Plans in Motion For Army's '56 Gyro Switches

Plans for the development of a gyro switch for the Army's '56 Gyro Switches are well advanced, according to the Army's Chief of Staff, General Omar Bradley, who is expected to announce the details of the program in the near future.

The gyro switch is a device that will allow the Army to switch between different frequencies of radio waves, thereby making it possible to communicate with different units of the Army.

Top Priority Expected on 63 Bills Of Interest to Military Personnel

WASHINGTON (APPS) — When the 86th Congress reconvenes in January, the legislative hopper will hold more than 63 bills of interest to military personnel that have not been held over from the last session.

Defense department officials are confident that many of the bills will have top priority when Congress begins work following President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message Jan. 3.

Shortly after opening day, the President is expected to send a special follow-up message to the lawmakers urging passage of those measures bolstering the career incentive program.

One of the key measures expected to be considered early in the session is a bill which would bring all military personnel into the social security program on a contributing basis.

Social Security

This bill was passed by the House during the last session but not considered by the Senate.

It would do away with the $10,000 government life insurance program and replace it with greater social security benefits. The plan is especially advantageous to career servicemen.

A dependent medical care bill, introduced in the House last April, is another key proposal scheduled for early hearing.

Generally, it would authorize medical care for dependents, no matter where they are living. This measure has three options, one of which is a group insurance plan whereby the individual would pay no more than 30 per cent of the monthly premium with the government paying the rest.

Up 300 Per Cent Operation Homestead Gives Soldiers 'Housewarming' Break at Christmas

The Transportation Section has completed Operation Homestead, an accelerated household goods moving program which guaranteed incoming personnel that they would have their furniture in quarters before Christmas.

During the two-week period prior to Christmas Day, when many soldiers were returning from Sage Brush maneuvers at Fort Polk, La., the Terminal Operations Branch of the Transportation Section stepped up household deliveries over 300 per cent, assuring unassigned personnel of furnished quarters.

The move to deliver all furniture before the holiday season was dubbed Operation Homestead by Col. Eugene M. Elliott Jr., Infantry Center Transportation officer.

Col. Elliott said Dec. 12: "Let's move them all in by Christmas Day."

Prior to the stepped up transportation activity, the Terminal Branch was processing about 25,000 pounds of household deliveries a day. In an ordinary month approximately 500,000 pounds are processed.

Polk before they could settle their personal belongings in quarters. When these men returned to a greater degree through the efforts of the men who worked to make Operation Homestead a success.

Major Families Moved

According to Major McDonald, approximately 423 families were moved into quarters during the operation, and 780,000 pounds of household goods were transported and uncrated by transportation workers. An additional 150 families had goods moved out by these workers during this rushed period, which meant 52,700 pounds of personal property were processed as outgoing goods.

In all, a record 1,248,500 pounds of personal property went through the hands of Operation Homestead workers. About 725 families benefited from the project, since the object of the operation was not only to move in households goods before the holidays, but to ship out anyone's property in time for it to arrive at a destination station before Christmas.

Operation Homestead was terminated by Col. Elliott, who pointed to the approximately 100 per cent increase in manpower and a near 300 percent rise in production.

Warehouses Raiged

However, with warehouses bulging at the seams Dec. 12, and normal warehouse space increased an additional 11,818 square feet to take care of the overflow items, the operation began.

Manpower was increased from 24 men. Two additional 16-ton vans were brought in and four one and a half-ton trucks were added to the terminal operations fleet.

First three graders are allowed household goods transportation at Army expense.

A. G. Grogan, supervisor of the Terminal Operations Branch, said that 29 rail carloads of household goods arrived during December. Through Dec. 22, however, only 16 carloads had been shipped, indicating that 13 carloads are in process.

11 Men Promoted By Special Troops

Christmas greetings and congratulations could well have been mixed in Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Special Troops Command, Dec. 12, when 11 members of the unit were promoted to Grade E-4.

Making corporal were PFC's Archie B. Lindow Jr. and Emmett Lee, while eagles for Specialist Third Class went to PFC's James H. Carmichael, Eugene C. Harsh, John D. Steward, Don E. Goffard, Robert D. Henderson, Winifred H. Bush, Lorenz J. Karpf, Joe James and Thomas S. Drake.

Communists find it easy to be militant about their tyrannical form of government. From childhood, the idea that communism is the best form of government and that other forms are "decadent" is impressed upon them.

We in America are not naturally militant about liberty. Basically, we are individuals and we are apt to take things for granted.

However, in view of the present danger of communist expansion, a united drive for militant liberty is essential. Today, in every Free World country, some have dedicated themselves to causes that support liberty.

American servicemen overseas are ambassadors of liberty. They are serving in countries where the people daily are subjected to communist propaganda. It is vital that our servicemen overseas are able to explain clearly the principles of democracy.

A few individuals are not enough. All of us must join in this great effort. We must make it our business to know what democracy means and what it stands for. This is what we mean by "militant" liberty—to positively proclaim and explain the truths of our liberty and freedom (AFPS).

Chaplain's Corner

BY CHAPLAIN (CAPT.) THOMAS D. MCGRATH, TIC Catholic Chaplain

The dictionary defines ENVY as begrudging or coveting another what he owns or enjoys. It brooding over the good fortune of others because it lessens one's own position, or glowering over the misfortune of others because it lessens one's personal good fortune.

Envy is most often found amongst those who are members of the same profession or engaged in the same pursuits. A person does not ordinarily envy others who are pursuing entirely different careers from his own. Thus a military officer is not usually inclined to envy a successful businessman; he will be tempted to envy fellow-officers who are promoted more rapidly than he is. A business man seldom envies a doctor or a lawyer; it is his more successful business competitors whom he is tempted to envy. The feeling of the other hand is in little danger of envying the successful athlete; he must be on guard against envying fellow doctors.

The tendency to envy manifests itself in many small ways: the envious person frequently minimizes the qualifications and accomplishments of his superiors. He shows an unusual interest in their mistakes and failures; in ways it can only be deserved.

Army Taking No Action On Tennessee

WASHINGTON (APPS) — The Army will not take legal action against former POW Richard Tennessee who has returned to the U. S. after voluntarily agreeing to go to Communist China following the Korean armistice.
The Army said it felt it had no jurisdiction over Tennessee who was given a dishonorable discharge at the time he elected to stay with his communist captors.
Any charges against Tennessee therefore will have to be filed by the Department of Justice in a civil court.
The Army's policy regarding Tennessee apparently was determined by a recent Federal court order releasing three other former prisoners who returned earlier from China. The trio had been taken into custody by the Army and held for military jurisdiction over the dishonorably discharged trio.
The federal judge held that the Army had no jurisdiction over the trio because "they came," said the judge. "Sold," said the driver.
The driver got rolled up to the top of the city center," said the driver.

Engs Repair Ranger Camp

One officer and forty-five (45) enlisted men of Company "C", 78th Engineer Battalion returned to Fort Benning this month from Eglin Air Force Base, Florida, where they rehabilitated training facilities at the Ranger Camp.

Capt. Graefe Joins 557th

The job consisted of constructing a Prisoner of War Inclosure and maneuver fortifications.

It was necessary for the Engineers of Company "C" to use all their skill and know-how that has been acquired on jobs similar in nature to this one to accomplish the prescribed project in the required time.

Equipment from the 78th Engineer Battalion was dispatched to the job site; however, the Commanding Officer of Eglin Air Force Base furnished some of the heavier equipment and materials required for the construction.

First Lieutenant Hugh S. Pearson, Platoon Leader of first platoon of Company "C", was the Officer in Charge of the project, and Graefe was in a reserve status. He was assisted by 1st Sgt. Roy E. Green, Platoon Sergeant of the first platoon of Company "C".

He attended Edison High School at his home in Miami, and received his Bachelor of Civil Engineering Degree from Georgia Tech in 1942.

First entering the Army as an enlisted man in 1944, he was assigned to the 14th Infantry Division at Fort Rucker, Alabama. He served in Japan in 1945 with the 80th Engineer Battalion, which was among the first of the occupational forces in post-war Japan. From 1946 through 1948, Captain Graefe was in a reserve status. Upon graduating from Georgia Tech in 1949 he received an ROTC Commission as a Second Lieutenant.

WAC Joins S-2, CTC

Specialist First Class Jacqueline Moore, WAC Company, STC was recently assigned for duty with the S-2 Section, Special Troops Command. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Moore, who reside at 82 Avenue A in Prichard, Ala.

Specialist Moore first entered the Army in February, 1954 and took basic training at Fort Lee, Va., where she also attended the clerk typist school. From Fort Lee, she was assigned to the G-2 Office in the Pentagon and in June, 1955, overseas orders sent her to Salzburg, Austria, where she remained until February, 1956. Returned to the U. S. for discharge, she tried civilian life for seven months and then applied for active duty through the Reserve and was again assigned to G-2 in Washington. Upon the expiration of her tour of service this year, she reenlisted and was assigned to the WAC Company here at Fort Benning.

577th Engineers Mark Year With Many Accomplishments

The year 1955 proved to be highly successful for the 577th Engineers. During the first half of the year the battalion's construction work was somewhat limited as two of the three line companies were still in their camp training stage.

At this time Company "C" completed several important projects, such as the initial construction of McAndrew's Range, the Post Field Range, and two tank ranges. Two tank ranges were established on Division Road, and a platoon of men were placed on TDV for rehabilitating the Ranger Mountain Training Camp located near Dahlonega, Georgia.

Early summer brought three active construction companies with support from the Headquarters and Service Company, to the demands of 1st Engineer Group (Combat) in support of the USAR Summer Training Program.

Few events take place on post without the assistance given by the engineers; for instance, a junior jump tower was erected for the children at the 4th of July celebration. Both equipment for support and demonstrations were rendered by the "hearty" 577th for the JOC and Annual Association of the US Army Demonstrations.

In early September a party of surveyors from H&S Company went on a surveying reconnaissance to Destin, Fla., site of The Infantry Center's Rest Camp. The group went to survey the area for possible new quarters. Sometime later, Company again revisited The Ranger Mountain Training Camp at Dahlonega for another rehabilitation program.

With a busy year behind them, all signs point toward a busier future for 1956, with several projects already in the making.

Plans Announced For Boxing 'Open'

Final plans for the Fort Ben-Matches will be in all weight classing open post boxing officials. Competition will take place at the 17-18-19 of January. Plans were announced by Lt. Fole Rademacher, assistant sports officer and post boxing coach, early this week.

The tourney will be open to all on a major-unit and individual boxers on the post. The only requirements are that they be amateurs and have participated in a unit athletic and recreation officer public appearance in the ring. All contestants and teams must be submitted to the Sports Office, First Special Services, TIC, no later than January 2.

Points will be awarded to units on the basis of teams entered and also on matches won. Teams receiving the highest point total will be declared the winners.

Other fighters who will accompany Rademacher, in addition to Roloff, are Ed Crook, former All-Service Champ; Bobby Randolph, All Army title holder; Al Molano; Dick Peters; and John Akon.

Post Boxers At Florence

Fole Rademacher versus Cobby White, All Southern heavyweight champion, and Tony Beales versus Sonny Ray Whitaker, All Southern bantamweight title holder, will highlight the card at Florence, Alabama, tonight when Rademacher leads his Fort Benning boxing team against an aggregation of southern professional and amateur fighters.

Other fighters who will accompany Rademacher, in addition to Roloff, are Ed Crook, former All-Service Champ; Bobby Randolph, All Army title holder; Al Molano; Dick Peters; and John Akon.

Platoon Leader Newly Assigned In 577th Engrs.

Second Lt. Murray K. Barnard has been assigned as platoon leader to Company A of the 57th Engineer Battalion (Construction), 151st Engineer Group (Combat), 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile).

Lt. Barnard's home is in a nearby suburb. He is a member of the Alpha Chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He is also a member of the Sigma Xi Honor Society.

He entered the service in June, 1953, and was graduated from the basic officer engineer course at Fort Belvoir, Va. His last assignment before coming to the 57th Engineer Group was with the 58th Engineer Group, also under the 151st Engineer Group.

PROMOTED TO FIRST... Robert Y. Lary, A & R Officer of the Infantry School Detachment, receives his silver bars from Lt. Col. James L. McKennie, Detachment Commander.

OUTLOOK GOOD

U. S. business leaders expect the current economic boom to continue through 1956 with over all business activity even slightly above that of 1955, a record smashing year.

A forum of business experts, sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, expressed this optimistic view. But they warned that 1956 may see a new cycle of rising wages and higher prices.

Post Doughboys to Meet Girls' Team In Basketball Set-to on January 8

BY ROB RENO
The Fort Benning Doughboys will play a game of basketball Sunday evening, Jan. 8, at 8:30 with Hazel Walker's all-girl Arkansas Travelers.

The Travelers' rated the country's top girls' professional basketball team, will be the second pro basketball team in the Doughboys have met this season. They defeated the highly touted Vashond Kings, 101-47, some weeks ago.

The girls, however, play seven members and all of them are slated to be present for the game.

Hazel Walker, team coach and star player, has made the female All-American team 11 times. She has won the National Free Throw championship six years and the International two years. In the free throw competition she holds a record of 49 of 50 attempts. A mark that has never been equaled by man or woman.

Other members of the girls' squad are: Francis (Goose) Garretts, Mary (Bell) Robbins, Lorraine Greer, Helen Blachum, Amelia Ziegler, and Toby Rayburn.

Garretts is reputed to be the "greatest" professional women's basketball player in the country. She once scored 68 points in a game and averages 40 to 50 points against top male competition.

Robbins is one of the younger members of the squad and a former All-American. She hit 47 of 50 free throws in a national championship triumph to become the closest player to equal Walker's of 49.

Green has made the All-American team the past eight straight years, being named captain and most valuable player four of those years. She is a member of the girls' basketball Hall of Fame.

Blachum is another newcomer to the Travelers. She is a former FBI employee and led the FBI girls' team to the National AAU meet. She is considered one of the finest defensive players.

Ziegler is the smallest member of the squad, standing at 5'7". She is supposed to be a great dribbler.

Rayburn is another All-American and has played in a flock of national amateur tournaments before turning pro. This is her first season with the Travelers.

PERTINENT STATISTICS, basketball-wise, are: average age, 21; height, 6'; and weight, 155.

Commenting on the game, head coach of the Doughboys, Bob Kinard, said, "We'll up-play them a game. Maybe I'll suit up myself."

Sgt. Kalakikos Brings Cheer to Needy

A Christmas present for the needy campaign headed by Sgt. George M. Kalakikos of the Third Infantry Division NCO Club has provided a spark of holiday brightness in the otherwise bleak outlook for some of Columbus' needy families.

Sgt. Kalakikos was organizing the campaign for the past few years and funds for the presents are donated by enlisted personnel and store owners in Columbus. This year, as in the past, the campaign paid for complete winter wardrobes for a large number of children and also provided for a cash present for their parents.

Among those to benefit from the Christmas spirit of the campaign was young Billy Berry of Columbus, a five-year-old who is particularly needy. The fund provided for complete winter wardrobes for Billy and other presents for the

Parker Receives Army Citation

SFC Richard Parker, Company C, First Battalion, Third Infantry Division, received two letters of commendation for his sharp-shooting while a member of the Third Army Rifle Team in the 1953 National Rifle Matches.

The letters of praise came from Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, commander of Third Army, and Major Gen. George E. Lynch, commander of the Third Division.

Referring to Sgt. Parker's performance as a member of the Third Army Rifle Team in the National Rifle Matches conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 26 to Sept. 1, Gen. Hickey's letter said, in part:

"The exemplary manner and fine performance of the Third Army Rifle Team in winning first place in the Expert Class in the Nevada Trophy Rifle Team Match, winning third place in the National Trophy Rifle Team Match, and your excellent performance in individual matches during the National Matches, reflect great credit to you and the Army."

WINS PROMOTION ... Allen S. Chandler, 577th Engineer Battalion, has been promoted to first lieutenant. Equipment officer and assigned to Headquarters and Service Company, Lt. Chandler is a native of Greensboro, N.C.

Bandman Writes Peppy New Words For Army Song

WASHINGTON (APFS)—SFC Robert Dini, 75-year-old musician with the U. S. Army Band at Ft. Myer, Va., is the winner of the official Army lyric writing contest held recently by the Military District of Washington.

His lyrics, together with other MDW entries, will compete in the Army-wide competition.

Dini is a featured singer on the Army Recruiting Service radio show "Songs by Dini." His winning lyric is to the tune of "The Caisson Song."

The first verse and chorus are: We are proud, we are strong In the ranks where MEV belong For the ARMY GOES MARCHING ALONG On the guard day and night We're the men who have the might! For the ARMY GOES MARCHING ALONG (Chorus)

And we never rest till we show 'em we are best! Call out in numbers clear and strong (Chorus)

PHILADELPHIA (APFS)—The world's largest turbine-powered transport helicopter—the 40-passenger YH-1A "Turbo Transport"—test recently from here in the first public demonstration of the huge craft.

In tests, the craft was able to maintain altitude with a normal load, while using only one of its two engines.

The YH-1A, which weighs more than 16 tons, has a top speed of approximately 150 mph. Its fuel economy, which is 77% as large as that of a conventional transport helicopter, is designed to accommodate three engines.

Designed and built by Pleschke Helicopter Corp. for the AF Air Research and Development Command, the YH-1A is being used in building a third transport helicopter—the YH-1B, of even greater payload and of a higher speed. The YH-1B is designed to carry 60 troops and is expected to be the production version of the Turbo Transport.

Data gathered from tests of the new YH-1A are being used in building a third transport helicopter—the YH-1B, of even greater payload and of a higher speed. The YH-1B is designed to carry 60 troops and is expected to be the production version of the Turbo Transport.

Corporal Artillery Fixed for Europe

Six Corporal field artillery battalions are scheduled to be assigned to Europe during the first four months of 1956, according to the Department of the Army.

The Corporal battalions scheduled to move to Europe are now at the Army's Guided Missile Center at Fort Bliss, Texas. They are the 32nd, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th and 39th Field Artillery Battalions.

The Corporal is a surface-to-surface guided missile capable of attacking the range of conventional artillery. It is capable of employing either storm or conventional warheads.

New Sargeant Major

40-Sgt. Theora E. Smith has been assigned to Headquarters 3rd and Service Company of the 57th Engineer Battalion (Construction), 15th Engineer Group (Combat) as the battalion's youngest major. Smith, a Floridian, attended Milton Public Schools, Milton, Fla. before his entry into the service, where he was employed as a draughtsman for the West Florida Bridge Corp.

On Nov. 23, 1955, MSgt. Smith was assigned to the 13th Coast Artillery at Camp Bunnell, Fla. During World War II he served with the 90th Infantry Regiment, Third Infantry in Germany. He served three years in post-war Germany with the 14th Armoured Cavalry. Before coming to Fort Benning, he was assigned to the 37th Engineers, which incidentally is his first engineer assignment. He is currently assigned to the Infantry Center here at Fort Benning.

Specialist Unrest Justified

BY YE PATER

If "progress" were actually synonymous with "change" (as all too many persons usually believe) the much heralded NCO-Specialist separation plan would take top honors in the progress parade.

Scarcely the month is being. The plan has been the subject of countless squad-room recombination sessions, letters to the editors of every ice and service-slanted publication, and a general source of discomfiture among the soldiers.

A major gripe comes from former sergeants (E-5) who were given "4th level" status and subject matter surrounded by an arc of similar hue—of the Specialist Second Class and suddenly found themselves on the SP and Private of the Guard Roster, not to mention being shown the door at "NCO Open Messes." Few if any of these former NCO's are serving an initial hitch—gratees don't make promotions that fast nowadays. They feel that the Army has broken faith with them by changing the terms of their employment in a vital and sensitive area, morale-wise; and they have a point. And they aren't very receptive to re-up talk!

INFANTRY CENTER PERSONNEL OFFICER

Col. Sutton to Get Col. Russell's Job

A major staff change will take place the first week in February when Col. William J. Russell, Infantry Center G-1 leave for Manila, Philippine Islands. He will be succeeded by Col. Earl Sutton, former commander of the Combat Training Command.

Col. Sutton, who has served several months with the G-1 Section in preparation for his new job, was commissioned in 1936.

He arrived at Fort Benning in July, 1954, for the dual job of commander of the 23d Infantry Regiment and Combat Training Command.

Job Incentive Program Hits Highest Mark

Job improvement suggestions made by Infantry Center personnel to the Incentive Awards Committee in 1955 soared to nearly twice the number submitted the previous year, saving the Army approximately $133,414.29 annually.

Of the 213 suggestions in 1955, 117 were from civilian employees and 92 by servicemen. In 1954, 117 suggestions were submitted, and in 1953, 115, according to J. Frank Spear of Smiths, Ala., Incentive Awards Committee secretary.

Ike Eulogizes Armed Forces In Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower in his recent State of the Union message, he said, paid tribute to the members of the armed forces for the important role they play in the nation's defense.

"In the last analysis," he said, "our real strength lies in the caliber of the men and women in our armed forces, active and reserve."

Although much has been done to attract and hold capable military personnel, "more needs to be done," he said, "to attract and hold the best talent for our military and naval services."

He renewed his request last year for legislation to provide professional care for military dependents and a more equitable survivors' benefit program.

"The administration," he added, "will prepare additional recommendations designed to achieve the same objectives, including cancer insurance for medical and dental officers and nurses, and increases in the proportion of regular officers."

"Speaking of the overall U.S. defense program, the President said that the nation has an effective type of power calculated to deter or short any aggression and to preserve the peace."

"Short of war," he declared, "we have never had military strength better adapted to our needs with improved readiness for emergency use."

"The maintenance of this strong military capability for the indefinite future will continue to call for a large share of our national budget."

Gen. Eisenhower said the effectiveness and combat-readiness of our forces has been improved by putting new weapons into operation and by integrating the latest scientific developments, including new atomic weapons, into our military plans.

3-A Folk Show Plans 4 Days Of Gala Acts

A special Third Army folk show, "Circle A Wranglers," will arrive here for a four-day stint Jan. 12.

The presentation from Third Army personnel, according to Col. McPherson, Ga., features a cast of seven enlisted men singing and playing a variety of musical instruments.

The "Circle A" in the title refers to the insignia worn by Third Army personnel, according to Special Services.

The Army's Chief of Chaplains event calls for appearances at the Recreation Club at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 16; the Army Hospital, Red Cross Headquarters Hall at 2:30 p.m., and Service Club No. 1 at 8 p.m. Jan. 17; the hospital ward at 8 p.m. Jan. 18; and Service Club No. 5 at 8 p.m. Jan. 18, and Service Club No. 2 at 8 p.m. Jan. 19.

The group is led by Pvt. Harry Blivins, guitarist, who starred on his own show for Radio Station WBAI in Montgomery, Ala.

Others in the cast are PFC Elmer E. Gonzalez, Pvt. James H. Jones, George Lane, Ernest Murray, Kent Baker and Edward Gordon, all assigned to Fort McPherson.

Bike Clinic Is Re-Opened

The third bicycle clinic for Post children started Jan. 7.

The highly successful youth safety program began in 1954 with two sessions held in Over 200 children from 15 over 200 children participated. There were 38 children registered for the Jan. 7 clinic.

The youthful bike drivers are given five hours of training which covers road safety. At the end of the course, they are tested over an obstacle route and licensed as "bike drivers."

The success of the program was evidenced last year when a national contest to discuss military safety was held. The contest was won by a child from Fort Benning requesting full information on the clinic.

Wilson Given Eight Years

Pfc. Richard F. Wilson, charged with the December 1 slaying and robbery of SFC Willy B. Burton, was found guilty last night of voluntary manslaughter and larceny.

He was sentenced to dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and eight years at hard labor.

The 19-man general court martial deliberated from 3:40 yesterday afternoon until 5:30 p.m. before returning a verdict on the charges.

Wilson had been charged with murder and robbery.

A group of 22 witnesses was brought before the court by the trial counsel. The defense counsels presented three witnesses during the three-day trial. Wilson did not take the stand.

The sentence is subject to automatic review by Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Harper, commanding general of the Infantry Center, the Board of Review in the Judge Advocate General Office in Washington, and, upon application, may be reviewed by the Clotelian Board of Appeals in Washington.

Eric Gen. Sidney Wooten, deputy assistant commanding general of the Infantry Center, was present at the court.

Chief Chaplain Here Next Week

The Army's Chief of Chaplains, Major Gen. Patrick J. Ryan, will be at Fort Benning Jan. 17.

He will speak at 11:15 p.m. in the Main Theater to approximately 400 student officers at the organization, national observance of Army Chaplain's Section.

The sentence is subject to automatic review by Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Harper, commanding general of the Infantry Center, the Board of Review in the Judge Advocate General Office in Washington, and, upon application, may be reviewed by the Clotelian Board of Appeals in Washington.

Eric Gen. Sidney Wooten, deputy assistant commanding general of the Infantry Center, was present at the court.

Tax Men Here 19-20th

The Columbus office of the Internal Revenue Bureau will hold its annual tax conference Jan. 19-20.

The conference is for all interested military personnel.

Beginning at 3:30 a.m. the all-day sessions will be conducted in the Main Theater. At the end of the course, they are tested over an obstacle route and licensed as "bike drivers."

The success of the program was evidenced last year when a national contest to discuss military safety was held. The contest was won by a child from Fort Benning requesting full information on the clinic.

TO APPEAR HERE

"America's Number One Band" will be at Fort Benning on January 18 at 7 p.m. Admission is 50c and the public is welcome.

Throngs Enjoyed Band's Music in PC But, Oh, What Practicing Was Done!

The thousands of people who sa-luted Phenix City, Ala., at the All-American City exercise Jan. 7 are not apt to know the full story behind the Fort Benning musicians' preparation for such an event.

In addition to intense practices of playing and maintaining equipment, there are other preparations of extra brass polishing and remembering to keep hands off chrome helmets.

It is all part of getting ready for such as the one received by the Army bands at the Infantry Center to participate in last Saturday's parade.

Approximately 45 Fort Benning bandmen played the engagement, including many other marching bands from the Columbus and Phenix City areas. The post bands should look good besides being able to play well. The players must play everything into meticulous shape. They wash and bleach their whites, consisting of gloves, bells, scarves and fourragères, then begin polishing all their brass.

For an Army band, brass on the compared to the job that must be done on the instruments, "Play the poor tuba player," said Wrenstrom.

A cleaning-up of the nickle-plated helms and the advance work was over, course. The players must remember not to touch their helmets while marching. Fingernails must be kept clean.

So the band went to Phenix City, staged its usual stellar show playing such tunes as "Colonel Bogey March," "Invercauld," "On the Square," and college marching songs.

Once again think of the tuba player. He must utilize a lot of wind to blow the instrument and like the rest of the hornmen, keep his lip on the mouthpiece although he is blowing—which, of course, cannot be helped. Such "extras" are thrown in as watching the music, keeping the line of marchers straight and glancing at the leader to know when to stop or start play.

Hardest job of all, though, has been awarded to the drummer, because he must play, since he can never stop playing. He must continue on, if only to keep the band in step.

As so often occurs in bands, the fellow playing the big bass drum for the second is a little guy.

When the band passed the All-American City Flag in Saturday's parade, everyone looked up a beech-elor gave an extra ripple.

Maj. Robertson Wins TIC Honor

Major Charles C. Robertson Jr., former battalion executive officer and commander, 40th Student Battalion, the School Brigade is the recipient of a Certificate of Achievement Award for Meritorious Service from period August 1, 1953, to December 31, 1953.

The certificate states, in part, that he "played a major role in establishing policies and procedures that have been of immeasurable value in increasing the capabilities of the unit to meet school requirements."

"His exceptional capability as an organizer enabled the battalion to build and feed approximately 1,500 transient personnel enroute to Operation Seagrass each month, above and beyond the assigned mission. He made a significant contribution to the Infantry Center by his outstanding ability as a coordinator, exercising attention to detail and leadership."

"The exemplary manner in which Major Robertson performed his duties reflects great credit to himself and the Infantry School. The award is given by Major General Joseph H. Harper, commander general, The Infantry Center."

Major Robertson has departed for Fort Belvoir, Ill., to assume his duties at the Panama Canal Zone for further assignment.

NEW CC AT SCHOOL BRIGADE . . . Captain Sid Stovall, Jr., has been assigned as the new commander of Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the School Brigade, succeeding Major Frederick W. Hoopman, who is now the executive officer of the First Student Battalion. Captain Stovall was formerly with the staff of Bigerville Mess.

CONARC Unit 3 Gets New Exec

Eugene J. Zander of Columbus and George Washington University, is the new executive officer of Continental Army Command's Home Research Unit No. 3.

An executive officer, Zander will have among his duties liaison responsibilities between the Fort Benning unit and George Washington University in Washington. Prior to his arrival, Zander was engaged in psychological warfare research at the university.

Unit No. 3 is currently testing a revolutionary rifle marksmanship training method called Trainfire, which is expected to improve the firing ability of the Infantryman.

Zander is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a bachelor of arts and masters' degree.

Jews Plan Minyanaire

Fort Benning's Jewish Religious Center will give a minyanaire brunch at 10:30 a.m. Jan. 15 at the center.

A brief service will be followed by luncheon featuring bar mitzva at 11 a.m. The occasion includes a series of monthly brunch meetings.

"Sex and Marriage" will be discussed following the brunch by a panel including Lt. Colonel L.D. Solomon Kaplan, Third Infantry Division Jewish chaplain, Mrs. David Spiegel, Lt. ## Travel Pay Now Part Of 'Income' on Form

A recent ruling of the Internal Revenue Bureau modifies a former ruling and has particular interest to servicemen. All members of uniformed services are required to include in their gross income all per diem and travel allowances while engaged on temporary duty. Deductible from this amount will be actual expenses incurred such as food, railroad fares, lodging and automobile expense, but travel expense for aide trips and delays cannot be deducted.

Since this income will not be listed on the W-2 Form this year, military personnel must list these payments on a separate sheet to be attached to the income tax return. Actual expenses incurred while receiving these allowances may be deducted from payment received along with depreciation on automobiles, and the difference will be entered as income on the tax return unless expenses exceed payments and this amount may be deducted from income.

The old law required that all travel pay must be entered in Fourth Army Shooters Dominate Alamo Match

PT. SAM HOUSTON, Tex. (APRS)—Two Fourth Army marksmen, both of whom were members of the Army pistol team at the Camp Perry, Ohio, national matches, dominated the Alamo City Mid-Winter Pistol Tournament in San Antonio.

The duo, Maj. Lloyd C. Hummert, of Camp Chaffee, Ark., and 1st Lt. David C. Miller of Ft. Sargent, Houston, won the team match as Fourth Army with a score of 397 out of a possible 600.

Lt. Miller won the grand aggregate championship with a score of 2,579 points, one point off the national service record. He also won the 45-cal. and NRA score course aggregate championships and won nine trophies and seven medals during the five-day event.

Maj. Hummert won the 22-cal. and center fire championships.

Benning 'Returns' To 'America's' City

Fort Benning returned to the city across the river" in full glory last Saturday, heading a colorful 20-block long parade honoring a new Phenix City—an All-American City.

Enthusiasm was evident everywhere among the estimated 20,000 spectators who spilled onto Broad Street and into neighboring streets as they watched the 25-member 23rd Army Band lead the parade on the 12 o'clock starting time for the procession in which 2,000 Phenix City and Columbus citizens participated.

Following next, and deafening applause, were two crack platoons of the 29th Infantry Regiment's standard company.

Under the command of Capt. Paul W. Glenn the troops, with their shining chrome helmets, sparkling boots, and white gloves, made a distinct impression on the parade viewers as they marched smartly in step to the sprightly military airs of the Special Troops Command band.

The 44th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon provided additional spectacular interest. Just before the official ceremonies began, the 15 scout dog handlers were kept busy as admitting youngsters and dog jumps piled-up with spectators about the dirt, dust and work of their German Shepherd charges. In addition, the German Shepherders a little difficulty in putting on dignified poses for the swarm of picture takers.

Minor amusement was provided in the case of one honored bander whose canine barked hysterically and long whenever the motorcycle policemen roared by in their new blue jackets and shiny motorcycles.

The helping hands of one Honor Guard member also proved helpful prior to parade time. The blushing soldier, Pfc. Lyman Broughton of Norrida, New York, had the honorable Queen's Court and one of the ribbon bedecked floats, one of 50 that were in the hour-long procession.

In official welcoming ceremonies that took place at the City Hall Building, spectators heard Mayor Clyde M. Kowles, Jr. welcome the Fort Benning party and praise the "help and official ceremonies begun, the 15 scout dog handlers were kept busy marked the year anniversary since the lifting of the off-limit signs on the Chattahoochee River bridges between Phenix City and Columbus. —Editor.

Infantry School Quarterly Prints Intriguing Article From CONARC

The rifle — the basic weapon of the US Army — has been used... with lessening of effectiveness in combat. This is why, according to CONARC, the army is now testing a new concept designed to improve its on-line rifle marksmanship program.

An article entitled "Training," in the January issue of the Infantry School Quarterly, by the Infantry Section of Headquarters, Continental Army Command, describes the new marksmanship training program. This article explains how the new concept adds both realism and accuracy to marksmanship training.

Why do we aim our rifles? When should they shoot at the enemy? These and similar questions are answered by Lt. Col. Douglas Lindsey in the current issue. In an article entitled "Red Crosses and Guns," Col. Lindsey explains why the TOE of an Infantry regiment now provides weapons for 50 per cent of its medical personnel.

NEW BARS... Lieutenant John G. Bishop (right) of Datto, Mont., assigned as tactical officer of the 104th Company, 2nd Student Battalion, the School Brigade, has his new silver bar inspected by Lt. Col. Beverly N. Skardon, commanding officer of the Battalion.

Doughboys Will Hit Road Tonight To Meet Turner Air Force, Then on to Eglin Sunday

BY BOB RENO

The Doughboys will hit the road starting tonight to begin the 1956 portion of their basketball schedule. Turner Air Force Base, Ala. will furnish the competition this evening, and then they will travel to Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. for a game Sunday.

The next home game is set for Monday evening, January 23. Following the home game on against Camp Gordon (SCTC), Ga. Exact strength and weaknesses of the Turner and Eglin teams are unknown, but head coach Bob Kinard hopes to lead his reorganized quintet against them. Turnk Thompson, a leading scorer, was due prior to the Hazel Walker game lost to an early release.

Expected to fill his vacancy is Doug Dickey, a center.

The game against Hazel Walker was a wonderful exhibition for the Doughboys, allowing them to relax and clown a bit. But as a test of Kinard's rejuvenation, it was wholly insufficient.

Kinard used a two-plyon setup against Walker. It is not known whether he will stick to it when they play service teams. The starting line-up consisted of Don Weber, John O'Hara, Tom Flynn, Andy Porter and Hugh Hupman.

For Hupman and Porter, it was their first starting assignments. Both did a creditable job.

Ken Hicks continued to show improvement, especially as a ball handler. Willy Dinger, fully recovered from a cut over his left eye, was back in action and did some scoring punch to the Benning and Robert J. Richards.

YALE LARY (See Jay's Column)

Jay's Journey

BY JAY ADELMAN

Bayonet Sports Editor

Results of the pre-holiday East Coast Service Basketball Ball conducted by the Provost Marshal General Center at Camp Gordon, Ga., put Fort Benning in a four-way tie for 12th place among the 20. The PMGC "Saints" Fort Jackson, S.C. and Parris Island, S.C. "Three teams the Doughboys met near the close of the pre-holiday period, rank two, three and four. Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D.C. heads the list. Highest single game score, 124 points, was chalked up by PMGC against Shaw Air Force Base, S.C. . . . Fort Benning split with PMGC, 1955 Third Army champs, and Fort Jackson's Eagles dropping two to Parris Island. The win over Jackson is the only defeat in an otherwise perfect slate of nine wins for the Eagles.

Star quarterback Yale Lary of the School Brigade Rams recently signed a contract to play his second year with the Detroit Lions. Lary, a halfback with the pros, averaged 46.2 yards per carry in his freshman year. With the post champion Eagles he was high scorer with 106 points, gained 1,200 yards passing and running and heaved nine TD passes.

His two top receivers, ends Ernie Stockert and Lou Sawchik, have turned their attention to a big basketball program engaged in by little players — the Doughboy Boys' Basketball League, where they coach the Flyers in the six-team Red League for eight- to 10-year-olds. Inaugurals in the Doughboys three divisions begin Saturday morning. The four-team White League, ages 11 to 13, and four-team Blue League, 14 to 16, round out the picture. Nearly 150 youngsters are already registered to play, many of them veterans of other sports sponsored by the Youth Activities Club. Lt. Col. Samuel E. Shoemaker is league chairman, continuing the work he did for the Doughboy Boys' Basketball League.

Now, as to this business of Fort Benning's 65-59 win over Hazel Walker and her band of chicanery — may as well face the fact no one will demand a refund. This was not a repeat of the Vagabond Kings joke.

A few questions, however, remain to be answered: Which Doughboy turned red-faced so quickly when Mary Robbins nudged her hand on his crewcut and asked, "Whattaya' tryin' to do there, pretty boy, steal the ball?"

Did the officials miss a few important foul calls because the girls had them doubling over with laughter? How close to the basket must you creep, Don Weber, in order to match incomparable Miss Walker on foul shots from the kneeling and sitting positions? And why, Bern, did you look at Coach Bob Kinard for solace when his laughter was nearly turning to tears? Will there be repercussions directed toward one Doughboy for referring to the Arkansas Travelers as ". . . just like so many girls — mostly show?"

Sixty Boxers Set For Open Tourney

BY BOB RENO

Approximately 60 boxers are expected to compete in the Post Special Services Open Class boxing tourney next week at Briant Wells Field House.

An All-Time Great

Buddy Bomar to Stage Exhibition Of Bowling for Post Fans Tonight

One of bowling's all-time greats will make an appearance at the Post Bowling Alley's this evening. Buddy Bomar of the famed Jack-Boys of Chicago, will give an exhibition to some 300 spectators through the cooperation of the Brunswick - Balke - Colender Co.

Bomar, a relatively young bowler at 35, has registered 54,300 or better. Up to last year, he was the only league to ever compete in every final round of the annual all-star tournament. He has an average of 202.200 for all games.

Division, have contributed large teams thus far. The 151st Engineer also have indicated they will enter a team.

Among those from the Third Division are Joe Gibson, 113, post boxer last year; Hector Borrara, post team this year; and John Kelly, a regular post boxer last year. All are from the 151st ICC.

From the 30th ICC are Bennie Taylor and Donnie Miller, both well-known pugilists of last year. And the winners and runners-up, in Farron Hattie, on the post team this year, is also from the 30th ICC.

Dates for the tourney are set up by the Sports Office, Post Special Services, are the 17th, 18th, and 19th of January.

Competition will be on a team and individual level. Awards will be presented to the major unit team with the highest point total and the winners and runners-up, in each weight classification. Points will be awarded to units on the basis of teams entered and matches won. Team receiving highest point total will be declared the winner.

Weighting ceremonies will take place at 10 a. m. each day of competition at Briant Wells Field House. The physical examinations will be held on January 14, 10 a. m. at Briant Wells.

Matches will be made in the following weight classifications: 115, 125, 135, 147, 155, 165, 175 and heavyweight.

Golf Play Scheduled

Golf activities next week include a monthly Scotch Foursome Jan. 15 beginning at 12 p.m. Reservations for the tournament may be made by calling the Pro Shop at the Country Club.

Also scheduled is a ladies' golf coffee sponsored by the Fort Benning Woman Golfers at 10 a.m. Jan. 18 at the club.

Boy Basketball Open on Saturday

The Doughboy Boys' Basketball League, sponsored by the Youth Activities Club, renews activities Saturday (Jan. 14) morning when nearly 150 youngsters and teenagers start court action. The League is divided into three divisions, the six-team Red League for eight-to-10-year-olds, four-team White League for ages 11 to 13, and four-team Blue League, 14 to 16.

Teams listed among the Red League are the Rams, Rock, of the Marine, Cottonblenders, Raiders, Can Doers and Commanders. The Whites feature the Knicks, Warriors, Nationals and Celtics, while the Blues include the Lakers, Royals, Hawks and Pistons.

Many of the players and administrators who have made the Youth Activities Club sports so successful in the past have returned for the winter campaign. League officials are Ed E. Samuel, E. Shoemaker of Helena, Mont., chairman; Lt. Col. William L. Hutphenry of Iowa, chief official; Lt. Col. Joseph B. McGuire of Memphis, Tenn., chief timer and scorer, and SFC Harry B. Gorth of Elizabeth, Tenn., equipment manager.

The opening day schedule follows: Red League — Commanders-Rams at 9 a.m., Raiders-Cottonblenders, 10 a.m., Raiders-Cottonblenders, 11 a.m., at Faith School, Blue League — Hawks-Royals, 11 a.m., at Faith School.

Doughboys Win Over Travelers

Fort Benning's Doughboys played a game of "trick and treat" basketball against Hazel Walker's all-star Arkansas Travelers at Benet Wells Field House Jan. 8. The "trick" missions provided the doughboys with a 65-59 win for an overflow home crowd.

Time after time the girls befuddled the winners with their "zany antics" but their shooting prowess was not up to its usual standard. Their comic talents, which, unfortunately, were the fans most wanted to see, still little to be desired.

Special Appearances
Special appearances were reserved for "little" girls to feature Amelia "Ziggy" Ziegler, winsome, pert, gum-chewing, pony-tailed pre-teenager who, at age neither and ran right through the legs of a Walker and Fort Benning player, and made her shot good.

The victors took an early lead and Fred Syley scored for Fort Benning with two-twopoints. Heber served as the Doughboy court jester, competing with the attractive Miss Walker in an odd fool-shooting exhibition at half-time from the standing, kneeling and sitting positions. Miss Walker, who once made 49 of 50 free throws for a national title did not have her record seriously threatened by Heber, who kept crawling closer to the basket in an effort to reach the hoop.

The night's top scorer was Francis "Gosco" Garconette with 24 points. She was more or less the sobering influence for her team in direct contrast to Mary Roberts, who kept a commentary on the game going continually with her chatter from the floor.

Doughboy coach is Bob Kinard.

Tankers Join Infantry Center In Reassignment

Approximately 120 members of the 74th Tank Battalion have been reassigned to The Infantry Center. Attached to the Combat Training Command, the men will serve as school troops although more than 300 additional members of the 74th will remain with the Third Infantry Division to form a new armored battalion.

The entire battalion was shifted to the Third Division in June, 1955, in preparation for Sagebrush maneuvers at Fort Polk, La., in November and December.

Vote, Man, If Eligible

WASHINGTON (APPS)—Servicemen may cast absentee ballots in primary elections scheduled within the next three months in Louisiana, New Hampshire, and Minnesota. They must be registered to do so, however.

Under the direction of the Army's Psychological Warfare Center, the five-day meeting from Jan. 9-13, will be attended by delegates of all Armed Services throughout the nation, including Europe, the Far East and Pacific. Capt. Archer, who is assigned to the Operations Committee of the Staff Department, went to Fort Bragg from Washington, D. C., where he is on an official mission for the school.

ACHIEVEMENT

Captain Theodore E. Hervey, San Antonio, Texas, has received a Certificate of Achievement signed by Major General Joseph H. Harper, Captain Hervey is a student in the Infantry Officers' Advance Course No. 1 and was given the award for his demonstration of exceptional aggressiveness in formulating and issuing operational plans, training programs, and directives.

Officials Plan ROTC Meeting

Preliminary plans to receive 1,500 ROTC cadets for summer training at Fort Benning in 1956 will be made here Jan. 17 at a meeting of Third Army and Post officials.

The meeting is held annually to formulate plans for accommodating the summer students. Another meeting is scheduled in March and will be attended by Raymond V. Beltzmyer, Jr., professor of military science at Georgia College in Spalding County, S. C., 1956 ROTC deputy camp commander.

The first group of cadets is scheduled to arrive at the summer encampment June 29, and other groups will come through the Third Army area and Puerto Rico.

During the 1956 summer training, 1,300 cadets received instruction in the Harney Church area. Seventy-eight of the cadets received Army commissions as second lieutenants at the conclusion of the summer drills.

School Sends Capt. Archer To Meeting

Capt. Robert E. Archer is representing The Infantry School at an inter-service guerrilla warfare conference at Fort Bragg, N. C., under the direction of the Army's Psychological Warfare Center, the five-day meeting from Jan. 9-13, will be attended by delegates of all Armed Services throughout the nation, including Europe, the Far East and Pacific.

Capt. Archer, who is assigned to the Operations Committee of the Staff Department, went to Fort Bragg from Washington, D. C., where he is on an official mission for the school.

3d Army Regs Say: All Private Firearms Must Be Registered With Provost Office

Regulations regarding the registration of privately owned firearms are emphasized in a recent Third Army circular which states that "all weapons" must be registered at the Provost Marshal Section, which brought on the reservation.

All military personnel are urged to register privately-owned firearms whether they reside on the post or not, but it is a requirement that weapons must be registered when armed by personnel residing on the Fort Benning reservation, according to provost marshal officials.

The Third Army circular states, in part, that "... all persons entering a military reservation will register privately owned weapons. Eligible personnel living in troop housing must turn over their weapons to their immediate commander for deposit and safekeeping in the area supply room."

Any sale, transfer or loss of weapons must be reported to the Provost Marshal Section within 24 hours after occurrence, the circular pointed out.

Provost marshal officials warned that personnel living off the reservation and who own weapons are not relieved from civil statutes regarding firearms.

Regarding concealment of weapons, the provost marshal pointed out that only military policemen on actual duty, and military police official investigators are allowed to carry such weapons. Personnel on official duty are permitted to carry weapons.

The provost marshal listed the following as dangerous weapons and prohibited accessories found in their possession which would be subject to disciplinary action:

length, excepting hunting or fishing knives not concealed; any knife with switch blade or automatic blade opener; brass knuckles or any device fitted over the hands and used to strike another; black jacks, slippers or any related device; razors, other than normally used for shaving purposes by the individual, and any horse made percussive-type weapon.

Post QM Racks Up Best Safety Record in 3d Army

Over 750 civilian employees in the Quartermaster Section have amassed nearly a million and a quarter productive man-hours during a single loss-of-time accident-free period of 13 months.

The Quartermaster group is now pointing toward a two-million man-hour goal which they hope will come in November, 1958.

When the workers passed the million-man-hour mark in November, 1955, they excelled all previous safety records for any Quartermaster group in the 3d Army.

The million man-hour safety record qualified the section for a Third Army Certificate of Merit in Safety, which was presented in December.

Also, the record brought praise from Col. Donald S. Hines, Third Army Quartermaster. He said:

"I certainly feel that this is a signal achievement. It is a distinct credit to supervisors and planners who made the operation possible.

"Quartermaster operations require rigid safety supervision, and in view of the number of accidents, it is most commendable that this safety record has been extended over such a period of time," he added.

Added More Hours

Since Nov. 19, Quartermaster employees have added approximately 250,000 accident-free working hours.

Behind this safety record is a veteran of 15 years of Quartermaster service and a safety expert in the section, who in turn pass safety ideas and instructions to the workers. This step is accomplished through weekly safety meetings within the units. Council members and others in the safety program.

In his own right, William L. Durham, Durham is chairman of the safety program and puts real effort into his job.

As evidenced by the splendid safety record acquired during the past 13 months, Durham's efforts are paying off. There has not been a single injury among 774 civilian employees since Nov. 19, 1956.

The Quartermaster safety plan is simple — education. It is accomplished in a simple, accessible manner to Durham, who explained that safety starts at the top and is drilled down through the ranks until it is hammered into every ear. Durham is the top, so to speak since he is entrusted with the chairmanship of the safety program.

The chairman has an appointed council of 12 men and women to assist in dissemination of safety information and work improvement ideas. These persons are required to meet monthly under the direction of Durham and the post's assistant safety director, Andrew Baldwin. At these meetings, the council members discuss safety problems and their solutions. Durham briefs the council on pertinent safety subjects while Baldwin acts as adviser. Visitors from each section also attend the meetings in order to become better acquainted with the safety program.

First Step

These monthly council meetings, however, are just the first step in the movement to get safety down to the rank and file workers. The council members report to the various organization chiefs in the section, who in turn pass safety ideas and instructions to the workers. This step is accomplished through weekly safety meetings within the units. Council members and others in the safety program.

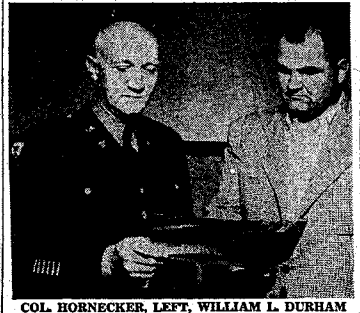

same question — "why?" This top-level concern for the safety of the rank-and-file workers had its effect. During Col. Field's tour as Quartermaster the section received six safety awards, dating back to January, 1953.

Col. Field's sincere safety conscientiousness has been described by Lt. Col. Henry D. Temple, of Petersburg, Va., Quartermaster executive officer, as "safety evangelism."

"He was a crusader for safety," Col. Temple noted.

A diversity of jobs in the Quartermaster Section makes it difficult to achieve. Such hazardous tasks as those in laundries, meat cutting plants, packing and storage warehouses are accident potentials. Heavy machinery, fork lifts and giant cranes are dangerous weapons in the hands of careless workers. Steam presses in the laundry are especially hazardous from the safety standpoint.

In spite of this diversity, however, Baldwin is pointing out the way. The program is working, and he always came up with the

Mrs. Harper Tells Role Of Wives

The ever-broadening role of the Army wife was discussed by Mrs. Joseph H. Harper, wife of The Infantry Center commander and honorary president of the Women's Club, at the group's Jan. 18 luncheon in the Main Officers' Mess.

Mrs. Harper was introduced by Mrs. Edward C. Coffin, Jr., Women's Club president.

"Our husbands are here for professional advancement and we need to know how to help further their advancement. The Army wife always will be a vital factor in the success her husband attains," Mrs. Harper said.

More Married Men

"Today's Army is composed of more married men than ever before," she stated, noting that 80 per cent of the officers and 32 per cent of the enlisted men have wives.

She pointed out that the average officer has a permanent home station every 18 months and that U. S. Army officers are serving in 74 foreign countries. The speaker stressed the need for stability.

NEW CC AT SCHOOL BRIGADE... Captain Eric L. Lewis, Columbus, has been assigned as company commander of 5th Company, Second Student Battalion, School Brigade.

Engineers Complete Dam at Harps Pond

The addition of a dam and spillway to Harps Pond, one of many picturesque one-half to 30-acre lakes on the reservation, has been accomplished by the 7th Engineer Battalion, 1st Air Engineer Group.

Company B of the 7th, frequently supplemented by other engineers in the battalion, worked week ends, holidays and nights in order to finish the project by early January. They began work Dec. 18.

Off Backeye Road

The job site was within an artillery impact area off Backeye Road, and training problems made the construction more difficult in two ways—work often could not be performed during regular duty hours and had to be completed before classes were resumed after the holidays.

The job was accomplished in several stages. Before any construction was begun, the pond was drained and allowed to dry. A subsequent survey determined the best location for the spillway and two bulldozers with pans prepared the selected area.

Following grading and filling, spillway construction began. Located on the west end of the original dam, the new spillway is constructed of approximately 36 cubic yards of reinforced concrete.

The new dam is approximately 720 feet long by 10 feet high by 30 feet wide. The pond, estimated to contain about 65 acres, will probably be filled by Jan. 20.

10 Rules

- In the final analysis, Quartermaster employees' observance of ten basic rules, prepared recently by safety experts from all over the nation, accounts for their excellent record.
1. Follow instruction; don't take chances. If you don't know, ask.
2. Correct or report unsafe conditions.
3. Help keep everything clean and orderly.
4. Use right tool and equipment for job; use them carefully.
5. Report all injuries; get first aid promptly.
6. Use, adjust and repair equipment only when authorized.
7. Use prescribed protective equipment; wear safe clothing; keep them in good condition.
8. Don't horseplay; avoid distracting others.
9. When lifting, bend your knees; get help for heavy loads.
10. Comply with all safety rules and signs.

The outstanding record which was begun by the Quartermaster workers, although principally an internal effort, will continue to receive hearty support from Col. Harry E. Hornecker of Cheyenne, Wyo., recently assigned Infantry Center Quartermaster who replaced Col. Fields.

Col. Hornecker said he was pleased to find himself in an assignment where workers were so safety conscious.

Col. Hornecker added:

"I have always considered safety a vital part of Quartermaster activities and I have personally worked towards perfect safety records."

"Here," he said, "my work is cut out for me. We will work together to see how much longer this fine safety record can be extended."

STURDLEY SALUTE

Our boy Sturdley has done it again. Sturdley, you may remember, is the guy who gives just enough—and not a drop more.

Sturdley does his share of griping on all matters and saluting is no exception. But Sturd is a smart cookie. He puts an extra snap into the highball when his CO, or another officer on post, passes by.

When our boy is off on a pass or on leave, however, he conveniently forgets about the salute. No one is going to go to the trouble of stopping him in town, he figures.

As in other matters, Sturdley misses the point. Saluting, basically, is a military courtesy. It's a greeting between comrades in arms. Actually, someone who renests saluting has no respect for his fellow serviceman.

A confident serviceman doesn't shun the salute. He knows that when you exchange salutes it gives you a feeling of really belonging to the honorable profession of arms. (APPS)

SUNLIT AMBUSH, by Mark Derby. (Viking, 245 pages).

The mysterious death of the fifth White Rajah of Selatun sets off an explosive chain of events over an East Indian island. Involved in the murder is Dunster, an English schoolmaster, who attempts to aid a young son and beautiful teenage daughter to regain their rightful inheritance. This new tale of violence and skull-duggery, as well as an unexpected love, is of the very best.

DAVID CROCKETT, by Walter Blair. (Coward - McCann, 212 pages).

Biography, history, and legend all appear in this life of Davy Crockett. There's the boy and man and the Western frontier, the greatest hunter in all of Tennessee, the Indian fighter, the Congressman, and the defender of the Alamo.

Though it tells about Davy the man and Davy the legend, it makes it possible for readers to see which is which. Lively, laughable, and lovable, you'll enjoy reading about "Davy."

Library Concert

Described usually as a "romantic reverie," "Les Sylphides" is one of the most enchanting of the romantic ballets in the active repertoire although it has no plot but is a series of suite of dances to the music of Chopin orchestrated by this ballet. The music of Chopin used for this dramatic-like abstract ballet in the romantic style is the Prelude No. 7, Nocturne No. 2, Valse No. 1, and the Mazurka No. 2.

Twenty-One Supervisors Finish Course in Department Efficiency

Twenty-one military and civilian personnel have completed a supervisory course geared toward increased departmental efficiency. As part of a nationwide trend toward better trained government employees, The Infantry Center conducts regular classes for newly appointed supervisors who must learn to assume the varied responsibilities of advance positions.

Receiving certificates recently for completing the special instruction were the following:

- Miss Virginia B. Garrett, and James C. Carpenter Jr., both of the Adjutant General's Section; Sgt. Charles R. Bishop, Signal Section; Theodore W. Austin Transportation Section.
- Mrs. Catherine P. Walter, G-3 Section; Miss Naoma Hollis, Special Services; SFC Billy J. Jaynes, Third Army Field Maintenance Shop.
- M-Sgt. Guy P. Holtzclaw, Special Services; Mrs. Roberta K. Hickman, Infantry School Grades

Chief Warrant Officer James M. Hanley of Norfolk, Va., has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for performance of outstanding service as chairman of the Advanced Engine Committee of the Automotive Department.

He was cited for initiative, ingenuity and technical ability in devising training aids and safety devices for Automotive Department training, which increases effectiveness of instruction and saves more than $6,000 and thousands of man-hours annually.

Col. Robert E. Holman of Florence, S. C., Automotive Department director, made the presentation.

Hanley has received an assignment with the 181st Transportation Battalion in Germany. He served with the 21st Ordnance Company, IX Corps in Korea from April, 1952, until coming to Fort Benning two years ago.

During World War II, Hanley served 27 months in the Pacific Theater. He entered the Army in December, 1934.

Chancellor Visits Off Campus Center

Dr. Gordon Brown, acting chancellor of the University of Georgia at Athens, visited Fort Benning yesterday to review the university's Off-Campus Center.

Dr. Brown was scheduled to confer with Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper and instructors of the University of Georgia extension division.

Prices Up... Budget Down?

Why not borrow the money you need to put your finances on a sound, budgeted basis? The logical place to borrow is HFC.

Lower Rates—Household's charges are less than the lawful maximum. If you have a steady job and can repay in regular monthly installments you meet the principal requirement for getting a loan at HFC.

Tax Unit Slates Post Conference

The Columbus Office of the Internal Revenue Bureau will hold its annual tax conference Jan. 19-20 at Fort Benning for all interested military personnel.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., the all-day sessions will be conducted in Brown Hall to discuss military problems pertaining to income tax regulations.

Voucher Clerk Is Wac of Month For December

SF-1 Frances E. Wheeler, WAC Company, Special Troops Command, has been chosen "Wac of the Month" for the month of December. She was chosen for this honor because of the exemplary manner in which she performed her duties as a voucher clerk in the Post Transportation Office and for her neatness and military bearing.

SP Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wheeler of Dayton, Ohio, entered the Army in August, 1954, from Asheville, N. C., and received her basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

She is a 1953 graduate of Flat Creek High School in Asheville, where she was a member of the Beta Club and the Glee Club.

Allies Made to Feel at Home Here

Although they may be attending homes, even non-English speaking classes in a strange country thousands of miles from their native homelands, Allied students attending The Infantry School have found a place among the citizens of Columbus.

Through active participation in civic affairs, attendance at local churches and visits to private homes in private homes or participate in social and educational activities of numerous congregations.

Occasionally several Allied students speak at the Bradley Memorial Library in Columbus on religion, customs, politics and everyday living in their respective countries.

As a major from the Republic of Korea Army said recently: "Just because this is not our native country doesn't mean that we are not hopeful toward learning your people and what they do."

On United Nations Day, Oct. 24, four officers representing each corner of the globe were present at the Columbus High School for a special international program day living in their respective countries.

Viet-Namese, Koreans, Iranians, South Americans, Spaniards and others attend classes at the Columbus Art School as well as the University of Georgia.

Here they study American history, English composition, literature and even basic sciences such as mathematics, psychology and sociology.

Tourists

Weekends, especially in warmer weather, keep Allied tourists on the roads traveling to dairy and crop farms in Alabama, the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at Warm Springs, Ga., nearby Ida Cason Gardens, Columbus industrial plants and textile mills.

All of which proves that these men who are sent to The Infantry School for specialized Army training to take back to their respective countries, also develop and pursue a real interest in learning the "homey" everyday experiences of the U. S. people with whom they live and study.

Post Records Re-Up Summit In December

Fort Benning achieved its highest re-enlistment total of 165 in December, with the U. S. Army Hospital leading the way with a perfect 100 per cent for units for the third consecutive month, 14 of an eligible 14 persons re-upped at the hospital, while 239 of 712 re-enlisted at Fort Benning for a post-wide percentage of 41.67. The total, not including Third Infantry Division, was 268 out of 588 or 45.58 per cent.

Second place honors went to Board No. 3, Continental Army Command, with 80 per cent, and in third place was the School Brigade, 71.42 per cent. Four out of five re-enlisted at Board No. 3 and 50 of 126 at the larger School Brigade.

Final 1955 re-enlistment standings placed Special Troops Command first with 46.63 per cent, School Brigade second, 41.88 per cent, and U. S. Army Hospital, third, 31.34 per cent.

Variety Skit Here Jan. 27

"Stand Up and Shout", a variety show with a cast of 30 persons, will be presented under the auspices of Special Services at the Main Post Theater Jan. 27 at 8:30 P.M.

Sponsored by the Tuskegee (Ala.) Veterans Hospital, the presentation includes performers from among the patients and staff, according to 2nd Lt. Charles Beatty, H.I. of Atlantic City, N. J., Entertainment and Recreation Branch director.

The cast features 15 men and 15 women in a potpourri of songs, dances, magic and instrumental.

Admission is free and the show should prove a treat to a military and civilian audience.

Chaplain in School At Fort Slocum

Chaplain (Capt.) Thomas D. McGrath of Worcester, Mass., Infantry Center Catholic chaplain, is attending a three month's course at the Chaplains School, Fort Slocum, N. Y.

He will return in May. Chaplain McGrath was assigned here last April.

A graduate of College of the Holy Cross in Worcester and the University of Montreal, Canada, he was pastor of Immaculate Conception Parish in West Springfield, Mass., from 1944 until entering the Army in July, 1951.

Card Forms OK to File Up to $5,000 Income

The government provides two forms for individual income tax returns. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from many possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple Form 1040. It's a card form that you should consider if you are able to write his name and address and a few other simple facts. You just send it in with your withholding slips and the government takes care of the rest. If you owe more tax than was withheld you will get a bill for the difference. If more was withheld than you owe, you will get a refund check.

The tax rules permit you to use

Form 1040, you still have the choice of itemizing your deductions or using a standard deduction which generally amounts to about 10 per cent of your income. You are likely to save by itemizing your deductions if you:

1. Own real estate.
2. Had unusual medical expense.
3. Had deductible child-care expense.
4. Suffered losses from storm, accident, or theft.
5. Made fairly large contributions.

Form 1040 has been rearranged

Drivers Are Warned On Fogged Windows

With more cold weather predicted for the area, the post's 25,000 drivers are being warned that fogged and iced windshields and automobile windows could be the basis for a provost marshal citation.

Provost marshal officials issued a statement before the onset of cold weather that fogged windshields created a driving hazard. Military police stopped approximately 300 vehicles Friday at the entrance to the reservation because of violation of the safety warning. Drivers stopped were not charged, but provost marshal officers warned that hereafter they would be cited. Those stopped Friday at Outpost No. 1 were required to clear windows before entering the reservation.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance. (AFPS)

Fourteen Teams Vie In Doughboy Loop

Fourteen teams, comprised of nearly 150 youngsters, took to the boards last Saturday as play began in the Doughboy Boys' Baseball League.

The activity, sponsored by Fort Benning's Youth Activities Club and supported by Post Special Services, was divided into three divisions—the six-year Red League, eight-to-10 year olds, four-team White League, ages 11 to 13, and four-team Blue League, 14 to 16.

Court Know-How

The well-coached participants displayed varying degrees of court know-how with a few men emerging as potential league high scorers. More important for the players, however, is the fact that boys will have the opportunity to do what so many want to do during the winter season—play basketball. As in all Youth Activities programs, proper supervision is designed to develop a player's talent, sense of teamwork and character.

Scores and some of the inaugural highlights follow:

36 Holes

The annual men's open golf championship tournament will get under way over the Fort Benning golf course on Monday 26, this afternoon by Col. John J. Tolson, tournament chairman.

Lt. Charles Spross of the Third Division is the defending champion and will be on hand to seek a repeat victory.

Sponsored by the Officer's Open Mess, the tournament will wind up on April 29 with a 36-hole final match.

Qualification rounds must be played between Jan. 28 and March 5. All players must play 36 holes to the end and low 28 scorers will make up the championship flight. Losers in the first round will form the championship flight and the championship flight will be bracketed into 16-man flights.

Summer rules will be played in qualifying rounds and during all matches, according to Col. Tolson.

Jan. 28-March 5—qualification.

March 5 - March 25 - first round matches completed.

March 26 - April 1 - second round matches completed.

April 2 - April 15 - third round matches completed.

Final match to be played April 29.

An entry fee of one dollar will be charged and contestant to help defray tournament expenses. Prizes will be awarded winner and runner-up in each flight and to the tournament medalist.

Players may sign up at the club or by calling the pro shop. For any additional information, contact Paul Buman, club professional, at 3-6120.

Other tournament committee members working on the championship play include Lt. Col. Trevor Williams, Maj. Roy H. Berger and Capt. Garrison O. (Jack) Auro.

Jay's Journey In Sports

A selected group of us paid our annual visit to a Fort Benning rifle range last Saturday morning. In this case it was Fiske Range and we assumed the proper sitting, standing, kneeling and prone positions to do our bit with the M-2 carbine from the 100 and 200-yard lines.

There were the usual complaints about the cold weather, how chests hurt from too much F.R.L., and other excuses for not quite making "expert."

To compare with some sensational shooting which takes place each spring and summer across the road from Fiske Range, 1,000 yards removed from the targets.

Let's we forget, the Home of the Infantry is also the Home of the Heart of the Infantry, serving as base for the now independent Third Army Rifle and Pistol Team and U. S. Army Rifle and Pistol Team. This reporter recalls standing behind firers in the 1955 Southeastern High Power Rifle Matches at Fiske Range as they spotted the bull 1,000 yards off. My untrained eye could just about locate the approximate site of the targets. Nonetheless, before me was the beauty of a long string of champions hitting the V-ring time after time. They are great and will always be great.

What's the secret (besides practice)? Judging by the star of the 1955 Camp Perry, Ohio National Matches, relaxation is the key factor. Never has there been a more relaxed firer, or individual, than M-Sgt. Francis B. Conway, Jr., one of the more prominent students of the firing game.

Open season on marksmanship trophies at Fort Benning begins Saturday at 9 a.m. when Gen. Harper presents awards to nearly 25 shooters who distinguished themselves at Camp Perry in 1955.

Glove Finals to Be Held Tonight

The finals of the three day Post Open Boxing Tournament will be held this evening with the first round bell at 7 p.m.

The best of some sixty fighters will meet at Briant Wells Field House to decide who will hold post titles for the 1956 boxing season. All pairings were made. Although pairings were not made at the time of this writing, it is expected that among those battling tonight will be Len Banks, Tony Y. Robles, Bennie Taylor, Donnie Miller, and John Peters.

All were pre-tournament favorites to figure heavily in the crown battles. Banks was expected to maintain his feather-

Basketballers Face Gordon

Fort Benning's basketball Doughboys will get their first look at the second of Camp Gordon's powerful teams tomorrow evening when they take on the Signal Corps Training Center Signers at Redwood Field House at 8 p.m. The Signers are not expected to be as tough as their competitors, the Provost Marshall Saints, with whom the Doughboys split a pair of games before the holidays. However, they do have a strong team consisting of 12 college players. Among these is Bob Milton, former Harlem Globe Trotter player.

On the 21st they will take on the Pensacola Naval Air Station and then follow with another game against the Signers on the 22nd. They will close out their home stand against Turner Air Force Base, whom they defeated last Friday night at Albany, Ga., 79-64. A long road trip that will take them away from Fort Benning for the rest of February will start against Fort Jackson on the 25th.

The season's final two home games will be on the seventh and eighth of February against Eglin Air Force Base and Camp Stewart. The Doughboys were slated for a game with Eglin this past Sunday at Eglin but the game was cancelled and may be played at a later date. No new players have been added to the squad since the acquisition of Doug Dickey, former Florida U. player. However, the School's Don Weber, John O'Hara, Tom Flynn, and Ken Hicks continue to pace the squad. Paul Hupman and Andy Porter have continued to show such improvement that they have been starters in the last two Doughboy games.

Head and Head Jumps Off to Lead In Second Half of TSB Basketball

The second half of play is currently underway in the School Brigade Intramural Basketball League. First half champs, Hq & Hq Co., have jumped off to an undefeated in their first two encounters. Four teams are in a four-way tie for second place honors with the 8th (OC) Bn and 1st Stn Bn being the probable trouble makers for the league leaders. The 1st Stn Bn, which finished in 5th place during the first half, appears to be one of the stronger teams. With the addition of Lt. Lou Sawchik, former Ohio University star athlete, they are expected to be higher up the ladder in the won-lost standings. The 1st Bn won their first game in a hard fought battle, which was tied with seconds remaining, by dropping the 5th (OC) Bn by a 43-49 count. They dropped an earlier game to Hq & Hq Co but were playing without the services of Sawchik. The OC's still remain a strong threat having lost only to the 1st Stn Bn and are likely to be the stumbling block for other league teams. This team has the best average height in the league. They should prove to be a strong threat to the undefeated Hq & Hq team. Hq & Hq Co will lose the services of stellar forward Joe Smith for the remainder of the season. Lt. Smith will be attending school at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Lt. Smith has been one of the main factors for the success of the Hq & Hq Co winning streak. However, Smith's replacement, Lt. Ernie Stockert, should take up the slack. Stockert, who stands 6'9", is expected to be of great help in the drive for the second half championship, which entails them to meet the ISD champion in the Brigade sectional championship.

ISD Tops Keglers As League Closes

The 1956-57 School Brigade Bowling league which began competition last October was completed on Jan. 5 with Company C, Infantry School Detachment, taking first place honors. The top kegler in the league was M-Cpt. Glenn Baskley of Company C, Inf Sch Det who held the highest average with a sparkling 176. He also had the highest 2 games series high with a total of 580. Specialist Three Cecil Jackson of the 15th Finance team capped the single game high total with 257. A Championship's trophy and individual awards will be presented to members of the Company C team. Also individual awards will be presented to the high average and high single game. Presentations of awards will be made in February. Final Standings in the league are as follows: Company C, Inf Sch Det 30 6 Company F, Inf Sch Det 25 6 9/4 Company H, Inf Sch Det 22 14 Hq. & Hq Co, TSB 214 14 1/2 Company A, Inf Sch Det 20 16 15th Finance 17 19 Company B, Inf Sch Det 17 19 1st Student Battalion 9 27 3rd Student Battalion 8 28 4th Student Battalion 5 31

Capt. Gregory Sets Sights On Firing in Olympics

Sighting the possibility of a berth in the 1958 Olympic Pistol Team, Capt. Joseph F. Gregory of Farnville, N. C., has added another medal to his collection of marksmanship awards. For his outstanding scoring record at the National Rifle and Pistol Matches last September at Camp Perry, Ohio, the shooter received a Bronze Medal from Col. Charles P. Leonard Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla., Weapons Department Director.

The young marksman who entered the Army in 1949, has won enough trophies and chalked up enough points to be a distinguished marksman, the highest award presented to competitive pistoleters and riflemen in the U.S. Capt. Gregory forecast coming events as he explained that activities on his calendar for this year include tryouts for the National Mid-Winter Matches in February, the official tournament in Tampa, Fla., in March, qualifying for the national meet next September, and finally, if he places well there a chance to go to the 1958 World Olympic Games.

Polio Shots Due Jan. 31

Salk polio vaccine shots will be administered Jan. 31 and Feb. 1-2 to all students in the Fort Benning Children's School who have not received their initial inoculation. Each child has received an approval form from the school nurse and will not be given an inoculation without a parental signature.

The second shot will be given to this group March 24. Those receiving shots will be first-graders, fourth through sixth graders and post school students who did not attend the school in 1954-1955.

Second and third graders receive two shots in the series last year and kindergarten gets their first inoculation last December and their second this month.

The third and final shot in the series will be given gradually during eighth next fall.

The inoculation program is under the direction of the U. S. Army Hospital's Preventive Medicine Section, headed by Lt. Col. Marcus H. Fisher of Cleveland, Ohio, deputy post surgeon.

The program will eventually cover all post children from 6 months to 15 years and eventual patients at the U. S. Army Hospital.

Children of military personnel who attend off-post schools will be given the Salk shots at the health center nearest their school, since the vaccine for their use has been allocated to Meigs County.

Lt. GEN. JOHN W. O'DANIEL

Concept Confuses If Unclear

BY YE PATER

"It's situation number two. You've got Hill, now what do you do?"

"You're wrong, wrong, wrong, wrong."

"It has that way at all!"

—W. J. Training Camp Ditty

After every conflict the chorus of "them as is last" is the crescendo. "We threw the book away!" And they are sincerely proud of it. In their belief that their personal experiences have disproved something which the majority had been led to believe was "dogma, doctrine," or "the School solution."

Another city still occasionally heard within the sacred precincts of "Unit 1" concerns the demise of a youthfully-placed leader.

"Right, right, following the School solution."

Soon after my unit was committed in WWII, your old father happened to have a radio set set up in one of the "old" divisions in the 87th being a group of green replacements.

"Now the first thing you gotta get through yer heads is to forget the radio show of Benning. The thing to be with the Kraut opens up."

(Please See YE PATER, Page 13)

Travel, Fame Await Winners In Talent Hunt

A trip to New York and a series of network radio and television appearances await winners in a special talent hunt to be conducted at Fort Benning by a Department of the Army representative Feb. 9.

Cyril P. Heiman, Department of the Army Soldier Shows in Washington, D. C., representing Recruiting Service, will be interviewing candidates to interview penicillines or talent in Washington, D. C., New York City for a series of personal appearances.

Following Heiman's interview on the afternoon of Feb. 8, a talent audition will be open to the public at the Main Post Theater that night.

"It must be stressed that people with unusual backgrounds which could be of interest in the world, need not perform at the talent show," said Dean West of the Higgins School, New York, N. Y., Infantry Center. Special Services entertainment director Joseph Peoples, will be concerned for acceptance by any case alone.

Interested candidates may call the office of the Infantry School Band Store.

Candidates may be in the service or discharged, but will be selected from the service. They will be accompanied by a family member and will be given a special pass to the service.

For further information and an application to try out for the talent show, call the Higgins School, Dean West at Fort Benning 3012. There is no limit to the number of applicants.

Blind Pianist Here Feb. 28

Also mentioned in the piano virtuoso will appear at the concert sponsored by the Women's Club Feb. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Main Theater.

Tickets for the concert will be obtained at the Infantry School Band Store.

The concert will be a special program with music selections from classical to modern. A special feature will be the playing of a grand piano which will be a gift from the Columbia Parish City Area will follow a variety of songs by the Columbia Parish Area.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase a piano for the band store.

Former TIS 3-Div. Chief Comes Home

Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, former commander of the Third Division and Infantry Center, returned to his home in Columbia, S.C., with a retirement party at Lawson Field Saturday morning.

The 62-year-old veteran of the World Wars and Korea, O'Daniel will address the Columbia Chapter of the Commanders of the 3rd Division at a formal dinner in his honor which will be held at the Main Officers' Mess.

Approximately 12,000 troops, including the Third Division, will take part in the 30th anniversary parade in honor of the commander who led the division across Germany during World War II to capture Berchtesgaden, Hitler's stronghold.

Other units to participate include the Infantry Center Honor Guard Company, battalions from Special Troops Command, 2nd Infantry Regiment and the 11th Engineers Group, a composite group from Infantry Center headquarters, and the 11th Infantry Regiment and the 11th Engineers Group, a composite group from Infantry Center headquarters.

O'Daniel is a native of Newark, N.J., and received his commission in 1917. Several months later he received his Regular Army commission and began a career that has taken him to all corners of the world. He has served in France, Hawaii, the Philippines, North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Germany, Austria, Russia and Vietnam.

O'Daniel's decorations include the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit, and the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Branches. He is also a recipient of the French Croix de Guerre, Italian Silver Medal, and French Legion of Honor.

Home Mail Delivery To Start on Post

Personal living on Main Post will have daily home mail delivery beginning Feb. 1, according to an announcement by T. E. Sikes, recruiting postmaster in Columbia.

For the first time military families residing on the reservation, except those living in specified isolated areas, will receive mail at their quarters.

The project was cleared through Post Office and Department of Defense officials in Washington, D.C.

Meanwhile, residents of approved routes are advised to purchase regular type mail boxes at the Fort Benning bookstore. The post engineer will attach these boxes to authorized quarters.

Residents of isolated areas are advised to call Major Dean A. Hutchinson at Fort Benning, 2-1122, Adjutant General's Section, for information about erecting rural mail boxes in front of quarters located in the following blocks:

1306 Stonevale Drive, T-345 (see Miller plan); T-392-96 (game barn); 437 Bradshaw Road, T-288; Kennel Farm, T-112 and 114; Langston Road, T-285; Pine Grove Area, 1035; Pine Road, 1030; Lincoln Road, 1024; Edwards Road, 968; Benning Boulevard and 1638 Dixie Road.

Personnel living in Center Theater (see MAIL, Page 13)

Route Given For Visitors To Parade

Civilian visitors planning to attend the Jan. 22 retirement parade in honor of Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel are requested to arrive at Outpost No. 1 no earlier than 4:15 a.m.

Parade to take place at the Third Infantry Division will be at the Harmon Church grounds, Lawson Field. They will follow Waystone Road, Benning Avenue and then to Ardmore Road to Lawson.

Parade in the Columbia Parish City Area will follow a variety of songs by the Columbia Parish Area.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase a piano for the band store.

506th Pilot Flew 'Mike'

Gen. Hickey Tells MOWW:

Reds Aided When Indifference Is Permitted to Gain Upper Hand

The minds of men in battle, Gen. Hickey told Fort Benning members of Military Order of World War I, are not without the discipline to perform the virtues of morality in their everyday life.

The Third Army commander said that "it is time for the American people to become aware of the responsibilities as well as the privileges of U. S. citizenship, said Gen. Hickey.

The veteran combat commander of World War II and the Korean conflict told his audience that "it is only as long as alert and informed citizens take stock of the things going on around them."

Gen. Hickey was introduced by Lt. Gen. (Ret.) Reuben E. Jenkins, president of the Fort Benning MOWW chapter.

4 GREAT STORES TO SERVE YOU

OLD 'ROCK' VISITS... Henry Carpenter, left of Jansville, Wis., an artilleryman with the Third Infantry Division in 1915, tests the breech of a 106-mm recoilless rifle during a visit to the modern-day Rock of the Marne Division. He found the weapon a great improvement over his French 75's.

Revisits Marne After 40 Years

After 40 years, Third Division Artillery in Germany had become the Third Infantry Division at Fort Benning, but a recent return visit to his old outfit told one man the Rock of the Marne is still the most potent force it always was.

The guest and the sergeant reminisced about the old putzes or leg wrappings that the pre-World War II soldier used. They both recalled how much trouble the putzes were and "the way they used to come loose after two miles of marching."

Equally impressed by recreational activities, he recalled a horse show put on by his commander for occupational troops at Andernach auf dem Rhein.

Whether they're 6 or 60...

There's nothing to match the fun and excitement of opening that "special" Valentine from YOU! Come in soon and choose from our complete collection... they're the very nicest way to remember friends and loved ones on Valentine's Day... and the Hallmark shows "you" cared enough to send the very best!

Marines Give New Concepts

A world famous Marine Corps demonstration at Fort Benning, Ga., is now in progress.

Under the command of Major Gen. H. R. Paige, director of the USMC Educational Center, a team is composed of 11 Marine Corps officers, one Navy captain and three Marine Corps enlisted men.

Dubbed Operation Dragon, the team's demonstration was presented to approximately 400 officers in advanced classes here.

A strike was added to the sleeve of Robert B. Balkman, 1st Lt. in the 2nd Marine Division, who was promoted to Private First Class when announced.

The SHORT TIMER

Most servicemen approach their ETS date in a balanced frame of mind. Most of them have been conscientiously doing their job since they entered the service and they don't "go off" as separation day approaches. There is a minority, however, that seems to mark off the last 90 days or so as "let down" time. The serviceman who figures that because he is leaving he has the right to back-slide will probably do the same thing when he enters civilian life. The difference is that in civilian life only he will suffer. As a serviceman, however, his lackadaisical performance directly can hurt his group's mission and, indirectly, the defense effort.

Chaplain's Corner

Look and Learn
Chaplain (Major) WILLIAM C. FORD
(School Brigade Chaplain)

"See the man standing there; they could say nothing." If Christianity has troubled men since the first century by its realism, it has done so by God's grace — not man's forgiving nature. By the man's mind being lent to be self-righteous, proud, vain, arrogant, individual and selfish have driven for recognition, acceptance, position and power. Their motto for success has been neatly codified in Ford's lines:
"Get wealth and place, if possible with grace;
If not, by any means get wealth and place."
So realism, for them, has been this yard of string, this life of ease, this life of stress. And strong men and nations have risen one upon the other because they have accepted the theory of men's survival or defeat.
And yet, "Being the man standing there, the man who's holding As the Realism of Jesus confronted, and changed many of the people of his day; so it has continued in other days, and is doing today. For this realism was not of man, but of God. By it, he faced the fact of power and greed, self-righteousness and hypocrisy. Through it he forced many really to see their insincerity and false rationalizations until they were debilitated to leave him as they came to him. The changes came about through words and love; not action and force. It was as a Teacher that Jesus was able to convince the multitudes that they were not the pearl of great price and the kingdom of great price. These are only 7 out of 47 Parables. If you would see Jesus as "Teacher read them; study them; digest them. For in them you will find the teacher instructing us all on the art of how to face life and win

Capt. Wilcox Wins Citation

A former re-entrainment officer, Capt. Walter J. Wilcox of Peekskill, N.Y., has been awarded an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement for outstanding performance of duties.
Capt. Wilcox was cited for service with the Adjutant General's Military Personnel Division. He is currently attending the 17-week associate officers advanced class before being assigned to duty in Europe early next summer.
A former member of the 25th Infantry Division in Korea, before coming here in September, 1952, Capt. Wilcox's decorations include the Army Commendation Ribbon, Korean Service Medal and World War II Victory Medal.

AERIAL FLY-BY ADDS TO COLORFUL CEREMONY ... 'Copiers, Planes Bid Farewell to Gen. O'Daniel

'Iron Mike' Bids Adieu To Service

Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel Retires at Past-Command

Amidst the strains of snappy band music and flying colors, more than 15,000 marching Infantrymen paid tribute to Lt. Gen. John W. "Iron Mike" O'Daniel here Jan. 28.

A veteran of 29 years active duty that has taken him all over the world, Gen. O'Daniel was honored at retirement ceremonies here where he was Infantry School Commandant from 1945 to 1949.

Approximately 12,000 Third Infantry Division troops he led in combat during World War II participated in the service.

Farewell to Arms Complete with military tradition and color the huge parade lasted one hour as troops lined up to bid a formal farewell to arms to the retiring general.

Commanding general of the 3rd Infantry Division Lt. Gen. Robert H. Booth, Third Division Artillery commander and joining Gen. O'Daniel on the reviewing stand were a number of post officials including Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Center commander.

Refraining with the traditional adjutant's call the parade proceeded as units, a massed color guard, a composite group of Infantry Center units and the 3rd Division band marched across the Lawson Army Air Field runway.

A colorful touch was added to the ceremony as the leading battalion of each color guard carried the Third Division's battle song, "The Dog Face Soldier." Although the first group sang the original version, four succeeding units sang words they had written especially for the occasion.

Music, including everything from "Dixie" to the general's march, "Over There" and traditional Army marches, filled the air as the units bid the cadence for troops dressed in full parade uniforms.

Color, crimson, purple and blue scarves were worn by the men to denote their regiments, attached units, including field artillery, signal, ordnance, medical and Infantry, respectively.

Following a short address by Gen. Lynch on behalf of the division, Gen. O'Daniel told the Third Division that "... your record in Vietnam has earned you the privilege of permanent station at Fort Benning, Georgia."

9 States Represented NG Conference Ends Here

A two-day conference of National Guardsmen ended Jan. 27 with representatives from nine states conferred with The Infantry School's Department of Non-Resident Instruction officials on NG officer candidate training programs.

All but four of the states represented receive training literature from the Non-Resident Instruction Department. Utah, Kansas, Indiana and Minnesota, however, are interested in establishing officer candidate training programs and presently do not receive correspondent instruction.

The NG meet was sponsored by Non-Resident Instruction Department. Col. John D. Conroy of Los Angeles, Calif., director, Lt. Col. Leslie W. Bailey of Olmstead, Va., and Major Gael M. Frazier of Cincinnati, Ohio, represented the Infantry School department. Major Fred Mitchell of Jonesboro, Ark., served as project officer.

The working conference included a formal reception Wednesday evening.

National Guard officers attending the meeting were the following: Major Gen. Carl G. DeBarde, Indiana; Brig. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, Utah; Col. Joseph L. Madigan, Massachusetts; Col. Phillip Merrill, Indiana; Col. Edwin R. Bodey, Minnesota; Col. Samuel S. Verbeck, New York; Thomas Hill of the School Section, National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C.; Col. E. R. Pulte of the G-3 (Plans and Operations) Section of Continental Army Command headquarters, Fort Monroe, Va.

ANC Notes 55th Birthday

The 67 nurses at Fort Benning's U. S. Army Hospital will celebrate the 55th anniversary of the Army Nurse Corps today with a reception at 4 p.m. in the Main Nurses' Quarters.

Lt. Col. Ruby Bradley of Fort McPherson, Ga., Third Army chief nurse, Col. Norman H. Wiley of East Shreveport, La., Fort Benning hospital commander, and Lt. Col. Clara Kieley of Waterford, Conn., chief nurse of the post hospital, will cut the cake.

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, and Mrs. Harper will be among the guests.

America's military nursing first appeared in 1775 when Gen. George Washington asked Congress for a "matron" to supervise the nurses, bedding, etc., and for nurses "to attend the sick and obey the matron's orders."

Traffic Plan To Speed Flow

A new traffic plan has been put into operation so that there will be a safe and uninterrupted flow of traffic in and out of the Sand Hill Area during the peak hours of traffic flow.

The following are authorized routes of entry and exit during the hours of 6:00 - 8:15 a.m. 4:45 - 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 6:00-8:15 a.m., 11:45 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Saturdays.

Via Arrowhead Road Gate at Junction of Arrowhead Road and Old Cusseta Road: All units West of Central Avenue to include units billeted in area around Beauville Quarters.

Via Old Cusseta Road, Wildcat Road and Moye Road or Via St. Mary's Road and Moye Road: All units billeted East of 10th Street, Columbus Avenue Gate: All personnel whose origin or destination is generally Northwest from Sand Hill Area are encouraged to use this gate.

There is also a restriction on right turns for those who leave Sand Hill area by way of Outpost on Saturdays during the hours of 4:45-5:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and 11:45 a.m. - 12:45 p.m. Saturdays there will no right turns to Cusseta Road allowed.

Any persons desiring to turn right during the above hours must use either the Arrowhead Road or Columbus Avenue Gates, which are open during the following hours: Monday through Friday 6:00 a.m. - 6:30 p.m. and Saturday 6:00 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Both of these gates are closed on Sundays and Holidays.

Specified MOS Men Can 'Gyro'

Enlisted men qualified in certain military occupational specialties (MOS) may apply for transfer to the Eighth Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colo., under Gyro scope.

Requirements for transfer are listed in Infantry Center order GNRKAC-MPD 220.3, subject: Operation Gyroscope Eighth Infantry Division.

A number of MOS's up to Grade E-7 are open.

'Trainfire' Studied Here

Results of the Army's experimental rifle marksmanship programs came under study here Jan. 30-31 at a two-day conference on "Trainfire."

Attending the meeting were Lt. Al. J. B. Sey of Third Army headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga.; Lt. Col. L. R. Fredendall, representing Fifth Army headquarters, Chicago, Ill.; B. E. Howe and Major C. W. Houff of Special Devices Center, Fort Washington, N. Y.; Lt. Col. J. H. Ritz of Fort Jackson, S. C., and Major C. C. Theban of Fort Carson, Colo.

Major Gen. A. D. Mead, chief of Infantry, Continental Army Command headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va., also will participate. "Trainfire" is a revolutionary method of teaching rifle marksmanship. Developed by Continental Army Command Human Research Unit No. 3 at The Infantry Center, the new training method teaches soldiers to fire at unknown distances and at more combat-realistic targets.

Tests on "Trainfire" are being conducted at Fort Carson, Fort Jackson and Fort Benning.

According to Major Russell C. Peoples of Taverner, Fla., project officer, assigned to the Infantry School's Combat Development Office, the conference was directed at discussion of previous tests conducted in phase one of "Trainfire," with plans to continue testing.

Animals Should Be Registered At Age 2 Months

The registering of all animals on post when they reach two months old will continue in 1956, according to the veterinarian.

"We have the 1956 licenses in our office now," said Lt. Col. George M. Kerr, post veterinarian. Animals may be brought to the veterinarian's office for anti-rabies vaccination, registration and license. The cost for all three is one dollar and registration of animals must be made once a year.

Col. Kerr warns that if a pet does not have a license, he may be picked up by provost marshal officials and impounded at the post veterinary clinic.

Besides dogs and cats, animal owners at Fort Benning also possess squirrels, chipmunks and even skunks, according to Col. Kerr.

Of course not all animals are used as pets. The colored admiral recently received a call from a commander who wanted to know what procedure he had to follow to bring a goat on post. The officer's plan was simple and has been done here before. After platoon barracks inspections, the company with the lowest score is awarded care of the goat for a week.

Leukemia Claims Marine Sergeant

Sgt. Aurelio Manuel Villate, 23, of the 3rd Infantry Division, died of leukemia January 24, at the U. S. Army Hospital here.

Sergeant Villate, a member of D Battery, 10th Field Artillery Battalion of the 3rd Division, entered the Army Hospital on January 22, after he is survived by his wife Jose Villate and his parents, Manuel and Evangelina Villate, 7201 Flagler Avenue, Key West, Fla.

Approximately 150 OCS were entered in competition.

Mrs. John Kovach, classbook

QUEEN WATCHES FIELD EVENTS... Mrs. John Kovach (right), elected queen of the 5th Student Battalion Field Day, watches events with interest. Little Miss Cathy Dowd, daughter of OC William D. Dowd, sweetheart of the 11th OC Company, and Mrs. Gerald Smith, maid of honor, accompany the queen at Doughboy Field on Saturday, Jan. 21.

Sixteen Events Mark OCS Field Day

Sponsored by the 12th Officer Candidate Company, the 5th Student Battalion (OC), the School Brigade, resumed its annual Field Day on Saturday, Jan. 21, in Doughboy Stadium.

Participating in the events were the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th Officer Candidate Companies, with the 12th Company, as senior OC class, both challenger and winner.

Approximately 150 OCS were entered in competition.

Mrs. John Kovach, classbook

queen of the 12th Company, was crowned at the event, with Mrs. Gerald Smith acting as her maid of honor. Little Miss Cathy Dowd, 889-yard relay, the grenade throw and the broad jump, and a second in the high jump.

Twelfth Company took meet honors with 88 points, followed by 11th Company with 74, 14th Company with 49, and 13th Company with 21.

Lt. Col. Henry Koepske Jr., commander of the 5th Battalion, presented trophies to the winners. 1st Lt. William J. Jones Jr., Commanding Officer of the 12th OC Company, accepted the rotating trophy, which must be won three successive years to remain in the Company. A permanent Meet Trophy was also presented to 12th Company.

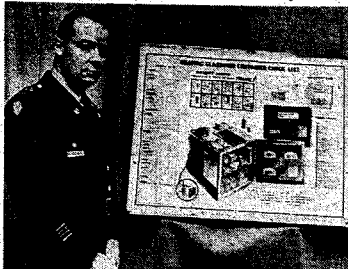

OC Moran, high point scorer, received a medal for his outstanding individual performance.

NEW BANDSMEN New names appeared on the roster of Special Troops Band last week when three musicians were assigned to the unit. The new bandsmen are PFC Sheldon N. Epstein, cornetist, PFC Frank J. Roberts, cornetist, and Pvt. Henry W. Bethel Jr., drummer.

All were members of the 440th Army Band, Fort Bragg, N. C., prior to coming to Fort Benning.

Chart Simplifies Security

The need for simplification and consolidation of directives and regulations regarding safeguarding classified defense information has led to the adoption in Special Troops Command of a graphic classified container chart.

NEW SECURITY TRAINING AID... Devised by CWO Robert E. Herrick, special projects officer, Third Army Area Food Service School, a Graphic Classified Container Check List has been adopted for use by intelligence personnel in Special Troops Command.

Col. Wiley Leaves Post For New Job

Col. Norman E. Wiley of East Stroudsburg, Pa., commander of the U. S. Army Hospital here since December, 1954, will become supervisor of the Gorgas Hospital at Ancon, Canal Zone, in April.

The Panama hospital, staffed by nine Army and two Navy doctors, cares for all military and civilian personnel in the Canal Zone.

Col. Wiley was commander of Barry Jones Army Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., before coming to the Infantry Center.

After commanding the 129th Evacuation Hospital in the invasion of Sicily, Col. Wiley led the unit across Europe with the First Army. The 129th was the first Army hospital in Normandy and in Belgium. Taking advantage of the St. Lo breakthrough, it was the first medical unit across the Rhine into Germany.

A 1928 graduate of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, Pa., Col. Wiley interned as a first lieutenant at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C., and was commissioned in the Army Medical Corps in 1929.

He attended the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Medicine in 1948-1949, then served as post surgeon and hospital commander at Fort Riley, Kans.

Col. Wiley's decorations include the Legion of Merit and the French Legion of Honor.

Warrant Officer Herrick states that he conceived the idea for a graphic security aid while he was on duty overseas. The idea stemmed from the desire to institute a more effective, time and effort saving means of protecting classified information for personnel who handle classified documents.

Also Wrote Handbook In addition to the chart, CWO Herrick has also compiled a "Supervisors' Handbook for Safeguarding Classified Defense Information" which "puts everything in a nutshell" relating to classified documents.

The handbook lists all recurring reports and contains a suggested manner of maintaining a suspense of "licker" card file on reports. It lists all printed and mimeographed forms pertaining to security and all standing operating procedures in a step-by-step manner.

A former member of the Staff Judge Advocate Section of the Infantry Center, CWO Herrick entered the service in 1941. Holder of the Bronze Star and the Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster, CWO Herrick and his wife, Brunhilde, presently reside at 3211 Hamilton Road, Columbus, Georgia.

Re-Ups May Ask More $$$

Servicemen who took the old list rate re-up bonus after the new percentage based bonus came in to effect can now change their minds if the new plan offers more money, according to a recent release.

The older bonus was $150 for four years, $250 for six. The new plan, which took effect July 18, 1954, offered a percentage of a month's base pay times the number of years in the new hitch. It was scaled to give greatest benefits on the first reenlistment, less each succeeding time.

Fast reenlistments for which no bonus was paid are not counted as reenlistments against reimbursement under the new bonus law.

The average Army reenlistment is for three years - the minimum reenlistment period accepted by the Army. The next greatest percentage is for six years.

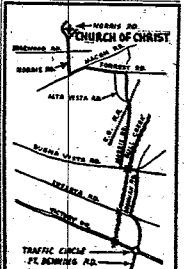

SEALING BEST METHOD... SFC Jose J. Campos-Baya has not been marking time with his education while in the Army. He has successfully passed the GED high school equivalency test and is now enrolled for a radio, television and allied electronics course with the National Schools, Los Angeles, California.

Sergeant Passes High School Test

SFC Jose J. Campos-Baya has not been marking time with his education while in the Army. He has successfully passed the GED high school equivalency test and is now enrolled for a radio, television and allied electronics course with the National Schools, Los Angeles, California.

The son of Juan Campos, Ferrnador, Puerto Rico, the sergeant entered the Army in July, 1942, and has been awarded the Good Conduct World War II Victory, American Theater and National Defense Ribbons.

ObeY Traffic Laws

Any self-respecting American citizen rightfully concerned about the national traffic menace which claims so many lives and causes such untold suffering each year will ask:

"What can I do about traffic accidents?"

If there is any national emergency in which Private Doe can not only help but one whose solution depends, to a large extent, on his very active participation—that emergency is the prevention of traffic accidents.

Traffic safety is built out of the many contributions made by the Pvt. Does . . . by their careful observation of the first principle of traffic safety: "Know and ObeY all Traffic Laws!"

Some Doubting Thomases may claim we're unduly exaggerating the importance of traffic laws, dismissing them as insignificant in the overall picture of traffic hazards. They are inclined to attribute traffic fatalities to other more remote causes—to the operation of some natural law or even to Fate.

In answer to the quibbling of these cracker-barrel philosophers, we can only quote the following vital statistics of what actually happened in traffic accidents in recent years: Nearly two-thirds of the drivers involved in fatal accidents, and more than half of the drivers involved in all accidents, were violating one or more traffic laws at the time of the accident!

We don't say that none of these drivers would have had accidents if they had not violated the law—but it's safe to assume that a substantial number of accidents in which they were involved would not have occurred had these drivers been observing the traffic laws.

But there is another aspect to the problem. The deliberate flouting of any laws—from those of nature to those of traffic—is indicative of an unhealthy state of mind, an unwholesome attitude, which can lead only to disaster.

A knowledge of and a profound and healthy respect for our traffic laws is essential not only to the solution of our traffic problem but to the survival of our whole social structure.

Fundamentally, it's a simple solution. All it calls for is a willingness on the part of every driver to accept his responsibility as an American citizen and as a human being to learn the traffic laws—and OBEY them!

You CAN do something about traffic accidents. . . you CAN help save lives.

