 Tom may provide a couple of problems for Coach Jim Murray and his squad. It's just possible that he will be worked into the first baseman's slot in the line-up, allowing Rufus Holland, whose big has sent many runners home this season, to return to the spot where he is sure to feel more at home—the outfield.
 Hitting Stars
 Both McGroarty and Holland are slingers who are sorely needed in every game. Rufus, a left-handed batter, has hit safely in the last 12 games. McGroarty, of course, would take time out from his first base chores, if the change is made, to continue racking up his long line of whites.
 Add to this interesting possibility the improved playing of 17-year-old Dick "Junior" Renda, an accomplished shortstop who is rapidly gaining confidence with the stick, and you have what still could materialize into a team that won't be a pushover for anybody.
 What is more, the two biggest problems are rapidly clearing up. The recent showings of Jamie Padgett and Howard Williams prove the Doughboys have a little extra luster to back up McGroarty on the mound staff. Best of all, though, after the team's poor showing against Fort Mac, the number of errors has gone down, down, down.
 Summing up the situation—
 Exit Mr. Murawski; enter a couple of fascinating solutions to some problems that were seemingly impossible to solve.
 The easiest way to lose a ballgame is to field the wrong player in the wrong place. Maybe that's why I welcome the opportunity to help Walter Alston and Casey Stengel choose the National and American leagues' All-Star teams. I doubt that there's a baseball fan around who doesn't think he or she is capable of making all the right selections.
 Elsewhere in this BAYONET's sports pages, you'll find an All-Star Game ballot. Don't be afraid to use it. Entries must be postmarked by midnight tomorrow. It doesn't take long to fill out a form. All you need is a scissor, a pencil, an envelope, a stamp and enough newspapers to tell you who's doing what and how well.
 My favorite "Dream Game" by the way, was when Ted Williams had his field day against Rip Sewell's "epitaph" pitch.
 In two weeks, I'll reveal my selections for this year's All-Star squads. The game will be played July 10. Next week Tom Wierschick will name his preferences. I'd rather fight a defensive battle.
 It's doubtful that any champion in his field can surpass Joe Benner on and off the field.
 Benner, the world's greatest plumb shot, possesses a contagious friendliness. He's the type you just cannot think of as having any bad traits.
 He avoids all talk of himself, choosing to praise the younger shooters. Joe particularly likes to speak about his West Point pistol team, which will be competing in the Nationals this year for the first time since 1925. Plenty of the competitors in this year's All-Army matches are former pupils of the marksmanship professor. It's doubtful that any rifeman or pistoleer along the firing lines doesn't know the firing

Ranger Class Graduates 58

Fifty-eight students of the Infantry School's Ranger course, the Army's toughest training, will graduate at Fort Benning today.

Ranger class No. 10 will bear an address at 11 a.m. by Col. Rollin B. Durbin of St. Louis, Mo., director of The Infantry School's Communications Department, who also will present diplomas.

The exercises will take place in Building C of the Harmony Church area. Chaplain (Major) William C. Ford of Rochester, N. Y., will give the invocation.

Col. John J. Dalton of Manassas, N.Y., director of The Infantry School's Ranger Department, will make opening remarks and introduce Col. Dalton.

During the rugged seven-week Ranger course, students participate in classes at Fort Benning, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where jungle warfare is taught, and in the mountains of North Georgia, near Dillsboro, where mountain-style fighting is the subject of study.

YAC'tivities Group Plans Gala Carnival

The Youth Activities Club of Fort Benning is preparing to stage a gay, glittering Fourth of July Carnival on the post this year.

Plans were announced this week for a family-style Independence Day Program free to all military personnel, civilian employees and their dependents.

The carnival will take place on Blue and French Fields, according to Lt. Col. Oscar P. Davis of the Infantry School's Airborne Army Aviation Department, project officer. Activities will include a Junior Jump Tower—a platted version of the 34-foot tower used by student paratroopers—band concerts, scout dog demonstrations, refreshments and a dramatic fireworks display after dark.

Col. Davis of Tucson, Ariz., said the program should benefit current Fort Benning Traffic Safety Campaign by keeping people off the highways during heavy holiday traffic.

The festivities will begin early in the afternoon of the Fourth and continue until the evening. Among the attractions being arranged are a Little League All-Star Game, a soldier show and military demonstrations of tanks, helicopters and other equipment.

Henry of Glenmore, La., lays aside the last textbook for the 27 courses he has taken since being assigned to The Infantry School's Automotive Department at Fort Benning in September, 1953. He earned all credits for a BS degree in secondary education at Fort Benning's Off Campus Center and Athens. A combat veteran of World War II, Major Henry entered the Army in April, 1941.

Top Burmese Visit School

Two top Burmese Army officers arrived at Fort Benning Monday for a three-day visit to observe Infantry School activities.

Col. Maung Maung, director of military training, and Col. Khin Nye, director of Artillery and Armor, are conferring with the acting assistant commandant of The Infantry School, Col. Blair A. Ford, and will be oriented on Infantry School operations this afternoon. They toured Main Post Weapons Pool, the Antinative and Communications Departments and Training Aids displays and attended a briefing on Ranger training Tuesday preceding a demonstration of field artillery communication and control of fire.

Col. Maung and Col. Khin were honored at an official reception and dinner Tuesday evening at the Main Officers' Mess.

3 Receive STC Awards

In observance of the 181st birthday of the U.S. Army, Special Troops Command held a retreat ceremony in the third court on Thursday, June 14th. Awards and presentations were made to members of the command for achievement and outstanding accomplishments.

Colonel Henry M. Zeller, Commanding Officer of STC, presented Captain Rafael H. Ramirez-Acevedo, Commanding Officer of Company "A", 1st Special Troops Battalion, with the Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant for meritorious service from the period of May 8, 1954 to Jan. 15, 1956. During this time Capt. Ramirez served as Supply Officer, Intelligence Officer and Adjutant of the Second Battalion, 7th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division.

Master Sergeant Otilio Mityaynes, Company "B", 1st Special Troops Battalion, received a certificate of achievement for outstanding services rendered while serving as First Sergeant of Service Company, 28th Infantry, 8th and First Sergeant of Service Company, 68th Infantry Regiment, Camp Losy, Puerto Rico, for the period Nov. 8, 1951 to April 9, 1955.

1st Lt. James E. Wall, representing the 20th Ordnance Company (Ammunition Depot), Ordnance Battalion (Provisional), accepted the Minute Man Award for the unit. This award was presented in recognition of the high percentage of personnel participation in the recent U.S. Savings Bond Drive. The Special Troops Company and Drum and Bugle Corps, under the direction of Sgt. Walter M. Bonner, furnished music for the ceremony.

Signal Corps Has Birthday

The 96th anniversary of the U.S. Army Signal Corps today will be celebrated later this week with a review and picnic for Signal personnel at Fort Benning.
The Infantry Center Signal Section has planned an afternoon of fishing, picnicking, square dancing and games Saturday at King's Pond beginning at 3 p.m.
A review will be held by the Third Infantry Division's Signal Battalion tomorrow at 9:15 a.m. at Tiger Field in the Sand Hill Area. It will be followed by a picnic at the Infantry Center Rest Camp for members of the battalion and their families.

Posters of Signal Corps personnel on the post are many and varied. Telephone service is furnished by three automatic telephones exchanges with a capacity of 2,000 lines located on Main Post, Harmony Church and Sand Hill.
Teletype service is provided between Fort Benning and other Army Signal Depots. A Western Union telegraph and cable office is maintained for the convenience of personnel stationed here.

Contact with amateur radio operators all over the world is made by the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS) station, WRTS located on the Main Post and operated by Signal Corps personnel. Informal greetings and messages are transmitted and received to and from service men overseas and their families at home.

The Signal Section operates a Signal Supply service at Fort Benning which requisitions, stores and issues all signal equipment and maintenance parts required by troops stationed here. Two large warehouses are required.

Repair Shops
The Signal Section Repair Shops are equipped with elaborate technical test equipment, special tools, and are manned by highly skilled signal specialists.

In addition, the section maintains a complete photographic laboratory. Photographers from the Picorial Division of the section provide photographic coverage for ceremonies, historical events, news coverage for the Public Information Office and pictures for use in preparation of training aids and films.
Meanwhile, research and development promise far greater advancement in the next few years. The Signal Corps than the one just past Signal Corps personnel stationed at Fort Benning will, no doubt, have a substantial part in bringing into being many new methods and equipment for communications use.

CONARC Opens Range

The first round was fired at Fort Benning's newest and perhaps most modern small arms range last week.
During an informal but impressive ceremony June 13, Colonel Charles S. D'Orsa, outgoing president of Board 3, CONARC, fired an M1 rifle from the 200 yard firing position, thereby officially opening the range.
The installation is located just off Dixie Road adjacent to Board 3's Sandy Patch Test Area and is destined to play an important role in the development and test of new and improved small arms weapons.
The range will be equipped with the latest electronic electronic targets and can be used for both known-distance or combat-type firing. As yet, the range has not been officially named; however, Board 3 has submitted a proposal to the Infantry School Topographical Board for consideration.
It is particularly noteworthy that the entire range was constructed by Board 3 personnel with very little outside help. Under the direction of Major Robert W. Vitor and supervision of M-Sgt. Major General Simonton, a swampy, inaccessible drainage basin was transposed into a beautifully landscaped and effective firing range.

Gala Celebration Planned For Post In Observance Of Fourth Of July

The World In Review

President to Leave Hospital This Week

President Eisenhower, who counted on leaving the hospital late this week was reported in good condition Sunday and Monday. A bulletin from the hospital Monday stated, "His condition continues to progress very satisfactorily. His spirits and morale are extremely high this morning." The recuperating President will face many decisions upon leaving the hospital, the most important being whether to stay in the presidential race.

Gen. Twining Visits Secret Red Base

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, who is currently visiting in Russia Monday delivered a message from President Eisenhower to Marshall Georgi K. Zhukov and then left Moscow to visit a secret Russian Fighter Base at Gubinka, 40 miles from Moscow. Twining visited the base to inspect the installations, and was able to catch a glimpse of some of the new jet planes Russia unveiled Sunday on Soviet air force day, including a bomber which the Russians claim can fly faster than sound.

Politics Big Topic At Governor's Meet

Principals of the 48th meeting of the governors of the states of the U. S. descended the noon-lit night sandpit of Atlantic City Monday, ostensibly to discuss such things as hot lunches for kindergarten moppets, but they wound up spending most of the day discussing politics and political ambitions. No one wanted to discuss the scheduled topics for the meeting, such as civilian use of atomic energy, education in secondary schools, and speeding up highway work.

British Judge Shot By Cypriot Rebels

Cypriot gunmen Monday shot down a British judge who recently came to the island to investigate the case of a Cypriot youth who was wounded by a bullet from a machine gun near the Nicosia courthouse steps. Shaw had passed death sentences on the youths for shooting at two British soldiers, even though they said that Monday's attack on Shaw was obviously in retaliation for the death sentences.

Senate Vote Seen On AF Budget Bill

The Senate agreed Monday to limit debate on the huge defense bill and have a show-down vote to approve or withhold aid more than a billion dollars to the Air Force budget. Democratic leaders contend that the additional money is necessary to assure American air superiority over Russia. The Republican leadership is fighting to hold the increase to 500 million dollars above the amount requested by President Eisenhower for the next 12 months.

Color Guard Ceremonies Open ROTC Camp Monday

The 1956 General Military Science Reserve Officers Training Corps Summer Camp officially began Monday with a color presentation ceremony and an address by Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center at Fort Benning. The first official act of the cadet regimental commander, Cadet Col. James C. Langley, Co. F, University of Florida, was to call the cadets to attention as Gen. Wooten approached the speakers stand.

Following invocation by Chaplain (Col.) Earl D. Compton, Milton, N. J., the National Colors and ROTC Colors were presented to the cadet regimental colonel by Col. Raymond V. Botchum, deputy camp commander and professor of military science and tactics at Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., who in turn presented them to a select color guard composed of Cadets Thomas C. Hilderbrand, Co. A, Benedict College, Benedict, S. C., and Henry D. Ludlum, Jr., Co. J, The Citadel, George E. Collins, University of Florida, and Jimmy M. Morris, Co. X, Georgia Tech.

Cadet Color Guard team from whom the colors were accepted was composed of M-Sgt. William H. Trumbull, East High School, East Point, Ga., M-Sgt. Cecil E. Palmer, Co. F, Lanier Senior High School, Macon, Ga., M-Sgt. William J. Rantz, Co. K, Georgia Tech, Atlanta, and M-Sgt. Thomas S. Fletcher, Co. K, Atlanta Public High School.

Gen. Wooten told the cadets that: "Most of your training here is designed to develop your capacity to lead men in combat. While techniques of leadership may be of particular application to the Infantry, which are those characteristics of mind that enable men to lead other men, are practically the same in every walk of life."

"The development of your capacity to lead men is equally important to you as a civilian and as a soldier. Upon your graduation from Fort Benning, Ala. by week, arriving about noon Saturday, Cadets of the West Point class of 1956 will receive a briefing on Army aviation at Fort Rucker and the flight to Lawson camp as a climax to the demonstrations."

Began Monday

The two-week Fort Benning course for the cadets begins June 28. Emphasis will be placed on instruction in the combined arms training in Infantry, artillery and armor.

The cadets were officially welcomed to the post by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of the Infantry School. Gen. Cook told them that the development of new weapons and new tactics for atomic warfare make the Infantry a more chal-

Extravaganza to Include Shows, Sports, Fireworks

Carnival fever will grip Fort Benning Wednesday afternoon on the Fourth of July.

A gala extravaganza of shows, military demonstrations, a baseball game and fireworks will be staged on French, Green and Blue Fields for entertainment of military personnel, civilian employees and their dependents.

The Fourth of July Carnival — an annual event on the post — being sponsored this year by the Youth Activities Club.

Lt. Col. O. E. Travis of the Airborne Army Aviation Department project officer for the carnival, said the production is designed to help Fort Benning's current Training Emphasis Program by offering post personnel something to keep them off crowded highways during the holiday.

Having Fun

For the children, the carnival will provide an opportunity to go "how-wild" having fun.

One of the highlights of the afternoon will be the junior jump tower, a second contest in the regular 24-foot jump tower used to train Army paratroopers in the airborne department.

The tower will be in operation from 1:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesday. First Lt. Boyd W. Leer is project officer of the tower.

Other features of the Fourth of July celebration:

1. A Little League All-Star Baseball Game at 2 p.m. on Green Field. Lt. Col. S. E. "Boenaker" is project officer of the contest.

2. Exhibits of a medium and light tank from the 26th Regimental Combat Team, and three helicopters of the 4th Transportation Company — one H-34, one H-23, and one H-13. Major A. H. Ringer is project officer. Exhibits open on French Field from 4:30 to 9 p.m.

3. A demonstration by the 44th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon. Major Ringer is in charge of arrangements for this one, too. Shows at 6:30 and 8:30 on Green Field.

4. An exciting soldier show is being prepared by Mr. Dean West, post entertainment director, for presentation at 7 p.m. on Blue Field.

5. Extra added attraction: A glee club of West Point cadets who are participating in summer military training will receive a special 24-foot jump tower used to train Army paratroopers in the airborne department.

The climax of the carnival will come at 8:45 p.m. with a brilliant fireworks display, including "Old Father Time" and "The Star" — a cascade of liberty, aerial bombs and other features, on Blue Field.

Refreshments will be on sale throughout the area.

Contest Announced

Attention all cartoonists! Here is your chance to make a few dollars for all your efforts.

"Soldier Illustrated," a monthly magazine, is sponsoring a soldier cartoon contest. The prizes are $15 for first place, $10 for second and $5 for third place. All cartoonists are welcome to enter their work late this contest.

All entries to "Soldier Illustrated," Box 904, Manhattan, Kansas. The contest closes on the 15th of each month.

USMA Cadets Arrive For 2 Weeks Training

Eighty-five L-19 planes descended on Lawson Army Air Field June 22, bringing a portion of the 600 U. S. Military Academy cadets who will train here for two weeks.

The remainder of the group came from Fort Benning, Ala. by week, arriving about noon Saturday. Cadets of the West Point class of 1956 will receive a briefing on Army aviation at Fort Rucker and the flight to Lawson camp as a climax to the demonstrations.

Began Monday

The two-week Fort Benning course for the cadets begins June 28. Emphasis will be placed on instruction in the combined arms training in Infantry, artillery and armor.

Post Copter Rescues L-19 Wrecked on Atlantic Island

BY TOM SELLES
An H-34 helicopter from Fort Benning completed a dramatic salvage mission June 22 on the wave-washed beaches of an island off the coast of Georgia.

The "chopper" lifted a wrecked National Guard L-19 airplane from the beach of Catherine Island near Fort Stewart, Ga., and flew the craft to safety some 30 miles away.

It was believed to be the first such operation ever performed by the H-34 which is getting to be renowned as a work horse on the Army's toughest jobs.

Teamwork of all the Armed Forces played a part in the unique rescue and salvage mission.

The L-19, flown by two pilots of the 30th Armored Division, Tennessee National Guard, had glided onto the remote Catherine Island beach Wednesday at approximately 3:40 p.m. In a simulated emergency landing during a training flight.

Struck Soft Spot
Unfortunately, the single-engine plane struck a soft spot in the sand and nosed over. The left wing and propeller were badly smashed, but shrouded straps prevented injuries to the two men.

The L-19's radio was still intact and the pilot, Lt. Doyle Parsons, and his nearest passenger, Lt. Wayne Puckett, both of Nashville, began sending out calls for help.

An Air Force jet bomber flew overhead and soon the wrecked craft heard the signal. It relayed the message to a nearby Air Force base and the news had reached Fort Stewart where the 9th Armored is currently engaged in two weeks of summer field training.

Major I. C. Siewing of Chattanooga, Tenn., division officials at Glynn County Naval Air Station, Brunswick, Ga., for help.

Meanwhile, an intensive air search was started by Major Siewing's aviation section. Soon an L-19 spotted the marooned fliers and radioed their position. They were down near the northern tip of Catherine Island which is located in the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Georgia.

The island is several miles long and abounds with deer, cattle, wild hogs and other animals. It is set aside by the government as a game preserve.

Personnel Rescued
A helicopter was quickly dispatched from Glynn County by the Navy and proceeded to pick up the stranded National Guardsmen. They were rescued at approximately 4:40 p.m., an hour after the accident, and flown to the nearby Harris Neck field.

Accompanying the crew were personnel of the Transportation Aviation Field Maintenance Shop which also is based at Lawson Army Air Field.

The copter arrived at Fort Stewart Thursday afternoon after traveling the 187 air miles from there in just over two hours.

When the group reached Catherine Island the Army maintenance experts proceeded to empty the L-19's tanks of gas and remove the wings. A sling of cable and nylon ropes was attached to the top of the little plane's cabin. At 4:30 p.m. the helicopter rose slowly, hovered over the L-19 with a terrific thrashing of air and sand and a thunderous roar, and made its attachment secure to the jerry-bull sling.

Then the H-34 climbed steadily into the air with the wingless L-19 which is an abandoned World War II Naval Air Station. From there Lt. Parsons and Puckett were brought by land vehicle to Liberty Army Air Field on the Fort Stewart reservation.

The wrecked L-19 was left on the beaches pending a decision as to how it could be salvaged. Getting a truck to the island was one of the questions: A bank of treacherous reefs off-shore made the island dangerous for anything but small ocean craft.

But the tide was coming in, washing over the little plane and threatening to pull it out to sea. The Navy called the Coast Guard into the mushrooming operation.

That night the latter dispatched a ship to the scene. The Coast Guardsmen pulled the L-19 further up on the beach and staked it down to prevent wind damage.

Next day (Thursday), Third Army headquarters at Fort Monmouth, N. J., was informed of the predicament. That's when an H-34 of the Fourth Helicopter Company was ordered to proceed to the island.

Piloting the helicopter was Chief Warrant Officer Nathan Schultz, 38, of New York, N. Y. His copilot was WO Charles R. Hall, 28, of Fort Worth, Ohio.

Others who made the flight in the helicopter were WO Leonard A. Gifford, 27, of York, Pa., WO Billy Miller of Aniston, Ala., Specialist Second Class James E. Johnston of Columbus, Ga., Specialist Third Class Bobby Fry of Siltner, W. Va., and V. R. Underwood of Columbus, a civilian government mechanic.

National Guardsmen who aided in the salvage operation were WO Major Siewing, Capt. W. C. Moter of Chattanooga, 30th Armored Division artillery aviation officer, and WO Toby Ehrhardt, aviation maintenance officer, SFC O. C. Batts, assistant base chief, division aviation section, and Sgt. W. H. Davis all of Nashville.

The improved child care program will be set up by the Post Nursery Fund Council, which is headed by Lt. Col. Harry D. Temple of Petersburg, Va.

Typewriting classes will be offered high school and college students in a summer session sponsored by the Fort Benning children's school.

Two-hour classes will help at 9 a.m., July 5 to Aug. 9, at Faith School on Mondays through Fridays. Tuition is $15 plus the cost of typing manual.

Dependents of military personnel and persons residing on the Fort Benning reservation are eligible to attend.

Enrollment must be completed at Faith School. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Gloria Norris, secretary of Faith School, Fort Benning 2-6225.

VISIT POST
Peruvian Ambassador Fernando Berckemeyer toured the post June 27 during a two-day visit to Columbus, Ga. Accompanying Ambassador Berckemeyer was Carlos Donayre of the Peruvian Embassy in Washington, D. C. The visitations were greeted by the acting commander of The Infantry Center, Brig. Gen. Robert J. Booth before viewing Infantry School activities.

ASSIGNED
SP 3 Edwin F. Jones and Pvt. William H. Thompson were assigned to the 516th Transportation Co., STC last week. SP Jones, a cook, has been in the Army since June 1, 1944 and has served overseas in both the European Theater and the Far East Command. Pvt. Thompson comes from Anderson, S.C. He first entered the Army in September 1933 and has served an overseas tour in Korea. He is assigned as a driver with the 516th.

Acquiline Pens Winner In 2nd Cartoon Contest

Reflecting sharp memories of an automobile accident which seriously injured a college pal, SP3 Thomas C. Aquiline's entry earned first prize in Fort Benning's second Safety Cartoon Contest.

An engraved cigarette lighter was awarded to Aquiline, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., by Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center and president of the post's Safety Council.

Aquiline, who has no art experience or training, modestly expressed complete amazement over his victory.

"It's the first art contest I've entered since seventh grade," he explained. "When I was 12, I drew a picture for a conservation contest of the kind of fish to eat—state fish and game laws, but I didn't win."

A sketch in the 23rd Section of 29th Inf. RCT Hqs, Aquiline "tried out" his cartoon idea on his buddies, then borrowed a drafting board to sketch his entry.

The winning cartoon pictures a speedometer with Death's scythe, serving as the indicator needle, pointing at 85 miles per hour. The caption asks, "Is this YOUR speedometer?"

Runners-up for honors in the contest was Purdy R. Waller of Columbus, Ga., civilian employee of the Third Army Training Aids Center.

Contest judges were Gen. Wood.

Grads Hear Gen. Wood

Leadership, enterprise, adaptability and a sense of responsibility were underlined as the keys to success as an Army officer by Major Gen. Robert J. Wood June 25.

The commander of the Anti-Aircraft Artillery and Guided Missile Center at Fort Bliss, Tex., spoke to 59 graduates of the Infantry School's officer candidate class No. 6 in the Main Theater.

Gen. Wood was introduced by Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center.

Gen. Wood planned second lieutenant bars on Robert J. Lenkey of Oxford, Mich., honor and distinguished graduate of the class. Runners-up for academic honors, John G. Bernat of Troy, N. Y., and Charles R. Puckett of Morgantown, W. Va., were designated distinguished graduates.

Chaplain (Col.) Earl D. Compton of Milltown, N. J., Infantry Center chaplain, delivered the invocation and benediction.

Corrected in a small-town paper: We reported incorrectly that Mr. Ed Smith is a Detective in the Police Force. Mr. Ed Smith is really a Detective in the Police Force.

COL. EARL F. KLINCK
... Deputy Post Commander

Col. Klink to Serve As Deputy Commander

Col. Earl F. Klink of Toledo, Ohio, will assume duties as Infantry Center deputy commander July 1.

Col. Klink, commander of the School Brigade, will serve in the post while Brig. Gen. Ray E. Lindquist is on a seven-month temporary assignment at Fort Campbell, Ky. Gen. Lindquist arrived on the post last week.

Receiving his commission under the ROTC program at Denison University in 1926, Col. Klink was integrated into the Regular Army as a major in June 1948.

From June 1942 to May 1944, he was assigned to The Infantry School's Academic Department. He then commanded the Third Battalion of the 103th Division at Camp Atterbury, Ind., and went with that unit to Europe, participating in the Normandy, Europe, Ardennes and Central Europe campaigns of World War II. He was taken prisoner during the Battle of the Bulge near St. Vith Dec. 19, 1944, and liberated May 4, 1945.

Assigned to G-2, Col. Klink was assigned to the G-2 Section of General Headquarters from Post #10 PFC.

PROMOTED
The 4th Helicopter Co. promoted one man to Specialist Third Class and two men to Private First Class recently: The Lawson Field unit promotes Ernest C. Crane, Edwardsville, Ill., from PFC to SP-3; William L. Foster and Stephen V. Dean, were promoted from Pvt. #10 PFC.

On The Bookshelf

BADGE OF EVIL, by Whit Masterson. (Dodd, 209 pages). When Rudy Leneker was murdered during his cocaine cabaret suspicion fell on his daughter and the man she wanted to marry against her father's wishes. The author's narrative is against the young couple when Attorney Mitchell Hall began his hunt for the innocent.

FOR PEOPLE UNDER PRESSURE, by David Fink. (Simon & Schuster, 274 pages). Dr. Fink, a practicing neuro-psychiatrist in Beverly Hills, California, answers the questions that frequently come up in the course of his practice. In clear non-technical language, he discusses how to understand your behavior, learn the true meaning of "insight", acquire self-confidence, make your life less hectic and more interesting and more satisfying.

ALL HONORABLE MEN, by David Karp. (Knopf, 311 pages). Karp, the author of "Fools", has produced another exciting novel expertly plotted. Dr. Burney, a genius Communist, accepted an appointment as head of an educational foundation. Inevitably, he is drawn into an investigation of the personal lives, opinions and associations of his staff. Its powerful dramatic style makes this irresistible to the reader.

THREE WITNESS, by Rex Stout. (Viking, 185 pages). The three stories in the "Witness" are as good as any one that has ever done before, and Stout is here in his favorite milieu of the novelists he has written. The three stories are "The Next Witness", a wire tapping case; "When a Man Murders", the story of an Enoch Arden marriage; and "Die Like a Dog", in which Nero and Archie search for an artist's missing model.

HEFT, by Martin Mayer. (Random House, 144 pages). In this up-to-the-minute high-fidelity handbook, everything an expert of beginner needs to know is included. The latest turntables, tone arms, changer, pickups, stylus, amplifiers, speakers and enclosures are discussed. The appendix contains a listing of 100 first recordings.

New Assignments
The 37th Helicopter Medical Detachment at Lawson Army Airfield received three newly assigned enlisted men this week.
The men will hold the positions of First Sergeant, Maintenance Supervisor, and medical aidman. M-Sgt. Robert C. Allen Sr., a veteran of ten years' service has taken the job of First Sgt. for the detachment. He reported from CTC.

SFC Harold C. Matthews, also a veteran of ten years' service, will be the maintenance supervisor. He reported to the detachment from the Cargo Helicopter Student Co. at Fort Rucker, Ala. Specialist Third Class Mervyn V. Bell has become the medical aidman. A veteran of four years' tenure in the Army, he came here from the Yokohama U.S. Army Major Post, Yokohama, Japan.

Chaplain's Corner

THE SEVEN MISTAKES OF LIFE

DONALD B. KLINE, Chaplain, U.S. Army
A famous writer, approaching death in old age was asked by a young colleague for advice in avoiding pitfalls in the writing profession.
"I can only tell you what I would do if I had my life to live over," replied the old man. "Here are seven mistakes of life that many of my make. I made them all at one time or another. See that you avoid them."
The old man then gave the following list:
1. The delusion that individual advancement is best made by crushing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or improved.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot do it.
4. Refusing to accept unavoidable preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development, and a refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to convert other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.
We started out with a story about the writing profession and the pitfalls thereof; yet strangely — or perhaps not so strangely — these failures seem to fit human life regardless of profession. Most of us are not writers; at least of any note, but we are of the military profession. Can we honestly say a that some of these failures belong to our profession?

As a matter of fact they are failures found in individual lives, not professions. Even a bum who claims no profession at all can lay claim to all of them. The fewer of them you can count in your own life, the higher your character score.

Library Concert

On the program for the record concert next Tuesday evening at the Main Post Library will be "Peer Gynt Suite, No. 1" by Edvard Grieg and "Concerto No. 2" by Max Bruch.
Edvard Grieg wrote twenty-three pieces of incidental music for a special production of his play "Peer Gynt" and from these he later formed two suites.
A figure of legend, Peer Gynt became a philosophical symbol of egotism and opportunism in an orientalist setting. Feeling that his essential lyric music was not inspired to it, Grieg avoided the philosophical satire of the play and concentrated on creating a warm, human interpretation.
The first movement, "Morning Mood," accompanies the scene in the desert and seeks to probe the rights of the soul.
"Ase's Death," scored for strings alone, is a sad and haunting figure which suggests the loneliness and mystery of a great forest.
"Amir's Dance," scored in an oriental mood, serves to introduce the Arabian girl who is captured by Peer Gynt's love.
"In the Hall of the Mountain King," the final section, is a weird march of the gnomes who inhabit vast underground caves in the kingdom of the Troll King.
Eugene Ormandy conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra.
The "Concerto No. 2" in D Minor by Max Bruch is given this first recording by the RKO Philharmonic.
It is a good example of the composer's gift for melody, color and rhythm, and his often unconventional ideas of construction.
After four introductory orchestral movements, the concert enters a brief second theme and recapitulation of the principal themes.
This pattern of conflict between solo instrument and orchestra consisted of two clearly defined themes developed individually and separately by the instruments.
Isler Solomon conducts the RAC Victor Symphony Orchestra.
The concert will begin at 8:00 hours.

Going My Way?

Ordnance Expert To Attend Course
James H. Moore of Fayetteville, Tenn., Post ordnance officer, will be among the first 14 Department of the Army civilians to attend the guided missile and atomic warfare course at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.
The seven-month class begins July 1. Moore is assigned by the Army's Chief of Ordnance as advisor on armament here.
He is a veteran of 14 years' active duty in the Army. Moore enlisted in the 31st Infantry Regiment in 1918 and served 18 months in Vladivostok, Russia, followed by three years at Fort McKinley in the Philippines.
He rendered active duty from the Columbia National Guard in World War II and served an 18-month tour in Alaska after an procurement officer of the 11 western states.

NEW MECHANICS
The 90th Ordnance Co., STC added two new mechanics to its roster at Fort Rucker, Ala. Specialist Third Class Mervyn V. Bell, Charley H. Brewster, and Pvt. Donald W. Miller reported for duty. St. Brewer is a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and Pvt. Miller comes from Barry, Ill.

Small Town Approach Used

Post Solves Problem of Selecting Personnel for Overseas Assignment

Fort Benning, one of the Army's largest installations, used a small town approach toward solving the complex problem of selecting personnel for overseas assignments. Reportedly the only post which employs this unique replacement system, the Infantry Center has initiated a new method of filling its quota of overseas vacancies with well qualified and carefully chosen men.

Special Selection
Instead of using the unit approach to select authorized troops, it has centralized the post-wide problem under a special branch of the Adjutant General's Section which maintains extensive cross files on every enlisted man on the post.

One file is set up according to job abilities and the individual's overseas eligibility. The other is used to determine the man's assignment in Infantry Center files. For example, when the post receives its monthly overseas quota from Third Army Headquarters, the Adjutant General's Section takes each position listed, finds a qualified man for an overseas assignment because their names, like everyone else's, are filed according to eligibility in the job capability file.

TOUR POST
Lt. Col. Marie Clark, commander of the WAC Training Center, Fort McClellan, Ala., arrived here June 2 for a three-day briefing on the Infantry School's instructional program. She was accompanied by Major Clara Matthews, the Center's A-3 plans and operations officer. Their visit included conferences on officer candidate training and the post's testing and evaluation program. Tours of the Main Post Weapons Pool and Infantry Center training aids displays completed their schedule.

After the man has been selected from the cards and his unit has been contacted to double check his availability, Fort Benning is able to assign the most qualified man on the post for the job.

According to officials responsible for operating the system, it is fairer to everyone concerned since all personnel are considered on equal basis and not just recommendations of unit officials.

Cards are made up of incoming personnel by the Adjutant General's Section, making it possible for the centralized agency to obtain necessary basic information about every man on the post. Except for "homesteaders" (men who have not been overseas since 1950 and personnel with no overseas service), volunteers who request overseas duty are listed first to the files for consideration. The system, which was initiated at Fort Benning in August, 1955, was put into actual operation three months later.

Man behind the scene responsible for keeping the complex, but effective, wheels of the program rolling is Sgt. John D. Bowen of New Bedford, Mass., chief clerk of the Overseas Assignment Section.

Army Flies Girl To Maryland For Treatment

A winsome little 11-year-old girl from Lanett, Ala., daughter of a sailor based in San Diego, happily participated her first plane ride June 22, unaware she was being flown from Fort Benning to Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital for emergency treatment of a brain tumor.

Phyllis Hinson of Lanett, entered the U. S. Army Hospital here Thursday after specialists in Jacksonville, Fla., where she was undergoing treatment, advised she be hospitalized immediately.

Phyllis and her mother, Mrs. Peggy Joyce Beatty, left Lawson Army Air Field at 11:40 a.m. Friday in a C-121 plane of the 172nd Air Evacuation Squadron, Maguire Air Force Base, N. J.

Brightly dressed in a bouffant blue dress, Phyllis quickly took off some ice cream to devote full attention to the plane's landing operations. The air evacuation craft, which carries a flight nurse in addition to its four-man crew, also picked up four military patients on its way here. Phyllis' condition was diagnosed when Mrs. Beatty consulted a Jacksonville eye specialist about the severe headaches her daughter was experiencing.

Job Suggestions Save Government $14,000

Fort Benning personnel who completed a work simplification course at The Infantry Center have submitted job improvement suggestions which will save the federal government more than $14,000 annually.

Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center who presented the certificates to the group last week, commended them for their financial savings as well as outstanding contribution to the efficiency of their units.

He noted that the suggestions will save more than 8,514 man-hours and more than 11,000 miles of vehicular and non-vehicular travel.

Twelve personnel of the School Brigade topped the list of graduates who also included representatives of the U. S. Army Hospital, Combat Training Command, Quartermaster Section, Special Troops Command, Signal Corps, Ordnance Section and Comptroller's Office. Recipients of the certificates were the following from Columbus: Sgt. Willie L. Banks, Chief Warrant Officer James A. Barnes, Norris E. Holloway, Master Specialist Harry H. Holt, and Mrs. Zella Balkewell. Others were Lt. Ruth M. Albright of Des Moines, Iowa, Capt. John P. Lamond of Pandorf, Ohio, SPC John M. Massey of Evansville, Ind., Lt. Loren C. Trotscher of Cincinnati, Ohio, Frank C. Howard of Fort Mitchell, Ala., Lt. Johannes I. Olsen of Brooklyn, N. Y., 1st Lt. John E. Massey of Knoxville, Tenn., MSgt. Lester G. Williams, Charleston, S. ## TIS Instructors Attend Classes Before Assuming Teaching Duties

The men behind the students at the Infantry School answer their own classroom call before becoming instructors in combat techniques.

Practice literally serves as the best teacher for the potential professors, both officers and enlisted men, who learn by doing through a special course designed to show them how to make their classes more effective, interesting and complete.

"You see, there's really a lot more to teaching than just giving a talk," explained Lt. Col. John L. Steel of St. Johnsbury, Vt., chief of The Infantry School's Instructor Training Section.

A project of the Director of Instruction's Office, the three- and a half-week course includes more than 150 hours of careful instruction on lesson planning, effective use of reference material and, most important, methods of presentation.

Holds PhD
"Actually we have jacks-of-all-trades on our committee," said the deep-spoken instructor, who holds a doctor's degree in education from Columbia University.

"... We feel that our project is one of the most basic ones of the whole Infantry School," he said as he pointed out that it is the Section's job to see that every instructor completes the course before they do any active podium teaching.

No grades are given during the classes, however, but the potential teachers climax their internship by presenting a full 50-minute class on the same material they will be teaching when they go to work in their respective departments.

At this time, Col. Steel and his staff evaluate the speaker's performance and if it is satisfactory, give him a certificate of completion signifying that he is qualified to instruct.

Cherished Possessions
The certificates are cherished possessions among both officers and enlisted men since they serve as passports to the job that has been assigned to them.

Classes are divided into groups of eight students. They work with a specified adviser who counsels them individually and collectively on their particular difficulties or weak points.

Almost all sessions are conducted on a seminar basis geared toward giving participants an opportunity to evaluate each other and discuss mutual problems informally.

Historically, the course is a newcomer to The Infantry School curriculum since it became a full scale project just eight months ago.

Approximately 160 alumni have received certificates in date and have assumed jobs throughout the school — better prepared and trained to teach Infantrymen attending the Army's largest educational institution.

Segura Realizes School Ambition

Sp 3 Pedro M. Segura, company armorer of B33 Company of the 57th Engineer Bn. (Construction), 9th Tammear, N. M. High School to enlist in the Army. Now, three years later, he has realized his ambition, and has acquired a high school diploma through the General Educational Development program.

Assigned to B33 Co. last October, Sp3 Segura was handed the task of renovating and repairing the company arms room. This seemingly overwhelming task included a variety of jobs such as organization, administration, carpentry, and painting. The transformation, for which he received a letter of commendation, did not occur overnight. The "know how" was a result of past training: basic at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., engineer basic at the same fort, and Engineer Parts and Specialty School at Fort Belvoir, Va. This, plus stability and fortitude rendered the finished product.

This year's stay in Korea with the 15th Engr. Bn., 7th Inf. Div., needn't his future career plans.

Travel and Recreation

Okefenokee Wildlife Sanctuary America's 'Stepchild of Nature'

(This is the seventh in a series of Special Services travel and recreation articles, dealing with places of historical and recreational interest to military personnel at Fort Benning.)

BY BOB KEMO Since this series of articles was started a few months ago, I have been continually asked to write something about the Okefenokee Swamp, or as it is indicated on the maps, the Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge. Because we were more interested in pointing out places of interest immediately accessible to members of Fort Benning on a three-day pass, I have avoided it until today.

Canyon of Colorado, and Pikes Peak. Consequently, anyone who is interested in being well-traveled cannot pass up a chance to see this step-child of nature. The swamp contains 660 square miles of fresh water, undergrowth, and timber, and extends from a point a few miles south of Waycross to a point several miles north of the Florida line.

Once the hunting ground of the lower Creek and Seminole, its name is a corruption of Owanippenogah (and, the trembling earth). Geologists believe that the Okefenokee was once a salt-water sound that was eventually shut off and that, likely enough, in its earlier stages it resembled the much younger Diamond Swamp in Virginia and North Carolina and also the Florida Everglades. Despite at least one major effort to domesticate the swamp for man's use, it has kept its primitive virtue though not quite unspoiled.

In 1899, the Sumsacum Canal Company bought the area from the state for some $2,000, intending to drain it by means of a canal, cut the rich cypress and longleaf pine, and turn the vast prairie, submerged and unstable earth covered by a rugged growth of yellow-eyed grass — into farm lands.

After spending what was reputed to have been a million dollars digging a canal with steam shovels and dredges, the corporation failed.

A number of other companies attempted to civilize the area, including a projected railroad by the Hubbard Lumber Company, before the land was sold back to the state in 1910.

The ghostly expanse of the swamp with cypress, bay and tupelo gum trees growing from the mud, is broken by acres of prairie and by houses' clumps of bushes and trees and an impenetrable undergrowth of berries, smilax, muscadines growing on more solid ground.

Various trails cover the area, but access to it is forbidden by the government unless accompanied by a guide.

Affaire of Future Is 'Zip Suit'

From Columbus Ledger BY BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (H)—Hey, gents, want a peek at your attire of the future? All you have to do is clamber into it, zip it up and you're ready to go for the office. It's a one-piece affair, just like Winston Churchill's blitz suit, but with a difference. It's so designed that it looks as if you are on the usual pants, belt, shirt and tie. All of these elements are simulated in the design, yet it fits loosely and zips up the front in a hurry. For more formal wear, there's a matching coat, itself simplified. No superfluous lapels, no pockets to bulge, no cuff buttons. The one-piece suit for males has been proposed before, but it is time, Jerry Lewis is all for them; Hollywood's hottest haberdasher

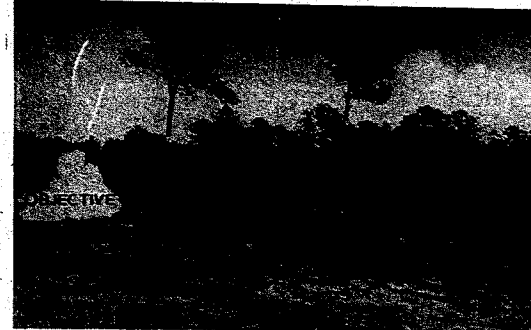

Murphy Gets New Decorations

HOLLYWOOD (H)—Audie Murphy, World War II hero and film actor, has received two more military awards. King Baudouin I of Belgium, are the Croix de Guerre 1940 and the Palm for the same medal. Murphy already holds 23 military awards, including the Congressional Medal of Honor, says this country's most decorated soldier.

RECENT VISITORS

Canadian Army Major D. D. Lodington visited The Infantry School June 22 to 27 to observe airborne demonstrations. Another Allied visitor, Capt. Kaley Rompott, arrived June 23 for a two-day look at Infantry School activities. Capt. Rompott recently completed graduate work at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles and is en route home to Finland.

Once Al Lopez, former Philadelphia and now manager of the Cleveland Indians, flung his hat 20 feet in the air in protest against a called third strike by Bill Klem, one of baseball's greatest umpires. "Young man, if that had come down, you're out of the game," Klem told him. "Lopez's hat hit Klem's head, but Lopez enjoyed his warm shower!"

What's a Roadrunner?

When you hear the word "roadrunner," you probably think of that speedy little bird whose antics have made him a favorite with movie audiences. To an artilleryman, however, a "roadrunner" is a bird of another feather. "To put it briefly," says 2nd Lt. Marvin L. Dessoeker, a forward observer for B Battery, 2d Field Artillery, and a man well-versed in the meaning of artillery terms, "a roadrunner is a series of rounds fired in rapid succession from a road so that no matter how many twists and turns the road takes, they hit it. It's pretty spectacular to watch." "That's only one example of the many uses of the word," says Dessoeker, "but it's a language so specialized that it frequently leaves the non-artilleryman completely lost. Drop around to the orderly room of an artillery battery and you'll hear this language spoken. You'll hear expressions like, "Proj... TOT... Plotting ahead... calibration 'E-rache'."

If you were to hear those words in B Battery's orderly room, you might ask Lt. Dessoeker, the battery operations sergeant, SFC Lewis Bowling, of Scottsburg, Ind., what they meant. "Naturally," says Lt. Dessoeker, "the manual gives the clearest definition for those terms— all except 'proj' and 'E-rache.' "A proj," says Lt. Bowling, "is simply an artilleryman's slang for a projectile, what the layman usually calls a shell. "Isn't the word 'shell' ever used?" "Only when it's sitting on the ground waiting to be fired," says Lt. Dessoeker. "Once it's on its way it's a 'proj,' or a 'round.' "What about some of those other expressions? "Well, if I were asked for the cut-off definitions," says Lt. Dessoeker, "I'd say, first of all, that 'TOT' means 'time on target,' which means that your weapons fire on a certain target at a certain time. Plotting of course, is not scheming; it's the business of locating a target on a map, so that it can be used for future reference. "And a 'sheaf,' says SFC Bowling, "is the radius within which all your rounds hit the ground. As for calibration, that's the determination of the shooting strength of your artillery weapon. It's the business of seeing whether your rounds fall short or farther away than you expect them to."

3d Division's Battle Drill Makes Proficient Soldiers

Men of the famed 3rd Infantry Division have become familiar with Battle Drill. After participating in two of the largest field exercises, FOLLOWS THE BATTLE DRILL, the 3d Div. continues to develop highly proficient soldiers. Battle Drill is not new. It was developed initially during World War I and was perfected by our own troops during the Korean Conflict. It can best be described as a consolidation of the basic principles of combat for the individual soldier and the small unit commander. It is a guide for the individual soldier and the small unit commander. It is a guide for the individual soldier and the small unit commander. It is a guide for the individual soldier and the small unit commander.

To further expedite this training, the Division commander, Maj. Gen. George E. Lynch had a pocket manual published, which was distributed to all rifle unit commanders as a convenient reference for use in the team training of their units. Gen. Lynch is in charge of the purpose of Battle Drill is to teach the individual soldier and the small unit commander.

Tank Team Wins Second

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
Byeone Sports Editor
Before an overflow crowd of 2,000 people, the Fort Benning team managed to take second place in the men's division of the two-day 10th Annual Southern Peach Swimming and Diving Championships held at the Callaway Pool in La Grange, Ga. First place went to the Cincinnati Coca-Cola Swimming Club who retained the title they had won last year.

The Coca-Cola men finished with a total score of 83 points. Fort Benning's second place total was 60 and the Lakeside Swimming Club of Louisville finished third with 47 points.

One American record—possibly world record was set by Jack Nelson of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Swimming under the colors of the North Carolina Athletic Club, Nelson, who is a University of North Carolina swimmer, won the 100-yard freestyle in 1:16.3.

Swimming Judges are needed for the Third Army Swimming Meet which will be held July 13-14. Anyone who has had previous experience in judging diving contests and would be interested, please write to the Sports Office at 5-2229 or 2-8163.

Caroline student, shattered the American record for the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:38.2. The accepted American record is 1:51.2 seconds. Nelson was clocked at 58 flat, he records for the peach swim was 58 seconds.

The Benning Aquaplane had a part in shattering one of its own meet records. The Top 400-yard of Dpn Brown, Philip Ware, Don well Air Force base, the Doughboys will play off at Lanett, Ala., where they will face the former Lanett professional team. The Lanett ball club formerly played in the Alabama Baseball league before they lost their franchise. The ball team is still intact and they will face the Doughboys in the top two games scheduled for the Doughboys will be July 7-8, when Redstone Arsenal will provide the opposition.

Post Nine Meets Tuskegee Tonight

The Main Post Doughboys, after a two-week layoff, swing back into action tonight at Gowdy field where they face Tuskegee VA Hospital. Game time is 8:30 o'clock.

The last time these two teams met, the Doughboys were victorious, winning 1-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Howard Williams. Williams pitched up and strikeouts was the whole show in this victory.

Laysat Hurt
The game tonight should tell how the two-week layoff has affected the team on the whole. Coach Jim Murray vehemently feels that the layoff was more of a hindrance than a help to the team.

The team was just starting to jell, said Lt. Murray, "and I hope that this layoff will not cause any major problems."

Enos and Griffin Set a New Record

Enos and Donald Griffin set a new record in the event. Their time was 3:48.1, three seconds better than the old records of 3:51.8. Coach Don Brown was a high point maker for the Benning team. He finished third in the swimming meet. His points came on a first in the 200-yard backstroke; a second place in the 220-yard freestyle, and a third in the 200-yard individual medley. Brown was also the anchor man on the record freestyle relay team.

Enos Gets a Second
Don Enos' contribution to Benning's second place finish was a second in the 100-yard freestyle and a fourth in the 440-yard freestyle. He failed to qualify in the 1500-meter event.

Aside from being a member of the record breaking freestyle relay team, Don Griffin also placed sixth in the 200-yard breaststroke. Coach Don Brown was well pleased with the Post team's showing in the meet.

"We did as well as I figured we could," said Coach Brown, "the Cincinnati team was exceptionally powerful this year. They have a few young hopefuls who are established for the Olympic swimming team and it was certainly no insult to lose to them."

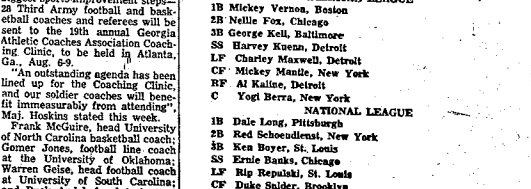

Right now the post aquaplane are setting their sights low against the accepted American record in the 100 yard breaststroke which will be held July 27. They are heavy favorites to retain the coveted crown they won last year at this meet.

Top Three
The top competition in this meet will come from Metro Miami Swimming Club. The Miami team last year won the Miami International in which Benning finished fourth in the Southern Peach Meet held at LaGrange, Ga. last week.

"It's no secret," said Coach Brown, "that we're out for revenge against the Metro Miami team. They took first in the Miami International last year and now its our turn to sit on the top rung of the ladder."

"We're picking up much needed experience in these two meets," said Coach Brown, "and this should prove invaluable toward our doing well in the Third Army Swimming meet. Make no mistake about it, that's the one as far as we are concerned."

All-Star Classic Game of the Fans
The game which ranks second only to the World's Series, in international interest will be played at Griffith Stadium in Washington, July 10.
To many the All-Star Game is considered the Dream Game, the Game of the Fans. To the Chicago Tribune sports editor who originated the game in 1933, that is just what it was supposed to be, a game where the fans have more influence than any manager in the majors.

DivArty Moves Into Tie for First; Play Tightens, Close Race Promised

BY KAL WAGENHEIM
The weekend's action saw two participants in the first half-playoff struggle once again deadlocked for the league's top spot.

While DivArty and the 15th I.C.C. stood in their first place perch, the other member of the first half-triple tie, the 7th I.C.C., took second place with a 12 record, 14 games behind the leaders.

On Friday DivArty stopped Support Command, 13-7, behind the two-hit pitching of Dave McDermott and Bill Roman. The Redskins won again the next day, topping the 30th I.C.C., 7-4; and the week's action was terminated as the 15th I.C.C. topped Support Command, 11-3, thus slipping into a deadlock for first place.

Ronan got credit for Friday's victory over Support Command when he came on in the fourth inning to stifle a four-run rally game on his.

Friday 7-3, the Redskins jumped ahead with five runs in the fifth inning started by Joe Jorgensen's double and the catcher's three-bagger.

Ronan and McDermott performed so well on that night that two balls were hit out of the infield except for the pair of basehits, a single by Loney in the first and a triple by Friedman in the third.

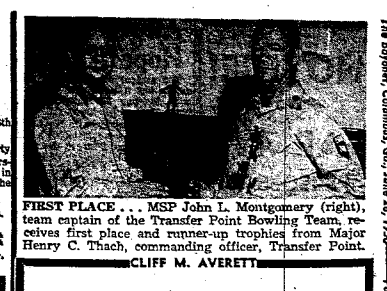

On Saturday DivArty broke from a 3-1 tie in the fifth with one score for their permanent lead.

That Beatty singled, went to second when the left fielder bobbled his smash and scored on Dale Black's safety.

They added another score in the seventh as Frobock doubled went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Cohen's sacrifice fly to right. In the eighth the 30th closed the margin to 5-4 when Martin tripled and scampered in on a wild pitch by the pitcher Frobock.

DivArty moved further ahead in their half of the inning scoring two. Black and Jorgensen tripled and Lashauer moved them into scoring position with a sacrifice bunt. Sherry came through with a two-bagger to score them both.

The 15th drew into a first-place tie on Sunday, topping Support Command 11-3, and slumping 11 base hits.

FIRST PLACE . . . MSP John I. Montgomery (right), team captain of the Transfer Point Bowling Team, receives first place and runner-up trophies from Major Henry C. Thach, commanding officer, Transfer Point.

All-American Fencer Looks Hopefully to 1960 Olympics

The ancient art of fencing will not be lost if Pvt. Irwin F. Bernstein, two-time All-American fencing champion, has his way. Bernstein, assigned to Ft. Benning, TSS, has competed with the three weapons used in fencing—the epee, the popular duelling sword; the foil, a thrusting weapon; and the sabre, used for cutting strokes.

His interest in fencing began when he was a student in the Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1947, where he competed with the foil for three years and was co-captain of the fencing team his senior year. Upon graduation from high school, Bernstein enrolled in Columbia University and switched to the epee as his main weapon.

It was in the 1953 finals at the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament held at Philadelphia that Bernstein won his first All-American title competing with the foil.

mind that players are selected on what they have done this season, not on their past laurels. This may explain why this writer insisted on leaving out two of the greatest greatest stars, Ted Williams and Roy Campanella. How could I leave these two great stars off an All-Star team when actually they are two of the great players of our modern era?

The answer is simple: There were two better men at these respective positions.

Before you say I'm all wet! Let's take a gander at the facts.

The player I choose over Ted Williams in left field for the junior circuit is Charley Maxwell. The Detroit gardener is currently hitting around .370. This is approximately 35 points higher than Williams. An added enlightening fact to take into consideration is that Williams has played ten games less than Maxwell and has come up to bat only half as many times as Maxwell.

As far as the catching chores are concerned in the senior circuit, I like Ed Bailey of Cincinnati. Let's face it, Campanella is strictly a sentimental favorite. How can anyone pick a .220 hitter over a .350 hitter? Don't tell me, I know that Campanella was thrice voted the most valuable player in the National League but that doesn't give him the right to be picked over Bailey who doesn't give him the right to be picked over Bailey who is having probably the best season of his young career.

It seems rather ironical to this fan that Campanella, who is deeply concerned over what he calls "the worst batting slump of my career," is actually being mentioned for All-Star laurels.

Guided by past experience, I feel that it is safe to say that the choices as to who will start in Dream Game will be wise ones. It is remarkable—and a tribute to the fans' knowledge of the game and sense of fairness—that the men who belong in the starting lineups almost invariably are to be found there.

While personal popularity and civic loyalty undoubtedly are factors in the thinking of some fans, the net result is highly satisfactory.

FOOTBALL QUIZES

Frank Sullivan, Boston Red Sox pitcher, and an Infantry veteran in Korea:

It is believed that baseball players should be allowed to fulfill their military obligations in the off season. We're not in a war now. Ball players are unique in comparison with other professions. They have about ten years in which they can make good money. After that most of them are thru. I think some arrangements should be made so that the players who must complete their armed service obligations could do so during the "off season."

Are you aware of the game most teams, including the Doughboys, play during the last few minutes of their batting practice? It's called "base-hits," and the idea is that each man gets only one swing in the cage—unless he gets a base-hit. If he does, he gets another, and another, until he "makes out."

Are the Pittsburgh Pirate merely in a slump or have they reverted to their hapless selves of recent years? The answer may be found in the saying: Water finds its level and so are Pittsburgh's Bucs!

SHOW BIZ

Victor Borge, the delightful Danish wit who seldom gives a casual or meaningless performance, is scheduled to tour army camps in Germany during a visit to his native country in July. Borge's one man show, "The Music Man Show," ran for 2 years on Broadway and an all-time solo record.

We had the pleasure of attending the final rehearsal for the Perry Como TV show recently. James Ladd, the spokesman who fame and fortune in the entertainment world, showed up to cut a record with the affable Mr. Como. Ladd said he's very glad to take over a four-week stint for Como come July 14. Pvt. Ladd was a Graduate of the 2nd Infantry 3rd Bn., at Ft. Carson, Colo., and said they've started a Blue Nova fan club.

Jackie Gleason, the talented and rotund funnyman, says he will discontinue the half hour "Honeymooners" portion of his show because "there is generally more excitement attached to an hour show, and because of multiple attractions associated with an hour presentation, there is little question that the rating will be even stronger than that of 'The Honeymooners'."

Marilyn Monroe is slated to do "The Jean Harlow Story" for 20th Century-Fox. She will get to sport many of the late Miss Harlow's famous on-and-off stage quotes. And there were quite a few gems... The All-American Variety show—Tops in Blue—will be presented at 57 AF bases in the U. S. and overseas.

OUTDID HIMSELF

Branch Ricker, the old circumlocutionist, outdid himself in his comment on the Pittsburgh Pirates surge into the thick of the National League pennant race. "I would prefer to say that the Pirates have entered an area of respectability and may reasonably aspire to the first division this year."

YOU'RE RIGHT

"The man I'm introducing looks neither to the left nor to the right," boasted the politician. "He moves forward all the time, and anyone who crosses his path does so at his own peril."

"Turning to a man in the audience, he asked, 'What would you call such a man?'" and would divide into four groups: Spoke For Writers, Twining asked the Russians to let American aviation writers and photographers accompany him on a visit tomorrow to the World War II battleground of Stalingrad. He offered to take them in his plane. The Russians agreed to let Twining go but declined to permit Twining to fly there. The entire group will use Soviet planes.

"A tax driver!" was the reply.

"Yesterday" the visiting officers toured the Zhukovsky air engineering Academy on what one of them called their "best day yet." The school, in central Moscow, offers a five-year course for training top technicians in the Red air force. It has an annual enrollment of about 2,000.

Twining described its program as well balanced "between good theoretical courses and good practical courses."
 "They have concentrated everything into one ball of wax for five years," Twining said. "We have no school like this. It's a good system, but ours is good too. They accomplish the same purpose."

Another American officer said the academy offers courses like those given at schools like the California Institute of Technology, plus practical work with weapons.

We've heard it all now! Dr. Rueber Fine, international grandmaster who retired from active chess when he simply could not beat Sammy Reshevsky in their crucial tournament game, has written a monograph, "Psychanalytic Observations on Chess and Chess Masters." More of this on page 15 in the CHESS REVIEW magazine at the Main Post Library.

To castle, move the King first two squares to the right or to the left and place the Rook on the other side. Castling is permitted each player only once during the game. The method of recording is the use of squares interspersed with a dash: 0-0 for king-side, and 0-0-0 for queen-side.

Seven Get Awards At Fort Benning

Outstanding performance of duty and job improvement suggestions have won awards for seven Fort Benning personnel.

Certificates of cash awards were presented last week by Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, deputy Infantry Center commanding general who commended the group for invaluable contributions to U. S. Army projects.

Receiving awards were:

Mrs. Patsy R. Ashburn of Phenix City, Ala., Adjutant General's Section, who was awarded $50 for her suggestion for a more efficient procedure for processing trial period applicants in the Civilian Personnel Division.

Sgt. Willie L. Bullock of Zebulon, N. C., U. S. Army Hospital, recipient of a letter of commendation for his proposal that a new type litter be used for transferring patients from surgery to other clinics while receiving intravenous feedings.

Mrs. Ruth K. Chestnam of Salem, Ala., and Mrs. Martha G. Nelson of Columbus, secretaries in The Infantry School's Operations Office who received $20 for sustained superior performance of duties.

Miss Ruby Pilgrim of Columbus, Signal Office, who was given $25 for her idea of improving clerical procedures in the section.

Mrs. Adelle G. Kirkland, Staff Judge Advocate's Section, who also received $20 for assisting in job performance, and Clyde D. Tumblin, Ordnance Section, who suggested a technical instructor who won him $10, both of Columbus.

FINAL CHECK . . . Ray S. Miller of Columbus, Ga., examines the business end of a 90-mm tank gun at Fort Benning. Among his more than 200 improvements and modifications of ordnance, Miller built the Army's first high-speed tank, devised a grenade launcher for the M-1 rifle and mounted the first 87-mm anti-tank gun on a jeep.

Cited Again Mechanical Wizard Still Going Strong at Benning

By TOM SELLENS

The man who built the Army's first high-speed tank and found a way to launch grenades from the M-1 rifle is still perfecting his mechanical wizardry at Fort Benning—home of the U. S. Infantry.

Ray S. Miller of Columbus, Ga., a graying, spectacled individual of 64, would pass in a crowd as a mild fellow—a store clerk perhaps—who knows nothing of violence and weapons of war.

200 improvements

But the appearance is misleading. Miller's genius has been responsible for at least 200 improvements and modifications of Army ordnance—weapons, ammunition and combat vehicles—used in World War II and Korea.

Honors are common place for this veteran ordnance designing engineer, who is virtually a living legend at Fort Benning.

In May he added to his list of commendations received from Cabinet members on down a nomination for one of the top U. S. Civil Service officials.

Represented 34

He was chosen to represent the Third Army in competition for one of 10 Career Service Awards presented annually by the National Civil Service League to Department of the Army employees.

The citations are given to outstanding government workers who exhibit competence, efficiency, character and continuity of service. Announcement of the nomination was made by Col. Owen T. McCloskey of Columbus, Ohio, Infantry Center ordnance officer.

Miller was a precocious youngster. He displayed a flair for invention at an early age. At 10 he patented a rail joint that is still in use by major American railroads.

He began his 37 years government service by volunteering as an aviator in the first World War. Considering that the planes were little more than kites with engines attached, flying was a more-than-risky business.

Crowned by Superiors

His flying pilot Miller was grounded when his superiors discovered his zest for mechanics. "I was always messing with something," he recalled, "and they caught it right away."

They put him to teaching airplane mechanics. But design changes were so frequent in those pioneer days that he was placed in charge of an experimental aviation department at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, N. Y.

About this time the De Havilland

In the year that followed Miller continued his tinkering for Uncle Sam. His gadgets and improvements resulted in savings of millions of dollars.

He came to Fort Benning in 1938 for ordnance work. He soon turned his sharp brain to the quirks of Infantry weapons.

Miller's invention in 1949 of a single shot device for the 30 callibre machine gun is estimated to have saved the Army 5,000 man-hours a year in the time required to load a belt of ammunition in the gun.

One of his top achievements in World War II was his design of the M-7 grenade launcher for the M-1 rifle. Previously ordnance engineers had considered the job virtually impossible, because of the rifle's mechanism.

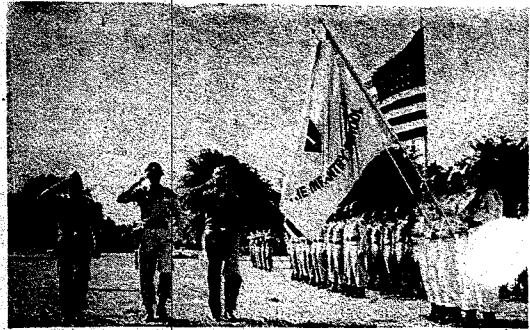

In the course of his experiments with the grenade launcher, Miller suffered a severe leg wound, but continued work on the device at the repeated request of the Army ground forces. Success finally came and he was cited for Exceptional Civilian Service by Secretary of War Henry Stimson in 1944.

Helpful in Many Ways

Miller is called in to help in all sort of emergencies at the Infantry Center. He simplified the pulleys on the parachute towers when tracers had trouble on their initial jumps. He mounted the first 87-mm anti-tank gun on a jeep. He devised a special hydraulic lift in World War II that lifted famed Gen. George S. Patton from the floor to the roof of his tank.

Last week, the ordnance wizard was engaged in another typically intricate job. He introduced a way to attach tank tracks to the side of an M-48 target tank to protect the sides from damage during Infantry School range problems.

A native of Red Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Miller got around to a job about nine years ago that he'd never had time for before. He married his high school sweetheart, Miss Amye Hines of Huntington, W. Va., and they now live quietly in Columbus.

GENERAL WELCOMED . . . Trooping the line at honor guard ceremonies welcoming him to the post June 23 is Brig. Gen. Roy E. Lindquist, third from left, of West Newton, Mass., who succeeds Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten as deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center. Accompanying Gen. Lindquist are Brig. Gen. Robert H. Booth, left, Third Infantry Division Artillery commander, and Capt. Paul W. Clem of Denver, Colo., commander of Hq & Hq Co., 29th Inf. RCT.

OBSERVING . . . Two key Burmaese Army officers at Fort Benning June 18 to 21 to observe Infantry School activities. Col. Maung Maung, right, director of military training, and Col. Khin Nyo, left, director of Artillery and Armo.

3 Div. Group Plans Reunion

Members of the Society of the Third Division will meet in Washington, D. C., July 13-15 for the 37th Annual Convention and Reunion, with headquarters located at the Sherham Hotel.

The initial day, Thursday, July 13, will be devoted to registration, which begins at 9 a.m., and to an informal meeting in the Hospitality Room, which begins at 2 p.m.

Friday and Saturday will be filled with committee meetings, sight-seeing tours of the nation's capital, and more informal meetings in the Hospitality Room. Election of national officers for the coming year will wind up the business program on Saturday morning.

The Hospitality Room will be open that afternoon. The Annual Banquet is scheduled for Saturday evening.

Sunday morning, members will join in the traditional wreath-laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington National Cemetery.

Reservations for the convention may be made by contacting I. Gardner Moore, General Manager, Sherham Hotel, 2200 Calvert Ave. of National Officers for the coming year, Washington, D. C.

128 Killed in Crash Of 2 Airline Planes

128 persons were killed last Saturday when two commercial airplane planes crashed in the Grand Canyon of Arizona. The accident, presumably caused by the planes colliding in flight, was described by authorities as the worst commercial air disaster in history. The helicopter crew which managed to land at the scene of the wreckage Sunday reported that most of the bodies were burned and mutilated beyond recognition. No survivors could be found. Both planes were eastbound out of Los Angeles, following a flight plan which called for them to be flying 1000 feet apart. However, weather probably caused the planes to be flying at the same altitude, and presumably caused a collision in mid air.

300 Persons Killed In Polish Rebellion

Last week saw an uprising in Poland of workers and anti-Communist underground rebels which left more than 300 people dead or wounded. Army tanks rumbled through the streets of Poznan in an attempt to put down the riots. Troops and militia were everywhere, and jet planes roared overhead in a show of strength. The Communist government reported that 38 rioters, Communist officials and troops were killed in the rebellion which erupted last Thursday. The government arrested an undetermined number of resistance leaders, and promised a full-scale investigation of the uprising.

Congress Passes Hugh Defense Bill

Congress passed the biggest money bill of the session last Friday, a $34,856,727,000 measure to finance the Defense Department through the fiscal year which started July 1. The bill carries about $20 billion more than President Eisenhower asked and reflects the determination of Congress to create and maintain the strongest Air Force in the world. The Air Force got almost half of the money, $15.2 billion. About 10 billion dollars was allotted to the Navy and Marine Corps, 7 1/2 billion to the Army and the balance went to the Defense Department for miscellaneous purposes.

MM Marries Miller In Quiet Ceremony

Marilyn Monroe, and Arthur Miller, the playwright, were quietly married June 29, climaxing America's latest "sensation" romance. Doled by reporters and photographers for a week, the couple managed to slip away for the expected but nonetheless surprise ceremony. The couple were married at 7:30 p.m. in White Plains, N. Y. The big question now is will the couple be able to go on their planned European honeymoon? Marilyn, is scheduled to leave in the near future for England where she is to begin work on a movie. Miller had planned to go along with her however, he has been having "some problems" because of a congressional investigation of former Communist affiliations.

Our American Freedoms

The soldier guards freedom of religion, left bottom shot, and freedom of assembly, two of our most cherished rights in this country's democratic system. The picture was created by M-Sp. (Master Specialist) Joseph P. Wolfe of Pontiac, Mich., assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Company Special Troops Command.

3rd Division Begins Training Recruits

Over a thousand men fresh from the Replacement Center at Fort Dix, N. J. Other groups will arrive from Fort Dix by air later in the week. The men will be assigned to a newly organized unit, the 9th Training Bn. which will become a fifth battalion in the 3rd I.C.C. The Battalion is located in Harbony Church in the Ft. 1 and Ft. 2 areas, and will be commanded by Lt. Col. Herman M. Volheim. Col. Volheim was formerly C.O. of the 7th Inf. Bn. and served as executive officer of the 3rd prior to this assignment. Upon completion of the eight weeks basic training the men will be assigned to the various units at Fort Benning within the Division. Cadre for the 9th Training was provided from units in the Division. The nucleus of the Bn. was provided by the 7th Inf. Bn. and units of the 30th I.C.C. The officers and N.C.O.'s selected as the cadre for the new training battalion were carefully screened to provide the Battalion with the highest caliber of personnel. The organization of the new unit (Please See RECRUITS, Page 13)

Reservists Arrive July 8 To Begin Summer Training

The first of approximately 6,000 U. S. Army Reservists scheduled to train here this summer will arrive July 8.

Four units will encamp at The Infantry Center July 10, touching off the annual training program which will see about 20 USAR organizations from 12 of the Third Army areas on posts for two week periods through Sept. 9.

The initial group July 8-22 will include the 4th Medical Group, and the 3d and 5th MPD (C.I.), both of Lakeland, Fla.

3 Post Colonels Get Re-Assigned

Three colonels have been named to key posts at the Infantry School effective July 1.

Col. Melvin C. Brown of St. Louis, Mo., former chief of the Staff Department's Logistics Group succeeds Col. Robert H. Douglas of Swarthmore, Pa., as department director. Col. Douglas will attend the National War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

New chief of the Publications and Visual Aids Office is Col. Theodore C. Matusz of Seattle, Wash., who has served as chairman of the Committee since May, 1953. Col. William J. Boyle of Brooklyn, N. Y., previous Publications and Visual Aids chief, is on a seven-month temporary assignment at Fort Campbell, Ky.

CADETS TO PLAY

The United States Military Academy class of 1956, presently engaged in a two week training session here, will play the Division Artillery team, Third Division, at Gwinnett Park tomorrow. Game time is set for 4 p.m. The two teams played last week with Divarty coming out on top.

Col. Robert E. Holman of Florence, S. C., director of the Automotive Department since September, 1953, left June 30 to attend the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at Fort McNair, Washington, D. C., succeeded by Lt. Col. C. Harold of Okla., former chief of the department's Technical Training Group.

Officer's Club Slates Swimming Spectacular

The Main Officers' Mess will present "A Night in Paris" a French aquatic spectacle, at the lower pool July 5 and 6 at 8 p.m.

The swimming carnival, also titled "Un Nuit de la Paroe" for the continentals, highlights a 25-minute fashion show spotlighting everything from sportswear to the latest dinner fashions.

The show, with a 25-member cast, also is comprised of water ballets, songs, dances, plus a narrative of the experiences of a second lieutenant on his first trip to Paris.

The idea for the production was created by Mary Ellen Hill of Freeport, Ill. Mrs. Hill, wife of 2nd Lt. James L. Hill of Des Moines, Ill., last had water ballet experience at the Tom O'Shaner Club in Chicago. Besides creating everything from sportswear to the latest dinner fashions, she also will swim to "Boulevard of Broken Dreams."

Shortly before the landing of the Par. Capt. Joseph Levenson of Tucson, Ariz., his engine was on fire. The student pilot in the plane was Capt. James L. Levenson of Washington, D. C.

The radio message was relayed to Lawson through Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala.

An H-19 helicopter of the Combat Aviation Co., 3rd Inf. Div., departed from Lawson Field Wednesday afternoon for the site in order to determine the extent of the damage and make arrangements for either flying or hauling the plane back to its base.

The helicopter was piloted by 1st Lt. William L. Stevens of Black Foot, Ida., accompanied by copilot CW2 Billy H. Maff, Madison, Ala., and a mechanic of the Transportation and Field Maintenance Section at Lawson.

Location of the landing was approximately three miles west of Society Hill and 13 miles southwest of Enterprise, Ala.

Col. John J. Tolson

Col. Tolson Will Attend Flight School

Col. John J. Tolson, director of the Airborne-Army Aviation Department, has been chosen one of the first senior officers in the Army to receive flight training in Army Aviation.

He will attend a 25-week course in both fixed and rotary wing aircraft at the Army Aviation School, Fort Rucker, Ala., starting in September.

Col. Tolson will leave his duties here in August. His replacement has not been announced.

Twenty-seven colonels and lieutenant colonels are expected to participate in the flight training at Fort Rucker. Upon successful completion of the course, they will be placed on flying status and assigned to Army aviation duty commensurate with their grade.

A 1937 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., Col. Tolson is from New Bern, N. C. He served with the 52nd Parachute Inf Regt during World War II and made three combat jumps.

Col. Tolson was assigned as an airborne instructor at the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., from 1953 to 1954 and later served in England. His total length of overseas service is seven years.

The colonel wears the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal, Air Medal, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge and Master Parachutist's Badge.

Col. and Mrs. Tolson have three children.

Chaplain's Corner

BY CHAPLAIN (MAJOR) MALCOLM SADDLER
Many of us are so deeply engrossed in our everyday lives that we take little time to consider the wonderful work of God in the establishment of the world and mankind. We are so busy that we ourselves are responsible for our success, our happiness, and our position in the world. We should pause, however, to consider the work of God in our lives and in the world around us.

God's work has been described and emphasized throughout the Bible but the Psalmist David wrote:
"First of all, God's work is that He has made the heavens and the earth. He has given life to plants, to animals, to man. He has revealed Himself to us, and He has established His great power, His character, and His love in the hearts of men. He did great things for the children of Israel. He has done great things for all who have lived in the past, and today He continues to do great things in our lives."

God's work is not only great, but it is glorious. The work of God is the work of concern and compassion. Many have spoken of His power, majesty, and righteousness, but the glory of God is in the fact that He gives guidance, love, mercy, shelter, and protection to all men. His love and loving care goes out to today and forever.
God's work is also glorious. He has spoken to us through the lives of men who have lived before us. His deeds and works have brought truth and judgment and contentment to every man. His laws are strong and firm, and real, and they can be trusted to guide us in all our efforts day by day. His works are genuine in that they are Holy and true and Righteous.
Finally, God's work is gracious. The Lord redeemed Israel and led them out of bondage from Egypt, but He has done far more than that for us today. He has allowed us to establish a great nation, a great America. He has given us freedom and understanding. He has established a bond with us that will never be broken so long as we follow closely His path of leadership and seek to obey His law.

Through the gracious work of God, we can find peace and contentment not only within our community and our home, but within our hearts.
"Pass In Review" is also heard over WPXN in Phenix City each Sunday at 12:30 p.m. WPXN also carries "Banning News" Monday through Saturday morning at 7:00 a.m., Saturday morning at 7:00 p.m. on post.

'Queen of Battle'

From the moment a man enters the Army, there is one organization he is dependent upon throughout his military career. This is the organization responsible for his burial if the need should arise. "The Army's Provider" is the subject of this week's production of "Queen of Battle." Listen this Saturday to WRBL in Columbus immediately following the sports roundup after the game for an informative account of the activities of the Army's Quartermaster. WRBL also presents "Banning News" each weekday morning at 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. If it's music you're looking for, tune to WGMA in Columbus each Sunday at 12:15 p.m. for "Banning News" and 7:00 p.m. for "Banning News." The production of this week's radio division production, this Sunday program features the 6888th Central Postal Directory and the 8888th Central Postal Directory. One fine summer day Bradley Davis, a vacationing newspaper man, sails peacefully into a little harbor on the Connecticut coast. Within twenty-four hours his vessel is wrecked in a hurricane, and having barely survived the disaster, he has to fight for his life again, this time against the charge of murder which he has divorced his wife.

DEATH IN THE WIND, by Edwin Lamban. (Harcourt, 1955). One fine summer day Bradley Davis, a vacationing newspaper man, sails peacefully into a little harbor on the Connecticut coast. Within twenty-four hours his vessel is wrecked in a hurricane, and having barely survived the disaster, he has to fight for his life again, this time against the charge of murder which he has divorced his wife.
SUCH IS LIFE, by Jeanne Harman. (Crowell, 1955). What goes on behind the scenes of the world's great magazines? Successful novelists have used bits and pieces of what is respectively true in their books. Around him "Such Is Life" is the first full inside story, written by a young woman who has had experience as a writer and researcher on the Life magazine staff.

It is extremely necessary that we pause occasionally to consider the great works of God as manifested in the history of our nation and in our own individual lives. We must praise His name for His glorious and genuine and gracious work. We must bow down in His children of men."

Summer Can Be 'Coolest' So Use Your Head, Man

Man, this summer can be the coolest, no matter what Old Sol decides to do. It all depends on how we use our noodies. Man, Summer is a time for fun. But Sol can be a party pooper, too! Doctors haven't cinched it, but they're pretty sure too much sun contributes to skin diseases. That's point one to remember. Get some sun but be smart about it. Protect yourself. Swimming can be a great sport and its healthful, man. But water can be a killer. Don't showboast! It's don't overestimate that breast-stroke; don't dive into an empty pool. That's point number two. When we sweat, man, dig the salt that pours out. But those happy little salt pills are the craziest. If you've had some, if you're reeling and keeling, down a salt pill with a glass of water. That's point number three. And now, cis, when you get behind that wheel to head for the beach or a picnic, be careful. Americans insist on hitting themselves on the road. Summer seems to be a top time for whizzing along the highway to build up a breeze. You're erray if you do, man. Keep cool, man, and remember these four points. They're a pretty potent program for the good old summertime. (AFPS)

Scouts Attend Annual Meet

Two post Girl Scouts are attending the organization's first Senior Roundup being held at Pontiac, Mich., June 29 to July 11. Carolyn Todd and Pene Toraville, both 14, are among eight Scouts selected to represent Conestoga Council, an eight-county area, at the National meeting. They are the daughters of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph L. Todd, Deer Creek, N. Me., and Major and Mrs. C.W. Tourville of Sparta, Wis. Mrs. Howard A. Greenwalt of Harrisburg, Pa., District G-11 Scout chairman, presented checks for $25 to Carolyn and Pene as gifts from the post's Youth Activities Club in ceremonies June 26. The delegates left by train June 26. They will visit Washington, D. C., en route home.

A "city" of 2,960 tents in Highland State Park, site of the former estate of Edsel Ford, will house the conference. Highlighting the meeting's "Americana" theme will be messages from President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, who is honorary Girl Scout president; a pageant, on the American pioneer heritage July 7, and a play July 9 on the development and ideals of Scouting.

July Quarterly Contains Many Informative Features

The July issue of The Infantry School Quarterly — the official publication of The Infantry School — contains 117 informative pages packed with articles covering the major areas of interest to Infantrymen.

New Organization. "Those Who See the Whites of Their Eyes," by Maj. Gen. D. Head, Chief of CONARC's Infantry Section, describes a proposed new organization for the Infantry rifle squad. Col. Robert E. Holman asks, "Are You Prepared to Command?" in an article which suggests a program to insure that Infantry officers are better prepared for the many management responsibilities of command. Lt. Col. W. M. Boyce describes how inspections can work for the Commander or insister against him in "Capitalize on Inspections."

The second in a series of checklists "The Defense," prepared by The Infantry School for company commander platoon and squad leaders, also appears in the July issue. The Infantry School Quarterly is the only publication written specifically for Infantrymen. It is available by subscription from the Book Department, Fort Benning, Georgia. Rates are $2.50 (one year), $4.75 (two years) and $7.00 (three years).

Construction Underway On Five Post Projects

Five new projects have begun on post under the supervision of the Infantry Center Engineer Section. The work includes exterior painting of 23 buildings, replacement of defective wood sittings on the same buildings, modification of Brown Hall, replacing gas service lines in Benning Park Homes and installing air conditioning in four chapels. The D. E. Newstam Company of Columbus will replace defective wood siding and the exterior trim on 23 buildings in the Sand Hill, Harmony Church and Main Post areas. Most of the work will be done on mobilization-type barracks. Cost is $25,398 and the completion date is listed for Sept. 28. Three firms, M. W. Garner and S. A. Nielsen of Columbus, a D. Bailey, Lewis and Williams of Atlanta, will handle the exterior painting of the buildings. Cost of the project is $24,027 and completion date is Oct. 31. The Lee Stahl Company of Columbus will modify Brown Hall. The work includes installing flood lights around the perimeter of the building and a chain link fence around the exterior. Vault doors, fluorescent lights, stage lights and charts and boards also will be installed. Doors are set for modification and repair. Project cost is $11,338. The job will be finished about Aug. 16. The 533 units comprising Benning Park Homes are receiving new gas service lines. The cost is $8,870 and the contractor will be Jordan Company of Columbus. Completion date is Sept. 15. J. A. Geiser and Company, also of Columbus, will install air conditioning units in four post chapels. Two are located in the Sand Hill area and the other two in the Harmony Church area. The work, which will cost $35,337, will be completed about Aug. 3.

Post Fish and Game Association Responsible For Strict Protection of Wildlife Resources

Fort Benning's 182,000 acres with their vast supply of fish and game resources, must be protected to be productive.

Since 1949, the purpose of the Fish and Game Maintenance Association has been to provide the needed protection. The area is monitored by a set of rules designed for strict conservation.

The Fish and Game Maintenance Association is a volunteer organization. A total of 5,630 active and retired military personnel and their families paid the $1.75 membership fee during fiscal year 1955-1956. The new year for membership purposes, began July 1.

The price covers the cost to fish and hunt on the reservation and also allows members to participate at no charge in special events, turkey shoots and barbecues, turkey hunts and skin turneys, etc.

All people utilizing the post's hunting and fishing facilities also must have federal licenses, which may be purchased through the association.

State Laws Followed

State laws comprise the major guide in setting up the post's fish and game rules.

With the reservation spread out in Georgia and Alabama, officials have elected to abide by both state statutes concerning hunting.

Bag limits and opening and closing dates for the various seasons are duplicates of those set by the states. In fact, the post limits the number of days for hunting. Alabama and Georgia both permit hunting from opening to closing dates for the respective seasons. The post allows hunting only on Wednesday afternoons, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, still remaining within the inclusive date periods set by the state.

One Exception

There was one exception to the rule, although that did not go through until permission was obtained from the Georgia and Alabama Fish and Game Commissions. Deer season opened a bit early on the post last fall to provide members of the Third Infantry Division an opportunity to hunt prior to leaving for Exercise Sargeburh in Louisiana.

Even then, though, the schedule was rather curtailed. The deer season consisted of eight hunting days over four weekends, with a bag limit of just one deer. In order to control the activity, a system of registry and check points was established.

One of the most significant enterprises undertaken by the association was the predatory control program to check rabbits, which began in Sept., 1954. The more than 2,500 rainbows spotted in Oct. 1952 to March 1954, with the 872nd Quartermaster Bath Company, was assigned to Fort DeWitt, Mass., before coming here.

Col. Lester L. Wheeler of St. Petersburg, Fla., assumed the post of president of the group last week. He replaced Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zierath of Shelbyville, Wis., one of the post's leading sportsmen who fully appreciates the value of the association's conservation program.

completed May 10, 1955, and involved determination of the length of fishable waters, average depth, number of holes and water temperature.

The five-mile stretch covered showed water temperature in the lower 50 degrees Fahrenheit, the average depth four feet and an adequate number of deep water holes.

Fifteen days later, the Branch Game Fish Hatchery at Irwin, Tenn., indicated that 2,000 four-inch rainbow trout could be stocked here. They sent 500 trout 10 inches or more in length as "keepers".

500 Acres Planned

To keep game from gathering in one location, 500 planned acres are scattered over the reservation. Bicolor sycamore fields and crops of peas, millet, corn, oats and wheat are planted throughout the reservation. Rice is spotted in 75 acres. The corps aid in feeding all principal game fowl and animals on post.

Col. Lester L. Wheeler of St. Petersburg, Fla., assumed the post of president of the group last week. He replaced Brig. Gen. Frederick R. Zierath of Shelbyville, Wis., one of the post's leading sportsmen who fully appreciates the value of the association's conservation program.

Assigned to SFC

The 2d Special Troops Bn, SFC, was recently augmented by the assignment of three new members. They are SFC James E. Tyra, SFC George Elmore and Pvt. John T. McElyea.

SFC Tyra was assigned to the 515th Transportation Company (light truck), where he has been designated platoon sergeant. Sgt. Elmore, from Altitude, S. C., has been assigned to Co. A, where he will be a heavy vehicle driver. Elmore entered the Army in Dec. 1952 and served in Korea from Oct. 1952 to March 1954, with the 872nd Quartermaster Bath Company. He was assigned to Fort DeWitt, Mass., before coming here.

Pvt. McElyea, now a cook in the 589th Signal Co., entered the Army in April 1951. He top has served in Korea, his assignment there being with the 36th EAB. McElyea is a native of Huntsville, Ala.

LI. Has Worn Many Uniforms In His Lifetime

In uniform since his sixth birthday, such is the story of Lt. Thomas A. Lilly, student officer in the 2d Lt. Col. Fred E. Patch, 1st Lt. The uniform of an Army Officer is the most recent one for him, but many others have gone before.

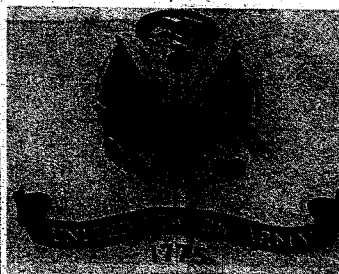

The first uniform he donned was that of a Cub Scout. Then, in systematic order, came the uniform of a Boy Scout, Explorer Scout, Assistant Scout, Master Scout, Scout Master, Neighborhood Commissioner, and now he switches from the Army uniform he wears here at The Infantry Center to that of Assistant District Commissioner for the Georgia-Alabama Boy Scout Council with headquarters in Columbus.

Members of APO

Lt. Lilly is a graduate of Oklahoma A & M College and was a member of the Alpha Phi Omega, a fraternity made up of former Boy Scouts. It was while he was in college that he became a Neighborhood Commissioner with the responsibility of coordinating the unit Scout program with the overall district program.

There have been many outstanding experiences Lt. Lilly has had during his scouting career, but there are two that stand out in his memory. First was his trip to the Schill Scout Reservation for a six week school for Scout Executives. The second outstanding experience was his attendance at Valley Forge, Penn., in 1952. The Scouts were on a trip to Washington, D. C., and were fortunate to see both President Truman and General Eisenhower. The end result for this was the thought to see both President Truman and General Eisenhower. The end result for this was the thought to see both President Truman and General Eisenhower.

New Army Flag Portrays Complete History of Arms

The proud history of the United States Army, from Gen. George Washington to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, is depicted in the design of the new official U. S. Army Flag, which was dedicated June 14 in Washington.

The new army flag is designed in the national colors—red, white, and blue, with a frilly yellow fringe. It is the standard size, 96 inches by 48 inches, with a blue canton four feet, four inches high and five feet, six inches wide.

The flag bears 145 ribbons representing the 145 campaigns which the Army has participated in since it was created June 14, 1775, until the Korean conflict.

The flag is made of white silk, upon which is embroidered in blue or replica of the official seal of the War Office. Beneath the seal is a broad scarlet arcing bearing white letters spelling out "United States Army."

Beneath the scroll, in blue Arabic numerals, is "1775". The original War Office seal, the central design of the new Army flag, is described as follows: "A cannon in front of a drum with two drumsticks; below the cannon three cannon balls. A mortar on a tripod and below the mortar two powder flasks. In the center a Roman breastplate over a jupon (leather jacket)."

Fixed beyond the breastplate rises a lance class No. 17 will be graduated at Automotive Building E-3 guard supporting a Phrygian cap and 250 students will have the need between an exponent (pistol) and an organizational color on one side, and a musket with fixed bayonet on the other side.

Mother Writes To Sons Tom, Dick and Harry

It's not everyone who writes to Tom, Dick and Harry in the service, but to Mrs. Harry C. Rogers, Sr., of Jacksonville, Florida, it's a family matter.

Mrs. Rogers is the mother of Capt. Harry C. Rogers Jr., CO of Co. A, 54 Special Troops Bn., and has two other sons, Thomas and Richard, also serving Uncle Sam.

Another fact indicates the Rogers family is an Army officer's family. Tom, too, is an Army officer, a major with the Tennessee Military District in Knoxville, while Dick followed from the field and became a captain in the Air Force, presently stationed in Landsburg, Germany.

Harry admits, "I can't think of just why we became interested and decided to make the service our career, except we all like the kind of life it offers. It's a challenge to a man."

Before entering service, Tom, Dick and Harry followed their father, who was a member of the City of Jacksonville, Florida as highway engineers, and just by chance, all enjoy taking off on a deep-sea fishing cruise.

"It really did break up the close companionship we have shared all our lives, but you can't have everything. Since Tom went into the Army in 1941, we have managed only one reunion, in 1944."

Tom got the jump on his brothers in point of service, but it wasn't long before Dick and Harry followed. Tom now has 15, Dick 12 and Harry 11 years of service and all have definite plans to go the full twenty.

Harry makes his home in Jacksonville, Fla. Tom has settled his family in Knoxville, while Dick, as usual, has veered from the pattern and calls Santa Ana, Calif. his home.

Col. Campbell Cited Upon Leaving Army

Lt. Col. Frank J. Campbell of Houston, Tex., was presented an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement in ceremonies preceding his retirement June 30. Col. Campbell plans to practice law in Columbus, where he will specialize in court martial cases. Executive officer of The Infantry Center Staff Judge Advocate's Office since Sept. 1953, he was recognized for outstanding professional knowledge, ability, efficiency and cooperation.

Doughboys Beat Tuskegee; Find the Winning Formula

Ingredients for winning a ball game: mix a two-week layoff with a complete letdown from the post office after the loss of slugger star, Ray Murawski, who was transferred to Ft. McPherson; stir gently with an opponent the caliber of Tuskegee; add a dash of Big John Barnard pitching a three-hitter and the result is a 17-2 victory for the Main Post Doughboys.

Under a barrage of an eighteen total base hits, the Doughboys solidly glided to a one-sided victory over a hapless Tuskegee nine.

Officer Named Assistant Coach

With the naming of 2nd Lt. James F. Ingram as Fort Benning's first coach one-third of the team's coaching problem has been solved. The Sports Office still is seeking head and backfield coaches.

Ingram, 37, native of Santa, Miss., captained the Ole Miss football squad in 1953, leading his team against Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl—the same year. The former tackle had a pro bid from the Atlanta Braves, but a shoulder injury prevented him from accepting.

Ingram had been coaching at Sardinia, S. C., before joining the Army in the summer of 1955.

3 Div. Team Cops 4 Titles

The newly formed 3d Infantry Division Pistol Team took a Nashville, Tenn., last week to compete with civilian police and service teams including a Marine pistol team.

TIC Net Tourny Stated for July 16

First call for participants to take part in the annual Infantry Center Special Services Tennis Tournament was issued this week by the Special Services Sports Officer, Mr. Sam Roberts, Sports Supervisor, said that the tournament would be held July 16 and that entries are being accepted immediately. The play will be conducted at the Officers' Mess Tennis Courts.

Entries may be made on an individual and team basis, Roberts said. Entry fees are minimal, including those in the Third Division are invited to enter teams or portions thereof.

JAY ADELMAN New Faces Vs. Old As All-Stars Meet

In five days, Cincinnati and some of their National League playmates travel to the American League's Griffith Stadium to decide whether or not Mickey Mantle is capable of hitting tape measure clouts against a group of pitchers he has not faced before.

Certainly no-one really thinks that the All-Star Game is designed to determine whether the American or the National is the superior league. I doubt that any single tilt can ever decide such a question.

Don't misunderstand. I'm not knocking the annual event which my cohort, Tom Wierzbicki, describes as "the game which ranks second only to the World's Series in international interest."

How could anyone look down on anything that brings together so many of baseball's best? This year, for a pleasant change, most of the square pegs fit beautifully into square holes.

NL Line-Up

The Redlegs, lest anyone forgets, placed five of their men on the eight-man National League squad (pitchers are chosen by the managers, in order to keep their two-platoon minds busy before the tilt). The quietest includes Johnny Temple at second base, Roy McMillan at shortstop, Frank Robinson in left field, Gus Bell in center and Ed Bailey catching. Dale Long of Pittsburgh will be at first, and Alvin Karpis, Ken Boyer and Stan Musial at third and in right field, respectively.

Only three of the eight are being outbitten by the fans' runners-up.

Repulski of the Cardinals leads the league in hitting, with a .371 mark. Nonetheless, Robinson, who is batting .323, has 220 at bats to Rip's 124.

I have just one question concerning the choices. Where did they all come from? There's not a single holdover from last year's starting line-up. Baseball certainly is not at a standstill, at least in the National League.

The picture changes when turned over. George Kell of Baltimore, playing third base, will be the only new comer in the junior circuit's all-star parade, and even this "novice" has been in five other such battles.

Some Old Faces

The faces of other squad members are so well-known that there's no sense in going into first names. Vernon, Fox, Kuenn, Williams, Mantle, Kaline and Berra all have set varying degrees of records in their times.

FACTS: Last year, the National League won in the 12th inning on a Musial homer, and some days has conquered its opposition in five of the last six starts.

PREDICTION: In an old-fashioned slugger-tinge, the American League will win this year, 9-7. Mickey Vernon is destined to be the Yankees' Johnny Kucks and Banks, replacing Roy McMillan in the late innings, will power a late National League surge. Keep one thought in mind. As Miss Lohr put it, "Watch Milwaukee."

Then there is the matter of pitchers. I'll take, and I figure that Casey Stengel will agree with me, Cleveland's Herb Score, the Yankees' Johnny Kucks and Chicago's Billy Pierce. For relief should National League power prove a bit overwhelming against fastball hurling, I'd probably go along with Cleveland's Early Wynn, Boston's Tom Brewer, Cleveland's Ray Narleski and New York's Tom Seaver.

Don't laugh at the last two choices. Narleski and Sturdiant, pitching mostly in relief, lead the American League in earned run averages. It takes a man who can lead in a strong three-inning stint to preserve a team's lead.

In certain that no one, least of all me, will be surprised if Casey also turns out to be a relief pitcher, Ford, just by way of adding a little icing to the cake, Lemon has proved the more dependable lately, but for some reason Stengel likes to use Yankees.

Milwaukee Trio

I suspect that National League pitching is not quite as strong, although Walter Alston will have Milwaukee's Lou Buechele, Ray Crandall and Tom Seaver to rely on. Four others with low ERA's are Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, the Giant's Johnny Antonelli, the Cardinals' Tom Poholsky and Brooklyn's Clem Labine. Labine, who has pitched 53 innings, has compiled a surprising 7-2 record and a 2.12 ERA.

National League strikeout king so far is Friend, with Joe Nuxall of Cincinnati second. Unfortunately, Nuxall also leads in giving away free passes.

Know where Don Newcombe ranks among the earned run leaders? The big right-hander, who was practically uncatchable last year, is 20th. He has recorded a fine 9-9 won-lost record, though. Appearances can be deceiving, can't they?

Six Army Posts Accept Invitations For Third Army Swimming Meet

Six Army installations have accepted invitations for the upcoming Third Army Championship Swimming and Diving Meet at Fort Benning July 13-14. The teams, which have announced their entrance to the championship meet, are Fort Benning, Fort Stewart, Ga., Fort Rucker, Ala., Fort Bragg, N. C., Camp Campbell, Ky., and Fort McClellan, Va.

Other Third Army teams not yet heard from are Fort Jackson, S. C., Fort McPherson, Ga., and Atlanta General Depot, Ga.

Doughboy League Slugger Windham Sets Sights On Baseball Career

By TOM WIERZBIcki
Borenet Sports Editor

A sturdy, well-built, 22-year-old hitter, like most batters who bat from either side of the plate, Windham has a preference. Bobby likes the port side of the batter's box.

"Bobby can hit equally well from either side of the plate," said Major William R. Windham of Buena Vista, Ga., the coach of the Doughboy League's baseball team at the Infantry Center on its ear.

The young player almost single-handedly led his team, the Doughboy League's baseball team, to a major division of the Doughboy League. Windham's big bat, which stroked out seven home runs, and his strong right arm, which racked up a no-hitter and two one-hitters, were major factors in helping the Doughboys to their first place through the season.

Swish-Hitter

The versatile switch-hitter prefers his hitting chores to pitching. His batting average seems to express the same sentiment. Presently, Bobby is hitting around the .652 mark, with 18 hits in 29 times at bat.

Hq Co Takes Lead In Engineer Play

Continuing to hold onto their lead by a narrow margin, Headquarters Company 30th Battalion, 151st Engineer Battalion, defeated Headquarters Company of the 37th Engineer Battalion by a score of 148. The winning pitcher was Sgt. Person over Sp5 Bialy of Hqs. 37th. The Hq's team is under the coaching of Sgt. Raymond Hilliard. Present term standings are as follows:

Team	Wins	Losses
Hqs. 37th Engineer Battalion	3	0
Hqs. 30th Engineer Battalion	2	1
Hqs. 151st Engineer Battalion	1	2
Hqs. 1st Engineer Battalion	0	3

Wierzbicki writes... Bobby Windham, 22-year-old Doughboy League slugger, sets sights on a possible career in the major leagues. The young slugger has accumulated a .652 batting average which includes seven home runs.

Bobby's athletic ability does not end with baseball, also excels in football, basketball, tennis and golf.

Good in Studies

Windham's studies do not take a back seat to his athletic ventures. Bobby is a good student, getting his share of A's and B's. His educational ambitions include attending Georgia Tech.

What about a career in baseball? "Sometimes, maybe after college," said Bobby. "I would like to play professional baseball."

When asked what team he would like to play with, Bobby said, "I would like to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Who else?"

With the loss of a large majority of the 3d Infantry Pistol Team, the All Army shoots and service Individual Firing Competition Matches was necessary for Capt. Virgil P. Koart, the Team Captain, to reform his team and prepare them for future matches. The match at Nashville resulted in four first place positions in the Individual Firing competition, the Open and Expert matches. The new team is made up of fliers from all of the major commands within the 3d Inf. Div.

The individual scores were as follows: Firing the Cal. 45 Pistol, Sgt. Ed Szecpanski in Match No. 2, 21st Time Firing 20 shot Open Match received the 1st Place award for his score of 192. Capt. Wendell B. Howland using a Cal. 22 Pistol received the 1st Place award for turning in a 176.

In Match No. 8 Pfc. Donald E. Riold fired a 195 shot in the 1st round in the Experts Match. With the aid of a Cal. 22 Pistol Szecpanski fired a 224 in the 2nd Place Match Course for the 2d Place award. With a choice of weapons in the 3d or 4d class Pistol Szecpanski again placed first, this time in the 20 shot rapid fire course with a near perfect score saw Lt. Sam H. Fisher Jr. fire a 279 for his first 20 shot match in the Expert class of the National Match Course.

Here Is One For the Book

It was the ninth inning of a 3rd Div. baseball game last Monday, June 26. Div. 4th was leading Support Command, 16-4.

With Support Command at bat and all of a sudden the umpire rushed out there, began conversing with the center fielder and both the Fort Benning catcher and outfielder.

It seemed that the outfielder, Ed Tab Beatty, had been using a catcher's mitt.

For a while the umpires scratched their heads as to the legality of this maneuver, but finally decided on necessary changes made by the Special Services Office.

In the open division the preliminary rounds will consist of the best two of three sets. The semi-finals and final rounds will be a best three of five sets.

The men's senior and women's competitors will be determined by a best two of three sets for the entire tournament.

Senior division participants must arrive at the tournament on or before the opening date of the tournament.

Individuals eligible to compete in the senior play may play in the open division if they wish. However, the play will be determined by a best two of three sets for the entire tournament.

No individuals will be drawn by name. However, the drawings will be made to prevent members of the same team and number one ranked players from competing against each other in the preliminary rounds.

Sergeant 'Sporty' In Model A Ford

Mid-Sgt. Thomas B. Clark has been given a new-fashioned idea about old-fashioned cars.

The sergeant, from Honkton, Tenn., assigned to the 3d Infantry Troop Bn., wants it understood that he believes in traveling first class. His expedition to the States recently bought a 1935 Model Ford club coupe for sports car driving. He wants to supplement his regular driving pleasure, derived from a 1955 Buick blue and white hardtop.

The Ford, which Sgt. Clark described as "sleek black," is his hunting and fishing mode. The Buick is for long trips through lands termed "non-sporting country."

And which car does he drive to post each day?

"The Ford, of course," he stated proudly. "I never sit up and look at it whenever I pass by."

It's small wonder. How many others are there like it?

SHOW BIZ

NBC, which saluted baseball on the opening of the major league season last April, will present a television spectacular in honor of football on Sunday, Sept. 3. The cable will take place in mammoth Los Angeles Coliseum. Handsome baritone Ricky Denzell is scheduled to record "My Platoon to You," with the famed Ray Charles chorus. Ricky, whose last recording, "Rat," sold more than 194,000 copies, is a rising young star who attributes most of his success to singing while in the Army. The one-time corporal is AFPS "I really got my break singing while with the First Cavalry in Japan. It really helped me out tremendously." "Highlights of the Army" a first-grade fiction story penned by Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, USN (ret.), and Col. Hans Christian Adamson, USAF (ret.), will be the first film by MorningSide Productions. The story deals with the work of U.S. submarines in detecting mines in the Sea of Japan during WWII. Actor Tub Hunter, who starred in a hit in the Coast Guard in WWII, plays an army private in Warner Bros. "The Girl in the Head." Script was written by another popular ex-army private — Marlon Brando. Scenes are being shot at Ft. Ord, Calif. Ernest Hemingway, author, reporter, adventurer, sportsman, now is making his screen debut in the film of his Nobel and Pulitzer prize novel, "The Old Man and the Sea."

GETS SET FOR STAY... Capt. James L. McBride of Savannah, Ga., an instructor with the 3057th U. S. Army Reserve Engineering School, gets set for a two-week stay at Fort Benning.

Reservists Begin 2 Weeks Training

Major medical and engineer Reserve units, told by Fort Benning's commanding general that they would receive the best support possible, began two weeks of summer training here July 9.

8 Teams to Compete For 3rd Army Titles

Swimming, Diving Tourney Gets Underway Tomorrow

Eight Army installations constitute the finalized slate for the Third Army Championship Swimming and Diving Meet to be held here tomorrow and Saturday.

Approximately 100 swimmers will participate in the two-day meet to be held at the Harmony Church swimming pool.

Fort Bragg, the defending Third Army champion, is expected to hold a strong team again this year. However, heavy competition will be offered from the local scene.

On the basis of past competition and experience gained through advanced meets, said Coach Don L. Brown of Marietta Springs, Colo., "we should make a good showing in the meet."

Fort Benning and Fort Bragg are the only teams which will field full swimming squads. The other Army installations will field individual teams which will specialize in their best events.

Benning's hopes of placing in the swimming meet rely strongly on the shoulders of two U. S. Army Reserve swimmers in 194 and 195, in the backstroke, and Lt. Paul Ware, Providence, R. I., in the freestyle events.

Tomorrow the following events are scheduled: 200-meter freestyle, 100-meter backstroke, 200-meter butterfly, 400-meter individual medley and the three-meter diving.

We're wondering — was it good looks, or the $40,000?

Do you remember reading an article about Sgt. Jerry E. Gruelle depositing $40,000 in a Soldiers' Savings when he was discharged at the Transfer Point, on June 15? The news item was released to the wire services and proof of its wide publicity coverage has already been received at Transfer Point.

Several people appeared in the news picture taken when Sgt. Gruelle was paid off, and one of these, SP2 Bobby Hamilton, a private guard that accompanied a young lady in California, she writes: "I saw the picture of you and I was glad to see it. It is going to be a big hit and it is going to be a big hit."

General Hickey Organizes Test Director Headquarters

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, commanding general of Third Army, has organized a Test Director Headquarters at Fort Campbell, Ky., to test organizational and doctrinal concepts under which the U. S. Army's newest division, the 101st Airborne, is being formed.

Gen. Hickey will head the group personally, and work from Third Army headquarters at Fort McPherson, Atlanta Ga. Gen. Hickey has named Brig. Gen. Roy E. Lindquist as deputy test director at Fort Campbell.

Gen. Lindquist is a veteran airborne officer and former commander of the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team in Europe.

He arrived at Fort Campbell July 6 to set up the Test Headquarters. Approximately 100 officers and enlisted men will compose the group. Officers who will serve in the group will include representatives from the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; The Infantry School, Fort Benning; the Artillery School, Fort Sill, Okla.; Armed School, Fort Knox, Ky.; Aggressor Center, Fort Riley, Kans.; The signal Electronic School, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.; Adjutant General School, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.; the Army Aviation Center, Fort Rucker, Ala., and the offices of the Quartermaster General, Chief of Ordnance, Chief of Transportation, Chief Engineer and the Surgeon General in Washington, D. C.

Army Seeks WOs From EM Ranks

The Army has urged qualified enlisted men with technical skills to apply for appointments as reserve warrant officers.

EM selected as candidates will be called to active duty immediately and may serve for an indefinite period, the Army said. At the same time, reserve warrants on active duty were encouraged to apply for conversion to regulars in critical specialties.

A nucleus of officers and men will remain at Fort Campbell full time until the final test evaluation early next year when the full group will meet on call by Gen. Lindquist.

Further details are contained in Circ. 56125 dated June 14, 1956. (AFPS)

DRG THOSE CRAZY SHORTS... Two post soldiers demonstrate how to keep cool and captivate the young ladies at the same time. Nancy Zavetz of Columbus, Ga., who works for Special Orders Section, STC, wonders when the U.S. Army will design such comfortable summer garb for civilian personnel. Left to right are Miss Zavetz, Pfc. Richard Palmer of Linthum Heights, Md., and MSP. Joseph P. Wolfe of Pontiac, Mich., both assigned to Hq. & Hq. Co., STC.

Lawson Unit Trains Own Mechanics

The 4th Helicopter Co. at Lawson Army Airfield has solved the problem of getting trained helicopter maintenance men.

Enlisted personnel will be clerks, drivers, draftsman and specialists needed to support the Test Headquarters. Lindquist's group will work initially at writing tests to determine the validity of the organizational structure, doctrine and plans which have been developed for the new airborne division.

A nucleus of officers and men will remain at Fort Campbell full time until the final test evaluation early next year when the full group will meet on call by Gen. Lindquist.

With a list of more than 35 operations out any difficulties which they may encounter.

When he has checked off in the 155 phases of maintenance, he is considered ready to go to the H-34 school at the Sikorsky factory in Bridgeport Conn. This five week course is given by the company in co-operation with the Armed Forces to enable proper maintenance on all types of Sikorsky aircraft. When an enlisted man finishes the five week course he has a tight hold on the MOS of an H-34 mechanic.

TIC Announces 3 Staff Changes

Three top level, general staff assignments were announced here July 3.

They involve the posts of Infantry Center assistant chief of staff G-2 and G-3.

Col. Alfred O. Boatman of Beatrice, Neb., former G-1, replaces Major George A. Schill of Detroit, Mich., as G-2. Major Schill will serve as deputy G-2.

Col. Henry Koepcke Jr. of Bellevue, N. Y., who commanded the School Brigade's 5th Bn., succeeds Col. Boatman as G-1.

Replacing Lt. Col. Jack A. Roquarth of Los Angeles, Calif., July 9 as G-3 will be Col. Claude M. Howard of Columbus, Ga., chief of the Associate Arms Group of The Infantry School's Tactical Department. Col. Roquarth will attend the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

Sgt. Isn't Scared Of Friday 13th

Assigned to telemechanics at Well, cheer up, Zimmerman's the third and last time this year that Friday falls on the 13th.

"Though we're not giving you any advice on how to get rid of your phobia, here's what a sergeant from the 2nd Infantry Regiment is doing about it."

He's Sgt. Thomas L. Bell of Blount, Miss., and came forward raw "air" will be his lucky number. That's how many years he's recruiting for.

The 23-year-old "sarge" figures his choice of assignment and three figure bonus money will more than offset any bad luck that can happen to him tomorrow.

Oh well—wait till September, 1957.

STC Retires 2 With Over 20 Years Service

Two careers in the 3-Signary service were brought to a close last week when SFC William D. Partlow and SFC Ervyn E. Tyson, retired, after having completed more than twenty years service.

At retirement ceremonies Sgt. Partlow was awarded a TIC Certificate of Achievement by Major Earl B. Hueste, CO Ord. Bn. (Prov), STC, for faithful and honorable service. During the ceremonies Sgt. Partlow revived an old custom of the artillery when he left his boots on the parade field.

He explained that this was traditional in the artillery for retiring personnel to leave an item of equipment behind so someone else could come along and "follow in his footsteps."

Sgt. Partlow first entered the Army in June 1918 at Marion, Ohio. Aside from his various assignments throughout the United States, Sgt. Partlow has served in Alaska, Japan, Europe and Africa. Among his many decorations he holds the Purple Heart and the Mexican Border and Interior Campaign Ribbon. He is also authorized the World War I Ribbon with three battle stars for the St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, and Champagne-Marne campaigns.

At the time of his retirement, Sgt. Partlow was assigned as Chief of Machine Section, 32nd Ord. Co.

SP-1 Tyson entered the Army here in July 1935 and was assigned to the 24th Inf. Regt. He too was awarded a TIC Certificate of Achievement. Lt. Col. John Cadie, CO, 1st Special Troops Bn., made the presentation.

SP-1 Tyson's overseas tours include Europe, Japan and Korea. Prior to his retirement he was Chief Supply Clerk in the Post Quartermaster, Fort Sam Houston, Tex. in his 34th year of active duty.

"Sure, Mantle can hit 60 home runs," said Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox. "He's big and strong. With everything going for him he can do almost anything. But it will be toughed from now on because he's going to be walked more."

The first part of the democratic election process, nomination of candidates, is now under way in the United States. Within the two major parties—and to smaller ones as well—are competing for the right to represent their party and receive its backing in the next election. Campaigns for nomination, like election campaigns later on, give alive: citizens take of facts about the men seeking votes. Each candidate makes sure that his good points get publicity, and reveals usually all each other's weaknesses.

On The Bookshelf

FORBIDDEN AREA, by Pat Frank (Lippincott, 1955). A tingling novel set in Florida and Washington, D. C., which deals with the most futuristic atomic age pushed to its limits. Major Price is a flyer whose loss of one eye during the Korean War has grounded him. The valuable to be released from service, he is made Air Force representative to the intentions of the Energy Group which is a top-secret, high level organization designed to keep one step ahead of enemy thinking. There is mounting tension and terror in his battle with the indifference of the American public to the news of its own impending destruction. The reader can see both sides of the struggle for world domination and will catch his breath as "Forbidden Area" speeds to its terrific and intense climax.

CORRECTION

In a report carried in The Bayonet concerning the Post High Game Maintenance Association, an error was made in the number of positive rabies cases in 1955. For the period from July 1, 1955, to June 30, 1956, no positive rabies cases were discovered in 1955. The original figure of seven cases was discovered in July 1, 1954.

Chaplain's Corner

CHAP. THOMAS D. McGRATH
 The late Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, whose intellect marked and his sharp vigor even after death, once said: "Work is the only way to live forever; but live as though you would die today."

Character will never grow without hard work; the climate in which it thrives is that in which it is challenged. These two reasons are the secret of success: first, for the joy of working; and secondly, for an extrinsic something which should be the glory of God, but which only too often is the accumulation of money or love of power. You work hard because but one great ideal: to do one's job well for the sake of Him who gave both the ability to do it and the vision to see it through.

Work is a means by which a man unites whatever talents the Creator may have given him for the service both of God and his fellow man. It is the pathway to Paradise as a place in which to rest.

NINETEEN BATTLEFIELD NOT housework defeated Molly Pitcher.

Her real name was Mary Ludwig Hays.

And on June 28, 1778, she came to Monmouth County, New Jersey, to visit her husband, an artilleryman serving in the Revolutionary War. When the battle of Monmouth began, Mary saw so much to be done that she just stayed.

Under the torrid sun, she carried countless pitchers of water to the exhausted and wounded soldiers. And when her husband fell wounded, she took his place at a cannon. Before the battle ended, Mary Ludwig Hays became famous as Molly Pitcher, one of this country's first heroines.

Today's battles are being fought on the economic front. And there's much that any woman can do to help in this field. A family's sound financial standing depends as much upon a woman's ability to manage money as it does her husband's ability to make it.

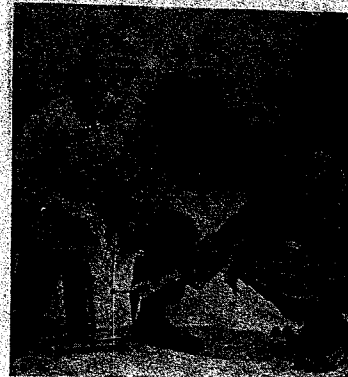

Many women are helping their families win financial independence by encouraging their husbands to invest regularly in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan. It's the easiest way to save—one of the safest—and one of the best ways to guarantee future prosperity.

For the big things in your life, be ready with U. S. Savings Bonds.

Cadets Lose To Benning In Chess Play

Fort Benning's chess club, out-generaled the West Point Cadet Class of 58 last Friday evening at Service No. 1, taking 7 1/2 points to the visitors' 1/2 in the eight matches.

The West Pointers gained their sole point of a drawn match, before Lt. A. Schick Weisberg, Fort Benning, and Cadet H. Johnson, playing on board seven, Weisberg had a strong material advantage but allowed his opponent to maneuver his king into a stalemate position.

In winning efforts for the Benning club, Post Chess champion, SFC Bob Karch, gained an early two pawn advantage, and then methodically exchanged pieces with Cadet William Dunning, until the end game when the pair of pawns spelled the difference.

The longest game of the evening was a see-saw battle between 1st Lt. Dan Cummings and Cadet W. P. Marshall, Cummings gained the victory by maneuvering a new king queening position.

Local players, SPS Ashley Dumas and SPS Dick Talbot, displayed smashing attacks to gain quick 15 minute wins on boards three and four. Pfc Vladislav Stojan and PFC Donald Goldstein took a little longer on boards five and six but the results were the same.

In the final game of the evening, 1st Lt. Rene Maruff played a cautiously methodical game to force eventual defeat on Cadet J. P. Hilly.

BULLS' EYE . . . Two North Carolina State College Cadets put the bulls eye right on the spot during practice rifle instruction at the General Military Science Reserve Officers Training Corps Summer Camp here. ### 7 Receive Cash Awards

Cash awards totaling $300 and certificates of recognition have been presented to seven civilian employees and servicemen for outstanding job performance and improvement suggestions.

The presentations were made by Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten, former deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center.

Capt. Clarence M. McDonald of Long Beach, L. I., N. Y., received an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement for two improvement suggestions and a Suggestion Award Certificate for a third suggestion.

A sustained superior performance award of $200 was presented to Miss Alice V. Wheeler of Columbus, for her work as a clerk-stenographer in The Infantry Center.

Huge Animal Research Center

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Benson has picked Iowa State College at Ames school to be open as a national site for the government's new 10 million dollar animal disease laboratory.

In a statement issued by the Department, Benson said his location had been recommended by a livestock industry advisory committee which surveyed a number of proposed sites.

Ames is in the center of the nation's hog and cattle feeding area, but is some distance from the range cattle and sheep-producing areas of the country.

Other locations which had been considered were: Madison, Wis.; Columbia, Mo.; Manhattan, Kan.; Stillwater, Okla.; Athens, Ga.; Collier Station, Tex.; and Fort Collins, Colo.

Teach 'Em Young PM Office Licenses Bike Riders As Part of Post Safety Campaign

The low-headed boy of eight wobbled ever so slightly as he pedaled his big blue bike past the military policeman standing tall at a Fort Benning street intersection. "Just a minute, son," said the MP.

"Got your driver's license?" The boy stopped and fumbled around in the pocket of his blue jeans.

Finally he pulled out a tattered scrap of cardboard which had been buried beneath a wad of used chewing gum and some old string. "I've earned triumphantly," displaying the cave in his teeth where the two front choppers were missing.

The MP checked the card and ruled the boy on. He was satisfied that here was a qualified driver.

Permits Required

All children between the ages of 8 and 14 operating bicycles on the Reservation are required to have operating permits issued by The Infantry Center provost marshal.

"It's part of a post philosophy that safety training should begin early. Typically, Army officials have used no half-measures in getting the kids qualified. They established bicycle schools and made them mandatory for all who wish to drive on post.

A total of 538 youngsters received the safety instruction during school holidays on three consecufive Saturday mornings recently. The small fry also drove through bicycle obstacle courses under the eagle eyes of MP's.

