Pennington of Auburn was high man for the day winning both hurdle events and tying for second in the high jump for 12 points.

Harold Lutz and Gene Sprague jumping 11 feet 6 inches and 11 feet took second and third, respectively, in the pole vault. Other places in the field events went to Coleman in the discus, Zielinski in the javelin, both West Pointers, and Watson in the broad jump, each man taking a third place.

Men Still Needed

Men have been placed on special duty now to train for the coming Seventh Army meet which will take place here at Benning in the middle of May. Captain Naughton wishes it be known that positions on the team are still open to those who wish to try for them. Dash men in particular are needed. Every afternoon the squad works out and any person that tries out and shows up well enough will be put on special duty. West Pointers who were on the Army track and field team last year are out in the afternoons and will help anyone who wishes help and shows the desire to make the team.

DSM WINNER—Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel (left), commander of the Infantry Center, pins the Distinguished Service Medal on the beribboned chest of Col. Charles E. Harper. The decoration ceremony took place at Stillwell Field last Saturday at which time four other high Army awards were presented to Infantry Center officers and a letter of retirement to an enlisted man.

6 Presented Army Awards By O'Daniel

High Army awards and a letter of retirement were presented by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, to five Post-Bonning officers and one enlisted man at special ceremonies Saturday morning at Stillwell field.

The Distinguished Service Medal was awarded to Col. Charles E. Johnson, and Silver Star medals were presented to Lt. Col. Lynn Fitzpatrick and Capt. George W. Everett. A Bronze Star medal went to Maj. Edgar C. Davis, and the Purple Heart medal to Maj. Everett N. Skardon. T-Sgt. Archie A. Wright received a letter of retirement.

Viewed By 200
Approximately 200 spectators watched while Gen. O'Daniel pinned the DSM on Col. Johnson. It was awarded, according to the citation accompanying the medal, for his aid in planning the invasion of Southern France.

Col. Fitzpatrick received the Silver Star for his gallant leadership on Flinck. He personally conducted a 12-man patrol through enemy lines to place demolitions in a Japanese factory turning out grenades. In the confusion following the explosion Col. Johnson and his patrol were able to escape without injury.

Capt. Everett was presented the Silver Star for gallantry in action near Flein, Germany April 15-17, 1945. He commanded a tank company, a machine gun, directed tank cannon fire, and with two volunteers moved in to relieve a surrounded tank. Again near Gengenbach, Germany, Capt. Everett personally destroyed an enemy machine gun position making it possible to capture the town.

The Bronze Star went to Maj. Davis for his work in coordinating the efforts of Allied military police and Chinese civil police, and the Purple Heart went to Maj. Skardon, who was wounded in January 1945 in the Pacific area.

Following the presentation of the medals and letter of retirement, elements of the 37th Infantry's First Battalion, 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion, and 756th Tank Battalion passed in review. Maj. Edward N. Hathaway was commander of troops for the parade.

The 72nd Army Ground Force band provided music for the occasion.

Airborne Group Attached to STR

The Airborne Regiment became the Fourth Battalion of the Student Training Regiment at midnight Wednesday, Fort Benning officials revealed today.

This move brought further consolidation of overlapping headquarters and is designed to economize on personnel expenditures, authorities said.

It is not expected that any physical move will be involved in the transfer at the present time. It was pointed out, although it is likely that the Student Training Regiment will move from the Harmony Church area to the Main Post as the Army Officer Candidate School is closed. The last AOC class is scheduled to graduate in September.

The newly activated Airborne Battalion will continue to operate as the housing unit for airborne students. The only major changes will be the loss of a separate motor pool and the Alabama recreation area which was established by the former Airborne School. Lt. Col. Paul F. Smith will continue to command the battalion.

Under the plan the Airborne Battalion will receive 150 students every two weeks, and will operate seven basic student companies. In addition there will be a Headquarters and Service Company and an instructors company. Length of the airborne course will remain at six weeks.

Training at the Student Training Regiment is the second major move affecting the airborne school since the Airborne School became the Airborne Section of the Infantry School, and the school's commanding general, Brig. Gen. William M. Miley, became Fort Benning's deputy post commander.

The consolidation places all student companies under the unified command of Col. Irvine Sudder, commanding officer of the Student Training Regiment.

Second ISD-Airborne Duel Eagerly Awaited Saturday

BY MURRAY HARDING
The game everyone has been waiting for, the second ISD-Airborne struggle, gets under way at 2:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon at Gowdy Field.

The Airborne, currently coasting along in first place, undefeated, has had quite a little trouble earning its last two decisions, but must be rated a slight favorite on their pitching edge.

ISD pitching has gone from not-too-good to much worse in recent games. Manager Chick Silcox has been casting about for a couple of reliable hurlers to spell the Silcox once in a while, but hasn't been overly successful. His last experiment was a right hander named Stan Grodzicki, who has a brother, John, twirling in the majors. The experiment was a flop. Grodzicki started last Sunday against Lawson Field and finished after 1-3 of an inning, during which time he managed to walk three, and give up one solid single. Further, humiliation was heaped upon him when he forgot he had a runner on third, and went into a leisurely windup, allowing the runner, Frank Wilson, to steal home.

Quickly Relieved
Silcox relieved him at that point, and got through the rest of the inning without incident, but in the third Silcox lowered further sorrow upon Shiver's. His nothing ball had no effect. Two triples and a double rattled off the left field fence, and three more runs crossed the plate. Laue saved a couple more by chasing back to the scoreboard in left center to haul down Forbes long drive. Keeping last Sunday firmly in mind, Shiver has decided to gain a little more against the Airborne. He has named Lefty Lehner, his regular first baseman, to start on the mound. This will be Lehner's first pitching chore this year, and though he is known to have plenty of speed, his control may not be altogether perfect in his first start.

Bumper Crop
The Airborne has a bumper crop of pitchers to draw from including Floyd Dooley, and "Hot Hit" Gearhart, one of whom will probably start. Whoever is selected will have to be at his best to trim the Profs, whose lineup is loaded with left-handed power hitters.

A run down on Prof averages shows six regulars hitting over .350. Top two in the socket are Burnett and Polk, the keystone combination, who bat one-two in the lineup. Burns has rapped out 12 safeties in 23 trips for a .522 mark, and Polk is close behind with an even .500 average on 10 hits in 20 trips.

Then, hitting in the fourth spot across, right tuns with his seven hits. Those seven hits, incidental.

AOC 3 Graduates 106 Lieutenants

More than 100 men became second lieutenants Tuesday when members of Army Officer Candidate Class No. 3 received their commissions and gold bars.

Honor graduate of the 106-strong contingent of new lieutenants was Tom Kanelis. Forty-eight of the total number of graduates have applied for infantry commissions, reportedly establishing a record.

Opening day the candidates numbered 204, but the final number of graduates was cut down by elimination and resignations.

AOC No. 3 held its last trade last Friday. Commanding officer of the class was Capt. Alexander Kedde.

Troop 27 Wins Fort Camporee

Fort Benning's Boy Scout Troop No. 27 took first award in participation at the Camporee held on the reservation at the Boy Scout camp April 12 and 13 by scoring over 275 points for patrols.

A third score of 341 points was registered for the entire Camporee activity and Troop No. 27 received a banner for being an honor patrol.

This week Fort Benning registered a new Troop for Neosho. The new group is sponsored by Chaplain John A. DeVeaux.

Informal Dinner

Following their arrival General Spaatz and his party were honored at an informal dinner at the main officer's Club with Ninth Air Force and Fort Benning officials as co-hosts. In addition to the honorees the guest list included: Maj. General Elwood R. Quesada, commanding Ninth Air Force; Maj. General W. O'Daniel, commanding Ninth Air Force; Maj. General Jarred V. Crabb, chief of Adjutant General's Office; and Brigadier General Ninth Air Force headquarters. Other dinner guests received news representatives at the Club.

He and his party spent Wednesday morning viewing various installations and ground demonstrations presented by the Ninth Air Force for 200 officers and students from the Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla. Following lunch at the Club, General Spaatz and his party returned to Washington, D. C., Wednesday at 4 p. m.

General Spaatz is a graduate of the United States Army and has been a member of the AAF since 1914. During World War I he served in France and is credited with destroying two German planes. He commanded Kelly Field, Texas, from 1920-21. In 1940 he was assigned Special Military Observer in England and in 1943 was appointed commanding general of the Eighth Air Force. He later served with the Northwest African Air Forces and in January, 1944, became commanding general of the U. S. Strategic Forces in Europe. He succeeded General H. H. Arnold as commanding general of the AAF when the latter retired after the war.

General Spaatz is a command pilot and an aircraft observer and wears the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross and the Legion of Merit.

War Department Pledge Early Medal Distribution

The War Department announced recently that the American Defense Medal will be distributed to eligible Army veterans and military personnel.

It was also announced that general distribution of the World War II Occupation Medal will be made as soon as adequate supply is available. The medal is now in process of procurement.

Due to the current limited supply of these medals, token presentation of three medals will be made to qualified outstanding individuals in the United States and in the overseas theaters.

Medal eligibles are requested to write or apply to the War Department for the medals or information on obtaining them.

The public will be advised as to proper procedure when sufficient medals are on hand for general distribution. Due to reduced personnel and stress of work the War Department will be unable to answer letters pertaining to the medals.

Only one occupation medal will be awarded to an individual regardless of whether he served in more than one occupation Army. The medal may be awarded to former or present military personnel who were assigned or permanently attached at a normal post of duty for 30 consecutive days subsequent to May 8, 1945, with the Army of Occupation, Austria or Italy (compartments of Venezia Giulia E Zara and Veneto only) or subsequent to September 2, 1945.

Ammo Object Of German Gun In Southern France Landing of service before he returns to civilian life.

 Upon entering the Army in June of 1940, Pruitt trained at Fort Riley, Kansas with the Ninth Cavalry Regiment. After two years at Riley, the unit was transferred to Fort Clark, Texas, where Pruitt stayed for another year and a half before being sent overseas.

Landed in Africa
 In March, 1944, Pruitt, a staff sergeant with the 27th Cavalry Regiment, landed at Oran, North Africa. Six months later, the unit was sent up to take part in the invasion of Southern France.

Hitting the initial wave on the beach of St. Maxime, Candidate Pruitt had the unhappy experience of riding in on a floating powder keg, shelled by a German 88 at fairly close range.

"We came into the beach on a Liberty ship apart from the convoy, supported only by air and the heavy smoke screen the Navy laid down. Just as we struck and began to disembark, a German artillery officer started to zero his 88 in our 'ammo box.'"

"The thought of that 500-ton of HE ammo and tank shells being ticked by an 88 shell wasn't exactly pretty. In addition, we had 500 men on board her, and a ton of powder per man. The Germans had us bracketed but didn't quite get across the spark to send our end of the Mediterranean heaven-high. Our powder keg parade got in safely."

While in Europe he had the opportunity to visit many places of interest. His itinerary included the Vatican, Mount Vesuvius and Pompeii, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Riviera in southern France, and of course, the City of Fashion, Paris.
 After spending 18 months overseas, Candidate Pruitt returned to the States and in July 1945 was discharged. Three months later he re-entered in the cavalry, was sent to Fort Benning and thence to Fort Moore to attend a special mechanic's school.
 In November, 1946, Pruitt applied for admission to OCS and

May Make WAC Regular Force

A bill, entitled the "WAC Integration Act of 1947," providing for the establishment of the Women's Army Corps as an integral component of the Regular Army for the appointment and enlistment of women in the Officer and Enlisted Reserve Corps has been introduced into the 80th Congress.

The bill calls for a maximum strength of two per cent of the Regular Army strength as authorized from time to time. The Director of the Corps will have the temporary rank of Colonel, while a Lieutenant Colonel will serve as Deputy. Initially officers will be selected from those who are serving or have served during the war in the existing Women's Army Corps.

Won't Abolish WAC
 The existing Women's Army Corps, which was established by law for the duration of the war plus six months, will not be abolished by this bill. It will continue as a part of its personnel will be absorbed into the Women's Army Corps, Regular Army. Those who are currently a part of the Women's Army Corps, Regular Army, upon release from active duty, are entitled to become a part of the reserves.

All present or former WAC officers who have not reached their 49th birthday will be eligible for appointment in the Regular Army. Integration devices similar to those used in the male integration program will be followed. Appointments during the integration period will be made in grades of second lieutenant, first lieutenant, captain and major respectively. Promotion to lieutenant colonel will be by selection in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War.

Officer Appointments
 Following the integration program, officer appointments will be made under the provisions applicable to appointments of male officers.

Candidates for warrant officers must be male and a part of the regulations existing for male appointments will apply to women.

Enlistment regulations for Wacs will be the same as for male personnel except that no one under 18 may enlist and anyone under 21 must have the consent of parent or guardian.

Women will be appointed in the Enlisted Reserve Corps, or in the Enlisted Reserve Corps, if their qualifications applicable to men will apply to women.

The Reserve will afford a reservoir of trained personnel with a minimum of orientation, will be available for service if such a need should ever arise.

Get Perfect Scores In Motor Maintenance

On a recent motor maintenance test every member of AOCC No. 3 qualified with no candidate dropping lower than the grade "C." Perfect scores were registered by Candidates, Adcock, Baker, Clynes, Graham, Harman, Hargrave, Griffith, Hilbert, Lauber, Muts, Sera, and Teletzke.
 Forty-five other candidates out of 108 who took the test qualified in the high "A" bracket.

Army Air Forces' New Jet Bomber Ready For Tests

The Army Air Forces' new high-speed jet bomber, the XB-48, built by the Glenn L. Martin Co., of Baltimore, Md., and powered by six General Electric gas turbine engines, has been moved from its construction hangar to begin ground and taxi tests. The XB-48 spans 108 feet, 4 inches across the wing, has an overall length of 85 feet, 9 inches and is 27 feet, 6 inches high.

The bomber will feature a new development in landing gear, especially designed for airplanes flying at very high speeds. This is the "bicycle type" landing gear with the two main wheels placed underneath the fuselage in tandem, retracting into the fuselage. Since the wings of an aircraft designed for high speed must necessarily be extremely thin, there is no room for large wheel wells. The tandem landing gear will permit an exceptionally thin wing and consequently higher speeds.

Since the wheels are located near each wing tip to give stability during ground operation, these wheels retract into the wing, but their size allows them to fit into a very shallow wheel well. The tandem landing gear has already been tested. At the Martin plant, a B-26 was fitted with tandem main wheels and out-rigger tail balance wheels, and extensive landing and take-off tests were run. Results of these tests proved the new landing gear practical.

The XB-48 was completed in just 14 months from first engineering work until it was rolled out of the hangar prior to ground testing. This is a full year less than the normal time required to build a new military airplane.

Ex-Maritime Ensign Is OC

Service as an officer will be no new experience to Harold J. Dupuy, now a student in Army Officer candidate class No. 3.

As an ensign in the United States Maritime Service, Dupuy helped disembark large numbers of conquering GIs on Pacific beaches, including the Admiralties, Luzon, and Mindanao. During the fighting in Guadalcanal the convoy shot down two Japanese fighter-bombers, and in the summer of 1944 he served in the North Atlantic.

Comparing his trainings as a radio technician at the U. S. Maritime base on Gallipoli Island with his course at the Infantry School, Dupuy said that both schools had rich honor systems. He added that the AOCs was excellent for developing leadership whereas his maritime training specialized in technical instruction.

Candidate Dupuy enlisted in the Army in June, 1946.

SETS NEW RECORD—That man on the crossbars with the powerful looking muscles is Officer Candidate George E. Graham, of the Ninth Company's AOC No. 3, who recently set a new all-time high in physical fitness.

O-C Sets New Fitness Mark

O-C George E. Graham, of the Student Training Regiment's Ninth Company, recently set two new high records in the Infantry School's physical fitness test.

During the palm-away pull-ups Candidate Graham scored 25 three over the last established record, and for the complete test attained the highest over-all score on record at the Infantry School with a total of 444 points out of a possible 500. His rating is "A" or superior.

Other achievements which brought his score to an all-time high were 75 squat jumps, 55 push-ups, 73 two-minute sit-ups, and a 51-second 300 yard run.

Candidate Graham ran the test under the handicap of a cut right hand and a swollen left knee, which he suffered while playing baseball the day prior to the test. Throughout the course his hand continued to bleed, but he still came out on top.

Outstanding Unit Plaque Awarded Lawson Sqdn. A

Squadron A, of the 319th AAF Base Unit, has been awarded the Lawson Field "Outstanding Unit Plaque" for maintaining an excellent military training record during March. Presentation of the plaque was made at a special ceremony at the base review field last Saturday morning.

Lt. Col. Henry L. Couch, Jr., base executive officer, made the award and a commendation citing the unit for combining its efforts to win the plaque was read. Maj. James D. Briggs commands the squadron.

The "Outstanding Unit" plaque is re-awarded by the base each month. It is presented to the unit excelling in performance of military duties including military bearing, discipline, executions of drills, parade, inspection of personnel and quarters, condition of clothing and equipment, attendance at lectures and participation in competitive sports.

Squadron F was awarded the plaque for the month of January and February.

During the emergency at Texas City, Tex., messages of an emergency nature have been relayed to Texas and answers received at the station here have been telephoned to the interested parties.

Ordinarily the local station also carries a schedule with Fort Bragg, N. C., but the present telephone strike has interrupted service.

WD To Extend Basic Training For All Recruits

Plans to extend the present eight weeks basic recruit training program to thirteen weeks, effective May 5, 1947, have been announced by General Jacob L. Devers, Commanding General, Army Ground Forces.

The eight weeks training program was a necessary interim measure to meet the large overseas demand. The decrease in overseas demands now make it possible to train individuals more thoroughly for their occupation duties and to provide overseas replacements with more complete basic training.

No Personnel Increase

The increase in training time will be accomplished by the present trainer, an administrative overhead, without personnel increase.

Leadership training plays an important part in this plan. Early in the training period note is made of men with leadership qualities and these are guided accordingly. Potential leaders will be retained at the Replacement Training Centers for additional training before they are made available for assignments to units. This leadership training will be given mainly to three-year enlistees, showing potential leadership qualities and to personnel stating a preference for combat arms. Leadership training received by individuals does not mean they will be given non-commissioned ratings upon completion of the course but instead it prepares them for the job ahead where they may earn ratings more readily after assignment to units. Processed officer candidates are given this training while awaiting final decision on their applications for Officer Candidate School.

The new program will provide a complete course in basic military training for all newly-enlisted personnel of the army, except the Air Force. It does not provide for branch training and will not qualify an individual under any Military Occupational Specialty other than basic.

44-Hour Training Week

The program is based on 3 forty-hour training week. Open time will be used to give additional training and to make up essential training missed by individuals and organizations.

All personnel received at the Replacement Training Centers will be thoroughly screened to determine their aptitudes for specialized training. Many will attend technical and administrative and Army Ground Forces schools upon completion of their basic training.

Under the new thirteen weeks basic training program, greater emphasis has been placed on occupational duties. Hand in hand with this is the increased training for better physical conditioning of the soldier. One full week will be spent on a field vivouac, under simulated combat conditions. Altogether a total of approximately two hundred hours have been added to the replacement training program.

Officers Are Trained In Managing Mess

Napoleon once said that an Army travels on its stomach, and with this axiom in mind the AOCOC puts its future officers through a thorough course in Army mess and its management. The course not only concerns itself with food but with how to feed and what to feed.

The Army mess system is very complex as members of the AOCOC No. 4 have found out. There are diets to follow, menus to prepare, strict sanitation rules, procurement, and food storage. One thing students learn, however, was that the Army is ready to feed anyone, anywhere, and at any time. During the instruction AOCOC No. 4 was taken on tour of mess facilities at Fort Benning, including the central meat cutting plant and bakery where the dough is touched by human hands only once during the entire process of baking.

New Wage Plan Put Into Effect For Ungraded Civilian Workers

A new wage plan has been adopted at Fort Benning for ungraded jobs in accordance with recent War Department orders, it has been announced.

Known as Plan "A," the new wage schedule will authorize operating officials to recommend an increase in an employee's wage for job performance and proficiency. It was pointed out that 25 per cent of the ungraded civilians, hired during the 12-month period immediately following the installation of the plan, may be employed in the next to the lowest or middle step of the five step rates for each grade even though, normally, persons are hired in the lowest rate.

Recommendations must be submitted in accordance with existing regulations.

Officials said that no merit increases will exceed one step, and six months after the date of original appointment. It was also pointed out that thereafter merit increases will not be made more frequently than at six-month intervals.

The total number of eligible ungraded employees who may receive merit increases during a given month will not exceed one-twelfth of the total number on the payroll at the beginning of the month, authorities asserted. Provided the total number of merit increases permitted in any one month is not granted, however, the difference may be carried forward for use during the succeeding months.

Operating officials are requested to review all applications for merit increases to insure that the step rates authorized are judiciously utilized for the recognition of unusual ability and exceptional ability, officials further stated.

First Aid, Safety Expert Is Visitor

Emil F. Lewis, assistant director of first aid, water safety, and accident prevention of the American Red Cross, visited Fort Benning last Thursday in connection with the water safety program for the coming season.

At a meeting held in the office of Col. Walter M. Johnson water safety, swimming, and an instructor's program were discussed from a recreational standpoint. At the meeting were Lt. Col. DeWitt Ballard, athletic and recreation officer, Capt. Freeman Jones, safety officer, Capt. William C. Fannin, athletic officer, and Murray E. Hill, Red Cross field director.

Tentative plans were made to instruct approximately 70 men in first aid and water safety procedures. William A. McGowan, field representative, is expected to arrive May 18, and the class will get under way the following day, running through May 30.

During Mr. Lewis' visit a discussion was also held with hospital authorities relative to instructing a class of officers and non-coms in convalescent swimming.

Over in Naples some GI's were viewing Mt. Vesuvius. One of them remarked, "It looks hot as Hell." To which one of the local villagers said, "These Americans have been everywhere."

The War Department announced today that officers on active duty are now authorized to receive commissions in the Officers Reserve Corps while remaining on active federal service in their AUS rank. They will be eligible for the highest Reserve Officers Commission which at present entitled. The new policy will affect approximately 50,000 officers in the Army from components other than Regular Army.

In a ceremony today at the Pentagon Major General Edward F. Wisell, the Adjutant General of the Army, presented the first seven reserve officers commissions to be given to officers while still on active duty. Brigadier General Edward A. Evans, Executive Director of the Reserve Officers Association, attended the ceremony and extended congratulations to the officers after they took the oath of office.

The officers receiving the commissions and in some instances promotions in the Reserve Corps were: Col. Sidney F. Maubach, former Chief of Allied Translator and Interpreter Section in the Pacific; Lt. Col. Matthew J. Bartosik, process officer in the Reserve Corps; Col. Charles Maylon, Colonel, Air Corps Reserve; Lt. Col. William McKinley Clarkson, promotion to Colonel in the Regular Corps; Lt. Col. Ralph D. Foster, Lieutenant Reserve Corps; Major Adam C. Rut, promotion to Lieutenant Colonel Reserve Corps; Capt. Christopher T. Bardenhagen, Captain Reserve Corps.

The new authorization will be ready for general distribution in the near future. Officers will apply for the Reserve Officers Commission on their own initiative, and will continue to serve on active duty in their Army of the United States appointments.

STR Marksmen Edge ISD Team

Lt. Harry E. Widings' Student Training Regiment small bore rifle team won another victory last week by defeating the Infantry School Detachment by a narrow margin of 1497-1489.

1st Sgt. W. A. Cooper and M. Sgt. A. J. Hardman tore up the targets with bulls-eyes and turned in scores of 169 and 166, respectively.

Despite an ammunition scarcity and few practice sessions, the STR team has a sensational record. They have defeated Service Company, Headquarters Company, and First Battalion of the Student Training Regiment, the Airborne Regiment, 3440 ASI, and the Infantry School Detachment.

The next match will pit the STR team against the winner of the 25th Infantry-37th Infantry contest. Both these teams are loaded with crack shots and the STR can look forward to some stiff competition.

Scores for the match against the ISD follow:

1st Lt. Harry E. Widings	151
Capt. O. M. Davis	148
1st Sgt. W. A. Cooper	149
1st Sgt. W. A. Cooper	149
Sgt. W. H. Crowe	153
Sgt. O. W. Ring	153
Sgt. S. D. Jones	145
Sgt. T. E. White	140
T/5 Paul O. Bailey	138
Total	1489

Physical Grind Easy To Martin

To a majority of officer candidates, the physical activity necessary in the course is a torture, but to many more fortunate men, such as Candidate Tony Martin of AOC No. 8, the grind of exercise and speed marches is comparatively easy.

Candidate Martin served in Frankfurt, Germany as an instructor with the famous 50th Parachute Infantry, well-known as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's "ferret" to and grudgingly referred to as the sharpest outfit in the ETO.

He enlisted in 1943 and served with the 87th Division's field artillery until 1944 when he went to England and took his parachute training there. Joining the 508th Parachute Infantry, he participated in the Battle of the Bulge and remained with the unit on occupation duty until the end of last year.

Candidate Class Claims 'Artist'

Among the various unusual occupations of members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 the one practiced by O-C Walter A. Wells, Jr. is chocolate making.

O-C Wells formerly drew a lucrative salary for being one of the foremost chocolate dippers in the nation. He has traveled throughout Europe and North America, but most of his life has been spent in the Anasley hotel in London.

Knowing little about his rare calling, he was asked to explain his work in more detail. It seems that most large hotels employ confectioners to prepare their own special pastry "subject darts."

Confectioner Wells' specialty, which, by the way, started him on his way to fame, is his own creation: a chocolate-coated pineapple-creamed turnover with a sweet layer filling.

Few would guess while watching O-C Wells in bayonet training that he actually is a renowned artist in the confectioner's field.

Tests Disclose New Gear Need

WASHINGTON—(APPS) Army tests in the Arctic and Antarctic regions reveal that the military must discard or modify many items of standard equipment and develop new items adapted for operations in extreme cold and ice.

Three War Department experimental teams—Williwaw, Frost, Frigid—are returning after extensive maneuvers in Alaska and at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

Although completed reports on the tests will not be available until the results are reviewed by the AGF Developments Board, War Department observers believe that the knowledge obtained from the experiments will enable the Army to construct an efficient combat force capable of fighting major operations in severe winter climates.

New Shelter Needed
Williwaw observers pointed out that a new type of shelter must be devised—light, portable, but able to withstand heavy rain, fine snow and hurricane winds. The standard tents tested were ripped by the winds and failed to keep out rain and snow.

Other needed improvements noted:

A deeper hood for the parka for better face protection; a waterproof rifle stock; a tundra and mountain-crossing vehicle capable of negotiating steep slopes, carrying personnel and supplies, and sturdy enough to withstand severe punishment with minimum of maintenance; a self-heating can for rations to replace heating tablets now in use.

Obstacles Prevented Operations
Lubricants, clothing and shelter were major obstacles preventing effective cold-weather operations, reported Frigid observers.

An entirely new oil for vehicle operation must be developed, for it was discovered the lightest of motor oils would freeze under temperatures lower than 30 degrees below zero.

A new type of Arctic clothing must be designed to provide adequate warmth, yet be light enough to permit freedom of movement. Clothing tested proved warm enough but too heavy and bulky. It was also noted that the Arctic sleeping bag must be enlarged to permit to change clothes without being exposed to frostbite.

A man is not old when his hair turns gray,
Nor is he so old when his teeth decay.
But he's well on his way to that final sleep,
When his mind makes appointments his body can't meet.

Italo Campaign Veteran Is Now At Ft. Benning

Capt. Clyde M. Davis, veteran of more than three years overseas service, has recently joined the Student Training Regiment's Headquarters Company, it was learned today.

Captain Davis served with the 88th "Blue Devil" Division as a weapons company commander and battalion S-3 during the Italian campaigns from the Garigliano river, south of Rome, through the North Apennines to Gorizia and Trieste with the occupation forces. The captain hails from Union, S. C. and is a pre-war regular Army soldier with a total of more than 11 years service.

His wife is the former Gigliola Gattinara, of Fume and Venice, Italy.

The teacher asked Johnny to name five things that contained milk. Johnny replied, "Ice cream and a cow."

"But that's only two things," said the teacher.

"Yeah!" said Johnny, "Ain't you ever seen a cow?"

Correction

The article "AGCT" under Army Commission in the April 17 issue of The Bayonet contains an error. The information given therein was amended by paragraph 2a and 2g. The correct information is as follows:

2a. Applicants for enlistment will not be required to take the Army General Classification test prior to enlistment. The only tests required for this will be the R-1 or R-2 or R-4 tests.

2g. Men now serving in enlisted status will not be required to attain a minimum score in minimum scores an AGCT or other tests. However, prior to discharge and re-enlistment, each man will be carefully evaluated as to suitability for future military training as now required and appropriate notation will be made in his enlisted records.

Communism

America is faced today with a problem probably greater than any ever to confront the nation in time of peace. Within our midst are people—many of them Americans, insisting that they have the right to live in the American way of life, and becoming indignant when accused of un-American activities, but who at the same time wave the red flag of Communism.

These people are dangerous, but we don't seem to realize just how dangerous they are. We laugh at them, and call them crack-pots. We humiliate them, and perhaps half-heartedly argue with them. But we refuse to take them seriously, and therein the real danger lies.

Hiller got his start in the same way. Peace loving people just refused to believe that he was anything more than a loud-mouthed mustached former wallpaper-hanger, whose bark was greater than his bite. Americans who visited Germany came back with nothing but praise for the little rabble-rouser. They said that perhaps he did do things in an unorthodox way, but what was that? He found out almost too late that we didn't like his new order, and that we didn't like his slaves of the Third Reich, and even that we didn't like that "wise, little man" who was so misunderstood. Fortunately, we did wake up before any irreparable damage had been done, and were able to squelch his attempts at world enslavement.

At that time there were some Americans who were being misled by the Nazi doctrines of government, and who even went so far as to participate in underground work here within our borders. And, of course, there were others who gave up their American citizenship and joined the Communist movement of government by force.

Now the threat of Communism faces our nation today. Unlike the 1930's, however, the U. S. government recognizes the folly in adopting a hands-off policy. Recently the President enacted legislation ordering the removal of government-employees with Communist tendencies from the U. S. payroll. Previously the Army had removed all officers with similar tendencies from positions of importance. This has been carried out with a minimum fuss and bother, and not a great deal of publicity has been given either policy.

But the government has recognized that it will take $50,000,000 to do a thorough job of weeding out un-American elements from the Army and out of important government positions. The idea of spending money for defense of the United States however apparently seems repugnant to an economy-minded Congress. The money embued with the idea of reducing taxes; consequently there have been many unthinking members of Congress who say leave them alone because they can do no real harm. That is an extremely dangerous attitude.

A scattered number of the enlisted ranks of the Army and throughout lesser government positions are probably unaware of active Communists, fellow travelers, and Communist sympathizers, who have either been overlooked or ignored in an effort to get rid of those in more important positions. This is a mistake, and one which, unless rectified, will do far more to divide our country than we realize.

These men in important positions in the Army can further the cause of Communism without being in important positions. The best opportunity spread Communism is among their friends in barracks, in "day-rooms," service clubs, in mess halls, or on the training field. There are always those persons who will listen, and there are always those who believe anything you say to them. The Communist is well-trained, and can converse freely on practically any subject. He can cite figures. He can color the news in such a manner that it is hard to separate the truth from the lies. He has a habit of picking out the part of a man's statement, and using it for his purposes. He indulges in a terrific amount of double-talk.

Most important of all, however, is the fact that he advocates the overthrow of our government. He can not deny this! How this is to be accomplished he will not say, but there is actually only one real way it could be done and that is by force of arms.

Let's not be stupid enough to think his ridiculous attempts at explaining the philosophy of Communism as being as good as that of our own good old American democracy. Communism is not democracy! It does not even approach democracy. It can never be as good as democracy.

America has proven since 1776 that our own brand of government is superior to any other that comparatively short space of time we have advanced as such a duty to students of two Columbus high schools.

At 9:30 a. m. he addressed Columbus high school students on the System of International Power. He delivered the same lecture to Jordan High School students again at 11 a. m. Pattern of Aggression will be the topic of Captain Chambers' lecture to students at 11 a. m. on morning at 9:30 and again at 11 a. m. on Jordan. His April 29 lecture will be Strength of Nations, and his May 1 lecture will be the United States as a World Power.

Just remember Lincoln's Gettysburg Address wherein he said: "Government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth." Communism has no respect for government by the people.

You can not be a Communist and a real American at the same time!

Hamilton Students Tour Lawson Field

Mrs. W. B. Steis, economics teacher of Hamilton High School and one of the class speakers, hours at Lawson Field last Thursday afternoon observing modern methods of air transportation and touring the 9th Air Force base.

The students inspected cargo aircraft on the flight line, visited loading and shipping section and base operations.

The Lawson tour was the student's first visit to the Army field and was planned in conjunction with their study of transportation. Mrs. Steis said.

In the group were: Mary T. Compher, Myra Nell Faye, Lucille C. Smith, Margaret M. Johnson, Long, Billy Bunt, Charles Johnson and Robert McLees.

Each student received a large photograph of a transport ship from the Base Public Relations office, who played host to the young group.

Chaplain's Corner..

"WASTES"
By Chaplain Charles B. Whitman
A frugal Scot who had come to this country as a lad, made this discriminating judgment about us: "Americans have too much too often."

American soldiers who have been overseas know how little the people in ravaged countries have had to live on. Because of our abundance we have become wasteful and extravagant. It is a national sin. It would shock our forefathers. They were saving and thrifty. Some day our children's children will condemn us for not only wasting our resources, but our talents and time. It is recorded in the Scriptures that "they took up of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full." Even in the presence of Christ, who had unlimited resources, they gathered up the pieces of bread. A janitor in one of our schools some time ago said that enough food was thrown away to feed all the pupils in another school of the same size.

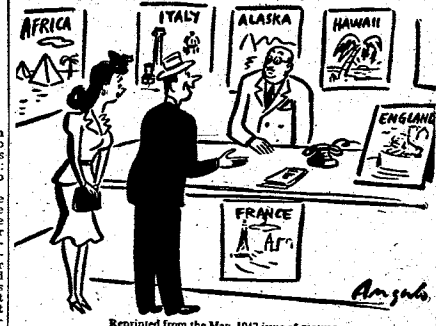

There is an old story of a prince who went in search of a wife, and was being asked for a dowry in thrift. He rode through the mountains, but after looking for dough left in mixing pans, claiming it would ruin the lameness of a horse. Many maidens scraped the bread pans and gave him dough but he rode on. At last he came to a shy simple maiden. She said, "Sir, I would gladly give it but there is none. My mother has ordered me to scrape the pan clean." Thereupon the prince alighted and offered his hand in marriage.

The hearbreaking waste of food and resources is an injury to the goodness of God and an insult to His people. How can anybody be wasteful but it takes a kind and thoughtful person to save. Blessed are those who gather up the fragments.

Chambers Addresses High School Groups

Capt. Willard E. Chambers, Infantry, Central Postal Directory and Education officer, began a series of lectures on world affairs Tuesday to students of two Columbus high schools.

At 9:30 a. m. he addressed Columbus high school students on the System of International Power. He delivered the same lecture to Jordan High School students again at 11 a. m. Pattern of Aggression will be the topic of Captain Chambers' lecture to students at 11 a. m. on morning at 9:30 and again at 11 a. m. on Jordan. His April 29 lecture will be Strength of Nations, and his May 1 lecture will be the United States as a World Power.

LYDIA BAILEY
Few American novelists have been able to do history so well as Kenneth Roberts. Few American novelists have had such a masterful command of English prose as Kenneth Roberts, and few American novelists have consistently turned out excellent literary works as Kenneth Roberts.

Mr. Roberts' latest contribution to the American scene is Lydia Bailey, a historical novel of such ambitious effort that it consumed six years of research, including one year spent in translating for the first time Moreau de St. Mery's American Journey.

Lydia Bailey is a combination of shocking incidents in the United States, turbulent conditions in Haiti, and chaotic conditions in Tripoli. It opens in 1800 when the unjust Alien and Sedition Acts were causing many Americans to flee for their lives and many others to be caught in the net and suffer needlessly in order to satisfy a corrupt officialdom. In France Napoleon Bonaparte was at the height of his attempted world conquest, and the British were a ruthless ruler was forcing the United States to pay for protection of American shipping.

HERO JAILER
Albion Hamlin is a retiring New Englander until his interest is aroused in the unjust Alien and Sedition Acts. He is engaged as legal counsel by a newspaper editor who has come to speak out against the illiberal officialdom of the U. S. He loses his case, declares his resignation and the government is forced to release him. During his imprisonment he falls in love with the portrait of his client's niece, reportedly buried in Haiti, a victim of yellow fever, and upon his escape with the body of the niece, he goes to Haiti in search of the beautiful Lydia. This is but the beginning of a series of hair-raising adventures which take him to southern France and Tripoli.

Mr. Roberts' descriptive passages of the massacre and wholesale burning of cities in Haiti is perhaps one of the most vivid and realistic chapters in American literature. His lovable but fierce King Dick, who gets a tremendous amount of pleasure out of "wiping" individuals who stand in his way, has appeared briefly before in Mr. Roberts' works, but never so clearly as the amiable Desautels, Haitian general, is unbelievably cruel and his mass slaying of hundreds of white prisoners is gruesomely real.

MY CHARACTER
The reader also meets Tobias Lean, an American government careerman who has an uncanny habit of popping up unexpectedly. His presence always means trouble for Albion and Lydia and King Dick. Others equally well defined and important to the overall picture of the life in that seething center, are the amiable Desautels, one of our neglected heroes; Toussaint L'Ouverture, one of the greatest Negroes who ever lived; and Eugene Leitesdorfer, a man who has been everywhere, can do anything, and knows a great deal about many things.

The central character in Tripoli is Aluron Hais, who does the bidding of two men: General Leitesdorfer, the British enemy of Albion, and Joseph Karamani, usurper of the throne of Tripoli, and as cruel as the Desautels, of Haiti. Lydia Bailey, the reader is acquainted with shameful deeds in American history.

Every page of Kenneth Roberts' Lydia Bailey is filled with a perfect blending of fact and fiction. Every page reflects the Roberts' depth of feeling, warmth of heart, and superb style which has so endeared his works to the American people.

LAYING WOOD TO THE OLD APPLE—Lefty Lehner is shown taking a swing at an apple tossed by Bill Taylor during informal ISD practice session outside the lithograph section in the Army Field Printing Plant, where the two staff sergeants have jobs. They rarely make the ISD afternoon practices. Lehner, the regular first-sacker, and Taylor, an outfielder, were picked on the all-southern volleyball team.

Lehner And Taylor Named On All-South Volleyball Team

Lefty Lehner and Bill Taylor have been here at Benning for a good many years, both of them now working at the Army Field Printing Plant.

In addition to their baseball prowess, they recently exhibited inordinate skill in another sport—volleyball. They are members of the YMCA volleyball team in Columbus which went to Knoxville ten days ago to play in a southern tournament.

The team only advanced to the semi-finals in the losers' bracket, but Lehner and Taylor were named to the all-southern team.

Lefty as "spiker," and Bill as "set-up."

Champion Team

It is a little-known fact that the Printing Plant is the post volleyball champion, having once defeated now for a few years. The plant team has taken on all comers, and no team has come close yet to taking them.

Lehner and Taylor are, of course, better known for their play on the diamond. Chick Shiver calls Taylor his heaviest hitter, with one of the best arms of any outfielder.

Lefty is the perfect-fielding first baseman, and, while not a power hitter like Taylor, he gets his share of hits. He played for the post all-stars last season.

Brother With Browns

Right now Lefty has a brother who is up with the St. Louis Browns as an outfielder. St. Louis sportswriters covering the club named him the most promising rookie in the Brown camp, calling him another Paul Waner.

Paul Lehner couldn't crack the Fenwick game of the season, coming in as a pinch-hitter in the tenth inning, with the score tied and the load on. He did demoralizing a single to give the Browns a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

His older brother, Lefty, playing for the ISD Profs, isn't doing badly now either, batting at a .400 clip.

NEWCOMERS

Newcomers in quarters on the Post are Sgt. and Mrs. James H. Lucas who are living at 2618-B Mullins. The couple, with their one year old son, moved here from Pine Mountain which was the home of both Sergeant and

Candidates Learn Attack Procedures In Combat Course

By O-C WILLIAM G. FUSS

It looked as if another beach landing was taking place in the Pacific as Army Officer Candidate class No. 4 laid down a curtain of fire and captured a series of pillboxes.

All this happened during a phase of instruction known as "Attack on a Fortified Position." An infantry platoon with supporting weapons (flame throwers, rocket rifles, bazookas, machine guns, and, of course, the best friend of the doughboy, the M-1 rifle) attack and destroy these pillboxes with an efficiency that is astounding. During instruction the plan of attack is given the candidates and they do the actual work.

Under cover of a curtain of fire, in which every weapon is firing at the pillbox, two or three men work their way to a position from which white phosphorus grenades can be thrown in order to screen the movements of the attacking troops. After the screening has been accomplished, the flame-throwers go into action. Moving under cover of smoke, the flame-thrower team moves to a position about 25 to 30 feet from the pillbox and uses his weapon with devastating effect. When this has been completed, the platoon moves on to new objectives.

Says the weary candidate, "All in a day's work with the infantry soldier."

COMING ATTRACTIONS

DARK DELUSION (medical story) with Lionel Barrymore, James Craig and Lucile Bremer. Another in the Dr. Gillespie series. This time the doctor has to get one of his assistants but at difficulties because he prefers to speak the truth bluntly rather than develop charming bedside manners to flatter the patients. Recommended for adults.

SPOILERS OF THE NORTH (salmon fishing) with Paul Kelly, Adrian Booth, and Evelyn Anderson. Greedy for money, Paul resorts to illegal methods to make a big salmon haul and becomes involved with the law, native Indians, and two jealous women. Recommended for family.

UNTAMED FURY (swamplands drama) with Gaylord Pendleton and Mikkel Conrad. Swamplands and the feud between those who want progress and those who want things left as they are, furnishes the basis for this story of people who earn their living hunting alligators. Recommended for family.

THE TWO MRS. CARROLLS (psycho-thriller) with Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck, and Alexis Smith. A glass of milk is a refreshing drink unless you are wondering whether or not it contains poison. This is the predicament of Barbara Stanwyck, the searing that her husband had poisoned his first wife. Recommended for adults.

APACHE ROSE (western) with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans. This western, pitched in color, divides its story between land and sea. Rogers, an oil well engineer, is busy falling the schemes of a gambling ship operator to get control of some oil lands. Recommended for family.

IT HAPPENED ON 5TH AVENUE (comedy) with Victor Moore, Don DeFore, Charlie Ruggles, and Gale Storm. Victor Moore, as the housing shortage, not only has a perfect formula for beating the housing shortage, but he proves to be pretty good at straightening out family troubles. One of the best-comedies to come along in some time. Recommended for family.

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING—This field kitchen cabinet, developed by S/Sgt. Stanley A. Sharp, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 37th Infantry, is designed to make the life of the mess steward in the field and in combat easier and more efficient. Sergeant Sharp points out its advantages to Capt. John D. Sharp Jr.

SECOND STEP—In folding the cabinet for moving, it is demonstrated by Sergeant Sharp as he closes the top.

ALL THE TOOLS—With easily accessible tools in his portable kitchen cabinet, S/Sgt. Ford G. Youmans, 284th Truck Battalion mess steward, has more time to devote to planning an appetizing meal for his unit in the field. T/A Doyle Feeter, cook, at the right, seasons the food.

SMILE OF SATISFACTION—A satisfied smile is displayed by Sergeant Sharp as he reads a letter of commendation from Brig. Gen. W. H. Middleswart, military planning chief, for his interest in the development of an Army field kitchen cabinet.

Benning Sergeant Designs New Field Kitchen Cabinet

(Photos by Signal Corps)

If S-Sgt. Stanley A. Sharp has his way, field kitchens will be more efficient in the modern Army than they were before and during the last war.

Sergeant Sharp, veteran of 17 years service and member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 37th Infantry, has submitted to the Quartermaster General a plan for a standard field kitchen cabinet which, if adopted, will take at least a portion of the heavy burden off the shoulders of mess stewards.

Weighing only 80 pounds, the cabinet is designed to store all the small kitchen items needed to put a field kitchen into immediate operation. Folding legs and top enable the cook to convert the cabinet into a compact piece of equipment.

From the top section a rack is extended to hang all the kitchen utensils, such as ladles, spoons, dippers, meat cutters and the like. The top section, which forms a shelf when open, also serves as a place for food and loose equipment. Under the top section there is a rack designed to hold an ample supply of condiments. A section to the left of the condiment rack is reserved for posting the daily menu, and further to left facing inward is a knife rack. The folding side and top make an ideal work bench for the preparation of food.

Receives Commendation—Sergeant Sharp, who has already received a special commendation for the cabinet from Brig. Gen. W. H. Middleswart, military planning division chief, built his first cabinet while stationed in Hawaii in 1939. Because it was not standardized, however, he was forced to leave it behind when his unit moved. During his service in Europe as a combat infantryman he experienced the same thing many times. It was not until February of this year that Sergeant Sharp was able to submit his plans to the Quartermaster department.

As a member of the Fifth Division in the ETO, Sharp discovered that by loading his kitchen ranges and cabinet last he was able to have his med fed before the other units had completed their unloading. He found that his cabinet not only saved precious time but kept his equipment in good condition.

The research and development branch of the GMC pointed out that the cabinet has many desirable features.

At Lawson Library

Mrs. Dora I. Stillingner, of Fort Benning, has been appointed Base Librarian at Lawson Field, Maj. James H. Hayden, Base Individual Services officer, announced today. She succeeds Mrs. Edith Bailey who recently transferred to the Infantry Center public relations office.

Mrs. Stillingner was formerly associated with the Muscogee County Red Cross Chapter and attended the University of Nebraska where she did library work.

WEIGHING ONLY 80 POUNDS—Sergeant Sharp's invention is easily carried by two men, as demonstrated here by Pfc. Huey M. Moore and Pvt. Bill Newman.

NUMBER ONE HURLER AT BENNING—Called by many the best pitcher on the post, Ed Polittowicz has yet to win a game. His record is 0 and 2.

Polittowicz Earns Loud Applause

There's many a club on the post that would like to have the services of Ed Polittowicz, the 204th's ace pitcher.

The respective managers of the ISD, 37th Infantry, and Airborne teams would probably give their right arms to have him, because he would be enough to insure the pennant for any of these nine.

Polittowicz came to the 20th Trench Battalion here at Benning from the 18th Infantry at Camp Campbell, Ky., where he pitched last summer. (His record was 9 and 2).

From Connecticut

Ed is a Connecticut boy and has been in the Army for three years. He is 23 years old. Expecting to be discharged in about a month or so, Polittowicz probably won't be available for the post team which will be formed at the end of the season.

Polittowicz hopes to continue his baseball when he gets out of the Army, and has received a tryout offer from the New York Giants.

25th Infantry Marks Milestone With Program; History Told

The 25th Infantry observed its 76th anniversary Sunday, April 20, with a special program commemorating the founding of the outfit. The 25th Infantry Regiment sponsored the program which opened with religious services at 11 a. m. and all unit messes were opened at noon for special dinners were served.

A caseball game was featured at 3:30 p. m. on the Sand Hill diamond but the game was rained out in the last of the fifth inning when the Combat Team Bullets were leading the Veterans Hospital nine by three runs.

A program of local talent presented a show later in the evening at Service Club No. 2 under the capable direction of Mrs. Kate L. Trent, club hostess.

A cocktail hour and movie was on the program at the Non-commissioned Officers' Club.

2nd Rocket Ship Readied By Bell

The Army Air Forces will soon have a successor to its famed Bell XS-1 in the XS-2, another super-sonic research plane, now being built by Bell Aircraft Corporation at its Buffalo, N. Y., plant.

Like its predecessor, the XS-2 will not be employed solely as a flying research and development laboratory. The primary mission of this aircraft will be to explore the problems of transonic and supersonic flight.

The XS-2 has a stainless steel body and is rocket powered. Unlike the XS-1, which employs a conventional wing pattern, the XS-2 will have a swept-back wing. From a power and climb standpoint the XS-2 has been designed to attain higher speeds than the XS-1.

Both planes are part of a cooperative effort between the Army Air Forces, through its Materiel Command, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and Bell Aircraft Corporation to obtain scientific data upon which to base the designs for future AAR-combat aircraft.

Lee High School Dramatics Enact Comedy At Lawton

The Lee High School Guild players under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Gresham presented "The Absent Minded Bridegroom" a three-act comedy to a large and appreciative audience at the Lawton Field Recreation hall last Friday night at 8 p. m.

The young Auburn, Ala., players received their applause for their interpretation of the romantic woes of two Irish families who were accompanied to Lawton Field by the W. L. Player, Lee High School's characters were:

Pacific ATC Boasts Perfect Safety Year

For a perfect safety record of 460,192,555 passenger miles flown by Douglas C-54 Skymasters during 1946 without a passenger fatality, the Air Transport Command's Pacific Division has received the congratulations of General Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air Forces.

The flawless record of the Pacific Division's C-54s involved the transporting of nearly 110,000 passengers on approximately 20,000 separate flights across the Pacific. The total passenger mileage included 268,838,045 passenger miles flown by military crews and 191,354,508 passenger miles flown by United Air Lines crews under contract to the ATC. (A passenger mile is computed on the basis of one passenger flown one mile.)

The time spent in the air by the Division's fleet of C-54s averaged 18 1/2 hours in the air continuously for an entire year. The actual plane mileage was the equivalent of flying 1,200 non-stop trips around the world at the equator.

The weight of the ATC passenger with hand baggage averaged 12,000 tons, or an average of 217 pounds per passenger. In addition, 5,269 tons of mail and 8,588 tons of mail were carried.

The Indian Campaigns, 1874-80; the Pine Ridge campaign 1880-91; the Santiago Steamer, Spanish-American war; the Luzon Steamer for service on the island of Philippine Archipelago 1898-1900; and the Philippine Archipelago service on that group of islands and the New Guinea Steamer for service from Finschhafen, New Guinea, from October, 1944, to March, 1945.

The post league is tightening up and better ball is being played all the time. There were no snaps for the teams at the top of the heap this past week.

In the last three games the Airborne had to go right down to the extra innings, scoring two in the eighth, scoreless for five innings against the 204th. The Airborne was extended to the final inning, and against the 756th Monday night the Airborne found the going rough, being held to one run in the first five stanzas.

Lawson Presents Sixth Air Course

This week the Ninth Air Force presented its sixth consecutive AIC demonstration. Observing the air-ground tactical program were 200 officer students from the Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla., and more than 100 instructors from the United States and Canadian Armies.

The students were, flown to Lawson Saturday evening in 14 C-82s by the 316th Troop Carrier Squadron and began attending the second session of AIC classes Monday at 8 a. m.

AERIAL SHOW

The first phase of AIC, which consists of lectures, conferences, visits and touring of Advance 9th Air Force headquarters, was completed by the students and instructors on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday afternoon they witnessed the second phase of the program when they observed the outcome of the planning and studying of the first two days at the air-ground invasion map at Dekker Strip.

SPAAZ HONOR GUESTS

Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, was 9th Air Force's honor guest at yesterday's aerial demonstration. The general and five other Army Air Force officials flew to Lawson Tuesday evening to witness the spectacular display of air-ground teamwork.

The aerial demonstration concluded the 12th training of the artillery students and they are scheduled to return to Ft. Sill tomorrow.

The next AIC class will begin April 28 with 200 students of the 2d Air Division attending. On May 2, 195 students from the Army Air Force will participate in the final Air indoctrination Course training class.

GC Medal Awarded To 20 Lawson Men

Twenty enlisted men from Lawson were awarded the Good Conduct medal last Saturday morning during special ceremonies held at Lawson. The end of Army Week, which was commemorated from April 7 to 12.

A personnel who received the award were: Cpl. Ernest G. Wilson, Pfc. Harold Culbreath, Pfc. George H. Houston, Pfc. Robert K. Howard, Pfc. Judge M. Miller, Pfc. Fred W. Morse, Pfc. Frank Rozell, Pfc. Richard E. Therian, Pfc. Eugene E. Yow states on the list, drops to third Personnel in Sqd. F receiving with 102 and the southwest fifth Pfc. S. Sgt. Samuel B. Sampson, Sgt. James Cobb Jr. and Cpl. James major leaders of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron the medal went to 1st Sgt. Marvin W. Bauer, 1st Sgt. William E. Farnsworth, David E. Masters, Cpl. Peters, Cpl. Wilson and Pfc. Harry B. Farnsworth.

In the audience Col. Gilbert T. Collar, base commander, and Capt. were presented to the men. Col. Henry L. Couch Jr. was accompanied by W-O George Hibbard who was honored with a postcard on the occasion of his retirement from the service.

The 37th lost the aforementioned contest to the Airborne and then just did beat the Tankers, 3-2, last Saturday.

Meanwhile, the ISD Profs. had found the real rafter case—until Sunday, the day of reckoning. The Lawson field Rangers handed Chick Shivers' team a second defeat then for the biggest upset of the young season.

Yes, and there are getting the kinks out of their muscles now, and from now on in it will be a dog-and-spyer fight. (That is, if anyone ever beats the Airborne.)

This corner has always felt that pitching in the Airborne and then just did beat the Tankers, 3-2, last Saturday.

For an all-around staff the 37th Infantry Regiment seems to have the edge. Lefty Lehner, and Ed Grinols, Walt Piebes, and Ed Davis, all of whom have looked good in their outings.

Pitching seems to be playing the ISD Profs right now, as manager Shivers tried to add himself and his first baseman, Lehner, to the mound staff.

It's early in the season and some arms are becoming as much as 60 percent of the game, if not more, and we think that it will be the deciding factor in determining the post champion.

An article in a current Fort Knox paper reveals some interesting statistics about the home states of major league ball players. It's worthy of repetition, so here it is:

"Baseball is a southern game. Years ago players from the midwest were dominating the baseball. A recent survey of the major leagues has been taken and the midwest has taken over the sectional honors went to the state of California."

This should prove that the state whose official motto is "Eureka" (I have found it) can do much better than our old tennis champion.

The big ten in order of contributions are as follows: California, 87; Pennsylvania, 63; Illinois, 56; New York, 43; Ohio, 37; Texas, 33; North Carolina, 30; Missouri, 29; Michigan, 22; and Oklahoma, 20.

Six states—Rhode Island, Delaware, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, and Montana—are not represented in the majors.

We have had 122 foreign-born athletes. Eleven of those are from Canada, with three each from Italy, Belgium, and each from Scotland, Puerto Rico, Czechoslovakia, and Germany.

The midwest leads second with 10, with a total of 199 players and 142. The midwest has the most players on the list, drops to third place with 138. The west is fourth with 102 and the southwest fifth with 68.

Carl Ficklin, North Carolina's leadership in the south was well deserved, its 30 C. active in the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron the medal went to 1st Sgt. Marvin W. Bauer, 1st Sgt. William E. Farnsworth, David E. Masters, Cpl. Peters, Cpl. Wilson and Pfc. Harry B. Farnsworth.

New York sportswriters thought it noteworthy that Lloyd Gearhart, the Atlanta pitcher up with the Giants, is the first pitcher to play a long, long time who fields left-handed and bats right-handed.

They would have liked to see Fort Benning, where there are two such pitchers in the post league—Ken Wats, of the 168th Infantry Division, and Lefty Lehner, of the ISD.

SPRING FORMALS AND BEAUTIFUL GIRLS were features of the formal dance Friday night in the Main Post Gym for men from Service Clubs 1 and 2. A grand march through the "Flirtation Walk" in the middle of the floor opened the party attended by 75 girls from Anburn, LaGrange and Columbus. Ice cream, punch and cakes were served and the 72nd AGF Band under the direction of Sgt. Manuel Sotera furnished the music for the gala evening.

Lt. Bromley, Capt. Lindstrand Exchange Vows In Chapel

In a setting of lilacs and white tapers in the Post Chapel, WAC Lt. Margaret H. Bromley and Capt. Nelson L. Lindstrand Jr. exchanged marriage vows April 16 with Chaplain Frederick D. Gant officiating.

Lieutenant Bromley, daughter of Mrs. Mary Anna Bromley of the Charleston, Ill., wore a two-piece, blue linen dress with black lace and decorating the cap sleeves for the ceremony. Her accessories were a black straw hat, black gloves and black shoes. She carried a hand bouquet of carnations with sweet-heart roses on a white testament.

Mrs. Carl B. Bestler was the matron of honor and only attendant. She wore an aqua silk crepe dress with black accessories. Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Shepard gave the bride away.

Capt. Carl G. Bestler acted as best man and Capt. George W. Everett and Lt. Col. Harold B. Ayres were ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Officers' Club. The serving table was centered with a beautifully tiered cake which was cut by the bride in the presence of approximately 50 guests. Aperitifs and other refreshments were served.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 1153-A Blessing. Captain Lindstrand is the son of Mr. Nelson L. Lindstrand Sr., and Mrs. Frances Bonnar, of Philadelphia. He is now an instructor in the airborne section, and served in Italy with the 8th Division during the war. He has been decorated with the Silver Star and the Bronze Star.

Capt. Sam J. Adams and Allen L. Swain enlisted assistants from School Troops departed Monday by air for Fort Sill, Okla., where they will give a demonstration on sound locating equipment to the Field Artillery School.

Lawson Women Hear Welfare Staff Member

Mrs. Roland J. Rosenberger and Mrs. M. F. Bussman were co-nominees at the monthly business meeting of the Lawson Field Women's Club which took place in the sun porch of the Base Officers' Club last Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

Miss Mary Yancey Pittard, chairman of the Child Welfare Board of the Muscogee County Department of Welfare, was the guest speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. George W. Gorman, club president, and spoke on the subject of adopting and boarding children through her organization.

Seated at the speakers' table were: Miss Pittard, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Lewis A. Curtis, vice-president, and Mrs. James D. Briggs, secretary. The table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a pink azalea plant. Club members were seated in groups of four at smaller tables covered with white cloths and decorated with dogwood blossoms.

Mrs. Gorman presided at the business meeting and cake and coffee were served. The club's monthly bridge party will take place on May 6, with Mrs. Tom Jones in charge of arrangements.

Informal Party Held At Club

A charming dinner party was given at the Officers' Club Saturday evening with Lt. Col. and Mrs. L. J. Fitzpatrick as hosts for the event which also included dancing. Guests for the party were Maj. and Mrs. E. B. Outlaw, Mrs. Tito Moscatelli and Maj. L. B. Besbeck. Spring flowers and white toppers were used on the dinner table.

Dinner Party For Visitors

Houseguests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph A. Tolve for the weekend were Miss Helen Gifford of Macon, Ga., and Miss Lottie Rountree of Brunswick, Ga. The two charming guests were entertained at a dinner Saturday evening at the Officers' Club. Other members of the party in addition to the hosts were Maj. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens, Maj. Robert Smith and Capt. M. R. Swanson.

Persian Rugs Subject Of Talk By Mrs. Harper; History Told

The interesting history and facts concerning Persian rugs were unfolded Monday afternoon for a group of ladies at a meeting at the Officers' Club when Mrs. Joseph Harper spoke as a guest of the home-making group of the Women's club.

Mrs. Paul Cooper introduced Mrs. Harper, who began her talk by telling of the general history of Persian rugs, and pointing out that evidence shows Egypt was the original home of the art of making these rugs which at one time were the only furniture used in the Orient, being used for beds, chairs and wall and floor coverings.

Mrs. Harper went on to tell that each rug has a story in its pattern and the designs have been handed down through the generations with changes being made by the individual weavers. As examples of special designs, Mrs. Harper pointed out that weavers would sometimes work in human hair as a love message. She explained that when a girl was to be married, she wove a rug for her husband-to-be as a wedding gift to him. Special rugs were also made for prayers, for covering the dead and as guests rugs to be spread before the hearth for guests.

Originally there were 50 individual types of Persian rugs, Mrs. Harper explained, but as the people have moved around, the particular types have been lost and now the usual way of identifying Persian rugs is according to the geographical area they are from.

The speaker informed her audience genuine real Persian rugs are made by the same methods used 2,000 years ago, but now commercial manufacturing has replaced most of the craftsmanship found in rugs designed and woven by individual artists.

The various designs were explained, and Mrs. Harper pointed out how certain designs identify the region a rug is from and also are symbols of certain ideas such as illustrating the soil made by a rust or an eight-pointed star showing the various directions.

She also emphasized the difference in dyes used in rug wool yarn and explained that aniline dye is much inferior to vegetable dye, which will last much longer.

To illustrate her talk, Mrs. Harper brought several of her own Persian rugs from various areas and featuring various designs and colors.

In selecting a Persian rug, the speaker said consideration should be given to finding a reputable dealer, the material, dye and workmanship.

Service Club Variety Show Brings Talent

Men at Service Club No. 1 were well entertained Sunday evening with a top-quality variety show featuring a large array of talent and ending with a Truth or Consequence.

Soloists for the program were Miss Gloria Halprin, Pvt. James Irwin and Col. Pete Triana.

A particular favorite of the evening was S-Sgt. Jack Britano, known as "Jack the Hepster," who did several novelty numbers. Mrs. Paul Trank presented a balla dance and also was featured in a thumbs up with the nose, and two men feeding each other ice cream while blindfolded.

For the Truth or Consequence show Sgt. Gene DeAlessi capably served as master of ceremonies and was assisted by Pvt. Jim McConnell. Consequences for the event included moving Rice Kristies with a straw, rolling a ping-pong ball with the nose, and two men feeding each other ice cream while blindfolded.

Apertif Party Given Before Formal Dinner

Col. and Mrs. Leon E. Lichenwalter and Lt. and Mrs. R. F. Blumhagen will be the hosts of a lovely apertif party Saturday evening at the quarters of Colonel and Mrs. Lichenwalter. It will be a formal dinner and dance party for AGF Board No. 3 at the Officers' Club.

Mrs. Lichenwalter decorated her home with an attractive arrangement of spring flowers for the event.

Spring flowers and white tapers decorated the table for the gala dinner party at the club which was a no-host affair arranged by Mrs. Lichenwalter.

Members of the party included the hosts, Gen. and Mrs. Reuben Jenkins, Col. and Mrs. Jesse Ladd, Col. and Mrs. Earle Johnson, Col. and Mrs. J. W. Middleton, Lt. Col. and Mrs. D. F. Thompson, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ernest Peters, Maj. and Mrs. J. F. Terry, Maj. and Mrs. E. M. Catbran, Capt. Stewart, Jr., Lt. L. A. Schneider, and Major K. H. Barber.

Miss Carden Weds T-Sgt.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Doris Carden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Carden of Columbus, and T-Sgt. John L. Pruitt of Springfield, Mo., and Fort Benning, was solemnized April 11 by Judge J. S. Burch at his home in Phenix City in the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives.

The charming bride chose a suit of grey wool with white accessories for the ceremony. Her only ornament was a necklace which was a gift of the groom. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, the attractive couple left for a wedding trip to Florida after which they will make their home in Columbus.

The Greenville Army Air Base stenographers have been notified he will soon receive one of the especially equipped automobiles assigned to them for presenting to disabled veterans.

Lawson Briefs

M/Sgt. Carl R. Falberg, former officer and glider pilot, who re-enlisted at Lawson last year and was assigned to the Provost Marshal's Office, transferred to Langley Field, Va., Monday. Carl's assignment was as Des Plaines pilot and served in the ETO with the 12th Air Force. His first assignment was as a liaison photo officer with Lt. Thomas W. Jones, a 75th pilot, also left the base this week. He has joined the 305th AAE BU at Biggs Field, Tex.

William Thurman, Messa sergeant, has been notified he will soon receive one of the especially equipped automobiles assigned to them for presenting to disabled veterans.

The recruiting office enlisted its first civilian without previous service this week. Gerald M. Burdette, former farmer, Temple, Ga., was sworn in Tuesday as the first volunteer enlistee since the draft ended. He enlisted for three years and was transferred to AIT in San Antonio to receive his basic training.

Belated Happy Birthday greetings to Lieutenant Fannie G. Taylor and welcome back to Oral Hankins who was out for several weeks due to illness. Captain George report the Panama City waters are still too cold for swimming but he did get a sunburn while visiting there last week end.

Columbus Girl To Wed Soldier

Announcement was recently made of the engagement of Miss Jane Sloucomb of Columbus, to Sgt. Edwin Tweed of Fort Benning and Hamilton, Ga., the wedding plans to be announced later.

Miss Sloucomb is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sloucomb Sr. and is now employed by Civil Service on the Post.

Sgt. Tweed is the son of former M-Sgt. and Mrs. T. Tweed of Fort Benning and Hamilton. He has served in the army for the past five years and was overseas for a year and a half.

General Daugherty Here

Guests arriving Thursday to visit Col. and Mrs. Joseph Harper are Brig. Gen. (ret.) Foster Daugherty and his daughter, Mrs. William T. Hunter, of Tacoma, Wash. General Daugherty is the brother of Mrs. Harper and the visitors will be houseguests at the Harper quarters for the week end.

Brat's Barracks started a new season of activity Saturday night when new officers were elected for the coming three months and Paul Hayes, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Paul C. Vance, was named president of the group and elected secretary. Miss Marian Griffiths, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. A. L. Griffiths, was named treasurer.

Plans for the Brat's Barracks, a group composed of high school age boys and girls on the post, are booming with the aid of Mrs. Sheldon Cumberley who was recently employed as director of the club. She formerly worked in the YWCA in Trenton, N. J., and has also taught English in Reading, Pa. The slender, vivacious young lady is helping the officers and members of the barracks to plan bigger and better events for the future.

In the calendar of future dates, a skating party has been slated for Friday night from 7 to 10 p. m. at the barracks. The rink is located directly behind Green hall, at 7:30 for the skating ring in the Alhambra area.

Saturday night will feature an old-fashioned box social event to be held immediately after the horse show which will bring fancy-wrapped lunches for two to be auctioned off to the boys who will also bring lunch and the girl who packed the lunch as his partner for the event.

May 3 will be the date of a hayride and wiener roast to be held from 10 to 11 p. m.

Although no date has been set, a formal dance is being planned for the coming week.

Last Saturday night, following election of officers, the 41 members present played games and a prize was awarded to each player. Prizes for the evening were arranged for by Mrs. Cumberley and among the stater donating prizes were Kayser - Lillenthal Inc., Fokes Drug store, Classy Clothes Shop, Eagle Army store, Foremost Auto store, the Toggery, Paul Jerome Jewelers, Kenyon Auto store, Fox Loan Co., Stewart Typewriter Co., Deal's Military store, the Eleanor shop, Shulte-United, Sandin Stationery, Bentley Sport shop, B. F. Goodrich Co., Harris Jewelers, Humes Music store and Holzman, Inc.

Dancing to juke box music was another feature of the evening.

Miss Helen Wilbur, daughter of Col. and Mrs. H. S. Wilbur, was elected secretary. Miss Marian Griffiths, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. A. L. Griffiths, was named treasurer.

Plans for the Brat's Barracks, a group composed of high school age boys and girls on the post, are booming with the aid of Mrs. Sheldon Cumberley who was recently employed as director of the club. She formerly worked in the YWCA in Trenton, N. J., and has also taught English in Reading, Pa. The slender, vivacious young lady is helping the officers and members of the barracks to plan bigger and better events for the future.

In the calendar of future dates, a skating party has been slated for Friday night from 7 to 10 p. m. at the barracks. The rink is located directly behind Green hall, at 7:30 for the skating ring in the Alhambra area.

Saturday night will feature an old-fashioned box social event to be held immediately after the horse show which will bring fancy-wrapped lunches for two to be auctioned off to the boys who will also bring lunch and the girl who packed the lunch as his partner for the event.

May 3 will be the date of a hayride and wiener roast to be held from 10 to 11 p. m.

Wedding Set For May 31

Of interest to their friends at Fort Benning is the engagement announced recently by Mrs. Pitta de Graffenried of her daughter, Miss Julia Pitts de Graffenried, to Lt. Arthur LaMar Jr.

The wedding has been set for May 31 and will take place in the Methodist church, with Dr. T. P. Chalker officiating.

The bride-elect attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute where she was a member of Kappa Delta social sorority.

Lieutenant LaMar is the son of Col. and Mrs. A. W. LaMar of Birmingham and Chicago, Ill. He also attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute for two years and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., in the class of '46.

Miss Ogletree, Lt. Mossy To Exchange Vows

Announcement has been made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Ann Slade Ogletree, daughter of Mrs. Ann Slade Ogletree and Lt. Roy Joseph Mossy of New Orleans and Fort Benning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Lyons Mossy of New Orleans.

The marriage will be solemnized April 28 at 7 p. m. at the Church of the Holy Family with Father DePaul Landrigan performing the ceremony.

Miss Ogletree has been graduated from the University of Tennessee where she was a member of Chi Omega social sorority. The charming bride-elect is a member of the Cotillion club in Columbus and was presented to society at the Cotillion's debutante ball during Christmas.

Lieutenant Mossy was graduated from Marion Institute and in 1946 received his commission from the United States Military Academy at West Point. He recently received orders for Korea.

Ladies Play Bridge

Ladies of the Block 12 Non-commissioned Officers' Club are invited to play bridge at the club each Wednesday afternoon. Beginners are welcome at the meetings which start at 1 p. m., and experienced players will give them assistance. Other card games will also be played.

37th Bounce Back From Airbone Loss

BY MURRAY HARDING
 More unhappy tidings have piled up on the 37th Infantry's doorstep in the past seven days, but the team goes right on winning. The Vets dropped their first game of the year last Wednesday, April 16, to the now league-leading Airbone Battalion, but the Troopers were extended to the limit. The game went eight innings, the Troopers getting the decisive run when Paul Bonair's short fly dropped in front of second. Bonair took third on Lands' bad relay to the infield and scored a moment later on a wild pitch by a firing Hal Grinols. Grinols pitched beautiful ball all the way, giving up only four hits, three of them in the fateful eighth. His team mates, though, suffered considerably at the respective bases, getting Doyle and Russ Chapman, flying only six hits, and what is worse, only one run.

As if the game itself wasn't bad enough, Grinols announced the following day that he had a sore arm, and it is still troubling him. Scored Three Times Following that game, the Vets settled back into an old, pleasant rut and started winning the close ones again. Although they only got three singles for the offerings of Ken Watts, 75th manager, they managed to score three times and take a 3-2 verdict. Right Handers Walt Piebes was welcomed into the ranks of the Vets' starting pitchers on the strength of his two-hitter against the Tankers. Walt was still a little wild in that one, but demonstrated plenty of zip as he set down 13 hitters on strikes. George Fagan is still the team's most consistent hitter. George was cruising along at a 381 pace up to the 123 game last Tuesday, and had gotten exactly 1-3 of his team's safe blows in the Airbone and Tanker battles.

Dulaney Dropped
 Big Jim Dulaney was dropped from the starting combination against the Tankers, in an effort to tighten up defensive play against the Grinols. Grinols took over at first and was a noticeable improvement afield, although he contributed nothing to the attack. The Vets turned up another infielder last week, who will probably help out. His name is Reese and he bowled in at the base against the Tankers. He only had one chance in the field and he executed it properly, throwing for 3 at the plate, as who didn't, in that game.

It has been trying to hold off on the really bad news as long as possible, but we might as well come up with broken news in the Airbone game, and will probably be for the rest of the first half of the season. Cooper filled in for him adequately against the Tankers, but Roberts is a very real loss. He was hitting an even .500 when he suffered the injury, and was supplying most of the batting punch in the tail end of the lineup. The Vets are looking everywhere for another replacement, but have met with zero success, thus far.

Let's finish the column on a happy note. We are delighted to announce that the Vets are scheduled to wage war with three of the row they face the 194th Engineers, who will be fortunate in that they ever win a game. Monday, they will battle with the STR, who are in the same fix, if not worse, than the 129th, and on Wednesday afternoon, they are scheduled to meet Ed Poltowicz and mates of the 204th. Ed will certainly deal them a mutual of trouble if he pitches, but his team mates have developed a nasty habit of kicking games right out of Ed's lap.

204th Nine Improves As Time Goes By

Playing inspired ball behind the pitcher's arm, Ed Poltowicz and Doyle Feeler, the 204th Truck Battalion looked like the most improved club in the league playing against the STR and the Airbone this past week. However, they lapsed into their old habit of losing games away Monday night when they committed five errors in losing to the 328th Ordnance, 9-4. All the mistakes came in the run-scoring innings. This was quite a change from the fine play they displayed last Wednesday, when the Truckers backed up Feeler well enough to allow him to pitch a shutout victory against the Student Training Regiment, 2-0.

Three Errors
 And it was altogether different from the team play Friday night in the Airborne tilt. The Truckers did make three errors, one of them costly, but they were looking good in the field for the first time. Kramarczyk made some beautiful plays at shortstop, as did Len Maciejewski at first base and Hance Cowley behind the plate. The 204th catcher in particular played a wonderful game, and he was having rough chances all night.

Slow Start
 After a slow start, Maciejewski has picked up considerably in his hitting. He collected four hits this past week and lifted his batting average to .318. Palmer Hopkins still leads the club with a .369 league while Poltowicz is leading the team with .44 strikeouts, his teammate Doyle Feeler has been fanning opposing batters with a monotonous regularity. The team has a total of 39 to his credit, with a record of two games won and two lost.

While the 204th's record of two victories in seven games isn't too imposing, the Truckers cannot be passed over as a pushover. They are the trouble-shooters of the 'Big Three' may regret it one day if they take them too lightly. In their opening game the 204th took a 3-0 straddling at the hands of the Lawson Field Flyers. The Truckers have come a long way from there and that's as likely to happen again, when the two clubs meet for the second time this Sunday, as Jackie Robinson playing second base for the Columbus Cardinals next season.

25th Track Team Fifth In Meet

Out of eight entries in the track meet held at the State Teachers' College, Montgomery, Ala., a week and a half ago, the members of the 25th Infantry Regiment placed fifth with a total of 11 points. Finishing ahead of the University, Talladega and Alabama A. and M., the locals' attempt to take the meet was overshadowed by comparative weak results in practically every department. A fleet-footed Morehouse College path aggregation was victor with 41-1-2 points. Morris Brown ran a close second with 22 points, followed by Alabama State's 13. Tusculum's 13-1-2, the 25th's 11, Fisk University's 9, Talladega's 3 and Alabama A. and M.'s 0.

TOSSING THE SHOT—Here is Joseph Zielinski, who placed third in the shot-put at Auburn. He is a lieutenant from the 328th Ordnance Battalion.

Co. A, 37th Inf. Takes Rifle Championship

Company A of the 37th Infantry Monday defeated Headquarters Company of the Student Training Regiment by a score of 1,336 to 1,321 to become the small-bore rifle championship team of the Infantry Center. The championship was awarded after a month of matches to determine the top team and a suitable plaque is now being prepared for the winning outfit. Each team was composed of 10 men and seven outfits entered the competition on the firing range. Final scores of the units in competition were as follows: Company A, 37th Infantry, 1536; Headquarters Co., STR, 1321; Company H, 15D, 1489; Second Battalion, ABR, 1420; Company D, 25th Infantry, 1385; Headquarters Detachment Section One, 3440th, 1372; and AGF, 37th Infantry, 1287. Individual scores of the winning team were as follows: Pfc. William E. Dowell, 176; 1st Sgt. John P. Henry, 169; Pvt. John O. Lauder, 168; 1st Sgt. Herston H. Coffey, 160; Cpl. Clyde M. Bolton, 151; S-Sgt. Ferdinand L. Eysel, 150; S-Sgt. James G. Brannon, 146; T-Sgt. Willis D. Fields, 147; T-Sgt. Hugh Moody, 141 and Lt. Dwight O. Knippher, 129.

ISD Defeats 37th In Tie Vets For 2d

BY MURRAY HARDING
 The 37th Infantry Vets gave away a 6 to 2 decision to the ISD Profs Tuesday night at Gowdy Field, elevating the Profs to a second place tie with the Vets. Manager Chick Shiver went the distance for the Profs and gave up only five hits and two walks. Chick aided his own cause greatly with a pair of singles in two times up and drove in a pair of runs.

CLYDE BURT
 Slugging ISD Outfielder

The Vets looked as though they were tired of the sport. They would probably have been wiser to stay at home and concede the game, rather than leave a foul taste in the mouths of the spectators, with their completely speciousness. They appeared to be a beaten team as soon as they walked, not ran but walked, onto the field.

Effortless Ball
 The vets played what is best described as "effortless" ball during the first three innings, during which period they committed five errors, permitting six runs to trickle across the plate, without even working up a healthy sweat. Third baseman Reese was the cardinal offender. Reese was in post record when he miscued three times in one inning, the third once by dropping an easy pop up, again by bobbling an easy grounder, and he earned his third out of the game play by chucking the ball well-out-into right field in an attempt to force a runner.

Starting pitcher Ed Davis was noticeably upset by his supporting cast. He made the mistake of grooving one for Clyde Burt in the third inning, and Mr. Burt promptly lined to deep left center field for an inside park homer with a man on. Davis walked the next hitter, Tinsley, and Lehner followed up with the grounder to Reese. When Reese had finished his act, the baserunners were perched on second and third. They rested while Johnson was lifting to the shortstop, and Seymour was getting hit by one of Davis' throws to load the bases. Then Shiver brought them across with a sharp single to center.

Walt Piebes reared Davis at that point, retired the side without further damage, and held the Profs to one single for the rest of the way.

The 37th managed to push across single runs in the fourth and fifth, but they quickly were token gestures. They had given up well before game time.

Midgets Lose 6-5

After winning their opener, the Fort Benning Midgets lost their first game, last Sunday in local American Legion play, 6-5, to the Boys Club of Columbus.

Goofrey pitched and for the Benning nine, which is made up of boys 16 years old and under, and is sponsored by a fancier's clothing store. He only gave up two hits in the seven-inning contest, but the post team collected only two.

Next Sunday afternoon the Midgets play the Columbus Merchants, the team they defeated in their opener.

Second

 ly, include a brace and triples and two homers. Clyde is a much respected man in the batter's box.

Taylor Has Power
 Shiver says that the man with the most power on his club is Outfielder Bill Taylor. Taylor has played in only two games in which he has connected for two singles in five trips to compile a tidy .400 average, but there's apparently much more to come. If so, the Profs will have a one-two punch second to none.

The Airborne nine started like a house afire, but have run into some very tight casting in recent outings. They're still undefeated, but they had to go eight innings to top the 37th Vets and Hal Grinols, 3 to 1, and they really had a stiff time overcoming Ed Politowicz of the 204th.

Politowicz paroled out five hits, from which the Airborne fashioned five runs, three of them unearned, for a 5-4 decision. The Airborne owed the win to the efforts of Frank McGowan, their stellar first baseman. McGowan seemed to like Politowicz' throws quite well. He hit three of them for safe bounces, one a triple in the seventh which was responsible for the winning run.

Pitching Holds Up
 Airborne pitching has held up in fine fashion, with the exception of the 204th game, in which Chuck Byram was bunted off the mound. Dooley, Gearhart, and Chapman have all turned in creditable performances in their last three, although Dooley's arm is reported to be troubling him slightly. Dooley was the winning pitcher in the first ISD-Airborne match.

Catcher Tom Gallagher should be back in harness for the continuing game, fully recovered from the rock burn he suffered last week on his throwing arm. His addition will add quite a little to the Airborne offense. When he left, Gallagher was hitting at .615 clip for three games, and had driven in 10 runs and scored eight more.

It looks as though Griffin has finally cinched a regular spot in the Trooper outfield. He's been in there in the last two games, hits, and is holding his own.

So the Airborne and the ISD

Tracksters Prep For 7th Army

With the Seventh Army meet coming to Benning in another two and one-half weeks, and the overhauling of the cinder track around Doughboy Stadium almost completed, Capt. Francis Naughton is whipping the post team into shape, still on the lookout for new recruits, particularly for cash men.

The Doughboy team looked fairly strong in the field events against Auburn, but only took three places in the running events, through to place in the Auburn meet, and they are backed up by Raleigh Greene, who came in fourth in the 440, Bill Jenkins and Bill Froelich, two-miler and half-miler, respectively.

Other runners include Milton Beckwith, Taylor Baker, Lloyd Watson, Douglas Scovie, and Cosmo Cutri.

Drives are still being conducted in all units to round up sprinters and long-distance men, who will be placed on special duty to train with the squad.

Teams from all over the southeastern camps are expected to be represented at the Seventh Army meet, which will run for two days—May 11 and 12.

Midgets To Race Again Here Despite Accidents

Racers from nearly all southeastern states are expected to compete at Idle Hour park Friday, despite rains and accidents which plagued the last two midget auto contests there.

Alex. P. Brewer, promoter, said the crowds have been increasing each week, with last Friday's tally zooming above 2,200. Twelve cars were damaged in a series of spectacular crashes—and one driver, Jimmie Reed, was sent to City hospital with fractured City Hospital with fractured right arm.

Freddie Moore, second ranking driver in point-standing ratings, crashed into the wall on the north turn, shattering several planks and displacing part of the brick foundation. The mishap occurred after Moore had been hugging the first of the winner, No. 41, for more than 20 laps.

The tentative list for Friday's events, which begin with time trials at 7:30 p. m., followed by the first heat at 8:30, include: J. Zale (near No. 1), Owen (2), Bud Swanson (11-2), Moore (6), Hank Russ (7), Bernard Fox (8-7), Rick Schuttler (9), Lou Gaultier (11), L. C. Curry (14), Mank Blalock (16), Leroy Hicks (17), Bob Johnson (18A), Jimmie Reed (19), Dick Kerr (60), Paul Barsh (41), Hap Johnson (43), Jack Holmes (45), Hap Piers (46), Frank Luplow (69-Jr.), Bill Blalock (71), Red will both be at full strength and will be met at each other's throat. This will, in all probability be one of the best games post baseball enthusiasts will have a chance to see.

756th Tankers Lose 2 Out of 3 In Week's Play

Opening the week with a 5-4 triumph over Lawson Field, the 756th Tankers moved into undisputed possession of fourth place in the league, only to drop back again when they lost close contests to the second-place 37th Infantry Saturday and the first-place Airborne nine Monday.

As it is, they are now at the .500 mark, but should be able to fatten up this week when they meet the two last-place occupants, the 1290th Engineers and the Student Training Regiment. The toughest game of the week for the Tankers is today's engagement with the ISD. If they can get by that one, they really will have a chance to rise in the league standings.

Artilleriem Split Even In Two Games

The 83rd Field Artillery Battalion came through the past week quite well. All contests considered they played only two games and came out with a .500 average.

About the first game, in which the Cannoners suffered a one-hit whitewashing, 6 to 0, by Wiley Weldon and eight other ISD stars, the less said the more cheerful the 83rd will be.

But the second game, against the 290th Engineers, is one that will be long remembered around the third quarter, where 83rd victories are pretty far and few between.

The 1290th started a southpaw, Leitch, by name, and due to Mr. Leitch's error, the 83rd enjoyed their most profitable offensive game of the season. Leitch was around long enough to pitch 1-3 innings, to give eight hits, which total, interspersed with four Engineer errors, accounted for seven runs.

After Leitch's departure from the scene, the 83rd managed to get four more runs, but were unable to push any more runners across the plate. The eight runs, when they got two more tallies without the benefit of a base smooch.

Krac led the offensive with three hits, one a double. The double, incidentally, was Krac's only hit of the year. May there be many more like it.

Bill Brooks, team manager and center fielder, connected in the third for a three-run homer. The ball sailed over the right fielder's head and bounced into the bushes which decorate the gracefully field barrier.

Brooks successfully circled the bases while the right fielder frantically searched through the pebbles for the missing pellet.

It finally took the combined efforts of all three outfielders, the second baseman, and umpire Harris to locate the ball—long after the play had ended.

Ronni Bouligny gave up only seven hits, but walked six more of them in the sixth inning permitting the 1290th to tie the score. Krac relieved him in the eighth when it became evident that Bouligny's control was rapidly getting worse instead of better, and retired the side without incident. Bouligny got credit for the win.

Manager Brooks and Andy Hershack are the only 83rd batters over the 500 mark. Brooks is hitting .316 and Hershack .312.

The 83rd goes against the 204th TC on "Whalers' Whalers" tonight at around 8:00 p.m. There is little likelihood that they will fatten their averages off the 204th hurlers, which are among the best in evidence, but there is a strong possibility that they will win. Defensively, the Truckers, or Wheelers, are no prize.

Saturday, the 83rd plays the fourth place 328th Ordnance, also in the second game of the evening. Monday let's hope it rains. The Artilleriem are scheduled to meet the Airborne at 8:00 p.m.

1290th Loses In Eighth, 9-7

Playing in a more organized fashion, and with a good deal more hustle, the 1290th Engineers extended the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion to the eighth inning Sunday night before dropping a 9-7 decision for their fifth straight defeat of the season.

It was the second extra-inning game the 1290th was involved in, having lost an eight-inning contest to the 756th, 8-7, in their opener.

Knocked Off Hill
Managed now by Captain Renault, the Engineers started off with Leitch on the mound, and he just didn't have it, as the Artilleriem pounded him for six runs in the third inning before a man was retired.

Tony Corvell came on then and pitched four scoreless innings while his mates were busy tying up the ball game. He showed a good curve ball, but had to retire in the eighth in favor of Ramos when two walks and an error loaded the bases.

He was charged with the loss as two runs came in, one on a fly ball and another when Depolito's throw to third base hit the base-runner and landed on left field.

7 Of Everything
Seven was definitely not a lucky number for the Engineers, as they scored seven runs on seven hits, and committed seven errors in the field. The latter in particular were no help to them.

Pitching still remains the big question with the 1290th. It has been called 75 per cent of the game, and if that's so, the Engineers are that much away from a winning ball club.

This coming week won't bring much relief for the 1290th, as they face the 37th Infantry Friday, the 756th Tank Battalion Sunday, and the ISD Sunday, all of them first division teams.

ISD Profs Need Diamond Win To Stay In Loop Race

Gloom this week pervades the camp of the ISD Profs., who suffered a severe setback Sunday afternoon on the Gowdy Field diamond, when Lawson Field pinned them down, 5-4.

It was the second loss of the season for the ISD and was totally unexpected, as previous to that game the Ramblers had only managed to split even, winning two and losing the same number.

The defeat snapped the Shiver's bunch down to third place, a full game off the pace, and makes a victory against the Airborne Saturday a must if the Profs have any hopes of staying in the pennant race during the first half of the season.

Angry with his poor showing on the mound Sunday, Ike Silcox, the ISD muckletup to now, decided to leave the team. Silcox's arm had been bothering him, and he simply had no idea whatsoever in the Lawson game.

Manager On Spot

This put Manager Shiver in a tough spot, what with games coming up against three tough outfits—the 37th Infantry, 756th Tank Battalion (this game), and the 328th Airborne (Saturday).

The Profs' boss said that he would start against the 37th Infantry himself on Tuesday. Up to that contest his pitching this season had been good to striking out one man in the STR game.

Against the 756th Shiver will lead with Wiley Weldon, who has two victories to his credit, a two-hitter and a one-hitter, Saturday the ISD moundsman will be Lefty Lehner, who also will be taking his first turn this season.

The main hope for the ISDers is that they will be able to outthrust their opponents, so that they had been able to do until they came up against the slants of Walleit Sunday afternoon.

ISD Sluggers Silenced

Walleit silenced the ISD sluggers until the last two innings of the game, and then the Profs were too far behind to catch up. Clyde Burt arrived late also, and forced Shiver to start Bill Taylor in the cleanup slot. The rugged Taylor happened to hit a bad day and went hitless.

Blondy Burnett continued to play great ball all morning, taking over the club batting lead this past week with a .322 average. He has more base hits than anyone else in the league—12.

Polk, ISD second-sacker, follows close behind with 11 safe blows, hitting at an even .500. Clyde Burt has a .389 BA, most of his seven hits being of the long distance variety. He has hit two home runs, two triples, and a double.

Herp Laue dropped down to .350 this week, but he played a fine game in left field. Lehner is batting .400.

This week's games will tell the story for the ISD. The pressure is on, and they will have to come through to remain contenders.

14 Sports Events Set By AFSC

International competition in 14 different sports is on the calendar of events planned by the Allied Forces Sports Council in Europe for military participation in the next several months, the Office of the Chief of Special Services, War Department, said today.

Colonel Russell T. Finn of Peoria, Ill., chief of the athletic branch of Special Services, European Command, is chairman of the inter-Allied organization, which includes representatives of the armies of Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Holland, Luxembourg, Norway, Poland, Russia and the United States.

Sports include volleyball, basketball, swimming, sailing, tennis, golf, table tennis, track and field, soccer, boxing, skiing, skating, cross country and the Pentathlon (both military and modern).

—Held In Berlin—
Dates of the events that have been determined include an outdoor volleyball tournament April 28-30, possibly in Berlin, with either Russia or Czechoslovakia as sponsor; a swimming meet August 22-31 in Berlin, sponsored by Great Britain; track and field in Berlin's Olympic Stadium, tentatively set for September 13-14 under United States Army sponsorship; a soccer tournament in the Berlin stadium, November 23-28, possibly sponsored by Russia, with Great Britain as alternate sponsor in the event Russia declines.

Twenty-five competitive sports are being participated in by the U. S. Army personnel in the European Theater as a part of the broad athletic program sponsored by Army Special Services.

STR Hits Slump; Loses Five In Row

The STR Rifles don't look too happy these days. They are still in search of their first victory of the season, having now taken it on the chin five times in as many games. It really doesn't look as though they will have a possibility for triumph until they meet the 1290th Engineers for the first time, since the 1290th also is suffering a slump.

The Rifles have only one hitter worthy of the title, namely Joe Mink, the burly shortstop. Even Joe only got one hit in six official trips to the plate.

In the STR's two most recent encounters against the 328th and the 204th, they compiled a total of seven hits and zero runs, which makes them the dubious distinction of being the most shut out team in the league.

STR hurting has been very well liked—by the other nine teams in the league. Both Olivera and Helstand have, of late, been afflicted by an extra bases pitch. Meaning that the hitters have been hitting doubles or better off them, more often than not.

The coming week the Rifles will perform against Lawson Field, the 37th, and the 756th on Friday, Monday, and Wednesday, respectively.

204th Almost Pulls Season's Biggest Upset

The largest crowd since opening night gathered at Gowdy Field last Friday night to watch the impossible almost happen. Certainly three-quarters of the spectators were hoping that it would come to pass.

It was the old story of "David versus Goliath," as the sixth-place 204th Truck Battalion squared off against the league-leading Airborne team. Ed Poltowicz pitched superb ball, but it seemed that all the breaks were going against him. His teammates played better ball behind him than they have all season, but it just wasn't enough to stop the Airborne from taking the 4-4 decision.

For the first five innings, Poltowicz and Chuck Byram, the Airborne hurler, each pitched one-hit ball. The Truckers should have scored in the third, but Norvell's poor base-running spoiled the opportunity.

If anyone can be called the game hero, it would have to be Frank McClellan, Airborne first baseman, who hit Poltowicz as if he owned him, collecting three of his team's five hits.

He led off the sixth with a grand single. Dickson tried to sacrifice him along, but third-sacker Welch made a good play and forced McGowan at second. Bonair then got hit off Poltowicz's glove, putting men on first and second.

Dooley hit a bouncer back to the mound, and it looked as if Poltowicz would come out unscathed as he picked the ball up and threw back to second. However, second-baseman Morris couldn't hold the ball and Dickson scooted across for the first run of the ball game.

The first run came on a pop-up, and then walked Richardson to load the bases. With Griffin at bat, Pritchard purposely took an extra long lead off first to draw a throw. Cowley threw down to Maciejewski and Bonair bled for the plate.

Bonair Keyed — Maciejewski's throw was their first and Cowley's imposing frame was blocking the plate. Bonair collided head-on with the 204th receiver and had to be removed from the game unconscious. Although there were many in the stands who thought that Bonair never touched the plate, umpire Lane called the Airborne shortstop safe, claiming that Cowley had tagged down with his leg while holding the ball in his bare hand.

The Truckers argued long and furiously, but to no avail. Play was resumed and Griffin singled in two more runs before the side was retired.

It seemed incredible that the supposedly-impotent 204th could put on a rally to tie up the game.

Lawson Nine Keeps Up With Leaders

BY MURRAY HARDING

The up-and-down Lawson Field Ramblers pushed about the 500 mark last Sunday the hard way. They marred an otherwise pleasant Sabbath for Chick Shiver and his ISD friends by trimming same 3 to 4, for the first real upset of the season.

They achieved this result by pouncing on pitchers Stan Grodzicki and Ike Silcox for five runs in the first three frames, and then settling back to hold their advantage, behind the hurling of Pitcher Wallett.

The Fliers hardly had to work at all for their first two runs. Grodzicki was pretty miserly with his strikes in the third of an inning, that he stayed so miserly. In fact, that he walked three of the first four men to face him. The one he didn't walk, Frank Wilson, took a liking to Stan's second pitch and bunted it into left field for a single, scoring the first run of the game. Shortly thereafter, Wilson sitting on third and one away, Grodzicki so far forgot himself that he calmly went into a full windup. By the time he got unstung, Wilson had stolen home for the second run of the inning. At that point Grodzicki retired to the sidelines, and Silcox came in to relieve him.

"Cousin like," as Silcox is affectionately known around Lawson Field today, came through the second inning unscathed, moving down the tail end-of-the-batting order without incident. BUT, in the third Silcox was rather severely jarred by a rebounding double and a pair of well-placed triples. His outfielders saved him from further disaster, Lauve backing to the scoreboard in left and Burt handling Sherry's liner from the glove, but he announced at the finish that he was through for the season.

Wallett encountered a little trouble himself during the sixth and seventh innings, two batters coming across in each frame, but he got himself out of it all right, forcing Burt to bounce to the shortstop with the tying run on second to end the game.

The win gave the Ramblers a record of three wins and two losses and put them in fifth place, which is the first division in this league. The boys would be a lot higher up if it weren't for some spotty defensive work in a couple of games. Last Thursday, they kicked away a 5-4 decision to the 760th Tankers. The Ramblers' six errors in that game were responsible for all five Tanker runs. Their offensive power almost drove it and if he hadn't been for Vick's neat stab of Flanders' drive to the right field barrier in the seventh, the tying and perhaps the winning run of the ball game would have crossed the plate.

The loss that really rankles, though, was that early season trimming by the 83rd FA, which has since won only one game, and that one over the last place 1290th Engineers. In that contest the boys erred nine times to give away a 10-3 verdict.

New Faces — That's all in the past now. There are a pair of new faces in the lineup that are going to help the club amply in future games. Both are outfielders and both look like strong hitters.

Walker and Flanders are the names, and they have been assigned to center and right fields, respectively. Walker bats leadoff, and of the seven times he has walked to the plate, he has gotten four base four, and has scored three runs. His batting average is .500 on three hits, one a double.

Flanders is a left-handed hitter with power to spare, and is hitting in the number two spot. His average isn't as high as Walker's, but now, he's only had one hit in five trips, but that one single nearly took the pitcher's leg off at the knee, and he's hit several other balls equally as hard.

Among the other regulars, Smith still leads all the rest with a robust .466. Frank Wilson and Chick Forbes have been the most consistent run producers on the club. Wilson has scored eight and driven across four more, while Forbes, hitting right behind Wilson, has knocked in seven and come across five times. Both are hitting a steady .333.

The pitching staff, featuring

Wallett, Fry, and Baker, has hurled consistently good ball, and, once those fielding wrinkles are straightened out, Lawson will be up among the top three in the league.

Thirty days have September, April, June — and the Saree for speeding.

but they surprised and pleased the spectators by doing just that.

Feeler opened up the bottom of the sixth with a one-baser through the box. After Feeler stole second, Morris was hit by Bryan's fourth pitch. The Truckers then put on a masterful exhibition of bunting, as Maciejewski, Welch, and Krasmarchyk all layed down safe bunts. Welch's was the prettiest of the lot, as he popped it over the incoming fielders' heads. Two runs came in, but Maciejewski was caught at the plate trying to score from second on Krasmarchyk's bunt.

Hames Cowley capped his fine play behind the plate then with a riling double inside the third base line that tied up the game. He sent Byron to the showers. Just and left Byron as Russ Chapman, the new Airborne pitcher, got Norvell and Poltowicz on strikes to end the tumultuous inning.

The game was deslocked, but Poltowicz's sac bunt, however, McGowan, showed his big bat again in the seventh by unloading a triple to the right-centerfield fence. George Dickson squeezed him across and that was it.

Chapman wasn't to be hit in the last of the seventh and became the winning pitcher. For Ed Poltowicz, it was the third defeat of the season and the second by one run. He struck out eleven Airborne batters in an outing the seven-inning route to give him a season-total of 44 best in the league.

Final scores: Airborne, 5, 204th. The best game of the season so far.

ATC Halts Alamo Route; Closes Office At Lawson Field

Air Transport Command has discontinued the "Alamo" route and closed its operations at Lawson Field, Lt. Donald F. Bonzon, ATC representative, announced today.

The "Alamo" flight from San Antonio, Texas, to Newark, N. J., with a stop over at Lawson Field, was inaugurated by ATC last May as part of its Military Air Transport program in this country.

Since the first of April the Lawson office was open for emergency flights and air-evacuation only, Lt. Bonzon stated.

ATC operations were also discontinued through Maxwell Field, Ala., and Pope Field, S. C. Macon, Ga., and Mobile, Ala., will continue to receive ATC service. Primary purpose of the remaining ATC flights will be cargo transportation, Lt. Bonzon said.

TIC SCHOOL TO OCCUPY NEW AREA THIS WEEK

Movement of the TIC Vocational School from its present site in the Alabaster area to a new home closer to the Main Post is expected to get underway sometime this week, according to a school spokesman, who said the delay in previous moving plans was necessary to reach the Reception Center more time to occupy its new quarters.

The Vocational School will occupy 10 buildings in the new area. All structures will receive face lifting operations both inside and out, and present plans call for a campus beautification program to provide a "college atmosphere." School officials announced that within the near future a questionnaire will be distributed to all post military personnel to determine individual choice of subjects. Spaces will be provided for write-in courses. In this way the Vocational School hopes to schedule such courses as will best meet the needs of interested soldiers.

Will Offer Any Subject
According to tentative plans classes will be offered in five major fields: elementary, academic, commercial, technical and fine arts. The school will offer any subject, (even jittersbugging—offencing) if as many as 12 or 15 men show an interest.

Once situated in their new home, the Vocational School, which is believed to be the largest institution of its kind in or out of the Army, will inaugurate a graduation program complete with speeches and diplomas.

School authorities expressed the hope this week that the school will begin operations in the new area by the middle of July. Preliminary plans call for an open house to be held July 1.

New Additions Made
New additions to the Vocational School include a carpenter shop with all types of power tools, a plastic shop modern in every detail, photographic lab and a printing shop with a wide variety of type.

If enough men are interested the school will offer a class in radio announcing under Joe Byers, of WDAK. The course will offer assistance in microphone technique general announcing and script writing.

New Engineer Unit Activated

Activation of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion at Fort Benning May 1 was announced this week by post officials.

Personnel for the new unit will be furnished by the 1290th Engineer Combat Battalion which is being inactivated. The 78th will be housed in the first cuartel which was formerly occupied by the Second Battalion of the 97th Infantry Regiment.

The new engineer battalion will store their equipment in the area now being used by the Ninth Air Force as a motor pool.

The 78th will be assigned to the Third Army and attached to the Infantry School.

Benning Ordered To Slash Civilian Workers Rolls

Infantry Center officials this week were scratching their heads in an effort to meet the War Department's latest economy directive calling for another drastic cut in civilian personnel, effective June 30. Under a "tentative allotment" of civilian personnel authorized for employees will be reduced from a present 719 to 219, a reduction of well over 50 per cent.

The number of ungraded employees authorized has been set at 1,164. At the present there are but 1,127 ungraded civilians employed, which makes the new tentative allotment appear as an increase rather than a reduction. However, the 1,127 figure does not represent the total number which can be employed under existing allotment levels.

Military Replacements
In order to make up partially for the reduction in the civilian force, headquarters has issued a tentative schedule which will permit the use of 350 military replacements.

Altogether, some 25 different activities of the Infantry Center will be effected by the graded personnel cut. Hardest hit under the tentative allotment authorization appear to be the Quartermaster, 101 to 44; Engineers, 144 to 62; Ordnance, 75 to 32; Signal Office, 28 to 19; Adjutant General, 71 to 21; and Special Service, 16 to 4.

The reduction of graded personnel will be made up to some extent by slight increases in the allotment of ungraded personnel plus the use of military replacements.

A spokesman of the Civilian Personnel Branch this week said that all employees to lose their

'48 MA Class To Tour Post

The 1948 class of the United States Military Academy will arrive at Fort Benning at approximately 4 p. m. Friday, June 13, for a seven-day tour of the post, it was announced today.

During their visit the cadets will get an opportunity to witness first-hand the latest developments in infantry tactics as demonstrated by Infantry School troops. They will come to Fort Benning for the first time.

The actual demonstration exercises will get underway Monday, June 16, when the USMA group will witness a combined airborne-airforce problem including a pathfinder drop, glider evacuation, paratroop drop and resupply and an artillery drop.

A tour of the Airborne section will highlight the activities of June 15 at which time the cadets will observe basic airborne instruction. All students will receive an orientation glider flight and will witness an actual parachute jump while riding in aircraft.

Displays and demonstrations of infantry weapons and fire power will be viewed by the cadets June 18 and a demonstration of an infantry regiment with attached artillery battalion in a tactical situation will be witnessed during the morning of June 19. That afternoon the cadets will see an infantry battalion in simulated attack while aircraft provide air cover.

Lecture Series Begins Today

The first of four lectures in the World Orientation series was presented this morning in the theater of the Air University, who spoke on Military Potential and Vulnerability of Nations in the Russian Sphere.

The second lecture will be delivered May 7, beginning at 1 p. m., by Col. Robert Totten, also of the Air University, who will be Military Potential and Vulnerability of the United States.

Also discussed by one of the six scientists of the Manhattan Project, who are touring the South, at 1 p. m. May 12, and the last lecture in the series will be delivered by Rear Admiral Brown, on the morning of May 26 at 2 p. m. He will speak on the future of the Navy.

All officers of the U. S. Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, who are presently stationed at Fort Benning, are urged to attend the lectures unless prevented by urgent military duties, Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, said today.

Volume 30 Of 'Mailing List' Due Off Press In Near Future

Annual subscribers to The Mailing List, official publication of The Infantry School, will be receiving their copy of volume 30 in the very near future, officials announced today.

The editors stated also that volumes 29 and 30 will be available to a limited number of new subscribers on a "first come, first served basis" until the present stock of volume 29 is exhausted. Volume 29 will be mailed by the Fort Benning Book Department promptly upon receipt of the subscription price of $2.50 for two attractive cloth-bound books, and volume 30 will be mailed as soon as it comes off the press. Officials also emphasized that due to the nature of the contents, the publication is classified as "Restricted" and is available only to members or former members of the Armed Forces.

Originally inaugurated in 1930 as the official publication of the Infantry School, The Mailing List was designed to keep aggressive infantrymen fully informed on the latest developments and progressive changes in infantry weapons and tactics. In 1944 it was suspended due to war-time conditions.

Each volume was compiled by the Academic Department of The Infantry School and is open to all infantrymen, whether Regular Army, National Guard, or Reserve, and has been subscribed to by officers and enlisted men in every representative branch of the armed forces.

Both volumes of The Mailing List emphasize official instruction and information pertaining to movement of ground force units by air, recoilless rifles, mortars, and preparation of field exercises. Other articles dealing with communications, logistics, and tactics, are also included.

jobs will be given at least 15 days notice, and in the majority of cases they will receive 30 days notice.

This is the largest cut in civilian personnel since May 31, 1946, when 700 workers lost their jobs at the post.

In addition to the reduction of civilian personnel the War Department also hinted that some reductions in pay might be made among those in the higher pay brackets in order to stay within budget limitations set for the fiscal year 1948.

In order to stay under the average annual maximum civilian salary figure of $2,160.00 for the post as a whole, including both graded and ungraded personnel, heads of the various activities were instructed last week to consider the elimination of both high and low-pay graded positions in equal ratio, or as nearly so as possible.

AOC 6 Boasts Haitian Member

By FRED H. DRUCKER

It isn't every AOC class that can boast a Haitian among its ranks, but this is a claim which Capt. Theodore B. Colmer of AOC 6 can back up by merely producing Robert Jean Mangones.

Candidate Mangones, tall handsome Cornell graduate, was born some 28 years ago on his father's plantation near Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

He received his early education in Haiti and France and at an early age decided to study engineering in America. Bob, who still speaks with a slight accent, vividly recalls his first encounter with an official of his adopted country. When a rather belligerent customs inspector queried as to his destination, the very French-sounding reply of "Cornell University" elicited the response, "Listen boy, if you're going to Cornell University, you'd better speak better English than this."

Bob did go to Cornell however, and his English was good enough to let him get a Master's degree in sanitary engineering and win a lovely law student for a wife.

After working for two years as superintendent of water purification and sewage disposal for Ithaca, N. Y., he entered the Army and set Officer Candidate School as his goal. True to his tradition, upon completion of basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., he was chosen, outstanding trainee and after instructing in Civil Affairs for two months, he was sent to join AOC No. 6.

Final Air Show Slated Saturday

After presenting two separate courses this week, the Ninth Air Force will bring to a close its two-month air indoctrination course training program at Lawson on Saturday, officials announce.

The first course this week was presented for 100 students from the Ground General School, Ft. Riley, Kansas, and 50 AAF and Ground Forces observers. They arrived at Lawson Sunday evening, attending there after completing the regular three-day course of classes and witnessing the aerial exhibition at Dekker Strip they were returned to their home stations in C-52s of the 316th Troop Carrier Squadron this morning.

The eighth and final course will be a two-day class and will get underway tomorrow morning with 314 senior AAF officers from the Air University, Maxwell Field, Ala., attending. They are scheduled to arrive late today and will attend classes all day Friday and Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon they will view the aerial demonstration at Dekker Strip which will be the official closing of the Ninth Air Force AOC training course. The officer students will return to Maxwell Field Saturday evening.

Orientation Course Slated For Officers Detailed To ROTC

An orientation course for officers of all arms and services, except Air Corps, Medical Corps and Ordnance Department, detailed to ROTC units being activated July 1, 1947, will be conducted by the Commandant, The Ground General School, at Fort Riley, Kansas, July 23-27. General Jacob L. Devers, Commanding General, Army Ground Forces, announced today.

Students will be those officers of Ground Army and Technical Services except Medical and Ordnance Department, detailed to ROTC units being activated July 1, 1947. The size of this class reporting to the Ground General School on June 21, will be approximately one hundred and ten.

Officers detailed to duty with other ground ROTC units this year will not attend orientation course, but will receive their orientation "on the job."

Orientation of Medical Corps officers to be assigned to Medical Department units activated July 1 will be conducted at Brooke Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

A similar program for orientation of Air Corps officers will be announced by the Commanding General, Army Air Forces. The course will be conducted by the Air University, at Craig Field, Alabama, by members of the Air University faculty and Officers of the Air Defense Command.

Mission Completed; 9th AF To Go Home

With the final presentation of the current Air Indocination Course scheduled to begin at 8:30 Friday before 300 students of the Air University, Maxwell Field, Ala., Brig. Gen. Jarred V. Crabb, Chief of the Advance Ninth Air Force headquarters, announced that a total of 2,257 student officers and observers have witnessed the eight shows.

In conjunction with this announcement Gen. Crabb also disclosed that the mobile Advance headquarters of the Ninth would be dismantled immediately and moved back to Greenville, S. C.

Since last February the Ninth has been at Lawson presenting weekly courses to representatives of service schools from all branches of the service depicting the latest developments of the air and ground cooperation to win wars.

200 Planes Attack
Highlight of extra week's presentation has been the mighty aerial demonstration that saw 200 airplanes attack a mythical enemy village with everything from

BRIG. GEN. JARRED V. CRABB

500 lb. bombs to fiery napalm.

According to Ninth Air Force officials a total of 1,224 tons of bombs have been dropped and 159,600 pounds of ammunition expended during the eight air shows.

A parade of visitors including the top U. S. air and ground leaders, Generals Spaatz and Devers, respectively, have witnessed the Course. The guest register reads like a page from "Who's Who" with representatives of 15 foreign countries, observers from a military unit, and press representatives from many of the nation's leading newspapers, magazines and newsreels included.

Wholehearted Cooperation

Gen. Crabb also announced the appreciation of the Ninth Air Force to Major General O'Daniel and the staff of the Infantry Center for their wholehearted cooperation in helping present the Air Indocination Course.

"The Infantry Center was charged with the responsibility of providing billets, messing and transportation for personnel attending the Course," Gen. Crabb stated. "In addition it has made available terrain for demonstrations and classrooms for instructions and cooperated to the fullest extent with the Ninth Air Force in this endeavor."

Doctor (before operation): "Nine out of every ten patients die during the operation. Can I do anything for you before we start?" Patient: "Yes, just help me on with my hat and coat."

Contentment

Like fifteen mules the old man worked,
- Until his strength was gone,
And after working all the day
He set himself for home
His lonely room was cold and bare;

He had no one to heed him,
His only table was a chair,
And little food to feed him,
He had few clothes, and these were old.

Though he kept them neat and clean,
The way this old man lived alone

Was something to be seen.
His wants were few; his life was simple.

Still he was no miser,
He hoarded nothing save his pride,
Which made him all the wiser,
For pride he had, despite his age;

He was poor, but far from shiftless,
He wanted only to be free;
His life was what he wished it.

When rich men spoke of getting rich,
The old man showed resentment.
For he had what rich men had not.

This old man had contentment.

Lawson Crash Truck Dispatched To Scene Of Airplane Wreck

Fire Chief J. H. Henderson, of Lawson Field, was in charge of the crash truck dispatched from Lawson Field to help fight the burning wreckage of the Delta passenger plane and the B-7-13 plane collision which killed all last Tuesday morning.

Colonel Gilbert T. Collar, base commander, was notified of the burning aircraft at 11:25 and immediately ordered a flight line crash truck, which is especially equipped to fight aircraft fires, to the scene of the crash. When the special equipment arrived at the airport twenty-five minutes later the gas tanks were still blazing.

The Lawson fire crew employed foamite to help extinguish the flaming wreckage and provided special equipment to search for the bodies.

Fire fighters with Chief Henderson were: Cpl. Chester Bailey, Pvt. Roland Hemmington, Pvt. Bob Wilkenson, Pvt. Robert Peace. Tuesday's emergency run to the county airport was the first off-base trip for the Lawson fire department since it was staffed with enlisted men last November, the chief said.

'Buddy Sheet' System

The personal qualities the Army considers essential in good leadership are not always easily discernable. In the choosing of officers it would be a great deal of close observation to ascertain whether the individual was qualified. The Army has found the clue to this observation in the selection of officers—at the Officer Candidate School. The Army realizes the value of the individual who knows the officer candidate better than anyone else—his buddy.

The men that a candidate lives with can observe him every hour of the day, and they can see just how he accepts responsibilities and solves problems. They can watch the actions that indicate the attitude and disposition of the potential officer.

Twice during the six-month course of instruction at the Student Training Regiment, each candidate is asked to fill out a Student Rating Form concerning the half a platoon with which he lives. These "Buddy Sheets" are strictly confidential between the Infantry School and the rating candidate. Each "Buddy Sheet" has pages for general comments and a personal estimate of each candidate in the section; in addition, it contains one page for a list of the candidates in order of merit as a combat platoon leader in the opinion of the rating officer.

Needless to say, it is an arduous task to make out a wholly fair estimate of two young comrades. The necessity of doing so, however, renders candidates more conscious of their strengths and weaknesses of their fellows. This assists in establishing a stronger understanding among the men, which makes for higher efficiency as well as affording the Army an accurate insight into the personal qualities of its future officers.

Treadmill To Nowhere

If the court-martial of Colonel Durant in the matter of the Besse jewels goes on at the present rate, guardhouse lawyers will be able to occupy idle hours, speculating on a number of points.

What will be the legal situation when all the members of the court reach majority retirement age? Will they be continued on active duty? Can they be compelled to serve involuntarily, assuming of course, that the official end of the war and emergency is declared long before the trial?

Can the court legally meet at other places than Washington and Frankfurt with the exception, I. G. Farben and other buildings in those two cities are completely filled with the transcripts and exhibits of the trial?

Will the pending promotion bill be amended to insure those on duty with the court a chance at promotion even though they have spent their entire active duty career in the courtroom on traveling between Washington and Frankfurt?

Will a new evaluation of the jewels be demanded periodically, say every ten years, to the degree of the offense charged can properly be evaluated? Will we recognize that these are but some of the questions which must be faced. If our readers know of others, we'd be glad to print them.—Army Times.

Axiom For Leadership

"When a man is green, he'll grow; when he thinks he's ripe, he'll begin to rot!" AOCN No. 6, 10th Co., S.T.R., adopted this sensible saying as the full message by which to learn and serve as future officers.

Presented to the class by Capt. Wilson in one of his excellent lectures on "Leadership," the axiom was first received with only polite acceptance. Later, as the full meaning of its forceful and applicable philosophy fell upon them, the candidates were unanimous in commending the statement as some "damned good advice" now and in the trying days ahead.

For a "golden rule" lieutenant it is vitally necessary to retain an open and receptive mind in this world of modern changes, to be frank self-admission of his little practical experience, he must resolve to learn quickly—both from his superiors and his more experienced subordinates. Of necessity the training of his potential officers receive can only be a good introductory course, a shell of instruction to do the job. He must remain green and growing within this shell to become a leader of men.

Each man must solve his own problem of a receptive attitude. A mind is like a parachute; it works better when open. AOCN knows it will be led to a high goal if it can follow this inspiring thought—"When a man is green, he'll grow; when he thinks he's ripe, he begins to rot!"—O/C James D. Walker.

No Request Required For Overseas Parcels

Major General Edward F. Witsell, the Adjutant General of the Army, announced today that, effective May 1, parcels may be sent to overseas Army Post Offices as desired and without presenting a written request from the addressee. The only restrictions will be those that apply to domestic parcel post.

Prior to May 1 there is still a restriction of one parcel per week from the same sender to the same addressee overseas, due to the lack of shipping space. Also until May 1, the restriction that specifies the presentation of a written request from the addressee before sending a parcel overseas will apply.

The restrictions for domestic parcels sent overseas to Army Post Offices will apply for all parcels. These include: size, 100 inches in length and diameter around parcel; weight, 70 pounds; and forbid the shipment of inflammables, explosives, firearms, and poisons.

Chaplain's Corner.

Dethroning God

BY CHAPLAIN EMMETT M. CARPENTER

The tragedy of our age is the attempt on the part of man to live as if there were no God. But man is still only man, and not God.

For a generation or more man's confidence in himself has been steadily growing and his trust in God has correspondingly diminished. Man's increased knowledge, his scientific attainments, and his power over nature almost convince him that he has no further need of God. He has come to the feeling that by his own wisdom and power he can master any personal or social or world problem that may arise. And puffed up with the pride of his own achievement, he has come to believe that he has no need of God.

But with all man's boasted wisdom and unlimited power, with all his inventions and mechanisms, he has brought the world to the verge of chaos and impending ruin. With all his speed and advance in material comfort man has not grown any happier. Man has added to his happiness. Man has enlarged his material equipment but he has not enriched the atmosphere in which he lives. His progress has been along mechanical lines, but machines can't satisfy the deepest needs of the soul.

Honor, virtue and purity all belong to a noble character and have their roots in something more abiding than a material world dependent on God. The more life is worth while we are still dependent on God. The fact is our scientific discoveries have now outstripped our spiritual control. And unless our increased powers are spiritually controlled they will work a greater havoc than in an age that was not so capable. And unless man begins to despair of finding salvation in mere human resources and turn to God for help and divine guidance we shall see darker days than we have yet seen.

When men have sincerely cried unto God, in any age, He has always heard them and saved them. This is the lesson of history.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

THREE ON A TICKET (detective mystery) with Hugh Beaumont, Cheryl Walker, Michael Shayne—a private eye—gets an unwanted corpse on his hands along with a piece of baggage check. With these clues, he gets about the business of solving the murder. (Recommended for family.)

HARD BOLLED MAHONEY (comedy) with Leo Gorcey and Bowers Boys. Gorcey and the gang decide there is big dough in the private detective business. Their first case nearly proves to be their last. As usual, Gorcey gets his ears pinned back. (Recommended for family.)

THE EGG AND I (chicken farm comedy) with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray. The hilarious book on chicken raising becomes an equally hilarious movie. Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray, ignorant of the ways of chickens and farm life, blunder along to success and provide many laughs along the way. (Recommended for family.)

THE MACOMBER AFFAIR (melodrama) with Gregory Peck, Joan Bennett and Robert Preston. Africa, big game hunting, furnish the background for this triangle—a woman, her husband and their professional guide. She loves the guide and it would be an easy matter to accidentally kill the husband—??? (Recommended for mature audience.)

CALCUTTA (melodrama) with Alan Ladd, William Bendix and Gail Russell. Three commercial pilots fly "the hump" between Calcutta and Chungking until one of them is murdered. The others attempt to learn why and become involved with all types of sinister characters that emerge from the Oriental background. (For mature audience.)

Gen. Wooten Appointed Head Of 7th Air Force

Major General Ralph H. Wooten was named commanding general of the Seventh Air Force, effective May 1, succeeding Brigadier General Donald F. Stace, who will return to Army Air Force headquarters at Washington for an important assignment.
Famed throughout the war for island-hopping victories from the South Pacific to the Japanese homeland, the Seventh Air Force now has its headquarters at Hickam Field, Hawaii, where in 1942, it replaced the battered Hawaiian Air Force after the attack on Pearl Harbor.
Since January, 1946, General Wooten has been the State Department's field commissioner for military programs in its Office of Foreign Liquidation.

Suggested protective measure for the forward observer on rainy days

Weather Bugaboo To 'Deadeye Dicks'

AOCC No. 7, which boasts more than its share of "deadeye dicks", maintains that something has to be done about the weather which recently cut the range of mortar shells from yards down to inches. This in turn caused a slump in the firing record which showed exceptionally high scores in machine gun, pistol, bazooka and craps.

"But what humiliation when, upon graduating to the infantryman's artillery, we got no ranges of 3,000 yards, as promised, but instead barely 3,200 inches. How come? Rain, brotner, rained. It seems that if you don't keep your powder dry those propelling charges get awfully lethargic. And if you happen to be a forward observer, you appreciate it no little bit when the Major screams 'Cease fire!'

With the advent of more sunshine, it is possible that the mortar problems of AOCC No. 7 have been somewhat simplified. The situation that existed during the rainy spell is illustrated in the cartoon shown within near proximity of this

Peace Violator Will Attack U.S. First Says Gen. Spatz

"Any first-class nation which shatters the peace will do so by first attacking us," according to General Carl Spatz, Commanding General of the Army Air Forces, in an article which will appear in the spring issue of MILITARY AFFAIRS.
Because the United States is the world's leading power today, General Spatz said, an aggressor's timetable would call first for an elimination of this country's armed forces.

advantageous that World War I was a war of movement for only a short time. More actual experience would have hastened the maturity of the concept of air power as a co-equal military arm organized as an independent unit tactically and strategically powerful under a supreme commander's direction.
General Spatz pointed to the German experiments in the Spanish Civil War which convinced the Luftwaffe that bombing of sensitive transportation units could paralyze the enemy.

engagements and 3,000,000 square miles of land remained under its control.
Admitting that the air defense program envisioned by the Army Air Forces was expensive, the protection was still the cheapest available to the American taxpayer. "The realization of this fact," he said, "must be spread to insure the support the AAF needs in the evolution of air power, as in the evolution of man, an unstable world permits only the survival of the fittest!"

Cartoonist Discovered in 16th Company, STR

A cartoonist has been discovered in the 16th Company, Student Training Regiment. He is Candidate Vernon Le Crone, who took to the pen when he was eight years old and a third grader in school.
As a high school senior, Le Crone was elected to the year book staff and detailed to caricature member of his class. In the spring of 1945 he cut short his pre-medical training at the University of California and joined the Merchant Marine, eventually being assigned to a tanker carrying high octane gasoline to the Pacific bases.
After a year with the Merchant Marine, Le Crone again took up his pen for a West Coast syndicate which supplies over 400 small newspapers with weekly spot cartoons. But later on, for signed up for the Army and was assigned to the field artillery. He is now a member of AOCC No. 8.

An example of Le Crone's pen work may be found in this issue of The Bayonet on the editorial page.

Sarge: "The same as you boys, but I don't lie about it."

World War II might have ended differently, the article speculated, if strategic bombardment by an air force capable of sustained independent action had been understood by the Nazis. Their mistake, it said, was to gear the German air force to the lywheal of the Wehrmacht, thereby producing no more than the third dimension of a blitz campaign.
Had Ample Warning
The Luftwaffe marshal, Hermann Goering, had ample warning that he could not conquer Britain from the sky with the plan he was following, General Spatz said, but the Nazis continued a misguided battle which tumbled their greatest opportunity for a quick end to the European war.

Hospital Patients Guests At Gala Fair; Auction Featured

Complete with a carnival atmosphere and colorful decorations, a County Fair was the entertainment arranged for the patients of the Station hospital recently in the Red Cross recreation hall. The event was one of the regular weekly Tuesday night parties presented by the Red Cross recreation workers with hostesses from the Ninth Street U. S. O. in Columbus attending.

Vari-colored streamers and colorful booths were set up and various concessions permitted each man to try his luck and skill and collect his winnings. Particularly popular was the Chuck Wagon where cokes and pop corn were served. Climax of the evening was the old-fashioned auction carried out with the scrip winnings from the chance booths. Sgt. Elien Maxwell served as auctioneer for the various articles offered and carried his job out in the true "hit parade" style. Patients in charge of the various booths were Pfc. Walter Leveon, Corbett Watt, Pvt. Sam Freeman and Pvt. Melton Faunon. Red Cross Workers responsible for planning the Fair were Miss Anette Levine and Miss Ann Swanson.

Prior to the Tuesday and Friday parties, patients assist in decorating and planning activities that include men in wheel chairs, on crutches or nearly ready for discharge. Even bed patients are given an opportunity to participate in the program and for the Fair, women on the Dependents' Ward were able to make bean bags for the "bean the man" booth.

Farewell Event For Mitchells

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clair B. Mitchell were guests of honor at a farewell party for them Saturday evening at the Officers' club. Officers of the Tactical Section of The Infantry School sponsored the delightful formal dinner-dance affair.

Twin silver cigarette boxes were presented to the honorees by the 42 guests and Maj. and Mrs. Charles J. Parziale made arrangements for the event.

Other special guests at the gala party were Col. and Mrs. Douglas Suggs, Col. and Mrs. Paul Cooper and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph Dalton.

Parties For Guest

A houseguest at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. R. Cole is Mrs. J. W. Walker of Fayetteville, Ark., the mother of Mrs. Cole. During her visit Mrs. Walker has been honored at several dinners and cocktail parties.

Mrs. L. Colonel and Mrs. Cole will leave with Mrs. Walker for a visit to Arkansas and Texas on a 30-day leave.

RC Worker, Maj. Coleman To Take Vows

Announcement was made Sunday of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eloise Wrye of Columbus to Maj. Carl H. Coleman of Fort Benning and Ashland, O.

Miss Wrye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Wrye, is now employed by the Red Cross at Fort Benning.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Coleman of Ashland, O., and was graduated from Ashland college. He has been assigned to the Tactical Section, The Infantry School, for the past three years.

May 31 has been set as the date for the wedding to be held at the First Baptist church with Dr. Frederick S. Porter officiating.

New Officers Named By P-TA

Mrs. Albert Haley was named president of the Children's school P-TA association at the April meeting of the group, and installation of the new officers will be held May 22, it was announced by Mrs. Robert N. Skaggs, retiring president.

Mrs. Frederic Bull was named vice-president, Mrs. George Colvin became secretary and Mrs. Ralph Tolve was elected treasurer at the meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Hobbs of Cataula, Ga., president of the fifth district of the P-TA, will install the new officers at the May meeting in the Children's school auditorium. The installation will be held at 3 p. m. and will be open to the public.

Formal Party For Visitor

Miss Annie Hicks and Miss Kathryn Waldrop of LaGrange, Ga., houseguests at the quarters of Capt. and Mrs. J. A. Radcliff last week end, were the guests of honor at a formal dinner party given by the hosts Saturday evening at the Officers' Club.

Miss Waldrop is the sister of Mrs. Radcliff.

Preceding the dinner, aperitifs were served to the guests at the quarters of Captain and Mrs. Radcliff and the charming hostesses decorated her home with lovely spring flowers.

In addition to the honorees and the hosts, guests for the party were Maj. Pearson Yeager and Lt. Milton Hamilton.

Ladies Win Trophies For Top Scores In Season Of Bowling

Mrs. Elvin A. Kreilick and Mrs. Roy E. Gray were Wednesday declared the champion bowlers of the Fort Benning Women's club as the bowling group completed a highly successful year and trophies were awarded to the two top scorers in the advanced and intermediate classes.

Mrs. Kreilick, bowling in the advanced class, scored an average of 542 for the season while Mrs. Gray, in the intermediate class, won her trophy with an average of 341.

Mrs. John W. O'Daniel, honorary president of the Women's club, made the presentation of the trophies which will be their for permanent possession. The trophies are decorated with the figure of a woman bowler on the top of each one.

In addition to the trophies, the names of the two winners will be engraved on a cup to be kept as a permanent possession of the Women's club.

The bowling group, under the direction of Mrs. John R. Grollemond, started activity November 6 and has continued activity steadily throughout the year with meetings each Wednesday morning at 9:30 in the Post Bowling Alley.

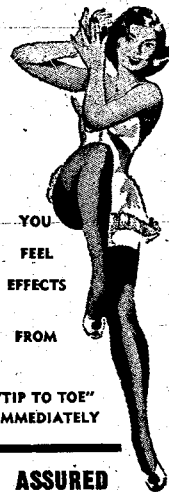

Serving with Mrs. Grollemond on the committee in charge of this activity have been Mesdames Marshall Bueck, George Kealey, Elvin A. Kreilick and Curtis Markland.

In addition to the award of the 16-inch trophies Wednesday, monthly prizes have been awarded regularly for the high scores averaged and ladies in charge have expressed sincere thanks to everyone concerned for the donation of the monthly prizes.

The group, which was a new activity this year, also has expressed appreciation for the fine cooperation of M. M. Maciejowski who is in charge of the Post Bowling Alley. The ladies have felt that the assistance of the retired Technical Sergeant has been invaluable to the progress of their busy program.

Colorful Lunch Held For Guests At Horseshow

As part of the colorful events of the horseshow last week, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frederick E. Weber entertained with an interesting luncheon party Sunday at the Officers' Club.

Mrs. Weber decorated the luncheon table with a clever arrangement of China horses and spring flowers to carry out the theme of the spring horseshow.

Guests were served cocktails at the Weber's quarters before the luncheon.

Attending the event were Dr. and Mrs. Urton Munn of Atlanta, who were weekend guests at the Weber quarters; Col. and Mrs. James Callicut of Fort Bragg, N. C.; Mrs. David H. Hedeikin of Atlanta; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wesley U. Moran; Lt. Walter D. Frederick; Lt. Weber Jr.; Miss Katherine Weber and the hosts.

Dr. Munn placed first in the working hunter class at the horseshow on his mount "Ballot King." Colonel Callicut and Mrs. Hedeikin were both judges for the show and Miss Katherine Weber, daughter of the hosts, was a silver cup for her performance on "Reno Reed" in the children's jumping class.

Johnsons Hold Aperitif Party

Friends of Col. and Mrs. Walter Johnson were entertained at a delightful cocktail party at the Johnson's quarters Friday afternoon from 5 to 7 p. m.

The gracious hosts decorated her home with an attractive arrangement of pink dogwood in crystal bowls and blue candles in crystal candelabra for the gala occasion and aperitifs and canapés were served to approximately 45 guests.

General Visits Here

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Philip E. Gallagher were visitors on the Post earlier this week. General Gallagher is well remembered here as the former commandant of the 35th Combat Team.

The couple stopped here for a visit on their way to a new assignment in Europe. They stayed in the Ralston hotel but visited many friends on the Post.

Personals

As a farewell party to honor several officers and their wives who will soon be leaving for duty overseas, officers of the 502nd Tactical Control Detachment held a dinner party Friday evening at the Officers' Club at Fort Benning.

The party was held in the Palm Room and the officers being honored were Capt. W. Trammel, Lt. John F. Fugus, Lt. James S. Jourdan and Lt. Irving C. Taylor.

Mrs. Nora Reynolds arrived here last week to visit at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edgar O. Hobbs. She is the wife of the late Col. Cecil Reynolds. The charming guest is from Indianapolis, Ind., and is an old friend of Colonel and Mrs. Hobbs. She stopped here during a visit in the South.

Newcomers in Post quarters but old-timers here in service are T-Sgt. and Mrs. Morris A. Bonifay at 2611-D Linskey. With their two children, a 9-year-old daughter and a 5-year-old son, they have moved here from Columbus. Sergeant Bonifay has been at Fort Benning since he first joined the service three years spent in the European theater.

More than 19 years of army service are on the record of M-Sgt. Benjamin L. Roberts who recently moved to quarters on the post with his wife. The couple moved here from Fort Knox where he has been stationed for the past six years. Sonora, Kentucky, is the home of Sergeant Roberts, and his wife comes from Whitwell, Tenn.

After living in Columbus for after seven months, M-Sgt. and Mrs. Gordon H. Richards have moved to quarters at the post at 2620-C Mullins. Previously the couple were at March Field, Calif., but they both claim Carrollton, Ga., as their home. Sergeant Richards was overseas for about four years during the war.

New occupants of quarters at 2625-C Mullins are T-Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Forsyth who have just moved here after spending Rose and a his months in Columbus. Sergeant Forsyth was stationed at Paramount Studios in Astoria, Ore., as an instructor previous to his duty here and during that time Mrs. Forsyth was in the city of Atlanta, which is their home.

Both Sergeant and Mrs. Forsyth were in South America while he was assigned to duty in Montevideo, Uruguay, for five months.

Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Grover are newcomers to the Post and are living in Columbus. The likable couple came here from Florida after Captain Grover was recalled to active duty at Lawson Field. Mrs. Grover is originally from Lexington, Ky., and Captain Grover is from Panama, C. Z.

Col. and Mrs. M. R. Kammerer of Fort Jackson, S. C., were house guests at the quarters of Col. and Mrs. A. Nichols the past week end. They arrived Tuesday and were entertained at several parties as well as attending the horse show and playing golf.

Col. and Mrs. David Buchanan, with their daughter, Des, were guests here last week end. They came from Maxwell Field, Ala., and they arrived Tuesday and were entertained with friends on the Post. The couple stayed at a hall and their daughter was a houseguest at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. O. O. Wilson.

Newcomers on the post are 1st Sgt. and Mrs. Walter C. Klein who have recently returned from Panama, Canal Zone, where Sergeant Klein has been stationed for the past three years. When he was joined by his wife about a year and a half ago. The couple have been married for about three and a half years and before her marriage, charming Mrs. Klein was a visiting instructor in the town of Owatonna, Minn. During the war, she had the thrilling job of being a witness in New York City.

Sergeant Klein served in Panama throughout the war and on May 2 he will have completed 20 years of Army service. He is now stationed at Fort Benning about two weeks ago after 20-day visit in Owatonna, Minn., and will leave tank quarters at 2619-D, Mullins.

Recently returned is Mrs. C. B. Mitchell who is back from San Francisco, Calif. She spent a year in the West coast where she visited her family and did both ways, very much enjoying the trip.

Charming Miss Janis Adams of Little Rock, Ark., is a houseguest at the quarters of Col. and Mrs. Julian Davton and will be here through May. She is the niece of Mrs. Dayton. She will be remembered by the many friends who met her on her visit here last summer.

Mrs. F. B. Jacobs of Dallas, Texas, is a houseguest at the home of Maj. and Mrs. George Beatty Jr. and will be here for sometime. She is the mother of Mrs. Beatty. Also visiting at the Beatty quarters as houseguests last week end were Mrs. C. Peebbles and her son David Peebbles of Darien, Conn.

Heir Raid

Newcomers to the Post, arriving via the station hospital, include sons born to T-1 and Mrs. Cecil Gordon and Capt. and Mrs. J. Francis on April 15, and a daughter born to M-Sgt. and Mrs. John J. Bresnahan on the same day. On the 16th a son was born to Maj. and Mrs. George Donaldson and on April 17th sons were born to T-Sgt. and Mrs. Wayne Golden and Lt. and Mrs. Alton Odum. T-Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph L. Sokal became the parents of a son on April 19 and on the same day S-Sgt. and Mrs. James M. Storey became the parents of a daughter. Sons were born to S-Sgt. and Mrs. Hammond L. Hutchins and Capt. Frank S. Jackson on April 20. On April 21 a son was born to Col. and Mrs. Bennie Fugh. On April 22 a son and Mrs. James E. Steadman became the parents of a baby boy and on the 24th a daughter was born to Lt. and Mrs. Charles L. Ritter. Sons were born on the 26th to Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Beck and Lt. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connell.

On April 27, a daughter was born to Maj. and Mrs. Ernest K. Hamilton and on the following day Lt. and Mrs. Raymond J. Baber became the parents of a baby girl. Also on the 28th, a son was born to Cpl. and Mrs. Clarence J. Webb and a daughter was born to Pfc. and Mrs. Russell F. Chapman.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SON
Capt. and Mrs. Clarence H. Webb, of 41-A Baker Village, announced the birth on April 28 of son, Eugene L., at the Ft. Benning hospital.

Mrs. Webb is the former Miss Norma Brandeena of Serranzeno, Calif. Corporal Webb's home town is Marion, N. C. and he is assigned to the 16th Troop Carrier Squadron at Lawson Field.

Buffet Lunch Honors Ladies

Mrs. Raymond Faust recently entertained with a buffet luncheon honoring her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fraunhofer of Florida, and Mrs. Howard Coleman who is moving away from the post to Florida.

The delightful luncheon was served on the post of the hostesses' quarters and beautiful arrangements of spring flowers were used on the tables and throughout the house.

Mrs. Batson Feted At Party

Mrs. Stephen R. Batson was a houseguest last week at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Homer Hammond. The gracious guest is the widow of the late Major Batson and was here from her home in Birmingham, Ala.

During her visit, Mrs. Batson was the guest of honor at a lovely dinner party given at the Officers' Club by Maj. and Mrs. Brookner Brady. Places were laid for 10 at the table and Mrs. Brady used tidbits and pantries in an antique silver bowl for decorations.

NCO CLUB ELECTIONS

At a recent election of NCO club officers at Lawson Field, club No. 1 elected: T-Sgt. W. J. Robertson, president and T/Sgt. J. V. Battles, vice-president.

New board members installed were: M/Sgt. C. W. Hargett, F/Sgt. S. M. Renfro and M/Sgt. R. F. Chisolm. Capt. R. B. Overfield is the club custodian and M/Sgt. R. H. Brightwell is the new club steward.

Saturday Event Honors Guests Of Supply Group

Col. and Mrs. T. M. Brinkley were the guests of honor at an interesting formal dinner party and dance at the Officers' Club Saturday evening when officers of the G-4, supply section of The Infantry Center entertained.

Several officers and their wives from each section under the control of G-4 were invited to the party which was given by Capt. Dale A. Emery. These included representatives from the quartermaster, ordnance, signal, engineers, transportation, maintenance, ammunition and medical sections.

Mrs. Emery decorated the table set for 55 guests with lovely cut flowers, featuring gladioli and iris.

Farewell Event For Officers

Officers of the 502nd Tactical Control Detachment held a gala dinner party Friday evening at the Officers' Club to honor four officers and their wives who will soon be leaving for duty overseas.

The event was held in the Palm Room and those being honored were Capt. and Mrs. W. Trammel, Lt. and Mrs. John F. Byus, Lt. and Mrs. Lionel S. Jourdan and Lt. and Mrs. Irving C. Taylor.

STR Ladies Arrange Lunch For Tuesday

With a circus theme in the decorations, wives of the officers of the Student Training Regiment will hold their regular regimental luncheon next Tuesday at the Officers' Club with ladies of the Second Battalion as hostesses.

Mrs. W. C. Beuchler will be chairman of the event and other ladies serving on the committee will be Mrs. E. T. Epperson and Mrs. Robert Eikenberry.

As a special attraction for the event, Mr. Rex Lavender will sing and Mrs. Jack Gaylord will accompany him at the piano. Monday will be the deadline for reservations or cancellations for the luncheon to be held at 1 p. m. on May 6. Reservations can be arranged by calling Mrs. Beuchler at extension 2855. Wives of officers of the Airborne Battalion of the STR are also invited to the luncheon.

Infantry Man On Honeymoon In Nicaragua

Of interest to his friends here is the wedding of Lt. Alexander Robert McBirney and the former Miss Carmen Silva of San Francisco, Calif. The couple were wed in the Presidio chapel in San Francisco.

Following a reception, the couple left for a trip to Mexico City, Guatemala and Nicaragua. They will spend sometime in Managua, Nicaragua, where they will be guests of President Anastasio Somoza, whose son, Major Somoza, was a classmate of the groom at West Point.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Astrid Silva of San Francisco and will be graduated from the University of California in June. Lieutenant McBirney is the son of Mrs. Clark N. Bailey of San Francisco and was graduated from West Point in 1946. He is now assigned to The Infantry School.

Van Vliets Have Party At Club

Lt. Col. and Mrs. John H. Van Vliet were hosts to an interesting dinner party and dance Wednesday evening at the Officers' club with Maj. and Mrs. W. E. Walters and Maj. and Mrs. Harry C. Brown as guests of honor.

Spring flowers were used as table decorations at the formal event and cocktails were served before dinner.

In addition to the honorees were Maj. and Mrs. George Beatty Jr., and Mrs. F. B. Jacobs of Dallas, Texas, were guests.

Variety Show At Service Club

With Pvt. Jim McConnell as the efficient master of ceremonies, men of Service Club No. 1 entertained Sunday evening with a top-notch variety show headlined by a skit titled "How to Get a Three-Day Pass."

Star of the show was Pvt. George Emch, well-known on the Post for his theatrical work. Others turning in fine performances in the skit were Pvt. Mc-Connell, Pvt. Earl Hammett and Cpl. Mike Shore.

Other acts adding to the variety show included Pvt. Hammett doing Al Jolson songs, Pvt. Jimmy Ward in novelty spoon numbers, tiny Miss Toni Wheels presenting top numbers and songs, Miss Gloria Halprin singing and Miss Sue Fuss in an exhibition waltz by herself and with Sgt. Bob Vorreyer. Pvt. McConnell also sang several numbers in addition to taking care of his job as master of ceremonies.

He was the kind of doctor that diagnose your case by feeling your pulse.

POLE VAULT—Gene Sprague, ex-West Pointer, cleared the bar at eleven feet in the Auburn meet to take third place.

Trackmen Improve

Auburn Meet This Saturday, Coach Hopeful

Coaches Andy Lamar and Francis Naughton are taking the Benning track team back to Auburn this Saturday and they aver that things will be different this time. The Doughboy team will be the fourth participant in a meet that also includes entries from Howard and Maxwell Field, as well as from Auburn, and it will probably be the last warmup before the Third Army meet to be held here at Benning May 11 and 12. Lamar, who has been working in the afternoons to prepare the squad, is confident that the team will make a much better showing than it did three weeks ago, when Auburn rolled up a 68-25 score in taking almost every place in the running events.

At the time the team was barely organized and the men had been practicing on their own time for the most part, the team has shown improvement now, and the runners have been cutting as much as 15 seconds off their previous times. Also, there have been a few additions to the squad since then.

14 Events at Auburn—There will be 14 events at Auburn and Lamar hopes to enter three men in each one, in addition to a mile relay team. Here is the way the running events shape up tentatively.

100-yard dash—Chuck Cole, Cosmo Cutri, and Cal Gray will be the probable Benning entries.

220-yard dash—the same three listed above.

880—Dick Gruenther, Doug Scovill, and Shields.

1-mile—Taylor Baker, William LaRue, and Jessie Underwood.

2-mile—Wahl, Jenkins, and Tucker.

220-yard low hurdles—Ken Nowles and Andy Lamar.

Mile Relay (four men)—Scovill, Cole, Gruenther, Miller, and Lamar.

These listings are not definite and no final decision can be made until Lamar sees the order of events on Saturday. Wahl, Nowles, and Lamar were the only ones to place in the running events for Benning in the last Auburn meet. Wahl took second in the 800, Nowles placed second in the high hurdles, and Lamar took a third in the low hurdles.

La Rue Is New Man—Among the new men out for the team in this group are William La Rue, who ran the mile and two miles in Illinois high school meets, Jessie Underwood, who won the state welterweight Golden Gloves title a few months back, and Bill Miller, ex-Doughboy hooper who only figured to manage the team at first.

In the field events, where the team has shown most of its strength up to now, the same men will be back, as well as some new faces.

The high jumpers will again be Dave Brillhart and Ken Nowles, who finished one and two last time, Nowles tying for second. Brillhart's winning jump was five feet, eleven inches.

Bill Chynoweth will of course be a tower of strength for the Benningites. His magnificent 196-foot heave of the javelin took first place honors against Auburn and he finished second in the shot-put with a toss of 42 feet, 11 1-2 inches.

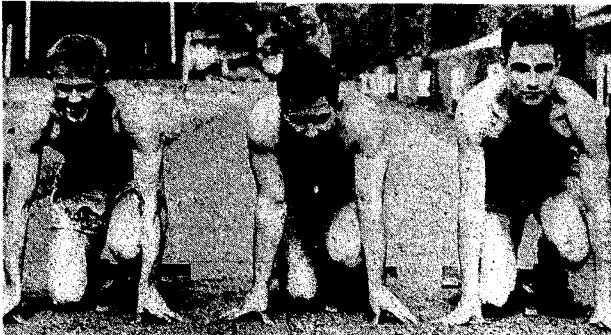

Other javelin throwers will be Dave Gardner, Bill Miller, and Jack Stroud. Ralph Tolve will compete in the discus and shot-put events, and Joseph Zielinske and James Coleman, both of whom placed last time, will throw the discus. Jack Hoefling will be another probable entry in the shot-put event.

Pole vaulters Harold Lutz and Gene Sprague, who placed second and third, respectively, in the April 12 meet, will be entered again, as will Lloyd Watson in the broad jump. He took a third. Cole and Gray will probably broad jump also.

Golf, some pundits has aptly said, is a game in which a little white pill gets chased by a bunch of men who are too old to chase anything else.

COACH—ANDY LAMAR

SPRINTERS—Chuck Cole, Cosmo Cutri, and Cal Gray see the mark. These three Doughboy tracksters will run the short distances, such as the 100, 220, and 440-yard dash, for the Benning team. Cole and Gray are also broad jumpers. (Signal Corps Photo.)

Lawson Tactical Control Group Is 'Guiding Hand' To All Air Course Planes

Predicting the minute the black ominous summer thunderstorms will hit the field and extending a "guiding hand" through rainstorms and fog to lost pilots day or night sounds like a feat from the latest edition of Buck Rogers, but it is the everyday business of the 502 Tactical Control Group at Lawson Field.

Representing one of the latest developments in the fields of radar and communications in the Army Air Forces, the 502nd is currently stationed at Lawson as part of the Advance Ninth Air Force headquarters presenting the Air Indotriation Course.

Plot Thunderstorms
The thunderstorm path-plotting phase of their operations came in a first-hand trial one Sunday recently when a huge black thunderstorm of the spring type that is so common to this section of the country began building up south of the field about mid-afternoon. Reaching the storm would interfere with the landing of several airplanes on routine flights. Ninth Air Force officials asked for a minute-by-minute plot of the storm's path and the appropriate time it could be expected to strike Lawson.

Technicians of the 502nd swung into action and calculated that it would hit the field within 60 minutes. Sixty-two minutes later, the field was engulfed in rain and wind. All aircraft, in the air landed ahead of the initial blast.

But, the major job of the 502nd is the "mothering" of the 200 airplanes employed in each weekly aerial demonstration held in connection with the AIC.

A few Sundays ago, which is usually a day off for all personnel, Capt. E. M. R. Olsen, 502nd Group Operations Officer, had a handful of green trainees on duty teaching them the rudiments of the complicated control center.