Library Concert

The record concert at the Main Post Library Tuesday evening will be an unusual one . . . an evening of well-known and loved poetry in the voices of Helen Hayes, Raymond Massey, and Thomas Mitchell. The recording to be played is in the "Poets Gold" series, which are in many respects the most desirable of anthologies. They achieve what no printed book of verse can even attempt to do; they bring the "heard melodies" of poetry in all their beauty of inflection and cadence directly to the ear.

The range of poems in this series is wide enough to appeal to almost every variety of taste and mood. Some of the poems included are Fitzgerald's "Rubiyat of Omar Khayyam"; Keats' "Ode on a Grecian Urn"; Poe's "The Raven"; Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Church-Yard"; and Kipling's "Tomlinson".

The poetry in this series becomes more effective and impressive because it is brought to the public ear by three distinguished artists: Helen Hayes, Raymond Massey, and Thomas Mitchell. Helen Hayes imbues her reading of poetry with the same intensity of feeling and beauty of diction that mark all her work on the stage. Block-out; Setret Rehearsal.

Post to Receive Safety Award

Fort Benning is one of two military installations in Georgia named to receive annual awards from the National Fire Protection Association, International non-profit safety organization, for outstanding safety during the past year.

Atlanta General Depot is the other installation in Georgia to place in the judging.

Fire Chief Gilbert A. Ward was notified Friday that the post had placed 12th among military installations from points throughout the world. The post placed 13th in 1954, the first year that it had won the coveted award.

Chief Ward stated that judging is based on fire safety program practiced during the year. He said that fires were "substantially" reduced during the past year.

Headquarters for National Fire Protection Association is Boston, Mass.

Engineer Visitors Coming Here Feb. 6

Representatives from the Office of the Chief of Engineers in Washington, D. C., and the Engineer Section at Third Army headquarters, Fort McPherson, Ga., will visit the Engineer Section Feb. 6-10.

Walter Bonnett of Washington, and Homer H. Brooch of Third Army, will review operations of the multiple container type refuse collection equipment recently put into use here.

'Mike'

(Continued From Page 1) plishments and distinction won by the division in battle. Gen. O'Daniel closed by saluting the division as he said:

"I say good-bye with a lump in my throat and a feeling of pride in my heart—I salute you!"

Accompanying Gen. O'Daniel to Fort Benning for the ceremonies was his wife, who stood on the reviewing stand beside him during the parade.

Aircraft flew over the parade, which attracted hundreds of people from here and Columbus.

Gen. and Mrs. O'Daniel arrived Jan. 24 for the well-known officer to address the Columbus Chamber of Commerce annual dinner Jan. 26.

A formal reception and dinner were held at the Main Officers' Mess Jan. 27 for approximately 150 persons who were invited to bid farewell to the O'Daniels.

Also during his visit, Gen. O'Daniel visited a group of Vietnamese students who were attending a class on one of the post's firing ranges and spoke to an audience of young officers in the Main Theater shortly before the parade Saturday.

Gen. O'Daniel is scheduled to leave Sunday for Washington, D.C., before returning to the post Jan. 31 to join Mrs. O'Daniel and depart for the West Coast.

Gen. Harper Paid Tribute by Scouts

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, was presented a silver statuette at the annual banquet of the Georgia-Alabama Council, Boy Scouts of America, in recognition of his services to Scouting.

More than 400 Scout leaders attended the affair, which was held in the Main Officers' Mess at Fort Benning Jan. 24.

"On behalf of the Georgia-Alabama Council, it is a privilege for me to present this token to you for your interest in Scouting," the retiring council president, Steve Knight of Columbus, Ga., said when he presented the award to Gen. Harper.

The figure was inscribed: "Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Meritorious Service to the Georgia-Alabama Council, 1955."

"We believe our children's activities are as important as our soldiers' activities," Gen. Harper said in acceptance. He noted the post's program of youth activities, planned in accord with the advice that "The child is the father of the man."

Gen. Harper was introduced by Col. Robert H. Douglas of Swarthmore, Pa., institutional representative of Fort Benning's Youth Activities Club.

Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, Ga., was speaker. Council officers for 1956 were installed by John L. Shutt of Atlanta, deputy regional executive of Boy Scout Region 5, which includes Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina.

Quartermaster is Attending 3-Week Management Course

Col. Harry E. Hornecker of Ft. Cheyenne, Wyo., Infantry Center quartermaster who replaced Col. William R. Fields of San Antonio, Texas, is attending a three-week management course at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Col. Hornecker came here from Camp Zama, Japan, where he was post quartermaster and S-4.

The new quartermaster received his Army commission at the University of Wyoming in 1926 as a member of the ROTC program. He came on active duty in 1940 serving in Alaska until 1944.

In 1944, Col. Hornecker attended the Military Government School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., and later served in Germany with a military government team. Before returning to the U. S. in 1949, Col. Hornecker was assigned to the Quartermaster Depot at Giessen, Germany.

Prior to his assignment to Korea in 1953, Col. Hornecker was quartermaster at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. While in Korea, he was chief of the storage division at the Quartermaster Depot. Sign in bakery window: "Cakes 66 cents — upside down cakes 99 cents."

Transfer Point Promotes Three

Three promotions to Specialist Third Class highlighted events in the Transfer Point, Special Troops Command, last week.

Receiving their eagles were: Marcos A. Arroyo, Alvin H. Evans, Jr., and Francis Uro.

SP Arroyo entered the Army from Puerto Rico in 1954, and took his basic training at Camp Tuleguero. He was a student at Northwestern University in Chicago, Ill. prior to entering the service.

SP Evans, a native of Springfield, Ohio, has been in the Army since 1950 and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He is presently assigned as a cook.

SP Uro and his wife, Geraldine, live at 2003 1/2 4th Street in Columbus.

SP Uro, a veteran of 18 months in Korea, entered the Army from New York City and received basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

SP Uro and his recent bride, Mary, are presently residing at 810 Fort Benning Road.

Six Corporal Bns. Slated For Europe Early in '56

WASHINGTON (APFS) — Six rifle artillery battalions equipped with Corporal, the surface-to-surface guided missile, will be assigned to Europe during the first four months of 1956, the Army has announced.

The units are the 550th, 531st, 557th, 558th, 559th and 601st FA battalions, all of which now are stationed at the Guided Missile Center at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

In Europe they will join the 25th FA Bn., which was assigned there in 1954. Other modern army weapons already in Europe are several batteries of the Honest John long-range artillery rocket and six battalions of the 280mm atomic cannon.

The Corporal, which can be equipped with either an atomic or conventional type warhead, is designed for the tactical support of ground combat operations. Its range is described as far greater than that of the Honest John or any other artillery piece.

Each 250-man Corporal battalion is equipped with three missile launching sections.

CLASS GRADUATES Airborne class No. 7 will graduate 321 officers and enlisted men today at Chapel Field.

Taking part in the 10 a.m. graduation ceremony are 241 officers and 80 enlisted men. Average airborne classes include approximately 150 students.

NCO AND SOLDIER OF THE MONTH . . . Colonel Henry M. Zeller, CO, STC, presents trophies to CRC Stanton L. Sapp, NCO of month, and Pvt. William D. Sullivan, Soldier of the Month. Sapp is a platoon sergeant at the Transfer Point and Sullivan is assigned as a personnel specialist in the same unit.

Family Units To Cost Million

Preliminary work on new family quarters, valued at over one million dollars, began last week. The project will result in 80 homes for enlisted men (in eight family units) and 10 duplex officers quarters.

Early work on the apartments consisted of clearing, stripping of topsoil and grading operations.

Jordan Construction Company of Columbus is contractor at a cost of $1,299,688. The job is expected to be completed in 400 calendar days, or by April, 1957.

The enlisted men's family quarters will be located along Dixie Road near Biglerville, Mess, while the officers units will be between Zuckerman and Yeager Avenues.

The officers' duplex units will consist of three-bedroom apartments on one side and two-bedroom apartments on the other side. All quarters will be constructed of red brick veneer.

William H. Price is Savannah District project officer.

Carefully Planned Gimmicks Drive Lessons Home

BY BETSY LIVERMORE

Seventy-five newly commissioned young officers were seated on bleachers erected in the woods of Georgia when a character dressed in the mystic shroud of a magic hoodlet stepped forward bearing a crystal ball.

With rapt expression and doubtful smiles, students watched a puff of smoke rise from the crystal ball, and presto—the military instructor burst forth with the technical explanation of a lieutenant's question.

Life and Interest

All of which represents only one of literally hundreds of antics, skills, teaching aids, demonstrations and gimmicks used here to inject life and interest into technical instruction on everything from weapons to atomic warfare techniques.

Under the supervision of carefully trained department heads who must have all the answers, the school sets precedents used throughout the entire Armed Forces as it develops new and more effective methods of transmitting information to hundreds of students each year.

Another class, composed of enlisted men training for automotive mechanic jobs, watched a spellbound instructor suddenly reach into the pocket of his uniform and drag out a huge red, "Aunt Emma" handkerchief.

With a slight pause, but no comment, he slowly wiped his brow and stuffed the handkerchief back into his pocket.

The point he had just made an important comment on the lesson that would undoubtedly warrant a test question on the next written examination.

Several Lectures

Although it usually takes several lectures for uninitiated students to catch the gimmick, the light soon dawns and they realize that the bro-wiping ceremony always denotes a highlight in the lesson.

Many classes last only an hour. However, every minute of instruction is rehearsed and screened during days of preparation of not only lesson material, but also demonstrations and all types of teaching aids.

Through trial and error, constant revision and exacting supervision by School officials, training programs of each instructor are planned with split-second timing so that actual class presentation runs like clockwork.

For example, an instructor ad-

FALL OUT . . . All I did was ask them to FALL OUT, sir!—says "Sgt. Dinklehoff" (M-Sgt. Dominick D'Angelo), third from left, as he disdainfully looks over his troops. The irate lieutenant, portrayed by Lt. James J. Slobos, stands by with pertinent "comments" as the sergeant plays the lead in a skit designed to be interesting as well as instructional.

ressing a class on tank gunnery tactics, says that tank commanders in combat must always be conscious of the hazards and dangers of enemy mines hidden in a battle area.

No sooner has the instructor who stands in front of the bleachers said "mines" than a team stationed about 200 yards out in the woods actually sets off an explosion.

Students probably do not realize that a soldier sitting behind the stands with a radio picked up the clue, transmitted an order to the unseen team which in turn set off the powder.

As one student aptly said: "This demonstration was so well timed that the explosion practically put an exclamation point on the instructor's sentence."

Tables, chairs, podiums, bleachers, sound systems and other equipment used in classes are considered in advance so that officers responsible for maintenance and supply can provide necessary facilities.

Safety

However, most important in the instructor's preambling is SAFETY—a word that is stressed throughout the huge reservation each day as hundreds of students fire as many as 20 different weapons without a single mishap, fatality or accident.

All danger areas on the post are divided into zones so that men will not fire ammunition into a nearby class or shooting range.

Infantrymen not only sit through formal lectures, but also learn by doing and seeing special firing,

AIN'T I A-1? . . . "Who says my uniform ain't in A-1 condition, you all?"—says "Sgt. Dinklehoff" (M-Sgt. Dominick D'Angelo) as he fires his rifle at the target which is reflected in his shiny, well-polished boot.

Army Unveils Aerocycle

WASHINGTON (APFS)—The Army, envisioning a new concept in battlefield mobility, has unveiled its own flying carpet, a 200-pound "Aerocycle" that will give the foot soldier an airborne personality.

Combining principles of the helicopter and motorcycle, the Aerocycle has two rotary blades under a stand-up perch that carries the infantryman to his destination.

To guide the Aerocycle, the pilot stands on the platform and simply leans in the direction he wants to travel. The control mechanism that governs vertical motion and speed is similar to that of a motorcycle.

The machine was developed by DeLachaux Helicopter, Inc., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Col. Roane Off For Thailand

Lt. Col. Nathan A. Roane, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., left this week for assignment in Thailand with the Joint U. S. Military Advisory Group.

Col. Roane, who entered the Army in 1940, came here 18 months ago as chairman of the Weapons Department's Machine Gun Committee.

A veteran of World War II, he served in Italy with the Second Infantry Division from July, 1944, to October, 1945. He also has served in Greece with the Joint U. S. Military Advisory Group and at SHAPE headquarters in The Netherlands.

C & T to Step Up Training

An increasing number of career Army officers will receive communication and transportation training, according to a plan implemented by the Infantry Branch, Career Management Division in Washington, D. C.

A letter issued recently at The Infantry School reads:

"Modern developments in war-unit must be highly qualified. To this end, Infantry Branch, Career Management Division, has recently implemented a plan to provide for the training of an increased number of career officers in communications and motor transportation or communications of a unit."

"Accordingly, qualified Infantry officers are being ordered to The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, to attend these classes. Insofar as possible, graduates will be assigned to troop units in commensurate quantities so that commanders will have the capability of rotating their officers performing motor and communications duties. In this manner the continuous or repetitive assignments to these duties will be avoided.

"In making selections for these courses, particular attention is given to the career needs of the individual officer. An officer will not be ordered to either of these schools at a time when he has other career needs. He will be ordered to these schools only when it is consistent with his career needs and to further his development. Each case is evaluated on its individual merits; demonstration of ability and potential are essential.

CG CONGRATULATES RETIRING MASTER SERGEANT—Major General Joseph H. Harper, Commanding General, The Infantry Center, congratulates M-Sgt. Dudley E. Marks, retiring after more than 20 years' service, at a retirement ceremony and parade Jan. 21, Captain Edward Pastuszynski (Major, USAR), also retiring, stands at Sgt. Marks' right, holding the certificate of achievement already awarded him by General Harper.

FURTHER WORK . . . Ordinarily the pursuit of one career in a lifetime is sufficient for most men. However, M-Sgt. Lester H. Thomas (right) recently of Company A, ISD, plans to attend a vocational school in carpentry and cabinet-making when he retires. After graduation he plans to open a specialty shop in Jacksonville, Fla. Sgt. Thomas is here presented The Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement by the detachment commander, Lt. Col. James I. McKenzie.

Bedridden Patients Get Books Brought to Them

BY BOB RENO

To anyone who has received an overdue book notice, a hurried trip to the library with the errand books is the solution. But there are some men at Benning who can sit back and wait until the library comes to them.

Patients who are bed-ridden at the hospital look forward to the three-times-a-week visit from the "book-cart" provided by library.

Post Doctor Pens Articles

Two articles written by a post doctor, formerly assigned to Heidelberg, and a German physician have been published in German medical journals.

Col. Robert J. Hoagland of New York City, chief of hospital services at the U. S. Army Hospital here, collaborated with Dr. Ekkehard Gill, a German doctor employed at the U. S. Army Hospital in Heidelberg.

"Diagnostic Criteria of Infectious Mononucleosis" appeared in the publication, Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift, last February and "Needle Biopsy of the Liver as the Method of Choice" was published in the Deutscher, 1955, issue of Artzliche Wochenschrift.

Hoagland and Gill were leaders at the Heidelberg Hospital in developing cooperative social and professional relations among German and U. S. medical personnel. Col. Hoagland was assigned here last November.

New Ruling Requires Per Diem To Be Included in Tax Returns

SUPERIOR SUPPLY . . . Sgt. Robert H. Hoover accepts the Best Supply Plaque for December, 1955, for Company "C," 4th Student Battalion, The School Brigade. Presenting the plaque is Col. Earl F. Klimek, commanding officer, the School Brigade.

(This is the fourth in a series of nine articles on federal income tax for the year 1955. This article is based on information furnished by the Internal Revenue Bureau.)

Military personnel must include all per diem and travel allowances received for temporary duty assignments as gross income on their 1955 tax returns, a recent Internal Revenue Bureau ruling states.

The Army has issued a supplementary message informing commanders that, in view of the lateness of the tax ruling, the "best available figures" may be submitted on 1955 returns where there are no exact records of payment or disbursement.

Money spent on necessary expenses, which may include meals, lodging and travel, is deductible under the ruling. Expenses for personal sidetrips or delays cannot be deducted.

The change will mean more income tax to pay in some cases, less in others.

EXAMPLE NO. 1
If a man received $3.00 per diem allowance for a trip that was completed in one day, he might spend only one or two dollars on meals. The amount he could deduct for expenses would be less than the $9.00 he added to gross income — leaving more taxable income.

EXAMPLE NO. 2
A man making a longer trip might find that hotel bills and food expense added up to more than his allowance. He would add only the amount of the allowance to his gross income, but he could deduct all his expenses.

The result would be a lower taxable income than under the old system, where the allowance was not reported at all. Tax officials suggested that servicemen keep some record of their expenses, in case deductions are questioned later.

Disbursing officers will not change W-2 forms, which list only regular pay. Gross income for filing purposes should be the amount on the W-2 forms plus per diem and travel allowances received.

The Army and Navy have issued bulletins explaining the new procedure. The Navy covered the change in its annual pamphlet on federal income tax information (AFIS).

Col. Wade Appointed

Lt. Col. Gentry W. Wade of Yakima, Wash., has succeeded Major Wade L. McKinnon of Nashville, Tenn., as Book Department officer.

Major McKinnon is new assistant chief of the Operations Training Group of the Automotive Department. He served as Book Department officer for the past two years.

Col. Wade was assigned here in January, 1955, and served as special projects officer of the Quartermaster Section and chairman of the post's Community Chest Drive.

He entered the Army in May, 1938, after receiving his masters degree from New York University. Col. Wade is married to the former Toni Dolg of Piedmont, Calif. Major McKinnon attended Jacksonville (Ala.) State Teachers College. He entered the Army in November, 1942, and served a year in the European Theater during World War II. Major and Mrs. McKinnon, the former Adelle King of Nashville, have two children, 4 and 5. Anne, 10, and Wade Jr., 7.

WINS SILVER STAR

Muffler Shop Offers Coast-to-Coast Guarantee and 15-Minute Installation

The Muffler Shop Gives Installation Free. Low Prices

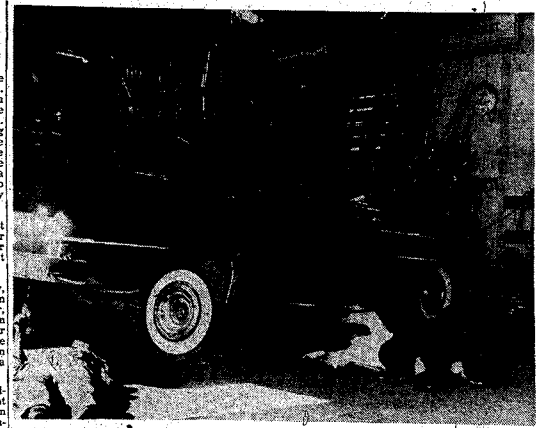

John Doe took his car to the Muffler Shop, 13th St. at 4th Ave., drove out 15 minutes later with a new muffler installed at a price that saved him several dollars. Ten years later John was living in San Francisco, Calif., when he thought he found a defect in his muffler. Taking the car to the muffler dealer in San Francisco a new muffler was installed with no charge for the muffler and only a small labor cost.

It didn't really happen . . . but it could, because every muffler sold and installed at The Muffler Shop is guaranteed coast to coast for the life of your car.

This unusual guarantee policy, plus the 15-minute installation service, with no charge for labor, and low competitive prices on the mufflers have accounted for the outstanding success of The Muffler Shop which opened in Columbus only a little over a year ago.

Equipment designed specifically to permit quick and efficient automobile muffler installation has put this service in the category with other specialized field stations. The Muffler Shop, using this equipment, has taken the category out of the field where your car or truck is tied up and out of service for several hours and put it in the category where 15 minutes will see you on your way, with a new guaranteed muffler.

A plus value for motorists of this area is the fact that The Muffler Shop makes no charges for installation. The Muffler Shop operates on the theory of volume business in only one line of automotive work which permits successful operation without charging for labor; much like the supermarket where you pay only for the merchandise you buy and nothing for the service of having it packaged and carried to your car by a willing hand.

SPECIALIZES IN MUFFLER INSTALLATION—Skilled technicians install muffler with lifetime, coast to coast guarantee at The Muffler Shop, 13th St. at 4th Ave. Special equipment, technical know-how and large stocks of mufflers mean 15 minute installation at The Muffler Shop. Free installation and low, competitive prices account for big volume business at Columbus' only shop specializing exclusively in automotive exhaust systems.

Operating similar shops specializing in automobile exhaust systems in Mobile and Macon, The Muffler Shop buys in quantities large enough to mean low prices with those savings passed on to the motorist. You are invited to compare these prices offered by The Muffler Shop with those anywhere. Keeping in mind that in addition to low prices you receive a guarantee good coast to coast for the life of the car and power, out operating costs and increase the operating efficiency of the automobile.

Because of the large volume of muffler business done by The Muffler Shop they must maintain a very large stock of mufflers for every type of car and truck. This, of course, means quicker service and added satisfaction. In addition to the regular muffler installation, the Shop also handles and installs the famous "Subs" silencers. Dual mufflers, exhaust systems that create more power, out operating costs and increase the operating efficiency of the automobile.

In the case of The Muffler Shop, specialization is definitely a boon to the pocketbook and lender of the car owner. He gets a muffler that carries a written lifetime guarantee good coast to coast at the same price of one without a guarantee . . . he gets it installed free . . . he is without his car for only 15 minutes, in which time he can relax in a comfortable waiting room.

Benning Boxers in Golden Gloves

Fort Benning's contribution to the National Golden Gloves tournaments began Monday when 25 boxers threw leather in the first round of the 1956 National Golden Gloves bouts.

Fighters competed in eight weight classes and included many of the boxers who shone in the recent Open Boxing Tournament here, Fifteen Third Infantry Division pugilists completed.

First Lt. Pete Rademacher, team boxing coach, was entered in the heavyweight class and was expected to fight against the late Tom Ron. Rademacher has taken North-west Golden Gloves honors four times and was 1953 National AAU champion.

Also featured in the bouts was Tony Robles, featherweight, who came up with a sensational first-round KO of his opponent in the post matches. Robles has been a standout performer all season with his powerful punching.

Straguarded welterweight Bobby Randolph, light welter Tom Demkins, lightweight Willie Johnson and heavyweight Bennie Taylor were others who loomed strong in the Alabama picture.

Fort Benning boxers also will be included in the Alabama State Golden Gloves Feb. 6-8. Sixteen post representatives are expected to battle in the Alabama picture.

Delegations also have been formed for early February matches in Florida. An eight-man Third Infantry Regimental Combat Team in Korea.

A 1951 graduate of Mississippi State University, he entered the Army in June of that year. Lt. Milner attended the associate company officers course here in 1951 and officers communications course in 1952. He served with the 304 Infantry Regiment from December, 1951, until his assignment to Korea.

Named Chairman Of Radio Comm.

First Lt. Hughie Milner of Hillsboro, Miss., has been named chairman of the Alabama State Committee of the Communications Department.

Lt. Milner has served on the committee since April, 1954, following a year's tour of duty with the Fifth Regimental Combat Team in Korea.

A 1951 graduate of Mississippi State University, he entered the Army in June of that year. Lt. Milner attended the associate company officers course here in 1951 and officers communications course in 1952. He served with the 304 Infantry Regiment from December, 1951, until his assignment to Korea.

NEW SILVER BARS

Jay's Journey In Sports

By JAY ADELMAN

New rules formulated for the Army sports program rarely go to extremes, but for the most part a new AR on the subject, dated Jan. 3, 1956, should prove welcome to Army installations.

The present policy is outlined in AR 28-52, titled "Army Sports Program." On the whole, the few new rulings are for the benefit of the overall situation," according to Sam Roberts, Infantry Center sports supervisor. "I call it an improvement and a very fine program," he added.

The new rules deal with the number of professionals on a team, the balance of officer and enlisted personnel, playing amount of travel permitted terms, maximum training time, number of competitions allowed for installation level teams—nice juicy topics in service sports. The rules also contain many loopholes, on which we will have more to say next week.

The new regulations follow:

Paragraph 7 (6) In baseball, basketball and football not more than 25 percent of the participants on an Army squad may be restricted professional players. For the purpose of these regulations, a restricted professional player is defined as an individual who is or has been under contract to and compensated for play by:

(a) In basketball and football, any professional league, or a member team of such a league.

(b) In baseball, any professional league or member team of "A" or "B" classification in the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Paragraph 7 (7) "At least 50 percent of the personnel of a squad in the Army Sports Program in baseball, basketball, and football will be enlisted personnel. In all other sports, teams may consist of officer and enlisted personnel in any proportion.

Paragraph 8 (b) "All inter-installation and civilian competitions will be restricted to the geographical limits of the Army area in which the installation is located except installations located near Army area boundaries may travel into an adjacent area providing the round trip does not exceed 500 miles. Exceptions to this may be granted by restriction, installations within the Military District of Washington are considered to be within the Second Army area, with policy control being retained by the major commander of the installation concerned.

(b) The maximum periods of time, including pre-season training, that will be devoted to the following specific sport by installation level teams will be as follows: baseball, 150 days; basketball, 90 days; boxing, 105 days; and football, 120 days. These restrictions do not include competition in Army area all-Army, interservice, national, or international championships in which teams or individuals may be selected for competition.

(c) The number of Competitions for installation level teams will be restricted to 30 in basketball and 50 in baseball including exhibition games. This is exclusive of Army area and all-Army championships games."

Post to Host Bowling Assn.

The Fort Benning Main Post will be the scene of the Columbus City Association Annual Bowling Tournament, Feb. 18-19 and 20-21 at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Events consist of team matches, two-man, singles, and all-around (optional), according to CWO George L. Van Wie, tournament director. All AIG-registered bowlers in the Columbus Bowling Association are eligible for competition.

Entries for the matches close Feb. 14. Application blanks are being distributed to the various league secretaries.

The entry fee per man is three dollars, made up of $2.25 for the prize fund and 75 cents for actual bowling.

For further information call CWO Van Wie at Fort Benning 2-3147 or Columbus 7-5340.

Unit Drops League Top

The 1st Special Troops Detachment quietly dropped from their lead position in the Special Troops Command basketball league last week when they were upset by third place Hqs & Hqs Company 46 to 30. CONARC Board No. 3 took over the first place slot by virtue of their routing triumph over 539th Ordnance Company, 42 to 27.

In other games played last week, 1st Special Troops downed 2nd Special Troops, 54 to 27 Monday. 1st Special Troops routed 2nd Special Troops walked over the Army Aviation Detachment, 45 to 18. The current standings as of January 22th were: 1st place, CONARC Board No. 3; 2nd place, 1st Special Troops Detachment; 3rd place, Hqs & Hqs Company; 4th place, 2nd Special Troops Detachment; 5th place, 539th Ordnance Company; 6th place, Army Aviation Detachment; 89th Ordnance Company and the 1st Ordnance Company were tied for the cellar spot.

'Serendaders' to Give Service Clubs Show

The "Serendaders" of Valdosta State College will present a selection of college area popular songs at Services Clubs No. 2 and 3 on 16 February.

Meat Cutting Plant Capable Of Supplying 50,000 Troops

You probably know all about the birds and bees and flowers and you know where breakfast comes from originally, but do you know how steak is brought to your mess hall table? Breakfast comes from the Central Meat Cutting Plant at the Post Quartermaster Section, which is responsible for the receipt, processing and delivery of all meats served in the mess halls of the post.

The first stop, after removal from refrigerated delivery trucks or railway cars, is for weighing and inspection by veterinary representatives. From here the carcass proceeds through a chopping line process where it is separated into steaks, chops, roasts and all the various cuts of meat.

Processing of meat starts at the cutting plant practically from the time a butcher and animal quill is hawling, as all meat is delivered there in carcass form. Carcass form means that only the hide, feet, entrails and head have been removed and the carcass quartered.

meat cutters and 21 STC meat-cutting specialists processed and delivered more than 157,000 pounds of meat. This figure includes 107,000 pounds of beef, 15,000 pounds of pork, 12,000 pounds of ham, plus spare ribs, pork loin, roasts, etc., but does not include chicken, turkey, sausage, frankfurters, hamburger steak on the wisp.

TIS Students To Be Trained In Night Firing

Students in The Infantry School literally will be taking a proverbial shot in the near future when the Weapons Department completes seven new night firing ranges.

In an Army-wide emphasis on better trained riflemen for after-dark combat, the Weapons Department will begin instruction next month in a course entitled "Technique of Rifle Fire at Night Without Artificial Illumination."

Besides regular daytime classroom lectures, the new curriculum will include two hours of afternoon demonstrations for advanced officer students and 24 hours special instruction for non-commissioned and basic officer students and officer candidates.

Two demonstration and five firing ranges, being constructed by The Infantry Center Engineer Section, are expected to be completed within the next several months. All ranges will be located in areas where the use of artificial lighting is kept to a minimum so that riflemen can be trained in night vision and firing techniques.

Because the student cannot see his sights in darkness, normal aiming procedures must be replaced by learning to fire without the help of attachments on weapons.

"John, this isn't our baby. You've taken the wrong carriage." "Shut up, you dope. This one's got real rubber tires."

Relief Fund Loans Climb

Fort Benning's Army Emergency Relief Fund in 1955 lent servicemen and their dependents nearly twice the total borrowed from it the previous year. The fund lent $107,007.50 last year to 1,137 persons and made 11 grants totaling an additional $8,873.45. Grants made primarily to widows, are not expected to be repaid.

In 1954, the 718 loans amounted to $85,002.22 and two grants totaling $160. Last December, when 177 loans for $18,802 were made, was a record month for the activity. The previous high was set the preceding month, when $14,403 was put into circulation.

No interest Monthly loan totals never topped $100.00 before 1955. No interest is charged on the loans, which are made only following thorough investigation.

All Army personnel and their dependents are eligible for AER assistance. Applications are considered by the company commander or unit personnel officer and must be approved by the AER officer before reaching higher post officials.

Any pay due the applicant, such as expedited and arrears, is made by AER for satisfactory payment of debts through the serviceman's subsequent pay checks. The American Red Cross renders AER invaluable assistance in verifying cases of need.

The AER loans often only partially cover the debt involved, with arrangements made for the applicant to pay the balance owed in installments from his pay. Development of self-reliance in getting out of debt is stressed.

LT. NICHOLAS PELLIGRINO LEADS 'THE INFANTRY CHORUS' Montage of Leader and Chorus of Singing Lieutenants

'The Singing Lieutenants' Make History With Melodic Smoothness

BY BILL HOMPSON

Traversing with fascinating melodic smoothness from the semi-classical to the beloved spirituals to the familiar military airs and including modern musical sources — "The Infantry Chorus" of the School Brigade is becoming a favorite of Fort Benning and the Chattahoochee Valley.

Achieving melodic smoothness as a cappella group is an amazing feat even on a full time basis. It is even more amazing when considering these "singing lieutenants" have accomplished their musical unity solely on a part time extracurricular basis.

Composed of Students

The thirty-some-voice chorus, organized during their fifth week of school, is composed of students in the Third Basic Officers Class, 101st Company, Second Student Battalion. In addition to their fully packed academic schedule, these young officers have utilized their own time to organize, rehearse and then fill numerous singing engagements in the evenings and holidays.

They are now, in addition to bivouac and night problems, earnestly preparing for their grand finale concert to be given at their graduation on Saturday, February 4th.

Following graduation, the Infantry Chorus will be scattered to the four winds. Some are going to Airborne School, others to Ranger School, several to various units in the Stateside and a considerable number of them are headed for overseas assignments. Unfortunately for Fort Benning, their graduation comes prior to the keen competition of the Third Army Talent Contest in April.

The Third Army contest is a preliminary to the Army-wide Talent Contest which results in a chance for TV appearances on a nationwide network. Their course at Fort Benning is of sixteen weeks duration; they have one more full week and then graduation.

Drill Team Performs

Additional military smartness is added to the Infantry Chorus by the crack rifle drill team composed of Lieutenant Nicholas Pelligrino, a Boston University music major, in this talented choral organization has been gradually molded into a smooth, balanced orchestra of richly modulated male voices.

Splitted enthusiasm, love, understanding and appreciation of music, plus a skilled blending or native and trained talents are the evident ingredients of this first-rate amateur chorus.

All the fellows realize the big thing our chorus needs is accuracy in intonation — that is, accuracy in keeping the pitch. His of course is exceedingly important in building tonal fullness," Lt. Pelligrino explained.

A recent ROTC graduate, Lt. Pelligrino plans to complete his two-

Nurses

The corps reached its peak strength in 1955, with 97,000 Army nurses on duty. Today the corps totals 4,000.

Army nurses are registered professional nurses and graduates of schools of nursing approved by the Army's surgeon general. Most recent graduates qualify by age and professional experience for the rank of second lieutenant.

Nurses with additional experience in a nursing specialty or with bachelor's or master's degrees in nursing may be appointed in higher grades.

Each year, Army nurses are given the opportunity to take additional training in anesthesiology, operating room technique, neuro-psychiatric nursing, nursing administration and hospital administration. An anesthesiology course makes the student for national board examination and ultimate membership in the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists.

The Army's psychiatric nursing program is one of the outstanding courses of its kind in the U. S.

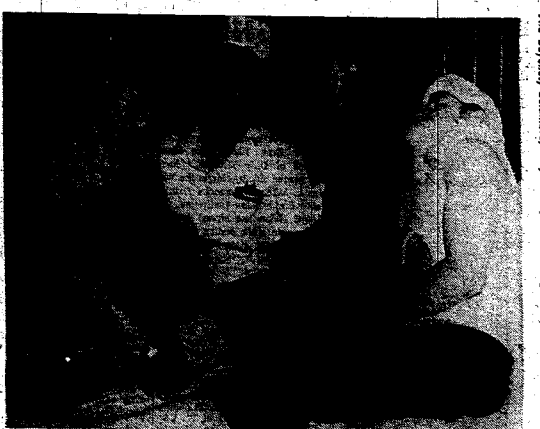

Approximately 200 guests are expected to attend the Fort Benning celebration of the corps' birthday, Major Evelyn L. Bunch of Columbus, Ga., is in charge of arrangements. The maroon and white colors of the Nurse Corps will set the decorative theme.

Among those invited to the affair are Major Gen. and Mrs. George E. Lynch, Major Gen. and Mrs. Earl C. Bergquist, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Robert H. Booth, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ernest A. Barlow, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Sidney C. Woodson and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Robert L. Cook.

Capt. Schiller Named 3d-A Aids Officer

Capt. William E. Schiller of Memphis, Tenn., became the new Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center officer Feb. 1.

He replaced Capt. Robert E. Sprouse of Wheeling, W. Va., who held the position three and one-half years and who will attend a three-month communications course at The Infantry School.

Second Lt. Robert J. Lynch of Stamford, Conn., became assistant training aids officer, replacing 1st Lt. McElloch B. Wilson of Wilmington, N. C., who has been assigned to the 25th Infantry Division in Hawaii. Lt. Wilson has been assistant officer since July, 1952.

Capt. Schiller had been with the 25th Division as assistant regimental S-3 (plans and operations officer) 18 months. He entered the Army in 1945 at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and later served in Europe before going to Korea with the 25th Division.

The new training aids officer was graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1952.

SHOW BIZ

Photos of the late Gen. William L. (Bill) Mitchell and actor Gary Cooper, who portrays the pioneer aviator and army officer in the Warner Bros. film, "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell," have been placed side-by-side in the William L. Mitchell Memorial Exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution.

Lloyd Nolan has signed for his third movie since ending his long and successful stage engagement as Capt. Queeg in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." Nolan will don the uniform of an air force general in "Toward the Unknown," a drama of jet plane development and experimentation. Lovely Latin beauty Rita Moreno, has the biggest part to date in the comedy film, "The Lieutenant Wore Skirts."

A promotion stunt for the benefit of both the Army and the movie "The Lieutenant Wore Skirts" was organized recently by the radio department of the PIO staff at Ft. Carson, Colo., where the Korean war picture was filmed on location. Army volunteers assigned to the picture as advisers to the actors were interviewed with the player with whom they were working. The recordings were sent to the respective home town radio stations of the soldiers.

... Eye-filling Shirley Jones who fits into a leopard skin bathing suit with such delightful results, is starring in the new movie, "Carousel." One long look at Shirley and any healthy, normal American boy wouldn't need a carousel to keep him going around in circles.

Sgt. Finishes High School Plus 1 Year College Here

For a man who had completed only the fourth grade when he entered the Army, Sgt. Myron B. Alfred, MP Company, Special Troops Command, has done all right for himself. In something two years of college through the University of Georgia Center on the post.

Sgt. Alfred, a ranch hand in Oregon and Wyoming before entering the Army, completed the elementary test in 1947. Later he passed the test for high school and one year college work.

Since that time he has finished his second year college through the University of Georgia Center. He is presently studying at the Center toward a BA degree in Business Administration. He also has a law degree with the LaSalle University extension which he expects to complete in about three more years.

This veteran of nearly 15 years' service in four overseas tours, three in the Far East and one in Alaska, is no stranger to Army service schools either. He has graduated from the CID, CIC, physical training and athletic director, unit, chemical warfare and mess management schools.

Sgt. Alfred, presently assigned at Babson NCO School, teaches the military police and civil courts, plans

NOW YA KNOW!

HERE ARE ANSWERS TO THE QUESTIONS SERVING MEN AND THEIR FAMILIES ASK THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION EVERY DAY...

Q—As a Korea veteran, I have 120 days from the date of my discharge to obtain Korea GI term insurance. What would happen if I were to wait until the last day, and it happened to be on a Saturday or Sunday when the VA was not conducting business?

A—If the final day of the 120-day period falls on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, the time for obtaining Korea GI term insurance would be extended to include the first workday that followed.

Q—I am planning to take graduate courses at college under the Korea GI Bill. What does VA consider to be full-time graduate college training?

A—There are no set number of hours you are required to take. For graduate students, VA accepts the word of the school as to whether veterans are pursuing their training full-time or part-time.

Q—Would it be possible to get a GI business loan to obtain working capital for my small business? I qualify under the law.

A—Yes. Under the law, you could get a GI business loan to obtain working capital. But you would have to find a lender willing to make the loan under GI terms.

Q—I am receiving retirement pay from the Armed forces and I also am eligible for VA disability compensation. I realize I have the right to choose either of the two benefits. But, if I make a choice, would I be allowed to change at some future date? Or is the choice I make now binding for the rest of my life?

A—The choice you make now would not be binding for the rest of your life. You would have the right to change at any time.

Q—I have just been discharged from the armed forces, and I understand that I have three years from my discharge to begin Korea GI Bill training. However, I plan to re-enlist for four years. Will I be uniform when my starting deadline comes along, so my question is will I be able to begin GI training after I complete my four years of active duty?

A—No. Under the law, a veteran must begin GI training within three years from his first discharge. The law makes no exceptions to this rule.

Assigned to Engineers

Second Lieutenant Dean R. Burwell of Rock Island, Ill., has been assigned to Company "B", 87th Engineer Battalion, 15th Engineer Group.

Formerly with the Group Headquarters, he served as assistant S-3 and athletic and Recreation Officer.

After graduating from the Rock Island High School, Rock Island, Ill., he entered the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo., where he majored in finance. In June of 1954 he received his ROTC commission as second lieutenant.

He entered the service in September, 1954, and after completing Engineer Officers' Basic Course at Fort Belvoir, Va., in January, was assigned to the 15th Group.

Armed Forces Total Now at 2,916,028

WASHINGTON (APPS) — The numerical strength of the armed forces was 2,916,028 at the end of the year, a decrease of 4,500 from the previous month, the Defense Department has announced.

Preliminary reports based army strength at 1,684,857; navy at 668,345; air force at 562,710 and marine corps at 200,115.

New Major Heads Sect. At Hospital

Major David P. Buchanan of Hamlet, N. C., has been named chief of Medical Services' Communicable Diseases Section at the U. S. Army Hospital.

He was assigned to Tokyo Army Hospital in Japan from May, 1952, until coming to the Infantry Center. The previous year he served in the 4th Station Hospital in Korea.

After attending Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., Major Buchanan received a medical degree from the University of Buffalo, N. Y., in 1948. He is a veteran of 10 years of military service.

From 1948 to 1953 he was a resident doctor at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

The fashion (American Express) (Brink's) robbery has been solved.

(Some) (no) vegetation is believed to exist in Antarctica.

Nat's first earth satellite will be launched from (California) (Florida) some time in '57.

No Reduction Seen in Cav.

WASHINGTON (APPS) — The Army will retain three reduced-strength regiments within the 1st Cavalry Div. in Japan rather than reduce one regiment—the Seventh Cavalry at Camp Hagen on central Honshu — to taken strength as previously announced.

The current plan will continue the triangular organizational concept in the division, with the 5th, 7th and 8th Cavalry Regts. remaining at approximately two-thirds of full strength.

Army officials said this arrangement offers the best deployment with respect to existing training facilities and the most economical use of available troop and dependent housing.

New 'Army' Mag Fails In Purpose

BY YE PATER Members of the Association of the United States Army who recently received a gratuity known as the Combat Forces Journal, this month received a brand new membership dividend—a magazine bearing the title "Army". Your old father views this continuation of a series of branch association "mergers" with feelings akin to those of the old farmer who finally sold off his draft horses and bought a tractor. This is going to "cut down on the forage expenses, but somehow things ain't ever going to be the same again. Besides now we're going to have to buy seedlings.

FIRST MALE NURSE ON POST COMMISSIONED L-2c Lt. Eugene Gordon, Col. Norman Wiley

Male Nurse At Benning Wins Bars

Lt. Gordon Becomes First EM to Attain Goal Here The first male nurse to be commissioned at Fort Benning received second lieutenant's bars at the post hospital, Feb. 7. Lt. Eugene R. Gordon of Kingston, Pa., is believed to be the first enlisted man to apply for a commission in the U. S. Army Nurse Corps. He was the only enlisted anesthetist in the Army last August when he applied for a commission under the Army's new provision for commissioned male nurses, Lt. Gordon said.

Seventh Anniversary Celebrated by STC

Special Troops Command commemorated the seventh anniversary of the unit's activation on Saturday, February 4. In observance of the day, special dinners were served in all unit mess halls. In a congratulatory message to STC Major-General Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Corps Commandant, stated: "The seventh anniversary of the Special Troops Command is noted with pleasure. I congratulate all members of the command upon completion of another year of activity in which they played a definite role in the successful operation of the Infantry Center."

Big Parade Slated For 4-Star Gen.

Approximately 15,000 Third Division and Infantry Center troops will march at Lurson Army Air Field Feb. 12 in honor of retiring Gen. John E. Dahlquist, fourth-in-line four-star general, who is the first of four commissioned nurses and a doctor. Gen. Dahlquist's parade follows closely a similar ceremony held here June 28 in honor of Lt. Gen. John W. "Iron Mike" O'Daniel, first in the hospital administration when approximately the same number of troops participated. A veteran of 30 years active service, Gen. Dahlquist holds the post of commander of all troops within the continental U.S. The ceremony in his honor is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. The parade will be followed by a reception at the Main Officers Mess.

YAC Launches Energetic Drive To Make 1956 a Banner Year

Plans are being formulated by the Board of Governors of the Youth Activities Club to make 1956 a banner year, according to a recent announcement by a president, Colonel John J. Tolson.

The energetic drive has been launched by the board to carry out the three primary points of this year's program:

A complete revision of the constitution is planned, to meet the needs of young people of all ages. Lt. Col. John Munkin, vice president, has already completed the major part of the revision, which will be submitted for approval to the board of governors in February.

Esmeralda Membership Drive. The board is planning a membership drive aimed at inducing all parents whose children participate in YAC activities to become active dues paying members. Lt. Col. C. T. Gage, membership of only 10 people, who will be the nucleus of the present club.

First called the Dux Club, this organization changed its name to YAC in the fall of 1954, and mothers were invited to membership.

Project Activities. The YAC is now directed by a Board of Governors, consisting of elected and appointed members who meet monthly. Membership in the club is composed of parents, teenagers and guardians of military dependents.

The YAC provides full financial support and supervision to the following post youth activities: Boy and Girl Scouts of America, Girl and Boy Scouts of America, Brat Barracks, Junior National Rifle Association, Playgroups, Fights for City Collection, and all Little and Pony League Athletic Programs.

COL. JOHN J. TOLSON Club President

project officer, has designed a club patch to be worn only on the shoulders of those children whose parents are dues paying members. A vigorous publicity program has been designed to point out the benefits and opportunities offered by YAC, and to acquaint the public with the club, according to Lt. Col. Leslie W. Bailey, publicity project officer.

Col. Tolson says the major obstacle to the club's growth has been the tendency to take for granted the privileges the club offers the youth of the post.

In line with this he pointed out that parents should be informed of the past accomplishments of the club, its present status, and its future plans.

The Youth Activities Club was formed here on October 9, 1952. The original membership consisted

Captain Honored At Retirement

Capt. Edward T. Dreyer of Fort Meade, who served in the Army for more than 20 years' military service, has been awarded an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement in recognition of faithful service.

An instructor on the Fundamentals Committee of the Communications Department since last June, Capt. Dreyer graciously served as communications officer of the 7th Infantry Regiment, Ninth Division, in Germany for three years.

A National Guardsman for two years before entering active duty in 1942, Dreyer served in the Pacific Theater during World War II. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Cut-Rate Fares To Be Continued

Reduced travel fares for military personnel have been continued until Jan. 31, 1957, by rail and bus carriers in the U. S., according to Col. Eugene M. Elliott Jr., Washington, D. C., military officer in transportation office.

Bus and rail carriers and the law authorizing tax exemption on round trip fares, however, are subject to a regulation which requires that military personnel travel in uniform and that their travel be for personal and not business purposes.

Also, personnel must upon request, present official leave or pass papers.

The same regulations apply in travel of foreign military students to which reduced fares are granted.

Experience has shown that military personnel traveling in civilian dress are subject to fare tickets at a considerable cost. Therefore, violation of the regulations and conditions governing the use of reduced fare tickets could result in discrimination of these fares.

Opportunities Await Army Talent Hunt To Start March 9

The first phase of the All-Army Entertainment Contest, with contestants competing in 12 categories, will be held at Fort Benning, Ga., on March 9 at 8:30 p. m.

Bus and rail carriers and the law authorizing tax exemption on round trip fares, however, are subject to a regulation which requires that military personnel travel in uniform and that their travel be for personal and not business purposes.

The YAC provides full financial support and supervision to the following post youth activities: Boy and Girl Scouts of America, Girl and Boy Scouts of America, Brat Barracks, Junior National Rifle Association, Playgroups, Fights for City Collection, and all Little and Pony League Athletic Programs.

Col. Tolson says the major obstacle to the club's growth has been the tendency to take for granted the privileges the club offers the youth of the post.

In line with this he pointed out that parents should be informed of the past accomplishments of the club, its present status, and its future plans.

The Youth Activities Club was formed here on October 9, 1952. The original membership consisted more than five members.

The following contestants will be "live" at post level, singing items but recorded for other levels.

Each winning quartet of four male or four female singers without an accompanist, country and western group of four to seven members, including instrumentalists, but not necessarily vocal presentations, group bands including leader, band or instrumentalists, including vocalists, will be invited to participate in the final round of the contest.

Special Services Office has announced that all personnel desiring to participate in the contest should contact Dean West of West York, N. Y., entertainment director at the "Soldier's Show" building, directly behind Theater No. 2, as soon as possible.

Selection of contestants will be conducted "live" through all levels of command, follow:

Vocal solo instrumentalist, soloist, specialty performer, including all single acts which are non-musical, "hot" instrumentalists, including both voice and instrumental.

A panel of three judges will decide winners based on technical competence, reliability of performance, showmanship and selection of material.

All U. S. Army personnel in active duty status may participate. Remaining time of "live" entry cannot exceed four minutes, except for instrumentalists, who may exceed six minutes. Each recorded act must present two "hot" instrumentalists, including both voice and instrumental.

A panel of three judges will decide winners based on technical competence, reliability of performance, showmanship and selection of material.

Post Glovers Loom Big in Tourneys

BY BOB KENO

Two Golden Glover boxing tournaments in two states attended by Post Glovers pugilists the past few days should produce at least a half dozen Doughboy candidates for the Tournament of Champions at Chicago. And it is quite possible there will be more.

Although at the time of this writing the first bell had not sounded for any of the meets, a number of the boxing officials from the Third Division and Main Post are such accomplished boxers that it would be no great surprise if at least six of them do not reach the end of the rain-low namely Chicago and the Jackson, Miss., meets. The majority of the boxers led by Montgomery and the Alabama State Tournament with Pete Rademacher leading approximately 25 pugilists.

The rest went to the glove meet at Jacksonville, Fla., in both cities were held Feb. 6.

The victors in the Jacksonville Tourney is destined for New York City to meet the champion of the late Arch Ward's dream child, the Golden Glover Tournament of Champions.

Montgomery, however, will probably get a look at the best of Post Glovers in the Atlanta meet.

Officer Bowling

BY CWO GEORGE I. VAN WYE

The 11st Artillery and "Bowlers Dream" come true—a perfect game. Needless to say, it is a fast few pointers energy to accomplish. During the first 8 months of the current season, through 10 November, 21 perfect games were reported to the ABC, from over two million bowlers. This figure includes all bowlers in the league for the season.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADRIAN

About these new rules we discussed last week. We must get along with Bob Kinard, Doughboy boxing champion, who feels that the idea of restricting professional ball players in service competition is both good and bad.

"This is one good feature and on the other hand, we have many professionals who are not able to watch the game play and, in any case, want these installations to have the best possible teams in all respects."

In some cases, we might set that the pro players are being discriminated against when not provided the opportunity to play whatever sport they do play upon entering the services.

Again, in the long run it could lead to a big build-up in professional sports, providing the opportunity for participation to far more players than might be allowed on just one post team.

The new rule on officer-enlisted men balance on a post team is to the good. "Squad" is the big word here. Briefly, a basketball team, for example, was allowed only two officers on the court at a single time. Now enlisted-officer personnel on a squad may be 50-50 and on the floor any way the coach wants it.

We can understand the attempt to keep teams from playing too far every day from their Army areas, but if a team is good, the more reason to show it off during a regular season and maybe even get a line on opponents that may be faced in post-season tourneys.

This reporter is not looking for overcommercialization in Army sport. If performance by military teams do garner good publicity for teams and installations.

Anyone who followed Army baseball knows the legendary figure of Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, who died for McChesher and Third Army to the 1955 All-Army Championship. He struck out 22 in tossing a magnificent no-hitter during the Third Army Baseball Tournament here at Fort Benning.

Did anyone watching that game mind the fact he was a pro?

Bob Lynch, former assistant sports officer at Fort Benning, is assistant training officer at the Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center. Bob accompanied part of the boxing team to Miami. He was a sensational high school footballer with Stamford High in Connecticut and later shone for a 60-20-17 record.

Since writing about a team's greatness before it has really proved itself can mean bad luck, according to sports superstition, we won't go into detail on how we feel the best hosting representatives will do in the Golden Gloves. Many of the fighters, however, do have the backing of experience to go all the way, and everyone speaks highly of Pete Rademacher, both as a fighter and a fine coach.

Soccer Aces Sharper in Britain, Says OC Observer

"English soccer players are far superior to American players," stated Officer Candidate George C. Croley, of West Chester, Pa., USA Officer Candidate Company, School Brigade.

He explained that soccer is a major sport in England where boys start playing "handball" type soccer when very young. They grow up with soccer and cricket. It is not as a kid who has football and baseball.

OC Croley should know the answer. While stationed in England with the 60th AAA Battalion, he played soccer with the Bury St. Edmunds team. He was the only American playing with any English soccer team.

The Bury St. Edmunds team was out experimenting with a novel OC Croley was in all American soccer player in 1953 at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa. In 1953 he captained the Lehigh team.

He hopes to return to England, but he can return playing with the best soccer teams as he feels that the experience is invaluable.

The soccer star graduated from West Chester High School in 1950. He attended Lehigh University for 3 years before entering the Army in August 1951. His mother, Mrs. Jean T. Croley, lives at 123 East Washington Street, West Chester, Pa.

Jumpin' OC Dares Any All to Race

What can you do with a points sack?

"I challenge all comers to do three miles," said Officer Candidate Donald B. Kirschbecher, 11th Officer Candidate Company, Fifth Signal Battalion, Fort Benning. He placed on the line his points sack as sack-race champion of Blevins Edge, Georgia, and Miami University, Florida.

"Undeclared in every contest he entered, this Blevins Edge native began his career in sack races in 1941 at a 4th of July community celebration in his hometown. He closed his career in sack races in the 60-yard event at the previous year and the five following years.

Leaving Blevins Edge, richer by a "championship" and $50, he came to Fort Benning in 1947. But his enrollment at Miami required participation, and for four years he overcame all opposition, emerging victorious with few split decisions.

As recently as Jan. 21, 1954, at the 11th Signal Battalion Field Day, he defended his championship and was, however, defeated by Fort Benning's Fred And. And the secret to sack championship is "the key is in the jumping," said the winner, "jump and hold."

Installations included in their itinerary are Fort Wadsworth, N.Y., Fort Belvoir, Fort Bragg and Fort Monroe, Va.; Fort Benning, Fort Hood and Fort Riley, Kan.

Top Pistoleers Make Ready for Florida Matches

Many of the 80 fliers training for the National Mid-Winter Pistol Championships in Florida are reviving an old custom and beginning a new one. The second and practice Feb. 7-March 2, will depart for Tampa and Coral Gables with a couple of hundred of the old campaign hats, brought up-to-date, signifying pistoliers with the U.S. Army Pistol Team.

Shooters with both the Third Army and T. S. Army squads will practice at what is rounding into one of the best pistol ranges in the country. The new 12-target electrically operated pistol range will be completed in March, but enough of the job has been finished to allow fliers to practice at that site.

The National Mid-Winter Pistol Championships will be fired at Tampa arch 6-10, and many shooters go to the Coral Gables-Flamingo Open Pistol Tournament March 13-18.

All 12 marksmen constituting the Third Army team will take aim at Coral Gables, according to Capt. Lawrence E. Bostwick of Atlanta, Ga., officer in charge of the Third Army team, now independent of the U.S. Army squad. The Flamingo Matches will be utilized as a training medium for new Army shooters, said Major Leonard R. Robinson of Columbia, S. C., captain of the U.S. Army squad.

Many highly regarded U.S. Army pistoliers have arrived or soon will arrive here to sharpen their shooting skills before moving to Florida. M.Sgt. H. E. "Joe" Betner, regarded by many as the world's greatest pistol shot, will again be present to attempt to garner new laurels to add to a distinguished record. Among his titles are National 45 Caliber Champion and NRA National 175-Caliber Champion. Betner also was champion in the history of the excellent airborne training he had received.

Also returning will be Lt. Col. William H. Hancock of Fort Bliss, Texas, national individual pistol champion in 1922 and 1925, sole double-winner in the history of the Army and sports of only two over-all double-winners, Major Lloyd C. Summert of Camp Chilton, Ariz., and Sgt. William Blankenship of Fort Jay, N. Y., members of the four-man team involved in the record-breaking National Troop Team Match in the 1955 Camp Perry, Ohio Nationals.

The gymnastic expert, consisting of 14 men and eight women, department of the Army-sponsored tour of Third Army area installing and is being presented here by the Sports Office, Special Services.

OC 'Roughed' It as Arctic 'Snowbird'

Parachuting in Alaska while participating in Operation "Snowbird" was a rough experience, according to Officer Candidate Paul McMillan, 15th Officer Candidate Company, 5th Student Battalion, The School Brigade.

OC McMillan was a member of the 50th Airborne Infantry Regiment which tested arctic equipment and was trained in parachuting in sub-zero weather. During this training, he made a total of 20 jumps from 4 different types of planes. Jumps were made from a ramp in the tail of the plane, a method which OC McMillan claims is more effective and safer than the usual way.

Outstanding in his memory was the incident in which one of his comrades "Roman Candel" one thousand feet and buried himself in a snowbank. Remarkable as it may seem, this soldier lived to tell of the incident. His miraculous survival was attributed in part to the excellent airborne training he had received.

OC McMillan attended high school in Amherst, Virginia, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. McMillan, live.

Stockert Signs With Argonauts

Ernie Stockert, of South Gate, Calif., 1953 Second Brigade Ram cadet and former All-America football man from UCLA, has signed a professional football contract with the Toronto Argonauts in Canada. The first lieutenant, who recently received a promotion, is expected to start playing during the 1956 season. His estimated salary is around $10,000.

An all-America selection in 1953, Stockert played on the Bruin team that lost the Pacific Coast Conference title to Southern California, 14-12. He later played in the North-South all-star game in Miami, the "Senior Bowl," and in the college All-Star game. He had been drafted by the NFL's San Francisco 49ers.

Stockert, who won honorable mention on the Army Times' All-Army Football Team in 1955, stands 5-foot-10, 140 pounds, and weighs 235. He expects to be discharged in July.

Reiser Will Compete for Olympics

Second Lieutenant Kenneth W. Reiser of Eugene, Ore., student officer in the 103d Company, Second Student Battalion, School Brigade, has been notified by the Department of Army of his acceptance as a competitor in the Olympic trials to be held in Los Angeles June 27-30.

The competition in which Lt. Reiser will compete will be the steeple chase, a 3,000-meter run that has 16 30-inch barriers and four water hazards in the Olympic trials.

This past summer Lt. Reiser was a member of the AAU Track Team that toured Europe for six weeks, competing in Finland, Scotland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Denmark and England to clear. Other sports in which he has competed are the two-mile run, 3,000 and 5,000-meter runs.

There once was a lady from Guam who said, "Now the ocean's so calm I will swim for a lark." She encountered a shark. Let us now sing the 90th Psalm.

Trades Bowie Knife for Carbine! Davy Crockett Shows Up for More 'Larning'

Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier, is attending The Infantry School—possibly collecting pointers on tactics for defense of the Alamo.

Cousins cap and Bowie knife laid aside for the uniform of a 1st Lieutenant, United States Army, Lt. David E. Crockett, III, is a member of Basic Infantry Officer Course No. 10, 10th Company, The School Brigade.

Lt. Crockett claims that bearing the name of a famous character is not easy. Although he is not descended from the actual patriot, he finds it hard to convince people of the fact. Instructors are particular problem.

Broad grins wreath the faces as they encounter his name on the roll, and he is invariably called upon to recite, "Davy and Davy Crockett, answer question number 11." Sometimes I wish I really were at the Alamo; it would simplify my life," Lt. Crockett-mans when constant references to his "bar shooting at an early age finally wear his patience thin. Lt. Crockett is from Rockport, Maine. Davy Crockett, IV, age 23 months, comes to be proof that Lt. Crockett has not found the name too much of a handicap.

Post Will Train 6,000 Students and Reservists

Almost 6,000 ROTC students and Army Reservists will undergo summer training here in 1956, according to Lt. Col. Edward Duda of Columbus, Ohio, Infantry Center chief of planning staff for USA-ROTC summer encampments.

Col. Duda said that approximately 1,700 ROTC students from 30 colleges within the Third Army area and Puerto Rico will arrive for training June 25. Students from Indiana, also, will undergo summer instruction here.

The new six-month Reserve program will boost the number of Reservists for the 1956 camp with nearly 4,300 members of the 401st Engineer Brigade of Atlanta arriving Aug. 5.

The Atlanta group will be followed by the 42nd Engineer Brigade of Vicksburg, Miss., which consists of more than 1,500 men. Engineer battalions from Ope-

Co. J Mystery Now Revealed

What happened to the Army's Company J?

The alphabetical line-up of Army companies does not include the mysterious letters A through K—just No. 1.

A query turned up three reasons why J is missing:

Infamous traitor Benedict Arnold commanded a Company J. Company J is reported to have been a "bug out" company, meaning the men were ordered to "Company J" always has been known as the "Jinx Company."

Officially, however, Company J's demise came about May 25, 1864, on orders from the Adjutant General's Office, when it was decided the letter J was too much like I in writing.

Behind the alphabetical system went into effect in 1864, the death the same year. The Army placed six companies in line by a complex arrangement according to seniority of captains. Companies were numbered from right to left.

Reup Change Takes Effect

A change in Department of the Army rulings concerning personnel with a break in service has been announced by the post-re-enlistment officer.

With break of between one day and 30 days in service, men discharged who want to re-enlist may do so at the post for their own vacancies, according to Lt. Gordon F. White of Baldwin, Iowa.

After the 30-day expiration, they may re-enlist only through the U.S. Army Recruiting Service.

In the past, the Re-Enlistment Office could accept anyone with prior service for a vacancy on command, even if he had not been out of the Army over 90 days. Now personnel discharged at other posts cannot apply for service at the local office.

As in the past, anyone re-enlisting the day after his discharge may re-enlist for various options, special assignments or schools.

Templeton To Appear Here

Also Templeton's report Feb. 22 will be given. The program includes piano's interpretation of both classic and popular musical compositions.

The event, sponsored by the Woman's Club, will be held at 8 p.m. in the Music Conservatory.

The concert artist has performed with practically every major symphony orchestra in the U.S. As a composer, he displays a rich and light side. "Two string quartets," a song cycle, numerous compositions for piano, and other instruments, as well as his "Piano Quintet," "Globe Concerto," and "Silliman" (for oboe and piano), secured Templeton's classical reputation.

On the lighter side, the piano virtuoso has published and recorded in the "Modernizing the Masters" series such temperance songs as "Each Goes to Town," "Mozart Matriculates," and "Scarlati Stoops to Conquer."

Tickets may be obtained at The Infantry School Book Store, Main Entrance, Post Exchange Shop, and Service Club Administration Building.

Tickets also are available in Columbus at the Post Exchange Shop, Home Music Store, Rucker's Music Store, the Information Desk at Kirwin's Department Store, Fine and Country, Inc., Kayser-Litke and the Wyssman Branch and Bentley's Department Store at the Traffic Circle.

Education Conscious STC Holds Fourth Group Study Class

The fourth session of group study classes in Special Group Study Classes is now under way. STC is a R office, and Lt. Thomas P. Cross, instructor, has been assigned to the classes. First established last July, are designed to raise the education level of STC and aid personnel to attain an eighth grade equivalency certificate.

Priority for selection of students for attendance is given to those NCO's and Specialists who have not completed the eighth grade. Seventy-five per cent of students in the last class passed the United States Armed Forces Institute End of Course Test.

Classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30. The two subjects being taught in this session are history and geography.

Classes are under the direct supervision of the STC Section and are conducted in accordance with directives and policies of Headquarters, The Infantry Center. All territories and students are listed by USAFI.

The instructors, chosen for their educational background, are Pfc. Kenneth P. Hubley, a 1st grade graduate of State University of New York, Teachers College at Brockport; Pfc. Peter W. Schmitt, of Wisconsin State College at La Crosse; SFC Eugene Harck, 1954 graduate of Kent State University, Kent, Ohio; Pfc. Leonard V. Griffin, 1954 graduate of Eastern Illinois University, and Pfc. Ralph G. Griffin, an officer of STC and serves on a voluntary basis and receive no monetary reimbursement for their services.

Pfc. Kenneth P. Hubley, Chief Instructor, and Thibe, representative for STC, state that the goal in the overall program is for all men in the command to attain an eighth grade education or higher.

STC Chaplain Has New Office

Lieutenant Colonel Albert L. Smith, STC Chaplain, has moved his office to Building No. 73, Room 129, in the second curtail. The move was made as part of the reorganization and consolidation of Special Troops Command which was begun in January.

Chaplain Smith states that the new location will facilitate the performance of the various activities of the chaplain's section. More convenient, the new office will enable the chaplain to minister to the greater number of military personnel and their dependents.

The office is open during normal duty hours and consultations are held daily. Various forms of religious literature are available for those who desire such reading material.

In addition to occupying a new office in Building No. 73, Chaplain Smith will conduct Protestant services in the chapel—Resounding the Columbia Country Club.

Sgt. Burns Awarded C-A

A local sergeant has been awarded a Certificate of Achievement by VII Corps headquarters in recognition of meritorious performance in the Inspector General's Section.

SFC Patrick J. Burns of Columbus, Ga., supply sergeant of the U.S. Army Hospital at Otepelti, Service, was cited for outstanding work as an inspector of supply records from August, 1954, to last December.

Supply records underwent considerable change during this period. "Sgt. Burns kept abreast of these changes and imparted a thorough understanding of them to units of VII Corps," the citation stated.

The certificate was presented to Sgt. Burns by Col. Norman H. Wiley of East Stroudsburg, Pa., hospital commander. Burns is assigned to the post in January.

Chaplain's Corner

CHAPLAIN (CAPT. PAUL E. WELLS)
2100 Main Street, Fort Benning, Georgia

When Moses returned from Mount Sinai, receiving the Ten Commandments, he found that his people had not kept his voice. They had disobeyed his voice. They were not living God's servants. He was eager for them to obey his voice. He was eager to discover Moses than to discover God.

Christianity teaches that God is a personal God who reveals Himself to man. God speaks in various ways. In the past He spoke through Moses and the prophets. Through the medium of His messengers recorded for us in the Sacred Scriptures. He speaks today through His Word and through His Church. Our pastor as he speaks to us is not speaking in his own ideas but speaks for God to men of this age.

The children of Israel did not always obey God's word through His servant Moses. He was often angry today. Frequently our position as God's servants ask us in our hearts that we personally do not like so we disobey.

When we do this we are not respecting the voice of God. We tell ourselves that this is God's servant's own idea. We are terrified lest God speak to us directly and we would obey rather than to His servant. We know that if God speaks to us we must do the thing He commands or be disobey.

On The Bookshelf

LUKE AND THE GLOVE, by Katherine Eyre. (Appleton, 215 pages).

In a summer visit to her family's ancestral Tudor manor in Devon, Anne Cicely at San Francisco makes some startling discoveries about the past of the manor, the ancient lovers whose presence still was felt, and the beheading ghedst whose long-dread secrets held a meaning for her. This irrefutable combination of romance and terror makes good reading.

BIG FISHBONE, by Clay Fishbone. (Houghton, 215 pages).

Nathan Stark, cruel, greedy and ambitious, aimed to make a million dollars and own Montana Territory before he was thirty years old. In December 1899, he halted his vast herd of Texas longhorns on the snow-covered outskirts of a starving Alaskan Gulch. Twenty-four hours later, Stark was dead, broken and a hundred thousand dollars in debt. Here is a compelling story of a lonely man's gallant struggle against himself.

YOU'VE GOT ME—AND HOW, ed. by Lawrence Lurie. (Doubt, unpub.).

A collection of the best marriage columns by the foremost comic artists.

VALLEY OF THE SHADOW, by West Miller. (Doubt, 261 pages).

The story of Ward Miller's miraculous escape from the Bode in Korea is one of the most dramatic to come out of the war. Miller, a jet pilot, was captured twice in the North Korean zone and once by the North Koreans. He was aware of his captivity, he was aware of an arching faith which kept him the courage to cling to life and eventually escape.

CASTLE GARAC, by Nicholas Casaroff. (Doubt, 227 pages).

Tom Wells, an American novelist living in France, is commissioned by wealthy Paul Zhenherk to locate two tunnels in a labyrinthine castle and a girl—my first—between French and American. What happens in the vast, dark, lonely ruins of Castle Garac makes up a thrilling and absorbing story.

THE PROPHECY, by Shelton Asch. (Putnam, 349 pages).

The Prophet is built around the life of Isaiah who, five centuries before Christ, heralded to the Jews the arrival in Babylon of a vision of the Messiah who would come to redeem a mankind through his own suffering. This is a magnificent new novel which completes the cycle of the author's biblical narratives which include The Nazarene, the Apostle, Mary, and Moses.

This Outfit Spit 'n Shine

Colonel's Orderly? Why that's the 48th Tank Battalion, 4th Infantry, 24th Infantry Division. The outfit is scheduled to be their record unit in the 48th Tank Battalion competition, where out of a possible 31 Colonel's Orderlies, Company B has 17 successful candidates. Add to this the fact that for three successive weeks in January, Company B has the honor of being the Week for the 15th Infantry Command.

Norwegians Visit Post

Norway minister of defense headed a 14 man party consisting of members of the Norwegian Parliamentary Defense Committee, which arrived for a whirlwind tour of the post Feb. 8. The Norwegians were greeted with an honor guard ceremony at Lawson Field, after which they conferred with officials and visited principal points of interest on the reservation. Among activities which they visited were, the craft shop and library, Briant Wells Field House, Service Club No. 1, Main Post Weapons Pool, the leaders reaction course, and the 22nd Infantry Regiment area. The visitors departed Feb. 9.

Heroic Flight By Soldier's Ancestor Saved Colonial Army

BY HARRY ELLIS
Washington's Birthday may be only another holiday to you, but to PFC James Booth, 21st Engineer Group (Combat) it is a reminder that his great-great-grandfather, Philip Keet, enabled General George Washington to make his famous crossing of the Delaware River. Philip Keet, a Hollander, was forced to join the Hessian Army and fight against the American Colonies during the Revolutionary War. He was aggravated by the fiery temper and carelessness of the Hessian officers who told him when the opportunity availed itself, he made his escape and informed General Washington of the weak condition of the British and Hessian troops. If the Hessian army had not reached the ears of General Washington, he probably would not have crossed the Delaware and won the British their conclusive defeat. In the ensuing battle 1,000 Hessians were captured and the British American losses totaled only four: two killed in action and two went frozen to death. This victory was invaluable to the American cause for as soon as the news reached the British, desertions increased, enlistments went up and the British were made vulnerable to another important defeat at Princeton, New Jersey.

Ace Marksmen Get Top Honors

Three ace shooters received Distinguished Designation Badges (Feb. 19) at 11:30 a.m. as part of a School Brigade review at Ft. Benning. The great, in which approximately 1,000 troops participated, also marked the retirement of 1st Sgt. Henry E. Underwood of Ft. Benning, Ga., assigned to Company F, Infantry School Detachment, after 20 years of service. Sgt. Underwood received an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement. The Distinguished Designation badge, considered the highest prize a U.S. shooter can receive, is awarded by the Army's adjutant general in Washington, D. C. In competitors receiving exceptional scores in three national or regional rifle or pistol events, at least one of the high scores must be achieved in the national matches. Those presented the badges by Col. Earl F. Kinck of Toledo, Ohio, School-brigade commander, are Capt. Lawrence E. Eglerkin of Atlanta, Ga., officer in charge of the Third Army Rifle and Pistol Teams, Distinguished Pistol Shooter; Capt. Joseph E. Gregory of Fort Benning, N. C., instructor in the Infantry School, Western Department, Distinguished Pistol Shooter; and SFC John E. Byrd of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Company E, Infantry School Detachment, Distinguished Rifle Badge. Capt. Eglerkin received his badge for contributions to the 1955 National Trophy Team Match, 1954 Third Army Pistol Match, and 1955 National Trophy Individual Match. Capt. Gregory, who earned his badge in 1955, received the National Trophy Individual Pistol Match, All-Army Pistol Match and Armed Forces Pistol Match. And Sgt. Byrd earned his badge in the National Rifle Match, 1955, and 1955 National Trophy Individual Match.

Reup Options Told to RA's

In order to familiarize enlisted personnel with re-enlistment options and to discuss with them the consequences of expiration of term of service, or by convenience of the government, the following information has been released. Regular Army personnel being discharged E-3 or E-4 during the last ninety days of current enlistment, may re-enlist in their own vacancy to the U. S. Army, in a message from the secretary of the Army which was read at the ceremony by Gen. Hickey. Gen. Hickey also presented Gen. Dahlquist with the Distinguished Service Medal and citation signed by Mr. Brucker for his exceptionally meritorious service as chief of Army Field Forces and Continental Army Command chief from August 24, 1954, until Feb. 23, 1956. As strains of "And Long Spear" floated over the field and troops marched off across the strait, approximately 50 aircraft flew overhead in a salute to the well-known general. RA personnel who held a previous appointment in one of the first three pay grades and who have changed any time during the last 18 months of enlistment may be re-enlisted in the Regular Army for an unspecified period of three to 30 months. The options program was recently promoted from Second to First Lieutenant.

EXCHANGES GOLE FOR SILVER

Motor Officer for the 1st and 2nd Divisions, 11 former members of Army schools for the US Highschool Barracks, the SIC and AIC for the Army Artillery School in CONUS. RA personnel who held a previous appointment in one of the first three pay grades and who have changed any time during the last 18 months of enlistment may be re-enlisted in the Regular Army for an unspecified period of three to 30 months. The options program was recently promoted from Second to First Lieutenant.

Top Shooters Renew Campaign Hat Custom

Many of the world's top shooters here have added an all-weather headgear to their attire in a custom dating back to pre-Spanish-American War days.

2660 Open To Visitors

Approximately 5,500 persons are expected to witness a 2660 Open To Visitors campaign hat, and now the stiff brim and pointed crown of a pattern designed exclusively for their use.

The old-type campaign hat, seen in famous pictures at the turn of the century, had a soft brim and creased crown. At that time all soldiers wore the same kind of hat.

The style similar to that now employed by the Army shooters was adopted for the Army about 1909 and continued for more than 20 years, or just before the U.S. entered World War II.

At that point, soldiers switched to the steel helmets needed for fighting a war, and Army shooters employed their skill on world headlines rather than in match competition.

Until 1924, there was no permanent U.S. Army Rifle and Pistol Team in the record-breaking Trophy Team Match in the 1935 National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, here. The hat has been authorized for use by the Army famous headgear ever worn by U. S. soldiers.

Two years later, The Infantry center became the Army's shooting center. The campaign hats, designed to keep the sun out of the eyes and rain off the face and neck, were bound to follow.

Following their arrival at Lawton Field, they attended an official luncheon followed by a conference with representatives of the Continental Army Command Board.

Patients Elect Valentine Girl

Patients at the U. S. Army Hospital selected Barbara—Goddess of Knowledge—as their Valentine Sweetheart in a contest sponsored by the hospital's American Red Cross unit.

Pictures of the 24 contestants were displayed on a large red board, which was the focus of the hospital ward's Feb. 14 for the voting. The winner was announced at a Valentine party in the Red Cross Recreation Hall that evening.

As Miss Godd's sponsor, SP2 James Leonard of Swadlow, Tenn., Company A, 6th Tank Battalion, Third Infantry Division, won the prize of a long-distance call to the Valentine Sweetheart.

Contest runner-up was Janet Hoover of Soudora, N. Y., who was nominated by PFC Richard Latham of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Battery C, 10th Field Artillery Battalion, Third Division. She will receive a box of candy.

Talent Hunt Shaping Up

Applications of contestants competing in the 29th Infantry Division All-Army Entertainment Contest have begun coming in.

Performers will compete in 12 categories. Estimations will be held March 9 at Service Club No. 4 at 8:30 p. m.

Post winners travel to the Third Army level at Fort Jackson, S. C. April 17 and contestants continue up the ladder toward the grand prizes in the All-Army competition in June.

Categories include everything from comedians to Army band choruses. Judging will be based on technical excellence, originality of interpretation, showmanship and selection of material.

For further information contact Dean West at 3212.

Col. Zierath Promoted to B. G.

Frederick R. Zierath, assistant commander of the Third Infantry Division, has been promoted to the rank of brigadier general.

Gen. Zierath, a native of Sheboygan, Wis., was former director of instruction, 715.

General commanded the 17th Infantry Regiment, 45th Division, in Korea in 1953, before receiving an appointment as senior military adviser to the Republic of Korea II Corps, where he served until 1954.

Returning here Gen. Zierath was named deputy director of the Tactical Department, 715, and became director of instruction in last July. His decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Bronze Star Medal and the Republic of Korea Unit Citation Military Merit with Gold Star.

Company E Cops Prize In 29th Rifle Tourney

Rainy weather and gusty winds kept 125 men from the 29th Infantry Regiment from attaining their best scores during the company competition phase of the regiment's rifle tournament, held throughout this month at Easley Range.

But when the rain had stopped and the wind had eased up a bit, Company "E" was declared an easy winner over 11 other teams, garnering 1400 out of a possible 1800 points.

The nine man firing team was sparked by a former mess sergeant, Sgt. Fred W. Kline West, Asheville, N. C. who blasted his way to a high 189 points out of a possible 200.

Only one other firer in the "demonstration Regiment" reached the score of the 48-year-old sergeant. Leading Hq. and Hq. Company in to second place in the competition.

Richard E. Nash and Jackie T. Henry, both Sp-2's have been assigned to Company C, New, who were assigned here from the 37th Eng Aviation Bn in Alaska. Sp-2 Henry was assigned to Company A appearance at Briant Wells C Field House prior to that date.

The Doughboy boxing team is scheduled to fight at Camp Stewart Ga. March 20. Plans are underway to book the tickets for an appearance at Briant Wells C Field House prior to that date.

NEWLY ASSIGNED
Four Sp-2's have recently been assigned to the 57th Engineer Battalion (Coast) of the 131st Engineer Group (Combat).

Sp-2's Ohio Bailey and Glenn Williams Jr. returned from Germany in January 1954 and completed his basic training at Ft. Meade, Maryland. Williams, a native of Seymour, Indiana, began his service career in August 1952 and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Col. McClain New C. O. of 54th
Col. Harry C. McClain of Spartan, Pa., has assumed duties as commander of the 54th Medical Group TFC.

Col. McClain, who was promoted to the rank of colonel Feb. 10, succeeded Lt. Col. William A. Herliage of Chicago, Ill., who has been named commander of the group's 24th Evacuation Hospital.

Col. McClain served as senior adviser to the surgeon of the First Republic of Korea Field Army from October, 1954, until coming here.

Army Offers Two Careers To This Sgt.

All of us at one time or another have known a horn tooting salubrious musician. Most of us have also known crack pistol and rifle shooters. But how many have known a combination horn blower and crack pistol and rifle shooter all wrapped up into one uniform.

The case in point—Sgt. William B. Blankenship Jr. As a bandman, he is assigned to the 1st Artillery Band, Fort Jay, Governors Island, N. Y., as a French horn player. As a pistol and rifle shooter, he is on temporary duty with the United States Army Rifle and Pistol Team here.

Sgt. Blankenship is classified as a Master in the National Rifle Association and is distinguished with both pistol and rifle; and all this with only three years of competitive experience.

The sergeant won the championship in the Territorial Law Enforcement Pistol Match of the Pacific, and was a member of the winning National Trophy Team in 1933.

As a member of the United States Army Rifle and Pistol Team, he has competed in the National Rifle and Pistol Team at Camp Perry, Ohio, in 1933 and 1934, and the National Pistol Matches at Camp Perry in 1933.

Sgt. Blankenship, 23, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Blankenship Sr., of Richlands, Virginia. He and his wife, the former Helen B. Brannon of Baltimore, Md., reside at Fort Jay, New York.

Some of the bit players do go on to success as actors and actresses. However, Diane Frini and Frank Mazzola are two of Conklin's friends who since have managed to get small speaking roles in movies. Mazzola appeared in "Rebel Without a Cause," which starred James Dean.

Conklin grew up in the Hollywood atmosphere and attended Hollywood High School which has seen the alma mater for quite a few stars, including Judy Garland and Lana Turner. Among his class mates were Desha Fagot and David and Ricky Nelson, sons of Ozzie Stark.

He also attended Hollywood Professional schools where students are generally young male hopefuls who go-to-school in the mornings and work on the lots in the afternoons.

In addition to this he also attended Lee Los Angeles, City College and may return there later, but right now the choice of careers is undecided. At any rate it will have to wait until a May separation vote whether or not to try acting date.

3-Div. Soldier Rubbed Shoulders With Stars

A Third Infantry Division soldier isn't excited about the glitter that rubbed off the star-studded shoulder of Judy Garland when she was a "bit" actor in fabulous Hollywood.

SP4 Emerson D. Conklin of Los Angeles, Calif., assigned to Company B, Second Infantry Battalion, admits his association with stars is a great experience, but calls the job "routin."

His first appearance was in MGM's "A Star Is Born" which starred Judy Garland and James Mason. In the movie Conklin was among a group of men seated at a table in a night club when Judy Garland and Jack Carson entered.

For the role he practiced for about eight days just sitting and reading a program.

He also had a brief role in Warner Brother's "Lucky Me" with Doris Day, Phil Silvers and Robert Cummings. This time Conklin was a bellboy. His other appearances were in "Prisoners of War" produced by Twentieth Century Fox Studios.

He obtained his first job because of his friendship with one of his high school classmates, Diana Frini, whose father is a Hollywood director. Conklin listed with Central Casting Agency, which provides bit players for all the Hollywood studios and lists more than 10,000 clients.

Despite the lure of possible fame and fortune, Conklin isn't quite sure whether or not to try acting date.

We have a defense job inside our own country as much as we have along the borders of the free world. We have to defend the U.S. from Communists in the country. To handle them we have to know why they joined the party.

One large group is people who are maladjusted—they have been called "damaged souls" by one writer. Many of them are weaklings. They want to be told what to do and what to think—and that the Communist party certainly does for them.

So these unfortunate obey the party and ask no questions. They have little jobs under the party, but they feel useful.

Some of them belong to minority groups and feel discriminated against. Some are lonely, frustrated persons, failures of one kind or another. Feelings of insecurity and hostility well up in them.

The Communist party—which also has a hostile, destructive attitude toward society—is a natural haven for such individuals.

But—sooner or later—they're going to find out that communism isn't going to give them the square deal they're looking for.

That's when a lot of them quit the party. We need to speed up the day they find out the truth. And we must get through to as many damaged souls as possible before they take the big misstep. (AFPS)

On The Bookshelf

WINTER HARVEST. By Norah Lofis. (Doubleday, 347 pages). A gripping tale of a party that set out across the Rockies back in the Donner Party's historic trek of Utah and Nevada to California. Lured by glittering gold, this motley band of refugees started out in high spirits, but as hardships mounted—desert, heat, starvation and thirst—they disintegrated into less than human beings.

BRIGHT DRESS. by Bert Bacharach. (Harvill, 125 pages). Bacharach, the Authority on Men's Clothing, has written this book of advice for better grooming. It is written for the man who answers most every question one could ask.

MY HOSPITAL IN THE HILLS by Gordon Seagrave. (Norton, 233 pages). The new book by the man known to thousands as "Burma Surgeon" tells the exciting, triumphant story of what has happened to him since he returned to his hospital at Nankham after the war.

FIELD AND STREAM TREASURY. ed. by Hugh Grey. (Holt, 351 pages). The new book by the man known to thousands as "Burma Surgeon" tells the exciting, triumphant story of what has happened to him since he returned to his hospital at Nankham after the war.

RC WINS Royal Crown of Columbus, a new compass of military wives, Bowling Association Star Championship at Maricopa Feb. 12 in both the Scratch and Handicap events.

They rolled scratch games of 726, 767 and 795 for a 2,358 total. With their handicap of 406, lowest in the tourney, their handicap total was 2,766.

Mrs. Ivy Van Wye, team captain, led individual scores with 104-54.

Other scores were: Mrs. Betty Engler, 57; Mrs. Olin MacCarlock, 50; Mrs. Bernice Fishburn; and Mrs. Vernie Yarbrough, 379.

Every member of the team rolled well over her entrance average.

Chaplain's Corner The Meaning of Lent

BY CHAPLAIN (LT. COL.) CHARLES W. LOVIN

Lent means the passing of winter and the coming of spring. It means special emphasis on a new year of prayer and worship along upon those events which transpired in the life of our Lord during that forty days of his life upon earth.

Lent is a special season set aside by the Christian church in the calendar of prayer and worship. It is a season when we are reminded that our constituents may reflect upon our part on the part of God to give a Saviour to the world. It brings to our minds a fresh price God paid in order that we may be free from the law of sin and death. It causes us to remember that we are to make some sacrifice, too, in our seasons in life at this particular time.

Some faiths refrain from certain foods during this season while others, in addition, spend much time in prayer. Most faiths make a sacrificial offering in money at the work of the Christian church. Some continue through the Lenten season by other faiths or denominations have a series of special Lenten services, closing with a great service on Easter Sunday.

In the armed forces, chaplains of all faiths provide special services for their people in the chapels for their people in order that our faith might be quickened and our interest in spiritual things increased. We need this extra emphasis these days in the armed forces for the building of character is definitely tied to religion.

Our nation needs to have its spiritual power increased and our people need to realize anew the value of prayer and worship along with fellowship these days. Such a challenge this Lenten season. It is hoped this Lenten season will be a time when we will use our unlimited opportunities to build His Kingdom on earth. We also trust each one will invite some other person to the services on Sunday and use other devotional literature prepared for us by our respective faiths in order that we might be helped inwardly to meet the problems we must face each day. These services will be found in the front of your copy of the "Queen of Battle" or in the literature racks, or you may ask your Chaplain.

Religious services are current and being announced and will be listed in the Daily Bulletin during the Lenten season. You are urged to attend the service of your particular faith during Lent and grow in grace.

Library Concert

A recital of "Scarlatti Sonatas" will be played at the Tuesday evening record concert at the Main Post Library. The recording to be used features George Malcolm and his harpsichord. Following "Scarlatti's Sonatas" will be a recording of a more serious nature, Richard Strauss' "Don Juan" featuring Arthur Schnabel and the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

Scarlatti's sonatas are mostly in what is termed "sonata" form; two halves each of which can be repeated if desired. He made little use of the kind of classical "sonata-form" later perfected by Haydn and Mozart although one can find tentative examples of it among his works.

In this recording sixteen of Scarlatti's most representative sonatas will be played. However, Scarlatti composed approximately 100 sonatas and fifty sonatas for the harpsichord. This recital represents his own special contribution to the world's stock of great music.

The legendary figure of Don Juan has been celebrated through the centuries by workers in practically all the arts. Musically, Don Juan is written in free fantasia style. It was published as Strauss' first tone poem and is perhaps the first work which Strauss threw aside derivative influences and wrote music of what was then a new harmony.

His sure sense of orchestration added the final touch to a masterpiece of music and Don Juan Chess Reviv-

Decorated Housewife 'Steve' Won BSM Plus Other 'Loot'

"Steve" Piper is probably the only housewife on the Post who wears the Bronze Star Medal. The vivacious wife of Lt. Col. Robert M. Piper of Reading, Mass., chief of the Airborne - Army Aviation Department's Air Mobility Group at the Infantry School, won the Army's eighth highest award for service as an American Red Cross Worker in Europe during World War II with the 506th Parachute Regiment.

Evelyn Stevens came about her nickname naturally enough. When she joined the ARO in 1945 in St. Louis, Mo., it was pretty obvious that she would be known as "Steve." She served with the Air Force in England as an ARO recreation worker, but after five months with the flyers, she received notice that she was to be assigned to the 506th Parachute Regiment.

The sudden transfer came as a surprise.

"I remember I didn't want to go," she said. "I thought my Air Force boys were pretty sharp."

She admitted, however, that she had heard the airborne boys also were "right snappy," and with that thought she made the transition to the Army.

Capt. Robert Piper was then personnel officer of the group and "Steve" was told that he could help her with the many problems facing Red Cross workers in combat areas.

"I took advantage of it, too," she remembered. "Almost every day I pestered him with something."

After the regiment moved into France, "Steve" and Bob became engaged. On June 12, 1945, they were married.

It has been more than 10 years since Mrs. Piper received her Bronze Star Medal in Lt. Gen. Frank G. Star's office then at Fort Bragg, N. C., where the 506th Regiment returned after the war. Gen. Gavin was then the 32nd Airborne Division commander, and is now chief of Research and Development, Department of the Army.

"Steve" was asked to dig out some mementos of her overseas duty for the photographer. However, having recently arrived here from Japan, the Piper's souvenirs were still packed away in boxes.

But the ex-Red Cross hero proved up to the occasion.

She pointed out that her biggest overseas "loot" was away at work.

WELCOME VISITOR ... The national Maid of Cotton, right, Patricia Anne Cowden of Raleigh, N. C., visited the U. S. Army Hospital last week. Cotton's ambassador is a welcome visitor to M-Sgt. Benny E. Thorn, left, of Redding, Calif., Company C, Infantry School Detachment, and SFC Lewis Bowling of Scottsburg, Ind., Battery B, 23rd Field Artillery Battalion.

ALUMNUS TO MEET ... Texas Tech alumnus assigned to the post are invited to attend the annual Texas Tech Alumni meeting March 2 at the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta, Ga.

Tech Coach Dewitt Weaver is to be speaker for the meeting, which will include a showing of the Texas-Tech football game.

Persons wishing to attend should make reservations at the headquarters hotel and are asked to mention Texas-Tech in their correspondence.

CADETS TO VISIT ... Approximately 50 ROTC cadets from Rutgers University in Newark, N.J., will arrive here Feb. 23 for a two-day orientation. The cadets will live in barracks, mess halls and have an opportunity to view life on a military installation.

Many of the cadets may return to the post to attend the basic Infantry officers course following their graduation next summer.

Chattanooga Choo-Choo Little Trains Played Big Part

It was first dubbed the "Tooneyville Trolley". A later generation of soldier-students at The Infantry School called it the "Chattanooga Choo-Choo."

64th to Train At Stewart Base

Personnel of the 64th Tank Battalion, Third Infantry Division, leave March 24 for Camp Stewart, Ga., for five weeks of training and proficiency tests. The tankers will undergo tests in gun proficiency and gunnery. There also will be tactical training on the platoon, company and battalion level. Camp Stewart will provide tanks for the group which is scheduled to return here April 28.

Only a skeleton crew of the 64th will remain at the post to service and maintain equipment. Tank units must undergo annual proficiency tests at one of two armored training centers in the U. S. These centers are especially designed and constructed to put tanks and tankers through the most rigorous combat-type training.

Air Activities Inspected By DOD Official

Army aviation activities here were observed Feb. 10 by a Defense Department official conducting a study on the impact of Army aviation on the national defense budget.

H. H. Henshaw, member of the Defense Department's fiscal management staff arrived late Feb. 9. His study will include aviation activities of The Infantry School and the Third Infantry Division. Henshaw was briefed by Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, and observed activities of the Airborne-Army Aviation Department, the 80th Helicopter Company and the Third Division.
The Defense Department official was accompanied by Col. Frank G. Forrest of Continental Army Command headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va. They left Feb. 11.

PROMOTED
A Post officer, Theodore C. Mataxis of Seattle, Wash., has been promoted from the rank of lieutenant colonel to colonel.
Col. Mataxis, chairman of the Tactical Department's Company Committee at The Infantry School, is a veteran of 26 years active duty.

Whatever the name, 20 little locomotive engines which roamed the reservation for 25 years, hauling wood, brick — and men — were the lifeblood of the post. Anybody that rode — and everyone did — on the same smoke and chime of treatment.

It is safe to assume that President Eisenhower rode the narrow gauge train when he was a major at the Infantry School. The steam car he said for Gens. Omar Bradley and George Marshall.
The narrow gauge railroad system at the post is a part of recent history, having been discontinued only nine years ago. When 20 small engines and 510 locomotives were put up for sale, the railroad had the distinction of being the longest 60 centimeter road in existence.
The small tracks and straining engines played an important part in the growth of the post. As one man who remembers when the system operated on schedule said, the narrow gauges "had their place in making Fort Benning what it is today."

The tiny railroad cars which thousands of Infantry School students grew accustomed to hearing, seeing and smelling for 25 years, were brought here after World War I and probably began operating in 1922.
The longest stretch of track extended from a "round house" at the point where the Engineer Heavy Equipment Warehouse now is located, to a point beyond the Harmony Church area. At that time, only dirt roads connected the two points, and vehicular passage was often impossible following heavy rains.
The railroad, therefore had a definite role in carrying out Infantry School training, since a primary use was transporting students to ranges in the Harmony Church area.

It was not a luxury trip when the trains began operation. Nor did it ever become one, although conditions did improve somewhat during its later life.
When the train first went on schedule, however, passenger conditions, according to modern standards, were rough. Benches supplied seats, but they were nailed to flat cars and protection from flying cinders was a matter of had to be added.
The engines pulled approximately 10 cars per load and each car's capacity was 15 men. When it reached a range or training area, the train would pull onto a siding and wait until the problem was completed. Then it would haul the students back to Main Post.

The narrow gauge roads were used in France during World War I, and following hostilities, 60 centimeter tracks and small locomotives were moved here for use in converting a small camp into a permanent installation.

During the early part of the railroad's history, the trains were used to haul timber from the Harmony Church area to a giant Army sawmill on Main Post. Later, however, the trains transported more and more students to and from training areas.
When the U. S. began grinding for World War II, the narrow gauge road provided stepped up transportation for students coming onto the post. In one nine-month period during this time it is estimated that the railroad hauled no less than 49,000 troops.

Herbert Jones of Columbus, Ga., manager of the present railroad operations on the post, remembers when the trains played an active role. As a railroader, Jones looks upon the discontinuance of the narrow gauge trains as a necessary evil of progress.
He observed:
"The narrow gauge trains played a very important part in Fort Benning's growth. However, everything else, they were shoved aside by progress. . . trucks and cars."
One of the engines and a car, representative of the small track system, are being saved and preserved here. The rest of the cars and engines were sold in 1947 by the War Assets Administration.

Some of the engines went to mining and small lumber companies. Some were shipped to Latin American countries. The cars and miles of track also were sold.
Some of the small trains probably are still being used today since they were so sturdy. The ones now retired, deserve the rest.

Purim Fete To Be Held

The congregation of the First Jewish Religious Center will celebrate the holiday of Purim Feb. 25 with a service and comic opera.
The service will begin at 8 p.m. and feature a Megillah reading. The Sisterhood will serve a Purim delicacy, Haman-paschen, during the intermission preceding the operetta.
The Purim, or Lots, festival commemorates Esther's heroism in persuading her husband, King Xerxes of Persia, to rescind the edicting cinders was a matter of had to be added.
The operetta cast includes PFC Ronald Harbour of Bronx, N. Y.; PFC Norman Goodman of Brooklyn, N. Y.; SP3 William Ross of Hoboken, N. J.; Pvt. Herbert Kramer of Brooklyn; Pvt. ## STC Holds Officer Course

The 33 Section of Special Troops Command has inaugurated a special school for company grade and warrant officers. The course is believed to be the only one of its kind being conducted at the present time.
It is designed to afford company grade and warrant officers an opportunity to benefit from the experience and "know-how" gained by other officers in military fields where practical experience greatly augments the knowledge gained from texts and manuals.

Approximately 60 officers attended the initial session of the class held in the STC conference room on February 13. Colonel Henry M. Zeller, STC commander, opened the school with a short introduction, outlining the purpose of and necessity for the course. Colonel Zeller also presented a class on the importance of personal integrity.

RECENTLY ASSIGNED

Four new members were recently added to the roster of Second Special Troops Detachment, Special Troops Command. The new men are: Master Sergeant George W. Barnes, 34, New York City; Sergeant Edison E. Rose, 37, Columbus, S. C.; Specialist Second Class Charles N. Brown, 27, Philadelphia, Penna., and Private DeGaley, 23, Chatsworth, Ga.

All four are automotive specialists and will work in the motor section at Second Special Troops Detachment.

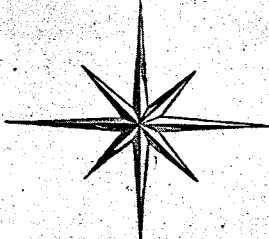

The eight-hour course includes such subjects as Integrity, Indications of Leadership, Problems of Command and Company Inspections. Also included are Military Justice, Supply Procedures, Correspondence and Reference Material, Human Cost Consciousness, and How to Help the Enlisted Man.

Classes are conducted as a series of informal conferences and discussions. Maximum individual participation is encouraged to insure that all officers may benefit from the experiences of others.

Courses will be repeated periodically to assure attendance of all officers in STC. New officers assigned to the command will be scheduled for attendance upon arrival.

LINCOLN

For 1956: the longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever

Never before a Lincoln so long . . . and so longed-for

This longest, lowest of all Lincolns is total newness. In every distinctive line it says: this is the one and only completely new fine car of the year. There is a fresh newness here . . . of beauty, of power, of performance . . . that has won instant acclaim from those who instinctively recognize the finest.

Lincoln Beauty! Its essence is the clean line . . . the uncluttered sweep of Lincoln's breathtaking length. Here is good taste that speaks with quiet authority.

Lincoln Power! A mighty, new 285-horsepower engine . . . teamed with the incomparably smooth Turbo-Drive transmission . . . delivers more usable power than ever. Laze through traffic with incredible agility . . . leap around highway slow-pokes . . . float up the steepest mountain grade, and you'll know at last how a fine car can step.

Lincoln Performance! Here's roadability you've never dared imagine. Unique ball-joint suspension, married to Lincoln's scant 5 feet of lowness, locks you sure-footed and safe to the sharpest of curves.

America's motoring trend-setters have taken Lincoln to their hearts . . . in truly marvelous numbers. Are you, perhaps, denying yourself an experience that should be yours . . . the adventure of Lincoln!