School was Fun

During the rather noisy proceedings, the kids took time out to guffaw, down generous helpings of cake and lemonade, proving that schools can be fun.

In a typical session at Ouster Terrace School, 176 dependents of military personnel completed the half-day course. They were collected by bus that morning at various points near their homes. Bikes were stored in huge Army trucks and accompanied the children to the school site.

Lt. Christopher Mayhew of San Angelo, Tex., conducted an hour's instruction indoors. He covered such subjects as driving courtesy, care and maintenance of the bicycle, safety rules and regulations, and traffic signs, signals and devices on the road. The next two hours were spent taking tests. Boys and girls in assorted sizes lined up through the obstacle course. MP's gave encouragement and corrected the stragglers at check points along the way.

Tested Ability

The idea was for the kids to pedal at station-fashion around the markers, make right and left turns on the painted zigzag lines using proper hand signals, stop for simulated red lights and at stop signs, and otherwise drive to the satisfaction of the instructors.

At the end of the line two Wacs typed in the name of the driver on each permit. Licenses were issued, along with a pamphlet on bicycle safety by PFC Robert Mosher of Des Moines, Iowa.

"Ask your dad or mother to read this," he said to each.

The children also were requested to have their parents install lights on the bikes to make them safer at night.

According to Lt. Billy G. Morris of Ashland, Ala., project officer, the bicycle schools will be held every three months in order to keep all the young drivers qualified.

The permits have had the effect of making post youngsters more safety conscious. The lessons they are learning are certain to be carried into the future when they drive automobiles.

"Teach them young and they won't soon forget is the practice at Fort Benning.

Army Contracts For New VTO Turbine Plane

The Army announced recently that it has contracted the Ryan Aeronautical Company, San Diego, Calif., to design and develop a turbine-powered, vertical take-off and landing aircraft.

Aply named this "Vertiplane," this new type aircraft will employ the deflected slipstream principle and use two large propellers and double retractable wing flaps.

The "Vertiplane" has a conventional configuration except for the wing, which incorporates double retractable flaps located so the propeller slipstream can be deflected 90 degrees downward during takeoff, hovering and landing. To fly horizontally, the flaps are retracted so the plane picks up forward speed and the slipstream then flows parallel to the ground.

The Army hopes to use the most promising of the new aircraft design configuration in developing a new family of VTO (vertical take-off and landing) and STOL (short take-off and landing) aircraft.

This type aircraft which will be powered by one gas turbine is being developed as part of the Army's program to increase the tactical mobility of its combat troops.

The "Vertiplane" will have the speed, range and payload of a fixed wing airplane plus the short to vertical take-off and landing capability of the helicopter.

A Chicago psychiatrist received a postcard from a patient who was on vacation. The card said, "Having a wonderful time. Why?"

EM Should Check On Re-Up Bonus
According to a recent Department of the Army Circular, enlisted men have claimed that the amount of reenlistment pay they received was less than the amount promised as an inducement to reenlist.

The reason for this difference in amounts is due to computation based on incomplete information as held for a first or subsequent reenlistment.

Although the reenlistment bonus is important in influencing EM to reenlist, no promise of a specific amount may be made, by an individual unit, until facts have been verified from personnel records and confirmed by a finance officer.

Enlisted personnel who desire bonus information should seek in the service, should see their personnel and finance officers for specific reenlistment computations.

All-American

were confined to the sprint events and the individual medley. However, in his junior year, a need arose for a man in the backstroke. Tom Murphy, the Denver coach, decided that Brown was the man for the job.

"I wasn't too enthused with the idea of taking up the backstroke," said Don, "because it's one of the more difficult swimming strokes to master. However, I figured if Coach Murphy thought I could do it I would give it a try."

And when Brown said he would give it a try, try he did. The net result was All-American acclaim and a third ranking national spot in the difficult backstroke event.

All-American fame in swimming is not easy to achieve. In swimming five men are picked from the nation. Only five! They are picked on their over-all time in events and must be consistent with those timings.

In his senior year he was again named All-American. Among the numerous records he set in the Skyline Conference in one winter he accomplished three records for four straight years in conference meets. Undoubtedly some of these records will be broken in future years. However, the name of Brown will long be remembered at Denver University.

Upon graduation Brown was commissioned a second lieutenant. He spent the summer of 1955 as the assistant manager of the Denver University pool and entered the Army in September. He was assigned to Fort Benning and took his BIOC training along with airborne training at TIS. Upon completion of airborne, he was appointed the post swimming coach.

The young lieutenant would like nothing better than to add the Third Army Swimming Championship to the long list of his accomplishments.

"We've got a strong team," said Brown, "with lots of depth and first place material. Last year we were runners-up to Fort Bragg in the Third Army tourney. However, this year we have only one thing in mind and that is to have Fort Bragg runners-up to Fort Benning."

15th ICC Closes Gap on DivArty's League Lead; Trail by Two Games

By KAL WAGENHEIM

Two weekly victories by the 15th ICC brought them closer to league-leading DivArty last week in the 15th Division baseball.

In a five-inning affair shortened by rain the 15th whitewashed Support Command, 5-0, paced by the brilliant pitching of righthander Bob Klynski.

On Thursday they blasted 12 hits against the 30th ICC to take a 13-5 event.

DivArty kept up its winning pace with a single victory in the 4th of July afternoon game, taking the measure of Support Command, 9-5. On Tuesday Klynski held the losers to four singles in five innings. The 15th struck quickly, jumping ahead 5-0 in the first inning.

Single start Tommie Ikeda, Wilson, and Hudson began with singles. With one out Myers added a one-bagger. Bryant walked, and Muslin socked a long trifice fly which accounted for the fifth score.

Phil Ament whacked a two-run double and Myers scored him with a single to account for three more runs in the second inning. Klynski added his own cause, chipping in with two hits in three trips.

Dave McDermott pitched a strong four-hitter on Tuesday as DivArty trounced Support Command, 9-5. Support Command scouted for three runs in the fifth and two more in the ninth before they were counted out in the ninth.

Lead-off singles from leader-graft and Johns walked and were singled home by Suarez but McDermott whiffed pinch hitter Klynski to nip the rally and end the game. Black Continues Sreak DivArty outfielder Dale Black maintained his terrific batting ah-

Five more runs in the top of the ninth led the issue as the 15th needed only three hits to do the job.

Shortstop Ament slugged out three hits in six trips to lead in hit-making and Ronnie Wilson maintained his stratospheric hitting average with two for five.

With last weekend's baseball activities drowned out by a steady rain there was time to reflect. The Redlegs have been hitting like champions for they have five of their starting players among the top 10 hitters in the league. The 15th ICC has three among the leaders, the 30th has two, and the 15th has one.

The Jorgensen of DivArty leads the league with a resounding .394 average compiled on 18 hits in 45 at-bats. Evert Austin of the 30th must officially be given the league lead with 22 hits in 58 trips for he has sufficient time at bat. Joe Johnson is the highest off-

Raiders and Dodgers Take Honors in YAC'tivity Play

Doing it the hard way the Raiders, coached by Capt. John J. Major, won the Youth Activities Council (YAC) Doughboy Baseball League by beating the Commanders in an extra-inning playoff game, 7-1.

It took a no-hitter through the combined efforts of Dave Kirk and John Radney to drop the Commanders, the Commanders were forced to replace Bobby Windham, who had rested up 14 strikeouts, with Gary Jefferson. The teams scored best pitcher. The loss of Windham led to the blow up by the Commanders and cost them the game.

Dave Kirk was victim of an oddity to top all oddities. The younger hurler pitched a no-hitter for six innings and due to the Little League ruling had to be lifted at the end of the regulation game. He did not receive credit for the victory. John Radney replaced Kirk and held the Commanders scoreless in the seventh inning and received credit for the win.

The line score for the ball game: Raiders, seven runs, four hits and three errors; Commanders, one run, no hits and seven errors.

The winner of the Minor League race were the Dodgers with a perfect record of 10 wins and no losses. The Cardinals finished second with nine wins and one lone defeat.

The council spokesman said yesterday recently enacted farm legislation to empower overseas sale of some five million bales of American cotton at the world price was a "damning" operation in which textiles made from the cotton eventually were resold to the United States.

The council also considered a pending bill to allow American manufactured textiles to be sold at the world price instead of the parity price. The union spokesman said the bill looked like a "necessary evil."

Ex-Olympic Star Shines in Battle, Becomes Famous

As Army Lieutenant was the first American ever to compete in the Olympic's modern pentathlon.

The young officer entered this grueling event in the 1912 Games without any special training or preparation. He was not a good swimmer and the 300-meter swim was almost too much for him.

In the shooting event some of his friends claimed he was charged with a miss because his bullet passed through a hole made by an earlier shot and left no trace on the target.

Nevertheless, this gentleman defeated the ultimate winner of the pentathlon in three of the five events and placed third in total points scored.

The world heard much more of this young officer as a victor on more serious fields of battle some 36 years later.

His name—General George S. Patton Jr.

30th ICC Begins Rugged Training

In the case of World War II and the Korean Conflict it is a need for trained men to be used in long range patrolling was far greater than what was on hand.

By using Ranger type methods to make the cadets into the Army line, the group had to move up by map and compass to the supposed location of the CP. Commanders accompanied by vehicle-mounted troops using machine guns and automatic rifles practiced problems after problems for the 29th ICC Infantrymen.

Top man, Sgt. Lorenzo Haglund of the 30th ICC staff, led a 600-point score for the 24-hour problem. Assisting Specialist Haglund was Sgt. Ronald E. Stearns, assistant squad leader, and PFC Robert H. Riley, rifleman.

Movie Review

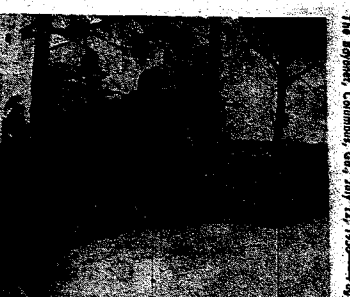

Novak Superb In Columbia's 'Duchin Story'

'The Eddy Duchin Story' is an exciting and moving depiction of a man known to millions only by his music—music by Duchin.

The romance between Tyrone Power as Duchin and Kim Novak as socialite Marjorie Oelrichs is presented with heart-warming simplicity; this simplicity is as compelling and as triumphant as the music by Duchin.

The cooperation by various members of the 94 Div. was responsible for this outstanding turnout. Also without the aid of the Gray Ladies of the post it would have been impossible.

"The Eddy Duchin Story" is a vivid new screen personality in the beautiful Australian-born, Victoria Shaw.

Principles cost millions. A bill now in Congress would boost the revolving fund from which production of one-cent and five-cent pieces is financed by three million dollars from the post and top limit of two million dollars. It is needed because of the rise in copper prices since 1934, when Congress authorized an increase in the supply of these coins.

About 50 cents' worth of copper is used in the making of 1.48 in pennies, which also contain other metals. A solid copper penny would be much too soft to stand up to the rigors of constant use.

Consumption of newspapers reached a high in the first four months of 1936, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The nation's press gobbled up an estimated 2,247,262 tons in that period as compared to 2,150,221 tons in the corresponding period of 1935.

June graduates will find that job prospects this year and next "should be good," according to the Labor Department. Labor Department officials stress the importance of getting all the education and special training possible, however, cautioning that a high school education is the minimum requirement for many "white collar" jobs.

The 60-year-old bulk of the battleship Oregon, once flagship of the United States fleet, will be getting hot steam again. She served in three wars, was converted to an ammunition barge in World War II and has now been purchased by a Japanese firm and towed from her berth at Guam to Japan, where she'll be cut up to feed the island furnaces.

President Holds Fate of Millions For State Bases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rife calling for a Strategic Air Command base at Dublin, Ga., and an outlay of $200 million as projects at the other Georgia bases needed only President Eisenhower's signature today.

Both the House and the Senate have given final approval to these projects but appropriations bills to finance them are still pending. The Dublin base was chosen to form a part of the Air Force plan to disperse its B32 strategic bombers. It will involve an outlay of about $4 million dollars.

Young Directors Open 'Local' This Sunday

The acting and musical talents of two Soldier Show impresarios combine this Sunday when "Downtown Local," a revue spotlighting the lighter side of life in New York City, opens at two service clubs.

Creators of the musicomedies are Tom Hawley and Bill Maldonado. Hawley is directing three skits, appearing in two of them, and also participating in a couple of musical routines. Maldonado is in charge of all the musical numbers, and the pianist, with his own band, will provide background music.

The revue, played almost on a bare stage, has a cast of 15. Performances are scheduled for Service Club No. 9 in Earnson Church at 8 p.m. and Club No. 2 in Sand Hill at 9 p.m. Sunday (July 23); Club No. 5 in Sand Hill at 8 p.m., July 24; Club No. 3 on Main Post at 8 p.m., and the Main Theater at 8:45 p.m. Aug. 4. "We're keeping expenses at a minimum," said Hawley, "in order to prove the revue is practical both in the intimate atmosphere of the service clubs and the proscenium stage of the theaters."

The World In Review

President Vetoes Construction Bill

President Eisenhower Monday vetoed a two billion dollar military construction bill, and the House took immediate steps to override the veto. The vetoed bill would provide appropriations for $1,100,000,000 for the construction and expansion of military bases and housing units in the United States and abroad.

The key point of dispute was a provision which would forbid the Defense Department to proceed with the development of the Talos guided missile without specific prior approval by the Senate and House Military Appropriations Committee.

Army People Should Check Benefits Offered by AUSA

The Association of the United States Army is currently engaged in a campaign to make itself a more effective instrument in support of the Army and national security. One goal of this campaign is an increased membership in the Association.

The contributions which the AUSA makes to professional education are all around a better Army need hardly be mentioned. Through the publication of "Army" they have fostered an interchange of ideas among the branches of the Army, and have done a great deal to unify these branches.

Many people might remember when each branch of the Army had its own association, and each association had its own publication. However, in recent days, it became evident that modern warfare required of the individual officer a knowledge and understanding of the problems which went beyond the branch interest. Therefore, the three branch organizations merged into the present AUSA.

This Association offers a unified organization which is well-equipped to fulfill its mission of helping the serviceman.

In addition to publication of the magazine "Army," the association is involved in many public information and public relations missions. Other aims include the promotion of Army tests and esprit de corps. AUSA also does a great job in publishing material of great value to Army education, which would probably not be published otherwise.

AUSA held their first national meeting here last fall. This meeting, attended by about 600 members, generated a tremendous amount of interest in the Association.

One of the projects which grew out of this meeting was a reorganization of the Association so as to widen the scope of membership. The aims and objectives were broadened and spelled out in more details.

The final result was a more influential voice, representing the best interests of the soldier, the Army, and the nation.

Everyone is probably familiar with the benefits which are derived from membership in AUSA, particularly for officers and NCOs. Through the magazine "Army" a soldier can keep abreast of all the latest developments in tactics, techniques, and policies of present-day warfare.

Also, the Association offers a book service and library where one can get the very latest in books dealing with military subjects. The Association is quite active in the field of career improvement. By focusing the attention of the public on the problems of the career soldier as well as those of the citizen-soldier, and the soldier as a whole, everyone is bound to benefit.

It might be suggested that anyone who is interested in the Army, either as a career soldier or as a reservist, should examine more closely the benefits derived from membership in the Association of the United States Army.

Faith For Today

CHAPLAIN (JST. L.V.)

Before the invention of the steamship, our ancestors across the sea were under the influence of the power of the wind. When the wind was favorable, they were under the influence of the power of the wind. When the wind was unfavorable, they were under the influence of the power of the wind.

This is characteristic of the individual who has within himself a divine faith which gives direction and force to his life. A man of this nature is not easily turned aside from the course of life by temptation, doubt or fear. His faith is in himself, alone, but in a higher and greater Power.

Wives Can Rest Easy; Household Goods Will Arrive in Good Shape

BY TOM SELLERS

A word of comfort to Army wives leaving for Germany: your household effects are, in good hands.

It's only natural for the jittery woman to get perturbed about possible losses and breakage when she learns that her furniture is to be shipped to a destination over 4,000 miles away.

Most of her worries fade, however, when she observes how carefully the items are packed and transported.

In keeping with the government's policy of giving the best possible service, a van system for moving family goods to Germany went into effect July 15 here and at other military establishments in the U. S.

Here's how it works: Everything (including the television set and junior's tricycle) is neatly packed into large metal boxes—4 1/2 feet long and 6 feet wide—by the Packing and Crating Unit of the Infantry Center Engineer Section.

Each 2,000 Pounds The boxes hold a payload of 2,000 pounds and weigh more than five tons fully loaded. They are constructed of corrugated steel and resemble small freight cars.

Next, the boxes, known in military language as "cooler" transporters, are loaded into commercial motor vans and are hauled to the New Orleans (La.) Army Terminal, where the second leg of the journey is accomplished by Military Transport ships.

At the port of debarkation, Mrs. Brown's household goods are again loaded into commercial vans and wheeled to their final destination.

Details Worked Out Details of the transportation are worked out prior to the shipment by Commercial Traffic Division, Transportation Section, The Infantry Center.

Division Chief William T. Patterson of Columbus, Ga., said of the system:

"We feel that it will reduce the threat of damage to the owner's property."

One government bill of lading

522 Begin or End Classes This Week

Approximately 522 students will begin or complete classes at the Infantry School July 16 to 21.

Two hundred men will enter airborne class No. 1 July 16 and 170 candidates will begin officers training July 20.

On July 21 at 11 a.m., 102 students will be graduated from Ranger class No. 11 in Harmon Church Hall, 37, and 50 enlisted men will be awarded certificates in Automotive Blg. E-1 on the completion of radio maintenance class No. 10.

ATTENDEE CONFERENCE Infantry Center Safety Director Norman M. Evans of Columbus is attending an Army Administration Safety Conference at Fort Rucker, Ala., July 23-25. He will return to Fort Benning July 25.

covers the entire movement from pickup at point of origin to delivery to the serviceman's residence at the ultimate destination.

In the past goods have been moved in a crated condition to New Orleans by both rail and motor freight. Shipments to Japan and other overseas bases excluding Germany are still made as previously. However, the new system does not apply to Berlin.

The list of belongings not transportable by the Army is small. It contains such things as autos and other motor vehicles, trailers, boats, animals not necessary to performance of official duties, birds and groceries other than for consumption by the individual being moved or his immediate family.

Very Little Breakage

James C. Colwell of Columbus, assistant chief of the Packing and Crating Unit, said he has observed very little breakage in the household items being moved in and out of Fort Benning.

"We sometimes handle as much as 25,000 pounds a day," he added.

Inside the wooden and steel boxes, literally tons of excelsior are used as padding. In addition pieces of burlap often are inserted between heavy pieces of furniture to prevent their bumping together during shipment.

Two large metal coils are required to transport the average military family's equipment.

WEST POINT BOUND . . . Pvt. Paul N. Gillon

Soldier Wins West Point Appointment

When the West Point class of 1961 comes to Fort Benning for their summer training in 1959 it will be the second visit to the post for one of its members.

Pvt. Paul N. Gillon, of Co. C, 2nd Inf. Bn., 34 Div., recently received notice that he had been accepted into the Military Academy class which begins in July, 1957.

He will report to the United States Military Academy Preparatory School this fall, for one year preparatory work.

The military life is not a strange one to Pvt. Gillon, being a graduate of the Georgia Military Academy, class of 1950. He also comes from a military family. His father, a colonel in the Ordnance Corps, graduated from the "Point" in 1925, and an uncle served as a pilot in the Navy during World War II.

Gillon has also been around national politics quite a bit during his 30 years, having served as Senate page boy from 1934 to 1937.

His Chapel Hill, N. C., address will be about 40 miles West Point classmates in one respect, since he anticipates taking Airborne training and qualifying as a paratrooper before he enters the Academy.

Gillon, who has completed 15 months of Army Service, says that he has just one ambition before he leaves the 34 Division.

What is it?

To make SFC.

GYROSCOPE PAYS . . . After re-enlisting for further duty with the 714th Tank Bn., which will "Gyroscope" to Germany next March, Sfc. Nicholas Potter of Medford, Mass., made a bee-line to the company commander's office. There he deposited $250 in Soldier's Deposit "for an overseas vacation." Capt. Leroy P. Schaefer of Phenix City, Ala., commanding officer of H&S Co. gives the supply sergeant a receipt for the large deposit.

Lawson Maintenance Shop Rebuilds Wrecked Helicopter From Pile Of Nuts, Bolts And Pipe

It used to be a pile of nuts and bolts and some twisted pieces of steel pipe. A real mess. Now it flies gracefully like a bird—straight up, straight down and sideways.

What it was—as Deacon Andy Griffith would say—was a Bell helicopter assigned to the Combat Aviation Company, Third Infantry Division.

Unfortunately, it had a wreck a few months ago. Nobody got hurt. But the little "chopper" obviously had had it.

The Air Force which normally performs rebuilding jobs on damaged Army aircraft, reckoned as how the helicopter was too far gone for them to fix.

As one wag put it, "the only thing it looked like they could do was jack it up and fly a new one under it."

But helicopters are expensive gadgets. New ones cost many thousands of dollars. Replacements for wrecked Army aircraft are very hard to come by. The problem in the form of the pile of old nuts and bolts was placed squarely on the floor of the hangar at the Transportation Aviation Field Maintenance Shop at Lawson Army Air Field.

A Benning First Nobody at the shop had ever rebuilt a helicopter. Still, they decided it could be done. The maintenance officer, CWO Billy Miller of Anniston, Ala., assigned a crew of civilian mechanics to the task. That was approximately two months ago.

Miller recently flew the little rebuilt two-seater H-13G for the first time, and it left the ground readily.

"It will take us a couple of days to get the bug out," explained the maintenance officer, who is also a qualified helicopter pilot.

"Then the ship will be put back into regular service," he added.

Called "The Wreck," known only as "The Wreck," the job required hundreds of man-hours to complete. "We started building it about the first of May," recalls Miller. "It was just lying there on its side. First thing we did was strip it down to the naked frame—pulled out the engine and everything."

Parts visibly damaged were discarded and new ones installed. But aircraft mechanics can't afford to be content with eye inspection. They submitted the important metal parts of the helicopter to a machine known as a magna-flux, in which a device like an x-ray machine actually tests the structure of the metal for cracks and "metal fatigue."

Another system called x-glow, utilizing a special spray or powder and fluorescent light, was applied to the aluminum pieces to test their ability to withstand the stresses of rotary-wing flight.

Next a new engine was installed in the "copter." About 99 per cent of the parts of the rotor section were replaced. And the old wooden rotor blades were abandoned for new ones.

Two of the civilian technicians who worked steadily on the rebuilding job are Marian G. Jenkins of Smith's Ala., maintenance crew chief, and Charley Light of Geneva, Ga. After making some last-minute adjustments, they stood back to admire their handiwork.

"Even though she's flying now," said Jenkins, mopping his brow and eyeing the trim little ship affectionately, "I still can't think of anything to call her except, 'The Wreck.'"

THE FORT BENNING BAYONET

There's no doubt about it. The modern automatic washer does a pretty thorough job on a Savings Bond. But it takes more than dampness or detergents to destroy its value.

This photograph shows what happened when a U. S. Savings Bond, left by mistake in a man's shirt pocket, went through the family washing machine. It looked like a real blue Monday for that Bond-owning family—until they told their story to the U. S. Treasury. The Government replaced the Bond. The family, realizing, never than ever the value and safety of Bonds cannot ship, stepped up their regular Bond-buying program. And they all lived happily ever after.

This little story, which is a true one, illustrates why Bonds are said to be "Safer than Cash." Each year the Treasury replaces thousands of Bonds lost either through carelessness or through the whims of nature. Every major flood, tornado, explosion or fire brings a wave of applications for Bond replacement.

So here's something to remember. Any of your Savings Bonds that are lost, stolen or destroyed will be replaced by the United States Treasury without charge.

U. S. Savings Bonds are not only safer than cash but one of the best investments you can make. You can be sure of the principal, sure of the returns (an average 3% interest when held to maturity)—and sure of the future when you invest regularly in Savings Bonds.

So start investing in Savings Bonds today—either on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or at your bank. That's the safe and sure way to clean up.

McGroarity Twirls No-Hit Game

Strikes Out Eight Batters In Double Win Over Gordon

BY TOM WIERZBICKI

Tom McGroarity of Centerline, fourth and had to settle for a Mich., ace pitcher of the Fort Benning Doughboys, pitched a no-hit, 2-0 triumph over Fort Gordon, Ga., at Gowdy Field last Sunday. McGroarity, property of the Kansas City Athletics and presently under contract with Columbia, S.C. in the Sally League, whiffed eight batters and allowed five walks.

The southpaw ace now has recorded 87 strikeouts in 67 2/3 innings. In his last game against Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., he struck out 12 in pitching a two-hitter.

Errorless Play
Aided by two double plays and errorless play by his teammates.

In a doubleheader played Monday and Tuesday, the Main Post Doughboys split with Ft. Stewart, losing the first game to John Barnard was the losing pitcher for the local team.

The Main Post team was the second game behind the fine pitching of Bill Storms, 4-3. The game was played on a home run by Doughboy third-baseman, Mike Zanardi over the right field wall.

The Doughboy mainstay faced only 30 men throughout the game. Fort Gordon left three runners on base.

The Doughboys were held to three hits by Jim Duff, Gordon pitcher, but managed to bunch two of the hits together along with an error and score the necessary runs.

Shortstop Dick Randazzo got on base when Bill Morston, Gordon first baseman, failed to catch the bag on a routine infield play. Randazzo stole second and was brought home on a sharp single to left by pitcher McGroarity. Rufus Holland, Doughboy first sacker, then proceeded to drive an insurance run with a single to right.

Will Be Discharged
McGroarity presently Fort Benning's leading mound performer, is scheduled to be discharged on Aug. 3. The Centerline, Mich., baseball star will attend school in Detroit where he will study blueprint readings.

The capable southpaw, who formerly pitched with Savannah in the Sally League (1952-1953) where he had a 15-3 record, will prepare for spring training with the Kansas City Athletics at West Palm Beach, Fla., next spring.

Second Game
In the second game of the scheduled doubleheader the Doughboys came out on top behind the adept pitching of Delroy Padgett, 4-0. Padgett had a three-hitter going for three and a half innings but was greeted with a single in the

Coach Don Brown Readies Aquaman

Don't be too surprised if Fort Benning's Brian Wells pool is a little crowded these days, especially in the afternoons.

The reason for the crowdiness is not that so many Main Post personnel are given the afternoon off but the Third Army All-Star team is practicing for the upcoming All-Army Meet at Fort MacArthur, Calif., July 25-28.

The All-Star meet also will produce the top three in each event. These men will train for a month in Detroit, Mich., in preparation for the Olympic Trials the latter part of September.

Coach Brown said the team would use the Briant Wells pool for daily workouts until Saturday.

"We'll leave Monday morning for Atlanta," said Brown, "where we will catch a plane and fly to Los Angeles."

The All-Army swimming meet will get underway on Thursday, July 26. However, the team will work out at the Fort MacArthur pool as soon as they arrive there.

The three-day meet at Fort MacArthur will produce the top three men in each event who will remain in California a week to train for the All-Service Meet.

Three men from the post team have an excellent chance of making the All-Army team. Don Enos, in the 100-meter free-style; Phil Ware, in the 200-meter butterfly; and Don Brown, in the 400-meter individual medley.

"I personally feel," said Coach Brown, "that Frank Grabowski of the local lighters, said that a card containing at least 10 fights will be presented.

Among those who will fight are Redemacher, Tony Robby, Charlie Alba, Jim Boyd, and Nak White. Benning originally had a match set for this week at Camp Lejeune, N. C. But the Marines reportedly have disbanded their team and the bouts were cancelled.

"The men are in tip top condition," Redemacher said, "Scala, who has taken over the job of coaching the team, has sent them through a series of grueling workouts. We'll be in fine condition for the fights next week."

Benning Boxers Hold Outdoor Bout July 26

Fort Benning's Boxers will have their first summer bouts at Gowdy Field, July 26. The outdoor bouts will start at 8 p.m.

Fort Bragg is last year's defending Third Army champions. The matches next Thursday will be the first for Benning in preparation for the Third Army tournament in the fall, and also the first under new boxing coach, Tony Scala.

Pete Redemacher, assistant sports officer, heavyweight fighter on the team, and former coach of the local lighters, said that a card containing at least 10 fights will be presented.

JAY ADELMAN

'Tremenjus' Tom Refused to Weep

For some kids, it takes just a bruised knee to end a budding baseball career.

Little Tom, all of six years old, was picking up the game fast. His father was sure that with proper tutelage, the kind only a father can give, Tom would grow up to be another Joe DiMaggio. Just look at this strong little fist gripping the bat. Mother, as mothers do, objected. She knew her son would make a fine pianist someday. His fingers moved with dexterity over the keys.

Tom was called from piano practice one day to play baseball. He tried to make second on a long single to right, but he was hurt on two counts. He scratched his knee-sliding into the bag, causing a hit of pain. What really hurt, though, was his pride. He was thrown out at second.

He cried. Mother heard the sobs, saw the bloody knee, and Tom returned to his piano. From then on, he became a baseball spectator. Today's he's an insurance salesman in Hoboken, who plays and sings risque songs about baseball at stag parties.

Then there are other Toms, older Toms. There's a Tom who was playing for Columbia in the Sally League in 1932. The same Tom rated among the "most promising" by the club that owned him, the Philadelphia Athletics. Tom, 22 years old, had a 2-1 record when the worst disaster possible for a pitcher struck. He broke his throwing arm. He was sure that like the little Tom, he would be forced into a spectator's role.

He didn't cry. He didn't even tell his mother about it. He waited for the arm to heal. It did heal, although he still has a bump protruding near his left elbow joint as a reminder of his most dismal day.

His arm wouldn't work into shape. He tried every exercise possible. He made it work into shape. The next year, with the same team, he had a 15-3 record.

Tom was drafted. He pitched part of one season for the Fort Benning Doughboys in 1956. He had the most important attribute for winning service games—a rock-throwing fast ball. But he did more than win. Tom matched and surpassed records only the real pros had set before him. He struck out 22 in one nine-inning ball game. Only Vinegar Bend Mizell of the St. Louis Cardinals had ever achieved such a Third Army mark. Three weeks prior to discharge, he had whiffed 37 men in 67 2/3 innings. Above all, on Sunday, July 15, he had pitched a no-hitter.

For Tom McGroarity there is just one direction. He's got to go up.

Then there's the background material, the stuff heard behind the dugout, so to speak. In fact, let's make that in front of the dugout. Tom McGroarity, always reticent to talk about himself, rates having part of the rest of the story told, only this time out in the open.

Doughboy League All-Stars Beat Tuskegee Twice

The Youth Activities Doughboy All-Star Baseball Team topped a squad of youngsters from Tuskegee, Ala., twice at Fort Benning July 12.

The post's Bobby Windham and Gary Jellison, pitchers who command a one-hit win in the regular All-Star game for post honors the week before, teamed up again for the two Tuskegee victories. Windham was the first to strike out, went to third on an overthrow, and continued on home after drawing an error thrown to third.

Tuskegee's only two runs of the day came in on a two-run homer by the third, giving them a slight lead in the six-inning contest. Both teams picked up seven hits in the opener but the Doughboys managed to scatter their blows among seven players. For Tuskegee, the hits were bunched among just a few players. The Doughboys played errorless ball, while Tuskegee gave up two errors. Windham, excellent both as a pitcher and batter, struck out 11 and allowed only two walks.

Jellison, a 10-year-old who is two years younger than Bobby, allowed just three hits in the second game. Gary whiffed five and allowed no walks. Both teams had three hits.

Walks lead to Tuskegee's downfall in the nightcap. The All-Stars countered all their runs in a wild second inning. Jerry Gross hit the most hoody blow, a two-run double, which began the scoring.

Series of bases on balls, plus Bob Humphrey's single, produced the four other runs. The All-Stars countered all their runs in a wild second inning. Jerry Gross hit the most hoody blow, a two-run double, which began the scoring.

"We had six pitchers ready to go, and had to use only two of them," he said.

An engagement with a Phenix City aggregation, plus a return to Fort Benning at the loser's park, are being planned for the future, according to Capt. Warrington.

AAMU Take Team Honors

A Fort Benning shooting detachment topped team honors in the two-day 1956 Georgia State Pistol and Revolver Championships at Fort McPherson, Ga., July 1-2.

Undaunted by intermittent rain, the All-Army Red Team from the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit, topped out in front of the field of 15 teams and easily won the Fort McPherson trophy for team championships.

Members on the Fort Benning team are: Col. L. J. Rouge, Head quarters, Sixth Army, San Francisco; Capt. Jack F. Kettler, School Brigade, Fort Benning; 1st Lt. Tetsuo N. Takasumi, Headquarters, Fifth Cavalry Regiment, Japan, and Major J. C. Davis, Infantry School Detachment, Fort Benning.

Other teams entered were: Birmingham Rifle & Pistol Club, All-Army Infantry Detachment, Fort Benning; Fort Jackson, S. C. (4 teams); Third Army (4 teams); Fort Jackson, S. C. (2 teams); and 187th Airborne Regimental Central Postal Directory, Fort Benning, with a score of 2,998.

Approximately 90 per cent of the entries were military personnel.

The only woman entering the championships was Mrs. D. F. Davis of Atlanta, Ga., who was a member of the Fort McPherson Rifle & Pistol Club.

McGroarity

Jim Murray, his coach here. "He's just now coming into his own. I think he's going to be surprised, in spring training with the A's next year, when he finds out just how good he really is."

His teammates call Tom "Tommenius", both as a pitcher and a person. He frequently provides coaching tips for fellow hurlers, but, as John Bernard put it, "He coaches out of courtesy. Tom has been a big help to me, but he's not a 'know-it-all'."

His farewell Army pitching performance will be against the Third Division All-Stars in the battle for post honors beginning July 25.

McGroarity's earned run average for the season is just a shade over 1.000.

His height might have been the greatest detriment to his success. He stands just five-feet, nine and one-half inches and weighs 170 pounds. In build he somewhat resembles Eddie Lopat, only Tom plays tricks with his faststuff, just not slow pitches. He shows sign of having Lopat's fine control.

He had a fantastic high school strikeout record at Centerline, Mich., whiffing 306 batters in 156 2-3 innings, while amassing a .921 record.

Tom and his wife Verdine, also of Centerline, have a 22-month-old son, Craig Michael. "He's got a couple of mighty strong arms," said Tom, the proud papa.

His record this year is 5-3, but he has an 8-0 mark if you go by earned runs.

With Tom, who was working in a laundry in the South Pacific at this time last year, the Doughboys have grown. They used to make as many as eight errors a game. His maturing influence has helped lead them to seven straight errorless wins. "You've got to act like a champion when you're playing with one," explained Rufus Holland.

Tom came close to never tossing an official no-hitter. Members of the Gordon squad, as well as umpires, were all for making the first half of the double header a seven-inning affair, like the second game. "We were too win-hungry for anything like that," said Mike Zanardi.

Tom cannot explain his sudden hitting splurge. "I'm just lucky," he said, "and have gotten hits on an awful lot of bad pitches."

Until Sunday, he dreaded day games, thinking they were losses. He invariably lost. Since Sunday, he seems to have grown out of that stage.

Reflecting on his pitching, Tom flatly stated, "I like to do it and then forget about it." Few people believe him. His current plans call for him to take draftsman's training (his father is an engineer) before reporting for spring training, with the obvious idea that he'll have something to fall back on should he not make it. Aug. 3 (his discharge date) to March 1 is a long time. He'll have a lot to think about, but above all, the pitcher, on the verge of a great career, will have one all-powerful idea to guide him:

Tom McGroarity loves baseball.

Support Command Cops 3d Div. Tennis Match

Captains John P. Hyden and Samuel T. Ford led Allied Company which their talents can lend support to the 3d Division Tennis Tournament at the Sand Hill Courts last weekend.

Support Command scored six points in the tournament while the 7th IOC was runner-up with 17. DivArty came in third with 15, and 13th IOC's finished fourth and fifth with six and two points, respectively.

Captain Hyden topped PFC Ken Lewis of the 7th, 6:1 and 6:0 on Saturday afternoon to capture the Division singles title and teamed with Ford in defeating Private Lewis and Capt. George S. Eyster, 6-1 in the semi of the doubles.

11 Pistolers Show off Form

Eleven of the Army's top pistol marksmen presented a shooting demonstration for the Fort Benning (G.M.) Lions Club July 17.

They are members of the All-Army Pistol Team, training at Fort Benning for the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, next month. The team is a part of the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit at The Infantry Center.

Major Leonard B. Robinson of Columbia, S. C., captain of the All-Army Pistol Team, was master of ceremonies at the demonstration held at the Buena Vista City Park.

Demonstrations were shown of firing from the hip at thrown targets such as coins and lemons, at the blade of an axe at cards held in another person's hand, the quick draw and the power of the .357 caliber Magnum and its effect on a watermelon.

Don Pesceck went the route for the 7th, pitching five-hit ball in the 4-3 victory.

The 12th IOC dropped three runs in the second inning and was never headed in the first game of the doubleheader against Support Command. Singles by Marj-Don Pesceck went the route for the 7th, pitching five-hit ball in the 4-3 victory.

Buena Vista Lions who arranged the program were Clarie Duncan, Arthur J. Benson and Burden Wright. Edwidge Perry is president of the civic group.

Cottonbalers Win Three in Row; Threaten DivArty for First Place

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

Storming to three wins without a defeat last week, the Cottonbalers of the 7th IOC are threatening DivArty's tight hold on the top honor in the 3d Division Baseball League play.

The 'Balers, with a 3-3 record prior to the 15th, finished last week with a 3-3 record and topped the 15th, 5-4 and 8-3 and Support Command, 13-10 to move into second place. The Cottonbalers are 2-2 in the division while DivArty is 1-2.

The 12th IOC dropped from second to third place, losing the two games to the Cottonbalers and topping DivArty for the week's output.

In other league games the 30th IOC captured a doubleheader last Thursday from Support Command, 7-3 and 5-1.

Last Wednesday, the Cottonbalers surged from a 1-1 lead in the seventh inning to score another pair. Garrett and Peacock walked, near singled, and Vega reached first on an error scoring Pesceck to account for the scoring.

Don Pesceck went the route for the 7th, pitching five-hit ball in the 4-3 victory.

The 12th IOC dropped three runs in the second inning and was never headed in the first game of the doubleheader against Support Command. Singles by Marjon Higgins and Emerson highlighted the rally.

Tom Wojcikovich pitched the seven-inning route, doing out four hits to the losers. The 30th added a run in the fifth and three more in the sixth for their total scoring while Support Command rallied for three in the seventh to avoid a shutout.

Doubles by Doak and Suarez and singles by Delaney and Wright provided the batting support in the losing rally.

In the nightcap affair the 30th scored a run in the first inning when Dickson walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on Kuchlik's sacrifice fly to right.

Three scores in the third inning on two errors and singles by Dickson, Kuchlik and Emerson gave them a 4-1 lead and decided the issue.

On Friday the 7th scored five runs in the fifth inning against the Arty, 4-4.

15th to gain a 7-1 lead and coast in to an 8-3 victory. John Benson-sky, converted outfielder, performed well on the mound, holding the 15th to a scant four hits.

Bill Madala of the 15th accounted for the only extra base hit, rapping a triple.

Len Yoder drove in Bob Garrett with the winning run in the seventh inning on Saturday as the Cottonbalers broke away from a 10-10 tie with Support Command.

Garrett had struck out but went to first when the catcher misplayed the pitch, to second on a passed ball, and third on a fielder's choice, and threw on a passed ball.

Garrett and Charlie Band singled and scored in the next inning to boost the lead to 13-10 and end the scoring.

On Sunday the 15th gained its lone victory of the week, coming up with a run in the sixth, and four more in the eighth to top DivArty in the fifth inning against the Arty, 4-4.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN TO YOU . . . Inconvenience, loss of time and possibly considerable expense through driving with defective or illegal automobile mufflers can be avoided by motorists in this area. Have your muffler checked by The Muffler Shop, 13th street at 4th Avenue. No charge is made for inspection.

Check Mufflers, Motorists Urged

With increasing need for safety on the highways (motorists of this area are urged to have their automobile mufflers checked) through the services of The Muffler Shop, 13th St. at 4th Ave., you may have your muffler checked at no expense. If a new muffler is needed it can be installed in as little as 15 minutes on most model cars.

This quick service on installation is the hallmark of specialization which permits The Muffler Shop to offer guaranteed mufflers at low prices. Through cooperation buying with similar shops in Midco, Mobile and Montgomery The Muffler Shop is able to secure special discounts for quantity purchases and these savings are passed on to the motorists.

Since exhaust systems for cars and trucks is the only business of The Muffler Shop, they are able to carry a huge stock of mufflers and tail pipes at all times for all makes and models. Thus you are assured of prompt service, avoiding delay and inconvenience.

The importance of the guarantee offered by The Muffler Shop is receiving increased attention by most motorists. All purchasers receive a guarantee written by the Muffler Shop, manufacturer of the mufflers handled by The Muffler Shop. The guarantee is as good as any Midco shop from coast to coast for the lifetime of the car. With the amount of interstate travel being done by the average motorist, especially in creasing, such a guarantee deserves careful consideration. Only nationally recognized brands of mufflers are recognized brands of mufflers. The Muffler Shop, including the famous Midco Muffler, as well as Ponton, Bedford and International dual exhaust systems.

Prices of all mufflers at The Muffler Shop are extremely low. For example mufflers for 1940 to 1950 Fords and Chevrolests are only $12.50 plus tax and a few cents extra for clamps if needed. All prices include muffler installation by experienced technicians using specialized equipment, and include the written guarantee. There is no charge for tail pipe installation when purchased with your muffler.

Dyeing to Begin After September 1

Fort Benning soldiers will be dyeing to conform with uniform regulations after Sept. 1.

Major Hosch Cited By Air Force Sec'y

Major James E. Hosch, of Mississippi City, Miss., recently received a letter of commendation and a medal from the Secretary of the Air Force. The award was presented to Major Hosch, 54 of the 88th Eng. Bn., for his service during the flood disaster at Linda and Olivhurst, Calif. last December. Major Hosch was then stationed at Beale Air Force Base, Calif.

The letter, from the Secretary of the Air Force, stated in part: "Major James E. Hosch distinguished himself by meritorious achievement during the Christmas Eve flood disaster at Linda and Olivhurst, California during the period of 23 December 1955 to 31 December 1955. Major Hosch was in command of the critical levee system on the south end of the 'D' Street Bridge over the Yuba River."

"During this emergency he expended many hours without sleep, rest or food and during the most critical moments of the flood took direct command of personnel in the erection of a sandbag embankment across the end of the bridge averting a threatened break that would have flooded the Linda-Olivhurst area."

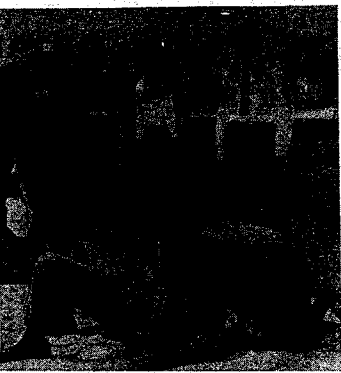

On that date, Department of Army has ordered that all low-quarter shoes worn with the uniform must be black.

Socks will be the same color. In order to change the hue of an estimated 70,000 pairs of low-quarters on the post, Infantry Center Quartermaster officials foresee the use of many gallons of black dye on a do-it-yourself basis.

Other alternatives to dyeing include the purchase of new black shoes at the post Quartermaster Sales Clothing Store or in Columbus, stores.

However, individuals are warned not to purchase footwear that does not conform to regulations; for example, toes cannot be capped.

No policy has been announced regarding the color of combat boots, according to the Quartermaster Section. The order for black shoes and socks will coincide with the entrance to the military fashion stage of the Army's new green winter uniform—optional wear after Sept. 1. In addition, the change will include the Army's low-quarter shoe with that of the Navy and Air Force, simplifying a break that would have flooded the Linda-Olivhurst area."

Reserve Unit Gets 2 Weeks Training Here

A 19-member U. S. Army Reserve unit including five officers and first sergeant from Hattiesburg, Miss., moved onto the post this week to begin a two-week summer training program.

The unit is the 320th Transportation Company (Aircraft Maintenance) under command of Capt. Burnis O. Peele, assisted by 1st Lt. Jimmy Hinton, 2nd Lt. J. E. Hinton, 2nd Lt. G. S. Smith and M-Sgt. E. A. Temple.

Enlisted men of the unit include M-Sgt. Jesse R. Arnold, Sgt. Charles H. Cook, Sgt. Jay Lockey, Cpls. Jerry T. Coston, Norman V. Guyton, William C. Mott, Frank L. Moss and Jerry G. Nobles. SP5 James H. Walters, SP4 William E. Walters, PFC Thomas V. Collins, PFC Howard C. Nohles, Pfc Bobby Lott and Pvt. Ronald L. Stohler.

"A buddy system will be used by the unit, which means the job the Reservist does in his hometown unit will be the same one on which he will receive on-the-job instruction from a member of the Regular Army here at Fort Benning," said Capt. Peele.

The individual instruction for the unit will be conducted at the Third Army Field Maintenance Shop located at Lawson Army Air Field. After completing the training program, the unit will return to Hattiesburg July 29.

NEW STAFF CHIEF
Col. Haskett L. Comer, Jr. of Petersburg, Va., will succeed Col. Charles C. Case, Jr. of Rye Lake, N. Y., as chief of staff of the Third Infantry Division. Col. Comer was assigned to the Third Division in July, 1955, as commander of the Seventh Infantry Combat Command. He is a 1939 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

'Mechanical Mule' Tested Here Prior To World War II

BY TOM SELLERS

A pioneer version of the Army's new "Mechanical Mule" was first tested here prior to World War II. Just recently the mule made the grade as an official member of the military stable.

The story of the early model of the little knee-high motor vehicle and the general who dreamed of its use in combat was told this week by M-Sgt. BUFORD B. FELLS of Lakeland, Fla.

Announcement came July 12 from Washington that the "Mules" are in production in Toledo, Ohio. Initial delivery will be made to the 101st Airborne Div. at Fort Campbell, Ky., within a year, under a $3,500,000 contract awarded to Willys Motors, Inc.

Sgt. Fells was chauffeur for the late Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short when the latter was commander of the 1st Inf. Div. here. The sergeant is now employed in the Civil Control Unit of The Infantry Center Quartermaster Section.

"Somebody in The Infantry school had put some scraps of metal together and built a 'Mule,'" said the 44-year-old Floridian.

Could See Possibilities "Gen. Short was very much concerned about it, and could see its possibilities. He felt strongly that an item such as this could save lives in combat."

With the lowest silhouette of any military vehicle (27 inches) the "Mule" can climb a 75 per cent slope in rugged terrain with ammunition, weapons and supplies that otherwise would be on the foot soldier's back.

Sgt. Fells was with Gen. Short when the early model was tested back in 1933 or 1940 in a tank demonstration area on First Division Road. Both U. S. and British industrial interests were represented.

"This 'Mule' was controlled by pedals from the rear, and the driver lay on his stomach. It climbed a hill at a good clip—scouted right on up there. But the industrial people who watched it seemed to feel it would be impractical for them to adopt."

Was Disgraced As Sgt. Fells recalls, Gen. Short was "disgraced" because the "Mule" never was put into production.

He was always very alert for improvements that would help the soldier," the sergeant said of the general.

Shortly after that time, Gen. Short was ordered to command U. S. troops in Hawaii and was there when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

The "Mule" now being produced was designed under the supervision of the Ordnance Tank-Auto-motive Command at Detroit (Mich.) Arsenal. It is 100 inches long, 48 inches wide, and can be dropped by parachute.

Can Be Towed The lightweight carrier can be towed as a trailer behind jeeps or larger trucks. Although it was designed primarily as a cargo carrier, it can be used as a mount for the Army's 16-mm recoilless rifle, a deadly anti-tank weapon.

With a four-cylinder engine, the carrier is the first all-new lightweight tactical vehicle to be added to the military procurement program since the development of the famous "Jeep" early in World War II.

STC Tops Blood Quota

TOPS QUOTA . . . A mess hall in the 3d Cuartel took on the appearance of a mass production line on Thursday and Friday, July 19 and 20, when the American Red Cross Bloodmobile from Atlanta Regional Blood Center, visited Special Troops Command for a two-day blood collection drive. The production line appearance came with the setting up of five check points for registration and various tests for blood donors, and the installation of 12 cots where blood was collected. The test and collection lines were manned by 11 representatives of the American Red Cross, along with 12 civilian volunteers from Fort Benning. The line producing the blood was made up of officers, enlisted men and civilian employees of Special Troops Command who supported their enthusiasm and support by donating 320 pints of blood on Thursday, the first day of the drive. There was no let-up on Friday when STC personnel reported individually and in groups ranging in size from 2 to 90 people for blood donations. The drive wound up Friday with Special Troops Command 110 pints over their 600 pint quota. Mrs. William F. Duncan, Coordinator of Bloodmobile volunteer workers, expressed the appreciation of all Red Cross representatives and volunteers for the "wholehearted cooperation and excellent support in STC's backing of the 'wholehearted cooperation and excellent support' service number are recorded at Registration desk, first stop in line. (2) Temperature of blood donors is checked by Red Cross volunteer workers. (3) Blood pressure must be right before blood is collected. (4) Production line in the production line. The nurse is Miss Jo Robinson, ARC, Atlanta, Ga. (5) Col. Henry M. Zeller, CO, STC, chats with Sgt. J. G. Strickland, STC, as Nurse Virginia Townsend, ARC, Atlanta, Ga., collects a pint of blood. (7) The refreshment table is the last stop for blood donors.

SFC Lunt Named to Sports Office as Operations NCO

SFC Arthur W. Lunt of Sarasota, Fla., has been appointed operations non-commissioned officer for the Infantry Center Sports Office. The sergeant, who entered the Army in 1942, has had assignments in Special Services almost exclusively since joining the service. While here, he hopes to start a series of clinics, as he did at Fort Campbell, Ky., for body-building purposes. Classes will include lectures and practical demonstrations. He went to Iran in 1943 as Special Services officer in Abwas for two years. West to OCS SFC Lunt took basic training at Newcomerland, Pa., then graduated from Quartermaster Officers Candidate School at Fort Lee, Va. In 1947, as a second lieutenant, he was promoted to captain. The same year, he started a new round of Special Services at

Lexington, Va. He was assigned to Fort Bliss, Texas, Headquarters and Service Command in Tokyo, Japan, and the First Cavalry Division in Korea. SFC Lunt spent 1953-1954 as head of the Physical Training Group at Fort Lee. Discharged in 1954, he re-enlisted as a sergeant first class for recruiting duty in Sarasota. He came here last March, and was assigned as operations NCO for the 8th Bn., 2d Inf. Div., before his present assignment. The sergeant and his wife, the former Catherine Lee of Pittsburgh, Pa., have a 10-year-old daughter, Kitty Lee. FIVE ASSIGNED. Five officers have been assigned to the 57th Engineer Bn. of the 151st Engineer Group. They are: Capt. William R. Fox, Capt. Lawrence E. Davis, 1st Lieut. Walden P. Adams, 2nd Lieut. Gary F. ## Cadets Parade At French Field

A regimental review comprised of the more than 1,600 cadets-students from 26 colleges and universities attending the 1958 ROTC Summer Camp was held on French Field July 21. The regiment was under the command of Cadet Col. Wallace G. Oves of the University of Alabama. His staff, comprised entirely by Co. B students, were Terry B. Horton of North Georgia College, Rabaul, B. Acosta, of the University of Puerto Rico, Dillard D. Neighbors of Presbyterian College, and Hugh H. Rhodes from Florida State.

A smart color guard was supplied by Co. E and consisted of James W. Rice of North Georgia College, Jerry N. Cole of Jacksonville (Fla.) State, and the King of the University of Tennessee, and Levi A. Johnson of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College. Charles D. Thomas of the University of Alabama, and Aquila Slips of North Georgia College commanded the color battalion. Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center and Third Division commander, was the reviewing officer.

Company K was designated the best company in the parade based on military appearance and marching ability.

DUSA Gives Equipment To Nursery

Donation of equipment to the children's Nursery of Daughters of the U.S. Army was announced at the group's July 17 luncheon. A French television set has been installed in the Battle Park branch and bookcases, lawn swings and toys purchased for both branches. A nursery grounds beautification project is also underway, according to Mrs. B. G. Lehman, DUSA.

Mrs. Lehman requested support for the volunteer program at the nurseries. Mothers are asked to lead organized play a few scheduled hours each month, so that the children may have ample directed play. Mrs. Lester Wheeler, DUSA youth activities chairman, announced that Boy Scouts have placed a plaque in the Nursery Daughters' contribution of $1,500 for flooring and heating the structure.

Episcopalians Occupy Beautiful New Chapel

Fort Benning's Episcopal congregation now occupies a picturesque chapel overlooking the Chattoochee River. Episcopalians formerly attended services in the Episcopal Chapel. St. Michael's Mission in the Woods is located off Indianhead Road in the albion area. The lovely chapel which seats 300, features a Gothic arch and pine-paneled interior. The Episcopal vestry met recently in the chapel to honor the retiring senior warden, Col. Robert E. Holman of Florence, S. C. Col. Earl F. Klack of Toledo, Ohio, new senior warden, presented a scroll of appreciation to Col. Holman, who will enter the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at Fort McNair, Washington, D. C. His fall.

The testimonial cited Col. Holman for his outstanding work as senior warden of the Mission and his "dedicated leadership in the development of our Church School."

Via Voice of America Army Captain Speaks To Father, and Nation

Armed with the thought that his words would be spread throughout a nation, a Fort Benning captain spoke over the Voice of America recently in answer to his father's request that he speak.

The soldier was Capt. Gabriel Gregoratos, aviation medical officer of the 2nd Med. Co. and 1st Div. His father, a doctor in Athens, Greece, wanted the captain to provide some information via the Voice.

Voice officials told Capt. Gregoratos that: "Your father would like to hear from you in speaking to him you will talk to a nation."

"The questions were the type of civilian often asks soldiers: 'How do you like the Army?' and 'What do you think of the Army medical services?' were the only questions to which the captain had to reply. 'How does he like the Army?'

"The Army is fine for a man such as myself. Although having just completed medical school, I have one of the largest and most unique practices in the world. The Army has done a lot for me in the ways of American life and I am proud to be able to serve my adopted country," the captain replied.

Capt. Gregoratos was born in Greece and did not come to the U. S. until 1949. He attended the New York Medical College and interned at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City. His father is a prominent radiologist, as well as a doctor in Greece. The captain last visited his homeland in the summer of 1955.

He described the Army Medical Corps as "most favorable to a civilian practice. Regardless of where a doctor is, he is still a practicing physician. There are at times problems that are not normally encountered in a civilian practice. However, they do belong to the realm of medicine."

Capt. Gregoratos, who plans to build a civilian practice, one day originally was a hit earned over his "open letter" to his home.

"I've calmed down now," he explained. "I'm glad I had something worthwhile to say. It was one time I didn't mind having anyone read my private mail."

3d Army Forms Command Group To Direct Area Reserve Activities

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander, last week announced the establishment of an Army Reserve Command within the headquarters of Third Army.

The new command is designed to improve the command structure of the U.S. Army Reserve in the Third Army area and to facilitate training and the manner of operation of the Reserve Program.

The first such headquarters established in the U. S. Army is officially designated the U. S. Army Reserve Command, Third Army.

Gen. Hickey said that it has been set up "because of the need for increasing the readiness of the Reserve and to implement special emphasis programs in the field."

The Reserve commander will be responsible for the close coordination of the staff sections which deal directly and indirectly with the Third Army Reserve Program.

It is pointed out that formation of the Reserve Command will not involve an increase in staff personnel at Third Army headquarters or elsewhere. In order to give the deputy Army commander an effective working staff with which to direct Reserve activities in the area, the headquarters of the command will be located at Third Army headquarters, Fort McPherson.

It will be composed of members of the former Third Army Reserve Forces Act Committee as a nucleus, augmented by personnel from G-1, G-3 and G-4 Sections. Establishment of the Reserve Command will bring about a change in designation of certain lower-level Reserve echelons.

Each of the seven Third Army Military District Commanders - Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee and North and South Carolina - now will bear titles, military district chief and deputy to the Reserve commander.

Each district chief will directly command all units in his district not commanded by a general officer. The command of units now led by general officers will be retained by the Commanding General, Army Reserve Command.

Former Army Reserve adviser groups have been redesignated sub-districts and the senior unit adviser of each group has been designated commander of his respective sub-district.

The creation of the Reserve Command will in no way affect present methods employed by Third Army for directing and advising National Guard and ROTC affairs within the area.

Chaplain Acts In Dual Roles

As a manager in the Little Sally League in Columbus Wynnton Section, and as Assistant District Chaplain for the 3rd Inf. Div., Capt. James V. Harvester, leads a busy life.

The role of manager of the "Hawks" little league baseball team, takes up a lot of the Chaplain's time. In fact, it does take up all his off duty hours. But, he likes it.

"I have three kids of my own," he explains, "I like to see them having fun with the other kids. So, getting right in there with them, and being older than they, it's just natural that I would become manager of the team."

As soon as the clock strikes five, Chaplain Harvester is on his way home and to the ball field. Here he changes into his manager's uniform and gets right in there with his team to bring them to victory.

Won 5 Straight.

For two years now the Chaplain has been managing in the Little Sally League. Last year he was the manager of the Tiger 'B' Team, and this year he has under his command the Hawks, which have so far played two halves of ten games to rack up a score of 6 to 3 in the first half, and won five.

It is the hope of the young private that following his basic training he will be sent overseas, this time to another country other than his homeland so that his childhood dream may come true.

After traveling over 4,000 miles to get here, Pvt. Greve was asked what he thought of the thought that he will get used to it, States. "It's a little better than his said."

German Youth Joins U.S. Army

Pvt. Greve, a German national, enlisted in the U. S. Army in Frankfurt, Germany, for a three year period. The 17-year-old trainee was born in Frankfurt but has lived in Darmstadt, a large city 20 miles south of Frankfurt most of his life.

While still in high school, Pvt. Greve decided he would like to travel to other countries, but the problem then was how to do it. He had few funds, and it takes a considerable amount of money to make a trip around the world. So Pvt. Greve had to find some method to obtain this money. He investigated the possibilities of someone else paying his way but this did not prove successful.

While talking to a friend one day he was told he could enlist in the U. S. Army.

Passing all of the requirements with flying colors, Greve was sworn into the army. As there are no basic training facilities in Germany he had to be sent to the United States for his basic training.

Traveling by train to the Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation he boarded a ship for the trip across the Atlantic Ocean to Fort Dix, N. J. Arriving there he was held in the replacement center for a week and then sent here for his basic training with the 2nd Inf. Div.

Post Unit Goes to Fort Stewart In Support of Reserve Training

June, July and August always bring units of the various Army Reserve components to the Post for their annual training periods, but this year, summer not only brought reserve units to Fort Benning, it took a platoon of the 58th Sig. Co. (Repair) to reserve units.

A 26-man Radar Maintenance Platoon of the 58th is presently on duty at Fort Stewart, Ga., to assist in providing radar maintenance and repair service for National Guard and other U. S. Army Reserve organizations during the two-week field training periods which continue until Aug. 28. It's all part of SP3's mission of support to The Infantry Center and Third Army.

Eagles and stripes were awarded to 11 men of the Lawson Army Airfield Command this week. The 4th Helicopter Co. awarded the eagles of a Specialist Third Class to Albert J. Bowers, Donald Goldstein, and Eugene A. Khaus. Alvin Johnson was promoted from Private to Private First Class.

The 152nd Field Maintenance Team, which is attached to the 4th, granted two men the privilege to wear the eagles of a SP3. They were John P. Bieske and Kenneth P. Landers.

3d Army Generals Make Weekend Visit

Major Gen. Crump Garvin visited here last weekend on his first official visit to The Infantry Center after being named assistant to the commander of Third Army.

Gen. Garvin and Major Gen. Douglas V. Johnson, deputy commander of Third Army, arrived July 20 to inspect ROTC Summer Camp activities in the Harmony Church area.

Also arriving at Lawson Army Air Field were Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander, who came in connection with weekend exercises of Operation Alert, nationwide simulated atomic attack.

Accompanying Gen. Hickey were approximately 15 officers from Third Army headquarters at Fort McPerson, Ga.

The visitors were greeted at

Army to Promote 23,463 in July

The Army has authorized 23,463 enlisted promotions during July, 4,688 to pay grade E-5 and 18,775 to pay grade E-4—and a stipend for all privates who have completed a year's service.

There will be 11,000 promotions to pay grades E-6 and E-7 during the month.

Privates eligible for advancement to private first class must have finished 12 months' service by July 1, 1956, in order to be promoted by their commanders.

The Army said promotions to private first class will be made without regard to vacancies. (AFPS)

ASSIGNED

Finiff to End Army Service For Last Time

An old time soldier will again "fade away" to the "fishin' hole" after 22 years of active and nearly five years of reserve service.

M-Sgt. James W. Finiff, Special

Service NCO for the School Brigade, retired, once before after 22 years service, in December of 1949 and entered the business world as a grocery store owner in Louisiana.

The Army was still in his blood, however, for it was while he was on a visit to Barksdale Field, La., that he witnessed a retreat ceremony that prompted him to sell his business and return for a two-year period of extended active duty. On July 21, he goes back into retirement, and he says "It's for good, this time."

Sgt. Finiff entered the service from Harrisburg, Pa., in December of 1936. His first hitch was spent at the Government Printing Plant at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., which is now the National War College.

Discharged as assistant shop foreman, Sgt. Finiff returned to his old job with the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph Press. After 18 months as a "printers devil," he looked for greener pastures and selected the fledgling Air Corps for another tour of service. Since then, his service has been continuous with the exception of the two years after his retirement.

When asked his plans for the future, he says "my wife and I plan on visiting relatives in Chambersburg, Pa., then we will return to Columbus where we will make our home."

Asked if he planned to pursue his hobby—fishing—he says, "I'll catch up on my fishing first off, but I plan on entering Civil Service work at The Infantry Center."

Army to Induct 14,000 in Sept.

The Defense Department has asked Selective Service to furnish 14,000 men for induction into the Army during September, 1,000 more than the July and August quotas.

The Army draft call for September is the largest since January 1955 when 23,000 were inducted.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force have not asked for any inductees in September. (AFPS).

NEWLY ASSIGNED
Lt. Allen L. Dowd Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., has recently been assigned to A Co., 78th Engineer Bn. as a platoon leader. A graduate of Georgia Tech, he was employed by the Florida State Road Department as a Highway Engineer until entering the Army in March, 1956. Lt. Dowd completed the Engineer Officers Basic Course at Fort Belvoir, Va., prior to his assignment to the 78th.

Regional NRA Meet Slated for Aug. 3-5

While the U. S. Army's best riflemen are showing their wares in a regional match at Camp Lejeune this week end, shooters will be preparing for the 1956 Southeastern NRA Regional Pistol Championships to be held here Aug. 3-5.

A total of 223 competitors are expected for the annual event, which will be shot at the post Pistol Range. When firing concludes on the 5th, competitors will participate in a mammoth barbecue.

Besides many of the best All-Army pistolshooters, the field of entrants will be comprised of top Marine and civilian marksmen.

Post Boxers Tangle With Bragg Tonight

BY BOB RENO

Some 12 fights will fill the card tonight when Fort Benning's stars meet the fighters from Fort Bragg at Gowdy Field. The first fight is to get underway at 8 p.m. The matches are the first in a half dozen scheduled for the locals during the next month.

Head boxing coach Tony Scala said that the majority of the Benning team is in good shape. He said that many of the old favorites would be back with the Doughboys. Among these are Leon Banks, Tony Robles, Nat Whit, Bobby Hannibal, Jim Boyd, and Pete Rademacher.

Rademacher, formerly boxing coach of the squad, said that the local fighters would have to be in good shape for the Bragg punches. Fort Bragg is the defending Third Army champs, and both Rademacher and Scala feel that the match should be a good test of the Benning possibilities in the Third Army matches to be held here this Sept.

One of the big attractions at the matches will be welterweight Willie Johnson who has shown signs of coming along strongly in the last couple of matches prior to the summer break. In the last match held at Briant Wells Field House, against Fort Polk, Johnson stood toe to toe with Pierce Lane, defending Fourth Army welterweight champion. Johnson lost a split decision but looked so good in doing it that many spectators thought the match could have gone the other way.

Pounding Yak From Yakima

The usual big guns for the locals of course, will be Rademacher, the pounding Yak from Yakima, Wash., runner-up in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in March, and former National AAU heavyweight champ, and Jim Boyd, winner of the Golden Gloves light heavy crown in Chicago, defending light heavy of Third Army, and former All Service champ in that classification. Both Rademacher and Boyd are pointing toward Third Army, All-Service, and possibly a berth on the Olympic team.

It is not known for certain whether or not Rademacher will have a match tonight, although Bragg will bring a heavyweight along.

A bout for Boyd is fairly certain. Rademacher is expected to weigh in at 215 while Boyd should scale around 175.

Southpaw Netman Wins TIC Singles

Second Lt. Drury Keesler, left-handed his way to the Infantry Center Tennis championship at Fort Benning July 16-18, beating Capt. Johnny Hyden in four sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

The tennis tourney was held at the Main Officers' Open Mess tennis courts.

Capt. Samuel J. Folt and Hyden of the Third Infantry Division Support Command, took the doubles championship in straight sets, defeating the School Brigade's Keesler and 1st Lt. Joseph W. Smith, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

In the senior division, Capt. Folt defeated 1st Col. Roger M. Lindley, Infantry School Detachment, 6-2, 6-4.

The team standings had the School Brigade and Seventh Infantry Combat Command, Third Division, tied for first place with 11 points. Support Command placed third with nine points.

A six-man team has been named to represent Fort Benning at the Third Army Tennis Tournament at Fort Bragg, N. C., July 30-Aug. 4.

The men named are: 1st Col. Lindley, Capt. Folt, Lt. Keesler, Capt. Bruce M. Tall, 2nd Lt. Sherman and 1st Sgt. Kenneth L. Lewis.

Fort Bragg also will be host to the All-Army Tennis Tournament Aug. 12-18.

PROMOTED

Captain Jim Greer, Motor Officer, CONARC Board No. 3 was promoted to his present rank July 6. At informal ceremonies attended by the Board Director, Col. Henry Nelson, Acting President of Board No. 3, presented Captain Greer his double silver bars.

QUICK AND PAINLESS . . . His opponents say that Doughboy light heavyweight Jim Boyd rarely hurts them. He knocks them out so fast that they don't feel a thing. Jim is 1956 Interservice champ and winner of the 1956 Chicago Golden Gloves. He'll meet a Fort Bragg opponent at Gowdy Field tonight at 8.

TOM WIERZBICKI Dieting is Full-Time For Most Athlete's

An athlete's life is not all "peaches and cream." In fact, neither of the two is ever included in an athletic diet. The reason is simple: they're just too, too fattening.

Anyone participating in sports activities must watch his figure just like the movie stars. The reason, of course, is not the same, but the principle can be considered identical.

Did you ever stop to wonder what a swimmer or boxer eats before he moves into competitive play?

According to Don Brown, post swimming coach, the swimmers are on their own as far as getting into shape and staying that way.

"Swimming in the Army cannot be compared to swimming in college or high school," said Coach Brown. "That is, with regard to setting a training program. The Army can't afford to operate a training table for the athletes. Consequently, the fellows have to eat what other Army personnel eat in the mess hall."

Brown goes on to say that it is left up to the individual performer what he eats and how he takes care of his weight.

A college training table would include a rigid diet of highly proteinated food with the carbohydrates and starch foods, which put on the weight, absent from the meal.

Men Take Care of Own Welfare

"Here in the Army," Brown said, "I feel that the fellows are old enough to take care of themselves. Nobody should have to tell them what to eat and what not to eat. An individual knows that his performance in a meet depends partly on how he is physically fit."

An hour or two before a meet, our local tankmen sit down to a meal consisting of poached eggs, toast, jello and tea. Nothing greasy or starchy is included.

After a meet, steak is predominant as the main dish, along with a salad, and pudding or custard. Usually an individual can eat anything he wants as long as he doesn't go overboard.

The consensus of opinion varies as to whether one should eat at all before a meet or moderately.

"My swimming coach back at Denver University," Tom Murphy, felt, said Coach Brown, "that one should hardly indulge at all before a meet. His reasoning was that most swimmers have a tendency to be nervous before a meet and can't eat anyway. Don Knox, from our team, is a good example of this."

Brown, himself, does not feel as strongly about not eating before a meet.

"One should eat something before a meet," said Brown, because he needs all the extra energy he can get. However, they must be foods that digest, otherwise you feel like a piece of lead trying to stay afloat in water."

There's always an exception to the rule.

A World Record On a Full Stomach

Hiroshin Furushaha of Japan, set a world record in the 1500 freestyle last year. The Japanese swimmer, however, wasn't a conformist to training rules with regard to eating before a race. As Coach Brown tells the story, ten minutes before Furushaha set the world record he was seen nibbling on a bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwich.

Boxing, like swimming, follows the same vein of thought with regard to training.

1st Lt. Pete Rademacher, assistant sports officer and heavy weight fighter on the post boxing team, agrees with Coach Brown and his views about eating before a match.

"You've got to have something in your stomach before a fight," said Lt. Rademacher, "but it can't be anything solid because a couple of hard jolts to the mid-section, and you're through."

The poached eggs-toast meal is also given to the fighters about four hours prior to the fight. After the fight, steak heads the menu.

Boxing, like swimming, entails a rugged training program physically. Such things as smoking and drinking must be at a minimum. The reason is obvious: a boxer or swimmer must have his full wits.

Typical Day of a Boxer

A typical day for a boxer starts at sunrise with a three mile run. Following this roadwork a shower is next in line and then a breakfast consisting of scrambled eggs and toast. Following a short catnap, the boxer goes to the gym for his morning workout, consisting of shadow boxing and work on the light bag. Later in the afternoon, a sparring session is next in line. Immediately following the sparring session the fighter calls it a day.

After his rub down and a warm shower the boxer sits down to his second meal of the day.

Do you still want to be a full time athlete?

Now that you've had a chance to see a behind-the-scenes glance at the less-glamorized life of an athlete you can agree with me that it isn't all "peaches and cream." More on the order of "poached eggs and toast."

60 All-Army Riflemen Attending Classes to Aid Future Teaching

Trainees for riflemen and as they borrowed from the FBI for pistolners were added to this year's curriculum when the Army's top marksmen learned to become equally potent instructors at Fort Benning.

The Small Arms Firing School, which originated in 1918, is designed to help shooters teach their trade. Sixty All-Army riflemen and pistolners held classes at McAndrew Range (in order to act as assistant instructors of the Small Arms School at Camp Perry, Ohio in late August, in connection with the National Matches). The classes for the future teachers run until Aug. 7, when fires depart for Camp Perry.

The Rifle and Special Purpose Weapons Committees of The Infantry School's Weapons Department conducted the instruction at Fort Benning, with special stress on Trainfire and an FBI range exercise.

The Trainfire marksmanship course reproduced many of the problems encountered in combat. It is designed to develop, in minimum time, a rifleman who can detect and engage combat targets effectively. A fundamental concept is that enemy personnel targets are rarely visible except in close assault.

All-Army shooters were taught that most combat targets consist of a number of men or objects irregularly lined and using cover such as ground folds, hedges and borders of woods or ditches.

Careful observation of smoke, flash, dust or movement must be employed for detection. What is more, the range of battle targets rarely exceeds 300 yards.

New Technique

The Rifle and Special Purpose Weapons Committees of The Infantry School's Weapons Department conducted the instruction at Fort Benning, with special stress on Trainfire and an FBI range exercise.

Pistolners, who already have received some instruction, fired a course originated by the FBI and incorporated in much police department training. Shooters had six minutes and 10 seconds to fire 40 shots at a silhouette target. Fires take aim from the prone, sitting, kneeling, standing and hip postures. The Rifle and Special Purpose Weapons Committees of The Infantry School.

Novice shooters more than 14 years old take the basic class, in which they receive detailed training in all phases of rifle and pistol instruction used by the Infantry School.

This year the National Matches will be held Aug. 14 to Sept. 3. Marksmanship schooling in the .43 caliber pistol is scheduled for Aug. 17-19, while M-1 rifle instruction will be held Aug. 25-27.

Closely Connected

Fort Benning is very closely connected with the 1956 Nationals. All-Army shooters train at the Infantry Center, Col. Charles F. Leonard Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla., Infantry School, U.S. Army Weapons Department, is National Match executive officer.

POWERFUL PETE . . . 1st Lt. Pete Rademacher, former National AAU champion and one of the top heavyweights in service boxing, will represent Fort Benning in one of the 10 bouts against Fort Bragg at Gowdy Field tonight at 8.

ONE-TWO NETMEN . . . Capt. John Hyden, left, congratulates Fort Benning's Tennis Open Champion, 2nd Lt. Drury Keesler, who defeated Capt. Hyden in four sets in last week's post tennis tourney. Capt. Hyden, besides finishing runner-up, collaborated with Capt. Samuel Folt to take the doubles championship. Both Capt. Hyden and Lt. Keesler will be in the Third Army tourney at Fort Bragg, N.C., July 30-Aug. 4.

Golf Pro to Hold 3 Day Kid Clinic

Fort Benning's pro will conduct a three-day golf clinic for youngsters between the ages of 10 and 17 beginning Aug. 14. Paul Barnam will provide lessons for the junior linksters at the Fort Benning Country Club course. The Youth Activities Club is sponsoring the instruction.

The clinic is limited to 100 boys and girls. To sign up for the clinic, youngsters are asked to call Max Spurlin, YAC's athletic director, at Fort Benning 2-4339 or 3-2523.

The last day of instruction, Aug. 16, will be devoted to hole-in-one tourney, with awards to be presented in four competitive categories—oldest boy and girl and youngest boy and girl divisions.

Golfers are asked to bring with them a No. 5, 6 or 7 tree. Barnam will furnish golf balls.

Capt. Kenneth G. Herring, as-The School Brigade, was promoted signed to Hq. 2d Student Bn. from 1st Lieutenant on July 12.

Third Army All-Stars Leave for Coast Meet

The Third Army All-Star Swimming Team left Fort Benning July 23 for Fort MacArthur, Calif., and the All-Army Swimming and Diving Championships.

The 14-man squad will arrive by plane in Los Angeles July 24 and will hold two workouts before the All-Army meet gets underway July 25. The meet will last three days.

Don Brown, Fort Benning's All-Army American swimming star (Drexler University 1954-1955) and presently the coach of the Third Army All-Stars, says the team is in fine shape and is ready to go.

"From the material on the team," said Brown, "I feel that we have a good chance to place some men on the All-Army team. I'll be very satisfied if we place four men on the team."

Brown bases his decision on the overall times of the swimmers and the competition they will face in California.

"We'll be facing some very keen competition at Fort MacArthur," said Brown. "Probably the toughest any of the boys have run into all year."

"Teams entered in the All-Army

Two Officers Attend Sports Clinic Aug. 3-9

Two former collegiate liemen from Mississippi will represent Fort Benning at the Georgia Basketball and Football Coaches Clinic in Atlanta Aug. 3-9.

2nd Lt. James F. Ingram of Sardis, Miss., line coach for this year's Main Post squad, and 2nd Lt. Carlton M. Reid of Ackerman, Miss., School Brigade Special Services officer, will utilize their Atlanta stay to pick up pointers on latest developments in college, pro and Armed Forces football.

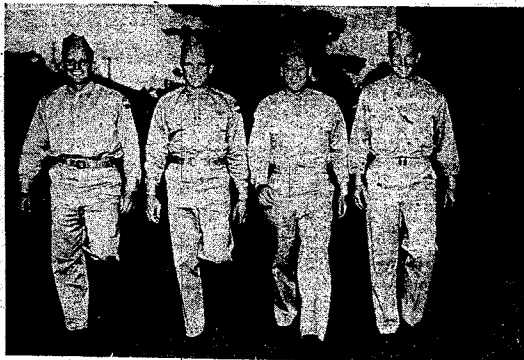

Ingram captained the University of Mississippi squad in 1953. The former guard also led his team against Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl the same year.

Reid, who played with Ingram on last year's School Brigade Ram squad, was graduated from Mississippi State in 1952, the same year he was named to the Associated Press' All-American team as center.

Both men have coached high school sports. Ingram led Sardis High and Reid at Kosciusko (Miss.) High.

3rd Division's "cream of the crop" basketball team, the Main Post squad for the Post diamond championship next Friday night, August 3, at Gowdy Field.

The game had originally been scheduled for this week but due to the necessity of a playoff for the second half Division title and the seven-game playoff for the league crown afterwards the game was postponed until that date and shortened from a planned three-game series to one contest.

The change was a break for the 3rd Division from one aspect for

Grid Team Issues Call for Players

First call for football players for the Main Post football team, was issued early this week from the Sports Office, TIC Special Services.

2nd Lt. James Ingram, line coach of the Doughboys, said that all football players with college or first rate high school experience are asked to come out for the squad.

Application may be made by calling at the Sports Office, Briant Weins Field House, in person, or calling Lt. Ingram at 3-2226.

Team practice will begin in August. Many of the players have already begun light workouts.

Hold overs from last year expected to come out for the team are: 2nd Lt. Harold S. Wayment of Ogdon, Utah, has been assigned as Assistant Adjutant and Personnel Officer of the 15th Engineer Group (Combat). Prior to his present assignment, Lt. Wayment was Chief of Military Personnel, Engineer Division, Hq., USA, Europe.

As yet a head coach has not been selected.

PROMOTED TO CAPT.
Capt. David G. McDowell, Commanding Officer of the 50th Co. 8th Student Bn, TSB, was promoted to 1st Lt. on July 12. Capt. McDowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. McDowell of Ault, Colo., and he and his wife, Joyce, reside at 301 Granada Drive, Columbus.

Played With House of David

Former Pro Basketball Player Rehabilitates Bruchsal Sports

Many retired athletes like to re-live in words their accomplishments on the field, but a Fort Benning student officer and former professional basketball player prefers to discuss what once was his "stumble trouble."

Major Fred J. Gerken, who toured the U. S. with the Jersey Reds, Brooklyn Visitation, Kate Smith Colles, Original Collets, Detroit Clowns and Alabama Pitts, likes to think of himself as a 19-year-old recruit with the House of David squad.

Played With House of David House of David, which year after year comes up with top notch teams in most major sports, has an unusual habit—all squad members wear beard.

"These didn't seem to be much hope for me, though," said Major Gerken, "since I had never even had a razor on my face."

The Davids' trainer found the solution. Before every game he would paste a beard on Gerken, heard on the huddling basketballer.

"There were no individualists on that team," the major stated.

He has been associated with champions for years, beginning at Union Hill (N.J.) High School, where he was a letter man, explaining the school's 1934 State Championship Basketball Team.

Following his pro career, he entered the Army as a private in 1942. Later the same year, he was commissioned a second lieutenant after officer candidate training at Fort Benning. Following a series of wartime assignments, he attended the School for Government of Occupied Areas at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., which he described as "the most important training I have had in my life."

The major was sent to Bruchsal, Germany, as military government officer when school ended.

Starts Sports Program
The situation of Bruchsal might have been uncompromising, but Major Gerken, like so many athletes, realized that the way to reach a family was through its children. Soon afterwards a remarkable sports program began.

"The morale of the people was very low," explained the major. "The city was 85 per cent bombed out and child delinquency was very high."

The major and his organization cleared space for athletic fields and American sports equipment was procured from Army Special Services. Children were taught the basic elements of American sports, and moved from street corners to playing fields.

When Major Gerken left Germany, he became a student in the associate Infantry officers course, Second Company, First Battalion, School Brigade at Fort Benning.

The major is looking forward to moving his sports program elsewhere. His next assignment will

3rd Division Sports

7th ICC Ties DivArty for Title; Season Playoffs Now in Progress

BY KAL WAGENHEIM

With a burst of power in the late innings DivArty's star-studded outfit pulled away from the 7th I.C.C. Monday afternoon at Benning Field to win 7-2 in the decisive third game of the second half playoff.

The Redlegs play the 15th I.C.C. today in the third game of a seven-game series for the 3rd Division title.

Gene Frohock and Fred Sutherland combined pitching talents to baffie the weary Cottonbaler squad and pulled away from the 7th I.C.C. Monday afternoon at Benning Field to win 7-2 in the decisive third game of the second half playoff.

Short stop Don Close broke up a 2-2 game in the sixth inning when he lashed a 361-foot double into the left field corner scoring Joe Johnson and Bob Isenhour.

Jim Cohen sent Close scampering home with the third man of the frame as he slapped a solid single to right field.

DivArty continued its batting onslaught by next inning with Dale Black opening things up with a long double over the leftfielder's head. Johnson drove Black in with a single and went to third on Isenhour's one-bagger.

Cottonbaler catcher Bill Kolleridge didn't get through the first inning. The leftlander was plagued by wildness and the Redlegs lashed him for a run on three walks and a single before John Berezovsky came on with one out and put out the fire.

Post Softball Tournament Slated to Start July 30

The 1958 softball season at Fort Benning will be culminated Monday with the start of the Infantry Center Special Service Post Softball championship playoffs. The ball championship playoffs, three games will be played at the lighted WAC Softball field.

SFC Arthur Lunt, Special Services Sports NCO, said that from eight to 15 teams are expected to take part in the quest for the Fort Benning championship. The meet will begin on the 30th and continue through the 4th of August.

The number of games to be played has not been determined. Lunt said. These will depend upon the number of teams that will compete, but will range from 12 to 21, assuming that the type of tournament will be double elimination.

The winner of the post title will be eligible to take part in the Third Army softball playoff at Fort McPherson, August 13-18.

Units eligible to enter teams are: The School Brigade, Special Troops Command, 54th Medical Group, U. S. Army Hospital, Board 3 CONARC, Combat Training Command, Infantry School Detachment, Lawson Army Air Field Command, 3rd Infantry Division Artillery, 3rd Infantry Division Special Troops, 7th Infantry Command. The competition will be governed by the 1956 Official Softball rules. Baseball shoes for team members have been authorized.

Squads are not to exceed 15 players, plus one officer in charge, who will not be eligible to play. The teams may consist of officers and enlisted men in any proportion.

Awards for the tournament winners and runner-ups will be as follows: For each individual of the winning and runner-up team, 15 awards, respectively distinguished, and trophies for each of the two teams.

Last year's winners in the meet were the 1st Battalion of the School Brigade, coached by 1st Lt. Jim MacDonat. MacDonald led his team to the runner-up spot in the third Army meet, losing two games in the last day of play at Fort Gordon, the Third Army championships.

Bull-Frog Hunting Produces 2 lb. Bass

Next time you decide to go fishing at Weir's Pond leave your equipment home.

You'll probably catch some bass anyway, according to the recent experience of a 2nd Regimental Combat Team enlisted man.

Sgt. Danny Gopen, bull-frog hunting last Sunday on the recently opened pond, had a two pound bass leap into his boat.

"Come home with eight frogs and one bass," the publications alert from Nighthawk, told everyone the next day. Backing up his story, of course, was Sgt. George Berman of the 2nd Battalion, Gopen's fishing partner at the time.

Doughboy League

Yac'tivity All-Stars Beat Phenix City Nine

The pint-size Doughboys, clicking with every combination tried, continued their winning ways by pounding out an 11-5 triumph over the Mother Mary Mission squad from Phenix City.

The Doughboy All-Stars, sponsored by the Youth Activities Club, have won every one of their starts since the team was selected three weeks ago.

In beating the Phenix City delegation, the young ball stars, all under 13 years of age, employed the formula that has carried the New York Yankees to the top so many times—the big inning.

Big Inning

The Doughboys racked up six runs in the fourth and scored five more in the fifth to tack away the battle in the late innings. The losers garnered two runs in both the first and fifth innings.

Dave Kirk picked up the win, striking out 10, walking just one.

The six-run last of the fourth was the result of two scratch hits, a Texas league single by Jim Blair and some wildness on the part of the Phenix City hurler.

All-Army Team Slated to Fire In NRA Match

Sixty-one shooters on the All-Army Rifle Team at Fort Benning will compete July 29-31 in the National Rifle Association's South-eastern Regional Championships at Camp LeJeune, N. C.

Thirteen coaches will accompany the firers to the North Carolina Marine base. They include Lt. Col. Frank C. Palmer-head coach, and Lt. Col. Henry Butbers, team captain.

The matches, first interservice, competitive firing by the team since its selection during the All-Army matches early last month, will offer team members valuable experience.

Benning Bandsman Compiles Fantastic Record Beginning With Service Under Pancho Villa

BY JAY ADELMAN
When M-Sgt. Alberto Garcia of Fort Benning joined the Mexican Army in 1914, he had no idea what lay ahead of him. Now, 42 years later, he cannot figure out how he put such a fantastic service record behind him. One thing is certain—there is very little that the jolly bandsman has not done, from low notes to high Do.

Sgt. Garcia has fought against and for Pancho Villa, participated in concerts for four U. S. presidents, appeared with the John Philip Sousa and Sigmund Romberg aggregations, played reveille and retreat formations while mounted on a horse, marched 200 miles from Fort Benning to Atlanta and back, was trumpeter for an Army Air Corps band in Africa, ran a Special Services hobby shop, organized the Third Infantry Division Band, received a medal for leading the best drum corps in the Far East, and wrote a special march for a national radio program.

In 1914 Alberto Garcia was a lot smaller than his present five-foot, four-inch, but he was as willing as any youngster to do his part for his government. He played the bass drum for the Mexican Army Band.

Terrorized the Troops
Pancho Villa, the revolutionist who at one time was in power in Mexico, was terrorizing the troops with his own special brand of vandalism. Villa had an odd habit. When he captured a Mexican soldier, he proceeded to chop off an ear, then released the soldier with the admonition that he had best not rejoin his troops, the next capture, Villa would wear, meant death.

Two regiments of the Army, including the bands, were taken prisoner by Villa in 1914. Villa who saw by previous experience that most people did not admit their real branch of service, led the musicians to play some thing.

They chose the perfect tune striking up the strains of a Pancho Villa war song. Apparently Garcia and the other bandsmen were convincing. Villa incorporated them into his own band, thereby saving a lot of ears for later musical operations.

With the outbreak of World War II, the 29th moved, and Sgt. Garcia underwent additional Infantry training at Fort Jackson, S. C., followed by assignment to Iceland. A case of fallen arches sent the Mexican veteran to Oliver General Army Hospital at Augusta, Ga., and after his release, Sgt. Garcia, whose missing days were over, was made a member of the 361st Air Depot Band at Columbus Air Base, S. C. This was followed by a series of assignments in Africa and Egypt or, as he pulled in "the hot lands". The temperature frequently reached 120 in the shade.

When M-Sgt. Alberto Garcia returned here, by this time his family had settled at 2518 Garden Drive in Columbus, near the post. Under the direction of Major Gen. Percy W. Clarkson, then commander of the Third Infantry Division, the stubby sergeant organized a division band.

The conflict broke out in Korea and Sgt. Garcia found a new world to conquer with music. He received a Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for leading the best drum corps in the Far East in 1954. In 1955, he had been in charge of the First Cavalry Division Band in Japan.

Under more current events, he went to the 88th Army Band at Fort Rucker, Ala. In 1955, returning to the post and the 293rd Army Band April 24, 1956, as assistant band leader.

The Infantry Center will bring to a close his often incredible career. Sgt. Garcia is scheduled to retire from the Army in December.

He is anxious to let the rest of his career revolve around his wife and five children. One of them, Beatrice, he sees every day at lunch. She works for the Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center. "Likes being 'family man'." "Like being a family man," he admitted.

He feels the Army will have no trouble getting along without him, but in retirement he probably will reflect often about the one time his services were sorely needed.

A post band led by Sgt. Garcia was due to appear on a national broadcasting network in 1949 during the "General Griswold March" at the time Major Gen. Oscar W. Griswold was commander of the Fourth Motorized Division stationed here. The program was heard and Alberto Garcia had another accomplishment to add to his ever-increasing history of achievements.

Chess Club Notes

SFC. ROBERT A. KARCH Round one of the championship tournament will begin at 3 p.m. Saturday, July 26, at the main post service club. It will be wide open to all, including 3rd Division personnel, post civilians, and dependents. The victor in two out of three games advances to the next round. Final round winner will play a five game match with the defeated post champion.

'Downtown' to Make 3 More Showings
With near-record crowds at two service clubs having already acclaimed the show at hit, Soldier Shows "Downtown Local" makes three more appearances within the next eight days, beginning at 8 to 10 p.m. at Club No. 5 in Sand Hill. The revue, featuring a cast of 15 in skits and music about New York City, will move to Club No. 1 on Main Post Sunday at 8 p.m. and make a splash at the Main Theater next Friday (Aug. 3) at 8:45 p.m.

The match with Cassell is over! Only four games were played and we won 3-1. The first game loss was upsetting, but we pulled together for games two and three. In number four we experimented with King to King Bishop and nearly lost our shirt. However, Cassell heeded his winning chances against the exposed front.

A six-man team of mechanics from the Anniston (Ala.) Ordnance Depot is working here installing modifications on approximately 99 M-48 medium tanks.

William J. Anderson, regional maintenance representative of the Anniston Depot, said that domed-shaped cupolas are being installed on wide-track tanks as a protective measure for tank commanders firing the machine gun.

Anderson said the work is only one phase of approximately 100 modifications and engineering changes scheduled in conversion of the M-48 tank to the M-48A1 model.

The tanks are from the Third and 64th Tank Battalions of the Third Infantry Division, and the 714th Tank Battalion, 29th Regimental Combat Team.

Medics to Observe 181st Anniversary Here Tomorrow

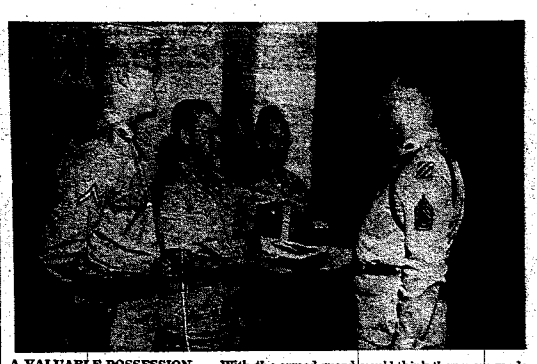

The 181st birthday of the Army Medical Service will be celebrated at Fort Benning tomorrow with a full day's activity highlighted by a review at Stillwell Field. Medical units from the post will participate in the anniversary celebration. The Army Medical Service was established in 1775 upon the recommendation of General George Washington for the purpose of providing a health service for the Army. In 1818 it was organized under a central headquarters, with General Joseph Lovell as the first Surgeon-General. Through the years the Medical Service has not only been invaluable in the conserving of military manpower, but it has also made great contributions to medical science in general.

Count ten for each correct choice. A score of 0-20 is poor; 30-60, fair; 70-80, good; 90-100, excellent.

Reserve Unit Receives Tests

20th REC
Tests
Reservists

RESERVISTS ARE GRADED ON PROFICIENCY . . . When Reservists arrived for their two weeks of summer training they received what is known as the ATT 21-2 test. A three-phased proficiency examination, administered by cadre of the 29th Infantry Regiment's Company C, it tested the Reservists on basic practical knowledge of weapons, tactics and general subjects. (1) Partitions divide sub-stations of each phase of the test. (2) Three men from the regiment's Hq. & Hq. Co. are graded on fire technique in assault. The company participated in the dry runs of the Army Training Test, prior to arrival of the summer Reservists. (3) Cpl. Martin L. Misenheimer Jr., Macon, Ga., finds that it helps to roll up your sleeves when disarming a simulated anti-personnel mine. (4) Col. Rawchwerger of Asheville, N.C., sets weapon for elevation and deflection reading. Standing next to him is Capt. Thomas M. Keith of Greenville, S.C., and proctor Sfc. Julio Torres of Columbus, Ga. (5) Enlisted Reservist Sfc. James H. Searcy of Lake Alfred, Fla., and Pvt. Stewart Cottingham of Winterhaven, Fla., display foxhole firing principles. (6) Next comes a briefing on the tactics phase. The test is conducted by the 29th Infantry Regiment in the Harmony Church area. (7) Sgt. Willie C. Pollin of C Co. grades Capt. Thomas M. Keith (left) and Capt. Kenneth Taylor, both of Greenville, S.C., as they fix grenade launcher to M-1 rifle. (8) Capt. Harold L. Hall of Kewanee, Ill., who is commander of C Co., watches carefully as Reservist Capt. Russel Overstreet of Bedford, Va., probes for buried mine, part of the mine disarming test. (9) SPl. Carl A. Duncan of Taylor, S.C., receives a perfect score after readying machine gun for firing.

CONGRATULATED . . . Cpl. James H. Harris is congratulated by Lt. Col. George A. Bieri for receiving a letter of commendation from two post colonels.

2 Units Plan For Gyroscope

During the past week, the 78th Engineer Battalion (Combat) has played host to the Advanced Planning Group from the 49th Engineer Battalion (Combat) Karlsruhe, Germany. The purpose of this group was to pave the way for the coming Gyroscope move which will bring stations and missions of the 78th and 49th.

The Planning Group of the 49th Engineers consists of three officers: Capt. F. M. Armstrong, Battalion Operations officer; 1st Lt. W. E. Russell, Battalion Adjutant; and 1st Lt. W. F. Franz, Intelligence Officer.

While Capt. Armstrong was being briefed on operational aspects, the other two officers were checking administrative and personnel structures, and discussing the battalion missions with Capt. James Shorman, 78th Engineer Battalion S-2.

The Planning Group for the 78th is expected to depart the post in the near future for Germany to study the mission of the post and the facilities available for the welfare of the troops of the 78th.

PHS Ends Control Of Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON—The government today ended federal allocation of Salk polio vaccine to the states and territories.

Secretary of Welfare Polansky announced this was done "so that more vaccine will be available to areas where the demand is greatest."

Polansky added that the move was taken upon recommendation of Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, who wound up his work as surgeon general of the Public Health Service yesterday.

Scheele reported that demand for the vaccine is now much stronger in some areas of the country than in others and that the supply is more plentiful.

He added 18 states last month turned back vaccine previously allotted them; and that seven of those states waived their rights to allotments available to them on July 24.

NEW EXEC . . . and Lt. Peggy Hoyt, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., has been appointed Executive Officer of the WAC Co., STCS. She is a graduate of the University of Fla., Gainesville, Fla., and has been in the Army since August 20, 1954.

MP Hailed For Efficiency And Courtesy

Two colonels took time out this week to commend an MP corporal for his superior work in directing traffic.

Cpl. James H. Harris of Columbus, Ga., received a letter of commendation signed by Col. Richard L. Jones of Hollywood, Calif., and Erwin A. Jones of Seward, Neb., Infantry Center respectively general and staff judge advocate, respectively.

"We have observed this soldier and the manner and method in which he performs this particular duty for an extended period of time," said the two Colonels, "and we, at all times, have found him especially courteous and friendly, always maintaining a soldierly attitude."

"He has conducted himself in such a manner as to set a fine example for others. He has been consistently alert in maintaining a flow of traffic and during the busiest periods has found time to display that military courtesy which one normally finds in a soldier doing his work in a superior manner. We desire to congratulate him personally for outstanding performance."

Quotas Still Open For Safety Camp

Openings for about 25 or 30 boys still exist in Fort Benning's quota of children to attend Camp Safety Patrol August 18-20. Capt. Thomas D. Hurlbert, project officer, said this week.

Approximately 110 boys ages 9 through 15 already have signed up to attend the week-long camp on Lake Blackshear near Gordo, Ga. The facility is sponsored by the Georgia State Patrol and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Capt. Hurlbert, operations officer for The Infantry Center Provost Marshal Section, said government transportation will be furnished for children to and from the camp. Details may be arranged by calling either 2-0112, 3-5153 or 2-2778.

The letter was presented to Cpl. Harris by his superior officer Lt. Col. George A. Bieri of Philadelphia, Pa., Infantry Center provost marshal, who added his personal congratulations.

ATTEND REUNION

Three Infantry School officers returned to the post July 23 from the 26th annual reunion of the Second Infantry Division Association in San Antonio, Tex. Attending the four-day Inland reunion were Cpl. William F. Korman, Infantry School operations officer, and Major Arthur N. Ringier and Raymond M. Burdouskas, both assigned to the Operations Office.

Gen. Booth Gets Promotion, Farewell Review July 27

Major Gen. Robert H. Booth, former Third Infantry Division Artillery commander, was honored at a review by his troops on French Field at 9 A.M. July 27 prior to departing for assignment at Fort Jay, N. Y.

He was notified of his promotion to the rank of major general the same morning.

After announcement of the promotion was made to an audience of approximately 100 guests at the post Country Club, Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Fort Benning commander, handed a star to each member of Gen. Booth's family. The quartet proceeded to pin two stars on each of the general's lapels.

Gen. Booth was honored by Third Division Artillery units at a review at French Field earlier in the morning, when he presented the Pedan Trophy to the artillery battery which received the highest score during recent battery tests. All Division Artillery units participated in the ceremony.

Col. Clark Lynn, Jr., is scheduled to assume temporary command of Third Division Artillery.

'50s Called Age Of Fast 'Buck'

OBSERVE ACTIVITIES

Capt. Kamwi Mahmoudzadeh of Iran, who was graduated from associate company officers course No. 3 July 27, will remain at The Infantry School to undergo observation training July 30-Aug. 3. The sergeant will receive instruction conducted by the Weapons Department's Mortar Committee. He is especially interested in heavy mortar activities. On Aug. 3, Capt. Mahmoudzadeh departs for Fort Bragg, N.C., and further instruction.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UP) — John Suckley, president of Lions International, said Tuesday he is living in the "age of the fast buck and milk coat."

"Many people have come to view with indifference immorality in government, business and life," Suckley told a civic club here.

He said maintenance of morality is a challenge facing all service clubs.

Boxers Trim Bragg; Box Stewart Today

BY BOB RENO

Riding on the crest of their first victory over Fort Bragg in a year, Fort Benning's rejuvenated boxing team will take on Fort Stewart (Ga) tonight.

The match is slated for Briant Wells Field House and will begin at 8 p.m.

Doughboy coach Tony Scala said that he was highly pleased with the performance of his punchers last week. "They were in good condition," he pointed out. "And did a good job in following instructions. But even though we did hand them a decisive licking, we should have done better. And I have a feeling that we will win this week."

Fort Bragg is the defending Third Army boxing champions.

Many of the same fighters who fought last week will again appear for the Doughboys tonight. Leon Banks, Arthur Bessick, Tony Rables, Willie Johnson, Matt Whit, Jim Boyd, and Pete Rademacher are expected to draw matches. All but Bessick won their matches last week.

Benning and Bragg split the first two matches of the evening last week, Leon Banks taking the first on a decision from Bragg's William Stewart. Bessick dropped the second match to sharp hitting, left handed Jerry Armstrong.

But from there the Doughboys took the next four fights, displaying a withering punching act. TKO, and a lay, two decisions, a KKO, and a lay.

Featherweight Tony Rables

Three rights and lefts with wild abandon in a six-round knock out Bragg's Paul Harris. But with the screaming spectators waiting for the final bell, Harris withstood Hobbes' barrage, and the Benning fighter had to be content with a decision.

The bombardment by the Doughboys continued in the next fight as Charley Alba called with the third round with a flurry of furious punches to annex the local's third victory.

Willie Johnson survived a poor start in the lightweight match to gain a TKO over Howard Moore. The Benning fighter belabored his opponent in the third round with enough punches to force him to retire after 2:35 of the stanza.

Kichaski Wins Under What

By this time, the spectators were completely captivated by the ferocity of the Benning punching and the countering of the Bragg's fighters. Matt Whit, in the light middleweight battle, climaxed the bombardment with a knock out of stocky Bob Kichaski, in 1:07 of the third round. He pointed the Airborne fighter viciously in the first round, sloved up a bit in the second, and then dived the axe in the third. Kichaski hit the canvas and it was five minutes before he could be helped from the ring.

Bragg came back strong in the next three matches, scoring TKO's in the light middleweight and middleweight bouts, and a retire ment in the second middle weight match.

Lewis Carter started out the way the previous local fighters had, slugging hard and effectively. But Bragg's David Malloy withstood the onslaught to deliver his own battering in the "hard round and force Carter from the ring in 2:37. Up until that time, Carter was ahead on points.

Body Manuabal felt the sting of Bragg's vengeance and determination in the following match. Delivering a first round shellacking that had opened the top of Willie Cuipepper's eyes. Manuabal, however, was unable to deliver the telling blow. With both fighters unable to do more than lean against each other in the third round, the referee called the match a 1:30, giving the nod to Cuipepper.

Tough Johnny McLean scored Fort Bragg's final victory in the middleweight match with Eric Patrick, forcing the Benning fighter Please see BOXERS, Page 22

FOLLOW THROUGH . . . Willie Johnson, light weight, follows through after landing a right on Howard Moore in the third round of their match last Thursday evening. A few seconds later, Johnson followed through even more effectively and forced Moore to retire on a TKO.

Benner Set To Appear On TV Show

1st Sgt. Joe Benner, who moved from the small town of Jonesboro, Ark. to the most important pistol competition in the world, will appear on the Ed Sullivan TV show Aug. 12.

Joe, who is training here for the National Matches, has been spotlighted in many popular magazines. He hopes this year to defend two major honors. Benner is both National Match and world champion, having been top man in the Olympics four years ago.

The sharpshooter, coach of the pistol team at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., will depart here Aug. 6. Joe plans to go to Toledo, Ohio, before flying to New York Aug. 11, where he will stay at the Park Sheraton Hotel. The day of the program Joe will rehearse at 3 p.m. and attend a press reception at the Sheraton from 4 to 7 p.m.

He flies back to Toledo, near the site of the Nationals, Aug. 13. Benner's last match prior to the Nationals, which begin Aug. 14 at Camp Perry, Ohio, will be at the 1935 Southeastern National Rifle Association Regional Pistol Championships here Aug. 3-5.

BACKHANDED . . . Lewis Carter lays out the canvas in the second round of the light middleweight match last Thursday at Briant Wells Field House, following an uppercut from Fort Bragg's "David" Malloy. Malloy won the fight in the third round scoring a TKO with two rounds elapsed.

JAY ADELMAN Jay Reads a Book; Becomes a Critic

I have discovered a form of amusement out of the field of sports. I have just read a book.

What is more, it is a very funny book. It's true that "Don't Go Near the Water" pokes fun at the Navy, but that's no reason for military men to avoid it. Maybe they'll find some of their old friends portrayed within the 373 pages.

"Don't Go . . ." already is a sensation, of course. Life Magazine gave it a lot of footage a couple of weeks ago, under the title, "The Great Beer Matlay." They had good reason to do so.

The author, William Brinkley, is a Life staffer. Don't let this idea detract from your enjoyment of the book, though. It's definitely "un-Felike" in style. Reading Brinkley is reading someone who seems to have enjoyed writing the novel too much to be bogged down in a straight magazine-like style.

Ensign Max

Ensign Max Siegel, the hero, is just that. Maybe it's hard to believe that anyone could be so intelligent, and since when did it take a lower grade officer to keep a major portion of the Navy running, but Max is still every bit as likable a character as his famed contemporary, Mr. Roberts.

Max is a member of the Navy's Public Relations staff, stationed on the Pacific Island of Tuluru. He is chief tour guide, leading visiting VIP's around the island and pointing out all the attractive scenery. This leads to the discovery of Malloy, whom Max and congressmen from New Jersey and North Carolina agree is nicer even than rum toddy. Tuluru's national boeze.

The other PR men, including Lt. Commander Clinton F. Nash, are non-seasoning, and while they recognize the value of the Navy's fighting force, they do so only because it makes good copy. Commander Nash fancies himself an Old Navy man. He feels it's just wonderful when his men talk Navy talk. Unfortunately, the man with the classically spherical shaped head thinks this means they should talk as he does. "Sailors, mind your rudders," seems to be his favorite term. His favorite hook, of course, is "Navy Regulations".

"No doubt" about it, Siegel is tied up with a bureaucracy. The rope's knot is fastened tightly around officer-enlisted men relations. Boatwain's Mate Second Class Joe Blow and his tendency toward embarrassing foul language, a mutiny that outshines that of the Caine, a couple of "Yes men," the meaning of the atomic bomb blast, and the lady battle flag of Debbi Aldrich.

For All Services

Each chapter is a complete reading unit within itself, but the book is not like any series of short stories I have ever read. It's much too funny to be classified by any common advertising man's term. What is more, "Don't Go Near the Water" has meaning. Although it may revolve around a Navy Public Relations unit, it could just as easily be about an Army Infantry squad or an Air Force jet crew.

All are concerned about relations with natives of lands foreign to U.S. in habit, speech and thought. Ensign Siegel manages to solve the problem, but it isn't so simple for others.

What is more, the chapter on the first dropping of the A-Bomb, which may be developed in the novel, with comic overtones, still has deadly serious undertones.

In any case, the book makes fine reading from just about every angle. I am certain that casting of the movie will begin soon. Though I may sound like a traitor to America's most famous sergeant, I nominate Phil Silvers to play Ensign Siegel.

Know something, I wouldn't mind doing a column on this kind of thing every week.

Meanwhile, we're still on the sports pages, so the time has come to make an explanation.

Despite what many have said, Pete Rademacher has not come anywhere near losing his knockout punch. The only reason he didn't topple his Fort Bragg opponent last week was because Lt. Pete Bragg is a humanitarian. The fellow he faced was inexperienced, which may be the understatement of the year. He Doughboy heavyweight gave the boxer a lesson. The Olympic hopeful faces a stronger adversary tonight, against Fort Stewart. Watch for the KO punch.

Only one man will be missing from tomorrow night's all-star baseball game, Aug. 3 marks Tom McGroarty's discharge date. It's really too bad that the outstanding all-star missed the opportunity to show his wares. All well, scheduling can do that to you.

Sportswriter Tom Kinney Visits Benning; Fires M-1 With AAMU

Tom Kinney, thought of more as a sportswriter type than an old soldier, resumed festivities with one of his old loves here this week.

He hadn't forgotten about his former friend, it was just that it took him 11 years to get back to her.

Tom's sports editor at the Columbus Ledger, wrote the following in his column June 22: "One sign of insects, crawl in to me and get settled during the relay season in the Philippines, but you take care of your M-1. Because a soldier with an M-1 has a fighting chance — and a good one."

Kinney knew what he was talking about. As he put it, "I never really appreciated my rifle until the day a Japanese sniper kept me busy for spell on Mindanao in Laun."

Sold Changes Made

Of course, times have changed in 11 years, but the M-1 is still the basic infantry weapon. The Army's top shooting aggregation, the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit, appreciated perhaps better than anyone else what the sportswriter was talking about.

Executive of the Continental Army Command-sponsored organization invited Tom to come out to the Infantry Center and take up where he had left off.

Kinney, not wishing to press his luck, took three shots. The first, from the standing position, just missed the target. "After all, I had won 11 Individual Rifle Championships in my column," Tom had said of the captain, "He could tell you more about the rifle than I, but he'll never enjoy firing it any more than I."

Capt. Asbury, who does not want to take away from anyone's pleasure, had this to say about his admirer:

"Tom Kinney proved to all of us that he is an excellent shot. Sure he missed on his first two tries, but they were both for sighting. The third one, the bull, was the only one for record."

At Gowdy Field Post Nines Meet For TIC Crown

The Infantry Center baseball championship will be decided tomorrow night when the Main Post Doughboys take on the Third Division All-Stars in a game slated for Gowdy field.

The playoff for the TIC crown was originally scheduled for a scheduled two-game series against the Main Post Doughboys and the Parrot Island Marines at South Carolina, July 30-31, was called off due to inclement showers.

Following the TIC playoff games in Aug. 48 against Fort Rucker here at Gowdy Field. The first game will be under the lights at 8 p.m. Sunday's contest will get underway at 2 in the afternoon.

three-game series, however, the Third Division forces requested a postponement due to regimental playoffs in the Division.

The delay was a definite handicap to the winning hopes of the Main Post team for Tom McGroarty, Doughboy's ace hurler, is slated for discharge on the day of the game and will probably not see action.

Neither team has announced their starting pitcher for tomorrow night's encounter.

However, 1st Lt. Charles Bryant, manager of the Marine outfit, can pick from a quartet of pitchers for the crucial starting assignment.

They are Don Peacock, brilliant 7th ICG right-hander; Leon Souza, Support Command southpaw who boasts professional experience with Columbia of the Sully League in 1952; Fred Sutherland, tall control pitcher from divarty; and Howard Tisdler, Lanky freshman from Bryant's own 15 ICG squad.

With the loss of Tom McGroarty, 2nd Lt. Jim Murray, MA in I Post coach, will choose his starter from Jamie Padgett, a knuckle-ball right-hander; John Barnard and Howard Williams. The last two are also right-handers.

Dietrich Twirls Way For Engrs. in 3d Div.

The 10th Engineers have been a power to reckon with in softball circles for the past three years and Sgt. Ed Dietrich has been largely responsible for their success the past two.

In 1954 the Engineers, then known as the 28th Engineers, trained through Division and Post competition and went on to win the 3rd Army Softball Championship.

Last year Dietrich hit the scene and bolstered a team which had lost most of its players from the previous year. Faced by his fast-balling the Engineers took the Division softball title in a thrilling battle against Medical Company, representing Support Command.

Dietrich hooked up in three tight pitching duels with Medic star Frank Myers, losing the first one, 2-1, and winning the next two, 6-0 and 4-1.

Dietrich never had the chance to meet Myers for the Post championship as his team was upset in two games by Main Post entrants.

He and Myers have met dozens of times and are virtually even in games against each other, marking them as the outstanding pair of softball hurlers on Post.

Dietrich, a tall, thin right-hander, pitched softball for six years in civilian life prior to his service hitch and has a long string of no-hitters and low-hit games to his credit.

He worked mostly in and around the state of Texas and in 1954 played for the Ada Oilers in the national championships in Florida. In 1952, '53 and '54 he pitched for the same team in the Texas State Tournament.

The ace hurler entered the service about 18 months ago and in basic training pitched Co. D of the 2nd Engineers at Fort Carson, Colo., to the title in a local tournament.

Co. A Takes Softball Crown in STC Race

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG
An explosive five run outburst in the third inning backed by the airtight hurling of righthander Warren Paulk last Friday brought Co. A, 1st Special Troops Battalion, to the Special Troops Command regular season softball championship, 2-4, over the 539th Ordnance Company.

Paulk's triumph was an individual display of mound mastery as he scattered eight safeties, four of which came in the sixth inning, and fanned nine batters.

3 Straight Wins

The victory gave Paulk his third straight win of the week when he pitched his mates through the rest of the regular season's action over Company B, 2d Special Troops Battalion, 2-2 and then dumped the 539th Ordnance Company, 6-2, in a playoff tilt, which came when first place wound up in a four-way deadlock.

After giving up two straight singles in the opening of the first inning, Paulk then lightened his grip to retire the next ten batters in order.

Co. A jumped on the offerings of James Bowling early in the first frame and combined three walks with a booming home run by first sacker John Hamblen to take a 3-0 lead.

Both clubs failed to rally in the second, but A's club turned on the power in the third, exploding for five runs to turn the game to a one-sided margin, 5-0.

Shortstop Clifton Sprave opened the big inning with a blast that cleared the rightfielder, for a round-tripper. John Kline then kept the action going by drawing a base on balls and Paulk put two men on the bags when he was safe at first on an error by the shortstop.

Hamblen then came through with his second straight hit when he sent a line shot to right to score Kline. Two singles by Bill Mims and Fred Holland teamed up with a sacrifice fly by Lou Berezanski, brought across the final three runs.

Each team picked up a lone run in the fourth and then the Ordnance Company then found the range to rally for three runs in the sixth.

Three singles by Nicklin, Rodney Quaschia and James Hughes, teamed with a smashing double to left centerfield by Jack Scoggin to race across the three tallies.

The final seventh inning rally was halted when Paulk got the final two men to fly out after Hamblen singled to open the frame.

Football Team Sets Try-outs; Needs Players

Main Post football team will hold their first try-out Monday at Doughboy Stadium. Line coach Jim Ingram said that approximately 40 persons were expected for the initial tryout.

"But we will need a lot more," the former Mississippi grid star said. "Things don't look any too good at the moment. We have some good men from the School Brigade and Combat Training Command teams of last year. But they are only enough so as to provide a solid nucleus. What we need are men to back them up and to fill in the gaps."

Need End, Quarterback

"Two of our biggest worries at the moment are one of the end spots, and quarter back. We just don't have anyone."

Lou Sawchik, former Ohio U. great and under contract with the Baltimore Colts will take up one end position. Sawchik played with the School Brigade team last year, and was one of the team's many standouts.

C., the present commander, replacing Lt. Col. A. E. Orcutt Jr., Col. Ogilvy commandant of the 44th Air Base Squadron at Lawson after the main body of the 46th Troop Carrier Wing moved to Pope Air Force Base, N. C. The 46th was the last Air Force unit to have command of the field.

Lawson Field today continues to operate, maintain, and secure its facilities and make them available to military aviation units assigned to Fort Benning, and to aircraft utilizing the field on a temporary basis.

At the present, the Lawson Army Airfield Command is composed of the 4th Helicopter Co., 132nd Field Maintenance Team, Lawson Army Airfield Detachment, 37th Helicopter Ambulance Detachment and the Air Force Detachment 5, 25th Weather Squadron. The command will be further strengthened in September with the addition of the 14th Aviation Company from Fort Riley, Kan. The 3rd Division Command, Aviation Co., and the Airborne School also use the facilities of the field along with many transient aircraft of all the Armed Forces.

The Fort Benning Electronics Club held its annual election in the MARS station August 1.

Officers elected were: president, Lt. Col. John P. Malcher, G-4 Section TIC; vice-president, M-Sgt. Edward G. Dewitt, Co. 3, 32d; secretary, Capt. Ross A. Sheldon, PIO, School Brigade; treasurer, 1st Lt. Martin H. Ross, Chemical Section, TIC; activities manager, M-Sgt. Olivia B. Casper, Co. B, 32d.

All officers are licensed amateur radio operators and have their own amateur stations here. The club meets at the MARS station in Dougherty Stadium at 7:30 p.m. on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

All military personnel, civilian employees and dependents interested in amateur radio and electronics are welcome to join. Club activities include aiding newcomers to acquire amateur licenses and to build their own stations from surplus electronic equipment donated to the club.

Benning Shooters Set Record

The 23 competition went to the Army Blues. Squad members shot 179, on short of the world record. Second was Army Red with 164. The Blues were Senior Major Curtis, Lt. Carles and Lt. Miller.

The Army Grays, consisting of Majors Curtis and Lloyd C. Runnert, Lt. Carles and CWO Oscar K. Wellmister, during the Championships, as pushed ahead of the Army many shooters were participating for the National Matches, to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 14 to Sept. 1.

Executive officer for the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club—conducted Southeastern was Lt. Col. John H. Chambers. Troop Support came from the Third Tank Battalion, 3rd Combat Command, Third Infantry Division, under the command of Major Warren A. Giles.

Following is a rundown on the .45 caliber shooting leading to the aggregate:

Both were born in Brooklyn, N. Y., but later moved to the nearby Bronx. After graduating as classmates from Junior High School and Sumner Gompers High School, they enrolled in City College of New York.

Upon successfully completing the Industrial Arts curriculum, which would prepare them for future teaching careers, they were awarded their Bachelor of Science Degrees in Education, and at the same time received their ROTC Commissions as 2d Lieutenants.