Jets in Trouble
Suddenly six jet-propelled FP-80 "Shooting Stars" called FP-80 and reported they were in flight to Lawson from Shaw Field, S. C., and bucking headwinds with the fuel supply getting low.

Captain Olsen, a veteran AAF communications officer with a long tour of duty in the C-B-1 theater during the war, swung into action and guided the nine-mile-per-minute FP-80s into Lawson with enough fuel for only minutes remaining in their tanks.

Realizing the importance of fast communications in modern aerial warfare, Ninth Air Force officials have allocated approximately one-third of the entire Air Indotriation Course to the 502nd for teaching and instruction of the student officers.

Co. A, 37th Small Bore Rifle Champs

Company A, 37th Infantry Regiment, became the post small bore rifle champions recently when they edged out the Third Student Training Regiment by a score of 1,536 to 1,521. Pfc. William Dowell stood out in the final match with a high score of 176.

Several weeks ago the 37th Infantry sponsored a small bore rifle tournament between its seven companies. A playoff was necessary when Company A and Headquarters, First Battalion, both headed the list with five wins and a tie. Company A took the match with a score of 774 to 703 to become the 37th in the School Troops matches.

From then on Company A trimmed all comers, defeating the 501st Airborne Battalion 1,479 to 1,389, the 756th Tank Battalion 1,522 to 1,395 and the 83rd Field Artillery 1,532 to 1,362 to win the School Troops crown.

STR Lost Match
After defeating the 28th Infantry 768 to 763, Company A met the Student Training Regiment for the post championship. After the prone heat, STR was leading by six points. In the standing heat, Company A came out 21 points to win 1,536 to 1,521.

The championship team was managed and coached by 2d Sgt. Ferdinand L. Eysel, who fired a possible ding one of the matches. Sergeant Eysel earned a medal on the Distinguished Rifle Marksmanship Award in the annual 30 caliber rifle 21 Matches at Fort Weaver, T. H., in 1940. He also holds a medal for

Distinction Abolished in Officer, EM Burials

In accordance with a directive issued today by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, no distinction will be made in location of graves and burial facilities for deceased officers and enlisted men in new sections of national cemeteries. The policy of providing uniform burial facilities without distinction as to rank or race of deceased will be effected progressively as new sections are laid out. Burials in remaining grave sites of established sections of national cemeteries will continue under present policies until these sections are filled.

Because of the large number of veterans now entitled to burial in national cemeteries, a material expansion of cemeterial facilities has become necessary. For the present, this will be accomplished largely through the establishment of new sections in existing national cemeteries. Post sections will be authorized in national cemeteries to serve nearby garrisons where it is impracticable to establish cemeteries within the military posts.

Big Lost-Found Office Operated in Germany

BERLIN—(APPS)—The biggest toy and found department in history, operated by the Allies in Germany, handles everything from a soap factory to a shipment of glass eyes.

Property control branches of the four military governments have located and are administering thousands of properties within Germany for their rightful owners.

Some 500 inquiries reach the property control offices each month. Americans and Germans who were forced by the Nazis to sell their property under duress are among the claimants.

Properties in temporary custody of the American Military Government alone, and claimed by nationals other than German, now number close to 10,000.

An optical company in New Zealand recently inquired about a shipment of glass eyes which it had ordered from a German firm before the war.

Airborne Slaps ISD Off Contender Spot

Troopers Score 10-5 Triumph In Crucial Game

Leaving no doubt as to which had the better team, the Airborne Battalion eliminated the ISD from a contender's position last Saturday with a smashing six-triumph. Gowdy Field was three-quarters filled for the crucial game, which was the second of the season between the two clubs.

Taking advantage of two ISD errors to score six unearned runs, the paratroopers came through with his just when they needed them, something the Profs were unable to do. They hit Lefty Lehner for ten hits in all, and played steady ball in the field, committing only two errors.

Dick Gearhart became the first pitcher on the post to win four games with a neat six-hit job, three of which came in the seventh inning, when the ISDs put on a belated two-run rally. Gearhart only racked up three strikeouts, but the Profs found it difficult to hit for him for consecutive safe blows.

The first two ISD runs were unearned and were scored without the aid of a hit. Blondy Burnett got two of his team's six hits, as did third baseman Bob Johnson who tripled and singled off Gearhart. Burt got the only other extra-base hit, a double.

Big Day for Dooley
Floyd Dooley had a big day at the bat, collecting three of the Airborne's ten singles. Ralph Terry and Frank McGowan each got two.

Right field was a sore spot for Chick Shiver, as two different players made three-base errors out there, one of them coming at a very inopportune time. First like Silcox dropped Dooley's long drive to right center in the third, but Lehner here down and struck out the next two batters.

Shiver took Silcox out in the fourth and replaced him with Junior Wilson. The first ball hit to him was Bonair's fly that innung with the bases loaded. Wilson mishugged it at first, but then went back and had the ball bounce off his glove, allowing three runs to score. Bonair was cut down at the plate trying to score on the error.

The Airborne's first three runs came in the opening stanza, starting when Johnson mugged up McGowan's ground ball, which should have been the third out. Bonair walked, and Dooley, Gallagher, and Griffin all followed with singles into right field.

3 Runs in Seventh
The final three runs came in the seventh, which Pritchard opened with a walk. He was sacrificed to second, and then Cunningham, Terry, and McGowan slipped run-producing singles.

Pritchard, the Airborne's little second sacker, didn't get any hits, scored two runs, and played a sparkling game in the field.

Cunningham replaced leadoff man George Dickson in center field in the fifth, when Lehner hit the league's leading run-scorer in the head with one of his pitches. It was a slow curve that didn't curve enough.

Monday night the Airborne followed up its ISD victory with its ninth straight triumph, a 15-2 trouncing of the 83rd Field Artillery battalion. They unloaded for seventeen hits against pitchers Kline and Boulogne, smacking three triples and two doubles. Dooley sou. Bonair each hit three-four.

Winning pitcher was Russ Chapman, who only gave up five hits in going the distance for his second victory of the year. He fanned nine.

Vets Favored In Polo Game Here Sunday

What is expected to be the best polo game of the post season will be held this Sunday afternoon, beginning at 4:00 p. m. at French Field.

A veteran team with 12 to 18 years of playing experience will be opposed by a youngsters' team playing with a five goal spot. The veteran 12-goal team (each player being a four-goal man) will be composed of Col. Robert Dulaney, Col. W. W. O'Connor, Col. Joseph Nichols, and Lt. Col. Wesley Moran.

On the young players' team are Major Keith Quill, two goals; Maj. George Beatty Jr., one goal; Maj. Gerry Shea, one goal, and 1st Lt. Barney Hopkins, one goal. The players of the two opposing teams are the best on the post, with Benning's top four playing together under a five goal handicap against the next best four.

Maj. General John W. O'Daniel will be on hand Sunday to award the Commandant's cup to each member of the winning team.

Lawson Tigers Lose

The Lawson Field Tigers lost their third baseball game this season Saturday at Watson Field when the Phoenix City Red Sox pulled away from a tie for a win of 5-4.

Pitching for the Tigers was Nelson Thomas and the catcher was Benjamin Jones. D. Battle, the team's second baseman, hit a homerun.

"Serve women at this bar?" "Nope, ya gotta bring your own."

Hillbilly: "Lindy Lou, if'n you don't bring her a better report card from the third grade, Ah'm gonter divorce ya."

Airborne Leading In League Play

The second round of the first half of league play began with last Saturday's ISD-Airborne game, and the league standings reveal that from here on in it's the Airborne against the field.

Captain Walker's nine has taken care of every team they've faced so far, while its nearest opponents, Lawson Field and the 37th Infantry, have both lost two games. The Airborne meets the Filers for the first time this season Saturday night, and they play the 37th for the second time next Thursday. Victories in these encounters will cinch the first-half flag for the 1946 champions.

The only way any of these two teams can tie the Airborne is by winning those games. Lawson will have two cracks at them and the 37th one. At the same time neither of these teams can afford to lose another game the rest of the season if they entertain any first-place hopes.

League standings remained stationary this week, with the exception of the ISD, which dropped down to fourth place.

Here is the league schedule for this coming week:

(All Games at Gowdy Field)

May 1-5:45	The Airborne	vs.	1290th Eng.
8:15	Lawson Field	vs.	33rd FA Bn.

LOOK FOR 2ND PLACE

ISD Crown Hope Blasted After Airborne Defeat

With most of their hopes for first place finish blasted by the Airborne defeat last Saturday, the ISD Profs are settling down to the next best thing—taking second place.

As of Tuesday morning Chick Shiver's nine was resting in fourth place, peering up at the Airborne behind the 37th Infantry and Lawson Field. The Profs however should rise this week, as games against the Student Training Regiment and the 204th Tractors can be counted on as probable victories.

The playing of shortstop Blondy Burnett, centerfielder Clyde Burt, and Manager Shiver were the only bright spots in the past week for the ISDs. Blondy has a short continues to field his position better than any other shortfielder and managed to garner five more hits in ten times at bat to give him a .515 average, second in the league. His total of seventeen hits tops anyone else.

Burt Still Hitting
Burt is still hitting that long ball. He came through with his third home run of the season against the 37th and knocked out four more safe blows to bring his average to .415. He is one of the most feared batters in the league.

Shiver, playing with a sore hand against the Airborne, is in there fighting all the way. He held the 37th Infantry to two runs in going the seven-inning distance for the first victory of the season, getting two timely singles as well. Two days later he went back to the mound to rescue Wiley Weldon's game against the 756th Tankers.

After a physical examination last week doctors told He Silcox, ISD hurler, that he would have to give up playing baseball if he wanted to be able to life his arm higher than his shoulder at the same time next year. Silcox has a calcium deposit under his right shoulder which has prevented him from throwing the ball. He started in right field against the Airborne, but Shiver removed him quickly. It was demonstrated that he couldn't throw the ball any distance.

Shiver announced that Silcox would stay on with the team as an assistant manager.

328th Stops Artillery Nine In Saturday Tilt

BY GENE DE ALESSI
Vengeful at the defeat received from the Airborne Battalion on the 328th Ordnance nine stopped the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion 10-3 last Saturday night at Gowdy Field. "Noah" Mejia, diminutive right-hander, hurled for the winners.
The lead see-sawed back and forth throughout the first stages of the game and it wasn't until the fifth inning that the 328th took the reins, going ahead 6-3. In the next two innings they tallied five more runs to clinch the game.
Mejia Sparks Club
It was Mejia who sparked the club, putting down 14 Artillery batters via the strike out route. It was his first game of the season and when it was over he admitted that a case of the jitters influenced his twirling in the first two innings.

Mejia looked as smooth as any pitcher in the league and his form was reminiscent of Marino Pieretti, Washington Senators hurler. By virtue of his first appearance victory the chucker has been given a starting berth on the Ordnance pitching staff. Admittedly, the 83rd players are the weak sisters of the league and are easy pickings for most league pitchers, but supporters opine that Mejia will fare as well, if not better, in future contests.

In California the young hurler went up against such notables as Angie Galan, Ray Lamano and Joe Hatton in the winter league season. Hatton once told Mejia that "he should take the game over, about the best the 328th can do is land in third place."
Dick Tinkle, outfielder Bob Glover and "Bo" Boland are other Ordnance players who have been playing good ball.
The 328th Ordnance now rests in fourth place. With the first half of the league play practically over, about the best the 328th can do is land in third place.

As the owl said when his girl friend jilted him: "Aah, who gives a hoot."

Artillerymen Hold Steady To 7th Place

The 83rd FA held steady in seventh place after their most recent seven day campaign, during which stretch they dropped a pair while winning one, bringing their season record up to four wins and six losses.
The Artillerymen victimized the 204th TC Bn, a week ago, in a thriller 7-6. Ed Foltowicz, the Tracker hurler, gave up only a pair of safe blows and fanned 13. Elbert, the Artillery entry, was just about as good. He allowed only four hits, and fanned 12. Most of the runs were scored on errors.

Battered By 328th
Later in the week, the Cannoniers were battered by the 328th and the Airborne, both first division clubs. The Airborne beating on Monday was particularly brutal, the final count being 15-2. The 3rd looked like they might be able to keep it close during the first four stanzas, and were trailing by only three runs at that time. The Troopers landed on Tkac in the fifth, though for eight runs on eight hits and two errors.

Bill Brooks, able 83rd center fielder, kept his average in the upper .300 bracket during the week, adding four hits in 11 at bats to his record.
Tonight at 8:00 p. m. the Cannoniers face the Lawson Field Flyers in Gowdy Field. Sunday they play the 37th, and Monday following Wednesday it's the 756th Tankers.

25th To Participate In Annual Relays

25th Combat Team's Track and Field squad will participate in the 21st annual Tuskegee Institute relays which are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 2 and 3, it was announced Monday by Lt. Lloyd D. Jones, 25th track coach.
Heralded as the mecca of spring athletic events for Negro universities and colleges in the South land, top honors from this yearly event, in past years, have been vied for by some of the greatest athletes in American track and field history, namely: Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette, century and 220-yard dash star and '36 Olympic Games satellite; Ohio State's Jesse Owens, and Tuskegee's Mozelle Wilson.

Lt. Jones stated that he was undecided as to the number of men who will make the trip, but added that training will determine the final decision as to who will perform for the Sand Hill organization.

STR, 1290th Decide Cellar Spot Sunday

Winless STR Has Optimism If Nothing Else

With another disappointing week behind them the still winless, STR's looking forward to the next seven days with considerably more optimism than in recent games. In their last two starts, the opposition was provided by Lawson Field and the 37th Vets, currently running two-three in the standings, and tomorrow night they meet the fourth place ISD Profs, none of which teams the Rifles have the manpower nor the overall strength to compete with on any kind of an even basis.

Sunday, though, starts another week and, as with the optimism is rife, so to speak. The Rifles will engage the 1290th Engineers on that day, a team which is in the same straits as the STR, and has exactly the same record. Consequently, the winner of that match will move out into the cellar, and will have a better than fair chance of staying out, since the first game between the two was postponed and will probably not be replayed, since it will have but little effect in deciding the standings.

Excellent Prospects

The Rifles have excellent prospects of gaining their maiden win in that battle. The STR's front line hurlers, Olivera and Heistand, both have ability, but have been troubled by wildness all year. As a consequence they frequently find themselves behind the count to a batter and are forced to come in with a triple, or walk the man. The result spells runs. Olivera's relief stint against the Vets is a good example. Olivera allowed only two singles in his four-inning stretch, but was touched for three runs, two of them earned.

The hitting has been off and on. Joe Mink, the shortstop, is the only man on the team who has been getting his base knocks with any consistency, and is currently hitting .423. No one else has been able to push over the .300 mark, and, what really hurts, no one has been able to do any hitting with men in scoring position. Against the 83rd FA the Rifles hit safely in every inning, and amassed a total of 12 hits, but were able to score only three times.

Team Uncertain

Defensively, the boys are uncertain, and occasionally run up six or seven errors in a game. But, on the other hand, the STR is one of the very few teams in the league which has played an errorless ball game.

The team has lacked hustle in some of the more recent encounters, which is understandable, since their prospects of winning were slight by any bookie's odds, but with a good shot at a win, the club will probably pep up.

Engineer Club Has Hard Luck In Post League

BY MILT MOSCOWITZ

If any team can qualify as the hard-luck nine of the league, it's the 1290th Engineer club. However, the Engineer baseballers hope to make up for past disappointments on Sunday, when they meet the Student Training Regiment, which also has yet to win its first game.

In their last four games the Engineers have played three extra-inning contests, losing them all in the eighth. In fact, the 1290th has been involved in four of the league's five extra-inning battles.

Teams which have been regarding the 1290th as a punder this past week, found out the hard way that it just wasn't so. A week ago Wednesday the now second-place Lawson Field Blues were two runs down against the Engineers going into the last inning. Paul Long had pitched a good ball for the first five frames, but when he began to weaken in the sixth frame, Ed Davis, a relief pitcher, took over.

The Fliers hit the left-hander pretty hard, and he was relieved by Corvell after he pitched to one batter in the fatal seventh, in which Lawson scored two times to tie up the game. In the eighth Corvell got two out, but walked one batter, who stole second, and came home on Wilson's single. Final score: Engineers, 6; 1290th, 5. Engineers Outclassed

Friday the Engineers were way out of town class when they faced the 37th Vets, who whitewashed them, 6-0, the defeat going to Ramos, who started the game. Ed Davis held the 1290th batters to two hits.

The 1290th faced the 75th Tankers for the second time last Sunday and for the second time they lost out in eight innings, as the Tankers rained out five hits and five runs in the eighth to win, 11-6.

The same fate was on the mound for the Engineers, a right-hander named Bowen, and he will be a welcome relief to the moundsman corps, which has been the team's big headache this season. Again Bowen came on in relief, and the 75th batters seemed to like his pitching. The defeat went to Bowen, who put the seventh run on base.

Making Less Errors

Although the team's infield is still far from all-right, the Engineers have been making less errors in their recent games, committing only one in the 47th tilt. The Clayton-Leitch-Ambrosia outfield is a fine fielding combination.

At the bat, the 1290th continues to be led by Joe Harois, who has been switched to first base. Little Joe is hitting at a .407 clip.

The Engineers, who, incidentally, are moving to the main post this week, can't help but feel confident about Sunday's game with the Student Training Regiment. Tired of being pushed around, they hope to tie into the Rifles for their first league victory.

Here's one game, they say, which won't go into extra innings!

Bullets Stretch Winning Streak To 7 Straight

By ALYSEN E. WISE

Three wins the past week have upped 25th Combat Team's Bullets to seven straight. In 11 games played to date nine contests have been credited against a pair of defeats.

During their regular Wednesday night feature in Gowdy Field, the McGinnis men set back the Georgia-Alabama All Stars 3-5, thus keeping their night game victory march intact. Right-hander Lawrence Hall, veteran 24th roundsman from last year's club, was picked for all five of the opposition's hits in the first four frames, but settled down with able support from his cohorts, subdued the Stars in an orderly manner for the remainder of the game.

Paescs Hitting

The 25th's first sacker, John Brown paced the Bullets' hitting attack with two booming triples and a single in four plate journeys and accounted for five of the runs. Shortstop Gordon Burke homered in the seventh with none on board, and in going the full route struck out four batters.

Bama State College's Hornets were drilled 9 to 1 by the Bullets in the Friday afternoon game in Bullets Field. The centerfielder's Clarence Morris' terrific first-inning four-bagger to left field, with the bases loaded, Morris personally accounted for five of the Bullets' nine tallies, for in the eighth cante, he connected for a triple, and was sent home on Catcher Jimmy Sanders' single.

First Mound Role

David Reed, coach-pitcher, saw his first mound duties of the season for the Bullets. After a troublesome first inning when two walks and two hits gave the Hornets a run, Reed settled down to garner a win.

Shortstop Gordon Burke singled three times in four times at bat and was credited with two runs batted in. Eddie Baldwin, third baseman, and Catcher Jimmy Sanders tallied the two remaining scores.

The 25th observed National Babe Ruth Day at Sand Hill by lambasting the Phenix City Invaders 12 to 1 Sunday afternoon in Bullets Field. Hot corner guard Eddie K. Baldwin blasted a triple and three singles in four trips at bat to spearhead the Bullets, the Sand Hillers' hitting offensive. Gordon Burke singled twice in four allotments, and George Wardell, catcher, connected solidly for a triple. Lloyd L. Letty, Garfield, gave up two hits during his initial assignment of the season.

37th Vets Take 2 Easy League Tilts

The 37th Vets played only two games during the recent week against the 120th Engineers and the STR. Naturally, they won them both, knocking over the 120th 6 to 6 behind Ed Davis three-hit twirling, and beating the STR 9 to 3 on Walt Piebes two-hitter. Piebes had a shutout in sight until he ran into a wild streak in the last two innings.

The wins leave the team situated in second place, half a game ahead of the Lawson Field Flyers, and, with Lawson Field, sharing the distinction of being the only clubs conceded a chance to topple the Airborne.

Next week will probably see either the upsetting of the "Troopers," or will verify for certain an undisputed "championship" for them, and it will also settle the 37th's ham, one way or the other. Tomorrow, the Vets will tangle with the 32nd Airborne, a first-division club, and one that can make trouble for any team. Sunday, the Vets should have an easy time disposing of the 83rd FA, but on Tuesday, they will play severely tested when they play the threatening Lawson Field Flyers. After that—the Airborne. The Vets lost one of their most valuable hired hands, yesterday when Herman Colone was separated from the armed forces and hid himself home. Herman pitched only one game for the Vets early in the season, but that one was a honey. He allowed no hits for 6 1-3 innings, and finally

FIRST TWO TIME WINNER.—Ed Davis, 37th Infantry right hander, gets the sign from the catcher and starts his mad dash. Davis is currently sporting a 2-0 win and lost record, and became the first post league pitcher to win two games when he earned a four hit, 2-1 decision over the 83rd FA on April 12. Dave says his curve ball isn't up to par yet, but expects it to round into shape with the advent of warmer weather. The other clubs in the league are praying for a cool summer.

Truckers Err; Drop 2 More

BY MILK MOSKOWITZ
The 24th Truck Battalion dropped two one-run ball games this week, losing 7-6 to the 83rd Field Artillery and 9-8 to the Lawson Field Flyers.

The Truckers "backed" up their ace pitchers, Polittowicz and Feeler, with their usual support in the field. Making eight errors in the first game and seven in the second. This ran their total to 50 miscues for the season, giving them the worst fielding record in the League.

It was an absolute shame for Ed Polittowicz to lose the 7-6 contest to the 83rd. He gave up only two hits in the seven innings he pitched and should have had a shutout. He had to stand around in the field and watch his teammates kick away their one-run lead, as the 83rd scored two runs with the aid of a hit.

Truckers Handicapped
Of course the Truckers were handicapped by the loss of two players, Dick Kranshaw and Len Maciejewski, and their replacements hardly filled the bill. One of them, Stretchenko, by name, struck out twice and erred on the only two balls hit his way.

And outfielder Norvell, cost time this season by failing to get his bases in coming home in the final inning of a game from second on a single by Polittowicz. In the Airborne game this month Norvell forgot to tag up on a fly ball and then was caught in a run-up between home and third on the next play.

Sunday it was Doyle Feeler who was the victim of his teammates against Lawson Field. A player named Ham was in center field for the Truckers and he allowed two line drives to center to bounce clean over his head for home runs.

Furthermore, the same Ham tripped between third and home after Polittowicz had tripled behind him, costing the Truckers a run and ending the rally that was still going strong.

loosened up in the seventh, permitting 3 hits, all singles and 3 runs, none of them earned, however. He fanned 18 in that contest, which still stands as the record for strikeouts by one pitcher in one game this season.

Then, on Herman's next outing, as relief role, he eliminated the first two batters, one on strikes, and was pitching to the third when something happened in his elbow, and he hasn't been able to throw since. Incidentally, Herman wants it mentioned in print that he is one of the league's leading hitters. He has an average of .500, compiled on 2 hits in four trips to the plate. He scored one run and driven another in. Herman is of the opinion that if he could play every day, he would burn this league up. He plans to sign a Boston Red Sox contract when he gets home, if and when his arm is fully recovered.

Lands Boasts Average
Bob Lands, the center fielder, jacked his average way up in the last week. Land got five consecutive singles in the two games played before he was put out. He scored in three runs and scored two. He's dropped out in front in two. He's average with the club hitting with a .375 average. George Fagan dropped off some to .325, but is still coasting along in second place.

The recent performances of Piebes and Davis have been most heartening. Piebes' hit had at least one umpire blinking, and plenty of the opposition hitters. He has fanned 10, and allowed only 2 earned runs in his last 17 innings.

Davis was complaining of an aching arm after his three hit blanking of the 120th, and is going to have it X-rayed soon to see if there's anything seriously wrong with it.

UNITS REDESIGNATED

The redesignation of the Airborne Regiment May 1 as the Airborne Battalion of the Still Camp Training Regiment has brought about the elimination of Companies I through N and the combination of Service Company with Headquarters Company. Companies A through H will continue as units of the Airborne Battalion.

AOC No. 5 Wins In Opening Game

Bickley's Bombers of AOC No. 5 scored a win in their first softball game of the season by soundly trouncing AOC No. 4, 7 to 13. The game started explosively as the Class 5 men pushed across four runs in the first inning. Cross led off with a hit, followed by a walk for Simon. Pagan then filled the bases and Baker socked a single to drive in the first run. Shepard later climaxed the inning with a run-producing single. Class 5 added two more tallies in the second on a walk by Gustafson and successive hits by Simon and Pagan. In this inning Class 4 was again scoreless.

The Bombers climaxed their scoring in the third with a walk by Desicciolo and hit by Salvo and Hench. Class 4's big inning came in the last of the fourth when, following two outs, they gathered three walks. Then more came through with a beautiful Texas league single, driving home two runs.

With this victory under his belt, Class 5 is open to all comers. Call Sergeant Cooper, 15th Company, STR, for game arrangements.

Fliers Considered Crown Contenders

The Lawson Field Fliers have, during the past week, quietly moved into a contending position for the baseball crown, with practically no attendant fanfare. Sunday night the Fliers moved into a second place over the 37th Infantry, Vets on the tines on a 9-8 win over the 204th Tn Bn.

Sunday's game was a typical outing for the Fliers. After two games that they have dropped so far have, both been to definite second division class. They have both been lost because of Flier fielding deficiencies. Sunday, faced with the 204th, a club that has won only two games and is a threat only because of its very able pitching staff, the Fliers ran into their old bugaboo, the error.

Overall Picture Changed
Lawson was winning 4 to 0, going into the top of the fifth—but from the fifth on, the overall picture was radically changed. The Trucker scored five times in the fifth on three singles, a triple, and four lawson miscues. The triple, incidentally, didn't figure in the scoring.

But Lawson came right back in their half of the fifth—to talk twice and regain the lead on Forbes' single, Fansler's two-bagger and a Trucker error, the Trucker being even better at the game booting trade than the Fliers.

The spectators had barely had time to ease back in their seats, when the 204th returned to talk back in the sixth and scored two more—aided materially by an error on catcher Lopez, when he dropped the ball after tagging a runner out at the plate. Score—7-6, Trucker.

The by now exasperated Fliers didn't waste any time regaining their edge. They pushed three runs across in their half of the inning on a triple by Forbes, a double by Krebs, singles by Baker and Wilson, and two more Trucker errors at the wrong times.

Horton Scores Lopez
The people started to leave, then, and it looked like they were justified when the first two right hitters provided out, but there was more to come. Lopez drew a walk, Forbes hobbled, Morgan's slow roller to short, Lopez going all the way around to third. Then Horton, who bats cross-handed, stepped to the plate and promptly singled through the box, scoring Lopez and sending the tying run around to third. Proctor, the catcher, boasting a hit in each of his three previous trips to the plate, came to bat and ended it all with a roller to Forbes.

Defensively the game was no novelty to the Fliers. They have amassed a total of 38 errors in

RUN PRODUCER—Long Frank Wilson, Lawson Field first baseman, is leading his team in both run-producing departments: 81 ten runs scored, and six driven in, both top teammate Jack Forbes' total by one. Wilson's nine safe blows have been good for fourteen total bases, and include a triple and a homer. His .333 bat mark is fifth best on the club. Wilson is one of those so-called rattles, inasmuch as he throws lefthanded and bats right. (AAF Photo.)

eight games, which, as the reader has probably already calculated, is slightly less than five per game. Wallet Has Good Record
The pitching, which one would expect to suffer under this type of treatment, has, instead, thrived. Wallet and Fray have borne most of the pitching load. Wallet left pitching two and 2-3 innings and Fray handling an even 20. Wallet has the better record, three wins against one loss, one of his wins coming when he replaced Blake in an overtime game, means anything. Fray has an ERA of 0.83 and Wallet's is 1.00 on the nose. Fray has given up 15 hits in his terms of duty and Wallet has allowed 24. Both have shown good control, each walking only 6, and neither has shown much inclination to throw strikeout ball. Wallet has a slight edge in that department, 15 to 14. The only shutout, however, was cast by neither of the more prominent pitchers, but by Blake. He blanked the 204th Trucker on three scattered singles early in the season.

Fliers Batting .270
Recent figures show that the team hitting has been all that could be asked for. The Fliers are batting .270 on 61 hits, good for 52 total bases, and have scored 52 times. Individually, Smith still leads the team, although he has slipped slightly in recent games. He is now hitting .400 on the nose with 10 hits in 25 trips. But in Wilson has pushed to the front. Wilson is hitting .333, a figure from which he has never varied.

since the first week of play, has scored 10 runs to lead the team in that department and has driven to 400 last Sunday, but has been at bat ten times less than Smith. Fansler, a power boy, has scored six runs and has driven in five.

Has Field Day
Forbes had a field day Sunday getting three for three, including a triple, raising his average to .360. He committed two errors on the field, but more than made up for them with a pair of sparkling plays. Once he went into short left field to scoop up a hard-hit ground ball and throw the runner out, and another time, roving over behind second to rob Welch of what looked like a sure

This week will probably decide where the club will wind up in the final standings. Tonight they go against the 83rd FA, the team which handed them one of their early season defeats. Saturday, it's the league leading Airborne Battalion, and the following Tuesday, the 37th Vets, with whom they are currently deadlocked in second place. All the games will start at 8:15.

Benning Midgets To Play Sunday
Sunday afternoon, after the completion of the SFB-129th game, the Fort Benning Midgets, Benning's junior legion representative, will play the Columbus Merchants at Gowdy Field.

The Midgets have a record of 1 win and 2 losses so far, but their only win coming at the expense of the Merchants, Sunday's opponent. The Midgets dropped their last game to the Columbus Sports Shop last Sunday, 12 to 4. Saunders, Midgets' second baseman, sparked in defeat, singling three times in four trips to the plate. The lineup for Sunday: Hobbs, ss, Coffey, 2b, Saunders, 2b, Burman, c, Suggs, 1f, Satter, cf, Godfrey, p, Sumners, 1b, and Seitz, 3b.

Medicos May Apply For RA Until July 31

The War Department announced today that applications from certain types of medical personnel for regular army commissions would be received for an additional three-months period—beginning May 1 and ending July 31. The original deadline for applications under the regular Army integration program of 1947 had passed on January 15 of this year.

The additional application period was announced in an effort to obtain more medical candidates for regular Army commissions. The first increment of officers brought into the Army in 1947 contained far below the desired proportion of medical officers.

Applicants are limited to medical officers now on active duty and former medical officers of World War II who are or have been qualified by the above-named specialties. Persons interested were invited to forward applications to the Adjutant General, Attention: G-2, Washington 25, D. C., or (in the case of officers now on active duty) through military channels to the adjutant general.

AA Group Invites Post Personnel

Alcoholics at Fort Benning may now call 3111 from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. Monday through Saturday, it was announced today by a Fort Benning member of the Columbus group of Alcoholics Anonymous.

There are in addition two telephone numbers in Columbus which may be called during the evenings, 9146 or 3-8014. Alcoholics Anonymous hold open meetings every Monday at 8 p. m. in its clubroom next to the Balston hotel—in the building formerly occupied by the GFA. The Monday evening meeting is open to all alcoholics, their families, and the interested public.

A closed meeting is held each Thursday at 8 p. m. At that time only members are permitted to attend.

A Fort Benning spokesman for Alcoholics Anonymous said that the organization can help only those who have a sincere desire to stop drinking.

Ladies Pair Off For Flag Tourney

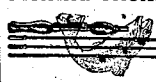

Ladies of the Women's Golf club will play a flag tournament Friday, May 2, and a feature of the day's program will be a "bring your own" lunch party at noon in the club house.

Pairings have been made, and it has been requested that the first member of each foursome contact the other members of the individual group to arrange for a starting time.

The groups for the 18-hole play are as follows:
1. O'Mohandre, Remus, McDaniel, and Buckland, 2. Holton, Beckner, Coffey, and Hungate, 3. Howard, Peters, Curless, and Landon, 4. Paulus, Chapman, Edris, and Meyer, 5. Robertson, Kelly, Goss, and Duncan, 6. Brann and Burns, 7. Brown, Hill, Evans, and Hayerart.

Groups for the 9-hole play are as follows:
1. Christburg, Freudentorf, and Welf, 2. Chapman and Paddock, 3. Gardner and Burruss.

Tankers Split Pair, Look Bad In Field

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ

The 756th Tankers maintained their .500 average in this week's play, winning one and losing one, but looked bad in both contests. Despite frequent changes in the lineup Manager Ken Watts can not find a combination that plays good ball in the field. Making 14 errors in their two games this week, the Tankers dropped an 11-2 contest to the 152D and almost kicked away a game Sunday to the last-place 1590th Engineers, winning out finally in extra innings, 11-8.

Watts Believed

Left-hander Watts started both games, being relieved by Hulbert Martin in the 152D tilt and joining the engineering distance against the Engineers. The manager's record now is two won and two lost. Ken has an especially good day at the bat Sunday, hitting a double and a home run in his first frame, in which the Engineers put on a five-run two out rally.

Only three of the runs were actually driven in, the rest coming across on passed balls and stolen bases. This doesn't speak too well for the Tankers' catcher, Modin, who was playing his first game behind the plate for the 756th. After Harpole stole home from third for the sixth time, Ben Bartosek to the backstop position.

This five-run outburst put the 1520th three runs out in front, but the Tankers tied it up in the sixth and exploded for five hits and five runs in the eighth to sew up the game.

Leads Batting
Ben Bartosek, who left the backstop position for the first time to play four innings at third base Sunday, still leads the club in batting, with a .462 mark. He has 12 hits and is the fourth leading hitter in the league.

To Paul Dacklin, Tanker left-fielder, goes the dubious honor of being the first player to be thrown out of a game this season. In the eighth inning of Sunday's ball game Dacklin was on second base when Jameson hit a bouncer in front of the fielder before the ball reached him, waving his arms frantically. The base umpire, Tillman, immediately called Dacklin out for interfering with the shortstop.

The 756th outfielder became excited in protesting the decision and grabbed Tillman by the shoulder as he was walking away. Chief Umpire Watts waved Dacklin out of the game, telling him to leave the field as well.

Capt. Stivers Leaves For Washington Post

Capt. Lallah C. Stivers, Infantry Center Personal Affairs officer and Army Counselor, has been assigned to duty in Washington with the Inter-American Defense Board of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. Captain Stivers left Fort Benning Wednesday for her new post building. She has been replaced by Capt. Hannah J. Ashby, former assistant adjutant of the post. Fort Benning Captain Ashby is also commanding officer of the WAC detachment.

British, Canadian Armed Forces Cut

LONDON — (APFS) — Canada and Great Britain are reducing their armed forces in compliance with new budget cuts for the fiscal year 1947-48. The Admiralty announced a 60 per cent reduction in the ranks of the Royal Navy, a drop from 492,800 to 192,000 men. Canada has cut her defense budget 52 per cent.

Britain's Army will be reduced to 1,210,000 from the 2,950,000 figure of 1946. Air Corps personnel will be reduced from 760,000 men in 1946 to 370,000 for the next fiscal year.

92 AWARDS IN AOC'S
A recent survey in AOCC No. 8 of the Student Training Regiment revealed 92 "correct" candidates holding 92 awards and decorations.

Breakdown figures indicated seven Distinguished Service Crosses, seven Silver Star Medals, five Bronze Star Medals, one Legion of Merit, nine Purple Hearts, 11 Good Conduct Medals, 24 Distinguished Unit Badges (Army), one Navy Badge and three Air Medals.

KEEPS OUTSTANDING BANNER

Having managed to keep the Outstanding Banner five out of the seven weeks, E Company of the Airborne Battalion was highly complimented last week by Col. Roy Lindquist upon the occasion of the graduation of Class B-25 and Officers Class No. 7 in basic airborne training. The company also boasts of no jump refusals and no jump injuries during the training period.

able and a home run in his first frame, in which the Engineers put on a five-run two out rally.

Only three of the runs were actually driven in, the rest coming across on passed balls and stolen bases. This doesn't speak too well for the Tankers' catcher, Modin, who was playing his first game behind the plate for the 756th. After Harpole stole home from third for the sixth time, Ben Bartosek to the backstop position.

'Sunfast Jamaica' Scores Top Points In Spring Horse Show

As the climax of the 23rd horse-show of The Infantry School Stables, "Sunfast Jamaica" with a total of 39 points, was named grand champion of the show, and Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel awarded the blue ribbon to the winner.

As a close second, "Reno Hastings," with 38 points, was named the reserve champion at the highly successful exhibit which was divided into three sessions Saturday and Sunday in Campbell King horse show bowl. Classes showing were hunters, polo ponies, jumpers, hacks and equitation, and the attractions included exhibition jumps and drills. Lt. Col. Jacob R. Moon's "Blue Point," ridden by Capt. Frank L. Lillyman, presented a fine jumping show as the 21-year-old mare covered a complex course without a blemish. The mare has contributed more championship, reserve championship and first-place ribbons to the horse show trophies of The Infantry School than any other horse.

'Short Sadness' Jumps
From the Infantry Stable, "Short Sadness," with Capt. Marshall E. Bullock riding, gave an exhibition of high jumping over two five-foot triple bar jumps.

The Pensacola Cup was awarded to Lt. Robert Cas, riding "Sil Milton." Other awards in this class went to Lt. C. H. Dalton III on "Commack," Miss Elizabeth W. Clark on "Reno Jason" and Capt. Bullock on "Short Sadness."

Miss Katharine Weber won the children's jumping class on "Reno Reed" and the other places went to Lt. George Patton on "Geech," Lt. George Hopkins on "Tink" and Lt. Col. Richard G. Collins on "Bad Boy."

First place in the polo bending race went to Capt. Frank L. Lillyman on "Coo Pony" with other places taken by Lt. George Patton on "Geech," Lt. George Hopkins on "Tink" and Lt. Col. Richard G. Collins on "Bad Boy."

The fault and out class was won by Lt. Tom Kier on "Sil Milton." In second was Lt. William Abby on "Tegu Oak" and other awards in other years to Capt. Roy A. McDonald on "Waco" and Capt. C. Burgess on "Commack."

Driving "Way of Sunburst" owned by Lt. H. Averitt. Mrs. Ruth King placed first in the five harness class which was open to civilian entries. Other awards went to Dr. J. R. Miller driving "Geddes Princess," E. E. Goss with "Fashion Silhouette" and Mary Lee Northing with "Dare McDonald" owned by Charlie Fox.

Dr. Uton R. Minn of Atlanta placed first in the driving harness class on "Battol King." Second was "Sunfast Jamaica" and "Reno Hastings." Other awards went to Dr. J. R. Miller driving "Geddes Princess," E. E. Goss with "Fashion Silhouette," and "Dare McDonald" owned by Charlie Fox.

Joe Wilson riding "Fritz D" placed first in the children's horse class which was judged on performance of riders alone. Other awards were to Bobby Freund on "Brevity," Dick Buggs on "Three Foes" and Katharine Weber on "Reno Lake."

"Sunfast Jamaica," ridden by Major Beatty, placed first in the open hunter's class in the Saturday show. Other awards in the class were to "Reno Hastings," Col. J. L. Hinchings on "Sil Milton," Lt. John G. Hill, and "Commack," Lt. Col. E. Curtis.

In the novice officer's horsemanship class, first place went to Lt. Col. G. T. Brown on "Gene Away." Other awards were to Lt. Col. C. L. Woodruff, "Tommy," Lt. E. E. Hilo, "Reno Hastings" and Lt. Francis Baker, "Phantom Gold."

In the open five-gaited saddle horse class, Miss Catharine Williams, riding her own horse, "Good Gracious," won. Also placing were "Way of Sunburst" owned and ridden by Lt. H. Averitt, "Dare McDonald," ridden and owned by Charlie Fox, and "Gene Away," ridden by E. E. Goss and owned by the Greens.

In the ladies handicapped jumping class, "Brady," carrying Mrs. Edna Watkins, placed first. In second was "Light Tall," Miss Evelyn Hester, third "Waco," Mrs. Miss Jodie Stewart, and fourth, "Brevity," Miss Connie Freund.

In the novice ladies hacks, Miss Bracey Hess placed first on "McBurt." Other riders taking awards were Miss Sarah Twigg on "Jimmie," Mrs. Verna Williams on "Bud," and Mrs. Erwin Nilsson on "Badger."

Major Beatty on "Sunfast Jamaica" won the horse activity promotion trophy which the greens committee awarded the promotion of horse activities during the past year. Other winners were Miss Madge Barclay on "Tommy," Miss Edna Watkins on "Blue Point," Lt. John G. Hill, Col. F. R. Weber on "Reno Hastings," Lt. Col. J. L. Hinchings on "Blue Point," and "White Bag," ridden by Lt. Tom Kier.

In the Saturday afternoon show, a perfect score in the qualified Men's jumping class gave P. C. Chas. Smith first spot, went to Col. John McNeill on "Sil Milton."

Fair jumping honors went to Maj. Beatty on "Jamaica Ginger," and Miss Madge Barclay on "Tommy."

Special features included Miss Barclay jumping "Blue Point" without a blemish and the children's drill team. In the latter event, all participants were under 17 years of age.

Miss Barbara Skaggs on "Rabbit Ear" took the children's hand-and-seat honors with Billy Weber, Jr. on "Reno Reed" in second and Miss June O'Mahondro on "Macbeth," third.

Judges for the show were Col. David A. Buchanan, Maxwell Gierda, Ala., Col. James Callico, Fort Bragg, N. C., Miss David H. Heddeth, Atlanta, and Ben Hardaway Jr., Columbus.

Lt. Col. G. C. Wilson was master of ceremonies and Lt. Gene H. Barrett was master. Official veterinarians were Col. E. VanVyl.

More farewells are being said this week over in the 37th Infantry. This time it's Herman Colone who is taking his leave of the ball team and the Army. You may not remember him. He whipped the 57th, 13 to 3, allowing only 3 hits, all of them in the final inning, and struck out 15 for a record that still stands this year—the most strikeouts by one pitcher in one game. None of the runs off him were earned, incidentally.

Herman hurt his arm in his next turn on the mound and hasn't been able to throw since, a fact which has sorely handicapped the Vets in a couple of ball games, but he remained with the team in an advisory capacity, until yesterday when he left for home.

Home for Herranz is upstate New York. When he was asked where in upstate N. Y., Herman just laughed airily and said, "What does it matter? Just mention my name, they all know me."

We finally talked the name out of him by promising to say something nice in the paper. He lives in Rosanda, N. Y. Colone plans to sign a Boston Red Sox contract as soon as his arm has healed, and expects to do his first swing in his home town where the Sox have a farm club. Keep your eyes open for that name—Colone—because Herman'll be up there.

Let us all bow our heads in a moment of silent prayer for the evidently ill-fated N. Y. Giants, which team ace prognosticator, Milt Moskowitz, has predicted will win the N. L. flag. When last seen the Giant were engaged in a death duel with the St. Louis Cards to decide just who was to remain in last place.

I expect that by the time you see this the Cubs will have whipped the Dodgers three times to assume that league leadership. Everything is pointing that way.

In Beening's post league, another notable trip was added last week, with a Black Sox veteran outfielder of the 1946 Tankers, became the first player to be elected first base by the umpires. Dacklin was adjudged by Umpire Wittman to have interfered with the runner stop while he was presumably running from second to third. He was promptly ejected and upon learning for what protested so violently that he was removed from the field.

Tom Gallagher, Airborne catcher, has now hit safely in 7 consecutive games. He missed two games because of an injury a couple of weeks ago, but has hit safely at least once in every contest before or since. Paul Bonair, Airborne shortstop, also had a string of seven straight games in which he hit safely, but was stopped by the ISD last Saturday. It didn't seem to bother him, since he collected three more hits against the 83rd on Monday.

There have been some interesting developments in Pittsburgh, since the building of the famed "Greenberg Gardens." The "Gardens" is a section of left field at the Pirates stadium, which was fenced off to make a new bullpen, thus shortening the home run distance some thirty feet. Since the installation, nine home runs have been sprayed into the enclosure, four other Pirates have hit four-basers into it, and four Cincinnati Reds have done likewise. The Pirate owners aren't sure whether they are pleased or not.

Gen. Lee Is Visitor At Fort Benning

Maj. Gen. William C. Lee, ret., formerly known as the "jumping colonel" and one of America's foremost exponents of airborne soldiering, arrived at Fort Benning at 5 p. m. Tuesday for a brief informal visit with friends.

General Lee became interested in warfare with airborne troops during his duty in Washington in September, 1942, and through his efforts a group of hand-picked men from the old 29th Infantry at Fort Benning became the test platoon for the Army parachute regiments that followed.

Old gentleman to brag: "Well, well, just a child of mother nature, eh?—the last."

Boat Excursion Ends In Disaster

Treachorous undercurrent and possible quicksand bars were blamed in the death of Michael F. Feighan, 19, and Werner D. Markey, 18, both members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 6, whose bodies were recovered from the Upatol creek at a point several yards below the water works dam last week.

A reservation-wide search had been underway since the two youthful candidates were reported missing from bed-check April 20.

It was learned through classmates that Feighan and Markey had left the company area around 1 p. m. April 19 with the intention of taking a boat trip down the Chattahoochee river and on to the vicinity of Mary's Falls, where they planned to bivouac overnight, returning to the Harmony church area by land April 20.

Found Assault Boat
Close friends reported that the soldiers had found an assault boat the week before the tragedy and assumed that this was their mode of conveyance down the creek. It was also revealed that they had taken provisions, maps, compasses, and blankets, and were dressed in fatigues.

According to reports from the Student Training Regiment the last two persons seen to see them alive warned them not to continue their trip by boat. They went at approximately 6 p. m. April 19 at a point about 400 yards from the dam to place their bodies were recovered, and it is alleged that their death was a result of being thrown from the boat as it went over the dam.

An assault boat with a hole in the bottom was found under a clump of trees near the dam at 11 a. m. April 23. The two persons alive were summoned and identified the boat as being the one used by the two soldiers or one exactly like it.

1259th Drains River
Ten men from the 1280th Engineer Combat Battalion were immediately dispatched to the area of the dam and began dragging the river in search of the candidates. At 3:30 p. m. the body of Candidate Markey was found, but Candidate Feighan was not located until the following morning at 9:35.

Candidate Feighan is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Feighan, of Detroit, and Candidate Markey is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Markey, of Jacksonville.

ENCORE—The above picture is being run for the second time to correct an error. Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel is shown as he plus the Distinguished Service Medal on the ribboned chest of Col. Charles E. Johnson at a ceremony a week ago last Saturday at Stillwell Field.

All Actors Play Generals In 9th AF Show Business

The Ninth Air Force is in the play-acting business these days at Lawson Field, and practically all the actors play generals.

No, it is not a joke and the high-flying Ninth has no aspirations to compete with Hollywood Broadway.

It is all a part of the vast Air Indoctration Course now under way at Fort Benning which is designed to show student officers of all branches of the service the way the air forces go about cooperating with the ground troops to win wars.

Three-Day Course
The Ninth's mission was to cram the hundreds of hours of planning required for a large scale air-ground coordinated attack into three-day course which would have to include a display and explanation of all aircraft and equipment employed plus a big aerial demonstration.

To effectively accomplish this job the Chief of Ninth Air Force headquarters (Advanced), Brig. Gen. Farred V. Crab, combed the entire Tactical Air Command for the best available talent among veteran air officers who had helped battle the Axis during World War II.

Last February he moved his dramatists into theater No. 3 on Benning's main post along with footlights, a stack of scripts, and colorful scenery scene, launched a series of rehearsals in preparation for the initial show before students of the Armed Forces Staff College.

Seventh Presentation
Last Wednesday the newly developed stage players completed their seventh performance during which time some of the nation's top-drawer military leaders have been in the audience, including four-star Generals Spaatz and Devers.

General Crab, as the production director, bemoans the fact his theater lacks feminine parts, music and candy vendors in the aisles between the acts and he is sometimes concerned when his leading player hauls out his notes in the middle of a dramatic moment or ad lib when he misses a cue. But, it is still a high class theater.

On the third day the scene is shifted to the outdoors across the Chattahoochee river into the Alabama area where the dramatists enact a fast-moving, precision 83-minute aerial demonstration as a climax to the three-day course.

All spectators have been enthusiastic about the revolutionary training device and eventually it is planned for every ground officer in the U. S. Army to have an opportunity to see the unique Ninth Air Force stage and air show.

New Criteria Affects Certain Separations

WASHINGTON (APFS)—Non-Regular Army personnel previously exempted from assignment outside the continental limits of the U. S. now may be separated for the convenience of the Government.

Such personnel who fail to apply for separation before June 1, 1947, will become eligible on that date for world-wide assignment.

Under War Department Circular 95, Regular Army enlisted men serving under an unexpired enlistment contracted prior to Feb. 27, 1946, who, as of their remaining sons, were authorized permanent assignment in the U. S., now are authorized the option of world-wide assignment or separation for the convenience of the Govern-

'Hoot Mon!'

AOCC No. 9 boasts the usual mixture of accents ranging from the New England twang to the Texas drawl. But the accent that makes the listener stop and ponder longer belongs to Officer Candidate Alan A. Cameron, who hails from the bony land of Scotland, where the mystifying experience of the "wee deoch an' doine" can be found.

When Sgt. Cameron landed at Staten Island in February of this year he was practically a stranger to the states. Although a native of Chicago, he lived in Scotland for 13 years and had lost contact with this country. His service in the Army was all overseas until he arrived in the U. S. to attend OCS.

In November 1945 Cameron donned the OD uniform for the first time in London. He was sent to Fontainebleau, near Paris, for basic training. His fellow rookies were American citizens from all over Europe.

Although his parents are in Scotland and he has no relatives in this country, Candidate Cameron said that he is determined to make his future in the states.

Airborne Operations Demonstration Topic Of AAF In Far East

Newest developments in equipment and techniques used in airborne operations will be demonstrated soon to Army Air Force troop carrier and Army Ground Forces airborne personnel in the Far East.

A Fairchild C-82 Packet, which has undergone 38 modifications and changes, will be used, and three airborne officers and six enlisted men will participate in the demonstrations. The plane will leave Fairfield-Suisun, Calif., Army Air Field in the near future and approximately 60 days will be spent demonstrating to troop carrier and airborne units in Japan and at other installations in the Far East.

The C-82 was selected for the demonstrations because it is one of the latest-type troop carrier planes developed for use by AAF. The plane to be used is equipped with two bail-out doors instead of one to permit paratroops to leave the plane twice as quickly. The plane carries 32 men fully equipped for invasion operations in addition to a crew of five. It is one of the largest two-engine planes developed and stands out with a total weight of 34,000 pounds. The plane has approximately a 2,700-mile range.

Connect 20,000 volts across a pint of whiskey. If the liquid jumps, the product is poor, if the current causes a precipitation of ure, tin, arsenic and iron slag, the whiskey is fair. But if the liquid chokes the current back into the generator, you've got good whiskey, brother.

AOC Member Killed In Crash

William B. Cumber, 26, of 10th Company's AOC class No. 7, was killed and five other officer candidates injured at 12:15 a. m. April 27 when the car in which they were riding overturned on Victory drive in front of the Municipal golf course.

The injured, all classmates of Cumber, were: William C. Ward, internal injuries; Walter B. Rszala, arm fracture; William R. Lyman, knee injuries and lacerations; Phillip B. Jones, knee lacerations; and Ryan P. Dixon, abrasions of forehead and knee and hand lacerations.

In Hospital
Candidates Ward and Rszala were admitted to the station hospital for further treatment, while the others were treated and dismissed.

Witnesses to the accident said the automobile overturned twice when Cumber, driver of the vehicle, attempted to pass another auto and struck the curbing of the middle parkway.

John Pinkney, 1400 Fifth avenue, Phenix City, was the driver of the other automobile. The body of Candidate Cumber left Fort Benning by train Tuesday for Fayetteville, N. C., where interment will take place.

VETS BUY TOWN

WASHINGTON (APFS)—Veterans have purchased the town of Chilkot, Alaska, as a cooperative venture for $105,000, according to the Bureau of Land Management. A former Army post, Chilkot consists of 70 buildings and water, sewerage and electric power systems. The Alaska Cooperative Co., which values the land at $1,000,000, expects farmers to settle there by early summer.

RIVER CLOSURE GIVEN

The Chattahoochee river will be closed to all navigation and traffic between upper Bradley's landing and Wright's bar from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. from May 2 through May 4, Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, announced today.

Manpower Survey Team Due At Post

A four-man survey team from the War Department Manpower Board is slated to arrive at Fort Benning about May 12 to conduct a personnel survey of the major activities on the post, it was learned today.

Composed of General Staff Corps officers, the team will include Col. Charles S. Hays, Col. Earl P. Sneider, Col. Willis J. Moroney, and Lt. Col. Charles J. Norman.

Three-fold Purpose—Purpose of the visit is three-fold, authorities said. The primary objective is to obtain an accurate inventory of the military and civilian personnel now being utilized on the post. Secondly, according to the announcement, the findings will determine from their report for Benning expected to extend during the first quarter of the fiscal year, 1948.

Each activity will be surveyed and the team will attempt to form a basis for future personnel authorizations. Each activity authorized has been instructed to prepare a War Department Manpower Board Form and a copy of the completed form and a copy of the specific remarks which will be submitted to the commander of the activity or unit within the Infantry Center who is thoroughly familiar with the personnel and operation of his activity was requested to designate an officer to be in charge of the data collection and preparations of forms.

Units To Be Surveyed—Units and activities to be surveyed are all T/O regiments, separate battalions and separate companies of the Central Reserve and Training Reserve; all housekeeping units, including the Student School Detachment, Infantry Regiments, and Detachments of the 3440 ASU; and other activities of 3440 ASU listed in Table of allotment of military and civilian personnel of 3440 ASU, dated April 3, 1947, each of the headquarters, Academic Department, Army Field Printing Plant, Training Literature and Visual Aids, Army Extension course, Lawton Field, Army Ground Forces Board No. 3, and the Air Shop.

Medals Awarded At May 3 Event

Bronze Star and Purple Heart medals were presented to three candidates, and one enlisted man at ceremonies May 3 at Gilwell field.

Maj. Daniel A. Raymond, Infantry School Detachment, and Maj. Lloyd E. Mills were awarded Oak Leaf clusters to their Bronze Star medals, and candidate John E. Williams, Student Training Regiment, received the medal for the first time.

The Purple Heart went to T-5 James I. Swasey, Student Training Regiment, while an Oak Leaf cluster to the Purple Heart medal was awarded to 1st Lt. Dalcourt R. Thompson, 37th Infantry Regiment.

Col. Nichols Named Infantry Center G-4

Col. Joseph A. Nichols, formerly with the Academic Department, has replaced Col. Thomas M. Brinkley as assistant chief of staff, G-4 of the Infantry Center, it was announced today.

EXTENDS ENLISTMENT—Cpl. John C. Mills Jr., 3rd Field Artillery, School Troop, last week signed for a three-year hitch in the Regular Army. Corporal Mills entered the Army in May, 1944, and subsequently was assigned to the 10th Mountain Division until its inactivation at Camp Carson, Colo., in September, 1945. Corporal Mills holds the Bronze Star Medal.

Only 72 Out Of 176 Remain In AOCC No. 9

Of the 176 who commenced the officer candidate course as members of AOCC No. 9 eight weeks ago, only 72 remain, it was revealed today.

The first eight weeks of the course is known as the screening period, and it is during that time many are dropped from the class rolls.

Of the 104 who have to date been dropped from AOCC No. 9, the majority did so upon their company spokesman who said that the weekly faculty board accounted for only a small number of drop-outs.

AOCC No. 9 still has 18 weeks ahead before graduation.

Summer Course To Attract 600 Reserve Officers

Around 600 reserve officers are scheduled to receive a two-week summer orientation course at Fort Benning during June, July and August, military officials said today.

Purpose of the training will be to refresh and orient senior commanders and staffs of field and general officer grades of the Officer Reserve Corps in current Army-wide subjects, authorities stated.

Three Classes Planned—There will be three classes, each composed of approximately 200 reserve officers. The first class will begin June 20 and will run for two weeks.

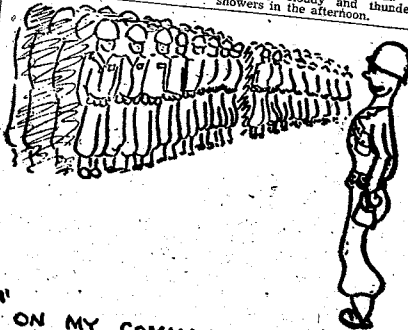

The Infantry School's tactical section will instruct the students in the organization of the Army, the new infantry, airborne, and armored divisions. Other subjects to be covered by the tactical section include amphibious operations in the Army Ground Force, airborne operations, building and training an infantry division, and air-ground cooperation.

Also slated for discussion during the tactical section's program are the tactical service activities in the U. S., guided missiles, atomic energy, bridging and engineer equipment, and a general intelligence summary of the world situation.

The second part of the two-week course will deal with general subjects. Among these subjects to instruction, the replacement training system, ORC, extension courses, mobilization planning, the National Guard, and Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Other topics to be studied in this section include food and clothing problems in Army ground force units and ground force casualties in the world.

125 Guardsmen To Arrive May 11 For Week's Study

Approximately 125 National Guard officers, representing every state with active National Guard units are expected at Fort Benning May 11 for a one-week refresher course at the Infantry School.

A busy schedule has been planned when classes get under way May 12. Instruction in current infantry trends and Army-wide subjects will be outlined. The students also will receive instruction in the new organization of divisions, doctrine and tactics of divisional units, and use of new weapons.

Night Vision Work—The National Guard representatives in addition will receive short courses in signal communications and night vision work. Other important subjects scheduled for study are infantry regimental supplies, installations and operations, to instruction, Army Extension course, and Army educational system.

Highlighting the week-long refresher course will be two big infantry demonstrations specifically designated as "battalion in attack" and "battalion in defense." The 125 students also will witness an infantry regiment supply system in operation.

MASCOT PEDRO—This 14-inch bundle of red fur was found several days ago by W/Sgt. James Wicately and has been claimed by the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron at Lawson Field as its official mascot. The baby fox, estimated to be four or five months old, is a male. At present he is awaiting official permission from the squadron commander to become a full-fledged member of the 75th.

OCC Class Passes PAT With Perfect Record

AOCC No. 4 of the Student Training Regiment, the senior candidate class, completed its second physical achievement test last week with a 100 per cent passing rate.

The PAT is an examination conducted by the OCS Physical Training Committee which includes a rugged schedule of pull-ups, push-ups, squat jumps, sit-ups topped off by a 800-yard run. Each officer candidate is required to measure up to a certain high standard in these tests, which provide an indication of an individual's physical condition.

Swimming Pools To Open May 17

The opening of the Officers' club swimming pool May 17 and plans for the opening of the Young Pools May 17 were announced today by Fort Benning athletic and recreation officers.

The Officers' club pool will operate Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m., Friday, and Sunday, it will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

The Sand Hill pool will be open daily, except Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday from 5 until 8 p.m. On Wednesdays and Saturdays it will operate from 1 until 8 p.m., and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Schedule Given—Russ and Young pools, scheduled to open May 17, will be open to troops of the Main Post from 4 until 8 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from 3 until 8 p.m. Wednesdays, Sundays, and holidays will be open at 9:30 a.m. on Saturdays from 1 until 3:30 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 until 8 p.m.

Athletic and recreation officials said that both Russ and Young pools will be used for swimming instruction Monday through Thursdays from 9 until 11:30 a.m., and from 1 until 3:30 p.m.

Both pools will be closed all day Friday for cleaning and draining, they said.

Water Safety Program To Start Here May 20

Fort Benning's seasonal water safety program will get under way May 20 when 65 men gather at the Sand and Sand fill pools for a 12-day swimming instructor's course.

Quotas for this course have been allotted to units as follows: Schoolment 2; Infantry Training Regiment 7; 3440 ASU, 5; 25th Infantry Regiment, 25.

Army's Career Plan Benefits Enlisted Ranks

A career plan for Army enlisted personnel providing a merit system of promotion, opportunities for specialized education—a new commissions in the Army's Reserve Corps and the Regular Army—has been worked out in the War Department and will be placed in effect early next year. Only a small part of the program will require legislation.

Under the new plan, promotions of enlisted men will be made only after they pass tests, now being prepared in the War Department. A soldier possessing the required ability may not only go up the seven rungs of the enlisted grades, but may go on through the four grades of warrant officer, chief warrant officer, chief warrant officer, chief warrant officer of a major. A senior warrant officer will receive a captain's pay; warrant officer first class will be paid the same as a first lieutenant, and a warrant officer will be on a pay parity with a second lieutenant. Warrant officers will wear one, two, three or four edged bars, according to grade held. Warrant officers must retire after 30 years service. Qualified enlisted men also will be encouraged to apply for Officer Candidate School or the U. S. Military Academy.

All 'T-Grades' Abolished
All technician grades will be abolished, and the designation of the second and third grades will be changed. A technician sergeant will be called senior sergeant; a first class; the other grades will remain the same. Chevrons will not be changed, except that the branch of the service will be designated by branch insignia on the chevrons patch. Combat non-coms, such as squad or platoon leaders, will wear a dark green tab under their shoulder straps. Soldiers considered career men and may reenlist for indefinite periods and under some circumstances, may be permitted to resign from the Army.

The new system will not permit a company commander to "bust" a master sergeant to buck private. To one man is demoted more than one grade at a time unless convicted by a military court. The Army is demoting an enlisted man will be to bring him before a board to show cause why he should not be down-graded, after rating scales, which will be put into effect, show over a period of time that his conduct and performance are below sub-standard. After being demoted to the next lower grade, the man must pass the test for that grade in six months or be dropped down another grade.

World-wide Basis
Unit commanders may appoint non-coms in the lower five grades who qualify in tests. Promotions from Grade 3 to Grade 2 can be made only by AGC overviews, sergeants, 21 armies, and chiefs of technical and administrative services. To qualify for Grade 2, a man must have 12 months service in grade and three years service, and MOS examination. The War Department will fill vacancies in grade 1 on a world-wide basis. Only those who pass their MOS grade and five years active service can become eligible for master sergeant (or first sergeant, or sergeant major).

All privates who satisfactorily complete their basic training and pass a General Military Subjects first class will be promoted to private first class. To become a corporal, a man must pass tests. If a vacancy exists, he may be promoted with six months service; otherwise he must complete 12 months service. Vacancies in Grade 4 will be filled by men with six months service in grade who qualify on the MOS test. Vacancies in Grade 5 will be filled from among men who pass the MOS quiz and have 12 months service in grade.

All Non-coms Tested
All soldiers now holding non-com grades will have to take tests to hold their stripes. Those who fail will be demoted one grade.

The career plan contains a system of personnel procedures designed to get the right man in the right place at the right time. For certain military occupational specialties, which have formal schooling as prerequisites, school will be maintained to train enlisted personnel. The War Department is now engaged in overhauling and streamlining its cumbersome MOS numbering system. Numbers will be given to about 30 major specialties, and all jobs in one broad field will be under a master code number. In addition to formal schooling, GIs will be given opportunities to develop specialties by on-the-job training and self-study.

'Soldier First' Is Motto
Although specialization will be stressed, the War Department said the motto is "a soldier first, a specialist second," and the enlisted man will have to prove his knowledge and efficiency as a soldier early in his career.

Men entering Grade 3 will be allowed to take tests to determine their qualifications for a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps, and those who meet the standards will be commissioned in the ORC upon request, without attending OCS. They will be given opportunities to keep up their Reserve Officer training and win advancement in the ORC.

In summing up the career plan, the War Department said that it will enable the ambitious and qualified enlisted man to reach a position commensurate with his capabilities, and will provide the Army with the best qualified personnel in responsible positions, offering greater efficiency in the Army structure, and the enlisted man will have a better chance than soldiers in the past to become four-star generals.

Against great odds, 62 generals now in the Army rose from the ranks. War Department officials consulted many Regular Army non-coms and warrant officers before the new plan was approved.

The Airborne section will present a one-hour lecture on air transportability, and the course will end with lectures and demonstrations of standard infantry training and trends of development by the Infantry School's weapons section.

Storm Destroys 12 Gliders Here

The final survey of last Thursday's storm damage to Lawson Field gliders disclosed 12 gliders demolished and 20 others slightly damaged, according to Base glider engineers.
An incomplete on-the-spot damage count taken immediately after the high winds and heavy hail had subsided had placed the damage at only 10 CG-15 gliders destroyed and six others suffering minor damage. The final inspection of the wreckage was completed Saturday, A. C-47 and one engine ship were also damaged.

The greater part of the destruction was caused by the 60-mile-an-hour wind which lashed the lightweight engineless aircraft for five minutes.
The gliders which were used for training infantry glidermen were made secure at 12:45 p. m., when the storm warning was received. All gliders were tied down in compliance with regulations.
Twelve of the damaged gliders were repaired by base glider maintenance on Friday and participated in the final AIC aerial demonstration at Dekker Strip Saturday afternoon. Repairs on the other eight gliders were finished on Monday and Tuesday, and some equipment was salvaged from the destroyed aircraft.

New Discharge Criteria Given For RA Men

Regular Army enlisted men who do not intend to reenlist will be eligible for discharge for the convenience of the government before the end of their tours in a number of cases, the War Department has stated in a new regulation, Circular 93, which constitutes discharge criteria pertaining to enlisted men and women.

The condition under which Regulars may be separated before their tours are:

1. PATIENTS attached assigned to detachments of patients who become available for return to duty status will be discharged if (a) they do not intend to reenlist, (b) discharge occurs within 90 days of end of enlistment and (c) reassignment would be uneconomical after considering the cost of the reassignment.
2. Those returning from overseas for reassignment will be discharged if (a) they do not intend to re-up and (b) they have 60 days or less to go.
3. Commanders in the United States may discharge men before expiration of enlistment if (a) the soldier is eligible for discharge by June 30, (b) he applies for discharge and (c) the total enlisted strength under his jurisdiction exceeds total authorized.

Circular 93 also repeats instructions for the discharge of all non-Regular enlisted men in the United States by June 15 and all those overseas by June 30. Men awaiting trial on the result of a trial, or awaiting discharge on certificate of disability, or being retained voluntarily to undergo further medical care or hospitalization are to be retained until their cases are disposed of.

RA Commissions Slated For 8,000 Officers In May

Plans to announce the names of approximately 8,000 successful candidates for commissions under the Second Regular Army Integration Program have been made public by the War Department.

The second 1947 increment will be taken into the Regular Army of about 5,000 officers of the Air Corps, 1,000 officers of the Ground combat arms, and 2,000 Technical and Administrative of Ground, these numbers represent about half the remaining requirements under the integration program. The Technical and Administrative Services will get about one-third of their remaining requirements in this increment, the shortage being due largely to the lack of candidates for commissions in the Medical Department.

The May Increment will bring to slightly more than 20,000 the number of officers integrated into the Regular Army since the first increment of June, 1946, when 8,600 were nominated for Regular commissions. About 950 officers were accepted later in 1946, and the first increment of the 1947 program, in January, numbered over 1,800.

The last large increment of officers, the number not yet determined, will be announced in the fall of this year.

Plans are already under way to integrate several thousand college graduates, officer candidate school graduates and other qualified persons into the Regular Army over a period of years. Blanket authority for the current integration program and future expansion of the Regular Army officer corps, is contained in Congressional legislation which sets the Regular of 50,000 strength of the Army at 50,000. Including officers already in the Regular Army prior to the integration programs, there will be approximately 35,000 Regulars after the May increment is confirmed by the Senate.

Army Education Policy

Prior to the outbreak of the second world war the Army paid little attention to the educational status of its troops. Although the Army was probably more "soldierly" and Army personnel were just as good fighters as ever, it was the modern Army that was little effort exerted by the War Department to train the soldier for anything more than a fighting man, capable of using weapons and equipment properly.

The years since 1940 have proved that this generation is seeing and intent to get more education, consequently, the Army inaugurated, at about the same time the selective training bill was passed, a vast educational system hoping to fill in a gap in the training program and also to let the average soldier know exactly why we disagreed with the Hitler policy of world domination.

This information and education service to the soldier. The Army proved that as a whole the American soldier favored the new program and was eager to take advantage of the opportunity to add a bit more to his education. The War Department arranged to allow soldiers to complete their high school educations and to take special courses from accredited colleges and universities. The response was heartening and after the war the clamor for education was even greater.

Here at Fort Benning there has been established a vocational school which offers courses in everything from basic English to radio broadcasting.

The success of the vocational school depends entirely upon the number of persons who enroll in the many classes. Establishment of this extensive system of education will be justified only if Benningites react favorably.

Actually no one, no matter how much formal education he has managed to accumulate, is above going back to school for further study. There is always something more to learn. And remember that a well-informed soldier is a good soldier, and a good soldier is a good leader. There is always room at the top for those qualified to lead. In order to become a leader one must be a well-rounded individual. No one can be well-rounded if he is ignorant.

World's Finest Air Show

Last Saturday the curtain rang down on one of the greatest and most important peace-time exhibitions in the history of the world's finest air force. As the applause slowly died away, the director issued his final order to the cast and they immediately set about packing up their costumes and equipment in preparation for moving on to bigger roles.

The actors were the pilots, navigators, bombardiers, signal men, crew chiefs, and aircraft repairmen from the scattered Ninth Air Force bases who had converged on Fort Benning back in February to present for thousands of Army service school troops their version of the co-operation, coordination, and planning between air and ground forces vital to the defense of our nation. These men had selected a tremendous role to perform, requiring the highest degree of skill and stability, but they had done a good job.

Although it was primarily an air force show with all the glamour of aircraft speeding overhead, giant bombs, and aerial maneuvers, the show for many spectators. The gliderborne infantry silently dropping to earth in front of the viewing stands caused many persons to thank the Army for its foresight in training men in and out of the motorless flying craft efficiently and speedily. Indeed, without a doubt, the ground force troops they show would have had no purpose.

The cooperation and coordination between ground and air troops was little short of amazing to those who had no idea of the split-second necessity to the successful planning of joint operations. The accuracy and efficiency of both branches is a tribute to those men who formed the great air-ground team during the dark days of the late war.

If it show did nothing more than to disprove the false theory that one branch of the service can win a war alone, then it was well worth the time and effort. Anyway, our hats are off to the air crews and the infantrymen for making such a great show possible.

Saga Of Holdfast Gains

Life on the North American continent was pretty rugged in the latter part of the 18th century. There was danger not only from the savage Indian tribes, but also from the British forces over Wellington who believed that the wealthy continent rightfully belonged to His Britannic Majesty. And there were the adventures and times of our forefathers during that century is painstakingly covered in Holdfast Gains, an historical novel, solidly based upon fact, by Odell and Willard Stewart.

This was the era of Benedict Arnold, the infamous American traitor. He burned New London and committed the massacre at Fort Griswold, and Andrew Jackson, whose heroic victory at New Orleans brought fame and power to the U. S.

This is the saga of Holdfast Gains, a huge Mohegan Indian reared and educated by a white family. His exploits are often unbelievable and the amount of influence he exerts over the lives of those with whom he comes in contact is little short of amazing. His uncle Occum Samson imbues him with the spirit of doing good, of being a friend to everyone, and of keeping peace among the warring Indian and white tribes.

Co-operate With God

By

In the Baltimore Sun a few years ago there appeared an interesting incident. An elderly country pastor paid a visit to one of his young deacons. The pastor surveyed the Co-operate house and barn and said, "Well, you and the Lord sure have been doing good work here. As they went from one crop to another he repeated his comment. Finally the young deacon became a little tired of this. He turned to his pastor and said, "Well, pastor, that you and the Lord's business is all right but you should have seen what an awful mess this place was in when the Lord was working by Himself."

That might have been told as a joke but it carries a great truth. The world in which we find ourselves is in an awful mess because God is working by Himself. Our very lives are many times in an awful mess because God is working by himself. Order always comes out of chaos when we co-operate with God.

Many of our scientists began their search for God by realizing that our world is in a confusion operates and exists according to certain natural laws giving orderliness to the universe. From that idea they are said to have these natural laws, this orderliness, then there must be in this infinite mind which we call God.

And as there is orderliness to the universe which God has planned so ought our lives to be. The Bible tells us that God knows the sparrows fall, and the number of hairs on our head, etc. God has planned a purpose for your life. Why, then, should you live a life that is an awful mess? Co-operate with God. Yield your life to his infinite mind as Paul did on the road to Damascus, "Lord what will you have me to do?" Pray even as Christ did, "Not my will, but thine be done."

GI Humor

A grave digger got so absorbed in his thoughts that he dug the grave so deep he couldn't get out.

Came nightfall and the evening chill, his predicament became more and more uncomfortable. He shouted for help and at last attracted the attention of a drunk time the ant cop arrested another, "Get me outta here," he shouted.

"I'm cold."

The drunk looked into the grave and finally distinguished the form of the uncomfortable grave digger. "No wonder you're cold," he said. "You haven't any dirt on you."

Mother: now Junior, why don't you go and play with your little friends?

Junior: I have only one little friend, and I hate him.

"Would you scream if I kissed you?"

"How could it if you did it properly?"

For exercise, the laziest men we know reads horror stories and lets his flesh crawl.

We've heard of all kinds of murder—homicide, fratricide, suicides—but what stopped us when the time the ant cop arrested another, "Get me outta here," he shouted.

Visitor trying to be sociable at New York party:

"I'm, Brown from Bowling Green."

Soused guest: "Yeah, and I'm dizzy from too much liquor."

Then there was the deaf and dumb man who had a nightmare and broke all his knuckles on the bedpost screaming.

Groucho Marx: "What this country needs is a good five-cent playwright."

Marcus Ray Inspects Post Colored Troops

A three-day inspection of the 25th Infantry Regiment and elements of the Army Officers Candidate School was made last week by Marcus H. Ray, civilian aide to the secretary of war, who arrived at Fort Benning by plane April 30.

Included in the itinerary of the War Department's official representative were visits to Battery B, 899th Field Artillery; Battery B, 871st Field Artillery; Sand Hill Field House; and Service Club, Library, Simstown and Deveauxville. According to reports, Ray expressed high approval of the training and recreational program being carried out at Sand Hill.

At the Thursday evening session at the Pine Lodge Officers' Club, Ray outlined a "bright future" for the Negro in the post-war Army and emphasized that much would depend upon individual merit.

South America Advantages Extolled By Officer Candidate

BY O/C WM. D. TRUSSELL JR. — Few countries today offer a man the advantages of South America," is the opinion of Officer Candidate Pedro A. Hill, who is a member of AOCC No. 6, Student Training Regiment.

Hill, a former Electrical Engineer and a master of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, enthusiastically devotes his spare time to selling South America to his fellow candidates. A native of Veraguas, Republic of Panama, Hill studied for two years in Mexico City at the Mexico Engineering college.

In 1942 he came to the United States to complete work on his bachelor of science degree at the California Institute of Technology. Candidate Hill was able to obtain his bachelor's degree and in addition begin his work on a master's degree before being inducted in July, 1946.

Pete's thorough knowledge and understanding of the South American countries and their way of life is the source of many interesting hours of lively discussion during the barracks breeze sessions.

In Hill's opinion, the Latin American countries are prospering by leaps and bounds. The last decade has seen many changes to a higher modern plane. One of the basic factors to be considered in this rapid development is the vast natural resources hitherto untouched. The South American governments are going to great lengths to induce investments by United States financiers in the exploitation of this vast wealth. The Pan American program means to them. However, they do not support the erroneous ideas of "Come, get rich, and go!" What our Southern friends want are permanent immigrants, industrious people willing to "settle down" and adjust to their customs and way of life.

Technical Skills Needed — The amount of technical skill in the South American countries is greatly out of proportion to the vast need. Not only are the wages paid to technicians high but the purchasing power of the dollar is much greater than in the United States.

"When I leave the Army and complete my education, I am going back to South America, the new land of opportunity."

PERMITS TO MARRY

FRANKFURT (AFPS)—Permission to marry German girls had been requested by 726 American officers, enlisted men and civilians up to the end of March, the Army announced.

Approval was given 92 American officers, enlisted men and it is not expected more than two per cent of the applications will be denied. One application was disapproved because the German girl was only 15 years old.

GIVE OUT WITH THE NOISE—Paratroopers of the 504th Parachute Infantry Regiment lay down a barrage with recoilless rifles during the last Air Indocriation Show. The doughy airborne "Dogfaces" from the 82nd Airborne Division are shown 19 minutes after they had "hit the silk from

C-82s over Deklar Strip, Alabama. These handful of men carry the mighty punch of a battery of Field Artillery which formerly required three times the personnel and over a hundred times the pounds equipment per man.

'CANNED COPY' TOO DULL

Air Waves Take Beating When AOC 6 Takes Over

BY JAMES D. WALKER

"Honorable Kyushu Five, this is Honshu Thuree. Lone loyal Japanese soldier just destroy 15 American divisions. Eleven thousand enemy plans overhead. Now being attacked by Third Army.

Have only 13 bullets left in gun. What to do, please? Over..."

"Use one honorable bullet on self. Then send dozen remaining to rear area ammo supply...out..."

Such was the dubiously intelligent conversation floating over the air waves a few days ago when AOCC No. 6 spent a memorable morning practicing radio procedure and parlance on standard Army radio equipment.

Own Compositions Used — Given a radio and told to transmit the "canned copy" on the prepared message blanks in both code and in the clear, the candidates complied willingly with the instructions until the novelty of their use faded. Firing of the military copy, the O/Cs began to interject their own compositions. Seeing they were not observed and believing they were unheard by any except their own stations, they gave full rein to their prodigious imaginings and turned out hot messages from every frequency of the dial.

Partial instigators of the activity were the six Chinese officers taking training with the candidates. The fun-loving Chinese began to broadcast in their native tongue, causing the bewildered students considerable consternation. Quickly the idea spread to others who began to fill the airwaves with foreign languages of every description — German, French, Russian, Japanese, Pig Latin, and "pidgin" English.

Broadcasts Overheard — Communications to and from President Truman, Admiral Byrd, the U.N., even Tarzan's ape call soon crackled over the earphones, spiced with the eternal Army humor. The class, having parleyed with one A. Hitler and Genghis Khan, were having a gay time while gaining valuable experience in operating the radios, the purpose of the work.

Too soon the period was over and they returned to the stands for a final conference. At this point they were suddenly jolted by the instructor who announced that the Communications Section had been tuned in on their frequencies and all their secret broadcasts had been overheard!

Envisaging some very unfavorable observations by the tactical officers the faces of the group fell long and sad. After several anxious moments the officer casually commented that he had "misplaced" his list of assignments and the culprits, actually the entire company, would remain anonymous to posterity...

The candidates, with a sigh of relief, went innocently on their way.

Typing, Administrative Course To Begin May 12

An eight-week typing and Army administration course for enlisted men at Fort Benning is scheduled to get under way May 12, military officials said today.

Two classes will be held daily Monday through Friday from 8 to 11 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. with the course of instruction in each class consisting of two hours of typing and one hour in Army administration.

Students have been selected from enlisted men who are potential clerks and administrative personnel and who have more than six months to serve prior to discharge. Officials pointed out that no troops will be eligible who have less than six months remaining service unless they extend enlistment or specify in writing their intention to re-enlist upon expiration of their current term.

Students enrolled initially in the course will not be relieved except in an emergency or through disqualification by the instructor, it was pointed out.

Air Indoctrination Personnel Feted At Farewell Party

After being feted at a round of informal farewell parties over the week end, AIC personnel began departing for their homes Monday morning, bringing to a close their two months tour of duty at Lawson Field with Ninth Air Force Advance headquarters.

Highlighting the week end gatherings was the dinner-dance at the Lawson Field Rest Camp Saturday night with the Base Officer's Club as host. Among the honor guests were Brig. Gen. Jared V. Crab, Ninth Air Force deputy commander, his staff and their guests. The guest list also included Col. Gilbert T. Collier, Lawson Field commander, Mrs. Collier, and their daughter, Marjorie. More than 200 guests attended.

Dinner, buffet-style, was served outdoors at 6 and dancing to the music of the Georgians took place in the main lounge of the rustic lodge until midnight. Maj. George Gorman, Club manager, was in charge of arrangements.

Another interesting Saturday afternoon party was the "Kentucky Derby" party at which Maj. J. H. Hayden, a native of Kentucky, presided. He entertained his guests with the broadcast of the derby and served mint juleps. Later he and his guests attended the dinner-dance at the Rest Camp.

Served at Air Indoctrination Course and Lawson Field officers and their guests held no-host parties at Lawson Field Officers Club Sunday.

Formal Dinner Honors Couple Leaving Post

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred L. Ackerson were the guests of honor at a gala dinner party Wednesday evening at Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph A. Tolve as hosts for the event given at the Officers' Club. The honorees will soon be leaving Fort Benning.

Aperitifs were served to the guests before dinner and the charming hostess arranged the table with pink roses in silver bouquets and silver candelabra with pink tapers.

Miss Godwin To Wed Fort Benning Man

Miss Colleen Godwin will wed Lt. Col. and Mrs. Albert Haley, May 24 at Saint Paul Methodist church, it was announced Sunday.

The bride-elect is the sister of Mrs. Robert Lee Smith and is a graduate of Central High school in Phenix City, Alabama.

Lieutenant Baumgartner is the son of Mrs. and Mr. W. C. Wesley Baumgartner of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mason City, Iowa. He attended Mason City Junior College and was graduated from the United States Military academy in the class of 1946.

Couple Exchange Vows In Ceremony At Chapel On Post

In an impressive ceremony of great beauty, Lt. Rosemary Milne Gould MDD, became the bride of Lt. (jg) Carl K. Newhart, USNR, Friday evening at 7:30 in the Post Chapel at Fort Benning with Chaplain Emmett G. Jones performing the ceremony.

The charming bride, daughter of Mrs. James Gould of Johnstown, N. Y., wore a gown of white tulle and a wide white sash. She wore a low oval neckline. The traditionally white dress featured a fitted bodice and a full skirt with tiny rows, as fashioned as an apron and bustle effect in the back. A satin scroll Juliette cap with a finger tip veil and net mitts completed the picture. She carried a beautiful bouquet featuring a white orchid in the center.

Only Attendant Mrs. James M. Kane, sister of the bride, the only attendant. She chose a dress of white marquisette with a fitted lace bodice, full skirt, short puffed sleeves and a low oval neckline. She also wore a Juliette cap with shoulder length veil and net mitts. Col. Frederick R. Corbin gave the bride away and Lt. (jg) Bruce T. Mathias, USNR, was best man. Ushers were Lt. (jg) Thomas P. Sharry, USNR; Lt. (jg) Philip S. Cleveland, Jr., USNR, and Lt. (jg) Thomas B. Wood, USNR.

Mrs. L. H. Averitt played the organ for the ceremony and the church was decorated with white flowers at the back of the altar and white caps were used in front of palms on each side of the altar.

Reception Held Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Officers' Club. Nuptial gifts, approximately 75 guests at the wedding. The bride cut her beautiful tiered wedding cake and guests were served refreshments. During the evening an orchestra furnished music for dancing.

The bride chose a blue herringbone suit with navy and white accessories and a white orchid for going away. The couple are spending their honeymoon in New Orleans and will be at home in Hockensaus, Pa. after July 1. Lieutenant Newhart is stationed at Fort Benning and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl J. Newhart of Hockensaus, Pa. He attended Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa., and was graduated from the dental school at the University of Pennsylvania in 1945.

Lieutenant Gould is also stationed at Fort Benning. He attended the University of Michigan and was graduated from Michigan State in 1944. Out-of-town guests were the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom.

Visitors Honored At Dinner Party

With cocktails served at their quarters before the dinner and dance at the Officers' Club, Maj. and Mrs. Thomas Cathcart were hosts Saturday evening for a delightful party honoring Mrs. C. V. Blackmon of Hartsville, S. C., and Mrs. George Taylor of Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Blackmon, the mother of Mrs. Cathcart, is a houseguest here, and Mrs. Taylor, a cousin of Mrs. John Middleton, is visiting also.

Mrs. Cathcart decorated her quarters with beautiful arrangements of spring flowers. Other guests were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ed. Wachs, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ernest Peters, and Mrs. John Middleton.

Class To Select AOCC No. 7 Queen

"Miss AOCC No. 71" will be named in the near future to reign as queen of the class which will graduate July 19.

Members of the publicity committee of the class will collect pictures of wives, sweethearts and girl friends of class members and will select the winner.

It is hoped that "Miss AOCC No. 71" will be present for the class graduation and the winner's picture will appear in a later issue of The Bayonet.

Army Daughters Plan '49er; Proceeds Will Go To Charity

All the gaiety and glamour of a costume party is promised to members of the Officer's Club and their guests May 18 when the Army Daughters present their annual '49er party at the Club with an orchestra, prizes, refreshments and special decorations.

Mrs. Russell Jenna has been appointed general chairman, and has stressed that all profits will be given to charity. Plans call for funds to be given to the P-T-A, children's ward of the Station hospital, and other activities. Last year proceeds were given to the P-T-A for school activities.

The Friday night party will start at 8 o'clock and the 25th Combat orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Games will be in progress all evening and Miss Bobbie Waidener has been named chairman of games.

Decorations, carrying out the '49er theme, will be under the direction of Miss Madge Barclay while Mrs. William Mullen Jr. will arrange for refreshments.

In Charge of Prizes Mrs. Warren Chapman is in charge of prizes and has announced that a case of beverages will be awarded as well as a large array of other items of value. Prizes will also be given for the best costumes.

Lt. Tom Connelly will be master of ceremonies and Mrs. Daniel P. Buckland, president of the Army Daughters, has expressed her wish that all members of the club will attend the event for a good time and also to aid the group in continuing its program of giving aid to various worthwhile activities on the Post.

Former Residents Visit At Benning

Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Coleman of Darlington, S. C., were the guests of honor at a dinner party Wednesday evening at the Officers' Club. Capt. and Mrs. Maurice E. Peabody Jr. were hosts for the event and also are entertaining the guests at their quarters. Doctor Coleman was formerly stationed at Fort Benning.

Other guests for the informal party were Mr. and Mrs. George Finning of Columbus, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Raymond Ashby, Capt. and Mrs. P. T. Mulvey, and Capt. and Mrs. John Nicholas Jr.

Engagement Of Interest To Many Friends On Post

Of interest to her many friends at Fort Benning is the announcement of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Betty Rudy Lichtenwaller, charming daughter of Col. and Mrs. Leon E. Lichtenwaller, to Robert Miles Tilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Tilley of Willow Springs, Missouri.

The bride-elect moved here last December with her parents from Lebanon, Mo., where Mrs. Lichtenwaller and her family lived while Colonel Lichtenwaller was overseas. Miss Lichtenwaller was graduated from high school in Lebanon and attended the University of Missouri for two years where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority.

Mr. Tilley is now attending the University of Missouri and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity. Before his service in the Army, he attended the Drury college in Springfield, Mo. The wedding will take place in the Post Chapel June 24 with Chaplain E. G. Jones officiating.

Progressive Event Honors Couple To Soon Leave Post

Lt. Col. and Mrs. James Hatch were feted Saturday night at an unusual party in the form of a progressive dinner. Several couples presented the dinner which started with cocktails. After stopping at various quarters, the group went to the Officers' Club where dessert and dancing completed the evening.

The party was given as a farewell event for Colonel and Mrs. Hatch who will leave the Post soon.

Couples entertaining were Lt. Col. and Mrs. William Padlock, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Erickson, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred Henry, Maj. and Mrs. Dan Kingman, Maj. and Mrs. Irwin Edwards, and Maj. and Mrs. A. L. Tait.

Lawson Ladies Hold Meet

The Lawson Field Women's Club held its monthly bridge party at the Lawson Field Officer's Club Tuesday at 1:30 with Mrs. Bryon E. Trent as hostess.

The gathering took place in the club's sunroom and featured tables for beginners. Members were served dessert before bridge. After prizes were distributed Mrs. George W. Gorman, club president, presided at a short business meeting.

Mrs. Ackerson Feted at Luncheon

Red roses in a crystal bowl made the attractive decorations for the charming luncheon party given by Mrs. Charles M. Crawford Saturday for a group of close friends. Mrs. Fred L. Ackerson was the guest of honor at the event which was a farewell party since the honoree will soon be leaving the Post to make her home in Atlanta.

Guests in addition to the honoree and hostess, were Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. F. H. Bockoven, Mrs. Bert Fenske, Mrs. Abraham Pfeiffer, Mrs. Clark Colburn, Mrs. Albert Haley, Mrs. Thomas Stevens and Mrs. Charles Jervey.

College Girls Here For Concert, Tour

Eighty girls, members of the Wesleyan College and Conservatory student body, toured Fort Benning Sunday and also presented a program in the Red Cross Recreation hall for patients at the Station hospital and other guests.

The young ladies were accompanied on the tour of the Post by Chaplain William Shure and Chaplain Robert Canis. They were guests at a luncheon given at the Main Cafeteria.

In the evening the Choral Club presented a musical program at St. Luke Methodist church in Columbus.

Surprise Party Given By OES

The Fort Benning Chapter of the Order of Eastern Stars recently honored Mrs. George F. Ziegler, past Worthy Patron, with a surprise party held at the Chapter on the Post.

The table was beautifully decorated with red lilies and white tapers and refreshments were served to 28 members. Mrs. Garret French, Mrs. Raymond Brown, and Mrs. Grady Tolle were in charge of the refreshments.

Annual May Breakfast Highlights Club Year

The annual May Breakfast of the Woman's Club Monday climaxed the year of activity for the group and saw Mrs. E. F. Wallender, retiring president, hand over the gavel to Mrs. Robert Hill who will be in charge for 1947-48.

Approximately 200 ladies attended the luncheon event which marked the closing of an active year, and members of the Spanish group presented the colorful entertainment for the afternoon. Mrs. George S. Beatty Jr., program chairman, introduced Mrs. Abraham Pfeiffer, chairman of the Spanish group, who announced the interesting program. For the first number, Mrs. Maurice Hathaway, who is from Chile, danced a rumba, La Paloma, which was sung by Mrs. Louise Ustategui of Peru. Each of the ladies was costumed in bright dress from her native country.

Mrs. Lewis Sings Mrs. Velma O. Lewis—of Columbus, also wearing a Spanish costume, sang three typical Spanish songs and accompanied her self on the steel guitar. Responding to the enthusiastic applause

Service Company Names Top Team In Dance Contest

Service Company, Student Training Regiment, held its first social event of the spring season recently when they gathered at Shady Grove for a company picnic.

Refreshments for the gala party were provided by a committee composed of Sgt. Haywood, Sgt. Barnes, Sgt. Williams, Pvt. Scott and Pfc. Robert Johnson. Main event of the afternoon was a jitterbug contest with Maj. William Nelson, Service Company Commander, and Pfc. Sgt. Haywood as judges. After watching the antics of the dancers and following due deliberations on their relative merits, the judges announced Pvt. Robert Morgan and his partner, Miss Brown, as the company champions.

she sang El Rancho Grande as an encore. Completing the gala program, Mrs. Ustategui and Mrs. Hathaway did a beautiful Spanish dance featuring castanets and also accompanied by the 25th Combat team orchestra.

A short business meeting followed the entertainment and Mrs. Wallender announced that volunteers are needed to work in the Trading post, a new activity under the direction of the Woman's club. Mrs. Clair B. Mitchell read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Fay Ross gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Wallender, before turning the gavel over to Mrs. Hill, thanked the members of the club and the officers for their fine cooperation during the past year. A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring president for the fine work she has carried on during her term in office.

Mrs. Hill gave a short talk to thank the ladies for the confidence they have shown in her and expressed hopes for a progressive and happy year. She also invited the newly-elected officers to meet at her quarters Thursday morning.

The new officers are Mrs. John W. O'Daniel, honorary president; Mrs. Hill, president; Mrs. Dennis Herrell, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Harper, recording secretary; Mrs. E. A. Johnson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James B. Davidson, treasurer, and Mrs. Elbert L. Fenske, auditor.

The Woman's club will resume activities in the fall with the new officers in charge.

640 Colonels To Lose Rank

The War Department has announced that after several weeks of careful study and analysis of officer requirements, 640 colonels will be reduced to the grade of lieutenant colonel effective July 1. The reduction will bring into line grade distribution among officers at the beginning of the fiscal year, 1948 by fixing at 5,623 the number of colonels on duty on July 1. There will be no reduction of colonels in the Medical Department or Chaplain Corps. These branches will have fewer colonels than will be authorized on the basis of July 1 strength. While there is no actual surplus of Air Corps colonels, the War Department feels that it is more in keeping with re-alignment policy to reduce a number of Air Corps officers. Most of these officers are holding senior rank because of wartime responsibilities and superior combat records, but are relatively junior in permanent rank.

Based on Overall Ratio
Of the 640 to be demoted to lieutenant colonel, 588 will be Regular Army officers and 52 non-Regular officers. This proportion was based on the overall ratio of regulars to non-regulars in the grade of colonel.

The formula for reduction of officers calls for the demotion of all Regular Army officers of the ground arms with temporary grade of colonel who on July 1 will hold the permanent grades of captain and lieutenant. This group will include all officers of the ground arms originally commissioned as second lieutenant subsequent to June 30, 1930, and in the case of recently integrated Regular Army officers, those whose dates of rank as captain are later than June 30, 1946. The 43 junior Air Corps officers of the Regular Army holding the temporary grade of colonel will be demoted. The non-Regular colonels to be demoted will include all officers of the ground arms promoted to that grade after December 1, 1944, and the last seven Air Corps officers promoted to the grade of colonel.

General Exception
A general exception to the demotion order will be made in the case of those officers who were previously reduced in the postwar grade readjustment in 1946. None of these officers will be reduced at this time regardless of date of rank.

Individual officers affected will be notified in the near future of their impending demotion. The effective date of change in all cases will be June 30.

Non-regular officers who decline to accept demotion will be relieved from active duty immediately, without prejudice.

Lawson Briefs

New civilian personnel assignments on the base include Betty Atkins, formerly with Civilian Personnel, who has been appointed Maj. Hayden's secretary. Lilian Jones, who reported here from Biggs Field, has joined the Adjutant Section. Ruth Bachelor now reigns in a private office as the commanding officer's secretary.

A recent shift of enlisted men placed George Emch in the library and T-Sgt. James Germain and Pfc. Roy Farnell in the Adjutant Section. M-Sgt. Wheatley's former special order cutter, Pfc. David Evans, has been transferred to the 75th.

Wedding bells rang for a double wedding ceremony Friday, May 2, when two Squadron F bachelors married two San Antonio, Tex., girls in Columbus. The new brides are Pfc. Edward Kindell and the former Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick and Pfc. Carl Forcher and the former Miss Dorothy Banks.

Leaving for school this week were: Pfc. Roy C. Woolsey to 2d School-at-Chanute Field; T-Sgt. Jessie V. Battles and Pvt. Raymond J. Barras also to Chanute for a special P-80 course, Pvt. Dorai E. Jackson will attend the P-47 school there for six weeks, and S-Sgt. Stansel Strickland, Jr., Cpt. Rex V. Waller and Pvt. Bobbie G. Roy will receive 6-54 specialist training at the same field.

Ladies To Hold Section Luncheon

Ladies of the officers of the Tactical Section will hold their monthly luncheon Thursday afternoon at the Officers' Club. Mrs. Herbert B. Bristol will be hostess for the event and following the luncheon, the ladies will be invited to play bridge.

Mrs. Wroug Is Luncheon Guest

Ladies of the Quartermaster group held an interesting luncheon Tuesday afternoon at the Officers' Club to honor Mrs. F. L. Young, who soon will be leaving the post. Bases in large glass baskets were used as the table decorations and the guest of honor was presented with a lovely going away gift.

Mrs. Abraham Pfeifer made arrangements for the post-host affair and guests, in addition to the honoree, were Mesdames E. J. Wallender, R. J. Mays, Raymond Crush, Edward Hendley, Patrick Dean, W. V. Ruble, Walter Fernberg, and Walter G. Cope.

Fewer Authority Feted At Dinner

Mrs. J. duPont Kirven was the hostess for a delightful dinner party Tuesday evening at the Officers' Club when she had Mrs. Esther Wheeler, national authority on flower arrangements who lectured in Columbus Tuesday, as the charming guest of honor.

Other distinguished guests were Mrs. David Dunlap of Detroit Mich., author of "Let's Arrange Flowers," Mrs. Jessie Fort of Griffin, Ga., flower arrangement chairman for the Garden club of Georgia; Mrs. R. E. Powell of Westfield, N. J., an accredited judge of the National Council and the New York Horticultural society; Mrs. William Stiekles of Malibu, L. I., lecturer, judge and exhibitor in this year's International Flower Show; and Mrs. Mary Seckman of West Virginia, an author of articles for horticulture magazines such as House and Garden and the Home magazine. A few friends from Columbus were also present at the event which took place on the terrace of the club.

Tuesday's tour took the Brazilians to the Infantry School's communications building and conditions during the morning, and just before lunch they watched a technique of machine gun firing. Infantry NCO class No. 2. During the afternoon, the visitors were shown the marksmanship demonstration by Associate Basic class No. 3, artillery practice service No. 7, Army Officer Candidate class No. 5, and a mortar firing demonstration by Associate Basic class No. 2.

The Sou American group was honored at an official dinner at the Officers' club by General O'Daniel Tuesday night.

Troops Demonstrate

The Airborne section of the Infantry School was on the agenda Wednesday morning. Thursday morning the guests were scheduled to witness another mortar demonstration by Associate Basic class No. 2, a machine gun marksmanship demonstration by Associate Basic class No. 3, a physical training exercise No. 3, a physical training exercise No. 3, and principles of gunnery training demonstration by Army Officer Candidate class No. 7.

The group will visit the visual aids exhibit Friday morning. Later they will witness service firing of self-propelled 81 mm. at Brann range by Army Officer Candidate class No. 7. During the afternoon they will witness a special demonstration of recoilless weapons and visit the operations section.

Will Leave Saturday

They will leave Fort Benning Saturday morning by plane. The Brazilian officers are the key men of the Centro de Aperfeiçoamento e Especializacao de Realego, or Army Training Center, which is modeled along U. S. lines and methods and uses U. S. equipment. Primary purpose of their visit was to study the latest U. S. methods of instruction in order to increase the efficiency of Brazilian training center. Others in the party, in addition to General Araraje, include Brig. Gens. Nicanor Guimarães de Souza and Manoel de Azambuja Brito, Lt. Colonels Mito Horacio de Oliveira Suepura and Alcides Nunes Pereira, and Lt. Colonels Antonio Pinheiro de Almeida E. Souza, Ademar de Queiroz, Joao Urubary de Magalhães, Alberto Ribeiro Iz, and Jurandir de Bizarria Mamede.

Pan-Hellenic Meets Monday

Members of the Pan-Hellenic association met at the Post on Friday their monthly meeting Monday, May 12, when a luncheon will be given at 1 p. m. at the Officers' Club. National sorority members among student officer's wives are cordially invited.

For reservations members are asked to call Mrs. George S. Beatty Jr. at 3248 or Mrs. Fredrick Weber at 2515 before noon Saturday.

At the Monday meeting, members of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. James Love and Mrs. J. F. Lake, will present a slate for the election of a president and secretary-treasurer for the group.

Benning Trackmen Ready For Bragg

Meet Begins Monday; 100 To Participate

Fort Bragg and Fort Benning will fight it out next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday for the Third Army track championships. These two posts are the sole team entries in the meet, which will be decided Wednesday afternoon on the Doughboy Stadium cinder-paths.

Monday and Tuesday will be used for limbering up and time trials, with the events to be run off on Wednesday.

Fifteen track and field events will be held, and both will enter about 50 men to vie for the various titles. On hand as head referee and director of the meet will be Coach Wilbur Hutstell, of Auburn, who wrote the track and field guide book and who is one of the leading coaches in the country.

The Doughboy team, coached by Capt. Francis Naughton, held time trials Wednesday with the 25th Infantry tracksters, as both teams will be combined for the meet. Captain Naughton took his men to Auburn for the second time last Saturday afternoon and was well-pleased with the results, despite the 88-30 score rolled up by the Plainsmen.

Once again Benning took the lion's share of the points in the field events, but Auburn was placing one-two-three in most of the running events. However, the times were very fast, and the Doughboys runners were a close fourth more than once and looked good even in losing.

The Benningites took three hits at Auburn, with Ken Nowles finishing first in the high jump with a 5 feet 11 inches jump. Gene Sprague pole vaulting 17 feet to win that event, and big Ed Chynoweth tossing the javelin 190 feet for a first.

In the shot-put the Doughs didn't take a first, but Chynoweth and Jack Hoelling came in second and third, respectively, and in the discus Coleman and Tolve took second and third. Reeves came in second behind Nowles in the high jump, clearing the bar at 5 feet 10 inches, and Dave Gardner threw the javelin 160 feet for a third place.

With all this strength in the field events, Captain Naughton is hoping for a clean sweep against Bragg, which is entering the following men for the field events: High jumper: Harry Trigg, Albert Toppel, Hal Ward, Howard King, pole vault: John McKnight, Arnold Smith, Clay Gaylor, Bobby Kendrick, Vincent Leslie; discus: Huldo Norman, Nolan Lang, Kenneth Murphy, shot putt: Nolan Lang, Robert Carver, William Wallace, Huldo Norman; javelin: Carroll Nichols, Vincent Caldwell, Nolan Lang, broad jump: Arthur Green, James Rook, Clyde Gaylor.

In addition to Sprague, Benning will have Harold Lutz for the pole vault. Lutz was still on furlough last Saturday, but his vault of 11 feet 4 inches placed second on the first Auburn meet ahead of Sprague. Ken Nowles will also be backed up in the high jump by Dave Brillhart, who placed first at that event in the previous Auburn meet, and Reeves, an OCS boy who just came out for track Saturday and took a second right off the bat.

Lloyd Watson, Cal Gray and Chuck Cole will be available for the broad jump.

Here are the way the running events shape up for the meet:

Fort Bragg has James Law, Arthur Greene, Nolan Lang and Charles Jones listed for the 100-yard dash. They will be opposed by Benning's Cal Gray, Chuck Cole and Cosmo Cutri. Cole won the 100, but pulled a muscle five yards from the finish. Cutri ran a good 220 also, but the Auburn tracksters all broke 22 seconds to beat him out. Both Cole and Cutri broke ten seconds in their high school days in California.

Bragg has Myron Kaiser, William Kelsey, Woodrow Davis and Andrew Benitis for the 220-yard dash, and Benning will probably have one or two of the three mentioned above and a third sprinter.

For the 120 high hurdles and 220 low hurdles Bragg has Robert Reynolds, Howard King, Winifred Medecale, Robert Hart and William Green. Betting numbers favor Benning's Mier, who manages the team, came through with a beautiful 440 Saturday, breaking 52 seconds, but he couldn't make up his bad start and finished fourth.

In the 800 or half-mile, Bragg will rely on Robert Mitchell, Edgar Bunn, Edwin Rosthal and Henry Crossett, while Benning will go with Gruenther, Alvin Shields, and Doug Scovill. Gruenther, a former West Pointer, is the best hope here. He placed third at Auburn, being nosed out in the stretch, but could easily have won if he had set a quicker pace in the opening quarter.

Seeks Mile Victory Taylor Baker will not be able to take the mile run for Benning, and he will be seconded by Frank Tucker and John La Rue. "Bake" ran third last Saturday, but thinks he will do better by next Wednesday. He's set to break 4:35, and will be opposed by Robert Burke, Otto Derscher and Leland Pillen for Bragg.

Wahl will run the two-mile for Benning, together with Jenkins, and they will run against Pillen, Harold Karant, and Anker Saquovia from Bragg. A mile relay will complete the running events. West in the running events, the Benning team will pick up some help from the 25th and will try to pile up their points in the field events to give them a backstop.

The Doughboys will hardly be shut out in the running events either, with Bill Miller, Taylor Baker, Andy Lamar, Dick Gruenther and Wahl all good bets to place.

Airborne Cinch For Loop Flag

By MILT MOSKOWITZ

One by one, the Airborne Battalion has knocked off every possible contender for first-place honors during the first half, so that now, with only a little more than a week left in the first-half schedule, there isn't a chance for any team beating out the paratroopers.

The chance to fall by the wayside was the Lawson Field Flies, becoming the tenth straight victim of the Airborne nine last Saturday night. Previously the Flies had been going like a house on fire, having won five consecutive games to lift them up into second place, but Captain Walker's men cooled them off considerably.

Confident that their heavy guns would be able to outthrust and outscore three airborne, the Flies couldn't come up with a pitcher who could hold the league-leaders in check like the steady support in the field, both elements giving way at the same time.

Gearhart Best Pitcher Dick Gearhart backed up his fifth triumph in holding the Lawson nine to five hits and two earned runs, and he now qualifies as the best pitcher on the post on the basis of his perfect record.

For four innings it was a ball game, as the Airborne went to the fifth with a slim one-run lead. The Troopers sent Waltlett to the showers then with three hits and three runs, helped along by three beneficial errors by the Lawson fielders.

They didn't treat Paul Fray, the next moundsman, with any more good soundings him for a triple, double and three singles to score five more in the top of the sixth. He bats from Jersey City and is Lawson errors in the seventh produced another two runs, ending the contest with the Airborne way out in front, 15-4.

Average Above .300 Repeating out sixteen safe blows, Airborne batters continued to keep their averages well above the .300 mark. Paul Bomar passed Tommy Gallagher for the club's batting leader, now hitting .459 to the sturdy backstop's .448. He is up among the league leaders.

George Dickson, Frank McGowan, Ralph Terry, and Floyd Dooley are all clouting above .300 with Terry's .380 topping the other three men to date. Dickson leads the league in runs scored with twenty, and Dooley's eighteen runs batted-in heads the league list also. Henry Griffin, in right field, is no slouch with the bat either, because he always hits with men on bases.

New Faces In Lineup A new face appeared in the Airborne lineup last Saturday, with Kinard taking over second base from Friedman. He looked just about as good as his predecessor in the field, and came through with three men to first, putting an opportune time also, as the team is going to lose the services of its stellar first baseman, Frank McGowan, this week.

Mac is planning to enter the best AOC class starting here at Benning, and he will probably be eligible to play for the STU in the second half. Manager Walker may have Terry over to first, putting Kinard on third, and Pritchard back at second.

Whenever changes though, it's clear sailing for the Troop, nine from here on in. Half the 1947 title has been won already.

I'VE GOT IT—Tommy Gallagher, Airborne receiver, goes after a foul ball. Tom was pacing the league in batting for the first part of the season, and is still up there with the leaders. He bats from Jersey City and is nineteen years old. Played ball with Utica of the Eastern league before entering the Army. (Signal Corps Photo.)

Truckers Lose 26-3 In 'Worst Game Of Season'

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ
Monday night's contest between the 204th Truck Battalion and the Infantry School Detachment, won by the Profs, 26-3, will probably stand as the worst game played at Gowdy Field this season.

In it the Truckers dropped to the lowest depths possible, and more than one spectator was heard to exclaim, "Now, I've seen it all!" Making errors all over the place, the Truckers turned the game into a farce. They committed 13 misplays in the field, not to speak of six passed balls and numerous misjudgments on the part of outfielders which cannot be classified as errors.

In the first inning fifteen men came to bat for the ISD, as the Truckers made six errors, allowing ten runs to be scored on starting pitcher, Ed Polliowicz. Polliowicz soon found out that he couldn't even get the side out by striking out ISD batters. He got Wiley Weldon on a third strike, but the ball went right on through his catcher, Albino, putting the batter on base. (Weldon later scored the ninth run of the frame when second baseman MacAfee threw the ball twenty feet over third baseman Norvell's head.)

Misses Ball After Ball
Behind the plate, Albino missed ball after ball, infuriating even his teammates by asking the umpire for a new ball while the old one went back to the screen and ISD runners circled the bases.

The ball game finally ended in the top of the seventh in typical Trucker fashion, MacAfee hitting into a double play.

ISD Jumps Back Into Second Slot

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ
With the managerial reins being held by former pitcher Ike Sitox, the Infantry School Detachment jumped back into second place this past week, winning three games against the three worst clubs in the league, the 1290th Engineers (13-4), the Student Training Regiment (6-4), and the 204th Truckers (26-4).

Hardly playing very animated ball, the Profs won these games more from the lack of talent on the opposition teams than from any baseball skill on their part.

Close Trammala
In fact, in the STR contest the ISDers were satisfied to eke out a two-run victory, without going to much pains. As soon as they got their lead, they just played dead.

However in the 1290th and 204th games the ISD was forced to score its runs by some zany fielding—the Engineers committing nine errors and the Truckers thirteen.

Wiley Weldon picked up two more victories in this stretch, and Chick Shiver posted a triumph when he relieved the rather wild Lefty Lehner against the Student Training Regiment.

Face Sluggers
Clyde Burt and Slonody Burnett still bring joy to ISD followers with their hitting. Big Clyde is slugging at .437 and Blonody .488. Lehner lifted his average above .300 again this week, and Bob Johnson seems like the pitching of the lower division clubs, but otherwise there isn't much to chat about in the ISD camp, despite the fact that the team is in second place.

Part of the sorrow comes from the loss of second baseman Harvey Polk, who broke a bone above his ankle in Monday's game against the 204th. He will be out for some time now, and it's doubtful if Bob Bowman can supply his punch in the lineup.

Lawson Tigers Win Over McBradon Bears

Squadron F's "Tigers" beat the McBradon Bears at Phoenix City 25-5 at McCann Park on May 3. The game was the fourth win for the "Tigers" and was termed "The Tigers had" Franklin M. Brown, pitching and Benjamin Jones, catching. Walter James, second baseman, hit a home run with the bases loaded in the last half of the fourth inning.

The Squadron F team will play the Phoenix City veterans at McCann Park tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. and it has a Saturday afternoon game with Columbus Red Sox at the Fourth street park.

Home Run Kings

Outfielders Floyd Dooley and Clyde Burt of the Airborne and ISD, respectively, are tied for the league lead in home runs. Each has belted three. Four men are tied for the leadership in triples, Thiele and Boland of the 224th, Martinis of the 756th and Bonatz of the Airborne, all with three. Bill Brooks, big centerfielder of the 33rd FA, has the double crown all to himself, thus far, with four.

Die-Hards Win Polo Game By Slim Margin

The Die Hards, playing with a 3-goal handicap on each player, Sunday afternoon defeated the Boy Scouts by a score of 8 to 7 in one of the most outstanding polo games of the season.

The Boy Scout team, with each man handicapped one goal with the exception of team Captain Maj. Keith F. Quail who was handicapped two-goals, were given six goals for the six chucker game and gained one more when Lt. Barney Q. Hopkins scored a sensational shot from mid-air for a 40-yard goal.

On the Die Hard team, Col. W. W. O'Connor scored three times, Col. Robert Dulaney chucked up two goals, Col. Joseph Nichols scored two goals and Lt. Col. Wesley U. Boran brought in one goal.

Gen. John W. O'Daniel awarded the Commandants Cup to each of the members of the Die Hard team. Wives of the players on both teams were invited to sit in the General's stand.

Col. Robert Skaggs and Maj. Joseph Fleck were referees for the event while Lt. Col. O. Wilson acted as announcer.

Next Sunday will see action between two teams of low-score players on French field. Members of the team will be Lt. Col. Robert Skaggs, Lt. Col. Richard Collins, Maj. Joseph Fleck, Capt. Frank Lullman, Capt. Magnus L. Smith, Capt. William A. Roope, Lt. George S. Patton III and Lt. Charles E. Simpson.

Sand Hill Plans Round Robin Series

A ten-game round robin series between seven 25th Infantry units will get underway May 8 at Bullet field in the Sand Hill area.

Two games will be played daily with the initial contest beginning at 3 p. m.

Teams participating include the First, Second, and Fourth Battalions of the 25th Infantry, and the 871st and 999th Field Artillery Battalions.

A trophy will be awarded the winner.

Sand Hill Bullets Drop Florida Tilts

With a procession of weird bakes plaguing them time and time again, the 25th Combat Team Bullets dropped both ends of a two-game series to the Florida A&M "Rattlers" Friday and Saturday of last week. The scores were 4 to 3 and 10 to 8.

For over six innings in the first game, Scott had the Rattlers completely baffled, allowing only one hit and fanning six. In the sixth frame they were trailing 8 to 2 but Mallory tied it up 8 in in the eighth when he played an inside-the-park homer with nobody on base. Later in the same frame the Rattlers tallied two more to sew up the game 10 to 8.

An editor of a national magazine returned a thick bulky manuscript of some 2000 pages to "m" returning this paper—somebody wrote on it."

Vets Cop 2 Games In Swift Comeback

Play Airborne Tonight; Hope For Upset

After making a swift comeback from rock bottom to a new season high in the short span of 48 hours, the 37th Infantry Vets still have little or no chance of overtaking the league leaders, but they are still looking forward to the big effort tonight when they play the Airborne Battalion for the second time this year.

The Vets pushed the Airborne to the limit in the last meeting between the two, and the Troopers finally taking a 3-1 verdict in the eighth inning.

On May 7, the Vets dropped a rugged battle to the 328th Ordnance, 6 to 5. It was the first time this season that a team lower in the standings than the Vets had beaten them. The 37th's hitting power, never very overwhelming at best, fell off into a complete tailspin when confronted by little Nech Mejia of the Ordnancers. Mejia allowed only two career runs, and neither of them would have been possible without the big bat of Fitcher Walt Piebes, who drove in one with a triple and scored the other on Land's single to left.

Piebes wasn't as effective on the mound as he usually is, and was tanned for eight hits, six of them coming in the 328th's run-producing innings. Three of the blows were for extra bases. Piebes did manage to extricate himself from several holes with his well known strikeout ball, and fanned 12 during his labors.

Punch Lacking

Obviously something was needed to add a little punch to the batting order. Hal Grinols observed that his most potent hitter at present was one Walter Piebes, the aforementioned pitcher. Also, Ed Davis, another pitcher, had looked very good in batting practice, although not too impressive in actual contests. George Fagan, formerly the club strong boy, had been having a miserable time at the plate in recent games.

Keeping the above well in mind, Grinols prepared a little surprise for the 33rd FA, who opposed the Vets May 4. The Vet lineup looked somewhat different from the one used against the 328th. The same old family faces were there, but in such strange places. Piebes was at third base and was batting cleanup. Fagan, erstwhile cleanup man, had been dropped to sixth. Davis was playing right field and was batting fifth. Bryant, who usually hits fifth or sixth, was up in the number two spot.

33rd Not Pleased
The 33rd FA was hardly pleased at the results. The revamped lineup trampled two artillery pitchers for 17 runs (a new season high for the Vets) on 16 hits. (Another season high for the Vets.) Bryant got four for four. Fagan got three for five, including a double to the left field fence. The general results seem to be eminently satisfactory.

That win put the Vets right back in second place, a few percentage points ahead of Lawson Field and the 15D, and put an entirely new complexion on the next Airborne-37th game.

The pitching was assured for that one. Manager Hal Grinols modestly announced a week ago that neither the Airborne nor the Pros would get a run off him when they next met.

"An earned run, that is," he amended hastily.

That last statement is a little unfair in the light of recent events. The Vets were easily the best fielding team in the circuit during the three games following the late, lamented 15D debacle. During that three-game period the Vets committed only two errors, one coming in each of the last two.

Suffers Slump
They suffered a slight slump in the 33rd game, fouting up six times afield, but who cared?

Bob Lands continued to jack up his average during the week, and raised it from .379 to .395, picking up four hits in nine trips in the Vets two games, but Lands was pushed out of the hitting spotlight by the performance of Piebes, the recent third base experiment—Piebes—two for five in the 33rd game brought his season average to .530 and catapulted him into the league leadership in that department. Piebes has made his nine hits drive in five runs and score six more.

Zale Seen 'Man To Beat' In Races Friday Night

Johnnie Zale will be the man to beat at the midweek auto races in Martin stadium Friday night, if point-standings are a guide. The veteran driver has piled up 343 points this season, to jump ahead of the nearest contender, Freddie Moore, by 97 points.

Zale and Moore were all tied up last week with twin scores of 246, but Zale's victory in the final feature and in his heat, put him far to the front. Ranking after Moore in point standing released by track officials, were Bob Johnson, with 176, Hank Russ, with 153, Red Redmond, with 155, and Rick Kerr, with 161.

Johnny Suggs, driving a local racer (54), won his heat last week for the first time. Kerr won the consolation race for the third time straight, after slow time-trial-speed. Kerr also, won the Australian pursuit race last week, making his No. 60 the first locally owned racer to achieve that honor.

Among other repeaters on Promoter Alex Brewer's tentative

328th Rebounds To Whip Vets After Dropping Fliers Game

BY MURRAY HARDING

The 328th Ordinance rebounded from their heart-breaking loss to the Lawson Field Fliers last week in sprightly fashion, knocking off the highly regarded 37th Infantry 6 to 4. Nosh Mejia and Dick Thiele filled the hero roles nicely in the battle, Thiele knocking in the tying run in the seventh inning with a line single to right, and scoring the winner a little later on a passed ball. Then Mejia, the pitcher, took over and retired the top of the Vets' batting order on strikes to earn his second victory of the season.

Into each life some rain must fall, though, and a downpour fell on the 328th last Monday, when he had hurt his arm and might not be able to pitch another game this season. Mejia has long been bothered by recurrent arm ailments, which have put him out of action for long spells, so it's an old and sad tale for him. Even so, for the 328th as his loss now leaves them with only one able bodied pitcher—Boland.

Boland Now Pitching

Boland became one of the select few pitchers that have even lost two games in one day on that gloomy Monday, but neither of the losses can truthfully be laid at his doorstep.

The first game was a continuation of the 78th-328th game of last April 13, which was tied at the end of 7 1-2 innings of play at 6 o'clock when rain washed away the contest. The two teams went right on from that point and

The game continued until the ninth inning, when a couple of 328th fielders carelessly handed the Tankers a run and Boland a loss.

Martinez Hits Fly

The damage got under way when Martinez hit a towering fly to center field. Fyle, playing center field for the Ordinance, was situated very close to where the ball was going to fall, the only standing only fairly close to the landing point while the ball fell rapidly around to third base.

Catcher Gavin then completed the circuit for Martinez by letting from him, permitting the winning run to score.

In the second game, which started from scratch, Boland pitched fine ball, permitting only 4 hits, 3 of them to the pestiferous Martinez, and 3 runs, one unearned.

That was enough to win, because Martin, the Tanker pitcher,

Bullets Whip Tuskegee Nine

BY ROBERT D. PHILLIPS

Faced by bullet-tossing Lawrence Hall, who kept 8 hits well scattered, and rapped out a double and single to account for the runs, the Tuskegee Bulls ended a three-game losing streak and took up their winning ways again last Sunday at Tuskegee when they defeated the Tuskegee Faculty 5 to 3.

Hits by Hughes, Burke and the Brown loaded the sacks for the 25th with no outs in the first inning. But Maloney's hit into a double play and Balawin's slow bouncer to third crushed the Bulls' chance of scoring.

After beating out an infield hit to first base, Smith of Tuskegee scored, and scored when towering Coach Adams lined a hot single to center field.

Bullets Rally

In the top half of the second inning the Bulls got into the ball game by scoring three runs. Wardell poked a line single to left field and took second when John Griffery's neatly hit looper fell safe in center field. Then Lawrence Hall came to their rescue by blasting the third pitched ball in center field for a two-bagger, scoring Wardell and Griffery and moving to third when the center fielder let the ball get by.

After two were out in the third, successive doubles by Smith and Sawyer gave the Tuskegee aggregation another run.

The Bulls tightened their grip on the game by picking up a run in the sixth inning and one in the seventh on five safeties, a walk and a hit batsman.

In the last half of the ninth, with two out, Adams had his second hit of the game, lining a single to center field and scoring on an error and a single by White.

Flier Pitcher Abbot Holds Unique Crown

A pitcher-outfielder on the Lawson Field Fliers has one unique crown cinched; and welcome to it, as far as the rest of the league's pitchers are concerned. Abbot has an earned run average of a fine .04 runs per game, which is way out ahead of any of his colleagues' efforts, yet Abbot has never lost a game.

He achieved this result by pitching one third of an inning and giving up four earned runs, at which time he was prudently removed. Lawson eventually lost the game, but some other pitcher took the rap.

and his smoothly rounded curve ball had all the 328th hitters pretty well baffled, with the sole exception of Dick Thiele, who doesn't appear to be bothered by any pitcher. This collector of three of the eight hits allotted by Martin, and did his best to incapacitate the pitcher. All three of Thiele's singles were smashes right back through the box. Martin managed to avoid being killed on two occasions only by some nimble footwork.

Thiele would have won the game for Boland were it not for oversight on Barnico's part. Barnico was on second base when Thiele smashed his ball back through the box into center field, sending Barnico racing across the plate—only to be omitted touching third only by his own home and was called out when an alert infielder called for the ball and tagged the base.

Tankers Finally Win

The Tankers finally won out in the last of the seventh when Watts bounced a single into left field, scoring Martinez with the clincher.

The double loss dropped the Ordinance men into the second division and lowered them to the .500 mark.

Dick Thiele continued to pace the club in all the offensive departments. Thiele is hitting an even .400, has scored 9 runs, and has driven in 13.

The 328th get their fight for the first division under way again tonight against the 13D Profs, in what will undoubtedly be a tough game to take, but after that they have a series of three "average" pitchers they take on the 78th Engineers, the 37th, and the 28th TC Bn. In that order, on Saturday, Monday, and Wednesday.

Lawson Fliers Suffer 2 Devastating Blows

The Lawson Field Fliers suffered a pair of devastating blows recently. The first came when the Airborne Battalion flattened them 15 to 4, in a game that was supposed to be close. And, following close behind that, they received the word that Herschel (the muscle) Fansler, who has become the most respected power hitter in the league in recent games, lost last Tuesday on a fifteen-day leave, which will put him out of circulation for the rest of the first half of the season, which fact will hardly help the Fliers in their struggle for an upper bracket spot.

Now In 4th Place
Lawson is now resting in the fourth spot in the standings, one game out of second, but only because they have played less games than the ASD and Troopers. The three teams have lost three games.

In the Airborne encounter, the Fliers stayed with the Troopers for the first four innings, and were trailing by only a run at that point as the Troopers blasted across to run inners last three innings, and pretty well took the heart out of the Fliers. The Fliers' best pitchers, Walker and Fray, were the victims of the onslaught.

Smith Still Hitting
Smith is still belting the ball for the Fliers, and raised his average in the last two games up to .420. Jack Forbes has been hitting up a spirited battle in recent weeks, and has raised his mark to .394. Forbes and Smith have the same number of hits, but Forbes has been at bat more times than his team mate. Fansler's average dropped to .348. He got only two hits in his last eight times at bat, but those two hits were a home run smash over the right field fence against the 32nd, and a line double to deep right center against the Airborne. The hits drove in three runs to give Fansler the club leadership in that department with eight.

The Fliers have a tougher row to hoe in the next two games they play. First on the list are the rapidly rising 756th Tankers tomorrow night, and then on Monday they meet the always tough ISD Frogs. They will have to win both of them if they hope to nail down second.

It is practically impossible for any team to overtake the 32nd Battalion at this late stage. The Airborne are now three full games in front of the pack, and it doesn't look as though they will be headed from here on out. The 37th has a fair chance of making them over tonight—probably the best chance of any team, in fact—but the Airborne is still listed as the favorite.

LAWSON FIELD PEPPERPOT
—There's plenty of chatter behind the plate and around the infield when the Lawson nine plays at Gowdy Field, with Smith (above) providing most of the talk. Smitty comes from Mississippi and his batting average has been hovering around .400 all year. (A.A.P. Photo.)

Two Games Remaining On AOC-4 Softball Slate

AOC No. 4 is scheduled to wind up its softball season this week with two games. So far the team has scored five wins against two losses for a percentage of .714.

Piloted by Manual Silva, the No. 4 club has taken all games against the better AOC teams in Harmony Church. The two losses were suffered to Classes 2 and 5, but were redeemed later by wins over both teams.

STR Tumbles Back To Cellar In Ball League

The STR ran up the cellar stairs on April 30 into ninth place by upsetting the 756th Tankers 6 to 3, but on May 4, they tumbled right down again into undignified possession of the basement by taking a 4-2 licking from the 78th Engineers. And it looks now as though they were destined to stay there, since they will play less games than the Engineers and will consequently have a lower percentage, barring unforeseen circumstance, such as another victory.

Under New Manager
The team swapped managers for the first time this season, and it was under the inspired guidance of their new leader, Major Mitchell, that they dropped the 756th game. The big doings in the contest came in the fourth inning when the Tankers generously contributed three errors to two STR hits. It all evolved into four runs for the STR, and at that time, a 6 to 1 lead, and which they held, Heistand staying off the mound in which the Tankers to become the first winning pitcher on the staff.

Heistand scattered five Tanker hits well, and exhibited superb pitcher control than is usually demonstrated by STR hurlers, walking only two batters.

Mink Faces Club
Joe Mink continued to pace the club hitters with a .412 mark, although he wasn't hitting the ball as well as usual in this week's games. Joe's average keeps him well up against the first ten hitters in the league.

The Rifles further distinguished themselves in the Tanker game, by playing errorless ball, won the second time this year that they had gone the full seven-inning stretch without a miscue, and so far, they are the only team to do so. It was an exceedingly fine effort, and one of the other comedies that have been produced at Gowdy Field, notably the one in which the 29th TC Bn. committed 13 errors to establish a new league high, and one which we hope will not be approached again this year.

That same 29th team, incidentally, won the Rifles' next game, and it is hard to see where there is every reason to expect that the STR error will bring home the bacon again, in which case they will once again raise themselves from the depths. Their only other game in the next seven days will be against the 328th Ordinance on Monday night.

AOC 6 Wins Game In Softball League

BY O/C KENNETH E. DODGE

Last week AOC No. 6 inaugurated the STR softball season with a convincing 8 to 2 victory over AOC No. 4.

For the past month the 10th Company officer candidates have been holding inter-platoon competition, with the first platoon winning two out of three and the second platoon taking two out of four. These teams have now merged to form one of the greatest teams to hit the Student Training Regiment.

The array of company ball talent includes four hurlers; Steve Smoke, whose name indicates the speed of his fastball; Martineau, fast and batted; Wolfgang and Ferguson, to furnish the support when necessary.

Two catchers, Downey and Skillman, are equally matched. The first base has been occupied and vying for the honor. Prill and Colvin are sweating out who will keep potential runs from hitching on second. Shortstop is held down by Ulrich, Zollar and Dodge are in charge of all the down third in the base line. The outfield has seven men available for all positions.

Tankers Move Into 5th Place

Winning two games from the 328th Ordinance Monday night, both of them in extra innings, the 756th Tankers moved passed that team into fifth place in the league standings with a record of seven victories in 12 games.

Hero of the occasion was shortstop Joe Martinez, who was the stop Jose Martinez, who was the only Tanker able to hit Andy Boland. But that was enough, as Ken Watts set the Ordinance down in order in the April 13 playoff game and Hubert Martin gave up but two runs in pitching the eight innings of the second contest.

Martinez Scores
Martinez scored the winning run in the playoff game when he reached third in the ninth on one of the 328th's misplay in center field and came home when the catcher couldn't hold a high pitch by Boland.

In the second game Boland gave up but four hits, three of them garnered by Martinez, who tied in all of the Tanker rallies, scoring three runs. He smacked his first triple of the season in the third inning and played good ball in the field. Ken Watts sent him home with the hit-breaking run in the eighth with a single to left.

Last Saturday the same Ken Watts came as close to pitching a no-hit, no-run game as anyone ever has. Ritchie, of the 294th, got on base in the sixth via a scratch single that didn't travel more than fifteen feet down the first base line. He proceeded to steal second, go to third on the third triple and come home on a passed ball for the lone Trucker run. The Tankers won, 8-1.

Base Recruiting Team Tours Georgia, Alabama

As part of the Army Air Forces stepped-up recruiting program, Lawson Field has assigned two recruiting teams to tour its territory in Georgia and Alabama.

Each team is made up of one officer and one enlisted man. Their itinerary will cover cities and communities within a 100-mile radius of Columbus. They are using the silver and blue AAAA recruiting cars for transportation, and are showing the motion picture "Play for Your Mother's Day," which explains Universal Military Training, at several high schools in their territory. The tour will end in June.

By MILT MOSKOWITZ

Track pushes back out of the limelight for a moment this week, with the Third Army out of the run off here next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. It seems as if there isn't much interest around Army posts in track, as only one installation, Fort Bragg, has bothered to operate a team.

The competition between Bragg and Benning in past tournaments has been close, with the North Carolinians beating out the Doughboys in baseball, basketball, and boxing. The Bragg teams are of course spearheaded by men of the 82nd Airborne Division, which is stationed there.

This meet can hardly be ballyhooed as an Airborne-non-Airborne battle, as with the exception of about four men—Bill Miller, Ken Nowles, Ralph Teller, and Reeves—the Benning squad is composed entirely of Troopers or future Airborne soldiers.

There seems to be more Californians on the Benning track squad than Illinois, New Yorkers, Hoosiers, or any other state you can name. There are a total seven—Chuck Cole, Cal Gray, De Gardner, Ken Nowles, Cosmo Cutri, Doug Scovill, and Reeves.

One of the hardest-workers on the Benning track squad is Taylor Baker, whom you may remember as the little forward who scored so many points for the Doughboy basketball team this season.

"Bake" came in third in the mile last Saturday and was disappointed with his showing. He said he'll be out on the Doughboy Stadium cinders every minute he can spare this week, to make certain that he's the Third Army mile champion. We think those Bragg milers will have a little more than they can cope with in "Bake," who usually does what he makes up his mind to do.

Another former Doughboy basketball player who has blossomed as a track star is Bill Miller, who operated as the pivot. Bill was only supposed to do.

COMING ATTRACTIONS
BULLDOG DRUMMOND AT BAY (detective story) with Ron Randall and Anita Louise. A Scotland Yard man disappears while en route from France to London with a fortune in diamonds. It becomes Drummond's responsibility to find both man and jewels. (Recommended for family audience.)

THE BIG FIX (crooks and basketball) with James Brown, Sheila Ryan, and Regis Toomey. Brown, a star basketball player, has ideas of helping his team win the championship. Gamblers have other ideas about Brown and the team. Between trying to cooperate with the police, cross up the gamblers and keep his girl friend, Brown has a busy time of it. (Recommended for family audience.)

RAMROD (super-western) with DeLoe McCrea, Veronica Lake, Charles Ruggles, Preston Foster, Don DeFore and Donald Crisp. Following a star cast from top to bottom, this western is packed with the slam-bang action that comes from fun fights, fist fights, beatings, chases, escapes and pursuits that keep you in suspense down to the final seconds of the film. (Recommended for family audience.)

THE WOMAN ON THE BEACH (melodrama) with Joan Bennett, Robert Ryan, and Charles Bickford. Her was husband blind or was he only feigning? Did she dare leave him to marry someone else? In finding the solution to these questions, the wife braves three lives to the brink of disaster. (Recommended for mature audience.)

LAST MONKEY MOON (domestic difficulties) with Franchot Tone, Ann Richards, and Tom Conway. On the eve of his marriage, Tone is confronted with a dilemma in the form of an English woman and infant twins who were supposed to be his wife and children. This picture was made strictly for laughs and many are pleased as long as they try to work out his predicament to everybody's satisfaction. (Recommended for mature audience.)

STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN (fantasy) with David Niven, Kim Hunter, and Raymond Massey. This technicolor fantasy is sometimes boring, sometimes amusing, and always interesting. When R. A. F. bomber Phil Niven crashed in England, he should have died. That he did not is the result of bungling on the part of a celestial messenger who extends an extension on his log. Niven feels that he should come up where he belongs in order to bring their accounts in balance. What is the solution satisfactory to both sides produces one of the most unusual stories ever screened. (Recommended for mature audiences.)

78th Defeats STR Nine 4-2

Playing for the first time with their new name, the 78th Engineers (formerly the 1290th) took their elusive first victory Sunday afternoon, defeating the Student Training Regiment, 4-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Howie Bowen.

Bowen allowed two runs and three hits in the first inning, but pitched almost perfect ball the rest of the way, as his mates played good ball in the field.

The Engineers made up their two-run disadvantage in the third, on a walk to Felix Tartaglia, who stole two bases, and singles by Moran and Founds. They went ahead in the fourth, when John Leitch led off with a hit, stole second, and came home on an error by the shortstop. One more run for insurance was added in the sixth, as Harnois singled and scored when Leitch's drive bounced off the centerfielder's glove for a three-base error.

With the Student Training Regiment leading off the seventh with a single and a walk, it looked as if Bowen was in for trouble. However a spectacular bit of fielding by two Jersey City boys who had pitched together before coming into the Army saved the day.

After Bowen had got one man out on a force play, first and third was occupied and Carney was the batter. He hit a liner to left field which Gabe Ambrosia caught on the run and threw to Tartaglia at the plate doubling Stocker, who was trying to come in after the catch. The put was a beauty, nestling in Tartaglia's mitt without a bounce.

The Engineers are confident now, and expect to shake themselves loose from the cellar this week. They were scheduled to play the 204th Truckers Wednesday and have games with the 328th Ordnance and 83rd Field Artillery coming up this week.

Making less errors in each succeeding game, the Engineers have developed into a good fielding club. Ambrosia in left field and Leitch at shortstop have both sparkled.

Joe Harnois' 412 batting average is the best on the club, and Leitch and Moran are coming through with timely hits too. The 78th is one of the league leaders in the base-stealing department. Fast on the basespats, the Engineer players rarely fail to pilfer six bases per game.

Darkroom Developments

By BEN ZAB

Photography can be fun. And anyone can make pictures. All you need is a camera, which can be anything from a cigar box to an expensive imported miniature. film, the knowledge of a few basic facts and the ability to exercise some good old American horse sense.

To begin with, don't envy the other guy because he has a better camera than you. All cameras have one thing in common: When they are closed, it's pitch black inside. Usually the fellow with an expensive gadget expects it to do a great deal. Here's a little secret: The one thing any camera will do by itself, no matter how much it costs, is collect dirt. A $1.98 box camera intelligently can't do as frequently does produce prints which are hung in saloons. On the other hand many a complete miniature has confused the operator with its conglomerate collection of conglomerate gadgets at the point where the owner looks for a convenient place from which to hang himself. Since functionally all cameras operate similarly, learn how your works, use it intelligently and life can be beautiful.

TIPS FOR THE TYRO

To produce good pictures: Become pregnant!—conceive an idea. Think through the thing you wish to picture to say, and then with your camera as an instrument, deliver it. Stick to one camera, one film and one developer. Learn how they work and the world is your apple. Nisely per cent of your troubles will disappear.

Developer, film and paper cost money, but the most expensive item in photography is time, and that little item is the one thing most frequently wasted. It's false economy to scrimp on paper, save old developer, then have to do the job all over again, for having done so. Always use fresh film, chemicals and paper. It's cheaper in the long run.

One of the first and best investments in photography is a good thermometer with an easily read scale. It's a standard of procedure to fit your particular circumstances.

Follow the recommendations of the manufacturers of the materials you use. And there goes the remaining ten per cent of your troubles.

Photographic practitioners with particular problems can address their queries to the editor of Darkroom Developments, Public Information Office. An honest attempt will be made to answer representative questions.

Opelika To Hear 'Singing Airmen'

The schedule for Lawson Field's "Singing Airmen" includes a trip to Opelika for an appearance at the Bell Baptist church on Sunday at 4 p.m., Sgt. James A. Hamilton, manager, announces.

The group will present a song festival at the Lawson Field recreation hall on Monday, May 12, at 8 o'clock, featuring their newly organized swing quartet, "The Mellow Tones." Cpl. Thomas T. McQuitty has been named soloist with the new group. For four years prior to entering the service corporal McQuitty sang with the Vernon Hughes band in Kansas City, Kans. and has made several guest appearances at Columbus night clubs since reporting at Lawson.

Capt. Anderson Speaks To Phenix Legionnaires

Capt. Major M. Anderson Jr., AAF Supply Liaison Officer at Lawson Field, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Fletcher McCollister Post of the American Legion at the Phenix City Recreation Hall May 6 at 8 p. m.

Captain Anderson served two years in the EPD with tactical Air Command and played a major part in the two months Air Indoctrination Course training which Tactical Air Command concluded at Lawson Field last week. He spoke on his TAC wartime experience and described the purpose of the TAC course just completed by Ninth Air Force here.

7 Enlisted Men Retired April 30

Colorful ceremonies at Stillwell Field April 30 marked the retirement of six enlisted men of the 3440 ASU, and one from the Infantry School Detachment.

Those who received letters of merit for "unselfish duty and devotion to their country" included 1st Sgts. Gilbert Anderson, Sam M. Creamer and Mack A. McKay, and T-Sgts. Thomas J. Kightlun, John McClelland, and Frank A. Stratton, all members of the 3440 ASU; and Sgt. Pasquale Rinaldo, of the ISD.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, who presented the letters, congratulated each man upon reaching the retirement age and praised them for their loyalty and excellent characters.

Following the presentation, the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion and the 72nd Army Ground Forces band passed in review. Commander of troops for the occasion was Lt. Col. John A. Gloriod, commanding officer of the 83rd.

LUFTWAFFE DESTROYED

BERLIN (APFS)—Disarmament of the German Air Force now is "essentially complete," according to Lt. Col. Beverly E. Steadman, chief of the Air Forces branch of the U. S. A. Armed Forces Division.

Many of the airfields from which the once-proud Luftwaffe dominated European skies for two years will be devoted to potato crops this year.

Pathfinder Course Ends

The 35 members of the final airborne pathfinder class of the winter season received certificates of proficiency at graduation exercises Monday.

During four weeks of intensive training the advanced students were divided into three teams and instructed by experienced pathfinder officers and enlisted men. Their training included technical courses, among them operation and emergency maintenance of ground radio and radar units.

Purpose of short course is to orient airborne soldiers in the methods of air resupply by radio direction. Use of pathfinders teams to direct the aircraft over the resupply area is designed to eliminate failure to resupply exactly where they are needed.

Pathfinder school officials pointed out that inaccuracy in resupply missions was prevalent during the war, resulting in the loss of valuable equipment on many occasions. This was caused, officials said, by fast moving troops who could not find the resupply zones during the resupply missions.

Radars Used

At that time there was no direct communication between ground troops and air crews. Now, however, through the use of improved radar techniques pathfinder teams can guide the aircraft to the exact location of the ground troops by use of voice or radar beacons.

The average weight of each man on the pathfinder team is increased by approximately 50 pounds additional equipment, including the radio and radar units. Each man jumps his own equipment, but as soon as his parachute opens, he releases the heavy radios and radars and they glide to earth under the control of the exact location of the ground troops. This method of jumping his own equipment enables the pathfinder man to put it in the exact location of the most possible delay.

Post Fatalities Hit New High

The death of two members of the 758th Tank Battalion May 9 brought to 19 the total number of Fort Benning troops fatally injured since January, it was revealed today by post safety officials.

The figure for the first four months of 1947 is only three less than the total number of fatal accidents for 1946.

The 1947 fatalities have already cost the Army $380,000, according to the report, which has a total cost of $380,000 for 1946.

Other startling figures released by the safety officials show a total of $183,740 calculated cost to the Army for injuries, other than fatal, sustained by the Benning personnel since January 1.

A total of eight fatal accidents occurred during the month of April alone. According to a report filed by the 18 fatalities were caused by automobile accidents, one by a motorcycle accident, and two by truck accidents. Two other accidental deaths were caused by acute alcoholism and two by drowning, while only one death was reported to have been caused by routine training.

COMPANY E ORGANIZED

Organization of Company E, Infantry School Detachment, was announced this week by military authorities. Personnel will be furnished by the Infantry School Detachment in accordance with existing Tables of Distribution, they said.

30 Enlisted Men Of 501st Promoted

Thirty enlisted men of the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion were recently promoted as follows:

- To 1-Sgt.—A. E. Manberry and A. L. Hutchens.
- 3-Sgt.—M. Andrews, W. D. Thrasher and H. G. Miller.
- To T-3—E. D. Barr, E. C. Jarvis, H. C. Fray and A. R. Brooks.
- To 1-Sgt.—M. Saturday and C. P. Beccorri.
- To 1st G. H. Edwards, R. S. White and A. J. Homa.
- To Cpl.—V. A. Barber, E. R. Gill, A. A. Strickland, M. J. Travers, G. A. Hollenbeck, R. J. Cotter and J. R. Slough.
- To T-3—H. E. Banks, R. E. Funk, H. W. Gill, P. H. Peasey, D. Chadee, J. C. Parker, R. J. Jensen, D. McCrow and G. F. Monkhouse.

Two members of the 758th Tank Battalion, Pfc. Charles E. Reynolds and Pfc. Gregory W. Papp, were killed in a truck accident Friday evening on the Hourglass road when the six-by-six perched on the dirt road and turned over.

According to Capt. Freeman Jones, post safety officer, the two soldiers were returning to their unit after making a routine guard inspection of a cub plane belonging to the tank battalion. Skid marks on the dirt road indicated the vehicle was being driven at a high rate of speed and that the driver apparently lost control after rounding a curve.

Fate Sealed Off

After swaying from one side of the road to the other for a distance of about 200 yards, the vehicle headed into the right-hand ditch, sheared off a telephone pole and then turned end over and about six times. The driver was apparently killed instantly and the other occupant thrown clear of the vehicle and then killed an instant later when plumed down by the truck.

The vehicle finally came to rest with its engine buried into the ground and the tail gate stuck up in the air.

It is not known who was driving the truck, which had been signed out to Private Reynolds. A search is underway for individuals who might have seen the accident occur.

Private Reynolds is survived by his mother, Mrs. Isabel McGregor Reynolds, 633 Courtland Avenue, Fresno, California. Private Papp is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gregory W. Papp, 1118 Evergreen Street, Chicago. It is understood that he had been married only a few days prior to the accident.

Civilian Branches To Be Consolidated

In accordance with present War Department policy of maintaining only one civilian personnel office at each Army installation the Lawson Field branch will be consolidated with the Infantry Center effective May 18, H. A. Rinsland, civilian personnel chief at Fort Benning, announced today.

Purpose of the consolidation is a further economy move, he said, adding that it will facilitate administration.

Rest A Ease, Old Timers!

Numerous Fort Benning master sergeants threatened to put in for retirement while other high ranking non-coms became somewhat disturbed after publication last week in The Bayonet of a story explaining the Army's proposed career system (or enlisted men).

What caused all the commotion was a little paragraph buried deep in the story which said, "All soldiers now holding non-com grades will have to take a test to hold their stripes. Those who fail will be demoted one grade."

A little investigation revealed that The Bayonet story was incomplete. The complete Army proposal on the subject in question is as follows:

"Six months after the announcement that all promotions shall be based upon MOS tests, all personnel in Grades 1 to 6, inclusive, shall be prepared to the proficiency in their respective grade, and primary job field. Persons with 10 years of service who have held three years or more in present or higher grade and those who have been awarded a medal of honor will be exempt from provision of the policy.

"Individuals who fail to pass the test for retention of their present grade will be reduced to the next lower grade. After six months in the lower grade, they will be required to pass the test for that grade or be further reduced."

88 AOC Members To Get Bars May 20

Eighty-eight members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 4, which began training six months ago, will be commissioned second lieutenants at graduation exercises May 20.

The final parade will be held at Stroup field at 2:15 p. m. May 15. Honor graduate is John H. Asbury.

OPEN TO CIVILIANS, ENLISTED MEN

500 Cadets To Be Selected For Pilot Training Course

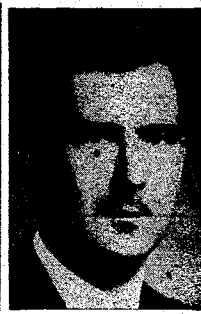

The first Army Air Forces aviation cadet pilot training class since VE-Day to be open to civilians as well as to enlisted men from all components of the Army will begin July 1 at Randolph Field, Tex. Five hundred cadets will be selected for the 50-week course which leads to a commission and a pilot's rating in the Army.

A second class of 500 will begin training October 15, and a third, also of 500, will start in January, 1948.

Rigid Written Test

Applicants must be unmarried between 18 and 28 1-2, and must have completed at least two years of college study or be able to pass a rigid written test measuring the equivalent. Before assignment to classes, applicants will undergo thorough physical examinations and aptitude tests.