Hosp., QM Account For Four of Seven C of As

The U.S. Army Hospital and Quartermaster Section accounted for four of seven 1955 Infantry Center Certificates of Achievement for Safety.

NEW ARRIVAL

In case its readers notice a slight glow reflected from the pages of the Bayonet this week, it is because it's newly appointed editor, 2d Lt. James H. Clark, is announcing the birth of a baby boy.

The new arrival, named James Gregory Clark, weighed 7 lbs. 11 ounces when he was born Feb. 10 at the U.S. Army Hospital here.

Lt. Clark became editor of the Bayonet Jan. 27, after serving for approximately three months with the Special Troops Command's S-3 section.

CONGRATULATIONS

Lieutenant and Mrs. Ira U. McIntosh are the parents of a daughter born at 7:40 a.m., February 6 at the Fort Benning Hospital. The baby, who weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces at birth, has been named Cynthia.

Lieutenant McIntosh is Assistant S-3 with the 1st Special Troops Detachment, Special Troops Command. He and his wife, Kay, reside at 845 Andrews Road in Columbus. E. Cook.

Other units to receive the competitive awards were Combat Training Command, Infantry Center Signal and Ordnance Sections. The hospital and Quartermaster Section won the yearly award. In addition to an award for quarterly achievements, The Ordnance Section topped the only other quarterly award. The remainder of certificates were given on the basis of yearly records.

The Quartermaster and Signal Sections showed a 100 per cent annual decrease in accidents while the Ordnance group had a 100 per cent decrease for the final quarter in 1955.

Hospital workers decreased accidents by 79 per cent during the quarter and showed a 21 per cent decrease for the year. Combat Training Command also showed a 21 per cent decrease in accidents for 1955.

NEW WACS

The WAC Company, Special Troops Command, has recently been augmented by the arrival of six enlisted women from the WAC Training Center at Fort McPherson, Alabama.

The new arrivals are Privates Evelyn J. Morris, Hazel P. Moody, Jane E. Carpenter, Mary J. Robinson, Mary E. Sullivan and Robbie E. Cook.

'49er Party To Be Held Here March 3

Gay frontier days will live again, as the officers' quarters at Main Post Feb. 19 in a house-to-house advance ticket sale. The group will canvass the Wherry housing area Feb. 25.

An added feature of this year's '49er Party is the Chuckwagon. On the menu are such delicacies as Old Hess Tired Hamburgers, Alamo Chili, Maudie's Clamchowder, Plain Dog (absolutely no t'poper), Scrambled Apache Dog, Billy-Bolled Tea and a Sour-Dough Assortment of Pastry.

The event's dual purpose is to raise funds for past activities supported by Daughters of the United States Army and to create the setting for a full evening's fun. Admission is 50 cents per person. Guests are reminded to bring their Officers' Club membership cards, dependent or guests cards or ID cards. Proceeds from the occasion will be distributed to the U. S. Army Hospital, post welfare nurses, Youth Activities Club, Girl and Boy Scouts and the Post Children's Nursery.

Junior Army Daughters of America, costumed in frontier garb, toured the officers' quarters at Main Post Feb. 19 in a house-to-house advance ticket sale. The group will canvass the Wherry housing area Feb. 25.

Two officials arrived here Feb. 22 for a three-day visit to obtain data for a Department of the Army survey on the maintenance and supply support of Army aircraft.

In addition, he is a mechanic in the regimental communications shack.

Post Children To Get Salk Vaccine

Salk polio vaccinations will be given to military dependents between the ages of one and five at A-4s (Bldg. 1014) post hospital from 3 to 5 p.m. Feb. 23 and 24.

Children four and five are requested to get their shots Thursday. Salk shots were given to the younger group Feb. 20 and 21. Friday will be open for children unable to appear when scheduled.

Health centers in Columbus have been allocated vaccine for children of military personnel residing off the reservation. Since the supply of vaccine at the post hospital is somewhat limited it is recommended that personnel living off post secure vaccinations in Columbus.

Rademacher Will Lead Entourage To Tournament of Champions

BY BOB RENO

Heavyweight Pete Rademacher will lead seven other Fort Benning fighters to the Tournament of Champions in Chicago's Golden Gloves Feb. 27-29. Accompanying the lethal-fisted Rademacher will be Jim Boyd, light heavyweight; Bob Peters, light heavyweight; Ed Crook, middleweight; Willie Johnson, lightweight; Tony Robles, featherweight; and Leon Banks, flyweight. All but Johnson were victors in the recent Alabama State Golden Gloves Tournament at Montgomery. Rademacher and Peters recently took the All-Southern Golden Glove tourney at Nashville. The pair were the only survivors of five Doughboy fighters who participated in the meet. Frank Talaga, Al Medrano, and Art Addison fell by the wayside during the stiff competition furnished there. Johnson replaces Tom Denkins, who will be discharged before tourney time. Rademacher came away from the Nashville matches covered with glory and praise. Many southernistic experts are picking the Randolph's Golden Glove bid is

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN

CANVAS CUT-UPS

It remains to be seen whether Pete Raemacher gains new nationwide recognition for his Chicago fighting, but he can be certain of support in at least one corner.

Pete's daughter, adorable 17-month-old Susan, looked closely at the referee during a bout on television last week, and thought of her father when he was third man in the Post Boxing Tournament.

She toddled to the TV set, raised her arms for an embrace and gurgled, "Dadda, dadda, dadda. . . I wove 'oo."

By the way, Sue's mommy Margaret is a triplet. Nicknames have a way of emerging in sports, so it wasn't peculiar to find Montgomery newspapers calling Tony Robles "El Moustachio."

The Nashville journals, high on Rademacher throughout the All-Southern Tourney, coined an apt moniker for the heavyweight. . . "The Bama Bomber."

Pete is diffident about all the compliments, just another sign that he's a champion in every way.

Bob Peters easily qualifies for the title. "The Tattooed Man." He has about 10 of them. Bob is proud of his Airborne training and won't let anyone forget it. Witness the chutist neatly plastered to the colorful boxer's forehead.

We have an idea Jim Boyd was kidding when asked how he would fare against Peters should they meet in Chicago. "It will be a good fight as long as it lasts," said the 1955 Interservice Champ. "I expect to take him after three hardfought, grueling rounds."

Was Myrt Loyd, secretary to sports supervisor Sam Roberts, "punning" when she chose Ed Crook to steal the Tournament of Champions?

Larry Jones and Regis Blair are two of the best-qualified trainers in the Army. Larry was All-Army middleweight twice and took the Third Army title six times. He was undefeated in nearly four years of pro boxing.

Reg has been called the greatest amateur flyweight in the world. He topped most of today's best pro flyweights when they faced him in service competition. By the time you read this, Blair and wife Margaret will probably have a nominee for diaperweight honors.

Let's forget—know how to start getting into shape for the ring? Run about three miles a day. When you can do that and still breathe—up the mark to five miles.

Two graduates of George Barr's Umpires School in Longwood, Fla., will conduct a two-week umpire clinic here beginning March 5.

The clinic is designed to train umpires for the 1956 baseball season. The Barr graduates are M-Sgt. Norlie W. Williams of 1333 East Russell Street, Forestville, N.C., assigned to Special Services, Combat Training Command, and M-Sgt. Darvin C. Peters of 697 Avon St., West Palm Beach, Fla.

Work will consist of rule interpretation, positions on the field, equipment and practical work. Enlisted men on Main Post or from Third Infantry Division whose parent organizations will allow them to attend are eligible to take the course. Most of the work is at night. All potential umpires, however, will be given the opportunity to call one game behind the plate and another on the field during spring training for the Main Post Baseball Team. For information call the Sports Office at 3-2222.

Williams, who played Army ball for 14 years, umpired in Germany during 1954 and 1955. Peters has been calling plays in Army competition since 1945.

TENNIS EXPERTS HERE
Jack Kramer will bring his 1956 world-famous tennis tour to Brant Wells Field House March 21 at 7 p.m.

The exhibition brings together four of the most famous netmen in history. Included are Tony Trabert, World Amateur Champion; Pancho Gonzales, World Professional Champion; Rex Hartwig, considered the world's leading amateur doubles player, and Jack Seaman, the bolting Ecuadorian, with his great backhand forehand.

Tickets at $1.50 are now on sale at the Recreation and Entertainment Office, post Special Services; All Service Clubs, and Bentley's Sport Shop and Wadsworth Clothing Store in Columbus.

Ken Hicks and Don Weber are sure Fort Benning will win the Third Army Quin. Fort Jackmont. They call teammate Dick Tyler of N. C. State "the hottest thing on a basketball court we've seen all season." The Doughboy (he says Bob Kinard's first team as good or better than any other Third Army unit. FFCot Jackson took the tournament at the end of this month.

Lt. Cartes Equals Benner's Pistol Record

Army's Best Fires Again

By CLARK BLACKBURN
One of the legendary U. S. sharpshooters has returned to the post and the U. S. Army Pistol Team.

M-Sgt. Huelst L. (Joe) Benner of Jonesboro, Ark., the outstanding pistol shot in the world, has won more championships than any other man in the world. He has won 6-10 in pistol coach at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

TWO OF THE BEST
M-Sgt. Joe Benner, and 1st Lt. David Cartes

Sgt. Benner competed in two Olympic matches. In 1948, in London, England, he placed second, and in 1952 in Helsinki, Finland, he took the championship.

Joe has participated in three World Championships. In Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 1949, he emerged as rapid fire champion, and in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1953, he topped the slow fire championship.

In the National Championships, held in the U. S. Sgt. Benner has been a four-time winner. The matches were held at Camp Perry, Ohio, in 1947; Chicago, Ill., in 1949; Los Angeles, Calif., in 1951; and again at Camp Perry in 1955.

On Feb. 26 the club will sponsor what officials term "a day of delight." It will consist of any pistol slow fire, center fire timed fire, center fire rapid fire, aggregate and breaks (tasteful targets).

Medals, cigarette lighters and pens will be awarded winners. The competition is open to everyone.

Fires Perfect .22 Cal. Score to Tie '49 Record

By CLARK BLACKBURN
A 25-year-old lieutenant with the U. S. Army Pistol Team here shared a seven-year-old record held by the Army's top pistol shooter in the National Match Course.

First Lt. David Cartes of Philadelphia, Pa., fired 894, winning the 25-caliber National Match Course with a perfect 200, the Champion and Memphis Champion with 222, and the 45 NMC with a 222.

Lt. Cartes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aron Cartes of Philadelphia, and his wife, Janette, live in Louisville, Ala.

The firer is here on temporary duty from Fort Campbell, Ky., where he is a platoon leader in the 11th Reconnaissance Division.

Army pistoliers are undergoing training before leaving for the 1956 Florida Mid-Winter Matches in March.

Game Authorities Want to Buy Birds

With plans underway to stock the reservation with approximately 1,000 quail in time for the opening of the season, game authorities are interested in the price and availability of birds in the Columbus and Phenix City area.

According to 1st Lt. Robert M. Miller of Roman, Mont., Army Center fish and game officer, game owners may obtain details through his office.

Kurzman High Scorer in CA Tournament

Combat Training Command's Stan Kurzman dominated the scoring in the "Money" tournament at the Columbus City Association Tournament at the Main Post Alleys Feb. 19.

Ten teams were matched in the first half of the tournament. Ten other teams finish the matches Saturday and Sunday. Games begin at 3 and 7:30 p.m.

Kurzman was high scorer of the winning doubles combination, took the singles match and ran away with the alleys and an doubles scratch competition.

Combat Training Command, led by Capt. James E. Howard, and the "Money" tournament, is now a tie between Robert Westerman and Delbert Paul with 233 points.

Bill Watson threw a 245 game in the first match, but could not stop Kurzman's 215-20-6-10. Team - CTC, 2-841; Advanced Class No. 2, 2-833; Publications and Visual Aids, 2-866; Transfer Point, 2-844; Staff No. 3, 2-824; Royal Crown, 2-821; B&H Oil Company, 2-826; Harris Beauty Parlor, 2-821; Third Battalion, School Brigade, 2-824, and Company Infantry School Detachment, 2-878.

Lester Parker of B&H threw 232 in the second match, but could not stop Kurzman's 215-20-6-10. Team - CTC, 2-841; Advanced Class No. 2, 2-833; Publications and Visual Aids, 2-866; Transfer Point, 2-844; Staff No. 3, 2-824; Royal Crown, 2-821; B&H Oil Company, 2-826; Harris Beauty Parlor, 2-821; Third Battalion, School Brigade, 2-824, and Company Infantry School Detachment, 2-878.

Hq. Wins STC Court Honors

Monday-Main Post SECTION I

The Special Troops Command company level basketball league closed out last Friday night with Headquarters Company defeating CONARC Board No. 3 by a score of 29 to 18, thus becoming the league champions for the second straight year.

Actually Headquarters Company Board 3 ends up in a tie in the percentage column, each with an 18-3 won loss total. CONARC Board No. 3, however, is a separate unit under the Infantry Center, not in a league of its own, so the squad was allowed to participate in STC play.

Headquarters Company trailed 1st Special Troops Detachment and Board 3 throughout the season and were never in first place until the final whistle of the last game.

At the close of the season the STC league standings were: 1st place, HQ Company; 2nd place, 1st Special Troops Detachment; 3rd place, Army Aviation Det.; and 7th place, 3rd Ord Co.

3 Teams in Lead In Co. Tourney

Three teams jumped into the lead in the opening night action of the "Money" tournament at the Main Post Alleys Feb. 19.

In a trio of well-played, tightly-contested games, Headquarters and Headquarters Company defeated the Brigade, downed Board No. 2, 52-51; 560th Tank Company, Combat Training Command topped 24th Evacuation Hospital, 54th Medical Group, 32-30, and Company F, Infantry School, 30-28.

The double elimination competition ends Saturday.

Officer Thanked For League Work

Major William R. Windham, Assistant Operations and Training Officer of CTC, has received a letter of appreciation from Major General Joseph H. Hunter for the Major's work in Little League Football during the past season. The letter said the Major's work in taking this opportunity to express appreciation for the fine job you did in organizing the Charge of the Doughboy Football League.

Armies Must Attack Says General Lynch

Says General Lynch

The only successful warfare of the future must be an attack, Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Third Infantry Division commander, said Feb. 16 during an address to approximately 40 members of the Columbus Chapter of the Military Order of World Wars.

Gen. Lynch discussed the implications of Operation Suez which held last November and December near Fort Polk, La. Stressing the necessity of attacking rather than defending a position, Gen. Lynch asserted that the successful Army must learn to fight an aggressive war.

Lt. Gen. (Ret.) Reuben E. Jenkins, charter commander, presided at the 7 p.m. meeting in the Main Officers Mess.

5 Post Lensmen Capture Third Army Photo Honors

Five post lensmen from the Infantry School Detachment won six prizes and three honorable mentions in the Third Army phase of the Sixth Interservice Photography Contest. The same photographers previously had received awards for the post phase of the judging. The major winner was PFC Herschel McIntosh of Toledo, O. H. I., assigned to Company E, Infantry School Detachment, who garnered second place honors and $30 in the black-and-white phase with his "Museum." McIntosh also achieved an honorable mention in the same category for "Hissssas". Features were judged by Atlanta photographers selected by Special Services at Third Army headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Reservists To Confer Here

A pre-camp conference for U.S. Army Reserve engineers will be held at the Atlanta Post (March 25) at the Macla Post Theater (March 25), is the first full-length Soldier's Day presentation to appear here.

The murder study, formerly a Broadway play, consists of a series of killings before final disclosure of the maniacal "host" to eight guests. The title represents "Death". The show is a fast three-act, two and one-half hour presentation. The murders, all in full view of the audience, range from poisoning to electrocution. Admission to the theater is free and the public is invited to attend.

Clubs to Hold Language Class

A series of language classes has been organized at Service Club No. 5. Sgt. Thomas Suges of Raleigh, N. C., will serve as instructor for the sessions, which will be held at the Sand Hill club Monday nights from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. All enlisted men are eligible to participate, although classes probably will be limited to 20 students, according to Mrs. Euletta Stone of Gainesville, Texas, club director.

WAC OF THE MONTH ... Pfc. Emma Arnett

Arnett Is Named Wac-of-Month

Private First Class Emma Lou Arnett has been named "Wac of the Month" for January. She was awarded the honor in recognition of her excellent performance of duty, outstanding military appearance and bearing; and on recommendation by her Company Commander and Section Chief. PFC Arnett is the daughter of Mrs. Hope Arnett, Waterford, California. She entered the Army in January, 1955 and was assigned here in July, after completing basic training and the Clerk Typist School at Fort McPherson, Alabama. Her present assignment is clerk typist with the 53 Section, Special Troops Command.

Fishing Good Says Sgt. Rusk

When one fisherman tells another fisherman that fish are biting, it might or might not be true, depending on how bad they want to go fishing. But when M. Sgt. Luther Rusk says the fish are biting, they are. Sgt. Rusk said they were biting, and he was fishing.

How does Rusk know? He is the man in charge of boats and ponds at the post and almost everywhere he goes fishing checks in with him either before or after the trip. Whenever a really big fish is caught, Sgt. Rusk more than likely is the man who places it on the scales to determine its size.

Last week, Rusk put two fish on his scales which moved the pointer upward the eight pound mark. Another time he just looked at a nice string of mixed bass and croppies. All the fish were caught out of King's Pond, mostly on live minnows.

Garner Gets 3rd-A Award

Second Lt. Hugh P. Garner, 105th Company, the School Brigade, was recently presented the 3rd Army Award for Meritorious Leadership. The Award, designating him as the ROTC cadet showing the most outstanding traits of leadership during his 4 years at the University of Tennessee, was presented by Colonel K. R. Ruppert, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at that school.

While at the University, Lt. Garner lettered in football from 1952 to 1954. He attended the Sugar Bowl to test his freshman year, as a member of the University of Tennessee squad. In 1955, Lt. Garner received a scholarship trophy annually sent by the University to football players having the highest scholastic average. Lt. Garner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Garner of 222 9th Street, LaFollette, Tennessee, where he was graduated from high school in 1951.

Sickness May Give You Break on Income Taxes

This is the sixth in a series of articles on federal income tax for the year 1955. The articles are based on information furnished to AFPS by the American Institute of Accountants, the national organization of certified public accountants, and tax information available from the Navy's Bureau of Supplies and Accounts. Nobody likes to be sick. But if there was sickness in your family during 1955, you may have some compensative tax-wise.

First there is the question of sick pay. A service member who was absent because of sickness or injury may exclude pay for the period from his gross income in figuring out the 1955 income tax. But the absence was due to illness, you may not include amounts received for the first seven calendar days. However, if you were hospitalized for at least one day during the illness, or were injured, pay may be excluded from the first day of absence.

According to the law, the first complete day away from duty will be considered the first day of absence. When a serviceman is hospitalized, the day of absence will be included as a day of hospitalization but the release day will not.

You may exclude not more than $100 a week. If your pay is more than that, you determine the amount to be excluded as follows: multiply the amount received for the applicable period by 100, then divide the result by your weekly rate.

You should attach to the tax return a statement showing your computation and indicating the period of absence, nature of illness or injury and whether you were hospitalized, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Nontaxable income, such as allowances and pay excluded for active service performed in a "combat zone," is not considered in the above application of the formula. Because pay for sick periods is included in the wages shown on your withholding slips, you should subtract the proper amount from your income in the line provided on the first page of the tax return (Form 1040). You are entitled to exclude this amount if you do not itemize your deductions.

Part from sick pay, you may have received payments for your self and your dependents. Don't include these in your income, but don't deduct the medical expenses covered by these payments either. If you itemize your deductions, you may be able to save tax money by listing medical and dental expenses you paid for yourself and your dependents. This year you list your medical and dental expenses on a separate sheet, rather than on the form itself. Space is provided on the form for figuring the amount that is allowable as a deduction.

You are allowed a deduction for your medical expenses beyond a certain percentage of your adjusted gross income. This applies to any medical expenses you pay for your dependents. Your deduction is limited to a maximum amount for the year, as explained in the instructions. Medicines and drugs may be included in your medical expenses only to the extent they exceed 10 percent of your gross income.

Among the items to include in your list of medical expenses are fees of doctors, dentists, hospitals and nurses. Last premiums for Blue Cross and other health, accident or hospitalization insurance, but remember you cannot deduct medical expenses paid or reimbursed by insurance. (AFPS)

DOD Gives Exchanges Commissaries Backing

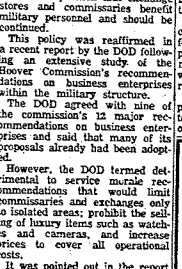

The Defense Department stands firm in its position that exchange commissaries benefit military personnel and should be continued. The policy was reaffirmed in a recent report by the DOD following an extensive study of the commissaries' operations. The DOD agreed with nine of the commission's major recommendations on business enterprises within the military structure.

However, the DOD termed detrimental to service morale recommendations that would limit commissaries and exchanges only to isolated areas; prohibit the selling of luxury items such as watches and cameras; and increase prices to cover all operational costs.

That such curtailed effort in the report would be "contrived" would work against current efforts to retain career personnel. The DOD reasons that an exchange is more than just a shopping center and "the exchange is one symbol of membership in the military community." The maintenance of these facilities for the benefit of armed forces personnel and their dependents involves basic factors of morale and the military pay scale, which cannot be overlooked, the DOD also rejected a proposal that consideration be given to contracting out exchange store operations. The department said.

A recommendation that the U.S. comptroller general's office make a complete survey of exchanges "to determine for its own and public understanding the real cost of operation and what 'fringe benefits' really are," was endorsed by the DOD.

Reading Expert Speaks to P-TA

The real goal of teaching reading is to assist children in becoming better people through what they read, according to one of the nation's outstanding reading experts who spoke here Feb. 16. Dr. A. Stiel Arley, professor of education and director of the Child Study Clinic at the University of Missouri, pointed out that teaching reading is not just a matter of unloading words. "Reading is taught today so that children learn to live better in society," he said, noting that by learning to solve problems in reading, the child gains maturity. Dr. Arley spoke to approximately 450 members of the Parent-Teacher Association meeting in Faith School Auditorium. Under the sponsorship of the post office, he is conducting a two-day reading clinic at the Children's School. The speaker discussed test results which show that children's reading level is higher today than that of the previous generation. As technique in all professional fields have evolved in the past 20 years, so educational methods have undergone changes, he said. "The teacher doesn't begin reading p-r-o-c-e-s-s immediately. Children are allowed to develop readiness so they will receive successful readers," the educator added. "The ABC's are taught, but not by rote just so they may be parroted. If you want to teach your child ABC's before he begins school, it will be good for you as a parent, but if you won't teach the child to read, he will not read by taking letters apart. In the early stages he learns words by form," he went on.

DA Officials Visit Board 3

Top research and development officials from the Department of Army were scheduled to arrive Feb. 20 to confer with Continental Army Command Board No. 3 representatives. Heading the 10-member group was William H. Martin, research and development director, and Lt. Col. James M. Gavin, Army research and development chief. Following an honor guard ceremony at 11:40 a.m. at Chapel Field, the group will attend an official luncheon at the Main Officers Mess. Informal conferences with post personnel and a visit to Board No. 3 were scheduled for Gen. Gavin and Mr. Martin Monday afternoon. The party tentatively planned to leave 8 a.m. Feb. 21 by airplane for Fort Rucker, Ala.

Lt. Assumes Bank Duties Sans Regrets

A Third Infantry Division soldier has been given an additional job while serving as radar officer with the 10th Field Artillery Battalion, but he's not complaining. "First Lt. Carl A. Smelser of Rosevelt, Okla., thanks the Army for his scholastic new duties as vice-president of the Security State Bank of Rosevelt, a post to which he was elected recently. "Even though he is still in service, Lt. Smelser will receive a partial salary and will remain on the payroll until he leaves the Army in April. The new bank vice-president represents the third generation of Smelers to serve on the Rosevelt bank staff, where his father is president. Before entering the Army Lt. Smelser was an assistant cashier at the bank. Lt. Smelser is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma. Since entering the Army, he has completed the field artillery basic officers course and field artillery observation training.

Engineers Work At Fort Jackson

Company "B" of the 57th Engineer Battalion (Construction), 151st Engineer Group, departed Jan. 9, for Fort Jackson, South Carolina. In command of the company is Captain Carl W. Jorstad, Company "B" has been assigned the mission of constructing, maintaining, and rehabilitating designated areas, training areas, and allied facilities. After a 300 mile trip without mishap, Company "B" was warmly received by Brigadier General Couzts, and they immediately began a reconnaissance of the fifteen project sites grouping them into major work categories. This is the most extensive project ever undertaken by the 57th Engineer Battalion. It is anticipated Company "B" will return sometime in March.

29th to Note Anniversary

Plans being made for the celebration of the 29th Infantry Regiment's 53th Organization Day on March 1 promise to make the occasion a never-to-be-forgotten one for the 2,000 officers and enlisted men who will participate in the all-day celebration. An early morning review, completely under the direction of 29th Infantry Division, is scheduled to open the day's events. Following this, a demonstration of scout dog training by personnel from the 44th Infantry Scout Dog team.

President Says 'Yes'

THE BAYONET

VOL. 14 NO. 24 THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1956 Published By The Ledger-Register Company, Columbus, Ga.

President Eisenhower announced at his press conference yesterday that he had decided to make himself "available" as a candidate for another term in the White House, but was not sure that his party would want to nominate him after hearing his toll of the various factors involved in his willingness to run again.

Weekend Festivities To Honor Famous Regiment

BY ED SWITNICKI The Army's most famous demonstration unit—the 29th Infantry Regiment—will be 55 years old Saturday and many big events are in store for the outfit whose colorful history goes back to the time when sprawling Fort Benning was only a tiny village of lantern-lit tents.

NOO'S LEAD THE WAY... 29th Infantry non-commissioned officers will head the parade this Saturday, opening the 29th Organization Day celebration. Visitors are invited to attend the 35th "birthday" of the demonstration unit.

Rifleman's Job Should Be Simple

(Editor's Note: Last week's feature apparently stimulated Pater to new heights. His article elicited the usual comments (and extreme) comments re small unit training will be carried in two successive installments. Herewith the first.) BY YR PATER In theory, infantry combat is simply homicide. The rifleman is charged with the mission of getting close enough to his enemy to kill or capture him.

Wide Range Army Contest Draws Plenty Sharp Talent

Entrants in Fort Benning's phase of the All-Army Entertainment Contest range from a hypnotist to a WAC trio. The show will be held at Servant's Club No. 1 March 9 at 8 p.m. The hypnotist is Mr. Myso, who admits to being a Fort Benning soldier but beyond that will not reveal his identity.

YAC to Conduct Membership Drive

March has been designated as membership drive month for the post Youth Activities Club, it was announced today by Lt. Col. C. T. Claggett, drive chairman. The objective of the drive, according to Col. Claggett, is to have all post personnel with children participating in YAC to become dues paying members.

Gen. Wyman To Become 3-A Chief

Lt. General Willard G. Wyman, former Deputy Commanding General of Continental Army Country School Detachment, who will carry a son of his own company, Daniel Giles, Company C, 78th Engineer Battalion, 15th Engineer Group, receding an original post to music and JFCO Dean Debra, Company C, First Infantry, 24th Evacuation Hospital, and Sgt. Earl Westergaard, 15th Engineer Group.

55 Years of Duty Noted By 29th Sat.

An elite Honor Guard group—the 29th Infantry Regiment—will be 55 years old Saturday and many big events are in store for the outfit whose colorful history goes back to the time when sprawling Fort Benning was only a tiny village of lantern-lit tents. Opening the gala organization day celebration, in which 2,300 enlisted men and 120 officers are scheduled to participate, will be an early morning NCO parade... At the head of the marching contingent will be 2d Sgt. Robert J. McConald, a 4-year-old Californian, who has been the regiment's sergeant-major for the past two years. Following as his staff will be the three battalion "top soldiers," each in positions held normally by officers.

Post Charity Event

Army Daughter's '49er Fete Features Can-Can

A gala floor show will be staged at the annual Army Daughter's '49er Party March 3 in the Main Officers' Mess.

All proceeds from the affair will benefit post charities, according to Mrs. Lester Wheeler, Army Daughter's president. Admission is 50 cents.

The affair is scheduled from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. The Post Children's Nurses will entertain until 2:30 a.m. to accommodate '49er Party guests.

Headed the entertainment will be a colorful can-can, performed by Mrs. William H. Henry, Jr., Miss D. E. Rutina, Mrs. E. K. Crowley, Jr., Mrs. J. T. Griffin, Jr., and Mrs. Herschel E. Chapman.

A second can-can line will feature Lt. Col. Joseph A. Shoemaker, Major Robert H. Hill and Captain James M. Lee, Howard Parks and Lester Conger.

Strains of "My Gal Sal," "I Want a Girl," "When You Were a Tulip" and "Home on the Range" will be heard from the bartender quartet. A look under the handkerchiefs will distinguish Col. O. J. Oyer and Major Curtis Alloway, Fete Dilettante and George Grace.

The Basin Street Walk will play for the occasion. Games of chance and a chowwagon filled with frontier delicacies will round out the entertainment at the "Silver Dollar Saloons."

Under the direction of Col. and Mrs. J. R. Reeves, '49er Party chairmen are Lt. Col. Samuel E. Shoemaker, block-out; Mrs. W. H. Root, decorations; Mrs. Henry, entertainment; Mrs. A. J. DeLuca, publicity; Capt. and Mrs. W. G. LeLonde; tickets; Mrs. Charles F. Leonard, Jr., food; Mrs. J. T. Griffin, Jr., refreshments; Capt. H. Lynch, properties; Mrs. S. E. Shoemaker, dance hall; Mrs. J. T. Griffin, Jr., band; and Lt. and Mrs. A. M. Weyand, photography booth.

Guests are reminded to bring their Officers' Club membership, dependent or guest cards or ID cards to the affair.

3 Goats Go 'Military'

A trip of misplaced goats wandered into a barracks area here on Feb. 24 and, according to reports, performed magnificently in reviewing the traditional bugle and reveille with a discordant "Baa."

Provost marshal officials and the post veterinarian closed in on the scene and nabbed two of the goats. The other escaped, however, and is still wandering around the reservation.

The two prisoners are described as "just goats." One is white, a nanny, the other is brownish and sports an imposing set of horns. The free bleater is unidentified.

It is suspected a prank is involved in the goats' turning military. Anyone missing the animals can call the post veterinarian's office.

LEVENTIS DEVIATIONS HELD

A series of Leventis Deviations will be held for the post Lutheran congregation each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the post chapel.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Richard M. Hollinger of Columbus, in the absence of a Lutheran chaplain. Sunday services are being conducted at 8:15 a.m. in the chapel by the Rev. H. G. Welch, pastor of the Lutheran church of the Holy Redeemer in Columbus.

Air Ticket Office Gets New Chief

TEAM TO VISIT

A Pentagon team is scheduled to visit here March 17 as part of an Army-wide study to determine the effectiveness of new maps.

Under the direction of the Army's Map Service, the team will visit the Third Army area to confer with combat veterans about changes in contour lines, color schemes, size of print and design in maps.

STC Officers Go to School

The first of a series of courses for newly selected officers of Special Troops Command got underway at the Food Service School here Monday.

The courses are under the supervision of Lt. Col. Clyde M. Thornhill, school commander.

The courses are designed to familiarize the officers with the problems of food preparation and storage, mess supervision, records and sanitation. When completed, the course will enable the officers to supervise the preparation of food and the operation of unit mess halls with a greater degree of proficiency.

The course is composed of four eight-hour days and is divided into four hours of mess accounting and 20 hours of actual food preparation. During the latter phase of the course, the officers will observe practical exercises in standard food preparation and attempt to solve the many problems encountered by regularly assigned mess sergeants.

Colonel Henry M. Zeller, STC Commander, stated that the selected officers are given this opportunity if attend the course so that they might further improve the high standard of operation and food preparation in the mess halls of Special Troops Command.

Their status with Student Battalion Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth remains the same.

506th Helicopters Fly Survey Missions

The use of light aircraft and their versatility in the Army were shown recently when H-34's of the 506th Helicopter Company were used to conduct radiological survey missions at Fort McClellan, Ala.

The helicopters and men from the Pathfinder Team, Airborne Army Aviation Department of The Infantry School, took part in a three-day course conducted by the Radiological Branch of the Chemical Corps School at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Two days of the three-day course were in actual field problems.

Pathfinders ordinarily enter an area 15 to 30 minutes before the main party in airborne operations. Their mission is to point out a safe jump area and to determine radioactivity in the area.

Since the H-34, a new addition to the Army's helicopter fleet and only in November assigned to the 506th Company, can hover near the ground, Pathfinders determine the location of the aircraft while determining the dangers of ground maneuvering.

29th Sgt. Wants Local School For Mentally Retarded

The need for a school for mentally retarded Negro children in the Columbus-Fort Benning area is very significant to a Sergeant, First Class from Co. H 29th Infantry Regiment, who has a result of the constant attention and loving care of his parents. What is more than the little child he has no painfully acquired is that he has learned to kneel, clasp his hands, bow his head and pray with his family. He cannot talk, but by his reverence he shows his understanding.

SFC Davis has learned that no child is a mentally retarded child may have until an attempt has been made to teach that child. Freely such cases become hopeless merely because the parents assume that they are hopeless.

SFC and Mrs. Davis have never given up hope.

He has already found seven families who would like to join with him in founding a chapter, and it still will be getting in touch with other families.

Davis is basing his hopes on the example of the white families who founded the Friendly Haven for Exceptional Children in Columbus.

He states that financial support for the project would come from promoting activities of the group itself. They would not expect outside aid, and would expect to raise the money themselves.

"These children can learn," says SFC Davis. "They can be taught to take care of themselves, to busy themselves with simple manual tasks such as sewing and cooking. And this organization can help support them in their parents or guardians should die."

In addition, it can think of nothing that would hearten the parents of a retarded child more than to get together with others who speak their language, have the same problems, understand them.

Six years ago, just after SFC Davis' boy, George, Jr., was born, his parents were informed that his mental age would always be much less than his physical age, but that he would probably not live long, anyway. They refused to accept this as final.

Today, although his ability to learn has been much impaired by sickness, George has shown tremendous improvement as a result of the constant attention and loving care of his parents. What is more than the little child he has no painfully acquired is that he has learned to kneel, clasp his hands, bow his head and pray with his family. He cannot talk, but by his reverence he shows his understanding.

I don't know which essay won, but I'm proud I wrote both of them," Longo said. "I'm really surprised."

The United States must be defended against communists who imperil our way of life within our borders. Idealists comprise a segment of the party. To cope with the communist threat we must know why they joined. Idealism can be an admirable quality. But the man with vision should maintain a tie with reality. The communist idealists have no such tie. They operate with blinkers on. They refuse to see that communism in practice means enslavement, forced labor camps and a total disregard for the fallibilities of the individual. Idealists join the party because they want a "cause" and they accept the propaganda picture of communism as the real thing. They fail to see that the communist "utopia" can come only through bloodshed and the complete suppression and destruction of all dissenting views. Disillusionment leads many idealists to leave the party. Many of them who joined during the depression came to their senses when they watched communism in action. Others, however, played blindly on. They became part of the hard core. Their heads remain in the clouds while a pool of blood lap around their knees. (AFPS)

Chaplain's Corner

Looking Up

BY CHAPLAIN (MAJOR) MALCOLM SADDLER, Asst. TIC Chaplain

'Did you ever go to bed at night and look back on the day just closing and feel that everything had gone wrong? And on that same day you had been angry over little things and small, unimportant happenings had disturbed you very much? And on that "bad" day, had it seemed that nothing had happened - as if you would have liked for it to happen, and that throughout the entire day the whole world had seemed against you?

We have all had this kind of experience at one time or another, and very often we ask ourselves "why". There are other reasons that we do not mention here, but perhaps one of the reasons for these "bad" days is that at the very beginning of the day we failed to look up toward God and resolve to direct our lives toward Him during that day. We might call this attitude of looking up Prayer, since Prayer is a sort of ladder by which we reach up to God and enter into His presence.

Most of the unpleasant things in our lives, and many of the disappointments and annoyances seem much greater than they really are because we look downward rather than upward. It is most important that we look up toward the one toward whom we see the good things and the things that really count.

The day in which you and I live seems so many times to be the day of uncertainty, and we feel that the world is filled with distrust and greed, and that tomorrow the world will tumble down upon us and destroy us. But if we look up and pray, we can receive the courage to face these

'Queen of Battle'

The Artillery and its indispensable supporting arm of the ground-gaining forces of our Army is dramatically portrayed in this week on "Queen of Battle". You'll accompany - via your radio - an Infantry platoon leader as he acts as forward observer in calling in Artillery Fire to destroy an enemy machine gun emplacement which has temporarily stopped his unit's offensive.

Produced by the Infantry Center, Public Information Office, this program is broadcast each Thursday at 10:00 p.m. over WRBL in Columbus. At 7:10 each morning over WRBL, listen to "Benning Briefs" for news of and about post personnel.

For music - Souza to Chopin - listen to WGMA in Columbus each Sunday at 12:15 p.m. for "Benning Bandstand" - this week featuring the 488th STC Band. Monday through Saturday morning at 7:30 p.m. "Reveille Concert" over WGMA for news of social and recreational activities.

Each Saturday evening at 8:15 p.m. WDAK in Columbus brings you "Benning Parade," a roundup of the week's news at Fort Benning. On Sunday at 1:15 p.m. WDAK presents "Pass in Review," an informative program produced by the Third Infantry Division Public Information Office.

"Pass in Review" is also produced by Radio Station WPKX in Phenix City each Sunday at 12:45 p.m. WPKX also carries "Benning News" Monday through Saturday morning at 7:00 a.m. bringing you the latest happenings on post.

GUIDED TOURS OF CAMPUS HUMOR, by Max Shulman. (Harcourt, Brace, 456 pp.)

A hilarious mixture of silly, sophisticated, and sometimes rowdy, but always funny, campus humor from the last half century is collected here to amuse, and delight the reader. Sixty-five outstanding college magazines were used to select the 80 stories, articles, essays, verses and songs that make up this book.

ANDERSONVILLE, by Mackinlay Kantor. (World Pub., 187 pages)

Recreated in a realistic manner is one of the most tragic and dramatic episodes in the Civil War history. Twenty old slaves of southwestern Georgia in which some 50,000 Union prisoners suffered, died or survived during 18 months of the Civil War makes up the historical background of this book. It's often shocking, sometimes tender and always impressive.

GREEN FOND, by Evon Brandon. (Vanguard, 166 pages)

This sweeping, intense drama of a Carolina town from the Civil War to the present concentrates upon old Doc and Old Doc's two sons - a minister and a surgeon. It is a luminous, passionate and tormented piece of fiction.

In the photo they are doing that portion of their act where June strikes a match held in her mouth, while being held by her arms and feet by her husband. This act was presented in Bonanza, given last Oct.

Soldier Shows Offer Outlet To Amateur Actors

Are you a magician, contortionist, or hypnotist? If you are, your talents are in great demand for soldier shows.

The biggest problem in producing a show is finding novelty acts like the ones mentioned above. Of course, other acts such as singers, dancers, and comedians are also always in demand.

Although most of the performers in soldier shows are strictly amateurs, some of them do go on to professional careers. An example of this is a Columbus girl named Fay McKay. Fay auditioned, some time ago, and appeared here in several soldier's shows.

She later went to Atlanta, got a job singing at the Gypsy Room for $250 a week, and has been "packing them in" for three months.

An example of a soldier-amateur who turned pro is Dick Milner, popular star of the Robinson Crew. So what production last August. He went to New York, got many TV auditions and offers, and is likely to become well known as a TV performer.

On a large post like this you would expect to find enough talent to supply any soldier show you wanted to produce. However, this has not been true in the past.

The next production that is set is the Ninth Guard, which represents an experiment in soldier shows, since it is the first time that Special Services has produced a full three-act serious type Broadway melodrama.

Also planned for the future are more of the satirical, comedy-type productions. It is possible that Dials and Dolls, which was so well received in its first presentation, will be revised and produced again.

So for all aspiring entertainers, here is your chance. Although you may never go any further than the Main Theater, you will undoubtedly have a lot of fun along the way. Interested people can contact Dean West at 3-0112.

LOTS OF TALENT . . . Above is Juliet Anderson, of Columbus, who participates in many of the soldier shows produced on the post. In addition to her other assets, Juliet is a very talented and popular entertainer.

FUZZLED FRIDAY . . . Friday, played by Dick Milner, scratches his head in dismay at the sight of 'horrible' Sunday. The scene is from Robinson Crew-So What, where Friday meets the other six days of the week. L-R, the girls are Charleen Hogan, Gayle Humphries, Juliet Anderson, Nancy Yates, and Ann Scott. The 'creature' is better off unidentified.

LUCKY CREW-SO . . . Shown above is the second act of Robinson Crew-So What. The scene is the introduction of Robinson Crew-So to the carnival King's daughters. Crew-So is played by Dick Wrenthorn; the daughters are Margie Herrmann, being kissed, and Barbara Newman, right, standing Dick Milner, who played Friday, is at far right.

Putting your money away for a rainy day is fine, if doing so doesn't darken the sunny odes.

3rd Ord. Co. To Campbell

The 3rd Ordnance Company (MOS), STC, will leave March 14 for its new home at Fort Campbell, Ky. There they will augment the 2nd Airborne Division organic maintenance organization.

The unit was first organized as the 3rd Ordnance, Middle Ordnance Repair Shop in 1918 and was disbanded a year later after serving a short time overseas during World War I.

Reactivated in 1922, the unit was redesignated the 3rd Ordnance Company and assigned to the 1st Infantry Division. It remained with the 2nd Division until 1930 when it was reassigned to Hunter Signal Military Reservation near Dover area in California.

From 1932 to 1943 the unit was assigned to various stations throughout the United States in support of divisions preparing for shipment overseas. In 1943 the company headquarters was assigned to Task Force "A" of the Fifth Army and sent to the European Theater of Operations where it participated in and was awarded battle credits for the Sicily, Rome-Arno, Southern France, and the Central Europe Campaigns. The unit also participated in an air-land assault landing in Southern France.

After World War II the unit was again inactivated and remained inactive until 1949 when it was reactivated and stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

A unit long of overseas duty since in 1950 when the unit was sent to Germany for three years. Returning stateside, the company was stationed at Camp Claiborne, Ark., prior to its assignment here in May 1954.

The unit is presently commanded by Captain Charles H. Burdick.

Famed Chorus To Re-Appear Here March 5

The Special Services Officer announced that by popular demand, the internationally famous "Don Cossack Chorus and Band" are returning here for another engagement at the Main Theater at 7 p. m., 5 March.

The Staff of Don Cossack Chorus was originally organized in the capital of Czechoslovakia, Prague, in 1927. Ever since its inception the chorus has been headed by the Sirochka, Kestranek who act as spontaneously as the chorus leader and as its administrator.

The membership of the Chorus has always remained the best of the vocal talent obtainable among the White Russian emigres who fled Communism in Russia as early as 1918-1920 and who actually may be considered as the pioneers in the field against World Communism.

Since 1927 the Chorus has toured all five continents. It can truly be said that there is not and never was another group of singers who have completed such an extensive round of voyages as the Russian Chorus has.

The Chorus has traveled on a total of one hundred seven different ocean liners, and visited sixty-seven different countries. On October 23, 1951, the Chorus sang a 4,000 concert. On this number they were concertly depicted especially to church music.

Regardless of the place where the Chorus gives its concert, he has been the attraction of the Theatre of Color in Buenos Aires or the famous Carnegie Hall in New York, or a modest hall in a town with the population of three thousand.

THE DON COSSACK CHORUS... Madcap antics are only part of the entertainment treat in store for those who see the Don Cossack Chorus, when they appear at the Main Theater on 5 March.

The Chorus always performs with the same thoroughness. For the Chorus members, there is no such thing as big or little concerts; to them all concerts are equally important. All members of the Chorus are now American Citizens; some of them fought during the Second World War in the ranks of the U.S. Army. For the big part of the year, he is sure to see fine outstanding performance. Admission is free and the public is welcome.

Hubby Mess Sgt. Advances In Race to Outcook Wife

Combat Comm. Team Part Of 151st Engineer Group

The 151st Engineer Group (Combat) boasts one of the very best combat - ready communications teams now operational here. Composed of two battalions - one combat and one construction - and a separate float bridge company, the varied activities of the 151st have afforded a unique opportunity for the utilization of communications in garrison under conditions similar to those which would be encountered in the field situation. Radio contact between units in the field engaged in projects and headquarters has been found a valuable time-saver, eliminating the necessity for, and consequent delay of sending a messenger whenever a problem arises.

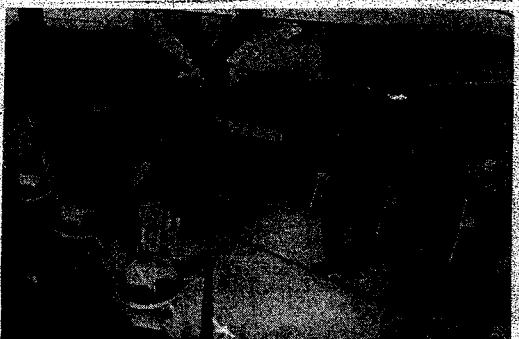

Since the 151st has been responsible for furnishing heavy equipment and men for forest fire alerts, the communications section has often been called upon to coordinate the activities of fire-fighting teams and to relay instructions. Frequent field problems are scheduled to insure that radio operators and wiremen are familiar with their jobs and that they may be called on at any time within a radius of many miles of the post. Recently the communications section has completed an extensive training program for subordinate units, administering in a simulated tactical problem designed to test the readiness of Group communications to perform its function at a moment's notice.

Since the 151st was activated as a major command only a year ago, these training exercises represent a substantial achievement, considering the lengthy training required for code operators, which has been accomplished under the direction of Major Warren H. Green, communications officer, and SFC Jose S. Garcia, his communications chief.

ATTACHES WELCOMED - Military attaches who visited here Feb. 23-25 are pictured upon arriving at Lawson Field where an honor escort welcomes them to the post. Thirty-eight countries were represented in the group, which stopped here as part of an annual tour of U. S. military installations.

Lawson Doubles Activity During 'Op Marne Drive'

Lawson Army Air Field almost doubled its activities during Operation Marne Drive, an air transportability exercise conducted last week by Third Infantry Division troops and Air Force aircraft.

The traffic count, aircraft landing take-offs and landings, totaled more than 1,800 for a five-day period. The average count was nearly 320 daily and soared to more than 400 during peak days. The normal traffic count is just over 100, Lawson officials said.

Sixteen giant Air Force C-124 Globemaster transports arrived Sunday, Feb. 19, followed by LC-119 troop-carrier Flying Boxcars on Feb. 22-23. Eleven Air Force P-47s also were on hand to give fire support for Problem No. 2650, which was held Feb. 23-24. The troop carrier planes were used to lift the Third Division's 30th Combat Command in its transportability exercise.

"WE'LL BE A RUN'N BALL CLUB THIS YEAR!"

Third Division Sports

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

This is the second week of the Division sports due to training. The biggest news was the leaving of three of the Division's five A&L officers.

1st Lt. D. W. Hils of Div. Artillery, 1st Lt. Roland G. Brinson of the 15th I.C.C. and 1st Lt. Elias Thomas of Division Troops depart for civilian life this week, leaving a gap in Marine sports circles.

Lt. Hils also doubled as coach of Div. Artillery's first place basketball team this winter and led the Redleg baseball squad to the title last year.

He also was named manager of Fort Benning's diamond squad after the Division season and led the club through the remainder of the season and play in the Third Army tournament.

Marine Briefs—
Bill Roman and Remmo Rigado, two pitching stalwarts on Div. Artillery's championship baseball team last season are still in the sports METCALF'S world. Ronan is equipment manager for the Redleg basketball quintet while Rigado uses his talented right hand to record the scores during the games. . . .

The Division baseball season begins April 3 and runs until June 24 when an all-star team will be selected to compete against the Fort Benning team. The two teams will combine and form the 1st Army team which will compete in the February 22 issue of the Chicago Tribune. Golden Gloves of the Nashville, Tenn. Golden Gloves team, including Pete Rademacher and Bob Peters of Fort Benning. . . .

Marine sports begin again Monday, March 5 as the 7th I.C.C. meets Division Troops and the 15th I.C.C. battles Div. Artillery in a basketball doubleheader. . . . Div. Artillery's boxing team meets the Troops ringsters the following evening at the Harmony Church Field House.

Lieutenant Hils, who leaves the Div. Artillery coaching post after the March 5 game contends that "Div. Artillery has a good chance of repeating its first ball victory in basketball in the 15th I.C.C. should it fall into a winning combination and should give trouble the rest of this year. . . . seems like every team in the league is shaping up now and will be a threat." . . .

He lettered in baseball, basketball and football for four years at Xavier U. in Cincinnati, Ohio and coaching post upon his return to civilian life.

Squad Named In CTC For Post Bowling

Representing Combat Training Command in the Post Bowling Tournament (March 14) is a six-man team composed of the following officers:

Lt. Col. Vincent E. Osborne, Capt. Francis O. Sprague and 1st Lt. William T. Watson, Jr.

Enlisted men who have gained a berth on the CTC team are: SFC Clayton L. Carter, SFC William Dempsey, Jr., SFC Rodney N. and Sgt. Charles W. White.

Combat Training Command's bowling play began last November when 110 Keglers participated in approximately 40 games apiece. If experience is a factor, CTC bowlers should do well in the post tournament.

AFM's Association Hears 3-Div BG

Practical management is a challenge, Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zierath, assistant commander of the Third Infantry Division said here Feb. 21.

During an address to 65 members and guests of the post Chapter of the Armed Forces Management Association meeting in the Main Officers' Mess, the one-star commander said explicitly, sincerely and sagaciously are the touchstones of effective management.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN

The double standard in sports, as in any field, strikes us as obvious; and when an organization is recognized as the National AAU is somewhat hazy, we stop and wonder.

Tom Jones and Jim Fields, Third Division heavyweight and light heavyweight from the 30th ICC, who were Glove winners in Jacksonville, will not make the follow-up trip to Madison Square Garden because they aren't allowed to use headgear or helmets, declared a must by Department of the Army for amateur soldier boxers.

In the Chicago Golden Gloves, however, the use of head protection is optional, allowing Fort Benning mittmen to participate without violating any rules.

As we understand it, the AAU has made the use of such headgear mandatory for all colleges.

For Jones, Fields and the AAU, the double standard is unfortunate. What is the difference in amateur boxing between New York and Chicago and college boxing? And what sort of rule will preside governing the Intercity bouts, between New York and Chicago winners, in late March?

The whole thing seems as incongruous as pitting Old Mother Hubbard against Jack Dempsey. Isn't it nice of New York to permit amateurs to fight like the pros? We never before realized that the New Yorkers went for concussions in such a big way.

Jim Murray, coach of the new Main Post Baseball Team, expects a nice turnout for his March 5 practice for pitchers and catchers at Gowdy Field. A week later, the entire squad will be out for training. If you have any baseball-playing ability, don't hesitate to call the Sports Office at 3-6220.

Wonder how the new rule limiting the use of professionals on Army teams will affect Fort MacPherson last year's All-Army winner with a squad that seemed to be made up in its entirety of players signed by major league clubs.

Until the past couple of weeks, a guy named Willard Mullin struck us as the world's top sport cartoonist. With the addition of a Mr. Waller to the picture, we're beginning to switch our allegiance.

Don't let this guy John Gause fool you by his fishy story. He caught the biggest minnow currently in captivity. Or so he says. Aw, come on, John, don't draw! Or another fish story.

The Doughboy basketball team finished the regular season in 11th place in the East Coast Service Basketball Poll. The Quantico Marines came out on top by 10 points over Andrews Air Force Base.

Given just one or two good breaks, the Fort Benning basketball quintet could go all the way in the Third Army Tournament. Unfortunately, our reports on the games were scant when we came to press. We're anxious to discover how much the addition of Dick Tyler and Jim Singleton suits the Doughboy cause.

Guard Ken Hicks, who underwent a one-month lay-off for appendicitis earlier in the season, was particularly hopeful that the Kinardmen would have the opportunity to knock off the tall Fort Jackson Eagles on their home court. No doubt about it—a real challenge.

Ken, by the way, will compete in his second favorite sport, golf, after the court season. He was on the varsity golf team at Oklahoma A&M. We're looking forward to Jack Kramer and his crew's arrival March 21 at Briant Wells. But as Miss LoRon said, "You've got to watch them cross-eyed—like a ping-pong game."

Anglin Angles

BY JOHN GAUSE

It has often been said that 10 per cent of the fishermen catch 90 per cent of the fish. About 10 per cent of the fish to be divided among the unfortunate 90 per cent. Apparently, this observation contains some element of truth.

SFC George Sheppard, chief of the sound section, Communications Department, and Jack Smith, member of the Lucky 10 per cent Lucky Perhaps.

Last Saturday the pair boated seven bass in just a few hours. The number of fish caught didn't impress anyone, particularly, but their size did, since the seven tipped the scales at just over 26 pounds. Four of the bass weighed 28 pounds, the largest being around seven and three-quarter pounds.

According to Sgt. Sheppard, live bait was used. Both fishermen own spin outfits. Sheppard said they "fished in the upper end of King's Pond."

Sheppard and Smith probably contributed more to the percentage deal than any pair of anglers at Fort Benning. During January, for instance, they caught 14 fish out of King's Pond. The largest weighed nearly nine pounds.

Sgt. Sheppard said that the way to catch bass this time of year: "You fish about three feet deep, and use big spinners. The bigger the bait, the bigger the fish."

Sheppard caught his fish last Saturday on a 4-pound test line. Because of its light equipment, he had to wade a 200-yard bank with the largest bass before he could claim a victory.

SFC Cabria Edwards, Charge Guard with the Fort Benning Fish and Game office, slipped away to King's Pond in a motorboat this week and came in with a six and a half pounder. A photograph was called in to record the evidence, and Sgt. Rhoades posed proudly with the catch.

Most all fishermen have secret methods for catching 'em. Sgt. Rhoades says he talked to Sheppard and Smith.

CBR Course To Be Held

The first in a series of commander's chemical, biological and radiological warfare courses will begin here March 27 with 48 students.

Under the direction of Major Joseph E. Burns of Rock Hill, S. C. Infantry Center chemical officer, the five-day course includes 40 hours of instruction on the effects of and individual protection from CBR warfare.

Major Burns explained that the initial group will include six successive classes for enlisted personnel followed by another series for both officers and enlisted men. Among the subjects studied will be:

Tennis Stars To Clash Here

The Jack Kramer tennis troupe, featuring Tony Trabert, Pancho Gonzales, Rex Hartwig and Pancho Segura, will appear at Briant Wells Field House March 21 at 8 p.m.

Trabert, world amateur champion, and Gonzales, world professional champ, will stage one of their best-contested head-on clashes. Hartwig, the world's leading amateur doubles team, meets Segura, the better Scandinavian with a great two-handed forehand, in the preliminary match.

In the two-out-of-three doubles event, Gonzales and Segura face Trabert and Hartwig, the team doubles combination.

Tickets for the matches are now on sale at the Special Services Department, New Barn. N. C. director of the Recreation and Entertainment Department.

Pistol Champ Prepares For Florida Meet

The Army's only two-time National Trophy Individual Pistol champion is here preparing for the National Mid-Winter Pistol Championship Matches at Tampa 2, Fla. March 6-10.

Major Ben C. Curtis, assistant G.S., Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., is on temporary duty with the Army Pistol Team.

He was winner of the National Trophy Individual Pistol Match in 1932 and 1935, and in 1935 he set a new record by three points, finishing a total score of 290. He has competed in regional and national matches since 1931. In 1935 he was South-East Regional International Slow Fire Champion.

Major Curtis has 20 years shooting experience, and is classified as a "Master in the National Rifle Association." He was National Pistol Champion with the 27 caliber in 1932, and was Florida State Champion the same year.

Major Curtis' father, Mr. Ben R. Curtis, lives in Chattanooga, Tenn., and his wife resides in Leonard Wood, Mo.

Skeet Team Wins Match At Fort Mac

Post skeet shooters topped Fort McPherson, Ga., "Birdmen" 7-4 in four rounds of firing at the losers' range on Feb. 28. Shooting is on a "home and home" basis.

Top shooter was M-Sgt. B. A. Hardy of Atlanta, Ga., and Fort Mac, with a mark of 95. Capt. Robert L. McDaniel of San Antonio, Texas, (training literature editor, Publications and Visual Aids, was high for the local five-man delegation with 91.

Richey Is 54th Group Soldier of the Month

Private Vesta L. Richey of the 89th Medical Company (Ambulance "Separate", 54th Med. Gp.) was selected Soldier of the Month, Superintendency of the Guard, and was promoted to Private First Class on Feb. 28.

Trick Shot Artists Will Appear Here

Tony Longo and Merle Power, two of the best-known trick shot artists, will perform at the Fort Benning Country Club Golf Course on March 9 at 8 p. m.

The show itself features, besides the ordinary trick shots, the novel appearance of the "Four Duffers," one of the comedy highlights of the presentation.

Miss Power has the distinction of being the first woman golfer invited by Department of the Army to undertake a tour overseas, recording a "Certificate of Esteem" from the Department of Defense for her admission to the golf exhibition in free and the public is invited.

581 Aggregate Wins Club Go

The Post Rifle and Pistol Club champion, Lt. Col. Chester T. Harvie, Human Research Unit No. 1, Continental Army Command, outshot an array of All-Army shooters to win Feb. 28's club match.

His partner, one of the finest swingers ever developed by Longo, adds "eye" appeal to her performance. Although she has been playing golf only three years, her performance in the U. S., Great Britain, Europe and North Africa have brought praise from everyone.

Three Army officials visited here Feb. 21 to inspect construction progress on the new 500-bed hospital.

Olympic Hopes Raised by New Special Pistol

A precision-built pistol with a trigger so sensitive that a heart breath will cause the weapon to fire, could well be the first step in the long journey to 1956 Olympic Games victory at Melbourne, Australia.

The Swiss-made weapons are being used by All-Army pistoliers in training here for the March 5 Mid-Winter Matches at Tampa, Fla. Twenty of 25 pistols of this type were acquired only last fall to give Army shooters a chance to practice with the weapon used in the International Matches and the Olympics.

The Swiss pistol - Haemmerli - was first used in the All-Army Matches in 1954. Only five were used by the Army at that time although some fliers had their private Haemmerli pistols which they used for international competition.

The weapons will be used in the international matches at Tampa, but the sight of all Army shooters is on the fall games at Australia, where the pistols are standard equipment.

IT'S A BREEZE—Traveling the snow-packed streets of Parsons, Kan., is a breeze with this sled equipped with an "outboard motor." The "outboard" is really just an old washing machine motor and a 16-inch fan. Gayle Marie Coots, 4, is the happy owner of the fan-driven sled, built by her automobile-mechanic father. He has to run to keep up with it.

29th Is M-Sgt's 'Lucky' Date

Some people believe that a certain date is important in controlling their destiny. Major Sergeant Frank W. Bradshaw, Company D, 2nd Infantry Battalion (Prox), might well subscribe to that theory because his "magic" date seems to be 29 January. The 29-year-old combat veteran first re-enlisted on 29 January 1947, and the date fell on Sunday. His second re-enlistment was on 29 January 1950 again on Sunday. And his latest re-enlistment, for six years, came on 29 January again on Sunday. He came to Fort Benning, 29 June 1951. He was twice promoted on the 29th day of the month. And his birthday? The 29th of January. What else?

Former Missionary Attends Officer Candidate Course

Tropical tidal waves and volcanic eruptions were all in a day's work for a Mormon missionary to Hawaii, according to Officer Candidate Kenneth C. Lindquist, 19th OC Company, 5th Student Battalion The OC Brigade. Lindquist spent 2 years in Hawaii prior to his assignment as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints. It was there in 1929 that he narrowly escaped the violence of a tidal wave, and the devastation caused by the eruption of Hale Maui. His missionary work brought him into close association with the Hawaiian people. He was deeply impressed by the absence of prejudice among these people of such widely varying racial and cultural backgrounds. He attributes their amazing educational advancement to this sense of unity.

Retired GIs May Store Household Goods for 1 Year

Retiring Army personnel to elect to store household goods in non-temporary depots until a permanent place of residence has been established will no longer have to assume cost of shipping these goods to a Department of the Army directive. In the past retiring personnel had to store household goods from station of retirement to a permanent residence had to pay cost of shipping from the depot to their home, which could be selected one year from date of retirement. Under the new directive, personnel can store household goods and have them shipped at government cost anywhere in the U.S. within one year from date of retirement.

YER OUT—You can't blame M-Sgt. Norlie W. Williams for trying on his new umpire hat. For, on Saturday, he'll be at Gowdy Field conducting a clinic for would-be post umpires. The 32-year-old sergeant learned the tricks of the trade while "TOY" to George Barr's umpire school in Longwood, Florida. M-Sgt. Williams, one of two NCO's sent to the school, is assigned to Combat Training Command.

Every Presidential

When he starts his journey to the site of his enemy's doom, every president is taken to ensure that the enemy will not interfere or attempt to postpone the re-levation. Professedly of great weight and terrifying power, rain down on the hapless foe, driving him to the shelter of the earth. From across the rushing forth hundreds of individual projectiles per minute which do not meet to the ground. Since the enemy frequently has resort to similar death-dealing devices, additional precautions are taken. The persons charged with the guidance of our killer are skilled in the selection of various routes, hidden from, or protected from, the enemy and his weapons.

To eliminate all of this effort, the rifleman merely has to charge the final two or three hundred yards and dispatch his helpless foe from a distance of a few feet. Why should we have so much trouble getting such a simple chore accomplished. It should be relatively simple to teach the few simple mechanics involved in doing a combat rifleman. So far as we know, no one has intelligently tried to make combat rifleman, at least in our Army.

Birthday

(Continued from Page 1) fantry soldier's battle-tested techniques as realistically and as correctly as possible. Basic theory has not changed too much over the years, because then as now the unit taught close order drill, scouting and defensive company attack, and defensive positions. However, new things did come along, because in 1937, the 23th was charged with testing motor vehicles, which came along to take the place of the old pack animal. At this time re-enlistment posters here beckoned thickly. "Join the motorized regiment."

With the entry of the United States into World War II on December 8, 1941, the 23rd moved first to Fort Jackson and then to England where it participated in the stocking of equipment and supplies for the D-Day invasion. The unit has seen combat in France, Germany and Belgium, and elements of the regiment fought in the bitter Pusan perimeter battles in the Korean conflict. Then, between 1950 and 1951, the 23rd remained on Okinawa with regimental combat team. On November 28, 1951, the regiment returned to its traditional home in its new location. Today, the exciting and demanding work of the 23rd in support of The Infantry School continues, just as it has for nearly 25 years.

Figures Day Lie

In his captive audience role, he also supplies a by-product known as a "favorable statistical" posted to a chart reflecting the number of times he has been exposed to a combat commodity known as "training." This perhaps is the most gratifying to his superior. Regimental and Division level. As a source of mis-applied energy, he produces a by-product, represented by adjectival testimonials to the prowess and efficiency of his immediate superiors in such military achievements as trimming lawns with bayonets, whitewashing borders and tree trunks, and building knee-high fences out of scrap lumber. He also manipulates canvas-covered frames so that his squad directing rifle bullets through black circles at distance recorded in multiples of 10 yards—a skill of paramount importance in combat, especially against enemy who attire themselves in white garments, with large black circles on the torso, and who station themselves 100 yards apart.

Teens the Country

In his captive audience role, he really gets his money's worth. To polish their techniques of directing his efforts, he practices the function of a man: So far as we know, no one has intelligently tried to make combat rifleman, at least in our Army.

The training saga of today's U. S. Infantry soldier can be summarized in few words: Competitive Audience, Source of Mis-Applied Energy, and Training Aid.

training doctrine, our training methods, or both. Why should replacements be "inexperienced"? Why should troops still be "green" on the eve of their first combat? Why should a unit's capabilities and effectiveness be suspect until it has "been bloodied"?

Shary Edge—Dull Point

Our training programs tend to concentrate on perfecting the techniques of the higher echelons—the commissioned leaders, directors, supervisors of the rifleman. We burish the staff, and hone the edges of the lance, but the all-important point—the private soldier and his non-commissioned leaders—emerges from the work shop as blunt as the end of a hoe handle, and our service schools usually turn out by the thousands officers schooled in the manipulation, support, and direction of Armies, Corps, Divisions, Regiments, Companies, and Platoons. On these officers falls the burden of turning out, via the ATP, soldiers proficient in the manipulation, support, and direction of squads, sections, and THEMSELVES.

Service schools (for officers) are staffed with instructors who either have had personal experience in the areas in which they instruct, or who can at least draw on the wealth of recorded experiences of other officers who have successfully performed these duties.

The same cannot be said of unit (NCO) schools, or unit training. The Officers' Corps of the United States Army today is loaded with platoon leaders who never have dark, but less productive as a guide, himself some fine sunny day.

served as members of a ROAEE rifle platoon; Company Commanders who never have been either members of, or leaders of, rifle platoons; and so on up the line. Nor can we draw on a voluminous library of personal reminiscences as background material for realistic individual and (very) small unit training. Rifleman and squad leaders seldom "indite retrospectives." The wealth of practical battlefield experience of privates and non-coms is rarely unrecalled—in fact, virtually untouched.

14 Weeks, and What's It Get

Consequently, the individual and small-unit phases of the ATP wind up something like this: The recruit gets a whirlwind 16 weeks of unadmittedly unexciting, emerging with: A vague memory of the inter-relationships of some multi-faceted components of various weapons; A smattering of military terminology (much of it erroneous); Disjointed segments of a multiplicity of formulae (w or r equals m, wxy equals something expressed in thousands of yards); A vague idea of the difference between rifle fire and all of the agonizing postures and tactical demands of his line; And a vivid recollection of a seemingly-endless sequence of 16 weeks of days.

He already has crawled through barbed wire under machine gun fire, has had artillery fire delivered over his head, and has heard recordings of battle noises. He's ready, at the drop of a hat, to crawl under barbed wire and machine gun fire, has artillery fire over his head, or listen to battle noises.

Mercenary Wars

He's taken out into "the field" and run through a series of "squad leader" courses. His squad leader is given a terrain feature to attack, and comes the squad leader applies all of the principles of war and comes up with a pretty little Napoleonic maneuver of "single envelopment" (which seems to be preferred), that squad leader can expect a blistering critique and another run at the problem. ("And this time, sergeant, use fire and maneuver!") If the squad leader has "seen the elephant," he may try his squad off that "his ain't the way to do it. In combat—see the book away from this—this is fast training."

Chances are, however, even if he knows better, the squad leader isn't going to say anything about it. He has come to accept, as a phenomenon, peculiar to the Army, the paradox of practicing things the way you're not going to do them.

Or, and this is most likely the case today, the squad leader himself, encountering a clothline in the is in for one whole job of a school platoon leaders who never have dark, but less productive as a guide, himself some fine sunny day.

Streets, Range Named for Heroes

Two post streets and a firing range have been named for World War II Congressional Medal of Honor winners.

A special topographical board has officially announced that two streets in the School Brigade area and a firing range located in Alabama will bear the names of the late Lt. Harry J. Michael and Paul P. Rordan and Technical Fifth Grade Alfred L. Wilson.

Michael, a native of Chicago, Ill., for whom a street in the Brigade from housing area will be named, was killed in action near Medler, Germany in March, 1945.

While serving as a rifle platoon leader with the 118th Infantry Regiment, he quietly baited his men when he detected enemy troops. After discovering two machine guns, he surprised the enemy with a sudden charge which resulted in their capture.

28 Prisoners

During further reconnaissance into the thick woods, Lt. Michael led his men until they captured 38 prisoners, killed 12 men, wounded four and took three artillery pieces and 20 horses. He was killed by a sniper.

Another street running south from Marchant Street to Southeast of Building 202 will be known as Rordan Street in honor of a Lt. Rordan from Charles City, Iowa,

3d Recon Sets High Standard

Looking sharp in their olive drab uniforms, the 3d Recon Battalion Infantry Division, set a high standard during the week of Feb. 15 to 20, by obtaining several "superior" ratings, both in appearance and performance, for seven consecutive days as usually a "S" rating.

Co. C, of the 3d, had three of these superior ratings, and was put in full view to reach a position from which he threw a hand grenade into an enemy pillbox.

Later in the same area when his platoon could not get through a ring of enemy fire, he took an enemy position and saved his platoon from almost certain death.

Gen. Harper Speaks To Columbus Cadets

"If the U.S. lets its Army become obsolete, we might lose our country," recently assigned to the Military Police Company, Special Troops Command, the twins are currently undergoing a two week course in Military Police training.

Twin brothers, Edward and Edmond Fitzpatrick, are among personnel recently assigned to the Military Police Company, Special Troops Command.

They are currently undergoing a two-week training course in Military Police procedure before actually fulfilling the duties of Military policemen.

The twins, age 24, first entered the service in June, 1951. Following 16 weeks of training at Fort Dix, N. J., they were then assigned to Camp Kliment, N. J. In November, 1951, they were sent to Germany for occupation duty with the 428th Field Artillery Battalion.

The brothers were returned to the states in May, 1954, and were

Despite the fact that he was unable to speak above a whisper, Wilson persisted in saving at least 10 men until he lapsed into unconsciousness. The effects of his injury later caused his death.

Plaques or appropriate signs will be placed at each location and letters have been sent to the families of the men honored.

French Captain Talks on Legion

The first in a series of guest speaker programs took place in Special Troops Command, at the monthly officers' call held at the mess hall on Feb. 4, at 8 o'clock.

Captain Bernard P. Casamiray of the French Colonial Forces was the speaker for the occasion. He is presently assigned to the 2d Infantry Company, Special Troops Command.

His topic was the French Foreign Legion.

Capt. Casamiray served in the Legion for eight years with his units in Indo-China and North Africa as a platoon leader and as a company commander.

"The purpose of the talk was to give a better idea of the Legion which is active in areas having international status."

Capt. Casamiray told the officers that the Legion is a unique organization which is more often inspired than recruited. He mentioned the abundance of the various types of men in the Legion and the beliefs of a lot of naive people — even French — who are attracted to the Legion because of its romantic literature. "It true," he said, "the Foreign Legion would consist of a bunch of cheap gangsters and other desperadoes."

But Capt. Casamiray stated, "The most of them are men who are in a financial ruin, or a love-deception. Many enlisted just out of poverty."

Capt. Casamiray went on to explain the traditions, history, methods of enlistment, and the strenuous training and the strict discipline maintained in the Legion.

In closing his speech, Capt. Casamiray said, "As a human institution, its story is enlightening by a warm aura and it cannot leave unaffected a worthy man. Born out of hazardous circumstances, it has achieved an everlasting success and, for this reason, it is a matter of reflection and risk in instructive experience."

STC Loses Three Units

Two units of Special Troops Command were "deactivated" this month and a third was transferred to a new station.

The 3rd Ordnance Company, stationed here since May, 1954, departed the post on March 3 to assume its new mission of supporting the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell.

The 26th Transportation Bn. and the 32d Transportation Bn. were both deactivated here as of midnight, March 1.

Organized here in January, 1955, the 26th replaced the 131st Transportation Bn. which was returned to National Guard status last year. Subordinate units of the 26th have been attached to the Second Special Troops Detachment.

Also deactivated was the 32d Transportation Co., a unit which participated in the Luzon and the New Guinea Campaigns during World War II. In addition to being stationed here and at other camps throughout the United States, the 32d participated in many staff maneuvers such as Operation Target, Exercise Long Horn, Exercise Flambour and Exercise Follow Me.

Mal. Gen. R. G. Gard, deputy Third Army commander, will go to Korea in May to assume a top UN position there.

Washington announced today Gen. Gard will become advisor to the United Nations Command in the Korean Armistice Commission in Korea, to report there in May.

Gen. Gard has served as deputy Third Army commander since October 4, 1954.

Army Cooks Pull K.P. At Home, and Love It

Marry an Army cook and you've secured a "better-than-average" husband in the 26th Infantry Regiment, who are equal to "flour on the range" both in the company mess hall and the wife's kitchen.

Even though the food preparator practicing the culinary art during off-duty hours they find that it is a lot easier to be a hungry man than it is the "little woman" back home.

"One major problem is always encountered by those cooks in their dual roles, many of whom in the course of ten years, have helped prepare 1000 meals."

"I really had to give it up. Now I like to cook at home," answered. But when you get used to cooking 1000 meals a day, a time and your wife expects you to prepare only two of them, what can you do? You probably burn them. If you're not extra careful."

According to Sgt. Clans J. Hestley who happily cooks for his family of three in Phenix City, this is the biggest difficulty—adjusting from thinking from measurements of gallons, pounds and heaping tablespoons to tiny household quantities of cups, dashes and level teaspoons.

Also admitting to being his wife in the kitchen is Sgt. Jessie Hardy of Trion, Georgia.

"The 35 year old shift leader, however, feels it is no fair competition, what with nine years of Army experience and cooking for four growing children," assigned in the 26th Field Artillery Battalion, Sgt. Hardy even calls a certain breakfast food "crooked beef on toast."

How the cooks receive the army when it comes to giving advice. And in the domestic view, unfortunately, women lack enough to marry one of them, the military life to good cooking are passed on.

Sgt. Hestley, with twelve years of food service under his belt, has a solution to the common problem of cooks of food sticking to utensils.

Don't be a pre-processor, he says, scrubby away at the pot until it's clean, occasionally break the finish. Instead, he recommends, "add coarse water and a small amount of baking powder to your washing bolt and 'wash' it clean pot. Misses Dorothy S. W. Williams of Phenix City, Tennessee says "let taste and nutrition be your final guide."

CAESAR GRADUATES

Airborne class No. 8, composed of 141 officers and 80 enlisted men, will graduate March 8 in ceremonies at Camp Field.

On The Bookshelf

THE TRADE WIND ISLANDS, by Dane Chandos. (Doubleday, 256 pages).

For those of you who plan a trip through the West Indies, here is a perfect guide in the sketchbook, rich in anecdotes and fascinating views of the social and economic life of the islands. Description of visits to Havana, Jamaica, Haiti, Puerto Rico, and Trinidad help to make this a genuine delight.

MARS IN CAPRICORN, by Beverly Cross. (Little, 209 pages).

Alone and lonely in Manhattan, young Beverly Cross signed aboard a tramp steamer for a two-week trip which extended to six months. As a common seaman, he worked, fought, and lived with his shipmates in the fierce heat of the Gold and Ivory coasts. At four years' end, realizing that he had grown progressively brutalized, the narrator emerges disillusioned with his associates, but through a profound sense of guilt reverts to his belief in God. A book based on actual happenings in 1933 that need not be overlooked by anyone seeking a job on a freighter.

THE SOUND OF WHITE WATER, by Hugh Fobough. (Scriner, 196 pages).

Anyone who loves good writing and the oak of doors will find this a novel of strong appeal. Three men take a canoe trip down a river over hazardous rapids and along shore with more than 800 trades and careers, how to take advantage of the GI bill and training available for handicapped. The limitless opportunities of the men's lot are carefully brought to the attention of the reader.

On Sept. 22, 1867, at 8:35 in the morning, the first child with a tail was born. This was Ellen Smith, the noted caudocologist, describes the revolution wrought in his first society by the tail. Not only does he disclose the changes made necessary in home, industry, sports, and behavior, but also he gives instructive and vivid chapters on grooming, decorating, and other tail matters.

'Queen of Battle'

The Artillery and its independence as a supporting arm to the ground-gaining forces of our Army is dramatically portrayed in "Queen of Battle". You'll see company—via your radio—its Infantry platoon leader as he acts as forward observer in calling in artillery fire to destroy an enemy machine gun emplacement which has temporarily stopped his unit's offensive.

Produced by the Infantry Center, Public Information Office, this program is broadcast each Thursday at 10:00 p.m. over WRBL in Columbus. At 7:00 each morning over WRBL, listen to "Morning Briefs" for news of and about post personnel.

For music—from Sousa to Chopin—listen to WGMA in Columbus each Sunday at 12:15 p.m.

Nurses Aide Trainees Are Learning To Perform Many Duties In Wards

Reaching the halfway point in their Red Cross instruction program, Nurses Aide trainees at the U. S. Army Hospital are undergoing practical training.

After completing the intensive 60-hour course, the nurses aides will serve of the wards. They relieve the hospital load by performing such jobs as bedmaking, checking patient's temperature, pulse and respiration and general care of patients.

Twelve nurses aides, under the direction of Mrs. Renee Linton of Plainfield, N. J., wife of Col. William M. Linton of the Infantry School's Tactical Department, are now working at the hospital.

The Nurses Aide trainees, after 40 hours of classroom instruction from Mrs. Dorothy Pell, R.N., of Berkeley, Calif., wife of Lt. Col. Kenneth E. Pell of the Tactical Department, will put the lessons learned from the Red Cross Home Nursing Book to use on the wards.

An urgent need for nurses aides exists at the hospital and volunteers are asked to contact the Red Cross at 3727 or 3519.

Brat Barracks Is Remodeled

Brat Barracks (Bldg. 107) in the hospital area is undergoing a major remodeling.

Included in the remodeling will be painting of the main pool room, new curtains and many other minor improvements.

When completed, the renovated building will include two pool rooms, improved ping pong facilities, an attractive ballroom for dancing and a snack bar which will remain open daily after school and at other prescribed hours on weekends or during special events.

Col. John J. Tolson, president of the Youth Activities Club, pointed out that Brat Barracks played a pivotal role in the overall post youth planning picture and that YAC would continue to give maximum support to Brat Barracks.

Membership in Brat Barracks is open to teenage boys and girls of officers and enlisted men. All are urged to become members.

While general supervision of the barracks rests with a board of governors composed of parents, the teenagers have their own governing body of elected councils.

The present council includes: Bruce Green, president; Col. Dave Green, vice president; Mary Jean Cook, secretary-treasurer; Sharon Zinser, program chairman. This council plans, supervises

FRAN CLARKE
... Featured attraction with the Russ Carlyle Orchestra

Famed Orchestra Will Present Concert Here

The "romantic style of Russ Carlyle and his orchestra" will provide the musical setting for post personnel next week when he brings his internationally famous orchestra to the Main Post Theater at 7 p.m., March 14.

Carlyle is living proof of the old adage that "practice makes perfect." He has been practicing ever since he began to talk, as his mother was quick to note and encourage his natural aptitude for music. On through high school, Russ clung to a fervent desire to make a career of his voice.

His first break came when the popular Blue Barron heard him sing and offered him the highly coveted role of featured vocalist with his band. For six years, Russ sang with Blue, constantly observing the outstanding showmanship and devotion to producing satisfying music that made Barron so successful.

At Barron's suggestion, Russ decided to carve a name for himself in the orchestra world. Under his watchful guidance, Carlyle methodically selected a group of highly competent musicians, all experts in the field. After many tight rehearsals and the development of an original library of popular and semi-classical tunes, the band made its debut.

Success was almost immediate; his diligent efforts coupled with the popularity he had developed with his hosts of admirers gave impetus to his career. Before long he was appearing at many of the leading hotels and ballrooms.

729th MP Bn. in Japan during the Korean War.

led to further triumphs for Russ. His popularity grew to such bounds that he was rated the nation's fourth most popular vocalist in a poll taken by Billboard, the amusement publication.

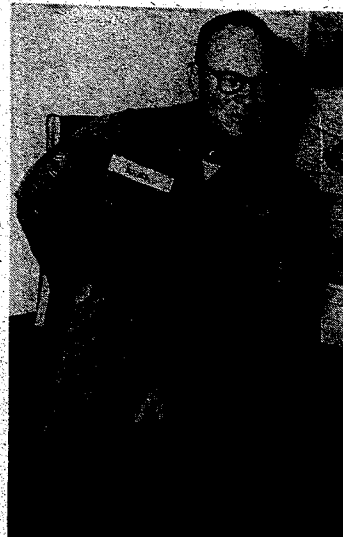

Now that he is well on his way, Russ intends to redouble his efforts to produce enjoyable music. He constantly searches for new methods by which to entertain his more firmly in the public eye and pursues his career with the same perseverance that he did at the beginning.

Admission is 50 cents and tickets are now available at the Recreation and Entertainment Office, Main Post Theater and Service Clubs.

FOUNDER'S DAY FETE
Lt. Gen. William H. Arnold of Chicago, Ill., Fifth Army commander, will be principal speaker at the U. S. Military Academy Founder's Day dinner March 16.

The annual affair will be held at 7 p.m. in the Main Officers' Mess. Reservations may be made with Capt. Field E. Shelton of the Infantry School's Operations Office.

WINS THIRD LOCKER
Quiter West, Co. A, 4th Student Bn., TSB, a veteran of 23 years service, recently won his third Locker when he was promoted to Master Sergeant. West served in CBI and Asiatic Theaters during World War II, and with the 729th MP Bn. in Japan during the Korean War.

JETHRO'S BROTHER

The shop's regular hours are from 3 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. To accommodate those who cannot visit the project at these times, hours each first Tuesday will be 9 a.m. to noon and 3 to 6 p.m.

Supply Classes For Signal Men
Army personnel from the Signal Center, Fort Monmouth, N. J., were scheduled to arrive here March 6 to conduct two one-week signal supply classes.

Lt. Joe Frisica and Richard Dillon and two enlisted men will direct the course. The mobile classroom will be in the Infantry School's Automotive Department area through March 17.

Approximately 40 Infantry Center supply officers and sergeants will attend the course which begins March 6. The second class will include 22 students.

'Pappy' Picks Bass 29th's Sfc Burns Is Ex-Hillbilly Star

BY BOB SHRA
Home and Jethro, famous country style band and presented cowboy and hillbilly music in an intelligent manner to soldiers all over Europe, the result would be tremendously popular.

He proved his point. His band, the "Time Twisters," averaged four personal appearances a week and their bi-weekly broadcasts on SFC Horace J. Burns' radio show "Aytchie," his buddies call him "Pappy," and the Army calls him "Pappy." Burns is a stack of fanny from German civilians 12 inches thick.

Today he asks, "Any guys who were over in Europe that had seen 'Time Twisters,' let me hear from 'Pappy.'" Burns is a bass fiddler, Master of Ceremonies, organizer, and inspiration for the band.

Born in Claxton, Ga., he was christened "Horace," a name which displeased him so much that he told everyone his name was "H. J." His schoolmates shortened this to "Aytchie," the name by which he has been known ever since.

That was back in 1937. Today, having served in the Army during World War II, he came back to civilian life in his first night in the Army with a group of long-faced fellow inductees. To cheer them up he completed "retread" training and is now permanently assigned to M Company, 29th.

In 1953, a European tour of duty gave "Pappy" Burns a chance to prove a theory he had always held. It was that if someone organized

BIOC No. 5 Hears Address By ROTC Chief

The challenge to build a strong Army Reserve ready to fight, if needed, with a minimum of post-organizational training, was discussed here March 3 by the Army's chief of Reserve and ROTC affairs.

Brig. Gen. Philip F. Lindeman stressed that in the event of crisis, we no longer have the time to train the civilian eye baffle.

Gen. Lindeman addressed more than 500 graduates of The Infantry School's officers class No. 5 in the Main Theater. He was introduced by Major Gen. Joseph M. Harper, Infantry School commander.

Floor graduates of the class were Lt. Lt. Alan A. Nord of Madison, D. C., Chaplain (Col.) Earl D. Campbell of 175 Chestnut Street, Milltown, N. J., delivered the invocation.

called out, "Come on now, boys, tell Pappy you're troubled." They did and the nickname stuck.

SFC Burns' proudest moment to date was when Major Gen. Harlan conducted a search for the country music balladmen in the field to accompany Miss Felti Page on two country style records.

They chose him to play bass fiddle on an upper bunk and

BEFORE AND AFTER. Modification of the M-48 tank of the Third Division's 84th Tank Battalion provides the man in the turret with increased protection and makes it much less likely that the machine gun will be knocked out by small arms fire. The modification consists of a turret on a turret, each moving independently of the other. The machine gun can be raised to an elevation of approximately 60 degrees and also has almost 20 degrees of depression. The picture at left is the tank before modification, at right, after.

CITED . . . Miss Margery M. Zettler of Columbus, secretary to the director of The Infantry School's Automotive Department, has been awarded an outstanding job performance rating. She was cited for superior performance on duties during the past year.

DA Announces New Policy For Separation of EM

New Army separation policies, for enlisted personnel, designed to increase readiness for atomic-age mobilization and to improve promotion opportunities for young career soldiers, have recently been adopted. The Department of the Army announced last week.

The program, similar to the new one affecting officers, will be accomplished primarily through retirement of personnel with more than 30 years service and those over 55 years old with 20 years service.

Army officials point out that the large numbers of men in the top enlisted grades, E-7 and E-8, remaining on active duty since the Korean conflict have caused virtual promotion stagnation at the top of the enlisted structure.

At the same time, reductions in strength have emphasized the need for young, capable leaders in the day's peace-time Army who are capable of playing a long-term role under mobilization.

Certain individuals whose performance is rated outstanding and others who are highly decorated will be exempted from the program.

In addition to the retirement features of the program, enlisted personnel of the Reserve component on active duty in grades E-6 and E-7 will be required to enter the Regular Army or be relieved from active duty.

Initial separations will not occur until December 31, 1956. DA stated that very few personnel would be affected in the first two years of the program because of the small number who have already reached the age and service criteria, and since a number of exemptions have been provided.

REEL ADULT . . . Margaret O'Brien, well-known child star, returns to the screen in her first adult role. She will be seen co-starring with Walter Brennan in the David Butler production, "Clory," to be distributed by RKO Radio.

32 Post MPs Graduate Today

Thirty-two students of the Military Police Basic School will complete training here today. The graduates will be integrated into the regular Infantry Center post patrol and traffic accident prevention marshal staff.

The School, which was begun Feb. 23, is unusual to the post since most military policemen attend the Provost Marshal General's School at Camp Gordon, Ga. before taking over MP duties.

The post students, however, are needed to bring the MP company up to strength and will go on the job with seasoned officers upon completion of their basic course.

The Operations Section of the Provost Marshal's Office is conducting the school, with officers commanding the school, Light Truck, a subsidiary unit of the 22nd.

WIN SILVER BARS

Two 23-year old officers of the 220th Transportation Battalion, Special Troop Command, received promotions to First Lieutenant last week.

They are 1st Lt. Thomas M. Wythrop Jr. of Royal Oak, Michigan, and Harley E. Rice of Columbus, Ohio.

Both officers are platoon leaders in the sixth Transportation Company (Light Truck), a subsidiary unit of the 22nd.

Post Officer Speaks On National Defense

The 1953 Reserve Forces Act makes another million "ready Reservists," a post officer told the Columbus Seftoma Club recently.

As part of the 32nd annual observance of National Defense Week, 1st Col. James H. Crickshank of New York City, president of the post chapter of the Reserve Officers Association, said that Reserve power has a key role in defense planning for the U.S.

Girl Scouts To Dedicate New Lodge

Hideaway Lodge, Post Girl Scout and Broyale camp, will be formally dedicated March 11 at an open house from 2 to 8 p.m.

The two-story building project was accomplished by volunteer workers from the 7th Engineer Battalion and Scouts' fathers. Material and equipment for the lodge was contributed by Daughters of the United States Army and the Post Women's Club.

The occasion will be initiated by the cutting of a green and yellow ribbon. Girl Scout colors, by Mrs. Joseph H. Harper, wife of the Infantry Center commander. The event is open to the public, according to Mrs. John L. Carson, Scout district chairman.

Parents of local Scouts and post and Third Infantry Division officials have been invited to the affair. Scout members and troop leaders will serve as hostesses and guides.

Exhibits of the Scout program will be displayed in the lodge and a fully equipped camp site near Hideaway will be shown the visitors.

"But Johnny," asked the lad's mother as she bathed the lumps on his head, "when that bad little boy threw rocks at you, why didn't you come and tell me?"

"Aw, Maw," he shrugged, "I wouldn't have done any good. You couldn't hit the side of a house."

RADIO GENIUS . . . Pvt. John Cozart, Jr., Columbus, Ga., broke all records at The Infantry School's Communications Department by scoring 25 out of a possible 28 superiors in the 18-week radio maintenance class No. 5, which graduated March 1. His class average was 98.8 per cent. Cozart, now assigned as an instructor in the Communications Department, is shown explaining the operation of a receiver-transmitter to a class.

CONGRATULATIONS

Pfc. Martin B. Raymond Jr. and his wife, Rita, are the proud parents of an eight pound, two ounce boy born at the post hospital on February 8. The new arrival has been named Michael Joseph. A supply clerk in the Special Troops Detachment, Pfc. Raymond and his family are residing in Cassette, Ga.

CIGARETTES ANYONE . . . A lovely cigaret girl indeed was Miss Betty Hueston, member of the Junior Army Daughters, when she made her appearance March 3 at the 49'er party, an annual charity affair sponsored by the Daughters of the United States Army.

29th Regt. Fete Postponed to Sat.

Last Saturday's celebration of the 29th Infantry Regiment's 55th Anniversary was postponed because of inclement weather and, instead, will take place this Saturday.

A NCO parade, display of equipment and outdoor athletic events will highlight the celebration for the "new nice" outfit organized on March 3, 1951 at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. The public is invited.

Jewish Center Sates Forum And Minyan

A minyanale service, gazela and lox brunch, and panel discussion will be held at the Jewish Religious Center March 11.

The service will begin at 10:30 a.m. A forum on "The Jew in the Community" will follow brunch to be served at 11 a.m. Mrs. Norman Goodman of Brooklyn, N. Y., will moderate the discussion.

COUNTRY CLUB EVENTS . . . The Post Country Club will hold a golf scotch-foursome on March 11. Reservations may be secured at the pro shop. There will also be a golf coffee for ladies at the Country Club March 21 at 10 a.m. No reservations are necessary.

Panel members are Capt. Leonard Acher of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Special Troops Command, Lt. Herman Schultz of Houston, Texas; U. S. Army Hospital, Mrs. Harvey Randall of Bronx, N. Y., and Mrs. Charles Shaffria of Philadelphia, Pa.

ENGINEER OF THE MONTH . . . Sp-3 Charles E. Foley of Co. C, 577th Engineer Bn. (Com) has been selected as Engineer of the month from the 151st Engineer Group (Combat). A letter of congratulations from the Group Commander, Colonel Louis E. Roth, reads in part: "Your military record in this command, your perseverance in the tasks assigned you, and the technical knowledge you displayed while accomplishing those missions resulting in an outstanding performance of duty during the past month, were the basis for your selection." Sp-3 Foley entered the service in October 1954 and took his basic training at Camp Gordon, Ga. He has been with the 577th since May 1955.

NEW EXEC

Lt. Col. Albert T. Stafford of Lawton, Okla., has assumed duties as executive officer of The Infantry Center Transportation Section. Col. Stafford assumed his new duties March 5, after serving in Korea with the Seventh Transportation Post Command at Pusan as director of operations later unit commander.

Of the Army's 688,000 civilian manufacturing plants and employees, one-fourth are in support construction fields as major employers of these civilians within the Army. The main emphasis at the Army Language School is on Russian, Korean, Mandarin Chinese and German. In addition to the school, the Army maintains two language detachments—"A" in Europe for teaching Russian, and "B" in Germany for teaching Japanese.

who almost took the 1855 flyweight title, also will encounter some rough opposition.

A visitor to the Tournament of Champions, who took the Rademacher championship boxing picture seen in this issue, was Bob MacDonald, who used to do the same sort of snugging for Special Services at Fort Benning. Bob was discharged a month ago. So far Rademacher leads the field as outstanding boxer in the tournament. We hope for more of same next-tomorrow night. Don't be surprised to find the names of all four boxers on the Army Olympic team.

By the way, as of today, the Army has 13 days to decide whether or not to enter punchers in the Luterioy bouts without headgear. The fights are in New York City March 31. Beginning next year, Chicago will also box all headgear. Same situation for the Olympics, somebody has got to make a decision somewhere—and pretty soon.

TIC Names Fund Officer

Capt. Charles B. Cartwright of Wilson, Ga., has been named funds officer of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning.

He succeeds Major Frank McCall of Charlotte, N. C., who also served as school officer. Major McCall has been assigned to the 2d Military Assistance Advisory Group in Germany.

Capt. Cartwright has been property and administrative officer of the Central Post Fund and the Post-Trust Fund since his graduation from the Infantry School's associate company officers course in June, 1952. He attended The Infantry School's associate officers advanced class in 1954.

After entering the Army in September, 1940, Capt. Cartwright served in the Field and the Post-Center during World War II. He received his officer candidate training at Fort Benning in March, 1943.

CANADIAN TO VISIT
The Canadian Army will be represented at the post Feb. 29-March 5 when Col. R. E. Macdonald arrives for a briefing on the Post-Center.

The director of armor for the Allied Army will confer with top officials, received briefings on unit activities, and visit post projects and facilities.

Ally Officers Tour Post This Week

Allied military officials from Paraguay, Portugal, Viet Nam and the Republic of Korea were scheduled to visit the post March 5-15 for meetings on "The Infantry School."

Arriving March 5 were Col. Lo Quang Trieu, military attaché from Viet Nam, and Lt. Col. H. C. Gomes of Portugal.

The Paraguayan Army's chief of staff, Major Gen. Mario Coscia, will visit here March 9-10 accompanied by Col. Justo B. Boveida, instructor in the Paraguayan Command and Staff College; Lt. Col. Hipolito Viveros, Plans and Operations Office, and U. S. Col. Angel P. Brito, tour director.

Five Republic of Korea Army generals will receive Infantry School orientations March 16-17. Included in the party will be Lt. Gen. Moon Bong Kang, ROK Second Army commander; Lt. Gen. Young Hi Choi, V Corps Commander; and Lt. Gen. Do Young Chang, ROK Army deputy commander for administration; Major Gen. Nam Kwam Pak, Second District Command chief; and Major Gen. Heung Jae Lee, commandant of the ROK Army's Infantry School.

NEW ARRIVAL
2nd Lt. Richard K. Schoock, Staff Aide, Adjutant Section, Special Troops Command, and his wife, Maryann, announced the birth of a son at the post hospital March 4th. The new arrival, who has been named Kenneth Richard, weighed in at an even eight pounds. Both mother and son were reported doing fine.

HONOR COOK GRAD . . . PFC Jerry W. Crutchfield of Dorris, Calif., is honor graduate of cooking class No. 13 at the Third Army Area Food Service School. He is assigned to the 52nd Engineer Company, 937th Engineer Group, Fort Campbell, Ky. PFC Crutchfield received a set of carving knives for replacing first in theory and practical cooking during the eight-week course.

standing what is expected of him in a defensive situation.

"But in an Army which subscribes to the principle of the offensive, we are missing the best in preparation those individuals whose efforts will provide the pay-off of an attack."

"We tell them (in FM 7-10) that the best reaction to enemy shell fire is to either run through it or run around the impact area. 'Safety lies forward.'"

"Then we tell them that the best reaction to enemy small arms fire is to 'hit the dirt.' 'You fire six seconds' and 'maneuver' it. Of the three terms, only one is readily understandable: 'hit the dirt.'"

"Just what complaint 'fire support' is, or a 'maneuver' is, is anyone's guess. Ask your squad leaders what you intend to do when you are in a defensive position. Can you defend it?"

"Every man in a white soldier with an inspiring mind will posit the question, '(usually, mumbled): 'What should I do if the enemy throws shell fire and small arms fire at me simultaneously? Should I dash forward through the shell fire? Should I dash forward or should I lie down and wait shooting at?' I can see anything to shoot at, and I can see whether the squad leader wants me to be in the line of fire element or the maneuver element."

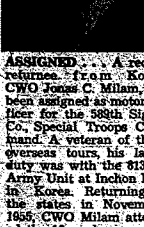

"Should he ever check sufficient courage to pose this question to his squad leader, his platoon sergeant, or one of his officers, the answer he gets will vary as to the experience, and backgrounds of the individuals concerned. There is no written doctrine."

"During the past two years, several times have appeared on the staff, such in the way, representing, respectively, the fact that something is lacking in our individual and small-unit training."

"Assault Rifle Drill" by Maj. Gen. Raymond Fry offers one solution to the problem. "Infantry Combat Training" by Lt. Col. Robert B. Riggs proposes another solution suggested by including a note of authenticity into training."