6 Pilots Finish Lawson Course

Six pilots completed the Lawson course at Benning, 3rd Div. Combat Aviation Co. and 1st Lt. John A. Harris, 3rd Div. Combat Aviation Co. L. Phillips was the honor graduate of the class.

The course is a unique one in that it is the only course of its kind in the country that is completed independently. The only other instrument course is at Randolph Field, Texas, which is in co-ordination with the Lawson course.

Has 3 Phases

The eight-week course is broken down into three phases:

In addition to receiving the Army Standard Instrument ticket, the graduates also received certificates as commercial pilots and Civil Aeronautic Administration instrument pilots.

Capt. Bill L. O'Neal, boss of the school, said the mission of the school is to thoroughly train Army aviators in all phases of instrument flying and to enable them to complete satisfactorily any aviation mission assigned, regardless of the weather.

Eight in All Johnsons Thrive In Benning Unit

Holler "Hey Johnson" over the radio is a common sight in the motor pool and thereabouts.

Say you're looking for Pvt. Johnson of the 2nd Special Troops Battalion, and you're apt to get stumped in the rush.

Eight men in that unit answer roll call by the name Johnson. It's enough to make the first sergeant talk to himself, or try to get transferred to some nice, quiet combat zone.

Or maybe you're trying to call SP2 Nathaniel M. Johnson of Washington, D. C., on the telephone and invariably get SP2 Moses Johnson of Kendallville, Miss., instead.

Well, they both have Biblical first names; don't they?

The former is chief dispatcher at Motor Pool No. 1, while the latter is a section sergeant in the same location.

The South has a definite edge in a comparison of home-towns of the Johnson squad. Four live in the Southern States, two in the North and two others in border areas.

Only two of the eight are married, and three of these have a total of eight children.

Year Aggregate

Total length of Army service of the Johnson aggregation is 35 years, with individual tours ranging from nine months to 13 years.

Four of the Johnsons hold the rank of specialist, second class, which doesn't make it any easier to sort them out.

This member of the group is a specialist third class and three are privates.

Founding out the crew are SP2 Charles L. Johnson, of Baltimore, Md., chief dispatcher at Motor Pool No. 3; SP2 Robert Lee Johnson, Pvt. Louis H. Johnson, SP2 Leroy Johnson, Louisiana, military tail driver and dispatcher; Pvt. Louis H. Johnson, Columbus, maintenance man at the Infantry Church Motor Pool, and SP3 Roy Johnson of Cantonment, Fla., who works in transportation in the main Transportation Section.

So far as they know, none of the Johnsons boys are related.

HEY, JOHNSON ... This is what could happen when a man named Johnson is called to report to headquarters. Second Special Troops Bn. Not one but eight Johnsons—all members of the battalion—may report for duty. Trying to straighten out such a problem is SP2 Nathaniel M. Johnson, right. Others, left to right, are SP2 Charles L. Johnson, SP2 Robert Lee Johnson, Pvt. Louis H. Johnson, SP2 Leroy Johnson, Pvt. Richard E. Johnson, Pvt. Roger T. Johnson, and SP2 Moses Johnson. All the Johnsons work in The Infantry Center Transportation Section.

NCOs Confer On Career Inducements

Senior Army enlisted men from 27 and overseas commands are meeting in a two-week conference at Ft. Belvoir, Va., to recommend moves to make career service more attractive.

The symposium at Belvoir is 50 to 65 per cent, while the Command and Management School is being conducted entirely by the enlisted personnel, the Army said (APFS).

PROMOTIONS

Two promotions to Private First Class were made recently in 2d Special Troops Bn., SVC. The stripes went to Pfc. James W. Dees, Co. B on July 20 and to Pfc. Samuel G. Evans, 350th Sig. Co. on July 25.

Pfc. Dees, who comes from Laurens, S. C., has been in service since June 22, 1955 and is a vehicle driver. Pfc. Evans of St. Paul, N. C., entered the Army on September 15, 1955, and is company clerk for the 588th.

Unit COs View Training At 3d Div. NCO School

The Third Infantry Division, NCO School held an open house recently for unit commanders of the division.

Purpose of the event was to show the commanders methods employed to develop NCO's into more proficient instructors and small unit leaders.

Visitors had the opportunity to view the students during a typical day of instruction. They were shown the mess, living, recreation and study facilities available for the students.

The instruction at the school is primarily that which would apply to the NCO in his present unit. The school is broken down into platoons of infantry, artillery, armor, and engineer personnel, giving the students ample opportunity for obtaining knowledge of the job which they will normally perform in their own unit.

Unit COs View Training At 3d Div. NCO School

Emphasis is placed on practical application. Most of the instruction is given by the NCO's attending the course. This unusual approach allows the student to learn not only the tools of his trade but also the NCO School.

THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER

Winter was in the air, and the ant was working on a last minute inventory of the food he had stored so industriously all through the summer. It was then that the hungry grasshopper hopefully dropped by for a handout.

"Sorry," said the ant, "nothing doing. You'd have plenty of food of your own, if you hadn't just hopped, skipped, and jumped the whole summer away."

If Ansof had never written another fable, he'd still live in history for that one alone. American history, too, for we've always been a nation that admired thrift.

OLYMPIC TRIALS

"Lt. Brown was a coach first and a swimmer second," said Enos. "He spent the majority of his time around the pool helping out the other fellows rather than spend long tedious hours getting himself in the best of condition."

"No matter what the outcome will be, one thing we definitely can be sure of, and that is that Don Brown will give an All-American performance."

To this writer the Olympic trials prove that it's the fight not to be left behind that makes the Detroit event an exciting and yet a somewhat sad affair.

Party Set By Library

The Main Post Library is planning a children's party for the members of the Rocket Reading Club. Since July 5, 110 Main Post children have become frequent visitors at the library, taking advantage of the special collection of books lent for their use by the Extension Department of the Bradley Memorial Library in Columbus.

The reading program will close with a party on Saturday morning, Aug. 18, beginning at 10 o'clock and closing at 11:30, according to Rebecca Skillin, Main Post librarian. There will be a program of games and refreshments.

All-Army Pistoleers Ready for Nationals

Preparations for the 1956 National Rifle and Pistol Matches at Camp Everglades, Fla., Aug. 14-Sept. 8 are nearing completion. Col. Charles F. Leonard, Jr., of Fort Benning, executive officer of the meet, announced.

Selected detachments have been working since early July to make this year's matches the best ever held. Select Olympic Members Leading off in the 1956 event will be the free pistol matches to select members for the Olympics this fall in Australia. Other Olympic events to be fired during the three and a half weeks include the 300-meter free rifle, 50-meter free rifle and International Rapid Fire Pistol.

Main interest among service competitors will be the National Trophy Rifle Team and individual matches as well as the National Trophy Pistol and individual events. Another match being featured is attention among servicemen is the Infantry Trophy match.

School for Conduct Counselors The Small Arms Course School will conduct rifle and pistol advanced and basic courses. This is the first ever advanced course has been given and graduates will receive instructor's certificates.

Assistant executive for this year's shoot is Russell B. Warty, National Rifle Association. He will make up the nucleus of the team is James F. Marline, Corps. Capt. Lejeune, N. C. is range director. Support battalions are from the Army's 10th Regiment, First Infantry Division, head-

16 Teams Entered In 3d Army Tourney

The sixteen best Army softball teams in the Southeast, 10 men's and six women's, will converge at Fort MacPherson, S.C., for the 1956 National Softball Championships.

Grid Team Needs Reserves

The completion of the first week of practice for the Main Post football team brought a mixture of grins and sad headshakes from acting head coach Jim Ingram.

"We'll really be able to use Hoerning and Hatkocak," Ingram was quoted as saying.

But it wasn't long before Ingram was saying in a woe-of tone, "We're too shallow. We can get together a pretty good team, but when there we are really hurting. We need plenty more players."

In addition to the nine former team members, Ingram, Hoerning, under contract to the Los Angeles Rams; Gene Clark, Penn State Teachers' College, Nebraska; Dave Orbeck, Duquesne College; and Paul Hattocak, Hattocak, also expects help from Charles Williams, Fred Holland and Phil Bullock from last year's Group Commanders.

The School Brigade players who will make up the nucleus of the team is James F. Marline, Corps. Capt. Lejeune, N. C. is range director. Support battalions are from the Army's 10th Regiment, First Infantry Division, head-

3-Div. Team Begins Work

Marine footballers started their heavy work last week when the 3rd Division's football team turned out in pads and helmets for the first contact work of the pre-season practice.

With the start of the season just a few short weeks away the Marine staff are preparing for what is perhaps the toughest season in the nation, Army wise that is.

Following the workouts last week, Coach Bornstein named two persons whom he knew would be the backbone of the yearling Marine ball club. They are George Jacoby, All American from Ohio State and Dave Robers who was a backfield mainstay for the Indiana team.

Prior to the first league game this season with the Quantico Marines, Coach Bornstein plans a few exhibition games with local teams to put the finishing touches on what he hopes will be a fine ball team.

As it stands right now the Marines will face off against Pensacola, Elgin Air Force Base, Quantico and two Army teams, Fort Buckner and Fort Jackson. The first game will be played on the 15th of September at Quantico.

VISITS-BENNING Major Gen. Hqn Nawaz, commander-designate of the Pakistan Army's Armored Division, visited the post Aug. 5 to 8 on an orientation on Infantry School activities. In observing the combat readiness of U. S. Infantrymen, Gen. Nawaz saw a demonstration of an Infantry school's platoon in attack and presentation by the Infantry School's Ranger and Artillery Army Aviation Departments.

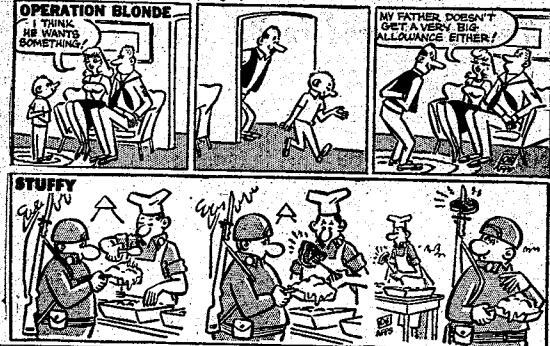

REASSIGNED Lt. Robert Henry McKie, of Edgfield, S. C. has been assigned as platoon leader to Company "C" of the 78th Engineer Battalion (Combat), a graduate of Clemson University. Lt. Raised eyebrow note... Warner Bros. has a number of seashark on its hands. Shark vagrancies being what they are, the studio has a batch of the critters captured and penned in the Bahamas for location filming of "The Old Man and the Sea," prize novel by Ernest Hemingway. Seems the cramped quarters of the shark pens didn't agree with the monsters and the studio now is looking for real de mer pills in shark-zoo doses.

Memo to readers of high-class literature (comes)... Edna Adams, who has been fighting TVers with an impetuousness of MM that would fool Arthur, has been signed for the role of Daisy Mae in a B-way musical production of Al Capone's "Lili Hohen" coming to the Great White Way in autumn.

SFC. ROBERT A. KARCH The Fort Benning challenge-ers' tournament is moving along at a measured pace. Capt. Bob Fallon, Allied Liaison Section, TIS, has already qualified for the semi-finals with a victory over Talbot 2-1. However, most other round two games will be played Saturday Aug. 11 in the Main Post Service Club. Pairings are:

Krylow vs. Cassell
Marfall vs. Krumer
Talbot vs. Fallon
Dunne vs. Cummings

You are probably as shocked as I am at the latest rating ladder! Actually, it's about the same as last week except for Don Goldstein who ambushed Dick Talbot with a match and scored 2-0. When interviewed, Don said he "didn't expect to stay in number two spot long!"

We have received an invitation to enter the Alabama Open Chess Tournament in Birmingham, Sept. 1-3. This is a cash money event; first prize about one hundred dollars. Dick Talbot, Doug Cassell and I plan to enter. My expenses last year were:

New Post Commander Will Arrive At Fort Benning This Weekend

Welfare Drive Begins Aug. 29

The only campaign at Fort Benning to raise funds for charity and welfare purposes during the 1957 fiscal year will begin Aug. 29.

Lightning Kills 2, Injures 12 3d Div. Men

Two Fort Benning soldiers were killed and 12 injured when lightning struck in two areas of the post during an electrical storm about 5 p.m. Monday.

The two men killed were M. Sgt. Charles A. Bookshire, Co. C, 7th Inf. Bn., 3d Div., and SFC Bernard Henry St. George Omer, Co. C, 7th Inf. Bn., 3d Div.

The two fatalities and one of the injury cases occurred when lightning struck about three miles north of Harmony Church.

All three were of the Third Division's Seventh Infantry Combat Command.

Eleven others, including Lt. Col. George Wood, Second Battalion commander, were injured when lightning struck 10 minutes later about two miles from the site of the first tragedy. The group, part of the 15th Infantry Combat Command, was studying battalion field problems at the time.

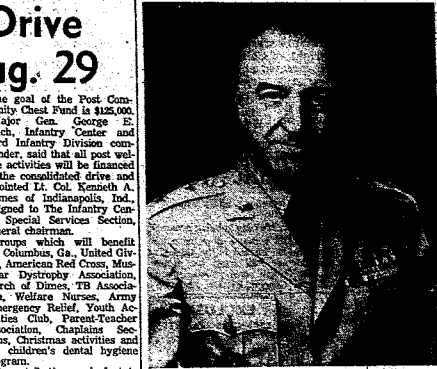

The incident was investigated to the U. S. Army hospital by helicopters.

The injured are: Lt. Col. Wood, 1st Lt. Gilberto Gibellini, M-Sgt. Jacinto Navarra, M-Sgt. Isaac Pavayra, Sgt. Robert White, Sgt. William C. Weaver, Sgt. Dallas T. Grantham, Pfc. William A. Driscoll, Pfc. Franklin C. Blackburn, Pfc. Miles H. Balrey, Pfc. Soto Garcia. None were in serious condition.

'Deposits' Boom In 714th Tank Bn.

Stabilized tours encourage stable personal finances, recent Soldiers' Deposit figures from the 714th Tank Bn. (GYROSCOPE), 25th RCT, would seem to show.

A total of $2,635.00 was placed in Soldiers' Deposit last payday, July 31, by enlisted members of the 714th. Largest single deposit was a $600.00 reenlistment bonus.

Tony Pastor Booked For Post Appearance

Tony Pastor and his celebrated orchestra are scheduled for an appearance at the Main Post Theater on August 22 at 7:00 p.m. The famed vocalist and instrumentalist is currently heading what trade observers have called the finest band in his long and highly successful career.

Pastor has been a familiar item on the music scene for some time. The versatile New Englander came into prominence as a featured member of the great Artie Shaw Orchestra. Tony first started singing when he was with the Vincent Lopez band, but it remained for Artie Shaw to provide his really big chance to jump into the spotlight.

DIRECTOR WANTED
Special Services is seeking a choral director to lead a post chorus being formed at the Infantry Center. Interested military or civilian personnel are urged to call the Entertainment and Recreation Branch at Fort Benning 3-1112.

TO PRESENT CONCERT HERE AUG. 22
Tony Pastor and Vocalist Nancy Lee

Gen. Powell to Be Greeted By Honor Guard Monday

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, new commander of the Infantry School and Infantry Center commander, will arrive here Aug. 19 or 20.

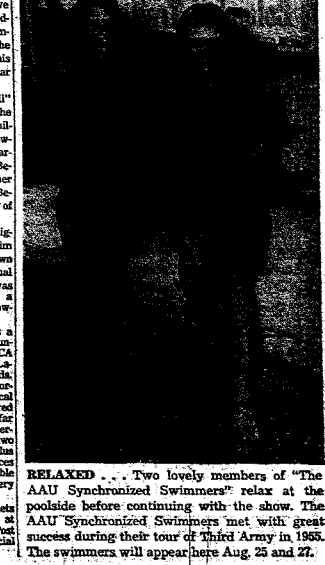

He will be welcomed at honor guard ceremonies on Chap. Field, Gen. and Mrs. Powell will be honored with an official reception Aug. 21 at 8:30 p.m. in the Main Officers Mess.

Gen. Powell commanded the 25th Inf. Div. at Schofield Barracks, T. H. from Oct. 1954, until being named commanding general of U. S. Army, Pacific, last May. He succeeded Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, who left May 23 to assume duties as chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group to the Philippines.

Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Third Infantry Division commander, has served in the Infantry Center as acting commander and acting commander of the Infantry School.

Gen. Powell is a native of Monmouth, Ore., which his parents helped establish in 1851. His grandmother and grandfather were among the first settlers to cross the Oregon Trail by wagon train.

RELAXED . . . Two lovely members of "The AAU Synchronized Swimmers" relax at the poolside before continuing with the show. The AAU Synchronized Swimmers met with great success during their tour of Third Army in 1955. The swimmers will appear here Aug. 25 and 27.

Bama Reservists Begin Summer Training Here

Sixty-two enlisted men and officers of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 926th Engineer Aviation Group, Montgomery, Ala., began their last week of summer field training Monday.

Fifteen of the personnel are from Montgomery. Other members come from surrounding counties and cities. The 926th is a U. S. Army Reserve unit but functions principally in training and extended active duty as a support unit for the U. S. Air Force. Its mission includes construction of roads, installations and airfields for Air Force use.

Ramsey Winner In Driver Contest

A 23 year old specialist from Sutton, Kentucky is the winner of the 29th Int. Regt. 2nd Bn driver of the month contest.

Following a written and oral examination, Sgt. Richard L. Ramsey, Hq Co, who drives the battalion's S3 section, won out over Pvt. Robert W. Edwards by a half point.

The selection was part of a program to find the unit's most outstanding vehicle operator. Maintenance, driver and knowledge and vehicle operation were judging criteria.

OFF AGAIN, ON AGAIN . . . From M-Sgt. to MSP to M-Sgt. is the story of two sergeants of Hq. & Hq. Co., TSE. They are M-Sgt. John T. Nelson, left, of Columbus, Ohio, and M-Sgt. James J. Bradford, right, of Columbus, Ga. Their wives, becoming exasperated at the repeated request to sew on new style stripes, finally balked at the chore. The two sergeants are shown in the dayroom of Hq. & Hq. Co., TSE, sewing on what they hope will be their last change in stripes.

Force Tells Group Of Benning's Timber

The huge Fort Benning military reservation today has enough marketable timber to build an estimated 40,000 six room frame dwelling houses, a post forestry official disclosed here.

Norman F. Force of Columbus, forester for The Infantry Center Engineer Section, said the post's timber resources amount to nearly 470 million board feet.

Speaking on forestry management at a meeting of the Fort Benning-Columbus Society of American Military Engineers at the Post Country Club, Force presented statistics on the forestry program for the past quarter of a century.

Value of the post program since 1929 has been estimated at $4,570,271. The cost of the reservation, (land only) is $4,383,993.21.

Nearly 130,000 Acres of the forested area at the reservation is now 120,000 acres.

Forester Force said: "The real stock in the art was provided in 1946 and 1947 and caused damage of $1,300,000. In 1956, 17 fires have burned 2,688 acres, causing $13,309,130 loss. Force said, "The post's timber resources maintains four fire towers and receives orders from three county foresters under the Georgia State Forestry Commission."

Unit Gets 2 New Copters

The first two of a group of Sikorsky H-19 helicopters have been received by the 57th Helicopter Ambulance Detachment.

These utility type aircraft will be utilized in medical evacuations throughout the Third Army area.

"The Army had no priority in the purchase of these helicopters," previously, the unit had made use of the two-blade Bell and Hiller models. With the arrival of the H-19's, Capt. Glen W. Jones, detachment commander, says: "The effectiveness of the unit could be forming its mission will be greatly improved."

As a unit, the 57th is relatively young. It was deactivated following its service in Korea and reactivated at Fort Benning July 1, 1956.

'Survivor's' Bill Makes Service More Attractive

partial gratuity social security coverage for the Armed Forces, based on a $150 million wage credit, those who eventually retire lose their military credits upon leaving active service, except in certain limited conditions.

Full participation in the Social Security System requires a monthly deduction of two per cent from the pay check of the worker plus an additional two per cent contribution by his employer based on the employee's wages up to $50 a month.

Since servicemen work for the U.S. government, the employer's share will be matched by Defense funds at no penalty to the individual.

Those retiring from the service after becoming qualified contributors to the system (14 to 18 months) will, upon reaching the eligible age (65), draw monthly Social Security benefits plus retirement pay, though they may hold a military job. (APPS)

Chaplain's Corner

Making One's Life Count

BY CHAPLAIN (Lt. Col.) W. W. Lovin Recent reports coming from our armed forces in Europe indicate that the chaplain's presence is not conducting themselves in the proper manner, which would be having credit to the uniform they wear and cause them to be good ambassadors for America.

Our military personnel have a great responsibility facing them when they enter the presence of another country; that responsibility is to always conduct themselves in such a manner that reflects credit upon our nation and the military service in which we serve.

For this lively report on the armed forces of our country. These influences are with us regardless of where we go and their facilities are at our disposal. The tragedy of life is revealed in the fact that too many of us let these wonderful facilities and opportunities pass by too often without taking advantage of them and making them count for good in our lives.

Many of us feel that we have plenty of time, and that life does not get around to it. We when we have our needs. Let us remember, "that if we commit our way unto the Lord, He will direct our paths and we can be made to count for each of us while we are in the armed forces of our country. Then, when we are separated from the military forces of our nation and return to our civilian pursuits, we will be a much better position to make a lasting contribution to the community where we choose to live the rest of our lives upon this earth. Yes, you can make life count! The question is—will you?"

It is this living from day to day which either makes or breaks us; there is no more important time in our lives than these fruitful years we spend in the armed forces of our country. It is our duty to develop our personalities in the right manner, we must take hold of the time and the plastic years and mold them in the direction of strong and worthwhile character.

Last, but not least, there is

PROMOTED

Graziano Punchy, But Still Likeable

Last week saw a sweet little Italian girl play a sweet little Jewish girl while a redneck fighter named Paul Newman took the role of a punchy drunk fighter named Rocky Graziano.

The picture was "Somebody Up There Likes Me" and unlike "The Harder They Fall" a predecessor this year that showed the seamy side of the game, the Graziano story proved to be a somewhat more understandable reason you couldn't help but like him as he moved from one fracas to another before settling down and becoming champion. Rocky was a dirty fighter but maybe it was because he had a dirty soul the role of a punchy drunk fighter named Rocky Graziano.

I'll have to remember to watch Martha Hayes the next time she comes to town. They made a nice couple. It was just possible that the right man to play Alvin was in the same film, only in a minor role. Rocky Graziano likes to overplay, would have surpassed handsome Gregory Peck in the role of Alvin. Martha might have been even better.

John Huston did a terrific job of directing "Big Fish" and, unfortunately, he missed it a boat (whole boat, that is).

A young lady known only as Miss Lofton had a complaint about my bridge column of last week.

There's one thing you don't realize," she said. "Husbands never could play the game correctly. Only wives have the superior intellect necessary in bridge."

A Sure 'Nuff Cowboy
Whigham Has Ridden
The Best of Horses

BY CLARK BLACKBURN
A sure 'nuff Texas cowboy and former jockey is M-Sgt. W. J. Whigham of Ft. Benning, Ga., of the 24th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron. He was only 12 years old when he went to work for a narrow, Tex. racing stable "leading hots" (walking a horse until he cools off) after a race or workout. From this beginning Sgt. Whigham progressed to exercise boy, breaking new mounts, and finally to riding in match races—some of the outstanding sports of the Southwest.

To understand what a "match" race is to know about one of the great sports in Texas history. Ranchers and gentlemen have been known to spend years in the search for, and thousands of dollars in the development of, the one "Rapid Bell." He raced his horse in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, collecting several large purses in the process.

Entered Army in 1944 Sgt. Whigham entered the Army as a private, and upon completion of basic training was placed on orders for overseas. While at home on seven days delay en route, he was named "Raffles II" and "Molita" for his former employer who received a total of $4,000.00 purse money.

TEXAS COWBOY . . . M-Sgt. Whigham

next day Sgt. Whigham departed for overseas. Asked if he would like to climb aboard a horse in a match race, he says "I'd like to, but my weight has increased from 107 to 175 pounds. About the only animal I could straddle and race now is an elephant. When I retire from the Army I'll go back to Texas and start up a cattle spread of my own and dream of the day I'll have my own race horse that I can match against the best of them."

Sgt. Whigham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Whigham of Midland, Tex.

Post Sergeant Finds Solution To Three Important Problems

BY ED SWIENICKI
A post sergeant may very well find the solution to three of man's most common problems, overweight, the high cost of living, and where to park your car.

And he does it all to the credit of Boy Scouts.

For M-Sgt. Wilbern A. Window, personnel sergeant-major of the 24th Infantry Combat Team, modern man's headaches were solved last year by an investment of $50 into a small Austrian racing bicycle.

... M-Sgt. Window

Braving convention and d stores from "lady people in automobiles" the sergeant from the wide open places of Mason, Tex., has become a familiar figure as he rides his bicycle daily from his on-post home at Ingersoll Loop to his place of duty with the 24th Regt.

How did it come about that this sergeant quit using his comfortable 1954 model automobile for transportation, and took up the more strenuous method of pedaling?

Asked to help Scouts One day last November the personnel sergeant was asked to be a cycling and hiking counselor for a group of Boy Scouts in the Benning and Upatoi districts.

Under these circumstances, one part of the hospital moves to the new area while the other remains to furnish medical care for patients in the installation until they are evacuated.

The semimobile hospital is under command of Lt. Col. Julian Fried assisted by Executive officer Maj. Fred Hart, Med. Supply officer Maj. Raymond O'Brien, national and cryptologic William Roach Jr., and Detachment Commander Capt. James Moore. The demonstration was open to the public and brought many interested people from Fort Benning and the Columbus area.

Post Shows Semi-Mobile Hospital

The 24th Evacuation Hospital working with U. S. Army reserve units now at Fort Benning, demonstrated a semimobile hospital on Sallwell field Aug. 6 and 7.

This hospital is set up to provide hospitalization for all classes of patients within the combat zone, and to prepare patients for further evacuation if necessary. It is normally allocated to the Army on a basis of one per division.

The capacity of the hospital is 400 beds. It is able to retain patients for a period of from a few hours to a few weeks depending upon the stability of the military situation and other existing evacuation factors.

An important characteristic of the hospital is its inherent mobility. It can be established in the field under tentage on other shelter within a few hours time. The unit is practically non-dependent on assistance from other services in establishing itself for field operations.

Special Services TIC and 3rd Infantry Division Special Services will present the AAU Synchronized Swimmers at 8:30 p.m. August 29 at the Main Officers Mess Swimming Pool and 7:00 p.m. August 27 at Sand Hill Swimming Pool. All officers, enlisted men, and their dependents are invited to attend. Admission is free.

This outstanding Water Show is currently on a tour of all stateside Army Posts. The troupe is composed of eight charming, vivacious females and two civilian males. Under the guidance of Mrs. Norma J. Olson, national and cryptologic chairman of synchronized swimming, the Water Show has thrilled G.I. audiences throughout the nation. Besides precision diving and synchronized swimming, comedy routines spice the act throughout.

Musical Diet At Lawson AF

First take a 1938 model radio, add an old second-hand turntable with a salvaged loud speaker and add a dash of revolving records. Result: background music for mechanics as they pull helicopter repairs.

This is the recipe followed by the 152nd Field Maintenance Detachment in Hangar 1 at Lawson Army Airfield this week.

Background music was the brainchild of SFC Richard L. Knight, who said that 10 to 12 men sacrificed their off-duty hours for the project's completion.

The radio and turntable, purchased from a second-hand store, were put together in a single case. Minor repairs were made by SP4 Leonard O.

The unit is composed of two companies from Knoxville and one company from Morristown, Tenn. The active duty mission of this unit is to construct a portion of a four-lane divided highway.

Recreational facilities such as service clubs, libraries, theaters, swimming pools, golf and baseball equipment are available to members of the unit for off-duty time.

This unit was activated at Knoxville April 26, 1947, as the 370th Engineer Combat Battalion and redesignated Oct. 19, 1949, as the 370th Engineer Construction Battalion. It has participated in summer field training at Fort Bragg, N. C., Fort Belvoir, Va., Fort Rucker, Ala., and Fort Benning, Ga. since its activation.

Warren Pauck pitched and won three games in the final two days of the Infantry Center softball tournament to carry Company A, 1st Special Troops Battalion to the post softball championship, despite a semi-finals defeat in the winners bracket, last week.

Company A, with Pauck hurling a three-hitter, culminated their uphill battle with a 5-2 win, last Wednesday evening over Board Three Continental Army Command, in the tourney's final game.

Win Earlier Game
Earlier in the day, Pauck and his mates battered the same team for a 1-2 victory, forcing the extra game in the evening. Company A won the right to face Board Three, who had defeated them in the semi-finals two weeks ago, 6-4, by run in the last of the seventh inning.

Unearned Run in First
The Special Troops team took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with Wayne Farnell scoring on an error by the left fielder, Abshire. In the sixth, they added another run to make it 3-0.

Farnell singled and was advanced on another hit by John Kline. Farnell then scored on another error by Abshire.

Defending Champs ST
Gordon proved too stiff of a competition for Company A's Special Troops. In the first game of the Third Army softball tournament at Ft. Benning, Pauck was three on three with a 2-0 lead Monday.

TOM WIERZBICKI One Day Wonder In Record Books

A favorite pastime of individuals whether they are in the Armed Forces or in the friendly confines of civilian life is browsing around searching for something new.

Browsing is not limited to a select few. A young married couple window shopping for new furniture for the house; a soldier wandering around in the Main Post library looking for an interesting book; a group of fellows checking the used car lots for a bargain. These are just a few of the ways one can pass the time away.

Being a sports enthusiast, my browsing is of a different type. I enjoy shuffling through the record books looking for oddities that happen in the world of sports.

Most record books are the antithesis of an encyclopedia. The record books say simply: "Most runs off pitcher, game: 24, J. Travers, Detroit AL vs Philadelphia, May 18, 1912, and that is the biggest number of runs allowed by any pitcher in a major league game since a thrower named David E. Rowe let in 35 when he was pitching for the Cleveland, National league team, July 24, 1882.

The record books, which have time for little else than figures, do not mention that Alouvis Travers (the "T" error) was not a big leaguer at all, but a scared college kid, backed up by other scared college kids, and that Ty Cobb was at the root of it all.

The game is without exact parallel in the major leagues.

Cobb Caused it All
Three days before, Cobb had clambered into the grandstand in New York and shagged a heckler through the aisles. For this, he was suspended by Ban Johnson, the American league president. Cobb's teammates, who had squirmed under the heckler's scorn, felt the suspension unjust. They refused to play unless Cobb was back in the line-up.

Faced with a $3,000 forfeit if he failed to field a team, Hugh Jennings, the Detroit manager, signed contracts with one snafu and eight players from St. Joseph's college team in Philadelphia. They put on Detroit uniforms and faced the third place Philadelphia Athletics.

The game itself was murder. Aided by nine errors, which let in 10 unearned runs, the Athletics galloped to a 24-2 win.

Of the collegians, only one, Billy Maharg, ever appeared in a big league uniform. Four years later he played outfield for the Philadelphia Phillies — again for just one day.

Only the 20-year-old Travers, who later became a Catholic priest, appears in the record books as a result of the travesty. But another "one day wonder" made history. The sandlotter, Ed Irwin, hit two triples in three times at bat and left major league baseball with a lifetime batting average of .679 and a slugging record of 2.001!

QUOTABLE QUOTES
Dick Young — New York Sports writer... "Ted Williams says he can't understand why he gets booed: He, a great hitter with a .350 batting average. It's not your .350 BA they boo, Ted. It's your .450 personality. Fans, and the Boston writers, can get as unpleasant as you can. I understand your favorite squeal to Boston writers is: 'If you were any good you'd be in New York.' I know quite a few writers outside New York who are better than a lot inside New York, just as I know a lot of ball players in the same position. Don't try to change, though. As a nice guy, you'd be terribly dull, which is a worse offense than being merely insufferable."

Brown Beaten in Try-Outs
An Associated Press story Frank McKinley and Al out of Detroit, site of the Olympic Swimming Trials, announced the top three swimmers in the 100 meter backstroke: The winner was "Rocky" Orskow, 1:52. McKinley, Brown's best time was a 1:58.2.

Hapless Doughboys Lose to Ft. Jackson

The walls came tumbling down on the Main Post Doughboys last week when Ft. Jackson surged forth with a nine-run outburst in the seventh inning to start a lambasting which ended up with a lopsided 19-4 victory.

Up till the seventh inning, the Doughboys held a not too comfortable, 1-0 lead, behind the four hit pitching of Don Peacock.

However, Peacock weakened in the seventh inning and was greeted with nine big hits, including Billy Harrington's three-run homer. Harrington is the younger brother of 1st Lt. Larry Harrington, assistant coach of the Doughboys, who was recently discharged Aug. 3.

The South Carolina nine put together six consecutive hits in the eighth, blasting two pitchers from the mound. Fred Harrison, recently acquired from the 3rd Div., relieved Peacock and gave up four straight hits in his abbreviated mound appearance.

Jannie Padgett followed the parade of Doughboys to the mound. However, it wasn't Padgett's day. He gave up ten runs on five hits complete with an error by Chuck Spina.

The two-inning outburst gave the Main Post team no chance to get back into the ball game. After taking a 1-0 lead in the first inning on consecutive doubles by Rufus Holland and Dale Black, the game looked like it would be a neck and neck affair. The explosion soon followed... Rufus Holland paced the four-run outburst with two home hits in six innings at bat. Dale Black followed with three for four.

Errors spelled the score for Fort Benning in a twin defeat at the hand of defending All-Air Force champions Fort McPherson last weekend.

The local baseballers lost 7-3 and 4-1, allowing a total of eight unearned runs to the score. They committed a total of seven chargeable errors and a couple not accessible to tabulation.

In the first game, Bill Storms pitched a creditable game, allowing nine hits. But three errors and a misjudged fly ball that allowed McPherson's Billy Moran to claim a homerun cost him a chance at the win.

Rufus Holland had two hits in four times up for the Doughboys and Dick Randazza had two in three.

In the second game, the errors were even more costly, allowing all of McPherson's four runs to score. Doughboy pitcher Leon Suggs gave up seven hits to Bob Anderson's four.

For Benning had two double plays in the second game. Open singles in the recent game to George Marion to Alfonso Jones.

I DARE YA... Clarence Augusta, Benning heavyweight, stands poised over fallen Dick Haroutunian, after having knocked him down for the first time in their match last week. Augusta floored the Bolling fighter again a few minutes later in the second round and eventually took a decision. It was Augusta's first win as a Benning fighter, but was not enough for his team as they lost 5-3.

Kessler, Baker Compete In All-Army Tournament

Lieutenants Drury Kessler and Tony Baker have been named to the Third Army Tennis and Golf team to compete in the All-Army Championships at Ft. Bragg, N. C., August 6-13.

2nd Lt. Kessler was defeated in the finals of the Men's Open Singles in the recent Third Army tournament. He lost to Pvt. Ken Cass of Ft. Benning.

10 YEARS AGO... Ten years ago—in 1946—Sibby Haskel, the American Association batting Jackie Robinson topped the International League. Miltichell the Texas League, Mike Mello the East and Ted Kuszewski the South Atlantic.

EXTRA INNING RECORD On May 30, 1930, the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators went into extra innings with the score tied, 3 to 3, and that both clubs scored in the fifteenth, and then the White Sox busted the game wide open in the sixteenth when they scored eight times on two triples, a double, two singles and four errors. And did you know that the eight runs in the sixteenth stand for a major league record for runs scored in that particular frame.

Jackson TKOed Willie Johnson, 1:54 second round. Welterweight Jack Granger, Bolling, defeated Bob Haroutunian, Middleweight Harold Burt, Bolling, defeated Bob Haroutunian, Heavyweight Clarence Augusta, defeated Dick Haroutunian, Benning, 5-3. Benning, 5-3. Benning, 5-3.

3rd Division's Frank Myers Among Top Benning Pitchers

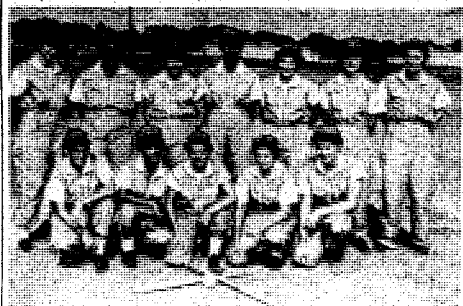

BY KAL WAGENHEIM
Frank Myers was left for the first time in years without a tournament to pitch in.

The 26-year-old Myers had had a career that could be described in one word... "fabulous".

Dozen No-Hitters
His glittering Army sports record dates back to 1941, and he has packed almost a dozen no-hitters into that span; two of them with the Columbus Manufacturing Company in local industrial league play.

In Fairbanks, Alaska, two years ago," he said. "We were up there when a club of sportsmen, the Moose Club, challenged us to a game for the 'World's championship'."

"I guess the roughest string of games I pitched was in 1952 when we won the 3rd Army Tournament. I pitched eight games in six days, winning six of them."

WINNING WACS... The Fort Benning WAC Detachment Softball Team poses for a picture prior to departure for the Third Army tournament at Fort McPherson, Ga., Aug. 13-18.

...won the 3rd Army Tournament. I pitched eight games in six days, winning six of them. "It went like this: I won on Tuesday, lost Wednesday, won Thursday, won a doubleheader Friday, lost Saturday, and won two games on Sunday."

the first extra inning, Co. A broke loose for three runs on one hit, a couple of hit batsmen, many walks, and three errors. Paulk then closed out the game in the last of the eighth with no more trouble than a two-out walk to Abshire.

Six-Run Inning
In the afternoon game, Company A spurted to a 6-0 lead in the first inning and was never in any trouble. Paulk climaxed the first inning rally with a single and a two-base error that sent three runners home. The STC pitcher finished out the game with three hits in four times up.

The final games in the losers' brackets was a heart breaker for the 10th Engineer Battalion and their pitcher Dietrich. Having lost the opening game of the tournament to STC, 1-0, on a one-hitter and an error, they were beaten again by Paulk and his mates 3-1, also on an error, and again in the last inning.

Torrid Heat Moves Practice to Night

Because of the hot weather, the 2nd Infantry Division Football team is training under the arc lights at Bennett Field for the season's opener against the Quantico Marines, September 15th.

Head Coach Sumner Bornstein, the sideline general for the yearling Marine squad has moved his training to the evening hours so that the team can participate in heavy work-outs and scrimmages.

Plans to Use Split-T
Ray Byrd the backfield coach is planning to use the split T formation this year providing he can come up with a quarterback that can handle the ball and pass as well. As of yet pickings for the job are slim but Byrd has over a month to get one in shape and train a reserve quarter to help out on the hot days.

Being the first year that the Marne men have fielded a team, it is a bit difficult to

UNION BOAT CLUB

FAIR TIDE SAILING . . . "Drop the anchor, stow the mast and sail" and other nautical terms are fast becoming a part of the vocabulary of some military personnel here. This coming fall is directly connected with the current development of a new boat with King Engineering the white "U" of the Union Boat Club, which was launched last March by having an immense station here. . . .

It, a boat trip to Enclave on April 3 and a picnic and get-together at Lake Herdin on July 4. Another boat trip in planned for Aug. 13. The Union Boat Club will be represented in the current national championship for United States sailors to be run on Lake Herdin, near Cleveland, Ohio, the week of Aug. 18. The Club's members will fly from Camp Lejeune to participate in this national championship.

RCT Slates Blood Drive

Personnel from the 24th Regimental Combat Team are expected to turn out in record number for the command's annual blood drive this month in an attempt to break a post record established during the last Red Cross drive.

At that time troops from the 24th Inf. Regt. turned out en masse to donate 554 pints of blood during an eight hour period, setting a post record of "a pint a minute" for the one day drive.

During this year's drive the Bloodmobile will be at the regiment's Med. Co. on Aug. 27-28. Red Cross nurses will collect blood between 1-5 in the afternoon during the two day campaign.

A shuttle bus, to run every hour on the hour, will be utilized by units in Harmony Church and on field problems. Invitations for participation in the 24th R.C.T.'s blood drive have also been extended to all parts of the post and the surrounding community.

Project officers for the drive are Lt. Patrick H. Dionne, Special Services Officer and Lt. Frank DeSalle, Med. Co., 2nd Inf. Regt.

Army Develops New Two-Way Radio Built into Combat Helmet

A two-way radio built into a new synthetic combat helmet will enable soldiers to communicate on the battlefield, the Army has announced.

18 Men Promoted in Ordnance Co.

Sewing kits were in big demand in the 90th Ord. Co., STC, on Aug. 15 when 18 men were promoted to Private First Class.

Men sewing on their first stripe were James L. Beck, Degraf, Ohio, Thomas C. Burleson Jr., Colusa, Calif., Cecil E. Calvert, Philadelphia, Pa., Omero Cararajal, Selma, Tex., John F. Flad, Norristown, Pa., Thomas J. Garvin, Yorktown, N.Y., William L. Gray, Racine, Wis., Fred W. Hancock, Riverport, Wyo., Roger H. Hart Jr., Toledo, Ore., William P. Johnson, St. Louis, Mo., George F. Jordan, State College, Pa., Joe H. McCull, Marshall, N.C., Harvey C. Nantz, Brandon, Wis., Jerome B. O'Kraak, Streator, Ill., Joseph R. Pristella, Corning, N.Y., Maurice B. Raynor, Norfolk, N.Y., John E. Seelby, Edinboro, N.Y., and Anthony J. Zaychik, Philadelphia, Pa.

SPEAKS TO KIWANIS

1st Lt. John R. Espey of the 1st Airborne Division, 3d Battalion, 8th Air Infantry, spoke to the Kwanis Club Aug. 15. Espey's talk on Ranger training was followed by a nine-minute film.

The entire set is smaller than two packs of cigarettes. The experimental helmet, molded of a new, tough synthetic material, looks like a football player's headgear and protects the head as well as the face.

The radio, using transistors instead of bulky vacuum tubes, is pre-set for short range conversations to prevent message interception in the front line.

However, the range can be increased in a few seconds by hooking an auxiliary antenna to the helmet.

At full capacity, the new radio can reach other sets up to a mile away and can reach powerful stations at even greater distances, the Army said.

To answer a call the soldier pushes a button on the side of his helmet and talks into a microphone about the size of his thumb. No warm-up time is needed since the transistors act instantly.

Where talking might divulge his position, the wearer can push a second button on his helmet to "cut in" on any standard message with a short "beep."

The FM set, which can operate continuously for a half-hour without changing the batteries, snaps into the side of the helmet in two metal cases.

The radio has unlimited uses by the soldier in combat and can "cut in" on any standard Army radio.

Undergoing extensive field tests at Monmouth, production models of the rugged radio-telephone are expected to be ready for widespread use, the Army said. (AFPS)

Sergeant Keeps Occupied With Job, Varied Hobbies

BY TOM SKELLES
"What's the score, Pop?" Those are familiar words around the household of 1st Sgt. Glenn W. Blakely who resides at 2207 Heard Street, Columbus, Ga., with his wife and four children.

At 36 years of age, Blakely is a father of four children and a tall, broad-shouldered man with a friendly smile. He has a different set of scores to juggle with upon returning home in the afternoon.

He is apt to hear from his two oldest sons, ages 19 and 12. The 19-year-old, "Who was robbed?" or "Throw him out!" for they are avid Little League baseball players.

More or less for his own self protection, Blakely is assistant to the manager of the Giant Little League Baseball team in Columbus. He also serves as a spare catcher when his young son decides to warm up their pitching arm.

"They can throw pretty hard," he adds with a wry grin.

The sergeant's schedule is pretty crowded. He's 35 years old and has 20 years Army service under his belt. Off-duty hours are spent with one of his four hobbies, not the least of which is an occasional stint of chit chat on WRBL.

He is apt to hear from his two oldest sons, ages 19 and 12. The 19-year-old, "Who was robbed?" or "Throw him out!" for they are avid Little League baseball players.

'Never Oversell Prospect' Top Recruiter Tells Secrets of the Trade

BY SGT. MARIAN K. BAKER
"Never oversell a prospective recruit," says SFC Joseph DeMarco, recruitment NCO for The School Brigade.

"Present the facts; the advantages of Army life compared with civilian life, and then leave the decision up to him," is DeMarco's recruiting philosophy.

He has worked for him for a period of more than three years, both in recruiting stations in Miami and West Palm Beach, Fla., and more recently in the Separation and Enrollment Section, TSB.

Since his assignment here on July 1, he has set a record of 20 enlistments for the month of July, and August is already running above the usual rate.

SFC DeMarco's persuasive personality convinces prospective recruits of the wisdom of an Army career, and they sign up cheerfully, either to fill their own vacancies or for overseas tours. He also has an unusual number of first recruits that the current "Rock and Roll" craze will end in a year or so—maybe sooner—when something else comes along to take its place.

"Pop" Blakely also is one of the top bowlers on post. He has a display of 12 trophies in his home and last year was high scorer in the School Brigade bowling tournament, with high average of 172.

Fact is, you can find Sgt. Blakely most any place. He likes to fish and play golf, and on Sunday he and his wife attend church and Sunday School at the South Columbus Methodist Church.

He originally came from Revere, Mo., but after retirement from the Army he plans to settle down in the vicinity of Colorado Springs, Colo.

His present job is chief clerk, Grading and Statistics Section, Army Extension Course Committee, Department of Non-Resident Instruction at The Infantry School.

SPEAKS TO OCS
Brig. Gen. Marion W. Schwere recently conducted services at Fort Polk, La. spoke to the Infantry School's officer candidates class No. 8 Aug. 21. Approximately 85 candidates were commissioned second lieutenants in ceremonies at 3 p.m.

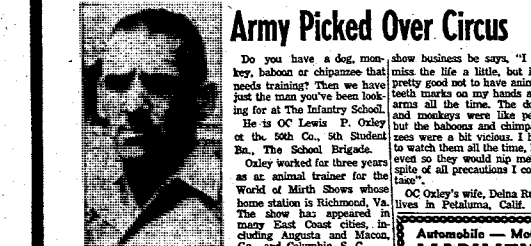

PITCHER'S WINDUP ... Winding up for the pitch are M-Sgt. Glenn W. Blakely, left, and his two sons, Ronald, center, 10, and Charles, 11. The boys play with the Owls and Giants in the Columbus Little League. Sgt. Blakely is assistant to the manager of the Giants.

Laymen Hold Services
Fort Benning military personnel will conduct services at 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning for the Holy Communion service will be discontinued until Chaplain Klime's return from Atlanta, Ga., will celebrate Holy Communion once a month at the 10th service.

Leaders of the services will be Col. Earl P. Kline, of Columbus, Ohio, and John J. Tolson of New Bern, N. C.; Lt. Col. Oscar E. Davis, of Tucson, Ariz.; and Capt. George E. Dallas, Tex.; Edward S. Robbins, of St. Louis, Mo.; and Alex F. Cauder, S. C.; Capt. W. E. Houtchens, of St. Louis, Mo.; and George B. Linaker of Pottstown, Pa., and PFC Robert M. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz.

Bowlers Make League Plans

The first meeting of the Officers Bowling League for the 1956-57 season was held Aug. 18, representatives of thirty-two teams were present. It was decided that the league would begin bowling on Sept. 18, and would bowl on Monday and Tuesday nights.

There are probably several units, sections and organizations, which were not represented at this meeting, which will want to enter teams in the league.

There will be another official meeting on Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Country Club. At this time the final schedule for the season will be set. All interested team captains are requested to be present and to present a letter of their team at that time.

Benning Officer to Study Little Known Language

BY CLARE BLACKBURN
A student officer at The Infantry School has been assigned to study a little known language spoken in its original form in the small city of Algiers on the northwest coast of Sardinia.

He is 1st Lt. Theodore A. Bouchelle, a student in the 2d Co., 1st Student Bn., The School Brigade.

Lt. Bouchelle is well qualified to make such a study, speaking French, Spanish, Italian, Catalan (the language he is to study), and Persian. He has also made a study of Latin, Sanskrit, Classical Greek, Old Persian, Old French, and Provençal.

"The known history of Algiers, whose population is estimated to be between 10,000 and 20,000 and where most of the Lieutenant's study will be made, dates from the 12th century when the town was founded by the Doris family, settlers being predominantly Italian."

Not much is known of the town until sometime in the 14th century when King Alfonso of Barcelona, Spain, moved in with the Catalan speaking people and raised the population man for man. What happened to the original dwellers is still a mystery.

Two names were added to the roster of the 14th Ord. Co., STC on Aug. 7, with the assignment of Pvt. Joseph M. Dinga and Pvt. Michael Negro.

'Sparky' Has Operated Shine Stand at Benning Since 1933

BY BILL THOMPSON
While Jerry, better known as "Sparky," a genial, long-time favorite shoe shiner of the Infantry School, stands in the doorway of his stand, he is swarmed with shoes to be dyed before "Black Saturday," Sept. 1, the day the Army goes into black shoes.

Sparky, old soldier boxer and shoe shiner extraordinaire, has been in the business of shining shoes here for twenty-three years. Sparky roughly estimates that he has shined "about two million shoes" since he started in 1933 near the 24th Infantry located at that time in the Second Quarter.

Sparky has progressed with the times in his business. "I stay strictly modern," Sparky declares. Today he uses all the up-to-date accoutrements of his trade in bringing shoes to their brightest gloss. He cleans the shoes with detergents, uses cleaning solvents for hard to get off stains and scuffs and has a large variety of waxes, polishes and dyes. He has many brushes and a large collection of special cloths. He also uses a light-blue fluid which gives the shoes that final sparkling luster.

See Many Changes
Over the years, Sparky has seen many changes in the Army footwear and equipment.

He fondly recalls shining the custom-made Peel Boots which officers wore in the 1920's. "They were imported from England. Figuring the import taxes," Sparky explained, "they cost the officers about one hundred and four dollars a pair."

"They were a real chore to shine, but they sure looked sharp," Sparky continued. "I noticed a pair of Peel Boots at the Post Thrift Shop, just last week." Another memory of Sparky's was the complicated "Sarn Brown" leather belts that were worn around the waist and over the shoulders. "They had to be shined just as they wouldn't stain the uniform. Sam Browns faded out with World War II."

The shine stand of Sparky's has remained in the Second Quarter the entire twenty-three years, but with one brief exception. He opened shop on the East side walk-way near the 24th Infantry, and then later the 30th Infantry, the 215th Infantry, and the 365th Paratroopers, and again the 24th Infantry. He then moved his stand across the courtyard to the West Side of the Quarter next to the Infantry School detachment.

He traveled With Army
He has been on the West side of the Quarter since 1933, at Fort Riley.

Returned to Columbus
On leaving the service, Sparky returned to Columbus and started working for the Central of Georgia Railroad. During his six years of Army service, Sparky had progressed in the art of boxing. On joining the railroad, he continued training and boxing in his spare time.

McClellan Eliminates Co. A In Semi-Finals

Fort Benning's representative in the Third Army Softball tournament, Company A, 1st Special Troops Bn., suffered their second loss last Friday at the hands of Ft. McClellan, 10-8, and were eliminated from the tourney at the semi-final stage.

PLAY AT HOME . . . Fort Benning's Pat Dowd (center fielder) is shown making the "big try" for home in the Fort Bragg (N.C.)-Benning ball game of the Third Army Softball Tournament at Fort McClellan, Ga., Aug. 13-18. Fort Bragg won the game 11 to 3. Fort McClellan repeated this year to win again the WAC title with four straight wins.

Defending champions Ft. Gordon successfully regained the men's title by dropping Ft. McClellan in a no hit-no run game, 4-0. This was Sp3 James Crocker's second no-hitter of the tourney. The Ft. Benning entry was the victim in its initial no-hit game.

The Ft. McClellan WAC's also regained their coveted crown by won last year by sweeping Ft. Bragg in a 4-3 thriller.

Dropping the opening game to Ft. Gordon, the STC team next proceeded to sweep through their next three starts behind the masterful pitching of M-Sgt. Warren Faulk.

The fifth game of the tourney proved to be too tough for Co. A as they ended up on the short end of a 10-8 defeat at the hands of Ft. McClellan.

Benning's Warren Faulk had nine strikeouts and allowed only eight hits. However, his teammates committed six big errors.

Benner Goes To Olympics For 3rd Time

M-Sgt. Huellet L. Benner, representing the All-Army Team, and Chief Warrant Officer Offit, Panton, USN, Peoria Ohio were named the two free (slow-fire) pistol shooters to represent the United States at the Olympics at Melbourne Australia this fall.

Benner and Panton won their men's over three-day tournament in which they fired the sixty-shot Olympic course three times. Three hours and fifteen minutes are required to fire the Olympic course.

Benner has represented the United States at the Olympics twice before. In 1948 he tied for second place at London and in 1952 he won gold medal for the United States at Helsinki.

Panton averaged 530 points in a possible 600 each day. Benner's average was 533.

Seven out of the 10 finalists were servicemen, six from the Army and four from the Navy. Of the Army shooters, four were from the 1st Army and one each from the Fourth Army and Sixth Army.

Results of other All-Army shooters: fourth—Major Ben C. Curtis, ninth—1st Lt. David O. Miller, and 1st Lt. Col. Chester T. Harvin.

PUNCHING WIZARD . . . Jim Boyd, 1956 Golden Gloves light heavyweight champ, is continuing his winning ways again this season. So far he has racked up three straight wins and has looked better than ever. Jim, is setting his sights on the All-Army championships and his ultimate goal, the Olympics.

TOM WIERZBICKI Comments Heard While Pulling KP

There's a sign on the door at the entrance to a Fort Benning mess hall that reads, "Through these doors pass the best fed men in the Army."

The men behind the scenes of any great operation whether it's producing the best food or the best soldiers in the world, are of a certain caliber worth examining.

For the majority of us, Sunday is the one day in the week that aside for the soldier to enjoy himself. Some go swimming, others play golf, while probably the greatest number try to catch up on their sleep.

There is always a certain select few who have to spend the Sabbath preparing the meals for the best fed soldiers at Fort Benning.

12 Tedious Hours

Taking cognizance of the fact that the Sunday KP's spend 12 tedious hours lingering around the confines of the company kitchen, hidden in the back pocket of my cleanly pressed fatigues amidst a crushed pack of cigs and a two-bit novel of Somerset Maugham's "The Running Up," was my little black notebook. Using a stub of pencil which I managed to hide under my fatigues cap, unseen by the scrutinizing eye of the mess sergeant, I jotted up a few of the notes of the remarks comments made by fellow KP's, who let their hair down on subjects ranging from politics to sports. . . .

Pots and Pan man — (Usually condemned as the worst job on KP) Looking up from his stack of assorted pots and pans. . . his hands submerged in a huge pot—that had once been the proud possessor of the main course. Best of show. . . .

"I'm glad that the Democratic convention is over. I missed a lot of good TV programs because of it. . . . I got a charge out of the description of the syndicated columnists, gave of Tennessee's Governor Frank Clement. . . . He called him 'the greatest Hooker of oratorical Corn!'. He shouldn't complain, he's got a nice looking wife." . . . He really showed up on television. . . .

A Good Job?

Outside man — (A good job if you get up early enough to get it)

Just finished washing out the milk bottles and presently heating down the outside arts with an occasional sprinkling of cars passing by with sarcastic sneers, my fatigues cap, unseen by the scrutinizing eye of the mess sergeant, I jotted up a few of the notes of the remarks comments made by fellow KP's, who let their hair down on subjects ranging from politics to sports. . . .

Pugilists Whip Jackson, 9-2

Fort Benning's boxing team racked another defeat on their Third Army competition, knocking Fort Jackson, 9-2, August 16 at Fort Jackson.

Fort Jackson became the third team the Third Army Area to fall before the Doughboys during the past month.

The Doughboy boxing team racked up their fourth win of the young boxing season last Monday when they dropped Ft. Stewart, 8-4, at Hunter AFB in Savannah, Ga.

George Hicks led the boxers with a second round knockout while Belton, Jones and Richard Coleman TKO'd their opponents. Jesse Buchanan, and Guy Patrick scored a 4-0 decision victory while John Boyle lost a close split decision.

Light heavyweight Jim Boyd missed the pug going to Ft. Stewart. He lost on default.

Earlier, defending champions Fort Bragg, and Fort Stewart were defeated by sizeable margins.

The only two local fighters to drop matches were Ed Johnson and Naitt White. Both are considered top members of the team. Johnson suffered a knockout in 1:56 of the 1st round. White lost on a decision.

Five of the nine Fort Benning wins came via the TKO route. John Boyle stopped Thomas Bell in the 2nd round, Nelson Jones retired Ednie Singleton in the 3rd round, Farron Hotel scored a TKO in the 3rd round over Ronald Bartorelli; Bobby Hannibal came out over hot at Jimmy Fox and Hank Greengarb. Both those guys got far out in front of the Babe's mid-season march but neither came close to his phenomenal September fields."

Dining room orderly man— (Usually done by two men but on this occasion one bugged out for awhile.)

"I was seriously considering going out for the Post football team but ain't on that. The setup they've got now is that they work in their section in the morning and practice in the afternoon."

About this time the mess sergeant quizzically asked me what I was diligently scribbling. I feared some mention of my precious notes so I quickly answered, "Sarge, once Augusta TKOed Curt Gibson, Ft. Jackson; Wilber Jefferson, Ft. Jackson, decision; Naitt White; Jim Boyd; and Thomas Myers, Ft. Jackson."

Rademacher on TV

First Lt. Pete Rademacher, Doughboy hard-punching gentleman heavyweight, fights in a locally televised main bout at Columbus High School (Tuesday Aug. 28).

Pete's fight against a still-to-be-named opponent will be part of a one-hour program to be carried over WDAK and WRBL-TV. A series of bouts will be staged during the 10th anniversary of the Boys Club organization. Representatives of the national Boys Club organization are expected to attend. Mike Jennings is light promoter.

TROPHY PRESENTATION . . . M-Sgt. Howard Holbrook, left, of Norton, Va., captain of Ft. Benning's golf team, presents a Third Army trophy won by the group to Major Gen. George E. Lynch, Infantry Center commander. The post golf team was the runner-up in the Third Army tournament July 30 to Aug. 4. Sgt. Holbrook is assigned to Company B, First Battalion, Special Troops Command.

Doughboys Beaten Twice by Jackson

A South Carolina rain-wetter as Ft. Jackson jumped on the Doughboys for five big runs. Peacock's wildness plus some fatal miscues helped Peabody suffer at the hands of Ft. Jackson, 10-7 and 6-1.

Mickey Harrington, younger brother of former assistant baseball coach, 1st Lt. Larry Harrington was a continual thorn against Doughboy pitchers.

Ft. Jackson had to come from behind to win the first ball game with a late inning surge. Benning's Defoy Padgett was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning and his reliever Howie Tester could not keep the Jackson uprising as he suffered his first defeat.

The only bright spot for the Doughboys was Austin Beatty's round tripper in the third inning.

The second game was decided in the very first inning as Ft. Jackson won 10-0.

Of the nine teams, however, only Benning, Bragg, Ft. Campbell, Ft. Stewart, and Ft. Jackson will enter fall squads.

Entering individuals will be Ft. Fischer, Ft. Gordon, Ft. McPherson, and Ft. McClellan.

Defending champions, Ft. Bragg will rate the favorite. But Benning will be more than strong contender. In bouts during the past month, the Doughboys have defeated by hand six out of seven opponents. Ft. Bragg, Ft. Stewart, and Ft. Jackson.

Pete Rademacher, heavyweight, and Jim Boyd, light heavyweight, will carry the heavy Benning bid to 6-0, while the North Carolina team.

Nine Entries For 3rd Army Boxing Meet

Nine teams, including Ft. Benning, and defending champions Ft. Bragg, will compete in the Third Army Boxing Meet at Hunter, Wells Field House, August 13-16.

KING MIDAS HIMSELF . . .

... if he had driven a car instead of a golden chariot, couldn't have bought a better muffer at a better price than can the motorists of this area. Here you see George Gergen, manager of the Muffer Shop pointing to a kind of advertisement in a recent issue of Life magazine. The Muffer Shop, 15th St. at 4th Ave. is exclusive dealer for Midas Muffers in this area. As Life magazine pointed out, The Muffer Shop offers free installation on all mufflers. Last 15 minute service, gives a written factory guarantee good coast-to-coast for life of the car on which it is installed. Prices on all mufflers at the Muffer Shop are extremely low. For example, mufflers for 1940 to 1953 Fords are only $8.25, for Chevroleets only $8.60, plus tax and a few cents extra for clamps if needed. The Muffer Shop also offers free installation of tail pipes if purchased with your muffler. The shop is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday. An air conditioned waiting room is prepared for your comfort.

Post Gridmen Put on Pads

Members of the main post football team put on pads for the first time last week in preparation for their first game of the season next month against the powerful Quantico Marines. The game will be played at Quantico on Sept. 16th.

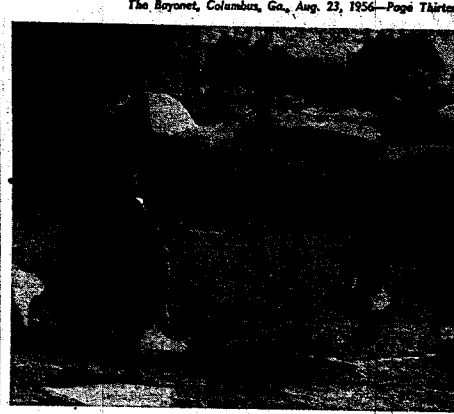

Jim Ingram, acting head coach, said that the team is rapidly rounding into shape, but that he still is suffering from a lack of depth.

"We will be able to put about 18 good players on the field. But from there we are going to have trouble."

The bulk of the early season drills have centered around backfield and line assignments to plays, passing, and punting. Quarterback Bill Bender has looked very good in practice, according to Ingram. "But we don't know how long we will be able to keep him," the coach added.

Bender, former University of Richmond star, has been practicing with Jim Matthews, originally a first class fullback from Mississippi, at the signal calling post.

Matthews and fullback Larry Greensted are expected to handle the bulk of Benning's punting assignments this year. The team has been practicing half days for the past three weeks.

PLAY AT HOME . . . Fort Benning's Pat Dowd (center fielder) is shown making the "big try" for home in the Fort Bragg (N.C.)-Benning ball game of the Third Army Softball Tournament at Fort McClellan, Ga., Aug. 13-18. Fort Bragg won the game 11 to 3. Fort McClellan repeated this year to win again the WAC title with four straight wins.

VISITS BENNING

Col. Horst Pape, West German aviation chief, arrived here Aug. 20 for a three-day look at The Infantry School's Airborne-Army Aviation Department. He conferred with Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of The Infantry School, and was honored with an official luncheon Aug. 20 in the Main Officers' Mess.

Wanted: Quarterback By 3rd Div. Gridmen

BY KAL WAGENHEIM
There's rough sailing ahead for the 3rd Division's newly organized football squad. The lack of a seasoned "split" quarterback remains the largest factor in the coaching or breaking of the team.

The Marine gridmen are currently undergoing football practice sessions in preparation for their first test on 15 September. Against the mounted Quincos at the Marine's Virginia field.

Head coach Summer Bornstein commented "I'm anything but optimistic about the team's chances in this first year for the following reasons.

"First of all we haven't got an experienced man for the quarterback slot, which is the most important spot in the split-T. The quarterback is called upon to pass as often as in the conventional T and also is used very often in the option play when he is at the end and either keeps the ball or makes a last-minute lateral to another back.

"It takes an experienced workman who can handle the ball and make good decisions in trying and confusing circumstances.

"We have three men currently trying out for the position and two of them have the inside track at the moment. They are Jim Greenwood and

REAL TROUBLE . . .
Dave Rogers, former Indiana U. halfback, should give the opposition trouble with his speed and strong thrusts at the line.

Al Osmatowski, neither of whom have had much experience to speak of.

"Another sad note is that our team is not up to par, except in the rushing or breaking of the team.

The two "prbs" he referred to were guards Calvin Allan (Memphis State) and one year with the Pittsboro Steers) and George Jacoby (Ohio State All-American under contract) with the Cleveland Browns.

According to Bornstein, Allen is not a sure-shot to make the starting squad for he is currently enrolled in a fight for the guard spot with a group of other hopefuls.

Jacoby Looks Good
Jacoby, a 5'11" 230 pounder who was picked All-American for the Buckeyes in 1953, is a fairly sure bet for the other guard spot.

The only other lineman who has virtually clinched his position is tackle Willie Goodwin (Ohio State).

The backfield boasts three experienced performers. Dave Rogers, Cleveland (Ohio) played three years for powerful Indiana U. and should be a dangerous running from his halfback spot.

Backfield coach Ray Byrd who played three years for the University of Tennessee may fill in the fullback position. Byrd, blessed with speed to burn, played for TCU last season. Prior to college he was an All-American high school player for Knoxville High School in Knoxville, Tenn.

Floyd Stewart will be depended upon to fill the other halfback slot. Stewart played for Appalachian State in North Carolina.

Tough Schedule Ahead
The Marine footballers, still left with several open dates on their schedule, face a rough array of teams in their first year of inter-plot competition. Since the scheduling was done so late they had little chance to hand-pick their opponents and switch into the swing of things gradually.

After Quincos on the 18th of September, Eglin Air Force Base in Florida is next in line and should be rough for reports are that All-American Zeke Bratkowski is on the squad.

Furt Jackson, S. C., follows on 11 November and on the 22d the Division meets TIC for the Post title. Then the Marines travel to Fort Hood, Tex., on 1 December.

NEW BANDSMEN
Two army bandsmen, previously stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., have been assigned to the Band Center. Pvt. Leo S. Fawcett, of Detroit, Mich., reported for duty with the Special Troops Band on Aug. 10, and Pvt. Roland L. Sterns of Milwaukee, Wis., joined the 42nd Army Band on the same date.

TO ATTEND SCHOOL
SFC Jack H. Carpenter, HQ Detachment, 2d Special Troops Bn, has been accepted to attend the Troop Information and Education School at Fort Slocum, N. Y. The eight week T I & E course trains enlisted personnel to collect, evaluate, prepare and disseminate materials pertaining to troop information and education programs.

LIEUTENANT ASSIGNED
2nd Lt. Robert B. Switzer, of Miami Beach, has been assigned as platoon leader to Co. C of the 7th Engineer Bn.

TENNIS AWARD . . . Col. Lloyd Salisbury, left, captain of the Fort Benning tennis team, presents a Third Army trophy won by the group to Major Gen. George A. Lynch, Infantry Center commander. The post tennis team was the runner-up in the Third Army tournament July 30 to Aug. 4. Col. Salisbury is chairman of The Infantry School Tactical Department's Artillery Committee.

Army Privates Rank High After CISM Appearances

BERLIN (APFS)—Private Willie Williams, who failed to make the U.S. Olympic track team, and Pfc. Ira Murchison, who didn't crash the headlines with brilliant performances in the 10-nation Conseil Internationale de Sport Militaire (CISM) track and field meet here.

In the 100-meter final—showdown meeting between the two soldiers—Williams not only beat Murchison but in doing so was once again clocked at 10.1. All three marks will be subject to approval by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

Williams and Murchison then teamed up with Pfc. Earl Glaze, VII Corps, and Pvt. Charles Pratt of Ft. Dix, N. J., to pace the Army's 400-meter relay team to a 2:07.1 victory which is less than a second more than the world record of 2:08.8 set in the 1956 Olympics.

Williams led off in the relay and Murchison was anchor man.

Other U. S. winners: Pfc. Al Griffith, 10th Inf. Div., 47.1 in the 400-meter run; SFC Mel Higgins, Northwestern Area Command, 57" in the high jump; Pvt. Martin Engel, Ft. Benning, Va., 187.08" in the hammer throw; Pvt. Tom Courtney, Boston Army Base, 1:54.1 in the 800-meter run; Pvt. Jack Culbreth, Quantico, Va., 51.1 in the 400-meter hurdle; 2nd Lt. Carlisle Quantico, 2:54.94 in the javelin; and 2nd Lt. Lowell Zellers, 2:54.4 in the 1,500-meter run.

Wright Selected For Olympics

Lt. Berle Wright Jr. of Fort Benning will represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Melbourne, Australia on the strength of a second place finish in the Olympic 50 meter Smallbore Rifle match held at Camp Perry, Ohio this week.

Wright earned his berth on the Olympic squad when he fired an aggregate score of 3448 out of a possible 3600 in the three day match.

Three other servicemen placed in the top five. They are: 2nd Lt. Daniel B. Puckett, Ft. Benning, finished third with a 3441 score; 1st Lt. Herbert B. Boelker, Ft. Benning finished fourth with a 3423 total; and Marine Lt. James M. Smith, of Ipswich, Mass., took fifth with a 3420 score.

The winner of the match and also a member of the Olympic trials heats event was Mr. Arthur C. Jackson of Silver Springs, Md. whose total score was 3454.

YAC Holds Swim Meet

Fort Benning's Youth Activities Club sponsored its first invitational swimming meet as a reward for good work in the water at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Brian Wells Field House.

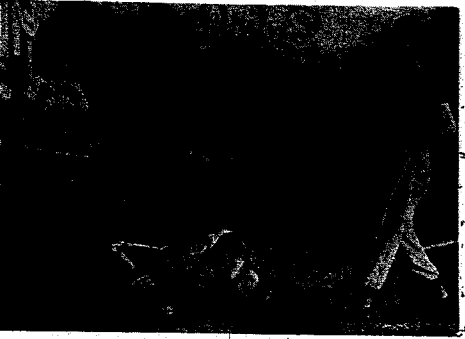

Bested 40-man YAC squad members competed from the South Columbus Boys Club, Columbus Boys Club, Columbus Girls Club, Columbus YMCA, Open Door Community and Columbus Country Club.

Youngsters between the ages of eight and 16 comprised 150 competitors. Although special events were held by age groups, all swimmers were included in certain free-style, breaststroke, backstroke, relay and heats events.

Trial heats got underway at 10 a.m. The actual competition took place during the afternoon.

Awards were presented at the conclusion of the day's swimming.

The YAC boys and girls have participated in two invitational seasons, setting 13 new meet records at the Columbus Boys Club meet two weeks ago.

ZEHRE COMES HOME . . . Lt. Roger Zehr, Fort Bragg (N.C.) third sacker, slides home during the Fort Bragg-Fort Benning softball game in the Third Army tourney at Fort McPherson, Ga., Aug. 13-18. Fort Benning won the game 10 to 5. Fort Benning pitcher, M-Sgt. Warren Paulk attempts the put out.

A former Reno bartender is working all night and at noon an officer candidate at Fort Benning.

He is Edward W. Witt of the 50th Company, 5th Student Battalion, The School Brigade.

O-C Witt graduated from the Modesto, California, High School in 1946. He entered the Army and served a tour in Korea. Upon discharge, he entered college in California, later transferring to the University of Nevada.

To supplement his income, he went to work at night for the Golden Bank Club in Reno as a bus boy. Practicing bartending in the basement during lulls he was pressed into service when one of the bartenders failed to show up, and soon advanced to becoming the number one bartender.

Many-Sided Officer

Versatile Lieut. Likes Army Over Other Jobs

Radio announcer, disc jockey, newspaper, sports writer, columnist and actor—not half a dozen men, but just one versatile second lieutenant in the School Brigade.

This many-sided officer is 2nd Lt. Edward F. Washington, Executive Officer of the 2nd Co., 1st Student Bn., TS&B.

Lt. Washington began his radio career while a student at Howard University in Washington, D. C., where he broadcast the university football games for two and one half years.

One summer he had a role in the production "Faith of Our Fathers" presented every year at the Washington amphitheater. Walter Pison and Kathryn Grayson made guest appearances there.

His first professional radio job was with station WUST in Washington, prior to his graduation from Howard University. He was introduced to the manager by an announcer friend, and got the position without trouble.

He then began his all-round radio activity working a 12-hour shift. He announced, ran disc-jockey shows and news casts.

One year later, he was offered a better position with station WOOK also in Washington. His duties did not change, and he continued doing any job that offered itself.

Meanwhile, under the name "Steady Eddie," he wrote a column, "Spotlight on Records," for one of the Washington papers.

Lt. Washington entered the Army in 1954 via ROTC from Howard University. In spite of his numerous outside activities he was a Distinguished Military Graduate.

He attended basic Infantry officers course here from June to Oct. 1955 and jump school in April 1956.

He intends to apply for a Regular Army commission as soon as regulations permit.

"Army life is active and interesting," he says. "I'm sold on it. Radio work is fascinating, but it offers no security. Duke Snider's scuffle with a Cincinnati fan, said Dale, Snider couldn't have hit the fan, because the fan was left-handed and Snider doesn't hit left-handers."

NOT OUR BOY DUKE

Dale Long, slugging first baseman for the Pittsburgh Pirates made one of the best wisecracks of the season after Duke Snider's scuffle with a Cincinnati fan. Said Dale, "Snider couldn't have hit the fan, because the fan was left-handed and Snider doesn't hit left-handers."

Certain MOSs Not Considered For Promotion

The Army in authorizing 45-60 enlisted promotions in grades E-4 through E-7 during August has eliminated from consideration first-three-grades in certain MOS's where overages exist.

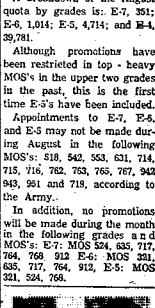

Major command also has been authorized to give a stripe to all privates, E-2, who have 18 months service as of Aug. 1, 1956, and are recommended manning.

A breakdown of the August quota by grades is: E-7, 351; E-6, 1,014; E-5, 4,714; and E-4, 32,741.

Although promotions have been restricted in top-heavy MOS's in the upper two grades in the past, this is the first time E-3's have been included.

Appointments to E-2, E-6, and E-5 may not be made during August in the following MOS's: 518, 542, 553, 631, 714, 715, 716, 782, 783, 765, 767, 942, 943, 961 and 719, according to the Army.

In addition, no promotions will be made during the month in the following grades and MOS's: E-7; MOS 524, 485, 717, 764, 769, 912 E-6; MOS 201, 635, 717, 764, 912, E-5; MOS 321, 524, 769.

Safety Officer Issues Warning

BY JAY ADLAMAN

An unmarred Ft. Benning soldier less than 24 years old will be killed in a 1956 Labor Day traffic accident.

The prediction comes from Norman M. Evans of the Infantry Center safety director. Evans bases his forecast on past figures and experience over the years on the post, as well as other information supplied by national safety agencies.

"We have more vehicles on the road than at any other time in the nation's history," the safety director stated, "but we have no more roads. Any driving error during the Labor Day weekend probably will result in a second car, due to the amount of traffic congestion."

He goes into further details about the accident in which the man is most likely to be killed, involving one of the 16,000 cars driven by military personnel.

"The driver will be traveling considerably more than the speed limit in a 1955 or 1956 car," he said. The time probably will be after midnight. The person he kills will be in the back seat. The driver will be tired, drunk or both. The road will be paved, although that is not a material factor in the accident, except for the fact that the mishap may occur on a curve.

Evans continued to elucidate: "The accident will occur within 50 miles of the post, as the driver is returning to the post, and chances are the driver will have been warned about an infraction of the law by a public official before committing his fatal mistake.

"The coming weekend is expected to produce one death and eight injuries, according to safety officials of the Infantry Center. Evans' remarks are based on a study of the accident, except for the fact that the mishap may occur on a curve.

The World In Review

Ike Challenges Russian on Tests

President Eisenhower's announcement Monday the Soviet Union has resumed nuclear weapons tests, possibly including a hydrogen blast—stood as a challenge to Russia to publicize such tests in advance to reduce danger.

Besides the challenge to strip away interposed secrecy, the announcement at the President's vacation headquarters here yesterday also was seen as a move to counteract recent Russian propaganda suggesting this country's tests of such weapons amount to a threat to world peace.

Weinberger Case Solved by Police

Folkes questioned the confessed kidnap of month-old Foster Weinberger Monday in an attempt to discover if Angelo John Lamarcia had deliberately placed the baby in danger underneath to silence the infant's cries.

Nissan County Chief Inspector Stuyvesant-Francis said Lamarcia insists he placed the living baby gently in the trunk of a car, heavily-traveled highway after a number of people in the spot in which he picked up his $2,000 ransom demand brightened his way.

Crippled Aircraft Slams Into Houses

A crippled Navy bomber at Sanford, Fla., caught its wings on a pine tree while seeking a spot to land Monday night and sped into two houses. All three crewmen and a tiny girl watching from her porch were unharmed, he said, naming Raymond H. Hamilton, Warren Springs, Fla., and Duane Vista Rodden, the pilot and co-pilot, who were not evacuated toward the scene.

Post Names 4 To School Jobs

A guidance counselor and three principals will head the newly created post of the Children's Schools under the direction of Mrs. Hazel J. Scudder, superintendent.

Lester R. Herman Jr. of Fayetteville, N. C., will fill the newly created position of chief guidance counselor for the school system. He held a dual job as Faith School principal and guidance director last year.

Drivers Urged To Watch Out For Children

Mrs. Scudder is beginning her seventh year as head of the administrative staff of the Children's Schools. She received a bachelor of arts and bachelor of music degrees from Ouchitua College, Arkadelphia, Ark., and a masters of education in administration from the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

She has done additional graduate work at Georgia Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., and the University of Chicago and has taught on elementary, high school and college levels.

A graduate of Wake Forest (N. C.) College, Herman received a master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He has done additional graduate work at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Virtue Outlines CD Plan

Col. Virtue, addressing approximately 50 members of the Reserve Officers' Association at the Main Officers' Mess, said the plan is aimed toward the chief objective of Civil Defense—save lives.

"The A Ring marks complete destruction, the B Ring is an area of severe damage, the C Ring marks moderate damage and the D Ring is for light or partial damage," he explained. The colonel added that one of the four areas could be considered safe.

Under the plan outlined by Virtue, 13 traffic lanes would be opened, 4 outgoing routes, he said, naming Raymond H. Hamilton, Warren Springs, Fla., and Duane Vista Rodden, the pilot and co-pilot, who were not evacuated toward the scene.

Urged Participate

He urged people to become neighborhood wardens and would notify local Civil Defense authorities of any people check the water thoroughly before drinking.

"Every year we have cases of people who get sick because they did not know because was a pointed object just below the water's surface," he pointed out.

He also advised non-swimmers to be sure the life rings around them when boating.

Last year two Third Army area soldiers, one from Ft. Benning, lost their lives and 19 received disabling injuries during the Labor Day weekend.

USAR Units At Benning For Camp

The 412th Engineer Brigade, a U. S. Army Reserve unit from Vicksburg, Miss., commanded by Brig. Gen. George A. Morris, is here for two weeks of field training Aug. 20-Sept. 2.

Lt. Col. G. T. McDermott is unit adviser from Vicksburg. For the two-week period, the 112th Engineer Brigade has 29 Engineer Reserve units from Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina attached and are responsible for the coordination and supervision of the training of these units.

The first week of training consists of range firing demonstrations, bridge building and special training in surveying, cartography, equipment operators, welding, communications, soil mechanics, field sketching and training engineer estimating, water supply intelligence, mechanics and for movie production. Instructors at the schools are members of units attached to the brigade.

The second week of training will consist of a field exercise, which stresses engineer planning for atomic warfare. In addition to training brigade members are taking advantage of the Service Clubs, theaters and many other recreational facilities available for officers and enlisted personnel.

McKnight Assigned To TIC Position

Lt. Col. Clyde W. McKnight of Troy, Ala., has been assigned as headquarters commander of the Service Clubs, theaters and many other recreational facilities available for officers and enlisted personnel.

Mail Call Big Project In Basic Training Unit

"Mail Call Mail Call!" These are always words that a soldier likes to hear, particularly if he has just entered the Army. For the 9th Training Bn. of the 3rd Div. mail call is one of the outstanding daily projects. Recently organized for the purpose of training troops far from home, the division, the battalion, in its short period of existence, has set up a whooping record in the amount of mail it receives daily for its trainees. During an ordinary day the battalion receives approximately 50 per cent of all the division mail. Days when the mail is really heavy, they get about 60 to 70 per cent of the mail received within the division. One Letter Per Man This is approximately a rate of 1,100 to 1,200 letters per day, or on an average of one letter per man in the battalion.

Completely Safe New Tank Developed For Target Practice

Five tanks, which are among the safest in the U. S. Army, have been tested under fire here.

The M-48 tanks have been specially adapted as live targets for firing demonstrations at The Infantry School.

In order to protect the driver, each tank is protected with additional armor to prevent the entrance of 30-caliber machine gun and rifle bullets and fragments of 8.3 rocket launcher projectiles.

"There's no chance of the driver getting hit in these tanks," said one Ordnance expert.

Tracks Even Protected He explained that even the tank tracks are protected from damage by suspending 0.18 salvage tank tracks on the ends with specially devised steel frames.

Armor has been placed around the gun shield at the front to block missiles from getting behind the shield. The muffer at the rear of the vehicle has been reinforced.

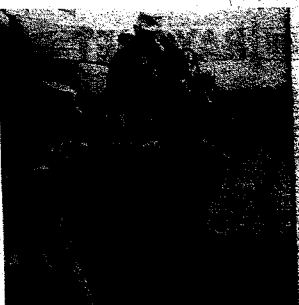

Accompanying personnel. All outside accessories were removed, including head and tail lights and the outside telephone box. Armor plate was installed over the end box of the range finder. Ray G. Miller of Columbus, veteran post ordnance engineer, devised a way to hand the salvage tracks on the side of the target tanks.

The job presented initial difficulties because of the rounded contours of the M-48, built to deflect hits and presenting no flat surfaces on which to attach the frame.

Miller and E. H. Blair of Columbus, superintendent of the Combat Vehicle Ordnance Shop, Infantry Center Ordnance Section, have worked on the target tank project for several months.

Testing of the tanks was held on Wagner Range last week.

TRAINING IN HQ & HQ CO., TSB.

ENHANCED TRAINING... The training section of Hq. and Hq. Co., TSB, handles all the many facets of training that makes the enlisted man first a soldier, secondly a specialist. The two hours of mandatory training required of each enlisted man is only a small item in the training program under the direction of this section. Such training as preliminary rifle instruction, familiarization and record firing of individual weapons, Chemical, Biological, and Radiological warfare; physical training, dismounted drill, and many other activities that make a top-notch soldier. One of the least publicized activities handled by this section is the raising of the educational level of the individual soldier. An average month will show twenty enlisted men working towards the completion of the eighth grade, twenty attempting to complete high school, and since their past college. Frequent advisory sessions are interviewed each month and given guidance and encouragement towards gaining a higher educational level in order that the individual will be a more valuable member of the Army. Photo 1—1st Lt. Grover C. Peters, right, of Lindsay, Okla., is the Officer in Charge of the training section, Hq. & Hq. Co., TSB, assisted by M-Sgt. Carl R. Traub, left, of Milwaukee, Wis. ## 2 ARMY AVIATORS SET COPTER RECORD ... L-B. Lt. Col. H. L. Bush, Maj. W. C. Dyinginger

Two Army Aviators flying a Vertol H-21C helicopter recently set a new world helicopter record for distance in a closed circuit without payload, when they flew 1,199.07 miles non-stop in 11 hours and 58 minutes. The Department of Army and Vertol Aircraft Corporation of Morton, Pa., announced.

The new world record shatters the old distance marker of 778.5 miles set by a French SE 3-120 helicopter July 2, 1953. The new record almost doubles the previous national United States record of 621.5 miles.

Lt. Col. Harry L. Bush, and Maj. William C. Dyinginger, both Senior Army Aviators assigned to the Command and Control, Army Aviation Test Center, Board No. 6, Ft. Rucker, Ala., took off from Tuskegee Army Airfield, Hightstown, N. J., at 3:20 a.m. on Aug. 11, and flew a prescribed 85.6 mile course between Hightstown and Haddonfield, N. J., 14 times and landed again at the same airport at 2:20 p.m.

With three extra 300-gallon fuel tanks installed in the cargo compartment, the standard H-21C helicopter took off vertically on the history making flight with 1016 gallons of fuel aboard and landed with a reserve of approximately 80 gallons.

The record breaking flight was conducted by the Army with the cooperation of the Vertol Aircraft Corporation and under the supervision of Mr. Charles S. Logsdon of the National Aeronautic Association. The record is subject to confirmation and acceptance by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale of Paris, France the world-wide confirming body for sporting aviation which is represented in the United States by the National Aeronautic Association.

Post Actors May Get Theatre

BY BOB RENO

"Curtain Call!" That command might be ringing quite frequently on the post during the coming months if a plan proposed by Mr. Dean West, Special Services Soldier Shows director, is realized.

With the aid of his assistant, PFC Guillermo Maldonado, West has drawn up plans for a special theatre where Soldier Shows productions will be presented exclusively.

At the moment, no building has been settled on as the site for the proposed new theatre. West said that he had several in mind, one of which would be ideal for his needs.

"If the plan is approved by the post command," West claimed, "it is possible that personnel at Benning will be able to attend live stage presentations as often as four and five times a week."

The plans as laid by West and Maldonado call for the renovation of some building already in the post and presently lying in disuse. They call for an elaborate theatre, complete with stage, scenery, complete lighting system, bills for Third Army shows, and most important, a centrally located site where live shows might be given exclusively.

Great Deal in Last According to West, under the present system of putting on shows at the Main Post Theatre and service clubs, a great deal is lost in the size of the show, scenic effects, special effects, and lighting.

"There also exists the problem of frequency with which certain successful shows might be presented," West pointed out.

"Under present rules, only one live show a week may be presented at the Main Post Theatre, the only available, centrally located spot of any size where such shows might be given. The reason for this, naturally, is the loss of revenue to the Theatre when too many movies have to be cancelled."

West also said that equipment is lost or damaged in transit from the Soldier Shows building behind Theatre 2 and the Main Post Theatre and the service clubs. Service clubs also have the added disadvantage of limited facilities for the full employment of stage scenery, lighting, and special effects. The seating capacities, also are limited.

Could Reach More People "With the new theatre it would be possible to put on special shows for smaller units, invited on nights most suitable to them. We have had the unpleasant experience of being forced to put on shows at times when certain units or groups could not attend. Many of our most successful shows have suffered one night stands due to the lack of time and manpower needed to transport elaborate scenery and staging.

The need for the new theatre, West pointed out, has been made necessary by the recent growth of Soldier Shows from its almost non-existent state of little over a year ago to its present status.

The present director took over July 1 of last year. Since that time, approximately five major productions have been staged with many smaller variety presentations at the host-service clubs; and in the field.

West claims that in addition to the limited space for the presentation of professional stands for shows, his greatest problem is to find talent to assist him in putting on the productions.

In addition to Maldonado, who, West says, is an excellent pianist, he has SPA Tom Hawley who aids in the production of some of the shows. Hawley has starred in many of the West productions here. Maldonado is also very competent at special effects and scenery. He is usually assisted in this task by Hawley.

The next Soldier Shows play, after the "Flying Saucer" is expected to be "Milky Way," scheduled for the end of September. Later, a heavy drama may be staged.

Post Bands Issue Call For Musicians

The TIC Band Center, re-bone, tube or trumpet players needing a situation similar to that found at the eight other Third Army bands, the 383d, 388th, 453d and 459th. The 383d was activated at Fort Gordon, Ga., and reactivated here, minus personnel and equipment which were supplied by three bands from the recently deactivated STC band. For an audition for any of the three bands, military personnel are needed to call Mr. Trembath or CWO Benjamin J. Corbese of Nutley, N. J., leader of the 233rd Band at Fort Belvoir, Ill. Meanwhile Third Army headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga., through its commander, Gen. Thomas F. Ripley, has issued a call for bandmen for the newly activated 161st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

To obtain transfers to any of the 16 Army bands in Third Army, musicians may audition for vacancies in a particular instrument slot, then receive a letter of acceptance to accompany the request for transfer.

Felons Beware

Lawmen Learn Infantry Tactics

BY SGT. MARION E. RICE
Presented in future editions of this column would do well to practice their profession on the vicinity of the 4th Co., 1st Student Bn. 7532.

There are two good reasons for this warning. In the person of Capt. Raymond R. Ruiz, who is also a captain in the New Orleans, La. Police Department, and Capt. J. W. Featherstone, former chief of Ripley County, Mo. Capt. Ruiz came up through the ranks to his present position as chief of accident investigation in New Orleans. He has been in all fields of police work as patrolman, desk sergeant, detective and police lieutenant. In fact, he received his promotion to police captain on June 1, after he had reported to the associate infantry officer advanced course for temporary active duty.

Excellent Memory
Capt. Ruiz's memory for faces was evidenced by his arrest of two felons at the Fairgrounds Race Track in New Orleans, La., recognizing them from mug shots he had studied. One of them was an embezzler wanted in Chicago. The other was an armed robber who had spent 13 of his 25 years in penal institutions.

Capt. Ruiz states that his experience in accident investigation has convinced him that the chief cause of accidents is what is technically called "pure selfishness on the part of the driver, who is so determined to get there first that he ignores the rights of everyone else," he explains.

Capt. Featherstone was elected sheriff of Ripley County, Mo. when he was just 23 years old. Wire services carried the story that he was the youngest sheriff in the United States at that time (1948-1951).

Only Law Officer
He was the only law enforcement officer in this Ozark Mountain county covering approximately 1,000 square miles. Also jailer and court bailiff, he arrested and jailed all types of criminals, from those committing minor offenses to murderers and kidnapers.

During his term of office a child kidnaping case was recovered in Ripley County and returned to his rejoicing parents.

Capt. Featherstone's most exciting case was that of a Ripley Countyman who went berserk in neighboring county and killed five members of his wife's family. He fled back to his home in Ripley County. A posse hastily gathered together by Sheriff Featherstone tracked him into a heavily wooded section where he was killed after an exchange of shots.

The sheriff's quarters were a part of the jail, and his wife, Virginia, did the cooking for the "prisoners." She also performed several arrests, using her citizen's rights as her authority.

4 Jail Breaks
There were four jail breaks in his four years as sheriff. But one of them was not really a break.

"One of my boys just turned them loose," he explains.

Both Captains Ruiz and Featherstone are on temporary active duty for the purpose of attending the associate infantry officer advanced course here.

Capt. Ruiz' family consisting of his wife, Esther, and his 13-year-old son, Raymond Jr., are waiting for him in New Orleans.

Capt. Featherstone's wife, Virginia; two sons, Blaine, who is 14 and John, who is nine; and his 13-year-old daughter, Helen, are living in Columbus.

PROMOTIONS
Recent promotions announced by 1st Special Troops Bn. STC, have brought a raise in grade for seven members of the battalion. Corporal stripes were awarded to William E. Cobb, of Hollywood, Fla.; James B. Gower, of Wichita Falls, Tex.; advanced to Private First Class, PFC stripes also went to Ronald W. Cochran, of Warrington, Fla.; Richard A. Dinger, of Bellair, Mich.; and William D. Turner, of Winter River, Fla. All of Co. A and to Larry A. Des Roches, of St. John, N.D.; and Vladimir Sotkin, of Co. B.

Officer Guest Conducts At Jordan Band Concert

An Infantry School student officer was guest conductor for four numbers during a Jordan High School concert in Columbus Aug. 28.

He is Lt. Col. Charles E. Gilbert of the 4th Co., 1st Student Bn., 7532, a member of several officers advanced class. No. 6. His permanent assignment is Special Services of the 1st Air Force at Fort Carson, Colo.

Col. Gilbert was invited to participate in the program at the Columbus school by his long-time friend and fellow bandman, Robert Barr, the Jordan High band director.

Long Musical Career
Col. Gilbert has had a long and distinguished musical career, earning his bachelor and master of music degrees from the University of Michigan. He also has an artist diploma from the Curtis Institute of Music. Prior to his second call to active duty in 1951, he was band director for the University of Ohio.

While on duty in Korea, Col. Gilbert organized and directed a 30-piece band and 30-voice chorus from an orphanage.

NAMED ASSISTANT
Second Lt. Loren C. Troesch of Terrace Park, Ohio, has been named administrative assistant to Col. Carl F. Kincaid of Toledo, Ohio, deputy post commander.

INSPECTS UNITS
Col. John D. Cone, chief of the Florida Military District at Tallahassee, is visiting here this week, inspecting Florida units of the U. S. Army Reserve 21st Engineer Brigade undergoing active duty training.

Two Named To Honors At Lawson

SP3 Joseph M. Vides Jr. and SP5 Carlton J. Wilson have been chosen crew chiefs of the team for the 4th Helicopter Co. and 152nd Helicopter Maintenance Detachment respectively.

The two men have been entered in the crew chief of the month contest that runs regularly in the "Army Aviator" magazine.

Vides, a native of Morgan City, La., came to Lawson Field and early in 1954. After serving for a short period in the orderly room he was transferred to Maintenance and in March 1955 he was made a crew chief.

A diesel engine mechanic, Vides was a natural helicopter mechanic and has pulled maintenance on the H-13, H-19, H-23, H-25, and H-34.

Wilson crew chiefs repairs on the Sikorski helos when they develop major difficulties. He has been in the 152nd since June, 1955, and was made a crew chief in June of this year.

A native of Columbia Cross Roads, Pa., he has pulled maintenance on the H-13, H-23, H-25, and H-34.

Just working on repairs, Wilson does not have a single ship. But this does not bother Wilson since he finds the different types of repairs interesting. "It leads to different kinds of work than of you just had your own ship," said Wilson. "I get more experience this way."

ENGINEER OF MONTH
SP3 Sidney N. Gilbert has been named "Engineer of the Month" for the 104th Engineer Group (Combat). A supply clerk in the 586th Engineer Co. Gilbert was chosen by Col. Julian V. Solichich, CO for the best group for his outstanding performance as a soldier, and his meritorious service as an engineer.

Kent Named To TIS Job

Col. Richard F. Kent of Las Cruces, N. Mex., has succeeded Col. Roland M. Glesner of Bangor, Me., as chief of the Infantry School Tactical Department's Basic Tactics Group.

Col. Glesner replaces Col. Charles M. Howard of Columbus, new Infantry Center G-3, as chief of the Tactical Department's Associate Army Group.

A 1956 graduate of the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., Col. Kent was stationed in Naples, Italy, in the G-4 Section and Operations and Training and Plans and Operations Divisions of Allied Forces Southern Europe from August, 1952, to June, 1956.

He completed the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in 1952 following a four-year tour as professor of military sciences and tactics for Houston, Texas, high schools. Col. and Mrs. Kent, the former Nancy Johns of Las Cruces, have three children, Richard Jr., 9, Inga, 6, and Eric, 2.

RCT Pilot Flies Varied Missions Supporting TIS

BY BOB SKEA

To many people it must appear that the Infantryman, the foot soldier, fighting his battles on the ground, is the exact opposite of the high-flying aviator. Such, however, is not the case in the modern Infantry regiment, as is shown in the world's most up-to-date Infantry Regiment, Ft. Benning's 29th.

Two pilots and their L-3 planes are an integral part of the regimental Table of Organization and Equipment. In a combat situation they would go where the regiment goes, flying a variety of missions indispensable to the operation of the regiment on today's modern battlefield.

Fishermen Survive 5 Days in Atlantic

Seven exhausted crewmembers of the ill-fated swordfishing boat Angles T. Mills were rowed in the Atlantic for at least five days, part of the time on the fringe of a hurricane, recuperated Monday under medical supervision in Newfoundland.

An all-out at-sea search ended late Sunday afternoon when the crew of another fishing vessel found them placidly making their way to Newfoundland in three days. The abandoned wreck of the fishing boat was sighted Aug. 22 by another swordfishing boat. Earlier, radio operators heard a distress signal from the boat, saying it had encountered a bad storm and was in trouble.

signed to the 29th RCT is 1st Lt. William T. Poor, of Woodstock, Ga. His L-3 aircraft, single-engine, two-seat, is based at Lawson Army Airfield.

Supports TIS "My job," says Lt. Poor, "includes flying in support of Infantry School problems. I fly four sacs to simulate bombing raids in field demonstrations. I fly observers, and I fly photo missions. I also fly special missions, such as carrying samples of milk or blood for medical testing to Ft. MacPherson and Ft. Rucker. In addition, of course, I have to put in a certain amount of time annually to maintain proficiency."

Were the 29th in a combat situation, Lt. Poor would be flying reconnaissance missions, carrying messages, making administrative flights, and generally providing the regiment with an invaluable extra set of eyes and ears—and an important communications link.

His L-3 can relay messages between units too far apart for normal radio contact. Being an aviator for an Infantry regiment may seem like most advanced in the world.

Experts Find 'Live' Ammo In Museum

Normally, a visit to a museum is considered a safe and sane pastime, but on Aug. 6, 2d Lt. James W. Moore and SFC Gene L. Richmond of the 89th Ordnance Detachment made a museum visit that could have proven otherwise.

Receiving a call to investi- gate ammunition located in a Florida museum, Lt. Moore and Sgt. Richmond proceeded to Gainesville, and on arrival, found 18 rounds of ammuni- tion, still containing explo- sives, on display to the public. Nine of the rounds were Civil War cannon balls, three were .30 mm. rounds and one a .40 mm round.

JACK VOORHEES

According to Lt. Moore, any of the rounds could have exploded under exactly the right conditions. Lt. Moore says that this incident is just one more among the many the 89th has been called upon to investigate throughout the area and that it was all in the day's work for the detachment.

Pre-school physical examina- tions for military dependents required for children who will attend off-post schools, are being given at the U. S. Army Hospital at Ft. Benning.

Children through 14 years of age are being examined at the Pediatric Clinic (A-10) accord- ing to the following schedule: Last names beginning with N-R, 8 to 10:30 a.m., Aug. 29, and names beginning with S-Z, 1 to 4:30 p.m., Aug. 31; others at a makeup clinic to be announced.

School-age children over 14 years of age will be examined in the Dependents Dispensary, A-9 by appointment only. Those failing examinations are requested to bring immuni- zation records.

With the opening game against the Quantico Marines only 15 days off, things are beginning to fall according to 3rd Division football coach Summer Borststein.

"Instead of a bunch of individuals which we had at the original turnout we now have a cohesive unit. The men are learning to work together as a unit; they are shedding weight at an encouraging rate; and the quarterback situation is improving steadily."

Final quarterback...

Last week things looked extremely gloomy for the "Marne Rockets" who lacked an experienced quarterback, a vital position in the "split" formation attack. But Jim Greenwood and Al Ossuzowicz, candidates for the spot, are being groomed as a fourth piece and should prove adequate at the least.

Borststein outlined a tentative starting lineup for the opener against Quantico.

At the ends he will have Ellis and Bill Hannan. Ellis is a converted guard, captained the Citadel's football squad a few years back and stands 6'11", weighing an even 200 pounds. Hannan (6'9", 197) started in football, basketball, and track for Morris Brown College in Atlanta prior to his service hitch and has good speed and pass-catching ability.

Other ends being considered are Curcio Morrisette (5'11", 205) who played for Xavier in Ohio, Hal Hubbard (6' 1/2", 180) from the University of Tennessee — rated an excellent blocker, and Elton Buchanan.

FOR SALE! DELUXE LIBERTY House Trailer
Fully Equipped, Less Than Year Old. So At 174 Georgia Ave.

Greenwood and Ossuzowicz are the pair to watch at the all-important quarterback spot. Dave Rogers (6'1", 210) a star performer for the University of Indiana will fill a halfback position and his mate will probably be Floyd Stewart (6'13", 180) from Appalachian State in North Carolina.

Ex-Tennessee star Ray Byrd is expected to fill the requirements, and then come at fullback. The speedy native of Knoxville, Tenn., stands 6'2" and weighs 192.

5'11", 200-pound Jerry LeBlanc also looks promising at fullback and should prove an able stand-in. Harold Carrillo, 6'1", 191, can also be counted upon.

Other standouts in the practice sessions have been halfback John Sikowicz, center William Tippy, end Larry Popkin, halfback Vonnie Wilson, and 30-year-old, jack-of-all-trades Verne Scott who has played many years of good Army ball and can be counted upon for effective spot performance.

According to the coach, Halfback Wilson was starred on the baseball field. He joined the 15th I.C.'s diamond squad late in the season and batted the ball at a plus-400 clip.

All in all, coach Borststein's comment on this data is "getting better all the time". The team still has a long way to go but many of the early season blots have been wiped out and there are in the process.

An observer from the Infantry Center football team, after watching the "Marne" team scrimmage commented, "They look pretty rough and should get even rougher with more experience behind them."

Bertram Game Set

The "Marne Rockets" meet The Infantry Center squad on Sept. 9 in a scrimmage game. "I think it should be a good test for both teams," commented Borststein. "We'll learn a lot from it and our deficiencies will be bare in that competition thus making it easier for us to single them out and work on those weak points."

Benning Officer Leads Double Life as Bn. CO, Sports Empire

Rank may have its privations. Basketball Officials Dees, but for one Benning officer of a 15th I.C. officer it still doesn't protect him in heated arguments with referees and referees' events all over the world.

When average come, Lt. Col. William L. Humphrey, who is a veteran of the World War II Pacific Theater, has himself R.T. takes off his uniform with his double life.

When he steps on the playing court, he's a referee. He's a basketball referee. He's a football referee. He's a tennis referee. He's a tennis referee. He's a tennis referee.

Association and the Southwest Referee Conference, travels over the state of Georgia on weekends officiating high school football, basketball and softball games.

During a recent two year assignment to the United States Referee Conference, Humphrey was assigned in Turkey much of his off-duty time was spent in teaching the native population.

The Turkish people were willing to learn but were not so much for the color of the game. You have to make accurate decisions fast—and stick by them. An officer must be able to have the same shifting sands of officiating associations and the same rules.

Lt. Col. Humphrey has been head official for many of the major football and basketball games during the past two seasons here. This season he will conduct a clinic for the top football teams in the last few weeks of the season.

The battalion commander's many hours of voluntary off-duty coaching work among the Little League teams have earned him post-wide recognition, and he has received letters from the former deputy commanding general.

Major W. H. Payne, Lt. Col. Humphrey's superior officer, is pleased in the sports while a student at the University of Iowa in 1926. Part of the requirement for the physical education degree was to be able to officiate all the college sports.

In addition to his many post activities the battalion commander is a member of the Georgia High School Officials

Lawson Airfield Named For Early Air Pioneer

Although Lawson Army Airfield is well known, how much is known about the individual for whom the field was named?
 Lawson Field was named for the first of its kind in the Southeastern States, Captain William R. Lawson. He was promoted to captain the same month.
 Early in April 1918, he was sent to McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, on detached service. On April 21, 1918, he was assigned to a plane crash at McCook Field on behalf of Langley Field, Wash. D.C. The plane was a Curtiss biplane (a test plane) he was piloting here into a nearby river, during a sudden storm killing Capt. Lawson and three other men.
 Surviving Capt. Lawson were his wife, Mrs. Elaine Lawson and three children. Today Mrs. Lawson resides in Hiram, Fla. Their son Walker, a West Point graduate, is a colonel stationed at Fort Gordon, Augusta, Md. Thomas, also a West Point graduate, is teaching at a high school in Connecticut. Their daughter Elaine married RMC instructor at the University of Maryland.

NEW ASSIGNMENT
 Lt. Col. Lewis T. Martin has assumed command of the 6th Inf. Bn. after having served as Assistant Chief of Staff, G2 at 3rd Div. HQ.

Col. Fried Gets Med Unit Helm
 Lt. Col. Julian J. Fried of Vauxhall, N.Y., has succeeded Lt. Col. Walter C. Heritage of Chicago, Ill., as commander of the 24th Evacuation Hospital.

Col. Heritage has been assigned to the Surgeon's Office, U.S. Army in Alaska.
 A 1932 graduate of Columbia University in New York City, Col. Fried received a medical degree from New York State University Medical College in New York City in 1933.
 He entered active duty in April 1942 and served in the Pacific Theater for two years during World War II. From January, 1943, until coming to the Infantry Center, he commanded the Fourth Surgical Hospital, Eighth Evacuation Hospital and U.S. Army Hospital at Bad Kreuznach in Germany.

Bama Units Train Here

Two U.S. Army Reserve Engineer battalions are to undergo two weeks of summer training here.

The Alabama battalions from the 43rd Engineer Construction Battalion "Troop" and the 1st Engineer Battalion of Opelika. Both groups will remain on post until Sept. 5.

ENGINEER OF MONTH... Sp5 Edward E. Hamilton, squad leader from the support platoon of the 588th Engineer Co. was recently selected "Engineer of the Month" by Col. Julian V. Solloway, Commanding Officer of the 1st Air Engineer Group.

Amateur Radio

"I understand these Georgia hams are pretty good — how about getting me one at that hamfest you are going to hold here, we finally decided he didn't know that a 'ham' is a convention of amateur radio operators, not a pork-chop's auction."
 Most personnel ought to know that within a three block circle of the Hagpole there are at least six amateur radio stations; in addition to WATTS the army operating MARS station in Doughboy Stadium which contains four 1500-watt transmitters.
 Occasionally some lucky buyer of an off-brand television set becomes painfully aware of one of these radio hams when he set picks it up. To his surprise he finds that they are legally licensed stations operating on assigned frequency bands, and that the station to his television interference lies with the dealer that sold him the set, not the amateur operator going about his business in accordance with regulations.
 Not that the ham won't volunteer to help him, being public relations conscious. As one ham in Baker Village put it: "So it's not my fault — I should I let the guy stay mad when I can show him how to fix it without costing me a dime!"
 Why a man becomes a ham is a question that puzzles many people. Well, when you take up the cost of almost any other hobby — collecting, photography, golf, painting and what-have-you, there just isn't any other hobby that calls more participation with other people interested in the same hobby you are.
 You can paint by yourself. You can take pictures by yourself. You can even set up a golf course and go around the course all by yourself. But, try talking to yourself and see what happens.
 "Making contacts" is the ham operator's principle business. Your neighboring hams are in nightly conversations with others from north Alabama to South Africa. Exchanging comments and reports on their equipment and standard operating third-party traffic, or just plain "ragchewing" — whatever the business, the ham is usually

Sergeant Steals $9,500 From Club

The U.S. Army today asked for help in locating an American sergeant wanted for questioning in connection with the disappearance of "at least $9,500" in soldier's club funds.

The Army said Sgt. Carl H. Preley, 34, of Lake Lake, Calif., has been absent without leave since Saturday morning.

Sunday School Needs Teachers

The Junior Department of the Protestant Sunday School is presently conducting a program of religious education for boys and girls of the 4th, 5th and 6th grade level, ages 9 to 12 years. Cecil Murray is Station Assistant and Robert Escobar, superintendent of the Junior Department, has emphasized the need for teachers to carry out the program.

Boys and girls interested in helping in this religious program will need to give very little of their time in the work. The program is completely laid out for them. The Junior Sunday School is located in Building 107A, adjacent to Base Barracks in the hospital area. It meets from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. every Sunday. Transportation from the Outer Station Park, Oostand and Main Post areas is available each Sunday.

For additional information please call Capt. Horton at 3-6222 during office hours, or at Columbus 4-3262 evenings, or call SFC Clifford D. Lindner, Director of the Protestant Sunday School, at 3-3104.

Child Kidnaped In Connecticut

Six-week-old Cynthia Ruolo was kidnaped last Saturday in Hamden, Conn. from her carriage outside a department store where her mother was shopping. Cynthia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ruolo who also have a 7-year-old boy and a 19-month-old daughter. Police and the FBI, who entered the case immediately, are almost certain that this was not a kidnapping for ransom. They believe that the child was taken by some frustrated woman who felt the need of a child.

Recruits Take Leave Upon Finishing Basic

The 1,000 basic trainees who reported here eight weeks ago departed Sept. 2 for a 14-day leave with approximately one-half of the recruits going to the north eastern part of the U.S. via the airlines. The recruits came to Ft. Benning as a result of crowded conditions at the Ft. Dix (N.J.) Replacement Center.

The men of the 9th Training Bn., 3rd Inf. Div., receive transportation even though the Labor Day holiday meant there were many additional people traveling.

Schools Register 1,974 Last Week

Enrollment of Post school children totaled 1,974 during the Aug. 28-30 registration, according to Mrs. Hazel J. Scudder, Children's Schools superintendent.

Registration by schools is: Faith School, second through eighth grade; 656; Main Post School, kindergarten through third grade, 701; and Custer Terrace School, first through fifth grade, 432. One hundred and 85 students will attend Muscogee County high schools.

Lawson Crew Cited in Letter

Prompt, courteous and efficient service paid off for members of the Lawson Army Air Field Alert Crew last week.

Members of the crew were cited in a letter of appreciation received by LAAF Commander, Col. Gilman A. Huff of Greenville, S. C. The letter was written by Lt. Colonel W. King, Commander of the 138th Air Transport Squadron at Brookley Air Force Base, Ala.

In the letter, Col. King stated that many pilots of his organization had frequently commented on the hospitable service provided them upon arrival at Lawson Field.

Citing a specific example, the colonel mentioned the arrival of an military Air Transport plane on Aug. 5, for a routine patient pick up. Col. King said that "Alert Crew on duty promptly read the aircraft, placed the auxiliary power unit in position immediately and the latter loading ramp was standing by for positioning as soon as the aircraft door door was opened."

Continuing, the colonel wrote: "The many courtesies extended and professionalism displayed by your personnel have been largely responsible for the successful accomplishment of our air evacuations."

In conclusion, the colonel added his personal thanks to Col. Huff and to the personnel of the command for the excellent support... given this organization.

The Alert Crew at Lawson are responsible for providing immediate service for all incoming transient aircraft including ground handling and mooring of the craft.

Members of the Alert Crew were Emma L. Arnett, Valley Home, Calif.; WAC Co. Joseph F. Pleasant, Terry, Miss.; 147th Ord Co. and John H. Scott, Slocomb, Ala.; 147th Ord Co. Promoted to the grade of PFC were James E. Adkins, Chester W. Va., Co. B, Patricia A. Duff, Bowie, Tex., WAC Co. Emma L. Dumais, Victoria, Tex., WAC Co., Anne M. From the time of Plato to the present, man has sought the measure that marks the perfect politician. And the search goes on because perfection is an almost unattainable thing.

But we do have to vote. We must have standards for selection more substantial than the width of a smile or the quickness of a retort.

As we inspect the candidates on the federal, state and local scenes, we would do well to remember that the complexity of the United States of 1956 will test the mettle of any officeholder.

America is a land of minorities, and yet, the majority must be served. Can our choice balance the welfare of majority and minorities?

Only the president and vice president are elected by all the people. The other federal offices holders are elected by the people of their state or Congressional district.

In this era of mass communications, stage appeal has become a greater factor than ever before. Are we finding ourselves swayed to one man or another because of his showmanship?

Are we listening to what he says instead of just the way he says it? Does he offer us food for thought or just glittering generalities?

Other criteria will come to mind. Our way of life depends on our vote. But let's not just throw our vote away. Let's make those votes well-considered ones. (APFS)

Forgive As You Are Forgiven

CHAP. (CAPT.) THOMAS D. McGrath. Fulton Purser, in one of his beautiful parables of life, tells of the Korean missionary who vainly tried to teach the doctrine of the Cross to the natives who believed in an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. One day when he returned to his home to find his two sons slain by bandits, the villagers apprehended the murderer and brought him to justice.

Then the Missionary practiced what he preached. In a tearful voice he pleaded for the unfortunate murderer, promising to bring him into his own home and treat him as if he were a son. Never again scorn his sermons on love. Emerson wrote of a man, "His heart was as great as the world had hard a man when it held the memory of a wrong."

The development of character has no greater obstacle in this world than the inclination for revenge. The man who is weak in the inclination for revenge, spite and the pleasure of making an enemy suffer; the man who vendetta is his rule of life; but the man of strong character performs a major operation on both memory and will; on memory, by trying to remove the recollection of any ill done; on will, by refusing to strike back at one who may have inflicted harm. Often the harm we think has been done us in the life of the careless word, was no real harm but a signpost of our own unworthiness. Yet, cherished in memory it may become a festering sore from which comes the cancer of the heart. Christ insisted that we love our enemies, and by a powerful example He drove home a message to us: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." These words spoken from the Cross have rung down through the centuries to those who have been called to respond to the invitation, "Come, follow Me."

The man of small mind and weak character rationalized that one who has done something evil, selfish, dishonest, should be identified with the evil he has done, and the person and the wrong hated with a common hate. Yet Christ distinguished between the sinner and the sin.

Family Medical Care Now a Right

Medical care for service families is now a "right" instead of a "privilege" because of a new law that guarantees facilities for treatment and surgical attention. But outposts at military bases are not authorized. This means that dependents must travel to get treatment for minor ailments in outpatient clinics at Armed Forces installations because active families and retired personnel will be permitted to receive "available care at any medical facility of the Army, Navy, Air Force or Public Health Service."

Armed Forces dispensaries and hospitals will provide medical services that will include diagnosis, care for contagious diseases and acute medical and surgical conditions, immunizations, maternity care, infant care, and emergency dental treatment in the U. S. plus regular dental care outside the U. S.

However, in remote areas of the U. S. where adequate civilian dental care is not available, complete dental attention will be furnished at posts and installations.

Queen of Battle

Through the history of warfare, rivers have many times been a key factor in the success or failure of an Army. Now our United States Army has adopted this preloping problem in its new book, "Queen of Battle," Listen this week to the technical aspects of this issue. The book is being published by the Infantry Center Special Services Section.

At military facilities. Where civilian medical institutions are used servicemen will be charged $25 or $17.50 a day times the number of days hospitalized, whichever is greater, up to a maximum of 365 days.

On the Bookshelf

WAY OF A BUCCANEER by Davenport Steward. (Dutton, 1956). An exciting tale of adventure in the Caribbean during the late 17th century. Young Wayne Thorpe, narrowly escaping death at the hands of the Pirate O'Bannon, joins the Maroons in the wilds of Haiti. Fighting, capturing and escape, and marriage—all lead up to his campaigning with his O'Bannon and revenge upon O'Bannon.

AFTERNOON OF AN AUTOCRAT by Nora Lotts. (Doubleday, 1956). When Sir Charles Sheldrake died, son Richard took over his estate, with the idea of forcing the land to increase revenues. The troubles of his tenants, the death of a Sheldrake's growing subsidence, and the rakehell husband and the discovery of an ancient temple lead to a strange and violent climax.

THE EXPLORATION OF MARS by Willy Ley and Herbert von Braun. (Viking, 1956). Although there has been no flight to Mars this year, the authors of this book make a "roundup of the week's news at Benning. On Sunday over WDBK at 2 p.m., the Third Infantry Division brings you "Pass in Review." "Pass in Review" is also heard over WFAN in Phenix City each Sunday at 12:45 p.m.

Tank Battalion Observes Birthday

FROM HARMONY CHURCH TO GERMANY . . . When the 714th Tank Bn. recently celebrated its sixth Organization Day, the occasion called for a little more than just a parade and battalion party. For next March the tank unit will be transferred to Germany replacing the 828th Tank Bn. as part of a mass Gyroscope, becoming the first state-side separate tank battalion ever selected for Gyroscope participation. When the tankers held their celebration, the day was made a "get-together" for the families who will participate in the shipment. Top row (left to right): Pvt. Jerome Boeser, of B Co., leads his symphonic five in some swiny country music. At the same time the small fry were treated to tank and jeep rides in the battalion area. Middle row: Col. and Mrs. Garth Stevens, Battalion commander, help themselves to indoor lunch in company mess hall—picnic style. Pint-sized Freddie Rish, three-year-old son of Sfc. ## Stephens Ends 20 Year Army Career Friday

Major John B. Stephens of Tuscaloosa, Ala., ending 20 years of military service, watched units of the 29th RCT pass in review Aug. 31 in his honor.

Participating in the review were approximately 2,000 troops of the 29th Inf. Regt., the 23rd FAA Bn. and attached units.

