Down 7-0 with only two singles to their credit in the fourth inning boarder Abe McCoy drilled a two-run shot to leftfield to put USAIB on the scoreboard. Then within the span of seven pitches home runs exploded off the bats of Steve Joyal, "Chuck" Saudade, and Mike Lella to slash the 205th lead to 7-5.

205th went down scoreless in the bottom of the inning. In the fifth inning a sacrifice fly by Doug Wiener brought the sixth Board run across. Then, McCoy connected for his second homer of the game and ninth of the season to the ecstatic screams of his teammates and fans to tie the game. The same inning found Saudade singling to right driving in the lead run. The charged up Boarders stormed onto the field for the bottom of the inning and again the 205th was stopped cold. In the top of the sixth inning aggressive base-running by Gary Mercer, Bob Amon and Doug Wiener resulted in three more runs.

Heads-up defensive work by the Boarders led to the 205th stranding runners on second and third base, without scoring, in the bottom of the sixth frame.

USAIB added a run in the seventh and shut out the 205th again to gain the victory, thereby averaging the Board's two early-season defeats to the 205th.

The victory was the Boarder's eighth straight and tenth in a dozen decisions. USAIB is now on top in the Aviation League standing and six games away from their second consecutive championship.

Barracuda girls take relays

The Fort Benning Barracudas 10 and under girls, won both relays and two first places in an invitational meet held at Youth Activities Center pool Saturday.

Grace Kelly, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James J. Kelly, scored first place in the 200 yard freestyle event in "A" competition and Jennifer Warren, daughter of Mrs. W. N. Warren, won first place in backstroke in "B" competition.

Amy Allen of DeKalb Parks and Recreation team scooped three first places in the same age group.

In the 3 and under competition for girls, Debbie Ginnam of the Barracudas won the 50 yard backstroke and Karen Anderson of the Columbus "Y" won the breaststroke.

In the 3 and under boys competition, Stuart Wilson of the Columbus "Y" Aquatic Club won all five events in the "B" competition.

The 10 and under boys competition was dominated by the DeKalb Parks and Recreation team which scored 12 wins, including two relays.

Other swimmers came from Warner Robins, the Century Club Comets of Atlanta, and from Decatur.

"I'm ahead in the Army."

Sergeant Mike Kelly may not get rich in the Army but he's not doing badly.

"I like the way the Army is coming up with the money situation. The bonus, definitely. I got $10,000 and 30 days for six years. Picture me with that much money.

"I wanted to do something different. And the Army said okay. So I picked radio mechanic and got it.

"There's the other benefits too. Free medical care. Dental work. Any legal assistance.

"And I have lots of time to do the things I want."

Sergeant Kelly figures the Army offers just about all the things a man needs.

Plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction. With all the hundreds of jobs in the Army there's bound to be a dozen or so that'll give you the kind of self-fulfillment you're looking for.

Money. You'd have to make almost twice as much as a civilian to duplicate what you get in Army pay and benefits. And the checks keep coming. Steady. Whether you're sick or well.

With regular promotions and bonuses to look forward to. And you also have something taking care of everyday things. Like housing. Dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities that add up to the good life.

Talk to him about it. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Kelly has good reasons for staying in.

ROTC Rangers at Camp Merrill

ROTC Ranger Class 501-72 is now training at Camp Frank D. Merrill, the mountain Ranger Camp.

The Ranger students have split into two groups working on different parts of the mountain training, and as soon as the different tasks are completed, the two groups will exchange tasks and take the other training.

One of the groups is working on advanced climbing techniques at Yonah Mountain. This training includes balanced climbing, the over-hang rappel, tension and party climbing and culminating with a tactical, fixed-rope and night rappel.

Yonah Mountain is one of the highest peaks in the state of Georgia, with many steep cliffs that lend themselves for this type of training.

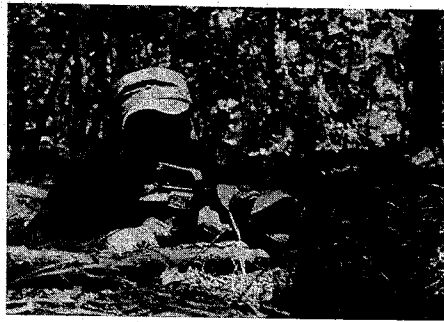

The other group is involved in long-range reconnaissance-type patrolling to penetrate miles behind enemy lines in five and six-man groups. Several of the small groups have been inserted by parachutes, and others have been taken in by helicopters.

After completing the two segments of training, the two groups will be extracted from their training sites for a summary at Camp Merrill and for preparation for the up-

Retirement orientation to be given next week

An orientation for personnel contemplating retirement will be held at 9 a.m. July 28 in Infantry Hall Classroom 7 at Fort Benning.

All personnel with over 18 years of active federal service are invited to attend with their spouse. The session will provide information on retirement rights and benefits and explain how persons will prepare for a second career. Representatives from the

400 ROTC cadets take rugged Ranger training

Approximately 400 college Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) cadets are now engaged in Fort Benning Ranger Training.

The first increment of these cadets started in June and are now in northern Georgia at Camp Frank D. Merrill, taking the mountain phase of the training.

After the completion of this phase, they will move to the Florida Ranger Camp at Eglin Air Force Base to study and participate in automobile and water operations. The airborne qualified members of the class will jump into the camp during one of the operations.

The second increment of the cadets is now completing the Fort Benning phase of training and will move as their predecessors to Camp Merrill, then to Florida Ranger Camp where the airborne qualified cadets will jump into one of the operations.

The Ranger training is a voluntary course which takes nine strenuous weeks

Gen. Richardson's principal duty at Ft. Leonard Wood had been the direct supervision of the training program there. He had been very active in implementing the new performance-oriented (hard-core) training at the fort for the past five months.

He has been active in the Association of the U.S. Army. A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, Gen. Richardson has completed more than 19 years of Army service.

Retire after June 30? It could mean increased income

With the first wave of an anticipated 40,000-plus retirement claims already being processed, the Civil Service Commission has set up special operating procedures and temporarily bolstered its staff to handle the massive case-load.

Federal employees who retired on or before June 30 are eligible to receive a 4.8 per cent cost of living increase. Normally, about 5,000 Federal employees retire each month and claims are fully processed in 30 to 60 days. Even with the huge bulge, Commission officials expect to beat that time-frame in getting checks going to applicants through the use of special payments. Final adjudication of all claims will take somewhat longer.

West Point Cadet is Columbian native

BY RICK WASSER
Of the many West Point Cadets at Fort Benning for Army Orientation Training, at least one of them is already well oriented with Fort Benning and the Columbus Area.

Cadet Ronald H. Miller is a platoon leader with a 1st Lt. (MG) rank in the 1st (PATRIOTS) during his training. Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Colvo Miller of 2317 Emerald St., Columbus, is a graduate of Baker High School and went one year to North Georgia College before entering the military academy.

Miller arrived at Ft. Benning on June 10th and went through Airborne training from June 12 through June 20. On June 29 he was assigned to the 1-88th and, according to Miller, "I was informed by the battalion commander that he was making me a platoon leader."

retirement deductions are maintained by his employing agency. They are forwarded to the Commission, with his retirement application, after the agency pays his final salary — usually 20 to 30 days after the date of retirement.

The first thing the Commission does when it receives a retirement claim is to notify the applicant of its receipt and of the claim number assigned to him. At the same time, the Commission notifies the health insurance carrier that the employee has shifted to the retirement rolls and coverage is maintained.

Next, the Commission obtains all records of prior Federal employment from its records center. At the same time, it is ready for special payment, which consists of issuing a check based on a conservative estimate of the number of months and the claim number assigned, the redreem should ask the personnel office of the agency in which he worked to check the agency payroll center to see if the claim has been forwarded to the Commission. If it has, he should request that the agency furnish him the number and date of the Register of Separations and Transfers used to transmit the claim to the Commission.

This information will enable the Commission to locate the claim quickly. Retirement queries can be made by writing the Commission at 1900 S. St., N.W., Washington, D. C. 20415, or by calling (AC 202) 633-5550. Help can also be obtained by contacting Commission regional and area offices around the country.

Chevrolet sedans and hardtops are the highest on the list and in major cities, the average life expectancy of unattended Corvettes on the street is approximately 30 minutes. Lincolns, Cadillacs and, to some degree, the Chevrolet Camaro are relatively conspicuous in appearance and are usually sold far from where they are stolen. Some wind up in Mexico and other Latin American countries and some in Canada.

Every 34 seconds a car is stolen; yours may be next

Every 34 seconds in the United States a car is stolen. In numbers alone, that's one out of every 99 registered cars in this country was stolen in 1971.

Auto theft, the nation's most costly crime involving property, is one of the biggest in the United States. It has become a refined to the point that prospective "customers" order a desired make, model and color which is then stolen, repainted and delivered — repainted and delivered — with forged title papers and with forged motor vehicle identification numbers changed or altered. The process often takes less than 24 hours.

Aviators hold gala celebration
On the evening of June 24, the aviators of Fort Benning and their ladies celebrated the 30th Anniversary of Army Aviation at the second annual Aviation Ball, held in the Main Ball Room of the Officers Club.

Food, drinks, and dancing were available throughout the evening in the Main Ball Room, the Fountain Room, the Benning Room, and the Corridor Room. The Benning Room served double duty as the "War Stories Corner," where veteran aviators could gather and attempt to outdo each other with their tales of daring.

There were continuous showings of Aviation Funy Movies in the Normandy Room. The highlight of the evening was the paper airplane flying contest, held in the Mirror Room. The winner of the women's division was Mary D. Farmer, wife of Col. Charles Farmer of the 121st Avn. Co., Avn. Cmd. The winner of the men's division was Lt. Col. Kokosinski of the Infantry Board. Each of the winners received an engraved plaque to commemorate their victory.

require sophisticated mechanical ingenuity or stealth. The thief simply gets in the car and drives away, because it has been left unlocked. In half of these cases, the owner has cooperated in the theft by leaving the keys in the car.

Authorities across the country agree that one per cent of all cars stolen for profit or gain. If a car is stolen because of "malicious mischief" — the chances of recovery with minimal damage are fairly good. If the car is stolen by a professional or an "order taking" thief ring — which is becoming increasingly frequent — the chances of seeing it again are slim.

New plane cruises faster than a speeding bullet

The spectacular flight of the supersonic aircraft on April 26, 1972 was revealed for the first time when the Air Force announced that it had earned the Mackey Trophy for the crew, Lt. Colonel Thomas B. Estes of Eubank, Kentucky and Dewain C. Vick of Leona, Ohio. Estes, the aircraft commander and Vick, the reconnaissance wing at Beale Air Force Base, California where the flight originated.

The citation accompanying the trophy notes that "This flight established new and exceptional records for duration and total distance covered, and proved the extended super-donic reconnaissance capability of the SR-71, by adding significantly to the security of the United States."

197th stenographer; brigade's one of a kind

By WILLIAM BALA
Sp4 Gary S. Briggs, HHC 197th Inf. Bde., is the only soldier in the brigade who holds the Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) 7120, military stenographer.

Briggs enlisted in the service June 28, 1970 and became a military stenographer. To become a stenographer he had to attend the technical school for stenographer training at Fort Benjamina Harrison, Ind., from which he graduated.

"It was a difficult course to complete," stated Briggs. "In order to graduate a student has to take English courses to be able to spell words correctly and prevent grammatical errors. Shortland is a must at the school to be able to write abbreviations of words."

Being the only stenographer in the Briggs Brigade works directly for the Brigade Commander, Col. Ed. L. Kennedy. He is on hand at all staff conferences to take, according to the NATB, is a simple one — lock your car and pocket the keys anytime you have your car.

Civil Affairs

Reservists here for summer training

"Seal the Victory" is the motto of Civil Affairs units, eight of which have come to Fort Benning for their Reserve summer training. Approximately 1,000 Army Civil Affairs Reservists from eight Civil Affairs units throughout the southeastern U.S. are involved in the summer training.

The units that are at Fort Benning are HHQ, 360th Civil Affairs Area B from Columbia, S. C.; HHQ, 361st Civil Affairs Area B from Pensacola, Fla.; 318th Civil Affairs Group from Chamblee, Ga.; 403rd Civil Affairs Group from Anniston, Ala.; 422nd Civil Affairs Co. from Greensboro, N.C.; 478th Civil Affairs Co. from Miami, Fla.; 488th Civil Affairs Co. from Knoxville, Tenn.; and the 492nd Civil Affairs Co. from Jackson, Miss.

The objective of warfare is to defeat the enemy, which is accomplished by both the combat arms and technical services of the Army. It is in the latter that Civil Affairs personnel operate to provide important assistance in military operations.

Civil Affairs units comprise some of the most unique organizations in the Army as they work primarily with the civilian populations where the Army is conducting military operations. They establish and maintain the normal functions of societies during and after military operations as well as assisting the tactical military commander in the accomplishment of his mission.

Civil Affairs units have the task of controlling civilians, refugees and displaced persons within a combat area, rebuilding the conquered or liberated land, and the even greater task of making friends of the citizens with whom the Army must then work and live.

Post joins community in sympathy for local youth

The tri-community area of Fort Benning, Columbus, and Phenix City has joined hands in sympathy for a needy Columbus youth, Danny Gilbert, who recently underwent heart surgery will be given a "Day" by the Columbus Astros Baseball Team in an effort to raise money for the stricken boy.

Fort Benning is joining in the campaign by making tickets available to personnel on post through Special services, building No. 394. Danny received arterial surgery last Wednesday in an intricate operation performed at the Columbus Medical Center.

In order to raise the needed funds, the Columbus Astros Baseball Team have dedicated their August 6 game to Danny, Eighty per cent of the funds received from the first 2,000 tickets sold will be put into the fund. After the initial 2,000 tickets, all proceeds from ticket sales will be put in the fund.

"We only want to pay our expenses," Astro business manager Jim Koger said. "We are proud that Fort Benning and Columbus citizens are joining hands to raise money for this child."

This campaign originally started with members of the Chase Memorial Baptist Church trying to find a way to provide funds for Danny's mother and her three children as there is no father in the family. According to a spokesman at the church, "the family defundary is in the needy category."

Columbus Mayor J. R. Allen kicked off the effort by making a personal donation. When the Columbus Astros were contacted, they immediately dedicated the August 6 game with Asheville, N.C., to Danny.

TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE TRANSPORTATION CORPS

The officers and soldiers of Fort Benning join in extending their warmest wishes to the men and women of the U. S. Army Transportation Corps on the occasion of your 30th birthday.

In a rapidly changing modern world, the Transportation Corps has been a critical factor in the overwhelming success of the U.S. Army. As a result, the men and women of the Corps have been recognized as the backbone of the Army. In the months of service, you have brought and contributed professional skills and talents to the Army. You are the men and women of the world today.

We wish you continued success and express our gratitude for your continuing support.

Chaplains to fete school teachers

An Ecumenical Tea on Aug. 26, hosted by the Chaplain Division and religious-oriented women's groups, will welcome new teachers to Fort Benning's Dependent School System. The U. S. Army Infantry Center Chaplain, Chaplains (Lt. Col.) Sterling A. Webber, and his wife, Anne, will greet new teachers, "old-timers," parents, Dependent School Staff, Board of Education officials, and PTA leaders this Sunday from 3 until 5 P.M. at The Infantry Center Chapel Annex on Sigourney Road, Main Post. Almost 200 teachers from the Fort Benning Dependent School System. Marguerite Waldrop, Director of Religious Education, said, "We hope to chapel activities available to them, according to Mrs. post religious program."

TO OUR FRIENDS & CUSTOMERS OF FT. BENNING:
For eight years we served our customers thru the Post Exchange at Ft. Benning with fast and accurate optical service. We are no longer located on the post. Benning drivers help kids

If you've been worried lately while driving in downtown Columbus because large, green trucks have been taking up what seems to be the entire street, then calm your fears. These large ten-ton Army trucks are not being requisitioned for riot control — they are here for the good of Columbus, for the people of Columbus.

Staff Sgt. Leonard Cook has been in charge of about six drivers who help out the local kids in various clean-up projects. Sgt. Cook and his men have helped pick up wrecked cars and other large unworkable vehicles around the 12th Avenue area.

At Flat Rock Park in Columbus, these men have done much to improve an already impressive resort area. These projects have been started and are continuing to be conclusive to improving the relationship between the civilian and military communities in Columbus.

There has been a communal bond established as a result of constant cooperation on both sides. Staff Sgt. Cook and his crew are members of the Equipment Platoon, Company A, 43d Engineer Battalion (Construction).

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Bill King

Force chicken liver with a fork several times before broiling to cut down on the "popping."

Try a dessert-drink refresher: after a cook-out mix cold half and half with ginger ale and float a scoop of lemon or lime sherbet on top.

Boke potatoes hot-way, then slice each net grille through to the bottom. Place on foil squares, drizzle with melted margarine, season with garlic oil, wrap and finish baking.

Use the mold for a gelatine dessert or salad with plastic wrap. Later, just turn the mold out on a plate, lift it off and polynary the plastic.

Superherb Story: A Maine housewife recently cracked open a jumbo egg and discovered a smaller egg inside.

While we can't promise anything so spectacular, we will think you'll be delightfully surprised at the food discoveries awaiting you at KING'S PIZZA ON CALL.

Sound-off Is the death penalty a deterrent to crime?

Supreme Court rules live and let live

Pfc. John Beasley says "I don't think it stops crime. People have psychological problems. A bad environment hurts too. One thing that causes crime is a lack of social activities for people to participate in. An increase in community activities might be part of the solution. Also, find out people's problems and attack those." Beasley is with the 9th Company, TSB.

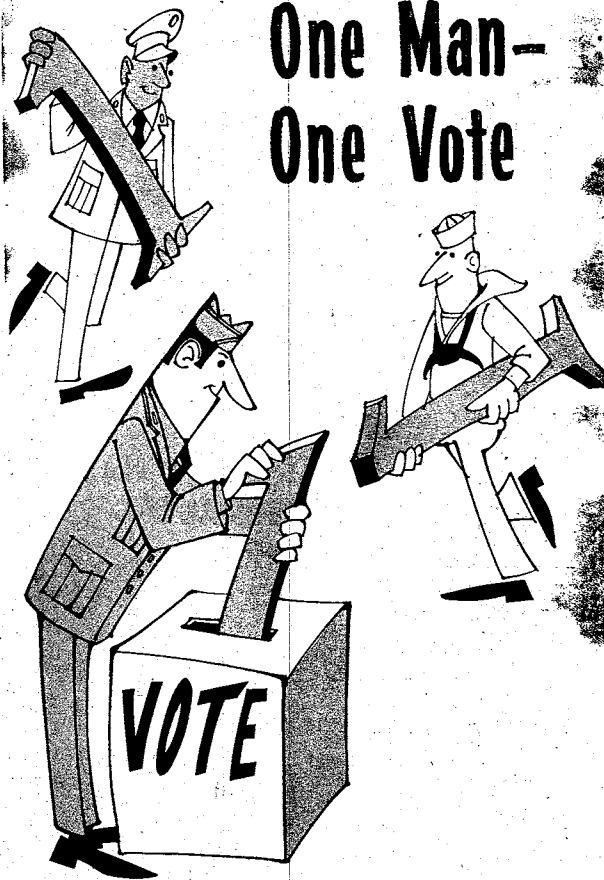

PFC David Lyle, 3rd Ranger Company, says "I think the death penalty is cruel but necessary in some cases. I can't see why people are against it. It's like paying for debts. I don't really know whether it stops crime or not." PFC James Reed says "I think not. One main reason is that if they plan to do it, it's already set in their heads. Just like a GI knowing how much trouble he'll get for going AWOL will go anyway. There's not really anything that will stop criminals if they intend to do something." Reed is in Co. D, 1st Command.

PFC David Bailey says, "I don't think it really makes any difference if you're going to stop people from committing crimes, you have to know why they're doing it first. Then solve the problem of why the crime is committed. That'll stop crime better than the death penalty." Bailey is in the 49th airborne Company.

"It deters crime because of the fear of death and the fear of the unknown," says PFC Kevin Mahoney of the 128th MP Company. He continues, "I don't believe it's as strong a deterrent as, say, mandatory life imprisonment. I don't mean rehabilitation merely punishment. Murder is, and should be, life imprisonment. For rape, it should be a rehabilitation type offense. In California's Sacramento County, they use group homes. These homes are totally based on rehabilitation — no 56 hours, etc. Our society has carried over the idea of 'cutting off an ear.' The old Puritan idea is doing and rehabilitation should be the new way."

One Man—One Vote

Military voting, relatively new

Seventy-five per cent of the Army's soldiers are between the ages of 18 and 24. Almost all of them are eligible to vote for the first time this year.

At Fort Benning, more than half of the assigned personnel are between the ages of 18 and 23. That means 10,000 or more are potential first time voters.

In addition, many dependents will be voting for the first time.

Voting by the military is a relatively new practice. Although several states permitted their soldiers to vote by absentee ballots in 1864, the practice was not common and died with that election. The first soldier voting law was passed during World War II and permitted soldiers to vote for federal offices without registering.

In 1965, the Federal Voting Assistance Act standardized the absentee voting procedures for soldiers but few take advantage of the opportunity. In 1968, only 40 per cent of eligible military voters actually cast ballots.

Why do soldiers not vote? It seems to be a good, old-fashioned case of laziness. For the soldier to vote, he must go out and get the federal postcard application. Then he has to fill it out and mail it to the proper election official in his home state. After that, he receives an absentee ballot to fill out and return.

This year more emphasis than ever before is placed on the soldier voting program. In addition to a post voting officer (Maj. William Davis, AG) there are voting counselors in each unit. Voting registration booths will be operated by several post organizations.

Because votes are counted one by one, yours can make a difference. Recent elections have seen several mayors, town councilmen, and state legislators elected by one vote.

If your opinion is to count, it must be expressed through the vote. (ES)

Automobile expenses can be trimmed at post facilities

Owning and operating the old jalopy can be very expensive, as any car owner who has paid for a tune-up can attest to.

Repairs and normal servicing costs make up much of the average soldier's monthly expenses. If you are one of the following categories: authorized new car here are a few tips to help keep a few extra greenbacks in your bank account.

Finding a Service Agency

The first step is finding a reputable service agency to perform those necessary repairs and services your car will need.

The best way to select a service agency is to do so the same as you would when you select a new car. Is the establishment reputable? Reliable? Are parts for your automobile readily available? These are a few questions that should be in your mind when you set out.

It is advisable to select your service agency from one of the following categories: Authorized new car dealers, service stations and garages displaying insurance emblems, independent garages and specialized shops.

There are many experienced and reliable mechanics in the Columbus-Phenix City area. Who and where these people are located sometimes presents a problem to the person unfamiliar with the local area. Neighbors and friends can usually recommend a reliable mechanic or repair service.

Once you've found a good shop, stick with it. If a further check is required on repair service, contact the Better Business Bureau for a report of the establishment's record.

Off-post Repairs Expensive

Auto repairs and normal servicing costs are normally expensive at service stations or repair services. A tune-up performed by a repair shop or a dealership will average about $14 for a 6-cylinder engine, and $25 to $35 for an 8-cylinder model.

Brake jobs (turning the drum, replacing wheel cylinders and brake shoe replacement; will average better than $40.

If you change your motor oil every 4,000 miles, as most dealers recommend, and replace the oil filter every other oil change, your average expenditure will be $6 at most service stations. At a service station, brand name oil will average 60-70 cents per quart and a filter between $4.50 and $4 each.

Do-it-Yourselfers Save

An excellent way to save money, if you don't mind getting your hands dirty, is to visit the post Automotive Crafts Shops.

Through the facilities of the crafts shop, parts and accessories can be purchased at 25 per cent discount. The crafts shops have the facilities, equipment and qualified instructors required to get the job done. The instructors advise and assist, but do not make repairs for the patron. Work is done strictly on a self-service basis.

You can purchase the required parts for a tune-up (points, plugs and condenser) and install them at a cost of approximately $10 for an 8-cylinder engine. When compared to the usual $25 to $35 charged by many repair services, a major savings is realized.

Inexpensive at Transition Shop

If you have repairs that might be expensive off post, why not inquire about Project Transition. Project Transition trains work under the close supervision of a qualified mechanic instructor, and the majority of minor repairs can be performed by the trainees with a minimum risk to the customer.

There is no charge for labor to the customer; however, there is a flat $1.50 fee charged for all work. Minor repairs such as tune-ups, brake-relining, shock absorber replacement, front end alignment and many other small jobs can be accomplished. Normal tune-ups start at $10.50 for a 6-cylinder auto (parts included) and range from $13.75 to $16.50 for 8-cylinder autos, depending on the make and model.

AC day camp ends

A quiet morning of games occupied children and counselors at the handicapped children's day camp sponsored by the Fort Benning Army Community Services (ACS). The two-week camp gave the children an opportunity to play indoor and outdoor games, swim, bowl and take hikes. The camp was staffed by adult and teenaged volunteers. The summer camp closed July 21 with a picnic and visit by Col. Charles C. The hand, assistant commander of the Infantry Center. (U.S. Army Photo by Stan Gumble)

What makes an artist? just ask Mikki Dillon

What makes an artist—how do they start? In the case of Mikki Dillon it was a combination of creating horses and riders from plasticine when just a few years old, parental encouragement and tolerance (it left oil spots on rugs, walls and floors).

Credit: Where's safest place for loan?

Reprinted from the Ft. McClellan News

Today almost every family or individual has a need to borrow cash occasionally.

It is not necessarily bad money management to decide to borrow at an appropriate time from a reputable lender of cash.

The all-important consideration is, of course, the "reputable lender of cash."

Your credit union is one of the most reputable lenders.

As a matter of fact, a Department of Defense directive 1000.10 ("Credit Unions Serving DoD Personnel") endorses both you and your credit union when it comes to getting together for cash loans.

The directive states that credit unions on military installations or operated under the sponsorship of a military agency will be as liberal as possible in serving military members, particularly members in pay grades E-1, E-2, and E-3 who apply for loans for worthwhile purposes.

Credit unions are formed by persons of similar interests who hand together to save their money and to obtain loans at reasonable rates of interest. All credit unions formed or operated to serve members of the Armed Forces or DoD civilian employees must meet either Federal or state standards of operation. Many are federal credit unions, which are nonprofit organizations operating under standards set by the National Credit Union Administration.

Leader's course available

The latest in command and leadership techniques is now available through the mail via the Senior Supervisors Correspondence Course. Open to all enlisted men, the course is sponsored by the Nonresident Instruction Department of the U.S. Army Quartermaster School at Ft. Lee, Va.

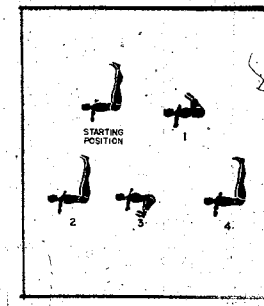

Totalling 182 credit hours, the course covers Command and Leadership, Company Administration Management and Field Operations. The course is open to all noncommissioned officers holding a skill level five occupational specialty (MOS) or with training for award of such an MOS.

The program is designed for both active and reserve enlisted personnel. Successful completion of the course can raise MOS evaluation scores, earn points toward Army promotion or for reservists, accumulate points toward retirement.

To enroll, a new student should complete DA Form 145 and send it, through channels, to Deputy Director, for Correspondence Course, NIS, U.S. Army Quartermaster School, Ft. Lee, Va. 23801.

A student already enrolled in the school's correspondence course program should write directly to the above address requesting transfer into the Senior Supervisors Correspondence Course upon completion of present studies.

Leg Circular

From the hip . . .

This little lady says that just because you're in the field doesn't give you an excuse to ignore personal hygiene habits. "You fellows in the Basic Infantry Officers Course should follow my suggestion," she adds, "and only bathe when you have a friend around."

Exercise of the Week

Well, it's back to the old grind this week. We notice a few of you quit doing your sit-ups, so we've picked this little number just for you.

The leg circular is the sixth exercise in Army Conditioning Drill Three. It is designed to firm up stomach and thigh muscles that have a tendency to sag when not used, as we all know too well. This exercise is a four-count exercise done at a slow-fast cadence. The starting position is flat on your back with the arms extended to both sides and the legs held closely together and in a vertical position.

On the count of one, slowly lower your legs as far as possible to the left, keeping the knees close together and straight. On the second count, swing the extended legs overhead, with the thighs as close to the trunk as possible. On count three, repeat the first count, only this time to the right. On count four, recover to the starting position. Simple! Do a few of these, and then let us know.

Thrift Shop schedules flea market

Old or new, antique or modern, used or abused; just about anything goes at The Thrift Shop's Flea Market, Saturday, Aug. 5, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Rental space is in the yard area of the Thrift Shop and the cost is $3.00 and $5.00.
Mr. Neil Warren of The Corner Cupboard and Crafts will give a demonstration on decoupage at the Thrift Shop from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The auction is scheduled for 2 p.m. Also planned is a demonstration on sewing a quilt.

Any pest activity such as The Teen Club, etc., that would like to reserve a space may do so without charge. Only military families may rent a space but non-military are welcomed to browse and buy.

The Thrift Shop complex of the Country Store, The Bargain Barn and The Talent Tree will be open and remain open until your BankAmericard is always welcomed at our three shops.

As always, extra helping hands are needed; adults and teenagers, so please give the Thrift Shop a few hours of your time for this very special event. For reservation of space or to volunteer your services call the Thrift Shop Manager or Chairman at 545-4950 or 545-1830.

Movie review

'Skyjacked' a real bomb

by Dale Wilson

MGM has done it again. Once a relatively renowned manufacturer of quality films, the crew at Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer bombed more than once in their latest release playing at Fort Benning theaters.

Although receiving a tremendous buildup, "Skyjacked" slipped off more than the passengers; movie fans were also taken for a ride.

The photography was excellent; however, poor dialogue and mediocre portrayals by Yvette Mimieux and James Brodin more than offset this good point.

The story begins in Oakland International Airport with the boarding of "Global Airways" flight 502 to Minneapolis. Vignettes featuring different passengers and the crew remind the viewer of "The High and the Mighty."

Charles Heston, as the captain of the flight, intercedes in behalf of a GI who wants to fly home to his sister's wedding. He overrules the boarding clerk and gets the young sergeant on his flight.

Shortly into the flight, a young woman goes to the lavatory and finds the skyjacker's message printed on the mirror in lipstick. She immediately notifies Yvette Mimieux, the head stewardess, and the fun begins.

Heston tries to keep the bomb threat a secret from the passengers, but when he changes course for Anchorage, Alaska, he gradually begins to release the information.

Naturally, the passengers take things philosophically, as actors are wont to do in such situations, and try to figure out who the skyjacker is.

Meanwhile, Roosevelt Grier and James Brodin, the sergeant, are getting happily drunk on brandy that "goes down like glass." Grier soon ascertains that the sergeant is, indeed, the maniacal desperado.

Grier outflits the captain, who tells him, "Don't do anything." "Not even let on I know he's the one?" asks Grier (A silly question to those of us who figured the skyjacker's identity out in the beginning).

The director's attempts at suspense are truly hysterical. Even the near collision scene came off as comical.

Once down in Anchorage, Brodin demands that the flight continue on to Moscow. The stewardesses get most of the passengers off the aircraft while the skyjacker's attention is diverted but he catches them in the act and forces the senator and his son, the hippie girl, Grier, the expectant mother, a man and his wife and the head stewardess to remain aboard.

Except for the premature birth of the expectant mother's child, the flight to Moscow is relatively uneventful.

Oklahoma! plays at Opera House

The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical Oklahoma! is now playing in Columbus at the Springer Opera House.

Oklahoma! is presented by the Springer Theatre Company and there is a Sunday matinee scheduled July 30 with the performance beginning at 2:30.

Oklahoma's score includes such comedy favorites as "I'm Just A Girl Who Can't Say No" and "Everything's Up To Date In Kansas City."

The Springer Theatre Company is the largest community theatre in the deep south. Its performers are volunteers but Governor Carter named the Springer the State Theatre of Georgia. For tickets or additional information about Oklahoma! Call 327-3688.

Many things were discussed and voted on at the NCO Wives business meeting this month. The wives club will be furnishing help with safety sticks to be given way to children at the immunization clinic.

There will be $100 donated to the Boy Scouts to help them maintain their charter.

One item that was brought up was that all ladies wishing to make reservations for any of the luncheons, or breakfasts are asked to call the hostesses no later than noon on the day of the deadline. No reservations will be accepted after lunch.

There is a family picnic coming up in August. It will be held one of the last two weekends of that month.

Satisfaction Sought by panel

A sound job in a square back? Maybe that's how you feel about your job but it doesn't have to be. Fort Benning is taking action through Operation Satisfaction.

A panel of three management personnel with a major unit representative will meet twice a month at Fort Benning, Purpose: To conduct interviews with military personnel who feel they are not being satisfied to their full potential.

An interview sheet will be completed, go through the individual's command or for comment... then return to the panel for the final action. After a thorough review, the AG will make the final decision and notify you in writing the finds and decision.

The first meeting will be held Thursday, August 3, 1972, Room 133A, Building 55. Call 545-0669 for an appointment.

Humane Society meeting tonight

The Junior Humane Society Workshop will hold a meeting for all interested persons at the Georgia Power and Light Building at 7:30 tonight.

The workshop will include a film, a puppet show, and a talk by Veterinarian Dr. Adams. Reservations will also be served.

Survival:

BY MIKE KELLER

A Saturday afternoon hunting trip is a far cry from a combat mission, but sportsmen still ought to know some of the survival tips espoused by Fort Benning's Ranger Department.

Their lives might depend on it someday.

The survival techniques, which are taught to Ranger students by Capt. Richard M. Epling, are primarily designed for soldiers who get separated from their units in a war zone. But the tips are equally good for hunters, fishermen and outdoorsmen who become lost in a forest or other isolated area.

"The most important thing to do in this situation is keep a proper mental attitude," said Epling, who served for more than a year with a Ranger company in Vietnam and is now an instructor in the Ranger Department.

"In order to survive, you've got to be willing to do anything to make it. If you can get it in your mind that you are just temporarily misadvised and that you're going to live, you've got a major portion of it beat. The people who lie down and weep are the ones who are really lost."

Controlling and conquering fear is critical.