"Other entries in the field largely represent paraphrasings of Field Manual 7-10, "The Squad and Platoon" by the late Col. Frank T. Hathorn, and "Infantry Unit Leader's Guide" by Captain Mather and Major . . . You Pays For Money."

With the exception of Gen. Fry's book, all of the volumes listed

ASSIGNED . . . A recent returnee from Korea, CWO James C. Milam, has been assigned as motor officer for the 58th Signal Co., Special Troops Command. A veteran of three overseas tours, his Infantry duty was with the 312nd Army Unit at Inchon Port in Korea. Returning to the states in November, 1945, CWO Milam attended the 10-week course at the Automotive Maintenance School at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland, before reporting here last week. He graduated from the course at Aberdeen as top man in the class.

Nine Attend Arctic School

Nine post officers were selected to attend the Army's Winter Arctic Instruction Field Exercises at Fort Greeley, Alaska, which began March 4.

Attending the 40-day course on everything from air training to cross-country snowshoe marching were: Capt. Harold R. Hale of the Huntington, Ind., Infantry School Ranger Department, and Major Roger W. Bogar of the 1st Infantry, U.S. Army, Aviation Department, Fort Bragg, N.C.

Also attending are: Capt. Richard Duke of East Gate, Fla., Continental Army Command Board No. 3, William F. Henson of Louisville, Tenn., 1st Engineer Group, Johnny W. Brodeur of Royalton, Ill., 313 Field Artillery Battalion, Edwin W. Chamberlain of Alexandria, Va., Weapons Department, and William E. Mouray of Byron, Minn., Staff Department.

Also at Lt. William S. Wilkins of Seattle Wash., School Brigade, and Capt. Robert C. Mackay of Tom, Ky., Weapons Department.

Geared toward providing extensive training in military operations under arctic conditions, the course includes problems on survival, mountaineering, tactics, techniques and logistics.

Students will be instructed in handling sleds, making and breaking in an igloo, hunting and fishing and operating Infantry weapons in cold weather.

RESTRICTIONS EASED

Restrictions fixed by prior foreign leave have been eased for top officers desiring to volunteer for duty in the Far East, the Army has announced.

Enlisted men in grades E-4, E-5, E-6 and E-7 now may request assignment in the Far East Command at any time regardless of the area of their previous overseas service under a recent change in AR 63-8.

Foreign service requests must be made in writing through channels.

Results of Seattle, Wash.

On the second night of the boxing, Bobby Handolph of Tennessee lost a decision to Robert Jackson of Tulsa, Okla. Ed Crook won a disqualification over Dennis Stetler of Las Vegas and then TKO'd Jim Sargent of Peoria, Ill., in the third round.

Jim Boyd knocked out Leroy Bogar of Minneapolis in the first round and then rebounded from a knockdown in the second fight to push off Robert Stevens of Tulsa in 40 seconds of the third stanza.

Boyd's bout against Bogar was one of the most hard-packed of the evening. Bogar opened aggressively but Boyd unyielded, catching a first round TKO over Jim Kim on the chin with a left and a right, and another hard right. Bogar landed flat on his back. He tried to get up at eight but fell back and remained unconscious for several minutes.

Boyd had more trouble winning his second fight.

Near the end of the first round he staggered Kim with a right and sent him canvasward for an eight count. He came back and landed his championship punch, the tremendous right. In the third Boyd came out, threw a left and a right and Stevens was on the canvas and out in 36 seconds.

Rademacher scored a TKO over Billy Smith of Memphis in his second round. Then he completed his hard-fought career over St. Louis' Ben Barkan, a finalist.

Present Trend Could Mean 70 Auto Deaths in '56

The American had a record for safety last year. It was the best in the world. The number of deaths per 100 million miles driven was 1.7. This is a record for any country in the world. It is a record that should be maintained and improved upon.

But there is a danger. The present trend could mean 70 auto deaths in '56. This is a dangerous prospect. It is a prospect that should be avoided. It is a prospect that should be prevented.

The reason for this is simple. The number of cars on the road is increasing. The number of miles driven is increasing. The number of accidents is increasing. The number of deaths is increasing. This is a trend that is dangerous. It is a trend that is alarming. It is a trend that is terrifying.

What can be done to prevent this? The answer is simple. We must improve our cars. We must improve our roads. We must improve our drivers. We must improve our laws. We must improve our education. We must improve our safety.

It is our duty to do this. It is our duty to protect ourselves. It is our duty to protect our families. It is our duty to protect our country. It is our duty to protect our future.

'Ye Pater Discontinued
Because of other commitments by the writer, 'Ye Pater's column will be discontinued as of a regular feature of the program.

The weekly column was discontinued when 'Ye Pater was called to the United States Army. It was a column that was popular and well-read. It was a column that was a source of information and entertainment. It was a column that was a part of the community.

The writer is grateful for the support and interest of the readers. He hopes to return to the column at a later date. He is sure that the readers will be glad to see him again.

Lawson to Get New Hangar

The William Greathouse Co. has been awarded a contract for a new hangar for the Lawson Army Airfield. The hangar will be a large and modern structure. It will be used for the storage and maintenance of aircraft. It will be a valuable addition to the airfield.

The hangar will be built on a site that is well-located and well-served. It will be a source of pride and a source of strength. It will be a symbol of progress and a source of inspiration.

Women In Cavalry Make Old Boots Cry

Old 'boots' in the Far East shed a tear in their beer recently as they witnessed the ultimate—women in the U.S. Cavalry.

A daily sight on crowded Tokyo streets are WAC's wearing the patch of the Fighting First U.S. Cavalry Division, the unit which won widespread respect in Asia for the way they slugged their way in from "down under," first in a dozen nations and first into Tokyo at the end of World War II.

"It's sacrifice, that's what it is to let girls wear the old patch," says an old soldier who can remember when a P. Riley platoon was policed with a fork.

"What's the cavalry here?" Actually, the cavalry here's gone to the ladies. A series of withdrawals of tactical headquarters units has left the First Cavalry as the only tactical unit left in Japan.

As such Division Headquarters also became headquarters for scores of housekeeping groups in the Far East. The WACs, being attached to these units, thus won the right to wear the big yellow patch.

REPRESENTATIVE FOOT—Norman M. Evans of Columbus, Ga., Infantry Center safety officer, served as a guest member at the 17th Annual Southern Safety Conference March 4-6 in Atlanta. Evans represented the post in the Federal portion of the 14-state meeting.

A WHALE OF A TALK—M-Sgt. Richard E. Boyer keeps a zoo in his office at Combat Training Command. The animals, however, aren't the wild variety but are the ones featured on the current series of Department of Army re-enlistment posters. According to the 45 year old re-enlistment sergeant who comes from Champaign, Ill., there's a lot of good horse sense in the "white bird" re-enlisters. He illustrates this by pointing to his bulletin board zoo telling the tale of a polio-tee who gets a whale of a bonus check, wins more stripes (tiger), and builds a bigger nest egg (rabbit) while protecting security and income (porcupine) and acquiring an education (owl).

Bids Invited For Construction

Invitations to bid on construction of new barracks on the post will be sent to contractors this week by the Savannah District Corps of Engineers.

The invitations are in connection with the building of new bachelor mess quarters and enlisted men's barracks.

The BOQ will be the fifth such building to be located behind the Main Officers' Mess. A fourth BOQ is currently under construction in the same area.

The enlisted men's barracks will be built in the south area, near the Sandy Patch Continental Army Command Board No. 2 buildings. Called one-company barracks, the unit will be made of concrete and concrete block and will be complete with mess hall. The project is similar to the Kelly Hill barracks on First Division Road according to Charles B. Koeller of Columbus, project engineer for the Savannah District.

REUP'S POUR—SPC W. H. Gay, recruiting NCO of 3rd Recon Bn., re-enlisted four men last month for a total of 24 years, and a bonus of $2,867. Last month's re-enlistees were SFC Frederick D. Ray, SFC William P. Harkin Jr., Sgt. William J. Daniels and Cpl. William H. Robbins, all members of 3rd Recon Bn.

Post Sets Date For Automobile Re-registration

Re-registration of privately owned vehicles here will begin March 18 and virtually all car owners will be affected by the program which continues until May 31.

Vehicle owners, except those who have the post before change of station orders will not be affected.

The re-registration program will result in a change from metal post tags to a stick-a-tag.

Infantry Center postmaster officials said re-registration would be implemented by scheduling units for vehicle inspections as specified days. Dates that units may have vehicles inspected will be announced later.

Vehicles will be required to be inspected prior to re-registration, except 1956 models.

HONOR GRADUATE—SP3 Ralph L. Spates of Jacksonville, Fla., has been selected honor graduate of Infantry Center Quartermaster meeting class No. 2 which graduates March 10. SP3 Spates graduates first in a class of eight future Army postmasters.

Detective Nabs His Man, Who Is $20 Richer

An unidentified Post soldier is $20 richer because Columbus police found his man. Sgt. Moore always finds his man.

Detective Moore saw the soldier drop the bill in a downtown business establishment Mar. 1 but the soldier left before Moore could pick up the money and return it.

The officer finally located the soldier's identity Mar. 3 and left the $20 with military police to return to the lucky soldier.

COMMENDED—Sgt. Joseph H. Butler, former operations sergeant in the 55 Section, STC, received a letter of commendation from Col. Henry M. Zeller, STC CO, last week. Sgt. Butler, who served for approximately two years in STC, has been reassigned to Europe.

ATTENDS COURSE—An Infantry Center Quartermaster Section employee is attending a 30-day course at the Quartermaster School at Fort Lee, Va. Norris E. Holloway of Columbus,

Units Look To Summer ROTC Plans

A pre-camp planning conference for approximately 1,200 ROTC students scheduled to take summer training here, will be conducted March 25-26.

Scheduled to attend are Third Army and Infantry Center representatives, members of the post USAR-ROTC planning staff and Col. Raymond W. Radwin, professor of military science and tactics at Wofford College in Spartanburg, S. C., deputy commander of the 1956 ROTC encampment.

Cadets from 28 institutions in the Third Army area and Puerto Rico will begin arriving prior to June 25, opening date for summer training.

According to Major Emmet D. Lyles of Orlando, Fla., ROTC planning staff S-1, the state of Indiana also will be represented at this year's summer camp.

Celebration of the 29th Infantry Regiment's 55th Organization Day was an outdoor event on Saturday. Originally scheduled for March 3, the event was postponed one week because of rain. An NCO parade, presentation of awards and decorations, and sport competition were the order of the day for the "two niner" organization. Demonstration highlights were the scout dog obedience tests, the Queen Anne's salute by an Honor Guard drill team and a static display of equipment including reveille "race." The idea was to get undressed down to bathing trunks and T-shirt, run like crazy for 100 yards and then dress again, down to lacing up your boots to the last hole. When this is all done, you stand tall as though for "reveille."

Birthday Celebration

Call Issued For Players For Symphony

Plans are being formulated to organize a Post Symphony Orchestra. The purpose of such a group will be to stimulate music appreciation and to afford all Army personnel, civilians and Army dependents the opportunity to participate in a cultural project to further their musical knowledge and add to the prestige of the Post in the field of better music.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Benjamin J. Cortese, presently assigned as commanding officer and bandleader of the 283rd Army Band.

All civilian personnel, Army dependents, enlisted and Officer personnel who have had musical training are urged to contact Mr. Cortese at 2-5209 or Columbus 7-8174.

The age limit for participation as members is restricted to persons 16 years of age and over.

If you have played a string, reed or brass or percussion instrument during your High School or College days you are urgently requested to join this worthwhile and educational project.

'Gentle' Guns Let's Prepare Alice For Action—Okeh?

"Anna's carriage is very good!" "There is nothing wrong with Angelina's carriage, either." "Abigail is well equipped for action." "All I can say is Alice is different from any model I know."

This is the kind of talk going on around Btry. A, 10th P.A. Battalion these days, and they aren't discussing the wife or girl friend but something equally dear to the heart of an artilleryman — their weapons, the 105 mm. howitzers.

In line with a new Battery policy of naming the howitzers with girls' first names using the Battery designation, this Division unit now calls its six howitzers Anna, Alice, Abigail, Angelina, and Angelina.

Each section chose its weapon's name and there's a story for each of them.

The chief of the first section, Sgt. Francisco Cortez "dix," introduced the name of his first howitzer, "Anna. The section thought it a pretty one and adopted it.

The second section chose a name they thought "gentle": Anna. They wanted a name to match their howitzer's gentility.

Alice is the name given by the third section's gunner, Col. R. J. Bradley, PFC Allen D. Crockett of the fourth section spoke up for Abigail. "Abigail," he said, "I think is the name of a horse. But nevertheless our Abigail is as pretty as any thoroughbred and performs even better. She is fast on the road, and is guaranteed to come in first."

The fifth section named their howitzer Angelina after hearing a vivid description of the real Angelina from PFC Alfred J. Garcia, the state of the chief of the sixth section was picked for the name of their weapon. The name is Angelina.

"It has all proven very good," says SFC Miguel Lopez, chief of firing battery. "You should see the response when I say something like 'Let's prepare Alice for action.'"

Sfc. Marcelo, 493rd Band, Writes 'Band Center March'

Personnel participating in the mass sergeant and first sergeant races and ceremonies here may soon be marching to the cadence of a new march. The march is the product of Sfc. Marcelo, a 55-year-old sergeant first class now playing with the 493rd Army Band.

Inspired by the fame of The Infantry Center and by the facilities available for musical performance, Sfc. Marcelo wrote the new march to portray these facts. He stated that for the first time in his long musical career, he has witnessed here three bands being housed in the same building. Appropriately dubbed "The Band Center March," the production is dedicated to the Band Center.

To make debut

Composed and arranged for a full band, the march will soon make its debut on "The Bryant-Columbus," a weekly radio program broadcast over 21 stations throughout the Third Army area. The march represents the second attempt Sgt. Marcelo has made at composing and arranging a musical score. He produced the "First Progress March" prior to World War II while serving with the 57th Infantry Regiment Band in the Philippines.

Sgt. Marcelo began his musical career at the early age of 17. Following instructions by his uncle, he played clarinet with his hometown band and the Philippine Symphony in Manila until he enlisted in the service at Fort William McKinley in 1925.

During World War II, he served as a battalion supply sergeant, a

General Stuart Speaks to OC's

The U.S. could become deeply involved in perhaps the most dangerous war we have ever been called on to fight, Brig. Gen. Archibald W. Stuart said here March 7 in a graduation address to 80 members of officer candidate class No. 3 in the Main Theater.

The Pennsylvania Military District commander said that we must do everything possible to avoid a shooting war with the Communists. He challenged the graduates to realize that they can play a major part in protecting the U.S. from a shooting war by seeking to become exceptional leaders of their respective units.

Gen. Stuart was introduced by Major Gen. Joseph E. Harper, Infantry School commandant.

NEW MARCH . . .

Allied Party Tours Post

The Paraguayan Armed Forces chief of staff, Major Gen. Mario Goccia, arrived here March 8 for a three-day orientation on Infantry School activities.

A 17-gun salute greeted him upon his arrival at Lawson Army Air Field where he received an honor guard staged by troops from Hq. Hq. Co. 28th Inf. Regt. The 28th Army Band provided the music.

A visit with Major Gen. Joseph E. Harper, Infantry School commandant, followed a series of training problems, received briefings on training and toured the Third Army training site display.

Post Youth To Play In Miss. Concert

Ten-year-old post pianist Tommy Salisbury will appear as guest soloist with the Mississippi Youth Symphony March 17 in Jackson.

The youthful virtuoso will play Haydn's "Concerto in D Major" with the orchestra.

The son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. L. R. Salisbury of Spokane, Wash. Tommy began playing the piano at the age of four and gave his first recital when he was eight. He was auditioned for the Mississippi Symphony appearance at the suggestion of Mrs. Helen Carter of Montgomery, Ala., public school music supervisor.

Tommy performed a joint concert with his music teacher, Jonathan Bowers of Columbus. It is a recital when he was eight. He was auditioned for the Mississippi Symphony appearance at the suggestion of Mrs. Helen Carter of Montgomery, Ala., public school music supervisor.

Mission Jobs Open For Certain MOS's

Qualified enlisted men holding certain MOS's are urged to apply for assignment to military missions and air groups in all parts of the world, according to a Department of the Army message.

MOS's open include: 611, 331, 224, 712, 511, 611, 413, 241, 372, 411, 411, 703, 101, 101, 200, 200, 211, 703, 603, 101, 023, 411, 211, 123, 703, 703, 703 and 711.

Gen. Harper Slated To Speak at YMCA

Major Gen. Joseph E. Harper, Infantry Center commandant, is scheduled to address a luncheon meeting March 30 at the Columbus Armed Forces YMCA.

He will speak to the YMCA's management committee as well as a number of military and civic officials invited to the annual program.

Gen. Harper will discuss the scope and influence of Armed Forces YMCA activities at the post and what they have meant to thousands of servicemen who participate in its versatile program.

Casey Award Presented 4th Bn. Sgt.

On March 10, the fourth annual Hugh R. Casey Memorial award was presented to Sgt. Robert A. Blandman, Co. D, 4th Infantry, for his service as a rifle company sergeant.

Sgt. Blandman received a bronze, mahogany-finished plaque with the inscription "7th Infantry Centered in Soldier for the year of 1954." In addition to this he received a George S. Patton automatic desk set.

The presentation was made by Colonel H. L. O'Connor, Jr., Commanding Officer of the 7th Infantry Combat Command, at a special review on Tiger Field.

Special orders read during the ceremony commended Sgt. Blandman for his all-around performance and devotion to duty as a member of the 7th I.C.C.

Sgt. Blandman is a platoon sergeant in Co. D.

ONE OFFICIAL VISITS

Frederick R. Boland, need and reintegration specialist from the Quartermaster General's Office in Washington, D. C., will arrive here March 30. Boland's one-week visit will be in connection with the Quartermaster Section's Central Most Caring Plant activities and reintegration facilities.

A stranger called at the village post office for a registered letter. "You'll have to offer some proof of your identity," said the clerk. The stranger drew a photograph from his pocket and handed it to the clerk, who looked at it and then at the man. "Yep, that's you all right. Here's your letter."

Tennis Stars Appear March 21

Jack Kramer brings his $25,000 tennis troops to Briant Walls Tennis House next Wednesday, March 21 at 8 p.m.

Four of the biggest names associated with championship tennis constitute the organization with Pancho Gonzales, Tony Trabert, Rex Hartwig and Pancho Segura featured.

Gonzales, who is way ahead of Trabert in their singles matches on this tour, has a serve that has been measured at better than 100 miles per hour. This hotly-contested matches pit Gonzales, world professional champion, against Trabert, world amateur champion.

In the preliminary, Hartwig, world's top amateur doubles netman, meets Segura, the hard-hitting Ecuadorian with a famed two-handed forehand.

Gonzales and Segura face Trabert and Hartwig in the two-out-of-three doubles event. The latter pair recently won the ideal amateur doubles combination in the 1953 record of these players is amazing. Trabert, for example, achieved the following in the one year:

Received U. S. Tennis Writers Association Award with Vic Seixas as for "distinguished service to tennis in 1954" after recapturing

Post Trackmen Start Workouts for Meet

Track and field competitors on post began workouts this week in preparation for the post track and field meet April 19-21.

Beneficial barriers will have approximately one month in which to attain the conditioning necessary for the post meet. Meet events will be held some time during the period prior to the post competition. Units that will participate in the competition include School Brigade, Special Troops Command, 7th Medical Group, U. S. Army Hospital, Board No. Three, Combat Training, Company and Infantry School Detachment, Third Division Artillery, Third Division Special Troops, 7th Infantry Command, 15th ICC, 20th ICC and the Lawson Army Air Field Command.

Track and field teams that enter the tourney are not to exceed six men, plus an officer-in-charge and one coach, according to Sam Roberts, TIC sports supervisor.

Members of the post team will be selected by the various coaches.

ASSIGNED

WO 4 Hiram W. Williams has been assigned to Headquarters and Services Co., 27th Engineers, 2d (Cons.) as the battalion's equipment and maintenance officer. A native of Newnan, Ga., WO Williams served with the 24th Inger. Ba. (Cons) before coming here.

Doughboy League 3 Cage Teams Have Perfect 8-0 Records

The Raiders, Warriors and Royals continued in championship form as the post Doughboy Boys' Basketball League finished another week of play March 10.

The three quintets have perfect 8-0 records. The Raiders dominated the Red group, the Warriors lead the White and the Royals have the blue.

Scores of games follow:

Softball Teams Begin Practice

Unit level softball teams began practice in early March for the opening of the softball season during the first week of this month.

Winners in each league will be eligible to compete in the TIC Softball Championship, July 30 to Aug. 4. The winners of the TIC championship participate in the Third Army meet at Fort McPherson, Ga., Aug. 13-18.

Organizations expected to field leagues and participate in the TIC tourney are School Brigade, Special Troops Command, 5th Medical Group, U. S. Army Hospital, Combat Training Command, Infantry School Detachment, Third Division Artillery, Third Division Special Troops, 7th Infantry Command, 15th ICC, 20th ICC, and Lawson Army Air Field Command.

OC To Make Try For '56 Olympic Team

An aspiring 1956 Olympic champion, Officer Candidate George E. VanMeter of the 1st OC Company, 5th Student Battalion, TSB intends to enter the trials in California in October.

OC VanMeter's sport is bicycling. He has been an avid cyclist since his grammar school days. The "spokesman" has competed against the best amateur cyclists in both short distance and cross country racing.

He has twice won the Missouri state championship, placed in the National Junior Championship race in 1948 and won fourth place in the National Championship race in 1953.

At the Olympic cycling trials, VanMeter expects to enter all cycling events, including his favorite, the 100-mile cross-country race. This event requires extraordinary stamina, since it is normally completed in less than six hours without rest breaks. During this grueling event, even those in the best physical condition usually lose at least five pounds.

The racing bicycle weighs only 30 pounds, but the tires carry a pressure of 130 pounds a square inch. OC VanMeter is a native of St. Louis, Missouri. He was graduated from Lewis and Clark College (University in Nashville, Tennessee) in 1954, receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology. He enlisted in the Army in 1953 and took basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Army Star Inks Pro Club Pact

First Lt. George Morris of Vicksburg, Miss., presently ranked as the greatest center in Georgia Tech history, has signed to play pro ball with the San Francisco 49ers.

The lieutenant serves as commander of Company B, 78th Signal Engineer Combat Group. During his Army service, which began in June, 1953, Lt. Morris made All-Army with the powerful Fort Belvoir squad and coached the Seventh Division team in Korea to a 7-1 record. He has not played football since arriving here in November, 1953.

During his senior year at Georgia Tech, the six-foot, two-inch, 210-pounder was co-captain and won All-America honors as a line-backer. He was named to the All-Southeastern Conference.

In 1953, Morris played in the College All-Star game against the Detroit Lions. Last year, he was elected a member of Georgia Tech's All-time Sports Hall of Fame. Coach Bobby Dodd called him, "the greatest lineman I ever coached."

The lieutenant, who will be 25 years old March 19, is due for June discharge and is expected to join the 49ers immediately for play in the National Football League during the 1954 season.

RECENTLY PROMOTED

The 2nd Bn. (Prov.) has four promotions to the top three grades this week, including one to master sergeant. Promoted to sergeant was Ray L. Wacior, 1st Sgt. of D Co. Also promoted were Wilcox F. Burgess to sergeant and Mark Torres and Gus T. Groce to specialist second class.

2 Setters Cop Trial Honors For McDaniel

Sport and Knight of Essig, two setters owned and handled by a post officer, captured the top honors in two events during the sport trials staged by the Georgia-Alabama Sportsman's Club in Columbus.

Owned by Capt. Robert L. McDaniel of San Antonio, Tex., publications written in The Publications and Visual Aids Department.

TOURNEY POSTPONED

The mixed Scotch (two-ball) golf tournament slated last Sunday was postponed until Sunday, March 14. Col. John J. Tolson, tournament chairman, announced the postponement. Heavy rains prevented the monthly affair to be played last week as originally planned.

As usual, play will be in eight-omes, and all players are urged to get their entries in early. Play is scheduled to begin at noon.

Sport wrapped up a place in the Member's Gun Dog Trials, which is a test of a dog's best-finding abilities. Knight took third in the Shooting Dog Trials, a test of range, style, handling and bird-holding.

Another post officer, Capt. Kyle W. Bowie of Lynchburg, Va., is signed to Continental Army Command Board No. 3, saw his dog Leo, a liver and white pointer, run a good course but fall in the mud.

TO FOUR POSTS

Approximately 60 Columbus Cub Scouts and den mothers will tour the post March 16, where they will witness two training projects. The Scouts and sponsors are from Pack No. 58. The group will arrive at 1 p.m. to observe a 3.5-mm rocket launcher problem and an Infantry tank team in attack demonstration.

Benner Still Top Pistolman in U. S.

McSgt. Hubert M. Benner, the championship race was Marine Lt. William W. McMillan, Harris Island, S. C., with a 2688 aggregate, compared to Benner's 2613 aggregate.

Benner has now won the individual championships six times—1949, 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954 and 1955.

McSgt. Benner took three of the nine major championships at the matches. He was the following: 26 caliber center fire aggregate, the center-fire aggregate, and the National Mid Winter Individual Championship.

All told, the Army won six of the nine major titles. Besides the Benner three titles, the U. S. Army Team, with Benner as anchor man, won the .22 caliber team, 1st caliber team and Mid Winter Team Championships.

1st Lt. David Carter, 11th Rep. Co., Ft. Campbell, Ky., was a member of the U. S. Army Team.

Of 26 match titles in the events, the Army took 13. Army shooters also won nearly 45 percent of the individual and team awards in the 1954-55 season, where it has participated in 25 out of the matches, 15 individual demonstrations.

The young organization is commanded by Capt. Millard F. Reece.

27th Observes 10th Birthday

The 27th AAA Battery celebrated its 10th Organization Day March 14.

During the Open House day, families of officers and enlisted men inspected the battery area and were served coffee and doughnuts in the mess hall.

The 27th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battery was activated at Fort Monroe, Va., March 14, 1946. After assignment with USCARBIB the unit was transferred here on April 16, 1951, where it has participated in the 1954-55 season, where it has participated in 25 out of the matches, 15 individual demonstrations.

The young organization is commanded by Capt. Millard F. Reece.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN
PERTINENT PROFILES ON A COUPLE OF CHAMPIONS

Jim Boyd was 1955 All-Army and Interservice Heavy-weight Champion. He credits most of his ring skill to Larry Jones, trainer with the Doughboys. Other boxers call Boyd "the best Amateur light heavy in the country today." Oddly-shaped for his weight class—spindly-legged and flat-chested. Owns power in a sharp right hand and possesses a left designed for body torture. Constantly outthinking his opponent. Sets up his victims with a feint, jab or other move—then the kill. Excellent counter-puncher. . . Likes to laugh and have good time. . . Light-headed out of the ring but dead serious as a student of boxing. . . Knows when and how to train.

Ed Crook took the All-Army title in 1964 and was runner-up in 1955. Defeated Willy Russell, last year's All-Army champ, in semi-finals of this year's Gloves. Speed is his greatest asset, not only in boxing but also in baseball and football. Quick with his hands and hits with power. Throws best punches with right hand, but just as adroit with left. Good-looking boy. . . of a generally serious nature. . . He studies boxing in earnest. Like Boyd, enjoys playing poker. About to be sent to European assignment, and was not sure if he could finish Tournament of Champions before his orders came through. Hopes to rejoin his Benning friends on next Olympic boxing squad.

Despite his loss in the semi-finals to Solomon McTire, Pete Rademacher was chosen to accompany McTire to Madison Square Garden March 21 to represent Chicago heavyweights in the Intercity. For Pete, Boyd and Crook, however, the trip will never come off. Department of the Army remains firm in its ruling that soldier boxers must wear headgear in all but international competition. New York City says otherwise. The Benning boxers stay at Benning.

Possibly the Army is trying to keep its boxers out of such tournaments as the Golden Gloves. But maybe the Army is the victim of high-pressure promoters bound to turn up in such tournaments. If that is the reason, we can sympathize.

Cannot understand Rademacher's loss to McTire. Impartial observers agree that Pete took both the first and third rounds. He fell only to his knees when knocked down in the second round for a three-count and one of the judges even called that round even!

Despite his loss, the lieutenant received a lot of publicity. (Please See JOURNEY, Page 17)

Hook, Lying and Sinker Wildlife Officer Bid Goodbye With Fish Fry

BY JOHN GAUSE

Lt. Robert M. Miller returned to his native Montana last Friday to resume a job he held before entering the Army. The officer in charge of Fish and Game at Fort Benning will be missed.

As a going away tribute to the young wildlife expert, fellow Range Guards tossed a giant fish fry, which proved quite an affair and was enjoyed by approximately 80 Guards, wives and children.

Mr. Miller will enjoy his "Mr." only briefly before assuming the name of Game Warden Miller in Montana.

Post game authorities are still concerned that some dogs are being allowed to run at night. Dog owners are asked to keep their animals off the nocturnal trails. Some dogs just can't tell what's in season and when.

But it's understandable why hunters like to take their charges out in the field at night—or anytime. It's almost an obsession—a sheer craving—to hear a good mutt giving "tongue."

SFC Calvin Rhodes, almost eleven pound bass is yet to be challenged as King's Fund record. Any argument?

It is reported that 63 guineas have been turned loose on the reservation. The goal is 500, but some difficulty has been met in obtaining enough birds. M-Sgt. John Myler, Range Guard chief, is asking anyone knowing the whereabouts of birds to contact the Fish and Game office.

Offered price for the birds is one dollar per head.

The first class of the 15th Infantry Combat Command's NCO school, held its graduation ceremonies at the Division Conference Room at Sand Hill March 11. The school, directed by Division Headquarters in conjunction with the Department of Army Policy Program, took senior NCO's who were surplus administrative and service-type MOS's, and trained them for qualification in combat MOS's.

This is the first such NCO school organized to meet the needs of this new training program in the division.

The graduation speech was given by Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zierath, assistant division commander. Presentation of awards and certificates were made by the division.

Col. Foley Assumes Post Hospital Job
Lt. Col. James M. Foley of Columbus, Ohio, has assumed duties as deputy post surgeon here.

He was chief the Outpatient Department of the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Meade, Md., from December, 1954, until coming to The Infantry Center. Col. Foley succeeds Lt. Col. Marcus B. Finner of Cleveland, Ohio, who has been assigned to the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark.

'Roughing It' Is Old Story To OC Holly

A former forester, graduate of the New York State Ranger School, is now an officer candidate. He is Lt. Colonel R. G. Holly of the 53rd OC Company, TSB. Holly was a timber surveyor for a while in California, but later accepted a position with a forest consultant in New York, and became chief surveyor for a New York paper company.

This position involved a long-range survey of 57,000 acres of virgin timber land in the Adirondack Mountains. Estimates were made of the volume of timber, the species present, the condition of the timber, and the topographic conditions affecting the logging and the transportation of the lumber from the area.

An eight-man team entered the area with tents and supplies, prepared to remain there for one year. Further supplies were air-dropped to them.

Several times they failed to receive supplies, and were obliged to maintain themselves by catching small game and even an occasional deer.

Third Division Sports

BY KAL WAGENBLEN

3rd Division Sports Editor

DivArty sat abouly in its first place position in the Marine Baseball League last Friday night while its four underlings 'ought it out for better ratings.

In Friday's action the 30th I.C.C. topped the 7th, 90-66. By a 60-52 count while in the other game of the twill-bill an improved 15th I.C.C. quill-let came from behind to edge Division Troops, 82-70.

On Wednesday afternoon DivArty raised its league leading record to an unblemished 4-0 as Bill Hamman and Jim Horsley led them to a 91-86 rampage over the 30th. In the other mid-week game the 15th topped the 7th, 90-66. The 15th's two victories last week put them in second place with 3-1.

In boxing, tonight's action will determine the league's leadership as the 15th I.C.C. tangled with slug-gers from Division Troops. The 15th and 30th are currently tied for the loop lead with records of 2-1, tie each and there'll be a day-light Thursday the two star-tight.

Last Tuesday night the legu-toppers met in a ten-ab card and didn't prove a thing as they split five apiece.

The two squads traded bout for bout and heavyweight Tom Jones of the 30th won a unanimous decision over Dave Johnson to make it a tie.

John Kelly, 124, of the 15th cap-tered a split decision over "Bel-tion Jones, who was eager to get back into the ring and ex-perience. The 15th's other Kelly, Sam, who is a lightweight, disposed of Bob Riley in the second round via the K. O. route.

In a real slugfest light-welter-weight Charles Jarvis of the 30th K.O.'ed highly regarded Alfred Driscoll with a sweeping left hook in the first.

Billy DePriest made it two bouts in a row for the 30th with a T.K.O. over Daniel Maxwell in a welterweight clash which terminat-ed when Maxwell failed to answer the call for second round action.

The next fight went to the 15th as Robert Hannihal won by default but Richard Coleman of the 30th scored the team scoring" at four-all by winning a clinic-marred verdict over Al Alfonso in a mid-dleweight battle.

Dallas Clark sent the 15th ahead, 5-4, in the lightweight encounter as the pulley, a mid-weight, K.O. of James Fields in the light of the second round and Jones knocked it off five-all with his close decision over Johnson.

DivArty's Bill Hamman leads the baseball loop in scoring as of Friday night with 215 points in 12 games. The 30th's Evert Austin comes with 183. Otis D. of the 41st P.A. Bn. wants to book basket-ball games with any team—that's what they said. Call 7-3173 for fur-ther info.

licity in the Chicago papers. "If you're tired of TV, go see Pete," advertised one journal in reference to the Tournament of Champions. Rademacher made a tele-vision appearance with Carmen Basilio before his last showing in the Tournament of Champions. Pete admits he was not fighting his kind of battle—too much infight-ing, he says.

All personnel at Fort Benning and in Columbus have a right to be proud of Jim Boyd and Ed Crook. They shed away from publicity, but their smiles told the real championship story.

The Interservice Invitational Boxing Tournament has been called off. Not enough teams could fit their regular schedule into the dates provided. Next home bouts will be against the Camp Lejeune Marines March 24.

Thirty-six games have already been confirmed for the Main Post baseball nine. Season starts at Jackson-ville Naval Air Station May 11. Parris Island opens the home schedule at Gowdy Field May 18. The TIC Round-Robin Tournament is set for July 9-13.

Miss Loron is a strong admirer of Doughboy League athletes. She likes to hear that big Lou Sawchick is teaching smaller Bobby Warrington of the Raiders correct rebounding procedures. That spirit of coop-eration is very evident this season. The Youth Activities Club has been doing a wonderful job with their basket-ball league.

No matter what kind of sports fan you are, do not miss the Jack Kramer show at Briant Wells next Wed-nesday (March 21). Tennis at its best.

The trophies were presented to the winners by Detachment Commander Lt. Col. James L. McKenzie.

25 Enjoy Assisting At Matches

Despite the fact they were surrounded by low-flying bullets, 25 post men welcomed a trio of Florida to watch some sharp-shooting.

One officer and 24 enlisted men from Third Bn, Third Division, operated in a support capacity for the National Air-Weapon Pistol Championships which were shot at Tampa March 6-8.

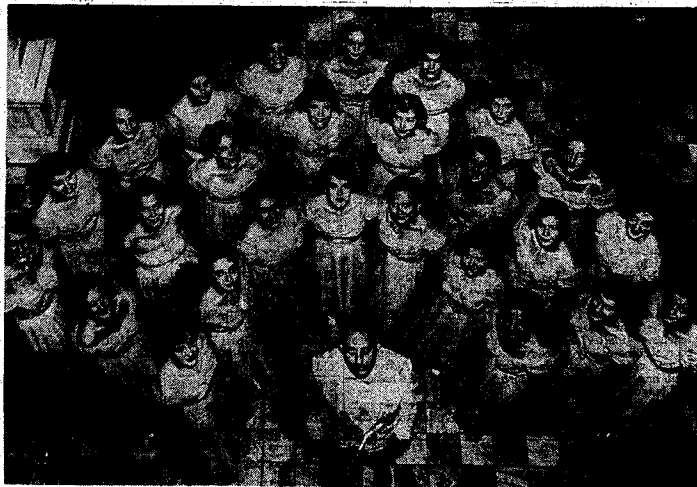

The soldiers, quartered at McDill Air Force Base, set up targets, helped compute scores and furnished administrative aid. Besides working, the men also had the opportunity to pick up some shooting pointers. People like M-Sgt. Joe Benner, the world's greatest pistol shot, and Major Ben Curtis, only two-time National individual pistol champion for the Army, were among others competing on the U. S. Army Pistol Team.

Members of the Third Battalion have coined an expression to describe their activities: "Shooting and sunshine."

NEW SILVER BARS

Roger B. Leland, assistant staff judge advocate, was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant last week. The 26-year old lieutenant was commissioned through the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Kentucky, from which he graduated in 1954.

Leland entered the Army in September of that year, completed the Basic Infantry Officers' Course at The Infantry School, and was subsequently assigned to Special Troops Command.

shaky condition. After 22 seconds of the second round, a right cross put Anderson down again and the fight was stopped.

Boyd made use of his superior boxing skill to take the finals match from Terrell. Terrell used his height and reach effectively to keep Boyd at a distance through most of the first round. His long left kept flicking back and forth as a threat, though it seldom landed—and then with little effect.

As the second stanza began, Boyd clung to a desperate effort to get inside Terrell's guard. He succeeded occasionally and pounded his opponent with body blows which forced the Chicago boy to wrap his arms around his opponent's neck. Boyd returned to the attack in the third round and got in enough body blows to gain the decision.

Both Crook and Boyd gained the championship fight on decisions. Crook took a three-rounder from Willie Russell of Toledo, and Boyd came out on top over Eddie Hawkins of Sioux City.

Sixteen of the finalists were selected, following the last match, to go to New York to participate in the intercity matches, March 21. But because of service regulations that headgear must be worn by service personnel while fighting, and the New York ruling that no headgear will be worn, it is doubtful whether Crook, Boyd or Rademacher will be able to take part in the matches.

Seven boxers were honored during the finals for sportsmanship displayed during the tournament. Two of the spots were captured by Rademacher and Boyd. Rademacher received the Joe Louis award, and Boyd took the Joey Maxim trophy.

In the team standings, Montgomery, which all the Branch boxers with the exception of Rademacher, represented, finished second, one point behind St. Louis. They had 21 points. However, Montgomery had three champions, Boyd, Crook, and McTier, while St. Louis had two.

Scout Chief Visits Post

Lady Baden-Powell, world chief guide of the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, will address adult Scout leaders in the Columbus area here March 18.

The leader of more than three and a half million girls in 35 countries, Lady Baden-Powell will speak at 3:30 p.m. in Faith School Auditorium. The public is invited. The wife of the late Lord Baden-Powell who initiated the world-wide Scout movement for boys and girls in 1909, she is the U. S. Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low began the first Girl Scout troop in the U. S. after an Atlantic crossing with Lady Baden-Powell in 1912. In 1917, as chief commissioner of Great Britain's Girl Guides, Lady Baden-Powell started the international development of scouting for girls.

Airlift Old Stuff To Vet Of 28 Jumps

As an ex-jumper and aerial crewman, SP-3 Joe Padilla, of Battery C, 1st P. A. Bn., knew exactly what to do on the recent air lift.

An accomplished jumper, he has made 28 jumps, 4 from C-124's, 3 from C-46's and 21 from C-119's. His first during the recent airlift on a C-124 was the first time he has landed in a plane of this type.

SP-3 Padilla's home is in California and he has served in the Army for almost 24 months. Upon his release, he plans to attend college in his home state.

CDA Officials End Three-Day Course

The Post's emergency mass feeding course March 19-21 gave approximately 150 civil defense leaders the key to feeding and evacuating complete communities in the event of disaster.

The special program was conducted by the Third Army Area Food Service School at The Infantry Center. Instruction was held in the school's mock town & a d-out training area on Custer Road.

The three-day course, co-sponsored by Third Army and the Regional Civil Defense Administration, drew CDA officials, public health specialists, educators and home economists from six southeastern states.

Following an orientation March 18, a day's instruction was devoted to the theory of mass feeding in emergencies. During the final two days of the course, the students constructed sanitary mess facilities, making stoves and utensils from salvaged materials.

Classes were taught by the Food Service School's faculty with the exception of water purification training, which was handled by the U. S. Army Hospital's Preventive Medicine Section.

In its fourth year of operation, the post mass feeding course has trained more than 200 persons to meet disaster conditions. The CDA officials, in turn, instruct local defense workers upon returning to their areas following the course.

Scouting comes and will always come from the hearts of the children themselves," Lady Baden-Powell, the world leader of the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, told a Post audience March 17.

The expressive and frequently humorous speaker told an audience of Columbus and Fort Benning adult Scout leaders at Faith School auditorium that Scouting "is a program of positive action."

Lady Baden-Powell explained that Scouting is a "stronger than in time of trial, as was proved when it came through two world wars," "blossoming fresher than ever."

"Although Scouting is different in, for example, India and Switzerland, it is equally successful in each. Each nation can use this lovely thing in its own way," she asserted. Lady Baden-Powell was introduced by Mrs. Minor O. Turne of Columbus, president of the Cocharity Council of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Turne said the address, "Brings to a climax the local celebration of the Girl Scout's 40th anniversary."

Following her talk, Lady Baden-Powell was honored at a reception in the Main Officers' Mess, attended by Columbus civic leaders and post military personnel, including Allied students at the Infantry School, Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, and Mrs. Harper, were among those present.

TSB Ceremony Honors Soldier

The Nation's second highest award for heroism, the Distinguished Service Cross, was presented to Sergeant Robert D. Roberts of the Infantry School Detachment Saturday, March 17.

The presentation was made by Major General Joseph H. Harper, Commanding General, The Infantry Center, accompanied by Col. Earl F. Kitch, commander, The School Brigade.

The entire School Brigade, flags flying in the stiff breeze, stood in attention in parade formation while General Harper pinned the decoration on Sergeant Roberts' uniform.

Sergeant Roberts then stood with the reviewing officers while the brigade passed in colorful review to his honor.

Sergeant Roberts distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in Korea June 8, 1951, in an attack against the 7th Infantry Detachment in the attack was subjected to heavy fire and completely disorganized. He then stood with the reviewing officers while the brigade passed in colorful review to his honor.

POOLS TO OPEN

The post's four outdoor swimming pools will open the first of May. Sgt. F. Roberts, sports instructor, said work on the pools is being conducted at the present time. Life guards will be on duty during the times the pools are open and a schedule will be released shortly. The four pools on the reservation include Russ and the Youngs on the main post, and the South Hill and Harmony Church pools.

Scotch Tournament

The post Country Club will hold its monthly mixed Scotch (two ball) golf tournament this Sunday.

The event was postponed last weekend because of heavy rains, according to Col. John A. Tolson, tournament chairman.

Play will be in eighteen and participants are urged to be on the course in as early a possible at 9 p.m.

'Guest' Opens Friday Night

Soldier Shows' first full-length Broadway production, "The Ninth Guest," will be presented at the Main Post Theater tomorrow night at 9 p.m.

The murder mystery features eight players involved in a plot to destroy all of them. "Ninth Guest" by Owen Davis, is a three-act, two-hour play.

The cast consists of Shirley Ann Jasper as a young Hollywood actress, Mrs. Helen Vogel as a society leader, Mrs. Lois Aelstein as an unscrupulous woman lawyer, John Freese as a professor, Tom Hawley as an artist, Arnold Ward as a politician, Bob MacLaughlin as a novelist and Bill Franklin as a builder.

Others in the play must remain unidentified for fear of "giving away" part of the story. A mysterious voice motivates much of the action.

Dean West, post entertainment director, has directed the play. Bill Mahandus designed the sets and is in charge of lighting and special effects, assisted by Jack Gaylin and Bill Franklin.

The admission is free and both soldiers and civilians are urged to attend.

MASS FEEDING TRAINING... Fifty-three civil defense officials from six southeastern states and Puerto Rico attended the three-day emergency mass feeding course here March 19-21, constructed kitchens from salvaged material, and served meals in a simulated disaster area the final two days of the program. Checking for suitable material in a mock bombed-out area at Custer Road are, left to right, Col. (Ret.) C. M. Whiting of Columbus, Ga., CDA executive officer for Columbus and Muscogee County; Mrs. Mary Virginia Cruse de Lanza, Rita Pedraza, Puerto Rico; M-Sgt. Lorenzy Gatin of Shubuta, Miss.; Third Army Area Food Service School instructor, R. C. Stewart-Sidney of Tallahassee, Fla.; CDA regional training director, and Ralph C. Waters of Greenville, S.C.

Club Stages Talent Show

Service Club No. 2 will hold a Sponsor Your Buddy talent contest Sunday at 8 p.m.

Similar to Arthur Godfrey's talent show, "Sponsor Your Buddy" offers prizes to the talent club and his friend.

Sponsors must register their prizes not later than 6 p.m. the day of the show. Miss Orelia Thompson, director of Columbus club programs, announced that the Sunday talent contest will be held "as long as there is interest."

Gl's Ponder Child's Offer

The letter reads: "We will come on a bus April 16, 1956. We will come to see you at Conley Hills School in West Point, Ga., and his class would like to see you. We will get up at 2 o'clock in the morning. Good-bye."

OH, NURSE... Pretty Red Cross nurses like these will be in the 29th Infantry Regiment Company Dayroom today-tomorrow when Communist Training Command personnel are expected to turn out in full force to donate blood. Can't this be the reason why CTC broke a post record last year when 642 pints were collected in a nine hour period? Or were the men interested in the 10 gallons of coffee and 16 cases of Red Cross cookies they consumed after giving their pint of life giving fluid?

Pretty Nurses, Plus Awards, Slated for CTC Blood Givers

Local business establishments of Columbus and Peach City are helping out in a post blood drive today and tomorrow in an unusual "A Pass for a Pint of Blood" incentive award program. To everyone who donates blood there will be either a pass or a discount ticket offered by local merchants.

Credit Union Organized By Civilian Employees

A meeting to organize and elect a board of directors for the 1st Infantry Center Federal Credit Union was held at the Columbus Post Office Monday night.

Post Library Displays '55's Notable Books

An exhibit of notable books published in 1955 are now on display at the Main Post Library, and book lists are available from which patrons may reserve books which might be in circulation.

Patrons interested in truly outstanding books have a special opportunity now to select their choices from the notable books of 1955. Mrs. Marjorie Pastore, librarian said.

The announcement of the choices selected by fifty-five librarians from all parts of the country and sponsored by the American Library Association received wide national acclaim.

VETERAN SOLDIER
... M-Sgt. Austin D. Flack
1,143 Days as POW

CTC's Sgt. Flack 'Made' 13 Years Straight O'seas

"Guest of the Communist government," is the wryly humorous way in which Master Sergeant Austin D. Flack refers to his 1,143 days spent as a prisoner of war in Korea.

The veteran soldier who is presently sergeant major of the 3rd Field Artillery Battalion has also spent thirteen continuous years of that time overseas with only one forty-five day break.

Although he has always been an Artilleryman, he wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge as a result of temporary duty with the 19th Infantry Division in New Guinea, where he supervised the training of artillery units within the division to support the infantry.

Arnold Says U. S. Must Maintain Strong Military
Our military strength must be sufficient to insure victory if the U.S. fails in its efforts to deter war. Lt. Gen. William H. Arnold, Fifth Army commander, told more than 335 guests at the U. S. Military Academy Founder's Day dinner here March 16.

30 I.C.C. Observes Organizational Day

To the strains of martial music, with colors and drums, the 30th Infantry Center Company Day was held at the 7th Infantry Center today.

Due to the weather conditions the morning hours, all activities were postponed until the afternoon when everything went according to schedule.

The 7th Infantry Battalion held its honors in the field events with a score of 60 percent. They were followed by the 3rd Field Artillery, which scored a total of 56 percent.

All displays and competitive events were held at Blue Field across from Spruce Field where the parade was held earlier.

Varied Commo Tasks Fall To Post's 534th Sig. Co.

The use of machine guns and high explosives in battles has forced the Infantry and Artillery to disperse. But a single fighting unit is ineffective unless it is in constant communication with adjacent forces and higher headquarters. Consequently, an Army to be effective must have a means of communications; otherwise it would be a confused, isolated mass of men and machines without direction or coordination.

For this communication, the tactical units depend primarily upon the "work horse" of Army communications, the Signal Construction Company.

The 534th Signal Company in a unit of this type. It has as its primary mission the construction of wire and cable circuits. It is capable of installing, maintaining and rehabilitating field and open wire lines, spiral-four and lead cables. In addition, the unit can fight as Infantry.

The 534th consists of a headquarters platoon, a cable laying section and three construction platoons composed of four 12-man construction teams each. The unit is under "administrative control" of Special Troops Command and operational control of the Post Signal Office.

The unit is responsible for the construction, rehabilitation and operational control of the Post Signal Office.

The unit is responsible for the construction of right of way, the maintenance of all outside plant range communications throughout the reservation. To insure this task, the unit is committed to the Post Signal Officer for three days each week. The remainder of the week is allotted to training and inspection.

Merits Administration. Since its reorganization in 1952, the 534th has accomplished innumerable tasks which merit the admiration of all who realize the importance of communication.

In 1952, the first platoon erected a 15-mile open wire circuit from Dahlhogee, Ga., to the Ranger Training Camp. The job was completed in the short period of 30 days. In April, 1953, a platoon spent 15 days rehabilitating this line and, in addition, cut the right of way, set the poles and constructed two three-mile open wire circuits from the Ranger Training Camp to the rest area.

During the last six weeks of Exercise Follow Me, a reinforced construction platoon reinforced and covered a major portion of 2,000 miles of spiral-four cable which served as the vital means of communication during the exercise.

Then there are times when emergencies arise to disrupt the normal performance of duties. For instance, during the tornado in 1954, the entire company was called out to reestablish the temporary and permanent communication lines on the post which had been damaged or destroyed.

Innumerable times the cable section has been called out to repair lead cables which have been damaged by windstorms, rainstorming or by heavy machinery operating on the post.

Good Workmanship. The efficient and satisfactory fulfillment of these construction projects depend foremost on the practical organization of the construction crews in the unit. Good workmanship is necessary in building good open wire lines.

Therefore, the men responsible for the construction of the 534th's construction crews must possess several knowledge of the project to decide how the work can be done most efficiently.

Capt. Bryan W. Gay, company commander, states that the high standard of operation of his unit is primarily due to the smooth teamwork both within and among the various crews. "Before a job is started," he stated, "all crews are thoroughly instructed in the planned procedure so that each man understands the work assignment. Frequent interchanges of crew personnel, particularly during training, provides valuable experience and generally results in the improvement of workmanship of wire and cable circuits. It is satisfactory completion of a project."

C.O.'s Right Hand. The right hand man to the company commander may be said to be the Construction Supervisor, M-Sgt. Lloyd A. Gilbert, a 10-year veteran with Signal companies.

Sgt. Gilbert stated: "Most people think of a linesman as a person who simply climbs up and down a pole. But the mark of a good linesman is how well he can perform after he reaches the top of a pole." The unit maintains a well-developed training area where practice on all types of signal construction projects is carried on. Here the crews learn surveying, cutting and clearing of right of way, they practice delivery and unloading of poles, preparing the holes and the placement of anchors, guys and braces. The placing of cross arms, pins, brackets and insulators is also stressed. Crews are taught the proper method of stringing wire, placing transposition brackets and terminals, and each man is taught line patrolling, inspection and repairs. The teams are taught how to overcome construction obstacles such as swamps, jungles, steep grades, wide streams, buildings, highways, railroads, waterways, power lines and other obstructions.

Proficiency Tested. To test its proficiency in construction projects, the unit underwent an Army Training Test in October, 1953. Of particular note during the test was the construction of 25 miles of field wire, 40 miles of open wire and lead cable in less than the 72 hours required by the ATC. This work was done while the unit was harassed by the Aggressor Forces. An interesting sidelight was injected into the test when the 534th captured the headquarters of the aggressor.

The superior rating ascribed to the 534th in this test was summed up by the Chief Umpire of the test, Capt. Gay was cited for having exhibited an unusually outstanding ability for organizing, planning, coordinating and directing the administration and operation of his unit.

The Chief Umpire also cited several non-commissioned officers who exhibited individual examples of initiative, energy and attention to duty during the test. In addition to M-Sgt. Gilbert, these non-coms were SFC Gerald J. Clark, former unit first sergeant; SFC Robert T. Tubert, unit supply sergeant; SFC James A. Byrd, Chief of the Cable Section; Sgt. Charles C. Love, a former Section Chief, and Sgt. B. Sillender, Construction Team Chief. (Picture spread on Page 6.)

Military Training Aids Provide Realistic Approach to Training

BY JAY ADELMAN

A soldier recently walked jauntily down a post street carrying and pushing an arm-length hypodermic needle, a near-life-like skeleton and a six-foot long mounted M-1 rifle.

No one scurried to a nearby shelter or even considered calling an M. P.

By now, post personnel have become accustomed to the Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center and a realistic approach to the Army's teaching methods.

Not long ago, each regiment had its own training aids. Before the training aid program, soldiers just out of basic training were confused upon arrival at a new post, for as they moved from one place to another, the size of a machine gun model, for example, used in their instruction fluctuated. A Department of the Army directive in 1950 changed all that. Now uniformity reigns.

Largest is Third Army. Army's areas are broken down into "centers," for administrative purposes, and "sub-centers for the actual production of training aids. The post sub-center is the largest in the Third Army area.

Last year, it issued 260 items, giving further credence to the theory that 90 per cent of all learning is developed through sight.

Training aids in no way are limited in scope. Models are made to emphasize everything from the general orders a soldier standing guard duty must know to the correct lifting procedure needed by a trucker.

One way or another, all branches of the Army utilize training aids. Models might call for a three-foot long hypodermic needle or a huge skeleton, while a rifle instructor could request the well-known large scale model of the 30-caliber M-1 rifle.

The definition of a training aid does not tell the full story for the entire system developed under the name is part of a more significant enterprise—to make the U. S. soldier the best trained and best equipped in the world.

Aided in teaching. Training aids are, simply three-dimensional aids, kits and special devices used by an instructor and his students to assist in teaching military personnel.

This also includes many of the posters seen extensively at military reservations on topics ranging from security to safety.

No other Army in the world has gone so far in developing such an extensive training aids center, according to officials, and amazed by the employment of such devices in actual teaching.

Capt. William E. Schiller of Memphis, Tenn., training aids officer, called the utilization of such instructional materials part of one of the most fundamental rules in teaching.

"The more you see, the more you learn," he said. Students taking the varied courses offered at The Infantry School never know what to expect next. An instructor might come out with a giant-sized cartoon demonstrating Beetle Bailey's experiences on M-1, or a model of an aggressor to demonstrate where to hit with the bayonet. Even the wooden pointers needed by teachers are made at the sub-center.

Compared to football. Perhaps Capt. Schiller's assistant, 2nd Lt. Robert J. Lynch of Stamford, Conn., had the right idea when he compared the post sub-center, and its usefulness, to Col. Earl Blank diagramming plays for the Army football team.

"The squad looks at the way plays are to be run," said the lieutenant, by focusing on a blackboard. Is that any different from the way students in the Army pick up pointers before they are combat ready?"

Over one million soldiers will tell you there is no difference at all.

Board Accepting Job Applications

The Post Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners is accepting applications for positions of carpenter and carpenter helper. No written test is required for the positions.

Hourly wages and experience requirements are: carpenter, Wage Board 8, $1.34, one and a half years experience; carpenter, WB 10, $1.45, two and a half years' experience; carpenter, WB-12, $1.57, four years' experience; and carpenter's helper, WB-5, $1.17, six months' experience.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the executive secretary of the Civil Service Board or William Tansquary, Room 315, Columbus Post Office Building.

248 Begin Classes At TIS This Week

More than 400 students were scheduled to begin or complete classes at the Infantry School this week.

Included among the 248 men who will begin classes were 120 members of airborne class No. 9 which opened March 19, and approximately 50 members of wheeled vehicle maintenance class No. 13 which began March 20.

Graduating were students of Allied associate advanced officers class No. 1 Mar. 20 and motor transportation class No. 2 Mar. 21. Wheeled vehicle maintenance class No. 10 will graduate tomorrow.

APPREHENSIVE . . . A six-foot model of an aggressor soldier appears a bit worried as he receives a "shot" from a three-foot hypodermic syringe held by Beatrice Garcia of Columbus, a clerk at the Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center. The sub-center has developed thousands of training aids utilized for instruction in all branches of the Army.

FRIENDS . . . Beatrice Garcia of Columbus, employed by the Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center, checks the teeth of a "friendly" skeleton used for instructional purposes. The post sub-center, largest in the Third Army area, issued nearly 200,000 training aids in 1955.

Landing Sites Built to Aid In Rescues

In an effort to augment the safety program on post, Co. B of the 7th Engineer Bn. (Combat) are constructing helicopter emergency landing sites throughout the reservation.

The "pads" are located on the 13 "most appropriate locations, which are in the vicinity of firing ranges. They are to be used to aid in the evacuation of injured personnel in these areas.

Previously, in order to transport anyone to the post hospital, it took an ambulance a great deal of time to travel over the rutted, bumpy roads. If a helicopter was sent, the pilot had a difficult problem in finding a place to land near the accident.

Now, anyone injured on the ranges is transported to the nearest landing pad. No time is lost in bringing a doctor there or the patient to the hospital.

The pads consist of circular clearings 600 feet in diameter with a 10-foot letter "H" painted white in the center. There are wind directional flags to assist in landings and take offs. Each site is located near a runway to make it easily accessible from the ranges as well.

Results Good In YAC Drive

The initial response to the Youth Activities Club March membership drive is most gratifying according to Lt. Col. C. T. Claggett, drive chairman.

Col. Claggett stated that the smaller units have largely completed their drive, and that the larger ones have shown such progress that it can safely be predicted that over 90 per cent of the parents one post will become members.

In summarizing the results thus far achieved, Col. Claggett issued the following statement:

"At the mid-point of the 1958 Youth Activities Club membership drive, reports from major unit representatives indicate a high level of response in support of the program. The drive, which has continued throughout this month, has met its goal the assumption of membership by the parents of all school-age children quartered on the Main Post, in Guster Terrace, Battle Park or Upland Terrace."

Fiske Range Is Revamped

To prepare for the All-Army Rifle Matches to be held here early this summer, the 577 Engineer Bn. (Cass) has been assigned the task of rebuilding Fiske Range.

The range, used for M1, carbine, and 300 magnum rifles, contains seven firing lines, 100 through 600 and 1,000 yards. All seven firing lines needed to be relocated since the firing distances were not exact. This necessitated the moving of a portion of Dixie Road. Flanking of and on the firing lines and slopes, and the fabrication and erection of a flag pole will finish the project.

Assigned as a type "A" priority project to Company "C" with support rendered by Headquarters and Service Company, Fiske Range is to be completed by April 15.

Primarily consisting of earth-work, over a 200,000 cubic feet of earth have been excavated since the job began on Feb. 12.

Soldier Injured In Bridge Crash

A 20-year-old soldier, Theodore Barnett, Bastford, 10th Engineer Bn., was injured early today when the steering mechanism on his car failed and he ran into a bridge abutment.

County police said the automobile hit an abutment of the Lindsey Creek bridge in Warm Springs Road near Gestlin Boulevard around 6:45 a.m. Barnett suffered a lacerated nose and was sent to Fort Benning Hospital, police said.

Missions Many and Varied For 3rd On Special Duty

The 3rd Battalion, 3rd Infantry Division, marked the end of two months of special duty March 13. During the period extending from Jan. 9 to March 13, the Battalion was engaged in support of the Infantry School and other Infantry Center activities. Its duties consisted of providing men for Infantry School problems.

At times, an aggressor detail was required to participate in a maneuver being held at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., or again it might have been required to send aggressors up to Dalton, Ga.

500 Detailed At Once
Sometime more than 500 men were detailed from the battalion at once and even though some of the problems might run for 16 hours a day for several days, the men still found their jobs interesting.

During the tour of duty it was not at all unusual, at any time of the day or night, to see a company of men returning to the Battalion area with blackened faces and camouflaged weapons.

Company A spent a total of three weeks in the Mountain Ranger Training Camp, where the members went through rigorous mock combat and survival training in the mountainous terrain close to Dahlonega.

Company C went to Eglin Air Force Base on two different occasions for a total of six weeks. While there it acted as aggressor in problems that were run in the swampy terrain of that locale. Training included the handling of snakes and crocodiles, which was necessary because of their close contact with these creatures while on the problems.

All in all, the 3rd Inf. Bn. was assigned to 71 different missions and on 56 of these occasions it received an overall rating of superior, while on the other 15 it received a rating of excellent.

30th ICC Ends First Course For Retreads

Graduation ceremonies were held last Monday morning at Harmony Church for the first group of NCO's of the 30th ICC to take retreading and reclassification courses in accordance with new Department of Army Policy.

These men, who are surplus in administrative and service type MOS's were retrained and reclassified for qualification in a combat MOS.

The school, sponsored by the 30th ICC, and directed by Division Headquarters, began Feb. 13. Maj. Arthur B. McKie was the detachment commander.

Doughboy League

2 Teams End Season With Perfect Records

The Warriors of the White League and the Royals in the Blue League finished their seasons undefeated and in first place as their respective groups ended their phases of the Doughboy Boys' Basketball League schedule last Saturday morning.

The Raiders of the Red League have like the other two league leaders, compiled a 9-0 record and clinched first-place honors, but the Red League does not conclude play until this Saturday.

Scores of last week's games were:

Red League—Raiders, 28, Commanders, 19; Can Doers, 30, Rams, 17; Cottonballers, 20, Rock of the Marne, 2.

White—Warriors, 34, Kuicks, 15; Celtics, 35, Nationals, 18.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN

I'm a baseball fan above all. Therefore, in this capacity, your reporter feels qualified to engage in street corner discussions on who was the greatest anything that the game has ever produced, and all that kind of stuff. For example, know how many commissioners has baseball had?

Strangely enough, the answer is only three. Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis assumed the title in 1921 and held on to it until his death in 1944. Albert B. Chandler took over in 1945 and, as Leo Durocher could tell you, did not last as long as his predecessor. Ford C. Frick, previously the president of the National League, replaced him in 1951.

Of course, everyone knows that Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in a season for the Major League record, but when did he perform the feat?

The slugger achieved the magic number in 1927, but few people realize that in 1921, his second year with the Yankees, the Babe knocked out 53 four-baggers. And he hit 94 in 1920. His record total, by the way, was 730.

Naturally, you are aware of the fact that Ty Cobb won the Most American League batting titles, but what was his highest batting average in a season?

The Georgia Peach hit .420 in 1911. The next year, he batted .410. One amazing fact concerning his batting feats is that Cobb took the batting title award consecutively from 1907-1915.

To move to more recent happenings, who achieved the most total bases for one game?

Joe Adcock of Milwaukee had 13 total bases against Brooklyn on July 31, 1954.

What do you know about the longest game every played in the majors?

The Brooklyn Robins (named after manager Wilbert Robinson) and Boston Braves played a 26-inning 1-1 stalemate at Braves Field, Boston, May 1, 1920. After three hours and 50 minutes, the game was called because of darkness. We'd like to see a 26-inning game played in that time today. The attendance was only 2,000. Pitchers Joe Oeschger of the Braves and Leon Cadore of the Robins went all the way. Both teams had completed scoring by the fifth inning.

And that takes care of this street corner. Time to move on.

Our Main Post baseball team also features a sort of "oddy" coach. Jim Murray expects to receive a great deal of help this summer from Jim Taylor, a 37-year-old minor league pitching veteran from Fayetteville, N. C. Jim's a real peppercorn, constantly talks it up among the players.

The Baltimore Orioles are keeping close tabs on Ray Murrasaki, an outfielder with a terrific minor league home run hitting record. Could he be the mainstay of the Fort Benning team.

We went to press too late to include the results of the Jack Kramer tennis matches at Briant Wells Field House last night, but will try to do them justice next week.

Maybe you do not think of murder as a "sport," but "The Ninth Guest," to be presented at the Main Post Theater tomorrow night at 8 p.m., does contain a remarkable "sporting" proposition. Miss LeBon, in case you didn't know, is among those featured in the mystery. See it, by all means.

Pvt. Donnie D. Clark, SP3 Ernest Richardson, Pfc. Frederick Kasten, Sgt. Jonathan Hines, Pfc. Jon M. Fink, Pfc. Harry C. Greer, team members; and coach 1st Lt. William T. Edwards.

Post Hunters Get Special 'Tom' Season

Post hunters will be allowed to hunt during a special turkey season on the Alabama portion of the reservation from March 28 to April 15.

According to Infantry Center fish and game officials, the bag limit will be one bird per day and two during the season.

The Georgia part of the reservation is closed to all hunting and will not be affected by the opening of Alabama to turkey hunters.

TIS Notes 49th Birthday April 1

BY BETTY LIVERMORE

From the Islands of the Pacific to the shores of North Africa, from hedgerows of Normandy to the hills of Korea, graduates of the Infantry School have fought to defend their country for 49 years. With a feeling of accomplishment dating back even before the turn of the century, the Infantry School will celebrate the 49th anniversary of its organization April 1.

The story of the Infantry School represents a vital chapter in the history of the Infantry as a branch of the U. S. Army. It has been a strategic factor not only in training but also in research and development public relations throughout the world and peace setting in doctrine and tactics.

It was in 1817 that Congress of the school began with a recommendation from Gen. John A. Poinsett that the Army form a consolidated institution.

Two months before the decision was made to put this new training center where it is now, Major John Paul Jones was selected to serve as constructing quartermaster for the project. Major George Woods and Clay Mendenhall. After his arrival, an area which was nothing but thick Georgia woods and many of clay became, in only seven days, the best village of Camp Benning, named

Late in 1819 a most embarrassing incident occurred at the struggling school when Gen. Poinsett came for his first official visit. When the general's car arrived during a long journey from Washington, it had to be driven across Upatul Creek on a railroad bridge because the low road span was completely buried under water.

Despite this unfortunate incident the school was made a permanent institution the following year. All classes began Oct. 1 and concluded June 15, quite a change from the Infantry School of today, which receives and graduates hundreds of students from around the globe each month.

In 1821, when the school's classes were revised to include three standard courses, its academic reputation began to spread. Living conditions at the time were inadequate, but recruiting posters pointed out the brighter side of life at the Georgia camp.

"Excellent Fishing and Hunting" One poster, for example, urged its readers to "come to Camp Benning, where you will find excellent fishing and hunting for hogs, coon, possum, fox, rabbit and squirrel."

Camp Benning at that time, became, in only seven days, the best village of Camp Benning, named plial and other buildings had been from "nearby" Columbus.

By 1822, construction of a hospital and for the first time, The Infantry School was able to provide classes on a schedule, and close its classes on schedule. In 1820, as the school looked back on its first years, students from throughout the U. S. and its possessions learned everything from battle tactics to the feeding of a horse. More than 5,000 graduates had passed through its academic halls, such as they were.

AND THE NEW... The U. S. Army's latest T-40 weapon, which was unveiled at The Infantry School late in 1955, is a far cry from light field guns used by post-World War I infantrymen who were trained at "Camp Benning."

Over 300 Retrained Under CTC Program

To date, over 300 NCOs have been taken from desk jobs here and retrained for combat occupational specialties under Combat Training Command's NCO retraining program.

The aim of the program is to correct the present shortage of NCOs in combat specialties and the shortage of NCOs in non-combat specialties. Retraining is now going on throughout the Army, both in the U.S. and overseas.

The retrainees must be no more than 41 years old, have served no more than 10 years in their present MOS, and have a minimum of six months service if they are planning to reenlist.

FUTURE COMBAT LEADERS... Combat Training Command's fourth cycle in the Army-wide program for the re-training of non-commissioned officers is in its second week. Shown here are a portion of the 140 NCOs who are being trained in vital combat leadership jobs, part of a total of 600 who will be similarly trained in the Third Army area. The men are assigned to the 29th Infantry Regiment's Company "H".

VETERAN OF 37 YEARS
M-Sgt Martin H. Steffen

Sgt. Steffen Amasses Total Of 37 Years Army Service

If you are one of those who feel your discharge date looms near and you feel you do not care to make the Army a career, then you should talk to M-Sgt. Martin H. Steffen. He has almost 37 years service, active and reserve.

He joined in the 11th P.A. Regt. of the 5th Infantry Div. (C-1) in January, 1919. Commissioned in 1924, he served as battery executive officer, instructor, adjutant and regimental supply officer. He was serving in the latter capacity when his division was ordered to active duty in February, 1941.

In February, 1926, Major Steffen transferred to the 1st Cavalry Div. at Fort Dix, N. J. In April of that year, the company was sent to London, England, and was involved in the well known "Green Sheet" case.

Approximately six months later, he was assigned as director of the Claims Service for the eastern half of England. As director of the Claims Service, he formulated the claims plans for the invasion of France, and later France himself on "D" plus 3. Promoted to Lt. Col. in April 1941, he returned to the States in June, 1941. He later attended the Claims School at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn.

His next assignment was Fort Sill, Okla., where he attended the Field Grade Officers' Subsistence Course. Remaining there after graduation, he became the Assistant A.G. for the post. He was assigned to Camp Chaffee, Ark., in the latter part of 1941, he was a staff member of Special Troops Command which was the headquarters responsible for redeployment of troops returning from Europe for reassignment in the Far East.

Oregon service beckoned again in 1941 and he was sent to Juntura where he became director of the exchange service for the Far East Command. After serving three years there, he returned to the U.S. and was assigned as post exchange officer here until August 1943, when he enlisted in the Regular Army at the grade of master sergeant.

At present, Sg. Steffen is assigned as chief clerk in the Quartermaster Section.

Colonel in Reserve
Now a colonel in the reserve, he is vice president of the STC Reserve Officers' Association, a member of the Columbus Evans Club, Columbus Gun Club, Columbus Automobile Traffic Club and Board of Governors of the USO Open House. He is also vice president of the Youth Activities Club, member of ### Confusion Reigns In Life of G.I.

An armed man, dressed in a blue, by the name of an enlisted man, who has clearly made up a few stories.

A company bulletin board recently carried the following message:

"M-RM going on KP will report to the CO, through of sergeant, report to the CO that he (the KP) was on kitchen police, and then probably had a nice, cold dinner in which he told himself where he slept."

An enlisted KP, if he were not serving his few days of kitchen police, would receive himself from the mess hall during supper, report to the CO that he (the KP) was on kitchen police, and then probably had a nice, cold dinner in which he told himself where he slept.

Cub Pack Hears Col. Bakken Talk

Lt. Col. Clarence J. Bakken of Georgia, S. D., addressed members of the STC Cub Scout Pack No. 14, and their parents at the monthly pack meeting March 22.

The session was held at the Beuning Park Boy Scout House. Col. Bakken was introduced by Sfc. William G. Streeted of Nike, Ill., pack chairman.

A film, emphasizing the March theme, "Cub Scout Bird Watchers," was shown.

Col. Bakken presented the Best Den of the Month award to Mrs. Flora Wilburn of Buntville, Ala. (temporary den mother of Den No. 5).

Sgt. Steffen and his wife, Olga, recently visited on post at 300 Gaines Circle.

Den mothers served refreshments after presentation of individual awards to members at Den No. 1, 2, 4 and 8; by 1st Lt. Leon P. Betts of Reed, Okla.

PM Office Installs New Photo Equipment

A major and a sergeant from the Military Police Board at Fort Gordon, Ga., are testing special camera equipment at the Provost Marshal Section.

The camera takes and develops four pictures in 20 seconds. The prints, approximately one and one-half inches by one inch in size, are used for identification purposes.

Setting up the machine are Major Emmett T. Price of Kansas City, and Sgt. Paul M. Lessor of Gloversville, N. Y., both assigned to the Training and Experimental Section of the Military Police Board at Fort Gordon. Major Price was formerly chief of Criminal Investigations here.

The camera, six and one-half feet high, four and one-half feet wide and four feet deep, is under study, according to Major A. Albert J. Widmer of Conestoga, Pa., department provost marshal. It has been tested under field conditions and is undergoing tests under installation conditions.

After study, Fort Gordon Military Police Board representatives will make specific recommendations concerning adoption of the camera, which would be used for pictures of new military policemen, as well as other military and civilian provost marshal personnel, prisoners and ex-prisoners (people barred from the post).

The fingerprinting and Identification Section of the Provost Marshal Investigation Division averages about 20 such pictures per month.

Women can keep a secret, as well as men, but it generally takes more of them to do it.

OC Who Fought Fires Now Fights for Bars

Half a million people in Seoul, Korea, wake in terror at the cry of "Fire!" They have seen the ghastly aftermath, in death and destruction, of every conflagration in their city.

Instant response to every alarm became instinctive when you are responsible for the safety of so many people, says Officer Candice Gerald V. Woodbine, 2nd OC Co., 785 He was the American fire chief in Seoul for 10 months.

The slightest delay in combating fires may result in the death of many of the panic-stricken inhabitants, as well as enormous property losses.

As chief of the American Fire Department, OC Woodbine had a picked crew of 28 enlisted men,

Ranger Class 7 Set to Graduate

Approximately 14 students, including 123 officers and 20 enlisted men, will graduate from the Ranger School's Ranger class No. 7 tomorrow.

Ceremonies will be held at 11 a.m. in Building No. 37 in the Harmony Church area.

The first field grade officer graduates of the Ranger course will be in the class. Two lieutenant majors and two majors are undergoing training. Previously only company grade officers, below the rank of major, and enlisted men were permitted to attend regular Ranger instruction.

The graduation address will be given by Col. Theodore C. Marzinski of Seattle, Wash., chairman of the Technical Department's Company Committee at The Infantry School.

Eight of the 29 enlisted men expected to graduate are Marines,

Post Orchestra To Be Formed

A symphony orchestra designed to play everything from semi-classical to modern jazz is being organized here.

The group, which is expected to consist of about 50 musicians, is being formed by Chief Warrant Officer Benjamin J. Cortese of Columbus, leader of the 283rd Army Band.

Military personnel and their dependents who are at least 16 years old are invited to join what is designed to become a symphonic society.

"We hope to style ourselves along the line of the 'Bozen Post,'" said Cortese. "The orchestra will be a Post Banding cultural project. It will be used to aid fund drives, participate in benefits and to make tours of hospitals throughout the state of Georgia," he added.

Many members of the Post Band Center are expected to participate. The only qualification for orchestra members is that they possess musical knowledge in brass, woodwind, string or percussion instruments. Assisting Cortese in the project are Lt. Col. Ralph L. Todd of Las Cruces, N. Mex., Infantry Center Special Services officer, and 2nd Lt. Charles A. Bartlett, in the class. Two lieutenants, many during World War II. He received his commission in 1945.

Post to Send Team to Spain

A recent returnee from Okinawa, Captain Edmund Roudoux, last week was assigned as Commanding Officer of the 518th Transportation Co. (light truck). A native of Brockton, Mass., he entered the service in August 1940 and served with the 392nd Post Battalion in Iceland, England, France and Germany during World War II. He received his commission in 1945.

Headed by Major Sheldon Hicks of Danville, Ill., it is composed of Sgt. Carl V. Ayers of Curris Springs, Texas, and Sgt. Marcus S. Lanford of Birmingham, Ala. Members of the Weapons Department, they will be in the Madrid area for approximately 60 days, where they will teach the U. S. Army's recoilless rifle to officers and enlisted personnel.

Major Hicks said that the team will be under administrative supervision of the United Nations' Military Assistance Advisory Group to Spain, although the trip is sponsored by the Military Defense Assistance Program.

As members of the department's Tank Recoilless Weapons Committee, they were chosen on the basis of experience and knowledge of the employment and composition of the recoilless weapon.

College Choir To Present Concert Here

Post personnel are in for a real treat when the All Girl Concert Choir from Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga., appears at the Main Post Theater at 7 p.m. April 9 for their annual Spring Concert of Music.

The Brenau College Concert Choir, composed of 25 attractive college women, is an outstanding organization which is extremely popular and active. The group is continually in demand throughout the South for performances at churches, civic clubs, high schools, and other colleges, which gives the choir a comprehensive background for more extended trips. They have performed in Atlanta, Jacksonville, New York, Augusta and Miami.

In the spring of 1953 the choir made a trip to New York to sing on a coast to coast television show at the Ambassador Hotel. On the concert tour of 1954 and 1955 the choir traveled to Fort Benning, Turner Air Base, Madison, Florida, Clynco Air Station and Camp Gordon, as well as performing for numerous schools and civic groups.

The choir's repertoire includes popular and novelty numbers as well as semi-classical selections which will appeal to a widely diversified audience. Admission is only 25 cents. The public is welcome.

Making 'Heap Big Smoke' Is Job of 87th Chem. Co.

"You have to have the right wind and watch that pressure gauge all the time," said SFC John W. Herber. "They were used extensively in Korea."

Watching his pressure gauge and adjusting it according to wind velocity and direction, keeping a steady flow of smoke going the right way, is the most important thing a generator operator learns. At the end of the cycle the unit's proficiency will be tested to determine whether it would be ready for immediate field assignment.

Lieutenant Herber and SFC Moon, two of the men responsible for the unit's instruction, are confident that the 87th will measure up.

Ordnance Unit Praised For Auto Support Duty

The 539th Ordnance Company did not participate in Exercise Sage Brush, however, the unit has received a letter of appreciation for the outstanding ordnance support it performed on vehicles passing through the post enroute to and from the maneuver site.

The letter was signed by Lt. Col. William M. Copley, commander of the 37th Signal Bn., at Camp Gordon. It cited the 539th for "Outstanding maintenance support rendered this battalion. . . while it was enroute to Fort Polk, La. to participate in Exercise Sage Brush, and. . . while enroute back to Camp Gordon, Ga."

The 539th, a company of the 23rd Ordnance Bn., STC, was committed to the maintenance of vehicles in convoys making overnight stops while enroute to and from Fort Polk.

From August 27 when the first convoy arrived enroute to the maneuver area until the end of the exercise in January, personnel of the unit worked around the clock to insure that all vehicles would depart here the following day under their own power. On Jan. 26, when the last convoy rolled on to its home station, a total of 342 vehicles had been repaired.

In addition to the men who actually performed the maintenance, credit is due all personnel of the unit. Supervising the project were CWO James E. Gortun, automotive platoon leader, CWO Otto G. Voorhies, former shop officer, and W/Sgt. Gabel Green, shop supervisor. The unit is commanded by Capt. Robert G. Trislet.

OC 'Scooped' News World As Reporter

A personal interview with FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover was the climax of a career for Officer Candidate John D. C. Gucker of the 3rd OC Co., 358.

As a correspondent for the London Daily Express, the world's largest newspaper, OC Gucker interviewed Mr. Hoover in 1947. His report on the interview scooped all other correspondents and made front-page headlines in the Express. The story concerned the progress of a murder in London in which the suspect was an American.

He also succeeded in interviewing figures of national and international importance. Among them were Harry S. Truman, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Wellington Koo, Dean Acheson, James Forrestal and Fiorello LaGuardia.

Prior to entering the Army in 1946, he worked for a while for the New York Times. Perhaps his interview with the FBI chief influenced his choice of careers in the Army. In any event, he became a criminal investigator. His last assignment was at Boston Army Base, Boston, Mass. OC Gucker attended Rhodes College, a school in New Brunswick, Canada, for four years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Gucker live in New York City.

IT'S SPRING . . . And a battalion's thought turn to beautification of the company area. Last week the labors of the 29th Infantry Regiment's 1st Bn. were easily noticeable when azaleas planted last year bloomed for the first time. Pfc. Nathaniel Segers of Tampa, Fla., assigned to Hqs. Co., applies a nurseryman's eye to the flowers.

Great Ambition Held By Former Golf Pro

"My greatest ambition is to play a round of golf with President Eisenhower," declares Officer Candidate Ray R. McFarland of the 53rd OC Co., TSB. His admiration for President Eisenhower plus his former position as a golf professional at the Cambridge (Ohio) Country Club are the factors which form the basis of his aspiration.

First things come first to OC McFarland, however, so any realization of his desire will have to wait until after he graduates. The strenuous regimentation of the officer candidate course leaves little time for other activities.

His greatest thrill as a professional golfer came in 1934 when he entered the Columbus (Ohio) Hole-in-One Tournament. Using a nine iron, he calmly teed off and drove his first shot. Straight as a homing pigeon, the ball soared toward the green, landing faultlessly in perfect position toward the cup.

Forgot to Breathe
OC McFarland forgot to breathe, waiting for the miracle to happen. Every eye was on the ball as it approached its goal. Now the cup was just before it. Slower and slower it rolled, and stopped dead - less than half an inch from the cup!

Shaken by the narrow margin of failure in his first shot, he lied for second place. He won easily in the play-off, receiving a complete set of golf clubs as his prize. OC McFarland entered the Army in 1934. He was graduated from the North High School in Columbus, Ohio, in 1933, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln R. McFarland, live at 1522 Windsor Road.

STC Prepares For Coming TIC Matches

The Special Troops Command Rifle and Pistol Teams are now undergoing practice firing in preparation for the coming TIC matches. The teams are taking an intensive training program in Salsbury Rifle Range and Kearnin Pistol Range.

The Rifle Teams are firing from the standing, sitting and prone positions on the 200 yard line and from the prone position on the 600 yard line. Selection of team members was accomplished in three phases. First, based on information from the annual qualification records, the 12 best rifle marksmen and the eight best pistol marksmen in his unit.

In the second phase, these men fired in competition with members of the 2nd and 3rd Troops Companies. After the results of the battalion matches were determined, the top 12 men in rifle marksmanship and the top eight men in pistol marksmanship in each battalion were chosen to compete in the Special Troops Command elimination matches.

High Scores
High scores in the STC matches were selected to represent the command in the TIC rifle and pistol matches scheduled for April 2, 3, and 4, and the pistol matches beginning on April 5. The rifle matches are three six-man rifle teams and three four-man pistol teams. Maj. Randolph M. Stott is directing the rifle training and 2nd Lt. Carl A. Wilson is directing the pistol firing.

Meanwhile, an indoor small bore rifle and pistol range has been constructed in STC. It was established to insure all STC personnel an opportunity to fire.

Located at the fourth floor of building 80-A in the third quartel, the range was officially opened recently by STC commander, Colonel Henry M. Zeller.

The range was constructed by members of the 72nd Cavalry Bn. in accordance with specifications set forth by the National Rifle Association.

Range is Available
The range is available to all personnel of STC as a means of developing marksmanship and as an added form of recreation. It will be open for instruction from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Competition firing got underway last week to select rifle and pistol teams to represent STC in sectional matches against other major commands. Four teams from each battalion and one from each separate company will compete in the STC firing. The winning team will represent the command during the TIC matches.

Post Youth Gets 3 ROTC Awards
Douglas Cassell, 15-year-old Columbus High School sophomore and son of a post lieutenant colonel, captured three top awards, including a military "Oscar" during inspection of his ROTC unit March 20.

Young Cassell, who will be 16 in April, was presented an "Oscar" by the Columbus Chapter of the Military Order of World Wars, as the outstanding first-year ROTC cadet at the school. He also was given the Citizen Club ribbon for having the top academic record of the first-year cadets, and the best drilled first-year cadet.

Douglas is the son of Lt. Col. Harold A. Cassell, ROTC instructor, commander of the First Student Battalion, the School Brigade.

Doughboy League All-Star Games End League Play March 31

Three all-star games March 31, starting at 9 a.m., will end the 1935-36 Doughboy League basketball season. The Raiders, who won the Red League championship will play an all-star team from the Red League at 9 a.m., followed by a game between the Warriors, White League champions, and a White League all-star team at 10 a.m.

The last game at 11 a.m. will see the Royals, who won the Blue League title, matched with the Blue League all-stars. All three games will be held at Fall School Gym.

The climax of the morning's activities will come after the last game when Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Woolen will present awards for the year. Trophies will be presented to each member of the championship team in each league, and in addition, a small gold basketball will be given to each boy who participated in Doughboy League play in the Red League, which is the Red League.

COPTERS RETURN
Two H-34 helicopters of the 50th Transportation Company (L Hopt) returned this week-end after spending five days at the Chemical Center at Fort McClellan, Ala. Warrant Officers, Robert D. Anderson, Paul E. Cotton, Carter Smyer and Leonard A. Ford piloted the helicopters in tests for accurate measurement of radio active materials above the ground.

Radio Moscow announces that Russia will liberate 10,400,000 tourists in 1936, many of whom will visit Siberia. Nothing was said about a round-trip ticket.

Third Division Sports

BY KAL WAGENHEIM
3rd Division Sports Editor
From Benning to Orioles.
That might very well be the title for a success story in a few months; for a former member of the 3rd Division's Divarty base ball team, and later of Benning's diamond squad, is making it all come true.

Tito Francona wasn't even on the roster when the Baltimore Orioles checked into Scottsdale, Arizona, for their spring training, but reports from that camp list him as one of men voted "most likely to succeed" in the club's youth movement.

The 22-year-old outfielder from New Brighton, Pa., had eight home runs according to latest statistics from the training camp. He also had a promising .323 batting average for the young exhibition season and was one of the few consistent sluggers in a Baltimore lineup that has long been craving for stickmen of that nature.

In the 1934 and '35 seasons the well-muscled Pennsylvania war hawk and performed for Divarty's Redlegs when they romped to league titles, and he literally tore the league apart.

This winter he went to Columbia, South America, and kept up his persistent hawking of the pitching which led to a request for his reporting directly to the Orioles camp rather than the spring training site of one of their chartered clubs.

Tito, whose real name is John and whose nickname just happened, has also done some fine defensive work for the Orioles this spring. His speed is adequate and his throwing arm—the left one—is good enough to slow impulsive runners the wisdom of caution.

On a mimeographed supplementary roster the Orioles released all over their arrival at Scottsdale, Francona was listed as a "rangy, heavy

2 Out of 3 Need Mufflers, Manufacturers Say; Muffler Shop Installs in 15 Minutes

With Springtime increase in automobile use already here, auto motive exhaust system specialists at The Muffler Shop, 315 13th Street, urge every motorist to keep his car in for a check to see if the muffler is safe or in need of replacement.

Manufacturers estimate that two cars out of every three on the road today would benefit from installation of a new exhaust system.

equipment and highly trained technicians: at The Muffler Shop. Because automobile and truck exhaust systems are the only business of The Muffler Shop they keep in stock mufflers and all sizes for practically every make and model of automobile and truck, resulting in ability to give immediate service.

A most unusual guarantee accompanies every muffler at The Muffler Shop. They are guaranteed by the manufacturer in writing, to last the life of the car and the guarantee is good from coast to coast. Mr. George M. Gergen, Manager of The Muffler Shop, pointed out that there is no additional charge for this lifetime guarantee, and the installation of all mufflers with free installation included, will save the average car owner several dollars.

Mufflers installed on 1940 to 1935 Chevrolet are only $8.25; on 1940 to 1935 Ford the price is only $9.25 with a few extra cents for clamps and tax. Similar low prices are offered on other makes and models.

Operating similar shops specializing in automotive exhaust systems in Mason, Montgomery and More, The Muffler Shop buys

YOU CAN FLY

News From King's School of Aviation, Inc.
Victory Drive (Mile Route 2 Box)
"Passion As Opposite Work"

Dean King, chief pilot at King's School of Aviation, just returned from a round-trip flight to Mineral Wells, Texas, in the Beech Bonanza; 1,800 miles in one day with only 2 stops, one at Mineral Wells and the other at Columbus, Ga.

You could use an airplane in the same manner upon learning today! King's School of Aviation has the largest fleet of airplanes in the South, for rent and sale. We have also added to the flight line a Super Navion, which are open 7 days a week until 288 h.p. engine. These planes are for dual rentals, solo rentals and sale.

Would you like to be of service to you today. Call 2-4758. (Adv.)

4 Teams Vie For Benning Rifle Crown

Hankins, Rutkovski Cop Individual Gold Medals

Special Troops Command shooters captured two of three gold medals in the opening round of the Infantry Center Rifle and Pistol Matches Novice Division April 2 at MacAndrew Range.

1st Sgt. Harold Hankins of the Continental Army Command Advanced Army Marksmanship Unit fired a perfect 100 in taking two of the three gold medals in the open classification.

Sgt. Edna Englebert, STC, fired a 95 with four V's in winning the individual title in the 200-yard slow fire in the 200-yard event and SP2 Clifford Wilson, STC, rang up a 98 with five V's in taking the 200-yard from 300 yards sustained competition.

Sgt. Hankins hit a perfect 100 with 10 V's in winning the open crown in the 200-Yard Slow Fire and a 93 and four V's in taking the 300-yard match.

In the third match of the afternoon, M-Sgt. Raymond Deligaris, Combat Training Command, won the sustained fire from 200 yards competition with a 94 and six V's in the Novice Division and M-Sgt. Francis E. Cooney, AAMU, took the third open title, firing a 96 and eight V's in the slow fire 300-yard match.

Runner-up and third place finishers were Wilson, STC, 91.4 V's, slow fire 200 yards and SP2 Shelby Shoffield, CTV, 91.6 V's, and SP2 William H. Bellamy, H&C, 91.2 V's, slow fire 200 yards.

Winners in the individual matches were Capt. Earl D. Foster, TSB, 98.3 V's, and Byrd, 91.2 V's.

Today, these individual matches were fired by the 98 shooters from the Special Training Command, Special Troops Command, 1st Engineer Group, the School Brigade and the AAMU.

Also decided Tuesday was the Post Training Individual Championship which was to consist of 100 shots of the first seven participants.

On Wednesday, five six-man teams were chosen from among the 98 fliers to take part in the team championship.

Winners in the individual matches, both open and novice, receive gold medals, while silver medals go to runner-up and bronze to third place finishers.

EASTER WORSHIP

A towering white cross covered with lilies topped the altar at the post's Easter Sunrise Service. More than 2,000 worshippers attended the rites held at Gowdy Field last Sunday.

Stranded In River

A Post air-rescue team plucked a Phenix City, Ala. couple, their baby and their dog from a boulder amid the swirling waters of the Chatahoochee River in a daring rescue last week.

The H-34 cargo aircraft of the 508th Helicopter Company hovered a scant two feet above the 5 by 7-foot rock to bring Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lucas, Jr. and their 19-month-old daughter, Linda Jane, and their black and white spotted puppy to safety.

Warrant Officers Paul E. Colton of Danville, Ohio, and Robert D. Anderson of Vance Grove, Ky., piloted and co-piloted the rescue craft. They were assisted by Chief Warrant Officer Thomas E. Knoblett, Jr., of Robinson, Ill.

Copters Rescue PC Couple

The Three 56th officers are being awarded "Winged 56" badges for meritorious service by Sikorsky Aircraft Company.

"The rescue, effected within two feet of the stream, was a dangerous operation," Col. Gilman, A-101 of Greenville, S.C., commander of Lawson Army Air Field, emphasized.

The team effected the speedy rescue in 24 minutes after aid was requested by the Phenix City Police Department.

The Lucas family ventured 300 yards from the Alabama shore at a point opposite Bibb Manufacturing Company and were marooned

Post Library Wins Award

The Post Special Services Library staff has been presented an honorable mention award in the 1954 Third Army Library Publicity Contest.

The $15 prize was awarded for Fort Benning's scrapbook, based on the 1953 Third Army Library theme, "How To Do It." The scrapbook showed how post libraries conducted their publicity campaigns.

Miss Barbara Bronson of Menlo Park, Calif., is the post's chief librarian.

The scrapbook prepared by the library staff at Fort McPherson, Ga., received first award of $100.

"The Library as Service Center for the Post" has been designated this year's theme for the Third Army Library competition.

Five libraries, with a total of 500 books, are currently in operation here.

2 Photos Take Pix For DA 'Big Picture'

Two Post cameramen are working with the Infantry Center Signal Corps Photo Laboratory for a national television program.

The photographers are SP4 William F. Dooley of Gary, Ind., and SP4 George W. Rivers of Hattiesburg, Miss.

WORKING AT NIGHT... Co. B of the 57th Engineer Bn. recently completed one of the most ambitious projects ever undertaken by the 57th Engineer. The company spent two months at Fort Jackson, preparing base block 8, doing construction and earthwork on the post's sewage and treating areas. The work consisted of constructing intake facilities, basins, and treating and systems. Earthwork was done on lining lines and basins, and improvements were made on range roads. The principle project was rehabilitating Leveeburg Range, located 10 miles from Fort Jackson proper, where the Engineers engaged in extensive earthwork, such as reexcavating two 1,800 inch diameter canals for "mainline", leveling over half a million square feet of terrain and creating a berm between two canals which when completed was 1,800 foot long and 10 feet high.

Fort Jackson. 1) Inspecting the project is Brig. Gen. Costa, newly arriving commander, to his left is Captain Grande, CO of Co. B; to his right is Lt. Haines, project officer. 2) "Spreading it on thick" with this tractor-drawn is Mr. Olson, of Company B. 3) HQT Johnson, Company B, plans fill around ditches at Leveeburg Range. 4) With soil in hand, Sgt. Plaster, Co. B, measures depth of trench. 5) Filling out directions for filling in the ditch is Sgt. Wallace of Company B, 57th Engineer Bn. The wooden forms are in place at Leveeburg. 6) Sgt. Jerry (Hester) Johnson, also of Co. B, is in his usual good humor operating a 20 ton crane at Leveeburg Range. 7) The monthly organized dinner is attempting to level a berm. 8) Jackson, historian, details by the post, aided the Engineers by helping to erect this timber.

THREE RETIRE . . . During the retreat ceremony held on Stillwell Field last Friday, three members of the garrison were retired from active duty and received Infantry Center Certificates of Achievement from Col. Henry M. Zeller (right), commanding officer, STC. Col. Zeller also presented engraved plaques and a Certificate of Achievement to STC personnel who had been nominated NCO of the Month, Soldier of the Month and WAC of the Month. In addition, guidons were presented to the newly designated battalions and companies of STC.

3 Soldiers Retire At STC Ceremony

A combined total of 77 years of military service was culminated here last Friday when three members of the garrison were retired from active duty. Retirement ceremonies and an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement were accorded the three at the capitol Special Troops Command paraded in their honor.

Retiring were Major Samuel W. Foster, former assistant operations officer for Special Projects; 1st Sgt. Joseph T. Rundle, 54 Sec. Hqrs., STC, and 1st Sgt. Coy C. Hall, supply sergeant of the 2d P. Co.

Major Foster, who entered the service in 1932, has served in the 1st Cavalry Division and in the 1st Infantry Division. He has also served as a warrant officer. The major received a direct appointment as second lieutenant in Tunisia, North Africa, during World War II. In addition to service in Tunisia, he served as a U.N. observer in Jerusalem, Israel, Damascus and Syria. He was on duty in Japan during the recent Korean conflict. Among the awards he has earned are the Bronze Star, the Good Conduct Medal and the European-African-Mediterranean Campaign Ribbon with nine battle stars.

1st Sgt. Rundle entered the service in 1935. He, too, has served as an enlisted man and as an officer. In addition, he served Special Troops Command paraded in their honor.

Among the awards he has earned are the Bronze Star, the Good Conduct Medal and the European-African-Mediterranean Campaign Ribbon with nine battle stars.

During the ceremony Friday, Col. Henry M. Zeller, STC commander, presented the retiring personnel with an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement as a token of esteem for their faithful service.

In addition to the retirement honors, engraved plaques and a Certificate of Achievement were presented to STC personnel who had been nominated as Non-Commissioned Officer of the Month, Soldier of the Month and WAC of the Month.

Those receiving these awards were Sgt. David Chase, Co. C, 1st Special Troops Bn., who had been selected as NCO of the Month for the month of Feb.; SPS Winford H. Bush, Hqrs. Co., STC, who was elected Soldier of the Month for Feb.; and SP1 Jacquelin Moore who had been named WAC of the Month for Feb.

These awards are presented monthly to the enlisted man and woman of STC who exhibit outstanding accomplishment in the performance of their duties.

Following these awards, Col. Zeller presented guidons to the newly designated battalions and companies of STC. Banners were presented to Lt. Col. John Cadden, Co. of the 1st Special Troops Bn., and to Lt. Col. Frank A. Bradbury, commander of 2nd Special Troops Bn. In addition, Col. Cadden and Bradbury presented guidons to the commanders of Companies A, B and C.

In a brief address during the ceremony, Col. Zeller welcomed the retiring personnel to the command and congratulated the personnel on their past accomplishments. He commended the retiring personnel on their past accomplishments and wished for the future and stated his assurance that the new units will render fine service to The Infantry Center.

The ceremony was climaxed as personnel of each unit passed in review in honor of those retiring and those who had been awarded plaques for their accomplishments.