The Army Air Forces latest developments in training techniques and aircraft, resulting from far-reaching research conducted during World War II, are being integrated in the expanded course. Cadets will be trained in the use of recently-perfected radar and electronics devices, jet and

Water Safety Course Offered

William Martin McGowan, special field representative for Red Cross, water safety and accident prevention for the Red Cross, will arrive at Fort Benning May 19 to conduct a class for instructors in water safety and first aid, according to Murray E. Hill, Red Cross field director here.

Men eligible for the Red Cross water safety classes will be selected from the various organizations on the post. Prerequisites for attendance will be the ability to swim and in turn teach others how to swim.

Simultaneous Courses

The water safety course, to be conducted simultaneously at Russ and Sand Hill Pools, will include all phases of teaching swimming and water safety. Upon the successful completion of the course students will become qualified Red Cross instructors and will be available for the rest of the season to teach swimming and act as life guards.

Royal Group From Egypt Tours Post

A 15-gun salute and three ruffles and flourishes by the 72nd Army Ground Force band signalled the arrival here late Sunday afternoon of Lt. Gen. Ibrahim Atalla Pasha, chief of staff of the Royal Egyptian Army, and a nine-man delegation of high-ranking officers from the Royal Egyptian military and air mission on an extensive tour of U. S. military installations.

Met at Lawson field by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of Fort Benning, and Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Shepard, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, the Pasha inspected the military guard of honor which was on hand to greet the officials.

Visit Airborne Section

Monday morning the party toured the Airborne section of the Infantry School where they witnessed airborne training procedures. They inspected methods of instruction in loading cargo planes and gliders at Caladonia Infantry School, the Pasha and his officers were given an opportunity to make a practice jump in the Pasha's plane. He was accompanied by Hassan Akef, aide to His Majesty King Farouk I, made the only jump.

Later at the airborne control tower several members of the party took a ride in the "buddy-seat."

New Record Set In Air Course

AOC No. 9 has a new championship in Officer Candidate Thomas Burns, who burned up the combat conditioning course last week in a record time of 9:07 minutes.

The combat conditioning course is a 1,800-yard ramble over hills, under wire, up ladders, down ropes, across logs—all of which soon separates the men from the boys.

The previous record of 9:09 minutes was set last February by a member of AOC No. 4.

"The maximum time allowed to qualify in the course is 14 minutes. The average time is about 11 minutes," said Burns. "I also ran" take it at their leisure.

Burns is a battle veteran with four years' service. He sports three battle stars. Burns is a member with the Field Artillery in the 76th Infantry Division as a forward observer.

"I was just running at my maximum or very nearly so," said Burns, before he had set a new record for the course.

Danish Officers To Inspect Post

Two Danish officers, Col. V. Hvalkov, commandant of the Royal Danish School of Artillery, and Lt. Col. P. V. Hammersley, head of the personnel section, Royal Danish War Department, are scheduled to arrive at Fort Benning May 22 by private automobile for an inspection tour of the Infantry Center.

According to advance information, the two Danish officers are interested in the study of some of the personnel sources from which permanent U. S.-commissioned officers of the Infantry are drawn and the organization and training at these sources.

AAF Officer Candidate School Open To Enlisted Men, Civilians

Applications for assignment to the newly reopened Army Air Forces administrative Officer Candidate School class are being accepted now from qualified civilians and enlisted men in all services of the Army. Two hundred and fifty candidates will be selected for the 24-week session beginning July 7.

Graduates of the school at Kelly Field (San Antonio), Texas, will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Reserve and will be qualified for military and administrative duties in the AAF.

Rigid Physical Exam

Applicants must be between 20 1/2 and 28 years of age, pass a rigid physical examination, be high school graduates, pass a competitive AAF OCS test, earn an Army general classification score of 110 or higher, and possess high moral and personal qualities.

Information and application forms can be obtained from any recruiting office or Army post. Candidates assigned to the AAF class will receive a staff sergeant's base pay of $12 a month and allowances. Men now in the Army who receive an OCS assignment and who hold a grade higher than staff sergeant will not be reduced in grade or pay; men holding a grade lower than staff sergeant will receive staff sergeant's pay.

Courses taught during the OCS session will include administration, leadership, communication, supply, logistics, and training management. An important phase of instruction is practical work performed by candidates under the supervision of war-trained officers, to acquaint the future lieutenants with the responsibilities they must assume upon graduation.

Instruction will be divided into various phases including demonstrations, displays, training films and lectures. Classroom work will be minimized to allow emphasis on practical demonstrations and training.

Most of the AAF administrative officers who served in all parts of the world throughout World War II graduated from similar schools.

Candidates who are assigned to the school from civilian life will be discharged from the Army if they do not complete the course.

STR Sends Observers To UMT Camp At Knox

During recent weeks three officers and one enlisted man of the Student Training Regiment have been ordered to the Universal Military Training Experimental Camp at Fort Knox, Ky., on temporary duty to observe the program of instruction being carried out there, it was learned today.

Lt. Col. Roy E. Zinser, regimental executive officer, and Major Carl E. Jacobsen, STR S-3, have already returned from the course. Capt. Floyd E. Davis and 1-Sgt. John H. Moore, both of 9th Company, left May 4. Sgt. Moore is the first of six non-coms scheduled to view the training experiment.

Those who have already returned from Fort Knox report that the morale of the trainees appears to be exceedingly high.

Tuesday's tour got under way at 9 a. m. with a firing demonstration of self-propelled weapons at Warner range, followed by a battalion medical service problem by AOC class No. 7 at 10:15 a. m. After lunch, General Aiala held a brief press conference, and at 2 p. m. witnessed a firing demonstration of infantry weapons at Hook range.

Firing demonstrations of the recoilless 75 mm. rifle by Associate Basic class No. 2 at Patton range, the 81 mm. mortar by Associate Advanced class No. 3 at Glenn field, and visits to the automotive section and visual aids exhibit were on Wednesday's program.

At 2 p. m. Wednesday the party witnessed an attack of a fortified position by an Infantry School battalion. They left by plane from Lawson field at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Army Searching For Better Bug Exterminators.

The Army is looking for new and better ways to exterminate the moth and other insects that cause heavy damage to Army stores every year.

A research program, being conducted by the Quartermaster corps, is starting at the beginning of the search for more effective insecticides (which kill) and insect repellents (which drive away) these destructive creatures. Naphthalene, which has wide use, does not measure up to military needs. Surveys and reports from military camps show that the Army has a serious problem in protecting stored food and articles made of wood, paper, cotton, wool, and certain synthetic fibers from damage due to insect infestation.

With the Quartermaster research program efforts will be made to improve the chemical and biological methods for the analysis of insecticidal and insect-deterrent compounds required for the control of production and for standardization of purity levels.

Terminal Leave Promotions Out For Non-Regulars

Non-Regular officers on extended active duty at Fort Benning will have to decide before July 1, 1948, whether they wish to remain on duty or take a promotion and be separated from the service.

The War Department has ordered that terminal leave promotions for non-regular officers be suspended after July 1. Officers who remain on duty after July 1 enter on terminal leave in the grade held immediately prior to processing for separation.

AGP Headquarters advised Infantry Center officials by TWX to get decisions of officers as soon as possible as to whether they desire separation and terminal leave promotion or retention in the service. The TWX also authorized TIC to immediately pro-

'INFANTRYMAN SHORTAGE'

Doughboys Scarce, Army Puts Restrictions On Office Work

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—The Army, worried about a "world-wide, critical shortage" of infantrymen, declares that too many of its fighting foot soldiers are doing office jobs.

So it has taken steps to remedy the situation. A new War Department circular says first that a rifleman can't draw pay as a combat or expert infantryman ($10 a month more) if he transfers to another assignment. It adds:

"All enlisted men who have been awarded the combat or expert infantryman badge who volunteer for service with the infantry (except those whose badges have been withdrawn) will be transferred to the infantry provided they are physically qualified for such service. This policy is effective at once and is applicable regardless of the present assignment status of individuals desiring transfer."

The Army asserts that "it is not intended that infantrymen shall fill all staff and administrative positions; rather, that they shall be assigned only to those positions which require or can be filled by infantrymen in order for the duty to be properly performed."

Will We Do It Again?

Twenty-eight years ago our country was at peace after fighting what was then the world's worst war. Demobilization came fast and our Army shrunk to a force of 200,000. Then another war came—one that took millions of lives and left the people of the world dying of starvation.

Now in 1947, 28 years after our first lesson, we are again reducing our Army to a small garrison force. This time, the shrinkage is more gradual than in 1919, but then this was a larger-scale war. Nevertheless it is still taking place.

Hardly a month goes by that Army-Navy expenditures are not being cut. These economy measures are partly necessary. Our Army during peace does not require the large sum necessary in war. But if we continue this time as we did before, we will again be a weak military power.

In 1941 when war came our soldiers were trained with wooden guns. The people wanted to know why. Why were we so unprepared? We hope this question will never be asked again, for the next time we may not even have the time to train with wooden guns or any other kind of guns.

It is the hope and prayer of all that there will never be a "next time," but we must look clearly into the future and insure our American way of life against any eventuality.

'Goofy' Navigation

By CHAP. J. J. JEDLOWSKI

Not so very long ago, Walt Disney product, "How to Be Sailor," gave an account of the progress which has been made in the science of navigation so far in the early days of modern times. One scene showed "Goofy," in the early days of sailing, standing on the deck looking up at the stars and saying, "Starlight, Starbright, O'er my head, where I was tonight." Well, great progress has been made in the field of navigation so that now a navigator at sea can tell exactly where he is and where he is going.

Much thought and effort is given to the navigation of our earthly endeavors. No effort is too great to reach a desired goal.

To attain worldly success the best authorities in the arts and sciences are consulted, studied and followed.

In another field of navigation we fear that progress is being made in just the inverse order. We mean the field of navigation for our own lives. In other words, "Why am I here and where am I going?" Our navigation gives us the answer to these questions. He is the Master who can help us to steer our course in the proper direction. With Him at our side as our constant Consultant and Guide we can manage to weather the storms and vicissitudes of our earthly passage to the permanent Port which lies beyond this earthly life.

Of course there are some who want to do their own navigating and make their own rules for the way in which they navigate—and they are so sure of themselves that they never seem to bear on their destination. The only trouble with this kind of navigation is that when they get "where they're going" it's going to be too late to turn around and go back to "where they want to be."

STATE BONUS LAWS

To be eligible for a bonus, veterans must meet both service and residence requirements. Determination and eligibility requirements date there are seven states and the Territory of Alaska which have authorized a bonus to veterans of World War II: Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and Connecticut.

For information and applications, interested veterans should write to:

1. Illinois—Adjutant General's Office, Springfield, Ill.
2. Massachusetts—Bonus Division, Treasurer and Receiver-General, State House, Boston, Mass.
3. Michigan—Office of Veterans Affairs, 411 West Michigan Avenue, Lansing 15, Mich.
4. New Hampshire—Adjutant General's Office, State House, Concord, N.H.
5. Rhode Island—Chairman of the Veterans Bonus Board, Room 127, State House, Providence, R. I.
6. Vermont—Veterans State Bonus Division, State House, Montpelier, Vt.
7. Connecticut—Treasurer of the State of Connecticut, Hartford 6, Conn.
8. Alaska—Commissioner of Veterans' Affairs, Juneau, Alaska.

Bonus legislation of the states mentioned above contain provisions under certain conditions for payment of the bonus to the next of kin of service personnel killed, or who died in service during World War II.

SEPARATION CALENDAR—The following calendar indicates the time limitations in which eligible personnel may apply for the receipt of certain benefits and privileges afforded under existing laws and regulations:

1. Apply for old job within 90 days after discharge of lapse.
2. Reinstatement NSLI before 1 August 1947 or 6 months after date of lapse.
3. Terminal leave pay, apply before 1 September 1947.
4. Readjustment allowance, apply within 2 years from date of separation or end of war.
5. Begin Education G. I. Bill within 4 years after discharge, or end of war.
6. Convert NSLI within 5 years if policy is dated after 1 January 1946. Within 8 years if policy is dated before 1 January 1946.
7. Complete Education G. I. Bill within 9 years after the war.
8. I. Loan, apply within 10 years after end of war.
9. Disability pensions, apply any time.
10. Burial benefits, next of kin should apply within 2 years after death.

FIVE MILLION VETERANS URGED TO APPLY FOR TERMINAL PAY—An estimated five million or more Army veterans have not yet filed claims to do so as soon as possible. Supplemental clerical workers handling terminal leave payments now make it possible to speed action on applications received, and urge those who have not yet filed to take advantage of this opportunity. Eligible veterans may obtain claim forms at local post offices.

New Tests Received By Vocational School

In addition to the USAPF correspondence courses and the General Educational Development Tests, the Infantry Center's Troop Information and Education Office has obtained a series of Vocational Interest Tests, according to Capt. Willard E. Chambers, post troop I&E officer.

"These tests have been designed to aid young men in making an occupational choice," Captain Chambers said. "They are a measure of one's interests interpreted in terms of occupations." Captain Chambers said the tests will be made available to qualified personnel as soon as the Vocational School completes its move to the new area.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

WINTER WONDERLAND (sking and romance) with Lynne Roberts and Charles Drake. Snow-covered hills and fancy footwork on skis provide the background for this romantic musical. (Recommended for family.)

DANGER STREET (melodrama) with Jane Withers and Robert Lowery. Jane becomes involved in murder, blackmail, racketeering and whatnot when she tries to get some photographs of a gambling place her editor-boss is attempting to close up. (Recommended for family.)

THE HOMESTRETCH (horseracing) with Cornel Wilde, Maureen O'Hara, and Glenn Langan. Race fans get plenty of action and color in this technicolor story of race horses and their owners. Shots of 11 tracks in three countries provide a series of race events and Wilde and O'Hara provide the romantic fireworks. (Recommended for family.)

TRACY'S DILEMMA (detective story) with Ralph Byrd, Kay Christopher, and Lyle Latell. Tracy's assignment is the capture of fur thieves led by the "Claw." Dick and Fat have a tough time until Vitamin Flinnhart decides to play detective. (Recommended for family.)

KIT CARSON (western) with Dana Andrews, Lynn Bari, and Jon Hall. A warn who shot the old war of Kit Carson when the man who shot the fastest won the argument. Plenty of hard riding and Indian fighting pack in the action. (Recommended for family.)

DISORDERED LADY (psychic and crime) with Betty La Marr, Dennis O'Keefe, and John Loder. Attempting to find happiness in swift-paced romances, Hedy Lamarr finds only crime and murder until a new life materializes in the person of Dennis O'Keefe. (Recommended for mature.)

Darkroom Developments

BY BEN ZAR

WHAT IS MY OBJECTIVE? Ask yourself that question when taking a picture.

Photography is an extremely flexible medium, which can at one and the same time be an art, a science, a record or just a whale of a lot of fun, depending upon the way you look at it. Try a fresh approach if you're bored with the way your pictures are panning out. Just look at things a little differently. Have you ever considered how a blade of grass looks to a worm? Or a mouse-eye to a hungry cat? Or that a horse doesn't look like a horse but like a bull fight viewed from above. Think about it for a moment and you will admit this different approach offers interesting possibilities.

Beginners frequently ask the professional, "What is the secret of your success?" The answer almost invariably is, "Know your fundamentals." This holds true in science, or in business. In photography, the most fundamental of the fundamentals is light. Therefore, light might be said to be the secret of photography.

Learn to know light, what it is made of, what it does, how it works. Learn it well and most important HOW TO USE IT. Think of light as a medium, as the artist thinks of his paints or sketching pencil, or a carpenter the wood he works with. FEEL the light, just as the colorist, its balance, would it look better to you if it had more yellow, or possibly more blue. Learn the heft of it, and soon it will become as familiar to you, and feel as comfortable as your favorite ball bat and you'll be able to handle out home run pictures all over the lot.

Tips To The Tyro

Experience is an excellent teacher, but you'll save time by learning from the other fellow's mistakes. Get together with a couple of other fellows with similar objectives and use your experience, and you'll find photography more fun that way.

How long you could take pictures by the light of a match

TWO KILLED—Two Fort Benning soldiers lost their lives last Friday evening when the personnel carrier in which they were riding went out of control and rolled end over end after shearing off a telephone pole. The truck is shown above as it finally came to rest in a field near the Hourglass Road. Excessive speeding was blamed. (Signal Corps Photo.)

New Type House Unveiled By Corps Of Engineers

A new type of temporary Army family housing, convertible into permanent structures with a minimum of alterations and additional expenditure, has been designed by the Corps of Engineers, the War Department announced today. In appearance the new buildings, at first sight, appear to be the conventional type duplex house of Colonial, Spanish or Modern architecture. Close inspection, however, reveals that each dwelling really consists of four comfortable apartments, each with a combined living-dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath.

But the Army Engineers did not stop there. The buildings are so constructed that they can be converted into two duplex houses, each with living room, dining room, kitchen and bedroom, or study and bath on the first floor, and three bedrooms, dressing room and two baths on the second floor, making them ample for a comparatively large family.

Economy, too, was considered by the Engineering Division. Office of the Chief of Engineers, which drew the plans. Careful study showed that brick or stucco construction for the exterior walls could be used within the ceiling price and that such construction would afford minimum loss when converted. Thus for the first time, the Army is getting temporary type buildings so designed as to lend themselves readily to conversion to permanent type structures, thereby saving the entire initial investment instead of the small amount heretofore recoverable as salvage.

A recent analysis of comparable private building costs show that the Army is getting from 12 to 18 per cent more space for its money. As approximately 2,100 family units are to be built in the United States from the 1947 fiscal year funds, the ultimate savings will be considerable.

Terrific Housing Shortage

During the war, the Army was expanded to such large proportions that it was impossible to accommodate military personnel families at the various Army Posts and Camps. The result was a terrific shortage of housing in the vicinity of any of the large Army installations. The coming of peace brought drastic reductions in the size of the Army but housing shortages still remained acute.

The Military Appropriations Act of 1946 provided funds for the construction of a portion of the urgently needed family housing in the fiscal year of 1947, specifying that the funds be made available through the Office of the Chief of Engineers indicated that the use of war-time construction methods would result in ultimate high maintenance costs for the housing. Outside roads and utilities were required and in many instances land for these temporary units included sites already selected for permanent family housing areas.

Prefab Houses Dropped—Considered. There were many types of these structures appearing in limited quantities. These held some promise but the need for civilian housing was so great that the Federal Housing Administration was unwilling for the Army to enter this field.

Limited to a ceiling of $7,500 per unit, and confronted by present high building costs, the Army Engineers were compelled to design a residence that would accommodate two families in the space ordinarily allocated for one family. A further problem was presented by the necessity of designing the building that it would be converted into a larger permanent residence at a later date with a minimum of remodeling.

Minimum of 2 Bedrooms—These factors prompted the Army Engineers to try for a design that would provide a minimum of two bedrooms, require minimum expenditure for maintenance consistent with its intended life, permit maximum salvage of roads, walks, utilities, grading and landscaping and possess some re-use or salvage value if feasible. The best possible solution, of course, was to build for ultimate permanent usage while providing temporary housing. The result was the type buildings described above.

Relocation of one temporary partition for conversion is substantially all the structural change required. To keep within the funds allotted per unit a standard interior finish has been necessary. Wallboard finish is provided and soft wood flooring in lieu of sub floors. Interior finish can be improved by selective maintenance as funds are made available.

Differing floor plans, architectural styles and roof details provide desired variety. In general the two story duplex type described above is the most economical construction. In some South and Southwestern locations a one floor two family unit type unit is used, so arranged as to permit conversion into a one family unit at minimum cost.

Extensive study established that for general usage construction of four family temporary unit convertible into a duplex provided greater present and ultimate value than the construction of a small unit with later horizontal or vertical expansion.

Miss Thompson Given Farewell Reception

Miss Frances Thompson, Training Literature and Visual Aids, civilian stenographer since February 1941, bid adieu to her many friends Saturday, May 10, in an inter-office farewell reception before leaving for Nashville, Tenn., and the Peabody Institute where she will study for a masters degree.

Miss Thompson, a native of Chipley, Georgia, is one of the few remaining prewar civilian workers in the Infantry School Academic Department. Joining the clerical staff in Feb., 1941, she became the private stenographer for many famous heads of the Publications Section. After six years of work in the Infantry School, she decided to add a masters degree from Peabody Institute to the A. S. she already has from Georgia State College.

Members of the department staff attended in the offices of Col. C. E. Beauchamp to wish Miss Thompson "good luck" and to witness the presentation of a bouquet of tea roses and an autographed hand-painted scroll. The roses were given by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Virgil Ney and came from their prize rose garden at 400 Wickersham Drive.

Miss Hundertmark, Lt. Capka Are Wed Here Saturday

Of sincere interest to their many friends at Fort Benning was the marriage of Miss Mary J. Hundertmark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Hundertmark of Columbus, and Lt. Jerry G. Capka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Capka, of Middletown, Pa., which was solemnized Saturday morning in an impressive Nuptial High Mass at the Church of the Holy Family in Columbus.

The attractive bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of white embroidered eyelet silk which was sent by the groom from Japan. The floor-length dress was cut with long sleeves and delicately pointed cuffs covering the backs of her hands and the full skirt was gathered onto a box with a high neckline with a sheer yoke of white nylon net to give an off-the-shoulder effect. She carried a white sail in prayer book with white gardenias and white satin streamers decorated with tiny rose buds. Her fingertip illusion veil was fashioned with a coronet of orange glassroses.

Sister Is Attendant

A sister of the bride, charming Miss Frances Hundertmark, was the only attendant. She was dressed in a gown of similar style to the bridal dress but cut with short sleeves and made of pink nylon net. Her illusion veil, also of pink nylon net, was of shoulder length and the coronet was made of rose buds. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

The ceremony was performed in the altar decorated with traditional white lilies and the bride and groom were dressed in a gown of similar style to the bridal dress but cut with short sleeves and made of pink nylon net. Her illusion veil, also of pink nylon net, was of shoulder length and the coronet was made of rose buds. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

Girl's Chorus of St. Joseph's Academy furnished the musical music. Mr. Adolph J. Capka, brother of the groom was the best man and the guests were seated by Lt. James D. Anders and Lt. Edward F. Dolan.

Following the impressive ceremony, the guests were invited to the reception party held in the Oak room of the Rialto hotel. The bride cut her beautiful four-tiered cake which was flanked with ferns and spring flowers with her husband's saber. The guests were served cake and punch.

For going away, the bride chose a light wool suit of cocoa brown with a fishtail back. Her blouse was of pink chiffon and her Panama hat was decorated with brown taffeta to match the suit. Her accessories included a dark brown and white gown, a delicate corsage of white gardenias.

Groom at Benning

The couple left for New York and San Francisco for their honeymoon. Lieutenant Capka, who was formerly stationed here and was well-known with his basketball in Posts sports, is returning to Japan and the bride will return to Columbus to await the time when she will be able to join her husband in Japan.

Miss Hundertmark was graduated from Columbus High school in 1940 and has been employed at Fort Benning Civil Service work for some time.

The groom was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1944 and has served in the European and Pacific theaters. He has been decorated with Bronze Star Medal, the Pre-Pearl Harbor Medal and the American Campaign. He was active in the Ardennes, Rhine River and German campaigns.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Capka, parents of the groom from Jedoto, Middletown, Pa.; Miss Frances Hundertmark of Gadsden, Ala.; Adolph J. Capka of Bloomington, Ind.; and Richard Capka of Middletown, Pa.

National Guard Officers Honored

Honoring Col. Edward D. McCall of San Antonio, Tex., and Lt. Col. Robert W. Black of Chicago, here in connection with the National Guard refresher course this week, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul R. Roberts were hosts at a dinner dance event Wednesday night at the Officers' Club.

In addition to the honorees guests for the formal party were Col. and Mrs. Charles Crawford, Col. and Mrs. Herbert Eit, Maj. and Mrs. Jack B. Street, Capt. Jack Griffin and Lt. Otto Nunner.

Friends Entertained At Dinner Dance

With aperitifs served at their quarters before the dinner, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Tito Moscatelli entertained Saturday evening with a delightful dinner dance for a group of their friends.

Mrs. Moscatelli directed the dinner table with an attractive arrangement of white tapers and white roses used with antique crystal candelabra and bowls.

Guests for the event were Col. and Mrs. Helmut E. Beine, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James E. Tarrant, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lyle J. Fitzpatrick, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Bognen, Miss Elva Tarrant and Lt. Irvine C. Hughes.

Mrs. Paddock To Honor Mother At Lunch Today

Guests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. W. Paddock are Col. and Mrs. Paul Hermann of the Virginia Beach, Va., parents of Mrs. Paddock. They arrived last week and will be here until around May 20.

Mrs. Paddock will honor her mother before the ladies Thursday afternoon and the ladies will play bridge following the meal. The dinner table was decorated with a theme to feature snapdragons and other spring flowers.

Guests for the event will be Mrs. and Mrs. Patrick Cassidy, Mrs. Taylor, Joe S. Laurie, Roy Lindley, W. C. Chapman, W. C. Henry, Kenneth C. Robertson, Clarence Murray, W. C. Cogswell, Clyde Russell, and the honoree.

Paddock Children Baptized At Home In Ceremony May 4

An event of interest took place May 4 when Paul Bradley Paddock, age four and a half, and Jacquelynn W. Paddock, age two and a half, son and daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. W. Paddock, were baptized in a beautiful ceremony at their quarters.

Chaplain Emmet Jones performed the ceremony which took place in a setting featuring burning white tapers and crosses used with the font of holy water.

Lt. Col. J. J. Hatch was the godfather for Paul and Mrs. W. C. Cogswell was the godmother. Lt. Col. F. G. Henry was the godfather for Jacquelynn and Mrs. Hatch was the godmother. Special guests for the event were Col. and Mrs. Paul Hermann of Virginia Beach, Va., grandparents of the youngsters and houseguests at the Post.

Miss Fox To Wed Marine In Late Spring

Announcement has been made of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Barbara Fox to Maj. Max E. LaGrone, United States Marine Corps, now stationed here.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Flournoy of Columbus and Major LaGrone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. LaGrone of Fort Arthur, Tex.

Miss Fox was educated in the Columbus schools and at Mary Washington college, Fredericksburg, Va.

Major LaGrone attended Rice Institute and served in the Japanese in 1940. He has served in Iceland, and in the Pacific Theater on Guadalcanal, Bougainville and Okinawa. He returned to the States in July, 1946 after nine months of occupation duty in Japan.

After completing the officers advanced course here he will be assigned to the staff at the Marine Corps school in Quantico, Va.

The wedding will be an event of late spring.

Newcomers Here From Fort Lewis

Newcomers to the Post are Maj. and Mrs. Susan M. Burney, who have recently moved to quarters at 226 Austin with their three children. The couple, originally from Fairfax, Ala., came here from Fort Lewis, Wash., where they were stationed for the past year.

Major Burney is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute and Mrs. Burney is a registered nurse. She took her training at Freedman hospital in Atlanta.

Major Burney was at Fort Benning for a few months in 1941, but this is the first time the couple have lived on the Post.

Miss Overfelt, Capt. Davies Wed At Post Chapel Saturday

Wearing a strikingly beautiful gown of ivory satin with long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline, Miss Barbara A. Overfelt, lovely daughter of Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Clifford Durward Overfelt, became the bride of Capt. John M. Davies III Saturday afternoon in an impressive ceremony performed by Chaplain William C. Shure in the Post Chapel.

Colonel Overfelt gave his daughter in marriage and Miss Marjorie Hammons Smith was the maid of honor and Mrs. Martha Chase Brown was the bridesmaid. Each of the attendants wore a floor-length style dress of aqua faille with short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline and matching gloves.

The maid of honor carried an arm spray of yellow roses and Mrs. Brown carried the arrangement of American Beauty roses.

The bride's gown featured a train and was cut with a fitted bodice with insets of applique to give a deep yoke effect. Her veil was styled in coronet fashion with seed pearls as decorations. A white orchid tied the general white bridal bouquet.

Mrs. L. H. Averitt played the nuptial music and Miss Ellen Garrett sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Capt. Van Cleave Warren acted as best man and the guests were seated by the ushers, Maj. Joe Moore, Maj. Daniel Raymond, Mr. Clifford Overfelt Jr., and Mr. Owen Davies.

Following the impressive ceremony, approximately 180 guests were present for the reception at the Officers' Club where the charming bride-cut her tiered cake, and refreshments were served.

For going away, the bride chose

Couple Exchange Vows In Rites At Post Chapel

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Mary Margaret Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike W. Preston of Buena Vista, became the bride of Capt. John A. Reeves, son of Gen. and Mrs. James H. Reeves of El Paso, Tex., May 3 in a beautiful ceremony solemnized in the Post Chapel with Chaplain William C. Shure officiating.

The lovely bride wore a two-piece off-color white suit with a matching hat and white shoes and carried a beautiful white iridescent orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Vera Kirtland from Atlanta, who wore a two-piece white suit with a green hat. Capt. Arthur L. Weston was best man.

Six strands of white gladioli were used as decorations for the church and Mrs. L. H. Averitt played the nuptial music, which included "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me" and "Intermezzo."

Following the ceremony, the guests were invited to a charming wedding supper.

The attractive bride was graduated from Buena Vista high school in 1946 and the groom is a graduate of Sewanee Military Academy in Sewanee, Tenn. He entered service in 1942 and served in North Africa and Italy. He has been decorated with the Purple Heart, Combat Infantry badge, EAME ribbon and the Italian Occupation ribbon.

The couple will make their home in Columbus as Captain Reeves is now with Headquarters company of the 75th Tank Battalion.

light blue suit with a sun-tan blouse. Her white hat was decorated with sun-tan streamers and she wore a white orchid.

After their honeymoon in Florida, the couple will be at home at Fort Benning.

Miss Overfelt attended the University of Missouri and the University of Georgia. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority.

Captain Davies is with AGP Board No. 2 and is the son of Col. and Mrs. John M. Davies of Ravenswood Falls Church, Va. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1942 and saw service in North Africa and Italy during his 35 months overseas. He has been decorated with the Silver Star, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, and Purple Heart.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony were Colonel and Mrs. Davies; Mrs. Martha Brown of Biloxi, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. George Hammons Smith of the Marine Corps; Miss Cora E. Lamons of Elmhurst, Ill., and Miss Colette Conklin, Miss Betty Lamons and Mrs. Charlotte Lamons of Atlanta.

Newly Weds Given Gift At Formal Section Dinner

Capt. and Mrs. Nelson L. Lindstrand, who were recently married, were honored at the formal dinner party and dance given Saturday evening at the Officers' Club by the Weapons Section.

Four place settings of silver were given to the newlyweds and Col. Burton L. Lucas made the presentation.

Approximately 100 guests attended and individual place cards, bright flowers and ivory papers decorated the tables for the no-host event. Lt. Col. Richard H. Verheul was chairman for the evening.

Special guests were Col. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Col. and Mrs. R. A. Byrne, and Col. R. M. Sandusky.

Miss Gilbert Wed At Lawson Chapel

The marriage of Miss Mary Gilbert of Stratford, Conn., and T/Sgt. James E. Astin of Macon, Ga., at Lawson Chapel, was solemnized at the Lawson Chapel Friday May 9 at 7 p. m., with Capt. John Bryden base chaplain officiating.

The bride wore a day-time dress of light blue jersey with a white off-the-face straw hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Miss Charline Clarke, of Fort Benning and S/Sgt. Carl W. Trusser of Langley Field, Va., were the attendants. Miss Clarke was dressed in a pastel print and wore a corsage of gardenias and tube roses.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left on a wedding trip to Florida. They will visit Sergeant Astin's parents in Macon before returning to Columbus where they will make their home.

Lawson Sergeant G greets English Wife In Macon

Sgt. George E. Pope, of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron, returned to Lawson Field this week from Macon, Ga., where he greeted his wife and his eleven-month-old son who arrived from England recently.

Mrs. Pope is the former Miss Beryl Chritchley, of Chorley Lancashire, England, and a veteran of four and a half years service in England's Women's Auxiliary Air Force. Sergeant Pope met his future wife at a special service dance while serving at the AAF base near her station. They were married in her hometown in January, 1945, and she was released from duty the following September.

Later Pope transferred to Germany with the Army of Occupation and from there was returned to the States where he met his young son, Philip Merrill.

Sergeant Pope is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce G. Pope, of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. Pope's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Chritchley, of Chorley Lancashire, England.

The sergeant's family traveled to New York by boat and from there by train to Macon. He reports that they are ever meeting any trouble getting adjusted. Life in this country and are very fond of Macon. Mrs. Pope has been especially impressed with Georgia's peach orchards in bloom and the Army of Occupation aerial demonstration which she witnessed at Dekker Strip, Ala., on May 3.

Sergeant Pope will rejoin his family in Macon when he is separated from the Army Air Forces in June.

Guests Arriving For Collar Wedding

Out of town guests who have arrived at Fort Benning to attend the wedding of Miss Maxine Collar, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Gilbert T. Collar, and Lt. Frank Pomham, of Toledo, O., which will take place at the Post Chapel May 17, include Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barmann, the bride-elect's uncle and aunt of Los Angeles, California, Mr. J. T. Reed, Mrs. Collar's father, also of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. S. Linn of New York.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Paul L. Williams of Greensboro, N. C., Col. and Mrs. Leonard Barrow, of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and Lt. and Mrs. H. S. Spauld, of Greenville are expected to arrive today.

Many parties and bridal showers have been given at Fort Benning in honor of Miss Collar since the announcement of her engagement in early spring.

Mrs. T. J. White of New York who has been a house guest on the Post for the past five weeks, left Friday to drive to her home. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Eit, as far as Atlanta. The guest visited at the quarters of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Eit.

Personals

M-Sgt. and Mrs. James F. Hixon are newcomers to the post. The couple was married April 5 and now are living in quarters at 2808 G. Linskey. Mrs. Hixon is from Rayville, La., and Sergeant Hixon is from Mangham, La. He recently returned from service in Germany.

Recently moved to post quarters, but really old-timers at Fort Benning are M-Sgt. and Mrs. Clarence D. Wright who are now living at 2902-A Linskey with their two children, Sandra, age 6, and Jackie, age 3. Also living with them is Mrs. Wright's sister, Miss Ruth Eays.

Before taking quarters here, the Wrights were living in Eaker Village for 15 months, but they had been on the Post before as Sergeant Wright was stationed here before he was sent overseas, and Mrs. Wright, the former Miss Virginia Hansen, lived on the post with her parents when her father was in the 28th Infantry Band here.

Col. and Mrs. Burton L. Lucas were hosts to a delightful luncheon party Saturday evening before the Weapons Section dinner. The hosts entertained a group of 38 of their friends at their quarters. Colonel attended the dinner at the Officers' Club.

Mrs. Robert Brauer of Berkeley, Calif., and her 9-month-old son are a frequent guest at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James J. Gray. The visitors flew from California and were met in Atlanta last week by Mrs. Gaskin, who is her sister.

Mrs. Gladys Wheelock of Chattanooga, Tenn., was the recent house guest of Maj. and Mrs. William C. Rhinehart at their quarters on Stewart avenue.

Maj. and Mrs. Edwin J. Gravel, who were married February 20 and have been living in Columbus for the past two months, have moved to quarters on the Post at 4012 J. Honjstad. Major Gravel has been at Benning since last August after spending three years in Alaska, and 18 months in Europe and a half in home in Alexandria, La., and his bride is from Baton Rouge, La. Major Gravel attended Louisiana State University.

Maj. and Mrs. Frank Raymond and their two daughters, age 13 and 11, recently moved to quarters on the Post. Major Raymond has been stationed here since last October. The Raymonds were here for a short time in 1938 while he attended school on the Post, but they lived in Columbus at the time.

Major Raymond has served a year and a half in Europe and a year and a half in the Pacific. The newcomers are now living at 804 Austin.

Mrs. H. E. Grover left Tuesday morning for St. Petersburg, Fla., where she will meet her mother, Mrs. M. R. Elmore, of Bowling Green, Ky. After a short visit there, they will return to Columbus and Mrs. Elmore will be guest at the home of Captain and Mrs. Grover.

After living in Columbus for a year, M-Sgt. and Mrs. Walter M. Vilmur have moved to quarters at 403 Gaines on the Post. The couple are originally from Cheyenne, Wyoming, and Sergeant Vilmur has been in service for 21 years. He was overseas for 19 months in the European Theater during the last war and during that time Mrs. Vilmur stayed at their home in Cheyenne.

Webers Attend Macon Horse Show

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frederick R. Weber, with their 9-year-old son Billy went to Macon last week end for the Macon horshow and to show their horse, Reno Reed.

Billy was awarded a silver trophy for sportsmanship after taking a fall during afternoon, and Colonel Weber took first place in the hunter hacks and sixth place in the hunter hacks.

During the week end, the Webers were guests at a breakfast at the Dempsey hotel and at a cocktail party Saturday evening. They also visited at the home of Mrs. Herbert Birdsey, the former Miss Cynthia Chappel of Columbus.

New York Guests Feted During Visit

Guests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Virgil Ney last week were Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Smith Davis and their daughter, Miss Jan Davis of New York City. Mrs. William N. Davis, Mrs. Ney's mother, honored the couple Saturday evening with a dinner at the Officers' Club and Tuesday evening, Colonel and Mrs. Ney entertained at a dessert for their guests. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of pink roses in an antique silver setting which reflected the candlelight of the chattruse tapers.

Guests were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul A. Mahoney, Maj. and Mrs. G. Bull, Mrs. William N. Davis, and the honorees.

Heavy Bomber Base Planned

A new Army Air Forces base for very heavy bombers will be built in Aroostook county, Maine, four miles west of the Canadian border, with construction scheduled to begin approximately June 15.

The base will be about 30 miles northeast of the AAF's base at Presque Isle, Maine, starting point of thousands of trans-Atlantic flights during the war. It will be in the northwest section of Aroostook county in the township of Limestone, about four miles northwest of the village of Limestone. This location is about 15 miles northeast of Caribou, Maine.

The property to be utilized for the new base is approximately 2,200 acres now used as farm and wooded land.

Two construction seasons will be required to complete the base, indicating that the base probably will be finished by the fall of 1948.

Preliminary construction plans call for a runway, 300 by 10,000 feet; connecting taxiways 100 feet wide; parking aprons 700 by 2,000 feet; a hangar, 300 by 370 feet; a sewage disposal plant, water supply system, and electric power facility able to serve 2,000 men in the initial phase and capable of later enlargement; an operations building and control tower; and barracks and dining hall facilities for a security detachment of 250 men.

Cost of this construction is expected to be between $13,000,000 and $14,000,000.

Trans-Atlantic Phone And Cable Traffic Slumps

Although Americans can now telephone and send telegraph messages to friends, relatives or business contacts in the United States and British zones of Germany, comparatively few have taken advantage of service in the first three weeks of operation, say officials of Communications Branch, Internal Affairs and Communications Division, Office of Military Government United States.

Blaming lack of public awareness for light traffic, Communications Branch officials pointed out this service was reopened April 1, 1947 for the first time since beginning of war. Telephone and telegraph services are provided between the United States, and countries in western hemisphere as well as certain European countries and the U. S. and British occupied zones Germany. Telephone calls or messages for persons residing in other zones of Germany and city of Berlin cannot be accepted at present.

Directory Service

Although desirable, it is not always necessary to know the telephone number of the called party. The Reichspost, German Civil Communications Agency, provides detailed directory service to locate the persons sought and to arrange for their use of telephone at a scheduled time. However, correct city and street addresses will enable Reichspost to rapidly locate caller's party.

Actual procedure for calling U. S. and British zones from the United States is simple. A call is placed with the long distance operator and further detail are handled by the American carrier and the German Reichspost. Basic fee for a call from U. S. is $12.00 for the first three minutes. Telegrams may be filed with any American Telegraph company for forwarding through international channels for eventual delivery by the German Reichspost.

A man carrying a grandfather's clock to the repair shop bumped into a lady and knocked her down.

"Why don't you just carry a wristwatch like everyone else?" she spluttered.

Infantry Units Slated For Part In Arctic Tests

Plans for joint Arctic exercises, providing one month's training for five augmented companies of the Second Infantry Division and Troop Carrier aircraft of the Tactical Air Command, were announced by General Jacob L. Devers, Commanding General, Army Ground Force, and Major General E. R. Quesada, Commanding General, Tactical Air Command.

The rifle companies, with full equipment and supplies, will be flown to Alaska at approximately one-month intervals, beginning November 1, 1947, in transport planes of the Tactical Air Command, General Devers revealed. Upon completion of its training, each company will be flown back to Fort Lewis, Washington, permanent station of the Second Division. The exercises will terminate March 1, 1948.

Preliminary instruction in the United States, to provide training on snow-covered terrain for units selected for the Alaskan exercises, will be conducted this fall in Mount Rainier National Park, 70 miles from Fort Lewis. In addition, present plans anticipate flying the companies from Fort Lewis to Mountain Home (Idaho) Army Air Field, where a three-day winter survival and transportability will be conducted. Air transportation will be effected by units of the Tactical Air Command. The five companies, with their organizational equipment, are to be transported to a base at Big Delta, Alaska, 100 miles southeast of Fairbanks. Elements of the transport aircraft will remain at Anchorage, Alaska, to render further intra-Alaska air lifts and furnish air supply, as well as to engage in extensive training and employment of aircraft under arctic conditions during this period.

Lecture Series Gets Underway

The first of four lectures in the world orientation series, "Is Atomic Power a U. S. Monopoly?" was held Monday morning by Herbert Pomerance, of the Manhattan project, at the Main Post theater.

Future of the Navy will be the subject of Rear Admiral Brown's lecture Monday, May 26, from 2 until 3 p. m., and from 3 until 4 p. m. Major General Fraichild will deliver a talk on the Russian Air Force.

The final lecture will be given by Dr. William Elliott, of Harvard university, June 11 from 8:30 until 10:30 a. m. Topic for his discussion is military geography. All lectures will be held in the Main Post theater.

All U. S. Army, Navy, and Marine Corps members stationed at Fort Benning are urged to attend these lectures unless prevented by urgent military duties, officials said.

Troopers Take 14th Straight

Adding on one superfluous victory after another, the Airborne Battalion, first-half winner, recently crushed four more opponents for its eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth straight triumphs.

The Student Training Regiment fell, 15-0, the 37th was nipped, 7-7, the 204th lost, 13-0, and the 26th Tankers went by the way-side last Tuesday, 14-0.

Superlative pitching, getting superior hitting, the paratroopers scored more than enough runs to win. The only tight contest was the 37th affair, which was won in the last of the seventh, Frank McGowan coming over with the tie-breaker on a angle to right by Kinard.

Russ Chapman has come through with two beautiful hits, shutting out the STR with one hit and the 756th with four hits. Dick Gearhart also continued to pitch sensational ball, shutting out the Truckers with only one safety, his second one-hitter of the season.

Engineers Cop 14-10 Victory

The 78th Engineers picked up their second victory of the season week ago Wednesday, defeating the 204th Truckers, 14-10, with aarrison finish, scoring six runs in the top of the seventh.

With one out, Felix Tartaglia started the rally by tripling to right and coming home on the second baseman's error. Four more hits followed, singles by Bowen and Clayton, and doubles by Leitch and Founds. Two bases on balls and two Truckers errors helped the cause impressably.

Howie Bowen set the 204th down in order in the last of the seventh, getting credit for the victory (he also won the other 78th triumph). Ramos started, but was relieved by Davis in the second, and he pitched until the sixth, when Bowen came.

Right now the 78th is in ninth place, with a victory against the 87th Sunday needed to tie the Engineers up into a tie for eighth with STR.

HOLDS RARE DISTINCTION
Officer Candidate John E. Williams, ACO No. 9, holds the rare distinction of being decorated twice in one week. On April 29 Williams was decorated on Stroup Field with the American Theater Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal, ETO Ribbon with three bronze stars and arrowhead and the Combat Infantryman's Badge. The following Saturday at Shilwell Field he received the Bronze Star Medal for action at Gelon, Sicily. He was then a member of the famed 1st Infantry Division.

A BRIGHT FUTURE—A bright future is in store for Paul Bonair, Airborne shortstop, on the baseball diamond. He is the property of the Boston Braves, having played one season with Indianapolis in the American Association, batting .311 while he was there. Paul is one of the league's leading hitters with a .432 average. He also plays the league in stolen bases and is one of the leaders in runs scored. (Signal Corps Photo.)

Brickley's Bombers Win Third Victory

In another fast action softball game last week Brickley's Bombers of AOC No. 5 scored their third straight victory against the other officer candidate class, this one 8-7 at the expense of Class No. 6.

Salmoske and Nelson for the Bombers tied up the score 7-1 in the fifth when MacNeill pounded out a hit with the bases loaded. The game was clinched in the sixth frame when Smoke blew up and walked across Simon for the winning tally.

With three wins and only one loss, that to the 651st Medical Detachment, the Bombers of Class 6 are out for more glory on the softball diamond. For game arrangements contact 1-Sgt. Walter A. Cooper, 15th Company, STR.

Artillerymen Trim Tankers

The 83rd FA is finishing up their season with a bang. They trimmed the heavily favored 756th Tankers 3 to 1, behind the very able pitching of Fred Moore, only five hits and would have had a shutout save for a passed ball. Then, a few days later, they threw over healthy scores to the ISD Pros before coming back to 7. The 83rd had been unbeaten in its last inning to take a 7-5 lead, but it melted away in the last half of the inning under a three-run outburst.

The 83rd's offensive weakness, which has plagued them all season long, was in evidence in both games. Big Bill Brooks shatters almost the entire run-making load, and once again, he was the key figure in both of the most recent games, with a triple in the three-run game and a single and yet another triple in the ISD contest.

Trac Looks Good
Trac, in spite of a pair of poundings by the Airborne, is respected by hitters around the league, and has looked better in each successive appearance. He has been mentioned as a possible post team selection.

The Artillerymen now rate as one of the best fielding teams in the league. They made only one error in each of the last two games, and came up with a couple of nice plays. Brooks has sparked the team, and has come up with some nice saves.

The 83rd has only one game left to play, and that is against that against the 204th Truckers. Another victory seems imminent.

2 School Troop Teams Enter Columbus League

Two teams from School Troops have entered the Columbus City Softball League. The Airborne Recs, from the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion, opened their season recently with a 17-0-1 victory over the City Cup. The Barnstormers from the 37th Infantry Regiment were scheduled to open their season this week.

The city league games are scheduled every Tuesday and Thursday night at Hillwood and Rose Hill Fields in Columbus. Starting time for the first game is 8:15 p.m., and for the second game 8:15 p.m.

Both teams are looking for practice games. The Recs may be contacted through S-Sgt. Harold Dick, Company A, 501st Battalion, and the Barnstormers through S-Sgt. Tommy Gann, School Troops A&R Office.

'Brats' Schedule Swimming Party

The swimming season will get underway Saturday night for the members of Brat's Barracks as they hold their first swim party of the year that evening at the Russ Pool which will open May 17. The party is scheduled to open at 7 p. m., and following the activity, members will go to the Brat's Barracks house where refreshments will be served.

League Half Ends Sunday

The Lawson Field-Student Training Regiment game at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon closes out the first half of the Fast Seasoning baseball season, and the second half is scheduled to begin play June 2, with a few changes in the league set-up.

To make for better games at Gowdy Field, the team managers have decided to split the present league into two groups, with the teams finishing in the first five places at the end of the first half forming the American League, and the second five forming the National League.

With only fifth place to be decided in the first half standings, the first and second division teams can be named now. The Airborne Battalion, ISD, 37th Infantry, and Lawson Field will definitely be in the American League; and the 26th Field Artillery, Student Training Regiment, 78th Engineer Battalion, and 204th Truck Battalion are set for the National League.

The 756th Tankers are still fighting it out for the fifth slot. At present the Tankers have an 8-5 record, and the 325th is a 7-8 slate, with both teams having one more game to play. The 756th plays the ISD Friday and the Ordnance meets the Airborne the same night.

Individual awards for leading batter, most runs-batted-in, most home runs, most three base hits, most doubles, most stolen bases, and pitcher with lowest earned runs average during the first half will be presented to the players just before the first game of the second half. At the end of the second half trophies will be presented to the players on the past champion and runner-up teams will be presented.

'BLACK KNIGHT' ENTERED

Artillerymen Midgets Brave Accident

Truckers Race Again Friday

Nearly a score of "convalescent" race cars and at least one "Black Knight" mystery racer will be in the starting line-up for the midget auto races at Martin stadium, Idle Hour park Friday evening. Promoter Alex Brewer has announced.

More than a dozen cars were damaged in accidents last week as drivers pushed hard for first money, repeatedly tangled up on the turns. Welders and mechanics have been busy all week, however, and Brewer said a "first class field" of fast cars will be ready to enter time trials at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Moore In Lead
Leading the field again will be Freddie Moore, who drove his blue No. 6 to win all three events in which he was entered last week, and Johnny Zale, the only other racer on the southeastern circuits to pile up more than 300 points this season.

Other starters, each with more than 150 points, include Hank Russ (7x), Bob Johnson (18), and Dick Kerr (60). H. R. Rogers of Columbus bought No. 60, four-time consolation winner, from R. J. Thornton Jr. after last Friday's racing.

Damages Repaired
Damaged guard rails, which were broken when three different racers crashed into them after spinning out last week, have been repaired, and Brewer predicted a "great track for fast drivers."

Heat racing will begin at 8:30 p.m., or as soon as time trials begin at 7:30—have been completed.

Pros Stretch Winning Streak To Six Straight; Cinch For Second Place

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ

Running their streak to six straight, the ISD Pros swept to three more victories this week. The ISD nine now has a record of 13 victories in 16 games and has clinched second place in the league standings behind the Airborne.

The Pros looked good in taking their last three ball games, with plenty of hustle, fine fielding, long-range hitting, and excellent performances on the mound by Chick Shiver.

Best Game of Season
Playing what was probably their best game of the season, the ISDers stung out 19 hits last Thursday in trouncing the 326th Ordinance, 16-0. Chick Shiver pitched a three-hit game, striking out eight batters, as his mates fielded faultlessly behind him, not committing a single error and coming up with a double play.

At bat the aura of a fast, particularly Shiver, who had a four-for-four night, including two doubles. Herb Laue doubled a triple and a homer, his four-baser clearing the right-field fence and his three-base blow giving him the league leadership in that department with four.

Wallops 32rd Pitchers
Continuing their sputter, the ISD wallowed two 32rd pitchers for 15 hits and nine runs Saturday. Proving again that they are the best fielding team of the league, the Pros only made one misplay in this game. However, the pitching wasn't strong this time, as Buckner was knocked out in the sixth, and relieved by Lehner, who finished the game. The final score was 8-7.

Shiver kept up his hitting spree with a three-for-three in straight hits, three of them doubles. He then went one-for-two in the Lawson Field encounter to lift his batting average to an even .400, a one hundred point increase over the previous week.

Sabine Lawson
Chick went to the mound again Monday night to subdue Lawson Field, 10-3. He gave up but seven hits and struck out nine, while the Pros were rattling Paul Fray for 12 hits. It was sweet revenge for the ISD, as the Fliers handed the Pros one of their three defeats this season by upsetting them, 5-4, in their first meeting.

The ISD sluggers have been pounding the ball hard and often in these closing games and they can now boast of a "murderer's row" equal to, if not better than, the Airborne line-up.

Lead in Base Hits

The Pros have three men, Herb Laue, Clyde Burt, and Blondy Burnett, who top every other batter in the league in the number of base hits leading the league with a .500 BA. Blondy has a .448 and Herb has a "measly" .429. Of course nobody speaks to Chick Shiver and "Meadley" Lehner, who are batting .400 and .372, respectively.

Finishing their first-half schedule against the 756th Tankers this Friday night, the Pros will be setting their sights for the Airborne in the second half. Chick Shiver will be the mound choice against the paratroopers next time and he has the aura of confidence at the ISD these days.

Lawson Fliers Have Another Up, Down Week

Lawson Field had another up and down week. They were way up when they beat the 756th Tankers 9 to 0 in the next two-hitter, and they dropped way down when the ISD landed on them 10 to 3.

Forbes and Blake split the honors in the 756th game. Blake had a shutout, his second of the season, well within his reach in the seventh inning. With two away, and runners on first and third, Blake had two strikes of the batter, Rhodes, when he tried to pick the runner off first and threw wild, permitting the Tanker's only run to score.

Forbes Hits Well
Forbes continued to hit well. He cracked out a pair of solid singles, knocking in four runs, and scored two himself to pace the offense.

In the ISD game, the Pros landed on Fray for six runs on five hits, a walk, and an error in the first inning, and then added four more on three more hits in the fourth to see things up pretty well before they ever got started from the Lawson Field viewpoint.

Chick Shiver held the Fliers pretty well in check, with the exceptions of Forbes and Gorman, a newcomer to the Lawson outfield, who is pretty well known around the post on his showing of last year. Forbes knocked a single and a home run, driving in two of his team's three runs, and Gorman got three hits in three official trips, including a double. Gorman, in two games, has now picked up four hits in seven times at bat.

Still Have Good Chance
In spite of the ISD loss the Fliers have a pretty good chance of winding up in third place, since they enter the couple, the lower division clubs in their last two games, while the 37th, chief contender for third, has to face the ISD again.

Jack Forbes' recent hitting streak has jacked his average up to .422. A curious similarity runs through his figures. He's scored 14 runs; he's driven in 14 runs, and he's stolen 14 bases, and is up near the top of the league in that department. If the Fliers ever get Foster, Gorman and Forbes together at the same time, they'd better start re-arranging some of the Gowdy Field fences.

WINNING STREAK BROKEN
The 21-game winning streak of the 204th Truck Battalion's softball team was brought to an abrupt end last week when it was defeated 8 to 6 by the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion.

Zeros Trounce Bolos, 4 To 3, In Polo Match

The "Zeros," outfitted in white shirts, scores a win over the "Bolos" in a close polo game Sunday on French field with a final score of 4 to 3. The score was tied at 3 to 3 at the end of the sixth chukker when a "sudden death" chukker was called to determine the winners. Lt. George Patton III broke the tie with a near side back shot through the goal.

Loving Cups Presented

The game opened in the traditional manner with Brig. Gen. Reuben Jenkins throwing the ball in. The "Bolos" got off to a flying start with two goals made by Captain Smith and Colonel Brady. By the half way mark, the "Zeros" tied the score with Major Joseph Flesch and Captain Lyman making the goals. In the second half, the "Bolos" forged ahead by one goal made by Lieutenant Simon. Then Major Flesch again tied the score which remained at 3 to 3 through the rest of the game. Lieutenant Patton scored the winning goal in the extra chukker.

General Jenkins presented engraved silver cups to each member of the winning team at the end of the game.

An exciting one-period game was featured during the half between the Airborne Jockeys and the ISD Snipers. The players were mounted bareback on mules and used brooms as mallets and a volley ball in place of a polo ball. The Airborne Jockeys won with the score at 1 to 0.

Next Sunday the 25th Infantry Blue Devils will play the Academic Free Booters in a game slated for 4 p.m. on French field.

USAFI EXPANSION PROGRAM

Capt. Willard F. Chambers, post Information and Education officer, left Saturday, May 10, to attend the USAFI conference at Madison, Wis. While there he will discuss with Maj. Glenn McConaha, commandant of USAFI, the possibility of greater expansion of the USAFI program at Fort Benning.

Civilian Personnel Inspection Team Here

A civilian personnel inspection team from Headquarters, Third Army, is at Fort Benning this week checking on civilian personnel classification, wage administration, placement, training and employ relations in all units and activities employing civilian personnel.

This is the first of routine semi-annual inspections to be conducted by Third Army and is in no way related to the survey currently being made by the manpower survey team.

Second Guessing

By MURRAY HARDING

If post league pitchers continue to be discharged at the present rate, the yet-to-be post all-star team's opponents may have to fumble their drives, instead of the usual method of striking at a pitched ball.

Ed Polittowicz and Herman Colone have already been separated. Floyd Doolley, Ed Davis, Walt Fiebras, and Russ Chapman all expect to be on their way home before June is very far along, and there are probably others.

Dick Gerhart, Hal Crinols, and Ken Watts can still be counted on, and, of course some of the other twirlers who haven't showed much yet, may suddenly blossom into stardom. But, as it stands now, pitching will be the all-stars' biggest problem.

A rumor is afloat that Joe Mink, the STR star shortstop and the club's leading hitter, may be in ISD flannels when the second half of the season starts. The story seems to be that Mink is assigned to ISD but has been attached to the STR.

His addition to the Profs will make their infield well-nigh airtight, but, no doubt, Manager Silcox is murmuring, "If he could only pitch."

Ed Davis, Vet pitcher, is about ready to sue his club for non-support, or possibly, alienation of affection. The Vets have committed 49 errors on 14 games this year, and 23 of them have come about during the four and a fraction games that Ed has pitched. Ed never turns around when a ball is hit past him any more.

Something we said in last week's BAYONET may have led some readers to believe that Frank McGowan was going to be on the STR team in the second half.

Well, we thought so. To be told so in fact, then, right after we printed it in the paper, Frank decided that the Airborne life wasn't so bad, and that he didn't really want to make a career out of the army. As a result, you will be able to see Frank cawing around at his usual post, first base on the Airborne, for the rest of another half.

Lawson Tigers Whip Phenix City Bears, 11-10

The Squadron F "Tigers" and the Phenix City Bears played a close game at Watson Field last Wednesday afternoon by a score of 11-10. The Tigers barely taking the ball game by an 11-10 score. Pitching for the Tigers was Joe Jacobs.

The Tigers chalked-up another victory last week when they beat the Phenix City Red Caps on Friday afternoon by a score of 8-7. The team travels to Tuskegee, Alabama next Sunday for their first game with the hard hitting Tuskegee All Stars.

Curtis Scott, team manager, has been preparing his players for this particular game and is pretty confident his team will take the All Stars.

of the season. Our abject apologies to our many misled readers, Chick "Annyplace" Shiver, the ISD's catcher, pitcher, shortstop, left fielder, has not only been doing all the errand but the team has gotten in recent games. He has also been hitting exactly 8-10 in the last three games.

"Annyplace" got 8 hits in 9 official trips to the plate in three games, three of them doubles. He hit safely seven times in row, which statistics is the longest consecutive safe hit streak of the year, and, furthermore, he has gotten on base every time he has come up in those three games—12 times in a row, eight times on base, twice on error, and twice on walks. His streak has raised his average to .400 for the whole season.

The 756th Tankers pulled a shrewd one against the 37th Infantry, confusing them so much that the Tankers won the game.

It was with great glee that the Tankers submitted their report to the official scorer. Bartoszek, first string catcher, was named as the pitching pitcher, and Rhodes, substitute pitcher, was his battery mate. The boys modestly confessed that they had selected the players by pulling names out of a hat and matching them with positions, which they drew from

Shortly after the game began, things reverted to normal. Benny was no match for Rhodes to hold, it seemed, because, after a succession of passed balls, he went behind the bat. Rhodes let the field of play, and Martin came in to pitch.

Games and mirth were the keywords in the fifth inning of the recent ISB-Lawson Field game. With runners on first and second, and nobody out, Junior Wilson, batting for the Profs, hit a little bouncer towards the third baseman. The third baseman dropped the ball, but had the foresight to rush over and tag third for a forecourt, and then throw it second, presumably doubling the runner coming into that base.

Only there seemed to be some question as to whether the infield fly rule should apply. Umpire Waits trotted over to the third base line to talk things over with head umpire Harris. Harris stood for a moment with chin in hand, in the time honored position of a man thinking thoughts.

They he suddenly burst into song, so to speak, and, thrusting one arm skyward, intoned in a clear carrying voice "Infield fly rule applies! Runners are traveling at their own risk!"

The infield immediately dissolved into confused action. The runners were caught with their buttoches down, figuratively speaking, of course. Both of them were standing on second base, engaged in conversation, when the surprise edict was issued. One started towards third and the other towards first.

The one headed for third was quickly tagged out by Forbes, whereupon the other turned tail and started back to second, beating the throw by an eyelash. Wilson was out immediately on the infield fly rule.

It was easily the most level double play of the season.

"Stand up," shouted the Evangelist, "Stand up if you want to go to heaven."

Everyone stood up, but one old man.

"Don't you want to go to heaven?" asked the preacher.

"Sure I do," replied the man, "But I ain't going with no excursion."

Fat man's advice to the rising generation: "Those who eat sweets, develop big seats."

Women Begin 18-Hole Medal Golf Matches

An 18-hole medal play with five blind holes for the best poker hand is on the schedule for the Women's-Gold Cup Friday with a bring your own' luncheon to be held at noon at the Club house.

The Club officers have announced the qualifying rounds for the annual tournament will be held from May 19 to 23. The tournament will be held from May 26 to May 30 by match play and will be climaxed by a buffet supper at the Golf Club with husbands invited. The presentation of award for the tournament will be made at this time.

Caffey Places First Results of the 18-hole medal play handicap played May 9 showed Mrs. Robert Caffey in first place, Mrs. B. A. Play in second, Mrs. James Hingate in second. Mrs. Joseph Remus was in first in the classes B and C, starting time. Mrs. Remus was in second in the nine-hole contest, Mrs. James Christzberg was in first and Mrs. F. B. Jacobs was second.

Groups for the Friday play have been listed as shown below and the first lady in each group has been asked to contact the other players and Mrs. Dorothy Braun for 18 holes: 1. Brann, Burges, Goss, 2. Beckner, Robertson, Buckner, 3. Hirt, 4. Paulus, Thompson, Edris, 5. Galt, 6. Selvy, Landon.

Midgets Drop Third Game

The Fort Benning Midgets dropped their third game of the season last Sunday to the Columbus Boys Club, the first place team in the local American Legion league.

The Benningites lost, 5-4, with all their runs being scored on a home run by Griffith with the bases loaded.

Lt. Hall, the team's coach, says that he is interested in finding opponents to play on a home-and-home basis. The Benning nine, which is made up of boys sixteen years old and under, has a two won, three lost record.

Frye, S. Haycraft, Curtis, Hingate, Meyer, Evans, Remus, Howard, Chapman, Sanderson, Holton, S. O'Mohundro, McDaniel, Brown.

For nine holes: 1. Christzberg, Gardener, 2. Davidson, Olson, 3. MacGregor, Chapman, Schaudt, 4. Freudentorf, Wilkoff.

Heistand Hoists STR To 8th Place

Heistand, the STR's winning pitcher, is the man of the week in Harmony Church. Mr. Heistand threw a one-hit, one-run effort in the tenth of the 328th Ordinance last Monday night, and took home a 2 to 1 victory.

The win moved the Rifles up into the eighth slot in the league standings, ahead of both the 204th and the 78th, and, if it was any indication of the kind of play the Rifles will demonstrate in the second half, you can look for the Rifles right at the top of the heap in their division.

Heistand, with the aid of three double plays, faced only 23 men in the seven inning battle, only two over the absolute minimum. The hit he gave up was a ground ball that got through the infield and came off the bat of the 328th's weakest hitter. The tough boys didn't seem to give Heistand much trouble.

Mink Is Sensation
Mink at shortstop was a defensive sensation and Tita, other half of the second base combination, showed well, too. They combined for two of the twin killings, the other coming when Armstrong of Ordinance forgot how many outs there were and was doubled off second on a fly ball.

The 328th win made this the most successful week of the year for the Rifles, because earlier the 204th Truckers made them a present of a ball game, 13 to 9. Heistand was the one, too, though he wasn't as untouchable as the 328th found him.

Heistand was given a five-run lead before he ever stepped out on the mound, and at the end of two innings, the Rifles had a comfortable 42 to 1 lead, which they compiled by putting out four hits. The 204th helped along somewhat by committing nine errors in the two frames, seven of them in the second inning. After that, it was easy sailing.

The Rifles wind up their season with a game tonight at 5:45 against the 33rd FA, which they can easily win if they're right, and then on Sunday, they play the last official game of the first half against Lawson Field.

LIKE GOING HOME

When the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion moved into the first quarter last week—it was like "going home" for two of the unit's officers. Maj. Royal P. Taylor called the first quarter home almost 12 years ago when as a newcomer to the Army he was assigned to Company B, 29th Infantry Regiment. Also serving in the same outfit in the same location was Capt. Woodrow Millaps, who from 1934 to 1940 worked his way up to the grade of sergeant in the old 29th Infantry.

Civilian Custodial Job Under Engineers Open

Deadline for making application for the position of civilian of custodial superintendent under the post engineer is Friday, according to announcement made today by Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, placement analyst in the Infantry Center's civilian personnel branch office.

The position carries a rating of CAP-7 with a pay scale of $3-387.20 per annum and appointment will be for a sixmonth period.

Applicants for custodial superintendent must be capable of supervising the cleaning, preserving, and sanitation of buildings at Fort Benning with particular emphasis on floors, floor covering, woodwork, and fixtures. Mrs. Mitchell also pointed out that applicants must also be qualified to conduct training courses for subordinates, supervise on-the-job training programs, prepare cost analyses, and estimate personnel requirements.

Ordnance, Tankmen Vie For First Division Berth

It looks now as though the 328th Ordinance is going to be forced to play off what games they have had rained out so far in order to decide whether they, or the 756th Tankers are to end the first half in the first division.

The Tankers, right now, have a record of 8 wins and 7 losses, and the Ordinance has 7 wins and 8 losses. The Tankers have yet to play the Airborne and the 153d and the 328th has to play but one more game, and that against the Airborne.

The bookies are picking the Airborne and the 153d in all those games, and are giving away run by the miffed, so, barring the possibility of an upset somewhere along the line, the Tankers should finish up with an 8 and 9 record, and the 328th with a 7 and 9. Therefore, the postponed games will have a very definite bearing on the final standings of both.

Has Hard Week
This past week has been a hard one for the Ordinance. They were stopped cold by the 153d 18-0, and the STR, 2-1, but did beat the 78th Engineers, 6 to 2.

The boys collected a total of only 9 hits in the three games. Shiver of the JSD gave up 3; Heistand was most miserly and permitted only 1, while Marshall and Bowen of the Engineers marveled out five.

Two of the hits the Engineers allowed were most costly, however. One was a home run to Glover in the first inning with Tesori on base, and the other was a homer by Thales over the left field fence with two mates on base in the sixth, and that one set up the game.

Melija Back in Game
Melija was back in action in that game, surprising 328th followers pleasantly, and gave up only six hits and one earned run.

The crew welcomed back "Army" Armstrong, long absent with an injured leg, and a new addition, Bill Wirt, the Doughboy basketball star, who broke into the lineup against the 78th playing in center field. In the two games he's played, Wirt has walked four times, flied out once and hit safely once, striking in a run. He's looked good defensively as well.

HOPE FOR FIRST DIVISION Vets Still Looking Good Despite Disappointing Loss

The 37th Infantry Vets still look like a good, safe bet for their first division, but that is about all they have to look forward to now.

Another disappointing loss—this time to the 15th Tankers—dropped the Vets into fourth place temporarily, which is as lowly a position as they have seen all season. They were elevated into third by the Lawson Field Fliers, who dropped a 10-3 effort to the ISD Fries a day or so later, but unless the Vets play a little better they may find themselves back in that fourth slot at the first half's end. The Vets still have to play the Profs, while the Lawson schedule for those waning days is not overly hard.

The Vets seemed to have the Tanker game all sewed up as early as the fifth inning at which time they held a comfortable 9 to 2 lead. But a couple of errors and a couple of hits gave the Tankers three runs in their half of the fifth, and two more errors gave them another in the sixth.

Seventh Inning Tragic
The seventh was tragic for the Vets. Ed Davis, on the mound for them, had been weakening steadily, and in their frame was greeted by three straight hits. After a conference on the mound, Davis stayed in and gave up another hit, which drove in the run that tied up the ball game. And the next batter drove one to right, that looked like a cinch to go through and score the winner, but Burkholder made a fine backhanded stop, holding the potential winning run on third.

It was obvious to most of the spectators that Davis would never be able to emerge unscathed with the bases loaded, and no one out, but, after another conference, he remained to nobody.

His third pitch to Deakin hit the dirt in front of Roberts and got away for a wild pitch, and the winning run scampered across.

Loss to Airborne
Three days before, the Vets had lost another, but that loss came as a surprise to nobody. The Airborne Battalion outlasted the Vets to win 8 to 7, and again it was a somewhat surprising rally that turned the trick.

The Vets had overcome a 6-0 lead with three-run rallies in the third and fourth, and after the Troopers went out in front by a run in the last of the sixth, Hal Grubbs worked himself around in the seventh to knot the count again.

Grubbs struck out McGowan to start the last inning, but the ball got away from the catcher and rolled to the screen, putting McGowan on. Gallagher laid a nice sacrifice down, pushing McGowan on to second, and then Tom Kinard ended the game with a hard smutch at short that bounced right over Marion's head and went on into left center, McGowan scoring easily on the hit.

Walt Piebes batting mark dropped to .459 during the two games, but it still leads the club and is among the best five in the league. If Walter doesn't walk too many times, and gets a lot of hits in his last two games, he can still lead the league.

The Vets now have only the 7th Engineers and the ISD to play before the season's end.

Tankers Upset Vets, 10 To 9

Fighting hard for a first division berth, the Tankers' victory tallied for three runs in the last of the seventh Sunday night to upset the 37th Infantry, 10-9.

"This victory put the Tankers above the 37th again, with an 8-7 record. Earlier in the week the Tankers lost two ball games, 5-1 to the 2nd Field Artillery and 9-1 to the 2nd Field. It seemed as if the Tankers would drop their third straight Sunday, as the 37th took a one-run lead in the first inning and led all the way up to the seventh and last frame when the Tankers came to bat behind, 9-7.

Memard hit for Munson and got on base as a result of the shortstop's error. Five straight singles followed, bringing across two runs, one man being thrown out at third. This tied the game at 9-9, all and even running run scores on a wild pitch by Ed Martin, who relieved Earl Hulbert.

Winning hurler Ben Barriosok on the mound in the third. This was the first start of the season for Barriosok, who has also played third and catcher. Ben had his hitting eye back again in these past three games, banging out four hits in seven times up to boost his average back to the .400 mark.

The Tankers finish out their season this Friday night against the Infantry School Detachment which will be going all out to win, and it will probably mean the reference between a winning and losing record for the half. "A Terrible Good" "Frying" If the Tankers do make the American League they will probably be regarded as the "backstop of the quintet," but they have shown in the first half that they are capable of playing good baseball on occasion, witness their triumph over Lawson Field and the 37th Infantry, and their close game with the Airborne the first time. Biggest headache has been the fielding, with frequent misplays causing them to be upset by weaker teams.

Molded Plastics May Replace Army Chinaware

Preliminary tests of Army tableware made of molded plastics indicate that these items have many advantages over chinaware dishes for military purposes, the War Department announced.

Quartermasters—designed plastic bowls, cups, and plates are undergoing tests at Army hospitals, at Camp Lee, Va., and in a Quartermaster-operated restaurant. Plastic soup bowls and cups were used by men participating in the Admiral Byrd Antarctic expedition. Early reports from these tests show that the use of plastic dishes will result in savings through reduction in dish breakage.

Now the Quartermaster Corps is conducting research into plastic molding materials and processes in the search for products that will meet high military requirements. The Army hopes, with the cooperation of the plastics industry, to develop materials for use in such items as business, sunglasses frames, waterbug fuzes, helmet liners, tropical helmets, crash helmets and tableware.

During the war the Quartermaster corps developed a six-compartment plastic dinner tray which employed new developments in molding materials. The tray proved to be superior to the metal tray in that it presented better appearance, was easy to clean and did not absorb heat from the food as readily as the metal tray. Further improvements for the plastic tray are being studied so that they will be easier to clean and stack.

A Brooklyn girl decided to adopt the British long "a." She was unaware that there are four other vowels to be copied with, so this is what came out:
"But dishing, I can't pass Today witcha."

Another Cartoonist Discovered In STR

The Student Training Regiment, never lacking for talent, has turned up another artist. A man with a knack for neatly flushing a croqui sketch pen and a flair for effectively dabbling palette with a camel's hair brush is Hudson Dan Large, an officer candidate in the 12th Company STR.

Dan started "doodling" at the tender age of three and has been drawing pictures ever since. Though he has turned out some "serious" work, like the division plate he did for the class book in his senior year in high school and the ink sketch of the chapel at college, Dan is equipped with a typically American sense of humor and a special yen and knack for caricature. All through school, when he wasn't busy with his books or doing advertising "good work" for the Kroger Company, he was as busy as an eager-beaver launching anything and everything under the sun—but mostly his schoolmates and his teachers, fixing them up with long scoop noses like Bob-Hope and buck teeth like Mortimer Snerd.

Dan came to the city in January, 1946 at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. His fellow candidates and even his "The Officers" don't escape the darning of his renowned ribbing with a comical sketch book.

$8,000,000 SINCE 1942

Vast Lost-and-Found Bureau Operated by Army Effects

More than $8,000,000 in personal funds which have been lost by Army personnel or found among the effects of deceased soldiers has been returned to the proper owners since December, 1942, by the Army Effects Bureau at Kansas City, Mo., the War Department announced today.

This sum, dispatched along with personal effects valued at thousands of dollars, is the result of the operations of perhaps the largest lost and found agency of its kind in the world. The bureau is operated by the office of the quartermaster general.

Currently the Army Effects Bureau is making it possible to list the identity of owners of a large amount of valuable property which has been carefully preserved away against the day when ownership is determined.

Everybody Cooperates
In assisting in locating owners, photographic studios, watch companies, high schools and many business firms have been very cooperative in furnishing leads which eventually brought property back to the hands of those who had lost it.

Ownership in one case was established through a ring which was part of personal effects to be returned. The only available clue was an inscription on the ring which gave the name of a high school, and three initials. Bureau personnel scanned the graduation list of the high school for the year given on the ring and eventually found the only name which matched the initials. The owner had been killed in action, but a grateful sister received the ring as a keepsake.

The bureau has a long arm, and sometimes recovers property which had long been given up as permanently lost. A captain in infantry, for example, was one of the few Americans to survive the bombing of a Japanese transport that was en route to a prison camp in Japan. Later he died. Before his death, however, he related to a fellow officer a story of having traded his expensive watch with a Japanese sentry aboard the ship in exchange for food. The Jap did not keep his part of the bargain, and the captain wanted his watch back. The fellow officer returned to the United States and told his story to the Army Effects Bureau. After months of search, the Japanese sentry was located, the watch recovered and sent to the captain's parents.

Peak Volume in 1945
The peak in volume of property received at the Army Effects Bureau was reached in March, 1945, when a total of 55,062 cases of effects were recorded. The all time high in shipments going out from the bureau to the owners of belongings, or to next of kin, was during August, 1945, when 59,453 separate shipments were made. Today the work has lessened to the extent that in March, 1947, close to 10,000 cases were shipped. Belongings received at the bureau are classified into three groups: missing in action, prisoners of war and internees who served beyond the continental limits of the United States; lost or abandoned property of servicemen received from overseas units; persons missing in action, prisoners of war and internees who served beyond the continental limits of the United States; lost or abandoned property of servicemen received from overseas units; persons missing in action, prisoners of war and internees who served beyond the continental limits of the United States.

Overseas Setup
Initial responsibility for the collection and preservation of personal effects of an overseas casualty was vested in the division quartermaster, operating through the division division registration officer. Every precaution was taken to see that the effects were in the hands of the appropriate person. Property eventually sent to the Army Effects Bureau. When it arrives, each container is identified by the soldier's name, rank and Army number. Then an inventory is made and the procedure completed to establish the proper owner. All articles are made as presentable as possible before shipment is made. Soiled clothing is laundered or dry cleaned and metal objects are cleaned and polished.

A letter received from a mother who was sent to the bureau as a result of enemy action is interesting as showing the service rendered by the bureau. "When we opened the footlocker before we shipped it to us from the Army Effects Bureau," the letter stated, "I shall never forget how it looked. Aside from the fact that I know the Army does things neatly, I

NOMINATED—Pres. Truman has nominated Brig. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss to succeed Army Surgeon General Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk. Gen. Bliss will receive another star. Gen. Kirk's term expires May 31.

Bliss Is Nominated Surgeon General

The President sent to the Senate for confirmation the nomination of Brigadier General Raymond W. Bliss as the Surgeon General of the Army with rank of major general for a statutory term of four years.

General Bliss, who has served as Deputy Surgeon General since January 1, 1946, would succeed Major General Norman T. Kirk, General Kirk, whose four year term as Surgeon General expires May 31, will retire from active duty.

Also forwarded to the Senate for confirmation was the nomination of Colonel George E. Armstrong, now Chief, Office of Personnel of the Office of the Surgeon General as Deputy Surgeon General with rank of brigadier general for a statutory four-year term.

Squadron F Awarded Outstanding Plaque

Squadron F, of the 319th AAF Base Unit has been awarded the Lawson Field "Outstanding Unit Plaque" for the third time this year.

The plaque, which is rewarded by the Base each month, to the squadron having maintained the best training record for that period, was presented to Squadron F at Base headquarters last Saturday for its accomplishment during the month of April. Squadron A, held the plaque for the month of March and Squadron F had previously received the award for its work during January and February.

Maj. Harvey E. Rehner is the squadron's commander and Capt. Eugene Sabatini, is the deputy commander.

Because of the large amount of funds received, the bureau has practically become a banking institution within itself. Relatively small amounts were received initially. Receipts gradually continued, however, and in July, 1946, bureau accounts totalled $852,946. As of March 31, 1947, the bureau had received funds totaling $6,393,072.37 and had made disbursements amounting to $3,352,126.19. Whether it's money, rings or pets, the Army Effects Bureau stands ready to put its elaborate plans for tracking down belongings into action.

The Army Effects Bureau started its work in May, 1942. Today it is expected that most cases covering the effects of overseas casualties will be completed in 1947. Even when this work is finished, however, it will still serve those now in the Army and former soldiers still in search of misplaced items. It will continue to operate as the Army's largest lost and found department.

Army Aviator Still Holds Speed Record For Cross Country

NEW YORK—Although America's first post-war air liner, the Douglas DC-6, late in March set a transport speed record across the continent by flying non-stop from Los Angeles to New York in six hours, 47 minutes and 13 seconds, the Army still holds top honors.

For non-air line aircraft, Col. William Connel set the record on Jan. 26, 1946. He flew from coast to coast in four hours, 13 minutes and 28 seconds with an Army Air Forces P-51 Lockheed jet-propelled fighter.

The present west-east record for conventional propeller-driven aircraft was established in a rebuilt Army P-51 Mustang fighter. On Feb. 28 a California stunt pilot, Paul Mantz, set the record of six hours, seven minutes and five seconds.

"Look here, dear, all these bills are dated before we were married."

"Yes, darling."

"Well, don't you think it's a bit unfair to expect me to pay for the bait I was caught with?"

College Grads Get Opportunity To Apply For RA Commissions

Thirty officers last week began visits to more than 150 American universities and colleges to describe to World War II former officers due to graduate in June 1947, their opportunity to apply for Regular Army commission under the integration program.

The visiting officers also will speak to students not now qualified for integration who will graduate after 1947 and who may be interested in an Army career.

The officers are divided into 15 teams of two officers each, one an AAF officer and one officer from the other arms and services. These 15 teams in turn are divided among the six Army areas of the United States.

To Hold Exams

Following the speaking teams by a few days, examining boards will begin late this week to visit the same schools, and all applicants for Regular Army commissions under the integration program will appear before these boards. Successful applicants will be nominated for commissions in September.

The Army's new "career guidance" program provides planned training for Regular Army officers and progressively more responsible assignments commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The speaking teams will visit universities and colleges throughout the United States before concluding their tours on May 7, while the evaluation boards will complete their work on June 7.

Heir Raid

Fort Benning population has been increased several times recently by stork visits at the Station hospital and on April 30, a daughter was born to Pfc. and Mrs. Earl F. Gorrell. On May 2 Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Swain became the parents of a daughter and a daughter also was born to Sgt. and Mrs. Oscar Wallace on May 5. On the 7th, sons were born to Maj. and Mrs. Joe V. Morrey and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Ramsey.

On May 8 a daughter was born to S-Sgt. and Mrs. Oliver Willhite while a son was born to Sgt. and Mrs. Paul L. Cook on the 10th. The same day daughters were born to P-Sgt. and Mrs. Ickham Alexander and Pfc. and Mrs. Gordon C. Wilke. On the 11th sons were born to P-8 and Mrs. Claud Renauld and S-Sgt. and Mrs. Albert Thompson. Births on May 12 included daughters for M-Sgt. and Mrs. Paul E. McGillon and Pfc. and Mrs. James L. Deyampert.

All-Metal Liasion Plane With Folding Wings Is Developed

The folding wing feature of the Army Air Forces liaison plane, the Consolidated-Vultee L-13, simplified operations when one of the multi-purpose craft was shipped by air across the United States.

The plane, an experimental model, was loaded into a Fairchild C-82-Packet at the Consolidated-Vultee plant at San Diego, California, and transported to Syracuse, New York, where engine manufacturers will conduct performance tests. The only stop-over was at Wright Field, Ohio. The loading and tie-down operations required only a few hours. The all-metal L-13 is the first folding-wing liaison plane ever built. Its wings fold alongside the fuselage, making it easy to haul, tow or conceal. With the propeller, wings and vertical surfaces removed, it neatly fits into a cargo plane's fuselage.

Production models of the L-13 are coming off the Consolidated-Vultee assembly line. The plane is comparable to the Consolidated-Vultee L-9 Flying Jeep, which was widely used as a liaison plane during World War II.

Army To Increase Clothing Allowance

Acting on the recommendation of Headquarters, Army Ground Forces, the War Department has approved an increase in the allowance of certain items of clothing issued to Army enlisted personnel, it was announced by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Ground Force commander.

Previously issued only one field or battle jacket, enlisted men will now get two, and every man will now receive three pairs of wool trousers, as contrasted to the former issue of two pairs.

For summer wear, the former issue of four cotton khaki shirts and four khaki trousers has been raised to six of each item. In addition, one pair of tan low quarter shoes and one visored service cap, with two covers, will be issued; these items, if worn by the soldier, were previously purchased at his own expense.

Always give a woman driver half the road but first find out which half she wants.

COMMENDATION RIBBON — The Army Commendation Ribbon was awarded to Officer Candidate Charles Brizius, AOCCT No. 4, at a ceremony on Stroup Field last week. Candidate Brizius was cited for having "performed meritorious service at the Cadet School, Headquarters, RTC, Fort Knox, Ky. Through his initiative, judgment and conscientious effort, Sergeant Brizius brought great credit to himself and the military service."

Second Series Of Air Courses To Begin In Fall

The second series of Air Indoctrination courses for the school year 1947-48 is slated to get underway at Fort Benning late in September with approximately 400 officer-students from the Command and Staff College and the Armed Forces Staff College expected to attend the first session, which will be held at Fort Benning.

Tentative dates for the first class run through Oct. 3. Following the first course, the Command and Staff College and the Armed School will send a combined students body of 375 to Fort Benning for the 6-10 session.

The advanced students of the Artillery School and the basic students from the Ground General School will be the third group to take the course during the 1947-48 school year. They will arrive in time for the opening of the third class Oct. 13.

Final group to complete the AIC will be the Infantry School officers with a total of 222 students and a miscellaneous group of 100. Starting date for the last class is set at present for Oct. 20.

Advance AOCC Party To Leave

An advance party of three enlisted men from the Student Training Regiment is scheduled to leave Fort Benning before 5 p. m. for Fort Riley, Kans., to aid in the administrative organization of the Army Officer Candidate School which is scheduled to open at the Kansas installation Sept. 2. It was revealed today.

In the party are 1st Sgt. Sidney B. Smith, T-Sgt. Hubert Hood and Pfc. Nick Mitchell. These men are members of a student company and are expected to help form a nucleus of the AOCC cadre.

Meanwhile, Fort Riley's Camp Forsythe, home of the Cavalry Replacement Training Center until a year ago, is undergoing a complete face-lifting in preparation for the opening of a junior officer candidate school, according to word received here.

The Guard, Fort Riley's weekly newspaper, reported that chapels are being repaired, the service club reconstructed and unfurnished, and grounds landscaped.

7 Promoted In STR

Promotions of seven Student Training Regiment enlisted men were announced this week by military authorities. Advancing to the rank of staff sergeant were Sgt. Lloyd E. James, Walden C. Crapps, Philip M. Williams, Wm. Johnson, and James S. Stansbury. At the same time T-5 Albert Ellis and T-3 Willie J. Holland Jr. were promoted to sergeant and T-4, respectively.

Post To Observe Memorial Day

Memorial Day, Friday, May 30, will be observed as a holiday by all civilian and military personnel of The Infantry Center.

In respect to the heroic deed of the nation, the 25th Infantry Band will play appropriate patriotic music from 11:45 to noon from a position near the Main Post flag pole. The garrison flag will be displayed at half staff until noon, at which time the national salute of 21 guns will be fired and the flag hoisted to the top of the staff.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the band will play the National Anthem.

At 10 a. m. Memorial Day post chaplains will participate in memorial services at the Post Cemetery. The program will include an invocation by Chap. Emmett G. Jones, memorial address by Chap. William C. Shure and benediction by Chap. John J. Jedlowski.

At the conclusion of the program, flags will be sounded by a bugler from the 25th Infantry Band, and Fort Benning Boy and Girl Scouts will decorate the 525 graves with flowers collected throughout the post.

The scouts will begin collecting flowers Thursday, May 29.

Weather Outlook

(By Lawson Field weather station)
Friday—Fair and cooler.
Saturday—Fairly cloudy and warmer.

Military Chiefs From 5 Nations Will Visit Post

High ranking Army officers from five foreign countries will be guests at Fort Benning during May, June and July, military authorities said today.

At the same time it was also announced that delegates to the Georgia State convention of Exchange clubs in Columbus will witness a weapons demonstration Friday afternoon at Hook range and that the 1948 United States Military Academy class will train here June 13-21.

Mexicans Arrive
The Mexican chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Francisco J. Granales, accompanied by four Mexican Army officers, arrived Tuesday afternoon for a two-day visit. The party is interested in studying U. S. training methods and procedures. They left at 9 a. m. today for Fort Knox, Ky.

A Danish delegation composed of Col. V. L. Hvalbof, commander of the Royal Danish Officers' Academy, and Lt. Col. P. V. Hammer, Danish Army G-1, are scheduled to arrive May 22 for a three-day tour of the post. Primary purpose of their visit is to study American methods of officer procurement.

Delegation from Peru
Four Peruvian military leaders are expected to be on the post May 26-31. Headed by Brig. Gen. Luis A. Solari, director of the Peruvian War College, the group will study organization and methods of instruction and training. (Continued on Page 2)

AFRS Slates New Program

Fort Benning's WFBS, the Armed Forces Radio Service hospital bedside network, has introduced a new daily 15-minute program, "Pattern for Pleasant Dreams," which may be heard from 9 until 9:15 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

The first program was broadcast May 18 from the studios at the Station hospital, and is the seventh "live" program to be inaugurated, Johnny Johnson, station manager, reported.

Feature of the initial program was an inaugurating address by Col. Robert B. Hill, commanding officer of the hospital. Other speakers on the program were Chaplain Paul Schmal and Robert P. Canis. Chaplain Canis has been appointed director of the program.

The musical portion of the first broadcast was provided by Vocalists 9 Twigg and organ accompanist was Hazel Turnage, of the hospital Red Cross.

The purpose of the program is to create a quiet atmosphere for hospital patients prior to "lights out," Mr. Johnson said.

Harmony Church Bowl Renovated

The graduation bowl in the Harmony church area has been renovated recently with pine log seats replaced with oak timbers, and soil conservation measures taken. It was announced this week.

In addition, the stage has been painted and decorated in preparation for the graduation of AOCC No. 4 which was held May 20. A detail from the airborne battalion, the largest amount of work and has been complimented for the fine appearance of the bowl.

When asked to explain a recent slipper, the sergeant stated: "I got it in a guessing game. My wife called up on the phone and said: 'Guess who this is, dear?'"

338 Courses To Be Offered By Post Unit

A USAFI registration center, offering "over the counter service" in 338 correspondence and self-teaching courses, opens at Fort Benning today. Capt. Willard E. Chambers, Infantry Center Information and Education officer announced this week.

Authorization for the establishment of the center at Fort Benning came following a trip by Capt. Chambers to Madison, Wis., at which time he conferred with Maj. Glenn L. McCanaha, USAFI command post. Chambers will likely be set up at other Army installations in the U. S. provided the one here is a success. Capt. Chambers declared.

Holding the distinction of being the only such organization at a general service post, Fort Benning's registration center will provide locally every service formerly handled by USAFI headquarters.

Courses Direct
Previously all Fort Benning personnel taking USAFI courses were required to study through the mail-order process. With the opening of the registration center today, however, prospective students will receive their text books and study courses directly from the Infantry Center's Information and Education office, eliminating a loss of time and instruction.

USAFI curriculum has been revised, Capt. Chambers said, for the purpose of aiding enlisted men to pass the proposed Regular Army career tests. During the war, he pointed out, USAFI courses were designed to help the enlisted. (Continued on Page 2)

60 Students Out For Water Course

Water safety and first aid classes, under the direction of William M. McGowan, special Red Cross representative, got underway at 8:30 with a total enrollment of 60.

Meanwhile, at Sand Hill, 25 enlisted men from the 25th Infantry Regiment were undergoing a similar training course.

Mr. McGowan, who arrived at Fort Benning May 19 to conduct the special training course, spent Monday contacting units and laying plans for the course.

All students are expert swimmers and upon completion of the course will be qualified Red Cross instructors. They will spend the remainder of the season teaching others to swim and acting as life guards.

9 Station Hospital Officers Promoted

Nine medical officers at the Station hospital were promoted from first lieutenant to captain May 15, military officials said today.

Those promoted included 1st Lt. David H. Barker, Paul K. Bush, William P. Fox, Henry Leonard, and Thomas W. Chas. Morgan, Hugh C. Nabers, John H. Roberts, and William O. Stokes.

IN MEMORIAM—This granite memorial became a permanent part of Sittwell Field May 16 when it was placed there in honor of the late Gen. Joseph W. Sittwell. The field was named in honor of the famous general at simple ceremonies April 15.

THE ROARING WILD WEST—Costumes at the 48er party Friday night featured the theme of Frontier Days, and chosen as outstanding for their dress were Miss Inez Cotton, Mr. Jimmy Nuckles, Mrs. Paul Cooper, Mrs. Mary A. Dinmore, and Col. Walter Johnson. Mrs. Din-more was judged the winner in the women's competition with her Indian outfit, and Col. Daniel F. Buckland, not pictured here, in a costume as the marrying man, was selected as the male winner.

Military Chiefs

Maj. Gen. J. A. Gascoigne, deputy commander of the British Army staff, will arrive June 10, accompanied by Maj. A. C. Lynch-Staunton, military attaché to the deputy commander. The Britons will meet British liaison officers, students, and instructors at the Infantry School. They will also visit AGF Board No. 3 and the Airborne section before leaving June 15.

Chinese Col. Sinju Fu Shiao and British Brig. R. H. Batten and Lt. Col. W. P. Carless will be here during June and July. Col. Sinju, Chinese military attaché, will arrive June 28 and depart July 5, while the two British officers will arrive July 24 for two days.

Best In United States
Fort Benning's Information and Education program is recognized as the best in the United States and is tied for size with the one at Fort Lewis, Wash., according to Capt. Chambers. The section recently expanded its services and moved to a more centralized and larger location in the area formerly occupied by the Reception Center.

Of the 338 courses to be offered to Fort Benning troops, 149 will be the correspondence type and 189 the self-teaching type. The self-teaching course examination will be given upon completion of the text book, while the correspondence course student will be given examinations upon completion of each lesson. The latter will be graded by University of Wisconsin professors. In both cases, however, a final examination will also be given by the Fort Benning I & E office, and the result entered on the student's service record. Certificates of proficiency will be issued, as in the past, by USAFI headquarters.

Cover All Subjects
The courses available to Fort Benning troops include practically every subject through first year college level with the exception of foreign languages. Work beyond that point may be taken through one of the 73 accredited colleges or universities which are cooperating with the Army to further the education of military personnel.

Capt. Chambers revealed that he will coordinate the I & E night schools with the cooperation in order to enable a man transferred from Fort Benning to continue his study through correspondence courses. Additional plans call for the establishment of branch registration centers with unit I & E officers, but all final examinations must be taken at the Infantry Center I & E office.

Registration fees will remain at $2.00, Capt. Chambers said. This is merely an indication of the soldier's good faith, he pointed out, and should not be construed to mean that the course costs the soldier any money.

35 Lawson Men Awarded Medals

Twenty-five enlisted men from three different units at Lawson field were awarded the Good Conduct medal recently, base officials have announced.

Personnel of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron who received the award were, Privates first class Laurence L. Doby, George W. Friend, William E. Greene, Kenneth H. Herman and Gerard W. Sherry. In Squadron A, the award was made to S-Sgt. Paul E. Blake, Robert T. Chandler, Clarence M. Dennis, Allison E. Driesbach, John C. Lane, Thomas Patman, Sgts. Fred G. Bailey, Harold G. Bowman, Howard Swinton, Frank Herndon, Lewis Justice, Carthel Light, Cpl. Reginald W. Guthrie, Pfc. Johnnie B. Cob and Pfc. Romie L. West. Squadron F, men receiving the medal were S-Sgts. John W. Farley, Joe Hemson, Wilbur Lowe Jr., T-Sgt. Franklin M. Brown and Cpl. Charles H. Bell.

250 GED Tests Given At Sand Hill.

With well over 250 men tested to date, and 100 having passed the full battery of five courses successfully which makes them eligible to apply for high school diplomas, the 25th Infantry Information and Education Section is sponsoring the administration of general education development tests with the assistance and cooperation of the Mobile Testing Unit of the Infantry Center.

The subjects are: correctness and effectiveness of expression; interpretation of reading materials in the natural sciences; interpretation of reading materials in the social studies; interpretation of literary materials, and general mathematical ability.

Following are the personnel from The Infantry Center and the 25th Infantry Regiment who are supervising the administration of the Mobile Testing Unit of the Infantry Center and the 25th Infantry Regiment who are supervising the administration of the Mobile Testing Unit of the Infantry Center.

New Officer Efficiency Reports Effective July 1

Efficiency reports in the future will provide the General Staff with more detailed and objective information about each officer in the Army, the War Department announced today in directing the use of a new efficiency report form, effective July 1, 1947.

Since 1929, officers have been graded by their superiors twice each year on an efficiency report form which at that time was intended to show the capabilities and efficiency of the officer reported upon. For several years this method has been under study in a search for a system which would provide a better method of evaluating the capabilities of all commissioned personnel, thereby providing the Army with a more intelligent assignment to key positions.

Old Form Inadequate

The basis of the new system is the sound psychological principle that most people can do a better job of reporting facts than of passing judgment on their fellow men. Officer rating forms required each supervisor to say how good or how poor his subordinates were on numerous characteristics such as intelligence, force, and leadership. Rating officers found it difficult to agree, for example, on the meaning of force or leadership. Also not every one would agree on the meaning of a high or low mark. Just as the student in school might get an A from one teacher and a C from another for doing the same kind of work, so officers might be rated differently by different superiors.

Rating officers also found it difficult to overcome biases for or against the officer being rated. The new method requires the rating officer to report facts about the proficiency of his subordinates without rendering judgments in the form of awarded grades. The reports are evaluated in the War Department. In fact the system is so objective that the grading can be done, on the basis of research findings, by an electrical scoring machine.

The system, which has already evoked considerable interest in industrial personnel circles, works much like this: The rating officer checks about a hundred short descriptive phrases pertaining to his subordinates' proficiency on the job and his personal qualifications. By making pencil marks opposite the appropriate phrases, he indicates which are most and which are least applicable. Since all of these phrases have been carefully tested and placed in balanced groups ahead of time, the grading machine has only to tabulate the number of pencil marks in the correct spaces.

The new reports are submitted whenever an officer receives a change of assignment, whenever a superior is reassigned, or semi-annually if no other report has been submitted within two months. Present plans contemplate that letters will be sent to officers annually, advising them of weaknesses and suggesting corrective measures.

War Department officials agree that, although the new system is a definite advance over systems used in the past, it is not the final solution to the efficiency rating problem. Additional plans for analysis of results obtained through actual use have already been formulated. Further improvements are anticipated in the next few years as the War Department continues its efforts in scientific personnel management.

Souvenir Firearms Must Be Registered

WASHINGTON (APFS)—Former servicemen who possess "killer-type" souvenir firearms are required under the National Firearms Act to register such fully-automatic weapons with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, U. S. Treasury Department, Wash., D. C.

Failure to comply with the Firearms Act may result in a penalty of a fine not to exceed $2,000 or imprisonment not to exceed five years, or both, the Department ruled.

Among the deadly weapons listed by the Internal Revenue Bureau are machine guns, machine pistols, rifles and shotguns with a barrel length of less than 18 inches, and revolvers or pistols with accompanying shoulder stocks.

In addition, mufflers or silencers for any firearm are prohibited.

The Treasury Department reported the Alcohol Tax Unit is offering free services in rendering these automatic weapons permanently unserviceable without impairing their souvenir value.

Old Fort Warren To Be AAF Base

Fort Francis E. Warren, near Cheyenne, Wyo., which has been a military post for 78 years and is now operated by the Fifth Army, will become an Army Air Forces base on June 1.

During World War II, the fort was used principally as a quartermaster corps training base. A few truck transportation units now occupy the base, and some railroad shops are maintained there.

The historic post is planned for use by the AAF as the site of the School of Aviation Engineers, now located at Geiger Field (Spokane), Washington. The topography of the surrounding area is considered satisfactory for such a school.

The original reservation was named Fort D. A. Russell when it was set aside for military purposes 78 years ago but the name was changed in 1929 to Fort Francis

E. Warren in honor of the late Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming.

The tract has an area of 7,511.43 acres. Later a tract of 87,815.79 acres located 30 miles west of Cheyenne was set aside for military use and was named Fort Francis E. Warren Target and Maneuver Range.

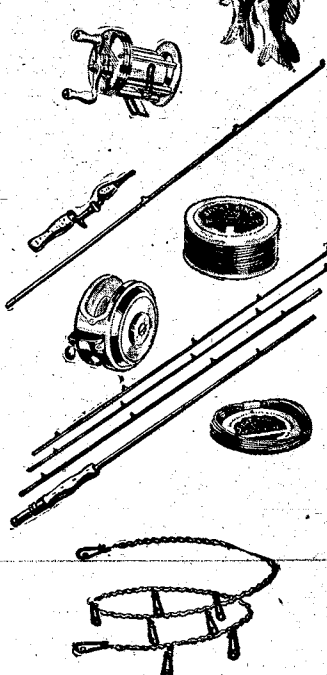

The fort was the home of the 1st and 20th Infantry for a few years prior to World War II.

It's Your Decision

The company commander calls you in and says you have been doing a good job and he is considering you for promotion. The first sergeant speaks sweetly and asks when you would like a three-day pass. You get a compliment at Saturday inspection.

Next it's time for your discharge.

It's tough. Maybe you have only three years, and they say a man with six years can't afford to quit unless he fibbed about his age when he came into the Army. Yes, it's your decision. You have had to make decisions since you entered high school, maybe before that. You have to decide whether or not to get married, although the women may dispute that. You are the one to decide what you are going to do with your life.

For some reason, with the man in the army, the grass looks greener in the distance. Some of us have never really tried that grass to find out how bitter it can be.

You don't like the discipline in the Army. Neither does anybody else. There's discipline in civilian life, too. People don't like that either. As a civilian you tell the boss you don't feel well and would like to see the doctor, and he tells you to use your lunch period. Ask a civilian dentist when he has the most requests for appointments. Either at lunch time or right after five o'clock.

Find a man in Columbus with your qualifications and find out how much he is making, how well he lives off what he is making and what his hours are. Then decide.

Better give it serious thought before losing out in the Army. Those recruiting signs and talks are a lot like the man who stood on a corner offering dollar bills for nothing. Nobody believed him.

Belly-Laugh Unlawful?

The Bayonet has always felt that a good, loud belly-laugh occasionally is ample insurance against "unhappy accidents." We mention the fact that it's good exercise.

The Bayonet did not know that laughing was an offense against the laws of any state, county or city.

It seems, however, that we have been misinformed. A Miss to our chagrin we read an Associated Press release the other day which reported that Sam Hyder had been fined $4.60 in civil court for laughing. During testimony for the prosecution the chief of police who had arrested Hyden stated that he had watched the jovial gentleman repeatedly to stop laughing "when there was nothing to laugh about." Apparently his deep laughter had annoyed the citizens of the town.

We do not know anything about the citizens of Hyden's community, but we suspect they are a most unhappy people. We simply can't understand why laughter should annoy anyone, at least not to the point of bringing court action against the person found guilty.

Perhaps that banning of belly-laugh is what is wrong

Chaplain's Corner..

'A Cure For Fear'

By CHAPLAIN ROBERT P. CANIS

During the hot season last summer a cartoon appeared in a small town newspaper picturing the earth's globe as a man's head. Withered collar draped about Old Globe's neck and huge drops of perspiration poured from his cheeks. Underneath the picture was the caption "It's not the heat, it's the humanity."

This is all too true of our present-day humanity. Through centuries of time, great strides have been made in every phase of living except life itself. Man is able to control almost anything he can lay his hand on except himself. Humanity remains—unchanged. Today, as thousands of years ago, we are still a conglomerate mass of mistrusting one another, doubting one another—suspicious and therefore eternally fearful of one another.

Modern philosophy, psychology, and science are feverishly working out all kinds of processes and cure-alls by which to escape fear. The only fallacy of such reasoning is that all escape mechanisms are merely temporary ways out until new and more dangerous fears present themselves.

The actual truth is that fear cannot be destroyed, but fear can be overcome. Scripture says: "Perfect love casteth out fear." Scripture also says: "Love is God; for God is love." The simple and very obvious answer to humanity's fears, then, is to emulate God's love in our own individual lives, at first in our small dealings with one another within the bounds of our local dwelling places, then expanding to larger communities and finally to world civilization; until all peoples have learned to live with love; recognizing in each other congenial brothers of a man possessed of the same wishes, hungers, and emotions. Therefore, forgetting self, let us build together these ambitions to the common good of all humanity; for that is the only real fear will have been achieved.

Slight Delay

(AFPS)—Veterans annoyed when pension checks are a few days late should learn patience from the case of William H. Platt of Burlington County, N. J. A letter dated Dec. 5, 1890, more than half a century ago, was mailed to him acknowledging his claim for a pension. Recently the letter was returned to the Washington Post Office. "Returned for better address."

with us today. Perhaps that is why we can't settle our differences peacefully. Perhaps that is the reason that no real agreements have been reached among the Big Four foreign ministers of the United Nations attaches. A little well-placed laughter never did anyone any harm, on the contrary, it can mean the difference between friendship and animosity, between understanding and misunderstanding. Laws forbidding laughter can be unhealthily laws indeed.

For our part we intend to steer clear of any place that prohibits belly-laugh.

THE MILLERSON CASE (Crime Doctor mystery) with Warner Baxter and Nancy Saunders. Dr. Ordway is called to assist in stopping a typhoid epidemic. Everything is routine until it is discovered that one of the supposed typhoid victims had actually been poisoned. When the doctor has to turn detective. Recommended for family.

SARGE GOES TO COLLEGE (musical romance) with Freddie Stewart, Jane Preisser, and Alan Hale Jr. With the bands of Russ Morgan, Jack McVea, and Abe Lyman making the music there isn't much time for romance. But then Sarge was supposed to relax anyway. Recommended for family.

NIGHT RAIDERS (period drama) with Van Johnson, Thomas Mitchell, and Janet Leigh. Laid in the Ozark mountains in the years immediately following the Civil War is the story of a romance which develops between a returned Union soldier and the daughter of a farming family whose sympathies lie with the Confederacy. Recommended for family.

TIME OUT OF MIND (psychological drama) with Phyllis Calvert, Robert Hutton, and Ella Raines. Based on the Rachel Field novel of the same title, this story portrays the struggle of a young musician to break away from the influence of a domineering father and a self-centered wife. Recommended for family.

DESPERATE (melodrama) with Steve Brodie and Audrey Long. He was a fugitive from justice, suspected by his wife and hunted by gangsters wanting to kill him—a strange predicament for a fellow who had never tried to do anything but earn an honest living from his trucking business. Recommended for family.

THE TROUBLE WITH WOMEN (comedy-drama) with Ray Milland, Teresa Wright, and Brian Donlevy. An enjoyable burlesque about the academic world and more particularly about psychology. Ray Milland, as a genteel professor, gets himself in a libel suit because of his belief that women have an "unconscious distate for male gallantry."

Medical Group Veteran Retires

After 21 years' active service which included two hitches in the Marine Corps, Master Sgt. Nelson D. La Bree, 3th Medical Group, retired today.

The veteran who has seen service in Iceland and the European Theater of Operations was overseas during both World Wars. He returned to the United States in August, 1945, after 36 months in the ETO.

La. Col. Savino W. Cavendish, commanding officer of the 30th Medical Group, in recognition of La Bree's long service, awarded him a Letter of Merit which read in part:

"In view of your impending retirement, I wish to commend you most highly for your long and continuous faithful service. Serving under many commanders in this country and abroad you have maintained a high standard of performance as a soldier and consistently received excellent character ratings.

"The United States Army is proud to acknowledge your service to your country and to state that you have well earned your retirement status as many before you have.

"I congratulate and extend best wishes to you."

emulded at the Post Chapel Saturday evening. are left to right: the bride's mother, Mrs. Gilbert Collar; the bride and groom; the bride's father, Col. Gilbert T. Collar, and Mrs. R. K. Scudder, who served as matron of honor.

Beautiful Post Chapel Setting For Collar, Pohlman Wedding

Against a background of candle-light and soft organ music, Miss Marion Collar, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Gilbert T. Collar, became the bride of Lt. Frank Pohlman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Pohlman, of Toledo, at the Post Manning Chapel Saturday evening. Lt. Col. William C. Shure, post chaplain, officiated at the impressive double wedding ring ceremony.

Beautiful arrangements of white gladioli in pedestal baskets and white poinsettias interspersed with syringas in brass vases decorated the chapel. Cathedral tapers in seven branched candelabra burned on each side of the altar.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. L. H. Averitt, organist, and at the first notes of the bridal chorus, the ushers entered and took their places by the altar. They were Lt. Col. Leonard Barrow, Maj. George Gorman, Maj. John Witschko and Gilbert Collar, brother of the bride. Mrs. Edith Scudder, her cousin's matron of honor and only attendant, wore a floor-length gown of maize taffeta, styled with cap sleeves and a full skirt. Her head ornament was a floor-length gown of maize taffeta, styled with cap sleeves and a full skirt. Her head ornament was a floor-length gown of maize taffeta, styled with cap sleeves and a full skirt.

The bride was lovely in an off-white satin brocade gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice, long sleeves delicately pointed over the hands and a full skirt with a short train. Her shoulder-length veil of heirloom lace, formerly worn by her grandmother, was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and Stephanotis. Radiantly beautiful as she entered the chapel with her father the bride was met at the altar by the groom

Honoring Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frederick R. Weber, Capt. and Mrs. Dan C. Kingman were hosts to an interesting dinner party Tuesday evening given in the lovely setting of the Willalouva Tea Garden in Seale, Ala.

The Webers will soon be leaving the Post as Colonel Weber is being transferred to Fort Bragg, Mrs. Weber is the sister of Captain Kingman.

Before the dinner, the hosts served cocktails at their quarters. The group drove over together and at the tea garden the table was arranged with beautiful roses in crystal vases and green tapers.

Guests, in addition to the honorees, were Col. and Mrs. Charles E. Beachamp, Col. and Mrs. Roy Lindquist, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roy D. Chertoff III, Maj. and Mrs. Riley Bass, Capt. and Mrs. William G. Thomas, Mrs. Richard Collins, Mrs. John L. Hitchings, and Maj. Robert Jourg.

Victory Lodge Scene Of Picnic

Officers and their wives from AGF No. 3 varied their usual dinner program last month with a colorful picnic lunch and dancing party held at Victory Lodge Saturday evening.

Approximately 50 guests attended the event, which was informal and record music used for dancing.

A highlight of the evening was the cocktail lounge set presented by Lt. Col. Edward Sachs and bride and Lt. Col. E. C. Peters as the night. Others participating in the gift were Col. Dwight Rosebaum, Maj. Thomas Cathcart, Maj. Keith Barber and Maj. J. K. Terry.

ried at the home of the bride, the former Miss Willie Duke Smith, in Columbus. She recently has returned from two years in Korea where she was stationed with the Red Cross. For the wedding event the bride chose a navy blue suit with a blue straw hat with a veil and carried a bouquet of white orchids. Mr. Thomas Dukes gave his sister in marriage.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Katherine Dukes, who wore a two-piece white suit. The Rev. H. L. Knighon performed the ceremony and Capt. Val Barber acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, a small reception was held at the R and R Club. The couple are now at home at 144 1/2 2nd street at Columbus.

At the reception held Wednesday evening guests were Col. and Mrs. Walter Archer, Col. and Mrs. James V. Thompson, Col. and Mrs. Waldon Lewis, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas R. Arnold, Col. Norman Barnes, Maj. and Mrs. H. G. Wilson, Maj. and Mrs. William Taber, Maj. and Mrs. Frank C. Rhinhardt, Maj. and Mrs. C. F. Murray, Capt. and Mrs. J. V. Beach, Capt. and Mrs. Leon H. Houseguests now at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton are Mrs. M. W. Bonwell of Bradenton, Fla., the mother of Mrs. Hamilton, and Miss Betty Hamilton of Flushing, N. Y., the sister of Mrs. Hamilton.

Mrs. Bonwell came about three weeks ago to be here when her granddaughter arrived on April 2 at the Station Hospital. Miss Hamilton arrived about the 10th and will be here at least this week end.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl V. Burke with their 13-year-old daughter, Shirley Louise, have taken quarters on the Post after moving here from Maryland where Colonel Burke was stationed at Edgewood Arsenal.

While her husband was overseas for four years, Mrs. Burke and her daughter stayed in Maryland where he had been stationed previously. Originally, Mrs. Burke came from Philadelphia and her husband is from Colorado Springs, Colo. They both attended Colorado College.

Mrs. Harold E. Greer recently joined her husband, and the couple, with their four-year-old son, are living at 401-B Bjornstad. Major Greer came here last February, but Mrs. Greer has been at their home in New York until recently. Major Greer was overseas for four years in Europe during the war.

Miss Slocumb Weds Sgt. Tweed In Chapel Rite

In an impressive double ring ceremony, Miss Jane Slocumb of her daughter became the bride of Sgt. Erwin Tweed May 3 in the Post Chapel with Chaplain Daniel P. Jenkins officiating.

The bride, wearing a dress of aqua crepe and carrying a satin covered prayer book with gardenias and Stephanotis, was given in marriage by her father, W. G. Slocumb. Her sister, Miss Myran Slocumb, was maid of honor.

Sgt. James Morris was best man and the ushers were Theron J. Slocumb and Cpt. Randy C. Thomas.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the bride's home and the couple left afterwards for a trip to Florida. They will be at home on Gentian boulevard in Columbus.

Communications Section Has Party At Club Saturday

Officers and their wives of the Communications Section celebrated Saturday evening with a dinner dance party which was given to honor Col. and Mrs. Robert Brady and other officers who soon will leave the Station Center.

Approximately 60 guests were present for the formal dinner which was served upstairs beside the swimming pool at the Officers' Club. The tables were decorated with attractive arrangements of wall flowers and houseplants.

In addition to the Bradys, special guests for the party who will be leaving the section were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Earl F. Holton, Maj. and Mrs. D. C. Bird, Maj. and Mrs. I. P. Phillips, Capt. and Mrs. C. J. Adams, Capt. R. S. Andrews, Capt. and Mrs. L. L. Swain and Lt. and Mrs. F. J. McDonnell.

OCS Class Enjoys Half-Way Party

In celebration of reaching the half-way mark in their course at OCS, Class No. 8 assembled at the Chickasaw club recently for a gala party.

Approximately 150 guests gathered for the event with entertainment furnished by various members of the class. Candidate Hisspelt officiated as master of ceremonies.

Candidates Reeves and Peck were responsible for a portion of the entertainment, and Candidate Lerew was particularly well-received when he sang various popular songs.

78th Engineers Earn Their Pay

Bridge Building Is Main Activity Of Engineer Unit

The activation this month of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion and inactivation of the 1290th Engineer Combat Battalion, The Bayonet staff believes is excuse enough to run another series of pictures by T. S. G. M. Starrett showing graphically what these engineers at Fort Benning do to earn their pay.

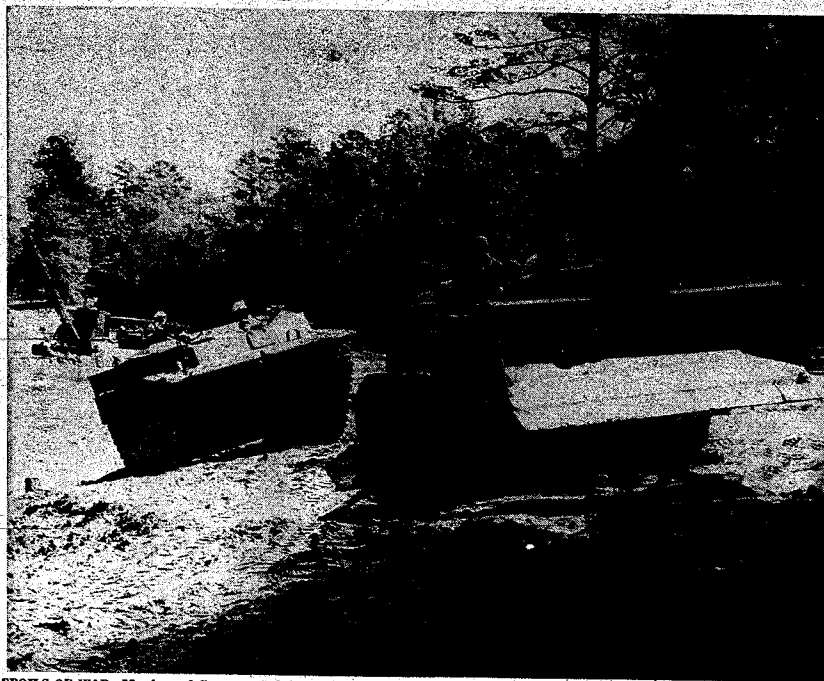

Actually the 78th is the same old 1290th with a new number name and a new home. The 78th is now billeted in the first cuartel on the Main Post. This space was formerly occupied by the Second Battalion of the 37th Infantry Regiment. The new battalion is assigned to Third Army and attached to School Troops, The Infantry School.

The old 1290th was activated in May, 1944, and served in Germany and the Low Countries after four months of intensive training in Scotland.

Duties Varied

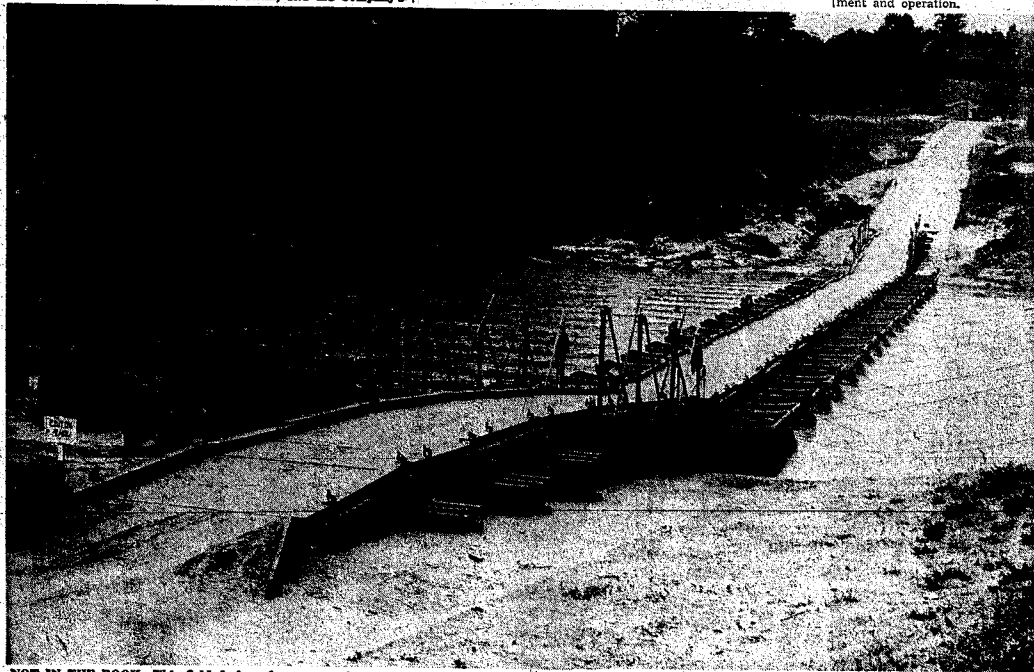

The duties of a combat engineer battalion such as the 78th are many and varied. They range from constructing heavy bridges across the Chattahoochee River to demonstrating the use of demolitions against tanks and fortifications. They have been called on from time to time to drag the rivers in search of drowning victims. Only three weeks ago they recovered the bodies of two officer candidates who drowned while on a boat trip down the Upatoi Creek.

With the departure of the draftees and many short term enlistees, the Battalion's personnel has been augmented by a large number of basic trainees who are undergoing a series of courses to acquaint them with engineer equipment and operation.

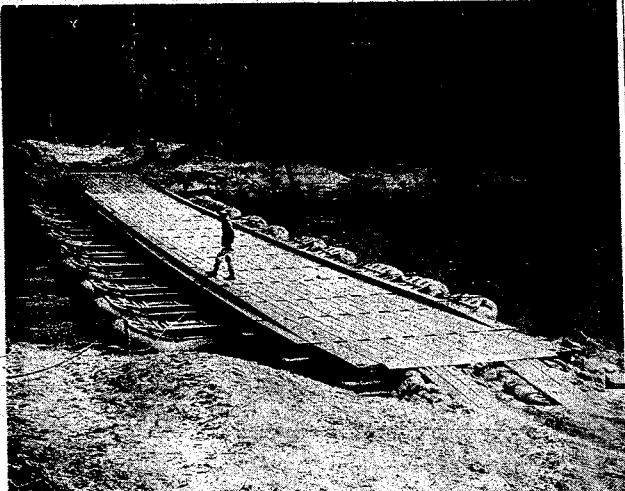

SPOILS OF WAR—Members of Company C, 78th Engineers' demonstration unit of School Troops, work long hours for brief moments of glory. The alligator couldn't swim, and the Company's D-7 was called on for rescue. The dragline in the background is at work improving the problem site.

NOT IN THE BOOK—This field design of an approach for the medium pontoon bridge was necessitated by the temperamental Chattahoochee River. This bridge may now be kept in service at all but extreme high water stages.

FINAL STAGE—The M4A2 bridge, one of the Army's newest, is shown in place on Upatoi creek. It is being demonstrated for Infantry School students by Company C of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion.

ON THE DOUBLE, SOLDIER—Seven minutes after the first section of bridge is "water borne," 150 feet of bridge is in place and the first troops are on their way across the Upatoi creek.

NCOs Entertain With Novel Party

Members of the Block 12 Non-commissioned Officers' Club celebrated Saturday night with a "19er party."

Horse drawn wagons called for the guests at their quarters and transported them to the Club house which was brightly decorated with a barn-dance motif, including Paul Vance came as a gold prospector and the paraphernalia for frontier day games. Among outstanding costumes, Mrs. Eddie Bright was noticed dressed as a dance hall girl and her husband, Sergeant Bright, came as a gambler complete with a checkered vest.

Mrs. Eva Vance and Mrs. Margaret Vance both wore the costumes of dancing girls while Mrs. Robert Short appeared as a fortune teller. M-Sgt. James Vance which was brightly decorated with a barn-dance motif, including Paul Vance came as a gold prospector and the paraphernalia for

Birthday Event Highlight Affair For Younger Set

A highlight of the social season for the very young set at Fort Benning took place Saturday afternoon at the Club when young Tommy Mann, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas Mann, celebrated his fourth birthday with a gala party.

Fifty-five guests were invited to the event and the highlight of the afternoon for the youngsters arrived when the swimming pool was opened. Following swimming, games and singing were on the program.

Balloons and fancy hats were the favors, and ice cream, birthday cake and punch were the refreshments. The main table, set on the lawn near the children's pool, was beautifully decorated with a lace cloth and three candelabras with pink tapers. The centerpiece was formed of pink roses and mother tongue and pink satin ribbons on the table were knotted with tiny roses.

The center of attraction, a large cake, was inscribed with Tommy's name and embossed with pink roses and pale green leaves.

CIC Has Openings For Officer Personnel

Direct appointments of warrant officers and enlisted men with a statement of willingness to serve in the grade of second lieutenant has been authorized to fill current vacancies in the foreign duty zones, they said.

Hamilton Students Visit Fort Benning

Health students from Hamilton, Ga., high school toured the Fort Benning hospital with their teacher, Mrs. W. B. Steis, on May 14. The class was escorted through the orthopedic, surgical and medical wards by Mrs. Mary S. Jones, of the hospital staff, and George A. Woodham, chief chemist, guided them through the laboratory.

On May 15, Fifty-two science students from the Hamilton high school toured Lawson Field, with Lt. Rex M. Ellis, base PRO, as their escort.

The students visited the parachute maintenance section, the link tracer department and the flight line where they viewed the interior of C-82 Fairchild "Packers" and the C-46 and C-47 transport planes.

Army Wants Drafted But Can't Have Him

TOKYO (APPS)—The last draftee in the First Cavalry Division did not want to go home—but he had no choice.

In a farewell review, 5,000 Second Brigade troops marched in honor of Staff Sgt. Pierre Duralourt, 22, who wants to make the Army his career. He can't. He must accept his discharge because he is a French citizen.

Last of the more than 60,000 selected men who served in the First Cavalry since 1941, Sgt. Duralourt teamed up with Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, division commander and Brig. Gen. Hugh Hoffman. There's still hope for the reluctant dischargee, however. Col. C. Stanton Babcock of Washington has asked the War Dept. to obtain American citizenship for Sgt. Duralourt on the basis of his assistance to American troops during the French campaign.

AAF Receives First Post-War Helicopter

The first post-war delivery of a Sikorsky HO4S helicopter to the Army Air Force has been made at the Sikorsky Aircraft Corporation plant in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

The new helicopters will be used in AAF rescue operations. This is the AAF version of the Sikorsky commercial helicopter, known as the HO4S. It was used in recent training in Alaska, where maneuvers proved its employment in the Arctic was practical.

Helicopters have been used successfully by the AAF Air Rescue Service for many years in rescue operations in areas where speedy transportation of the sick and wounded is vitally important.

Counter Intelligence Corps, it was announced today.

At the same time it was also announced that qualified enlisted men may also be appointed without technical examination to the rank of junior grade warrant officer.

Officials said that personnel appointed to either warrant officer or second lieutenant must sign a statement of willingness to serve in the CIC for a period of at least 18 months. Length of service will be the same time commensurate to present War Department regulations concerning officers fill current vacancies in the foreign duty zones, they said.

Second Half Of Baseball Season To Begin June 2; 2 Leagues In Operation

The first half of the Fort Benning baseball season ended this week and the second will begin rolling a week from this coming Monday, June 2.

A number of changes have been made in the league set-up and schedule during the second half, all designed to make for better baseball at Gowdy Field.

There will be two leagues in operation; the American and National, with the teams in the first five slots at the end of the first half forming the American.

Each team will play every club in its league twice. At the end of the half two league winners will play a two-out-of-three series to decide the second half champion, and the second half champ will play the Airborne for the post pennant. After that the post team will be formed.

Games Reduced

This cuts down the number of games, eliminating the nightly doubleheader entirely. There will be a single contest played every night beginning at 6:15, except Saturdays and Sundays. A doubleheader will be played Saturday afternoon and a single game will be held Wednesday afternoon. Sundays and Saturday nights will be left open for the 25th Infantry or for whoever wants the field for an outside game.

All games in the second half will be nine innings.

Another change will make it permissible for the Student Training Regiment to use the students in AOC and Officers' classes on its team. However, this does not apply to Airborne teams.

Individual Awards
There will be no individual awards to players at the end of the second half. Before the start of the first game in the second half, awards will be presented to the following leaders during the first half: leading hitter, most runs batted in, most runs scored, most stolen bases, most home runs, most triples, most doubles, and pitcher with lowest earned-run average.

Here is the way the league standings stood Wednesday morning before the last game of the half, Lawson Field vs. 83rd Field Artillery:

Club	W	L	Pct
Airborne	16	9	1.000
1st Bn, 8th Div.	15	10	.600
7th Bn, 32d Div.	10	13	.435
Lawson Field	6	20	.231
75th Tank Bn	6	20	.231
3d Bn, 10th Div.	6	20	.231
83d FA Bn	4	22	.154
32nd Cav Bn	2	25	.077
7th Engineers	1	26	.038
20th Co, 8th Div.	1	26	.038

Airborne Boasts Perfect Record

Knocking off the Lawson Field Fliers Sunday, 9-4, the Airborne Battalion came through its first half schedule with a perfect record, 16 victories in 16 games.

Looking over the first half statistics, one can readily see that the Airborne players will lead the league in most batting and pitching accomplishments. A glance down the batting order reveals the following picture:

George Dickson, centerfielder—finished the half at approximately .315, led the league in runs scored with 28, one of the leaders in stolen bases, and a crackerjack fielder.
Larry Terry, third baseman—ended up at .405 with most hits on club, 27, 15 runs scored and 14 batted in.
Paul Bonair, shortstop—Final average is .424, most consistent hitter on club, only one hitless in one game, scored 25 runs, has 45 hits, four doubles and three triples.

Floyd Dooley, left fielder-pitcher—Average is .394, with most total bases on club, leads league in home runs with four. He has Laue for triples with four, leads league in runs-batted-in with 28, and has 28 hits.
Frank McGowan, first baseman—Hit .317, scored 24 runs, smacked four doubles, and fielded excellently.
Tom Gallagher, catcher—Fine fielder behind plate, batting average is .378, scored 21 times, knocked in 14.
Henry Griffin, right fielder—Up 40 times, he hit .367. A clutch hitter, he drove in 11 runs with his 11 hits.
Bob Kinard, second baseman—A newcomer on the team, left up 25 times, but he has 11 hits for a .440 batting average.
Dick Gearhart, pitcher—Record of seven wins and no losses, with an earned run average of .65 per game. He has pitched 44 2/3 innings, including six complete games. He pitched a no-hitter, two one-hitters, and a two-hitter.
Rus Chapman, pitcher—Pitched 28 innings, three complete games, and has allowed only one earned run for an ERA per game of 2.5. He's pitched two shutouts and a no-hitter.

Tennis Season Begins

Tennis enthusiasts will have their due in the coming weeks, as the athletic office this week announced plans for the choosing of the Best Tennis team to compete in the Third Army tennis championships at Fort Bragg on June 17, 18, and 19.

The post team probably will be chosen the night of June 2, when matches will determine the best players from among those who came out for the team.

Post tennis courts, located between the chapel and the Infantry School building, are open every day at all hours for everyone's use. Both singles and doubles teams are wanted, with the stipulation that at least half of the team must be composed of enlisted men.

From the teams competing at Bragg the Third Army will select a group to represent this area in the Army championships to be held in Washington, D. C. from July 15 to 19. Then, the winning Army team will be entered in the Army-Navy matches July 26 to compete for the Leach trophy.

Anyone interested in coming out for the Beuning team is advised to begin practicing now and to report to the athletic office in the wings of Doughboy Stadium.

Women's Golf Tournament Now Underway

The annual golf tournament of the Women's Golf club is under way this week after the qualifying rounds were played last week.

In the championship flight, Mrs. James Hungate won from Mrs. Larry Paulus, Mrs. Daniel Buckland and Mrs. Robert Hill, and Mrs. E. J. Curtiss took the game from Mrs. William Landon while Mrs. James Thompson won from Mrs. Edwin Edris.

In the second flight the results were Renuis over Becker, Hayward over Kelly, Frye over Coffey, and Holton over O'Mohundro.

In the third flight the results showed Robertson over Brown, Jones over Evans, Meyers over McDaniel, and Howard drew a bye.

In the nine-hole tournament most players drew a bye on the first round play.

Second rounds continued Tuesday with losers of Monday's play going into the consolations flights. The final matches are slated for Thursday, May 22.

On Sunday there will be a mixed two ball handicap tournament with alternate drives for all interested golfers. The ladies have invited the men to play and any woman without a partner can contact Mrs. James Hungate at 2836 to arrange for play.

Foursomes may tee off any time after noon and the entrance fee will be $1 per couple. At 5:30 in the afternoon a buffet supper will be served at the Golf Club at which time the prizes for the Annual Women's Tournament will be awarded and the results of the mixed ball foursomes will be announced. Reservations for the supper can be made until Saturday evening by calling Mrs. Wiley O'Mohundro at 3455.

Vets Finish Strong; Take Third Place

The 37th Vets finished up strong, drubbing the 76th Engineers 12 to 6 Saturday, to nail down third place, with a wonderful record of 10 wins and 2 losses.

Walt Piebes went the route for the eve, giving his only four hits to Bob Lands and George Fagan. The spree left Lands hitting .372 for the year, and Fagan, .346. Both were topped by Walt Piebes with 44 runs scored, but both have played in nearly twice as many games.

The team hitting ought to be about the same for the second half, but the pitching—Walt Piebes and Ed Davis are both scheduled to be early discharges, and Bob Burkholder, the second baseman, is soon to leave. The Vets have been testing everyone on the club to see if they can uncover some mound talent, and thing in the right arm of George Fagan. George has been working on the mound regularly in practice sessions, and is likely to open combat test soon after the opening of the second half.

Under the new setup, the Vets will play no one but Lawson Field, 15D Airborne, and probably the 75th Tankers in the second half. All these teams, except the Fliers Vets. Obviously there's going to have to be strength added in several places before the Vets can announce themselves as a contender for the American League crown.

Doughboy Football Practice Begins

That's right, it's only May, but those sweat-battered figures you see practicing at Doughboy Stadium every night at 6 p. m. are brushing up on their football lessons.

Capt. Shepard of the Athletic Office is holding a six-week spring practice session for the 1947 Doughboys every night interested in coming out for the team is invited down to Doughboy Stadium any day after 6 p. m.

Airborne Nine Defeats Columbus Reds, 10 To 3

The 501st Airborne Battalion softball team strengthened its League last week when it defeated the Columbus Reds 10 to 3.

The troopers collected ten runs on 11 hits and two errors. The Reds gathered three runs on six hits and four errors.

Stonoe was credited with his fourth win while Ohnesorgen banged out a three-run homer to back him up. Smith was the losing pitcher.

83rd, Fliers Game Friday Ends Season

With the season officially drawing to a close tomorrow afternoon when the 83rd FA meets the Lawson Field Fliers in the last game of the year, every individual crown except one is virtually decided.

Floyd Dooley of the Airborne has got runs batted in with 28. His teammate, George Dickson, is all alone in runs scored, also with 28. Blondie Burnett of the 15D Troops has got total hits sewed up with a total of 29.

Post Cindermen Take Easy Meet Over Fort Bragg

Fort Benning swept to an easy 95-23 victory over Fort Bragg in the Third Army track and field championships held on the Doughboy Stadium track a week ago Wednesday afternoon.

Taking 13 first places in the 15-event program, the Doughboy trackmen completely dominated the meet.

High-point men for Benning were Ken Nowles and Ed Chynoweth, with ten points apiece, the former finishing first in 120-yard high hurdles with a 1:5.8 and heading the field in the high jump with a five foot, ten inch jump.

Chynoweth's ten points were scored with two firsts also, one in the shot, which he threw 41 feet, 1 1/4 inches, and the other in the javelin, which he tossed 184 feet.

Baker Wins Mile Race

Taylor Baker, mid-southeastern first in the mile for Benning, negotiated the distance in the good time of 4:42. "Bake" trailed Bragg's Dirscher most of the way, but overtook him in the last quarter, never to be headed again. Benning's Goodwin closed with a rush to take second.

Another all-southeastern baseball player who played for the Doughboy five, Bill Miller, made up back start in the 440 to beat Myron Kaiser of Fort Bragg to the tape. The long-legged Kentuckian ran the quarter-mile in 51 seconds flat.

Miller came back later to anchor Benning's victorious mile relay team. He lost time at the start by dropping the baton, but Bragg's Lou Goetscher made two yards in front. The time was 3:35 and that was exceptional considering the unsteady hands of Russell and Gruenther. Miller a good ten-yard lead.

Andy Lamm, West Point and Auburn hurdler, did in his specialties, taking first in the 220-yard low hurdles and second in the 120-yard high hurdles to account for eight points by himself.

The most thrilling race of the meet was the 100-yard dash, in which Benning's Lee Jones won to a 3:01 triumph in a photo finish with James Law of Bragg.

2 Firsts For Bragg

Fort Bragg was only able to take two firsts, with Nolan Lang honors there, and Huldo Norman inches for a winning toss.

In the half-mile event, Benning's Doug Scovill and Dick Gruenther had the edge over themselves, with the former overhauling his teammate in the stretch to win in 2:03.

As was expected, Gene Sprague and Harold Lutz, Benning's pole vaulters, headed the Bragg entries, finishing in a two-way tie for first with the final height at 11 feet, six inches.

Lutz also placed third in the shot-put, while Jack Smith, of Benning, jumped 19 feet, 8 1/2 inches to win the broad jump. Coleman and Tolvo took second and third for Benning in the discus.

Naughton All Smiles

Capt. Francis Naughton, Benning coach, was all smiles throughout the meet, as he watched his team come through in spectacular style. With the passing of the Third Army meet, track is finished at Benning until next season. Bill Miller, team manager, has already gathered up the equipment and put it away in moth balls.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel was on hand to watch the Benning-Bragg spiced shoe duel, and he congratulated both the winners and losers at the finish. He awarded team trophies to each squad and to the individual winners.

Complete results of the meet are:

Game pie run: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 4:42; 440-yard run: Bill Miller, Benning. Time: 51; 100-yard dash: Lee Jones, Benning. Time: 3:01; 120-yard high hurdles: Ed Chynoweth, Benning. Time: 1:5.8; 120-yard low hurdles: Ed Chynoweth, Benning. Time: 1:5.8; 220-yard low hurdles: Andy Lamm, West Point. Time: 3:35; 440-yard run: Bill Miller, Benning. Time: 51; 880-yard run: Andy Lamm, West Point. Time: 1:58; 1 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 4:42; 1 1/2 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 10:15; 2 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 7:45; 3 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 23:45; 4 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 48:15; 5 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 1:28:15; 6 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 2:03:00; 7 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 2:48:00; 8 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 3:33:00; 9 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 4:18:00; 10 mile: Taylor Baker, Benning. Time: 5:03:00.

3rd Place For 37th

The 37th Infantry took over third place in the Columbus softball League last week when it defeated a strong E and R Club team 3 to 2.

Daugherty, 37th pitcher, drove a long home run deep into right field to score behind two of his teammates and win his own game.

10 Airborne Boxing Bouts Slated Tonight

The Airborne boxing arena will be the scene of ten closely-matched bouts tonight, beginning at 8 p.m.

A large crowd packed the gym last week to see eight of the packed bouts, two of which ended in TKOs.

'Wheel-Glue' For Racers Needed As Midgets Buck

Bob Johnson, driver of Columbus-built midget racer No. 77, has laid in a supply of wheel-glue in preparation for the Friday night racing program at Idle Hour park. Johnson lost the main event last week as he entered the home stretch when his right rear wheel went AWOL.

Johnny Zale, driving another locally sponsored car, No. 44, slithered past Johnson as 77 hit the rails. The duel between No. 1 and No. 30, both well back in the field provided the second major thrill of the final feature, as the two racers passed each other twice, after No. 1 had moved up from last starting position. Thirty managed to show, after Johnson went out, but the crowd was yelling for No. 1, owned by H. R. Rodgers. The reason: No. 1, under the nickname "Sippy Sixty," had been the consolation special for the preceding four weeks.

LeRoy Hicks arrived and hopped into No. 1 without having ever driven it before. Despite this handicap he won the fast-

Australian pursuit race, and without a warmup. Johnny Suggs of Columbus drove No. 1 to a victory in the second heat. The third heat went to Hank Russ, the Torrington (Conn.) Tornado, in No. 30. Johnson won the consolation.

Hardluck Hank Blalock, equipped with a rabbit's foot supplied by a fan, avoided a wreck for the first time on the Martin track this season, but was able to collect only one honor—show in the second heat. Promoter Alex Brewer said Blalock would be back Friday with the newness of his sleek new No. 82 worn off and with a sharp eye on first money.

Approximately twenty drivers are expected to begin time trials at 7:30 p.m. Heat racing will begin at 8:30.

First Battalion Leading 25th Intra-Mural League

Hard pressed by the 571st Field Artillery club, First Battalion, 25th Infantry Regiment, possessing one win and no losses, leads the five team 25th Combat Team Intra-mural Baseball League at the close of the first week of play. The standings follow:

Team	W	L	ERA
First Battalion	1	0	0.00
571st F. A.	2	1	1.750
299th F. A.	1	1	.500
Second Battalion	0	1	0.00
Fourth Battalion	0	1	0.00

The schedule for this week follows:

- Thursday, May 22—2nd Bn. vs. 571st.
- Monday, May 26—999th vs. 1st Bn.
- Tuesday, May 27—2nd Bn. vs. 4th Bn.
- Thursday, May 29—571st vs. 4th Bn.
- Monday, June 2—999th vs. 2nd Bn.
- Tuesday, June 3—571st vs. 1st Bn.
- Monday, June 9—2nd Bn. vs. 1st Bn.

Airborne Reds Trounce Barnstormers, 6 To 1

In the opening clash last week between the two school ten noops entries in the Columbus City Softball League, the 501st Airborne Reds trounced the favored 37th Infantry Barnstormers 6 to 1 at Wildwood Park.

The Airborne nine smashed over their six runs on ten hits and five errors, while holding the Barnstormers to five hits and one run. The Barnstormers' only run came in the sixth frame on a homer deep into right field by Massey, third sacker.

The game anchored the Airborne nine to first place.

756th Tankers Almost Assured First Division

Ken Watts closed out the 756th Tankers' first half schedule in brilliant fashion Monday night, setting down the 83rd Field Artillery with four hits and two runs and striking out 19 batters for a new league record.

This ran Watts' strikeout total for the season to 118 in 68 innings pitched. The tall lefthander has an earned-run-average of 2.37 per game.

Monday's 6-2 victory over the 83rd gave the 756th a 9-9 record and just about assured the Tankers of fifth place and the first division.

Up and Down
As the final week shows, it was up and down season for the Tank team. The team has looked good on occasion, but at a case of too few men carrying the whole burden.

Only four men have played regularly in every game—Jose Martinez at shortstop, Ken Watts at first and pitcher, Ben Barosek at catching, and Paul Dacklin in the outfield. Dacklin got the most hits on the club, 18, and batted .318. Barosek and Martinez each hit safely 17 times, with the former hitting .309 and the latter .246. Watts got 16 hits for a .267 batting average. Martinez, Watts, and Barosek each have hit three triples, and Watts has also hit two doubles and a homer.

Hulber "Kitroy" Martin has been another important man for the Tankers. Only up 36 times, he hit .333, getting two triples and a double. With Watts, he formed the 756th's mound staff, pitching 49 innings and allowing 21 earned runs for an ERA of 3 per game.

Gorman New Manager Of Lawson Ball Club

Capt. Bob Hester, manager of the Lawson Field Flyers, is scheduled to leave the base this week for Tampa, Fla., where he will join the Army Recruiting Service Station. Mayor George W. Gorman, club officer, has been appointed to succeed him with the team.

Capt. Hester, a former fighter pilot with the 25th Fighter Squadron in China, has served at Lawson as a pilot with the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron and Athletic Officer for that unit.

Bullets Outscore Alabama State 7-5

Homers by Rightfielder Eddie K. Boldwin with nobody on in the second, and Centerfielder Elmer Malory scoring Boldwin in the sixth, headlined the 25th Combat Team's 7-5 victory over Alabama State.

The Collegians got to moundsman Roosevelt Kennedy for a brace of runs on two hits in the first inning, and it was in the second that Boldwin's four bagger put the Bullets in the scoring column.

With Gordon Burke, Goldwin's free tickets, a collegian error, and Jimmy Sanders' blow spearheaded the attack. The Bullets garnered four runs to take the score-day lead 5-2. Malory's homer with Boldwin on sack in the sixth ended the Bullets' scoring assignment for the day.

Engineers No 'Soft Touch' In Baseball League Race

Although they did end up in a tie for last place, the 78th Engineers have surprised many teams which considered them "soft touches."

The latest to find this out, and for the second time during the ball, were the Lawson Field Flyers last Thursday night. The final score was 7-6 against the 78th, but Capt. Renault and his players are still incensed over a decision by Umpire Lee which cut short a budding rally in the last of the seventh.

Coming to bat two runs behind, the Engineers got rolling when Pounds reached first on the second baseman's error. The next batter, Tony Corvel, looped an outside pitch down into the right field corner for a triple, putting the 78th only one run down.

Then, just as Abbott was about to pitch to the next man, the second baseman called for the ball, touched second, and Lee called Corvel out for not touching the base as he went down to third. Heatedly, and later protested that Lee hadn't been watching second all, but was looking out toward right field. They also claimed that the Lawson coach, sitting on the bench, had called the attention of the umpire and the players to the fact that Corvel missed the base.

As usual, though, the umpire's decision prevailed. The 78th was unable to get that tying run across them, and it went down in the books as the twelfth loss of the season for the "hard-luck" Engineers.

The club finished up its first half schedule Saturday night, dropping a 12-8 encounter to the 37th Infantry.

Spark of the 78th Engineers during their last seven or eight games has been John Leitch, pitcher-outfielder and batter extraordinary. Leitch is batting at .316 and has hit safely in the last seven games straight. He has two doubles, a triple, and eight stolen bases to his credit.

25th Bullets Win 3 Of 4

By Alyszen E. Wise

The 25th Combat Team Bullets playing four games last week, kept their heads high above the watermark with three wins.

Victims of the first Bullet attack for the week was Morris Brown college of Atlanta, whom the locals drubbed 6-3 on the Collegians' home grounds earlier in the season. Walter Scott, ace right-hander for the Sand Hillers, backed by fine team support and the booming stick work of right-fielder Eddie K. Baldwin's four for five, shut out the Atlantians while the Bullets pounded a pair of opposing pitchers for 17 biggies and 14 runs.

On five separate occasions, Scott was faced with loaded sacks, but with excellent control in the pinches, thrilled his huge supporting audience by either setting down the opposing batters via the strike out route, or by having them ground or fly out to his cohorts. During his assignment, Scott whiffed 12 batters.

Grabbling College, Grabbling, La. furnished the best all-round club to play the Bullets this season. Here for a two-day stay, here.

Monday afternoon on Bullets Field. Portly Pat Young, vet star-board side hurler from last years club, gave up the one bad ball, it being a four bagger to leftfielder Emley in the fifth.

Scrappy Charley Nichols, 25th receiver, hit into a two and two pitch for a screaming homer in the seventh, the smash being Nick's second of the season. Classified as the best context of the season, the second game between the two clubs saw Grabbling get to Lawrence Hall for three lalies in the first inning, and despite an airtight session, a fourth score in the eighth. Hall allotted seven hits.

Came To Life Held scoreless for three full innings, the Bullets came to life during the fourth through the seventh innings, scored 12 runs off offerings of a pair of pitchers with Catcher Charley Nichols banging a four bagger over left with one on in the fourth, and Centerfielder Elmer Mallory scoring two men with his atomic blast over center in the seventh to subdue the LaGrange City Cats 12 to 0.

Big Johnny Isom's assortment of pitches was breaking in grand style as he set down the willing but unsuccessful Cat with three scratch hits, Isom blazed the horseshoe by 13 batters.

Overheard in munitions plant: "I guess he's a big gun around here." "Yeah, keeps getting fired for initial setto to the Bullets 7 to 4 smoking."

Truckers Tied With Engineers For Last Place

The 204th Truckers lost their final game to the 83rd Field Artillery last Saturday, thereby finishing the first half with a 2-13 record and tying them with the 78th Engineers for last place.

It was a tough grind for the 204th, which didn't have too many men to draw from to form a nine. However the Truckers will be in much better position during the second half and they are looking forward to a winning team.