"When I was a kid, I lived on the perimeter of Okefenokee Swamp," Epling said. "Alligators terrified me, their eyes looked like two red balls of fire when a light was shined on them at night. When I discovered that animals have to be exceptionally hungry or angry to attack a human, however, I no longer was afraid of them. The same is true with any fear. You just have to learn to handle it."

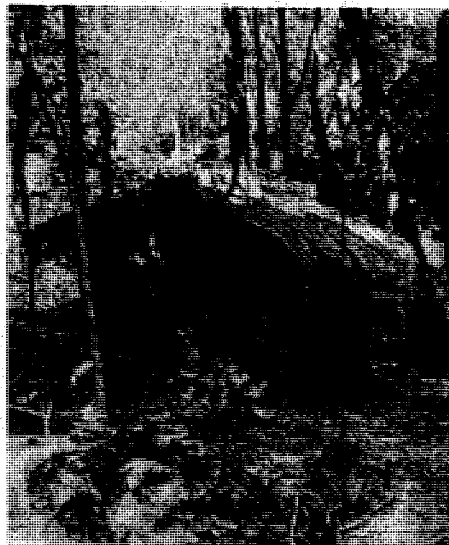

Merely keeping cool is not enough to keep alive, however. A person also needs food and water. Epling said this should present little problem.

"A forest is a veritable garden," he said. "There are 300,000 different kinds of plants in the world."

The difficulty is figuring out which ones can be consumed safely. Recognizing that it would be nearly impossible to memorize all the species of edible plants, Epling suggested that a person check out the location he plans to go into and learn to identify the poisonous varieties.

He also offered this rule of thumb: Break off the stem of a plant. If it has a milky substance, throw it away. If the plant has a clear, liquid substance, put a small portion in your mouth. If it has a bitter or chalky taste, spit it out. If its taste is pleasant, however, cook a small portion and try it again. If the plant still tastes good, it probably can be eaten. If your stomach begins to hurt after swallowing a small amount, however, discard the plant. Epling also warned that berries should be shunned unless a person knows what he is looking for.

Ranger Department techniques aid soldiers, outdoorsmen alike

Survival training tips in night training. Epling over a Hickory fire demonstrated as part of the survival phase of Ranger training.

Wildlife, particularly fur bearing animals, is an excellent source of food, he said. Anything that crawls, swims or flies is a potential meal, however. Snakes themselves are, he said, and are among the easiest animals to capture. Some are better than others, though.

All birds, including buzzards, are edible, Epling said.

"Poisonous snakes are more meaty than non-poisonous types, he said. "and the rattlesnake is the best of all." Epling recommended that before the animal is eaten its body should be severed six inches below its head to cut off the poison sacs.

One must be careful not to eat a diseased animal, he warned. If the liver of a rabbit has yellow or white spots, for example, it should not be eaten. Care also should be taken when removing the gall and urine bladders from game; if they are broken the meat will be spoiled.

A person who is lost cannot afford to be choosy about his meals.

"During the Korean War, Turkish prisoners of war ate grass, leaves, anything they could find," Epling said. "Many American POWs thought they were too good to eat grass — and consequently a lot of them starved to death."

All food should be cooked, however, it is acceptable to eat salt water fish raw, if a fire is not available. Never eat fresh water fish raw.

Boiling is the best method of cooking as it holds in natural juices; roasting, baking and frying are next in order of preference. To preserve meat, cut it with the grain in thin strips and dry until brittle.

Dry hardwood — such as oak — should be used in making a fire as it gives off more heat and less smoke than other types of timber. Pine splinters, Spanish moss, shredded bark, pine resin, small twigs, dry grass and shredded string or rope make good kindling material.

Although a person can live for weeks without food, one cannot survive more than a few days without water. Hence, it is imperative that the search for it begin immediately. Epling listed several sources: lakes, streams, creeks, dry stream beds, rain and dew.

All water except rainfall should be purified before drinking. This can be done by boiling for at least one minute or using a filter, purification tablets or eight drops of iodine per quart. One should never drink salt water, however potable water can be found under the surface of a beach 100 feet from the high tide mark, Epling said.

If a person is unable to find his way back to civilization quickly, it will be necessary to find suitable shelter. Epling suggested that swampy areas be avoided, noting that mosquitoes, water moccasins and other reptiles and insects would make life miserable. How should one set up camp at the base of steep slopes or in spots where the risk of avalanches, floods or rockfalls is great.

A person who is lost is going to want to know what direction he is traveling. Epling mentioned several ways to determine this:

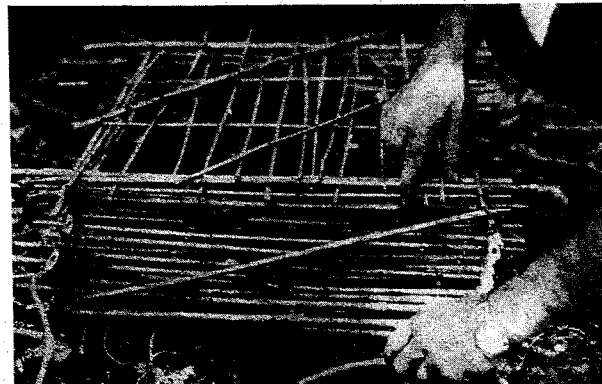

—Early mornings and late afternoons are not the only times of the day when the sun's position in the sky can tell direction. During winter months, the sun is directly south at noon.

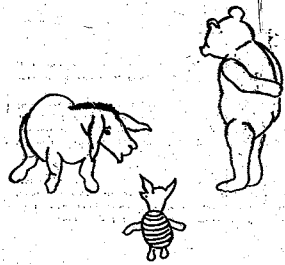

—An ordinary watch can be used to find the north-south axis during daytime. Determine the military time and divide by two. Then place the minute hand of the watch on the hour represented by this time. For example, if it is 1400 (2 p.m.), you'd place the minute hand on the seven. Then, line up the minute hand with the sun. The north-south axis lies halfway between the minute hand and 12 o'clock.

—A person doesn't need a watch to find which way is north. If the sun is bright enough to throw a shadow and he has a fairly straight stick about three feet long. Push the stick into the ground so that it is perpendicular. Mark the tip of the shadow it produces and wait 15 minutes. Mark the tip of the second shadow. Draw a line from the first mark to the second and about a foot past the second mark. If you put the toe of your left foot on the first mark and the toe of your right foot at the end of the line you drew, you will face north.

—One can plot direction at night by following the North Star. To locate this star — which is never more than one degree from true north — find the Big Dipper. Extend an imaginary line through the two pointed stars which form the side of the cup, farthest from the handle. About five times the distance from these two stars in the same direction of the line is the North Star.

Capt. Richard M. Epling, instructor with the Ranger Committee at Camp Darby, points to a bait trap leading into a bird trap as used by Rangers in survival training. The trap has been used very successfully in catching quail.

A Classic: A. A. Milne's favorite slated by Dramatizers

Once upon a time, Mr. Edward Bear, who is infinitely better known as "Winnie-the-Pooh," lived in a forest all by himself under a sign saying Sanders. In another part of the same wood lived a Christopher Robin, surrounded by Rabbit, Eeyore, the stuffed donkey, Piglet, Owl, and Kanga with her little Roo. Pooh seems to have achieved greater renown among all age groups than his own creator, A. A. Milne. Alan Alexander Milne was born in London in 1882, was educated at Westminster School and Cambridge, and became an assistant editor for the humor magazine "Punch" at the age of 24. He began to write plays while on active duty during World War I.

Several of Milne's dramas, including "The Perfect Alibi," "Mr. Pim Passes By," "The Dover Road," and the classic detective story, "The Red House Mystery," earned him wide acclaim from critics and the public alike.

Daily work break proves refreshing

While the world famous Fischer-Spassky chess matches are taking place in Reykjavik, Iceland, a chess tournament of equal importance, to some, is in progress at Fort Benning.

The chess tourney is part of a tri-sport tournament currently taking place at Headquarters and Headquarters company (HHC) 197th Inf. Bde. Pool and ping-pong, making up the other two-thirds of the tournament, were the original games initiated to "involve the troops in something different", said company executive officer, 1st Lt. Arthur Kellum.

The original idea for the tournament came from HHC's commanding officer, Capt. Larry Agran who felt the break in the daily work routine would prove a refreshing change for all.

The level of participation ranges from the lowest listed rank all the way up to the company commander and everyone seems to be benefiting from it. Soldiers return to their normal duties with added enthusiasm and having completed their part in the tournament and many sections chiefs credit the tournament for the increased initiative shown by their men.

Chess seemed to be the surprise of the day when a total of 14 men signed up for it — about 13 more than most people thought would. Capt. James Lindsey, AG executive officer of the 197th Inf. Bde., is the current leader in the chess tourney with ten wins and only one loss. He needs only one more win to insure his tournament victory.

Capt. Lindsey's only loss came in a nerve-wracking game to Sp5 Anthony Dattalo, an understudy in the match. Though Dattalo's overall success in the tournament has not been stunning, he has beaten some of the top-ranked competitors, which prompted 1st Lt. Arthur Kellum to dub him, "the giant killer".

The tournament is scheduled to finish up by the end of July and prizes will be awarded to winners in each category. First prizes are a $25 Savings Bond while others include an assortment of trophies and plaques.

Check!

1st Lt. Arthur Kellum, executive officer of HHC 197th Inf. Bde., makes his move in a grueling chess match against Sp4 Joseph Williams. The game is part of the tri-sport tournament being held by HHC, 197th Inf. Bde.

BY BILL KLOER

The story of the barefoot boy with a cane pole who outfishes the sophisticated city angler equipped with the latest and most complicated equipment is one of the most overworked stories in fishing literature.

This story is seldom true today. The well equipped angler uses electronic depth measuring devices, balanced tackle and fishing tested lures. He has a definite advantage when it comes to catching big fish or even large numbers of fish.

There are times however when the old cane pole has a definite place in the gear the modern fisherman takes to the water. There are times when the barefoot boy and dream all seem to have decided to boycott anything offered by the modern angler. At these times a worm or live minnow may be just the thing to get them interested.

Most of the people fishing today caught their first fish on a cane pole. It hasn't been too long since the only reels available were apt to develop a snag at about every other cast. Most anglers used the cane pole because it was practically fool proof and gave them more time to have a baited hook in the water.

Even with the easily handled rigs we have today the cane pole is a good way to introduce a young fisherman to the sport. Veteran fishermen are willing to wait hours for some fishing action but the patience of the young fisherman runs thin if he doesn't get a lot of action. He isn't as interested in the size of the fish as he is the numbers.

On the first few fishing trips take him to a pond that has a lot of beam. Show him how to rig the line and how to set the hook when he gets a bite. You'll get a lot of pleasure from his screams of excitement every time he lands a fish.

Most fishermen use a length of line about the same length as the pole. Too long a line makes the rig hard to handle. Fasten a small hook at the end of the line and a single split shot a few inches above the hook. The float can be a pencil, piece of wood, cork or one of the modern plastic type but should be easily adjusted to fish at varying depths. Remember you are going for small fish so be sure the hook is small enough to catch them. Using too large a hook will simply feed the fish. They will rob your bait time after time.

The young man or woman who begins fishing in this manner will tend to stick with the sport. As they gradually progress to more advanced tackle and techniques they will be able to take an empty stringer in stride. Too many empty stringers on their first outings are going to make them feel that the time is not worth the results. There is just something about seeing that bobber go under that makes people come back again and again. If the youngster gets plenty of action in the beginning he is usually hooked for life.

The cane pole has other uses too. Its ideal for skittering or jigger poling. Some serious anglers call it playing around. In this operation the angler uses an artificial lure. It is tied to a relatively short line and jigged up and down in the water or skittered on the surface. A small spoon or chunk of pork rind works well. The rig is also used while moving in a powered boat. The lure is held just below the water at pole length ahead of the moving boat.

Another time the cane pole provides a lot of sport is when the beam are bedding. The longer more flexible poles will really get a lot of action when the fishermen hooks into any breeze that goes over ten inches.

Probably the most important function of the cane pole is to provide an excuse for anyone, fishing bag or not to sit or lay on the bank of a stream or lake and do nothing all day long. I've know some people who didn't bother to rig the line completely. They were afraid if they put a hook on the end of the line they would catch a fish then have to take it off and decide what they were going to do with it.

Cane poles still sell for around a dollar. Even if you aren't a fisherman they are worth the money. Where else can you get a whole day of peace and quiet for a dollar?

Errorless play wins for MPs

The 139th MP Co. defeated 588th Lt. Maint. 13-1 in 93rd softball July 18. The game was halted after 5 innings due to the 10 run lead rule.

Five runs produced in the first gave the MPs a comfortable lead that was prevalent throughout the game. A leadoff walk to Mike Forte followed by successive hits by Stevie Allen, Donnie Munter, Fred Broxton, John Williams, Tiny Lockett and John Hammel provided the runs. Allen's hit was his 7th home run of the season.

The second inning started off with what appeared to be a rally by the 588th but was quickly shut off on a snare of a line drive by shortstop Hammerin Hank Aplekar.

The third inning tallied 4 more runs for the cops as Hammel tripled and was brought in on a hit by Aplekar. Rudy Scott followed with a hit putting two runners on base. Forte then got his second hit of the game bringing home Aplekar and Scott. Hits by Munter, Allen and Broxton accounted for the 4 run innings.

The 588th unanaged a run in their third on 3 hits but a double play from Forte to Munter to Broxton shut the

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted.

"The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

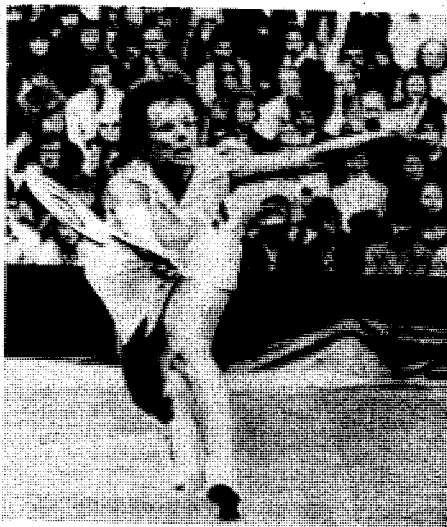

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

BILLIE JEAN KING OF LONG BEACH, CALIF., WILL BE ON HAND FOR THE VIRGINIA SLIMS TOURNAMENT IN COLUMBUS.

Soldiers receive reduced rates for Virginia Slims Tourney

Fort Benning soldiers will be able to watch the Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament at the Columbus Country Club at a reduced rate. Soldiers and their dependents can purchase all-day bleacher tickets for Thursday, August 3 only for 50 cents.

Parking for the tourney will be easier by leaving cars at "Lakebottom" near the club (across from Columbus High School) and taking a free shuttle bus to the tennis courts.

Billie Jean King, 1972 Wimbledon Champion and star of the Virginia Slims Tournament will be in Columbus July 31-August 6, 1972. Billie Jean, the daughter of a California fireman, will lead fifty of the world's best women tennis players in their first Georgia appearance in the $25,000 tournament on the courts of the Country Club of Columbus.

Mrs. King who is married to a lawyer is the current Forest Hills champion where she beat Rosie Casals, another "Slime" performer, in the finals. In June she beat Evonne Cawley in Paris by the same 6-3, 6-3 score as she won the world's most important tournament in London on July 7th.

Tickets to see the world's best tennis player and many national champions are on sale at Mailboxes five locations, or by mailing a $20.00 check to P. O. Box 5392 Columbus, Ga. — good for the entire tournament.

Doughboys to play Western Div. leader

The Fort Benning Doughboy softball team will host the Ft. Campbell Eagles for a two game series at Gowdy Field this weekend.

The first game will begin at 7 p.m. tonight and the second tomorrow morning at 10 a.m.

The Eagles lead the Western Division of the Third Army League with 9 wins and 1 loss. Fort Benning is in second place with 5 wins and 3 losses and Ft. Rucker is in third place with a 3-7 record.

The first and second place teams in the Western Division along with the first and second place teams of the Eastern Division will compete at Ft. Rucker Aug. 23 to 25 to determine the Third Army Champions.

Benning has one more series of two games after the Campbell games. These will be played against Ft. McChellan at Gowdy Field Aug. 4 and 5.

Two wins out of the next four scheduled games will assure the Doughboys of a place in the playoffs.

Highway safety

Veteran race driver presenting program

The award-winning Champion Highway Safety Program will be presented at Fort Benning Tuesday and Wednesday by veteran Indianapolis race driver Johnny Boyd. The program was first presented to military personnel in 1958 and since that time a team of drivers has been assigned to visit various military installations annually to deliver a message.

Boyd of Fresno, Calif., is one of the most talented drivers in the history of sports car racing. In the Indianapolis "500" he has finished in the top four times and in 1958 he placed third. In 1957 he was leading the race in the last stages when he was forced to stop for an unscheduled tire change. Though this stop deprived him of racing, his prize, it was done in the interest of safety, which is typical of veteran speedway drivers.

During the program, which will include a 22 minute film of the Indianapolis "500" classic, Boyd will tell why "HIGHWAY SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT." This informative, interesting and educational talk by a man who has lived racing, can show you how to be a better driver.

All military and civilian employees are invited to attend one of the following scheduled presentations:

Aug. 1 — 10-11 a.m. — Theater No. 1 (Main Theater).
Aug. 1 — 1:30-2:30 p.m. — Theater No. 1 (Main Theater).
Aug. 1 — 3 - 4 p.m. — Theater No. 1 (Main Theater).
Aug. 2 — 9-10 a.m. — Theater No. 4 (Keller Hill).
Aug. 2 — 1:30-2:30 p.m. — Marshall Auditorium, Infantry Hall.
Aug. 3 — 3-4 p.m. — Marshall Auditorium, Infantry Hall.

FEMLINE

Mrs. Robert Grow for their monthly coffee and business meeting. A lovely array of pastries and tea sandwiches was served to the ladies. A refreshing lime punch was served by Mrs. William Spence.

Mrs. Grow welcomed to the coffee several newcomers then proceeded with the business. Even with the ladies enjoying the activities of summer, the discussion was focused on the Christmas Bazaar to be held on December 6th. Several gift ideas were presented by the ladies but the final decision on projects will not be made until August 8. Any woman with a clever gift idea should present her idea and possibly a sample or pattern to their company commander's wife or Mrs. Grow prior to August 8.

The next monthly coffee will be a wine tasting party to be held on August 8. Mrs. Edward Damm and Mrs. Richard Wilson will be co-hostesses.

The Officers Wives of the 60th TRANSPORTATION COMPANY met in the home of Mrs. George Clardy for their monthly coffee. Tea sandwiches, cakes, cookies and coffee were served to the ladies. The ladies welcomed Mrs. Daniel Wade to the group.

Plans for a company party to be held August 5 in the home of Capt. and Mrs. B. C. Shipley were discussed. The party will be an informal cook-out and get-together to bid farewell to Maj. and Mrs. Irvin Travis and to welcome to the company Maj. and Mrs. Richard Pope.

MEDDAC

The MEDDAC Officers' Wives' Book Club recently met at the home of Mrs. David Waugh to discuss the novel "The Bell Jar" by Sylvia Plath. The story, based on Miss Plath's own life, traces the events in a young woman's life during six months when she retreats from the real world into a world of madness and her struggle to free herself from fear and self-hatred. Members of the group found the author's style of writing extremely pointed but with an air of detachment and humor.

Retired officers attend Benning hospital seminar

of Martin Army Hospital presented to the retired officers a discussion of the new doctor-patient program now in effect at the hospital. The program enables the patient to see the same doctor on each visit.

Members of the Fort Benning Retired Officers Council are: Col. James G. McConaughy, Council Chairman, Chief Warrant Officer Samuel C. Stevens, Council Co-Chairman, Col. Thomas B. Ross Jr., Lt. Col. Jack H. Johnson, Lt. Col. Edgar S. Burroughs Jr., Col. Talton W. Long, Lt. Col. Donald R. Mortenson, CWO Philip W. Foley, and CWO Joseph A. Hampton.

The active army representatives to the council are: Col. Robert H. Livingston Jr., director of personnel and community activities, and Col. Malcolm R. Baer, Adjutant General. Major William Davis, Fort Benning Retirement Services Officer is the council recorder.

The meetings of the council are scheduled on a monthly basis.

Wives' group in fourth year

An active new organization, devoted to the welfare of widows of military personnel, will mark its fourth anniversary this summer. Since its formation in 1968 it has achieved membership representation in 47 States as well as in Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, England and Germany.

The group is known as the Society of Military Widows. It is composed of women whose husbands died either while in military service, or following retirement with pay. Through its organization the Society hopes to correct what its members believe to be long standing inequities in survivor benefits.

Harmon wins Texas interservice matches

All Army Pistol Champion SFC Bonnie Harmon, Columbus, Ga., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, continued his winning form as he placed his Army Championship stamp on the Interservice Pistol Championship Matches July 21 at San Antonio, Texas. Harmon placed the top place in the three day meet with his Grand Aggregate of 2,643, two points ahead of his nearest rival Navy marksman PR-1 Joseph Witherrall.

Third place overall was captured by companion Army marksman MSGT. Robert Whitaker, Morrow, Ohio, and the Army marksman who compiled 2,639 for his three days total.

In the large field of service handgunning representing the cream of the Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Army, Harmon found it tough to compete through the Three-Gun 2,700 Grand Aggregate Championship but his steady marksmanship paid off. It was not until the final four match series, the U.S. Army dominated the action as they took six of the first 12 places while the other six were evenly distributed among the other three services. Army marksmen also took two of the three sub-aggregates.

For the Grand Aggregate Team Championship, the Army "Gray" team headed by MSGT. Sam Hunter of Columbus, grabbed the top prize with their combined score of 4,662. The "Blue" squad was in second place with the Marine 4,624. The "Red" team, headed by the U.S. Army marksman-ship Unit included SFC. Farland Bennetts, SSGT. George Moss, Capt. Robert Merritt and SSGT. Jimmy McCauley.

Army four-man teams were not so fortunate in the individual team matches where Air Force combined efforts took squeakers in both the 22 Caliber Pistol and Center Fire Pistol matches while a strong Marine squad grabbed the 45 Caliber Pistol match by 11X. The Army teams, although victims of narrow losses, took the close runner-up in all three disciplines, and thus won the Grand Aggregate Championship.

Rip sessions on drugs and alcohol are held in the Main Post Service Club each Wednesday at 1:15. The Post as the Champion of Alcoholics Anonymous meets in Building 214, Airborne Area each Monday at 8 p.m.

For help with drugs or alcohol problems call 545-4126.

Teachers, children visit DC-E

Approximately 25 children and their teachers from the Mason Academy, Macon, Georgia, visited the facilities of the Directorate of Communications Electronics, (DC-E), June 26.

All of the children had learning disabilities and received special education aid.

At the MARS station in the children listened to radio transmissions with Washington, D. C. and were shown how a trained radio operator sends and receives code.

The people at the motion picture 3-D explained the various cameras, lighting and editing equipment used in the production of 16 mm motion pictures to the kids.

While visiting the telephone plant, the children were shown the operation of the various switching equipment and were also shown how trouble lines were tracked down and repaired.

Barracks larceny a sad reality in military life

Reprint from Fort Sill Motivator
Crime. It's that bad thing that only happens to the other guy. Don't kid yourself, it can explode in your face.

It's bad enough when a man is thrown into a situation of having to live and rub elbows with 35 other men most of them strangers in quarters that aren't exactly the high rent type. He has to learn to work, get along and cooperate with a whole new "society" which he would probably just as soon not be a part of.

Most people can adjust to this, if they enjoy it. But when someone starts helping themselves to high rent type, or everybody else's stuff, tempers, not to mention trust, get short.

Barracks larceny has been part of military life since there have been barracks. Mostly, it's carelessness on the part of the victim; an unlocked locker, a pair of gloves left on a bunk, a wallet left unattended. But now the ATC Legal Section has an armed robbery on its boards of upcoming courts-martial. Brutal force tears its ugly head.

Barracks larceny isn't all there are always the things that go on outside the billets; i.e., you're walking down the main street and somebody asks you for a light for his cigarettes. When you wake up you're in the hospital with a mild concussion and no wallet. Beware of the man with the unlit smoke, or rather of his friend around the corner with the club in his hand.

Drugs and Booze

Rip sessions on drugs and alcohol are held in the Main Post Service Club each Wednesday at 1:15. The Post as the Champion of Alcoholics Anonymous meets in Building 214, Airborne Area each Monday at 8 p.m.

Symbolic traffic signs illustrate curve, yield, stop

BY NEIL DANIEL

If you've noticed a new look in traffic signs and markings on post recently, it is because Fort Benning, has adopted the international-type system of traffic control devices. Under this system, greater emphasis will be placed on pictures and symbolic signs rather than written messages.

The use of symbolic signs is not entirely new to the American motorist. The curve and crossroad symbols have been used for many years. The family "stop sign" is a symbolic sign as is the speed limit sign. These will not be changed but many others will be replaced by the symbolic signs. The new signs have the advantage of easier understanding, as well as overcoming language barriers. The new signs will be of assistance both to Americans traveling abroad and to foreign visitors to our country.

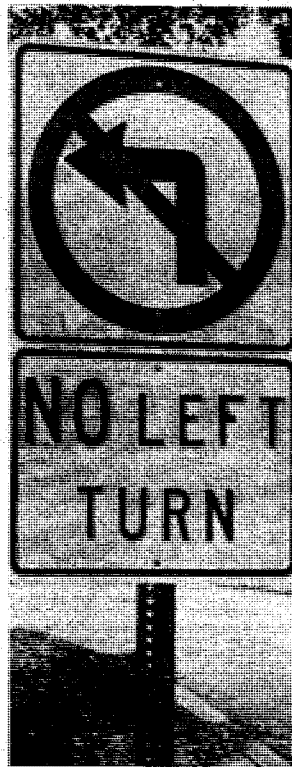

The change to the new system however, will be a gradual one. State and local communities, including Fort Benning, have been given a target date of 1973 to implement pavement marking requirements, 1975 for the signs and until 1977 for signals. As the new signs begin to appear, they will be used with companion signs until the public becomes accustomed to the new system.

Color will be a significant factor in the new road signs and markings. Red will indicate stop or a prohibition; green will show permitted or give directional guidance; blue will indicate the way to tourist services; yellow, a general warning; regulatory signs, eg. speed limit, will be in black and white; orange will convey construction and maintenance warnings while brown will indicate public recreation and scenic guidance.

Shape too, will be significant. A diamond shaped sign will be used to convey a warning; a rectangular sign with the longer dimension vertical for traffic regulations; with the longer dimension horizontal for guidance information. An octagon will signify a stop, an inverted triangle—yield, a pentagon will warn of a railroad crossing.

See Signs page 28

One of the new signs which are being put up on the reservation. Below it is the old sign which will be used in conjunction with the new signs until the public becomes accustomed to them.

Lt. Gen. Zais pays visit to Fort Benning

Lt. Gen. Melvin Zais, paid his first official visit to Fort Benning as the new Third Army commander August 2.

His visit began with a briefing on activities of the Infantry Center, the Youth Activities Center, the Custer Terrace and Bouton Heights housing areas, Martin Army Hospital, the 197th Infantry Brigade and Volunteer Army Barracks. Also included were Red Mill Creek, a construction site of the 831st Engineer Group, the Third Army Training Aids Center, and the Aviation Command.

Gen. Zais assumed command of Third Army in June when Lt. Gen. Albert Connor retired early due to ill health.

Gen. Zais began his career with a U.S. Army Reserve commission in 1927. Recalled to active duty in 1940, he was an instructor in the Infantry School before volunteering for the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion, the Army's first. He was commanding officer of the 3d Battalion, 517th parachute Infantry Regiment, 17th Airborne Division until its deactivation.

In 1937, he graduated from the University of New Hampshire with a bachelor's degree in political science. He has attended the Command and General Staff College, the Armed Forces Staff College, and the National War College.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal with Second Oak Leaf Cluster, the Silver Star with first Oak Leaf Cluster, the Legion of Merit with second Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal, and the Joint Service Commendation Medal.

Pharmacy hours changed

Due to a shortage of civilian registered pharmacists and other pharmacy personnel, the Pharmacy at Martin Army Hospital, has reduced its 24 hour, 7 days a week starting Aug. 1, 1972.

The Clinics Pharmacy, located in the MAH Building will be operating Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturdays from 8 to 12:30, and will be closed on Sundays.

The new schedule for the Clinics Pharmacy has not affected the Outpatient Pharmacy at the Hospital Annex (Bldg. 586). The Annex Pharmacy hours will continue to be 8:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. at 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays, 8:15 to 12:30 on Saturdays, and closed on Sundays.

During the hours when both pharmacies are closed, the MAH Emergency Room will have an adequate stock of medications, issued by physicians on duty, for the emergency treatment of outpatients.

Family Planning Clinic available

BY GLEN ROVIG

A small group of interested people attended the ribbon-cutting ceremony for Martin Army Hospital's new Family Planning Clinic, July 18. Mrs. Orvin C. Talbot cut the ribbon, that provided Fort Benning families with a service that is not yet fully understood or appreciated.

Family planning counseling has been available to Fort Benning residents for some time in the form of phone counseling and home visits by the staff of the Army Health Nurse. Physicians and nurses of the obstetrics and Gynecology Clinics also counseled uninformed people. Also, a family planning class has been taught by the Army Health Nurse to new mothers in the days following delivery.

In late fall of 1970 the chiefs of Obstetrics-Gynecology, Preventive Medicine, Army Health Nurse, and others met with Col. H. Haswell Zierman, the hospital commander, to discuss family planning services at Fort Benning. After careful study it was concluded that present facilities and services were inadequate and a committee was appointed to study the situation and make recommendations. Central among the recommendations that resulted were to allot space for a family planning service, staff it with trained nurse-clinicians, and strive to educate Fort Benning's population through classes, counseling, printed matter, and whatever other methods could be devised.

The result of these recommendations is a clinic centrally located near Obstetrics and the Pharmacy on the first floor of the hospital. The Family Planning Clinic is among the first of its kind in American military hospitals. It is staffed by Capt. Kay Kerr and Lt. Patricia Truex, nurse-clinicians with special training in family planning. It is directed by Col. Billy Burk, Chief of Obstetrics-Gynecology.

MP Traffic Section helps eliminate the rush hassle

By Ray Aptekar
Did you ever wonder why you usually arrive at work on time the morning or why you were able to leave Fort Benning in the late afternoon and be out the main gate so quickly? Every morning, Monday through Friday, while most people are having breakfast and preparing for work, members of the 13th MP Co. 931st Engr. Co. who comprise the Traffic Section of the Provost Marshall's Office are already on the job, setting up the morning traffic routes so that persons may be afforded the safest, easiest and quickest routes to their place of work on Fort Benning.

This is just one of the numerous missions of the Traffic Section explained SFC George Anderson, NCOIC. Extensive traffic studies are made that determine the main routes used on Fort Benning for the purpose of preventing traffic accidents and facilitating the smooth flow of traffic during peak hours.

During the school hours, the traffic control points are also used in school zones so that all children on post can be assured of maximum safety during school hours.

"It is quite an important and necessary job," declared Anderson, "and all my men are professionals in the performance of their jobs." He added that they were responsible for many things besides traffic control. "VIP escorts, escorts and security at awards and honor ceremonies, all these," said Anderson, "fall to the traffic division."

In addition to controlling the flow of traffic, the traffic section is also responsible for enforcing traffic regulations. Spot checks are set up at pre-designated points and vehicles are stopped and checked for safety and conformity with motor vehicle regulations.

Speed is one factor which receives a lot of consideration from these men. Modern equipment like radar and VASCAR, which can compute the speed of a vehicle to within one tenth of a mile per hour and can effectively clock a vehicle going in any direction, SFC Anderson said, is used for the purpose of this equipment is not for "getting" anyone, but rather for use as an aid in the prevention of accidents. He explained that the motorist who is conscious of the law will usually obey it. Our job is to make him conscious of it at all times.

Accidents still happen, a fact which is not a surprise, though, in spite of the effort that is made to prevent them, and when they do happen, it is the job of the Traffic Section to again be called upon to serve. The accident investigation branch of the Traffic Section is comprised of SP6 Dwight Adams, Sgt. Allen Hill, SP4 Neilson Collier and PFC Kevin Matthey.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Bill King

Try adding some bergamot to melted butter and pouring it over a steaming charcoal-broiled steak.

Bergamot is a best bet vegetable for calorie-counters. Choose the best with light, plump buds that are dark green and untinged with yellow.

If you need powdered clay, but have only the whole variety, pinch off the bud ends and powder them between fingers and thumb. Discard the stems.

Add a few teaspoons of vinegar to the simmering water for poached eggs. No sticking and no vinegar taste.

Ten years ago, of a White House gathering of debits and scientists, President Kennedy remarked that he probably the most distinguished meeting of minds ever held here, with the possible exception of when Thomas Jefferson died alone.

Dining at KING'S PIZZA ON CALL is always a distinguished occasion because of our fine quality food, thoughtfully prepared and served in relaxing surroundings.

These men work 12 hour shifts with two man teams and all four are on twenty-four hour call.

Their responsibility includes the timely, detailed and accurate investigation of all traffic accidents occurring on Fort Benning. Their work is hard, time consuming and strenuous but, a necessary and important part of a traffic policeman's duty. SFC Anderson, an accident investigator of many years experience commented that he had seen more accidents over the years, "almost all of which could have been prevented by the practice to work as an

ROTC Rangers head into final week

The first increment of College ROTC cadets who volunteered for Ranger training this summer are in their final week of activities at the Ranger Camp at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Approximately 205 cadets in the first group of 230 to undertake the rigorous nine-week course are expected to graduate in ceremonies at Todd Field on post August 11. Addressing the ROTC Rangers will be Gen. Ralph E. Haines Jr., commanding general of the U.S. Coastal Army Command.

Of the 222 cadets in the second group to begin training, 210 are still participating in the Ranger course and will be moving to the Florida phase on Aug. 12. Cadets who are not yet qualified will jump into the Florida phase.

While involved in the Florida phase, the cadets are confronted with counter-guerrilla type combat training.

All cadets completing the full nine weeks of Ranger training earn the right to wear the coveted Ranger tab. Cadets completing six weeks of the training are given credit for Summer ROTC Camp.