Highlighting the ceremonies was the presentation of an Infantry Center Certificate of Achievement to Maj. Stephens. The certificate, citing the retiring officer's outstanding performance of duty during his career was presented by the 29th RCT commander, Col. Joseph W. Sisson Jr., of Washington, D.C., on behalf of post commander Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell.

Pt. Benning was the first and last assignment for the 26-year-old officer who taught chemical, biological, radiological warfare at The Infantry Center. Major Stephens entered the Army in February, 1936, as an enlisted man and received his basic training here.

His Army career took him overseas five times, including assignments in Italy, Germany, Japan, Korea and Iceland. Major Stephens' decorations include the Silver Star and the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

In 1944, while participating in the European Theater Campaigns, he received a battlefield commission as a second lieutenant.

SHARP ARTILLERYMAN . . . Pvt. Noel T. Redalen, of Btry. A, 23d P.A. Bn., 29th RCT, receives the battalion Soldier of the Month award from 23d Commander, Lt. Col. Leo B. Jones.

P-TA Holds 1st Meeting

One hundred per cent membership in the Parent-Teacher Association is the goal of the Pt. Benning PTA.

The 1956-57 membership drive headed the agenda at the first executive-council meeting of the group, conducted Sept. 4 by Lt. Col. Charles W. Sample, newly named PTA president.

The campaign to enroll every school child's parent in the PTA offers four opportunities to join the organization.

The PTA operated membership booths during registration at the Post Children's Schools and will send forms home by each student. Additional members will be sought at the first meeting Sept. 18 and through direct contact by the room mothers.

The council also approved the budget for presentation at the general meeting, and formulated plans for the year's program.

Benning's Modern New Hospital Half Finished

BY JAY ADELMAN
When work began on the post's modern new nine-story U. S. Army Hospital, it's doubtful that anyone could have visualized the structure as it would appear just 14 months later.
The Jordan Company of Columbus, contracted for the job by the Savannah District Corps of Engineers, has just completed the halfway mark in the six and one-half million dollar job. On Aug. 26, 1956, or very shortly thereafter, personnel manning the sprawling wooden buildings and large concrete main administrative section of the present U. S. Army Hospital on Main Post shift their scene of operations to Marge and Santa Fe Roads. At the site, which is three miles from the Main Post, everything will be in readiness. Approximately $700,000 worth of equipment will have been poured into one of the most modern hospitals in the Armed Forces.

The five-wing, 500-bed hospital, which easily can be adapted to 1,000-bed structure, will have an exterior of natural concrete color. Standing 110 feet high the top of the structure will be a central shaft goes 36 feet above (top). It will be 200 feet wide in either direction. The interior will have 318,000 square feet of floor space. A huge parking area will be available for 500 cars.
$12,000 A Bed
The overall cost is $12,000 a bed, considered a low figure by authorities in this age of $20,000-a-bed hospitals.
The five wings will be as follows:
A and B Wings will have offices and wards; C Wing will contain elevator shafts and, on the lower floors, emergency operating rooms; D Wing is for the mess hall, operating and obstetrical rooms, and E Wing will have Red Cross offices, a recreation lounge and isolation wards.
A and B wings will be nine stories high, D and E have three stories, and C will have nine plus an elevator penthouse and equivalent of three more stories.
The 100 construction workers have completed four floors of Wing A, the concrete frame structure of B, five floors of C, and all of D and E. Mechanical and electrical work is in varying stages of completion in B Wing.

Ahead of Schedule
Construction on the new hospital is a few days ahead of schedule, according to P. M. Creveling of Columbus, project manager for the Jordan Company.
A complex electronic communications system will be in operation once the hospital opens.
There will be a completely automatic pneumatic tube system, with 42 switching stations, running through all clinics, administrative areas and wards.
A visual aid system operates all her bed patients, allowing conversations from both sides, and the chief nurse can talk to any or all the nurses through a similar device.
Another planned facility is a heliport, to be employed by helicopters carrying evacuation cases.
New Standard Design
The hospital is designed under a new standard plan created for the Army and Air Force, according to Charles B. Kneller of Columbus, Jordan County, resident engineer for the Savannah District Corps of Engineers.
The Army Corps of Engineer prepared the design, and particular buildings already have been constructed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Fort Detrick, Ky. Two hundred and fifty-bed hospitals, designed along the same lines, are at Ft. Belvoir, Va. P. M. Dix and Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and Ft. Riley, Kans.

Three new sets of Specialist eagles appeared in the Detachment, Ord. Bn. when promotion orders were published on Aug. 23. Those gaining the new rank were Sylvan E. Dougherty, Fisher, Pa.; Harold L. Jackson, Princess Anne, Va.; and Valentino D. Petyou, Georgetown, Tex. Specialist Dougherty is a postal clerk at the Message Center, Jackson a driver and Tafaos a clerk typist with the Detachment.

PROMOTED TO SPS
Orders issued last week at Transfer Point, STC authorized Specialist eagles for three members of the unit. Those advanced to the grade of Specialist Third Class were Darwin G. Barkdoll, Chambersburg, Pa.; James V. Palmer, Lebanon, Pa.; and Gordon A. Walker, Cleveland, Ohio. Specialists Barkdoll and Palmer are clerk typists at the Transfer Point and Specialist Walker is assigned as morning report clerk.

Lack of Grid Personnel Causes Head Coach Ingram to Don Pads

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
Bayonet Sports Editor

A lack of players for the Main Post football team has forced Head Coach Jim Ingram to wear pads himself.

Former U. of Arkansas star, Herb Jones, 6'2", 230-pounder, leads the tackle brigade.

With the season opener only a week away the 27-man squad is looking toward their first real scrimmage tomorrow at Doughboy Stadium against the 3rd Division gridders. The afternoon scrimmage will be a controlled affair with both teams working out on offensive and defensive.

Up till now, coach Ingram has put off major scrimmages for fear of injuries to his key players.

"Tomorrow's scrimmage will strictly be a control session," said Ingram. "To see how our team looks in game circumstances."

Former U. of Kentucky player and an aggressive blocker at 6'2 1/2 ins., leads the way at the middle man post. Dale Haupt (11) is the only quarterback.

With the loss of Bill Bauder, U. of Richmond who received his orders for overseas, Jim Matthews (U. of Mississippi) is the only quarterback.

Currently under contract with the Los Angeles Rams, Ed Hooper (St. Norbert's College) is the only 200-pounder who will hold one of the halfback slots.

Approximately 75 members are expected to take part in the Scotch Foursome which is better known as a man-woman contest wherein two couples alternating shots try to beat another couple in a round of golf.

The end position is headed by 6'2", 220-pound cut back, a former U. of Ohio player, who Ingram rates as "one of the best ends I've ever seen."

The other end slot is a liability at the Club.

of Wyoming), currently under contract with the Green Bay Packers, is at the other guard post. Russ Zimmerman and Buddy Richardson are the reserve guards along with Charlie Wilson.

Arkie Oaken, former U. of Western Kentucky star, puts his 6' 2 1/2 ins. on the line at the center position. Charlie Berry, a converted back with no college experience, is second string center.

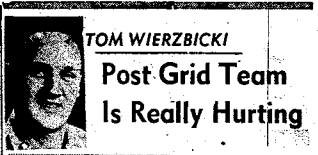

Matthews Alone
With the loss of Bill Bauder, U. of Richmond who received his orders for overseas, Jim Matthews (U. of Mississippi) is the only quarterback.

Currently under contract with the Los Angeles Rams, Ed Hooper (St. Norbert's College) is the only 200-pounder who will hold one of the halfback slots.

TOM WIERZBICKI Post Grid Team Is Really Hurting

It is certainly a shame that an Army installation as big as Ft. Benning which houses approximately 38,000 soldiers is represented by a post football team with a nucleus that numbers a mere 27 bodies.

Of the three major sports which are played on an inter-post level, football requires the most participants at one given time, namely, eleven. Yet, why is it that the turnout for the gridiron sport is no more than we would have for baseball or basketball?

Service football is played according to college rules. With the free substitution in effect a team had a chance to get by if the men were of the highest caliber. But the free substitution rule has been thrown out and it is not hard to see that the going is going to be rough.

Ingram Plans to Suit Up
So rough, in fact, that Head Coach Jim Ingram has decided to put on the pads. Whether Ingram will play is still questionable. The former Mississippi great passed up pro ball with the Philadelphia Eagles because of a leg injury. A chipped cartilage in his left knee accrued in his junior year and then re-injured again in his senior year sidelined the big tackle. The extent of play for the Ole Miss great will depend on how the leg holds up.

Scale Added to Coaching Staff
M-Sgt. Tony Scala, prominent Armed Forces football and boxing coach, has joined the Doughboy coaching staff. Scala has some 15 years experience in Army coaching and will be a welcomed aid to the team.

With the addition of Scala to the ranks, the coaching is probably the only thing that we can breathe easily about.

As Coach Ingram so aptly put it: "You can have the best coaching staff and the greatest variety of plays known but you have to have the material to make a winning combination."

Of the 27 men out for the Main Post team as many as 15 have little or no college experience. Presently, Coach Ingram has one complete team that he is able to pit against any other service team. However, the biggest problem lays in the obvious lack of depth. Sixty minute players are a thing of the past. A winning ball game is measured on its experienced players and depth. The Doughboys are hurting in both departments.

Undoubtedly the most discouraging bit of sports news that has come across this writer's desk is that concerning one of our opponents for the coming football season.

The Ft. Benning Doughboys line. This year McPherson will be out to regain the coveted crown. However, the loss of his left-handed bonus baby, Billy O'Dell, through discharge this month will be felt considerably.

Last year the Doughboys finished fifth in the Third Army classic but hope to move up higher on the ladder in this year's tourney. A uniting of players from the Third Infantry Division gives the Doughboys a power-laden outfit that will be tough to topple.

Accompanying the team to Gordon were Sam Roberts, The Infantry Center sports supervisor, and 1st Lt. James Murray who is the officer in charge.

To SPEAK ON SUEZ
Col. Albert N. Ward Jr., of Westminster, Md., will discuss the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean area at the Sept. 8 meeting of the Columbia Law Club. The dinner meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Ralston Hotel. The program was arranged by Al Moseley.

ALICES FEYED
Approximately 40 Allied students attending The Infantry School were feted at a reception in the Main Officers' Mess Aug. 31. In the receiving line were Major Gen. Herbert E. Powell, Infantry School commander, and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of The Infantry School. Capt. Claude M. Robinson, Gen. Powell's aide-de-camp, introduced the guests.

3d Division Touch Football Tourny Set for Oct. 8

BY KAL WAGENIEM
The kickoff date for the open elimination competition and try for the title of the 3rd Division's Touch Football Tournament has been set for Oct. 8. The tourney is slated to run until Oct. 19. Five company side teams, one from each of the five major commands, will enter the double-elimination competition and try for the title.

According to the official bulletin announcing the event, squads will not exceed 18 players plus one officer-in-charge, one coach, and one trainer. The three mentioned will not be eligible to play. Teams may consist of officer and enlisted personnel in any proportion.

Major Command team entry rosters, listing name, rank, service number, and unit of each member are due at the Division Sports Office by October 1.

Prior to the Division level tournament the commands will hold tournaments of their own in order to select a representative for the Marne competition. Div'ary Last Year Champs. Last year, Hq. Btry, 10th FA Bn., representing Div'ary, took the title and may be a contender once again in '56 for seven of last year's team of 1414 are due back.

The Artillerymen won the title last October when a clutch playoff pass from 1st Lt. Al Murphy, the quarterback, ballhawk C. W. Rowell in the waning moments of an overtime period gave them a 7-0 victory.

Speedy Pete Sanderson skirted left end for the extra point in the crucial contest.

Speedy Pete is back for this year's play and will probably be one of the mainstays of the Artillerymen's attack. The championship game saw the air filled with passes with a total of 79 aerials for both teams. Andy Wilga of the opposing 15th I.C.C. team connected for 13 of 40. Sanderson hit on ten of 22 and Murphy glittered with ten complete in 17 attempts.

Post Sergeant Is Lucky Man; His Job Coincides With Hobby

M-Sgt. James C. Dunn of Lancaster, S. C., Co. E, 1SD is a fortunate man whose military duty is in the field of his hobby.

The sergeant knows and loves guns and shooting. He is weapons instructor in the Infantry School, and his hobby is competitive shooting.

In the National Pistol Matches, recently completed at Camp Perry, Ohio, he was the outstanding shooter of the Third Army Pistol Team. In his first full year of competitive shooting he achieved the aggregate score of 2,488 high for the team, placing him ninth in the list of Expert Class shooters in the matches.

During a pistol match, considerable tension may develop, and a shooter may lose what the sportsmen call "nerve control." This has spoiled many a good marksman's score. M-Sgt. Dunn is seldom bothered by this "shooters' bugaboo." He is a calm, easy-going man, and it is hard to think of his being coming tense about anything. Rather, he gives the impression of calm confidence.

BUCKEYE ALL-AMERICAN. George Jacoby, 5'11" 230 pound worth, was an All-American lineman for Ohio State in 1953. He has nailed down one of the guard spots for the 3rd Division football team.

It is this quality, so he said when asked about his success in competitive matches that enable him to win eight individual and three team awards in the National Matches. Competing in these are one for Second Expert in the Center Fire Pistol Match and one for First Expert in the .45 Caliber Rapid Fire Match.

Good "Team Man"

In competitive shooting, some men are individualists, concerned with only their own scores, and others are good "team men," who make every contribution possible to the effectiveness of a team of shooters.

M-Sgt. Dunn is held in high esteem by his fellow shooters as one of the latter. This quality can be contagious, and became a morale-raising factor in a team. Major Harrison H. Holland, captain of the Third Army team, considers this one of M-Sgt. Dunn's major contributions to the team.

Dunn lived in Kershaw, S. C., before joining the Army, and his wife, the former Margaret Findall, reside at 2668 Hawthorne Drive, Columbus.

OPERATION DEMONSTRATION SEPT. 6, 7, 8

Franchised new car dealers announce that the best place to buy a used car is behind the wheel.

To the citizens of Columbus, Ga.:

For years the franchised new car dealers of this community have backed every used car sale with a warranty based on Quality, Dependability, and Service. We believe this method of doing business has contributed much to the effort of making the economics of our community sound.

We are extending an invitation to come in and drive the Used Car of your choice. We know, from years of experience, that "The Best Place To Buy A Used Car Is Behind The Wheel!"

All over the nation on September 6, 7, and 8, the new car dealers of America are taking part in "Operation Demonstration" to prove beyond a doubt that a used car buy from a new car dealer is now, and will always be, a good one, a sound one, a dependable one.

Sincerely,
The New Car Dealers of Columbus

Times Begins Photo Section

Everyone who owns or can borrow a camera will get fat benefits from the big new Camera Section which has just been started by the Army TIMES. According to a recent news release, the TIMES will provide latest and best news of interest to amateur photography fans. In addition they will sponsor big cash photo contests which will be announced shortly. The Army TIMES Camera Section is designed to convert shutter-funners into top-rank photographic hotshots, who will make every roll film count. The contests, each offering $1,500 in cash prizes, will be held periodically. But nothing is to be gained by holding back. Get into the first one!

answer to many questions from TIMES readers, who emphasize that men and women in service, unlike civilians, usually are making once-in-a-lifetime pictures, meaning that a similar opportunity is not likely to come again. They've got to get it right the first time. Hence the need to know exactly what their cameras can do—and how to do it. With a million or more cameras being sold around by service folk—and they represent a total investment of many millions (more than a billion) in the camera-sense will result in the savings of vast sums of money to film-walrus alone.

PT-A Slates First Meeting Next Tuesday

BY MILLY SCUDDER
Major Gen. George A. Lynch, commanding general of the Infantry Center during the temporary absence of Major Gen. Herbert R. Howell and Third Infantry Division commander, will speak at the PT-A meeting Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. in Theater No. 3.

The Inspector General's Section is the first TIC staff section to go over 100 per cent. The staff shows a 113.4 per cent donation. Also moving ahead of the 100 per cent figure is the 10th Engineer Battalion of the 3rd Div.

Other units and sections leading in the fund raising program include the following: Office of the Secretary General Staff, reaching 78.1 per cent; 1st Signal Troop Command with 70.9 per cent of their goal.

Reaching the over-all figure means 100 per cent participation by all civilians and servicemen on the post.

In addition to the American Red Cross, Menstrual Hygiene Association, March of Dimes, Tuberculosis Association, Welfare Agency, Army Emergency Relief, Youth Activities Club, Parent-Teacher Association, Chaplains Section's Christmas activities and the children's dental hygiene program, part of the post funds goes to the Columbus (Ga.) United Givers. Receipts for contributions are given to each individual.

Boxers Vie For Titles

Post Close Contenders Behind Bragg Favorites

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
Benning Boxers took their first step toward regaining the Third Army crown Tuesday night by scoring five victories in the 11-bout card.

Results of weigh-ins Tuesday conducted by Major Bernard K. Levin, preventive medicine section, U. S. Army Hospital, found four fighters overweight.

Results of the match-making committee announced Tuesday that due to the limited number of entries in the tourney, fights would be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, with the final scheduled for tomorrow evening.

As defending champions, Bragg winners of the Third Army tourney the last two years, were rated as favorites but the Benning Doughboys are considered dangerous contenders.

The pugilists from Campbell will reign as the dark horse of the tournament at the basic that none of the other entries, including Benning and French, has a better record than that of the Benning Doughboys.

Salk Shots Available To Soldiers Under 21

The Salk vaccine immunization program on post has been extended to include personnel under the age of 21 on a voluntary basis.

A series of three shots will be given to each serviceman, with the first given this month, one month later, the second, and the final, seven months later.

Should not hesitate
Even though there may be eligible men whose date of separation from the service may prevent them from receiving the third inoculation, the servicemen should not hesitate, according to Maj. Bernard Levin.

Although there has been little information available from previous immunization, M. J. Levin stated that it is a tremendous boost in preventing the paralysis type of polio.

More than 100 per cent turnout of the first and second graders at Benning schools took the second in a series of anti-polio shots compared with a number receiving the initial shot.

Records revealed that children who received shots did not necessarily get their first inoculation at Ft. Benning.

YAC Slates Election Of Officers Sept. 19

The Youth Activities Club will hold its annual election of officers Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Main Post School.

Lt. Col. John Moonik, Jr., of Uniontown, Pa., acting president of the group, urges all parents of children from five to 20 years of age to attend.

Nominees for the positions are: president, Col. Alfred C. Boatman, Infantry Center G-2, and Col. A. N. Ward, Jr., of The Infantry School's Technical Department; first vice-president, Lt. Col. Thomas S. Campers, Third Division adjutant general, and Lt. Col. Joseph W. Sullivan, Third Division staff judge advocate; second vice-president, Major J. M. Holt, School Brigade S-3, and Major Allen S. Mow, Lawson Army Airfield, and third vice-president, M. Sgt. Arthur W. Lunt, Special Troops Command, and M. Sgt. Charles E. Brown, Third Division.

The Youth Activities Club sponsors all youth organizations on the post. These include the Boy and Girl Scouts, Scouts, Explorers and Cub Scouts, football, baseball, basketball, swimming, boxing, Bruz Barracks and the Junior National Rifle Association. The club is also responsible for nine playgrounds on the post and membership dues.

The organization receives its financial support from the Post-Benning Community Activities Association Fund and through membership dues.

Children will enjoy planned sports activities four afternoons a week. Max L. Spartin of Asheville, N.C., serves as athletic director of the Youth Activities Club. Spartin heads the Physical Education Department of the Children's Schools.

DA Sets Conference On Career Incentives

A full meeting of the Civilian Advisory Group studying professional and technical compensation in the Armed Forces was held Sept. 28 at the Postage to change its recommendations for keeping skilled men and women in the services.

Members of the Defense Advisory Group studying professional and technical compensation in the Armed Forces now are gathering facts and conducting first-hand interviews with commanders, servicemen and technicians at military installations in the U. S.

Ralph J. Cordier, chairman of the committee made up of military, civilian and defense officials, is making a similar tour of American bases in Europe.

As a result of preliminary study, the group is confining its efforts to those areas which appear to be of immediate importance to meet the competition of industry for manpower.

By the September meeting, work on these priority items is expected to produce "feasible firm" conclusions on what must be done by the Defense Department, and whether or not it will be necessary to seek the 86th Congress for new legislation when it convenes next January.

Meanwhile, 10 top Army NCOs and specialists who are to the USAF for his shot, SP2 Charles O. Hill-dreth is administering the shot while Capt. Zeph Pate, Immunization and Treatment Section, looks on.

UofG Awards Degrees to 13 Post Students

Thirteen post students who enrolled at the Columbus Center of the University of Georgia to begin work toward their degree in secondary education were recently awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Education at summer graduation exercises at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Completing their undergraduate non-residence requirements at the Columbus University Center, these former students, whose rank ranged from chief warrant officer to lieutenant colonel, received their practice teaching at the Infantry Center under supervision of Dr. Stanton J. Singleton of the faculty of the University's College of Education.

On accumulated military leave or temporary duty on the Athens campus officers included in history of the social sciences for their teaching fields.

DA Announces New Army Song

The Department of the Army announced Monday the adoption of "The Army Goes Rolling Along," as the official Army Song.

The song is based on "The Cassions Go Rolling Along" by the late Brig. Gen. E. L. Griber with lyrics gathered from within the Army itself, revised and adopted by Dr. Harold W. Alder, Soldier Music Advisor, Special Services Division of the Adjutant General's Office. Copyright is held by the U. S. Army.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Bricker has directed that the song be officially dedicated at U. S. Army installations throughout the world on November 11, 1956, Veterans Day, and play an important part in ceremonies of the day.

The lyrics of the new song follow:

VERSE:

March along, sing our song With the Army of the Free. Count the brave, count the true Who have fought in victory. We're the Army and proud of our name We're the Army and proudly proclaim:

FIRST CHORUS:

Fired to fight for the right And to build the Nations might. And the Army goes rolling along.

VERSE:

Press'd all we have depend Fight 'til the battles are right. And the Army goes rolling along.

REFRAIN:

Then its HI HI HEY The Army's on its way. Count off the cadence loud and strong!

SECOND CHORUS:

For where we go, you will always know That the Army goes rolling along.

REFRAIN:

Then its HI HI HEY The Army's on its way. Count off the cadence loud and strong!

THIRD CHORUS:

(Slower, more freely)

Men in rag, men who from. Still that Army met its foes. And the Army goes rolling along.

REFRAIN:

Then its HI HI HEY The Army's on its way. Count off the cadence loud and strong!

SECOND CHORUS:

For where we go, you will always know That the Army goes rolling along.

As the Army goes rolling along.

REFRAIN:

(In tempo)

Then its HI HI HEY The Army's on its way. Count off the cadence loud and strong! (Two Three)

For where we go, you will always know That the Army goes rolling along. (Keep it rolling)

And the Army goes rolling along. ("Copyright 1956 by U. S. Army. Reprinted by permission")

Engineers Test New Type Crane

The Pilsan Crane, a five-ton truck-mounted lifting device, which recently underwent tests from the 588th Engineer Co., has received endorsement from the Army.

The crane was sent to the 588th, commanded by Capt. Lawrence Davis, from Board No. 3 at Ft. Knox, Ky. It is designed primarily for use in the construction of bridges, cutting down on the number of man hours with which a job can be accomplished.

A simple combination of a light-weight crane and a five-ton truck, the crane was first used by the 588th on "Exercise Sagebrush," where it proved to be an invaluable asset to the Engineers in shifting and straightening cargoes during movement to the exercise.

Since then the crane has been used primarily for maintenance work on pontoon bridges and for construction of other types of bridges.

Soldiers to Answer Brief Questionnaire

Every member of the Armed Forces soon will be required to answer a questionnaire to protect his interest under the recently enacted Public Law 851.

The questionnaire will be distributed in a September, marked and stamped, and marked signature. It will be part of a three-page special bulletin prepared by the Defense Department to explain the Survivor Benefits Act.

Effective Jan. 1, 1957, it is composed of four parts. They are:

- 1) Death gratuity, 2) Social Security, 3) Compensation and gratuity, and 4) Unemployment insurance.

The insurance provisions are the only portions of the Act which are retroactive to individuals to initiate action in order to preserve their rights. To make certain everyone knows his rights, the Department of Defense (Personnel and Reserve), is taking

It's Your Choice

BY CHAP. (LT. COL.) FRANCIS D. BRIDENSTINE

Many of us are inclined to use our feelings at the slightest provocation. There is no room for such conduct in a barracks or office. There are no heroes or anti-heroes in the barracks. There are no heroes or anti-heroes in the barracks. There are no heroes or anti-heroes in the barracks.

Do anything possible with a smile, and if the situation demands anger, then show it with power and justice. This does not mean that we are to become a sphinx. It simply means that we must have our emotions under control in each other's company. It may take a little while to find such a "progressive" as a word of great hurry; he will come along. Study everyone. Watch the men who frequently attend chapel services. See who is well-learned in the barracks book-shelf sections. See who is well-learned in the barracks book-shelf sections.

SFC ROBERT A. KARCH, FT. BENNING CHESS CHAMPION 1955-56

Sunday, Sept. 23, has been tentatively set for the next chess team match at Service Club No. 2 at Sand Hill. The regular members of the Post club will engage the chess players of the Third Division Band. Selection of the Main Post team will be based on the rating ladder published in two weeks. About six or eight men will play on each team.

The title match between Stan Kraylor, winner of the All-Post challengers' tournament, and Bob Karch, defending chess champion, was won by the latter 3-1. Knowledge of the chess openings proved decisive.

Football Opener Pits Doughboys Against Parris Island Marines

A 27-man squad will leave Saturday morning for the Parris Island Marine Corps base and the opening game of the 1956 football season for the Main Post Doughboys scheduled Sunday against Parris Island.

Head Coach Jim Ingram and assistant coach M-Sgt. Tony Scia will accompany the squad to the South Carolina marine base and look hopefully to the opening tilt as an individual "eye-opener" as to the prospects for the Main Post team.

On the basis of a controlled type scrimmage held against the 3rd Division Marine, Coach Ingram said that the prospects for the Main Post team.

"We fared just about as I figured we would in our first real scrimmage of the season."

Both coaches were satisfied with the performances of the first team and with a few of the reserves in the hour and a half scrimmage.

Larry Hollman, a former quarterback at South Carolina who had been switched to end earlier in the season, was moved back to quarterback and was by far the outstanding performer of the field. Aside from some good passing, Hollman broke away for a fifty yard scoring jaunt and showed some savvy open field running.

The end position, which earlier had received a severe blow when 1st Lt. Jim Murray, former Montana great, had been called back to his section, looked the best with Lou Sawchik, Benoit Avoro and Howie Williams all turning in good days work.

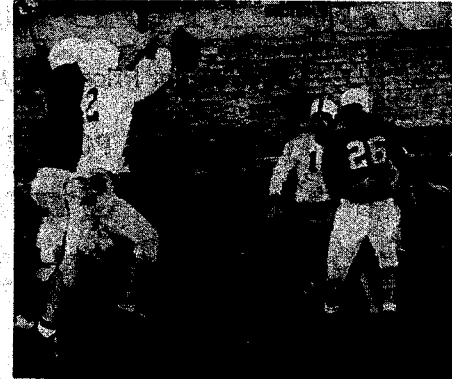

"Our first string line is probably our greatest asset," said Ingram, "now if we can get our backs to start running like they're capable of doing our only real problem and I mean REAL, will be the obvious lack of reserves."

Coach Ingram's cry of "We'll be hurting" is a true one if any football enthusiasts and more players do not come out, the Doughboys will have quite a few players trying to play 60-minute football.

Rifle-Pistol Club Sets Rifle Match

The Ft. Benning Rifle & Pistol Club will hold a small-bore rifle match at the Post Rifle & Pistol Club Sept. 16 starting at 1:30.

The riflemen will fire the Dewar and International aggregate course in three separate scheduled matches.

HANDS OFF, IT'S MINE . . . Lou Sawchik (red shirt), Doughboy end reaches in vain for a pass deflected by an unidentified 3rd division player in a scrimmage between the Doughboys and the Marines held last week at Doughboy stadium. Bob Hoerning, number 28, and Ray Byrd (white jersey) watch the attempted pass play.

Ft. Benning Riflemen Fare Well At Camp Perry National Shoot

The 1956 National Rifle Matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio came to an end this week with various Ft. Benning riflemen playing outstanding roles in the festivities.

M-Sgt. Francis B. Conway, Jr. of Benning won the coveted Wimbledon Cup Match firing a perfect 100-11V score.

Sgt. Conway also walked away with honors in the Marine Corps Cup Match firing a perfect score of 100-11V. This was his second cup match victory during the year.

The All-Army rifle team member, in firing a perfect score of 100-11V, was the only competitor among 900 to fire a clean slate.

Breen, Misses Olympic Bid Benning's Lt. Thomas Bred missed out on an Olympic bid by a single point in the 300-meter Olympic free rifle team course.

Army Lieutenant Herbert B. Voelcker Jr., Ft. Monmouth, and Marine Corps Reservist Lt. James Smith earned the Olympic bids. Voelcker fired a 2678 out of a possible 3000 score while Smith fired a 2670, one point more than Lt. Breen, in the grueling Olympic Match.

"Breen will make the trip to the Olympics in Melbourne in the event Voelcker or Smith are unable to go." In the National Trophy rifle match, a silver medal was awarded to Capt. Earl D. Pater, Co. D, ISD, who scored a

TOM WIERZBICKI Pugilist Paradise Visited by Writer

A mild westerner by birth and probably for the remainder of my life, I have never had the pleasure of having an eye witnessing of New York's Sullivan's gym, the site where a large majority of our country's most promising fighters are molded into world beaters in the boxing lane.

Pugilist Paradise is a town found everywhere in these United States, reaching from Syracuse westward to Los Angeles to New Orleans north to Chicago.

Here at Ft. Benning, our part of pugilistic thrills is the School Brigade gym, located about a 20 minute road work session from the Main Post theatre.

Unaccustomed as I am to what takes place in the daily schedule of a boxer's morning workout, I decided to take up coach Pete Rademacher's offer to "come on out and see the boys workout."

Having first been assured that I wouldn't have to get in the ring and act as a sparring partner, I figured it was safe so I made tracks to the gym.

Upon entering the door the odor of liniment and sweat was quite prevalent and reminded me of the aroma to be found in any football locker room.

A Friendly Match? Looking around the first thing to catch my eye was the ring where Pete Rademacher and Willie Johnson were engaged in a friendly sparring session. B. Gidley, look to "friendly" to this observer, but that's what Sgt. Regis Blair, the Doughboys trainer, said it was.

Over in a corner light heavyweight Jim Boyd was viciously punching a heavy bag which hung from the ceiling. The way the 1956 All-Army and Inter-Services champion was lashing out at that bag I thought he was trying to rip it off his hinges. Sgt. Blair assured me that it can't be done so I decided not to make a wager with him. I pity the man who catches those punches that Boyd would be throwing in a fight.

About fifteen feet from as featherweight Tony Robles was busily jumping rope. The way he handled that rope he knew in a rope jumping contest, I figured he must be a cowboy because nobody aside from a cowboy could handle a rope that way. Boy, I thought, I bet he could rope a steer in no time at all.

Joe Van Wagner, team coach who in the meantime had joined us, enlarged my knowledge of the boxing game by telling me that all fighters must be perfectionists at jumping rope since it is the best means of strengthening a fighter's legs. "A fighter without good legs," Van Wagner said, "is like a pitcher without a good arm."

Eubusiasm Calculated. Walking around the gym seeing the other fighters working: featherweight Leon Banks doing a bicycle pumping exercise, welterweight George Hicks performing deep knee bends, and the enthusiasm of the working out (Heaven forbid) pouring through my body. I even felt like donning a pair of boxing trunks and entering the ring and sparring awhile.

Then I realized that with my weight the only guy I could fight legitimately was a Pete Rademacher and the thought of sparring quickly vanished from my mind. (Yet could say I pushed it out.)

Still feeling in the boxing spirit (but not the sparring mood), I decided to talk with the speed bag which middleweight Guy Patrick had just finished using. After a few lobs, the speed bag said, "The majority of them missing, I heard have a sworn I heard heard."

In fact, come to think of it, I'll tell you I had been there occasionally. I put those off as hearing things, but now I started to think. Could it be . . . but why me? I was only there for about two hours?

Sgt. Regis Blair saved my sanity weeks by laughingly telling me that those were being the boxes in their workout. Waving my goodbyes, I hurried to my car and drove off. I was in a bit of a hurry. I was now initiated in the boxing game and was ready for the Third Army boxing tournament.

3rd Division Sports Marne Gridmen Ready For Quantic Opener

The 3rd Infantry Division football team will open its 1956 season this Saturday with the Quantic Marines in a game to be played at the Marine Base. The "Marne Rockets" departed from Ft. Benning early Tuesday morning for the road trip to Quantico, Va.

Tentative plans call for a two day trip to the marine base arriving there on Thursday.

Coach Morris plans to start light workouts on Thursday afternoon. Friday the "Rockets" will run through a brief scrimmage period in preparation for the opening game on Saturday.

Ready For Opener The squad is really "up" for the game. Boosted by some late arriving candidates, the team has shown great improvement in team play during recent workouts.

Last Friday afternoon the 3rd Division team participated in a controlled scrimmage game with the Infantry Center team, helping each of the teams in finding out their weaker points and getting the feel of the game with outside competition. The "Marne Rockets" and the Infantry Center team will play each other in a regular scheduled game at Doughboy Stadium on Thanksgiving Day, November 22.

Hanson recently joined the squad and has taken over the quarterback slot. He played outstanding ball at Jacksonville State Teachers College. The division team will return early next week and begin workouts immediately in preparation for the first home game of the season which will be played here at Ft. Benning against the Eglin Air Force team from Florida.

NEW FIRST SERGEANT M-Sgt. Gilmore E. Currier has assumed duties as first sergeant of the 4th Halligan Co., Lawson Army Air Field Command. He succeeds M-Sgt. Woodrow W. Clark who has received overseas orders.

POWER PASS . . . Quarterback Hanson displays a magnificent "passing" form while working out with the Marne Rockets. The former quarterback of Jacksonville's Teachers' College will be the starting quarterback for the Rockets on their September 15 Opening at Quantico.

Enos Registers At Denver Univ. Don Enos, captain of the Ft. Benning meremen which handily defeated Ft. Bragg, N.C., for the Army swimming title, will be swimming under the colors of Denver University during coming season.

A long distance swimmer special in the 1000 yard freestyle event, Enos was separated from the service by the University of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Fawcett swimmer is enrolled in the fall semester at Denver University. The present master of Ft. Benning's present swimming coach, 2nd Lt. Don Brown of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Brown, an All-American swimming star at Denver (1954-55), received the Tom Marney the Denver coach who awarded the 28-year-old Enos with an athlete scholarship.

Portrait of a Future Sports Great

Mike Zanardi Sets Sights Toward Career With Pittsburgh Pirates

BY TOM WIERZBIcki
Bayonet Sports Editor

Playing in the major leagues may seem like an unattainable goal to most baseball enthusiasts, but Harold "Mike" Zanardi, third baseman for the Ft. Benning Doughboys, soon will be doing just that.

Presently under contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the young slugger will finish his service with the post team this week and next spring will be assigned to the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association.

It was just four years ago that Zanardi received his high school diploma from Valley Regional High in Chester, Conn. It was in Chester that he started preparing for a baseball career.

An all-around athlete, Mike started playing baseball for Valley Regional track in the second grade at the young age of 14. His prowess was so great that he became a regular on the team while still attending junior high.

His athletic ventures did not stop with baseball.

Mike also participated in football, basketball and track.

However Mike's first love was baseball.

In his senior year his resounding left-handed wallop led Regional High to a city championship and to a city title not so unobscured.

Upon graduation in 1952 he signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates for a bonus and was assigned to Batavia in the New York State League for the 1953 season.

The slugging third baseman spent only half a season with the Class D team and was moved up the ladder to Class B ball with Waco in the Big State League for the 1953 season.

It was in Korea that Mike continued his baseball career playing with many major league players such as Ray Kinsler, Cleveland de la Cruz, and many others.

Zanardi, who now had grown into a 6-foot-7-pounder, started hitting the ball with the authority of a pro. In 64 games, Zanardi batted the ball at a .429 clip with 12 home runs while playing with the 7th Infantry Division.

With his overseas tour finished, Zanardi was assigned to Fort Benning in August 1953.

with Co. A, 78th Engineer Battalion, in the Connecticut lead, now a sergeant, confined his activities to being supply sergeant with the 7th.

This year the left-handed slugger led the Doughboys to a 24-20 season hitting the ball at a .320 clip. He was the team's leading hitter and his defensive work around the hot corner has been the talk of the season.

The Third Army baseball tournament Sept. 2-8 at Ft. Gordon, Ga., was the final wrap-up for Mike's service ball activities.

Zanardi's progress up the ladder in his baseball career will continue after his return to civilian life Nov. 22.

"The Army is not in good shape," Mike gratingly said, "so if I can stay that way, by the winter I'll be all set for spring training."

Spring training will be with the New Orleans Pelicans at Brunswick, Ga. The Pelicans are a Class AA team playing in the Southern Association.

This will leave the post slugger just two steps short of his treasured goal ... the major leagues.

The last chapter of Chester's story is left unwritten. How Zanardi's drive and determination has led to his being labeled a "can't miss" player.

Move over Dan Loeg, Frank Thomas and the rest of you Pittsburgh Pirates, Zanardi's moving up the ladder, and the top rung is inevitable!

LEADING HITTERS ... Mike Zanardi, right, led the Main Post Doughboys with a .360 batting mark while teammate Rufus Holland, right, finished second with a .338. These two were the backbone of a young inexperienced infield which was coming into its own at the end of the season. Both Zanardi and Holland have played minor league ball.

GOLF COFFEE ... The Ft. Benning Women's golf group will entertain a coffee Sept. 19 at 9:30 a.m. in the post Community Club. Newcomers will be welcomed to the group and the golf schedule for the season will be discussed.

A man went into a store and bought a golf ball.

Clerk: "Shall I wrap it?"

Customer: "No, I'll drive it home."

COUNTRY CLUB 'HANDICAP' OPENS ON 18TH

Approximately 140 members of the Ft. Benning Country Club are expected to participate in the Country Club Handicap Fall Tournament slated for Sept. 18 through Oct. 30.

Entry fee is $1.00 and can be paid at the Pro shop at the Country Club. Entries will be awarded to the flight winners and runners-up and to the Club's handicap champion and runner-up.

Pairings will be posted by the Executive committee as soon as the entries close Sept. 16. Presently seven flights are expected to handle the tourney but more will be drawn up if needed.

All members of the Officer's Club are eligible to enter.

Ft. Gordon Eliminates Post From Tourney

A six run outburst by Ft. Gordon in the eighth inning dropped the Ft. Benning Doughboys out of the Third Army baseball tournament with a fourth place finish.

Having lost their opening game in the tourney 6-0 against Ft. Jackson, the Doughboys blew a 2-1 lead and allowed Gordon to deliver them their second defeat and drop them to fourth place.

The Ft. McPerson Colonel's team successfully defeated their Third Army baseball title by blasting passed post challenger Ft. Jackson, 9-5, as they racked up their fourth consecutive win of the week long tournament.

The Mamons now set their sights on defending the All-Army title which will be played at Ft. Dix, N. J., next week.

Ft. Jackson pitcher Brad Claxton, who was three and lost one in five appearances during the week long play has voted the tournament's most valuable player.

GOLFERS HOLD POST TOURNEY ON LABOR DAY

The Ft. Benning Country Club played host to a Best Ball Post tournament on the Labor Day holiday.

Approximately 140 members took part in the foursomes which were composed of representatives with the closet handicap margin.

The winning foursome with a score of 55, was composed of Eric Geis (ret'd), W. Shelton, Capt. Bunn, Lt. Col. Schrupshire and Lt. Ikeda.

Only one point behind in second place was a foursome composed of Col. Gall, Capt. Vance, Lt. Simpson and SFC Billie.

Winner of the driving contest was Lt. G. Joben who averaged 262 yards. Other flight winners were Lt. Col. E. Osborne who averaged 265 off the tee and Lt. B. Novotny who averaged 262 yards per drive.

Behind the fine pitching of Detoy Padgett and Howard Tester the Doughboys won two games in one day as they defeated Ft. Stewart, 2-0, behind the three hit pitching of Padgett and Ft. McCallan, 6-5, as Tester outlasted two Ft. Doughboys out of the Third Army baseball tournament with a fourth place finish.

Having lost their opening game in the tourney 6-0 against Ft. Jackson, the Doughboys blew a 2-1 lead and allowed Gordon to deliver them their second defeat and drop them to fourth place.

MPs Celebrate Birthday Sunday

Will Attend Rest Camp Unit Party

BY SAM PROCOPIO
Ft. Benning MP's take a holiday Sept. 23, but there still will be law and order on the post, according to Lt. Col. George A. Bieser, of Philadelphia, Pa., Infantry Center provost marshal.

Celebrating the U. S. Military Police Corps' anniversary, officially observed Sept. 26, the MP's will take their holiday a little early, turning over their duties to Hq. and Hq. Co. of the 29th Inf. Regt.

Replacing the military policemen, who will attend a company party Sunday with their families and guests at The Infantry Center Rest Camp at Destin, Fla., will be 74 enlisted men and five officers commanded by Capt. John G. Dawson of Seattle, Wash.

For 24 hours, beginning at 7 a.m. Sunday, the 13 officers and 261 enlisted men of the Military Police Company will observe an "early Christmas," according to Col. Blair.

"This is one opportunity a year to have no inspections, no nothing," he said. "It's an early Christmas."

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry Center commander, sent his congratulatory message to the MP's. It stated:

"Since the inauguration of the Military Police Company on Sept. 26, 1941, the personnel (at Ft. Benning) have established a record of achievement based on devotion to duty, integrity and military spirit. The record is a proud one for the many successful accomplishments and the support of the organization."

Taylor's Statement
Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. Army chief of staff, said: "Under conditions of peace and war the members of the Military Police Corps have maintained military standards essential in the discharge of their important duties. They have served with notable efficiency in a wide range of military functions and have been recognized as the most scientifically trained investigators. By their professional conduct and high standards of maintenance of order, peace and discipline they have made an important contribution to the maintenance of the Army."

Post Copter Shipped To Factory by Train

When one of the post's HO4S helicopters makes a routine flight it's just another story. It's news when an HO4S is sent on an expedition or mercy mission. And when the versatile aircraft makes another "first" even though it's no longer serviceable, it's man bites dog.

The transportation Aviation Field Maintenance personnel took a big step in aviation—monomorph—last week when it shipped by rail an unserviceable HO4S to the factory at Middletown, Conn. The helicopter was not released and the brake became so hot it melted the flimsy metal rim. The brake and other flammable parts in the transmission oil on fire which in turn set the rubber hoses and other flammable parts in a blaze.

The pilot, CWO James P. Yavin Jr., of Los Angeles, Calif., was warned of the fire by the main control tower operator. There were no injuries to personnel.

The HO4S, which had been used by Executive Sergeant P. Paul Lee, was short-lived but the outcome of this shipment will be of great value. More important, the transporting of this plane in its entirety, with the exception of the landing gear, main and tail rotor blades, will facilitate repairs in expediting the aircraft back.

TO SPEAK
Major Robert D. Gieser of Lawrence, Okla., assigned to The Infantry School Staff Department, will discuss helicopter maintenance. The speaker will be at the post, Okla., which ranges 46. Post the speaker will

Returns Indicate Much Progress In Post's Community Fund Drive

Returns from units and staff sections on post in the 1957 Community Activities Association Fund campaign indicate good progress is being made.

Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, general chairman, emphasizes, however, the continued effort that is essential in order to reach the 100 per cent participation goal which is needed to meet the total commitment of the Fund.

The major units have all passed the 50 per cent mark in their drives. Figures for these units are listed below:

- Unit 1: Collected Percent 75% $13,152.00 85.9
- Unit 2: 77.2% 82.1
- Unit 3: 2,367.00 85.9
- Unit 4: 873.00 71.4
- Unit 5: 5,832.00 84.3
- Unit 6: 2,566.00 75.3
- Unit 7: 722.00 71.3
- Unit 8: 1,967.00 78.2

Approximately one-third of the target for the entire post is represented in the contributions of the 3rd Infantry Division. This division has net $28,550.00 for their total goal. The market now stands at $24,704, representing 68.1 per cent in collections.

Units Galating Weekly Among the general and special fund drives several units have reached the top while others are gaining weekly. The Office of the Secretary General Staff has now reached 100 per cent in their contribution.

This week the Adjutant's General Section came up to 78 per cent of their $652.00 target following close reporting of 83.9 per cent donated.

The Special Services Office, which placed first in their group with a goal of $523.00, had collections of $441.00, representing 84.3 per cent. Three units in the post have larger goals and have reported good progress: the Engineer Section with a goal of $3,625.00 have 42.7 per cent collected, Transportation Section with $2,910.00 have 32.7 per cent, and the Quartermaster having $2,575.00 reached 22.2 per cent in contribution.

Army Announces New Officer Promotion Policy

The Army has announced a new policy for promoting "truly exceptional" officers ahead of others in field grades.

First to be advanced under the program will be 60 lieutenant colonels selected from more than five years in grade. Some 300 named for promotion to colonel last July on the regular list have approximately 11 years in grade.

Post Hospital Needs Volunteer Workers

Classes will be held in the Red Cross Building at the hospital.

Volunteers contribute time in many departments. They help in the Red Cross social work and recreational programs. In many hospital clinics, aides are needed for operating standard of service; directly to the patients as well as to the hospital and the Red Cross staffs.

Post Choir Needs New Voices Badly

The Main Post Chapel Choir is urgently seeking new members to replace the 34 voices lost through transfer of personnel since the beginning of this summer.

There are vacancies in each service where volunteers are needed. The Red Cross states that time contributed is rewarding both to the individual volunteer and patients as a staff.

Singers are being sought for both the 9:30 and 11:00 Sunday general Protestant services. Men and women voices are most needed, according to J. Robert Poe of Columbus, Ga., director of the choir. The choir, which meets Thursday at 7:30 p.m., has begun practicing for its annual Christmas concert.

Post Recently Reenlists 2,000th Man This Year

"It's the interview that counts," says Lt. Gordon F. White, the re-enlistment officer of Baldwin, Ia., explains that re-induction is often the last step in a sequence of events beginning with informal talks with the company commander and sergeant in the unit.

Play Biggest Role
Because of the help and advice they give members of their company, both play the biggest role in persuading people to make the Army a career.

Benning's program operates under a decentralized system, taking into consideration that reenlistment are made at the company and battery "Broken Roads" level.

How the program is broken down is illustrated by the 29th RCT, one of the post's major commands.

At regimental level there is a re-enlistment officer and NCO. Working under them are battalion officers and sergeants, who conduct the bulk of the actual interviewing and processing of records.

3 Step Process
For Cpl. Sherman Creek Jr. of Springfield, Tenn., who was sworn in again for an additional three years on Sept. 11, re-uping was a choice made after several interviews with the company commander and sergeant in the unit.

1. Attended a re-enlistment unit showing the advantages of a military career.
2. Heard the speaker available to him during an interview with his company commander.
3. Attended a third and final interview at the Infantry Center Reenlistment Office.

General Lynch Speaks To 1,100 P-TA Members

The P-TA provides you with a voice in the schooling of your children, Major Gen. George E. Lynch told approximately 1,100 persons attending the post Parents-Teachers Association meeting last Tuesday night.

Gen. Lynch, commander of the Infantry Center during the temporary absence of Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, was introduced by Lt. Col. Charles W. Sample of Ft. Pierce, Fla., P-TA president.

"The P-TA gives you the opportunity to influence the school system in which your children are being educated and serves as a platform to present views you feel are important to their education," the speaker added.

Gen. Lynch expressed his personal interest in the post P-TA "as a high school graduate and on a somewhat lower level," the latter referring to his second and fourth-grade daughters.

He noted the growth of the Ft. Benning Children's Schools, which will have 15 additional classrooms by early December.

Kitty Available For the Asking
A reward was a success! There are ten of the little, fluffy balls of domestic delight yours for the asking, at the post veterinarian's office.

Japanese Visitor Praises Infantry School Training

Infantry School tactical and Ranger training was praised by the Japanese Defense Agency's vice director general, Keiichi Masuhara, during his visit here Sept. 12.

"I have heard a great deal about the U. S. Army Rangers and think it probably will be necessary for the Japanese Ground Self Defense Force to have this type of training," Mr. Masuhara said.

He was accompanied by Col. William H. Billings of Los Angeles, Calif., director of the Infantry School, and Lt. Col. Robert Powell, chief of the Japanese Defense Agency's Defense Bureau First Section, and Cmdr. Hirochi Samejima of Washington, D.C., Japanese Embassy naval defense attaché.

The visitors were greeted on their arrival at Lawson Army Air Field Sept. 11 by Major Gen. George E. Lynch, commanding general of the Infantry Center during the temporary absence of Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell.

Received Welcome
They were welcomed to the Infantry School at honor guard ceremonies on Chapel Field Wednesday morning Mr. Masuhara, whose rank is comparable with a five-star general in the U. S. Army, received a 21-gun salute.

The party was presented "Follow Me" pins by Brig. Gen. Robert J. Cook, assistant commander of the Infantry School. Following orientation on the school's organization and operations, the group toured the Main Post Weapons Pool and observed a demonstration of the 57-mm recoilless rifle on Patton Range.

The Allied officials then visited the Infantry School's Ranger Department preceding an official luncheon in the main officers' mess.

Wednesday afternoon they saw demonstrations at the Infantry School's Airborne Department and leaders reaction course, and visited the school's officer candidate battalion and Automotive Department.

Class Hears Gen. Booth
The U. S. Army is in a period of transition as a result of new weapons and warfare concepts, the Army's deputy chief of staff for personnel said Sept. 12.

Major Gen. Donald P. Booth told graduates of The Infantry School's associate advanced class No. 10 that the school's defense is mobile. With rapid conversion from cannon to missiles, maneuverability as possible, by helicopters and a similar aides, and a comprehensive communication system being devised with television and other electronics, the military profession is in a transitionary session, he added.

The general advised the graduates of their considerably broadened potential in the future Army as integration of new and old techniques takes place.

Along with technical changes, Gen. Booth emphasized the greater demands for responsibility and leadership to maintain stamina, loyalty and a strong moral among Army personnel.

Gen. Booth was introduced by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of the Infantry School.

Honor graduate of the class was Capt. Walter R. Rehm of Chicago, Ill.

Eight officers and two EMs from Lawson Army Air Field Command, are now flying light aircraft from Gary Air Force Base last week.

Post's Small Arms School Turns Good Firers Into Good Teachers

Expert marksmanship has long been the heritage of this country and is equally as important today as it was in the past. Both from the standpoint of excellence in competition and in defending an enemy.

The "Standard of Perfection". Started in 1918, the small arms school was started in 1918. It was instituted as a means of training civilian small arms instructors. The most current, correct methods of instruction were delegated, by an act of Congress, to Ft. Benning where the Small Arms Firing School is located.

Weapons Department at the Infantry School, which will assist them in promoting interest and raising the standard of performance of individual arms by U. S. citizens.

There is a constant change in arms and ammunition. Minor details which will be often overlooked or forgotten by a shooter is instrumental in making "His That Count".

Three Original Members Stage Celebration of Unit's Birthday

A unique celebration was staged by three members of the 4th Helicopter Co., Lawson Army Air Field Command, last week when the trio got together to commemorate the fourth anniversary of their assignment to the unit.

More than 2,200 persons participated in the recent pistol and rifle schools held at Camp Perry, Ohio, the site of the National Matches. Civilian and service shooters from every state in the U. S., as well as Hawaii, Panama and Puerto Rico were represented.

Open to Everyone. It is open to all individuals, whether competitor or not, of 14 years of age or older.

Encouraged to promote interest in their weapons in their hometowns and to teach new shooters proper methods of firing and servicing of the weapon, these students have an opportunity to win 15 awards.

The officers are the only three now serving at Ft. Benning who were original members of the 96th Helicopter Co. which was redesignated the 4th of May of this year.

In addition to these giant training maneuvers, the three operations of Army helicopter pilots have also participated in National Air Shows at Dayton, Detroit and Philadelphia, exhibiting the versatility of the Army's "whirlybirds" and the highly skilled training of the Army aviator.

Despite all precautions fire still occur. The last fire to occur in the brigade was typical—a smoker set himself and his bed on fire when he fell asleep.

Receiving their experiences since joining the unit, the three vividly recalled the many adventures they have had while flying missions for the unit.

Although the three boast a record of "no accidents", all their missions have not been "trouble free". Lt. Olsen rescued a mission during which he was compelled to make four forced landings in two days.

Encouraged to promote interest in their weapons in their hometowns and to teach new shooters proper methods of firing and servicing of the weapon, these students have an opportunity to win 15 awards.

Immediately after arrival in 1952, the three were among a group of pilots who journeyed to the Sikorsky Helicopter Company in Bridgeport, Conn. to ferry H34 model helicopters here which had been authorized for the unit.

Rescues Endless. But rescue missions are the projects which have proved most exciting for the three "old-timers". Lt. Olsen is the recipient of the "Winged S" from the Sikorsky Company for having participated in a rescue camp Stewart, Ga. during CONGRATULATIONS. Capt. and Mrs. Frank S. Westling announce the birth of a 9 lb., 2 oz. girl, at the post hospital on Sept. 9 at 8:47 p.m. The new daughter has been named Victoria towards Westling. Capt. Westling is commanding officer of Hdgts. Co., STC.

Excellent Training. Students who attend this three-day activity secure excellent training at the hands of picked instructors of the Weapons Department of the Infantry School, commanded by Col. Charles E. Leonard, Jr. of Saint Petersburg, Fla.

SP3 Jose Melendez of the 7th Engineer Bn. recently completed the X-Ray Specialist Course at the Army's Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

SCHOOL BRIGADE FIRE MARSHALL ... Luther M. Johnson Inspects Furnace

Preventing Fires in TSB Keeps Post Worker Busy. A veteran fireman, who estimates that he has fought "thousands of fires," now has the job of preventing them in the School Brigade.

Encouraged to promote interest in their weapons in their hometowns and to teach new shooters proper methods of firing and servicing of the weapon, these students have an opportunity to win 15 awards.

Ft. Jackson Gets New Leader

PORT JACKSON, S.C. Sept. 20 (AP)—Brig. Gen. N. A. Costello will arrive here Sept. 21 to become commander of the U. S. Army training center, it was announced today.

Gen. Costello comes from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where he has served as deputy commanding general and commanding general of the U. S. Army Training Center, Engineer.

Born in 1895 in Franklin, Mo., Gen. Costello graduated from Dean Academy in 1923, and from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1925.

In 1925, Gen. Costello became assistant division commander of the Sixth Armored Division and March, 1956, became deputy commanding general at Ft. Leonard Wood.

He: "Why does the average girl prefer beauty to brains?" She: "Because the men that can see outstruther those who Mess, Gen. Costello graduated

Post Abundant With Amateur DJs

Everyone on post seems to want to be a disc jockey at the post's U. S. Army Hospital.

That's what Murray Pendleton thinks anyway. Murray, 32, is station manager of WFBS, broadcasting over a bedside network to patients at the hospital.

The station, carried over 36,000 miles of wire and heard through 1102 speaker outlets, had a voice problem about a month ago. Just two men, Pendleton and SP3 Jimmie Duncan of Los Angeles, Calif., were doing all the broadcasting.

A call went out for "voices of variety" to fill late-evening listening hours with a varied selection of disc jockey programming. By having a different turn for each show, Pendleton and Duncan felt listener interest wouldn't dwindle.

The call for radio-men have been the most successful advertisement made here. In less than two weeks, more than 100 prospective disc jockeys called the station.

Volunteers Work Overtime. None of the soldiers looking for positions with the station seemed to mind the fact that they would have to work during off-duty hours, and with no pay.

Everyone felt he had found the ideal way to keep busy after hours.

Besides reading spot announcements, supplying chatter between musical numbers and spinning records, the eight members of the staff have found other ways to benefit WFBS.

Showered Creative Talent. Pendleton was particularly pleased with SP4 John K. Craven of Buchanan, Mich., who has the "Johnny's Tops in Tunes" show. Craven completely rebuilt the record library and showed his creative talent by making some gigantic display boards showing the station's new program.

The most unique combination among the new disc jockeys is a husband-wife team that supplies a New York flavor on their show "Operation Reception."

The duo's SP3 and Mrs. Jerome Levick of Brooklyn, N.Y. Mrs. Levick, Dorine, uses a "Carmen" as her radio name. They love the idea of doing their own program and, as Dorine queried "Who could sit at home and watch television with an opportunity like this?" Jerry boasted that in one hour he had watched 10 hours of television.

Col. Boyd Named To Department Job

Lt. Col. John C. Boyd of Duluth, Pa., has assumed duties as assistant director of The Infantry School's Administrative Department replacing Lt. Col. Alfred E. Coffey, who has been assigned to the school's office of the Director of Instruction.

Col. Boyd comes to Benning after serving as Army adviser to the 168th Inf. Regt., Iowa National Guard at Council Bluffs.

Sergeant Likes Overseas Duty

Heard many times it that old army recruiting slogan "Around the world with the US Army." This has held true for M-Sgt. Franklin M. Canary, the 3rd Sig Bn. During his 11 years service, Sgt. Canary has spent eight years overseas and six and a half of the eight with foreign armies.

It began in 1943 when Canary enlisted, and was sent to Camp Crowder, Mo. for his basic advanced training in the Signal Corp. After completing the 8 course he was sent to the Southwest Pacific and remained in this combat zone for 20 months before rotating to the states.

Soon after his arrival stateside, he applied for overseas duty again, only this time with a military mission. After a short period of waiting he was assigned to Brazil. After a short orientation he assumed duties as a signal advisor to an Infantry division.

Offered Suggestions. He assisted members of the Brazilian Army on technical matters and offered suggestions on procedure and operation of equipment to insure maximum efficiency.

Following 18 months of this work, Canary returned to the United States. Again he applied for overseas duty and was assigned to the Republic of Korea Army with headquarters at Seoul.

Two years of peace time and combat advisory work followed before being assigned to the 6th ROK Division after the Korean war began. He stayed with this unit through the early days of the war, and was in on the defense of the Pusan Perimeter in late 1950. For his outstanding work as advisor to the 6th ROK Division, the sergeant was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Once again Canary returned to the U. S. for a short tour before a volunteer assignment sent him on his way across the Atlantic Ocean.

This time he was sent to a post in Turkey, where he stayed for a year before returning to the states. He again applied for an assignment to a military advisory group, and was sent to Firmsosa.

He departed for Firmsosa immediately and was assigned as a signal advisor to the X Corp of the Free Chinese Army.

Correct Feinting Cops the Crowns

Considering the brand of boxing exhibited during the Third Army Boxing Tournament it was rather disappointing to see a total of only 6000 people witnessing the three-day pugilistic festivities.

Friday night's finals were enjoyed by 2000 boxing fans but I'm sure if anyone knew what was in store Gowdy Field would have been filled to the rafters.

These knockouts, two TKO's (or as they are now known as "retirements") and some mighty close decisions filled the ten-bout card.

Included among the three knockouts were two quick one-round KO's scored by lightweight Jim Boyd and heavyweight Pete Rademacher and a beautiful bit of boxing displayed by Ft. Bragg's bantamweight Jerry Armstrong. Boxers Train For All Army Bouts

The Third Army boxing winners are presently practicing at the School Brigade gym in preparation for the All Army bouts scheduled for Sept. 24 at Ft. Myer, Va., under the expert tutelage of Bragg's Gunner Lowenstein, and Capt. James J. Boyle and Benning's Sgt. Regis Blair and SFC Joe Van Wagner.

In quitting Armstrong, Boyd, and Rademacher about their Friday night's activities, I found that all three had set up their opponent by feinting with the left and driving home that explosive right hand.

The Ft. Bragg bantamweight in his fight with Willie Barnes of Campbell had this to say: "With Barnes being a southerner I had to rely on my right hand to break his defense. Midway in the first round I feinted with my left and drove home my right. I hurt him and he covered up so I followed up with a combination of punches which floored him. After that it was just a matter of setting him up for my right cross."

Classy Jimmy Boyd, 1955 Interservice champ:

"The punch that finished off Reese (Jamerson) of Stewart was a right to the body. I set him up feinting a left hook and he left enough room open for me to throw that right cross. A left to the head finished him off."

Heavyweight Pete Rademacher: Emanuel Oates (Ft. Rucker) was carrying his hands high protecting his head. I knew if I could get him to lower his hands, I could couple feints with my left and he left himself wide open for my right which caught him flush on the chin.

In the All Army bouts slated for next week, these three fighters have probably the best chance of winning crowns in their respective positions. We can be sure the team representing the Third Army area will make a good showing win or lose in the All Army Matches.

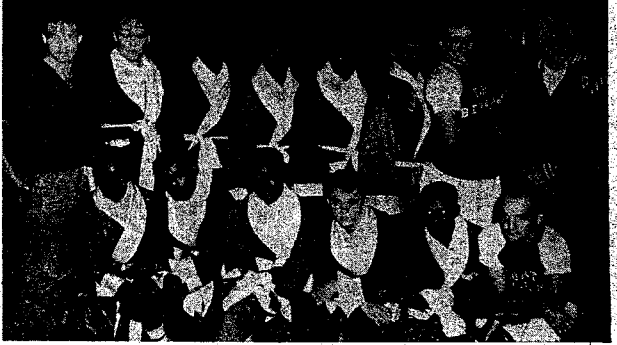

Losing a friend is always tough whether it's in the Army or in civilian life. However, losing two friends, both writers who have helped you covering the mammoth sports program here at Ft. Benning, is an even tougher task.

Even though Jay Adelman, a member of our staff here at the PIO section, and Bob Reno, TIC Special Services reporter, were both New York Yankee fans who used to harass me about my hometown favorites, the Milwaukee Braves, I still want to wish them all the luck in the world and thank them for making my job an easier one as well as an enjoyable one.

Jay was separated from the service last week and is heading back to his Alma Mater, New York University, where he hopes to get his masters degree in public administration. He plans to go into the public relations field.

Bob, on the other hand, received orders to Puerto Rico where he will dwell in PIO work or else teach.

Lots of luck fellows... It sure was fun having you aboard...

Boynton Sports Editor
With Jim Boyd and Pete Rademacher leading the way with one round KO's, the Doughboys racked up six victories in the finals of the Third Army Boxing Championship to win the coveted crown from defending champs Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The final point total found the difference in victory the post well in front 37-20 over Bragg, the Third Army winner the last two years.

A crowd of over 2,000 boxing fans came to their feet to spontaneously appear as the drill packed to best card ended with the last two fights being quick one round knockouts.

It will be a long time before Gowdy Field will see a finish the caliber of the one put on by light heavyweight Jim Boyd and heavyweight Pete Rademacher.

North Carolina Starts Fast
Boyd, the 1955 Interservice champion, started fast with Jamerson Reese of Ft. Stewart, Ga., throwing lefts and rights to the body and shuffling to the head. An explosive right to the kidney followed up by a sweeping left hook floored Reese who was down for a second time. This time for keeps. The time was 2:32 of the first.

The feature event with heavyweight Pete Rademacher pitted against Buckler's Emanuel Oates hardly got a chance to get underway before Rademacher exploded with a combination of punches, all landing on the 216-pounder from Alabama. A left to the body followed by a right cross that literally followed Oates to the floor called a halt to the one-sided bout at 52 seconds of the first.

The Doughboys jumped off to a good start as flyweight Leon Banks dominated Ernest Ball of Ft. Bragg. Banks staggered Ball several times but could not finish him off.

The next two bouts were split by Benning and Bragg. Bragg's Jerry Armstrong, a former Golden Gloves winner in Detroit, Mich., floored Willie Barnes of Ft. Campbell, Ky., three times before the bout was halted on retirement at 1:10 of the second round.

Benning's Art Bessick, 1955 featherweight champion U. S. Army Alaska, and Ed Cole of Ft. Jackson, S. C., put on a good exhibition of boxing with Bessick's sneaky right hand

ACE PASSES... Jim Matthews, former star at Mississippi, is handling the reigns for the Main Post Doughboys this season. A capable runner, Jim has turned out to be a fine quarter-

Doughboys Win Opener Against Marines, 27-14

The Main Post Doughboys [Parris Island Marines at South Carolina last Sunday, with a 27-14 trouncing of the Head Coach Jim Ingram, playing his first game of the season at end of the lack of reserves, was well pleased with the team's performance. The boys looked great coming from behind, and Ingram. "It was a team victory to a good start with outstanding performances displayed by many of the boys." Parris Island started the scoring parade with a 28 yard pass play from Smith to Post late in the first quarter. Doughboys on the Move The Golden Gloves winner in Detroit, Mich. Vince Donato intercepted a Marine pass on the Parris Island 46. Bob Hoerning in two carries moved the ball down to the 26. A Jim Matthews to Love Collins pass play carried to the 21 yard line. Collins carried for six yards followed by a Jim Matthews to Lou Sewchik jump pass which

Zeke Bratkowski to Play Here Sunday Against Marine Rockets

Former University of Georgia star, Zeke Bratkowski, will lead the Eglin Air Force Base (Fla.) Flyers into Doughboy stadium Sunday for a game against the 3rd Div. Inf. Marine Rockets.

Game time is slated for 2 p.m. Bratkowski heads the list of a star-studded lineup for the Eglin Flyers, always a power in service football.

Eight hundred reserved seats are on sale for 50 cents and can be purchased at the Infantry Center Sports Office and the 3rd Div. Special Services prior to the game. General admission seats can be purchased for 25 cents at the gate along with reserved seats.

The "Big Red" Marine grid-men at Quantico defeated the 3rd Div. "Marine Rockets" 47-0 last Saturday in Butler Stadium at Quantico, Va. The game was the third period downpour for the first two quarters.

It was a case of the Marine reserve strength wearing down the "Rockets" after the first quarter. The team downed in a 6-0 tie with the rockets controlling the ball for most of the period. The team downed inside the Quantico 10 yard line on the second series of plays from scrimmage only to lose the ball on the five yard line a fumble. The Rockets had gained possession of the ball on this series of plays on an intercepted pass by Ray Byrd. After the Marines took possession of the ball they were unable to move it against the big Rocket line and the quarter ended without a score by either team.

Capitalizing on breaks and yards for their first touchdown, and four yards for their second fumble by the Rockets, Zeke Bratkowski made a spectacular catch in the second half. Doug Cameron, former star for the University of Texas picked up most of the yardage over the ground for the Marines in the second quarter. The Rocket offensive could not get underway during the period except for two completed passes from Marine Quarterback Hansen to end Hannan. The second period ended with the score reading 14-0 for the Marines at half time.

Cosch Jack Morris's Marine squad began to feel the pressure of the strong bench strength of the Quantico Marines early in the third quarter. Led by Quarterback John Shearer, the Marines scored three quick touchdowns in the third period. String quarterback Shearer was the top passer in the quarter last year in small college competition. He proved his ability with his outstanding passing in the third period. The period also saw some outstanding catches by Marine end, Dick Lucas.

EX-GEOORGIA CAPTAIN... Zeke Bratkowski, a tall 7-foot quarterback who led the nation in yards gained passing in 1952 and was the leader of the Georgia football Bulldogs for 1953, will be calling the signals for the Eglin Flyers this coming Sunday at Doughboy stadium. The Brat holds the S.E.C. 10 and 11-game passing records.

Dove Season Now Open

Hunters on the Military Reservation will be able to shoot their skill this year as the Dove-hunting season gets underway.

Migratory bird hunting in the Georgia area which began Sunday, Sept. 16, will be open to military personnel until Sunday, Sept. 30.

Rules and regulations for the seasons and bag limits for deer and turkey, with a pull of not less than 45 pounds for deer and a pull of not less than 30 pounds for rabbit, squirrel, fox and wildcat. All other animals provide that hunting on the reservation is limited only on Wednesdays, beginning at 12 noon, all day Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, as announced.

Hours for shooting are from sunrise of the opening date to sunset of the closing date with the exception of migratory birds.

Shottguns must be plugged to limit them to a capacity of three shells on both resident and migratory game. 40 buckshot or slug may be employed for deer.

Bow and arrow hunters are restricted to a pull not less than 45 pounds for deer and turkey, with a pull of not less than 30 pounds for rabbit, squirrel, fox and wildcat. All other animals provide that hunting on the reservation is limited only on Wednesdays, beginning at 12 noon, all day Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, as announced.

Season to be announced according to 2nd Lt. Benjamin Rogers of Clayton, Ga.

Fish and Game officer, a controlled deer season for a period of one month will be announced at a later date. It will be very much like last year's, he said. Fifty-nine deer were killed during the period in 1955.

Beginning Oct. 1, in the Atlanta area, hunting season for rabbit, possum and raccoon will start. Bag limit for rabbits is six daily, while there are no limitations to opossum and raccoon hunting.

Military personnel desiring to hunt in areas off the military reservation, Lt. Rogers said, must purchase required county or state license and comply with pertinent regulations.

It is unlawful to fail to report to the Fish and Game office any deer or turkey killed on the reservation, he added. Reports are to be made Saturday or Monday. It is also unlawful to hunt with a fire arm not registered with the Post Provost Marshal.

STAR HALFBACK
—2-Lt. Ken Brown

Oregon State Star In Doughboy Lineup

The School Brigade's Special Services Officer has a backfield and went into a kick formation and attempted a field goal. They kicked, but the boot Kenneth B. Brown, former outstanding football and track star for Oregon State College, Ore., who he starred in both football and track, and captained both teams his senior year.

Upon graduation from high school, Brown enrolled in Oregon State College, at Corvallis, where he was a three year varsity letterman on the football team, and a two year letterman on the track team. In his first college football game against Williams University, he scored 15 points.

When asked his most thrilling game, Lt. Brown says, "It was during my junior year that we played Michigan State. We were tied 14-14, with two seconds of playing time left. Michigan came out of the huddle and went into a kick formation and attempted a field goal. They kicked, but the boot Kenneth B. Brown, former outstanding football and track star for Oregon State College, Ore., who he starred in both football and track, and captained both teams his senior year.

Brown then booted his way over for the score.

Quarterback Jim Matthews extra point after the TD tied the score at 7-7.

Late in the second quarter the Doughboys picked up two more markers. With Bob Downing, Larry Gressette and Ken Brown doing most of the carrying the Doughboys moved the ball to the Farris Island 22 yard line where a Matthews to Sawchik pass play took up another score. Matthews converted and the Main Post team moved out in front, 14-7.

Brown Scampers for Score

Just before the half, halfback Ken Brown intercepted a Marino pass and scooted 88 yards down the sideline for another Doughboy score. Matthews missed the extra point at half-time, 20-7.

Late in the third quarter the Marines scored on a "break play" a fumble in the Farris Island backfield was picked up by Paul Schaeble who raced 48 yards for the score. The Doughboys thought the ball was dead but found out much to their chagrin that the whistle had not blown.

With the score now 20-14, the Main Post man came back with Freddy Hollett scampering 17 yards for the final score of the game. Matthews' conversion made the score, 27-14.

The passing combination of Jim Matthews, a converted fullback, doing the tossing and big Lou Sawchik on the receiving end was one of many highlights as far as the Doughboys were concerned. Matthews completed 10 out of 13 passes and looked very good at the quarterback position. Sawchik caught the majority of his passes.

Brown along with assistant coach, Tony Scala, was well pleased with the line play of Arnie Oshorn, Dale Stamp, Neil Lewry, Herbert Jones, Radford Hamilton and Bennett Avery.

"This definitely was a team victory with our line playing a big part," said Coach Scala.

Hoerning Injured

Bob Hoerning, outstanding halfback from St. Norbert's college in Wisconsin, sustained the only real injury scored in the contest. Hoerning pulled a ligament in his left knee and is feared to be sidelined for four to six weeks.

JCOC Begins Here Oct. 9

The mobile, combat ready Army will be shown to approximately 81 of the nation's leading business and professional men attending the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference No. 23 here Oct. 9 to 12.

Outstanding civilian leaders from throughout the U.S. have been invited by the Department of Defense to view the Army phase of JCOC at the Infantry School.

Show Techniques

A full schedule, geared to show how big dollars spent in the country's defense and demonstrate the Army's improved combat techniques and equipment, has been planned for the conference, who arrive at noon Oct. 9.

The group will lunch at Hq. & Hq. Co. of the School Brigade and then attend a formal reception and dinner at 7 p.m. Oct. 9.

Wednesday the JCOC's will be welcomed by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry School commandant and Army host for the conference.

At 8:35 a.m. they will proceed to a demonstration by the Infantry School's Airborne Army Aviation Department featuring paratrooper and Army aircraft exhibitions.

Following lunch, the group will observe the firing of standard Infantry weapons on Footing Range. The conference then will be given the opportunity to take a busy sea ride, a simulated parachute jump from the Albatross — Army Aviation Department's 500th training tower.

An official dinner and reception in the Main Dining Center will be held at 7 that evening.

Thursday's itinerary includes an orientation on Infantry officer, candidate, training and visits to a series of problems displaying artillery, armor weapons, Infantry tank team in attack, supporting fires and the reinforced rifle company in defense.

The JCOC's will eat lunch and supper in the field with the troops Thursday. The group will depart from Lawson Army Air Field at 9 a.m. Friday.

Post C.G. Returns From Washington

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commandant of the Infantry School and conference host, returned to the post Sept. 19 following three weeks' absence in Washington, D. C. During Gen. Powell's absence, Major Gen. George M. Lytle, 1st Infantry Division, commandant, served as Infantry Center commandant.

ARRIVES ON POST

Major Gen. William A. McCallan of Ft. McPherson, Ga., chief of the 1st Army Machine Records Unit, arrived on post Sept. 24 for a three-day visit to the Infantry School.

He conferred with Infantry Center Adjutant General's Section officers on the preparation of reports, statistics and the coordination of statistical and accounting activities.

Drive Carefully, Save That Child

A young boy got off a school bus on the reservation last week, and ran across the street, eager to get home to play. This little boy didn't survive, however. He was struck down by an automobile which had passed the stopped school bus.

The lad was taken to the hospital, treated for fractures, lacerations and abrasions on his head and chest released. He may be recovering, but he will never walk again. BUT HE VERY WELL COULD HAVE BEEN.

For the last month or so it has been established that when the beginning school year, motorists should watch for school children and buses. It has been consistently stated that to pass a stopped school bus is unlawful and dangerous.

The Infantry Center Traffic Headquarters, dated June 11, 1954, was very specific on this point. Article 42 of these regulations, entitled "Passing School Buses," states:

"The punishment which the Provost Marshal's Office hands out for violations of this nature is a permanent revocation of license to drive on the reservation. In the case of military personnel, unit commanders can take any appropriate action they see fit."

The state of Georgia also has a law to this effect, and the violation is a misdemeanor, punishable by a $100 fine, 15 months in jail, or both. It is in a camp, set up in the school zone, to watch for the violation of this law. This is the regulation. It seems that everyone should know it, without having to spell it out. There is hardly a state in the United States

Preventive Hygiene

Dental Program Begins on Post

BY JULIA BRUNNKE

A new preventive dental health program, believed to be the first such program established at a military installation, is underway at Ft. Benning.

The Executive Committee of the Post Community Activities Association Fund has approved funds for the support of the program designed for the dental children through the age of 18.

The preventive program will be under the direction of Col. Clyde D. Calman, dental surgeon, and will be supervised by Lt. Col. Van K. Frowine, assigned to the Dental Detachment.

A dental hygienist and a dental assistant have been employed by the community fund Executive Committee to begin work on the project.

Purpose of the new program is to supply both long-range and short-range measures for prevention and control of dental diseases, to follow up the advantage of informal instruction with the children in the schools, to provide a sufficient flexible program that can be integrated with any health education program the Children's Schools may adopt and to provide a coordinating measure to insure best use of the existing dental services.

Need Apparent

Last spring 1,611 school youngsters in the Children's Schools were examined in a survey. From the information obtained it was estimated that 10 dentists working full time for 38 weeks would be required to complete and maintain for one year only the dental care needed for these children. The need for a preventive dental health program was apparent according to the study, said Col. Calman.

The project will begin with youngsters in the Children's Schools since they are most readily available. Working in cooperation with school officials and teachers, the dental hygienist will divide her activities into four major sections.

The first and basic step is the professional area. Space at the schools will be arranged so that the greatest use can be made of preliminary examinations and evaluations. A dental record for each child will be maintained using a standard dental examination form.

Special emphasis will be placed on topical application of a solution of sodium fluoride for its many children as possible. This is a protective measure of particular value because of the transient status of military personnel, according to Col. Frowine. Whether on post for long or short term, this measure will help all the children, he added.

Miss Sue Farm

Permission forms will be distributed to parents through the survey. From the information obtained it was estimated that 10 dentists working full time for 38 weeks would be required to complete and maintain for one year only the dental care needed for these children. The need for a preventive dental health program was apparent according to the study, said Col. Calman.

Drive Ends Oct. 20

Total contributions in the 1956 community fund drive on post rose to $75,000 this week, with only 23 more days to go before the campaign closes on Oct. 20.

According to Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, drive chairman, organizations on post, as well as benefit from the funds raised. Based on requests received by the campaign chairman, Col. Grimes said, the funds are disbursed to the different organizations. Last year seven Ft. Benning organizations received money to help carry out their programs.

The Parent-Teacher Association used part of its funds for a reading club. Para a reading specialist, Dr. A. Stetson of the University of Mississippi, and part of the funds to the purchase of items such as special texts and an encyclopedia needed to supplement instructional materials already on hand.

Copter Makes Mercy Flight

An H-19 helicopter from the 37th Medical Ambulance Detachment Sept. 20 evacuated a wounded Air Force soldier in LaGrange, Ga. to the post hospital.

The wounded man, Sgt. John R. Allen of LaGrange, recovered from his wounds, according to hospital officials. He had been in serious condition upon arrival at the Infantry Center hospital.

On leave at home in LaGrange while en route from McGuire Air Force Base near Camden, N. J. to Hunter Air Force Base, Fla., Sgt. Allen was "flashed" to the LaGrange hospital because his condition would not permit movement to the post hospital.

The evacuation marked the 17th in two weeks by the H-19 in 1956. On Sept. 18 an H-19 was employed to evacuate three post soldiers who had been injured in an automobile accident near LaGrange.

Flying the mercy ship for Sgt. Allen was Capt. G. W. Allen, commander of the detachment. He was accompanied by 1st Lt. Jack C. Sullivan, post chaplain, and Capt. W. S. Thomas, Jr., detachment sergeant, co-pilot.

Dramatic Production Set for Post Tonight

The Informative Group of Columbus will present a four-part production called "Dramatic Expression From Childhood To Profession" in the Main Theater at 8:30 tonight. The production will be staged and directed by Leo Kohn of Columbus, with assistance from Mr. Benton R. Duckworth, head of the post dramatic school for children; Dean West, Infantry Center entertainment director; and Mrs. W. O. Langley, Dramatics Club adviser at Central High School in Phenix City.

The third section of the production, in which post personnel are featured, comes when Dean West presents excerpts from his coming three act Broadway comedy, "The Milky Way".

The first part of the program will be the children's portion featuring three of Mrs. Duckworth's daughters and Gail Snodgrass, daughter of Major Richard Snodgrass assigned to the Advanced Airborne Training Center.

Included in this part of the program are "Creations," a recitation by Claudia Duckworth; "The Goblins," verse chair by Gail Snodgrass and Candy

Post Opens Driving Range

The Infantry School's Automotive Department has officially opened its new driver training range at Ft. Benning. The course was opened Sept. 21 by Brig. Gen. Robert E. Cook, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, who cut the tape across the entrance to the site.

The range was planned and established in six weeks by Major James H. Noonan, Jr., chief of the Automotive Department. Officers and qualified men taking the courses are trained to establish similar testing ranges in their own units.

After the opening ceremony, Gen. Cook was conducted on a tour over the new range.

Originally in the Torch Hill area, the new range was constructed in the Dixie Road area making it more convenient and accessible for Automotive Department operations. Gen. Cook congratulated the three men on their ingenuity and initiative in constructing the driving range.

Our obligation as citizens is to vote intelligently. Obligation is a two-way street. The men we vote for also have obligations.

The elected official is obliged to serve all the people in his district, not just the people who voted for him nor a particular group of voters.

In trying to represent all the people, the honest official has a tough job. He may assume that, by electing him, the people endorsed his campaign plan. But, what else do the people expect of him? Here the obligation again becomes a two-way street.

As citizens, it is our right and our duty to inform our representatives how we feel on public issues. As servicemen, we are free to do this in all matters except legislation affecting the military.

Federal law and Armed Forces regulations forbid us from engaging in politics. But they certainly do not prohibit us from expressing ourselves on all non-military matters. In fact, as free citizens we should do so. (APFS)

Lawson Air Field Gets New Unit

First Aviation Company Arrives At Benning Last Week for Duty

Lawson Army Air Field Command welcomed a new unit last week as elements of the 1st Aviation Co. arrived here by plane and motor convoy.

The first group of the company's U-1A Otters landed safely last Saturday following a 1250 mile flight from Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., where the unit had been on temporary duty. Making the trip was the first flight of planes was the company's mascot, a pet burro which the unit had procured in Arizona. Although this was the burro's longest "hop," he didn't get air sickness, according to 1st Lt. Donald Melton, in whose ship the burro was transported.

Other contingents of "Otters" were flown in by pilots of the unit on Sunday and Monday. The unit commander, Maj. Jerome B. Feldt arrived by Otter on Thursday, and, on Friday, a motor convoy bearing the bulk of the unit's enlisted men and its organizational equipment reached the post.

Organized at Riley, Kan., on June 1, 1955, the organization was redesignated the "First" in August of this year. The unit was designed for transporting troops and cargo within combat zones. The U-1A Otter with which the unit is equipped is the first plane of its type to be utilized by the Army. It is a single-engine, fixed-wing aircraft capable of transporting one or one-and-a-half tons of equipment along with its normal crew of two persons.

Manufactured by the De Havilland Company of Toronto, Canada, the Otter has a cruising speed of 40-125 knots per hour and is now the largest fixed-wing plane in use at Benning.

With a full complement of 21 of the U-1A's and an authorized strength of 45 officers, one warrant officer and 61 enlisted men, the "First" is capable of adding tremendous flexibility to combat operations. Here, the unit will support tactical training activities performed by the Infantry School.

Won National Fame
The "First" won national recognition in July of this year when it was called upon to assist in recovery operations at the site of the TWA-1 disaster in Grand Canyon.

New Artillery Weapon Sent To Post Unit

The use of large engines and the sight of tank treads no longer means that the armor is coming.

Among seasoned artillery men, members of B Battery 23rd FA Bn., there were no ill-fated eyebrows when six tank-like objects rolled onto the training field last week. The unit was not being converted into a tank outfit.

The heavy armored vehicles were M52s, huge, gangling tanks that encase a 160mm howitzer. These vehicles, built as a modified M4 tank chassis, are the latest addition to the Army's concept of mobility with ease for all branches of the service, including artillery.

The M52s can be fired and re-located in a matter of seconds, allowing a potential enemy little or no time in determining the weapons position. In addition, the new howitzers have a completely enclosed design for protecting the crew from enemy small arms

WHAT IS IT—ARTILLERY OR ARMOR?
... New M52 Combines Characteristics of Both
Infantry soldiers will also benefit from this armor shell that enables artillery firing batteries to operate much closer to front positions in support of advancing assault troops.

Unlike standard tanks, the self-propelled howitzer M52s have their engines located in front of the turret which encloses the howitzer and its operating mechanism.

RECEIVES GROUP HONORS . . . SEC William B. Echard, H & S Co., 78th Engineer Bn., has been chosen as NCO of the Month for the 151st Engineer Group. Col. Julian V. Sollohub, commanding officer of the Group, is shown presenting Sgt. Echard with the award.

Radio Executive Sees Big Area Population Growth

The Chattahoochee River development is a sound investment and will benefit all. James W. Woodruff Jr., of Columbus, held the Armed Forces Management Association members Sept. 18.

This development will bring great benefits to three great states—Alabama, Georgia and Florida. Mr. Woodruff, president and general manager of WRBL-TV, said, "Everybody will feel the economic gains. An inland waterway should not be in a much higher population bracket."

He pointed out that Houston, Tex., had a phenomenal population growth following its inland waterway. Since 1910, he added, the population doubled in the last three census.

Resolves Prediction
Mr. Woodruff restated a prediction he made earlier in the year that the metropolitan population of Columbus by 1975 will be between 350,000 to 375,000.

"And I'm being very conservative," he added.

When questioned about the boundary dispute between Alabama and Georgia, he replied that there will be an amicable solution because the river is a sound investment and it will benefit all.

Included six Dams
The original plans of the Chattahoochee River presented in 1938 to Congress included six dams. The war in Europe, however, caused Congress to veto the plans. Further opponents were stalemated until 1946 when Congress authorized $22 million dollars to build four dams, he explained.

LEAVE FOR CALIFORNIA
Four pilots of Lawson Army Air Field Command departed by commercial air line last Friday for Santa Monica, Calif. The group will ferry back to Ft. Rucker, Ala., four L-19 light airplanes. The crafts will be used in training purposes at The Army Aviation School. Making the trip to California were 1st Lt. Kenneth E. McMurry, 1st Lt. Kenneth E. Smouse, 1st Lt. Malcolm Holmes and 2nd Lt. Ernest Woods.

Community Fund Drive

The Chaplain Christmas Parties of the 3rd Inf. Div. sponsored its own Christmas party in which approximately 1,200 to 1,500 children of the division personnel benefited.

Benefits Youth Club

Receiving part of its funds from the community campaign, the Youth Activities Club is responsible for dependent children's groups and activities such as Boy and Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, baseball, basketball, swimming, Junior High Rifle Association, and playground programs.

Another project aided by the 3rd Division is the Fourth of July Celebration. Activities and programs for the day, ending in the evening with a fireworks display, is an annual event as well as a safety plan. Part goes for Welfare.

Two Army welfare agencies receive an allocation to give emergency assistance. The Welfare Nurses Travel and Salaries Fund provides for the only visiting nurse service for the post. Serving primarily as an emergency financial agency, the Army Emergency Relief office offers assistance quickly in unexpected times of need and distress.

Along with the distribution of funds already mentioned a portion is set aside each year for office expenses as well as a reserve amount for campaign expenses.

Dental Program Aided

This year the new preventive dental health program program has been added to the Funds will be used to employ a dental hygienist and a dental assistant to get this vital plan into operation.

Funds from the Ft. Benning drive are also allotted to local organizations in the total community welfare effort. A large number of military personnel are included in local programs and services.

The organizations which received funds last year were United Officers, similar in plan to the Community Activities Association Fund, the American Red Cross, the March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, the Georgia Association for Retarded Children, and the Heart Association. The last four groups help in the national study and research of these respective areas as well as assist with individual patients and problems at the local level.

Digest

In his letter Gen. Mayo stated:

Progress in Planning

"As we progress in our planning for future issues of the Digest, the chief of staff feels I should approach you directly for specific articles, outlining the scope and desired features, giving you as much advance notice as possible.

"In the interim, you are invited to submit articles of your own accord which stress forward-looking, progressive operations of your command. Such articles must be timely, and I will obtain necessary Department of the Army

Sgt to Exchange Stripes for Bar

M- Sgt. John B. Reese of Fortson, Ga., first sergeant of the School Brigade's 2nd Co., soon will exchange his stripes for the gold bars of a second lieutenant.

Recommended by his battalion commander for a direct commission in the Army Reserve last year, Reese was selected after appearing before a board of officers. In July he applied for a four-year active duty as an officer.

"I hope to make the Army a career," Reese said. He is a veteran of seven years' service.

On Nov. 3 he will report to the Artillery School at Ft. Sill, Okla., to attend the basic officers course.

Civilian Wins $300 Post Incentive Award

Incentive award suggestions adopted at The Infantry Center during the 1956 fiscal year saved $148,000, Col. Earl F. Klink depicted post commander, said Sept. 21.

In presenting nine outstanding job performances and suggestions awards, Col. Klink noted that 244 ideas to effect dollar savings have been submitted. The Incentive Awards Committee since January and $5 were adopted.

M- Sgt. James C. Smith, Range, Central Post, presented a Letter of Commendation for proposing a better and more economical method of assembling target frames. His idea will save $707.82 a year.

A Suggestion Award Certificate was presented by Captain B. Deane to a civilian, Mr. J. W. Jones, for suggesting that a chart be attached to the target frames which will furnish location of supplies.

M- Sgt. John W. Minick, The Infantry School's Airborne Army Aviation Department, received a Letter of Commendation for proposing a better and more economical method of assembling target frames. His idea will save $707.82 a year.

A Suggestion Award Certificate was presented by Captain B. Deane to a civilian, Mr. J. W. Jones, for suggesting that a chart be attached to the target frames which will furnish location of supplies.

Dental

The hygienist will work closely with teachers. She will provide a source of information which will be easily available. Her duties will include meeting with teachers to coordinate method and materials more effectively.

The instructional part of the preventive plan will include toothbrushing, nutrition and general dental care to establish preventive habits and practices that will benefit the children. Talks with parent-teacher groups as requested will be arranged in cooperation with school authorities.

The administrative area covers the office operations such as recording and filing forms, tabulation of data and maintaining clinical records.

Starts Next Week

If plans go according to schedule, the project will start in Fort schools next week, beginning at Faith school, officials said. Reaching each child with preventive information at his own level is a basic working principle, advised Col. Brown.

Col. Outman explained that the size of Ft. Benning use this type of preventive program. However, the project here is believed to be the only program of its kind on a military post, he said.

He added that this plan utilizes the latest methods and ideas for prevention and control of dental diseases.

New Army Still Has Vestiges of the 'Old'

Those who think the "new" Army has eliminated the "old" vestiges of the past, should talk to the cooks at Co. G, 1st Infantry, at Ft. Benning, Ga. They rise in the pre-dawn darkness every day to start coal fires in their three No. 5 Army Ranges. If the coals are not glowing by 5:30 a.m., hungry soldiers will not get their breakfast at 6 a.m.

The mess at Co. G is one of the few at Benning which still uses coal ranges for cooking all food served at the mess.

"Members of the company agree that the food is excellent. Delicious roasts, steaks and fried chicken come off the stoves. The items most applauded by the men who eat there are the superior pie, cakes, rolls and biscuits turned out by the joint efforts of the cooks and the range."

Mess Officer Lt. L. J. Pack of Alvarito, Ky., supervises the operation of the mess, assisted by Mess-Sergeant, SFC Albert Mancus of Columbus, Ga., and Assistant Mess-Sergeant, SFC Gordon H. King of Deland, Fla.

SFC King says, "It isn't because we haven't asked for gas stoves that we are still using these. Of course we have good cooks so the food is always good. But the No. 5 ranges are really hot in the summer. With three of them going all day, we could heat a convention hall in Siberia in winter. You can imagine what this little mess hall is like in Georgia in August."

Post Visited By Wyman

Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commander of Continental Army Command headquarters, Ft. Monroe, Va., visited the Infantry Center Sept. 24 to confer with officials of CONARC Psychological Research Associates located on post.

He was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Frederick W. Gibb, who will head the Army's new Combat Development Test and Experimentation Center in the Ft. Ord-Hunter Liggett Reservation area of California.

Designed to test new concepts and theories of modern warfare, the center is expected to open Nov. 15. The California testing plant, to be known as TEC, will permit extensive experimentation in one location, whereas previously the Army utilized widely scattered areas for such tests.

Student Was Ike's Escort In Italy

An Allied officer currently studying at The Infantry Center was the official escort for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, then Supreme Allied Commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), during a field problem conducted by the Italian 7th Infantry Regiment, Udine, Italy, in July of 1951.

He is Capt. Alberto Giacinti, a student officer in the 7th Co., 1st Student Bn., TSF.

The incident took place when his regiment, supported by air and tank units, simulated an attack. He says "many NATO officers and newsmen were present. Gen. Eisenhower had lunch with us in the field, and remained for tea in the afternoon."

Capt. Giacinti's prize possession is a picture taken of the general and himself. He says he is "proud to get in the general's, 'He is one fine officer and gentleman. He talked with the lowest ranking privates as well as the officers. One corporal was so taken with Gen. Eisenhower that he took off his regimental insignia and pinned it on the general's blouse.'"

Asked what impressed him most about the United States, he says "your own high ways and your well organized traffic is just too good to be true. It must indeed be a pleasure to drive one's own car through your country."

Army Lands Unit On Pike's Peak With Helicopter

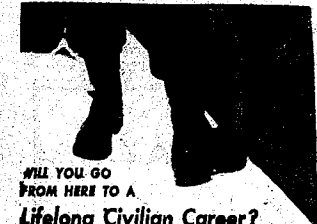

FT. CARSON, Colo. (UP)—The Army disclosed last week it had flown a platoon of combat-equipped infantry troops in helicopters to the top of 14,100-foot Pikes Peak and landed there in a record-setting military operation.

A spokesman said it was the highest altitude to which combat troops ever had been flown by helicopter or any other aircraft and proved "that we can put infantry any place in the world."

The flight, carried out by six Sikorsky H34 helicopters, involved a total of approximately 40 ground troops, all of them volunteers from Ft. Riley, Kan.

The unit, a composite rifle platoon numbering three squads each including a light machine gun and a Browning automatic rifleman, was flown to the top of the peak from its military post near its base.

Registration Underway At U. of Georgia Center

The Columbia Center of the University of Georgia began its tenth year on Sept. 26, when registration for the Fall Semester, 1956, got underway.

Classes this year will be conducted on Monday and Tuesday evenings at Jordan High School and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Jordan High School. It was recently announced by Louis C. Alderman, director of the University Center.

Registration which began Sept. 24 continues through today, with late registration going on until Oct. 4. A late registration fee of five dollars for the first day and two dollars for each day thereafter will be charged for any registration after today.

Registration is being conducted at Better High School from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Classes will begin Oct. 1 and end Dec. 18. The University reserves the right to cancel courses for which fewer than 12 students register or if an approved instructor is not available.

Admission applications must be accompanied by an official transcript from the last school attended, either high school or college. Students from other institutions who desire to attend one session only will be admitted upon certificate from their dean or registrar.

Tuition and fees are payable upon registration. The matriculation fee is $50 per quarter hour. Registration fee of $1.00 is not refundable. Chance of course fee of $2.00 is charged after registration date. No student is considered to be registered until all tuition and fees have been received. The U. of Georgia will pay 75 per cent of the tuition fee for military personnel who do not possess military post near its base.

"Some cows do not have horns until later in life. Others have them removed, while still other breeds are born without horns. This cow does not have horns because it is a horse."

Catches Snakes

GI Follows His Hobby In Rangers

Snakes don't appeal to most people, but catching them is the hobby of SP-3 Murray Bee of Ft. & Co. TSF.

"A snake can strike only if it is coiled," he says. "To catch him, you poke him with a long stick or throw a rock to uncoil him."

After the reptile is uncoiled, place a stick across him so he is unable to coil again. Then pick him up by grasping him just behind the head.

"Once in your hand, he is harmless," explains Bee.

He started his hobby in 1947, while stationed in California, and since coming here in 1953, he has been an IDY with the Rangers and has had an opportunity to catch many snakes.

"Most of them are harmless," he says. "There are quite a few rattlers, water moccasins, and copper heads. I don't mess with the coral snakes. They're too tricky."

SP-3 Bee has proof that snakes are less dangerous than wildcats. Once he came across several wildcat kittens. They looked so cute he picked one of them up, much to his sorrow. The hospital dressed his wounds and gave him advice to prevent rabies.

"I'd rather handle a rattlesnake," Bee maintains.

Bee entered the Army in Nov. 1943 and spent some time in the European Theater with a port company. He went directly from the ETO to the Philippines and later to Guam.

In 1950 he went to Japan and was shipped to Korea at the outbreak of hostilities. He served 15 months in combat with the 25th Division.

He claims Corona, Long Island, N. Y., as his home.

Marjie, lives with him at 432 2nd Ave. in Columbus.

"Was he trying to catch the train?" the agent asked a small boy.

"He DID catch it," the boy answered. "But it got away from him again."

RCT Tanks Perform for TIS

Like the old-time magician, the modern rifeman can get the help of towers beyond his own. In a tight situation he can call on an armored giant—the tank.

punch, the M-48 tanks, such as those operated by the 714th, can be "big" backbone in a steamroller assault. Or, on the defensive, they can wall up holes in a battered main line of resistance.

Clear Out Enemy

Sounds of foot soldiers, pinned down by enemy fire, can call on the "big" giant for supporting fire to clear out the enemy and open up a path.

The officer in turn helps his giant friend by seeing as the tanks' "soul eye," when all the hatches are closed and the tank's field of vision is at a minimum. A telephone is located on the back of every tank and is used by the infantryman to direct the tank's path of movement and fire.

The four-man crew of the M-48 consists of a driver, loader, gunner, and commander. Every man must be able to take over any other job within the tank.

Has 2 Machine Guns

A 50 cal. machine gun on top of the turret can be manned when the tank's mission allows it to operate with the hatches opened. A 30 cal. machine gun is located beside the big 90 mm. gun, and may be used while the tank is buttoned up.

The 714th is one of two post units scheduled for "Gyro-scope" rotation next March. The unit's destination is Wunburg, Germany. Located in Harmony Church at present, the 714th supports the Infantry School on all armored problems.

The battalion was born out of World War II in 1942. It participated in heavy combat in the Ardennes-Alsace when the Rhineland and Central Europe to the end of the war in 1945. The battalion was reconstituted at the outbreak of the Korean War and served with such units as the 82nd Airborne Division.

The 714th participated in such operations as "Exercise Snowstorm" in New York, and the more recent "Exercise Sagebrush."

The chief of the Georgia Military District presented commissions to 28 new second lieutenants in ceremonies at the Main Theater. He is introduced by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of the Infantry School.

Second Lt. Richard D. Ward of Reynoldsville, Pa., was honor graduate of the class. Run-up was 2nd Lt. Donald L. Miller of New York City.

Trained with the 3rd Co., 4th Bn. of the School Brigade, 60 of the recruits will receive special assignments with the unit upon completion of the eight-week instruction.

Highest rifle scorers will be selected to make up this select group; Capt. Jefferson D. McCullen of Jackson, Miss., said.

The remainder of the trainees will receive assignments from the Department of the Army, he added.

In addition to the experimental training, the group also are being instructed in dismounted drill, military courtesy and other basic subjects.

TOM WIERZBICKI 'Brat' Impresses Many Doubters

"Live and learn," is a truism that undoubtedly the majority of us have had to experience in order to find something to be troubling. I've often been called a "doubting Thomas" at various occasions and probably I deserved it. One incident I can think of off hand is that I have to be shown that my hometown favorites the Milwaukee Braves will not win the National League pennant. I believe in being realistic about these things and to say that the Bums from Dodgerville will win. I Never.

It doesn't always pay to be a "doubting Thomas." The football game played at Doughboy Stadium last Sunday is a good example of what I mean.

I don't know how other fans feel about it but I have always said that the All-American tab put on football players is just a little over-rated.

I'll agree to a certain extent on some of the choices throughout the years but what gets me riled up is that every conference, be it Southeastern, Southwestern, West Coast, Midwest or what have you, seems to pick their own All-American team. Sometimes when you get a little time, scan through the "teams" picked by the leading magazines. Note the changes which are found in the supposed "top eleven players of the year."

TOM EATS HIS WORDS

With regard to the game between the 3rd Division Rockets and the Eglin Goshawks, I am forced to eat my words on All-American football players.

Previous to the game I had seen Jim Dooley and Max McGee in action. Being from the Midwest, I saw Dooley when he played for the Chicago Bears and caught McGee on numerous occasions when he performed for the Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee.

However, I had never had the pleasure of seeing Zeke Bratkowski in action, although I had heard of him. The "Brat" led the nation in yards gained passing in 1952 and holds the Southeastern Conference 10-and-11 game passing records.

I must admit that I had never taken cognizance of the All-American unit he signed with the Chicago Bears.

After last Sunday's performance Bratkowski ranks high on my list of passing wizards. (His nationality has nothing to do with it). The passing of the former captain of the Georgia Bulldogs was really worth the two-bits it cost to get into the game Sunday.

'BRAT' DID IT ALL

All the touchdowns stored by the "Brat" throwing arm. The first three scores came on long passes to former University of Miami star, Jim Dooley. The Green Wave flash from Tulane, Max McGee played the major part in setting up the final score for the Goshawks as he pulled down a pass from Bratkowski.

It seemed that the only name the public address announcer Ed Snyder, an announcer from WDAK was voicing was that of Zeke Bratkowski.

Up in the press box I had the extreme pleasure of sitting next to Mary Snyder, the wife of the announcer. When the "Brat" started to unlimber his passing arm and found his willing receivers, Mrs. Snyder turned to me and said, "Can't they stop those passes? They (Eglin) have two men open all the time."

I just shook my head and said, "Don't y'all know the passer and the ends are All-Americans?"

It was just about that time after I spouted out those words that I realized that I was seeing some REAL All-Americans in action.

"Live and Learn" I always say. I was talking to Lt. Col. John Sparks, the Head Coach of the Eglin Goshawks after the game and he was pretty well pleased with his boys performance that afternoon. I warned him that we'll be playing them again up at Eglin Nov. 2 with the Stiffneck team. He just smiled and said, "We'll be ready for y'all."

Rockets Lose To Fliers

Brat Leads Eglin Team To Victory

SLIPPERY PIGSKIN . . . Ray Byrd, fullback for the 3rd Division "Marne Rockets", drops a short pass thrown by Gene Hanson, Rocket ace quarterback. The Marne men lost their second straight game of the current season, this time to Eglin Air Force Base, 27-13.

Doughboys Invade Post Seeking Second Victory

With a season opener victory under their belts, the Main Post Doughboys will be out to seek another win this time against Ft. Polk Saturday night (Sept. 29) in Louisiana.

The Doughboys will journey to Alexandria minus two regulars who were injured in the 27-13 victory over the Paris Island Marines.

Pete Wins First Match In All-Army Boxing Meet

Winners of the Third Army Boxing Tournament, who trained last week at Ft. Benning, departed Sept. 21 for Ft. Myer, Va., the site of this year's All-Army Boxing Tournament, which began Sept. 24. Accompanying the 10-man squad were Capt. James J. Boyle, officer in charge, and Lt. Pete Rodenucher, Ft. Benning boxer, knocked out Glennie Turner at Ft. Myer Monday night, in the third round of their best. Guy Fabric, of Benning, won a decision over Melvin Roy, of Sixth Army, in a midweight scrap. Welterweight Howard Moore, of Ft. Bragg, lost a decision to James Wakefield, of the European Command school of light on Wednesday. Welterweight, Don Williams, of Benning, who was to face Ed Crook, former Benning boxer, who now fights for the U. S. Army in Europe. Jim Boyd, Benning light heavyweight, was to meet Roscoe Elliot, representing the U. S. Army Far East, and former Third Army fighter, when Boyd fought in his very first boxing bout.

M. Sgt. Gunner Lowenstein, team coach, both of Ft. Bragg, N. C., and Sgt. Regis Blair of Benning, trainers. The Third Army representatives departed for Atlanta, Ga., via bus and flew to Washington, D. C. A few workouts were scheduled.

Station WFBS To Carry Games

Patients at the Ft. Benning Hospital have a new treat in store for them. An announcement by Murray Ponderton, station manager of WFBS, the hospital's radio station, disclosed that all home football games of both the Main Post Doughboys and the Third Infantry Division Marne Rockets will be broadcast by WFBS. The play-by-play will be done by either SPS Jim Duncan, WFBS program director, or by Murray Ponderton.

The first game scheduled for broadcast is Oct. 6 when the Main Post Doughboys tangle with the Bolling Air Force Generals, one of the leading powerhouses in service football. The game is slated for 2 p.m.

Zeke Bratkowski, former passing star of the University of Georgia Bulldogs, teamed with Jim Dooley and Max McGee, two extra ends, to put on a passing show of "excellence" leading the Goshawks of Eglin Air Force Base to a needed 27-13 victory over the Marne Rockets from the 3rd Inf. Div.

The contest, played at Ft. Benning's Gowdy Field, attracted an estimated 3500 fans who braved threatening weather to come out and see the ex-Georgia ace in action.

And watch the "Brat," they did . . . Time after time Bratkowski found his two ends in the clear. Jim Dooley, former All-American at University of Miami and star of the Chicago Bears, set up two Goshawk touchdowns on passes from Bratkowski and managed to score one himself. Max McGee, former star halfback at Tulane, Louisiana, used his Green Bay Packer player, set up one touchdown with a pass from Bratkowski and managed to pass that set up a lot of yardage.

Season's Opener—Playing their first game of the season the Airmen from Eglin scored the first time they got the ball. Six minutes into the game the Goshawks hit Dooley on the sideline for 20 yards. With the halfback Chris, former Omaha University star, batted his way over for the score. Bill Patterson's try for the extra point was no good but an offside penalty on the Rockets gave him another chance. On the second attempt Patterson split the uprights to make it 7-0.

The Rockets bounced right back into the game, thanks to a 35-yard punt down the sideline by halfback Dave Rogers, former Indiana University star, who gave the Rockets the ball on the 18-yard line. While the Rockets were temporarily out of the game, a three-minute penalty on the line helped setup a first down and goal to go situation. On the fourth down and with inches to go, halfback Billy Wilson shot through for the tally. Joe Goodwin's try for the extra point was no good and the score remained, 7-6.

Winning Combination—In the second quarter, the Bratkowski-Dooley combination paid off on more as the Main Post Doughboys won 13-7.

"Can I say the kid was anything else but great," voiced Ingram, "when he completes 70 out of 13 attempts?"

Post Pistoleers To Enter Shoot

The U. S. Army Pistol Team will swing into action this week in their best competitive match since the recent National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, in the Army Hand Gun Pistol Championships at Atlanta, Sept. 24-28. In the Atlanta meet Army pistol shooters will be among some 150 competitors in the three-day tournament which includes 16 individual and four team matches. The Army is sending seven shooters to the meet including Lt. Col. William A. Hancock who fired on the U. S. Army team, which won the 22 caliber Team Championship at Camp Perry, and Maj. Ben C. Curtis who placed third in the National Individual Championship there.

The next home game for the Main Post team will be Saturday Oct. 6 against the powerful Bolling Air Force team. Bolling will bring such all-powerhouses in Johnny L. Lister, Ralph Guglielmo, Chas. Hanulak and Billy Reynolds to Doughboy stadium.

Doughboy Lineup Shows Strong Starters

The return of eight of last year's starters, along with several fine newcomers, gives promise to a strong starting eleven for the 1956 Main Post Doughboys. Reserve strength is lacking, however, so the Doughboys will have to depend on their first team to go all the way.

The 1956 Main Post Doughboys . . . First row, left to right, Dick Ohl, Vince Donato, Charles

Outstanding newcomers are: Bob Hoerning (St. Norbert, Wisconsin) and Ken Clark (Pera State).

ONLY FISH . . . Sgt. William Ford, proudly displays a six-inch cracker, the only fish caught during a nine hour period at Ft. Benning's Patterson Pond. Approximately 350 members of the Fish and Game Association were present Saturday to pick up all the free fish that were in the pond. The pond, three and one half acres and eight and one half feet at the deepest part, was drained to get out all sucker fish.

OUR NEW HOUSE

WOW — it roared of his town — a yard to play in — plus a place to keep a dog! No wonder our artist was so excited about his family's new house. Home ownership is one of the big things in a family's life, and one of the many big dreams that will come true for you — if you invest regularly in U.S. Series E Savings Bonds.

Say you start buying a Bond a month at $37.50, 5 years from now you'll have Bonds worth over $2,300 in cash — in 9 years and 6 months, over $4,900 — enough to turn your castle-in-the-air into a modern ranch or split-level home.

So stop just dreaming about buying a house and start making that dream come true by buying U.S. Savings Bonds regularly where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

CRANE EMPLOYED . . . A 20-ton motor crane was employed by the Fish and Game Association Saturday to provide an outlet for Patterson Pond. Previously, it was planned to dynamite the pond. However, it would have taken a great deal of dynamite to make the outlet. M-Sgt. John R. Myler, chief range guard, reported. The crane dug an outlet 75 yards in length, 10 feet wide and 5 feet deep. The water was allowed to run into Ochulter Creek.

Amateur Radio

How to Become a Ham
The amateur radio operator is a man who is interested in the science of radio waves. He is interested in the theory and practice of "radio" and his hobby. The articles are prepared by the Post-Electronics Club.

BY CAPT. ROSS SHELDON
In the last column we discussed amateur radio and "hams" in general. The question first coming to mind is "How do I get to be a ham?" Well, you just don't buy a receiver and transmitter, plug them in a wall socket, string up an antenna and start operating. The Federal Communication Commission would be one of the first to talk to you; and to the tune of several thousand dollars and a prolonged stretch in jail.

Although the United States is the most liberal nation regarding who it will allow to operate a personal radio; the rules necessarily are strict. Aside from the hazard to life and limb emanating from a thousand volt piece of equipment operated by a mental chaperone; there is the danger to worldwide communication. Those inherent in a transmitter whose operator can't keep it off of other people and make noise, either by mistuning, or by "splatter" from a badly designed or operated "rig".

Even with only licensed hams on the frequencies allotted are so crowded that getting through to another station is more of a battle than trying to hear any one conversation at a time. The result of setting up sufficient hurdles to "separate the men from the boys" is to keep the number on the air within reason. Not that the exams are particularly difficult; we have talked to hams who were seven or eight years old.

Biggest hurdle is learning the code. Referred to as "CW" (continuous wave) transmission, it is a code through which "Phoo" (voice) will not pass. Reason is that the code is a language in itself. It is a series of dots and dashes, or "dots" and "dashes" as they are called. The code is a language in itself. It is a series of dots and dashes, or "dots" and "dashes" as they are called. The code is a language in itself. It is a series of dots and dashes, or "dots" and "dashes" as they are called.

Distance, static, and interference of other stations will play hob with the voice on the carrier; but the carrier itself can still be heard long after the voice itself has dribbled away. Further, this impedance (called "modulating") a voice on the carrier takes up more space in the frequencies allotted; so fewer stations can operate within a given range of frequencies.

As a result, even if you plan to operate phone only, you still must take the code examination. If you wish only a Novice or Technician License, 5 voice words per minute is the goal. For a general license, which is the standard license, you must pass a three-hour exam in Morse code examination. Neither of those subjects were considered fast. Average speed of an experienced ham is around twenty words per minute.

The second examination required for an amateur license is in radio theory and mathematics. The Novice exam is quite simple, concerned primarily with safety for the operator and his fellow operators. The Morse exam will show you how to avoid interference with other stations. The General Class examination is more difficult, going into the design of equipment in sufficient detail to insure that the ham will not interfere with a station he is not intended to be a hazard to himself and a nuisance to other stations.

Col. Belisle Named As TIS Instructor

Lt. Col. Maurice Belisle of Worcester, Mass., has assumed duties as a Technical Committee instructor in the Infantry School's Tactical Department. He was assistant to the deputy assistant commander of the Fifth Infantry Division and S-3 (plans and operations officer) of the Marine Corps. He served as a staff officer at Ft. Ord, Calif. before coming to the Infantry School. A 1944 graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Col. Belisle entered the Army in July of that year. During World War II he served 18 months with the First Infantry Division in the North African, Sicilian and Normandy campaigns. His decorations include the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

as they confer no additional privileges, having no advantage. Consequently, few hams take any license examination for more than the Novice. Next Time: What kind of Equipment?

GOOD EXAMPLE

Modern aircraft, like the Convair F-102 in the background, turn up in radical designs these days, but girls—bless 'em—have retained their traditional curves. This example of the old-fashioned girl is starlet Barbara Long, a fine example indeed!

WELCOME VISITOR

... First things first, so—vital statistics, 36-22-35. The name, if you're really interested, is MISS Nancy Barger, Detroit, Mich. Nancy was an Open House visitor at Wurtsmith AFB, Osceola, Mich., and was promptly labeled "Visitor of the Summer" by the base newspaper there. AFPS agrees—but but, how about making that "Visitor of the YEAR?"

TRAPEZE STARS... Burt Lancaster, Gina Lollobrigida, and Tony Curtis are shown as they appear in the movie "Trapeze" which opens at Theatre No. 6 in the downtown area on Sept. 27, and which will be at the Main Theatre Oct. 5-6.

Army Wins Out Over Submarines

Because SFC James F. Whoobee likes to sleep with his windows open, the Navy lost and the Army gained.

SFC Whoobee, Chief Assistant Instructor in the Communicative Studies of the Communications Department, TIS, learned to appreciate the importance of fresh air during WW II, for it was during this period the sergeant was part of the new famous submarine task force that kept the shipping lanes open for the U.S. and its allies, throughout the China Sea and the Pacific.

Along the march decorated with the USA Medal, in 1945, Whoobee was awarded the very hard-to-get submarine center's medal for action against the enemy.

During the Korean Conflict the sergeant was in the Army and served with the 2nd Regt. in Munich, Germany, as a platoon sergeant of the regiment's counterintelligence platoon. Since Dec. 1949, Whoobee has worked with Communications Department, TIS.

Asked why he didn't get back in the submarine, he replies, "Is no good for a married man, especially when he has a beautiful Alabama girl as his wife."

Officers Elected Of Scout Post 27

Harry C. McClain, Jr., 17, has been re-elected senior crew leader of the post's Explorer Post 27.

He is the son of Col. and Mrs. Harry McClain of Stenandah, Pa. Other new officers of the organization are David Feldman, 16, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Arnold H. Feldman of De Kalb, Ill., deputy senior crew leader; and Spc. Sgt. Peter 16, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Herald H. Smith of Portage, Ohio, secretary-treasurer.

Meetings of the post are held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays in the Scout Hut adjacent to Russ Pool.

Harry has been active in scouting since joining the Cub Scout nine years ago. He is an Eagle Scout and a member of the Order of the Arrow. A senior at Columbus High School, Harry also is president of Brut Barracks, post teenage club.

Ft. Benning Ends 38th Year Oct. 7

Thanks to a major and a dictionary, Ft. Benning will celebrate its 38th anniversary Saturday, Oct. 7.

An economy-minded War Department almost closed the post, as plans in abundant Camp Benning were drawn up with orders to salvage all buildings and equipment.

It was at this point that Quartermaster Corps Major John Paul Jones began to fight. With the help of Webster's Dictionary, which defines salvage as "save," the determined officer ordered all post buildings painted.

Beginning in 1918 when a young man named Coleman Wall unloaded from a mule cart enough rough lumber to construct a tool shed near the old Bussey plantation, the post grew like a mushroom until today it stands as America's most complete post and educational center for the Army's largest branch of fighters—the Infantry.

The first buildings erected on the reservation were of the wooden cantonment-type used in World War I. By 1928 practically all of these buildings had been replaced by permanent structures of steel, concrete and brick.

There were at that time approximately 1,500 buildings which included large, strictly modern barracks, houses and a 4th apartment building.

Rescue efforts were continued throughout Friday night and Saturday.

Copter Aids In Search

An H34 helicopter of the 4th Transportation Co., Lawrence Army Air Field, assisted in the search last Friday for the bodies of two men believed to have drowned in the Flint River near Thomson, Ga.

The two men, W. E. Presley, a Georgia state probation officer, and Clark Grantling, were reported to have been their lives in the rain-swollen stream last Wednesday.

Grantling was seen in the search operations after it had arrived on the scene carrying ropes and equipment of the 586th Engineer Flight Bridge Co. which had been floated in to the search.