First of all they will be in the second division and won't have to play teams way out of their class, and secondly, they will have no more men to pick from, because they will be able to use players from the colored troops attached to the 204th. (Permission to have mixed teams was announced on Monday of this week.)

There are some happy memories that the 204th can salvage from this first-half play. The Truckers came the closest to beating the College in the seventh, 5-4; they upset the Tankers once, 7-5; Doyle Feeler shut out the Student Training Regiment, 2-0; and of course they had the services of Ed Poltowicz, whom many considered the best hurler in the league.

Hq. Company Wins 37th Ball Tourney

Headquarters and Headquarters Company smashed through with a decisive 18-10-4 victory over A Company to win the 37th Infantry Regiment softball league. The two companies have lead the league since the start of the tournament. Both teams entered the final game with 14 wins and two losses.

Daughter pitched for Headquarters Company and lead the team to victory with a home run, a double and three singles. Warwick was the losing pitcher.

The break in the game came in the third when the big sticks of the Headquarters team cracked seven hits and two walks in succession for a total of eight runs.

COLUMBUS

By MILT MOSKOWITZ
Fort Benning came through with smashing triumph over Fort Bragg in the Third Army track meet, and, as General O'Daniel said in handing out the trophies, that evens up the score for baseball and basketball, both of which tournaments the Braggmen won from Benning.

Two Doughboy basketball players, Bill Miller and Taylor Baker, had a bit of personal revenge. Miller took first in the 440 and "Bake" made it home ahead of the field in the mile.

We think that both Miller and Baker could make something of themselves in the track world, given the proper coaching, but it's very unlikely. Track just doesn't have the lure that other sports have for most boys, and basketball is uppermost in the minds of Baker and Miller.

The crowd at the Third Army meet was poor, and that's as natural as night for swimming for a track. People usually shy away from track meets, especially those set in field outdoors. There's only one section of the country where the sport is popular and that's out on the west coast. An unbelievable crowd of 28,000 gathered to see the Illinois-Southern California dual meet a few weeks ago.

In the east there are big crowds for indoor meets, but take it outside in the spring, with the same performers, and no one comes to watch but the athletes.

The second half of the baseball season ought to be more interesting than the first, as the teams will be matched up more evenly. We would like to enter a protest against the calling of the lower half the "National League," a slur on the senior major league circuit. Just for that, some team in this league will probably come away with the post championship, the same way the New York

Giants are going to take the world championship this season.

We've always felt that the National League has played better and more interesting ball than the A.L. and now if they could only win those all-star games!

It seems that the post team when it is formed in the middle of July, will have quite a few shortstops to choose from, with the league blessed by the presence of Blodny Burnett, Paul Bonarri and Jack Forbes.

A possible solution would be to switch one of them to third or second, where the team won't be too strong. Ralph Terry and Bob Kinard are good, but the other teams are weak at the hot corner and keystone sack.

Andy Hershock, who is being discharged in June, is one of the best pitchers in the league, we think, but he isn't too strong at the bag. First base will be a tough position to decide, with "Letty" Lehner and Frank McGowan both very capable performers. There won't be much trouble picking an outfield, but the Benning manager will be scratching his head when it comes to PITCHING.

2 League Records Broken By Watts

Two more Fort Benning post baseball league records went by the board last Monday when left-hander Ken Watts of the 75th Tankers set down 18 whiff victims in one game set by Herm Colon of the 37th Infantry.

Watts established another record when he struck out 11 consecutive batters, starting with Steve in the second inning, and ending with Kosick in the fifth.

Lawyer: "Remember, anything you say may be held against you." Defendant: "Lana Turner."

STR Rifles In 8th Place

The STR Rifles closed out the first half of the season in eighth place, but put them in the National League for second half competition.

The Rifles have made it clear to anyone that they are not going to be content with any such position in the second half. They are aiming at the top, and under a new set up they have a very good chance of making it.

Candidates to play
Officer candidates will be eligible to play in the second half of the season, and according to reports, there is plenty of good baseball material to be had merely for the asking among the neophyte officers.

Any candidate good enough to be retained on the team will be given some time off to practice with the team, and the team, as a whole, will be given more time to practice than they enjoyed in the recently ended first half.

Outfield Improves
Among the old standbys, Tita, Mink, Heistand, and the whole outfield looks much better as the season moved along. The fielding in recent games has been on a par with any team in the league, and, though the hitting never reached the robust stage, it has picked up.

Bob Mink led the club with a .362 average, and was also the leader in runs scored with 13. Mink got off to a very rapid start in league play, and then settled down to an even one-hit-a-game pace for the rest of the season.

The Rifles' biggest worry is that they will lose Joe to the ISD. Joe has been a very valuable asset around shortstop. His steady fielding, and proficiency at starting or continuing double plays has comforted STR pitchers more than once.

AOCC 8 Active In Many Sports

As AOCC No. 8 recently moved into the 19th week of training, the recreational program of 16th Co, STR, assumed huge proportions.

The softball team of AOCC No. 6 by a score of 8 to 3. Led by the superb pitching of Candidate Stephen Smokey, the team from 10th Co, proved too much for the men of Class No. 8. Despite this initial defeat, the team spirit is high and strategy is rumored to be in the making to prevent a recurrence.

Softball isn't the only sport of students of this class, however, as inter-company competition includes volleyball, horseshoe pitching, and ping pong.

As a claim to fame, 16th Co. has Candidate Robert Goodwin, Tom Reeves and Clarence Davis, who are currently members of the Post track team. Goodwin won second place in the Third Army meet for the mile. At Sea Cliff High in Long Island, N. Y. he had a record of 51 seconds on the quarter; 2:01 on the half, and 4:20 on the mile. Reeves is one of the leading high-jumpers and pole vaulters on the Post, six feet two inches and twelve feet, respectively, for high school competition. He prepped at Long Beach Polytechnic high in Long Beach, Calif. Candidate Davis, hailing from University High in Los Angeles, is the quarter-mile specialist with a past time of 51 seconds in that event. Davis won second place in the 220 low hurdles for Fort Benning last week.

Ordnance Drops to Seventh After 3 Consecutive Losses

Consecutive losses to STR, Airborne, and ISD last week dropped the 328th Ordnance unit 7th place for the first half of the season.

The team got excellent hurling for the STR and Airborne equipment, but a woeeful lack of runs nullified any advantage gained from the pitching.

The Ordnancers compiled a total of exactly four base knocks in those three games, all of them singles and managed to push across 2 runs. Dick Thiele's hitting slump accounts for much of the drop. Before those battles Dick was getting 2 or 3 hits a game, and was driving in runs galore, but he hasn't been able to get his 3 run homer against the 78th Engineers some time back.

Bo Boland and Nosh Mejia each turned in a workmanlike job in one of the games. Boland driving up 8 hits and 2 runs to the STR, and losing 2 to 1, and Mejia allowing 8 hits and runs to the Airborne, and losing 3 to 1. Floyd Dooley's long home run over the right center field fence with a man on provided the Airborne victory margin.

Pitchers Encounter Trouble
Sunday, against the ISD, both pitchers encountered trouble, particularly Mejia. He started the game, although he had gone the route against the Airborne, only 2 days before, and held the powerful Profs in check for four innings.

The roof fell on him in the fifth. Mejia pitched to 8 batters during the inning. Five of them hit safely, and two got on an errors, while one was lying out to center. Six runs crossed the plate, and then Boland moved in from short to swap places with Mejia, and put out the fire.

Mejia, a fiery little Mexican, got a terrific going over from the ISD bench, and from Herb Laue in particular, and was obviously disturbed. Nevertheless, he went back on the mound to start the 6th—and the first hitter to face him was Laue.

Mejia's first pitch was right at Laue's head. He jumped back in time, and was only knicked-on the hand. Laue worked his way around the bases, finally scoring on a wild pitch. As he came down the third base line, he seemed inclined to provoke a little trouble, but Mejia ignored him, and the incident blew over.

The 328th finally lost 10 to 0, getting one infield single off the slants of Wiley Weldon.

A lad looking through a telescope muttered, "Gawd."

"Gwan," said his friend, "it ain't that powerful!"

Benning Horseshow Team Takes Honors In 2 Meets

The Infantry Center Horseshow team, entered in the horseshows at Macon and Griffin the past two week ends, came off with high honors with the results of the Griffin show giving Fort Benning entered in five classes, four first places, including 14 ribbons out of a possible 20.

At both shows, the army entries took both the hunter and jumper championships, and at Macon, the Infantry Stables entered six classes and took three first spots and 22 ribbons.

The hunter champion at Macon was Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Maj. George Beatty Jr., and at Griffin the championship went to Reno Jason, ridden by Capt. Frank Lillyman.

The jumper championship at both shows went to Blue Point, ridden by Lt. Col. Jacob R. Moon.

Leave For Atlanta
Wednesday morning the team left for Atlanta, where they will enter the Fulton-DeKalb show with entries slated for the sessions Wednesday evening, Thursday evening, Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon and evening.

As a new class for the local team, entry has been made in the hunter teams class with a team from the Infantry School Hunt-Riding in this class will be Major Beatty on Sunfast Jamaica, Miss Madge Barclay on Reno Jason, Captain Lillyman on Tommy and Sgt. Ray Stone, as assistant instructor at the Infantry School stables, made his debut at the first show on Reno Orient and took second place in the senior horse-ship class and third spot in the champion hunter stake. He will be riding in the Atlanta show, as will Sgt. Thomas H. Fay, also an assistant instructor, who will ride Atlas in the heavy weight hunter class.

In the Macon show, where quite a bit of competition was in evidence, a first place was taken by Blue Point, ridden by Colonel Moon, Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, was in second, Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty, was third, and Commaek, ridden by Miss Barclay, was fourth.

In the handy hunter class, Sunfast Jamaica was second, ridden by Major Beatty.

In the touch and out jumping, Blue Point, ridden by Colonel Moon, was second; Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, third, and Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty, fourth.

In the open hunters class, Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty, was first, Reno Jason, ridden by Capt. Lillyman, was third, and Blue Point, ridden by Colonel Moon, was fourth.

Sunfast Jamaica Wins
In the hunter class, Sunfast Jamaica was first, ridden by Major Beatty; Blue Point was second, ridden by Colonel Moon; Reno Jason, fourth, ridden by Captain Lillyman, and Reno Hastings, fifth, ridden by Miss Barclay.

Blue Point, ridden by Colonel Moon, was second in the jumper stake. Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, was fourth; Reno Jason, ridden by Captain Lillyman, was fifth; Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty, was sixth, and Commaek, ridden by Miss Barclay, was seventh.

The hunter champion class was taken by Sunfast Jamaica and Blue Point took the top sport in the jumper championship. In the Griffin show, where competition was stiff, in the championship hunter stake, first place went to Reno Jason, ridden by Captain Lillyman. Second place went to Blue Point, ridden by Colonel Moon; third place to Reno Orient, ridden by Sergeant Stone, and fifth place to Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty. In the champion jumper stake, Blue Point took first place, ridden by Colonel Moon. Third spot went to Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, and fourth place, went to Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty.

Captain Lillyman, on Reno Jason, took first place in senior horse-ship. Second place went to Sergeant Ray Stone, on Reno Orient, and third spot went to Major Beatty, on Sunfast Jamaica. In the open hunters class, Blue Point took another first spot, ridden by Colonel Moon, and Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Major Beatty, took fourth.

In the knockdowns and out jumping, Sir Milton, ridden by Colonel Moon, took second, and Blue Point, again ridden by Colonel Moon, took fourth.

Baldwin Leads Bullet Butters

Leading his group in truly sensational style, 25th Combat Team Bullets Rightfielder Eddie K. Baldwin's booming bat continues to give him a substantial lead over the rest of his cohorts. The averages of the Bullets five leading stickmen, compiled up to Monday, follows:

Name	Pos.	AB	R	ER	Per.
Eddie K. Baldwin	RF	21	26	21	367
Gordon J. Burke	CF	21	26	21	367
Samuel Smith	LF	21	26	21	367
Jimmie Sanders	CF	14	13	8	295

Truck Officers Win In Softball League

In a spirited last inning rally the 20th Truck Battalion hoses out a favorite 37th Infantry team in a 7 to 5 decision last week in the opening game of the School Troops Officers Softball League.

The Truckers squeezed over the winning run on a single by Wheeler, who advanced to third on a passed ball. Wheeler then scored on a hunt by Dean, a Japanese who first in a close decision. Dean then scored on a long blow to left field by Dunn.

Battery for the 204th was Sangster and Springer; for the 37th, Roller and Pastusyznski.

Lawson Fliers Holding Fast To Fourth Place

The Lawson Field Fliers held fast to fourth spot in the last week of the season in spite of losses to the Airborne and ISD, clinching that position with a win over the 78th Engineers last week. The Fliers' record, not including a game with the 83rd FA, played yesterday, is nine wins against six losses. Six of those nine wins, incidentally, were by one run.

The big story at Lawson has been the sensational rise of Jack Forbes. Forbes was hitting .469 as he went into yesterday's game, giving him the league leadership.

Shifts to High Gear
Forbes shifted into high gear on April 27 against the 204th Truckers with three hits in three trips, and from there on out Forbes pointed the ball at a steady 500, which is better than average clubbing in any league.

His closest pursuers at present are Blondie Burnett and Clyde Burt, both of ISD. Blondie and Clyde finished off their season on Sunday with identical marks of .455, leaving Forbes with a 12-point bulge to operate on in his last game.

Herschel Fansler returned to the club on Sunday and played against the Airborne. His record in that game was impressive. He got four hits in four times at bat, one of his blows going for two bases. It looks as though Herschel will have a big second half.

Band Redesignated

The 72nd and 196th Army Ground Forces bands have been redesignated the 72nd and 196th Army bands, it was announced today. The 196th is at present inoperative through reduction in personnel, but formerly was composed of Negro enlisted men.

Artillerymen Hold Top Spot In 2nd Division

A driving last ditch run to the wire by the 83rd FA netted them top spot in the second division for certain, and if they won over the Lawson Field Flyers yesterday afternoon, they will play off the 75th Tankers for a spot in the first division.

The 83rd and the 75th both finished off their seasons with a mathematical possibility for the first division, and had to play off their postponed games to decide the issue.

The first one, between the artillerymen and the Tankers, went to the Tankers 6 to 2 on Monday night, and ended the Tanker's season with a 9 and 9 won and lost record, and the defeat left the 83rd with an 8 and 9 record, and one game yet to play.

Brooks Absent

The club's strongest hitter, Bill Brooks, possessor of a .422 batting mark, was absent for Monday's game, and the best pitcher, Trac, was ailing, so Andy Hershock, regular second baseman, went to the mound, Stevens replacing him at second, while Engle, Gleaton, and Weaver composed the outfield.

Hershock pitched a creditable ball game, until the 7th inning, when the Tankers landed on him for four runs and the ball game. Andy gave up only nine hits, five of them coming in the fateful 7th and gave up six walks.

Offensively, the team was hardly better off without Brooks. Left hander Ken Watts had them

Heir Raid

S/Sgt. and Mrs. Charlie Jones became the parents of a son on May 14 and the same day a daughter was born to Lt. and Mrs. Robert Parvot. On May 15 a son was born to Pfc. and Mrs. William Workman.

May 16 a son was born to Lt. and Mrs. Donald O'Neil and on the 18th sons were born to Sgt. and Mrs. James and Sgt. and Mrs. Mitchell Saturday while a daughter was born to Lt. and Mrs. Fred C. Horton became the parents of a son on May 19.

Pvt. Emch Transferred

Pvt. George Emch, formerly of the Broadway stage, who had been stationed at Lawson Field since last October, was transferred this week to Bergstrom Field, where public information officials announced.

Emch is a native of Youngtown, Ohio, and entered service early in 1945. He received his basic training at Fort Benning, Texas, and graduated from the AAF clerical typist school in Lory Field, Colo. His last assignment at Lawson was base library assistant.

Emch wrapped around his little finger in every game but on the 8th, when Engle was hit by a pitch, Hershock singled, and Jusack anyone was both home before he could get to first base. He covered his composure and fanned Weaver, Holloway, and Gleaton in order.

The 83rd provided big Ken with 19 strikeouts, all told, giving him a new record for the season in that department. Eleven of the whiffs, from the second out in the second inning to the final out in the fifth, were consecutive for another league record.

Hershock stood out on offense, getting two of the four hits Watts parceled out, and scoring the tying run in the 6th.

Before the Tanker duel the 83rd had struck together three straight wins to lift them to their present lofty status.

During those three games and the one immediately before them, Brooks rapped the ball at a 700 clip, with nine hits in 13 trips to the plate, and will now finish in fourth place among the league's hitters.

INSPIRED AN IDEA—A plump shot of Miss Francis Vorne gave Joe Bonica a start—literally that is—for the sight of her gave birth to a money-making plan for him. Miss Vorne is collecting, too!

Army To Train Liaison Pilots

Qualified lieutenants and captains of Army Ground Forces will be trained as liaison pilots in special schools conducted by Army Air Forces and Army Ground Forces, it was announced today.

Previous flying experience is not a requirement. Officers will complete the courses and be eligible for assignment to organic light aviation duty in Army Ground Forces. They will be eligible to receive flying pay as rated liaison pilots if assigned to duty requiring frequent aerial flights.

Officers accepted will be sent to Army Air Forces Liaison Pilot School, San Marcos, Tex., to learn to fly liaison aircraft in daylight and darkness and under marginal weather conditions from roads and landing strips normally used by Army Ground Forces units in the field.

After graduation from San Marcos, the student pilots will attend a three-month Army Ground Forces Pilot Course conducted by the Artillery School at Fort Sill, Okla. They will be taught operational and tactical flying, practical maintenance, receive tactical instruction in adjustment of fire and operational instruction in various types of operations.

First course at San Marcos will begin July 1, with graduation on December 15. Graduates will enter Fort Sill January 2, 1948, and complete their training March 31, 1948. Future courses at both San Marcos and Fort Sill will begin at four-month intervals.

Officers must be physically qualified for flying and are limited to ranks of lieutenants and captains. All must volunteer.

Columbus VFW Opens Club Room

The Columbus post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has opened its club rooms at Eleventh street and Broadway to all Fort Benning troops with overseas service, Vince McCauley, post quartermaster, announced today. Club facilities include a bar, game room, and lounge, Mr. McCauley said. Membership is open to Fort Benning troops, regardless of their home state, who have seen overseas duty. The Columbus VFW post holds a weekly smoker on Saturday nights and future plans include engaging an orchestra for a weekly dance. At present the club rooms are open from 1:30 until 11:30 p.m. nightly.

Station 'NUTS' Entertains Resting Officer Candidates

BY WILLIAM D. TRUSSELL
"Are there any questions? All right, student company commander, it is now 1405. Have the class back in the stands at 1415. Take a break!"

Upon hearing these eagerly anticipated words members of the Student Training Regiment's 10th Company disperse and take up the prone position under various Georgian pine trees. Suddenly they hear it—the thing they have been waiting for. Over the P. A. system come these thrilling words:

"This is station NUTS. The following program is brought to you through the courtesy of Dan's Dapper Diaper Service, makers of diapers for babies who care."

Unusual Program
So starts another of radio's most unusual programs. This show is produced by one of the few remaining agencies who are devoted to entertainment strictly for GIs. The days of the USO camp shows are over. They, like many other former entertainers "just for the boys" died with the war. But if you wish to look on AFSC No. 6 during a ten-minute break between classes, this would be hard to believe.

The third platoon of this class could easily pass for a special service detachment when it comes to good old American entertainment. Not content with amusing their fellow candidates at company parties and in the barracks, these ingenious thespians now produce short radio programs sent out over the ether waves from wherever the class and sound truck happen to be located.

For Hard To Please

Not to be frowned on by any all programs are accepted by even those who are hard to please. Variety is the slogan of this original unit. The theme song now in use is one dear to all officer candidates. It is the beloved "Benning Alma Mater." The choir's rendition of this selection is beyond compare. Or if it's jokes you want, there is Candidate Pat Patterson, smee, who is a walking copy of Joe Miller's gag book. Among the recent presentations was a parody on the folk song "All Through the Night." The new version deals with the lives of candidates who can be found sleeping "all through the class."

The variety of sponsors who make these programs possible is as endless as the types of entertainment presented. Among the outstanding firms represented you will find Mother Murphy's Meatballs, the ones of meatball with the built-in onion. As another fine example we proudly point to Harold Hircroft's Hot Dogs.

Remember, if it's real entertainment you want, just tune in your local Black and Blue Network station, NUTS.

Peruvian Army Officers Tour Infantry Center

Four top-flight Peruvian Army officers, who arrived here at 1:35 p. m. Monday for a four-day tour of the Infantry Center, are slated to witness a Browning automatic rifle demonstration by Army Officer Candidate class No. 12 at 9 a. m. today.

Headed by Brig. Gen. Luis A. Solari, director of the Peruvian War College, the four-man delegation will see a machine gun firing demonstration at Arkenman range at 9:50 a. m. and before lunch Army Officer Candidate Class No. 7 will simulate a movement of command posts problem for the visitors.

Witness Demonstrations

This afternoon Infantry non-commissioned class No. 2 will provide the Peruvians with a special demonstration of an assault squad in an attack on a pill-box at Turner and Buma hills. At 2:15 p. m. there will be pug and terrain board displays by Associate Basic class No. 3.

A check for $250 was presented Tuesday to the Armed Forces Radio Service station WFBS by Arch B. Ferrell, commander of Phenix City's Fletcher-McCollister post of the American Legion, to be used for the purchase of recordings and equipment.

The contribution was presented to John Johnson, manager of the bedside network which provides radio programs to the Fort Benning hospitalized through individual telephone type receiving sets.

Present at the simple ceremonies at the station hospital were Col. Robert B. Hill, commander of the hospital, Maj. Leonard H. Estes, executive officer, and Capt. Harry A. DeVore, adjutant.

'Super-Blitz' Board Attempts To Picture Warfare Of Future

WASHINGTON (APPS)—Creation of a highly secret "superblitz board" of three youngish officers who will advise the Army in its atomic age warfare planning has been announced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The officers, whose identities are known only to a select few, will attempt to envision what war will be like 25 years from now. It is a scientific war of improved and fantastic mass destruction of a nation's social system and economy should come to the U. S., the Army wants to be ready.

"I want this board to be on a high plane," Gen. Eisenhower said. "I don't want it emporated of the past. I want it to come up with some educated guesses."

The Chief of Staff let it be known that he has isolated the officers from the Department's regular operation and planning staff. The trio, whose ages range from 33 to 40, have an almost unheard of autonomy, responsible only to Gen. Eisenhower. He said they will "take orders from no one, not even myself."

With their identities concealed, they will not be pried with lore about how the recent war was

Over 300 Cadets From West Point Expected June 13

Approximately 300 United States Military Academy cadets are expected to arrive here from Fort Bliss, Tex., at 4 p. m. June 13 for a full week's study and observation at the Infantry School.

Accompanied by Brig. Gen. Geraldts at West Point, the members of the 1946 class will be feted at a round of social events beginning the evening of their arrival and continuing until their departure June 21.

Tour Begins June 16

The West Pointers will begin their official tour of the Infantry Center Monday, June 16, when they witness a combined Airborne Air Force problem, including an actual briefing. Feature of the operation will be a pathfinder demonstration.

Tuesday, June 17, the future Army officers will tour the Airborne section and observe basic airborne instruction. A highlight of the day will be a parachute jump which the cadets will observe from an aircraft in flight. (Continued on Page 2)

Jenna Ordered To Washington

Lt. Col. Russell W. Jenna, executive officer of the 25th Infantry Regiment and former member of the famed Second Armored "Hell on Wheels" Division, has been assigned to the Organization and Training Division, War Department General Staff.

Arriving at Fort Benning March 1946 for his third tour of duty here, Colonel Jenna assumed command of the 25th Infantry Regiment, which was at that time a component of the 107th Combat Team, later the 25th Combat Team. Last June he was named executive officer of the 25th Combat Team.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, class of '34, Colonel Jenna's initial tour of duty was at Jefferson Barracks. He later completed the Company Commanders course at the Infantry School and saw service in the Canal Zone with the 33rd Infantry Regiment. Upon returning to Fort Benning he was assigned as commander of the 25th Infantry Regiment.

While the Second Armored was engaging German fighting in Europe, Colonel Jenna's command of Combat "R." He commanded the 25th Infantry bridgehead over the Elbe River before Berlin.

69th Infantry Division Association Formed

Organization of the 69th Infantry Division Association is underway, according to Maj. Gen. Emil F. Reinhardt, U. S. A. (retired) former commanding general of the division.

Members of the 69th Division during membership in the association or a copy of the recently published division history, may write to General Reinhardt at 409 Ridgenow avenue, San Antonio, Tex. General Reinhardt reports that more than 2,000 copies of the division history already have been distributed.

Doodlebug's Private Life Scrutinized By Students

By O-C WILLIAM TRUSSELL JR.
If you should happen upon the members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 6 and find them under one of the lecture halls, do not be alarmed. They are in the eager quest for knowledge, are intently studying the fascinating life and love of the unpretentious doodlebug.

The doodlebug, or myrmelion as the more technical prefer to call him, is a small insect that grows abundantly in the South. For the benefit of the more learned, the doodlebug is, according to Webster, "the larva of the ant lion, an insect resembling the dragon fly, and belonging to the order Neuroptera, the larvae of which build a pit in the earth to catch ants and other insects."

Display Common Sense
This arresting little creature, displaying an unusual amount of common sense and ingenuity, makes its home under any available building, such as the 10th Company barrack (the only firm believer in squatters' rights). This is its means of providing itself with shelter and protection at the expense of others. Its abode is, by the way, in the dry earth and in the shape of an inverted cone.

Not being industrious, this animal, using his proportionately large posterior, fashions his home whenever and wherever he finds it necessary. The size of his domain depends largely upon the size of his body and the hardness of the ground. Homes range from one-half to two or three inches in diameter and from one to two to one inch deep. The sides of the cone are very smooth and regular. His purpose in this type of construction, which he prefers over the more modern types, is to provide himself with an abundance of tasty food, expending as little energy as possible. The fact that he is so fat testifies that this is evidently an excellent philosophy of life. The candidates find this one very similar to a tank trap.

Wait for Their Meals
The doodlebug, having completed construction of his private residence, nestles in the bottom part under the sand, taking full advantage of all cover and concealment available. Then he waits.

Along comes some unsuspecting creature, who works honestly for his living, he trips and falls head over heels into the trap. Finding the walls too high to surmount, the doomed one, usually a ant, makes one last valiant effort to overcome this obstacle. But all is in vain. Quick as a flash the doodlebug grasps the victim with two formidable pinners that extend from his head and draws the ant beneath the sand.

The officer candidates, who find it difficult to struggle through such items as defense and attack are amazed at the amount of sheer genius displayed by this aggressive little creature who isn't even human.

Chicago Lawyer Thinks America Turning Nudist

BY APFS
America's number one nudist looks at the future of his culture with a very optimistic, and predicts that within ten years the nudists will have not the least bit of hesitation about shedding clothes during leisure time.

Alois Knapp, who calls himself the best undressed man in the United States, states that the number of nudists in America has more than doubled in less than a year. More than two million men, women and children run around in their birthday suit every time they get a chance, he said.

President of the American Sunbathing Association, Knapp said that within ten years everybody will get into the swim at public beaches in the raw without a single bush. Modesty has no virtue in Knapp's organization, and in regard to its future the sunbather said:

"If people continue undressing at the present rate wearing clothes during leisure hours will be as old fashioned as grandma's nightgown. We have to do this thing gradually," he explained. "I've been watching the necklines of bathing suits and evening dresses slip away down every year. Eventually the law of gravity is going to win." Knapp believes that nudism attracts people because of their natural desire to be comfortable.

The fact that Knapp is a Chicago lawyer may save him money defending himself in court should he ever decide to stage a sunbather's revolt and parade his cult away from his secluded colony at Roselawn, Ind.

In addition all students will receive an orientation rider flight Wednesday morning, June 18, the cadets will witness an infantry weapons display. The program also includes lectures on the resources of the infantry in organic fire power and new developments in infantry weapons.

Demonstrations Planned
A special demonstration of the installation and operation of the signal communication system of an infantry regiment will be watched by the cadets Thursday morning, June 19. In the afternoon they will see an infantry battalion in an attack with tanks and a tactical air force operation in support of the attacking infantry.

The 300 students will witness a demonstration of a supply system within an infantry regiment Friday morning, June 20, and during that afternoon will witness an infantry battalion in defense. Saturday, June 21, the Pointers will leave Fort Benning by air for Stewart field, N. Y.

section and the training aids exhibited. The Peruvian delegation is scheduled to leave Fort Benning Friday for Randolph Field, Texas.

Study Instruction Methods
Accompanying Gen. Solari on his tour of U. S. installations are three key staff members of the proposed Peruvian Air University. Purpose of their American visit is to study organization, methods of instruction and training and to secure training materials and publications to aid in starting the Air University.

Last Tuesday the South American officers toured the Air Corps section, and witnessed several firing demonstrations by students at the Infantry School.

They visited physical training areas and classes and attended special demonstrations of a regimental supply system and firing of the 37 mm. and 75 mm rifles Wednesday morning. During the afternoon they were present at Underwood road for a battalion in attack demonstration. The visitors are being accompanied on their U. S. tour by Col. Robert Orth of the U. S. mission in Peru.

Halprin Attends Traffic School

Capt. Jesse B. Halprin, assistant provost marshal of the Infantry Center, is expected to return Friday from Northwestern University where he has attended a course for the past three weeks in traffic control and accident prevention. Captain Halprin was one of 24 Army safety personnel and civilian technicians attached to the Army who attended the third in a series of 100-hour courses. The students represented military establishments all over the country. The course was conducted by Northwestern University's Traffic Institute as a part of the Army's intensified safety program. Forty-two officers and civilians attended the first two courses which were held December 2-20, 1946, and Feb. 17 to March 7, this year.

Instructors in the third course were members of the Institute staff, staff of the Traffic Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and guest specialists.

The course covered such subjects as traffic regulation, licensing, examination and inspection, accident investigation, reports and records, traffic engineering, safety education, enforcement, traffic flow regulation, and public relations. Feature of the course was instruction in traffic control and circulation in disaster situations based on observations of Gen. O. Presley, field representative of the Traffic Division, ICAP, at the Texas City explosion.

Nazis' Terror Weapons Now Considered Obsolete

In less than two years since victory was won in Europe, the development of new aircraft and guided missiles by the Army Air Forces has reduced the V-1 and the V-2, Hitler's "secret terror weapons," to the status of antique weapons, insofar as tactical use is concerned.

Army Air Forces technicians are convinced that the only practical use of the V-1 and the V-2, in the light of modern scientific developments, is for research in the development of new, long-range, supersonic guided missiles and in the search for defenses against guided missiles.

V-2 Still Fastest
The warhead of the dreaded V-2 rocket has been removed, and the V-2 now carries scientific instruments high into the ionosphere, providing the Army Air Forces with valuable data on the upper air regions. The V-2, which is fired from the White Sands, New Mexico, guided missile proving ground by Army Ordnance personnel, still remains the fastest guided missile, but Army Air Forces guided missile experts have pointed out that the relatively short range of the V-2 limits it for possible future use as a first-line weapon. Experiments with the V-2 have provided rocket technicians with valuable data which they will incorporate in future weapons developed for the Army Air Forces.

The development of high-speed jet fighters and the new supersonic controlled missiles, such as the GAPA rocket, render the V-1 "Buzz Bomb" obsolete due to its slow speed and short range.

V-1 Copied By U. S.
The first V-1 was used by the Nazis in the attack on London, and the Army Air Forces technicians by parts of exploded V-1's enabled the Army Air Forces to plan production of an American version of the "Buzz Bomb" by the end of 1944. It was decided to build the V-1 along the same principles as the German version in order to save the time needed for development by American technicians.

Contracts were issued to Republic Aircraft Corporation for the air-frame designs and to the Willys-Overland Company for the production. By the following spring, full production had been started.

The Army Air Forces called its version of the V-1 by the name, JB-2. A total of about 1,000 JB-2's were manufactured before the contracts were terminated. By August 1945, the Army Air Forces had a squadron of bomb technicians ready for duty in the Pacific to launch the JB-2's against the Japanese.

JB-2's Never Used
The war's end terminated plans for tactical use of the JB-2's and a large number of them was set aside for experimental use. A total of 131 Army Air Forces built JB-2's and their launching ramps were given to the U. S. Navy, which calls the JB-2's "Loons." More than 200 JB-2's were tested by air proving ground command at Eglin Field, Fla., where new guiding equipment was added to the original air-frames.

The experiments by the Army Air Forces quickly indicated that the JB-2 was inadequate for tactical use, since new jet fighters were at least 100 miles an hour faster than the "buzz bomb," which could be easily destroyed in combat before penetrating into a target area. The Army Air Forces is concentrating on new, supersonic guided missiles with much longer range than the JB-2. Some of the Army Air Forces JB-2's will be used as targets for

Pay Raise Given Ungraded Workers

The War Department has authorized a new wage schedule for Fort Benning ungraded employes and a shift differential for employes working regularly established tours, one half or more of which falls between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., it was announced today.

The new plan, which went into effect last Monday, authorizes an average hourly increase for ungraded employes of approximately two cents above the former schedule. The shift differential will give those employes an additional four to six cents each hour. Officials pointed out, also, that the new schedule will be applied step by step and grade for grade by the civilian personnel office without necessity of action on the part of operating officials.

All operating officials having employes eligible for shift differential pay are urged to contact the payroll chief at the civilian personnel office immediately in order that all details may be coordinated.

These wage changes apply also to Lawson Field civil servants.

We suggest that someone invent a device to muffle the click of dice, so we can get some sleep for the first few nights after payday.

Most Peculiar Obsession

Many of our most able Congressional leaders have developed a most peculiar obsession. Regardless of America's avowed intention of maintaining a sizeable Army, they have, following the end of the war, and in spite of the President's determination to reduce the Army for nonie foreign policy, our Washington legislative body is apparently embarked on a course of hamstringing the War Department.

The latest to feel the Congressional axe are four foreign broadcasts and a government-sponsored foreign language publication. Since their inauguration last year, the "Voice of America" series and "America" have provided a needed service for this country, one which we cannot afford to overlook in our over-all planning for the future.

Our economy-minded Congress unfortunately is using some of our most talented talents as political pawns. It's common knowledge that everyone would like to see taxes reduced, but few indeed could possibly agree with the present program.

Both the radio programs and the magazine are serving a useful purpose, and both have been received wholeheartedly by the people—if not their leaders—of eastern Europe. Through the medium of the radio and the printed word our government has been able to depict the real American way of life as opposed to the misrepresentations and lies fed to those people under the Communist line.

We might well take a lesson from our two most powerful war-time allies, France and Russia. In spite of her war-caused poverty, Great Britain still beams regular short-wave BBC programs to all parts of the world. Russia also is broadcasting daily to European and Asiatic countries, and in many instances the Soviet broadcast is the only news media available to the people. Both Russia and America have had their people both ravaged by war, and both are more weary than ever. Yet our Congress, under lower taxes, and Congressmen comply with our demands and wishes by taking away not only our air force but our most effective method of education.

The "Voice of America" and "America" have been helpful in clearing up misunderstandings. Both have a definite place in our foreign relations if we intend to live up to our newly-drafted doctrine.

The radio series and the magazine directed to the Russian people have been accused of propagandizing. In that respect we have been deceived because of the unsavory reputation the word propaganda gained during the war. Propaganda is not necessarily a bad thing. On the contrary, propaganda always means speaking or writing lies or half-truths. On the other hand, the type of propaganda we are disseminating to the peoples of Europe is counteracted by the lies and clouded issues passed on by Communist forces to an unsuspecting victim. This type of propaganda is the only effective method a peace-loving nation has to combat such a nefarious practice.

What do we as a nation want? Do we want lower taxes and a few years of peace followed by a war which will put an end to the world? Or will we take a more sensible attitude and accept the higher taxes now and the assurance that the world will never again be plunged into war?

The verdict is up to the people!

Army's Preparedness Plans

The much-publicized plan for universal military training proposed so fervently by the armed forces, is common knowledge to the average American citizen. Moreover, it is accepted and approved by the majority of the public as an adequate plan for the "preparedness" we have lacked in the past.

However, it is less common knowledge that this plan is only one facet of the Army's design for its rapid expansion when and if the need arises. Because of the vehement opposition and greater publicity of their "big brother," several other plans are almost unnoticed in the shadow cast by universal military training. Nevertheless, they are vitally important to the over-all picture. One of these is the creation of a reserve pool of competent officers.

During the recent conflict the War Department recovered not only a shortage of man-power in the enlisted ranks, but an even greater deficit in the officer corps. The professional military officer, although he was trained through years of education, experience and education, simply was not present in adequate number to fill the growing vacancies left by the blossoming Army of the United States in 1942.

This problem was answered partially, of course, by extension of the draft to include the cream of the civilian executive crop for training in the Officer Candidate Schools to serve as military leaders. One such school was located here at Fort Benning. These were the men who led their troops into the heaviest combat against a seasoned enemy, and time after time proved their ability to defeat him.

It is now highly dubious that such a plan would alleviate the bottleneck in any future war. The time for expansion is likely to be greatly shortened—the first of all, to the lightning-initiated attack probably aimed at our homeland, and secondly, to the rapid mobilization of the large reserve of trainees which would increase to compensate the shortage of competent officers. This abbreviated expansion period can be answered only in the manner which our government is now solving it—by the creation of a reserve pool of trained officers, who, with a minimum of orientation, would be able to step into their former posts efficiently.

This is being accomplished in several ways. The continuation of Army officer candidate classes, soon to be moved to Fort Riley, Kan., has added increments of four days and shorter training while attending. This should produce a large number of young officers whose length of inactive service can be long. A broader R. O. T. C. program promises to graduate many reserve officers. A program enlisting discharged officers to join the O. R. C. coupled with the National Guard recruiting drive is progressing rapidly. West Point and other military institutions are providing the service with a prodigious supply of regular Army officers.

In addition, there is the possibility of re-commissioning those who were discharged under the surplus-discharge system, although this alternative is limited to a few thousand.

While universal training plans will give us the desired reserve pool, the power of the War Department, in its game of military poker, isn't just re-shuffling part of the deck for a new deal; it is including these "face-cards," the reservoir of trained leadership. In the next round only the perfect hand will take every trick.—James D. Walker.

Junior Rifle Club To Be Organized

All Fort Benning officers and enlisted men interested in instructing boys 12-18 years of age in the use and firing of 22 calibre rifle are urged to attend a special meeting in Room 224, the Infantry School building, at 5 p. m. Monday, June 2.

During the meeting plans will be outlined for the formation of a Junior Rifle club for Fort Benning boys. Membership in the club will be open to some of both officers and enlisted men.

Regular meetings will be held each Friday and Thursday from 6-8 p. m. during June, July, and August, officials said. In August a boy's individual match and a father-son match will be held. Club fees will be kept at a minimum, a spokesman said, adding that only cost involved would be targets and ammunition.

Additional information may be had by telephoning Capt. Frank Palmer at 2442 between and 5 p. m. and evenings at 3-8388 in Columbus.

And then there's the Scotchman who called his sweetie to find out when she was free."

Prayer

By Chap. Simeon T. Johnson
Prayer is an all-essential exercise for the Christian. The entrance to the life that "his bid with Christ in God" is through prayer on the human side. One must be much in prayer if he would live and grow spiritually. One might as well try to thrive physically without a constant supply of wholesome atmosphere as to prosper spiritually without prayer.

The exhortations in the scriptures to prayer, or a model prayer, was given by our Lord to his disciples. There are several prayers left on record and many examples of those who prayed effectively. In true prayer there is full submission to the divine will to do as well as faith in God. He is pleased when his children brings the soul nearer to him, and there is an entering into a more complete fellowship with him. Not only does true prayer react beneficially upon him who prays, but there is also the fact that God answers prayer and grants the petitions of those who pray. He is pleased when his children's expressions of confidence in him, and he hears and answers prayer.

Models In Speed Tests

WASHINGTON, (APFS)—Half-sized wooden models of fighter planes are being employed by the Navy in speed tests. Dropped from high altitudes, the models pull out of dives and stall when they go faster than 600 miles per hour. They parachute down for recovery and re-use.

"Halt, who's there?"
"Officer of the Day."
"Well, what the hell are you doing out at night?"
"Then there's a guy who winked at the elevator girl. She took him up to her room."
"Mummys, tell me a story."
"Shut up! Wait till your father gets home and he'll tell us both one."
"He: 'I asked you for a kiss.'
"She: 'Well, what are you waiting for, an application blank to fill out?'"
"Cpl.: 'You've never kissed me like that before, Mary, is it because we're in a blackout?'"
"Girl: 'No, it's because my name isn't Mary.'"
"GI: 'Do you know that girl over there?'"
"Pal: 'She's Helen Carrs.'"
"GI: 'How is she on a park bench?'"
"Gal: 'Sometimes my father takes things apart to see why they don't go.'"
"GI: 'So what?'"
"Gal: 'So you better go.'"
"As an old sock remarked about H2O: "Water? The stuff rusts pipes."
"W. C. Fields: "Did I ever tell you the story about my travelling for three days and nights on nothing but food and water?"
"They talk about the Arkansas noncom who had two orders for his motorized squadron:
"First order: "Prepare for git in your canteen."
"Second order: "Git!"
"Soldier, what's your seventh general order?"
"Oh, are there seven?"
"Groucho Marx: "Who ever called it needing, didn't know a thing about anatomy."

COMING ATTRACTIONS

THAT'S MY GAL (comedy) with Lynne Roberts and Donald Barry. Selling people part interest in a show is okay, but when they get together and find they own 250 per cent of the show—well, that's not so good, especially for the ambitious salesman. Recommended for family.

THUNDER MOUNTAIN (western) with Tim Holt and Martha Hyer. Returning from college to find his Arizona ranch about to be sold in a crooked deal, Holt has to move fast to save the ranch and his neck. Recommended for family.

THE GHOST AND MRS. MUIR (fantasy with Gene Tierney, Rex Harrison, and George Sanders). Renting a house to the ghost of the former owner still lived involves Gene Tierney in a strange triangle with the ghost and an artist. Miss Tierney's problem is deciding which one is her real friend. Recommended for mature.

THAT'S MY MAN (race-track drama) with Don Ameche, Catherine McLeod, and Roscoe Karns. Which was greater—love for gambling or love for family? Finding the solution is the problem of Don Ameche when faced with the loss of both family and possessions. Recommended for family.

TWILIGHT ON THE RIO GRANDE (western) with Gene Autrey, Sterling Holloway, and Adelle Mara. Faced by the usual action and music, Autrey is in Mexico to help track down thieves smuggling across the border. Recommended for family.

THEY WON'T BELIEVE ME (melodrama) with Robert Young, Susan Hayward, and Jane Greer. Arrested for the death of his wife and his secretary, Robert Young reveals the sordid details of his behavior to attempt to prove he did not kill them. Recommended for mature.

College Dean Lauds UMT

"Universal Military Training has potentialities which have never before been approached in our educational system," Professor S. C. Hollister, dean of the College of Engineers, Cornell University, stated during a recent visit to the Army Ground Forces experimental training unit at Fort Knox, Ky.

Professional Hollister was a member of a group of prominent educators, editors and national association members on an inspection tour of the UMT unit. Composed of trainees between 18 and 19 years of age, the unit will serve as a "pilot model" for universal military training if Congress passes legislation adopting UMT as a national security measure.

After inspecting all phases of training and educational development by the 64 young men of the UMT Unit, another member of the party, James R. Killian, Jr., vice president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said, "Any 18-year-old will benefit greatly from the program. It has been established on a high level. The enthusiasm of the cadets contributes much to the training. "I would be glad," he continued, "to have my own son go to UMT for the advantages he would derive. What trainees get here will help materially for the rest of their lives. I believe that UMT training has a definite, permanent educational value in terms of civilian usefulness."

Army Hits At Black Market; Bans ET Tobacco Shipments

WASHINGTON, May 28—(APFS)—Striking a heavy blow at black market operations in Germany, the War Department has announced a ban on private shipments of cigarettes and tobacco to American personnel in the occupied zones, effective May 26. Henceforth, troops and civilian employees will have to purchase their "smoke" from Army post exchanges, which, the Dept. said, will be able to meet all normal needs.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, said he "heartily approved the ban." In a Berlin interview with American correspondents, he said: "You... have written that the American cigarette is the best in the German black market. Well, now with this embargo we are striking at the black market. The importations of American cigarettes, according to Gen. Clay, had reached a total of 6,000,000 a month.

Co-operation in this country is being sought in the effort to end the black market and thus stabilize the German economy. Reaction of Berliners, wire services reported, was the prediction that "black market prices of 'smokes' would immediately skyrocket."

In its announcement the War Dept. said: "Friends and relatives of military and civilian personnel serving in the occupied zones are asked to discontinue the mailing of tobacco products in gift packages. Those sending such packages to APO's in Germany or to German residents through international mails, will be asked to declare the restricted items and will be asked to remove them before packages can be placed in the mails."

Both the Postoffice Department and the Department of Commerce have offered full cooperation in carrying out provisions of the order."

29th Infantry Jobs Schedule Reunion

A reunion of the 29th Infantry Regiment will be held at the Pepsi-Cola canteen at 47th St. and Broadway in New York City Friday, June 20, at 8 p. m., according to word received here from Leonard Sosman, who is handling all arrangements.

The reunion is for men who served with the 29th from 1941 until the end of the war, and anyone now serving at Fort Benning who desire to attend is requested to contact Mr. Sosman at 289 Empire Boulevard, Brooklyn 25, N. Y., immediately. He will make the necessary reservations.

Lawson Briefs

The unending stream of personnel arriving and departing continued as usual this week. Some of the arrivals were: Lt. Rudy H. Dees, 75th, who attended the Army Information School, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., Mr. Jack Black, Supply, returned from a short stay at Warner Robins, Ga.; Lt. Ois E. Winn, Supply, is back on duty after a long leave, and Sgt. and Mrs. James Astin reported for work Monday after a two weeks honeymoon in Florida. Leaving Lawson this week were: Lt. Col. Donald M. Gordon, for TDY at Maxwell Field, Ala.; M-Sgt. George Garrett, to P-80 School at Chanute Field, Ill.; Lt. Roland J. Rosenberger, off on leave and Lt. Allen Russell who is being separated from service.

On the 24th Capt. John Matthews, a recent arrival, was appointed Base Stat Officer and Lt. Edward J. Hamel was assigned Base Intelligence Officer succeeding Capt. John P. Kelleher. The new assistant aircraft maintenance officer is Capt. Lyle D. Tarter. Lt. Robert F. Kreig has succeeded Lt. Dante V. Zarlegno as Base Dental officer.

The Base Finance office was closed last week, and Capt. Harold Elliot, Finance officer, has taken over the base budget and fiscal job. In the future the important part of each month will be taken care of for base personnel by the Fort Benning Finance officer.

In quarters at 123 Rainbow are Col. and Mrs. Harold A. Post, Mrs. Stewart came here from Louisville, Ky., and Colonel Stewart arrived at Fort Benning after completing his duty at Manila, P. I., where he was chief of R and U for AFWESPAC. The couple have a son attending the University of Chattanooga.

Miss Godwin, Lt. Baumgartner, Wed Saturday

Miss Colleen Godwin became the lovely bride of Lt. John Stanley Baumgartner in an impressive ceremony Saturday evening at the St. Paul Methodist church in Columbus with the Rev. Mr. W. E. McFlier officiating.

The charming bride, given in marriage by her cousin, James Samuel Fuller, wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with an off the shoulder neckline and net yoke. The fitted bodice and full skirt lengthened to form train flara of braided satin and seed pearls. She carried an old fashioned bridal bouquet of white roses centered with white orchids. Her only ornament was a lavender, an heirloom of the John Daniel Wilson family.

Miss Sara Wilson was the maid of honor and wore a dress of white net featuring an off the shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and net yoke. She carried a nosegay of white spring flowers centered with pink sweetheart roses.

The ushers were Lt. Frank Beckwith Tucker and Lt. Jack William Whitener, and Lt. Robert Moddy Williams was the best man. The nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Chester Neuman at the organ and Mrs. John Robert Boyd who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." For the ceremony, the church was beautifully decorated with altar vases of white gladioli and amias outlined the altar and were placed in the back.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Christian Fellowship Association where the bride cut her wedding cake which was centered on the table arranged with white azaleas and smilax.

Corbins Entertain At Dinner Dance

Guests of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frederick R. Corbin were entertained at a delightful dinner dance party Saturday evening at the Officers' Club.

Sweetpeas and individual place cards were used as decorations on the table for the formal event.

Guests were Col. and Mrs. Robert B. Hill, Col. and Mrs. Frederick Beckwith, Lt. Col. and Mrs. William D. North, Col. and Mrs. Harry E. VanTuy, Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. Gibson, and Maj. and Mrs. E. L. Penko.

Parties For West Pointers Highlight Post Social Season

A social highlight of the year for the younger set, the visit of the West Point cadets, is rapidly nearing with the opening event of the big week on Friday, June 13, when the 300 cadets and young ladies from the Post and Columbus will be guests at a colorful reception and dance at the Officers' Club.

Major Gen. and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel will be hosts to the formal party where the young ladies, wearing their prettiest formal, will meet the Point men. The cadets will be invited to gala round of events the rest of the week and may invite the girls they meet at the reception to be their dates for the other parties.

The regular buffet dinner and dance at the Club Saturday night will find many of the cadets and their dates dancing there from 10 to 12 and dress for this event will be optional.

The Board of Governors at the Club will sponsor the party Sunday evening from 8 to 11 for the cadets and their dates. This affair also will be formal.

Continuing the busy round of affairs, the Monday and Tuesday nights will see informal dancing on the terrace of the Club until 11 and Wednesday evening the regular dance at the Club from 8 to 11 will be another engagement for the West Pointers and their dates. The Fort Benning graduates of the United States Military academy will sponsor this party where formal dresses will be optional again.

Brat's Barracks To Have Formal At Polo Hunt Club

Thursday evening will feature a change in pace and location as the Cadets and their dates will be invited to a picnic, definitely an informal affair, at the Polo Hunt club. The party will be from 6 to 11 and the Polo Hunt association will be the sponsor.

General and Mrs. O'Daniel will entertain again on Friday with the climax of the week. This time a formal lawn party is on the spot.

A holiday formal will take the spotlight for the younger set Friday night when members of the Brat's Barracks and their dates may dance, complete with a queen at the Polo Hunt club.

Airborne Ladies Attend Luncheon

Ladies of the Airborne Section held their monthly luncheon Tuesday at the Messdamess, D. C. King, Mrs. Mesdames D. C. King, Mrs. Cavanaugh and Karl Lilje as hostesses in charge.

Approximately 80 guests attended the event held at the Coco Supt. Club and bridge was played during the afternoon.

The guests were seated at tables of four after drawing numbers for their table partners.

calendar for the West Pointers and their dates. The party, from 9 to 12, will be held on the lusciously green lawn surrounding the commandant's home which dates from plantation days when it was the home of the Bussey family. Dancing is being planned with a special floor being constructed on the lawn.

Mrs. Scudder Entertains At Luncheon

Honoring officers of the Woman's club of the Student Training Regiment and some of the Ladies who will be leaving the group soon, Mrs. Irvine C. Scudder entertained with a charming luncheon last week at her quarters.

For the centerpiece on the lace-covered table, the hostess used an attractive arrangement of "orchid polias" in a low antique crystal bowl and silver candelabra with ivory tapers. Each of the silver place cards held a Shasta daisy, and the entire house was decorated with vases of bright flowers.

During the afternoon bridge was played and ladies attending were Mrs. Roy Zinser, Mrs. Richard Dial, Mrs. Carolyn Johnston, Mrs. William Beahler, Mrs. Charles Easton, Mrs. James Short, Mrs. Robert Eikenberry and Mrs. Beekman Budd.

Lawson Field Officer's Club Sponsors Dance

Culminating its schedule of spring formal activities, the Lawson Field Officers' Club entertained members and their guests last Saturday night with a gala formal dance featuring the music of the 25th Central Postal Directory and colorful May Day decorations.

The main lounge, where dancing took place from 8 p. m. until after midnight, was decorated with red and pink roses and clusters of colored and white flowers. Tables were overlaid with white-orchid and centered with gay miniature displays.

Special guests at the club's last spring formal were Capt. and Mrs. Ethel Merkel, of Mobile, Ala., formerly with Army Air Corps, and Maj. John Wretschko's brother, Robert W. Wretschko, of Toledo, Ohio.

The club will sponsor its next formal early next fall, according to Maj. G. W. Gorman, club officer.

Major Martin Post Newcomer

A newcomer to the Post who will soon be joined by his wife is Maj. Thomas J. Martin, who is living at 302 Austin loop. Mrs. Martin is expected to join her husband sometime in June, but she present she is in the hospital in Augusta recovering from a broken leg which she suffered while living in Italy.

The Martins, with their two children, a son two years old and a daughter, four, were in Italy for six months, but due to her injury, Mrs. Martin was flown back to the States and Major Martin returned with the children.

Mrs. W. C. Thompson of Savannah, Mrs. Martin's mother, is now staying here to care for her children and to prepare the quarters for the arrival of Mrs. Martin.

Music was furnished by the 186th dance band and, a delightful luncheon was served.

Col. Robert L. Dulancy, commanding officer of the 25th infantry regiment and his wife, accompanied by Capt. Willard C. Milby, regimental adjutant, visit the Lodge during the party.

Harpers Hosts At Dinner Event In Palm Room

One of the most charming dinner events given recently was held Saturday evening when Col. and Mrs. Joseph H. Harper entertained a group of their friends at the Officers' club.

Before dinner in the Palm room, cocktails were served in the lounge. The table for the formal party was decorated with lovely arrangements of summer flowers in crystal bowls and yellow tapers in crystal candelabra.

Guests were Col. and Mrs. E. W. Alexander, Col. and Mrs. Daniel Buckland, Col. and Mrs. Brookner Brady, Col. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Col. and Mrs. Julian Dayton, Lt. Col. and Mrs. O. G. Wilson, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Dennis Moore, and Mrs. Donald W. Brann.

Aperitif Party Herald's Dance

Maj. and Mrs. Gabe C. Hawkins were hosts at a gala cocktail party at their quarters Saturday evening preceding the last formal dance of the season at the Lawson Field Officers' Club.

The hostess decorated her quarters with lovely summer flowers, and the dining room table was arranged with flowers in silver bowls and snacks in silver dishes. Appetizers were served from a bar in the living room.

Ladies at the party added color to the event with their colorful summer formal attire. Guests were Maj. and Mrs. John Wretschko, Capt. and Mrs. Harry Groves and their houseguests, Mrs. M. R. Elmore, Capt. and Mrs. Robert C. Clark, Capt. John Kelleher and Miss Peggy Scott.

Club Is Scene Of Colorful Party

Officers and their wives and guests of the quartermaster corps held a formal dinner dance party at the Club Saturday night with cocktails served before dinner and dancing later.

The table, arranged by Mrs. A. E. Pendley, was decorated with summer flowers and white tapers.

Guests were Col. and Mrs. H. E. Beine, Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. J. Myers, Maj. and Mrs. Archibald Pfeifer, Maj. and Mrs. A. E. Pendley, Maj. and Mrs. F. C. Dean, Capt. and Mrs. W. V. Tuble, Lt. Edward Coyle and Lt. S. W. Kenyon.

Programs Mark School Closing

Closing the school year at the Children's School, the various grades have presented programs this week and on Thursday the class promotions will be given to mark the end of the year.

Monday the third grade presented a musical recital for their parents in the music room. The second grade gave a singing program Tuesday, and Mrs. Douglas Sugg was in charge of both events.

An impressive program was given Thursday by the seventh grade for the other students and parents in the gymnasium. It was presented by the fifth grade for the other classes. Both of these events were in the school auditorium.

Personals

Capt. and Mrs. William G. Bickley Jr. have taken quarters on the Post where they are living with their three year old son, since Captain Bickley returned from four months in Italy.

During the time her husband was overseas, Mrs. Bickley, who is the well-known Miss Helen Keller, was society editor of the Alabama Journal in Montgomery where she was staying with her parents.

Mrs. W. R. Crawford of Philadelphia, Pa., is a houseguest at the quarters of Capt. and Mrs. Merlín F. Dean at 501 D Perkins at present. The guest arrived about a week ago and will be here for a month visiting at the home of her sister.

The Deans have recently moved to quarters here after living in the residence last fall. Captain and Mrs. Dean are both originally from St. Joseph, Mo. She has recently returned from the hospital where she was treated for pneumonia.

Mrs. Howard H. Farmer Jr. has joined her husband, M-Sergeant Farmer, and they are in quarters at 2617-C Mullins. Mrs. Farmer came here for misadventure S. C., which is the home of the couple. Sergeant Farmer was formerly Chief of the 1840 and served with the 103rd infantry in Southern France. Prior to his army service he was in the Marine Corps for eight years.

With the newcomers are their two sons, age 16 and 5.

Being welcomed back to the Post are Col. and Mrs. Hamilton Thorn who returned last November when Colonel Thorn went on a limited service checkup.

Colonel and Mrs. Thorn are right at home on the Post since they first came here in 1925 and have been here six times since. They are now living at 400 First Division Road.

A surprise announcement in the midst of a class in mess equipment came as the instructor announced that Officer Candidate Albert G. Landt of the AOCC No. 6 was to report to the orderly room at once to sign a statement of issue for his first one-half pound baby boy.

Col. and Mrs. M. E. Olmstead, who arrived in New York from Germany May 21 are guests at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Clarence F. Murray. Major and Mrs. Murray drove to Atlanta Thursday to meet Mrs. Murray's parents and to see their new baby who will be here until June 1 when the Murrays will be leaving the Post. Major Murray is being sent to Japan and will fly there July 11. Murray will stay in Lawton, Okla. with her parents until she is able to join her husband.

Just returned from Germany and making their home here with quarters at 1152-B Blessing are Capt. and Mrs. Maurice W. Kendall. The couple arrived in April 10 after Mrs. Kendall had been in Europe for 10 months and Captain Kendall had been there for 36 months.

The couple is from Indianapolis, Ind., and Captain Kendall attended Indiana university.

Newcomers on the Post, and also new living at 2608-A Linsey. The couple is married May 1 in Kansas City, home of Mrs.

Post Quarters Are Occupied By Newlyweds

Miss Dorothy Michels of Vermont, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. H. G. Michels, became the lovely bride of Capt. James E. Sever of Fort Benning and Norfolk Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Sever, in a quiet but impressive ceremony performed May 16 at the Chapel, with Chaplain Charles E. Bryden officiating.

The bride wore a green silk train suit with a white straw hat and an orchid. Her only attendant, Mrs. W. W. O'Connor, wore a grey and white linen dress and a corsage of pink gardenias.

Colonel O'Connor was the best man.

Following the ceremony, Colonel and Mrs. O'Connor entertained the newlyweds with a lovely buffet supper served at their quarters.

The couple is now at home at 1156-D Blessing avenue, and Captain Sever is stationed with the 318th AAF BU at Lawson Field. He is a graduate of William and Mary College and served in the service for seven and a half years. He served for 22 months with Cochran's First Air Commando in the CBI.

The bride was graduated from Texas State College for Women and took her graduate work at the University of Colorado.

Hardaways Guests At Formal Party

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hardaway Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hardaway Sr. were hosts at a buffet dinner-dance Saturday evening at the Officers' Club. Hosts for the formal event were Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. C. Taylor and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Kenneth Hayward.

Also guests for the party were Miss "Bossy" Kennedy, a visitor at the Officers' Club, and Mrs. Watters, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Paulus.

The hostesses decorated with roses and hydrangeas used in glass baskets with a silver bowl for the centerpiece arrangement.

The party was in the way of a "sober" party for Taylor, Hayward and Mrs. Watters, and Major Watters, as they were all hosts for the Fort Riley, Kansas, at the same time.

Thompson. She was formerly Miss Dorothy Stanley and was a civil service employee for a number of years. Sergeant Thompson is from North Dakota and served overseas with the 40th Division in the Pacific.

'Unofficial' Mascot On Way Back Home

FRANKFORT (APPS) — Seventeen-year-old Antonio Brandez, colorful escapade as a mascot of American troops in Africa and Europe abruptly ended here when the youth was ordered back to the U. S. by an American Military Government Court.

In 1942, Antonio left Texas and stowed away on a ship to England where he attached himself to American troops as their mascot. He flew with them to Africa, followed them across Europe into Germany.

He returned to this country shortly after V-E Day — via the stowaway route. He again returned to Germany last year, attached himself to another U. S. unit as mascot.

Antonio was arrested, but escaped twice. Recently, he was caught by French authorities in Strasbourg.

The AMG Court verdict: guilty of illegally entering Germany and wearing an American uniform without authority.

Pan-Hellenic Plans No-Host Dinner

Members of the Post Pan-Hellenic association and their guests have been invited to a no-host dinner and dance party to be held on Wednesday, June 4, at the Officers' Club.

The formal party will start at 7:45 p. m. and providing the weather is pleasant, the dinner will be on the terrace.

Reservations can be made by calling either Mrs. F. H. Linnel at 3818 or Mrs. D. A. King at 2347.

Back in the days of King Arthur a knight was sent on a long journey. As there was no available horse he rode a big dog.

He was well on his way when it began to rain, so he stopped at a house and asked the owner if he might spend the night there. The owner looked at the huge St. Bernard.

"Well," he said, "I couldn't turn away a knight on a dog like this."

Modern Planes Not As Rugged As Pilots, AAF Tests Disclose

A man might jump from a second-story window and, after dusting himself off, walk away unscathed. However, a strongly built, modern airplane is dropped from the same distance, it probably will be damaged.

The experience of Army Air Forces pilots flying the newest jet fighter planes has indicated that, regardless of how well the aircraft are built, the human body is still capable of greater strain for very brief periods than the aircraft and in order to reduce the possibilities of structural damage, all fighters are being equipped with accelerometers to warn the pilot whenever a critical "G" force is being approached.

AAF aircraft engineers have pointed out that the jet fighters are built to withstand successful ly a 12 "G" force, or a force 12 times the force of gravity, which is much more than an airplane develops generally while performing acrobatics. This is also much greater than a pilot would be able to withstand for more than a few seconds, even with a G-suit.

However, accelerometers have shown that the high-speed jet aircraft can develop up to seven "Gs" in turbulence, and in some cases pilots have pulled up to 14 "Gs" during acrobatics in rough air. Though this force is dangerously high, the pilot is exposed to the high gravitational force for less than a second and experiences no ill effects.

Damages Plane

In the case of the jet fighter, however, the exposure to "any force greater than 12 "Gs" for even part of a second results in damage to wings and fuselage. The use of the accelerometer by pilots will reduce the chances for such damage, plus warning ground maintenance personnel to check the aircraft for possible structural weaknesses caused by unavoidable high "G"-forces. The accelerometer has been showing the force being pulled, and the second showing the maximum force encountered during any one particular flight.

Claims Against Japan Near Trillion Mark

TOKYO (APPS) — Reparations demands upon Japan may exceed one trillion dollars, Big. Gen. F. H. Tansley, Civil Property Custodian, has announced. He added that Japan could not pay any such amount.

"Payment of money damages will be limited by Japan's ability to pay," Gen. Tansley said. "Japan is a bankrupt nation and should be treated as such."

Japan's capacity to pay, Gen. Tansley warned, contrasted to the demands made by the victorious Allies, will have to be measured "in mills on the dollar."

"Payment of industrial reparations has not yet been estimated in dollars," he said. Among the items listed are patents valued at some $200,000,000 and liquid assets exceeding $150,000,000.

External Japanese assets, he disclosed, are listed at $40,000,000,000. These include vast and valuable properties controlled by Russia in Sakhalin Island, the Kuriles and Northern Korea and in China on Formosa and the Chinese mainland.

Darkroom Developments

BY BEN ZAR

Too many men have been deterred from more actively participating in photography as a hobby because they hear "it cost too much."

Let's find out just how much it does cost. The following is a list of prices supplied by local photographic dealers:

A 4x5 news type camera with lens, $165.25. Flash gun for this camera, $25.80. Rangefinder, $41.50. Film holders, $4.35 each. Filters, $2.00 each. Lens shade and filter adapter, $2.25. Tripod, $22.00. Case for the whole works, $18.00 and up. So, to get one such camera with accessories, you lay out about $350.

For those who find the above camera and equipment too rich, there is a very fine twin lens, 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 reflex job, at $120.42, including case. A flash gun is $11.08, and the filters and adapters cost about the same as mentioned above.

Cheaper Cameras
Some people simply want a camera they can whip out, look in the view finder and snap away. One such camera with a 6.3 lens will cost for $28.28. The case is $8.00 extra. Too much? Even the ever-popular box camera will set you back five bucks.

The cost of living is high, but, apparently, the cost of a hobby is still higher. But there is a solution. Get an empty cigar box. It may be bad for the smoking. There is no escaping some expense, however. You'll have to buy a stick of gum priced at one cent locally. There may be difficulty rationalizing this terrific outlay. But it can be done if you like gum. Simply chew it; it's the foil wrapper we need.

The modus operandi is simple. Cut a one-inch square hole in the top of the box, paste the foil over the hole; borrow a needle and make a hole in the foil the size of the needle point. Cover this hole with an opaque object such as a thumb, load with any size or kind of film, seal the box and that's it.

What will it do? Properly used, it will permit the operator to take portraits, landscapes or even stop an arrow in flight. And it can do all this in natural color, too. Remember to remove the thumb when taking the picture. Now take your choice.

This is the Tyro
Too often a needed piece of equipment looks good to the eye and would soothe the soul; but it looks bad to the billfold, so you don't get it and the picture suffers from its lack. Those extra lights you feel you need to give your pictures more brilliance and life, the well-illuminated shadow, that sparkling highlight, needn't cost you any more than four bits.

Try using two twenty-five cent mirrors from the five and dime. By tilting the sun, or one number two photoflood bulb as your main source of illumination, and placing your mirrors in their proper positions, you have the equivalent of two extra lights. This is not just a "self-experiment." Many professionals use just such a set-up in their studios.

2,000 'Chutists Will Participate In Winter Tests

Two thousand paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division will conduct airborne tests at Pine Camp, New York, from November, 1947, through March, 1948. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general, announced today. The specially chosen combat team will receive thorough indoctrination in cold weather operations at Pine Camp. It will test both equipment and carry on a full-scale maneuver within the boundaries of the reservation. Tactics and techniques pertinent to air transportation of men and equipment under cold weather conditions will be perfected, particularly for over-snow operations. The group will study airborne resupply and evacuation, involving the dropping of equipment by parachute. Observations will be made on the efficiency of gliders and liaison plane on ice and snow. Lessons learned from this operation are to be applied throughout the Army, adding to information already gathered by Army Ground Forces in such previous tests as last winter's Operations "Frigid," "Williwaw," and "Frost." The tests at Pine Camp will differ from their predecessors in that they will include large-scale tactical maneuvers, as well as tests of equipment and clothing.

MP Town Patrol

Paying fines for others, suggesting places for entertainment, providing bus fare for a return trip to the post are just a few of things done almost daily by the 21 regular members of the military police town patrol and their 15 alternates from Fort Benning to help the khaki-clad, fun-loving soldier spend a few hours in Columbus on pass or leave.

A military policeman on town patrol normally begins his day's activities somewhere around six o'clock in the afternoon when he climbs the steep stairs at the Columbus police department to the assembly room on the second floor for a few minutes before briefing by his commanding officer, 1st Lt. Delcourte W. Thompson, a battle-scarred veteran of the Pacific area.

Pounds Beat
After each town patrolman has been inspected for his personal appearance and soldierly bearing and has been assigned to his post for the evening, he joins his civilian counterpart pounding a beat or riding in a civilian patrol car. In addition there are always several MPs on a stand-by basis who are subject to call in case of an accident or other disturbances involving the military.

The town patrolman's evening is usually busy even for those on a stand-by basis. There are questions to answer, such as: "Are fortune-tellers legal?" or "Where can I go for a quiet evening's entertainment?" There are night-spots to visit in order to insure the safe return to Fort Benning of those men who have had that one drink too many. There are dance halls to visit in an effort to protect the soldier from the danger of having too much cash on his person.

Impartial and just treatment is a by-word with the Columbus town patrol. This is borne out in the method employed in "picking-up" a soldier for some minor infraction of civil laws. Eye-witness accounts vouch for the gentle and understanding treatment accorded those who are taken into custody.

How It Works
Here is how it works: The MP desk sergeant, sharing an office with the civilian police in the Columbus police station, receives a telephone call reporting that a soldier is drunk and unable to care for himself properly. A stand-by MP is dispatched immediately to the night-spot or the restaurant or wherever the soldier happens to be. He brings the drinking soldier back to the Columbus MP headquarters where he is put to bed until the effects of the alcohol "wear off." Provided the soldier has not resisted the town patrolman or disobeyed him, he is not arrested; and after he has regained his equilibrium, he is released.

The MPs are, of course, required to make a report on the delinquency to the man's commanding officer, making it quite clear, however, that the soldier caused no trouble, was not out of uniform, and did nothing to discredit himself or his organization. The punishment, if there is any, is meted out by the man's commanding officer and not by the military police.

Placed Off Limits
Watching over the soldier on pass is not the only job carried out by the town patrol. Under the direction of S-Sgt. Vincent T. Neeley, liaison NCO, establishments are closely checked for any violation of the moral or health codes. When delinquencies are found, they are pointed out to the owner or manager, and if not corrected the establishment is placed off limits to military personnel.

Soldiers arrested by civil authorities for civil offenses are represented by military police in various ways. One particular instance involved a soldier who was awaiting overseas shipment orders. Through the intervention of the military police who paid his fine the soldier was allowed to continue his furlough without confinement.

Daily visits to those in civil confinement by military police representatives on duty with the town patrol are made, and a report on their condition, their needs and desires, is submitted to the proper military authorities. Arrangements are often made for chaplains and commanding officers to visit the prisoner and everything possible is done to make his period of imprisonment easier.

Fights Disease
Perhaps one of the least discussed programs, yet one of the most important, carried out by the town patrol is its fight against venereal disease. In cooperation with civil and health authorities these hard-working military police investigate the records of suspected carriers of social diseases and report their findings to all the units at Fort Benning, warning the soldier of the danger in becoming too friendly with the person concerned.

Fort Benning's town patrol detachment maintains two substations in addition to its headquarters at the Columbus police department. One is in Phenix City and the other is on Eighth avenue and is staffed with Negro personnel.

35 Graduated From Personnel Class At Lawson

The course, which consists of 20-hours training in personnel guidance and utilization, will be given at Lawson Field until every officer has received the training.

Gillem Named Third Army CG

The War Department announced today that Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem Jr., former commanding general, Peiping Headquarters Group and United States Commissioner, Executive Headquarters, Peiping, will assume command of the Third Army with headquarters at Atlanta, Georgia, effective June 15.

General Gillem will relieve Maj. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, acting commanding general, who will revert to his position of deputy commanding general, Third Army.

General Gillem is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and the College, Washington, D. C.

From 1930 to 1935 he served as Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Maryland, College Park.

General Gillem assumed command of the 86th Infantry (Light Tanks) at Fort Benning, Georgia, in 1940, and of the II Armored Corps in 1942. In May 1943 he was named commanding general of the armored force, Fort Knox, Ky.

He became commanding general of the XIII Corps, Fort DuPont, Delaware, in 1944, later going overseas with that organization. In December 1944, it was announced that General Gillem was in command of the XIII Corps, Ninth Army, European Theater of Operations.

In August 1945 he took command of the VII Corps at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., and in April 1946 was named commanding general, Nanking Headquarters, China.

General Gillem left China in April and has been in the states since May 5 when he landed at San Francisco. He wears the Distinguished Service Medal; the Legion of Honor; the Bronze and Silver Stars; the French Legion of Honor; and the Croix de Guerre with Merit; the Brazilian Medal for Palm; the Chinese Grand Cordon of Xuan Huei; the Dutch Order of Orange-Nassau; and the Russian Order of the Red Banner (awarded three times).

His wife, Mrs. Virginia H. Gillem, and his young son, Richard, live at 531 Morley Avenue, Nogales, Arizona.

"Who was that girl I saw you talking to last night in Petersburg?"
"Oh, just an old girl friend."
"What did she have to say?"
"No."

EM Discharge Forms Revised

Revision of the Army enlisted discharge system effective July 1 is announced by Maj. Gen. Willard S. Paul, War Department director of personnel and administration.

The present system of awarding discharged enlisted personnel one of three types of discharge papers will be abandoned as of that date and four types of certificates will be submitted. Addition of a fifth type of discharge, the "bad conduct" type, has been approved by the War Department but will require enactment of legislation which is now before Congress.

The institution of the new discharge system will bring into accord the Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard methods of separating enlisted personnel from the service. Extensive conferences among War, Navy and Treasury Department officials preceded announcement of the revised Army system. Similar plans to standardize discharge procedures for the three departments. Under the new system, Army discharges effective July 1 will be:

1. Honorable discharge, granted to men separated by reason of expiration of enlistment, convenience of the government, dependency, minority or disability. To receive this highest type of discharge, the soldier must have a character of excellent or very good, an efficiency rating of superior or excellent, no conviction during the term of enlistment, and not more than an conviction by court-martial during the enlistment.

2. General discharge (under honorable conditions), granted to those separated for unsuitability or inaptitude or for any of the reasons applicable to honorable discharge. The discharge will be given to such an as do not qualify for the honorable type, but who merit honorable separation.

Maxberry Promoted

The 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion announced this week that S-Sgt. A. E. Maxberry, of Company A, was promoted to 1-Sgt., succeeding 1-Sgt. Herman O. Blakney, who recently left the division at Louisville, Ky. The 501st, a newly organized National Guard Unit, is commanded by Col. George V. Millett, the original commander of the Airborne Regiment at Fort Benning.

3. Undesirable discharge, given by administrative action for unfitness or misconduct not involving separation by order of a general court martial.

4. Dishonorable discharge, imposed by sentence of a general court martial.

The military justice bill, now under consideration of Congress would provide additionally a bad conduct discharge, which would rank between the undesirable and dishonorable types, and would be imposed by sentence of a court-martial.

No More Vets By Year 2030, VA Men Predict

WASHINGTON (APFS) — By the year 2030, the Veterans Administration estimates, there won't be any veterans left. But the VA isn't too positive.

Charts resulting from a study made to guide future operations indicate that the hardiest veteran of World War I will live 48 more years and the healthiest participant in World War II has only 53 more years of life.

"One official, however, mused: "Lengthening life spans could fool the statisticians."

"Years ago we predicted that the last Civil War veterans would be off our books by 1946. As it turned out, we were have more than a hundred of those old fellows alive and kicking."

The fact that the number of veterans will continue to increase through discharges until President Truman declares the war at an end hampered the agency's first detailed study of veteran population trend.

Move Started To Halt Sale Of Housing Unit

Fort Benning officials with the cooperation of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce are attempting to effect the transfer to the War Department of Benning Park Homes, a low-rent housing project adjacent to Baker Village, which is at present administered by the Columbus Housing Authority.

Billeting officials reported that a move is under way in Congress to sell at public auction to the highest bidder a number of housing units which were constructed under provisions of the Lanham Act and that Benning Park Homes, now occupied by 350 Fort Benning officers, is in that category.

The Lanham Act provided for the use of Federal funds in construction of small and inexpensive housing units to alleviate the critical housing shortage resulting in mobilization during the war years.

Upon its completion Benning Park Homes was turned over to the Columbus Housing Authority for administration, but upon request of Fort Benning officials it was designated an officers' housing unit. Since that time the CHA has cooperated fully with Fort Benning in assigning quarters, billeting officials said.

Telegrams were sent Saturday to Federal housing officials and Georgia Congressmen asking "immediate transfer" to the War Department of the Benning Park project. No reply has yet been received.

Fort Benning officials revealed that there are only 832 family units for both officers and enlisted men on the reservation. More than 3,000 military personnel are currently required to "live off the post" as a result of this shortage of available quarters, they said.

Billeting officials feel that a serious housing shortage for military personnel will develop unless Benning Park Homes are transferred to the War Department.

Candidate Reveals Incident Causing Jap Consternation

BY DONALD C. MORG
Office Candidate Richard Roe, AOCC No. 4, Student Training Regiment, relates the following incident which he witnessed while serving with the 346th Engineer Combat Battalion at an air base in Japan. It is a story of peculiar interest, causing one to consider what might have happened had fortune smiled the other way.

Boulders Removed
During the conversion of the former Jap air base for the use of the U. S. Army, Lt. Gen. Whitehead, CG of the Fifth Air Force, ordered that a flagpole be erected in front of the administration building. The site chosen for the pole was a large concrete pedestal on which a Japanese monument of undetermined significance was standing. The monument consisted of two large granite boulders to which two bronze plaques were attached. These boulders constituted no obstacle to the detail of which Sergeant Roe was a member. They proceeded very unceremoniously to drag the boulders off by means of cables attached to trucks.

The removal of the monument caused no little consternation

Record Bundle Dropped At Pathfinder School

Ten instructors at the Airborne Pathfinder School Tuesday afternoon jumped experimentally four new pieces of airborne equipment. According to Lt. Francis J. Carr, pathfinder instructor, one of the bundles was the largest ever jumped by the school. The experimental jump took place at Normandy field.

Green: "I went to bed last night and dreamed that I died."
White: "And the heat woke you up?"

among the Japanese watching the operation. Inquiring as to the meaning of the lettering on the bronze tablets, Roe found the natives reluctant to reply. They seemed somewhat embarrassed, he said.

After considerable insistence, Sergeant Roe learned from a Japanese bystander that the stones had been placed there as a memorial which was the object of Japanese reverence. The memorial commemorated the Japanese victory at Pearl Harbor, which was to herald the triumph of Japanese arms over the United States.

Reserve Fliers To Train At Lawson During June

In accordance with the new AAF Reserve Training Program, hundreds of Air Reserve Officers from Georgia and will be placed on 15-days active duty training at Lawson Field during June, Base officials announced Monday.

Capt. Norman F. Ficke, Air Reserve liaison officer, from 14th Air Force headquarters, Orlando, Fla., and Lawson Field plans and training officers completed arrangements for the summer training program at a conference last Monday morning.

Air Reserve Officers may apply for active duty training by completing an entrance form which may be obtained by contacting Gordon Flournoy, head of fliers with the Air Reserve group in Columbus or Maj. John Wretschko, S/3 officer at Lawson Field.

The program is open to Reserve officers in Lee, Chambers and Russell counties in Alabama and Stewart, Chattahoochee, Muscogee, Harris, Troun, Merriweather, Talbot, Marion, Webster, Sumter and Schley counties in Georgia. Enlisted men on active duty who hold Reserve commission are not eligible for the training, according to Capt. Ficke. Fourteenth Air Force is establishing similar training programs at all active AAF Bases.

Reserve officers applying for active duty training at Lawson Field will be assigned to the 819th AAF Base Unit. Rated officers will receive training in C-82, C-47 and AT-6 aircraft. Non-rated officers will be assigned jobs with various base sections. They will receive the pay and allowance of a Regular Army Air Force officer of equal rank.

Looking Back At Benning

One Year Ago

The Boys Scouts of Fort Benning, assisted by members from one troop in Columbus did themselves proud in the house-to-house collection which marked the final big drive by the Post to collect canned foods for shipment to war devastated areas overseas. They amassed a total of more than 1,500 cans.

Mrs. E. J. Curtis was the Women's Golf Champion after winning 3 and 2 over Mrs. J. V. Thompson.

Brig. Gen. William M. Miley was announced as the commander of the Airborne School as Maj. Gen. Gerry Chapman was hospitalized at the Borden General Hospital in Chickasaw, Okla.

In an informal ceremony presided over by Brig. Gen. Phillip E. Gallagher, commanding general of the First Army's 25th Combat Team, the 899th Field Artillery Battalion, a Negro 155 mm. howitzer outfit, was reactivated at Sand Hill under First Army jurisdiction and attached to the 20th Combat Team.

Two Years Ago

Thirty-six strong, the first Fort Benning contingent to be sent to a separation center for discharge pending the Point Plan were preparing to leave for Fort McPherson in Atlanta.

Tobacco rationing was slated for Fort Benning with all personnel limited to a weekly purchase of six packages of cigarettes, 24 cigars, or the equivalent of four ounces of smoking tobacco.

Appointment of a 12-man conservation committee to direct a definite and progressive program for the conservation of food, clothing equipment, manpower, vehicles, buildings, fuel, utilities and material at Lawson Field was announced by Col. John E. Albert, base commander.

Four Years Ago

The ASTP Basic Training Center, The Infantry School, for 18-year-old selectees was activated and within a week the first contingent of youngsters fresh from high school was beginning to pour in.

Paratrooper pigeons were added at Fort Benning with two paratroopers in every class being intensively trained as pigeoneers.

Model Barracks Created By 999th

Six members of the 999th Field Artillery's Baker Buttery successfully applied their individuality recently in creating a model barracks and mess hall, both of which have received wide acclaim.

Painted white with a black border, the barracks building affords a homey warmth. The large NCO room on the second floor is now utilized as a day room with writing tables, lamps, lounge chairs, combination radio-phonograph, and stationery.

The mess hall has white linen-covered tables, attractively decorated windows, and comfortable seating. The cooks wear white uniforms during their tour of duty and all meals are served family style.

The six men who gave up their off-duty time to spotlight their battery are Sgt. Douglas F. Kelly, Pfc. Roger Patrice, T-5 Henry Gudden, Pfc. Robert Owens, T-4 John Peterson and Pfc. Charles J. Washington. 1st Lt. Henry A. Brown is the mess officer and S-Sgt. Floyd T. Kennedy is mess supervisor.

Baseball Returns June 2 With Vets, Fliers Clashing In Opening Tilt At Gowdy

Baseball returns to Gowdy Field again next Monday night June 2, with the 37th Infantry squaring off against the Lawson Field Fliers to open the second half.

Before the game begins at 8:15, Col. Roy Linnquist will present individual awards to the following: Jack Forbes, Lawson Field shortstop, who was the leading batter in the first half with a .461; Floyd Dooley, Airborne pitcher-outfielder, leader in runs-batted-in with 28; George Dickson, who scored most runs (28); Dooley again for most home runs (4); Herb Lauve, ISD outfielder, and Dooley once more for most triples (4); Bill Brooks, 83rd Field Artillery outfielder, who hit most doubles (6); Jack Forbes again for most stolen bases (15); and Dick Gerhart, Airborne pitcher, who had the lowest earned run average (.63 per game).

These awards will not be given at the close of the second half, with all the awards then going to the members of the winning and runner-up teams.

Monday's opening game will be an American League tilt, a game between two first division teams in other words. The National League gets under way, the Student Training Regiment playing the 83rd Field Artillery.

RUNNER-UP—Clyde Burt, ISD centerfielder, finished second to Jack Forbes in batting. He was also second in home runs and in total bases.

BATTING CHAMP—Jack Forbes, Lawson Field shortstop, came away with two league titles. In addition to taking the batting crown, he led the league in the matter of stolen bases with 15. His nearest rivals were George Dickson and Paul Bonair, from the Airborne, each with 13.

Wednesday there will be an afternoon doubleheader, the Airborne Battalion meeting the 76th Tankers at 1:15 and the 204th Truckers playing the 328th at 3:15.

The teams making up the American League are the Airborne Battalion, Infantry School Detachment, 37th Infantry, Lawson Field, and 736th Tank Battalion.

In the National League there are the 83rd Field Artillery, 329th Ordnance Battalion, Student Training Regiment, 78th Engineer Battalion, and 204th Truckers.

Final league standings for the first half of the 1947 Benning baseball season:

Team	W	L	Pct.

Student Trng. Rgt.	7	10	.412
78th Engr. Bn.	7	10	.412
204th Trk. Bn.	2	13	.133
76th Tank Bn.	2	13	.133

LEADING SCORER—George Dickson, leadoff man for the Airborne baseball team, leads the league in the run-scoring department with 28.

Sand Hill Ball Club Wants Competition

Rained out of their season's second encounter with the Tuskegee City team last Saturday at Tuskegee, the 571st Field Artillery's baseballers, possessing a 4-1 to 2 win over the Phenix City Red Sox, are now scanning the horizon for more outside competition. Managed by 1st Lt. William H. Berry, the Artillerymen boasts a strong array of talent.

Teams wishing games with the 571st may contact Lt. Berry by telephoning Fort Benning, 7359.

Director: "Have you ever had any direct experience?" Applicant: "Well, I had my leg in a cast once."

The tongue of a giraffe is remarkably elastic and may be as long as a foot and a half. The animal uses it for grasping leaves to eat from tall trees.

Batting Averages

Closing with a spurt that carried him up to .461, Jack Forbes, Lawson Field shortstop, passed everyone in the league to become the first half batting champion.

Forbes was below .400 for most of the season, and was only at .432 at the half went into his last week of play. However, while Clyde Burt and Blundy Burnett of ISD maintained their .450 clip, Forbes was busy getting a hit almost every time up.

The big, right-handed batter, who is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, finished the season with 24 hits in 52 times at bat. His total of 16 stolen bases also topped the league.

During the early part of the season Tommy Gallagher, Airborne catcher, led the league in batting, and then Blundy Burnett held the lead for a stretch. Finally it seemed that Clyde Burt would cop the title, as he was hitting at .460 with a week to go. But no one counted on Forbes' sensational spurt.

Floyd Dooley and Clyde Burt were the power hitters of the league, as the figures on total bases show. Both of them hit a long ball. Dooley passed Burt in home runs in the Airborne's last scheduled game against the 328th Ordnance Battalion, pumping a right over the right-centerfield fence. He led in runs-batted-in throughout the first half.

Bill Brooks's six doubles was the high mark in two-baggers, with no one in the league even getting five. Dooley came through with two triples during the last four Airborne games, to tie Herb Lauve with four.

Burnett's total of 29 hits topped everyone else's, with Terry's 27 being second.

The following are the final batting averages of players hitting above .300. (A player had to be up at least 35 times to qualify for the batting title)

Troopers Set To Nab Title In 2nd Half

With the exception of two players, the Airborne Battalion will have the same team for the second half that swept through its 16 games without a defeat in the first half.

Russ Chapman, the fireball righthander, is due to be discharged soon, and Floyd Dooley will be leaving the club about the middle of June.

The infield, therefore, will remain intact: McGowan at first, Kinard at second, Bonair at short and Terry at third. Three of the four outs batted better than .400 while McGowan ended up with a respectable .317.

In the outfield Dickson will remain in center and Griffin in right. After Dooley leaves, a leftfielder will have to be found. Pritchard is a possible replacement, his batting average being .286, well under the Airborne standard.

Tom Gallaher will continue to handle the catching chore most adequately, and Dick Gerhart will be the "meal ticket" on the mound.

The Airborne opens up the defense of its title in the second half next Wednesday afternoon against the 758th Tank Battalion. It's evident that the game situation will prevail in the second half as in the first, with the Airborne considered the club to beat. No team can hold any first-place hopes until it takes the measure of the paratroopers. It was attempted sixteen times in the first half, with very little success and Capt. Walker's men are ready and willing to run that streak to 24.

Airborne Slates 8 Bouts Tonight

Eight bouts are on tap for tonight at the Airborne boxing arena, the first one beginning at 8 p. m.

Seven fights were on last week's outdoor card, three of them ending in knockouts. Dewey Knight, of Co. E, knocked out Sam Randolph, of Co. G, in the first round of what was some of the best contests of the night.

Richard Paulus, of Co. G, also scored a first-round KO over Edward Stage of the Airborne Dispensary, and Tony Torres, of Co. E, stopped Lindsay Ellis, of Co. G, in the second round.

The closing bout on the program was a thriller, with Wallace Smith, of Co. D, gaining the decision over Daryl E. Batt, of Co. E, in a very close fight.

In the first two contests of the night James Runyon, of Co. E, defeated Joe Rgurcuk, of Co. G, and Albert Faust, of Co. E, won the nod over Sam Randolph of Co. G.

Charles Snyder, of Co. G, beat George Kimberly in a three-round set.

2 Firsts In Atlanta Meet Taken By Post Horsemen

Two first places including a championship were taken by The Infantry Center Horseshoe Team last week during the Fulton-DeKalb Horseshoe in Atlanta Wednesday through Friday.

Members of the team participating in the show were Maj. George S. Beatty Jr., Capt. Frank Lillyman, Miss Madge Barclay and 1/Sgt. Thomas H. Fay.

A first place was taken in the knock down and out jumping class with Blue Point, ridden by Miss Barclay, taking the honor. In the same class, Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, took third place and Comrack, ridden by Major Beatty, was in fourth.

Sir Milton Champs was the championship spot was taken in the championship jumper class by Sir Milton, ridden again by Captain Lillyman. Blue Point, ridden by Miss Barclay, took third, and Comrack, ridden by Major Beatty, was in fourth.

Reno Jason, ridden by Captain Lillyman, took third place in the working hunters class while Atlas, ridden by Sergeant Fay, took third in the middle and heavy-weight hunters class.

Reno Jason placed fourth, ridden by Captain Lillyman, in the road hacks class, and Tommy, ridden by Miss Barclay, was in fifth.

In the hunter teams class, a new class for The Infantry Center team, second place was taken by a team composed of Sunfast Jamaica ridden by Major Beatty, Tommy ridden by Miss Barclay and Reno Jason ridden by Captain Lillyman.

In the scurry jumpers class, Sir

Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, took third place and fourth went to Blue Point ridden by Miss Barclay.

Second place went to Blue Point ridden by Miss Barclay in the open jumping class, third spot to Sir Milton, ridden by Captain Lillyman, and four to Cormack, ridden by Major Beatty.

Tryouts Needed For Tennis Team

Maj. Frederick Bull, who is helping to select the Enning tennis team which will go to Fort Bragg June 16 for the Third Army tournament, is asking for more tryouts, both officers and enlisted men particularly the latter.

Volunteers are working out every evening at the Officers' Club's courts. Practice usually starts about 5:15.

Persons interested in coming out are urged to attend one of the practice sessions or to call Major Bull either at his office, 2189, or at his home, 2828, he said.

The team will probably be picked within the next seven to ten days.

Gerhart Earns Perfect League Pitching Record

With a perfect record of seven victories and no losses, and an earned run average of .63 per game, Dick Gerhart, Airborne right-hander, took honor as the best pitcher in the post league during the first half.

Pitching six complete games, Gerhart hurled a no-hitter, two one-hitters and a two-hitter, allowing only 17 hits and four earned runs to opponent batters in the 44 2-3 innings he worked.

Russ Chapman, also of the Airborne, actually had a better earned run average than his teammate, but he pitched only 23 innings and had three complete games. Chapman, too, pitched a no-hitter and had two shutouts to his credit, giving up but one earned run.

Next best earned run average in the league during the first half belongs to Wiley Weldon of the ISD. He has a 9-0 record and gave up only four earned runs.

However, it must also be considered that Gerhart pitched against tougher clubs than did Weldon or Chapman. Most of Weldon's and Chapman's triumphs were racked up against second division teams. Ken Watts, of the 75th Tank Battalion, was way out in front in the strikeout department, having whiffed 118 batters in the 68 innings that he pitched. Second in the league in strikeouts was Doyle Ecler, of the 204th Trucker, who pitched more innings than any other pitcher in the league. Another indefatigable hurler was Andy Boland of the 328th Ordnance Battalion.

AOC No. 8 Defeats AOC No. 6, 11 To 5

AOC No. 8 defeated an AOC No. 6 nine by a handsome margin of 11-5 last week at Stroup field.

Beginning with a fast first inning, the match seemed to be a close draw. AOC No. 6 drove hard in the fourth inning to slide over home plate with three runs but AOC No. 8 slowly drew away with indefatigable style to win the game 11-5.

LEAGUE'S ACE MOUNDSMAN
—Dick Gerhart, Airborne right-hander from Pennsylvania, qualifies as the best pitcher on the post during the first half with a 7-0 record and a .63 earned run average.

HEADED BACK TO JAX—Ed Davis, 37th hurler, will be discharged from the Army this week and goes home to Jacksonville, Florida. "Dave" ended his season with a 1-8 earned run average per game.

TOUGH FOR OPPONENT BATTSMEN—Wiley Weldon, ISD pitcher, had one of the best earned run averages in the league—.72—and the second best record of league pitchers—6 and 0.

Tentative Slate For Post All-Star Team Announced

A schedule for the post baseball team which is to be formed about July 15 is in the making, with 19 games already arranged.

The tentative opening date for the Doughboy nine is July 24 at Gowdy Field, against Pensacola Naval Air Station.

Following this game the team goes 4 offensives for a return game on the 26th, coming home to play a three-game series (July 28, 29, 30) with Jacksonville Naval Station.

From August 4 to 7, the Doughs will be at Jacksonville for four games. Fort Jackson will be the next opponent, coming to Gowdy Field August 9 and 10. Two home games also are scheduled for the 16th and 17th against the Parris Island Marines.

Benning goes to Jackson for two games, August 21 and 22, and to Parris Island for games on the 32nd and 24th. Keester Field has two games here at Gowdy Field, August 30 and 31.

The above games are definite, but the schedule is not yet complete. Capt. Cedric Talis is planning on additional contests.

Conscience gets a lot of credit that belongs to cold feet.

Faubus having been here at Benning for over 15 years.

AOC No. 8 Boasts Champion Golfer

Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 boasts one of western Pennsylvania's most prominent golfers in the person of Dwight J. Treadway.

Candidate Treadway at the age of ten started caddyding and at the age of 14 played on the caddy team for the Pennsylvania Caddy Championship. He competed in the National open for the first time at the age of 17. At that time he was assistant pro for the Highland Country club in Philadelphia and competed in the National open every year thereafter until entering the Army.

Candidate Treadway, with his brother, originated the magazine, "Twi-Slate Golfer". His brother, Wynn B. Treadway, is now owner of the Slippery Rock Country club and has been a professional golfer since he was 19. He is a prominent member of the P. G. A.

Treadway served overseas for three years and returned to the States to play on the Army golf team. He is well known for his long drives and hitting power.

Many German Finances To Remain In Europe

BERLIN (APFS)—Many ex-servicemen who swamped U. S. consular offices with last-minute applications to bring their German and Austrian fiancées to the States are doomed for disappointment, consular officials have announced. Many applied too late.

Under the soldier-fiancée act passed last June by Congress, said, former soldiers were permitted until July 1 of this year to bring their intended brides to the U. S. for a three-month period as non-immigrant visitors. In order to remain, the bill required the fiancées to be married within that time.

Some 700 German and Austrian fiancées already have gone to the U. S. About 8,000 cases have been approved, are in the mill or have been rejected, consular officials

Second Guessing

By MURRAY HARDING

The two-week rest period is nearly over for the post's baseball players. Monday they will begin to have at each other again with ball and bats, in order to bring home the bacon—the second half championship.

That means that the time for prediction-making has come; so, crawling out on our well-known, and rapidly weakening, limb, we will attempt to better our seasonal average of approximately .15 in the hot stove league.

Keep in mind while reading the Derby, and the Chicago Cubs as following predictions that they League gemnant race. We still who, (known as "pneum head") to have hope for the last-named. his many, many critics) last win. Therefore, with crystal ball in ter, calmly predicted that the Air- one hand and musket in the other borne Battalion, would beat the Doughboys at basketball, and who, since then, named Phalanx as the winner of the Kentucky! This is how we think the leagues should look when the final results are posted.

- AMERICAN LEAGUE.
1. 1st D.
 2. Airborne.
 3. Lawson Field.
 4. 75th Infantry.
 5. 75th Tankers.
- NATIONAL LEAGUE.
1. 328th Ordnance.
 2. STR.
 3. 83rd FA.
 4. 78th Engineers.
 5. 204th Trickers.

Explanations are in order, of course, so here is the reason followed in arriving at our, no doubt, erroneous conclusions.

The 1st D. in spite of its lack of pitching, is, on the record, the most powerful hitting aggregation in the loop. Chief Silver can be depended on, usually, to throw a good game, when called on, and Lefty Lehner looked very impressive in his last start. Those two pitchers will probably be called on to handle the roughest assignments, such as the Airborne, while Wiley Weldon will struggle against the lesser lights of the league. Ed just had in the first half of the season and looking rather burly—the hurler with six wins and no losses, and an ERA of only 0.72.

The Pros are to come up with another infielder before the second half starts, to bolster their weakest position, third base. Aside from that, the team is set to roll.

On the other hand, the Airborne, on the other hand, will be almost the same hard-running, hard-hitting team that swept the first half championship, but not quite. Its ranks will be thinned by the loss of two key men before the second half gets very far. One, Russ Chapman, has already left, and the other, Floyd, will be around for only four games before his discharge.

Captain Walker, boss man of the Trooper team, said that Chapman was the most improved ball player he had seen this season. Chapman, a pitcher, was used exclusively in relief roles during the first part of the season, but got a starting chance against the 83rd FA about half-way through the grind. He threw six vital, two-run effort at the Artillerymen, and followed that one up with four hits and one hit, blanking the 75th Tankers and the STR Rifles. His two shutouts were tops in the league.

Dooley is well known to everyone for his hitting ability. He topped the league in total bases, runs batted in, home runs, and was tied for the high mark in triples. Besides that, big Floyd is one of the best pitchers in the league, although a sore arm prevented him from hurling in many games.

The loss of those two men will leave Captain Walker with only one really dependable pitcher, Gerhart, and will take a lot of extra heat away from the Airborne attack.

Lawson Field should cop the third spot on their hitting. The Fliers have a cleanup punch second to none in the persons of Forbes, Fansler, and Gorman, but the team is too weak defensively and on the mound to give the top two much trouble.

The 37th Vets are losing their second baseman, Burkholder, and their two hardest working pitchers, Walt Fiebes and Ed Davis, via the discharge route before very long. Fiebes also was the team's top hitter.

The Vets were never famous for an overwhelming offense, and have had to depend on their pitchers for their mound staff. Their chances for top honors are slight indeed.

The Tankers will probably be the weak sister of the circuit. Neither the hitting nor the defense is very capable. They have, in Ken Walls, the league's best left-handed pitcher, and a power hitter, Hulbert Martin, number two pitcher, is also a capable performer, but they can't do much without support.

Over in the National, the 328th looks like a good safe bet for top honors. Although they were in a bad hitting slump when the season closed, they showed earlier, that they had it. Thiele, Armstrong, and Boland will carry the offensive load. Their pitching looks very good. Nosh Mejia is extremely capable and if no harm befalls him, ought to be the league's leading pitcher. He will be backed up by "Bo" Boland, a workhorse on the mound, who can usually be counted on to deliver a steady game.

The STR may very well beat them out, if they get any good breaks. If the team is permitted to use officer candidates on the club, it probably will be able to plug up the gaps in the offense. Even if it doesn't get them, they have one of the best defensive teams around, and have got some nice pitching out of Heistand, Joe Mink at short may lead the league in hitting, but they need one more hitter like him to move into a contending position.

The 83rd FA has lost its stellar second baseman, Andy Hershock, but can be counted on to give the leaders a battle because of its defense and Bill Brooks, commonly known as the club's offense.

The 78th Engineers and the 204th Trickers are in a class by themselves. The Engineers look to be a little better, so we'll pick them that way.

A group of sailors were once threatened by their CPO that if they flunked inspection they would be denied week-end liberty. As luck would have it they flunked.

"All right!" roared the chief, "I warned you guys, now none of you will get liberty."

"Give me liberty or give me death," came the inevitable voice from the rear.

"Who said that?" he screamed. "Patrick Henry."

Awarded Battle Star

M-Sgt. James A. Vance, personnel sergeant major at Lawson Field, has been awarded an additional battle star for his participation in the European air offensive, according to a War Department announcement received at Lawson Field this week.

Sergeant Vance served overseas 40 months with the Air Forces. His decorations include the American Theater ribbon, Pearl Harbor, with star, Victory stars, ETO ribbon with two battle stars, the Good Conduct medal which he received recently for the third time.

Bullets Add Three Wins

BY ALYSEN E. WISE
By adding a pair of wins on scheduled contests over the week end, the 25th Combat Team Bullets made it three for three and raised their games won column to 19 victories over 6 losses.

Having started off right by subduing the vaunted "Bama State Hornets" 7-5 last Monday week, the Bullets were rained out of their Wednesday night Cowley Field session with the Phenix City Red Sox.

In their only home appearance, Saturday afternoon on Bullet Field, they initiated a vicious five-run attack on the East Wyrnton Bull Dogs, took a breather for the vice cantos while the visitors were annexing three failures, and in the evening registered four markers to send the Columbus nine home on the short end of a 9 to 3 count.

In going the full route, post Fat Young kept his season's record beyond reach by donating eight widely scattered hits for his fourth straight win of the season.

Whip Tuskegee Nine
Stopping over at Tuskegee, Ala., for a short time Sunday afternoon, the Bullets made it two in a row for the season by virtue of a 6 to 4 tally over their Tuskegee rivals of last year, the Tuskegee Veterans' Administration Hospital club. Lawrence's Hall in winning his fourth game of six this season, allowed the home team but seven hits, whiffed nine, and allotted three free tickets.

Sport Quiz

By Armed Forces Press Service.
1. The tallest, shortest, heaviest and lightest man ever to hold the heavyweight boxing championship of the world are listed here: Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Burns, Jess Willard, Primo Carnera. Which was which?

2. Hero McKenley, Illinois Olympic games candidate, was clocked at 46.2 seconds for the 440-yard run in 1946. Recently stocky Arnold Kongsgaard of Kongsberg, Norway, cleared 290 feet in a ski jumping tournament. Are these recognized as American records?

At the start of the 1947 campaign which of these sluggers had hit the most home runs during his major league career—Charley Keller, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Rudy York, Geoffrey Heath, Bill Nicholson?

4. Simplification of the rules of golf was accomplished recently. Formerly there were 61 rules and 900 definitions. Do you believe the new rule book contains more or less than 25 rules? More or less than 75 definitions?

5. In what major league ball park would you have to hit the longest home run to clear the center field fence. In which field the shortest?

- ANSWERS
1. Tallest, Jess Willard, 6 ft. 6 1/4 in. Shortest, Tommy Burns, 5 ft. 7 in. Heaviest Primo Carnera, 267 lbs. Lightest, Bob Fitzsimmons, 172 lbs.
 2. No. McKenley's mark was made on an office track and not eligible for official recognition. The American and world record still is 46.4 seconds, held jointly by Ben Eastman and Grover Klemmer. Kongsgaard's mark bettered the late Forger's Tokie's record leap by one foot, but it was made as an exhibition performance after he had fallen in two official tries.
 3. York, 256. DiMaggio, 244. Williams, 165. Keller, 162. Heinrich, 112.
 4. Less, 21 rules, to be exact. Less, 73 definitions.
 5. New York Polo Grounds, 490 ft. Cincinnati's Crosley Field, 367 ft.

K.P.: "I did. It was exactly 1640."

EXPERT PISTOL SHOT — M-Sgt. Joseph Gallo, who works at the Separation Point, is an expert pistol shot. A member of the post team, Sergeant Gallo was out of competition during the war years. He got back into action last September at the National Matches and copped the N.E.A. target pistol and revolver class championship medal, plus two other medals. Competing individually during the past year in five matches, Sergeant Gallo has won 15 medals, one plaque and a trophy. Right now he is working on plans to organize a rifle and pistol club on the post. Sergeant Gallo hopes to attend the Maryland State Pistol Championship in June.

Plan Dramatic Work

At a recent meeting of representatives from the Tuskegee Veterans' Administration hospital and the 25th Infantry Regiment, plans were made for combining the efforts of the two groups to present several theatricals for presentation both in Tuskegee and Sand Hill.

The meeting was held in the office of Lt. Col. Russell W. Jenna and the representatives from Tuskegee were Thomas Robinson, Chaplain Douglas C. Robinson, Chaplain Lewis M. Durden represented the 25th Infantry Regiment.

MULLIN FILLS GREENBERG'S SHOES — Setting a torrid pace for American League batsmen is the current toast of Detroit, Fat Mullin. (left). Outer gardener Fat went into the Army after a brilliant 345 freshman season and returned to the Tigers last summer to stumble through a dreary 245 campaign. Tiger fans, despondent over Hank Greenberg's departure for Pittsburgh, asked: "Who's going to knock in the 127 runs Hank batted across in 1946?" Predigiously pounding home runs after run after run, Mullin is supplying the answer. Fat is shown with ex-CB's pilot Buddy Lewis, a North Carolinian who wields a wicked willow for Washington.

Weber To Train Olympic Team At West Point

1st Lt. Col. Frederick Weber, who has been here at Fort Benning for two years, is leaving the post shortly to go to West Point where he will help prepare the American pentathlon team for the 1948 Olympics, which will be held in London.

Colonel Weber will report to the Military Academy on or about July 1, and will be there for close to a year's duty.

He will be particularly concerned with the instruction of fencing in the pentathlon event, which also includes pistol shooting, sleep-chasing (3 1/2 miles), cross-country run of 2 1/2 miles, and free-style swim of 300 meters.

Colonel Weber will also be eligible to compete with the team. He was a member of the 1936 American Olympic team and was the first American to win the dueling sword competition in Berlin that year.

At Benning Colonel Weber has been with AGF Board No. 3, and then he took Airborne basic last September. He commanded the 1st Battalion of the Airborne Regiment and has been attached to the Infantry School.

Col. Weber has been interested in Masonic work and completed the 3rd degree in the Columbus consistory.

AMG Spares Some Military Buildings

MUNICH (APFS) — Due to Germany's housing shortage, German military installations being used as homes, "or for other essential purposes," will be spared from demolition under the Allied de-militarization program for the Reich. AMG has announced.

Persons living in military works — pillboxes, underground depots or workshops, public air-raid shelters or airfield buildings — have been requested to report them so that they can be removed from the demolition list.

WAR DEPARTMENT VICTORY MEDAL — World War II Victory Medal, above, will be issued to all military personnel and former servicemen as soon as it is procured by the War Department in sufficient quantities for general distribution. Posthumous award of the medal to one surviving relative has been authorized.

War Department Announces New Officer Procurement Plan

The War Department will inaugurate a long-range Regular Army officer procurement program July 1, it was learned today.

Commissioned officers of the Organized Reserve Corps, National Guard, and AUS are eligible to make application for entry in the competition, officials said. Members of the Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Veterinary Corps, Pharmacy Corps, Corps of Chaplains, and Judge Advocate General's Department, however, may not apply, it was pointed out.

1 Year Observed Duty
 The competitive tour is a period of one year of observed active duty, according to the announcement, during which time each candidate for a Regular Army commission must demonstrate his fitness for the appointment. Officials said that the tours of active duty will begin Jan. 1 or July 1 of each year.

Officers entering the Army for participation in the integration program and those already in the service who have less than two years to serve at the beginning of the competitive tour will be required to sign a statement signifying that they will serve an additional two years.

Appointments Twice Yearly
 Requests for competitive tours from individuals now on active duty as commissioned officers will be submitted by letter to the Adjutant General at least 60 days prior to July 1 or Jan. 1 of each year.

Requests from individuals not on active duty as commissioned officers will be submitted on WD AGO form 160 at least 60 days prior to the beginning dates.

Applications will be submitted through the individual's commanding officer, authorities said. Appointments will be made twice annually.

Maj. de Seversky Makes Unscheduled Stop At Lawson

Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, famous aviation engineer and exponent of strategic air power, made an unscheduled landing at Lawson Field last Saturday at 4 p. m. when he was unable to land at Maxwell Field, Ala., his original destination, due to bad weather.

The major was on a flight from Elgin Field, Fla., to Norfolk, Va. Shortly after landing at Lawson he was flown to Norfolk in a C-52 by the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron.

He was recently awarded the trophy of the International League of Aviators for the second time. Providing the major with his first flight in a C-52 were Lt. James C. Petry, pilot; Lt. Richard M. Goodman, co-pilot; T/Sgt. Chas. S. Watt, engineer; and Sgt. Marion M. Malone, radio operator, all of the 75th.

'Buddy Poppies' On Sale May 31

The 26th annual sale of "Buddy poppies" will be held here May 31 under the sponsorship of the Robert B. Treoville Jr. post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Capt. L. M. Durden, chairman of Fort Benning's poppy committee, announced today.

VFW posts throughout the nation will participate in the distribution of 21 million poppies during Memorial week. The many ex-servicemen engaged in making these poppies have chosen as their motto, "Honor the dead by helping the living."

Although disabled veterans are paid for making the poppies, all other work connected with the nation-wide sale is voluntary. Proceeds from the sale are devoted exclusively to the welfare and relief work of the VFW.

The sales force at Fort Benning will be under the supervision of M-Sgt. Roger Porter and will be composed of soldier-members of the VFW and a group of young ladies from the Fifth Ave. USO.

Each salesman will carry credentials of identification and each poppy will also carry an identification tag, a spokesman said.

"Have you any last request to make before I give the command to fire?"
 CM GI: "Yes, does this mean I can't reenlist?"

Top Officers From 4 Nations To Visit Benning

Great Britain, Argentina, Uruguay, and China will send representatives to Fort Benning during June and July to observe the latest infantry tactics and tour the Infantry Center, military authorities announced today.

Col. W. T. Campbell of the British army arrived here Wednesday for a two-day visit of the Infantry School and Army Ground Forces Board No. 3. He is scheduled to leave Friday.

Britons Arrive June 10
 Maj. Gen. J. A. Gascoigne, deputy commander of the British Army staff, Maj. A. C. Lynch-Staunton, British military attaché, and Col. Prior, Britons, are slated to arrive June 10. The Britons are expected to meet and confer with British liaison officers, students, and instructors at the Infantry School. They will also visit ACF Board No. 3 and the Airborne section. Mrs. Gascoigne, wife of Gen. Gascoigne, will also accompany the military leaders. They will leave for England June 15.

Two Argentine military attaches, Col. Franklin Lueros and Lt. Col. Ignacio, will be here June 16-18. They will tour the Infantry Center in Benning.
Argentine Chief of Staff
 Brig. Gen. Cipriano Olivera, chief of staff of the Uruguayan Army, accompanied by Col. Javier Duddy Nisto and Maj. Luis Ramagli, will be an official guest of the Infantry Center June 19-21. The South American delegation will be greeted by a guard of honor upon arrival.

Chinese Col. Sinju Pu Shiao is expected to arrive for a seven-day tour of the post June 28, and British Brig. R. H. Batten, accompanied by Lt. Col. W. C. Carrless, will be here July 24-26.

Eight Retired In Fort Service

Six Fort Benning soldiers, one from Fort Eustis, Va., and one from Fort Jackson, S. C. were retired during simple ceremonies held Saturday morning at Stillwell field.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, presented letters of merit to the eight men after praising them for loyal service to their country and congratulating them upon their retirement.

Following the brief ceremony, two companies of the 15th Infantry Regiment, one company from the 501st Parachute Infantry, two batteries from the 8th Artillery, and one company from the 77th Engineer Battalion passed in review. Patriotic music was provided by the 23rd Infantry band.

Plans to replace the 7901, N. Those who were retired include M-Sgt. Garrett French, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 3440 ASU; M-Sgt. Robert E. McLean, Headquarters Detachment, Section 1, 3440 ASU; 1-Sgt. Claude R. Hendricks, 92d Headquarters Section, Fort Eustis, Va.; 1-Sgt. Edward H. Foster, Headquarters and Headquarters Student Training Regiment, T-Sgt. Robert R. Carroll, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 3440 ASU; T-Sgt. Ira T. Coffey, Headquarters and Headquarters, Section 1, 3440 ASU; S-Sgt. Arnie Harper, Company A, 52nd Battalion, 9th Regiment, Fort Jackson, S. C.; and S-Sgt. Solomon Katz, Station Hospital.

60 Air Reservists To Train At Lawson

Approximately 60 Air Reserve officers from Georgia and Alabama have applied for 13 days active duty at Lawson field during June. Maj. John C. Wretschko, plans and training officer, announced today.

The training program is open to both rated and non-rated Air Reserve officers in 14 Georgia and Alabama counties. Enlisted men on active duty who hold reserve commissions are not eligible for the training, according to the 14th Air Force which is directing the training.

Applications received at Lawson field are processed and forwarded to headquarters at Orlando, Fla. The 14th Air Force then notifies the officer when to report for duty.

During their training period reserve officers receive the pay and allowance of an active duty officer of equal rank.

Danish Officer Visitor On Post

Danish Lt. Col. C. V. Hjalft, who arrived here Monday afternoon for a two-week visit, will spend most of that time studying combined infantry-tank-artillery problems. Col. Hjalft conferred Tuesday with Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, and Col. Lloyd D. Brown, acting assistant commandant of the Infantry School. During the next week the Danish officer will witness various infantry-tank-artillery demonstrations presented by the Infantry School.

The colonel has been in this country for several months now studying the latest artillery tactics. Prior to his arrival here he had studied for three months at the Anti-Aircraft Center at Fort Bliss, Tex., and for two months at the Field Artillery Center at Fort Sill, Okla. He had also spent one month at the Coast Artillery Center, Fort Scott, Calif.

Accompanied by his wife, Col. Hjalft will visit Washington again before his return trip to Denmark.

Cadets To Meet Benning Team On Polo Field

Highlights of the sports calendar during the week of June 15-21 will be two polo games played on French field between cadet teams from West Point and an all-star Fort Benning team.

The first game is scheduled for Sunday, June 15, when the cadets meet a Benning team led by Col. Robert L. Dulancy, Wednesday, June 18. Col. Joseph A. Nichols will lead a team against the West Pointers. The team leaders are now selecting men to play with them, but have not announced their full teams.

Intercollegiate Challenge
 The West Point team was named the intercollegiate indoor football champion outfit this year, and is undefeated indoors or outdoors. Cadet George Edwards is captain and No. 2 spot player, and other members of the team are Cadet George Thomas, No. 1; Cadet Tom Hoffman, No. 3, and Cadet Neil Avey, No. 4.

Since Academy men will be unable to bring their own mounts, they will ride one set of horses from the local stable Sunday and use the other set for the Wednesday match.

Formal Dance
 A full week of activity, both social and military, has been planned for the cadets, who will arrive here from New York June 13. They will be guests at a formal reception and dance to be given at the Officers' club by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel, and on Sunday evening, June 15, the board of governors at the club will feté them with a formal party.

30 Fort Officers Listed For RA

Thirty Fort Benning officers were included on the list of nominations for Regular Army commissions which President Truman has forwarded to the Senate for approval, it was announced this week by military officials.

The list of 3,000 names sent to the Senate was the second increment of officers to be nominated for permanent Regular Army commissions under the 1947 integration program and the fourth list of Regular Army nominations to be sent to the Senate by the President since the Regular Army integration program began in June, 1946.

Of the 945 Army Ground Forces officers nominated for the RA last week, the infantry will receive nearly half, that arm of the service being allotted a total of 453 officers, a large number of whom will be first lieutenants. Of the three remaining arms of the Ground Forces, the cavalry will receive 273 officers, Field Artillery 191 and the Coast Artillery Corps 28.

The names, assignments, permanent grades and branches of the Fort Benning officers nominated are as follows:

RC Night Duty Is Discontinued

Continued reduction in the professional staff has caused a curtailment in the 24-hour service at the American Red Cross field office on the Main Post, Murray E. Hill, director, announced today.

Hill pointed out, however, that arrangements are being made to provide necessary services in case of emergencies and that the professional staff will handle such emergencies from their quarters.

In order that Red Cross service on a 24-hour basis will be available in case of extreme emergency, the following procedure has been recommended:

Duty officers of battalion level should be consulted as to the need of Red Cross action between 5 p. m. and 8 a. m. Before a call is made to the Red Cross staff, the duty officers will be notified of the name of the night duty personnel for each week and will be given their quarters' telephone number.

Red Cross duty personnel will continue to report incoming wires when necessary to a duty officer of battalion level, or higher, for immediate action between the hours of 5 p. m. and 8 a. m.

All men presenting problems to their commanding officers, other than emergencies, should be referred to the Red Cross office during regular office hours, which are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

This is not a curtailment of Red Cross service, as soldiers having great emergencies and presenting them to duty officers will receive prompt attention by members of the staff, Red Cross officials said.

OCS Review Board Named At Lawson

Establishment of a Ninth Air Force officer candidate reviewing board at Lawson field with Maj. Gabe Hawkins as president, was announced today by base officials.

Other members of the board include Maj. Harvey Rehner, Maj. James A. Hayden, Capt. Wilfred Hinman, Lt. Otis E. Winn and Lt. Thomas Kearney.

The reviewing board will interview and process enlisted men and civilians who apply for this officer candidate course which begins at Kelly field, Tex., July 7, and continues in entrance examinations will be conducted by the Army Officer candidate school at Fort Benning.

Applicants may obtain the necessary forms and additional information at the Lawson field recruiting office, officials said.

Requisitions Due On New Khakis

Enlisted men at Fort Benning are now authorized a total allowance of six cotton khaki shirts and six pairs of cotton khaki trousers, it was announced this week. This is in accordance with the change in Table of Equipment No. 21, dated September 1945, and effective June 15, 1947.

Since the station stock is not sufficient to provide for this increased allowance, organizations are requested to submit requisitions for the new khakis. The requisits must reach the quartermaster by noon June 8.

GOODBYE TO THE ARMY—Letters of merit were awarded to six Fort Benning soldiers one from Fort Eustis, Va., and one from Fort Jackson, S. C. upon their retirement Saturday morning at Lawson field.

MICHIGAN VETERANS' MILITARY PAY. All members of the armed forces who were residents of the state of Michigan and who served honorably for a period of more than 90 days between 18 September 1940 and 30 June 1946, are eligible to receive the Michigan veterans' military pay. Application forms for this bonus are now available and may be obtained upon request from the Bonus Michigan. The applicants should specify branch of service since separate application forms are provided for each branch. Similarly claimants who are beneficiaries of deceased veterans should specify relationship to the deceased in requesting application forms.

2. NEW DISCHARGE CERTIFICATE. The Army will have four, possibly five, discharges to offer men leaving the service after July 1. Two new types already approved are the "undesirable" and the "general discharge." The "general" discharge replaces the old "honor" discharge and will be given men separated for ineptitude or minor marks during service up to new, tougher standards set for the honorable discharge. The undesirable discharge will be awarded for unfitness or misconduct not involving separation by order of court-martial. Another type still being considered is a bad conduct discharge, ranking between undesirable and dishonorable.

Following are the types of discharge certificates with conditions of separation:
 Honorable discharge, WD AGO form 55, honorable; general discharge, WD AGO form 53-58, under honorable conditions; undesirable discharge, WD AGO form 53-59, under honorable conditions; dishonorable discharge, WD AGO form 53-61, dishonorable conditions (given by General Court Martial).

With the exception of WD AGO form 55 (honorable), the above certificates are in multiplication form and report of separation on the reverse side. The honorable discharge certificate and the enlisted record and report of separation (WD AGO form 53) are separate forms.

Reinforced, Fire-Proof Hangar To Accommodate Larger Craft

A reinforced concrete, fire-proof hangar, reputed to have the largest span of any of this type constructed to date—340 feet wide—is being designed for immediate construction at the heavy bomber base at Rapid City, S. D., under the supervision of the Corps of Engineers, the War Department announced today. The new hangar, which will cost approximately $1,000,000, is the Engineers answer to the request of the Army Air Forces for a hangar of sufficient size to accommodate their largest aircraft for repair.

Rapid development of heavy load-carrying aircraft, with large overall dimensions, called for provisions for their maintenance and repair. To house such aircraft became an intricate and costly reconstruction problem. The engineering ingenuity of the engineering profession.

Of Concrete Construction
 The hangar being designed is of arch-type monolithic reinforced concrete construction having a clear span opening 300 feet wide by 40 feet high with auxiliary tail doors fifty feet wide by twenty feet high at the center of the opening. A center opening fifty feet wide by sixty feet high, permitting the passage of tail assembly without increasing door height for the full width.

The roof structure is divided to units separated by expansion joints. Each unit consists of a cylindrical shell approximately 3-4 inches thick, which is stiffened by its curvature and by supporting arches, columns, horizontal edge members and curved stiffening ribs at the expansion joints.

Heating System Planned
 The hangar is fully insulated and vacuum heating system with floor-type unit heaters will be designed. The design will also provide an alternate for a radiant type heating system.

The hangar floor is being designed to sustain a wheel load of 150,000 pounds and service pits approximately 60 feet apart will be provided throughout.

The shell of the hangar, because of the concrete construction, is considered as having adequate fire resistance and, in all other parts of the hangar, noncombustible materials will be used.

Exhaustive studies by the office of chief of engineers have indicated that, under normal conditions, this type of construction is the most economical for a structure of this type and that considerable saving will be effected by its use.

SALVO—S/Sgt. Joseph T. Bass, airborne pathfinder instructor, with an additional 75 pounds of pathfinder equipment. The final winter pathfinder class of 35 students graduated Monday.

Heir Raid

Congratulations are in order for several more Post couples who have recently become parents with the new arrivals being delivered at the Station hospital. Plane Sets New Mark In Flight To Fort

A C-82 Fairchild Packet, belonging to the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron at Lawson field, recently completed a record-breaking non-stop flight from Hamilton field, Calif., to Fort Benning—a distance of approximately 2,350 air miles—in ten hours and 45 minutes.

The flight, which is usually made in two hops, was routed by way of Los Angeles, Albuquerque, and Oklahoma City. The C-82 left the California base at 4:30 p.m. and arrived here at 6:15 a.m. the following morning.

The aircraft had been on a ferry mission to California. Pilot of the plane was Lt. Marcellus Buesman, and copilots were Lts. Ralph Engroff and Philip Miller. Sgt. John Daniels was crew chief and Cpl. Frank Wilson and Pfc. H. C. Brown were the radio operators.

OCs 'CAPTURE' HILL 213 DURING NIGHT PROBLEM

BY O-C MEYER KETOFESKY

The convoy of half-awakened troops moved slowly along the muddy road toward their objective as the night grew steadily darker. The Student Training Regiment's 10th Company was on its way to capture Hill 213 during a night attack.

Because of muddy roads, the bus carrying the fourth platoon slid into a ditch and was left behind to await rescue, but 30 minutes later was on its way to rejoin the rest of the company.

At 3:30 a. m. the company was formed and ready to make the attack and capture its objective. As they started off toward Hill 213 in a column of two, some of the men stumbled and almost fell. It was so dark that nothing could be seen more than three inches ahead; but as they proceeded, caution replaced confusion and all went well.

At the very darkest hour of early morning, when not a thing could be seen, a barrage of artillery hit the "enemy" with the force of a battering ram. No sooner did the last shell explode than the men of Army Officer Candidate class No. 6 charged en masse, firing into the trees and bushes, up the slope of Hill 213, annihilating the remainder of the "enemy".

The mission was accomplished. Hill 213 was captured. The orange rays of the morning sun were spreading over the sky and AOC class No. 6 had chalked up another victory in their campaign at Fort Benning.

New Duty Assignments

Announcement of two new-duty assignments at Lawson Field was made last week by base officials.

Lt. Edward J. Hamel has been appointed base intelligence officer, succeeding Capt. John Kelleher, who will serve as base legal officer.

Lt. Robert F. Kreig was named base dental officer replacing Navy Lt. Dan V. Zarlingo, who has been separated from the service.

Darkroom Developments

By BEN ZAR

How many times have you asked yourself "why are my pictures too light, too dark? What causes those white lines? What is wrong with my pictures?" To remedy these difficulties, let's adopt a standard of procedure. First, check your equipment. All cameras have three things in common—the lens system which may or may not be mounted in a shutter; a dark box which has provisions for holding film conveniently; and some arrangement for properly focusing the camera. First, check your lens in its mounting; it should be tight; and it should be clean (by that we don't mean use steel wool to scour it). Optical glass is extremely soft and should be handled with extreme care. First, remove the dust with a soft camel hair brush or a well worn linen handkerchief. Then polish lightly with a specially prepared lens tissue). Next, check the shutter. The slow speeds such as one second and one-half second. You may check with a stop watch, but don't be too much concerned if the shutter isn't mathematical-precise in its functioning; for the latitude of the modern film will accommodate variations in exposures as much as 200 per cent. Next, check the seating arrangement for the roll film for those cameras using cut film. See whether the holders are seated tightly enough to prevent light leakage between the camera back and the film holder edge. Let's assume then that this has been properly taken care of. It might be a good idea with the Bellows type camera to look for light leaks. This is easily done by placing a small electric light bulb or flash light inside the camera and stretching the corners of the Bellows. Any light leaks will become easily apparent. The answers to your troubles may become apparent to you after such a check. It might be a good idea to do this routinely about once a month. One final word of caution, do not disassemble the lens system or the shutter. If such work is necessary, you will find it to your advantage to send it to a competent repairman or return it to the factory for adjustment. Lens element within the lens system must be carefully aligned and this requires specialized optical equipment. Good shooting!

Tips To The Tyre

All amateurs aren't fortunate enough to possess a good exposure meter. This should not prevent you from making good pictures, since all a meter does is to indicate the amount of light present and no more. A basic exposure based upon prevailing light conditions can be a very effective substitute. With a high speed panchromatic film such as Eastman XX Super Pancho Press Type B, or Super Pan Press on a sunny day in this area, between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. a well exposed negative can be obtained by using a basic exposure of 1-100th of a second at F-11, 1-50th at F-16 or 1-200th of a second at F-8. Slower film such as commonly used Verichrome and Panchroms will be properly exposed at that time using a shutter speed of 1-50th of a second at F-11. Develop normally, according to the recommendations of the manufacturer for the film used and results will be pleasantly surprising.

40 Complete RC Course

Forty Fort Benning soldiers have completed the Red Cross water safety training program given at Russ and Sand Hill pools during the past two weeks and 14 have qualified to teach water safety and issue Red Cross certificates to those who complete Red Cross courses.

A group of 80 men, not rushing the swimming season, but taking official training from the Red Cross, turned out for the course at the two pools and William M. McGowan, national representative has stated that the group of men training here was far superior to those usually in such classes.

Senior Life Guards Twenty-four of the men, while not qualifying as instructors, did qualify for senior life guards. A list of the men who received the instructors courses follows:

Russ Pool—W. C. Barth, E. P. Condo, H. D. Cook, M. C. Greendidge, E. D. Hammett, R. H. Luke, D. S. Faris, J. T. Pope, J. J. Russell, Clifford Whitaker, and J. C. Stroud.

Senior life guard certificates were issued to the following men at Russ pool—J. J. Boyle, J. L. Capron, J. W. Daniels, W. C. Eastman, Bert Foster, H. E. Gault, L. D. Myers, W. C. Munsell, J. B. Odum, T. H. Savage, R. H. Ward, A. S. Smith and Joseph Walth Jr. Instructors certificates were given to the following men at the Sand Hill pool—W. S. Robinson, Allan Ross, and David Vann.

It Pays To Advertise

Psychologists tell us that anything we see remains upon our mind longer than reactions of our other stimuli. Businessmen have been quick to take notice of this, as may be attested by the volume of advertising thrown at the reader from all sides.

We, as representatives of an Army which has proven its worth in war, would do well to remember that "It Pays to Advertise." The eyes of the civilian populace continually watch the soldier. The impression, which he creates, remains. When many of these impressions are made, a strange and powerful something called public opinion is moulded.

This public opinion makes laws and rescinds them. We know that our legislation is greatly determined by the will of the people, which is, in effect, their opinion. It becomes simple to trace its effect upon our Army, which owes its existence to legislative support.

What is this talk of lowered appropriations? Of a new peace-time pay scale? Of a smaller Army? We, as soldiers, are proud of our outfit. Can we justify our pride? Can we prove that we are worth ten times what the civilian spends on us? We know we are the best—we are on the inside where we can see we are the best; but how can we tell them?

The method? Simple! Appeal to the eye of the public. Let them see a snappy soldier! Let them take away a mental picture of a man with fine bearing, a man proud of an honorable profession, a gentleman! Keep those boots and buckles shining in their eyes! And when they pass we'll hear them say, "There's a SOLDIER, a real soldier! I'd place my trust in him!"

Hemispheric Defense

A plea for hemispheric defense in which both North and South America would share equal benefits has once again been advanced by President Truman. This is not the first time such a program has been brought to the attention of the people of the Americas, but we hope it will meet with more success this time.

Prior to the outbreak of the last war Americans had an unhealthy tendency toward isolationism, an ism which almost wrecked the world. Not only did we leave our European and Asiatic friends to fend for themselves but also our good neighbors to the South. We just did not feel any need for close ties between the Latin countries and ourselves. Perhaps we are now awakening to the folly of such beliefs.

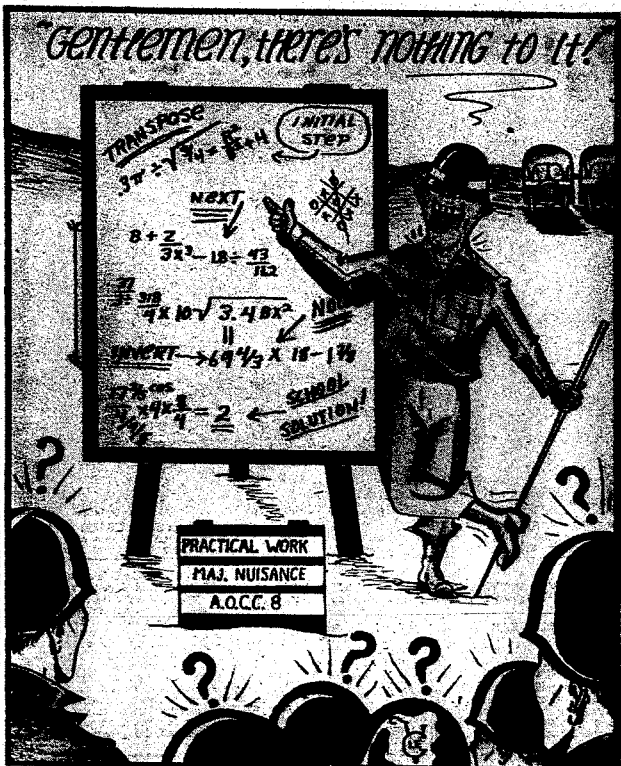

Apparently the Army is behind such a move because more and more South Americans are coming north of the border to tour and study at our military installations. Fort Benning has been honored by the visits of Mexicans and Peruvians, and will shortly play host to delegations from Argentina and Uruguay.

Some Americans still fail to see the implications of an attack by an aggressor nation on one of the smaller South American republics in spite of its obvious danger to the United States. Hitler had planned—provided his conquest of England and North Africa had succeeded—to make his next move directly to one of these Latin-American nations. Fortunately, his carefully-laid plans met utter failure. There is a chance, however, that another aggressor, given a similar opportunity, will not fail.

The President's plea for joint defense will work no hardship on any one of the American nations. At the same time it serves notice on would-be aggressors that North and South America will stand together in case of an attack on any one of the member countries. Not only should we feel more secure, but we would be more secure.

This defensive measure would allow the United States, as the most powerful member, or Uruguay, as one of the smaller members, to call upon all the other nations for supplies, materials, or manpower.

Acceptance of such a plan would ensure a greater degree of prosperity for the world because the chance of war in the Western hemisphere would be much less.

Chaplain's Corner..

Prayer

By Chaplain Robert E. Mathis

"And whatsoever we ask, we receive of Him, because we keep His commandments and do the things that are pleasing in His sight." (1 John 3:22)

Every prayer presented in the right attitude is answered before the person praying has ceased speaking. This is because God has pledged His word to us that whatsoever we ask in the name of Christ and in faith, it shall become. This is to be done in oneness with Christ and His will.

God's word cannot fail whenever a person meets those simple conditions in prayer as the prayer is being made. The showing on earth may not occur until some later period.

It is well to close every prayer with praise to God for the answer that He has already granted. He never forsakes His loving kindness and His truth. This was manifest in the prayer life of Daniel.

When we as Christians ask for a blessing, we must take the attitude of faith, and at the same time begin to act as if we have the blessing. Thus we must treat God as if He had given us our request. It is necessary for us to claim our weight even upon Him for the thing we have claimed, and just take it for granted that He gave it. This is an attitude of trust.

To pray is nothing more involved than to live in the sunshine of God's good grace and also expose our distress of body and soul to those belongings rays which can in a wonderful way counteract and render ineffective the bacteria of sin. The man of prayer is taking Jesus at His word with His wonderful working power, and will have access to Him day and night. This was made evident in the story of the man sick of palsy who had friends interested enough to take him to Jesus. Prayer is deeper than words. It is the action of the soul expressed in words, according to the ability of the individual.

Life Story Of Carlson, Marine Leader, Retold

By MILT MOSKOWITZ
Frank McGowan, first baseman of the Airborne Battalion team, can personally back up the eulogies paid to Brig. Gen. Evans F. Carlson last week when the famous Marine leader died of a heart attack in a Portland, Oregon, hospital. Frank spent four years in the Marines and was a member of the famed Carlson Raiders, taking part in the Makin Island and Guadalcanal campaigns.

The life-story of this inspiring leader, who died at the age of 51, is worth retelling because it's an unusual one, besides which most of that was Gen. Carlson's own definition of Gung Ho. Carlson retired from the Marines for a while and traveled in China as a civilian. During this time he wrote two books. When he rejoined the Marines in 1941, he was given the mission of forming and leading a battalion of specialized raiders. After participating in the Makin Island and Guadalcanal campaigns, Carlson's Raiders were disbanded.

Carlson was a staff officer at Tarawa and Saipan, where he was wounded when he went to the aid of his machine-gunned radio man. He received the Legion of Merit to add to his score of ribbons among which are three Navy Crosses. He was retired for disability in 1946. Carlson suffered two heart attacks last November and was hospitalized for two months. The third and fatal attack occurred last Tuesday night in a cabin on the slopes of Mt. Hood to which he had withdrawn in quest of peace and quiet.

McGowan and the other men in Carlson's Raiders can tell you about those principles, which are embodied in the Chinese term for cooperation, "Gung Ho," he slogan and battle cry of the outfit. "Tolerance of ideas, tolerance of personal eccentricities, the sweeping away of personal prejudices, concentration on an effort to see the good in human beings of all types and persuasions"—

COMING ATTRACTIONS
THE CORPSE CAME C. O. D. (mystery) with George Brent, John Blondell, and Adele Jergens. C. O. D. shipment—1 box. Contents—1 corpse. When movie star Adele Jergens receives this surprise package, Brent and Blondell, rival newspaper reporters, go into action to scoop each other on the solution of the crime. Recommended for family.
PERILS OF PAULINE (biographical drama) with Betty Hutton, John Lund, and William Demarest. This is based on the life of Pearl White, daredevil queen in the early days of the movies, when the villain tied the heroine to the railroad tracks or left her hanging to a cliff—"to be continued next week." Recommended for family.
MIRACLE ON 34TH STREET (comedy) with Edmund Gwenn, Margaret O'Brien, and John Payne. The solemn question of whether there really is a Santa Claus comes in for highly thoughtful consideration in the rare blend of laughter and sentiment. Finding the solution to the question involves Gimbel and Macy department stores, the New York Supreme court, the U. S. Post Office department—and Santa Claus. Recommended for family.

Miss Wrye, Maj. Coleman Are Wed At Parent's Home

In a beautiful setting of gardenias, magnolias and white gladioli in pedestal baskets, Miss Elnora Wrye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Wrye, became the bride of Maj. Carl H. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Coleman of Ashland, Ohio, in a ceremony held Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Columbus.

Dr. Frederick S. Porter read the double ring ceremony which was held in front of an altar flanked with burning white tapers in five-branched candelabra and decorated with white peonies, syringa, gardenias and magnolias.

The lovely bride wore a pink satin gown of an off-shoulder style with a tight bodice and full skirt. Her long gloves were of matching material and she carried a white prayer book decorated with a white orchid and showered with stephanotis and split carnations.

The bride and groom entered together after their tapers had been lighted by Maj. Luther R. Miller and Lt. Col. Russell E. Whetstone. The wedding was rendered by Mrs. James Gibson, pianist, and Miss Ann Perry sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Mr. and Mrs. Wrye entertained with a reception immediately after the ceremony and the bride cut her three-tiered cake on a table overlaid with lace and decorated with white tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Horace Willis, Mrs. Hilda Chambliss, Miss Lois Johnson and Mrs. Selma Abbott presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. George Luell presided at the bride's table.

During the evening Major Coleman and his bride left for a wedding trip to Miami Beach and Havana, Cuba, after which they will be at home at 306-D Lumpkin.

Cocktail Party Honors Michigan Visitors At Post

Houseguests at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Frederick V. Harris this week brought about an occasion for a delightful cocktail party Wednesday afternoon.

The party was given by the Harries at their quarters to honor Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Walter B. Fariss and their daughter, Charlotte, who are visiting from Ann Arbor, Mich. Colonel and Mrs. Fariss are the parents of Mrs. Harris and were formerly at Fort Benning when he was operations officer at the Infantry School.

Miss Fariss has just been graduated from Duke university and came here with her parents Tuesday after the college exercises. She also has lived on the Post before and will be a guest at her sister's quarters for about a month. Colonel and Mrs. Fariss will leave sometime next week.

At the Wednesday party, friends of the houseguests were entertained.

25th Wives Club Hold Weiner Roast

A sudden downpour of rain failed to halt the weiner roast sponsored for members of the 25th Infantry Regiment and attached units by the Petite Moderne Army Wives and Sweethearts Club Thursday afternoon in Service Club No. 2, Sand Hill.

Surprise Party Is Farewell To Commander Of 75th T. C.

Lt. Col. Lewis A. Curtis, commander of the 76th Troop Carrier Squadron at Fort Benning, was honored at a gala surprise farewell party at the Lawson Field Officers' Club last Thursday night with the squadron officers and their wives as hosts.

The surprise was revealed to Colonel Curtis when he learned the service soon, when he and his wife, with another couple, entered the club for a quiet evening and were met with applause. Apertiffs were served in the game room and dinner was served at a U-shaped table in the main lounge. At the head of the table were Colonel and Mrs. Curtis, Lt. Col. and Mrs. H. R. Crouch, Jr. and Major and Mrs. George W. Gorman. Colorful miniature vases, poles, confetti and white tapers decorated the table.

Following the dinner, Capt. John Kelleher, master of ceremonies, spoke briefly on the mixed solemnity and gayety of the occasion. He introduced Colonel Curtis who expressed his thanks to his hosts.

Officers of the unit presented a floor show following the dinner with Capt. Paul W. Dahl as the producer and director. Capt. C. A. Milburn and Lt. E. J. Hamel were top stars of the presentation and entertained with a colorful hula dance. Capt. Kelleher presented a vocal number and also conducted a quiz program.

As a highlight of the affair several officers gave a style show of women's apparel. The models were Capt. Fred F. Goller, Lt. Robert A. Hicks, Lt. Peter J. Skoglund and Capt. Ralph W. Doy. Mrs. Skoglund introduced the models and carried on a fashion commentary while music was furnished by the Georgians. Mrs. Dahl and Mrs. Goller assisted in presenting the program.

Colonel Curtis, a native of Kansas City, Mo., helped to organize the 75th four years ago and served as its commander and leader during the war in the ETO, where he brought the squadron to Lawson Field for its peacetime mission of training paratroopers in November, 1945, and many officers who served under him overseas are still with the unit. He is resigning his Regular Army commission to enter business in New York and is scheduled to leave the base in the near future. His wife is the former Miss Harriet Palmer of Chicago.

Miss Vandever Weds Capt. Clark In Post Chapel

Miss Geraldine Vandever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vandever of Tulsa, Okla., became the bride of Capt. Arthur G. Clark of Fort Benning and Tulsa Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Post Chapel with Chaplain Emmett Jones reading the impressive ceremony.

The bride was charming in an afternoon dress of peacock blue silk shantung with a matching halo hat and sable mix suede accessories. Her flowers were yellow glamelias.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Hubert Crockett Hughes Jr. of Tulsa, was her matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a dress of pearl gray linen trimmed with white velvet embroidery with a white linen picture hat. Her flowers were white glamelias.

The bride's brother, William Gary Vandever of Tulsa, was best man. The ceremony was held in a setting of gladioli and snapdragons arranged against a background of palms. Cathedral candles burned in the seven-branched candelabra. Presiding the entrance of the bride, Mrs. L. E. Averett played "Ave Maria" and "Liebestraum."

Following the ceremony a small reception was held in the drawing room of the Vandever's suite at

Miss Beam Wed To Mr. Allen In Beautiful Chapel Service

In a setting of white tapers and white gladioli, Miss Helen Beam became the lovely bride of Earl Allen Friday afternoon in an impressive and beautiful ceremony in the Post Chapel at 5:45 with Chaplain William C. Stairs officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a traditional white gown of nylon marquisette over tulle with a lace yoke and long full sleeves with lace cuffs. Her finger-tip length illusion veil was fashioned with a coronet of seed pearls and her only ornament was a pearl lavali-ere which is an heirloom from her family. She carried a bouquet of roses and valley lilies centered with an orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Marguerite Benjamin of Springfield, Mass., and Miss Margaret Greer, a cousin of the bride from Atlanta, was the bride's maid. The attendants wore floor-length dresses and carried pink carnations and blue delphiniums. Miss Greer wore a gown of tulle and Miss Benjamin wore aqua.

Robert Allen, brother of the groom, of Milford, Mich., acted as best man. Guests were seated by the ushers, Lt. Walter Dumes and Capt. Louis Wilson.

The nuptial music was played by Miss Frances Gladden and Miss Gloria Helprin was the soloist. Vocal numbers included "One Alone" and "Sweethearts."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Beam of Atlanta and the groom is the son of Edward E. Allen of Milford, Mich. The parents of the bride and the groom's mother were among the out-of-town guests as well as Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Greer of Atlanta.

For going away, the bride wore a blue crepe bolero dress with a pink straw hat and white accessories and a white orchid. For their honeymoon, the couple left on a trip to Michigan and Canada.

The bride has been employed in the library at The Infantry School and is a graduate of the University of Georgia. She took postgraduate study at Emory University here.

The groom until recently was a sergeant in the army and was one of the accredited guests at The Infantry Center. He was well-known on the Post for the lead role he played in the local production of "You Can't Take It With You," and had also served as a radio announcer for 15 months in the services for approximately four years and served in the Quartermaster branch with the 175th Infantry Regiment of the 29th Infantry Division. He has been decorated with the Victory medal, American Theater ribbon, the ETO ribbon with two Battle Stars, the Good Conduct medal, the German Occupation ribbon and the Combat Infantry badge.

English Bride Living On Post

A welcome newcomer to the Post is Mrs. Lyle D. Tarter who recently moved into quarters here with her husband, Captain Tarter, after arriving in New York from England, her native land, on April 6.

The new arrival explained that she enjoyed her short look at New York, and was especially delighted with the food, which is so scarce in England.

Mrs. Tarter's parents live on the Isle of Wight now, but at the beginning of the war they were in a village about 15 miles from London so the bride had some actual experience with the blitz.

During the war, Mrs. Tarter served for two years with the Women's Land Army doing farm work in 1944 and met Captain Tarter in London. They were married last February.

Captain Tarter is now in Union, Oregon, and served overseas for 36 months with most of his work in England except for a few trips into Germany.

The couple are now at home at 501-B Petkins.

MARRIED AT POST CHAPEL — Miss Helen Beam became the bride of Earl Allen in a beautiful ceremony Friday afternoon at the Post Chapel with Chaplain William Stairs officiating. Robert Allen, brother of the groom, of Milford, Mich., acted as best man. Miss Marguerite Benjamin was the maid of honor. Miss Dorothy Greer of Atlanta was the bridesmaid.

Personals

Col. and Mrs. William McCleave or Berkeley, Calif., are houseguests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. L. Hitchings and will be here for sometime. They are the parents of Mrs. Hitchings.

New in quarters on the Post are M/Sgt. and Mrs. Frank C. McConnell, Jr. who are from Pennsylvania although he has been overseas in both the Pacific and European theaters for nearly six years.

The couple were married last November and Mrs. McConnell came here from Newell, Pa., which is her home, where he has been stationed at Fort Bragg until recently.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. G. E. Talle with their son Jeff spent several days in Florida last week and returned Thursday evening. During their trip they visited in Clearwater, Tampa and Silver Springs.

Mrs. W. H. Blackledge of Port Arthur, Texas, has been a houseguest at the quarters of Col. and Mrs. John W. Middleton recently. Tuesday she left the Post to return to her home where her 18-month-old daughter, Barbot. She is the sister of Mrs. Middleton.

Webers Hosts At Buffet Event

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frederick R. Weber were hosts at a delightful buffet-dinner party at the Officers' Club last week when they entertained for a small group of their friends.