Local students work at Benning under NYC sponsored program

This summer, over 300 local high-school students are working at Fort Benning under the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, which is sponsored locally by the Lower Chattahoochee Community Action Agency, Inc., administered by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Mrs. Virginia Barfield is Executive Director of the Lower Chattahoochee Community Action Agency, Inc., and Mr. Loyd T. Lewis is Neighborhood Youth Corps Project Director. Mrs. Mary Hostinsky is Chief Counselor for the NYC Program.

On Post, the program was coordinated through Mrs. Betty Halford and Mrs. Grace Watson of Civilian Personnel Division, who arranged for the enrollees to work in various locations at Fort Benning, Ga., 4801. The telephone number is 205-428-6011.

Retired NCO's sought to teach ROTC in Ala.

Retired noncommissioned officers (NCOs) in the retired grade of E5 or above are needed to teach in the Mobile, Ala. school district. Three vacancies exist for teachers of general military subjects in the Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps. There is no restriction on which military occupational specialties may apply. Interested applicants may contact Mr. Jackson Christensen, Deputy Director of Army ROTC, Box 1227, Mobile, Ala., 36601. The telephone number is 205-428-6011.

Sophia Fitzpatrick (seated), 16, and Jacqueline Barbes, 15, check samples in the Bacteriology Section of Murnan Army Hospital, where they work. Sophia and Jacqueline are employed in Pathology Services this summer under the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, along with over 300 other high school students.

Celeste Warner named 'Miss Fort Benning'

Celeste Warner, who was crowned Miss Fort Benning on July 1 at the Independence Day Carnival, lists playing the piano and singing among her hobbies. Celeste is 20 years old, and is employed by the U.S. Army Infantry School this summer. She will enter Auburn as a junior this fall quarter.

This year's Miss Fort Benning, Celeste Warner, is a 20-year-old coed who also happens to be employed by the U.S. Army Infantry School. Celeste was crowned Miss Fort Benning at the July 1 Independence Day Carnival in Marshall Auditorium, and was presented with a $200 savings bond.

Celeste works in Academic Records Division, Office of the Secretary, U.S. Army Infantry School, where she was hired under the Summer Employment Examination Program. She worked for the past two summers in the Transportation Division, also under the summer program.

While she was at Columbus College, the new Miss Fort Benning was a member of the Student Government Legislature. She was also a "little sister" for Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity at the College.

Celeste, who plays the piano and sings, usually helped provide music for the Deputations Team, a group of students who visit area churches to present programs and evangelistic revivals.

Sound-off: What effect does television have on American attitudes?

Television good, cheap entertainment

OC John Curnero says "It has a great deal of influence. In the Attica trials, the first information said the prisoners had killed the guards. When it was revealed that the guards had been killed by someone else, attitudes again changed. The speed was amazing. Since TV can reach so many more people, it can speak to all classes. If the information is wrong, or if interpreted incorrectly, the first impression usually stays. Yet, it is necessary to see what's happening" Curnero is working in HQ Co., TSB. PFC Clio Shultz, 46th Airborne, says "It depends on what the programs are. Some about drug abuse, various parts of American life are good. Only in military news, soldiers going home will destroy the image TV has created. I think a lot of educational programs could help if made more interesting. Boring programs lose viewers. Relaxation is the only value we get other than the weather." Sp4 Ronald Williams says, "It has a good effect. Watching television is good therapy — it keeps the mind in good health because it is a chance to relax. Also, TV is a source of good, cheap entertainment." Williams is in 688th Ordnance Company. PFC Nelson Collier says "By seeing something enough, you begin to believe it. That's the way TV does. Repeat anything long enough and people begin to believe it by association. Political candidacies are a good example. If the good qualities are publicized enough, after a while people believe. The same goes for any product or person. I believe the American public likes to believe — they like to take things at face value. So they take anything that's told them as the truth. On the whole, they are not a doubting public." Collier is in the 168th MP Company.

Gossip, Gossip

Now why did I say that? Have you ever asked yourself that question after a real juicy gossip session. Then perhaps you are ready for the answer.

We gossip because it makes us the center of attention for one brief moment. You don't have to be the smartest one in the group. You don't have to be a good conversationalist. You don't have to be popular. Just make a sarcastic, scornful or derogatory remark about someone who is absent from the group and you have an instant audience, hanging on your words, laughing, for the moment, with you.

We can't resist that moment of glory. We revel in it and hold onto it. To prolong time ego-inflating attention, we elaborate on our original remark, dressing it up, speculating and frankly fabricating until we have drained the last bit of interest out of our associates, or until someone comes up with an even juicier story deliberately calculated to top ours.

Now let's take stock. We don't especially dislike the person we were gossiping about. Maybe he (or she) did nothing more to get our attention than pass through the coffee shop just as we ran out of topics of discussion. We don't mean to hurt that person's reputation—but we have put him in the position where everyone at that coffee table can say, "Now there was some talk about him. They say..."

A thought to remember — the day you are absent, you will be the topic of that group's idle gossip, more than likely. They won't be laughing with you this time but at you. Gossip is habit forming. Kick the habit. (R)

Nicotine and gasoline don't mix

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Smoking in an automobile is a traffic hazard. When you are paying attention, however briefly, to a cigarette, a pipe or a cigar, you distract from the alertness which should be given to driving.

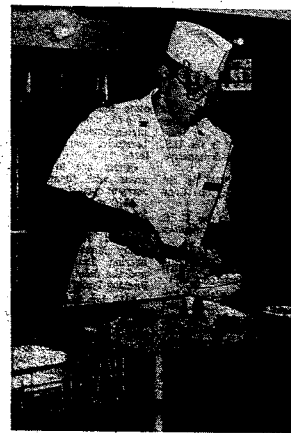

Minor mishaps in handling a cigarette — a speck of ash in your eye, fire in the ash tray, or a cigarette dropped on the seat or carpet — can cause a major traffic accident.

Besides the smoke that gets in your eyes, the carbon monoxide and the nicotine that gets into your blood impair visual sharpness. In cold weather, most cars lack adequate ventilation; the need for fresh air is even greater when anyone is smoking in the automobile. If the insides of your windshield and windows are coated with a hard-to-remove residue — which cuts down on your visibility — it's probably because you or your passengers, smoke.

At night there may be still another hazard — the flame from a match or ordinary pocket lighter is momentarily blinding. Using your car's electric lighter will help.

Remember — you can't give full attention to your driving while you are fumbling for a cigarette, lighting a cigarette or a cigar, or a pipe, or extinguishing the butt.

Sp4 Paul B. Anderson, 84th Co., The School Brigade was selected cook of the month in past week competition. For his achievement he received a letter of commendation from Col. Willard Latham, Chief of Staff.

Sp 4 Anderson, post 'Cook of the Month'

Sp4 Paul B. Anderson, cook for 84th Co, TSB, was recently cited as the Cook of the Month. For this recognition, Anderson received a letter of appreciation from Col. Willard Latham, chief of staff, a $25 food and a three-day pass.

Col. Henry E. Hutcheson, deputy director of Industrial Operations, presented the awards to Anderson in the 84th's Mess hall. Col. Hutcheson noted that this is the first presentation for the Cook of the month award. It shall be continued henceforth on a monthly basis, and it has the full approval and backing of Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, post commander, said Hutcheson. All major commands on post will nominate a cook for this — a ward each month. These chosen will appear before a board of food service personnel and judging by appearance and answers to technical questions, the board will choose the man most fitting to be Cook of the Month.

Specialist Anderson is the son of Mrs. Lillian Anderson of 1238 NE 32nd St., Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

"Oh, come now, sailor... Don't you think I've me liberty or give me death" is overrating it a bit?"

Army Materiel Command celebrates a decade of service

AVSCOM, ECOM, MECOM, MCOM, MESCO, TACOM, WECOM, TESCO and SAFLOG. If it sounds like verb conjugation, guess again.

Pronounced with a rhythmic beat, these words could be mistaken for a new acid-rock hit. Actually, they are closely related to practically everything we use in the Army. These nine words are important to all soldiers, but, unless you're knowledgeable of logistics, you probably haven't heard of them.

These words are the acronyms for the nine major subordinate commands of the Army Materiel Command (AMC), which celebrated its 10th anniversary on Aug. 1.

In spite of the fact that AMC has been with us for 10 years, few soldiers realize just how important AMC is to them.

For 10 years, every item of equipment — from bulldozers to bullets, from missiles to boots, from trucks to bolts — that a soldier uses in his mission has been provided through AMC efforts.

AMC has some 83 military installations and more than 100 activities in the continental United States and throughout the world. Some idea of its magnitude and complexity is suggested by its current inventory of nearly $30 billion worth of things like helicopters, communications equipment, missiles, weapons and ammunition, tanks and other mobile equipment and anything else the Army needs in the way of materiel.

About half of this inventory is in the hands of the troops at any given time. The names of the nine AMC commands define the type of materiel they had or the function.

AVSCOM is the U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command. Besides arsenals, proving grounds, AMC operates laboratories for research and development on many materiel problems and projects. The AMC depot system includes

MUCOM is the U.S. Army Munitions Command. TACOM is the U.S. Army Tank-Automotive Command. WECOM is the U.S. Army Weapons Command. TESCO is the U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command. Vindictive rip-off is self-defeating

BY ROLAND McDUGALD
From the Ft. Lewis Provo

Rip-off in the name of brotherhood. Who loses when a black soldier mugs a fellow GI or robs a bank, or shoots up "brother mean" in a need to be high?

You know damn well who loses. The black becomes the universal suspect, subject to harassment by those delegated the duty of "law enforcement."

After a mugging a witness is asked: "How many of them were there?" "He is apt to say "I don't know." "Were they big, were they small, how were they dressed?"

The same answer: "I don't know." "Well then, what DO you remember?" "They were black."

That rarely fails to stick, the one element of description that stays in the mind of the victim.

They were black. After that, many times the other "facts" of the incident start to fall together — "He was a big one with a black power band on... the little one had on glasses. They must have been sun glasses... etc."

The man's memory is not what I'm criticizing. I just don't enjoy someone exposing me to victimization by police or anybody else.

A brother knows that before he is anything else, he is black. If he is a sergeant major, he is a black sergeant major, if he is a lawyer, he is a black lawyer. When one reads of a Senator Brooks or a General Day, one reads of the "black senator from Massachusetts" and the "black general."

From the hip . . .

The reason this provocative miss is so happy is because she just found out about the increase in mileage payments for service people driving their own cars between CONUS assignments.

"The rates stay the same," she explained to us, "but there is an increase in payments due to a more realistic measurement of the distance between cities."

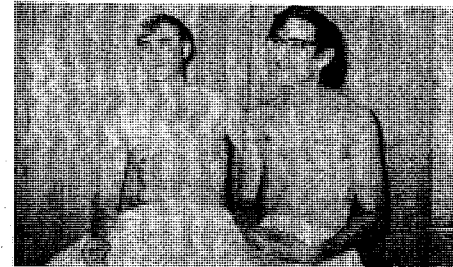

Exercise of the Week

Once again we find ourselves getting bored with the old "10-of-11, 10-of-11" physical training regime. So, let's take a breather this week and see if we can't find a non-athletic activity that will help trim the fat.

Whether you're a victim of "Dunlap's Disease" ("Look, sir, it's Dun laps right over my belt.") or the 197th, or the prized porker in your IOAC class, we feel certain that the sauna bath facility at the new main post gym off Sightseeing Road will appeal to you.

Once you've luridated in the heat of the gym's sauna; once you've observed the old body armor melt before your eyes, you too will become a firm believer of the benefits of this Swedish import. The sauna is just one of the many activities to be found at the gym. If you dig squash, basketball, weightlifting or just trying to look like a "jack" why not give it a try. You'll be glad you did.

In the meantime, jog a little to keep up the old wind and keep doing those steps. We'll be back next week with another exercise guaranteed to utilize those underused muscles.

Sweat! Enjoy the Sauna

OPO limits Christmas PCS shifts

WASHINGTON (ANF) — The Office of Personnel Operations (OPO) in Washington has announced a plan for reducing involuntary permanent change of station (PCS) movements to a minimum during the Christmas-New Year holiday period.

This year, when Department of the Army makes assignments which require movement during the month of December, the movement will be required to the ultimate unit of assignment between Dec. 1 and 20.

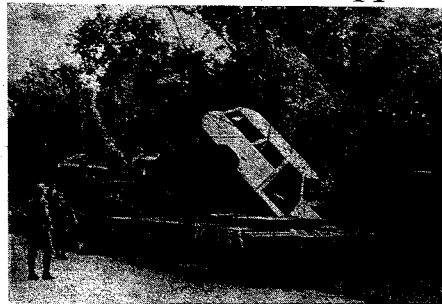

Fig movement during January, DA will require all movements to ultimate units be completed between Jan. 6 and 21.

Intra-conus movements, persons with rank of E1-E4 must request port call dates between Dec. 1 and 18 or between Jan. 6 and 31, as the case may dictate. E5's and above must request port call dates between Dec. 1 and 19 or between Jan. 6 and 31. Dates between Jan. 6 and 10 will be accepted in individual cases.

The most part in intra-conus assignments, reporting dates will be scheduled between Jan. 6 and 10 and between Jan. 20 and 21.

In the past, PCS movements have only been stopped for a five-day period during Christmas for personnel enroute overseas. Now limits were in effect on intra-conus travel.

Abandoned cars stripped down and used as targets

Capt. Anthony C. Martin (left) and Capt. Walter P. Smith look on as Sp4 Jack Brookshire guides an old station wagon body onto a lowboy truck bed. Driving the 5-ton wrecker, but not pictured, is Pvt. Robert Gorboda. The men are moving old cars and other vehicles that have been dumped in wooded areas on Post to the ranges for use as targets. The project is part of the current effort to improve the ecology of Fort Benning.

The Machine Gun Subcommittee of the Small Arms Committee is currently involved in an ecology project that will improve the appearance of a number of areas on Post. Capt. Walter P. Smith and Capt. Anthony C. Martin have undertaken the moving of old cars, stripped down and dumped on the Reservation's outlying edges as targets.

According to Martin, individuals often use the Post as a dumping area for stolen cars which have been stripped of usable parts. The cars are left to rust in many areas on the edge of the Post. These areas are seldom patrolled, and are heavily wooded, making them ideal places to hide vehicles.

The old cars create an eyesore, and getting rid of them is not an easy task. One use they can be put to, however, is that of targets for the many ranges at Fort Benning. Several old cars have already been located, and more can be found to furnish a continuing supply as they are used up by practice shooting.

Work on the project began on Monday, July 21. Smith and Martin, along with Sp4 Jack Brookshire and Pvt. Robert Gorboda, took a lowboy truck and a five-ton wrecker furnished by the 72d Engineer Company to the far end of Moyer Road, on the edge of the Reservation. That morning they loaded a station wagon, a pick-up truck cab, and a sedan onto the lowboy and took them to an interim location between a North Galloway and Coolidge Ranges of Jamesstown Road. Along with other vehicles, they will be moved at a later date to North Galloway Range, where they will actually be used as targets.

Mrs. Orwin C. Talbott, right, and Mrs. John R. Walker enjoy Mexican melodies performed by Mrs. Walker's son John. (U.S. Army Photo by Jose Hernandez)

Wives conduct Mexican buffet

Ladies of the Infantry Officers Advanced Course (4-72) held their fifth fiesta to function at the supper club July 27.

Special guests at the fiesta included Mrs. Orwin C. Talbott, wife of the post commander; Mrs. A. G. Norris, wife of the TSB commander; Mrs. John R. Walker, Jr., wife of the 1st Bn. TSB commander and Mrs. Walter L. Phillips, wife of the 1st Bn. chaplain.

Engulfed in the spirit of old Mexico, the ladies sipped refreshments while listening to the Mexican melodies played by John Walker, son of Lt. Col. Walker.

After the invocation by Mrs. Phillips, the ladies adjourned to the buffet table where they were regaled with such delicacies as beef enchiladas, Spanish rice, chalupas, Mexican salad, soft tortillas with butter and hot sauce. For dessert, sopapillas with honey and Mexican chocolate were served.

The burlap and paper flower arrangements that graced the head table served as door prizes along with a gourmet calendar donated by Mrs. Talbott.

Mrs. Ted C. Chilcote, the class treasurer, recently returned from Mexico bearing gifts. She brought miniature bean pots and cornucopias as favors for all in attendance.

197th wives gather for operatic coffee

An evening of opera with selections from three operas was explained and presented by Mrs. Robert Bifano to the Headquarters, 197th Infantry Brigade ladies and their guests at the monthly coffee. First selection was Susanna, a contemporary opera by Carlisle Floyd, Peggy sang Susanna's aria from the 2nd Act; and two selections from Puccini's La Boheme, Mimì's song (Si, Mi Chiamano Mimì), and Musetta's waltz song (Quando Mia Vo). The program was concluded with Gian Carlo Menotti's, The Medium, and Peggy singing Mimì's aria from the 2nd Act.

Mrs. Thomas Griffin and Mrs. Robert Bifano were hostesses for the function in the Normandy Room, Main Officers' Club.

Mrs. Charles Aracoe introduced special guests, Mrs. John Allen, mother of Mrs. Bifano; Mrs. Thomas Miller, sister of Mrs. Larry Aaron; Mrs. Robert Balog; Mrs. Donald Warren; Mrs. Richard Rowe, Mrs. Bifano's piano accompanist and Mrs. William Inabnit.

Mrs. Talbott greets wives

Mrs. Orwin C. Talbott, wife of the post commander, greets newcomers to the Fort Benning Officers' Club at the OWC Newcomers Office on July 26.

Informative luncheon given by wives club

An afternoon of good tastes, both artistic and flavorful, was experienced by the Infantry Officers' Advanced Course 5-72 Wives' Group, July 11, in the Corregidor Room, Fort Benning Officer's Open Mess. At the luncheon sponsored by the third platoon wives, the ladies moved from table to table sampling selected beverages and cheeses and viewing the fine artwork of Mr. Will Brown.

Guests were able to ask questions about domestic and foreign wines and wine-collecting of an expert from a national wine-production concern who was on hand for the occasion. Likewise, the wives' group viewed artist Will Brown in action, as he used Mrs. William G. Berg to model for a charcoal portrait.

The displayed work of Mr. Brown showed this talented and with other mediums, oils and water-color particularly.

Decorations, provided by committee members Mrs. Berg, Mrs. Robert J. McMurine, Mrs. Eric J. Nelson, and Mrs. Harold R. Clarke of the third platoon, included the impressive display of art and tables for serving the wine and cheese. Tables were covered with green and yellow cloths and were decorated with wine-bottles, cheese-boards, and baskets. Colors of green, yellow, and orange predominated. In the entry, tables were similarly decorated, and one of the privileged artist Will Brown in action, as he used Mrs. William G. Berg to model for a charcoal portrait.

The painting was won by Mr. Brown, was displayed. Mrs. Ronald P. Sussler.

Events for coming year announced by NCO Wives

BY PAITY ERCK
The NCO Wives Club's tentative calendar of events for the coming year:

The club's business meeting is held the second Wednesday of each month. The luncheon on the third Wednesday and breakfast bunge, the fourth Wednesday.

This month the luncheon will be held at Crain Hall. A sherry hour will precede the luncheon.

At the July luncheon Dr. Agatha Thrush will discuss weight watching and good health habits.

During August the club will have a family picnic. There will be activities of Come one... come all... to the Flea Market tomorrow at the Thrift Shop. Stalls will be set up in the yard and can be rented by military families to sell anything "old or new, used or abused." Call 245-4890 or 245-1830 for a reservation.

The entire Thrift Shop complex: The Country Store, The Bargain Barn and The Talent Tree will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For your convenience, BankAmericard can be used at the three shops.

An added feature to the day's festivities will be a demonstration on decoupage and quilting.

While in the area, be sure to see Mikki Dillon's "one-man show" at The Talent Tree. This artist's work is a delight to the eye, and will be featured through the week of Aug. 19.

PANHELLENIC
The Panhellenic Organization of Fort Benning and Columbus held a cook-out at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Dan DeVore on July 22 for its members and their husbands.

New members to the group, Mrs. William Koehler and Mrs. William Figgins, were welcomed.

The members of this group are available to assist girls, in this area, who are going away to school in the near future and are interested in joining a sorority.

OWC opens season with welcome coffee

The 1972-73 Officers' Wives' Club Board began its social season with a coffee in the OWC Lounge on July 26. Over 100 newcomers attended. Mrs. Walter Root, President, and Mrs. Orwin C. Talbot, Honorary President, extended a warm welcome to all. Mrs. Root then introduced each of the new board members who explained her individual responsibilities with the future interesting monthly programs, the more than thirty varied classes, The Ceramics Shop, the Thrift Shop, the School of Dance, while asking for interested participants and advice.

While enjoying the endless array of tasty treats prepared by the board members, everyone then received Mrs. Zeta Pogue, of the Columbus Humane Society, followed by Mrs. James J. W. Biggers Jr., Executive Director of the Historic Columbus Foundation, who explained the foundation and showed a slide presentation as illustration.

Before the coffee was concluded with a tour of The Talent Tree and Thrift Shop, the guests were shown glimpses of the pleasures to come through the sculptured candle decorations, scrapbooks and photographs. Of course, this year will be bigger and better than ever before.

Carpeuter and Frank E. Moody. Farewells were said to Mesdames William C. Carpe, III, Ben S. Malcom, Anthony E. Bicans and Richard W. Dawson.

The theme for the coffee was "See Georgia First". There were pamphlets available on things to see and do in Georgia for the guests to take with them. The centerpiece on the main table was a watermelon basket filled with fruit, doughnuts, ham biscuits, coffee and food tea were also served.

MEDICAL

Wives of the MEDICAL DEPARTMENT ACTIVITY will meet on August 11 at 10 a.m. in the FBOOM Supper Club. Mr. Joe Powell, well-known horticulturist with a degree from the University of Georgia, will hold a clinic on gardening for this area from now through fall. Mr. Powell encourages Mediac wives to bring in plant material for identification as to species and care. Membership registration for the coming season will begin this day. Hostesses for the coffee will be the wives of the departments of Mental Hygiene and Psychiatry, led by Mrs. Herbert See. Reservations may be made through your caller or directly with reservations chairman, Mrs. George Kerr Jr., 545-3500, no later than August 8. Deadline for cancellations is noon, Aug. 9.

DPT

Approximately 80 men and ladies of DIRECTORATE OF PLANS AND TRAINING gathered for a dinner in the Fountain Room of the Officers'

Open Mess on July 21. Following the sit-down dinner, there was entertainment in the Supper Club by Freddie Cole, brother of the late Nat King Cole, a late center of fresh white mums was won by Mrs. Willie R. Jacobs.

Col. Roy R. May Jr. welcomed the following newcomers to DPT: Col. and Mrs. Robert Bushing, Col. and Mrs. Theron Hill, Maj. and Mrs. Wayne Bojes, Maj. and Mrs. Harry Teasley, Capt. and Mrs. Michael Cavanaugh, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Glaza, Capt. and Mrs. John Killip, and Capt. John Carter.

OWC

The OWC SCHOOL OF DANCE is preparing for an exciting year. On the agenda will be classes in Pre-Ballet, Ballet, Tap and Hinnu. Sojia Manzi, who is the director of the Swinger Ballet Theater, will be the instructor for the fourth year. Assisting her will be Karen Purman, who will also be introducing Hindu, a form of Indian dancing.

Registration will be held at the School of Dance Building (1222) located next to the Thrift Shop, on the 17th and 18th of August from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Dance classes will begin in Sept. and are open to all military dependents. For further information contact Mrs. William Azam at 545-3377 or Sojia Manzi at 563-2544.

OWC CLASSES
Teenagers: Interested in having twice as many clothes for the same amount of money? Learn to sew. Not only will you save money but you won't see someone else wearing your new outfit because you'll have created your own. The classes will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from August 7-18 at the OWC lounge. Basic and advanced classes will be taught if enough interest is shown. There will be six lessons for $15. Call Mrs. Gene McLendon at 682-2222 or Mrs. Jon Sullman at 544-1136.

Stretch and Sew classes are running all summer. Join the two-lesson course and learn to make tee shirts, raglans and tank tops for the whole family at 682-2222 or Mrs. Jon Chesley Walk at 545-1000 for information on the next class.

Help is still needed in the area of Bridges, charm and children's art. Call Mrs. Sullman if interested.

puppets for the big day. From the response to the sample puppets at the coffee, this should be a very popular item at the bazaar in December.

The 1971 Infantry Brigade is sponsoring the Hospitality Wagon at Martin Army Hospital on August 15. Mrs. John Fountain will represent the Sp. Bn. with cookies baked by Mrs. Dale Kays and Mrs. Ronald Tye.

Everynoon was renamed the Country Store's Flea Market to be held August 5 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. During this time, one of the members of the Sp. Bn. Wives' group, Mrs. Wendell (Mikki) Dillon, will be having a one-man show of her art at the Talent Tree.

A warm welcome was given Mrs. Fountain, the battalion's newest member. The ladies bid food farewells to Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. Michael Lynch.

The ladies were reminded to mark Sept. 20 on their calendars—the Brigade Headquarters group is sponsoring a luncheon show, skirt and luncheon for all the Brigade ladies.

Hostesses for this month's coffee were Mrs. Tye and Mrs. George Guhl, both from the 72nd Engineer Company. Their menu was an array of gastronomic delights from around the globe. As the guests arrived, they received delicious Claret-Sauterne punch with strawberries and orange slices floating in it. After the business meeting everyone moved to the refreshment table where there were platters of Spritz cookies, Hungarian Horns, chocolate chip cookies and Souffle au Glace a l'Orange avec Saucio Bernadotte—a scoop-out orange half filled with whipped cream egg custard, Cointreau, dry white wine, ground loaded almonds, macaroons and marrons (French nuts). This is frozen, topped with meringue and browned, then a sauce of chopped orange pulp, sugar, Chops Marmer and whipped cream is ladled over it.

For a centerpiece, Mrs. Guhl made candleholders of different heights from baby food jars to hold red, white and yellow candles, which were accented by Mrs. Robert E. Stalser acting as hostesses.

Welcomed into the battalion were Mesdames Ed Quinn, Danny Davis, Roy Hollins and William Daniels. Farewell was said to Mrs. Robert Steiner. The hostesses served cream puffs, a variety of mints, coffee, and iced tea.

Directors: Gross, Grandel lend skill to Dramatizer production

What job at Fort Benning requires knowledge of lighting techniques, sound, literature, psychology, carpentry and painting? Directing a production of the Fort Benning Dramatizers, the post theater group.

Because of the taxing job requirements, the work is usually split between the two people. For the current Dramatizers' production, "Winnie the Pooh," which opens tonight, co-directors are Sp5 Edward L. Gross III and 1st Lt. Jeffrey Grandel.

Although this is his first attempt at directing a production, Ed Gross has had considerable experience in theater in general and children's theater in particular, with roles in "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Pinocchio," "The Brave Little Tailor" and "The Wizard of Oz" to his credit.

What is the end result of all this work? It's opening night, which is tonight at 7:30 at the post playhouse, Bldg. 1237. Additional performances are scheduled for Aug. 5, 11, and 22 at 7:30 p.m. and also tomorrow at 10 a.m. and noon.

Admission for each performance will be 50 cents. For further information, call the playhouse at 545-2832.

Minority studies top list at post libraries

Interested in Black and other minorities studies? Your Special Services Libraries have books just waiting for you. A bibliography of Black studies has recently been completed and is available at all libraries. Some books of interest are:

- The Negro Genius by Benjamin A. Rawley. An appraisal of the achievement of the American Negro in literature and the fine arts.
- Black America, John Szed. This absorbing volume shows how Blacks have developed their own cultural strengths in music, literature, religion and art and its pervasive influence on American culture.
- Los Majados: the web-back story, Julian Somera. A commentary on those who smuggle and exploit our neighbors from the south.
- Dr. Somera dedicates his book to "those valiant men, women and children, whose suffering is so basic to our affluence."
- The Indian Heritage of America, Alfred M. Hooper Jr. This volume encompasses the whole range — historical and cultural — of Indian life of all the major Indian cultures from Alaska to Patagonia.
- Disfranchised, Dale Van Every. Powerful and moving story of the events preceding the removal Act, its effect on the Eastern Indians and the significance it had, and has, for all Americans.

What is the main difference between acting in a show and directing it? According to Gross, "It's the difference between playing in and conducting the symphony orchestra. The musician or the actor is concerned only with his own part, but the director must be able to blend all the different parts and the technical aspects of the show into a coherent whole."

The technical work for "Winnie the Pooh" will be handled by Jeff Grandel, who also has considerable experience in children's theater, including directing the Dramatizers' production of "The Wizard of Oz" last summer.

"The set comes first," said Grandel when asked about the first consideration in technical work. "You must have a set which matches the mood of the show and complements the action on the stage."

"Once the director declines what he wants in the way of sound and lighting effects," he explained, "he has to set these up and coordinate the timing with the actors."

if it is a play, he added, "you have to have any special effects the show requires, which was a job for 'Winnie the Pooh.'"

What is the main difference between acting in a show and directing it? According to Gross, "It's the difference between playing in and conducting the symphony orchestra. The musician or the actor is concerned only with his own part, but the director must be able to blend all the different parts and the technical aspects of the show into a coherent whole."

'Patton' is back again

Movie Review by Dale Wilson

Returning to post theaters by popular demand is one of the better movies to be produced in the last few years. "Patton" has it all: good acting, good dialogue, excellent photography and a gripping and accurate screen play.

George C. Scott, who plays the title role, created quite a furor last year when he refused to accept the Oscar he won for excellent photography and being best actor of the year.

However, in spite of his ingratitude, his performance is worth seeing again. However, the invasion bugs down, and at Bradley's request, Patton is given command of the Third Army. With Patton striking from the south and Montgomery's and Hodges hammering from the north, the front opens and the Germans are pushed back into their own territory.

In December, 1944, a colossal counter-offensive launched by the Nazis sets Hodges' First Army into pellmell retreat. It is one of Patton's units, the 4th Armored Div., which relieves the pressure on Bastogne and spearheads the final assault into the Fatherland.

It is Patton's greatest moment. The war has been won, his forces reach as far as Czechoslovakia. He is heralded as America's fighting general.

But the picture is tarnished when, once again, Patton makes remarks that earn him disfavor on the home front. Scheduled to return to the states, the general is fatally injured in an automobile accident and dies without returning to his country to receive credit for his deeds.

Doughboys split with Ft. Campbell

Frank Baker allowed only one hit as the Doughboys won the first game in splitting a series with Fort Campbell, 4-1 and 2-4, at Gowdy Field last Friday and Saturday.

The series kept Benning three games behind Campbell in 3rd Army Western Div. standings, with only two games remaining for the season. Campbell finished regular season play with a 10-9 record while Benning's is 6-4.

In the first game Benning scored all their runs in the 5th with the help of two errors and three hits. Catcher Weldon and first baseman Cooper led the hitting for the Doughboys with a couple hits apiece.

The second game (Saturday) was highlighted by Eagle Jerry A. Burkes' homer giving Fort Campbell their victory as the Doughboys' Baker lost his first game of the season.

This weekend the Doughboys will play a two game series against the Macatlan Blues at Gowdy Field. The first game will start at 7 p.m. tonight and the second at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Warming up for 3rd Army Tournament

Boxing Team coach, SSgt. Granville Walker (R) of Headquarters Command adjusts headgear for PFC Michael Abner of Co. A, 1st Bn., (MECH) 58th Inf. (PATRIOTS), 197th Inf. Bde.

PFC Vincent Davidson of Co. C, 1st Bn., 58th Inf., 197th Inf. Bde., skips the speed rope to keep in shape.

Boxing

When the 3rd Army Boxing Tournament begins next winter, almost every one of the representatives from Fort Benning will be from the 197th Inf. Bde.

The 3rd Army Novice Boxing Tournament will last from Nov. 6 to 10. In this tournament boxers who have fought three or fewer times can qualify. After these novice matches, fighters are then classified as being open boxers, or those with over three matches to their credit.

The boxers having the best showing at the novice tournament in Ft. Campbell, Ky., will then be selected to participate in the 3rd Army Open Tournament beginning in January 1973.

Benning's team has only nine members undergoing practice right now, but coach SSgt. Ramville Walker of Headquarters Command says, "We hope to enlist a lot more tryouts for the team in the upcoming weeks."

Of the nine members of the boxing team, eight of them are from the 197th Inf. Bde. Only one of these men, PFC Luis Perez of HHC, 197th Sp. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde., has previous fight experience. Perez, who has a total of 11 fights to his credit will not be participating in the novice tournament, but is getting in shape for the open tourney in January as well as helping out the members of the team that are new to the boxing world.

Banning leads in Pioneer bowling

On July 24 members of the 1st Bn., 25th Inf., (PIONEERS), 197th Inf. Bde., loaded up their "covered wagons" with bowling balls and headed for the Kelley Hill bowling alley for a battalion size tournament.

Every company in the 128th was represented with five team members and two alternates from each. All five teams had a high scoring night with Headquarters and Headquarters Co. taking the lead for opening night with a 2836 series.

High series of the night was 2nd Lt. Robert Banning of Co. A, with a 592 series, while Sgt. John Fones of HHC took high game honors with a whopping 214.

The PIONEER tournament will run every Monday night through Aug. 14 and on Aug. 21. Lt. Col. Robert Faulkender, Battalion commander, will present awards for the tournament.

Strike!

Inf. Bd. splashes 609th in Aviation softball

The U.S. Army Infantry Board pounded out 19 rain-soaked hits to beat the 609th Transportation Company 17-3 in an Aviation Command Six - Pitch Softball game played July 28.

Harvey Lee, starting his second game at 3rd base for the Board, played brilliantly at that position and rapped three hits and three RBI's to inspire the Board hitting attack. Triples by Steve Joyal, Pank, Humphrey, and Harvey Saudade, plus a home run by Chuck Selander, highlighted a seven-run fourth lining uprising.

The 609th collected nine hits off Board pitcher Gary Mercer, but were limited to just three runs as good outfield hustle kept runners from taking extra bases and getting in scoring position.

The Board's record, now 12-3, keeps them one full game ahead of second place 202d Avn. Co. and 831st Engr. Group.

Foreign military visit Talladega

TALLADEGA, Ala. — The foreign military personnel in training at Fort Benning will experience an exciting phase of American life, Sunday, Aug. 6. They will be the honored guests of the Alabama International Motor Speedway for the Fourth Annual Talladega "500" stock car races.