The helicopter was piloted by WO Leonard A. Gifford of Dalton, Ga., with Capt. Robert A. Morris of Warwick, Va., as co-pilot.

Dropping the troops and equipment, the aviators then made several flights over the site in futile efforts to locate the bodies. The crew was forced to abandon the search when its gasoline supply ran low.

Pay Day Puts Fund Drive Toward Top

Pay day at Ft. Benning pushed the 187 Community Activities Association Fund drive up to $5,748.38, of 74.3 per cent of the total goal, three weeks before the closing date of the campaign.

With the drive set to end Oct. 20 this year's overall target is $12,000.

Reports through Saturday, Sept. 29 show 21 units leading with 100 per cent or more in donations, according to Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Gaines of Indianapolis, Ind., campaign chairman.

These units, their goals and percentages donated during Oct. 3: Special Troops Command, $201, 125 per cent; Staff Judge Advocate, $80, 120 per cent; Dental Detachment, $69, 115.5 per cent; Inspector General's Office, $65, 115.4 per cent; 151st Engineers, $508, 113 per cent; Assistant Commandant's Office, $45, 111.1 per cent; Administrative Department, $170, 110 per cent;

Fire Prevention to Be Emphasized At Ft. Benning During Next Week

"Don't Give Fire A Place to Start" will be echoed throughout the post during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13.

Chief Gilbert A. Ward of Waynesboro, Ga., head of the post fire department, said, "Our goal during this week is to emphasize to every person, the guard for fire hazards and their elimination at all times. On this post, during the current year, there have been a number of fires, the majority of which have been traced to carelessness from such things as discarded lit cigarettes and cigarette butts; short circuits in electrical wiring; carelessness in handling inflammable materials and children playing with matches," commented Ward.

The post fire department will sponsor a full range of lectures during the coming week including many of the following:

- Fire Prevention Lectures
- Special fire prevention lectures stressing the more common fire hazards, and demonstrations of first aid fire extinguishers will be conducted by the Fire Prevention Branch for benefit of installation personnel.
- Lectures on fire prevention will be conducted for school children, and fire trucks will be demonstrated to make the program more interesting. Special conducted tours through the Fire Prevention Museum have also been scheduled for children.

Employ Handicapped Week Observed Here

A "Key to Independence" will be the theme on post during National Employment Week, Oct. 7-13.

Throughout Benning's vast reservation can be found hundreds of military and civilian personnel, who have some disability, but who have organized this "key" successfully.

These people are today integrated parts of the working machine of the nation's Infantry Center and can be found doing outstanding jobs from any of their jobs in a highly efficient manner, asking no favors, other than the chance to do the job expected of them.

"One of my most skilled clerks is Mrs. Rebecca J. Scales, posting clerk," said Capt. W. B. Bright.

Mrs. Scales of Andalusia, Ala., has both legs completely paralyzed. Her work is to do a full time job. She moves around with the aid of crutches and has been working on post since 1952.

The officers' mail hospital has accepted and cared for a few years ago the Army, like the nation, thought people who were handicapped were worthless unless made useful. But today the military has accepted a very different plan of speech and hearing loss."

DEMONSTRATION TRUCK ... Capt. Edmond Ragsdale, fire chief of Main Post station number 2, is shown demonstrating the use of the Scargaves 750-gallon-per-minute water pump used on post fire trucks to member of Boy Scout Troop Number 27. This will be one of the special projects of the fire department during its Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13.

Three top ranking officers of the Royal Thailand Army arrived on post Sept. 29, and are observing Infantry School instructional methods this week. The visitors are Brig. Gen. Trip Theerathada, Brig. Gen. Chan Anusuhole and Col. Sawandi Chaboonsem.

They conferred with Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commandant of The Infantry School, and were honored with an official luncheon in the Main Officers' Mess Monday.

Among the demonstrations scheduled for the Allied officers were 30 caliber machine gun and M-1 marksmanship, night vision, tank gunnery, jumpmaster and Ranger training, obstacle and confidence course, bayonet movements, and 105 and 160-mm recoilless rifle technique.

Troops Stand By During Hurricane

The 57th Engineer Bn. was alerted on Sept. 24 during hurricane "Flossy," to stand by in case it was necessary to send troops to Florida to aid in providing emergency disaster relief.

Less than two hours after the alert was given, a flood control team consisting of 96 percent of the battalion was ready to move out to the disaster area.

The troops were held in readiness until 6 p.m. Sept. 25, when the "all-clear" was sounded, and the battalion resumed normal activities.

Scout Troop 27 Receives Charter and Two Awards

The post's Boy Scout Troop 27 accepted its new charter, 19 members and two awards at its parent-school meeting Sept. 21 at the Boy Scout Camp. Lt. Sgt. John M. Harrison, assistant district commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, presented the charter to Col. Roland M. Gleason, troop committee chairman.

Sgt. Harrison also presented the committee chairman with the Silver Liberty Award for the troop's outstanding 1956 program and the National Recognition Ribbon for continuing the troop's projects.

Troop 27, which began last year's program with 17 members and ended with 96, has a membership of 66 Scouts.

Some of the major events to take place during the 1956-1957 program, according to Capt. Talbot, are the Camporee Green Bar Hike in October, December's Christmas party, the Ft. Benning Camporee Green Bar Hike in January, and the Scout Week and parade 1957-1958.

the post in appropriate places. Special notices have been prepared and will be run as they are flashed on the screens of all theaters on the reservation daily.

Individual attention will be emphasized by a letter which will be read to all members of each unit by its commanding officer, and with short notices which will appear each day in the Daily Herald.

Another facet aimed at the public will be the five fire stations, which will be maintained for inspection everyday during the week.

Chief Ward concluded, "Some of our personnel are careless and negligent in observing simple fire prevention practices. As a result, many lives are lost and millions of dollars worth of government property are destroyed each year. Properties must be kept in good repair to replace. The last results in diversion and expenditure of funds that would have permitted many other additions and improvements of existing facilities. Let's try to make our record 1956-57 fiscal year a record of only $4,229 even smaller for the coming year. Be Careful—Prevent Fires."

Post Anniversary

There are approximately three million handicapped people employed in our nation today, synonymous since 1940, became a vital part of the military picture. To train and hire the thousands of extra personnel, new structures and temporary buildings sprang up and two new areas, Harmony Church and Sand Hill, came into being.

The war years marked the peak of activities for The Infantry School. As a result, its mission was tremendously expanded from its original conception of an establishment to improve marksmanship.

Added to this mission were the teaching of tactics and techniques of Infantry, training selected officers and enlisted men for technical duties and the division of men serving as an agency in the development and perfection of Infantry tactics and techniques.

The post hospital with its large and competent staff of military and civilian personnel is the last word in completeness.

New Hospital Building
The new nine-story U. S. Army Hospital has passed its halfway mark of completion, scheduled for Aug. 25, 1957 or shortly thereafter. The five-story medical building, which easily can be adapted to a 1,000 bed structure, is a 6 1/2 million dollar building located at Marine and Santa Fe Roads, three miles from the Main Post area.

Sgt. Benning, named for Major Gen. Henry Lewis Benning, a famous Confederate hero, is a training ground for the Army's most famous celebrities.

Among them are President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Gen. George C. Marshall; Gen. Omar N. Bradley; Gen. Curtis E. LeMay; Gen. George S. Patton; and Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin.

The 182,000 acre reservation, which is located in Georgia and Alabama, has enough marketable timber to build an estimated 40,000 six-room frame homes.

Utilized to utmost
The vast area is utilized to the utmost in training the Infantry. The Upatoki Creek and Chattahoochee River, which run through the reservation, are employed in teaching students how to cross water barriers. In fact, Upatoki Creek and the Chattahoochee River have probably seen more tactical military crossings than any other two streams in the world.

Cadet of the Reserve Officers Training Corps undergoes annual six-week summer training here.

Even the U. S. taxpayer participates in Benning's activities. Twice a year the nation's top industrial, cultural and business leaders attend the Joint Civilian-Officer's Conference, a meeting which they are told, how defense dollars are being spent.

Peace Still Hope
Peace is still the hope. But preparedness is the watchword. The U. S. defense depends upon the Infantry, armor, artillery and other important cognate branches of the military. However, Infantrymen, as always, find themselves in the front line.

The battle cry will never change. "Follow Me!"

Said the used car dealer to the handcar dealer:
"How could you have had an accident with that used car I sold you?"
"I couldn't hold my hand out to signal white I was pushing it around the corner."

This board helps to get him a new job which he will like and also which will enable him to serve according to his capabilities.

Contest Hard To Name Bn.'s Best Soldier

Competing for the "Best Soldier of the Month" title is the 23d F.A. Bn. as difficult as appearing on the $64,000 quiz above.

Applicants for the battalion's top enlisted honor have to face three quizzers, the battalion adjutant, the operations officer and his lieutenant assistant.

This is what PFC Gennaro V. Cacciapuoli, 23-year-old battery clerk from Brooklyn, N.Y., went through before winning the monthly honor.

In competition with almost 100 other enlisted men from the 330th F.A. Battery, he was chosen as outstanding in the battery.

Appeared Before Board
With six other local unit winners, the former Civil Service engineering draftsman then appeared before the three battalion officers.

First he was queried on knowledge of his job, and asked technical questions on forms he handles as a clerk. Next, in one quiz on current events, he correctly named the major election candidates, the platforms, gave the exact status of his state baseball team, and answered a tricky question on the Suez Canal dispute.

Finally he recited his chain of command and general orders.

Tied for Honor
Four of the seven tied for the honor the quizzers were to determine last week. That is until someone marched the outstanding soldiers to the training field for a little bit of dismounted drill."

Cacciapuoli won. Although he doesn't get $64,000, the battalion's Soldier-of-the-Month does get a personal interview with the battalion commander and a desk pen set. Furthermore, his awards are tax free.

Students Help Cadre Run TSB Companies
"Let me speak to the student company commander." The student commanders of a "first sergeant" may actually be a lieutenant colonel, and their staffs have done much to relieve cadre personnel of routine chores like checking attendance, maintaining order and discipline, coordinating transportation leading a band movement to and from classes, and liaison with in structures in the various classes.

In addition, the student officers are found to be an excellent means of liaison between the students to the school staff as well as the school staff as the course progresses, and many valuable changes have been made during mid-class as a result.

Not that all of their duties are "strictly business." A popular cadre company commander was presented with a teething ring upon the birth of an son. The "teething ring" presented by the class an old tire from a two-and-half-ton truck suitably painted and beribboned.

Another class casually asked, through their student officers, for the cadre officers to meet them for a "gripe session" at the club after duty hours and during classes. When the concerned cadre officers showed up, they discovered a growing banquet table. The students were throwing a farewell party in their honor, complete with speeches.

Without the spreading of "esprit" among students by their student officers, the cadre's work would be more difficult for the cadre, and these efforts, in addition to the student officers, are well appreciated by all members of the student battalions.

Coming to the United States at his sister's invitation (she had married an American businessman abroad) he was employed briefly as assistant foreman of a shoe factory in Aberdeen, Md., before putting his background into use.

When the familiar "greetings" came, Kambouris traded his dancing slippers for combat boots and is now with the 4th Co., 4th Student Bn., TSB.

Kambouris plans on studying air-conditioning in Chicago under the GI Bill when he leaves the service in October, and remain in this country as a U.S. citizen. He is married to the former Gladys Lavern Brown, of Columbus, and has a ten-month old son, Jerry Lee.

Club to Collect Used Uniforms

In response to an appeal from Major Gen. H. L. Boatner, chief of the U. S. Military Mission to Greece, the Post Woman's Club will sponsor a second collection of used winter uniforms for the Greek Army.

Gen. Boatner's second appeal for clothing was made in a letter expressing his thanks to the Woman's Club for its efforts in obtaining uniforms last spring.

Gen. Boatner pointed out that uniforms are very expensive in Greece and the Greek Army's pay scale (a captain makes $81.40 per month), makes their purchase a hardship. In addition, Greece has severe winters.

Bases for clothing donations will be located at the Thrift Shop and Commissary. Wool uniforms, overcoats, Mackinaw coats, battie jackets and Sam Browne belts are needed.

STC Battalion Hears Safety Officer Speak

The need for observance of vehicular safety was emphasized to the men of 2nd Special Troops Bn., STC, Sept. 22, when approximately 700 battalion members attended a safety meeting in Theater No. 2. The meeting, which started at 7 p.m., was directed by Capt. Crawford D. Russell, battalion safety officer, who said that this was the first of a series to be held monthly by the unit. Lt. Col. Frank A. Bradbury, C.O. of the battalion, opened the meeting with a short address, stressing the necessity for the adoption and observance of an aggressive accident prevention program within the battalion. He also suggested that special caution be observed by all drivers during the weekday week end immediate following.

The meeting, which started at 7 p.m., was directed by Capt. Crawford D. Russell, battalion safety officer, who said that this was the first of a series to be held monthly by the unit. Lt. Col. Frank A. Bradbury, C.O. of the battalion, opened the meeting with a short address, stressing the necessity

He pointed out that all accidents are caused by human error and that most people who cause accidents know they are driving wrong, and have elected to drive under conditions they know to be unsafe. Life stated that the excessive speed, drinking, and lack of sleep are three of the major causes of accidents, and that even though you may "get away" with violating safety rules for a time, the law of averages will eventually catch up with you.

TOM WIERZBICKI

Sad Story Told Of Ronnie Knox

Being a highly publicized college football player has its advantages. The case of Ronnie Knox, star quarterback at U.C.L.A., vs. the press can best be summed up with, "You made your bed . . . now lie in it."

Let's review the sad tale spouted off by the Golden Boy from the West Coast in his scathing indictment of football at U.C.L.A. and the University of California as "pro football where he was forced to lie and taught to con-ceive."

Ronnie's fabulous career began while still in high school. It was during this six years of schooling that Golden Boy spread his accomplishments throughout the five high schools he attended.

He was good, no doubt about it; so good that he got offers from 27 colleges. According to Knox, he was offered a new car by an alumnus to attend Illinois, and $35 a month above a scholarship to go to Stanford.

UC OFFERED BEST DEAL

However, Ronnie chose the University of California because they seemed to care across with the best deal.

His father read something like this: his father, Harvey, was given a $400-a-month job as talent scout for the Southern Seas, a Los Angeles recruiting group for UC; his high school coach (that is, the last one; Jim Sutherland, was added to the California coaching staff, and Ronnie himself was given an off-season sports writing job at Berkeley, plus $500 a year in football tickets, $500 pocket money from the Southern Seas and $500 transportation money for his family.

However, like most big deals the bottom fell through and so Harvey took his son southward to Los Angeles to someone who would appreciate his talents.

Needless to say, Ronnie starred at UCLA and probably would have been named to everybody's All-American team this year except for the fact that the powers that rule finally caught up with West Coast football.

RESULTS WERE CRUSHING

The result of the investigations was crushing to West Coast football teams. Moreover, it was brutal to Harvey's boy.

UCLA was declared ineligible for the Rose Bowl for the next three years, and all sophomores and juniors lost a year of eligibility, while seniors, included among them the Knox boys, were permitted to take part in only five games during the season.

Harvey and his son appealed to UCLA to make a statement that Ronnie had not accepted any extra money from unknown sources. But to no avail.

It was then that Ronnie decided he wasn't going to be a martyr for UCLA's sake. Earlier this spring the Golden Boy signed a professional contract with the Hamilton Tiger Cats in Canada for $15,000.

Commenting on his abbreviated college career, Knox said, "I found college football pro football—only the salaries were much smaller."

NO OPPORTUNITY TO PROVE INNOCENCE

According to Ronnie, he probably would have chosen to remain in college if school authorities, during the recent scandals, had not let me appear guilty of receiving under-the-table money without giving me the opportunity to prove my innocence."

"Ironically," he added, "when I did conspire to break the rules at the University of California, I was investigated thoroughly by the confederated commissioner and cleared. At UCLA, I played by the rules and if all the facts ever became known, it will be proven that I never took a penny of undercover payment."

His response? To Knox's charge, "Wilbur Johns, athletic director at UCLA said 'The (Please See WIERZBICKI, Page 14)

Game Saturday Matches Doughboys With Bolling

TO LEAD TEAM IN TOUGHEST BATTLE... Jim Matthews Will Call Plays in Bolling Game

Doughboy League

High Scores and Explosive Runs Highlight Grid Play During Week

The Post's Football team opened with a bang last week with an array of explosive runs and high scoring games highlighting the action in Gowdy Field.

In the opening contest staged Friday night (Sept. 29) a crowd of over 600 spectators saw the defending champions of the Doughboy League, the Rams, battle all the way to the wire, losing a thriller to the Commanders, 7-0.

A duo of backs for the Flyers proved to be the difference in the second tilt as the game turned into a free wheeling scoring test as the Rock of the Marne lost, 33-13.

The two tilts staged Saturday saw plenty of scoring with the wide open game ending the first round of action in both the smaller and larger Pony League.

Were Never Headed Taking a fact first half lead, the Cottonbolls were never headed as they picked up their first win, 27-0, over the Raiders.

A gallant comeback try was thwarted in the final half by the Generals in their victory over the Cottonbolls, 34-21.

Norman "Micko" Mekkelon, clinched a 70-yard drive from the opening kickoff of the second half to plunge over from the three with the first score of the season year for the Cottonbolls.

Two All-Americans, Johnny Laiter of Notre Dame and Chad Hankul of Maryland, have moved to the sidelines to a coaching status due to injuries received last year in leading Bolling to its first undefeated campaign.

Aside from the wealth of All-American talent on the team, the Generals also has outstanding college and professional ballplayers. Jim Long, captain of Auburn University in 1954 and ALL-SEC in '51; Doyle Nix, star back at Southern Methodist University and an outstanding rookie with the Green Bay Packers; and Al Barry, former tackle at Southern California University and offensive guard with the Green Bay Packers are just a few of the boys ready to go against the Cottonbolls.

Four Games Saturday Saturday's card finds four more games on tap with two in Gowdy Field and two in Doughboy Stadium.

The two tilts set for Gowdy feature the Cottonbolls taking on the Commanders while the Rams battle the Raiders in the finale.

In the larger Pony League, the Flyers will try to maintain their perfect record against the powerful Generals and the Rock of the Marne faces the Colonels in the other tilt.

One of the leading powerhouses in service football, the Bolling Air Force Generals, will move into Doughboy stadium Saturday, Oct. 6 to tangle with the Main Post Doughboys.

Undeclared last year in test gridiron battles, the Generals will bring with them a roster composed of some eight All-Americans, including such champs as Ralph Guglielmi, Don Shannon and Minnie Mavradis, all of Notre Dame; Bernie Faloney of Maryland; Billy Reynolds of Pittsburgh and Ed Weaver of Army.

The Generals will enter the game as favorites due to the wealth of talent they field. Head Coach George Madix, former assistant football coach at Michigan State University has five returning veteran linemen which formulate a strong forward wall.

The quarterback slot is well covered by the Generals' returning field general Bernie Faloney will be seconded by Ralph Guglielmi and Pete Neff.

Guglielmi had about everybody's attention last year when he performed for the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. Last year, he had a great season with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. A winner of the Walter Camp Award, Guglielmi recently received the "Most Valuable Award" trophy for his outstanding performance in the 1955 All-Star game with the Cleveland Browns.

Mary Reynolds Cops 'Ma' Keeler Tourney

Defending champion, Mary Ann Reynolds, displayed a blazing putter Sept. 28 when she edged America's Mary Crawford to cop the fifth annual "Ma" Keeler Women's Amateur golf tournament here.

Mrs. Reynolds, last year's winner at Sea Island, had a shaky first nine, shocking a 40, but regained her poise on the incoming nine to finish with a 76 and 84 total.

One of the things Mrs. Reynolds accredited for her success was an old putter which she made a special trip home to get after losing six strokes to Mrs. Crawford, during the second round.

Leading by a six-stroke margin going into the final 18, Mrs. Crawford gradually lost ground during the first four outgoing nines and dropped behind when she skirted to a seven on the fifth-three over par.

Mrs. Reynolds could do no wrong, after moving into the lead, as she blasted out of sand traps, hit out of the woods and still sank hole after hole with par and birdies.

Actually the game shifted dramatically after the fifth on the outgoing trail, but the final hole spelled the defeat for Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. Reynolds, after blasting a shot out of the woods, drove a four-iron shot straight down the fairway to within three feet from the pin. Then with the putter for par, she laid precisely a birdie cushion, sank the hole coming into the last hole and the final par proved too much for Mrs. Crawford.

Billie Wicklife of Athens, Ga., placed third with an 81 and 23; 16-year-old Carmel Stewart of Brunswick, Ga., fourth with 88 and 82; Mrs. Freeman Darby of Sea Island, Ga., was fifth with a 282 total and Ann Burman, wife of Ft. Benning post Paul Burman, was next with a 255 total.

A duplicate entry of a fishing rod, a fishing reel, or monthly free boat rental will be awarded each month for the largest BASS and BREAM caught in the reservations ponds Fish caught and entered in the contest are to be weighed and weighed at the Boat House located at Harmony Church.

Two United States Army Olympic rifle shooters will get their last chance for competitive action, Oct. 6-7 in the Alabama State Small Bore Tournament at Birmingham, before leaving for the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia Nov. 22.

1st Lt. Verle L. Wright won the right to the Olympics when he placed second in the Olympical small bore on the International free rifle course at the National Rifle and Pistol Matches held recently at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The other hopeful is 1st Lt. Herbert B. Vieiderer, assigned to the Long Range Radio Branch, Signal Corps Engineer Laboratories, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., who earned his bid to the Olympics by coping first place in the 300-meter Olympic free rifle big bore course at Camp Perry with a total match total of 2,628 out of a possible 3,000 points.

Both shooters are now stationed here with the Army Adjutant General's School, along with two other members of the unit who are Olympic alternates.

The two alternates are 1st Lt. Thomas A. Breen who placed third in the 300-meter Olympic free rifle big bore course in the matches at Camp Perry and 2nd Lt. Daniel B. Puckel, third place finisher in the small bore international free rifle course.

Accompanying the shooters to the Birmingham meet will be Capt. John W. Kolb, International Rifle Team Captain, who is also a team member.

Capt. Kolb commented, "This will be a big meet for all our shooters, and an especially outstanding one for our Olympic hopefuls, as it will give them a final chance to round into top shape before leaving for Melbourne."

CWO Lafayette Pool Won DSC For Heroism in World War II

BY JULIA BRUNHEKE
In an Army hospital in November, 1945, a lanky Texas soldier, then S-Sgt. Lafayette Pool, was presented the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy August 29, 1944, to Aug. 31, 1944, in France."

The former sergeant is now Chief Warrant Officer Pool of Sinton, Tex., assigned last July to the 14th Cav. Co.

In addition to the Distinguished Service Cross, CWO Pool wears the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, the European Theater Ribbon with four battle stars, the French Croix de Guerre with star and the Belgian Fourragere.

Pool, commanding the lead tank along successive three or four German tanks, three anti-tank guns, approximately 50 unarmored vehicles and over 500 men, was killed or wounded, the report continued.

"His unflinching courage and inspired leadership in the face of devastating hostile fire permitted the rapid advance of his task force with minimum of casualties," stated the citation.

Received Leg Wound
It was in Humberburg, south of Aachen, Germany, that Mr. Pool received a serious leg wound. Units of the 8th Armored Div. at Ft. Knox, Ky. He was commissioned a warrant officer at Ft. Bliss, Tex., in 1951.

Just prior to coming here he

Gen. Wyman Invites Infantrymen To 'Think' in October Quarterly

The October issue of The Infantry School Quarterly provides a wealth of information on the latest thinking and new developments in the Infantry. Of special interest is an article by Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander in chief, CONARC, in which he invites all Infantrymen. "An Invitation to Think," Gen. Wyman proposes that we join minds and aim our thoughts at realistic targets in order that we can continue to defend our nation by winning battles in advance.

Capt. A. C. Addison is the first in a series on mobile task forces. The emphasis in this article is on platoon-size task forces. Subsequent articles of special interest are an article by Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander in chief, CONARC, in which he invites all Infantrymen. "An Invitation to Think," Gen. Wyman proposes that we join minds and aim our thoughts at realistic targets in order that we can continue to defend our nation by winning battles in advance.

Another Quarterly article, "Atomic Fire Support," by Col. T. C. Matzulis outlines the planning and coordination necessary if we ever use atomic weapons in the attack. Series on Task Forces "Small Unit Task Forces," by Capt. T. H. Jones and experiences and soon outstripped them.

In another important article, Maj. Gen. A. B. Mead, chief of the Infantry section, CONARC, answers the question, "Why doesn't the Infantry have a party line?" "Sword of Silk," by Capt. B. T. Bashore is a two-part article based on interviews with German Airborne general students. The first part, appearing in the current issue, describes how the Germans developed and employed airborne troops and how we profited from their experiences and soon outstripped them.

C.G. Visits Board No. 3 October 1

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry Center commander, made an official visit to CONARC Board No. 3 Oct 1 for an orientation on the work that the board is engaged in. He was accompanied by Col. Earl F. Klinck.

The party was greeted by Col. Henry Nelson, acting president of the board, who briefed them on the mission and activities of the "Infantry Board."

Gen. Powell then visited the Sandy Patch Test Area where he was shown weapons and equipment which this Continental Army Command agency is currently testing.

Upon completion of this display, Gen. Powell was taken to the board's new small arm test firing range, where he witnessed firing demonstrations of hand-held signals, and a general purpose machine gun.

The group then fired a modified carbine using high velocity ammunition to end his visit.

JCOC

The group observed a three-hour exhibition of Infantry weapons, ranging from small arms to the M-48 90-mm gun tank. Highlighting this display was a single rifleman in a square Browning automatic rifle, climaxed by the addition of supporting rifles.

On Exchange Program British Officer Jumps With Airborne Troops

One of the 740 paratroopers of the 82d Airborne Div. who participated in a mass jump before members of the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference Wednesday was a British officer who earned the distinction of being the first from his country to command an American battalion since the United States ceased to be a colony and became a sovereign nation.

Maj. James N. Gourlay, a British exchange officer on a one-year tour with the 82nd Airborne Inf. Regt., took command of the 3rd battalion for a week during August, prior to the arrival of the new commander, Lt. Col. M. J. Berenzweig, who headed the group which jumped at Benning.

A career officer with 17 years' service, Maj. Gourlay finds his present job as battalion S-3 keeps him stepping. "There is never a dull moment around here," he says, of the 3rd Div.

23rd Field Celebrates Birthday

Unit Notes Anniversary October 2

A tug of war, and piggy-back and three-legged races were the order of the day for the 23rd F.A. Bn. as the unit celebrated its second Organization day on Oct. 2.

Preceding the athletic contests was a colorful review parade with non-commissioned officers assuming command positions during the morning ceremony. Over 400 troops participated.

M-Sgt. Austin D. Flack of Union Mills, N.C., the unit's sergeant major was commander of troops for the review. His staff included M-Sgt. Levi A. Stastee, of Springfield, Ill.; M-Sgt. Harry Schendel of Peshawar, Ohio; SFC Andrew S. Scott, of Batesburg, S.C.; and SFC James S. Daniel of La-Grange, Ga.

The battalion's history and achievements were cited by battalion commander Lt. Col. James E. Bannan, Jr., of Hillsboro, Ohio, who presented the 23rd F.A. Bn. with its second Organization day award.

CO SPEAKS . . .

Lt. Col. James E. Bannan, Jr., commander of the 23rd F.A. Bn., presented the unit with its second Organization day award.

Non-Commissioned officers led the parade, while battalion officers watched from the sidelines. CO of troops was the sergeant-major of the battalion, M-Sgt. Austin D. Flack. His staff consisted of, left to right, M-Sgt. Joseph Garner, SFC Andrew Scott, M-Sgt. Levi A. Stastee, and M-Sgt. Harry Schendel.

HEAVE HO . . . The crowd favorite among the athletic events was the tug-of-war. The team on the right proved the strongest and pulled the other team over the line to win the event.

PASSES IN REVIEW . . . Hqs. Co. of the 23rd passes in review during the parade, which was conducted by non-commissioned officers of the battalion.

1000 rounds of ammunition in support of the School," the commander said.

After the ceremonies the parade ground assumed a town picnic atmosphere as teams of soldiers competed in athletic contests.

The three-legged races C. Bannan's honor salute battalion then returned to become the audience favorites. In a huge gruel and green session the C Battery team slowly and steadily pulled their rivals over to defeat.

The artillery demonstration battalion traces its lineage back to Oct. 1, 1933 when the Department of Army ordered the formation of the 7th F.A. Observation Bn. The 7th was activated in 1941, inactivated in 1946 and then re-designated the 523rd F.A. Observation Bn.

With redesignation of the 523rd and formation of the 23rd F.A. Bn., the demonstration battalion was assigned to the 23rd Inf. Div. (since deactivated) at Ft. Benning on Dec. 2, 1954.

REPORT TO UNIT
The 820th Ord Co., STC, added two new names to its roster last week when Pvt. Vernon D. Beard and Pvt. Charles L. Charman reported to the unit.

Scotch Foursome Slated for Sunday
Fl. Bannan's Women's Golf Association will continue its fall program Sunday afternoon at noon with a mixed scotch foursome tournament.

The foursome will be best ball with handicap and officials have put out a special invitation to members to bring out their friends to this event.

Chapel Holds Special Mass For Allies

Catholic Vietnamese officer students at The Infantry School, attended a special Mass and Communion held for them at 8 a.m. Sept. 30 in the Main Post Catholic Chapel.

Father Emmanuel Jacques of Chicago, Ill., and a native of Liege, Belgium, celebrated the Mass and spoke to the group in Vietnamese.

During the services a choir organized by the Allied students sang hymns in their native language as well as in Latin. A number of U. S. personnel joined the group in Mass.

Father Jacques, director of the Vietnamese Catholic Education Program in the U. S., served for 10 years as a missionary in Vietnam prior to his assignment in America. In his work he visits military posts where soldiers of the Vietnam Republic are studying.

The Belgian priest arrived here Sept. 29 and met with the Vietnamese officers. A number of old friendships and acquaintances were renewed, officials said.

Breakfast Held
After the Mass a breakfast was held in the Balfour Mess. Col. James E. Gall of Hillsboro, Ohio, commander of The School Brigade, and Lt. Col. Harold A. Cassel of Stone, Va., commander of the 1st Student Bn., were honored guests.

Col. Gall spoke to the Allied officers expressing good wishes to them and their country. Major Tran Thanh Xuan, chosen by his fellow officers to speak for the Vietnamese group, stated the hope for continued and deeper friendship, understanding and cooperation between the two nations.

SPECIAL MASS . . . Celebrating a special Mass for officers of the Republic of Vietnam attending the Allied advanced course at The Infantry School, is Father Emmanuel Jacques.

Chaplain (Capt.) Francis X. Wallace of New Bedford, Mass. TSB Catholic chaplain, made arrangements for Father Jacques' visit and the special services.

3d Army Official Makes Visit Here
A representative from the Signal Section, 3rd Army headquarters, Ft. Monmouth, Ga., is visiting the post.
Mr. Coleman Alford, film and equipment adviser in the pictorial division, arrived Oct. 3 to make a visit, coordinating activities of the Film and Equipment Exchange. Films, film strips, film equipment and services are used in support of installation training activities at The Infantry Center.

Powell Visits 151st Group

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commanding general of the post, and members of his staff inspected the 151st Engineer Group Friday morning.

Beginning with a briefing by Col. Julian V. Sollohub, commanding officer of the group, the general followed an itinerary which took him for a tour of the group headquarters' staff sections, to the 57th Engineer Bn. (Construction).

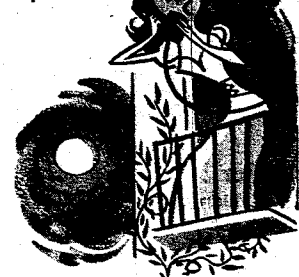

Co. A, the Bn honor company, displayed their barracks and mess hall. He also viewed equipment which will be used in 1957 and a motor maintenance building that is near completion in the wake of hurricane "Flossie".

From the 57th, the General drove to the Engineers landing to inspect an M4 Floating Bridge being constructed by the 58th Engineer Co. replacing the one which was damaged by a barge that broke loose in the wake of hurricane "Flossie".

A short hop by helicopter to the Harmony Church area put the party on the last leg of their tour. The helicopter landed at Dickman Field where the general was able to observe the newest members of the 76th Engineer Bn being inducted in Engineer rings. These men are in the process of receiving advanced basic Engineer training having completed their first eight weeks in other camps.

UofG Professor Pays Visit Here

Dr. Stanton Singleton, assistant dean of education at the University of Georgia in Athens, visited the post Oct. 3 to 5 to supervise 13 officers receiving graduate credit in education for work they are doing here.

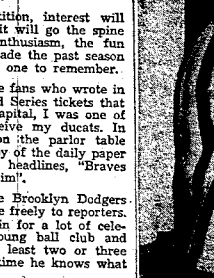

The officer students, 12 assigned to The Infantry School and one to the 3rd Div., will get 16 quarter - hours resident credit at the University of Georgia for six weeks' direct teaching at the Infantry Center Troop Information and Education Center and participation in a job evaluation project.

This program will fill the practice teaching requirement for a bachelor's degree in education and give the officers the equivalent of one summer session of residence at the University.

Yet no Cardinal permitted his heart to rule. (ask the downcast Braves). He played to win and let the chips fall where they may. The two victories over the Braves wrapped up everything. They played to win and win they did. That's the way it should be. And that's the way it was.

"Without honest competition, interest will fade ultimately. And with it will go the spine tingling excitement, the enthusiasm, the fun and everything else that made the past season very much worthwhile and one to remember.

Of the 45,000 Milwaukee fans who wrote in for pairs of the 8,000 World Series tickets that went on sale in the beer capital, I was one of the fortunate ones to receive my ducats. In fact, they're still laying on the parlor table here at home, next to a copy of the daily paper which carries the glaring headlines, "Braves Lose 2-1, Pennant Hopes Slim!"

Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers. often gives his opinion quite freely to reporters. He said, "The Braves are in for a lot of celebrating. They've got a young ball club and they're going to win it at least two or three times." I hope this is one time he knows what he is talking about.

Olympic Smallbore alternate 2nd Lt. Daniel E. Fiedler, of Marion, Ind., and Capt. John W. Kolb, of Columbus, Ga., the U. S. Army International Rifle Team Captain, took second and third Master Class awards. In all, U. S. Army shooters accounted for 34 individual prizes in the tournament.

Lt. Wright will represent this country in the Olympic smallbore match as a result of his second place finish in the recent 50-meter competition at Camp Perry, Ohio—site of the 1956 Olympic Free Rifle tryouts. Lt. Fiedler, who grabbed a third place award at Camp Perry behind Wright, and Lt. Brown with a third spot in the 300-meter bigbore match, were selected as Olympic alternates.

These shooters, along with 1st Lt. Herbert B. Voelcker, of Tonawanda, N. Y., National Bigbore Champion, are currently assigned here with the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit where they have been training for the Olympic matches. The Birmingham meet was the last competitive match for the Olympic hopefuls before leaving for Melbourne, Nov. 15.

Officer Class Hears Correspondent Speak

"In Malaya the Communists have been definitely beaten on ground of their own choosing and with their own methods," British war correspondent William Courtney said here Oct. 8.

Helicopter pilots also flew deep into the jungle to gain the support of aborigines who previously supplied food to the Communists and to dust Communist garden plots with poison gases.

Malayan rubber plantations are peaceful once more, Courtney added. Communist trouble spots are confined to Johore and near the Thailand border, he said. "We can now pursue them 30 miles into Thailand," the correspondent noted.

"To have lost the rubber industry would have been a great blow to Britain's economic solar plexus, and that was the Communist aim," Courtney pointed out.

The speaker was introduced by Col. William H. Billings of Indianapolis, Ind., director of The Infantry School's Tactical Department.

TWINS LEAVE ARMY... Marilyn and Carolyn Holtz, twins from the WAC Co., STC, are shown receiving their official records from 2nd Lt. Paul G. Jones, pay officer, at the Transfer Point, upon leaving the service. Both were formerly assigned as stenographers at TIC Headquarters.

Emphasizing the value of helicopters in tactical support and casually advanced Courtney added that they can even allow patrols to keep office hours.

"They put them into the jungle at nine and take them home at six he remarked.

In the British use of the helicopter, "only one limitation has been revealed — no field force possesses a sufficient number of them," he said.

Striking battle picture slides in color, taken by the speaker on frequent visits to Malaya during his eight years of "police action" and in Korea and Cyprus, complemented Courtney's talk.

In the "emergency" as the Malayan conflict is termed by the British government, "it is Communists' great strength is the dense jungle," he pointed out.

"We have had and virtually rewin the country from scratch. You have to have military victories before the populace has confidence in you and begins to pass on military information," he went on.

Courtesy brought out that the British instituted a food blockade "so the bandits would have to spend so much time looking for food they wouldn't have time to fight us."

In 1952, helicopters were introduced on the Malayan scene and within a matter of 30-day expeditions deep into the jungle to locate enemy 100 d drums. They were transported and supplied daily by the aircraft.

Heartening Results
"By the end of the year there was heartening results."

Tokyo residents will soon have to develop a "yen" for parking meters. Japan's capital will install its first parking meters this fall and the charge will be 50 yen (about 15 cents) for an hour's parking in eight downtown location areas.

Club Begins Art Classes

An oil painting class for members of the post Women's Club, taught by Philip M. Andrews, local artist, began yesterday.

The first session will be held at 1-p.m. in Bret Barracks. Andrews received his bachelor's and master's degrees in illustration and oil painting from Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn. He has conducted art classes at Auburn, Birmingham and Mobile, Ala., and also did free lance commercial art in the two latter cities. He is an accomplished portrait, landscape, still life and figure painter.

He is currently employed at the Publications and Visual Aids Office.

Ladies interested in attending the classes are requested to contact Mrs. Richard Diegel at Col. 4-1022.

The course is designed for students desiring an understanding of basic techniques of oil painting. No grade system will be used and each student will work on her own initiative.

Post Goes Over Fund Drive Goal

Campaign To Last 1 More Week

The Community Activities Association Fund campaign has gone over the top by $3,177.56 in the next to last week of the 1957 fund raising program, advised Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, general fund chairman.

However, only for an assignment which will prove its versatility and which is being regarded as the beginning in an influence of the Army's organization.

Supporting the Fourth's mission at the Infantry Center will be the 8th Helicopter Transportation of Ft. Bragg, N. C. The Eighth will support the Infantry School tactical training exercises during the Fourth's absence.

Will Influence Doctrine

Copters Leave For Test Duty

The Fourth Transportation Company (Lt. Hepler), removed as a workhorse on the Army's toughest jobs, is leaving Ft. Benning.

The Fourth's temporary duty assignment, returning a post to support the "Trop Test JUMP LIGHT", a four-month examination of the Army's newest Division—the 101st Airborne.

Sixteen UH helicopters and 147 officers and enlisted men from the Fourth left Oct. 15 for Ft. Campbell, Ky., where the test will be held Oct. 18. They will later move to Ft. Bragg, N. C., as operational missions require.

Also taking part in the test will be the 102d Transportation Detachment (CIEFM), assigned to the Fourth, consisting of one officer, one warrant officer and 53 enlisted men.

“Extreme importance” Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commanding general, who heads the group of Army experts who will conduct the test, said “the next four months are of extreme importance to our modern Army.”

“We have created an entirely new type of Airborne Division. It is streamlined, flexible, highly mobile, designed for quick, powerful strikes anywhere in the world at short notice and winter uniforms Oct. 25 include Ft. Gordon and Ft. McPherson, Ga., Ft. Campbell, S. C., and Ft. McAllister and Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Ft. Benning Will Host Tripartite Conference

The Second Tripartite Infantry Conference between 124 United Kingdom, Canada and the U. S. will be held here Oct. 29 to Nov. 3.

Senior officers of the three countries will discuss and exchange views on policies of Infantry doctrine, organization and equipment with a view to eliminating any operational obstacles to full cooperation among the three Armies.

Approximately 120 conferees will attend, 65 of whom will be official delegates and the remainder, observers and working staff.

The United Kingdom delegation will be headed by Major Gen. C. L. Firbank, director of Infantry Brigades. Major Gen. Armistead D. Mead, chief of the Infantry Section of Continental Army Command, Ft. Moore, Va., is the senior U.S. representative and conference chairman.

Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commander of Continental Army Command, will give the opening presentation and Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eckelman, the Army's deputy chief of staff for military operations, will welcome the conferees on behalf of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff.

Last One Held in 1952

The last conference of this type on Infantry matters was held in Ottawa, Canada, in 1952.

Among the 15 United Kingdom delegates will be Brigadier G. E. W. Ballard of the War Office, R. E. Farrand, director of munitions, Ministry of Supply Staff, British Joint Staff Mission, C. A. R. Johnson, minister of supply, and G. R. D. Morrison, commandant of the School of Infantry.

The 25-man Canadian delegation includes Brigadier S. E. E. Morris, deputy quartermaster general for design and development, and among the 25 U. S. delegates is Eric Olsen, Chief of G. de Gavers of the Army's Office of the Chief of Research and Development.

The United Kingdom is sending two demonstrators and Canada, seven. An additional

Colonel Klinck Resumes Command of Post's TSB

Col. Earl F. Klinck who has served as deputy post commander since July, has resumed command of the School Brigade.

He was intelligence officer of War II.

He was intelligence officer of the European campaigns of World War II.

He was assigned here in September, 1954, as director of The Infantry School's Communications Department and the following February was named School Brigade commander.

Col. James B. Gall of Hillsboro, Ohio, who has commanded the School Brigade for the last three months, has been named deputy G-4 (logistics officer) of the Infantry Center. Col. Gall commanded the 26th Inf. RCT the previous year.

A 1925 graduate of Danison University in Granville, Ohio, Col. Klinck did graduate work at the University of Cincinnati. He entered active duty in 1940 and commanded the 3rd. Bn., 42nd Inf. Regt. of the 106th Div. in the Northern

Catch Thieves in Act Alert MPs Halt Break In

It's not too often that military policemen here have the opportunity to break a way through a building, searching and directing of traffic. But when they do, they show that they are on the job—alert and quick-minded and fast-stepping MPs last week foiled an attempted robbery of the Main Post Exchange Branch Office (Bldg. 1600) safe and vault by two unarmed, masked men.

The two safecrackers, with records in the files of the Columbus Police Department, were apprehended several minutes after the vault's dial sounded an alarm at 2:23 a.m. last Friday.

Charged with burglary and possessing safecracking tools were Homer John Blakeley, 36, of Seattle, Ala., and Willie McClendon, 43, of Columbus.

McClendon was arrested at Federal Court.

The Provost Marshal stated totaling $6,000, while Blakeley was taken under $4,000 on both charges.

Upon arriving at the scene, they found no activity. They scented the wall to the roof where PFC Busby, flashing a light, found the two men lying face down.

The men wore baseball caps and nylon stockings as masks.

“They didn't give us any trouble. They had no weapons or tools or anything, except for some change in their pockets,” PFC Busby related.

Blakeley and McClendon entered the building from Ingeroll Street through a window on the bottom floor. In order to reach the office safe and vault on the second floor, Lt. George A. Bieri, Chief of Center Provost Marshal said, they had to break through two doors.

The Provost Marshal stated that the two men probably were at the scene since 8:30 p.m. last Thursday, waiting for “everything to cool down.” The

United Nations Deserves Support of Every Person

October 24 has been designated as United Nations Day. The President has issued a proclamation urging citizens of the United States to observe that day, and calling upon officials of the Federal, State and local governments to cooperate in a national observance of the 11th anniversary of the United Nations.

This day was set up by the General Assembly of the UN, which has asked all member nations to encourage their citizens to observe the event which is appropriate programs.

Last year, the 10th anniversary was observed in 92 countries, with many and varied celebrations. This is a good example of the effect that people all over the world have for the UN. They are not only thankful to the United Nations for what it has already done to make their life better, but they also have a hope and a faith that the UN will ultimately end all wars and bring lasting peace to the world.

Many skeptics say that the United Nations has not been realizing its objective of ending war, and making the world a better place. Such a judgement does not tell the whole story and is misleading.

Although the UN has not worked miracles in the 11 years since its founding, it has done much to bring peace and a better life to the world.

It has offered nations a place where they can reconcile their differences, and much of the arbitration has been successful, ending in agreements which have prevented fighting.

The UN has done much, outside the field of politics, to improve the condition of the underprivileged in the world. It has carried on a great fight against hunger, poverty, disease, and ignorance. In these fields, especially, international cooperation has made a significant beginning, leading to many improvements in people's lives.

Although there are still many problems to be worked out, the fact that there are 76 nations in the organization, most of them willing to arbitrate their differences, make the future optimistic, and lends credit to the faith and hope that one day the ultimate goal of world peace will be reached.

Bn. Begins Class Queen of Battle To Train Drivers

The 3d Div.'s 1st Bn. has begun a Light Wheeled Vehicle Operator's course for the purpose of training drivers and potential drivers within the battalion.

The goal for the school, according to Capt. Loyd A. Thomas Jr., battalion motor officer, is to provide trained drivers for all units in the battalion, thereby reducing the number of vehicle accidents, and increasing the efficiency of first echelon maintenance.

Chaplain's Corner

Is This You?

Chaplain (Capt.) Francis X. Wallace

The Second Commandment in courts of law is given under orders to honor God. To disobey His Holy Name, an order, and not a suggestion! "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

1. Curseless oaths. These are more common than false oaths, ordinarily not as serious, without legal penalty, yet still degrading to the sacred name and forbidden by the Second Commandment.

2. False oaths. An oath is calling upon God, witness one breath, to call upon the truth we speak. Testimony is not always characteristic of a man of scientific pursuits.

3. Blasphemy. In its strictest sense, blasphemy is a direct contempt for God or religion. Sometimes blasphemy springs from a genuine contempt for God or religion.

4. Profanity. It is the use of God's name as a curse, as a profanity. It is certainly not the mark of a gentleman. It is what we respect for.

5. Oaths. An oath is a solemn promise. It is a pledge to do something or to refrain from doing something. It is a solemn promise.

Library Concert

Verdi's Aida will be played next Tuesday evening at the Main Post Library.

Verdi composed Aida on commission from the Khedive Ismail Pasha of Egypt to celebrate the opening of the Suez Canal and the new Italian opera house at Cairo.

Verdi was lured into writing the opera by Auguste Mariette, director of the Egyptian department of the Louvre, who had been the discoverer of the temple of Serapeum in Memphis where the first scene of the opera is laid.

Verdi's Aida will be played next Tuesday evening at the Main Post Library.

Movie Time At Benning

Movie Highlights

"To Catch A Thief," a suspense drama starring Cary Grant and Grace Kelly. To save his reputation as a reformed jewel thief, Cary Grant, under suspicion for a series of jewel thefts, sets his own trap to catch the thief and in this way clear his own name.

"Tension At Table Rock," a family type western starring Richard Egan, Dorothy Malone and Cameron Mitchell. In the early 1870s, when the scars of the Civil War had just begun to heal and post-war restlessness hangs heavy over the country, small bands of Robin Hood bandits ride the barren plains, spreading the lawlessness and fear that gives birth to the adventure.

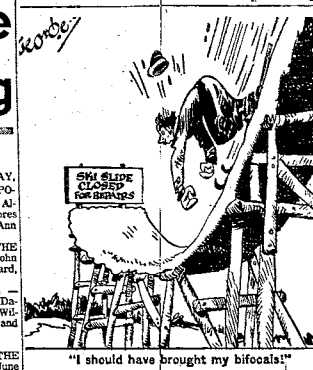

"Reprisal," a mature western starring Guy Madison, Felicia Farr and Kathryn Grant. Madison is seen as a stranger in a town that hates and fears him. It is a man who rages against an injustice in a town where no man ever before raised his voice against a tyrant.

"The Best Years of Our Lives," a mature play, directed by Fred Zinnemann, starring James Cagney, Fredric March, and Jean Hersholt.

Post Printing Plant Has Big Job

ANOTHER PACKAGE . . . M-Sgt. Thomas M. Clinard, of Nashville, Tenn., weighs one of the many packages that make up the ten million 8 x 10 sheets of printing per month that is done by the printing plant.

TOUCHING UP ART WORK . . . Touching up a drawing of a rifle platoon is draftsman PFC Vincent J. Frattalli, of Watertown, N. Y., prior to photo copying at the printing plant.

THROWING HOT LEAD . . . This may sound like an Infantry assignment, but actually it's only SP3 Richard J. Sheaffer, of Lebanon, Pa., setting type on one of the linotype machines at the plant.

Men Work Hard to Fill TIS Needs

"We're all millionaires here," says M-Sgt. Louis W. Wiggins, chief clerk of the Post printing plant. "We turn out ten million pieces of paper per month, if you figure it in the standard 8 x 10 inch size."

"Though now we have a breather, this plant works round the clock on a seven-day week when the work load builds up."

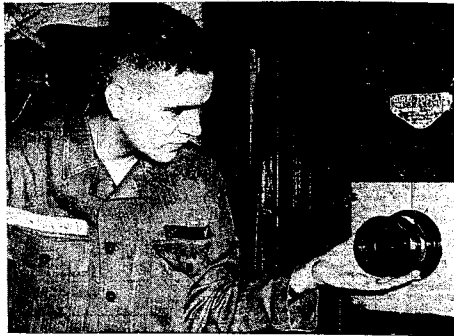

Although practically all EM in the Army Field Printing Plant are former union printers; union hours and the 40 hour week are often but a dim memory for the hard-working men of Co. C ISD, who man the plant's complicated machinery.

With the inexhaustible appetite of The Infantry School's many classes, consuming pamphlets and lesson materials as fast as they can be produced, the men have little time to meditate upon the slower pace of civilian life.

"We take our breaks at a running walk," commented a veteran soldier as he sipped scalding coffee while manipulating a machine with the other hand and two feet on a treadle bar. "We don't know what the word hurry is around here because we never slow down enough to hear it used."

To help maintain efficiency the printing plant is equipped with the latest in automatic equipment and safety devices. Air conditioning throughout a large part of the plant further speeds the work as military and civilian technicians work faster and more efficiently. However its primary purpose is in maintaining production control of the various chemical and inking processes.

Problems "Same as any one else—personnel" said a sergeant. "Fortunately a good part of our work is done by civilians. We couldn't function without them. But we're always wanting into a bind on trained and experienced enlisted men. But then, it rough all over. We figure we're doing all right."

FOCUSING IN . . . Pvt. Valvin W. Shaw, of Rochester, N. Y., sets the focus on his giant copy camera, part of the equipment of the Army Field Printing Plant here.

AUTOMATIC ADDRESSER . . . Pvt. Frank D. Thompson, of Milwaukee, Wis., loads envelopes into an addressing machine at the Army Field Printing Plant at Ft. Benning.

THE PRESSES ROLL . . . SP2 Joseph H. Hughes, of Columbus, finds the right button to start the press used in the Army Field Printing Plant here.

Army Record Star MCs New 'Song Hits' Program

APPS NEWS FEATURE

There's a soldier in this Army that gets his mail center at Ft. Benning full — better than Jay here, Pvt. Charlie Applewhite keeps occupied at present as emcee of an ABC Radio series. "Song Hits From Around the World With Charlie Applewhite," in addition to other recruiting and publicity work.

Here's where YOU come in — "Song Hits" is a song request program for you and all other servicemen. Charlie spins and sings the number one song hits on jukeboxes around the world — but you have to write and say what's popular at your ship, station or base.

The program is broadcast live from NYC and carried by radio stations nationwide each cut before I went in the Army for release from time to time to last out the hitch."

Next record out, Charlie's "Don't Take My Heart" and "Mutual Association," he answered. "The 'Abnail' number is from Ethel Merman's new musical due on Broadway they used to talk about service life, and I thought I must be missing something. In basic, I found out what I was missing."

A 23-year-old Texan (Charlie is the only short Texan we ever met — how did it happen?) Applewhite had no direct desires for a singing career after high school graduation and worked on his parents' chicken ranch and in the oil fields.

His mother encouraged a vocal effort, however, and Charlie began a fabulous singing career at a small night club in Fort Worth (for free). His first professional engagement, by the way, was at Carswell AFB, Tex.

You know the rest — singing here and there, always moving up, and closer to New York.

Woman's Club Slates Series Of Law Classes

A "Law for Women Institute" is being held on post this fall to acquaint women of Ft. Benning with varied legal problems.

The series of discussions, sponsored by the Ft. Benning Woman's Club, are designed to give women a working knowledge of laws, pertaining primarily to the conduct of business, in the event they ever have to serve as the head of a household.

The first lecture was held Oct. 17, with subsequent classes scheduled for every Wednesday, excluding the first Wednesday of each month, until a total of seven subjects are covered.

Lecturers from the Judge Advocate General's Section, TIC; the Adjutant General Section, TIC; and a Columbus brokerage firm, will speak on such subjects as Wills and Estates, Planning, Dependent Benefits, Investments, Torts, Real Estate Purchases, Commercial Transactions and Contracts, and Family Relationships.

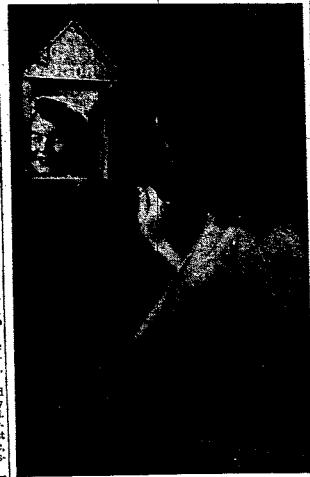

The classes are given in basic language, and are not difficult for women to understand. Any inquiries concerning these classes should be made to Mrs. James H. Cruickshank at FB 8-5216.

PC Teachers Hear Major Glaser Speak

Major Robert D. Glaser, Leadership Committee instructor at Ft. Benning, spoke to the Phenix City (Ala.) Teachers Association Oct. 16.

"The Role of the Army" was the topic of his talk at 7 p.m. in Central High School.

Major Glaser attended the University of Maryland at College Park before entering the Army in March, 1945. A 1943 graduate of The Infantry School's officer candidate course he served with the 9th and 6th Divisions in Europe in 1942 and 1943 to 1945 and with the 2nd Division in Korea in 1950 and 1951.

Among his decorations are the Silver Star, Bronze Star Medal, Purple Heart and French Croix de Guerre.

In his talk the chaplain pointed out that the young man had built his life upon things alone. Although he had kept the commandments and had done nothing wrong, the young man also had done no good.

"There is no law which demands that you get married with a smile, no law which required the Samaritan to help the man by the road-

Grabs Buddy in Mid-Air Quick Thinking Sergeant Averts Disaster During Mass Air Drop

A quick mid-air grab and some cool thinking under pressure averted what could have been a disaster over Bryan Field Oct. 9 when an 82nd Airborne Div. paratrooper grabbed the unopened parachute of a fellow trooper 1,200 feet up.

Approximately 200 spectators who had come to see a full-scale rehearsal of the 740-man parachute jump to be staged for the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference Oct. 10 watched breathlessly as the two rode to within 200 feet of the ground on a single parachute, then separated for safe landings.

M-Sgt. Raymond F. Johnson, Cpl. William H. Wise were the participants in this air-ditch drama. Both men, from

"I got a terrific opening shock when my chute opened," said Sgt. Johnson, "then before I had a chance to look up and check my canopy, I felt a tugging on my suspension lines."

The tugging was Cpl. Wise, whose parachute had not opened. He plunged into Sgt. Johnson's lines, and somehow managed to thread his way through them. His partially opened parachute then hit Sgt. Johnson.

CG Observes 'Trainfire' At HumRRO

After observing trainees undergoing TRAINFIRE I marksmanship training at Baumhang Range last Friday, Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell remarked, "During my service in Korea with the 17th Infantry Regiment, I saw many examples of the price we pay when rifle men do not understand field shooting. TRAINFIRE I has promise as a remedial measure to teach our soldiers to see and to shoot on the battlefield, the first step in the development of troops capable of employing our new mobile tactics."

CITIZENSHIP . . . This was the topic of discussion at Company Commander's Hour at Hqs. and Hqs. Co., 57C recently. To provide a proper background for the subject, the classroom was set up with a "Library" display, a five-foot composite photograph showing the national colors being lowered at retreat. Over this is superimposed a photo of the famous painting, "The Spirit of '76." The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address are displayed alongside the picture. In the photo, Pvt. Roman L. Mac, a native of Western Ukraine, discusses the benefits of American citizenship with Capt. Frank S. Westling, CO, Hqs. Co.

The final half hour was devoted to target detection, thereby completing demonstrations of all elements that make up the initial phases of training. The next phase, TRAINFIRE II, concerns squad training in problems of defense, attack, and patrol.

Cottonbalers, Flyers Champions For First Half of Grid Season

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG
An inspired Cottonbaler eleven and the high scoring Flyers capped their third straight victories in the Ft. Benning's Football League Oct. 13 to emerge champions of the first half of the season.

The Cottonbalers scored four times in the first three quarters to hand the Rams a 27-0 victory. The Flyers, who were the Doughboy League crown in the first of two games played in Gowdy Field.

In the second half, the Raiders dropped the Commanders by an impressive score of 28-0 scoring in each period with an array of free-wheeling backs.

drive with a 15-yard quarterback sneak.
Midway of the second quarter, speedy halfback John Byrd turned on the power for the Raiders, as he plunged to final yards, to give his team a decisive 15-0 halfway lead.

The Raiders hit the goal first in their game when Bradley Woodard turned on the speed to go 20 yards with a pass from G. W. Quick.

Chas Morris pushed the game into a deadlock by taking a double reverse for a 55-yard touchdown, but then the tide turned.

The game Saturday will be more of a test to see how the new changes have helped the team.
With Jim Murray back at end the line will again be ready to stop the trusts the Redskins from Kentucky who undoubtedly will throw at the Doughboys.

The starting lineup for the Doughboys—Lon Sarrack, Jim Murray, ends; John Harrison and DeLon Gardner, center; Neil Lowry and Dale Haupt, guards; Arnie Ooster, center; Jim Matthews, quarterback; Ken Clark, fullback; and Ken Brown and Dick Ott, halfbacks.

Six new members were added to the personnel of Co. C, 1st Special Troops Bn., on assignment orders last week. Reporting for duty with the company were Sp3 Jerry K. Craft Jr., Summit, Miss.; Sp3 Francis E. W. Starke, Ft. Benning, Miss.; PFC Charles K. Casey, Alamosa, Colo.; Pvt. Gerald E. Bowen, Fort Rucker, Ala.; Anthony V. Oliver, Alexandria, La., and Pvt. Ray A. Rozas, Bunker, La.

Lennie Hall will spell Jim Matthews at quarterback when the occasion arises.
"We could use another passer," said Ingram, "I hope Hall can fill the bill. If he proves adequate we could use Matthews in the halfback slot."

Last year the ex-Mississippi back proved to be a capable runner from the fullback slot. However, this year he was switched to center and hasn't had a chance to do any running.

abolished as a public nuisance in 394 A. D. by Emperor Theodosius I of Rome.

More than 1,500 years passed before the games were held again.

The man responsible for reviving the Games was a Frenchman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin. His interest in international peace, together with his belief that an international sports program would contribute to international good will, led him to suggest the ancient Games.

He argued that just as the Games had helped to unite the cities and tribes of ancient Greece, so might they help the nations of the modern world forget their differences and quarrels.

Thus, began the start of the modern Games as we know them today.

Dant Passes Co. B to Win

Led by the pinpoint passing of Pfc. Harvey Dant, Company B downed Company C in the finals of the 5th Infantry Battalion touch football tourney '56 to go to get it.

Dant fired two touchdown passes for Company B and added a pair of extra points on aerials to SP3 James S. Bailey. Company B broke into the scoring column in the first period when Pfc. Wayne Ausmus broke through a strong C Company forward wall to nab a C Company back in the end zone for a safety.

In the third period Dant lifted a 40 yard scoring pass to SP3 Robert Bonner and then pitched to SP3 James Bailey for the extra point caught Bailey with another Touchdown loss in the final period and then added the extra point with the same combination.

Company B in winning the 5th Battalion tourney will meet the 1st Battalion in the next week in quest of the 3rd Division Touch football crown.

Army Lawyers Furnish GIs Legal Assistance Free for the Asking

How many soldiers have at times felt the need for legal advice, but didn't know where to go to get it? The number is probably great.

Actually, a soldier can secure legal advice free for the asking, since most major commands have SJA Sections, one mission of which is to give legal assistance to those needing it.

Such an office is found in the 5th Infantry Brigade. This little advertised mission of the Brigade's SJA Section, takes up a good portion of the working day of each of the members of its staff, touches all the major fields of law, such as: naturalization and immigration; domestic relations, wills, contract, and real estate transactions; and tax and insurance matters.

Staff of six The SJA legal office, or courts and boards section, has at present an assigned staff of six men—three officers and three enlisted men. All six are trained lawyers, members of their respective state bars.

A 1936 graduate of Western Maryland College in Westminster, Md., chief of the 5th Armored Inf. Bn. in Europe in 1944 and 1945. He commanded the 2nd Bn. of the 5th RCT in Korea in 1950 and 1951.

His decorations include the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters and French and Belgian Croix de Guerre.

Members of the section and their home offices where they are licensed to practice law are: 1st Lt. Robert H. Harris, Alabama; Officer in Charge, 2d Lt. William D. Brown, III, Louisiana; 2d Lt. William G. Scranton, Jr., Georgia; SP-5 Algimantas Kezulis, Illinois; SP-3 Ralph Kline, Washington, D. C.; and SP-3 Richard E. Chert, New Jersey.

Regardless of the type of legal problems involving personnel of the SJA Section, all ways give needed assistance. However, if the solution of a particular problem involves going to court, then the soldier will be referred to civilian counsel, since members of the section cannot practice law outside of the military organization.

Thus, a soldier reporting that he was being sued for $100,000.00 for the death of an individual in an automobile accident was referred to the Columbus Bar Association for a defense counsel.

Thousands of $ Saved It is estimated that thousands of dollars are saved for personnel each year in military and civilian cases. The money is saved in attorney's fees, and by the proper protection of an individual's rights in the particular problem he may have, especially in the field of taxation.

During the past "tax season" it is estimated that there were between eight hundred and one thousand tax returns prepared by this section. After the study of one soldier's tax return—and re-doing it—there was a reduction in his tax of eight hundred dollars. Another soldier went to them for assistance when he received a bill from the federal government for a tax deficiency of $200. He left with an amended tax return showing that he was entitled to a refund of $400! A savings of from $50 to $100 in tax payments are most common.

Perhaps the most important value of the tax assistance program of this section was expressed by one individual who said, "It is the first time I have ever filed a tax return with complete confidence that it is correct and that I would have no further correspondence with the Internal Revenue Bureau."

Only One Aspect Tax work, of course, is only one aspect of the legal assistance work performed. Wills and powers of attorney are done by the hundreds each year. The question asked of the lawyer vary in complexity, and range from the military to the most tragic.

A soldier's wife signed a two-year subscription for a magazine for twenty dollars. Another signed for a set of books that cost much more. Both did not want the merchandise, but were victims of high pressure selling.

One soldier asked, "I just got a bill for $50 for clothes which my former wife purchased while we were married. Do I have to pay?" A credit jeweler refused to give back the $100 cash deposit on a diamond ring which the soldier no longer needed, having lost his lady love.

Then there was the officer who owned some property in Puerto Rico and was having problems with a new lease and mortgage. The main difficulty was that all correspondence had to be conducted in Spanish. In addition to activities already mentioned, most claims such as those for damaged household goods in shipment, are handled by this section. There is never a dull moment in the SJA Section of the School Brigade. It handles many facts of law for the soldier—and for free.

LISTENS TO LEGAL PROBLEMS . . . 1st Lt. Robert H. Harris, OIC of the SJA Section, TSB, listens to a soldier's legal problem. Harris and his staff are available at all times to assist personnel untrusting legal difficulties.

Gen. Wyman To Set Tone Of Tripartite

BY MILLY SCUDDER

Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commander of the Continental Army Command, Ft. Monroe, Va., will keynote the Second Tripartite Infantry Conference of representatives from the United Kingdom, Canada and the U. S. to be held here Oct. 29 to Nov. 3.

He will speak on "The Army Looks to the Future" Oct. 29 at 1:30 p.m. in the Main Theater.

Senior officers of the three countries will exchange views on Infantry doctrine during the six-day conference. One hundred and twelve countries will participate, 64 of whom will be official delegates.

To Entertain Delegates

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell will entertain the senior delegates at an informal cocktail party and buffet supper in their quarters Oct. 28.

The British and Canadian visitors will be greeted with honors at 8 a.m. Oct. 29 on the field across from the 2nd Conference Room, building 2753 B in the area of the School Brigade's 2nd Battalion.

Gen. Powell will welcome the delegates at 8:20 a.m. in the conference room and introduce Major Gen. Armistead D. Mead, chief of the Infantry Section of Continental Army Command and conference chairman.

Will Outline Schedule

Gen. Mead will outline the conference schedule and introduce senior delegates. The group will then attend a presentation in the Main Theater on enemy Infantry tactical concepts.

An official luncheon will honor senior delegates in the Main Officers Mess. Following Gen. Wyman's talk, Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, the Army's deputy chief of staff for military operations, will welcome the group on behalf of Gen. Max (See WYMAN, Page 6)

BENNING'S CONTRIBUTION . . . A check for $17,500 is presented by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell on behalf of the post Community Activities Association, to Lt. Gen. (Ret.) R. E. Jenkinson, representing the Columbus United Givers campaign. The check was for $500 more than last year's contribution.

Delicious and Wholesome Soldiers Will Like New Army Rations

BY SAM PROCIPIO

Dehydrated food—a new Army "convenience" product—will change the combat soldier's grin to a smile. In fact, the soldier will now enjoy it.

Consensus from members of the 3rd Inf. Div., who have been selected to test a series of field-prepared meals, and a panel of food tasters on Main Post, is that the new dehydrated rations are appealing and wholesome foods.

The new field rations, still in the embryonic stage, will play an important role in keeping U. S. soldiers the best fed fighting men in the world.

First the Army thought of whipping up magical meals with regulation battle rations, prepared from such dehydrated items as seven pounds of bacon, six pounds of eggs, four pounds of lima soup, 13 pounds of pork chops, nine pounds of sweet potatoes, six pounds of corn, four pounds of apples and 12½ pounds of beef steak.

Developed by QM

The new field rations, developed by QM in cooperation with commercial food processors, are designed to maintain the same nutritious diet and appeal of garrison meals.

More than 3,000 3d Div. troops have undergone the tests with "quite surprising" results. Identical reports were received from the 25 food-tasters, including the post food service adviser, commissary officer, representatives of the post surgeon and dietitian, food service advisers from each major command and 3rd Div., and commander of STC.

"Far Superior"

Col. Henry M. Zeller, STC commander, stated that the field rations were "far superior" to any he had tasted.

Remarks from the other "tasters," who tasted the food chaper, for instance, weighing only 13 pounds could

Fund Drive Ends, $118,500 Raised

UG Gets $17,500 From Post

BY JULIA BRUNNKE

The final figure in the Ft. Benning community fund drive is $118,501.56, as the campaign ended Oct. 20, according to officials.

The only drive at The Infantry Center to raise funds for charity and welfare purposes during the 1957 fiscal year opened Aug. 29. Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, assigned to Special Services Section, was appointed general chairman.

Fifty-four major units and staff sections participated in the eight week consolidated drive. Of these, 50 units went over the top in the 100 per cent participation goal and two reached the 100 per cent level, campaign officials said.

Appeared for Support

At the start of the drive, Major Gen. George A. Lynch, 3rd Div. commander, pointed out in his appeal that contributions would be used to help maintain and improve the security, health, welfare and happiness of the people of the community, both military and civilian.

He explained that each year in the united effort, a portion of the post fund is given to the Columbus United Givers drive.

Last week a check for $17,500 was presented by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, on behalf of the Ft. Benning Community Activities Association, to Lt. Gen. (ret.) Reuben E. (See DRIVE, Page 6)

Ready for Melbourne Pete, Jim Win Olympic Berths

Uncle Sam's Olympic boxing team, slated to leave Nov. 1 for Melbourne, Australia and the 1956 Olympic Games, will include two Ft. Benning boxers, Pete Rademacher and Jim Boyd.

The two Benning boxers punched their way to victory in the finals of the Olympic Trials this past weekend in the San Francisco Cow Palace, earning for themselves the right to represent the Army, as well as the United States, in the Olympic Games.

Light heavyweight Jim Boyd had a much tougher time with heavily favored Orville Pihls of the University of Wisconsin. After suffering two knockdowns the Rocky Mount flash came off the floor to win by a TKO in the second round when Pihls suffered a cut eye. Service boxers won more than half of the titles—six, in the "Flyweights. Collegiate fighters took two and regional a 3 Golden Gloves' champions one each.

In addition to Rademacher and Boyd, team members were: Bantamweight Chasen Maelkawa from Hawaii and Michigan State University; featherweight Harry Smith of New York City; lightweight Luis Molina, San Jose, Calif.; light welterweight Joe Shaw, St. Louis; welterweight Pearce Lanza, Big Rapids, Mich.; light middleweight Jose Torres, Puerto Rico; middleweight Roger Rouse, Idaho State College.

Service Members

Service boxers aside from the Benning entries are Smith, Molina, Lane and Torres. Rademacher gained entrance to the final by winning a split (See BOXERS, Page 11)

Post Establishes Pickup Stations

Five soldier pickup stations have been established on the Ft. Benning military reservation, according to officials. Motoring desiring the opportunity of giving a soldier a lift are invited to check these stations while passing by.

Provost Marshal Office representatives stated 1½ of a blue bleaching is illegal for military personnel, soldiers are cautioned to use only the pickup stations to obtain rides.

They are situated at the following locations: 1. Highway near post No. 4, the intersection of First Division and Cassia B. 2. 4th St. near the 2nd Regimental Combat Team Chapel, Dixie Road in the 2nd Regimental Combat Team area. 3. Victory Highway near the Eighth Division Road underpass.

To Improve Post Life

Better Benning Bureau Formed

A special committee to receive constructive suggestions for the improvement of garrison life, the Better Benning Bureau, has been established on Oct. 25.

Lt. Col. Jeremiah M. McKee, deputy G-1 of the Infantry Center, is chairman of the group, which will meet Oct. 29.

Nine post organizations and 17 units and staff sections are represented on the Better Benning Bureau.

It will serve as an agency to receive recommendations from post dependents concerning practices, procedures and policies connected with community services.

We are actually concerned with making Benning a better place to live and serve than it is at present," Col. Earl E. Kinney, former deputy post commander, said at the committee's organizational meeting.

He emphasized that the bureau is not an outlet for airing complaints but that it desires constructive suggestions.

The group will meet monthly. Additional organizations or groups may become members by applying to the chairman.

Members of the bureau are Mrs. David G. Wilson, Ft. Benning Women's Club; Mrs. Robert E. Lamb, Enlisted Men's Wives Club; Mrs. Francis L. Hopper, 3rd Div. Wives Club; Mrs. George S. Eyster, Jr., Ft. Benning Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Lincoln Landis, Daughters of the U. S. Army; Lt. Col. Thomas S. Copers, Youth Activities Club; John Cramer, American Red Cross; Mrs. Robert L. Cook, The Infantry School wives group, and Mrs.

O. Z. Tyler, Jr. The Infantry Center wives group.

Advisers from units and staff sections include Lt. Col. John Mendenhall, Post Chaplain Section; Adjutant General's Division; Chaplain (Major) William C. Fox, Chaplain Section; Col. William S. Shoemaker, Engineer Section; Major Edwin C. Custod, Main Officers' Mess; Major J. J. Flegler, Non-Commissioned Officers' Mess; Major Irene Frey, U. S. Army Nurse Corps; Lt. Col. James R. Connor, Public Information Officer; Major Walter R. Messick, Post Exchange.

Col. Harry E. Hornecker, Quartermaster Section; Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Grimes, Special Services Section; 2nd Lt. Percy Hoyt, Women's Army Corps; and Major J. J. Flegler, U. S. Army Hospital.

Board to Select Senior Service School Students

FROM AFPS 50 alternate students for the Army War College.

The second panel also will make selections, on the basis of invitational quotas for the Air War College, the Navy College, British Imperial Defense College and the Canadian National Defense College.

To assure each arm and service war college representation, 25 percent of the annual senior service college assignments — 69 student spaces — are reserved as minimum branch quotas.

Technical service branch nominations will be supplied to the board by Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics.

Combat arms and administrative service lists will be furnished by the Career Management Division.

Nominations by these officials will be made in order of merit and additionally will include the names of all officers not recommended who have OBI's as high or higher than the lowest officer nominated. An explanation also will be given as to why those with higher efficiency reports were not included in the nominations.

After arranging its nominations in the order of merit, the second panel will decide the college the individual will attend based on the needs of the service and previous schooling.

Post Little Theatre Group Sets Meeting

A reorganizational meeting of the Ft. Benning Little Theatre group will be held Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. in the Main Post School auditorium.

A discussion of plans for the coming season and election of officers will be held under the direction of Lt. Col. George A. Bieri, acting president.

All post personnel are invited to participate. There is a need for electricians, make-up experts, artists and other helpers in addition to actors and actresses. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Albert T. Stafford at FB 3-1216.

Hospital Accredited By Joint Commission

The Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has approved the recommendation that the post's U. S. Army Hospital be accredited for a period of three years or until a subsequent survey is conducted.

This is a result of the evaluation of the hospital conducted last September by Frank W. Ryan, M. D., a field representative of the Commission.

The Commission commended Col. A. H. Roberson, hospital commander, for insulating standards observing accreditation and for the constant effort to improve the quality of patient care.

Standards considered necessary to insure the quality of medical care in hospitals are divided into basic principles and methods of procedure. Adherence to the basic principles is essential for accreditation. The procedures for the principles are recommended as guides, dependent upon the type, size, degree of departmentalization and resources of the particular hospital.

Received as Deficiencies Several requirements outlined by the standards for which the hospital received no major deficiencies were the essential facilities for the following survey: dietary, medical pharmacy or drug room, clinical laboratory, pathological, radiology and dental laboratory.

A graduate registered nurse on duty at all times and professional nursing care is available for all patients at all times. The hospital is constructed and arranged to insure the safety of the patient and promote his welfare.

Whether it's a test to determine the breaking point of troops during hot weather, to keep Benning free of disease-carrying bacteria, to treat the injured and cure the sick, to deliver babies or to continue research and study of new methods, the Infantry Center hospital is rated as one of the most completely equipped medical facilities in the Armed Forces.

65 Doctors Here At present there are 65 doctors in the hospital. The post, along with them are 21 medical service corps officers, 70 nurses, 10 female officers, 20 enlisted men and wacs and 200 civilians.

The post hospital, which was organized in 1918 when Camp Benning was established, has made great progress and contributed a great deal of knowledge to the vast medical field. In fact, the Infantry Center hospital has aided the Surgical Section's Research Department

Third Division Schedules Matches for Next Month

The 3rd Inf. Div. Autumn Rifle and Pistol Matches will take place in November. The schedule of events have just been announced, and calls for the first firing to get underway on Nov. 13 when all major command teams will conduct practice firing during the day.

Competitive firing will begin the following day in both the rifle and pistol matches. Firing will continue through Nov. 16 when the Commanding General's Championship Team Match will take place.

Competitive matches within the major commands are already underway to select the individuals and teams who will represent the command in the division matches.

As a result of previous matches held in the division several firers were selected for the 3rd Army Team which held its Ft. Benning last September. Two Division firers were selected for the All-Army Team after making top scores in the All-Army Rifle and Pistol Matches. They are Major Alfred D. Dunn, former member of the 4th Inf. Div. and SP3 William Q'Brien, Co. C, 3rd Inf. Bn.

The Autumn Rifle and Pistol Matches will be conducted similarly to the Spring Matches held in the Division last April and the Mid-Summer Matches held in August of this year. The ranges to be used during division matches have not yet been announced.

Kids Visit Radio Station

By JULIA BRUBINKE
A class of kindergartners overtook Oct. 18 into Station WFSB, Armed Forces Radio, at the U. S. Army Hospital.

Twenty-seven eager five-year-olds made a field visit to the radio station with their teacher, Mrs. Joan Wittig. Although arranged primarily as a "tour of the station," the visit brought a surprise both to the children and hospital patients alike.

While explaining the control room and control board, Mr. Murray Pendleton, station manager, suddenly asked the children, "How would you like to go on the air—right now?"

This followed an impromptu 15-minute program by the children which was broadcast throughout the hospital wards.

Entertainers listened. Timidly at first, then swing into the air, the children sang songs and gave interviews along the hospital wards.

Enthusiastic entertainment.

Following the broadcast the children were shown through the station's record library of approximately 180,000 music and program records.

Pointed Out Equipment

In the transmitter room to wide eyes and many oh's and ah's. Mr. Pendleton pointed out the machinery and instruments that send the programs over the air.

Before leaving the studio each delighted child was given one of the 16-inch unbreakable plastic records to take home for his own.

"Good-bye, good-bye, good-bye and thank you," rang out from 27 lily-cheeked youngsters, accompanied by 54 scraping feet as the children filed out the door to return to class.

The visit to Station WFSB is one of several educational visits the kindergarten children on post take during the school year.

P-TA Hears Auburn Professor at Meeting

"Modern education attempts to recognize individual differences and give instruction accordingly," Dr. William H. Coffield, assistant professor of elementary education at the Polytechnic Institute in Auburn, told the P-TA meeting.

He contrasted modern education with objective schools at the turn of the century whose "sole objective was to assure mastery of fundamental subjects at a level which seemed to be correct for the majority of the class."

The speaker praised the Post Children's Schools. "They are well known for procedures, techniques and practices put into operation under the leadership of your superintendent," he said.

"Your procedure of parent-teacher conferences is quite a unique feature and is well known throughout the country," Dr. Coffield added.

"Beehive of Activity"

He pointed out that the modern school is a beehive of activity. Its pupils concerned with many things yet not neglecting academic subjects.

"The first grade child today is learning to read, writes, and does other things, all at the same time," Dr. Coffield declared.

He brought out a well-trained teacher considers a child's vocabulary and interest level.

"Today's first graders are given a developmental program in reading. They can read silently, orally and with understanding and can pronounce words. Some phonics are used, but the English language is not basically a phonetic language," he said.

Dr. Coffield added, "We build a basic sight vocabulary of some 70 words and then go back and break the words down. We attempt to avoid learning by rote," he went on.

Aware of Interest

"The modern teacher is aware of the child's span of interest, interspersing situations with physical exercise and rest periods. When this psychological approach is taken, more learning evolves," Dr. Coffield stated.

The speaker was introduced by Lt. Col. Charles W. Sample, P-TA president, Col. Sample

The flame thrower is a light-weight, compact weapon, and can easily be made a standard part of a combat paratrooper's "knack" equipment.

It weighs only 25½ pounds when loaded, as compared to the 72-pound weight of the present multiple-shot model.

The new weapon is expected to be especially useful for the reduction of bunkers and other emplacement positions where high explosives are not effective.

Rations

set up at the Hq. Co. STC mess hall ranged from "it's good" to "surprisingly delicious."

As one person put it;

"They are good the way they are served—but they would undoubtedly be better if they had some doctoring from a clever cook. Don't get me wrong, I'm sure the GI will consider this not only the best of its kind, but a meal—tasty, delicious and worth the price it has received."

First of His Kind

Heralded as the first meal of its kind, the field products will include tomato juice, prefried bacon, catsup mix, lima bean soup, grill broiled pork chops, sweet potatoes, seasoned corn, cheese fluff, crisp, orange, grilled steaks with onion gravy and lyonnais green beans.

Other dehydrated foods used today, but improved, will be instant oatmeal, scrambled eggs, instant coffee, gravy and parsley potatoes.

Primary advantage of the new rations will be diversified meals for troops in the field, without necessity of refrigeration or trained personnel for preparation.

Then too it will save space, weight, transportation, storage, number of shipments and preparation time.

8500 More Than Last Year

The amount of gas sold more than contributed last year, although the strength of The Infantry Center is less now than at this time last year, according to officials.

Colombus officials congratulate and commended all personnel at Benning who gave to this important effort for the entire community.

A review and summary of the campaign that the top target was exceeded by approximately $3000. In the last week of the drive an additional $2,000 gave a total of $6,351.50 in excess of the original $4,200 target.

The 3rd Inf. Div. went well over its quota by collecting $38,490, or six per cent over the goal of $36,352, according to the commanding officer, Brig. Gen. Edward L. Whitehead.

The three units in the division will include tomato juice, prefried bacon, catsup mix, lima bean soup, grill broiled pork chops, sweet potatoes, seasoned corn, cheese fluff, crisp, orange, grilled steaks with onion gravy and lyonnais green beans.

Gyroscope to Offer GI Chance to Visit Family

Gyroscopic to Germany next March is going to be a double treat for PFC, Eberhard P. Reuter, of the 24th Tank Bn.

Ordinarily, when you go overseas you have a leave that's familiar, and look forward to the excitement of an assignment in a foreign land.

For PFC Reuter there'll be the thrill of the new assignment and a chance to visit his family and friends.

The 78th Infantry, 4th Armored Group's 88th Tank Bn. in Schweinfurt, West 70 miles away is the town of Hilpoltstein—a small town of about 6,000 people with a special significance for the battalion radio mechanic.

For there lives Reuter's father, mother, two sisters and one brother who hasn't seen in three years.

With the battalion going into training preparation for the 3,000 mile overseas transfer, Reuter is looking forward to the weekend passes and leave days he will be visiting his family.

The German youth first came to the United States as an exchange transfer student in 1951, studying at the White Water High School in Wisconsin.

He liked his American studies so much that after returning to Germany in 1952 he asked for reinstatement to the

2 Soldiers Shows Set for This Fall

Soldiers Shows Branch of Special Services has announced two attractions coming up in October and November.

"Our latest attraction will be staged Oct. 28 in Service Club No. 1 with the final performance of Halloween program, 'Witches' Brew,' being presented at 8:30 p.m.," said Dean West, post entertainment director.

The only show set for November will be a musical re-creation called Arabian Nights with original music by Bill Maldonado.

In the October show, Hellin the Magician will be one of the features with singers Srs. George Bryant and FVY Pat Chelko. Added special attractions will be filled by pantomime SPC John Bell and a dancing group from the Barbara Kimbrough Dancing School in Columbus.

On Oct. 31 the visitors will see the adaptation of the Infantry division to air transport and material items and will view demonstrations of material and firing and static displays on Hook Range.

The following day conference will discuss additional material items. At 8 p.m. they will observe a night firing and infrared demonstration on Hook Range.

Nov. 2 they will travel to Area E at 1:30 p.m. for a

Gen. Powell Speaks to MOWW

The Army's adaptation of the primary principles of military strategy to atomic weapons, equipment and tactics was detailed by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commandant of the Infantry School, to the Columbus P.T. Benning Chapter of the Military Order of World Wars Oct. 18.

Gen. Powell, in a talk at the Main Officers' Mess, stressed that a fighting force to meet conventional or atomic aggression is needed only if the force is dispersed over great distances will depend primarily on their ability to move, shoot and communicate. Mobility of units must be increased. This includes mobility by air transport as well as on the ground," he added.

Gen. Powell noted that the Infantry must be capable of moving by foot, vehicle or air, in any type of weather or terrain, and that they must be able to move rapidly to critical points where they can best influence the action.

Increased need for reconnaissance, supporting weapons with reduced minimum ranges, radio communications, air transportable weapons "capable of slugging it out with enemy heavy armor" and air to genital support was brought out by the speaker.

During his talk, Gen. Powell introduced Col. Albert N. Ward, Chief of the Advanced Tactics Group of the Tactical Department, who outlined defense and offense of a field army on an atomic battlefield.

Role Not Changed

Gen. Powell emphasized that the role of the Infantryman has not changed.

"The changes brought about by technological progress serve only to place increasing importance on the qualifications of the individual soldier. His job requires initiative and intelligence. It is this man alone who will determine the final outcome of any conflict," he declared.

Russian-Born GI SP3 Subony Considers Himself Lucky Person

By SPS ED SWITNICSKI
A Ft. Benning soldier who once spent two hours in the Russian Army, considers himself the luckiest person in the world today. Few people can speak with as much first-hand knowledge of living under the Communist government as can Russian-born SP3 Robert G. Subony, assigned to the 174th Tank Bn.

Subony's fight for freedom began in Symfiopol, Russia, where he was born 39 years ago. When he was three years old his parents were taken from their farm and herded onto cattle cars for exile to the sub-zero wastes of Siberia. Like thousands of other hard-working farmers of Turkish descent, they were charged with protesting the seizure of their farm land for collectivization.

Subony recalls vividly the religious persecutions in his native land. His community, in a Ft. Benning soldier's words, "was Turkey by nationality and Islam by religion." Called "Tatars," they became the object of a widespread Communist religious persecution in the 30's. The post mechanic saw his young brother and brother killed by soldiers, and he vowed an eternal fight against them. Assigned to the 174th Tank Bn., he fled, and escaped into the mountains for his own safety.

Prior to the beginning of Subony's offensive into Russia he was "drafted" into the Russian Army, with death as the alternative. His tour of duty may be the shortest on record, however. Two hours later, he escaped and joined the Tatar partisans in the Caucasus mountains. As a squad leader of the behind-the-line patrols in the Caucasus, he was able to avoid the equivalent rank of a master sergeant.

When the Allied Forces swept into Germany in 1945, Subony was captured and from 1946 to 1949 was held in a German prisoner-of-war camp in West Germany. His decision came the most important decision in his life. Subony, who wanted to participate in the fight against Hitler, given permission to enlist in the U. S. Army.

Not wanting transfer to Germany next March with his Gyrocopter unit, the 74th he looks forward to visiting his 64-year-old father. Miraculously, his parent survived nearly twenty years of Siberian life and now lives under the freedom of a NATO nation in Istanbul.

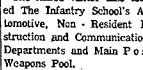

A chance to serve against Communism and an opportunity to thank his rescuers in instruction and communications departments and Main Post Weapons Pool.

Group Organizes QM Association on Post

The newly organized Post Chapter of the Quartermaster Association will receive its first charter at a meeting in the Main Officer's Mess tomorrow. The presentation will be made by officers of the National Quartermaster Corps Association and the Office of the Quartermaster General. The chapter's membership is 29 officers. After being chartered, however, membership will be open to officers on inactive status and to members of the industry in the surrounding community.

New Officers Officers of the chapter are: Col. C. C. Holcomb of Seattle, Wash., president; Col. Harry Hornacker of Cheyenne, Wyo., first vice-president; Lt. Col. M. Thornhill, of San Gabriel, Calif.; second vice president, and Capt. Eugene G. Hagedorn of Ashland City, Tenn., secretary-treasurer.

The objective of the chapter is to increase cooperation between the Quartermaster Corps and industry, according to officials. "The need for Quartermaster Corps, Industry and Quartermaster Association cooperation is far greater today than ever before," Col. Holcomb stated. If the chapter again, there will be no need of fear to prepare for it," he added.

Purpose of Cooperation The purpose of the cooperation, as explained by the president, is to make industry's advanced experience, knowledge and know-how available to the Quartermaster Corps. It is also to provide industry with a medium through which it may present its own concept of the means by which all phases of the Quartermaster Corps activities, including industrial mobilization, can be affected or improved.

Major Gen. E. L. Hastings, Quartermaster General, stated in a letter that the technological developments of this decade and the increasing complexity of the American economy have placed increased emphasis on the necessity and understanding of the Quartermaster Corps activities. "Similarly," he writes, "the complexities of modern warfare, coupled with the involved procurement procedures and statutes with which the Quartermaster Corps must comply, require industry to have an extensive knowledge of military logistic problems."

Pete Triumphed Over Obstacles

This is the story of a man... a man who set his sights on what many considered the unreachable. That is, unreachable for one who at the age of 16 contacted a case of rheumatic fever that was supposed to halt his athletic endeavors.

The unreachable goal in this case was the United States Olympic boxing team, a great honor for any amateur fighter. The man in our story is Benning heavyweight, 1st Lt. Thomas "Pete" Rademacher.

Pete's boxing career is easy enough to trace. His father was a lightweight who lost only two of 57 bouts from 1920 to 1927 under the name of Johnny Ray. Peter began fighting in 1947 as a light heavyweight at Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tenn. In 1947 and 1948 he won the mid-South Regionals.

But, we're getting ahead of our story. DREADED DISEASE STRUCK Before Rademacher even considered trying to follow in his Dad's footsteps he contracted the dreaded disease rheumatic fever. The disease kept him in bed for four months, and made him abstain from all activities for two years.

"Fortunately," he stated, "there were no after effects." After the two year layoff, where Pete had nothing to do but think, he decided that boxing would be the thing to build him up again.

As a heavyweight he fought for Yekima, Wash., Junior College and Washington State College. While at these schools, he graduated four Northwest Golden Gloves championships, in 1949, and from 1951 to 1953. In 1953 he also took the National AAU title.

After graduation from college in 1953, powerful Pete laid off for a year, helping his dad on the family's 320-acre ranch. The work consisted chiefly of preparing land for irrigated farming and, as Lt. Rademacher said, "It was a wonderful way to keep in shape."

ENTERED ARMY IN 1954 The Army entered Rademacher's life in October, 1954 where as a second lieutenant he attended the Infantry officer's course at the Infantry School.

After completing the officer's course, Pete became boxing coach of the School Brigade team. In January, 1955, he took over the post squad. With the naming of Rademacher as post boxing mentor, the time had now arrived for him to take the wraps off and get back to his boxing trunks.

Since coming out of his two year retirement, he has slugged his way to a 25-2 record (both losses the result of split decisions), getting some 15 of the 25 wins by knockouts. The only big defeat was to Solomon McTier in the semifinals of this year's Tournament of Champions in Chicago.

Despite the loss, Lt. Rademacher, known for his gentlemanly conduct in the Jim Corbett tradition, was presented the Golden Gloves Joe Louis Trophy for being the outstanding and most sportsmanlike of 32 heavyweights entered in this year's Chicago field.

It would appear that Rademacher's two year layoff from the ring has helped him rather than hindered him. His record bears this out.

BEST THING THAT HAPPENED TO HIM "It may have been the best thing that could have happened to me," he said. "With two years of instructional work I learned more about boxing than I did in five years of competition. I feel that I learn something you've got to try to teach it."

The 27 year old lieutenant, who also excelled as a football lineman in high school and college, is married to the former Margaret Sutton of A. Augusta, Ga. They have a two-year-old daughter, Susan.

Blocked Punt Clinches Victory For Rakkasons

BY TOM WIERZBICKI Bayonet Sports Editor A blocked punt by Bruce Embald with less than three minutes to go in the game proved to be the difference for the Ft. Campbell (Ky.) Rakkasons as they won a 21-20 victory over the Benning Doughboys Sunday afternoon at Doughboy Stadium. Embald blocked Doughboy quarterback Jim Matthews' punt on the Doughboy 25-yard line and the ball rolled into the end zone where a host of Rakkasons led by quarterback Dix Boyle fell on the ball to tie the game at 20-20.

Tackle Cliff Schilling calmly placed the ball through the uprights to give the airborne group from Ft. Campbell a one point victory.

The Main Post team had a 20-7 lead midway into the final period of the game, but a blocked punt by Benning's Dix Boyle tied the game at 20-20. Schilling's try for the extra point was good and the score was 21-20.

Mathews returned the kickoff to the 25-yard line. The Cyclones in an attempt to shake the running of fancey stepping, hard driving Dave Rogers, the former Indiana gridders who is drawing praise from all sides.

Rogers, right halfback for Coach Sumner Bornstein's Rockets who is presently leading the squad in scoring, ripped 35 yards through Cyclones' defenses and scored on a 20-20 yard pass from the Cyclones.

Results of the first day of play in the TVA touch football tournament being held at Gowdy Field this week saw four teams sweep to opening victories. Support Command won from the 39th ICG with a score of 19-0 while the other division winners, 20th ICG, won by virtue of an extra point, 7-6, over the 15th ICG group.

Other games saw STC take the 7th ICG by a score of 12-7, and the 29th ICG shut out Board No. 3, 20-0.

Cyclones Meet Rockets Sunday

BY JIM LONGSTRETH Fresh from their first victory of the season, a 20-0 win over The School Brigade "Red Team", the 3rd Inf. Div. Marine Rockets return to Doughboy Stadium Sunday at 2 p.m. for another shut at the School Brigade, this time meeting the "Blue Team."

The "Blue Team" of the Cyclones will be headed by All-East quarterback Russ Mericle and guard R. E. Quackenbush, both former Army gridders. Also in the starting eleven for the Cyclones will be end Leroy Suddath of West Point fame.

Mathews returned the kickoff to the 25-yard line. The Cyclones in an attempt to shake the running of fancey stepping, hard driving Dave Rogers, the former Indiana gridders who is drawing praise from all sides.

Rogers, right halfback for Coach Sumner Bornstein's Rockets who is presently leading the squad in scoring, ripped 35 yards through Cyclones' defenses and scored on a 20-20 yard pass from the Cyclones.

STARTING BACKS... The School Brigade Cyclones, after losing their season opener, will be out for revenge against the Marne Rockets of the 3rd Inf. Div. this Sunday at Doughboy stadium. Offensive threats for the Cyclones will depend on left to right, Pete Vann, Bennie Boles and Russ Mericle. Vann and Mericle are former West Pointers who do the passing. Boles, formerly of Sam Houston College is a 160 pound speedster who runs the 100 yard dash in 9.4.

Turkey Shoot Set For Skeet Club

A turkey shoot will be held at the Fort Benning Skeet Club on November 4. Both novices and experts are asked to compete in the shoot which will feature a tournament between the Ft. Benning and Ft. McPherson teams. With prizes being awarded on the Lewis Class system, based on two rounds of firing, all shooters have a chance to win. Capt. John W. Brostner, club secretary said. As a further incentive, there will be three one-shot luck shoots for the turkey.

Shooting will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The skeet range is open every Sunday. A charge of $2.25 is made per box of shells. Assistance is provided new shooters by experienced club members.

Rockets Tame Cyclones In One-Sided Contest

BY JIM LONGSTRETH Sparked by the smashing punch of the two schools, he gave the Cyclones a 20-0 victory. The Rockets rose to their first victory of the season as they crushed the School Brigade Cyclones, 20-0, at rein located Doughboy Stadium Saturday.

Rogers, who started at the University of Indiana, netted 82 yards in eight carries for an average of 10.3 yards per try to give Coach Sumner Bornstein's Rockets the impetus they needed to carry on to their first win. The Rockets have a record of 1-0 in their two games.

The Rockets unleashed their offensive in the closing minutes of the first period after Larry Popkin recovered a Cyclone fumble on the School Brigade 38 yard line, Jim Ashby and Jerry LeBlanc drove to the 22 yard line and Rogers booted a 33 yard punt. The Cyclones were forced to punt the ball back to the Rockets.

Rogers Boles to Score Hanson then tossed a perfect strike to Rogers in the right flat and the Rockets leading scorer crossed the goal with his fifth touchdowns of the season. With 1:11 to go, Rogers extra point placement was good.

With two minutes remaining in the first half, Ashby pulled in a Cyclone punt on his own four yard line and ripped up the middle to the 47. LeBlanc and J. O. Rollins carried to the School Brigade 25 yard line and Rogers second score of the afternoon. Taking a plebiscite from Hanson, Rogers advanced a Pete Vann pass to the 25 yard line for the final Rocket score in the third period. The point try failed.

Officers Bowling League 3 Teams Win 1st Spots

Last week's bowling saw the first place position in three sections change hands, as Hosp. Adams took over the lead in Section 1, Hq. TSB rooted out incumbent 29th FA Bn. in Section 2, and Dispensary A knocked Hq. No. 2 out of their first place spot in Section 3. All other sections retain their first place winners of the previous week.

High team game in the league Oct. 15 was rolled by Hosp. Adams, who turped in a score of 1017. Diegel still holds individual honors for the third week in a row, with his 617 and 227 standing as the best series and game respectively. Last week results, by sections, follows:

SECTION 1
Hosp. Adams, one in first place position in this section. Diegel won three points from 12th FA Bn. who is in first place in this section. Adams, one in first place position in this section. Diegel won three points from 12th FA Bn. who is in first place in this section.

decision from Johnny Johnson of Richmond Heights, Fla. in a quarter-finals bout.

Rademacher, a former Washington State College heavyweight from Grandview, Wash., scored heavily with sharp jabs to the head opening a cut on Johnson's nose.

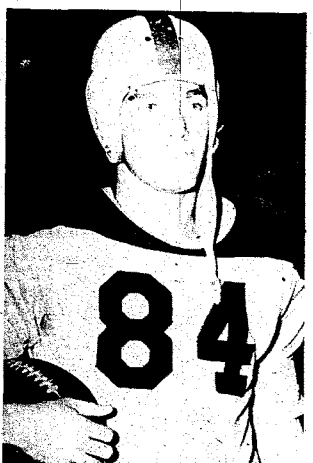

Knocked Out AAU Champ
Boyd's quarter - final bout saw the Rocky Mount flash knock out Willie Richardson an Oregon AAU champ, in the second round.

In semifinal bouts Powerful Pete battered Joe Hemphill of Washington, D. C. and light heavyweight Boyd knocked out Ronald Freeman from the University of Wisconsin, in a third round.

The biggest upset of the Try-outs saw Ed Crook, a former Benning pugilist, knockout Vince Ferguson of New York, NCAA titlist from the University of Wisconsin, in a light middleweight bout.

Floored in Second
Ferguson was floored in the second round. He did not come, to for five minutes and was lurch to a hospital for observation. It was Ferguson's first defeat in 52 fights.

Crook later was defeated for the championship by Jose Torres of Puerto Rico, who outpunched Crook and rocked him with hard punches.

All-American Star Don Holleder Playing With Brigade Cyclones

BY CLARK BLACKBURN
All-American end Don Holleder, one of the outstanding players to come out of the U. S. Military Academy, since the era of the touchdown twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard is now playing with a student officers' football team, the Cyclones.

Holleder is attending the Infantry School's basic officers course with the 2nd Co., 2nd Student Bn., TSB. Holleder's athletic career began at Aquinas Institute in Rochester, N. Y., where he won nine varsity letters in three sports. Don won three letters in baseball as a first baseman, three in basketball in which he played forward and captained the squad in his senior year, and three in football, his favorite sport.

Earned 4 letters
At West Point, Holleder earned six varsity letters, three in football and three in basketball. However, football is where Don made a name for himself. In 1954 he was named on all the major All-American teams along with the Naval Academy's Rong Beagle.

A sure bet to repeat as All-American last year Holleder placed team pride before his personal ambition and came to the rescue of Army's head coach, Earl Blaik, who was in dire need to a replacement for quarterback Pat Vann.

Moved to Backfield
Many sports writers considered it illogical to move an All-American end to the backfield. Don himself was doubtful whether it could be done.

Nevertheless, when coaches detested the field Holleder was behind center calling the plays. The results of the drastic change proved that the versatile Holleder had performed with flying colors in the unmistakable tradition of a true All-American.

Don didn't make All-American at quarterback, however, but nobody expected him to do the impossible.

Jail Exhibits Pastel Bars

NEW YORK (AP)—A new 11-million-dollar Brooklyn jail has bars painted in pastel colors to make the prisoners "feel better."
City Correction Commissioner Anita M. Krass proudly showed off the gleaming new jail to a group of officials Tuesday.

"The bars are painted pastel," she said. "Psychiatrists say that the monotony of the entire makeup of prisoners."

Doughboy League Cottonbalers, Flyers Grab Big Victories to Remain Undefeated

BY HERRY ARMSTRONG The first-half season champions, Cottonbalers and the Flyers, continued their mastery of the Fort Benning Boy's Football League last week by remaining undefeated.

In the second game played in the smaller loop, a torrid battle was waged between the Cottonbalers and the defending champion Rams' which ended in the first tie game in the league's history.

Fast-stepping halfback B. H. Baggett sprang the surprise for his general teammates when he raced for the deciding touchdown to edge the fighting Cottons.

What does the future hold for the blue-eyed, reddish-brown haired heavyweight? A professional career as a fighter?

FOR A man who at the age of 16 almost had his career, and perhaps his life ruined by a dread disease, and came back to fight successfully for five years, then retired for two long years, probably near his peak; then came out of retirement to win a berth on the 1956 Olympic boxing team...

quarter to score the lone mark of the game. Quarterback Don Durbin faded back and with perfect accuracy tossed a strike to halfback D. J. v. S. 'Specks' Dozier. The Cottonbalers' forward wall held firm during the final half to gain the victory.

Commander scoutback Charles Howard grabbed a pitchout, circled his end and galloped down the field for the first score. Juan Cruz made the extra point when he plunged over from the three-yard line to make the score, 5-0.

After driving 70 yards down field, Windham cracked over from the two. Bradford grabbed the ball and moved up the center of the field 75 yards for a touchdown. The Flyers continued to move away from a scoring pass from Windham to Bradford and another TD by Check from the two yardline.

What does the future hold for the blue-eyed, reddish-brown haired heavyweight? A professional career as a fighter? "My future in boxing depends entirely upon the outcome of the 1956 Olympics," Pete admits.

Doughboys

The ball ended with the Doughboys failing a golden scoring opportunity setup by Ken Clark's 25-yard run along with Ken Brown's 15-yard snarl off tackle to the five-yard line.

The attempt for the extra point by Matthews was wide and the Doughboys led 10-7. Oaken Receivers Fumble Early in the final stanza Matthews pointed to the Bakkanan six, where on the first play a fumble was recovered by Doughboy Art Arnie Oaken. The passing combination of Matthews to Sawchik again paid off as Sawchik making a spectacular catch with three defenders around him in the end zone.

Ernest Gets LAAF Exec. Officer Job

IA. Col. Charles Ernest has been named executive officer of Lawson Army Air Field Command, and commanding officer of the recently activated 3rd Transportation Bn.

A senior Army aviator, Col. Ernest came from Fort Sill, Okla., where he had served since 1954 as director of the flight department and later as assistant commander of the Aviation School.

The colonel graduated from high school in Springfield, Ohio, and attended the University of Hawaii prior to being commissioned in 1938. He served with the 24th Corps during World War II as corps aviator through Japan, Leyte and Okinawa.

Returning to the states, the colonel was named duty as aviation officer at Camp Polk, La. when hostilities erupted in Korea, he was shipped there to serve as aviation officer for the 1st Corps.

At the second quarter, the Flyers in the final minutes of the contest when Jeff Anderson in hand carried it over from the 24-yard line of the Rams.

His first touchdown came on a 49-yard run in the first half. Following in the final quarter, he galloped on a 20-yard end sweep and plunged over from the three.

Group Hears City Executive

The technique of human relations in management was explained by Paul G. McKenney, Jr., vice-president of the Swift Textile Company of Columbus, at a dinner meeting of the Ft. Benning Armed Forces Management Association Oct. 16.

The local business executive claimed that it was up to each supervisor to find out the method of increasing initiative and said the answer generally will not be found only in pay increases and more promotional opportunities. He said that the best way to create a favorable climate for worker initiative is to show an employee that his labor is appreciated.

The AFMA meeting was also addressed by James Dawson of Columbus, adviser for physical training at The Infantry School. Dawson spoke on research in physical training. The program was conducted in the late Genl George S. Patton, Infantry Center chapel.

Meet Held In Division On Safety

The 3d Div. Safety Council met last Thursday at division headquarters. Lt. Col. Herman M. Volheim acted as chairman for the meeting. He was assisted by Lt. Robert W. Crawford, division safety officer in presenting the council's safety reports for the month.

Colonel Volheim explained in detail safety precautions that have been prescribed for tanks in the division. A recent training accident resulting in the death of a 3rd Div. soldier in a tank has brought about a study by the Ordnance Corps to develop a safety device on tanks which caused the accident.

Col. Orville O. Munsom, commanding officer, 10th Engineer Bn., pointed out that because of the safety-mindedness of one officer in his unit a very serious accident was avoided recently when the unit was moving two tanset huts.

After lifting the first hut off the ground with a heavy crane, several men moved under it to guide the building on to the truck, which was to carry it to its new location. Standing near by was Major Norman K. Stewart. He yanked for the men to get out from under the building. A short while later the crane broke on the heavy crane broke, dropping a building to the ground. Due to the safety-consciousness of no one was under or near it. A serious accident was avoided.

The Division Safety Council meets each month to discuss reports and activities. The next meeting will be held in November.

Generals Study Infantry Doctrine At Second Tripartite Conference

Representatives Attend From G. B., Canada, U. S.

WEARING HER DADDY'S GLOVES... Mrs. Rademacher and Little Susan

According to Pete's Wife Champ Leads Double Life

BY TOM WIERZBICKI

A fighting panther in the boxing ring but mild as a lamb at home; that's the tell-tale description of 1st Lt. Thomas "Pete" Rademacher, U. S. heavy-weight hopeful in the 1956 Olympic Games which begin Nov. 23 in Melbourne, Australia.

Post Officers Hear Reports On Futurarmy

Nineteen Post officers, headed by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, have returned from Washington, D. C., after hearing comprehensive reports on the "Futurarmy" at the second annual meeting of the Association of the U. S. Army Oct. 25 to 27.

"Perhaps the most pressing problem which the Army faces today is to assess the impact of atomic-bearing missiles and projectiles on the nature of the land battle and, then to effect a proper adjustment of organization, technique, equipment and weapons," Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, told the organization.

Gen. Taylor underscored four requirements our Army must adapt to the atomic battlefield—increased ability to locate atomic targets on the battlefield, to deliver atomic fires and to exploit our own firepower and reduced susceptibility to detection by the enemy.

"New weapons and machines will serve our soldiers with our replacing them. The atomic weapon is an impressive newcomer to the battlefield; however, it possesses few independent virtues," he said.

"The effectiveness of atomic fires depends upon the combining ability of the conventional forces to influence the action to the extent required to shield atomic fire units, hold vital areas, force the occurrence of lucrative atomic targets and exploit the effects of atomic fires. If conventional forces are unable to perform these essential military tasks, then the battle will be lost regardless of the number of atomic support units involved," Gen. Taylor added.

Major Gen. Hamilton H. Brown, director of Army activities, told the group that the Futurarmy will employ 1,000-pound "airial" force flying over the front of the battlefield.

MH Society to Meet In Florida Nov. 9-11

Troops from the 3rd Inf. Div. were selected to represent the Medal of Honor winner SFC Ronald S. Rosser, a newly assigned member of the School Honor Society Convention in Lakeland Fla. Nov. 9-11.

An honor rifle company composed of the finest soldiers of the division's first battalion, chosen in open competition, and the division band will perform during the combined MR-Veterans Day Festivities in Florida.

Present plans call for the ceremonies to take place both in Lakeland and Tampa, with invitations extended to all Medal of Honor winners.

Major Charles F. Murray Jr. of the Infantry School medical department, was the first MH winner from Benning to announce his acceptance. A native of Wilmington, N. C., Maj. Murray earned the nation's highest honor when he single-handedly attacked a German force of 200 men, forcing the enemy to withdraw.

Capt. James L. Stone, of Hot Springs and Pine Bluff, Ark., commanding officer, Co. A, 2nd Inf. Bn. and the lone wearer of the MH in the third division at the present time, stated that he hopes to attend the gathering.

The coveted medal was earned by Stone's heroism under fire during the Korean conflict.

A week-long exchange of views on Infantry doctrine among Great Britain, Canada and the U. S. began here Oct. 29 with an honor guard preceding the opening session of the Second Tripartite Infantry Conference.

"We feel particularly honored to be host to an international military conference," Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry School commandant and conference host, told the 120 delegates and advisers.

Exchange of views, determining if standardization is advisable and ascertaining means of standardization were emphasized as conference objectives by Gen. Powell.

"We three nations are working together toward common achievements affecting the maximum possible tripartite standardization of military doctrine, organization and equipment," he said.

Introduced Gen. Mead, Gen. Powell introduced Major Gen. Arminstead D. Mead, chief of the Infantry Section of Continental Army Command, St. Monroe, Va., and conference chairman.

"It is a rare privilege to discuss mutual Infantry problems with the foremost Infantrymen of Great Britain and Canada," Gen. Mead said.

"This conference will allow the greatest economy in use of our combined resources and effort," he stressed.

Gen. Mead pointed out that the aim of standardization is to ensure that there will be no technical or operational problems when soldiers of the three countries work in cooperation.

Major post commands include the 2nd RCT, 5th Engineer Group, 54th Medical Group, TSB, U. S. Army Hospital, and Lawson Army Air Field.

The Infantry School will celebrate its 10th anniversary today.

The post, The Infantry School, and the Airborne School were absorbed by a single headquarters — The Infantry Center — in 1946 to coordinate administration and eliminate duplication. The Airborne School later became a department of The Infantry School.

Major Gen. C. L. Firbank, British Army director of military operations, is also attending. See GENERALS, Page 8

Ord. Co. Assigned Varied Duties

Jobs Cover Wide Range

They've never been called on to shoe a horse, but the 90th Ord. Co., (Field Maintenance), STC, could do a blacksmithing job if they need to.

Despite all their modern machines and equipment, a metal-working job sometimes turns up that requires old-fashioned methods, as their equipment includes a forge, anvil, hammers, tongs and like tools usually associated with the spreading chestnut tree.

Ordnance usually means vehicles, weapons and ammunition to most of us, but on investigation, you'll find ordnance activities cover a wide range. In the 90th, they can change a truck motor of a firing pin, reupholster a jeep or rebuild a generator, change the oil or an entire transmission.

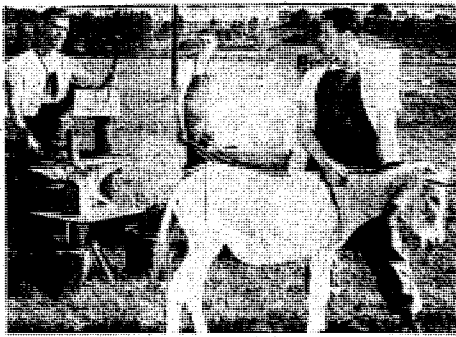

And, if necessary, they can manufacture special tools to do a job. It's all part of the job of ordnance field maintenance. The mission of the 90th is to provide automotive and small arms direct ordnance support to all units assigned to the command, or such units as may be designated by higher headquarters. They can service and maintain 2,500 wheeled vehicles and 12,000 small arms per month.

Now under command of 1st Lt. Marvin Powers, the 90th is a relative newcomer to the post, having arrived here Nov. 20, 1955, from White Sands Proving Ground, N.M.

Organized at Polk, the unit was originally organized April 10, 1942, at Camp Polk, La., and served in New Caledonia, Guadalcanal and Bougainville during 1943 and 1944. Participating in the Philippine action from January to March of 1945 at Lozon, the 90th was awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Palique for superior performance of duty, achievement and maintenance of high standards of discipline and outstanding devotion to duty.

Before the company's deactivation in 1946, it had moved to Yokohama, Japan and took over the Ford plant there.

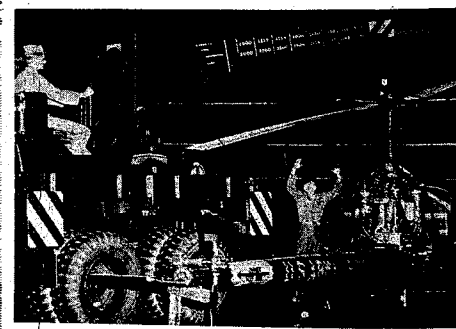

In 1952 the company was reactivated at Red River Arsenal, Texas, and moved to White Sands Proving Ground in February, 1954, re-maintaining their usual peacetime mission.

PREPARED FOR ANYTHING . . . You won't find a horse on post anymore, but the blacksmith is still here. PFC A. W. Evans, (at anvil) Pascagoula, Miss., blacksmith with the 90th Ord. Co., STC, uses a burro as a substitute in this picture. Blacksmith helpers are PFC William L. Starkey (at forge), Hammond, La., and SP3 Kernis J. Lasseigne (holding burro), Saint Martinville, La. The burro is the mascot of 1st Aviation Co., LAAF Command.

Major to Occupy Seat of Honor

Major Jack L. Treadwell, of Snyder, Okla., reputed to be the most decorated soldier in the Army today, will occupy a place of honor at a Veteran's Day parade in Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12.

The Medal of Honor winner is an instructor in The Infantry School's Tactical Department.

Realizes the Medal of Honor Major Treadwell wears the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Purple Heart with three Oak Leaf Clusters and the French Croix-de-Guerre with Gold Star. These were earned for heroism under fire in the European Theater during World War II.

Major Treadwell earned the nation's highest medal when he was a company commander in the 1950th Inf. Regt. He saw eight of his men shot down while attempting to capture a German hill prepared by eight pill boxes. Holding the rest of his unit back, he single handedly attacked the machine gun nest armed with only a sub-machine gun and grenades.

Running at full speed, he fired at the first pillbox until he was within grenade range. Reaching the installation, he found four men wounded and one dead, the citation with the medal stated.

Captured 16 Men Stopping only to reload, he repeated the same tactics until the hill, which had no camouflage or concealment for him, was secured. He captured 16 men, including the hill commander, paving the way for his battalion to start a major campaign.

Here in Sept. Prior to arriving here in September, Major Treadwell was a headquarters commandant at Baldrick, Marshall Islands.

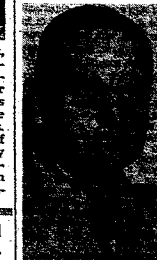

He attended South West Oklahoma State Teachers College in 1928-1940.

The Ft. Benning officer was a clerk in his father's grocery store before entering the service.

Major Treadwell and his wife, Charlotte, have three daughters, White, L., 8; Deborah L., 6, and Tracee Ann I.

Wilson-Smith, Canadian Army director of Infantry, and Brig. Gen. Chester G. De Gavra of the U. S. Army's Office of the Chief of Research and Development. Records being kept by a Tripartite Secretariat in a recording conference proceedings, coordinating the program Committee to Free World. "I am proud to contribute to what is being discussed here and to further benefit military thought of our three countries. The day may well come when we have to stand up again in earnest against a common foe. In contributing to the success of this conference, we are contributing to the success of the future of the free world," Gen. Firbank said. Brigadier Ware commented, "We appreciate this opportunity to discuss these matters in association with you and trust we may have free exchange and reach mutual agreement." The senior delegates were welcomed with an honor guard at 8 a. m. in the 2d Bn., 758 area. A 19-gun salute greeted the visitors. The colors of the three nations were massed as the national anthems of each country were played. Gen. Mead, Gen. Firbank and Brigadier Ware trooped the line with Gen. Powell and Capt. John G. Dawson, of Seattle, Wash., commander of the Infantry Center's honor guard unit.

Explained Organization of the opening session, Gen. Mead also explained the general organization of the conference. Executive groups for each nation have been established to formulate conclusions, select experts for presentations, and see that there are no major discussion blocks. Heading these groups are Brigadier G. R. O. Mussen, commandant of Great Britain's School of Infantry, Col. N. G.

Meeting

cerning the conventions were indefinite at this time. "The son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rosser, of Crooksville, O., Sgt. Ross, an assistant instructor with the advanced Airborne Committee. Sgt. Ross, then a corporal, was decorated by his superior while a member of a heavy weapons platoon of the 98th Airborne Division. "He was a forward observer in Korea when his rifle platoon was ripped by enemy fire from several bunkers. Sgt. Ross, turning his radio over to his assistant, charged the enemy positions armed with only a carbine and grenade. At the first bunker, Rosser climbed the parapet with a burst from his weapon. Gaining the top of the hill, he killed two enemy soldiers and then went into the bunker for personnel. What does a boxer have for hobbies? "Well, in the line of sports Peter enjoys fishing and hunting," said Margaret, "but another of his favorites is cooking. He serves a mean chicken steak and some scrumptious barbecued chicken. "Now, of course, Peter only dabbles in cookery," the vivacious wife added, "when I look for it in training and that's a most year added. Still I look forward to another cook in the house."