Members of the party were Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. L. Hitchings, Col. and Mrs. William McCleave and Capt. and Mrs. Dan C. Kingman. Colonel and Mrs. McCleave are the parents of Mrs. Hitchings and are guests here from Berkeley, Calif.

The Webers will soon be leaving the Post to be stationed at the United States Military Academy.

Candidates Enjoy Dance At Lodge

Candidates of the AOCC No. 9 highlighted the twelfth week of their course with a party and dance at Victory Lodge on May 24, complete with refreshments and music by the Musicians from 8 to 12 p. m.

Courses were presented to young ladies attending, and members of the class presented special entertainment, with Candidates Russell and Hunt among the outstanding performers.

Mrs. Fritchman Entertains Club

Ladies of her bridge club were entertained at the quarters of Mrs. Curtis Fritchman Tuesday afternoon when two tables were in play and a salad course was served.

Mrs. Fritchman decorated with roses and nasturtiums in crystal bowls and seated her guests on the porch for the afternoon. Guests were Mesdames Bailey Moore, Ralph Marwood, John Bietenheim, Harvey Allen, W. T. Smith, John Scoville, John Drew, and Russell Stow.

Hamiltons Hosts At Aperitif Party

Major and Mrs. Robert K. Hamilton entertained for approximately 50 of their friends Tuesday afternoon with a light buffet and cocktail party at their quarters.

As special guests for the gala event, Col. (ret.) and Mrs. M. W. Bonwell of Bradenton, Fla., the parents of Mrs. Hamilton, were present and are houseguests at the Hamilton quarters.

The buffet was served in the dining room where the table was overlaid with an embroidered cotton linen cloth and decorated with garden flowers in a crystal bowl and green tapers in crystal candleabra.

Employ 'Personality' In Letters, Prof. Says

EVANSTON, Ill., June 5—(UP)—When writing to your congressman don't use faded, baggy-kneed phrases unless you want him to file your letters in the wastebasket, an English professor warns.

"In business letters personality counts as much as it does elsewhere," according to Louis W. McKelvey, associate professor of English at Northwestern university.

"Write naturally. Relax. Imagine that the addressee is sitting across the desk from you, and just talk to him," the professor says.

He suggests you eliminate such phrases as "according to our records," and "at an early date," and attached please find."

VALLEY PASSES CRITICAL POINT IN POST-WAR PLAN

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Cities and towns throughout the industry-agriculture rich Chattahoochee Valley have passed the crucial point in their post-war expansion programs.

New industries, schools, better roads, and city-county improvements in streets, water and sewerage have been in the past 12 months. Record-breaking expansion in industries, agriculture, and schools is predicted during the next year.

Already two of the larger cities in the valley are being surveyed by professional city planners, looking toward better recreational facilities, traffic management, and increased health and school facilities for the growing population.

Although Phenix City voted only recently to hire a city planner, advance plans for the long-range program now are being worked out by members of civic clubs throughout the city, with the Chamber of Commerce taking the lead.

Columbus started its city planning program more than one year ago, with George Simons, of Jacksonville, Fla., initiating and drawing up plans for the project.

With the plan still in its infant stage the city planner has recommended that a third bridge be built across the heavily traveled Chattahoochee river, city bus traffic be re-routed to alleviate congestion in three city blocks, and North Highland, Linwood, and Bottons, and Moscor will be rehabilitated.

Along with a vast population increase growing out of the war and expansion of the city limits, scheduled for the first of 1948, Columbus' best civic minds are buckling to the task of meeting many new problems.

Funds from a $1,950,000 county bond issue, approved last year, already are being used for paving county post roads, improving the county airport, including an administration building, building new recreational parks, installing sewers and water mains and planning a new county health center.

Probably the largest single expected expansion, which will affect all people in the Valley, is the $73,000,000 river project, which calls for a nine-foot channel in the Chattahoochee and Apalachicola rivers from Columbus to the Gulf.

Phenix City, with a steadily increasing population of 30,000, has been possibly its greatest year in business and home-building expansion.

Highest on the list of nearly completed projects is the $450,000 Memorial hospital, which has been under construction for almost two years. The 70-bed institution will have all the modern equipment necessary for operation of an up-to-date hospital.

Non-Sectarian Dog Has 'Ear For Music'

FITCHBURG, Mass., June 5—(UP)—George Shepper's dog is strictly non-sectarian.

On one Sabbath the dog, Krueger, successfully barged into services at a Catholic church, a Methodist church and a Baptist church. "I think he has a fine ear for organ music," his master commented.

Chattahoochee Cavalcade Ends Four-Day Run Tomorrow Night

The Christian Fellowship Association's star-studded extravaganza, the Chattahoochee Cavalcade, written by Munnally Johnson, Hollywood's highest paid writer and producer, will play to Fort Benning and Columbus audiences Thursday and Friday nights to round out a four-day run in the exhibit hall at the fair ground.

The Cavalcade, featuring music, drama, and scenic lighting effects as well as more than 90 beautiful girls, tells the history of the Chattahoochee Valley from the time of its first settlers, the Indians, to present day inhabitants.

In chronological order, the three-hour long show depicts Indian scenes with authentic Indian dances for which Bob Vorreyer, former Benning sergeant, was choreographer. Chattahoochee River scenes, industrial scenes, a Fort Benning scene, and of course the scene at the Christian Fellowship Association's home at 1428 Second avenue.

Fashions modeled by attractive Columbus girls were designed by Columbus' Harry Phillips from materials donated by textile industries of the Valley.

The fair grounds exhibit hall has been transformed into an auditorium to seat 1,100 persons. Tickets for the performances, which begin at 8:30 p. m. may be purchased at the CFA home or at downtown stores.

Mayor Vetoes Salary Boost For Himself

WORCESTER, Mass., June 5—(UP)—Mayor Charles F. Jeff Sullivan has vetoed a proposed pay boost for himself.

The city council directed the city solicitor to ask for state legislation increasing the mayor's salary from $7,500 to $11,000 annually.

In vetoing the measure, Mayor Sullivan said the time was "neither opportune nor proper" to take such a step.

LATEST MEDIUM TANK—One of the 756th Tank Battalion's newest and most effective pieces of armor is the M-26 with its 90 mm gun. This tank has proven highly effective because of its low silhouette, heavy armament, and maneuverability.

TANKER'S HORROR—A scene like this spells horror in a tank's heart. This medium tank, similar to those used by the 756th Tank Battalion, has hit a land mine, causing it to become an easy prey for enemy anti-tank guns.

TANKER'S WORKHORSE—The 756th's M-43 medium tank, equipped with a bulldozer blade, was used to clear enemy road blocks and neutralize enemy anti-tank ditches.

COMBINED OPERATIONS—A 756th tank, in cooperation with the infantry, demonstrates the effectiveness of a combined attack against an enemy.

756th Tankers Active In Many Post Events

When the rumble of tanks is heard at Fort Benning, everyone knows that the 756th Tank Battalion is on the move again, presenting problems which depict the necessity for tank-infantry cooperation.

The tankers are located in the North Harmony Church area and are the last unit of School Troops remaining there. The battalion is composed of four companies plus the Anti-tank and Cannon companies of the 37th Infantry, both of which are attached to the 756th.

Impressive Record
The 756th has an impressive record which dates back to its first encounter with an enemy at Cassablanca. Continuing through North Africa, the unit moved up through the Italian campaigns and joined in the invasion of Southern France. The tankers boast the French Croix-de-Guerre.

The tank battalion maintains an NCO club, which is recognized as one of the best on the Post. There are held each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, in the area there are also a post exchange, library, gymnasium, and baseball diamond.

The 756th has long been active on the Fort Benning sports scene. Their bowling team finished a close second last spring, while their basketball team came out in third place in the School Troops league last winter. The tankers' basketball nine is now a hot contender in the first division as the Post league goes into the second half.

Hand-Knit Sock Plant Newest Chipley Industry

CHIPLEY, Ga., June 5—Chipley's newest industry is the Southdown-Hand Knit sock factory, where all wool men's socks are made in myriad patterns and colors.

The plant was built in 1946 by Southdown Inc., of which John D. Whorton, a native Georgian and a veteran of World War II, is president and general manager.

"Like so many other veterans," he said, "I was interested in establishing a business of my own." After a survey of the many industrial fields open, he decided to go into the business of making hand-knit, all-wool socks.

Employs 20 Persons
"There really is a great demand for all-wool socks," the veteran of 27 months in the Pacific theater said. "Many men prefer wearing wool socks all year around."

The factory, which is housed in a compact, one-story, concrete-block structure, now employs 20 persons, although the plant only operates three days a week at present.

"The socks are made in four separate processes on hand-operated machines," Mr. Whorton pointed out. "The only difference between knitting them with two needles by hand and knitting them by hand on these machines is that with the machines, which use many more needles, the work can be done much faster." He demonstrated how the diamond-shaped design was woven into the side of the sock legs by simply pushing down a certain number of the needles in the circular needle frame.

Intricate Process
First process is the knitting of the body and foot of the sock, which is done on the tubular sets of needles, hand-operated by a crank, with the hand being used to manipulate the needles to effect the design.
Tying the ends of the yarn after the socks have been knitted is the second process, and is done

Mice Eat Wooden Leg During Aussie Plague

NANDALY, Australia, June 5—(AP)—When they ate his wooden leg, David Strachan felt the plague of mice was getting out of hand.

More than 4,000 square miles of the Mallee, southern Western Australia's wheat section, has been overrun by the mice. Thousands of dollars worth of wheat and other produce has been destroyed.

"I take my leg off every night and prop it on a chair by my bedside," Strachan said. "Each morning for a week I saw marks where mice had been nibbling at it, but didn't take much notice. But they ate so much around the ankle one night that I wasn't game to put the leg on in the morning."

entirely by hand. Third and fourth process are the knitting of the toes and tops and attaching them to the sock bodies.

After the socks are completed, they are placed on boards, dampened and dried with an electric ray lamp. During the process of knitting, assembling and drying and shaping, the socks are inspected three times.

IN UP-TO-DATE HAMILTON

City's Waterworks Called One Of 'Finest In Georgia'

BY LEONARD HARRIS
Leder-Enquirer Staff Writer

HAMILTON, Ga., June 4.—The small, but highly efficient water works system of the city of Hamilton has been termed one of "the finest in the state of Georgia," Mayor Robert B. Fort said today.

"The state health board says our little water system is one of the finest in the state," he said. "And we think it is, too. We've got about 100 customers who use between 20,000 and 25,000 gallons of water a day. Our pump station pumps about 100 gallons of purified water per minute."

The Hamilton water works plant and purification station is located about one mile outside the city along a small creek. The machinery of the plant is housed in a pleasant stone building on top of a hill which overlooks the water source and broad green pastures.

G. Walter Gordon has been superintendent of the Hamilton water works since the plant was built and the system installed in 1937.

"We've got a nice layout here," Mr. Gordon said. "We take that dirty, muddy creek water and produce sparkling clear water from it."

"Raw water is pumped into that tank," he said, pointing down the hill. "There is coagulation. I was traveling down a Chicago street when an aged Negro stepped up to my car and said, 'Mister Cardinal, we sure are glad to have you back home. That was one of the finest tributes ever paid me.'"

"From this vat it runs inside the pump building into the filter tank, where it goes through about four feet of sand and pebbles. As it leaves the filter, lime is injected into the water to keep the water pipes from rusting out. After that it is pumped back upstairs and runs through the register where chlorine is added to finish the purification."

Mr. Gordon pointed out the various operations of the plant. He operates the station without help.

"The mayor and I are the only ones who work for the city water works," he laughed. "I do the work out here, and the mayor sees about having new meters installed and repairs made in town."

Mr. Gordon said a ratio of two and one half liquid pounds of chlorine to 1,000,000 gallons of water is used. A 100-gallon tank of chlorine lasts about three years.

When the water leaves the building, it is pumped into a cistern where it is stored until used by the city consumers.

"Only recently we've had the cistern cleaned out and repaired," the mayor said. "It is part of our plan to bring the water works up to date here."

Other plans call for the installation of a sewerage system as soon as it can be arranged, Mr. Fort said.

"We had a survey made preliminary to installing the sewerage system," he stated, "and as soon as we can, we will proceed with the work."

Water rent in Hamilton is nominal, he pointed out. Customers are charged only $1 for the first thousand gallons of water, and 25c for each additional thousand.

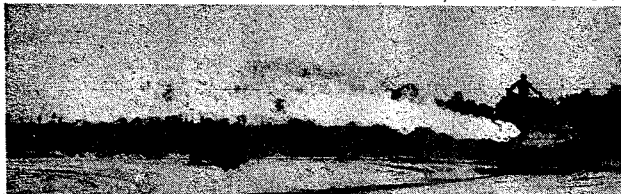

Hamilton's volunteer fire department is also dependent on the water works. Fire pumps have been installed at vantage points throughout the town.

In almost every other aspect, Hamilton is an up-to-date city. This city, with a population of 750, is one of west Georgia's most progressive towns.

In the 11 years in which 76-year-old Mr. Fort has been mayor, it has grown from a "little place in the road" to a modern, progressive little city. Almost all its roads and sidewalks are paved. Those that are not soon will be.

SPEARHEADING THE ATTACK—The 76th's M-48 medium tank, whose main armament is a 75 mm gun, is used on heavy fortifications and vehicles. For use against enemy personnel the tank is equipped with two .50 calibre machine guns. Vision is obtained by use of periscopes.

NEW ADDITION—The flame thrower is used by 76th personnel to instruct students in the method of ousting the enemy from dug-in positions and heavy fortifications.

NO PIXIE NEEDED

Talbotton Machine Separates, Cleans Seeds In A 'Twinkling'

BY LEONARD HARRIS
Leder-Enquirer Staff Writer
TALBOTTON, Ga., June 5—Does your crimson clover seed need cleaning?

Is your sericea lespedeza mixed with velvet beans and mustard greens seed?

Then, brother, what you need is the services of a seed cleaner and separator. Whatever that is.

No, it isn't a pixie in a cracker-jack box with a little brush who carefully dusts each seed and drops it into the right bin, but rather a modern, highly-efficient machine with a maze of screens and rollers that sorts seed from trash in the twinkling of an eye.

Talbotton's first and only seed cleaner and separator is the one recently installed in the Persons Warehouse by Henry Persons, bachelor mayor of this city.

Screens Used

"This machine can separate seed wherever there is a difference in size and weight," he explained.

"The work of sorting different size seed or cleaning seed, or sorting the trash and seed, is done with the use of a number of screens that are graduated according to the need," the mayor, a World War II veteran, explained.

"The seed fall through the first screen in the beginning of the cleaning operation, and the trash is carried out. The second screen, which is placed under the first, has small holes, thus letting only smaller objects through.

The seed are carried through four such screens.

Still More Cleaning

"But that's not all of the cleaning operation. Next they are conducted on a conveyor through a chamber where they are cleaned even more with an air blast that takes away the last of the foreign matter. After that, they are sacked and ready for sowing or selling."

Not much seed cleaning is going on at the present, Mayor Persons said, because of a shortage of combines, machines which cut and thresh grain in the same operation.

We expect to be in full operation later in the year, however, when seed begins to mature," he said. "Our plans are to set up a seed market here and have farmers sell their seed. In that way we would be deriving income from the sale of seed, instead, as in the past, of having farmers import seed from outside Talbot county."

Profitable Markets

Mr. Persons pointed out that such seed markets had become profitable in other parts of the country, where such items as sericea lespedeza and lupine seed are harvested and sold by the hundreds of tons annually.

"Talbot county farmers are planting more peanuts this year than in any year," he added. "During the war years they had trouble getting them picked, but now they are picking up now."

"The peach crop looks good. Most of these have been planted in peanuts in this county this year. The market price for peanuts will probably be around $250 per ton this fall."

Most other Talbot county crops look good, too, the mayor said, especially the peach crop.

"The peach crop looks good," he said, "but most growers say it will be the most expensive crop they have ever raised due to the cost of labor and labor troubles."

His Fondest Memory—A Welcome Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—(UPI)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, native of Nashville, was asked to recall his fondest memory. This is what he said:

"Upon my return from the ceremony in which I was elevated to the College of Cardinals, I was traveling down a Chicago street when an aged Negro stepped up to my car and said, 'Mister Cardinal, we sure are glad to have you back home. That was one of the finest tributes ever paid me.'"

Texas Jay Walkers Buy School Fountain

DONNA, Tex., June 5.—(UPI)—There were enough Jay walkers in Donna to pay for a new water fountain.

Members of the high school Hi-Y club decided the school needed a fountain. They set out one week end and whenever they spotted a traffic violator asked for a 25-cent "fine." But the violator refused payment he was hailed before a schoolboy judge who was authorized to assess "fines" up to $1. The take was $121, enough for their purpose.

Violinist's Visit Makes It Her Best Birthday

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 5.—(UPI)—Myra Clark, secretary of the Community Concerts office here, has always been a Morini fan. When they booked the woman violinist, she managed to fix the day of the concert to coincide with her own birthday. She looked forward happily to the double event.

But Myra contracted a serious illness. On the evening of the concert she lay in her bed, sick and weak.

Shortly after 11 p. m. the doorbell rang. The maid did not quite understand what the woman at the threshold wanted. But Erna Morini brushed her aside. She entered the bedroom.

Liquid Coal May Be 'Substitute' For Natural Gas

PITTSBURGH, June 5.—(UPI)—The "small business" man who can't get enough natural gas to keep his manufacturing concern going the year around may find the answer to his problem in liquid coal.

Much of the country's natural gas now comes from the Big and Little Inch pipelines, which stretch from Texas to California and to the New Jersey seaboard.

The line carries a total of more than 90,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a year.

However, the small manufacturer continually cries for more. His chief complaint is that he either must cut down or shut down production during the winter months because gas companies are faced with an abnormally high demand from home users.

In recent weeks he has been cheated. The age-old dream of breaking down a lump of coal into more gas, gasoline and oil than the nation will use in a thousand years is reported to be just around the corner.

The light touch is that the "who came backstage," the artist informed Myra. "I know how you looked toward to hearing me. So I made up my mind that as long as you could not come to the concert, I would come and play for you here."

Then she took her precious 15 minutes from the case and played to play.

It was Myra's most wonderful birthday present.

Fliers Sock 37th In Opening Tilt

By MILT MOSKOWITZ

Lawson Field and 37th Infantry opened up the second half of the season Monday night at Gowdy Field, and the Fliers puffed the Vets with a 17-7 shellacking.

The nine-inning American League contest consumed two hours and 50 minutes, and was played under protest by the 37th from the sixth inning on, when a little misunderstanding arose between the umpire Sam Harris and Capt. Keogh, 37th manager. There was no love lost between Harris and the Air Corps mine either, and in the ninth inning the irate ringer emptied one-half of the Lawson Field tied bench.

13 Misplay

The game itself hardly looked like a battle between two first division clubs, as it was marred by thirteen misplay in the field. Backed up by a sixteen-hit attack off three 37th hurlers, diminutive Paul Fray went the distance for the Fliers, pitching good ball. He gave up only three earned runs.

Just before the game got underway Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel presented Jack Forbes, the Lawson Field shortstop, with two awards, one for leading the league in batting with a .451 average and another for topping the loop in stolen bases with sixteen.

Steals Home
The Brooklynite lived up to his reputation, as he banged out two singles, a double, and a triple in five times up, scoring three runs and stealing three bases, one of them home.

Having lost three key players via the discharge route during the past two weeks, the 37th made what was probably its worst showing this season. What hurt the Vets more than anything else though in this game was the by-play between Harris and Keogh in the sixth.

It was still a close game, the Fliers leading 7-5 when Gorman slapped one of Grinols' pitches into left field to drive in eighth marker, Reese, the 37th shortstop, might have been able to come up with the ball, if he had been playing his position. But he was over checking Collins on second base.

'Culpepper For Grinols'
In fielding the throw from the outfield Grinols turned his ankle slightly, not enough to prevent him from continuing to pitch however. Capt. Keogh came out of the 37th dugout then, and says Harris, before reaching the mound he called out, "Culpepper for Grinols."

When he went out to the mound, though, to talk to Grinols, Keogh motioned Reese off the field, telling Culpepper to go to short. Harris refused to allow this, saying that Grinols was out of the game and Culpepper was the new pitcher. Unable to change the umpire's mind, Keogh had to go along with Culpepper on the mound, and he was knocked out in the seventh and replaced by Thomas, who was equally as ineffective.

The Lawson Field four-run seventh was featured by two successive home runs by Manager George Gorman and right fielder Herschel Fandler, the second time the Fliers have pulled this feat since the season began. Gorman's clout was a ringer drive down the right field foul line which landed in the corner and took five minutes to locate. Fandler was luckier, as Lands, in center field, misjudged his drive completely, the ball rolling out toward the flag-pole.

Field Shaky
Except for Green on third base and Grinols on the mound, all the 37th players looked shaky in the field (that's excepting Fagan who didn't have many chances in left). Greer cut off at least two hits with fine plays and Reese made some nice stops at short. Roberts and Lands were the hot hitting stars for the Vets, the Atlanta catcher bewildering Fandler in right field with a double and right field with a double and triple, while Lands went three-for-five, hitting a double and two singles.

The Vets were unable to hit Fray in the pinches, leaving men on base in every inning but the seventh. The Fliers made 16 hits good for 17 runs, but the 37th could only make 12 good for seven. Fray struck out eleven batters, getting Marion, Clark, and Reese twice each.

Tennis Team To Be Named

The Post tennis team will be picked by the end of this week or early next week. Maj. Francis Bull, who is in charge of the team, will then hold eliminations to choose a six-man team with three alternates.

Four singles and two doubles teams will be selected to go to Fort Bragg for the Third Army tennis championships on June 16. Up to now the team has been having trouble finding enough talented men with talent. The two most promising candidates are Baber and Yang 12 good for Co. A. ISD. Among the officers trying out for the team are Maj. William McDaniel, Capt. Sam Adams, Lt. John Booge, and Maj. Bull. Lieutenant Booge and Major Bull both competed for Banning in last year's tournament, which Fort Bragg won.

Although it is late Major Bull says that anyone interested in coming out will still be welcome. The team practices every evening on the courts behind the Officers Club.

Airborne Meets ISD Next Monday

Top game of the week and one that will have a great deal of bearing on the race in the American League is next Monday's ISD-Airborne battle, the first of two such encounters in the second half.

Ever since the season started last April the games between these two teams have always been labeled "crucial," and justifiably so, as they decided first place in the first half.

The Pros lost only three times during the first half, twice to the Airborne, and that tells the story. The team that wins this first game will have the edge on the other.

Gerhart Pitches

The Airborne opened up its defense yesterday afternoon against the 756th Tank Battalion. Dick Gerhart was scheduled to open up, and that means that Floyd Dooley will probably start against the ISD, although Gerhart would be rested enough to pitch again Monday if he had to.

Dooley beat the ISD in the season's opener, 6-5, opposed on the mound by Be Sikes. In the second game Dick Gerhart beat Lefty Lehner, 10-3.

The Pros have yet to play their first game this half, opening up tonight against Lawson Field.

Chuck Shiver will probably open against the Fliers, with Lefty starting Monday's game.

Best Pitchers

Lehner pitched a great game last time out, shutting out the Tankers with three hits and striking out 17 batters. When he has his control, he is a tough man to beat. Gerhart and Dooley of course are two of the best pitchers in the league.

Capt. Walker's line-up will be the same. Dickson will be in center, Terry at third, Bonair at short, Dooley at left field or pitcher, Frank McGowan, first base, Tom Gallagher, catching, Henry Griffin, right field and Bob Kinard, second base. When Dooley pitches, Pritchard will probably go to the outfield.

ISD Line-Up

The ISD line-up is set except for two positions, right field and second base. Wilson or Taylor will start in right, Lauve will be in left and at first when Lehner pitches, Burnett, at short, But, in center, Shiver, pitcher or second, Lehner, first or pitcher, Johnson, third base, and Seymour, catching.

A new man, named Fitzpatrick, has come out for the team, and he may start at second tonight. Another man who will be playing more when he gets into shape will be George Hill, an outfielder.

Claiming the best fielding and batting marks in the league, the Pros feel that they should take the Airborne this half. The paratroopers aren't interested in paper figures, they just say that on the field of play there isn't a team in the league that will score more runs when the last man is out in the ninth inning.

MIDGET AUTO RACES PROMISE BIG THRILLS

With the opening of midget auto tracks at Griffin, Mont-gomery and Atlanta in the near future Columbus midget racing fans will be able to see more big time drivers in the weekly thrill show at Idle Hour Park in Phenix City.

This week the drivers, still battling to prove that John Zale is not a "one man gang" when it comes to pushing the gas buggies around the hazardous 440 yard track, are predicting the fastest times of the season, since the track is rounding into perfect condition, and only another night of accidents will halt the speedsters.

Sensational Accident
Factual account of the most sensational accident in many years, when Jimmy Yates turned completely over after hitting the side rail landing on all four wheels and then circling again in the air. Only a miracle saved Yates from serious injury, and possibly death.

Only a short time later Hank Russ escaped with his life in a crash with Hardy, with Russ suffering back injuries, a cut eye which required four stitches to close, and abrasions on his hands and arms. Russ came out of the smashup in one piece, but badly shaken, and was taken to the hospital for examination. He will take the track again Friday night, but is determined that the mishap will take none of his daring. "You can't win when you get cautious," he said after the crash. "And while I don't care for any more of those spills, I suppose it is a part of the game." Friday's program, with seven events listed starting with the trials at 7:30, will wind up by 10 p. m. to give soldiers and mill workers a chance to get back to work or to camp in plenty of time.

League Schedule

Rolling along at an eight-games-per-week pace, the second half of the season lists a game for Gowdy Field every night in the week, except Saturday and Sunday.

There is an afternoon game every Wednesday and a double-header on Saturday afternoons. Postponed games will be played off on Sundays. Night games begin at 8:15, with the Wednesday afternoon contest starting at 2:00, and the Saturday twin-bill beginning at 1:00.

Here is the schedule for this coming week:
June 5—8:15: Lawson Field vs. Inf. Sch. Det.
June 6—8:15: 83rd F.A. Bn. vs. 18th Eng. Bn.
June 7—1:00: 37th Inf. vs. 756th Tank Bn.
June 7—3:00: STR vs. 204th Truck Bn.
June 9—8:15: Inf. Sch. Det. vs. Airborne Bn.
June 10—8:15: 78th Eng. Bn. vs. 328th Ord. Bn.
June 11—2:00: 204th Truck vs. 83rd F.A. Bn.
June 11—8:15: 756th Tank vs. Lawson Field.

Lawson Forms Bowling League

As part of its summer recreation program the Lawson field Athletic Department has inaugurated a post-season intra-office bowling league for officers, Lt. George McAnelly, athletic officer, has announced.

The league is composed of eight teams with each team representing a different base section of office. Officers participating are from the following sections: headquarters, S-3, S-4, operations, inspection and safety, engineering and supply, finance and services, and medical and miscellaneous. At present the league is sponsoring a Round Robin tournament with four teams bowling Tuesday night and four teams bowling Thursday night. The league uses the six-lane Post Exchange bowling alley which was opened at the base recently.

High Scorer
The highest individual score to date is 202, bowled by Capt. Spencer Sponberg of the inspection and safety team and the highest individual average of 169 is claimed by Maj. John Moore of the headquarters team. The inspection and safety team is leading the league at present with a team average of 157 for six games, and bowling a close second is the headquarters team with a 756 average. A similar league is being planned for the enlisted men of the base, Lt. McAnelly said.

Harris Not Umpire In Sunday's Game

Umpire Sam Harris wants to make it clear that he was not umpiring last Sunday afternoon in the Columbus-Savannah game in town. That was another Harris, he says.

Many Benningites read in the paper that an umpire named Harris has been involved in an argument when he called a ball hit by Ben Fusselman a double, saying that it hit something before clearing the fence. The Cardinals and the reporters covering the game said that it was a home run. For some inexplicable reason the game soldiers felt that it couldn't have been anyone else but Benning's Harris and they were accusing him all day with appellations of "robber," and similar names.

Awards Presented 5 League Leaders.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel was on hand for Monday's opener, presenting the following awards before the game started:

A pair of trousers for most runs batted in (28), a traveling bag for most home runs (4), and a toilet article kit for most three-base hits (4), all to Floyd Dooley of the Airborne team.

A warm-up jacket for Dick Gerhart of the Airborne team for the pitcher with the lowest earned run average (.63).

A slack suit for leading the league in batting (.461) and swimming trunks and shirt for most stolen bases (15), both to Jack Forves, Lawson Field shortstop.

A sweater to Herb Lauve, ESD outfielder, for most three-base hits (4). He was tied with Dooley. And a pair of shoes for Bill Brooks, of the 33rd Field Artillery, for most doubles (6).

These individual awards will go to be given out at the end of the second half. Awards then will go only to the members of the winning and runner-up teams.

Airborne Bouts Tonight At 815

The weekly Airborne boxing program will be run off as usual tonight, with the first bout scheduled for 8:15.

Seven bouts were on the Airborne outdoor boxing card last Monday, with a big crowd on hand to see the fights.

In the feature bout of the evening, Carl Semon, of Provincio, of Co. D, in three fast rounds, Semons, who comes from Ventura, California, downed his opponent from El Paso, Texas, for a count of six in the second round, but Provincio got up and finished the fight.

Welterweights
In a very close welterweight fight, Wallace Smith earned the decision over Richard Follas. Both weighed in at 147 pounds. Smith, coming from Waukegan, Illinois, and Paulus' home being Superior, Wisconsin.

New Jersey was well-represented on the program, as Walter Bender, from Jersey City, beat Lindsay Ellis, from Boston, Mass., and Edward Weber, of Dover, New Jersey, defeated Donald Roberts, from Dayton, Ohio. Harry Shindler, of Rahway, New Jersey, lost his bout to Robert Rogers, of Bethel, Vermont.

Lightweight Bout
The program was opened with a lightweight bout, in which Sylvester Garcia, of Los Angeles, California, won a decision over Fred Rosos, of Elizabeth, Tennessee.

Although he was outwrestled by five pounds, Roland Feorch, of Lansing, Michigan, took his fight from Robert Fields, of St. Louis, Missouri.

Officials at the fights were as follows: Referee, Maj. Holland, Judges, Lt. Thomas, Lt. Gunning, T-Sgt. Van, scorer, Lt. Murphy, and timer, S-Sgt. Tabler. The head second in the blue corner was 1st Sgt. Echols and S-Sgt. Bass was head second in the red corner.

25th CT Batting Average

Blues Defeat Bullets, 20-3

By ALYSEN E. WISE

Displaying the power and class which gave them a walk away during the '46 Southern League pennant race, the famed Asheville Blues, performing here before some 2800 spectators Wednesday night on Gowdy Field, blasted a trio of Bullet pitchers for 26 hits, while a threesome of their own hurlers limited the locals to a pair of singles, as the tally ended 20 to 3 in the league championship favor.

Scoring in every inning but the fourth, the Blues' perpetual hitting attack started on Walter Scott, who during five and one third frames allotted the visitors 13 runs. Johnny Isom was nicked for an even half dozen bingles and three runs while Roosevelt Kennedy who took over in the eighth was nicked for four counters.

To Centerfielder Rimer Mallory goes the credit of being the only Bullet player able to solve the offerings of the opposing pitchers. In the fourth inning, it was his scorcher to left field which scored Eddie K. Baldwin. Before the inning was over, Mallory had also scuppered across with the second 25th run. In the eighth inning, he countered with another hard smash to right field, and came home on Jimmy Sanders' fielder's choice and an infield error.

Eddie Baldwin was robbed of the longest hit of the game when Leftfielder Stewart raced to the environs of the scoreboard to pull down his long fly ball.

BASEMENT FLOOR

Sports On The Outside

By MURRAY HARDING
This past week's Sporting News, the Baseball Bible, devoted its lead article to the new attendance marks that are being set in virtually all of the major leagues where cancellations haven't cut down the number of games played.

The attendance record for all of the minors was set last year, the year in which the quality of minor league baseball took a sharp upward curve. 32,704,315 people paid their way into ball parks in 41 minor leagues last season.

The experts estimate that this season from that amazing total, but so far people have been proving them wrong as so often as before. Unprecedented turnouts have been reported by the Pacific Coast, Southern, Southeastern, Carolina, and Florida State Leagues, representing 5 of the 6 classifications from AAA to D.

The Sally League, of which Columbus is a member, has had generally good attendance, but are about 4,000 off their 1946 record. The explanation seems to be that the calibre of play is slightly lower than in 1946, but some improvement has been noted since the start of the season.

The two longest perfect fielding streaks compiled by a shortstop and a catcher in the majors came to an end on May 20.

Buddy Kerr, shortstop of the N. Y. Giants, had fielded 384 consecutive chances without an error up to the ninth inning of the first game of a scheduled double header between the Braves and the Giants on May 25. With two away, Bob Elliott cracked a sharp ground ball right at Kerr. He hoped in to scoop it up, but the ball skidded off his glove for an error, ending his perfect record at 68 games and 384 chances without an error.

When Buddy Rosar, receiver for the Philadelphia A's, dropped a pop fly from the bat of Walt Judnick on May 25, he shattered a record for fielding perfection that had extended over 47 games and 736 total chances, shattering by far all previous records.

Frankie Pytlak is the deposed title holder. Pytlak had a string of 371 consecutive errorless chances for Cleveland from Sept. 11, 1933 to Sept. 18, 1940. His streak began on Sept. 16, 1943.

Joe DiMaggio, super star of the New York Yankees, had hit safely in 15 consecutive games through last Sunday. On Sunday, Joe went to town, getting four hits in five times up, two of them homers, and one a double to blast in 5 runs and score 3 more against the Cleveland Indians. Due chiefly to Joe, the Yankee wound up on the long end of an 11 to 9 score.

Joe's Sunday spree raised his season average to .352, just two points behind team mate George McQuinn, the league's leading hitter. DiMaggio boosted his batting mark over .300 level on May

78th Engineers Play 83rd Friday

Last team to get started in the Post League will be the 78th Engineers, as they play their first game tomorrow night against the 83rd Field Artillery, which opened up Tuesday night.

Captain Renault, Engineer manager, is all optimism when he talks about the second half. His club finished in a last-place tie with the 204th Truckers during the first half, but he says that things will be very different now.

The Engineers played four practice games during the intermission, and Captain Renault says that the team looked good. Howie Bowen will start on the mound tomorrow, with Hudson ready to go against the 328th Ordnance Tuesday.

John Leitth, the boy from Fredericksburg, Va., continues to play a bang-up game wherever he plays. He has hit safely in the past 10 games and has been improving on the mound. He pitched nine innings against the Phoenix City Cats last Friday night, giving up only six hits.

able to hit a baseball out of sight.

The line drive home-run Ted Williams hit off Kirby Higbe in the 1946 all-star game was only a "wind-blown pop fly," as the Pirate Veterei now recalls it, with his customary modesty. "When Williams hit the ball, I started backing up to take it," he said in Boston the other day. "Then I noticed Marty Marion, the shortstop, backing up to take it. Then I saw Johnny Hopp, the center fielder, backing up to take it. But it was then that I noticed the wind had blown it into the bleachers."

No Award For First Half

Through an error by the official scorer, some confusion arose over whether there was an award to be given for most runs scored in the first half.

The official scorer thought that there was such an award to be given, and it was announced in the Bayonet that George Dickson, Airborne centerfielder, would receive it for having scored 28 runs.

However the Athletic Office corrected the official scoring, pointing out that no stipulation had been made for such an award. It was just left out.

New Schedule Set For Pool Hours

A corrected schedule has been announced for the swimming hours at Russ and Young pools. Under the new program, the pools will be open from 4 to 8 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesday and Thursdays. On Wednesdays and Saturdays the hours will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1 to 8 p. m. Sundays and holidays the hours will be from 1 to 8 p. m., and Fridays the pools will be closed for cleaning and draining.

INFANTRY CENTER HORSESHOW TEAM—

Benning Riders Take Honors At Greenville

Coming out with a perfect score, the Infantry Center Horshow Team came home this week from Greenville, S. C., with a championship, a reserve championship, and four fir t places.

Blue Point, who also scored the jumper championship at the Macon, Ga., show, took the title of jumper champion last week and the reserve champion title went to Reno Jason.

In the knockdown and out jumping class, Reno Jason, ridden by Lt. Gene Barnett, took first place; Blue Point, ridden by Lt. Col. J. R. Moon, was in second; Comack, ridden by 1st Sgt. Thomas A. Fay was third and Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by 1st Sgt. Ray Stone came in fourth.

Blue Point Continues
 In the open jumping class, Blue Point was in first place with Colonel Moon riding and Reno Jason, ridden by Lieutenant Barnett, was in second. Comack, ridden by Sergeant Fay, scored third and Fay was riding Hardluck Jr. when that horse took the fourth spot.

Blue Point scored again in first place in the touch and out jumping class with Colonel Moon riding while Sir Milton, ridden by Lieutenant Barnett, came in second. Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Sergeant Fay, was in third, and Fay was again riding Hardluck Jr. when he took the fourth spot in this class.

Keeping up his records, Blue Point took another first spot in the jumper stake with Colonel Moon as the rider and Reno Jason scored second with Lieutenant Barnett riding. Hardluck Jr., ridden by Sergeant Fay, moved into the third spot in this class and Sir Milton, ridden by Lieutenant Barnett, came fourth while Sunfast Jamaica, ridden by Sergeant Fay, was in fifth.

Fay Show Record Given
 A tally of the results of the Infantry Center Horshow Team's work in recent shows at Macon, Griffin, Atlanta and Greenville chalks up six championships taken at the four shows. Reno Jason and Blue Point have each come out with two championships while Sunfast Jamaica and Sir Milton have each taken one.

First places, including championship stake classes, went to the Infantry Center team 13 times with Blue Point taking seven of the 13, Reno Jason taking three, Sunfast Jamaica two and Sir Milton scoring first once and fifteen second places have been awarded to the Benning team and six third places have been scored. Sixteen fourth places have been won and six fifth place ribbons have been scored.

Blue Point is the high scoring mount of the string ridden in the recent shows with four championships and one reserve championship, and Reno Jason has a score

Bowling Alleys Close For Summer Repairs

Post bowling alleys on Ingersoll Ave. have been closed for the summer and will undergo extensive repairs before re-opening in September, post exchange officials announced this week.

During the summer the eight alleys will be reconditioned, resanded and varnished. New pins and balls will also be purchased.

AOCC 8 Triumphs

Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 soundly defeated Army Officer Candidate class No. 9 in a softball game last week at Stroup field. It was the first game of the season for class 9 and the fourth for class 8.

Both teams displayed good teamwork and coordination, especially between the infield and outfield. Class 8 has won two games and lost two in the current league.

One of championship and one reserve. Sunfast Jamaica and Sir Milton, at the four shows, have come home with one championship each. Blue Point, showing well at every show, has taken seven first, five seconds, two thirds, and three fourths.

Col. Moon High
 The rider's score tally shows that Colonel Moon has been mounted for two championships, ridden for one reserve championship as well as taking six first spots, four seconds, one third and two fourths.

Major George S. Beatty has ridden one champion, two first places, two second places, two thirds, five fourths, two fifths, and one sixth.

Capt. Frank L. Lillyman has ridden two championships, three first places, three seconds, seven thirds, four thirds and one fifth. Lieutenant Barnett has ridden one reserve champion, one first place, three seconds and one first.

Miss Madge Barclay has ridden one first place, two seconds, one third, two fourths, two fifths and one seventh while Sergeant Fay has ridden five first places, two fourths, and one fifth and Sergeant Stone has ridden one second place, one third, and one fourth.

Lawson Fliers Get Good Start

The K. O. punch of George Gorman, Henzel Fansler, and Jack Forbes got Lawson Field off to a very successful start Monday night against the 37th Infantry in the American League lid litter.

The three sluggers accounted for eight of the Fliers' 16 blows and made them good for 17 total bases to lead the Lawson onslaught in a 17 to 7 triumph.

Gorman and Fansler hit successive home runs in the top half of the seventh. It was the second time this season that the Fliers have performed that feat, the other coming in the first half when Frank Wilson, then playing for twin blasts to center. Both Gorman's and Fansler's blasts were a little freakish. Gorman hit a liner over first base and down into the right field corner, where the right fielder, Cox, experienced some difficulty finding the ball. Umpire Harris finally trotted out and retrieved it after Gorman had completed the circuit, Smith and Fray scoring ahead of him.

Home-run Fansler
 Then Fansler stepped up and walloped a line drive into center field. The center fielder, Leach, thought it would drop and started in on the hit, but, instead, the ball continued to rise, finally landing in deep center and rolling all the way to the fence. Fansler completed an unhurried trip.

Paul Fray went the distance for the Fliers on the mound, and, though he was troubled by six Lawson field errors, pitched creditable ball to win.

Jack Forbes, after receiving a slick suit before the start of the game for winning the first half batting championship, got off to a hot start with the second half leadership. Forbes hit safely four times in five trips, doubling once and tripling once before the Lawson attack. He also swiped three bases, including home. It has been his third successful theft of home this year.

Lawson plays tonight against the ISD, second place holders in the

Second Guessing

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ

There's no room in sports for prejudice of any kind. The athlete who would refuse to play with a man of a different color than his own is only expressing his inward fear that he will be beaten.

Adolph Hitler had that fear within himself at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, and he beat a lousy retreat rather than stay to shake hands with Jesse Owens, America's great sprinter and broad jumper.

Ever since Doir Camilli left Ebbets Field, the Brooklyn Dodgers have been looking for an adequate fill-in at first base. Both Howie Schultz and Ed Stevens failed there, and this first base problem has been one of the big reasons why Brooklyn hasn't won a pennant since 1911. This season the Brooks brought up Jackie Robinson, saying, in effect, that winning the pennant was more important than the color of a man's skin playing first base.

We imagine that the 20th Truickers and other teams using Negro players here in the second half of the Beating season feel the same way. Sportsmanship what counts in athletics and you don't have to be white to show it.

Quite a few people have come up to us and asked whether it was possible to arrange a game between the winning team in the post league and the 25th Infantry Bullets.

Watching the Bullets perform on Wednesday nights at Gowdy Field, these fans have been impressed with the spirit and all-around ability of the 25th's nine. They think that a game with the Airborne or ISD would be a good match.

And it's not only spectators who have mentioned this to us, but ballplayers themselves. Some of the Airborne players have said that they would like a game with the Bullets.

With the league schedule ending in early July, and the post team's first game tentatively listed for July 24, there would be plenty of time for such a game.

The teams to represent the National and American Leagues in the All-Star game this summer are going to be picked by the fans, and the Chicago Tribune is boasting of this as a good thing finally achieved. We can't share this enthusiasm.

It seems to us that the people most qualified to pick the best in the league are the managers of the baseball writers, not the fans. Baseball fans will tend to vote for their favorite hometown players, we think, or else for players with established reputations. They will probably overlook a man who happens to be playing good ball right now and deserves the nomination.

For instance, the fans might pick Stan Musial for first base, over Eddie Waitkus, despite the fact that the Cub first sacker is playing better ball than Musial. The fan just won't realize this, while the managers and writers do, because they see all the games. By the same token, Marty Marion might be selected instead of Buddy Kerr, a grave injustice if you consider their present records.

A contributing factor to our cynical outlook on baseball spectators is our observation of some of these fans in a ball park. They can be seen any night over at Gowdy Field, or any other baseball diamond. If a man has a good night, he'll get cheers, but if he strikes the next day, that home run hit the previous day will all be forgotten.

One of the more repugnant types of For Benning fans is the yokel who comes to the park and jeers at the catchers for failing to catch foul balls. The lights at Gowdy make it difficult on a fielder, but these semi-moron types think that a pair of lungs qualify them as astute baseball critics. A ball glancing off their heads would sound just like a drive off Floyd Dooley's bat.

As Mark Anthony said when he discovered that Cleopatra's home had no bathrooms: "Why Cleo, this place is uncanny."

Underground Aircraft Plants Subject Of Study By AAF

A thorough study of the feasibility of underground aircraft factories as an effective means of protecting production from enemy air attacks of the type encountered in World War II is being made at Army Air Forces headquarters in Washington and Air Materiel Command headquarters at Wright Field, Ohio.

Installation of manufacturing facilities completely underground has long been considered one of the most effective protections possible against aerial bombing, but AAF experts are making an exhaustive analysis of the results of Germany's experiences in wartime underground industrialization to determine all the advantages and disadvantages of the system.

The first German underground factory, a rack of precision instrument plant installed in caves at Mulhausen, Thuringia, early in 1917.

Jerries Go Underground

When all-out air attacks began in 1941, Hitler ordered an organized effort to move aircraft factories underground. But, even before these attacks, the production of Peenemunde in September, 1943, Hitler had ordered his favorite project, the production of V-1 and V-2 bombs, moved from Peenemunde into an underground site which had developed into the largest in the world.

However, disrupted conditions under which the Nazis were operating, the lack of time, and the failure to formulate realistic plans in advance prevented the full realization of the underground program.

In actual development of underground construction, the Germans attempted two general types: one a semi-underground structure, intended to withstand the heaviest known bombing attacks; and the other a complete underground plant.

Submarine Pens

One of the semi-underground types was the submarine pen, and was not until the latter part of the war that Allied air forces were able to develop bombs of adequate destructive and penetrative force to damage them.

Generally, these sub pens were massive vaults with huge wall and floor coverages of heavily reinforced concrete. The one at Hamburg consisted of five sections, each locking into the others. It was approximately 500 by 475 feet, with a roof ranging in thickness from 10 to 13 feet. By April 1945, bombs had been developed that could penetrate the roof of this pen and six bombs pierced the roof, killing 40 persons and damaging the equipment.

Nazi Bunker Plants

In addition to submarine pens, the Nazis constructed what was called the Bunker plant, a semi-underground structure that allowed manufacturing operations with comparative freedom from bombing attacks. They were great dome-shaped structures with reinforced convex concrete roofs mine to 18 feet thick, about 80 feet high, and including four to six stories with approximately 1,200,000 square feet of floor space, 80 per cent of which was underground.

Plans for 12 of these bunker type plants were formulated during the war, and work on four of them was actually initiated, but because of lack of manpower, materials and time, none of the projects ever was placed in operation. The Landsburg plant, in Bavaria, Germany, was approximately three-quarters completed at the time of capture, and although designed as a complete aircraft factory, from fabrication through final assembly, only fabricating operations were taking place.

The bunker-type construction probably represented the most suitable type of semi-underground installation designed by the Germans inasmuch as it combined large areas of free floor space, adequate height, accessibility and a certain degree of protective effectiveness.

Nevertheless, these structures suffered from one general drawback—the fear that a new type of bomb would be devised to penetrate the concrete shell.

63rd And 1st Cavalry Plan To Organize Vet Associations

Organization of the 63rd Infantry Division and the First Cavalry Associations are now under way, officials of the two units announced this week.

Membership in the 63rd is being offered to veterans of the division, widows of veterans, members of units attached to the division, and civilians who served in some capacity with the division. Edwin H. Brown, secretary of the association, said those interested in joining the organization should contact Mr. Brown at 184-84 Riverside Drive, Borchardt, L. I., New York City.

An executive committee, headed by Maj. Gen. Verne D. Mudge, has been formed to spur the campaign for active organization of the First Cavalry Division Association. All former members of the unit who desire to become affiliated with the organization are urged to write to Col. Edmund F. Stone, registrar, at 409 First National Bank building, Pomona, Calif.

New Insignia Given to ROTC

Approval of a new shoulder sleeve insignia for members of ground and service type Army ROTC units was announced today by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Commanding General, Army Ground Forces.

The new insignia, using the present Army Ground Forces circular blue, white and red shoulder sleeve insignia as a background, has a gold torch super-imposed in the center and the words "Army ROTC" embossed in gold in the red section.

The design has been approved by the War Department, and the Quartermaster General has been directed to procure the insignia for issue at the opening of the 1947-48 school year.

Adoption of the new insignia will give Army ROTC units their first official sleeve insignia of the shoulder type worn by regular Army units. In the past, ROTC personnel have been issued only an olive drab-and-blue shield to be worn on the right lower forearm of the uniform coat or on the left breast pocket of the OD shirt.

Artillery Range Proves Easy Target For AOCC 6

BY O-C JAS. N. TATTERSALL
 "Drop 25! Fire three rounds!"
 The forward observer was speaking, and over the phone to the battery of 105s went the message. As the No. 2 howitzer fired the first of three rounds, a puff of smoke on a hill 1,000 yards away cleared and the target could be seen flying into the air in a cloud of red dust.
 The voice droned out again: "Mission completed... cease firing!"
 Tin Barrel Objective
 The enemy objective had been an old tin barrel—the forward observer Harold J. Dupuy, a student in Army Officer Candidate class No. 6 and a future Signal Corps officer. The place was the artillery range at Fort Benning, Ga. A flash of orange flame—a direct hit—the stovepipe flying into the air.

This problem is scheduled approximately three times monthly for AOC, Associate Basic and Associate Advance classes. Instructors and gun crews are officers and men of the 83rd Field Artillery and the 571st Field Artillery. Each student fires 12 rounds as forward observer for a battery of 105 mm howitzers.
 AOC class No. 6 fired more than 1,500 rounds during the day. With deadly accuracy the candidates reduced one after another all the targets — tanks, pillboxes and troop concentrations.

Two Can't Live as Cheap As One, Veterans Say

MEADVILLE, Pa., June 5—Allegheny college veteran students are finding definitely that two can't live as cheaply as one. Polled by a service organization to determine the adequacy of government education allowances, single veterans reported their expenses average $86.43 a month while married veterans said their bills run up to $143.60. The government allows single veterans $65 a month; married men, $90. Three-fourths of the veteran students said they have to draw on savings, while others are receiving parental help or using income from outside jobs.

Candidate's War Record Typifies American Soldier

Among the 73 members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 12 none has a war record that better exemplifies the American soldier's endurance and will to carry on than Candidate Jack E. Brady.

Existing in the Army Oct. 22, 1940 at Fort McArthur, Calif., and after a short time with the 319th Aviation Company at Hamilton Field, Brady was sent to the Philippines where he joined the 10th Signal Service Company.

Evacuated to Bataan at the outbreak of the war his outfit was evacuated to Bataan on Dec. 28, 1941, and following approximately four months of combat was ordered to surrender. At that time the company was at Little Dioguo. The Japanese transferred Brady along with 12,000 American and 36,000 Filipinos, to San Fernando, Pampanga.

Candidate Brady reached Shinogawa, Japan, Nov. 12, 1942 where he was detained to a railroad construction outfit. Among the other tasks he was forced to perform was the building of an island at Omori, Japan, which was to be used as a prisoner-of-war camp.

Worked in Steel Mill Upon completion of the Omori prison camp, Candidate Brady was transferred there, remaining until May 30, 1945. In June 1945 he was sent to Camp D-10 to work in steel mills. Liberated in August of the same year, Brady was returned to the States Nov. 3, 1945.

He was hospitalized at Tetter General hospital and later at Dible hospital in California, until Dec. 23, 1945.

After his discharge April 26, 1946, he enrolled in the University of California at Los Angeles. Candidate Brady reenlisted in the Army Dec. 10, 1946, applied immediately for officer candidate training, and was sent to Fort Benning.

"You're not living at the same boarding house any more, are you?"

"No, I stayed five weeks and then found out they had no bath-tub."

Documents Show Fallacy Of Many Hitler Opinions

BY AFPS

KNOW YOUR ENEMY!

This wartime slogan for American troops, if applied to himself by the late Adolph Hitler, might have corrected erroneous beliefs which contributed to his downfall, according to stenographic transcripts conferences with his military staff.

Found recently by allied intelligence men, the reports make known a number of delusions under which "Der Fuehrer" labored, such as:

American GIs are poor fighters and a bunch of rowdies. President Roosevelt will be tried by a Federal Court if he loses the election.

Invasion "Bluff" The threat of an allied invasion is just a bluff.

In a regard to the oft-discussed possibility of invasion, Hitler told his staff it was "absolutely bluff . . . laughable . . . reminds me of a stage play . . ."

Even when Gen. George S. Patton's armored columns were sweeping across the German frontier, Hitler referred to the advance as "a piece of impudence."

Earlier he had erred in judgment similarly. After the first North African battles in March, 1943, he told his Wehrmacht that American soldiers were "nothing but a bunch of rowdies; they cannot stick through a crisis."

Hitler's proposal to forestall Allied invasion of Italy, based on his belief that the enemy scared easily, was to spread rumors of a malaria epidemic to frighten allied landing forces. The documents quote General Jung as warning the Nazi leader the idea was unsound.

During a conference in March, 1944, the transcripts quote Hitler as saying:

"America hasn't got much. It's just jammed together mostly. In any event they have no great centers. I've seen photographs. . . . What a lot of crippled people they have in their armies. A completely uprooted mob wanders about. There's no spirit, no inner strength. They are something impossible."

FDR "Defeat" On Dec. 12, 1944, Hitler is represented by the transcripts as saying:

"If Roosevelt can produce no success, and if he keeps getting deeper in his war commitments, then it is possible he will be defeated. As a defeated president he will be prosecuted by his successor because his financial operations are in such a mess he cannot possibly escape court prosecution."

"An insanely sly trick" is the way Hitler is said to have referred to the appointment of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Supreme Allied Commander. Der Fuehrer went on to explain that if the invasion plans of the Allies went wrong, the British then would be in a position to blame American leadership for failure.

But American leadership did not fail. Nor did American fighting men and the home forces fall short in any way in proving to Hitler he was wrong in saying about them:

"There's no spirit, no inner strength."

Board Seeks To Eliminate Utility Waste

Plans are being made by the conservation board to control utility the consumption of fuel, electricity, and water here in an effort to meet the 1948 quota established by Third Army headquarters.

At a meeting Tuesday, board members made several recommendations involving the use of military police in the enforcement of regulations. It was decided to call upon the provost marshal for permission to use MPs to check the burning of lights at night in unoccupied buildings. Members made a suggestion that any violations could be immediately reported to the engineers and corrective action taken at once. It was also suggested that MPs be informed as to the location of military quarters so that they could extinguish lights which are burning in empty structures.

Limit Use of Water
A resolution was passed limiting the use of water hose to the hours of 8-3 p. m. daily and the recommendation was forwarded to the provost marshal requesting the use of military police in enforcing a new regulation. H. F. Naehr, superintendent of buildings, reported that there is a daily reported loss of approximately 1,000,000 gallons of water on the reservation. He suggested that this could be greatly reduced by controlling the hours housewives may use their garden hose.

Light meters will soon be put into operation to check excess illumination. Col. Harold A. Stewart, most engineer, told members that such a survey had already been conducted in the engineer office and it was concluded that there was no need to burn lights in the building during daylight hours.

Respectful Report
The station hospital representative reported that a survey now underway would be reported before the week-end. Board members said they felt that generally speaking there might possibly be an extravagant use of lights at the hospital.

Col. Stewart made a recommendation that a field grade officer be assigned permanently as conservation officer and report any violations or obvious waste of fuel, or water on the post.
It was also decided that the post engineers would be responsible for the replacement of all electric light bulbs. In that way, it is desired that a closer light could be kept on bulbs and issue could be controlled at the source. Wastage will also be checked against authorization.

Concrete Coal Bins
Mr. Naehr also reported that construction of concrete coal bins were nearing completion and that coal would be moved as soon as possible. This will eliminate saw dust caused by the use of wooden bins without floors which allow the coal to be buried in the ground and become useless.

It was announced at the meeting that a fuel conservation committee, composed of representatives from all the major activities, would be formed this month. All members of the committee will attend the Post Engineer Heating School to be conducted at Fort Belvoir.

Other recommendations made by the board included the use of the Troop Information program to educate.

Infantry Birthday To Pass Quietly At Fort Benning

Fort Benning, the infantry center of the United States Army, will quietly observe the 172nd anniversary of the infantry Sunday, June 15.

According to present plans, the day will pass with no special observance of the anniversary of the day 172 years ago when George Washington was named commander-in-chief by the Second Continental Congress. Since his army was made up almost entirely of infantry units, the day of his appointment has been set aside to pay tribute to the American foot soldier.

Still fresh in the memory of Americans today, is the heroic part the Infantry played in winning World War II. Some 89 infantry divisions fought for victory, and at peak strength there were 1,782,822 infantry soldiers in the service.

From the start if the conflict on December 7, 1941, until its close, casualties totaled 667,166, an average of 38 killed or wounded out of every 100 in infantrymen engaged in the war.

British Army Officers Tour Fort Benning

Maj. Gen. J. A. Cascoigne, deputy commander of the British Army staff, who arrived here late Monday afternoon for four days of conferences, study, and observation at the Infantry Center, is scheduled to tour the Airborne section from 9-11:30 a. m. today.

The British general, accompanied by Col. Prior Palmer, of the British Army, will witness a special artillery demonstration at 2 p. m. at Bush hill.

Friday morning the Britons are expected to visit the communications and automotive sections. At 10:30 a. m. they will see a demonstration of the 57 and 75 mm rifles at Patton range.

They are slated to leave Fort Benning on Friday.

Man O'War, New Diesel Train, Will Be Shown

Man O'War, the Central of Georgia's new Diesel streamliner, will be dedicated and shown for the first time at 10 a. m. Wednesday, June 18, on the siding opposite Doughboy stadium on Vibbert avenue.

High Central of Georgia officials, two vice-presidents from the Budd Co., makers of the streamliner, and two General Motors officials will be present for the dedication. A special broadcast will be made from the train at 3 p. m. At that time Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel will welcome the officials; the 72nd Army band will play, and troops will be interviewed as they pass through the coaches.

The combination lounge-buffet car has been christened Fort Benning, and each of the other cars will be named.

AF Headquarters Remain At GAAB

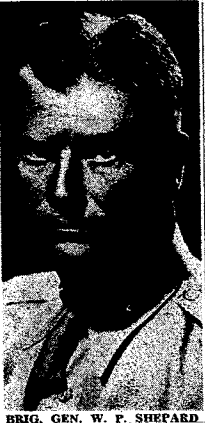

Ninth Air Force headquarters rumored early this year to have been considering Lawson Field its next home, will continue to operate in Greenville, S. C., indefinitely, Lawson Field officials learned last Friday.

According to a story in the Brierley, Greenville AAB newspaper, the War Department's decision to continue operating the huge Army Air Base at Greenville came after South Carolina's governor, J. Strom Thurmond, had signed into law an act enabling the city of Greenville and Greenville county to transfer the site of Greenville Army Air Base to the federal government.

The article stated that Senator Burnet R. Maybank had explained to Greenville civic groups that the War Department's decision meant that the base would be operated as long as the department receives sufficient appropriations from Congress to carry out its program and as long as Ninth Air Force is maintained.

Ninth Air Force has eighteen active bases throughout the country, including Lawson Field.

Four Fort Benning officers are attending military conferences and special ceremonies in England and France during the month of June.

Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Sheppard, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, and Col. Bernard A. Byrne, assistant coordinator of training at the Infantry School, left Westover Field, Mass., June 2 for London to attend the British-infantry conference. The conference will last approximately 18 days. The Benning officers went to London at the direction of Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Army Ground Forces, to represent the AGF.

Another ground forces officer is attending the conference.

Benning Plans Cadets' Visit Here On Friday

Fort Benning's annual West Point Week will open officially Friday afternoon as approximately 300 cadets step out of planes slated to arrive at Lawson Field at 5 p. m. from Fort Bliss, Tex.

The West Pointers will be here for a week absolutely filled with military, social and sports events. Friday evening the social program will open with a formal reception and dance given by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel at the Officers' Club from 9 to 12 when the Cadets will be introduced to a group of young ladies from the Post and Columbus.

Sports Program
Sunday afternoon the sports program will get underway with a polo game slated for 4 p. m. on French Field. The West Point team has been named the intercollegiate indoor champion outfit this year and has undefeated records on or outdoors.

Monday morning will see the opening of the official tour of the Infantry Center for the members of the 1948 class at the Military Academy and the Army will witness a combined Airborne Air Force problem, including an actual briefing. Feature of the operation will be a pathfinder demonstration.

A tour of the airborne section is on the program for Tuesday when the cadets will observe

Roving Trucks Help Cooks

The Third Army Food Service caravan, first of its kind in any of the six Army areas in the U. S., arrived here Tuesday for the purpose of teaching Post cooks, mess sergeants, and subsistence officers the "know-how" of supplying troops better meals on the march.

Headed by Maj. W. G. McIlhenny, Third Army food superintendent, the caravan consists of four enlisted graduates of specialty schools, who are qualified to instruct others in the art of cookery.

These men will show Benning's mess personnel how to cut down waste in the preparation of food and how to utilize left-overs. The instructors will also teach their students how to prepare more "eye appealing" meals and the value of "keeping the garbage can as empty as possible."

Actually, the caravan consists of only one truck, equipped with the latest and most modern cooking utensils. Members of the caravan show moving pictures in the field when normal facilities in a post theater are not available. The truck's equipment also includes a public address system for use in mess halls or assembly rooms and kitchen maintenance equipment which is used to instruct students in making repairs.

Tour Southeast

Fort Benning is one of the many military installations slated to be visited by the five-man food service group during a tour of seven southeastern states. Although the caravan is aimed primarily at Army posts, it is also available to National Guard units, either during summer training periods or weekly armory drills, and in certain instances for joint demonstrations to ROTC and ORC units.

Other members of the team, in addition to Major McIlhenny, include 1-Sgt. Wade R. Gray, 1st Sgt. G. T. Hanlon, S-Sgt. J. M. Donlon, and S-Sgt. A. L. McK.

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND—It's just another Army truck, but inside is equipment with which Maj. W. G. McIlhenny, Third Army food superintendent, and his crew of food technicians will teach Fort Benning mess personnel how to prepare and serve better meals. M/Sgt. G. T. Hanlon, member of the team, is giving the truck the "once-over." The food service caravan, only one of its kind in the Army, arrived here Tuesday as its tour of southeastern installations.

 Benning after lunch Friday.
 General Gascoigne and Colonel Palmer conferred with Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, Tuesday morning prior to witnessing a rocket launcher demonstration at Bickford range at 8:45 a. m. At 10:20 a. m., Associate Basic Class No. 4 presented a mortar demonstration at Coolidge Range for the British delegation, and at 11:50 a. m. the visitors witnessed physical training exercises at Sycamore Field by Army Officer Candidate Class No. 8. Before lunch, they watched an American radar unit in operation at Hook range.
 Special Demonstrations
 Tuesday afternoon the British officers viewed various aspects of infantry training. They witnessed an attack by a rifle company presented by Army Officer Candidate Class No. 7 at Hourglass road and 81-mm firing by Associate Basic Class No. 4 at Glenn Field. At 3:30 p. m. the British party witnessed a special firing demonstration of rifle grenades and pyrotechnics, rocket launchers, and flame throwers at Bickford range.

 The British guests spent Tuesday night in training areas where they saw an infantry battalion in a night attack problem. This was the only night exercise scheduled.
 Atomic Lecture
 They attended a lecture on the medical aspects of an atomic explosion at 8:45 a. m. Wednesday. The lecture was delivered by Lt. Col. A. Cardona, of the general section's medical committee. The remainder of the morning was spent in conferences with British liaison officers, students, and instructors at the Infantry School.
 Wednesday afternoon General Gascoigne and Colonel Prior visited Army Ground Forces Board No. 3.
 Mrs. Gascoigne, wife of the general, accompanied the British party to Fort Benning.

 expected to join them at a later date.
 Col. Roy E. Lindquist, of the Airborne section, has also left the post for London where he will attend the Airborne Commanders conference, slated June 23-26. He will represent the Infantry School.
 Col. Joseph E. Harper, Infantry Center deputy chief of staff, scheduled to arrive in France June 12 to attend a decoration ceremony at Carenton at which time Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, will receive a French decoration to be awarded to the 101st Airborne Division. General Taylor was the war-time commander of the 101st. The event will commemorate the liberation of Carenton. General Taylor and Colonel Harper flew to Paris from Chitopee Falls Field, Mass.

 cate troops in the proper conservation of fuel, electricity, and water. They also requested that the Bayonet cooperate with the conservation drive by providing publicity.
 Emmett J. Gossett, Third Army conservator, reported that Fort Benning was leading all installations in the Third Army Area in conservation, but added that "there is room for improvement." He told the board members that the Third Army Area is also leading all other areas.
 Mr. Gossett informed the board that Fort Benning exceeded her electricity quota by 32 per cent and fuel by 20 per cent in the third quarter of the 1947 fiscal year. At the same time he praised the engineers for the progress now being made and said that it was greater than at any other U. S. Class I installation.
 The target set for 1948 will be approximately 10 per cent to 15 per cent greater than at any time since the beginning of the war, he said. Automatic heating controls are being installed in the hospital's cantonment area and it is hoped to install similar devices in the quarters, Mr. Gossett said. He is making a study of the permanent type barracks to determine the advisability of using the automatic controls there. He is being aided in this project by George H. Deyo, of the Minneapolis Honeywell Consulting Engineer Co.

basic airborne instruction and a highlight of the day will be a parachute jump which the cadets will observe from an aircraft in flight. A glider flight is also scheduled while Wednesday an infantry weapons display will be witnessed along with lectures on the resources of the infantry in organic fire power and new developments in infantry weapons.
 To Witness Attack
 The signal communication system of an infantry regiment will be studied Thursday and a special demonstration of the installation and operation will be presented to the future officers. In the afternoon the visitors will see an infantry battalion in an attack with tanks and a tactical air force operation in support of the attacking infantrymen.
 The official tour will conclude Friday when the morning will be devoted to a demonstration of a supply system within an infantry regiment and the afternoon session will see an infantry battalion in defense.
 Saturday, June 24, the cadets will leave during the morning to fly to Stewart Field, N. Y.

A Wonderful New Stainless Steel Train for Georgia

... Central of Georgia's "MAN O' WAR" built by THE BUDD COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA

It is one of the most beautiful and luxurious trains you have ever seen. And it will be Georgia's very own. For "Man o' War" will operate entirely within the State. Powered by a giant Diesel locomotive, it will provide new, fast schedules between Atlanta, Columbus, Fort McPherson, Fort Benning and Newnan.

Next Wednesday, June 18, Central of Georgia's "Man o' War" will join a distinguished company of thoroughbred trains—the Budd-built stainless steel beauties which lead the blue ribbon fleets of many of the country's foremost railroads.

"Man o' War" is a full brother of the Burlington's famous Zephyrs; the Santa Fe's great Super Chief and El Capitan; the Rock Island's Rockets; New York Central's Empire State Express.

Watch For More News About "Man o' War"

"Man o' War" will be fittingly introduced to the people of Georgia on Wednesday, June 18. Watch for announcements about it. It is an event you'll be sure to want to attend, as civic and military leaders, and railroad men all over the nation, offer their good wishes and congratulations to the Central of Georgia. You are invited to inspect and to ride this splendid new stainless steel train.

The Budd Company, Philadelphia

BUILT OF STAINLESS STEEL THROUGHOUT

Just as quality in a horse is more than skin-deep, so is the quality of "Man o' War." Beneath its gleaming stainless steel exterior, are sturdy frames, side rails, and posts, floor and center sill, all constructed of the same, silvery metal. The Budd Company builds with stainless steel because it is the strongest, toughest metal there is, suited to railway car construction. It is twice as strong as low-alloy steel, and three times as strong as ordinary structural steel. It not only gives you a safer train, but one whose rugged strength keeps it out of the shop and on the job, serving you swiftly, enjoyably, dependably.

A Liberal Education

In April 1942 a university was born—a university that was to have a world for its campus. It was to correct examinations that had the mud of Germany, the sands of Africa, and the dust of Persia on them. Last month that university celebrated its fifth anniversary. That university is USAFI—United States Armed Forces Institute.

From a point of far-reaching influence the development of USAFI is one of the greatest projects in the history of military accomplishment, and certainly the greatest item in liberal education for military men. Not since West Point has there been an educational institution of such proportions for the military.

USAFI was first established to take care of the temporary civilian soldier. Now, however, the Institute is concerned with providing educational opportunities for the Regular Army soldier; for, just as in civilian life, the Army pays off in speedier advancement to the educated soldier.

The Fort Benning soldier is better able to take advantage of the USAFI courses than those at other installations because we have a registration center which offers over the counter service. Practically every course available to civilian university students is offered by USAFI, and in addition the curriculum of the local education program includes three courses in flying: private, commercial, and instruction. This course will begin with the summer quarter.

The success of the registration center at Benning, indeed the entire USAFI organization, depends entirely upon you, the soldier. If you take advantage of it, USAFI will continue its good work. But if you fail, then the Army doubtless will decide that it is not worthwhile. Don't let that happen!

—MIKE FREELAND

Welcome Cadets

Tomorrow a group of young, healthy, and eager American youngsters will arrive here for a brief look around the world's most famous Infantry school. It is the 1948 class of the United States Military Academy.

Fort Benning has always welcomed her Point guests because she is justifiably proud of the part she has played in making America's Army the greatest and her fighting soldiers the best in the world. This impending visit of the 300 cadets, however, should make us feel proud in different ways.

First, we are proud of the traditions of old Fort Benning. We pride ourselves on having one of the world's most beautiful military installations—gently rolling hills, tall pine trees, grass that's greener than that almost anywhere else, magnificent buildings, and well-planned lay-out. We are also proud of our Infantry School, and all its major sections—Airborne school, Officer Candidate school, and Non-commissioned Officer school. We are proud of the men who helped to build Fort Benning into the mighty place it is, who helped to train our fighting soldiers, and who went on to make their names known and respected throughout the world as the liberators of an enslaved world. Yes, the cadets will be treading on hallowed ground.

On the other hand, Fort Benning is equally proud to have the cadets visit here. They do us honor by selecting this Georgia post as a well-rounded installation where they can learn by doing what they have learned through study during the past three years. We can't help but feel a little smug over playing host to this fine group of young men, our true military leaders.

So, to you West Pointers, you men who will some day make military history, you men who have dedicated your lives to serving your country, we say "welcome." We are proud to have you here, and we hope that you will leave here better informed, better trained, and better fitted for your final year at the Academy, than you were when you came.

The Sin of Not Doing'

By
CHAPLAIN LEWIS M. DURBEN
 The jubilant victory song of Deborah, the great female judge of Israel, contains a curse: "Curse ye all who do nothing, because ye have refused to render any help in the time of need. The enemy had threatened the very existence of the country. The call for patriots went out and from all over the land they came save from the little village of Meroz. The people of the little village did not actively aid the enemy nor did they permit him to find refuge within their gates. Their sin was the sin of not doing. They had simply come to the battle when their country needed them. There are persons among you who I think they are good because they do no harm, they forget how great can be the sin of not doing."

As Christians, we believe that every good cause is God's cause. The struggle between the good and the evil is not only the struggle of reform undertaken, every attempt to restrain evil, every effort to subdue and throw bigotry and hatred, every active effort to promote the good and bring about the kindly and loving sway of Christ in the world is a summons to us to do something. Up to the King of kings covers it in our duty to render aid.

Many of the greatest and most serious sins of our age are sins of not doing. Doing nothing usually exerts positive influence for evil. It deprives someone else of our help. The Priest and Levite of the parable did no harm to the wounded man, yet they did him a grievous wrong and sinned most woefully. In the Lord's picture of the last judgment we find a large group of people seated on the left hand of the condemned, not for the wicked deeds they did, but for the sin of doing nothing in not feeding the hungry, not giving drink to the thirsty, not visiting the sick and going to those in prison.

The people of Meroz were comfortable in their homes; they had their own little vineyard, and so decided to let other fight their battles. Because they did nothing they were considered a curse; they missed their share in the song of victory. "No failure but low aim is crime."

Rich Aunt Phillipa: "Robert, I am going to make my last will. I think I shall leave you—"
 Nephew (eagerly): "Yes Aunt?"
 Aunt Phillipa: "Before long."

1. State Bonus: Applications for benefits under the provisions of the State Bonus Act should be filed by eligible veterans, and next of kin of deceased servicemen within the time limitations as established by the states which have authorized the payment for such compensation. (Six states and Territory of Alaska). Failure to file for the payment of benefits may preclude persons from receiving a bonus. Time limitations are listed for the following states: Rhode Island—All applications should be filed with the state board by the first 30 June 1947. (No later than 30 June 1947.) Michigan—No application for benefits under the provisions of the Michigan State Bonus act will be filed or received on or after two years from the effective date of the act 19 March 1947.

Illinois—All applications for benefits under this act must be made to the Service Recognition Board before 1 July 1949 and no payments shall be made under the act except on applications received by the Service Recognition Board before that date.

2. Personal Affairs Program Discontinued: In view of the personnel limitations, the functions of the Personal Affairs Program will be reassigned and reorganized by the various State Affairs offices will be discontinued as soon as practicable, and in any event by August 31, 1947.

The functions now being performed by the personal affairs officers at the various posts will be absorbed by appropriate post and unit agencies; for example, the personnel sections will perform the necessary follow-ups on all allotments, bond deductions and other work of this type now being performed by the personal affairs officers. The Chaplain will assume the functions applicable to his office such as advising men on marital and other similar problems.

Book Shelf

AURORA DAWN
 The latest spiritual novel on adventure, written by W. W. "Aurora Dawn," who follows the tired tenets of successful advertising with the repetition. The dictionary defines aurora as dawn and dawn as aurora. Somewhere in the middle of the book there is even an explanation for the repetition.

Actually, "Aurora Dawn" is literary revision in that the author tries to apologize for what he is going to do. The hero, Mr. Wouk realizes that in many instances the hero's actions are so atrocious, so ridiculous, consequently he is constantly telling the reader that he is merely reciting the history in which we live, just to do nothing is to do evil terribly; for, at least, it deprives someone else of our help. The Priest and Levite of the parable did no harm to the wounded man, yet they did him a grievous wrong and sinned most woefully.

In the Lord's picture of the last judgment we find a large group of people seated on the left hand of the condemned, not for the wicked deeds they did, but for the sin of doing nothing in not feeding the hungry, not giving drink to the thirsty, not visiting the sick and going to those in prison.

The people of Meroz were comfortable in their homes; they had their own little vineyard, and so decided to let other fight their battles. Because they did nothing they were considered a curse; they missed their share in the song of victory. "No failure but low aim is crime."

Everything is working out beautifully for Andrew. He met and fallen in love with the daughter of Aurora Dawn's owner. His former boss has given him a job, has given him up without too much fuss and bother. He is popular at the various posts, and indeed the future looks bright.

Announces Advertising
 The plan at break about here, however, when Father Canfield insists on delivering a sermon, on the subject of denouncing advertising. He got his idea from a speech by Mike Wilde, a famous political pundit whose popularity is based solely on his Bohemian attitudes. He is the only one in the book whose livelihood does not depend entirely upon the whims of the big advertisers. Any man who insists on attempting to talk Father Canfield out of delivering the sermon, who happens from there on makes fairly entertaining reading.

"Aurora Dawn" is not as good as "The Hucksters." It is not as well written, and the situations are not nearly so funny. Mr. Wouk has worked out his subject matter about as well as anyone who tries to satire the advertising game, but it lacks that added touch which distinguishes a good novel from a mediocre one.

The old Army Sergeant and his wife were the bestest table. Said the Missus, "That new Sergeant and his wife from next door sure are very nice people. Only a grunt as the old Sergeant gurgled his coffee. "Everytime he looks out his window and he goes on throwing kisses all the way down the street. Why don't you do that?"

"Me?" snorted the Sarge. "Why, I don't even know her!"
 The Jondilly brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices bread, which rather dismayed her hungry men booters.
 "Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" asked one.
 "Yes, I cut them," came the stern reply.
 "All right," went on the boarder, "I'll deal."

Benning Medic Given Medal

Sgt. Henry A. Thomas, who recently for Major General Hospital at Fort Lewis, Wash., was awarded the Bronze Star June 12 by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Donnell, commander of the Infantry Center.

Sergeant Thomas, who was assigned to the Station Hospital here on May until his departure last week, enlisted in the Army in January 1941 and served at St. Elizabeth General Hospital in Manila until evacuated to Bataan in December 1941. He was on Bataan when the island surrendered and was taken to Cabanatuan Prison Camp in the Philippines.

Outstanding Service

He was awarded the Bronze Star for his service while in the Japanese prison camp. The citation, accompanying the award, states that Sergeant Thomas rendered "outstanding service to his fellow soldiers over a prolonged period despite the most difficult conditions."

According to the citation, Sergeant Thomas "worked unflinchingly and faithfully to curtail the physical and mental deterioration which was becoming apparent among the diseased prisoners, and courageously carried out his assigned duties although suffering from hunger, illness, and exhaustion."

Sergeant Thomas also wears four battle stars on his Asiatic Pacific ribbon, the Presidential Unit Citation, Philippine Defense Ribbon, Good Conduct and Victory medals, American Defense and American theater ribbons.

A fellow walked into a saloon and leaned on the bar. "What'll it be?" asked the bartender. "Give me something tall, cold and full of gin," was the reply. The drink at the bar next to him drew him half erect. "Sir," he said, "you are speaking of the woman I love."

COMING ATTRACTIONS

THE UNFAITHFUL (melodrama) with Ann Sheridan, Zachary Scott, and Lew Ayres. One lie requires another. One deception leads to another. Ann Sheridan learns this as she sees her well-laid plans to hide her behavior from her husband—Scott—slowly crumble before the relentless probing of the police. Recommended for mature.
CYNTHIA (family life) with Elizabeth Taylor, George Murphy, and Mary Astor. School plays—dances—and all the things that are important to a high school girl are denied Cynthia by doting parents and an over-bearing uncle—until the revolution comes. Recommended for family.

COPIACABANA (melodrama) with Ella Raines, Edmund O'Brien, William Bendix and Vincent Price. This murder story is a bit different in that you know the murderer from the start. However, there is no lack of suspense as the criminal cleverly weaves a web of circumstantial evidence around an innocent person. Recommended for mature.

COPACABANA (comedy) with Groucho Marx, Carmen Miranda, Andy Russell and Gloria Jean. With Groucho and Carmen combining their zany antics this ends up as a riot of noisy comedy that makes no sense whatever—but who expects sense from this pair? Recommended for family.

BELLS OF SAN ANGELO (western in color) with Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, and Andy Devine. Fights, music, comedy—even a fox hunt with a raccoon, all go to make up just about the best Roy Rogers picture to come along. Recommended for family.

Newsreel Company Shows Local Units

Units of the 25th Infantry Regiment will soon be seen on the screen by theater going audiences throughout the nation, it was announced by J. C. Zimmerman, photographer for the All-American News Corp., who stopped over at Sand Hill last Wednesday to take shots of activities within the organization.

Wednesday morning, Mr. Zimmerman was at the Sand Hill Swimming Pool where he shot scenes of the first aid classes, diving, and Swimming Instructors Courses. In the afternoon, he followed the Second Battalion to Problem 410, which featured the coordinated action of the Field Artillery, Tanks, and Foot Troops. The All-American News Corp. services 400 theaters on a nationwide scale, with screen news of wide interest to Negro audiences. Mr. Zimmerman estimated that the news is witnessed by eight million persons weekly.

Miss Naehr Weds Mr. Cooper In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Betty Naehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Naehr, became the bride of Ben Hill Cooper Jr., son of Mrs. Ben H. Cooper and the late Mr. Cooper of Columbus, at a double ring ceremony solemnized by a Nuptial Mass Saturday morning, June 7, at the Post Catholic Chapel with the Reverend Anthony J. Connell officiating.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with white gladioli in pedestal baskets and the altar was flanked with burning white tapers in seven branched candelabra and decorated with white gladioli interspersed with white lilies. Palma were also arranged about the altar.

The organist, Mrs. Malone Pace, played "Ave Maria," "The Rosary" and "Paris Angelicus" as the guests assembled and as the first notes of the bridal chorus pealed forth, the ushers, Capt. J. T. Etheridge and Capt. Carlos Lozano, entered, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Marguerite and Theresa Naehr, sisters of the bride. They were dressed in gowns of pink and green marquisette with sweetheart necklines, full skirts, matching gloves and picture hats. Her flowers were a bouquet of spring blossoms and yellow roses.

The bride was exquisite in a white satin gown fashioned with

Coffee Club Meet Honors Member Leaving Post

Mrs. Eddy H. Skeels was the guest of honor at the meeting of the Block 12 Coffee Club last Thursday when the group met at the quarters of Mrs. C. F. King. A highlight of the morning party was the handkerchief sweater for the honoree who will be leaving the Post July 1 when her husband will be transferred to Fort Riley, Kan. The colorful handkerchiefs were pinned to a painted block with the words "Coffee Club" printed on the top and "12" written on one side to carry out the Block 12 theme.

Mrs. King served her guests coffee and homemade coffee cake for the event and decorated with bouquets of mixed flowers featuring pink gladioli. In addition to the honoree, were Mesdames C. J. Eller, Ralph Marwood Clifford Brown, Curtis Fritchman, Garrett French, Morris Bonifay, Charlie Mitchell, John Drew, Rupert Wood, Raymond Farnut, Tommy Campbell, Samuel Taylor, J. H. Moser, Ewald Knuth, John Dobrosky, John Seville, Robert Haig and Miss Shirley French.

Lawson Ladies Slate July Meet

A colorful bridge-luncheon at the Ft. Benning Officers' Club on July 1, will mark the second social event of the Lawson Field Womens Club summer program. Mrs. J. Gearhart, Mrs. H. E. Rehner and Mrs. M. V. Sponenbergs are in charge of arrangements. Members are invited to attend—and reminded—to make their reservations with Mrs. Rehner at telephone no. 3359 not later than June 23.

Col. and Mrs. Robert B. Hill left last week for a vacation trip to North Carolina where they will visit in Statesville, Colonel Hill's home, and other places further north. They plan to be gone approximately three weeks.

a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice long sleeves delicately pointed over the hands and a full skirt ending in a short train. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to the trees back of the club. Orange blossoms and shme carried a white prayer book arranged with a white orchid and showered with the groom's boutonniere. She entered the chapel with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and William L. Grant who acted as best man. Mr. Grant is from New Albany, Indiana.

The chaplain's assistant at the Mass was Mr. Johnny Sephar of Kenosha, Wis.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Naehr entertained with a reception at the Officers' Club where the bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth centered with a large tiered cake and decorated with burning white tapers in silver candelabra. The cake was centered on a spray of ferns intermingled with white gladioli. More than 150 guests were served.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Naehr chose a dress of aqua-blue crepe with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a beige crepe dress with beige accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

During the afternoon the newly weds left for a trip to Daytona Beach, Fla., and at their return will be at home at 3012 Lee street in Columbus. For traveling the bride wore a white swallow tail suit with pink hat and blouse and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Columbus high school, and was formerly employed by the fiscal division at Fort Benning. Her father is a mechanical engineer and has been at Fort Benning for seven years.

The groom entered the Army Air Forces after graduation from Columbus high school and was separated from the service in 1946. He has been decorated with the Presidential citation and the Bronze Star. He attended the University of Florence in Italy and at present is a student at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in Auburn, Ala.

Mrs. Hammond Hostess At Thursday Luncheon

Mrs. H. H. Hammond complimented a group of her friends at a gracious luncheon given Thursday afternoon at the Officers' Club. Mixed flowers were used as the table decorations and covers were laid for Mesdames Warren Gordon, William Evans, Charles Wright, W. G. Atwood, William Roberts, John Moore, S. E. Andrews, Conrad Underdahl, William Cleatham and V. A. Kovalevsky.

Third Battalion Officers Entertain

Officers of the Third Battalion complimented officers of the Student Training Regiment and their wives Saturday evening with a cocktail party at the Officers' Club.

Approximately 160 guests were entertained at the party given under the trees back of the Club. Col. and Mrs. Irvine C. Scudder were the guests of honor.

Mixed garden flowers were used as the attractive decorations and were arranged by Mrs. William V. Church and Mrs. James S. Turner.

Pan-Hellenic Has No-Host Dinner, Dance At Club

With their dinner table set on the cool patio of the Officers' Club, members of the Pan-Hellenic association and their guests enjoyed a colorful buffet supper and dance last week.

Three baskets of mixed flowers were used to decorate the long table for the formal party which was given as a no-host affair.

Those attending the event were Capt. and Mrs. G. E. Campbell, Lt. and Col. and Mrs. F. P. Cassidy, Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. T. Colvin, Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. J. Diaz, Maj. and Mrs. J. T. Mrs. Fritchman Hostess At Lunch For Mrs. Skeel

Complimenting Mrs. Eddy Skeel, she will leave the Post July 1. Mrs. Curtis Fritchman entertained Monday at a luncheon party given at the Block 12 Non-commissioned Officers' Club for a group of friends.

The honoree, who is moving to Fort Riley, Kan., was presented with a designed aluminum fruit bowl by her friends at the luncheon event.

Mrs. Fritchman decorated the table, overlaid with a white cloth, with a mixed bouquet of summer flowers in a wedgewood bowl and white tapers in crystal holders.

Covers were laid for the honoree and Mesdames Grady Marwood, John Scoville, Ralph Tolle, Ewald Knuth, C. F. King, Raymond Faust, Samuel Taylor, Rupert Wood, Harvey Allen, Charlie Mitchell, John Dobrosky, Clifford Brown, Raymond Brown, Hiram Duncanson, Robert Haig, C. J. Eller, Miss Avis Shepherd and the hostess.

Block 12 Club Has Sunday Program

Members of the Block 12 Non-Commissioned Officers' Club and their guests were delightfully entertained last Sunday when a game party was held at the club during the afternoon with a buffet supper as the highlight of the event.

This was the first such Sunday program the club has sponsored, and due to the definite success of the plan, it is expected that the event will become a weekly feature.

School Troops Formal At Club

The Officers' Club was the scene of a gala party Friday evening when approximately 150 guests attended the School Troops formal buffet supper and dance held on the patio with the School Troops orchestra furnishing dance music.

Col. and Mrs. Ben Harrell headed the receiving line and other organization commanders and their wives were also in the line, including Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry M. Grizzard, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Eugene E. Moyers, Maj. and Mrs. D. L. Beaton, Lt. Col. Jesse F. Wheeler, Maj. and Mrs. R. E. Taylor and Lt. Col. and Mrs. John A. Gloroid.

Beautiful floral arrangements were used for decorations for the party which was arranged by Capt. Charles A. Burgess Jr.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. John Scoville took a short vacation trip last week to visit friends in Anniston, Ala. The couple left Friday and returned three days later.

WED IN POST CHAPEL—Miss Mary Lillian Robinson became the bride of S/Sgt. Robert E. McDaniels in a ceremony held Saturday morning in the post chapel.

Miss Robinson Weds Pacific Vet In Beautiful Ceremony

In a simple but impressive ceremony held Saturday morning in the Post Chapel, Miss Mary Lillian Robinson of Ideal, Ga., became the bride of S-Sgt. Robert E. McDaniels, with Chaplain Robert B. Mathis reading the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, W. S. Robinson Jr. She wore a trim white gabardine suit with navy blue accessories and an orchid.

Miss Dorothy Robinson, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a sheer brown dress with brown and white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. The altar was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and fewer few blossoms and for the nuptial music, Miss Margaret Denny played "Ave Maria" and "Salut D'Amour."

Sgt. Carl E. Cockran was the best man and the guests were seated by the ushers, Sgt. Wayne E. Perryman and Sgt. Ernest LaFever.

The couple left following the ceremony for a honeymoon trip to Florida and for going away the bride chose a light blue dress of gabardine with navy blue accessories. The newlyweds will be at home in Columbus.

Out-of-town guests for the event were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robinson Jr. and Miss Dorothy Robinson of Ideal, Miss Mary Higgins of Decatur, and Mr. C. A. Perry, Mrs. Louise Pine, Miss Opal Moore and Miss Soula Green, all of Atlanta.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robinson of Ideal and was graduated from Ideal High School. Sergeant McDaniels is the son of Mrs. T. Grooms of Plant City, Fla., and graduated from Plant City High School. He has been in the Army for the past nine years and served in the Pacific theater during the war. He has been decorated with the Bronze Arrow, and took part in the Philippines, New Guinea, and Mindanao campaigns. The Pacific veteran is now with Company A of the 78th Engineers.

AGF Luncheon Scene Of Shower For Bride-Elect

Ladies of the AGF Board gave a lovely surprise shower for Miss Betty Rudy Lichtenwaller Friday afternoon when they held their regular monthly luncheon at the Officers' Club.

Miss Lichtenwaller, bride-elect of Robert Mirres Talley and who is to be married at the Post Chapel June 14, was presented with miscellaneous shower gifts. Mrs. Jesse Ladd was hostess for the event.

Magnolias were used as the table decorations and covers were laid for the honoree, Mesdames Reuben Jenkins, John D. Fredericks, L. E. Lichtenwaller, Ed Sachs, D. S. Thompson, Ernest Peters, Clifford L. Woodliff, J. K. Ferry, J. A. Luttrell, John Middleston, R. H. Wittamuth, J. G. Stewart, R. F. Blumhagen, Jesse Ladd, L. S. McCarthy, D. A. Roselbaum, D. E. Cleary and Carl Sachs and Misses Janis Adams, Bobbie Wallender and Helen Moore.

Miss Avis Shepherd of Swainsboro, Ga., has been the guest of T-Sgt. and Mrs. Rupert A. Wood recently. She is the sister of Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. Scoville Has Bridge Club Meet

Mrs. John Scoville entertained her bridge club at her quarters Tuesday afternoon when two tables were in play and the guests were served an enjoyable dessert course.

Mixed summer flowers in low wedgewood bowls were used as decorations and the ladies were seated on the porch for the afternoon.

Guests at the party included Mesdames Grady Tole, John Dobrosky, Ralph Marwood, Ewald Knuth, Harvey Allen, Curtis Fritchman and Russell Stow.

Officer Candidates Prepare For Tough Physical Tests

BY O. C. JAMES N. TATTERSALL
To make the grade in AOCs, you've got to be tough—physical—tough. Two-mile sprints, marches, conducted exercises, hand-to-hand fighting, exercises with 400-pound logs—all these make up the hard physical curriculum of the officer candidate.

To test the candidate's physical toughness and agility there are two exacting physical achievement tests. Results of these tests, known to many as the physical agony tests, have an important bearing on the standing of the candidate in AOCs. Every candidate must demonstrate a high degree of physical ability before he becomes an officer.

the tests before them. Not a man failed in AOC class No. 4, and only a few in class No. 5. To surpass the records made by these classes will be a difficult feat, but class No. 6 is determined it will be done. June 11 will see them do or die!

AAF Produces New Jet Plane

The most powerful American turbo-jet engine yet announced, producing a rated thrust up to 3,000 pounds, has been developed by the Army Air Forces by the Menasco Manufacturing Company of Burbank, California. Packing more power than a Diesel electric railroad engine into less than one-fifth of one per cent of the Diesel's weight, the new engine has been designated the XJ-37.

After six years of secret design, development, and component testing by the manufacturer and Lockheed Aircraft Corporation at Burbank, the completed plant is now undergoing static test runs at the Menasco factory. The entire project has been sponsored by the AAF.

The XJ-37 has an extremely small frontal area, facilitating installations in either wing or fuselage with minimum drag penalties or inlet ducts. It can be applied either as a pure jet engine or as a turbine with propeller.

The efficient fuel consumption of the XJ-37 engine guarantees long range and offers a high thermal efficiency.

The new engine was invented by Nathan C. Frye, who is now working on the project at Lockheed. When the project was transferred to Menasco he became director of the company's engine activities.

Constant Practice
Members of AOC No. 6, who have demonstrated their ability in many other ways during the past five months, have been preparing for weeks to test. Scheduled for two weeks before the class graduates. During breaks in classes, after evening studies in hall, or any time there is a pause in the hectic life of the officer candidate, you will find them doing push-ups, squat-jumps, pull-ups, striving to add that extra one which means the difference between excellent and superior. And whenever their busy schedule permits, AAF goes out to exercise, and voluntarily, in group practice on Stroup field.

The class's first athlete in the first test was Lewis J. Ashley, 19, a future Ordnance officer from Phoenix, Ariz. In the ninth week test, Ashley did 52 push-ups, 100 squat-jumps, 62 sit-ups (in two minutes), and 12 pull-ups (in two minutes) for a record. In the second test, Ashley expects to better his performance on every exercise and to set a new AOC mark for squat-jumps.

26 Push-Ups
Each candidate must do at least 26 push-ups, six pull-ups, 30 squat-jumps, 41 pull-ups, and run the 300-yard shuttle run laps of 60 yards each—in 53 seconds.

Though AOCs is a young class with an average age of 21, it contains many older men, mostly battle-hardened and experienced officers. Yet these men, too, have come through the hard physical grind in the best of excellent condition, demonstrating the same endurance that pulled them through on the battlefields of Normandy and the South Pacific.

Grin Determination
Each man is grimly determined to make the best record in his power. Anyone who doesn't pass the physical achievement tests faces the possibility of a screening board, which may expel him from the AOCs.

AOC class No. 6 feels a strong sense of competition with the other classes which have taken

Talent Presented At Variety Show In Service Club

Soldiers at Service Club No. 1 were entertained with a talented variety show last Sunday evening when Pvt. Bill Zeigler, as master of ceremonies, presented a full evening of stars.

Among the numbers on the program were Pete Cook and Sue Rhodes doing tap, jitterbug and tango numbers, Miss Gloria Halpin singing and Jimmy Ward doing favorable attention with several piano selections. Five-year-old Paul Cook was a favorite of the evening with his rendition of "Sue City Sue" and also featured on the program was S/Sgt. Fred Bysel with his harmonica.

The variety show originally slated for next Sunday evening has been postponed until June 22 as Ossie Trawick will present a show this week featuring a hypnotist act.

Dinner Honors Visiting Mothers

Several mothers visiting on the Post were honored at a dinner given Sunday afternoon at the Officers' Club when Capt. and Mrs. John L. O'Grattan entertained.

Mrs. O'Grattan's mother, Mrs. C. J. Engstrom, and the hostesses' aunt, Mrs. H. Richmond, both of Beverly Hills, Calif., are house guests here and were among the honorees.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Richard H. Verheul and Mrs. Verheul's mother, Mrs. Mamie Harrell of Jacksonville, were also present, as well as Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. Ashby Jr., who were accompanied by Mrs. Ashby's mother, Mrs. Fred W. Kent of Los Angeles.

Air Power In '34 Feature Of Next AAF Air Program

Highlights of 1934 will be dramatized on "Flight Into The Past," musical program by the official Army Air Forces band featuring major events in the development of American air power, which will be heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m. Saturday, June 14.

The program, twenty-third in the series by the band, will dramatize the historically important decision to have the AAF then called the Army Air Corps, filed in U. S. Statute in 1926.

Other highlights will include the birth of the Dismal quintuplets, organization of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and the first complete year of the New Deal.

Music on the program will feature the AAF band under the direction of Maj. George S. Howard, of Reamsburg, Penn. It will play music familiar to AAF, including "Cocktails for Two," "The Isle of Capri," "Pomp and Circumstance," the AlLEGRO from "Princess Juanne" and "Elsa's Procession" from Wagner's Lohengrin.

Master Serg. Abrasha Robofsky, of Baltimore, will sing "You and the Night" and the music from the musical "Revenge With Music."

Priest From Atlanta Officiates As Couple Exchange Vows

In an impressive and beautiful ceremony held in May at the Post Chapel, Miss Sara Florence Baker became the lovely bride of Major George Constantine Galas with Chaplain Emmett Jones and Father P. Constantinides of the Greek Catholic Church in Atlanta, officiating at the solemn ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Baker of Panama City, Fla., was given in marriage by her father. Her exquisite gown was of floor length style made of satin with a short train and long sleeves. Her finger tip veil fell gracefully from a coronet decorated with white seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white tube roses and gardenias.

Miss Niki Green of Panama City was the maid of honor and wore a becoming dress of pale pink marquisette and carried white gladioli. The three bridesmaids each wearing aqua marquisette gown and carrying pink gladioli, were Miss Bennie Thompson of Pensacola, Fla., Miss Mary Calas of Louisville, Ky., a sister of the groom, and Miss Margaret Baker of Indianapolis.

Lt. Col. Lyle Fitzpatrick was the best man and the guests were seated by the usher, Maj. J. H. LaGrone, USMA; Maj. J. M. Urban, Maj. J. T. Murphy and Maj. M. P. Dobbin.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. L. H. Averitt and the church was beautifully decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and white tapers in tall, many-candleabra.

Following the ceremony, approximately 80 guests attended the reception held in the main nurses' quarters on the Post where the bride cut her tiered cake which was decorated in white and was set with a miniature bride and groom. The bride's table was decorated with white tapers, gladioli and roses.

The couple went to Warm Springs for their honeymoon trip and are now home at the Plaza Court apartments in Columbus. Among the out of town guests present for the wedding were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Baker of Panama City; and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Galas of Louisville, Ky. The bride has served as an Army nurse for two years and took her training at Hotel Dieu hospital in New Orleans, La. She was at the Station hospital here until the time of her marriage. The groom has been in service for approximately 11 years and was a prisoner of war in the Pacific.

Surprise Party Given By Stars

Mrs. Mittie Ritch, chaplain of the Order of Eastern Star No. 278 on the Post, was complimented with a surprise party in her honor following the Star meeting last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Brown and Mrs. Grady Toile were in charge of the arrangements for the surprise served on a table overlaid with a white and green cloth and decorated with mixed flowers in a green vase.

At the meeting degrees were conferred on two new members, Mrs. Arnie Ates and Mrs. John Myler.

Sterritt Wins Photo Contest

The man who caused a mild sensation by making a clean sweep of first place awards in the School Troops photography contest is Cpl. Graham Sterritt whose entries were judged best in the show by officials of the Officers' Camera club.

The picture that took honors in the portrait class is a detailed study of a member of the 78th Engineer Battalion to which Cpl. Sterritt is assigned. For his nature shot he chose stable life and for sports a horse going over a jump. Corporal Sterritt's pictures were taken with a 120 Voigtlander Bessa, a German camera which he purchased in New York.

The young corporal is the official photographer for the 78th. His interest in photography began at an early age when he bought a Graflex. With it he became photo manager of his high school newspaper, the Jamaica Hilltopper.

Upon graduation from high school, Corporal Sterritt entered New York City College where he started a course in engineering. After his first semester he was listed in the Army and was sent to Fort McClellan, Ala. for basic training. He was assigned to Fort Benning as a member of Company B of the 78th Engineers since last June and has served as battalion photographer since last July.

Cpl. Sterritt's home is in Bellesse, N. Y.

QM Observes 172nd Birthday, June 16

WASHINGTON (APFS) June 11. — The Army Quartermaster Corps observed its 172nd anniversary June 16. It was organized in 1775, a year before the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

In an anniversary address, Maj. Gen. T. B. Larkin, Quartermaster General, pointed out that the mission of the Corps is basic and fundamental to the Army since it provides food, clothing, field shelter, equipment and services that are essential not only to maintain efficiency of the soldier but to sustain life itself.

During the Revolution, the Continental Congress authorized one Quartermaster General and one Deputy whose duties were to supply the rising colonial forces with whatever provisions and supplies they needed.

The first Quartermaster General was Maj. Gen. Thomas Milflin.

Personal Affairs Division To Close

The Fort Benning personal affairs office, as well as all Army personal affairs offices, will be closed as of June 30, Army officials announced this week.

Lt. M. H. Lindstran, personal affairs officer here, reported Tuesday that the work formerly by the Veterans Administration concerning allotments and related problems will be handled by her office which will be distributed among the chaplains, Veterans Administration office in Columbus, and the personnel offices of the various units.

Marital problems will be cared for by the chaplains in the future, and veterans' problems concerning mustering out pay, insurance and bonds will be handled by the Veterans Administration by personnel units.

43rd Division Plans 3-Day Convention

A three-day convention of the 43rd Infantry Division Association will be held Sept. 12, 13 and 14 at the State Camp, Niantic, Conn., according to Brig. Gen. George E. Cole, National Guard (Retired), secretary-treasurer of the association.

During the reunion, officers will be elected, and a constitution and by-laws for the association adopted.

The 43rd Infantry Division, which is now a National Guard organization for Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island, is called the "Winged Victory" Division in honor of the late Maj. Gen. Leonard F. Wing of Rutland, Vt., who commanded the division during its three years of combat in the Pacific theater. During World War II, the 43rd Division was composed mainly of National Guard units from Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Many of the units of this division have had uninterupted service since before the Revolutionary war.

According to General Cole, the division association now has a membership of 1,100. Since a complete roster of the 43rd men who served with the division is not available, any veteran of the division desiring membership in the association or details concerning the convention, is asked to write General Cole at 43rd Infantry Division Headquarters, Room 200, State Armory, Hartford, Conn.

Last night I held a little hand, So dainty and so sweet, I thought my heart would surely break,

So wildly did it beat, No other hand in all the world, Can greater soul bring.

Than the little hand I held last night, Four Aces and a King.

POST-WAR TALE

Story Of GI Ingenuity Recalled By Candidate

BY O-C HUGH A. TROY
 Many stories have been told and will be told, about the amazing ingenuity of the GI during the hardships of war, but one of the most intriguing examples is the story of the railroad station which disappeared overnight.

Medic Awarded French Medal

S-Sgt. Joseph D. Paul, of Phenix City, assistant to the flight surgeon at Lawson field, was decorated with a parade and review at the base last Saturday morning after being presented the French Croix de Guerre with Bronze Star by Colonel Gilbert T. Collar, base commander.

The citation reads in part: "for exceptional services rendered in the liberation of France". The decoration was forwarded to the sergeant recently by the War Department.

The sergeant, a veteran of 19 months duty in the ETO, served in France as chief ward master of the medical department of the 27th General Hospital. He worked with the French people through some of their most bitter war months, but said he was completely surprised by their decoration.

Sgt. Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paul, of 1310 10th St., Phenix City and returned home in October 1945. He reenlisted with the AAF at Lawson Field in March 1946. His wife is the former Missessie Lee Boles, of Macon county, Alabama.

In addition to the French award he wears the ETO ribbon with one battle star, Good Conduct medal, American Defense and Victory Ribbons.

OC Scores 214

Approximately one-half of Army Officer Candidate class No. 1 qualified as experts with the Browning automatic rifle last week.

Leading the pack was Candidate Theobault with a total of 214, and following close behind was Candidate Clifford with 212. The highest score was tallied by Candidate Emery who hit the target for 207. Several candidates wound up in the 200 class, and a number broke 190. Only three men of the remaining one-half failed to classify as sharpshooter or marksman.

candidate John Delaney, now a member of Army Officer Candidate Class No. 9. It happened in Foglia, Italy, in 1944, when Delaney was serving with the 75th Bomb Squadron as a B-29 engineer.

Sets Mess Afire
 With peculiar humor, the people of Foglia were chuckling over the fact that some unknown prisoner-of-war had set the mess hall of the squadron afire and had made good his escape. But, a day or two later, the morning cookbooks were absent to find that their railroad station, a solid and massive building, had disappeared. It was some time before they found the solution.

Not to be out-done in ghoulish fun, the personnel of the squadron, in dire need of some place to eat, had descended upon the railroad station in the dark hours of night and moved it, stone by stone, to their area. As the trucks rumbled back with their loads, construction began. Soon a mess hall of Romanesque proportions adorned a nearby vineyard.

This monument to the ingenuity of the comfort-loving American stood for the duration of hostilities. The Foglians, when the story was finally known, saw the humor of the situation and left it where it stood. And, from the latest reports Candidate Delaney has received, the railroad of Foglia is still in the vineyard.

134 Graduate From Advance Course At TIS

Marking the completion of their course, 134 members of the Officers Advanced Course No. 1 will be graduated Tuesday morning in a ceremony scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Main Post Theater No. 1.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel will be the main speaker for the event to which friends and relatives of the officers are invited. Each officer will be presented with a certificate indicating that he completed the course which opened here September 3, 1946.

Officers who have been in the class for previous infantry units throughout the army and many were called back for this special life to active duty for this course which was presented by the Infantry School. After graduation they will be sent to army units all over the world.

During the ten-months course the officers received training in logistics, tactics, offense, defense, communications, automotive work, staff work and weapons.

AOCO 5 Graduates

Ninety-seven members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 5 became second lieutenants May 5 when Col. Irvine C. Scudder, commander of the Student Training Regiment, awarded certificates of commissions to candidates of the 15th Company. Guest speaker was Col. John H. Gist.

A restaurant sign reads, "We have an agreement with the bank. They serve no sandwiches; we cash no checks."

SUPERMEN—Lt. Elmer G. Sprague, left, and Lt. Hale Baugh, members of the 1946 West Point class, recently set a new post record for individual physical fitness with scores of 496 out of a possible 500.

Graduates of the basic officers' airborne course, both officers rated high academically. Lieutenant Baugh was top graduate, while Lieutenant Sprague placed fourth.

Basic Class 9 Sets Record For Fitness

Basic Airborne Officer Class No. 9 (160 recent graduates at West Point) shattered all existing records during recent physical fitness testing with a class average of 388 points. The previous high-scoring class, B-24, averaged 356 points.

Lt. Elmer G. Sprague and Lt. Hale Baugh, former athletes at West Point, made qualifying scores of 496 to break all existing individual records at Fort Benning. Both failed to establish perfect scores by dropping one-half second during 300 yard run.

The previous individual score of 492 was shared by four individuals.

The five events used to test students and number required for 100 points are: Pull-ups, 20; squat jumps, 75; push-ups, 54; sit-ups, 179; 300 yard run, 44 seconds. All five events are completed in one test period.

Physical efficiency scoring tables made it possible to score each man's total score. The data from which these scoring tables were derived were based upon the performance of troops in good physical condition. The mean of average score is 50 points, and the range is from zero to 100 points. Thus a score of 50 represents the average score of individuals in good physical condition.

Many thousands of officers have been tested during the past year at Fort Benning and various camps in the United States, but it is believed that the above average has never been surpassed.

River Closures

The Chattahoochee River will be closed to all traffic and navigation from 7:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. June 13 through 17 from 8:30 p. m. Bradley's Landing to Wright's Bar; Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, announced today.

Night School Quarters Will Be Expanded

An expansion move to facilitate the large attendance expected for the summer quarter at the Infantry Center vocational night school has been completed this week with the new location arranged between the reception center, Post Exchange and the Post Laundry.

The vocational school here is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the world and offers every soldier an opportunity to extend his education.

Race For Victories Still Keen Among Idle Hour Speed Drivers

Bob Johnson still knows his way around the Idle Hour midget car racing strip, and has notified the new arrivals that any awards they win will have to be earned. Johnson, one of the most popular of the drivers took the feature event last Friday night and will be back this week hustling around the track again.

Johnson, along with most of the other racers, was lucky last week in keeping out of danger on the rugged south turn, which has cost owners of the cars more than $500 this year in repair work on the speedy little gas buggies.

Only one major crash occurred last week, and it was a thriller, since three cars piled up at the south curve, with the No. 2 car which caused the accident, coming out of it first and going on to win third place in the Australian pursuit. Two other cars which followed the No. 2 machine into the crash were not so fortunate and had to take time out for repair jobs, but only No. 7 was damaged so badly it could not compete in the feature event.

Frank Blalock, the veteran star, won the feature in a stirring race and will be back Friday night to attempt to score his second straight in the feature. Blalock feels his luck, which deserted him in recent races, has now improved, and if he continues to get only a fair share of racing luck he predicts he'll be the man to beat for the cash honors in the future.

Jimmy Reed, a native of Indianapolis, where he first got the racing bug by watching the annual Indianapolis speedway events, has been unable to find the winning combination, but has advised his rivals he'll stay on and grab some important victories once he puts his car in top condition.

More drivers are appearing here each week, and if the summer season develops as expected, one of the strongest fields in the south will be competing for honors in the near future. Several top racers, now driving in the east and midwest, have contacted Promoter Alex Brewer, and have asked to come here. Promoter Brewer has told them to come along.

Swimming Team Begins Practice Monday Afternoon

With the Third Army Championships two months away, the Fort Benning swimming team opens up practice sessions next Monday afternoon at Russ Pool on Main Post. Those interested in trying out are asked to come down to the pool then between 2:00 and 6:00.

LT Walter H. Murphy, coach of last year's Doughnut team, which topped the Seventh Army Championships, plans a long and intensive training period to get his team in shape.

No one from last year's team is back, and that leaves the field wide open for newcomers. Past experience is not necessary and anyone who shows promise will be kept on the team.

Practice will be held every week-day afternoon at Russ Pool. Those who can not attend the opening session on June 16 are asked to call Lt. Murphy at 2562.

R & R Club Defeats Airborne Reds, 10-5

In a one-sided contest, the R & R Club of Columbus trampled the Airborne Reds of Fort Benning in a 10-5 victory last Wednesday. This was the R-Reds' second defeat in eight games this season.

After getting off to a good start by singles by Liddell and Ohnesorgen, which were brought home by Bredt's two bagger, the Reds allowed the R & R Club to forge ahead on their errors. The rally near the end of the game failed to overcome runs made on earlier errors.

On the mound for the victors was Rivolta, with Wyatt catching. The Reds' loss was shared by Ohnesorgen and Spoon, Liddell behind the plate.

Airborne Rips ISD For 3rd Time, 16-7

A six-run Airborne sixth inning broke up a tight game Monday night, as the Troopers routed the ISD 16-7 for the third straight time this season.

Up to that point the score was 4-3 in favor of the Profs, who scored three times in the second and once in the third. Chick Shiver was on the mound for the ISD, and he struck the big blow in his own cause by singling in two runs.

Chick turned in a super job on the mound in these first five innings, allowing but one hit and striking out eight Airborne batters. Only one of the first three runs scored against him were earned, two coming across as the result of errors by Bill Taylor, who started at second base.

Floyd Dooley, the Airborne pitcher whom Shiver hit struck out twice before, started the sixth with a ground single off the handle of his bat. He took second on a passed ball and came home with the tying run on Bob Kinard's ope base blow. Frank McGowan, who got on base every time he was up, beat out a bunt down the first base side of the mound, sending Kinard, who had taken second on the throw to the plate, to third.

Shiver Cleared After McGowan had stolen second, Shiver cut off a run momentarily with a great play on Jim Stutler's smash through the box. Tommy Gallagher, who had the only hit off Shiver up to this inning, then poked a base-clearing single into centerfield to drive in his second and third runs of the game and to put the Airborne out in front 6-4.

Actually, Shiver only deserved to have one more run racked up against him in this inning, but his support cracked behind him and let in two more. Pritchard went out short to first, Gallagher taking second, George Dickson sent the Trooper catcher home with his first hit of the game to make it 7-4.

The next batter, Ralph Terry, slapped a single off right field and when Junior Wilson booted the ball around, Dickson came all the way home. Terry tried to go to third on the play, and the relay from the outfield had him beaten. However, third baseman Bob Johnson let the ball get through him and Terry went home with the sixth run of the frame. Airborne led, 9-4.

IT'S GOODBYE TO BENNING FOR FLOYD—This is Floyd Dooley's last week in the Army, as the big Chicago slugger reports to the separation point next week, playing his last game with the Airborne against Lawson Field Monday night. Here he is shown receiving three awards from Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel just before the Lawson Field-37th game which opened the second half of the league in runs-batted-in, home runs, and was tied for the lead in triples. Last year he was a pitcher with the post team. He leaves with the good wishes of the all American League pitchers. (Signal Corps Photo)

With most of the heart taken out of him, Shiver got one man out in the seventh and then gave up a walk and a single. Manager Ike Silcox then decided to remove him, bringing in Wiley Weldon from the bullpen. Shiver went to right field in place of Wilson.

Having absolutely no control at all, Weldon proved to be no relief. His first act was to pitch wild, bringing in McGowan from third base, and when Seymour was a trifle tardy in retrieving the ball, Stutler came in all the way from second.

The Profs got three runs back in their half of the seventh, as Bob Johnson drove out the only extra-base hit off Dooley, a ringing triple down the right field line. Weldon, however, seemed to be determined not to let the ISD tie up the game.

After getting two men out in the eighth, he was hit for a triple by Kinard and a single by McGowan. This appeared to rattle him, and he walked the next two batters and hit Pritchard to force in a run. A double by Dickson and a wild throw to third by Seymour emptied the sacks and the Airborne had its final five runs.

Floyd Dooley went the whole nine innings for the Airborne, giving up ten hits and four earned runs. He pitched six scoreless innings. Dickson, McGowan, Kinard, and Gallagher each got two hits, with the first sacker working his way for three walks for a perfect night. Mac scored five times and stole four bases, stealing home on Shiver in the second inning for the first Airborne run.

For the ISD, Burnett, Burt, and Taylor hit down to the second base and right field continue as sore spots in the ISD line-up. When Shiver is pitching, there is no one to play second; and when Lehner is pitching, Lauve has to play first and the Profs are weak in the outfield.

The usually-impeccable Profs

328th, 78th Tie For Loop Lead

At the end of the first week of play in the National League, the 328th Ordnance and the 78th Engineers were tied for top honors with one win apiece.

In the League opener, on June 5, the 33rd FA outlasted the STR Rifles to win 12 to 11. Heistand, who was scheduled to start for the STR arrived late and Ohviert had to take his place. The Artillerymen banged the substitute for a run in the first and eight more in the second before Heistand could come in.

The STR pecked away at the lead until, in the last of the ninth they were trailing by four runs. They launched a three run rally on singles by Zovath, Mink, Tita, and Church, but Pitcher Gene Tkac of the 33rd stopped it in time, forcing Ed Carney to ground out with the tying run on third an dthe winner on second.

Coy Hills Run June 4, the 328th pushed two runs across in their half of the ninth on an error, a walk, a single by Glover, an another error on Armstrong's ground ball to short to beat the 204th 5 to 3.

Boland of the Ordnance had given up only four hits and no runs in the first seven innings, but in the eighth singled Ed Watkins, Boston, and Horton, and a three-run homer by Walsh tied the score. The 204th got their final run in the ninth when Feeler walked and worked his way around on a pair of wild pitches and an error by the shortstop. Coy led the 328th attack with a home run and a double.

On June 6, the 78th Engineers rose up and knocked the 33rd FA down 18 to 9. Right Fielder John Leitch of the Engineers paced the 16 hit onslaught with four base knocks, one a triple. The Engineers scored in every inning but the second and the sixth.

Seven From Bowen: The 33rd got seven of their runs off Bowen in the first two innings, but Hudson came in and held them scoreless till the eighth when they tallied two more. Hudson got credit for the win.

On Saturday, June 7, the STR belted two 204th pitchers for 13 hits and 15 runs to win 15 to 8. Stewart started for the Rifles but was knocked out in the third when the 204th got five runs. Duceaux relieved him and went the rest of the distance, giving up a run in the eighth and two in the ninth. Duceaux got credit for the win. Ed Carney paced the STR attack with three hits, one a double.

HOT SUN FAILS TO FAZE 756th

The 756th Tankers are mad at the schedule-makers. It seems that with the exception of one game on June 19, the Tankers play all their contests in the second half on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Thus, the men on the team will be giving up their only free afternoons and will have to play out in the hot sun all the time.

However, despite this apparent disadvantage, the Tankers looked every bit a first-division club in their first two games. They dropped a close 8-5 game to the Airborne Battalion a week ago Wednesday and whipped the 37th Infantry 9-3, last Saturday. They were scheduled to play Lawson field yesterday.

Led 5-4
Against the Airborne, the 756th scored five runs in the third and fourth and led, 5-4, up until the eighth. The starter Ken Watts weakened and the paratroopers pushed across three runs. An unearned marker was chalked up against Hubert Martin in the ninth.

The Airborne scored its first four runs with the aid of only two hits, helped along by Watts' wildness. The left-handed first-half strikeout king walked two in the first, one in the second, and three in the third. In the fourth, fifth, and sixth he pitched shutout ball, allowing only two hits and one walk. But in the eighth three singles, a sacrifice hit, and a base on balls forced Watts to retire in favor of Martin.

MARTIN-BARTOSZEK COMBO RIPS 37th—Hubert Martin won his first victory of the second half last Saturday, beating the 37th 9-3. His battery mate, Ben Bartoszek, helped along with three hits in five trips to the plate.

Dick Gerhart, the league's first-hat ace, was raked for ten hits and three earned runs by the Tankers, with Watts and Dacklin leading the attack with three hits apiece. The only extra-base blow of the game was Cooper's triple, which skidded past Griffin in right field.

Playing their first errorless game of the season, the Tankers pointed out thirteen hits in routing the 37th, 9-3. The Vets' starting hurler, Thomas, was belted out in the first inning.

Hubert "Kilroy" Martin scattered fifteen hits, and, with excellent support in the field, went the whole nine-inning distance. The Tankers never fielded so brilliantly before. Cooper was off center field in taking five fly balls, Jameson cut off two runs with a fine catch of Roberts' liner in the first, Watts came up with a great play on Cox's vicious grounder, and Rudy started two successful double plays.

At bat, Ben Bartoszek and Jose Martinez hit safely three times, while Paul Dacklin smacked two triples, and Ken Watts powered a home run and a single.

The bottom part of the Tankers' line-up is weak, and it's the middle section which has had to carry the burden. Watts and Martin were the two steady, hard-working fingers, and if the fielders continue to play good ball, the Tankers will be a safe bet for third place, and a long-shot for second.

Wheelers Drop Two In A Row

Six new faces appeared in the starting line-up of the 204th Trainers when they opened their second-half schedule against the 328th Ordnance a week ago Wednesday.

The Wheelers lost, 6-5, and then dropped their second in a row Saturday to the Student Training Regiment, 15-8.

Show Hustle
It wouldn't be fair to give up on the 204th yet, despite these two first losses. The club showed a great deal of hustle on the field, almost managing to knock off the 328th in the late innings, and leading the STR, 5-0, in the early stages of the game.

Pitching appears to be the big headache for the 204th in this half, with only Doyle Beeler to be depended on for a creditable performance. Foot holding still has a grip on the team also, as nine errors were committed in the first contest and six in the second.

Walsh Is Hero
At the bat Walsh and Horton, two holdovers from the first half, are leading the way. Horton, playing left field, went two-for-four and three-for-five. Walsh was the 204th hero in the 328th encounter, hitting a double and a homer. His four-base clout was hammered with two men on and tied the game up at 4-4 in the last of the eighth.

The 27th came to bat in the top of the ninth and scored twice by the assistance of four fielding errors. The Trainers could tally only once in their half of the ninth.

STR Scores 6
Given a 5-0 lead in the third, Love, the starting 204th hurler, couldn't preserve this winning margin in the STR scored six runs in its half of the third and Feeler had to come on in relief in the fourth, when five more runs were scored against the Wheelers. The 204th plays the 78th Engineers this Saturday afternoon and will be looking for its first victory.

Profs Back In Second After Airborne Defeat

Scoring a thrilling 11-7 triumph over Lawson Field last Thursday with a seven-run ninth inning, the ISD Profs tried and failed for the third time this season Monday to knock off the Airborne.

They find themselves in a familiar spot now—second place—and are making plans to defend that position against the 756th Tankers, Saturday and the 37th Infantry Wednesday.

ISD Meets Airborne June 25
Next June 25 will bring on the last ISD-Airborne duel and the Profs can only hope to have the best laugh of the then Dooleyless Airborne.

The Lawson Field game is something the Profs can boast about, at least in time to come. Going into the first half of the ninth, the Filers held a 3-4 lead. Lefty Lehner opened the inning with a short fly center that should have been the first out, but Walker dropped it to give the ISD a life.

He sacrificed Lefty to second, Lauve filed to right for the second out and that put it up to shortstop Blondy Burnett. Blondy had gone four times without a hit already, and that just wasn't natural. So, as almost everyone in the park expected, Blondy cracked a sharp single to left to tie up the game.

Starts This Grounder
Still Blake, the Lawson left-hander who pitched such a good game, should have gotten away without too much trouble, but he hit a grounder to second. Collins, however, couldn't come up with it and there were runners on first and third. That really opened up the floodgates.

Chick Shaver teed off on a pitch and smacked it to left-center for a triple. Taylor followed with a single, his third hit of the game, and that was all for Blake. Paul Fry came on, but he couldn't get that last out before hitting Seymour with a pitch, getting rapped for a single by Johnson and a towering double by Lehner. That was it, ten runs on five hits, with two out.

This slam-bang finale also featured the first Gowdy Field fight of the season. When Chick Shaver came in to score on Taylor's single, he became embroiled with the Lawson catcher, Smith. Shaver claimed that Smith knocked the plate, and Smith said that Taylor gave him the shoulder. They were separated by their teammates and evicted from the game.

Struck Out 12
Lefty Lehner opened on the mound for the ISD and pitched a good game. He gave up six hits and struck out twelve.

First place seems out of the grasp of the Profs, mainly because the team isn't as well-balanced as the Airborne club. Second base and right field come up again and again in crucial moments to plague the team. Until they can fill these stop-gaps, the Profs will never be able to challenge the Airborne.

Chick Shaver has been carrying around a big load on his little shoulders. In addition to pitching every other game, he's been cutting off runs with some stellar fielding on the mound and at second base. He's batting .428 right now and leads the club in runs—batted in. Floyd Dooley thought he could fool him on an 0-2 pitch by breezing it by him, but Chick hit it back through the box for a two-run single.

Bill Taylor is back in action, and while he's no revelation at second base and probably won't play there anymore, he's the club's leading hitter with a .555. Blondy Burnett and Lefty Lehner continue to show the form that has landed both of them on the most team in past years.

Herb Lauve is in a bit of a slump right now, and Woody Burt, although he is getting hits, isn't hitting that long, hard ball that he is capable of.

The descending paratrooper remembers the instructor's warning about "relaxing" when he actually hits Mother Earth. "Roll with the fall — it saves broken bones". The same principle holds for trees, too. That's why Richmond engineers conceived the idea of Relaxed Performance in trees. This construction, plus a reserve of elasticity for the unusual load demands, is what makes Richmond Trees ride easier and last longer.

Troopers Make It 18 In Row

BY MILY MOSKOWITZ

Extending its winning streak to 18, the Airborne Battalion is the only undefeated team left in the American League and seems to be well on its way to taking the second half title.

The Troopers had to come from behind in both of the second half contests they've played so far. A week ago Wednesday the 758th Tankers threw a scare into the Airborne's lap by going into the eighth ahead, 3-4. But a three-run rally in that frame iced the game for Dick Gerhart, who went the route in taking his first victory of the second half.

Praise For Kinard

There simply isn't enough that can be said about the play of Bob Kinard, the Airborne second sacker who is batting in the fifth slot now. A murderous clutch hitter, he is as cool as ice at the plate or on the field. He is supposed to be a catcher, but is playing the best second base on the post.

Joining the club late in the first half, Kinard batted .410 in the games that he appeared in, going 11 for 25. Although he hit in the eighth spot, he drove in thirteen runs.

So far, in the second half, Kin-

STARS IN ISD GAME—Tommy Gallagher, Airborne catcher, played a bang-up game against the ISD Monday. He was on his toes behind the plate and rapped out two singles to drive in three runs. He became ill in the sixth inning, but finished the game.

ard is slugging at a .500 pace and has yet to make an error in the field. He broke up the 756th game with a two-run single in the eighth and started a double play in the seventh that got Gerhart out of a jam. In the ISD encounter he smashed the hit in the sixth that tied up the game and started a five-run rally in the eighth by clubbing a high, inside pitch down the right field line for a triple.

McGowan Batting .500

Frank McGowan is batting at .500 now too, but he's been up only four official times. The ex-Marine has been working opposing pitchers for walks and has been using his speed to beat out bunts and steal bases.

After going hitless in the Tank game, Tommy Gallagher came through with two timely hits in the ISD contest. Paul Bonair, the team captain and shortstop, is in a slump, having garnered only one hit in ten times at bat. Jim Stutler is swinging a big bat, but looks unsteady in the field. Pritchard, as usual, looks fine in the field, but is weak at the bat.

The Airborne plays the 37th Infantry tonight and Lawson Field next Monday night. Gerhart will probably go against the Vets, with Dooley making his farewell Fort Benning appearance in the Lawson game.

Clubs To Resume Hot Ball Rivalry

Resumption of one of the hottest baseball rivalries in the Fort Benning sports sector takes place at Golden Park Sunday when the vaunted Columbus Cubs engage the 25th Combat Team Bullets in a double-header, with festivities scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

Since their defeat earlier in the season by the Bullets, the Cubs have made several important changes in their line-up and are bent on being the first local team to break the Bullets' undefeated string in Golden Park.

Sunday's game will also be featured by a local sports brother act when the Bullets' leading batsman, Rightfielder Eddie K. Bolin, steps to the plate in an attempt to solve the curves and speed of his brother "Speedball" Baldwin, Cubs' hurler.

If I do most of my writing in taverns that makes me a joint editor does it?

WILL MISS PUNCH—Little Hirschel Fausler leaves this week for a new assignment at Greenville, South Carolina. No pitcher has been seen lamenting over this bit of news.

Much sought after are girls with blue eyes and greenbacks.

He swore that he loved her, that he'd go through Hell for her—and now that they're married, he's keeping his promise.

37th Sinks To Cellar Spot

The 37th Infantry players have established themselves firmly in the cellar of the American League, and unless they come up with a pitcher that can go the route, an infield that can prevent ground balls from going into the outfield, and some hitters that hit with men in scoring position, they will remain there.

The 37th's last game, against the 756th Tankers, illustrated the need for clutch hitters, clearly enough. The 37th hit safely 15 times during the nine inning struggle, and could only push three runs across the plate, while the Tankers managed to convert some of their 12 blows into nine runs and win the ball game.

Feed Insured

Thomas, a newcomer, was the starting pitcher in that game, and was discovered that, although he couldn't throw the ball into the strike area very often, the ones he did get in usually went right, out again with base hit written all over them. He lasted two-thirds of an inning, and was relieved by Hal Grinols.

Grinols' foot was injured in the first game of the season, and the injury was obvious when he pitched, but he did superlatively for 7 1-3 innings, giving up only four hits and one run, that as a homer by Ken Watts which dropped in deep center field and was recovered by the 37th left fielder, the center fielder apparently never having seen it. But in the ninth, Hal gave out, and was touched for six hits, including a triple, and four runs, to ice up the ball game for the Tankers.

Individual standouts on the Vets are not too many, but there are some. Greer, who can play nearly anywhere, but has been operating at third base in the second half, has been excellent. His defensive work has been steady and sometimes brilliant, and has but spoke with authority in the Tanker game when he got four hits in five trips.

Tonight at 8:15 the Vets will reform against the Airborne Battalion, present league leaders. The starting pitcher is still in doubt, though the outcome of the game is not.

Every Friday Night Is Race Night AT IDLE HOUR PARK

BY MURRAY HARDING

The play is, apparently, the thing in Benning baseball of late and when we refer to play we really mean drama. Catcher Smith of the Lawson Field Filers revealed a surprising thespian flair in the sixth inning of the Lawson-LSU game a week ago.

We know most of you saw it, but we cannot resist the temptation to reproduce the little scenario that took place. So, with your kind permission:

THE CAST
 Baker a batter
 Smith a jockey
 Roddy an umpire
 Lehner a pitcher
 Seymour a catcher
 Onlookers
 (As we fade in on a dimly lit stage, we find we are on a baseball field. It is the last half of the fifth inning, and a team called the Lawson Field Filers is at bat. Two are out and Baker, the Lawson third baseman, is at the plate.)

The pitcher, Lehner, winds up, winds and then the ball comes. The ball is going straight at Baker's head. Baker hesitates a moment, then the self-preservation instinct takes over and he throws himself in the dirt. The ball whizzes over his head, strikes near his hat, and ricochets into the screen behind the plate.)

RODDY: Fowl-ball Steerike wun!

(Smith rushes from the dugout to Baker's side. Baker is still seated on the ground, gazing dazedly at Roddy.)

SMITH: (removing Baker's cap and viewing with concern what he finds) Lie down. You'll be all right in a moment.

BAKER: Huh?
SMITH: (loudly) Jees, what a knock. You mighta got a fracture.
BAKER: (gloating on) Soy, am I? (He walks around in circles, while Smith continues to massage his head.)

ONLOOKERS: (puzzled) What's a matter, Smith? Has he got a hangover?

SMITH: (with concern) Feeling better, kid?

BAKER: (shakes head, tentatively) Yeah, guess I be ok.

SMITH: Take first, kid. Take first. (He accompanies these words with suitable pump movements.)

SEYMOUR: Where does he think he's going?

RODDY: Steerike wun! (He bats Baker and motions him back to the plate.)

(We fade out on a protesting Baker and a vehement Smith.)

We would like to be able to tell you that Baker, stung by Roddy's double, returned to the plate and hit a home run, winning the contest for dear old Lawson, but our records tell us that he struck out. Such is life.

Nevertheless, we don't think Smith's stellar performance should go unrewarded. Possibly a suitable presentation could be made at the end of the season, such as a makeup kit (in line with the A & R office's penchant for practical rewards). Smith is a trapper in the finest sense of the word.

There was an article in the Sporting News not so long ago, in which a baseball writer bemoaned the fact that had made him a baseball scorer instead of a normal human being. We are in full accord with his sentiments.

Last week, there was an interesting case. The batter hit a live drive right at the second baseman, about knee high. The second baseman let the ball get away from him, and the batter arrived at first safely. We scored it as an error.

After the game, we ran into the player who had hit the ball. He asked us how we had scored it, with an unmistakable overtone of concern in his voice. We proudly announced that it was an error, only to discover that our view was not universally shared by the players.

The victim of our shortsightedness smiled faintly.

See how we could be so blind as to give an error on a line drive that the fielder had to pick up out of the dirt. That, he said, was an almost impossible play to make. He left us with the impression that of all the scorers he had ever seen (and there were many, he assured us) you-know-who was undoubtedly the worst.

Later, another member of the same team wondered how we could give an error on the play, when the fielder had had to go so far to his right for the ball.

Other players from the same team commented that the only thing they had in common was that we were wrong in scoring it an error.

We ain't never been right yet. It's depressing.

He shot it out with two M. P.s in a downtown alley Saturday night. He won 12 bucks.

Angry Parent: "I'll teach you to make love to my daughter."

G. I.: "I wish you could, Frankly, I'm having a hell of a time."

SMITH, Lawson Field Backstop

Court Champ New Club Pro

Chuck Evert, nationally-known tennis player, and former Fort Benning singles and doubles champion, will be the tennis pro at the Officers' Club for the summer season. It was announced today by Col. (ret.) Ralph E. Tibbets, secretary.

Evert, during his vacation from Northwestern University, where he attends law school, will be available daily at the club to teach, give information on equipment and resting racquets.

Well-known player throughout tennis circles, Evert was at Fort Benning in 1944 and 1945 and was a tactical officer at Harmony Church and classification officer at The Infantry School. Afterwards he saw duty in Japan and was separated from the army in 1946. Since then he has been a life in Normandy where he was tennis coach at a northern college.

At Tam O'Shanter the new pro is a former national ranking amateur player in the boys' junior and men's classes, and was Midwest intercollegiate champion for two years. After his graduation from college he was tennis pro at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Chicago for three years before the war.

The former infantryman has specialized on teaching junior boys and girls and has coached several players to national championships.

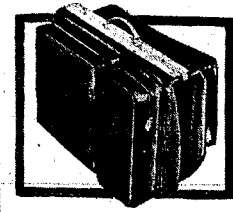

On Notre Dame Team Evert comes from a family of boys all well-known on the tennis courts of the United States. Jimmy Evert, his brother, is a former national boys' and junior champion and was ranked eleventh in the country in men's singles in 1942. He has just returned to competition after getting out of service and is now No. 1 player at Notre Dame University.

Another brother, Jack, lost his life in Normandy where he was serving with the 49th Paratroopers. He had been the Illinois intercollegiate champion.

Wild Ninth-Inning Tally Spree Gives ISD Victory

The Lawson Field Fliers were one out away from their second straight league victory last Thursday night. They were leading the ISD Pros 3 to 4 in the first of the ninth. There were two outs and the potential tying run in the person of Lefty Lehner was perched on second base. He got there when the center fielder dropped his fly ball and had then been sacrificed down.

Then Blonnie Burnett smashed a hard single into left field, sending Lehner across the plate and igniting the whole ISD team, because before Paul Fry could get that elusive third out, six more runs had crossed the plate, icing the ball game for the Fliers. They finally won, 11 to 4.

The Fliers had gotten their first victory three days before by beating the hapless 37th Vets 17 to 7. At the end of the two games, the most potent Lawson batters were, as expected, Herschel Panter, Jack Forbes, and George Gorman, although Gorman missed the second game. Panter had hit safely 5 times in 9 trips, including one run, and Forbes had a .600 average with 6 for 10. Three of his hits were for extra bases, two triples and a double.

Long Frank Wilson heralded his return to the lineup in the second game by getting on base four times and scoring four times. He achieved this largely by stealing a total of 6 bases. His fast, heavy play after the Lawson Pitcher Blake trouble several times.

The Fliers are going to have a problem facing them when Gorman gets back. How are they going to play both Wilson and Gorman at first base at the same time?

To Lose Star That, however is only a minor issue compared with the one that goes, "Who is going to take Fingers Green?" which is pretty soon. The pudgy swatman has scared all the pitchers in the league at one time or another and they will be delighted to see him go, but his absence will elicit about two runs a game off the Lawson attack.

Next game for the Fliers will be on Monday when they face the fearsome Airborne Battalion, the club that doesn't care how many runs you get, because they can get more. The Fliers have played the Troopers two times this season and ended very much on the short end of 8 to 4 and 15 to 4 scores. The Fliers will have to have good pitching and an airtight defense for this one, or it'll be the same old story.

STR Hustles For Ball Games

"I want you to say," said Captain Stewart, "that, although we don't win 'em all, we hustle all the time. We're the hustlin' team in this league."

"Right," responded one of his ball players, Tita by name, "and we'll win quite a few, 'too." That about sums up the attitude on the STR ball club. They're all out to win every game, and they appear to have made up their minds to make trouble for every team in the National League. There are new faces on the team, among the regulars, and, aside from that it's the same bunch that finished eighth in the first half.

New Catcher The team picked up a catcher, Axelsson, and an outfielder, Ensbrenner, and the Chief Candidate School, and another infielder, Benefield, Regular shortstop, Joe Mink, was on base in the Riffles' most recent game, with the 204th, and Benefield filled his shoes adequately.

Out fielder Ed Carney has sparked in both the Riffles' games, and looks like one of the best in either circuit. To date, Carney has an average of over .500 with 6 fielding will 'n' trips, and has been in the field in the entire game. The work of Tita at second base has been of a very high calibre, and his bat has been much more effective than it was during the first half.

Won One, Lost One The Riffles' record stands at a win and a loss. They lost a heart-breaker to the 83rd F.A. 12 to 11 in their opening game. The Artillerymen banged across 8 runs in the second inning, added two in the fourth and another in the ninth, and barely managed to hold on to the Riffles' attack long enough to win. The Riffles scored three runs across in the last of the ninth, and had the tying and winning runs on third and second when the inning ended.

In the 204th game, the Riffles scored 6 in the third, 5 in the fifth, and 4 in the seventh, and coasted to a 15 to 8 win. Tomorrow night, the Riffles will go after their third win against the 32nd Ordinance, the team to beat in the National. Bill Heistand will probably start against Andy Boland of the 32ndth.

Bullets Win 3 Straight

By ALYSEN E. WISE
Receiving a well-deserved rest over the first of the month, the 25th Combat Team, Bullets, came back refreshed to cop all three scheduled games of last week to register their games won to date to 22 setlor in 29 contests.

The Bullets clashed all the way with a battling Tuskegee Vets Hospital nine at Bullet Field and won 6-4 during the classic which highlighted the official opening of the Sand Hill diamond for games under the arc lights last Wednesday night. Tuskegee started a scoring spree by ansking one run in their half of the first inning, and the Bullets came back in their portion of the inning to knot the score. In the second inning, the Vets compiled their second tally, on one hit, but the 25th unleashed his by Burke. Bowen's free pass, bingles by Baldwin and Nichols, another free pass by Smith, and Isom's being hit by a pitched ball, to send four runs across the plate.

Locals Hold Scoreless The vets held the locals scoreless during the ensuing five innings, meanwhile managing to punch across their third run of the game in the sixth, and another single marker in the eighth. In the 26th's half of this inning, Eddie Bowen reached first on a first basemen's error; stole second, and on a wild pitch came all the way around to score.

Summary: S.C.T. Bullets 149 829 918-6 7 4
25th Vets 118 919 918-6 7 4
Isom, Nichols and Sanders. Munding and Man. Umphres, Gantt and Bunes. Winning pitcher, Isom.

On Friday night, the Bullets celebrated their secondnight game of the season by defeating the Alexander City Black Crackers 10 to 1 behind the effective pitching of Pat Young who kept his season's win streak intact by collecting his fifth game to remain the only undefeated curve specialist on the Bullet staff.

Young and Sanders. Murray, Bush, Harris, and Moore. Umphres, Gantt, Barnes, and Harrison. Winning pitcher, Young.

Bullets jumped on the hapless Manchester Quicksteppers for three home runs and 15 hits to give Righthander Lawrence Hall his fifth win in seven games. Stepping up to the plate with the bases jammed in the fourth, Eddie K. Baldwin poked a 360 footer through centerfield to the Super Highway. A carbon copy of Bowen's act was enacted by Catcher Charley Nichols who blasted his four master a bit left of center. In the fifth, 25th's centerfielder Elmer Malory banged out his seasons fifth round tripper to score Johnny Brown.

Capt. McQuinn used every available member of the Bullets during the onslaught. Team Manager Bill Ernhann pinch hitting for Johnny Brown in the sixth was robbed of a nice clean hit when the visitor's first sacker made a sensational catch of what appeared to be a clean hit.

Cadets See Infantrymen In Training

Final Activities Slated For Friday

The 1948 class of the United States Military Academy, which arrived here last Friday afternoon 300-strong, is scheduled to witness a movement of command posts problem at 7:30 a. m. today.

The future U. S. Army officers, accompanied to Fort Benning by Brig. Gen. J. Higgins, commandant of cadets, will see an infantry-artillery-tank team in an attack this afternoon beginning at 1:30.

The final activities for the cadets will take place Friday. They will witness a supply operation in an offensive situation at 7:45 a. m. and at 2 p. m. the Infantry School will present for the West Point visitors a battalion in defense problem.

Leave Saturday. They are scheduled to depart Fort Benning by air Saturday for Stewart field, N. Y.

Highlight of the cadets' visit to the post took place Tuesday morning when they witnessed a

Col. Franklin Lucero, Argentine military attache, and Lt. Col. Ignacio Avalos, of the Argentine Army, left here yesterday following a three-day tour of the Infantry Center.

Colonel Lucero and Colonel Avalos, who arrived in the morning 9 a. m. Monday, conferred with Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel prior to observing infantry training tactics. They witnessed a machine gun drill at 10:35 a. m. Monday at Millap Field presented by assistant basic class No. 5, and at 10:55 a. m. they saw a 105 mm howitzer demonstration by Army Officer Candidate class No. 7.

See Marksmanship Training. The visitors ended their morning's tour with a visit to Patton range where they witnessed a special demonstration of marksmanship and preparatory training with the 57 mm and 75 mm rifles.

During the afternoon the Argentine officers were on hand at Holladay hill with assistant basic class No. 2 demonstrated rifle and weapons platoons in an attack with tanks. At 3:15 p. m. they attended along with members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 12 a session on the technique of rifle fire at Patch range. Later they toured the communications section.

Airborne-Air Force Problem. Tuesday morning at 9:30 Colonel Lucero and Lt. Col. Avalos witnessed a combined airborne-air force problem at Lee field in the Alabama area. Also present for the demonstration were the 300 cadets from West Point who are on a week's visit to the post.

At 3:50 p. m. Tuesday the guests toured the airborne area. Later they visited the automotive section and the training aids exhibit. Prior to their departure Wednesday afternoon the Argentines witnessed a fire power demonstration at Hook range.

Red Cross Duties Increased As PAS Prepare To Close

The American Red Cross chapter here will assume several duties now handled by the personal affairs section when that office closes June 30, Murray E. Hill, field director, announced today.

According to Mr. Hill, there are only a few services that the Red Cross cannot render servicemen. Last month 2,691 cases were referred to the local chapter. Of the total, only 91 requested financial aid, which, Mr. Hill said, may be attributed to the "efficiency of the Fort Benning finance office and prompt payments by the Office of Dependence Benefits."

Mr. Hill pointed out that the Red Cross is in an excellent position to aid servicemen with allotment problems since there is a Red Cross liaison representative in the ODB to take care of emergencies. Presence of Red Cross chapters in the soldier's hometown also makes it possible to provide aid to his family while the allotment problem is being straightened out, he said.

Uruguayan Army Chief Now On Post

Brigadier General Cipriano Olivera, Chief of Staff of the Uruguayan Army will arrive at Fort Benning today for a three day visit at the Infantry Center.

General Olivera is the leader of a group of three officers composed of Colonel J. A. Vier Duddy Nieto from the Superior War College in Uruguay, and Major Jose Luis Ramagli, the aide de camp to General Olivera.

A guard of honor will meet the general when he arrives at Lawson Field for his visit to Fort Benning.

The exact arrival time of the visiting officers has not been determined, but if their plane lands early enough on Thursday, they will attend a demonstration of the Infantry-Tank-Artillery team in attack during the afternoon.

Railway Repair Shops Will Close

Fort Benning's Transportation Corps Railway Repair shops will close officially June 30, and all installed machinery will be turned over to the property disposal office, Capt. Thomas G. Norman, shop superintendent, revealed today.

Although all work at the shops actually ceased at 6 p. m. June 14, the official closing date was set for the last day of this month, he said.

Mobile Team. A mobile repair team, composed of five ungraded civilians, a civilian inspector and Capt. Norman, has been formed and is scheduled to leave here June 23 for the New Orleans port of embarkation July 1. The team will immediately begin operating repair service for the Third and Fourth Army areas.

The excess stock of locomotives which were used here have already been shipped to New Orleans along with spare parts equipment. These locomotives and spare parts will be put into use at the Louisiana base.

Certain pieces of equipment will remain at the Benning repair shops for use of the Transportation Corps in maintaining rolling stock, Capt. Norman said. The equipment to be used for housing equipment.

June 17 Conference. Captain Norman will leave for Washington June 27 for a conference with the commanding officers of the other two army railway repair shops, superintendents of military railways, supply officers stationed in Washington, and officials from the Marietta, Pa., Transportation Corps supply depot.

Purpose of the meeting will be to formulate plans and procedures for the operation of mobile shop units in all Army areas. The officers will also exchange technical advice.

The repair unit formed at Fort Benning has been designated Mobile Repair unit No. 3. It will be under the command of the Holabird Transportation Corps Railway Repair shops.

450 Post Employees Lose Jobs

Civilians Lauded For Service

Approximately 450 civilian employees here received 30-day separation notices May 29 in what civilian personnel officials termed the final reduction in force at Fort Benning for the 1948 fiscal year.

It was also announced, however, that there would likely be additional changes before the end of June as those employees, who had achieved permanent civil service status and whose jobs had been abolished, make bids for the jobs of those with fewer retention points. At the same time officials said that the number of permanent employees receiving notices was slight.

Columbus Firms Contacted. Meanwhile, authorities stated that every possible effort was being made to place those affected by the cut in other positions either here on the post or at some other installation. Along that line civilian personnel officials said Columbus business firms had been contacted in an effort to place those who received notice in existing vacancies there.

A number of civilians who are being cut will be replaced with military personnel, officials said. A spokesman for the civilian personnel branch here said that in no case will other civilians be employed in a position which a permanent employee has been released until that person has been notified of the existing vacancy.

The War Department informed Fort Benning officials that the cut would affect a majority of the severance notices were sent as a result of the closure of certain post activities.

WD officials said that there was no reflection against the character or work of any individual affected by the cut and expressed their gratitude to the civilian force for the "splendid job they did during the war years and since the termination of hostilities."

Trio Presented Army Awards

High Army awards were presented Saturday morning during ceremonies at Stillwell field to Col. Harry S. Wilbur and two ex-Army men, Edwin L. Hoopes Jr., former colonel, and John D. Johnson, former private, first class.

Col. Wilbur was awarded the oak leaf cluster to the Legion of Merit for "exceptional leadership, professional competence, and unflinching devotion to duty" as commanding officer of the 36th Infantry Regiment in the Southwest Pacific area from July 10, 1943 until October 14, 1944.

Ex-Colonel Hoopes received the Army Commendation ribbon for "able administration of personnel and replacement records" during the period from September 1943 to October 1946. At that time he was with headquarters of the U. S. Army Force in the middle Pacific.