Officials at the speedway feel that the Talladega will provide the group an insight to the recreational and sporting activities of the American people. An understanding of U.S. customs and attitudes at work and at play, leads to better international relations.

Race time is set for 1 p.m. Sunday.

CAN YOU FIND THE $2300 DIFFERENCE?

Mercedes-Benz 250—1728* Volvo 164—1685*

Considering the sizable difference in price, you'd expect to find a sizable difference in lots of other things. But when you visit our Volvo showroom, you'll see that less money doesn't necessarily buy less automobile.

Take size for instance. The Mercedes 250 isn't even the bigger car. The Volvo 164 is roomier inside. And it has a bigger trunk.

SIZE ALONE IS NOT A BIG ENOUGH REASON TO PAY LESS.

In the comfort area, the Mercedes and the Volvo both have fully-reclining bucket seats. But only Volvo comes with an adjustable lumbar support to make the seat backs firmer or softer. And when you sit in a Volvo 164, you sit on leather. In the Mercedes, you're enveloped in vinyl.

When it comes to handling, Volvo and Mercedes are pretty close. Both cars have a shorter turning radius than VW. Power steering. And power disc brakes on all four wheels.

Unlike Volvo, Mercedes does come with a fully independent suspension. One for Mercedes. But unlike Mercedes, Volvo comes with radial tires. One for us.

IF YOU WANT THE CAR WITH BETTER PERFORMANCE, YOU'LL HAVE TO PAY LESS FOR IT.

Our Volvo 164 will not only stay with the Mercedes 250, but leave it behind. A fuel-injected three-liter engine makes our car faster than the Mercedes and its carburetors. As Road & Track magazine found out when they timed the two. (Come in for a test drive. You'll find out fast that a big difference in price doesn't always mean a big difference in performance.)

Another thing Mercedes gives you that Volvo doesn't is that three-pointed star on the hood.

But for $2300 you can buy a lot of stars. And the moon, too.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

Notes

by BILL KLOER

Three members of the Rod and Gun Club collected the club July fishing derby.

SFC Goward Dobbs, 14th Company, TSB had the largest bream. His entry came from Snelling Pond and weighed in at 12-ounces. Master Sergeant (ret.) Cecil Richardson, 2706 Norris Road registered the largest catfish caught during July. His catch weighed 6-pounds, 12-ounces. He took it while using a catappa worm at Twilight Pond. The bass prize went to CWO (ret.) Bryerton Davis, 2030 Luckie Street. His entry went 9-pounds, 7-ounces on the club scales. He caught it at Harps Pond with a black flip tail worm.

The Rod and Gun Club holds a fishing derby each month of the year. All members are eligible to win prizes provided they register at the club prior to fishing. All fish must be taken to one of the post ponds and brought to the club for weighing and registration. Fish caught after the normal operating hours of the club may be brought in and registered the next day.

Lounge Has Music

The country music band was a big hit in the club lounge weekend before last. The country music fans will be glad to know that Jim, Sam, Earl and Ed will be back again tomorrow evening. They will start playing at 7 p.m. and keep going until closing time. Bring the family and enjoy an old fashioned Saturday night.

Ponds Need Police

The ponds and recreation areas are in a deplorable state of police. There isn't an area that doesn't need some major clean up.

There is a reason for this. During the past year a big percentage of the reservation police was done by civilian workers paid by VOLAR funds. The VOLAR funds were cut off at the end of June and this source of labor had to be reduced.

It appears that the extra labor had a bad effect on the habits of some post personnel who use the ponds and recreation areas. They must have gotten into the habit of just leaving trash anywhere knowing someone would be around later to pick up their mess. That's not the case anymore. If you throw it down it will probably stay there for a while.

The big trouble is that it's so much easier for people to add to litter. If they are in an area that is dirty it doesn't seem so bad to just add to the filth. A person thinks a little before he will drop trash in an area that is clean but it appears that the only way these places will become clean again is for those who use them to clean them up.

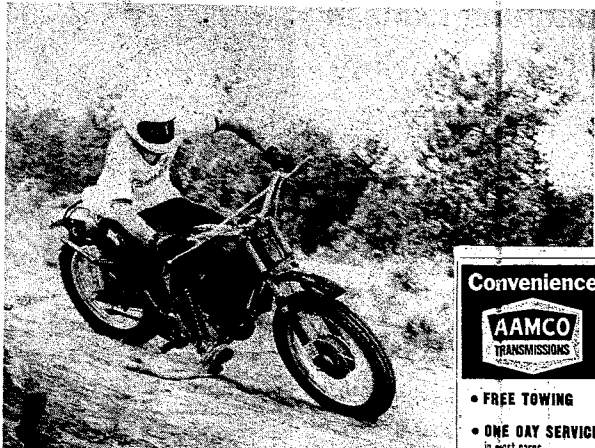

Some of the areas have become so littered that they are no longer suitable for use. At Twilight and Victory Ponds some fishermen have cleaned catfish right on the shore and left the undesired parts on the ground. The filth and the dogs make much of the shoreline near these areas unsuitable.

In the past when areas got into a bad state of police various units have taken on the clean up job as special projects but each time after awhile the trash gradually builds up again and sooner or later they need a major clean up job again. The last project was accomplished by departments of the Infantry School. They even had volunteers on duty at some of the ponds to check on the police for some time after the project was completed. The litter watches were discontinued during the winter months and the police of the areas began to deteriorate again.

All of the people using these areas are not litterers. If they were there wouldn't be a clear space on the banks of any pond. It's only a small percentage who don't seem to have any respect for the rights of others or themselves. Disrespectful, signs, handy receptacles — nothing seems to have any effect on them.

The Columbus city council enacted an ordinance last week which may be an answer to the problem. Judges of the city courts are now authorized to sentence litterers to eight hours of policing city streets.

Wonder what the reaction would be to a group of disgruntled people on Benning Boulevard during the noon hour followed by a safety vehicle equipped with a sign reading "CAUTION—LITTERBUGS ARE POLICING THE HIGHWAY."

Gustin is champion in California tourney
1st Lt. Robert A. Gustin, Sacramento, Calif., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning slammed a sizzling 3,192 in a possible 3,200 points into his target July 30 to win the Grand Aggregate Championship of the 17th Annual Small-bore Rifle tournament held here.

His nearest competitor, civilian marksman Douglas Tavok, was four back while third place honors were grabbed by Capt. Edward Schumacher, a companion of Gustin's, who also rolled up a 3,188 but with less X count.

Army marksmen, led by Gustin, Schumacher and fellow marksmen 1st Lt. William Board nudged the hapless competitors in three of the four Iron Sight matches with Schumacher taking the series aggregate. He posted a four match total of 1,593 for the Iron Sight Championship while Gustin was one down for runner up and Board placed third with 1,591.

In the Any Sight series of matches, Gustin failed to place in only the 100 yard event which was taken by a civilian marksman, F. B. Archer with a perfect 400 and 56X. Tavok was down one X count for runner-up and Maj. John Foster, Phoenix, Ariz., and the MTU were one further down for third place.

The other three match results showed Gustin in the thick of the decision makers in which all shots were in the bullseye and the X count determined the winners.

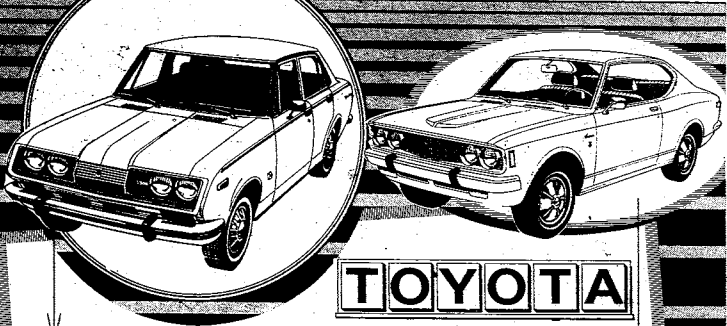

Vaulting from his top performance in the three matches, Gustin grabbed the Any Sight Aggregate and Championship with all of his shots in the bullseye for a 1,600. He had 180 of his shots in the very center of the bullseye or X.

Planning

Col. Ziperman said that in its total context, planned parenthood refers to more than just child spacing and preventing conception. It refers also to the increased enjoyment which is derived by a family whose size and development are not interfered with by unexpected or unwanted pregnancies. It implies a family which is able to plan for the future of that family and be reasonably certain that the future is achievable.

Appointments for the clinic can be made through the Obstetrics-Gynecology Clinic. On Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the clinic will be open between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. Evening hours of 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday will help enable husbands to accompany their wives. Capt. Kerr and Lt. Truex stress the desirability of the husband's participation. They feel that close cooperation of husband and wife with the clinician will ensure the greatest benefit.

Signs

Pavement markings too, will undergo significant changes. Yellow will be of greater importance as yellow lines will be used on all two-way roadways to differentiate from the dashed white lines used on multi-lane one-way roadways. In addition, yellow lines will be used to mark occasional left exit lanes on divided roadways where traffic cannot pull entirely off the road and for the marking of obstructions and islands which must be passed on the right.

It is hoped that by the introduction of these signs, driving will be made easier and safer for everyone and that the traffic accident rate will be tremendously reduced. Work on the new signs.

Waterbed?

Personnel of the 4th Bn. (airborne) TSB, along with Col. Norris, commander of The School Brigade, went to Pell City, Alabama as guests of the 20th Special Forces National Guard to participate in parachute water landings. The excursion was an experiment of the 4th battalion's adventure training program. Using a modified T-16 parachute, the men jumped from a helicopter at 2000 feet. After the main chute is fully deployed, the waist band and left connector assembly on the reserve chute are released. At approximately 50 feet above the water, the safety pin of the quick release assembly is removed and the release mechanism is turned to the unlocked position. At approximately 10 feet above the water, the jumper strikes the quick release assembly leaving only the horizontal straps of the main harness to support him. As the jumper's feet touch the water, he raises his arms and slips out of the parachute. The practice of parachute water landing is a dangerous one. If the parachute is not removed prior to entering the water, the jumper may become entangled.

Education: NCO 'College' to parallel AWC course

Will the enlisted man ever get the benefit of an educational program as sophisticated as the officers' which includes the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College?

You bet he will. Recently, a task force of representatives from service schools and sergeants major from various major headquarters met at Fort Bliss, Texas for the purpose of creating objectives to be reached and a program of instruction for a new educational facility that has been christened the United States Army Sergeants Major Academy. Five general subject areas had been identified before the task force reached Fort Bliss. They were: the Policy and Structure of National Defense — the Army Role; the International Scene; Human Dimensions of Military Professionalism; Military Management, and a Military Electives and College Electives program.

The representatives had just two weeks to create objectives for all these areas and a course of instruction for each.

The instruction that will be presented at this new facility will parallel that of the Army War College. There will be guest speakers and seminars on each subject.

Tentative plans call for the new academy to open in January, 1973. There will be approximately 200 E-5s in each of two classes per year. The course will last for 22 weeks and class members will go to Ft. Bliss on a PCS basis.

The selection of students for the academy will be made by the Department of the Army. The academy will be highly selective in the admission of students.

Service schools represented in the task force included the Army War College, Leavenworth, the Finance School, the Infantry School, The Air Defense Artillery School and the Ordnance School.

The sergeants major in the task force represented major commands such as Continental Army Command, Army Material Command, Combat Developments Command, 1st United States Army Pacific, and the Office of the Chief of Staff.

Gen. Haines to speak at graduation, present paddle to museum

Gen. Ralph E. Haines, commanding general of the U.S. Continental Army Command, (CONARC) today will speak at a Ranger graduation ceremony at Fort Benning and also present a unique cause paddle to The Infantry Museum.

PTA seeks members for new school year

Interested in an experience in which you can share your child's experience?

Fort Benning schools will open their doors Aug. 17 and 18 for registration and to receive memberships into the Parent-Teachers Association (PTA).

Col. Edward M. Bradford, PTA president, stated that the association hopes to have at least 1800 members during the 1972-73 school year.

The membership committee, headed by Maj. Bruce L. Brown, has made the job of joining painless. Representatives of the PTA will accept new members and renew memberships at all Fort Benning schools at the same time the children are registered... 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Several committees have been formed to make this year's association one which will attract the ideas and inspiration of the average parent and teacher.

Programs of interest and variety are in the planning stage. According to Lt. Col. Larry S. Michel, program committee chairman, the final program schedule will be completed shortly.

A Health Committee, under the leadership of MSG Joe Y. Okamoto, will assist the school nurse in obtaining medical material and aids for her program and will work as a liaison with the senior school nurse and Martin Army Hospital.

The Hospitality Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Clark, will supply refreshments at all PTA meetings.

A Publicity Committee, to make sure that information is passed amongst all PTA members will be chaired by Capt. Carl F. King II.

Correspondence and secretarial work falls into the hands of Miss Jeanne Bennett assisted by Mrs. Barbara Wickham. Money matters are to be handled by the treasurer, SSG James R. Adams and his assistant, SFC Richard L. Fields.

Two other paddles from the journey have been presented to Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehike and to General William C. Westmoreland. These two paddles will be displayed at the museums at Fort Lewis, Washington, and at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

The reenactment of the expedition was part of the Special Proficiency at Rugged Training and National Guiding (SERVANT) program, which seeks to provide challenging, adventurous and realistic training for the Special Forces men.

Walter Horton, of Clemson University, was one of the ROTC Cadets who "jumped" a landing zone at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., for the jungle phase of Ranger training. The first increment of ROTC cadets to complete Ranger training will graduate in ceremonies to-

August issue of INFANTRY features British Army

"Without infantry you can do nothing, nothing at all."

"Are you man enough for the Infantry?" So reads the British Infantry's recruiting slogan. The problems of organization, weaponry and recruitment are discussed by Col. Norman L. Dodd (Ret.), United Kingdom Army, in his article "The British Infantry of the Seventies." What is being done to meet the needs demanded by increased emphasis on the mechanized and "air-portable" concept of Infantry? What can be done to solve the problems of recruiting and retaining personnel in the Infantry branch, Col. Dodd explains what the U. K. Army is doing and how it's working.

Professionalism: Willing Self-discipline:
"Why should not the men of the company discipline themselves?" This is the burden of the modern Army officer. Lt. Carl G. Scott writes in his article concerning the Modern Volunteer Army, that professionalism demands that each soldier be given an awareness of the significance of his job and develop the inner discipline to make it his profession.

Ambush the DMZ:
Lt. Col. Orail E. Brookshire discusses in "Bargain Basement Alternative," how relatively inexpensively and successfully the DMZ can be "screened" with automatic ambushes with considerably less effort, time and expense than a guarded McNamara Line.

Force Oriented Defense: Revisited
Maj. Joseph Keyes develops further, from battalion to squad level, the defense when outnumbered and outgunned by enemy armor. Capt. Michael L. Claughey writes a related article in forum advising that the aerially employed mechanical antiarmor ambush (AEMMA) could be used to help slow, disorganize and cripple the numerically superior enemy tank-led assault.

JAMTO NOW SATO

The Joint Airline Military Traffic Office (JAMTO) Building 19, at Fort Benning, changed its designation as of Aug. 8, to the Scheduled Airlines Traffic Office (SATO). The change is in name only, and the Airlines Ticket Office will continue to provide the same services to the Fort Benning community — military, dependent and civilian, as it has for the past 12 years.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Bill King

Tinned foods appeared around 1830, but the can opener wasn't invented until 1890. In the meantime, cooks used coals, ice picks and similar inventive means to get the tins open.

Rub chicken pieces all over with shortening or oil before barbecuing to keep them from sticking to the grill.

You will be able to find the proper lid for each reusable plastic storage container if you use a felt-tip pen to mark lids and bottoms with matching symbols or letters. Try brushing Worcestershire sauce on both sides of bacon slices before pan frying.

Test your salad with about 1/4 tsp. oregano, along with the oil and vinegar, salt and pepper. Add a spicy flavor that's hard to identify.

CL. BUDEN, V.
HEY WILLIE

Capt. Bruce P. Mauldin, son of famed World War II battle cartoonist Bill Mauldin, was sworn into the Regular Army last Monday by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning Commander.

Mauldin, now enrolled in Engineering School at Auburn Ala., is assigned to the Third Army Student Detachment, Fort McPherson. He and his wife and three children live at 670 Kandle Drive, Fort Benning.

The captain's father, whose cartoons of characters Willie and Joe were well known to soldiers of all ranks during World War II, is now a syndicated editorial cartoonist for the Chicago Sun Times.

Mauldin entered the Army in high school after graduating from Porterville, Calif., High School. He attended the U. S. Army Aviation School at Fort Rucker, Ala., graduating in 1964.

He was a helicopter pilot with the 52nd Aviation Battalion in the Republic of Vietnam from June 1964 to May 1966. He returned to Fort Rucker after two years and was assigned to Vietnam for a second tour in September 1967 serving with the 1st Air Cavalry Division.

His awards and decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters; the Bronze Star Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters; Air Medal with 26 Oak Leaf Clusters plus V, and the Purple Heart.

A Specialist takes over command of 89th EOD

BY NEIL DANIEL
Traditionally, the rank of specialist fourth class, has not carried much authority, a fact long and often lamented by Sp4's throughout the Army. But things have taken a strange twist at the 89th EOD, 82nd Engineer Group, for behind the CO's desk sits a Sp4.

The entire company, including the CO, has gone to Redstone Arsenal on temporary duty. As the only remaining member of the company, the command has fallen to Sp4 Robert Tankersley a commander, but for a pastime, he races motorcycles, on Motorcross tracks.

A native of Chatsworth, Georgia, he graduated from Murray High School in 1962. In January 1971 he was drafted into the Army and volunteered for EOD duty. At the age of 35, he bought his first motorcycle, a Honda 50. With this bike, he raced his first Motorcross, which he lost; a few weeks later, he won the bike and was hospitalized.

Undeterred, he was soon ready to give it another try and this time he was more successful. Since that date, he has not stopped racing.

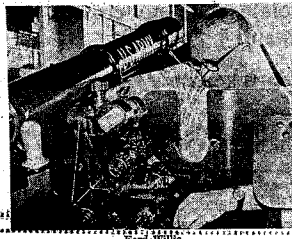

Tankersley races with a pit crew of one, his wife Gail. She enjoys the sport as much as he does and he is grateful for her help. "She really supports me, she understands how I feel and is with me at every meet," said Tankersley.

Shop crew provides big assist

The 2nd Bn, 10th Artillery was dubbed the "Rock's Support" due to their part in the Second Battle of the Marne on July 14, 1918. The "Rock's Support" does not go unsupported, however, and the USAIC Armament Shop No. 3 can attest to that.

Shop 3, headed by Ford Willis and C. E. Whitman in the artillery department, handles all the maintenance on the 240mm howitzers and 160mm mortars.

In the past month, the work load has been especially high for one reason or another, and Battalion Commander, Lt. Col. Curtis F. Hogan went down to Shop 3 and personally thanked the employees for the job they had been doing. Lt. Col. Hogan described the work of the Armament Shop as "fast, tasteful," and "above and beyond the call of duty."

Sound-off: How would you prevent juvenile delinquency? Does jailing or fining help juveniles?

Sp1 Don Smith, from B Company, 1-88th, says "I think we should provide more facilities for kids to use — dances, recreation hall, parks. That way they'll have something to participate in and go to instead of running in the streets. Volunteers should start projects to interest typical teenagers. It's not asking too much to give a few weekend hours to help kids."

Sp5 Carol DuBois says "There should be more organizations for kids in slum areas to belong to. Young people should volunteer to help younger kids become interested in different activities instead of walking the streets. I think police forces should use 20 to 24 year olds as a special group to work with teenagers. Not in uniform, of course. They could communicate better with kids than older people." She works with the MAH Medical Company.

Sp5 Samuel Roncke says "I would try to get a group together to discuss the problem. It wouldn't be just one race or age group meeting. We'd search for ideas. Once we got started and all pitched in, we could get better recreation facilities, better playgrounds, and schools. Laws for child offenders should be different from those applied to adults if they don't know what's wrong." He is with IHHC, 1-88th Infantry.

Pvt. Kimball Stewart, 46th Airborne, says "I would reorganize the high schools by making the programs more relevant and more job related. High school graduates are not well prepared for anything. Parents all too often expect teachers to carry the torch of education to their children. Sadly, they fail to realize the child can better profit by receiving supplementary instruction from them. Parents who take an active interest in their child's education are more apt to find their children receptive to instruction given in the classroom.

It's a three-way street . . . the child, the parent and the teacher . . . all are involved in the common goal of learning.

According to Col. Edward M. Bradford, president of the Fort Benning Parent-Teacher Association, the schools want to comply with the parents' desires . . . but parents must make their desires known before those desires can become part of the schools' program.

During the first Executive Committee meeting of the year on Aug. 3 major emphasis was placed on providing a PTA program that would be of interest to parents and teachers alike. The program committee is still formulating this year's program and hopes to receive constructive comments from any parent or teacher.

An initial membership drive will begin Aug. 17 and 18 in conjunction with the schools' registration. All Fort Benning schools will be open from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m. to receive parents into the Parent Teachers Associations and to register children for the 1972-73 school year.

A parent who understands the school system and becomes a part of the system is much better equipped to cope with student problems and concerns. Don't expect other parents to take up the slack for your children. You owe it to yourself and to your child to participate in the Parents Teachers Association. (CK)

Alabaman saves lightning victim

Mr. James McWhorter will remember Sunday, June 25 for a long time. He and his family had gone to the 25th Baptist Church, south of Troy, Alabama, for the annual reunion, singing and picnic held there for some 75 years. There were about 200 people there to take part in the all-day event.

Shortly after the picnic began, it started to rain and everyone took shelter under the shed roof provided or in their cars. Mr. McWhorter was sitting in his car when lightning struck very close. A few seconds later, his little girl came running up and said that a man had been struck and killed by lightning near the shelter. Mr. McWhorter went immediately to the picnic shelter to try to help. He immediately began mouth to mouth resuscitation and within a few minutes, Mr. Moore started breathing and he was able to help. When he arrived a few seconds later, he saw a young man, Mr. Neal Moore from Montgomery, lying on a bench with people gathered around. His face was starting to turn slightly blue. Mr. McWhorter checked for a pulse and felt a very slight beat on his own. He was taken by car to a hospital in Troy, Alabama, and regained consciousness on Monday. He was later moved to a hospital in Montgomery, Alabama, and has since gone home and is recovering normally.

Mr. McWhorter is a native of Phenix City, Alabama, and is a civilian employee at Fort Benning. He is a maintenance supervisor with the Martin Army Hospital Branch of the Directorate of Facilities Engineering. Because of the nature of his work, Mr. McWhorter has received some training from the hospital in mouth to mouth resuscitation and external heart massage for the treatment of electrical shock. It had been a number of months since he had the training and Mr. McWhorter said that his only thought on the way from his car to where Mr. Moore was lying was "Do I remember how." Fortunately, Mr. Whorter "remember how" and his immediate response saved a life.

90 people attend Phase I Pre-Retirement Session

Ninety military personnel attended a Phase I Pre-Retirement Orientation Session held on July 28 in Infantry Hall. The meeting was sponsored by the Post Retirement Services Office, a division of the Adjutant General Office.

The meeting was open to all military personnel with over 18 years' service who are contemplating retirement. Since 1970, the Retirement Service Office has been holding these meetings for military personnel on a regular basis. Speakers at the meeting were Maj. William E. Davis, Assistant Adjutant General and Chief of the Retirement Services Office.

Mr. Wentworth Beal of the Household Goods Section, Transportation Division; Mr. Don Adams of the Macon Area Office, U. S. Civil Service Commission; and Mr. Leonard A. King of the Small Business Administration Office in Atlanta. Other speakers were Mr. J. Ron Brown from the Social Security Office in Columbus, Mr. Ira M. Howell of the local Georgia State Employment Office, Mr. John Tidwell from the Atlanta Veterans Administration Office, and Mr. S. V. Fierck from Fort Benning's Project Transition Office. After the speakers had completed their presentations, a question and answer period was held. The Phase I meeting is followed by other sessions for military personnel. Phase II includes retirement counseling and Project Referral, and Phase III involves post-retirement counseling.

Maj. Highlander wins national journalism honor

Maj. R. William Highlander, Assistant Editor and Information Officer, USA CATE, has been awarded first prize in a nationwide, annual contest sponsored by the Association for Education in Journalism (AEJ). An abstract of his thesis, "A Study of Attitudes and Opinions of US Army Officers Toward the Command Information Program," was judged to be the best of journalism student papers in the public relations division.

A comprehensive thesis on the U. S. Army Command Information Program, the study focused upon the program as a means of attaining U. S. Army organizational goals. Highlander's research of a 62 per cent cross-section of US Army Officers Toward the Command Information Program, revealed that a divergent

Columbus Alcohol Safety Action Project puts bite on DUI's

By DALE WILSON

Getting shot! Some people like to celebrate this event, and it was hardly unexpected when the specialist four and his back seat friend staggered out of the NCO club and decided to paint Columbus red.

They made it to their car and began a weaving, hurried race to one of the local bistros. Each had had a few drinks more than was necessary as a preliminary to the main event: certainly more than they should have drunk before driving.

Cruising down Victory Drive, the specialist noticed flashing blue lights in his rear view mirror and knew that he was in trouble.

Has this ever happened to you? According to Tom Titus, public information and education coordinator for the Columbus Alcohol Safety Action Project, it has happened to no less than 395 Fort Benning soldiers in the last seven months.

The Columbus Alcohol Safety Action Project (ASAP) is a federally funded organization whose primary duty is to get the drunk driver off the road. A job that is being done well, as is attested to by the fact that ASAP has arrested some 1,200 persons for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI), 385 of whom were military personnel at Fort Benning, since its inception in January of this year.

Not only are you placing yourself in a dangerous situation when you mix alcohol and automobiles, but, said Titus, it can injure your pocketbook as well.

A person arrested for DUI must be held by the Columbus Police Department for at least four hours before he can post bond, explained Titus.

Furthermore, he added, the fine is rather steep. If you appear before the Recorder's Court and plead guilty, you are liable to a $127 fine, 30 days imprisonment, or both. The monetary fine can be raised at the judge's discretion.

If the alleged drinker is brought to state court and pleads guilty, he faces a fine of $125-$150, 30 days imprisonment or both.

Not a pleasant thought, is it? What does it take to join the DUI club? Not much, if you'll pardon the pun.

If the suspected driver is found to have a blood alcohol concentration of 10 per cent., he is considered legally intoxicated and can be arrested for DUI, declared Titus.

For the mathematician who likes to imbibe once in a while, the following formula will assist you in determining how much you can absorb before being legally drunk. Just take these factors into consideration: your weight; the time involved; the proof of the liquor; whether it is beer, wine or whiskey and the contents of your stomach.

You can base your calculations on this: a 200-lb. man, on an empty stomach, can drink six and one-half one ounce 86 proof drinks in one hour before reaching 10 per cent blood alcohol concentration. Two and one-half drinks per hour over a four hour period will also suffice.

In addition to ASAP arrests, approximately 10 other GIs have fallen prey to the Columbus Police Department, said Sgt. Robert H. Kingsbury, the court recorder for the Columbus Military Police.

If you are going to drink, keep this in mind—with a .05 per cent blood alcohol concentration, you have three times greater a chance of having an accident than at 0 per cent. At 10 per cent, your chances are 15 times greater, and, at 1.5 per cent, an astronomical 27 times greater, explained Titus.

It never hurts to pay homage to the old maxim "If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink!"

A killer: Home electricity a deadly servant

Reprinted from the Chanute AFB "This Week"
From behind the walls of your home an invisible servant is always available to make your life easier and more enjoyable.

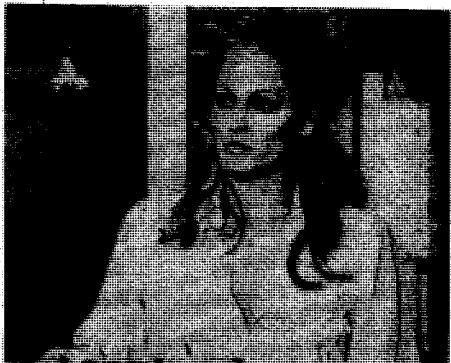

This servant is electricity, a source of power. Electricity is safe when properly used, but when misused or mishandled, this power can be a killer.

More people are killed annually by household electricity (which usually has a current of 115-120 volts) than any other voltage. It usually takes less current to kill than it does to light a 10-watt light bulb.

Nearly everyone has experienced a slight shock or tingle when using a switch, electric tool, or appliance. This "tingle" is a warning sign that your invisible servant is brewing some trouble. Any slight shock means appliances or wiring should be carefully checked and properly repaired.

The opportunities for electrical shock are probably more frequent than ordinarily believed. Everyone should take steps to protect themselves and others from this invisible bazaar. Keep in mind four simple rules:

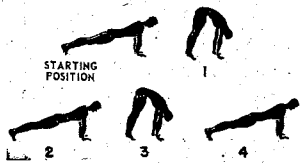

1. Buy only appliances and electrical equipment having a UL (Underwriters' Laboratories) mark.
2. Keep appliances in good condition; repair them when needed, and use them properly.
3. Properly ground all portable tools, except those marked "double insulated," as well as other appliances, particularly where moisture is present.
4. Keep moisture and electricity separate. Moisture makes your body a very good conductor of electricity, and the danger of shock is greatly increased with wet or damp skin.

"Nurse" Ursula Andress takes time out from her busy schedule to tell us that the Army has reversed its decision to exempt personnel 59 or older from random urinalysis testing. "However," she adds, "the elders will still be exempt from 'event' testing—such as DEROS—but must undergo tests for drug use during random sampling."

Exercise of the Week

Bottoms Up

We had a drill sergeant in basic training whose credo was: If you ain't infantry, you ain't fit. This is all well and good, but let's take time to point out that there are nearly nine men for each man in the field.

So, what has this got to do with the exercise of the week? Just a reminder that the backbone of the Army, required to be in excellent condition at all times, there are also many other people who should be concerned with physical fitness.

Which brings us to this week's exercise, the Bottoms Up. The Bottoms Up is the sixth exercise of Army Drill Three. It is a four-count exercise performed at a moderate cadence.

Counts three and four are repetitions of the first two counts.

Whether you're a tank commander, who has trouble squeezing his paunch through the turret, in the 69th Army of the 197th Support Bn., or a typing clerk in 54th Personnel Services Co. who needs long arms to reach his typewriter.

If you're like us, why not ask your training NCO for a copy of Dept. of the Army Field Manual 21-20, Physical Readiness Training, and discover some of the joys of participating in a good personal fitness program.

What, me vote?

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—How many reasons can you find for not voting?

Chances are good that they are limited only by imagination: religious pay taxes, trouble in identifying candidates halfway across the Nation, or even that a state assemblyman would have the good of the service in mind.

Besides the changes that servicemen might achieve could be of very great benefit during their years of retirement.

The same holds true at the municipal level, especially in an era when many military people own property and pay taxes along with the rest of the community.

Those planning retirement—or even those next tour of duty—can make it their business to know the voter's stand there. The community laws, and benefits, now exist far inside what once was an isolated service city.

Army missilemen 'on target'

ICBM not the 'ultimate weapon'

On a dark, moonless night ten years ago, a small group of men convened in a small windowless room in what is now the U. S. Army Missile Command Headquarters at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. They waited for an event to begin which could elevate strategic weaponry to a new level.

The ICBM could be attacked in flight, a tactic vividly described as like "hitting a bullet with a bullet" or "fitting a fly in the sky" as Krushchev put it.

The shot was headlined by large black headlines in the nation's press which had long treated nuclear-tipped ICBMs as a sort of "Dooms Day" weapon against which there was no defense. The Nike Zeus project requested the intercept nine more times developed for just that purpose. The test was underway at the remote Kwajalein test site located in the Marshall Islands.

Just after 2 a.m. on July 19, 1962, the event came. C. E. Richardson, then chief of range and test operations for the Nike Zeus Project members, said: "There was an awful lot of cheering." Richardson is now the chief engineer for the safeguard system command which has its roots in the Nike Zeus project. The tape spelling out the success was a ripped off one of the teletypes and quickly relayed to the Department of the Army where a high level group was keeping a night vigil.

The Army had proved that the ICBM was not the ultimate weapon. The ICBM could be attacked in flight, a tactic vividly described as like "hitting a bullet with a bullet" or "fitting a fly in the sky" as Krushchev put it.

WORLD WIDE BANKING

you can make a deposit at NBFB any place in the WORLD

We invented National Bank of Fort Benning to provide services not readily available at other banking institutions.

Our customers would have banking problems not shared by the general public, like changing banks when they are transferred, or banking for TDY personnel, or what to do while on a hardship tour.

So we built in world wide banking.

That means no matter where you are, either temporarily, or permanently, or if you just happen to be traveling, we can serve you.

People want service and convenience, and we're the "People Bank."

The ladies of the 1st BATTALION 99th INFANTRY (ENGINEERS) held their monthly coffee on July 20 in the home of Mrs. Robert Faulkender. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Al Russell and Mrs. Jerry Cooley.

New members, Mrs. John Mandeville and Mrs. James Hall, were welcomed. Farewells were extended to Mrs. Jon Sittman and Mrs. Carl Underhill.

Mrs. Faulkender presided over the business meeting. Decorations for the OWC luncheon were discussed. Boxes of food were collected for the ACS Food Locker.

A Hall and Farewell for the 1-28th Inf. Bn. was sponsored by Headquarters Company on July 21. It was held in the battalion picnic area on post. A pollock supper was served to the officers and their families.

Karen Furman demonstrates the Hindu dance, which will be offered at the OWC School of Dances in September. This highly expressive dance, originating in India, includes a blend of gestures and movements, danced to the accompaniment of recorded classical and popular Indian music. Pre-ballet, ballet West Point Cadets, were also welcomed.

Final registration for three and four year olds in the Fort Benning Pre-Kindergarten School is August 16 from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. at Bldg. 322 behind the hospital annex.

OWC Officers' Wives' Club sponsors bridge twice a week. Duplicate bridge on Monday at 12:30 p.m. at the Main Club. Bring a partner or call Mrs. Paul Serff at 688-6067. Party Bridge is Thursday at 12:00 p.m. at the Country Club. For more information, call Mrs. Frank Price at 687-6284. "Novice" duplicate is played the first Thursday of every month at 12:30 p.m. at the Country Club. Call Mrs. Serff at 688-6067.