When in training, the post heavyweight must follow a three mile diet along with doing three miles of roadwork each day at 5 p. m. "Two separate meals "The midwife I don't mind said Margaret, "because it gives me a chance to sleep a little longer. However, that's not two separate meals. But Susan and I are getting accustomed to having a boxer at the table." The young couple were first introduced in 1949 while attending Yakima Junior College in Washington. Margaret was a born in Akron, Ohio, but moved to Augusta, Ga., at the age of two. She stayed there until she was 12 and then moved to Yakima.

Champ

As far as Peter's fighting is concerned, as long as he likes it and doesn't go hurt, he will appear at the Main Theater Nov. 8 at 7 p. m. This is their 14th successive season playing exclusively for the Armed Forces. Heralded as two of the best purveyors of "black magic" this side of the Sea, the fabulous pair will add novelty to the program by bringing with them several Mexican Chihuahua dogs, the smallest breed of canine in the world. It is a fast moving and well-costumed show known for its variety of style and full of laughs, comedy and magic for those fans from the Blackstone to Manrake variety.

Calling on others to follow him, Rosser assumed a more menacing posture. Although all who attempted to join him were rebuffed, he nevertheless attacked the German positions a second and third time. During his heroic action, Rosser killed at least 13 of the enemy. After exhausting his ammunition Col. Rosser pinned his withdrawing platoon, and though wounded himself, made good his escape. He was reported terrain under enemy fire to help remove other men injured more seriously than himself. Maj. Jack L. Treadwell, of Snyder Ohio, reputed to be the most decorated man in the Army, was the holder of an instructor in the tactical department of the Infantry School, will be guest of honor at a Veterans' Day parade in Atlanta.

ers, and planes that will hit spots of 775 to 200 knots and still be able to take off over a 50-foot obstacle within 600 feet. The need for professionals in the Futurary was outlined by Major Gen. Donald P. Booth, the Army's assistant deputy chief of staff for personnel. "Only by attracting and retaining people of quality, dedicating them to the Army career, and developing the skills we require. The development will be achieved through training, by giving them as much responsibility in their daily jobs as they can take and by advancing them as rapidly as they are able to take on greater responsibility," Gen. Booth stated. "And to make advancement possible, we must rapidly eliminate the unfit and make room for the qualified. Our objective is to create the incentive for an Army career amongst people who have the aptitude for development into the quality personnel we must have to realize our full combat capability from the new concepts and improved equipment," he pointed out. Delegates at the meeting also heard talks by key Pentagon generals on career management, National Guard retention of skilled personnel, Reserve activities, career attractiveness, logistics, reduction of overseas pipeline and military construction. Dr. Wampler Von Braun, chief of the Development Operations Division, Army Ballistic Missile Agency, also addressed the group. The first meeting of the Association of the United States Army was held at Ft. Benning in October, 1955, at which time the plans and policies for the association were formulated.

Married in 1953. Upon graduation in 1953, Pete proposed to Margaret and a double wedding resulted. The other party in the double ceremony was Margaret's sister Kathleen. Margaret is a triplet, so along with Kathleen and her brother Hank, who stood up for the double nuptial ceremony the trio made it a family affair. "Now that Peter has made the Olympic team," Margaret proudly said, "I am planning to return home to Yakima with Susan where on Nov. 10 we (the triplets) will celebrate our birthday in the first get-together since our wedding." "Susan is Daddy's little girl," smiled Mrs. Rademacher. "Whenever we're watching television and there's some boxing, Susan runs to the TV set and says 'Daddy boxing, boom, boom!'"

What does Mrs. Rademacher think of her husband's activities? "Well, I never was sports minded before I met Peter," she thoughtfully stated. "But now I guess I have been overly exposed to the sport, because of the television fights on Wednesday and Friday nights, so the point that I know a little about

Unit Reports

Twenty-one members of the 8th Helicopter Transportation Co., LAAP, recoupled here a last week incident of what is perhaps the largest coast-to-coast ferry flight of new helicopters. The flight was completed recently when they landed seven H-21 "choppers" at McClellan Air Force Base, Calif.

700 Begin or End Classes This Week

Approximately 700 students have begun or finished courses at the Infantry School this week. Two hundred men began airborne class No. 8 Oct. 29. Pathfinder class No. 1, with 111 members, and the 267-man basic officers class No. 4 started Oct. 31. About 100 students began advanced non-commissioned officers class No. 2 today. Graduation ceremonies will be held today in Brown Hall for radio maintenance class No. 2, with 26 men, at 11 a. m. with rifle marksmanship instructors class No. 2, totaling 51 students, at 2:15 p. m.

ASSIGNED

The 8th Helicopter Transportation Co. added another name to its roster last week when Sgt. Donald L. Howell reported for duty with the unit. Prior to his assignment to the 8th, Howell served as an aviation instructor with the North Carolina National Guard.

Unit Reports

The group departed from the Vertol Aircraft Corporation in Morton, Pa., to start the two-week trip, hop-scotching across the United States. The 3,100-mile journey covered 14 states and included stops at major cities such as Birmingham, Ala.; Shreveport, La.; El Paso and Dallas, Tex.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and San Francisco, Calif. In addition, they touched down at smaller towns such as Midland and Abilene, Tex.; Carlsbad, N. Mex.; and Douglas, Ariz.

The Army's largest, twin-engine cargo helicopter, the Vertol H40 which the group ferried can carry up to 20 troops or 4,000 pounds of cargo. The craft has a cruising speed of 100 miles per hour. Compared to today's jet aircraft, this speed is rather slow; but, said one of the members of the group, "This gives the pilots and crew a chance to see much of the U. S. on long flights such as this ferry mission." The seven "copters" the group ferried to California are scheduled to be shipped to the Far East by Aircraft Carriers—the first of this type craft to be sent over.

PLAN CONCERT . . . Four leaders, who will be instrumental in setting up the combined choral festival program, to be given at the Main Theater during the Christmas week discuss the special song book to be used for the occasion. Left to right are Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, director of the choral group and instructor in the Operations Committee, TIS, Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Chaplain, (Lt. Col.) Francis D. Beldenstein, assistant director, Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, member of the Operations Committee of The Infantry School, who will direct the choral group, and Chaplain (Major) William C. Ford, chaplain of The Infantry Center, and Chaplain (Major) William C. Ford.

Post Chorus to Give Yule Choral Festival

A Ft. Benning first will be presented at the Main Theater during the Christmas week when a combined post chorus presents a special choral festival.

"This will be the first such program ever presented on post and we are hoping to make it an annual occasion during the Christmas season," said Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, member of the Operations Committee of The Infantry School, who will direct the chorus.

Also part of the program will be seasonal numbers played by the post's combined bands. The choral group will be composed of the post Catholic, Episcopal, and other choir members, who may apply at any time. The postmaster will be responsible to follow the order of the festival outlined below in selecting temporary employees:

1. Persons on the Civil Service Clerk, Carrier, and Mail Handler Registers.
2. Veterans with a compensable service-connected disability of 10 percent or more.
3. Other veterans with 10-point preference.
4. Veterans with 5-point preference.
5. All others.

Mr. Sikes stated that about eight or ten women employees would be used this year. Individuals who apply must be available for full time work beginning any time after December 30. The rate of pay will be $1.85 per hour. Veterans must submit proof of their preference right. This proof must be submitted at the time of application for employment.

ASSIGNED . . . 2nd Lt. Martha J. Craig, of Haddonfield, N. J., has been assigned to the Physical Therapy Section of the U. S. Army Hospital A graduate of Women's College of North Carolina at Greensboro, she entered the Army Medical Specialist Corps in August, 1955.

6 Aviators End Lawson Flying Class

A fourth group of Army aviators completed the Instrument Flying Class at Lawson Army Field, Oct. 22. They were: Col. Raymond H. Murphy, Capt. Robert A. Michelson, Capt. William A. Wilson, 1st Lt. William C. Carter, all of the 3d Div, Combat Aviation Co., and 1st Lt. Joseph M. McMahon, both of Hqs. LAAF.

Honor graduates of the class were 1st Lt. Carter and Lt. Col. Murphy. At ceremonies held in the classroom, pilots were given the Army Standard Instrument Ticket by Major Allen S. Noon, aviation officer of the command. In addition, the pilots will also receive the Civil Aeronautics Administration instrument rating.

The course is broken down into three phases, requiring a minimum of 60 hours of simulated instrument flying and 40 hours of link training instruction. The academic portion of the course consists of weather, flight planning, aerodynamics, flight instruments, navigation and radio aids.

Instructions studied in the academic phase are then put to use in the link trainer and in actual flying conditions in an LC-122 air craft. Both the trainer and the LC-122 are designed to simulate 8 x 8 weather conditions. Of eight weeks duration, the course is the only one of its kind in the country that is conducted independently. The only other instrument course is held at Ft. Rucker, Ala., which is given in coordination with the Aviation School.

The course at Lawson is designed to thoroughly train Army aviators in all phases of instrument flying and enable them to complete satisfactory any aviation mission assigned, regardless of weather conditions.

NEW PILOTS
Two new Medical Service Corps helicopter pilots, 1st Lt. Louis A. Evans and 1st Lt. Avary M. Rogers, have been assigned to the 37th Helicopter Medical Detachment, Lawson Army Air Field Command, Ft. Evans, a native of Louisville, Ky., and Lt. Rogers hails from Leechville, Ark.

Jobs Open At Columbus Post Office

Thomas E. Sikes, Columbus postmaster, announced Oct. 22 that the Post Office will receive applications from individuals who desire temporary employment during the Christmas rush period. Applications may be submitted for one week only beginning Oct. 22. This does not apply to ten-point veterans.

The postmaster will be responsible to follow the order of the festival outlined below in selecting temporary employees:

1. Persons on the Civil Service Clerk, Carrier, and Mail Handler Registers.
2. Veterans with a compensable service-connected disability of 10 percent or more.
3. Other veterans with 10-point preference.
4. Veterans with 5-point preference.

Cadre Training School Begun by Div.

The 15th Infantry Combat Command recently opened its Cadre Training School. The school is designed to train highly qualified instructors who will participate in the basic training program which will get underway in the 15th I.C.C. early in November.

Lt. Col. Walter N. Israel, 15th I.C.C. S3, and organizer of the Cadre School, states that the objective of the new school is to develop the instructor potential of all cadre personnel to the highest degree possible, and to standardize the instruction to be presented to the trainees assigned to the command.

The school will be of two weeks duration, consisting of a total of 64 hours of instruction each week. During the first week, 16 hours will be devoted to classroom instruction, and 4 hours to a seminar and final examination.

Twenty-four hours will be used for practical work during the first week.

Boles Leads Cyclones To Win Over Rockets

BY JIM LONGSTRETH
Speedy 161-pound Little All-America halfback from Sam Houston State College, Bennie Boles ripped off scoring runs of 82 and 75 yards at Doughboy Stadium Sunday to spark the School Brigade Cyclones to a 24-20 return match victory over the 3rd Inf. Div. Marine Rockets.

In the opening minutes of the game with the Rockets, who captured a 20-0 victory 14 minutes before the Cyclones, threatening Boles crashed through the 2nd Div. line and stole a pitchout from Marine quarterback Gene Hanson on the Cyclone 18 yard marker and raced 82 yards down the sideline for the opening score. In the 11:45 period with the Cyclones behind 18-12, Boles took a handoff from former All-America quarterback from Army, Pete Vann on the Brigade 53 yard line and cut through Rocket defenders with his second scoring run of the game.

Boles' 82 yard run was the only score of the first quarter. However the little speedster chalked up 14 yards in the opening minutes of the opening frame to set up the second Cyclone score. Vann hit Jerry Burcham on a 56 yard pass and run combination to the first half, the Rockets drove to the ten yard line only to lose the ball on downs. John Siskowic intercepted a Vann pass intended for All-American Dan Hollander, two plays later and drove to the 15. Jerry LeBlanc, J. O. Hollins and Dave Rogers moved the ball to the two and LeBlanc broke over left guard for the initial Rocket score. Hanson kicked the extra point.

The Rockets opened the second half with a 63 yard scoring march capped with a 20 yard touchdown pass from Hanson to end Harold Hubbard. Hanson's second point play was blocked.

After Boles placed the Cyclones back on the lead with his 75 yard sprint, Vann in the final period dropped back on his own 45 yard line and lofted a long aerial to Hollender and the speedy flanker pulled it in on the Rocket five yard line, stepped into the end zone, and gave the Cyclones their margin of victory.

Hanson hit Siskowic with a 33 yard pass play to the Cyclone 12 in the closing minutes of the game and then on the same combination the Rockets moved to the one. On third down, Rogers bulled over for the final touchdown and Hanson added the extra point on a placekick.

Hanson, formerly of Jacksonville (Fla.) State Teachers College, had a field goal in the final department, completing 33 of 41 passes for a total of 207 yards. Vann and Hollender were both formerly of Army, stayed with their running attack predominantly throwing only eight passes. They completed 114.9 for a total of 166 yards. The Cyclones pushed to 223 yards on the ground.

TURN ME LOOSE! . . . Bennie Boles (44) breaks up an intended pass from Marine Rocket halfback Dave Rogers to End Bill Hammon (13). Don Hollender (48) moves in for the Cyclones while Jerry LeBlanc (41) and Gene Hanson (34) are ready to give aid.

Ingram's Boys to Meet Eglin Flyers in Florida

The Main Post Doughboys will try to bounce back to their third straight loss of the season, 21-20, to the Ft. Campbell Raiders as they tangle with the Eglin Air Force Flyers Saturday in Florida.

The Air Force aggregation has potent passing attack led by former University of Georgia star, Zolo Bratkowski. The "Bear" who led the nation in yards gained passing in 1952.

Max McGee, an ex-Green Bay Packers star, formerly of Tulane University, was also instrumental in the Eglin 27-13 victory over the Rockets as he set up one touchdown with a long pass reception from Bratkowski and drove various other passes that ate up 40 of yardage.

Hope to Stop Bear? Coach Jim Ingram's boys will have their hands full trying to stop the trusts of the "Bear" to his two capable receivers. "I'm hopeful," said Coach Perry, Ohio.

General Willard G. Wyman, commanding general, CONARC, Maj. General Armistead D. Mead, Chief of the Infantry section, CONARC and Col. Charles R. Leonard, Jr., the Infantry School, Ft. Benning are invited to attend the ceremony.

Also invited to attend are the following personnel who were present in instrumental in winning the trophies to be presented. They include: Lt. Col. E. R. Mason, Col. Frank R. Palmer, Maj. Leonard R. Robinson, and Capt. Francis B. Conway, all of the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit, Ft. Benning.

and holds the Southeastern Conference 10 and 11 games passing records, has capable receivers in Jim Dooley and Mike McGee.

Former Hurricane Star Dooley, a former All-American at the University of Miami, can at the University of Miami, Bears set by two Flyer touchdowns on passes from Bratkowski and McGee. McGee, who led the nation in yards gained passing in 1952.

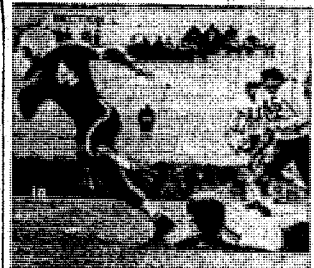

The Tigers hit the scoring column in the first quarter when quarterback Jerry Gottling drove for a 35 yard touchdown with a five-yard plunge.

The next two games fields Bell's Boys taking on the Tigers Friday and meeting the Custar Terriers next Tuesday. All games will begin at 5:15 p.m. at the Faith School Field.

Two on Doubtful List Two first stringers are on the doubtful list for the Main Post team. They are tackle Radford Hamilton and fullback Larry Gressette. Hamilton has been out for six weeks with a broken arm while Gressette has been sidelined for two weeks with a leg injury.

"If these two boys can meet and play, we need the doubtful list for the Main Post team. They are tackle Radford Hamilton and fullback Larry Gressette. Hamilton has been out for six weeks with a broken arm while Gressette has been sidelined for two weeks with a leg injury.

"I'm hopeful," said Coach Perry, Ohio.

ON THE MOVE . . . John Siskowic of the Marine Rockets carries for a first down against the School Brigade Cyclones at Doughboy Stadium last Sunday. Barely missing the tackle is Cyclone defender Jerry Burcham (22) while Ken Leuer (46) and Pete Vann (11) move in.

Biddy League Ball Terriers and Boy's Win Opening Games

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG
The Custar Terriers, a half on two runs and 30-yard Bell's Boys opened the 1956 Biddy League football season last week at Faith School Field with important victories. Halfback Ramirez took a pitchout from quarterback Grady Brown and galloped 18 yards, untouched for the score. He added the final point on a line plunge.

The Blue Battalion came back quickly, using a spread formation, with backs Mark Yoder and Owen Summers alternating to go for the 30-yard line.

Smashing across the extra point late in the second period, halfback Rafael Ramirez broke the game wide open for Bell's Boys, named for Brig. Gen. Marcus Bell, giving them a 7-0 thrasher over the Blue Battalion.

TEXAS SPEEDSTER Shines in Game

It is Bennie Boles. To say that the five-foot, nine-inch, 160 pound scabbard was the star of Sunday's game between the Brigade Cyclones and the Marine Rockets would be overstating.

All the former Sam Houston State College speedster did was literally sprint for two touchdowns. One for 82 yards, the other for 75 yards.

Comments from the three coaches here on post all seem to bear out the same opinion: Rocket Coach Summer Bornstein commented that the Texas speedster possessed something besides speed.

"What a lot of people forget to credit Boles with is his ability," said Bornstein. "His first score came about through his alertness in stabilizing a fumble in mid-air. And his second was a great exhibition of open field running. At least seven of my boys had a shot at him but couldn't put him down. It takes more than just speed to score the way he did."

Jim Ingram, Doughboy head coach, who's team will face the Cyclones Nov. 11 here at Doughboy stadium watched the game and had this to say:

"Steve Boles is fast, and you've got to watch him real close when he has the ball because on a simple handoff he could go all the way because he's as slippery as an eel."

What do his own coaches have to say about the Texas speedster's exploits? Head coach Major Oscar T. Buchholz and backfield coach 1st Lt. Richard Munson felt that "Bennie" did all right.

"You should see the guy on the practice field," Lt. Munson laughingly said, "he runs like he wants to dart back home to Texas."

GOTCHA! . . . All-American End Don Hollender (48) grabs the powerful leg of Dave Rogers (45) after a short gain by the Marine Rocket speedster, John Siskowic of the Rockets watches.

Last Minute TD Gives Co. C Win

Last second field goals by Dave Spencer and Sam Bohe helped Co. "C" 1st Special Troops Bn., take a close 26-24 decision from Co. "A" 1st Special Troops Bn., in the Special Troops Command baseball league Monday night.

This was the second straight victory for Co. C. Spencer's push shot from the corner tied the ball game up with one minute left. After an exchange of shots, fire foot, plus luck Sammy Bohe dropped in a left handed knob shot to win the game. Bohe was high scorer for

Army's Pete Vann Leads Officers on Gridiron

BY CLARK BLACKBURN
All-American passing wizard from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, Pete Vann is pitching the pigskin for the School Brigade Cyclones, a student officers' team at Ft. Benning.

A star for Army from 1951 to 1954, Vann teamed up with All-American end, Don Hollender, to form one of the top passing combinations in college ball.

The Vann-Hollender combination is presently assigned to the 25th Company, Second Student Battalion, School Brigade. The two players team up again on the gridiron with the Cyclones to the delight of Benning fans.

Second Lt. Peter Vann was graduated from West Point this year. He made All-American in 1953 and won All-American record which still stands.

Van started his athletic career while a student in the Hamburg (New York) High School where he played quarterback on the football team, first base on the baseball team and forward on the basketball team.

At the Military Academy, quarterback on the football team, outfielder on the baseball team for three years, and threw the javelin for the track team for one year.

Best Game for Pete Vann was the game he enjoyed playing the most, he says, "It was the game against Yale during my senior year—the 1955 season. Yale was supposed to be one of the powers of the East and was spoken of as being a sure shot winner. We tripped them up to the tune of 49 to 7. I threw three touchdown passes to All-American end Donald W. Hollender who my class in the 25th Company."

Vann set a national collegiate record for the most yards per pass completion. The old record set by Eddie Crowder of Oklahoma University of 13.5 yards fell to Vann's 23 yards per pass, a

Deer Season Opens on Post November 10

Deer season for members of the Ft. Benning Fish and Game Maintenance Association will open Nov. 10.

Other deer hunting dates released by officials are Nov. 17-18, Nov. 22-23 and Dec. 1-2. Bag limit on the reservation this season is one for each hunter. Each kill must be reported by calling Ft. Benning 3-3125. Only antlered bucks may be taken.

Requirements for shooting deer are that hunting is from sunrise to sunset; shotguns are the only authorized type of firearm and must be plugged to a limit of three shells; 90 buckshot or slug may be used; at least one item of outer clothing will be bright red; single-blind hunting is not authorized; instead, the buddy system will be employed, and long bows having a pull not less than 45 pounds may be used.

STC Begins Officers, WO Course

A meeting in Theater No. 2 on Oct. 23 marked the beginning of a series of classes in "Methods of Instruction" for officers and warrant officers of STC.

The first class, which started at 1:30 p.m., was opened with an orientation by Lt. Col. John L. Warden, executive officer of STC. He explained that the purpose of the course is to stress proper methods of instruction to be used throughout STC. The colonel's talk was followed by a training film on methods of instruction, and a summary.

Lectures, training films and practical work will be used for instruction purposes during the series of classes, which will be held weekly until Dec. 11. Forty-five were in attendance at the first meeting, and prior to the completion of the course, all officers and warrant officers assigned to STC will have completed a part of instruction, followed by a critique by other officers in attendance.

Stewart to Hold 3rd Army-Touch Football Tourney

Stewart will be host to seven other 3rd Army Detachments for the first annual Third Army Touch Football Tournament to be held November 10-12.

The Army area tournament is being inaugurated this year to encourage interest in touch football, as many posts do not possess regular, tackle-type, football teams. Participating teams have been selected through intramural competition on the company, battalion, and regimental levels at the eight posts.

In the tournament will be teams from Gordon, Jackson, Rucker, McClellan, Benning, McPherson, Campbell, and Stewart.

TSB Bowling Play Starts in League

The School Brigade bowling league got underway last week at Lawson field bowling alleys with Co. A, 15th, winning four games from the 5th Bn., TSB.

Other results of the first night's action saw Co. F, 15D, win four games from Co. E, 15D, and Hq. & Hq. Co., TSB, win three games from 1st Bn., TSB.

High team 3-game series for the night was rolled by Hq. & Hq. Co., which rolled a 2574 score.

The high individual 3-game series was bowled by Beaudette of the 1st Bn., TSB. His total score was 545.

The evenings high individual game was also rolled by Beaudette of 1st Bn. The high game score was 243.

Meerman Top Kegler Officer's Bowling League

Section 2 of the league was the only section which saw any significant change in the standings of the teams' after last week's bowling. The 39th PA Bn., remained first place in this section by defeating sixth place Staff Blue Rifles for three points.

Diegel lost his position as the roller of the high individual game last week, when Meerman rolled a 282, for the highest game of the year. Diegel still holds top place in the high individual series category, and the Airborne Strutters are still in first place with a high team game of 1030. Hosp. Admin hold honors for the high team series with a 2028.

School Brigade Hosts Olympic Bob-Sledder

BY CLARK BLACKBURN

An Olympic bob-sledder from Alabama who had never seen more than an inch of snow and had only three days practice before his team was signed to the Personnel Section, TSB.

Capt. Joseph W. Smith rode as brakeman on the U. S. four-man team which won the 1954 tournament in Garmisch, Germany because his next-door neighbor, who was the driver, invited him to ride during a practice run.

Mr. Lloyd Johnson, the neighbor and prominent among the bob-sledding fraternity, had told Smith about the thrill, chills, and spills connected with this sport. Capt. Smith, then an MP lieutenant, became interested, and agreed to go along just for the "kicks."

"Kicks" Prove Strangest It was found that the "kicks" that Smith possessed in the initial push-off required to get the sled moving into motion surpassed those of the current brakeman for the team who gave way to Smith in order to balance the chances of the United States No. 2 team to place in the championship.

Two days later, much to the surprise of everyone, including Smith and his team mates, they found themselves the world champion bob-sledders, with Germany's 1952 Olympic Champion No. 1 team, headed by Anderl Oetler, in second place.

The following year Smith and his team mates defended their title at the world championship run held at Cortina, Italy, but only managed a fifth place. In 1955 they competed in the Olympic trials held at Lake Placid, N. Y., but Johnson was out with a broken collar bone and with a recruited driver the team finished in eighth place.

diag days were over, Capt. Smith says "definitely not. Our team keeps in touch, and we plan on making the 1958 Olympic trials to be held at Squaw Valley, Calif. We'd like to equate the words championship once more, but regardless of whether we win or lose, it's grand sport. As Lloyd Johnson first told me, for thrills, chills, and spills, there is nothing like bob-sledding."

Bob-sledding is not the only sport the captain is interested in. As a student at Florence State Teachers College, Florence, Alabama, he won four varsity letters at basketball as a forward and captained his team his senior year. He also won two letters at baseball as a pitcher. Informal sports were to his liking, also, for he says "I participated in every sport they offered. I'd like to take part in more sports in the Army, but my time is consumed in my military duties, but I'll make the '56 Olympics if at all possible!"

Capt. Smith is the son of Mr. Henry Smith of Cullman, Ala., and he and his wife, Sophie, make their home at 2109 Rosemary Lane, Columbus, Ga.

ROY DIGGETT, HOLYOKE, Mass. (APPS)—Arnold Hahn claims to be the world's champion worm-digger. So far this year he has dug up 50,000 worms, but he still has a long way to go if he is going to break the record of 110,000 he set last year.

Boy's Football League

League Leaders Dominate Action In Benning Boy's Gridiron Play

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG

Domination by the Flyers and the Cottonbelters continued in the Fort Benning Boy's Football League last week with both teams racking up impressive victories.

A devastating ground attack for the Flyers composed of halfbacks Bobby Windham, Ray Check and James Bradford sparked a 51-32 win over the Generals.

In the smaller league, the high-flying Cottonbelters moved with halfback Dave "Specks" Donier showing the way with 12 points in a 19-9 romp over the Commanders.

Trio Scores 28 Points The second game of the Pony League saw halfbacks Mike Leonard, Tom and Ed Durbin accounting for 28 points in the Rock of the Marine's 34-19 victory over the Colonels.

Jerry Gross grabbed two touchdowns passes and halfback Milton Creighton rambled 40 yards for another, as the Raiders dumped the Rams, 21-7. Making a fast 125 lead in the first period, the Flyers scored on the scoring in the last quarter, with backs Check and Windham racing at will through the defensive wall.

Bradford Goes 45 Yards The longest run for the Flyers came when Bradford raced 45 yards with a kickoff, picking up the ball five yards deep in the end zone.

Halfback Lewis Powell put on a one-man show for the Colonels by scampering with two touchdowns and adding an extra point, but the Marine attack proved too potent. Mike Leonard cracked the Colonel forward wall to rino touchdowns, one which turned the tide of the game in the fourth quarter. The Marine six held a close 21-15 advantage at the half and Leonard's score moved them to a decisive finish.

"Specks" Scores Twice "Specks" Donier galloped with a 50-yard punt return and skirted his right end for 30 yards for his two markers. Quarterback Don Durbin blasted from the five for the other score and added the extra point.

Quarterback Bob Walker flipped two strikes to back Gross for ten and 20 yards scores and Milton Creighton outran his defenders for a 49-yard touchdown run.

Late in the final period, Junior Johnson gave the Rams their only score with an explosive 45-yard sprint.

NO HORSEING AROUND GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (APPS) — Police Chief Leo Whitcomb has announced he will penalize owners of over-parked horses as harshly as owners of overparked cars. A special warning went out to those who tie horses to parking meters and don't put any money in the meters, of who hitch two horses to the same meter.

HALETIME ACTION . . . An abbreviated game between the Commanders and the Rams, two members of the Doughboy league was played between halves of Sunday's encounter of the Marine Rockets and the School Brigade Cyclones.

REPEATERS CHANCE . . . LAAF Soldiers' Bowling League saw the 86th CI Det. Flatfoot Five team take over the lead by splitting 4 points with 3d Army Food Service School. Mertz led the Flatfoot Five with a 191 game and a 508 set. Zizzi paced the Food Service School kегglers with a 175 game and a 459 set.

DA Builds Smallest Radar Set

Development of the world's smallest known radar set, with a maximum range of 6,000 yards, was announced this week by the Department of the Army.

The radar set has already been field-tested, but will get further tests when it is parachuted, along with other special equipment, during Exercise JUMP LIGHT, exercises which have already begun at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The 101st Airborne Division is participating in Exercise JUMP LIGHT, which will continue through March, 1957.

The extremely lightweight portable set, built by the Specialty Gyroscope Co. of Great Neck, N. Y., provides mobile Army forces with local battle area surveillance of enemy movements despite smoke, darkness, or fog.

The set produces sounds of distinctive character when contact is made with a vehicle or soldier, permitting the operator to detect enemy movement.

The set is self-contained in a drum-shaped metal case, 14 inches high and 14 inches long. Lightness and ruggedness are attained by eliminating a conventional cathode ray tube and substituting the audible signal.

The low power needed by the set is supplied by a lightweight motor generator that is easily transportable by one member of a two-man observation team.

Soldier's Bowling League

Flatfoot Five Takes Lead in Kegler Play

BY CLARENCE ELLIOTT

Last week's bowling in the Soldiers' Bowling League saw the 86th CI Det. Flatfoot Five team take over the lead by splitting 4 points with 3d Army Food Service School.

Co. A with a 203 game and a 549 set, while Nicklin kept the Ordnance Co alive with a 191 game and a 491 set.

Co. C Hangs on to 4th Co. C 1st STB held on to 4th place by taking Co. B 3d STB for a total of 4 points. Finan led the winning Co. D to victory with a 175 game and a 420 set.

set. Ferebee tried to keep Co. B alive by rolling a 182 game and a 429 set.

8th place Lawson AAF Detachment did some tall bowling when they captured 4 points from the 33th Signal Five.

Co. A 1st STB was tied with the Flatfoot Five going into the night's bowling but came out in the 3rd place spot by dropping 3 out of 4 points to the 33th Ordnance Co. Higgins led Co. A with a 203 game and a 549 set, while Nicklin kept the Ordnance Co alive with a 191 game and a 491 set.

Co. C Hangs on to 4th Co. C 1st STB held on to 4th place by taking Co. B 3d STB for a total of 4 points. Finan led the winning Co. D to victory with a 175 game and a 420 set.

8th place took 3 out of 4 points from Hq. & Hq. Co. 1st STB. Money Boys won a 187 game and a 478 set, and Stevens helped the Medics with a 190 game and a 489 set.

4th Helicopter and 90th Ordnance, 2d and 7th respectively did not roll because of the Helicopter five being on TDY at Ft. Campbell.

Highlights of play: 1st High Team, 3 Game — Lawson AAF Detachment, 2518 1st High Individual, 3 Game — Mertz, Flatfoot Five, 629 1st High Team Game — Boaz 3 Blues, 310.

Men Replace Copter Engine In The Field

Expeditious, ingenuity and resourcefulness were put into practice here last week when members of the 140th Helicopter Co. Detachment moved their equipment to the field to repair a helicopter which had been disabled.

On a flying mission for The Infantry School, the craft developed engine trouble when it landed in a field near the post to pick up troops who had performed parachute jumps. Members of the 140th were called upon when the engine failed to develop the necessary power for takeoff. Following a thorough examination of the craft, it was determined that the engine assembly should be replaced.

Under the supervision of SFC James E. Johnson of the 140th, and Bennett Fortenberry, of the 8th Transportation Co., six members of the detachment removed the engine from the disabled craft and replaced it with an engine from another helicopter which had been grounded for maintenance purposes.

Although working under adverse maintenance conditions and with a lack of suitable maintenance facilities, the project was successfully completed while the "copter" rested in its temporary berth in the field. The men began work at 3 p.m., stopped for the night, placing the craft under guard, and early the next day, the craft was able to resume flying.

Copter Abilities Shown To Campbell Personnel

The versatility and capability of the Sikorsky H-34 helicopter will support the 101st Airborne Unit was organized in 1950 as the 506th Helicopter Co. at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Six of the unit's giant copters were put through their paces to demonstrate the craft's speed, maneuverability and cargo and personnel carrying capabilities. For the interested spectators, the pilots of the 4th illustrated the ship's cargo carrying ability by having one of the choppers lift a container containing four 55 gallon drums of fuel weighing approximately 1600 pounds into the air. The helicopter raised its load, moved off in much less time than it would take conventional modes of transportation.

To further demonstrate the capabilities of the powerful H-34, a 4-ton truck rigged with parachute suspension lines was hoisted into the air and carried away. Ammunition, food, rations, mounted weapons and communication equipment were also airlifted and transported.

Three of the big ships were each loaded with 12 fully-equipped combat ready troops and delivered to the demonstration area to show the personnel carrying capability of the H-34.

Throughout the demonstration, Capt. Garmon O. Aure, executive officer and captain of the unit, described the various aspects of the exhibition and explained for the audience the organization and function of the unit and its equipment. Commanded by Major William A. Howell of Montgomery, Ala., the 4th is presently on temporary duty at Camp Peary, preparing for the coming troop

Amateur Radio

What Kind of Equipment?

BY CAPT. ROSS SHELTON
"You just gotta have a $20 receiver and a thousand dollar transmitter. Amateur radio is expensive!"

That's the saying you can't get to town unless you own a gold plated Cadillac — when the fact is, you can walk if you have to.

Amateur radio equipment comes in all price ranges, and is available both new and used. In fact, the whole station can be "home-brewed" from junk parts if you wish — and if you have a big enough junk pile. Most hams build their own transmitter, either from a kit, from "scratch" or by "conversion."

Equipment falls into three categories: The transmitter, the receiver and the antenna. Commercially purchased transmitters cost about a dollar per watt when new. These run from twenty-five to a thousand watts in power (twenty-five to a thousand dollars in cost). The receiver of a transmitter is based on the power input to the final amplifying stage of the transmitter, and has only a rough approximation to the output of the set in terms of distance it will reach under given circumstances.

This is affected by the efficiency of the rig (inherent in the design) and the more important the antenna it is coupled to and the frequency it is operated on. A fifteen at transmitter hooked to a high gain beam on the higher frequencies will barrel into another station like a blockbuster at a distance of ten thousand miles; while a thousand watt transmitter hooked onto a random length of wire as a low frequency may not get out of town.

Another factor is whether you are taking a "CW" (continuous wave) or "voice" (voice). Continuous wave will reach out several times as far as "phone" under the same conditions. Many natural and manmade factors are taking a chunk at the voice impressed on the carrier wave, with the result that it soon becomes distorted and disappears; while the carrier wave continues on for quite a distance. Also, since CW is much narrower in bandwidth, more stations can squeeze into the same band of frequencies, with less interference from adjacent stations.

So save those nickels, you don't need a thousand dollar transmitter to get out. You can homebrew a rig for about ten dollars and give away the parts in several publications available on post. Or you can get a well-specified transmitter from mine to twelve dollars and convert it for about ten dollars worth of parts. The dealer will give you more wats per your money.

Incidentally, if you join the MARS (Military Affiliate Radio Station), or the Ft. Benning Electronics Club, you can get such surplus gear for free. Another advantage of belonging to the club — you get a membership card that makes radio wholesalers will recognize for sale of parts at wholesale prices. In most instances, the 50 per cent savings on some items.

Another saving on transmitters, depends on the type built. The more bands of frequencies you want to cover, the more expensive it becomes. Adding phone to CW will double the cost also — for a modulator. A single band, CW, crystal-controlled transmitter will be a tenth the cost of a band-switching phone rig with a ARGE FREED . . . Taking advantage of high water that resulted from the recent heavy rains, a successful attempt was made to free the barge that broke through the M-4 float bridge at the Engineer Landing in the wake of Hurricane "Floesie". The task was accomplished when a riverboat, manned by a crew from the company that owns the derelict and aided by personnel from the 586th Engineer Co. was able to push the barge from its mired position on the shallow shore of the Chattahoochee River to a more secure berth further down stream . . .

amount in "trade in" on a more selective receiver which will "separate out the men so you can hear the boys". The average ham has a receiver which cost $200 new ($189.00 used).

660 Recruits Begin Training In 3d Division

The first of approximately 660 basic trainees arrived at the 3rd Inf. Div. last weekend, Nov. 3-4.
A third of the new trainees came from the Reception Center, Ft. Jackson, S. C., between 3 and 5 p.m. Nov. 3 by bus.
The remainder, from the Reception Center at Ft. Dix, N. J., arrived by plane Nov. 3 at Lawson Army Air Field. The first plane arrived at noon with eight other aircraft landing at about 30-minute intervals.
The new recruits, who are assigned to 2nd Inf. Bn., 3rd ICG, were greeted by Lt. Col. George W. Wood, battalion commander, and his staff and the 3rd Div. Band.
The battalion gave them a warm welcome. New trainees' bunks had been made up and all equipment laid out for their arrival. Their first meal in the division featured steak and ice cream. Mess halls and dining rooms have been redecorated.
Trainees are receiving 20 hours of pre-cycle training prior to beginning basic combat instruction. They have viewed a film entitled "This Is the Army" which gives the new soldier the "big picture" of the Army today, and are becoming acquainted with the division history and the officers and enlisted men of their company.
Other matters being dealt with during the pre-cycle period include an orientation course. Please See RECRUITS, Page 3.

DA Report Commends Benning's Community Relations Program

Ft. Benning's community relations program has been cited by the Department of Army in its first "Community Relations in Action" report.
The report especially commends the post for the initiative shown in the formation of the Citizens-Military Council which is the highest echelon between the post and Phenix City, Ala.-Columbus (Ga.) to discuss problems of mutual interest as well as to find out how the three communities could aid one another.
The council provided liaison at the highest echelon between the post and Phenix City (Ala.)-Columbus (Ga.) to discuss problems of mutual interest as well as to find out how the three communities could aid one another.
Permanent membership on the council includes the majors of both cities as well as the commander of the Infantry Center, now Major Gen. Herbert E. Powell.
One of the greatest services the organization performed was concerned housing at the beginning of the Korean conflict. With the rapid remobilization, adequate housing for the thousands of married officers and enlisted men was at a definite premium.
Presented Certificates
The Infantry Center was presented a Certificate of Public Relations Achievement for its program by the American Public Relations Association.

Post Notes Veterans' Day

Ft. Benning units will participate in Veterans' Day ceremonies in five Southern cities Nov. 10 to 12.
In Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 12 the 29th Inf. Regiment's 1st Bn., totaling 400 men, and the 44th Scout Dog Platoon will march in a Veteran's Day parade at 3 p.m. (CST).
The reviewing party will include Gen. (Ret.) Mark W. Clark, president of the National Education Week Nov. 11 to 17, which the post's Parent-Teacher Association will celebrate with an open house at all post schools Nov. 13 at 3 p.m.
Parents will have an opportunity to meet their children's teachers, and classmates and become familiar with Children's School activities.
The open house replaces the November P-TA meeting, according to Lt. Col. Charles W. Sample, of Fort Pierce, Fla., P-TA president.
Observed annually since 1921, National Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association, American Legion, U. S. Office of Education and National Congress of Parents and Teachers.
Since there will be no general P-TA meeting this month, Col. Sample has announced winners of three-dollar attendance prizes for October. They are Miss June Cappel, first grade, Custer Terrace School; Miss Arieta Campbell's second grade, Main Post School; Mrs. Nancy Welch's morning kindergarten, Hospital Area; and Mrs. Mary Sherrick's sixth grade, Faith School.

YMCA Plans 5th Pal Day

The fifth annual United Services Organization Pal Day will be celebrated in Columbus by the Armed Services YMCA Nov. 8.
Pal Day is observed annually each year at a tribute to the men and women of the U. S. Armed Forces.
The committee of management of the Armed Services YMCA will invite as their guests this year 50 military personnel from the Infantry Center and the 3rd Div. to a luncheon at the Y.
Major Gen. Herbert E. Powell, commandant of the Infantry School, will be the main speaker. Military guests will be welcomed on behalf of the city of Columbus by B. F. Register, mayor pro-tem.
Special Guests
Special guests at the luncheon will be Miss Eileen Wilm Muschgee County Maid of Cotton, Miss Etta Jean Moore, Russell County (La.) Maid of Cotton, and Miss Carol Cherry, Lee County (Ala.) Maid of Cotton.
Entertainment will be provided by the Soldier Shows at Ft. Benning. A community relations Center Band will present a concert at 12:30 p.m. before the luncheon at 1:00 p.m.

Received Gifts Nursery Registers 55,000 for Year

Fifty-five thousand children have registered at the Post's Children's Nursery during 1956. The 55,000th child admitted recently to the nursery was four-year-old Robert C. Allen, son of M-Sgt. Robert C. Allen, Mrs. Allen.
Robert and his parents were presented gifts from the nursery.
The gifts were a jet propelled toy car for Robert, two tickets to the marionette show given by the Enlisted Men's Welfare Club, and a box of candy for his mother and father.
Averaging approximately 5,000 children per month, nursery supervisor, Mrs. Gretha Greene, of Wichita, Kans., said the staff expected nearly 70,000 children by the end of the year.
The Nursery is self-supporting and a project of the Daughters of the U. S. Army. It is under the direction of the Nursery Fund Council headed by Col. Julian V. Solothoff, of Springfield, V., commandant of the U.S. Engineer Group.
Operating only on Sundays when it opened in September, the Nursery now serves military personnel seven days a week.
The Main Post Nursery is open from 7:45 a.m. to 12 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays from 7:45 a.m. to 12:30 a.m., Fridays and Saturdays, and until 11 p.m. Sundays.
Mrs. Greene heads the 14-member staff.

55,000th CHILD ... Surprise packages are ready and waiting for little Robert C. Allen Jr., shown with his father, M-Sgt. Robert C. Allen. Robert was the 55,000th child to register at the Children's Nursery this year. Mrs. E. J. Jackson, receptionist, registers four-year-old Robert.

Division to Note 39th Birthday November 21

The 3rd Div. will observe its 39th anniversary on Division Organization Day, Nov. 21.
The anniversary date falls on the day before Thanksgiving this year.
Organization Day will be observed with each unit holding a formation at which time a brief history of the division will be read.
All training will be suspended during the day except for those units with basic trainees. The units that are conducting basic training will be required to train during the morning hours. They are conducting competitive athletic events during the afternoon hours.
Several units in the division are planning to hold competition in athletic events and contests of military proficiency, and a "Pop Open House" will also be held in several of the division units.

Allied Students Note Country's 1st Birthday

The first anniversary of the Republic of Vietnam was celebrated by Vietnamese Army officers here with a reception Oct. 26.

Approximately 205 guests attended the affair, which was held in the Main Officers' Mess. The senior officers of the 20 Allied nations represented at The Infantry School and key Ft. Benning officers were among those present.

"On behalf of Vietnamese students at The Infantry School, we take this opportunity to thank you for helping commemorate the first anniversary of the Vietnam Republic," Major Lieu Pham Van, student company commander of Allied associate officers advanced class No. 1, told the group.

"We hope the friendship among us will be everlasting and dedicated to the peace and prosperity of the world," Major Lieu added.

He was introduced by Capt. Paul R. Harris, Jr., of Ft. Benning.

Benning Helicopter Makes Rescue

Split second timing and coordination by pilots and crew of an H34 helicopter probably saved the lives of three servicemen who had been injured in a training accident at Ft. Campbell, Ky., last Tuesday. While flying a mission for Troop Test "Jump Light," CWO Edwin L. Williams, the pilot, and copilot WO Robert E. Delker observed a white phosphorus grenade explode among some troops on the ground. Seeing some of the men fall to the ground and roll in an effort to extinguish the fire in their clothing, the crew of the helicopter landed and administered immediate treatment to the injured men.

DA Ups Date On Integration Into RA Ranks

Department of the Army this week informed Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, 3rd Army commander, of an important development in the implementation of the Armed Forces Regular Officer Augmentation Act.

The development could easily mean that a number of Third Army officers who want to "go Regular Army" can get their Regular Army commissions almost a year earlier than originally planned.

When implementation of the Regular Officer Augmentation Act was announced in September, Washington stated that it would be June, 1959, before it announced who has been selected to get Regular Army commissions.

But, as Gen. Hickey was told this week, Department of the Army now plans to announce selection of a limited number of "outstanding officers" considerably earlier than the original target date of June, 1958.

"Estimated date of announcement of early selections in June, 1957," the Washington message stated.

The majority of those selected for early Regular Army appointments will be outstanding junior officers—captains and lieutenants—the message said.

"We at 3rd Army Headquarters feel this is a very important step for interested Augustees. Act eligibles to be named in grade by orders published Oct. 24. Promoted to SP5 were Nicholas J. Grande, Worcester, Mass.; John W. James, Chicago, Ill.; and William D. Sullivan, Rome, Ga. Specialists Grande and James are personnel clerks and Sullivan a personnel specialist at the Transfer Point Center."

The DA message pointed out that the decision to announce selections earlier than originally planned will not change any basic eligibility requirements for commissions under the Act's provisions.

Report

Thank You for Continuing canvas, asking home owners to rent whatever space they had to service personnel.

As a result of this campaign the shortage was alleviated to a great extent.

Formed 5 Subcommittees
In 1953 the organization formed five subcommittees for more efficient action on problems which, while not on the magnitude of the housing situation, still could make or break a relations program.

The Social Problems, a non-Fleetwood Subcommittee, for example, was formed to help reduce undue extension of credit to military personnel and to proper credit references, and to eliminate unethical business practices which adversely affect the soldier.

Among the functions of the recreational, social and cultural activities unit is to encourage the issuance of invitations to post personnel to the guests of various clubs. This resulted in the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs having four military guests at every meeting.

Other subcommittees are the religious and educational, and the medical relations and housing groups.

The Department of Army report states, "that although the council was the biggest single factor in the successful operation of the program, the final analysis it was the individual civilian and soldier who made it worthwhile."

Prayer in the Service

BY CHAPLAIN (LT. COL.) FRANCIS D. BRIDENSTAND
The odds are heavy against a person these days. Unless he plans to move, he misses. From your first day of training you will see the attacks of the enemy. They swoop down on you like MIGs coming out of the clouds and heading for the ally. In the face of the enemy, you will see the power of the enemy. You will see the power of the enemy. You will see the power of the enemy.

From the following excerpts from some of their letters, they pray we...

Talent Laden Show Slates Appearance

"Rolling Along 1956" highlighting 19 winners of the 1956 Army entertainment contest will be presented at the Main Theater Saturday at 6:45.
Boasting a talented cast, which does everything from rock and roll to low comedy, "Rolling Along 1956" is expected to outdraw last year's show.
Featured in 76 performances before 100,000 troops including overseas audiences, the 1956 show was given the credit of being the top show given at most of the bases during the year's program.

Post Choirs Practice For Concert

Walking by the Main Post Office Catholic Chapel, of the St. Michael's Episcopal Mission these days one might think the Christmas season is early this year. The familiar songs of the season ring out in "Shepherd's Song" and "Your Drowsy Sleep" can be heard with echoes in the background of "O Thou, That Hast Good Tidings" and "21 o'clock" lingering over "12 Three Kings."
Don't be alarmed with thoughts that your mind is wandering ahead of time. It's just the post choir rehearsing the music to be presented at the choral festival during the Christmas season.

On World Tour

Talent Laden Show Slates Appearance
"Rolling Along 1956" highlighting 19 winners of the 1956 Army entertainment contest will be presented at the Main Theater Saturday at 6:45.
Boasting a talented cast, which does everything from rock and roll to low comedy, "Rolling Along 1956" is expected to outdraw last year's show.
Featured in 76 performances before 100,000 troops including overseas audiences, the 1956 show was given the credit of being the top show given at most of the bases during the year's program.

Post Choirs Practice For Concert

Walking by the Main Post Office Catholic Chapel, of the St. Michael's Episcopal Mission these days one might think the Christmas season is early this year. The familiar songs of the season ring out in "Shepherd's Song" and "Your Drowsy Sleep" can be heard with echoes in the background of "O Thou, That Hast Good Tidings" and "21 o'clock" lingering over "12 Three Kings."
Don't be alarmed with thoughts that your mind is wandering ahead of time. It's just the post choir rehearsing the music to be presented at the choral festival during the Christmas season.

John C. Bard seems to be directly to Benning and more schooling. Lt. Bard says "I am about fed up with going to school—I want troop duty—and will get it when I join the 101st Airborne Div. at Ft. Campbell, where I have actually been assigned since a completed Oxford, but on TDY here."

When asked if he was strictly a Rhodes scholar, he gives an emphatic answer and says: "No, I threw the summer on the track for the Cadets, and composed of athletes from Oxford and Cambridge Universities—where I threw the hammer and toured the Scandinavian countries with the team. During my summer vacation I participated in the Student Games held at San Sebastian, Spain, in August of '48, and then on to the island of Oahu in December of '48. It was then that Bard cast his eyes on the United States Military Academy. He received an alternate appointment and was sent to Preparatory School at Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, N. Y., to prepare for his studies at West Point.

It was Made Principal of the district in Michigan went to the academy leaving Bard high and dry. He immediately applied for another appointment and this time was made the principal.

Lt. Bard's category was up in May of '49, so he got out of the Army and attended for one term Wayne University in Detroit, and one term at Olivet College, Olivet, Mich., in further preparation for the academy. In July of '50 he was enrolled at West Point where he was graduated in '54 with a B. S. Degree.

It was during his senior year that he applied through his home state of Michigan for a Rhodes Scholarship. Approximately 600 applied throughout the 48 states, and eventually 32 were accepted as scholars, among them Bard. He was a student at Queens College, Oxford, England, for two years and was graduated with a B. A. degree in Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics in 1954.

Civilian Awarded $200 for Idea

Andrew J. Whittington, civilian employee in The Infantry Center Ordnance Section, has been awarded $200 by the Department of the Army for a repair tool suggestion.

He proposed a tool to facilitate installing and removing bearings of retainer rings in the hydraulic transmissions of the M-181 two and one-half ton truck and its personnel carrier. Previously, a second mechanic was required to hold the rings during installation or removal.

Whittington's tool was adopted in March, 1955, by The Infantry Center Incentive Award Committee, which presented him $20. As utilized by the 53th Ord. Co. on the post, the tool figured in 744 transmission repair jobs a year and saved 158 man-hours.

Department of the Army's Ordnance Incentive Awards Committee appraised Whittington's suggestion, developing a simpler, cheaper and more acceptable tool. As the latter tool was the direct result of his suggestion, Whittington was granted the $200 award.

Additional incentive awards totaling $610 were recently given to post personnel. Two hundred-dollar awards for outstanding superior performance of duties went to Mrs. Doris J. Hastoy, School Brigade, and John C. Miller, formerly assigned to The Infantry Center Finance and Accounting Office.

Allen F. Schieper, Infantry School Staff Department, received $185 for proposing the installation of a series of targets and improvements on the bayonet course. He was also awarded $25 for devising and building a bayonet instruction training aid allowing rotation of a platform 360 degrees.

Ten-dollar awards were presented to Mr. A. Barbara M. Peoples, Infantry School Publications and Visual Aids Office, Mrs. Lavada B. Edwards, U. S. Army Hospital, Haraco to save $62.73 a year.

3d Army Notes Birthday Nov. 15

The 3d United States Army, which the late Gen. George S. Patton led to military immortality in World War II, will have a birthday Nov. 15. That date marks the 50th anniversary of the initial activation of the 3d Army which today has the largest military population of all continental armies, and which is commanded by Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey.

First activated in 1918, it consisted of battle-tested World War I combat units, and was commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman. Its first big job was the military occupation of the Kaiser's defeated Germany. Its headquarters were at Coblenz, 50 years later the same town fell to "Blood and Guts" Patton and his terrible tankers in the latter days of World War II. The year 1944, when Coblenz fell to Patton's troops, found the 3d Army one of history's most devastating fighting forces. Hitler's legions, were they alive today, could well attest to the awesome power of the Third as it bowled through Europe in 1944 and, after getting its baptism in battle at Avranches in August, Following the initial contact with the Nazi war machine at Avranches, it took the 3d Army only 261 hours to sweep the entire Brittany Peninsula, bridge the Seine, liberate the town of Paris, and take the "Battle of the Bulge" to capture the Saar Triangle, cross the Rhine, seize Frankfurt, and on VE Day stand triumphant on the liberated soil of Czechoslovakia and Austria.

The powerful drive saw the Third take more than a million and a quarter German prisoners, 81,000 square miles of enemy territory, and 12,000 enemy cities and towns.

19 Medals of Honor

But, the enemy had taken its toll. Patton's casualties numbered 160,692. Third Army's heroic soldiers won 19 Medals of Honor, 224 Distinguished Service Crosses and 4,990 Silver Stars — all awarded for exceptional gallantry in action.

After World War II, 3d Army reverted to its original role, as an occupational force in Germany.

In 1947, less personnel and equipment, it returned to its home at Ft. McPherson near Atlanta, Ga., where it has been headquartered since 1945. Some of the noted commanders who have directed Third Army's activities from Atlanta have been Lt. Gen. Alexander H. Gillen Jr., Lt. Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, and Lt. Gen. John H. Latta.

Third Army now has one of the country's most vital military missions — the training of troops for defense. Its 1956 birthday will be a quieter one than the 1944 birth date, but the men will be any less busy working for the preservation of national and world peace.

Peace at Tradition

"We are understandably proud of the rich tradition of 3d Army", Gen. Hickey said this week from McPherson, "but we are just as proud of, and dedicated to, the role we are now playing in our nation's defense network.

The past year has seen some extremely important security developments take place in our nation", the 3d Army commander continued, "and 3d Army is sharing in these developments."

Probably the most important event in the area this year was the reorganization of the 101st Airborne Div. at Camp Tamm, Ky., as the 11th Army's "Division of the Future".

Brand-new doctrines of mobility, flexibility and firepower which are now being tested and incorporated into the 101st's organizational concept are expected to reshape completely the combat tactics of our airborne Army.

Maneuvers Conducted

Maneuvers are presently being conducted at Ft. Stewart, Ga., involving principles of heavy armor taking part in night-fighting, a difficult problem in battle tactics.

Ft. Jackson, S. C., long one of the Army's most important basic infantry training centers, has been the site of basic training for hundreds of student trainees who signed up under rules of the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 this past year.

"There are numerous other instances which could graphically illustrate the vital role that 3d Army is playing in our national defense picture", Gen. Hickey concluded.

"But", he said, "these concepts should assure the people of the Southeast and the nation that 3d Army will continue to build upon its rich heritage and ever striven to write new and progressive pages in America's military history."

DA Adopts OER Form Modification

Army News Service

After the "Officer Efficiency Report" system, the Army will implement an improved modification of the OER Form on Dec. 31.

By changing certain sections of the efficiency report form, the Army has decided that a more adequate evaluation of its officers can be obtained.

The principal changes are a statement as to the officer's physical ability to perform the duties of his grade and branch in time of war; an indication of the level at which the rated officer can be expected to perform, and an indication of the most pronounced attributes of the rated officer.

The report will now be reviewed by the echelon which rates the rating officer to insure that proper inter-endorsement channels have been followed. In addition, it will assure that reports of an unusual, adverse or controversial nature are thoroughly examined before being sent to the Department of the Army.

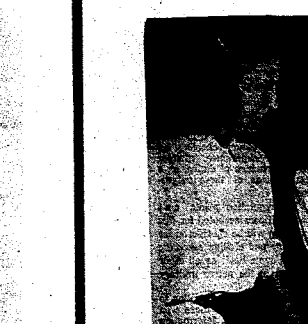

The Overall Efficiency Index (OEI) base is being extended from five to seven years. The current base is from 1953 to 1956 and the new year yardstick goes into effect at the end of the 1957 fiscal year. This has been done to lessen the impact of extreme reports and to predict an officer's efficiency more clearly, founded on a more current seven year OEI base.

Another important feature of the new OER Form is that it spells out in more detail some of the information needed by career branches and selection boards for officer ratings of the rated officer.

Twenty-four hostesses from Baker High School in Columbus helped to entertain patients at a Spook Halloween Carnival Oct. 30 at the U. S. Army Hospital.

The girls, members of the Future Homemakers of America, assisted the American Red Cross hospital recreation staff and the Patients' Council in conducting games and various booth activities.

The carnival, held in the Red Cross recreation hall was planned by the staff and the Patients' Council. The council is a representative group of patients, who work with the Red Cross staff in planning and conducting entertainment activities.

Approximately 125 patients participated in such games as apple bobbing, balloon darts and candle shooting. One of the events was sponsored and operated by the Navy mothers Club of Columbus.

Winners of the evening were PFC Jerry M. Thomas, of Gastonia, N.C.; Officer Candidate Clarence E. Shaeffer, of Fayetteville, N.C.; PFC Carroll Jacob of Cushing, Okla.; and PFC Nick Patoukas, of Salt Lake City, Utah.

In the wards, games were held for bed patients. Winners were Sp3 John S. Connolly, of Rockaway Beach, N.Y.; and PFC Willie McCray, of Dawson, Ga.

There'll be Some Changes Made...

Beginning
January 20th

Columbus & Phenix City Telephone Numbers will have Office Names

Columbus and Phenix City telephone users will begin dialing letters as well as numerals on January 20. On that day all telephone numbers will be preceded by an office name—either FAirfax, CYpress, or MUdock.

This change is a part of a nationwide numbering system which paves the way for further expansion and improvement of telephone service.

NEW MUDOCK OFFICE

Approximately 2,500 customers in the Southeastern section of Columbus now being served through other offices will be transferred to the new office now being constructed. These numbers will be completely changed to a number with the prefix MU 9.

Generally, other telephone customers will keep their present five numerals. The only change will be the addition of an office name as follows:

The present Phenix City telephone numbers will be changed and have the office designation of CYpress 8 followed by the four numerals. CYpress 7 numbers may be assigned to new telephones in the Alabama area after January 20th. In Columbus the four digit numbers will become FAirfax 2, followed by the four numerals. Five digit numbers will become FAirfax 2, 3, 4, or 7, followed by the four numerals. For example, an existing number such as 2-9989 would become FAirfax 2-9989. To call this number you would dial FA 2-9989. Please remember that in all cases you must dial only the first two letters of the office name followed by the five numerals.

All the new Columbus and Phenix City telephone numbers will be listed in a new directory which will be delivered a short time before the change takes place. Your help in accomplishing this change smoothly will be appreciated.

Army Establishes TI&E, PIO as Career Fields

The U. S. Army's Public Information and Troop Information programs were granted a long-sought request in an announcement made earlier this year by Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker.

Secretary Brucker and Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor jointly announced the writing of an Army regulation which establishes information as a definite career field in the Army.

The publication of this regulation (AR 616-140) marks a long stride forward in providing the Army with trained information officers who not only know military matters but who also know the requirements of the mass media of communications as information specialists.

Gen. Meloy, who has been seeking passage of such a regulation for some time, said that he expects officers who wish to be classified as information specialists to be first given necessary training in their basic branches (Armor, Infantry, Artillery, Ordnance, etc.), then to be alternated between branch and information assignments.

Will Be Well Qualified
"By the time they reach the last few years of their careers", Gen. Meloy stated, "these officers will be qualified to hold any key information assignments, even as high as Army Information Officer."

To be eligible for application into information specialization, an officer must be at least a captain, must volunteer in writing for information classification, and must have demon-

Post's 'Tooneyville Trolley' to Get Repair Job

No smoke or cinders were seen, but the old Ft. Benning railroad recently was back on the go — to the repair shop. Delayed for the past several years in front of the post's Fish and Game Association Office, the once principal mode of travel for students of The Infantry School has only three remnants left of the original train. Retired in 1946, after chugging around the post for 25 years, the original locomotive, 50 feet of track and the engine's car are the final remnants. Tentative schedule calls for the new house of the railroad to be on Webster Avenue, near C. McDonald Jr. of El Paso, in the identical colors they have worn for about 55 years. The engine will be painted black and the car a light shade of green. Rails and other decorative metal will be trimmed in silver.

Extensive Repairs Planned
Plans are for the locomotive and last remaining car to be in the shop until the latter part of November. Extensive repairs such as patching holes in the boiler of the engine and replacing boards in the general car will be needed. The locomotive and car are also scheduled to be repainted. RETURNS FROM FERRY
Sp-3 Rick M. Shifflet returned to the 78th Engineer Bn. recently after completion of the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Shifflet, who had never completed his firing competitions prior to entering the Army in October, 1953, was a distinguished member of the 54 Army Team, winning several expert medals.

Eglin Beats Doughboys In Thriller; Team Will Face Cyclones Sunday

Loss of Holleder Hurts TSB's Chances for Win

Army All-American Don Holleder will be missing from the lineup this coming Sunday as the School Brigade Cyclones tangle with the Main Post Doughboys at Doughboy stadium, Game time 2 p.m. The former West Point star suffered a recurrence of an ankle injury received last year while performing with the Cyclones in the game played with the 2nd Div. Marine Rockets two weeks ago. The Cyclones came out on top winning by a 24-20 margin with Holleder contributing a touchdown on a 55 yard touchdown pass from West Point teammate, Pete Vann.

Hoping for Win

The Doughboys will be hoping for a win after dropping their fourth straight loss to Eglin last weekend, 34-19, in a game which saw three long runs by the Airmen lead to the Main Post downfall.

Though in a losing effort, Doughboy Head Coach Jim Ingram was well pleased with his team's performance. "We played one of the offensive games of the season," said Ingram, "and aside from a few mental errors which we committed we could easily have won."

The Doughboys came out of Saturday's encounter without any major injuries and will be at full strength in Sunday's contest. That is except for the loss of starting tackle DeDon Rogers who is on orders to return to West Point to attend the 12th school.

With the loss of Holleder the Cyclones will be without their outstanding offensive threat, the passing combination of Pete Vann to Holleder. The sparkling combination which brightened the college scene in 1954 will be missing.

Major Oscar Backus, Cyclone coach, received welcoming news when five new officers came out for practice. Roger White, former UCLA, and Dick Munson, Pennsylvania Military College, will be at the helm. Also, new additions are fullback, Bob Sturkey (Michigan State), Roy Kusinek (Rhode Island), and Dave Good, left (Michigan State), both guards.

Doughboy end Lou Sawchik may be lost due to a death in the family.

READY FOR THE CYCLONES . . . Stalwarts in the Main Post Doughboy line, left to right, Dale Haupt (U. of Wyoming) and Arple Oaken (U. of Western Kentucky) are all set to take on the School Brigade Cyclones this Sunday.

The victory-hungry Doughboys played their best game according to Coach Jim Ingram last week in a losing cause to the Eglin Flyers, and are anxiously awaiting the Cyclone encounter.

Long Runs Broke Back Of Coach Ingram's Boys

Approximately 6,000 fans saw the Eglin Air Force Flyers' first home game, Doughboys Open Scoring. The Doughboys were the first to start the game's scoring at quarterback Jim Matthews' straight ahead, 54, 18 at Fort Stadium in a hard fought contest last Saturday. Scoring touchdowns on 57 and 87-yard jaunts by former Omaha University star Rolfe Christie and a 60-yard pass play from "Zeko" Bratkowski to Jim Dooley, the Flyers won 34-19.

Pro-Am 'Tourney Set For Nov. 12

A men's Pro-Am Golf Tournament is slated for the Ft. Benning Country Club course, Monday, Nov. 12. The tourney will be played in four-man teams with best ball and handicap figuring in the scoring. Interested parties can sign up at the Club's pro shop before Nov. 11. Prizes and times will be announced at 5 p.m. Nov. 11. Winners will receive prizes and mementoos will be given trophies.

DOD To Send Camera Crew To Melbourne

A crew of Inter-Service news photographers will film the achievements of U. S. Armed Forces athletes at the 1956 Olympic Games.

The three members of the Department of Defense camera crew, named for the assignment as top members by their services, are: Capt. Gastano Fallace, Army Physical Center, Long Island City, N. Y.; CPO John L. Hartzell, U. S. Naval Photographic Center, Annapolis, Md., and M.Sgt. Arnold C. Noel, 156th Photo Squadron, Andrews AFB, Md. Hartzell is noted for his underwater photography.

The photo-team is flying to Sydney with 1,000 pounds of motion picture equipment to make a running film report on the servicesmen competing with the American Olympic squad in the Games which will be held in Melbourne Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

Gen. Thompson Presents Awards to Grid Champs

Championship trophies were presented by Brig. Gen. James V. Thompson, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center, to winners of the Army's Touch Football Tournament Nov. 1. The presentations were held at the 71st anniversary of the Army's greatest attributes was the ability of its members to work together. He added that sportsmanship and team play, as evinced by the tough football journey and participation in sports on post, were in a large part responsible for this important military strength.

Co B, as the winners of the post championship, will represent the post in the 3rd Army Touch Football Tournament held at a special retreat formation in the Second Quartel area. Trophies included individual and team awards. Lt. Thomas Flynn of Co B, 15th ISD, received the winning team championship trophy.

Rockets to Face Huge Line in Jackson Game

In their stylish. Bobby Freeman from Auburn's straggly club of two years ago will direct the Eagles from the Quarterback slot with Neal Worden, player coach who starred with Notre Dame and the Philadelphia Eagles, and Bobby McCook stand out with Ole Miss, alternating at the fullback slot. Worden was named to the Armed Forces Press Service, All-Service All Star eleven. Also in the Eagle line will be Dick Shipley 340 pounder from the University of Maryland, Harry Lee, guard from Alabama, Ed Linta of Kansas State and Eugene Robinson of Bethune Cookman of Florida.

Rockets will be led in action by fancy stepping Dave Rogers and pass minded Gene Hanson in the backfield with Roger Ford and Former All-American Guard George Jacoby in the line. Rogers is presently leading the team in scoring with seven of the Rockets 19 touchdowns this season. Hanson, "found" himself in the last outing for the Rockets last Saturday, Page 15

Two tries by Kenny Brown put the ball on the two. With exactly one second to go Matthews went m. p. guard drop . . .

Coch Ingram just shook his head and said, "The home run beat us today, there's not two ways about it." Without a doubt, the Doughboys played their best offensive game of the season. The running of Kenny Brown, Dick Ohl, Larry Gressette and Ken Clark was far the best seen in any of gained a total of 264 yards on the ground. Along with the passing yardage, the Doughboys gained a total of 283 yards . . . Quite a lot for a team that loses 34-18.

Should we tack this game up on the morale victory column? No, I can't see those kind of wins because they're never recorded in the record book. We can't say "We wuz robbed" because it would be false. Coch Ingram summed it up best in saying "The home run beat us."

A GREAT PLAYER RETIRES The football career of one of the greatest players to come out of West Point, All-American Don Holleder (1951-55), has come to an end. We, for one, are sorry to see the great Army Star end his brilliant playing days. Though it was the first time we have ever seen the West Point man in action, aside from television performances, we can truthfully say that his playing gave us thrills we will never forget. The sports world can always use athletes the caliber of 2nd Lt. Don Holleder . . .

TOM WIERZBICKI Home Run Gives Flyers Grid Win

Two Post-season All-Star games will be played as a climax to the Fort Benning Boy's Football League season tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m. The two league winners, the Tony Leap and Colton-balers in the Doughboy League, will battle hand-to-hand in an All-Star contest composed of players from the three other clubs in each league. "These post-season games will be the highlight climax of our best season and we're hoping for a large crowd to witness the contests," said Major William B. Wiseman, president of Fort Benning Boy's Football League.

The tragic event took place under the bright Florida sunshine at Eglin Air Force Base's Sport Stadium where the Main Post force tangles with the Florida Airmen.

When the air cleared the final result read Eglin 34, Doughboys 19.

How did it happen? This may sound slightly ridiculous, but what came as the biggest surprise to this correspondent was how the Doughboys came out on the short end of the score!

In the field of sports and football especially, final scores are deceiving. As we all know, many a game is won on some break or as the coaches term it, turning point of the game. The turning point in Saturday's encounter came early in the third quarter. The score was 21-12 in favor of the Flyers. The Doughboys' pot tent ground attack moved the ball down to the one-foot line where quarterback Jim Matthews fumbled. The Flyers recovered and on the very next play, "Brah" from the University of Georgia tossed a perfect strike to end Jim Dooley who gathered it in on the 40 and raced, like a frightened deer, goalward, completing a 99-yard pass play.

The stunned eleven from Benning tried valiantly to get back into the game. In fact, the very next time the Flyers got the ball, end Lou Sawchik threw Bratkowski for a 25 yard loss on an attempted pass play back to Eglin's 13 yard line.

CHRISTIE BROKE THE DOUGHBOYS' BACK

But then, a little 175 pound halfback bearing the name of Rolfe Christie, exploded off tackle trampolining 87 yards behind beautiful downfield blocking. Literally break the back of Jim Ingram's boys . . .

There are not words available to express the reaction of the downcast players as they slowly trudged their way to the locker room. Silence prevailed for a long time as the players slowly removed their paraphernalia. It was so quiet that you could hear a rib drop . . .

Coch Ingram just shook his head and said, "The home run beat us today, there's not two ways about it." Without a doubt, the Doughboys played their best offensive game of the season. The running of Kenny Brown, Dick Ohl, Larry Gressette and Ken Clark was far the best seen in any of gained a total of 264 yards on the ground. For the Flatfooters, Levan ruled the high game with a 189 and Larning took honors with the high set with a 409. Pignate led the Money boys with a 170 game and a 329 set.

Sports Office Plans Regimental Cage Loop

Plans have been drawn up by the Infantry Center Sports Office inaugurating a 10 team Ft. Benning regimental basketball league slated to open Nov. 26. The ten team league will be composed of five teams from the 12th Sig Bn along with five from the 3rd Division. The Infantry Center's adjudicated champions, 56th RCT, signed by the School Brigade, Special Troops Command, 7th Engineer Battalion and the 54th Medical Group, U. S. Army Hospital and Law-son Army Air Command will represent the Main Post, while the 49th, 47th, 1st, and 2nd Div. Div. teams will represent the 3rd Division teams comprising 7th, 8th, 13th, 15th, 20th and 154th Companies, 7th and 8th Battalions.

3-Div. Bowling 3d Signal Still Leads

The 3rd Sig Bn. continued its winning ways in the 3rd Army Bowling League last week as CWO Carl Kruckenberg once again paced the signallers to four wins in enabling them to strengthen their hold on the number one spot in the loop. Kruckenberg rolled high individual game with a 226 and also marked the high three game series with a 697 score. 3rd Signal also bowled high game with 216 and high team score for three games with 2390.

terback snook as the gun sounded. Matthews' try for the extra point was again wide and the score read 14-12.

The second half saw the Flyers led by Zolt Bratovich and 41-yard keeper play, move down to the Benning three. From there the "Brak" pushed it closer for the score.

Pat Patterson converted and Eglin led 21-12.

The Turling Point Taking the kick off, the Doughboys led the five running of Jacks O'Bl, Brown and Clark, moved to the Flyers' one-yard line. A fumble by Matthews was recovered by Eglin center Ed Duncan.

Then followed the best play of the day—B. Bratovich led 50-yard pass covering 89 yards for a score. The former Mat's was a University star caught the ball on the 40 and raced unimpeded for the score. Patterson's conversion was a good one to make the score 28-12.

Matthews' extra point from the holl, the Flyers were pushed back to their 13 by the hard charging Benning line.

Christie Rice From Far Out

The next play saw some fine open field running contributed by Willie Christie as he raced 87 yards for another Eglin touchdown. Croy's extra point upped the margin to 34-12.

However, the Doughboys were not to be counted out. Using a seven formation, the quarterback Jim Matthews at the reins, the Doughboys took to the sidelines and moved from their own 27 down to the Flyers seven. From there a Matthews to Brown pass scored the final touchdown of the day.

Matthews' try for the extra point was again wide and the final score read 34-18.

The Rockets, in their first season of Service ball, have won one game while losing four with one tie, a 13-13 stalemate at Ft. Campbell Ky. They captured their first win at the expense of the Cyclones from the School Brigade three weeks ago with a strong 20-0 win over an eleven squared team with many former college grid-ders. The Cyclones came back the following week to gain a 26-0 victory in their second meeting with the 3rd Division eleven. The Rockets have also dropped games to Quantico Marine Base, Eglin AFB, and Pensacola Naval Air Station.

Bornstein Looks for Win
Bornstein is hopeful that the Rockets will again taste victory this week against a squad with 15 linemen weighing over 200 pounds and with 23 former college players. The Eagles were downed 21-0 earlier this season by Bolling AFB smooth functioning outfit that usually scores at will.

U. S. Riflemen Hopeful For Victory in Olympics

Some unusual friendships have been born from the Olympics and recently one occurred at Fort Benning's International Rifle Range.

A reserve Marine officer, 1st Lt. James M. Smith, Ipswich, Mass., met and became fast friends with First Lieutenants Verle L. Wright of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Herbert B. Voelcker, Jr. of Tonawanda, N. Y., members of the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit at Fort Benning.

This trio of rifers are members of the United States Olympic Rifle Team and met while practicing in the last days of practice before taking the trip to Melbourne, Australia—site of the 1956 Olympics.

"I just came on active duty in order to participate in the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio and was lucky enough to get a place on the Olympic squad," said Smith.

During the National Matches, Lt. Smith and Lt. Voelcker were competitors both firing in the 200-meter big bore division.

"I topped the field of rifers in the big bore shooting, but I was really covered by several shooters, especially Smith," commented Voelcker.

"Young man," she said archly, "have you got a handkerchief in the big bore shooting, but I 'Yep,' replied the lad. "but my mother won't let me loan it to anybody."

Post's Airborne Museum Tells Story of the U. S. Paratrooper

BY SAM PROCOPIO
 The story of the paratrooper's contribution and greatness on far-flung battlefields throughout the world. The museum, established to help indoctrinate new air-borne students on equipment, trophies and mementos of his tropical nature. Approximately 3,000 students and visitors have visited the museum in Building L-10 at Lawson Army Air Field. Every air-borne class is given the opportunity to observe the display and at the same time contribute mementoes and other articles of interest.

Weapons Exhibited
 Since the official opening of the museum by Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper, former Infantry School commandant, on Armed Forces Day last May, the role of the airborne soldier has been more colorfully depicted with the addition of each new contribution.

The museum displays parachute wings presented by the commandant of the French Airborne School, the chief of staff of the Italian Army, the Mexican Army Parachute School and officers from Japan, Brazil, China, Great Britain, Mexico and Spain.

Autographed photos of the most prominent paratroopers add that personal touch. The heroes outstanding men are Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, formerly of the famed 82d Airborne Div.; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, one-time commander of the 101st Airborne Div., and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, also former of the 82nd and the XVIII Airborne Corps. A picture of the six members of the original test platoon is also on display.

Foreign Weapons Exhibited
 A German Schmeisser 9-mm machine-pistol, SS Gagger, officer's saber, "pistol masher" hand grenade, camouflaged paratrooper's smock, Mause 7.62-mm rifle and German all-purpose 7.56-mm machine gun are prominently exhibited.

Japanese weapons include the Nambu 7.7-mm "Woodcock" light machine gun, Arisaka 7.7-mm rifle, Nambu 8-mm pistol and officers' sword. In addition, a Japanese gas mask and parachute. A British parachute is shown alongside the Japanese version.

Containers employed for dropping U.S. supplies, uniforms and equipment are featured, as well as a variety of model airplanes used by the airborne forces.

Books Displayed
 Among the books displayed are the Infantry Drill Regulations dated 1911; Manual for NCO and Privates, dated 1914; Devils in Baggy Pants, the story of the 50th Parachute Inf. Regt.; The Return to Corregidor, detailing the exploits of the 50th Parachute RCT and histories of the 12th Airborne Div., 17th RCT, and 82nd Airborne Div.

Of the many fascinating contributions the one which stands out and carries a far more reaching behind-the-scenes story is a huge painting of the mass airborne drop on Corregidor Feb. 16, 1945.

Landing Portrayed
 Beautifully portrayed in the picture by Lorenz Griffith, of Columbus, is the mass landing of the paratroopers from C-47's of the 37th Troop Carrier Group.

It shows the earthward drop onto the bomb-packed parade ground, through the roofs of wrecked concrete and steel buildings, into tall trees and scrub undergrowth, over the sides of the sheer cliffs and into the rubble and debris left by hundreds of tons of bombs and naval shells.

A tribute to the airborne men for this jump was given by Col. George M. Jones at the dedication of the cemetery at Mariveles, Batan, where he said: "History will record what you did here; this ballroom ground shall be your tomb and the one each hearts of a free people forever filled with gratitude shall be your memento."

PILOT OF THE YEAR
 Brian Tobolsky, whose Cincinnati club finished third in the National League race, was named Manager of the Year in the Associated Press poll. Birdie received the nod from 160 of 207 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Fred Bussey of the Milwaukee Braves, was runner-up with 34; and Walt Alton, Brooklyn Dodgers, was named by six. Bobby Bragan, Pittsburgh Pirates, drew five votes and Ed Hutchinson, St. Louis Cardinals, and Mayo Smith, Philadelphia Phillies, shall be your fans and the one each.

AIRBORNE MUSEUM . . . Approximately 3,000 students and guests have visited the high, narrow pine-paneled Airborne Museum in Building L-10 at Lawson Army Air Field.

Bank Names W. A. Lyman Executive VP

William A. Lyman, vice president of the First National Bank of Rome, has been named executive vice president of the National Bank of Ft. Benning which is now being organized.

Lyman was born in Rome, the son of the late Col. E. J. Lyman and Mrs. Lyman. His mother now lives in New Orleans.

Lyman lived here for seven years, when his father was stationed for two hours of duty as an officer in the Regular Army.

Lyman is a graduate of the University of Alabama and of the Graduate School of Banking conducted by the American Bankers Association at Rutgers University. The Graduate School is considered by bankers to offer the top professional training in the banking field.

Served in Army

He served in the United States Army for four years during World War II, two years in Europe with the First Army. He holds the rank of lieutenant colonel, Retired Reserve.

Lyman joined the First National Bank of Rome in 1942, and returned to the bank in 1944 following his Army service. He was named vice president in 1942.

He is currently president of Group VII of the Georgia Bankers Association, and president of the Coosa Country Club. He is immediate past president of the Rome Kiwanis Club, and has served as president of the Coosa Chapter of the American Red Cross. He has served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce, the YMCA, and the Rome Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Has Many Ties Here

Lyman has many ties in Columbus, where he will make his home. His wife is the former Miss Helen Fleming of Columbus. He began his banking career at the Fourth National Bank of Columbus, and subsequently moved to the Trust Company of Georgia in Atlanta, before coming to Rome.

Year's Highest Award

Civilian Wins $405 For Job Suggestion

The highest cash award, $405, was given to a civilian for a job suggestion during the 1956 fiscal year.

The award was made by the Army's Incentive Awards Committee, which is authorized to award cash awards for military personnel.

Nearly 4,000 more suggestions were received during the fiscal year 1956 than for the previous year despite a decrease in strength, Army officials announced.

The gauge was designed to measure the wear of end connectors on the tracks of M-48 tanks. Regulations required that track end connectors be worn not more than 3/16 inch before reversing but there were no methods for measuring the connectors, according to officials.

The gauge was designed and supplied to all units using the M-48 tank. It resulted in an estimated savings of $183.34 for one tank and based on 197 tanks at the Infantry Center, the annual savings will be $35,272.28, officials said.

Before his civil service appointment in 1944, Mr. Van Meter served six and one-half years in the Ordnance Corps, and he also received a 9th award for his suggestion of a test stand for auxiliary generators on tanks.

He was promoted to lieutenant colonel in 1954. He is currently serving as a major in the Army of the United States.

He is currently serving as a major in the Army of the United States.

Post Visited By Experts On Training

Two specialists in U. S. Army training of Allied students visited the post recently for a two-day look at Infantry School instruction for students of 20 nations.

They were Col. John Dibble Jr. of San Antonio, Tex., chief of the Foreign Training Section of the Department of the Army's G-3 Office, and Major Samuel H. Roberts, of Langhorne, Pa., school officer of the G-3 Section, Central Army Command headquarters, Ft. Monroe, Va.

They discussed Allied training with Lt. Col. Clark W. Trainer, of Indiana, Pa., Infantry School Allied liaison officer, and officers of his section.

After conferring with Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, commander and assistant commander of The Infantry School, the visitors observed Allied associate company officers class No. 1, composed of Vietnamese Army officers, receiving recollection rifle instruction with the Weapons Department on Patton Range.

They also inspected the quarters of the company class and Benning's other all-Vietnamese class. Allied associate officers advanced class No. 1, in the School Brigade's 6th Co., and visited the School Brigade's Allied Liaison Section.

50 Benning Soldiers Feted at 5th Pal Day

General Powell Main Speaker At Luncheon

Pal Day works both ways in building a good community feeling. Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commandant of The Infantry School, said at a luncheon at the Armed Services YMCA Nov. 9 in Columbus.

Gen. Powell was the principal speaker at the fifth annual observance of Pal Day for the Armed Forces. Fifty military personnel from units on the Main Post and the 3rd Div. were guests of the committee of management of the YCA.

He called the Y a "home away from home" pointing out that more than 1,000,000 men have used its facilities in its 70th year. "On behalf of all the men in uniform I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for this institution and this occasion," he said.

Proud of Record

"We are proud of this record both uniformed personnel and civilian. We cannot help but be a part of this community under such hospitable conditions and we are proud to dedicate ourselves to the protection of home, community and country," he stated.

Gen. Powell pointed out that one of his big concerns is his soldiers and their off-duty time. "Although many things are provided on post, there are times when they want to get away and come to town. The men need a home-like atmosphere in which to relax and they find it at the Y and in Columbus," he said.

Major Jack L. Treadwell, of Snyder, Okla., said to be the Army's most decorated soldier on active duty, and Chaplain

Post to Open New Type Supply Store

The Army's new kind of supply store will soon do away with the supply sergeant's monthly requisitions in quadruplicate.

The pilot store for Third Army, the shopping center will stock brooms, brushes, soaps, insecticides, engineers' tools, typewriter ribbons, wire staples and other low-cost expendables. It will be located in Bldg. 599 on Indianhead Road, near the Quartermaster laundry and Airborne gymnasium.

The soldier shopper will make his purchases with a metal "charge-a-plate" similar to those used in department stores. Three plates will be issued each company or section. He will make selections from display shelves and bins and take them to a check-out counter, where they will be charged against his unit's dollar balance for the month.

Units will be credited with a specified number of dollars each month and may carry over unspent amounts for the next month's purchases.

Now the soldier no longer will be limited to drawing expendables only once a month. If he runs out of an item, he can dash down to the shopping center and get it in a matter of minutes.

TSB Leads Post Units In Re-Ups

The School Brigade led all other post commands on a percentage basis for October reenlistments.

The Brigade had 58.8 per cent since 40 of an eligible 72 men re-enlisted. Second was the 54th Medical Group, with 47.7 per cent. Running a close third, with 38.4 per cent, was the 29th RCT.

Fourth places with a 31.8 per cent was Special Troops Command, who bested fifth spot holder, Lawson Army Air Field who reupped 29.6 per cent.

The remaining three found the 151st Engineer Group and U.S. Army Hospital tied for sixth. Third Infantry Division and Board Three (CONARC) in that order.

The School Brigade also took top honors in top re-enlistments for the month with a total of 40 men with the 29th RCT trailing with 38.

Due to this large increase, the School Brigade has now taken a commanding lead in the 1956 standing with a 53.7 per cent and Special Troops Command with a 46.4 per cent.

Most Decorated GI of Korean Action Now Student at Benning

BY ED L.T. DONALD
Y. WAKEFIELD

The most decorated soldier of the Korean conflict is now a student officer at The Infantry School. He is 2d Lt. Anthony B. Herbert, 26, a student in BIOC No. 3, 21st Co., TSB.

It was while Herbert was serving with the 24d and 38th Regt. of the 24th Inf. Div. that he won so many medals and decorations.

They include three Silver Stars, a Bronze Star for Valor, four Purple Hearts, the Combat Infantry Badge, two Distinguished Unit Citations, one Presidential Unit Citation, and the New York State Medal of Honor.

Other awards include the Synnamm Iles Medal awarded by the Korean government; the Ozama Medal, the only award for bravery in combat made by the Turkish government; the Elie de Paris, awarded by the French; and a medal awarded by the Dutch Government. His Korean Service Ribbon boasts six battle stars.

General Matthew B. Ridgeway, who during the time Herbert served in Korea was Chief of the United Nations Forces, had signed a citation proclaiming Herbert one of the two most outstanding infantrymen in Korea.

Not only is Herbert a decorated infantryman, but he is also an author of a book written in collaboration with Robert Neimann, entitled "Quest to Nowhere", a story of Herbert's experiences during his 13 months in Korea. He is at present writing a love novel.

The lieutenant joined the Army in 1947, but took a discharge in 1949. He rejoined in 1950 and attended Airborne, Ranger, Mountain, and the Arctic Survival Schools.

He was sent to Korea as a private and a BAR man in a rifle platoon. Within four months he was promoted to master sergeant, and herein contains a story in itself. Herbert, by then a private first class, was acting as a platoon leader. His regimental commander sent for him and told him that since he was taking on so much responsibility, he should accept a battlefield commission at a second lieutenant.

Didn't Want Commission
Herbert thought this over for a minute, then said no. His Korean tour of duty would start from scratch if he accepted a commission and he didn't want to spend his life there. The regimental commander then asked him what he would like to have in the way of grade. Herbert told him he would accept a captain if plus my work properly. In a matter of days he was promoted up the ladder to E-7 and still commander a platoon.

ARC Volunteer Group Organized at Benning

Under the leadership of Mrs. Herbert B. Powell, wife of Major Gen. Powell, commandant of The Infantry School, members of various American Red Cross volunteer services have joined forces to organize a volunteer program on post.

At a meeting in September in the office of John A. Cramer, of Scottsdale, Pa., American Red Cross field director, several volunteers who have been active Red Cross workers formed a committee. Their purpose was to organize efforts to expand and develop volunteer participation in order to use volunteer services in the most effective and inclusive way.

Mrs. Powell was named honorary chairman of the American Red Cross volunteer service. The committee which will serve as an advisory group to Mrs. Powell was composed of Mrs. Robert A. Cramer, Frederick R. Ziebach, and Mrs. Earl Kinick.

The committee meeting began in October at Mrs. Powell's quarters with Mrs. David G. Wilson, president of the Women's Club and Mrs. Z. Tyler, nominated and selected its executive chairman, Mrs. James B. Gall.

Mrs. Gall will have her office in the Office of the American Red Cross Field Director. In heading the volunteer activities she will work with Mr. Cramer to determine the need and development of volunteer services in the Red Cross program. Under the guidance of the field director the group will coordinate their work with the volunteer program of the Mustang County chapter of the American Red Cross in Columbus as well as with other local groups.

Now existing are four organized Red Cross services, RE-UP NCO FOR MONTH SFC Joseph L. DeMarco, recruiting sergeant for The School Brigade, was designated Reenlistment - NCO-for-the-month of October by the Infantry School for having led all other post units on number and percentage of reenlistments. ## Unit to Begin Construction at Dahlongega

A reconnaissance party from the 57th Engr. Bn. has completed a survey of the Ranger Mountain Training Camp at Dahlongega, Ga.

The party, consisting of Major Henry R. Hartman, 1st Lt. Waldo F. Adams and C.W.O. David P. Cleghorn, visited the camp on Oct. 22-23.

Findings and recommendation of the group are to be used by the 57th Engr. Bn. when it starts construction in this mountainous and wooded camp site.

One of the projects to be tackled by the engineers is the construction of an airstrip for the L-20 aircraft at the camp. The U.S. Forestry Department, which has control over the airstrip terrain, will be contacted regarding the possibility of contract clearing of this strip.

The engineers will also build an access road to the airstrip, a pioneer bridge, a timber trestle and correct the drainage of the molar pool area.

Building of the access road will require clearing through a heavily wooded area and filling in swampy terrain. When building the bridge, only native material will be available. Therefore the engineers will have to cut trees from the surrounding hills and process the timber into suitable logs for the pioneer construction. The timber trestle will be for a 5,000 gallon steel water tank obtained from salvage from the Georgia A-1 club.

The engineers, with dozens and greater operators, surveyors and draftsmen, are expected to move out Nov. 7, and return on or about Dec. 1.

Muller to Speak To Advanced Class
Major Gen. Walter J. Muller, of the Presidio of San Francisco, deputy commanding general of Sixth Army, will be there Nov. 17 to address The Infantry School's advanced officers class No. 1.

Graduation ceremonies will be held for the 265-man class at 11 a.m. in the Meta Theater.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., he will retire Nov. 30 after more than 33 years' service. His decorations include Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster and Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

DFC Award Given To Lawson Aviator

Major Jerome B. Feldt, commanding officer, 1st Army Aviator Squadron, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by an impromptu ceremony held at Lawson Field last Tuesday.

The presentation was made by Col. Gilman A. Huff, Lawson Army Air Field commander, and was witnessed by staff officers of the command and pilots of the unit.

The emblemated medal was presented to Feldt for the role he played during recovery operations at the site of the TWA-104 airliner disaster at Grand Canyon National Park, Ariz. The major supervised the Army's rescue efforts during the mission and in addition to the Distinguished Flying Cross, he has been awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon for his part in the incident.

The citation accompanying the award read in part: "Major Jerome B. Feldt... distinguished himself by extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight at Grand Canyon National Park, Arizona, during the period 14 to 24th Nov. 1956."

714th Tank Bn. Adopts Mascot, Proves to Be Big Morale Builder

BY SAM PROCTOR
Several 714th Tank Battalion officers must have taken to heart the words of Ovid: "Add little to little and there will be a great heap."
For the 29th IOT's Gyroscopic unit has added a little overgrown goat as a mascot to a little oversized fenced home and since, there has been nothing but a great heap of fun, trouble and esprit de corps. All this for the price of $5—the cost of the mascot.
It was first decided during October that a mascot would lift the esprit de corps. The "Goat of the Week" idea aided the decision for the kind of mascot.

Ironically, Co. B, which had a hand in the purchase of the 125-pound goat, was first to win the weekly honor.
Battalion headquarters selects the "Goat of the Week" by deficiencies and discrepancies of its subordinate units.
Headquarters selects the "Goat of the Week" if the responsibility of caring for the animal, feeding it, and providing it with some exercise—a stroll through the battalion area.

Company B received the initial distinction because of discrepancies noted at a retreat parade. The 59th Tank Co. followed for possessing the most deadlined vehicles, while the 29th Tank Co. carried the third work selection for poor police of the area.
M-Sgt. Robert Cronauer, of Laurens Springs, M. S., Co. B first sergeant, said the idea is a "terrific morale builder and is something the men like."
"A plaque is usually given to a unit to build morale," he explained. "But it's only 20 percent of the company who works for it. With this idea, you have 100 per cent participation."

Gives Man "Kick"
"The men get a kick out of it," he added, "when they can say 'Ban' to the company which has been selected."
The goat is like a dog, claimed Sgt. Cronauer, doesn't like to be in the cage, but once it is taken out the mascot is very friendly. "It follows you like a dog."
M-Sgt. Burley F. Whittington, of Mason, Ga., sergeant major, said that the goat is constantly trying to escape from his fenced home.

"DON'T FENCE ME IN" . . . In the life of any mascot there is always the just before, now and after. For this Toggengurg — dairy goat — the 714th Tank Bn. mascot, the just before was rough. He was fenced in. He had to scale a brace—even with a chain around his neck—to free himself. Now . . . it's over. No brace. No chain. Only a six and one-half fence to hurdle.

Bd. 3 Officer Attends Meet

Maj. A. J. Millard, Analysis and Control Department, Boore No. 3, CONARC, attended the Second Annual Army Engineering Psychology Conference which met Nov. 7, 8, and 9 at the Army Medical Research Laboratory, Ft. Knox, Ky.
Purpose of the three day conference was to provide for the interchange of information between working level scientists from human engineering, Research and Development facilities and appropriate representatives of user services.
Maj. Millard presented a discussion of the activities of Boore 3, as the user agency responsible for determining the suitability of weapons and equipment for the Infantryman. The principle topic of his presentation was the Infantryman's load and how it can be reduced without depriving the soldier of equipment, firepower or existence items necessary in combat. He also stressed the fact that the foot soldier will always be the most important contributing factor to the success of any military campaign and for that reason it is necessary to carefully evaluate the human factor, or psychology of any equipment produced for the soldier to use.

In his closing remarks, Maj. Millard emphasized that the Board's activities were in harmony with the Research and Development activities in obtaining a common goal. That goal can best be stated by the Board's motto, "Only the Best for the Finest."

500 See Free Football Tilt

Five hundred members of the Columbus (Ga.) and Phenix City (Ga.) Boys' Clubs were given an opportunity to witness a free football game last Sunday at Ft. Benning Doughboy Stadium.

Thanks to students of the 2nd Div. TSI, members of the Columbus, South Columbus and Phenix City Boys' Clubs watched the Brigade's Cyclones battle the Main Post Doughboys.

The idea of inviting the boys originated at a meeting of the student council of officers attending the basic course at the Infantry School.

The students purchased 1000 tickets and donated them to William Benton, executive director of the Columbus Boys' Clubs.

Transportation was provided by the Columbus Transportation Company.

The youngsters sat with the School Brigade fans during the game and were given the opportunity to meet some of the former U. S. Military Academy players now on the Cyclone team.

SHOW 'EM HOW . . . Two members of the School Brigade Cyclones take time out to show members of the Columbus and Phenix City Boys' Clubs how to handle the pigskin. Left to right, Fred Greer, Ricky Daugherty, Leo Berard, Wayne Hines, Halback Bennie Biles, Jesse Colegrove and quarterback Pete Vann. The event took place prior to the game between the Brigade Cyclones and the Main Post Doughboys. The Doughboys won 14-12.

Annual Turkey Shoot Set to Start Sunday

The post Fish and Games Association will sponsor a Turkey Shoot Nov. 18, beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m.

The shoot is free to members of the Association, and will be fired with 9 to 10 individuals on the same firing point comprising an order. Each order will have a turkey, hen, for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners.

There will be 20 firing points, using association guns only. No privately owned guns are authorized, because of Safety Regulations.

Anyone who is interested in becoming a PGA member can do so by going to the Association Office, Building 264, Main Post, or to the Turkey Shoot on Roosevelt Range, and pay their $2.00 fee.

What good does this membership do? It entitles members to all facilities of the Ft. Benning Fish and Game Association. Free maps and information of the post hunting and fishing areas; the do's and don'ts of hunting and fishing, in short the regulations; advice and counsel of the Range Guards assigned to particular areas; boat rental for half price; barbecues and turkey shoots; fish and skink tournaments; permits you to register a turkey blind; and allow you to participate in the fish and game conservatory program of the post. Fish and Game Association has proven worth while to many and will pay for itself in a few months in extra privileges.

Pro-Am Meet Sees 2 Teams Tie for First

Two teams tied for first place honors in the Men's Pro-Am Tourney held at the Ft. Benning Country Club, Nov. 12.

Finishing with identical scores of 55 were: Team No. 1, Capt. Orville Roberts, Lt. Col. Monck, Lt. Col. McKenzie and Maj. George; Team No. 2, Lt. Col. Trevor, Williams, Lt. Vocic, Capt. Claiborne, and Maj. T. F. Hard.

In second place with a team score of 56 was the team of Maj. DeSanto, Lt. Kennedy, Capt. Wornble and M. Sgt. Steffen.

Third place honors went to Lt. Yochim, Lt. Col. Carl Nelson, Capt. Bell and Major Collins with a team total of 57.

Three teams tied for fourth place with a 58 score and two teams tied for fifth with a total score of 59.

Matthews' Conversions Give Ingram's Boys Win

Bayonet Sports Editor

Two extra points proved to be enough as the Main Post Doughboys edged the School Brigade Cyclones 14-12 in a hard fought contest at Fort Benning's Doughboy Stadium Sunday (Nov. 11).

The Doughboys, displaying a potent ground attack racking up 272 yards, had their hands full trying to halt the passes of All-American quarterback Pete Vann and little speedster from San Houston College, Bennie Biles.

Boles Scores Twice
Boles scored the two touchdowns for the Cyclones, one from 41 yards out and the other an eight-yard plunge.

The Main Post eleven started off the scoring as they marched 53 yards early in the first quarter.

A poor punt by center Paul Lasley, which went straight up in the air and took a Doughboy bounce, losing six yards to the 23-yard line, set up the Main Post eleven's second score.

Matthews Sneaks Over
With the four Doughboy back taking turns carrying the ball, they moved the ball down to the one-yard line in eight carries. From there quarterback Jim Matthews went over for the score.

Matthews' conversion made the score 14-0.

With four minutes remaining in the game an attempted punt by Matthews for the Doughboys mistimed as he fumbled the pass. Cyclone end Ken Leizer recovered the loose pigskin on the 13-yard line.

It was Bennie Biles again for 10 yards and then on the next play eight yards and the final Cyclone touchdown.

Merrille's try for the extra point was wide and the final score ended 14-12.

90-Yard March Halted
Just before half, the Doughboys marched from their own six down to the Cyclones five-yard line but a 15-yard personal foul penalty halted their 90-yard march.

THIRTEEN AHEAD KENNER . . . Cyclone quarterback, Kenner, was held to 13 yards on a short pass by Doughboy fullback Dick Clark in Sunday's matchup. Kenner, center, did not, without the action. The Main Post eleven won their second game of the season, dropping the Cyclones 14-12.

TOM WIERZBICKI West Point Story With A New Twist

"Upon the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds that, upon other fields, on others days, will bear the fruits of victory."

(Words of Gen. Douglas MacArthur)

(Described at West Point)

Amidst the talk of the over-emphasis of collegiate football, it is rather unusual to find one school that does not partake in such dealings concerning fees for tuition, room and board, expense money and etc.

The school . . . the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Take the case of Don Hollender, All-American at West Point the last two years.

Don was an All-American High School football star while attending Aquinas Institute in Rochester, N. Y. Upon graduation, he received some 25 football scholarship offers from major colleges across the country. Included among these were such football powerhouses as Notre Dame, Michigan State, Ohio State and Michigan.

The Webster, N. Y., youth, however, chose West Point. Among the many reasons he chose the military academy over the nation's football powerhouses was that his Dad, who died when Don was 15, wanted his son to attend the Academy.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES AT THE POINT
Certainly it was not for any scholarship the academy offered, for as Don was to find out later, West Point showed no special privileges to its athletes.

All meant coming to the academy receive the same thing; tuition and $115 a month to pay for uniforms and books. Athletes are only separated from other cadets when eating. They have their own special training table.

Participation in athletics is done by cadets on their own free time, which is usually devoted to extra studying. Cadets participating in sports must meet the same scholastic requirements as their classmates.

Was Hollender ever sorry he chose to enter the service?
"No, I can't say I was," the six foot, two and one-half inch, 205 pound athlete stated.

"For it was at the Point I realized that there was more to life than just playing football. Sure it was tough, but if you want something bad enough you have to work for it. The academy's rigid training program was their way of making us better officers of the United States Army."

Another incident that helped make Lt. Hollender a better officer happened here last year. Along with his class, Hollender came to Ft. Benning following his junior year to spend three weeks in an indoctrination course.

One night Don found himself on guard. A telephone was handy so he decided to make a personal call. Just then the OG came by and seeing Hollender halted the phone conversation.

Nothing came of the incident until Hollender got back to the Point. There a board of officers dealt with the newly named All-American as only they knew how. He was dropped from the football team for one month, received 22 demerits, was confined to his room for one month and had to "walk the area" for 22 hours.

Favoritism toward athletes at West Point?
"I definitely deserved to be punished," Hollender stated; "for leaving my post. It wasn't a case of being punished as an individual or as a football player. It was the punishing of a cadet from the academy."

"If they would have spared me because I was a football player," Don added, "I believe it would have done not only me, but other athletes at the academy more harm than good. For others, in time, would have tried some other incident of this type and the standards setup by the academy would have been weakened. All we ask is to be treated equally. If that's not practicing in athletics, can't cope with this they don't belong in West Point."

The field of sports can well be proud of having such All-Americans as Lt. Donald Hollender in the Army should be equally, if not more so, proud to have such officers the caliber of 2nd Lt. Don Hollender in its ranks.

Gridiron Career Ends For Army All-American

The football career of one of the greatest players to come out of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, All-American Don Hollender (1933-56), has come to an abrupt end.

A recurrence of an ankle injury received while performing at West Point in his senior year has halted Hollender's gridiron activities permanently, according to Post physicians.

The twice named All-American and received the injury playing with a student officers team. The School Brigade Cyclones against another Ft. Benning aggregation, the 3rd Inf. Division Marine Rocketts.

"I'm not really when it actually happened," stated six foot-two and one-half inch, "pounded end," but when I started to limp I thought it was just from a kick in the shins. However, the next morning I couldn't put any weight on the leg."

The doctors diagnosed the injury as a rupture of the ligament on the right ankle and put the foot in a cast.

Last year in spring football practice at West Point, Hollender who was working out as quarterback for the Cadet, dis-

GRID DAYS OVER . . . For Don Hollender located his right ankle in a scrimmage and was sidelined for six weeks with his foot in a cast.

"The Doctors told me my playing days were over because my ankle is pretty well banged up and they think it would be unwise to risk permanent injury to the leg," added Hollender.

A noteworthy fact involving the All-American and is that a year after receiving the injury he still qualified for a 58-yard touchdown score on a pass from Army's other All-American Pete Vann, in the 24-20 victory over the Third Division team.

Maybe The Last Score
"According to the doctors that touchdown pass from Vann will be the last time I'll ever cross the goal line," said the New York boy, "but I hope that they are wrong."

Presently attending the basic Infantry officers course at the Infantry School, Hollender's plans include attending the Airborne School here in January and then the Army Aviation course at Fort Myer, Va.

Hollender entered the service August 13 of this year after participating in the annual grid club between the College All-Stars and the National Professional football champions at Soldiers Field in Chicago August 10.

Stalvey Receives Lawson Honors

Sgt. William R. Stalvey has been selected as Crew Chief of the Month in the 8th Transportation Co., Lawson Army Airfield Command, for the month of October.

Stalvey, who joined the 8th in June 1955, graduated from Helicopter Maintenance School at Ft. Eustis, Va., in October 1954, and has performed and supervised maintenance on both the H-28 and the H-21C helicopters.

Stalvey entered the service in 1950, took basic training at Ft. Story, Va., and was then shipped to Europe where he finally served as a platoon sergeant in the 35th Truck Co.

He returned to the states in February, 1954, and was assigned to the Highway Demonstration Group at Eustis before maintenance course there.

Jellison Paces Custer Victory

Sparked by the broken field sprinting of halfback Gary Jellison, the Custer Terriers took over the undisputed top place in the Bidby Football League last week, with an impressive 22-6 victory over former undefeated Bell's Boys.

The Terriers jumped into an early lead in the first period when Pat Giles hit Jellison on the 40-yard line, where he carried it over for the touchdown.

Pushed deep into their own territory by a booming punt, Bell's Boys fell behind 8-0 when Rafael Ramirez was trapped behind the goal for a safety, ending the first half.

Two long runs and a pass interception accounted for the final two touchdowns for the Terriers.

3d Div. Sets Birthday Activities

Preparations are now being made throughout the 3d Div. for the observation of division organization day Nov. 21. On that day the 3d Div. will celebrate the 39th Anniversary of the organization of the Division at Camp Green, N. C., in 1918. This is the first observance of organization day since the return to the "Rock of the Marne" from Korea.

Presented for the first time, the Hayes Trophy is named in honor of Lt. Col. George Hayes, Medal of Honor winner of World War I while with the 10th Field, 2nd Inf. Bn., (commanded by Lt. Col. George Hayes).

The reviews to the artillery and Infantry battalions which won the "moving bastion" awards as a result of the recent battalion tests, The 86th F. A. Bn., commanded by Lt. Col. David Prior, will be the recipient of the George P. Hayes Trophy, a huge silver bowl together with a banner.

Other organizations and separate units of the division will hold individual ceremonies and activities within their respective lines areas, including "open house", and the reception of invited guests. Training has been suspended in order that organization day might be properly observed.

Class Hears Gen. Muller At Graduation

Although the methods of conducting battle have changed over the years, the Infantry leader and soldier is still the basic and important man of the Army, the deputy commander of the Sixth Army said in a speech here Nov. 17.

Major Gen. Writter L. Muller, chief of the Infantry and advanced class No. 1 that the Infantry is still the essential arm of combat.

"The methods of applying its primary mission have changed considerably and it behooves the Army to get greater mobility, but the soldier is still the controlling factor," he said.

"After four months of preparation and examination, you start on a new phase—the phase of application. We do not win the blue ribbon of education as soon as we finish school but rather through living and the application of life itself," he told the graduates.

Gen. Muller stressed leadership, simplicity, mobility and flexibility as the important areas of their usefulness to themselves, to their men and to the Army.

"Never lose sight of one word—simplicity. The simplest way is the best way. It is the sword which cuts the Gordian Knot of complexities," he added.

He also pointed out to the graduates that the man who retains his judgment to the man who will be the leader, and the course they have just finished is designed to provide leaders—men capable of sound judgment.

"Good officers produce good non-commissioned officers and they produce good soldiers. Although the general makes decisions and his staff does the planning, it is the individual officer and enlisted man who make movement possible," Gen. Muller stated.

In conclusion he said to the class, "You are the class No. 1 honor graduate of Infantry No. 1, and you will be retained beyond assigned to Hdqs. Co., 16th Reg., 1st Inf. Div. at Ft. Riley, Kans. He will remain here to enter airborne training.

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commander of The Infantry School, introduced Gen. Muller.

THANKSGIVING... The religious character of this holiday is beautifully portrayed in this montage by a Ft. Benning photographer. Military personnel, as well as civilians, will join in giving thanks on this Thanksgiving, 1956.

Army Announces Early Holiday Release Policy

The Army has announced that most officers and enlisted personnel will be discharged during the Christmas holidays.

The release policy will apply only to those who are in the Continental U. S. or its territories before Dec. 31, the Army said.

Early departure from overseas theaters to meet the state-side requirement will not be authorized, although eligible officers and enlisted men will be separated as soon after arrival as possible.

Leave extensions also will be approved for 21 reintegrations to avoid reporting to new duty stations during the holiday.

Officers and enlisted men who may be released under the policy will not be retained beyond Dec. 31 due to non-receipt of records, but will be separated or discharged as temporary records.

The directive excludes officers and enlisted men who are on way to an understanding of the tradition or institution in which we are interested. Post Chapels Set Holiday Services

Episcopal, Catholic, and general Protestant services will be held on post Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22.

The main Protestant service will be held at 10:00 a.m. at the Main Post Chapel, Frap. (Col.) Earl L. Smith will lead the devotions. The sermon will be given by Chap. (Lt. Col.) Albert L. Smith, chaplain of Special Troops Command.

Solemn high mass will be held at the Main Post Catholic Chapel at 10:00 a.m. with Chaps. (Capt.) Thomas D. McGrath, Francis X. Wallace, and Chap. (1st Lt.) John Kinney celebrating the mass.

Rev. Colin Campbell, rector of the Columbus Trinity Episcopal Church will conduct the Episcopal holy communion service at 11:00 a.m. at Saint Michale-in-the-Woods.

General Protestant services will be conducted by Chap. (Major) Lester Houghtaling at 10:00 a.m. at the 25th Regimental Combat Team Chapel at 10:00 a.m.

Thanksgiving services for the 3d Div. will be held according to the following schedule:

Protestant Services—Saint Hill Chapel, 11:00 a.m.; Chapel No. 2 at 11:45 a.m.; Chapel No. 3 at 10:15 a.m.; Chapel No. 4 at 11:00 a.m.; Chapel No. 5 at 11:00 a.m.; Kelly Hill Chapel at 11:00 a.m.; Hermonny Church Chapel No. 1 at 9:30 a.m., and Chapel No. 11 at 11:00 a.m.

A joint service of the Jewish Community Center and the Jewish War Veterans will be held at 11:00 a.m. at the Columbus at the Temple of Congregation Shearith Israel on Wynnton Road.

Better Than Average Soldiers Rate Well In Accident Figures

Despite the fact that the post soldier undergoes training of a nature which insurance companies deem as hazardous, his accident rate is less than half that of the average civilian.

According to Norman M. Evans, Infantry Center safety director, post military personnel suffer only 25 injuries per 1000 persons a year from all causes, with the national average at 48 for the same period.

This safety record is especially manifested during duty hours. Soldiers of the post are three times safer than the average worker while performing assigned duties.

More than three percent of all American workers are injured in business each year. In addition 140000 of one percent of the general are killed during working hours as against a fatality rate for the latter of 13000 of one percent.

"This excellent safety record did not just happen," Mr. Evans said. All possible safety precautions are utilized when the soldier is engaged in combat training with lethal explosives and ammunition. In addition accident prevention is stressed in all unit command conferences, and posters are placed on bulletin boards. Soldiers become safety conscious without realizing it themselves.

One post soldier died while operating a private vehicle each 10 million miles of operation. This is slightly higher than the figure for the state of Georgia as a whole. The statistics are misleading however as insurance figures prove that the national average is the most accident prone on the highway. The accident rate here would compare favorably with representative age group of civilian males.

Post officers during the past four years have had an amazingly fine record, with Highway death rate nine times lower than the national average.

Good Safety Program

Evans reports that the auto safety program of the post is constantly cutting down on the fatality figure. If a soldier is reported by the Military Police for a traffic violation a sense of responsibility he holds on to far and too fast when he is required or suspended and he is required to attend a ten hour off-duty driving school. Ten classes are designed to instill in the traffic violator a sense of responsibility he holds on to far and too fast when he is required or suspended and he is required to attend a ten hour off-duty driving school. Ten classes are designed to instill in the traffic violator a sense of responsibility he holds on to far and too fast when he is required or suspended and he is required to attend a ten hour off-duty driving school.

An Editorial Why We Give Thanks

On that day all of us, whatever our race, religion, or color, are united in a common purpose. We give thanks for the blessings of our country, for the freedom we enjoy, for the peace we have known, for the progress we have made, for the love we have given and received, for the hope we have in the future, for the life we have in the present, for the death we have in the past, for the resurrection we have in the future, for the life we have in the present, for the death we have in the past, for the resurrection we have in the future.

Post, Community Plan Christmas Programs

The post will join Columbus in re-establishing the spirit of Christmas programs planned to begin Nov. 25. A ceremony of the massing of the colors for a re-dedication to peace will be held on Dec. 9 at the Episcopal Church on First Avenue in Columbus. The ceremony will be sponsored jointly by the post and the Military Order of World Wars.

An impressive gathering of approximately 48 colors, representing 24 units from The Infantry Center and the 3rd Inf. Div., with additional colors from local military and veteran groups, will form at 4 p.m. at 12th Street and First Avenue for a parade before entering the church. An Infantry Center composite band will lead the honor guard and the unit colors in the march.

Emphasize Spiritual Theme
This ceremonial assembly will symbolize the Infantry's part in maintaining peace, and will emphasize the proper spiritual theme of the Christmas season. During the church ceremony, Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commander of The Infantry Center, will speak on the united power for peace and preparedness for violation of peace. The colors, then, will be re-dedicated.

On Nov. 25 a twilight pageant at 8:30 p.m., depicting the story of Christmas, will be displayed along First Avenue between 11th and 12th Streets.

The scenes will be explained individually in a service by the Episcopal Church on First Avenue in Columbus. The ceremony will afford an inspiring background.

Annual Parade Set
The annual Christmas parade for children will be held Nov. 27. Floats telling the story of the birth of Christ will be used as well as scenes from Mother Goose with Santa Claus at the end.

Finally a joint Christmas service is being planned for Sunday, Dec. 24. Military personnel are especially invited to join the spirit of the season and be a part of the community pre-Christmas activities. A special welcome goes out to those individuals and families, who will be away from their own homes at Christmas and throughout the holiday season.

HONOR COMPANY
Company A of the 57th Engineer Bn was awarded the battalion plaques for the "best supply," "best safety," and "best emergency room" and was designated honor company of the battalion for the month of October.

Non-Com Clubs Slate Big 'Hawaiian Revue'

The all new 'Hawaiian Revue' featuring the famous Kalaiki Dancers will make two appearances on post Nov. 29 and Dec. 6.

The first show will be given at the Main Post Rocker Club at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 29 and the 3rd Inf. Div., non-commissioned officers' club will present the group Nov. 29 at 8:30 p.m.

This revue, sponsored by Third Army, brings together one of the finest Hawaiian troupes ever to be presented here at the post.

The gigantic show, starting some of the country's foremost exponents of island music and rhythm, will tour the Third Army installations from Nov. 21-Dec. 4.

The revue, which just completed a highly-successful engagement tour in Miami, has as its highlight the sword dancing of the Kalaiki group.

The two top dancers, Kalani and female companion Lani, have been featured on Arthur Godfrey's show.

Two of Hawaii's most popular folk singers, Charlie Kumalae and Paul Keane, appear in an unusual array of songs with original group music by the Island band.

PAID PAGE OF HAWAII
Kumalae is a Decca Records recording star and Miss Keane, known in the islands as Patti Page of Hawaii, sings both native and American pop tunes.

One of the best guitarists to come out of the islands in several years and formerly with the Soja Heins Ice R e v u e , Jimmy Eye, brings the intriguing sounds of his homeland to life with his style of music.

The Kalaiki Group of all-male girl dancers will give the show its colorful appearance with its graceful hula dances to the hum of the steel guitar and the swaying palms.

Glving authentic island dances, including the hula, gourd, bamboo and Olumua styles, these dances will give the audience a chance to see part of Hawaii come to life.

This show is for members of the two clubs and their guests.

THE ALLIED OFFICERS' MESS
Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

They were greeted with honors on their arrival at Lawson Army Air Field at 8:20 p.m. Nov. 19. Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, commandant and assistant commandant of The Infantry School, welcomed the visitors.

The Allied officers were honored at an official reception in the Main Officers' Mess Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

They viewed demonstrations of helicopterborne operations, Ranger and airborne training, 3.5-inch rocket launchers, M1 rifle marksmanship instructional firing and atomic battle-field tactics.

Buddy seat rides at one of The Infantry School Airborne Army Aviation Department's 250-foot training towers and visits to Main Post Weapons Pool, Training Aids Display Room and The Infantry School's Automotive Department were also on their schedule.

HAWAIIAN DANCERS . . . Two of the main attractions of the 'Hawaiian Revue' coming to the Main Post Rocker Club Nov. 29 and the Sand Hill NCO Club Nov. 30, Kalani and Lani, will give renditions of the island's sword and fire dances.

Exercise Demonstrates Atomic Power

A model corps map exercise, demonstrating the impact of atomic weapons, was held here Nov. 16 in the Main Theater.

Presented by a Command and General Staff College team from Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., at the direction of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, the exercise was attended by 70 Post officers.

Designed to enable Army personnel to visualize and comprehend the effects of atomic weapons on the battlefield, and their influence on tactical formations, the exercise depicted a corps in the approach march, attack and defense.

Planning and execution phases of the exercise involved the scheme of maneuver, organization of units for tactical employment, and disposition of troops, as well as actual employment of atomic weapons.

Planning is the fourth of 19 Army installations in the U.S. to view the demonstration. The team began its tour Nov. 7 at Ft. Meade, Md.

It also will give showings at Sandia Air Force Base, N. Mex. and the headquarters of Forces Far East, Southern Europe Task Force, U.S. Army Europe, U.S. Forces in Germany and Alaska before completing the tour June 21.

