Baltimore in 1923-24. In January, 1925 he was transferred to the Post of San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he joined the 65th Infantry.

From January, 1926, to September, 1932, he was Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Maryland.

Signal School Grad

In 1934 General Young graduated from the Signal School at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Then, as a captain, he was assigned to Fort Benning as an instructor. In February 1937 he was appointed assistant secretary of The Infantry School.

Next stop in General Young's military career was the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was graduated in June, 1938.

In August, 1938 he was assigned to Schofield Barracks, Hawaii where he became assistant to the assistant chief of staff G-3 (plans and training division). He joined the 27th Infantry Regiment at Schofield in July of the following year.

Back in States

On returning to the United States in October, 1940, General Young was appointed aide de camp to the commanding general of the First Army Corps in Columbia, S. C. in July, 1941 he was assigned to Washington, D. C. for duty with the assistant chief of staff G-4, Services of Supply.

He was next ordered to duty with the Office of the Chief of Staff, as assistant secretary, War Department General Staff, in June, 1941.

He became Secretary, War Department General Staff, in September, 1942 and remained in that position until March, 1943, when he was named assistant commander of the 10th Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash. He was promoted to brigadier general in June, 1943.

In October, 1944, he was assigned to Headquarters 6th Army Group in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations. Then in January 1945 he was appointed assistant division commander of the 3rd Infantry Division in which capacity he participated in the operation which brought about the collapse of German resistance. He returned to the states shortly after the surrender of the German forces.

On July 15, 1945, he was appointed commanding general of the Military District of Washington with headquarters in the Pentagon.

In the fall of 1951 General Young was named commanding general of the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea. Prior to this assignment he was with the 82nd Airborne Division.

He was promoted to major general last year.

Honor Medal Winner Now Infantry School Student

A Fort Benning Medal of Honor winner who admits to "always having been afraid of knives and snakes" led a Bayonet charge in Korea to win the nation's highest honor. He is a student in the Second Student Regiment.

Second Lt. Stanley T. Adams, who holds the top award is a student in Associate Company Officers class No. 30. He is attached to the 103rd company, Second Student Regiment.

President Truman presented the medal to Adams on July 3, 1951 at the White House in Washington. The officer received his commission on July 9 of the same year.

Adams who's 30 years old has been in the Army 10 years. He's a member of the Organized Reserve Corps and will be assigned to the 30th Infantry Regiment upon completion of the school course.

Lieutenant Adams was a platoon sergeant with Company A, 19th Regiment, 24th Infantry Division when his heroic action took place.

The husky officer, a native of Olatha, Kansas, took charge of a shattered band of 13 men that assaulted some 150 enemy troops. The squad left about 75 enemy dead with Adams himself being credited with killing around 40. The action was on Feb. 4, 1951 about 40 miles from Inchon.