In addition to TIC and STC staff officers, their families and friends, other spectators at the ceremony included the parents of Major Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Foster of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Ceremony to Climax Americanism Program

The Post Children's school Americanism program, sponsored annually by Chapter No. 2 of National Sojourners, will be climaxed by an oratorical contest, a display awards ceremony April 6 at 2:30 a.m. in Faith School Auditorium.

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, will present the trophies and prizes.

Eleven seventh- and eighth-grade students will speak in "America, My Country" in competition for four awards. The contestants were selected on the basis of 200-word papers on the topic submitted by all seventh- and eighth-grade students.

First and second prizes will be awarded to Martha, fifth and sixth graders who wrote winning papers on "Why I Like America," "What America Means to Me" and "Citizenship" respectively.

Students of the first three grades have prepared projects dealing with "How Good Citizenship Helps Their Country." Prize money given them in the program will be used to buy books for the Main Post School and Custer Terrace School libraries.

Trophies will be presented to the first, second and third graders of the two schools. They will be rotated monthly among individual students who write winning papers on the basis of good citizenship.

Lt. Col. John H. Carter of Savannah, Ga., commander of the 5th FA Bn., 54 Div., is chairman.

Volunteer Workers Aid Hospital Staff

Nurses, Aides, Gray Ladies and Staff Aides were treated as contributing members of the hospital staff by the Infantry Center deputy commanding general at capping ceremonies at the U. S. Army Hospital March 25.

Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, principal speaker at the extravaganza, told the 16 graduates that:

"You are definitely a noble bunch for the public's curiosity and doctors and I wish you every success. I know that it is a considerable sacrifice that you ladies do this type of work. What you are doing at the hospital is very much worthwhile."

The three classes received their caps from Lt. Col. Clara M. Kiehl of Waterloo, Conn., hospital commander nurse, and Mrs. William Linton of Plainfield, N. J., presented the graduation certificates.

Pins were presented by Mrs. Kenneth Peil, R.M. of Berkeley, Calif.; Nurse's Aide instructor, Mrs. David G. Wilson of Atlanta, Ga., Staff Aides chairman, and Mrs. William Duncan of Summit, N.J.

New Nurse's Aides are Mrs. F. M. Milani of Puerto Rico, Mrs. Robert L. Coleman of St. John's, Newfoundland, Mrs. Jose A. Esters of San Juan, P.R., Mrs. Thum of Tampa, Florida, Mrs. Vorn Whan of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Woodrow G. Royster of St. Petersburg, Fla.

3-Div. NCO's Finish Class

One hundred and ninety seven non-commissioned officers were graduated last Saturday from the 3rd Division NCO School in Hartman Church.

Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zeirath, assistant division commander, and other distinguished military personnel of the division were present at the graduation ceremonies held at Theater No. 11.

Lt. Col. Aloysius J. Tracy, division chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction to the graduating class.

Gen. Zeirath, the guest speaker, then delivered a speech to the class in which he stressed the importance of realizing that today's NCO's are still the "backbone" of the army, and the courses they had completed were to aid them in proving this.

The course, given to non-commissioned officers to develop leadership and instructional proficiency of the small unit leader by guidance, "by doing" and by instruction in actual duties lasted approximately five weeks.

During this period, technical and tactical subjects pertaining to the various branches of service from which the students were chosen, were given to further their knowledge of heavy infantry weapons, artillery, tank and engineering procedures.

Sgt. Chester C. Dobson Jr., a member of Co. B, 4th Inf. Bn., was the honor graduate. Distinguished graduates were: Sfc. William H. Smith, Wpns. Co.; Sfc. Ira C. Kehr, Wpns. Co.; and SFC Ira C. Kehr, Wpns. Co.; 3rd Inf. Bn.; Cpl. Richard A. Jensen, A. Btry., 9th F.A. Bn., SFG; John F. Cowley D. Co., 10th Engineers; and SFC Luther H. Tilton, H. & S. Co., 3rd Recon Bn.

VISITED HERE

Dr. Howard D. Edwards of the Research Division at the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., in Marietta, Ga., visited the Infantry School's Airborne-Army Aviation Department March 26-28.

1. Reception for members of the Advanced Infantry Officers Course. The receiving line was composed of, left to right and facing camera, Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cobb, commanding officer, The Infantry School; Mrs. Cook; Col. Earl F. Kinck, commander, 2d Student Battalion, The School Brigade; Lt. Col. Beverly M. Skardon; Lt. Robert Summers, company commander, 24th Company, 2d Student Battalion, The School Brigade; and Mrs. Summers.

2. Major General Joseph H. Harper, commanding general, The Infantry Center, accompanied by Col. Earl F. Kinck, the School Brigade commander, review troops during a parade ceremony.

3. Officer candidates of the 5th Student Battalion (OC), The School Brigade, undergo physical conditioning exercises.

4. 2d Battalion, The School Brigade, Basic Infantry Officers Course students, at mess in the field.

5. The Billeting Section of The School Brigade is charged with the responsibility of quartering all students of The Infantry Center.

6. The "end of the road" for one contest during intramural track meet held by The School Brigade.

PROMOTED

Boyd D. Malm of Blackfoot, Ida., has been promoted from the rank of major to Lt. Col. Col. Malm, assistant chief of the Weapons Department's Operations Section at the Infantry School, came here in October, 1953, as an instructor.

MEETING SET

A meeting of the Fort Benning Symphony Orchestra will be held at 8 p.m. April 18 at Services Club No. 1 for the purpose of enrolling all interested personnel. All officers and enlisted personnel, and their dependents are invited to participate.

FRIEND VISITS

Father Joseph Chin, Cong. of the Republic of Vietnam, will be here April 2 to 7 to hear confessions of Vietnamese personnel attending The Infantry School. His stay is being with the Evangelical Brothers in Brooklyn, N. Y., while pursuing graduate study at Fordham University in New York City.

Post Pugnists, 'Gyrene' Team To Tangle Here

Pete. Rademacher, and Jim Boyd will lead the post boxing team against Camp LeJeune's pugilists April 28. The matches are the first of the year to be held on an interservice competition level and will be held at Bryant Wells Field House at 7 p.m.

Rademacher and Boyd, along with 11 other members of the 3rd Dividing fighters, will tangle with the powerful Marine glovers in 13 matches.

Boyd, the post's Golden Glove light heavyweight titlist, and Rademacher former National AAU and semi-finalist heavyweight in the Glove battles last month, will be joined by Lesq, Banks, Tony Roberts, Al Madrine, Bobby Brantley, Charlie Albs, Farron Rottle, Bob Hamball, Joe Gibson, Willis Johnson, and Charlie Barrera.

Missing from the action will be Benning's other Golden Glove champion, Ed Johnson, who has been notified of overseas shipment.

The local pugilists will be attempting to defend a string of some dozen victories over the past six months. Included among their team victories is the Alabama Golden Gloves district championship at Montgomery a few months ago.

A return match with LeJeune is slated for the latter part of June or early July.

DivArty Dominates 3d Div. All-Star Basketball Team

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

DivArty's championship team dominated the "Rock of the Marne" All-Star Basketball Division Basketball Team, placing a trio of players on the first five and two more on the third team.

Sharpshooting Bill Hannan, the league's leading scorer, George Davis, an expert shot from the outside, and his Dick Horley, the Redding pivotman, came out to take three of the five laurels.

The other two top basketballers were speedy Evert Austin, of the 90th and Lloyd Folson of the 7th, both of whom were just behind Hannan in the league scoring totals.

The second team included two from Division Troops, and one of them might have played first team honors had he played more often. Jumping Jack Bob Golden, who amazed Marine viewers with his ability to tap-in rebounds and wayward shots from all angles just about led the league in per-game scoring with a plus 20 average but played only half the time because of a late start and an ankle injury.

The other second team man was Charlie Warren who led troops in the playmaking department while also debuting Ed Johnson of the 15th, Jim Bolter of the 30th, and Hal Hailock of the 15th rounded out the squad.

The third team were Jim Willie of the 7th, John Kavanagh and Jim Gerrard of DivArty, Frank Reid of the 15th, and John Henry Tracy.

The first team, with the exception of Horley, is a short quintet as teams go, but they made up for it with accurate shotmaking and versatility.

Hannan, a former player with Morris Brown College in Atlanta, where he was an all-star in his inter-collegiate conference, was the outstanding player in the league, combining speed, ball-handling, and a large repertoire of shots.

Doughboy League Ends Cage Season

The Doughboy League ended the season last Saturday with three all-star games in the Red League, the all-stars downed the league champions, the Raiders, 42-14.

The White League won the league over the all-stars from the league by a score of 12-4. The "stars" won gain in the Blue League, defeating the Royals 49-20.

The morning was climaxed by the presentation of trophies to Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten.

The World In Review

Ike Announces U. S. Policy

President Eisenhower announced Monday that he viewed the Middle East situation as one of "utmost seriousness" and declared that the United States is "determined to support and assist any nation subject to aggression in that area."

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles, acting with the President's express approval, asked Republican and Democratic leaders to a meeting Tuesday to discuss the Middle East.

6 Marines Die In Forced March

Six Marines were drowned at Parris Island, S.C., after a drill sergeant marched 75 recruits into a swamp as a disciplinary measure on April 4. The drill sergeant, Sgt. Matthew C. McKoon, is being held in custody pending the outcome of a court of inquiry which is investigating the matter. The Marine Corps commandant, Gen. Randolph Pele, immediately flew down from Washington for a "personal investigation."

Griffin Opposed To Third Party

Georgia's Governor Marvin Griffin announced April 9 that he would be opposed to any third party movement in the South. Gov. Griffin pledged that Georgia would take no part in a third party movement. He said that during the last years of "Republican rule" he has demonstrated amply to all of us that Georgia's best hope lies within the Democratic Party.

More Defense $$ Requested by Ike

President Eisenhower asked Congress April 9 to increase defense appropriations for the coming fiscal year by $47,000,000. More than half of the extra funds would go to strengthen the nation's H-bomb fleet of B-52 jet bombers. A total of $28,500,000 would go to the Air Force, most of which would be spent on long range bombers. He also sought $54 million for the Navy, $2 million for the Army, and $5 million for interservice activities.

River Battle Still Rages

In the local news, the "battle of the Chattahoochee" still rages as officials of Alabama and Georgia found it impossible to reach an agreement on the river boundary line. Alabama has requested that the state boundary line be moved to the middle of the river so that it would share in the navigational rights, hoping that this would be an incentive to industry located in Phenix City.

In the latest action, Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson has called a meeting of 12 southern Alabama city officials asking help in the continuing fight with a Georgia committee.

Benning to be Featured On Network TV Program

Officials Plan NBC Screening

A television team from the National Broadcasting Company arrived here April 9 to plan the screening of a "Wide World World" show. In commemoration of the nation's observance of 1956 Armed Forces Day, NBC is producing a show about military activities of Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps installations in the U. S. The post was selected as the scene for the Army's portion of the program since it is the home of the Infantry School and Marine Corps installations in the U. S. ## Famed Aerialists to Perform Here

Special Services TIC will perform 600 feet above sea level and 4,500 feet above the ground. That was the world famous Zugspitze aerialists in August 1948. The next year the aerialists returned, and in the November 7, 1949 issue of Life the troupe was featured in "Speaking of Pictures."

In Benno Aires the Zugspitze aerialist troupe played before a capacity crowd in a 200,000 seat stadium and it was estimated by Argentine police that the group was seen by 100,000 South Americans in Buenos Aires. This show promises to be one of the most exciting ever presented here, so plan now to bring the family to witness these spectacular feats of the high wire. The public is welcome and admission is free.

Post to Hold Safety Drive

An intensive safety program will be initiated here April 21 under the direction of the post's commander, Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander.

The simplest program, with increased activity in all phases of safety, will be in effect until July 3, according to William E. Williams, Columbus, Infantry Center safety director.

The Infantry Center Safety Council, in formulating activities stressing the program, is requesting all sections sponsor a safety project. Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Harlow, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center, heads the council.

Red Cross Receives $25,000 Donation

The Post has graciously checked for $25,000 to the American Red Cross.

William H. Higgs of Barro, Va., Red Cross field director here, received the contribution from Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander.

He explained that the money will be used not only for Red Cross activities, but also for all families of past servicemen living in surrounding areas.

The money was contributed during a consolidated drive last fall, but was not presented to the Red Cross until last week, which marked the end of the organization's annual nation-wide campaign.

18 Sojourner Awards Given to Post Children

Ray Holt and Mary Lynne Stephenson won first place honors in the seventh and eighth grade speech contests, respectively, of the Sojourners American Program at Faith School April 6.

Eleven seventh and eighth grade students spoke on "America, My Country" in competition for first and second prizes in their respective grades.

Second honors were won by James Seab, seventh grade, son of Major and Mrs. James A. Seab of Bossier City, La., and Peggy Leonard, daughter of Col. A. D. Petersburg, Fla., and Peggy Taber, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. R. Taber of Montgomery, Ala., who tied for the eighth grade second prize.

Winning Papers: First and second prizes were awarded to fourth, fifth and sixth graders who wrote winning papers on "Why I Like America," "What America Means to Me" and "Citizenship," respectively.

These cups went to Stella Cassidy, daughter of Major and Mrs. J. E. Cassidy of Columbus, Miss.; Stephen White, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Stephen H. White, Jr. of Hagerstown, Md., and Julie Harrison, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Robert O. Harrison of Columbus, Miss.

Maj. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr.

Gen. Meloy To Address Officer Class

Major Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., former commander of The Infantry School, will address approximately 200 advanced students here tomorrow.

The Army's chief of information and education will speak at 3:15 p.m. in the Main Theater.

Gen. Meloy is a 1927 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. He served as a military observer in England in 1941, with the 103rd Infantry Division in Europe in 1945 and the 10th Infantry Division in Japan in 1949.

In 1950, Gen. Meloy was assigned as G-1 (plans and operations officer) of Far East command headquarters in Tokyo, Japan.

His extensive service here both as a student and Infantry commander was climaxed in October, 1951, when he was named assistant commander of the Infantry School and then commandant in 1953.

The visiting speaker left the post in 1954 to assume command of the First Infantry Division then in Europe.

Slang Term 'Bolo' Originated In 29th's Philippine Campaign

"When you 'bolo' on the rifle range today it's almost certain that you're in for a lot of friendly ridicule over the lack of your ability to hit a target."

End your "boloid" 40 years ago, the banter, the ridicule and the extra rifle instruction would not have been there.

Although the exact origin of this term is lost, military historians trace the early use of the phrase back to the turn of the century when the 29th Infantry Regiment participated in controlling and subduing bandit groups operating in the Philippine Islands.

The year was early 1900. The Spanish-American war had ended. However the Army was involved in a long struggle in the Philippines where groups of natives were opposed to our control of the islands.

Especially fierce One bandit group the Moros, were especially noted for their in hand to hand fighting which developed in the dense tropic battlegrounds of the island.

One result of the Philippine Island campaign was the development of the Army's 45 caliber pistol. Meeting the need of a weapon with enough striking power to stop the fanatical Moros in their tracks, its development and use with cold steel. For although the American soldiers had rifles and knew how to use them well, the Moro pirates were short on these weapons and often fought simply by rushing in, swinging blades. They were "boloid" and to a soldier who is not a good shot with a rifle is dubbed as being no better than a native Moro pirate.

This of course recalls the story of the recruit who missed the target four times in success. Finally, the range instructor gave him the command, "Fix Bay on net Charge!"

Another interpretation of the derivation holds that if you "boloid" you missed your opponent in the Philippines Islands—you in turn were "boloid"; that is to say, you lost your head.

Today, anyone assigned to the regiment proudly wears a representation of a bolo weapon on the 29th Infantry Regiment's crest. The shield depicts a crossed bolo and a bayonet. Since the bayonet is on the right, it depicts the regiment's victorious campaigns in the Philippines against the "insurrector" rather than the "insured" to.

Engineers Perform

Providing support to the Infantry School in their training problems is the biggest job of the 29th Infantry Regt. Shown here is one unit, Co. C 577th Engineer Bn., of the famous "demonstration Regiment" as they perform for one of the Officer Candidate classes receiving instruction on river-crossing techniques from the Engineer Committee of the Infantry School.

No. 1 shows demonstrators with a four man pack raft made from ponchos and equipment from the infantryman's back. The raft is an expedient means of getting the combat soldier's three most valuable items—his boots, rifle, and ammunition—across water obstacles. No. 2 shows members of Co. C paddling noiselessly across Upatoi Creek in a five man recon boat. The beginning of a ponton foot bridge is shown in photo No. 3 as men of the 26th Engineer Bn. work fast in spanning the creek. No. 4 shows the bridge as it is almost completed. In photo No. 5 the engineers tie down the support cable, completing the bridge oftentimes in a matter of 4 or 5 minutes. The officer candidates get into the act in photo No. 6 as they race across the swaying footbridge, competing against time-records of previous classes. The C record was established by members of class No. 2 last December when 92 men crossed the bridge in one minute. This demonstration requires the Engineers of Co. C to be well-trained since it is expediency and speed that is stressed in the instruction of the Engineer Committee. The idea is to impress upon the infantryman that he can cross bodies of water, using field expedient methods, and to show him the equipment that the engineers have to support him, should it be necessary to request their assistance. One part of the four hour problem involves competition between members of the student class and members of Co. C, in building a four-man pack raft. The students usually learn here that it takes quite a degree of skill in order to build a floatable raft in a short period of time. This serves to emphasize that training is needed in order for the infantryman to become proficient in techniques of crossing water.

STC Classes Have 2 New Instructors

When the Special Troops Command Group Study Classes get underway again on April 16, two new instructors will be added to the faculty. They are 2nd Lt. Alfred R. Koch of Irvington, N. J., and Pfc. Charles E. Crawford of Montgomery, Ala.

Lt. Koch will be an instructor in basic mathematics in the on-duty classes scheduled to be conducted in the STC class room from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Assistant S-3 of STC, he graduated from Irvington High School in 1949. He holds a BS degree in agriculture from Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J., where he was commissioned through the ROTC program upon graduation in 1953. Lt. Koch also has a masters degree in agriculture economics from Purdue University.

Pfc. Crawford is scheduled to be a history instructor in the off-duty classes. These classes will also be conducted in the STC class room on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Pfc. Crawford graduated from Barnes School in Montgomery in 1949. Presently assigned as a legal clerk in the STC Judge Advocate Section, he graduated from the University of Alabama in 1948 with a BS degree in commerce.

He also attended Jones Law School in Montgomery, graduating in 1952 with a LLB degree. Pfc. Crawford was a revenue inspector with the Alabama State Department of Revenue before entering the Army.

One thing is sure about living in Russia—you'd never lose an election bet.

Cold Doesn't Bother Post Food Inspector

A post food inspector has a job worth half a million dollars, and he computes the value in "costs."

M-Sgt. George D. Isbell of Ocala, Fla., is responsible for nearly $500,000 worth of food, all stored in sub-zero temperatures. The food items, perishable goods, are supplied to seven Air Force bases and two Naval stations in addition to Fort Benning.

The sergeant, assigned to the Infantry Center, works at a warehouse at 1825 First Avenue in Columbus, where all the items are stored. The military section of the warehouse currently contains 114,985 pounds of meat and 230,705 pounds of fruits and vegetables. At least 500,000 pounds of perishable food are handled monthly.

Egt. Isbell, who has been in the Army 24 years, is a food inspector. He readily admitted that he does not remember the last time he caught cold. Despite his constant exposure to the low temperatures in four large storage rooms. He knows how to dress for the weather, wearing a long white freezer coat, with pure wool insulation, and a pair of heavy boots, for inspection tours.

From "Old School"

Egt. Isbell is an inspector from the "old school." He has been doing more or less the same type of work since 1938, when he joined the Army's Veterinary Corps. Experts on the subject trained him in Japan and the U. S.

The process of receiving, storing and shipping the food is part of the Quartermaster Market Center System, in which the Army does the food procurement for all the U. S. Armed Forces by contract. Before World War II, posts actually competed against themselves in buying food from nearby civilian communities. With camps depleting the supply from the local citizens, a situation arose in which there were more places to sell than there was food available. The law of supply and demand went into effect and prices went up.

To solve the problem, the Market Center System was tried. All items for commissary and troop issues were purchased on a competitive bidding basis. The Quartermaster Corps devised the idea for military stores on the practices utilized by large competitive stores.

In November, 1941 the first contract of food was purchased under the new system. Food from all over the country is sent to any one of 23 market centers throughout the U. S. Europe and Japan have similar center procurement systems.

Egt. Isbell may be pinpointed to slow inspection work is performed at each center. Standing at the warehouse as a representative of the post veterinarian as Lt. Col. Ker of Clay Center, Kansas, the sergeant, with the colonel, sees to it that the company supplying food has lived up to its end of the contract.

The food inspector checks all records constantly, and then sees to it that no problems arise during the storage period, such as the food spoiling. All food is kept in boxes.

Although he claimed the cold doesn't particularly bother him, the sergeant is thankful for one thing.

"Most of my work is done in a nice, warm office," he said.

OC Tries Again After Bad Luck Knocks 2 Times

"The man with two strikes against him often hits the next pitch right out of the park." Insists Officer Candidate Donald G. Fingers of the 14th OC Company, TSG.

This is not the only platitude with which he consoles himself. He can be heard muttering, "Try, try again," or, "Quitters never win." In moments of depression he may even be guilty of sighing about slips, cups and lines.

But perhaps no one has a better right to all the odds in the book than OC Forbes.

"Through no fault of his own, this is his third try for 'Ocen golden bars'."

Starting in Feb. 1953 with the old 14th OC Co., he fell on the way to a rifle formation and broke his leg. The 14th Co. saw him no more.

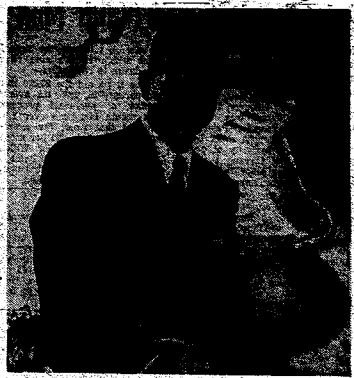

Undiscouraged by his ill-fated first attempt, OC Forbes recently made a second try, this time with the former 11th OC Co. in Nov. 1953. Always an enthusiastic athlete, OC Forbes was participating with special vigor in a soccer game, when . . . you guessed it. He broke his leg!

The present 3rd Co. is the former 14th Company. True to form, OC Forbes copies in his usual original style. "Thirteen will be my lucky number, I know."

So let's go along with OC Forbes and hope that he keeps "a leg to stand on" and "finishes in the money."

April 'Quarterly' Contains Many Interesting Features

"How can we reduce the terror and mental confusion of combat for individuals in our front-line squads?" "What can I do to detect the enemy and stop him with effective rifle fire in the dark?" "As a company commander, platoon or squad leader, can I be sure I have considered all the necessary steps in preparing for and conducting an attack?" "Where do I find leaders for my subordinate units?" "How can I keep up with 'what's new in the Infantry?'"

These and many other questions are answered in the April issue of the Infantry School Quarterly, official publication of the Infantry School.

In an article entitled, "The Long Thin Point," Lt. Col. Samuel H. Hays points out that we need more depth and flexibility in squad and platoon defensive positions. He suggests defensive positions that will increase the effectiveness of our front-line rifle squads and platoons.

Another article in the current issue, "Shooting in the Dark," contains advance information on important new techniques for firing the rifle at night. This article explains how riflemen can be trained to shoot effectively at night without artificial illumination of special equipment and how squad leaders can control that fire.

Billy May Band With Donahue Here April 16

Dancers and listeners who prefer the fresh approach of the Billy May Orchestra, with Sam Donahue, will have the opportunity to see and hear this new and thrilling band when it plays at the Main Post Theater on April 16 at 7:00 p.m.

Considered the most exciting dance band of the decade, the Billy May Orchestra has been winning wide acclaim for its new ideas in popular music.

The work of Billy May and his band on Capitol Records drew such a constant demand for more of its new music, that the band was promulgated into a tour of the country in less time than any other orchestra has taken before.

Recently returned from this tour, the band played a highly successful run at the Hollywood Palladium. Billy May's work with Capitol Records is now taking his full time and Donahue, the most exciting tenor sax in the country, is at the helm of the band.

The Bill May band is noted for its current departure from today's ideas of popular music. It has a complete catalogue of

Post-Transfer Point Separates 50,000th Man

SP4 Alvin D. Myers this week became the 50,000th man to be processed through the Transfer Point, STC, for separation from the Army.

A native of Johnstown, Pa., SP Myers entered the Army in April, 1952, and was a gunner on a 60mm Recoiless Rifle in the 2nd Bn., 50th Inf. Div.

The Point was established in July, 1952, and was designated Separation Point; however, in August, 1953, the name was officially changed to Transfer Point. This change was brought about by the fact that the majority of personnel processing through the Point were not being separated but were being transferred to reserve status.

Aside from the general administrative work necessary to process personnel for separation, educational and vocational counselors are on hand at the Transfer Point to offer advice and information. Also, veteran rights and the Army Reserve are fully explained to all personnel being processed through the Point.

The U. S. Army Recruiting Service has an office at the Transfer Point, which is available to all who desire to reenlist.

Since it passed the 25,000 mark on February 11, 1955, the average number of personnel processed each month has been over 1,900. Prior to that time, the average was approximately 800 per month.

Commanded by Major William V. Johnson, the Transfer Point operates with a total of seven officers and 65 enlisted men.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY BOB BENO

While Jay journeys over the hallowed soil of Yankee-land it seems that everyone is taking a crack at his column. This happens to be my week. While I have nothing particular in the way of literary—or for that matter, any other type—game to pass on to you dear, avid readers of this space, I do have a proposal.

While going through some of the old files of journalistic publications, of which the Bayonet is not the least, for the past ten years or so, I noticed that quite a number of outstanding athletes from the civilian world have performed before Benning fans at one time or another. But the most outstanding thing about all this is the surprising number of unknown athletes who have performed brilliantly in competition with these greasies...

Nothing particularly elaborate, maybe just a picture with a short resume of what particular feats he performed here. But one of the requirements I would like to see is that a big name doesn't necessarily qualify the individual for inclusion unless he has been a stand-out on the post.

Right off-hand I can think of a number of individuals who have sparked across the Infantry Center and Third Division sports horizon, and surprisingly enough a good share of them are not "big names." I think that two of the men who should definitely be in the Hall are Jim Boyd and Ed Crook. Crook, in particular, is a must. His list of athletic achievements has long and star-spangled that I feel he should be admitted a legitimate post sports history. Besides playing football for three years hereabouts, he has boxed, played baseball, and softball. In football, he has never failed to be a spectator's delight with his lightning speed and open field dashing. This past year as a member of the School Eights Rams, he was the team's third top scorer despite the presence of such greats as Yale Lary, Ernie Steckert, Corey Gibson, Jim Matthews, and a number of near-stars. He was an honorable mention on the All-Army team, rating over 200 votes.

Third Division Sports

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

Someone was bound to falter and he did.

For weeks now the boxing teams of the 30th and 12th ICC have been ducked in a tie for the 3rd Division's league lead and it looked like it would take a meeting between the two to force a parting of the ways.

But an upstart team from Division Artillery proved that the 12th is not unshakable and that they, too, are not the only element to worry about.

Last Thursday night DivArt surprised Marine boxing fans with a brilliant performance and split ten bouts with the 12th to drop them half a point behind the 30th.

Last Tuesday night the 30th met the 7th and undoubtedly won, although results are not included in the points in front but the 12th meets a weak Division Troop's squad tonight and should regain the 30th's lead to half a point once again.

But that half a point is mighty big.

In the last meeting between the two league titans they split ten

219th F.A. Bn. Is Deactivated

The 219th F.A. Bn. will know the significance of its problem when the largest artillery formation in the Third Army area, the 219th Field Artillery Battalion, is deactivated on April 18.

The deactivation of the 12-point artillery organization is part of the reorganization of the 21st Infantry Division for the formation of a 30th Regimental Combat Team.

There was a touch of nostalgia among the staff deactivating personnel as they watched the packing of the battalion headquarters and the folding of the battalion's red and gold colors.

Most of the 47 members of the deactivation unit have been reassigned to the 21st Infantry Division and will continue their duties in the parent command.

Although the 219th had been stationed here since December, its proficiency and accuracy in performing artillery demonstrations were commensurate with the unit's prowess.

A young organization, the 219th was activated at Ft. Cavett, Calif. in August, 1953.

It was then assigned as an element of the 1st Army 21st Infantry Division.

Helmets Lost

A lot of M1R in the Youth Activities Club will result from a shortage of seven Little League helmets which are being used in a post-occupancy of Little League football practice.

Parents of Little League members are asked to attempt to locate the missing helmets, one white Commissioner helmet, one white Coachman helmet, one blue Captain's helmet, and five green Player helmets.

If helmets can be located, the Youth Activities club would appreciate their return to Captain James C. Blackford, Youth Activities Officer, at building 1004 in the Post Hospital Area. Information regarding the missing helmets may be communicated to Major William Williams, CTC, Apt. 25, at FH 2114.

No "blue sky" claims... Just Proof of Performance

This letter from a large independent engine service specialist in Illinois is typical of many in our files:

Why are we installing so many Triple Electrode Auburn Plugs? That's easy—they perform better in all kinds of engines, give increased power and mileage and far longer plug life. Here are three examples that came up this week:

1. A '54 Nash Statman never got more than 8,000 miles on plugs until we installed Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes. When the owner traded the car this week, we checked our records and found that those Auburns had 53,000 miles on them and were still in perfect shape.
2. A '52 Ford truck used to get from 5,000 to 8,000 miles on a set of plugs. His first set of Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes has now rolled up 41,000 miles and they're still going strong.
3. For a test, we put a set of Auburn TC-3's in one truck of a newspaper fleet we service. After one month and 10,000 miles, the plugs are in better condition and gas mileage is the best of any truck in the fleet. We're putting Auburn Triple Electrodes in the next set of plugs as fast as they come into the shop.

Six Miles Per Gall. 29th Captain Proud Owner of Famous Car

It only gets six miles to the gallon, but it's unlike that Capt. Frank Belock, C. O. of M Co., 29th Inf. Regt. of Ruland VAF, will ever part with his car on that account.

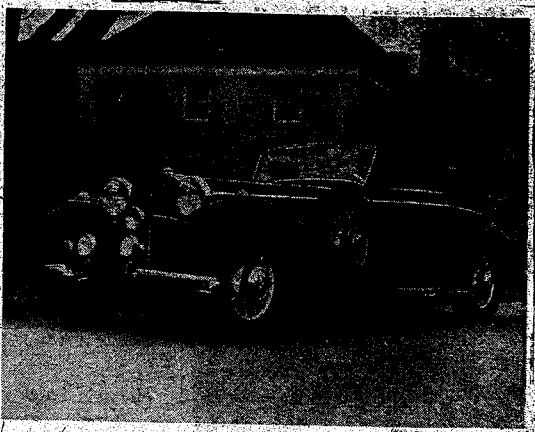

When you are the proud owner of a 1938 Mercedes-Benz which cost $19,250 when factory-new and which contains many features which modern American cars have only begun to bring out, which is in short, a classic car in every sense, you are not likely to be overly concerned about gas mileage.

The car is a historical relic as well. It was used to transport Nazi VIP's in Berlin prior to the collapse of the Third Reich, and was owned by German Major General Grub who is now serving a fifteen year sentence for war crimes.

Only four automobiles of this particular model exist. While 29 Mercedes-Benz 500k's were built during 1938, only three others are identical to Capt. Belock's.

Weighing 5,220 pounds, this car is a factory guaranteed to run 140 mph and has been clocked by Capt. Belock at 112. It possesses such features as centralized "push-button" lubrication, seats that recline to form a bed, 51 coats of paint, safety glass windows, five head-lights, two sets of horns, 4 mand-fold heater, mudscraper on the runningboards, three cigar lighters, override, a supercharger, hidden ignition switches to discourage thieves, and a center arrest in the back seat.

The classic car, aside from being somewhat smaller, is of the same general design and appearance as the more famous automobile used by Adolf Hitler.

Military personnel here are being asked to submit material on the theme of "The Day I Was Proud to be an American" for publication in a new book by Don Robinson.

Robinson, author of The 100 Most Important People in the World and one of the top free-lance writers in the U. S., has requested the Department of Army to aid in the gathering of information for a new book on the general theme of pride in U. S. citizenship.

In addition to publication in the book, the material is scheduled for newspaper syndication and possible use in a series of articles in a national magazine.

Contributions should be about 500 to 700 words in length and do not need to be finished literary efforts as long as they are factual and built around a particular day or event which vividly illustrates why the writer is proud of his country.

Outstanding and dramatic accounts of exploits, eye-witness accounts of chaotic or medical action, or statements of foreign personnel who are now U. S. citizens are the type of material needed.

Possible episodes to be used are not limited to combat experiences and may involve anything to do with military life or missions.

Further information may be obtained by calling The Infantry Center Public Information Office at 2-2101.

STC Names SP3 Bush To Feb. Honor
Superior knowledge of duties, ability to carry out orders and cheerful cooperation has led to the designation of SP3 William S. Bush, HQ. Co., as STC's Soldier of the Month for the month of February.

A draftsman in the S4 Security Co., he has demonstrated his ability to accomplish whatever task assigned with efficiency and a minimum of supervision.

For his outstanding accomplishments, SP Bush was presented with an engraved plaque symbolizing his selection of Soldier of the Month by STC commander, Col. Henry M. Zeller. The presentation was made at retreat ceremonies held last Friday afternoon on Stillwell Field.

A native of Columbus, Ga., SP Bush entered the Army in September, 1954 and received basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. He remained there until April, 1955, when he was assigned here.

Son of Mrs. C. E. Johnston, 403 First Avenue, Columbus, SP Bush and his wife, Maxine, presently reside on Route No. 3, Edgewood.

Journey
Golden Glove middleweight crown in Chicago, taking the semi-final and final bouts with a broken hand.

In baseball he is a sharp hitter and spectacular fielder. His base running has made the difference in many ball games. This past softball season he played with the post champion School Brigade Rams who were runners-up in the Third Army tournament and was one of the team's mainstays.

He would like to be able to say that he will be around for some time yet for thrill and delight local sports enthusiasts but as is the case with most soldiers the time comes for that trip across choppy seas and Ed is presently clearing the post and purchasing a generous amount of sea-sick remedies.

Boyd, as I mentioned a couple of miles of type back, is another good bet to be included in the Hall. He, along with Crook, is one of the first two Benningites to cop a Golden Glove crown, taking the light heavyweight bauble last month.

He has been named by many fight magazines and papers as one of the country's top amateur fighters. Last year, he held the Third Army U. S. Army and Inter-service crowns. At 25 it is not inconceivable that he may decide to fight pro when his tour is near the end of this year. My bet is that he won't fare too badly.

I could rattle off a mouthful of others but to give you a rest I will mention just a few more and call it a sermon for the week. Another man who should receive serious consideration is Roy Correll, a football ball player who continued his heroic while in the army. Ray was an all time great at the University of Kentucky, in the Southeastern Conference and in the Cotton Bowl.

In addition to all these, he became at the close of the past football season, the only Post football player to make the All-Army team.

There are many others: Tito Francona, baseball; Yale Lary, football; Hank Gowdy, baseball; Don Brown, swimming; Don Eves, gymnastic; Francis Coward, rifle and pistol. I had better stop there. There are so many that I couldn't begin to do justice to them all.

Well, enough of that. I close now, leaving you in the talented hands of Kai Waghenheim, sports editor for the Third Division's Rock Of The Marne, who will handle this space next week.

Green of Amarillo, Texas, and Kim Nelson, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl W. Nelson of Fort Worth, Texas, who tied for fourth place.

Essays written by sixth grade students, Linda Dean, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Arthur L. Dean Jr. of Burlington, N. C.; Susan L. Patka, daughter of Major and Mrs. Thomas M. LaFalka of Virginia, Minn., and Cathie Sandstrom, daughter of Major and Mrs. Donald E. Sandstrom of Chadron, Neb., were third, fourth and fifth honors, respectively.

STUDENTS TOUR POST
Forty-nine students and three teachers of The War Studies School toured the post April 6.

Members of the seventh and eighth grades, the children were conducted on a tour which included the School Brigade, Combat Training Command, Airborne-Army Aviation Department and Main Post areas, Lawson Army Air Field and firing ranges.

Top Officials Tour Benning

The Army's assistant secretary for financial management arrived at Lawson Army Air Field April 11 for a scheduled tour of the post, Chester R. Davis, accompanied by 17 officials from Washington was welcomed by a 17-gun salute fired by the 2nd Field Artillery Bn., Troop, from Hq. & Hq. Co., 29th Inf. Regt. passed in review for the dignitary. Music was provided by the band Army Band.

Following the honor guard, Mr. Davis boarded a helicopter from the 508th Transportation Co. for a bird's eye view of the post. The aircraft took him to Coalinga Range in the Hamory Church area where he visited a heavy mortar training problem staged by The Infantry School's weapons Department.

Returning to the Main Post by sedan, the assistant secretary toured the construction site of the post's library, music room, c-1 One Club, and Room, which adjoins the chapel located in the U. S. Army Hospital area.

Post Jewish Center Notes 1st Anniversary Tomorrow

The post's Jewish Religious Center celebrates its first anniversary and bids farewell to its founding chaplain in ceremonies tomorrow.

The Jewish Center, the first of a U. S. Army installation, now has counterparts at Fort Meade, Md.; Munich, Germany, and two other Army posts. Since its inception, the center here has been under the direction of Chaplain (1st Lt.) Maimon Lamm of Brooklyn, N. Y. Infantry Center Jewish Chaplain, who completes his Army service April 28.

Sabbath evening services will be held at 8 o'clock Friday. Chaplain Lamm will deliver the anniversary address. Mrs. Selma R. Lamm, wife of Hicksville, Long Island, N. Y., past president of the Synagogue, will have the anniversary message from the congregation.

New officers of the chapel organization will be installed at the service. Dr. David Baran of Columbus, Ga., chairman of the Columbus Jewish Welfare Board Armed Services Committee, will deliver the installation address.

Refreshments will be served at the service. Chaplain (1st Lt.) Maimon Lamm will officiate following the 8 p. m. service. Chaplain (1st Lt.) Earl B. Compton of Milltown, N. J., Infantry Center chaplain, will extend greetings to the congregation.

During his tour, the chaplain has developed a varied program of activities. In addition to Friday evening services, he sponsors a variety of entertainment or recreational activities. He has a Complex Club which meets twice monthly and a Saturday morning meeting. The Men's Club sponsors an evening of entertainment or a lecture once each month. The Branch committee gives a lunch discussion meeting monthly.

In a joint civilian military project, the center's Lounge Program sponsors an evening of entertainment each month at Columbus Temple Israel. Hebrew reading class under the direction of Chaplain Lamm meets before each Friday service. Another service at the center is the delivery of kosher food from Columbus stores to post personnel.

Features of the unique religious center are the Kabbalah Institute.

Post to Start Safety Drive

Intensive Program Aimed at Cutting Auto Accidents

An intensive safety period will be launched on post Saturday to cut traffic violations through a driver education program.

In answering the "why" of post speed limits, Col. Bieri points out that the speed for a zone is determined by existing unobstructed traffic at the location and getting the average speed of 30 per cent of the vehicle.

"The drivers of Post-Benning's cars are some privately owned cars set aside for the safety campaign," he stressed.

The safety campaign is aimed at reducing civilian traffic accidents. Post-Benning's civilian employees, including the post's Army a had name, the public-at-large does not readily distinguish between civilian and military tags when observing misusers of the road.

The World In Review

President Vets Farm Measure

President Eisenhower vetoed the farm bill April 10, saying that he did it with "intense disappointment and regret." # Medical Specialist Corps Observes Ninth Anniversary of Founding

The Army Medical Specialist Corps celebrated its ninth anniversary on April 16 with a reception at the Country Club from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

The memorial cake-cutting ceremony was under the direction of Major Ruby Winslow of Myricks, Mass., chief of the Food Service Division at the U. S. Army Hospital and senior member of the corps staff.

Among the guests invited to the affair were Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander; Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center; and the chiefs of divisions and services at the post hospital and their wives and Army Nurse Corps personnel.

Ten medical specialists are on the staff of the post hospital. These include four dietitians, four occupational therapists and four physical therapists.

Two Physical and Occupational Therapy Clinics. "Occupational therapy treats patients through the media of manual and creative arts, so that not only the injured part but the whole may benefit," Capt. Styles stated.

Organized in 1947, "The Women's Medical Specialist Corps was organized in 1947 to consolidate the technical services of therapists and dietitians. It became the Army Medical Specialist Corps last year, when men were first admitted to the branch.

"The corps traces its ancestry back to the Spanish American War when dietitians were on duty with U. S. forces. The physical and occupational therapy programs did not get under way until World War I when the huge reconstruction program for wounded veterans focused attention on the two essential services.

Therapists and dietitians in the service reached maximum strength during and immediately following World War II. The Korean conflict brought a revival of the reconstruction program, which is still a major factor in the physical and occupational therapy program.

TIE Chief Tells Goals Of Program

Optimism toward the future of the Army's troop information and education program was expressed here April 18 by Major Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., chief of the Infantry School, the Army's chief of information and education. He said the program is constantly getting "a lot better" and that the acceptance of all levels of command is the key to success.

Gen. Meloy added that a change in the Army's system of information is "a necessary" step in that it takes the content and supervision of information materials out of the hands of each unit.

Purpose of the entire program, he explained is to "increase the effectiveness of the Army by disseminating the military message to the soldier in proper form."

Line Objectives

The former Infantry School commander listed several major objectives of the program, among which he explained are: to help the American soldier's confidence in democracy and increase his determination to fight; to give the soldier the information he needs to understand the Army's over-all mission; to help the soldier understand the Army's over-all mission; to help the soldier understand the Army's over-all mission.

RETURNS TO POST ... A former commandant returning to The Infantry School to be greeted by an honor guard April 13 at Lawson Army Air Field. He is Major Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., right, who troops the line with Capt. Paul W. Clem of Denver, Colo., commander of Hq. and Hq. Co., 22nd Inf. Regt. Gen. Meloy, now the Army's chief of information and education, served here from 1951 to 1954. He returned to the Infantry School to address advanced officers classes.

GETS WINGS

A former post officer slated to become chief of staff of the Army's new atomic division has earned his wings. Charles E. Johnson of Columbia, S. C., Infantry School secretary from 1946 to 1948, who has been assigned to the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

ATTAIN SENIOR STATUS ... Col. Earl F. Klunk, commander, The School Brigade, decorates the guidon of the 51st OC Co., 5th Student Bn., with the coveted Senior Company streamer.

51st OC Co. Gets Coveted 'Senior Blue'

All sergeants on this Field April 14, the 51st OC Co. assumed the status of Senior Co. and was awarded the coveted "Senior Blue" streamer.

The entire 5th Student Bn. of honor by candidates chosen for this officer's position, passed in review before Col. Earl F. Klunk.

The new company is a tradition of long standing and takes place after the completion of the 10th week of intensive training. It marks the "in-between" stage of a candidate's training when he is almost but not quite an officer.

A Senior candidate can easily be identified on or off duty. He wears a circular blue tab on his cap while off duty. During duty hours a highly polished line helmet liner is his trade mark.

There are certain privileges which accompany Senior status. The Officer-Candidate Manual will ACCEPT AWARDS.

Miss Margaret Ratterree of Ringwood, N. J., principal of Main Post School, will represent the Children's Schools at the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers in August April 17 to 19. At the 32nd annual convention of the group, Miss Ratterree will accept the state magazine award on behalf of the Post-Parents Association.

Officials

Following briefings on the Infantry School's organization, mission, and program of instruction, Mr. Davis was the guest, at an official luncheon in the Main OC Officers Mess. Major Gen. George B. Lynch, Third Infantry Division commander, was host at the luncheon.

Included in the party were: Percy Rappaport, Bureau of the Budget; Lee E. Shannon and Floyd S. Bryant, Special Assistants to the Secretary of Defense; Major Gen. George B. High, Department of Army Comptroller-in-Chief; Robert A. Benson of the Department of Accounting and Financial Management; Officer-in-Chief of the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force; William J. # Elderly Trackman Still Going Strong

BY KAL WAGENHEIM
3rd Division Sports Editor

For sheer dramatic punch nothing else longtimes will equal the hair-splitting finish between Pacific Domingo, the aged Latin, and David Barton, his youthful opponent in last Saturday's 3rd Division Track and Field Meet.

The Puerto Rican, who was born in the tiny village of Lajas 47 years ago, was attired in a lithe, well-tuned outfit with a handkerchief tied around his head and had carried his skeletal frame for three miles just an hour before winning by a lap. Barton had not participated in that event.

They lined up for the six-mile, 24 times around the Doughboy Stadium track and after the pistol shot started them, Antonio Burgess of the 7th ICC crept into a ten-yard lead at the end of a lap.

As the race wore on the young fellow back and Domingo, carrying the 15th ICC colors, running on the steady nerveless precision of a clock, moved in front by five yards and stayed there until the midway mark.

Barton had been trailing by only a few strides, but seemed to be straining. He astoundingly grabbed the lead and opened it to more than 30 yards.

The Puerto Rican maintained his steady pace and thinned the margin to ten yards as Barton tired, but the youthful 30th ICC racer plugged away and kept in front.

They passed the officials for the last time as the pistol reported "final lap" with Barton still leading by ten yards. All activities stopped and everyone watched the pair, out in front of the other two competitors by at least twenty feet, fight for supremacy.

They made the final turn into the stretch to the tape with Barton still ahead by ten yards but the ancient Latin quickened his strides and began creeping up.

Fifteen yards from the end he was almost even and they drew up almost shoulder to shoulder at the tape. The youth, looking back constantly in fear of being passed, saw Domingo at his side only feet from the tape, and frantically flung himself at it, extending his right hand and grabbing by inches.

Domingo, running as he had for six miles, suddenly passed by, hitting the white strand with his chest, and winning by a hair's breadth.

RECEIVES BALL AND TROPHY

3-Div. Baseball Starts June 24

Third Division baseball begins June 24 with the five major command teams embarking on a 24 game schedule in a struggle for the league championship. The league season will be split each half of which will be a triple round-robin "tournament." The team with the highest percentage in each half will be declared winner of that half.

Players from these two teams will play a four out of seven game series to determine the Division champion after the regular schedule is completed. Also in the offing for Marine players is a chance to gain a position on the team. All-Star team. Those selected will play the Infantry Center team in a two out of three game series on 27 July to determine the Post All-Star.

The equal will be limited to twenty playing members plus one officer-in-charge and one coach. There has been a change from last year's ruling on the precedence of officers allowed to participate on the team. Originally the ruling said "at least 25 per cent of the players on the field at any time must be regular personnel." The new ruling changes that to say that at least 25 per cent of the squad must be regular personnel but there is no limit on the amount of officers in the game at any time.

Capehart Housing

Military Sees Need for Additional Quarters Which Would Be Provided by Capehart Bill

(Editor's Note: The following article, prepared by the Public Information Office of the Infantry Center, deals with the so-called Capehart housing bill, which regulates provision of family housing for service installations, and the application to Ft. Benning. It reflects the Army's point of view in the controversy over additional housing for the post.)

The Capehart housing bill, officially public law 245, title IV, 84th Congress, was passed by the 84th Congress during 1955. Its purpose was to provide ON post housing for military and certain key civilian personnel.

The actual building will be performed by civilian contractors under Army engineer supervision. It is not rental in the sense of Wherry housing, but is housing for which the full military rental allowances is collected. The average cost of the Capehart houses will be $13,500, as against approximately $10,000 for Wherry. This means generally better quarters.

The action by the Columbus Real Estate Board in registering a protest directly to Washington over the approval of 1,000 units of housing for Fort Benning under the Capehart Act came as a complete surprise to Fort Benning officials. A survey of housing was made on the post last fall, and it was determined that a request for 2,000 Capehart housing units was justified.

Requests in 2 Phases

Fort Benning was directed to submit requests in two phases. Accordingly, a request was made on the FHIA to certify the need for 1,000 Phase I units. FHIA approval of this request. The project was then approved by Department of Defense, and action was taken to obtain approval on the 2,000 additional units. FHIA refused to certify by the need. However, the request was forwarded to higher headquarters for consideration.

Of these 1,000 Phase I units, 750 were designated for non-commissioned officers and 250 for officers; the survey having revealed that the housing situation for NCO is more critical than for officers.

Only 10 per cent of NCO's eligible for on-post housing now have housing as the reservists.

The Real Estate Board, in the telegram sent to Washington, protested the approval of the 1,000 units on the basis that local contractors could provide adequate housing for military personnel; that the additional houses on post would upset the economy of Columbus; that military personnel who had purchased houses in Columbus would have their investment jeopardized; and that adequate housing facilities off-post, a survey revealed one case where as many as 12 families lived in one large frame house. Other military personnel live in cramped quarters, some with no running water and some with no inside toilet facilities.

Over 600 military families live in trailers, some of which pay $60 to $80 per month for rental. Perhaps these are considered adequate quarters by some, but not by the military, and not by the people forced by circumstances to live in them.

As for military personnel who have bought houses off the reservation, it is hardly conceivable the Army would force a home owner to give up that home and move into a trailer especially when 7,000 houses are constructed. 7,000 families will still live off post. No one can understand why this investment will be jeopardized by building Capehart housing when implementation of her idea will save local contractors have indicated plans to build as many or more housing units than the Army requests. That, roughly, is the Capehart housing situation. Fine relations by mutual respect between the business and Columbus notwithstanding the unfortunate Real Estate Board action.

To the military, it is even harder to understand when at this time President Eisenhower is planning for a program to make the military more attractive as a career. Adequate housing, at reasonable prices, is one of the things the President's program is stressing.

Only this week an editorial appeared in the Atlanta Constitution pointing out that the President's program is in effect economic warfare as the cost of replacing personnel leaving the service is a major source of the problem of all services. The Constitution editorial specifically mentioned profiteering at the expense of the armed forces in housing and attempts to gouge all that the traffic will bear. It called for making military morale and discipline hard to manage.

Certainly, there has been no charge of profiteering or gouging locally. In fact, Columbus enjoys a reputation for being a good "Army town." However, this recent series of actions by the Real Estate Board and the Columbus Chamber of Commerce has caused many military families in Columbus to take a second and longer look at "community relations."

6 Month Soldiers RFA '55 GIs Call Training 'Good Deal'

Four young soldiers, the first to attend the Third Army Area Food Service School under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955, are unanimous in labeling their training "a good deal."

Private Randolph E. Yeargin of Iva, S. C., Gerald F. Distler of St. Marys, Georgia, J. Andrew C. Bump of Palmyra, N. Y., and

They will return to their home National Guard and Reserve units in June to complete their Ready Reserve obligations.

Andrews, son of Mrs. May E. Andrews of Cleveland, is a member of the 50th Ordnance Group, Ohio National Guard.

I think it's good for guys to have some active duty, not just meet once a week," Andrews said. "I'll have a little more experience than some of the guys who have been in several years just attending weekly and not going to summer camp. I'm going to summer camp again this year," the 19-year-old soldier added.

Two Cited At Hospital

A sergeant and a civilian employee of the post U. S. Army Hospital have been cited for work improvement suggestions which will improve water and sewerage and 270 miles of non-vehicular traffic annually.

K. Sgt. Henry E. Tillery of Columbus, mess steward of Hospital Mess C-6, and Miss Frances E. Lester of Columbus, chief clerk of the hospital's Laboratory Service, have been presented work simplification certificates.

Through the adoption of Sgt. Tillery's suggestion for the installation of a new door stop at the entrance of the mess' dishwashing room, an estimated 100 man-hours of time and 270 miles of non-vehicular traffic will be saved annually.

Miss Lester suggested the installation of a card system for Laboratory Service supplies. Implementation of her idea will save local contractors have indicated about 450 man-hours a year.

But the Greatest Pillar Is Charity

In 1st Corinthians, 13th Chapter, in the 13th verse, we have these words: 'And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity.'

We cannot build character without them and as we give attention to each one of these pillars of religious experience, we see what a tremendous part they always have played in times past in the lives of great men and women...

For those of us in the Armed Forces, we are aware of how much they are needed as we live our lives and go through the ordinary stresses of living each day.

This has always been true, so the great theologian of the early Christian era stated that 'FAITH was one of the things which abided throughout time and eternity.'

We, in the Armed Forces, are also aware that hope is necessary for us if we are going to be successful.

Now, if we have faith, hope, and do not have love in our lives, we are still un-aided individuals.

Now love is what we need as in...

1. The inserting of a shell which has misfired on the range is one of the risky operations performed by members of the 820th at the renovation section of the ammunition supply point. Removing the casing from a misfired 57mm shell are (from left) Pfc. Johnnie Odom and Sgt. Roane Turner. Sgt. Joseph Smith watches the operation. After the shell and casing are separated (note shell and casing in foreground), the powder is removed and the primer is blown. The shell and casing are then sent to the brass area for salvage. 2. Captain Carl B. Pierce, commanding officer, 820th Ordnance Company (Ammunition Depot). 3. All ammunition drawn from the supply point and not expended must be returned in the original condition as when received. Here Pfc. Dave Gariepy of the 820th (left) supervises the proper reconditioning of ammo returned from Headquarters and Service Battery, 39th FA Battalion, by Pvt. Larry Rhodes and Joe M. Yawn. 4. One of the largest shells received and issued by the ammunition supply point is SP2 Ralph Hill, Pfc. Theodore C. Berry, Pvt. Thomas H. Bivens and Sgt. Hugh Sumner prepare to cart the shell into a storage magazine. The weight of the shell without a charge is more than 600 pounds. 5. Cutaway models of various types of bombs used for demonstrations and classroom purposes are neatly kept at the supply point. From left are models of two 100-lb fragmentation bombs, a chemical bomb, two 250-lb bombs, a parachute flare, an incendiary bomb, a 150-lb bomb, the 260mm rocket, the 75mm airplane rocket, a 300-lb bomb, a 500-lb bomb and the 4,000-lb bomb. 6. The reclamation of brass from expended rounds of ammunition is one of the important operations performed by members of the 820th at the supply point. At right, SP3 Willie Whitfield checks weight of brass returned by Pfc. Donald Waddington (left) of Headquarters and Service Company, 8th Battalion, 3d Division. At center, Pfc. Golder Johnson and William Davison segregate the brass as Sgt. Hugh Sumnerel watches the operation. 7. Canisters containing one propelling charge weighing approximately 218 pounds each for the 280mm HE shell are checked into a storage bin by Pvt. Joseph A. Betancourt. 8. An assembly line process is put into operation when the "ammo humpers" unload ammunition shipped to the supply point by commercial van. 9. Prior to being issued to a requesting unit, 50 caliber machine gun ammunition is linked by Pfc. Johnnie Odom, SP2 Charles Rozier and Pfc. Charles E. Brown. (left to right) 10. Shell casings returned to the supply point are checked by Pvt. Thomas H. Bivens prior to being stored in bins for future shipment to an Ordnance Depot.

820th Ord. Co. Handles All Ammo Used On Post

BY MSP CLINTON SMITH

April is marked another milestone in the history of the 820th Ordnance Company, whose Headquarters Detachment is stationed here. This date is the 12th anniversary of the activation of the unit in 1943 at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Following its activation, the unit was shipped to Europe in October, 1945 and participated in the Normandy and Northern France campaigns. It returned stateside and was inactivated in October, 1947.

In May, 1954, it was reactivated and stationed at Red River Arsenal, Tex., where it remained until Nov., 1953, when detachments of the unit were deployed here and to other posts throughout the Third Army area, replacing the 608th Ord. Co.

Their mission: ordnance ammunition support for training and special projects conducted in the Third Army area.

Since he arrived here, the detachment has received and shipped an average of 1,000 tons of ammunition per month. This has included ammunition of all types from the .22 caliber to the "Honest John" rocket.

Supported Maneuvers During the summer of 1953, the detachment supported the 39th Inf. Div. of the Louisiana Maneuvers, the annual maneuvers held at Camp Polk, La. Within 36 hours after departure from Red River Arsenal, the detachment had "dug in" and had received and stored 20 tons of ammunition.

For the efficient support rendered the 39th, the detachment was presented a Letter of Commendation by Col. John H. Weber, commanding officer of the 80th Ordnance Group.

During the spring of 1955, the unit underwent an Army training test to prove its ability to perform its mission under simulated combat conditions. Tests were conducted in the operation and management of a depot office, the handling and storage of ammunition, safety and security, and ammunition recovery. In the overall performance, the final evaluation rating was excellent.

Capl. Carl B. Pierce, commanding officer of the unit, states that the proficiency was due primarily to the preparation and training of the unit at Red River Arsenal.

"14 Years Ordnance Service" — The newly assigned command of the unit in Sept. 1955, however, he has had more than 14 years of ordnance service. A native of Ada, Okla., he served with the 711th Ord. Ammunition Co. in the China-Burma-India Theater during World War II.

Here, he is responsible for the identification, military training, technical instruction, and preparation of the company to perform its ammunition service mission. "Storage and distribution of ammunition is a highly involved process," the captain said, "and demands a great outlay of space and manpower. The flow of ammunition must be controlled and coordinated. Requirements are highly fluctuating, the tonnage enormous, and the accuracy as to type, caliber and lot number must be maintained."

"Consequently, personnel of an ordnance ammo company must be thoroughly indoctrinated with the importance of their mission. The failure of ammunition supply at any stage would be disastrous," the ammunition supply point commander says. "The unit here, receiving of ammo includes identifying, handling it from cartage to storage, and unloading and stacking. Off-loading, transportation, storage, distribution and inventory procedures are all drawn in detail. When the mission or working orders charts are drawn up and classes begun to inform every man of all phases of the operation.

Personnel Well-Trained Personnel of the company are trained in both company and battalion operations; and in order to obtain flexibility, the men are trained in two or more specialties whenever practical. Ammunition handlers are thoroughly trained in the identification and recognition of ammunition as well as cross-trained as guides and checkers.

In addition, each individual is instructed in all matters incident to safety and security of the depot including the scrubbing of ammunition bins. Safety is an initial prerequisite in the operation of an ammo supply point, and Capt. Pierce proudly boasts that the personnel of his unit has not been involved in an ammunition accident since reactivation of the unit.

Part of the ammunition received at the supply point may have become unusable due to improper handling or exposure to the elements. This unusable ammunition is inspected and classified by a crew of men who are expected to do renovation and salvage of all types of ammunition.

In addition, there is the reconditioning, handling it from cartage to storage, and unloading and

Ida Cason Gardens Offer Ideal Retreat for Benning Personnel

BY BOB RENO
Swimming and summer have gone hand in hand for most Americans since childhood and as the Georgia temperatures begin to climb during the next few weeks, military and civilian personnel here will seek relief either in some lake or swimming pool.
The majority of these refugees from old So's over-ardent state will head for the four outdoor pools operated by Post Special Services on the Main Post, Sand Hill, and Harmony Church.
There will, however, be many who will want to get away from both the heat and the post in years past. The Ida Cason Cawley Gardens has taken up the slack with its three lakes, bathing, golf, picnic areas, and other recreational facilities.
The Gardens are located about an hour's drive from Columbus.

Two Enlisted Lawyers Serve In School Brigade Legal Section

Not all Army lawyers are commissioned. At least, this is true in the case of the School Brigade Legal Section of The School Brigade. Two of these lawyers are PFC Richard E. Cherrin and SP3 Ralph H. Kline.

Cherrin is a 26 year old commissionee who didn't take a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Corps because his tenure of service would have been longer than the two years required of him as an enlisted man.

Cherrin took his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., and then completed the Basic Army Administration Course at Camp (now Fort) Gordon, Ga., and completed his second eight weeks training at Fort Lee, Va. He was then assigned to the JA Section of TSB where he now handles summary court, and gives legal assistance on tax matters, wills, contracts, etc.

Kline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Kline, live in Norfolk, Va., and he and his wife, Janice, reside at 44-D Torch Hill Road, Columbus, Ga.

SP3 RALPH H. KLINE

Cherrin was graduated from the Bolleville High School, Belleville, N. J., in 1947, and entered Rutgers University where he earned a BA degree in 1951. He then entered Harvard Law School and took his LL.B. degree in 1954. While in college he was a member of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity, was a Phi Beta Kappa, National Honor Society, Alpha Psi Omega - dramatic fraternity, Chancery Club - Harvard Law Organization, and is presently a member of the New Jersey and American Bar Associations. Following his graduation he was employed by the law firm of Cole, Morrill, and Berner of Paterson, N. J., until Uncle "Whiskers" sent him "greetings".

When questioned as to his future, he said that it was uncertain at the present time, but that he is very interested in labor and tax law. Plans on taking additional law work at night and open his own office during the day, his studies probably being at Columbus or New York University.

He says that the "greatest difficulty I have is that I am interested in so many aspects of the law that I'm not sure I'll ever have time to acquire all the knowledge I'd like to have about each of them. As a result, it is very difficult for me to make a specific choice as to which aspect I would like to specialize in. I enjoy legal scholarship and when on duty of the Army I hope to do some writing especially in the field of labor law which is an extremely ripe field for analysis and individual synthesis of the law."

PFC RICHARD E. CHERRIN

Cherrin's hobbies include golf, bridge, and the theater, and he played varsity basketball in high school and participated in intermural sports during his college days.

Cherrin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cherrin live in Belleville, N. J., and his wife, Sue, resides in Chicago, Ill.

Sp3 Kline is also a 26 year old

Post to Note Confederate Memorial Day

Post personnel was to join Columbus, and Phenix City, in commemorating Confederate Memorial Day today.

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, is scheduled to deliver the principal address at special services at 3:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Columbus.

He will speak following a brief concert of Stephen Foster melodies by the 4888 Central Postal Directory Band under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer William R. Trenbath of Columbus.

After the service at the church, Gen. Harper will join a procession of civilian and military officials who will parade through the city to Linwood Cemetery for rites at the graveside of Brig. Gen. Henry Lewis Benning for whom the huge Infantry post was named.

A firing squad from Special Troops Command will fire a salute as Gen. Harper places a wreath on the grave.

In Phenix City, a similar squad from Combat Troops Command will participate in services at Lakeview Memory Garden Cemetery at 4 p.m. (EST).

CARTOON OF THE WEEK

TO DISCUSS MIDDLE EAST Major Asker Levy of the Israeli Army discussed the Middle East situation at the post's Jewish Religious Center April 25. The meeting, sponsored by the Center's Couples Club, opened with a 30-minute movie on modern Israel at 7 p.m. followed by Major Levy's talk. Major Levy, a student in The Infantry School's associate company officers class No. 2 discussed aspects of the movie and points that must be resolved before peace can come to the Middle East. Refreshments were served.

Federal Prison Officer Trains Here as NG Lt.

"Escapes from federal prisons are very rare," says Lt. L. Wal-ter A. Reynolds, a National Guard officer attending associate infantry company officer course, class No. 2.

Lt. Reynolds, who is commanding officer of the National Guard unit in Hopewell, Va., is a correctional officer in the Federal Reformatory in Petersburg, Va.

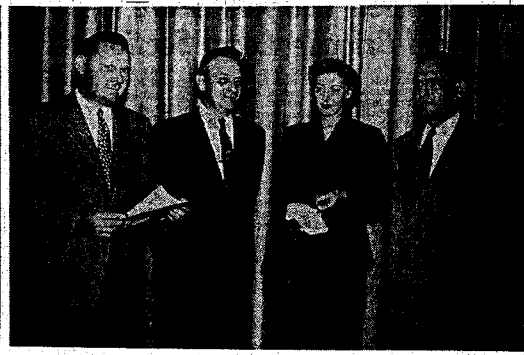

One escape stands out vividly in his memory, because it took place the night he was scheduled to take over command of his National Guard unit. He was just going off duty when the alarm sounded. A prisoner on an outside detail had escaped. So instead of attending the National Guard session, he searched the highways most of the night in a patrol car. He didn't even have the satisfaction of catching the escaped. Near morning, a walking patrol picked him up.

"There are no guards in the federal prison system," Lt. Reynolds points out. "All our men are trained to assist in the rehabilitation of the prisoners. Only the men on lower duty are allowed to carry arms."

Rehabilitation is not attempted in formal classes. It is done through daily contact with the prisoners, getting to know them, and by counseling and example.

The reformatory institution is a Federal prison set-up between a Camp, for less serious offenders, and a Penitentiary, for more serious offenders.

No one in the Petersburg Reformatory is serving more than

Gen. Harper Gets State's Top Honors

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, added another award to his record when he was made an Arkansas Traveler at Hot Springs by Gov. Orval Faubus.

The award is the highest the state can bestow and by virtue of the honor, Gen. Harper has become an ambassador of good will for Arkansas to any place he visits.

Good things actually came twofold during Gen. Harper's visit at the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs where he also was made an honorary citizen by Mayor Floyd Kousley.

Gen. and Mrs. Harper returned to the post April 22 after a 15-day leave of absence.

Old Cyclone Auto-Jumping Horse Part of 29th's History

The 29th Infantry Regiment, the Army's first unit making extensive use of gasoline-powered vehicles, may possibly have been the only regiment in the Army's history which kept one of an automobile jumping horse.

The regimental mascot's name was "Cyclone" and his incredible jumping feats took place in the mid-twenties — when almost anything was possible.

Records reveal that Cyclone's ability as a jumper was discovered accidentally.

Soon after the demonstration regiment at Fort Benning as a troop horse in 1924, the animal was condemned as unfit for military duty because of his vicious outlaw nature. Just before the horse was to be taken from the post, Sergeant Ernest Akers of Dallas, Md., who had had some experience training animals in his home state, asked for permission to try to break the condemned animal.

He was granted the permission.

Cyclone was tamed.

As soon as the young sergeant landed on Cyclone's back the horse bolted, leaping over a six foot fence. But Akers stuck to the platoon of his fellow soldiers who watched the proceedings with interest and amusement. Again and again the sergeant and the big horse continued in their struggle.

In a few days Cyclone was tamed.

In March of that year, the 29th entered their wonder horse in the jumping events of the Augusta horse show. The feature event of the show, typical of the era's showmanship, was the hurling of a six foot high touring car by a famous Canadian show horse, called "Tipperary".

When the platoon sergeant saw the world-famous Tipperary jump, the account goes, he immediately claimed that Cyclone not only could equal the jump but could out-do Tipperary's height. To the amusement of the audience Sergeant Akers was given a chance to prove his claim that night — and with Akers on his back Cyclone easily vaulted the bulky car.

After that Cyclone leaped automobiles regularly, until the fad for that sort of thing died with the 20's. He was believed to be the highest jumping horse in the United States and news of his exploits were printed in all newspapers.

Veteran of 25 Years Service Takes 3 More

A veteran of more than 25 years service, active and reserve, last week reenlisted for three more years. He is M-Sgt. Robert E. Shull of Forest Park, Ga., now assigned as the chief clerk in the S-4 Section, STC.

Sgt. Shull's first taste of military service came in 1931 when he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the cavalry when he graduated from the University of Georgia. Called to active duty as a First Lt. in Nov. 1940, he served with the 4th Inf. Div. in the European Theater of Operations from August, 1944, to May, 1945.

Upon his return to the United States he was assigned as the officer in charge of Inventory and Control Branch of the Quartermaster Section, Atlanta General Depot. He remained there until January 1947. He was awarded the Commendation Ribbon for his work during this period.

Following this tour he was the Assistant S-4 and quartermaster instructor at the Georgia Military District in Atlanta, Ga., for nearly three years.

Reverting to enlisted status in April 1950, he was assigned as an instructor with the 1st Bn of the 122nd Inf. Reg., 8th Div. (Reserve), also located in Atlanta.

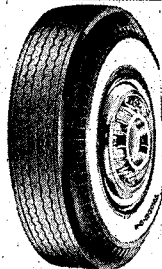

From June 1952 to July 1955, Sgt. Shull was chief clerk in the quartermaster section of Headquarters United States Forces in Austria. He was assigned here in August 1955.

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

The car that speaks as well of you as you will speak of it

Of the many pleasures of owning Lincoln, none is more satisfying than what this totally new car says about you.

For here is the fine car that says you have a feeling for trend-setting style—that you admire the sweep of clean-flowing lines . . . the scant five feet of lowness . . . the sleek new length that is so unmistakably Lincoln. And, as so many others now turn to this Lincoln—making it the most sought-after of all time—this superb new car says that your judgment is of the kind others follow.

This Lincoln says that your heart lifts to spirited performance—the kind that comes from teaming 285 high-torque horsepower with Lincoln's incomparably smooth

Turbo-Drive. And yet it also says that you expect such great power to be beautifully balanced—with comfort to soothe you, stability to ease your mind, and a feel of the wheel to put you completely in control.

There's so much more that Lincoln says—and so much you will say. But why not let this new fine car speak for itself?

Stop in tomorrow—or today if you can—and slip into the driver's seat. Make your own appraisal of this Lincoln that's so long—and so longed-for!

Doughboys Practice For Start of Season

With scarcely half a month left before the opening of the season, the Main Post baseball team, under the tutelage of Coach Jim Murray and his assistant, Joe Floyd, shows every sign of becoming this year's Third Army "sleepers."

Of course, the best line on the club will be available May 11 and 12, when interservice competition begins against Jacksonville Naval Air Station in a two-game set. First Gowdy Field game will be against the always dangerous Paris Island Marines May 19, with another game scheduled the next day here.

Fort McPherson, last year's All-Army champions, will probably be the early season favorites to repeat their sweep of the 1953 Third Army Baseball Tournament. Despite their loss of Vinegar Bend Mixell, who opened the season for the St. Louis Cardinals this year, the Mice still retain enough of their star-studded array to make things tough for most teams.

Lots of Talent
Coach Murray may very well have enough talent to cope with any Third Army team, however. Tom McGroarty, who was with Savannah in the South Atlantic Brigade two years ago, Tom is said to possess a beautiful curve ball and a good fast one. His contract calls for him to play with San Antonio when he leaves the Army.

Ray Murawski, a power hitter in the Baltimore Orioles' chain, also is highly rated by Murray. Jamie Fadgett at shortstop is the team's speedster. He has a terrific arm and is a good hitter. Jim Mathews, fullback with the School Brigade football team, puts on the team's catching equipment. Mathews is another power hitter.

STILL HERE . . . Chuck Spina, of last year's team, has been switched from third to second base for the post baseball squad. Chuck looks good as the pivot man in those important double plays, according to his coach.

Doughboy League

Play to Be Started With 18 Teams on Tap

Approximately 270 future Ted Williamses suit up next week for the start of the Youth Activities Club Doughboy Baseball League at Fort Benning.

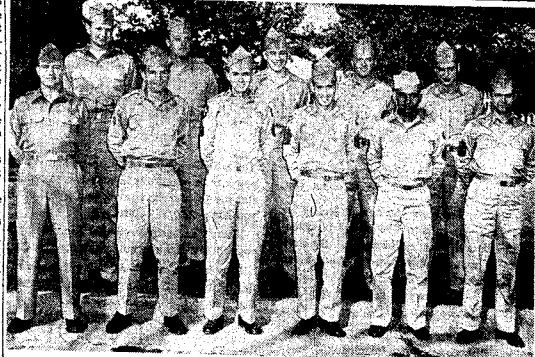

The young men, ages eight to 12, are divided into a major and minor league this year, with a total of 18 teams.

Opening day ceremonies for the major league will be held simultaneously at three fields at 5:45 p.m. Monday (Apr. 25), with three generals scheduled to throw out open first balls. Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, starts the game at Green Field Diamond between the Commanders and Rams; Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, deputy commanding general, opens for the Green Waves and Drig. Gen. (Ret.) Marcus B. Bell begins activities for the Can Doors and Flyers at Custer Terrace Field.

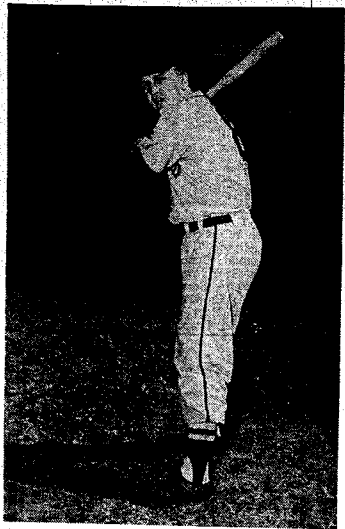

The remaining major league squads, Rock of the Marne and the Cottonbelters, start their season at Custer Terrace Field May 2. The minor league schedule, for eight and nine year olds, as well as some 10 year olds, begins May 1.

PASS OFFERED

A three day pass is the reward being offered by the Lawton Army Airfield Detachment for thinking of a nickname that will fit the detachment's softball team. The softball team is now in the process of being organized and hopes to participate with teams from the other major commands on post. A board headed by Capt. Donald J. Ritz, detachment commander, will pick the winning name.

POWER BAT . . . Ray Murawski, outfielder in the Baltimore Orioles' chain, is being counted on for heavy batting support by Coach Jim Murray of the Main Post baseball team.

McMullen, Baker to Vie For Golf Tourney Honors

The winner of the 1955 Men's Officer Open Mess Golf Championship will be crowned Sunday.

From the 200 players who started play over two months ago, a champion and 11 flight winners will be named. The championship finals of 36 holes will be played Sunday. Lt. Walter (Tooy) Baker and Major Walton B. McMullen will square off for the title. Major General Joseph H. Harper will present the awards at the conclusion of the final match. Also to be presented Sunday are the trophies to the winners of the women's handicap tournament, now up to five men have already earned their right to walk in the winner's circle. Lt. Col. Carl Nelson copped the second flight title by defeating WO A. J. Bellemeur 4 and 3.

In gaining the championship finals, Baker scored victories over WO Claude English, Capt. Jack Auer, Capt. Orville Folkerts and Lt. Jack McQuarrie.

McMullen moved into the finals with wins over Capt. J. D. Geigley, Major Roy Yurgenson, Lt. James Walter and Lt. Roger Little.

Post Boxers Slate Match At Maxwell

The Doughboys box at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., tomorrow night, one of a series in a heavy schedule of bouts slated for the next few months. Post boxers again will be matched against Army Legions, N.C. this time at the Marine base. May 3, Legion recently nosed out the Doughboys, 6-5. The fight staged at Briant Wells Field House. Next home bouts will be May 10, against Fort Polk, La. A series of outdoor summer fights at Gowdy Field is in the planning stage, according to 1st Lt. Pete Mademacher, boxing coach and assistant sports officer. The Third Army boxing tournament is scheduled for Fort Benning Sept. 19-22, to be presided by the Infantry Center Tourney, Sept. 4.

Spring Handgun Tourney Stated For This Week

The post will host the Spring Handgun Tournament, a preliminary to the summer regional, at the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club April 28-29.

The National Rifle Association Southeastern Regional Pistol 1 & 2 Matches will be held here Aug. 3-5. This weekend's 2,700-point, three-day, 17-event match begins at 1 p.m. Saturday and again at 8 a.m. Sunday. A barbecue for competitors and their dependents will be held at the club at approximately 7 p.m. Saturday.

Any member of the National Rifle Association, more than 16 years old, may compete. Two orders will fire, and registration is limited to 100 competitors.

Fort Benning's new 82 electronically operated target range is to be utilized for the firing. Five matches will be shot with each of the 22 center fire and .45 caliber pistols. Five aggregates, including a grand aggregate, are included in the firing events.

Match executive officer is Lt. Col. John S. Chambers of Mackinac Island, Mich., who will present merchandise awards and medals to the top two firers in each event.

Secretary, Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, PO Box 1469, Fort Benning, Ga.

Special privilege cards will be available to all competitors and their dependents, allowing them to eat at post mess halls.

3-Div. Cops Top Honors In TIC Track, Field Meet

BY BOB RENO
The Third Division's track and field men captured the bulk of honors at The Infantry Center Track and Field meet last week, taking the first three of four places.

The 15th Infantry Combat Training Command put on a last-day rally to run away from second place Combat Training Command, 65-69. The 7th ICC and Division Artillery also spurred efforts during the final events to capture third and fourth places, respectively.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN

Remember that old adage about New York being a nice place to visit, but? Now I understand it a bit better. You see, it's cold up there.

New Yorkers were talking about the marriage of a well-known prince and princess, the opening of the baseball season and an April snowstorm. I don't doubt that people around Fort Benning were discussing the same topics. Only difference was that they talked about the snow while laying on a blanket, developing a suntan.

I'm not really complaining about my leave, though. Readers of this column benefited from the reports of Messrs. Clark, Reno and Wagenheim, to all of whom I am deeply indebted. Bob Reno's idea about a Fort Benning Sports Hall of Fame is worthy of consideration. How about it, Mr. Roberts? What has the Sports Office got to say? Is the idea feasible. Col. Todd? Let us know and we'll gladly print your answers.

Baseball Forecaster

Believe me I really profited from this leave: As a result of a great deal of intense research within inches of my television set, I am now in a position to tell you who will win this year's Major League pennants.

It's simple, really. Just fill up a couple of crystal balls, one marked American and the other National, with about 800 ballplayers, stir gently with a banner on which a picture of Johnny Podres carefully has been drawn in by a scorecard-marking pencil, seal with Yogi Berra's catcher's mit and Willie Mays' cap (sure to be lying along a baseball path along which "Say Hey!" has just sprinkled), touch three times with an enlarged picture of Leo Durocher's thumb pointing to an umpire, and all the answers you need are there.

No question about it — the Yankees will beat Brooklyn, four games to two, in the 1956 World Series — unless, of course, two other teams are playing, like the Red Sox and Cardinals.

Why Put it off any longer? Here is the exact way the pennant races will finish this year. By the way, Please See JAY'S JOURNEY.

No "blue sky" claims . . . Just Proof of Performance

This letter from a large independent engine service specialist in Illinois is typical of many in our files:

Why are we installing so many Triple Electrode Auburn-Plugs? That's easy—they perform better in all kinds of engines, give increased power and gas mileage and far longer plug life. Here are three examples that came up this week:

1. A '54 Nash Statesman never got more than 8,000 miles on plugs until we installed Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes. When the owner traded the car this week, we checked our records and found that those Auburns had 53,000 miles on them and were still in perfect shape.
2. A '52 Ford truck used to get from 5,000 to 8,000 miles on a set of plugs. His first set of Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes has now rolled up 41,000 miles and they're still going strong.
3. For a test, we put a set of Auburn TC-3's in one truck of a newspaper fleet we service. After one month and 10,000 miles, the plugs are in new condition and gas mileage is the best of any truck in the fleet. We're putting Auburn Triple Electrodes in the rest of the fleet as fast as they come into the shop.

Two members of the company, Sfc. Ashley and Pvt. William Chavez, have been placed on TDY to the Post baseball team. Ashley is a very good prospect for the first team.

Sgt. Leonard Platten and Efc. Phibes Carter were among the top men of the 151st Engineer Group rifle team. Both men have been selected to try out for the Post team. Carter was a member of the "Red" team which won the TIC Team Marksmanship Trophy.

Pfc. Jack Farley has been chosen to fire for the Post Pistol Team as he showed outstanding marksmanship while firing on the 151st Group Pistol Team.

NATIONAL AMERICAN
New York
Chicago
Cleveland
Detroit
Kansas City
Los Angeles
Philadelphia
Pittsburgh
Washington

The reasons for my choices are simple. I'll explain it by leagues.

National—Brooklyn will not be the world-beaters they were the first half of 1953, but even without them they have enough pitching to get by with the aid of their prodigious sluggers. One key injury to someone like Roy Campanella, Duke Snider or even Carl Furillo, though, and the team will be lost. Randy Jackson is a good man to have around, should anything happen to Jackie Robinson. Age could prove the team's downfall, but since they are World Champions, it's hard to pick against them.

The Cardinals are the most improved club in the league, particularly with the return of Vinegar Bend Mitchell. One good trade for a pitcher and this club could go all the way.

Milwaukee is a strong contender, and could be even stronger with a big season by Ed Mathews. The Redlegs should insure out the Giants and Phillies for bottom spot in the first division, if only because they have one of baseball's smartest managers, Birdie Tebbets. A couple of good pitchers would help any manager. That's the one thing Birdie lacks.

The Giants are a question mark, as is their new manager, Bill Rigney. They could finish anywhere. Let me give them fifth place. The Phillies have Robin Roberts, who could use a sound Curt Simmons for a partner.

The Cubs possess Ernie Banks and foolishly traded Ransom Jackson. They've got lots of rookies, but probably not much talent. The Pirates, even though Bobby Bragan, are still the Pirates. Who knows? Maybe with a lot of work, they could climb out of the cellar.

Changing Leagues
American—The Yankees are a cinch. If Mickey Mantle could avoid his lightheadedness for one season, he should have the greatest year of his life. The deal for Mickey McDermott surely didn't hurt. What's more, the squad has a Stengel stand-by—Desver. Don't be too surprised if Norm Siebern, now with Denver, finishes the season in left field.

The Red Sox rookies are coming of age; the White Sox have Billy Pierce and Larry Doby, the Indians have old-age problems and haven't Larry Doby, which just about sums up the rest of the first division. If Ted Williams plays a full season, Boston could give the Yankees a real race for the title. The only real gem in the Cleveland picture is Herb Score. He should be great for years to come.

Detroit's rookie sensations are now sophomores, but they require some pitching aid before jumping up in the standings. Kansas City may really "surprise a lot of people," but will surprise me if they don't wind up in the sixth spot. The Orioles, under Paul Richards, should hold onto seventh place, because the Senators have every right to serve as doormats. Besides, I don't like Chuck Dressen.

"Passes All Over the World"

Learning to fly at King's School of Aviation can be advantageous to you. We can give you these concrete examples. The ACE has a fine helicopter program by which an enlisted man can become a helicopter pilot and Warrent Officer.

We can name three men who first learned to fly at King's School of Aviation before taking helicopter training. Each of these men—ROY JACKSON, HOMER ALLISON and JACK CAREY—were the honor graduates in their class.

If you are planning on attending any Army flight school, we recommend that you learn to fly beforehand. You may not be an honor graduate like the above men, who learned to fly at King's School of Aviation, but you will be far ahead of the pack in flying skill.

Flying lessons, aircraft rentals, new and used aircraft sales, and trip rentals are a specialty at King's School of Aviation, headquarters for all flying in the Chattahoochee Valley. We want to serve you with all your aviation needs. Start your flying career today, at King's School of Aviation, Inc. Dial 2-4758. (Adv.)

OFF WITH THE OLD—ON WITH THE NEW IN 15 MINUTES—Special equipment plus highly skilled technicians permit The Muffler Shop, 14th Street at 4th Ave., to completely install new exhaust systems, including muffler and tail pipe in just 15 minutes. Residents of this area have shown a definite preference for this time saving service, especially since there is no charge for installation of mufflers and the cost of the muffler and clamps is the only charge.

Modern Life Demands Less Lost Time, Muffler Shop Saves You Hours, Dollars

Specializing has come into the automobile muffler business. Through use of special equipment and restricting their business to automobile and truck exhaust systems, The Muffler Shop, 14th Street at 4th Ave., offers 15 minute service. This specialization brings to motorists the services of highly trained and practical exhaust system technicians.

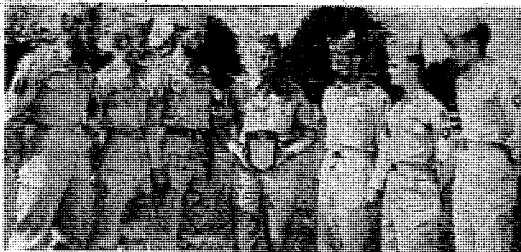

With the largest stock of mufflers and tail pipes to be found in this part of the state, The Muffler Shop is ready to go to work on your car almost the instant you drive in.

Because automobile and truck mufflers, exhaust systems, etc. are the only business of The Muffler Shop, the guarantee is good from coast to coast. Mr. George N. Gergen, manager of The Muffler Shop, pointed out that there is no additional charge for this life-time guarantee, and that prices of all mufflers, with their installation included, will save the average car owner several dollars.

Mufflers on 1940 to 1953 Chevrolet and Buick are only $25. On 1953 Ford's the price is only $22.50 with a few cents extra for clamps and tax. Similar low prices are offered on other makes and models.

Operating similar shops specializing in automotive exhaust systems in Mobile, Macon and Montgomery, The Muffler Shopbers in quantity at low prices to permit these low prices, with the savings passed out to the customer.

MEMBERS OF THE BRIGADE ... PLATE PRESENTED TO HIM BY COL. EARL F. KILNER, commander, The School Brigade. Runners up for the title, looking on, are: Sgt. Clyde M. Sandul, H. and H. Co., 4th Bn.; Sfc. John F. LaVoie, Co. H, 1st Sd.; Sp-3 Joseph D. Burdette, Hq. and Hq. Co., TSB; Pfc. Taylor; Sfc. Arthur L. Woods, 21st Co., 2nd Bn.; Sp-2 Larry E. Allen, H. and S. Co., 3rd Bn.; and Sp-2 Ronald E. Stronach, H. and S. Co., 5th Bn.

127 Finish Ranger Class

Approximately 127 members of The Infantry School's Ranger class No. 8 were to be graduated today at 11 a.m.

Ceremonies were to be held in Harmony Church building No. 37, near Ranger headquarters, culminating seven weeks of intensive training.

Principal speaker was to be Col. Orville Z. Tyler, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., director of The Infantry School's Staff Department. He was to be introduced by Col. John J. Dalton of Mamaroneck, N. Y., Ranger Department director.

The invocation was to be made by Chaplain (Major) William C. Ford of Rochester, N. Y.

The 28th Army Band was to play for the graduation.

Lawson Does It Itself, Won't Wait

The men of the 57th Medical Detachment (HCPTB AMB), Lawson Army Airfield Command, have turned from medical engineers and begun "operating" on the defunct floor of their orderly room and supply room.

By taking heed of General Europe's new economy drive, the 57th joined the long line of "Do It Yourselfers" that have popped up around the country within the last year.

The men of the 57th have just about completed a new floor in their building with their own manpower. The Post Engineers, due to their limited budget, could give only enough wood to replace certain sections of the floor and were unable to furnish any physical assistance. However, this did not deter the enlisted men of the 57th and the floor is complete except for sanding and finishing.

So now the medical can walk where even ambulances are afraid to tread a short while ago.

NEW TIE NCO

Sergeant Richard O. Kellogg of Memphis, Tenn., last week was assigned as Troop Instruction and Education NCO for Special Troops Command. This veteran of more than 22 years service served with the Canadian Army for approximately eight months before transferring to the American Army. After the outbreak of WWII he was with the 31st Inf. Regt. of the 7th Inf. Div. during the Korean conflict. Sgt. Kellogg was with the Infantry School Detachment before coming to the Special Troops Command.

The World In Review

Ike Asks Congress Not to Slice Aid

President Eisenhower sent word to Congress Monday that any substantial cut in his $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program this time "would greatly endanger the security of the United States." Eisenhower's views were relayed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Secretary of State Dulles following White House conference.

In Defense of the program which has undergone repeated attacks recently Dulles testified: "To have this program appreciably reduced, interfered with, or put in jeopardy would gravely endanger the security of the United States." He stated that it was the considered judgment of the President and all of his advisors.

Hearing Held Tues. On Marine Disaster

A hearing was held Tuesday to investigate the Farris Island Marine Disaster by the House Armed Services Committee. The hearing was open to the public and was aimed toward getting "all the details" on the death of the six Marine recruits earlier this month at Farris Island, S.C. The hearing was scheduled after Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) and Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.) conferred with Gen. Ralph D. Pate, Marine Corps Commandant. Pate testified at the hearing.

Mission Nears End As Incidents Flare

Israel said Monday that its casualties from weekend incidents on the Egyptian-Israeli border amounted to have dead and one wounded. Both sides blamed the other for the flareup. These accusations came as U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold neared the end of his peace mission to the Middle East. He held a final meeting in Cairo Monday morning with Egyptian Foreign Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo close to Hammarskjold's 22 pressed belief that the weekend disturbances would not affect the outcome of his mission.

U. S. Announces H-Bomb Perfected

The United States disclosed Sunday that it has perfected a hydrogen bomb war-head for use on the ocean. The intercontinental ballistic missile ICBM now under development. The Air Force announced that it would be only a matter of time before the ICBM is ready for use. The city wrecking missile is often called the "ultimate weapon." Officials have said that it could span the ocean and come crashing down on an unsuspecting city at several times the speed of sound.

RECYCLE SCHOOLS SET

Fort Benning's Recycle School, conducted by The Infantry Center, Provest Marshal's Section, will be held May 19 and 20. The "hour-long sessions for youngsters 6-15 years old will stress rules of the road." Capt. Thomas D. Harburt of Menard Det., 1st operations office of the Provest Marshal's Section, is director of the school.

Post to Host Top Civilians During JCOC

The Army's latest equipment and combat readiness will be shown here at approximately 70 of the nation's leading business and professional men at Joint Civilian Orientation Conference No. 12 May 9 to 12.

Outstanding civilian leaders from throughout the U. S. have been invited by the Department of Defense to attend the Army's portion of JCOC at The Infantry School.

A full five-day schedule, geared to show how tax dollars fit into the country's defense program, has been planned for the JCOC's who arrive at noon May 8.

Schedule begins with luncheon at Ft. Benning, followed by an informal reception and dinner at 5 p.m.

He also served at Fort Benning and Fort Shafter, Minn.; Fifth Corps Area, Fort Hayes, Ohio; 32nd Infantry, Fort Ord, Calif.; G-3 Section, War Department General Staff; Headquarters Army Group Forces, Fort Bragg, N.C.; 75th Division at Fort Wood, Mo.; the Louisiana maneuvers and Fort Breckinridge, Ky.

Shooting Underway In 3-Army Matches

Major Carl W. Byas of Fort Benning took up where he left last year on the first rifle match to be fired in the 1956 Third Army Rifle-Pistol Matches here Tuesday.

Mt. Sgt. Roy Ratliff of the 2nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C. grabbed top honors in the first pistol event.

Major Byas, defending champion, shot a 97 out of a possible 100, with 10 7's in the Third Infantry Division Rifle Match, while Ratliff came up with 181 out of 200 yards, while pistolers shot a 50 yards, using a .22 caliber pistol or revolver.

All rifle events are held at McClellan Range, while pistolers take aim at the Fort Benning Pistol Club Range.

Second- and third-place rifle awards went to Sgt. John Byrd of Fort Benning, with 97 and 9 7's, and PFC Finton Stewart of Fort Campbell, Ky., with 97 and 7 7's.

A May 13 Event Further Plans Made For Garroway Show

The post's project officer for the "Wide World" program is to be telecast at the Infantry School May 13, in Washington, D.C. and New York City this week making final arrangements for the show.

Col. Roland M. Gleszer of Banor, Me., is conferring with Department of Army officials and National Broadcasting Company producer Norman Frank.

"Wide World" will be telecast in commemoration of U.S. Armed Forces Day.

Fort Benning, home of the Army Infantry School and training ground for Allied students from throughout the world, was selected several months ago as the scene for the Army's portion of the Dave Garroway show.

Armed Forces Activities. Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps installations also will be included in the "Wide World" program, which will be a live presentation of Armed Forces activities.

Col. Gleszer said that the post's portion will open with a flying demonstration to show how infantrymen use their weapons to support an at-

With accent on action packed combat scenes, the camera will switch to another area of the reservation for demonstrations of new equipment including the Nike missile, 280-mm atomic cannon, howitzer, John rocket, mechanical mule personnel carrier, the aerocycle machine and the Corporal missile.

Albino Drop An airborne drop showing a paratrooper's descent from a C-119 aircraft will be filmed by a camera-man who drops with the airborne troops. He will use a new Army Signal Corps "creepy-peepy" TV camera.

A battalion of men as well as heavy equipment will be dropped from the sky and the show will end with a glimpse of an infantry tank team in assault against a simulated enemy.

Col. Gleszer announced that the post narrator for the show will be Paul Milan, assigned to the Infantry School's tactical Department.

NBC telecasters as well as Department of Army project officers and Signal Corps technical advisers will arrive here about May 11 to make last minute arrangements for the show.

Col. Gleszer is scheduled to return to the post this weekend April 28-29.

Gen. Lindquist Named As Post's Deputy C.G.

Brig. Gen. Roy E. Lindquist, active duty, he is a 1936 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy. He attended the Infantry School's Commanding Officers Course in 1944. The 48-year-old officer was stationed with the 25th Inf. Regt. here before the outbreak of World War II and qualified as a paratrooper in 1941. He was then assigned to Fort Benning, Ga., as a quartermaster, which has since developed into the Airborne School.

He activated and trained the 38th Parachute Inf. Reg. here prior to taking it overseas, where he participated in numerous combat operations including the parachute jumps into Normandy and Holland.

Decorations Gen. Lindquist's decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters and the Purple Heart.

He is a 1946 graduate of the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and was graduated from the National War College, Fort McNair, at Washington, D. C., in 1951.

New Post PX Opens April 28

Fort Benning's new $360,000 Main Post Exchange was formally opened as Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry Center commander, cut the ribbon in ceremonies April 28.

The main building, comprising 11,000 square feet, and one wing housing barber, tailor and beauty shops have been completed.

Two additional wings are under construction. They will house a washeteria, shoe repair shop, photographic studio, dry cleaning pick-up station, snack bar, delicatessen and TV and radio repair shop, according to Lt. Col. Lawrence L. Larsen of Copanish, Mich., post exchange officer.

The new building is air conditioned and features decorator tones of cameo pink interiors and birch finished fixtures.

Fort Benning's first post exchange was built in 1922. The exchange moved into Doughboy Stadium when that structure was completed in 1924. In 1940 it was moved a second time, to the frame building it has occupied to the present time.

MUTE TESTIMONY... A pseudo-grave at The Infantry School gives mute supporting testimony to the post's intensive safety campaign, which is being conducted through July 8. First Lt. Corwin C. Furtick, right, of Columbus, safety officer of The Infantry School Operations Office, constructed the impressive display. Looking on are SFC William N. Stringfellow, left, of Albany, Ga., and Mrs. Thekla Gilbert of Columbus.

Airborne Class Cross-Section Of the Military

Airborne class No. 10 which graduated April 26, was a representative cross-section of American military might, with two Indonesian officers representing an Allied power. Graduation ceremonies for 214 men were held at Chapel Field at 2 p.m.

The class consisted of 106 officers and 108 enlisted men. Officers include three Marines, four Air Force personnel, two Indonesians with the remainder being from the U. S. Army. Among the enlisted members of the class were 20 Marines, 14 Army and 74 Army personnel.

In order to qualify men as paratroopers, all services normally send them to the Infantry School for airborne training, one of the most strenuous courses offered in the Armed Forces.

The Air Force averages about 25 men a class. The Marine group has the largest average of eight per class.

Chief speaker for the graduation ceremony was Major General James A. Dwyer, commander of the Infantry School. Other dignitaries in attendance included Major General Fred W. Stewart, 1st Lt. Corwin C. Furtick, right, and Major General Joseph H. Harper.

Spring and Faith

By CHAP. IRVIN A. SHERMAN

There is a similarity between the revelation of the Spring season and an individual's faith in God. For the beauty of each in the soil, the certainty of the bearing, the warmth of the air, the sun and moon, and stars of God.

'Queen of Battle'

"Ordinance and Ordinance." Both these words are very important — "Ordinance" can be described as a local law or regulation established and passed by a committee's duly elected officials, or during one of those well-known town meetings. Then, remove one letter and you have "Ordinance." This is the name of a vitally important branch of the Army — for the Ordinance Corps is chiefly concerned with the approval, inspection and maintenance of the Army's vehicles and fighting units. Saturday night on WBFL — immediately following the sports roundup after the game — you'll hear the story of the Ordinance Corps on "Queen of Battle."

The Last Round

By Frank O'Rourke (Morrow, 192 pages).

In a novel of big-time boxing, the life of Joey Semakalis, the "Kid," is told. Excitement, tension, and violence are all combined in this fictionalized account of a green, young fighter's rise to fame and fortune. It's a good boxing story written with the authority of a veteran.

Library Concert

What is American music? Any music lover will readily admit that there is no American music, but many kinds of music. The record concert at the Main Post Library next Tuesday night will illustrate this by featuring two highly contrasting symphonies by the American composer, Howard Hanson. The first is Roy Harris' Symphony No. 2, and the second is Howard Hanson's Symphony No. 4. Harris and Hanson were both born in the heart of the American Midwest but from that common starting point their careers and their forms of musical expression developed in completely opposite directions. Hanson followed his musical career purposefully and enthusiastically but from that common starting point their careers and their forms of musical expression developed in completely opposite directions. ## Bond Drive Results Good

The post's 1956 U.S. Savings Bond Drive resulted in a 60 per cent participation by military personnel. During the campaign, 330 civilian employees initiated new payroll savings deduction, increasing civilian participation 55 per cent. The drive totals have been very encouraging and indicate a definite increase in participation by both military and civilian personnel.