Col. James T. Shepherd is chief of the team. Other members are Lt. Col. James J. Donahue, William F. Drake and John W. Walker, and Major Archie Hyle.

Post Visited By Argentine Officer Group

Brig. Gen. Raul Tassi, director of the Superior War School, heads a group of 32 Argentine Army officers who is visiting The Infantry School this week.

Included in the Argentine party are Col. Ernesto E. Toquini, Argentine military attaché; Col. Manuel A. Estol, instructor of the Superior War School; Col. Edgar J. Landá, head of courses; and Col. Rosendo Maria Fraga, deputy chief of staff.

They were greeted with honors on their arrival at Lawson Army Air Field at 8:20 p.m. Nov. 19. Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, commandant and assistant commandant of The Infantry School, welcomed the visitors.

The Allied officers were honored at an official reception in the Main Officers' Mess Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

They viewed demonstrations of helicopterborne operations, Ranger and airborne training, 3.5-inch rocket launchers, M1 rifle marksmanship instructional firing and atomic battle-field tactics.

Buddy seat rides at one of The Infantry School Airborne Army Aviation Department's 250-foot training towers and visits to Main Post Weapons Pool, Training Aids Display Room and The Infantry School's Automotive Department were also on their schedule.

TRAINEE-OF-THE-MONTH
Pvt. Bobby L. Guest of Slickville, Penn., has been chosen as "Trainee of the Month" for Co. B, 7th Engr Bn, 2d Signal Div. The field had been narrowed down to four sharp-looking potential candidates, but they proved to be unable when it came to knowing his chain of command, general orders, club number and knowledge of basic subjects.

Gen. Eddleman Speaks to MOWW

Differences in national policy must not be allowed to create a chasm between America and her allies, Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, Army deputy chief of staff for military operations, told members of the Military Order of World Wars Nov. 15.

Gen. Eddleman spoke at the monthly dinner meeting of the Ft. Benning-Columbus chapter of the organization at the Main Officers' Mess Nov. 15. The Army official compared the attitude of persons who advocate the abandonment of their collective security system because of recent Anglo-French moves in the Middle East, with those of little children who pick up their football and go home when they can't catch every play.

"We cannot afford ourselves the luxury of thinking like children," he stated.

"There is always room in a free world for a honest difference of opinion," Gen. Eddleman pointed out. He added that each nation has the right to decide the abandonment of its national interest is at stake.

Dispute difference on even such major problems as the Middle East. Gen. Eddleman claimed that the bond of common interest between the free nations is so great that it jeopardizes this relationship would be folly.

Gen. Eddleman said the idea of a "Fortress America," is entirely inane. America without allies, surrounded on all sides by the forces of tyranny could not long stand such a siege, no matter how well prepared the U.S. continental military forces were, he added.

Urged support of UN. The three-star general advocated the strengthening of the United Nations and urged the support of the world in that endeavor.

"Though at present the U. S. may not be all that we expect of it," Gen. Eddleman said, "it is still that basis for permanent world peace."

In a short question and answer period following his speech, Gen. Eddleman said the matter of Egypt, which Communists volunteers was a matter of bluff and misrepresentation only.

All approaches to the Middle East trouble zone would be through Allied territory, he explained. In addition, Col. Nasir would never allow the threat of Russian domination of the Arab world to start by having Red troops in his country, the general added. The example of Hungary is still too fresh in his mind, Gen. Eddleman stated.

Lt. Gen. (Ret.) Ruben E. Jenkins of Columbus, introduced Gen. Eddleman.

DEADLINE SET
The Army has set a deadline of Jan. 1, 1957, for initiation of its new system of keeping health records with a comprehensive medical history of each individual on active duty.

According to AR 40-403, the primary purpose of the new system is to insure that information of value in the medical care of an individual is constantly available to medical service personnel.

On the Bookshelf

Adventure In Diamonds, by David Walker. (Norton, 1956). When Germany invaded Holland in May 1940, it suddenly occurred to the British high command that Amsterdam and Antwerp held industrial surrounds invaluable to any warring nation. Three men were hastily commissioned to enter Holland to get them. Over the weekend, 150 to speak, they were away and even their families didn't know their whereabouts. This is the story of their adventures.

Heroes Of The Army, by Bruce Jacobs. (Norton, 1956). A history of the nation's highest bravery on the battlefield, from its authorization by Lincoln in 1862 to the Korean War. Included are accounts of the exploits of twenty of its outstanding winners.

Men In Arms, by Richard Preston. (Praeger, 1956). This is an attempt to relate the history of warfare to the history of Western society, in providing a background of political, economic, and social history for the understanding of military events the authors concentrate more fully on the history of military administration, weapon development, and supply and loss in battles than most other military historians.

The Secretary of Defense has assigned responsibility for the program to the Secretary of the Army, who has in turn given to Maj. Gen. K. L. Hastings, the Army Quartermaster General, primary responsibility for the project.

Present plans provide for the selection of two candidates unknown of World War II, one from the Trans-Pacific Theater and one from the Trans-Atlantic Theater, from which will be selected the Unknown of World War II.

One unknown soldier from the Korean conflict will be picked from among the unknowns now interred in the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, Honolulu.

Tank Bn. Prepares To Gyroscope

INSPECTIONS... These constitute a phase of military life whereby readiness and effectiveness are produced. Standing at attention, while, front, 1st Lt. David S. Parkhurst, Co. B commander, inspects equipment, are, left to right, Sgt. Billy R. Marler, Pvt. Claburn W. Stidham, Pvt. Emery D. Dorn, Pvt. Stilas R. Sneed, and Pvt. Donald G. Norn.

MOBILITY... Capable of moving rapidly over ground, provides the offensive units and Infantrymen with that "something extra". In a lightning three-day drive during World War II, the 714th tankers, led elements of the 12th Armor, sealed off the German forces in the Nazis' last major stronghold in French territory—the Colmar Pocket.

FIRE POWER... One of three factors which characterize the potentiality of Armor. Tanks possess a tremendous amount of fire power in their cannon, several machine guns and small arms of their crews. The scene above is similar to those which won the 714th Tank Bn. fame and three campaign streamers during World War II.

Unit Trains New Men For Move

The 714th Tank Bn., now preparing for its future mission in Schweinfurt, Central Europe, such as the first state-side separate tank battalion ever selected for Gyroscopic participation.

Commanded by Lt. Col. Garta Stevens, of Holden, Utah, the unit will replace the 4th Armored Group's 22nd Tank Bn. in March.

The movement to Germany will not be the first trip to Europe for the tankers. In fact, it was against the Germans during World War II that the 714th won fame as the "Iron Horse Battalion."

Three campaign streamers—Rhinelead, Central Europe and the Ardennes—represent a trial of victory against a mixture of weary German soldiers and die-hard SS troopers.

With its excellent historical background as a guide, the 714th once again will utilize its officers and cadre to transform six inexperienced and untested out into a well-functioning combat ready unit.

To bring the battalion up to full strength for Gyroscopic, more than 500 recruits trained by arrived from various training stations.

Are Giving Instruction
 Unit officers and cadre will provide the instruction, during the advanced individual training period, which will teach the members of the battalion their trade as tank commanders and gunners.

The battalion instructors also introduce to the individual the spirit of offense, the weapon of the tanks, and the primary factors, fire power, shock action and mobility, that characterize the potentiality of Armor.

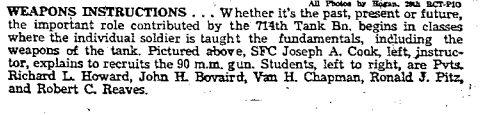

The trainee, it was pointed out by officials, will learn that a tank attack is sudden and violent and that the effect of the tanks' crushing action and overwhelming fire is such as to demoralize the enemy.

Before the unit is molded into a fighting team, the pre-cycle training is given, including orientation, tank operation fundamentals, and physical training.

Field exercises will be made with the use of battle noises, ammunition, smoke and explosives.

Will Give Xmas Leaves
 When the medium tank outfit completes its eight-week training, the battalion members will be provided leave time for the Christmas-New Year holiday before the unit's departure to Ft. Stewart, Ga., in January.

At Stewart, the 714th will undergo a six-week training period for tank qualifications, and platoon drills.

Welfare Nurses Fill Big Need at Benning

Two Army Welfare nurses at the U.S. Army Hospital are carrying on one of the first visiting nurse programs established in the Army.

Aide-de-Camp Gets New Silver Bars

Loren C. Troeschler, of Terrace Park, Ohio, aide-de-camp to Brig. Gen. James V. Thompson, deputy commanding general of The Infantry Center, has been promoted from second to first lieutenant.

A 1935 graduate of Ohio University at Athens, Lt. Troeschler entered the Army in May of last year. He attended the basic Infantry officers' course and Ranger course. He served with the School Brigade's S-1 Section before being named deputy assistant to the command post commander last August.

Troeschler has served as Gen. Thompson's aide since the latter's arrival here last month.

ASSIGNED

The roster of the 37th Medical Detachment, Lawson Army Air Field Command, has been augmented by the addition of two new members. The new members are SP3 Daniel H. Genshaller, who will serve as a helicopter crew chief in the unit, and Pvt. Hugh J. Edwards, who will work as a helicopter mechanic.

The service of the Army Welfare Nurses was started in 1949 by Brig. Gen. (ret.) Robert Burns Hill, then commanding officer of the hospital, expressed a need for visiting nurse service to families of Army personnel at The Infantry Center and was responsible for the installation of this program.

It is supported by funds from the post Community Activities Association. The service which has operated successfully at The Infantry Center has been used as a guide for similar activities at other Army posts, officials said.

The primary purpose is to provide home visits and instruction by trained registered nurses to expectant mothers and later to assist with infant care. As the program has grown, and the staff has increased from one to two nurses, they now also act as an agency for the collection and distribution of layettes and other clothing. They also have a clinic in obstetrics and gynecology clinic at the hospital and conduct pre-natal classes.

They coordinate their work with the Family Service Bureau and the Muscogee Chapter of the American Red Cross in Columbus.

Approximately 200 mothers and infants are visited each month by the two nurses, Mrs. Maude Dicus and Mrs. Hazel Marcus.

ATTEND OPEN HOUSE . . . Approximately 1,440 parents attended the P-TA-sponsored open house at the Children's Schools Nov. 13 in celebration of American Education Week. Looking over their eight-year-old daughter Janice's workbook in Miss Patricia Walker's third grade at Main Post School are M-Sgt. and Mrs. Coy Wheeler of Cullman, Ala. Paper replicas of the students are "seated" at the desks.

Gen. Chase Visits 3d Div. Recently
Brig. Gen. Charles H. Chase, assistant division commander, of the newly reorganized 101st Airborne Div. at Ft. Campbell, Ky., paid a visit to the 3d Div. recently.

Wildlife Disease Survey Being Conducted on Post

A record number of 119 foxes were caught during October by the Infantry Center Veterinary Section to be used in conjunction with the wildlife and disease predator control survey program now being conducted.

3-Div. Names Best Battalion

This rabies control survey of wild animals, mostly foxes, was started in August, 1954. The first animals were caught after three children were attacked by a mad fox in the Harmony Church area.

Since that time, a complex study of all wildlife on post has been made periodically. During these tests, traps are set at different locations on the reservation to collect an average amount of animals representative of each area. These animal collections, the specimens are shipped to Dr. Douglas Hawkins, of Tulsa, Okla., director of the public health center at Newton.

Several of the major commands in the division, who conducted their own contest for the best battalion, have announced their selections. Col. Elisha O. Peckham, CO, 30th IDG, has announced that the 7th Bn. commanded by Lt. Col. Ray S. Selbert earned in the best performance during the tests in his unit. The winning battalion was presented a large trophy in recognition of this honor.

The George P. Hays Trophy went to the 39th F.A. Bn. this year. This award is presented annually to the best battalion in Division Artillery. The trophy, a huge silver punch bowl, was presented to Lt. Col. David Frior, commanding officer of the 39th, by Col. William A. Harris, commander of Division Artillery. In addition to this trophy, the 39th will receive a banner from Major Gen. George E. Lynch, at a Divarty review today.

ASSIGNED FOR DUTY
Private Rosa L. Lewis of Chatsworth, Ga. was assigned for duty with the 101st Airborne Div. on Nov. 13. This is her first duty assignment for Pvt. Lewis who enlisted Aug. 22 and completed basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala., Oct. 28. Scheduled for on-the-job training at the post hospital, Pvt. Lewis will receive instruction as a medical technician.

HONOR STUDENT . . . SP2 Dale A. Hoover, assigned to the 41st Co., 4th Student Bn., TSB, as a senior radio repairman, was awarded a Certificate of Achievement for having graduated as top man in the Enlisted Communications Course No. 12.

CoFC Manager Receives Citation From 3d Army

Tom Moore, manager of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, was presented a Third Army Certificate of Achievement at a luncheon held Nov. 16 "in recognition of a valuable contribution to the Army Reserve program." Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commander of The Infantry Center, awarded the certificate on behalf of Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander, at a luncheon meeting of the Citizens' Advisory Council at the Ranch Restaurant in Columbus.

STC Holds Shorthand Study Class

Members of Special Troops Command are now able to learn to write shorthand through a group-study course being conducted by Mrs. Gertrude F. Sleep, Columbus. The course is an off duty project, and attendance is voluntary. This includes Mr. R. Sleep, who is contributing his services as instructor in completing the project.

To date, approximately 18 members of the command have enrolled for the course, which began November 14. Mrs. Sleep, a clerk stenographer in the SJA Section, STC, said the 20 minute classes will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings of each week for a total of 8 classes. She stated that at the completion of the course, students will have mastered the principles of shorthand and that practice should then enable them to increase their speed in taking dictation.

NEW MEMBERS
Assignment orders brought two new members to the 3d Army Transportation Company (Light Truck), STC, last week when M-Sgt. Lawrence F. Wolfe and SP3 Bobby C. Collins reported for duty.

Allies to Be Introduced To Spirit of Thanksgiving

One hundred and ninety-four Vietnamese students attending the Infantry School will be introduced to the American spirit of Thanksgiving for the first time next week. The Vietnam Army officers comprise Allied associate officers advanced class No. 1 and Allied associate company officer class No. 1, the only Infantry School classes composed entirely of Allied students. The School's Allied Liaison Section has initiated a program where by Vietnamese students will visit in local homes tomorrow. Approximately 110 students from 19 Allied nations are attending 15 Infantry School courses composed predominantly of U. S. officers. Each of these officers has a sponsoring post section for his social life while on the post. Persons interested in extending the spirit of Thanksgiving and inviting Vietnamese students to their homes for Thanksgiving are asked to contact the School Brigade's 8th Co. FB 3-9128.

Choirs Set 1st Practice

The combined Ft. Benning choir will hold their first practice in preparation for the special Christmas choral festival in the Main Post School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3.

This will be the first time such a combined group has ever presented a program on post.

The group will be composed of the Main Post, Catholic, Episcopal and 29th Regimental Episcopal and 29th Regimental Choirs.

Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayer, member of the plans and training committee of the staff department of The Infantry School, will direct the chorus.

Musical selections for the festival include "Shepherd's Sings Of Your Drowsy Sleep," "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings."

MILESTONE

Another milestone in his military career was gained on Oct. 21 by Lt. Rodney R. Quocchia, when he was promoted to 1st Lt. Lieutenant Quocchia received his commission through the ROTC program and entered active duty on April 21, 1956. He presently serves as an administrative platoon leader with the 58th Ord. Co.

NO PRIVATES

WUEZZBURG, Germany (APPS) — A spate of promotions has left two companies near here privateless. The 15th and 88th Transportation Cos. of the 10th Inf. Div. recently gave out 63 and 70 promotions to private first class respectively, leaving not a single "clean-sleever" in the units.

Chance of a Lifetime! Did you know it cost the taxpayers 133 million dollars to clothe the Army last year? Do you know and Pvt. John B. Coomer, Big Spring Gap, Va.

Coffee Set At Hospital Library

The hospital branch of the Main Post Library will hold a coffee hour for patients and staff personnel at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 29 in the library (D-4).

The coffee hour is being held during National Book Week (Nov. 25 to Dec. 1) as a get-acquainted time. Patients and personnel are invited to become better acquainted with the services and activities and to get to know each other.

Displays of leather craft and other handwork from the Occupational Therapy Clinic and the hospital American Red Cross will be exhibited.

Services of the library include distribution of books throughout the wards to bed-patients on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Magazines are distributed to the wards and clinics on Thursday and Friday mornings.

In the library, patients and personnel will find the latest books and magazines; newspapers and magazines; large cities including the New York Times and Los Angeles papers.

All-Stars Win Grid Classic

The two All-Star aggregations proved strong for the regular season winners of the two loops in the Post Boy's Football League post season games played at Cowley Field.

The All-Star club composed of the Generals, Colonels and Rock of the Marine clubs completely outmanned the regular season champions of the Pony League, Flyers, 59-34.

Military personnel can now receive each award for suggestions. The Incentive Awards Committee wants to hear yours.

PONY LEAGUE CHAMPS . . .

The new kings of the Flyers, Bobby Windham, James Bradford and Gary Cheek, who terrorized the league during the regular season found the powerful All-Star forward wall too tough to penetrate.

After coming in on behind, the Doughty Loop stars move into a slim lead in the final quarter and held the final drive of the Cottonbales for the victory.

RCT Coach Looks to Teamwork

Fred H. Byerly, player-coach of 28th RCT's basketball team, will depend upon "teamwork" and not individualists for a winning season.

The 28th RCT eagles will open their 1956 campaign Monday night against a highly-regarded 15th ICC team at the Harmony Church gym.

"Teamwork is our asset," remarked Byerly. "Most teams may have more individualists, but we'll depend primarily on five or six men who have hustle, who like to play and who will play."

Although the player-coach, who started at the University of Montana, is in need of possibly two starters and is short on height, Byerly is confident that his all-around offense and varied defense will provide stiff competition for the opponents on the RCT schedule.

The 29th quintet carries only three players above 6'5" tall: Beverly, 6'4"; John Barnard of University of Vermont, 6'3"; and Ivar Farsberg, 6'2". Byerly, however, feels that this deficit will be made up with hustle.

Two other members with experience are Oliver Elders, who played with the Harlem Magicians, and "B" team of the Harlem Globe Trotters in 1955, and Robert Festa of St. John's University.

Elders, a six-footer, has shown some finesse from his guard position during the organized practice sessions. Agile and a fine ball-handler, Elders can cut the courts with ease from inside or outside the court.

Olympic Games to Cost Over 13 Million Dollars

Cost of the Olympic Games, country's interstate telephones, services have been made and become permanent assets. Among side benefits are pressure on Olympic host city, expanded by many to pave the way for more trade, investment of overseas capital and migration to Austria.

Part of the outlay returned promptly in expected box office receipts of some $2,240,000, spending by Olympic visitors for hotel and other accommodations and shopping. The city gains more modern installations for sports, including the remodelled cricket stadium that is now the main Olympic stadium for accommodate more than 100,000.

The new swimming pool of modern design is permanent and Olympic village, to house the teams and officials at the games, will become a completed housing project when the games have ended.

SHOW BIZ

THERE WILL Always be a Hollywood... Universal-International has signed four actors to portray Lon Chaney Jr. at various stages of his life in "Man of a Thousand Faces," biography of Chaney Sr. However, a suitable part can't be found for the real Chaney Jr., who wants to get into the picture.

On the other hand, Warner Bros decided to be realistic about things and a film about the life of Helen Morgan will, of all things, be called "The Helen Morgan Story," "Himman Recommended Reading," William Brinkley's "Don't Go Near the Water" has been on the best seller lists for three months. This seller about anti-lynching has been for MGM, who thought so much of it that screen rights were purchased before publication.

People, Places and Dates... Ann Sheridan is an escapee from Denton, Tex., and Dorothy Malone was girl from Dallas... Henry Fonda studied journalism at the University of Minnesota... James Stewart has a degree in architecture from Princeton.

Helen O'Connell went to high school in Toledo Ohio... Edward Everett Horton was born March 18, 1888 (and still going strong).

Profile... Yana, just Yana, thank you, is the name. A singer with a devoted following in cities, this is 5'4" (hi-heeled) of blond import from London. Loves animals and will go barefoot at the drop of a shoe-lace... Named her poochie Fongus... "Lustre" "Lustre" for short. If you really care, Pamela Guard is her real name.

Did You Know That... Virginia Felth likes to read poetry at night (Keats and Shelley) (his single, too)... Debra Paget has a jeweled Cadillac ($4,700 extra). Costs her $100 a month to replace the synthetics swiped by souvenir hunters... Rex Russell changes costumes 24 times and wears 6 times in B-way production of "Amite Mamou"... And Charles Correll's Andy of "Amos 'n' Andy" was a bricklayer before he got into show biz.

Crew Shoots Movie Here On Trainfire

A film on the revised rifle marksmanship course developed by Human Research Unit No. 2 was shot here last week. A professional three-man crew from the Army's Pictorial Center at Long Island, N. Y., filmed the movie shot on Trainfire I as part of a research and development report.

The crew under the leadership of 1st Lt. Lawrence W. Souville, Army pictorial officer, consisted of PFC Jerry Finerman, for five years a Warner Brothers cameraman, and PFC Don Lawrence, for several years an actor, producer and director, and owner of a small film producing unit.

The film shows the important points of the marksmanship course. When utilizing on field ranges, Trainfire uses remote targets which fall when hit. The system was tested successfully recently at Ft. Jackson, S. C., and Ft. Carson, Colo. Human Research Unit No. 2 of Continental Army Command is also working on the development of new effective rifle marksmanship for squads, platoons, snipers and night firing. A new basic training program is under study as well as the problems of patrolling.

Repairs Toys to Give Needy Children in Area

BY JULIA BRUNKE

Workers in Benning's largest toy workshop announced their goal for the Christmas season as they began their operations this year. The workshop is the 78th Engineer Bn. Workers are the men of the 78th. The goal is one large toy, such as a bicycle, tricycle, or scooter, for each needy child.

New Device Makes Grid Play Safer

The newest in dental protective mouth guards are now available to members of the Post Youth Activities Club. According to dental authorities, this synthetic rubber mouthpiece has several advantages which make it superior to the old-fashioned dental guards. It gives maximum protection against teeth being chipped or loosened. Older adult factors are: it aids in keeping severe blows from causing jaw injuries or concussion, and allows normal breathing without gagging.

The greatest improvement in this month guard is that it fits individually to each boy's teeth and when put in place is almost impossible to dislodge," said Col. Clyde D. Outman, Jr., post dental surgeon.

This new form of protection is now available at YAC offices for $3.00 each. Appointment for getting these guards fitted may be made by calling Lt. Col. William A. Dance, post dental corps, FB 34173. Col. H. W. Greer, Infantry School Staff Department, Lt. Col. Ned H. Anderson, and Col. Edward L. Fenske, members of post dental corps, are also available for this service. (Please See SANTA, Page 3)

CS Jobs Open For Personnel Being Released

ARMY NEWS SERVICE

Many officers and enlisted men now being separated from the service can fill the Army's continuing requirement for certain types of skilled civilian personnel.

According to the Army, these officers and enlisted personnel possess the same skilled trades and professional job experience needed for some of the Army's top civilian positions.

Because of the diversity of military and civilian job structures in some of the professional fields many military occupation specialty counterparts could fit right into job vacancies.

Individuals who fit into this category are encouraged to submit applications to such installation at which they desire employment. Department of the Army Circular 10127 has a list of installations with MOS job vacancy shortages.

3RD ARMY'S BEST . . . Featuring the top talent from throughout the Third Army area, "The New Holiday Revue" will appear at the Main Theater Dec. 4 at 8:30 p.m. A dancing group of "Can-Can" Wacs will feature with the show.

Post Audience to See 3-Army's New Revue

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG

The dream of far away scenes around the stage at top speed will highlight Third Army Special Services' newest 1956 New Holiday Revue coming to the Main Theater 8:30 p.m. Dec. 4.

The first performance of the revue will be at Service Club No. 2 (Grand Hill) at 8:00 p.m. Dec. 3. After the show at the Main Theater, the revue will move into Service Club No. 3 (Harmony Church) at 8:00 p.m. Dec. 5.

Combining the best talent throughout the entire Third Army area, this show brings with it, for the first time, a dancing chorus of WACS. These girls were recently a smash success as part of Third Army's gigantic production entitled, "Salute to the South," which is produced annually for presentation in Atlanta.

This is another special feature of Special Services of Third Army and has a complete cast of soldiers, who will take you on an enchanting and fascinating trip to entertainment land.

Highlights of Show

In addition to the lovely dancing lassies, who's "Can-Can" routine is one of the highlights of the show, "The New Holiday Revue" headlines Mrs. Sgt. Hal Natal as master of ceremonies.

He has appeared with such personalities as Bob Ho p e, Danny Kaye and more recently in the Anne Easter movie, "Carnival Story."

Other features include Norma, the human gorilla, featured for many years with Ringling Brothers world famous circus and the Falkack Brothers Circus.

PFC Kent Baker adds a touch of the unusual with his rope spinning act and rope tricks. The Whitwinds, roller skaters extraordinary, will keep you on the edge of your seats with breath-taking stunts around the stage at top speed.

Latin American Beat "Mambo-Blug" music will be furnished by PFC Manny Macaluso to the Latin American beat keeping the show rolling along with a raring tempo.

Next comes the creative talent of pantomimist PFC Joe Jafollia with acts fresh from the country's top supper clubs and television shows.

A new twist will be innovated into the show with the next entertainer, PFC Will Parkins. He is an interpretive dancer and was formerly with the Canadian National Ballet.

All this along with the fine "George Shearing sound" of the Holiday combo, which features PFC Bob Smale and his piano stylings. SP-1 Ernie Call handles the bass, SP3 Red Kiers is drummer and PFC Tom Macaluso plays vibraphone. The public is invited to the performance in the Main Theater and admission is free.

was completed and they were ready for Santa Claus distribution. Some toys requiring difficult missions for various units of the Eighth Army, it is the fall of 1957, Army policy changed the utilization of the Ranger.

Nearly 300 children from 75 families received these playthings. Each child received an average of six toys and games, the unit said.

Supply Getting Low

Since workers of the battalion started their activities early this year, they have advised that the supply of toys is getting low. All civilian and military personnel of the Ranger FL Benning-Columbus area are urged to contribute to this year's project for the start of a Happy and Merry Christmas.

The 78th Engineer Bn. may be contacted by telephone at FB 64121, or those interested may write to: Santa Toys, 78th Engineer Bn. (Omaha), Ft. Benning, Ga.

Members of the group will be glad to pick up toys at home. Those who can deliver toys may take them to Building 4027 in the Harmony Church area off Cusseta Road and behind the 3rd Inf. Div. non-commissioned school.

Nearly 300 children from 75 families received these playthings. Each child received an average of six toys and games, the unit said.

Supply Getting Low

Since workers of the battalion started their activities early this year, they have advised that the supply of toys is getting low. All civilian and military personnel of the Ranger FL Benning-Columbus area are urged to contribute to this year's project for the start of a Happy and Merry Christmas.

The 78th Engineer Bn. may be contacted by telephone at FB 64121, or those interested may write to: Santa Toys, 78th Engineer Bn. (Omaha), Ft. Benning, Ga.

Members of the group will be glad to pick up toys at home. Those who can deliver toys may take them to Building 4027 in the Harmony Church area off Cusseta Road and behind the 3rd Inf. Div. non-commissioned school.

BRING EM BACK ALIVE

The colonel, turkey hunting with a fellow officer, parked himself in a clump of palmetto bushes and blew an artificial turkey mating call. His hunting pal didn't realize he was anywhere near the colonel. He thought there was a real turkey in the palmetto clump and fired. The colonel fell dead.

It happened on a Third Army post just three years ago. In hopes of preventing any recurrences of such a tragedy, Third Army safety officials have suggested some safety rules for good hunting which equally apply to all servicemen.

They're not set down to cramp your style, but to remind you to bring yourself, and your friends, back alive. Among them are:

Never shoot at objects indistinctly seen through trees or bushes;

Don't fire at game when there is a house, barn or road in the line of fire;

If you are drinking, stay out of the woods; Keep your safety lock on at all times except just before shooting. (AFPS)

Washington Report

Court to Reconsider Jurisdiction Statute

The U. S. Supreme Court recently agreed to reconsider the question of whether military courts have the right to try civilians who accompany the Armed Forces overseas. Last June, the nation's highest tribunal, in a 5-3 decision, sustained the statute which makes persons serving with, employed by or accompanying the Armed Forces overseas, subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

The effect of the statute thus would be to make civilian employees, members of service families, and others, subject to court martial for crimes committed in foreign lands. In granting the rehearing on two military convictions previously upheld, the Court suggested that attorneys discuss the matter with their clients to justify court martial jurisdiction over civilian dependents of the Armed Forces.

'Living Dangerously'

BY CHAPLAIN (MAJ.) LEWIS G. ROBERTSON

From our childhood days we have loved stories of adventure. Many times in our imagination we have lived the seven seas, discovered the wonders of Aladdin's lamp, and realized our wild dreams of adventure.

How we thrilled to the tales of those courageous men and women who built an empire in the wilderness between the Atlantic and the Pacific. They started with nothing but their bare hands and their sturdy faith in God. They went west because they had no resources except themselves and their own strength. But they did not die.

None but a sturdy people who believe a brief description of climate and environment of these people faced. They were not afraid of sweat and toil, or danger and uncertainty. They thrived on it! They were not driven by their environment. They conquered it!

Service men moving to new duty stations have been cautioned against hiring improper civilian operators to transport trailers. According to Army Cir. 55-26, dated Oct. 12, military families do not have to be normally provided by federal and state regulations where proper authority to operate.

JOHN ORD, UNIT
The 59th Ord. Co., STC, added two new names to its roster last week when Sgt. Thomas A. Gorman and Pvt. Joseph Williams, Jr. reported for duty with the unit.

Always Willing to Help

A decision on use of the Miller-Fay Voucher throughout the world will not be made for another six months, according to Maj. Gen. H. W. Cranford, chief of finance.

Tests of the system, which gives each soldier a monthly allowance accounting of his pay, were started in England in December 1955, and have expanded to Ft. Dix, N.J. In December 1955, and have expanded to Ft. Dix, N.J. In December 1955, and have expanded to Ft. Dix, N.J.

General Cranford said additional time will be required to work out the details of pay-able vouchers which can be extended throughout the Army.

They cry we not for security but for opportunity; they didn't say "Make life safe for us and for our children." They said "Give us a chance and we'll work out our own destiny."

Some times we wonder if the heroes and heroines of our past would be proud of their descendants today. We wonder if they would find in us the sturdy qualities which we admire in our own.

Recently I read an article by a college president who had graded students come and go for 30 years. Briefly, he was disappointed in the present crop. They seem so helpless and so lacking in integrity.

In a dangerous age man must be willing to live dangerously. It is better to accomplish their will, or to accomplish their will, or to accomplish their will. In a dangerous age man must be willing to live dangerously.

Pee Wee Hunt Booked For Appearance Here

Internationally famous Pee Wee Hunt and his "12th Street Rag" Band will present a concert at the Main Theater at 7:00 p.m. Dec. 5.

Hunt has long been recognized as a great musician and one of the best in the field of "ragtime" music. As far back as the time that the Cass Jones Orchestra was the rage of the nation, he was a featured attraction with his talented trombone.

During the 12 years he spent as a trombonist and singer with this orchestra, Hunt traveled throughout the world, playing in local dance halls, theaters and one-night stands.

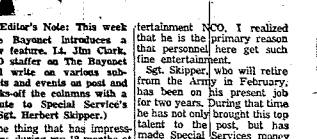

A native of Mount Lebanon, Ohio, he comes from a musical family. His father was a noted violinist and his mother a pianist, and they inspired him in an early age toward the musical field.

Did Not Study Music. Despite this early heritage, he defied an age-old adage and did not study music. Instead he taught himself and started on his way by playing the banjo in high school. In college, Pee Wee played with most of the small jazz bands on the Ohio State University campus.

Soon after graduation he became associated with one of the all-time greats on the trumpet, Ellis Rickerbacker, who got him his first job with the Jean Goldkette Band.

JIM CLARK

Sergeant Rates Pat-on-the-Back

(Editor's Note: This week The Bayonet introduces a new feature, Lt. Jim Clark, PIO staffed on The Bayonet will write on various subjects and events as post and jets-off the columns with a salute to Special Service's M-Sgt. Herbert Skipper.)

One thing that has impressed me during my 18 months at Benning has been the "top-notch" entertainment that Special Services brings to the post. Sgt. Skipper, who will retire from the Army in February, has been on present job for two years. During that time he has not only topped the list for talent to the post, but has made Special Services really on the money.

When I took over his present job, he was given a fund with $1,400 in it. After two years of booking top bands, paying all expenses for publicity, etc., and paying all expenses for the free Army shows that have appeared here, Sgt. Skipper now has $1,500 in the fund.

After he retires he will sell real estate in Panama City, Fla. If he is not able to sell real estate with the same skill and good judgment which he has shown here, local business groups in Panama City, Florida area had better watch out.

Speaking of the Cell Block 7, I think it should be mentioned that those persons who moved away from the concert because it wasn't a "big name" really missed a great show. Even though the audience was small, they were appreciative, and so the band put on a good show. It's true that the jokes were slapstick, and a lot of them were awful corny. If they were still here, during the boys did decide to play good music, they could do that, also. This outfit should go to the top.

Watch For This One! Special Services has announced that they are trying to get Louie "Satchmo" Armstrong for a special appearance. If they can get on a poster "Ole Gravel-Voice" will probably hold forth at the Main Theater on Sunday during the late winter or early spring. It'll be a treat, no doubt about it.

Remember the three shows coming up next week. The popularity of the recent shows presented at Ft. Benning that the price of admission for the show will be only 25 cents. This is a-r-r-o-u-n-d of good entertainment.

Queen of Battle

The history of any community is marked by periods of crisis as well as moments of triumph. This is also true of most of our large military installations.

This week you're invited to listen to a dramatized account of the short but eventful history of Ft. Benning. The history of this mammoth military installation—which is typical of any other Army post—is traced from its humble beginning during World War One through its fight for survival during the post-war period to its present stature as the home of the distinguished history of Ft. Benning on "Queen of Battle."

There's music on the agenda this Saturday night at 11:05 p.m. for the distinguished history of Ft. Benning on "Queen of Battle."

Safety Drive Urges Public Responsibility

The National Safety Council is soliciting the cooperation of both public and private organizations as well as the general public in a new, intensive, continuing battle on traffic accidents to be known as the "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign.

Led by President Eisenhower, public officials, and other top figures in business and civic affairs, safety organizations are marshaling public support for this program.

You too can "Back the Attack". Yes, You! Whether you're 16 or 66, soldier or civilian, driver, passenger, or pedestrian, this war on traffic accidents is YOUR war.

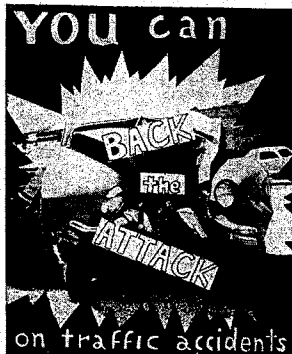

Every time you drive your car or take a walk, you're on the battlefield. Because THIS war is being fought on our streets and highways.

What do you need to fight a good fight? Just the basic rules of safe walking and safe driving.

If, every time you walk or drive, you make sure that no careless act of yours will endanger your own life or the lives of others, you've made a big contribution to the war on traffic accidents.

The selfish act, the heedless act, is enemy work. In fact, it IS the enemy. Because the whole traffic accident problem grows out of multiplication of heedless acts.

You strike a personal blow against the common enemy every time you accept your responsibility to drive and walk safely in traffic. You aid the enemy every time you drop your guard.

STRIKE BACK. Don't be a sitting duck. Last year one out of every 75 people in this country was a needless traffic casualty. The irresponsible driver is your enemy. It is your business when others violate the law, your only protection.

SAFETY FLAG... Progress in prior years has been made in reducing post accidents. The National Safety Council Award of Honor Flag was raised in 1955 by Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Barlow, then deputy post commander. The flag is flown at half-mast for seven days after each traffic fatality. This indicates retrogression—you can help keep the flag on top.

ALLIANCE BORN IN YOUR RECRUITMENT. IT TAKES 26 YEARS TO MAKE A SOLDIER. SOMEONE RAISES HIM TO 18, AND THEN 2 YEARS TRAINING—HE CAN NEVER BE REPLACED.

IF SAFETY WORK WAS RETROACTIVE, WE WOULD ALL LIKE TO GO BACK AND UNDO THIS ONE. IT HURTS US ALL, IT'S OUR CONCERN.

DENTAL HEALTH TEAM AT SCHOOL... Treating Children of Post Personnel

Dental Program Progressing Well

The post's preventive dental health program has established three phases of operation since its beginning nearly two months ago.

The new program is supported by the Ft. Benning Community Activities Association and is under the direction of Col. Clyde D. Oatman, Jr., Infantry Center dental surgeon.

The three phases of work now going on are talks in the post schools by the dental hygienist, the installation of permanent work space in the hospital area, and the establishment of a mobile unit for Army dependent personnel in Columbus, Ga. schools.

In 64 talks the dental hygienist has reached 1150 children and 64 teachers in all the post schools. These lectures pointed out preventive dental health measures, stressing particularly toothbrushing techniques. The core of the program lies in preventive planning and training, officials explained.

Permanent Installation Set-up With the cooperation of hospital authorities, on Oct. 8 a permanent type installation was set up in Ward A-15 of the U. S. Army Hospital section, Col. Oatman reported. This working area is used to give the topical application of fluoride treatments, one of the basic preventive measures.

Over 256 single applications of the solution have been administered through Nov. 21. Complete treatment series have been given to 44 children and more than 100 cleaning treatments have been made, Col. Oatman added.

On Nov. 20 a mobile unit to bring the preventive program to Army dependent children in Columbus schools was organized. Col. Oatman pointed out that this phase of the plan was made possible through the cooperation of Muscogee County School authorities. The mobile unit is already operating in the South Columbus school with plans to extend the service to the Benning Hills, Whitfield, and Baker Elementary Schools.

Meet Halls Permit Slip signed by parents granting permission for their children to receive treatment are required. Col. Oatman noted that the return of signed slips in rooms where they have been given out averaged approximately 90 per cent.

Officials of the program are requesting parents to check Benning's Daily Bulletin for an announcement of groups who will be eligible for preventive dental treatment. Under this program schedule children in the first and second grades of off post schools not named above and high school students are eligible now.

Other groups eligible to participate in the preventive dental health program will be announced through the Daily Bulletin, Col. Oatman stated.

Group Hears Employment Official Speak

A prime objective of management is the provision of job satisfaction to each worker, James A. Lawrence, manager of the Columbus Office of the Georgia State Employment Service said here Nov. 29.

Speaking on the "Role of Management in Employment Security" at a dinner meeting of the Armed Forces Management Association in the Main Officers' Mess, Lawrence pointed out that job satisfaction is compounded from a sense of belonging, security, recognition and opportunity. "If management fails these obligations, capital, labor and the national economy will suffer," he added.

"Only mediocre work will come from the use of force, fear and authority. We are learning to use more persuasion and less authority of position," he told the group. Lawrence stressed that management must consider the capacity of the individual worker and the ability of supervisors to inspire him to produce to his fullest extent.

The 7th Bn. compiled the highest numerical score on the battalion tests in the 30th TCC. The presentation was made at a review last Friday at Todd Field.

The speaker discussed the work of the State Employment Service in job placement and administering job insurance programs.

NEW SILVER BARS

Gold bars were exchanged for silver Nov. 20 by Lt. James W. Morse, 80th Ord. Detachment, SFC, when he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. Lt. Morse calls Hamburg, Ark. home, where his wife, Betty Ruth, resides. First entering the Army May 20, 1955 he received his commission through the ROTC program as a graduate of the University of Arkansas. He completed the Explosive Ordnance Detachment School, Indianapolis, Ind., before coming here last January.

The officer's sendress uniform, more commonly called the "pink and green," is the prescribed uniform for general duty, and also for appropriate off duty functions. This uniform includes from top to bottom, the service cap with insignia, turtlet, shade 62. The correct shirt is described as "dark blue Army shade 150. Shoes and socks are black.

The winter dress uniform, authorized for wear by both officers and enlisted men, is prescribed as optional wear at special functions, on or off the reservation.

The copy for this uniform is dress blue with insignia, army shade 150. The shirt is white with turndown, semifit, or stiff collar, with dress black, four-in-hand or tow tie as required. The trousers are dress blue, general officers' and Army shade 150, all others Army shade 151. The coat is dress blue Army shade 150. Shoes and socks are black.

The insignia, and insignia in the same manner as on the sendress of the service uniform except no shoulder insignia is worn. Gloves when worn should be dress white, and the overcoat is shade 7, or for officers, the dress blue cape.

What to Wear

TIC Circular Gives Uniform Regulations

(Ed Note: This is the first in a series of three articles dealing with the authorized winter uniforms, and when and how they should be worn. This week the officers' sendress, and dress uniform will be discussed.)

Appendix 1 to Circular 145, TIC, dated Oct. 12, 1956 prescribes those uniforms authorized for wear, and when they should be worn.

The officer's sendress uniform, more commonly called the "pink and green," is the prescribed uniform for general duty, and also for appropriate off duty functions. This uniform includes from top to bottom, the service cap with insignia, turtlet, shade 62. The correct shirt is described as "dark blue Army shade 150. Shoes and socks are black.

The winter dress uniform, authorized for wear by both officers and enlisted men, is prescribed as optional wear at special functions, on or off the reservation.

The copy for this uniform is dress blue with insignia, army shade 150. The shirt is white with turndown, semifit, or stiff collar, with dress black, four-in-hand or tow tie as required. The trousers are dress blue, general officers' and Army shade 150, all others Army shade 151. The coat is dress blue Army shade 150. Shoes and socks are black.

Director Announces First Rehearsal of Post Choirs

Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, member of the plan and training committee of the Infantry School Staff Department, will direct the first rehearsal of the combined Ft. Benning choir Dec. 3 at the Main Post School at 7:30 p.m.

Col. Sayre has been directing soldier choruses for over 15 years and has a long musical background. He is a graduate of the University of Akron in education and also holds a Bachelor of Music and diploma in opera from the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, Pa.

He has sung professionally in opera companies in New York City and Philadelphia. While in the service, he has taken the bass solo parts in many of his choirs' performances and also did the solo part for the Christmas program broadcast over the Armed Forces' Network from Frankfurt, Germany.

His latest endeavors was the directing of the soldier chorus of the 25th Inf. Div. to Honolulu, Hawaii, before coming to this post.

This idea of presenting a combined choral group festival was given to Col. Sayre because he has been doing these types of seasonal programs for many years.

Four choirs including the Main Post Chapel, Catholic, Episcopal and the 25th Reg-

Sussel Wins Silver Star For Gallantry

Captain Malcolm A. Sussel, a student officer in the Infantry officers advanced course, 3d Co., 1st Student Bn., TSB has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action near Oa-Ri, Korea, on Feb. 6, 1951.

Sussel, a member of the 7th Inf. Regt., 3d Div. at the time, was making a reconnaissance on a hilly and wooded area and found an enemy force on his battalion's exposed flank.

With only two squads at his disposal, he deployed one along high ground and exposed himself to enemy small arms fire in order to more effectively direct fire from beyond the village.

"With the other squad he set up a road block and for three hours successfully held the position and captured one prisoner."

Through Captain Sussel's direction while continually exposed to the enemy, the fire became so accurate that the enemy withdrew from the forward slope and surrounding area. He then remained exposed to mortar fire while personally directing the withdrawal of all men and vehicles.

The citation concludes stating that "Captain Sussel's courage and prompt and aggressive employment of his small force against numerically superior enemy forces permitted his battalion to form a defensive line, and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service."

The Army has announced the name of the new uniform with his entry, "Army Green."

The $300.00 winner's check was presented to Capt. Norman L. Williamson, of Lancaster, S. C., by Lt. Gen. J. P. Collier, Fourth Army commander, during an appropriate ceremony at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., recently, following selection of his suggestion by DA from almost 1700 other entries.

The name "Army Green" suggested by 23 contestants and Captain Williamson's reason for recommending the name was the deciding factor in his favor. The captain, who was stationed at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., at the time he entered the contest, wrote in part, "Army Green identifies our service and effectively joins the old traditions with the new."

Even before the winner of the contest was announced, the Army had issued Circular 670-4, directing that the name "Army Green" identify used by all Army personnel when referring to the new service uniform."

The Department of the Army has also published C 3 to SIF 32-1623 to insure that military personnel wearing the new uniform will present the best possible military appearance.

After Airborne Training Allied Officer Learns Why U. S. Wins Battles

BY NORMAN SOLON
Capt. Zelig M. Mir of the Pakistan Army received something more than his wings when he completed airborne training at the Infantry School last week.

He received the answer to a question.

In addition to his jump training, Capt. Mir, the first member of the Pakistan Army to take airborne training at The Infantry School, was assigned to this country by his government to study U.S. military methods.

Arriving in the U. S. five weeks ago he was skeptical about the effectiveness of the American military discipline code.

Under the U. S. five weeks ago he was skeptical about the effectiveness of the American military discipline code.

Under the U. S. five weeks ago he was skeptical about the effectiveness of the American military discipline code.

to officers, and yet Americans were still winning battles and wars," Capt. Mir added.

After four weeks of training here he found his answer.

"Mutual Respect"

"Here in the U.S. discipline is maintained out of a feeling of mutual respect," Capt. Mir stated.

The completeness of U. S. airborne training, especially in regard to physical conditioning and safety, impressed Capt. Mir. The emphasis in airborne departments of other countries is almost exclusively on the actual jump training, according to him.

"In the U.S.," Capt. Mir said, "a man must be in perfect physical condition before he is allowed to make even his first lower jump. As a result the training accident rate is far lower in America than elsewhere," he stated.

Chaplain (1st Lt.) Donald Kinney, of Syracuse, N.Y., who spent five years in China behind the Bamboo Curtain, has been assigned to the 151st Engineer Group.

Before entering the Army this month, the Catholic chaplain was an instructor at Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

He was ordained in 1947 after completing theological studies at the Mary Immaculate Seminary at Northampton, Pa. He did his undergraduate work at Niagara University.

Was Studying in China
After serving two months at St. Patrick's Church in Phenix City, Ala., in 1947, he went to Peking, China, with the Vincentian Fathers' Congregation of the Missions, Chaplain Kinney explained.

Put Under Arrest
Chaplain Kinney and other members of the group were put under "house arrest" and confined to a small mud hut until 1952. During this time they were repeatedly charged with offenses and subjected to questioning and indoctrination by the Communists in an effort to force them from the country, Chaplain Kinney explained.

Finally in 1952 under the Chinese Communist expulsion program, Chaplain Kinney with other members of the mission was sent to Hongkong for repatriation. After three years of false charges and accusations, the Communist government finally succeeded in accumulating enough charges to expel them from China, he added.

On his return to the U. S., Chaplain Kinney was assigned as an instructor at Niagara University until coming to the Infantry Center.

Nurses Alloted More Spaces For Officers
Career opportunities for women in the Army medical services have been improved with substantial increases in field grade promotions during FY 1957.

Nurses have been alloted additional spaces for two colonels, 22 lieutenant colonels and 22 majors.

Prior to the increase there were 34 promotions to major and five to lieutenant colonel scheduled for the corps.

Women Medical Specialists will receive four lieutenant colonel space while captain to major promotions have been upped from 15 to 23.

Selections for promotion already made by boards under the old allotments will be announced in the near future, the Army said.

3 MEN ASSIGNED
Three new members were assigned to the cadre of the Transporter Platoon, STC, Nov. 28, 1956.

Reporting for duty on that date were PFC Carroll W. Byrd, Florine, La.; PFC Richard V. Jarowski, Bridgeport, Conn., and Pvt. Steve Jimenez, New York, N. Y.

JOINS WAC CO.

Medical Group Holds Atomic Training Course

Spiritual needs and psychological considerations following nuclear attack were highlighted in the opening session of a course on medical management of mass atomic casualties Nov. 28.

The training course is being held this week for The Infantry Center's 5th Medical Group under the direction of Col. Harry C. McClain of Section, Pa., commander of the Group.

Since fear and panic are primarily responsible for unnecessary deaths and casualties, training to control and combat these forces is a major factor in the medical program.

It was pointed out to the group that the psychological and spiritual effects of leadership developed from such training programs at this unit equally invaluable in dispersing and handling the disastrous results created by panic and fear.

Covers Many Phases
The program will cover training in first aid, self aid, sorting and medical evacuation and disaster planning for nursing service. Civil defense planning

'Otters' Airlift Battalion In Post Tactical Problem

Using 12 U-1A Otters, the 1st Aviation Co. completed a maneuver last week, which proved that this new type aircraft can be used in operations under battlefield conditions.

Heading the operation was Major Jerome B. Feldt of Park, Kans., commander of the company, assisted by Capt. George P. Heald of Ashby, Minn., commander of Co. B, 4th Bn. of the 3d Inf. Div. Purposes 5-fold.

The joint maneuver combined the efforts of the Infantry and aviation unit. Its purposes were five-fold: to walk the doctrine contained in the Army Field Manual; to determine type loads of combat ready rifle companies that will fit into the new U-1A aircraft; to more commonly known as the Otter; to provide training for men of the 4th Battalion were used with an infantry combat unit; to provide training for troops of 3rd Inf. Div. in use of the Otter, and to provide training for units of the 3rd Div. in air-land operations. The tactical problem consisted of an Infantry battalion being air-landed 12,000 yards forward of front lines. The men were to land, assemble and assault an assigned objective and secure their portion of the air-head-line factor that each unit is responsible for holding and covering.

Was First Time

Cap. Edward J. Cavanaugh, of Worcester, Mass., member of the Testing Committee, Air Force's Mobility Group, Airborne Army Aviation Department, The Infantry School, who accompanied the airlift, said "this is the first time that a U-1 has taken part in a simulated combat situation of this nature and the men of the 4th Battalion were the first ground combat unit to use the Otter."

Doughboys Are Post Champions

Rockets Unable to Halt Doughs 2nd Half Surge

CLARK ON THE MOVE . . . Doughboy fullback Ken Clark bulls his way for a ten yard advance in the post championship game. Dave Rogers (45) of the Rockets is blocked out of the play by end Lou Sawchik. No. 44 is guard Tony Tedesco of the Rockets.

ROGERS IN TROUBLE . . . 3rd Division flashy halfback, Dave Rogers appears in trouble as he tries to circle end in the big Thanksgiving Day contest. Moving in to halt Rogers' progress are left to right, Dick Ohl, Howie Williams, Arnie Oaken, Jim Matthews (25), and Kenny Brown.

Displaying a potent second half running attack along with outstanding defensive play, the Main Post Doughboys won the Ft. Benning championship Thanksgiving Day dropping the 3rd Div. Marine Rockets to a tune of 23-7.

With 4,000 shivering fans watching, the Doughboys completely out-played the Rockets in the second half after having to settle for a 7-7 halftime score.

Aside from the great offensive surge put forth by the Main Post eleven, the defensive unit was to be commended as it held the Marine Rockets to a second half total of 10 yards, both rushing and passing.

Rocket Score
Halftack Dave Rogers started the day's scoring with a second quarter 47-yard run on a fake punt attempt to put the Rockets in the lead 6-0. Quarterback Gene Hanson's try for the extra point was good making the score 7-0.

But the Rockets' abbreviated ed lead in the halfgame did not last very long. With our minutes remaining in the half Doughboy quarterback Jim Matthews dropped back to pass on his own 47 and found end Lou Sawchik on the Rockets' 20. Sawchik, with three defenders around him, deflected the ball to fellow end Howie Williams who gathered it in and raced for the score.

Matthews' try for the extra point was good and the half-time score read 7-7.

90-yard Scoring March
The first-up Doughboys took the second half kick-off and with backs Kenny Brown, Dick Ohl and Ken Clark taking turns moved for the tie-breaking score in 15 plays. The score came via Matthews to Sawchik pass good for 14 yards. Matthews conversion made it 14-7.

The Rockets sided by a fine run back of the kick-off moved the ball to midfield. Then a pass interference penalty moved the ball down to the Doughboys' 15. However, the Doughboys' fine line led by Dale Haupt, Neil Lowry and Millard Hall stopped the Rockets' rushing attempts. So quarterback Gene Hanson tried the airwaves only to have Matthews intercept on the two-yard line.

Midway in the fourth quarter a weak punt by the Rockets' Rogers set up the Main Post eleven's final score. With the ball on the Rockets' 36, rushing thrusts by Matthews, Fred Holland and Vince Donato, along with a 29-yard scamper on a keeper play by quarterback Matthews, moved the ball to the one-yard line. From there Vince Donato hurried the line for the score. The try for extra point by Mat-

DOUGHBOY SCORE . . . Doughboy end, Lou Sawchik leaps high in the air to attempt to spear a Jim Matthews pass. Rocket defenders, Dave Rogers (45), and Gene Hanson (34) move in on Sawchik. However, Big Lou calmly tipped the pigskin to end Howie Williams (28) who raced unopposed for the Doughboys first score.

there was blocked by guard George Jacoby and the score reads 20-7.

Flashy halfback Dave Rogers gave the Rockets fans something to cheer about as he took the following kick-off 85 yards for what looked like a Rocket score. However, a clipping generally nullified the run, putting the ball on the Rockets' 49-yard line.

On the next play a Hanson to Rogers pass attempt was blocked off by Doughboy Vince Donato who moved down to the Rockets' 20. Three rushing thrusts failed to pick up the first down so quarterback Matthews attempted a field goal from the 22-yard line. The three point attempt split the uprights making a final score of 23-7.

Scoring: Doughboy, Sawchik (14-yard pass from Matthews); Williams (65-yard pass from Matthews); Donato (13-yard plunge). Rockets, Rogers (57-yard run).

Conversions: Matthews, 2; Hanson, 1.

DOUGHBOY COACH

. . . 2nd Lt. Jim Ingram

TOM WIERZBICKI
Here's the Best
With No Apologies

The curtain has come down on another football season here at Ft. Benning and for many of us, it is probably the last time we will see "Home of the Infantry."

Football, like the great American pastime, has its own Hot Stove league . . . the time to re-hash past season failures or accomplishments.

The big two-letter word, IF, is defined by Noel Webster in his New Collegiate Dictionary as "a typical condition used merely always to introduce the hypothetical clause of a conditional sentence."

The fact that Benning has seen fit to organize three post level teams rather than one, is an accomplishment in itself worthy of the praise adhered to it. However, the big two-letter word has cropped up into the interrogation: "What IF all the players were joined together on one team. What kind of team would we have?"

Bumping heads with two of the coaches, Jim Ingram of the newly crowned TIC champions, the Main Post Doughboys and Summer Bornstein of the 3rd Division Marine Rockets, the three of us have come up with a team we felt could hold its own against any other service team in the country.

WE MAY BE WRONG, BUT . . .
Starting with the flank positions we find: Lou Sawchik (Doughboys), Don Hollender (Brigade Cyclones), Hal Hubbard (Rockets), Howie Williams (Doughboys), and Larry Popkin (Rockets).

All-American (Ohio State) George Jacoby (Rockets) heads the list at tackle. Others are: Millard Hall (Doughboys), Tom Bragg (Cyclones), Radford Hamilton (Doughboys) and Hershell Jones (Doughboys).

Our list would not be complete if we did not list players who were hurt earlier in the year and did not finish the season, such was the case with Willie Goetz and Calvin Ellen, two of the finest players from the Marine Rockets.

The post champions, the Doughboys, provide two top-notch men, Neil Lowry and Dale Haupt, to head the list of guards on our "post team." Others are: Clint Peter (Rockets), Ken Leuter (Cyclones), Dave Goodell (Cyclones) and Nick Paloukas (Rockets). Paloukas was injured midway in the season and finished on the sidelines.

Our center slot is filled by three capable men, Arnie Oaken (Doughboys), Paul Laskley (Cyclones), and Roger Pond (Rockets).

BOASTS OF FINE BACKFIELD
Handling the reigns of this all-star aggregation we find former All-American Pete Vann (Cyclones), Gene Hanson (Rockets), and Russ Mericle (Cyclones). Doughboy quarterback, Jim Matthews was purposely left out. A runner of Matthews caliber must be put at fullback. Though Jim's a fine passer we think he locks a lot better with the pigskin tucked under his arm.

If you think our line is star-studded, take a gander at what we have toting the ball. A typical halfback should possess power, speed and elusiveness. In Dave Rogers, Rocket halfback, we might find all three.

However, as Rogers means POWER, Bennie Boles (Cyclones) furnishes the SPEED, while Kenny Brown (Doughboys) supplies the third ingredient, ELUSIVENESS.ounding out the halfback slot we find Jim Benson (Cyclones), Dick Ohl (Doughboys), Jack Siskovic (Rockets), and Bob Hoerning (Doughboys).

Hoerning, potentially a great running back, was injured in the season opener for the Main Post eleven and was out for the season. Still, his play in that single game warrants him a slot on the team.

Hard driving Jimmy Matthews heads the flank position on the team. Jim Matthews' teammates, Ken Clark and Larry Gressette along with Jerry LeBlanc (Rockets) are the other capable runners.

Well, that's it . . . Undoubtedly we've left out some other players on this "dream team" that deserve mention. But in making a selection of this nature this will inevitably happen.

But as we sit back and look over this "team" we can't help but smack our lips and as Jackie Gleason would say . . . "boy!"

Post Grid Team Gets Bowl Bid

BY JIM LONGSTRETH
The 3rd Division "Marine Rockets" have accepted a bid to play in the Polo Bowl at Tampa, Fla. Their opponents will be the "Tampa Yellowjackets," a semi-pro grid eleven with six former Little All-American college stars in their starting line-up.

The game will be an event of Dec. 15 and is being sponsored by the Recreation Center of the City of Tampa. All proceeds will be donated to the Polo Foundation to help in its fight against infantile paralysis.

The "Tampa Yellowjackets" are a strong offensive team made up of former college stars. They defeated the University of Tampa by a 14-0 score in their last regular game of the year.

Coach Bornstein will make the trip to Tampa with a 32-man squad. "Marine Rockets" will be bolstered by several outstanding players from the Infantry Center. Leading the Rockets in action will be George Jacoby, (All-American from Ohio State), Jim Matthews, (Ole Miss), Hal Hubbard, (Tenn.) Neil Lowry, (Kentucky), Roger Pond, (Georgia), Dale Haupt, (Maine) and many other former college grid stars.

Regimental Cagers Open Action With Four Games

Opening play in the newly formed Regimental basketball league Monday night, saw three 3rd Division teams sweep to opening night victories. Briant Wells Field House was the scene of the big game which saw defending 3rd Division champions, DivArty take an overtime battle from the School Brigade cagers, 80-78.

Other results were Support Command 55, Special Troops Command 46; 20th ICT 66, 30th ICT 64; and 12th ICC 60, 15th Engineers 56.

Briant Wells Field House rocked with excitement from start to finish of the DivArty-Brigade game with the score changing hands continually. TCB lead by big Lou Sawchik, formerly of Ohio University, who finished with 24 points, took the lead in the closing. However, two free throws by DivArty's Don Close with 13 seconds to go, tied the game up at 70-70.

Score Changes Hands
In the five minute overtime period, the score changed hands four times. A field goal by 6'5" Bill Hunter with one minute and 18 seconds to go put the 3rd Division quietest in a one point lead. DivArty's pins added another point on a freethrow to boost the score to 69-70. The Brigade had no chance to tie up the ballgame with 35 seconds to go, but missed a shot. DivArty pulled down the rebound after the attempted shot and with it won the ballgame.

Bill Runge, DivArty's big center, formerly of Seton Hall fame, was the high scorer of the game netting 25 points. The high point man for the evening in the four contests played was Leslie Robertson of Support Command with 28. Robertson's lethal heeled 18 1/2 3rd Division drop Special Troops command, 55-46.

Robertson Leads Way
After a close first half which saw Support Command in the lead with a 26-24 edge, the 3rd Division quietest paced by Robertson moved out quickly to outscore STC, 29-22 in second half play.

High scorers for Special Troops Command were B. J. Brundage with 16, and Johnny paced the 15th ICC cagers with 16 points apiece while Walter

With former Michigan State ace, Ralph Nickols leading the way with five field goals in the third quarter, Company C, 1st Sp Troops, Company C, 1st Sp Troops, B, STC came from behind to defeat the 20th Ordinance. Bobe led the scoring for both teams netting 20 points for the victorious Comets.

JERRY ARMSTRONG Column Designed For Outdoorsmen

Recently, yours truly was given a new assignment and I was sent "What you want you give me" is a weekly column written for the sportsman, but also for the people who would like to get outdoors where nature provides the thrills.

For those people, who get a special satisfaction from slipping the net under a large-mouth bass or get up in freezing weather just to get that big shot at a fleet white-tail buck, this column will be devoted.

Anything which would be a "kick" from doing outdoors under a clear blue sky or a brown autumn morning will be the stars turned in by you, the readers. You might think that some small incident would be of no interest, but it may hold the answer to someone's question they have been trying to solve.

So no matter how small or lengthy, with or without pictures, by telephone or letter, all stories will be appreciated. Just address your correspondence to PFC Jerry Armstrong at the Public Information Office, Ft. Benning or send it through message center to PIC-3TC. The deadline for the Bayonet is Friday before the next Thursday's paper.

Meetings of wildlife groups, fishing and shooting tournaments, turkey shoots, big catch of catfish from the Chattahoochee River or the annual post control hunt are all new items.

SPECIAL PROJECTS REPORTED
From time to time, special projects will be conducted by post officials. Such as the Disease and Wildlife Preliminary Control Survey now in progress under the joint co-operation of the post Veterinarian Section and Fish and Game Maintenance Association. These events will be reported from the authorities.

One of the features hoped for in the future will be special recipes for the preparation of wild game and fish. Any ladies, who have gourmet delights, which they use to bring their husband to terms, please send them in. Maybe it's a special sauce you use to smother your husband's trout or a stuffing for roast duck. Many of these life can be made into rare delicacies, if prepared with the proper ingredients.

Carroll Baker, 300 feet of thumb-sucking glory, reigns supreme here as the world's largest girl on the world's largest painted sign. Plugging the appearance of Carroll in Warner Bros' "Baby Doll" the sign stretches from 45th to 46th streets.

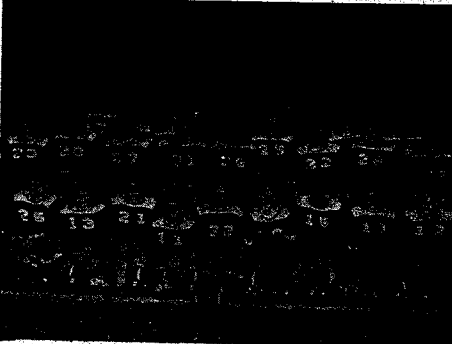

Radio is far from Dead . . . In the past 10 years, 140 million records were sold. For comparison, only 75 million electric clocks were sold. Just thought you would like to know.

Long Time No Popcorns . . . Putting together the 26-week series, "Air Power," CBS-TV documentary on the development of flight and the Air Force, meant reviewing more than 60,000 MILES of footage, some of it never shown to the public before. If you want to get statistical about this, to see all of the film at one time would mean sitting in a theater 220 days.

Knock, Knock . . . Old Man Opportunity is at the door for G.I.D. that is kicking around in the Armed Forces. A crack at the Big Time is available through the new Lawrence Welk ABC-TV show, "Top Tunes", according to network officials. This is not an amateur hour, but if your act is of professional caliber and just waiting for the Big Break, send a tape recording, plus and bio to: Lawrence Welk Office, 2823 Santa Monica Blvd., Santa Monica, Calif. A free trip to H'wood for a try-out. If nothing else, could result. Glad to tell you.

Irving Berlin in WWI wrote a ditty called "Smile and Show Your Gumples" for a charity whiling-ding sponsored by his platoon. The company commander turned the song down. Later on, Berlin rewrote the lyrics. You now the song now as "Easter Parade".

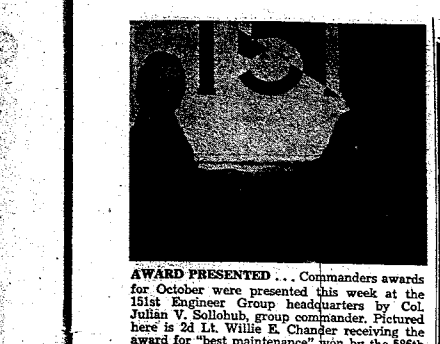

Trustful Souls . . . are movie producers these days. Warner Bros., shooting scenes for "The Girl He Left Behind" in Ord, Calif., used their own dice for a crap shooting sequence. The search of Denise? No, it seems that ordinary dice don't rattle loud enough for the sound to be heard above the exhortations of the "sportsmen".

Tab These . . . When Day with the opening of "Li'l Abner" this mid-march, it will become the musical comedy lit of the year . . . Erin O'Brien obviously Irish and pretty, will be "discovered" by H'wood soon. After 17 TV appearances on the Steve Allen "Tonight" and other Sunday eve shows, studios are interested in the lovely bald singer. Fact is, she was discovered in some "Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts" competition in California.

U. S. Sets New Rocket Record

NEW YORK.—The New York Journal-American quoted an authoritative source as disclosing that the U. S. had fired an Army rocket to a new altitude record that may be as much as 100 miles above the earth. The old record of 230 miles was established in 1949 at White Plains, N. Mex. "The Army is unable to comment," its Pentagon spokesman said in answer to a telephoned request for confirmation. The new record was reported by the Army as being established on a firing from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., over the strategic missile testing range extending to the South Atlantic. The test involved a three-stage rocket, the main part of which was a Redstone, a type of missile being produced by Chrysler Corp. Maj. Gen. John Medaris, the Army's chief missileman, and Werner von Braun, German V-2 expert now an American citizen, directed the launching.

News From King's School of Aviation, Inc. Victory Drive (Rt. 204) Over The Woods

"GOOSE" POLIZZI, JIM MORRISON and JACK METCALF received their private pilot licenses after check-ride with chief pilot Dean King. Only a short time ago these three pilots didn't know which was an airplane. YOU don't have to know anything to learn to fly. Like these fellows, you can learn to fly at King's School of Aviation, regardless of what you think of your ability. After getting his private license, JACK METCALF checked out in the Piper Tri-Pacer and flew to Arkansas for a home-cooked turkey dinner. You can join them in the aviation age by flying today!

By the end of the 1955-56 season, Lou Groza had scored a total of 766 points, kicked 393 out of 403 points after touchdowns, and booted more field goals (92) than any other grid star in history.

A tip from "the toe" —Lou Groza

While Groza is still very much in the football present, he's already well along with his plans for gridiron retirement. And, according to Lou, "One of the easiest ways I know of to save for retirement is to put part of every pay check into U. S. Savings Bonds."

Lou's idea is a good one for you, too. And the sooner you get going with your retirement plans, the less you'll need to save each month.

Let's say you're 45 and start investing $37.50 a month in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds. At 65 you'll have a retirement fund of $12,000. Another man is 55, but he invests $75 a month in Bonds. At 65 he'll have $10,000. Both of you will have invested the same amount—$9,000; but you, the early starter, will have accumulated 20% more money.

So take a tip from Lou Groza, and start scoring where it will count the most —with a regular retirement investment program in U. S. Savings Bonds. Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work. Or invest in Bonds regularly where you bank.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds. The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department books, for their guidance donation, the Advertising Council and

EM Stripes To Be Given Quarterly

The Army, in releasing new enlisted promotion quotas, has announced future stripe allotments will be issued quarterly rather than monthly, starting in November.

The first quotas under the revised policy, which cover November and December instead of the normal three-month period, authorize upgrading 54,320 in the top four grades and a stripe for privates E-2 as they reach 10 months' service during the quarter.

October promotions above private first class totaled 29,728.

A breakdown of the November-December quota by grade is: E-7, 120; E-6, 1,040; E-5, 6,560; and E-4, 45,200.

For the remainder of the quarter, major commands may promote to pay grade E-5 without regard to vacancy all privates E-2 recommended by their immediate commanders, provided they have 10 months' service on the first day of the month they are considered.

Appointments in grades E-5, E-6 and E-7 under these quotas will not be made in any of the following MOS's: 073, 411, 542, 533 631, 714, 715, 723, 733, 765, 942, 943 and 961.

In addition no promotions will be made in the following grades and MOS's:

- To E-7: 524, 635, 715, 727, 764, 766, 952.
- To E-6: 521, 518 621, 635, 642, 715, 764, 912, 922.
- To E-5: 518, 519, 524, 621, 643, 768.

The Army said the change to the quarterly basis was made to cut paper work and to give major commanders greater latitude in regulating enlisted promotions to meet command needs.

Norstad Assumes SHAPE Command

Gen. Lauris Norstad, present air deputy to SHAPE, will assume command of all U. S. forces in Europe on Nov. 20.

Succeeding Gen. Alfred J. Gruenther as United States Commander in Chief, Europe, Gen. Norstad also will take over as Supreme Commander, Allied Powers, Europe.

Relieving from the Army post Dec. 31, Gen. Gruenther returns to the states on Nov. 20. He has been named to head the American Red Cross.

DA Issues New Report On Progress

From Army News Service
The Secretary of the Army has published a special report, in form of a brochure, titled "United States Army Reports '56 Progress" which is now being distributed on a worldwide basis from general headquarters to company level.

The report shows the Army's tremendous progress during 1956 and explains why its forces are deployed on three continents and has personnel stationed in 79 foreign countries. The Army is pictured in perspective showing its mission, scope, and some of the ground force accomplishments during the past year, with the introduction of the NIKE B, Missile Master, combat television, Helmet radio, Mechanical Mule and several new aircraft models.

According to the report, studies and tests directed toward improving the Army's organizational structure in the missile and atomic age were accelerated in 1956. As a result of these studies, the word PEN-TANA has entered the Army's dictionary. In other words, a five-sided basic organizational structure, instead of the triangular formations which evolved in WWII, will be used.

The report deals with research and development in the missile field, the missile mater system, new equipment, Army aviation, man power, reserve forces, logistics, and many other important phases which make our Army the most successful in the world.

Hopes High to Reduce Holiday Accident Toll

A holiday safety emphasis program has been announced by post officials in an attempt to cut down the Christmas-New Year's death and injury rate.

Norman Evans, Infantry Center safety director, predicted that three post soldiers would die, and 25 will become hospital patients in traffic accidents during the forthcoming holiday period. The prediction is based on past figures.

The parents of every soldier under the age of 25, who is traveling home by private vehicle will receive a letter from Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, The Infantry Center commander, asking their cooperation in the safety campaign.

In particular, they will be requested to see that their sons keep home in ample time to reach Benning without speed-reach and have plenty of sleep the night before returning to the post.

The Post Safety Office will reach Benning without speed-reach and have plenty of sleep the night before returning to the post.

Pete, Jim Take Olympic Crowns

Two Ft. Benning bombers, Pete Rademacher and Jimmy Boyd, punched their way to gold medals for the United States in the Olympic boxing finals in Melbourne, Australia last week end.

The two was garbished by the Benning contingent were the only wins for the United States as Russia took the flistic finals winning three gold medals along with one silver and one bronze medal.

Britain's stylish boxers finished second in team scoring outstripping the United States winning a pair of gold medals and one each of the other two medals.

Along with the two gold medals won by the Benning twosome, the United States also finished with a silver label decoration won by Jose Torres, a light middleweight from Playa Posa, Puerto Rico.

Harvest Was Meager
The harvest was meager compared to the five abundant crops annexed by the 1955 United States team at Helsinki.

"Powerful Pete" the 6 foot one-and-a-half inch heavyweight from Grand View, Wash., who missed the 1952 Olympic boxing team due to a bad shoulder, made his try for the gold medal a glorious one as he made short work of Russia's Lev Moshkin, a bulky blond, six foot two-inch, 220-pounder.

The battle of the heavy artists for the amateur heavyweight championship of the world proved to be one-sided as Rademacher stormed out of his corner connecting solidly with two punches.

Jim Boyd, who was first in his weight class, was also a contender for the gold medal. He was defeated by a Russian, but his performance was highly praised.

On 15th Anniversary Officer Recalls Japanese Attack

BY MILLICENT SCUDDER
"It is the most startling thing in my life — completely fantastic and unbelievable," Col. Hoagland said.

He reached the Schofield hospital within 10 miles and was amazed to hear personnel assist the attack was a training exercise. Viewing casualties, some soldiers said the blood "was jam used for realism," Col. Hoagland commented.

The prime targets of the raid, Pearl Harbor and Hickam Field, sustained the most damage, he pointed out. "The number of casualties at Schofield was not great — not more than about half a dozen dead and 50 wounded. No incendiary bombs were dropped there, so fire was not a problem. Missiles punning by low-flying planes caused the damage," he said.

He was completely unprepared for the attack personally saw so that military personnel saw the damage.

Christmas Around the World is the theme of a musical play to be presented by students of the Ft. Benning Children's Schools at the Dec. 12 meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Faith School auditorium. Costumed children from Main Post, Custer Terrace and Faith Schools will enact Christmas scenes in many lands.

Artistic costumes will be spotlighted in Holland, England, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Germany, Austria, Mexico, China, Japan, France, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Alaska, Hawaii, Panama and the U. S.

Carols on the program include "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" approximately 1:30 p.m., "The Bambino Sings," Japan; "Here Comes St. Nicholas," Holland; "Holidays in the Valley" and "Yule Nisse," Sweden; "Yule, Tamboona," Germany; and "The Pilgrim Song," Mexico.

The choral group included children from the post schools. The play will be concluded with "Joy to the World" sung by the choir and audience.

The evening's program is described with Christmas greetings in 11 languages, Danish, English, French, German, Italian, Finnish, Russian, Spanish, Portuguese and Swedish.

Winners of three-dollar attendance prizes for the November P-T-A meeting have been announced by Lt. Col. Charles W. Sample of Fort Pierce, Fla., P-T-A president.

They are Mrs. Elizabeth Altman, fourth grade, Custer Terrace School; Miss Catherine Pickering's third grade, Main Post School; Miss Betty Barnes' fourth grade, Faith School; and Mrs. Nancy Welch's morning kindergarten, Hospital Area.

Soldier Club Contest Set

Soldier club world-wide will compete for a prize in the second "Operation Army Service Club" contest to be held here July 15.

The competition, sponsored by Civil Service, will bring $300 and $100 respectively to second and third place installments in addition to prizes for all the money winners.

The cash awards will be used to purchase Service Club furnishings.

Designed to encourage improved programs and to provide a means of change of entertainment ideas, the contest will be held in each major command to select finalists.

The judging will be based on the entries, including the top three, will be rotated to clubs throughout the Army after the winners are named. (APFS)

Mass Slated For Children

A special Children's Mass will be celebrated for Catholics at the Main Post Catholic Chapel.

The special Mass is to celebrate the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, one of the six Catholic Holy Days of obligation.

During the services the children will sing hymns to the Blessed Virgin.

Buses will bring to the chapel children who usually attend Catechism classes at this hour on Saturdays and will return them to their homes. Parents are also invited to attend the Mass.

Masses Dec. 8 will be celebrated according to the following schedule: Main Post Chapel: 6:45 and 10 a.m., 12:06, 5:15, 6, 7 and 8 p.m.

Hospital Chapel: 6:15 a.m., 7 p.m.

Magazine Worthwhile

Life magazine has just put out a special publication, "Hungary's Fight for Freedom," which went on sale at newsstands Dec. 4. The issue sells for 50 cents, with all profits going to the International Rescue Committee, one of the organizations dealing with the problems of Hungarian refugee care. This publication contains eye-witness accounts and photos of journalists who were "on the spot" when the fighting began. The editor of The Bayonet has seen an advance copy of this publication and it seems very interesting and worthwhile.

On the Bookshelf

Sound of Waves, by Yukio Mishima. (Knopf, 1956) A young Japanese fisherman fills in love with the daughter of the wealthiest man in town. The story concerns the hazards which had to be overcome before the young couple could be married. The oblique, sensitive and pastoral style is conveyed in an effective translation.

Family Party, by John O'Hara. (Random, 1956) Supposed to be a speech given at a testimonial dinner, this long short story is a biographical sketch of a beloved doctor in a small Pennsylvania town. Throughout, the illusion of the speaking voice is maintained with uncanny accuracy and with complete knowledge of the warm communal, albeit sentimental, mood of small town life.

Facts of Life, by Stanley Baron. (Harcourt, 1956) A sophisticated, gently satirical picture of a middle-aged woman in Rome, Paris, and London. The measure of the author's success lies in the fact that while the reader recognizes Lucy for

Washington Report

Service Bills Light For 85th Congress

The passage of "landmark" legislation of primary interest to the military and naval services was reported by the 85th Congress. The House approved bills now drafted for the 85th session. By comparison, relatively unimportant legislation to increase the attractiveness of Army engineering and scientific careers.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's legislative program to be presented when the lawmakers convene next January, however, does include "carry-over" measures which failed to pass the 84th congress, the DOD added.

Of most general interest to the Armed Forces are the continuing recommendations that will be made by the Defense Committee which may indicate findings which would require a new law to provide added incentives for the retention of skilled personnel.

The committee report on Technical and Professional Compensation is scheduled to be submitted to Mr. Wilson chief among the service bills which did not clear the Hill and will be brought before the 85th legislature are:

- 1. Increase career opportunities for regular nurses and other health care personnel.
- 2. Increase career opportunities to reserve medical officers to reserve subsistence while entering in non-governmental institutions prior to July 1, 1957.
- 3. Retirement and longevity credit for service as a member of the WAAC.

Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brantford told the Washington Society of Engineers recently how the Army is developing a new type of scientific talent. He explained a five-year cooperative training program, with various colleges for students in engineering and science, which runs like those in private industry.

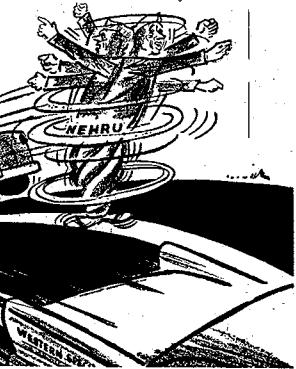

The demands of industry are great, and it has many different types of man who wields a tremendous influence today.

That Line's Getting Thin

Chaplain's Corner

Make Your Decision

once it is when the Chaplain meets a soldier or a sailor, a family that "stands up to be counted," for a high moral life.

I met a young man a few weeks ago who said, "I'm a good soldier and have been for 7 years, but I was converted this summer, and now I feel I can't be a good Christian unless I completely change my life." You know, I agreed with him. He had made a conversion decision as I helped him. He had made a conversion decision as I helped him. He had made a conversion decision as I helped him.

We were struck by the tragedy inherent in a situation where human beings were assigned to death in which there is no command decision for the Good Life. Sure, lots of decisions for drinking, smoking, and eating, wastefulness, but few for the wholesome, enduring Good Life.

Movie Review

Epic Film Lives Up To Publicity

The movie "War and Peace" which is currently playing at Theatre No. 10 on post, has been hailed as the most stupendous task in the history of motion picture making. Since 1925, 124 producers have announced that they would undertake the gigantic project of bringing to the screen Leo Tolstoy's famous novel of Napoleon's invasion of Moscow.

However, no one was able to show the adaptation until Italy's Dino De Laurentiis came along. He began preliminary work six years ago, and eventually declared he would follow it no matter what the odds. The results, though, show that he was most successful. The battle scenes in this movie have been declared by many to be the most realistic and realistic ever filmed; the background color is white listening, that these people lacked the spark and drive of the manhood production.

The acting, though, more than adequate, seems secondary to the primary appeal of the movie, that of the grandeur. Audrey Hepburn, although together charming, does not display the depth of Tolstoy's character.

Henry Fonda probably turns in the best performance of his entire career, and as Time magazine pointed out, seems to be the only one in the cast to have read the book. The scenes of the life of the times are excellent, and offer a clear picture of Czarism, and the stirrings of a social revolution.

Gleason Program A Fitting Tribute

Perry Corro probably lost several of his regular viewers Thursday night as a result of Jackie Gleason throwing away his usual format, and devoting his entire show to a tribute to Tommy Dorsey, who died last week.

One expected to see in this show a lot of great stars and a lot of good jazz; and it almost came up to expectations. The "Diana" lived up to the previous number. "The Royal Garden Blues" set a new record for Gleason's work six years ago, and everyone predicted it would follow it not quite measure up to it.

Another highlight of the program was the "Diana" which some of his "musicals" and their instrumental solo on "Diana" lived up to the previous number. "The Royal Garden Blues" set a new record for Gleason's work six years ago, and everyone predicted it would follow it not quite measure up to it.

Sub-Center Makes All Type Aids

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG

"Name it, if we don't have it—we'll make it", is a motto which really gives the scope of the Post's Third Army Training Aids Sub-Center. Anything from a simple sign depicting "Security Is Everybody's Business" to an intricate working model of a .30 caliber machine gun can be made or obtained from this sub-center.

"Our normal mission is to produce training aids of all types, which will in some practical visual manner, increase the efficiency and aid a unit or command in accomplishing its goal", said Capt. Clinton G. Hayes, of Rocky Mount, N.C., training aids officer.

Divided Into 5 Sections
Being a large and complex unit, the sub-center is divided into five separate sections consisting of headquarters, supply, graphics, devices and distribution branches.

Two officers, one warrant officer, three enlisted men and 22 civilian personnel make up the operational staff of the five departments of the station.

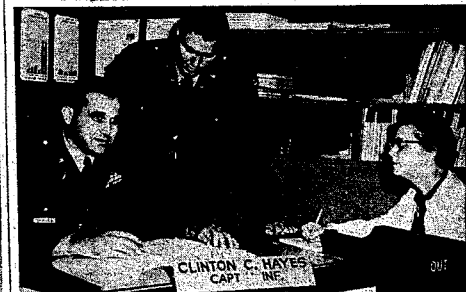

In headquarters, Capt. Hayes coordinates the sub-center's job of rendering support to all major commands under the Infantry Center and 3rd Div. units. The bulk of training aids are used by the Infantry Center and 3rd Div.

During the quarter of July-October, 3,198 devices, 8,353 graphics and 6,358 line items, rental objects, were produced.

ons as the 280 millimeter atomic cannon and diagram blackboards. The supervisory illustrator is displayed in the entrance of the training aids office. Capt. Hayes added, "Remember a training aid isn't just a wooden device or a simple paper map—it's a functional integrated example used to render visual instruction in various ways."

WORK OUT DETAILS . . . Working out details on a quarterly report are the two training aids officers and supervisory clerk of the headquarters section of the sub-center. Capt. Clinton C. Hayes (left), training aids officer, works closely with his assistant, 1st Lt. Robert J. Lynch, and Mrs. Marie W. White, clerk.

Official Wins Amvet Award

WASHINGTON (APFS)—award from the national veterans' organization. The presentation was made to Mr. Broger, formerly a consultant to the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at an executive committee meeting of the Amvets' 1956 Americanism Award here.

As the author of the Militant Liberty concept in support of the Code of Conduct, Mr. Broger is the first Department of Defense official to receive the award given annually to the individual considered to have made the greatest contribution to the American way of life during the past year.

Militant Liberty contrasts the primary conflicts between Communism and the free world and sets forth the basic convictions upon which our government was founded as a guide to our servicemen in upholding the Code of Conduct. Bernard Baruch, noted American philanthropist and statesman, last year received the even larger loss.

Rockets Prepare for Polio Bowl Clash With Tampa Yellowjackets

The 3rd Div. Mame Rockets have been preparing this week for their encounter Dec. 15 with the Tampa Yellowjackets in the Polio Bowl in Tampa, Fla. Coach Sumner Bornstein and his team badly hampered with injuries will carry a 30 man squad to Tampa for the game. The contest is a benefit game for the Polio Fund, sponsored by the Recreation Center, City of Tampa.

The Yellowjackets will be made up of former college grid stars including several University of Tampa players. Bill Minahan will be at the quarterback slot for the Tampa eleven. Minahan played for the University of Tampa and was noted for his pinpoint passing. His favorite target was 6'7", 230 pound end Holland "Luke" Applin, also a member of the Yellowjackets.

Fast for Size
Applin is fast and agile for his size and can reach high into the air for passes which might appear incomplete. He has had no pro experience, playing in the Canadian Football League upon graduation from the University of Tampa.

DivArty Top Gun In Cage Standings

With one week's play completed the 3rd Division's DivArty and the Main Post's 29th RCT cagers are on top of the Regimental Cage Loop with unblemished records.

Percentage wise DivArty with three straight wins holds the edge over coach Fred Byerly's RCT quiet who have won one of the 3rd Division team.

Hanson Faces DivArty
A one-sided 86-73 win last Monday night over 7th ICC put coach George Donald's DivArty men in the lead in Regimental play. Forward Bill Hannan, an end on the Mame Rockets grid team, paced DivArty with 21 points. Jim Johnson, however,

CAREER ENDS
Vic Janowicz, former Pittsburgh Pirates catcher, who quit in 1955 to play professional ball with the Washington Redskins, is through with the profession as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident in California last August. The former All-American, who had been sidelined since the accident, underwent two weeks of tests by O.H.I. State University physicians and it was announced that they had advised him against further participation in contact sports.

Victims of Action
High scorer for the victorious Medical Group was Paul Hudson with 22 while Bob Brundage paced STC with 20. In the other contest, Support Command's Leslie Robertson kept up his 22 point average with 21 points. Dick Reid was high man for 15th ICC.

Results of action placed last weekend saw 54th Medical Group squeak by 7th ICC on a last minute free throw by Paul Hagman to win 68-67; 7th drop Support Command, 68-55; 15th ICC lead by Don Woodward's 15 points beat STC, 79-59; 15th Engineers' half 54th Medics winning streak, 68-52; 29th RCT paced by player - coach Fred

Team standings follow:

Team	W	L

15th Engineers	1	2

Champs Meet All-Star Team

The Bidly Football League will be climaxed tomorrow night at Gowdy Field when the champions, Custer Terriers, play an All-Star club at 6 p.m.

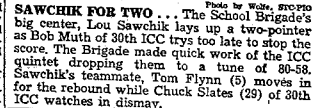

Custer Terriers' squad was unbeaten in six contests during the regular season in coping both halves of the schedule.

Bill Back Gary Jellison, who was the leading scorer of the league, will be main threat for the Terriers. In one game during the season, Jellison raced for seven touchdowns in pacing his team to victory.

The All-Star team composed of the Tigers, Blue Battalion and Bell's Boys will boast a squad of 23 players.

Stan Morrison, Dave Buchanan, Dick Kent, Harry Gott, Bill Humphrey, Harold Irvin, Jack Ostoft and Taylor Dempsey will represent the Tigers. Blue Battalion will furnish Owen Summers, Bill Munson, Charles Soto, Merd Foster, Bill Kernan, Richard Greer and J. E. Fenske.

LARSEN PRO STAR
Don Larsen, New York Yankee pitcher, won a perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series. He was named the Hickory Pro Athlete of October in a lay out of sports writers and reporters. Larsen received 102 votes; nine short of a unanimous total. He now qualifies for a contest for $20,000 prize that goes with the year's top athlete award.

SAWCHIK FOU TWO . . . The School Brigade's big center, Lou Sawchik lays up a two-pointer as Bob Muth of 30th ICC tries too late to stop the quiet. The Brigade made quick work of the ICC quietest dropping them to a tune of 80-58. Sawchik's teammate, Tom Flynn (5) moves in for the rebound while Chuck Slates (29) of 30th ICC watches in dismay.

QUANTICO STOPS BOLLING'S STREAK
A stubborn Quantico, Va. eleven upset Bolling, AFB, eleven last night in the game to win, 16-12.

Bolling has been invited to play Ft. Hood, Tex., in the 11th annual Shriners Bowl in Galveston, Tex., Dec. 8.

TOM WIERZBICKI The Summing Up Of Olympic Wins

An Open Letter to:
1st Lt. Pete Rademacher

Sometimes it's hard to put into words what one really wants to say. Guess, Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Powell, the Infantry Center commander, summed it up best in the telegam he sent you fellows after you won your Olympic titles in Melbourne:

"All personnel Fort Benning join in congratulations on winning Olympic Championships. Everyone here very pleased."

The general's words express the sentiment of all of us on post, including myself.

Speaking to the boxing fans at Benning, I feel I can safely say, here and now, that we know you fellows could go all the way. Remember, when the boys you left for the All-Army tourney at Ft. Myer, Va. I recall kidding telling you, "don't take any wooden nickels." It was my way of telling you don't come back unless you got the gold medals.

After you both won the All-Army titles you journeyed to camp Lejeune, N.C. for the Inter-Service championships. It just happened that I had gone on leave when this tourney was in progress back to Milwaukee hoping to see the Braves in the World Series. Of course, you know they didn't make it for the Dodgers beat them out the last day of the season.

The loss by the Braves was hard to take but I guess your twin victories in the Inter-Service tourney offset that disappointment.

Your next stop up the ladder was the Olympic Tryouts in Oakland, Calif. My leave was up by then so I headed back to Benning personally confident that we would have two post pugilists in Melbourne come Nov. 23.

The results of the Olympic Tryouts ran true to form and both you fellows won. Jim, I know without even asking you that your fight with Orville Pitts must have really been a close one. Remember when I was interviewing you here at the Main Post P/O office and you told me you had fought Pitts in the Chicago, Golden Gloves? I remember Orville quite well, because he's from Milwaukee and I knew he was a great fighter. You mentioned that Pitts was the best fighter you ever fought in Oakland. It takes a pretty fair man to dock you twice, Jim, and our boy Pitts was that man. But he got cut up pretty bad in doing it and you finally won on a three round TKO. It must have been a humdinger of a fight, Jim.

And, Pete, according to Margaret (Mrs. Rademacher) who was at ringside, your fight with Johnny Johnson wasn't any breather. "He cut your left eye, almost blinding you, but you hung on to decision him."

What most people didn't know, Pete is that you almost missed the Olympics for the second straight time. Margaret swore me to secrecy when she told me your strained elbow, hurt in the Tryouts, was nearly to dock you.

They had to keep ice packs on it for five days in order for you to pass the physical. Along with what your wife told me I found out from Regis (Blair, Benning trainer) that your thumb with the white ligaments was preventing you from using your best punch, the right hand. He also told me that you had a lame shoulder and a bad ankle. I guess you must have felt like you were thru the boxing wars all right.

That's why your Olympic win was so much sweeter to me, Pete. For even though you were pretty well crippled up you still scored three TKOs in your Melbourne bouts.

Jim, your victories at Melbourne weren't anything to sneeze about either. You had to win the hard way decisioning your men in all three bouts.

I just want to leave you with one thought in mind. The night you fellows won your world's championships was a great day for our camp, the 1952 lightweight champion, to be exact, won the world's heavyweight champion-Patterson.

Just four short years ago his band was being raised as Olympic champion. Who knows where you fellows will be four years from now? Your friend, Tom

Personal Appearance Counts in Melbourne

Besides stressing athletic prowess among the candidates it tends to the Olympic Games, each country gives attention to the appearance of its delegates, sometimes providing members with good looking wardrobes to build a favorable impression. The sports attire of Olympians often has influenced athletic clothing around the world in the years following the Games.

Wide attention has been given this year to the outfitting of American athletes. For the first time, all 50 United States participants have been given complete wardrobes by the nation's clothing industry. The wardrobes include everything from smartly tailored parade and travel uniforms to sleepwear and leisure clothes.

The popular Eisenhower jacket of navy blue gabardine, with matching cap, is paired with lightweight gray flannel slacks for travel.

It also is expected to have more men in blue blazer style coats, both plain piped and striped, a more given its original impetus this year by enthusiasm for the so-called Ivy League clothing.

There are several theories about the origin of the term "blazer." One that is given a great deal of credence: The term originated at historic St. John's college in England in the middle of the 19th century. There the college boat club adopted as a uniform a loose fitting flannel jacket partly of country bright red, its vivid color quickly gained it the name "blazer."

United States tennis players adopted the style late in the century. After the United States Lawn Tennis association began sanctioning championship tournaments, players made the white blazer nearly uniform.

At various times, its descendants including the vertically striped models, have been close friends with a lot of college men.

Club Plans Yule Party For Ladies

Closing event of the Ft. Benning Women's Golf Club will be a "Women Golfers' Christmas Party" at 12 o'clock December 12 at the Fort Benning Country Club. Luncheon and sports will be followed by a gift exchange with each member bringing a small gift.

For reservations call Mrs. R. J. Hranika, FB 3818 or Mrs. E. Ward, Columbus 7-4654. Reservations close Friday, December 7. As a feature of the Christmas Party, all prizes for the season just concluded will be awarded.

The golf season for 1957 will officially open February 1.

JOHNSTON LAYS ONE UP . . . Bill Johnston (10) of the School Brigade scores on a lay up shot as Ted Atkins (36) of 30th ICC comes up too late to stop the attempt. The Brigade swept to their second straight win handily defeating the 3rd Division team, 80-58. Moving in on the offensive play are Joe Smith (12) of TSB and Chuck Slates (29) of 30th ICC.

Rocket Halfback to Go To Indiana University

BY JIM LONGSTRETH
On Dec. 15, Dave Rogers will be separated from active duty and the 3rd Div. Marne Rockets will lose the services of their most powerful offensive weapon. However, grid fans will not have heard the last of the six-foot-two-pound halfback who has been called one of the "greatest backs ever seen."

Upon separation from active duty, Dave plans to return to the University of Indiana where he will complete his final year of football eligibility.

Scored 9 Times
Rogers, who led 3rd Div. scoring with nine touchdowns this year, started in high school football at Warren, Ohio and in his senior year was chosen All America. That year he was also named "Most Valuable High School Player in the state of Ohio" and was presented the Thom McAnn Trophy for this honor.

From there Dave entered the University of Indiana and after a season of freshman football was named to the starting varsity eleven in his sophomore year. "This was perhaps the greatest thrill of my life," says Rogers who seems almost unimpressed with his great playing ability. To date, he has received questionnaires from two professional grid teams, the San Francisco Forty-Niners and the Los Angeles Rams. "I do want to play pro football, but only if I am given the opportunity."

Rogers led Indiana in scoring in 1953 with five touchdowns which rated him fifth in Big Ten Conference scoring entries. He has been "keeping in touch" with Bernie Crummeas, head coach at Indiana during his service leave. "I will re-enter school in February," Rogers feels that "service football can be of much benefit to a football player. The players have experience running from high school to pro ball and you can learn a awful lot from playing with them." "Don Hollider" former All America end from Army who played with The School Brigade Cyclones, a student officer team from Main Post, is "the best player we played against" this year, according to Rogers. Hollider, former Army grid back, recently re-injured his ankle to end his football playing.

Receives Praises
Rogers has received plaudits from teammates and foe's alike during the current season. Lt. Richard Munson, backfield coach for The School Brigade, had praise for Rogers saying Dave is "one of the greatest football players I have ever seen."

The "shining star" in the Marne Rockets offense this year. Rogers scored nine touchdowns to lead the squad in scoring. Six of Rogers' touchdowns came with runs of 57, 37 and 35 yards and plays of two, one and one yards. He also grabbed touch-down passes for 64, 35 and seven yards.

Against The School Brigade, the hard driving speedster averaged 10.5 yards per carry and scored two touchdowns to lead the squad to a 29-0 victory. Against The Infantry Center on Thanksgiving Day, Rogers, on a fake punt, galloped 57 yards for the Rockets only score of the afternoon. In this punt, five Doughboy defenders had a shot at Rogers but he still broke loose for the score.

ROGERS IN TROUBLE . . . Marne Rocket halfback, Dave Rogers finds Main Post Doughboy Dick Oll in his way in action seen Thanksgiving Day during the game which decided the post championship. On this particular play Rogers did not get away. However, later he scooted 57 yards on a fake punt for the Rockets' only score.

Did You Know

That four million people born in the southern states moved to other sections of America between 1950 and 1955.

That about 92 per cent of American girls get married and about 88 per cent of them find a man before they are 22.

That only a third of the 70 million Americans licensed to drive cars are women.

That the biggest objection many women have to pipe smoking men is, "they spend so much time trying to keep their pipes lit they have no time left to talk." (Whatever happened to the pipe putting fat among the ladies?)

Biddy League

Terriers Edge Bell's Boys, 7-0; Win Biddy League Grid Crown

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG
The Custer Terriers, playing without the services of fleet halfback Gary Jellison, fought a determined battle in capturing the Ft. Benning Biddy Football League crown against Bell's Boys.

Pulling a surprise come-back, the Tigers grabbed second place honors for the second part of the season posing out Blue Battalion, 15-7, in the final tilt of the season at Green Field.

Playing a defensive game, Bell's Boys tried to pull the upset of the season in dropping the undefeated Terriers. However the game was decided early in the second quarter on a recovered fumble by Custer back John Sheetz.

Sheetz dropped on the loose pigskin on Bell's six-yard line. The next play Ray "Bulldog" Drummond plunged over several tacklers with the lone score of the game. He added the extra point going off tackle for the final margin.

Four times the Bell's Boys, with halfbacks Rafael Ramirez and Roy Ferguson, captured the Terriers' 10, only to be pushed back by an airtight front line.

Get Scores Twice
Quarterback Harry Goff highlighted the Tigers' victory by racing scores with two touchdowns to provide their second straight win.

In the second period, Pat Ferguson paved the way for the Terriers when he galloped through the Battalion's line to set the stage for Goff's first score.

Goff raced around his end.

Army Announces Pigeons Not Needed
FORT MONMOUTH, N. J. (UP)—The Army pigeon unit is dead duck. The Army has decided that the communications unit in peacetime, at least—is not for the birds. The electron is taking over.

That was the purport of a sweeping decision announced from the great Pentagon eyrie in Washington. The pigeons are being retired from active duty—grounded.

The announcement said progress in electronic communications has "virtually ended any peacetime need" for pigeons.

broke into the clear but was tackled short of the goal. On the next play from short yardage he crashed through the line for the score.

Adding his second tally in the closing minutes before half, Goff took to the airways and his Fagan within the 15-yard line. A keep play produced for the necessary yards on the next snap from center as Goff outran his defenders for the touchdown.

Betsy Rawls Gives Golf Exhibition Here

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG
Betsy Rawls, former National Women's Golf champion, gave an exhibition of her championship shots and played in a foursome with three local golfers at the Ft. Benning Country Club last week.

Over 150 feminine golf enthusiasts, officers and enlisted men watched the Spartan-B.C. beauty display period-fused form in demonstrating iron and wood shots.

"The skillful use of your irons in approach shots and a correct swing with the coordinated rhythmic motion will make a poor lady golfer into a tournament player," said Miss Rawls.

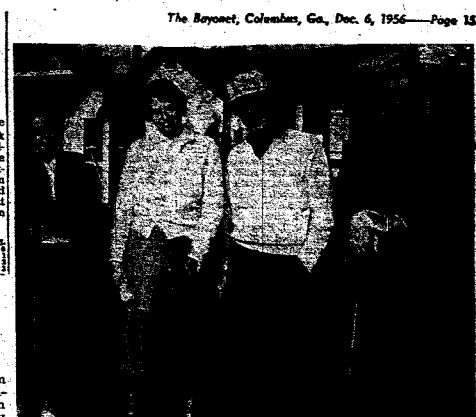

Playing in the foursome with Miss Rawls were Mrs. James H. Bunker, local top lady golfer, Pat Burman, post pro and Lt. Walter M. (Tony) Baker, top Army golfer and commander of 89th Ordnance Detachment.

Turned Pro In 1951
Miss Rawls turned professionally to the golfing trail in 1951 and holds many of the top golf championships in the Ladies Professional Golf Association, which she is now the secretary.

She has twice won the National Women's Open in 1951 and 1952 and was the leading money winner of the pro circuit in 1952. Twice winner of the Eastern Open and winner of the Western Open in 1952, she has made a big sweep of national tournaments by capturing the Tampa Open in 1954.

Presently on Tour
She is currently on an exhibition tour and is one of the few lady professional golfers to have a hole-in-one to her credit during competition. Popping against Patty Berg during the 1953 Western Open, she holed her four iron shot on the 11th hole with a dramatic 178-yard smash.

Miss Rawls came to Benning after several other appearances in the southern states including a visit to Robins Air Force Base, Ga.

EVERYBODY LIKES A WINNER
Mickey Harris recalls the day in 1946 when, at a doctor friend's request, he visited a hospital to talk baseball with the patients. He was in the psychopathic ward and just started into his discourse, when a patient interrupted to say: "Harris, you bum, why don't you retire? All you do is blow loads." Later, the doctor apologized to Mickey and said: "I should have told you they were psychopaths. You know, it's a peculiar thing about that fellow who interrupted you. That's the first sane thing he has said in months."

Undeclared Cagers Work on Improving

BY SAM PROFFERS An indication of the importance of team-building within Ft. Benning's regimental basketball league is exemplified by the following statistics...

Medics Win In Overtime Paul Hopman, hitting mostly from the outside, paced the 4th Medical Group in an overtime 67-61 victory over the 7th...

Brigade the Toughest "The School Brigade," he explained, "is undoubtedly the toughest team in the league, but the DIVARTY quintet toppled them from the unbeaten ranks..."

2 Soldiers Become American Citizens

Their salute to the American flag probably means more to Benning's PFC's, Missyopaw (Mike) Ort, of New York City and Eric Schoenfeld, of Beloit, Wis., each assigned to the 3rd Division.

They were recently sworn in as U. S. citizens at a brief ceremony on post. Ort, born in Kalusz, Poland, 22 years ago, was orphaned by the war at an early age, and spent his childhood as an inmate of a German hard labor camp until the age of 11. At that time he was united with an uncle living in Braunshweig, Germany. With the aid of the World Church Service which acted as their sponsor, uncle and nephew immigrated to this country in 1950.

Serves as Medic
Prior to entering the service 16 months ago, Ort worked as an elevator operator in the Chrysler Building in New York. He is presently assigned as a medic in Hdq's Det. 3rd Div.
Twenty-two-year-old Schoenfeld arrived in the U. S. six years ago, together with his family. Born in Sophia, Bulgaria, they lived in Baden-Baden, Germany, before arriving in America.
Attended U. of Wash.
Schoenfeld is taking advantage of the opportunities his adopted country offers to obtain an education. He attended the University of Wisconsin and intends to teach literature as a profession after fulfilling his service obligation.

He presently is performing duty as a clerk with the 1st Bn.

Schoenfeld was most impressed with the inherent good nature and friendliness of the American people.
"They made me feel that I was a welcome part of this nation," Schoenfeld stated, "instead of a stranger in a new land."

2 Colonels Cited Upon Leaving Post

Col. William T. Evans, of Statesville, N. C., and Col. Harrison M. Markley of Morgantown, W. Va., have been awarded Infantry Center Commendations of Achievement for meritorious service.
Col. Evans, Infantry Center G-4 (Logistics) officer since February, 1954, left Nov. 27 to serve as professor of military sciences and tactics at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. Col. Markley, Infantry Center controller for the last 21 months, left Dec. 1 for duty with the Regular Army Office Augmentation Detachment, Washington, D. C.

Post Requests 4,835 More Housing Units

A four-man group made a formal request for 4,835 additional Capehart housing units this week to John F. Thigpen, field office director of Federal Housing Authority, in Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Thigpen commented, "The request will be studied thoroughly and a decision will be rendered from this office at a later date."

Other than this statement no comment of confirmation of the need for more housing was made by Mr. Thigpen, added Col. Shropshire.

Post Holds Decoration Judging

Fr. Benning is conducting Christmas Decoration Contest this year under the sponsorship of the Women's Club.

Prizes of cash awards will be presented to the winners Dec. 24. Three awards will be made for decorations in each of the following three categories: outside lighting, door and window decorations.

Families who wish to enter the contest may submit an entry blank to the contest chairman, Mrs. Ralph L. Todd, Fr. Benning, or to Lt. Col. Ralph L. Todd, Physical Training Committee of the Staff Department, The Infantry School.

These are the members of the committee: Lt. Col. Ralph L. Todd, Physical Training Committee of the Staff Department, The Infantry School.

Festival Slated Tomorrow Night

Colorful tableaux and a choral group from the Episcopal Cathedral and Main Post Choir will highlight Benning's Christmas Choral Festival Dec. 14 in the Main Theater at 8 p.m.

The public is invited and there is no admission charge. Lt. Col. Gordon E. Sayre, assistant to the Infantry School's Staff Department, will direct the 8-voice chorus.

Thirteen representatives of Infantry Center Soldier Shows will appear in tableaux entitled "The Virgin Mary and the Angel," "The Shepherds," "Mankind in Bethlehem" and "The Wise Men."

Mary and Joseph will be portrayed by Barbara Newman, and 2nd Lt. Hilbert Schwartz. Eleven-year-old Anne Sample, Col. Palmer stated, however, that military officials are studying the system and minor revisions may be made for further improving the traffic situation during the morning and evening peak hours.

Post Slates Kid Parties

Christmas parties for post children will be sponsored by The Infantry Center Chaplain's Section at 18 post units and at the 3rd Div., Dec. 15 and Dec. 22.

Parties will be held by Hdqs, TIC, TSB, 151st Engineer Group, STC, 54th Medical Group, U. S. Army Hospital, Third Army Area Food Service School, Board No. 3, Lawson Field, Mearl Committee of The Infantry School, Continental Army's Advanced Marksmanship Unit, and seven units of the 29th RCT.

Approximately 400 children are expected to attend the various gatherings. The project is supported by Fr. Benning's Community Activities Association.

Each child will receive a large Christmas stocking filled with a horn, balloons, candy cane, crackerjack, bubble gum, lollipops, and other goodies.

Christmas films and carols decorated trees, yule stories, and carols will be entertainment features. The highlight of each party will be a special visit by Santa Claus.

WRBL-TV cowboy star, Bob Brady and his kiddie show will visit several of the groups. Magicians, hands and the Conners Skaters will entertain at other parties.

The time and location of parties held on Dec. 15 are: 74th Tank Battalion, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. (Please See PARTIES, Page 5)

13,000 to Take Leave During Christmas Season

Christmas will mean home for about 13,000 post soldiers this season.

The mass holiday exodus which Col. Eugene M. Elliott, Jr., of Washington, D. C., Infantry Center transportation officer, believes is the largest in the history of the post will begin Dec. 21, with the peak days on Dec. 22 and 23.

Military transportation officials are cooperating with commercial airlines, bus and railroad officials in devising methods of accommodating the unprecedented rush.

Col. Elliott claimed that the strain on transportation facilities is due to 7,000 basic trainees of the 3rd Div. leaving being granted Christmas leave. Since the majority of these soldiers are from the north-eastern U. S. and are prohibited from bringing their automobiles to Benning while in training, most of them are depending upon commercial transportation for the trip home.

Tentative Arrangements
Railroad and airline officials have announced tentative arrangements for caring for the trainees.

The Central of Georgia Railroad will run a special train to New York, leaving from the Sand Hill siding. Other trains may be scheduled if ticket sales warrant. Tentative ticket offices will be

DD Issues Medicare Pamphlet

A pamphlet on the new Medical Care Act for Service Dependents has been prepared by the Office of Federal Personnel Information and Education, Department of Defense, and is being distributed to each member of the active Army with dependents.

The pamphlet, which contains a leaflet on how dependents may identify themselves and pertinent information on the Act itself is to be delivered by each sponsor to his principal dependent.

In addition, the pamphlet is being distributed to a need-to-know basis to all active Army, National Guard and Reserve units from General Headquarters down to and including company size units and battalions.

Titled "Medical Care for Dependents," "DA Pamphlet 29-9," also referred to as DOD Pamphlet 64, is a condensed version which covers the essential Medical Care Act in plain language.

2 Million Dependents Eligible for Medicare

Two million dependents of uniformed American service men all over the world became eligible for civilian medical care at government expense on Dec. 4 when the Dependents Medical Care Act went into effect. Hqs., Third Army, announced.

Wives, dependent husbands and children of active duty members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and dependents of commissioned members of the Public Health Service and Coast and Geodetic Survey are now eligible for the civilian medical care.

The impact will be felt at Fort Benning, since Georgian was one of 42 states where contracts have been negotiated. Alabama, however, is one of six states in which the program is not yet in effect.

Third Army medical officials reported that a contract with Alabama is expected to be negotiated soon.

Other states in which contracts have not been signed include Texas, Rhode Island, Ohio, Maine, Idaho, Alaska, and Puerto Rico have signed contracts.

The Army is the executive agency for the dependents' medical care program. The act, which was signed into law by President Eisenhower June 7, to become effective Dec. 4, while many details remain to be resolved, major features are:

Other dependents—dependent parents, dependents of persons who died while on active duty—will continue to be treated at service hospitals.

In most instances, a military dependent will have to pay a hospital fee for each admission. The government will pick up the tab for the remainder of the bill.

Except for injuries where emergency treatment is necessary, outpatient care is not authorized at civilian hospitals. Dental care can be provided only for facial injuries or as necessary part of hospital treatments. The dependent must pay the entire bill.

Headquarters Third Army announced that the names of firms in each Third Army state which will process bills to the government under the program in Georgia, they will be sent to the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Assn., Omaha, Neb. Doctors in Georgia will submit their bills to the Medical Assn. of Georgia, Atlanta.

Radio Program Highlights CD In Columbus

Columbus, Ga., portrayed as a target for a hypothetical nuclear attack, will be highlighted Dec. 15 on Ft. Benning's "Queen of Battle," a nationally distributed radio program.

It will be broadcast over Radio Station WRBL in Columbus and the Panama Canal Zone. "Queen of Battle" is a 15-minute dramatized documentary program, depicts the heart of Columbus Civil Defense system, as it tells the story of what happens when enemy planes streak toward the center of the city.

The story revolves around a young married couple and their mental and physical conduct: they endure before, during and after an atomic attack.

"Queen of Battle," produced by The Infantry Center, Public Information Office, is aired by approximately 125 stations in 25 states as well as Germany and the Panama Canal Zone.

Dwell Deep in God

BY CHAPLAIN (MAJOR) WILLIAM C. FORD

Six thousand years before the birth of Jesus, Jeremiah looked out upon his world and saw disaster for Israel rising in upon her. He knew that destruction threatened his beloved country. He saw the armies of Assyria to the north and the horde of Assyrians, like great black thunder clouds, lay to the west. Jeremiah knew that the bridge of fertile soil which Palestine would tremble beneath the feet of advancing armies. Jeremiah knew that the fields would soon be trampled. He knew that the peaceful flocks would be snatched by Israel's enemies, and that innocent men, women and children would be slain. He knew that the Jews would be deceived by the prancing horses and the marching bands. Long before Munich, he knew that such displays were used to cover the real intent and purposes of a war. This man, seeing the doom for his homeland, proclaimed it in an uncertain fashion. And although 3000 years have come and gone, Jeremiah still is foremost as a portrayer of imminent disaster. But he still ranks high as a declaimer of the

The Nun's Story, by Kathryn Hulme. (Little, 1956)

An account of one woman's content life. Sister faces the rigors of seventeen years to discipline her analytical and independent front leg through prayer and hard work as a nurse, first in a hospital for typhus, then in a Congo mission, and finally in a TB sanatorium in occupied Holland. Sister faces the bitter truth that the religious life was not for her and she is released from her vows. Although not an unusual subject, it is handled with such lucidness and lack of sentimentality, the result is a powerful and compelling novel.

Secretary Clarifies Roles of Services

COMPILED FROM AFPS
 Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has drawn sharp distinctions in the roles and missions of the services to improve the effectiveness of Armed Forces operation.

Although there will be no basic changes, Mr. Wilson in a recent memorandum to the Armed Forces Policy Council clarified and interpreted the present roles and missions of the armed services as established by the modified National Security Act of 1947, particularly in the development of new weapons and strategic concepts.

Movie Time At Benning

Movie Highlights

The Old He Led Behind, a mature service comedy drama, starring Tab Hunter, and Natalie Wood. College student Bud Hunter, who is in the Army, goes to the rear of the front lines. Earlier directed, established the Army's forward area from 50 to 100 miles.

RETAIN the Army aircraft limit of 5,000 pounds for fixed wing planes and fix at 20,000 pounds the empty weight limit for helicopters in combat operation for command, reconnaissance and airlift of personnel and materiel. Previously there were no limitations on the size of helicopters.

Restrict aviation research to specific requirements peculiar to the needs of the Army and Navy aircraft research and development facilities.

Confine development of surface-to-surface missiles for tactical use to a 200 mile range and a 200 pound weight.

Army employment of an intermediate range missile.

Restrict the use of the agenda this weekend — Sunday at 12:15 p.m., WRBL in Columbus presents "Queen of Battle" — another TIC-PIO Radio - Division production. This week's program features the piano playing of PFC Bill Maldonado, of the Soldiers Show Branch, Infantry Center Special Services Section. Each Saturday evening at 9:00 p.m. WRBL in Columbus brings you "Benning News Parade," a roundup of the week's news at Benning. On Sunday over WDAK at 2:15 p.m., the Third Infantry Division brings you "Pass In Review."

"Pass In Review" is a weekly feature of the Third Infantry Division. It is a weekly feature of the Third Infantry Division. It is a weekly feature of the Third Infantry Division.

Queen of Battle

"So You May Live" — the basic purpose of this country's vast Civil Defense Organization. In event of enemy attack, this courageous group of trained workers will be automatically swung into action to evacuate cities, shelter the population, protect property, treat the wounded and prevent panic.

Naturally, the military works closely with Civil Defense agencies. This week "Queen of Battle" presents a dramatic story of what could happen if the enemy dropped an atomic bomb on Columbus, Ga. It tells in graphic detail the story of a young girl, a typical young married couple, who are taken to the shelter. Listen this Saturday night at 11:15 p.m. over WRBL in Columbus for the story entitled "So You May Live" —

Wicket As They Come, a dramatic story of the life of Dab, Phil Carey and Herbert Marshall. In this dramatic drama, the three boys have been terribly wronged in their adolescence and it is determined to revenge themselves on very man the next.

Dance With Me Henry, a comedy starring Abbott and Costello. In their latest laugh-lift, Costello is seen as the owner of Kiddyland, a kid's carnival, who is always adopting strays, whether they be children, adults or pets.

New Books At Library

The following new books are available at the Main Post Library:

SNOW — Vengeful Sea (NF) ANGRUD — Rescue (NF) OLDFIELD — Never A Shot In Anger (NF)

AMBLER — State of Siege (P) BIGHAN — Billy Graham (B) WREAN — Thirty Notches (W) BREARD — A Matter of Fact (NF)

POSSLET — A Merry, Merry Christmas Book (NF) HILL — Window in the Sea (NF) ENDORRE — King of Paris (P)

JIM CLARK Engineer Unit Deserves Praise

This week I would like to offer congratulations to a unit in which is doing much to promote the Army public relations program. This is the 7th Engineer Battalion.

Through their project of gathering and repairing toys for distribution to needy children of the civilian community this Christmas, they are doing a great deal to improve upon the already excellent relations enjoyed by Columbus and Ft. Benning.

According to the latest report from the battalion, the men are going to equal, or possibly go over, last year's figures.

It Had a Way of Happening

Some years ago Helen O'Connell was an attractive young lady who sang with several of the nation's top name bands, including that of Jimmy Dorsey. "And the Angel Who Uttered Them" — "And the Angel Who Uttered Them" — she made the record "Green Eyes" which is still a collector's favorite. For some time she had been one of the most popular entertainers in the show business with Russ Morgan.

She proved then that she was a "stall" type of vocal soloist. In the meantime, her partnership with Russ Morgan, she was an assistant on Dave Garraway's "The Great Gilday Show" but she does not sing at all, but does exhibit her glamorous features. You know her name.