Gets Bronze Star. Major John D. Johnson was presented the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service on Shuri, Okinawa, in eliminating an enemy machine gun nest. He was a member of the 77th Division's 30th Infantry Regiment.

AGF Plans Pilot Training

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general, Army Ground Forces, today revealed tentative plans for proficiency flight training of AGF Organized Reserve Corps liaison pilots.

Calling for a maximum of four hours' flying time per month for each officer taking the training, the plan is expected to be put into operation in the near future. Flights would be made in civilian planes of the liaison type.

Extension courses in ground subjects allied to flying would be offered in conjunction with the flight training.

During World War II, the Army Ground Forces trained approximately 3,000 liaison pilots, of whom slightly more than half hold reserve commissions. It is contemplated that approximately 1,200 Reserve officers will receive training under this program.

PW Time Counts In MOS Figuring

In a memorandum issued this week from headquarters of the Infantry Center, it was announced that in determining the grade for enlistment or reenlistment, time spent as a prisoner of war will be counted in computing time served in MOS held at time of capture, provided the grade does not exceed that held at the time of discharge.

At the same time it was announced that applicants for enlistment in the Enlisted Reserve Corps are not required to undergo the mental testing procedure prescribed for those individuals enlisting or reenlisting in the Regular Army.

Two Post Areas Named In Honor Of War Heroes

The Fort Benning area known as Patch range has been redesignated Buckner range in honor of the late Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, who died in combat June 19, 1945, Md.; Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, announced today.

At the same time it was also announced that the area known as Army Ground Forces Board No. 3 shop and test area has been redesignated Sandy Patch test area in honor of the late Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, who died Nov. 21, 1945.

combined airborne-air Force problem at Lee field. During Tuesday afternoon they toured the airborne area, observed novice jumping while riding in aircraft, and took an orientation glider flight.

Wednesday's schedule included one of the Infantry School's most gigantic displays of military might, a fire-power demonstration, which took place at Hook range.

Attend Lectures
Lectures attended by the cadets earlier in the week for the purpose of familiarization of cargo aircraft and organization of an Airborne Division. They also viewed a display of equipment peculiar to the airborne soldier.

The cadets' departure from Fort Benning Saturday will end a whirl-wind tour of three large military installations which began when they left Stewart field, N. Y., June 4. First point on their itinerary was a two-day visit to Wright field, Ohio, where they toured laboratories of Air Materiel Command and witnessed flight demonstrations.

Arriving at Fort Bliss June 8, the cadets spent the next four days observing anti-aircraft techniques, anti-mechanized firing, and field artillery firing. They also witnessed a demonstration of bombing technique by Strategic Air Command in the vicinity of Biggs field, Tex.

Highlight of their visit to the Texas installation was the V-2 rocket firing demonstration at White Sands proving ground. They also toured the V-2 rocket museum and assembly plant before departing June 13 for Fort Benning.

Faculty Appointments

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Lt. Col. John H. Van Vliet Jr., to the faculty of the Infantry School and Capt. Emmett A. Abels to the faculty of the Army Officer Candidate School.

Jumpers Trained For Rescue By AF

WASHINGTON (APFS)—Parachute and overland rescue teams are being trained by the AAF for Arctic duty with the 10th Rescue Squadron, Alaska.

The jump teams, composed of two medical technicians, two Alaskan guides and a jump surgeon, are being trained as part of a program to enlarge the present polar rescue squadron. Great mobility and efficiency in rescue operations involving aircraft forced down in inaccessible Arctic regions is the objective.

The two overland teams are composed of Arctic guides, medical aids-men and woodsmen. These crews will be stationed at central points such as Ladd Field, which will be flown to rescue areas and proceed via dog sled to scenes of accidents.

Long range transport aircraft designed to hunt and pick up gliders will be utilized.

According to the AAF, experience gained by the Alaskan group will be used by the Air Rescue Service for units within the United States.

Camera Permits To Be Returned

Camera permits are not to be transferred from one person to another upon sale or transfer of a camera, it was announced this week at the Infantry Center.

Upon change of station of personnel, camera permits issued to military personnel, together with those issued to dependents, should be surrendered by the officer or enlisted man concerned to the clearance officer in Room 20, Annex Headquarters of the Infantry Center.

Let's Wise Up

The Bayonet often wonders whether or not we ought to be proud of America's vast automobile industry. This wheeled vehicle has become such a curse that we sometimes feel that we would be far better off without cars. On the other hand, provided we use them sensibly, they are a great asset, and we feel that America, unlike any other country in the world, is indeed fortunate that a majority of her citizens are financially able to own some mode of transportation.

Unfortunately, however, there are a great number of Americans who refuse to obey even the simplest traffic regulations, such as stopping at traffic signals or speeding in school zones. Actually the person who breaks traffic laws is hurting no one but himself, for the laws of averages will eventually catch him.

Last week a group of accident figures were released by Third Army headquarters. Surprisingly enough, Fort Benning rated very high on this list. There were 37 motor vehicle accidents, four fatalities in motor vehicle accidents, and eight injuries resulting from motor vehicle accidents. The percentages in comparison with the number of personnel here and in comparison with the accident rate at other installations is high. Indeed, it should cause us to sit up and take notice.

The cost to the government for the fatalities and injuries was $64,288 and the cost of damage to government vehicles was $685.90. This figure does not, of course, include the cost of damage to privately owned cars, otherwise the cost would far exceed that amount. Fortunately, the government is not responsible for accidents which occur in private automobiles during off-duty hours.

We all know that the cause of a majority of the accidents, including those that are fatal, is the "show-off." He likes to drive at excessive rates of speed. He likes to wait before "slamming on his brakes" until he is only a few feet behind the car in front. He passes cars on hills or going around curves. We all know how true that is because we have seen it happen many times between Fort Benning and Columbus.

There is also another type person who is responsible for accidents. He is the drinking driver. Regardless of opinion on this matter, statistics clearly prove that liquor and automobiles are not compatible companions. The wise driver does not fill his stomach with intoxicating beverages before stepping under an automobile wheel. His senses are numbed and he is unable to think clearly. He is the type person who often kills or injures innocent bystanders; and although he can not be convicted of murder, he is just as guilty of taking life as the man who plans and carefully executes murder.

Why don't we "wise up" and use automobiles for the purpose they are intended—to get us somewhere quicker than by foot but at the same time all in one piece.

Why They Behave Like Russians

Most books written about Russians are biased, and certainly every book presents them in a different light. Books about the Reds, or Russians, or Communists (or whatever name they call themselves) either serve as a warning to the peoples of the world that the Russians are a menace to peace and should be stamped out immediately, or serve as a basis of propaganda for the Kremlin by pointing out that the capitalist is actually the only person anti-Russian.

Regardless of what are your own beliefs on this controversial matter, you are sure to find John Fischer's very readable account of the Soviet people, "Why They Behave Like Russians," one of the clearest views of that vast country to come from behind the Iron Curtain.

Describes Workers

Mr. Fischer, for many years a student of Russia, spent two months in the Ukraine in the spring of 1935 as a member of an UNRRA commission. He doesn't claim to be an expert on the subject, but merely reports what he saw and felt during his stay. He is plenty. He describes the life of the working class and the hardships they must endure for the good of the "Cause." He describes the party men and the terrific amount of influence these men have over the lives of everyone in the USSR. He even goes so far as to tell the reader a little about that special class of artists, writers and teachers, who do not belong to the party but who are still allowed as much freedom as those who do belong.

There are very good accounts of the economy of the country, and the writer tells the critical housing shortage, citing as an example the case of a divorced couple who live with the wife's parents and who continued to share the same household even after divorce and after the wife had remarried. He says that the author, there is little or no privacy in homes, few sanitary connections, and little furniture. He reports on the low wages and government-sponsored "black market." Reasoning is still quite strict in the Soviet Union, and says the author, the little food the people get is poor quality.

No Classless Society

Mr. Fischer points out that the "sacred men in the Kremlin" make the working class and he assures the reader that there is no such thing as a classless society in Russia. He says that they tell them that America is an aggressive nation and that unless they give up now as they did during the war years, Russia will be absorbed by the U. S.

He firmly believes that there will never be a uprising in Russia because the peasant fears the U. S. so much that he will do anything their leaders want done. Mr. Fischer closes his book with a few notes on how to get along with the Russians.

"Why They Behave Like Russians" is one of the best non-fictional works to roll off the presses in a long time. It was the selection of the Book-of-the-Month club and is a "Hardy find."

Patient (coming out from under ether): Why are all the blinds drawn, doctor?
 Doc: We there's a fire across the alley and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation was a failure.

HA: "You say you've had sea duty?"
 SC: "Yes. Officer's cook for two years, and wounded twice."

HA: "You're lucky. You're a wonder they didn't kill you."

THE FLAG IN CHURCH

By Chaplain Clyde F. Straub

When I enter a chapel or church, I always look for my country's flag. The Stars and Stripes just seem to belong there and the more I go about finding the flag in church, its presence seems to say that our country is a part of the church and that the church wants our country to walk with God. I don't like to think that someone put the flag in the church or that someone presented the flag to the church, but often the case; rather, I like to think that the flag came to the church and wants to be there.

And then the presence of the Christian flag near the National flag makes me think that the two flags are "buddies" and that they belong together. But in thinking this, I know that I err, for although America is considered a Christian nation, its character has been molded by free people of all nations and creeds. The Jewish flag can be a "buddy," too. And just that fact is what makes our country's flag the "Old Glory" that it is. And that is why we love it and why we welcome its attendance at our church services, and why we want to keep it forever and forever.

But sometimes I get worried about my country's flag. And that is when I read the world history of the Bible and see how nations that were once great have crumbled in the dust because they did not live up to the laws of true greatness. I think the old saying, "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again," tells us that truth is the law of greatness. If a nation is true to itself, it will be with its flag stands for. Its people will go to church, and they will see their flag in church. Then they, like me, will get to thinking about the church and the flag, and they will know that there is something fine about it all.

Lieut. Col. Henry Childs, former Separation Center commander, announced that in the future all men arriving at the East Coast for discharge will be processed at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Organized in March, 1944 to care for the tremendous influx of returnees awaiting discharge, the separation center handled a total of 1,162,029 servicemen and women. At its peak in November, 1945, it processed 115,597 discharges with a staff of 355 officers, 5,027 enlisted men and 485 civilians.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

CHEYENNE (western) with Dennis Morgan, Jane Wyman, and Janis Paige. "Don't spare the horses" appears to have been the motto of the producer of this western in which there is many a rip-roaring chase and frequent stagecoach robbery. Morgan's job of trying to catch the robber gets him involved, more or less pleasantly, with Jane Wyman and Janis Paige. Recommended for mature.

MOSS ROSE (mystery-drama) with Victor Mature, Peggy Cummins, Ethel Barrymore, and Vincent Price. A moss rose crushed between the pages of a Bible is the only clue found beside a murdered girl. Circumstantial evidence points to Mature as the culprit and Peggy Cummins, the dead girl's friend, determines to take advantage of the situation by blackmailing him. Recommended for mature.

WELCOME STRANGER (comedy-drama) with Bing Crosby, Barry Fitzgerald, and Joan Caulfield. Another top-notch performance by the stars of Going My Way. Fitzgerald, an old country doctor, disapproves of the gay antics of his young assistant, Crosby, and has to be won over by the latter's tactical efforts toward friendship. Recommended for family.

ADVENTURES OF DON COYOTE (western) with Richard Martin, Frances Rafferty, and Val Carlo. An action-filled sagebrush tale in cinecolor. Don Coyote, played by Richard Martin, is a Mexican's cow-poke. Val Carlo, his pal, provides the musical accompaniment for Don Coyote's excursions into romance when they take time out from horseback pursuits and gun duels with cattle rustlers. Recommended for family.

PHILO VANCE RETURNS (murder mystery) with William Wright and Terry Austin. When a wealthy playboy friend of Vance is murdered, Philo is called upon to solve the case—suspects being all the dead man's six ex-wives. Recommended for family.

JUNE BRIDE—Mrs. Robert Mires Tilley, the former Miss Betty Rudy Lichtenwaller, was married Saturday afternoon at the Post Chapel.

Miss Lichtenwaller, Mr. Tilley Wed In Traditional June Rites

With all the beauty of a traditional June wedding, the nuptial ceremony of Miss Betty Rudy Lichtenwaller, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Leon E. Lichtenwaller, and Robert Mires Tilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Tilley of Willow Springs, Mo., took place Saturday afternoon in the Post Chapel with Chaplain Emmett Jones officiating.

The guests, seated by the ushers, Lt. Henry Briarson and Leon E. Lichtenwaller Jr., brother of the bride, found the chapel beautifully decorated with white candelabra flanking the altar. The organist, Mrs. L. H. Averitt, played "Because" in honor of the bride and "Ich Lieberich" before the ceremony and as the grooms were exchanged the love music from Tristan and Isolde was played as the soft background music.

As the wedding march pealed forth, the bridal party entered the chapel with Miss Marian Norris of Columbus, Mo., as the maid of honor, and Miss Joan Tilley, the groom's sister of Willow Springs, as the bridesmaid. Each of the young ladies wore stunning floor-length dresses of green taffeta fashioned with off-shoulder necklines. They carried arm bouquets of Shasta daisies and wore the same flowers in their hair.

The charming bride, entering candelabra, was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Jack Tilley of Willow Springs, who acted as best man. Miss Service Club No. 1 will sponsor a summer dance Friday evening in the Main Post gym, it was announced today.

The program will get underway at 8:30 and end at 10:45 p. m. and girls from Columbus will attend.

Entertain At Club

Maj. and Mrs. Arthur R. Salguero entertained for a small group of their friends last week with a delightful buffet supper party at the Officers' Club. Cocktails were served before dinner, and later in the evening the party enjoyed dancing.

Guests were Maj. and Mrs. Basil Winstead, Lt. Col. and Mrs. S. W. Cavender, Maj. and Mrs. T. F. Little and Capt. and Mrs. R. W. Chambers.

Lichtenwaller was a strikingly beautiful, tall, floor-length gown of white marquisette with a short train and ruffles down the front of the full skirt. The bodice, sleeves, long gloves and sweetheart neckline of the fitted bodice marked the dress as a charming wedding costume. The bride wore a finger-tip veil over her face during the ceremony and the situation veil fell gracefully from a small cap of white satin embroidered with a coronet of seed pearls.

Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls brought from Japan by Colonel Lichtenwaller.

Following the wedding, the guests were invited to a delightful reception held at the quarters of Colonel and Mrs. Lichtenwaller at 213 Lumpkin road. The bride cut her three-tiered cake and the guests were served cake and punch from the bride's table which was decorated with crystal candelabra holding white tapers and gardenias.

The newlyweds left during the evening for a two week honeymoon in Florida and for traveling the bride chose a two-piece tan suit with a white blouse. Her natural straw hat was decorated with a tan ribbon of the same shade as her bag and she also wore a gardenia corsage.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Tilley, the groom's parents who were here from Willow Springs, and his sister and brother.

The bride has attended Missouri university and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The groom is also a student of Missouri university and is president of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity chapter there. He served for two and a half years in the army during the war in the Pacific and held the rank of captain.

The couple will be at home in Columbus when they return from their wedding trip and in the fall will return to Missouri university where the groom will continue his education. He will be graduated next June.

Anniversary Marked By Party Given At Club

In celebration of their fourteenth wedding anniversary, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) and Mrs. William Shure entertained last week for a group of their friends at the Officers' Club.

For the interesting party, Mrs. Shure decorated the table with beautiful magnolia blossoms and leaves.

Guests for the party were Lt. Col. and Mrs. John J. Deane, Lt. Col. and Mrs. A. C. Haley, Col. and Mrs. Daniel P. Buckland, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hal Hardenbergh, Lt. Col. Harry Pretty, Col. and Mrs. Thomas B. Burgess, Miss Joan St. George, Miss Molly Craig, Maj. and Mrs. Paul C. Westerman, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Dennis M. Moore, Col. and Mrs. Jesse A. Laid, Mrs. A. R. Quillian, Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. R. Grollemund, Capt. and Mrs. Marshall E. Bullock, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Matt C. Bristol, Maj. and Mrs. Elbert L. Fenske, Capt. and Mrs. R. F. Martin, Col. and Mrs. Brooker W. Brady, Maj. and Mrs. J. K. Terry, Chaplain Emmett G. Jones, Mrs. D. W. Brann, Lt. Jack L. Schram and Lt. J. C. Cassidy.

WAC Officer Wed In Post Chapel; To Live In Florida

Lt. Marjorie Perrone, WAC, daughter of Mrs. Louise Perrone of San Francisco, Calif., became the bride of Morris McCown in a beautiful double ring ceremony solemnized Saturday afternoon at the Post Chapel with Chaplain William C. Shure officiating.

Lt. Col. Wesley U. Moran gave the bride in marriage and Lt. Ray Fenster, WAC, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a blue afternoon dress and a corsage of Cecil Brunner roses and pink carnations.

The bride wore a two-piece off-white watered faille frock with a fish tail jacket. Her corsage was of white gardenias and orange blossoms. Major Foster B. Watson was the best man.

Mrs. L. H. Averis played the nuptial music and the chapel was decorated with arrangements of white oleander and tall white tapers in branched candelabras.

Following the impressive ceremony the guests were invited to a reception party at the Officers' Club, where the bride cut her three-tiered cake and the guests were served cocktails. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with summer flowers and white tapers.

The couple left for a wedding trip in East Tennessee, where they will visit in the Tri Cities and Lookout Mountain. For going away the bride chose a Bemberg sheers print of dark blue.

The couple will be at home in Fort Pierce, Fla., where the program is with the Bell Bakery company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McCown Sr. of Johnson City, Tenn., and his mother was present for the ceremony.

The groom served in the army for four years and held the rank of captain. He was in the Philippines for 27 months.

The bride has been in service for four and a half years and has been at Fort Benning for the past 26 months.

Group To Leave For China Guests At Reception, Tea

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul H. Mahoney were hosts at an interesting reception and tea given June 17 at their quarters at 221 Austin Loop.

The delightful event, held from 4 to 6 in the afternoon, was given for a group of officers who have been detailed to Nanking, China and the Chinese officer students on the Post.

Refreshments were served from a table overlaid with a lovely Canton lace cloth from China and the decorations include arrangements of roses and gladioli and tall green tapers in crystal candelabra.

American officers at the reception who will be going to China August 15 included Colonel Mahoney, Lt. Col. John W. White, Maj. William Dyer, Lt. Col. Glenn Walker, Lt. Col. Paul F. Roberts and Maj. Malcolm Kulmar. The officers were accompanied by their wives and the ladies are also planning to go to China as soon as possible.

Forty Chinese officers attended the event with their senior officer, Major C. Lee. The Chinese group will leave for China June 27.

Morning Party Held At Quarters

Mrs. C. J. Eller entertained members of the Coffee club last Thursday morning when the group met at her quarters and were served homemade cake and coffee.

THERE NEVER WAS A

NO CAR DESIGNED BEFORE THE WAR CAN EVEN COMPETE WITH THE RIDE YOU GET IN A KAISER OR A FRAZER

You be the judge! You have driven and ridden in a lot of cars. You know how they ride. Now, get in a Kaiser or a Frazer and compare the ride! You're in for a pleasant surprise. For all your present standards of riding quality will become obsolete before you have gone a mile! You will agree that no car designed before the war can even compete with the Kaiser or the Frazer—for there never was a ride like this! You drift over rough roads. You glide along the pavement. It's a horizontal ride—with the up and down travel removed.

It's not just a matter of spring design and shock absorbers. Power, brakes, and ease of steering, all play a part. So do superior roominess, extraordinary visibility and extra-low center of gravity—with all the weight of passengers between the wheels! But what's the use of telling you how it's done! You are interested in the ride. That can't be described. It must be experienced. So, before you buy any car—

Miss Adkins, Capt. Sabatini Wed In Double Ring Rites

Lovely Miss Betty Atkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Atkins of Rome, Georgia, became the bride of Capt. Eugene J. Sabatini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Sabatini, of Bristol, Pa., in an impressive double wedding ceremony at the Fort Benning Catholic Chapel Saturday afternoon. Maj. John J. Jedlowski, Post Catholic chaplain, performed the ceremony.

The chapel was attractively decorated with arrangements of white gladioli in pedestal vases and burning tapers with gladioli decorated the altar.

Proceeding the ceremony, Miss Margaret Demoy, organist, played Schubert's "Ave Maria" and played her's "Serenade," and the soft strains of "Love You Truly" formed the background for the ceremony. The ushers, Maj. Harvey E. Rehner and Maj. Charles M. Holland, entered and took their places by the altar at the first notes of the bridal march. Following was Miss Jeannette Atkins, only attendant. She was attired in a gown of yellow tulle, fashioned with an off shoulder neckline and bustle. She wore a headdress of matching fabric, white elbow-length gloves and carried an arm bouquet of white daisies.

The bride was radiantly beautiful as she entered with her father to be met at the altar by the groom and Maj. James A. Hayden, who acted as best man. Her blonde loveliness was enhanced by her gown of shimmering white satin and a tiered finger-tip veil of Ha crown of white satin. The gown was fashioned with a delicately scalloped round neckline, long sleeves ending in a point over the hands and trimmed down the back with a row of tiny satin buttons reaching from the neckline to the bustle effect waistline. The full skirt extended into a long train. A string of pearls completed her ensemble and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias and white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, Maj. and Mrs. Harvey E. Rehner and Capt. and Mrs. William Hinman complimented the former's quarters. The bride's table was arranged with white lace doilies, while gladioli and burning white tapers in crystal candelabra, and centered with decorated the rooms.

During the evening Captain Sabatini and his bride left on a wedding trip through the eastern United States and Canada. For going away the bride wore a white gabardine

Visitor On Post Feted At Dinner

Col. J. Michela, here for a short visit last week before going overseas, was entertained at a buffet dinner at the Officers' Club with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Tito G. Moscatelli as hosts. The honored guest, from Duluth, Minn., is a former military attaché to Russia.

Before the formal dinner, Col. and Mrs. Moscatelli served cocktails at their quarters which the hostess had decorated with garden flowers in crystal vases.

Guests, in addition to the honor and the long table set in the officers' club, were Col. and Mrs. E. E. Enger and Col. and Mrs. H. E. Beine.

suit with black accessories. Later Captain Sabatini, who serves with the AAF at Lawson Field, and his bride will make their home in Columbus.

Bride-Elect Feted At Luncheon Given By Miss Barclay

Miss Janet Hine, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Daniel C. Buckland, whose engagement and forthcoming wedding will be celebrated at the home of Miss F. M. Granville, was the guest of honor at a lovely luncheon party given Tuesday by Miss Mildred Barclay, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Robert Dulaney.

The event was held at the Villa sea gardens in Seale, Ala., and the long table was beautifully decorated with gardenias used at each cover and white daisies arranged in the middle of the table.

The group met at the quarters of Miss Barclay and drove over together. Those attending included the honoree, Mrs. Buckland, Mrs. Dulaney, Misses Bobbie Wallender, Clara Barton, Jamie Adams, Sally Davis, Katherine Gardner, Clara Barton, Frances White, Annie Burach-erick, Mary McWilliams, Leslie Hibbetts, Margaret Thompson, Jane Pense, Helen Moore, Marge Aaron and Jean Aaron.

Thursday afternoon Miss Hine, who is to be married Sunday, will be honored at a miscellaneous shower to be given by Miss Wallender.

Beautiful Rites Unite Couple On Wednesday

Miss Ruth-Carlson of Phenix City, Ala., daughter of Mrs. Ernest R. Carlson, became the bride of Capt. Frank E. Naughton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Naughton, in a beautifully solemnizing wedding ceremony held Wednesday afternoon in the Post Catholic chapel with Chaplain John J. Jedlowski officiating.

The bride, wearing a lovely champagne shade crepe afternoon dress trimmed with lace of the same color, was given in marriage by her brother Robert L. Carlson. She wore a charming white tulle hat and carried a nosegay of summer flowers.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and Capt. Peter Kelly who acted as best man. The beautiful wedding music included "Wedding March" and the wedding was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and ferns, and white tapers in tall candelabra.

Following the ceremony Major and Mrs. J. M. Cole and Capt. and Mrs. Carl Ernest were hosts at a reception given to honor Captain Naughton and his bride. The bride had her tiered-cake on her table which was arranged with white flowers and white tapers. Approximately 150 guests were served cake and punch.

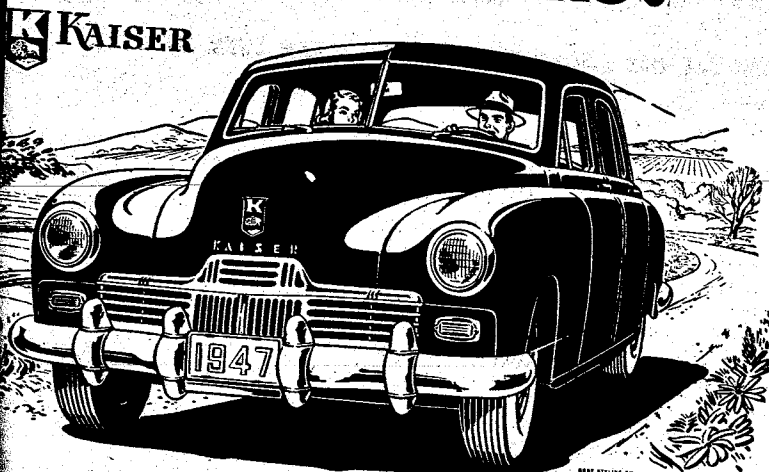

Among the out of town guests here for the ceremony were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlson; Mrs. Gordon Smith of Phenix City; Mr. and Mrs. Burt Carlson of Auburn, Ala.; Dr. Edward Carlson of Carrollton, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul and Miss Edith Carlson of Fruiturst, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Owens of Atlanta; and Mrs. Margaret Oliver of Auburn, Ala.

During the evening the newlyweds left for a trip to the East coast and will be at home in about three weeks at 2707 Summerwood road in Phenix City. For going away the bride wore a brown beise suit with brown accessories and an orchid.

The bride is a graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Auburn and has been employed at the home demonstration agent in Russell county, Ala.

The groom attended the University of Illinois and has been in service for approximately seven years. He served in the European theater during the war and was decorated with the Combat Infantry badge, four battle stars, Presidential citation, Bronze Star, and French Croix de Guerre.

WELCOME CADETS

GOOD LUCK, SIE!—Cadet Edwards, captain of the Point polo team, shakes hands with Col. Robert L. Dulaney, Benning captain, prior to the polo game played at French field Sunday afternoon.

ALL SET TO GO—The Fort Benning polo team, left, and the West Point champs form a straight flank as they await the beginning signal.

AIRBORNE LUGGAGE—The cadets seem interested enough in the airborne equipment display.

FIRE-POWER IS SHOWN—West Point cadets watch closely as Infantry School personnel demonstrate the characteristics of the 105 mm. howitzer during one of the many class sessions held this week for the visitors.

READY, AIM—These two men of the 37th Infantry get ready to fire one of their rootless weapons during a demonstration.

TROUBLE AHEAD—American enemies always knew that there was trouble ahead when the 81 mm mortar was brought into action. These combat veterans of the 37th Infantry are getting ready to demonstrate the effectiveness of the 81 mm.

SUN AND "CHIGGERS"—These hillmen from the 37th Infantry not only have hills, gullies, and stones to impede their progress, but also the hot Georgia sun and the red bug.

TEAM FIGHTING—One of the 37th Infantry's platoon demonstrations the proper method of repelling an attack by an angry mob armed with wooden clubs.

LITTLE BUT POWERFUL—Here members of the First Battalion of the 37th Infantry prepare to fire the 60 mm mortar.

TEAR GAS ATTACK—Members of the 37th Infantry Regiment demonstrate an effective use of tear gas as they quell a "simulated" riot.

Life In The 37th

Life in the First Battalion of the 37th Infantry here at Fort Benning is as busy as it is exciting. Whether you are a dignitary of State or an international figure, to be received at an airport by an honor guard, or a foot soldier with a rifle, it is likely you will be welcomed by the First Battalion. This is part of their job in making up the big picture that determines our national security.

First and foremost is the assignment of problems by the Infantry School. There is the job of demonstration—the part of the doughboy in warfare. They have provided this performance for several thousand officers, officer candidates, and enlisted men since their activation in August 1916. Whether it be the firing of a 75 mm recoilless rifle, the laying of a final protective line with a machine gun, or the maneuvering of a skid night patrol, this organization must give a spectacular performance.

Rehearsals and Toll
This requires hours of rehearsals and back-bending toil before the curtain goes up on opening day. The students expect a model demonstration as they mentally log the types of instruction which they themselves will use in a few weeks.

The First Battalion is under the command of Lt. Col. Ralph M. Flynn and is the only active battalion of the 37th Infantry. Original activation of the 37th dates back to July 1916 at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. In those days crack infantry troops were required to patrol the Mexican border, a detail which the 37th drew along the Rio Grande from Arroyo del Tigre on the south to Delores mines on the north.

Quelled Clashes
Many clashes were quelled by this famous unit from 1916 to 1920. In 1921 when several other regiments were activated, the 37th became a file in military history and there remained until 1941 when the air of mobilization created the unit again at Camp Claxton, Ore.

Shortly thereafter the Nips began their fight for the Rising Sun in the Aleutians, and the 37th met them in a "dog-eat-dog" fight down the chain of defenseless islands. However, again in 1945 after being taken over by other units, the 37th turned its duties over to the 4th Infantry. They were reactivated in August 1946 here at Fort Benning.

As you see the glitter of the regimental pin sporting the two horizontal bars of silver and blue, your eyes wander to the bottom where you see these words, "For Freedom," the motto of the world and the motto for which the men of the 37th Infantry fought and died.

The horse walked up to the bar and asked for a martini with catsup. The bartender miked it down, the horse gulped it down, then asked: "Do you think it's strange that I'd come in and ask for a martini with catsup?" The bartender said: "Hell, no. That's the way I like them myself."

Captain Bryant Commands DAV

Capt. Harold H. Bryant, Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 37th Infantry, was elected commander of the Third District of the Disabled American Veterans' organization during the Georgia convention held in Columbus June 5-8. This district is composed of Chatham, Muscogee, and Marion counties.

Captain Bryant, veteran of European campaigns as commander of Company A, 11th Infantry Regiment, Fifth Division, transferred his membership from the New York chapter to Muscogee county. The Columbus chapter has approximately 150 members who meet semi-monthly.

To qualify for membership in the DAV a person must either be drawing a pension from the government or have been awarded the Purple Heart. Captain Bryant wears the Purple Heart with two clusters in addition to the Silver Star and Bronze Star with cluster.

25th Infantry To Present Show Monday Night

Rehearsals of the light opera, "Miss Cherry Blossom," which is comprised of a cast from the 25th Infantry dramatic group, and scheduled for presentation on Monday evening June 23, in Theater, No. 7, Sand-Hill, are in the final stages this week.

The principals are Miss Martha Mathis, who portrays Miss Cherry Blossom, and Mrs. Valeria Decalans, tenor, who enacts the role of John Henry Smith, her American lover.

Miss Kate L. Trent, director of Service Club No. 2 is in charge of rehearsals. Mrs. Valeria Decalans, Fifth Avenue USO-YWCA, is the musical director, and is assisted by Chaplains John A. DeVeaux and Lewis M. Durden of the 25th Infantry Regiment.

328th, Airborne Top Post Leagues

Ordnance Nine Tops NL, Takes Four Straight

The 328th Ordnance continued their winning ways through the second week of the National League season, ending triumphs over the 78th Engineers and the 57R Rifles to bring their record to four and zero, putting them two full games ahead of the 37th Infantry.

The 204th Truckers duplicated the Ordnance efforts with wins over the 53rd and the 65th to climb into second place, a half game ahead of the Engineers. Doyle Feeler got credit for both, and the Truckers wins to the Boland of the 328th for most games won.

On Tuesday, June 18, the 328th had to go ten innings to subdue an aroused Engineer nine, 6 to 3, behind a neat five-hit effort by Nosh Mejia in his first start of the second half. The Ordnance-nine trailed 2-1 through the eighth but picked up a run on Carner's single and Armstrong's triple to tie the game.

The 78th came right back in their half of the inning to go ahead again by a run, rising into the walk, worked his way around to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch, and scored on Leitch's single into left.

Boland pinch hit for Barnico in the ninth, after Mejia had grounded out, and delivered a single into left field. Glover singled him around to third from where he scored on Carner's roller to short, tying it up again.

In the tenth, Dick Thiele led off for the 328th with a line single to right, stole second while Armstrong was flying to left, paused while Kline was drawing a walk, and went to third on Gavin's infield hit, loading the bases. Mejia then drove in what proved to be the winning run by walking, after which Leitch, who had gone all the way for the 78th, retired to the showers.

Bowen came in to pitch to Boland, and Tartakoff, on his pitches get away from him. Kline scored, but Gavin was thrown out at the plate trying to come in all the way from second. Boland followed with a long triple to left center, knocking Mejia across with the final 328th run.

The next day the 204th got their first win of the campaign by knocking over 33rd FA, 12 to 8, in a sloppily played game, 15 errors marring the proceedings.

The 204th first went into the lead in the fifth inning, 6 to 5, adding single runs in the sixth and seventh, and amazing their attack with a four-run blast in the eighth.

The Truckers touched two 33rd pitchers, Bouliangy and Tole, for 13 hits, including a pair of doubles by Edwards and a pair of triples by Tole, who relieved in the fourth, was the losing pitcher, and Foster, who relieved Wilson in the fifth for the 204th, got the win.

June 14, the 204th moved into second place, ahead of the club by defeating that club 12 to 10. The 204th got the victory mar-

Troopers Lead AL Despite Loss Of Floyd Dooley

Airborne domination of Fort Benning baseball is continuing in the second half of the season, as the Troopers have swept to four more straight triumphs in the first round of the half. The latest victims were the 37th Infantry (13-4) and Lawson Field (17-1).

Although the club lost the services of Floyd Dooley this week, the addition of Dick Kinney to the mound staff makes up adequately for the loss. The ex-West Point right-hander broke in spectacularly last Wednesday with a no-hitter against Fort McPherson and allowed only four hits and one run in eight innings against Lawson Field on Monday.

Tankers in Third
Surprise of the American League so far is the 750th Tank Battalion, 8997, resting in third place. The Tankers split even during a first-round play, dropping an 8-5 game to the Airborne and an 8-6 contest to the ISD.

Ken Watts put the Tankers into the third slot with superlative eight-inning relief play against Lawson Field a week ago Wednesday. Johnson started for the 756th, and the Fliers scored three off him in the first, and were on their way to another big inning in the second when Watts took over the pitching chores.

Unleashing his blinding fast ball, Watts moved down fourteen batters on strikes, and gave up but three hits the rest of the way. One run was scored while he was pitching and that was unearned. Jack Forbes got the sole damaging blow, a triple, to deep left center. The left-hander got even though by striking out the first half battling leader of the later on.

ISD Profs Hot
The Tankers meanwhile were raking Paul Fray for twelve hits and four runs. The club has two hitters, Paul Daclin and Watts, batting over 500, and another, Jose Martinez. The club has two leads the league in RBI with 10, and Watts tops the post hitters in base-knocks with 10.

Holding fast to second place in the AL, the ISD Profs still seem capable of besting any team on the Post but the Airborne. Chick Shiver has returned to the catcher's position, leaving Weldon and Leiner to assume the mound duties. Lefty will probably draw the Airborne game on June 26, with Kinney.

Lawson Field and the 37th are floundering at the bottom of the Airman League, with the Fliers having beaten the Vets for their lone triumph and the 37th victoryless.

As the little boy said when he hit the windshield; "I'll never have the guts to do that again."

Down by the old mill. He asked her for a kiss. She said she wouldn't kiss him. Not by a dam site.

SETS ENDURANCE RECORD — S-Sgt. John Brown, 25th Infantry Bullet first baseman, played his last game for the Bullets last Sunday at Golden Park in Columbus. Brown played in 33 consecutive contests for the 25th, 52 in the 46 season and 21 this year. He is leaving the post with his outfit. Following in his Dad's footsteps are John A. Jr., aged 8, and Alfred L., aged 6, shown above with their father.

Ft. Mac Winless Against ISD And Airborne

Fort McPherson took on the Airborne and the ISD at Gowdy Field June 10 and 11 and went home without a victory over either Benning nine.

Playing the ISD first on Tuesday, Fort Mac had a 2-0 lead going into the last half of the seventh, and last inning. However Larry McIn lost his control then and the Profs pushed across two runs to tie it up.

Neither team was able to score in the eighth and ninth, and the game was called then because of rain.

the league game which followed and couldn't be interfered with.

Against the Airborne, Fort Mac never had a chance, as Captain Walker unveiled Dick Kinney, and what an unveiling it was!

The tall ex-West Pointer, who just finished his jump training, had to pitch to only 28 men, as he twirled the third no-hitter of the Benning season. (Dick Gehhart pitched one against the 33rd and Russ Chapman hurled one at the expense of the STR.)

He walked only two men, one of whom was cut down trying to steal. The Airborne fielders batted him up with perfect fielding and hitting support, also. Not an error was committed, and Bonair and Pritchard saved the no-hitter more than once.

At the bat the Troopers socked in eight runs, with everyone in the line-up except Pritchard and Stutler, getting at least one hit.

Reds Win 9-2

The Airborne Reds took up their winning lead in the City league by defeating the Scorpions 9-2 Tuesday night at Wildwood Park in a one sided game. Spoon, still smarting from the defeat of last week at the hands of the R & R Club, came back to hold the enemy score to two runs. Gladstone's third homer of the season increased the lead of the victors.

REDS TROUCE SCORPIONS

Despite inclement weather, the Airborne Reds trounced the Scorpions in a night game at Wildwood Park on Tuesday night. The game was played at times in a driving rain. John Menard led the hitting with three safeties, one a home run. James Spoon and Harold Dick were in the slots for the Reds, while Cean pitched and Hendricks caught for the Scorpions.

Second Guessing

BY MILT MOSKOWITZ
 We never thought that nine innings of baseball could drag out as long as some of the current epics being run off at Gowdy Field. So far, in the second half, there hasn't been a single contest consummated in less than two hours, with the average running about 2 hours and 30 minutes.

The patio, service club, library, PX, and movie houses are all shut up before the lights go out at Gowdy Field. On Saturdays, there is baseball from one o'clock to about six-thirty, with a half-hour intermission between games.

And what baseball it is! Hardly a game goes by without one team sending up fourteen or fifteen batters in an inning. When we go to sleep at night, we see balls going through infielders' legs and popping out of outfielders' gloves. Only one team, the 75th Troop, has played an errorless game in the second half.

The scores of these games practically always run into double figures for both teams, with 12-10 being a particular favorite. Played in this manner, baseball begins to get boring, and the security of spectators at Gowdy Field these evenings indicates that such is the case with Fort Benning baseball.

But Grinols pitched a game Sunday against the Airborne that he should have won, 4-3, but unfortunately there's more to a ball game than pitching. For example, the outfielders are supposed to catch high fly balls, and infielders are not supposed to let grounders go through their legs. All of which is foreign to a few of the 37th Troop players, who let in unearned runs.

There were sharp, acrimonious words between Grinols and the Airborne catcher, Gallagher, during the course of Sunday's contest. Hal fanned the Jersey City backstop once, and the next time up he walked him, throwing three straight pitches that went straight at Gallagher and didn't curve.

Umpire-in-chief Tillman seemed to be the only one in the park Sunday who thought that Green's home run bounced before going over the fence. After a few moments of argument the 37th convinced Tillman that the ball never bounced until it hit the street outside the park.

Floyd Dooley played his last game for the Airborne Monday and apparently is trying too hard his last time up, as he went down swinging. "Boney" Bonair broke out of his lethargy Monday night with three hits against Lawson, however he messed up twice in the field, the first time in the second half. Ralph Terry was lead out by Lawson in batting going into the Lawson encounter, but he went 1 for 6 and dropped to .351. Pritchard has begun to get base hits now that he is choking up on his bat. He still looks like the classiest fielder in the league to this writer.

Chris Shaver has finally returned to his first love, catching. After being away for so long, the Chief admitted to thinking behind the plate and made an error last Saturday when he allowed Watts to reach first base after striking out Herb. Laive broke out of this slump by beating out a bunt for a hit, and then the next time up drove out a hard, clean sin-

Lawson Airplane On Flood Mission

A C-82 of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron at Lawson field was pressed into emergency service last Saturday evening when it was ordered to fly two giant Diesel generators from Scott Field, Ill., to flood stricken Ottumwa, Iowa. The plane completed the mission in two flights from Scott Field to the inundated area, and returned to the base Sunday evening.

Flying the mission were Lt. James Perry, pilot and Lt. John Lacey, co-pilot. Sgt. Marion Mahone was the radio operator and T-Sgt. Grady Detson was the crew chief.

Seymour has proved to be a mid sensation by leading the league in batting with a 5 for 7 mark. Second base is still the hot spot in the line up.

Good catchers are hard to find, but the 75th has one of the best consistent a hitters, however, he does come through in the pinch. Job of holding Watts and Martin Ben has been picking off runners and base-stealers with amazing regularity during the second half, also, and has more assists than any other receiver on the post.

The 204th Troopers have the greatest number of 400 hitters on the post, six right now. Not losing heart after two successive defeats, the team rallied to take straight and go into second place. Doyle Feeler, however, is being overlooked. The curve-ball specialist has worked in every game so far.

Jack Forbes' first-half batting charm, has blasted out three trippies, a homer, and a double in addition to a few mercenary singles in the second half. Eddie Ben, the Lawson catcher, leads the league in getting hit by the pitcher. He has accomplished that twice already in the second half.

Bill Johnson, last year's TIS third baseman, is getting a great deal of votes for the all-star team, and he has a lot to do with the rise of the Yankees to first place. Ben Zientra, another ex-Benning player, is now playing regularly with the Reds. Ewell Blackwell, still another ex-Benningite, is a good bet to start the all-star game. Buddy is getting rerooked out of the shortstop position in the National League through the efforts of the fans, and the deplorable fact that not one New York newspaper is printing the all-star ball. Miller and Marion will make the team, but the best shortstop in the league will have to listen to the game on the radio.

I guess there just isn't any justice.

Midget Auto Races To Draw Big Crowd

Rained out last Friday night, what was expected to be the best program of the season, the mid-midget auto races will seek to make good for lost time this Friday night at Idle Hour park with the largest crowd of the year, both in the cars, and in the stands, on Saturday.

The 'old guard' of drivers; competing here since the season began, realize the new drivers coming down here from the east, and the north will make it difficult to win, but such competent racers as Bill Blacklock, Hank Russell, Hank Blacklock, Bob Johnson, LeRoy Hicks, Johnny Suggs, and others feel certain they can hold their own.

Griffin Track Opens
 The midget track at Griffin opened Saturday night, and will draw some entries, who will race here, on Friday nights and then move to Griffin to get in two days of work a week.

With more tracks in this area, it will give the racers an added incentive to compete in the south, and the entire circuit, including Idle Hour, will benefit by the additions.

Alex Brewer, promoter of the events, has received phone calls, telegrams, and letters from northern drivers, but in the past, advised them to stay where they could race several times a week, rather than risk everything in one night. Now he is contacting them, explaining there are new fields in the south, and it is possible to make a living in the Georgia area.

Friday night's program at Idle Hour is certain to be one of the largest this year. The track needed the rains of last week to level off some of the rough spots put there by the Hell Drivers, and it is in the best condition of the past.

Bullets Defeat Wildcats, 15-3

BY ALYSEN E. WISE

Combining 18 hits for 15 runs, the 25th Combat Team Bullets overpowered the Columbus Wildcats by a 15 to 3 score before a large turn out of fans at Bullets Field last Wednesday night. Right-hander Walter Scott set back the visitors with 7 scattered hits, and fanned 15 batters for his fifth win in seven starts.

In a scheduled twin bill with the Columbus Cubs last Sunday at Golden Park, the Bullets suffered their first shut out this season by a 5 to 0 count. Eight Cub hits combined with a costly Bullet errors gave right ball Johnny "Ike" Loom his third loss in eight games. The nightcap failed to enter the record books due to only three and one half innings being played at the 5:45 p. m. deadline. The Bullets were leading 5-4 when the affair was halted.

Relentless Attack

In the Wildcat game, the Bullets started a relentless attack in their half of the first inning by pounding the horseshoe for a quartet of hits for two runs. Lenny Smith singled by second, Jojo Hughes' smash to short was recorded as a batter's choice. Smith being thrown out short to second. Gordon Burke's long single to right scored Hughes. Eddie Baldwin singled to right to score Burke. Liner Malory's fly to right singled Baldwin to third. Smith grounded out to first unassisted. Brown went out on a called strike to end the inning. 4 runs, 2 errors, Bullets 2, Wildcats 0.

Scott allowed the visitors only one big inning, the Bullets were third when they collected three of the ledger. The Sand Hitters registered hits for runs in every inning but the sixth. Eddie Baldwin led the stricken with four hits for five, with Lenny Smith and Jimmy Sanders being tied for second place with three for five respectively.

Biggest Upset

The season's biggest upset took place at Golden Park Sunday when the Columbus Cubs became the first club of the year to initiate a shut out over the Bullets, by a 5-0 count. Four costly errors by the Bullets' first line of defense came at a most opportu-time for the home team to tallied. The home team's 8th batter was impressive enough for any team to have given a better account of themselves. The Bullets got to pitcher Jeff Washington for seven clean binges, but the Cubs garnered only one error which came at a time when it allowed no damage. During the three and one half inning game, the Bullets, behind the effective hurling of undefeated Pat Young had found their stride and were leading 5-4 at the cessation of hostilities.

'Briar' Collector Numbered Among Officer Candidates

BY O-C ROBERT D. NELSON
"A man's best friend is a good pipe," or so says Chuck E. Davis, member of Army Officer Candidate class No. 8. An ardent collector of "briars" since 18, Candidate Davis' assortment currently totals some 20 smoking instruments.

Interested in novelty as well as smoking value, his collection includes pipes of all sizes and shapes, both foreign and American. Most prized as a collector's item is a two-foot Turkish original with two-foot water canister and more than eight feet of hose from the briar to the ivory mouth piece. However, since it requires a whole tobacco leaf soaked in alcohol for smoking, it is much too strong for the average smoker.

Mexican Clay Pipe

At the other extreme, a small pipe fashioned of clay which Candidate Davis obtained in Mexico, is a surprisingly cool smoke in spite of the substitution of clay for briar. This pipe is of the type used by the Incas centuries ago.

For pure smoking pleasure, however, Chuck recommends the German Merchaum, the American Kaywoodie, or Mecman. And, of course, the not-to-be forgotten long-stemmed cornob, important to the smoker and connoisseur alike.

Advice To 'Pipehorn'

In mentioning the all-important tobacco itself, Chuck says that experimenting with various "cuts" and mixtures until you obtain one that suits your own taste is the most successful method. By the same token, advice to the "pipe-forn" might be that by this method you can also obtain an aroma that pleases the Missus. In keeping your tobacco fresh, a moisturizing agent can be used which adds flavor at the same time; for example, a tigger of rum or a slice of a juicy apple placed in the humidor will accomplish both purposes.

When questioned as to whether he regarded it as an activity strictly for men, Candidate Davis expressed the fervent hope that it will always remain so and will never be subject to exploitation by the fairer sex.

"The greatest joy a man can know is an easy chair, his slippers, and his pipe," according to Chuck Davis.

College ROTC Students Here For Training

Approximately 850 ROTC students from 17 Southeastern colleges are in the first phase of an intensive six-week training program here under the command of Col. Samuel A. Gibson, professor of military science and tactics at North Carolina State college.

Arriving by private car, train, and bus over the week end, the future reserve officers began classes Monday. Officials said that the training will emphasize technical subjects rather than pre-war foot drills. Among the courses slated for study are recoilless weapons and rocket motors.

The reservists have set up camp in the Harmony area adjacent to the Army Officer Candidate school. The Student Training Regiment is responsible, however, only for housing of the students since the colleges must send their own staff of 50 experienced ROTC instructors.

Schools represented are Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Airburn), Citadel, Clemson, Davidson, Georgia Tech, Mississippi State, North Carolina State, North Georgia college, Presbyterian college, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Wolford college.

Negro students from Tuskegee Institute and North Carolina A and T college are also undergoing the training.

Four branches of Army service are represented among the students. They include infantry, field artillery, engineers, and signal corps. The teaching staff is composed of combat-experienced officers and men who will execute tactical problems worked out in actual battle during World War II.

ROTC officials said that the Infantry School will cooperate with the training program by providing several infantry demonstrations during the course.

72nd Army Band Heard Yesterday On Radio Network

Fort Benning's 72nd Army Band was heard over a coast-to-coast network for the second time this month when it broadcast yesterday from Warm Springs, Ga., over CBS during dedication of the Little White House as a national shrine.

The first national hook-up broadcast was made June 7 over ABC from the Columbus fair grounds during the "Our Town Speaks" program.

Ceremonies at Warm Springs Wednesday were in honor of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who made the six-room cottage at Warm Springs his Georgia home during his frequent visits to the foundation.

The Little White House was willed to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation by the late President. The deed was presented to Georgia's Gov. M. E. Thompson and the foundation transferred to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Warm Springs Memorial commission.

A host of prominent men from states throughout the nation and diplomatic representatives from a score of foreign countries attended the ceremonies. Several top ranking officers from Fort Benning also were present.

The band was heard from 2:10 until 3:15 p. m.

MAJ. GEN. MOHAMMAD HOSEIN FIROUZ

Top Iranian Air Force Officer Ends Visit Here

Maj. Gen. Mohammad Hosein Firouz, inspector general of the Iranian Air Force, leaves Fort Benning at 9 a. m. today for Maxwell Field, Ala., following a three-day visit to the Infantry Center.

Gen. Firouz, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Charles W. Lawrence, of the U. S. Army, arrived here Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. on the first leg of an extensive tour of American military installations as guest of the War Department. He was met at Lawson field by a guard of honor composed of the First Battalion of the 37th Infantry, the 76th Tank Battalion, a battery from the 8th Field Artillery Battalion, and the 72nd Army Band.

Confers with O'Daniel
The Iranian general spent the first part of Tuesday morning in conference with Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, and Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Shepard, assistant commandant of the Infantry School. Later he visited the operations section.

At 10 a. m. he witnessed an artillery firing demonstration and at 10:30 a. m. he saw a special puff board demonstration. A firing demonstration of self-propelled weapons at Werner range at 11 a. m. and a machine gun firing demonstration at Galloway range at 11:30 a. m. completed the morning's activities.

During the afternoon Gen. Firouz visited the communications and automotive sections of the Infantry School and the training aids exhibit. At 3:30 p. m. he witnessed a special demonstration of rifle grenades, rocket launchers and flame throwers at Bickford range and from 4:15 until 5 p. m. he saw a demonstration of the 81 mm and 75 mm recoilless rifles at Patton range.

During the afternoon Gen. Firouz Airborne Section. Wednesday morning the Iranian inspector general toured the Army Ground Forces Board No. 1.

Gen. Firouz will spend two days at Maxwell field's Air University where he will observe doctrine and training methods of a tactical air force. Monday, June 23. (Continued on Page 2)

TO SERVE BENNING ONLY

Benning Separation Point Slated To Cease Operation

Fort Benning's separation point which has processed approximately 640 officers and 13,000 enlisted men since it opened on October 10, 1946, will close June 30 and operate from that date as a separation division only for officers and men stationed here.

In a letter from Third Army headquarters in Atlanta the action was outlined with sections for separating officers and EM in the future.

Major I. G. Miles, in charge of the point here, explained today that starting July 1 the separation activity will be a division under the adjutant general and will operate to separate Fort Benning personnel only.

35 Men Per Day

Since its inception in 1946, the point here has served to separate personnel from Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. During the height of operation, just before Christmas, 450 officers and men were separated in one day to enable them to reach home for the holidays. The average for the past month has been 35 per day.

The point has been operating with a strength of 110, including 25 civilians. After July 1 the strength will be reduced to 63 with no civilians employed.

It has been announced from headquarters at the Infantry Center that the separation division of the Adjutant General Section will remain at the present location of the separation point with personnel to be separated to be reported to the separation division. Officer personnel will report three days prior to processing prior to departure on terminal leave, while enlisted personnel will report three days prior to departure. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are not to be considered process days in computing the time for reporting.

Uniforms Authorized

Uniforms for processing will be fatigue cloth and each separate will be allowed to retain the following list of clothing: one pair of one web waist belt, one cotton garrison cap with insignia, one insignia set, one coat which may be wool serge olive drab or a field jacket if already issued, one raincoat, two shirts, one of which may be wool if already issued, two pair of trousers, one of which may be wool if leather shoes or boots, and all goods, handkerchiefs, identification tags, neckties, socks, toilet articles, towels, underwear and other used shoes and socks. Entries on the uniform and orthopedic special measurement footwear in his possession or on order.

Lawson To Sponsor 9th AF Model Airplane Club Here

Lawson Field has been selected by the Ninth Air Force to sponsor an airplane model club among military personnel and civilians. The suggestion for the club was announced today by Lt. Rex M. Ellis, base recruiting officer. The club will be appointed and will work with the Columbus model airplane club to formulate a program and financial assistance in organizing and conducting model airplane contests.

The contest will be held at Lawson Field and will represent the base at a model airplane meet which will be held at Ninth Air Force headquarters in Greenville, S. C., on Army Air Force Day, August 1.

Enthusiastic backing for the project and national leaders of model associations have expressed enthusiastic backing for the project and Donald K. Foote, chairman of the Gas Model association of

117 OCs Slated To Graduate

More than 100 men are slated to become second lieutenants today when members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 6 receive their certificates of proficiency and commissions. Ceremonies will be held in the Harmony Church amphitheater with an estimated audience of more than 200 relatives and friends. Immediately following the exercises a luncheon will be held at the Officers' club. At that time tactical officers will deliver brief addresses.

Final Review

Last night the 117 graduating candidates were reviewed for the final time by Col. Irvine C. Scudder, commanding officer of the Student Training Regiment. Today's exercises mark the completion of the six-month training course which gets underway last January 2 with a total of 195 men in the class. Of the total there were 94 officers from the Chinese National Army. The average length of service for each of the candidates is 25 months and the average age is 21. The candidate with the longest record of service is Marcell W. Wickli with nine years.

The Corps of Engineers will receive 18 graduates, the Infantry 18, and Signal Corp 17. Honor graduate is Marcus W. Coyle, of Detroit, Mich.

Post Unit Takes Part In Appreciation Day

Approximately 120 members of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion took part in the Manchester, Ga., Vet Appreciation Day Tuesday.

The engineers paraded through downtown Manchester at 10 a. m. as a prelude to an address delivered by Col. William O. Blandford at 3 p. m. Colonel Blandford spoke of the surveying and mapping work briefly on the universal training experiment underway at Fort Knox, Ky.

Post Vocational School Opening Set For July 14

The Infantry Center Vocational school is slated to open its summer quarter July 14, Capt. Willard E. Chambers, information and education officer, announced today.

Several qualified civilian high school teachers have been engaged to supplement the military personnel who have already volunteered to teach the 17 scheduled courses, he said. Among the civilians who will instruct post personnel are Douglas C. Wallace, former Bayonet editor who is now employed by the Columbus Ledger-Enquirer and Joe Byers, head announcer at radio station WDAK in Columbus. Mr. Wallace will teach journalism and Mr. Byers will give instruction in radio announcing and techniques.

Courses to be offered during the summer session include, in addition to journalism and radio announcing, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and accounting, literacy training, arithmetic, English grammar, public speaking, algebra, mathematics, psychology and life, American history, instrumental music, trigonometry, beginner's art and commercial art.

Arrangements also have been made with the Muscogee county airport to offer flying courses leading to attainment of a private pilot's license. Captain Chambers reported. This will be handled entirely by the vocational school and is open to all personnel who are completing training under the GI Bill of Rights.

It was also announced that plans are being made to open formally the vocational school at the same time the summer quarter begins. Specific broadcasts will be made over Columbus radio stations.

Applications for admission to the school are still being accepted, Captain Chambers said, that approximately 250 already have applied.

Col. Wallender To Leave Post

Col. Elmer F. Wallender, who came to Fort Benning in March of 1946, has received orders which will transfer him to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he will be in command of the Sam Houston General Depot. It was announced today.

Colonel Wallender is in charge of the Central Post, has been and is also the claims and survey officers as well as being president of the Officers' Club. Mrs. Wallender served as president of the Fort Benning Women's Club during the highly successful year in charge of that organization. Miss Bobbie Wallender, daughter of the Colonel, has been in charge of the Nursery School during the past year and will go with her parents to Texas. They will leave here July 1.

Colonel Wallender has been in service nearly 20 years and was stationed here in 1925-26 as a student. He has been at Fort Sam Houston for a year and a half prior to coming here in 1946. He had spent 27 months in the southwest Texas with the Army Service Forces.

BRIDGE BUILDERS—Sgt. Deck E. Billingsley, S/Sgt. John T. Arrington, and T/4 Jacob S. Mason, all of Company O of the 78th Engineers, earned the deep appreciation of the Alabama State Highway Commission recently. The commission purchased a 24-ton capacity Bailey Bridge from the War Assets Administration in New York to replace a bridge which collapsed. Until the new bridge was erected, a 58-mile detour was necessary on the Highway. The Army loaned these three men to the Highway Commission, and with the help of unskilled labor, they had the 270-foot bridge, with a center span of 148 feet, in place and open to traffic in less than four days.

AOCC 12 MEMBERS HOLD VARIED MARKS

In a recent poll of members of from among members of AOCC Army Officer Candidate class No. 12 it was found that the average length of service for each candidate was three years, 15 days, that each man averaged four months naval duty, that each man wore two battle stars.

Among these candidates many have been decorated. The awards include Silver Stars, Bronze Stars, Distinguished Flying Crosses, Air Medals, and multitudes of Purple Hearts, Presidential Unit Citations, and Army Commendation ribbons. A few of the total number of candidates have also been prisoners of war.

Of the military campaigns in the late war not one is known which did not have a participant.

A typical example of the men in the candidate company is one who entered the service in 1942.

Upon completion of three months' basic at Fort Bragg, N. C., he joined a stateside division for an additional three-month training before going overseas. After 18 months in Africa and Italy his outfit was sent to England. He made the Normandy invasion in which he was wounded.

As a result of his wound he was returned to the U. S., but after recuperating was sent to the Pacific where he participated in the Philippine campaign. When the point system was initiated, he was sent home for separation. He re-enlisted shortly thereafter in order to enter Army Officer Candidate school.

The consensus among the future officers in AOCC class No. 12, however, is that they cannot rest on their past laurels. "It is our goal to make an equally outstanding name for ourselves here as officer candidates," they say.

Buyers, Sellers Find Opportunity At Trading Post

As complete as a modern department store in its range of goods, the Trading Post, under the sponsorship of the Woman's club, is doing a thriving business this summer, offering both customers and individuals with goods to sell, opportunity to do business at Fort Snelling.

The Post, which began operation early this spring is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., while on Wednesday the store operates from 12 to 3.

Anyone wishing to sell an item may take it there to arrange for pickup by calling 2363. A small profit from each item is given to the Woman's club for charity work, while the remainder is returned to the original owner.

Customers at the shop, located under Doughboy stadium, will find articles ranging from earrings to a full dining suite of masonware offered for sale, and the list of goods covers clothing, shoes, furniture, china, baby carriages, a toy train, drum, large roaster and kitchen cabinet.

One of the most interesting items now on sale is an antique cradle of gold walnut which is 150 years old. The beautifully-carved piece of furniture is a collector's item, complete with porcelain castors that mark it as a genuine antique.

New merchandise is arriving every day, according to Mrs. G. E. Toke, manager of the store, and particularly in demand are play pens, baby beds, lawn mowers, book cases and writing desks.

The general will visit the Mountain Training Center at Camp Carson from July 5 until July 10. During that time he will inspect artillery equipment and observe training methods including air observation from cub planes.

Gen. Finout's tour will end with a visit to Fort Sill, Okla. He will spend three days there inspecting equipment and observing training methods. He returns to Washington July 17.

Six Get Rifle Awards

Rifle qualification badges were awarded last week to six enlisted men from Squadron F at Lawson Field. Squadron officials have announced.

Qualifying for sharpshooter were Cpl. Joe Irwin and Cpl. Robert L. Jenkins. Establishing marksmanship records were Sgt. R. C. McGee, Cpl. Lawrence Adams, Cpl. J. D. Dixon and Cpl. Theodore Simpson.

Lawson Units Get New COs

Both squadrons of the 319th AAF Base Unit at Lawson Field were assigned new commanding officers recently, headquarters officials announced.

Squadron A, was placed under the command of Maj. Harvey E. Rehner. He formerly commanded Sqd. F and succeeded Maj. J. D. Briggs, who left the base recently for the University of Denver where he will study aircraft engineering.

Command of Squadron F, was assigned to Maj. Jerome Schweickert, who formerly served as assistant base plans and training officer. Major Rehner and Major Schweickert are former fighter pilots and served in the Pacific and ITO, respectively. They both reported to Lawson Field during the latter part of 1946.

BO OFFICES COMBINED

The Red Cross, Airborne and Separation Center areas will be combined July 1 and will move to building 2526 in the former Reception Center area, Murray E. Hill, field director, announced today. Reason behind the move is a reduction in personnel on the post, Mr. Hill said. Charles Parker will be in charge of the consolidated offices.

Air Force Introduces New Enlistment Plan

Qualified high school graduates can enlist in the Army Air Forces and can be guaranteed specialized training in technical courses of their own choosing under a new enlistment plan inaugurated by the AAF.

Thirty-five AAF courses ranging from photo lithography to sheet metal working are open to eligible recruits who enlist for 3 years. Under the plan, high school graduates apply and are designated for selected courses prior to enlistment and receive certificates assigning them to special schools when they enter the AAF.

Successful completion of the courses which run from four to twenty-eight weeks makes recruits eligible for assignment to advanced technical training.

Not Required to Enlist
High school graduates who apply for the special training are not under obligation to enlist. However, when a specialized applicant is accepted for training, he is guaranteed admission to the AAF course for which he had been certified.

QM Plans New Type Eyeshield

The Quartermaster Corps is engaged in a research project which seeks to develop an improved type of eyeshield for use of the infantry soldier. The objective is an item which will eliminate fogging of glasses worn under the shield and give better fit, ventilation and comfort than presently issued goggles and sun glasses.

In the study, newly developed lens materials, frame materials and methods of fabrication are being investigated. A type of nylon which can be readily molded into scratch-proof, transparent plastic sheet material, both tinted and clear, which can be fabricated in the frame by electronic heat sealing, are being evaluated. An improved type of case for the eyeshields is also being designed.

The goggles now issued are considered too heavy for comfort. They interfere with the wearing of headgear, and because of their bulk it is difficult to carry them in any pocket except the side pocket of the fatigue uniform. The present sun glasses developed in 1944 do not furnish adequate protection from dust, wind and rain.

As the new items are produced, they will be tested by the Army Ground Forces.

Former Sergeant Recalled To Active Duty As Captain

T/Sgt. Patrick W. Henry, of Lawson Field, a former B-17 navigator, was recalled to active duty as an officer last Monday, June 23, officials have announced. He was given his former rank of captain and assigned to the AAF School at Boca Raton, Fla.

During the war he served in the CTO as a navigator with the 478th Bomb Group of the Eighth Air Force. After being shot down over Holland he spent eight months in prison and assigned to the states in June, 1945. The following December he was separated from the service as a captain.

In October, 1946, he reentered service at Lawson field with the grade of tech sergeant, and was assigned to the NCO club steward. More recently he served with the base communications maintenance section.

Captain Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Henry of 169 Mahawk street, Mobile, Ala. His wife is the former Miss Nan Lamb of Albany, Ga.

C. of G. Diesel Man O'War, Seen Here

Fort Benning's military and civilian personnel were given a preview of future railroad travel between Columbus and Atlanta a June 18 when the Central of Georgia's sleek new streamliner, Man O'War, was on display at the post.

The diesel locomotive and four coaches of gleaming stainless steel were open for public inspection beginning at 10 a. m. and continuing until 6 p. m. Each of the coaches has been named for a Georgia military installation. The combination tower observation car bears the name Fort Benning. Other coaches are Fort Mitchell, Fort Oglethorpe, an dFort McPherson.

At noon Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, was host at an informal luncheon at the officers' club to which railroad officials, Budd Co. officials, General Motors officials, and several post officers were invited.

At 1 p. m. there was a broadcast from the train over radio station WFBZ featuring brief talks by M. P. Galloway, General of Georgia trustee, Gen. O'Daniel and Fitzwilliam Sargent, vice-president of the Budd Co. Several persons from Fort Benning were also interviewed.

Classical Hour Draws Big Crowd

Tschakowsky Hour will feature the regular Thursday night program of recordings which has been receiving the attention of rapidly increasing audiences in Library number 2, Sand Hill Area. Conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Ebbie Dorsey, librarian, each weekly program is the result of a poll taken from among the previous weeks audience.

Last week, the record concert touched upon the patterns of such outstanding artists as Igor Stravinsky, Marian Anderson, Lily Pons, Doris Maynor and Alexander Kipnis. Narrated by M-Sgt. Marian K. Cobb, the event was acclaimed the most successful of the current series. Sgt. Cobb concisely gave a short review on each hit, and mentioned one of the most memorable occasions ever to happen to him—that of having personally met Igor Corin.

Mrs. Dorsey's assisting staff includes Sgt. Cobb, Sgt. Lewis Chatman, and 1st Samuel Rawls.

Umtees Gain Weight, Height

The Army routine of good food, regular hours and exercise, enjoyed by trainees of the universal military training experimental unit at Fort Knox, Ky., has resulted in an average weight gain of six pounds per man in the past twelve weeks. Brig. Gen. John M. Devine, experimental unit commander, announced today.

Only sixteen of 508 teen-agers lost weight, and of the sixteen, fourteen had been overweight, but are now within normal weight standards for their ages.

Other medical findings show all-around improvement in the physical condition of the trainees. Forty per cent of the trainees show a chest expansion gain of one inch or more, while an additional 15.72 per cent gained one-half to one inch. Most of the remainder added to their chest expansion, but the amount was not recorded if below one-half inch.

Surgeon's measurements also revealed that 120 of the trainees had grown half an inch or more in height in twelve weeks.

The Right Direction

The Bayonet has long campaigned for universal military training. From the beginning we have steadfastly maintained that compulsory military training is the only sure step in the right direction toward world peace. Now that the President's special committee to investigate UMT has made its report, we are more convinced than ever that it is a wise course — indeed a necessary course.

Members of the President's commission represented all shades of political thinking. Some have even been branded as slightly left of center; nonetheless, they unanimously agreed on one point: the U. S. must have universal military training.

One of the surest ways to get into a bitter argument even among the military, however, is to mention the fact that universal military training is vital to our defense. Some say it would be an infringement on our personal liberties or a mock to democracy. This is an absurdity. In fact, it is so definitely a stupid and groundless statement that we shouldn't even bother to attempt a rebuttal. Despite our beliefs, however, we shall try once again to extoll the good points in the argument and at the same time to show that it is a democratic way of life and that our personal liberties are not being taken from us.

In so far as our personal liberties are concerned, wouldn't it be a hollow mockery if this country were ever conquered by another nation to ask for personal liberties as we know them today? The only way to make sure that the U. S. remains free from aggression is to be prepared, and the only way to be prepared is to have universal military training. Many years ago there were loud dissenting voices on the subject of compulsory education, and the same arguments against it were advanced. The bill passed, however, and we Americans are now proud of our education system.

We have developed in this country the very bad habit of branding everything with which we don't agree as un-American. This is especially true in the case of universal military training. It has never been done before, and we can't say any use for it now, so say those who are opposed to UMT. They fail to realize that times have changed. We wouldn't think of going out in weather thirty degrees below zero wearing only a bathing suit. By the same token we shouldn't try to live in an armed world without universal military training. If we want to preserve our democracy, we will insist upon universal training.

One of the favorite arguments of those who wish to see the issue tabled is that the Army or Navy is no place for American youth. Here again we accuse those persons of not looking beyond their noses. Nowhere else can a young man enjoy such camaraderie as in one of the branches of the armed forces. Nowhere else can he develop his physical fitness to such an extent. Nowhere else can he learn so much about so many things and at the same time keep his body healthy. Nowhere else can he get such a good liberal education free.

The provisions of this universal military training bill ensure that the trainee will not be called upon to serve outside the continental limits of the United States. Upon completion of six months service in one of the training centers, he will be free to choose his branch of service if he desires to remain in the Army for a longer period of time. This, however, is not mandatory. If he so elects, he can take off his uniform and become a civilian again. Provided he does not want to make the Army a career but does want additional military training, he may elect to join the National Guard or a reserve organization, or he may enter college and join an ROTC unit. Although six months is hardly sufficient length of time to train men well, it is better than nothing and will at least lay the groundwork for further training should it become necessary.

It's about time we face the issue squarely and stop looking around for excuses. If we want to remain free, we must give our support to our Army leaders who advocate universal military training.

THE MORAL IDEAL
By Chaplain Emmet M. Carpenter

The moral ideal found in the Ten Commandments is not to be thought of as vague and unreal. It is most likely that if it made no difference, for this ideal is so definite no one can escape its meaning. It is so important that on it hangs the issue of life and death.

From the beginning, the human race has followed the gleam of the moral ideal. The first man, Adam, betrayed it and was filled with fear. Noah in his day realized that God would not indefinitely permit it to be violated. Moses sees it and gives it to the people in the form of the Ten Commandments to enlighten us and guide us.

There is nothing uncertain about the Ten Commandments. They define the ideal that men thousands of years ago were able to understand and which many of today seek to render obsolete. The prophets of later generations pleaded with men to return to them. They are so sound that the supreme Teacher declared not one jot nor tittle should pass away until all are fulfilled.

During these thousands of years many things have changed, but the moral ideal has not dimmed its light. In their scope, the Ten Commandments are so amazing and so far above the moral level of all ages, they can be explained only as the Word of God. With the passing of the ages, many difficulties have come in man's way of thinking which have tended toward compromise. But God has never lowered His demands from human life. No matter how shallow and corrupt man gets, there is always the ideal for man is never lowered. And we are careless in our thinking when we think that we can lightly do away with this ideal. It is the one thing who goes to pieces, not the ideal.

From the beginning God knew the nature of the human soul and He set before it the one ideal that could lead it to Heaven. When the soul heeds this demand it is conscious of dwelling where it is intended to dwell.

The young Medical lieutenant walked past the ward each morning; in the yard one of the inmates was always going through all the motions of winding up and pitching an imaginary ball.

One of his friends, while asked: "Why do you stop each morning and watch that screwball go through his motions?"

"Well," he answered, "if things keep going the way they are, I'll be in there some day catching for that guy and I want to get onto his curves."

KINGSBLOOD ROYAL

Instead of the usual blurb on the jacket of "this book in the Book Club edition, striking white and red type on a black background announce "A blazing story with theme that will jolt the nation!"

Since the blurb is usually written by the author, we presume that Sinclair Lewis really felt that this was a jolting story, and he handles the situation as such but at the same time making too many adjustments in the plot and characters for the purpose of pointing out what he believes rather than telling a convincing story.

"Kingsblood Royal" takes place in Grand Republic, Minnesota, the same setting used in the highly successful "Cross Timbers" written in 1945, and again Lewis takes a probing look at society in the town of 8,000 people which he has created in his mind. In this story his central character is a young banker named Neil who discovers that he is one thirty-second Negro.

Reactions Not Integrated

The plot hinges on Neil's reactions to this discovery of Negro blood on his mother's side of the family. And the reactions of Neil are understandable to a certain extent although they do not seem to be well integrated in the personality of a man who "only once in his life had possessed a friend with whom he could talk about fear and love and God and that friend he had known for only two weeks." Yet, of such a young man, intent on his banking career and the husband of Vesta, the daughter of the president of the Prairie Power and Light Corporation, and past president of the Junior League, Lewis paints a picture of violent reactions wherein the upstanding young man rejects his entire social and economic standing to fight for his colored brothers.

The ideal is beautiful as the author has presented it. His case for the Negro race is strong and his belief in their worth is evident and persuasive. In its facts concerning the Negro and his problems the book does have a theme that may well jolt the nation. This forward presentation of the picture of educated Negroes who are denied rights to jobs they are fitted for, of proper living conditions and to most of the rights taken for granted by a white person, is an important piece of literature in this era following a great world war and through the novel form, the author has been able to throw a light on the huge injustices in the thinking of white people in connection with the Negro. The old prejudices, myths and actions are all shown here and further sharpened when they are presented in this Minnesota town which claims to be far from the South and Southern feelings on the subject.

The work of presenting the Negro problem is well done. The ignorance and narrow-mindedness

90 To Graduate From National War College

Graduation exercises for the initial class of the National War College at Washington, D. C., were held at the National War College auditorium Friday, June 20, at 10 a. m.

Ninety officers, equally divided among Army Ground Forces Army Air Forces and the Navy, received diplomas, presented by Secretary of State George C. Marshall. He addressed the graduating class briefly.

The college, operating under the direction of the joint chiefs of staff, is completing its initial course, which began Sept. 3, 1946. It has the mission of preparing selected senior officers of the armed forces and of the State Department for high policy and command positions. The curriculum stresses the coordination of our military policy with our foreign policy.

Ten State Department foreign service officers attended the major portion of the course, but because of pressing requirements for their services, were unable to remain the entire year. They will receive recognition for partial completion of the course.

Vice Admiral Harry W. Hill is the commandant, Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther is deputy commandant, Brig. Gen. Truman H. Landon is deputy commandant for operations, and George F. Kennan, recently appointed director of the policy and planning staff of the Department of State, is deputy for foreign affairs. of the majority of the white people, in all classes from bank presidents to illiterate factory workers is well pointed out, but in the main character the action fails to ring true.

In the first place, Neil, on learning of his Negro blood, suddenly shows more social conscience than the author has pictured him capable of having. His entire background does not fit him suddenly to be so up-rooted by such a fact. Secondly, the reaction of his peers in society does not ring true. When he admits his ancestry, he is rejected by his old friends while his brother Robert seems to go untouched either by his own conscience or his friends.

To say that the book is anything but good would be unfair because of its many merits in presenting the Negro's side of a question of overwhelming importance today, but to uphold the entire plot and characterization is impossible since too many of the actors seem motivated by what Lewis feels necessary to bring out the facts he wishes to present rather than their own personalities.

A guide is an elastic supplement to a stern reality.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

GUN FIGHTERS (western-cinecolor) with Randolph Scott, Barbara Britton, and Bruce Cabot. Cursed by a reputation for being fast on the draw, Scott is constantly challenged by those who think they can beat him. He finally puts aside his guns only to find that he is still challenged by those who cannot be ignored and must be fought with or without guns. Recommended for family.

HIGH CONQUEST (mountain climbing) with Anna Lee, Gilbert Roland and Warren Douglas. With many scenes photographed in Switzerland, this picture presents spectacular scenery and spine-chilling suspense in the conflict between two mountain climbers who are in the same girl. Recommended for family.

NORTHWEST OUTPOST (musical adventure) with Nelson Eddy, Ilona Massey, and Joseph Schildkraut. Against a background of a Russian colony established on the West coast in the early nineteenth century, Nelson Eddy and Ilona Massey sing their way through an adventurous time created when her husband, a political prisoner, turns up in the colony. Recommended for family.

DEAR RUTH (comedy) with Joan Caulfield, William Holden, and Edward Arnold. Helping to build up a soldier's morale is commendable. Falling in love is also commendable. But when the feminine interest in the case is unaware of the whole situation because it was promoted by her kid sister, the result can be very tragic or very funny. In this case it is funny and the laughs come thick and fast. Recommended for family.

I COVER BIG TOWN (newspaper story) with Philip Reed, Hillary Brooke, and Robert Lowery. This second release in the Big Town series finds the newspaper fighting with the chief of police until a murder scandal turns up. Then it is every man for himself. Recommended for family.

DANGEROUS VENTURE (western) with William Boyd, Andy Clyde, and Rand Brooks. Something new has been added: This new release in the Hopalong Cassidy series has Hoppy defending Indians instead of fighting them. Recommended for family.

Miss Hine Weds Lt. Rouillard In June Ceremony At Chapel

Beautiful in an afternoon dress of pale aqua, Miss Janet Hine, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Daniel P. Buckland, became the bride for Lt. Granville Rouillard, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Irving G. Rouillard, in an impressive ceremony held Saturday afternoon at the Post Chapel.

The groom's father, assisted by Chaplain William C. Shure, officiated at the ceremony, and Warren Rouillard, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride, whose dress was cut with a flared skirt and cowl neckline, and decorated with a row of covered buttons across the shoulder, carried a colonial bouquet of white flowers tied with a white ribbon. Her white straw hat was an off-the-face model decorated with tulle which formed a bow in the back falling to her shoulders. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Arthur Peset was the maid of honor and only attendant to the bride. Her dress was of pale pink silk and her bouquet was a smaller colonial arrangement resembling the bride's flowers.

The guests were seated by the ushers, Lt. Arthur Pesce and Lt. Charles McCarthy. Mrs. L. H. Averitt played the organ and Cpl. George Lewis was the soloist. The church was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and white tapers burning in tall candleholders.

Immediately following the ceremony, 76 guests were invited to a reception held at the quarters of Colonel and Mrs. Buckland. The newlyweds received their guests in front of the fireplace and the mantle was beautifully decorated with white flowers. The bride cut her three-tiered cake, her table which was overlaid with a white cloth, an heirloom, and decorated with white carnations, gladioli and small asters, and white tapers.

For going away the bride wore a heavenly-blue two-piece linen summer suit with short sleeves and a pleated back. Her accessories were chocolate brown except for her white gloves and corsage of white camellias.

The couple left for Daytona Beach, Fla., and will go to Lake George, N.Y., after July 15. Mr. Rouillard will be at her parents' home on the Post until she is able to join her husband in Germany.

Among the out of town guests present for the ceremony were the Rev. and Mrs. Irving G. Rouillard, parents of the groom; the groom's brothers, Warren and Paul Rouillard, and his sister, Miss Polly Rouillard, all of Saratoga, N. Y. Lieutenant Rouillard attended Harvard university and was graduated from West Point in 1946. The bride attended school in the Philippines and San Antonio, Texas.

New Officers Plan Lunch To Follow Graduation Today

Following their graduation ceremony Thursday morning, members of OACC No. 6 will hold a luncheon party at the Officers' Club with Officer Candidate Harold R. Patterson in charge of the arrangements for the event to which the newly-commissioned officers have invited their families and friends.

Various company officers from 10th Company will be asked to speak briefly at OACC No. 6. W. Coyne, the honor graduate, will be introduced. One hundred and fifteen candidates will be commissioned second lieutenants at the graduation and eight officers from the Chinese National Army will also receive certificates.

Tuesday evening members of the class held a picnic at Victory Lodge with games and refreshments on the program for the party. Various talented members of the class furnished the entertainment for the evening.

Boyd Entertain For Houseguests From Puerto Rico

Col. and Mrs. Logan Boyd entertained Saturday evening at a formal dinner party at the Officers' Club to honor their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Oliver and Mrs. Jose Oller, Jr., from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Assorted shades of gladioli were used as table decorations for the formal party and after cocktails dinner was served to the honorees, Col. and Mrs. Julian Day, Col. and Mrs. Douglas Smith, Miss Janis Adams and Lt. Thomas Johnston and the hosts.

Sunday evening Colonel and Mrs. Dayton entertained the Boyds and their guests at a dinner party at the Club.

Australian Likes USA; Soon Here For Two Years

Charming Mrs. Harvey E. Rehner, former wife of Townville, Queensland, Australia, who recently returned to Fort Benning from her first vacation-trip in America, will commemorate the second anniversary of her arrival in this country next Wednesday. She is a vivacious young woman with dark eyes and tarty-colored hair and the wife of Maj. H. E. Rehner, a squadron commander at Lawson Field, who served as a fighter pilot in the Pacific during the war.

No CELEBRATION She plans no special celebration to mark the anniversary next week, but explained when interviewed at her attractive apartment on Stewart St., that the voyage from Brisbane on the luxury liner SS Lurina and her arrival in San Francisco on June 13, 1945, had been an exciting experience she would never forget.

Mrs. Rehner, the former Miss Norma Cox, was born in Winton, Australia and attended Saint Patrick's college in Townville. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Cox, and her two younger sisters and brother reside in that community. She and Major Rehner were married in Townville in September 1944, and spent their honeymoon on nearby Magnetic Island.

Here SINCE LAST SUMMER Her first home in the states was in Sedalia, Mo., where the major, who had returned home in December 1944, was stationed. They moved to Fort Benning last summer when Ninth Air Force assigned Major Rehner to Lawson Field. During the latter part of field. During the latter part of field, Pa., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Rehner, the major's parents. They also spent several days in New York City.

An avid traveler, Mrs. Rehner was delighted with the trip and moon to see as much of the United States as possible before returning to Australia for a visit next Christmas. She is especially interested in visiting the birthplace of her great grandfather in Connecticut.

By way of explaining the similarity between life here and in Australia, Mrs. Rehner said that the only real change she had found necessary was the swapping of her former hobby of fancy needle work for bridge and reading, both of which she enjoys very much.

Librarian Leaves Sand Hill Post

Personal at Sand Hill suffered a distinct low last week when it was announced that Mrs. Myrtle White, assistant at Library No. 2, would leave her post.
The popular librarian had served here over a year, her initial work being at library number 4, and a later assignment to the Sand Hill installation.
A graduate of State Teachers College, Elizabeth City, N. C., Mrs. White taught school in her home state for several years, then accepted a similar position at Sparrowsburg, S. C. prior to coming to Fort Benning. Mrs. White resides in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Liggons Has Five Years As Club Hostess

June 15 marked the fifth complete year as an army hostess for Mrs. Myrtle E. Liggons, popular recreational hostess at Fort Benning's Service Club No. 2, Sand Hill Area.
Mrs. Liggons' initial assignment sent her to Camp Gordon, Ga., where she remained until February, 1945, when a reassignment gave her change of station at Camp Stewart, Ga.
During her stay at Camp Gordon, Mrs. Liggons, then Miss Sara King's bride of M-Sgt. Walter Liggons Jr., Mrs. Liggons is a student at Tuskegee Institute.
She came to Fort Benning in April, 1946, from Camp Butler, N. C., where she was stationed at the Convalescent hospital until that installation closed.

Social Events Honor 571st

A round of social events were presented for the 571st Field Artillery Battalion during the past week and as a farewell gesture for the popular unit which departed from Fort Benning for a new assignment at Fort Riley, Kansas, Tuesday morning.
While A Battery, furnished a dance and banquet for the members units of the organization on Friday night. Service Club No. 2 presented a dance on the patio and the 999th Field Artillery and 25th Infantry N.C.O. clubs went all out to salute the 571st with their finest parties of the year. On the main post, Service Club No. 4 sponsored a dance to complete the cycle.
On Saturday evening, Patton House and Pine Lodge Officer's clubs highlighted their social and recreation programs with dances in honor of the 571st commissioned personnel and the 5th Avenue USO of Columbus feted the enlisted personnel.

'Dead End' Kid Reenlists In Army At Fort Benning

Don Lotore, one of the original "Dead End" kids, says he is tired of living out of suitcases and has reenlisted in the Army for three years in order to serve as an announcer at the station hospital's radio station.

Lotore, who reenlisted the Army as a staff sergeant, expressed delight over being able to continue in radio work which he has done "off and on since" my discharge.

Guest Appearances
His last job before coming back into the Army was as an announcer with radio station WDSB in Lake City, Fla. Prior to that time he had toured the country making guest appearances on radio stations, in the theater, at nightclubs, and with traveling shows.

Sgt. Lotore appeared with an all-star cast in "Accent on Girls" which played in packed houses all the way from Charlotte, N. C., through Florida, including several performances in Virginia.

Prior to becoming "seriously interested" in radio as a profession, he appeared with the Long Beach Casino orchestra during a two months' engagement in Florida.

No Stranger Here
Sgt. Lotore is no stranger to Fort Benning, having been stationed here during the war. He spent most of his off-duty hours entertaining troops in hospital and in service clubs in addition to directing several shows. Last April he returned to the post for a brief ture, Dead End, gained for him the nickname "B," a moniker the former movie star literally wormed his way into the hearts of millions of American movie-goers with his capable portrayal of an East Side roughneck. His first picture, Read End, gained for him the nick-name "B," a moniker which has followed him ever since.

Sgt. Lotore has spent much of his time visiting boys' reformatories and speaking before boys' and civic club groups.

Lease Reduction Saves Millions

A saving of more than $33,000,000 has been effected during the last sixteen months as the result of an extensive reduction in military leases held by the War Department, Lieut. Gen. G. A. Wheeler, chief of engineers, reported today.

On May 1947, the War Department held 4216 military leases with an annual rental cost to the government of $3,538,915. Compared with the total of 14,908 military leases, with a rental cost of $39,125,143, held on January 1, 1946, the current figures show an overall reduction of 71 per cent in the number of leases held, at a saving to the government of 86 per cent in rentals.

All War Department leases on real estate used for military purposes are administered by the real estate division, office, chief of engineers. They include land, closed and special storage space, office and building space, and housing.

General Wheeler said that prior to the current reduction program, land was the costliest and largest item from the standpoint of leases held. This included parcels of land that ranged from tiny city parking lots to vast tracts of a million or more acres used for farms and other installations. In January 1946, the War Department held a total of 11,885 leases on land, at a total annual rental of $3,343,228. Today there are but 3228 land leases at a cost of $825,775.

On the basis of cost, closed storage space was the largest real estate item under lease. In 1946 the War Department held 631 leases of this type at a total rental of $15,919,575. Today, it has but 50 leases, at a cost of $1,436,264. Rental of office space amounted to $2,547,000. Last year office space cost more $9,102,333.

WD Releases Airborne Division War Strength

WASHINGTON (APPS)—A new war strength of 13,400 officers and men for airborne divisions has been announced by Army Ground Forces headquarters. The new tables of organization and equipment will be in effect only in time of war or emergency, for experiment purposes. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, AGF chief, declared.

The new airborne organization is parallel to the new strengths of infantry and armored divisions, announced last December.

Revision of the wartime airborne division strength is in line with the current AGF policy to make all divisions air transportable and to eliminate all basic differences between infantry and airborne units.

37 Accidents Cause 4 Deaths, 8 Injuries

A total of 37 motor vehicle accidents were reported here during the month of April, it was learned today.

Of the 37 accidents, four were fatal and eight resulted in disabling injuries. It was estimated that the cost of fatalities and injuries in these accidents would amount to $64,289 and that the cost of damage to government vehicles would be $482,000.

Coyle Named Honor Grad

Marcus W. Coyle has been selected by a board of experienced officers as honor graduate of Army Officer Candidate class No. 6, which will graduate today. His selection as top man in the class was based on the basis of leadership ability, scholastic rating, popularity and activity in student affairs.

Candidate Coyle was editor of his class book, "Burst of Six," and served on many committees. Prior to his entry into the Army Officer Candidate school, Coyle was a medical corps sergeant in the European theater, Alaska, and the Aleutian islands. He was a member of the 20th Field and 118th Evacuation hospitals for 18 months and with the 179th Station hospital for seven months. His decorations include the ETO ribbon with three battle stars, the Occupation medal, American theater ribbon, Good Conduct medal and Victory medal. Candidate Coyle hopes to join a mountain infantry unit and participate in Arctic maneuvers.

New Plane Slated For Construction

The Army Air Forces has awarded a contract to the Douglas Aircraft Company, Santa Monica, Calif., for a design study of the third of a series of supersonic aircraft, which has been designated the XS-3.

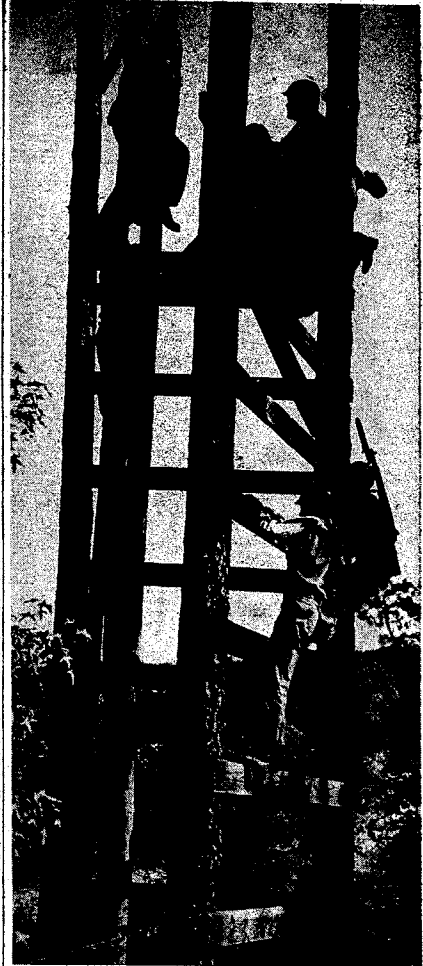

The study is being directed toward the development of a design capable of speed three times that of sound with an altitude ceiling of 200,000 to 300,000 feet. The speed of sound is not constant, decreasing with altitude from 763 miles per hour at sea level to 460 at 40,000 feet.

So far the Douglas company has made 60 different design studies, ranging from a stubby, blunt-nosed model to a long, slender fuselage that comes to a sharp bullet-like point fore and aft. Ram-jet, rocket, pulse-jet, and turbo-jet type of propulsion units, both singly and in combination, have been studied as possible propellers.

The design study is a cooperative program among the AAF, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, and the Douglas company. The study is the third step in the AAF program of supersonic research. The first was the development of the Bell XS-1, which has made 21 powered flights, and has completed the first phase of its program.

The second of the series is the XS-2, now being built by the Bell Aircraft Corporation at its Buffalo, N. Y. plant. None of the XS-1 series is a military aircraft flying research laboratories.

SLIDE FOR LIFE—This is only one of the obstacles on the battle conditioning course which officer candidates at Fort Benning must overcome before winning those coveted gold bars. Covering a mile of Georgia hills and containing 13 "man-traps," the course must be mastered in 14 minutes. This obstacle is referred to as the "slide for life."

Aircraft Slated To Be Used In Forest Fire-Fighting Tests

The use of standard Army Air Forces aircraft in fighting forest fires will be tested soon in the Lolo National forest near Missoula, Mont., in a project sponsored jointly by the AAF and the U. S. Forest Service.

Two Republic P-47 Thunderbolts and a Boeing B-29 Superfortress will drop standard auxiliary fuel tanks filled with water. The tanks will be equipped with fuses set to explode the tanks at a predetermined altitude so that the water will be scattered over the greatest possible area to be effective. Tanks filled with chemicals will be tested in the same manner.

The experiments will determine if forest fires can be extinguished before they spread into raging infernos. Each year forest fires destroy an average of 31,000,000 acres of valuable timber before they can be brought under control. It is the hope of the sponsors of the experiment that aerial firemen will be able to strike quickly while a blaze is small, even in the most remote forest areas.

The use of standard aircraft the Forest Service and the AAF expect to be able to call into action a number of operational planes from any AAF base near a fire. The only special equipment necessary would be the auxiliary fuel tanks equipped with fuses.

The project was started in October, 1945. Preliminary tests have been carried out at air proving ground command, Eglin Field, Fla., with highly satisfactory results. The tanks were modified at Eglin Field at the expense of the Forest Service.

The B-29 will carry eight tanks. One tank will be carried under each wing of the B-47s.

Based in Montana, the AAF planes will be based at Great Falls, Mont., Army Air Field. Great Falls and the Missoula county airport will be used during the tests. The AAF personnel working on the project will be instructed in the present methods used by the Forest Service in fighting fires while the aerial tests are being conducted.

If the tests are successful with...

Welcome to "MAN O' WAR"

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA'S BEAUTIFUL, NEW STAINLESS STEEL TRAIN INAUGURATES STREAMLINER SERVICE BETWEEN COLUMBUS AND ATLANTA

The Budd Company, builder of "Man o' War," offers congratulations to the Central of Georgia on the introduction of its new and wonderfully luxurious train.

This gleaming train consists of the most modern, stainless steel cars, hauled by a giant Diesel locomotive.

All the cars are air conditioned and illuminated by restful, fluorescent light. And their wide, panorama windows are tinted to control the glare of the sun.

The first car is a combination baggage car and reclining chair coach. Following are other coaches. All the seats are the luxurious, adjustable chair type, exactly like the ones in famous, long-distance trains. And your own seat is reserved for you.

The last car is something to dream about. Its forward end is a tavern, with gay decorations, a beautiful horseshoe-shaped snack-bar, and tables seating thirty-six people, where you can enjoy excellent food and beverages, or a sociable game of cards.

The rear end of the car is an observation lounge with richly upholstered club chairs, deep-piled rug, white leather sofas, white and gold drapes, a writing desk and magazine rack.

Today, Central of Georgia's "Man o' War" joins the distinguished company of Budd-built stainless steel trains which are bringing railway travel to new heights of comfort, safety and dependability.

Elsewhere you will find accounts of the launching ceremonies for "Man o' War." You are invited to attend, to inspect and to ride this splendid train. The Budd Company, Philadelphia.

Lawson Dumps ISD For Second Time

Fliers' Victory Ends First-Place Hopes Of Profs

The American League race was just about settled Monday night, when the surprising Lawson Fliers upset the ISD Profs, 5-4, for the second time this season, and by the same score both times. This defeat didn't knock the Profs out of second place, but it wrote final to any of their hopes for overtaking the Airborne. The Troopers would have to lose two of their remaining three games for the Profs to gain a first-place tie. What but the Lawson game for the Profs? A number of reasons can be advanced. One was Wilky Weldon's lack of control. He walked ten men and hit one batter. Another was the collapse of Weldon's fielding support in the last two innings, as four unearned runs came across in the eighth and ninth. And still another contributing cause was that the ISD lineup, padded with six left-handed batters, could only collect eight hits off Blake, Lawson southpaw hurler.

Abbott Fans coming to hit the first of the eighth, the Fliers were behind, 4-1. George Gorman was up first, and he reached base safely when Laue dropped Burnett's throw from short. Jack Forbes then hit a grounder that Second Baseman Jones scooped up, and there were runners on first and second.

Weldon struck out Abbott on three pitches, but his knees failed to load the bases. Lawson got one run in without lifting a finger, as Weldon walked Marshall, forcing in Gorman. Greene then squeezed in Forbes with one more run before Weldon retired the side. In the ninth Weldon got Collins to pop to short for the first out. But again his support cracked, as Jones erred on Walker's bounce. Gorman sacrificed, runner to second, and the ISD just needed one out for a victory. Weldon, however, couldn't get it. He got Forbes on base, and then Abbott clubbed a triple to

AIRBORNE-ISD CLASH

Once more, and most likely for the last time this season, it's Airborne versus the ISD in the contest at E-15 at Cowley Field. This will be the fourth meeting between the two clubs, with the Profs still looking for their first victory over the Trooper-nine. The Airborne has led 2-5, 1-3, and 0-7. Because of the ISD defeat Monday night the game won't have much bearing on the American League race. Even if the Profs win, the Airborne would still have to lose one more game before a first-place tie becomes possible. Although this will take much of the tension off the game, it still will be one of the better games to be seen at Cowley Field, as these two teams have proved themselves to be the class of the post. Attendance has always perked up at Airborne-ISD battles, and tonight should be no exception. Lefty Lehner will probably start on the mound for the ISD, with Chick Shiver ready to go in case of any upturns. Lefty has looked good in all his second appearances. He beat Lawson Field in the Profs' opener, pitched nine complete innings against Fort McPherson, giving up only two runs, and allowed only seven hits in nine innings last week. His control hasn't bothered him in the second half, and he will be tough to beat. The Airborne, of course, has lost its power hitter, Floyd Dooley, and also the services of Dick Kinsey this week, when the hurler, left on a delay-in-route prior to an overseas assignment in Korea. Lefty Gerhart will be ready to pitch though, with the benefit of a seven-day rest, and no team in the post has maintained him yet. In reserve are two twirlers bearing the name of Larson. One is the previous starting line-up: Airborne—Weldon, cf, Terry, 3b, Bonair, ss, Kinard, 2b, Gallagher, c, Stutler, lf, Pritchard, rf, and Gerhart, p. ISD—Hill, rf, Laue, 1b, Martin, ss, Burt, cf, Taylor, lf, Johnson, 2b, Jones, 2b, Sauls, c, Lehner, p.

right center, sending home the tying and winning runs in the eighth. Weldon walked still another man, Shiver came on, walked one more man to load the bases, and struck out Greene.

Woody Burt singled with two out in the ISD ninth, and went to second on a passed ball, but Jack Forbes made a great play on Bill Taylor's smash through the box, and that was the game.

The victory was a happy one indeed for the Fliers, who were out to avenge the 11-7 pasting handed them by the Profs a few weeks back. They can be satisfied now—they knocked the Profs right out of the AL pennant race.

Lawson in Third Slot It was the second triumph in a row for the Lawson nine, as the Fliers whipped the 37th, 5-0, last Saturday. As a result, the Air Corps club moved past the 75th Tankers and took place in the American League. This Saturday's game between the Tankers and the Fliers will probably decide which team will occupy third.

The only team on the post still without a victory is the 37th Infantry, and there still seem to be one forthcoming, either. The Vets' manager, Captain Keogh, started Saturday's contest against Lawson and went seven innings on his "nothing" ball, giving up only four runs. But the 37th only needed one out for a victory. Singles off Abbott, the Fliers' hurler, and made one more error than they did hits.

72 Entries Listed For Net Tournery

Seventy-two entries have been listed for the annual tennis tournament at the Officers' Club and drawings for play were made last Friday night. It was announced today by Chuck Evert, club tennis pro who is in charge of the matches.

All first round matches will be completed by Saturday and the second round matches are to be over by July 2, according to plans for the contest which features award of trophies in all divisions to the winners and runners up. The following officers, selected by the tennis committee, have been seeded in the men's singles: No. 1, Lt. Col. Sanford Webster, winner of the Third Army tournament at Fort Bragg, and No. 2, Lt. Col. H. D. Balliett, winner of the tournament last year; No. 3, Capt. S. J. Adams, runner up to Colonel Webster in the Third Army tourney at Fort Bragg, and No. 4, Lt. J. Booge, runner up to Colonel Balliett in last year's tournament at the Officers' club.

Seedings in the men's doubles put Lt. Col. S. J. Webster and Capt. S. J. Adams in first spot, Colonel Balliett and Lt. Col. J. Ross in the number two place, Major Frederick Bull and Lieutenant Booge in third.

In the mixed doubles Colonel Webster and Mrs. E. N. Holton won over seeded first and Col. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson took the second spot. Mrs. Johnson was seeded first in the women's singles with Mrs. J. L. Hitchings in second while Sinclair Hitchings took the first spot in the mixed singles and Bob Salter was placed second.

BARNSTORMERS WIN

The 37th Infantry Barnstormers soundly trounced the R and K club at Wildwood Park last Thursday night by a score of 3-0. Warrick started the game with a single, stole two bases and scored on a wild throw. This run was followed in the next inning with a homer by the Barnstormers' pitcher. Harris scored on Shipley's double to finish the scoring.

Horsheiser led the hitting for the R and K club with two hits in the third and fifth innings. Two men were on in the fifth but the team failed to score.

Benning Net Team Takes Third Army Tournament

Fort Benning swept to another Third Army championship at Fort Bragg last week, whipping tennis teams from Fort McPherson, Fort Bragg, and Oliver General Hospital.

Lt. Col. Sanford Webster and Capt. Sam Adams from Benning were the outstanding players of the tournament, placing first and second, respectively, in the singles and forming the winning doubles team.

Both Benning players were selected to represent the Third Army in the all-Army championships, to be held in Washington July 15 and 16.

The first player Colonel Webster met in the Third Army tourney was Lieutenant Colonel Fabritius from Fort McPherson, and the Benningite disposed of him in 6-4 and 6-1 sets.

In the quarter-finals Webster downed Lieutenant Colonel Norton of Fort Bragg, 6-1 and 6-4. His semi-final opponent was Lieutenant Besse of Fort McPherson, and he took a pair of 6-sets to advance to the final.

Benning's Captain Adams, meanwhile, had worked his way to the final, also, with victories over Sergeant France (Fort Bragg), Sergeant Miller (Oliver General Hospital), and Lieutenant Colonel Chaney (Fort McPherson). Colonel Webster took the title by defeating his team-mate, 6-3 and 6-3.

Playing together as a doubles team, Webster and Adams were defeated. First, they defeated Lieutenant Bush and M/Sgt. Stille of Oliver, 6-1 and 6-3. After that it was Fort McPherson's team of Lieutenant Colonel Fabritius and Lieutenant Colonel Chaney who fell before the Benningites, 6-3 and 6-3.

Two young California first-class privates, competing for Fort Bragg, Ince and St. John, were matched against the Benning team in the final, but they were no match for their more experienced opponents. Adams and Webster came through in two sets, 6-2 and 6-2.

Most of the other Benning participants were eliminated in the early rounds, although Major Bull, the team coach, got to the second round. The doubles team of Major Bull and T-5 Baber lost to the Bragg team.

CELEBRATION

JULY 4th STARTING 10 A. M.

IDLE HOUR PARK, PHENIX CITY, ALA.

NL Race Tightens As 83rd Defeats 328th Nine, 10-9

On June 17, the 328th Ordinance, gunning for their fourth straight league win, ran up against the 83rd FA and a 10 to 9 defeat. The loss tightened up the National League race to the point where no one team was more than two games out.

The 328th still had the best chance to come back with the bunting, and they increased their chances heavily when they knocked off the 204th Truckers 18 to 3 three days later.

In the 83rd game the Ordinance led 4-0 going into the last half of the ninth, where they stepped another of those last ditch slimes, so popular a late scoring sure three and rousing starting pitcher Noah Meija to win 10 to 9.

83rd Scores 10 Runs The 83rd scores 10 of their 10 runs in the last three innings, before which time Meija had been effective. In the ninth Meija, he walked the first man, Kosciak, and was touched for three singles in a row by Ernest Stevens, Steve Fritchler, at which point he was removed in favor of Bo Boland. The first batter, Bo Boland, grounded to Coy at third. Coy threw low to first, the ball getting away from the catcher, Ernest Stevens go to second and Fritchler, the potential winning run, go all the way to home.

Teac Replaces Tolle Teac, 83rd pitcher, stepped into the box, looked at a couple of pitches, and then hit a high bouncer over the pitcher's head. Before anyone could get to it, Fritchler had crossed the plate with the winner. Meija got the loss, while Teac, who had replaced Tolle for the 83rd, was the winner.

The next day the 78th Engineers staved off a late STR rush to win a thriller, 4 to 3. The Rifles, trailing 4-0 into the eighth, scored twice in that inning on singles by Carney and Mink, and a costly error by Second Baseman Clayton of the Engineers, and scored another in the ninth without the benefit of a hit.

328th Beats 204th Leitch walked the first two men to face him, Benefeld and Axelson, and moved them on to second and third on a wild pitch. Hudson replaced him and retired Axelson at third on Carney's grounder to short, while Benefeld was scoring, after he had fanned Dusseaux. He walked Carney, but retired the side without further damage by forcing Zovath to fly deep to left. The 328th's chances get a boost, hopeful 204th on the 20th, 18 to 2, scoring most of their runs in large clusters. The Ordinance picked up 4 in the first 9 in the third, and 4 more in the ninth.

PLAYS HIS LAST GAME—Joe Mink, STR pitcher, who was the club's leading hitter during the first half played his last game for the Rifles this week against the 78th Engineers. He has been discharged, and has returned to his home in Cincinnati. Before coming into the Army he played Class D ball with a Red farm team.

The other four came on two run bursts in the fifth and seventh. Bo Boland kept 10 204th hits well segregated to win easily. Boland also paced the offense with a triple an d pair of singles. The STR managed to get in seven innings of their game with the 83rd before the rains came, outscoring them 11 to 1 in that period. A new STR pitcher, Ward, gave up only three hits and one unearned run in his first start.

The 83rd vs 328th game is the most detailed, showing 10 runs, 11 hits, and 3 errors for the 83rd, and 9 runs, 14 hits, and 3 errors for the 328th.

Continuation of box scores from the previous table, including games between 20th vs 21st, 22nd vs 23rd, 24th vs 25th, 26th vs 27th, 28th vs 29th, 30th vs 31st, 32nd vs 33rd, and 34th vs 35th. The 20th vs 21st game is particularly detailed, showing a 10-9 victory for the 20th over the 21st.

Daredevil Auto Racers Set For Big Show Friday Night

The daredevil midget auto racers are all set for a big night Friday provided the weatherman shows a bit more cooperation than he has in the past, and one of the fastest and more entertaining shows of the summer season is promised.

With the local baseball club out of the city and the midget races the only sports attraction on the local card Friday night, a near-record crowd is anticipated to turn out at 8 p. m. to watch the little speedsters go through their paces. Last week was the finest race card so far this year, but was marred by a pair of accidents which battered two cars and left them useless for the future races, but both will be mended by racing time Friday.

The appearance of new drivers has caused heated competition among the old guard and the newcomers with the veterans who have been here all season fighting to retain their supremacy, but forced to the limit to cope with the invasion from the north and east.

Bob Johnson took over last week and cleaned up on the night.

crowd, but some of the other old favorites such as Hank Bus, Hank and Bill Black, and Jimmy Reed have announced that Johnson is not the only competent driver at Idle Hour Park, scene of the weekly programs.

Among the newcomers Bill Baker from Ohio and Roy Blackman of Birmingham forged to the front in the best manner, while Johnny Suggs, LeRoy Hicks, and Howard Harty lost ground in the all-season feud.

This week more cars and more drivers are expected, and there is the possibility that two races will be held next week, with programs on both Tuesday and Friday nights. The racers are eager for an added program, and hoping to get in some activity four with Griffin holding race cards on Saturday night, the drivers are eager for five times a week. Several tracks near here have delayed openings due to bad weather, but the rains can't last forever—or so they say.

Some of the fastest races of the year were run last week, and the new pilots will be out to do even better than that this Friday night.

When Hitler and Joe Goebbels were driving through the country, their auto ran into a farmer's jackass and killed it. Hitler was in a sentimental mood and told Goebbels to go to the farmhouse and tell the owner. A few minutes later Joe came back laden down with gifts of fruit, vegetables, and eggs. Hitler was astounded. "What are the presents for—what did you do?" he demanded.

"I did just what you told me to do," answered Joe. "I walked in, I saluted, and said, 'Heil Hitler—the jackass is dead.'"

Golf Course Opens June 30 At Sand Hill

Sports votaries of the 25th Infantry and attached units will have another field of endeavor for their outdoor pleasures soon when the nine hole golf course, situated over a sixty acre plot in the Sand Hill area, receives its official opening Monday, June 30. Located in the northern portion of the Sand Hill area and abounded by Pine Lodge and Patton House Officers' club and the 25th Infantry N.O. club, the new project affords a beautiful pastoral background for participants of the ancient Scottish sport.

Work on the course was started last summer under the direction of 1st Lt. John D. McWilliams, Corps of Engineers, who at that time was assigned to the 97th Combat Engineer Company of the 25th Combat Team. During the early part of this year, Lt. McWilliams was succeeded by 1st Lt. Cornell C. Saunders, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 25th Infantry. Lt. Joseph Watson, New York City, a former amateur golfer of note will be the Sand Hill Golf Club officer. He will be assisted by two prominent former golfers, T-4 Elphedy Ivy, winner of several tourney matches at Del Ray, Florida, and Pvt. Willie C. Bentley, Thomaston, Ga., former pro at the Lincoln Country Club, Atlanta. Pvt. Bentley engaged in several tournaments in 1940 in '45, and won two events.

SPORTS CHAT

By Armed Forces Press Service — New Zealand, which sent Jack Lovelock to the 1936 Olympics where he surprised everyone, especially Glen Cunningham, with a victory in the 1500 meter race, is grooming another prospect for the '48 games. Doug Harris, a regular army officer, has buzzed off a mile in 4:06 and a half in 1:49.4.

That antiquated method of pitching in baseball games and losing another blast recently when Walt Masterson tossed 16 innings of whiteheat at the White Sox, was replaced by Early Wynn and saw the latter get credit for the victory in the 16-frame, 1-0 classic. He should've stood in bed. . . . If Howie Moss, Baltimore slugger, maintains his current pace, he will have some 75 home runs at season's end. Where have we heard that one before?

Birdie Tettebs, Detroit catcher, recently called for a cripple with a "three and none" count on Ted Williams. The result was the longest home run ever hit in Boston; a ninth-inning Red Sox victory; and a straight player trade for Tettebs for Hal Wagner of Boston. . . . A San Antonio football star, T. Halston Chapin, just scholarship. Before we go, however, he was forced to sign a legal contract with his better half, forbidding her to join him at the campus, where she would be "an added burden" in his fight to make the Green Wave varsity. . . . That Babe Young-Joe Beggs swap between the Reds and Giants is a break for Young, who hit 25 homers in his first season. No one gets any place shadowing for a guy named Mize. . . . We Willie Furness got a "roaring 20's" welcome when he arrived in New York with the veddy-veddy shining title of British Amateur champion and also with a chunk of the Walker Cup. Remindful of the days of Trudy Edric and Lindy was the celebration, where at Mayor Bill O'Dwyer called Willie a "conquering hero" who "went, saw and conquered." . . . Remember Robert Murphy, the fellow who tried to unionize baseball? His unfair labor policy charges against the Yanks, Dodgers and Giants were just thrown out by the N. Y. Labor Relations Board. . . . Dan Parker describes Beau Jack's autograph as what editors use "to mark the spot where the body was found." . . . Ex-Yankee bossman Joe McCarthy topped off a busy week when he disclaimed County sheriff job with that most original quotation: "I have no political ambitions whatsoever."

Awards, Warrants Go To 999th EM

Units of the 999th Field Artillery Battalion highlighted an impressive Retreat Ceremony Friday afternoon which featured the presentation of attractive trophies to members of the battalion boxing team which participated in the 25th Combat Team tourney. Temporary warrants were also issued to a group of N. C. O's from within the organization. Music for the ceremony was furnished by the 25th Infantry Band, under the direction of CWO Harry H. Hollowell, and by David A. Johnson, drum major.

The boxing team members who received the trophies were: Pfc. George Lee, uncontested holder of the 118 pound 25th Combat Team title; Cpl. Zack Williams, Pvt. Aaron Tart, 25th Combat Team featherweight champion; Pfc. Murphy Pa and Pfc. Raymond Knight. Team members who were forwarded trophies were: Hank Williams, 25th Combat Team lightweight champion, L. C. Blandford.

Those receiving temporary warrants were: Cpl. George N. Stewart, Cpl. James Banks, Cpl. William W. Crowell, and Sgt. Monroe C. Caves. The trophies and warrants were presented by Major Thomas J. Martin, commanding officer.

Lawson EM Accepted For Cadet Training

Pfc. Thomas S. Williams, assigned to the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron at Lawson Field, has been accepted for cadet pilot training. He is scheduled to leave the base this week and will begin his training July 1 at Randolph Field, Texas. An aircraft mechanic, he has been in service one year and reported for duty at Lawson Field last March. He is a graduate of the Chapel Hill, N. C., high school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams of that community.

Second Guessing

By MURRAY HARDING

We're opening this week with a plea for more baseball schedules in more conspicuous places. Previous to last week, we thought there were certainly enough around. We saw them on the bulletin board, in all the public places of amusement, and there is even a weekly schedule printed in the Bayonet. But, apparently, that is not enough.

The fact was brought home to us last week. We were sitting in the press box Wednesday afternoon, scoring the 37th-ISD clash, when in walked a ball player, Tita of the STR, dressed to play ball. This struck us as curious, because it was only about 1:30 in the p. m., and no further games were scheduled until 8:15 that evening. Rarely does a ball player get so engrossed in his work that he shows up five hours before game time, even if he does need a little practice.

Tita wasted no time. "Say," he said, "What time does our ball game begin?"

We told him.

"Well, I'll be darned," he continued, "You know, nobody ever tells me anything. I'm stuck over in one of the courtlets, and all the rest of them are out in the street. I never know what's going on."

We knew what he meant. One day during the first half of the season, a ball game of the STR's had been called off, it being unimportant in the final standings, and another had been substituted. We had noticed the puzzled countenance of Tita on that day also, as he sat on the right field line and watched the substitute encounter. He was dressed for action that day, too.

We sympathized with him and advised a nap for the rest of the afternoon.

We hope Captain Stewart or Major Nielson of the STR see this. It's tough to be forgotten.

As a rule, the 37th Infantry Vets baseball team has been pretty dull the second half of the season. When the Vets play, it's more or less a cut and dried affair. You know they're going to lose, and they know they're going to lose a situation that tends to make for uninspired baseball.

There is, however, one good reason for watching the 37th perform, and that is their third base guardian, Greer. A major during his duty hours, Greer turns in as neat a performance as you'll see around the hot corner. He is steadiness personified. He'll handle anything hit his way, and handle it well, and quite often will come up with a play that borders on the sensational.

One that sticks with us occurred in the 37th-ISD game last Wednesday. The Frois had men on first and second with two away. Lefty Lehner cracked one just inside the third base line which a good many third basemen would have ignored. It looked like a sure hit.

Greer went a couple of feet to his right, fielded the ball with his bare hand, and trotted over to third, forcing the runner and retreating the side. The matter of fact way that he handled the play impressed us almost as much as the stop. The contrast between him and some of the other butterfingers and fly watchers on the 37th is notable.

You may always see the best baseball in the world at Gowdy Field, but you are bound to see some of the most unusual if you hang around.

In the Lawson Field-37th Infantry epic of June 21, the Eilers employed the services of Walker, ordinarily a center fielder, at third base. The unusual part is that Mr. Walker is left handed, and left handed infielders will still be scarce when men with teeth are a common sight.

Walker had only one ground ball hit his way, and he handled like he was born and raised at third. It took him a moment longer to twist around into throwing position than it does most infielders, but he still threw the runner out by a comfy 15 feet.

The reason Walker appeared at third was that Lawson Field sent a delegation of a mere nine men to the contest, which, as anyone knows, is the bare minimum. There was a surplus of outfielders so Walker was installed at third. Lawson won handily, anyway.

We noted with interest that Hal Newhouser, who has been having his troubles with some shoddy support, displayed violent emotion when one of his infielders erred, permitting a vital run to score. Newhouser, somewhat vexed, flung his glove into center field, and stomped off the mound.

One can only wonder what Newhouser would do were he to be pitching for one of the teams on the post.

Guided Missiles Slated For Army Study Soon

In cooperation with the U. S. Navy, the Army Corps of Engineers will install instrumentation capable of showing the speed, trajectory, range and other characteristics of guided missiles for approximately the 50-mile length of the White Sands Proving Grounds, Las Cruces, N. M., the War Department announced today. This instrumentation system, which has been started with funds provided by the Navy, will be coordinated with existing and proposed Army installations in order to properly orient and integrate all communication and instrumentation facilities at the proving grounds.

The construction program, which will be supervised by the District Engineer, Albuquerque, N. M., Engineer and the Signal Corps Officer, Fourth Army, calls for the erection of approximately 15 additional stations and access roads. The stations will be of various types and sizes. They will be of semi-permanent construction, dust-proofed as necessary to house camera and radar equipment, tracking cameras, cine-theodolites and other paraphernalia. The stations will also provide convenient facilities for servicing such equipment, which will be used by the Ordnance Department.

Greatest Range

Rapid developments in the guided missiles program have resulted in greater range of the missiles, and additional stations are necessary to enable observations and plotting of trajectories in the entire flight of such missiles.

As part of the coordinated program, the Army Air Forces also is installing a network of radar and other equipment to supplement the installations by Army Ordnance and the Navy.

Both Army and Navy have firing stations at the White Sands Proving Grounds.

The Corps of Engineers also has authorized construction of 76 units-of-Army housing at White Sands at a cost of $372,500. Included in this contract is an authorization of $166,000 for sewer, water, and electric lines and necessary roads. The utilities, however, are designed to service 800 units of Army housing and 300 units of Navy housing, which is the ultimate goal for the Proving Grounds. The utilities' cost will be divided between the Army and Navy. This housing is of the one-story, duplex type and is designed not only to serve military and Air Force personnel, but civilian scientific personnel who will have a part in this work, as well.

Lt. Stathis Promoted To Captain June 12

1st Lt. John Stathis, assistant base surgeon at Lawson Field, was commissioned a captain on June 12, base officials announced.

Captain Stathis graduated from Columbia University in 1941 and received his MD degree from the New York University College of Medicine in 1944. He entered service in the spring of last year and reported to Lawson Field in August 1946.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stathis, of Rockaway Beach, New York.

Fort Paratrooper Lands Safely In Spite Of Faulty Parachute

By LORIS HOLLIDAY

He had often been told by jesting fellow paratroopers to "bring your chute back if it doesn't open, and we'll give you another," but Pvt. Enrique Ohnesorgen, of Company A, 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion never thought he'd live through such an experience.

It all happened June 16 when Lt. John A. Klish was floating peacefully down toward Lae field during a regular formation jump. Suddenly a bulk plummeted past at terrific speed. Acting from reflex he grasped and held onto the entangled canopy and gear of Pvt. Ohnesorgen. Luckily Ohnesorgen's chute finally did open, relieved the strain on the lieutenant, and both came down safely.

This was the first accident of his kind here, but the quick thinking of Lieutenant Klish saved the life of Private Ohnesorgen. It is believed that the private let his chute drift over the lieutenant's, thus robbing it of air and allowing his descent to increase rapidly.

Private Ohnesorgen served with the 101st Airborne Division in France and Germany during the war, and Lieutenant Klish saw service with the 509th Parachute Infantry Battalion during the African and Italian campaigns. He later served with the 7th Army in France. Lieutenant Klish wears the Purple Heart, and with 49 wounds he has the lead on Private Ohnesorgen, who has 36.

ALCORN PROMOTED

T-5 Denys L. Alcorn, Headquarters Company of the Student Training Regiment, has been promoted to the grade of T-4, it was announced today.

One of the boys in the band tried to write a drinking song, but he couldn't get past the first two bars.

Air Reservists Will Attend Post Parley

Approximately 400 Air Reserve Officers from 14 counties in Alabama and Georgia have been invited to a meeting at Lawson Field on June 30 to discuss plans for setting-up a year round part-time duty ARO program at the base. The meeting will be held at the Lawson Field Officers' Club at 8 p. m.

Purpose of the meeting will be to outline available facilities at the base and to coordinate a training schedule which will be convenient to all reservists.

Counties Listed

The discussion will be open to Air Reserve Officers in the following counties: Chambers, Lee and Russell in Alabama, and Chattahoochee, Muscogee, Harris, Meriwether, Talbot, Marion, Webster, Sumter, and Schley in Georgia. Air reservists in the above named counties who have not been notified of the meeting are requested to contact the Lawson Field S-8 Section immediately. Complete information and application forms accompany the notices.

To qualify for the training rated personnel must have a valid-up-to-date WD AGO Form 64, documentary evidence of having accepted a commission in the Officer's Reserve Corps, and copies of personnel orders granting an aeronautical rating requiring participation in regular and frequent flights.

Until further notice, Regular Army enlisted personnel who hold Reserve commissions will not participate in the program.

SCRIPT WRITER ARRIVES

Don Jones, script writer for N. W. Ayers Advertising Co., will arrive here sometime today to observe infantry training in preparation for composing a script for a new Army recruiting picture.

No Enlistments For U. S. Only

The War Department has not authorized enlistments specifically in the United States, and such authorization is not contemplated, it was announced this week in a memorandum issued from Infantry Center headquarters.

"Through error, however," the memorandum stated, "certain individuals have been accepted for enlistment with the assurance that their service would be limited to the United States."

It was explained that any enlisted man whose records clearly indicate enlistment for service in the United States, will not be transferred outside the United States during that particular enlistment without the individual's consent which will be entered in WD AGO Form 24 or 25A (Service Record) under "Remarks Administrative."

When an enlisted man who is eligible, or who will become eligible for overseas service, executes within 45 days an affidavit to the effect he was promised assignment in the United States by the recruiting officer, even though available records do not verify the soldier's statement, installation commanders will initiate correspondence to the Adjutant General in Washington, D. C., to determine the entry on line 8, page 1, of WD AGO Form 21, under caption "For Service In," according to the memorandum.

"Now, hold still!"

Capt. Eisenhower To Come Here

Capt. John Eisenhower, son of the U. S. Army chief of staff, and his bride, will arrive here sometime before July 14, it has been indicated by orders received at the Infantry Center.

The captain, who was married

June 10 to Miss Barbara Jean Thompson at Fort Monroe, will be attached, unassigned to the 3rd Company, Student Training Regiment. He will attend two 30-day courses at the Third Army's Food Service School and will also take a 12-week course of motor study in the Student Training Regiment.

Medical Corps Officers Eligible For Discharge

The War Department announced today a streamlining of discharge criteria for all Medical Department officers effective July 1. All non-volunteer doctors, dentists, dietitians, Veterinary and Sanitary corps officers will be eligible for separation upon completion of two years' service. Nurses, physical therapists, and officers of the Medical Administrative Corps, except those who have volunteered for extended active duty, will be eligible for immediate separation.

Critically needed medical officers can still be individually retained where it is essential for the proper care of patients, the announcement stated. At present thirty-six specialists are being retained as essential in Army hospitals.

Maj. General Raymond W. Pliss, newly-appointed surgeon general, explained that this new demobilization plan will permit the separation of medical specialists who previously have been subject to three years' service. General Pliss emphasized an important advantage of the plan is that it will facilitate the reclassification of young doctors in specialist grade.

Service requirements for members of both the Veterinary and Sanitary corps will be reduced from thirty-two months to twenty-four months. Practically all non-volunteer Medical Administrative corps officers and physical therapists have already been separated and the reduction in length of service requirements will affect only a handful of these officers. There is no change for dentists, dietitians and nurses.

Col. Williams Named 9th AF Chief Of Staff

Col. Gerald E. Williams, wartime commander of the famed 391st B-26 Marauder Group and leader of many bombing raids on the European continent, was named Chief of Staff of Ninth Air Force this week. Lawson Field officials learned today.

Colonel Williams succeeds Col. William M. Gross, who will attend the next class of the Air War College, Maxwell Field, Ala. Announcement of the assignment was made at Greenville, S. C., by Brig. Gen. J. J. Crabb, acting commander of Ninth Air Force, the temporary absence of Maj. Gen. Paul L. Williams.

Former Navy Man Now Member Of AOCC No. 8

From Annapolis to Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 is the contrasting story of Californian Ray D. Rogers, a potential second lieutenant for the Corps of Engineers. An engineering student at Modesto, California, junior college for two and one half years, Rogers applied originally for the United States Military Academy, hoping to enter the Corps of Engineers upon being commissioned. He failed to win his appointment, but decided to apply for the Naval Academy. He took a competitive examination, made the highest score, passed the rigid physical examination, and won his appointment to the academy.

Rogers began the four month "Plebe Summer" in June, 1945, selecting marine engineering as his branch of service. During this period the plebes received the rudiments of Navy life and a brief survey of their courses for the next four years. Although the work was interesting, Rogers felt that marine engineering was too limiting, and in September, he resigned from the academy to enter the Army Officer Candidate School. After his fifth week in basic training, he was admitted to OCS. After completing his training here, Candidate Rogers hopes to be commissioned in the engineers and take a college engineering course under the Army education plan.

During the girl shortage around Army camps, a GI came up with this comment: "Never have so many pursued so few, with so much, and obtained so little."

Patton's CP Due For Recruit Duty In 3rd Army Area

The field command post of the late Gen. George S. Patton, famed commander of the United States Third Army, will soon be shipped back to the U. S. from Europe, it was announced today by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general, Army Ground Forces. Containing sleeping quarters, washing facilities, a desk and large operations map, the van was used by General Patton as he led the men to victory on the battlefields of Western Europe.

Plans call for the van to be returned to Third Army headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., where it will be used for recruiting purposes. The famous equipage will probably find its final resting place in the Patton Museum at The Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky., where it will occupy an appropriate place among the memorabilia of one of America's greatest fighting men.

Critic Lauds Presentation Of Fort Benning Operetta

BY ALYSEN E. WISE
Staged before a capacity audience last Monday night in theater No. 1, the popular Matinee by John Wilson Dodge three-act operetta, "Miss Cherry Blossom," was successfully directed by the 25th Infantry Dramatic Club. The vehicle was cast under the command of director Major James Foster Jones and the 5th Avenue USO-YWCA of Columbus. The female roles were cleverly enacted by thespians from the Columbus social agencies, and the families of military personnel at Fort Benning.

The theme is centered around the orphan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnes, wealthy American tourists, who are stricken fatally with fever while touring in Japan. Shortly before her death, the Barnes' leave their infant daughter and her future in-laws to the care of Kokemo, a Worthington, a fellow countryman. Worthington, in turn, leaves the baby in the care of Kokemo, a trustworthly Jap.

W. J. Garden Scene
The entire play takes place in Kokemo's Tea Garden, and the first act shows Miss Cherry Blossom, the villainous as a girl, a lightfully beautiful young lady, schooled in the fashions and mannerisms of her adopted country, and also her complete unawareness of the fact that she is of American parentage. The role is deftly portrayed by Miss Martha Mathis, a youthful coloratura-soprano whose lovely voice tends toward a very promising future.

In well-timed progression, the events highlight the return of Mr. Worthington to Japan; the wooing of Cherry Blossom by John Henry Smith, an American tourist; entrance of the villainous and scheming Togo, a Jap politician who nearly wins the hand of Cherry Blossom, and the final triumph of love over the numerous obstacles supplied by the thirl-packed plot.

John Henry Smith, Cherry Blossom's American lover, was cleverly represented by Hills Norris, the possessor of a powerful lyric tenor voice which brought him several appreciable rounds of applause both during his solo numbers and duets with Miss Mathis. Kokemo, the subtle and affable Jap, was impersonated by Samuel A. Wright. Wright handled his difficult assignment with the timing and sensitivity of an old time thespian.

Beautiful Girls
Piaudits were generously given to Franky G. Lumpkin, and Miss Johnnie B. Wallace for their portrayal of the roles of Henry Foster Jones and Miss Jessica Vanderpool, friends of John Henry Smith; Henry W. Williams, for his masterful interpretation of the villainous Togo; Horace Worthington, by Roderick O. Woodall, and James Young, covered by William R. Rose.

A busy of youthful beauties, attractively rowned in Japanese robes colorfully highlighted the dancing scenes, and supplemented the choral background during several numbers, and the 25th Infantry Orchestra, under the direction of M. Sgt. Cas Jackson, furnished the accompanying music.

Due credit for the success of the production goes to the following: Chaplain (Maj.) John A. DeVeaux, production manager; Mrs. Kate L. Treat, production director; Mrs. Valeria Deslandes, music director; Dance Creator-Instructor, Mrs. Dorothy Kitchen; Costumes, Mrs. Fannie Lusk; Publicity, Pfc. James Parker; Photography, Pvt. China's Military Attache Now Touring Post

Col. Sinju Fu Hsiao, Chinese military attache, who arrived here Sunday for a seven-day tour of the Infantry Center, is scheduled to visit the automotive section and training aids exhibit at the Infantry School this morning.

Later Col. Hsiao is expected to see a marksmanship and preparatory training demonstration with the 75 mm rifle at Patton range, Associate Basic class No. 5 will also see the demonstration. Following lunch at the Officers' club the colonel will witness an infantry combat platoon in an attack at Bush hill.

Friday will be open since all activities will cease on the post in observance of the Fourth of July.

Visits General

The Chinese military attache began his week-long visit early Monday with a visit at 9 a. m. to Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center. After his visit to Gen. O'Daniel, Col. Hsiao was in conference with Brig. Gen. Whitefield P. Shepard, assistant commander of the Infantry School, and Col. Lloyd D. Brown, coordinator of training.

At 9:30 a. m. Monday he visited the operations section of the Infantry School, and at 10:45 a. m. he saw a new combat formation at Blue Field. Officers' Reserve Corps class No. 3 also saw this demonstration. During the afternoon the Chinese colonel witnessed a rifle company in an attack on an 81 mm mortar demonstration (Continued on Page 2)

INDEPENDENCE DAY 1947—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness...

48-Gun Salute To Mark July 4 Program Here

Highlighting the observance here of Independence Day will be the salute to the union ceremony slated for 12 p. m. tomorrow from the vicinity of Stowell field.

The 72nd Army band will open the exercises at 11:45 when a program of martial airs begins adjacent to the post fire staff on Hall street. The band will play until 12 p. m. at which time the salute to the union—firing of one gun for each state—will take place. Battery A of the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion will fire the guns.

Following the commemoration of the Declaration of Independence the 72nd band will play the National Anthem.

Tomorrow will be a holiday here for all troops and civilian employees. The only persons expected to be on duty will be those engaged in the necessary administrative duties and details.

At 11 a. m. Friday there will be an unveiling ceremony at the site of former Camp Benning on the Mason road in Columbus. Maj. Elvin A. Krellick, one of the first men to be stationed here, will unveil the marker. The opening prayer will be given by post chaplain, followed by presentation of the marker by the Rev. R. Ashworth, publisher of the Ledger-Enquirer newspapers and former Fort Benning colonel. (Continued on Page 2)

Air Force Aid Society Holds Second Meeting

Members of the recently formed chapter of the Air Forces Aid Society of Lawson field met for the second time last week to establish its by-laws and plan its constitution, according to Maj. James Hayden, base individual services officer.

The chapter, one of the first base organizations to be granted a charter, by Air Forces Aid Society headquarters, held its first meeting on May 30 to elect officers. The officers are: Col. Gilbert T. Collar, president, Maj. James Hayden, director, and treasurer, 1st Sgt. Simmie Renfro; vice-director, Mrs. Fred Goller; secretary, Mrs. Fred Goller; and Mrs. Horace Tilly, third assistant director. Sgt. John Lane, recording secretary.

Advisory Board
The advisory board members are: Maj. Harvey E. Rehner, Maj. Jerome Schweickert, Capt. Paul W. Dahn, Sgt. Herman Crockett and Sgt. Raphael Showell. New officers will be elected on June 1. Each month the advisory board member is the association's national president and Mrs. H. H. Arnold is the national vice-president. Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general member of the Army Air Forces, is the American Red Cross. The AAF Aid Society, an agency designated by the War Department, is the representative organization of the Army Air Forces. It works in close cooperation with the American Red Cross, the Emergency Relief, Army Trust Society and other charitable organizations to avoid duplication of effort. The resources of the aid society are utilized for two general purposes: (Continued on Page 2)

Gen. Festing Arrives July 7 For Brief Visit

Maj. Gen. F. W. Festing, director general of the British Army weapons development section, is scheduled to arrive here July 7 for a whirlwind tour of the Infantry Center, military officials said today.

Gen. Festing, who will be on the post less than 24 hours, will see only the highlights of infantry training and equipment at the British general quarters in the U. S. June 21. First stop on his itinerary was the Blue Field, Va. He arrived at Bolling field, Wash., D. C., June 28 and remained there until going to Fort Bragg, N. C., July 3.

Prior to coming here July 7, Gen. Festing will return to Bolling field for a four-day visit. He leaves here Tuesday for Fort Bliss, Tex., for a one-day tour and will go to Fort Knox, Ky., July 10, where he will leave the Kentucky installation late in the afternoon of the same day for Bolling field.

Gen. Festing is one of six British and Canadian top drawer Army officers now visiting on an intensive tour of American military installations. Others in the U. S. include Maj. Gen. J. A. Gapskog, deputy commander of the U. S. Army staff who recently ended a visit to the Infantry Center; Lt. Col. R. A. C. Coldstream, aide to Brig. Gen. Mann, vice-chief of the Canadian general staff; and Col. W. R. Sawyer, director of the British weapons development. Only Gen. Festing will be at Fort Benning July 7, however, officials pointed out.

Script Writer Ends Post Visit

Don Jones, script writer for a large advertising agency, who arrived here last week, left Monday afternoon following a tour of the Infantry Center during which time he gathered material for a forthcoming War Department recruiting movie.

Mr. Jones viewed small unit training, including the rifle and weapons squad and talked with Fort Benning officials.

His firm has been awarded the contract for Army recruiting advertising for the fiscal year 1948, between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000. The final negotiations, however, will be subject to appropriation of money for recruiting advertising by Congress, the War Department pointed out.

Thirteen leading advertising agencies were invited to make presentations before a board of officers. This selection was made since it was known that it would be difficult for a smaller firm to carry out acceptably an advertising (Continued on Page 2)

Air Conditioning To Be Installed In TIS Building

In the midst of the hot weather, good news came to officer students at the Infantry School this week when an Associated Press dispatch revealed that air conditioning will be added to the lecture rooms.

The dispatch quoted the Mobile District Corps Engineers. J. A. Geiger, president of the company with the low bid, said the job would include air conditioning of Rooms 219 and 244, each seating about 250 students.

The equipment will be installed as soon as it is available from manufacturers.

Finance Department Marks 27th Anniversary Tuesday

The Army Finance Department marked its 27th anniversary Tuesday, although its predecessor, the old Pay Department, was created in June, 1775, by the Continental Congress.

As a result of a general reorganization of the Army in 1920 following the close of World War I, the present Finance Department was established under the National Defense Act on July 1, 1920.

From a peacetime nucleus of 129 officers and 456 enlisted men, the Department mushroomed into a world-wide finance organization of almost 22,000 officers and enlisted men at the peak of World War II, serving on all fronts.

By law the Finance Department is charged with the disbursement and accounting of all War Department funds together with other fiscal and accounting duties as may be required by law or assigned by the Secretary of War. The Finance Department acts as the Army's paymaster, and, as such, made more than 437 million separate payments during World War II, involving well over 176 billion dollars.

Payments covering some 800,000 war contracts and millions of sub-contracts were included, as well as $23,000,000,000 paid for the support of soldiers' dependents at home.

Maj. Gen. William H. Kasten has been chief of finance since July, 1945.

Service personnel and civilians may become members of the society by paying a membership fee. At present there are four types of memberships ranging from member-at-large to patron member for life.

Maj. Hayden who also serves as financial chairman for the aid society announces that the annual national membership drive will take place from July 19 until August 2.

Nurses Eligible Now For ORC Commissions

Nurses, physical therapists and dietitians will now be able to apply for commissions in the Officers Reserve Corps under the terms of the recently enacted legislation, the War Department announced today.

Applications for Reserve Commissions in the Army Nurse Corps and for physical therapists and dietitians, members of the newly created Women's Medical Specialist Corps, are available at all Army posts and Recruiting Stations throughout the United States.

Nurses and medical specialists who served honorably during World War II will be given preference for appointments to fill the authorized Reserve vacancies. Applications from nurses, physical therapists and dietitians up to the age limit of 45 will be accepted. Members of these Women's Reserve groups are eligible for all the privileges and emoluments and subject to the same responsibilities as members of other Reserve Corps of the Army. Members of Reserve Corps may volunteer for active duty at any time.

Applications will be forwarded to The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C.

Air Force Seeks To Improve Safety Of Future Aircraft

The Army Air Forces has scheduled a series of experimental water landings of land planes as part of an intensive research program to gain knowledge needed to improve the safety of future aircraft. Boeing B-17 Flying Fortresses are to be used in the experiments.

The first of these "ditching" tests will be made at Elgin Field, Fla., early in June, following delivery to the AAF of a radio-controlled bomber by the airplane division of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, which has designed and installed special equipment for the project. The plane to be used in one of the drone planes used for reconnaissance over the Bikini atom bomb area last year. It is expected that important informants will be gained by means of special photographic and recording equipment installed in the plane. When this is analyzed and correlated with subsequent and previous data, it is expected not only to be valuable for the designers of future aircraft but also in the schooling of flight crew on the best methods of making emergency water landings with land planes.

Planes Stripped

The first Flying Fortress to be used was first stripped of all items not needed for the ditching tests. Special recording apparatus was installed to record what happens when a plane of such size hits the water; where the greatest stress and strains are, and where the greatest damage is done.

Automatic damage cameras in airtight, waterproof boxes will photograph the landing from strategic points on the plane. Instead of a tail gunner or a bombardier, automatic recording equipment will tell the story of the water landing. Floodlights enclosed in a Plexiglas and canvas shield will supply interior illumination needed when the instruments begin recording.

The eight damage cameras will be painted with black and white stripes to assist divers in spotting them after the plane has been "ditched". These cameras will make a high speed photographic record of structural damage during the landing. This will be correlated by means of synchronizing lights with water pressure readings, and readings from three accelerometers.

Large Equipment

The largest equipment being stowed in the plane includes a television camera and photo observer. The television camera will transmit instrument readings to a receiver set in the "mother" plane, which will accompany the B-17. The mechanical photo observer will make a permanent record of the same readings.

Amplifiers used to increase weak signals from water pressure pickups have been placed in a large box in the plane. The amplified signals are picked up by highly sensitive tentacles which reach out from a 14-channel recording oscillograph.

Three methods will be used to actuate all the equipment when the aircraft is forced down on the water. A wand extends from the tail when the tail wheel retracts for flight. When this wand hits the water it breaks a link of predetermined strength which, in return, will operate a switch controlling the mechanical recording equipment. The second method is an electrical control plate which will cause an electrical contact to be made when salt touches the plate. The third way to start the recorders is by remote radio control.

A hoisting sling has also been designed and installed by Curtiss-Wright. The sling can be used for either lifting the plane off the water if it remains afloat after ditching or for raising it out of the water if it sinks.

AGF Uses Snow Sled In Arizona Tests

Army ground forces' one-ton cargo "snow sled," which proved highly successful in trials in Alaska, is sliding over the hot desert sands of Arizona undergoing new tests by Task Force "Furnace," Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Army ground forces commanding general, announced today.

If the "snow sled," weighing only 450 pounds without payload, survives the rugged testing over desert terrain, the Army will have a low-cost, light-weight, heavy-duty trailer equally efficient on snow or sand.

The sled is towed behind standard or special prime movers. It is eight feet, eight inches long and four feet, four inches wide, has 18-inch sideboards and is equipped with paulin and lashing rope.

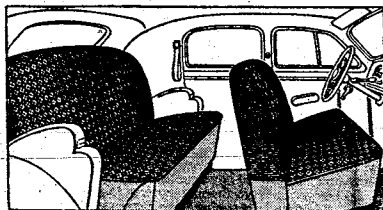

It rides on two steel runners, each of which is eight inches wide and has a keel to prevent side-slipping. A toboggan bottom, with surface area of twelve inches, adds to the sled's mobility in deep snow.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

POSSESSED (murder and madness) with Joan Crawford, Van Meulin, and Raymond Massey. An impressive, first-rate performance by Joan Crawford and a high blood pressure story of insanity arising from a broken love affair. Recommended for mature.

SPORT OF KINGS (horse-racing) with Paul Campbell, Gloria Henry, and Harry Davenport. An old man loses all his possessions except a horse which he enters in a big race to try and recoup his losses. Recommended for family.

ODD MAN OUT (manhunt) with James Mason and Robert Newton. Leader of a gang in the Irish Republican Army, Mason leads a linen mill holdup in which a man is killed. The picture concerns the relation of the police maintain in an effort to track him down. Recommended for mature.

THE HUCKSTERS (satire) with Clark Gable, Deborah Kerr, Sydney Greenstreet. Based on the best-seller novel of the same name, this concerns the cut-throat competition in the advertising and radio business. Recommended for mature.

KILLER AT LARGE (reporters and crooks) with Robert Lowery and Anabel Shaw. Suspicious of some real estate deals, two reporters tangle with a crooked organization in an effort to expose the ring leader. Recommended for mature.

SWING THE WESTERN WAY (musical western) with Jack Leonard, Mary Dugan, and the Hoosier Hotshots. Swindlers, gamblers, and what-not try to get the ranch. They can stand fist fights and guns, but the Hotshots' corny music "slays them" and almost everyone else within hearing.

Seven-Week Typing Course Will Open Here Next Monday

A seven-week course of instruction in typing and army administration will be conducted here for enlisted personnel, beginning July 7, it was announced today.

Classes will be held each weekday from 8-11 a.m. and from 1-4 p.m. in building 2517 on Lunston street.

Selection of students will be based upon ability and service remaining prior to discharge. It was pointed out that no student will be enrolled in the course who has less than six months to serve before discharge unless he extends his enlistment or specifies, in writing, his intention to reenlist upon expiration of his current term.

Officials said that enlisted men selected should be those who are interested in taking the course and who are potential clerks and administrative personnel. Qualified typists will not be enrolled in the class for a refresher course, authorities asserted.

No student will be allowed to quit the course except in emergency or disqualification by his instructor.

POLISH BEAUTY — Shapely Andra Verne would likely be a welcome addition to the Warsaw theater, but, fortunately for American movie-goers, she is under a long-term contract to Paramount studios.

Saturday Review Marks Retirement

Two staff sergeants were on hand for their last military formation, and C. W. Harry H. Hallowell, of the regimental band, received a trophy for his runner-up basketball team to highlight the review last Saturday of the 25th Infantry Regiment and the 999th Field Artillery Battalion on the parade grounds at Sand Hill.

Letters of merit from Col. Thomas B. Burgess to S-Sgts Willie E. Reid, and Finnis L. Bradley, both of whom have served 30 years in the Army, were presented by Col. Robert L. Dulaney, commanding officer of the 25th Infantry Regiment. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Regimental band under the direction of CWO Harry H. Hallowell, and Pfc. David A. Johnson, drum major.

New Unit Organized

Service Company, First Battalion, Student Training Regiment, was organized here June 25, military officials announced today. Personnel for the new company have been provided by the Student Training Regiment.

O-C Returns Home Still Wearing Battle Dress

Officer Candidate N. J. Heffernan of AOC No. 8 tells a strange story of one of the amazing happenings of the recent war which brought him out of action behind enemy lines to his home in New York City with such rapidity that he arrived still in full battle dress.

In January, 1945, after a long series of landings and beachheads in the Pacific, Heffernan, with his company, found himself on a mission eight miles behind enemy lines on Luzon. These men had spent many days occupying Santa Tomas after a tough landing and an even tougher trip through swamps, forests and mountains.

Unknown to Heffernan, he had received an emergency furlough due to the death of his brother on Leyte. In the midst of battle he was brought from the battle lines, flown via Leyte, Saipan, Johnson Island and Honolulu to Hamilton field, Calif., and then to his home without even a chance to prepare for the journey or so much as wash. He simply had time to sling his rifle over his shoulder and board the plane.

The climax to the surprising incident came as he landed at Hamilton field and two young women turned and ran at the sight of the muddy and bearded warriors who came from the plane.

Pedestrian: A man with two cars, a wife and a teen-age daughter.

Ensign: A second lieutenant who ran swim.

Patio Popular During Heat Wave

Acclaimed the most popular rendezvous in Sand Hill during the heat wave, the Patio of Service Club No. 2 is the mecca for dancers, roller skaters, and those who are merely content to sit and browse.

With fair weather permitting, parties and dances under the sponsorship of the club will be held at the Patio. Mrs. Kate L. Trent, club hostess, will suggest all units to use the Patio for their entertainment functions whenever possible.

Party Is Surprise

A surprise party at the Robin Hood Circle club marked the birthday of Sgt. Ike Bentley last week when approximately 25 guests were served ice cream and cake during the evening.

Mrs. Bentley arranged the event which was a complete surprise for her husband.

IN A SUMMER GARDEN—Mrs. Dennis M. Moore and her daughter, Miss Helen Moore, in the beautiful garden at their quarters. Mrs. Moore has just been graduated from the University of Texas where she was a member of the Alpha Delta Pi social sorority.

Daughter Born To Couple Here

An 8-pound, 8-ounce baby girl was born to Lt. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kennedy June 17.

Lieutenant Kennedy is now a member of Company A, Airborne Battalion, Student Training Regiment, and his wife is the former Sheila Staunton Thompson of London, England.

The new father was wounded in the invasion of Europe and returned to England. There he married his English bride and brought her to the United States in the early part of 1945.

Service Club 2 To Have 4th Dance

Service Club No. 2 will highlight the holiday with a Patriotic Ball scheduled for Friday evening, July 4, starting at 8 p. m. in the Club's Patio, it was announced Tuesday by Mrs. Kate L. Trent, senior hostess.

Music will be furnished by the 25th Infantry Orchestra under the direction of CWO Harry H. Halliwell, and guests will come from Columbus and communities in the neighborhood of Fort Benning.