THE SCHOOL BRIGADE P & M SHOP

Brigade's P & M Shop Performs Varied Duties

"You name it, we'll do it" is the motto of the United States Army and Maintenance Shop run by the S-4 Section of the School Brigade. The shop performs all types of maintenance on buildings and grounds for the entire School Brigade. Carpentery is but one of their specialties. In this department they not only make repairs such as replacing worn out steps, locks, and window frames, but also make minor additions such as plumbing fixtures. They repair leaks and stoppages in windows and doors. They paint all quartermaster equipment such as lockers and helmet liners. They paint signs and make special training aids. They build parking lots and repair cement sidewalks and parking areas. They maintain 241 acres of grass, and do general beautification of the area. They replace all burned out light bulbs. A carpenter shop, fully equipped with power tools is supervised by senior carpenter SFC Joseph F. Streigle of New Britain, Conn. He also supervises the carpenters on the job. Tarkley of MOS's. The 31 enlisted men carry a wide variety of MOS's. Carpenters, plumbers, illustrators, painters, utilities foremen and utility soldiers are all employed to carry out the mission of the section. 1st Lt. John E. Massey is in charge of the operation. Formerly with the Post Engineers, he was placed in charge of the P and M Shop recently. He is a native of Knoxville, Tenn. where he was a graduate from High School in 1948. He was president of the Phi Sigma Chi fraternity at the University of Tennessee, graduating with an AB degree in 1954. His wife, Mary Kate, and his two-year-old son, Steve, live with him in Columbus. Assisting Lt. Massey is M-Sgt. Raymond P. Toussaint, whose job covers the supervision of all the numerous activities of the post department, assists with administrative matters and supervises the men on the job. He is a native of Detroit, Mich., where he attended high school. His wife, Vivian, who is an employee of the Post Commissary, resides with him in Columbus. In charge of the supply for these many activities is Sp-3 Luis G. Rosado.

Purpose Two-Fold
The purpose of this centralized maintenance is two-fold. First, The School Brigade has only a skeleton cadres in its companies. The companies themselves being composed of students. This precludes the use of cadre to make minor repairs as is usually done at company level. Second, the centralized setup saves on supply, since individual companies do not each have to stock up on maintenance items. So if you need repairs or additions, just call the P and M Shop of The School Brigade. Their emergency crew will be there in no time flat.

Rockets to Dig GIs' Foxholes

WASHINGTON (UP)—No more foxholes digging for GIs—maybe there's trying out rockets for their back-breaking job. The Army told a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony released yesterday it has tested a rocket-propelled foxhole digger. The "digger" consists of light weight cardboard container which is placed on the ground. A rocket is inserted in the top and then fired directly into the ground. The Army said the resulting explosion makes a hole large enough for a full gun crew.

Group Finalizes CP Telethon Plans

Final plans for the weekend telethon to benefit United Cerebral Palsy were wrapped up at the telethon committee meeting yesterday. The 17-hour simulcast will be presented from the stage of the Royal Theatre, 1029 Talbott Rd., beginning at 10 p. m. Saturday. The performers will be seen over WRRL-TV and WDAK-TV and heard over radio stations WDCB, WRRL, WGBA, WCLB and WFTX.

Serving as hostesses for the telethon will be eight of the city's prettiest fashion models, Betty Brown, Mable Bailey, Mary Riddle, Bess Dowling, Janet Knorr, Doris Satterwhite, Beth Farrington and June Wills. Master of ceremonies for the telethon will be one of the "all-time old-timers" in the entertainment field, Edmet Kelly, the inimitable, sad-faced clown from Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, will support Brown in the comedy situations on the show. Other performers booked for the telethon are Thelma Vadlock, Hit Parade dancer; Marilyn Carter, nightclub and video performer; Bobby Scott, 18-year-old recording artist and TV star whose first record, "Chain Gang," sold more than 200,000 copies; Judy Lynn, Broadway actress; talent from Special Services at Fort Benning, Maxwell Air Force Base and Fort McPherson and local television and radio favorites.

Conducting yesterday's committee meeting in the absence of chairman A. Perry Gordy was William J. Simkins Jr., president of the local Cerebral Palsy affiliate. Committee members expressed confidence the $75,000 goal will be met and surpassed this weekend. Attending the session were Tod Owens, treasurer of the local CP office; Sidney Spandorfer, chairman of the state CP organization; Mrs. Mary Marler, chairman of the CP children; William Marler, board member; Richard Aidinges, talent coordinator; Calvin Pratt, publicity chairman; Clyde Fountain, accounting chairman; William Owens, religious chairman; Barbara Millener, chairman of the telethon volunteers - pledges committee; Felix Patrick, chairman of support; Charles McClure, general manager, WGBA. (Press Columbus Ledger)

Georgia's Caves, Rock Formations Reminiscent of Southwestern U. S.

BY BOB RENO
(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of Post Special Services articles describing places of interest in Georgia where Post Signaling personnel may visit during the summer months.)
Old Mother Nature displays her wonders as indiscriminately and carelessly as the Russians do their propaganda, yet, many newcomers to Georgia feel that the only interesting things in the state are of historical significance.
But not more than 45 miles from Columbus on highway 27 south toward the Florida state line are caves and rock formations that are reminiscent of the southwest and west.

Left from Lumpkin on the unpaved portion of highway 27 are located the Providence Caverns, sometimes known as the Grand Caverns of Georgia.
The term, however applies more specifically to the second and largest canyon. This outcropping canyon has a basin that covers more than 3,000 acres, and the chasm is about 30 feet wide and 200 feet deep.

Species of Destruction
Although the gullies are spots of destruction, their great size and the delicate colors of their vertical walls give them a strange and haunting beauty. Red, yellow, brown, mauve, lavender, jade, ochre, orange and chalk white appear in the different strata of the soil with white and yellow predominating. Camera fans especially those with color film loaded, may have a shudder bug's paradise here.
Geologists say the erosion began about 50 years ago, and the gullies have formed with almost amazing rapidity until they have become a serious menace.

Red clay, blue marl, shell and a yellow clay have yielded readily to the devastation, and now the erodee process is eating through a layer of chalk.

Cling Perilously
Trees, leaning outward and awry, cling perilously by their roots to the perpendicular wall. Small lands, which have not as yet risen, even way, rise like pinnacles from

3-Div. Wireman Came To U. S. as Immigrant

It was Jan. 1954, and the young German immigrant and his wife, landing in New York, found themselves strangers in a strange land. Now, 37 months later the immigrant is a wireman in Battery A, 10th F. A. Bn., 3d Division.

But to Hans Nieberle, a former accountant from Munich, Germany, America was exciting from the very first, and the American people seemed friendly and willing to help him.

Born in Munich in Jan. 1929, Hans grew up in war torn Germany. Looking for a new and better life, he came to America.

Through an uncle in the Midwest, who sponsored his trip from Germany, Hans obtained a job as a machinist and established a home in Chicago, Ill.
Then through long hours of study he mastered the English language until now he can speak it fluently with just a faint trace of a German accent.

In Jan. 1956, Hans' new country called him to duty and he left a new challenge, that of being a soldier. But instead of just "putting in his time," he was determined to obtain his citizenship papers, received more easily by being a serviceman than as a civilian.

Realizing that in becoming a citizen he would have greater opportunity for advancement, he prepared himself to study. In March 1956, Hans by passing the test became a citizen of the United States, one of his proudest moments as an American.

Pfc Nieberle now plans to return to school and study electrical engineering after his army service is ended.

Pvt. Nieberle stated that as an European immigrant he realizes the great advantages of education in the American army, advantages which the average American soldier fails to use.

He has been successful in passing the G.E.D. high school test and presently is taking courses through USARF in preparation for returning to school.

Soldier From India Wants U. S. Citizenship

"My aim in life is to be allowed to stay in the United States," says Pvt. Karnail S. Mahal, a native of a town called Mahal Gola in the District of Jullundur, India. Pvt. Mahal is a member of Hq. and Hq. Co. 758.

The District of Jullundur is in Punjab Province in northern India. It was there that Pvt. Mahal attended the Khales High School in Bundala, graduating in 1942. In 1946 he was graduated with honors from the University of Punjab, majoring in the Persian language.

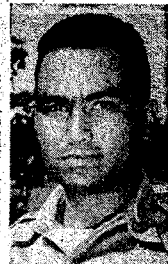

Pvt. Mahal speaks five languages which he explains as follows: Persian, the language of Iran; Urdu and Punjabi, both spoken in Pakistan; Hindustani or Hindi, the language of India, and English.

Because of this skill in languages, Pvt. Mahal is presently assigned to the Allied Liaison Section, where he acts as interpreter when the occasion arises.

Arrived Here As Student
Pvt. Mahal arrived in this country in Aug. 1954 as a student, and attended Yuba College in Marysville, Calif., for three terms. Being unable to continue college because of financial difficulties, and also not wishing to return to India, he enlisted in the Army in Nov. 1955.

"In the United States life is good, people are nice and a man can do any work he likes," is his explanation for wanting to stay here. He is still not assured that he can, since he is here on a student visa. He is hoping his Army service will enable him to realize his desire for United States citizenship.

This desire is not diminished by the fact that his parents, his wife and three children are still in India. They are farmers in Mahal Gola, which is near Lahore. Their chances of getting to this country are remote, since Pvt. Mahal

PVT. KARNAIL S. MAHAL
The place of women has improved under the present regime. They are now eligible to vote and polygamy has been banned. Pvt. Mahal explained that this affected Sikh, Hindu or Moslem.

worked nine years for his student visa.

Old Customs Going
Government efforts and education have done much since India's freedom in 1947 to wipe out the old customs which for years had handicapped the advancement of India.

The Untouchables, the poverty-stricken oppressed caste, has been legally abolished. They are now encouraged to go to the same churches, schools, restaurants and other public places used by the higher castes.

Pvt. Mahal states that this is working with the new generation. The older people are still handicapped by an age-old sense of inferiority.

Higher education is largely on a private basis, high schools and colleges usually being run by the various religious sects: Christian, Sikh, Hindu or Moslem.

'Royal Hiranian Air Force' Scientists Settle On Arctic Ice Cap

Editor's Note — The following story was written for The Associated Press by Terkel M. Terkelsen, editor-in-chief of the Copenhagen newspaper Berlingske Tidende, after a visit to one of the six U. S. tasks group stations on the Greenland ice cap.

BY TERKEL M. TERKELSEN
SOENDRØ STROMFJORD Air Base Greenland — Deep in the white desert of the Greenland ice cap six groups of Americans are settling down for months of chilly loneliness.

They wear yellow scarves and full beards and proudly announce their allegiance to the Royal Hiranian Air Force.

The men who man the ice cap stations have been flown to the bush-bush operation. Their job is to collect information as part of America's contribution to the International Geophysical Year, 1957-58. During the months ahead they will prepare the scientific effort to be made in Greenland next year.

The six bases have been established over the last three weeks. It has been done by permission of the Danish government and assisted by Danish Liaison personnel.

PFC EARL K. MARCUS

By now, a territory of a couple of hundred square miles of the ice cap wastes is populated by a handful of Americans in glasswood lined parka coats, jumbo sized padded trousers and smart, inflated rubber boots that cost a small fortune a pair.

This correspondent flew along with the men of "Site 31," the fifth of the six ice cap stations. A recommendation by the Danish government persuaded U. S. authorities to permit me to go.

I got on the track of this operation at the Soendero Stromfjord base—the wartime Blue West One—when I stumbled on a hut with the sign "Hiran Træk Group" over the door. The commander of the group, Col. Robert W. Gates, did not explain "Hiran."

He told me the first ice cap station was established at the beginning of April. It was named "Site 30" and is to serve as headquarters for the remaining five.

He offered me a bucket seat in the plane that was to fly out to establish the last station but one.

Go we flew, off in an old Dakota (C47) plane with Col. Gates at the controls. He was in high spirits. "Nothing can happen to me in this plane," he said.

The colonel said he got a fourth of the wing of the same plane shot off in 1944 when he was flying supplies to surrounded American troops near Saadogah. He jumped back to base and did not see the plane again until it turned up in his Greenland task group.

"If that is not a good omen you may kick my pants all over Greenland," he said.

We came down in a shower of snow at a point on the ice cap almost 12,000 feet above sea level. It was near the site where French explorer Paul Emile Victor spent several years. Remains of his camp, which he left in 1933, could still be seen.

There we were, 23 men and three airplanes in the icy wastes. An assortment of equipment was sent out into the virgin snow. The men went to work and the first tent was erected in less than 30 minutes while the snow was being melted into drinking water on the tent oven.

Marcus Wins STC Honors

Appearance, military bearing, attention to duty and willingness to comply with all orders and directives has won for Pfc. Earl K. Marcus, Co. "A," 1st Special Troops Bn., STC, the title of Soldier of the Month for the month of March.

In his assigned duties as Accounting Specialist in the Post Finance Office, PFC Marcus is responsible for the accountability and commitment control of the Post Stock Funds, accounts, and maintains the journals and ledgers involved.

A native of Ashland, Nebraska, he graduated from Ashland High School in 1950, and from the University of Nebraska in 1954. PFC Marcus entered the Army in Silver Street, Ashland, Nebraska.

In October 1954 and received basic training at Fort Bliss, Tex. He attended the Army Finance School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. before coming here in May, 1955.

For his accomplishments as an outstanding soldier, Marcus was presented an engraved trophy by the STC Commander, Col. Henry M. Zeller, during ceremonies held on Stillwell Field, April 30.

Aside from his display of outstanding soldierly qualities, PFC Marcus also teaches high school mathematics two nights a week at the Troop Information and Education Center.

PFC Marcus is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel M. Marcus of 1817 Silver Street, Ashland, Nebraska.

ROTC Group Gets Briefing

The second group of ROTC cadets to receive a glimpse of military life here arrived April 27 from five colleges and universities in two states.

Approximately 500 cadets came from the Georgia State College of Business Administration and Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, Mercer University in Macon, Jacksonville (Ala.) State Teachers College and Florida Southern College in Lakeland.

Besides a bus tour of the post they observed Infantry School ranges and airborne training the 44th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon in action, visited Co. A, E and I of the 20th Inf. Regt. and received a briefing on The Infantry School's Automotive Department.

They witnessed one of the Army's most colorful ceremonies—a formal guard mount drill staged by troops of Hqs. & Hq. Co., 25th Inf. Regt.

The cadets returned to their colleges and universities April 28.

This week the third group of ROTC students is scheduled to visit the post.

Project officer in charge of the cadet orientation program is Capt. Robert V. Olose of St. Petersburg, Fla., who is assigned to The Infantry Center G-3 (Plans and Operations) Section.

Former French Legionnaire Serves in School Brigade

He's 28 years old, but few people can boast of the action-packed history this Polish born soldier has as a background. Five of these 28 years were spent in German forced-labor camps, five years in the French Foreign Legion, and now one year in the U. S. Army.

But let's meet this man. He is Pfc Jerry Gruzewski of Hq. 41st Co., TSB. Born in Poland in 1927, he was in the fifth grade when the Polish Army marched into Poland, and from that time on school was out for good, for he was taken by the Germans and placed into forced farm labor outside of Lodz, Poland. This lasted for four years, and he was then forced to build tank traps. All this work for no pay and very little to eat.

In January of '45, when the Russians entered Poland, the Germans took all able-bodied men to Germany for more forced labor. Those who were too old, the sick and the lame, were either shot by orders of the Gestapo, or

He worked on farms until May of '45 when he was released from the camp. He returned to his home town and found it a shambles. Unable to find work that would pay a living wage, he slipped through to Germany and joined a Polish labor company and drove a truck for the American Army at Mannheim. In February of '46 the truck company was sent to Paris, France to relieve a similar unit manned by German PWs.

It was at this point that Gruzewski quit his truck driving job and joined the French Foreign Legion on a five year contract. He took 16 weeks of training at Fer in Morocco, Africa, and was then sent to Indo-China to fight for the French. He completed 24 months of combat and was rotated back to Marseilles, Algeria, where he completed his five years in the Legion and was sent back to France.

Gruzewski worked for a while in France, but once again returned to Germany and a labor service company. It was in May of '48 that he joined the United States Army and was sent to Fort Dix, N. J. for his basic training. Now

WACs Add Frosting To Rifle Competition

Many people get the knock of this quickly, but it took a couple of WACs, currently here to adapt to a transition from teaching statistics and playing a French horn to shooting an M-1 30 caliber rifle.

In one case, the shooting is left-handed. It's just part of adding a little extra frosting to the Third Army Rifle-Pistol Matches, now in progress at The Infantry Center.

Capt. Bernice Strube of S a A Franciscan, Cal. is the left-handed shooter, who needs her non-firing time instructing WAC officers in map reading, effective military writing and statistics at the WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Ala.

SFC Roberta J. Dunham of Gooding, Idaho combines her swimming and singing with her firing time instructing WAC officers in map reading, effective military writing and statistics at the WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Ala.

As proof that one should "never underestimate the power of a woman", Capt. Strube averages 216 out of 250 in the National Rifle Association course. Her enlisted cohort shoots just a couple of points lower.

They both have been shooting since the age of 12. The captain is a pistol expert, but she prefers the rifle since it "is more fun and also more consistent." There is one problem, though: "There's also more stuff to haul around."

The WAC firer began her military career in the Navy, before becoming an Army second lieutenant in 1949. She began her competitive shooting at the University of California in Berkeley, where she graduated in 1954. Other hobbies are archery, sailing and skiing, "though I don't do much of that in Alabama."

SFC Dunham won second place for girls in the Idaho State Matches in 1952, 53 and 54. At the time she was shooting a .22 caliber rifle.

The WAC Chorus, has been listed for an appearance on the Perry Como television show, and Robbie WAC Band, only one of its kind in the Army, travels to New York City June 11 for a series of appearances.

Both women admit male competitors from other teams seem to spend a lot of time in the Fort McClellan assembling area at the Third Army Matches, but they don't voice too much objection.

"On a way it's great sport," they agreed. "We take a lot of kidding but the fellows are really very good about it. And, besides, we can hand it back."

The WAC Chorus, has been listed for an appearance on the Perry Como television show, and Robbie WAC Band, only one of its kind in the Army, travels to New York

Meyer Selected As NCO of Month

High standards of leadership and organizational ability played a major role in the selection of M-Sgt. Ralph E. Meyer, Transfer Point, as STC's Non-Commissioned Officer of the Month for the month of March.

In his assigned duties as Field First Sergeant of the Transfer Point, he constantly strives to improve his section and areas of responsibility.

Sergeant Meyer was presented an engraved trophy by Col. Henry M. Zeller, C.O., STC, symbolizing his selection for this honor at the monthly ceremony held at Stillwell Field, Monday, April 30.

A native of Neptune, N.J., Sgt. Meyer and his wife, Mildred, now reside at 2811 Gardena Street in Columbus.

Defense Says Housing Survey Getting Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has said a survey in Columbus, Ga., for Ft. Benning personnel has been completed and is under "top level" study.

A spokesman said that the survey is in the hands of Floyd S. Bryant, assistant secretary of defense for plants and installations. It was uncertain whether the report would be made public later.

The survey was made by T. R. Casberg of the defense agency housing units for Benning would wreck the real estate economy of Columbus.

Receive No Word

Sen. George an Rep. Forrester of Georgia, who had protested to the Defense Department about approving the units, said they had not had any word about the report.

John H. Williamson, secretary-counsel for the National Access Real Estate Boards, also said he had not heard anything about the survey.

Williamson said the Army was following a familiar pattern in not informing Columbus real estate men of the situation. The Army, he declared, "will not cooperate."

Williamson said that the Army in such cases sent out questionnaires to military personnel, inquiring if they considered their housing adequate or substandard. A house with only one bathroom might not be considered "adequate," he said, to a family that desired two or three bathrooms.

As to substandard housing, he said the Army took "15 or 20 survey pictures" to support their claim that housing was in poor condition.

Local builders, he said, were encouraged to construct housing for the military during the Korean war in areas adjacent to such installations as Ft. Benning.

Now, he said, the Army wants its personnel to live on the bases without regard to the local builders who responded to requests during the last two years.

At Columbus, he said the Defense Department had approved 1,000 Capehart units but real estate men can not determine whether this will be all or that an additional 2,000 units will be approved.

White Cops Top Honors In Spring Handgun Shoot

Joe C. White, U. S. Border Patrol and Immigration Service, Richmond, Va., was the 1955 Spring Handgun Tournament champion. He won here April 29 with an aggregate score of 19,470 and won 11 of the 17 matches in the two day event.

Second place went to M-Sgt. Frank D. Graham with 2597 and Major Leonard D. Robinson with 2557. Graham and Robinson are assigned to the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit at the Infantry Center.

TIC Golf Tourney Slated May 5-6 at Post Course

Golfers from the main post and Third Division will tee-off May 5 and June 14-17, at the Infantry Center Golf Tournament at the Officers' Country Club course. Sam T. Roberts, sports supervisor, TIC Special Services, said that entries in the tournament will be accepted up to 12 noon May 4. The original deadline was set for April 25, but has since been extended.

Benning Boxers Slate Match With Fort Polk

Post fight fans will get their second look at the local boxing team within a month's time, next Thursday, May 10, when Fort Polk, La. invades Briant Wells Field House.

1st Lt. Pete Rademacher, assistant sports officer and post boxing coach, said that he expects a full card of some 15 to 20 Benning fighters will include leather slippers from the main post and Third Division.

Highlighting the local attractions will be Jim Boyd and Rademacher. Boyd is the 1954 Golden Glove light heavyweight champion and Rademacher is a former national AAMU heavyweight title holder as semi-finalist in the 1954 Golden Glove Championships in Chicago during March.

Fish and Skish Tourney Set At King's Pond

The Fort Benning Fish and Game Association will hold a fishermen's delight, a fish and skish tourney, at King's Pond May 5 and 6.

The contest, open to the 3,500 members of the association, will pause for a brief respite between skishing and fishing for a barbecue from 2 to 5 p.m. May 5. Fish and Game members and their families will attend.

The skish competition (bait casting at targets) will begin at 2:30 p.m. May 5. Registration takes place from 2 to 5 p.m. Awards will be presented prior to the barbecue.

The fishing phase of the contest will be held from one minute past midnight May 6 to 5 p.m., to be followed by the presentation of awards at 6 p.m.

Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zierath of Sheboygan, Wis., president of the association, will act as commander of the Third Infantry Division, will make the awards.

Skish competition will be for bait fishing and spinning rod casting. Reels and rods will be offered as prizes. Fishing competition is for the largest bass, blue gill, shell cracker and the best string of three bass, and six blue gills, and junior prize to a competitor under 12 years old for the largest fish.

Reels, rods, minnow buckets, tackle boxes and landing nets constitute the prizes. Awards go to the top three winners in each category for both skishing and fishing.

Farmer Oscar Rock Hill, Conn., owns a Guernsey named "Harryette," which recently gave birth to two hairless heifers. Only one in some 100,000,000 cows is born hairless, according to veterinarians' estimates.

Baker Takes Honors In Post Golf Finals

1st Lt. Walter M. (Tony) Baker captured the 1956 men's Open Officers' Mess golf championship with a 3 victory over Major Walton B. McMullen in the 36-hole final Sunday at the Fort Benning Golf course.

Baker succeeds Lt. Charles Spross, 1952 winner, who was not back to defend his crown. Also crowned Sunday was Mrs. Ann Little, who defeated M. S. Mary Lee Lindenman 3 and 2 to take the women's handicap title. Following Sunday's matches, Major General Joseph H. Harper, post commander, presented winners and runners-up with trophies.

There were 11 flights in the men's play while the ladies competed in four flights, including two for nine-hole players. Baker, the touring hitter from Atlanta, Ga., also walked off with the silver cup for medalist honors in the 36-hole qualifying rounds. Baker had scores of 72 for 4 and 149 total.

Keesler Gets Crown As TIC Tennis Champ

Second Lt. Drury L. Keesler of Charlotte, N. C., captured the Post singles tennis championship this week with tourney awards to be presented May 3. He defeated his doubles partner, 1st Lt. John H. Bremer, in the Main Officers' Open Mens courts. The tennis tourney is an annual affair sponsored by the Officers' Mess.

The awards will be presented by Lt. Col. Loyd R. Salisbury, chairman of the Tennis Committee, at 6:30 p.m. May 9 at the Post House. In the doubles play Monday, Lis. Keesler and Bremer teamed up to win the doubles crown, 6-2, 7-5, in a match with Col. J. M. Williams, former Infantry Center G-3, now on leave pending assignment overseas, and 1st Lt. Bruce M. Tuit of the San Hill Detachment of the Infantry Center.

The playoffs eliminated three weeks of tournament competition in which 29 individuals competed for the singles crown and 16 teams entered doubles play. Lt. Keesler, a graduate of Davidson (N. C.) College, was rated number one varsity tennis player on the Davidson campus during his four years as a student. Among his titles are 1st North Carolina Mens' Single.

2-1-1. Russell G. Nolan scored perfect 500 on PT Test. A perfect score of 500 points in the Physical Fitness test was recently scored by 2nd Lt. Russell G. Nolan of basic Infantry office course, class No. 9.

On April 14, Lt. Nolan scored a maximum number of points on each event, for a score of 500, a perfect record. This is the first perfect score recorded for The Infantry Center this year. Lt. Nolan also set a new individual high by smashing the existing two-minute sit-up record with 94 sit-ups.

He had previously received a Letter of Commendation from Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, Assistant Commandant, The Infantry School, for scoring 485 points in a former test. At that time he resolved to break this year's existing record of 482 points, and a week later he did the perfect score.

Lt. Nolan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Nolan of Auburn, N.Y. Prior to entering the Army in Jan., 1956, Lt. Nolan was graduated from East High School in Auburn in 1951, and from Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N.Y., in 1955.

Col. Amunrud Named Post Finance Officer. Lt. Col. Arnold (sic) A. Amunrud of Indianapolis, Ind., has been named finance and accounting officer of the Infantry Center. He succeeds Col. Ernest G. Doyel of Crawfordsville, Ind., who retired April 30 following more than 34 years' Army service. Col. Amunrud was staff finance officer of the Second Logistical Command at Fort Bragg, N. C., from last September until his assignment to Fort Benning.

Woman's Tourney Set at Post Links For May 4-18

Qualifying for the annual women's club championship will begin at the Fort Benning golf club May 4 and continue through May 21. The women's tournament announced this week. Championship play will be conducted May 23, 24, and 25. The low flight qualifiers will be placed in the championship flights. All others will be placed in flights of eight.

Mrs. Gloria Eilers, the defending champion, will not defend her title, showing the field wide open for a new champion. Mrs. Mary Lee Lindenman, last year's runner-up has been established as an early favorite to take the crown. At the same time the ladies golf committee revealed that there will be no coffee meeting in May but that a luncheon meeting was scheduled for 12:30 p.m. on June 11.

TIC Tankmen Romp Over 30th ICC Team

Records fell with monotonous consistency April 24, as the Infantry Center swimming team romped over the Third Division's 30 Infantry Combat Command, 36-25, at the Briant Wells Field House indoor pool. With Don Brown, former University of Denver swim star, showing the way, four new Fort Benning marks were set in the eight events. TIC swimmers took first in flights in every race.

Don Enos, star of the post's outstanding 1954 tank team, followed with a 55.6 in the 100 yard free style. Enos also took first place in the 50 yard free style and was part of the record breaking TIC 100, 400 yard free style relay team. The relay team covered the 400 yards in 4:27.

No "blue sky" claims... Just Proof of Performance. This letter from a large independent engine service specialist in Illinois is typical of many in our files: Why are we installing so many Triple Electrode Auburn Plugs? That's easy—they perform better in all kinds of engines, give increased power and gas mileage and far longer plug life. Here are three examples that came up this week: 1. A '54 Nash Statesman never got more than 8,000 miles on plugs until we installed Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes. When the owner traded the car this week, we checked our records and found that those Auburns had 53,000 miles on them and were still in perfect shape. 2. A '52 Ford truck used to get from 5,000 to 8,000 miles on a set of plugs. His first set of Auburn TC-3 Triple Electrodes has now rolled up 41,000 miles and they're still going strong. 3. For a test, we put a set of Auburn TC-3's in one truck of a newspaper fleet we service. After one month and 10,000 miles, the plugs are in new condition and gas mileage is the best of any truck in the fleet. We're putting Auburn Triple Electrodes in the rest of the fleet as fast as they come into the shop. FRENCH AUTO SUPPLY 3215 Victory Drive Phone 7-4825 NEXT TO L&M MOTOR CO. OPEN DAILY 8 A.M.-9 P.M. ### Mary Hardwick At Auburn Friday For Tennis Clinic

AUBURN, Ala. — Mary Hardwick, San Francisco, Palm Beach, Fla., here, her country's number one male tennis player.

During 1946-51, she served as a member of Wilson Tennis Advisory staff along with Jack Kramer, Don Budge, Alice Marble and Frank Sedgman. Miss Hardwick has spent most of her time lecturing on tennis and giving clinics and exhibitions at schools, colleges and in the public parks to stimulate greater participation in the tennis.

(From Columbus Ledger)

International famous tennis champion, will hold a tennis clinic at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute on Friday at 2:00 p.m.

Prior to coming to this country in 1940, Miss Hardwick, a native of Wimbledon, England, was ranked as number one tennis player in Great Britain.

In 1950, she won U.S.T.A. sectional tournaments in Los Angeles. In 1945, she married Charles

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN

A shooter from the U. S. Army Reserves may have summed up the Third Army Matches best when he complained why he wasn't satisfied with his shooting in the practice sessions:

"I think you'll find around here," he told me, "that nobody is satisfied with his shooting—and that goes for the boys with the rifles as well as those with the pistols."

As the old expression goes, there are shooters and there are SHOOTERS, but very few in either class are completely satisfied with their performances. Firing is an art, and the art form seeks perfection. It seems to be as simple as that.

Shooters, by the way, seem to have certain personality traits all their own. Two Joes, both pistoleros, are a lot alike. Joe Benner, usually called the world's greatest pistol shot, and Joe White, who garnered top honors in the Spring Hand Gun Tournament here last weekend, both have a great deal of confidence but are modest about their achievements.

Whits, of the U. S. Immigration Border Patrol in Richmond, Va., best Benner, coach of the U.S.M.A.'s pistol squad, in the International Slow Fire Pistol Match at Camp Perry in 1955. Sunday marked the eighth time Joe White shot 2,600, reaching a grand aggregate of 2,611.

There isn't much doubt about the identity of the most attractive shooters in the Third Army Matches. The Fort McClellan WAC captain and specialist, besides being good firers, are real charmers. What is more, Capt. Bernice Strube and SP3 Roberts Dunham are probably the easiest people to find at McClellan Range. It's amazing how much time competitors spend around the McClellan assembling area.

Let's give a little credit to a group of "unsung heroes" at most major Fort Benning sports events. Special credit goes to CWO Benjamin J. Williams, R. E. Bath and Benjamin J. Cortese for their leadership of the 288rd, 494rd and Special Troops Command Bands. They have developed the perfect method for getting the spectator into the mood for an athletic contest—through music.

All the star golfers on post, or at least those who talk a good game, will have a grand opportunity to prove their worth over the weekend, when the TIC Open Golf Tournament is held. Last day for registration is tomorrow. Drop over to the Sports Office or call 3-6220 or 2-8163. Sam Roberts, sports supervisor, will be glad to help supply you with all the necessary information.

By the way, that fine womanly voice that answers the phone may very well be Myrt Lloyd. Mr. Roberts' secretary, I, for one, am constantly amazed to see how well she carries out her official functions despite the fact she is surrounded by so many big, strong, husky men.

Myrt plays a mean game of basketball during her lunch hour. Sam Prophet, who does so much work for the Youth Activities Club, is the lucky fellow responsible for tutoring her.

Ed Crook, who deserves one of the topmost places in that Fort Benning Sports Hall of Fame we've been talking about so much, left the post last Saturday for assignment in Germany. Ed, this year's Tournament of Champions Middleweight titlist, will probably be back in the States to participate in the All-Army Boxing Matches as well as the Olympic tryouts. We hear he recently received a nice football offer from the Philadelphia Eagles. Ed is a real "All-American."

QUESTIONS ON A FEW VERY IDLE THOUGHTS

Is there any better sports authority in the world than Lt. Bob Lynch, former assistant sports officer and now with Third Army Training Aids?

Has Rocky Marciano really retired? And WREB ONLY ASKING, but was that Al Weill that Knobby Walsh was talking to in Macon a couple of weeks ago? Is Chico Vejar about to sign with M-G-M to play the lead in "Son of Geronimo"?

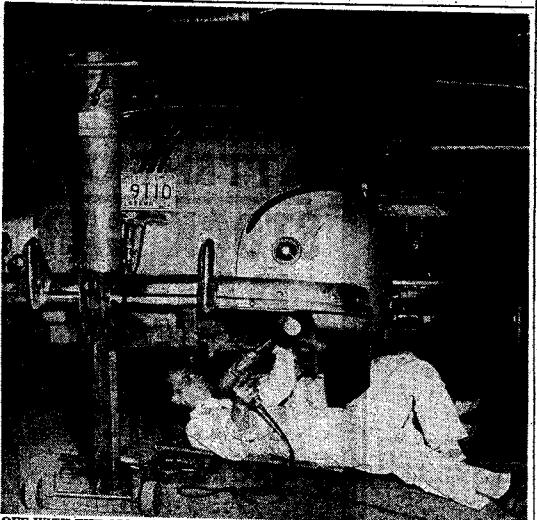

Was Miss LeRon kidding when she said she agreed with my choice of Brooklyn for the National League bunting, but the Red Sox surely will win in the American League because "Ted Williams and Jim Piersall are so handsome?"

Modern Life Demands Less Lost Time, Muffler Shop Saves You Hours, Dollars

OFF WITH THE OLD—ON WITH THE NEW IN 15 MINUTES — Special equipment plus highly skilled technicians permit The Muffler Shop, 13th street at 4th Ave., to completely install new exhaust systems, including muffler and tail pipe in just 15 minutes. Residents of this area have shown a definite preference for this time saving service, especially since there is no charge for installation of mufflers and the cost of the muffler and clamps is the only charge.

Specialization has come into the automobile muffler business. Through use of special equipment and restricting their business to automobile and truck exhaust systems, The Muffler Shop, 13th Street at 4th Ave., offers 15 minute service. This specialization brings in motorists the services of highly trained and experienced exhaust system technicians. With the largest stock of mufflers and tail pipes to be found in this part of the state, The Muffler Shop is ready to go to work on your car almost the instant you drive in. Because automobile and truck exhaust systems are the only included, will save the average car owner several dollars. Mufflers on 1940 to 1952 Chevrolet are only $2.25; on 1940 to 1953 Ford the price is only $2.25 with a few cents extra for tax and clamps if needed. Similar low prices are offered on other makes and models.

Operating similar shops specializing in automotive exhaust systems in Mobile, Macia and Montgomery, The Muffler Shop buys in quantities large enough to permit these low prices, with the savings passed on to the motorist.

pean Theater. He served as executive of the group from August of that year until the following January.

In March, 1946, Gen. Powell was named assistant chief of staff for intelligence and operations, Headquarters Command, U. S. Forces in Europe, and six months later became chief of staff. He was appointed assistant G-1 of Second Army, Fort Meade, Md., in July, 1947.

Graduated from War College. After graduating from the National War College in 1949, Gen. Powell commanded the 7th Infantry Regiment, Seventh Division in Japan until September, 1950, when he moved with the unit to Korea. His regiment, which later spearheaded the advance to the Manchurian border, was the only U. S. unit to reach the Yalu River.

From January to May, 1951, he served as chief of staff of the Seventh Division in Korea. In July of that year Gen. Powell was appointed chief of the Manpower Control Division in the Office of the Army's Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel.

The 52-year-old officer was named deputy assistant chief of staff, personnel, for manpower control in March, 1952. He assumed command of the 25th Division in October, 1954.

Gen. Powell's decorations include the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star, Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Air Medal, Purple Heart and the Czechoslovakian War Cross.

Gen. Powell is married to the former Beryl King of Portland, Ore.

JCOO

in the Main Officers' Mess will be held that evening.
Friday's itinerary includes an orientation on the officer candidate program, and visits to a series of problems such as a display of artillery atomic weapons, Infantry tank team in attack, supporting fires and reinforced rifle company in Defense.

The JCOO's will have lunch and supper at the field with the troops Friday before the group departs from Lawson Army Air Field at 9 a.m. Saturday.

HONOR STUDENT

Sgt. Truitt G. Webb, assigned to the 20th Inf. Regt. Co. "I," was designated "honor student" of the last Third Army Food Service cooking school. The 29-year-old company cook is from Sylvester, Miss.

NEW NAME

The six letter word "Flyers" got Cpl. Allen R. Boynton of Columbus, company clerk at Lawson Army Airfield Detachment, a three-day pass. Flyers was the name picked by a committee headed by Capt. Donald J. Ritz, detachment commander, for the detachment's softball team. The Flyers promptly took the field against the Choppers of the 308th Helicopter Co. and dropped an exhibition game to them by the score of 7 to 2.

Trooper Returns With Higher Rank

A trooper returned to his old stand recently, but the conditions have undergone quite a change.
The trooper, WO Kenneth F. Anderson, was on duty as a field mechanic with 152nd Field Maintenance Team and now finds himself with the same organization but as a helicopter pilot.

Master Anderson came here in March 1954 after finishing Maintenance School at Fort Sill, Okla. While stationed at Lawson Army Airfield Anderson attained the rank of corporal. After being stationed at the field 18 months, he got in an application to go to Flight School at Fort Rucker, Ala. and was accepted.

After graduating in March of this year, Master Anderson was assigned back at the 152nd Transportation Co. The 12nd is attached to the 308th. He now finds himself in the position of flying helicopters instead of making them fly.

teams also are represented from the Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee Military Districts.

Match executive officer is Lt. Col. Richard H. Smoot, executive officer of Continental Army Command's Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit.

The best shooters in the Third Army Matches join the Third Army Rifle and Pistol Team at Fort Benning, which will fire in the All-Army Matches here June 11-20.

Chief match referee is Col. (Ret.) Perry D. Swindler, founder of the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club. Range directors are Lt. Col. Frank Palmer and Major Leonard R. Robinson, both with the AAMU.

Troop support is supplied by 400 men from the 6th Cavalry, 7th ICC, Third Division. Lt. Col. Peter V. Converse is commanding officer of 6th Bn.

Forty medals will be awarded for each match. Prizes go to the top "Flyers" in four shooting classifications: Master, Expert, Sharpshooter and Marksman.

Tennessee Opens Museum To Railroad Hero Casey Jones

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP)—The Casey Jones railroad museum was dedicated here today to mark the 25th anniversary of the train wreck at Vaughan, Miss., that made old Case a famous railroader.

Mrs. Casey Jones, 83, cut the ceremonial ribbon stretched across the porch of her former home, now the main section of the museum.

Gov. Frank Clement praised "that breed of men who made railroading a distinct American institution," and added: "Such a man was Casey Jones."

The museum contains Casey's lanterns, pass books and numerous other obsolete railroad items of the Jones era. There's a replica of the engine, old "Cannonball."

B&K Aiming to Make Russia Seem Friendly

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — One thing showed through the busy bustle of the Moscow airport this week when everybody who is anybody in Russia kissed Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

The two top leaders, returning from Britain like men who needed affection after the cool reception there, seem determined to improve relations with the West or give a good impression of trying.

They could have arrived home in a huff. It wouldn't have been surprising. The British Socialists had needed Khrushchev to blow them his top. And their talks with Prime Minister Eden were not, according to reports, overly successful.

Instead, as soon as they alighted from their plane they gave the friendly nod toward the British Isles and then turned their full gaze on the United States like two traveling salesmen getting ready for a new customer and hardly able to wait.

If the United States and the Soviet Union both show good will, Khrushchev said, they can make a lot of progress in developing trade and cultural relations and solving the disarmament problem.

These two men, Bulganin and Khrushchev, with their trips to Yugoslavia, Asia and Britain, have gone to a lot of trouble to make Russia look like a friendly neighbor on the street of nations.

There is danger of underrating them. It is usual in this country to be suspicious and even scornful of the Russians. The suspicion is natural since Khrushchev himself has said communism's aim remains the same, to comminize the world.

State Rules No Foul Play In Drowning

Death by drowning was the official ruling yesterday after a state crime laboratory director examined the body of Lewis H. Bell, 33, 1215 Webster Ave., which was dragged from the river Monday night.

Coroner E. L. Howell said C. H. Sullenger, assistant director of the state crime laboratory in Atlanta, examined the body yesterday afternoon and said a post mortem examination showed no evidence of foul play.

Bell, a sheet metal worker, was discovered by two brothers who were fishing near their houseboat, close to the Alabama shore. The coroner said the body had been in the water not over 48 hours, although Bell had been missing from home since April 19.

Funeral was to be held at 4 p.m. today at Sherrier-Hamby Chapel, by the Rev. Joe White, pastor, Linwood Assembly of God with burial in Riverdale Cemetery.

Pallbearers were to be William Gian, Jessie Gian, Max Sanders, J. D. Parker, Douglas Owens and Robert Rice.

Honorary pallbearers were to be Rex Sanders, Rueben Holstead and Bobby Sherfield.

Army Has More Men Than Beasts In Animal Unit

WASHINGTON — The Army's Veterinary Corps now has more men than horses and mules, including three horses on the retired rolls.

These statistics were presented to the House Appropriations Committee, which made them public today, during hearings on the 1957 military budget.

Estimated manpower of Veterinary Corps—466, of which 322 are assigned to food inspection.

Number of animals owned by the Army—124, plus 3 in retirement at no cost to the government.

Number of Army mules—214.

One Queen King Crowned By Nepalese

KATMANDU, Nepal (U)—Thirteenth Himalayan Nepal crowned its new King today in a ceremony mixing ancient pomp with such modern innovations as a radio, cameras, foreign visitors and only one queen.

Hindu high priests placed the giant crown of the little kingdom—a gem-studded circlet of gold surrounded by brilliant birds of paradise plumage—on the head of 36-year-old King Mahendra at 10:45 a.m.

It was the precise minute fixed by the royal astrologers as most auspicious for a long and successful reign of the world's only Hindu monarch, ruler of nine million Nepalese.

Whirring motion picture cameras and hundreds of clicking shutters recorded the coronation in the palace courtyard. Official delegates from a score of countries and a handful of tourists looked on from distant reserved seats.

Behind a red curtain other guests "looked on." They were the unseen Hindu gods invited to the ceremony.

"Oh! People!" the priests proclaimed as they crowned Mahendra. "This man is your King. He is the King of us Brahmins."

Then the priests vested the monarch with the glow, splendor and energy of the gods to make him "unrivaled in purity, greatness and kingdom."

Guns boomed. Bands played. The high priests in golden robes intoned ancient rites. The cheers of thousands of subjects echoed from the streets outside the palace.

Mahendra, sitting on a throne mounted on the skins of oxen, leopards, lions and tigers, repeated prayers after the priests and promised "never to be arbitrary." His queen, Ralna Devi, sat stidily beside him.

The ceremony has come down unchanged through the reigns of nine earlier Nepalese monarchs. But there were several big differences—since the coronation 45 years ago at Mahendra's father, the late King Tribhuvan. They only one European, a British resident saw the coronation. Nepal, virtually inaccessible due to the high Himalayas that make up most of its 54,000 square miles, allowed few visitors since 1953.

ARMY TRADITION . . . The 29th Inf. Regt.'s Honor Guard group is one of the few demonstration teams in the United States that performs the formal guard mount ceremony. Combining traditional bugle calls with band music, this intricate inspection of guards was witnessed last Friday by ROTC cadets on tour of the post. Inspecting the ranks is Lt. George F. Backhurst of Portland, Mich.

REUNION HELD
Fifteen former combat members of the 26th Inf. Div. met April 20 for a reunion. An informal reception was held at the Third Division Officers' Club, aptly named after the Patton House after Gen. George S. Patton under whom the men fought in Europe during World War II. Officers who are not assigned here returned for the occasion to greet former associates they have assigned as Motor Pool Maintenance men for as long as 11 years.

TAKES ANOTHER STEP
William J. Spenser, Co. "C" 2d Special Troops Bn., STIC took another step on the promotion ladder April 25 when he was promoted to Specialist Third Class. Spenser, son of Mr. Clotel Spencer, S. Patton under whom the men fought in Europe during World War II. Officers who are not assigned here returned for the occasion to greet former associates they have assigned as Motor Pool Maintenance men for as long as 11 years.

A Look Inside

76 Leading U.S. Civilians Visit Benning This Week For JCOC

The World In Review

Ike Tells Congress Of $12 Billion Aid

President Eisenhower told Congress Monday that the United States has shipped more than $12,000,000 worth of planes, tanks, guns and other military supplies to free world countries during the last six years. About 900 million dollars worth was shipped during the last half of 1955 Ike said in a semi-annual report on the mutual security program.

One of the main achievements of the Mutual Security Program, he said, has been to assist in the building up of the forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries in Europe, including Greece and Turkey.

Administration Says

Aid Program Vital

Also Monday the administration told congress that the proposed $4,300,000 foreign aid program is vitally needed to keep free world defenses against a "Communist military build-up" which presents "augmented dangers." John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the program calls for a half billion dollars to supply allies with "advanced weapons."

Denyer Murderer Sentenced to Die

John Gilbert Graham, of Denver, was convicted last week of murder and sentenced to death after he was tried of killing his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, by depositing a commercial airline in which a total of 41 lives were lost. Graham has filed a petition asking that the execution be carried as quickly as possible, and he has waived his right to appeal the case to a higher court.

Graham was accused of placing a dynamite bomb in his mother's suitcase last Nov. 1 shortly before she boarded a United Air Lines DC6B at Denver, bound for Alaska. The plane crashed and crashed near Longmont, Colo., shortly after take-off.

$45,000 Raised At CP Telethon

In Columbus last weekend the Central-Paley Telethon netted some $45,000 for the organization. The eighteen hour telethon, which ran from 10 p.m. Saturday to 4 p.m. Sunday featured some 400 entertainers headed by such celebrities as Joe E. Brown, Emmet Lumber, FPC Cannon, Gene Autry, and many others. The telethon was held at the Grand Hotel and was broadcast on radio and television.

It was revealed Monday that the amount raised for the telethon was $45,000. The telethon was held at the Grand Hotel and was broadcast on radio and television.

Atomic Cannon . . . Standing ready to fire with the tube elevated into position, the 280-mm atomic cannon will be put through its paces May 9 to 13 for Joint Civilian Orientation Conference No. 22 and the televising of the "Wide World" show.

Equipment Display Set As Part of JCOC 22

Modern warfare equipment for the 3rd Army will be on display at Benning this week as part of the 22nd semi-annual Joint Civilian Orientation Conference. The equipment will be on display from May 9 to 13. The equipment includes tanks, trucks, and other military vehicles. The display is part of the JCOC 22 activities.

Post Areas To Be Closed

All military and civilian personnel on post have been asked to leave their areas of assignment by May 11, 12 and 13 during the filming and television show. The show will be held at Benning and will be broadcast on radio and television.

Activities Set For Conferes

An action packed view of Infantrymen at work in the field and in the air began here May 9 when 76 leading U. S. citizens arrived for Joint Civilian Orientation Conference No. 22.

Leaders in education and business, the civilian visitors arrived at Lawson Army Air Field Wednesday to begin a whirlwind orientation on Army life and training activities.

Under sponsorship of the Defense Department, JCOC's were invited from all corners of the nation to see how their tax dollars are being spent for national defense in training U. S. Infantrymen for combat readiness.

Spectacular day and night filming programs, aiming at the field, bringings by top post officials and tours of the huge reservation are scheduled for the conference.

Hour Flight

Four flights landed at Lawson Army Air Field in time for passengers to line in their waiting area at H & H Co., 2nd Student Dr., TSB.

At 6 p.m., an informal reception was held in the briefing area to give the JCOC's an opportunity for visits with the post personnel.

Reveille sounded at 6:30 this morning to begin a busy day which will include welcome addresses by Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, Infantry School commandant, and the Infantrymen of the U. S. Army.

He asked fliers to "give the best of the Army."

At 8:30 a.m. airborne mobility demonstrations will follow as the conference visitors facilities used in training paratroopers, inspect aircraft and witness a mass parachute drop.

Post Areas To Be Closed

All military and civilian personnel on post have been asked to leave their areas of assignment by May 11, 12 and 13 during the filming and television show. The show will be held at Benning and will be broadcast on radio and television.

According to Col. Roland M. Glesser, chief of the 3rd Army Post Office, all personnel whose names are on lists on an access list or who do not possess a special pass.

Col. Glesser explained that such action is necessary to that the National Broadcasting Company film crews and participants in the show will have no interference during the filming, which will be done under strict security.

The show may be viewed over WDAK-TV, Channel 22, from 9 to 11:30 p.m.

Three times for the areas include the following:

- Friday, May 11 from 12:00-1:00 p.m.
- May 12 from 0900-1000 hrs.
- Burma Hill: May 11 from 0900-1200 hrs.
- May 12 from 0900-1200 hrs.
- May 13 from 0900-1200 hrs.
- Concord GP: May 12 from 0900-1200 hrs.
- May 13 from 0900-1200 hrs.

SAFETY BOX SCORE

As of May 7, going into the show, the post's safety score was 100 percent. There has been a total of 24 accidents during the show. The same period of time there has been a total of 133 traffic violations reported.

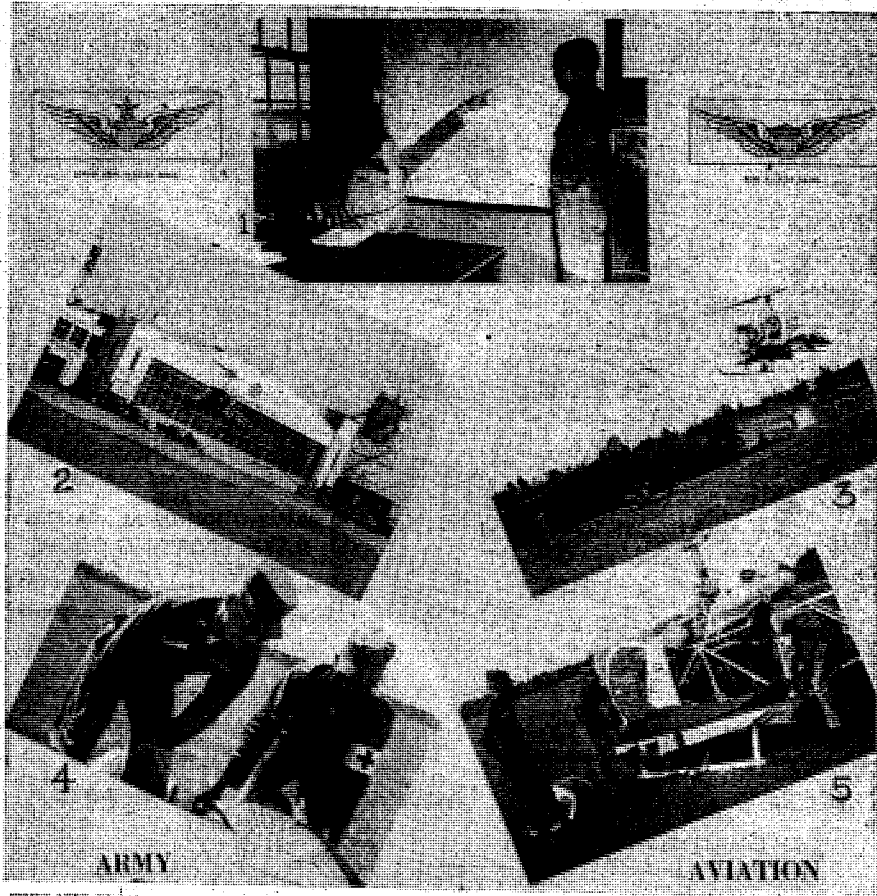

Why the Army teaches hand-to-hand combat and such possibilities in other phases.

37th Med. Detachment

SIMULATED EVACUATION MISSION... The 37th Medical Detachment is more than just a flying ambulance service. Through organizations such as this the chances of badly injured people in inaccessible places living to talk about their misfortunes are greatly enhanced. It is through simulated missions, such as the one above, that when the time comes for the real thing—the 37th is ready. Picture 1 shows First Lt. Robert J. MacLennan, left, relaying information received at the 37th Medical Detachment (HCPTD AMED) for a medical evacuation mission to the duty pilot, 1st Lt. James A. Hinkle, in Picture 2 Lt.

Hinkle leaves Lawson Army Airfield in the detachment's H-13 on the mission. In Picture 3 SP-3 Wiley Wright Jr., left, guides in Lt. Hinkle's copter to get the patient during the simulated mission. Kneeling beside the patient, SP-3 Robert F. Mercier, is SP-3 W. F. Green. Picture 4 shows Lt. Hinkle and Specialist Wright checking the patient before loading him onto the copter. In Picture 5 Lt. Hinkle supervises the loading of the patient who, during a real mission, would be flown to the nearest place with adequate medical facilities.

64 Allies Start or End TIS Classes

Sixty-four Allied students from throughout the world either began or ended classes May 5 and 7 at the Infantry School.

Students from Viet-Nam took the academic spotlight May 5 as 35 Vietnamese officers completed Allied rifle marksmanship instructors' class No. 1 and three others began associate advanced class No. 6.

The three were Capt. Lam Thanh Binh, Lt. Duy Chat and Nguyen Van Chu.

Other Allied students attending the 19-week class which opened May 7 are:

Lt. Col. Hissal Ohtsuki of Japan; Capt. Fuat Behan of Turkey; Lt. Col. Folmer J. Larsen of Denmark; Major James S. Swatavias of Greece, and Lt. Col.

Support Co. Is Activated

A major step toward completing plans for training 1,800 cadres here June 23 through Aug. 3 was made last week when the 1956 General Military Science ROTC Camp was officially activated.

According to Lt. Col. Edward Duda of Columbus, Ohio, executive officer of the camp, a simulated attack problem during the final stages of the six-week period of company of approximately 125 men has been activated for cadets, who will come from 28 colleges and universities in the Third Army area and Puerto Rico, Guam.

The support company is presently composed of 102 colored men and 19 officers, Col. Duda said, although interviews are being conducted daily to complete its roster of more than 200 personnel. Ap-

Civil Service Veteran Remembers Mule and Wagon Days at Benning

BY TOM SELLERS

Mule and wagon were the fashion of the day when the Third Army Certificate of Achievement was presented by Col. Eugene M. Elliott Jr., of Washington, D. C., Infantry—Center Transportation Office in October, 1952.

The horse and mule population in those days numbered about 1,200, but in contrast to the present-day absence of such animals on the big post today.

"When I came here," Nance reminisced after retiring with 37 years government service, "there were no paved roads and only a few 1918 model cars that were left from World War I. All the local hauling was done with animal-drawn transportation."

Cited by Gen. Hickey

The tall, ruddy-checked 69-year-old civilian employe was cited by Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, commander of Third Army, for service marked by "outstanding ability, efficiency and integrity of character."

The Third Army Certificate of Achievement was presented by Col. Eugene M. Elliott Jr., of Washington, D. C., Infantry—Center Transportation Office in October, 1952.

Nance retired April 30 as administrative assistant to the transportation officer, having worked up to the highest civilian title in the office from his initial job of passenger transportation clerk in 1922. His was the second largest record of continuous civil service on the post.

No Permanent Buildings

In 1922, the infant Army installation had no permanent building except the commanding general's home and a few brick family quarters on Sigler Road and McIver Avenue, Nance said.

All the other buildings had been constructed by their soldier occupants, mostly of adobe, and they were a railroad leading onto the post, but spring freshets made it necessary to raise a trestle across Upland Creek before the trains could pass.

Infantry School students were transported to range problems along First Division Road via narrow-gauge railroad track now a largely known as the "Toonerville Trolley."

Know Generals "Back When"

Nance became acquainted with a number of present-day generals when they were young lieutenants or served in some capacity here during their later careers.

"I knew Gen. Ridgway quite well," he said. "Also Gen. Bradley and Patton."

Nance can't even start to estimate the number of troops he has helped to move on and off the post. Figuring an average of 500 a month, they would total more than 180,000.

"But it was a lot more than that, because during World War II we moved whole divisions out of here," he said.

Weathered Two Fires

The retiring civilian employe weathered two major fires in the Transportation Office — both of which destroyed nearly all the records up to that time. The fires took place in 1934 and 1939.

Transportation was formerly a function of the post Quartermaster Section, becoming a separate corps in 1942. It has experienced its most phenomenal growth locally since 1946 when the Infantry Center Motor Pool came under the transportation office.

"We have expanded from a transportation officer with a very small office force," said Nance, "to our present installation with more than 800 military and civilian personnel. We are now one of the largest service organizations at Fort Benning."

Nance and his wife reside at 3113 Cherokee Avenue in Columbus, Ga. During his retirement, he plans to catch up on his reading—something he hasn't had much time for.

"But mainly," he said with a grin, "I'm going to do just as I please."

Post Officers Attend Martial Law Course

Post officers are learning this month what their responsibilities would be if the U. S. is ever subject to a national emergency and placed under martial law.

Through a special course presented by the Personnel Group of the Infantry School's Staff Department, officers are given four hours of instruction in the army's role in a nationally chaotic situation.

The first three classes already have been held and three more are scheduled for May 15, 22 and 29 under the direction of Lt. Col. Morton S. Jaffe of Philadelphia, Pa., Judge Advocate Corps legal officer.

Col. Jaffe, besides supervising the content of the course, also has assumed the temporary role of stage producer as he presents two skills which he wrote to make the course most interesting.

Part of Army-wide Effort

The course is part of an Army-wide effort to brief officers on the important and complex duties they must perform if the nation is crippled by a thermonuclear attack and civil law agencies are unable to function.

The first and third hours include lectures supplemented by movie slides and the other two are planned around the skills.

Col. Jaffe announced that the following cast and crew are working with him on the project:

Assistants on Project

Lt. James C. Kirby, Jr., of Old Hickory, Tenn., Staff Judge Advocate's Office, Julian L. Wade of Greenville, S. C., Co. D, 29th Infantry, and Kevin W. Curtis of Knoxville, Tenn., 665th Transportation Co.

SFC John A. Dakota of Phoenixville, Pa., SFC Wallace L. Fielden of Columbus, PFC Robert B. Caplan of Atlantic City, N. J., and Oliver B. Taylor of Memphis, Tenn., 23rd FA BN.

Miss Betsy Livermore of Cocoa, Fla., Public Information Officer; SFC Andrew D. Locke of Philadelphia, Pa., 23rd FA BN.; Sgt. Albert C. Miller of Baltimore, Md., SFC Bobby J. McGinnis, of Greenville, Tenn., and Pvt. William K. Bannert of Milwaukee, Wis., Staff Department.

Maj. John E. Hefferman of Old Orchard Beach, Maine, James P. Suter of Faragon, Ind., Harry W. Schoedel of Deshler, Ohio, and Levi Staasle of Riverton, Ill., Sgt. Robert L. Shuler of Greenville, N. C., SFC Glen W. Drew of Newton, Ala., Sgt. Joel D. Hill of Hartselle, Tenn., and SFC Charles R. Johnson of Demopolis, Ala., all of the 23rd FA BN.

Ann Melcher Wins Contest

Fort Benning's Ann Melcher, 17-year-old daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John F. Melcher of Omaha, Neb., defeated contestants from 13 counties to win the Columbus Ledger's Vocabex May 4.

The Columbus High student, a junior, accurately spelled and defined "haccato" to clinch the victory. Drawing on the word's ground in using the word in a sentence... Ann said the sergeant's obscure orders' resound on the drill field.

She will be rewarded with a trip to Washington, D. C. in June. Ann came here in October, 1954, when her father was assigned to command the School Brigade's Third Battalion. The pretty brunette is a member of Junior Army Daughters of America and plans to be stationed at the Columbus High band. She was initiated in the National Honor Society at Presbyterian Academy in San Francisco, Calif.

As an eighth grader in 1953, Ann placed third in District 10 of Columbus finals of the National Spelling Bee.

3d Bn. Builds Vivid Display

A grand but very vivid example of the results of mixing alcohol and a line is on display at the 3rd Cavalry Bn. of The School Brigade in the Harmon Church area.

The display is the 'dream child' of Capt. William L. Martin, P-3 for the battalion. It consists of a dummy dressed in military clothing lying peacefully in a flower-decked coffin, with plenty of white bottles scattered about and bearing a sign with skull and crossbones and captioned "COULD THIS BE YOU?"

All vehicles leaving the 3d Bn. area must drive past this thought-provoking display. An inspection team consisting of 1st Lt. Phillip Jobert, Unit Officer of the 30th Co., and M-Sgt. Robert L. Long, TAC NOO of the 3rd Co. check the working condition of lights, brakes, horns, and windshield wipers of every car that leaves the area.

M-Sgt. Lawdy Douglas, TAC NOO of the 1st Co. is on the business end of a microphone giving driving do's and don'ts and reading safety slogans to all in hearing distance.

This display is a result of the TAC Drive being sponsored by The Infantry Center.

MEMORIAL SERVICE . . . Shown above is the 3rd Recon Bn. color guard which was present at a memorial service on April 21 at Chapel No. 3 for the late Pfc. Lemuel J. Hartman of Co. C, 3rd Recon Bn. Pvt. Hartman was critically injured in a tank accident at Red Arrow and Second Division Road April 26. He died later at the post hospital. Members of the guard are (l. to r.) Pfc. Leonard J. Combs, Sfc. W. H. Gay, and Pfc. Howard L. Regland.

8th Inf. Bn. Gives Awards At Ceremonies

French Field, on the Main Post, was the scene of an 8th Inf. Bn. review April 28 in honor of Major Aubrey S. Hollingsworth and thirty winners of Expert Infantrymen's Badges.

Major Hollingsworth, formerly Battalion Executive Officer for nine months, has been reassigned to CONARC for duty with Human Research.

With the music of the 3rd Inf. Div. Band and with red, yellow and green smoke grenades exploding in the background, the 8th Inf. Bn. was reviewed.

Members of the reviewing party were Major Aubrey S. Hollingsworth, former Bn. Ex. Off.; Lt. Col. John A. Rankin, 8th Inf. Bn. Comdr.; Col Glenn Cole, 50th ICC Comdr.; and Maj. John R. Reeves, Bn. Ex. Off.

Highest Individuals

The highest individuals in the E.I.B. contest for the 8th Inf. Bn. were 1st Lt. William S. Pittman, Co. G, and MSG, Robert E. Nichols, Mortar Pl. Sgt.

Four platoon leaders of Co. A, 8th Inf. Bn. as well as the Executive Officer successfully completed the rigid requirements set up for the E.I.B. competition.

The 8th Inf. Bn. also had the largest number of men in the 50th I.C.C. to pass the E.I.B. competition with eighteen enlisted men and twelve officers completing the difficult course.

OBEDIENCE . . . SP3 Maurice McGuffey and his dog, Skol, of the 44th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon, demonstrate a fine point in basic obedience at the demonstration held for Special Troops Command personnel at Sighting Field, Saturday, April 28.

3d Aviation Co. Donates Blood To Columbusite

Personnel of the 3rd Combat Aviation Co., recently donated blood to a lady in Columbus, who needed transfusions after an operation to prevent complications from developing.

Sgt. James A. Carey, 3rd Combat Aviation Co., was called up by his friend, Mr. Mike Voytovich, of Columbus, who told Carey that his wife was undergoing an operation and would need immediate blood transfusions. Specialist Carey related the incident to the First Sergeant, M-Sgt. Edgar W. Egges and at the 1300 formation volunteers were requested to donate blood for Mrs. Voytovich.

The men of Combat Aviation immediately volunteered and those with the type blood necessary for the transfusion were rushed immediately to the Phoenix City Hospital.

Six pints were collected, one each from Cpl. Jerry D. Hoopergarner, Sp-5's Michael A. Gockel, Heint Trapp, James Carey, and PFC's James Mattingly and Robert Ramsey.

Specialist Carey who hails from Nashville, Ark., joined the Army in Nov. 1955. He met Mr. Voytovich about three months ago at Jack's Jewelry Store in Columbus, where Mr. Voytovich works.

Post Swimmers To Enter Events

The post swimming team, which displayed fine form in setting several new records at the Miami Metropolitan Meet a few weeks ago, is expected to enter three big events during June.

Arrangements are being made for the squad to participate in two Georgia meets and one in Florida. The Georgia competition consists of the Albany Aquatics and the LaGrange Southern Track Meet. Florida's meet is not yet certain.

The Third Army Swimming Meet will be held at The Infantry Center July 1-14. Don Brown and Don Enos are expected to lead Post Swimmers to several Third Army titles.

BABY-SITTER

Will take care of children in home or Post Messing by day or week.

Receives CA Upon Ending 21 Year Tour

M-Sgt. Roy S. Canton of Greenville, Fla., has been awarded Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement for meritorious service upon his retirement here following 21 years' Army service.

The presentation was made in ceremonies conducted by Lt. Col. John C. Troutman of Anderson, S. C., plans and training officer of The Infantry School's Automotive Department. Canton, operations sergeant of the department since October, 1934, retired April 30.

Canton was previously stationed here from July, 1940, to February, 1941, with Co. C, 8th Infantry Reg., 4th Div., and attended The Infantry School's eight-week special NOO course the summer of 1946.

From Nov., 1948, to Aug., 1956, he was assigned to Co. B, 15th Inf. Reg., 3rd Div., on the post. He served 10 months in Korea with Co. A, 1st Inf. Reg., 7th Div. before being reassigned here with Co. A, E.D.

Sgt. Canton served in Germany.

3-Div. Builds 2 Big Projects

With the coming of spring, the men and machines of the 15th Engr. Bn., 3rd Inf. Div. have been busy with construction on two large projects in the 3rd Div. area.

In Harmony Church, construction has been proceeding on the 3rd Tank Bn.'s new maintenance motor pool and the first stage of pouring concrete foundations has been reached.

It is a $200,000 project according to M-Sgt. John McDermott, NCO in charge of the work. Sergeant McDermott said that the project was supposed to be finished by the return of the 3rd Tank Bn. from Fort Stewart.

The other project is the 15th I.C.C.'s new parade field.

In order to obtain this new field a forest had to be cleared and now with the land leveled and graded the site is set for the seeding and sodding of grass.

Almost completed.

M-Sgt. Ruel C. Edwards, NCO in charge said that the work of the 10th Engr. Bn. on the field was almost completed. The seeding and sodding will be done by the 15th I.C.C.

Some idea of the amount of equipment used on one of the projects can be shown by the amount of machines used on the 3rd Tank Bn. motor pool.

On the job each day are twenty trucks, two graders, three 2½ ton dozers, and one pay loader which is a scoop used to move dirt.

Cuthbert, Ft. Gaines Area Rich In History and Recreation Areas

BY BOB BENO
(This is the first in a series of special articles appearing in this column, covering recreational spots where personnel at Fort Benning may visit and relax during the summer months.)
In the southwestern corner of Georgia, on highway 27, the land largely wooded and deserted, the center of this area is Cuthbert, 59 and a half miles from Columbus. The county seat of Randolph county, Cuthbert is rich both in history, fertile agriculture, and recreational areas.

The condition exists for the most part for the first 40 miles, including the area around Lumpkin and the Providence Covered, covered last week in this space. But another few miles and the driver finds himself on the fertile plateau between the Flint and Chattahoochee rivers.

Fort Gaines is the seat of Clay county and was established in the early 1800's. It was named for an old stockaded fort there.
It is a quiet little village on a bluff overlooking a bend in the Chattahoochee River and suggests a medieval fortress. At the foot of the bluff a graceful cantilever bridge spans the river. Right of the bridge on a large knoll is the site of Fort Gaines, a log fort occupied and successfully defended by General Edmund P. Gaines during the Indian Wars.
The area is rich in opportunities for camera-hugs, anglers, and sight-seers. There are also a

Six Receive Cash Awards
Four civilians and two Army officers have received incentive awards here for saving the Army more than $12,000 through improvement suggestions.
Erig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, Infantry Center deputy commanding general, presented the citations.
Cited were: Capt. Stanley F. Sotczynski of Coatsville, Pa., weapons pool officer who received $12 for proposing the construction of metal racks to facilitate storage and transportation of number of fine camps and picnic sites.
Back on highway 27, about five miles further in the entrance to the Kolomok Mounds State Park, a 1,283 acre park in Early County, in the park are facilities for swimming, picnicking, boating, hiking, children's playground, a museum of Indian relics, group camp, and trading post. The park is open year round. The large mound is long among the principal ones in the Southeast. Larger than a football field at its base, it rises 37 feet in the form of an elongated triangular pyramid, 50 that at its top it is about 156 feet long and 68 feet wide.
There are no general admission charges or fishing fees at the park. Columbus with his wife, Annie D.

6 Month G.I. Gets Training In Cooking

Pvt. Kenneth G. Mills is learning how to give expert culinary advice to his brothers in the addition to acquiring a military specialty during six months' active Army duty under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.
The Baldwinville, N. Y., soldier is attending the Third Army Area Food Service School at Fort Belvoir, Ill., where he is receiving eight weeks of instruction in theory and practical cooking.
Mills requested the cooking course when he entered the six month active duty program last December.

... Pvt. Kenneth G. Mills

"I'm going into partnership with my father on his farm, and I wanted to further my knowledge of how food is prepared," he explained.
Mills is taking an engagement ring home to his steady girl friend of three years when he completes active service June 5.
"Can help with cooking."
"Now I can help her with the cooking after we get married," he said. "Mother is expecting a good meal from me, too," Kenneth added.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Mills of Baldwinville. A 1955 graduate of Baldwinville Academy and Central School, Kenneth received basic infantry training at Fort Jackson, S. C., before his assignment here.
The 22-year-old soldier will complete his ready Reserve obligation with Co. K, 91st Inf. Regt., in Syracuse, N. Y.

First Male Gets Bars In MS Corps

The first male member of the Army Medical Specialist Corps to be commissioned here received the gold bars of a second lieutenant in ceremonies at the U.S. Army Hospital, May 5.
Lt. Edwin Harper, of Norfolk, Va., has served since April, 1955, as the only enlisted physical therapist at the hospital. A former specialist third class, he applied for a commission immediately after he was authorized in the corps last August.
He received a bachelor of science degree in physical education and biology from Kentucky State College at Frankfort in 1953 and was certified a registered physical therapist after an additional year's training at the School of Physical Therapy of the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.
The 22-year-old lieutenant underwent four months' practical clinical training at the District of Columbia, General Hospital, Washington, D. C., before entering the Army in December, 1954. He received basic infantry training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and attended a basic medical training course at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, before his assignment here.
At the hospital, Harper treats patients in accordance with prescriptions from orthopedic surgeons, utilizing such physical therapy equipment as the whirlpool, diathermy and muscle stimulator.
He deals with fracture and nerve injury cases and a few neuromuscular disabilities.
"We help the patient learn to do the maximum with what he has," Harper explained. "Rehabilitation is quite rewarding. It really stimulates you as far as helping the patient as much as possible."
Harper is a member of the American Association of Physical Therapists.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Harper of Norfolk.

PARTICIPATED IN EXERCISE
Chaplain (Major) Malcolm Sadler of Sylvester, Ga., Infantry Center Chaplain's Section, last week participated in Log Ex, annual logistics exercise at Fort Lee, Va. He returned to the post May 8. After completing the one-week training course in equipment and supply problems.

Post to Join in Salute To U.S. Armed Forces

The World In Review

Russia Announces Cut in Armed Forces

Russia's announcement on Monday that it would reduce its armed forces by 200,000 men will use the manpower in industry impressed hardly more in Washington. A White House spokesman said the move would have been more impressive if the Soviets had been more cooperative at the London disarmament conference, which ended in disagreement 10 days ago. The unofficial State Department reaction was that Russia appeared to be merely switching from military to economic methods of seeking world domination.

Airborne Museum Opening Will Highlight Program

The opening of Fort Benning's Airborne Museum, which includes ships from Lawson Field Army aviation units as well as two from the Naval Air Station in Atlanta, Ga., will be the highlight of the Armed Forces Day open house May 19.

Equipment, weapons, flags and uniforms used and captured by paratroopers since the beginning of airborne activities will be on display after 9 a.m. at Lawson Air Field when Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, outgoing post commander, formally opens the museum.

Under direction of The Infantry School's Airborne-Army Aviation Department, the new historical exhibit for the school since it is the first project of this kind at Fort Benning.

Civilians as well as military and Air Force personnel are invited to visit Lawson Field from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday for a post-wide open house commemorating the nation's observance of Armed Forces Day.

Fixed and rotary wing aircraft will be exhibited on the north end of the field and a Navy blimp from the Naval Air Station in Glynn, approximately 12:45 p.m. Static aircraft displays will include ships from Lawson Field Army aviation units as well as two from the Naval Air Station in Atlanta, Ga., one from Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Fla., and one from Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Ga.

Lawson Field operations, tower, weather station and fire station also will be open to visitors and trained personnel will be on hand to conduct guided tours and brief visitors on the activities of their various sections.

Weekend Tornadoes Hit Northern U.S.

Tornadoes and violent storms plowed destructively across the Midwest last weekend leaving 13 dead, at least 270 injured and millions of dollars of property damage. The threat of violent weather had passed by Monday however. Michigan and Ohio were the two states hit hardest by tornadoes, however, Kansas and Pennsylvania also received some strong wind. Threats of floods existed in Michigan and Pennsylvania.

House Committee Approves Capehart Housing for Post

FROM COLUMBUS LEDGER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite protests from private enterprise, the House Armed Services Committee has approved Army requests to contract for construction of 1,000 rental units at Fort Benning.

"There is no need to alarm," Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) told objecting groups at the conclusion of a day-long hearing yesterday. "We all believe in private enterprise but we are going to see that the Army has adequate housing."

He said his committee would watch the program "like a hawk" and added, "We won't go overboard on it."

The committee also approved a similar project at Ft. Bragg, N.C. Under the Capehart Act passed last year, the armed forces can contract for construction of off-base rental housing for personnel.

The builder has his loan insured 100 per cent by the government.

Charles C. Finucane, undersecretary of the Army, told the committee that off-base housing for Army personnel is a "national disgrace."

"We in the Army consider it a national disgrace to subject our personnel to living conditions currently not in keeping with the dignity of our country," he said.

He said "certain private interests" at Columbus, Ga., and Fayetteville, N.C., "have done their best to stymie" the Army program.

Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper Jr., retiring commander at Ft. Benning, said real estate interests that area build houses to sell but not to rent to military personnel.

He added he recommended that the Third Division be moved to Secretary of the Army Brucker and that the program be improved.

Through With Matter

Robert W. Smart, chief clerk of the committee, said last night that the committee was through with the matter. He said the committee had no jurisdiction over the Capehart housing law. "The Army agreed to us with these matters as a kind of gentleman's agreement," he said.

Under the 1957 military construction bill now pending before the Senate, the armed services committees of the two houses would have authority to review such construction.

Smart said the committee agreed to the Army's request to build 1,000 Capehart units at Fort Benning, and Fayetteville, N.C. Much of the day was devoted to hearing opposition of real estate groups near Benning, and Bragg.

U. S. Has 'Certain Interests'

Finucane told the committee that "certain private interests" at Columbus, Ga., and Fayetteville, N.C., "have done their best to stymie the Army program."

Ethical Opposes Request

Robert Elliott, Democratic National Committeeman for Georgia who represented the Columbus Real Estate Board and Home Builders Assn., opposed the request for Fort Benning.

He said it would cripple the real estate economy of the area and suggested that an audit be made of the Army figures as to housing available and needed.

Elliott contended the community could take care of its housing needs in an orderly manner. (Please See HOUSING, Page 19)

General Lynch Assumes Duties As TIC Chief

Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Third Infantry Division commander, assumed command of the Infantry Center May 12.

He succeeds Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, who officially leaves Fort Benning May 24 for duty as chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group to the Philippines. Gen. Harper will be on leave of absence for several days before his departure.

Gen. Lynch, ranking officer on the post, came here in Sept., 1955, to command the Third Division after a tour of duty as chief of staff of the VII Corps in Europe. He will head the Infantry Center until Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell arrives in August to fill the vacancy.

Airborne Dept. Notes 14th Birthday This Week

The famed Airborne-Army Aviation Department of The Infantry School passed briefly this week to celebrate its 14th birthday. Col. John J. Tolson, director, extends personal greetings and best wishes to all members of the Department.

29th RCT Is Activated

The recent formation of the 29th Regimental Combat Team here marks the re-appearance of a famous maneuver training outfit with the further distinction of being the only such administrative organization on post. Formed as a result of the Department of the Army's decision to deactivate the 29th Inf. Div. the 29th RCT includes the 29th Inf. Regt., the 23rd Pz. Art. Bn. and the 7th Engineer Co. As an RCT the 29th functions as a reinforced Infantry group operating as a balanced unit of essential arms. Normal employment of parachute troops is one regiment of Infantry, one battalion of artillery, one company of engineers, and one battery of anti-aircraft artillery. In combat, however, the unit is charged to meet the demands of the tactical situation.

Between 1950 and 1954 the 29th RCT remained on Okinawa where it was part of the security forces of the United States Army Forces Far East. During this period the unit participated in extensive training programs and maneuvers with other units of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

SOLDIER OF MONTH
John O. Hardee has been named Soldier of the Month by the MP Co., TIC, SFC. DAVID MERRILL... Eyes That Hypnotize

'Rapid Spells' Cast Tonight By Hypnotist
"Amazing and Amusing with Hypnotism," a one and one-half hour display of hypnotic prowess by David Merrill, will be offered at the Main Theater tonight at 6:30 p.m. Merrill has a couple of better-than-ordinary slants on the art of hypnotism to offer his audience. For one thing, he is billed as "the world's fastest hypnotist" and will effect several rapid-fire experiments. Secondly, he will run through a mass hypnosis demonstration designed to cast at least one-half of the crowd under his spell.

David Merrill is one of the best-known hypnotic mystifiers associated with the Armed Forces. He has toured throughout the world for the Air Force and received a "Roger" or "Hurr" "Oscar" for his efforts on their behalf. His work is in no way associated with Bradley Murphy, Special Services representative stated, but is the sort of hypnotism guaranteed to provide lively and interesting entertainment for all palaces. Admission is 50 cents.

If you lend a friend five dollars and you never see him again, it was worth it. "He doesn't tell lies, he just rearranges the truth in a his favor."

This program is compensated for by the reduction in the reports required by the occurrence of accidents. Evans said, it is still too early to predict the permanent effectiveness of the program, but ventured a guess that the downward trend would continue. During the traffic safety program, all units on the post are participating with safety lectures, exhibits, slogans and other techniques.

PROMOTIONS
Cigars and congratulations were in order last week at Transfer Point, when four promotions were announced. Specialist engines went to Jerome Feldman, Benjamin E. Harden and Robert G. LaRue, while John W. James added his private first stripe as a private first class. Pfc. James and SFC LaRue were promoted to Sergeant and Staff Sergeant, respectively. SFC Feldman is Training NCO and SFC Harden is Training NCO.

It is published in accordance with the provisions of the War Relocation Act of 1942, and the War Relocation Act of 1943. ## The Reserves

Ed. Note: The following editorial appeared in the Ballroom Sun on May 11, and deals with the Army Reserves. Third Army has requested that all camp newspapers in the area reprint it.

Next week is being celebrated throughout the nation as Armed Services Week. It is an appropriate time to review the state of our military reserves particularly The Army Reserves actively engaged in training.

This active Army Reserve is composed of two groups of civilians who devote a few hours each week to military training in local armories and two weeks training a year in camp. The two groups are the National Guard and the so-called Ready Reserve units. The reserve backs up our Regular Army. In theory it enables us to do with a relatively small Regular Army in days of peace at less expense of money and time.

It is to perform its function the Reserve must be large and well trained. That has not been the case. Last year Congress passed a Reserve Act for the purpose of strengthening the Reserve. Among other things it set a goal of 1,692,000 men.

How far have we gone in achieving that goal? On March 31, 1955 there were 550,275 individuals in the National Guard and 143,417 in Active Training in the Ready Reserve. On March 31, 1956 the National Guard numbered 408,654 and the Ready Reserve 128,743 for a total of 537,397. In short, we have gone one third of the way toward the manpower goal.

One novel feature introduced by the Reserve Act of 1955 was an offer to young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ enlisting in the Army to receive six months of training in the Army, then returning home to serve 7½ years either in the National Guard or in the Ready Reserve. This offer removed all the uncertainty of the draft and provided for a minimum full-time service away from home. It seemed a good proposition. Yet the army was skeptical.

The objective set by the Army was 90,000 men by June 30, 1956. It will not be reached. Thus far the national total of those signed up is only 20,000 and all of these are not yet in training. The plan goes off to a bad start and was little publicized.

Yet the Army has now shifted from skepticism to optimism. The reason is this: now that the offer is getting to be known, volunteers are signing up at better than 1,000 a week throughout the nation.

All that rate the Army would get $2,000 a year.

The Maryland Military District is keeping pace with the rest of the country. During the past three or four months young men have been signing up at an average of 80 a month. The district's goal is 104 a month.

Encouraged by what is happening, the Army is coming to believe that maybe the time is not far distant when more young men will apply for this type of military training than can be taken.

Parents who have sons approaching military service age would do well to look into the offer before it is too late.

Editorial Comments on Housing

Ed. Note: The following are editorial excerpts from the two Columbus newspapers on the recent Capehart housing controversy. These are not the complete editorials.

From Columbus Enquirer, Monday, May 14.

"A demonstration such as had never before taken place at Fort Benning gave pointed emphasis to that position of the military in regard to the need for adequate housing on the post and the desirability of creating Capehart Act units for the relief of conditions. . . The position of The Enquirer on this question is well known. This newspaper accepts the word of Gen. Harper and other military authorities that the Capehart units are needed. . . Saturday's demonstration gave of rather support to Gen. Harper's position and gave voice to some further hostile remarks concerning Columbus. The position of The Enquirer remains the same. It is our view that Congress should approve the initial plan for the erection of 1,000 Capehart units on the post and it is hoped that the House Armed Forces Committee will support Gen. Harper in his stand when he appears before the group tomorrow in Washington.

The Columbus Ledger, Monday, May 14.

"Now wait a minute! We have regarded with sympathy the position of Fort Benning and Commandant Joseph H. Harper on the Capehart housing controversy. . . But that mass meeting at Fort Benning Saturday at which Maj. Gen. Harper aroused the audience and encouraged shouting against Columbus was something else again. This encouraged shouting against Columbus was something else again. This was just a little too dramatic and staged. . . We wish that he had not done this. Perhaps he felt that he had to dramatize his point of view to get it across. But it was a little too dramatic—melodramatic—and we are afraid that it had no constructive effect whatsoever."

COURAGE

CHAP. THOMAS D. McGRATH There is a famous bookmark which we could all take as a philosophy of life: Let's admit that we're not so brave as we think we are. Let's admit that we're not so brave as we think we are. Let's admit that we're not so brave as we think we are.

OUR INFANTRY

Ed. Note: The following poem was written by a lady in Atlanta and dedicated to her brother, a retired Master Sergeant. It was submitted to us and we felt it was very appropriate for Armed Forces Day.

BY MARY HAMMOND

The soldier of the Infantry's forgot
When war breaks unannounced upon our world,
The treachery of Nippo's sneaking plot
Brought out Marines and Navy, flags unfurled;
The Air Corps too, soon roared across the sea
To east and west, Eastward Corregidor!

Behold! The Infantry is on its way!
They come from east and south, from north and west,
These motley GI boys who march along,
They represent the dregs as well as best
Of manhood in the nation. Some belong
To clans that fought in all our country's wars,
And some would be deserters if they could,
They come from dingy offices and stores,
They come from plows, from cutting stone and wood,
And many tried to join the Infantry first.

Ah, slowly, slowly do they move up front
Through sur and dust, through mud and rain they Go, up mountainsides and ever heeches hunt
Go, the foe, while planes are flying high and low,
And navy guns are roaring overhead,
And tanks are passing, leaving them to walk,
Or stumble over beaches lined with dead,
Their faces grim and set, no time for talk,
Till flashing bayonet and rifle screams
Give signal that the Infantry is there.

ASSIGNED
2nd Lt. Fred C. Collins Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla., was recently assigned to Co. A, 7th Engineers Bn (Combat), Lt. Collins is a graduate of the civil engineering course, University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla., July 25, 1944.

ARMED FORCES DAY

REWARDED FOR CARELESSNESS . . . Falling to win any safe driving awards, the late Hohart P. Fobastah found another pathway to fame. He is now widely known to CTC soldiers and has been paraded through the CTC area by the 29th Inf. Regt. Honor Guard. His post, before CTC headquarters, keeps him in view of drivers going to and from work daily. Brainchild of CTC assistant adjutant First Lt. John C. Mauer, the late Hohart is a key figure in CTC's campaign to reduce accidents.

War Games New Feature Of Advanced Instruction

Almost 400 advanced class officers here are spending approximately eight hours each day in war games centered around the life of an infantry company.

Under the direction of The Infantry School's Staff Department, they began May 25 and will continue through May 28 to learn by doing as they set in various regimental staff positions to command a regiment.

Lectures and critique periods are included in the program and officers are rotated to different positions in each of the five phases of the war games.

More than 60 sets of training manuals are used to supplement the exercises, which are presented with the help of Tactical and Communications Department committees.

Five Fires
Five major stages of the war games include the activation, training, offense movement, staging, combat, occupation and inactivation of a regiment.

Problems are planned ahead of time by Staff Department instructors who turn the material over to students to solve in the same manner they would if they were actual regimental staff officers.

For example, they must form their most regiment here, move it to North Carolina for training, New York for shipment to Europe for combat. The most battle situation is staged in Germany, which they must occupy after hostilities cease before returning their unit to New York for deactivation.

How they would set up mess halls, issue supplies, organize details and expedite missions are included in the games. Students submit written solutions to each day's problem.

Stage Possible Solution
During a critique period, Infantry School instructors stage a possible solution to the day's games which students can compare with the action they would have taken under similar circumstances.

Although the exercises are dubbed "war games," they are one of the most important stages of advanced officers instruction at The Infantry School.

FIGURES REVEAL

U. S. Lacks Adequate Reserves

Manpower Chief Tells JCOCs

BY BETSEY LIVERMORE and if they are called." The U. S., if it is to maintain its record of military victory, must deal with strength and must remember that today's dangers are great," he said.

"Since World War II, we have moved along a little more rapidly toward sound military policy, but we are still falling because we do not have an adequate Reserve," said the assistant Army secretary, the nation's reserve forces are in military establishments.

"As of today, we have approximately 169,000 Reserves, whereas we need at least 622,000 if we are to defend the democratic principle upon which our way of life is based," he said.

During an impromptu address at a dinner for the JCOC, held at the Main Officers Mess, Mr. Miller challenged the audience to help the people at home to join the Reserve.

"We're all dedicated Americans," he said, telling the group of distinguished civilians to remember that in case of national emergency, "we must move, and move fast, which we cannot do without an adequately trained Reserve force."

For example, he said, history shows that it takes approximately one year to prepare an Army division for combat.

Must Be Ready
"However, we must realize that in case of sudden atomic war, we must have the luxury of a length of time, but must be ready to fight immediately."

"The fact that the nation has only two alternatives.

"We must either spend the extensive amount of money necessary to maintain sufficient active forces, or we must train our Reserves so that they will be fully equipped and ready to fight when called upon."

He also pointed out that 90 percent of the some 2,000 lieutenants who will have trained at the School during 1956 are Reserve officers.

Wesley Head, a liaison officer of the University of Southern California, responded by saying that "we who represent civilian life must meet hands in hand with the military to fulfill our obligation to national defense."

"We represent two strong forces, each of us able to exert influence in this matter," he said. "Although I do not intend to go home and join a Reserve unit, I feel that this trip has been most educational and shall enable me to tell the people of my community the necessity of realizing our responsibility," he said.

Each Must Do Share
"We are all citizens, and each of us in our own way must do our share to defend the greatest nation on earth, the educator said.

STP... Although much has been said of the industry officer's "hook," even more important in the world of the man who is there to serve, is the knowledge and demonstrated skill of the face soldier. Current Training Command, organized in 1954, is such an organization, perhaps the Army's most distinguished training unit. The problems of the Infantry School require as crack reaction as possible without the formal and confusion of the modern, battlegroup. To meet these training standards and still under the industry's banner to attract customers of Col. James H. Carl at Winchester, Tenn. CICA member units include the 59th Infantry Regiment, the 59th Engineer (Combat) Battalion and the 1st Field Artillery Battalion.

'Queen of Battle'

"Are we ready?" Never in the history of our country has the United States entered into an armed conflict with sufficient equipment and trained personnel. Only the will to win, backed up by the industrial might of our great nation — plus the lives of our delaying troops — has it been possible for us to emerge victorious.
What about the next conflict? In event of another war, experts say there will be no buffer of time. The U.S. and other free countries of the world will not have months and years during which to build the tools of war and train the necessary millions of men rather than this precious buffer of time will be measured in minutes and seconds.
For the answer to that important question, "Are we ready?" Listen to WRB's this Saturday following the sports roundup after the game when "Queen of Battle" presents a dramatized closeup of our "Power For Peace."
For a pleasant program of music — varying from scores to Shetland — listen to WRGA in Columbus each Sunday at 11:30 p.m. "Benning Sandlot" — another program produced by the Infantry Center Public Information Office — features the 6888 Central Postal Directory Band under the direction of Master Sergeant Eugene W. Allen Monday through Saturday morning at 7:30 a.m. it's "Reville Capers" over WRGA for news of social and recreational activities.
Each Saturday evening at 8:15 p.m., WDAK in Columbus brings you "Benning News Parade," a roundup of the week's news of Benning. On Sunday, over WDAK, at 11:15 p.m., the Third Infantry Division PIO brings you "Pass It Review."
"Pass In Review" is also heard over WPMI in Peachtree City each Sunday at 12:45 p.m.

Weaver Reports to P-TA On School Construction

Construction at Faith School is 75 per cent ahead of schedule. Major Barrett M. Weaver of Tampa, Fla., Infantry Center school officer, told members of the Fort Benning Parent-Teacher Association, May 8.

Of the two wings being added, one is 90 per cent and the other 60 per cent ahead of the target date, according to Major Weaver. The latter, comprising six classrooms, is expected to be ready for occupancy this fall.

The speaker also discussed the Children's Schools cafeteria, noting that prices have been lowered twice during the year. Lunch is now 25 cents with a meal ticket and 30 cents for a single meal.

Chaplain (Col.) Earl D. Comp of Millow, N. J., delivered the invocation and expressed the appreciation of the membership to Lt. Col. Richard P. Hill of Arlington, Va., retiring P-TA president, for his able leadership.

Brief talks were given by Lt. Col. Morton S. Jarfe of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. John E. Mecher of Omaha, Neb.; Lt. Col. Edward S. Robbins of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Robert W. Douglas of Devon, Pa.; and Lt. Col. Thompson M. Colkitt of Bordenow, N. J.

Chairman of the group study, hospital membership room and program committees.

Installed as new officers of the group were Lt. Col. Arthur I. Dean, Jr. of Barrington, R. I., president; Mrs. George S. Zyster Jr. of Cocoa, Fla., first vice-president; Lt. Sgt. Martin H. Steffen of Minneapolis, Minn., second vice-president; Mrs. Paul W. Clem of Denver, Colo., secretary and Lt. Col. Joseph C. Sandlin of Waynesboro, Okla., treasurer.

How Prize Money Spent

Mrs. Helen Handelman of New Rochelle, N.Y., Miss Colleen O'Brien of Doerun, Ga., Mrs. Barbara Kirby of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Carolyn Roger of Yachville, N.C., Children's Schools faculty members, explained how P-TA attendance prize money has been spent by winning kindergarten, Faith School, Main Post School and Custer Terrace School classes.

Three-dollar attendance prizes or the May meeting were won by Mrs. Handelman's afternoon class.

Registration Set For Scout Camp

Fort Benning's Brownies and Girl Scouts will attend Camp June 11 through 15 and June 18 through 22 at Camp Hideaway.

The first season is for Brownies and girls eight years of age and the second period of Brownies in the fourth grade and intermediate scouts.

Registration will be held May 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Girl Scout Little House, adjacent to the bowling alley, Mrs. Lewis H. Shropshire of Frankfurt, Ind., is registration chairman.

The $4 registration fee includes food and first-aid costs, according to Major Barrett M. Weaver of Tampa, Fla., Infantry Center school officer. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Shropshire at Fort Benning 2-120.

Unit Wins Award 3 Months in Row

The men of the 530th Searchlight Btry., 2d F.A. Bn., OFC, are being awarded the badge of merit based on past performance.

If so there is a chance that a man from this battery may win the 23d's Soldier of the Month award again.

So far the 530th has taken the award for the months of January, February and March, and are eagerly awaiting the battalion's decision on the month of April.

Capt. James C. Harrison, battalion Adjutant, comments, "I believe these consecutive victories can be attributed to the leadership of the 530th's battery commander, Capt. William C. Martin, and his first sergeant, MSG Robert L. Eise."

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED . . . Growing ferociously, face contorted with hatred, a student officer of BIOC, No. 12, TSB, comes from behind a barrier and thrusts his bayonet deep into the vitals of his target. Bayonet practice is an important part of the training of all Infantry officers and enlisted men attending courses at The Infantry School.

Bayonet Drill Valuable Part of TIS Training

Hand to hand combat, the face to face thrust and carry of the bayonet, has not been outmoded by the tank, the jet fighter plane or even the hydrogen bomb.

This lesson was learned in blood and sweat by many an Infantryman in Korea.

So, at The Infantry School, the skillful use of the bayonet is stressed in the training of officers and enlisted men, in both defensive and offensive tactics.

Last Survivor

The bayonet is the last survivor of the sword of the Middle Ages.

The first bayonets were placed over the end of the muskets, preventing firing while the bayonets were in place.

Battlers were lost because soldiers were unable to remove the bayonets to fire when the situation changed suddenly, or to fix bayonets soon enough in a reverse situation.

At the beginning of the 19th Century, a spring clip bayonet was invented, and with this added flexibility, the bayonet proved invaluable in World War II and in Korea.

Strange Object Scares Residents, 89th EOD Squad Comes to Rescue

A strange object, found near a farm home in Warm Springs, caused much consternation for residents of that peaceful little town recently.

The article was discovered several days ago by Thomas J. Long of Warm Springs. Grayish-black in color, the cylindrical object, which caused Long to believe it might be some type of explosive.

When engineers of the Georgia Power Company and other electrical workers of the area could not identify the strange object, Long was advised to contact the post's 89th Ordnance Detachment (EOD).

And Lt. James W. Morse of Hamburg Neck, and Sgt. Gerald S. Grigsby of Lynchburg, Va., rushed to the scene to investigate the incident.

However, upon arrival, they, too, were unable to identify the object. A query of state and city police officials, railroad officials and spectators revealed that no one in that area had ever seen such an object.

Making a cursory examination, Lt. Morse and Sgt. Grigsby determined the length of the object to be 41 inches, its diameter three inches and that it was apparently made from a molded piece of carbon or graphite. Noting the wiring for use with an electrical current, Sgt. Grigsby stated that the strange object resembled a type of rocket motor.

Presumed to be of an explosive nature, the strange missile was a carefully prepared for transportation back to the post for a more thorough study and subsequent disposal.

Taking the necessary safety precautions, police officials were contacted to escort the "missile bearing" vehicle over the highway to Fort Benning.

During the night, a thorough examination of the article revealed it to be a carbon electrode used in experimental ovens and small furnaces for making steel. It is made from carbon pitch and rolled in graphite.

An arc heating element, it operates on a 220-volt circuit, and had apparently dropped from a cargo truck near the Long's home in Warm Springs. Although non-explosive, the element creates intense heat when ignited.

In commenting on the danger of articles of this nature and other items such as sawmills or chains, Lt. Morse warns that should any resident of the Chattahoochee Valley area discover an item which they suspect to be explosive, they should immediately contact the 89th Ordnance Detachment, which is stationed here primarily to render such explosive ordnance disposal support throughout the area.