TSB First squad brought fun and frolic to Platoon 4 of Class 6, 1st Student Battalion on July 22 at the 8314 Engineers Lodge with a wine tasting party. Hot and thirsty partygoers enjoyed relief via several brands of wine and cheese artfully chosen by the hostesses: Jo Ann Rich, Ruth Porter, Charlotte Parrie, Kathy Robertson, Chris Robinson, and Kelly Orians. Capt. Rich Parrie received many toasts and felicitations on the occasion of his birthday, and platoon members joyfully experimented well into the evening by tasting various types of wine and cheese. This new twist to an old tune provided 4th platoon with an especially memorable evening.

197TH Mrs. Jim Whitley and Mrs. Chuck James were hostesses for the monthly coffee for the wives of officers of the Second Bn., 10th Artillery on July 18. Mrs. Curtis Hogan welcomed three new members to the group: Mrs. Steve Mahone, Mrs. Allan D. Baldwin, and Mrs. Corneil Haxelton. After a brief business session, the ladies enjoyed refreshments of cake,melon and punch.

Benning Wife of Year to leave

Mrs. G. Norman Batten, wife of Maj. G. Norman Batten and Fort Benning Wife of the Year for 1972, will be leaving Fort Benning soon. Maj. Batten, executive officer, 1st Battalion TSB, is being assigned to the Army Materiel Command in New Jersey.

Mrs. Batten was named Military Wife of the Year last November. She was selected for her service to post and community, her active participation in programs that further people-to-people relationships, and her poise and speaking ability.

Mrs. Orwin C. Talbot, wife of Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Commanding General, headed the panel which selected Mrs. Batten as Military Wife of the Year at Fort Benning.

Mrs. Batten is currently Assistant Treasurer of the Officers' Wives Club, and is active in the Local Citizens Assistance Program for P.O.W.'s in England. She is a member of the Fort Benning Hunt Club, where she is Chairman of the Fopy Club's Dismounted Committee.

She has been active in PTA during the Batten's stay at Benning, and is a member of the National Education Association, the Classroom Teachers Association, and the Association for Childhood Education International. She also has been a Brownie Committee member and co-leader.

Mrs. Batten received her B.S. degree in home economics from Pembroke

University, and holds an M.S. degree in interior design and education from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. She is currently working on her doctoral degree in child development and family relations at the University of North Carolina.

"Meeting people is my thing."

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

"I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

"One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

"I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that."

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things. Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

'Fightin' 3291st' Army Reserve School leaves

The "Fightin' 3291st" Army Reserve School has brought its campaign to Fort Benning.

The Memphis-based reserve unit, with Col. Robert J. Trammell Jr. as Commandant, conducted Phases II and VI of the Infantry Officers' Advanced Course for 218 students from across the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Part of our continuing mission to educate and train citizen-soldiers under the total Force concept," said Col. Trammell.

The Commandant, who started with the 3291st as a first lieutenant when the school was organized in 1950, also explained the unit's "Fightin'" nickname: "We're fightin' to, among other things, maintain the highest standard of professional military and academic excellence within our staff, faculty and student detachment, and to refine management and instruction in the Army Reserve system."

This summer, in the school's 19th-annual training exercise, Advanced Infantry Courses are being taught to officers ranging in rank from second lieutenant to majors who live from Puerto Rico to Hawaii. A total of 37 states are represented, plus Washington, D. C. and Ontario, Canada in addition to Puerto Rico.

The classes in Infantry Hall began July 24, and were completed for both phases Aug. 4.

Of the 218 total students, 82 hold Army National Guard commissions and 136 are in the Army Reserve.

Most of the 64 officers and men who staff the school are from the Memphis area. The 44 instructors are from throughout the United States, but primarily from the First and Third U.S. Army areas. They have been attached to the 3291st for annual training.

While the 3291st was at Fort Benning, the NRI-BOTCAD USAIS furnished training support material and the Reserve Components Branch DPT, USAIC logistical support.

Beginning July 1, 1972 completion of the Advanced Officers' Course is required for promotion to captain in the reserve, and 25 per cent completion is required for promotion to first lieutenant.

The Infantry Officers' Advanced Course consists of seven phases to be completed within a three-year normal program of instruction. Three phases are usually taken at the home station, and the remaining phases taken during two-week activity duty increments in residence at Fort Benning.

The course can be accelerated by combining Army Correspondence Course study with the USAIC schools program.

Army Reserves School study taken at the officer's home stations in addition to his regular reserve duties.

During the regular school year, the Fightin' 3291st conducts programs of instruction for about 1,000 Army Reserve and National Guard students in the three-state Memphis area. Almost 70 per cent of those students are enlisted personnel pursuing "hard skill" military occupational specialty courses.

More than 300 officer students are enrolled annually in the Basic and Advanced Courses, Command and General Staff College or the graduate-level National Security Management Course under the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. Special courses include Army Logistics management and A Nuclear Weapons Employment (prefix S) course.

There are 100 parent USAIC schools located in the continental United States, two in Europe and one in Hawaii. In addition to their Army Reserve students, the schools enrolled 1,200 active Army students in the Command and General Staff College program during the 1971-72 school year.

The Fightin' 3291st was headquartered in Building

USMA professor here to lecture

A co-author of the book "The Officer's Manual of Personal Finance and Insurance" written by the faculty of the Department of Social Sciences at West Point is conducting a series of lectures at Fort Benning.

Capt. Lloyd C. Briggs, an Assistant Professor of the Department of Social Sciences at the U.S. Military Academy, will present a series of lectures designed to help military personnel to better understand their finances.

According to Mrs. Marcia Wolfe of the Comptroller's Office, the lectures will be videotaped for later use on closed circuit television and for command information purposes.

"We're going to discuss budgeting, insurance, survivor benefits, life insurance, bond, mutual funds and real estate," explained Briggs.

Briggs further noted that there are "really many differences between civilian and military consumers, particularly with the government benefits the military receive."

"Military personnel have a relatively assured income," Briggs pointed out, "something many people can't say."

One of the advantages of the assured income, according to Briggs, is the edge this allows military personnel in coming up with a better savings program.

"A good savings program," declared Briggs, "is a prerequisite to good investing."

Briggs, a native of Amesbury, Mass., graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1965. He attended the Harvard Business School and received his Masters of Business Administration Degree in 1967.

It's not too late for degree

Most men and women in uniform know that education is essential to any success in either military or civilian life. Many Armed Forces members with a hitch behind them feel that it is too late for them to start because of most programs leading to a degree seems formidable. "If only there was some way to apply what I've already learned toward a degree," is a common lament. Now there is a way.

The External Degree of the New York State Regents may be the college program you've been looking for. Note that you need not reside in New York State to qualify; that there are no residency requirements. For members of the Armed Forces, it has flexibilities and special opportunities that make it unusually attractive.

If you are one of many servicemen and women who have taken the General Examinations of the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) and if you have done approximately a year of college work (approximately 30 credits), you may already qualify for the degree and be able to get it upon application. If you have successfully completed USAFI courses, or attended a formal service school for which credit has been recommended, these too, may be applied toward degree credit.

The CLEP General Examinations are available to servicemen and women free of charge from the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI). Check with the education officer at your base or on board ship. He can arrange for you to take the CLEP General Examinations and advise you on how to prepare for them.

There are also 29 CLEP Subject Examinations. You may take these free if you need credit in a specific subject to round out your program. Again, talk it over with your education officer.

USAFI Subject Standardized Tests are also recommended for credit by the Board of Regents. Servicemen may take them at no charge. To prepare for these tests you may take USAFI courses either by class instruction or by independent study (correspondence).

If you need additional course work in order to qualify for the degree you may use your in-service veterans benefits or tuition assistance to cover all or a major portion of the cost of courses taken at civilian institutions. Your education officer can help you clear up any tuition problems.

There is a good chance that the Regents will award you credit for a service school course. See your education officer. He will assist you in determining whether the American Council on Education (ACE) has recommended college-level credit for the service schooling you have had. Credit recommendations are listed in a publication of the (ACE) entitled, "A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services."

For some degrees, the Regents require successful completion of certain New York College Proficiency Examinations. This is not the case with the Associate in Arts Degree; however, the Bachelor of Business Program, to be offered in 1973, will require successful completion of certain New York State examinations. At present, New York State Proficiency Examinations are available only in New York.

Damatizer production now in final performances

Over 700 children and adults were on hand for the opening of the Fort Benning Dramatizer's production of "Winnie-the-Pooh."

The A. A. Milne play is centered on young Christopher Robin and a story he is being told about an adventure his best friend had when a mysterious animal came to live in the Hundred Acre Wood.

Many of your children's favorite characters are featured, including Rabbit, Owl, Eeyore, Piglet, Winnie-the-Pooh and, of course, Christopher Robin. Parents are cordially invited to visit with Christopher and Pooh Bear and to hear the story of how Kanga and Roo came to live in the forest.

There are only three more chances for your family to see this delightful children's classic, 7:30 tonight, and 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Benning Playhouse, Bldg. 1207, behind the Infantry Museum. Admission is 50 cents. Further information may be obtained by calling 545-5667 or visiting the Playhouse.

The Fort Benning Dramatizers are asking for submissions for the next production. The deadline for submissions is Aug. 15. All submissions must have a director. The Dramatizers will vote on the submissions at their regular meeting, Aug. 21 at 7 p.m. at the Playhouse.

TSB ladies are feted by Mrs. Wright

Mrs. Theodore Wright, wife of the commanding officer, 10th Co., 1st Bn., The School Brigade, entertained the officers' ladies of 1st Bn. in her Boston Hill apartment recently. The oval tea table, covered with white lace over orange, was arrayed with several varieties of coffee cakes and sweet rolls with coffee, tea and fruit punch.

After thanking Mrs. Wright for such a delightful coffee, Mrs. John R. Walker, Jr., wife of the commanding officer of 1st Bn., warmly welcomed the following ladies: Mrs. George don E. Marlor, Mrs. Frederick M. Sieg, Mrs. Randall G. Gull, Mrs. Mark D. Harlan and Mrs. Craig Buchanan. Because so many newsmen have joined the battalion recently, each lady was asked to bring a thumbnail sketch about herself, her hometown, former stations, children, special interests, etc.

Congratulations on the arrival of a daughter, Jennifer Michele, were extended to Capt. and Mrs. Roger D. White. The event was recognized with the presentation of a baby spoon to Mrs. White.

Movie review

'One' a real surprise

by Dale Wilson

Wednesday was a clear cut case of going to the flicks and expecting the worst, but being surprised with an excellent movie.

Although it has received little publicity, "One is a Lonely Number" with Trish Van Devere, Melvyn Douglas, Monte Markham and Janet Leigh, is a film worth seeing.

Miss Van Devere stars in the role of a young wife whose husband leaves her and seeks a divorce.

In a state of shock as first, she gradually comes wounded with a position as a life guard.

"Remember your friends," says the employment counselor lecherously. Still in love with her husband, Trish tells the divorce lawyer hired for her

"Why did he leave?" asks Leigh.

"Because I threw his copy of Milton out the window," replies Trish.

"Funny, I just helped a girl whose husband left her because she served him margarine instead of butter for supper," says Leigh. "No matter he was keeping another woman on the side. Let's hear it for Milton and margarine, the home wreckers."

Seeking a job, Trish finally goes to an employment agency and is rewarded with a position as a life guard.

Hot flicks are

Coming to the screen . . .

Every Little Crook and Nanny (Rated PG) — Those lovable, whimsical bunnies you liked so much in "The Godfather" are back. This flick features Victor Mature as a Mafia car turned soft drink manufacturer, and his wife who goes to Naples on vacation, leaving their 12-year-old son in the care of Lynn Redgrave. In the absence of Mature, his son is kidnapped for $50,000 ransom. How to get the boy back without Mature finding out about it involves a series of hilarious adventures and misadventures for English Nanny Redgrave.

The Secret of Dorian Gray (Rated R) — Helmut Berger is featured in the role of a handsome, well-built young man who visits his friends, painter Richard Todd, in London and agrees to pose for him. Herbert Lom views the painting and observes to Berger how strange it is that the portrait would retain the youth and vitality he would wisher with age. After years of countless affairs and depraved deeds, Berger comes upon his once beautiful portrait.

The man in the picture is now old and ugly portraying every sin he ever committed.

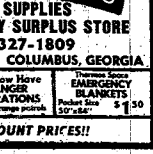

Mate For Each Other (Rated PG) — Renee Taylor is featured as a would-be singer and comedienne and Joseph Bologna is given to breaking women's hearts. Both have gone through several affairs and numerous attempts to make a success of their lives. At a group therapy session, the two introduce meet and discuss their problems. Attracted, Taylor and Bologna go to a night club where Taylor is trying out a new act. Bologna is amazed at her inepitaph. At dinner on New Year's Day, Bologna and family create a scene over Taylor. Both realize they are in love.

Reincarnate (Rated PG) — If you dig the occult, this movie is for you. Jack Creely has been told by his doctor that he will die soon from an incurable disease. Creely believes in Shtana, an occult sect. Whose credence is reincarnation; he must find someone to whom he can pass on his accumulated knowledge and wisdom of eight thousand years, thereby insuring that his essence will survive in another body. He chooses eye Reynolds in the sculptor who is anti-establishment and is easily persuaded into acceptance of something as epicurean as eternal life.

Cool Breeze (Rated R) — Released from prison on parole, black cartoonist Thelma Houston seeks financial backing from hustler and entrepreneur Raymond St. Jacques for a proposed bid of $5-million in diamonds. They plan to sell it cheap and use the proceeds to set up a bank.

Forest fires burn more than trees.

dedicated to helping black businessmen. The caper is pulled off with lots of fast-paced and hard-hitting action.

Boxcar Bertha (Rated R) — This sex-and-shoot-'em-up flick is set in the depression '30s. Barbara Hershey, alone, teams with Barry Primus. She shoots a man to save Primus, then they meet David Carradine and Bernie Casey and begins robbing trains. In an attempt to kidnap John Carradine, Primus is killed, but David and Casey get caught. Years later, Barbara and David take up together again.

The Public Eye (Rated G) — This story centers on a staid British accountant, an eccentric Anglo-Greek detective and the accountant's young wife, who is given to unexplained absences from home. The accountant is trying to save a marriage that came about through love, but has almost fallen apart. What happens before the breach is healed provides the laughs.

Joe Kidd (Rated PG) — Clint Eastwood stars as a hunter-guide hired by wealthy land-owner Robert Duvall to track down revolutionary John Saxon. In this spaghetti western set in turn-of-the-century New Mexico, Eastwood, teared and distrusted by both sides in an ownership of land disputes, finds himself as the man in the middle. Duvall wants Saxon dead and has hired sharpshooters to see his plan carried out. Eastwood is determined at all costs to accomplish his mission: bring Saxon to justice before Duvall and his hired sharpshooters kill him.

Corby (Rated PG) — Robert Blake is an auto mechanic in a small Texas town and a part time stock car racer. Married and with two young sons, Corby has never grown up himself. He has big ambitions — he aspires to the life of a Grand National stock car racer, but finds himself emotionally ill-equipped to cope with the racing world. "Corby" risks his life to make it big in the roaring action world of the dirt tracks. Exciting race scenes and a demolition derby highlight the action of the film.

Books available at post libraries

The following list of new books are available for loan from the Special Services Libraries.

"The Levester," Eric Ambler: Survival in a most peculiar jungle, is what this story is all about. It is realistic, rich in character, consistently exciting and wholly entertaining.

"Close-Up," Len Deighton: A novel effectively portraying the rituals, wheeler dealer politics and back stabbing tactics of the film world. Another great one by the author of "Bomber."

"The Dawn's Early Light," Walter Lord: A his 24 foot stumpy around story of America that seems often forgotten to day — the climatic shaping of "the land of the brave and the free" during the razardous events of 1814 in Washington, Baltimore and London. A book of the month selection.

"Dave," Robin Lee Graham: The true story of a 16 year old boy who sailed his 24 foot stumpy around the world, an exciting and unique tale of youthful quest, adventure and of love.

"Flat," Simon Breathe: The true and tumultuous story of Edith Piaf, the Parisian wolf who entertained France and the world with her scanda,

Post Rangers start 140 mile canoe trip

The Fort Benning Ranger Department is trying something new in Adventure Training. Twelve men from the Rangers will start a 140 mile canoe trip from Lake Champlain near Burlington Vermont, to the St. Lawrence Seaway in Canada.

This is a joint U.S. Army-Canadian forces Adventure Training operation. The Canadian Forces canoeists will join the Rangers at the U.S.-Canada border and will accompany them on the trip on up to the Seaway.

The U.S. team, composed of 6 canoes with two men each, is being led by Col. Karl V. Hurdie, chairman of the Benning Ranger Committee, and departed Lawson Army Airfield the morning of Aug. 9, and arrived at Burlington, Vt., that evening.

The six canoes left Burlington on the tenth and start the 50 mile trip through Lake Champlain, North to the border. The two teams will meet at the border on Aug. 15 to continue the trip for 90 more miles along the Richelieu River to the St. Lawrence Seaway where the canoe trip terminates, on Aug. 18.

Throughout the trip, and at Canadian Forces Base of St. Hubert, outside Montreal, the joint teams will visit various historical and military sites pertinent to U.S.-Canadian history, to include the historic forts at Ile Aux Noix, Chambly, St. Jean, the home of La Collette Militaire Royale (the French-Canadian Military Academy), and the historic area of Montreal itself.

St. Hubert is the home base of the Canadian Army, which is composed of personnel from the Combat Arms School and the Canadian First Combat Brigade.

Whitaker wins top laurels

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Capt. James Whitaker, Gunner, N. 1st, and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning, grabbed the championship of the International class of the National Skeet Shooting Association World Championship here Sunday when he completed a 195 of a possible 200 birds, one more than his nearest competitor.

Setting a torrid pace from the flight of the first clay disc hurtling across the range, Whitaker the 1972 Interservice Championship, allowed only three birds to escape in the first 10 and continued to the pressure in the second to win the top laurels.

A companion shooter, Capt. Kenneth Gilbert of the 194 for the runner-up, the ors while Army Sp4 Louis Sembrovich, Oxford, Conn., was one further down for third place.

In the Open Four-man Team competition, Whitaker and his teammates finished the championship circle with their composite score of 783 of a possible 800 birds. Other members of the team included Gilbert, Sembrovich and Capt. Ronald Petty, Atlanta, Ga. The team is headed by the U. S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit.

The Army team also won the World Military team championship over determined Marine and Navy entries.

The annual world competitive event had 154 entries in the international phase this year. The shooters came from both military and civilian sources with the predominant one coming from the United States and Canada.

SFC BONNIE HARMON

Harmon wins pistol crown

CAMP PERRY Ohio — SFC Bonnie D. Harmon, All Army Pistol Champion from Columbus, Ga., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning, came from behind to squeak by front runner, Navy Reservist Donald Harmon, 18th in the final competition of the National Pistol and Rifle matches on this north Ohio range Aug. 2 and grab the coveted National Pistol Championship.

Harmon fired a three day total of 2,650-11X, four X more than Hamilton in the three Gun 2,700 Grand Aggregate Championship match.

Hamilton, at 2,650-11X, a former National Pistol Champion and runner up in the match, was leading Harmon through the Center Fire matches at the close of the second day of competition by two points. Harmon overcame the deficit in the 45 Caliber Pistol four-match series fired on the last day in which he posted an 894 for third place behind National Guardsman Sp6 Milo Vlasim. This was just enough to vault him into the championship circle.

Four points further down from the front runner, Marine WO Francis Higginson, another former National Champion and a U.S. CISM competitor this year, garnered 2,496 for third place honors.

Harmon in gaining his Arsenal at Albany, Ga. they beat Albany College 11-1 and last Saturday, they managed to hold the Allied Student's Team to a 2-2 draw.

An open invitation is extended to all to come and see the team in action. Those wishing to play are welcome.

Soccer: 2,000 year old sport coming alive at Benning

Soccer is alive and well at Fort Benning. Three weeks ago, evidence of the fact can be seen at Stillwell Field on the Post, where he Fort Benning Soccer Team meets to practice.

Listed as the most physically demanding sport in the world, soccer has enjoyed little popularity here in the United States. However, this is slowly changing. The game itself is about 2,000 years old; it is mentioned in ancient Chinese writings as early as 300 BC and is traced by some historians to early Egyptian fertility rites.

Soccer is the parent game of both Rugby and American Football. Rugby was invented in 1823, when William Webb Ellis, a schoolboy at Rugby, picked up the soccer ball and ran with it. Some fifty years later, this variation of the sport was introduced by a visiting Canadian team to American colleges and here the game was further developed into the truly American sport that it is today.

Soccer was eclipsed by the game of American Football, it did not completely die, for it was still played in many parts of the States. Now, the game is being slowly rejuvenated.

On Fort Benning, the game was kept alive largely by the presence of Allied Students, many of whom knew very little of American Football, and found it difficult to participate in the game. Sometimes, they would be joined by a few Fort Benning soldiers who had played several games so far, losing only one to Redstone Arsenal at Albany, Ga. they beat Albany College 11-1 and last Saturday, they managed to hold the Allied Student's Team to a 2-2 draw.

524th blanks HHC in 931st softball

The 524th Personnel Services Company used timely hits and a tight defense to squeak out a 4-0 win over Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 43rd Engineer Battalion in a 931st Engineer Group—Slow-Pitch Softball game on Aug. 3. The clerk's record, now 14-2, puts them one-half game ahead of the 2nd place 15th Finance Company.

After two early season losses, the 524th has needed 10 consecutive victories. Led by their sly defense, they have allowed the opposition an average of only 4 runs per game, including three shutouts. Playing flawless ball in the field for the clerks has been centerfielder Lon Weed, baseman Jim Radford and 1st baseman Sam Patterson.

Although they are not power hitters, the 524th has scored an average of 8 runs more per game than their opponents have tallied. Leading the offensive charge have been leftfielder Earl Curry with a .381 average, shortstop Ray Ruston with a .481 average and second baseman Mark Matranga at .465.

Doughboys earn 2nd in Western Division

They tallied 14 hits for 11 runs against 7 runs for the Blues. Frank Baker, Doughboy pitcher was credited with the win.

The two wins earned the Doughboys second place in the Western Division of the Third Army Softball League.

In the first game the Doughboys handed the Blues a 16 to 3 defeat. Benning batters racked up 14 hits against the last place McClellan team while Larry Marshall, Doughboy pitcher was holding the Blues to five hits.

Benning batters fattened up their batting averages again on Saturday, when

ROD AND GUN CLUB

Notes

By Bill Kloeb

Have you ever noticed how dove season can sneak up on you? Before you know it the summer is over and its time to get the bird gun off the rack and start scouting for a dove field. To those who grew up in the North the weather doesn't seem to be right for it but after dove seasons comes the squirrel, quail, rabbit and a host of other open seasons.

The hot weather of August always throws me off guard but a conversation the other day with Roy Johnson, Chief, Fort Benning Fish and Wildlife Unit brought the realization that the time is almost here again. According to Roy the first of the dove seasons will open in Georgia Sept. 9.

Last night I took the first step toward getting ready. I took the shotgun off the rack and gave it a check. It was not only a little dusty from resting there all summer, it just didn't feel as comfortable as it did last year. I tried a few dry snags and found it didn't come up to the shoulder as smoothly or fit in place as easily as it did at the close of last season.

Age probably has something to do with it but there is a lot of difference between lining up a putt and lining up a shot gun. This got me to thinking how many shells it had taken to down each dove last year and how the price of shells has gone up all summer long. Maybe it would be a good idea to just play golf right on through the dove season this year.

I know if I want to become proficient at hitting a moving game bird I have to practice on a moving target and I intend to do just that. I found a long time ago that the best way to get that gun to go smoothly to the shooting position and get that shooting eye back to break a few clay birds. The skeet range is a good place for an old timer and for the beginner at this time of the year. With the number of hunters out for dove you can't afford to try to get your eye back to learn from scratch on a dove field. This will only lead to an empty game bag and an empty pocketbook.

The Rod and Gun Skeet Ranges are open each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. A few afternoons on the ranges between now and then should pay big dividends.

Be Prepared

Quite a few hunters don't like to go to a skeet range because they have never been before. There is always has to be a first time. You may come home a lot better prepared for the opening season because of some helping hints you got from one of the other shooters.

A little time spent on a skeet range now would pay dividends later but there will be a lot of hunters taking to the field though an opening day who are going to fire that shotgun for the first time in about 10 months. Hunters and golfers are a breed all apart in the sports world. In any other sports the participant spends hours getting ready for the real thing. They plan and practice but the golfer races to the course, gets his shoes and clubs hurries to the first tee and after a couple half hearted warm up swings starts out hoping to shoot a good game. The average hunter does the same thing. He grabs his gun, takes off to an area someone said was good hunting and dreams of coming home with a full limit game bag. It's no wonder, both are disappointed so often. Whoever it was that sold the American public on the idea that all Americans were born good shots surely never checked hunters coming off a southern dove field.

August Fishing Derby

The hot weather is keeping the fishermen away from the pond ponds. There have been very few members registered in the Rod and Gun Club monthly fishing derby.

SFC August Klamar, Headquarters, 4th Br., TSB leads the bread contest with a 15-ounce catch he made at Kings Pond and Capt. John Starkey, 13th Company, TSB leads the catfish contest with a 7-ounce 8-ounce entry from Twilight Pond. Klamar was using a pink worm and Starkey was using shrimp purchased at the Rod and Gun Club.

All club members are eligible to participate in the monthly club derby. They must register at the club before going fishing, catch the fish at one of the ponds and bring the catch to the club for registration.

Forehand practice

Mrs. Patty DeVos, wife of 1st Lt. Daniel DeVos, exercises her forehand during the Dependent Ladies' Tennis Tournament, held August 1 at the Main Post Gymnasium. Mrs. DeVos and six other women took part in the tournament after several weeks of tennis lessons given by Mr. Albert McGruder of the Main Post Gymnasium. First, second, and third place trophies were given at the tournament.

Barraudas capture 3rd

The Fort-Benning Barraudas swam their way to the Third Place Team Trophy in the Capitol City Invitational last week in Montgomery, Ala. The tournament was held Aug. 4 and 5, and included freestyle, fly stroke, breast stroke, backstroke, and individual medley categories.

Wally Noll, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wallace Noll of 407 Lumpkin Road, took the High Point Trophy in the 13-14 year old division. He won first place in four categories, and second place in one.

Michele Borden, daughter of CW2 and Mrs. Harry M. Borden of 17-D Lloyd Way, won the High Point Trophy in the 15-17 year old division. She took home five first-place prizes, and second-place wins in two categories.

Wally Noll, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wallace Noll of 407 Lumpkin Road, took the High Point Trophy in the 13-14 year old division. He won first place in four categories, and second place in one.

Michele Borden, daughter of CW2 and Mrs. Harry M. Borden of 17-D Lloyd Way, won the High Point Trophy in the 15-17 year old division. She took home five first-place prizes, and second-place wins in two categories.

Bowie wins first major championship

CAMP FERRY, Ohio — Sp4 Charles H. Bowie, Seattle, Wash., and the U.S. Army marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning, fired a 97 each of three days here to win the International Clay Pigeon Championship with his 291 birds, Sunday.

Setting the pace from the first day, Bowie took the initial 100 birds with two perfect rounds and allowed only three to escape in the remaining two rounds of 25, for high man. He pressed top honors the remaining two days.

Down two birds in the three-day aggregate behind Bowie, Olympic competitor Air Force Lt. James Poindexter, settled for runner up honors while champion Air Force marksman, 1st Sgt. Terry Howard claimed the third place with a total of 283 birds.

For Bowie, this was his first major championship since joining the Army in April 1971. The young shot-gunner had won the Junior All American Championship at the National matches in Vandalia, Ohio in 1969.

Daugherty wins prize in Quantico

QUANTICO, Va. — Ssgt. Terry Daugherty, Alexander City, Ala., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, grabbed the top prize in the individual competition Aug. 6 here when he won the Grand Aggregate and Interservice Individual Rifle Championship.

Daugherty compiled a five-match 892-31 aggregate over the varied distance ranges of a possible 1,000 yards, a three point spread over his nearest rival, Gt. Sgt. F. V. Krul, a Marine marksman from Quantico.

Although failing to win any one of the five individual matches during the days firing, Daugherty through his constant pressure and championship style of shooting, grabbed the top prize.

Child beating reaches epidemic proportions

At first, it seems unreal. The four year old with a fractured jaw from "walking" on the door. The three month old girl injured repeatedly from "falling out of her crib." The little boy who requires DOA after months of repeated beatings. They are only the tip of the iceberg of the horrifying reality of child abuse.

And, it's increasing nationwide. The American Academy of Pediatrics has called child abuse "a National epidemic." A recent study taken in the University of Oklahoma emergency room has shown that 60 per cent of all injuries resulting in trauma of children under six years of age are the result of intentional injury inflicted by the parents or parent substitutes.

The statistics on child abuse are terrifying in their simplicity. "A child intentionally injured by a parent stands a 25 per cent risk of being killed if returned home with no attempts made to deal with the parents' basic emotional difficulties," according to Capt. Ronald E. Keeney, of the Brooke Army Medical Center Pediatric Department.

He added that 50-90 per cent of battered children will suffer permanent physical and mental and emotional damage if nothing is done. "It has been shown that a Battered Child will become a battered parent," Dr. Keeney said.

Psychotic behavior and intoxication accounts for less than 10 per cent of child abuse cases, Dr. Keeney said. "90 per cent of the parents who intentionally injure their children, outwardly appear 'normal.' They act just like you and me."

The causes of child abuse and neglect go much deeper than simplistic answers of being "bad parents." It is not solely lower economic class problem, either. According to Dr. Keeney, it occurs in all levels of society. The brutal punishment and public falls on the poor, however.

More indicative of why children are beaten lies in study of our society attitudes toward children. David Gill said in his book, Violence Against Children, that primary consideration for continuation of child abuse is our societal view of children.

Children are not seen as beings. They don't exist as human beings. Spankings and other forms of corporal punishment are still used in schools and at home as a questionable means of instilling respect, discipline, honesty and other virtues.

Throughout all levels of our society, we infer that a child cannot be reasoned with, that only force and physical punishment will get the job across. It is often hard to distinguish the fine line between what is and what is not a socially condoned in the area of corporal punishment for children. For the highly emotional immature parent, that fine line is further blurred by feelings of

VA pamphlets explain GI insurance benefits

The Atlanta Veterans Administration Regional Office announced that pamphlets explaining the use of G. I. insurance policy holder will receive a pamphlet on the new insurance and a form on which he can indicate whether he wants the added coverage.

These who do not desire extended coverage should return the forms as the agency will use all the replies to verify life numbers and Social Security numbers on its records.

For the additional 3.3 million dollars of policies eligible for the extended coverage, VA mailing will begin tomorrow and continue for six weeks. Most of the policies are for Veterans who have insurance dividends on deposit with the VA will be the first to receive this information. Mailing to this group of 650,000 started going out in May and continued through June.

ROTC Cadets finish Ranger course

Gen. Ralph Haines, commanding general of the U. S. Continental Army Command, attended the graduation of the first increment of Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) cadets to complete Ranger training this summer.

Gen. Haines pinned Ranger tabs and presented awards to the top 11 graduates in Ranger Class 501-72 in a ceremony Aug. 11.

In addressing the 196 cadets who finished the tough nine week course, Gen. Haines complimented them on their grit in sticking to their work. He said "Ranger tabs aren't handed out with the rations. Rangers are justly proud of their high standards of performance."

He challenged the class to take the Ranger and Army story back to their home ROTC units and colleges.

Distinguished honor graduate for the class was Cadet Edward P. Rummel from Texas A and M University. Gen. Haines presented him with his Ranger tab, the class guidon, the William O. Darby Ranger Leadership plaque, the camp commander's leadership award, and a medal from the Association of the United States Army.

Six cadets received awards for being the outstanding men in their platoons. They were Jack Patison, U. S. Military Academy; William White, Texas A and M; Thomas Miller, University of Southern Mississippi; Johnny Rhoda, Arkansas Polytechnic College; Joseph Reze, Univ. of Iowa; and Michael Rudy, St. Mary's University.

Gen. Haines presented each with his Ranger tab and a platoon leadership award.

In further presentations, Gen. Haines gave Michael Abdo, U. S. Military Academy, a letter from the Assistant Commandant of the Infantry School for being an honor graduate. William Byars, Murray State University, received the Merrill's Marauders Award. Robert Leich, Siena College, earned the expert rifle marksmanship badge as high scorer in the class during firing tests on Martin Range. Leich established a range record of 74 on Martin Range.

Richard Crocker, University of Hawaii, earned the top physical proficiency award.

After the class received its Ranger tabs, Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander, presented Gen. Haines with a mounted tomahawk on behalf of the Ranger Department. The tomahawk represents the equipment used by Rogers' Rangers during the French and Indian War.

Voting action lines are open

Voting information is now as close as the nearest telephone. The post voting officer has two lines available for answering any questions you have about voting, registration, state deadlines, and where to get partisan voting information.

The post voting assistance officers are available Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., to answer questions. Maj. William Davis and Capt. William Autrey can be reached at 543-1803-4692.

Also available to help soldiers are several voting registration booths. These red, white and blue booths are located in prominent places around post. They are staffed by volunteers who can help you fill out an application for an absentee ballot. (See Inside Front.)

The voting counselors in the individual units can also help soldiers register. The counselors are available during normal duty hours.

VA looking for enrollment to be highest in history

Veterans in the State of Georgia could lose part or all of their G.I. educational benefits if they don't consider starting school this coming fall, warned W. Troy Baker, assistant Director, Atlanta VA Regional Office. The VA expects this fall's enrollment to be the highest in the history of the VA, including just after World War II, Baker said. "I urge all veterans to get in touch with the VA office nearest them as soon as possible," stated Baker.

The VA phrase, "You owe it to yourself," could not be more true in this time of high unemployment and the ever-increasing need for college education to get ahead, Baker said.

He explained that those whose benefits are in danger were discharged between January 31, 1955, and June 30, 1966. For these veterans, eligibility for VA educational assistance payments for G.I. bill schooling expires on Oct. 31, 1974, whether they are enrolled at that time or not.