You can't keep good talent down.

Leave

Thank You For Costing

Ninety-six buses from the two major companies operating in Columbus, Ga., will leave the city daily Dec. 21 through Dec. 23, approximately triple the normal rate.

According to figures released by the Infantry Center Transportation Office, 457 soldiers leaving Ft. Benning are expected to fly. Buses will accommodate an additional 3,061. About 2,887 soldiers have made plans to use private vehicles for the trip home, while 251 will travel by rail.

New York will have the destination of the largest number of soldiers. On Dec. 23 alone one thousand military personnel will leave here for the Empire State.

Soldiers traveling home in uniforms are entitled to additional fares on train. In addition, no taxes will be charged on either bus or railroad fares.

Board No. 3 Notes 37th Birthday

BY LT. HARRY GLIDDEN
 Department dated March 31, 1953 established an Infantry Board at the General Service Board at the General Service and Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. The purpose of this board, however, can actually be traced back further than 37 years.

at the school, was to have referred from time to time subjects relating to the operations and equipment of the Infantry arm, upon which their opinion was desired. This board's activities ceased when the 13th Inf. departed Ft. Leavenworth for the Maxcan border in March 1911, although no orders can be found disbarring it. Established in 1919. On Dec. 15, 1919, War Department orders were issued establishing The Infantry Board, a development and testing laboratory, with permanent ex-office: the assistant commander, The Infantry School; these Infantry officers to be designated by the War Department, and an officer of the Ordnance Department, stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga. Its sole function was to consider with continuity of effort the improvement of the Infantry.

As originally constituted, the board consisted of President, Ex-Officio: the commander, The Infantry School; member

BOARD NO. 3'S AVIATION SECTION

... This L-20 Beaver conducts aerial drops of Infantry Equipment to determine the ruggedness of particular items for airborne drops or use by the Airborne Soldier. The plane is also used for aerial surveillance of certain tests conducted by the board.

NEED A LIGHT? ... This lightweight portable, man-carried flame thrower is not recommended for lighting cigars because its size belies the power of its punch. The significant feature of this item is that it's a lot easier to carry around than the older model used in World War II.

THE MECHANICAL MULE ... Another development in the field of weight reduction for the Infantry soldier. This table top on wheels is capable of carrying a load heavier than its own weight, across some pretty rugged terrain.

LIGHTWEIGHT 81 mm MORTAR ... This mortar tested by the Mortar Department of Board No. 3 features a lighter load for the Infantry Mortar section to carry into battle. The amount of weight a soldier carries in battle has a direct relationship to soldier fatigue and loss of effectiveness.

THE ARMOR VEST ... At left, represents the board's activities in testing a family of special items for the protection of the individual soldier.

BOARD NR3'S EMBLEM ... Designed by past president, Brig. Gen. (then Col.) Charles D'Orsa. The silhouetted Infantryman represents the entire reason for the Board's existence. All testing and development is carried out with him in mind for it is he whom we wish to provide with only the best of weapons and equipment.

less and anti-tank weapons; grenades; special anti-personnel weapons; and flat trajectory weapons other than those of the Small Arms Department; and such other items as may be directed.

On Dec. 15, 1921, The Infantry Board, stationed at Ft. Meade, Md., was absorbed by the Infantry Board and made a part of the Board until it was transferred to Ft. Knox, Ky., in 1929.

The Field Equipment and Special Projects Department's responsibility includes: clothing; equipment, and protective devices for the individual; small detachment and individual rations; field messing facilities; animal equipment; chemical weapons and munitions thereof; tentage; and miscellaneous equipment for the individual and small units.

Has 4 Test Departments
 All testing is accomplished by one of four departments. Each department director is responsible to the president of the board for correspondence, equipment, plans of tests, conduct of tests, and reports of projects pertaining to his assigned field of responsibility. Each department director is generally assisted by a department executive, four or more assigned test officers, and a test platoon of approximately 40 enlisted men.

Has Coordinating Agency
 Overall coordination and control of test projects is accomplished by the Analysis and Control Department which functions as the principal staff agency for operational matters.

Redesignated in 1953
 On June 1, 1953, the board's official title was further modified, and Board No. 3, Office of Chief of Army Field Forces was established as a Class II activity directly under the chief of Army Field Forces. The board, however, remained here for administrative and logistical support.

MEASURE OF PROGRESS
 Progress in the science of warfare is measured by improvements in fire power and mobility and in the communications available to commanders to permit intelligent control and conduct of operations.

On Feb. 1, 1955, the Board was redesignated Board No. 3, CONARC, a class I activity of Continental Army Command, with the mission to conduct tests of the developed prototype Infantry weapons, and related ammunition and fire control instruments, and equipment, and combat rations for the individual soldier.

Most of the planning and projecting of the board's work is accomplished in building the third Chertel, on the Main Post. The major portion of the actual test work is accomplished at the Sandy Patch Development and Test Area located in the 29th ACF area in south post, and Post No. 3, Farnsworth, and Lee Field ranges.

Board No. 3's basic mission today is primarily to assist in the solution of the original Infantry Board established at Ft. Leavenworth. It's mission then was to research "subjects relating to

Col. Kunzig Now Serves As Board 3's President

Col. Henry B. Kunzig, of Washington, D. C., recently assumed duties as president of Board No. 3.

Col. Kunzig comes to The Infantry Center from Saigon, Vietnam where he was assigned to the Military Assistance Advisory Group. His last assignment to the post was in 1945, when he was an instructor at The Infantry School.

Col. Henry Nelson of Seattle, Wash., has been serving as acting president of the board since the departure of former president Brig. Gen. Charles S. D'Orsa last June.

Graduating from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. in 1930, Col. Kunzig saw combat during World War II as a battalion and regimental commander with the 8th and 11th Infantry Regiments in Europe. He earned the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal, and the Purple Heart.

Established Requirement
 The atomic weapon has established the requirement for great dispersal of ground forces both in offensive and defensive operations.

IG Section Congratulated By CofS on Anniversary

The Infantry Center Inspector General's Section has received congratulations from the Army's chief of staff on the 17th anniversary of the appointment of the first inspector general Dec. 13, 1939.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor stated that from the days of the Revolutionary War inspectors general have been dedicated to increasing the combat effectiveness of the Army.

The staff of the Inspector

Board Plans Varied Events

Members of Board No. 3, Continental Army Command will meet in departmental formations at 10 a.m. tomorrow when department directors will review the performance and accomplishments of their sections during the past year.

These meetings kickoff the planned activities of the Board's Organization Day Celebration.

Other highlights of the program include a mass formation at the detachment area where CWO James B. Edwards, secretary, will read the history of Board No. 3, followed by Col. Henry Nelson, deputy president, will present Col. Henry B. Kunzig, newly assigned board president, to the officers and men of the unit.

Topping the festive activities will be a birthday dinner, featuring steak and birthday cake, at the detachment mess hall.

It was announced that, for the remainder of the day, the unit will follow a holiday schedule.

NEW RANGE . . . This known distance range located adjacent to Fiske Range on Dixie road has officially been named Farnsworth Range in honor of Major Gen. Charles S. Farnsworth, the 1st president of the Infantry School (1920) and commandant of the Infantry Board No. 3 to be used for test firing of Infantry weapons.

Smith Takes Reup Honors For Month

Boasting a percentage of 73.3 per cent, Lawson Army Airfield Command led all other major units on post for November re-enlistments.

MSP Clinton Smith of Huntsville, Ala., assigned to the Lawson Command was named the re-enlistment non-commissioned officer of the month by The Infantry Center Re-Enlistment Office.

He is the troop information and education and public information non-commissioned officer, in addition to his recruiting duties, for the Lawson Command. Smith came to the unit from the public information office of Special Troops Command.

During the month of November, Lawson Command had a total of 11 re-enlistments out of a possible number of 15 eligible.

A total of 250 enlisted men and Mrs. Arthur Z. Anderson, Benning Park, during the month to bring the total to a high mark of 2,641.

Continental Army Command's Board No. 3 moved into the runner-up spot for the past month when the unit re-enlistment percentage was 69.3.

Led in Total Number

The School Brigade led all other units in the total number of re-enlistments for the month with 43, but was pushed by Special Troops Command with 44.

This top mark kept the School Brigade ahead in the yearly totals with an overall rate of 54.9 per cent with the 54th Medical Group holding in the second place position at a 47.3 percentage.

Re-enlistments for Army Anti-aircraft Command units received the largest amount of personnel volunteering for duty.

A total of 21 enlisted men chose this assignment for training in guided missiles.

The majority of the men received assignments to the metropolitan area of their first choice.

NEW EQUIPMENT

The Army Signal Corps is striving to perfect lighter weight equipment which is durable, dependable, of long weight equipment which is rugged, and highly resistant to enemy electronic countermeasures.

Post Theatre Group Sets First Production

Mrs. Louis Bayard, of West Point, N.Y., is directing the first production of the Post Theatre Group. The play is "The Happy Journey" and will be presented by the group at 8 p.m. in Theater No. 8, The Infantry Center.

Mrs. Bayard, the former Priscilla Morse, first became interested in Little Theater work when her husband was stationed at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., as a mathematics instructor from August, 1933, until entering The Infantry School's advanced officers class No. 1 last August.

Played Leading Roles

An active member of the West Point Players, she played leading roles in "Two Blind Mice," "My Three Angels," "Still Life," and "Furmed Oak" in November, 1955. Mrs. Bayard and John Van Druden, "Bell, Book and Candle," Capt. Bayard was the production's producer.

When not involved in acting, painting scenery, collecting props and other play chores, she enjoys painting, sculpting and tennis. A major interest in the sewing lessons she is taking in Columbus, Ga.

"The Happy Journey" is a touching account of a New York family's trip to visit a married daughter in Canada. Laid in the early 1920's, the play is lightened by humorous touches as the mother corals her 15-year-old daughter and 13-year-old son for the journey.

The leading roles of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kirby are portrayed by Major Tubby Winslow, Myricks, Mass., and Capt. George Richardson, Exeter, N.H. It marks the first dramatic attempt for both.

Take Children's Roles

The children's roles are played out by Miss Margaret Merritt, of Americus, Ga., a teacher at the post Children's Schools, and SP4 Peter C. Corvise, of Morristown, N.J., assigned to the 5th Engineer Group.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Bingle, of Kentfield, Calif., is Beulah, the Little Theater organization.

Gen. Ives to Speak To Officer Class

Brig. Gen. Hiram D. Ives, chief of the Illinois Military District, will speak to The Infantry School's basic officers class No. 1, Dec. 13.

Approximately 200 members of the class will be graduated at 11 a.m. in the Main Theater.

A veteran of more than 28 years' service, he is a 1948 graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va. He completed the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., in 1951. Among his decorations are the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Rangers Review Proud Record on Anniversary

BY NORMAN SOLON
From Korea to Alaska, Rangers serving in Army units throughout the world will join the Ranger Department here in celebrating their biennial anniversary this month. For 200 years, American units bearing the name "Ranger," have performed perilous missions under the most difficult combat conditions, with esprit de corps unmatched elsewhere.

Despite the fact that Ranger organizations originated independently at various times and when American needed them and are of direct descendants of one another, they have one very important thing in common. Their members always have been carefully selected volunteers, having leadership qualities, mental ability and physical prowess, who proved in combat that they were the cream of America's fighting men.

Well Disciplined Soldier
Coming from all walks of life, from the ranks of citizen soldier as well as military fields, the Ranger is well disciplined and immensely proud of the patch that he wears on his shoulder bearing the title "Ranger."

Col. Roy A. Murray, director of The Infantry School's Staff Department, illustrated the fact. An original member of Brig. Gen. William O. Darby's Rangers, he commanded the 1st Ranger Bn. during World War II.

"One of the men in my battalion was short, frail looking, a caricature of Casper Milquetoast in appearance," Col Murray said. "In civilian life he was an education student at the University of Southern California, and prior to volunteering for Ranger duty was a company clerk in a non-combat outfit," he added.

Is Now A Teacher
"With our unit, however, he earned a battlefield commission and was one of the first Rangers to earn the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery," Col. Murray stated. "Today he is teaching in a high school in California," he concluded.

Col. Murray himself is a very slight man. Author John Hersey, on interviewing him for a magazine article after the Rangers arrived back in the U.S. after the war expressed amazement that he was a Ranger commander with so small a build.

Haupt, Rogers Make All-Army

Doughboy Guard Former Pupil of Bowden Wyatt

A former grid pupil of Tennessee head coach Bowden Wyatt, 1st Lt. Dale Haupt, a stalwart guard on the Ft. Benning Main Post Doughboys, has been selected on the world-wide All-Army football team for 1956.

Lt. Haupt who hails from Manitowish, Wisconsin played under the Tennessee grid mentor for three years while attending the University of Wyoming from 1951-54.

How a Wisconsin boy got to play in Wyoming under a present day coach from Tennessee may sound quite confusing and it is just that. To clarify the somewhat hazy picture of the boy from the Midwest got out to the Northwest to play under the present day coach of a Southeastern team.

"After finishing high school at Lincoln High in Manitowish, Wis., I stayed out of school for two years," declared Lt. Haupt. "I played those two years with the Manitowish Amateur league," he added, "where I made the All-Star team both years. Then I received football scholarships from the Universities of Wyoming and Georgia. I chose Wyoming. It's that simple."

But how did Bowden Wyatt enter the Wyoming picture? "When I started school in 1951," said Haupt, "Wyatt was the head coach there. In fact, I played under him for three years."

"What kind of coach was Wyatt in those days?" "One of the best," stated Lt. Haupt. "I would put him in the same category as Little Blackbourn, head coach of the Green Bay Packers of the National Professional League, the man who took over for Pat Williams and who this past season led the Wyoming boys to an undefeated season."

Upon graduation from the University of Wyoming where he was selected on the Sky-Line Eight All-Conference team for three consecutive years, Lt. Haupt signed a contract with the Green Bay Packers. He was with the Packers in their exhibition season and was released just prior to the opening of the regular season. The six foot, 220-pound guard then went back to Wyoming to get the required number of credits needed to gain his Bachelor's degree.

Special Services Council Adopts New Sports Policy

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
Bayonet Sports Editor

A sports program, which will provide a greater majority of military personnel participation and eliminate post level competition, has been announced by The Infantry Center Special Services Section at Fort Benning.

Approved by Gen. Powell, the move to withdraw from post level competition was made by the Special Services Council headed by Col. Henry M. Zeller of Dallas, Texas, commander of Special Troops Command, with the approval of Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry Center commander.

According to Major William V. Johnson, assistant Special Services officer, the council felt that more military personnel would be benefited by a strong on a regimental level.

Another factor in eliminating the post level team in major sports was a cut in Special Services funds in July.

Aside from providing more soldiers a chance to participate in the new sports program," said Major Johnson, "it will also offer a reduction in Special Services cost."

"The money normally allotted for post level representation in major sports for travel expenses, food, etc., will pay for the necessary equipment for regimental teams in our new program," added Major Johnson. "In fact, there may even be a savings in post funds."

Teams of Equal Caliber Although the caliber of play in the regimental type of sports program may not be on the same par as that previously seen in post level competition, Major Johnson feels that the program will provide teams of equal caliber and competition "will be much more."

Even without a post level team, Fort Benning still will be represented in Third Army tournaments in the major sports, excluding football. This will include baseball,

Rocket Star Wins Place On Army Time's Squad

Two Ft. Benning football stars, guard Dale Haupt and halfback Dave Rogers have been selected on the Army Times world-wide All-Army football team for 1956.

The 22-man All-Army squad is selected by a poll of coaches, writers and grid fans throughout the nation and is conducted by the Army Times. All winners will receive, as prizes, engraved Zodiac wrist watches.

Haupt, a six foot, 220-pound guard is a former member of the Green Bay Packers of the National Professional League. His performance this past season with the Main Post Doughboys warrants him the praise of Doughboy coach, Jim Ingram, as "one of the finest linemen to grace the gridiron."

A former Big Ten star from the University of Indiana, Rogers was also a standout on defense where he performed at safety.

However, the six foot, 210-pound halfback from Warren, Ohio won his selection to the All-Army eleven on his running ability. Of his nine touchdowns, five came on runs of from 64 to 33 yards.

Rogers is due to be re-assigned from the Army Dec. 12.

Rogers Signs Pro Contract

Dave Rogers, flashy halfback from the Third Infantry Division Marine Rockets and newly named All-Army gridman on the Army Times grid poll signed a professional football contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League last weekend.

Rogers, a former All-American high school player from Warren, Ohio and a star at Indiana University in the Big Ten Conference where he still had a year of eligibility left, signed a one year contract with 1st Lt. Robert Lynch, Stamford, Conn., a scout for the Eagles.

The new sports program will be effective until May 1, 1958, unless sooner rescinded or superseded.

Mino sports such as soccer, gymnastics, water polo, weight lifting, wrestling, cross-country running and judo will be conducted on a company or regimental level.

Other units competing in the match were the 54th Transportation Co., 666 Transportation Co., 54th Signal Co., 82nd Signal Co., Co. A, Co. B and Hq. Co., STC.

The average score for the winners was 227 out of a possible 300 points. Top individual score of 968 points was fired by M-Sgt. James B. Manning.

Other members of the team are Major Randall M. Stott, SFC Clyde R. Sick, Cpl. Ernest V. Reed, SPl. James A. Wakefield, and PFC Alvin V. Fedrick.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The Army is developing a family of lightly armored carriers which can carry personnel, equipment, and supplies and can be used as weapons platforms, command, and reconnaissance vehicles and can be lifted by medium assault and medium transport aircraft.

TOM WIERZBICKI Regimental Play New Sports Policy

When a new policy or program is incorporated, whether it be in the Army or in the business world, the door is open for either one of two things: approval or criticism.

With regard to our new sports program here at Ft. Benning... my aim in this week's dissertation is to do neither of these two things. For it is obviously wrong to disprove or approve something that is still untried.

However, to further understand this new sports program let us take a look at what the world-wide U. S. Army sports program tries to accomplish.

A Look at Army Sports Program

The sports program of the U. S. Army is designed to reach all levels of physical ability and limitations with athletes representing teams from company-sized units to post level teams. This type of program offers every member of the post an opportunity to participate in athletics.

Post level competition is quite prevalent in the world-wide sports program for it gives those a chance who are not interested in playing, an opportunity to see toptouch college and professional players in action.

But the main theme of this sports program (U. S. Army) is not only to select the best players but to provide an opportunity for every soldier to participate in organized sports competition.

Can Always Play Regimental Sports

If a player should try out for the Post team but finds the caliber of soldiers on the post squad are superior to him, he is not eliminated from the organized sport for the season. Regimental competition will afford him the chance to play with men more in keeping with his ability.

Following the same reasoning those players who are superior should be given an opportunity to play on a post team representing the installation in inter-post competition. Otherwise, regimental competitiveness will fall short for most of the "superior" caliber players will, by accident, be on the same regimental team thus causing a one-sided league. The matched is very slim.

I may be wrong but, I feel that this is the situation we find prevailing with our first fling in regimental sports, the basketball loop presently in progress.

Spectators at sporting events are a funny lot... you have to please them right away or they will stop coming. Nobody likes a loser.

Sure, you can get soldiers to go to the games against their own volition by having such things as a company "basketball detail". But this is doing more harm than good. True, you will have more "bodies" at the game but they won't be there as followers but there on "detail".

Why can't we try to build spectatorship at sporting events through a genuine interest and "duty or obligation" type of reasoning?

In every sport, both major and minor, Ft. Benning will offer any soldier the opportunity to play it if he desires to do so. The enthusiasm CAN be at high at all levels of endeavor, be it company or regimental teams. However, you, the fans and the organizers will make the program a success or failure.

BIOC No. 24, of the fiscal year 1955, which is well represented on the Main Post football team with eight officers, has reached that plateau where the bars of gold have turned to silver via the "promotion by Corrosion" route. Congratulations to Doughboy coach Jim Ingram and 1st Lts. Ken Brown, Jim Matthews, Redford Hamilton, Neil Lowry, Dale Haupt, Lou Sawchik, and Larry Griesette on the new promotion.

Also let me congratulate the rest of the BIOC No. 24 group which includes my boss here at FIO, 1st Lt. Jim Clark.

Now that I've extended my best to this distinguished group, I hope that I'm included in the cigar-passing-quiet phase of the promotion.

DivArty Depends on Vets

Thomas "Red" Garraty will hold down the other guard slot. He is only 5'9" but makes up for lack of height with speed and endurance. He is one of the most colorful players on the side, Coach George Davis they will be out for a repeat winning of their 3rd Division championship of last year.

Behind the scene of developing this year's squad is Davis, player-coach for the DivArty squad. Davis had coaching and playing experience at North-western College of Louisiana for four years. He plays at guard position for DivArty and with him will be an array of fast, good point getters who should make this position solid.

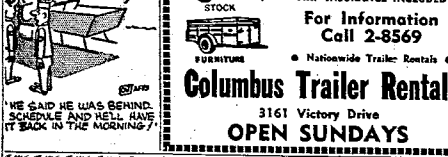

Forward positions this year are packed with talent. Bill Hannon, who last year was the leading scorer in the 3rd Division and with him will be an array of fast, good point getters who should make this position solid.

Bill Hannon Back Forward positions this year are packed with talent. Bill Hannon, who last year was the leading scorer in the 3rd Division and with him will be an array of fast, good point getters who should make this position solid.

At center, DivArty has height to spare. Both Dick Horsley, from last year's championship squad and Bill Runge are over 6'8" and both have played college ball. Horsley is from Utah where he played ball with Brigham Young. Runge took the hardwoods for four years for Seton Hall.

Undefeated in their first three games this year, DivArty edged The School Brigade in their season's opener 70-78 in an overtime thriller and downed the 2nd ICC and 7th ICC in their next two contests.

Taking advantage of two first quarter minutes by the Terriers, the All-Stars strove fast to rack up two quick scores.

An attempted punt by halfback Gary Jellison of the league champs failed to materialize as All-Star tackle Bobby Worrington broke through to drop him on the Terriers' 22-yard line.

On the second play from scrimmage speedy halfback Rafael Ramirez took a handoff from quarterback Dave Buchanan and behind beautiful downfield blocking race for the first score of the game.

On the 10, on the next play it was Ramirez's turn to punch the line and the little 90-pounder bulled his way into the end zone.

The Terriers with star halfback Gary Jellison just out of a sick bed found the All-Stars' defense much tougher to penetrate in the second half than they had in the first.

29th Cagers' Win Streak At Stake, Play 15th ICC

After narrowly winning for the fourth consecutive time and successfully edging highly rated Support Command the 29th RCT basketball team finds no low hurdles ahead tomorrow when the Commanders meet 15th ICC.

The tip-off is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at Briant Wells Field House.

If scores indicate supremacy and ability, then the Commanders' 15th ICC contest should be a toss-up.

Although Support Command recently defeated favored 15th ICC, 64-56, Coach Fred H. Byerly, 29th RCT, will have to control the boards as well as continue their fine teamwork in order to keep their win streak intact.

The 15th toppled Special Troops Command 70-59, the same team which the underdog 29th won from by four points and which the Commanders had to overcome in the final minutes of the game.

With high-scoring Richard Ford and a 3-1 season record, indications show that the going will be anything but easy.

So far this season eight turkeys have reported to have been killed by the Fish and Game Maintenance Association.

The first one was shot by E. W. Chamberlain of Co. I, 28th Regimental Combat Team, who bagged a seven-pounder.

Other kills include a 19-pounder by SFC Joseph Brown of Co. D, 3rd Bn., 3rd Div.; a 10-pounder by Max Newman, Museum of Weapons Dept. The Infantry School; a 11-pounder by MSgt. Olin Quarles of Co. G, Infantry School Det. and a 10-pounder by SFC G. A. Whitemire of Co. H, Infantry School Det.

This is just about the same amount of kills reported at the same time last season when 60 were reported by the Fish and Game Association. In 1956, 60 kills were reported for one of the largest total records in several years.

Opened Nov. 20

The turkey season opened Nov. 20 on the post and will close Feb. 23. The hunting regulations for the reservations are in the most part the same as ones which govern Georgia and Alabama.

However, rifles are not permitted on the post. The season bag limit is two and hunting is allowed after 12 noon on Wednesdays, all day Saturday, Sunday and legal holidays.

Shots must be pilged to limit them to a capacity of three shells with any type load except 90 buckshot.

Long bows having a pull of no less than 45-pounds are authorized for hunting only deer and turkey.

The regulations listed above apply only to the Fort Benning reservation. Personnel must purchase required county or state license and comply with pertinent rules when hunting off post.

Rangers Celebrate 200th Anniversary

BY NORMAN SOLON
Ranger officers from throughout the Infantry School and its graduates got together last week for a bi-centennial dinner and reception at Fort Benning. The Marine Corps attended the 200th anniversary celebration at the Main Officers' Mess. Talks by Col. Nigel McGill of the British Royal Marines and Col. Roy A. Murray of San Diego, Calif., director of the Staff Department of the Infantry School and an original member of Brig. Gen. William O. Darby's World War II Rangers, highlighted the program.

From the French and Indian War 200 years ago, to the battlefields of Korea, Ranger units have answered their country's call when the need arose. Through these units have no direct connection with one another, their exploits and deeds are accepted as part of the name "Ranger."

Founded in 1756 by Robert Rogers in 1756, the first Ranger organization utilized surrounding terrain for cover and concealment in acting as the scouting arm of the British Army, in addition to executing raids inside enemy territory. During the Korean conflict, this remained the basic mission of Ranger units. Col. McGill pointed out that the British commandos as well as the Rangers consider Rangers part of their heritage. Founded in 1800, the commandos wear symbolic green berets, derived directly from the frontier caps of the same color worn by Hodger's men. "From the early days of World War II to the present time, both commands and Ranger members have few very important qualities in common," Col. McGill said. "They are extremely motivated men with an unswerving belief in their own ability, in addition to pride in the unit to which they belong."

Col. Murray paid tribute to graduates of the Ranger Department today.

7 Weeks in Training "Without the motivation of a war, these men undergo seven weeks of the most demanding training the Armed Forces has to offer, with esprit de corps unmatched elsewhere."

Ranger units performed with distinction during the Revolutionary War and the War between the States as well as in World War II and the Korean conflict, according to Col. Murray.

"At the conclusion of hostilities in Korea, Ranger units have abolished and their members assigned to all Army units to give the service, as a whole, the benefit of their combat knowledge and leadership qualities," Col. Murray added.

39 Receive Ranger Tabs

Thirty-nine students of The Infantry School, representing both the U. S. and Italy, received Ranger shoulder tabs at graduation ceremonies last week.

Commencement speaker, Col. William H. Billings of Saginaw, "outstanding examples of the cream of America's young leaders."

Col. Billings, deputy assistant commander of the Infantry School, urged the new Rangers to spread the knowledge and leadership qualities gained during the seven-week course to every unit to which they may be assigned. In that way, Col. Billings said, "other units will benefit from the Army as a whole will benefit from your experiences."

Col. Billings presented the Italian unit to be graduated Lt. Jerry L. Beatty of Paintsville, Ky. A former football star at the University of Kentucky, Lt. Beatty earned the honor for superior performance during his Ranger training at the Infantry School.

Capt. Roberto Pedraza of the Italian Army, was graduated a first soldier from his country to undergo Ranger training. A graduate of Italy's famed Alpine training school, Capt. Pedraza said Ranger training is as physically and mentally demanding as any course given in the world today.

The highest officer also attended the Ranger training during his stay at Fort Benning.

Division Sends 8,000 on Leave

The Christmas spirit is in evidence throughout the 34 Division as over 8,000 Marines are leaving for their homes and New Year's holidays at home.

Trains, planes, and buses leaving from Columbus and the Sand Hill area have been crowded since early in the week with home-bound troops.

The vast majority of home-bound troops are the new members of the Marine Division, the trainees recently assigned for 8 weeks of basic training.

Leave for this happy group begins Saturday. Though demands for travel reservations were extremely heavy, cooperation between unit and battalion commanders, the office of the Division transportation officer and representatives of the several civilian transportation companies within the area have provided adequate facilities.

Soldier Cited By Director Of Boy's Club

Usually a Benning soldier will receive a letter of commendation or appreciation and a Certificate of Achievement from his unit.

However, this was not true in the case of SFC Leroy Fenner, of Phillipsburg, N. C., assigned to Co. D, 1st Bn., 29th Inf. Regt.

Instead, a letter of commendation was received by his regimental commander, Col. Joseph W. Sisson Jr., from the South Columbus Boys' Club.

The letter stated in part: "In September he coached one of our Little League Football teams, boys from 10 to 13 years of age. His wife, Minnie, assisted him at water polo and bus driver. He has taken an active part in the Parents Club of which he has just been elected secretary."

The club supplements the professional staff with volunteer leadership for the boys. The letter from Dick Davis, club director, further stated: "Sgt. Fenner continues to coach boxing and basketball, and does his best to help the Boys' Club in any way."

Continued From Page 1 Xmas Editorial

Thank You For Continuing the world to be a man among men. This child of Bethlehem grew in age and wisdom and grace. He gave to His fellow man Eternal Truth that they might thereby live. This child accomplished our redemption on a Cross. Redemption is still ours. The Truth given by This Child we have still. Unfortunately we seem not to have learned to live by these Truths. It would seem that bread is more important. Expediency too often substitutes for principle. Christians are often un-Christians.

The present precarious peace is perhaps our uppermost concern this Christmas. We need peace desperately. We claim to want peace above all else. Perhaps we have forgotten that This Child had been foretold, among other titles, as the "Prince of Peace." This Child came to bring peace. Is him lies the solution. What think you of Christmas? What think you of this Child?

On Christmas Day the adopted fathers of 16 orphan girls will entertain them at a Christmas dinner and tree party with gifts. Members of the Fourth Student Troop, University of Kentucky, Lt. Beatty earned the honor for superior performance during his Ranger training at the Infantry School.

Officers to Hear Brig. Gen. Martin J. Morin, chief of the Otis Military District, will speak at graduation ceremonies for The Infantry School's 210-man basic officers course No. 2 today at 11 a.m. in Ft. Benning's Main Theater. He will be honored at an official luncheon in the Main Officers' Mess following the graduation.

A 1927 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., Gen. Morin is a native of Pennsylvania. The 26-year-old officer attended the Infantry School's company officers course in 1932 with Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, Infantry School commander, and Brig. Gen. James V. Center.

Gen. Hickey's Yule Message

HEADQUARTERS THIRD ARMY—"We of the Army face a great responsibility and opportunity in upholding the teachings of Christ, and there by sustaining the courage and hope of all the free peoples of the world."

So spoke Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army Commander, this week in a special Christmas message to military and civilian personnel of the seven Southeastern states of the Third Army Area.

The text of Gen. Hickey's Christmas message reads as follows: "To all personnel of Third Army:

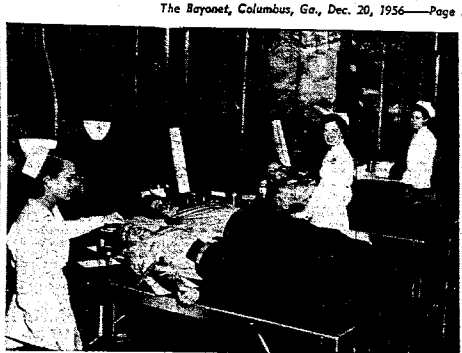

"In this Yuletide season, as we reverently celebrate the anniversary of the birth of our Savior, I extend warmest greetings and best wishes for a merry Christmas and happy New Year to all men and women of Third Army, both military and civilian, and to their families."

"As an integral part of the Armed Forces of a nation dedicated to the principles of Christianity, we of the Army face a great responsibility and opportunity in upholding the teachings of Christ, and there by sustaining the courage and hope of the free peoples of the world."

"I ask all of you to join with me in praying that during this Holiday season we may find faith, courage and inspiration for the redemption of our lives to the achievement of a world in which peace and good will among men shall reign universally and for all time."

"I sincerely hope that Christmas will be a joyous time for you and those dear to you, and that success, health and happiness will follow you throughout the New Year."

Thompson, deputy commanding general of The Infantry School.

SANTA'S HERE . . . More than 500 children were present at an early visit from Santa Claus last week at Theater No. 3 when Special Troops Command held its annual Children's Christmas Party. Prior to the appearance of Santa (Lt. Col. John Caddle, Executive Officer, STC) the children were entertained by the showing of movies, carol singing and art act by Connor's Skating Troupe. Each child had an opportunity to speak to Santa Claus and every one received a Christmas gift stocking. Guests and parents present at the party, which started at 10 A.M., agree that Christmas was off to a good start for Special Troops Command.

3d Division Sets Annual Christmas Party Dec. 22

The annual 3d Division Christmas Party for the children of all division personnel will be held Dec. 22 at the Harmony Church Field House from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. All children from one to fourteen are invited to join in the merry-making.

The fun will start even before the party with rides on a Miniature Train from the Hour Park and a musical cartoon for the younger kiddies. The official signal for the festivities to begin will be Christmas music in a lighter vein by the division band. Then Bob Brandy, children's TV Western star will take over the entertainment, with songs, clowns, and a magician featured on his program.

At about 11 a.m. there will be a sudden burst of cheers as Santa Claus steps from the fire engine and joins the children. He is our "annual" Santa Claus, M-Sgt. Cornelius V. Zeldin, who has enjoyed the role for three years now.

When Santa Claus leaves, the rides will again swing into action for another half hour and the children exit through eight separate doors, clearly marked as to age and sex of the children, members of the Officer's Wives Club will hand each child a well-selected toy, an ice cream bar, and a Christmas stocking filled with candy and fruit.

The Officer's Wives Club, has wrapped each one of the more than 1200 toys that will be given to the children.

The traffic and parking will be handled by the Division KPs while the 10th Engineers Bn. has helped out by cutting and erecting a 15 ft. Christmas tree at the end of the Field House in the boxing ring. The Engineers will also help the Officer's Wives Club in decorating the tree.

The entire Christmas Party is under the supervision of Division Chaplain (Kl. Col.) Lawrence N. Ryan, with all Division Chaplains assisting. Chaplains (1st Lt.) Henry M. Plutlock is project chairman, while Chaplain (1st Lt.) James Spencer is in charge of the entertainment.

Post Provides Civilians With Mail Vehicles

Fort Benning is helping assure prompt Christmas mail delivery in three Georgia and Alabama cities by means of a traditional holiday service.

For more than a quarter of a century, Ft. Benning has aided neighboring cities by making military trucks available to post offices for the holiday rush.

This year the Infantry Center Transportation Section is lending 30 vehicles to post offices in Phenix City, Ala., Columbus and Atlanta, Ga.

Columbus borrowed the greatest number of vehicles, 10 one and a half-ton cargo trucks and 2 one and a half-ton and 2 one and a half-ton vans. Phenix City is utilizing a two and a half-ton truck.

Col. Eugene M. Elliott, Jr., Infantry Center transportation officer, stated that post office officials from these communities had their own representatives call for the vehicles recently.

"Drivers are being provided by the post offices," Col. Elliott said.

"The trucks will be used until the Christmas rush is over,

P-TA Meeting Sees Children Enact Xmas

XMAS AT SCHOOL . . . "Christmas Around the World" was enacted by 500 students of the Fort Benning Children's Schools at the post Parent-Teacher Association meeting. Left to right around the manger are daughter of Major and Mrs. Benton R. Duckworth; D a v i d M a k a n a n i, Sgt. and Mrs. Robert J. Goulet, and Henry Leonard, son of Col. and Mrs. Charles F. Leonard, Jr. Approximately 1,200 persons attended the program.

3-Division Soldier Was Member Of TV Network Production Staff

From the hectic exciting ways of CBS-TV to the rugged and ambitious military preparation of the arranged plans for costumes, scenery and a current needed for rehearsals.

This has been the transition which Pvt. Paul Rauch, of Troop 1, N. J. has had to make. Assigned to Battery C, 41st Field Artillery Basic Training Unit, he is now in his fourth week of basic training. Pvt. Rauch, prior to his induction at Ft. Dix, was the youngest member of a staff of fifteen production coordinators for CBS-TV in New York City.

While with CBS, Paul worked with several aspects within the production staff. His rather involved and intricate production duties included the time production of a show's rehearsal and performing schedules.

He also attended production meetings on several shows and carried out the arranged plans for costumes, scenery and a current needed for rehearsals.

Worked with Big Names Just 24 years old, and already a veteran of three years with the network Rauch has worked with some of the biggest names in show business including Perry Como, Jackie Paner, George Skinner, Jackie Gleason, Ed Sullivan, Will Rogers Jr., Tom Jones, George Jessel, and many others.

He also worked with the now institutionalized hip-swinging Elvis Presley when the latter

Relim the Magician

Student of Blackstone Performing Feats Here

Third Division troopers, having the wool pulled over their eyes and don't seem to mind it at all. Responsible for the wool pulling is a private fresh out of basic training whom you can call forward or backward and still get a response.

Pvt. Stuart Miller of H65 Company Support Command is the soldier in question. Spell "Miller" backwards and you get "Relim, the Magician Extraordinary."

For the last several weeks Miller has been entertaining troops in shows all over the Post, residents in Columbus, Georgia, and his buddies in the barracks. He is continuing his "hand being quicker than the eye" trickery established prior to his military induction last June.

The young magician, who hails from Corning, New York, offered a magic act of some proportions as a civilian. Having worked with two of the top names in the field, the Third Division brigades has arrived at his present stature after years of perseverance and study.

Upon graduating from high school in 1961, Miller worked for a magician named Luckner, formerly with the world famous magician, Blackstone. Later that year, both Luckner and Miller spent a season with the one and only Blackstone, touring the USA as part of a company of 35. While working

Four Assigned To Post Hospital

Three nurses and a physical therapist at the U. S. Army Hospital have received promotions to the rank of major.

The nurses are Major Margaret Clark of Arab, Ala., Edna Egan French, of Wolfboro, N. H., and Dorothy McBride, of Decatur, Ga. Physical therapist of the Army Medical Service Corps is Major Richard Manning, of Terre Haute, Ind.

Reuch says that he feels Elizabeth Kagan, the director, is the most talented individual in show business. Kagan handled many movies including "On the Waterfront," "East of Eden," and "Streetcar Named Desire" and such Broadway stage hits as "Sea and Symphany" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

For persons interested in working with TV networks,

Yuletide Don'ts

Don't use cut electric cords and lights on your tree. Test them before using.

Don't fail to dispose of all wrappings as soon as you open your gifts. Don't throw wrappings in the fireplace. Put them in a container outside your house.

Don't fill to remove your tree from the house as soon as possible after Christmas. Don't place it near the house, fence, or the garage.

Don't forget to follow these simple rules and your Merry Christmas will be followed by a Happy New Year (APPA).

Girl Scouts Assist Hospital Decorations

Fort Benning's Girl Scouts, Troops 82, 74, 192 and 73 presented Christmas decorations to the American Red Cross at the U. S. Army Hospital last week.

The decorations were made by the Scouts as their Christmas project. At meetings for the past three weeks, the girls collected materials and made wreaths, sprays, pin-cushion arrangements and a variety of colored candles to present to the Red Cross staff.

They will be used to decorate the entrance, lounge and recreation hall and stage of the Red Cross Building.

In addition to making decorations, Troops 82 and 74 also decorated the TV-lounge, using "Christmas at Home" theme work, fireplace and stockings, and decorations in the windows and arrangements of green sprays.

Troop 73 colored programs to be distributed throughout the hospital for the ward decorating contest.

Mrs. Robert O. Harrison of Atlanta, Ga., with Mrs. Ellis worth Vassar of Plainsburg, N. Y., as co-leader. Members of Troop 192 are Mrs. H. S. Anderson of Hastings, Minn., Mrs. Henry Zernuski of Ford City, Pa., and Mrs. J. C. McCung of Galveston, Wis.

Leader for Troop 73 is Mrs. Howard Williams of Brighton, Ill., assisted by Mrs. L. G. Gibbons.

Private Gilbert J. Mroz of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan joined Board No. 3, Continental Army Command, Fort Benning, Georgia on Dec. 15, 1956. He entered the service Sept. 1, 1956 for basic training under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 and was assigned to Co. C, 2nd Bn. 5th Training Regiment, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. for his basic.

Private Mroz who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mroz South St. Marie, Michigan, attended Sault High School and received his B. S. in Engineering from Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, Michigan in 1955. Mroz was a member of Blue Key National, Hi Sigma Psi Fraternity, Varsity Club and Kappa Delta Psi Social Fraternity.

Ike to Light Christmas Tree This Afternoon

The traditional lighting of the National Community Christmas tree by President Eisenhower at 5 p.m. today will signal military installations to follow suit around the world.

A giant spruce will be lit on the ellipse in front of the White House for the annual Christmas Pageant for France.

Presented to the nation by the citizens of Almagordo, N. M., the Engleman spruce from the Lincoln National Forest will be brought here by a delegation on Dec. 18.

A highlight of 1956 pageant, in which more than 50 states and foreign legations will participate, will be a Santa Claus from Minden, Neb.

In the past, military posts and bases are encouraged by the Department of Defense to light installation Christmas trees at the same time the President performs the cere-

Smith Wins Eagles

Herald H. Smith of Portage, Ohio, has been promoted from the rank of lieutenant colonel to colonel at Ft. Benning, Ga. Smith has been executive officer of The Infantry School's Tactical Department since October, 1953. He came to the post in September, 1953, and served with The Infantry Center Inspector General Section and as secretary of the Main Officers' Mess before being assigned to the Tactical Department two years ago.

The 42-year-old officer enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in 1931 and entered active duty as a first lieutenant with the 3rd Infantry Division in Korea in October, 1950. He served 40 months with the division in the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Col. Smith attended the Infantry School's basic officers' class course in 1940 and the advanced officers class in 1947. Following a three-year tour in the Inspector General Section of Fourth Army Headquarters, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, he was graduated from a 17-week course at the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

From February, 1952, until coming to The Infantry Center, Col. Smith served as executive officer of the Ninth Infantry Division and G-1 personnel officer of the Second Infantry Division in Korea. Among his decorations are the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star Medal.

Col. and Mrs. Smith, the former Cecile Davidge of Hattiesburg, Miss., have three sons, 2nd Lt. Herald H. Smith, 22, a student in the Infantry School's basic officers' class (No. 6, Danny, 19 and Vernon,

Santa's Workshop on Post Kept Busy Repairing Toys

BY SGT. CHARLIE QUINN
Even old Kris Kringle is receiving support from the members of the 3rd Division's Support Command. In fact, according to Captain Ansel C. St. John, Commanding Officer of Maintenance Support Company, Big 633 is plainly marked "Santa's Workshop" and has become the busiest place in the Maintenance Support Company's area.

The building has taken on the appearance of the parent unit traditionally located at the North Pole. In a corner rests a brightly painted wagon at which one has to look closely to discover carefully knocked out dents now deftly camouflaged. On a bench sits a pert little doll, her wounded leg nicely healing. Gripped in a pair of clamps is a soft ball bat, its cracked handle under pressure preparing it for the pressure of happy little hands Christmas morning. Over here is a PFC straightening the handle of a tricycle. Beside him the rough fingers of a Master Sergeant skillfully replace a broken trigger spring in a cap pistol. And . . . what you watch . . . a Lt. Colonel comes in with a battered pair of rollerskates and leaves with the assurance that "they'll be as good as new, Sir, thank you for bringing them in."

Dog Platoon Arrives Here From Colorado

With the arrival of the 26th Scout Dog Platoon — newly activated unit — from Ft. Carson, Colo., Ft. Benning now owns two of the four canine platoons within the continental limits.

There are approximately eight such dog platoons in the U.S. Army.

Advanced training with the 26th Regimental Combat Team is the 4th Scout Dog Platoon. The 26th returned to The Infantry Center with 27 scout dogs and 18 dog handlers who completed a 14-week basic course at The Army Dog Training Center in Colorado.

Unit members, under the command of 1st Lt. Barton H. Patterson, are M-Sgt. Ibram W. Alexander, SFC Edmund Booth, Sgt. Norbert Berryment, Sgt. Barrios Verela, Sp4 Reuben Kinneke, Sp3 Charles Gaston, Sp3 Emmett Hammock, Sp3 Jerry Phifer, Sp3 Franklin Wallace, Sp3 James Ward, PFC Milton J. Bauer, PFC Roger Cunningham, PFC Peter Doyle, PFC Donald Evedand, PFC Thomas Leonard, PFC James Moser, PFC Jesse Scroggins and PFC Jesse Smith.

Advanced training the 26th will undergo is scouting and patrolling.

The scout dog as employed by the unit is not vicious. On the contrary, it is usually more of a big pet and could readily be classified as a child's pet.

Through the proper use of the Scout dog in Korea, casualties were reduced from 65 to 75 percent.

Christmas Mail Mounting With Last Minute Rush

Postmaster Thomas E. Sikas said today that the mounting volume of Christmas mail makes it vitally important for everyone to help on his "Mail Early for Christmas" program. He said, "last year we dispatched a total of approximately 3,750,000 letters and cards and 49,000 sacks of parcel post between December 1st and the 25th. This year we have already received and sent approximately 1,500,000 Christmas cards and letters and approximately 7,000 sacks of parcel post, and the real heavy rush is just starting."

He reports that the flow of Christmas cards is running about the same as last year, but mailing of gifts by Parcel Post is definitely behind schedule and he urged that all out-of-state parcels be sent by Air Parcel Post from now on.

"Most people realize that the early arrival of a Christmas card or gift is always welcomed," the Postmaster pointed out. "But there are still some who have the mistaken idea that a gift or card arriving on Christmas Eve has a special significance. Actually, it is the thought behind the gift or card and not the time it arrives that counts."

Post Officer Supervised Burial of Custer's Widow

BY M-SGT. CLARK BLACKBURN
An officer assigned to the Infantry School was in charge of the burial of the widow of Gen. George Armstrong Custer of Custer's Last Stand fame.

That's right—the same Custer who lost his entire unit of Cavalrymen to the Indians back in 1876.

He is Capt. Clifton B. Dewoe, adjutant, 4th Student Bn. In summing up the present situation, the Postmaster said, "Try to bring your parcels and Christmas cards to the Postal windows before 10:30 a.m., or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., to avoid the peak hour rushes."

The Postmaster reminded us again that all gifts should be wrapped securely with heavy paper, or enclosed in sturdy corrugated cartons and tied with strong cord. Write legibly, or better yet, print the recipient's full name, street address, zone number, city and state, on one number, city and state, on body if you will just follow these three simple rules: WRAP YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS SECURELY—ADDRESS YOUR GIFTS AND MAIL THEM NOW!

Civilian Employees Get Message From Secretary

"I extend my sincere Christmas greetings to reach all of the civilian employees of the United States Army.

"In this critical period, during which so many adjustments must be made to new tasks and changing world conditions, I am particularly aware of the tremendous value of the contributions which you are making world-wide to the Army's effectiveness. Working side-by-side with our men and women in uniform, and zealously supporting them all along the line, you have proved your dedication to the vital job of keeping our Army always alert and fully ready for the defense of the Nation. At this season, when the ancient message of 'Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men', once again fills our hearts, I am especially mindful of how important is the part you and all the other members of our magnificent Military-Civilian team are playing in the preservation and perpetuation of the lofty ideals and principles which we as a Nation cherish.

"To each of you, and to your loved ones, my best wishes for a blessed Christmas, and a rewarding New Year."

Tom Kinney Speaks at TIC Grid Dinner

Tom Kinney, sports editor of The Columbus Ledger and the Sunday Ledger-Enquirer, was the guest speaker at The Infantry Center football banquet Dec. 12 at Ft. Benning.

Mr. Kinney, who has covered outstanding sports events for more than 20 years, sized up the coming grid attractions for the Rose, Cotton, Sugar, Orange and Gator Bowl games New Year's Day.

The distinguished sports analyst also spoke of his disappointment of the elimination of post level competition for the Infantry Center.

"The name 'Doughboys' will be sorely missed from the sports scene," said Mr. Kinney, "and I for one will miss following the post team. The new sports program set forth by your Special Services Council is a good one, in that it provides for more participation on the regular level. However, I firmly believe that if one post team was established to play small college teams, the money derived from, say three games would foot the bill for the entire post sports program."

Individual and team awards were presented by Col. James B. Gall, Infantry Center Comptroller, to the newly crowned post champions, the Main Post Doughboys. First Lt. James Ingram, head coach of the Doughboys, accepted the team trophy.

Co. A STC Hangs on to First

Co A 1st STB keepers held the Reds with a 172 game and on to their first place position, even though they dropped 3 of 4 points to the 9th place Board 3 Blues. The Blues were spoiled by the routing section composed of the Flatfoot Five a few other competing teams. Elliott led the Blues in the bowling with a 171 game and a 488 series.

Flatfoot Five took 4 of 4 points from 12th place Board 3 Reds in a close match. The Flatfoot Five picked up 2 points on the 1st place team, now only 2 points behind them. Team captain Mertz led the Flatfooters with a 198 game and a 588 set, while Clark led 8th place Transfer Point split 4 points with the 8th place Ft. Benning Five. Benito paced the separators with a 168 game and a 482 series, while Van We led the Money-bows with a 174 game and a 494 series.

90th Ord. Loses Again
90th Ordnance Co. the 7th place team lost ground by dropping 3 points to the 34 Army Air Force Service School.

Service School was led by their two-finger bowler Papa Shewlin with a 199 game and a 582 set. Goebel led the Fix-it boys with a 173 game and a 468 series.

Xmas Halts Cage Play

BY SAM PROCOPIO

With the holiday season providing a break in Fort Benning's regimental basketball season play, there will be sufficient time for the coaches of the first three teams to prep for the important contests scheduled next year.

The 52nd ACR's defending champs and undefeated in its last seven games, will find its first real test against Divarty and the School Brigade. The latter two foes will oppose the Commanders immediately upon resumption of the league's competition Jan. 7.

Divarty, which holds the only win over the School Brigade, continued to match the defending champs in triumph; more impressively, however.

Against a fine club, Support Command, Friday night Divarty walked off the floor with a 32-61 victory. On Monday night the undefeated squad set a new high for the season with 110 points against 15th ICC's 61.

Only once this season has Divarty tallied under the 80 point mark. Pacing the Divarty attack against 15th ICC, Don Close who scored 28 points. Last Wednesday Divarty beat Special Troops Command, 69-64.

The School Brigade eagres also find their adversary to their likings as they posted wins five and six in succession against the 5th Medical group and the 11st Engineers.

Sawchik Scores 19
Lon Sawchik hit the cords for 19 points to lead the Brigade of offense last Wednesday against the 5th. Facing the losers in the 94-34 skirmish were Andrew Carrié and John Wilson with 12 points.

The School Brigade topped the 151st, 75-61. Tom Flynn and Sid Hatfield tallied 18 each for the winners.

The 2nd RCT and its Harlem Magician, O'Liver, Elders continued a seven game win streak with triumph over 12th ICC, 71-67, in an overtime contest; and the 54th Medical Group, 84-83. The latter game was the first this season that found the Commanders winning by any considerable margin.

Averages 20 Points
Elders, a guard, tallied 20 and 14 points in the two games to bring his season's average to 20 points.

7th ICC, the only winless quintet in league competition, watched the clock tick away before its cagers could forge into the lead.

Friday night, the 7th ICC was edged 59-58 by the 151st, despite a 20 point pot for Harvey Dunt. Against Special Troops Command Monday night a 28 point score by Jim Johnson failed to offset STC's initial triumph of the cameras.

STC beat the 7th ICC, 64-61. John Coleman was high for STC, defeated STC, 70 to 51.

The 30th ICC won its only game scheduled. The team, evened at 33 for the season, defeated STC, 70 to 51.

TOM WIERZBICKI The Say-Hey Kid Revisited Again

It may seem slightly incongruous to be talking of baseball as the grid season is just finishing in the professional ranks and the seven foot hoopsters are taking to the hardwoods, but the naming of Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves as the official National League batting champion was too good of a thing to let go by without some comment.

"Hammer in Hank", as he is fondly pegged in the beer capital, won the senior circuit crown with a .328 average . . . the lowest to win the title in 73 years.

The Braves' 22-year-old batting stylist, who also topped the circuit with 200 hits and 34 doubles, thus became the second youngest champion in the circuit's history. He is a month and 14 days older than a Pete Reiser, who won the crown as a 22-year-old Brooklyn Dodger outfielder in 1941.

Aaron's winning mark was the lowest since 1919 when Eddie Roush was crowned champion with a .321 average.

Bitter Twilight for Willie

But the bright days that burned for the youth from M o h i o . . . All this past season can be colder contrasted into a bitter twilight for the Say-Hey Kid, Willie Mays.

What happened to Willie Mays' 25th summer? The truth is in the agate type that reduces all baseball achievements to figures.

Willie led the senior circuit in stolen bases but the accountants disqualify him in the other classes. Willie inhabited a season that belongs to the youthful slugger from Commerce, Okla., Mickey Mantle.

It's Hank Aaron in Willie's league now. They don't all celebrate him with the wild gladness they reserve for Mantle. But Aaron's younger than either of them.

According to one-time New York Grid manager, Leo Durocher, "Willie is the greatest ball player that ever lived!" Leo wasn't alone . . . Old men who were conditioned to greatness before Willie was born, explained with exact praise that this kid was gifted beyond anyone they've ever seen. You know the names they used? Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio, Rogers Hornsby, Ted Williams, and Jackie Robinson. They gave no one a pass. They refused to stay within the limits of their own generation.

Middle of the Stream Exchange

The same voices are heard in the same dugouts. The same phrases are told in their league, amazed way. People forget pride in their league. This Mickey Mantle is what Willie Mays was supposed to be. Throw, run, hit, field, the kid can do it all. This is the only guy's got a chance to hit more than Ruth. No one mentions that Willie Mays hit 51 home runs last year . . . Mantle's great year this past season included one more home run, 52. Sure the Yankee star won the triple crown in hitting; batting title, home runs and runs batted-in; but Mays last year didn't do too bad. He led the league in home runs and batting . . .

So how come the music's stopped this past summer for the Say-Hey Kid? Isn't he allowed an off-year?

Willie Mays plays for a team that finished in sixth place in the National League. Mickey Mantle is the center fielder for the club that not only won the American league pennant but also the world series. Enough said?

It was just the wrong season for Willie Mays'. A year ago you could find Willie's picture on the cover of the magazines adorning magazine racks and newsstands. This past season the covers belonged to Mickey Mantle . . . even television.

Was it only 1951 when Willie was in his first world series? Was it only 1954 when he caught Vic Wertz's fly ball in the first game of the world series? Why in 1951, Hank Aaron wasn't in an organized minor league. That's how far away 1951 is.

Skating Star in Basic Training

Now taking basic training in Co. D, 2nd Inf. Bn., 3rd Div., is Pvt. John F. Hartnett, 1956 United States Amateur Dance Skating Champion. He was selected as outstanding soldier of the 2nd Bn. for the week Nov. 12-17.

In his first week of basic training Private Hartnett was declared the outstanding soldier of his company for his military proficiency and overall excellent appearance. Private Hartnett then went on to defeat the outstanding soldier from each company in the Battalion to win the title of Outstanding Soldier of the week in the 2nd Infantry Battalion.

Before coming into the Army on October 25, 1956, Private Hartnett and his partner, Miss Anne Keebler of 85 Westinghouse Avenue, Levittown, New York, won the United States Amateur Dance Skating Championships at Chicago on 4 July 1956. They completed in the Intra Dance Division which consists of performing 3 roller dance steps: The Collegiate, the Four-step, and The Style B Waltz.

Hartnett began skating about four years ago, and became a member of the United States Amateur Roller Skating Association. Although he has only been skating with his partner for a year and a half they were the Intra Division of the 1956 New York Dance Skating Championships at Mount Vernon, New York before going on to Chicago.

Though Private Hartnett's father is an ardent skating enthusiast, Dance skating, we are informed by Hartnett, is only recently gaining prominent recognition. It is being scheduled as a major event in the 1960 Olympics. While at Ft. Benning, Private Hartnett plans on getting as much practice as he can at the Columbus, Georgia USO Ballroom. He hopes to continue competition.

Hartnett was at the Reception Center, Ft. Dix, New Jersey, before being sent to the 3rd Infantry Division for basic training. He is one of some 7,000 men scheduled to take basic training with the Division from November to March 1957. This is the second group to take basic training with the (named "Marne Division" since they returned to Fort Benning from Korea).

Flyers Begin Night Training Program

An intensified program of their night take off and land-landing tactical night missions is now being carried on by 3d Division aviators.

Two or three evenings per week, the aviation company rotates its six flights through a tactical night flying program. Operating from division field strips, the aviators practice

"THE ARMY GOES ROLLING ALONG" . . . Private John F. Hartnett, Flushing, New York, a basic trainee with D Company, 2nd Infantry Battalion, 3rd Infantry Division, Ft. Benning, Georgia, does a little practicing after a hard days marching. Private Hartnett is United States Amateur Dance Skating Champion, Intra Dance Division.

Junior NRA Opens New Indoor Range

Ft. Benning's Junior National Rifle Association officially opened its new indoor range recently at Building 1161 on the Main Post.

The range was opened by Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, commander of The Infantry Center, who cut the tape across the firing positions. He initiated the project by firing the first round of shots.

The Rifle and Pistol Club with the assistance of Ft. Benning's Junior National Rifle Association is a sub-activity of the Youth Activities Club with Col. C. F. Leonard, Jr. serving as chairman. Col. Leonard is Director of the Weapons Department, TIS.

The Association is open to sons and daughters of Ft. Benning personnel between the ages of 11 and 18. Present enrollment consists of 120 juniors, 85 of whom are girls. Rifles and targets are provided by VAC, but as a matter of charity building the children are required to provide half the cost of ammunition.

Range Hospital to youngsters is the new indoor range is expected to provide greater incentive toward marksmanship and to provide a better opportunity for young people to improve their ability and sportsmanship officials said.

Currently, the Junior Rifle shooters are engaged in National Postal Matches sponsored by the National Rifle Association. The second of the matches was fired on Saturday immediately after the opening of the range.

Mt. Vernon D. Graham, team coach for the U. S. Army Rifle and Pistol Team, is the Junior Association coach.

Injury Plagued Cagers Get Help

The 15th Infantry Command basketball team made a fine start at the beginning of the season, winning its first two games, but has been plagued with injuries after the start of the season.

However with the acquisition of some new material, they expect to be on the winning post again. Don McKee, center, has been out with a broken hand. The rangy rebound artist from Grove Point, Ga., will be out for the remainder of the season. And Jerry Beck of the 42nd Tank Battalion has been hampered with a bad leg. The three year varsity man from Purdue is playing as much as possible.

The team's mainstay is Lt. Dick Reid, a fireball from Mercer University of Macon, Ga., who has a 13 point average to date. A 5' 10" playmaker, Reid is very fast and is player coach of the team. Don Woodward, played at Eastern Michigan State College and has a 10 point average. He is a fine ball handler and an all around performer.

Tom Williams of A. Co., 1st Inf. Bn., played at St. Louis, Mo., and has an 11-point average. Big things are expected from him during the season. Joe Theis of C Co., 3rd Inf. Bn., is a very good player who played at the University of Minnesota. He is 6 feet and a dead foot shot and a very good

Uebel Deserts Helmet For Parachute Garb

One year after achieving fame as an All-American at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., 2nd Lt. Pat Uebel is still in training—this time here for a job as an airborne infantryman.

Lt. Uebel of Bellview, Ky., was All-State fullback during his senior year at the city's high school. Refusing several colleges and universities offering scholarships, he accepted a Congressional appointment to West Point.

After a sensational year 1955 with the plebe squad in 1952, Lt. Uebel earned a starting berth as fullback with the varsity team during his second year. He came into national prominence that year during the Blue and Gold, averaging all three Black Knight touchdowns to lead the cadets to a 29-7 win over their traditional rivals.

Lt. Uebel made it a habit to play his best games against the Middles. He scored in all three games in which he faced the Blue and Gold, averaging well over five yards everytime he carried the ball.

Last year's contest was his best, according to Uebel. Starting both on offense and defense, he led the varsity Cadet team to a 13-7 upset victory over Navy.

The 2nd Lt. officer is united in The Infantry School's Airborne-Army Aviation Department with two other Military Academy grads, former fullback, 1st Lt. GI Stephen Gumpson, by virtue of a defeat of the 151st Engineers in a challenge meeting. The 10th Engineers issued the challenge last month to all Engineer organizations at Fort Benning.

JERRY ARMSTRONG Christmas Hunt Could Be Last

Strutting along full of turkey, merriment and "spirit" Jerry Armstrong was doing a little Christmas afternoon hunting.

He cuts down the back pasture and crosses the creek. Thinking to himself he adds, "That little patch of pines over on the north field has several rabbits I know, who are just waiting to decorate the breakfast table."

Hurrying "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer," safety is farthest from his thoughts.

"Boy! Man should have been a mess sergeant and we could do away with re-assignment interviews. The waiting line would change from Mandy's movie to 'we're in the Army Now'."

Reaching the hill, he sighs, "Just to pass through the 'boondocks' or marshes and I'll put my trusty 20-gauge in to action."

He slowly descends the hill and comes to the fence which keeps the cows from wandering into the lowlands. Fencing the gun through the fence, he bends under the first strand.

Tom Goes Out

As he gets his foot across the barbs, the gun slips and fires when it strikes the ground.

Falling in pain, he collapses on the ground. His leg was ripped badly by the cross of plasticine. He knew that he had only a few moments before he would black out from loss of blood.

He overcame his terror and called out desperately for help. After several attempts he lost consciousness.

Luckily for him game warden Tom Spears was within 300 yards away checking his pretar traps. Rushing to the scene he found the victim. Quickly he gave him first aid and rushed him to the hospital.

Warden Spears, after seeing that young Headless was going to pull through without the loss of his leg, quickly handed the doctor a small card.

"Remember me," read "Doc Thompson," he said, "When Jim wakes up you tell him that all the thanks I want is for him to restore the thoughts on the card."

At the top of the card were two words—SAFETY HUNTING. Below were listed:

1. Never shoot at objects indistinctly seen through trees or bushes. They might be human.
2. Do not fire at game when there is a house, barn, or road in the line of fire.
3. Do not carry a loaded gun in a motor vehicle. Keep it loaded until you start hunting.
4. Keep the safety lock on at all times, except just before shooting.
5. Inspect your gun before going hunting. Make sure barrels are clear as it is mechanically safe.
6. Never lay a loaded gun down in a boat or on the ground. Another person or even a dog may cause it to discharge.
7. Never lift a loaded gun by the barrel or pull it through a fence.
8. Don't leave your gun or administration courses.

3rd Div. Ranks Include Local Baseball Star

BY SP3 JAMES W. LONGSTRETH

Marvin Breeding, second baseman for the Columbus Foxes last year and member of the Sally League All-Stars, is currently undergoing eight weeks of basic combat training with Company A, 6th Infantry Bn., at Ft. Benning.

Breeding, born in Decatur, Ala., has never hit below 300 in 20 years of professional baseball. He is currently under contract with the Baltimore Orioles.

May Play Service Ball

In his first season of professional baseball, after playing three years of college ball at Howard College in Birmingham, Ala., Breeding hit .338 as shortstop for Cordele of the Georgia-Florida League. He was chosen to the Georgia Florida All-Star line that year.

Breeding stated that he would like to play service baseball when permanently assigned, and in his next season. Breeding, now 22 years old, moved up to the Class A Foxes of the Sally League as a second baseman and hit .304 for second place Columbus and once again was chosen to the league All-Stars. In mid season Breeding was moved up to Vancouver of the non classified Pacific Coast League but was returned to Columbus where he finished out the season.

At Howard College the blond speedster participated in football, basketball and baseball and was chosen to the Dixie Conference All-Star Basketball team. He is presently playing for the 30th IOC cage team in the Regimental Basketball League at Fort Benning.

No Football

Breeding, during a ten minute training break, said his present contract with Baltimore would not allow him to play any football.

In 1954 Breeding played in the Columbian League in South America during the winter. Playing for Barranquilla, he was named out of the league batting crown on the final day by Jesse Barran, a member of the Washington Senator club.

Levant hit .322 while Breeding made a .322 batting mark.

Inducted into the Army this year, Breeding stated that he feels "the Army is a great experience for me. I'll try to do my very best while serving." If baseball stands for the winners, will not be in the lineup during the second half because of his reassignment from the Army.

The Camps had won 23 victories, which averaged 157 points while dropping 12.

Bowling Title Joy at 29th for Mighty 'Van' Has Struck Out

There's joy in HQ & HQ Co. 29th Inf Regt for mighty Van debrink has struck out. It enabled the company to reign as first ball champions.

Not baseball-wise, however, but in the regiment's enlisted bowling league.

Unit Friday's ten-pin match, HQ & HQ Co. needed but one team point to clinch the honor.

Drawbacks were 47th Inf Chemical Co. and 1st Bn. 29th Inf Regt, second and third place legends, which were HQ & HQ Co's first opponents.

1st Battalion, nevertheless, was the only threat with a possible tie.

Trail In Final Match

Bowling against the 8th Chemical Co. the five members of HQ & HQ Co. lost their first two points and were trailing by 12 points for the evening's team honors, going into the final match.

In the ninth frame of the third match, tied with marines, 32 each, the first three members of each team topped the ten pins evenly.

Then Ken Vandebrik stepped to the alley. He had a 143. Drawing a back from the left side, he not only set down the ten pins in the ninth frame as the initial throw.

STC Cage Coach Looks To Hustle and Teamwork

STC PLAYER-COACH . . . Lt. Dick Hendricks is one of many coaches in the Regimental basketball league who hold down a dual role, that of player-coach. A former Indiana University cager, Hendricks played under All-American center Don Schlundt in 1953.

"Hustle and teamwork are the two weapons we will use to make ourselves heard," stated Lt. Dick Hendricks, player-coach of Special Troops Command basketball team.

"Our squad is lacking in college experience," continued Lt. Hendricks, "along with a lack of height, so we have no other alternative but to try hustle as the means to our goal."

The six foot, five-inch center, who formerly played at Indiana University as an under-study to All-American center Don Schlundt, expressed the same opinion that various other coaches have been finding out in the newly formed Ft. Benning Regimental basketball league: lack of material really hurts.

Problem Getting Players "There are quite a few capable ballplayers in Special Troops Command," said Lt. Hendricks, "but, such problems as providing necessary transportation and working odd hours prevents them from joining."

Close Games Harder On Coach Than Team

BY SAM PROCOPIO
Some coaches get gray hair for a winning season while others are perplexed with heart racing. However, if the undated 29th RCT basketball quintet continues with its narrow margin in a winning way, player-coach Fred H. Beyer may end up with both conditions.

For the sixth time—not including Monday night's win—the Commanders emerged victorious, but not until the waning minutes. Last Minute Win Against a scrappy 15th ICC team, the 29th finally overcame a deficit to continue its winning streak by outmaneuvering and outlasting its opponent within the last three minutes of the overtime period. Although the 29th's regular season opened fast with a 15 point lead, his cagers found poor ball handling costly as the 15th ICC narrowed the gap to seven points by halftime.

The Commanders were able to match their opponents' basket for basket until the three minute signal of the final period. Then some fancy dribbling and fine pressing measuring by their adversary were telling.

The 15th not only caught up to the undated Commander team, but forged into the lead by four points. It was at this time, however, that some cool and heady play by the 29th's Elders from its guard position made the 29th winning combination work.

They received orders for over-seas," he added.

Although facing such problems, the STC cagers have come a long way since the start of the season. The impossible almost happened 1 a 1 week when coach Hendricks' boys posted an upset victory over heavily favored 29th RCT.

After playing a nip and tuck battle most of the game, the RCT quintet managed only in the last few minutes of the game to pull out a 77-74 victory.

Outstanding Players

Outstanding players on the squad include high flyer Bob Brundage who's patented jump shot, Al Robin Freeman, has set many a net on fire; Len Brower, a great man off the boards; Tommy Hicks, a hustling guard; and newcomer "Red" Miller, a center who has turned out to be the team's take-charge player.

U. S. Finds Santa Claus

U. S. Finds Santa Claus

Santa Claus, as we know him today, may be said to have originated in America, although his legend is based on stories from many lands, where he is known as St. Nicholas, Pere Noel, Father Christmas and so on.

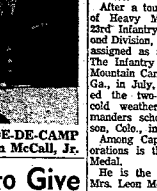

When Santa Claus came to America, he was tall and gaunt. Later, as a result of Clemens Moore's "The Night Before Christmas," Santa put on weight and became the rollicking red-nosed, round and jolly character we know today.

It might have been easier for him to come down the chimney when he was thinner, but children now love him as he is, and many try to catch a glimpse of the elusive fellow who brings so many good things for Christmas Day. (A.F.S.)

54th Medical Gp.

Several Men Leaving Command

The current rumor in the 54th Medical Group is the command will be in maintenance inspection, with still a tinge of Army tactical training problems. Although the final results are not in, it is generally felt that all companies in this group that participated in these problems did very well. We would like to give a farewell to the men of the group who are getting their release from service for Christmas presents. SP3 Robert Zimmerman and SP3 Robert Siegel, of Hq. and Hq. Det.; SP3 Gerald Livengood, PFCs John Reedy and Leonard Davis, and Pvt. James Yates of the 24th Evac. Hosp. SP3s Arthur Swellman and Dwight Williams and Pvt. Charles Bass of the 50th Medical Co.; SP3 Emmet Elam and PFC John Walker of 52d Med. Co.; SP3s Ronald Russell-Tully and William Ketterle of 53d Med. Co.; and SP3s Willie Jackson and Andrew Matthews of the 59th Med. Co. are all being discharged prior to the holidays. There are men of the 54th group who have been transferred away from us to spend Christmas elsewhere. They are: PFC Bobby Hayes, who is on his way to the Far East after several months in Hq.; SP3 Willie Jackson, former 1&E NCO of the 24th Evac. Hosp., now on his way to the Army Language School at Monterey, Calif.; SP3 Billy White, of the 542d Med. Co., who is also on his way to the Far East; SFC Herman Stuart, of the 59th Med. Co., now on orders for Europe.

151st Engineers Unit Reups 3 Members

The 57th Engineer Bn. checked up three more names on their enlistment records. Sgt. Alexander B. Leggett, Co. A and SFC Britt A. Hanson, Co. B, took three years each. SP3 Willie L. Johnson, Co. C, signed for six.

New names on the morning reports of the 151st Hdqs. Co. include: Pvt. William B. Wilson, SP2 Maurice Baum, and SP3 Rens T. Marzetti. Assigned to the 56th Engr. Co. (P) are: SP3 John M. Barton, SP3 Carl D. Martin, and Pvt. Cecil Bence. New members of the 78th Engr. Bn. are: SP3 Harmon A. McKee, Pvt. Nicholas A. Macco, Pvt. Charles Workman, and 1st Lt. Ben Jordan.

The group commander announced the selection this week of SFC Caesar S. Shack, 59th Engr. Co. as "Engineer of the month" for the 151st. SFC Shack is congratulated for the extraordinary performance of duty which resulted in his being named the outstanding engineer of his respective unit for the month of November. Also commended are the remaining members of the unit: PFC Howard V. Rahm, Hq. and Hq. Co., PFC Francis A. Curry, 57th Engr. Bn. and Pvt. Thomas J. Robertson, 78th Engr. Bn.

Company A, 57th Engr. Bn. returned from their project site at the Ranger training camp, Hq. Co., and PFC William Holt and Pvt. John McKiernan, both of the 24th Evac. Hosp. have gone out on TDY for approximately 90 days to serve with the food service section of Project Mery.

The 24th Evac. Hosp. is having a Christmas party in the 54th Group consolidated mess hall for the children of the personnel assigned to the 54th. There will be all the goodies the kids can eat, as well as presents, a real Santa Claus, Christmas Carols, and maybe some special organ music.

Plans were completed this week for the Christmas party which is scheduled for Dec. 18 at the 151st Engineer Group. The get-together is for the young children of the members of the group, and promises to be a good one.

Runners-up for the title of "non-commissioned officer of the month" for the 151st Group this month were: SFC Florencio Fernandez, Jr., 58th Engr. Co., Sgt. Jimmie J. Swenson, 78th Engr. Bn., and SFC Ernest E. Williams, 57th Engr. Bn. Congratulations for the outstanding work which resulted in your being chosen to represent your respective units.

Seven Pick-Up Stations In Operation on Post

Seven pick-up stations are located on the Ft. Benning reservation for use by soldiers desiring a ride. The military Center authorities have announced.

Motorists are encouraged to share rides with soldiers at these points only. Lt. Col. Frank Palmer of Midland, Ga., assistant Infantry Center provost marshal, stated. Col. Palmer pointed out that most soldiers leaving the post during off-duty hours are dressed in street clothes. As a result it is impossible for motorists to distinguish between civilians and military personnel, he added.

Ft. Benning officials warn that hitch-hiking at locations other than these designated places is unlawful. Soldiers are forbidden to solicit rides by signaling passing vehicles in any way, or by standing or walking on the traveled part of any highway.

Locations of the stations are at the junction of First Division and Cassia Roads; Victory Highway in the vicinity of the Eighth Division Road Overpass; Victory Highway in the vicinity of Outpost No. 4; Sighting Road in the vicinity of the 25th Regimental Combat Team Chapel; on the Road at the entrance to the 25th Regimental area; junction of Bradshaw and Indianhead Roads and Lumpkin Road in the vicinity of the Main Post School.

DISTANT CHRISTMAS

WANTS THE PERCENTAGE, YOU WHO WALK THE LONELY TOURS OR STARE THE TV WATCHES ON THIS CHRISTMAS DAY? WIN MUST BE YOU WHO OBEY THE FROZEN HANDS OR BUTTERED FOOT—WHILE OTHERS SIT, WARM AND RELAXED IN COMFORT OF THEIR OWN CHOOSING?

THE REASONS ARE WRITTEN LARGE UPON THE TROUBLED MAP OF AN EVER-SHINING WORLD.

NATIONS WHICH LONG AGO DECIDED THEMSELVES WITH HAPPY Yuletide colors; ASY NOW ON MONUMENTS SHADE OF RED, WITHIN IDENTIFY EXCEPT AS PART OF A PACKLESS UNION DISPATCHED TO THE GRINDING ANIMATION OF ALL ABOUT IT.

HOW SHALL WE EVER KNOW THE NUMBER OF SABLES, THE PEARL HARBORS, THE KOREAS THAT HAVE BEEN PREVENTED BY THE ABILITY MOST OF SUCH LONELY MEN AS YOU, TOO MANY MILES FROM ALL PRECISE THINGS, TO TRAVEL ANY TIME?

YET DOING THIS ONE TASK YOUR INSTINCT AND TRAINING TELLS YOU IS RIGHT—TO PROTECT YOUR OWN VERY LONELY TIME FROM AS FAR ASHES AS POSSIBLE, IN ORDER NOT TO INVOLVE YOUR LOVED ONES IN THE CONFLICT?

MAN CAN ENDURE WRACKING THINGS IF HE HAS HOPE, JUST AS THIS DAY IS A SYMBOL TO GREAT MASSES OF POOR CHRISTMAS. SO IS THE AMERICAN FLAG AND UNIFORM A BEACON OF FRIENDSHIP TO MILLIONS NOW GLEET.

WHO TAKE STRENGTH FROM YOUR PRESENCE—HEARER TO THEM THAN TO THE HOMETOWN YOU HOLD SO DEAR...

9 Patients Evacuated To Set Post Record

By JULIA BRUNCKE
Ft. Benning's U.S. Army Hospital last week has its largest air evacuation of patients this year.

Nine military and dependent patients were evacuated Dec. 7 from the hospital by the Military Air Transport Service. The patients were taken to Brookley Air Base in Mobile, Ala., where other planes were waiting to take them to hospitals in Texas, Tennessee, Nebraska and Washington, D. C., for convalescence or further treatment.

Four of the patients were Army personnel from the post, one of whom was encased in a Stryker frame used to protect and prevent any movement of the body from an actor personnel came from the Warm Springs (Ga.) Foundation to the hospital for one operation. A retired soldier, patient was Mrs. Joseph Solomon, and Capt. Harold E. Forehand, of McCure, Ill., company clerk of Co. M, 25th Inf. Regt.

Since his entry into the military service Sept. 3, 1948, he has shown continuous desire to lead other young men and women along the same plan of life which he follows.

Capt. William T. Nix of Blakey, Ga., Co. M, commandant, commended his clerk by saying: "His devotion to duty and the understanding cooperative manner in which he has worked for his associates has won for him many long-lasting friends and has been a definite asset to the U. S. Army."

SP2 Forehand has served honorably on numerous posts in the states and in Germany and Korea.

In addition to his military duties, he is Scout Master of Troop Number 50 in Columbus, Ga. SP2 Forehand accepted this leadership position with "intentions of making a better citizen of future military, professional and — or business men."

An active member in the North Highland Assembly of God Church, he is now Sunday School Superintendent of the Junior Boys Group.

He and his wife, Louise, live at Trailer Village in Columbus, Ga.

CAGE COACH PROMOTED
Fred H. Beverly of Lawton, Mont., Ho & Hig Co 29th Inf. Regt., was promoted to first lieutenant last week. Lt. Beverly is player-coach of the 29th RCT basketball team which currently owns a six game winning streak.

WON'T BURN AWAY! New Auburn "Alloy No. 524" ELECTRODES

TC-3 BLACK and CHROME

- In normal engines, "Alloy No. 524" electrodes, a new alloy developed by Auburn, may be as much as double the efficient life of a set of spark plugs. They won't burn away under any engine or driving conditions.
- In engines where lead fouling has been a problem, you can now use a "hotter" spark plug (higher heat range) to cure the fouling condition with no more danger of burning away the electrodes.
- TRY A SET OF AUBURN PLUGS IN ANY ENGINE WHERE BURNING HAS BEEN A PROBLEM. PROVE TO YOURSELF THAT "ALLOY NO. 524" ELECTRODES WON'T BURN AWAY.

Pfc Awarded Trip Home

A 20-year-old Fort Benning private first class, who "had not planned on going home for Christmas" because he was "short of money," is the happy winner of a free trip home for the holidays.

PFC Ronald F. Vandenberg of Newark, N. J., assigned to the 27th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battery, 28th Regimental Command, is the lucky winner of a round-trip home given annually to a post soldier by Kierulff's Department store in Columbus, Ga.

His ticket was drawn Dec. 19 from more than 3,000 placed in boxes at the Armed Forces YMCA, 11th Street YMCA and Kierulff's. Vandenberg has been granted a 10-day leave and will fly to Newark Dec. 21.

The visit will be "a big surprise" for his parents, Vandenberg said. He informed them he would be home for the holidays and is planning to let them know his plans have changed, he added.

Vandenberg entered the Army in August, 1955, and was assigned to the 5th of 1st Brigade's fourth Battalion at Ft. Benning three months later. He completed basic training during a two-month tour last February and March at Ft. Chalfe, Ark., before joining the 7th Battery.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vandenberg of Newark.

NATIVITY SCENE... Captain Thomas McGrath, Catholic Chaplain, 28th RCT, painted this beautiful scene depicting the birth of the Christ Child. With no previous artistic experience, Chaplain McGrath was able to portray two realistic stained-glass windows which usually are seen in Catholic churches. The window painting is located in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel at the RCT chapel.

Review of Top Stories of '56

BY NORMAN SOLON
Changes in clothing, VIP visits, Olympic triumph, and a live network telecast highlighted an eventful 1956 at Ft. Benning.

Major Gen. Herbert B. Powell, former CG U. S. Army Pacific, succeeded Major Gen. George E. Lynch as the Infantry Center's commander and commanding officer of the Infantry School Aug. 21. Gen. Lynch, Third Infantry Division commander, assumed command upon the departure of Major Gen. Joseph H. Harper for the Philippines as chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group.

About 158 business, industrial and educational leaders from throughout the nation visited Ft. Benning in May and October for the 22nd and 23rd annual Joint Civilian Orientation Conference. The prominent civilian were shown the operation of the U. S. Infantry and its supporting arms in realistic "Painted" combat. The highlight of the visit was the famous "Mad Minute," a five-minute demonstration of all types of Infantry weapons.

The Army segment of Dave Garroway's "Wide, Wide World" television program originated live from Ft. Benning. Millions of Americans were witnesses to an actual airborne jump and an Infantry-tank team in attack.

Olympic Champions Ft. Benning soldiers brought America two gold medals in the Olympic Games in Australia in November and December. First Lt. Pete Rademacher of York, Pa., Wash., and SP4 Jim Rogers of Rocky Mount, N.C., won the heavy and light heavyweight boxing championships, respectively, against the finest amateur fighters in the world.

Sport achievements of the post were not limited to boxing. First Lt. Dale Haupt of Manitowoc, Wis., and PFC Dave Rogers of Warren, Ohio, members of the Infantry Center football team, and the 3d team, respectively, were selected to the All-Army gridiron squad.

The annual summer training program at Ft. Benning opened in full gear. Six hundred U. S. Military Academy cadets and 1,550 ROTC students underwent concentrated Infantry training. In addition, about 6,000 U. S. Army Reservists and National Guardsmen were on two weeks of active duty at Ft. Benning.

Top military chiefs from the United Kingdom and Canada visited Ft. Benning in October for the second annual Tripartite Conference. The Allied officers met with U. S. military leaders to compare Infantry doctrine and techniques. The conference is held in a different nation each year.

Thompson New Deputy CG Brig. Gen. James V. Thompson was assigned as deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center in October. The 26-year-old officer was the U. S. Army's youngest major general prior to his present assignment.

More than $138,500 was contributed to welfare agencies during the 1956 fiscal year by the Ft. Benning Community Activities Association, the organization under the leadership of Col. Henry M. Zeller of Dallas.

Opinions Have Differed On New Year's Beginning

All Saints Day. The Celts also celebrated Halloween, and their new year thus fell at the time when ghosts were said to visit the earth and give clues to the future.

Be sure the Romans came to England, New Year's Day was celebrated in that country as March 10. The Romans introduced the custom of greeting the new year Jan. 1. The Julian calendar of the Romans had minor flaws and in the 18th century many nations began replacing it with the more accurate Gregorian calendar.

England, however, waited about 300 years before adopting the Gregorian calendar in 1752. The switch was made also in this country, then an English colony.

This calendar change made it necessary to add 11 days to the birthdate of George Washington. He was born Feb. 11, 1732, under the old calendar, but the new calendar, moved it to the traditional Feb. 22, as both New Year's and FREE TRIP HOME... PFC Ronald F. Vandenberg, left, receives a round-trip home for Christmas leave as the winner in a drawing contest for Ft. Benning military personnel sponsored by the Armed Forces YMCA in Columbus, Ga., and a local department store. Center is Robert Young of the Armed Forces Y. Right is Walker Joines of the Columbus travel bureau. The ticket was presented Dec. 21. PFC Vandenberg's name was drawn from 1357 slips submitted.

87th Honors 14th Birthday

The Infantry Center's 87th Chemical Company (Smoke Gen) will observe its 14th anniversary on the unit's birthday at Ft. Benning. Commanded by Capt. Jack A. Brooker of Gadsden, Ala., the company includes 82 enlisted personnel and six officers. The first mission of the group is to conceal troops and installations from the enemy under smoke and to fight as Infantry troops when required.

The 87th Chemical Company was activated Dec. 29, 1942 at Camp Siebert, Ala., and served with distinction during World War II.

On its return to the U. S. in 1946 the company was activated. However, in January, 1952 it was reactivated at the Army Chemical Center, Ft. Belvoir, Md. The 87th was assigned to Ft. Benning in June, 1952.

310 RFA Enlistees Enrolled In TIC Courses During 1956

Approximately 310 Reserve Forces Act of 1956 enlistees enrolled in courses at the Infantry Center during 1956. The trainees were assigned primarily to the School Brigade or to the Third Army Area Food Service School. Prior to their assignment here the enlistees had received two months of basic camp training at various centers throughout the country.

Officers' wives Give Xmas Fete Christmas balls, Magnolia and spruce branches interspersed with red carnations and red lily petals graced a second table. The third featured a wooden Christmas tree with beribboned candy canes and red carnations.

After completing the course the trainees were graduated at a special RFA ceremony established for them by the Fourth Student Company. Then they were sent to The Infantry School's Communication Department for 4- to 6-week courses on general radio repair.

There are 39 enrolled in courses now. The enlistees were instructed for two months on how to cook Army style. The course included theory which gives the basic fundamentals of cooking, followed by instruction in meat-cutting and pastry baking. The students then went out to the field training area to learn how to cook in all types of weather.

After the theory classes the practical phase began. The students actually took shifts for cooking duty. They were assigned as trainee cooks to the messes operated by the Food Service School, including those at the School, at the Wac Company and at the Third Infantry Division in the Sand Hill area.

STC Graduation A few days before RFA enlistees are relieved from active duty they go to the Special Troops Command for a special graduation ceremony. The Reserve Forces Act of 1956 program permits volunteers to come into the Army for six months of active duty. The enlistees then return to their homes where they are assigned to reserves of National Guard units to participate in a ready reserve program for approximately eight years.

We don't have to dream up a flock of resolutions we know we won't keep when the new year is under way. That, everyone will probably agree, is largely a waste of time.

There is something constructive we can do at the start of the new 12-month span that won't strain our will power too much.

Why not look back over the 12 months we've just pulled through and check on whether we've been doing things as we should?

There are a few questions we could grill ourselves with:

Have we been wasting a lot of time that could have been spent better?

Have we been conducting ourselves in a military manner, both on and off duty?

Have we lived up to our obligations, whether there was danger of being caught "going-off" or not?

Will we keep on doing things the same old way, but hefting about trying to pull ourselves up by the bootstraps?

Then after asking we could see what we've got to do about it.

Two months after his graduation from the "Copter Helicopter Pilot's Course" and commission of Warrant Officer W-1, candidate Roth applied for OCS and was accepted. Candidate Roth's request for Infantry training instead of artillery was so he could study the Infantry Soldier's problems of supply and movement with the concept of using helicopters.

Candidate Roth was formerly stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., where he performed his duties as a helicopter pilot in the 4th Transportation Company helicopter. At the present time he is a member of the 5th Helicopter Squadron, 1st Infantry Center, and is currently flying during a visit to Ft. Stewart.

Retired RAs Get Chance To Join Ready Reserves

COMPILED FROM REFS WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF THE ARMY AND AIR FORCE OFFICIALS.

The changes being drafted by the Office of the Adjutant General also will permit retired RA's and AF's to draw full basic pay for periods of 12 months. Retired pay for periods of 12 months Reserve participation. Reserve pay will be 75 percent of retirement pay, the retired reservist would double his pay providing his services can be utilized by a unit.

Acceptance will depend on the reserve in order to prevent overloading in certain MOS's and grades, which might give promotion opportunities for other members of the organization.

However, most units are expected to benefit greatly from the experience and skill of retired Reserve and AF's technicians, the Army said.

Under present law, regular enlisted members who retire after 20 years, must remain in the Army Reserve until they are 60 years of age. National Guard service does not now fill this time.

The Army proposes to ask for a bill in the Department of Defense's 1957 legislative program to allow retirees to earn Reserve credits, which would be applied toward increased retirement pay. It would provide that they take part in Reserve activities, including the National Guard, for a minimum of three years.

Such a measure, as passed by Congress, it would be possible, for example, for a sergeant in a Reserve class at age 37, to be promoted to master sergeant in his 40th year, and receive sufficient reserve credits to make his monthly retirement pay equal to the Armed Forces' President Eisenhower has called upon the nation, including the Army and Air Force, to support CARE in its

On the Bookshelf

IT ALL STARTED WITH EVE by Richard Armour. (McGraw, 1956)

An account of a famous woman fatale from Eve to Mata Hari. These "hanging" biographies include preposterous accounts of Marie Antoinette and Catherine de Russia.

"THIS HALLOWED GROUND" by Bruce Catton. (Doubleday, 1956)

One might feel that everything had been said or written about the Civil War, but some how Catton has put new life into familiar tales, and added another dimension through the inclusion of thumbnail sketches of the great figures of the war. Unlike many histories, it is to be read for pleasure rather than as a textbook.

"LIFE OF THE PARTY," by Bennett Cerf. (Doubleday, 1956)

A new collection of jokes, anecdotes and limericks. The arrangement is by subject, such as: Babes in the Wood; Artists and Models; Tenshuin; The good old days; Guys and dollars; Love and Marriage; The pan-American conference; Unaccommodated as I am.

"WRECK OF THE MARY DEARB," by Ralph Hammond. (Crowell, 1956)

A mystery-shock and salvage yarn that reeks of the rocks and reefs of the English Channel between Jersey and St. Malo.

"EASTERN IN SICILY" by Herbert Kubly. (Simon, 1956)

A new book by the author of "The Last Days of Pompeii" and "The National Book Award in 1955." In it he tells of his visit to Sicily, dealing with its scenery, its legends, ancient and modern, and the way of its people.

An 'Old Hat' With New Year Look

ED. NOTE: Jim Clark is currently on leave, spending the Christmas holidays in the Ozark mountains of Arkansas. While he is gone, SP3 Sam Procopio, writer for the 29th RCT PIO Section will handle this space.

This is the day. The day when most of you are in bed and examines the past for his New Year's resolutions.

My old friends are: Dum de dum-dum! ... to treat the men of the 29th with more respect. That is: ... to let Arthur "Elvis Presley" Krumbach know how much I appreciate his gift-ride ... to never ask the mail clerk, PFC Billy May, for my letters before I read the list of names he posted ... to take it easy on SFC James L. Gregory during our ping-pong matches ... to encourage (or more) early morning phone calls for Roy "Sweetheart" Elhart ... to forget to see "Love Me Tender" ... to help SP3 the made it Tom Werrick forget Milwaukee and that time "Wal'N Next Year" ... to be more attentive to PFC Pete Olive and his short-timer's blues ... to show PFC Francis Quigley how to do morning reports ... to relax when my cramps arrive ... to forecast the future only if I see it ... to cross my fingers - for - to touch up to my sbow "Van" - 353 km Easter ... to dream out of MM or JM but DM ... to be home for Easter ... to bowl again mighty ... "Van" - 353 km Vanden ... to be present for the 29th School Brigade and 29th

13 Civilians Finish Class

Thirteen civilian supervisors at Ft. Benning have been presented certificates on completion of the Army's basic supervisory course.

"This training enabled us to do things well yourself but how to teach others to do them," says Gen. James V. Thompson, deputy commanding general of the Infantry Center, said in awarding the certificates.

Recipients from Columbus, Ga., include Stanford T. Cash and Clarence G. Skipper, both assigned to the U. S. Army Hospital; Roy H. Lefevre, Infantry Center Signal Section; Ove C. Rodgers, Jr., Infantry Center Adjutant General's Section Publications Branch; E. Lamford Infantry Center Ordnance Section; L. J. Ragan, Martha Ann Weatherly, and James M. Stinson, all assigned to the Infantry Center Engineer Section; John D. Holland, Adjutant General's Section and Accounting Section, and Mrs. Casey D. Reynolds, Infantry Center Finance and Accounting Section.

Certificates also were given to three Phenix City (Ala.) residents Mrs. Ronald L. South, Cynthia Ann Crum, and Command Board No. 1.

Production By Post Hams Is Completed

L. McNeely and CWO Judd of the 589th Signal Company demonstrated a quick conversion of a surplus radio receiver for use on the broadcast and amateur radio bands. Conversion took approximately 30 minutes and mimeographed instructions were given to each member. A large number of these surplus receivers were obtained by the 589th and were available for issue.

Colonel Elliot, Post Transportation Officer, demonstrated operation of his amateur radio converted surplus equipment. Visitors to the club were invited to ask members' aid in passing examinations for an amateur radio operator's license.

India-Born Student Now in OC Training

A twenty-two-year-old native of India is among the 120 men of OC Class Number 3, 52nd Company, attempting to earn the coveted bars of a Second Lieutenant at the Infantry Officer Candidate School here.

Officer Candidate S. A. U. Ezekiel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Ezekiel, was born and reared in Bombay, where his parents currently reside.

Lions Club Entertains 17 Officers

A graduate of St. Mary's High School in Bombay at the tender age of fourteen, he entered this country in July 1952 on a student's visa. Actually, he was not too enthusiastic about coming to this country, doing so at the request of his parents as a kind of "chaperone" for his older sister, who was also entering this country as a student.

Gained Citizenship - However, once he had been in this country a short time, he grew accustomed to the American way of life, and, barely one year ago, on Oct. 19, 1955, gained citizenship in this country.

Seventeen Allied officers attending Ft. Benning's Infantry School were guests of honor at the Columbus (Ga.) Lions Club's annual Christmas program last week.

They were Lt. Col. Juan A. Martinez of Argentina, Lt. Col. Aug. Pe of Burma, Major Miguel Fuente-Alba of Chile, Capt. Jaime Garzon of Colombia, Lt. L. Evangelos Sotriopoulos of Greece, 2nd Lt. Jean B. Billard of Haiti, Lt. Col. Ezzat Sami Fukusawa of Japan, Maj. Iah Nourate of Iran, Capt. Katsumi Fukusawa of Korea, Capt. Bjorn C. Odgaard of Norway, Major Milan Raschid of Pakistan, Lt. Col. Uday Chandra of Sri Lanka, Major Barthelemy Zakaria of Turkey, Colonel Mario Farjato Lobato of Venezuela, and Major Nguyen Ngoc Thien of Viet Nam.

The Allied officers were presented gifts by two Columbus firms. Following a talk by Charles O'Leary of Thompson, Ga., governor of District 15 in the past president of the Thompson-Louis Club, Jordan Choral Club presented Christmas gifts to the group.

His first recollections of this country included the impressive sight of the Statue of Liberty. He also stated that he was amazed at the engineering marvel of the Queens Midtown Tunnel in New York City, which is built under water, and the abundance of computerized machines, which "seemed to be everywhere I turned."

Athletically inclined, he participated in soccer, field hockey, and track while a student in India.

He is currently re-enrolled in the 52nd Company, attempting to earn the coveted bars of a Second Lieutenant at the Infantry Officer Candidate School here.

Variety Show Given by High School Group

The Footlighters, the Dramatic Club of Columbus High School, presented a groovy entertaining Variety Show last week at Service Club No. 2 (Sand Hill Area) for the enjoyment of the Trainees and Men of the 3rd Infantry Division.

Before a delighted audience of over 500 men the Footlighters kept the festivities going at a merry clip with Fantasies, Singing Quartettes, hilarious skits, Songs, Dances and a wonderful Jazz Combo that really brought down the house.

The highlight of a very pleasant evening came when Private Harold Davis, a Trainee with D Battery of the 5th Field Artillery Battalion, and from Philadelphia, began to play the trumpet with the Jazz Combo.

This "young man with a horn" made quite an impression with his wonderful tone and sharp sense of rhythm. Another outstanding performance was given by the Mistress of Ceremonies, Miss Cynthia Bonnell, of Columbus High School, who sang "O, Holy Night."

WINTER WONDERLAND . . . The Snowflakes, a singing quartette from Columbus High School, are preparing for their first number "Winter Wonderland" at Service Club No. 2 for the entertainment of the 3rd Division trainees. The girls are (l-r) Cynthia Benfield, Elizabeth Melcher, Charlotte Goodman and Sandra Ingram.

What Is An Officer Candidate?

BY RAMON PADILLA

Many of us have often wondered just what kind of life is in store for the officer candidate. What type of training he receives, just how severe is the discipline to which he is subjected, what is his actual status in the Army, what type of an individual he is, etc.

Most of these questions can be answered by official publications. However, what about the individual candidate himself? Here, we can offer nothing more than statistics.

What the average candidate would be, can be determined by observing and interviewing a group of candidates themselves. For this purpose, we have selected the outstanding platoon of the 52nd Company (OC); the third platoon. We find that we have 29 men assigned, one of which is hospitalized, leaving us with a total of 28 men to screen. In the screening process, we find ourselves mildly shocked.

Many Prior Servicesmen - Contrary to the average opinion of the Officer Candidate, which is shared by many of us, we find that the average candidate in this platoon has forty-seven months of federal service. Included here, we find a total of twelve years in the USMC, represented by OCS James E. Lybrand and Carlos Nelson, with live and seven years respectively. The long-possible level. Through further inquiry, we find the unit's highest level represented by Candidates Costos Philipides, Alfred L. Nardini, and Robert G. Oberbroeckling, each having attended college for four years. Among the universities attended, we find that even Yale University is listed to the credit of OCS Michael W. Panton.

Unattached Males - Deiving further into the law of averages, we find that eight of these twenty-eight prospective officers are married. Should you feel that civilian workers as to the basic safety rules of his organization, officials should hold discussions. A minimum of ten minutes a week should be devoted to safety discussions by every organization on the post, if they are to be effective. This, they said, would insure that the supervisor of each unit would become familiar with the individual safety problems of his HOSPITAL AWARD . . . Mrs. Herbert B. Powell, wife of Major Gen. Powell, commander of The Infantry Center, presents a plaque to corpsman Specialist Second Class Clifford Williams of Madisonville, Ky., on behalf of the patients of Ward A-1 at the U. S. Army Hospital at Ft. Benning. The award was made for the best decorated ward in the annual contest held at the hospital this year Dec. 20.

Ward A-1 Honored With 'Best Decorated' Plaque

Patients of Ward A-1 at the U. S. Army Hospital at Ft. Benning were awarded a plaque for the best decorated ward in the annual contest ending Dec. 20.

Mrs. Herbert B. Powell, wife of Major Gen. Powell, commander of The Infantry Center, made the award to the patients and the decorating committee. The plaque is inscribed "Winner of the Best Decorated Contest, U. S. Army Hospital, Ft. Benning, Ga." and will be presented to the winner each year.

The prize-winning theme was a Christmas card design, "Deck the Halls with Christmas Tidings." Red and green crepe streamers were strung across the ward with Christmas bells hanging from them. There was a mural of the reverse from Luke 2, at the other end was one of three angels with musical instruments.

The plaque is inscribed "Winner of the Best Decorated Contest, U. S. Army Hospital, Ft. Benning, Ga." and will be presented to the winner each year.

Safety Program Gets Boost From Council

A six point plan for improving the post safety program was discussed at the monthly meeting of The Infantry Center Safety Council.

Under the chairmanship of Brig. Gen. James V. Thompson, deputy Infantry Center commander, the group stressed the importance of unit safety officers, and their mission. The primary function of these officers at all levels is to keep their commanders informed of the accident situation council officials stated.

They also urged the formation of unit safety councils to study accident occurrences, and develop means with which these mishaps can be avoided in the future.

Should Use Check List - To assist the unit safety officer in making vehicle and area inspections, the council invited them to take advantage of the post check list. Figures show that many accidents have occurred recently due to hazards outlined in this list, military officials claim.

The posting of the more important safety rules of each post unit or activity was stressed by the safety group. A number of safety officers and civilian workers as to the basic safety rules of his organization, officials should hold discussions. A minimum of ten minutes a week should be devoted to safety discussions by every organization on the post, if they are to be effective. This, they said, would insure that the supervisor of each unit would become familiar with the individual safety problems of his

Jim Boyd Foregoes Pro Career In Boxing; Reups for 6 Years

BY TOM WIERZBICKI
Bayonet Sports Editor

The 1956 Olympic light heavyweight boxing champion, Ft. Benning's Jim Boyd of Rocky Mount, N. C., has decided to make the Army his permanent home.

The Inter-Service champion the last two consecutive years (1955-1956), Boyd re-enlisted Dec. 20 for six years. The 26-year-old North Carolinian was sworn in at the Infantry Center Re-enlistment Office by the assistant re-enlistment officer, 2nd Lt. Gordon F. White of Balowin, Iowa.

The newly crowned Olympic boxing champion has nine years of service. He entered the Army in July, 1947, at Ft. Bragg, N.C., 90 miles from his home, Rocky Mount.

Presently he is assigned to Headquarters Headquarters Headquarters Company, School Brigade, where he is a cook.

Asked if he had considered fighting professionally, Boyd commented, "No, I decided not to fight professionally for two reasons. First of all, I'm 26 now and it's a little late to further a career professionally. Secondly, I have nine years in the Army and I have too much to lose if I get out now."

The pride and joy of Rocky Mount will stay in the Army for a 20-year tour.

How does the family feel about Jim's decision?

"My mother doesn't like the boxing game for fear that I'll get hurt," he stated, "so she's pleased with my decision to forego a boxing career. My dad, on the other hand, is all for it. He's the one who's left the decision up to me."

Storybook Tale

Boyd's pugilistic success is a real storybook tale. He first won the national title during five years ago when he

Hazel Walker's Troupe Sated To Perform Against All-Stars

"They don't come any better" is a pet phrase sports writers everywhere employ in appraising Hazel Walker's sensational players, who've demonstrated their ability from coast to coast against many of the better men's teams in the nation.

They do, indeed, have to be the best to win a place on the Arkansas Travelers who meet the Regimental League All-Stars Sunday Jan. 13 at the Briant Wells Field House. Game time 8 p.m.

Miss Walker, of course, sets the pattern. Often called "Miss Basketball" she was selected on the All-American team 11 times a record which has never been topped. During the 14 years she spent in Amateur All-Star basketball she has won the National Championship 15 times and International 11 times. Her record of 49 out of 59 tries from the foul line has never been equalled in National Tournament history.

Rounding out the team are 7 players, whose ability and finesse in the guilest sport of basketball, is a constant source of amazement. They are the foremost performers of the day making up an outstanding team that has been acclaimed the best anywhere in the Nation, — Mississippi only. They include Frances "Goose" Gar-route from Van Buren, Arkansas — the 6 year Veteran of the team. Greatest professional player of all times, averages 40 and 45 points per game against best of opposition — plays pivot — excellent hook — right or left — and sensational one-handed "under the hood" push shot few men stars can execute. An All-American Selection on Professor Women's teams 5 years and displays a fancy ball handling exhibition during warm-up. Frances's Floor Manager of the team, 5'11", weighs 160 pounds and plays an aggressive type of ball.

Toby Rayford from Tyler, Texas, Mississippi — a package of Dynamite — being shortest member of the team, 5'8", weighs 150 — strong, alert and the most outstanding player on the Travelers team. Toby is playing her second season as an Arkansas Traveler — 4 years — southwest Mississippi Jr. College, Summit, Miss. 2 years and selected on the All-American Team the first National Tournament she ever attended in 1955 — just before turning pro with Hazel Walker.

Toby is one of the most outstanding players on the famed Arkansas Travelers Team.

Lurline Greer from Des Arc, Arkansas — standing an impressive 6 feet-11 inch — is playing her 2nd season as a pro. Lurline weighs 165, strong, aggressive and is rated as the greatest long shot artist in the game today and a wonderful rebounder. She made the All-American team in NAHU Basketball 8 consecutive years.

Captain and Most Valuable Player in U.S. 4 years — member of Hall of Fame in Women's basketball — played on 4 National Championship Teams, runner-up 3 years. Most outstanding player in the Pan-American Games played in Mexico City in 1953 and a member of the All-Star team from U.S. that played in the first World Tournament held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. She was the star of Nashville, Tennessee and Hones Hoster, Winston Salem, North Carolina for 2 years in Amateur Ball and was "Jump Shot" — is an All-American Performer on 14-Hardwood.

Clara Jo Nelson, from Putnamville, Arkansas is a newcomer this year to the professional ranks — played 4 years High School — all-star 16 years and an outstanding performer. She is 6'2", weighing 165 and only 17 years old. Having been brought up with several brothers, Clara Jo is strong, sturdy and plays the game like a "man". She has an excellent shot, very fast-foot and is beautiful — no doubt she will be a professional in a short time.

Did You Know

That a generation ago most medicines came in fluid form? Now between 80 and 90 per cent comes in pills, capsules and tablets.

That about eight out of 1,000 people throughout the world suffer from schizophrenia, regardless of their race or whether they are rich or poor, savage or civilized.

That Americans spend $24,000,000 a year on deodorants. (Remember the old days when all a guy had to do was chew a nickel package of Sea-Sea?)

That you better grab your toothbrush when you get ready for bed at night and get a signal and, when she finally answers, says, "I was sound asleep."

That you've had it when a girl can't sleep with you because it's raining, but sits through a sleep storm at a football game with you raving.

That both Napoleon Bonaparte and Josephine were fond of onion soup.

"In all the wars this country has fought, ultimate success has not achieved until the citizen soldiers were mobilized and effective units developed from their ranks."

Major Brown Back From IG School

Major Stephen L. Brown of Union City, N.J., returned to the 4th Battalion, 27th Infantry, Dec. 17 after attending the Inspector General School in Washington, D.C.

Major Brown is head of the complaints branch of The Infantry Center's Inspector General Section.

He attended a 16-day orientation course conducted by members of the Department of Army Inspector General team in Washington. The course of instruction covers inspection, investigation, and complaints.

The sessions are unenvied and illustrated with humorous skits and plays on preparation.

TOM WIERZBICKI Boyd's Decision Raises Eyebrows

Reporters invariably find themselves interviewing personalities in some of the oddest places... a shower room after the game, a moving bus coming back from a road trip, and even a coffee shop. However, getting an interview from an Olympic boxing champion in a re-enlistment office tops them all.

The celebrity involved was light heavyweight Jimmy Boyd, a recent gold medal winner in the Olympic Games just completed Dec. 8. The Rocky Mount flash was taking that "big" step... a six year re-enlistment.

It had been almost three months since I had last seen Boyd. In that short time he had proceeded to win the All-Army and Inter-Service titles along with gaining a berth on the United States Olympic team. Then the pinnacle of success — an Olympic boxing title.

Still, the 26-year-old North Carolinian hadn't changed a bit. In fact, if there was any noticeable change it was in Jimmy's seriousness. Maybe, it was the environment, for he seemed to view every question with a vein of serious thought.

The obvious question posed to Boyd was "why the re-up decision?" He admitted that he considered fighting professional. However, his age was a major factor for not going pro.

Then another reason was that he had just completed his ninth year in the Army. It's a big decision to just throw away nine years of your life for a fling at a boxing career.

I don't have an iota of a doubt that Boyd could go all the way as a professional pugilist. His capabilities are unsurmountable.

But it was Jim's decision. He, and only he, knows who is best for himself. Knowing Boyd as a fighter and a real friend, I'm sure that he made the right decision.

Treated Like Kings

After getting the preliminaries out of the way, the Rocky Mount flash expounded on his glorious trip to Melbourne, Australia. And glorious it was for as Boyd stated "We were treated like kings from the day we got there to the day we left."

His toughest fight in Melbourne? "All three of them," he added. But surely, the toughest of all was the one that won him the gold medal. Boyd tangled with Romania's Georgehe Negrea in a real slugfest from start to finish.

Boyd floored Negrea four times and weathered a heavy attack himself by the Romanian in the second round. Two knockdowns in the second round along with another in the final round gained the decision for Boyd.

After winning his gold medal, Jimmy compared medals with the Infantry Center's other Olympic champion, "Punching Pete" Rademacher.

"Our boxing didn't stop with the Olympics," added Boyd, "two days after the boxing finals a group of us went to Wangretta, Australia, located about 150 miles from Melbourne, to fight an exhibition for the Boys Club. Pete and I fought each other in one bout," he added.

"Before you ask me," Jim smiling added, "there was no decision. Everyone has asked me that. It was just a friendly sparring session."

Yes, Ft. Benning can really be proud of SP2 Jim Boyd. For not only is he tops in the amateur boxing field, but he also is tops as a soldier.

Bowl Games Predictions?

Throughout this past gridiron season I have never dwelt in picking football winners from week to week. The reason is because my guess, and I do mean guess, is as good as yours... However, the Bowl games are different because here is where we really go out on the limb. So here goes...

Now, I may be wrong, but I like... Iowa over Oregon State by seven points (Lt. Brown of TSB is to hate me), Tennessee over Baylor by 14, Texas Christian over Syracuse by seven, Colorado over Clemson by three; and listen close... Pittsburgh over Georgia Tech by two!

See 'em next year...

TIC Chapel Choir Gives Xmas Show

BY JULIA BRUNKE

Fifty-three voices of the Infantry Center Chapel Choir blended together in a musical expression of the Christmas season at 8 p.m. in the Main Post Chapel Dec. 18.

Approximately 200 people heard the group present an inspiring and melodious concert of Christmas selections.

Following the prelude, "Carol Rhapody," the audience joined voices to sing "The First Noel."

Following the program was a part of Moore's "Twas the Night Before Christmas." The tenor and delicate tones included were Blowers, Raymond W. Kennedy of Stratford, Conn., and Miss Caldwell's "Carols of the Little King," the Ukrainian "Carols of the Bells" and Fischer's German melody, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones."

Three anthems, "O Nightingale, Awake," "Lo, How a Rose a'er Blooming," and "And the Glory of the Lord," portion of the concert.

The audience and choir then joined in singing the carols, "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night."

Soloist of the concert was SP2 George Bryant of Brooklyn, N.Y., who presented the solo part of Moore's "Twas the Night Before Christmas." The recitatives were spoken by Blowers, Raymond W. Kennedy of Stratford, Conn., and Miss Caldwell's "Carols of the Little King," the Ukrainian "Carols of the Bells" and Fischer's German melody, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones."

Silver wings, emblem of the U. S. Airborne Infantry soldier, were presented to 196 graduates of The Infantry School's basic airborne course at Fort Benning last week.

The presentations were made at Lawson Army Air Field with Brig. Gen. Robert L. Cook, assistant commander of The Infantry School as commencement speaker. Officers and enlisted men from the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps, as well as two Allied countries completed the three week course.

Gen. Cook told the graduates that they have every right to be proud of their achievement.

"Although the course came easy for a few students," he said, "completing it entailed the maximum intestinal fortitude and pride in duty from every candidate."

"I wish all of you the best of luck in your future endeavors as members of one of America's finest combat organizations, the U. S. Airborne Infantry, Gen. Cook added.

Two enlisted men were designated honor graduates of the class. Marine Corps M-Sgt. Neal D. King of Canastota, N.Y., and Sgt. John E. Quinn of Baldwin, N.Y., earned the honor for outstanding ability and initiative during the course.

Lt. Col. Aung Pe and Lt. Chin Maung Shwe of Burma and Pakistan Army Capt. Mohammad Imtiaz Ali received their airborne wings with the class.

JERRY ARMSTRONG South Provides Better Hunting

Good news from Third Army headquarters recently gave no-tice to hunters in southeastern states that more and better hunting is in store thanks to the Army.

Third Army has just completed its most successful year in a six-year-old program designed to conserve woodlands and wild life on military reservations.

These conservation practices have resulted in a steady increase of small game on military reservations located in the seven-state Third Army area. States within the area include Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Tennessee.

Throughout the different locales, bag records reveal game is becoming more abundant each year where the conservation practices of the military are used, as they are on all military reservations.

Increase in Game

Due to this rapid increase in game, the excess spills into adjoining areas, thereby greatly boosting the wildlife in these surrounding sections.

This is the reason southeastern numbers are increasing so more beautiful hunting year this season.

At Fort Campbell, Ky., recent studies have been conducted with cooperation from the Kentucky Fish and Game Commission during hunting seasons. These studies have shown a decided and immediate effect of management with the number of small game found.

Such game as rabbit, quail, quail, quail, and turkeys are thriving and will furnish excellent hunting to a great many.

Cooper is shown rolling out dough for hot rolls. He will return to his unit, Battery B, Ninth Field Artillery, Third Infantry Division.

Fulbright Award Winner Now in Basic Training

Private George Jurgens, who recently became basic trainee in the 3rd Div., exemplifies the diversity of backgrounds of many of the new trainees.

In the course of four years he became President of the Debate Club, City Editor of the Columbia Daily Spectator, and a co-founder of the Political Assembly. He also was elected upon graduation to Phi Beta Kappa.

In the summer of 1953, after his graduation from Columbia University, he was awarded a scholarship to attend one hour weeks at the University of Oxford.

Private Jurgens was known as "Modern Greats". Each of the students must study Philosophy, Politics and Economics, and in his last specialize in one of the three. Private Jurgens chose politics, which included European History and Political Institutions, and International Relations.

The system of instruction differed between the United States and Oxford. At Oxford no compulsory classes (there were lectures provided if they were to attend). The student had a personal tutor for each subject with whom he would meet for at least one hour a week.

Private Jurgens was back in the United States only a little over a week when he was invited to become a member of the Armed Forces. When asked what he thought of Army life, his response was, "It's a far different feeling than the one I got at Oxford, but it very reason."

Unit Honors Anniversary

The 54th Medical Group, designated as a Major Component of Ft. Benning in January of last year, celebrated its 10th anniversary on the 16th of December. In addition to supplying personnel for the Ft. Benning USAH wards, the 54th furnishes medical coverage for the Infantry School problems and the ranger schools at Dahlonega, Ga. and Eglin, Fla.

The Christmas party for the children held at the 54th was a success, complete with a Santa Claus and organ music by the talented first sergeant of the 24th Evac Hosp., M-Sgt. Nelson A. Graham. Special thanks go to the 54th for their contribution to the Christmas party. A few men of the 54th have decided to start the new year off by reuniting their families. Corporal Russ Griffin of the 24th Evac Hosp., who is on his way to the Far East, will be followed by Sgt. Howard McIntyre and Sgt. Boyd Robertson of the 54th (Med Co) (Sp3) Spartan who plan to join Capt. Griffin in the East; and Pfc Hector Guzman also one of the who would like to see Europe in the spring.

Several men have recently been assigned to Headquarters Detachment of the 54th Med Co. Six Raymond Posters in the unit and one of the new 1&E NCO; Pfc Hubert Hayes will be bringing us our Christmas Nuts. Tracy is busy in the Message Center; and Pvt. Paul Moser has been assigned to the 1st section.

Sgt. Norman Ruth, operations sergeant for the 24th Med Co, recently graduated from CBH School with the honor of having made the highest grade in his class. The honor of Soldier of the Month for November went to Sp3 Rudolph Sportbeck, company clerk of the 69th Med Co (Amb) (Sp3) Spartan who was the fifth man from the 69th Med Co to be chosen Soldier of the Month in his year.

Sgt. Andrew Matiewas and Sp3 Willie Hackson of the 59th Amb Co (Amb) Sp3 were discharged this week.

You Can't See the difference . . .
but these electrodes

WON'T BURN AWAY!

New Auburn "Alloy No. 524"

ELECTRODES

- In normal engines, "Alloy No. 524" electrodes, a new alloy developed by Auburn, may as much as double the efficient life of a set of spark plugs. They won't burn away under any engine or driving conditions.
- In engines where lead fouling has been a problem, you can now use a "hotter" spark plug (higher heat range) to cure the fouling condition with no more danger of burning away the electrodes.
- TRY A SET OF AUBURN PLUGS IN ANY ENGINE WHERE BURNING HAS BEEN A PROBLEM. PROVE TO YOURSELF THAT "ALLOY NO. 524" ELECTRODES WON'T BURN AWAY.

INSTANTLY ENDS OIL BURNING!

MOTOR CURE is a pure petroleum base sealant — fills in, plates, seals and tightens all internal moving parts in your engine. With MOTOR CURE in your oil, you lighten and cool your rings — all carbon by-pass the rings and oil consumption is cut tremendously.

RAISES COMPRESSION!

LOOK AT THE RESULTS OF THIS TEST:

CYLINDER NO.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
BEFORE MOTOR CURE TREATMENT	75	79	70	73	75	69	69	85
AFTER MOTOR CURE TREATMENT	110	105	117	109	113	118	118	119

The above test was made recently by a world famous Indianapolis 500 mile race winner (name on request) on a 1947 Buick — impartially and completely independent of any influence by Motor Cure.

INCREASES GAS MILEAGE!

Increases oil pressure! Quits noisy motor! Assures fast starts! Will not oxidize! Absolutely safe! Adds MOTOR CURE — new — test the new power and pep of your engine!