ARMED FORCES DAY

The President's Armed Forces Day Message

Each year on the third Saturday in May, the Armed Forces of the United States, including the Reserve components and auxiliary services, make a special effort to increase public understanding of our national defense program which is, and has been from the beginning of our Republic, dedicated to achieving and maintaining peace.

In the present world situation, it is most important that our own people, and others throughout the world who believe as we do, should be cognizant of all aspects of our national strength—the spiritual and the moral, as well as the material and the military—and be reminded of our continuing efforts for peace.

The purpose of Armed Forces Day is to increase public understanding of, and to emphasize, our peaceful aspirations. I hope that all Americans, as well as many of our friends in other lands, will accept the invitation to visit our Armed Forces at this time.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
President of the United States

MARS Station Slates Radio Contest May 19

Fort Benning MARS station personnel and members of the post Electronic Club will compete with 500 members of the Military Amateur Radio System (MARS) in the Southeast in an Armed Forces Day contest and command post exercise May 19.

The contest and exercise, sponsored by the Third Army Signal Section, is being held on Armed Forces Day to demonstrate the practical role of MARS in the nation's "Power for Peace" program. The MARS program was initiated in 1947 to promote amateur interest in military radio communications and to provide an extra force of trained radio operators in the event of an emergency.

Eight-Hour Period—MARS contestants, civilian and military, will attempt to exchange the greatest number of correct messages in an eight-hour period. They will transmit by voice and Morse code over two frequencies set aside for the exercise by the chief of the station, Benjamin D. G. Winners will be awarded UHF receivers.

M-Sgt. Edward G. DeWitt of Moxie (Ladd Park), Md.; Sgt. Thomas W. Rathey of Newark, Ga.; and SP2 Edward R. Farisak of Chicago, Ill., operators of the post MARS station, are competing in the contest along with Electronics Club members under the direction of Major Benjamin D. G. John F. Melcher of Omaha, Neb., commander of the School Brigade's Third Battalion, First Lt. Hughie G. Milner of Hillsboro, Miss., Fort MARS station director and chairman of the Radio Maintenance Committee of The Infantry School, Communications Department, will supervise the Fort Benning contest.

650 Enthusiasts—Columbus, Ga., MARS operators will be among the 500 competing enthusiasts from Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee and North and South Carolina. MARS has 29 network control stations, three in each state in Third Army operated by individuals, one at each of the seven military district headquarters and the Third Army MARS station, Fort McPherson, Ga. FCC licensed amateur operators interested in affiliating with the MARS network should contact the nearest control site operator in their area. Applicants in the vicinity of Fort Benning may apply at the post MARS station.

JCOCs Get Army Briefing

Two military aircraft landed in Columbus to best advantage. The planes left here May 11 to return to the nation's leading business and professional leaders in Washington, D. C.

Honorable guard ceremonies and a ramp escort was held at Lawson Army Air Field as the Infantry School had farewell to delegates by the Army's phase of the 22nd semi-annual Joint Civilian Orientation Conference May 9 to 12. They will return to their homes from Washington.

Bank presidents, industrial executives and school boards were included among the conferees, who were headed by Hugh M. Milroy, II, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and Reserve forces. The JCOCs were conducted over the huge exercises to witness demonstrations geared to show how U. S. tax dollars are spent for national defense, to train combat ready Infantrymen. Dr. R. W. von Kleinsmid, 70-year old chairman of the University of Southern California, spoke for the JCOCs shortly before their departure to be noted that "we feel that this trip has been most educational and shall enable us to tell the people of our communities the necessity of realizing their responsibilities toward national defense."

The Army's huge 200-man atomic cannon took the spotlight along with the Honest John rocket which were fired during a two-hour problem designed to show how artillery weapons and personnel are used to support the Infantry in combat.

The importance of Infantry air mobility was shown to the group as they watched more than 250 parachutes billow over the post during a spectacular airborne drop of troops from the Third Battalion, 24th Airborne Infantry Regiment, Fort Bragg, N. C.

Heavy equipment floated through the air along with troops to show how helicopter and fixed wing aircraft are being used to expedite the mobility and effectiveness of Infantry units.

Stanley Hiller, Jr., president of Hiller Helicopters in Palo Alto, Calif., expressed his impressions of the mass drop by commenting on the effective way in which the Army employs rotary wing aircraft. He explained that approximately 90 per cent of the helicopters his company produces are distributed to the Army "... which,

JCOCs were joined during some of the demonstrations by more than 1,000 students from The Infantry School and other military installations. Several top officials, including Major Gen. Crump Garvin, deputy commander of the Armed Forces Staff College in Alexandria, Va., and Major Gen. Robert J. Wood, commander of the Artillery and Guided Missile School at Fort Bliss, Texas, also were on hand for portions of the program.

Other installations represented were the War and Chemical Schools at Fort McClellan, Ala. Schools at Fort McClellan, Ala. Ordnance Corps group from Picatinny Arsenal, N. J., Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Field, Ala., and ROTC cadets from Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Ala.

Lawson Weather Station Provides Valuable Service to Area Aircraft

Even though they may not be able to do anything about it, the personnel of Detachment 6, 25th Weather Squadron are constantly observing it and reporting their findings to interested agencies.

The station, an Air Force installation, has the mission of informing Lawson pilots and transiting military aircraft of weather conditions which might affect flying.

In addition to this the station furnishes other weather stations information regarding climatological conditions in this area.

Additional missions consist of providing warnings of severe weather conditions which might affect ground installations in the area, and furnishing a general planning forecast to aid in the scheduling of training problems by the industry school.

Keep 24 Hour Watch
In order to do this, the men under the command of Air Force Capt. William C. Montgomery, of Junction City, Ga., keep a 24 hour watch enabling them to always know the latest happenings in the upper atmosphere.

Some of the things that they are interested in are the height of clouds over the field, visibility, temperature, humidity, air pressure, and surface wind direction and speed. During severe weather conditions, the station coordinates with the U.S. Weather Bureau in Columbus, so that the two can better prove storm information.

In addition to the standard rain gauge, used to measure the amount of rainfall and the thermometer, they have many other pieces of equipment that the average person probably knows little about.

20 Million Waits
The ceilometer is an example of this. The million wait light that shines straight up and is believed by many to be a beacon, is used to determine cloud height. A machine tells the angle at which the light bounces off the clouds and using the angle they can tell the altitude of the clouds. Humidity is measured with a psychrometer. There is also the standard wind recorder and indicator.

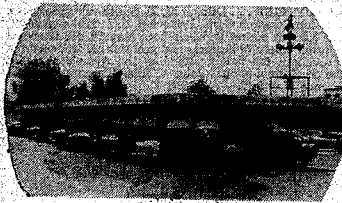

A barometer and barograph are used extensively. The barometer tells of barometric pressure while the barograph records it for comparisons and further study. Weather maps and data are obtained from Washington for further information by means of the facsimile a machine based on the same principle that the wire service uses for sending photographs to newspapers.

Use 2 Teletypes
There are two teletypes going at all times. On one set the weather station is receiving information of conditions at military installations while the other receives civilian information. Lawson sends out their information every hour.

During the times of severe conditions radar is used. It determines the position and movement of a storm and furnishes a method of detection to warn of approaching tornados.

The weather station, one of the oldest in the United States, was founded in the 1920s and was maintained by the Signal Corps until the Air Force became

Social Worker Didn't Worry About Money

A personnel specialist in Ft. Benning School Brigade formerly held the type of job in which, and any was the least of his worries. Pvt. Harry S. Hennick was a social worker in New York City. "Believe me," he said, "no matter how sorry this may seem, this was the kind of work in which other people's worries by far outweighed my own."

Hennick became a social investigator after graduating from Regis High School in New York City in 1930 and from Fortson College in 1934. At Fordham he majored in psychology and received an AB degree.

The Department of Welfare gives relief in money, medical and legal assistance, and "in kind" to persons who, through old age, blindness or unemployment are no longer able to care for themselves.

The investigator first visits the individual or family and takes a complete history of the case, including present circumstances and contributing factors.

A check is then made to determine whether anyone is legally obligated to furnish support, or if the person has any bank account or concealed assets.

After the authenticity of the application is established and relief granted, the social worker makes frequent visits of assistance.

They advise those receiving relief; they make out a budget and often assist in carrying out it; they advise those receiving relief; they find work for employables and determine if the status of the case has changed.

Pvt. Hennick says that single persons on relief, usually very old, blind or ill people, can live fairly comfortably on the money provided by the city.

Families have a more difficult time. However, the houses they live in must be approved by the Welfare Department, so none of them are without the ordinary necessities such as bathrooms and heat.

The principal headache of the investigator is the family which continues to collect relief after some member has gotten a job. Neighbors are the best source of information in this situation; they don't like to see their tax money used to support someone who doesn't need it.

High Scores Seen in Play This Week

There was nothing to compare with the first week's record of three no-hitters, but play in the Doughboy Youth Activities Doughboys' Baseball League over the past several days did produce three no-hitters, as well as several high-scoring efforts.

The one-hitters were won by the Major League Flyers, with a 13-0 decision over the Cottonbaler; Rock of the Marne, topping the Can Doers, 7-1, and in the Minor league by the Cardinals, dropping the Yankees, 13-2.

Other scores follow.

Major, May 7—Barns, 5; Green Wave, 5; game to be replayed at later date.

May 10—Commander, 22; Cottonbaler, 4; Rams, 7; Flyers, 4; and Rock of the Marne, 12; Green Wave, 4.

Minor, May 8—Dodgers, 4; Indians, 4; to be replayed and Phillies, 4; Tigers, 5.

May 11—Giants, 25; Red Sox, 20; Dodgers, 10; Phillies, 4; and White Sox, 9; Tigers, 8.

To win their title, the White Sox came up with live runs in the last inning. Official scores are requested to turn in the scores and highlights of each game to the league president's office for publication in future BAYONETS.

'Balers Still Tops In Marne League

By KAL WAGENHEIM

And the Cottonbalers of the 7th ICC still lead the league with a 4-1 record.

After a week-long struggle between the quintet of baseball teams fighting for the Marne title, the Balers today led the league to their win totals, retaining the top spot while the 28th ICC gained yardage and moved into a tie for second place. The 20th and 15th ICC each have 4-3 records.

In the first of five games last week Support Command beat the 7th, 3-0 for the league-toppers' first place.

On Wednesday the 20th trounced Support Command, 6-7; the Cotton balers, tipped the 15th, 4-3, on Thursday; the 15th bounced back with a 10-1 triumph over Support Command on Saturday; and Divarky absorbed its fourth straight defeat Sunday, falling to the 20th, 4-4.

On Saturday Support Command scored its lone run in the first inning when Carroll walked and moved around on Lowe's triple play, then the roof fell in. The 15th went on to score a total of ten runs in the game, knocking star pitcher Leon Stuegg out of the box.

In the third inning the 15th tied it up when Ikeda walked, stole second, and scored on two errors. Then in the sixth Stuegg was yanked as the "Can Doers" rapped out six singles for four runs. They repeated for four more in the next inning and added one more in the eighth.

Frank Jankowski was credited with the win, a neat five-hit job.

Divarky fell for the fourth straight time on Sunday, when an eighth inning throwing error by relief pitcher Dick Foote let three runs come across to give the 20th its 6-4 triumph.

The Redlegs led, 4-3, entering the eighth inning when with a man on first and second and no outs, Evert Austin tried a sacrifice bunt. Foote swooped in and tried for the runner at third. He had him but the throw went high and into left field, allowing two runners to score. By this time the lightning-fast Austin was on top of third base and was awarded home when the left fielder's return throw was fired into the stands.

Austin's speed also proved valuable in the ninth when Divarky made its last ditch stand. He scampered in and made a eubstering catch on "flier" Henshower's liner for the first out and then sped to right center for another fine running catch on Tom McGreevy's sinking fly ball.

The winning pitcher, Shamberger, walked Jim Cohen, a pinch-hitter and ended the contest, slipping a called third strike past another pinch-batter, Joe Cardella.

STC Sees Changes In Duty Assignments

Changes in duty assignments affecting seven officers in Special Troops Command were promulgated here this week. This change of events was set off when Lt. Col. Lyle E. Widdowson, S-1 for STC, was assigned to the Adjutant General's Office of Hqs. TIC. He was replaced by Major John H. Knox, formerly S-4 for the command. Capt. James J. Egan, Sr., who until this time was the Assistant S-4, stepped up to take Maj. Knox's job.

Next came the assignment of Capt. Fred D. Soriano, commanding officer of Co "B", 2nd Special Troops Battalion, as assistant S-3 of STC. His replacement was 1st Lt. Carlton E. Knight Jr., Captain assistant adjutant, was appointed. Adams has been appointed assistant personnel officer commanding officer of Co.

Basic Trainees Take Note: 'Skyhook' Finally Invented

It's finally happened. The skyhook—traditional "nothing" which army basic trainees are sent to find—has become a something.

This skyhook, invented by Lt. Col. Lawrence M. Furey of Warwick, Pa., chief of terminal operations at the Army's Port of Embarkation in Bremerhaven, Germany, may keep cable off the ground when it's not being used to unload ships.

A queerly shaped device made of steel rods, the skyhook is mobile and can be moved about as needed.

Furey's inventive imagination didn't begin with the skyhook—nor is it apt to end there. Numerous Army citations prove his mental meanderings have improved the loading and unloading of men.

Fort Benning Sports Hall of Fame. All opinions are requested. Please call me at 3-8222 or 3-9123. If you would care to contribute something to this column on the project, feel free to do so. We want to be certain all post sports fans are behind us.

Very few, if any, posts have such a lasting memory to their athletes and sports programs. We could contribute a valuable "first" to a needed plan that has been forgotten far too long.

Punching Away

Pete Rademacher's TCO of Jim Maynard in the first round of their fight here last week was no surprise, but Willie Johnson's work against highly-rated and cocky Pearce Lane, All-Army Welterweight Champion, really brought fans to their feet. Long, lean Willie did lose the decision, but many felt it could have gone the other way. Johnson's ability to take a punch should make him a popular favorite for the rest of the season. He seems fairly certain to win a lot of bouts for the Doughboys.

Capt. Ed Pater did his usual fine job as referee of the Benning-Folk bouts.

Miss LoRien is all for a Sports Hall of Fame. She wonders if she could become a sort of "tour guide" to lead spectators part all the pictures "of those great big, strong boys."

Columbus Museum Offers Excellent Program To Those Seeking Cultural Exhibits, Activities

Note: This is the first of a series of two articles dealing with cultural opportunities in the Columbus area which are available to soldiers of Fort Benning.

BY TOM BELLER

The Columbus Museum of Arts and Crafts offers a refreshing and well-rounded program to Post personnel seeking cultural exhibits and activities in their free time.

Located on Wynnton Road in the former W. C. Bradley home, the museum is the realization of many years of planning by a small but determined group of Columbus artists and art enthusiasts who dreamed of an art center for the city and for the Chattahoochee Valley.

One of their purposes was to include the arts and artifacts of the prehistoric Indians of the Valley in the galleries with the arts of other times and civilizations. This general theme has been carried out during the three years of the museum's existence, including the Columbus streets of today.

Museum to operate the galleries at present, secured entirely through public subscription, is of a permanent collection.

cluding those for endowment and acquisition purposes. It is hoped that as the interest grows in what is being done at the art center for the community, so will grow the membership contributions.

Open Daily

The galleries are open daily except Monday, and there is no admission charge. The visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday afternoons from 3 to 5 p.m. All new exhibits are opened on Sundays in order that as many people as possible can attend. Preview teas are arranged occasionally for the Chattahoochee Valley.

Amating progress has been shown in the diligent and lively program of arts and crafts created by Edward Shorter, museum director, and his small staff. Not only has the museum been able to present loan exhibitions covering all phases of Art from the early masters up to and including the sometimes suspect abstracts of today.

Several fine early masterpieces have been acquired as the nucleus of a permanent collection.

artist of the 16th century. Bartolomeo Cavazzani, and an early American portrait, of a young woman painted in 1808 by a young historical illustrator on Paul Greer within the present city limits.

Damage being inflicted on this collection by the late W. C. Bradley is being repaired by the Chattahoochee River for archaeological investigations there in 1936. Much important material was recovered. Mrs. Patterson hoped that these specimens would become the nucleus for the Indian Museum in Columbus, and such is now the case.

In other galleries, the museum boasts an excellent collection of Far Eastern objects, particularly Japanese ceramics, silver, lacquer and porcelain items. Many of these were loaned or given to the museum by Fort Benning personnel formerly stationed in the Far East.

Guid Eiler of Fort Benning recently completed a series of Art Appreciation lectures at the museum. Future plans, presented in increasing financial support by the townpeople, include a continuing program of loan art exhibits, equipment of the permanent collection and of the Indian Museum, and special functions for the contributing members.

To include Lectures

Such functions will include lectures on the various phases of art, painting and crafts demonstrations, art and foreign movies, and perhaps a few open-air concerts in the museum garden.

Also in the museum program is a school for teaching painting and crafts to children as well as adults.

All these, plus a small but representative collection of works by present day Georgia artists of note, make a museum of which any community could be proud, and one well worth visiting. The Indian collection alone is of tremendous importance, as it presents examples of native crafts covering a period of more than 10,000 years.

The museum building, remodelled from the home of the late W. C. Bradley, prominent Columbus industrialist, is a lovely setting for the works of art being gathered there. It is a combination of functional and classical beauty surrounded by a serene garden where the visitor from Fort Benning may become enraptured by his muse.

troops from Headquarters and Infantry Regiment under command of Capt. Paul W. Glenn, 29th Infantry supporting weapons including the 29-mm atomic cannon, Nike and Corporal missiles, and 75-mm skyscraper will be on display.

The public is invited to attend and routes to Lawson Field will be marked by signs beginning at 10:30 a.m. One whose visitors are asked to enter the post.

Fort Benning will also join forces with civilian and military units from throughout the Columbus area for a huge parade to begin at 10 a.m. at 19th Street and 3rd Avenue.

Among local and post dignitaries invited to watch the parade is a special reviewing stand will be Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center and Third Division commander at Fort Benning. Infantry Center units and the order in which they are scheduled to appear include: Lt. Col. George Wood, commander of troops, and his staff from Second Battalion, 15th Infantry Division.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., May 16, 40-man march unit with colors and color guard, Combat Company, 2nd Battalion, 15th Infantry, Elliott said he could conceive of the Army making any such decision "on such a basis" but added there would be a protest.

On this point Vinson said there would be any place to put the Third Division since other Army posts also are short of housing. Vinson told Elliott "the weakness of your position is that there just haven't been any rental units built" in the Benning area and that "we have got to have housing for our Army."

Vinson said he could see that 1,000 Capenath units would hurt the Columbus economy. He added before any more units were contemplated there should be a thorough study of the matter. Elliott said his group was "disturbed" by the 1,000 units.

Maj. Gen. Paul Adams, commander of Fort Bragg, testified he was concerned because many of his personnel had to live considerable distances from the field.

Housing

His command, he said, was subject to quick call in event of an emergency. He said he needed more than 1,000 housing units in the vicinity of the field.

Harry Sanford, attorney representing the Fayetteville board of realtors, opposed the request for 2,000 Capenath units at Bragg. He said he believed at least 1,500 units were needed but that the Army should demolish that many units of substandard housing on the post.

Vinson told Sanford that his committee is agreed on the Capehart housing plan and "it is a question of how fast to go."

"After we build the 2,000 units," he advised Sanford "we will take a look and see what you have done. How many units you have built."

Sanford said he doubted if local enterprise would build any housing because the Capenath construction would "chill" any plans.

He contended that the Army was attempting to bring all its men onto the base and in view of this uncertainty builders would not be likely to embark on any great construction program.

Georgia Has Its Share Of Interesting History

(This is the fourth in a series of Special Services' travel and recreation articles dealing with places of scenic and historical interest in the State of Georgia where military personnel may visit on off-duty time.)
The American forces were successful, however, and drove the British out of the State. Revolutionary records show these engagements, fought in the Deep South, as the "Craw Campaign" and the "Battle of the Clouds." One of the first things most people do early in the morning is read the Columbus Enquirer. It is read by many people who realize that the founder of their morning paper was the second president of the Texas Republic.

NEW FIRST SGT. ... M-Sgt. Lawrence F. Scarborough, of Stonefall, Ga., was recently assigned to Hq. Co., 151st Engineer Group (Combat), as first sergeant. Prior to his present assignment he served with the 8th Inf. Regt., stationed in Friedberg, Germany.

'Old-Timer' Seen Much Since Enlisting in 1916

Once a Marine, and a gold prospector, he's now an Army sergeant. He was a world-war I vet and a veteran of both World Wars and the Korean conflict. Quite a background for one "old-timer." Let's take a look at him.
He is Sgt. Alexander M. Hunter, of Hq. Co., 151st Engineer Group, who enlisted in the Marine Corps in Aug. 1916 and was sent to help clean out the bandits and revolutionists in the Dominican Republic. He returned to the United States for a short while, and then was sent to France with the 4th Co., 5th Marine Regt.
Sgt. Hunter took part in the battles of Verdun, Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Woods, Soissons, Pointe du Hoc, S. A. L., Meuse-Champagne, Hane Montfleur, and the Meuse-Argonne drive.
He was gassed twice, the first time during the Soissons battle, and the last time during the Meuse-Argonne drive. He served in the Army of Occupation in Germany, and returned to this country in Aug. of 1919.
At this time he was discharged from the service and returned to the farm and coal mine that had been in the family since the Civil War. Things did not go well for him, though, for his gassed lungs began giving him trouble and he had to report to a veteran's hospital where he was treated for a period of over two years.
After his stint in the hospital, Sgt. Hunter returned to the family home and resumed farming and mining operations until his father's death. In 1936 the remainder of the family sold out their holdings, and Hunter went west to prospect for gold. Of all places to start such a hunt, he picked a place called Superstition Range in Arizona, and with a name like that you might know that he found no traces of gold.

Post Bids Adieu To Gen. Harper Upon Departure For Manila Job

PRECISION . . . Marching and copters were enjoyed by the spectators at the Co., Lunned Armed Forces Day Parade May 9.

The World In Review

U. S. Drops First H-Bomb From Plane An American B-36 bomber dropped a hydrogen bomb over Bihi Atoll Monday. It was the first H-bomb ever dropped from an American plane. A fiery cloud of dust, steam and debris churned 25 miles into the pre-dawn sky. The bomb was released from the B-36 Stratofortress from eight miles up. A force unofficially estimated as at least that of the energy produced by detonation of 10 million tons of TNT was lost in the explosion.

Armed Forces Day Sees Service Row

Last Saturday, Armed Forces Day, saw a flare-up between the Army, Air Force, and Navy. While the three services were cooperating in displays and parades, some sources in the Pentagon gave newspapermen documents declaring that present emphasis on air power could lead only to national disaster.

Secretary Wilson immediately began looking into the matter, and he announced Monday that the inter-service rivalry had been exaggerated, and that he is investigating who started the controversy. The differences between the services, he said, were covered in certain "confidential staff papers" which were being brought into service planning.

Compromise Seen On Form Measure

Senate-House conferees on the farm bill were reported Monday to have agreed tentatively on a compromise which would give the administration largely what it wants on the key question of food grains. Sen. Ellender (I-La.) chairman of the conferees, would say only after the 24 hour session that, "We have discussed the proposed bill, and I'm sure we can reach an agreement by tomorrow" (Tuesday).

Queen Sends Best Wishes to Russies

Queen Elizabeth II told Soviet President Klement Vorochilov by message Tuesday that she hoped "for the flourishing of the Soviet peoples." She signed her message to the Duke of Edinburgh to visit their country in the near future.

REPRESENTATIVES VISIT

Two representatives of the Third Army Finance and Accounting Section, Fort McPherson, Ga., were here May 21 to 23 to discuss the new Army Control Management System. The visitors, Wm. S. Currow Jr., and Benton F. Wheeler, conferred with Infantry Center personnel concerning the system, a consolidation of budgeting, programming, accounting and performance analysis to be implemented throughout the Third Army area July 1.

Events Will Climax Week Of Activities

A round of farewell post activities, parties and ceremonies came to a close this morning when Major Gen. and Mrs. Joseph E. Harper left The Infantry Center for the last time.

Major Gen. Harper, who has served as deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center, will assume duties as chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group to the Philippines.

As part of their regular training, the students will witness Infantry school demonstrations, including parachute and helicopter exercises staged by the Airborne Army Aviation Department, and will receive orientation in Ranger and technical courses.

1,800 ROTC Cadets To Be Trained At Infantry School This Summer

Approximately 1,800 ROTC cadets from 36 colleges and universities in seven southeastern states, Puerto Rico and Maine are scheduled to arrive here June 23 for six weeks of intensive Army field training.

The cadets will be housed in the Harmony Club area of the sprawling reservation where more than 100,000 second lieutenants were turned out in Infantry officer candidate courses during World War I and the Korean conflict.

Each student will be graded for leadership qualities by officers and non-commissioned officers assigned as cadre for the summer camp. The cadre will consist of 126 officers and 174 NCO's drawn from colleges, universities and high school ROTC programs in the Third Army area and elsewhere. Support Personnel In addition, all major troop units on the post will provide personnel in support of the camp. The ROTC Support Company will have 250 officers and 940 enlisted men. The Third Infantry Division Support Command will furnish assistant instructors and demonstration troops. Transportation of the cadets will be the job of the 56th Transportation Truck Co. and a Provisional Truck Co. of the 3rd Div.

As part of their regular training, the students will witness Infantry school demonstrations, including parachute and helicopter exercises staged by the Airborne Army Aviation Department, and will receive orientation in Ranger and technical courses.

Approximately 1,150 officers and staff members will be receiving a scroll of appreciation signed by top post officials and staff members.

Gen. Barlow to Retire, Wooten Named D.C.G.

Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, a native of Diagonal, Iowa, Gen. Barlow was born Sept. 1, 1900, and graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., in 1922. He saw action in World War II with the 202d Infantry Division during the New Guinea, Southern Philippine and Northern Philippine campaigns. He was assigned to the U. S. forces in Austria from 1950 to 1952 and became Third Army deputy chief of staff Oct. 5, 1954. The following July he was named Third Army chief of staff. Gen. Barlow assumed his duties as deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center Oct. 6, 1954, six months after being promoted to the rank of brigadier general. Among his decorations are the

Other participants besides Gen. Barlow were Brig. Gen. Robert Cook, executive director of the Infantry Center and staff members. Gen. Barlow received a scroll of appreciation signed by top post officials and staff members who have served with him since he came here two years ago.

Gen. E. A. Barlow Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal, Purple Heart and Combat Infantryman Badge. Gen. and Mrs. Barlow have three sons. Gen. Wooten, former assistant (See GEN. BARLOW, Page 13)

Breaking Speed Records. Can Cause Sudden Death
BY M-SGT. CHARLES E. GRAVES
Guest Editorialist

Are you out to break a speed record?
Since the discovery of the wheel, man has constantly sought to increase his speed in his mode of transport. Progress has been constant and research still continues to conquer the greatest distance in the shortest possible time.

Mentions of speeds of 500, 700, even 1,000 miles per hour are becoming commonplace. Speed records have been set, only to be broken in the never ending attempt to "get there quicker."

The big question is: "Has safety kept up with the times?" Years ago, the sailing ship Flying Cloud set a speed record by sailing 15,000 miles from New York to San Francisco in 89 days. In July, 1923, the SS United States set a world record (which still stands) in crossing the Atlantic Ocean. Ambrose Light to Bishop Rock in 3 days, 10 hours and 40 minutes.

In the same year a Northwest Airlines Stratocruiser flew from Tokyo to Seattle in 15 hours and 10 minutes. A passenger train on the P.F. Railroad covered the 2,228 miles from Los Angeles to Chicago in 36 hours and 35 minutes in 1927. At the Indianapolis Speedway in 1924, Volkovich averaged 130.84 miles per hour in his racer.

Impressive Records
All these are impressive speed records, worthy of note; but all have been or probably will be broken. In fact, just last week in Pennsylvania, a man broke a good many speed records. Not with a fast train, steamship, or even a jet plane. Just the old family automobile. It wasn't even "couped up," but he managed to cover the distance from Pennsylvania to his eternal home (distance unknown) in exactly one second. And he took his wife and three of his eight children with him. It was easy. He only had to crash head-on with another automobile.

When you're driving on the highway, are you out to break speed records? Or has your observance of safety kept up with the times?

Strength For Our Day

How true the statement is that this present era is characterized by the expansion of the nations in national security and international prestige. However, amidst this growth, there is confusion in economic conditions, moral customs and religious sincerity.

Indeed, this age, which we are now in, presents to every individual the primary necessity of building a faith that is abiding and eternal against that which is transitory and perishable. Thus it becomes imperative that our religious faith be that faith which gives purpose that deep sense of understanding to our lives.

The Epistle to the Hebrews was written in an era much like our own. However, the writer took advantage of an era when everything was being shaken to discover what nothing could shake. It was there where the writer's wit and sensitive fingers lay hold on a truth which was durable and everlasting.

When he spoke of his hope, it was an "anchor of the soul both sure and steadfast" and the "glorious hope of God. He is 'the same yesterday, today and forever.' When he refers to his faith, he says 'removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things that cannot be shaken may remain.'

In our own manner today, it is necessary that we establish in our living faith that which is imperishable and everlasting. We indeed, have a faith for our

Library Concert

Next Tuesday evening the record concert at the Main Post Library will feature Columbia's most celebrated musical recordings. Felix Mendelssohn's "Elijah," first performed at the Birmingham Musical Festival, England, in 1846 under Mendelssohn's direction, the oratorio was given an overwhelmingly favorite reception.

"Elijah" is divided into two vast sections. The first part relates how the prophet Elijah escapes a drought in Israel because his people have forsaken the Lord, and follow instead the false god Baal to a contest which shall determine who is the true God. When Elijah is victorious, he puts the evil prophets to death.

The second part is concerned with the efforts of the prophet's enemies to kill him and the protection afforded him by the Lord, and finally the ascension to heaven in a fiery chariot.

It is in his lyrics that "Elijah" is most inspired. Arias such as "My God, My God," "O Rest In Me," and "The End of the World" are Mendelssohn's creations. Another characteristic of the work is the

DETACHMENT

(E.O.D.)

MEMBER JOHN... Personnel of the post's 89th Ordnance Detachment (E.O.D.) play a lively part in the education of the hundreds of young men who are assigned to the post throughout the Third Army zone. At top left is Lt. Walter W. Baker, commanding officer of the detachment. These two are assigned to inspect equipment by qualified civilian technicians who are given left to center: Sgt. Fred L. Henson, Sgt. Billy Henson, SP1 Irwin R. Bingham, SP2 Horace H. Jones, SP2 Horace Jones Jr., SP2 Earl A. Dancy, SP2 Richard W. Hill and SP2 Mark Hargrove. Last activities include (photo No. 1) classroom discussion conducted by Lt. Baker (standing) on the hazards which might be incurred in disposing of what is commonly known as the "butterfly bomb" (No. 2) SP2 Kenneth R. Foster (left) gives Sgt. Gerald S. Grigsby a "cooling off" after the latter had donned protective clothing preparatory to investigating an incident involving toxic rocket fuels. Donning the clothing and equipment are (center) SP2 Horace Jones and (right) Sgt. Billy Henson. (No. 3) SP1 Irwin R. Bingham (right) passes to 2d Lt. James W. Morse an unexploded mortar shell which had been discovered on the premises of a civilian home in Columbus. (No. 4) Finding and being shown the mortar shell, SP2 Horace Jones Jr., and SP2 Richard Hill prepare the casing for its trip to Fort Benning and subsequent disposal. (No. 5) Fred L. Henson, now going on duty to inspect possible presence of radioactivity in an unexploded mortar shell near the reservation. After the projectile is identified and classified, it will be disposed of according to a method prescribed by the commanding officer of the unit. (No. 6) Discussing an appeal from a civilian at Henson High School, the 89th Ordnance Detachment (E.O.D.) and 2d Lt. James W. Morse make a cursory examination of a strange object which had been found near the civilian's home. The civilian appealed to the 89th after all other efforts at identifying the mysterious object had failed. The object was later determined to be a non-explosive carbon electrode. (No. 7) "Fire in the hole" shouts SP2 Kenneth R. Foster as he prepares to strike the fuse which will finally detonate an unexploded ordnance projectile found near the reservation.

89th EOD Sq. Does Important Job In Disposing of Explosive Items

It was just a rusty old hand grenade, brought home by a veteran as a souvenir. But intuition told the returned housewife who had begun to exude a white substance and was believed to be still loaded. At Lt. James W. Morse, Executive Officer of the unit, and SFC Fred L. Beets, explosive ordnance supervisor were dispatched to the university to investigate the situation. It was a ten inch 50 mm shell emitting the white crystallized crystals and "Had anyone so much as scratched it, the missile probably would have been detonated," said SFC Beets, who is an expert at explosive ordnance disposal.

Risks Dangerous Commenting on the situation, Lt. Morse said: "Throughout this area there are perhaps many relics of the Civil War, World War I and the Korean conflict. Many of these were brought home as souvenirs. (Hundreds) numbers of which may still be active. In Dec., 1955, fragmentation grenade with fuse and filter was picked up on the grounds of Baker High School in Columbus. What devastation could have been wrought had a child playfully detonated the missile? But all the incidents do not happen in civilian areas. Here at Benning, a 76 mm high velocity anti-tank round with tracer was removed from the Provost Marshal's office. For ten years it had been used as a door stop. In June, 1954, one-half pound of TNT was removed from an office in Hg. TIC.

During its time here, members of the 89th have picked up such items as tear gas grenades, white phosphorus grenades, mortar shells, artillery rounds, rockets, cannon balls, 30 caliber ammunition as well as numerous objects which were finally determined to be non-explosive. In addition, members of the unit are charged with the responsibility of clearing the ranges of duds after a firing problem.

For this vital mission, members of the 89th are specially trained and organized. Highly technical classified training has been given to all officers and non-commissioned officers of the unit.

Hazardous Duty By its very nature, explosive ordnance disposal operations are hazardous and certain calculated risks must be taken in which the ingenuity, good judgment, common sense and master techniques of the explosive ordnance disposal officer will determine success or failure of the mission. Personnel of the

'Crazy Shortie' Uniform Slated for Summer Wear

Fort Benning military personnel will be walking around the post after July 1 looking cool, casual and comfortable in the Army's newly authorized "shortie" summer uniforms.

As one officer said when the announcement was released in Washington "... we'll strictly make fashion headlines with these cra-zzy chopped off trousers, short sleeved shirts and sand-colored knee socks!"

However, despite humorous reactions to the news, comfortable hot weather garb is the latest word, according to Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center commander, who authorized them for personnel here.

To date "shorties" are strictly optional and not scheduled to become mandatory as a drill or duty uniform until July, 1958.

Closely resembling uniforms that Air Force personnel have been wearing for several years, the new summer attire will include open collars, no ties and regulation belts, caps and shoes.

Inductees entering the Army after July 1 will receive two sets of the shortened uniforms and three sets of regular-length khaki (in contrast to the five long sets now issued to newcomers).

Gen. Lynch also authorized walking shorts after duty hours of the reservation as long as they are neat and properly fitted.

Basic training troops participating in official formations as a unit include the only men in the Third Army area who will be required to wear the new garb before 1958, he said.

Although post personnel have not had enough time to adapt their wardrobes to the recent announcement, The Infantry Center promises to become a pioneer testing ground within the next few weeks.

What do the women of all this? One perk secretary seemed to sum up the feelings of her co-workers as she laughingly exclaimed:

"... Now I've heard everything. Can't you just picture NY best coming to work in walking shorts and knee socks!"

TIS to Graduate 600 This Week

Almost 650 students will be graduated from the Infantry School May 24 to 26 at ceremonies commemorating the completion of five classes.

Today 78 and 120 students will complete rifle marksmanship instructors course No. 7 and Ranger course No. 9, respectively. A rifle marksmanship course is also being completed by 193 students.

May 25 and rifle maintenance class No. 8 will include 55 graduates.

Topping the list of final ceremonies will be those for basic infantry officers class No. 9 May 26, which will feature an address by Congressman J. J. Flynt Jr., of Georgia.

He will speak at 11 a.m. in the Main Theater.

FORMAL GUARD MOUNT . . . Combining bugle calls with band music, the formal guard mount is one of the Army's traditional ceremonies where precision, sharpness and colorfulness are expertly combined. Mixing the ingredients in their correct proportions are members of the 29th Inf. Regt.'s Honor Guard Co. Led by correct leader Lt. George F. Blackhurst of Portland, Mich., they performed this ceremony recently before visiting ROTC cadets.

Wallet Lost Last October Found Intact

During the early morning hours of May 9, the troops of A Co., 7th Infantry Bn., were passing through a wooded area during one of their tactical problems.

Pfc. George S. Hamlin, a rifleman of A Co., noticed what appeared to be a discarded sole of a boot laying half submerged in leaves and grass.

Being of a curious nature, he picked up the sole and discovered it was a wallet that had obviously been laying there for quite some time.

Pvt. Hamlin immediately turned the wallet over to his platoon leader.

After discarding a few leaves, particles of sand, and a family of insects that had made their home in the wallet, the owner was identified as Sgt. Ronald D. Goepfinger, Reg. Btry, 41st P.A. Sq.

Specialist Goepfinger was called immediately and it was found that he had lost his wallet last Oct. 4, when he was on a field problem prior to going on Exercise Sagebrush.

Snapshots, letters, an ID Card, miscellaneous papers, and a few dollars were in the wallet when it was lost. Some of the pictures are still intact, but the letters and other papers are almost eaten away.

At this time, Specialist Goepfinger is probably still trying to piece the two one's and the five dollar bill that were in the wallet.

County Library Has Well-Rounded Collection Of Books, Records Available to Post Soldiers

PA. Note: This is the second in a series of two articles dealing with the cultural opportunities afforded Benning soldiers in Columbus and the nearby area.

BY TOM SELLERS

The Muscogee County library system is expecting a total circulation of 1 million books, magazines, records and newspapers this year, the largest in its lifetime.

This, points out Library Director John Hanner, is despite the competition of television for readers' time. TV has shown no tendency to halt the upward curve of the various branch libraries' circulation, and, in fact, may have stimulated the consumption of certain types of reading matter such as non-fiction.

Fort Benning personnel are eligible for library cards and may check out books and magazines for periods ranging from seven to 14 days without charge.

neighborhood branches at Baker Village (22-B Benning Drive) and the Good Will Branch (1350 11th Ave.), the latter being open Fridays from 8 to 5 p.m. only.

Also Bookmobile

There is also a traveling branch, known as the Bookmobile, which makes regularly scheduled trips into area communities, and a service for Negroes at the 4th Avenue Library, 4th Ave. and 7th Street.

The Bradley Library is a beautiful, modern building which was dedicated on Oct. 31, 1950. It is surrounded by a lovely garden dotted with stately trees, flowers, shrubbery and placid pools of water. It displays a serene, classical facade to the public.

The library is named in honor of the late W. C. Bradley, prominent Columbus industrialist. It is located on land given by Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Turner and the stockholders of the Eagle and Phenix Mills. Mrs. Turner is the daughter of of the late Mr. Bradley. Services available at the Bradley library are:

- (1) Some 150,000 books, including fiction such as historical novels, woodcuts, Westerns, science fiction, light lover, non-fiction, how-to-do-it, and many others;
- (2) Reference and research in area communities, and a service for Negroes at the 4th Avenue Library, 4th Ave. and 7th Street.
- (3) Photograph records are readily checked out on borrowers' cards without costs.
- (4) Films and filmstrips to pop up club and groups programs are available on a wide range of subjects. Films are 16 mm. sound and with advance reservation, they can be shown free of charge on a wide range of subjects.
- (5) Meeting rooms are available without charge for group meetings at any time. Call 4-4533 to reserve.
- (6) Meeting rooms or equipment.

14 Teams Seen Entering TIC Swimming, Diving Meet

Fourteen teams are expected to enter the 1958 Swimming and Diving meet sponsored by the Infantry Center Special Services, June 1-4 at the Fort Benning Hotel. The meet will be held on the main pool and the 2nd Division will be invited to participate. Competition will be on both team and individual levels. Tournament rules limit squads to 15 men with a maximum of three eligible to compete in each swimming and diving event. Individuals may not participate in more than three events, exclusive of the team relay. A representative captain's meeting will be held at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 1 at the Sports Office located in Briant Wells Field House. The purpose of the meeting will be to review rules and to make last minute entries and decisions.

PROMOTED

The rules governing the meet will be the 1956 Swimming and Diving Rules of the Amateur Athletic Union and necessary changes made by the Special Services Sports Office. A committee composed of one representative from each participating unit with a representative of the Sports Office will be selected.

THE BEST INSURANCE POLICY

"The men who founded our country set standards for all the world. One of these great goals, they stated, in the Declaration of Independence, 'that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.'"

This idea that all men deserve a fair chance—ordinary people as well as the strong and clever—has made the United States a land of opportunity.

To make our system practical on the political level, we must choose the best men to lead the country. Other nations, picking their leaders from specially-trained groups or ruled by "strong men," today challenge us to prove that the free way can be made to work.

It is the duty of each citizen of the United States to pick out and vote for the men with the best records. Ballots are insurance policies on the American system of opportunity for all.

On The Bookshelf

BURDEN OF PROOF, by Victor Canning. (Simon, 212 pages).
 Peter Barlow, a Canadian engineer on business in England is accused of the murder of the man who caused his father's death. Escaping, he teams up with Catherine Swinton to hunt down the murderer, and finds he is being hunted by an underworld gang and the police. There is high adventure in the best Canning tradition in this book.

YOU AND THE ATOM, by Gerald Wendt. (Marrow, 96 pages).
 In this lively well-written account of the greatest scientific development of our ages, the author has for the reader a two hour account which will give you a good understanding of the basic principles of the atom and nuclear science.

DELAYED PAYMENT, by John Rhode. (Dodd, 215 pages).
 When Supt. Washburn of Scotland Yard started to investigate the murder of a woman at Smith Farm, he found himself in a vicious and cunning trap. In a novel packed with excitement and surprise, the reader senses danger, watches Washburn and the local constable, as he is hit by it and uncovers the evidence which solves the Scotland Yard puzzle.

CTC Retraining Program Expanded

The CTC's retraining program has been expanded to include Civil Engineer as well as Infantry and Artillery training.

Now in their fourth week of training, the class assigned to Ft. O. 25th Inf. Regt. has been divided into light and heavy weapons infantrymen and combat engineers. Five combat engineers received their MOS. This is the fifth retraining cycle being conducted in CTC.

The program, only one of its kind in the Third Army area, is being conducted throughout the Army, both in the U. S. and overseas. In a continuing effort, CTC's NCO's in combat specialties and the average of NCO's in non-combat specialties are in excess of 100.

With the Greatest of Pleasure

Chaplain's Corner

Since We Are Surrounded

CHAPLAIN (MAJOR) WILLIAM C. FORD

One hundred and seventy-five years ago a great American gave hope to a troubled man. And yet it is as if Thomas Paine were writing for us when he said, "The times that we live in are over—and the greatest and completest revolution the world ever knew is just beginning." Our work is just beginning. Before we can expect to help and blesses, we must undergo the fatigues of building a new world. Now, in this time of peace, our path is marked for us. The road ahead is not so bright. If we wish to walk with Sunday, we must ally ourselves with Sunday as though traveling carefree through some shaly fall.

It is a road that will challenge us every step—for along its way we will have to continually bend down within us as individuals and as a nation, the snarling quiplets that array themselves against us people.

Five Examples of Peace
 Just as avarice, ambition, envy, anger and pride have always turned men from peaceful pursuits to armed conflict, so they will set themselves against us tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. As we struggle to build a better world, as we strive with our new creation power, we will have to create a new world of peace and security for mankind. What other nation is as gloriously blessed as ours?

What other people, so free of pestilence and hunger? Look where you will across this world and you can see the fruits of our prosperity. When we think of our present problems, line upon line of sorrow upon sorrow, however large and bleak a picture we may paint, or how high a mountain of dismay we wish to build, the image is blotted into insignificance when we look with our minds as well as our eyes East or West.

"We as a nation, and individually as members of that nation, shine as bright stars in the firmament of the Memorial Day preserved for the American way. Their sacrifice insures us still that 'Government of the people by the people and for the people, shall not perish.' Their courage and devotion has caused a new light to be kindled. The keeping of that light is in our hands. To us has been given the task of building a world of peace and good will."

There can be no excuse if we fail them again. No personal significance or insignificance can shield one or another of us. Every trial through which we are passing will light us as honor or dishonor to the latest generation. We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last, best hope of earth.

Electrons again! Only a few old-timers remember the last communist chess club members will nominate and elect (or elect) President, Secretary, and Statistician for another six months period till December. Certain jobs have to be done by somebody. Club Officers handle publicity (this column), and direct tournaments.

Occasionally I invade Downtown Columbus to visit White's Book Store. I usually find that they have had complete turnover in their stock of chess sets and chess books in the meantime. Last December during the Christmas they were out completely. Question here are all those chess-players who are still buying? Maybe someone could organize a club.

5 Complete Lawson Instrument Course

Stormy weather will no longer hinder five pilots of the 3rd Combat Aviation Co., 3rd Inf. Div., in flying their planes. The five officers received Army Standard Instrument Tickets at the Synthetic Trainer Section at Lawson Army Airfield Friday.

The officers completing the course in instrument flying were: Capt. Arthur B. Wood, Lexington; Capt. Tom, 1st Lt. John O. Covin, Shelton, S. C., and 1st Lt. Underwood, Bradley, Ill. Rodney P. Turner, Jacksonville, Fla., and Rick and W. Nuttall, Cedartown, Ga. This was the second class to graduate from the course. The first class consisting of one man, Captain Donald J. Ritz, Red Lion, Pa., Commanding Officer of Lawson Army Airfield Detachment, graduated on Feb. 14.

The eight-week course is broken down into three phases with a minimum of 160 hours. The phases: all working interchangeably are: Tom, and 1st Lt. John O. Covin, Shelton, S. C., and 1st Lt. Underwood, Bradley, Ill. Rodney P. Turner, Jacksonville, Fla., and Rick and W. Nuttall, Cedartown, Ga. This was the second class to graduate from the course. The first class consisting of one man, Captain Donald J. Ritz, Red Lion, Pa., Commanding Officer of Lawson Army Airfield Detachment, graduated on Feb. 14.

Young Takes Top Honors In TIC Class

A Fort Benning serviceman with an eye for efficiency topped graduates of a recent work simplification course with a suggestion that will save the U. S. Government almost 10,000 vehicular miles annually. M-Sgt. John R. Young, of Columbus, chief of the Infantry Center Transportation Section's Sub-Motor Pool, took top honors among 19 graduates of the course with his suggestion that convoys which make monthly runs between Fort Benning and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., carry low bars to aid disabled trucks.

Convoys, which are composed of about 35 vehicles, sometimes run into delays and trouble en route to their destination when trucks break down. Instead of sending wreckers from the post to help the stranded vehicles, Sgt. Young suggested that all drivers in the convoy carry low bars.

Also Completed Course Other supervisors who completed the course and submitted suggestions which will save the government more than $23,564 here this year were: Lt. Col. Joseph A. Shoemaker of Harsell, N. Y., Capt. James J. Wilson of Lovelock, N. Y., 1st Lt. Kenneth L. Clark of Starville, Ala., 2nd Lt. Edwin C. Stern, Jr. of Columbus, M-Sgt. Edward Rollins of Vienna, Ohio, Cecil R. Bedford of Atlanta, Ga., Edward J. Kondrak of East Plymouth, Pa., James W. Parks of Parkville, Mo., Earl R. Gay of Orlando, Fla., Eric G. Matthews, James M. Dwyer, Margaret J. Gill, Edward F. Berryman, all of Columbus, Madeline F. Parks of Sylvester, Ga., George D. Martin of Cusseta, Ga., Jerry Buttle of Opelika, Ala., and Dr. J. B. Phillips of Phenix City, Ala.

Army Intelligence Begins Wide Publicity Program

Army Intelligence has begun a wide publicity program aimed at extending some of the "cloak and dagger" aspects of the subject. The commanding general of the Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Md., has invited members of intelligence staffs throughout the Army to submit articles or ideas for articles depicting intelligence missions or activities in support of the Army's mission.

"It is believed that intelligence units... many times have been unable to give their full measure of service because of a lack of understanding by others of their missions and capabilities; for many, the 'cloak and dagger' myth, which has operated to the detriment of many phases of intelligence, has been nurtured by the very 'hush-hush' which has surrounded 'the work,'" said Maj. Gen. Boniface Campbell, commander of the Army Intelligence Center.

Travel and Recreation

Flat Rock Park Has Everything For a Families' Weekend Retreat

(This is the fifth in a series of Special Services travel articles dealing with interesting sites and recreational areas where Fort Benning personnel may visit during their off-duty time) BY DON KENO There is an old saying to the effect that one sometimes fails to see the forest because of the trees. In my case it was a failure to see the park because of the forest. Since starting these articles over a month ago, I have been continuously on the look-out for outstanding camping, picnicking, and recreational sites. I found a few, but the majority of the best ones were too far from Benning. But one other day, a hint from one of my constituents in the Special Services Office led me on the trail of a little known park just nine miles from the Columbus Court house. The Muscogee County Flat Rock Park is a 200-acre forested area, replete with everything a relaxing soldier and his family could want for a quiet weekend. I found out from the County superintendent of parks, H. Jeff Moon, that many Fort Benning personnel had already discovered Flat Rock park. But I was skeptical as to just how many these were. Six miles from Columbus the park is located about 11 miles from the Columbus city limits on Warm Springs road or alternate highway 27. The entrance is an unassuming chain, supported by two steel poles and is announced by nothing more than a green and white painted sign. There are actually two roads into the park but one is sandy. The other, however, is well paved and leads a winding path through tall shade trees and brightly colored rock shelves. About a quarter mile from the main entrance is the heart of the park. Here will be found a huge community picnic house, capable of seating 250 persons on long green bench tables and a well-stocked concession stand that serves sandwiches, cold drinks, and plate lunches. Further up the road is an 18-acre lake well stocked for fish-

HEADS BILLET OFFICE

Sunday when it closes at 3 p.m. To those not familiar with the area, Flat Rock park may be reached by following 4th Avenue in Columbus until it runs into alternate 27. A turn to the right will put the driver on Warm Springs road and about seven miles more he will be at the entrance to the park. There is no entrance fee and many of the necessities may be purchased at a nominal fee.

RECEIVE BRIEFING Thirty-three new officers received a special briefing May 25 on post activities. Under direction of Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center commander, the newly assigned officers were given three hours of orientation on the missions and function of the post. A short welcome address by Genl Lynch was followed by talks on personal services, organization of headquarters and major components, operation of the Infantry School and a summary period.

Lawson Copters Fly 3 Rescue Missions

Due to split second timing and coordination, the rescue party of Col. Hub Zemke, a pilot and two injured soldiers were rescued by the crew of the Fourth Helicopter Company. Shortly after two accident victims involved near Thomaston, Ga. were safely transported to the U.S. Army Hospital, the commander of the 4th Air Division at Turner Air Force Base near Albany, Ga., called out his crippled Thunderbolt near Hartsboro, Ala. However, within an hour, he was on his way to his home base again when a helicopter from Lawson Army Air Field Command piloted by Capt. Gorman O. Aune of 82nd, Iowa, and Warrant Officer James F. Evin, Jr. of Los Angeles, Calif., came to the rescue.

Col. Hub Zemke, the Turner Air Force Base pilot, was piloting one of two P-47s on a routine mission from Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., to Turner when his ship developed engine trouble at about 5,000 feet. Bailed out After hastily checking his position, Col. Zemke bailed out approximately 10 miles southwest of Lawson and eight miles east-southeast of Hartsboro. Turner dispatched a twin-engine C-45 to the spot and its pilots spotted Col. Zemke and his chute on the ground some distance away from the crashed jet. The C-45 in turn radioed its position and the call was picked up by the 4th Helicopter Co. which dispatched an H-34 aircraft to the scene. Within 45 minutes, the crew

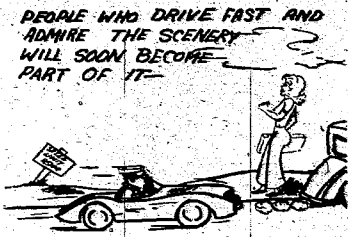

Sgt. Kenneth F. Jernigan of Benton, Ala., has been named NCO of the Month in Special Troops Command for the month of April.

Jernigan Named NCO of Month

Now on temporary duty from the 66th Transportation Co. (Light Truck) to the Transfer Point, Jernigan was chosen for this honor for high standards of leadership, superior performance of assigned duties and organizational ability. He is presently assigned as section chief and squad leader of the Records Distribution Section at the Transfer Point. In the weekly inspection in rank, Jernigan was selected on the basis of personal appearance, neatness and soldierly bearing. Sgt. Jernigan entered the Army in 1933 and received basic training at Fort Ellis, Tex. Following basic training he was ordered to the Far East where he served with the 3rd AAA Bn., Misawa Air T. Base, Japan. He returned to the United States in June 1935 at which time he was assigned here.

Pvt. Patricia Duff STC Names Duff WAC of Month

Efficiency, dignity and a poised played a major role in the selection of Pvt. Patricia R. Duff as Special Troops Command's WAC of the Month for April.

As a nurse's aide in the Outpatient Department of the Post Hospital, Pvt. Duff has performed her assigned duties in a high commendable manner. In a recent letter from the hospital, Capt. Mary C. Williams, nursing supervisor, said, "Pvt. Duff is one of the most efficient young WACs that it has been my pleasure to observe, and she possesses a dignity and poise that makes her a very outstanding person. She does her job in a most proficient manner." The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Duff, Jr., of Bowie, Md., Pvt. Duff entered the Army in Aug. 1952. She was assigned here upon the completion of her training at the WAC Training Center, Fort McClellan, Ala., in Nov. 1952.

BUGLE CALLS . . . Left, in their respective duty uniforms, members of an SIC unit rush to fall in formation prior to the bugler sounding the call of "Reveille" which will herald the beginning of another duty day. Right, as a fitting tribute to the dead who have fallen in our wars, a bugler sounds taps during a Memorial Day ceremony in a military cemetery.

Bugle Calls Part Of Army Tradition

During its many years of existence, the Army has developed many "Calls" which are spoken of as "Calls". During the history of our Army, many "Calls" have been developed and passed on to the modern day soldier. Many cherished traditions, traditions of devotion to duty and traditions which develop pride of person and pride in unit, truly traditions are as much a part of a soldier's life as his clothing, his rifle or his ammunition.

Foremost among these traditions are the bugle calls which summon the soldier to work, call him from duty, beckon him to chow or designate the proper time for him to go to bed.

A Drum and Bugle Corps is now being formed in Special Troops Command to render these calls when the need for field music arises. Daily many of us observe a member of the SIC Band playing a "Call" in the afternoon when the flag is being lowered. Yet, few of us can recognize the various calls or realize the proper action to be taken when the call is sounded.

Historically, bugles have been known in armies for many many years; however, it was not until the Civil War that they came into general use in the American Army. Previously, some commanders used the drum instead of the bugle, particularly for "Tattoo" which was originally known as "Tattoo".

A "Call" is the term applied to a tune blown on a bugle. Since the bugler blows a "Call" to bring the soldier to assemblies for duty, usually the assemblies themselves are spoken of as "Calls".

In addition to the above, there are various other drill signals and miscellaneous calls sounded by buglers, trumpeters, fifers and drummers. Some of these are "Fourishes", "Three Cheers", "Sound Off", "Funeral March", "Issue Call", "Mail Call", "Ray Day", "General's March", "To the Color", "Standard", "Sick Call", "Inspection Pieces", "Water Racks", "Guidons Out", "Charge", "March", "Walk", "Trot", "Form Ranks", "Guidons Out", "Charge", "Rally" and "Halt".

Perhaps the most beloved of all the calls is "Taps", a solemn "Call" of rare beauty. It is the last "Call" blown at night and is always sounded at military funerals and at Memorial Day ceremonies in military cemeteries. The "Call" was devised during the Civil War by General Daniel Butterfield, who is reputed to have been especially interested in the development of bugle calls. He created the "Call" while his troops rested in camp of the banks of the James River in Virginia.

Unsuitable for Sleep

In his book "Army Talk", Enbridge Colby writes: "The old order for 'Lights Out' which had been inherited from the earliest West Point memories, sounded discordant and unsuitable to the sensitive musical ear of General Butterfield. He immediately began turning over in his mind such musical phrases as seemed to convey the suggestion of the peace and quiet of the camp—of rest after labor, a sense of pause after the leg to be in bed when "Taps" is sounded.

At 10 p.m. is the familiar "Tattoo", formerly dubbed "Tattoo" because of a drum beat warning to close all lanterns and campfires at military garrisons. "Tattoo" is the signal that lights in sleeping quarters must be extinguished within fifteen minutes and that all loud noises must cease. All persons not authorized to be absent should be in their quarters at this time.

Just as the soldier awakes "Taps" for the haunting way in which it soothes him to sleep, he detects "Reveille" for it is thought to be the "Call" which compels him to arise in the early morn. This, of course, is a misinterpretation. "Reveille" is not the call which actually wakes the soldier; that is the sounding of an "First Call" which is sounded fifteen minutes earlier. When "Reveille" is sounded, Pvt. Edris should be standing in formation.

Throughout the soldier's day, "First Call" will be sounded fifteen minutes before he is called to form for any duty. Thus, before "Fatigue Call", "Drill Call", "Assembly" for parades, and ceremonies or "Retreat" there will be the familiar "First Call".

As the day proceeds and the soldier continues his duty, it is "Reveille" which informs him that it is time for a particular duty to cease. This call is particularly welcome when it marks the end of the normal duty hour.

Light's Out

"Taps" is sounded at 11 p.m. and is the signal that all unauthorized lights on the reservation must be extinguished as is suggested by the words of the first refrain of the call: "Taps the Light, and Color, Goeth Day, Cometh Night, And a Star, Leadeth All Speedily To their rest."

Proceeding "Taps" by a fifteen minute interval is "Call to Quarters" which is a warning that all should be in their quarters prepared for the soldier's day.

Just as the soldier awakes "Taps" for the haunting way in which it soothes him to sleep, he detects "Reveille" for it is thought to be the "Call" which compels him to arise in the early morn. When "Reveille" is sounded, Pvt. Edris should be standing in formation.

Throughout the soldier's day, "First Call" will be sounded fifteen minutes before he is called to form for any duty. Thus, before "Fatigue Call", "Drill Call", "Assembly" for parades, and ceremonies or "Retreat" there will be the familiar "First Call".

As the day proceeds and the soldier continues his duty, it is "Reveille" which informs him that it is time for a particular duty to cease. This call is particularly welcome when it marks the end of the normal duty hour.

Thrift Shop Board Named

A new Thrift Shop board has been appointed by Mrs. David G. Wilson, president of the Fort Benning Woman's Club.

The club embarked on a challenging enterprise last September when it assumed management of the Thrift Shop to earn funds for support of its Nursery School and post war projects such as the Youths Activities Club.

Mrs. Harold H. Smith is the new board chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. John J. Dalton, vice-chairman; Mrs. R. W. McInnis, secretary; Mrs. C. T. Claggett, treasurer; and Mrs. Walter Archer, publicity chairman.

More than 150 Woman's Club members served as volunteer Thrift Shop workers during the past nine months. The shop was completely refurbished and reorganized by the group. The project formerly was operated as the Trading Post under the supervision of the Central Post Fund custodian, Mrs. Lynnell W. Green has been ...serving as Thrift Shop chairman and Mrs. O. Z. Tyler, Jr., as vice-chairman. Mrs. H. L. Connor handled secretarial duties and Mrs. John D. Coney and Mrs. Norman F. J. Allen were key assistants.

A program of unit participation in securing volunteer workers for the shop has been outlined by Mrs. Smith. Specified units will be responsible for its operation on designated dates. Unit chairmen include Mrs. James B. Gall, Combat Training Command; Mrs. William Evans, The Infantry Center; Mrs. Blair A. Ford, The Infantry School; Mrs. Louis E. Roth, Engineers; and Mrs. Roy F. Zinser, Continental Army Command Board No. 3, Third Infantry Division.

Members will name chairmen in their units.

Summer hours of 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday and Thursdays will be in effect at the Thrift Shop, beginning June 5.

Veteran Cook Saw Action In 1916 Mexican Incident

"Cooking in the Army has changed in the last 40 years," is the opinion of Sp-1 Green L. Miller, who has cooked for troops from the Mexican border in 1916 through both World Wars and Korea is his present assignment as cook in Hqs. and Hqs. Co., 23d.

Sp-1 Miller joined the Army for the first time June 19 1916. After basic training, he was immediately "put in the kitchen." There was a sound reason for this, as Miller was a cook on a hospital on the Chocchathoe River in Florida for some months before he joined the Army.

He cooked with the 108th Reg. on the Mexican border for a year. This was the historic expedition led by Gen. John J. Pershing. His unit saw action in a day-long battle in which one of the company was killed.

In World War I his unit, Co. G, 16th Reg., 42nd Div., participated in seven major campaigns, chief among which were the battles of the Argonne Forest, Chateau Thierry and Belleau Woods. They were within 70 miles of Colmar, Germany, when the war ended.

The unit was in combat for a year and a half. At one time they were in the front lines for 110 days without relief.

Co. G went into the battle of Chateau Thierry 150 strong. Only 50 men remained after the campaign was over. For five days the kitchens were unable to contact the unit and the men subsisted on dry rations which they carried with them.

World War II saw Miller assigned to stateside jobs. But he was still to see action. In Korea with the 11th Artillery, Sp-1 Miller was in action at Mule Hill, Horse Hill and Bull Hill.

"This old-timer explains graphically the differences in rations and equipment from World War I to the present.

"Because they did not have proper refrigeration, much simpler rations were issued in those days," he says. "We considered almost entirely of meat, potatoes, gravy, canned vegetables, and occasional fresh fruits in dessert. There was no milk, very little butter, no cheese, no fresh eggs, bacon, pie, cake or sandwiches.

"Cooking on the front lines was done in 'rolling kitchens.' These consisted of a ration cart, a stove cart and a wood-burning stove, all hitched together and drawn by mules. When the unit halted, the three units were unhitched and separated. Fire was built in the stove and the food cooked in short order.

"Cooking in Korea was done on gasoline stoves. Rations were delivered all the way up to the front lines and the troops were fed. 'Mighty well for being on the front line,'" says Miller.

Sp-1 Miller's Army career has not been confined to the kitchen and expects to retire at the end

Service Feud Sinks to Level Of Schoolboys

(From Columbus Ledger)

WASHINGTON (UP) - An Air Force document, complete with caustic marginal comments by the Army, revealed today that the hot feud between the services has sunk to the schoolboy level.

The paper, which the Army apparently snatched from the Air Force and "leaked" to appropriate sources, is part of the Air Force "leakage of security through global airpower" campaign.

It includes a Feb. 28 memorandum from Brig. Gen. Robert L. Scott Jr., Air Force director of information services, forwarding a suggested speech for all Air Force commanders to make to Air Force personnel.

Some of the points made in the speech, and the marginal comments jotted down by an anonymous Army source, illustrated the bitter infighting between the services.

Here are some examples:

Air Force: "If (Air Force) helps make friends for the United States through its every mission, and other operations. And we must have friends in this world."

Army: "Scars the pants off some allies."

Air Force: "Throughout the Korean War the Air Force maintained control of the air globally as well as in Korea. And our airpower maintains the free world's safety today."

Army: "Who guf!"

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever built

People who know fine cars are changing to Lincoln

More fine car buyers are changing to Lincoln this year than ever before in Lincoln's entire history—because they recognize that this longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time is unmistakably . . . the finest in the fine car field.

Naturally, most of these people are turning to Lincoln because of its fresh, trend-setting new styling. But after owning Lincoln, they praise this car's other fine qualities.

They tell us—time and time again—about Lincoln's exceptional handling ease. They're surprised that such a big, roomy car can be so effortless to drive—and that wives actually prefer this Lincoln over the family's smaller car.

They tell us about Lincoln's outstanding performance, too—in dozens of ways. Those who have never experienced Turbo-Drive are astonished to find that an automatic transmission can be so smooth . . . and those who take long trips say that this Lincoln makes the ride seem so much shorter.

And they tell us about roadability. They like the way Lincoln rides so firmly through a curve—and the freedom of taking any road they choose . . . instead of avoiding the bad ones.

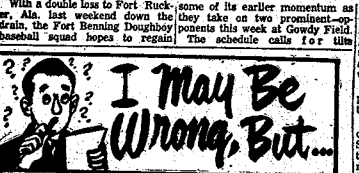

If you've been thinking this is your kind of fine car, stop in and see us. We'll put a new Lincoln at your disposal any time you say.

Doughboys Suffer Double Setback to Fort Rucker

Ed. Note: This week marks the beginning of a weekly column by the newest addition to the Bayonet Staff, sportswriter Tom Wierzbicki.

BY TOM WIERZBICKI

The coming baseball series with the Fort McPherson Colonels should prove to be one of the highlights of the young baseball season for the Doughboys.

Last year's All-Army champions, although suffering some major manpower losses, are still a powerful contender to repeat with this year's honors. Gone from last year's All-Army team are such stalwarts as pitcher last year's All-Army team are such stalwarts as pitcher who won 22 games without suffering a defeat, Taylor Phillips, a pitcher, who also had a 22-0 record; and outfielder Norm Siebern, a New York Yankee hopeful, who hit .351 for the Colonels.

However, four returning pro players will form a strong nucleus for Manager Bill "Bottle" Osborne. Leading the list of returnees is pitcher Billy O'Dell, a $20,000 bonus choice of the Baltimore Orioles. O'Dell had a 12-2 record last year, whiffing 161 hitters and holding a 1.41 ERA. The 34-year-old lefthander gave up 64 hits while allowing 35 walks in 120 innings.

Returning Pros: The other returning pro players are: Shortstop Billy Moran, a $40,000 Cleveland bonus rookie, who played with Reading, Pa., in the Class A Eastern League, who hit .340 for the Colonels; Pitcher Bob Anderson, who hit .340 for the Colonels; Pitcher Bob Anderson, who hit .340 for the Colonels; Pitcher Bob Anderson, who hit .340 for the Colonels.

The 25-year-old native of Mobile will be separated from the Army following a 25-day furlough. Bolling is expected to immediately matriculate in college for graduate work, and at the same time, join the Detroit Tigers.

Coach Jim Murray commented on last week's double defeat to Fort Rucker said, "We're just not hitting when it counts. We get the bases loaded and can't drive in the runners."

I believe it's just a matter of time before the Doughboys start pounding that deceptive little white pill. Once they get few more games under their belts, watch out! This may well be the week that they break through with a barrage of hits.

Pitching Duel Set

Saturday night, June 2, at 8 p.m., will be one ball game you don't want to miss seeing. It will be a pitching duel extraordinary. Coach Jim Murray is sending left-hander Tom McGroarty against Fort McPherson's ace, Billy O'Dell. This promises to shape up as a low there, you won't regret it.

Anybody watch WDAK-TV last Friday night at 8 p.m.? If so, you were fortunate to see Coach Pete Rademacher, star heavyweight of the Post boxing team. Coach Rademacher participated in making a pilot film for possible coast to coast series being planned by NBC in connection with a youth program.

Keep your eyes on Dick Randazza, the new shortstop on the baseball team. Coach Murray has great hopes for the 20-year-old.

"Randazza" has fast reflexes and is a great fielding shortstop, said Coach Murray. "You won't see many grounders getting past him."

"How about his hitting?" "Dick hasn't hit the two games he's been in," Coach Murray said, "but I'm not too worried about that. He has a good level swing and has been hitting the ball well. It's just a matter of time before the base hits start falling in."

It has just come to my attention that my fellow cohort in sports, "Jumping Jay" has made his predictions in the Major League races.

Against Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. tomorrow (May 30) and Thursday at 8 p.m., and games with Fort McPherson, Ga.'s star-studded lineup Saturday night (June 2) at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. Fort Mac was 1965 All-Army champion.

Last Saturday and Sunday, the post squad dropped two close ones to Rucker, 4-3 and 7-5. Strikeword king Tom McGroarty, due to face Fort Mac's Billy O'Dell Saturday night, was the victim of the 4-3 deficit. He did manage to record 11 more strikeouts, giving him a total of 42 in 27 innings of pitching. McGroarty, top Doughboy batter so far with a .458 average, slammed a three-run homer to right center in the seventh inning. The ball was still in flight field as the pitcher crossed the plate.

Key play of the game came in the fourth inning, when, with two down and the bases loaded, Fort Benning catcher, Jim Matthews was called out on an attempt, stealing of home. The Doughboys responded the call in a heated discussion with an umpire's decision is debated, to no avail.

Rucker won the game with a run in the last of the sixth, the result of a walk, passed ball and steal of home. They had tied Sunday's decision. Only Doughboy home run in the game, which found both teams deadlocked at the end of the first, was clouted by Matthews in the third. Two walks to Rucker batters in the sixth produced their winning runs.

John Barnard was effective in relief for Fort Benning, retiring six straight batters in the seventh and eighth and notching three strikeouts.

The two-game series produced a disappointing and a discovery for the post squad. Coach Jim Murray tried his hand at kicking the can down the road, but the complexities of playing the bag proved too much for him.

Murray said, "I need more work both at fielding and hitting."

Fort Benning did introduce a real "corner," however, in the person of 17-year-old Dick Randazza, a flashy little shortstop.

Eglin Air Force Base usually fields fine sports teams, and, according to all reports, this year's baseball edition is no exception. Four pro stars who have returned for Fort McPherson are capable of making trouble for any team facing them. The list includes: pitcher Billy O'Dell, first baseman Joe Golden, shortstop Jimmy

Table with columns for Player Name, Position, and Career Record (Wins/Losses/ERA). Includes names like McGroarty, O'Dell, and Randazza.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN
AN EDITORIAL—PLEASE READ

Some of the Fort Benning baseball players were complaining about prejudiced Fort Rucker fans who refused to utter a sound as the Doughboys came up with good fielding plays last week end and even when Tom McGroarty blasted his three-run homer. More often than not, they booed the visitors.

Rucker players need not fear. When they come to Gowdy Field later in the season, no one will boo them. Then again, chances are no one will cheer them. But they won't have cause to complain.

No one will be cheering the Doughboys either. That's because no one, or next to no one, will be in the ballpark.

His face it—attendance figures for all post sports are diminishing. The rate is alarming. The reason? To be honest, I don't know.

Certainly it's not because of the caliber of the games. Or at least if people are staying away for the season, they are under a mass misapprehension that leads to cloud the Army sports scene.

A Rundown: In the fall of 1955, School Brigade had one of the best football teams ever turned out here. More people saw less, or post representatives in years past.

The basketball Doughboys, while not great, finished runner up in the Third Army Tournament. Practically every man on the team showed enough court flash and backboard to make a top college squad. The opposition represented the best basketball available in the southeastern U. S. This year the ten players on the court occasionally came close to outnumbering those in the stands.

Post boxers were good enough to gain two Tournament of Champions titles in the Chicago Golden Gloves, plus special trophies for having the most sportswomanlike and popular heavyweight and light heavy in the country. Boxing still appears to be Fort Benning's favorite sport, but attendance has been less than ever. It is true despite the fact that post fighters may land one or more berths on the Olympic squad this year.

Lately, the only people who attend track and field events are those participating in the competition.

Lonely Tenor: During the 1940's, Gowdy Field, which like Doughboy Stadium was built and paid for by the soldiers stationed here, rarely was the site of a baseball game in general. The stands were never full. Just two weeks ago, Tom McGroarty struck out 22 Fort Rucker batters at this same park. The game was played at night, when most people are off duty. Attendance was about 200.

There's an old adage about people not being interested in attending something that is free. I think there is no one line I have written more often than any other since coming to the Infantry Center. It goes this way: "Admission is free and the public is urged to attend."

The public—in other words not just post soldiers, but everyone, including civilians from the surrounding area as well. In other words, the invitation is opened to well over 100,000 people. Where are they?

Bring the "big" names to post and the "public" suddenly gains a little interest. When Vinegar Bend Mizell struck out 22 in last year's Third Army Baseball Tourney here, he pitched before the largest baseball crowd of the season. When the Jack Kramer tennis troupe plays on post, many wonder where all the people came from. The Kramer exhibition is not free, by the way—far from it. The price this year was $150.

For that matter, it is field away from sports, the name entertainers brought to post by Special Services, who are paid for their services by charging admissions at the box office, always outdraw any of the free Soldier Shows handled by the same organization. As in sports, no one has any right to say that the name stars are so much better than any "amateurs". Let them attend a couple of sports attractions or Soldier Shows before making any sort of a sound decision.

TIC Swimming Meet, June 8-9; Brown, Enos Heavy Favorites

Predicting the outcome of the 1958 Infantry Center swimming meet, June 8-9, at Briant Wells Field House, would be a difficult task for any prognosticator. But the individual level would not be any feat of crystal gazing to say that Don Brown and Don Enos are fair bets to finish 1-2 in the competition.

Both men, both of whom are assigned to Briant Wells Field House, are exact opposites to each other as far as experience is concerned.

Brown is the 'old pro' of the two, holding over 80 AAU and regional records in 18 different sports, while Enos' claim to aquatic distinction rests mainly on a high school all-state selection in the 1953 and All-Army meets the follow.

An All-American at Denver University in 1954 and '55, Brown is a good bet to at least go to All-Army and is expected by many to make the Olympic squad in March, as a member of the Fort

Pfc. Jim McAllister will represent the 3d Div. on the All-Service Water Polo Team in the Olympic Trials, Sept. 27. McAllister is scheduled to arrive at Fort MacArthur, Calif., where the All-Service Team will train in hopes to Melbourne and the Olympics.

McAllister, a native of Rego Park, L.I., attended State Tech in New York where he first took up water polo. His coach Dick Greco taught him the fundamentals and he learned even more during summer vacations when he played with the powerful New York Athletic Club squad which competes internationally.

The prerequisite for adeptness in water polo is, naturally, being a good swimmer, and McAllister qualified easily for the game. Junior All-American honors in 1953 at State Tech, swimming the backstroke.

"Many people do not realize just how good the caliber of service baseball often is," said Coe at Murray.

When you carry it yourself it's called dribbling and that's done by swinging and pushing the ball along with your head by using your arms as guides to keep the ball in the center.

The referees, there are two of them, are stationed in towers overlooking the pool, similar to tennis officials. There aren't any real restrictions as to the extent of body contact in the pool, but it's hard to follow because you just can't see what goes on underneath.

Private McAllister entered the Army in December 1954. The New York area is his home and he is stationed in the New York area in order to play with their team in the Olympic trials this September but the Services will have their own representatives in the trials.

Named McAllister.

John Curran, national chairman of the team, works to the Department of Army after requests had been made for names of outstanding players. He aimed McAllister and others were selected, assigning him to Fort MacArthur, Calif., for training with the All-Service team.

In July the team will travel to New York for the National Championship Tourney.

"It'll be like old home week," he said. "We play at Travers Island on Pelham Bay in New York. That's where the NYAC used to have its games.

And then from Sept. 27 there will be the Olympic Trials with collegiate, AAU, and many other teams competing for the honor of going to Melbourne and the Olympics.

"It's something I've been waiting for. In 1952 I was a member of the Club's 'B' team and I couldn't play at all because I suffered a broken leg while working as a life guard . . . this is my chance."

Stripes and eagles flew on Lawson Army Airfield Detachment this week as eight enlisted men were awarded promotions. Promoted from private first class to corporal were Dean J. Cannon and Bobby J. Hunter. William L. Hornbeck, Daniel Mergenthaler, Jerry A. Wilder, and Henry Wright were promoted from PFC to sergeant. Fred Wedding and Frederick O. Olson were promoted.

New Sports Officer Named

Capt. Malcolm L. Anspach of Vista, Calif., has been named Infantry Center sports officer at Fort Benning.

He is in charge of personnel and operation of the Sports Office. Sam F. Roberts of West Covina, Calif., Infantry Center sports supervisor, directed the sports program.

Capt. Anspach, who became a qualified paratrooper upon graduating from The Infantry School's Airborne course May 4, first came into the Army as a private in 1954, when he was advisor for the Non-Commissioned Officers Open Meet. He completed the Associate Infantry Advance Course immediately before starting Airborne training.

The new sports officer, who enlisted in the Army Air Force in 1942, took basic training at Buckley Field in Denver, Colo. During World War II, he served with the 15th Air Force in Africa and throughout Europe.

Discharged in 1946, he worked with the U. S. Treasury Department in Los Angeles. He was assigned the 40th Infantry Division National Guard in Alhambra, Calif., which was active in 1950.

The captain started in track and football at Alhambra High School and was a member of the varsity. At Mark Kepple, he set a school track record, scoring 33 feet, three inches in the pole vault. Capt. Anspach has played in service sports since his entrance into the Army Air Force. The six-foot, three-inch 190-pounder is an outfielder in the Officers Softball League.

The captain and his wife, the former Addie E. Portis of High Point, N. C., have a daughter, Kathleen Alice, 6.

DivArty Escapes From Cellar With 3 Winners

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

DivArty got fed up with being in last place so they did something about it. Last year's runaway champion in the baseball race stood three games behind the leaders last week and were mixed in last place with a .25 record. They played three games and won them so things are different. The Redlegs now own a respectable

5-5 record, are in third place and only one and one-half games separate them from the top. And for a large part of their success they can thank a fellow named Joe Jorgensen who hadn't been given a chance to play all season. He donned a uniform for last Tuesday's game and when the smoke had cleared he accounted for six hits in eight times at bat, seven RBIs, a triple, two doubles, and two stolen bases... not bad for a beginner. Last Tuesday DivArty topped the 30th. 5-4. On Thursday they wallowed Support Command, 10-4, and finished up a hectic week with a hardearned 3-2 triumph over the 12th I.C.C.

In other games Howard Cates finished the 7th I.C.C. into first place on the strength of his strong four-hitter Sunday as the Cottonbalers topped Support Command, 5-2. And last Wednesday his team made Don Pesocok pitched in with a five-hitter against the 30th I.C.C. in a decisive 18-4 victory.

In Tuesday's game, which went 12 innings, Jorgensen cranked for three hits in four trips to lead the Redlegs. A two-run outburst in DivArty's half of the twelfth broke the 6-4 tie.

The Cottonbalers made a runaway affair of Wednesday night's game, holding a 16-1 advantage when both teams agreed to stop at the end of seven innings.

The big blow of the contest was Royer Bond's three-run homer in the fifth. Jorgensen was estimated at 400 feet plus. Harvard Cates had four hits for the Redlegs while Yecker, Beresznki and Vega chipped in two hits apiece.

The 7th led 2-0 entering the fifth when they surged into the insurance clubhouse with 14 runs in three innings on a total of ten hits, aided by six 30th I.C.C. errors.

Don Pesocok won on five hits, life struck 20 times.

DivArty took its second victory of the week Thursday and Jorgensen continued his phenomenal hitting streak, accounting for a double, two singles, and three RBIs.

Trailing 4-3 in the fifth, the Redlegs scored three runs, coming across on an error, a balk, and Jorgensen's sharp single to right.

The red-hot newcomer rapped two more across with a two-bagger in the next stanza when the Redlegs scored four on four hits.

Dressed Jevo's cloak Saturday, Dale Black of the Redlegs donned the hero's cloak, picking up where Jorgensen left off. Jorgensen was sidelined with an injury, being relegated to one function as pinch-hitting inner.

Black stepped up in the last of the ninth, with the score tied 3-3 against the 15th I.C.C. and scored in the fifth. Jim Cohen from the winning run in a sudden-death triumph. DivArty's third swinger in the game, Berenski, pitched the win, while the 15th's

Howard Testier was pinned with the loss.

Fireballing righthander Harvard Cates fired a bullet from the 15 I.C.C. squad as he pitched the Support Command's last game, 3-2.

Fanned 14. In the lefty-righty contest Cates fanned 14 batters and the loser racked up nine strikeouts.

The Redlegs led 2-1, entering the top of the ninth and they picked up a valuable insurance score in that stanza when Gerritt singled to drive in Jones who had reached first on the second baseman's misplay.

The run was important, for Support Command came fighting back in the last of the ninth. Dick Savage won it, stole second, and went to third on a balk. Freidman's two-out single pushed the run across.

Savage retired Deak on a left to right field for the final out.

Each diver will perform six dives in the trials and the eight highest scores will try four additional dives in the finals.

The swimming events to be conducted are as follows: 400 yd. ind.; 1700 yd. free style; 100 yd. free style; 200 yd. butterfly; 100 yd. backstroke; 400 yd. free style; 200 yd. breaststroke; 200 yd. freestyle; 400 yd. medley relay.

The teams entered in the Division meeting, regardless of the outcome, may also enter TIC Meet on June 8 at Briant Wells Field House.

Fourteen teams from Main Post and the Division are expected as participants in the match. Tomorrow is the deadline for major command units to enter TIC competition.

The top two men in each of the ten swimming and diving events at Briant Wells will be placed on special duty with Special Services.

Retires after 34. Sgt. Osborne Bryant of Great S. C., retired in ceremonies at the U. S. Army Hospital May 24 following 26 years' Army service.

He had been assigned to the hospital's Lined Exchange since last December and served at Fort Bragg, N. C., eight years before coming to The Infantry Center.

Scouts Hold Field Meet, Cub Display

The Annual Boy Scout Field Meet and Cub Scout Display sponsored by the Upreti District Boy Scouts of America was held at Werocoba Park in Columbus, Sat. May 19.

The place honors in the Boy Scout Field Meet went to Troop 6, of Columbus; second place, Troop 27 of Fort Benning.

In the Cub Scout Display first place went to the 15th I.C.C. Second place honors were shared by Troop 27 of Fort Benning and Troop 15 of Columbus. Third place honors were shared by Troop 28 and Pack 50, both of Columbus.

The activities were run under the general supervision of Lt. Col. C. J. Bakken, district commissioner, assisted by Maj. S. Wilbur Wilford and Richard Snyder, assistant district commissioners; William Brown, Scoutmaster of Troop 6; Frank C. Snell, member of the District Committee; and Harold Dudley, field executive.

Lawson to Get New Aviation Unit

A new aviation unit has been assigned to Lawson Army Airfield Command and will arrive in September.

The 14th Army Aviation Co., previously assigned to Fort Riley, Kansas, received orders that it will be permanently assigned to the command on May 10 but will not be able to arrive Lawson Field until the latter part of September.

There were 12 officers and enlisted men here for demonstrations on the "Wide World" telecast and JCOO. Their four U-1As participated in the air drop of supplies.

The unit, commanded by Major Jerome Feld, has 21 of the U-1A "Otters" at its disposal. There are 45 officers and 70 enlisted men in the company.

While here the unit participated in its first actual mission. The company has been stationed at Fort Riley since it was activated on May 31, 1955.

Marne Meet Slated To Open in Two Pools

Tomorrow the big day for 2nd Division swimmers to show their stuff as the Marne meet opens on two fronts. The Diving competition will be at the Harwood Church Pool while at 6:30 p.m. at the Sand Hill Pool the 400 yard individual medley will kick off the swim trials.

The Sand Hill races are scheduled to start with the 400 yard medley relay at 8:15 a.m. bringing in the close the nine races which make up the annual aquatic event. Four Division units will participate: DivArty's Redlegs, the Cottonbalers of the 7th, the Dragons of the 15th and the 30th I.C.C. Rocks.

In the medley relay race a total of 14 points will be given the winner, ten to second place, and 8-4-4 to the following finishers. Seven points will be awarded to winners in all other events with 5-4-3-2 doled out to those who trail.

Each diver will perform six dives in the trials and the eight highest scores will try four additional dives in the finals.

The swimming events to be conducted are as follows: 400 yd. ind.; 1700 yd. free style; 100 yd. free style; 200 yd. butterfly; 100 yd. backstroke; 400 yd. free style; 200 yd. breaststroke; 200 yd. freestyle; 400 yd. medley relay.

Ordnance Gets 8 Superiors

Third Army has given eight superior ratings to the Infantry Center Ordnance Section for outstanding performance of various activities.

Of 19 ordnance activities checked in the annual Third Army Technical Inspection, eight were rated superior and 11 excellent.

The following work divisions were superior:

ADMINISTRATION: stock fund and financial inventory; in-stores maintenance; receipt, storage and issue of ammunition; ammunition stock control; normal maintenance and surveillance of ammunition; ordnance industrial safety and explosives disposal.

These were excellent:

REVIEW AND ANALYSIS: wheeled vehicles shop; allied trades; inspection section; production and control; bomb and vehicle shop; artillery shop; fire control shop; small arms; general supply and stock control; warehousing and storage.

In a report to the TIC Ordnance Officer, Col. Owen T. McCloskey, of Columbus, Ohio, Third Army officials called the Fort Benning ordnance stock fund and financial inventory accounting system superior for the entire Third Army area.

DOUGHBOY LEAGUE — The Giants, members of the 10-team minor classification of the Youth Activities Baseball League, pose for a squad picture. There's one Post soldier who's glad that the Army Forces Day celebration is over—and it's because of Columbus' pint size mechanical wizards who are equally at home in kindergarten or at the controls of a giant 48 ton Patton tank.

The soldier is Pfc. Robert D. McGrath of Yonkers, New York. He is assigned to Combat Training Company's 74th tank battalion.

EIGHT PROMOTED

Eight promotions to PFC and one to SP3 were made in the 8th Signal Co. (Com), STC on May 17. The new eagle went to Billy J. Hendrick, Palestine, Tex., and those collecting their first stripe were: Paul J. Cresko, Elkton, Pa.; Robert G. Goodman, Mt. F. Greenwood, Columbia, Tenn.; John Hayes, Bogalusa, La.; George A. Jordan, Cornelius, N. C.; Carl D. Massey, Norfolk, Va.; Fred Windfield, Birmingham, Ala.; and Dale R. Wingest, Stone City, Iowa.

PROMOTED

Ronald D. Nadler of Los Angeles, Calif., took his first step up the enlisted ladder last week when he was promoted to the grade of PFC. Presently assigned as a clerk in the Athletics and Recreation Section, STC, Nadler entered the Army in Jan. 1953 and received basic training at Fort Ord, California.

How Would You Like A Stock With A 50% TAX FREE DIVIDEND?

With income tax rates so high today, the conservative investor must seek out lower tax on that form of income subject to a less-than-normal tax rate. But if he finds both in one stock he has a really attractive buy.

We have available a blue chip, rapidly growing Utility Stock with a dividend yield of at least 5% tax-free.

I May Be Wrong

Never! The "old men" of Dodgeville may have trouble staying out of the second division. There are just too many stronger teams in the league for the Dodgeville squad to repeat its performance.

I believe that the National League will be a two-team race right down the wire. St. Louis and Milwaukee are the teams involved. If I have to make a choice, I would pick Milwaukee, strictly a sentimental favorite.

The Braves have missed the gold ring three times now since they've been on the Major League merry-go-round. They finished second twice and third once. This could well be the year they win the big money.

The Cardinals, on the other hand, have strengthened their team considerably. They always have lacked pitchers and two good right-handed hitters.

The return of Vinegar Bend Mizell from the Army was definitely a great shot in the arm. And the way Rip Ripulski and Ken Boyer are hitting, along with the acquisition of Hank Sauer from the Chicago Cubs, the Cardinals are definitely a much stronger team.

Take your pick, they're both good teams. Either of them, given the right breaks, could runaway with the pennant.

Next week, if I'm still alive, I will give my opinion on the American League race. The so-called "fun-for-circuit" is really turning out to be a one-sided race but no one can tell about this crazy little game called baseball.

Big Matches Class Hears Solon Speak

The U. S. despite its Armed Forces, has failed in its efforts toward national defense because of inefficient Reserve strength.

Congressman John J. Flinn of Georgia's Fourth District said here last week.

In a graduation address delivered in the Main Theater to members of basic Infantry officers course No. 9, the veteran solon said that the U. S. is lacking military might because of the insufficient number of trained Reservists to back up its active Army.

"However," he said, "those of us who voted for aid passed events are included in the competition. All shooting will be done at McAndrew Range for rifle men and the Fort Benning Pistol Club for pistoliers.

The 1958 Reserve Forces Act feel that this may be the answer to the problem of testing our country safe from Communist aggression.

Should Correct Mistakes
"This act should correct the continuing mistakes we have made in every war we have ever fought," he said as he explained that even the Korean conflict found the U. S. unprepared for the sudden responsibilities it was called upon to assume.

Congressman Flinn was introduced by Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center and Third Division commander.

Honor graduates were Lt. Robert D. Polka of Chicago, Ill., and Charles H. Miller of Waterloo, N. Y.

Father Didn't Like Idea

WAC Major Was Barnstorming Stunt Flyer, First Woman to Earn License in Georgia

The first woman to earn a pilot's license in Georgia and a former stunt flyer, WAC Major Jane Parsel has a well deserved job specialty in transportation.

Chief of the Motor Transport Regulating Branch of the Infantry Center Transportation Section, she handles requests for the post's 600 Motor Pool vehicles. She was movements officer of Yokohama Transportation in Japan previous to this assignment.

The only child of a post colonel who became an attorney in Atlanta, after his retirement, the former Jane Howell of Atlanta completed high school in that city and indulged in forbidden flying lessons at Candler Field, now Municipal Field.

"Father violently disliked flying after he had a bad fall on a forced landing in the Atlantic en route from Florida to Nassau," she explained.

"I worked for license," she said. "I used all my allowance, then scrubbed planes and greased engines to pay for my flying lessons," she said.

"She decided to try for a pilot's license after several flights with an Atlanta Constitution photograph from Candler Field, which recently had been established in the middle of old Candler Race Track.

After three and a half hours of instruction she soloed in 1930 and earned her license after six months practice in a Pittsboro Orowing and a Travelair.

"Dad forbade me to ever get in a plane again when I broke all my ribs in a fall through a stairway under construction. The family thought I'd been in a plane accident," she said.

At this time, Jane met U. S. Army Air Force Reserve Lt. Col. T. Farnel of Plymouth, Ohio, while Smyrna, Ga., airfield. They married soon after.

Married A Flyer

"When I married a flyer, Dad got sold on it," she added. The couple flew weather flights for the government, performed air county trials and opened airfields in the 1930's. They also entered air races in Cleveland and Miami.

"Mother always insisted the plane have three motors before I got in it. She was sold on tri-motor planes," Major Parsel went on.

"We dedicated the Fitzgerald, Ga. Airport in 1939," Major Parsel added. "We put on air shows as 'The Flying Parrots.' In one stunt, I sat on the top wing, without a parachute, with my feet wrapped around the center strut and my husband did a loop," she added.

When Major Parsel and her husband operated Mason's (Ga.) Miller Field in the early 30's, Wiley Post and Amelia Earhart were frequent visitors.

Helped Catch Outlaws

The Parsels helped to track down the famous Bowman holding gang in Southern Ohio. Stationed at an airfield near Cincinnati also in the early 30's, they were asked to search for the robbers.

"The Bowmans gave up as soon as we flew over their shack. They thought we had bombs. With their high powered rifles, they could have shot us down in a minute," she said.

Cow Pasture Flying

"This was in the days of cow pasture flying," she went on. "Planes had very few instruments. When we first started, they had no compasses; you flew by the seat of your pants. When we got lost, we went down and read the tracks at the railroad station and followed the tracks."

She also recalled:

"When we made trips, I was the pilot and my husband slept." Major Parsel applied to be the first woman to fly the Atlantic. A New York City to Rome flight was planned in 1931 so that a doctor could study the physical reactions of women on long flights.

"I didn't get it, which was maybe a good thing. The girl who was chosen never heard from him after take-off. A piece of the wing was found floating in the Azores. But maybe I'd have made it," she brought out.

Her husband went on active duty with the Air Force in 1932. With his assistance, she supplementing their income by organizing flying schools near his assignments in Florida, Ohio, Utah and California.

Based in India, Capt. Parsel was killed while participating in a heavy bombing raid in 1942. She entered the Women's Army Corps in June of the year and is a graduate of the first WAC Officers' training class. During World War II, she served two years in the European Theater.

The Parsel's only child, Jean was a corporal in the WAC from 1948 to 1952. Miss Parsel served as a motor pool driver. That's as far as their daughter follows in the family footsteps; however, Young Jean, who enters business school in Columbus, this fall, is quick to say she dislikes flying of any kind.

NEW SUPPLY OFFICER

A recent returnee from Alaska has been assigned to the 9th Ordnance Co. (FM), STC as Unit Supply Officer. He is CWG-2 Junious R. He served two years in the 1st Air Div. Tropic Command, United States Army in Alaska.

Journey

of thousand spectators at Fort Benning. Why are there only a couple of hundred watching here?"

Participants in every sport play their best before full houses. The competition is bound to be keener. I can't think of any sound more probable to put me to sleep than the thud of a ball hitting a catcher's mitt in a bullpen located about 150 feet away from a near-emptily grandstand. You just can't hear that sound when the park is full.

The Doughboys face two baseball opponents here this week. They were scheduled to play Eglin Air Force Base last night and again tonight at 8. Saturday night, they face Fort McPherson, 1955 All-Army champions; at Gowdy Field at 8. The two tangle again Sunday at 2 p.m.

If you want to pick the game to see by "names", which is a policy I detest, Saturday night's tilt pits McGroarty against Billy O'Dell, both of whom seem destined for big league stardom.

To reiterate:

Admission is free and the public is urged to attend. By the way, don't be afraid to bring along dates. I know that Miss LoRon will accompany me to at least a couple of the games. And after all, doesn't everyone have a Miss LoRon?

JUST ONE NOTE OF CAUTION—

Don't be too surprised if Doughboy Coach Jim Murray deserts his team in one of the four games this week. His wife Nancy is due to deliver the Murray's first son or daughter sometime around now. I don't think even Mizell could match that pitch.

Wood Selected Soldier of Month

Superior performance of duty, 1947, Wood served three years in the Navy, assigned to the Military Sea Transport Service. While in the Navy he made approximately 16 trips from New York to England ferrying troops. He also made cruises to Iran, India and South Africa.

Since enlisting in the Army in 1947 he has served in Italy, Germany, Korea and France. He was instrumental in the recent re-ooling of the unit supply room.

In his capacity of supply sergeant, assigned to the "Triple Six" upon his return from France in July, 1952.

SP Wood and his wife, Margaret, reside at 2225 Howe Avenue in Columbus, with their two children, Howard G. and Earl Jr., 4 months.

Bids to Begin On 5 Projects

Bids will begin on five new 20-14th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon, glove projects on post during the June 11 modification of Brown Hall, June 12, and improvement of the sprinkler system and fire alarm reporting system, June 14. Another project recently approved on post, June 8; exterior painting of several barracks and other buildings, June 8; new kennels for Combat Training Command's Center Engineer Section.

German Students Finish Course Here

The first West German military students to complete Infantry School classes in the US left the post recently to return home. Former members of associate officers advanced class No. 4, they took 17 weeks of training here in preparation for their role in molding West Germany's new Army. They were selected for training in this country on the basis of military experience and ability to speak the English language. These officers will form the nucleus of the faculty for the newly formed West German Infantry School. In the group were Lt. Col. Wilhelm Osterhold of Hamburg and Manfred Shutz of Lippoldberg; Majors Hans E. Hammers of Hamburg, Gunter Baumgartner of Mulsheim, and Rolf M. W. Siebert of Bad Tölz, and Capt. Hans Gierke of Bad Sautzheim and Gunter Pahl of Hannover.

Left Hand Saluting Capt. Kephart Has DA Authority to Be Different

BY M-SEPT. CLARE BLACKBURN You would think that an officer retained in the service with such a disability would be given a "light" job, but not Capt. Kephart. His assignments have been the same as any other officer. He has commanded a company of West Point Student Cadets for which he received a letter of commendation from the commanding general; has been a battalion S-3 and S-4; commanded the Service Company of The School Brigade that bonded 300 EM and 57 Officers; and is presently assigned to the S-1 Section of the School Brigade in charge of ration breakdown.

The rendition of the left hand salute has placed Capt. Kephart in many embarrassing situations. The most outstanding time was when he came face-to-face with the commanding general of the 11th Airborne Division. He saluted the general with the left hand and kept going—but not for more than a few steps. A very comical incident—the general—called him back and had him "stand up" in his right side. When he was finally released from hospitalization, he was retained in the Army under the Disability Act of 1950.

As a result of his paralyzed right arm, he is unable to perform the hand salute and is authorized by the Department of Army to salute with his left hand.