The expiration date is set by a 1966 law which, for the first time, excluded eligibility for education benefits to Post Korean veterans with service after January 31, 1955. Each veteran has eight years in which to use his benefits. Normally, the eight years are computed from the date of his release from military service. But because the benefits were not available until June 1, 1966, when the law became effective, the eight years start from the date the benefits became available for those discharged before that date.

Certain types of training, authorized for the first time on August 31, 1967, are not affected by the 1974 expiration date. Included are flight training, apprentice and on-the-job training, and farm cooperative training. These forms of training are available under the eight year policy, until August 31, 1975, or eight years after discharge, whichever is later.

VA records show that when the 1966 law became effective June 1, it made over four million veterans eligible for benefits and of this number, about 3,000,000 have not used their benefits or have used only part of them.

About 300,000 of this group are in training at the present time. Total enrollment under the G.I. bill in January of this year was over one million, bringing to three million the number of beneficiaries who have received training under the current G.I. bill.

Veterans earn one and one-half months of educational benefits for each month of military service, up to a maximum of 36 months.

Those who serve 18 months or more are entitled to the full 36 months. For further information contact the nearest VA office or your local veterans service organization representative.

$5,000 in grants for purchase of 'wheelchair homes'

A boost of $5,000 in grants for the purchase of "wheelchair homes" by eligible disabled veterans is the second hike in this program in three years, the Veterans Administration reported today.

A. W. Tate, Director, Atlanta Veterans Administration Regional Office, said that effective July 10, when it was signed by the President, Public Law 92-341 authorized VA to pay fifty per cent of the cost — up to a limit of $17,500 — toward the purchase of homes for veterans whose service connected disabilities cause them to need wheelchair ramps, hand rails or other special features especially adapted to their needs.

The grants were limited to $10,000 when the program was started in 1948, and were raised to $12,500 in June 1969. More than 12,000 veterans under the program during the 20-year history, for a total of $121 million. During Fiscal Year 1972, 664 grants were made for a total of $6.9 million. Tate explained that the grants are provided to pay part of the cost of construction, purchase of re-

Col Meizen assumes command of Infantry Board

Col. Walter E. Meizen has assumed command of the U.S. Army Infantry Board at Fort Benning. He was welcomed to the Infantry materiel test board last week with a tour of the testing facilities at the Sandy Patch Test Area and outlying test ranges.

Col. Meizen is the 29th Infantry officer in the line of succession to the presidency of the Infantry Board during the 38 years since its establishment at Fort Benning in 1939. He succeeds Col. Charles B. Thomas, Board President since August 1969, who retired from the Army on July 31.

Following graduation from the US Military Academy in 1948, Col. Meizen attended the Ground General School at Fort Riley, and in 1949 he attended the Infantry Officer's Basic Course at the Infantry School. From 1949 to 1952, he was assigned to the 350th Infantry in Europe where he served in successive assignments as platoon leader, assistant battalion S3, battalion adjutant, and heavy weapons commander. Upon completion of duty in Europe, he served as Operations and Training Staff Officer, Third Armored Division, Fort Knox. While serving on this assignment, he completed the Army Arctic Indocination Course, Big Delta, Alaska. His next assignment was Aide-de-Camp at the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, until May 1955. He attended Airborne, Jumpmaster, and Ranger training at Fort Benning in 1954 and 1955, and completed the Infantry Officer Advance Course in 1956. From August 1956 to October 1957, he was assigned to the 19th Inf. Regt. in Korea, where he served successively as Assistant Battalion S3 and Rifle Company Commander.

Col. Meizen's next assignment took him back to West Point for duty with the Staff and Faculty from December 1957 to July 1960. He then attended the regular course at the Command and General Staff College in 1960-61, followed by two years as a student officer at Mississippi State University where he received his Master of Science degree in mechanical engineering. In June 1963, he began his first tour at the Infantry Board where he served for more than two years as test officer in the Field Equipment and Special Projects Division. During this assignment, he acted for and was accepted for the Army's Research and Development Officer Specialist Program.

Col. Meizen's duty assignments in Vietnam in 1965 - 66 included Deputy G-4, I Field Force and Battalion Commander, 1st Bn. (Abn), 227th Infantry. Following his duty in Vietnam, he returned to Fort Benning where he served as a committee chairman in BBOD and as Deputy Director of Instruction, USAIS, until July 1968. He attended the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in 1968, and also received the Master of Science degree in Business Administration from George Washington University. Prior to returning to the Infantry Board last month, he served as Deputy Director of Development, OCRD, DA.

Inprocessing center helps newly arrived officers

The 2nd Bn., The School Brigade (TSB) has been operating its inprocessing center during the past two weeks for over 100 newly arrived officers who will be attending training at Fort Benning.

In addition to inprocessing IOBC classes 4-73, 5-73 and 6-73, the 2nd Bn. also inprocessed officers to attend airborne class 7-73 and 8-73 and ranger class 2-73. The inprocessing was extended over a 2 week period to accommodate the arrival of graduates from the U.S. Military Academy.

Upon arrival, the students were welcomed and signed in. 1st Lt. Christine Odum of the Welcome Center, welcomed and briefed the wives that accompanied their husbands.

For the convenience of the students, representatives of various post facilities were present to assist those interested in their respective facilities. Those represented were the National Bank of Fort Benning, the Book Store, Infantry Magazine, AUSA, U.S. Savings Bonds, Spectors Cleaners, and Provost Marshall's Office.

Students received information on BDO and housing, FBOOM officers club card, and hometown news release.

The students filled out ID forms and received a sponsor who is a field grade officer. It is the student's job to introduce the student to Army social life. He is also available for advice, career planning, and any type of counseling that the student may require.

Within the same building, there were facilities for "analysis, ID-card photos and ID cards.

The centralized inprocessing procedures used by the 2nd Bn. allow most students to complete inprocessing in less than an hour. Undoubtedly it would take all day if the students were required to visit personally all of these facilities represented.

Sound-off: "Should a man change his career to please his wife? Should she change to please him?" Is your wife stuck with your career?

PFC David Smola
588 Eng.

PFC David Smola, 588th Engineer Company, says, "I think they should talk about it but the wife should go along with what he wants to do. He's the one that has to earn and if he's miserable, he'll make the family unhappy. He brings his misery home. Besides, it's his life. If she has a child, there's a problem in her working outside the home. If she can handle the workload at home and on the job, it's O.K."

Sgt Herman Farley says, "A man shouldn't change his career because of his wife. It's a man's world. For a woman, it depends. If she's working and he has to move, then she has no choice but to change. Togetherness all depends on understanding."

PFC Paul Cato
Think this

PFC Paul Cato says, "I wouldn't stay in the Army even if my wife wanted me to. When you're married, it's love, honor, and cherish. If you choose any career, she should stick to you. What did she marry you for? Marriage is a two way thing." He is in the MAH Medical Company.

Pvt. Billy Rich, 197th Inf. Bde. says "It's according to the situation. Neither should force the other into a field. If I were going into something dangerous, my wife might have something to say. As long as it's a good career why should we push each other. Yet, I wouldn't want her doing something like bar work."

Nature needs constant watching

Some operations can keep going on an indefinite period without any outward demonstration of reduced efficiency. Others begin to show deficiencies almost immediately when funds or work forces are reduced.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT HOW I FEEL ABOUT GETTING RUN OVER?

A reduction in the quantity and quality of area maintenance and beautification are usually the first challenge to show deterioration when funds and work force reductions are put into effect. Unfortunately these projects have a great deal to do with the life style and image of an installation. They affect the mood of the people who live and work there. They also have a considerable impact on the impression created in the minds of visitors.

The summer season presents the biggest challenge to all personnel. It's the growing season and grass and weeds need almost constant attention. Sometimes nature can compound the problem as she has in the past few weeks by an unusual amount of rainfall.

Units and individuals living on post are assigned certain areas of responsibilities as far as grass and weed control are concerned. The areas not specifically assigned become the responsibility of the Post Engineer. Under normal conditions the engineer personnel can get the job done. But right now with a reduced work force and vegetation growing at a rapid rate we don't have a normal situation and it's time for everyone to pitch in and put forth a little extra effort.

This brings on the question, "what can I do?" Family quarters occupants can help by mowing the lawn of that recent set of quarters next door or down the street. Those who are using ball fields and other recreation areas can take time to mow or police the area. Occupants can have a block party and clean up those areas within a housing area that are not assigned as the specific responsibility of any one individual.

There are more than 40,000 people on post each day, if you count those who use commissary, Post Exchanges, hospital and similar facilities. If each one picked up one piece of litter in these public areas, carried it to their car and disposed of it properly when they arrived home they would have picked up enough trash to fill a couple of trucks and it wouldn't have cost a cent to do it. Better still if each of those 40,000 people would refrain from throwing down one piece of litter the job would have been necessary in the first place.

SFC Carlos Algarin: "It depends on age a lot. If a man has his career and she has stuck with him, it would be difficult for him to change. Another factor is the family. Both should take into consideration how the family is to be provided for. If they can be cared for, there's no reason for a change just to please her."

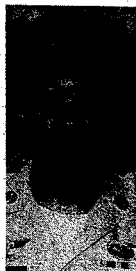

"I just think no. You are married, you have the wife and yourself. The primary thing is caring for your family. The question is how to provide everything without financial and emotional stress."

"A woman has a right to her job. As long as her health and family are not endangered, she should not change just on her husband's say-so." He is in the Medical Holding Company.

Nabil M. Ghani has been in the United States for only three years and in the Army for three months. He is currently an officer candidate with the 51st Company, 5th Battalion, The School Brigade. There are several candidates in his company of foreign origin, but Candidate Ghani offers a particularly unusual background.

Originally from Cairo, Egypt, Candidate Ghani was educated at Cairo University. He not only speaks fluent English, but German, Spanish and of course his native Arabic as well. He has a degree in civil engineering.

In 1967, a friend from the United States visited him in Egypt, encouraging him to come to this country for a visit. However, it was 1969 before all arrangements could be made. After traveling around the world, he came to the U.S.

Ghani first went to San Francisco for a few months but settled in Pittsburgh, Pa. Prior to entering the Army he worked as an engineer for industrial buildings and bridge construction.

Retired NCO's needed in Ala.

If you're a retired NCO with a little extra time on your hands, why not give the Mobile, Ala., School District a call.

The district needs retired NCO's to fill three vacancies teaching general military subjects in predominantly black schools offering ROTC in the Mobile area.

Although there is no MOS restriction, interested applicants should be in the retired grade of E-4 or above. If this is the type of work you'd like to do, call collect to the Deputy Director of Army ROTC, Mr. Jack Christensen, Mobile, Ala. at 205-438-5011, extension 288 of 379.

Reserve school conducts IOAC

The Knoxville USAR School, which is conducting the Infantry Officer Advanced Course, 6-19 Aug. 72, has the mission of providing educational and training courses for Army officers. It is anticipated that the School will give instruction to 225 reservists this summer.

From its home station on the campus of The University of Tennessee, the School, sometimes called the Volunteers, provides instruction to over 750 reservists in training areas throughout East Tennessee. Courses regularly offered include MOS training, the Branch Officer Advanced Course, Command and General Staff Course, Industrial College of the Armed Forces, and at times the Basic Officer Course. In 1971 and in 1972, the Knoxville USAR School conducted and provided facility for the Methods of Instruction course for Third Army.

For the past six years the School has given Command and General Staff training on such installations as Fort McClellan, University of Southern Mississippi, and Fort Leavenworth. The School is commanded by Colonel Albert B. Britton, artillery, who has had thirty-seven years of command and staff experience in World War II, in the Korean Conflict, and in Reserve Commands.

The Nashville School (the 522nd) has joined with Knoxville to assist in this active duty tour. These Units have frequently worked together on active duty assignments. Colonel Terrill Jackson, CE, commands the 520th.

Protection

Make sure your car is fully covered before traveling

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Whether you're PCS'ing, going on leave or just crossing from one state to another while on a 3-day pass, the Insurance Information Institute warns that inadequate auto insurance coverage can throw a roadblock in your path.

The Institute explains that auto insurance requirements differ from state to state and in Mexico and Canada. For one thing, there are differences in the dollar amount the driver must show he is in a position to pay should he injure someone or damage any property in an accident. There are additional requirements across our national borders.

State-By-State Limits

The minimum required limits are frequently expressed as related figures, as in the term "10-20-5." The first figure, 10, represents $10,000, the maximum amount the company will pay in settling a bodily injury claim for one person. The second figure, 20, represents $20,000 and, subject to the per person limits, is the maximum amount the company will pay in settling property damage claims.

Most states require basic limits of 10-20-5. Some are below that. However, in eight states—Alaska, California, Colorado, Kansas, Maryland, Nevada, Washington and Wisconsin, the limits are 15-30-10. In South Dakota and Indiana, they are now 15-30-10, and even higher limits are in force in Connecticut (20-40-5), Virginia (20-40-5) and Maine (20-40-10).

The laws of all states require that if you become involved in an accident resulting in bodily injury or property damage above a certain amount (it's $100 to $200 in most states but in others it varies from $50 to $400) each driver must report the accident to the administrator of the law. This is usually the motor vehicle commissioner.

If your insurance policy has liability limits specified in the law, you will not have to post cash or another form of security.

If you are not covered by insurance and are unable to post cash, a bond or another form of security, your driving privilege in the state in which you have an accident may be suspended. Furthermore, that state generally notifies your home state of the situation. Because reciprocity exists among most states, your home state could revoke your driver's license and car registration.

The Institute advises motorists to check with their insurance agents about financial responsibility laws in states they intend to visit. He can adjust coverage if it is not adequate.

Travel In Canada

Canada, with its abundance of camping and fishing opportunities, will attract millions of motorizing tourists. The Institute advises motorists to check auto insurance policies with an agent or broker at least a month to six weeks before they leave.

The liability insurance requirements in Canada are $50,000 in British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and the Yukon, and $35,000 in other provinces and the Northwest Territories.

As a convenience to visitors, all Canadian provinces recognize a special "yellow card" (non-resident provincial motor vehicle liability card) as evidence of insurance. However, the card is not required in some provinces (Ontario, Manitoba, British Columbia and Alberta).

This card can be obtained through your insurance agent or broker and is easier to carry than your insurance policy.

Insurance For Mexico

Mexico remains high on the list of millions of vacationing Americans, but, if the driver fails to take proper precautions, he and his family may suffer severe inconvenience and financial loss should they be involved in an auto accident below the Rio Grande.

The Institute notes that only recently a young female American attorney, motorizing through Mexico City, knocked down a telephone pole and ended up spending $3,000 in legal fees and four days in jail. The incident was not entirely an insurance problem but it serves as an example of the dangers of unfamiliarity with another country's laws. Mexican authorities viewed her accident as damaging the country's communications system.

Mexican law honors only automobile insurance policies issued by a company based in Mexico. If you plan a motorizing trip in Mexico, you should contact one of the many agents of Mexican insurance companies that can be found in practically any American city or town on or near the border.

Insurance protection with a Mexican company for a week's visit might run from $10 to $25. These rates will vary according to the value of the car and the extent of coverage purchased.

With his Mexican policy, the driver should receive a listing of local agents and adjusters who represent the company — the motorist's best friends in case of an accident.

Information officers wanted

WASHINGTON (AMF) — Openings for 27 new information officers have been recognized by the 1972 Army Educational Requirements Board. Candidates for the positions need to have graduate degrees in journalism. Interested officers without a masters may receive the needed schooling only if members of the Information Officer Program.

The program offers jobs as information and broadcast officers worldwide. With the 27 new positions, there will be 139 validated spots in the program.

Officers may join the program by writing their career branches. Application procedures are outlined in AR 614-140, Information Officer Program. An applicant must be in the grade of captain through colonel in a branch other than medical, chaplain or the judge advocate general. Applicants should have a bachelors degree, preferably in an information-related field.

More information may be obtained by calling Maj. Patricia Whelan at AUTOVON 223-2405.

Exercising of the Week

One of the many physical training events that haunt the dreams of many soldiers are the recurring Physical Combat Proficiency Test and the Staff and Specialist Physical Training Test.

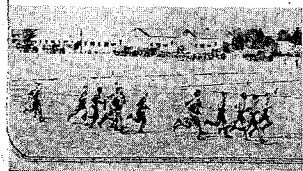

This semi-annual event has been the scourge of GIs since time immemorial. But, it need not be such a traumatic experience. By exercising and personal initiative, you can prepare for the test, while keeping yourself in good condition at the same time.

If you obtain a copy of Department of the Army Field Manual 21-20, Physical Readiness Training, and turn to Chapter One, you will find a chart listing all of the events in the PCTPT. A little practice and you'll surprise everyone, even Charlie Atlas.

The mile-run, probably the most onerous event in the test, can easily be prepared for by participating in the Run For Your Life program.

Although you won't become a Jim Ryan overnight, the improved results in your score, and condition, will make it all worthwhile.

A big change afoot

From recoilless rifles to typewriters in 197th

Changing from recoilless rifles to typewriters is a major move in any man's life, and so it was for PFC Robert Thomas who recently joined the 197th Infantry Brigade Public Information Office.

Thomas completed Advanced Individual Training with HHC, 1st Battalion, 29th Infantry, 197th Inf. Bde., on Aug. 4. However, instead of receiving his initial assignment working with recoilless rifles, Thomas found himself assigned as an information specialist with the 197th PIO.

A native of Daytona, Fla., and a graduate of the University of Fla., Thomas holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Journalism.

Although originally drafted in November of last year, he enlisted for the 197th Inf. Bde. after talking with a former commander of the 2nd Battalion, 10th Infantry, Lt. Col. James Wurman, when the 197th was in Daytona for the Daytona 500 in February.

After opting for the 197th under the unit-choice enlistment option, Thomas wrote to Col. Edwin Kennedy, the brigade commander, explaining that although he had signed up for a combat arms occupational specialty, he had a degree in journalism.

Col. Kennedy turned the matter over to the unit's Information Officer, 1st Lt. Alex Angelle, who had Thomas assigned to the Information Office after he completed AIT.

"I feel I can do the Army a lot more good working in a job that I've had four years experience in," exclaimed a beaming Thomas.

Absentee balloting outlined

Ninety days and counting until election.

That doesn't leave much time to get registered and return your absentee ballot.

A soldier or his dependent who wants to vote must get a federal postcard application for an absentee ballot. These are filled out and the signatures are certified. The card is then mailed to the state election officials in the soldier's state of residence.

The officials will process the application and mail the ballot to the soldier's home address, including any constitutional referendum.

It is now up to the soldier to fill out his absentee ballot and return them by the indicated deadline.

The process is not difficult. To make it even easier for the military voter, there are voting counselors in each unit. These counselors have the postcard application, they can certify the signature and they know the addresses of all state election officials.

In addition, the post voting office is sponsoring several voter registration booths for soldiers who must vote absentee. These booths are being manned by volunteers from the Teen Center, the OWC, and the NCO Wives.

Bobby twins have birthday

The Bobby twins are alive and living at TSB personnel, troop branch. Actually, Sp4 Kevin Bernhardt and Sp4 Robert Wagner aren't twins, but with everything they have in common, they might as well be.

On August 8, TSB personnel, troop branch celebrated the two specialists' 23rd birthday. Bernhardt and Wagner have been with TSB personnel since May. However, their paths had crossed several times before during their military and civilian careers. In 1967 they were roommates at Augustana College, Sue Falls, S. Dakota. They graduated together in 1971, both majoring in history. Although Wagner was drafted two days after Bernhardt, they were both sent to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri for basic combat training. After basic, both were in the same AIT company at Fort Polk, Louisiana. They then decided to attend airborne training and both were assigned to 4th Co., 4th Bn. TSB. Now they are both working at the troop branch of TSB personnel and wondering where and when they shall meet again.

Col. Paul Kaufman elected to national hospital committee

Col. Paul C. Kaufman, Executive Officer, Martin Army Hospital, Fort Benning, Ga., was elected to the Nominating Committee of the Chicago-based American College of Hospital Administrators, at its 38th Annual Meeting at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The ACA, a professional society of more than 9,500 hospital and health service administrators throughout the United States and Canada, has been influential in helping to raise the standards of patient care through more effective administration.

As a member of the Nominating Committee, Col. Kaufman will help select future presidential officers, members of the Board of Governors, candidates to serve on the By-laws Committee, and succeeding members of the Nominating Committee itself.

The Nominating Committee is chaired almost without exception by a Past President of the College and is answerable only to the ACA's legislative body, the Council of Regents. Only affiliates of the College who have been Fellows for at least two years are selected, and their nominations must be confirmed by the Council.

Col. Kaufman, a veteran of over 15 years administrative experience, has been Executive Officer of the Martin Army Hospital since 1971. Previously, he was Executive Officer at the Darnall Army Hospital, Ft. Hood, Texas.

He is a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and earned his M.P.H. degree from Yale in 1959.

A Fellow of the College since 1969, Col. Kaufman is a member of the American Hospital Association.

72nd Engr. soldiers work on domestic action in Alabama

Soldiers from the 72nd Engr. Co., 197th Spt. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde., are spending two weeks at the Oliver Elementary School in Seale, Alabama, but they won't reap any educational reward from the experience.

The soldiers are working on a domestic action project for the city of Seale, Alabama and a total of three hundred twenty man hours are anticipated for the project.

The men are dumping dirt and spreading it out on the playground area and putting down four inches of topsoil. John James, of the County Jr. R.O.T.C. Department, was absolutely enthusiastic at the job the 197th Engr. Co. is doing for the school. James said, "This playground has been a real mess for many years now and we're really grateful to the 197th Spt. Bn. for the work they're doing for us."

Before the 72nd Engr. Co. started on the domestic action, the area was extremely under developed. Utilizing bulldozers, graders, and dump trucks, the 72nd Engr. Co. is digging up the area, re-packing the soil and then adding four inches of topsoil to the land. When the project is completed in two weeks, the area will then be ready to be used for a playground.

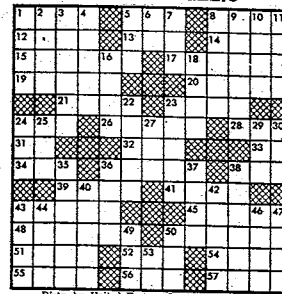

Sgt Eugene Howard of 72nd Engr. Co., 197th Spt. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde., operates a load grader in the domestic action at Seale, Ala.

Ssgt. Phillip Kirksey of 72nd Engr. Co., 197th Spt. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde., directs one of the companies trucks into position to dump a load of dirt.

PFC Michael Bealor, left, and Sgt Herbert Nichols both of the 72nd Engr. Co., 197th Inf. Bde., fix a water pipe that had been piking at the Oliver Elementary School for many years.

Movie Review

Theater of the Absurd

by Dale Wilson

Clint Eastwood is back! As Joe Kidd, Clint regales the viewer with sardonic sadism that pales many of his earlier efforts.

Backing up Eastwood in this recent Universal release are Robert Duvall as a threatened landowner, John Saxon as the leader of a group of Mexican-American intent on getting back land granted them by the king of Spain, and Stella Garcia as Saxon's female cohort.

The setting is a New Mexico township in the early 1800s. Joe Kidd has been jailed on charges of poaching, assaulting an officer and resisting arrest; typical of Clint Eastwood roles.

The director wastes little time in bombarding the viewer with short segments designed to fill him in on the situation: the Mexicans want their land back — the rich American landowners don't want to give it too them, and it looks like war.

While more time should have been devoted to establishing the "feel" of the time, we Eastwood buffs are glad the director started the ball rolling early, allowing us to savor each delectable shotgun blast, incapacitating punch and twisted, imbecilic smile from Eastwood.

Robert Duvall, as the embattled landowner, brings along a band of thugs and hires Eastwood to help him track down and kill Saxon. The chase begins but before Clint engages in one-sided fistcuffs with one of Duvall's more irrepresible young gunn.

After days of searching through the New Mexico mountains, and a path of carnage that makes World War II look like a police action, the band finally locates Saxon's hideout.

Reaching the conclusion that Eastwood has outlived his usefulness, Duvall orders him placed in a church with other Mexican hostages. There appear to be few silver linings for our hero, but he staunchly pulls through with some adept maneuvers that can only be described as astounding.

Reaching Saxon after a shootout with Duvall and his band of outlaws, Clint encourages the renegade to turn himself in and take his chances in court rather than try to out-gun the Duvall gang.

The movie's climax is really more of an anti-climax, allowing Eastwood to show his prowess with pistol, fist and locomotive. Heck's Hats: This is an excellent week for movie fans with such outstanding fare as: "The Secret of Dorian Gray," "Boxcar Bertha," "Dirty Harry," "The Last Run," "When Eight Bells Toll," and "Sometimes... A Great Notion."

Dramatizers to select tourney production

The Benning Dramatizers will meet Monday evening at 7:30 to select the best play to be performed by the Troupian organization. Anyone interested in the theater is invited to attend.

Choice of this play is important because it will be the Dramatizer's entry in the 1972 Third U. S. Army Tourney.

The tourney will be held in November this year, in lieu of the spring events of the past. In the last tournament, the Dramatizers captured first place for their production of "Blithe Spirit." They also won first place awards for the best set design and construction and second place awards for directing, costuming and d. publicity.

As with any new production, this play will require much work. Actors, costumers, set builders, photographers, lighting technicians and writers are only a few of the many people needed for a successful production.

Experience is not required; all positions are filled by people willing to work and learn. Membership in the Dramatizers is open to military and civilian personnel and their dependents.

Meetings are conducted every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fort Benning Playhouse behind the Infantry Museum on Fort Benning Street. For further information call 945-3002.

Airborne reunion

Former members of the Advisory Detachment to the Vietnamese Airborne Division are planning a reunion of all "Red Hats" sometime in late August or early September.

Former members of this unit from Fort Campbell and Fort Bragg are also planning to attend this event. A chairman has been appointed for each post.

A committee is now being formed to plan this event. All former Red Hats should contact SFC Conners, Room 431, Infantry Hall or telephone 945-1633-3383 to sign up for this reunion. AIRBORNE.

Coming to the screen...

Frogs (Rated PG) — American International Pictures is back with this preposterous portrayal of petting perversion featuring Ray Milland as a cynical, prejudiced, cantankerous and dictatorial patriarch of a once aristocratic family. He has gathered his numerous relatives at the island situated ancestral mansion for a traditional 4th of July reunion. It is an event not looked forward to by most of the relatives who put up with Milland only because of the millions they one day hope to share. When an ecology writer discovers the body of a caretaker in the swamp, the aura of a phony festivity becomes genuinely ominous. The frogs are growing larger every year and the snakes, lizards, tarantulas, alligators, toads and leeches plot man's doom, gathering their forces for a final attack.

Big Jake (Rated PG) — The Texas badlands in 1909 provide the backdrop for this modern-day western starring John Wayne in the lead role. Wayne's grandson, John Ethan Wayne (in real life his eight-year-old son), is kidnapped by Richard Boone and his band of killers. A ransom note demanding $1 million is left with Wayne's wife, Maureen O'Hara. The killers' threat is not an idle one since they leave a path of blood and murder as proof. O'Hara contacts her estranged husband who hasn't been seen in nearly ten years. While the Texas Rangers hunt down the kidnappers in an auto caravan, Wayne travels on horseback with the money, "Farewell Great King," Jill Paton Walsh: Recreates the splendor and strife of the ancient world through the eyes of Themistocles. Vivid in its evocation of everyday life in 5th century Athens, it is as contemporary as today.

"Samuel de Champlain," Samuel Eliot Morison: With his characteristically lively and vivid prose backed up by impeccable research, S. E. Morison recreates the public-and-private life of this remarkable man. He is a natural leader; one who is filled with humanity, loyalty and obedience.

"The Boys of Summer," Roger Kahn: This is a book about America, how it has progressed from the thirties to the seventies.

"Dark Horse," Fletcher Knebel: A novel of politics and power in America today — very timely.

Engineers aid youth council

The soldiers of Company A and Company D, 83d Engr. Bn. (Const), 831st Engr. Gp. (Ch) gave a helping hand to the City of Columbus in its campaign against litter and old cars. The project was conceived and carried out under the Columbus Youth Opportunity Council with the engineers being called upon to provide the necessary equipment required to remove the litter and abandoned cars located by the YOC workers.

The project was organized and performed by the 83d Engr. Bn. in the same spirit of cooperation and opportunity for understanding by which the city of Columbus and Ft. Benning first conceived the project. The project was divided between two companies and personnel in the companies rotated in order to provide the greatest possible opportunity for the individual soldier to develop a sense of pride in his profession and in the civilian community.

The personnel participating in the community action project were Sps Battle, Sps Sanders, and Sp4 Schaefer from Company A. The personnel from Company D were Sps Gause, Sp4 Wells, Sp4 Wolfinger, PFC Carlton, and PV2 Scott.

Professor tries the Army way

California State College's loss is the Army's gain as far as Capt. James A. Thomas, IOAC student of the 1st Bu. 73B is concerned. Thomas, who has a Ph.D. in philosophy was assistant professor at California State College at Long Beach until he resigned in June 1972. Thomas fulfilled his military obligation during the Korean War, serving as an E-5 with the 508th Airborne RCT. This flare-up in Vietnam, Thomas rejoined the army and received a direct commission. Because of his voluntary association with the military, Thomas feels that he was unduly harassed and discriminated against by fellow faculty members at California State College. This harassment led to his resignation as assistant professor. Aside from serving the Army, Thomas observes and uses the military as a subject matter for his studies.

ACS plans entertainment for children

Army Community Service is preparing a series of events designed especially for handicapped children.

"Saturday Fun Time" will begin Sept. 8 and will run throughout the school year. Weekly sessions will be held each Saturday in Building 1940 off Anderson Street.

Fun Time is open to all children of military personnel whether active, retired, divorced, or deceased. Minimum age is six years old. The program includes arts and crafts, music, table games, bowling, and sports in general. It is requested that parents accompany their children on the first day. For further information call Mrs. Lovelace at 826-1100 or Capt. Gilbert at 545-1233-1633.

The handicapped children's program is a year-round project operated by volunteer personnel. Army Community Service needs more volunteers. If you are interested in working on this committee, call Capt. Gilbert or Mrs. Merrill at 545-1233-1633.

$: Finance short changes 524th claiming No. 1 in 931st softball

524th Finance short changed 524th Personnel 6-4 to win the 931st Softball Championship at Fort Field Aug. 18. Finance scattered 12 hits and held 524th scoreless for six innings in attaining the No. 1 rating.

The teams finished one and two respectively in the league giving them a spot to compete in the Post-Tournament starting Monday.

524th went into the game tied for first with Finance who had led most of the season. The pay-day heart breakers had spoiled an earlier bid by Personnel this season, 6-5.

524th is trying to slip in the back door to grab the championship but 524th Finance too rough to handle. 15th led off in the third with winning pitcher Mark Berse singling to right followed by two more singles by second baseman Dewey Bourgeois and third baseman Max Scott driving in Berse. Shortstop John Pope then singled to center scoring Scott.

Scott belted his fourth homer of the season for the lone run of the fifth inning making the score 3-0. Scott leads Finance in homers for the season followed by John Pope, with three.

Finance led the cake in the sixth by adding three more runs. Pope and center fielder Bob Warner led off with back to back doubles. Sacrifices by right fielder Jim Coleman and short fielder Dave Hirschbeck drove in Pope and Warner. The third run came when catcher Ron Servant doubled and was followed by Dave Austin who smashed the fourth Finance double of the inning driving in Servant, making the score 6-0.

524th managed their runs in the seventh when right fielder Matranga singled and first baseman Patterson doubled. Two sacrifices by the pitcher, Erickson and the second baseman, Welch, enabled the run to score.

Finance's slingshot allowed only three runs per game while scoring eight per game this season. 1st Lt. Hall W. Crowder, CO and coach of Finance feels that if the defense holds up as it has, there is a very good chance of taking it all at the Post Tournament. But he adds, "I'm looking for a rough time."

Crowder added that the hitting of John Pope, hitting .600, and Dewey Bourgeois, at .547, has been a definite factor in the success of the team. Also the baserunning of the entire team has been the best in the league.

Team depth presents no problem for Crowder with players like Jim Miller backing up first sacker Bob Jackson. Also Mike Alameda Tony Maes and Hal Byrd can play any position on the field.

Col. Robert Seaman, Comptroller, congratulated the team after its' victory. Col. Seaman has been to most of Finance's games this year.

Ecology is a new thing, as this young lady discovered when she went swimming in a "sudsy" river.

Alabama selected for NCAA tourney

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama has been selected by the National Collegiate Athletic Association to host the 19th Midwest Regional basketball tournament.

Paul "Bear" Bryant, head football coach and athletic director, said Tuesday.

"The NCAA tournament is the real showcase of college basketball," C. M. Newton said. "This Crimson Tide coach will be a great boost not just for our program, but for basketball in the state. Anyone who has ever been to an NCAA tournament comes away with a great feeling, since it is a stimulating experience."

Eight teams from the midwest region will compete in the tournament. The makeup of the field will be determined from games played March 9 at sites to be announced.

The winner of the Southeastern, Big Ten, Mid-American and Ohio Valley conferences are automatic qualifiers for the tournament. The other four teams will be at-large selections.

The winner of the Midwest regional here will join champions from the east, midwest and west for the NCAA finals at Greensboro, N.C., March 32-25.

The Rod and Gun Club has planned two events for the Labor Day Holiday weekend. It is hoped that these events will keep some members from traveling the nation's dangerous highways during his last holiday period of the Summer vacation period.

A fishing derby will be held from 6 p.m. Saturday until 4:30 p.m. on Monday. All members authorized to hunt and fish on the reservation and bonded dependents are liable to enter the contest.

Those interested in competing may register at the sales counter of the Rod and Gun Club any time during the hours of operation after 8 a.m. Aug. 21. This pre-registration is being made available so that those who want to go fishing early Saturday, Sept. 2 without traveling to the club first. Anyone can pre-register at the sales counter until the close of business on Sept. 1. Beginning at 6 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 2 registrations will be accepted on the club porch in the rear of the building.

There will be a $1 entrance fee for each fisherman and a $3 entrance fee for a family group. Prizes will be awarded for bream, catfish and bass. First prize for each species will be $25, second prize will be $20 and third prize $15.

Fishermen entering the fishing derby will also be eligible for a special prize providing they register a fish at the club during the period 6 a.m., September 2 through 4 p.m., Sept. 4.

The special prize is an eleven foot square family tent with four polyethylene walls. The winner of this prize will be determined immediately after the close of the contest.