Quartermaster Dinner Honors Couple To Leave

Col. and Mrs. E. F. Wallender were the guests of honor at a colorful dinner party given Saturday evening at the Officers' Club by the officers of the Quartermaster Corps. Colonel Wallender was formerly quartermaster chief here.

Col. and Mrs. H. E. Beine were hosts for the dinner which was served near the pool behind the club and beautiful arrangements of spring and summer flowers were used on the long table.

The quartermaster corps gave the Wallenders who are leaving July 1 to go to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where the colonel will be in command of the San Antonio General Depot.

Attending the dinner, in addition to the honorees, were Colonel and Mrs. Beine, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Richard J. May, Major and Mrs. Abraham Pfeiffer, Major and Mrs. Patrick Dean, Major and Mrs. Raymond R. Crust, Major and Mrs. A. E. Fendley, Capt. and Mrs. Willis V. Ruble, Capt. and Mrs. Walter C. Tjernberg, Capt. and Mrs. James S. Tisdall, Lt. and Mrs. Walter G. Cope, Maj. Duval Meier of Atlanta and Miss Jeanne Dempsey of Macon.

Variety Show Feature At Club

Guests at Service Club No. 1 were well entertained Sunday evening when a full-size variety show was presented under the direction of Jack McKeehan as master of ceremonies.

McKeehan also appeared in a magic act during the evening and Jack Hamilton presented an act of comedy and pantomime. Both of these entertainers are in the Third Student Company of the ROTC.

Edward Beckman won the approval of the audience with his Jimmy Ward who entertained with a novelty tune and Darryl Stackpole who sang.

Party At Quarters Honors Couples To Leave Benning

Major and Mrs. John T. Evans were hosts at a delightful supper party Monday evening when they entertained at their quarters to honor Lt. Col. and Mrs. Glenn B. Walker and Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. Mitchell who are leaving the Benning.

Mrs. Evans decorated the buffet table with a pink color scheme featuring pink lapers in silver candelabra and pink low-cut garden flowers were used throughout the rooms open to the guests, and cocktails were served before the buffet supper.

Mrs. Evans recently honored Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. William Dyer at a desert bride party at her quarters. Four tables were in play during the afternoon and the rooms were decorated with garden flowers.

Fourth Of July Dance, Barbecue At Post NCO Club

Members of the Post Non-Commissioned Officers' club and their guests have been invited to a special program at the club for the Fourth of July when Red McAllister's orchestra from Boston will be the featured attraction at the dance from 8 to 12 p. m.

Earlier in the day a barbecue will be on the program from 5 to 7 p. m. with Brunswick stew also on the menu.

Our Greatest Holiday

Tomorrow Americans throughout the nation—yes, throughout the world—will celebrate the greatest national holiday in our history, the Fourth of July. It was on that day 170 years ago that men like Jefferson, Hamilton, and Adams affixed their signatures to a piece of parchment which declared that this nation would be forever free of the tyrant's yoke, that this nation would be governed by consent of the people, that this nation's government would not be master of the people but the servant of the people. That piece of parchment was bravely called the Declaration of Independence.

We have come a long way since July 4, 1776. We have proven to those nations who scoffed at our infantile desire to be free that we could be free. We have proven to those who thought our form of government doomed to failure that ours is the best in the world. We have proven to those who doubted our ability to unite the vastness of the country into an integrated whole that our nation is the strongest and most powerful in the world today. We have, lastly, proven to those who looked upon us as barbarians that we have the greatest "know-how" the world has ever known.

Our experiment in democracy was the signal for a mass exodus of oppressed peoples from Europe to the welcoming shores of America. Here thousands have found refuge at first in the East and later in the West. From England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Norway, Sweden, Greece, Holland, Poland they came, thousands upon thousands of them. They migrated to America looking for a chance for freedom from want, freedom from fear, and freedom from oppression. They came here for a chance to prove that they could make names for themselves and rise above their low stations in life. They wanted to be rid of tyrants. They wanted to be represented in their government.

These immigrants found that all the stories they had heard were true. They found America a land of plenty where no one questioned their ancestry. But best of all they discovered a new way of life, the democratic way; and these people stayed and raised families and helped to make America the great nation it is today.

Today in America there are represented practically every creed, every race, every nation. Unfortunately, however, there are certain minority groups such as the Ku Klux Klan, Columbians, and Communist-inspired organizations which threaten to disrupt the ideals for which our colonial statesman battled. These hate groups, these advocates of a police state would like to overthrow our peaceful government with its free enterprise, with its equal rights for all mankind. They would like to see our Declaration of Independence become meaningless, our democratic way of life substituted for mob rule or for government by the few instead of "of the people, by the people, and for the people."

America is a great nation. We should all be proud of our heritage. We, however, should not measure our greatness in terms of electric refrigerators, telephones, or automobiles. Rather we should determine our greatness on the basis of our industry, our agriculture, our manpower, and our form of government. Without these things we would be a lost nation, "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

We have made America great by following in the footsteps of our forefathers, the men who signed the Declaration of Independence. Let us always keep it great.

During a fall dust storm, a recruit ducked into a mess hall to escape the blow. Looking around him, he remarked to the cook: "If you put the lid on the kettle, you wouldn't get so much dust in the soup."

Cook: "Yes, but your duty is to serve your country."
Recruit: "See, here to eat it."

"Do you realize you are reading your paper upside down?" asked the helpful waitress.
"Of course I'm snapped the GI." "Do you think it easy?"

"Do you know why Cab Calway's wife can't water the lawn with his bile?"
"Because Cab bleaches."

One of our dear friends, Isaac credit ducked into a mess hall to escape the blow. Looking around him, he remarked to the cook: "If you put the lid on the kettle, you wouldn't get so much dust in the soup."

"Somewhere, sir, I don't feel I deserve the best; what's second best?"

"Say, these glasses aren't strong enough, doctor."
"But they're the No. 1 type."
"OK, but what comes after No. 1?"
"No. 2."
"And after that?"
"After that you buy a dog."

Chaplain's Corner.

THE GOLD STANDARD

Ever since we were children in school we have known that there are standards of measurement. We are accustomed to temporary those tables of measurement commonly used in the exchange of goods and services. Most of us grow up having also a fairly well ordered standard of ideals and morality. We readily accepted the standards of inches, pounds, and gallons, but we have had open warfare with the Ten Commandments and the rules of conduct we inherited. Yesterday's ideals of right and wrong have been condemned as worthless or puritanical or dated.

I believe that we have a gold standard for truth, honor, sacredness, purity, and good old fashioned decency that should not be trifled with.

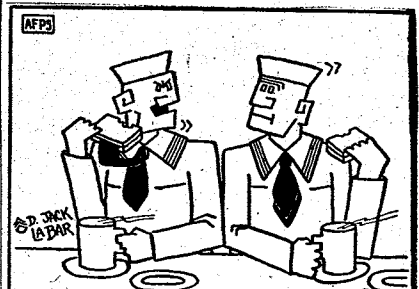

How necessary it is today for many to employ a lawyer so they will not purjure themselves in court. Lie if you can get away with it. Steal if you can't get caught. Break your vows but sloppy drunk because it is being done. Curse and be dirty for you meant no offense to the church. The American people are falling off the gold standard that characterized the God-fearing citizen of yesterday.

The Old Testament tells the story of how Solomon in the glorious days of his kingdom made shields of gold gold for the soldiers of his guard. During the reign of his son, the wicked King Rehoboam, the nation fell into decline, forgetting God and going down the same old sinful way. As a consequence of this degenerating trend an invading army conquered the land and captured the treasures of great value among which were the famous golden shields. In later years the kingdom gained back some of its lost power but the best they could do was to replace the shields of gold with shields of brass. They were off the gold standard.

We Americans have a proud golden shield heritage. We must keep alert to preserve the character of our people. A nation that forgets God and the right can find itself marching into the future carrying shields of brass.

What is true of a nation is also true of each individual. How high your golden shield?

A GI wandered innocently back between the acts of a musical revue and started to enter a room clearly marked "Chorus girls dressing room. Positively no admittance."
A watchman nabbed him in the act. "Can't you read," he hollered, pointing to the sign.
"Who's smokin'?" asked the GI.

"THESE @!#!- SANDWICHES TASTE LIKE OLD RAGS!"

Book Shelf

THE KING'S GENERAL

To discuss this book by the author of "Rebecca," it seems fitting to start with a look at the end of the volume, where in two paragraphs, Dephne du Maurier gives the reader a quick glance at the inspiration for her plot. She explains that when alterations were being made on Menability, an old English home, a secret room or cell was discovered wherein was found the skeleton of a young man seated on a stool. The skeleton was dressed in the clothes of a cavalier as worn during the period of the civil war.

Family records of the Rashleighs who owned Menability disclosed that certain members of the Grenville family had hidden at Menability before the rising of 1648, and so it was surmised that one of them had taken refuge in the secret room and been forgotten.

Just as "Rebecca" was strongly built around an English home, so too is "The King's General," although the association does not play as important a part in the 1945 plot of this book written in the plot with skill that illustrates the author's complete knowledge of the facts without making the facts heavy, or slowing to the pace of the story, about extremely alive and colorful.

The story-teller of the book is also the heroine, Mistress Honor Harris, who, after suffering a severe fall, her youth is confined to a wheel chair for the remainder of her life. Playing opposite Honor is the King's General, Sir Richard Grenville, a resentful, proud and bitter man, and also the only man Honor ever loved.

Despite the fact that soon after the opening of the book the heroine became an invalid, it is a tale of exciting events with a background of war.

The war with which the author concerns herself is the civil war in England as the Royalists fought the Roundheads with the setting on the Cornish coast. Only in setting as this with a background of drums and bugles could such a stirring tale seem real as Honor, fully realizing the danger to the man she loves, stands firmly by his side despite the feelings of her family and friends.

After the first chapter, the story moves quickly and the characters are drawn with a deft hand and filled in with personalities strong and true in their reactions. These are definitely not stick-drawn characters answering the author's need, but real people moving about the stage of life. They are of the upper-class and naturally find themselves fighting for the King against the forces of Parliament. But the story actually revolves around Honor and Richard and their friends rather than the issues of the war.

After the heroine finds herself a cripple, she decides she can never go through with her approaching marriage to Richard. In the following years she carefully shuts him out of her thoughts until he comes walking back into her life as the officer in charge of the Royalist forces fighting in the section around Menability, where she has gone to live with relatives.

After the years of absence, Richard again takes a leading role in her life. He entrusts her with his son who needs the heroism and qualities of Richard and is a sad disappointment to his father, who has now repented of his wife and again asks Honor to become his wife. She refuses to wed the man who has repudiated her physical condition, but through the years he is fighting in England, she is again involved in his life and as strongly as ever in love with him.

How the lives of these two people turn out is a skillfully-worked-out story done in a highly-readable style. It is certainly not a novel of great importance, although it could be called historical in its dealing with the civil war, and it carries no great message, but for the sake of a weather relaxation, it well fits the reading bill for enjoyment.

RTCs Achieve Division Status

Four of the United States' most historic divisions will be reactivated July 15 to perform the duties of the present replacement training centers. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general Army Ground Forces, announced today action in reorganization of the size of the Army or of the number of effective divisions, and that the functional organization and activities of the present replacement training centers remains unchanged.

"I have always endeavored to raise the standards at the replacement training centers," General Devers said. "To improve and stabilize their overused and trained personnel, and to increase their effectiveness and efficiency. This reorganization and reorganization of replacement training centers divisions will give the assigned personnel a feeling of unity and responsibility to maintain the high esprit de corps found in such historic and honored units."

Units affected by the announcement are the Replacement Training Center at Fort Ord, Calif., redesignated the Fourth Infantry division; the replacement training center at Fort Jackson, S. C., which will become the Fifth Infantry division; the replacement training center at Fort Dix, N. J., which will be the Ninth Infantry division; and the replacement training center at Fort Knox, to emerge as the Third Armored division.

The redesignation of replacement training centers as divisions will not affect trainer and over-see personnel. Permanent personnel, now serving as training cadre at the centers, will be assigned to a division, but will continue to perform duties as before the change. However, the move which gives divisional status to

Capt. Miller Appointed Air ROTC Instructor

Capt. Robert C. Miller, chief forecaster and commanding officer of the weather detachment at Lawson Field, has been appointed weather instructor for Air ROTC students of the University of California, AAF weather officials at Warner Robins Field, Ga., have announced. He leaves for his new assignment the first part of July.

The captain entered service as an enlisted man in 1942. He graduated from the AAF weather school, Grand Rapids, Mich., and received his commission in September 1943. Overseas he was stationed in Australia, Morotai Island and Luzon. He was assigned to Lawson Field in March 1946.

The replacement training centers will make the cadre an integral part of some of the Army's foremost combat divisions, whose insignia they will be entitled to wear.

There will be no change in the system of handling trainees, as each will be attached unassigned during the thirteen weeks training period and then will move on in the usual replacement stream with a more thorough understanding of the unit procedure which he will encounter upon his assignment to a Regular Army unit.

EAGER ATTENTION—Lt. Howard P. MacConchie, commanding officer of the "crack platoon," briefs his men on a few of the situations which will confront them at the USMA.

READY FOR INSPECTION—The first squad of the model platoon executes a near-perfect right dress.

SKIRMISHES—A portion of the West Point-bound platoon will demonstrate this formation for the benefit of the USMA cadets during their visit to the USMA July 7 to Aug. 25.

HUP, TWO, THREE, FOUR—On the march the crack platoon marches with perfect timing and discipline.

TO THE ATTACK—Here one of the crack platoon's rifle squads disperses in combat fashion as they prepare for their West Point mission.

COMMUNICATIONS MEN—This group of highly-trained specialists will demonstrate the methods of correct operation of signal equipment during their July 7 to Aug. 25 visit to the USMA.

Model Infantry Platoon Leaves Soon For USMA

BY TOM MURPHY

Last April, school troops received orders to form a "crack platoon" of infantry for the implementation of training at the United States Military Academy. This platoon, in the Army, the model unit of its kind, is the one you read about and see on recruiting billboards and on the all members of the platoon, according to the ten inches, six feet tall, have a true liking for the Army, he of sound mind and character with an efficiency rating of excellent or superior.

The First Battalion of the 37th Infantry was assigned the job of similar to that of the demonstration platoon; in fact, at the academy they will be under one command and will accomplish their mission of communication along the same lines as the infantry platoon.

Lt. Olin E. Smith, of the 37th Infantry's First Battalion, took command of the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion, 501st Paratrooper Battalion, and his platoon of the platoon, progressing along a parallel line of training with that of the platoon, accomplished in communication what is desired by every instructor, a superior unit in its job.

"Pester Boy" is Leader Commanding officer of these men is Lt. Howard P. MacConchie, who really was the boy who "peered out of store windows all over the country," saying "Uncle Sam Needs You." That was back in 1941 when Lieutenant MacConchie, the model soldier for magazine covers and posters.

finding the men who would meet these billboard requirements. It was decided that it should be in a surprisingly short time (10) the volunteer.

Then the process of elimination started, and finally there remained only the members of the present platoon. "Did they meet the requirements?" That's like asking if John Smith met Poca-hontas. As these boys get ready for their departure, one sees a polished, snappy soldier, welded into one of the smoothest allied machines that ever functioned. They are perfection, and they love it.

Much to Learn Yet There are many things these boys still must learn. Many details overlooked by the average soldier must be the watchword for these men. They took their basic training again, working from their close order drill course in the technique of fire. Many hours were spent in the Infantry School, in the advance and flank guards, night and day patrolling, and the platoon in attack. All this must work perfectly when the platoon performs for the cadets from July 7 through August 25.

First Division was making a beach head, Lieutenant MacConchie took over a group of leadership size—organized men—company size—building up a firing line and neutralizing devastating enemy small arms fire. He crawled along the fire-swept beach gathering discarded explosives, and in the face of heavy artillery and mortar fire, blew up the wire entanglement and led his men through.

For his gallantry and devotion to duty he was given the nation's second and third highest awards; the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star. He also wears the Purple Heart, Army Commendation ribbon, French Legion of Honor, Belgian Forfeiter, ETO ribbon with seven battle stars and bronze arrowheads for the invasion of North Africa, Sicily and France. He received a direct commission on the battlefield for his superior leadership.

"This all happened," says Lieutenant MacConchie, "because 14 years ago back in New Jersey I joined the Army and did what came naturally. I saw the communications men. Their records are up."

THE QUEEN IN ASSAULT—A few of the members of the newly-formed model platoon demonstrate how the infantryman took advantage of every yard during the war.

TAKE TEN—Here the platoon takes a few minutes out for a much-needed drink of water and a well-earned rest.

ROUTE STEP—Getting in shape for their demonstrations at the USMA, the model platoon of infantrymen take one of those route step marches which are such familiar memories from basic days.

Airborne Units Strengthened

A new war strength organization for Airborne divisions, was announced today by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general, Army Ground Forces.

New war strength organizations for infantry and Armored divisions were announced December 21, 1946.

The new tables of organization and equipment calling for approximately 13,000 officers and men, will be in effect only in time of war or emergency, or for experimental purposes, General Devers stated. Shortages of military manpower and material will necessitate reductions in both personnel and equipment for peacetime Airborne division organization.

Apply to EA, OEC, NG
The war tables and subsequent peacetime modifications, will apply equally Regular Army, Organized Reserve Corps and any future National Guard Airborne divisions.

With the ultimate goal of air transportability for all divisions and the eventual elimination of all basic differences between Infantry and Airborne divisions occupying a high priority in AGF planning, the new Airborne organization parallels that of the standard infantry division.

Principal organizational differences occur in the specific troops of the Airborne division. Provision is made for a parachute maintenance company of five officers, one warrant officer and 233 enlisted men.

The 155 MM Howitzer Battalion, organic in the artillery of the standard infantry division, is not included in the artillery of the Airborne division, but is listed with units attached for sustained combat.

Commenting on the new Airborne organization, Gen. Devers stated: "Airborne troops will be specially trained and equipped to accomplish specific missions (such as glider and parachute training). They will not be employed normally on missions which can be performed more expeditiously and economically by other forces (standard type infantry and armored division).

Primarily Assault Troops
"The Airborne division will be composed organically of those units which can be committed in a tactical situation to accomplish the primary mission of air assault, leaving only a minimum rear element to be brought forward by means other than air."

"When employed in conjunction with other ground forces, Airborne troops will be relieved at the earliest practicable time the tactical situation will permit. They may, however, be employed in an independent operation deep behind enemy lines to seize and establish an airhead, with no intention of any support or reinforcement other than by air, and such an operation may be conducted in this manner for an indefinite period.

When not relieved upon linkage with other forces, and maintained in the line due to its critical assignment and deployment, additional units will be attached in order to give the Airborne division strength and fire power comparable to that of a standard infantry division. Such units, approximating 2,600 officers and men, will be considered standard attachments but will not constitute the organic tail or rear combat elements of the division."

Staff Assignments

Infantry Center staff assignments announced this week include appointment of Lt. Col. Dennis M. Moore as assistant chief of staff and Col. Norman M. Winn as special service officer. It was also announced that Col. Moore would also serve as central post fund custodian in case of war crimes investigations.

MAJ. HUBA ENDS VISIT
Maj. John R. Huba, Engineer Maintenance Division, left post Wednesday following a three-day visit during which time he assisted officials in solving problems concerning organizational maintenance and field maintenance support for general engineering equipment. He also gave advice on spare parts support and supply.

WD Gives Cupid Green Light, Lifts Ban On Marriages

Suspension of restrictions which would have prohibited the marriages of second lieutenants commissioned in the Regular Army after July 1, 1949 for a year after the date of original commission, was announced today by the War Department.

Second lieutenants newly-commissioned lieutenants will be free to marry on the same basis as other officers.

Current regulations prohibiting the marriage of West Point cadets until after graduation are not involved and remain in effect, it was explained.

Removal of the projected marriage restrictions requested by the Superintendent of the United States Military Academy and approved by General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, United States Army Chief of Staff.

The marriage ban was first authorized by Congress in 1939 under the law providing for probationary commissions revocable within a three-year period at the discretion of the Secretary of War with the stipulation the ban not be put into effect until 1942, was waived in the War Department in March 1942 for the duration of the war. The ban was lifted in November 1945 in order not to affect cadets who entered the academy during the war.

Gen. Gallagher Now in Germany

From Heidelberg, Germany, came the recent news that Brig. Gen. Philip E. Gallagher has been assigned as deputy commander of the Second Military District, U. S. Constabulary Headquarters.

Assuming command of the 25th Combat Troop in May, 1946, Gen. Gallagher did much toward launching a program embodying military, physical and educational training which preceded the Universal Military Training program at Ft. Belvoir, Ill.

The General was recently joined in Germany by Mrs. Gallagher who is the former Miss Lella Slade of Columbus. The General has many relatives in Columbus among whom are two aunts, Mrs. Rhodes Browne, and Mrs. Lawrence Dozier of Cherokee River; cousins, Mrs. E. S. Waddell, Mrs. Charles Hunt, and Miss Florence Slade, former owner of historic St. Elmo.

Three Post Units Reduced in Size

Reorganization of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion, 378th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company, and 25th Infantry Regiment into smaller units was announced today by military authorities.

Unit affected most by the change is the 25th, which will be reduced to two battalions composed of 85 officers and 1,249 enlisted men. The 78th engineers will consist of five battalions with 20 officers and 430 enlisted, while the 378th men will have a total of only six officers and 225 enlisted men.

Army To Use Plastic Spoon

A plastic spoon which may be thrown away after it is used for one meal will be included in future Army operational rations, the War Department announced.

After extensive laboratory and field tests the Quartermaster Corps found that a spoon made of polystyrene, a molded plastic material, has the necessary military characteristics. It is sturdy, tasteless and odorless, and has a smooth surface.

During World War II there were many instances in which the mess kit could not be carried into the field. The soldiers were issued combat rations and a plated iron spoon. Water was often scarce and the men had to clean the spoon by wiping it on their clothing or on their hands. This made possible the contamination of food caused by the insanitary spoon.

Other complaints were that the metal spoons rattled, they could be lost, they were a camouflage hazard because they shone and they rusted when the plating wore off. This last objection was overcome with the development of stainless-steel spoons.

Quartermaster research and experimentation with expendable spoons included various types made of flat wood, shaped wood, pressed wood, and vulcanized fiber. Molded plastic was found to be best suited for the purpose and the materials from which these spoons are made are readily available.

10 Paratroopers Promoted

Promotion of 10 members of the Student Training Regiment's Airborne Battalion was announced this week by military authorities.

Members of Company D included Pvt. Robert R. Wise, who was promoted to the rank of T-5, and Pvt. Paul A. Foley, who was raised to the rank of sergeant.

Members of Company G, all promoted to the rank of private first class, were Pvs. Bernie D. Felling, William H. Day, Lindsay R. Ellis, Michael A. Golden,

Position Of War Crime Investigators Now Filled

The War Department announced today that all positions vacancies for commissioned personnel to serve as war crimes investigators have been filled.

Consequently, applications from persons desiring either direct appointment in the Army of the United States or recall to active duty as war crimes investigators are no longer being accepted.

SPORTS— Airborne Loses, But Keeps A Lead

An Airborne victory string of 21 games was snapped last Thursday night by the ISD Profs, but with only one more game left for the Troopers in the second half (against Lawson Field tonight), the Airborne is still a safe bet to take the American League pennant.

Lefty Lehner and Chick Shiver combined their pitching skills to limit the Airborne to six singles Thursday, with only three runs coming across the plate. Meanwhile, the Prof's batters were getting their nine base hits in clusters to bring in seven runs against the Airborne ace, Dick Gerhart.

For three innings the game was a scoreless tie, with Lefty McGowan getting the only base hit with one out in the third. Gerhart set the side down in order in each inning.

Hill Led Off In 4th
George Hill led off the ISD fourth, reaching first on Bonarr's error. Herb Laue sacrificed him to second and the old dependable, Blondy Burnett, drilled a single into left center to bring home the first run of the game.

Burnett stole second, and after Gerhart had rung in the first run on him, Woodrow Brut plunked an outside pitch into left field for a run-scoring double.

The Airborne got two hits in its half of the fourth, loading the bases with one out, but Lefty bore down—striking out Pritchard and getting Gerhart to ground out.

Airborne Gets 2
In the last of the fifth the Airborne collected two more hits, but Kinard hit a hard liner right at third baseman Johnson's feet, and the Prof's pulled a novel double play, aided by Kinard's mistaken belief that his drive had been caught on the fly.

The ISD had another good inning in the sixth, putting on a two-out rally. Hill walked, was sacrificed to second by Laue again, and went to third as Kinard threw out Burnett.

Taking no chances, Gerhart walked. Burt intentionally walked the Prof's pulled the delayed steal then, as Bonarr's wide throw to third was dropped by Terry and Hill got back safely. Bill Taylor came through next, slugging an inside pitch for a screaming double over first base. And he scored a moment later when Johnson got his second hit of the game.

Kinard Scores
The Airborne got one run back in the last of the sixth, as Lehner hit Casellius for the second hit straight time. He stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and scored' on Griffin's fly to center field.

Working with a 5-1 lead, Lefty set the side down in order in the seventh. In the eighth, however he walked the first man, Kinard, and after striking out Casellius, walked Gallagher also. Griffin, up to his old tricks of driving in crucial runs, stoked a solid single into left field, scoring Kinard and sending Gallagher to third.

Manager Ike Silcox decided that the Prof's southpaw reliever, a right hand as he walked off the field. He had given up six hits, allowed but one stranded run, and struck out eight Airborne batters.

Chick Shiver came on, and, in addition to Pritchard's hit to Burnett at short, Blondy threw home to Saults, who tagged Gallagher hard, dropping the ball after the Airborne receiver had powed him over.

Saults Drops Fly
With Gerhart at bat, Shiver threw a hook that bounced on the plate and got past Saults, allowing Griffin to come in and permitting Pritchard to wind up at third. Shiver kept missing the inside corner on Gerhart and finally walked him. When the Airborne pitcher took second, the tying run was in scoring position, and McGowan, at the plate, represented the potential winning run.

Lefty worked the count to 3 and 2 on Shiver, got a life when Saults dropped his foul fly, and then swung at a pitch that was way inside, tapping it down to Laue, who made the unassisted putout.

Gerhart retired the first two men in the ninth, but Saults poked a double down the left field line. Pritchard, at the plate, represented insurance, Chick Shiver got to third on a rousing double to Burnett. Two more singles by Hill and Laue followed before Burnett puffed to Kinard, and Shiver hit a 7-3 lead, with only three outs to go.

Terry opened up the ninth with a hard liner for a sure single over second, but Blondy Burnett came over and made a great stop, throwing wild to first, however, and letting Terry get around to second. The next two batters—Bonarr and Kinard—Shiver took care of by himself, getting them to hit right back to the mound, from where he threw them out. Casellius ended it all by flying out to center field.

Tankers Move Into 3rd Place

The 756th Tankers moved past the Lawson Field Flyers this week into third place in the American League, rising on the good left arm of Ken Watts.

Watts set down the Flyers last Saturday afternoon in the hot, sweating sun, giving up only six hits, and striking out twelve Lawson batters.

Johnson led the Tankers' attack with three hits, driving in five runs.

Monday night the Airborne retreated to its winning ways bylicking the 97th Infantry, 15-2. Dave Larson made his first start of the season for the Troopers, and gave the Vets only four hits.

The game was featured by the expulsion of Boney Bonarr, Airborne captain from the premises of Gowdy Field. Ralph Terry was the hitting star with two singles, a double and a triple.

Reds Defeat R And R

The Airborne Reds defeated the R and R club 5 to 1 June 25 at Wildwood park with each team getting seven hits. Gladstone doubled in the first for the Reds and came home on Leidel's 5 to 1 single. Omesseger's homer to left field brought in Leidel. Dinner doubled in the fifth, again scoring Leidel, and Tinner came in on a bad play by the R and R shortstop. Horlacker scored in the sixth on a triple by Parolia of the R and R club.

Boland And Mejia Help Bring 328th Home First

Leading the pack home in the post's National League is the 328th Ordnance, which took five of its first six games in the second half. Only the 83rd Field Artillery mars the team's record. Nosh Mejia and Andy Boland found their way to the best pitching staff in the league, splitting the 38th's contests between nine innings.

Mejia allowed the Airborne only three runs in a seven-inning stint against the Troopers in the first half and last Friday night he pitched the second shutout of the second half, giving up only seven hits to the 7th Engineer. The little Californian has struck out 38 batters in his three second half games, while Boland has mowed down 33 in the same number.

Bullets Down Blues For 18th Straight Win

The previously unbeaten Bastrop Blues suffered their first defeat of the season Wednesday afternoon, when the Bullets blendeled their marauding string of 18 straight victories by the score of 4 to 2.

The fact that three Bullet hurlers worked the pitching assignments, it was the brilliant four-innings of the right arm of Chubby St. Patrick Young that labeled him as the winning moundman. Over coach John D. Smith and Lawrence Hall were the other two Bullet pitchers, who shared in victory runs with three doubles to his credit and labeled him as one trying to stretch a double into a triple. The Ordnance nine is blessed with three out one trying to stretch a double into a triple. The Ordnance nine is blessed with three out one trying to stretch a double into a triple.

Smith Opens Fifth

Lenny Smith opened the Bullet half of the fifth inning with a single past second base and moved to second when Griffey failed to clear himself from the path of one of Davis's fast ones. Burke singled to right and diminutive Smitty, who runs the bases in assault fashion, streaked across the platter. Griffey went out attempting to score from third. Baldwin walked and Burke scored when Nichols got life on a fielder's choice, forcing Baldwin out at second.

The Blues got into the game and avoided a shut-out in the sixth inning. When they scored two runs on four hits, Davis' plate was muffed. Griffey laid down a perfectly executed bunt to fill the bases. A single by Lawson scored Davis, and Gray Clyde filed to Griffey who threw to Burke in time to tag Davis. Nichols had advanced far off second. Andrews doubled to left, but the perfect throw of left fielder Lenny Smith caused Lawson to be thrown out at the plate, the play going from Smith to Baldwin to Nichols. Scoring for both teams, ended, after that and only one more hit was recorded from then.

Pistol Team Wins Prizes In Tourney

A five-man Fort Benning team returned from Jacksonville this past week with a fistful of medals won in the Southern Regional Pistol tournament held there.

The Benning team, which was composed of Capt. Jesse B. Halprin, Capt. Robert W. Young, M. Sgt. Curtis Fritchman, 1st Sgt. Russell Stowe, M. Sgt. Joseph Gallo, won 21 prizes in the 20-event program. The team took seven firsts, five seconds, and nine thirds.

In the firing of the .45 calibre pistol, M. Sgt. Gallo took a third in rapid fire, a first in the national match course, and a third in the Southern Regional Championships, which is a combination of all the 45 events.

With the .38, 1st Sgt. Stowe took a first in slow fire, Gallo took a third in the time fire, Stowe and Fritchman took second and third respectively in the national match course, and Capt. Halprin placed third in the Regional Championships, again a combination of all the 38 events. Competing with the .22 calibre weapon, Benning's Stowe and Fritchman took a first and third in the slow fire. Fritchman finished first in the time fire and first in the national match course. Stowe placed second in the national match course, and Fritchman took first in the Regional Championships, a combination of all the 22 events.

A National Rifle Association event, the Southern Regional Pistol Championships included a combination of the 22, and 38 events, and Capt. Halprin placed second here. In the Southern Regional all-around aggregate, which combines the 22, 38, and 45, Gallo placed second. Three Benningites, Gallo, Fritchman, and Stowe, placed one, two, and three respectively in the Southern Open Championships, which was a combination of all three national match courses.

Bullets Drub Mill Nine, 7-2

"Violent!" Elmer Mallory's clutch single through the box into deep center field erased a 1-to-1 deadlock in the third inning Tuesday at Hodge, La., and the Bullets went on to drub the Southern Advance Paper Mill nine by a score of 7-2.

The Advances had moved ahead in the second on two Bullet mis-cues and singles by Williams and Wyatt. "Pee Wee" Lenny Smith singled to left field and scored on Baldwin's triple. It was at this point that Mallory came through with the pay-off blow that sent Big Eddie across the plate, giving the Bullets a 2-to-1 lead.

Though scoring ceased until the seventh inning the Bullets were never headed, as they picked up three runs in this frame and two more in the ninth to win handily. Walter Scott, first up in the seventh, worked pitcher Claude Davis for a walk. Again Smith came through with a well-hit single to left, with Scott stopping at third. John Griffey's slow roller down the third base line scored Scott and advanced Smith to second. The bases were loaded when Davis fumbled Burke's slow bouncer. Baldwin went out, Scott to first, with Smith scoring on the throw, and Griffey dashed home when Mallory was thrown out, catcher to first.

The losers picked up a single run in the eighth on a triple and steal home by chorion Percy Lee. The top half of the ninth inning saw the Bullets add two more runs after two were out. Eddie Baldwin, who holds the distinction of being hit by pitched balls more times than all the other players put together on the team, was bopped again. After stealing second, he scored on Mallory's second hit of the game. Two consecutive errors by the Hodge nine scored Mallory. Though Young started the game, Scott took over in the third inning and was credited with the win.

Ordnance Nine Defeats 78th Engineers, 16-0

The 328th Ordnance assured itself of at least a tie for the National League title Friday night, as they pounced on four 78th Engineers hurlers for a 16 to 0 triumph. The Ordnancemen netted only one more victory in their two remaining games to clinch the flag.

Nash Mejia, who pitched his only previous victory during the second half over these same Engineers, coasted along, issuing goose eggs after goose eggs. He permitted the Engineers to hit safely twice in one inning only one time, fanned eleven and walked only one. The 78th collected only seven hits off him, all singles.

Bo Boland, better known as a pitcher, played second base for the 328th, and hit safely his first four times at the plate and at bat. Every man on the Ordnance scored at least one run, and only Mejia and the catcher, Griffin, went hitless.

Bases Loaded
Leitch, Ramos, Hudson, and Long all tracked runners during the lopsided contest in a vain effort to stem the flow of Ordnance base knocks. Leitch, the starter, was pulled in the third after he had loaded the bases without retiring a man, and Ramos went in. He limited the 328th to only two runs in the third, but was tapped for another paid in the fourth.

After an uneventful fifth inning, Ramos found himself in extremely warm water in the sixth, a profitable inning for the 328th. Ramos walked Mejia, a strikeout victim in two previous tries, to get the frame under way. Koschick provided the only out. Ramos achieved by sacrificing Mejia to second. The strategy was impeccable. Armstrong rammed a double to left center, scoring runner. Boland followed with his fourth straight hit, a single to left center, for run two. Coy disturbed Ramos' composure further with another single to left, Boland halting at second.

Cline placed matters squarely up to Ramos by throwing a roller right into his hands. A badly trawled Ramos started to throw to third, but changed his mind when he saw Boland would beat the throw. He turned and started to throw to second, and again changed his mind. By the time he got a throw off to first, Cline, a swift runner, was standing there, safer than a war bond. Hudson relieved Ramos.

Hudson's confidence was sorely tried when Harnois let Thie's grounder escape him, Boland and Coy scoring. Carroll tinned a single into left, scoring Cline with the fifth run. Aronson received a walk. Mejia, the pitcher, got his second free pass of the inning, scoring Thie's home. Long replaced Hudson.

Koschick greeted Long by singling to right, driving home the last two runs of the inning and bringing the total to eight. Long hit the next batter, Armstrong, but Boland forced Mejia at the plate, a groundsie to short. Coy lined to right to end the merriest.

Long, although wild, gave up only three more runs, one in the seventh when Thie's long double scored Cline from first, and two more in the eighth when his support fell apart.

The 83rd PA threw the race for second place into total confusion on June 29, when they trounced the 204th Truckers, 12 to 5. The loss dropped the 204th into last place in a game and a half out of second.

The Ramblers picked up all their runs in the first four innings, scoring two in both the first and second frames, seven times in the third, and tacking on their final tally in the fourth.

Starting Pitcher Love of the 204th (a lefthander, suffered most of the damage, being charged with nine of the runs, and seven of the hits the Ramblers compiled. Love was removed during the third after singles by Fritcher, Geisler and Tolle. Collier walked, and Walsh committed one of the three errors he accrued during the game on Juscak's inning when Doyle Feeler took the mound and pitched a single to Boulogny. He fanned the next two batters, then suffered another lapse. Brooks singled, and when the right fielder, Albino, let the ball get by him, Boulogny went to third, Boulogny scoring. Fritcher, up for the second time in the inning, hit his second single, scoring Brooks with the seventh and last run. Feeler fanned Juscak, retiring the side. CScore Without Hit

The 83rd picked up their last run without the aid of a hit. Geisler walked, stole second and third, and scored, while Tolle was grounding out.

In the only other game of the week; played on June 24, the 78th scraped by the 83th, 8-7, scoring without the aid of a hit. Geisler ball in the last of the ninth, after the 83rd had tied the score at 7-7 in the half of the ninth.

Koschick led off the inning with a grounder to Corvell, and survived when he juggled it. Stevens followed with a double to right. Leitch fired the ball to the plate in an effort to catch Koschick, trying to score from first. The throw skidded past Tartaglia and rolled to the backstop. Before he could recover it, both Koschick and Stevens had scored. Ramos was sent in to pitch, and got by without further scoring, though Geisler patted him for a double.

The Engineers got the winner in their half of the ninth. Pounds singled to start the ball rolling, and stole second on the first pitch. Ambrosia fanned, but when Tkac was pitching to Harnois, Socki, his receiver, let a pitch get away from him. He did not catch the ball towards the Engineer's bat rack, and before he could recover it from among the bats, Pounds had sprinted home from second.

Ramos received credit for the win, and Tkac, who had turned in a fine performance after weathering a five-run first inning, was the loser.

Officers' Club Net Tournney In Full Swing

Fort Benning's annual Officers' Club tennis tournney is in full swing this week with the semi-final and final matches slated for the Fourth of July week end.

In the men's singles, the only early upset in seedings saw Lt. Col. R. M. Flynn, seeded 6, defeat Capt. S. J. Adams, seeded third, in the quarter-finals.

Other quarter-final matches in the men's singles scheduled Col. S. J. Wester to play Col. Robert Rose, Maj. F. Bull to meet Lt. J. Boogie and Maj. W. T. McDaniel to meet Lt. Col. H. D. Balliett.

In the men's doubles, play entered the quarter-finals without any upsets.

Women's Singles

In the women's singles, the semi-final matches were slated with Mrs. Betty Johnson meeting Mrs. J. W. White and Mrs. E. F. Holton playing Mrs. J. L. Hitchings.

Semi-final matches in the mixed doubles were set with Col. S. J. Webster and Mrs. E. F. Holton meeting Mrs. C. E. Johnson and Mrs. J. L. Hitchings, and Miss Betsy Ross and Major Bull meeting Mrs. C. E. Johnson and Col. H. D. Balliett.

Finals of the junior singles and women's singles are slated for Friday at 3 p. m. while the finals of the mixed doubles will be played at 3 p. m. July 5. Men's singles and men's doubles finals will be played starting at 2 p. m. on July 6.

First Round Results

After the first round, the results showed that Capt. L. S. Stanley defeated Capt. D. B. Rivette, 6-2, 6-4; Maj. F. S. Church defeated Capt. M. P. McHair, 6-1, 6-1; Lt. F. B. Love defeated Capt. M. A. Dubrinsky, 6-0, 6-1; Roger McDonough won from S. D. Ferris, 6-0, 6-1; Lt. Col. R. M. Flynn defeated Lt. W. Murphy, 6-2, 6-0, and Maj. W. T. McDaniel downed Lt. J. Powell 6-2, 6-2.

The second round of the men's singles saw Lt. Col. R. Rosa down Captain Stanley 6-2, 6-0, and Major Bull defeated Major Church 6-4, 6-2. Lieutenant Boogie, who came in on a bye in the first round, defeated Lieutenant Love 6-1, 6-2, and Capt. S. Adams, also in on a bye, defeated Major H. Feabody 6-1, 6-0, while Colonel Flynn kept in the round by defeating McDaniel 6-2, 6-4. McDaniel also kept in the play by defeating Col.

C. E. Johnson 6-1, 6-0, while Col. H. D. Balliett defeated Capt. G. F. Monsarrat.

In early quarter-final play Colonel Flynn kept in the play by defeating Captain Adams in a contest ending 6-1, 6-4.

Unless rain interferes, it was announced today by Chuck Evert, tennis pro at the Club, the event will be over on July 6 and trophies will be awarded in all divisions.

Sport Quiz

By Armed Forces Press Service

1. "Singin' Sunny" Baugh, whip-arm passing ace of the National Professional Football League, dreamed of a pro baseball career while at college. Inability to cope with a curve ball, however, sent him back to the gridiron. Where did he play college baseball and football, what spot did he handle on the diamond and what National League baseball club gave him a tryout?
2. From Tinker to Evers to Chance, Chicago's great double-play combination will be long remembered. Who was the Cubs' THIRD baseman during most of their period with the team?
3. Ten years ago a Cleveland Indian pitcher blazed through the season without a single setback chalked up against him until the final day of play. Who was the hurler—Gronck, Allen, Feller or Black?
4. Since 1939 two men have run away with American League base stealing honors. Who are they?
5. Ah-bah! This is easy. Or is it? When did the American League assume a major status?

ANSWERS

1. Baugh, a third baseman at Texas Christian University, was looked at by the St. Louis Cardinals.
2. Harry Steinfeldt.
3. Johnny Allen, who had 13 wins and no losses at the time. He was beaten by Jake Wade of the Tigers.
4. George Case and George Starnvoets, 5, 1901.
5. Lee G. I. "How are you getting along with those Georgia gals?" Ft. Benning G. I. "Oh just fine. The other day one of them told me she thought of me the same as she did of a great northern hero—by the way, just who was this guy Sherman?"

Midgets Plan 35-Lap Race For Fourth Of July Bill

The Midget Auto racers, anxious to help local fans celebrate July 4, will stage their longest event of the season Friday night on the Idle Hour track, when a special 35-lap feature race will be run to climax the exciting three-a-week activities.

Racing now is held each Tuesday night. Friday night, starting at 8 p. m., and with competition growing keener, and with more drivers battling for the awards, hectic races are being run at each show. Last week one serious mishap occurred, but luckily no one was critically injured. Leroy Hicks, however, was put out of action with a broken rib, a badly injured arm, and a severe shake-up. He was pinned beneath his car, against a retaining bale of hay, and his crash helmet scraped and dented. But he was able to return to the track, after first aid at the hospital, and will be back in action soon.

The increased tempo of the racers has put a premium on victories, and although Bob Johnson is the leading money winner at present, several of the rivals have announced publicly they will be out to square things from now on through the summer.

Last week a large number of Fort Benning soldiers witnessed the thrilling events, in which a broken water hose added hazards to the course as Leonard Curry was forced to vacate his machine when the hot water reached gear-ster like proportions. Newcomers have found the 'old guard' hard to handle, and an influx of drivers from the midwest and south may have the same trouble. At any rate, Johnson has been having big nights steadily with his No. 77, and while he has escaped any injuries, the hoodooes have been hounding many of the others, including the popular Hank Russ, who has been unable to get his car tuned up for spectacular jobs.

Hicks appeared to have the best chance to equal things with Johnson, and may return to action before he is entirely healed, in order that Johnson will not take too long a lead on the field in the all-season standings.

Friday's racing is scheduled for 8 p. m., the same time the Tuesday night programs begin.

By MILT MOSKOWITZ

Airborne domination of Fort Benning baseball was lessened a bit last Thursday night, when the ISD Profs finally pulled the trick and beat the Troopers, 7-3, in a well played ball game.

Although it was a feather in the ISD's cap, the victory didn't change the league standing at all. For this the Profs have only themselves to blame.

Concentrating on beating the importance of the Lawson Field Lefty Lehner sat that one out (except for the latter pitching to two men in the ninth), as Manager Ike Sitcox decided to rest them for the Airborne battle.

This took two right-handed batters out of the line-up, and how the Profs could have used their bats against Blake, the Lawson southpaw. Shiver at least could have played second base, where he proved himself a capable performer in the first Lawson-ISD contest.

However all this is of course "second guessing" after the results are in, and that's easy to do. The Infantry School's Detachment and Manager Ike Sitcox deserve bows for accomplishing something no other team has been able to do.

Last Thursday night was the second time this season that Gowley Field spectators had to fight their way out of the ball park, as everyone stayed to the bitter end. (The other time was the ISD-Airborne game last April.)

Ironically enough, this was the first time that the ISD-Airborne game was not "pushed" vigorously around the ISD area. Usually there are signs all over the place exhorting Detachment personnel to turn out for the game; but the Lawson Field crowd dampened the ISD's ardour.

On the other hand the Airborne Battalion had more support from the stands this time than at any previous game.

To prove conclusively though that moral support isn't too much of a factor in winning ball games, the next evening, Friday, just about the whole 78th Engineer Battalion turned out to see if its team could knock off the league leading 328th Ordnance and there by the first. All to no avail, as Airborne, the ISD minimized the game. Both Chick Shiver and the Engineers went down to a 16-0 defeat.

Incidentally, the ISD-Airborne game was featured by one of the most unusual plays ever seen on any baseball diamond. It happened in the fifth inning, with Airborne men on second and third, one out, and Bob Kinard batting.

Kinard smacked a vicious liner straight at third baseman Johnson's feet. Johnson didn't catch the ball on the fly, but tripped and threw home, getting Terry for the second out. Seymour, the ISD catcher, thinking that the side was retired, tossed the ball over his team-mates' heads to the mound. Seymour, who had been on second, then raced around to score.

But hold up a minute! Kinard's evident thought that his line had been caught on the fly, and he had never gone down to first. The ball was retrieved and thrown over to the initial sack, retiring Kinard for the third out. This means that the Airborne run did not count, since the Profs were just retiring on the side on the most unusual double play you will ever see anywhere.

Good second basemen seem to be scarce around the post, with a number of teams listing that position as the big headache. The ISD, 756th Tankers, and 328th Ordnance have all been hurting the position since the war.

The Airborne's Bob Kinard is the class of the post's second sackers by far. Jack Forbes, Lawson Field shortstop, originally played second base for a Brooklyn farm club before coming into the Army. There were spiced vote-battles in both the American and National Leagues for second base in the all-star balloting completed last week. Joe Gordon finished with a rush to edge out Bobby Doerr, while Emil Verban maintained his lead over Eddie Stanky, who was gaining steadily toward the end.

At the beginning of the all-star voting, Pat Mullin of Detroit, seemed a cinch for right field. But the Tiger flycatcher was injured, and when he returned to the lineup his hitting fell way off. Meanwhile Buddy Lewis, veteran Washington Senator outfielder, was playing his usual steady ball, and the fans voted him in.

Although only one St. Louis Cardinal made the team, four ex-Red Birds were selected—Walker Cooper, Johnny Mize, Harry Walker, and Emil Verban.

Ewell Blackwell seems to be the logical choice to open up for the National League on Friday. Feller or Hal Newhouse to start for the junior circuit.

Getting very meagre support from the Tigers in most of his games, Newhouse decided to take matters in his own hands Sunday and hit 3 for 4 while the Detroit'ers were beating the Browns, 7-3, in four of Hal's games. One season the Tigers have been shut out, and in two they only scored one run for him.

Many of the Fort Benning track men, who won the Army Army championships in May, were probably disheartened at last week's track news. There were only a few Californians on the Benning team, and they were rather vocal in claiming the Golden State to be tops in the track world.

Well, first of all the University of Illinois ran away with the NCAA championships, whipping Southern California, 58-34. Then, the Big Nine Conference won on the West Coast Conference. In dual track meet with the Midgets, it came through with a smashing 24-37 triumph.

AGF, AAF, Navy Plan To Conduct Joint Exercise

Plans have been completed for the second postwar joint Army Ground Forces-Navy-Army Air Forces amphibious exercise to be conducted near Galveston, Tex., in November.

Development of the technique of loading and landing armed forces and equipment is the main training objective of the operation. Combat command "A" of the Second Armored division, Camp Hood, Tex., will be the principal ground unit engaged. The maximum possible participation of National Guard and Organized Reserve headquarters units and personnel will be sought.

Navy to Assist
Prior to the exercise the Navy's Troop Training Unit Amphibious Training Command, Little Creek, Va., will assist in the training of ground force units in the embarkation and debarkation procedures.

For the actual exercise a situation will be devised wherein an infantry division operating as part of an amphibious force has secured a beach head, and combat command "A" reinforcements will go ashore as a buildup force in support of the previously landed infantry division.

Embarkation of the combat command is expected to be from Galveston. The definite landing site has not been selected but is expected to be in the vicinity of Galveston.

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, commanding general, Fourth Army, has been named overall commander for planning the exercise.

Blandy Heads Fleet
Navy personnel and ships for the training and exercise will be drawn from the U. S. Atlantic Fleet under command of Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, U. S. Navy. Rear Admiral R. O. Davis, commander of the amphibious forces, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, has been designated to command the amphibious phases of the training and of the operation.

Supporting aircraft will be provided from naval and marine air units from the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, commanded by Vice Adm. G. F. Egan, U.S.N., and Army Air Force aircraft from the Tactical Air Command, commanded by Maj. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada. Maj. Gen. Leland S. Hobbs, Commanding General, Second Armored Division, will be in charge of all Ground Forces operations. Tactical air commander will be Brig. Gen. John Bares, 12th Army Air Force Commanding General.

New Type Wind Tunnel Slated For Cal. Tech

A new type of supersonic wind tunnel, designed to test the aerodynamic characteristics of ram jet motors and other rocket type motors, will be built under the supervision of the Army Corps of Engineers at the California Institute of Technology, Burbank, Calif., War Department announced today. The new tunnel, for which the expenditure of $2,364,000 has been authorized, will be the first of its kind in the United States.

Because no other wind tunnel in the United States is designed for the testing of missiles with motors operating, and because the design is radically new, requiring fundamental knowledge of the problems involved, the district engineer at Los Angeles, Calif., Engineer District, who will have direct control of construction, will have the advice and assistance of the Institute's scientists on the project. He will also have the advice of the Army Air Forces, the Ordnance Department and the Navy, who will be the principal using agencies.

Air Velocity 3,600 mph
Located in a special building 50 by 150 feet in size, the testing section of the tunnel will consist of a flexible nozzle with a cross section 15 by 20 inches. With this nozzle it will be possible to test models of large enough to include actual combustion, that is, up to 2 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter. Powered by three motor driven air compressors each powered with a 4,000 horsepower motor and capable of producing a combined total of 171,000 cubic feet of air per minute, it will be possible to develop an air velocity of 3,600 miles per hour.

An after cooler and auxiliary piping and valves will be necessary. It will also be necessary to install an absorber unit of approximately 400 cubic feet per minute and a component balance system will also be installed in the unit.

The California Institute of Technology was purposely selected as the site for the new tunnel as the Institute is a permanent educational center where advanced courses in jet propelled missiles and their component parts are offered by some of the foremost scientists in the country. Located at this school, the tunnel can be utilized by these scientists not only to instruct other scientific personnel, but also to carry on necessary wind research in the guided missile field.

Its use will be available to all agencies requiring the services of such a facility.

Post Unit Renamed Provisional Group

Redesignation of the Provisional Battalion 3440 ASU as Provisional Group 3440 ASU under the command of Col. Thomas B. Burgess was announced today by military authorities.

The group will consist of the following units: Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section I; Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Section II; Military Police Detachment, Section I; Military Police Detachment, Section II; WAC Detachment, Section I; Section I, Station Medical; Section II, Station Medical; Patients Detachment, Section I; Patients Detachment, Section II; 4th Force Induction Station; Separation Point 3440 ASU; Third Army Area Food Service School; Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 30th Medical Group; and Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 328th Ordnance Battalion.

New Style Trench Coat Under Study

Approximately 100 Fort Benning troops will soon be issued a new type trench coat, embodying all the latest developments in style, comfort and wearability to determine the feasibility of adopting it as a possible replacement for the present Army overcoat and raincoat. Brig. Gen. Reuben E. Jenkins, president of Army Ground Forces Board No. 3, announced today.

The olive drab trench coat, which is made of five-ounce poplin, serves a triple purpose in that it can be used as an overcoat or raincoat for garrison wear or as a civilian topcoat. It has a removable lining and rippered leggings which may be worn during inclement weather or in cold climates.

Weights 8 Lbs.
A new type cap frame with both an olive drab and khaki cover is also being tested. The caps come with two styles of grommets, one steel and the other rolled copper.

The coat, described as an effort to give the enlisted man "a much smarter appearance," weighs only about eight pounds, including the lining and leggings. It was pointed out, however, that the coat is strictly in the experimental stage and its adoption is not assured.

Gen. Festing Ends His Tour

Maj. Gen. F. W. Festing, C. B. F., D. S. O., director of British Army weapons and developments, who arrived here Monday, left Wednesday morning for Fort Bliss, Tex., following a streamlined tour of the Infantry Center.

The two-star British general, who has been in the U. S. since June 21, is visiting military installations as a guest of the Department. He is one of six top drawer British and Canadian Army officers now in the U. S.

Following a brief conference Monday morning with Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, General Festing, that afternoon witnessed a demonstration of current weapons of the Infantry regiment and weapons development at Hook range.

Monday night he was honored at an official dinner at the Officers' Club at 7:30 p. m. General O'Daniel, in company with a group of high ranking officers on the post attended.

The British general conferred with Brig. Gen. Reuben E. Jenkins, president of Army Ground Forces Board No. 3, from 9 to 10 a. m. Tuesday morning and toured the Airborne section from 10:10 until 11:30 a. m.

Granite Slab Is Unveiled By Kreilick

Approximately 50 persons gathered last Friday at the intersection of Macon road and Dixon drive to witness the dedication by a group of Fort Benning military and Columbus civic leaders of a small granite slab which marks the original Camp Benning site, established there in 1918.

The six-foot marker, weighing only two tons, was donated by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce. The simple inscription on the shaft reads: "Camp Benning (Infantry insignia of crossed rifles). Established on this site in 1918 as the U. S. Army Infantry School originally embracing 85 adjoining acres. In 1919 the garrison was permanently located nine miles southeast of Columbus and is now designated Fort Benning. The tablet was donated by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, 1947."

Gen. O'Daniel Reveals Plans For Memorial Park Here

The second anniversary of V-J Day will be highlighted here by the dedication of a 260-acre Infantry Division Memorial Park, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center.

Revealing plans to newsmen last Friday afternoon, the general described the site as an area south of the post traffic circle on Custer boulevard that includes land between Arrowhead and Benning roads.

Plans have not yet been completed for the development, but the location, size, and date of dedication are definite, he said. The V-J anniversary is Aug. 14. Memorial Gateway.

Tentative plans call for the erection of a memorial gateway at the park entrance at the intersection of Arrowhead and Custer roads. General O'Daniel expressed hope that Infantry Division societies would erect markers to their units within the park. Other plans outlined include the erection of markers throughout the park by various Infantry Division societies similar to park layout of Chickamauga National Park, near Chattanooga, Tenn., and the construction of a central memorial pavilion with the Infantry societies placing plaques in commemoration of their units within the pavilion.

Details plans on the park will be announced later, General O'Daniel said.

Benning Officers Attending French Army Ceremonies

Col. C. E. Johnson and Lt. Col. Michael Paulick were in France this week for a decoration ceremony by the French government when members of the resistance organization of the French Army were honored.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel and Colonel Paulick were requested to attend the program held July 6, but General O'Daniel appointed Colonel Johnson to go in his place. The men being decorated fought with the Third Infantry Division and Colonel Johnson was formerly chief of staff of the Division while Colonel Paulick was a battalion commander.

The two officers left for France July 1 by plane and were to attend the ceremony in the town of Lievans (Haute Saone Saone). Maj. Gen. O'Daniel said.

Colonel Royce Arrives Soon

Col. Charles H. Royce, formerly deputy chief of staff of the IX Corps in Sendai, Japan, will arrive here sometime next month to assume command of School Troops. It was announced today.

Colonel Royce, accompanied by his wife and son, left Sendai in northern Honshu June 18 en route to Yokohama where he embarked for Seattle, Wash. At present he is on a 30-day leave.

The colonel was on duty with the IX Corps headquarters from September, 1944, until he was relieved last month. Prior to that time he was chief of staff of the 44th Infantry Division in the U. S. For his outstanding work with the IX Corps, he was awarded the Legion of Merit and Army Commendation ribbon.

Colonel Royce is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the British Staff College in Palestine.

Officer's Associate Basic Course In Seventh Week

By JOSEPH W. WRIGHT

The fourth Officers' Associate Basic course, which got under way here May 21, is entering its seventh week with 86 students under the command of Capt. Kenneth E. Wayne.

This is a comparatively new course here and was originally designed to give the newly commissioned graduates of Army Officer Candidate classes training in subjects pertaining to the infantry, small unit commanders. Since that time, however, it has expanded and is now used as a refresher course for officers who are on an inactive status in the Officers' Reserve Corps or the National Guard.

Train For 13 Weeks

During the 13-week training period a wide range of subjects is covered, including mechanical training and range firing of crew-served Infantry weapons, defense and attack tactics of small units, and supply of fighting units in battle. Every officer is required to fire the qualification course on the weapons covered although qualification is not necessary. The results of this firing, however, are entered on the officer's permanent record.

The two groups which form the majority of this class—reserve officers and AOC graduates—have found their association both interesting and profitable. A majority of the reserve officers have had combat experience and have been able to give the new lieutenants practical information and advice concerning leadership in combat.

Class Breakdown

On the other hand, the new officers have also been able to add to the former officers military education. They can point out many new policies, techniques, and procedures pursued by the Army today in both battle and garrison.

The fourth class is composed of one lieutenant colonel, two majors, 14 captains, 26 first lieutenants, and 43 second lieutenants. Of the total, 36 are recent graduates.

Army Tests New Insect-Repellents

Improved tests of insecticides and insect-repellents which can be used effectively on campaign settings will be tested by the Army in field exercises this summer, the War Department announced.

A research project directed by the Quartermaster Corps which seeks to develop more efficient cotton and nylon-nettings is an outgrowth of demands for military personnel for more adequate protection against mosquitoes, flies, mites, ticks, and other insects.

During the war, nettings were used for the protection of the head and face, for covering openings in tents and buildings, and for men sleeping in hammocks. These nettings were made of fine mesh materials which prevented the entrance of the insects but they presented serious disadvantages in that they reduced visibility and air circulation.

Now it is proposed to utilize coarse nettings treated with insecticides and insect repellents. Available formulas will be tested and new ones developed. Equipment for impregnating the nettings at fixed installations is being investigated. While affording protection against insects, the treatments must not cause deterioration of materials under conditions of use or storage.

plant, and Food Service school. At 11 a. m. he visited the headquarters of the 20th Truck Battalion. Later he visited the colored guest house, service club, swimming pool, and NCO club on the Main Post. The general toured the post ordnance shop at 11:40 a. m. and visited the 78th Combat Engineer Battalion at 11:50 a. m.

Before lunch the bemuddled general visited the post commissary's office and guardhouse and the station hospital. Inspects Infantry General Gillem inspected the 25th Infantry Regiment area at 2 p. m. and afterwards visited the 20th Medical Group. He toured the ROTC area and visited several class room sessions before inspecting the 68th, 66th, and 666th Truck Companies.

At 3:10 p. m. he went to Martins range to witness ROTC firing, and at 3:30 p. m. witnessed a weapons demonstration at Hook range. Maj. Gen. F. W. Easting, director of the weapons and development of the British Army was also present for this demonstration.

Prior to leaving the post for the return flight to Atlanta he visited Bigsville mess. This was General Gillem's first visit to Fort Benning since he assumed command of the Third Army about a month ago.

New Type Army Sleeping Bag Now In Development Stage

The Quartermaster Corps is under extremely low temperatures, working on the development of a new type inflatable sleeping pad to provide troops sleeping on the snow or cold ground with adequate protection from chilling due to heat loss.

A mummy-shaped, inflatable mattress, weighing 36 ounces, which can be folded and readily packed for carrying, is undergoing extensive field tests. This pad is assembled from light-weight nylon cloth coated with butyl rubber. It has a cradled cross section which provides a hollowed-out effect and overcomes the tendency of a sleeper to roll off an air mattress. The 6-foot, 6-inch length is considered sufficient for all personnel. Efforts will be made to reduce the weight to 35 ounces.

The mummy shape was selected because it allows weight savings of about 10 per cent over the old design, and so constructed that it may be placed in the bottom of the cold-weather sleeping bag. Consideration is being given to integrating the pad with the sleeping bag.

War experience showed that woolen blankets and down-filled quilts, which provide excellent insulation when used as covers, completely fail to prevent heat loss to the ground when placed beneath the soldier. This is because the body weight compresses the wool or down, eliminating the still air spaces which prevent heat loss. Quartermaster Corps technicians point out that an air mattress, by preventing body contact with the ground, reduces heat loss by conduction. Some heat is transferred across the air space by radiation but it is planned to overcome this by adhering aluminum foil to the inner surfaces of the pad, or by filling the air space with a glass fiber or a down-feather mix.

AG School Made Ready For Shift To Camp Lee

The Adjutant General's School at Carlisle Barracks, Penn., will move to Camp Lee, Va., the War Department announced today. The move is designed to permit the accommodation of more students attending the Army Service Schools. The new location at Camp Lee will provide more adequate facilities for the Adjutant General's school to meet the ever-increasing demand for specialized military personnel. The move will also allow the three remaining schools at Carlisle barracks to participate in a similar training development.

Occupied Countries Soon To See New U. S. Exhibit

War and Labor Departments recently have completed a photographic and textual exhibit entitled "USA at Work", which will be used by the War Department in its reorientation programs in occupied areas. The exhibit explains in clear, factual terms how the American worker lives and works, and reviews his production record in war and peace. It explains the operations of unions and the freedom of workers in the United States. State and Federal laws on industrial relations are cited and also laws pertaining to health and security provisions and the protection of workers from industrial hazards.

The first lists vital statistics on the national life such as the total of 60,000,000 workers, in a population of 143,000,000, living in cities, in suburbs and on farms. Depicts U. S. Industry. The second unit deals with unions and the means of resolving disputes between workers and management. The third unit shows how the health and safety of workers is protected by laws, schools and unions. The study and recreation hours of workers are considered in the fourth unit; here facts establish that most of the nation's 27,000,000 automobiles belong to workers; workers' children go to free public schools, may go on to college; unions and schools work together to educate adults on workers' problems.

The fifth unit deals with production records. It shows that the United States industrial output per man-hour tripled in volume between 1919 and 1945, despite the shorter work-week. U. S. industry produced nearly 2 1/2 times as much in 1946 as in 1914; these achievements result from plant efficiency and good work conditions; and during the war, 15,000,000 workers went into the armed services while the remainder supported the civilian population and produced nearly one-half the total world's munitions of war.

Civil Service Exams Now Open

Applications are being accepted by the Infantry Center civil service office for the positions of packers, craters, cooks, machinists, carpenters, plumbers, and steamfitters. Frances Hug, executive secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners here, announced today.

Deadline for making application is Aug. 30, Miss Hug said. She pointed out that the positions were provisional—either on the post or at Lawson Field.

Applicants will not be required to take a written examination. It is necessary only to file qualifications. Miss Hug announced. Positions open and their grade include: armament equipment packer, grade 7; household goods packer, grade 8; crater, grade 9; hospital cook, grade 10; chief hospital cook, grade 13; junior general machinist, grade 13; general machinist, grade 17; carpenter, grade 12; plumber, grade 12; working leader plumber, grade 15; and senior steamfitter, grade 16. Salaries range from 82 cents to $1.17 per hour.

Miss Hug said it is not anticipated that other announcements for these positions will be made within the next 12 months.

200 Reservists Slated To Arrive Here Tomorrow

Approximately 200 reserve officers from all over the United States will arrive here tomorrow to start a two-week Officers Reserve Corps class at 7:45 Saturday morning.

The officers will be in the Student Training Regiment area and will take a branch immaterial orientation course to refresh and orient senior commanders and staffs of field and general officer grades of the ORC in current Army-wide subjects.

This is the second such class to be held at the Infantry School. The first group was graduated July 3 with the graduation ceremony in Room 224 of the Infantry School building when Brig. Gen. Whitfield E. Shepard addressed the group.

Air Force Day Observance Set For August 1

In every section of the United States and throughout the world citizens from every walk of life will join the men and women of the Army Air Forces in the observance of Air Force Day on Aug. 1.

The Air Force Association, whose members are past and present members of the AAF, is the official sponsor of the observance, which will mark the 40th anniversary of the AAF. In more than 300 cities and towns where the association has chartered squadrons, the ceremonies will be planned and carried out by these groups with the aid and cooperation of personnel from nearby AAF establishments.

Although many overseas AAF establishments have become inactive since last year's observance, there still are units stationed in Europe, the Far East, and other parts of the world and arrangements have been made for special events at those bases in observance of the event.

Realization of the importance of the AAF in safeguarding the national security has brought to AAF units voluntary offers of assistance and cooperation from many civic organizations in planning local observances.

Air demonstrations are planned by most of the bases and luncheons and banquets will be held in many places. Speeches will appear before civic, business, and professional clubs to discuss the major role the AAF played in restoring peace to the world and its present mission to preserve the peace.

While Air Force Day will fall on Friday and the major demonstrations and observances will be held on that day, the ceremonies will extend through Sunday. Dinners and banquets are planned in many communities on Saturday and many air fields will hold open house on Sunday to exhibit aircraft and equipment to the public.

Goodman Appointed

Capt. Jess L. Goodman, commanding officer of the Student Training Regiment's Third Company, is among officers recently integrated into the Regular Army. Captain Goodman has been on active duty for six years and more than two years in the Asiatic-Pacific theater. Following a short leave, he will assume the post of regimental adjutant.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

IVY (murder) with Joan Fontaine, Patricia Knowles, Herbert Marshall and Richard Ney. Ivy is a showpiece for the talents of Joan Fontaine as she portrays an ambitious woman who makes death by poison an attractively dangerous piece of business. Recommended for mature.

SADDLE PALS (western) with Gene Autry, Lynne Roberts, and Sterling Holloway. The hero is generally trying to save the ranch for the owner. This time Autry has one and all the trimmings dumped in his lap by his screwball owner (Holloway) and spends his time trying to get out from under the load. Recommended for family.

RIFLE RAFF (melodrama) with Pat O'Brien, Anne Jeffreys, and Walter Slezak. This is a melodramatic story which concerns the search for a valuable map whose seekers do not hesitate to resort to violence and intrigue to gain their objective. Recommended for mature.

FIESTA (technicolor musical) with Esther Williams, John Carroll, and Akim Tamiroff. Mexico is a fitting background for this fast, time- and action-filled technicolor production that provides everything from folk dances to hair-raising bullfight scenes. Recommended for family.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM (western) with Tim Holt and Nan Leslie. Here is a western that is better than average because it has a good story with plenty of action in the many swift riding and shooting scenes. Recommended for family.

KILROY WAS HERE (college comedy) with Jackie Cooper and Jackie Coogan. All the poor guy wanted was a college education. That was okay. He was an ex-GI and that was okay. But when he said his name was Kilroy, things began to happen. Recommended for family.

ADC Head Urges Action On UMT

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y.—Commanding General of the Air Defense Command, Lt. General George E. Stratemeier, has strongly urged immediate action by Congress on the universal military training bill. He declared that the need for such peacetime training should be evident to all clear-thinking Americans.

"The mere existence of readiness and ability for defense on our part would do more at this time than anything else to prevent war and maintain peace," the general said.

"We in the Air Forces believe that in any future conflict we will be the first to feel the losses; the first to lose hard-won experience and know-how, and therefore the first to have to call upon our country's skilled and trained manpower, whatever it might be. We in the Air Force feel most keenly the grave responsibility we would assume, if Congress provides for universal military training."

With all humility we expect to apply a degree of intelligence and wisdom to the task which will be reflected in the results we all desire—a youthful citizenry confident in the knowledge acquired, alive to its civic and national defense obligations, and competent and eager to effectively discharge these obligations.

ers—the class that makes up the country club society of a small town, the narrow-minded, intolerance, strong feelings about "keeping up with the Joneses," and the lack of culture in a class which would claim to be the only cultured citizens of the town, is shown in the bright light of Lewis' probing study.

The book is not a story of huge importance. Lewis has written too often in the past of this same class of people to be presenting something entirely new about the American scene. But it is interesting reading with touches of delightful humor and the plot moves at a good pace while the picture is real and honestly recorded as the author understands it.

Guest From Idaho Pan-Hellenic Honored At Club Meet Monday Buffet, Dance

Miss Lorraine Cummings of Kellogg, Idaho, was the guest of honor at a buffet supper party held last week at the Officers' club.

Those attending the no-host event were invited to have cocktails before the supper at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. W. Duvall where Miss Cummings is a houseguest. She came here recently with Colonel and Mrs. Duvall when they returned from a vacation in the northwest. The guest is a niece of Mrs. Duvall.

At the club, the table was decorated with a beautiful arrangement of garden roses and mixed summer flowers. Guests, in addition to the honoree, were Colonel and Mrs. Duvall, Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. M. Cooper, Maj. and Mrs. William T. Brogan, Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. C. Sartin, and Capt. Letcher Crawford.

Cocktail Party Highlights Holiday Weekend On Post

A highlight of the Fourth of July week-end was the delightful cocktail party given by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Earl N. Cooper and Major and Mrs. William T. Brogan as they entertained Sunday evening at the Patton House, former home of General and Mrs. George Patton Jr.

Approximately 200 guests attended the party and among them were Mrs. John W. Williamson, Mr. John Evans, both visiting the Post from England.

The porch and main lounge of the lovely house set among tall pine trees were used for entertaining and cocktails and light refreshments were served.

The buffet table was overlaid with a white cloth and centered with a crystal chandelier of irid-flanked by burning white tapers in silver candelabra. One end of the table and the other bowl filled with shrimp, and other refreshments were served from a Tom Collins bar.

Couple Wed Here; Bride To Join Groom In Japan

In a simple but impressive double ring ceremony held July 2 at the First Baptist church in Columbus, Miss. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hoyle, daughter of Mrs. C. B. Hoyle, became the lovely bride of John E. McCann, Dr. Frederick S. Porter officiated.

The matron of honor and only attendant of the bride were Mrs. Vera Mae O'Malley who was a silk dress of pink and white. Her hair was a white straw halo and her corsage was of white and pink carnations with stephanotis. The charming bride wore a frock of silk print with a white back-ground and black figures. Her quarters with gardenias, stephanotis and lilies of the valley and her hat was an off-the-face style with a white ribbon forming a bow at the back.

Lt. Douglas Dreesch acted as best man for the ceremony.

Following the ceremony the bride party was served aperitifs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bailey and later the party enjoyed dancing at the Officers' club as guests of Lieutenant Dreesch.

The groom recently re-enlisted in the army. He served with the 1st Airborne Division during the war and was lieutenant. He was stationed at Fort Benning before going overseas and will soon go to Japan for service there.

The bride is employed as a civil service worker at Lawson Field.

Formal Dinner Honors Paddock's

To honor Lt. Col. and Mrs. John W. Paddock, a group of their friends attended a delightful non-host dinner party at the officers' club last Thursday night with cocktails served earlier in the evening at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John L. Erickson.

The Paddock's are leaving the Post this week and the party was as a farewell event for them.

Mrs. Erickson decorated her quarters with garden flowers in white pottery bowls and roses in crystal vases for the aperitif party and at the Club the table was arranged with white tapers in silver candelabra.

Attending the formal dinner were the honoree, Colonel and Mrs. Erickson, Lt. Col. Mrs. Fred Henry, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Davis, Major and Mrs. John Edwards, Major and Mrs. Clyde Russell, and Major and Mrs. Riley Bess.

Entertain Sunday

Capt. and Mrs. Frank L. Lillyman will be hosts at a cocktail entertain Sunday afternoon at 6:30 when they entertain approximately 60 of their friends. The party at the polo club will follow the polo game scheduled for 5 p.m. on French Field.

Guests From England Feted On Visit; Williamsons Hosts

Guests from England were honored at a formal cocktail party given at the Patton House when Mrs. Thomas Cooper and Mr. John Evans of England were entertained.

The two guests, who returned to New York earlier this week and will sail for England in the near future, were houseguests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. Williamson for nearly a week.

Before dinner, cocktails were served at the quarters of Col. and Mrs. Frederick W. Gibb to honor Mrs. Cooper and Mr. Evans. The hostess decorated the rooms open to the guests with lovely arrangements of mixed garden flowers.

After cocktails, the group went to the club where Colonel and Mrs. Williamson were hosts for dinner. Guests, in addition to the honorees, were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Kermit Davis, Colonel and Mrs. Gibb, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frank Colacico, Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels and Maj. and Mrs. Edward McGregor.

Weekend Guests Honored At Club

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Albert C. Maley had as their houseguests for the week-end and Mrs. S. Giddens of Adel, Ga. The guests arrived Friday and visited until Sunday.

Saturday evening Colonel and Mrs. Maley entertained in honor of the guests and gave an interesting dinner party at the Officers' club with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph Towles also attending. The table was set outdoors and the hostess arranged a lovely display of garden flowers including silver bowl as the centerpiece.

Buffet Supper Fetes Visitors On Host's Birthday

A buffet supper, entertaining several special events, was given Friday evening by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frank Colacico at their quarters when they entertained Mrs. Thomas Cooper and Mr. John Evans of England, and Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels of New York City, and also celebrated the birthday of Colonel Colacico.

Before dinner at the Colacico decorated the rooms open to the guests with lovely flowers and a bouquet was arranged as the centerpiece for the buffet table. Blue tapers in silver candelabra and silver fruit bowl were also used.

In addition to the honorees and Mrs. guests at the party were Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Williamson, Col. and Mrs. Fred Gibb and Lt. Col. and Mrs. A. A. Cardona.

AAF Non-Com Club Opens Membership To Infantrymen

At a recent meeting of the board of governors, the Army Air Forces NCO club at Lawson field voted to open membership to non-commissioned officers of other branches of the service at Fort Benning.

Army Ground Forces personnel will be accepted as non-voting members but will enjoy all club entertainment privileges.

The well-known Columbus orchestra, "The Organists," has been contracted for the month of July to furnish dance music for the weekly informal dance held each Saturday night from 8 until 12 p.m.

A game party is scheduled weekly on Wednesday night from 8 until 10 p.m. during which many valuable prizes are given away.

Members are invited to bring their families and friends.

Son Born Here

A son, Charles A. III, was born to Capt. and Mrs. Charles A. Burgess, recently at the Station hospital.

Captain Burgess, holder of the Silver Star, saw combat with the 25th Infantry Division on Luzon in the Philippines. He is from San Francisco, Calif., where he attended the University of California before entering the service. He is now attached to the 20th Transportation Truck Battalion.

Mrs. Burgess is the Miss Anne Mabardi of Mexico City.

Class Names Queen

Miss Phyllis Hale of Tacoma, Wash., has been named "Miss A.O.C.C. No. 7." It was announced this week that members of the class held a contest to name their favorite.

Miss Hale, an 18-year-old, was queen of the Tacoma Jubilee in 1946 and excels in swimming, ice-skating and skiing.

Couple Leaving For China Feted

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Emil P. Eschenburg honored Lt. Col. and Mrs. John White last week at a charming cocktail party given at the quarters of the hosts.

Colonel and Mrs. White left the Post Wednesday. The Colonel is going to Nanking, China, for duty and will be joined there later by his wife and two children. The table can go to China, Mrs. White and the children will be in Philadelphia.

For the party, Mrs. Eschenburg decorated the quarters with garden flowers, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of flowers in a silver bowl. Approximately 32 guests attended the event.

Texas Girl Weds Officer Candidate

Miss Dorothy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Green of Aransas, Texas, became the bride of O-C Orin Sharp in an impressive ceremony performed Saturday with the Rev. W. Douglas Harris of the Rose Hill Church of Christ officiating.

O-C and Mrs. Joseph Quinley Sr. of Harlan, Ky., were the only attendants and other guests at the wedding were the brides mother, Mrs. Lewis Green, O-C Henry M. Smith and O-C and Mrs. Daniel L. Boone.

Tac Lunch Today

Ladies of the Tactical Section will hold their regular luncheon today at 1 p.m. when Mrs. Kermit Davis and Mrs. Ralph Dalton will be hostesses in charge of arrangements.

The event will be held at the Officers' club and bridge will be played during the afternoon.

Personals

Col. and Mrs. James V. Thompson, with their daughters, Susan and Carol, drove to Macon Sunday to attend the wedding of Miss Margaret Rigby. Sue was a bridesmaid for the ceremony.

Guests at the quarters of Col. and Mrs. Frederick Gibb are Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels of New York City. The couple are the parents of Colonel Gibb and came here with Colonel and Mrs. Gibb when they returned from leave. They have been entertained at several social events on the Post and will return to their home Saturday.

Round Of Parties For Guest On Post

Mrs. Walter G. Robertson of Lexington, Va., was a houseguest at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Logan W. Boyd earlier this week and was entertained at several events on the Post.

Saturday evening the guest, who is the sister of Colonel Boyd, was complimented at a formal dinner party given by the Boyds at the Officers' club. Guests for the party, held on the Post, behind the club, were the honoree, Major and Mrs. James E. Milner, Major and Mrs. Harlan L. Dodge, Major and Mrs. Maurice Hathaway and Major and Mrs. Roy L. Shaw.

Monday evening Major and Mrs. Dodge entertained for Mrs. Robertson when they were hosts at a dinner party at the Lodge at Pine Mountain. Also attending this evening were the Boyds and Major and Mrs. Milner. The party drove up together and enjoyed the lovely scenery as well as dinner.

On Friday night the same group had dinner together as guests of Major and Mrs. Milner at the Patton House, the former home of General and Mrs. George Patton Jr.

TIME OUT FOR CHOW — The 83rd Field Artillery takes time out for a quick lunch in the field between demonstrations.

NOT TACTICAL BUT COMFORTABLE — Under the trees may not be a good place in war, but here at Benning it's cool and these artillerymen from the 83rd take advantage of it.

83rd Field Artillery Proud Descendant Of 1st Cavalry

BY BILL COGSWELL
A proud descendant of the old First Cavalry Regiment is Fort Benning's 83rd Field Artillery Battalion, presently a School Troops unit charged with the important task of assisting in providing demonstrations of artillery techniques for Infantry School students.

Activated on Aug. 1, 1917, the 83rd has valid claim to the many battle honors won by its predecessor. During World War I the battalion, then a regiment, served in France during the crucial years, 1918 and 1919. Following its return to the U. S., the 83rd's first battalion was assigned to the Infantry School here to function as a demonstration unit, a duty which it has occupied it ever since with the exception of a period during World War II.

After twenty years here at Fort Benning, the 83rd left in early 1940 for Fort Sill, Okla., where it became a unit of the Artillery School. In February 1944, the outfit embarked for England, and on July 28 landed in France in the vicinity of Fierville. The 83rd participated in the campaigns in Normandy, the Ardennes, the Rhineland, and Central Europe. The unit returned to the States in August 1946 when the training batteries of the Infantry School. Detachment were redesignated the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion. Upon their return the 83rd was stationed at Harmony Church, Mo. Now with the memories of Harmony Church faint in the minds of those who were there, the battalion occupies a major portion of the third quarter, the same location it occupied before departing in 1940. In a setting of pleasant, colorful day-rooms, with a mess that feeds consistently well and living quarters hard to duplicate the men of the 83rd are quite satisfied with their lot.

However, all their time is not spent in mere garrison living. No strangers to the first rays of the rising sun or the last rays of the setting sun, the personnel of the 83rd have put in long hours and travelled far into the reservation in performance of Infantry School demonstrations.

Presently commanding the 83rd is Lt. Col. John A. Glorid, assisted by Maj. Charles "Chuck" Bogner. The preparation, accuracy, and timing of artillery fire falls within the province of the S-3 section, where Maj. R. C. Swamp and Capt. Jack Hart put their heads together and come up with solutions that solve the uninitiated to accuse them of using a crystal ball.

Without Capt. Frank V. "Frankie" Boy Monroe and his crew of ridge-running wiremen and dit-dah boys no information would ever reach its intended destination. They provide the means of communication for the battalion.

All the commands and communications in the world would be of no avail, however, were not gun batteries A and B there to receive and act accordingly. Commanding Able and Baker respectively are

Eligible Combat Vets Will Get Bronze Star

Additional recognition for men who won commendation during the war for meritorious or exemplary achievement in ground action against the enemy was assured today with release of new War Department rules for award of the Bronze Star Medal.

The new rules, embodied in a circular changing the Army Regulations respecting decorations provide that all persons who in the period between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day were cited individually for their part in ground combat will be eligible for award of the Bronze Star.

In many cases, orders granting the Combat Infantryman's or Combat Medical Badges will be sufficient supporting evidence to a man's claim for the medal. However, the combat badges must have been awarded in the period between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945. Frequently during combat field units issued general orders or formal certificates to individuals for their acts, and these, including awards by the War Department on their merits, may also be used as support for the medal award.

Reasons Advanced
Reasons for the revision of rules regarding award of the Bronze Star Medal was that prerequisites for award of the Combat Infantryman's and Combat Medical Badges were altered after V-J Day. Since the combat badges are not decorations, additional awards of the Bronze Star Medal to those persons considered deserving of it is expected to give recognition to services not heretofore rewarded with a distinctive decoration.

In announcing the revised rules, the War Department pointed out that inasmuch as the citations on which awards will be made must be individual, award of the Distinguished Unit Citation or mention of the applicant's unit in General Orders will not suffice.

Applicants for award of the Bronze Star Medal must be submitted to the Adjutant General, Washington 25, D. C. The application must cite Paragraph 15c, Army Regulations 600-45, and a copy of the citation or order awarding the Combat Infantryman or Combat Medical Badge must be enclosed.

19 AGF Units Get Croix de Guerre

Benning O-C Recalls Strange European War Experiences

Few officer candidates can boast of experiences like those of O-C Francis R. Smith, who has had things a lot rougher in his five years in the Army than the training he is now undergoing.

Candidate Smith was a prisoner of the Germans, he roamed all over Europe, including a part of Russia; and he earned the Silver Star, Bronze Star with cluster, and Purple Heart with two clusters.

Overseas In 1942

Smith enlisted in the Army in June 1941, and, after training in the U. S., he was sent to England in November 1942. After a short stay there, he went to North Africa where he engaged in action against the Germans for about four months. Then he hit Sicily, Salerno, central Italy, Anzio, and France. He was awarded the Silver Star, Bronze Star with cluster, and Purple Heart with two clusters.

He was captured the first time at Anzio but escaped and hid out in a monastery for 12 days. He finally worked his way back to the American lines, however, and joined the 179th Infantry Regiment.

Candidate Smith was captured the second time in September 1944 near Grandvillers, France. He was taken to Strausbourg where he stayed for a week before he again escaped. He was recaptured, however, and sent to Berlin.

Escapes From Germans

From the German prison at Kustrin-Neustadt Smith twice escaped and was recaptured. The third time he was successful. This time he met a Russian column commanded by a woman soldier. Leaving the Russians, he went to Poznan and thence to Warsaw. Poland. At Minsk he was a guest of a former French soldier and his wife until placed in a displaced persons camp.

Young Smith did not like the DP camp, however, so he and a friend ran away. This time he got to Lubin and thence to Moscow where the American Military Mission assured them that it was only a matter of days until they could be sent to the U. S.

Everything "got too dull" for the two Americans in Moscow and they "took off" again. Smith and his companion this time made their way to Odessa, all the way across the Ukraine.

Goes To Egypt

The rest of his European tour was "well spent," Smith says. First he went to Port Said, Egypt, where he was issued British uniforms. Later he went to Cairo, where he met an RAF pilot who took him to Athens, Greece, then to Malta, and finally to Naples where he boarded an LCT for France.

Between Marseilles and Paris they were stopped by the military police and their days of endless wandering were over. Candidate Smith returned to Boston, June 8, 1945, and, following a 60-day fur-

Brothers Enlist For AAF Service At Lawson Field

Keeping up their family record for service, three brothers from Conway, S. C., enlisted in the AAF during June with two coming in as corporals and one as a sergeant.

The Luke boys, James W., Robert M. and Warren H., have each served in the Infantry from 1940 to 1945. They landed in Normandy on D-Day plus 30 while Robert, in the Air Forces from 1943 to 1945, was with the 15th Air Force in Italy.

The brothers, only sons of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Luke of Conway, S. C., are all married and plan to bring their families here.

All are auto mechanics and will be in the motor pool at Lawson Field.

lough, he was sent to the Lake Placid club for separation.

After 16 months as a civilian Smith reentered the Army. He intends to make it a career.

Former Officer Reenlists Here

Back in the Army Air Force as a master sergeant is former Lt. Allen F. Russell, who re-enlisted last month at Lawson field as one of the 319 men to enlist or re-enlist there during June.

Sergeant Russell is from Milwaukee, Wis., and his wife is the former Miss Joyce Wallen also of Milwaukee. They have two small daughters and the family is living at Benning Park Homes.

Sergeant Russell first enlisted in June 1943 as an aviation cadet and was graduated from the Air Force Navigation School at Salmann field, La., in February 1945. He received his commission as a flight officer and came to Lawson field in December 1944 where he served as budget and fiscal officer prior to his release in June.

But back in the service, Russell is also back at his old desk carrying on his former job.

328th vs. Airborne For 2nd Half Champ

Two Teams Meet Friday Evening In Second Game

By MURRAY HARDING

Having blanketed the field as completely as Man-O-War over in the National League, the 328th Ordinance officially became the team the Airborne has to beat in order to retain the post championship.

The two clubs are currently engaged in a best-two-out-of-three series to decide the second half championship. The first game was scheduled for yesterday. The second will be tomorrow night at 8:15, and, if a third is necessary, it will be held Sunday evening. Before the series started the Airborne was confident, and the 328th had a we've-got-nothing-to-lose attitude. Let's take a glance at what the teams have to back up their attitudes.

328th Improved

The 328th, lastly improved, since the first half, dominated the National League completely in virtually every department. They have in Bo Boland their league's top pitcher, and, what's more, the league's top hitter.

Boland compiled a won-lost record of four and zero, on an earned run average of 1.53. He struck out 39, third best figure in the National, and walked only six in the 29 1-3 innings he pitched.

Boland's mound-mate, Nosh Mejia, was the second best twirler in the National, and, but for one disastrous game, Mejia might have edged his teammate out for all the pitching honors. Mejia had a won-lost record of two and one, and an earned run average of only 1.74. One of his two wins was a seven hit whitewashing of the 76th Engineers. Nosh fanned 43 in 31 innings pitched, only two behind Doyle Feeler of the 204th, although Feeler pitched only three innings. His control wasn't as perfect as Boland's, but his eleven walks was the second best figure in the league.

Mejia Has Bad Night

Mejia, as was mentioned, suffered one very bad night at the bats of the 83rd FA, only team in the National to knock off the powerhouse 328th. He allowed 19 hits, exactly half his season total, and 6 earned runs in the eight innings he threw. The 6 ER were the only ones to blot his record during the season.

To highlight further the little right-hander's effectiveness, one might mention that during the first half, he held the Airborne Battalion to 3 runs at a time when they had both Dooley and Dick in the lineup. He lost the game, of course, but the winning margin coming in on Dooley's two-run homer over the right center field barrier.

Nowadays the situation is somewhat reversed. The Airborne no longer has a Floyd Dooley to break up the close ones with one swing of his bat, although they admittedly have a long string of consistently good singles smackers plus a pair of the best clutch hitters on the post in Bobby Kinard and Henry Griffin.

The 328th will have to be reckoned as the club with the lead in the bats in this series, even though their amazing record was compiled at the expense of National League pitchers.

Ordinance Scores 107

First let's have the overall team picture. The Ordinance has, in seven games, scored 107 runs on 192 hits, which averages out to roughly 15 runs a game, and 15 hits. Their season BA is a cool .340, and they have seven regulars currently hitting upwards of .333. Of those 102 base knocks, incidentally, 14 have been for two bases, 12 have been for three, and one other was for the circuit.

Boland the team's top batter, and the league's with a .408 mark, Boland also topped the National in three base knocks with four. Behind Boland comes Coy, rugged third baseman, with .394 followed in rapid succession by Cline, .375, Thiele, .355, Armstrong, .353, and Glover and Konchock, both at .333.

The least number of runs scored by any of the seven is 10 and the most is 14. The least number of RBIs is 6 and the most is 11. Coy holds the top figure in each department.

Extra-Base Hit Kings Armstrong, Boland, and Cline are the extra-base hit kings. Armstrong leads the pack with four doubles and three triples amongst his 12 hits. Boland picked up a double and four triples, and Cline got two of each. The Airborne has, to face the challenge, one of the two top pitchers on the post, Dick Gerhart, and a pretty good understudy in Larson. Gerhart can be counted on to see plenty of action. Gerhart, in the tougher league, had an ERA of 3.19. He gave up 29 hits in 31 innings, walked only

Tennis Exhibition Sunday

All members of the Officers' Club and their guests are invited to a tennis exhibition at 3 p. m., Sunday, it was announced today by Chuck Evert, club tennis pro. The attraction will be held on the courts at the Officers' Club.

Bo Boland and Nosh Mejia, two one-man shows, and a won-lost record identical with Mejia's, 2 and 1, and, like Mejia, had one bad game in which he gave up 6 earned runs. That was against the 15D, and was the Troopers' only loss of the year.

Troopers Below 328th

Offensively the Troopers are a notch below the 328th. Griffin was the top batter with .687, but was only up 9 times. Terry was the nominal leader with a .429 BA. Behind Terry came MacGowan at .345, and Kinard at .321. All the rest fell below .300.

But the Troopers have cracked more than one defense with their bespoken dikes, and might very well do the same to the Ordinance, although the 328th has to be rated as fairly steady in the field. It's a cinch that Griffin, the Ordinance receiver, will have his work cut out for him.

Only one prediction will be made in this corner and that is that neither team will take two straight. Even that is going pretty far out on a limb. But the facts are here—make up your own mind.

2 Dream Teams To Meet July 18

Two star-studded teams, picked by post baseball managers, will get together next week under Gowdy Field lights to play what shapes up as the best game of the Benning season so far. July 18 has been set as the tentative date for the contest.

Four 15D players and four Airborne men are named by the managers to the first team. One Lawson Field and one 756th Tanker player made the team also, with two pitchers picked per club. These Airborne players made the second team, which also included three 328th Ordinance regulars, and one piece from the 37th Infantry, 15D, 78th Engineers, and 83rd Field Artillery Battalion.

Picked for the first team were: Frank (Lefty) McGowan, 1b; Bob Kinard, 2b; Blundy Burnett, 3b; Jack Forbes, ss; Woodrow Burt, cf; George Dickson, cf; Herb Laue, lf; Chick Shiver, c; Dick Gerhart, p; and Ken Watts, p.

Honorable Mention

Other players who received honorable mention were: Hulbert Martin, Doyle Feeler, and Gene Thiele. Bartesche, catcher; Jose Martinez, Bob Johnson, Paul Dackin, Hal Griffin, Armstrong and Coy, infielders; Ollie Cline, Ed Carney, Church Pritchard, Gabe Ambram, Bill Taylor, George Hill, and George Fagan, outfielders. (These were not named in order of the number of votes they received.)

These two teams will face each other in the battle-royal next week, except that the pitchers may switch around. Captain Bench, who will manage the post team, will determine which team the pitchers will start for. He will also decide the sequence. No pitcher will be allowed to work more than three innings, so that will give Martin, Tasc and Feeler the first game July 24 or a chance to pitch.

The post team, which will play its first game here July 24 against Panacola, will be picked by Captain Bench from among the above players and from any other players that he would like to have on the club. He is not limited by the managers' choices.

In order to get Jack Forbes and Blundy Burnett on the same team, most of the managers did a bit of second guessing by placing Blundy, shortstop, at third. Ralph Terry beat out Greer, the 37th for second-string third baseman, but since no other infielder received as many votes as Greer, he was switched to second.

Closest fight was between Leitch, of the 78th, and Carney, of the STR, for the right-field position. Carney led until the

Softball League Begins Wednesday

A ten-team softball league will get underway in organized competition next Wednesday afternoon.

The teams represent the 15D, STR, 76th Engineers, 328th Ordinance, 30th Medical Group, 37th Infantry, 83rd Field Artillery, 204th Truckers, and 501st Parachute Battalion.

Each club will play every other team in the league once, and the team meeting the fourth-place play-offs at the end of the season will run according to the Shaughnessy system, with the first-place team meeting the fourth-place team, and the second and third-place teams meeting.

last ballot was counted, and then Leitch sneaked in under the wire.

Two of the players on the second team are scheduled for discharge soon. Dick Thiele will be gone after the week is out, and probably won't be here for the all-star game; while Nosh Mejia, 328th team-mate, is due to get out about the middle of August, so he will be around for awhile anyway.

STR Takes 2nd Spot In NL, Truckers Make 3rd Place

The topsy-turvy National League race came to end last Saturday in a typical fashion, with the Student Training Regiment upsetting the 78th Engineers, 7-5, and moving up from last place to second place in the league. Correspondingly, the 78th dropped out of the race into a last-place tie with the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion. In the game for the STR, pitching shutout ball by Ed Carney, after relieving starting pitcher Ward. He also drove five innings, after relieving starting pitcher Ward. He also drove in the winning run in the eighth with a single through the box. Ed Carney had a hand in the game, as he got two hits, fielded brilliantly at third base, and outgassed the umpire on a disputed play to give the STR an additional run.

Howie Pitches 9 Innings
Howie Bowen went the full nine innings for the 78th, striking out eleven batters, but a costly error in the third let in two runs, allowing the STR to tie up the game.

Maintaining their reputation as a hard-luck team, the 78th lost still another one-run game a week ago Wednesday, dropping an 8-7 contest to the 204th Engineers. Once more Engineer fielding helps were prominent and no help to Ramos, the starting and losing pitcher.

Although the team did end up with a losing record, there were bright spots in the 78th picture. Few would dispute that the Engineers had the finest defensive outfield in the league in Ambrozia, Pounds and Leitch. Leitch of course was picked on the second team by the managers, selecting an all-post team and Ambrozia received honorable mention.

204th Takes 3rd Place
The 204th rose to third place in the National League on the strength of the 8-7 victory over the Engineers, and the Truckers have Chandler, their first baseman, to thank for this. All he did was go four-four Wednesday, hitting a double, two singles, and a home run. The circuit clown was the longest seen here this season incidentally, clearing the scoreboard in left-center field.

Doyle Feeler, the Truckers' old meal-ticket, picked up his third victory against the 78th. Once again he was the work-horse of the league, pitching 45 innings. His strike-out total was 45, which was tops in the league and one less than Ken Watts' figure in the American League.

Capt. Deane, 204th manager, shook up his line-up for the club's last game, playing himself at second base. The Truckers manager made the play of the year during the game. A ground ball ricocheted off his shoulder into the waiting glove of the second baseman.

Boland Leads NL With .609

Leading batter in the post's National League was also the loop's leading pitcher, Andy Boland, who compiled a striking .609 average, with 14 hits in 23 trips to the plate. His nearest rival was Chandler, 204th first baseman, who finished at .458. Another Truckee, Horton, batted .458, while Carney had a .449 and Leitch a .438 mark.

Leitch and Boland were tied for most base hits with 14. Coy, of the 328th, who batted .394, led the league in runs—scored with 14 and was tied with Carney in RBI with 11.

Boland led the league in triples with four, and Armstrong was tops in doubles with four. Those hitting above .400 were:

328th Pitchers Lead Way In NL

Two 328th pitchers, Andy Boland and Noah Mejia, took down most of the honors in the National League. Only record that eluded them was the strikeout department, where Doyle Feeler led with 45. The 204th chucker worked more innings than any other NL pitcher.

At the last game of the post inter-battalion playoffs, Gen. John W. O'Daniel will present awards to the individual players on the championship club. There will also be awards for the players on the runner-up team. If the Airborne wins the two-out-of-three series with the 328th, then the Ordnance will have to play the ISD to decide the runner-up team, as the Prof's finished second in the first half.

However, if the 328th wins the first series, then the Airborne and the Ordnance will have to play another series to decide the post championship. This would bring together the first-half winner and second-half finalist.

Col. Webster Takes Honors In Tennis Play

Lt. Col. S. J. Weaver, recent winner of the Third Army tennis match played at Fort Bragg, N. C., took top honors in the men's singles of the annual Officers' club tennis match which closed July 6.

Colonel Webster dropped only four games during the entire tournament and defeated Lt. Col. R. Rosa in the quarter finals 6-1, 6-0; Lt. J. L. Booge in the semifinals 6-0, 6-0, 6-1, and Lt. Col. R. M. Flynn in the finals 6-0, 6-2.

Playing to filled bleachers on Sunday afternoon, Colonel Webster was in top form and went on to win the men's doubles, playing with Capt. S. J. Adams to defeat Lt. Col. H. D. Balliett and Lt. Col. R. Rosa with scores of 7-5, 6-3, 10-8. Rosa and Balliett took the first five games in the first set before Webster and Adams took the lead to win the next ten in a had fought battle. Webster and Adams recently won the Third Army doubles play and will go to Washington, D. C., on July 13 to play in the All-Army championship meet as they represent the Third Army.

Similar Hitchings defeated Bob Slater 6-3, 3-6, 8-6 to win the junior title and later in the week Mrs. C. E. Johnson was slated to play Mrs. J. L. Hitchings for the women's title. At the same time Colonel Webster and Mrs. H. E. Balliett play Colonel Balliett and Mrs. Johnson for the mixed doubles title.

Attention Swimmers

Triouts for the post swimming team, temporarily halted by the shutdown of the pools, will be held today and every day following. Lieutenant Murphy, team coach, has announced. Those interested in coming out are asked to report to Basin Pool today—July 10—at 1 p. m. Practice will be held every day at that hour from now on.

Watts Leads 756th Nine To 3rd Slot

Upsetting ISD, 7-6, in their closing game, the amazing 756th Tankers finished the second half to third place in the American League standings. If the club's game with the 37th Infantry hadn't been rained out, the ISD might have been forced to share second place with the Tankers.

In their upset victory over the Profs last Wednesday, the Tankers were sparked by big Ken Watts, who has received recognition as one of the finest players on the post by the various team managers. He was pitched as a first-team pitcher along with Dick Gerhart of the Airborne.

Watts' 46 strikeouts led all the post pitchers during the second half, just as his total of 118 in the first half was tops. His earned-run average was up to .38 but he pitched against the Airborne twice and 11 of the 19 earned runs balked up when Tim were scored by the Troopers.

However, it is not only on the mound that Watts has excelled, but at the bat as well. In the ISD game for instance, he went four-for-four, smacking out a triple, a double, and a single. He also brought his batting average in the second half up to an even .500, with 15 for 30, second only to Chick Shiver's .526.

It would be a mistake though to label the Tankers a one-man team. The club has the services of Hulbert Martin on the mound, and his earned-run average of .29 topped every other American League pitcher's mark. He allowed only two earned runs in 23 and 2-3 innings.

The 756th also had three .300 hitters in Jose Martinez (.371), Cooper (.333), and Paul Dacklin (.345). Martinez, banged out four hits, while Dacklin and Cooper hit safely 10 times. Dacklin was second in the league to Tim in triples, with three to the Lawson shortstop's, four.

Not to be counted out either is Ben Bartoszek, Tanker backstop. Although he hit only 222 in the second half, the catcher from Buffalo, N. Y., has the club's second RBI man. Of his six hits, one was a double, another a triple, and one a home run. He rated behind Shiver and Gallagher in the voting for post catcher.

Blake And Martin Top All Pitchers

Blake, Lawson field southpaw, and Hulbert Martin, 756th Tanker right-hander, led all American League pitchers in lowest earned-run-averages during the second half of the season.

Only pitching in two games both against the ISD, Blake allowed only four earned runs in 20 1/3 innings. Martin's ERA was 2.29. In the first half Blake's ERA was 3.25 and Martin's was an even 3.00.

Dick Gerhart, Airborne right-hander who took top honors in the complete games, more than any other AL hurler. League work-horse was Ken Watts, who appeared in 37 and 1-3 innings. His strikeout total of 46 was the best in either league. Gerhart was second in the league with 30.

Complete records of AL pitchers follows:

Player	IP	CG	ER	BB	SO	W	L	ERA
Blake, Lawson	20 1/3	4	20	8	14	1	1	2.29
Martin, 756th	20	1	11	9	14	1	1	2.29

The above only includes pitchers who worked in more than ten innings during the second half. The Airborne pitched in 10 innings and had a 14.62 ERA of 20, while Thomas, of the 37th, pitched in eight innings and had a 14.62 ERA.

Airborne Second Baseman Called 'Natural' Sportsman

By GLENN D. COVERT
 Baseball critics and fans on the post are referring to the Airborne team's second baseman as a "natural," little realizing how the sports-minded Bobby Kinard reveals some rather startling facts when used in conjunction with his name.

Can 30 years ago in Crescent City, Cal., Robert C. Kinard came to participate in athletics at an early age, but as he grew older he learned to lean toward baseball, boxing, basketball and tennis. Kinard's baseball career started in the Sand Lot League as did the careers of almost every other ball player. The earliest signs of his ability were demonstrated in the Crescent City Grade School League. At this time Kinard was playing a dual role of pitcher and shortstop.

Became Boxer At 16
 Through his grade school days he gained much needed experience and developed his natural talents in baseball, boxing, basketball, and tennis. During four years of high school, Kinard played on three varsity teams and began to develop a natural ability and desire for boxing. At the age of 16 he became a pro fighter, and during two fights he emerged the victor in 15 fighting such notables as the famous Kid Chocolate. His boxing career came to an abrupt end, however, when he suffered an injury to his ear. Deserting the ring, he began to concentrate on baseball, basketball, and tennis.

Kinard is an excellent tennis player and in 1935 and 1936 he won the Central Florida Tennis Association championship. In 1938 he played basketball with the House of David. His basketball life he also played four years in high school and two years at the University of Florida. During his baseball career he advanced from the sand lot to organized baseball in two years at the University of Florida, one year of Class C in the Florida State League, and one year in the East Coast League. He was signed to play with Syracuse, N. Y., in the International League, but entered the service just prior to the war. At present he is the best second baseman on the post and is hitting in the clutches with a .400 batting average.

Passenger: "Is this a good ship, Captain?"
 Captain: "Why madam, this is her maiden voyage."

Airborne Holds Lead Position In Second Half

Airborne averages are not as gaudy in the second half as they were in the first half, but the club was still able to take six out of seven games to come home first in the American League and remain the No. 1 team on the post.

Three losses hurt the Airborne during the second half: one was the discharge of Floyd Doolley, another the sending of Dick Kenney to Korea, and the last was the temporary loss of centerfielder George Dickson in the last few games.

Still the Troopers did all right. Although he only came to bat 20 times during the half, Dickson led the league again in runs scored with 13. His nearest rival was his team-mate Lefty Gowan, who tallied 12 times. Dickson also had the highest batting average on the club - .450. (That's not including Henry Griffin, however, who hit six-for-nine, giving him a .667.)

Ralph Terry batted .429, was tied with Ken Watts for most base hits in the league, 15, and led the American loop in runs-batted-in with 12.

Lefty McGowan, picked as first-team first baseman by the post managers, batted .346 in the second half. He led the league in stolen bases with 11 (runner-up Forbes), and he was the Airborne's best extra-base man with two triples and a double.

Other Airborne figures for the second half show Bob Kinard with a .321, Pritchard with .275, Gallagher at .250, and Stutler and Soinar at .222.

Dick Gerhart, who had the best ERA on the post during the first half, had a 3.18 for the 31 innings

Massey To Head 37th During Second-Half

The 37th Infantry Barnstormers will start the second half of the Columbus softball league under the helm of Massey, of Company B.

The Barnstormers have lost several players, but will have new ones to replace them. Included in the change will be Culppeper at second base. Pitching will hinge on Harris and Roiler, while in the outfield will be Echetter, reportedly a good hitter.

He worked in the second half. He allowed 11 earned runs, six of them in the ISD encounter which the Airborne lost.

Proof of how well-regarded the Airborne club was came in the selections of the post managers. Every Trooper regular, except two outfielders, was picked on either the first or second team, outdistancing any other team in the number of players picked.

With the season completed, the Airborne nine went to Eufaula, Ala., on July 4 to play the local club. The Walkermers romped to the 14-6 victory, with Griffin and McGowan leading the attack with four-for-fives. Gerhart pitched most of the way, with McGowan, making his first appearance on the mound, finishing.

Motorcycle Races Are Slated For Idle Hour Park Tonight

Motorcycle races, the first to be held locally this season, will be featured at Idle Hour park tonight, as the two-wheeled speedsters take over on the Martin Stadium quarter-mile track.

Shiver's .526 Leads League

Cluck Shiver, of the ISD, came to Bat 19 times in the second half, and banged out ten hits to give him the best batting average in the American League—.526.

Following closely on his heels was Ken Watts, of the 766th Tankers, who ended up with 13 for 30 and a .500 percentage. In the first half Shiver hit .391 and Watts was down at .273.

First-half batting leader Jack Forbes, of Lawson field, finished the second half at .423, about 40 points off his first mark. Forbes led the league in triples however, with four, and was runnerup to Frank McGowan in stolen bases. Shiver's three doubles was the best in that department.

Ralph Terry led AL batters in RBI, and George Dickson was first again in runs scored. Those in the above-400 bracket were:

Shiver, ISD	AB	R	HR	BI	Pct.
Watts, 766th	30	13	5	5	.500
Terry, ISD	19	9	6	4	.474
Dickson, Airborne	20	13	8	6	.450

Batts, ISD	31	8	3	4	.258

followed Friday by the midget automobile grinders, who compete each Tuesday and Friday night on the Phenix City program.

Promoter Alex Brewer, bringing the motorcycle races to this area, promises several daring and speedy racers, and experienced riders who can handle their machines on the narrow confines of the short Idle Hour course.

Several events are scheduled with the program being copied closely after the midget car events. The midget racers, led by Bob Johnson, have been battling here all summer and the heat of the campaign is showing as one record after another falls. Johnson has been setting a dizzy pace in recent weeks and has proven a difficult individual for his rivals to keep up with.

Several crashes marred last week's program, but none of them was serious, and one of the largest fields in recent weeks is assured for the Friday night tests, with the Australian Pursuit becoming the favorite of Columbus fans.

The time trials are scheduled for 7:30 p. m., with the regular races at 8 p. m. Seven races are on the program, the feature event winding up the show around 10 p. m.

The fellow who invented the davenport should be proud because millions have been made on his invention.

Second Guessing

The game that clinched the National League flag for the 328th Ordnance was a dilly, merr. As most folks know by now, the 328th FA was the unwilling victim in an alleged contest that paralyzed a well-remembered football game of recent years. I refer to the Washington Redskins-Chicago Bear match of 1941 in which the Bears, previously defeated by the Marshall-men, made Redskins bite the dust in a most humiliating fashion for two hours, finally emerging with a 7-0 triumph.

The connection between a football game and the baseball contest may seem a vague and the score of the "baseball" game is learned. It ended 30 to 6, and the atmosphere must have made Oliver Cline, who performed in center field for the Ordnance in that game, feel right at home. Cline was, in pre-military days, a football star of some stature at Ohio State University, and, last fall, was the mainstay in the Fort McClellan leaguers' attack.

But, to return to baseball, the Ordnance, after getting off to a slow start, scored the equivalent of two touchdowns in the third inning, and from there added a safety in the fourth, a field goal in the fifth, another touchdown in the sixth and seventh, and a safety and a field goal in the eighth.

The 83rd has been the recipient of a couple of other trimmings in their day, but this was one that will linger a long, long while around the third quarter, where both the 328th and the 83rd are stationed. What really makes it stand out is that the 83rd gave the Ordnance their only league loss not too long ago.

Lefty MacGowan, recently voted the post's best first baseman, has been begging Captain Walker to let him pitch a game. Lefty, a Marine vet, used to be a pretty fair chunker with the Cyrenes, and he had a suspicion that there was still a little of the old zig left in his left hipper.

The Troopers went down to Eufaula, Ala., last Friday to play an exhibition game with the Captain Goings into the ninth inning, the Troopers had a rather safe lead—something like 4-0—and Captain Walker thought that now might be the ideal time to let Lefty display his stuff. Lefty went in.

Lefty reared back and let her fly to the first batter—and then checked as the ball shot right back at him and on out into center field. "Luck, multered Mac. Nothing daunted, the lefthander wheeled the first pitch into the next batter, and was slightly shaken when that worthy rapped another base hit. His confidence was still with him—a combat veteran, he had been shelled before, but quite a little of cooed away before the inning ended.

Lefty never finished the story, so we can't tell you if the side was ever better, but we can tell you that Lefty is not too likely to see much mound duty in the 328th series.

The 328th Ordnance could be in a bad way if they win the second half championship. Because if they do, that just means that they will have to go right out and play the Airborne in another series to decide who is the post champion.

The tough part is that the Ordnance has had two of their sluggers, Dick Thiele, and their third baseman, Coy, in separation since last Tuesday, and they may stay and play on their terminal leave, and then again; they may not. They can still play for the Ordnance legally, since, while on terminal leave, they are assigned to the 340 ASU, which is part of the 328th. Both will probably be around for the current series, although even that isn't certain.

If the Ordnance loses the first series, that means they will have to play a sudden-death playoff with the ISD to decide who will get second place for the whole year; so there will probably be baseball on the post right up to the July 24 date set for the post team's first game.

Several of the teams on the post are planning to keep their teams intact after the season and playoffs, and free lance around

Kids Score Win Over Old Men On French Field

The "Kids" of the local polo players showed their ability last Sunday in a fast-riding game that brought them a victory of 9 scores against 8 brought in by the "Old Men."

Major K. F. Quail captained the victorious team, which was meeting the "Old Men" for the second time after being defeated by their elders, captained by Col. Robert L. Dulaney. In an earlier play, the "Old Men" were handicapped five points before the game started, giving an opening score of 5 to 0 for the "Kids" who brought it up four notches with Major Quail making everyone of the four counts. Also playing on the "Kids" team were Major J. M. Flech; Dial WGRA—FM—36.3 Megacycles

Major G. S. Beatty Jr., Lt. B. Q. Hopkins and Lt. W. B. Castle. The team of "Old Men" included Colonel Dulaney, Col. W. O'Connor, Col. J. A. Nichols and Lt. Col. W. U. Moran. The eight credited to Colonel Dulaney who put in three, Colonel O'Connor who also scored three, Colonel Nichols one and Colonel Moran one.

Sunday afternoon, July 13, will see another contest on French Field as teams headed by Colonel Dulaney and Colonel Nichols meet at 5 p. m. The public is invited and admission is free.

The regularly slated team games are rather quiet just now as several players are on leave following the end of the Post Championship play which saw the School Troop Red Ramblers win their third tournament of the past year, having also taken the fall and spring championships. The names of the team players have been inscribed on the permanent polo trophy kept at the Officers' club and these are: Lt. Col. W. U. Moran, team captain, Major Gerry Shea, Col. B. T. Brady, Capt. Lawson Field Unit Expected To Move To Greenville AAB

The 75th Troop Carrier Squadron, which has been stationed at Lawson field since November, 1945, will be moving to Greenville Army Air Base in Greenville, S. C. before July 25, it was announced this week by Lawson field officials.

A war-born unit, the 75th was activated in February, 1943, at Bowman field, Ky. Lt. Col. Lewis

A. Curtis, present commander, took over in May of the same year when still a first lieutenant. On October 19, 43, the outfit went overseas, serving in the STO for 22 months and participating in three invasions. The 75th flew two missions into Normandy on D-Day, dropping 62nd Airborne troops.

It continued to drop food, equipment, and supplies on the French shores until July 17, 1944, when the squadron was sent to Italy to take part in the invasion of Southern France on Aug. 15. Back in England on Aug. 23 the 75th dropped airborne and glider troops in the Holland invasion on Sept. 17. During the German counter-offensive that winter, the squadron ran three parachute supply runs in bad weather to the isolated 101st Airborne at Bastogne.

The 75th moved to France in February, 1945, and remained there until V-E Day, returning to the States in June, 1945. Assigned to Lawson field in November, the outfit has been here ever since.

Four ISD Profs On First Team

With four of the team's regulars being picked on the managers' first team, and one making the second team, the ISD can be sure of adequate representation on the post team when it is formed.

Chick Shiver was named first team catcher by the managers, despite the fact that he didn't catch many games this season. But Chick batted .526 in the second half, .391 in the first half, and drove in enough crucial runs to be well-remembered by post managers.

Woodrow Burt, Herb Laive, and Blondy Burnett were of course just about unanimous selections. The big centerfielder was runner-up to Jack Forbes in the first half and hit .420 in the second half. In order to make room for Jack Forbes, Burnett was moved over to third base on the managers' first team.

Letty Lehner, who spent most of the second half on the mound, was picked by the managers as second team first baseman.

If the Airborne conquers the 322th in the first half-out-of-three series, then the Profs will have to play the Ordnance nine one game to decide the runner-up spot.

Army Dependents May Join Hubbies Overseas Sooner

The War Department today announced revision of rules governing the shipment of military and civilian personnel's dependents to overseas theaters. The new priority system, based on overseas service in former tours and service in current tours, is expected to shorten waiting periods for officers, soldiers and civilian employees seeking quarters for their families in foreign zones.

Although the new system will in no way alter the housing shortage in the theaters, it is believed that it will decrease complaints due to the "setbacks" suffered by many persons awaiting inclusion on current priority lists. Under the new plan, an individual will be credited with one point for each month of overseas service in previous tours since Pearl Harbor and two points for each month of overseas service in current tours. Months in any tour in which dependents were present overseas will not be counted in establishing credits.

An example of the way in which the new system would work follows: One person had six months overseas service in a previous tour of duty and six months in the current tour, all time being service without his dependents. His credits would be 12 under the old rules and 18 under the new rules. Another person had 12 months overseas service in a previous tour and two months in the current tour. His credits would be 14 under the old rules and 16 under the new ones. In these two cases the result of the change would be to place the first individual, with longer continuous separation from his family, ahead of the second man, with longer total separation.

Monday Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gilem Jr. visited the camp to observe the barracks, messes and training of the outfit, commanded by Col. Samuel A. Gibson, professor of military science and tactics at North Carolina State college.

Thursday night the ROTC men will hold a dance in the ROTC service club with girls from Columbus and LaGrange to attend the event from 8:30 to 11 p. m. Music will be furnished by the 72nd Army dance band under the direction of Sgt. Manuel Sousa.

125 Students Complete Airborne Course Here

More than 125 officers and enlisted men graduated from the airborne course June 28, it was announced today.

The class, which opened the course with 182 enlisted men and nine officers and graduated 118 enlisted men and eight officers, completed its night jump problem June 24.

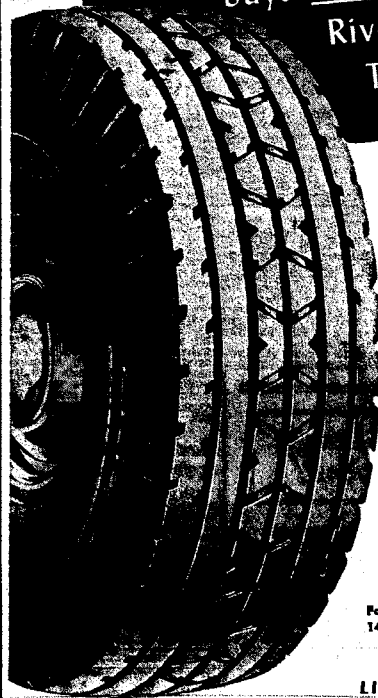

Of the total graduates, 50 enlisted men chose the 11th Airborne Division and 50 enlisted men and four officers signed for duty with the 82nd.

First Five-Year Enlistees Take Oath Here July 1

The first applicants for five-year enlistments in the U. S. Army were sworn in at the Armed Forces Induction Station here on July 1 with William F. King of Bridgeport, Ala.; Douglas M. Lee of Nashville, Tenn.; and James L. Watson of Lakeland, Ga., taking honors for being first King enlisted as a private in the 82nd Airborne Division with a record behind him of five years and two months service in the infantry. He reported at the time of enlistment that he would sign up for an indefinite period if it were possible.

Watson, who has previously served with the Navy and Seabees, enlisted as a private in the cavalry after explaining that he likes the service better than civilian life.

Lee also previously in the Navy for a little more than two years, enlisted as a corporal in ordnance and said that he, too, would enlist for an indefinite period if possible.

Although not among the first to be sworn in for five years, Lucious Hollis of LaGrange, Ga., was the first man to ask for the long period. He had to settle for three years because his parents had given consent for only the shorter term.

Joe: "How come you got thrown in the guardhouse?"
Shmo: "For robbing my wife to sleep."
Joe: "There's nothing wrong with that is there?"
Shmo: "Oh yeah! You shoulda seen the size of the rock."

Three Troop Transports Renamed For CMH Winners

Three troop transports of the Transportation Corps' postwar fleet will be re-named for Medal of Honor winners who lost their lives in World War II, the War Department announced today.

The vessels currently being converted in West Coast shipyards to meet Army peacetime military needs are the Private Elden H. Johnson (formerly the Tryon), the Private William H. Thomas (formerly the Rixey), the Sergeant Charles E. Mower (formerly the Cyclone). All three saw war service in the Pacific as Navy evacuation transports. They are the first units of the Army's postwar fleet to be completely converted for peacetime service and will be placed in operation on Pacific runs, with one of the three eventually to ply between New Orleans, Louisiana, and Caribbean ports.

The Private Elden H. Johnson is named after a 23-year-old East Weymouth, Massachusetts, infantry private who sacrificed his life from an enemy ambush while fighting with the 15th Infantry in Italy on June 3, 1944. His parents presently reside in Rockland, Massachusetts.

The Private William H. Thomas is memorialized as a 22-year-old 38th Infantry (Cyclone) Division who fought on and killed at least three Japs after he was mortally wounded by enemy explosives which blew off both legs during action in the mountains of Luzon April 22, 1945. Parents presently reside at 5429 Van Slyke Road, Flint, Michigan.

The Sergeant Charles E. Mow-ler is named after a 20-year-old Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, infantry sergeant of the 34th Infantry who while fighting near Leyte, Philippine Islands, on November 15, 1944, directed his squad in the destruction of two Japanese machinegun crews and numerous enemy riflemen, even though mortally wounded and exposed to heavy enemy fire.

Were Auxiliary Vessels. The newly re-named vessels are former U. S. Navy auxiliary transports which in original design were specifically fitted for evacuation of wounded from invasion shores. Essentially mercy ships, they had a double wartime job: supporting invasions with fresh troops, and saving the lives of wounded by immediate medical attention only a few minutes from the beachhead. Because of their double purpose, they did not enjoy the security of the Red Cross under the Hague Convention and for protection were heavily armed with numerous 20 millimeter, 3-inch and 5-inch anti-aircraft weapons.

Conversion of the vessels in West Coast shipyards is expected to be completed in late July or early August. Extending throughout the year a number of additional vessels will be withdrawn from active operation following a schedule for alterations which will make them more satisfactory permanent troopships.

Alterations are designed to provide more commodious troop space, improved heating and ventilation, additional hospital facilities, and the latest life saving equipment and modern navigational aids. In most instances these postwar transports will be equipped and will be normally operated in much the same manner as commercial passenger vessels.

Gonske Named Weather Officer At Lawson Field

Some good weather ought to be in store for this area since a new weather forecaster has been installed to call the shots of sunshine from Lawson field.

Capt. Walter F. Gonske of Rice Lake, Wis., is the new officer in charge of the predictions and this is his first assignment since graduation from the AAF weather school for officers at Chanute Field, Ill.

The captain, who is here with his wife, the former Miss Eleanor Ekluson of Barron, Wis., entered the service in 1941 at Chanute Field and was graduated from the weather observer school for enlisted personnel there. After that he was stationed at Baton Rouge, La., as a weather observer.

He received his commission in 1942 at Lowry Field, Colo., and was overseas from May 1943 to June 1945 in the European theater. Captain Gonske replaces Capt. Robert Miller who was transferred from the Lawson weather post to a ROTC unit in Los Angeles. The weather office at Lawson Field is a detachment of the 104th weather group at Macon, Ga.

Army's Golfing Tournament Set for August 12

A 54-hole medal play will be conducted here July 26, 27, and 30 to select four men to represent Fort Benning in the Army golf tournament slated to get underway on the Officers' club golf course August 12. Col. Frank Ward, golf committee chairman, announced today.

All interested personnel on the post are eligible to enter the tournament, Col. Ward said. Names of applicants must be submitted to Frank Goss, Officers' club golf pro, prior to 2 p. m. July 25.

Slight Decrease Noted in Fuel Utilization Here

Fuel consumption here dropped 0.4 percent below the quota established by Third Army headquarters for the month of May. It was announced by Emmett Gossett, Third Army Conservator, during the regular monthly meeting of the conservation board last Monday.

Mr. Gossett pointed out that Fort Benning's consumption of fuel for the month of April, however, had exceeded the target by 20 per cent, and urged all members of the board to exert every possible effort to keep it at an absolute minimum.

The board went on record as favoring an increased amount of publicity to the hours during which personnel are allowed to use hose for watering their gardens. At last month's meeting, resolution was unanimously adopted to limit the hours for that purpose from 6 to 8 p. m. daily.

It was reported that although no accurate check had been taken, water consumption had dropped

Harper Gets College Duty

Col. Joseph H. Harper, who has been assistant chief of staff of the Infantry Center for the past year and who formerly was with the Airborne section of The Infantry School, will leave Fort Benning Monday to go to the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Va., it was announced today.

Colonel Harper who served with the 101st Airborne division during the war in Europe, will be an instructor in airborne tactics in his new assignment.

Temporarily taking over the duties of Colonel Harper is Col. O. P. Bragan, who recently returned to the States after spending 39 months in Germany. Colonel Bragan was with the 76th Division during the war and at the end of hostilities went to Rheims, before going to Brenehaven to organize the staging area for the new post debarkation.

This is not Colonel Bragan's first time at Benning since he was stationed here four years immediately after his commission at West Point where he enrolled in 1920. During the time here he was with the 29th Infantry for three years and spent one year taking a company officers' course. He was here again from July, 1943 to July, 1944, as an instructor in the logistics section.

Colonel Bragan, in addition to his temporary duty as assistant chief of staff, is also the officer in charge of the West Point class which will arrive here in January.

Honnold Named Post Exchange Officer Here

Col. Wallace H. Honnold, who came here approximately three months ago from Beaumont General hospital in Texas, has been named Post Exchange officer. It was announced today, replacing Lt. Col. Buford T. Strawn who has gone to Fort Monmouth, N. J. for 10 weeks temporary duty. Colonel Strawn is expected to return to Fort Benning when he completes his duty in New Jersey. Colonel Honnold, whose wife and three children are here with him, came to Fort Benning as a student in the Associate Advanced Class which was graduated June 22.

After recent changes in the Post Exchange system it has been announced that the Snack Bar, located in the same building with the Main Cafeteria, has been closed since a similar service is available at the fountain in the Main Exchange in back of the Howard Bus Station. The No. 7 Canteen at the Main PX fountain, where cigars and cigarettes were sold, has also been closed.

Engineers Reveal Plans For Huge Building Program

An extensive building and repair program involving an unspecified sum of money is nearing completion here, it was announced today by the post engineers.

The program includes repainting, paving, construction, alterations, roof and installation of air conditioning units, they said. Among the major projects under way are the resurfacing of a 3.3-mile stretch of the First Division road between the Main Post and the Harmony Church areas. This work is expected to be completed this week and the road has already been opened to traffic.

Approximately 600 temporary type buildings on the Main Post are being re-roofed with strip shingles to their exterior repainted, officials said. This work is 35 per cent completed.

The interior of the Infantry School building, Main Post chapel and old bakery building are being repainted, and a composition floor has been laid in the old bakery building. The new type floor—concrete base with a smooth surface—is being designed to eliminate dust, post engineers pointed out.

Replacing the metal stacks on the chimneys of buildings on the Main Post and at Sand Hill and the Harmony Church is more than 50 per cent completed, engineers reported. All chimneys will also be extended, they said.

The Airborne section will soon have a new consolidated mess. Rebuilding of a large mess hall from four smaller buildings is nearing the half-way mark and should be completed within the next few weeks.

The interiors of the Nurses' quarters, Greene Hall, Collins Hall and Lewis Hall are being resurfaced, refinished, and repainted. This project is also 50 per cent completed.

Four buildings have been re-modeled and made into classrooms for students of the radio repair course and 450-type courses. Night lights have been installed in the rooms. Post engineers also stated that the installation of 89 fluorescent lights in the Infantry School building has been completed.

Street Paving
Repaving of Sigerson road, Hall street, and an unnamed street in the rear of the finance office has been completed. This project included the repaving of the parking areas adjacent to these streets. The post engineer also revealed that the colaroad will be paved to the rear of the finance office.

Other resurfacing jobs slated to get underway as soon as materials become available include 30,000 square yards of parking areas, 30,000 square yards of asphalt resurfacing and 30,000 square yards of concrete streets. These projects are already under contract.

Woodyard Named Recruiting Head At Lawson Field

Major William T. Woodyard, former 2d pilot, has been named recruiting officer at Lawson field military authorities announced today.

Major Woodyard, veteran of six years Army service, was assigned to the Tempelhof airbase in Berlin for occupational duty at the close of the war in Europe. He attended St. Joseph college in St. Joseph, Mo., prior to entering the Army in December, 1946. He was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from flying school in 1941.

Fort Benning will participate in the Army-wide photography contest which is now under way with the deadline for entries from this post set for October 12, it was extended this week by Lt. Col. Tito C. Mossallit, in charge of the local competition.

Entries for the competition are to be submitted to the special services officer of the Infantry Center and entries will be judged by a qualified committee of photographers with suitable prizes to be awarded. The winning entries from this post will be entered in the Army-wide photography contest sponsored by the Office of Chief of Special Services, War Department.

Rules of the contest, as explained in War Department Circular 150, state that photographs may be entered in any of the following categories:

1. The mission and duties of the Army (daily life at a military installation, special events, etc.)
2. The Army off-duty recreation, activities, soldier fun, etc.)
3. Foreign countries and people (landscapes, architecture, people, customs, etc.)
4. General pictorial photographs

Tilson Given Bronze Star

S-Sgt. Lorán R. Tilson, of the 37th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company, was awarded the Bronze Star Saturday morning at a special parade and review at Stilwell field.

Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Shephard, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, presented the medal to Sergeant Tilson for meritorious conduct in support of active combat from June 8, 1945, to Feb. 15, 1945, in France, Belgium and Germany. In recognition of the citation accompanying the award, Sergeant Tilson "performed his work with distinction by laying communications lines through enemy territory and by fighting enemy tanks and troops on many occasions."

The citation further stated that his willingness to accept combat risks under severe weather conditions and his sincere devotion to duty were an inspiration to all those who worked with him.

Following the presentation, elements of School Troops passed in review before the 37th Ordnance Company B of the 37th Infantry Regiment, Company A of the 37th Parachute Infantry Battalion, Battery A of the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion, and Company C of the 2nd Army Band provided music for the occasion.

11 Million Vets To Get War II Victory Medals

General distribution of the American Defense Service Medal and the World War II Victory Medal to eligible veterans will start on August 1, 1947, it was jointly announced today by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Each service is preparing to begin distribution on the above date and will shortly issue instructions individually through local information media as to when, where and how application for the medals is to be made. Veterans must apply only to that branch of the Armed Forces in which they served.

In general, distribution will be made to veterans and eligible next of kin from local distribution centers. All local Army distribution depots will be prepared to take care of applications by August 15 and Army applicants should wait until that date before applying for the medals unless advised otherwise by local announcement.

Veterans are requested not to make mail inquiries concerning distribution. Complete details will be released shortly from Washington and locally.

It is estimated that the four branches of service will distribute approximately 18,000,000 medals if all eligibles apply.

Only those who served and were discharged under honorable conditions are eligible to apply for the medals.

In general, the American Defense Medal is for those who served between September 8, 1939, and December 7, 1941, inclusive.

The World War II Victory Medal is for active service between December 7, 1941, and December 31, 1946, inclusive.

O'Connor Leaves For Guatemala

Col. W. W. O'Connor left Fort Benning Tuesday for New Orleans, La., from where he will sail for South America to assume new duties as chief of the Ground Mission to Guatemala. He will be stationed in Guatemala City and is taking his family with him.

Colonel O'Connor has been at Fort Benning for approximately one and a half years and served as president of the Infantry Requirements board at the Infantry School. He is being replaced by Col. William Moore.

Army's Golfing

from quarters to golf course will be furnished upon call.

The program for the Army tournament calls for the first 18 holes for qualifications to be played August 12. The second 18 holes for qualification to be played August 13. Based on the 36 holes of stroke competition, players will be placed in divisions. This phase also will be used to determine the team championship.

1st Round Aug. 14

First round of match play—18 holes—will take place August 14. This will place players in flights of 16 winners in the first division of flight, losers the first flight, and so on through the other divisions. The second and third rounds of 18 holes each will be August 15 for all flights, and the semi-finals of 18 holes each will be August 16. The finals will be played August 17.

A team trophy will be awarded to a four-man team representing a major ground or air command, overseas theater, or post, camp, or station. Low aggregate score for the 36-hole qualifying round will determine the winner. Entries within an Air Command at Army area must be approved by the command. Names of the members of each team must be filed with the golf committee before any of the four commence their first qualifying round.

Winners Get prizes

Each member of the winning team will receive a permanent trophy, and the team trophy will be perpetual, to be held by the winning command until the second annual meeting of the Army gold championship.

The tournament committees include general chairman, Col. Ross and Ward; honorary chairman, William B. Cole; entrants, Lt. Karl W. Lillig; programs, Lt. Col. Edgar O. Hobbs and Maj. W. H. Hunsinger; transportation, Col. O. J. starting, Mr. Goss; caddies, Lt. Lillig; special invitations, Col. Ross; ground rules, Col. Ward and Maj. Hunsinger; special events, Lt. Col. Matt C. Bristol; public address system, Lt. Lillig; publicity, Col. Hobbs and Maj. C. R. Meyers; presentation ceremony, Maj. Hunsinger.

All trophies, prizes, and awards will be given at an appropriate ceremony at the golf clubhouse immediately following the conclusion of the 36-hole championship match on August 17.

Photographs submitted in the final competition are to be 8 by 10 inches, or 11 by 14 inches, with overall not size 18 by 20 inches.

All military personnel are eligible for the contest but information, printed in ink, is to appear on the back of each entry explaining the contestant's name, grade, army serial number, return address, home address, category of the entry, an information paragraph about the photograph, type of camera, type of film, lens, speed, focal length, and filters used.

Entries may be returned by the Army for use as pictorial material in future publicity but the contestant may keep his own negative. No photograph may be withdrawn during the final exhibition and entries will be judged on ap-deal of subject matter, composition and general technical excellence. Each entrant must grant the War Department the right to use his entry for publicity releases and for reproduction in publications which are directly connected with Army publicity and public relations.

Portraits must be accompanied by a statement signed by the subject authorizing the reproduction of the photograph in the Army Photographic contests and authorizing reproduction and use in connection with publicity releases.

Only amateur photographs may be entered in the competition and the use of Signal Corps material and equipment not normally available for troop use is prohibited.

More information concerning the local contest, prizes and judges will be announced later, but it is noted that only black and white photographs may be entered, and only one entry per individual will be awarded.

Slight

Mr. Gossett informed members of the board that Third Army headquarters had set aside $470,000 at Fort Benning's quota for the purchase of gas, coal, oil, and electricity during 1948. If additional funds are needed, the money will have to be taken from other post engineer projects, he said. On the other hand, he declared, any money saved will be transferred to engineer funds and may be applied to the building program.

Electricity Checks

In an effort to further control electricity, post engineers provided that all light bulbs in unused buildings are being collected to prevent their unnecessary use. Along that line, Mr. Gossett revealed that a check on excessive use of light is now underway. Employing a light meter, engineers are testing all buildings on the post to determine the minimum amount of light needed to operate efficiently, he said.

A similar check has already been conducted at the Station hospital where it was found that normal daylight was sufficient for all purposes. Among other buildings slated to be checked soon is the Infantry School building.

At present, personnel from Third Army headquarters are conducting a survey of electricity consumption here to determine the minimum amount necessary. This is the first time such a project has been undertaken at any Army installation and, according to Mr. Gossett, will probably be adopted in other areas should it prove accurate here.

25 Hospital Patients Get All-Day Outing

Approximately 25 convalescent patients at the Station hospital were guests at Roy Martin's country estate in Phenix City July 8. This outing was a part of the hospital Red Cross recreation program.

During the afternoon the patients fished and were served a picnic supper prepared by the hospital messes. The main part of the trip included George Harden, Herbert Dean, Robert Butler, Joel Swabason, Hest Wilson, Strong, James McGarry, Jackson, Pilcher, Killingsworth, Hartman, Adams, Miller, Hearne, Snyder, Baylis, Dick, Jezewski, Muer, Silva, Webster, and Justice. They were accompanied by Annette LeVine, Anne Weaver, and Sergeant WGRA.

Engineers

Continued from Page 1 around the ration breakdown building is nearing completion and it is also planned to pave the street surrounding that structure, post engineers announced.

Air conditioning units are to be installed in Wards B-4 and B-9 at the station hospital. Other work scheduled to begin soon at the hospital plant include alterations to the heating and drain pipes and minor repairs to the elevator.

New Tile Floor

Laying of tile floors in all permanent type messes and kitchens and the post bakery began Monday, also under contract to the post yet under way is the installation of acoustical tile on the ceilings of rooms in the Food Service School.

Repairs to permanent type quarters on the Main Post expected to begin soon are the interior painting of approximately 20 non-commissioned officers' homes in Block 12 and the laying of linoleum in the kitchens of all quarters. This work has been delayed because of material shortages, officials said.

At Lawson field a major repair project on the runways will get under way July 21. The contract calls for the complete resealing of all asphalt runways.

Future Projects

Other large construction jobs planned to begin soon are the laying of a new concrete floor in the central heating plant, reconstruction of the ferry landing on the Alabama side of the Chattahoochee river, and construction of new sidewalks on Wold avenue from the Main Theater to Lumpkin road and along the west side of Lumpkin road to Yeager avenue.

Small miscellaneous projects under contract but not expected to begin for next year include the construction of 12 sets of bleachers for use of infantry

School students, erection of a shed for airborne training, construction of a tank trap, raising of cyclone fence in the magazine area, improvement of the street lighting system throughout the post, re-wiring of night lights on four parachute jump towers, and repairing and replacing warehouse platforms. Also slated for construction are concrete bases for a number of C-54 and C-52 mock-ups in the airborne training area.

Honnold

Continued from Page 1 since the same service is available in the PX, however, when the PX is closed, tobacco products will be available at the fountain between 6 p. m. and closing hours.

Exchange branch No. 48, located at the Separation Center, has been closed, effective July 12.

The Main Cafeteria, across from the Main Theater, will operate from 7 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., and from 3 p. m. to 7 p. m. It was announced, with the new hours effective July 12.

Remodeling has been going on in the Main Exchange building in order to move the uniform store to its separate location into the main building.

Initial Volume Of New Infantry School Quarterly Now Available

BY JIM QUINN
The new Infantry with its nine man squads and consequent reorganization of rifle units will present little difficulty in mastering to the old timers who have remained in the Regular Army, according to the editors of the Infantry School Quarterly, official publication of the Infantry School.

This opinion was further qualified with the assertion that the experiences as evaluated by the nation's top ranking Army officers held at Fort Benning during June, article presents the new organization, combat exercises for squad, platoon, and combat tactics of the rifle squad.

Also in the initial volume of the new Infantry School Quarterly, the first of a series of articles concerning weapons and their employment will appear in an article entitled "Employment of the M-1 Rifle (Recallless) In the Attack". In each subsequent issue, October, January, and April, annual subscribers will find highly informative articles featuring weapons and their employment. Another first of a series will appear with a feature on supply by air, text of which is profusely illustrated with 18 photographs of airborne supply equipment and procedure.

The Infantry School Quarterly is published under a new policy by the same editorial staff as its predecessor, the now defunct Mailing List, to conform with the needs of officers and enlisted men in furthering their professional army career. The annual edition is now released to subscribers in four components in July, October, January, and April, to effect a timeliness never before available in any similar publication. Each quarterly issue will be published with an attractive wear-resistant paper cover, and will be printed on a fine grade durable paper.

Since the material contained in the Infantry School Quarterly is classified as restricted, subscriptions will be accepted from military personnel, active and inactive, and certified government agency personnel only.

'Screaming Eagle' Association Plans 3-Day Reunion

Veterans of the 101st Airborne Division will meet in New York City in the Hotel New Yorker for a three-day reunion, August 14 to 16. The convention, which is the second post-war reunion of the "Screaming Eagle" Division, is being sponsored by the 101st Airborne Division Association, 2410-A Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, former division commander and president of the association, now superintendent of the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York, said the convention is open to all veterans of the division regardless of whether they are members of the association.

General Taylor said the convention will mark the fifth anniversary of the activation of the division at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, August 16, 1942. Since its activation, the 101st Airborne Division made history in the invasion of Normandy and Holland, and at Bastogne during the Battle of the Bulge.

The schedule of activities for the reunion includes registration of guests at convention headquarters, Board of Governors luncheon, business meeting, a reception and informal supper on Thursday. The Friday program includes a business meeting for all reunion guests, a chartered boat ride around Manhattan Island, and an anniversary-evening banquet. The convention will close Saturday with a farewell breakfast and business meeting in the Grand Ballroom.

6-Week Glider Training Program Underway Here

Approximately 160 officers and enlisted men from the 82nd Airborne Division arrived here during the week end to begin a six-week parachute and glider training course.

Classes got underway Monday for 95 white enlisted men, 40 Negro enlisted men, and 15 officers. They will be attached to Company 2 of the Airborne Battalion during their stay here.

154 Troopers Entering Third Week Of Training

Entering their third week of training, the 154 students in the Airborne Battalion's Company A are this week learning the nomenclature of the parachute.

The company lost two cadremen last week when T-4 William H. Schlotthoher and T-4 James E. Williams became eligible for discharge and reported to the post's Separation Center. Both saw action during the last war with the 11th Airborne Division.

PARATROOPERS GRADUATE
Members of Airborne class No. 33 made their final jump July 7 and received their paratrooper wings at graduation exercises July 15.

UN Birthday

A fortnight ago the United Nations Organization observed its second anniversary, and from all reports it was not a pleasant occasion. There were squabbles among the delegates, heated arguments, and disagreements that threatened to disrupt the meetings. At almost the same time another post-war organization also observed an anniversary—its 28th. That organization was the League of Nations which was created by the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

Oppressed peoples are over the world turned pleading faces toward the League of Nations twenty-eight years ago just as they did to the United Nations Organization two years ago. There has been little difference between the two organizations so far except that, on the second anniversary of the League, 50,000 Londoners turned out to cheer it. There has been little mention of the second birthday of UN, only scattered references in the press or in news-reels. Perhaps this is a good sign, perhaps people are superstitious enough to think that if they appear not to notice the organization, it will have a better chance of succeeding as a world court, wherein all differences between nations can be settled peacefully and quietly, than it will under wild cheering.

The underlying principles behind the organization of the United Nations charter are doubtlessly the soundest ever conceived by any body of men. Provided we can insure that all delegates—from all nations represented—are sensible, peace-loving men who believe firmly in the work for which the organization was originally designed, the UN can faithfully serve the purpose for which it was intended.

At the close of World War II the universe was a weary planet. The peoples, the common men who had fought the war, were tired; above anything else they wanted to be sure that the world would enjoy an era of uninterrupted peace during which time they could build homes, raise families, and take that summer vacation. They wanted to be sure the world would be a safe place in which to live; they wanted to be sure that their sons would not have to shoulder a gun against an enemy. It is the same picture of future happiness which mankind had following World War I.

This time, however, Americans have, as a whole, reacted in a far different way. They have refused to revert to that old-time tradition of strict isolationism. We have representing us in the State Department and on the United Nations councils men of integrity, men of high calibre, men of deep conviction, and men who will not give up to their opponents regardless of the odds against them.

The Bayonet gave a silent cheer to these men to whom America has entrusted her future security on the occasion of the second anniversary of the United Nations Organization. We, like all other war-hating people, still have confidence in the intelligence of these men despite what some men and women of the press and radio say to the contrary. We believe that mankind will exhibit the courage necessary to keep the peace. We believe that the men representing us in the UNO feel the same way.

It takes time to hurdle some of the obstacles facing the UN delegates. It's not easy sailing. There are language barriers which accounts for a great portion of the seemingly unnecessary delay. Then there are procedural rules to be observed and reports to be made to the delegates' governments.

It's been said many times before, but we still think it fitting to mention again at this time that, so long as nations can agree not to use poison gas in warfare, there is hope for a peaceful world.

Their cars having collided, Jock and Pat were surveying the situation. Jock offered the bottle to Jock from his bottle. Pat drank and Jock returned the bottle to his pocket.

"Thank you," said Pat. "But aren't you going to have a bit of nip yourself?"

"Aye," replied Jock, "but not until the police have been here."

It was a very determined baby. It had to have its bottle or bust. "The wonderful love of a beautiful maid— The love of a staunch true man— The love of a baby unafraid— Have existed since life began. But the greatest love—the love of loved-ones— Even greater than that of a mother— Is the passionate, tender and infinite love. Of one drunken bum for another."

LIVING THAT LASTS

Chaplain Robert B. Mathis
"For none of us liveth to himself, and none dieth to himself."

There is not a sound in the far distance but what has its influence on time immemorial. No pebble is so small as not to disturb the great water of waters from shore to shore when dropped therein. The least movement is of importance to all nature. The entire ocean is affected by a lone pebble. No stone is so little as not to attract the sun. A stream of water at its source may be so small that an animal could drink it dry; yet, as it travels on through fall and hill, it becomes a mighty river and finally empties itself into a great ocean. It is the same with moral influence. From us flow out sparkling waters of refreshing beauty to give life and hope to future generations, or idle words and evil deeds that will cloud the path of those who follow. No matter what position in life we occupy, nor who are our associates, it is the same with moral influence. From us flow out sparkling waters of refreshing beauty to give life and hope to future generations, or idle words and evil deeds that will cloud the path of those who follow. No matter what position in life we occupy, nor who are our associates, it is the same with moral influence. From us flow out sparkling waters of refreshing beauty to give life and hope to future generations, or idle words and evil deeds that will cloud the path of those who follow.

Always so act that the immediate motive of will may become a rule for all intelligent beings. Its influence is as eternal as the heavens. Every influence of man, whether for good or evil, lingers after him and plays its part in shaping the character of future ages. Influence grows. No act falls fruitless.

No one can tell how vast the powers in nature nor what the results. Every act, emotion, look, and word makes for good, evil, happiness, or unhappiness, though small at first, increase in volume and momentum until they become great powers. Since we cannot recall our influence, we should strive to live in such a way as not to bring reproach upon ourselves or upon our associates—lives we shall not regret if others follow in our footsteps.

Book Shelf

A FABLE SOUTH OF CANCER

Actually this is a novelette instead of a full-length book, although the idea behind the brief number of pages is worthy of a full-length book, but John Hershey is a wise author, economical of words that are unneeded, and still highly successful in driving home the point of his story.

John Hershey has already earned himself a high place among the contemporaries. His "A Bell for Adano" was a piece of reality from the European war which no soldier could help but admire. Again in "Firewhites" he scored success with the outside world and the arrival of American women. At the same time he is explaining the development of political and economic factors which eventually overshadow all other situations.

The characters are delightful throughout the few pages of this story. Each is painted as clearly as is necessary for the fabric and each plays a fine part in the development of the plot.

This little novel is certainly worthy of reading, but to a much reader it may seem a little un-usable. At the same time, however, this critic is making some useful truth. That is exactly what the author intends to do. His story is truly interesting to read and consider as seen on the surface; but, very obviously, it is intended to point out something much more than what happened to a group of men on one ship. It is simply a simple picture of scaling down of how the entire world behaves.

The choice of the word "Fable" in the title is exactly right in the sense of the word, meaning "a narration enforcing some useful truth." That is exactly what the author intends to do. His story is truly interesting to read and consider as seen on the surface; but, very obviously, it is intended to point out something much more than what happened to a group of men on one ship. It is simply a simple picture of scaling down of how the entire world behaves.