When you ask an officer, who was the first with a battle field commission for a promotion during combat, and has the Silver Star, Purple Star with cluster, and the Purple Heart with three clusters, what his most outstanding experience was while in the military, you'd think he would come up with some terrible battle field story. Not this affable officer.

He says his most satisfying experience took place in 1943 when I was assigned to Co. "C", 1st Infantry, at Camp Carson, Colo. I was a squad leader and I had my squad out on a problem. I spotted a deer in the brush and deployed my men in a flanking move. I charged that deer with float bayonet, and believe it or not, I got him. My squad was the best fed squad in the United States Army for several days after that. We feasted on that 150 pound deer till we all but grew antlers.

Yes, men, if you receive a southern salute from a captain here on the post, don't mistake it for a mad dash to the eye clinic. You've just got your back on you. You're not a whole of a fine man and officer.

Capt. Kephart's father, Mr. Frank C. Kephart, lives in Cody, Wyo. and he and his wife Margaret Virginia reside at 2648 St. Mary's Road, Columbia.

Hospital Opens Recreation Room May 14

The opening of the Hospital Duty Detachment recreation room was celebrated with a reception May 14. Col. Edwin W. Hakala of Virginia, Minn., commander of the U. S. Army hospital, gave the first record on a new hit record player. The speaker and amplifier are housed in cabinets constructed by detachment personnel.

Located in the hospital's Troop Formation and Education Building, the recreation room will provide music for relaxation in the adjoining patio by outside speaker.

The room's record collection includes jazz, popular and classical selections. A record committee composed of enlisted personnel at the hospital will make monthly purchases in accordance with submitted requests. Sgt. Cecil J. Shub of Elcho, Wis., is chairman of the committee.

Artillery Star Only Appears 4 Times Yearly

BY BOB SHEA
The star performer (Cost, $4,000) in CVA's artillery arsenal makes only four special appearances a year. Sole weapon of its kind in the command, the 2nd F. A. Bn.'s eight inch howitzer is used only in the Infantry School's Supporting Fire problem, the most elaborate demonstration staged here. The howitzer's range and power prevent it from being used in problems conducted in a smaller area. The howitzer is operated by the 2nd's Bravo Battery. Section leader for the eight inch crew is 1st Lt. Calvin Darville, who has a host of howitzer facts and figures at his fingertips. The projectile weighs 200 pounds, for the eight inch weighs 200 pounds, says Lt. Darville. "On the relation to the target (angle), on the supporting fire problem, the fire the howitzer at a target 1200 yards away, but maximum range is much greater—ton and a half miles. Most Accurate "The eight inch howitzer is the Army's most accurate artillery weapon." The two questions most frequent

By asked of artillerymen says Lt. Darville are "What is this 'tube business'?" and "What is the difference between a howitzer and a gun?" "In the artillerymen's language, a mortar is up to our howitzer, says Lt. Darville. "A barrel in something you put water in. 'Tube' is the correct word when referring to that part of any weapon from gun!" "In the artillerymen's language, a mortar is up to our howitzer.

Word of Warning Issued As Snake Season Arrives

According to legend, Saint Patrick drove all snakes from Ireland, but to date, there is no report of this visiting the Fort Benning Area. Therefore, a word of warning is in order to personnel of the Post concerning the hazard of snakes in training areas. Fortunately, snakebite is not one of the more common causes of injury or death. It would probably rank far below protruding nails, broken glass or slippery floors. But if your job, training or recreation leave take you to a snake area, don't rely on statistics. Be careful and take all possible precautions. Combat boots are recommended, as are gloves and heavy, loose clothing, but the best bet is to keep your eyes open and be alert at all times.

Snakes have been known to go out of their way to attack humans, but ordinarily a snake, either poisonous or non-poisonous will crawl out of the way if given a chance. Any snake will fight if cornered.

Most Non-Poisonous

Most of the snakes you see like to encounter are non-poisonous. Many tales and beliefs to the contrary, there are only four poisonous snakes which are native to the country. Three of them are found only in certain sections of the country and one is native to all sections.

Harmless of the poisonous snakes is the coral snake. It is semi-tropical and found mostly in Florida, in the states bordering the Gulf of Mexico.

Except for some types of rattlers which become six feet long, pit vipers tend to have short, thick bodies with stubby tails. Their heads are blunt and shaped somewhat like arrowheads and their necks are pronounced, as contrasted with the slimmer bodies, less pronounced necks and long, slim tails of the non-poisonous snakes.

The cottonmouth, or water moccasin stays close to the streams, marshes and swamps of the Southern States. When surprised, it coils, draws its head back and opens its mouth wide, showing the white parts of its mouth, hence the name "cottonmouth."

Upland Snakes

The copperhead is an upland snake. Its favorite habitat is the rocky cliffs which border the streams of the Appalachian mountains. It takes its name from the distinctive copper color of the top of its head. It is a sluggish snake, but often slows its victims to walk within striking range before moving.

Some type of rattlesnake is found in every section of the United States. There are a number of varieties of this snake, from the small prairie rattler to the six-foot diamondback. It usually gives ample warning before striking, but don't count on it.

So, with summer almost here and snakes coming out of their winter lethargy, be especially cautious and don't become an "out of the ordinary" statistic — one who died from snake bite.

Fire Dept. Gets High Rating

In a world-wide fire prevention contest of U.S. Army installations, the post Fire Department has placed 12th.

Col. W. S. Shoemaker of Silver Springs, Md., Infantry Center announced the annual award made by the National Fire Protection Association, Boston, Mass. He said that 100 or more Army installations competed for the honor.

Fire Chief Gilbert A. Ward, said his department conducted a fire prevention program among troops throughout 1953, staged special demonstrations, prepared slides for theaters and presented radio and television programs.

In 1954, The Infantry Center placed 12th in the fire prevention contest. A certificate was received by the Engineer Section for the high rating this year.

The World In Review

Red Truce Team Threatens Balk

A slowdown strike was threatened Monday by Communist Polish and Czech truce inspectors ordered by the Allies to clear out of South Korea within 48 hours. The possibility arose as the United Nations Command rejected a face-saving Communist bid to permit the Polish and Czech supervisors, under certain circumstances, to return to South Korea after they have been banished to the demilitarized truce zone. Thursday was set as deadline for their departure.

Part of Brink's Loot Recovered

About $90,000 of the $1210,000 stolen in the fabulous Brink robbery of January, 1950, was recovered in Boston Monday. A swarm of FBI agents and police ripped out false paneling in the sub-basement of a South End rooming house and found the money in a dark green, ice-cool chest concealed in a closet in the wall. Two men were arrested and talking to police headquarters for questioning. They were Edward A. (Whimpy) Bennett, 36, of Weymouth, and Joseph P. Durcell, 41, of Brookline.

Strain Planned Bloody New Purge

Only death stopped Joseph Stalin from launching another bloody purge of Soviet leaders, Communists throughout the world were being told this week. This was the import of a newly circulated version of Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev's sensational down-with-Stalin speech at Moscow 3 months ago, together with the speculation it is stirring among American officials. One theory has it that Stalin was murdered, although close observation has failed to turn up any evidence to satisfy officials that the Red dictator died from anything other than the officially subscribed cause — hemorrhage of the brain.

Tito Snubs Old Kremlin Chief

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who is on a three week visit to Russia, Monday pointedly snubbed the ex-banned Rem of Stalin in the famed Red Square mausoleum in Moscow. He laid a huge wreath on the tomb of Lenin, manning of the Bolshevik revolution, however, while hundreds watched the attack. Tito rejected Stalin's rule eight years ago and was called a traitor to communism, but now he is being warmly received by the Soviet leaders who succeeded Stalin.

Walkout Hits Western Union

Hundreds of Western Union workers walked off the job at several key points in the country Monday while management-union negotiations on a new labor agreement were stalled in Washington. Walkouts included Chicago, Kansas City and New Orleans. Western Union's labor contracts with two unions representing 34,000 workers expired last night. Management says it is offering a 10-cent-a-hour pay in-crease.

Jeanne's picture belonged to OC Arthur D. Gimbel (right), her fiancé, of Lincoln, Ill. Volentine, executive officer, 5th Student Battalion, The School Brigade.

Novel Ideas Jazz Up Practice Firing For All-Army Rifle, Pistol Matches

Teams practicing for the 1954 with novel ideas to increase their All-Army Rifle and Pistol Championship. Perhaps one of the best was being June 11-20, have come up, dreamed up by CWO Costa Brown.

Mercy Lift Getting To Be Habit With Helicopter Co.

Fort Benning airborne ambulance company, 3rd Division, crews performed another "mercy" lift Monday when an H-4 helicopter flew a serviceman from a crash site near LaGrange, Ga., to the post hospital.

Officials of the civilian hospital, Airfield Command's Fourth Air Transportation Company, praised the H-4 crew. "None of us wants that occasion to be the last," said Gen. Franks, 2nd Air Division, "and we are glad to see our darders to keep from getting it."

The best of the 200 teams competing in the All-Army Rifle and Pistol matches will arrive at Fort Benning, Ala., on June 7-9, although some smaller groups are expected to arrive earlier.

Top Research Men to Meet At Benning

Approximately 33 distinguished military scientists will meet here June 12-14 to review the plans and progress of personal and training research in the U.S. Armed Forces.

The Infantry Center will extend a red-carpet welcome to the visitors who compose the Advisory Panel on Personnel and Training Research, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Research and Development.

A program of demonstrations and panel discussions has been scheduled for this annual June meeting of the group. The work of two post units, the Continental Army Command, Human Research Unit No. 3, and the Infantry School's Combat Development Office, will be shown June 12 in a full day devoted to Army research and its application to Infantry training programs.

A partial list of the group experts includes: Dr. Robert H. Baker of the Office of the Chief of Research and Development, Department of the Army; and Lt. Col. Carroll B. Hodges, chief, Personnel Research Branch, Edmunds Air Force Base, Kansas. Dr. Robert H. Baker of the Office of the Chief of Research and Development, Department of the Army; and Lt. Col. Carroll B. Hodges, chief, Personnel Research Branch, Edmunds Air Force Base, Kansas.

The advisory panel is a group of scientists from U.S. universities and industry who are responsible for advising the assistant secretary of defense, Research and Development, on plans and progress of personnel training research in the military departments.

The meeting at the Infantry Center will be devoted to the study of current and planned programs of research at selected laboratories, H-4 helicopters of the Fourth Helicopter Company will transport the scientists to demonstration areas June 12, 1954.

Gen. Lynch and Brig. Gen. St. John C. Wooten, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center, will welcome the scientists at Brown Hall at 9 a.m. June 12.

Project officer for the advisory panel is Capt. R. J. Olson of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Ouch! Polio Shots Start June 11

First and second shots in the polio vaccine series will be administered to military dependents from six months through 15 years of age here June 11 at the Hospital beginning June 11. The shots will be given Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in a special clinic, according to Lt. Col. James M. Foley of Columbus. The third shot will be given at the post hospital before this fall.

Symphony Group Planning Music to Please Everyone

"Designed to please everyone is the motivating theme behind Fort Benning's formation of a new musical group, among Army musical groups.

In other words, the Fort Benning Symphony Orchestra will play for everyone. As the symphony leader said, "We'll be neither too 'highbrow' nor too 'lowbrow'."

The symphony orchestra, only one of its kind in the Army, has a couple of other novel attractions in its favor, as well.

For one thing, it is the sort of organization in which everyone participates. Right now the 46-member group, which will number 60 by the time it gives its first concert, is composed of musicians from private up to lieutenant colonel, as well as three wives of military personnel.

Besides offering "commercial" music for everyone's consumption, the orchestra also aims to provide opportunities to "hobby" players, or those who have let their musical studies lapse for a number of years.

The leader of the symphony is CWO (Chief Warrant Officer) Benjamin J. Cortese of Norfolk, one of its kind in the Army, has a couple of other novel attractions in his favor, as well.

Open Matches

After Major Gen. Arministed D. Mead, chief of the Infantry Section, CONARC headquarters at Fort Monmouth, N.J., opened the matches June 11 at 8:30 a.m. at McAndrew Range, shooters will spend the day practicing firing under match conditions.

All-arms competitors are chosen by CONARC's Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit to undergo a series of elimination trials prior to the naming of the All-Arms squad.

Shooters for platoons will be at the Fort Benning Pistol Range. Riflemen compete at McAndrew Range.

Approximately 60 riflemen and 200 platoonists will vie for 602 medals.

Soldier Shows Present Comedy Farce June 21-22

A popular play turned into a little more reaches the stage of the Fort Benning theater June 21-22 when Soldier Shows presents "Out of the Frying Pan."

This second in a series of three "Broadway" plays is a farce comedy, in direct contrast to the first presentation, "The Ninth Guest," a murder mystery that was offered in March.

"Out of the Frying Pan" by Francis Swan will debut at Theater No. 7 in the Sand Hill area at 8:45 p.m. June 21. The show moves to the Main Theater the following night at 8 p.m.

The plot revolves around a young man and woman sharing the same New York apartment with a single purpose in mind — to get home before Arthur Kenny, a noted Broadway producer, who is trying to cast a road show for his latest dog.

Retaining Members

Three of the "Ninth Guest" cast members have returned for "Out of the Frying Pan." SP3 Tom Stawley of Birmingham, Mich., assigned to Company B, First Battalion, Special Troops Command, plays capable Norman Reese; Mrs.

24 Killed Off Post in '55 Flame-Throwing Safe Compared To Joy Rides in Private Cars

Flame-throwing incidents like a hazardous occurrence are used to be greeted by a hurrahy by a little sign with a picture of a "Flame-Throwing Safe" and the slogan, "Are you Fort Benning's next traffic fatality?"

The program is organized down to the smallest unit levels. Safety officers have been appointed to conduct projects in each unit. The safety campaign, which began April 1, will continue officially through July 3. But Evans hopes to leave Infantry Center personnel safety-conscious all year round.

"It's a matter of dollars and cents, if you want to figure it that way," he said. "The Army has learned that the average accident involving military personnel costs $1,000 per injury, while a death costs $1,500. Corresponding losses for civilian employees are 425 in personal cases and $9,000 in fatalities."

Outside of traffic safety, Evans also makes periodic checks of training areas and service installations to keep tabs on safety procedures.

NORMAN M. EVANS, Post Safety Director

Replaces 499th Engr. 78th Engrs. to Gyroscope To Europe in February

Col. Norman L. Hall, battalion commander of the 78th Engineer Battalion (Combat), has announced that the unit will gyroscope in February of next year, replacing the 499th Engineer Battalion (Combat), presently located in Europe.

The 78th Engineer Regiment (Combat) (Regular Army) was first activated at Fort Buchanan, Puerto Rico, March 28, 1942. The 1st Battalion, 78th Engineer Regiment was activated on June 10, 1943 at Camp O'Reilly, Puerto Rico. The unit sailed for Camp Stanesman, California on June 5, 1943 for the Philippines Islands, arriving on July 11, 1943. The 78th then moved to Japan on August 24, 1945, and was inactivated at Chugasaki, Japan on April 10, 1946.

The 78th Engineer Combat Battalion was reorganized May 1, 1947 at Fort Benning, but shortly thereafter, on Dec. 15, 1947, was reduced to zero strength. During this period the battalion was attached to The Infantry Center, and conducted and assisted in engineer demonstrations required by the school.

Brought up to full strength as the 78th Engineer Combat Battalion (Army) on May 2, 1949, the unit was attached to the 3d Division. At present the battalion is assigned to the 151st Engineer Group (Combat), under the command of Colonel L. E. Roth. It renders support to TIC in various construction assignments both on and off the reservation, assistance to the Post Engineers, and other demonstrations and displays conducted by the school.

TOTAL WRECK — This wrecked auto near Outpost No. 1 serves as mute reminder to Fort Benning personnel to drive carefully. In the background, military police are lowering a flag which is flown at half-mast following traffic fatalities involving post personnel. These are phases of the Traffic Safety Emphasis Program being conducted through July 8.

military personnel during their off-hours are installed in certain places to duty time.

One reason for the falls was Summing up his program, Evans traced to slippery roads, side-tans, a veteran civilian employee, walks and steps resulting from said.

"All we're doing is trying to aid in decreasing them and get people to do what they ought to be doing, anyway. It's really that additional light's simple."

THE SERVICEMAN AND GOD

Many of the (l.t. col.) Francis D. Bridgestine. Heved, that a man either loved another person or he disliked him. They denied any idea of a neutrality of emotions.

Even in the Service we can ignore Him through indifference or hostility, but no one can ever drive Him away. Only the foot re-fuses help when he needs it and when he seems relatively easy, there might be a tendency to forget God. Joyful who has been in a secular college or public high school realizes very well that there isn't much room for God in the program of studies and activities for the man without whom we would not have air, breathe, nor eyes to see nor minds to think nor hearts to love.

Chess News

The question has often been raised as to why the Fort Benning Chess Club is not more widely known. The answer is - Very simply, it is the best of the best. This is the best of the best of the just published U. S. Chess Federation system which pretty well applies to our own.

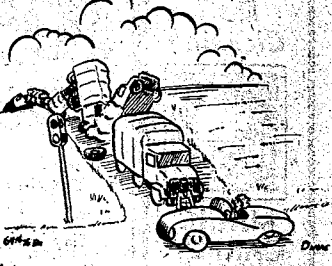

I have been awarded a USCF rating of 1800 points based on performance in only one tournament, the Alabama State Championship in August 1956. No other Fort Benning player has a national rating at this time.

1st Lt. Dan Jennings, back from the front and playing his game in nearly two months, out-ranked and out-thought 1st Lt. Carlos Noriega to gain possession of the coveted trophy. Four more wins and it's permanent.

"If you didn't know anything about chess, now is the time to learn! You can learn it in ten minutes. Perhaps your neighbor or neighborhood beauty or someone else is a regular chess whiz. Back home, wouldn't it be simple to play casually drop in for an hour or two while on leave, and with a few masterful strokes beat him at his own game? It can be done. The members of the Fort Benning Amateur Chess Club guarantee to give you plenty of practice to improve your proficiency. Absolutely no dues. Just bring your own chess set." ## General Talks To TIS Group

The assistant commander of the First Armored Division, Fort Polk, La., addressing The Infantry School's associate company officers class No. 2 Friday at Fort Benning, emphasized that the Army's chief product must be the trained soldier.

Gen. Yeager stressed the importance of maintaining a skilled cadre of specialists in the Regular Army National Guard and Reserve. "We will not be screened in the future by Allied fighting exercises while we build our reserves. An Army is maintained many days for a single moment. Be sure when that particular moment comes your unit is ready to go," he said.

11 Honored With Awards

Seven civilian employees and four servicemen received incentive awards at Fort Benning May 28 for outstanding job ratings and working improvement suggestions.

Franklin of Farris City, Ala.; Adjutant General's Section; Mrs. Margaret Davis of Seale, Ala.; Staff Judge Advocate's Office; outstanding rating; Dock B. Slaughter, Infantry Center G-4 (Logistics) Section; outstanding rating; and James L. McCoy, Ordnance Office, outstanding rating, both of Columbus.

Father Retires; Son Fills Shoes

This month the Armed Forces will retire a distinguished veteran in the person of Colonel Walter E. Frazake Sr., of the United States Navy.

But his place in the service will not be left vacant for this month his son, Officer Candidate Walter E. Frazake Jr., will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Army. Captain Frazake graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in June 1952. In his 20 years of service he has served all-over the world, including submarine duty in China, a tour with the amphibious forces in Europe during World War II and one in Guam from 1947 to 1949.

Tigue Twins Lead Parallel Lives; U. of Wyo. Grads Now in BIOC Here

Typical twins say the Tigue's are not now attending the BIOC Class 12. The School Brigade, led by Lt. Williams (left), C. Tigue (right) and another soldier, stand in the in SOE for twins to stay together but at that point their paths usually diverge. Both the Tigue's are the exception in that rule. They got jobs together as Junior Airborne cadets for the Stateside Company in Tulsa, Oklahoma. There married shortly after they got to the Stateside Apartment in Columbus, Georgia.

Bible School Opens June 11

Daily Vacation Bible School begins at Fort Benning June 11 with two weeks of graded, lesson, homework projects, games and refreshments on the program.

Parents attending BIOC together have parallel lives. They are in the same unit until their tour is completed. After they graduate sometime in July, they hope to be assigned to the same unit until their tour is completed.

Classes will be held from 8 to 11:30 a.m. through June 21 in the Sunday School Building at the west end of the U.S. Army Hospital area. Classes are planned for children four through 12 years old according to Captain (ret. Lt.) Eliza J. Costner of Cleveland, Ohio, Bible School director.

These they will be separated for the first time. Still with the same company, Bob will be working in Training and Bill in Tones. Do they dream alike? Well, right now they do, even to the gold bars.

LUNCH TIME... And Lt. William and Robert Tigue of BIOC Class 12. The School Brigade, eat lunch together in the mess hall. (Left) and Bob (right) have spent their entire careers together. They hope to be assigned to the same unit after graduating in July.

HONOR SCOUTS... Girl Scouting's highest honor, Curved Bar rank, is presented to Margaret Carson, center, and Carol Sims, right, members of Troop 65 at a Fort Benning Court of Awards May 30. They are the daughters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John L. Carson of Dallas, Texas and M-Sgt. and Mrs. Cyrus Y. Sims of Bonifay, Texas. Mrs. Carson, former district Girl Scout chairman, pins on her daughter's badge.

General Speaks To Graduates

Congratulating the 28 eighth graders of Fort Benning Children's School on reaching the first plateau in education, Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook was principal speaker at their graduation exercises June 4.

The assistant commandant of The Infantry School addressed approximately 500 in Faith School Auditorium.

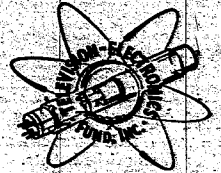

"The schooling you've received here has given you the fundamental tools you will use for the remainder of your education. The application of the knowledge gained, he added, Children will be enrolled during the first session June 11. Building 1079 (or the first day they are in attendance if they cannot be present the opening day.

Buses will make the regular Sunday School run approximately 20 minutes earlier than the schedule on Sundays. They will leave the Sunday School area at 8:30 and return at 9 a.m. Bus guides will be on each vehicle to assist the children.

Mrs. John D. Quick of Bonham, Texas, wife of Charles (Major) Quick, and SEC Clifford D. Linder of Grifton, Ohio, Infantry Center Chaplain Section, are assistant directors of the Bible School.

with ESQUIRE BOOT POLISH

There's a big difference between just shining shoes and lanolizing them with ESQUIRE. Sarge knows that... and so do plenty of other "on the ball" G.I.'s. That's why ESQUIRE BOOT POLISH is #1 with the men in the armed forces. ESQUIRE gives a "looking glass" shine on the double. ### Neighbors Meet Lithuanians Hold 'Labas'

The Lithuanian word "labas" means "to greet" or "greetings". Recently a "labas" took place between Sp3 Vytautas Germanas and Sp3 Algimantas Svarplaitis. They met here for the first time and suddenly realized that they live only a stone's throw from each other, both in the past and present.

Both born in Lithuania, not 50 miles apart, they have led similar lives. Each lived in comparatively normal ways in the "old country" until June, 1940, when the Russian Communists launched an offensive against the Baltic countries, comprised of Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia. Algimantas' father, a farmer, and Vyto's father, a government official, were both in political opposition to the Communist usurpers, Kazemieras Germanas, Vyto's father, was sentenced without a trial because of his political beliefs to eight years of hard labor in the work camps of Siberia. During this time, Algimantas' father Al, as he is called, was hospitalized and there was

LITHUANIANS MEET — Sp3 Vytautas Germanas (left) greets Sp3 Algimantas Svarplaitis for the first time. Both were born in Lithuania, and lived 50 miles apart without knowing it. In DP camps as political exiles. Both boys at this time continued their high school education, worked hard, and managed to learn German fluently. After Germany was liberated by the Americans in 1945, both families realized that only imprisonment awaited their return to Lithuania. In 1948 the Germanas family came to New York City, eventually settling in Chicago, where Vyto attended the University of Illinois. Al's family came to the United States in the following year and continued farming near New York City. In 1953 both men obtained their cherished citizenship. Sp3 Vytautas Germanas is a construction draftsman assigned to Company "B" at the 57th Engineer Battalion (Construction), 151st Engineer Group (C), Sp3 Algimantas Svarplaitis is an airplane mechanic with the 3d Division Combat Aviation Company. Upon separation from the service, both plan a college career.

ANGELS AND ADOLPH ... Members of the cast of "My Three Angels" to be presented by the Columbus Little Theater June 11 and 12 include, standing, angels Arnold Ward, Joseph Peters and Richard Cherin, with Uncle Henri (seated), played by Jim Bollman. They're looking at the fourth angel, Adolph, played by the snake in the basket.

Post Actors Featured In 'My Three Angels'

Talented Fort Benning actors and post police officers, led by Joseph Peters, join forces for "My Three Angels" to be presented by the Columbus Little Theater June 11 and 12. The play, directed by Bill Brock of Radio Theatre recording, "Coffee with Bill", will be held at the Jordan High School Auditorium. The show, originally presented on Broadway, was acclaimed as a movie when Humphrey Bogart, Walter Brennan and Aldo Ray took the leading roles. Half of the cast in the local version is from Fort Benning. The setting is on an island off French Guiana. The three featured players are hardened prisoners who spend Christmas Eve with a family living near the island. The criminal and their pet snake, Adolph, moved by the spirit of the occasion, proceed through a series of misadventures resulting in a romance, a couple of murders and a plot to restore the family to a sound financial basis. The three Fort Benning "angels" are PFC Joseph Peters of Brooklyn, N. Y., assigned to 23rd Company, Second Standard Battalion, Second Infantry Division, and Richard Cherin, an embellisher; Sp3 Richard E. Cherin of Belleville, N. J., Judge Advocate Section, School Brigade headquarters, plays a forger, and Sp3 Arnold Ward of Chicago, Ill., Third Infantry Division Military Police Company, takes the role of a murderer. Other post actors featured are PFC James Bollman of Colorado, Minn., 28th Company, Second Standard Battalion, School Brigade, and Sp3 Brock of Fort Benning, Sweet of Brookline, N. Y., Personnel Division, 28th Infantry Regiment, Command Training Center, is the show's sound effects man. Tickets may be bought at post Service Clubs or from members of the cast. In Columbus, tickets may be purchased at Davidson's or Rhison Galleries. TWO PROMOTIONS — Promotions announced last week by Headquarters Company, Special Troops Command, brought that the 2nd Lt. in two members of the unit. The new privates first class are James Beasley and Lawrence Beckham. PFC Beasley, a native of Alameda, entered the Army June 19, 1944 and completed basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C. PFC Beckham, who has been in service since July, 1944, is from Hutchinson, West Virginia and has served an overseas tour in the Far East Command.

Falls, Sports Cause April Disabling Injuries on Post

More than half of the disabling injuries reported from the post during the month of April were the result of sports and recreation activities.

Of the 100 disabling injuries reported during the month, 55 were the result of sports and recreation activities. The most common cause of these injuries was falls, which accounted for 25 of the total. Other leading causes were sports injuries, such as sprains and strains, and accidents involving vehicles and machinery.

The post medical department reported that the majority of these injuries occurred during the first half of the month. This was attributed to the fact that many of the post's recreational activities, such as sports and picnics, were held during this period.

The post commandant expressed his concern over the number of disabling injuries and urged all personnel to exercise caution during recreational activities. He stated that while recreation is an important part of a healthy life, it should not be pursued recklessly.

3d Division Sports 15th ICC Victory Causes Three-Way Tie for First

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

15th I.C.C. righthander Howard Myers created a kingsized traffic jam in the scramble for first ball baseball honors Sunday afternoon when he twirled an 8-4 victory over the slumping 7th I.C.C.

The results threw the 3rd Division Baseball standings for the first half into a three-way tie with the 15th, 7th, and DivArly all owning .75 records.

15th DivArly had capped its schedule on Wednesday afternoon with a 4-1 triumph over the Cottonbelters, eliminating a tremendous five-game winning streak. They were mired in the cellar spot with a .24 record on 20 May before their uphill climb.

The fastballing 15th righthander struck out nine men, and allowed eight hits in the all-important game.

A big six-run rally in the eighth inning decided the issue as the 15th rapped four hits and capitalized on two walks and an error for their scores.

Then they swept to three consecutive victories in the following week, topping the 8th, 44, Support Command, 10-4, and the 15th, 5-2.

Last week they continued their winning ways with two wins in two trips.

A large measure of the credit goes to Joe Jorgensen, a newcomer who saw no action until 22 May when he led the Redies attack against the 9th. Participating in three games — one of them as a pinch-hitter — he racked up six hits in eight trips and accounted for eight RBIs.

Jorgensen injured his foot in the 28 May game, and hasn't appeared in the lineup since but his hitting provided the sparkplug for DivArly's remarkable surge to the top.

Interior decorators, note! (spit!) lions may come into favor as planters. Former State Sen. Hazel Abel (Rep.) was presented with the spittoon and shaving mug traditionally given Nebraska senators at the conclusion of their term of office. Senator Abel says she'll use the spittoon as a planter. As yet she has no stars for the shaving mug.

Myers twirled a long triple which scored the clincher.

The Braves reversed the lead with another pair in their half of the inning as Jose Vega and Lewis headed base on singles and Howard Cate's duplicated Myers' three-bagger.

In the Cottonbelters' half — ditch stand in the ninth — DivArly managed to close the gap to 8-4 when they scored a run. Sam Grant walked and Roger second and came in on Vega's single.

Vega had a perfect day with four hits in four trips.

The lone 15th I.C.C. hitter with more than one hit was Tester who had two for four. Lewis had the same plate record for the 7th.

REAL COMEBACK

DivArly's rise to a first place tie illustrates an amazing comeback picture.

On 20 May they were 2-3 in last place.

Then they swept to three consecutive victories in the following week, topping the 8th, 44, Support Command, 10-4, and the 15th, 5-2.

Last week they continued their winning ways with two wins in two trips.

Stone Mountain North America's Largest Exposed Granite Dome

From the cliff to the ground, Stone Mountain was used as a signaling tower by the Indians living in the section.

In 1923 Cloud's Tower, 165 feet high, was erected on the summit to afford a broader view of the surrounding country. There are also a number of unfinished statues on the mountain, principally those of Robert E. Lee, Jefferson Davis, and Stonewall Jackson.

The statue of Lee is particularly magnificent. He is seated on his horse Traveller. The whole structure measures 130 feet from the crown of Lee's hat to the horse's hooves, approximately the height of a ten-story building. At the dedication of the work, Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, gave a special breakfast with the guests seated at tables set up on the massive shoulders of Lee.

Much of the statue is still incomplete although the original work began in 1915. Since that time a number of difficulties have delayed the work. Borglum died in 1941. Following the second World War, Gene Talmadge attempted to have the statue finished. The work is still pending.

Stone Mountain is located a few miles outside of Atlanta, northeast on Highway 78. No fee is charged for visitors.

But this week we will look at a Georgia site that is removed some 100 miles from the Macon-Georgie County Flat Rock Park, Stone Mountain. Although it will take at least a three day pass to properly — and legally — visit Stone Mountain, the time is well worth it.

Stone Mountain, with an elevation of some 1,686 feet above sea level, is the largest exposed granite dome in North America. It towers approximately 630 feet above the surrounding Piedmont Plateau. The mountain is two miles long, has a circumference of more than seven miles at the base, and is estimated to weigh 1,000,000 tons, although the geologists estimate that only a fraction of the total mass extends above the ground surface. It is of a greenish hue due to the resident moss and lichen on the surface.

According to calculations of geologists, Stone Mountain took its form about 200 million years ago as a subterranean molten mass, and its gradual appearance above the earth's surface is the result of erosion.

Running through the dome into two principal directions and causing the surface to assume a streaked appearance, are crevices formed probably by the contraction of the molten mass when it began to cool. The sides have been marked by iron, oxide and organic matter carried down by rain water from the top.

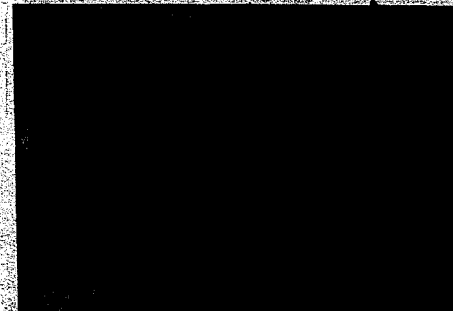

Before the setting of Georgia.

NOTICE

The Infantry Center Provost Marshal called attention this week to 712 traffic regulations pertaining to the approach of emergency vehicles.

4-5 of the traffic regulations states:

"When alerted by siren, whistle or bell at the approach of any emergency vehicle, the driver of every other vehicle will pull to the right hand curb and stop the right hand curb and stop clear of any intersections and remain in such position until the emergency vehicle has passed."

He Volunteered Destiny Picked Dilks For Clerk of Co. E

BY SFC ROBERT SELA
"WANTED: Young men, who take pride in their work. Neatness, good education, education, and ability to keep a must. Apply U.S. Army."

The above ad has never appeared in the column of any newspaper. It was back in World War I that the Army was announcing a need for a company clerk. But the Army doesn't seem to advertise for company clerks. There are plenty of men in the Army who are in the clerical line. One such man is Sergeant Lawrence J. Dilks, who clerked for E Company, and Infantry Detachment, CTC. He entered the Army in March, 1932, and has been doing his present job since July of that same year, with time out for short stints as Company operations sergeant and Company supply sergeant.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY . . . Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Augustus J. Tracy, center, Third Infantry Division, chaplain, is presented a scroll at ceremonies May 30 celebrating the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the Roman Catholic priesthood by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Ferdinand Evans, left, assistant Third Army chaplain, on behalf of Chaplain (Col.) John F. Gaertner, Third Army chaplain. Chaplain (Col.) Earl D. Compton, Infantry Center chaplain, is at right.

It all started out, as it does for many Company clerks, at a morning work-study formation of E Co., in those days, called out. "We need a typist for the orderly room. Any volunteers?"

Forward Forward
The flag of destiny touched Private Lawrence J. Dilks, newly assigned to the Company. He stepped forward and forthwith learned the duties of a Company clerk.

Three years later and a Sergeant Lawrence Dilks now has the job down pat. He can type accurately, fluently, rapidly, and is considered by Regimental Headquarters to be one of the best clerks in the 28th.

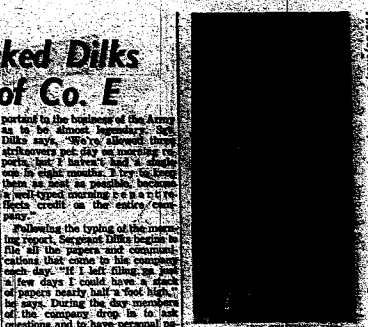

A typical day for Sgt. Dilks begins with the typing of the Morning Report, that document so important to the business of the Army as to be almost legendary. Sgt. Dilks says, "I allow that the clerks who get day on morning reports just haven't had a single day in their lives. I try to get them as soon as possible, because a well-typed morning report is the credit on the entire company."

Following the typing of the morning report, Sergeant Dilks begins to do all the papers and communications that come in the company each day. "If I have a few days I could have a stack of papers nearly half a foot high," he says. During the day members of the company drop in to ask questions and to have personal papers made and requests for time off, pay complaints, and requests for personnel action taken care of. Dilks keeps over thirty different types of forms on file. These forms have to be checked regularly to make sure that obsolete ones have been disposed of, and that new ones have been stocked.

Papers Pile Up
The most hectic day for Sgt. Dilks is payday. "The R comes back because I'm a boy." On payday most of the pay discrepancies are checked, usually in the first of the month, is the day most of the twelve monthly reports are checked. Dilks has to make a due.

The job of the company clerk is challenging, but it is largely mental. "There's a lot of memory work involved," says Dilks. "Others are hundreds of little details to remember."

Having been working in the orderly room for nearly three years, Sgt. Dilks occasionally gets a year to see the great outdoors. But it isn't often that he can be spared from his desk.

SGT. L. J. DILKS
member. They're always changing the SIP for some reason or other, and you have to keep that in mind. You have to read every single piece of paper that comes into the orderly room, and keep the CO and the Sergeant Major informed. You have to be able to find at a moment's notice a single piece of paper in a file that may contain as many as forty folders. You have to pick out the important things in what you read — that's a job in its — and commit them to memory. . . . and call them in when you need them."

Having been working in the orderly room for nearly three years, Sgt. Dilks occasionally gets a year to see the great outdoors. But it isn't often that he can be spared from his desk.

New Look Slated For Post Dayrooms

A three-year, dayroom renovation project, sponsored by Third Army Headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga., is expected to begin at Fort Benning in September.

This Army interior design program already have started the post in order to furnish plans for the building. Dayrooms of 100 to 150 sq. ft. temporary type, which will be first to undergo the change. Elements of design, color, lighting, and a few of main Post are included in the initial group.

Although this Army program is enhanced exactly which of its several dayroom styles will be selected at Fort Benning, it is believed that all the designs being considered are extremely modernistic.

SHOW BIZ

After weeks of waiting, Sgt. George's debut on "The Show Biz" is a triumph. The Army's top performers, Dennis and Phillip, two old-timers, are serving with the Army's top performers.

Actor William Holden crashed through the "Show Biz" last week. He was followed by Sgt. Gen. J. S. Hooters, commanding general of the 23d Army, and the great Ed Edwards, who was made a star.

Edwards, where Holden, the "Show Biz" star, is "toward the Unknown," the "Show Biz" star, is "toward the Unknown."

Novak, who could play Eve to any "Atom," probably has been closer to an atomic reactor than any Hollywood actress. His reputation plump of the film beauty hangs on the thick shield of the reactor in the "Show Biz." Naturally, Kim generates enough interest to keep everybody aboard happy.

Audie Murphy, most decorated soldier in WWII, is in for another medal. He's to be honored by the Belgian government. Gregory Peck plays a paratrooper in flashback sequences of "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit." The slender patch he wears honors one of the top combat units of WWII - the yellow and black insignia of the famed 50th Parachute Inf. Bn., commanded by Col. Edson D. Raff.

Carl Reiner and Howie Morris, Sid Caesar's two sidkicks on the latter's TV show, also will appear. Their "best" at the end of this season. The departing trio of females will be replaced by Anne Smit, Pat Carroll and Shirl Conway.

Bugged John Wayne now holds our wife's record doing what she does. General USO - fifth Army. W. a C. Sgt. Margaret L. Delaney being honored the honor on the veteran order at the Chicago USO for his work with the USO during WWII.

Sergeant Likes Country Music

Country music, a form of entertainment whose popularity is sweeping the country these days, is the vacation of a 23d F. A. Bn. Sergeant just back from overseas, where he was the winner of last year's ALL-USAREUR Singing Contest.

Sergeant Joel D. Hill, now assigned to Battery A of the 23d, has played and sung country-style since he was old enough to hold a "guitar" (just to be unimpaired). He comes from Hartford, Tennessee, which, as anyone familiar with country customs is aware, is the fountainhead of one of the most popular brands of country music, Hartford, which can only be reached by a gravel road, is the capital of Cosby County, scene of the annual Lick-Eat-Ing Convention. "Have you got in-guts enough to eat a Cosby County 'wild hick'?" residents inquire, and the challenge has attracted such notables as former president Harry S. Truman, who it is reported, successfully met it.

Inspired by this colorful background Sgt. Hill has written over a dozen songs in the country manner. Two of them, "Falling in Love Again" and "Let Me Home to Wander," are now Dot Record releases.

"Kiss me, come to me, anywhere, anytime," says Sgt. Hill. "I just write down the words and keep the tune in my head so I can get a music writer to put it down for me."

During his off-duty hours Sgt. Hill has organized a six-piece band, plays in local entertainment establishments and has appeared on WDAK-TV. Sgt. Hill's band also played at the "Gator Bowl" dance recently held in Columbus.

TRAINING... 23rd F. A. Bn.'s eight-inch howitzer crew, members of B Battery, go through "cannoner's hop," the artillery loading and firing drill, in the shadow of the big field piece.

SINGING SERGEANT... Last year's winner of the ALL-USAREUR singing contest, Sergeant Joel D. Hill, now assigned to Battery A, 23d F. A. Bn., comes from Hartford, Tenn., the fountainhead of most of the popular brands of country music.

Ike Goes Back To Light Duties

An improvised White House office was set up at Walter Reed Hospital Monday 90 feet from President Eisenhower's room, ready for business as the recuperating President resumed more of his duties. Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said the temporary headquarters will be used increasingly by White House staff members as Eisenhower adds to his work load.

Salk Vaccine May Stop 'Carriers'

Two polio experts said Monday that Salk-vaccinated children may become far less able to pass natural polio infections to other family members. There would be fewer "silent carriers" who could spread dangerous virus during epidemics to others. The extra dividends were described by Dr. Jonas S. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine, and Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Rockefeller Gets Hitched 2d Time

Winthrop Rockefeller, 44, took his second wife Monday with none of the fanfare that surrounded his ill-fated Cinderella marriage to Bobo Rockefeller. The new bride is Jeanette Edris, 37, daughter of William Edris, a Seattle, Wash. financier. It is her fourth marriage. After a honeymoon, the couple will live at Rockefeller's Morriston, Ark., model cattle farm.

U. S. Fears Slow Korea Disarming

American military leaders in the Far East are said to fear they are in effect being slowly disarmed in Korea. They say the weapons of the Allied forces—frozen by type under the 1953 armistice—are growing obsolete as military science and production sweep ahead. This fear may force the United Nations Command to ask for revision of the armistice agreement, according to Associated Press.

British Rule Ends In Suez Canal Zone

FORT SAID, Egypt (UP) — Britain withdrew its last centry from the Suez Canal Zone Wednesday, ending 150 years of military operations in the land of the Pharaohs. The last Union Jack fluttered down over a deserted garrison at sunset Tuesday without badge or drum beat to pace its descent. It was the end of an era that began in March, 1819, when the British drove Napoleon's soldiers out of Egypt.

Meeting With Chou En-tai Ruled Out

State Department officials ruled out Wednesday any meeting between Secretary Dulles and Premier Chou En-tai, Mao Tse-tung's Communist China until the Reds substantially change their behavior.

Land of the Free Fort Benning Observes Flag Day

SPIRIT OF '76 . . . Like ghosts of the past come these figures marching over the roof of The Infantry School at Fort Benning to commemorate Flag Day, June 14. Today marks the 179th anniversary of the adoption of Old Glory by the Continental Congress June 14, 1777. The fire-and-drum group—taken from a famous painting of the Revolutionary War—was superimposed by Master Specialist Joe P. Wolfe, Special Troops Command, over a scene of the huge Fort Benning garrison flag being reverently lowered and secured by an STC military police flag detail as retreat is sounded at the close of day. A legal holiday only in Pennsylvania, Flag Day is observed throughout the nation each year by Presidential proclamation.

Rifle, Pistol Championships 4th Army Pistoleer Ties Record Here

BY JAY ADELMAN
SFC Floyd Adams of the Fourth Army Pistol Team unofficially tied an All-Army record, noosing out two veterans rivals in the process, to take the first pistol match in the 1956 All-Army Rifle and Pistol Championships at the post Pistol Range Tuesday.

Adams, firing in the first .22 caliber match, consisting of 20 rounds slow fire at 50 yards, scored 194 to match the record set in 1955 by M-Sgt. Meriwether Jones of Sixth Army.

Banner Takes Second
Lt. Col. William Hancock of the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit, and M-Sgt. Huel "Jee" Bener, the world's greatest pistol shot, from first Army, finished second and third respectively, both shooting 182.

Meanwhile, 300 yards away Capt. John Ashbury of the Third Army Rifle Team, firing at McAndrew Range, didn't drop a point as he shot 106-47 for high score in the first rifle event. The 200 yard match consisted of 20 shots, slow fire, standing at 200 yards.

Runners-up were 1st Lt. John Couris of Third Army, 90-10, and 1st Lt. Charles Orr, U. S. Army, Pacific, 99-37.

Rec-Hot Shooting
The red-hot evening emphasized remarks made by Major Gen. Armistead D. Mead, chief of CONARC's Infantry Section, in opening ceremonies at McAndrew Range Monday.

He told the record number of competitors, "You are the best shots in the Army—the men who will prove at Camp Perry to be the best shots in the world. (Australia) to be the best rifle and pistol shots in the world."

The 111 competitors represent six Army areas in the U. S., Army of the Pacific, U. S. Army, Europe, U. S. Army, Caribbean, U. S. Army, Alaska; Military District of Washington, and Anti-Aircraft Army Command's and squads from throughout the continental U. S.

Presents Awards
They will have fired 21 rifle and 20 pistol events before Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander of CONARC, will be sponsoring the Championships, presents 622 medals and 17 trophies to the outstanding individual shooters and teams at the Mala Theater 10 a.m. June 26.

Above all, the All-Army rifles are vying for berths on the 60-man All-Army Rifle and Pistol Team, which will be chosen following a series of eliminations conducted by CONARC's Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit following the All-Army matches. The All-Army squad will compete in the National Aug. 14-Sept. 4.

THE CURTAIN RISES . . . Competitors fire, score and assemble—this was the scene at McAndrew Range after Major Gen. Armistead D. Mead, chief of CONARC's Infantry Section, opened the 1956 All-Army Rifle and Pistol Championships here Monday.

Board 3 Chief Goes to Italy

Col. Henry Neilson of Seattle, Washington, assumed duties as president of Continental Army Command Board No. 3 at Fort Benning this week on departure of Col. Charles S. D'Orsa for a new assignment at Allied Headquarters, Naples, Italy.

Col. Neilson has served as deputy president of the board since August, 1955. A 1954 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., he saw action with the 3rd Infantry Division in Europe during World War II and as commander of the 24th and 17th Infantry Regiments in Korea.

He wears the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman Badge, French Croix de Guerre and other decorations.

Col. Neilson is married to the former Mary D. Schuckenberg of Seattle.

The board's outgoing president, Col. D'Orsa, took with him a commendation from Major General H. M. Osborne, Chief of Development and Test, CONARC, Fort Monroe, Virginia, for outstanding performance of duty since taking over the Fort Benning post in 1954.

A native of New York, N.Y., Col. D'Orsa graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1932 and commanded the 180th Infantry Regiment, 4th Division, during the Korean conflict.

Another Sergeant York? Roberts Gets Silver Star for Gallantry

Not many times since a terror of a Tennessean named Sergeant Alvin York killed the Army 49 years ago here the mountains produced a fighting man like Sergeant Robert Douglas Roberts.

A modest, strapping soldier of 26 from Sparta, Tenn., now assigned as a supply sergeant in the Airborne-Army Aviation Department of The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Roberts was raised about 40 miles from the home of the much-decorated hero of World War I.

In his own way, Sergeant Roberts created about as much havoc among the Communists in Korea as Sergeant York did with the Germans in France.

Last Saturday, Sergeant Roberts received the Silver Star and the second and third Oak Leaf Clusters to the Purple Heart for gallantry and wounds in Korea.

Three months ago he was decorated here with the nation's second highest award for valor, the Distinguished Service Cross, for being so slung a one-man offensive on the Reds with a machine gun at Hill 541, June 8, 1951.

The Silver Star was pinned on Sergeant Roberts' shirt by Brigadier General Sidney G. Wooten, deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center. The ceremony took place on French Field and was accompanied by band music, a parade, and reading of citations.

Sergeant Roberts received the Silver Star for heroism in action against the enemy on September 6, 1950, when he was a corporal with Company G, 7th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division. During the night, while the company was in a retrograde movement near Wonsan, Korea, it was ordered that the company's commanding officer and third and fourth platoons were missing.

"Since as one had any knowledge of their whereabouts," said the citation, "Sergeant Roberts, with selfless disregard for his own personal safety, volunteered to lead a small patrol back into the strongly fortified enemy territory in search for them. As a result of his dauntless courage and conspicuous devotion to duty, contact was made with the separated troops and the commanding officer, Sergeant Roberts' gallantry reflects great credit upon himself and the military service."

Now married and the father of three children, Sergeant Roberts and his wife, the former Betty Rae Knight of Williamsport, Pa., reside in Columbia, at 328 Irwin Way. The sergeant became a paratrooper after the Korean conflict and makes regular jumps at Fort Benning. He is assigned to Company H, Infantry School Detachment.

LUCKY . . . Robert D. Roberts of Sparta, Tenn., (right), then a private first class with Company G, 7th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division in Korea, shows his squad leader, Sgt. James E. Elkins of Barton, Ky., the bullet holes in his helmet after he was grazed by North Korean fire in August, 1950. Now a sergeant, Roberts has received the Distinguished Service Cross and Silver Star at Fort Benning for heroism in action.

Units Moving To Kelly Hill

Plans are afoot to move two Infantry Battalions and Hqs. Co. of the 7th I.C.G. into new quarters during July and August.

Nearing completion are the first seven barracks for the 1st Division on Kelly Hill. At present, seven barracks are nearly finished, at a cost of about $5,000,000.

When the Kelly Hill project is completed there will be room for approximately 10,000 men.

The Kelly Hill area lies between Sand Hill and Main Post near the junction of 1st Division and Kelly Roads, south of Custer Road.

Upon its return from Fort Jackson, S.C., the 6th Inf. Bn. will move to the new buildings about August 30. The 8th Battalion and Hqs. Co. 7th I.C.G. will move to Kelly Hill about July.

The new barracks, of the concrete block type, will accommodate 225 men.

Mass Move Takes Place In 29th RCT

More than 3,000 troops at Fort Benning are in the process of a mass reorganization this week, resulting from the formation of the 28th Regimental Combat Team as a major Infantry Center command.

Effective June 1, Combat Training Command was redesignated the 29th RCT.

No change in mission or activity results from the reorganization except the rearrangement of physical facilities, offices and property of personnel.

Among units included in the 29th RCT are the 27th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battery, 26th and 44th Infantry Scout Dog Platoons, 37th Chemical Company, 520th Field Artillery Battery, 538th Army Postal Battalion.

Commanding the team will be Col. James B. Gall of Hillsboro, Ohio, former commander of Combat Training Command.

Registration for the summer session of the Fort Benning Children's Schools will be held June 18 from 9 a.m. to noon in the Home Living Room of Faith School.

Board 3 Chief Goes to Italy

Col. Henry Neilson of Seattle, Washington, assumed duties as president of Continental Army Command Board No. 3 at Fort Benning this week on departure of Col. Charles S. D'Orsa for a new assignment at Allied Headquarters, Naples, Italy.

Col. Neilson has served as deputy president of the board since August, 1955. A 1954 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., he saw action with the 3rd Infantry Division in Europe during World War II and as commander of the 24th and 17th Infantry Regiments in Korea.

He wears the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman Badge, French Croix de Guerre and other decorations.

Col. Neilson is married to the former Mary D. Schuckenberg of Seattle.

The board's outgoing president, Col. D'Orsa, took with him a commendation from Major General H. M. Osborne, Chief of Development and Test, CONARC, Fort Monroe, Virginia, for outstanding performance of duty since taking over the Fort Benning post in 1954.

A native of New York, N.Y., Col. D'Orsa graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1932 and commanded the 180th Infantry Regiment, 4th Division, during the Korean conflict.

On The Bookshelf

Harry Black, by David Walker. (Houghton, 316 pages).

In a straight forward exciting story of love and action, Harry Black, a young American soldier, has fallen in love. Thinking the killing of a dangerous tiger to be a sort of sacrifice for himself, he sets out to India. There he finds that life is a battle not with tigers but with one's self and that though chance may ordain what happens to us, it doesn't ordain what we do about it.

The Flag a Symbol

Today the American flag flutters in the breeze over public buildings. Thousands of flags decorate the homes of the nation. Today is Flag Day. We are proud of this symbol of the United States. It represents our freedom, our independence from oppression, our form of self-government, our national recognition of God.

REVOLT OF GUNNER ASCH

Originally published 1954 in Germany this novel recreates the life of a German soldier in the barracks during World War II. The plot describes the revolt of one Corporal Asch against the system of senseless tyranny of German troops.

29th RCT to Celebrate Army's 181st Birthday

The Army's 181st birthday today will be honored at Fort Benning with a full-strength parade by units of the 29th Regimental Combat Team and special celebrations conducted by individual 29th battalions.

The parade will be held in conjunction with Retreat, the Army's only ceremonial, held at Fort Benning and featuring a reading of the historic Resolution of the Continental Congress of June 14, 1775, which established the United States Army. Participating units will include the 4th Infantry Scout Troop, Platoon, First Bn., 29th, with 124 Engineer Company attached, the Second Bn., 29th with Heavy Mortar Co. attached, the Third Battalion, 29th with Medical Co. and the 97th Chemical Co. attached, Provisional Battalion, 29th, the 23d Field Artillery Battalion, and the 714th Tank Battalion. Approximately 3000 men, in all, will march.

'Let Us Strive' Army Engineers Will Be 181 Years Old Saturday

GROUP COMMANDER
COLONEL L. E. ROTH

PARADE AND UNIT COLORS

CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY... The Corps of Engineers was founded June 16, 1775. Since that time, 181 years ago, devotion to duty and undertaking the impossible have been characteristics of the Engineer Corps. Their spirit and attitude can best be described by their motto: "Let Us Strive." At Fort Benning, the 151st Engineer Group (Combat), commanded by Col. L. E. Roth, has embodied the highest traditions of the corps. Shown in the pictures above are only a few of the multitude of tasks that keep the 151st Engineers busy.

'By Diligence' Jobs Don't Get Too Tough For the 151st Engineers

BY AUBREY DUNN
The normal mission of the 151st Engineer Group (Combat) was to support the Infantry School in providing equipment, displays of engineer equipment, and demonstration projects for the engineer school. Support to the Post Engineers is not uncommon for the 78th. Such projects as the Harmony Church Swimming Pool, the Uptown Bridge, Wilcott Road and Fryar Field, to the 151st Engineer Group (Combat) have been completed. These projects are all accomplishments "in addition" to the normal commitments of supporting the School. Presently under the command of Lieutenant Colonel E. Norman Fall, the 151st Engineer Battalion plays an important role in the functioning of the 151st Engineer Group.

Final Bridge
The 58th Engineer Company (Bast Bridge) was activated at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, January 23, 1952, and assigned to The Office, Chief of Engineers. The company later was transferred to Fort Benning, where it was attached to the 78th Engineer Battalion. The 58th assumed a major role in exercises "Follow Me" and "Sage Break."

Group's Mission
The group's mission is to exercise tactical, administrative and assigned or attached units. Men and officers at all times are ready to meet emergencies such as epidemics, forest fires, floods and air raids.

During the summer many United States Army Reserve and National Guard Engineers troop and conduct field training with the help of the 151st. The Joint Civilian Orientation Course held annually at Fort Benning, and the United States Army Association Displays are two features also requiring many man and equipment hours on the part of the 151st Engineer Group which renders stable displays and demonstrations.

Battalion Motto - "Diligence" which means "By Diligence." The colors of the battalion are scarlet and white, and is authorized the Traffic, Trooper streamers on its colors. In 1953 and 1954, the battalion was given the important mission of cleaning up debris from tornadoes that struck Columbus and Fort Benning.

The Corps of Engineers has a colorful, glorious history, and is continuing to uphold its traditions today. It is not difficult to understand why the engineer is proud, not only that he is an engineer, but of his organization as well.

Silver Star Awarded For Action in Korea

Sergeant Roberts' platoon, sent to the column, was pinned down by heavy fire.
Sergeant Roberts handed his rifle to an assistant, seized a light machine gun and moved forward up the hill. Keeping at the top of his lungs, firing the machine gun steadily, he pressed forward, although he sustained a flesh wound. As he neared the top of the knoll the enemy abandoned their position and fled.

One-Man War
The men of Company G who saw this one-man war were so inspired that they moved forward and joined in the final assault as Sergeant Roberts reached the top of the hill.
A division report later estimated 20 enemy dead from Sergeant Roberts' blistering onset. For that day's work, he wears the DSC today.

Roberts says he was wounded five times in Korea, but records were kept on only four. He received shrapnel wounds in both feet and legs and once was hospitalized when a piece of mortar shrapnel struck his neck. On another occasion, two machine gun bullets pierced his helmet and grazed his skull.

"It looked like my head was hard enough to turn them," he laughs about it now.
Was it luck that kept him alive in Korea?

Today's American soldier is the best-fighting man in history, he didn't always have it so good.

Consider his basic daily ration in the Revolutionary War (if he was lucky enough to get it): jerked beef, flour, peas and milk washed down with a quart of spruce beer.

The ration, which included an allotment of candles and soap cost the government a dollar and 11 cents. Compare this to approximately a dollar spent for one man's daily food items today.

Obviously, it's a Quartermaster's job greater than any department store's and working under Col. Hornecker to accomplish the mission of the United States people, about 600 of whom are civilians.

No matter how far chemistry advances it will never come up with anything more dangerous than a peroxide blonde.

A father is a man who believes his daughter married a dope—but that his grandchildren are unbelievably brilliant.

Sergeants Roberts isn't quite sure. But he does believe in the power of religion, and he used to pray when things got rough.

One of his most treasured possessions is a lattered piece of paper on which someone has printed an ancient prayer. The paper declares that anyone who repeats the prayer or hears it read or recited or keeps it about their shall "never die a sudden death, nor be drowned in any water, nor shall poison take any effect on them, nor shall they fall into the hands of their enemies, nor be overpowered in any battle."

Sergeant Roberts still keeps the old prayer with him wherever he goes. Its legend states it was found in the 16th year of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, and in the year 805 was sent from the Pope to the Emperor Charlemagne when he was going to battle, for his safety.

Looking back, Sergeant Roberts says: "A man's got to believe in something." And he put the piece of paper with its message of faith back into his pocket.

AWARDED . . . Major Alfred M. Saunders, Prairie City, Oregon, of 1st Student Battalion, The School Brigade, was awarded a Certificate of Achievement May 28 for outstanding performance as S-3 of the Seine Area Command, Paris, France.

Roberts also received the second and third Oak Leaf Clusters to the Purple Heart.

I May Be Wrong, But . . .

Can Star Inherit Babe's Mantle?

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
BAYONET SPORTS EDITOR

The talk of the American League is centered around one Mickey Charles Mantle, star slugger of the New York Yankees. Mantle started off this year as a great clip, slowed up for a few days, then picked up again and has been the torment of every pitcher in the league. Since the first day Mickey jumped from Class C to the majors, he has had class written all over him. However, there is one question on the lips of many baseball fans. . . . What is Mantle doing this year that he wasn't doing other seasons? To make him so much better now than ever before? Most American League observers say the same thing. It's not what he's doing, it's what he isn't doing any more. He isn't going after the bad pitches. This Speaker summed this situation up the best: "He's not striking out as much as he did before and he's learned not to swing from the heels. In just meeting the ball, he keeps applying more and more power in his swing like a golfer who finally gets the groove and uses his power to its fullest." The New York writers are doing their usual best to try to build Mantle into a Silverman, as far as baseball is concerned. The papers are full of articles on how Mantle will beat Babe Ruth's home run record. The writers are convinced that he has a fighting chance to beat the Babe's record of 59 home runs, set in 1927.

In order to have a chance, the Oklahoma Kid will have to stay in there swinging. His proneness to injury is his most powerful foe. The Babe appeared in 151 games with 50 times at bat, in 1927. He hit 35. Mantle, last year, appeared in 147 games. He was at bat 317 times with 37 home runs. He batted .306. (This was the most games Mantle has ever played in one season.) Actually the most conclusive argument found why

Ware was the top winner in the meet capturing first place in the 100-meter freestyle, 400-meter free style, and 400-meter freestyle.

Trailing far behind were Division soldiers. . . . Ware was the top winner in the meet capturing first place in the 100-meter freestyle, 400-meter free style, and 400-meter freestyle. Ware was the top winner in the meet capturing first place in the 100-meter freestyle, 400-meter free style, and 400-meter freestyle.

Don Brown, Denver University great and holder of some 40 All-American records, also took three first places in the three events he entered. Swimming for the Infantry Center, Brown won the 100-meter backstroke, setting a record with 1:41.7. The 400-meter freestyle was also his, with a time of 4:25.4. The 400-meter free style was also his, with a time of 4:25.4. The 400-meter free style was also his, with a time of 4:25.4.

FIRST AND SECOND PLACES . . . Don Griffin, 30th Infantry Center Command soldier, posted with Don Brown, former University of Denver swimmer, won the 200-meter butterfly. Griffin got off to a fast start on Brown and stayed with him for the first 200 meters. But Brown, holder of over 60 amateur swimming records throughout the country, and an All-American last year, put on the pressure in the last four laps to win easily. Brown also set Infantry Center swimming records in the 100-meter backstroke and the 400-meter individual medley. Griffin won a first in the 200-meter breaststroke to help the 30th ICC run away with honors in the meet.

Williams Whiffs Seventeen

Doughboys Victorious Twice;
Drop Close One to Arsenal, 7-6

Action this past week saw the Fort Benning Doughboys take two games out of three they had played. Both victories were rather decisive wins while the loss was another close one-run game. The initial win came at the hands of Tuskegee (VA Hospital), 11-4. Pitcher Howard Williams was the whole show for the Doughboys. Besides pitching himself a five-inning show, Williams also whiffed 17 batters. This was the second highest number of strikeouts recorded in one game. Tom McGreary's record (Game 22 against the Paris Island Marines) is still the high for this season.

No Errors
This game marks the first time that the Doughboys went through a nine-inning contest without making a single error.

In a two-game series played against Redstone Arsenal over the weekend, the Doughboys found themselves on the short end of a 4-3 score in the first game. Bunting came up with 13 hits and 3 errors (all those errors again) against Redstone's 9 hits and 3 errors.

The Doughboys lead all the way in this ball game until Delroy Padgett's rebound, starting the pitcher weakened in the seventh inning. After leading the bases on two walks and an error, Padgett was relieved by Big John Bernard. Bernard, however, didn't seem to have it this particular day and was promptly greeted with two hits which brought in three runs that tied the score, 6-6.

Winning Run
Redstone Arsenal scored the winning run in the last of the ninth on a walk, an error by Holland, the first baseman, and a hit by Smith.

The Doughboys got revenge in the second game of the two-game series with Redstone Arsenal by soundly trouncing them, 12-5. Bill Storace was all the way for Benning allowing only six hits.

Chuck Selma's Single, steal of second base and error by Redstone.

Doughboy League

Homers Spark League Action

Home runs seem to be an everyday occurrence in the Youth Activities Doughboys' Baseball League. This past week four electric clouts were blasted, three of them by the same ball club.

Al Hendrickson, Tex Osburn and Mike Mohay contributed a round tripper, a home run and the Redstone to a 9-0 victory over the Green Wave ball club.

The other home run was a grand slam-homer by Tex Garnhart as he led the Braves to an 11-10 victory over the Youth Activities.

Other scores follow:

Braves	11	10
Green Wave	9	0
Paris Island	7	6
Doughboys	12	5
Redstone	6	6

12 Golfers Tee Off Today To Start TIC Golf Tourney

Twelve Fort Benning golfers will open play today for the Infantry Center Championship Golf Tourney. Winner of the 75-hole match play competition will be named the Infantry Center champion and will head the team to represent the post at the Third Army tournament scheduled for Fort Belvoir, N. C., July 9-10 through July 4. The next low scorers will join the winner in making up the Fort Benning team.

The players will fire 12 holes daily through Sunday to determine the winner and team members.

Six officers, one Warrant Officer and five enlisted men will compete in the Open Division for the championship title and the right to play in the Third Army tournament. They are survivors from a 5-hole match play test during May.

Leading the list are Lt. Tony Baker, captain winner of the Infantry Center tournament, Master Specialist Paul Waddy, one of the longest hitters on the post; Captain Cyril Roberts, a recent high flier in the Southeastern tournament played at Columbus; and PFC Dwight Weir, another championship qualifier in the Southeastern tournament.

Others listed for play include: SFC John Brown, PFC Peter Welland; Lt. William Giese; Lt. James Walter; Cpl. John Peary; PFC Howard Holbrook; Major Roy Turgeon and CWO Arthur

Sgt. Myles Brown State Champ, Wins Smallbore Rifle Matches

Sgt. Myles G. Brown scored the highest grand aggregate to become Georgia State champion in the 300-yard Smallbore Rifle Match at Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club Sunday.

The 300-yard Smallbore Rifle Match is the Army Advanced Marksmanship Division's highest marksmanship honor. Sgt. Brown, a member of the 30th Infantry Center Rifle and Pistol Club, followed by John E. Roth.

The Georgia State Championship consisted of 11 matches. The first four were shot with metallic sights and match five was an aggregate of one through four. Any shot was employed on matches six through nine and match 10 was an aggregate of the four matches preceding it. Match 11 was an aggregate of five and 11.

Sgt. Brown recorded the top 200 events with his success. He was second in the metallic sight competition. The sergeant has won three regionals in a row, coming out on top in the Hawaiian big and smallbore matches in 1955 and the smallbore in 1956.

22 Golfers Tee Off Today To Start TIC Golf Tourney

In addition to the open division six players will fight it out in the seniors' division (over 45 years of age). Two seniors will make the trip to Fort Bragg.

Seniors scheduled to play: Major Donald Bond, M-Sgt. Harvey L. McKinney, Brig. Gen. (ret.) G. S. Stealy, Col. Black, Capt. CWO. Wade Hampton, and CWO George Van Wie.

Kao Fled From Reds in China, He's Now Private in U. S. Army

The thunder of Communist guns on the outskirts of the city was sounding the doom of Shanghai when the Kao family fled empty-handed before the oncoming Red deluge.

Pvt. Victor Kao, now of the 57th Engineer Battalion, Ft. Benning, Ga., was only 15 years old in 1949 when he and his family joined the hundreds of refugees who abandoned their homes and possessions to the Reds.

Pvt. Kao was born in Shanghai, where his father was in the import-export business, and his contacts brought him under Western influence.

Consequently, Victor, his brother and two sisters were sent to mission schools in Shanghai. His first school was a Presbyterian Mission School named McTear's. Since this was coeducational only through the sixth grade, he transferred to St. Francis Xavier's College for Junior High School. He then went to St. John's Middle School and finished high school where he was interned in a concentration camp until liberated at the end of the war. Victor often went to visit his former teachers when the Kao family fled empty-handed before the oncoming Red deluge.

The Japanese occupied was a time of suffering and privation. Starving children fought feebly for garbage or died miserably beside the road.

Curfew was rigidly enforced, and those fortunate enough to be found on the streets at night were usually found there the next day by searching relatives and sorrowfully buried.

To the Kao's, who were not among the poverty-stricken masses, one of the problems of the Japanese occupation was the depreciation and fluctuation of the currency. Money became so insecure that even well-to-do business men were forced to barter for the necessities of life.

Liberation finally came to Shanghai and with it came the confusion of an unstable government. But life became more nearly normal and the schools reopened. Food was easier to obtain and European influences returned. However, the currency situation still remained a problem.

Not long after Pvt. Kao finished high school, his family fled to Hongkong. Hongkong was bursting with refugees and the one university in the city could accommodate no more students.

Education meant much to the Kao's, and after long and regretful consideration, it was decided that those members whose education could not be furthered in China must come to America.

So, in September 1949, Kao, his brother Peter and his sister Lucy came to the United States. Victor and Peter entered the University of Vermont. Lucy obtained a position with the Baptist Home Missionary Home Office in New York City.

One year later, Pvt. Kao entered the Lowell Technological Institute in Lowell, Mass., graduating in 1955 with a Master's degree in Textile Engineering. He worked with several textile firms, getting acquainted with jobs and methods, until he was drafted in Feb. 1956.

His parents in Hongkong, alone since Lily came to America in 1951 to attend a teacher's college in Boston, set no goal for immigration to the United States.

In Unique Position

Meanwhile, Pvt. Kao, his brother and two sisters are in a unique position. They are present in the United States with no status, since they entered as students. The Reds have taken over all of China, and they cannot be deported to a Communist country against their wishes.

They are not sorry about the situation. Staying here is exactly what they want to do.

Pvt. Kao says that the United States is wonderful. He complains that when he first got here he found it impossible to distinguish individuals. "They all looked alike to me," he says. "It took me weeks before I could tell them apart."

His chief impression of the country is of the beauty of the suburbs of our cities. Coming from cities where the environs are made up of millions of people living in indescribable poverty and squalor, he was almost poetic about the outskirts of the great American centers of population.

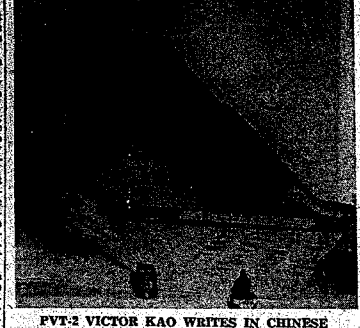

"The little houses, so clean and bright, the wide streets, the gardens open for all to see; they are unbelievably lovely. When I am finished with the Army, I will go back to engineering. Then some day perhaps I will have such a clean, pretty home and a garden without a high fence around it."

These were not the happy carefree times usually associated with school days. When Pvt. Kao was just five years old, the Japanese invaded China and occupied Shanghai. He doesn't remember very much about those days, but the bombing of the city before its occupation is a vivid recollection.

Victor's severe measles began, when World War II began, the Japanese who were interned in possession of the city took severe measures with Allied personnel.

The McTear Mission School was taken over as a barracks and ceased to function. St. Francis Xavier's College, where Victor was going at the time, continued in operation since it was run by Catholic fathers and brothers, many of whom were forced to discontinue the teaching of English, substituting Japanese for it.

Allied teachers of the mission school and finished high school were interned in a concentration camp until liberated at the end of the war. Victor often went to visit his former teachers when the Kao family fled empty-handed before the oncoming Red deluge.

Annual Firing Drill Held by Local NG

National Guardsmen of Columbus and Phenix City sharpened their shooting eyes Sunday in an annual firing drill on Fort Benning ranges.

The 560th Armored Engineer Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Ernest W. Higgins of Columbus, fired cross-armed weapons on English, Red Cloud, Galloway and Dianna Ranges.

Approximately 324 men and officers of the 560th unit of the Georgia National Guard, attended the weekend drill.

Phenix City's 10th Ordnance Company (Direct Support) of the Alabama National Guard fired carbines originally from Dunwoody, Ga. Sgt. C. E. Smith, Ala., is commander of the 10th.

Re-enlist

Three members of Company C, 57th Engineer Battalion (Construction) have taken another stride in furthering their Army career. Re-enlisting for six years are Sgt. Eugene C. Lacy, Co. C's senior welder, of Leesburg, Florida, and SFC Rush Cochran, assistant motor sergeant, originally from Dunwoody, Ala. Sgt. W. D. Dyalis, who re-enlisted for three years, is a heavy equipment operator and hauls from Waycross, Ga. Recruitment sergeant for the trio was Capt. Robert T. Watt, 1st Engineer Group (Combat).

Children's School Honors Students

Outstanding students of the Fort Benning Children's School were recognized at an honors and award program last week in Faith School Auditorium.

Mary Lynne Stephenson, 13-year-old daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry W. Stephenson, Jr., of Austin, Texas, received the annual activities award. Cited for leadership, self-reliance, acceptance of responsibility and good citizenship, she was presented an engraved silver necklace by Mrs. Hazel Scudder of Lexington, Ky., school superintendent.

The eighth grader served as editor of The Bugle, school newspaper, and president of Faith School Student Council. She won the 1956 Americanism contest sponsored by the Senators and achieved second-highest scholastic honors in the graduating class.

Gold trophies were awarded Gold Field Medal recipients. Six girls in fourth through eighth grade participated in 18 field events, working with their own age level. Marlene is the daughter of Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. C. F. Lester of Phenix City, Ala., and Ray is the son of SFC and Mrs. Joe Lester, St. C. Faith School.

CHECKS AWARDED... Lt. Col. Edwin N. Edris of High Springs, Fla., president of the Fort Benning Children's School Council, looks at engraved bracelets awarded honor students Margaret Leonard, left, and Mary Lynne Stephenson at graduation ceremonies for 68 eighth graders at Faith School June 4. Margaret, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Charles F. Leonard Jr. of St. Petersburg, Fla., earned top scholastic honors, and Mary Lynne, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry W. Stephenson, Jr., of Austin, Texas, was second place honor student.

Major Barrett M. Weaver of Tampa, Fla., school officer, awarded engraved plaques for basketball and volleyball championships to Mrs. Ardith Carmichael's eighth grade and for the baseball championships to Charles R. Goodrum's eighth grade.

Accepts Awards

Joseph E. Fleish, captain of the Bus Pair, accepted certificates for the group's 29 members. Thirty-one Junior Red Cross representatives, headed by Bobby Wiseman, president, were introduced. Council president of the year was Dianne Stevenson and Emily Dial, Gates Terrace School, John Finn, Lynn Station, and Tina Russell, Main Post school, and Mary Lynne Stephenson, Faith School, eighth graders.

Master of Ceremonies Lester R. Herman, Jr., of Fayetteville, St. C. Faith School principal, served as master of ceremonies.

The Children's School Band under the direction of Emile E. Watson of Columbus, Ohio, played three selections. Two square dances were performed by a group of fourth and fifth grad students. Miss Sue Wilkins of Memphis, Tenn., girls' physical education instructor, served as caller.

OC JOHN E. MURRAY JR.

Skiing Stuntman Enjoys Skis-Less Water Skiing

Skis-less skiing, or barefoot skiing, as it is called, is a feat accomplished by few, even the experts.

But Officer Candidate John E. Murray Jr., of the 3rd Officer Candidate School, The School Brigade, accomplished this stunt and others while he was an instructor at the Sunapee Water Ski School, Lake Sunapee, N. H.

The skier, barefoot, holds the slack rope, and when the tow-boat has reached sufficient speed, usually more than 35 miles an hour, the rope becomes taut, the skier starts with an enormous jerk, and is tossed without skis.

Feet Get Numb

His bare feet become numb. It is difficult to breathe as the spray comes directly into his face. He must turn his head from side to side to get enough air.

OC Murray was an instructor in water skiing at Sunapee for two summers before he entered the Army.

He has given lessons to eager beginners from three to 64 years old, and boasts that he has never had a failure.

Star-Performer

OC Murray was a star performer in seven of the 15 acts in the show presented weekly for the summer residents and guests of the large hotels around Lake Sunapee. He participated in trick riding, double canyons, breath-taking jumping, pyramids and the seemingly impossible barefoot skiing.

His most rewarding experience as an instructor was teaching a "19-year-old" crippled boy to ski.

SHOW BIZ

(AFPS Weekly Feature)

TV casualties continue to pile up, and as usual, the spot of comedy has been smacked hardest right in the funpyones.

Martha Ray has "had enough" and says she'll cut her hair to at least a year. Dillo one-time comedy-king Milton Berle, and the veteran big-nosed clown Jimmy Durante.

Felicia Farr is a welcome addition to the Columbia Pictures lot. The gal has a traffic - stopping figure that attracts a lot of wolf - whistling. Actor Myra Ruthraff's mink just can't escape the mauling - even as a civilian. He's been a military man in no less than six shows.

A good many things get accused away, but William Holden gave up a most unusual item recently. He got a mustache he grew for the movie "The Proud and Profane," to be sold as part of the Old Newspaper-Day cerebral party fund in Atlanta, Ga. The mustache will probably tickle the purchaser no end.

Army veteran Alan King, author of two songs, "On Bended Knee" and "Rockin' Time," says he owes a great deal of his success to the Army. King, who appeared on the now defunct "Soldier Parade," said "I'm personally very thankful to the Army."

Columnist-commentator Walter Winchell may host a new MGM tele-series titled "Crime Does Not Pay." WW says he's very interested in starring on it. At the same time he laughingly disclaimed any idea of appearing opposite Ed Sullivan on Sunday nights for NBC.

National Safety Council has declared a national "traffic emergency" as a result of the worst March highway death toll in history. March dead numbered 2980 - 12 per cent more than in March, 1955. Figure tops the all-time March high, 2885 deaths in 1937. It is the 13th consecutive month in which traffic deaths have mounted.

Robinson Assumes Duties As Commander of Hospital

Col. Albert H. Robinson of Hope, Ark., has assumed the duties of commander of Fort Benning's U.S. Army Hospital.

Col. Edwin W. Hakala of Virginia, Minn., chief of Orthopedic Service, has served as hospital administrator since the departure of Col. Norman E. Wiley of East Shreveport, La., in March to become supervisor of the Georgia Hospital at Ancon, Canal Zone.

Col. Robinson has commanded the 8th General Hospital and Sixth Convalescent Center at Neubrueck, Germany, for the last three years. Previously he headed the Camp Pickett, Va., hospital from February, 1951, to April, 1953.

MD. From Baylor University at Waco, Texas, in 1939. He entered the Army Medical Corps that year and interned at Brooke Army Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

During World War II, Col. Robinson served 30 months in the North African and European Theaters. He landed in North Africa in 1943 with the Western Task Force and on Corsica was captured by the Germans.

Deputy surgeon of Seventh Army in Italy, he landed in Southern France in 1944 and accompanied Seventh Army into Augsburg, Germany.

Col. Robinson commanded Madigan Army Hospital, Fort Lewis, Wash. for a year beginning in August, 1945, and was the hospital's chief of Medical Services for

Bakken Gets TIC Award

Col. Clarence J. Bakken of Denver, Colo., who retired at Fort Benning in 51 after more than 20 years of Army service, has been presented an Infantry Center Certificate of achievement.

Col. Bakken will enter the University of Denver June 17 to complete work for a masters degree in education.

He was cited for meritorious service as assistant inspector general of the Infantry Center from September, 1953, until his retirement.

The citation read in part: "Col. Bakken brought to bear in his assignment an extensive professional knowledge of his field of operations and qualities of keen insight and human understanding. He was assigned as chief of operations and enhancing the Boy Scouts of America program in the civilian community.

The certificate was presented by Col. Richard J. Jones of Hollywood, Calif., Infantry Center inspector general, on behalf of Major Gen. George E. Lynch, TIC Commandant.

Col. Bakken received a bachelor of science degree in education from the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis in 1927. He was awarded a bachelor of law degree by the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, the preceding year.

Col. and Mrs. Bakken, the former Mrs. Kathryn Rose Bradley of San Antonio, Texas, have two children, Albert Jr., 25, of Philadelphia, and Bettie Lou, 17.

Maj. Glaser Speaks To Georgia Rotary Club

Major Robert D. Glaser of Lakewood, Ohio, Leadership Council, was instructor in The Infantry School's Staff Department at Fort Benning, will address the West Georgia Rotary Club today.

He will speak on leadership at 12:30 p.m. in the general Taylor Hotel.

A combat veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, Major Glaser's decorations include the Silver Star, Bronze Star Medal, Purple Heart and the French Croix de Guerre. In 1953 he commanded the First Battalion, Third Infantry Regiment, in President Dwight D. Eisenhower's inaugural parade.

 Bronze Star Medal with V-Device, and the Purple Heart.
 As a master parachutist, the colonel has more than 20 successful jumps to his credit. Prior to his ROTC assignment he was executive officer of the Joint U.S. Military Advisory Group in the Philippines.
 Col. Kreiberg, who also received his commission via ROTC, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he was a member of three honorary societies, Phi Beta Kappa, Lambda Psi and Phi Alpha Theta.
 He served in Europe with the Third Infantry Division and was awarded the Bronze Star Medal, Legion of Merit and Purple Heart.
 He also holds the Italian Cross for Military Valor. Col. Kreiberg has been associate professor of military science and tactics at the University of Florida since September, 1955.
 Col. Duda, also an ROTC graduate, received his commission upon graduation from Ohio State University in 1939. During World War II he served with the 90th Infantry Division and later was the U.S. instructor to the British Staff College at Camberly, England.

 According to Col. Battomy, the summer ROTC training will be the same as that of any training unit under field conditions, with strong emphasis on leadership.
 "It's our responsibility," he said, "to determine whether the cadet possesses the necessary initiative and ability demanded by the Army to carry out his mission, regardless of the branch in which he may be commissioned."
 Colleges and universities to be represented at the camp are: Florence, Ala., State Teachers College, Jacksonville, Fla., State Teachers, University of Alabama at Tusculoosa, Tuskegee (Ala.) ## Surprise Parcels Routine Job for 29th Mail Clerks

BY SP3 ROBERT SHEA
 When a member of the ROTC Regiment received a live surprise, these were the men who spent the 29th's Regimental Mail Room.
 They've seen everything. From 90-pound encyclopedias to a basket of grapes, the clerks of the Regimental mail room handle whatever comes their way with calm and composure. Their cool attitude is exemplified in the words of SP3 Wilmer Chase, who says, "I don't see a thing odd about a basket of grapes."
 A similar untruffled efficiency characterizes the way in which Sergeant John Gordon, NCO in charge of the mail room, Pfc. Joseph China, and Sgt. Chase handle whatever comes their way with calm and composure. Their cool attitude is exemplified in the words of SP3 Wilmer Chase, who says, "I don't see a thing odd about a basket of grapes."

Chase handle whatever comes their way with calm and composure. Their cool attitude is exemplified in the words of SP3 Wilmer Chase, who says, "I don't see a thing odd about a basket of grapes."
 As a rule, but not always. Why not always? The answer is that is one of the mail clerks' chief gripes. . . . Inaccurate or incomplete addressing.
 "Sometimes," said Sgt. Gordon, "a man changes units and doesn't tell his folks about it. Then he wonders why their letters take a long time getting to him."
 There are other times when the fault is with the person addressing the envelope. "We have 27 men named Smith in the regiment," says Pfc. China. "What can you do with a letter addressed to J. Smith, Ft. Benning, Ga.?"
 Out of the thousand letters that come into the Regiment and its attached units every day, about 100 must go back to Post Locales because the entrusted man to which the letter is addressed can't be found.
 "I was told the mail clerks delivered all the mail to the regimental mail room twice a day at company mail clerks, and at other edibles, bits of which leak out all over the mail room to the annoyance of all concerned. "We just send the mess on to whomever it's addressed to," says Chase. "We like to get things like that out of here as fast as we can. Why can't people learn to wrap packages carefully?"

"We just send the mess on to whomever it's addressed to," says Chase. "We like to get things like that out of here as fast as we can. Why can't people learn to wrap packages carefully?"
 The statistics on outgoing mail don't receive as much as they think they should. One thousand letters a day are sent to members of the Regiment, but letters sent out by the 29th total only one-fourth that much!

COL. G. V. SOTTONG

Col. Sottong Named to STC

Colonel George V. Sottong has been named to succeed as chief of staff of the Special Troops Command.
 He entered the Army from New York in 1927 and has served ever since, including duty with the 3rd, 6th and 10th Cavalry as lieutenant, captain and major. A graduate of the Command and General Staff College, he was chosen to take the post graduate course upon graduation. The colonel served in North Africa and Europe during World War II.
 While in North Africa, Col. Sottong served as chief of personnel and later as deputy assistant chief of staff, G-1, on the general staff of both General Eisenhower and General Devere.
 At the end of World War II, he was assigned as military governor of the Land Baden, in the U.S. Zone, Germany, and later Inspector general for all Military Government under the 7th U.S. Army.
 During the two months tour which began June 9, the second classmen are receiving basic instruction in the roles, missions, organizations, functions and developments of the Navy and Air Force, as well as participating in practical field instruction and exercises of the Army combined arms team, primarily on the platoon and company level. They also will receive orientation on Army aviation and certain Army technical services.
 Prior to coming to Fort Benning, the cadets will have visited the Norfolk, Va., area, Fort Custis, and Fort Lee, Va., and Fort Rucker, Ala. They will proceed from Fort Benning to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., Fort Belvoir, Va., and Fort Monmouth, N. J., ending the tour July 26.
Two Named to Co A
 Two names were added to the roster of Company A, 1st Special Troops Battalion on June 13, with the assignment of SP3 Jesse Harper and Pvt 2 James Bequette.
 Specialist Harper, a heavy vehicle driver, is a native of Greenville, Mississippi. He has been in the Army since November 29, 1951. Pvt. Bequette comes from Crystal City, Missouri. He entered the Army March 20, 1956 and was assigned to Fort Benning after completing basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.
Whiffs 30 Batters But Loses 6 to 5
 Steve Hamilton, hurling for West Liberty in the Blue Grass Baseball League (Kentucky), struck out 24 men, yet let a 32-inning game, 6-5.
 Ironically, it was William Charles "Whipped Hamlet" and a passed ball gave Irvine the winning rally in the 18th inning.

Brothers Remain Together in Army

From basic training to Fort Benning (with a side trip to Korea) and still together.
 That is the story of SP-3s Roy and Randy Bowden of Atlanta. They started their military service together when they enlisted in the Army in August, 1954. After completing basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C., they were sent to Korea where they were assigned to the 8202nd Army Unit (United Nations Command Military Armistice Commission).
 In February of this year they had the good fortune to meet their father who had just arrived in Korea. This meeting wasn't by chance though. When the senior Bowden received his orders for Korea, his wife wrote to General I. D. White, then Eighth Army Commanding, to see if a meeting could be arranged for the father and sons. It could. When SP-3 W. F. Bowden walked down the gang plank at Incheon both boys were standing there with a big sign which read, "Welcome Dad." An occasion none of them will forget.
 In April of this year, after completing their Korean tour, both boys returned to the United States and were assigned to Company "A", 1st Special Troops Battalion, Special Troops Command. They are working in Communications Center of Post Signal Office.

'Not as a Stranger' Treatment Shown Greek Major in Classes

A quiet spoken Greek desert raider maintains that attending Infantry School classes at Fort Benning is one of the most enlightening experiences of his military career.

The son of a prominent Greek educator, Major Ionis Souravlas (Ions means John in Greek) is a student in associate officers advanced class No. 4.

"I do not feel as a stranger in my country and that's what my assignment here has taught me a great deal about the American people as well as fellow Allied officers," said the former combat soldier.

Major Souravlas not only maintains a high academic average, but also has become acquainted with the Southland through trips to surrounding communities and visits to local civic clubs.

Besides English and Greek, he speaks French, Egyptian and Bulgarian . . . all of which he learned while fighting with Allied forces during an accomplished career that began when he joined the Army in 1938.

Shortly after he enlisted, he was sent to the Greek Military Academy where he completed only one year before Greece was occupied by German and Italian troops who closed the institution.

The country was placed under complete control of invading forces but Major Souravlas managed to escape to Turkey after paying a fisherman to take him across the Aegean Sea.

Goes Back to Greece

In 1943, he went back to his native war-torn country as a first lieutenant and was called into combat again as a company commander in Turkey after paying a fisherman to take over the Greek government.

He was wounded when an enemy mine exploded where he was standing and taken to a military hospital. His only brother, a captain in the Greek Army, was killed in the same campaign.

In 1949, despite the fact he never completed his studies at the Greek Military Academy, he was promoted to captain and assigned as plans and operations officer of a brigade staff in Greece until 1950.

Several administrative assignments were obtained by a battalion commander's job which he held until he came to The Infantry School.

18 Weeks of Work

The associate advanced class, which began May 7, is receiving 18 weeks of instruction in U. S. Infantry weapons tactics, communications and automotive, staff and airborne-Army aviation subjects.

Major Souravlas is engaged to a young woman who works with the Joint U. S. Military Advisory Mission in Greece. They plan to be married in September.

And someday, when all the outposts are ended and my duties as a soldier are finished, I would like to settle down by the sea in peace," he said.

However, the busy Allied officer is far from retiring at Fort Benning, where he is a favorite among students who make him feel at home on the huge reservation.

PFC HARRY BLEVINS AND HIS CIRCLE A WRANGLERS

FINAL CHECK . . . Checking over classroom lessons with Major Ionis Souravlas, seated, Greek student at Fort Benning's Infantry School, is a U. S. Army instructor who helps the Allied officer double check notes he took during a leadership lecture. The instructor is Major Robert D. Glaser of Lakewood, Ohio.

The two have become close friends among students who make him feel at home on the huge reservation.

Enjoys Atlanta Visit

Shopping tours, swimming in the pool at the Main Officers Open Mess and U. S. movies are highlights of his off-duty hours. He smilingly admitted that a recent trip to Atlanta (Ga.) fulfilled a long time ambition to see the famous Peachtree Street which he remembers from the movie "Gone With the Wind" many years ago, but he hopes to show my country first the U. S. Army terms its lessons at Fort Benning's Infantry School, he concluded.

First Graders Hold Picnic

The first gathering of master sergeants from major units of the Infantry Center and the 3rd Division was held June 10.

An outing consisting of a picnic, boating, and swimming was held at Kennelicut Lake, Ala. This was followed by an open meeting at which discussion of future good affairs and nominations of representatives from each major command to study the feasibility of forming a First Graders Club was held.

The following Master Sergeants were nominated to represent their units and may be called for further information:

M-Sgt. Andrew J. Hardpan, The School Brigade 29166
M-Sgt. Howard E. Coleman, Spc-

cial Troops Command 5-3102
M-Sgt. Robert E. Shabady, 29th RCT 2-4129
M-Sgt. Henry Q. Dunn, Lawson Army Air Field Command 3-6147
M-Sgt. Richard T. Rossmagel, 54th Medical Group 3-4151
M-Sgt. Bob Dynczenski, Board No. 3 3-3213
M-Sgt. William J. Kenna, 30th ICG 2-1111
M-Sgt. James C. Powell, U.S. Army Hospital 3-3202
M-Sgt. R. H. Jones, 15th ICG 7-1174
M-Sgt. Hal F. Humphrey, Division Artillery 7-1253
M-Sgt. Edgar W. Eggers, Support Command 3-3229.

Gen. Lynch Sees 29th RCT Parade

Marching proudly under the eyes of Major General George E. Lynch, 21C Commanding General, who began his military career with the 29th Infantry Regiment, the 29th Regimental Combat Team celebrated the Army's 181st birthday on June 24.

The parade took place during a brief spell of clear weather between two downpours that drenched Fort Benning last Thursday.

Despite the rain over a hundred guests observed from the grandstand on the 29th parade ground as approximately 3600 men conducted a Retreat parade lasting 45 minutes. The ceremonies included the reading of the Resolution of the continental Congress of June 14, 1775, which established the United States Army.

In addition to General Lynch, whose first assignment in 1929, upon his graduation from West Point was with the 29th, guests included Colonel Joseph W. Sison, who will assume command of the 29th as of July 19.

How Honest Can One Man Get?

FORGET BENJAMIN HARRISON. He was a soldier, so honest that he's willing to put temptation in the way of others, mailed a hundred dollar bill to the Army Finance Center here?

Postmarked from Litcher, La., the note said the money was for an overpayment received when serving in the Armed Forces.

For years the money will rest in the hands of the Army.

The problem may work itself out. If "Mr. Anonymous" is an Army veteran and actually was overpaid, he may in due course get a "duane" notice from the Finance Center auditor.

Ex-Philippine Scout Now Labor Foreman in School Brigade Unit

"The Philippine Scouts were among the first units in action after Pearl Harbor," says Sfc. Mateo Medina, of Hq. and Hq. Company, The School Brigade.

Sfc. Medina was born in the town of Balangue on the island of Luzon. He spent his childhood there, and attended the public schools through the eighth grade.

At Neta Vizcaya, still on Luzon, he joined a band of guerrillas and remained with them until he was unfortunately captured, again, and again placed in a prison compound.

He remembered the Police and Maintenance Shop, The School Brigade, as a labor foreman. The time he spent with his sister while Luzon was under Japanese domination does not count for his citizenship, so he still lacks a citizenship card.

Asbury and Benner Win Titles As All-Army Matches End Here

BY JAY ADELMAN
 Capt. John H. Asbury, M-Sgt. Huelet Joe Benner, Third Army and Sixth Army Blue teams were the biggest names in the biggest All-Army Rifle and Pistol Championships ever staged here.
 The matches ran from June 11-20. Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander of Continental Army Command, was scheduled to present awards yesterday. CONARC sponsored the matches.
 Capt. Asbury, from Fort Bragg and Third Army, was the primary gun in 21 rifle events. Benner continued his winning ways by dominating the 20 pistol matches.
 Capt. Asbury, who fired several "possibles" in individual events, was All-Army Individual Service Rifle Champion with a grand aggregate for seven matches of 865-26V.
 Sgt. Benner retained his All-Army Individual Aggregate Championship, shooting 2633 for a grand aggregate in the 22, center fire and 45 caliber competitions.
 The Third Army Blues were best in the All-Army Pistol Team title and the Sixth Army Golds actually took All-Army Rifle Team titles.

 The matches represented an all-time best in All-Army events," said Lt. Col. Richard H. Smock, match executive officer for the third straight year.
 Benner fired shot well enough to dominate many of the veterans. Runner-up to Capt. Asbury in the Service Rifle aggregate was Sgt. John Mooney, a new competitor from Sixth Army. He fired 833-59V.
 The third place medal went to M-Sgt. Justin J. Cervenko of U.S. Army, Pacific, recording a score of 833-51V.
 Benner was 30 points better than the runner-up, 1st Lt. David Miller of Fourth Army, who shot 2373. Lt. Col. William A. Hancock of the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit was third with 2370.
 In winning the pistol team award, the Third Army Blues, firing 1116 in the National Match Course, finished eight point higher than the First Army Blues. In third place was the Third Army Red Team, with 1107.
 Members of the winning squad were 1st Lt. David Cortes, M-Sgt. Roy Ratliff, Capt. Jack F. Kettler and Capt. Joseph Gregory. Major Harrison H. Holland served as team captain and M-Sgt. John Baker was coach.

 The Sixth Army Golds, unofficial All-Army rifle team winners, fired 1464, by the First Army A squad, 1462.
 Sgt. William Blankenship of First Army, firing 238, tied Lt. Miller's record for the National Trophy Individual Pistol Match Course for credit toward Distinguished Pistolman, M-Sgt. James C. Davis of Fort Benning and Third Army was second and SFC Laurence E. Moody, U.S. Army, Europe, finished third. Both shot 236, but the tie-breaking process found Sgt. Davis the winner.
 CWO Coats Brown of Third Army, shooting 243-23V, scored just below Asbury in firing of the National Match Course for credit toward Distinguished Rifleman. The captain scored 243-19V. In third spot was First Lt. Herbert E. Voelcker of First Army, with 241-17V.
 First Army's Blues and Third Army's Blues came out on top in two pistol pistol events Saturday. (Please See Matches, Page 13)

ALL-ARMY RIFLEMAN . . . Capt. John H. Asbury of the 3rd Army Rifle team holds the rifle that he used to win the All Army Individual Service Rifle Championship at Fort Benning Saturday. Capt. Asbury's score of 865 was well ahead of runner-up Sgt. John Mooney, 6th Army, who fired 853.

Starts Tomorrow Post Aquamen Entered in LaGrange Contest

A 14-man Infantry Center swimming entourage, anxious to develop into a major Third Army title threat, travels to LaGrange tomorrow for the two-day Ga. AAU Swim Meet June 22-23.
 The squad will consist of virtually the same personnel due to compete in the Albany, Ga., Aquatics July 27 and the Third Army meet here July 27.
 Coach Don Brown expects the major threat in this week end's activities to come from the Cincinnati squad.
 "Their team consists of many men who are about to swim or have just finished swimming for Ohio State," he said. "The Cincinnati team, sponsored by Coca-Cola, likes to take in many meets as it can. I look for us to come in anywhere from first to third place."
 First Place Material
 Lt. Brown cited many of his tankmen as first place material and added that his latest workouts at the Briant Wells pool revolve around developing team depth.
 Brown, former University of Denver All-American, is the squad's standout. He will enter the 200-meter backstroke and 400-meter individual medley events.
 "He has a very good and temporarily hampered his swimming progress has on a clear up completely and he feels he is in fine condition."
 Pete Quimette and Don Enos, the Rhode Island duo counted on to boost this year's squad, also will be included in the trip. Outlets, an all-American at Central High School in Providence, will compete in the 100-yard freestyle.

Jay's Journey In Sports

BY JAY ADELMAN
 The revitalized Doughboys lost a bit of their vitality last week, but it now looks as though the young man they are minus may lead to a couple of pluck "pluses."
 Ray Murawski, the squad's most dependable hitter and fielder, has switched uniforms and is now in the garb of Fort McPherson. The center fielder went to the Home of Baseball Champions on a compassionate transfer to be closer to home at the Cleveland Indians' chain.
 Ray, a native of Chicago, should prove perfect for filling the gardener's spot vacated by Joe Fuller, who by now is off to bigger and better things as a member of the Cleveland Indians' chain.
 There's an interesting sidelight to all this. Know who that leaves on the Doughboys' best stick? He's an admit, strong-armed lefty named Tom McGroarty—the same Terrifying Tom who is so often cited for his rapid-fire stricken work.