Those who register fish that win prizes need not be present when winners are announced but the winner of the tent must be at the club at the time of the announcement.

Holiday Skeet Shoot

The Rod and Gun Club will also sponsor a skeet shoot on Sept. 2 and 3. The tournament has been named the "Dove Shoot Open." It will be a 200, 30, 30 and 13 gauge (guns) shoot open to all registered members of the Georgia Skeet Shooters Association.

The shoot will consist of one 100 target event with each of the four gauges. Two and five man team winners and a high overall champion will be determined. A Calcutta will be held after the cocktail party scheduled at the Skeet range after the close of shooting on Saturday. All shooters, their families and guests are welcome at the cocktail party.

Big Fishing Business

Base tournaments are getting into the big time if the value of the prize money offered is any indication.

This week Project Sports Incorporated, a Texas based organization is offering $80,000 in prize money for a rod and reel duel in the waters of the Sam Rayburn Reservoir in Texas. Next week the Bass Anglers Sportsmen Society (BASS) will put up $15,000 for top anglers at Ross Barnett Reservoir in Mississippi.

Both lakes are considered to be the best bass hangouts in the country. Each has been the scene of several previous tournaments.

BASS and Project Sports seem bent on increasing the jackpots in fishing tournaments to rival the prizes played for by the golf pros.

The Sam Rayburn Tournament is the third presented this year by Project Sports. The first was held at tournament in Georgia. The prize money offered in this tournament was top for the sport. Sixty anglers shared in a huge $55,000 jackpot.

BASS hasn't put up as much money for prizes but they have been promoting interest in the contest through smaller local tournaments in which various affiliate chapters participate.

The tournament at Ross Barnett Reservoir will be the fifth championship BASS has sponsored this year, with one more to go before the annual Bass Masters Classic when the top scorers of all of the BASS contests slug it out for a $10,000 winner take all tournament. Last year Bobby Murray of Hot Springs, Arkansas won the grand prize.

Project Sports also has a year-end tournament in which all anglers who place high in the four regularly scheduled events are eligible. This Tournament will have a total of $30,000 in prize money.

The time of the expert bass fisherman has arrived. Imagine making a living traveling from one reservoir to another to compete in fishing tournaments.

Carter supports hunters, fishermen

ATLANTA — Governor Jimmy Carter has added his support to a growing effort to bring recognition to hunters and fishermen for their longtime contributions to conservation of our natural resources.

In a meeting this week with a group headed by Georgia Sportsmen's Federation President Charles Ingram, Governor Carter agreed to proclaim September 23, 1972, as "Georgia Hunting and Fishing Day." The date coincides with National Hunting and Fishing Day, which was proclaimed by President Nixon on May 2.

Earl Martin of Tucker, Georgia Hunting and Fishing Day Chairman, said that sportsmen's organizations all over the state would be working in various ways to stimulate local interest in GHF Day.

"The general public is very conservation-conscious now," Martin said, "and our intent is to help increase awareness of the positive, effective and continuing role played by sportsmen in the conservation movement."

Five golfers enter Southern

B. R. (Mac) McLendon, who shot the best finishing round of all 72 players who made the cut in last year's Southern Open golf tournament, was one of the five players whose commitments for the 1972 event at the Green Island Country Club were announced Tuesday.

Others were fellow Alabamian, Hubert Green of Birmingham; Brian (Bud) Allin, Santa Barbara, Calif., whose 68 shared the first round lead in the PGA tournament 11 days ago; Ron Cerrudo and Larry Ziegler.

McLendon, who now makes his home in Birmingham but grew up in Montgomery, fired a 65 in the final round of last year's Southern for a total which enabled him to tie for 12th place and pick up a check for $1,875. His best finish of 1971 was a tie for sixth in the Sea Pines as he was a to-be of $2,375 for the year. McLendon graduated from the 1968 Spring Qualifying School after graduating from Louisiana State University in 1967.

Allin, who played with '71 Southern Open winner Johnny Miller and Mike Reaser on the Brynham Young University golf team, is a former airport officer who spent 16 months in Vietnam and was decorated four times.

As a rookie with only 13 weeks of pro tournament experience under his belt, Allin won the 1971 Greater Greensboro Open in a three way playoff with Dave Eischeberger and Ron Funseth.

Green followed Allin in the victory column as a rookie in 1971, taking the Houston Champions playoff over veteran Don January. He also finished second at New Orleans.

Ziegler, of St. Louis, tied for sixth in last year's Southern Open with a 76, firing one of two 64s shot in the tournament in the second round.

He was the winner of the 1969 Michigan Classic and he had one other tie for sixth last year on the tour, at the Danny Thomas Memphis Open.

Cerrudo tied for 12th in the Southern, last year. The Californian has two Tour victories to his credit, the 1965 Cajun and the 1970 San Antonio.

Edgewood to hold 'Warner' signups

Registration for the Edgewood Pop Warner Football League is now being held at the Edgewood field on Morris Road. Signups, which begin each day at 5:30 p.m., will continue through Friday, Aug. 25, but will not be held on Saturday and Sunday.

"I want to be where my husband is."

Sergeant Jenny Preston, a medical specialist, found more than a challenging career and a chance to continue her education in the Army. She found a husband.

"There were many reasons I reenlisted. The main reason, however, was to be with my husband. He's also in the Army.

"Our chances of being together in the Army are a lot better than if I was just a dependent. We have a much richer life together. I'm looking forward to traveling together and seeing a lot more of the world.

"We're hoping to see Japan and Hawaii and I'm planning to return to the Philippines for a visit.

"My husband and I are saving as much as we can so the $10,000 bonus was very, very nice.

"My job has been very rewarding because I'm dealing with people's lives. And what could be more important than that?"

Sergeant Preston feels the Army has given her all the things a woman needs. A richer social life, job satisfaction, a good salary, regular promotions, educational opportunities, free housing, dental and medical care.

Sergeant runs 500 miles

Sgt. Mark C. DeBernardi of HHC, TSB, was presented a 500 mile club certificate by Col. Kendrick B. Barlow Jr., deputy assistant commandant. The awards are presented to participants in the Run for Your Life program. DeBernardi started running in September 1971. Initially running a modest one mile per evening, he gradually increased his endurance so that today he is running three miles each evening.

Hawks sign top draftee

ATLANTA (AP)—The Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association signed top draft choice Steve Bracey of the University of Tulsa to a multi-year contract Tuesday.

Bracey led Tulsa with a 26-point average while shooting 47 per cent from the field.

The Hawks also added three other players to the roster—10th round pick Jim Chesson of Tulsa and Jim Rose and Greg Fillmore.

Bracey was picked in the second round of the college draft after Atlanta traded its first-round choice.

Olympic games Ten soldiers chosen from 3rd Army area

HEADQUARTERS, THIRD U.S. ARMY, Ft. Monmouth, Ga. — The U.S. Army will send 23 of its members to represent the United States at the XX Olympiad in Munich, Germany. Final selections on the 1972 Olympic team included ten soldiers from the Third U.S. Army area.

The shooting events were a clean sweep by personnel stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga. and include: Maj. Lones Wigger, Capt. Lemmy Bassham, SFC Hershel Anderson, SFC Charles David, SFC James McNally, SFC Edmund Moeller and Sgt. Donald Halderman.

Team handball, a new event at this year's Olympics, will include 1st Lt. James Rodgers of Ft. Jackson, S.C. and SGT Fietcher Abrahams of Ft. McCallan, Ala.

SFC Steven Woznick of Ft. Jackson, S.C. has gained a position in the cycling competition.

The quadrennial celebration of the modern Olympic games is scheduled to commence on Aug. 26, 1972 and end on Sept. 10, 1972. The original Greek Olympic games held every fourth year, from the year 776 B.C., were revived in 1896 to become the international athletic competition now referred to as the Olympic games.

Assistance: Engineers lend skill, tools to Selma, Ala. projects

By NEIL DANIEL

Soldiers from the 931st Engineer Group (CEB) recently engaged in an extensive clean-up program in Selma, Ala. Working along with the Selma Public Works Department and volunteer civilian workers, the men of the 931st Engineers provided the equipment and technical skills necessary to the accomplishment of the city's projected goals.

The program was aimed at improving conditions in the city by removing the abandoned cars which have plagued the city by providing a breeding ground for rodents, mosquitoes and snakes; paving hitherto unpaved roads and providing the youth of Selma with a Youth Center by restoring the historic L and N Railroad Station in the city.

Making full use of the equipment and men provided by the 931st, the work proceeded at what city officials described as "an amazing pace." Mr. James Jones of the Public Works Department explained that the city "just did not have the equipment to do the job. I don't see how we could have ever caught up with it if it were not for the 931st Engineers."

The men used two fork-lifts to remove abandoned cars along with three forty-foot tractor trailers. Six dump-trucks engaged in transporting gravel from the quarry to the roads for paving. The city's twenty-ton crane was aided by one scoop-loader, brought by the men of the 931st, in loading the trucks.

While in Selma, the men were hosted by the city. Mayor Joe T. Smitherman was very enthusiastic about the project and expressed his gratitude to the men of the 931st for their help. Numerous other civic groups and the local merchants have also expressed similar sentiments.

But the citizens of Selma are not the only ones who are happy that the soldiers came to help them. The men themselves were just as happy to be there. SP4 Glenn Burks of the 88th Ord Co., 931st Engr. Gp. felt that he did something of value for Selma. "I enjoyed the hard work and the personal involvement. I got a kick out of the feeling of accomplishment we had at the end of a day's work."

The men were commanded by Capt. James Agee himself a native of Selma, who is presently the C.O. of the 6888th Ord. ?

Rangers back from Canada!

Twelve U.S. Army Rangers from Fort Benning, led by Lt. Col. Karl V. Hurdle, chairman of the Benning Ranger Committee, and eight Canadian Forces personnel end a canoe trip at the town of Tracy near the intersection of the Richelieu and St. Lawrence Rivers in the province of Quebec, Canada on Aug. 18. The trip was approximately 140 miles for the Rangers, who were met at the Canadian border by the Canadians, who journeyed with them for some 80 miles. The Rangers followed the same course that Rogers' Rangers took during the French and Indian War in the 18th Century. A complete story with pictures will appear in the next issue of the Bayonet.

August issue of SOLDIERS features Army's top athletes

CAMERON STATION, Va. — How'd you like to go to Munich for the XXth Olympiad? If you can't make it, the next best thing is to read the August SOLDIERS. It features some of the Army's top athletes who've been going for a berth on the U.S. Olympic team — their past accomplishments and their hopes for the future.

And while we're thinking of Germany you'll want to walk with SOLDIERS through the streets of East and West Berlin, Berlin, city of '68. You'll see the many differences between East and West.

In a related story, travel along the infamous wall and see why it is so difficult for East Germans to escape to the West. Six young soldiers will be your guides while on patrol.

Before leaving Germany you'll want to visit the tiny community of Steinhausen in the pages of SOLDIERS. That free community is completely surrounded by East Germany — the three American MPs stationed there are flown in and out by helicopter.

While we're traveling around why not read what Fort Carson is doing to remind motorists there that seat belts save lives. The fact that some 50,000 lives are lost annually in traffic accidents doesn't seem to shock many drivers into using their seat belts but "The Convincer" does. It's a roller-coaster kind of gadget that simulates an auto crash at 13 mph with the soldier passenger or dependent protected by a seat belt. "Wow — that convinced me," exclaimed one volunteer.

A trip to the Old West wouldn't be complete without seeing TOP GUN, a hell-for-leather anything goes competition among the troops at Fort Carson. When a dude there feels that he can do something better than anyone else he tosses out the challenge. From then on it's wide open and it's in SOLDIERS.

For the more serious minded reader SOLDIERS introduces Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, nominated to be the Army's new Chief of Staff.

Ala. ROTC Cadet trains in 1-58th

Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) cadet Theo Middleton is one of the four ROTC students in the 1st Bn. (Mech.), 58th Inf. (Paratroopers), of the 197th Inf. Bde.

Middleton is training for two weeks in Delta Company, 1-58th Inf., for platoon leadership. He is working as an assistant platoon leader and will receive instruction in taking on the responsibilities and gaining experience in the functions of a platoon leader.

The executive officer of Company D, 1st Lt. Pat Craven, will be assisting and answering any questions the cadet might have.

Middleton, a native of Mobile, Ala., is a 1971 graduate of the University Military School in Mobile. He will be attending his second and final year at Marion Institute, Ind., for his first two years of college education.

His plans for the future include attending the University of Alabama and attaining a law degree.

Last summer, Middleton went to Ft. Knox, Ky., for basic ROTC training and, this summer, prior to coming to Fort Benning, finished his Advance Summer Camp (ASC) at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Cadet Middleton has many hobbies. One is rather unusual. He likes to hunt and fish, and fly. He will receive his civilian pilot's license soon. Middleton plans to attend the ROTC flight school in the near future.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

For an hour of fovee with an Indiana accent, serve tiny chunks of preserved ginger, Guava cheese and fresh pineapple impaled on tooth pick.

To make paper-blin lemon "twizz" for warm-weather drinks, shave fruit with a vegetable peeler.

Beaten eggwhites for meringue crown more body if the sugar is added just as the whites begin to peak.

When making meatballs for Italian tomato sauce, fry forming them around small cubes of mozzarella. As the meatballs are browned and then simmered briefly in the sauce, the cheese will melt and form a surprise center.

Disposal: Trash pick-up and burial in sanitary fills proves ecologically sound practice on post

Few people bother to think of what happens to their garbage once it is taken to the trash can for pick up. Only until a minor crisis in the form of a garbage collection strike occurs, do people recognize the importance of proper disposal of what has been called the price we pay for civilization — garbage.

Garbage is as varied as the people who create it. It can be anything from a small tin can to 1,000 cardboard boxes. Mother nature even provides her own garbage in the form of downed trees from storms or unwanted brush.

There are three basic types of garbage disposal, fire or incinerator (which is the least desirable), sale (for use in an altered form) and burial. The Fort Benning community is fortunate to have what is considered the best method of the three, burial, in operation.

For many years the Department of the Army has prohibited open burning of garbage on military reservations. Because of the massive expense of Fort Benning, space has presented no problems in the sanitary fill projects which have been going on since 1945 on post.

About 40,000 cubic yards of uncompacted garbage are buried per month in the post's two sanitary fill projects at Kelly Hill and Lawson Army Airfield (LAAF). This amounts to one third of the waste handled by a city the size of Columbus, Ga.

These wastes come from both post housing and barracks areas. Once collected, the garbage is trucked to the fill sight and dumped into a long trench. Fort Benning uses what is known as the Parallel Trench Method. Two trenches are dug side by side and the dirt from one trench is used to fill in the other. In this manner it is necessary to handle the dirt only one time and this type of operation requires only two pieces of equipment, a bulldozer and a crane.

The only restrictions placed on land usage of completed fills is that there can never be permanent structures constructed on the sight. In most cases at Fort Benning the fill land is used for restoration purposes.

In the Kelly Hill project the fill is being used to reclaim land which would otherwise remain in a useless state. In these ways the sanitary fill projects have a positive effect on post conservation. But the most impressive aspect of a sanitary fill project is the safety and sanitation.

When the practice of burning of wastes is eliminated, as it has been at Fort Benning, it greatly reduces the danger of forest fires and also the pollution which incinerator fires cause.

Scouts backpack through Appalachian Mountains

Boy Scouts of Troop 54 from Fort Benning, Ga., loaded their backpacking equipment onto the truck in the early morning sunlight on Aug. 10. They then drove to the Appalachian Mountains where they began their 68 mile, seven day and six night hike.

The scouts gathered together at the Troop 54 Boy Scout shack at Sand Hill to make last minute preparation before their tough hike in the mountains. The ten scouts and three leaders left for Amelia Orla State Park, north of Atlanta, where they started the first leg of their backpacking in the Appalachian Trail.

The Fort Benning troop is sponsored by the 5th Student Bn., TSB, and is one of 20 troops on post. The ages of the Scouts range from 12 to 18 years. The Scoutmaster for Troop 54 is Maj. Roger M. Millar, Brigade-Battalion Operation Department.

The troop is under the supervision of SFC Richard Carlsen, IHIC, 1st Student Bn., who resupplied the group with water and dehydrated food for their outdoor meals.

"We prepared ourselves for this long backpack trip by taking eight ten-mile hikes and one twenty-mile trip along the Odom Trail," said SFC Carlsen. This is the first time the Sand Hill troop will be in the Appalachian Mountains area. When they finish the long rugged seven day, 68 mile endurance test, the scouts will receive a 50 mile Boy Scout Merit Badge.

Patriots support Rangers

Moving out on a sixteen day commitment, Bravo Company, 1st Bn. (Mech.), 5th Inf. (Patriots), 197th Inf. Bde., traveled in a convoy to support ROTC Rangers Students at Eglin Air Force Base near Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

The men, recent graduates of AIT training, are all volunteers for the 197th

Inf. Bde. under the Unit of Choice Program. Their mission is to support the Ranger Camp and act as aggressors for the ROTC Students going through one of the phases of Ranger qualification. They will be furnished with barracks as their living quarters and also supply truck drivers.

The convoy is under the command of Capt. Cecil Calloway. He will return to Fort Benning when his men have been briefed on the two week mission. The officer in charge will be 1st Lt. Phillip Underwood and the COIC will be SFC Dean Sila. Both are from Bravo Company.

A little more to the left!

Soldiers of Co. B, 3rd Engr. Bn., are here receiving valuable on the job (OJT) training during the placing of the concrete headwall at Red Mill Creek. This view is similar to the view seen by the crane operator who has the difficult task of maneuvering the concrete bucket in position over the one-foot wide form.

Officers pay way for scout

Officers of IOAC classes 4-72, 5-72, and 6-72 recently raised over $200 to help send a young Explorer Scout on a ten-day scuba trip to Florida and the Bahamas Islands.

The Explorer Scout was 15-year-old Arnie Angelo who was all set to go when a family emergency depleted his savings for the trip.

As a result of the IOACs generosity, Arnie was able to join the 12 other Fort Benning-Columbus Area youths in their scuba adventure to the Caribbean.

Arnie and his fellow Explorers were led by Sgt. Maj. Cox, 4th Bn., TSB, who also organized the Scuba Explorer Post in this area. SGM Cox is a qualified scuba instructor who helped instuct the scouts during their adventure.

The explorers, ages 14 to 19, were joined in Palm Beach, Florida, by 30 other scouts from across the United States.

In Palm Beach the Scouts received intense instruction on scuba diving which culminated in certification as qualified scuba divers.

The Explorers were divided into three groups to study coral, fish feeding habits, and territorial fish. Their dives progressed from 25 feet to a final dive of 100 feet.

American athletes in Olympics earn prestige, not bread

Should American athletes competing in the Olympics be supported by the American government as some other countries do?

PFC Albert Jackson, MAH

PFC Albert Jackson, MAH Med Co., says "I'll tell you why they should. The government is putting a lot of money into mix stuff that doesn't make sense, so why not. A lot of slams need money. Instead, rockets go to the moon; might as well be Munich."

Sp6 Henry Tarver, 26th Co. 2nd Bd., says "Yes. Athletes are representing our country so they should be supported. Our government should help them. I don't see any reason they couldn't be helped if so much money can be used for foreign officers who come here for training. They shouldn't be paid because they're earning the prestige. The support should be on a year round basis."

Sp6 Johnnie Dodds, MAH Med Co., says "I think there should be some support since the athletes are representing the U.S. The American people in general should make an effort to help them."

Sp4 Thomas Garrod, MAH

Sp4 Thomas Garrod, MAH Med Co., says "A real athlete has to fight to get to the top. Part of that fight is supporting himself. Besides, he'd be a professional if supported by the government. It makes them professionals rather than amateurs competing in these sports. When supported, he's being given the honor rather than earning it."

Ssgt. Allen Walton says "I think they should definitely be supported by the government. The reason — if they don't have money about a job, they can't train longer and become more proficient in their sport." He's with the MAH Medical Company.

Make Labor Day a safe holiday

Ralph C. Andrews, USAIC Safety Director, today called on all Fort Benning personnel to make this Labor Day the safest holiday ever. "The American worker's holiday should not be one marked by tragedy. Safe driving practices and courtesy on the road will do much to make this a great holiday for everyone," said Mr. Andrews.

Last year's long Labor Day weekend saw many traffic deaths, drownings, and boating fatalities. Fortunately, no Fort Benning personnel were included in the death toll. To attain a similar record this year and maintain the dignity of Labor Day, Mr. Andrews urged everyone to recognize that safety is everybody's job — on the highway, in the home and at play, as well as at work.

Beginning Friday, Sept. 1, probably the greatest number of automobiles ever will take to the nation's streets and highways. The intelligent driver will keep this in mind and remember that the increased traffic magnifies the possibility of accidents. "So he will drive defensively," Mr. Andrews asserted. Such a driver will be especially alert during the holiday. He will observe all the rules of good driving but he will not depend on the other driver to do the same. When he sees another car approaching a crossroad at a high rate of speed, he will slow down. He is always ready to yield the right of way. He does not depend on the other driver to yield or obey a stop sign. By slowing, he increases his own control of the situation by being able to stop quickly or to take other measures to avoid possible trouble.

The defensive driver rests frequently and will not drive when he is over-tired. He will not drink if he knows he will drive afterwards. He knows and follows the rules of the road.

He recognizes that there are others on the road who do not obey the basic safety rules and is alert for them so that he and his family do not become innocent victims of another's recklessness and mistake.

Seat belts can help prevent deaths and injuries. An immense amount of scientific research, including actual vehicle crashes under controlled conditions, proves that the seat belt is presently the most effective item of protective equipment for drivers and their passengers.

Favorite Labor Day activities are picnics, fishing trips, boating and swimming. Unfortunately, these outings have their fatal consequences each year with drownings leading the list. About two thirds of the persons drowned are non-swimmers who fall into the water from boats, piers, bridges, etc. Swimmers and waders take unnecessary risks when they go into unguarded or unpatrolled areas in lakes and streams.

Mr. Andrews asks everyone to follow these steps of water safety: Supervise children playing in or near the water; swim and boat only with companions, never alone; provide each person in the boat with a Coast Guard approved life preserver; should the boat swamp or overturn, stay with it — wait for help or push it toward shore.

Also, those who plan to spend the weekend at home should not leave their safe practices at work Friday," Mr. Andrews said.

Make this a safe and happy Labor Day by WORKING FOR SAFETY ON LABOR DAY.

Dental Chief warns of misinterpretation

"I hope that expectant mothers recognize the limitations of the CHAMPUS program for dental care," Lt. Col. (DC) W. E. Landefeld, Jr., D.D.S., Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) Director of Dental Affairs, warns. "We are receiving many requests for reimbursement for care which is not authorized under the program," he continues. "Dental care under the CHAMPUS Basic Program is really quite limited."

There are some instances when dental care is authorized on a cost sharing basis during pregnancy. Care is authorized to eliminate the centers of infection which might prove harmful to the health of the mother or the unborn child. If such care is necessary, it may include the removal of teeth, root canal work, periodontics (a r i n g for the tissues supporting the teeth), restoration of decayed teeth, oral hygiene treatment and diagnosis necessary for this care. "Certain dental procedures are not authorized, however," Dr. Landefeld warns. "For example, the replacement of teeth missing prior to pregnancy is seldom authorized." For such care to be authorized, he explains, there must be "compelling medical evidence" that the pregnancy is being seriously endangered because of nutritional deficiencies in the developing as a result of the lack of ability to chew food. He also warns that CHAMPUS may not authorize gold restorations if a tooth may be "adequately restored with another dental material, such as amalgam."

Fort Benning Race Relations Group aids racial harmony

BY DALE WILSON

Fort Benning is working hard at improving its racial harmony and the power behind the movement is the Race Relations Coordinating Group, (RRCG) a unit whose influence is seen and felt in everyday affairs.

The group is under the direction of Maj. Tyrone Fletcher, and advises the commanding general on all cases of racial tension on post, while at the same time working to develop programs for ending discriminatory practices and promoting an atmosphere of racial harmony.

One of the first programs initiated by the RRCG after its inception in March of 1970 was the unit seminar program, which, explained Capt. Richard Kittinger, assistant OIC of the RRCG, consists of regularly scheduled meetings of unit personnel to discuss problems and educate each other on racial differences. These rap sessions have elicited many sound recommendations for changes and have done much to promote racial harmony.

Desegregation, Not Integration

"Our purpose is to desegregate, not integrate," declared Kittinger. "There is a world of difference between the two terms."

According to Kittinger, integration is the semi-forced intermingling of races, while desegregation forces society to drop its racial barriers.

Another program initiated by the "think tank" in the RRCG is the moderator program.

These moderators are trained by the RRCG, and in the program's brief year of existence, some 200 men have gone through this training. Not all are from Fort Benning, other installations have sent personnel to the RRCG moderator course here.

The moderators serve as race relations and equal opportunity advisors to unit commanders. The moderator program is the subject of an ABC News Special slated for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 4 on WTVM (Channel 9). See box below.

Commander's Awareness Program

The Commander's Awareness program is another step taken by the RRCG to help close the gap between black and white military personnel.

With the beginning of attempts to solve racial problems, the responsibility was given to unit commanders.

"Commanders were given a responsibility, but no body took the time to tell them what they would be responsible for," explained Kittinger. He added that they knew they would be responsible for race relations, but what "good" race relations were, no one seemed to know.

The purpose of the Commander's Awareness program is to help the unit commander pinpoint racial tensions and to take the appropriate actions in dealing with them.

"Perfect race relations are impossible," stressed Kittinger, "racial tensions will arise. But, it's up to the commander to do something."

"Don't call me boy!"

ABC special slated

Fort Benning's race relations program is the subject of an ABC News Special which will be seen locally over WTVM (Channel 9) at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 4.

The title of the show is "American Serviceman: Don't Call Me Boy." Most of the 30-minute documentary is about Benning's moderator training program conducted by the Race Relations Coordinating Group (RRCG), headed by Maj. Tyrone Fletcher.

The ABC film crew spent a week here in May to gather information for the show. During that time ABC cameras recorded the actions and reactions of the Benning personnel who were undergoing moderator training.

In addition to Major Fletcher, other RRCG members featured are 1st Lt. Phillip Lyman, Sp4 Michael Robichaud, and Capt. John Laszlo (MED-DAC).

The major function of the RRCG is to assist commanders in conducting their race relations programs.

While a man may contact the RRCG if he feels he has been discriminated against, Capt. Kittinger recommends that he utilize the chain of command.

Recommend Chain-of-Command

"The commander, the Inspector General, unit moderators and the Staff Judge Advocate are the responsible people," said Kittinger. "If a man calls us, we will feed his case to the appropriate agency and monitor it to see that the legal and, if you will, moral, thing is done."

While emphasis is on discrimination against blacks do whites ever complain of discriminatory practices?

"No, not often," Kittinger said. "The reason for this is that the white soldier can shed his problems with his uniform at 5 p.m. and go home, while the black man contains his. Most major military racial outbreaks had their origins off post."

Race relations group to meet

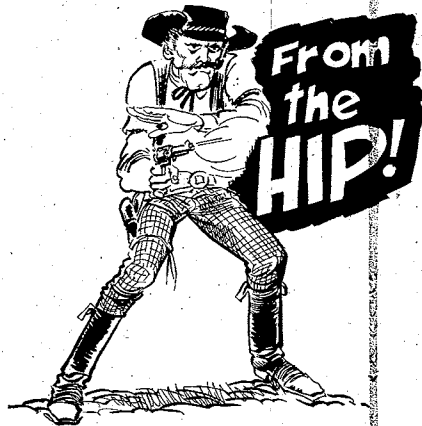

Coming soon to Fort Benning is the Department of the Army World - Wide Race Relations-Equal Opportunity Conference.

Among the dignitaries expected to attend are the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Equal Opportunity, Mr. Donald Miller, and Mr. Curtis R. Smothers, director of Equal Opportunity for the Office of the Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs).

Smothers is most noted for alerting a Senate investigating committee to discriminatory practices in Europe while serving as a military judge in that theater.

The purpose of the conference is the discussion of race relations and equal opportunity in the Department of the Army.

Approximately 35 general officers are expected to attend.

1-58th soldier picked for USMAPS

Sgt. William Sorensen, Co. C, 1st Bn. (Aech), 58th Inf. (Paratroopers), 197th Inf. Bde., has been chosen to attend the United States Military Academy Prep School at Fort Belvoir, Va. The Prep School is for the enlisted soldier who wants to better his education and become a Regular Army officer.

Sorensen hails from DeLand, Fla., and is a Unit of Choice soldier. He received basic training and AIT training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. He then proceeded to Jump School in Fort Benning and has been with "C" Company for the last seven months. He began his PATRIOT tour as a clerk, but for the last three months has been the re-enlistment NCO, Charlie Company is an all volunteer Unit of Choice outfit. As the re-enlistment NCO he has signed up 23 men and out of these, 20 re-upped for the 1-58th Infantry. Sorensen says, "The men like it here because it is close to their homes".

Sorensen will leave for Virginia on Tuesday and is looking forward to the training he will be receiving. He plans to make the Army a career.

We invented National Bank of Fort Benning to provide services not readily available at other banking institutions.

Our customers would have banking problems not shared by the general public, like changing banks when they are transferred, or banking for TDY personnel, or what to do while on a hardship tour.

So we built in world wide banking. That means no matter where you are, either temporarily, or permanently, or if you just happen to be traveling, we can serve you.

People want service and convenience, and we're the "People Bank."

Coin collectors meet at Ralston

Several Fort Benning personnel participated in the recent fifth annual coin show, sponsored by the Muscogee Coin Club at the Ralston Motor Hotel in Columbus. Some came just to look at old coins while others made investments of over $500, purchasing rare and valuable coins and currency.

Maj. Alfred H. McDonald, assigned to the Infantry Agency, was in charge of setting up the various exhibits. During the show, he assisted people from Fort Benning and Columbus by pointing out the better coins, and explaining the characteristics of coins. Maj. McDonald and his wife, Rosemary, won third and second place, respectively, for best exhibits. Capt. Walker Williams, also assigned to the Agency, and Miss Kin McDonald (Maj. McDonald's daughter) were among the winners of silver dollar deer prizes which were awarded each hour.

'Golden Boy' chosen as Dramatizer entry

"Golden Boy," by Clifford Odets, is the next production for the Fort Benning Dramatizers. This will be their entry in the 1973 Third U.S. Army Tournament of Plays.

"Golden Boy" centers around a young boxer in New York as he climbs his way towards a championship. Joe Bonaparte, the "Golden Boy," turned to boxing after a sheltered life as a violin-playing child.

Tryouts for this production will be held Sept. 5, 7 and 8 in the Playhouse, Bligg 1227, at 7:30 p.m.

This play requires 17 male actors in speaking roles. None of the parts has been filled. Ages for the male characters run between 17 and 50, so don't count yourself out on age.

Two female parts are available also. One is Bonaparte's sister, the other his girl friend.

Backstage work in play takes a lot of hands. For "Golden Boy," the Dramatizers need costumers, carpenters, lighting technicians, writers, sound and film crews, photographers, and make-up artists.

The Light That Never Was, Lloyd Biggle, Jr.: An exciting science fiction tale built around a very real moral problem by the well known writer of SF.

Eligibility for one of these crews does not demand much experience in theatre. Most of the Dramatizers are amateur military personnel, their dependents, and interested civilians. They learn as they go.

The learning process can be rewarding. In their last tournament production, "Blithe Spirit," the Dramatizers captured the award for best production. They also garnered awards in set design, costume, publicity, and acting.

What should I spend on a music system?

At the Sound Center we sell and service a variety of carefully chosen stereo music systems, ranging in price from about $299 to several thousand dollars. If you come in and specify the price range that you are interested in, we'll tell you what we recommend, and why we recommend it as the best choice for your amount of money.

However, we at the Sound Center think that the question "What should I spend?" deserves a straight answer. Without knowing anything about you, we're willing to risk such an answer: You probably should spend $459. Why are we so sure?

The system we have for $459 is not just a good value (although we do think it's actually the best value now available in hi-fi equipment.) Nor is it just a question of it sounding "good for the money." Our $459 Advent/Garrard/Sony/Stanton system is unique among all other systems that can be put together: it is a stereo radio/phonograph system that is nothing less than the right, completely satisfying choice for most people with a demanding interest in music and sound, at a price far lower than such a system would have cost just a few years ago. See this system and the many other components on display in our store today!

Since you have to shave every day, you may as well get a comfortable one.

Shaving isn't fun. But it doesn't have to be unpleasant either. A lot depends on the tools you use. Take shaving cream. You need a shaving cream that's moist. Because its moisture that makes your whiskers soft and easy to cut. Rise in gas enough moisture to do just that. Slowly it seeps moisture into your beard and holds it there for as long as it takes you to shave. Rise. It can't make shaving fun. But it can make it comfortable.

Special Services Labor Day Weekend activities scheduled

Labor Day weekend is traditionally one of the most dangerous for Americans who are vacationing. Many post recreational facilities have planned special activities to encourage soldiers and their families to stay on post instead of traveling.

GOLF: There will be two golf tournaments over the weekend. Special Services is holding a 54-hole medal-play tournament at the Sand Hill Golf course. After the first 36 holes, players will be placed in flights to determine the winners. Entry fee of five dollars must be paid at the Sand Hill Golf Course Pro Shop by Aug. 30. Competition will begin Sept. 2. Tee-off times will be announced. Call 545-7131 for additional information.

The second tournament is a Dog Fight competition at the Fort Benning Country Club Sept. 4. Golfers may register at the pro shop any time before the tournament. For more information call 545-4120.

SOFTBALL: The post company level softball tournament will be played at Cowley Field Sept. 2 through 4. All company size units are welcome to enter a team by Aug. 29. Entries may be called in to Special Services Sports Branch who will furnish balls, officials, and awards. For more information, call 545-1516.

BOWLING: A NO TAP bowling tournament will run at the Kelley Hill Bowling Center Sept. 2-4. All military personnel and families may play three games for two dollars. The money covers cost of alley operation and prizes. Entrants may bowl any time between 12 noon Sept. 2 and 9 p.m. Sept. 4. They may enter as often as they wish. Call 544-1486 for further information.

The Main Post Bowling Center will have a 9-6-9 scratch tournament that weekend. Hours and rules are the same as above. The number is 545-4744.