Sixth Armored Plans Reunion

The Sixth Armored Division Association is now in process of formation under the supervision of Col. George W. Read Jr., with temporary headquarters located at Fort Knox, Ky., where the division was activated on Feb. 15, 1942.

All those who served honorably in the division before the activation date and V-E Day, May 8, 1945, are eligible for membership and may secure application blanks by writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, Sixth Armored Division Association, Fort Knox, Ky.

The Sixth Armored Division will long be remembered for its outstanding exploits in World War II. In more than nine months of combat the Division, in whole or in part, was continuously in action in the European Theater until the end of the war with Germany, except for a period of less than two weeks. From the hedgerows of Brittany through the Ardennes and Lorraine, to the rolling hills of Saxony, the division mastered every variety of terrain and every type of combat.

The purpose of the association is to perpetuate the memory of fallen comrades; perpetuate the renown of the Sixth Armored Division; preserve the "esprit de corps," assist in the promotion of peace; and to serve as a medium of contact among and to promote the welfare and interest of those who served in the division.

The first annual reunion of the association is tentatively set for the spring of 1949. At that time the permanent officers will be elected and decisions reached as to the future plans of operation.

Some 10,000 application blanks are now being mailed to former division members whose addresses have been secured.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

NEWS HOUND (comedy) with Leo Gorcey and Bowery Boys. When some tight-fisted gamblers try to get control of local fighters, Leo and the boys decide to dig up enough evidence to trap the crooks. They come through in their usual well-meaning but bungling manner. Recommended for family.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE (mystery-comedy) with Phillip Terry, Jacqueline White, and Eduard Cinnelli. Making a bet that he can write a story in 24 hours in the deserted Baldpate Inn, Terry runs into a series of adventures that knock his bet for a loop. Recommended for family.

FAIRLIE GIRL, musical romance, with All-Star cast. In this musical version of how to find out movies, all Paramount stars are presented in an elaborate display of film talent. Recommended for family.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE (fantasy) with Louis Hayward, Joan Leslie, Richard Basehart, and Tom Conway. Presenting the unusual story of a woman who wished that she might relieve a year of her life and had the wish come true, this picture should be seen from the beginning in order properly to follow intricate plot. Recommended for mature.

THE CRIMSON KEY (mystery) with Kent Taylor, Doris Dowling, and Dennis Hoey. With Kent Taylor, a private detective, wading through a dozen suspects, this mystery provides plenty of puzzles for those who like to play armchair sleuth. Recommended for mature.

CRY WOLF (melodrama) with Barbara Stanwyck and Errol Flynn. Melodrama is offered in triple strength in this film in which suspense is heightened by disembodied outcries, dark backgrounds, and the sustaining threat of veiled terror. When efforts to claim an inheritance from her supposedly dead husband are thwarted by Flynn, Barbara decides to find out just what did happen to her husband. Recommended for mature.

Army Releases 50 Educational Tests To Public

More than 50 educational and psychological tests prepared by Army psychologists before and during the war have been declassified and are now available for public reference, it was announced today by the War Department.

The declassification applies to the two earliest forms of the well-known Army general classification test, which with later comparable tests, have been administered to more than 10,000,000 men. It was explained that the early Army general classification test forms have been superseded by later forms.

Educational achievement tests also are declassified. They cover a variety of subjects, including algebra, arithmetic, chemistry, English grammar and composition, French, general history, geometry, German, Spanish, physics, trigonometry and United States history, and were prepared for use in training programs no longer in operation.

The announcement said the educational achievement tests are experimental editions which have been only partially validated, and are unstandardized. They are considered valuable mainly as sources of reference for high school and college tests.

Bound volumes of these tests have been placed in the Library of Congress.

Christening Event Sees Pleasant Garden Reception

A particularly charming event recently was the christening and reception to honor young Richard Joseph Morey, son of Major and Mrs. J. V. Morey.

Chaplain William C. Shure officiated at the christening ceremony held at the Post Chapel with Capt. Roy E. Gray as the godfather and Mrs. Daniel Raymond as the godmother. Richard Joseph was exactly two months old on the day of his christening which was last Sunday.

Following the ceremony, approximately 40 guests attended the reception party which was given in the garden at the quarters of Major and Mrs. Morey.

The honoree met his guests in a dress which was worn by his mother at her christening and the centerpiece of the buffet table was an expensive of solid silver which the baby inherits from his great grandfather, Col. William Lamb.

The serving table was also decorated with two bouquets of feverfew.

Special guests for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lamb of New Jersey who are the child's grandparents.

Entertain Friends At Formal Party

An extremely pleasant recent event was the dinner and dance party given Saturday evening by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roy F. Zinsler at the Officers club.

The cocktails were served before the dinner held on the club patio and the hostess arranged the table with a charming display of Shabaz daisies in crystal bowls and yellow tapers in crystal candelabra on the white linen cloth.

Guests for the event were Col. and Mrs. John C. Bizzard, Col. and Mrs. Hamilton Thorne, Col. and Mrs. Irving S. Sudefer, Lt. and Mrs. Richard Dial, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Warren C. Chapman, Lt. Col. and Mrs. F. English, Miss Jane Ellis and Lt. Col. and Mrs. John J. Deane.

Colonel and Mrs. Zinsler are leaving the Post August 1 when the colonel is going to the Staff and General Command college at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Luncheon Party Given At Quarters

Honoring Mrs. Richard Sullivan, who is leaving the post, to accompany her husband to Alaska, Mrs. Arthur R. Salguero entertained Friday afternoon at her quarters with a charming luncheon party.

For the farewell event, the hostess decorated with lovely arrangements of gladioli in crystal bowls and the guests, in addition to the honoree, were Mesdames John Burman, Basil Winstead, Fred Holiday, Phil LaManche, Robert Chambers, Francis Lacey and Bernard Goddard.

At No-Host Party

The patio behind the Officers' club was the scene of a delightful no-host buffet supper and dancing party last week, in the group for the formal party were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ed Sachs, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ernest Peters, Maj. and Mrs. Thomas M. Cathaus, Maj. and Mrs. C. A. Sachs, Maj. L. H. Lavine, Miss Lee Doris Blackmon, Mrs. Clifford Woodruff and Lt. Col. John Ludwicksky.

Lillymans Fete Friends At Party In Polo Hunt Club

A particular interesting event of the past week end was the cocktail party Sunday afternoon at which Capt. and Mrs. Frank Lillyman entertained for a group of their friends at the Polo Hunt club.

The party followed the polo game on French Field and the guests found the club attractively

Miss Columbus Sings At Block 12 Dance

Miss Margaret Jennings, winner of the Miss Columbus title in the recent contest sponsored by the Columbus Jaycees, was the featured vocalist with the Southern Cavaliers when they played the Block 12 Non-Commissioned Officers' Club Saturday evening.

The dance proved extremely popular with the club members and the same orchestra will play for another dance slated at the Block 12 club for August 2.

Dodges Entertain Before Departure

Maj. and Mrs. Harland L. Dodge complimented their friends Sunday afternoon with a delightful cocktail party held from 5 to 7 p. m. in the lounge at the Officers Club.

Approximately 60 guests attended the colorful party which was a goodbye affair for the Dodges who are leaving the Post this week after a 14-month stay here. The Major's new assignment will take him to Fort Shafter, Hawaii, and Mrs. Dodge will join him there, with their two children, Barbara Jean and Judith Anne, in a few weeks. In the meantime, she will visit at her home in Hudson Falls, N. Y.

Dance Friday At Club 2

Girls from Columbus, Opelika, Tuskegee, and communities in the vicinity of Fort Benning will be feted in a colorful formal dance Friday evening in Service Club No. 2. It was announced by Mrs. Anne, the Front Club hostess.

Dancing will be featured both in the club auditorium and patio, and music will be furnished by the 194th dance orchestra.

Miss Biggers Weds Lt. Dacklin In Columbus

Miss Virginia Biggers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Biggers, became the lovely bride of Lt. Paul H. Dacklin, son of Mr. Anna Dacklin of Kasotta, Minn., in a beautiful double-ring ceremony performed July 16 at the St. Paul Methodist church in Columbus with the Rev. William E. McTier officiating.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Cedric N. Tallis, and Captain Talis acted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon to be spent in Minnesota.

Dodges Hosts At Cocktail Party Giving Farewells

A pleasant feature of the cocktail hour Sunday was the party given by Major and Mrs. Harland Dodge at the Officers' Club when approximately 40 of their friends were served cocktails in the lounge.

Attractive arrangements of garden flowers were used about the room and on the serving table which was also decorated with silver serving dishes and crystal bouquets.

The affair was as a farewell for the Dodges who are leaving the Post for Fort Shafter, Hawaii. Mrs. Dodge will visit at her home in Hudson Falls, N. Y. for a few weeks before she joins her husband in Hawaii. The two Dodge children, Barbara Jean and Judith Anne, will accompany their mother.

Ladies Of Board Meet For Lunch

Ladies of AGF Board No. 3 held their monthly luncheon meeting last Thursday when they met at the Officers' club with Mrs. Clifford Woodruff and Mrs. Edward I. Sachs in charge of the arrangements.

Mixed summer flowers in cut glass baskets were used as table decorations for the event and new members introduced were Mrs. Richard Boyd and Mrs. Theodore Clark. A special guest was Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. M. R. Pickett of Glendale, Calif.

Other ladies attending were Mrs. Reuben E. Jenkins, Mrs. Donald F. Thompson, Mrs. Ernest Peters, Mrs. James Terry, Mrs. Thomas Cathart, Miss Lee Blackmon, Mrs. James Luttrell, Mrs. Wilbert Armstrong, Mrs. Robert and Mrs. Keith Barber and Mrs. Carl Sachs.

1st Team Has No. 1 Choices Of Post Team Managers

Manager Ike Silcox will have at his disposal tomorrow night the ball players post managers thought were the best at their respective positions.

The only loss to the team will be at short, as Jack Forbes is on furlough. He will be replaced by Ken Fritchard, of the Airborne, one of the best fielders on the post. Fritchard's second-half batting average was .273, considerably below the rest of the first-team players, any one of whom is a threat at the plate.

Guarding the initial sack for the first team will be Lefty McGowan, Airborne stalwart whose season batting average is about .450. A peep demon on the basepaths, Mac led the team in stolen bases in the second half and was one of the leaders in runs-scored in both halves.

2nd Base Fortified

At second base the team will be well-fortified with Bob Kinard. One has to dig deep to recall the Airborne keystone man committing an error. A murderous clutch hitter, Kinard's season average was just below .400.

Down at the hot corner the first team has old reliable Blondy Burnett, who is no newcomer to Fort. A bonny all-star team-batter in the first half and hit .320 in the second half. Another money player, Blondy always comes through when the chips are down.

The first-team outfield of Dickson, Lauve, and Burt is really a dream combination. All three are expert fly-chasers and wield heavy bats. Each of them hits left-handed.

Ideal Lead-off Man
 Dickson is, of course, the ideal lead-off man. A good .350 hitter, he's a safe bet to score once he reaches base, and he covers a great deal of ground in center field.

Another fast man, Herb Lauve, the first team. Herb slugged .389 during the first half and was one of the leaders in triples. He can punt with the best of them also.

A good No. 2 man in the line-up, Woody Burt is the man with the big bat on the first team. Probably the most feared hitter in the league, Burt slams a mean, hard ball, and has yet to fall below .420 this season. He was second in home runs in the first half and was also runner-up to Forbes in batting with a .457.

Silcox Catching
 Behind the plate Silcox will be relying on his own Chick Shiver, who led the American League in 1936. Chick batted .301 in the first half. The Profs backstop hasn't caught too many games this season, because he's been used as a pitcher. But he's a smart, alert receiver, having caught for the post team last season.

The first team will have two of the best on the mound in Dick Gerhart and Lefty Lehner.

Gerhart, the Airborne chucker, has been the most impressive pitcher on the post, winning the ERA prize in the first half. He has been beaten only once, and then by the pitcher who will be his teammate in this game, Lefty Lehner.

Lefty was picked as second-team first baseman, but it was decided that he'd be more valuable on the mound. He hasn't lost a game in the second half, and his control has improved with each game.

GI Humor

It was a good many years ago that Deacon Jones took his wife to the races. Just as the horses were lining up at the barrier, Jones grasped the Deacon nervously by the arm and in a voice which was filled with emotion asked him for a safety pin, and at the same time grabbed frantically for something that seemed to be slipping at the knees. Just then someone nearby shouted: "They're off!" And Mrs. Jones fainted.

ALL-STARS EVENLY MATCHED

Second Nine Shapes Up As Good As First Team

It'll be hard to distinguish between the first and second all-Benning teams when they trot out on the field tomorrow night—at least as far as playing ability goes. The second team's infield will showcase the efforts of two of the champion Airborne Battalion men, Terry and Bonair, plus the steady influence of Greer, 37th stopgap.

First base will be in the hands of Armstrong, a .355 hitter with the 328th Ordnance, National League champ. Lefty Lehner of the ISD Profs was originally picked for the job, but Lefty has been named to pitch for the first team, instead.

The outfield will be blanketed by John Letch, 18th Engineer star George Fagan, late of the 37th and Big Bill Brooks, the 83rd FA's most consistent hitter. Between them, the three have everything a good outfield should have. All are consistent hitters. All cover a lot of territory, and all have good arms. Individually, Fagan probably covers the most ground, while Letch has the best arm, and Brooks the biggest bat.

Watts to Pitch
Mound duties will be handled by Watts, the long, left-handed strikeout king from the 756th, Bo Boland, who won better than half of the 328th's National League victories, and one other, as yet unnamed. No pitcher will throw more than three innings.

Receiving the slants of the three will be Tom Gallagher, the Airborne's hustly, aggressive catcher. Few people have stolen successfully on Tom.

The team sports four hitters who have topped the 400 mark in the second half of the season. Oddly enough, two of them are the pitchers, Watts and Boland. Boland spanked National League pitching for a lousy .608 average, the League's top figure, while Watts hit an even .500 in the American, finishing second to Letch, a .438 hitter, and Terry, who ended the year at .429.

Good Hitters
Bonair, Gallagher, Fagan, and Greer all suffered batting slumps during the second half of the season, but they've all shown definite signs of snapping out of it in recent games, and can be expected to give the pitchers on the top nine trouble.

Of the pitchers, Boland's record looks the best. Bo had a 1.53 ERA, best figure in the National. He won four against zero losses, and demonstrated the best control in the loop, walking only six batters.

Watts, hurling for a third place team, had a 3-2 record on a 4.58 Earned Run Average. To counter that, Watts chalked up the most whiffs in either league, 46, and pitched 37 innings. Watts' chief difficulty was an inability to go the full distance. He was inviolable for six innings, but from the seventh on he was constantly in trouble. Since he'll only have to go three innings tomorrow night, he should be at his best—which is very, very good.

Finally in desperation, she knocked sharply on the ceiling of her berth several times. The noise faltered, hesitated, continued. So she rapped again, this time louder. Suddenly all was quiet and in the stillness, the man's voice came down to her: "Look, madam," it said, "You may as well stop that noise. I saw you come in and I'm not coming down."

Airborne 9 Cops Post Championship

Troopers Whip 328th, 5-1, 7-3, To Take Title

Defeating the 328th Ordnance, 5-1 and 7-3, the Airborne Battalion became Fort Benning's 1947 baseball champion last week, making it the second year in a row the Troopers have won the post title.

Capt. James Walker, Airborne manager, brought his team through 25 league games with 34 victories, a 7-3 loss to the ISD being the only game in which the Troopers were on the short end.

In the 328th series the club proved once again that its brand of baseball was the best on the post, as it swept to two straight victories over the National League champions.

Dick Gerhart and Dave Larson both came through with sterling mound stints, while timely hitting gave the Airborne the most for its base knocks.

Ordnance Scores In 2nd
The Little, Pennsylvania right-hander throttled about all of the Ordnance batters in the opener, with the exception of George Coy, who went down for two (two singles and two doubles) and collected half of his team's hits.

The lone 328th run was scored in the second, when Griffin, Ordnance catcher, hit a liner to left field that Henry Griffin, Trooper outer-gardener, misjudged. Armstrong followed with a two-out single, and that was the first and last run the Ordnance scored in that game. Bearing down in the closing stages, Gerhart struck out six batters in a row in one stretch, whiffing eight out of the nine men he faced in the sixth, seventh, and eighth.

Andy Boland limited the Airborne to eight hits, but Lefty McGowan managed to get three of them at crucial moments. The first-sacker from Worcester, Mass., batted in four of the Airborne's five runs and scored the other. In the second and fourth frames he singled each time with men on second and third, and in the sixth he produced a two-out single, scoring on Casillas' double.

The two runs scored in the

fourth were unearned, as Barnico, 328th second baseman, messed up Bonair's ground ball to open the inning.

3 Go Hitless

Pritchard, Gerhart, and Griffin were the only Troopers to go hitless, while Armstrong, Coy, Barnico, and Griffin were the only 328th batters hitting safely.

The game was the shortest nine-inning contest of the season, taking up one hour and 45 minutes. Taking a one-day lay-off after Wednesday's opener, the two clubs met again Friday night. The Airborne came to bat first this time and the Troopers went out into the field for the last of the first, the game had already been won.

Nosh Mejia, 328th hurler, started off fine by striking out Pritchard, but he walked Griffin, and Ralph Terry, with the count 0 and 2. The Troopers wild off first and Landay night at Dyers Field. An unearned run by Lindsay in the fourth inning spoiled a shut-out for Scott. Landay was safe on an error. Julius Brown walked. Jordan Tuckett hit to Baldwin, who struck out. Coy batted. Friday scored from second.

The Bullets went into the lead by four runs in the second inning on a hit batsman, singles by Nichols and Hughes, a pass to Robinson and an error by the catcher. Nick Gets Homer Having scored one run in the fourth, the Bullets annexed two more in the fifth. With two down, Eddie Baldwin slapped a line drive past shortstop into left center. Nick, who undoubtedly took the ump at his words that a hit over either of the fences would be considered a home run, stepped to the plate and swung heavily on the third pitched ball of the inning. The ball, which was a hard hit that traveled high, cleared the right field fence and landed in a good position. The blow was his sixth round tripper of the season.

Walter Scott brought in the last Bullet run in the sixth. After going safe on an error, he pulled up second while first baseman Norm Harold was yet chasing the ball. Isom's single down the third base foul line made the sixth home.

Nichols led the way at bat with a single and a home run to account for three of the Bullets runs, while Scott, along with his masterful three hit chucking struck out 10 batters, singled to knock in one tally and scored one himself.

R AND R LOSES

The R and R club's baseball team composed of members of the Airborne Section's Air Landing Committee, were scuttled by the Columbus Reds July 8 at Wildwood park by a score of 10 to 3. Despite Wyatt's five-hit pitching, the Reds scored six runs.

by popping a ball just out of the reach of Larson on the mound.

In the seventh, Armstrong became the fourth Ordnance player to reach first when he drew a base on balls, but nothing happened. After getting two out in the eighth, Larson gave up another hit on an infield dribbler by Mejia.

Finally in the ninth Larson tired. He had struck out eleven batters up to then, but his outshoot began to miss the corner, and he walked the first three men up in the ninth. After finally putting over a strike on Glover, Larson hit the batter with a pitch, forcing in a run.

Any lingering hopes the 328th might have had for a big rally were cut short then, as Dick Gerhart came in to relieve Larson. The Airborne secured the next two batters on ground balls, with a run scoring on each play. He then fanned Barnico, and the Airborne walked off the field with their last game at Gowdy Field this year.

Bullets Coast To Easy Win Over Crackers

Walter Scott was stingy with his pitching, allowing a small total of three safeties, as the Bullets coasted along to down the Alexandria Cubs 5-0 Friday night at Dyers Field. An unearned run by Lindsay in the fourth inning spoiled a shut-out for Scott. Landay was safe on an error. Julius Brown walked. Jordan Tuckett hit to Baldwin, who struck out. Coy batted. Friday scored from second.

The Bullets went into the lead by four runs in the second inning on a hit batsman, singles by Nichols and Hughes, a pass to Robinson and an error by the catcher.

ISD Slugs 328th To Make 2d Place

The 328th Ordnance fell victim to an American League team for the third straight time Sunday night, when the ISD Profs bludgeoned them, 19-3, giving the Profs second place in the post league for the season.

Pitcher Kruger of the Profs turned in another credible performance in his second turn on the mound this year, boding the hard-hitting Ordnance to six scattered hits and fanning 15. Kruger, Kruger knocked in the only legitimate run with a single into errors, three of them accruing to Glover. Smith's two-run triple in the seventh was the inning's big blow, while in the eighth, Kruger knocked in the only legitimate run with a single into errors.

Smith and Shiver, second baseman and catcher for the Profs, faced the 18 hit assault on Bo Boland, Smith picking up four hits and Shiver three. Both included a triple among their blows.

The Profs continued their scoring in three innings, picking up seven in the second, six in the seventh and five in the eighth. They got a single tally in the fourth to round out the scorings.

Ten men came to bat in the Profs' big inning, scoring while Burt got underway with a single into left. Shiver knocked him home with a triple, and then he walked and stole second, and then Smith poked the first of his three singles into right field, scoring both the runners.

Johnson banded a single into center in the second. Kruger tried to sacrifice the runners along but succeeded only in snapping a short fly to Boland for the first out of the second on strikes, taking some of the pressure off Boland, but Silcox drew a walk, took first on second on the strike, and Silcox drew a walk.

Burned Gets Single
Blondie Burnett cracked a single over the right field, scoring Smith and Johnson with runs, two and five, Silcox stopping at second. Burt hit a bounce to center at second base which fumbled long enough to put Burt on first. Silcox and Burnett were both off with the pitch, and Silcox came all the way home from second with the sixth run while Burnett rolled around to the third.

Burt started for second on the first pitch, to Shiver, and, seeing that the throw had him beaten, stopped short in the bag and started back to first. While he was being run down and tagged out of Burned scored the last run of the frame easily.

The Ordnance got one run back in the third. Glover singled to start the inning. Cline struck out. Then Armstrong hit a hit bounce, or right back to Kruger. Kruger whirled into second, trying to force Glover, but threw low and all hands were safe. Kruger's first pitch to Coy was wild and into the dirt. Burt then permitted both runners to advance. Glover moved from third two pitches later while Coy was grounding out to Smith.

Get 13 Runs

Lauve and Burnett collaborated in the fourth for the Profs' eighth run. With one out, Lauve hit a ground smash that bounced over Glover's head for a single, while Burnett scored. Boland was dealing with Silcox. Silcox finally grounded to Glover, Lauve struck out. Burt then knuckled him home with a looping single to center.

Smith's final 13 runs, scored in the seventh and eighth, by the way of an anti-climax, and were materially aided by six 328th

Full Week Ahead In Softball

The 30th Medical Group and the 78th Engineer Battalion opened up the post season last night yesterday afternoon, with the ISD and Airborne ready to meet each other today at 6 p. m.

Ten teams are entered in the post loop, which runs to August 22, after which the winning team will represent Fort Benning in the Third Army tournament to be held at Fort Jackson.

League games will be played every week-day at 6 p. m., with doubleheaders scheduled for Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Single contests will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays. All contests will be held on the home team fields.

Playoffs according to the Shaughnessy system, will be run off at the close of the season.

Here is the schedule for the coming week:

Thursday 17 July—1800 hours: ISD vs. TAB Bn.
Friday, 18 July—1800 hours: 37th Inf. vs. 83rd FA Bn.; 204th Transp. Bn. vs. 501st Prcht Bn.
Monday, 21 July—1800 hours: 1st Bn STR vs. 30th Med Gp; 78th Engr Bn vs. 83rd FA Bn.
Tuesday, 22 July—1800 hours: TAB Bn vs. 328th Ord Bn.
Wednesday, 23 July—1800 hours: 501st Prcht Bn vs. 1500th Inf; ISD vs. 204th Transportation Bn.

TWO BIG Cs—George Coy and Ollie Cline, two of the hard-hitting right-handed batters in the 328th Ordnance line-up. Coy collected four hits in the first Airborne game, while Cline hit safely in all the play-off games except the first. Both are due to be discharged at the end of the month.

Bullets Defeat Crusaders, 9-3

Chubby Pat Young, the Bullets' only undefeated pitcher, pocketed triumph number seven under the lights Monday night at Bullet Field to lead his team mates to a 9-3 win over the Columbus Crusaders.

Pat showed up brightly in victory, scoring two runs, knocking in one with a single to center in the fourth inning, striking out six Crusaders and getting on base three times in as many times at bat.

Things looked a little gloomy for the Bullets early in the battle as the visitors pushed over one runner in the second and one in the third to take a two-run lead. Charlie Brooker, first up in the second frame, took second when Griffey fielded his grounder perfectly but threw wide to first. Hardaway sacrificed but the alert Brooks pulled up at third, Jimmie Carter hit to second but the throw to the plate was wild, Jimmie the fleet-footed Brooks slid safely home. Singles by Miller and Talley and a pass to Brooks after two outs in the third gave the losers a 2-0 lead.

Having knotted the count in their half of the third, the Bullets came back in the fourth to go ahead by four runs on a many error by first-baseman C. Hard-hits, Jimmie Robinson was safe away that put Robinson on first on an error by short-stop David and a smashing three-bagger by reth. "Nick" Nichols bounced fielder's choice and Nick scored, and rolled into center field for a throw out stealing second and rounced, scoring Robinson. He then Thraskill was out shortstop and the bases were first to retire the side of wild throws and errors by the Crusaders. Young singled and took second on a perfectly cut bunt by Mike Thraskill, singles and a triple to knock in Graham was out pitcher to first three of the Bullets' runs, and as Young moved to third and score two himself.

AOCC No. 8 Develops Good Volleyball Team

Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 represents a challenge by way of a top notch volleyball team with an impressive record of seven wins and three losses.

Jim Stauffer, captain of the team, has developed a well-coordinated group that plays a fine brand of volleyball. Players on the team include Ray Rogers, Don Sie Besdile, Tom Torgerson, Don Miller, Joe Axelson, Tom Reeves, Griffey, Dean Schlueter, Jack Bishop, and Bill Clay.

Average height of each player is well over six feet, topped by Torgerson who stands six feet, four inches and Miller, six feet, three inches.

Mike shifted to second. A sharp-tit hit single to center by Hughes scored Young and Thraskill. Just to be sure, the Bullets picked up three more tallies in the fourth to go to a walk to Burke, an error by first-baseman C. Hard-hits, Jimmie Robinson was safe away that put Robinson on first on an error by short-stop David and a smashing three-bagger by reth. "Nick" Nichols bounced fielder's choice and Nick scored, and rolled into center field for a throw out stealing second and rounced, scoring Robinson. He then Thraskill was out shortstop and the bases were first to retire the side of wild throws and errors by the Crusaders. Young singled and took second on a perfectly cut bunt by Mike Thraskill, singles and a triple to knock in Graham was out pitcher to first three of the Bullets' runs, and as Young moved to third and score two himself.

Blue Sox Nip Bullets, 2-1

It was the Bullets who had the after-game blues Thursday night at Bullet Field. They were the victims of a close, heart-breaking 2-1 tacking by the Opelika Blue Sox.

The visitors took a short lived one run in the top half of the second inning, but the Bullets came back in the last half to complicate matters by shoving across a single digit to tie up the game. Nichols distinguished himself by getting the longest hit of the game and scoring the Bullets only run. Second up in the second inning hoisted a terrific triple to left field and romped home on a wild pitch to the plate.

The Bullets threatened again in the sixth inning on two consecutive hits by Guffy and Baldwin but the would-be uprising was quelled when Nichols grounded out to first. Thraskill popped to third and Griffey was thrown out stealing home, catcher to pitcher.

The winning run came in the visitor half of the sixth after two outs. Three singles in a row did the damage. Willie Bailey singled to center. Paul Leonard tagged another to right sending Bailey all the way to third. Bob Stouck hit a nice one over short and center field to score Bailey from third. The win went to Davis, while the loss was chalked up against Lawrence Hall.

Regular Weekly Midget Auto Races Set For Friday Night

Motorcycle racing, which made a decided hit with Columbus fans last week in the initial 1947 showing at Idle Hour Park, will be held again tonight at 8 p. m., with the regular weekly midget auto races scheduled for Friday night on the Phenix City track.

All of last week's motorcycle drivers are expected back and there is the strong possibility of added entries, since the speedsters fared very well financially.

The midget auto races will have an extra appeal to local fans, since most of the proceeds will be turned over to the mother of Happy Pierson, a Philadelphia racer who was killed in a recent crash in the east. Pierson traced No. 16 here early in the season. The drivers are pooling their winnings this week and the aged mother, who had depended on the racer for support.

The entire racing card will be held as usual with all the scheduled events and with the same thrills of the weekly programs. An added event will be held in the motorcycle races, with a special pursuit event claiming a $100 prize for the winner. The driver who leads last week to this special race when one of the trials was delayed due to the late arrivals of some of the contestants.

Promoter Alex Brewer, in charge of both the motorcycle and midget auto events, has assured fans the race will be run off close to time this week. Last week's slow start was due to a lack of knowledge of the part of the participants.

Last week 14 motorcycle drivers and a dozen midget racers fought it out for the honors on a slippery track, with Bob Johnson retaining enough of his laurels, but losing some when accidents

Columbus Reds Down 37th Infantry 7 To 1

The 37th Infantry Barnstormers failed to get started in a one-sided game with the fast Columbus Reds last Thursday night at Wildwood park and were defeated 7 to 1. Daugherty drove home Massey for their only run of the game in the first inning. Taking the lead 2 to 1 in the first inning, the Reds drove in three more runs in the second and one each in the third and fourth.

Former Bat Ace Student Here

Candidate Joe E. Axelson, member of Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 and the man who got three hits off Dizzy Dean during his senior year in high school, is well known here for his record in intramural baseball.

Candidate Axelson, who plays for the Student Training Regiment in the post league, doubles as student athletic-director for his class. His sports' history dates back to high school days when he earned letters for three years in football, basketball, baseball, and tennis. In addition he received honorable mention for the all-state basketball team of Illinois, played center on the all-conference football team of Chicago, and was named catcher on the all-state baseball team.

Axelson received several offers after graduation to play on big league farm clubs, however, with an eye toward becoming a sports writer he entered Northwestern University where he made the freshman squads in both basketball and football. He was one of the few first year men to win a letter.

Joe entered the Army in May, 1946, and played with the Fort McClellan baseball team during his basic training. As a future Signal Corps second lieutenant, he hopes someday to see duty as an athletic and recreation officer.

Bullets Trim Vets In 8th Inning Rally

In a free-for-all scoring game, filled with errors and frequent hitting, the Reds finally won out in the eighth inning by pushing over one run to beat the Veterans 11 to 10. The game was a see-saw affair, with the lead changing hands twice. A crowd of approximately 2,500 turned out to witness the wildest and highest scoring tile ever staged between these two teams.

The Bullets got ahead by three runs in the first inning, but like a bolt of lightning the Vets struck back in the second and before the Bullets could get around to halting them, they had tallied 8 times to take an 8-3 lead.

Four errors, and singles and a four-bagger by Palmer Sullins that brushed against the wire fence in center field turned the tide.

In the fourth frame the Bullets decided it was their time to run wild, so they did. Every Bulet chanced to bat in this inning and in doing so five runs crossed the plate to tie the game. A triple by Scott, singles by Baldwin, Isom and a double by Baker feated the rally in this inning. One 9-8. The Bullets stepped up front by a single man in the fifth inning when two runs were scored. In the sixth the Vets posted another score to tie up the ball game for the second time, this time the count being 10-10.

The Bullets put across the winning run in the eighth. Griffing got an infield bingle, stole second and third and trotted home when second baseman Johnnie Harrison threw low to first attempting to get Baldwin.

The old adage that "He who laifs last laifs best" was just what worked out for the Vets in the last half of the ninth, as Lawrence Hall bowled down to retire the first three batters. Scott, McLendon and Baker got two hits each, to pace the Bullets in winning. Hall, who took over the mound chores for Isom, who was yanked in the fifth because of a wounded thumb, was credited with the win.

Airborne Reds Defeat Burns Studio Nine, 8-3

The Airborne Reds won their second game of the second half of the softball league by defeating the Burns studio, 8 to 3. The Reds opened a torrent of hits to bring in six runs in the fourth inning and two more in the fifth. The studio team collected 10 hits off Smith pitching for the Reds, but dropped 11 hits to the Reds, off Creech with Prectex catching for the losers.

28 GAMES SET FOR POST NINE

Candidates for the post baseball team began drilling Monday for the opening Doughboy game next Thursday night, and the 27 contestants that will follow.

Capt. Herbert Bench, who will manage the team, told the squad that all positions on the team are open. Everything in the past will be forgotten, he said. The men who hustle most will be in the starting line-up, and those that don't will find themselves warming the bench, he warned.

Out working on Gowdy field were all the players picked on the manager's All-star team, plus Ken Fritchard, Hubert Martin, Gene Tkac, George Fagan, Ben Bartoszek, Army Armstrong and Bill Heiland.

After the opening against Pensacola here next Thursday, the Doughs go to Pensacola for a single game on July 26, returning to Gowdy field to play Thomson on July 28.

The team has a game scheduled on 22 of the 31 days in the month of August. Most of the games in the first part of the month are at home, and the club will be traveling in the latter part of August.

(FPS)—1. The selection of both Harry and Dixie Walker for the National League All Star team brings to mind other brother combinations of major league fame. Which listed below are not sets of brothers: Joe and Sid Gordon, Luis and Vic Lombardi, and Bobby and Gene Thompson?

2. And speaking of brothers and ball players with similar names, what do you know about Roy Chapman, who, by the way, is no relation of Phillie Manager Ben?

3. If you have been following the sports pages, you will know that Dodger star Jackie Robinson was a sensational college athlete a short while back. To what school did he go and in what sports did he excel?

4. The majority of track Aces do their best work running for amateur athletic organizations after being graduated from college, but most of them get their starts in the scholastic ranks. What colleges did the following cinder sensations attend: Leslie MacMittel, Jesse Owens, Glen Cunningham and Don Lash?

ANSWERS

1. The joke is you will forgive us, is on the reader. None of the three combinations is a pair of brothers.

2. Roy Chapman is the only ball player ever to be killed as the result of a beating. He died after being struck by a pitch thrown by Carl Mays.

3. Robinson attended U. C. L. A., where he was a basketball, football, and track star.

4. MacMittel, N. V. U.; Owens, Ohio State; Cunningham, Kansas, and Lash, Indiana.

Even though they outhit the 501st Airborne Reds 16 to 12, the 37th Infantry Barnstormers suffered their worst defeat of the season in a 11 to 6 game July 8 at Wildwood park.

With the bases loaded, the Reds' catcher, Kurtz, hit a homer deep into right field in the second inning, and in the third inning the Barnstormers allowed the Reds to raise the score four more runs on singles. Second Guessing

By MILT MOSKOWITZ

A warning to nearby Army, Navy, and Marine posts on the Fort Benning schedule would seem in order right now, as the Doughboy nine prepares to follow in the foot-steps of the football and basketball teams which represented Benning in the past year.

That the team is going to win more than it loses is a foregone conclusion. A glance at the line-ups for tomorrow night's all-star game shows that Captain Bench has enough talent to field two strong clubs.

But only nine men can play at one time, and there is necessarily going to be some good men relegated to the bench.

Capt. Beech told the squad at its opening session that the burden of proof will be on the pitchers. No team can depend upon its hitters to carry the burden all the time, as the New York Giants are finding out in recent weeks. When you come up against a top-flight hurler, you have to be ready with a stopper also.

Someone forgot to tell Noah Mejia that "Boney" Bonair, Airborne captain, had been in a hitting slump for the past month. The easy-going Trooper short-stop ruined the 326th in the second game of the series as surely as Lefty McGowan did in the opener.

He hit the important blow in the first, a bases-loaded single, and was responsible for the sixth run with his triple.

Once again Lefty Dick Gerhart proved to be unhittable against the Ordnance. He has without doubt stricken, but at least he swung and went away safely.

An utter waste of time and lights was last night's game between the 78th Engineers and Rosenberg's Jewelers. Why such games are scheduled is beyond us.

A few people in the stands (that was a sobriety of the attendance) evidently came to read newspapers. The rest of the crowd (Ha! Ha!) sought solace in ribbing the ball-players and for a change, was justified.

We think that when you schedule no more games for Gowdy field, you only hurt yourself, because the customers won't come back. Saturday's game belonged in a sandlot. Let's keep it there.

If we can't have good baseball at Gowdy field, then let's have no baseball. A little more discrimination please, and rack one strike up against the A & R office.

been the most effective hurler on the post.

Picked as second-string first baseman by the managers, Lefty Lehner will probably see more action on the mound with the post team than at the initial sack.

With Mejia in the hospital Sunday night, Bo Boland had to pitch the entire game against the 15D. He gave up 18 hits, and the next day he said he could hardly lift his arm. However, he didn't seem to tire as much as his fielders did. As the game progressed, the errors became more prevalent.

After standing up at the plate and being called out a few times on strikes, Johnny Kunchak, 326th short-stop, became a trifle upset in the second Airborne contest when he didn't see eye to eye with Umpire Hal Grinols over the calling of balls and strikes.

The end result was the expulsion of Konchak. Schmeckl kept the slab clean by going down on

Combat Vets Take Airborne Training Here

A large percentage of the men currently taking airborne training with Company G of the Airborne Battalion are combat veterans of the last war.

Representing every branch of the armed forces, these men also include a number who were either high school or college athletes.

Among combat veterans are Cpl. Vernon E. French, who served as a gliderman with the 82nd Airborne Division during most of the major European campaigns in Europe and Pfc. Joseph W. Cass, who saw action with the 7th Infantry Division.

Another battle-wise student is Pfc. Raymond L. Davis, veteran of Marine fighting in the Pacific. 1st Sgt. Rudolph G. Jones spent 11 years with the Coast Guard before enlisting in the Army, and there are numerous former Navy men also assigned to the company.

In addition to former members of the Coast Guard, Marines, and Navy, the company also has three Canadian soldiers who saw combat with the Canadian Army during the war.

Croft Heads New Service Company

Capt. Lucian C. Croft has assumed command of the newly activated Service Company of the First Battalion, Student Training Regiment, military authorities announced today.

Officials also reported that Lt. George A. Gallen will serve as executive officer, 1st Sgt. Frank Mathis as first sergeant, S-Sgt. Wilbur Green as mess sergeant, 1st Sgt. Richard Collins as supply sergeant, T-5 Morris Pegvan as company clerk, and Pvt. James W. Jackson as mail clerk.

Formerly the Casual Detachment of the 25th Infantry Regiment whose purpose was to service the student officers attending the Air Indoctrination course here, Service Company's mission will remain basically the same in that it will provide personnel to operate and maintain student officers' messes and barracks.

Thermolites May Now Use Stadium

At their regular weekly meeting last Thursday members of the "Thermolite" model airplane club of Columbus and Fort Benning were informed by Pop Austin that in the future the Memorial stadium could be used as a flying area by the club.

Mr. Austin reported that following a survey to determine the most suitable spot, the recreation department of Columbus had decided to allow use of the stadium. It is felt that the noise of the high-speed miniature planes will disturb the smallest number of people and the public will be able to watch the demonstration, he said.

Plans are now under way to enter the Ninth Air Force model airplane contest to be held at Lawson Field soon.

WD Announces Major Changes In 4 Commands

Four major changes in command were announced today by the War Department.

On Sept. 1, Thomas T. Handy, deputy Chief of Staff since October, 1944, will become commanding general of the Fourth Army at San Antonio, Tex. He succeeds Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, whose retirement for age will become effective Aug. 31. General Wainwright will reach the statutory retirement age of 64 on Aug. 23.

The new deputy Chief of Staff will be Lieut. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, wartime commander of the VII Corps and now Chief of Information, War Department.

Succeeding General Collins as information chief will be Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, deputy Commanding General of the Second Army, Baltimore, Md.

Lewis Replaces Eddy
General Eddy's post will be filled by Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Lewis, now assigned to the office of the Chief of Staff.

General Handy is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, class of 1914. He is a field artilleryman, and prior to his assignment as deputy Chief of Staff he served as Chief of the Operations Division, War Department General Staff.

Particularly during the war, the work of the Operations Division, the command post of General Marshall who was then Chief of Staff, was of paramount importance. When General Eisenhower left the Division to assume command in the European theater, he was succeeded as chief by General Handy. In this assignment, General Handy worked closely with the coordination of all War Department policies and directives affecting strategic, operational, and political matters concerning the overseas commands or the major commands in the zone of the interior.

Handy Served Here
Before the war, General Handy was commanding officer of the 76th Field Artillery Battalion (Armored) at Fort Benning. For four years prior to this assignment, he had served with the Operations Section of the War Plans Division, War Department General Staff, which later became the Operations Division.

General Collins is an infantryman, and was graduated from West Point in 1917. In 1942, General Collins was given the command of the 25th "People Lightening" Division for the campaign at Guadalcanal. Early in 1943, he led the 25th in the New Georgia operations at Buna and Vella Lavella. Transferred from the Pacific to the European Theater, General Collins was placed in command of the VII Corps for the Normandy Invasion. His Corps was the spearhead of the First Army at St. Lo; broke through the Siegfried Line at Aachen; drove across the Rhine and joined the Russians at the Elbe. Before he was named Chief of Information, General Collins was deputy Commanding General and Chief of Staff, Headquarters, Army Ground Forces.

Prior to the reorganization of the Army last year, General Eddy commanded the Third Service Command, with headquarters at Baltimore. During the war, he commanded the Ninth Infantry Division in North Africa and Sicily, led his outfit during the June, 1944, invasion of France, and shortly thereafter was given command of the XII Corps.

General Lewis formerly commanded the Military District of

As a phase of the AAF program of advanced flight training, B-29 aircraft of the AAF are taking part in a series of round-trip flights to Germany. Similar training flights have been conducted to Japan.

Washington. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois, Class of 1917, and was commissioned in the Coast Artillery Corps. In addition to his command of the Washington Military District during the war, he served on a military commission set up to try Nazi saboteurs, and was named as chief of the Supreme Headquarters mission to France.

Gen. Harper Gets New Assignment

New assignments for four general officers, including command of Air Transport Command at nearby Gravelly Point, Virginia, were announced today by Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air Forces.

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Harper, 46, of Seattle, Wash., and a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, was named commanding general of Air Transport Command, succeeding Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster.

General Webster was given command of the First Air Force at Michel Field, N. Y., succeeding Maj. Gen. Robert W. Douglas Jr.

General Douglass was assigned to the Air Training Command at Barksdale Field (Shreveport), La., succeeding Brig. Gen. Russell E. Randall, who will attend the National War College at Washington, D. C.

General Harper was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in June 1924, but began Air Corps flying training the following year. He served at various AAF stations in the Philippines, Texas, Kansas, New York, Alabama, Illinois, and at Washington, D. C., before going to the European Theater in 1944.

General Webster enlisted as a flying cadet in 1918 and, upon graduation, was commissioned a second lieutenant. He served in Florida, Texas, Illinois, New York, Alabama, Kansas, the Philippine Islands, and Washington, D. C., between the two wars, and then commanded a bombardment wing in the Mediterranean Theater during World War II, the 1st Tactical Air Force in France, and served as deputy commander of the 12th Air Force. He commanded the European Division of Air Transport Command for a year after the war ended, and last September was named Commanding General of ATC.

Bataan 'Death March' Agonies Recalled By Benning Officers

BY JOSEPH W. WRIGHT
Of all the incidents that occurred during the recent war one that is indelibly impressed on the minds of the American people is the infamous "Death March" of Bataan.

In Associate Basic course No. 4 are three officers who can give first-hand accounts of this long march and add to the horrible stories already told—tales in which they played leading roles.

It was in 1941 that Capt. Hugh E. Wendel, then a second lieutenant in the coast artillery, was sent to Corregidor. Shortly after his arrival there he volunteered for duty as an instructor in the Philippine Army, and when the Japs attacked in northern Luzon, his battalion was sent to meet the invaders at Lingayen gulf.

Surrendered at Marivelles
From there on the battalion withdrew into Bataan, and on Feb. 8, 1942 Capt. Wendel was transferred to the field artillery where he served as a battery commander. April 9, 1942 he found the American forces with their backs to the wall and Capt. Wendel's unit withdrew into Marivelles, on the southern tip of Bataan, where they surrendered.

The Japs were not altogether prepared for the mass surrender that occurred at that time and were in a belligerent mood because Corregidor and the southern islands had not followed suit. Thus with more than 100,000 prisoners on their hands the Japs started the march on the road north to San Fernando, approximately 100 kilometers.

After marching about 15 kilometers Captain Wendel and a group of 11 other prisoners made a successful break into the surrounding jungle through which they proceeded to the shore. There they found boats which took them to Corregidor.

Another officer in Associate Basic course No. 4 who remembers the "Death March" is Capt. Otis E. Saalman. He was sent to Manila in August, 1941 to serve as publicity officer on General MacArthur's staff. When the Japs landed he, too, was sent with the 57th Infantry of the Philippine Scouts to Lingayen gulf to meet them.

Suffering From Malaria
Their setbacks were the same as those suffered by Captain Wendel's unit, and on April 9, they surrendered in their battle positions just north of Marivelles. As the march started that morning Captain Saalman had little reason to expect to survive, for he was without shoes and his body was racked with malaria. On the second night, however, he decided he would either escape or be killed in the attempt. Along with his friend his efforts were successful, and after two days they arrived at the shore where they found another escapee trying to start a naval launch. They soon got it working and made their way to Corregidor.

The third member of the class who was on Bataan at the time is Lieut. Roscoe A. Sellers, the only one of the three to make the entire march. Having fought from Manila around the northern coast of the bay, Lieutenant Sellers fought himself with the others on Bataan. Like Captain Saalman, he was also suffering with an attack of malaria. Somehow he survived the eight-day march to San Fernando, where he was put into a prison camp.

When Corregidor fell, Captain Wendel and Captain Saalman were recaptured and all three spent the remainder of the war in Japanese prison camps.

O-C Survives Four Years As Jap POW

Among the many combat veterans in Army Officer Candidate class No. 12 is Lieut. Schooley Jr., a survivor of four years imprisonment by the Japanese.

Candidate Schooley entered the Army Jan. 3, 1941, at Fort Houston, Tex., and was assigned to Barksdale field, La., for Air Corps basic training. Later he was sent to Scott field, Ill., for a six-month course in radio operation and maintenance. Following graduation he went to Hamilton field, Calif.

Schooley landed in Manila on Thanksgiving Day 1941. After one week at Nichols field, he was transferred to Del Carmen field, approximately 60 miles south of Manila. When war broke out, he was evacuated to Bataan where resistance continued until April 9, 1942. After being captured, he marched to San Fernando. From San Fernando he rode in boxcars to Camp O'Daniel, where he stayed for two months.

Candidate Schooley was transferred to Cabanatuan prison, and after two years there was put to work on the air strip at Clark field. Later he was sent to Hanana, Japan, where he worked in a copper mine until liberated Sept. 2, 1945.

The young candidate returned to the States Oct. 26, 1945, exactly four years after he left. He was discharged May 19, 1946, and re-enlisted two days later.

Two Reenlist In AAF For Five-Year Periods

S-Sgt. Edwin A. West and Cpl. George B. Graves were sworn in to the Army Air Forces at Lawton field last week for a five-year enlistment, recruiting officials have announced.

Sgt. West served in the Navy during the last war, while Cpl. Graves saw duty with the 31st Field Artillery Division.

West has been assigned to the finance department and Graves to the motor pool.

TITLE CHOSEN
Members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 9 have chosen "Mission Accomplished" as the title for their class-book and have selected Ross Brown editor. Candidate Brown reports the book's lay-out and arrangements for printing completed. As a student Brown are Candidates James Young, Charles Summers, and Bernard Fryor.

One misguided G. I. recently was disappointed with Army procedure when the Separation Center failed to handle his request for a divorce.

Hale Replaces Shure As Head Chaplain Here

Lt. Col. Wallace M. Hale, recently returned from Italy, assumed the duties of Post Chaplain this week replacing Lt. Col. William C. Shure, who is leaving the Post today.

Colonel Hale was in Italy for three years as division chaplain with the 88th Infantry division, Gorizia, Italy, was his headquarters while his unit patrolled the Morgan line between Yugoslavia and Italy. Chaplain Hale was with the 88th Division for over five years, from activation through training, combat, and occupation.

Mrs. Hale joined her husband in Italy and was with him there for about a year. They have now taken quarters on the Post and Mrs. Eugene A. Callahan from Carlisle, Ark., Mrs. Hale's mother, is also with them.

Chaplain Hale comes from Kemp, Texas, where he was pastor of several churches in that vicinity. He was graduated from Baylor university in Waco, Texas, and had his seminary work at Southwestern Baptist Theological

Student Training Regiment To Get New Home Soon

Moving of the Student Training Regiment from the Harmony Church area to the main post has been tentatively set for Sept. 1. It was officially announced this week.

The move, which will depend upon how soon the post engineers can complete remodeling of the area, will put the regiment in a group of wooden buildings near Block 23.

Only three Army Officer Candidates companies remain in the regiment which produced nearly 60,000 infantry second lieutenants during the last war. The OAC classes have been shifted to Fort Riley, Kans., but the STR will continue to exist at the post as a training unit for advanced officer classes.

POST NINE DEBUT

Doughs Meet Silvertown At Gowdy Field Tonight

Opening its 28-game schedule, the Fort Benning Doughboys nine will lock horns with the Silvertown Mills team of East Thomaston, Georgia, at Gowdy Field tonight.

Saturday night Gowdy Field will be the field at 8:15 p. m. for the first game in a schedule that stretches to the middle of September, when the Doughs will enter the Third Army baseball tournament.

Assisting him as a coach is Lt. Isaac Sitcox. They have been preparing the Doughs for tonight's opening game July 14, one day after the close of the post intra-mural season.

These two contests were substituted early this week for dates originally booked with Pensacola Naval Station. The Florida base was forced to cancel its games in deference to orders that it participate in an all-Navy league.

Next Monday, July 28, the Doughboys will play their third straight home game, meeting Thomaston Mills, the team that defeated Benning by one run last year to cop the Georgia State championship.

There will be a four-day lay-off then, with the team's next game set for Saturday night, August 2, at Golden park in Columbus. The Benning nine will face the Columbus Senior League all-stars on that date.

Managing the 1947 Benning team is Capt. Herbert Beach, and

Vocational Night School Opening Set For July 28

The long-awaited opening of the Infantry Center's vocational night school is slated for July 28, it was announced today by Capt. Willard E. Chambers, information and educational officer.

The sprawling campus has undergone a complete face-lifting since the information and education section moved several weeks ago to the new location in the area formerly occupied by the reception center. Handsome hand-painted signs now grace the grounds, identifying the 11 class rooms, registration and administration buildings.

Highlight of opening night will be on-the-spot interviews with visitors and school officials which will be broadcast over a Columbus radio station from 6:45-7 p. m. Guides will take visitors on a tour of the buildings and all Fort Benning troops are invited to "look the place over," according to Capt. Chambers.

A group of qualified teachers, both on the post and from Columbus, have been engaged to teach the 30 courses offered during the summer quarter. They held their first meeting last Monday night at which time they received final instructions.

It was announced that Mrs. Grover B. Stancell, Jordan high school teacher, would head the American history department, and Miss Mildred Royal, who holds a Georgia state teachers' certificate, would teach arithmetic and algebra. Mathematics and trigonometry will be taught by Miss Evelyn Johnson, of Jordan high school.

The journalism department will be under the supervision of Douglas C. Wallace, until recently editor of the Bayonet, and now a Ledger staff reporter. Radio announcing will be taught by Joe Byers, head announcer at radio station WDAK, and public speaking will be taught by Ed Westcott, program director at WDAK.

Silk Screen Process. Mike Freland, former art student, will teach silkscreening, and T-Sgt. Leopold Boritz, who heads the commercial art department, will be the instructor of the commercial art department. Sgt. Boritz will teach an extensive art program directed at WDAK.

British Officer Arrives Today For Brief Visit

Brigadier R. H. Batten, D.S.O. of the British Army, is expected to arrive here this afternoon and begin a two-day visit to the Infantry Center, military officials said today.

Brigadier Batten will arrive by private automobile and will be accompanied by Lt. Col. W. P. Careless, also of the British Army, and Mrs. Batten. They will leave here at 9 a. m. Saturday.

At 9 a. m. Friday, Brigadier Batten will visit Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center, for a 15-minute conference. Following that he will meet with Brig. Gen. Whitfield P. Shepard, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, and at 9:25 a. m. he will visit Col. Lloyd D. Brown, coordinator of training.

Brigadier Batten and Colonel Shepard will be in the city.

Benning Mounts Go On Auction Block August 1

All Army horses in the Infantry Center stables will be sold at auction under the War Assets Administration August 1 and no private mounts can be kept at the stables after that date, it was announced this week.

The auction of 112 horses and 15 mules will be held at the stables according to present plans, and each animal will be sold individually. Anyone except members of the military service or government employees may bid at the sale. Equipment from the sonville Quartermaster's Army and Indiana while the enlisted personnel of the center will return to duty with the 25th Infantry.

15 Mules Kept. Fifteen of the 30 mules will be kept for work on the post but private mounts, of which there are nine at the stables, will be left to the care of their owners. The Infantry School owns 85 of the horses here and the remainder belong to the Quartermaster Corps.

Closing of the stables will bring to an end all polo games, hunts, horseshows and riding classes on the Post. The stables have been in the hands of the Benning since it was established although during the past war there were only a few horses here. The string was increased, however, when 100 head were received in

260 Officers Taking Training Courses Here

A two-week indoctrination course for approximately 200 organized reserve officers and a three-week air transportability course for 60 staff and faculty school officers are now in their second week here, it was announced today by Capt. Alexander Keddie, commanding officer of the Student Training Regiment's This Company to which the students have been assigned.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY

Soldier 'Rises From Dead' After 3 Days In Morgue

BY DELBERT L. BROWN
If you want to know what it's like to die as dead in a morgue for three days, Candidate Daniel L. Boone, member of Army Officer Candidate class No. 8, can give you a first-hand account.

It all happened in June, 1941, when Candidate Boone was part of an Air Corps engineer expeditionary force in Trinidad. His group was building landing strips through the jungles up the main airline routes.

On the afternoon of June 10, while in the village of Tune-Puna, Boone got in the way of a five-pound piece of quartz crystal thrown by a native who had mistaken him for an enemy.

Friends with Boone took him to the hospital at Port of Spain where doctors made every effort to revive him, but because of the seriousness of the wound and apparent absence of heartbeat, he was classified as deceased and sent to the morgue.

At the morgue officials took three pieces of string around his head to close the gap in his skull and facilitate identification, and a bottle of salt water was placed by his side so that it would run into his veins and replace the blood he had lost and supposed would not need.

Three days later, Candidate Boone, then a sergeant, came up on his slab and coolly asked the medical officer of the day for a drink of water. For the officer had recovered sufficiently from his shock, he ran yelling from stretchers and blood splashed. From then on it was a matter of close and skillful medical care, but after a long period of convalescence, Boone recovered to the extent that he was able to resume his duties with credit.

Candidate Boone still carries a memento from this experience. It is a large scar running from his left eyebrow through his hair and almost to the hair line on the nose of his neck when asked how it feels to come back from the dead, Boone merely shakes his head and says, "I was thirsty."

O-C Scheuler Wins Laudation For Versatility

By O-C JOSEPH A. AXELSON
Army Officer Candidate class No. 8 has a versatile candidate in Carl Scheuler, who is both an excellent athlete and student. Carl Scheuler, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., and a graduate of Tech high school there, pitched three years for a winning baseball team, operated his own photography shop, and still found time to maintain an excellent scholastic record and participate in various school activities. He was a past member of the National Honor Society, active in the Radio Code club, and president of the chess club his senior year.

Scheuler entered the Army Specialized Training Program in June, 1940, and was enrolled in the engineering college at Rutgers University. There he had a little time for extra-curricular activities, but got an opportunity to help design three parabolic reflecting type mirrors, a pretty tricky job.

He served active service in January, 1940, and took basic training at Camp Crowder, Missouri, from there to Walter Reed General Hospital for dental technician training. Upon completion of this training, he was assigned to the neuro-psychiatry clinic at Pratt General hospital in Miami, Fla., for five months prior to coming to Officer Candidate school.

Candidate Scheuler is taking his commission in medical administration.

84 Graduate From AOCC 7

Certificates of commission were awarded to 84 members of Army Officer Candidate class No. 7 last Saturday morning during graduation ceremonies in the Harmon Church amphitheater.

Following the invocation by Chaplain (Capt.) Daniel P. Jenkins, Col. Hamilton Thorn, director of officer candidates, delivered the principal address. Col. Irvine Sudder, commanding officer of the Student Training Regiment, awarded the certificates.

Last man to receive his commission was Charles G. Pate, the class honor graduate, veteran of several Army service and former cavalryman who wears the Bronze Star with cluster, Purple Heart with cluster, ETO ribbon with four battle stars and bronze arrowhead, and French, Belgian and Dutch citations.

There is probably no hell for Army newbies, they suffer no more than of civilians.

training both in this country and in Europe. Prior to entering the Army he worked as a commercial artist for two years and his illustrations have appeared in such magazines as Esquire.

Dramatics under the direction of Miss Martha Thompson, drama graduate from the University of Texas, will also be offered during the summer quarter. Joseph Billa, who played with an Army band for 31 years and who now has a private school of music, will teach instrumental music.

Printing will be taught by Zimmerman W. Smith, reproduction plant printing section head, while bookbinding will be taught by Simon, head of the head of the binding section at the reproduction plant.

Future Plans
Miss Mamie Truett, of the Jordan high school commercial department, will teach typing, and Mrs. Rhea Byrd, Opportunity school teacher, will instruct students in shorthand, bookkeeping, and accounting.

Future plans call for the opening of a well-equipped photography section. Officials said, however, that this course will likely not be offered before the fall quarter, which opens in September.

Meanwhile, James Redden, director of the vocational school, has been laying final plans for the courses and Mike Felsinger, registrar, has been preparing to enroll more than 250 students for this quarter.

In addition to the vocational school, the post information and education section also operates a subordinate United States Armed Forces Institute registration center, the only such organization in the Army today.

Other educational opportunities offered by the section to troops stationed here is the general educational development test. It is planned at a later date to offer vocational tests to all troops who feel that they would like to analyze their occupational aptitudes. Both the vocational and GED tests are prepared by leading American universities. The department is headed by Alan L. Shields, a graduate of the Information school at Carlisle Barracks and a former student at the University of Missouri.

Post Chaplains Plan Observance Of Corps Birthday

Special services and appropriate ceremonies will be conducted this week end at all Post chapels as the chaplains join the other military personnel in celebrations of the 172nd Anniversary of the Chaplains Corps of the United States Army.

Since first recognized in the United States Army, chaplains have played a highly important part in the spiritual and religious life of the American soldier.

The Bayonet, Columbus, Ga., July 24, 1942

Three

Over 8,000 chaplains were commissioned during the past war, where their importance was highly established as spiritual teachers and leaders of men in combat.
Chaplains were first given legal status in the United States Army July 23, 1770, when Congress gave first official recognition with a fixed pay of twenty dollars a month. General George Washington's constant and never ending support in the religious efforts of his men and discouragement of improprieties among the troops did much to establish a respect for religion and personal integrity from whence the Chaplain Corps was born.

Air Force Day—1947

August 1 is the birthday of the United States Army Air Forces.

On that day, in every section of the United States and throughout the world, citizens from every walk of life will join the Army Air Forces in the observance of its fortieth birthday. President Truman has proclaimed August 1, Air Force Day, and realization of the importance of the AAF in safeguarding national security has brought to AAF units voluntary offers of assistance and co-operation from many civic organizations in planning local anniversary observances. Air demonstrations are planned by most bases and luncheons and banquets will be held in many places.

Lawson Field will commemorate the anniversary on Thursday, July 31, for the convenience of citizens of Columbus and vicinity, since that day is a half holiday for workers. The celebration will include an all-day open house, special demonstrations, displays, radio programs and a banquet.

Next Friday the AAF can turn the clock back forty years to 1907, when it was born as the Aeronautical Division of the Signal Corps, with a strength of one officer and two military aviators, but upon a long list of outstanding contributions to Army aviation.

The experiences of World War II and the growing smallness of the world give great significance to the basic theme of Air Force Day, "Air Power Is Peace Power." In our common search for world security we must support adequate air forces and two important elements which contribute to air strength—a virile aviation industry and an expanding program of research and development. The advance of air power depends directly on the progress of science, and today, in peace as in war, the Army Air Forces continue to lead the field in new developments for aviation.

It is said that life begins at forty, and this could be true of the Army Air Forces—for today the AAF stands on the threshold of its greatest aeronautical advancement. The AAF, with the aid of a grateful nation, looks to the future, confident that the years to come will be as full as the forty gone by.

Honor your Army Air Forces for the important work they do for the nation—and for you!

"BAPTISM"

by
Chaplain Emmett G. Jones
"Except a man be born of water and of the spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God." St. John 9:5.

The immigrant may come into this country and receive all the benefits and the protection of the United States Government without being compelled to take out citizenship papers. He may become prosperous and successful in every way and still not be a fellow American. Just so are the people who live in a Christian atmosphere and environment but have never taken out citizenship in the kingdom of God by being baptized.

The first commandment of Christ to the Apostle was to go into all the world and baptize in the name of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

Baptism to the early church people meant the burial of their past sinfulness and the beginning of a new experience. The New Testament is full of evidence of this. St. Philip did not leave the Ethiopian with pleasant words but he baptized him. St. Paul, after his conversion, also was baptized, as were Cornelius the centurion, and the jailer in Philippi. The Epistles, letters of instruction written to the early congregations, refer to baptism as something about which there can be no question. The first disciples would have been astounded at the idea of a baptismal promise to a Christian without first being baptized.

In baptism we are formally admitted into the church and become citizens of the kingdom of God. It reclaims the door into the spiritual realm which the masses operate. In it we become members of Christ, children of God, and heirs of the kingdom of Heaven. All persons here are not baptized, St. Peter says, "Repent and be baptized." Those of you who have not been baptized, quit reaping the benefits of another's sowing. See your chaplain today and do something about this commandment of the Christian church. Those of you who have been baptized, re-see your baptismal promise and go forward all together as fellow heirs with Christ of the kingdom of Heaven.

Your Red Cross

By MURRAY E. HILL

(Ed. Note: This is the first in a series of articles dealing with the general activities of the field chapter at Fort Benning. Watch for it each week in your Bayonet.)

The Red Cross staff here has been very busy the past ten days making a whirlwind speaking tour over the whole post. Members addressed both officers and enlisted men, and if you did not hear them, you will be interested in the column today.

The staff is endeavoring to carry a personal invitation to every enlisted man and officer to use the Red Cross office whenever in need of service or advice.

If you have been thinking that a lack of money is the soldier's greatest problem, you will be interested to know that out of 1,600 cases handled at your Red Cross office last month, only 125 needed financial assistance. A great many of our remainder needed no action at all, for, in many instances, the thing that helped most was just having someone to whom to talk.

Perhaps you are one of those men nibbling at your peace of mind. If that's the case, we urge you to come in and talk it over with one of our staff. You will find them interested in what you have to say and helpful in their advice. Their experience in dealing with similar problems may be most valuable to you in your own case.

There are two things to remember about the Red Cross. First, you can get in touch with anyone to come to the Red Cross office. Second, and equally important, you can and what you disclose, is held in strict confidence. No information concern-

THE WALLS OF JERICHO

Here is a novel by Paul Wellman of the early twentieth century which works hard to catch the whole impression of the era and at the same time weaves the material of the impression into an interesting plot.

Wellman's impression is interesting and well worth reading. He presents the plot he draws forth really in most cases to show the entire situation, but sometimes the plot fails to jell into an honest story.

The essential plot concerning five principal characters is well done as an explanation of how one powerful woman, Algeria Wedger, wife of Tucker Wedger, the town's newspaper editor, reacts the life of her husband and presents the plot he draws forth really in most cases to show the entire situation, but sometimes the plot fails to jell into an honest story.

The author's keen ability to draw the character of Algeria shows fine training and understanding of the dominating woman who can carefully scheme to gain her own wants by subtly influencing other people without so much as revealing her own hand in the affair. Playing the opposite type of wife, Belle who is also a well-drawn character as the woman who has been under the rule of her mother so long that even marriage proves no escape and her value as a wife is proved in the end. Belle who proves incapable of social polish, companionship to her husband with Dave Constable.

Through the weakness of Belle, Algeria is able to force a split between her case is given out to anyone without your permission, and Army regulations aid the Red Cross in solving your files. Your Red Cross worker knows and knows as much as any doctor, lawyer, or priest. You can and will keep your problem to yourself as well as any other professional man.

We urge you to visit our main building on Vibbert avenue and across from the stadium. Come in and get acquainted with the staff. Let us assist you with your burdens. No problem is too large for us to try to help you with and most careful attention will be given to disclose, is held in strict confidence. No information concern-tween Tucker Wedger and Dave Constable and also nearly to ruin the political career of Dave, who plays the role of a politician extremely virtuous in his politics.

Julia, a lawyer, of the story, young character to describe because she somehow lacks the reality given to the other two leading females of the story. She seems too sweet, too understanding and too full of justice to be convincing. Yet, even while she is in love with Dave and knows that her love is returned, never does she consider Belle. True, Belle is not a wife to deserve consideration, but whether or not this is true does not seem to occur to Julia who otherwise is very concerned with justice.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

HEARTACHES (mystery) with Edward Norris and Sheila Ryan. People are always threatening to kill movie crooners because of their singing. This crooner's life is threatened because he can't sing a note. Recommended for family.

JUNGLE FLIGHT (adventure) with Robert Lowery, Ann Savage and Barton McLane. Trying to operate a cargo-flying service over South American mountains was tough enough for Lowery. Getting involved in the quarrel between Ann Savage and her ex-husband didn't improve matters any. Recommended for family.

BRUTE FORCE (prison melodrama) with Burt Lancaster, Hume Cronyn, Charles Bickford and Yvonne De Carlo. When a prison policy of brute force collides with the prisoners' insatiable thirst for freedom, the resultant explosion of violence, bloodshed and hate will blast you out of your seat. Recommended for mature.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS (melodrama) with Jean Mills and Valerie Hobson. A two-hour telling of Dickens' novel of witches and convicts, malice and young love, lawyers and judges of 19th century London. It's a strange and emotional telling of a strange and troubled story; peopled with a vast number of eccentrics, some of them charming, some of them spiteful, some brutal, but all interesting. Recommended for family.

PACIFIC ADVENTURE (air adventure) with Ron Randall, Muriel Steinbeck, and John Tate. This is the story of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, his record breaking round-the-world flight, his air conquest of the Pacific, and his fight against the indifference of those who failed to understand the importance of his pioneer flights. Recommended for family.

WYOMING (western) with William Elliott, Vera Ralston, and John Carroll. Faced with the loss of grazing lands caused by the steady arrival of farmers, the cattlemen resort to armed force to hold the land. Another story of the bringing of law and order to a young and violent land. Recommended for family.

A wife is a woman who stands by you through all the troubles you wouldn't have had if you weren't married in the first place.

Buffet Supper Honors Roberts, Leaving Post

Major and Mrs. Jack E. Street honored Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul E. Roberts at a buffet supper party recently. The event was given at a farewell party for the Roberts who have left the post.

Colonel Roberts is going to China to duty and will be joined there by his wife.

For the party held at their quarters, Mrs. Street decorated a buffet table with arrangements of dried dwarf sinias and matching candles used in hudson crystal bowls and candelabra.

Other guests for the event were Col. and Mrs. Charles Crawford, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Herbert Eitt, Major and Mrs. William McDowell, Major and Mrs. F. V. Watson, Major and Mrs. Steve Morrissey. Major and Mrs. Morrissey have also left the Post and are now visiting in Connecticut before leaving for his new assignment in Germany and Mrs. Maysey will return to Columbus after her husband leaves the States.

Relatives, Friends Here As Guests Off H. M. Grizzards

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry M. Grizzards have had several houseguests at their quarters recently and are now entertaining Col. and Mrs. R. V. D. Murphy and Colonel Grizzards' cousin, Miss Dorothy Brown, of Fort Worth, Texas.

Colonel and Mrs. Murphy arrived Wednesday and will leave for San Francisco, Calif. They have just returned from taking Miss Brown as far as her home.

Last week Colonel Grizzards' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Grizzard, and their young son, Michael, arrived from Fort Worth with Miss Brown. They left Monday morning to return to their home by plane. This was the first time Colonel Grizzard and his brother had seen each other in five years.

During the visit of his brother, Colonel and Mrs. Grizzard entertained at a picnic party in the yard of their quarters and Sunday evening they were hosts at a cocktail party held in the yard.

Luncheon Fetes Mrs. J. S. Lawrie

Mrs. John N. Davis complimented Mrs. Lawrie at a delightful luncheon party Friday at the Officers' club. The table was set on the club porch and decorated with mixed flowers in crystal bowls.

Mrs. Lawrie has left the Post to join her husband, Lt. Col. Joe S. Lawrie, in Washington, D. C., where he is now stationed.

Guests at the luncheon presented the honoree with a lovely going-away gift. Those present were the hostess and Mesdames John Erickson, Clyde Russell, George Grunwald, Patrick Cassidy and Irwin Edwards.

"Yes, she's beautiful, and I like those blue and white gowns she wears."

"Whattya mean, biblical gowns?"

"The low and behold kind."

Couple Leaving Post Honored

Major and Mrs. William R. Lynch Jr. and Capt. and Mrs. Harry C. Sines were co-hosts Friday evening at a buffet supper to honor Capt. and Mrs. Maurice Pennington. The event was held at the quarters of Major and Mrs. Lynch and also attending were Major and Mrs. William T. Sabin.

Captain and Mrs. Pennington left the Post Saturday to go to Jacksonville, Fla. The captain is now separated from the Army and is going to work in Florida.

Couple Visit Here During Golf Play

Maj. and Mrs. John F. Holt from Shaw Field at Sumter, S. C. have been houseguests at the quarters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. V. D. Cole this week. They drove over from Sumter last Saturday and Major Holt has been participating in the Tactical Air Force golf tournament played here.

During their visit, the Holts were entertained at several social events as the Coles invited friends for the evening; Saturday evening they were at the Officers' club.

Colonel Cole and Major Holt were at the university of Arkansas together and both played on the football team there.

PROCESSION LEADER—No matter who the distinguished visitor happens to be—Viscount Montgomery, General Eisenhower, or foreign diplomats—the 204th provides the lead vehicle with the "follow me" sign in the appropriate language. M-Sgt. William Shannon is pictured with the jeep.

KEEP 'EM ROLLIN'—That's the motto of the 33rd Truck Company, and apparently that's what Col. Office Adkins has in mind as he replaces the transfer case bracket bells on this two and one-half ton truck.

GAS UP TIME—Vehicles of the 27th Car Shuttle Group queue up for the regular filling station service. These vehicles are used by Infantry School troops.

IN THE GREASE PIT—M-Sgt. William Shannon shows that the grease pit is useful for other purposes as he tightens the nuts on this weapons carrier.

204th Truck Battalion Plays Important Role At Benning

Just as the queens of old were once dependent upon their handmaidens for both their necessities and luxuries, so are the personnel and organizations of Fort Benning dependent upon the 204th Transportation Truck Battalion. This organization, under the command of Lt. Col. Jesse F. Wheeler Jr. from Saco, Maine, is the answer to any transportation problem on the Post from the moving of the troops for a problem, to a bus load of lovelets for the Service club dance or a load of rich earth for a flower bin in front of the Post library.

The battalion, made up of both colored and white units, has given over a million and a half miles of service in the last four months. This is an average of 500 miles per vehicle per month, or equivalent to encircling the globe 125 times a year. Such is the service made possible by the careful servicing and maintenance of the 701 vehicles assigned to the battalion, which includes trucks, buses and jeeps.

Has 8 Companies
Consisting of six companies, oldest of which is the 33rd, the battalion was part of the Academic Motor Pool in 1942. Originally trained in preventive maintenance and convoy discipline, the drivers now concentrate on efficient service to the peacetime army.

The present, well-cared-for motor lot and standard equipped shops were a sea of mud when M-Sgt. William A. Shannon, operations sergeant, joined Gen. Oscar W. Griewold's 29th Infantry Regiment in 1942. A great deal of improvement has taken place under Sergeant Shannon.

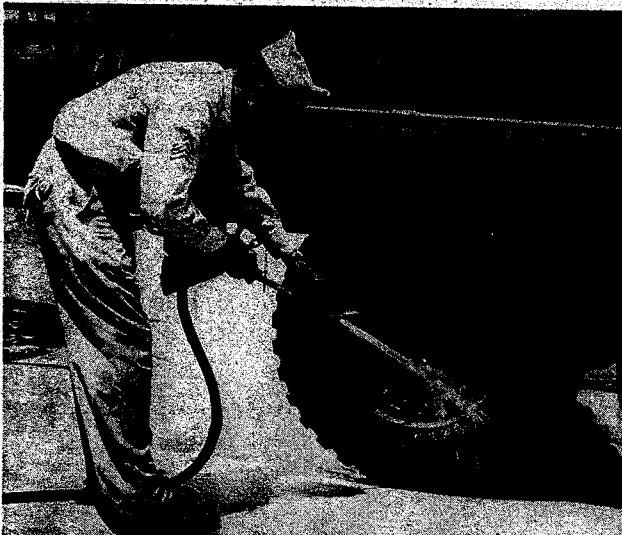

Now with the well-equipped shops, the 33rd Transportation Battalion maintains and services the 29 buses that furnish inter-post transportation. These buses are also used by the Service clubs in transporting young ladies from nearby towns to the dances and other entertainment programs on the Post for military personnel.

Charged with the maintenance and operation of 31 buses that carry classes of officers for the Infantry School is the 663rd Transportation Truck Company. Despite its long hours, the unit has one of the lowest accident records in the Army.

Combat Background
The only company with a combat background in the battalion is the 396th, which was activated at Fort Knox, Ky., Nov. 20, 1943. It landed at Omaha beach August 10, 1944, and assumed the responsibility as a unit of the famous Red Ball line, supplying ammunition to the Third Army at the front. In February, 1945, to relieve the strain on the newly set-up "ABC" line similar in operation to the Red Ball, the 866th was transferred to the run through Luxembourg to Bastogne.

The 27th Car-Transportation Company boasts the unique combination known as a "shuttle group." Patterned after the "rent-a-car" garage system, this company furnishes vehicles for the Infantry School "sams"-drivers. Mostly jeeps, these vehicles are shuttled home every evening where they are serviced and readied for the Infantry School the next morning.

The 668th is the newest unit arrival at the Main Post. Originally housed at Harmony Church area, it has been moved to the quarters formerly occupied by the 504th Company, which has disbanded. It is a colorful component of the battalion and will continue to function as a unit.

Army Air Forces Set 33 Records Since V-J Day

Thirty-three international and national records have been established by the Army Air Forces since V-J Day in a program designed to capture all possible flying records for the AAF.

The program was initiated to put all standard AAF aircraft through a series of severe tests to determine the capabilities of first-line weapons in use by AAF units. Types of aircraft included the Boeing B-29 Superfortress, the Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star, the North American P-51 Twin Mustang, Douglas A-26 Invader and the Sikorsky R-5 helicopter.

Most of the international records had been held by other nations such as France, Italy, Russia and Germany. Of the U. S. national records, most had been held by either experimental military aircraft or by specially designed civilian types.

This program is the first planned attempt to capture the majority of the more important records using standard military aircraft. The AAF has purposely avoided the use of new or experimental airplanes in the program in order to determine a comparative quality of its standard equipment. Since the program was inaugurated, the AAF has accepted delivery of a number of new aircraft such as the Convair B-34 and the Douglas C-74, which are capable of even greater performance.

Helicopter Record

Of the records now held by the AAF, 25 existing international and the U. S. national records were broken, four international records were established, and one flight of approximately 5,000 miles.

Another outstanding accomplishment was the pioneering flight of the Pacusan Dreamboat over the polar wastes. The giant Boeing B-29 Superfortress, piloted by Col. Clarence S. Irvine, flew from Hanoi to Castro over the new route in 39 hours and 36 minutes last October. While the Pacusan Dreamboat's flight broke no distance record, it provided the AAF with invaluable data for use by the very long-range bombers of the future.

Doughboys Ready For Opener Tonight

Probable Nine Named By Bench, Team Manager

Youth and experience are combined on the starting Benning lineup that will face Silvertown Mills tonight in the Doughboy opener.

Capt. Herbert Bench, team coach, named his probable starting line-up Tuesday morning, stating however that it was subject to change, depending on the outcome of Tuesday night's all-star game.

Three returnees from last year's Doughboy team were listed by Captain Bench. They are Blonied Burnett, who will hold down third base, Woodrow Hurt, left-fielder, and George Dickson, centerfielder.

Center: Leo Mark

All three finished up the season at marks better than 400, with Hurt having the best figure at 433. Only one, Dickson, is playing at the position he played during the intramural season. Burnett was the ISD shortstop and Hurt was the centerfielder for the same team.

The third Doughboy outfielder will be Herb Lauve, sprightly ISD right-fielder and first baseman during the intra-mural play.

In the infield Lefty McGowan will be at first base, Bob Kinard at second, and Paul "Booney" Bonari at short. This is the Airborne combination that clicked off more double plays than any other team in the Post League.

Stolen Base Leader

McGowan, one of the fastest men on the squad, batted .350 over the season, and led the league in stolen bases during the second half. Bonari hit over .420 in the first half of the season, but was in a slump in the latter part. Kinard is perhaps the surest fielder on the team and a vicious clutch hitter.

Behind the plate the Benning nine will have plenty of spunk, as Tom Gallagher will be wearing the mask and pads. An alert catcher, Gallagher has a good arm and chimes in with timely base knocks.

Captain Bench could not name the starting pitcher for the Doughs Tuesday morning, as he wanted to see them work in Tuesday's game first. It might be Dick Gerhart, Lefty Lehner, or Ken Watts.

4-Letter Man

Captain Bench has a wide background in athletics, both in and outside the Army. He graduated from Springfield State Teachers' College (Missouri) in 1939, where he was a four-letter man. He was offered a contract with the Springfield Cardinals, a Class C team, but he decided to accept a coaching job at Springfield instead. He coached basketball, baseball, and track at his alma mater, playing semi-pro ball in the summers.

He entered the Army Air Corps in June 1941 as an enlisted man, and his first assignment was at the Portland Air Base in Oregon. He participated in three sports while he was there, football, basketball, and baseball.

From there he went to Chico, Calif., for six months, entering OCS at Miami Beach, Florida, in May of '42. Graduating as a lieutenant in the Air Corps, Captain Bench was sent to Santa Anna, Army Air Base in California as a PT instructor. He was later a PT director at the Army Air Force Base Unit in Lancaster, Calif., spending two years and three months in this desert area. He played baseball and basketball while he was there.

4 Years In Army

After a short time at Minter Field, California, where he played basketball with a barnstorming team, he went overseas to the Pacific theater.

Upon returning from overseas he played baseball in 1946 with the Mather Field Flyers at Sacramento, Calif., and this past winter he played basketball with a sporting goods team in Greensboro, North Carolina, where he was stationed.

In his six years in the Army, Captain Bench has played four years of baseball, five years of basketball, and one of football. He came down to Benning last March to take Airborne training, graduating in May. He was then assigned to the Airborne Battalion and is now company commander of Company E.

Airborne Holds Victory Banquet

Members of the Airborne Battalion baseball team were feted at a banquet at the Goo-Goo restaurant in Columbus last week which breaks with all the trimmings were served.

Following the dinner Capt. James L. Walker, coach of the team, gave a short talk and presented Lt. Col. Paul F. Smith, Airborne Battalion commander, with a baseball autographed by all members of the team.

In accepting the ball, Colonel Smith expressed appreciation for the enthusiasm, fine spirit and sportsmanship displayed throughout the 1947 season by the members of the team and wished them the best of luck in their pursuits in the future.

Paul Bonari, team shortstop, expressed appreciation for having been selected captain of the team; and other members of the team upon to give their opinions concerning the highly-successful season in which the Airborne team won 24 out of 25 games played in the Post League.

The 1947 championship makes the second in succession for the Airborne since they are also holders of the 1946 league pennant.

Appearances are so deceiving at times. Consider, for example, the gal who puts up a grand front in social circles but is a flat bust at home.

What a difference marriage makes in a man. Before, he years for a woman; afterward the "W" is silent, it is the man.

Applications For Army Golf Tourney Still Being Accepted

Applications for the Army-wide golf tournament schedule for Fort Benning in August are coming into the post from all over the country, as well as from camps overseas.

The four-man team to represent Benning on the tourney will be chosen this week-end in a 54-hole medal elimination play. Post personnel interested in competing must have their applications submitted to Frank Goss, Officers' club pro, by 2 p. m. tomorrow, July 25.

Deadline for the championship tournament applications has been set for July 25, but they will be accepted up to Aug. 12, the opening day, provided the capacity of the course has not been exceeded.

The following are the names of some of the applicants:

Sgt. Joseph E. Edelman, an ROTC instructor at Clemson Agricultural College in South Carolina. He won national championship of the Country Club in Gainesville, Fla. in 1942, and was a member of the winner of the Second Division, Eighth Air Force tourney held at Norwich, England, in 1945.

Lt. William B. Nicell from the Atlanta Ordnance depot.

Sgt. Robert V. Edmonston and Lt. George F. West from the Atlanta Ordnance depot.

Col. Saunter J. Adams from the Finance Office at Fort Monroe, Va. He was the winner of the fourth flight in the senior tournament of the Texas Golf association held at the San Antonio Country club in 1945.

Sgt. Joseph E. Robison Jr., from Third Army headquarters. He was golf director at Fort Meade in 1940-41, and participated in the Municipal Golf Tournament in 1935, winning the second flight in the James L. Key Third Army and the fifth flight in the Bobby Jones course.

Sgt. Raymond Colton, representing the Far East Command. He is 21 years old and went to the U. S. C. Cadet Robert Ward, USMA, the winner of the 1947 Korea golf tournament and placed sixth in the all-Pacific Army golf tournament in Hawaii last May.

T-4 Donald Spomer, 20, comes from Lincoln, Nebraska, and attended the University of Nebraska. He was the winner of the all-Japan Army golf tournament and was runner-up in the all-Pacific tourney in Hawaii.

Cpl. Jack Walton, 19, hails from Memphis, Tenn., and was the winner of the all-Pacific tourney held in Hawaii.

Pfc. William Ferguson, 19 from Malone, Iowa, was the winner of the 25th Division golf tournament and was a member of the all-Pacific team which won the all-Pacific meet.

Others expected to participate are: Maj. Glen E. L. Parks, from

Bulletin

The Tactical Air Command's golf championship went to Col. Francis E. Kelly of Langley field, Va., Tuesday when he came in first on the final 18-hole qualifying tourney with a score of 75 on the Officers' club course.

Monday he finished the first 18 holes in 74, and nested out Sgt. R. H. Frank, of March field, Calif., who shot a nest 78 Monday and 78 Tuesday, by one point.

Tuesday Col. Kelly was lagging several points behind Frank all the way to the 17th hole where he finally tied him. His worse moments came on the fourth when he ran into difficulty and lost three shots on a par four.

Both men will represent TAG in the Army golf tournament in the Army Club at Maxwell Field, Ala., in the ASAF meet at Maxwell Field, Ala., the latter part of August.

NAMED AS STARTERS—Blondie Burnett, Herb Laue and Paul Bonair, three of the probable starters in the Benning line-up tonight against Silvertown Mills. Blondie will be at the hot corner, Laue in right field, and Bonair at short.

By MURRAY HARDING

After nearly two weeks of arduous practice the 1947 version of the Fort Benning Doughboys, baseball edition, will get a chance to put their learnings to practical use tonight when they open their season against Silvertown of Thomaston, Ga.

This will be a fast, aggressive Doughboy team. Captain Bench, the boss, has laid the emphasis on running right from the start. On the first day of practice he had the hitters sprint around the bases for time after they had their swats. The times revealed that what everyone has suspected was true, namely, that the Airborne had the fastest team on the post. Dick Gerhart took early honors when he was clocked in 15.5 seconds for the 120 yard dash, but the next day he was bumped into the place position. Paul Bonair cutting his time to 15.3. The other Buddy Youngs were Frank MacGowan, 15.9; George Dickson, 15.8, and Ken Pritchard, 15.8. A good many others finished right around the sixteen second mark. Blondie Burnett and Army

Doyle Feeler knicked him twice. Later on Gene Tzag got him with a stray cross-fire or two. George Fagan scared everyone one day while taking batting practice. George was standing in the box, placing his feet and straightening the trade mark on his bat when the pitcher cut loose. George never looked up and the throw, a high inside toss, whipped his cap right off, barely missing the Fagan cranium. George watched him like a hawk after that. Paul Bonair picked up a slight hurt during Sunday morning's session. Going after a low throw to second, he missed the hop, and it took him on the point of the thumb, spraining same. He broke the thumb once before, making it twice as susceptible to injury. Fagan, consequently, spent much time on the sidelines Monday, where he amused himself by verily giving away the A&R office piece by piece to a group of kids hanging out of the grandstand, clamoring for equipment.

George Dickson has really been pounding the ball in his times up, and looks to be as good as ever in the field. Woody Burt has been another fence buster in practice. John Leitch's throwing arm has caused comment. Captain Bench seems to have uncovered another pitcher in the person of a Lieutenant Smith. Smith is a monstrous 6-foot 5-inch, 235 lbs.) right hander, who had some experience with the Boston Braves. He hasn't worked into shape yet, but will see action later.

Jack Forbes, the only conspicuous absentee, is on furlough in Brooklyn, where he has been keeping in shape by working out with the Dodgers, his civilian bosses. According to reports, the Dodgers are very pleased with Jack and would like to keep him around the place this year. But Uncle Sam has other plans. The overall picture is bright indeed for the onrushing season, and you may well expect to see the Doughs well above the 500 mark at the end of their 30-odd games. We'd like to see the attendance well over the 500 mark for tonight's opener, too. It'll be an error on you if you miss it.

We've got enough space left to eat our words of a couple of weeks back, when we stated (and we thought we were doing so well, too), that the Airborne wouldn't take two in a row from the Ordinance, considering the swallows. It looks as though we might just as well begin salting our rash statement of last spring when we said the Chicago Cubs would win the National League pennant. Of course, there's still hope, but it does look a trifle as though the Bruins were dredging the bottom of the barrel when they bring up an outfielder from Des Moines of the western leagub and give him a starting job in the outfield the day he arrives. Rumer hath it that this outfielder, named Cliff Abern-son, was brought up to discourage him from playing professional football with the Green Bay Packers, who own a piece of Mr. Abern-son also.

The bride, walking down the aisle of the church, said: "It won't be wrong now."

Former Golden Gloves Champ Seeks Benning Challengers

BY GLANN D. COVERT
If fight fans on the post are interested in seeing a display of boxing ability and technique, they will be invited to find a worthy opponent for 17-year old Pvt. Dale Kermode, of the Airborne Battalion's Company G, a young fighter who for the last five years has been building a reputation as a fast, hard-hitting flyweight and featherweight.

Kermode began his pugilistic career at the age of 12, in Lincoln, Neb., when he entered the inter-city boxing tournament. Although he was defeated in the semi-final round, he continued to prepare himself for the ring. In the year that followed had health prevented an intensive fighting program; however, when Kermode was 14, he made a vigorous effort to bring home the fighting game of which police had deprived his father years ago. In his renewed effort he won the inter-city tournament in the flyweight class and the following year he again won the inter-city title and the Golden Gloves championship in the flyweight class.

At 15 he had started on the road to fame and success. His age and ability had made him the idol of fight fans, and his name on fight cards was much in demand as he slowly soared to new successes. At the age of 16 he punched his way to the Golden Gloves championship in the flyweight class.

Kermode joined the Army soon after the National Golden Gloves tournament but was discharged six months later because he was under 18. When he reached the age of 17, he secured the consent of his parents and again enlisted in the Army. While assigned to the Sixth Army, Kermode won that Army's featherweight championship. The Sixth Army champions fought the Pacific Fleet champions a short time later, and Kermode de-

BARNSTORMERS WIN

The 37th Infantry Barnstormers continued their winning ways as they humbled the Buras Studio softball club 10-2 Thursday night, July 17, at Wildwood park. J. Harris, toing the mound for the winners, yielded but three hits, while his teammates collected seven swats.

EFFORTS REWARDED—Major Gen. John W. O'Daniel awarding championship trophy to Capt. Paul Walker, airborne manager, at ceremonies preceding Tuesday night's all-star game. Standing in the rear are Lt. Isaac Sileo and Blondy Burnett, manager and captain respectively of the ISD, runner-up team in the post intramural league.

Swimmers Go To AAU Meet

Lt. Walter H. Murphy is taking an eight-man team with him to Birmingham, Ala., Saturday to compete in the Southeastern AAU swimming and diving championships to be held at Cascade Plunge.

This will be the first test for the Benning swimmers, who will defend their 1946 championship in the Third Army tournament at Fort McPherson on August 26, 27, and 28.

A post swimming meet is planned for August 13 at Russ Pool, when the Benning team will be picked. The team practices every afternoon, except Friday, and Lt. Murphy is still asking for troops.

Among those making the trip to Birmingham will be Pfc. Donald F. Lyons, from the 501st Parachute Battalion, who will compete in the 100-yard breast stroke; Pfc. Keith Petrie, from Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 37th Infantry, whose specialty is the 100-yard back stroke; Pfc. James Orff, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, the 37th Infantry, who will enter the 100-yard free style; Pvt. Harold Lutz, Company H, ISD, competing in the 3-meter diving event; Pfc. Malcolm Greenidge, Company A, 501st Parachute Battalion, and Capt. William G. Thomas, Company H, ISD, both in the 50-yard free style; and Pfc. Ledyard Avery, Company E, TABE, entering in the 200-yard free style.

Lieutenant Murphy, the team coach, will also compete in the 200-yard free style relay and 300-yard individual medley.

Barnstormers Defeat ISD With Late Rally

Staging a last inning rally, the 37th Infantry Barnstormers ousted the ISD softballers 10-9 in a free-hitting affair Tuesday night, July 15, at Rose Hill park.

After the Raiders tallied four markers in their half of the seventh to forge ahead 9-8, the Barnstormers chalked up a pair of runs in the final stanza to win.

Beckett and Harris paced the victors' attack with three hits apiece, while Bock and Corey garnered two hits each to lead the victims.

R And R Club Loses To Airborne Reds, 1-0

Still smarting from a trouncing Tuesday night at the hands of the City team, the Airborne Reds eked out a 1-0 win over the R & R Club Thursday night, July 7, at Wildwood park.

Budd tallied the only run for the victors, stealing home on a slow throw after banging out a triple. The losers were set down with two lone bingles, one each in the first and seventh innings.

First Team Triumphs, 7-4, Over Second

Benning fans got their first look at the men that will perform for the Doughboy nine Tuesday night, when the first and second all-Benning teams tangled. The first team broke a 4-4 deadlock with a run in the seventh and scored two cinchers in the eighth to whip their "friendly enemies" 7 to 4.

Krueger of ISD, the third pitcher for the first nine, was the winner. Krueger allowed only one single in his stretch, and fanned four of the ten men he faced. Bo Boland, 322nd Ordnance ace, took the rap. Best twirlers of the evening were Lehner and Krueger. Lehner gave up only a single.

The first stringers had a collective attack of the vapours in the second inning, committing four errors to aid a four-run rally. The trouble began after Gallagher had walked to start the inning, and moved around to third on Watts' ground single to right, when Right Fielder Burt muffed the pickup. Brooks started for second and Watts for third. George Dickson recovered the ball and threw it to second, at which point it eluded Kinard's grasp, Watts scoring and Brooks taking third.

The first team had picked up a run in the first off Watts on a walk, a stolen base, and a two-base error by Armstrong, but Watts held them in check for the remainder of his three-inning stint.

Boxing Bouts Slated Tonight

With his leather pushers in tip-top shape and awaiting the green light, Lt. Anthony S. Priola, 25th Infantry boxing coach, has 11 battlers representing all weights and classes on deck for his initial summer's showing slated for Thursday evening in the 25th Infantry Field House. The going will rebound on the first bout at 8 o'clock sharp.

Several classy performers from last year's teams will again perform for the myriad of sports fans who jammed the Sand Hill Arena last fall and winter to witness some of the best bouts ever presented at Benning.

Lieutenant Priola further stated that in case opponents cannot be obtained for his mitt masters, the show will be as planned with exhibition matches between his charges. 25th ringmen returning to the fold are Billy Williams and Larry Jones, middleweights; Norman Clark, Murphy Pea, Charlie Myers, welter; Matt McLain, Bob Rogers, lightweight; Zack Williams, Charlie Smith, heavyweights; Harvey Osborne, Al Harris, light heavyweights.

Columbus Reds Swamp Airborne Nine, 10-2

Grabbing an early lead in the first two innings, the Columbus Reds softball aggregation subdued the Airborne Reds 10-2 at Wildwood Park Tuesday night July 15.

The Columbus lads got to Airborne chucker Spoon for 10 hits in the first two frames and coasted the rest of the way in. Adding to a superb dunk stint, Columbus pitcher Myers paced the stickers with a homer and two doubles.

78th Takes Lead In Softball Loop

The 78th Engineers rushed to an early lead in the post football league by taking its first two games by the slim margin of one run.

In the league opener last Wednesday afternoon, the 78th defeated the 30th Medical Group, 3-2, and Monday night the Engineers pinned a 7-5 loss on the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion.

Only one other game was played up to Tuesday, the 30th Bn. vs. 83rd FA Bn. 204th Transp. Bn., STR, 14-8. Four league games were postponed on account of bad weather.

With all games to be played on the home team fields, the following is the schedule for this coming week:

- July 24, 6 p. m., 83rd FA Bn. vs. 30th Med. Gp.
- July 25, 6 p. m., 1st Bn. STR. vs. TAB Bn., 78th Engr. Bn. vs. 501st Preht. Bn.

New Autos, Faces Promised At Weekly Races Friday Night

New cars and new faces are promised at the weekly midget auto races at Idle Hour Park Friday night, Promoter Alex Brewer, who has been handling the events all summer, has announced.

Many of the old favorites, including Bob Johnson, Leonard Curry, and Johnny Suggs, are due to be back, with the newcomers fighting to "muscle in" on the old guard and cash in on the prize melon during the remainder of the summer.

Promoter Brewer, however, has one major worry. For the past few weeks the drivers have been, for the most part, keeping out of the narrow confines of the Phenix City track, and the Columbus promoter fears a rash of reckless driving, and consequent smash ups, may come at any minute.

Early in the season there were enough of the crashes to last a full season, with the spills and crackups happening in nearly every race, and now it is feared the influx of new competitors may bring about a recurrence of the damaging wrecks of earlier in the year.

Bob Johnson, the local favorite, has been beaten out of the main share of the glory two straight weeks, once due to an accident, and has promised he will be battling to regain his winning ways. He still paces the field in the point scoring, with 773 points in this year at Idle Hour, but his rivals have been "ganging up" in recent weeks, and splitting the purses while forcing Johnson to be satisfied with smaller earnings.

The races Friday, as in the past, will open with the preliminary tests at 7:30 p. m., and the regular races about 8 p. m.

The motorcycle races, which proved popular here twice, will not be held this week, but another speed program is scheduled for a week from tonight.

25th Champs Still Undecided

Just what team will be crowned regimental champions of the round robin baseball tournament is yet to be determined. A clash between the two teams for the championships at Benning Field Thursday night ended in a 7-7 deadlock in the last half of the ninth inning, when Curtis Wilcox doubled to right, with two on board to tie up the ball game.

Typical of the game was that all the 1st. Bn. scoring and hitting was confined to the first six innings while the 99th took control of the last three to inflict their damage.

The First Battalion Raiders got off to a flying start and up until the seventh inning most of the approximately 100 spectators had definitely conceded a shut-out victory to starting hurler Bob Isiah. Two runs in the second one in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the sixth had given the Raiders a 7 run lead.

The fireworks for the 99th started popping in the seventh when they found the offerings of Isiah and Smith quite to their liking and before the sun had retired they had shoved across three runs. They continued their relentless attack on First Battalion hurling and in the eighth stanza Jimmie Robinson drove a four-bagger past the flood light post in deep right field scoring Fortune ahead of him and slash-

In the last half of the ninth, the 99th put across two more runs to tie up the game and leave the question of which is the better team still to be answered.

Tuskegee Vets Score Triumph Over Bullets

The Tuskegee Vets baseball club performed like veterans last Friday night at Bullet field and scored their only triumph of the season over the soldier nine. The big bats of the Vets swung lustily and bunched hits off two Bullet hurlers to narrowly escape with a 6-5 victory.

Tuskegee was well represented, as a great following of rooters from the city's veterans hospital packed the bleachers and cheered their team to its initial win over the Bullets.

A series of Bullet misuses plus singles by Harrison and Strawthers sent the visitors out front by a four-run lead in the third inning. Dalton's smash hit to the left field resulted in a triple when misjudged by Baker in the fourth. He scored when backstop, Edlie Yarnold let one of Scott's low balls roll by.

Elims Vets

The Bullets, determined to avoid a shut-out, juggled their line-up. Isom and Nichols took over the batting assignments and limited the Vets to two runs there after, including the one scored in the fourth frame.

A single run scored by Isom in the fifth inning put the Bullets in the game. Having reached first on an error by the first baseman, Isom went to second when Willis was mowed by a pitch. A miss by the catcher put him on third and he Santos dropped Burke's pop fly in short right field.

A blooming triple to right by Strawthers in the sixth failed to pay off for the Vets, as Santos struck out. Dalton flied to Jones at second and Foster repeated the same to Hughes at third. The Bullets had missed a similar chance to score in the second inning when Nichols three-baggered to center. Baker struck out. Yarnold flied to Santos at second, and Henry grounded out third to first.

Last Inn in Seventh.

The veterans added their last run in the seventh on hits by Pearson, Harrison and a walk to Pearson.

In the eighth, Roosevelt Jones sent a bounding single over second base to center field. Nichols doubled, sending Jones to third. Baker's fluke rolled down the first base line, pushed over run number two for the Bullets.

The last half of the ninth inning saw the Bullets stage a terrific up-hill climb that came pretty near changing the picture of things. They got to south-paw Jimmie Foster for three bingles and three runs to come within a single tally of knocking the ball and possibly winning the ball game. Though the crowd had been urged to mill around and stream out of the bleachers, no one left until the last out was made.

Isom and Willis had hit safely. Burke's grounded to third scored Isom's scorching roller to first passed hurriedly between the legs of first-baseman Strawthers, grooved to Willis and Burke across the plate. Jones continued to second and came home when Nichols' grounder took a ball hop over Santos' head at second. Nick went out stealing second to retire the sides and end the game. Nichols and Willis, with a triple, a double and a single, Willis, with three singles and Jones, who connected for one of the bloopers, led the batting pack.

Model Plane Fans Vie For Honors In Sunday Meet

Columbus model airplane enthusiasts will have a field day at Lawson field Sunday, July 27, when members of the Thermolite Club vie for base championship titles. The event is the first to be sponsored by the newly appointed Lawson field model airplane committee and will take place from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. The miniature aircraft will compete in stunting, loops up-side down flying and speed contests. Free flight will not be featured, but the thrilling sport is on the schedule for future contests at the base, according to Capt. James Sever, project officer for the contest. The east parking ramp of the field will be used for the meet. Winners will represent Lawson Field in the Ninth Air Force Model Airplane meet which will be held at Greenville AAB, S. C., on August 1.

Capt. Sever said that the Lawson field committee is making plans to sponsor a monthly contest among model clubs within a radius of 100 miles from Columbus. Clubs have also been extended invitations to use the field's facilities for their weekly practice flying. The public is invited to the July 28 meet.

Flight Division Set Up At Lawson

A flight division under the direction of the plans and training officer has been organized at Lawson field to take over the training duties previously performed by the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron, which was transferred to Greenville AAB, S. C., last week, officials announced today.

At present the division is equipped with C-32s, C-47s, AT-6s and gliders. It will be charged with providing all phases of air training for paratroopers and glidermen of the Airborne section of the Infantry School and the flying and tactical training of Air Reserve Officers on inactive duty at the base.

In view of a recent directive from Army Air Forces headquarters curtailing all flying because of the existing fuel shortage, the base has minimized all its flying.

Sport Quiz

- (AFPS)—1. If you know your baseball rules, that bothersome regulation that has to do with infield flies will give you no trouble. Does the infield-fly rule apply when there is only one man on base?
2. Can you match the following three baseball players with the numbers listed? Each number had to do with a record held by one of the players: Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio are the players, and 2,130, 56 and 714 are the numbers.
3. What do Dave Albritton, Bill Vessie and Les Steers all have in common?
4. You have certainly read that the 1948 Olympic Games will be held in London, but do you remember where the games were run off in 1932 and 1936?
5. And speaking of the Olympics — Archie Hahn, Charley Faddock, and Eddie Pojan were all winners at one time in the 100 meter race. Who was the most recent U. S. Olympic sprint champion?

- ANSWERS
1. The infield fly rule applies only when there are men on first and second or first, second and third.
 2. Lou Gehrig played 2,130 consecutive games; Babe Ruth hit 714 home runs in regular season play; Joe DiMaggio hit in 56 straight games.
 3. All three are outstanding American high jumpers.
 4. Los Angeles 1932; Berlin 1936.
 5. Jesse Owens.

Aircraft To Support AGF During Oversnow Maneuvers

A famous fighting parachute regiment of World War II will establish an airhead in up-state New York in the course of oversnow maneuvers next February. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the Army Ground Forces, announced today.

The operation, to be carried out by the 505th regimental combat team of the 82nd Airborne Division, supported by elements of the Ninth Air Force, will be a complete airhead operation with heavy engineer equipment up to and including bulldozers, for construction of an airstrip, brought in by air. Resupply, evacuation and reinforcement by air will also be tested.

The maneuvers, starting November 1 and continuing until March 1, 1949, will be carried out at Pine Camp, N. Y. The operation has been christened "Snowdrop." It will come to a climax with the 72-hour attack for the airhead sometime between February 9 and February 29. The jump zone will be near the eastern shore of Lake Ontario, which at that season will be frozen over and unsuitable for a beachhead operation.

Use C-52s
The 316th Troop Carrier group, stationed at Pope Field, N. C., will provide the transportation for the airhead operation. The group is equipped with the new Mitchell C-52 Packet "Flying Boxcars," the largest twin-engine aircraft of the Army Air Forces.

The 505th Parachute Infantry and the 116th Troop Carrier group were teamed up three times in combat. They rode together to the paratrooper drop zones in Sicily, Normandy and Holland.

The operation will be directed by Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, commander of the First Army with headquarters in New York.

A 34-year-old Missourian, Lieut. Col. William B. Ekman, will run the parachuting part of the show, as commanding officer of the Ninth Air Force's 45th Parachute team. Colonel Ekman was a private in the Regular Army for two years before he was picked from the ranks to be trained at West Point. Commander of the 505th since April, 1944, he was the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

Col. John R. Lacey is the commanding officer of the troop carrier group.

2,858 Troops Participate
A total of approximately 2,850 Ground Forces troops will participate in "Operation Snowdrop." The units, all from the 82nd Airborne Division, which has its permanent station at Fort Bragg, N. C., will include the 45th Parachute Field Artillery Battalion and Company B, 387th Airborne Engineer Battalion.

The Ninth Air Force will furnish personnel for operation of tower and communications facilities and firefighting and crash equipment at Wheeler-Sack Airfield, an landing area. The aggregate of Air Forces personnel at these tasks will approximate 225 officers and men.

Rigorous cold-weather training will be given all the Army Ground Forces personnel during the overall period from November through February. In the first phase of the training, the men will receive indoctrination and acclimatization in cold weather and oversnow operations. Emphasis will be on survival in bivouac and combat in extreme snow and cold; snow shoe and ski training, including shoe-coups, hikes; wearing of clothing and equipment, and use, care and maintenance of arms and equipment under conditions of extreme cold.

All individuals will receive special instruction in fire-fighting, fire prevention and heating of barracks and other buildings. The first phase of the training will wind up with instruction in loading and lashing of equipment in gliders and transport planes.

Airhead Operations
The second phase, starting December 1, will consist, training at squad and platoon level; the third, beginning January 1, will advance to company level, and the fourth phase, from January 25 to February 8, will cover battalion training.

Then will come the final phase in which the 505th Regimental Combat Team will establish the airhead.

In the era of beachheads—it is believed by many military authorities that the atomic bomb has made beachhead landings such as those which carried the war to enemy-held territory in World War II something of the past—the 86th have several previews of airhead operations of the future. It made its initial drop at Gela, on the southern coast of Sicily. A few months later it jumped into the Italian campaign near the ruins of the ancient Greek colony of Paestum, on Salerno Bay, where the 36th Infantry Division had made the beachhead. As a part of the VII Corps the 505th raised the curtain on D-Day in Normandy when it dropped at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula. It was the first American unit to liberate a French town—the town of Ste. Mere Eglise.

Later in 1944, the men of the 505th jumped near Nimmes, Holland, shooting from the hip as they came down, for the enemy was awaiting them there.

The 316th troop carrier group flew from the United States to Cairo, Egypt, in November, 1942. It pioneered in the evacuation of battle casualties by air in the Sicily-Libyan campaign, during which it worked with the British Eighth Army.

"This job," said Air Marshal Sir Arthur Cunningham of the campaign, "could not have been completed without the assistance of American transports."

General Harmon Slated To Retire August 31

One retirement and several major changes in assignments of general officers were announced today by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding Army Ground Forces.

Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, who recently returned from Germany where he organized and commanded the U. S. Constabulary Forces in the American Occupation Zone, will retire August 31 after 30 years service. General Harmon, a combat veteran of both World Wars, retired with the permanent rank of colonel. He is best known for his success as commander of the famed 2nd Armored "Hell on Wheels" Division, credited with piercing the Siegfried Line and blunting the German attack during the Battle of the Bulge.

Two Army Ground Force generals leaving in August and September for assignments with headquarters, European Command, Frankfurt, Germany, are Maj. Gen. Louis A. Craig, deputy commanding general of the Fifth Army in Chicago, and Brig. Gen. Ralph J. Canine, chief of staff V Corps, Fort Bragg, N. C. Maj. Gen. Edwin P. Parker, inspector general for the European Command, will replace General Craig with the Fifth Army.

Both Generals Craig and Canine held combat assignments in the European Theater during World War II.

Maj. Gen. Robert T. Frederick, assistant commander of the Artillery School, Seacoast Branch, Fort Winfield Scott, Calif., will assume duties as chief of the group section at the Air University, Maxwell Field, Ala. Brig. Gen. Wilbur S. Lawton, currently G-2, Fifth Army, is slated to replace General Frederick.

General Frederick was wounded eight times, and wears the Purple Heart with seven oak leaf clusters. As commanding general of the 1st Special Service Force, the 1st Airborne Task Force, and later the 65th Infantry Division, General Frederick participated in operations in the Aleutians, Italy, Southern France, the Rhineland and Central Europe.

Lawson To Mark Air Force Day With Open House

An all-day open house, with special displays and demonstrations, will be held at Lawson field July 31, in commemoration of the 47th anniversary of the Army Air Forces, officially announced today.

The occasion will be celebrated July 31 instead of August 1, official Air Force Day, in order to allow Columbia citizens to visit the base during the regular Thursday half-holiday, it was planned.

The extent of aircraft participation has not yet been determined but plans will be completed during the early part of next week. The entire program is being planned around the Air Force theme, "Air Power and Peace Power." Among the completed entertainment features planned are the continuous showing of Air Force movies in the hangars and music by an Army band.

Beauty contestants for the Miss Georgia contest will attend the celebration as special guests of Col. Gilbert T. Collar, Lawson field commanding officer.

General Lawson's wartime assignments have included duty in the Pacific Theater of Operations as Deputy Chief of Staff, American Forces in the Mid-Pacific Area.

Brig. Gen. Charles E. Hart, artillery officer for New York Governors Island, New York, has been named assistant commandant of the Anti Aircraft and Guided Missiles Center, Fort Bliss, Tex., succeeding Brig. Gen. Robert M. Montague, now assigned to the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, N. M.

General Hart was artillery officer for II Corps and for the First Army in the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations.

General Montague held wartime assignments as Artillery Officer of the 83rd and 9th Infantry Divisions in European operations.

Brig. Gen. Philip G. Blackmore, ordnance officer for Sixth Army at San Francisco, Calif., and in the Pacific, has been named commanding general of Ordnance White Sands Proving Grounds, White Sands, N. M.

General Blackmore, who served in the Pacific, has been named commanding general of Ordnance White Sands Proving Grounds, White Sands, N. M.

54 Students Make Initial Plane Flight

Having made their initial plane flight July 17, the 54 officer-students of Air Transportability class No. 11, will complete their course with two remaining glider flights.

Included in the class are 32 officers from Fort Benning, seven from Fort Leavenworth, one each from Fort Knox, Fort Riley, U. S. Military Academy, West Virginia Military District, Panama, Fort Winfield Scott, two from Fort Sill and seven reserve officers from various points throughout the country who have resumed active duty to attend the course.

Heading the class as student company commander is Lt. Col. Henry M. Spenger of the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth.

Group Celebrates Organization Day

Members of the 30th Medical Group celebrated their fifth anniversary last Friday with a colorful parade and review which was highlighted by the presentation of Good Conduct Medals to four enlisted men by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center.

Those receiving the medals were T-3 Warney A. Johnson, 121st Evacuation Hospital, Pfc. Allison N. Moore, 30th Medical Group headquarters, Cpl. Bernard Newby, 651st Motor Ambulance Company, and T-5 Clarence Johnson, 375th Medical Collecting Company.

Intra-Post Taxi Service Slated To Begin Soon

Plans are underway to institute a commercially-operated intra-post taxicab service here for the purpose of carrying passengers between points on the reservation only, it was announced today by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center.

Letters of invitation have already been sent to approximately 12 cab companies advising in detail of the services desired and outlining conditions of operation, Gen. O'Daniel said.

The cab company awarded the contract as operator of the service will not be allowed to transport passengers off the post, he further stated. A transfer point will be arranged, however, where passengers desiring off-post service may be transferred to other carriers.

Officials said that a central control office will be established on the Main Post at a location to be determined later. The central office will be situated to receive orders for cab service, which may be telephoned. These details, they continued on page 2.

840 Complete ROTC Summer Training Here

Approximately 840 ROTC students will conclude a six-week summer training course here with appropriate ceremonies and parades this afternoon at the Army Church area.

Having completed an extensive and detailed course in the field, they will have wound up a full week with the closing date set for Friday.

Classes were conducted through Wednesday of this week with the parade scheduled for 4:30 this afternoon. Various awards to outstanding students and athletes will be presented during the ceremony. Commissions and certificates will be given to 132 students.

Final exercises are scheduled for Friday morning at theater No. 4, while depressing of the students will be completed Friday afternoon.

RKO-Pathé Scheduled To Make Movie Here

Camera crews of RKO-Pathé, Inc. are scheduled to visit here sometime between August 1 and 15 to begin filming of a two-reel recruiting publicity film, "Ground Forces at Work."

Simultaneously with the filming of the Ground Forces series, the camera men will snap shots to be used in a commercial film of the "This is America" series.

Following the review, a brief address was delivered by Maj. Tom F. Little, group commanding officer, who also introduced General O'Daniel. General O'Daniel spoke briefly on the importance of the medical corps.

Morrissey Outlines History
M-Sgt. Edward J. Morrissey, who has been with the group since its organization on June 25,

General O'Daniel's Letter to the 30th Medical Group
On this, the birthday of your organization, I desire to congratulate you on your accomplishments.

You have acquitted yourselves well in every task assigned you. Since you have been here at Fort Benning, you have continued to perform all jobs in a superior manner, supporting the efforts of the Infantry School, Station Hospital, and The Infantry Center.

My congratulations and appreciation for a job well done. You have set a fine example to all by your attention to duty, and have brought great credit to yourselves and the military service.

Tables Reversed As Former Student Becomes Instructor

When man bites dog it's news, so it seems is should be interesting when the student becomes the instructor.

And that is exactly the case here. Col. Joseph McK. Driscoll is here with the Officers Reserve Corps indoctrination and Orientation class and one of his instructors is Capt. Wall G. Chin, Colonel Driscoll's student.

Colonel Driscoll, a military instructor at Boston English high school in Boston, Mass., is taking the Benning course during his summer vacation. Back in 1931 he had a young man named Wall G. Chin in his class in Boston.

Now Wall G. Chin has Colonel Driscoll in his class since he is teaching tables of organization at the Infantry School,

Lawson Planning Open House Fete

BY ORA CARNOT
Lawson field will play host to the military and civilian neighbors today with an all day open-house celebration in honor of the Army Air Forces, Fortieth anniversary.

Col. Gilbert T. Collins, base commander, has invited all Fort Benning personnel and Columbus and Phenix City residents to join in the celebration. Visitors will be welcome from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. August 1 is the official Air Force Day, by President Truman's proclamation, Lawson field, however, requested special permission to hold its anniversary celebration on Thursday, July 31, since the day is a half holiday in Columbus and vicinity.

Air Show Planned
Highlighting the day's events will be the air demonstration which will begin at 3 p.m. on the flight line with a glider snatch pick-up by a C-47. The glider will later be released over the demonstration area and will come in for a spot landing directly in front of the spectators' stands.

A C-47 glider tow formation, which will leave the base to fly over Columbus and vicinity and then return and land, will be described to the audience by a commentator in an air-to-ground broadcast from one of the gliders.

During the morning and afternoon, visitors will be permitted to walk through a C-52 airplane an inside view of the "Flying Boxcar." Other aircraft will be equipped with walkover platforms for close inspection and an L-3 liaison plane will be rigged up with a litter as an evacuation ship.

Bordering the flight line will be interesting static displays of AAF photographic equipment, weather and radio apparatus, aircraft engines, parachute equipment and flying clothes. Before and after the air demonstration guests will be invited to view AAF wartime movies which will run continuously in hangar No. 1 on the flight line and theater No. 3 near the headquarters building. Musical entertainment will be presented by the 30-piece 25th Combat Infantry band from 2 to 4 p.m. Prior to that time recorded music will be provided over the public address system.

Another interesting event will be the model aircraft demonstration which will be staged by members of the Columbus Model club at 2 p.m.

From 1 to 2:30 p.m. interest will center around the visit of the "Miss Georgia" contestants, who will tour the base as Colonel Col.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the President of the United States has proclaimed August 1 as Air Force Day to honor the millions of men and women, living and dead, whose contribution to the growth of American air power makes the Army Air Force this country's most far-reaching weapon of defense; and

WHEREAS, August 1, 1947, is the 40th anniversary of the United States Army Air Forces and a grateful nation recognizes the importance of air power in preserving our liberties and appreciates the potentialities of air power in pioneering an ever more glorious future for our country;

WHEREAS, Lawson field, Fort Benning, Georgia, is an integral and vital base of the United States Army Air Forces and will commemorate Air Force Day with special demonstrations and open house on July 31, 1947;

THEREFORE, I, Walter A. Bishop, mayor of Columbus, Georgia, hereby proclaim Friday, August 1, 1947, Army Air Force Day in Columbus, Georgia, and urge all our citizens to join in the observance of Air Force Day at Lawson field and sympathetically express their gratitude,

Food Caravan Arrives Here

The Third Army Food Service Caravan arrived here Tuesday for three weeks instructional work in the Army Food Service program.

Composed of a trailer-tractor set up as complete kitchen units with the latest equipment, the caravan is staffed and equipped to assist in practical on-the-job instruction stressing the proper preparation of food. Scheduled to visit each unit on the post during their three-week stay, the trailer-tractor kitchens, with three of their highly-trained non-commissioned officers instructing, will cook a portion of the meals at each mess hall. Cooks at the respective messes will assist in preparing tasty and appetizing dishes with the latest modern equipment under supervision of the caravan staff.

Col. Ladd Ends Army Service September 30

Col. Jesse A. Ladd, deputy president of ACF Board No. 3 and former deputy Post commander, will retire from the Army September 30 after completing 36 years of active service.

Colonel Ladd began his Army career in 1911 after being graduated from the United States Military Academy with the class of 1911. His first assignment after graduation was as a platoon leader with the First Infantry Regiment.

In 1913 the colonel married Miss Florence Von Kanel and the couple had two sons, Capt. Jonathan R. Ladd who served with the 11th Airborne Division during the war, and Lt. James V. K. Ladd, a recent graduate of West Point who is now serving with the 24th Infantry in Japan.

Colonel Ladd had his first tour of duty here in 1920 when he was a student at the Infantry School. Since that time he has been stationed here several times and has served a total of 11 years on the post.

During his Army career he has attended some of the most important service schools including the Infantry School, the Tank School, the Command and General School and the Army War College.

In August, 1941, he was promoted to Brigadier General and served in that rank until February, 1946. During that period he was commanding general of Fort Richardson, Alaska; commanding general of Fort Glenn, Alaska, and commanding general of the 9th Infantry Division.

Colonel Ladd will leave the Post Saturday and will have two months terminal leave before his retirement Friday morning a special ceremony will honor him at Stilwell field.

At present Colonel Ladd has no definite plans for his activities after retirement.

British Officers End Infantry Center Tour

After a two-day visit at The Infantry Center, Brigadier R. H. Batten, D.S.O., and Lt. Col. W. P. Careless, of the British Army, departed Saturday for Washington, D. C.

Winding up a tour of U. S. Army schools throughout the country, the British officers witnessed special demonstrations and made a complete study of activities at the Infantry School.

Over 400 Seek To Enroll In TIC Vocational School

Approximately 400 students have already enrolled in the Infantry Center's vocational night school with more coming in every day. It was announced today by Capt. Willard R. Chambers, information and education officer.

This figure far exceeds expectations, officials said. It was pointed out, however, that applications for enrollment were still being accepted for the summer quarter which got underway officially last Monday night.

Opening night was highlighted by on-the-spot interviews with cadets and school officials, broadcast over a Columbus radio station from 6:45-7 p. m. Guides look visitors on a tour of the school during the evening.

Commercial subjects, such as typing, shorthand, and book-keeping, are, according to school officials, the most popular choice among the enrollees. Mathematics and English grammar are also high on the list, although all subjects will have their share of the students, school authorities said.

Staffed by a group of qualified teachers, both from Columbus and the post, the school will operate four nights weekly with two classes each night from 6:15-8 p. m. and 8:15-10 p. m. Classes will run from Monday through Friday.

1942. Following eight months of maneuvers in Louisiana during 1943 and 1944, the unit underwent special training preparatory to going overseas.

Land in France
The group landed on Omaha beach in France Oct. 15, 1944. During the remainder of the European war they served in France, Belgium, and Germany, returning to the States Aug. 31, 1945.

Prior to coming to Fort Benning the 30th Medical Group was stationed at Camp Polk, La.
Executive officer for the group is Maj. John E. Burman, and adjutant is Capt. Bernard L. Goddard. Maj. Arthur R. Salguere Jr. commands the 1st, Capt. Philip L. LaManche heads the 651st, and 1st Lt. John L. Grandstrom is commanding officer of the 375th. In addition to his duties as adjutant, Capt. Goddard also commands the 30th Medical Group Headquarters Detachment.

Bruce Perry Takes Honors At Plane Meet

Bruce Perry of the Columbus Thermolites, won the Lawson field model aircraft contest last Sunday and will represent the base at the Air Force Day model aircraft meet in Greenville, S. C., tomorrow, base officials have announced.

Perry's models won honors in both speed and stunt contests during the all-day elimination meet Sunday. His line control model "Futaba" claimed the speed championship when it flew 107 miles per hour.

Bill Todd was runner-up and the team of Roy Allen and Rex Powell claimed third place. Fourth place was taken by 12-year-old Harold Mills, and L. W. Arnold and Rex Powell tied for fifth place. First, second and third place winners are eligible to participate in the Greenville meet.

Several of the miniature aircraft in the contest were damaged and one stunt ship was completely demolished when it failed to pull out of an inside loop. The model was an Acrobat and belonged to Ralph Raymond. Of the 35 entries, approximately one-third of them were original models, according to Capt. James Seaver, base contest project officer.

The GAAB meet will include 21 events with 42 awards for first and second prize. All types of entries are expected, including experimental models. Directing the meet will be Maj. Sewell Y. Austin, veteran model enthusiast and member of the Academy of Model Aeronautics. He announced that any model or unorthodox model entered would be carefully examined by aeronautical engineers and if selected would be forwarded to AAF headquarters for further official study. A helicopter has been requested by GAAB to track down models that might fly away from the vicinity of the base.

Collecting points will be established on the Main Post at Harmony Church, Sand Hill, and possibly in the Alabama area. Passengers may also be picked up en route, officials pointed out.

Fixed rates for all services will be established. Gen. O'Daniel said, adding that these rates would be published for the guidance of all Fort Benning personnel.

Post engineers said that bids from outside companies are still being accepted and requested that any interested parties who did not receive letters from their office should contact the Infantry Center's purchasing and contract officer or post engineer for further information.

109 Complete Airborne Training Course Here

A total of 109 enlisted men were graduated from the Infantry School's Airborne section last Saturday morning, it was announced this week.

Highlight of the graduation exercises was an address delivered by Col. Patrick Cassidy, who also presented the diplomas. The class began with 160 students, but 51 failed to complete the course because of physical disability.

All graduates have been assigned either to the 82nd or 11th Airborne Divisions.

Better Handling Of Subsistence Reported Here

A great improvement in the handling of subsistence at Fort Benning in all phases from storage to consumption by the troops was reported last Wednesday by J. L. Hennessy, who was here with his board to inspect food establishments on the Post.

Mr. Hennessy, who was requested by the Secretary of War to assist the Army in establishing an adequate food service program, is now making his second tour of all Army installations in the United States to check on the food program. With his board, he is working with the office of the Quartermaster General in this effort.

His Aides Arriving Wednesday with Hennessy for a one-day visit were A. J. Croft, manager of the Ansley hotel in Atlanta; Joe Croy, assistant manager of the Ansley; Col. E. V. Macatee, Third Army Quartermaster; Col. F. C. Harding, Chief of the Subsistence Branch of the Office of the Quartermaster General in Washington.

Hennessy is chairman of the board of the Stalter Hotels. During their visit, the Board attempted to inspect every food establishment on the Post with particular emphasis on meats, the central meat cutting plant, Post ration breakdown point, quartermaster Post bakery, Food Service School and the quartermaster cold storage warehouse.

Explaining what the Army food service program should be, Mr. Hennessy recently recommended that the Army pattern its feeding after hotel style feeding and that money value in mind to eliminate waste, while the ultimate cooked product should be served to the soldier as he might expect to find it in the best of hotels or restaurants.

Mr. Hennessy commended the Army on the type of food program it has and that with proper handling his suggestion on eye appeal and taste could be accomplished.

Dulaney Goes To War College

Col. Robert L. Dulaney, who for the past 18 months has commanded the 107th, and 25th combat teams, and the 25th infantry regiment and attached units, will leave soon for Washington, D. C., to attend the Army War college, it was announced today.

A graduate of the United States Military academy, Colonel Dulaney served with both the 44th and 45th division during the war. His initial overseas assignment was with the 645th T. D. Battalion during the North African campaign. His next assignment as executive officer with the 106th Infantry regiment took him through the Rome-Arno Foglia Campaigns.

Commanding the 106th throughout the assault on Southern France, he was later reassigned as assistant division commander of the 44th infantry division. Following V. E. Day, he returned to the States where the division received 30 days leave. The unit then reassembled at Camp Swift, Texas. He commanded 8th Headquarters at Camp Swift until his assignment as commander of the 107th which brought him here March 1, 1946.

France Honors Col. Brinkley With War Cross

Col. Thomas M. Brinkley, formerly the Infantry Center's supply chief and assistant chief of staff, was awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm by the French government at a formal ceremony Tuesday, July 22, at Oliver General hospital in Augusta, Ga., it was learned here last week.

Now a patient at Oliver General, Colonel Brinkley was decorated for his "distinguished services in the liberation of the French nation."

The citation, in French, was read in the presence of hospital staff officers and intimate friends of Colonel Brinkley by Mrs. Morris K. Barrell, wife of Colonel Barrell, who is commanding officer of Augusta Arsenal. Mrs. Barrell, a native-born French citizen, also made the presentation. A Regular Army officer with 29 years of service, Colonel Brinkley is well-known in the vicinity of Fort Benning. Hospitalized at Oliver General early in May, he was replaced as G-4 by Col. Joseph A. Nichols.

Armed Forces Unification

Unification of the armed forces has at last been achieved, thus ending one of the most controversial issues to come before the 80th Congress. The Bayonet has campaigned for the passage of the bill since its introduction, and, with the signing of the measure by the President, we feel that at least part of our hopes have been realized.

There is, still, legislation, however, pending without which we believe unification would be almost meaningless. That legislation, of course, is universal military training. Yet we can breathe easier now that unification is an established fact.

The defeat of those who screamed that unification would be fruitless marks another milestone in the clear thinking, progressivism of the majority of our Congressional leaders. In order to live side by side with other nations in the path of peace we must have some sort of unity in our armed forces. Although we do not cast any reflection on the Navy or the Army or the Air Force administration, it is evident that unification will result in a closer understanding, an elimination of duplication, a saving of money, and lastly a decrease in the bitter struggle for separate recognition.

Many had complained of War Department appropriations. They said they were far in excess of any reasonableness and that the forces should cease bickering among themselves. Well, that's one argument they can't use from now on—not with unification putting all on an equal basis. No longer will foes of the Army, Navy, and Air Force be able to say that the appropriations could be cut if the service would forget their differences. There have never been any of course; but as the saying goes, "a drowning man will grasp a straw."

With unification came another some times overlooked bit of legislation, but one that should not be thought of lightly—the Air Force received autonomy. This is as it should be. Coming as it did, on the eve of the 40th anniversary of the Army Air Forces, make these gallant men, who paved the way for the fighting doughboy and the Navy ships which transported them to the battle grounds, have sufficient reason to celebrate their birthday in an even grander manner. We welcome them into the family of unified armed forces and congratulate them on their autonomous position.

Now the only remaining legislation which is a "must" for the 80th Congress is, as we mentioned above, universal military training. We need it; we must have it. A look around at other nations should be enough to convince even the most skeptical. Every argument in the "book" has been advanced in an effort to kill the measure, and our mind has been open to them all. We consider ourselves pretty normal people and representative of the majority of American citizens, but we certainly have not been convinced that the universal military training bill should be killed. We firmly believe that there are far more persons who want to see universal military training become a reality than there are those who oppose it.

Just to keep the record straight, we might as well repeat a few of the reasons for being such strong advocates. No other world power has as yet demobilized anything like the number of men America has put on inactive status. No other country has been forced to send to the junk heap or storage pile, for lack of operating and maintenance crews, as much equipment as the United States. And the leading reason we believe that the United States can not afford to ignore universal military training are Communism and the atomic bomb.

We are glad that Congress passed, and the President signed into law, unification of the armed forces, and we dislike being branded ultraconservative constantly wanting every thing we see and pouncing on it with all fours and demanding recognition. Still, we, as mere newspapermen, strongly urge that Americans everywhere have faith in their Army, their Navy, and now their autonomous Air Force, and back them up when they ask that Congress look with favor upon the act which would establish universal military training, our real salvation.

GREAT FAITH REWARDS

By Chaplain Leonard A. Ellis "Let us go up at once and possess it; for we are able." Numbers 13:2

Escaping from Egyptian slavery, Moses and his people had reached the borders of the Promised Land, Canaan. Scouts, who had gone ahead to reconnoiter, came back, having surveyed the situation according to instructions. They had been told to study the inhabitants of the country, to see if they were warlike or peaceful, to talk to them where the cities were walled or open, and to observe carefully the quality of the soil. These things having been accomplished, they made their reports.

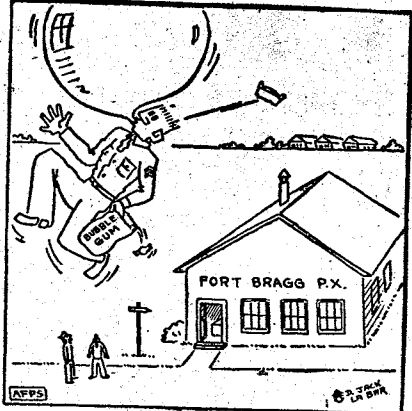

Two contradictory reports were made. The majority counseled extreme caution, while the minority sang with faith and confidence. The majority said, "We can't go up because the people are stronger than we are." The minority, however, scorned the latter view, paying for their cowardice with 40 years of wilderness wanderings in which some 600,000 perished.

All the scouts had seen the same things. Why the totally different reactions? Like all timid souls, the majority had a too vivid imagination. Their poor judgment followed as a matter of course. The minority had courage and convictions plus the brains and foresight to plan a winning campaign. They also had a great faith in the memory of God's help at the Red Sea and elsewhere. For then retreat was unthinkable.

These are good men to remember in the midst of our personal, racial, national and world difficulties. They tell us to beware of the "but-ands" attitude which cuts and destroys the nerve. They tell us to lay wise plans, summon our greatest confidence, place our faith in God, our fellowman, ourselves and then move forward untried.

Before I heard the doctor tell me that I had a cold, I had come kissing you. The nearest thing to bliss. But now I know biology. And six and six and moan. And six million bacteria. And I thought we were alone!

Then there was the rookie who saw three stars on a staff car, and, walking up to the stern faced old man sitting in the back, congratulated him on having three sons in the service.

SERENADE

Fans of James M. Cain never tire of reading his books, and for the Cain style in one book very rarely like any other of his works.

Serenade is exactly typical of most of this author's other works in its general outline, although the setting and background movements are quite different from many Cain books with the settings entirely in Los Angeles or the vicinity.

The usual technique to story telling employed by Cain is used here as the main character relates the events concerning himself and Junna, a Mexican-Indian girl. The leading character, John Howard Sharp, is a singer whose voice has gone bad. In Mexico he meets Junna and soon afterward his voice returns to its former value. Returning to the United States the singer takes Junna with him, and so the plot moves on through a series of interesting events including a couple of killings.

Cain is never Victorian in his treatment of sex, and Serenade is no exception in his usual story. As is fairly usual for this author, sex is shown in such books as Butterfly, he even manages to make sex in his books different from the usual sexy story.

In style Cain has ability that simply can not be denied no matter what the reader's opinion of the plot or such matters. In Serenade the entire story concerns the hard rays of reality and to match those there is a similar im-

Your Red Cross

By MURRAY E. HILL

Perhaps you, as a great many other people often think of the Red Cross in terms of relief given in dollars and cents. Actually, this is small in comparison with other tangible accomplishments of the Red Cross.

For instance, there were 36,945,000 American adults who claimed membership in the American Red Cross during 1946, and that same year 19,698,000 children in schools in this country became members of the organization.

During the past seven years there have been an average of 4,246,000 volunteer blood donors who contributed 13,326,000 pints of blood during the blood donor program for the Army and Navy. Field workers and hospital workers in camps and hospitals assisted 16,239,000 persons between 1939 and 1946. During that same period 75,000,000 items, including books, magazines, recreation equipment, clothing, and comfort articles, were distributed to camps and hospitals.

Volunteer workers made 30,000,000 knitted articles and dressings and 2,480,000,000 surgical dressings during the war. In the past few years 104,500 Red Cross nurse certifications were made to the military.

These are but a few of the things the Red Cross did for the American people. These figures are magnificent to read, but the Red Cross has also been ever thoughtful of the suffering and distressed people. It has been suffering and needy persons in about 40 countries were assisted through Red Cross relief activities between 1940 and 1946; 1,352,000 persons were assisted by Red Cross disaster relief operations during the past six years; and 1,662,000 civilians were assisted by Red Cross home service workers, mostly volunteer, during the same period.

These figures are even more impressive if interpreted in terms of the tremendous voluntary effort on the part of the American people which has made possible in terms of alleviation of discomfort, suffering, and mental anguish.

600 Reservists To Get Airborne Training At Bragg

Plans for the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, to conduct 16-day active duty training for 600 officers of the Organized Reserve Corps were announced today by General Jacob L. Devers, commanding general, Army Ground Force.

The training, to be given to two groups of 300 reserve officers each during the periods July 26-August 9 and August 16-29, is designed to orient reserve officers in the latest airborne and air-transportability doctrine and techniques. Officers will participate in all phases of airborne training except actual parachute jumps.

Quotas of 80 officers for each of the two periods of training have been assigned to the First, Third, and 8th Air Divisions and 120 officers to the Second Army. There are no ORC Airborne units in the Fourth and Sixth Armies.

Although officers assigned to Organized Reserve Airborne units will be given priority, all reserve officers are eligible for the training. General Devers stated:

"How does an old maid finish prayer?"
"I don't know, how?"
"Ah, men!"

pression given in the style through the long discussion of classical music. These beautiful displays of a fine knowledge of music, put into the mouth of a character like John Sharp who has obviously experienced both the best and worst in life, are perfectly formed to match the entire picture, painted to show the peculiar manner life has of throwing great ugliness next to great beauty.

Quality of Reality
Many stories, on close examination, turn out to have either plot or characters. Serenade has both, and the plot and characters fit together perfectly with the resulting books having a quality of reality which can never exist when either becomes too dependent on the other.

The movement of Serenade is tersely matched to the storms, murders and quick changes of scene. Although the story is not exactly what is likely to happen to the people who live next door, Cain manages to make it all very convincing because of the style of writing fits the action. Perfectly illustrating this ability to make the incongruous seem normal is the manner in which he presents a scene showing a former opera star singing and playing grand and other to a group of prostitutes. Another incident of the same type is in the long conversations, concerning musicians, between the singer and a sea captain who gives the external appearance of not knowing a ballad from a overture.

But, regardless of the powerful story of characters, the determining factor for either reader will be whether or not he enjoys the type of story which is so definitely used by Cain. However, for anyone who enjoys adventures, and likes them rather rugged, this is sure to be a popular volume.

Two Presented Military Award

Ceremonies at Stillwell field last Saturday morning marked the presentation of the Silver Star to ex-First Lieutenant, now civilian, Walter H. Burt and the Bronze Star to Maj. James H. Richardson, setting adjutant of School Troops. The awards were made by Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of the Infantry Center. Mr. Burt, a former member of the First Infantry Division, received the Silver Star for gallantry in action near Sand, Germany, while his platoon was under intense fire from machine gun and mortar emplacement. According to the citation, ex-Lieutenant Burt "crawled within range without regard to his own safety and successfully threw hand grenades which silenced the machine guns, allowing his platoon to advance."

Richardson "for exemplary conduct in ground combat against an enemy from June 12, 1944 until Oct. 8, 1944 while serving with the First Battalion of the 9th Infantry Regiment, Ninth Infantry Division."

Following the presentation ceremony, the 7th Air Force, Headquarters Company and Company A of the 501st Parachute Battalion, Headquarters and Service Batteries and Battery A of the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion; and Company A of the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion passed in review. Music was provided by the 72nd Army band.

General Section Party At Club For Dinner Dance

Officers and ladies of the General Subjects section of the Infantry School attended a large party at the Officers' club Saturday evening to enjoy a formal dinner and the music of Skinnay Ennis and his orchestra.

Col. and Mrs. Fay Ross were the guests of honor, and Colonel Ross, as chief of the section, and his wife headed the receiving. Also in the line were Col. and Mrs. Frank Ward, Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. O. Bradford, Col. and Mrs. G. T. Colvin, Lt. Col. and Mrs. A. O. Connor, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. H. Davison.

Several newcomers to the section were introduced at the dinner and among these were Col. and Mrs. Frank Ward, Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. E. Roberts, Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. A. McNulty, Lt. Col. and Mrs. S. H. Webster, Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. G. Simonson, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Shields Warren, Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. J. Mastafir, Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. B. Bernard, Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. J. Tugan and Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. F. Coates.

Cool Porch Scene Of Bridge Party

Mrs. Russell Stow entertained a few of her friends Monday afternoon when bridge was played on the porch of her quarters.

The guests were served light refreshments and the decorations for the event featured summer flowers in a cut glass bowl.

Those attending were Mesdames Grady Tole, Harvey Allen, Ralph Marwood, and the hostess.

Farewell Dance For Co. 5 Men

Students from Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, and A. and T. College, Greensboro, N. C., who are members of Company Five of the ROTC camp here, will be the guests of honor at a farewell party Friday evening at Service Club No. 4.

The event will feature a formal dance and girls were invited from Columbus and neighboring cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bunting of Atlanta were houseguests for the week end at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. John Cole.

VACATION COMFORTS—Mrs. B. A. Byrne and her youngest daughter, Tippy, enjoy the cool shade in the ward at their quarters. Year-old Tippy is having a rest from school. Colonel and Mrs. Byrne along with Tippy and their older daughter, Miss Sally Watson, plan to go to Ohio for a farm visit later in the summer before Tippy returns to the Post Children's school and Sally enrolls at Stevens in Columbia, Missouri.

Bridge-Luncheon At Officers' Club Fetes Mrs. Craze

To honor Mrs. James Craze, who is leaving the Post Friday morning, Mrs. Jesse B. Hahn entertained Monday afternoon at a delightful bridge luncheon given in the lounge at the Officers' club.

Mrs. Craze will go to Baltimore with her husband, Major Craze, and they will make their home there. He is now on terminal leave and has just returned from Korea. During his absence, Mrs. Craze lived on the post at the quarters of Major and Mrs. John Tilton.

Bright roses in crystal bowls were used as table decorations for the luncheon and individual cards marked places for Mrs. Craze, Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Jack Street, Mrs. Elvin Kretzick, Mrs. Jack Dean, Mrs. Patrick Deane, Mrs. Joseph Morey, Mrs. Ralph Tolve, Mrs. Aaron Cohn, Mrs. Paul Mize, Mrs. Edmund Lorette and the hostess.

Following lunch bridge was in play and prizes were awarded.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Earl F. Holton entertained last week in honor of Miss Kita Rooks of Washington, D. C., who is on the Post as a houseguest of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel.

The buffet supper was given at the quarters of Mrs. Harriet Weeks as the Holtons were preparing to move from their quarters to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where Colonel Holton will be at the Command and General Staff college.

Guests for the evening, in addition to the honoree, included Col. and Mrs. John R. Kelly, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John H. Van Vleet, Lt. Col. W. G. Dolvin, Lt. Col. Donald E. Hoffmeister, Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. R. Myer and Mrs. Mary Dinmore.

Fifth Birthday Party Inspiration For Miss Lillyman

Miss Susan-Jane Lillyman, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Frank Lillyman, celebrated her fifth birthday with a colorful party for a group of her young friends to observe her fifth birthday.

Complete with balloons, games in the yard featuring a peanut hunt, and the birthday was laid with five candles, the young guests were delightfully entertained.

The birthday cake centered the dining table and was laid with cream colored frosting and decorated with pink flowers and yellow letters spelling out "Happy Birthday Susan." Pottery bowls of minis and pink tapers flanked the cake and the table was laid with a party cloth of pink with matching napkins. Each guest received a favor basket of candy at the table along with ice cream and cake.

Guests for the afternoon event were Patty Johnson, Pat Cassidy, Denny Raymond, Main Dickerson, Rusty Whetstone, Laura Green, Bradley Whetstone, Barbara Anne Wright, Kathleen Martin, Betty Raymond, Sandra Street, Vicki McDonald, Linda Halvirk, Colleen Cassidy, Nancy Stewart, Gloria Singas and Mary Cassidy, Roberta Singas and Mary Cassidy.

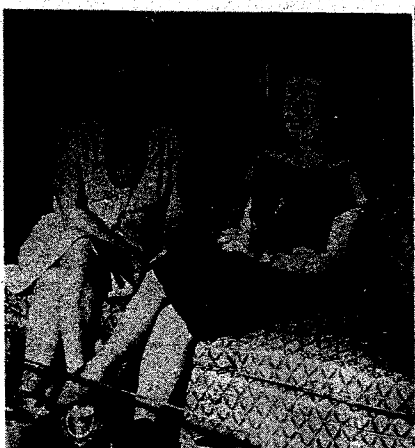

Susan-Jane was born at Fort Benning and has celebrated birthdays at Fort Bragg, Syracuse, N. Y., and in New York City.

Patients Enjoy Outing At Lake

Thirteen convalescents at the station hospital were on an outing at the W. C. Bradley Benevolent fund at Yacht reservation July 22.

The outing was another in a series sponsored by the Columbus Red Cross chapter in cooperation with the Fort Benning chapter.

Following an afternoon of fishing, a picnic supper was served to S-Sgt. Elijah Johns, T-4 Albert Rogers, Pvt. Arthur Dilmus, Pvt. Mike C. Valdez, T-Sgt. Richard Hawkins, Pvt. Bill Ligon, Pvt. Glenn Strang, Pvt. Jessie Baker, Officer Candidate Walter Basula, Pfc. Glenn Freeman, T-3 Dale Saele, T-3 John Egan and Pvt. Nester Guerara. Misses Patsy Sparks and Annette Levine, Red Cross hospital workers, accompanied the patients.

MRS. O'DANIEL AND HOUSEGUEST—Miss Kita Rooks, right, is the charming houseguest of Major General and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel. Miss Rooks is here from Washington, D. C., and has been entertained at several social events on the Post.

Formal Dinner Party Honors Couples Leaving In August

Officers and ladies of the troop movement group of the General Section of The Infantry Center honored two couples who are leaving the Post when they held a formal dinner party at the Officers' club Tuesday evening.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas H. Beck and Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. G. Miller were the honorees. The Becks will be leaving in mid-August as he is going to the Armed Forces Staff college in Norfolk, Va., while the Millers will be leaving about the same time to go to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where Colonel Miller will attend the Command and General Staff college.

The party was entertained on the club porch and before dinner cocktails were served. The long table was decorated with a centerpiece of white gladioli and greenery used as runners. Ivory tapers were held in silver candelabra and cards marked places for Col. and Mrs. Fay Ross, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James R. Davidson, Lt. Col. and Mrs. O. P. Eagan and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas H. Beck, Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. G. Miller, Major and Mrs. Harry H. Walker Jr., Major James J. Packman, Miss Patricia Lynch, Major and Mrs. C. R. Bess and Major and Mrs. William R. Lynch Jr.

Skinny Ennis Appearance Highlight Of Season At Club

The highlight of the summer season at the Officers' club came Saturday evening as a record crowd attended the dance featuring the music of Skinny Ennis and his orchestra.

Dinner dances were the most popular for the program and more than 300 reservations were made for the dinner with most of the guests being served on the patio where cool breezes and the popular music made a lovely setting for the event.

Among the outstanding parties was the one given by Col. and Mrs. Hamilton Thorne who served cocktails at their quarters before going to the club for dinner. Among the guests invited to this formal gathering were Major General and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel, Mrs. Ralph E. Bregan, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Whitfield P. Sheppard, Col.

and Mrs. Irvine C. Scudder, Col. and Mrs. H. A. Stewart, Col. and Mrs. Ralph E. Tibbets, Col. and Mrs. O. P. Eagan and Lt. Col. and Mrs. O. O. Wilson.

A formal no-host affair saw 55 guests together from the night weapons committee of the weapons section.

Party Surprise To Mrs. Lindsey; Going To Europe

Mrs. Howard S. Lindsey, who is leaving soon to join her husband in Italy, was entertained at a surprise party in her honor Tuesday evening at the Block 12 Non-Commissioned Officers' club when a group of her friends arranged the event with Mrs. Edwin McPhail in charge.

Approximately 45 guests, members of the club, their wives and friends attended the party which featured games and light refreshments.

Mrs. Lindsey, with her two children, a son, 6, and a daughter, 5, is in New York August 1 in preparation for their trip to Europe. Her husband, M-Sgt. H. S. Lindsey, has been stationed at Fort Benning for approximately eight years and they have lived on the Post for some time. Mrs. Lindsey has been living in Columbus.

As a going-away gift Mrs. Lindsey was presented a piece of luggage.

Dulaney Hosts At Lawn Party At Patton House

To compliment a group of their friends, Col. and Mrs. Robert L. Dulaney entertained Friday evening at a colorful lawn party held from 6 to 8 p. m. at Patton House in the Sand Hill area.

Colored lights were strung across the lawn for the gala event and the small tables arranged for the guests were decorated with bowls of mixed minis. The serving table for the light refreshments was centered with a silver bowl of yellow roses flanked by

Personals