FISHING DERBY: The Rod and Gun Club is holding a fishing derby Labor Day weekend. Fishermen may pay the one dollar registration fee any time after Aug. 21. Prize will be given for the largest fish in each category. Hours will be 8 a.m. Saturday through 9:30 p.m. Monday. For additional information call 545-2022.

BANDS: The Top Five Supper Club will have The Mavericks on Sept. 2 and 3. The Rhythm Kings will play Sunday and Monday nights. Hours are until 4 a.m. Friday, 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, 12:30 a.m. Monday. Call 545-2288 with any questions.

Crain Hall will feature Tyus, a rock band, Friday night and The Third Generation, soul music, Saturday. The Rams, another soul band, will play Sunday and Monday of Labor Day weekend. Information can be obtained at 545-4160.

The Playboy Lounge will have the Rams on Friday night, Tyus Saturday, and The Third Generation Sunday. Performance hours will be 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. each evening. For more information, call 545-1867.

The Custer Terrace Officers Club will also have three bands over the holiday weekend. Friday night the Friends will play; Saturday, the Mystics; and Sunday, the Bushman. You can call 689-1852 for more information.

The Supper Club will have the We Three on Friday evening and Saturday night. The Kingmen will perform Sunday. Art Disgicco will play the piano. Additional information is available at 545-1563.

singer who accompanies himself, will perform Friday through Sunday. 545-2206 can tell you anything more.

SERVICE CLUBS: The Main Post Service Club has a series of events planned for the weekend. Saturday, card sharks may enter the Whopper (that's a game) tournament at 2:30 p.m. That evening, the autumn indoor olympics will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the pinocle tournament begins at 1:30 p.m. A chess and checker competition will begin at 2 p.m.

An evening of bingo starts at 7:30 p.m. A special Holiday Buffet will kick off Monday evening's event at 5:30 p.m. At 7 p.m. a double feature film show begins. The movies are "Winston 500 Race" and "For Love or Money." The pool tournament starts at 7:30 p.m. The number is 545-4404.

Kelley Hill Service Club opens the weekend with movies and popcorn Friday evening. Saturday's activities starts with a table tennis tourney at 2:30 p.m. You can test your "smarts" in a brain teaser game at 3:30 p.m. The watermelon feed begins at 4:30 p.m. a frisbee frolic at 7:30 will wear off the calories of the feed. Quicker patio games will start at 8 p.m. Sunday wake-up begins with 2 p.m. coffee call. Games of skill will highlight the afternoon. Winners will receive trophies to take home. A round of bingo will begin at 8 p.m. Monday starts with another coffee call at 2 p.m. A trick shot pool tourney will test the skill of the players. A checker tournament will start at 3:30. A barbecue party will close the weekend at 7:30 p.m. For more information, call 544-3079.

South Harmony Church Service Club starts its pool tournament at 2 p.m. Saturday. Triplepole fans can play to their hearts content at 5 p.m. A fun session in the main lounge will feature the You at 7 p.m. Pingpong players should check into the tournament scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday. At 5 p.m. the holiday buffet will start, followed by a bingo tourney. Monday, you can do your own thing during the afternoon open house. The watermelon eating contest begins at 6 p.m. The games carnival starts at 7 p.m. Call 545-6423 for more information.

YAC: Although the Youth Activities Center plans no special events for the holiday weekend, the Center, gym, and pool will be open from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Sept. 2 through 4.

CRAFTS: The post craft shops will be open Monday from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Because of the unusual Monday hours, the shops will close Tuesday for normal maintenance. Information is available at 545-1034.

GYMS: All indoor gyms will be open for use Saturday, Sunday, and Monday from 1 p.m. until 10 p.m.

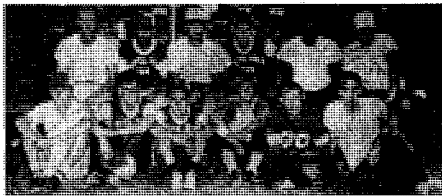

RIFLE AND PISTOL CLUB: The Rifle and Pistol Club will be open for rifle and pistol instruction 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday through Monday. Call 545-5726 for more information.

POOLS: For water bugs, the post swimming pools will be open over the Labor Day Weekend.

RECREATION AREAS: Don't forget the variety of recreation areas on post that are open for fishing, picnics, and just plain old fashioned nature watching.

THEATERS: All post movie theaters will be operating on their regular variety of movies in all the theaters. Labor Day Monday theaters will have a special matinee at 2:30 p.m.

Kelly bowls highest in month long tourney

Ssgt. Johnny R. Kelly, D Co., 1st En., 19th Inf. (Pz) recorded the highest individual series of the recent 1st-25th Pioneer Bowling Tournament held at the Kelly Hill Bowling Center. Kelly, who has been in the Army for 10 years, is active in many other sports including football and softball. However he does not hide the fact that bowling is his favorite. "I have always liked to bowl," he commented after accepting the award, "but I was just never very good. Finally I made up my mind that I was going to improve my game through practice. Since then bowling has been one of my primary avocations."

Kelly began bowling seriously while serving a tour in Germany six years ago. "Bowling is really a very demanding sport, contrary to what many people think," Kelly explained. Bowling requires the use of muscles that ordinarily receive little or no exercise plus a high degree of mental concentration."

DOWN THE CHATTAHOOCHEE ON A SUMMER AFTERNOON

Great Raft Race won by 85th Co.

BY JON HAM
Ledger Staff Writer

Like so many Huck Finns frustrated from too long a spell in the big city, an estimated 400 Columbus, Phenix City and Fort Benning residents went down to the river Saturday to go barefooted, float down stream and take life easy.

The occasion for this exodus to the banks of the Chattahoochee was the Columbus Jaycee's Greater Chattahoochee River Raft Race.

They came in every kind of craft imaginable. There were two formidable looking teams from the 85th Company at Fort Benning, replete with ominous assault craft. They were manned by 12 — man crews of 12 "Follow Me" troops who caused concern in the ranks of the comparatively soft civilians.

"They're going to be hard to beat," said one contestant as he watched the soldiers launch their raft.

There were several simple inner-tube-based rafts with plywood platform strapped to the top, evidently the most popular design.

OCS INTERTUBES

One team of Officer Candidate School students from Fort Benning chose an even simpler design. They just tied eight inner-tubes together, got on and paddled.

Other unique designs included rafts made from airplane wing tanks, styrofoam, 50-gallon drums, and even one made from a radar antenna disc.

Some of the more elaborate models chose to augment their oar power with sails. But for most of the race this tactic backfired, as the wind came from down-river.

Sao Berry, skipper of a raft named "The Spirit of Youth," said, "We only used our sail for about 15 minutes. It didn't give us much of an advantage."

The race began at noon when a flock of pigeons was released at the Columbus Dock to signal the raft racers, already down the Oglethorpe Bridge, that the race was on.

The assault craft-mounted soldiers immediately took the lead. They seemed to be the only contestants really worried about the finishing order.

"Stroke, stroke, stroke," their helmsmen chanted as their paddles moved in perfect time. Capt. Robert Johnson, commanding officer of the 85th Company, said his teams had the blessings of the U. S. Army. This prompted one rival contestant to say, "You'd beat looking like that."

Those contestants farther back in the field seemed contented to wave to the spectators on the banks and quench their thirst from styrofoam coolers which were standard equipment on all the rafts.

After about ten minutes the race's first casualty was spotted by Game and Fish Commission officer Lloyd McNeil, who was kind enough to give this reporter a lift in his boat.

A large wooden raft had capsized and disappeared completely, leaving beer cans and four race contestants floating in the river. Rescue workers pulled the raft and the racers to shore and were soon back patrolling the river.

WOMEN'S LIB

The few women racers were their own with the predominantly male field. But after about the four-mile mark several of the distaff crews had settled for tows from some of the many outboard spectator craft accompanying the racers.

The sun blazed down on the would-be river pilots despite the haze of stagnant air which hovered over the tiny due to a stationary high pressure area.

Some contestants were forced to swim alongside of their rafts to escape the sun's rays.

Soon, the slower rafts lost sight of the two assault craft vessels. And at 1:05 p.m. the first raft, numbered 20, skippered by Sgt. Bobby Reynolds of the 85th Company, finished in first place, crossing the finish line at Kendrick Farms.

Second place was garnered by number 21, a sister craft of the first place finisher, crossing the line at 1:07.

Both of these rafts were in the "Rubber Raft" category. Another category, "Showboats," consisted of the homemade wood and barrel rafts.

Third place finisher in the rubber raft category was the 3rd Ranger Company entry, number 32, skippered by Jon M. Gresson. It finished at 1:10.

1st SHOWBOAT

First showboat to finish was entry number 75 of Douglas Norris and Windrell McKeuzie, finishing at 1:12. It was followed by Bobby Harris and Dick Reese at 1:19 and Harry Skewn, Ray Croft and Stan Malmkus at 1:20, rounding out the top three showboat finishers.

The first three finishers in the two categories won trophies for their efforts, and a special trophy for the best looking showboat went to "The Spirit of Youth," skippered by Sao Berry.

It is no wonder Berry's craft won the honor. He said he estimates the raft cost about $250. This figure was far and away the highest quoted by any of the contestants. Most said they spent about $10 to $50 on their rafts.

After all of the racers struggled in — the last one got in at about 3:40 p.m. — there was a party with a live band and a presentation of the trophies.

David Hamby, project chairman for the race, said there will definitely be another race next year. And he said he expects "three times as many people" for the Second Annual Greater Chattahoochee River Raft Race.

YAC plans school carnival

The Youth Activities Center will hold its Back to School Carnival Monday at 9 a.m. at the center, the pool and the gym.

The central activities during the day will be a series of water events open to all 8 to 18 year olds. Swimmers may enter the flutterboard or inner-tube races, the ping pong ball squirt or spoon carry, the volleyball nudge, the "bring 'em back alive" marble dive, or the under-water race.

Each event will be held by age groups. Eight to 10 year olds compete in the nudge group, 11 to 12 year olds in the junior; 13-14 year olds in the intermediate group, and 15 to 18 year olds in the senior group.

Snack Bar will move outside and sell various foods and drinks.

There will also be an opportunity for novice swimmers to challenge Barracudas team members in freestyle and breaststroke competition.

The Center will have indoor and outdoor games and patio activities. The

Notes

BY BILL KLOER

It doesn't seem right to start thinking about hunting with the temperature breaking all-time highs almost every day but the dove season is just about here and those who want to get into the action had better start making plans.

The working committee of the Fort Benning Resources Conservation Board held a meeting a few days ago to set the open seasons, bag limits and other regulations pertaining to the Fort Benning Hunting seasons. These regulations are generally the same as the regulations issued by the states of Georgia and Alabama. Approval by the full Board is usually a matter of procedure after the working committee thrashes out the details at the Fort Benning plan.

The dove season on the reservation will be exactly the same as the seasons of the state in which the post real estate is located. September 9 to September 30 and December 2 to January 13 are open season dates in Georgia. September 23 to November 11 and December 23 to January 11 are open seasons in Alabama.

Dove Reports Vary

As usual the reports on dove in the area are varied. It depends on where the hunter has been scouting and at what time he has been scouting. Of course there are the old complaints about the time of the seasons. It's the old argument between South Georgia and North Georgia and South Alabama against North Alabama. Hunters in the southern part of the states feel that the first hunting season is too early and those in northern part of the states feel that the final season is too late.

It all stems from the life style of the dove. He's a migratory bird and as such falls within the jurisdiction of the Federal game laws. Federal laws put a limit on the number of days the season can be open in a state. If it weren't for this regulation the states could split the seasons to satisfy hunters in all parts of the state. As it is the maximum open season a state can have is 70 hunting days with anytime the season is open in any part of the state counting as a half day for the whole state.

Doves reach their peak population in the northern parts of the two states in September when most of the grain crops mature and are harvested. The population decreases in October when the birds begin their annual migration to the south.

Hunters in the south claim that they only get to shoot at local doves during the first open season and that these doves are mostly half grown birds. The weather is also bad for hunting during the early season. Anyone who has braved 90 degree weather to get a few shots at the birds will attest to that.

The dove just seems to cause controversies. Hunters are unhappy with the bag limits, shooting hours and certain laws pertaining to the type field that can be hunted.

Dove shooting is not legal until noon. Every year there are hunters that go to the Alabama portion of the reservation on the Alabama opening day and begin shooting at noon Georgia time which is one hour too early as far as the Alabama enforcement people are concerned.

The law prohibits hunting on a baited field. There is a lot of controversy over what constitutes a baited field. Every year word leaks out about people who have been caught hunting over a baited field. Of course everyone denies knowledge of the situation. Should you be invited to a private shoot be sure its legal before you accept.

Make Early Plans

If you want to get in some shooting at doves on opening day you just about have to make an early reconnaissance. The men behind the sales counter at the Rod and Gun Club can give you some good advice if you are new to the post. Do your scouting during the afternoon. When you have picked your field check out a good shooting position. Plan to get to this position early on opening today. There may not be a soul in sight when you make your reconnaissance but you can bet that if you have found a place that has doves there are a lot of other hunters that have their eye on it too. You won't be lonely out there.

Bring plenty of shells. You will need them. Sounds like a lot of work and very little fun but if you have never gone dove shooting you owe it to yourself to try it at least once. There are a lot of hunters who go back time after time.

Finance wins 2 in Post Tourney

In their quest of the Post company level softball crown, 15th Finance has smoothly won their first two games. Collecting a total of 29 hits which includes four homers, two by shortstop John Pope during the tourney.

Finance capitalized on a number of early errors by 10th Co. of TSB running up a sizable lead then held off a late rally to win their first game in the Post Tournament 11-7 Monday night at Gowdy Field.

Finance controlled all aspects of the game pushing the score to 11-3 at the end of six. But 10th Co. didn't come to play six innings as in the seventh they mustered five runs but not quite enough to overcome the enormous 15th Finance lead.

Finance banged out 20 hits including homers in the third and fourth innings. Right fielder Mike Alameda collected his first homer of the year in the third with no one on. Alameda popped up between home and third which was persuaded by the pitcher, third baseman and the catcher. Meanwhile Alameda watched in disbelief as the ball dropped between the three. Alameda scurried down the first base line thinking he had blown it this time, but the throw to first was wild. The slightly confused Alameda rounded third not sure of where the ball was. He recalled after the game, "I rounded third and heard the shortstop say 'Good he's running!' and I thought 'Wow.' The throw home was a little low as was the catcher whom Alameda had flatten in sliding home safe. The catcher dropped the ball.

Dewey Bourgeois got his fourth homer in much the same manner. Several throwing errors enabled him to score but not quite as confused, as Alameda. Bourgeois went four for four at bat for Finance.

John Pope blasted his 7th and 8th homers in striking 15th Finance to their second victory in the

THE MEN BEHIND THE SALES COUNTER AT THE ROD AND GUN CLUB CAN GIVE YOU SOME GOOD ADVICE IF YOU ARE NEW TO THE POST. DO YOUR SCOUTING DURING THE AFTERNOON. WHEN YOU HAVE PICKED YOUR FIELD CHECK OUT A GOOD SHOOTING POSITION. PLAN TO GET TO THIS POSITION EARLY ON OPENING TODAY. THERE MAY NOT BE A SOUL IN SIGHT WHEN YOU MAKE YOUR RECONNAISSANCE BUT YOU CAN BET THAT IF YOU HAVE FOUND A PLACE THAT HAS DOVES THERE ARE A LOT OF OTHER HUNTERS THAT HAVE THEIR EYE ON IT TOO. Softball trophies to be presented tonight

The 1972 Special Services Softball Tournament is now underway.

Mr. Billie Harrell, recreation specialist for special services stated that there are nine teams competing in the tournament this year. Two have been expected from the 1971, two from The School Brigade (TSB), two from the 83st, one from Aviation Command, one from MED&G, and one from Headquarters Command.

Games are being played at 6 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. at both Cowdy Field and Main Post softball field No. 1. Today there will be either one or two games at Cowdy Field. This is dependent on the outcome of the first games because of double elimination rules. Special Services has announced that following the completion of the Friday night game, the presentation of trophies will be made.

The winners of this double elimination tournament will be presented with the winners trophy, and individual player trophies will be presented to the winner and runner up teams.

Co. C wins second

By Mike Keller

FORT BENNING — Shortstop Wayne Womack slammed a towering 32-foot home run in the top of the seventh inning at Gowdy Field Tuesday to catapult Co. C, Hq. Cnd. to a 5-4 victory over The School Brigade's Hq. and Hq. Co. in the second round of the postcamp-level softball playoffs.

The triumph coupled with an 11-3 rout of Hq. and Hq. Co., 1970 Inf. Bde. Monday — boosted Co. C's record to 2-0 in the double elimination tourney. It was the second straight win for pitcher Mike Benoit, who held TSB to six hits — and only three in the last six innings. Womack's solo shot over the center field fence — the first "authentic" roundtripper on Gowdy Field so far in the playoffs — snapped a 4-4 tie and climaxed a tightly-fought contest in which both teams expended four runs in the first inning, then watched their scoring production dwindle to a trickle for the rest of the game.

Womack, who led his teammates with three hits, sparked a three-run, first inning outburst by Co. C with a sharp single to right after first baseman Rick Hamilton had drawn a leadoff walk. Second baseman Les Turner followed with another one-bagger, scoring Hamilton and advancing Womack to third. Benoit and third baseman Ken "Flick" Bergmann tallied the additional two runs with sacrifice flies.

The 3-0 cushion did not last long. In TSB's half of the frame, second baseman Charlie Knox knocked in two runs with a two-out double, and TSB added two more and took a 4-3 lead when Co. C outfielder Randy Campbell muffed a "shoestring" attempt to catch a sinking fly ball. Benoit put out the fire by inducing the next batter to fly out.

TSB never mounted a serious threat in the contest again, thanks in part to two doubleplays and the sparkling fielding of Bergmann.

A TSB miscue enabled Co. C to knot the score in the fifth. Turner raced to third after a rival outfielder dropped his fly ball, and scored on a single by Benoit.

Despite a sputtering offense and shaky infield defense, TSB — through two doubleplays of their own and Knox's superb diving catch of a Hamilton line drive — throttled several Co. C scoring opportunities. Although the team splashed 11 hits throughout the contest, they stranded eight runners. And TSB pitcher Jim Cyrus was effective in eating his opponents to hit in the air. Eighteen of Co. C's 21 outs came on fly balls.

Contributing to Co. C's attack were Womack with three hits, two runs and an RBI; Campbell and Allen Olsen with two hits; Benoit with a hit and two RBIs; Turner with a hit, two runs and an RBI; and Larry Partain and Tom Whorton with hit apiece.

Rod and Gun plans events

The Fort Benning Rod and Gun Club has planned two events for the Labor Day Holiday weekend. During the last holiday of the Summer vacation period, it is hoped that these events will keep some members from traveling dangerous highways and enjoy themselves virtually in their own back yards.

A fishing derby will be held from 6 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 2 until 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 4. All members authorized to hunt and fish on the reservation and bonafide dependents of members are eligible to enter the contest.

Anyone interested in competing may pre-register at the sales center of the Rod and Gun Club now. This pre-registration is being made available so that those who want can go fishing early Saturday without first traveling to the Club to register. Beginning at 6 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 2, registrations will be accepted on the club porch in the rear of the building.

Entrance fee for the tournament is $1 for each fisherman and $3 for each family group.

Prizes will be awarded for bream, catfish and bass. First prize for each species will be $20, second prize will be $25 and third prize is $35.

There is a special prize to be awarded after the close of the tournament. It is an eleven foot square family tent with four polyester sleeping bags. These eligible for this prize are those fishermen who have registered a fish with the club during the period of 6 a.m. Sept. 2 through 4 p.m., Sept. 4.

Those who register fish that win prizes need not be present when winners are announced, but the winners of the tent must be at the Club at the time of the announcement.

A skeet shoot is also to be sponsored over the Labor Day Weekend by the Rod and Gun Club. This will take place on Sept. 2 and 3 and is open to all registered members of the Georgia Street Shooters Association. The tournament which has been named the "Dave Shae Open", is a four gun contest. There are categories in 410, 28, 20 and 12 gauge guns.

The shoot will consist of one 100 target event with each of the four gauges, and two man and five man team events. A high overall champion will be determined and a Calcutta will be held after the cocktail party scheduled to be held at the Skeet range after the close of shooting on Saturday.

All shooters, their families and guests are welcome at the cocktail party.

Co. C undefeated in tournament

In Monday's romp over the favored 1970s, Co. C — the base representative of Headquarters Command in the playoffs — rolled up a 7-0 lead in the first three innings, then coasted to an easy triumph in a rain-delayed game.

Hamilton, Womack and Turner greeted the 1970 pitcher with consecutive game-opening hits, scoring one run, while Benoit and Bergmann brought in two more with sacrifice flies.

The men from Kelly Hill never recovered. Co. C tagged them for two additional tallies in the second when Womack blasted a ball off the fence for a double. Two more runs were logged in the third on hits by Benoit, Bergmann and Olsen and a sacrifice by Robert Stone. Three insurance runs were added in the seventh: two on a base-loaded single by Campbell and one on another sacrifice by Stone.

The 1970s couldn't find much to do with their own bats. Pitcher Benoit held them hitless and barabazle through the fourth frame, and the fielding of Bergmann, Womack, Turner and Hamilton netted a couple of double plays.

CG urges traffic safety

Once again post personnel will be visiting home, the seashore, the mountains or some other vacation spot. Labor Day weekend is nearly upon us, and for some, the last vacation of the season.

In a letter to Fort Benning soldiers, Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Tubott, post commander, spotlights traffic accidents and urges personnel "to take advantage of local and on post recreational facilities."

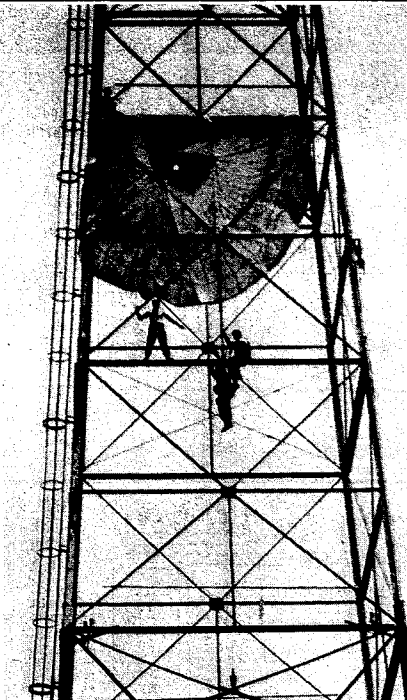

The general noted that the majority of accidents that will occur this weekend will fall into two categories — those resulting from motor vehicles and those involving water sports.

"Accident prevention is up to you," declared Gen. Tubott, "obey all safety rules and take every precautionary measure to avoid obvious hazards."

School starts Tuesday

Military and civilian drivers on post are reminded that schools will open on Tuesday following the Labor Day holiday.

Speed limits around schools is 20 miles per hour and the Frowest Marshall's Division reports that the limits will be strictly enforced.

Hung up?

Most people have their "hang ups," but PFC Mark J. Shapiro, 42nd Co., 4th Bn., TSB, has one that the average man on the street would find difficult to cope with. An unexpected gust of wind blew Shapiro into the 250 foot tower used to train airborne students in their second week of instruction. Shapiro, who is an army reservist with the 11th special forces airborne group, came out of his harrowing experience with only a bruised leg. Asked if he would accept a recycle, Shapiro shrugged his shoulders and grimaced. (Photo by Marin Prails).

Army band schedules Columbus

The United States Army Field Band of Washington, D. C., will appear in Columbus, Ga., to hold a 90-minute concert Oct. 22. The concert is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Three Arts Theater and will be free.

It is being co-sponsored by the Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning Chapter Association of the United States Army and the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

The United States Army Field Band consists of three separate and distinct touring companies. They are the Concert Band, the Studio Band, and the Soldier's Chorus. Each of these groups has the ability to perform separately.

Columbus will host the Concert Band and the Soldier's Chorus in a joint performance.

The Concert Band is a 70-man symphonic organization. The music of the band appeals to all ages and includes selections ranging from the classics to pop.

a goal of 100 per cent participation by military personnel. Slightly more than $10,000 has been raised during the campaign which ends Sept. 10. Fort Benning's goal is $20,000. The fund was organized and incorporated in Washington in 1942 to provide financial assistance to soldiers, their dependents and eligible widows and orphans were faced with financial problems with which they were unable to cope. No appropriated funds were available.

"The need for this fund is great," James Schoover, post project officer, said. "Last year through out the Army, more than 43,500 cases of assistance were registered for loans and outright grants totaling more than $5.5 million.

The Fort Benning Army Emergency Relief officer has reported that during the same 12-month period ending last April, a total of 4,813 eligible individuals received assistance amounting to $171,968. Officials estimate that in the coming year, loans and grants to Fort Benning personnel will equal that figure.

Capt. Kenneth Bram, the USAIC Army Emergency Relief officer located in Building 35, said that all Fort Benning personnel desiring assistance should make application through their unit commanders. Eligible personnel, including those who are retired and living in the Columbus area, should contact the local Red Cross or the local AER office direct.

Although only 10 days remain in the campaign this year, officials are confident that military personnel and retired personnel in the area will support the drive and put Fort Benning over the $20,000 goal.

Soldiers warned of restrictions placed on political activities

According to Department of Defense Directives and Army Regulations, members of the Armed Forces are subject to certain restrictions on political activities.

These directives and regulations permit members to register, vote and express their personal opinions on political candidates and issues, but not as representatives of the Armed Forces. They may also make monetary contributions to political organizations, and attend meetings or rallies as spectators when not in uniform.

Members of the Armed Forces may, however, use their official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election, or affecting the course of its outcome, or of soliciting votes for a particular candidate or issue, or of requiring or soliciting political contributions from others.

Regulations also forbid members to become candidates or hold civil office except under the conditions set forth in the directive. Nor may they participate in partisan political management, campaigns, or conventions. Members of the Armed Forces are also prohibited from making campaign contributions to a partisan political candidate, to another member of the Armed Forces, or to an employee of the Federal Government.

The above rules are taken directly from Department of Defense Directive 13640.10 and its implementing Army Regulations, 600-20. These rules, however, leave large grey areas open to interpretation. The test is whether the soldier's conduct, under all of the circumstances involved, tends toward one of the "many not listed" areas.

Circumstances, as always, will affect each individual situation. For example, a political bumper sticker on the privately owned vehicle of the Private (E-1) may be a mere expression of opinion. However, the same sticker on the vehicle of a general officer in command of a unit would probably be construed to be a prohibited act.

Experience has shown that every incident resulting in adverse publicity to the Army arose when the commander was, first, faced with political activity contrary to his personal inclination and, second, he was unable to retain either his judgment or his sense of humor.

Commanders, therefore, are urged to approach this subject with a constructive attitude. If a soldier understands the reasons for the directive, he will be more likely to stay within its limits voluntarily.

If a soldier persists in an act that his commander believes violates the directive or the regulations, the commander should coordinate with the Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) before he takes any action on the matter.

Sept. tabbed as MVA month

September 1972 has been designated as Modern Volunteer Army Month.

The month of special emphasis was declared by the U.S. Army Recruiting Command.

The purpose of having a Modern Volunteer Army Month is to make a coordinated effort to gain public understanding and support for the Modern Volunteer Army (MVA).

In the summer of 1971, the securing of a gubernatorial proclamation of MVA Month by a U.S. Army Recruiting agent suggested that a concerted effort would be made to secure similar declarations throughout the fifty states. It was considered that this would have several major benefits. First, it would bring the MVA to the attention of the chief executive of each state and secondly, it would provide commanders with a good reason to contact the governors and other state and public officials in a coordinated national effort.

The month of September will be highlighted with 11 speakers, concerts, proclamations and Community Action projects to help bring the MVA into attention.

'Work, fun': 12 post Rangers join Canadians in long canoe trip

"A lot of fun — a lot of work — but I would be ready to go again tomorrow morning."

Lt. Col. Karl Hurdle, chairman of the Benning Ranger Committee, used those words to sum up his feelings about the recent 140-mile canoe trip he and 11 other members of the Fort Benning Ranger Department cadre took in a joint adventure training exercise with eight Canadian soldiers.

The American contingent "put to the water" in Burlington, Vermont, on Aug. 10 and paddled their way some 55 miles to join up with the Canadians at the border for a final 85-mile trip to Deseronto, Quebec, near the city of Sorel at the mouth of the Richelieu and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Except for occasional high winds — which resulted in swamped canoes and wet Rangers — and the usual rigors of eating C rations and camping out, the trip was uneventful but something to remember, Col. Hurdle said.

"We learned a great deal about the art of canoeing, river and lake navigation — and it was damn good exercise," he added.

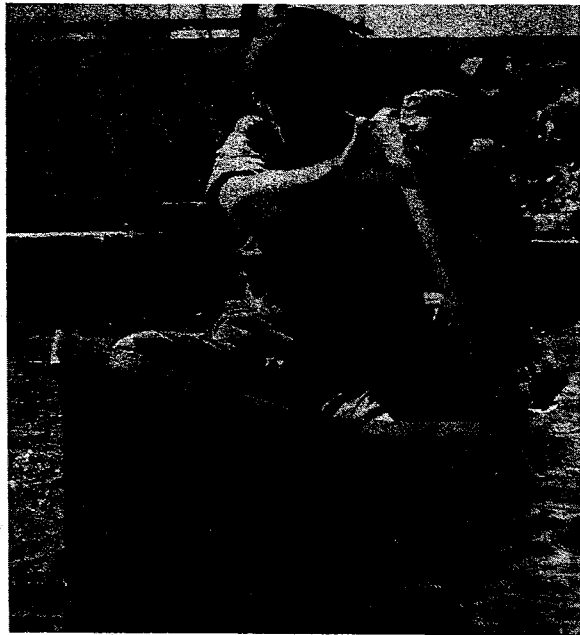

"Operation Richelieu," as the adventure training trip was named, was in the planning stages for almost a year before the Americans boarded a Caribou aircraft at E. A. Warren Army Air Field for the flight to Burlington. Aboard with the Rangers and a representative from the USAIC Information Office — Capt. Al Gore — were the canoes and basic supplies and equipment for the trip.

The aim of the operation was to promote good will and better cooperation between the Infantry School at Fort Benning and the Combat Arms School of Canadian Forces stationed at Gagetown, New Brunswick.

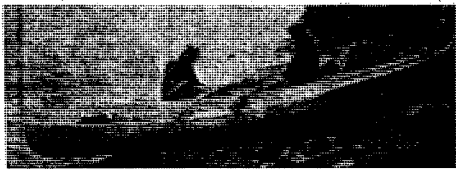

The trip was "adventure training" for both the Americans and the Canadians, giving the soldiers an opportunity to develop initiative and leadership qualities outside the realm of military training programs and to present them with situations they would not normally encounter during orthodox military training.

For the American Rangers, the expedition served another purpose. It sets a precedent for the future. "We hope it leads the way to other small groups of men being allowed to probe deeper into Canada and even farther north in conjunction with Canadian forces," Col. Hurdle said.

Canadians, Capt. K. David Bridson and Chief Warrant Officer Ossie begin their canoe trip at the U.S.-Canadian border.

Capt. Victor E. Arnold and LTC Karl V. Hurdle make repairs to canoe rig after swamping at Coons Point, Vermont.

ACS workers reap what they sow

Why do you voluntarily work for Army Community Services?

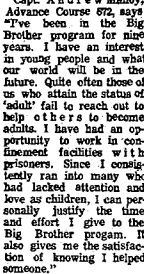

Mrs. Charles Coleman, ACS

Mrs. Charles Coleman works on the Administration committee. "My neighbor interested me in ACS," she says. "It gives me a chance to meet people and become involved with the Army community. I feel that by giving myself I am actually the one who is reaping the rewards."

Mrs. Ronald McNeese, ACS

Mrs. Ronald McNeese works on the Social Services Committee. She says "I feel it important to be involved in services vital to the community. I really believe in what ACS does — it is a vital service. It's part of my growth to do volunteer work. I also take courses of Columbia College and get a chance to work with the professionals here. There is excitement in contact with people outside my husband's realm of acquaintances."

Capt. Andrew Malloy, ACS

Capt. Andrew Malloy, Advance Course 874, says "I've been in the Big Brother program for nine years. I have an interest in young people and what our world will be in the future. Quite often those of us who attain the status of 'adult' fail to reach out to help others to become adults. I have had an opportunity to work in confinement facilities with prisoners. Since I consistently ran into many who had locked situation and love as children, I can personally justify the time and effort I give to the Big Brother program. It also gives me the satisfaction of knowing I helped someone."

Mrs. Gloria Johnson says "I will never forget the compassion and assistance the Army gave me when my husband died. Maybe my volunteer work is my small way of saying thank you. I hope I have given a little help to others."

Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald, ACS

Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald says "Before I came to Fort Benning, I had worked in paid jobs, mingling with civilian groups. When I came here, I decided to do volunteer work for a change and get to know the military community better. Mrs. Masumi Huberg introduced me to ACS. I have been here for two years now. My first job was in clerical work. Now I'm in the citizenship classes, Emergency Food Locker, and the Welcome Packet committee."

Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald, ACS

Holiday driving Safe driving requires caution, consideration

Since its inception, Labor Day has been observed to honor the skill and industry of the American wage-earner, but with the tremendous increase in vehicular traffic and popularity of water sports, Labor Day, in recent years, has been marred with needless disabling injuries and death-producing accidents. This Labor Day weekend, it is expected that hundreds will die accidentally, most of them on the nation's highways. The accident toll will take the pleasure of the holiday away from many.

Here are a few Holiday Traffic Accident Factors that will aid you in realizing a safe holiday: . . .

A detailed study of 400 traffic deaths revealed that not a single victim was wearing a seat belt. The experts stated that 248 of the 400 victims would have lived had seat belts been worn.

The first 24 hours of a holiday period usually produce traffic deaths at a high rate. Drivers should take this into account by driving defensively so as to protect themselves from irresponsible actions of other drivers. Learn the proper procedures to follow in meeting emergency situations.

Six out of ten fatal accidents involve only one vehicle. Drivers lose control because of speed, intoxication, passenger distractions, fatigue, etc. Most accidents of Fort Benning personnel follow this pattern.

Fifty per cent of all traffic accidents involve drivers who have a previous record of traffic violations.

Three out of five fatal accidents occur on roads that are familiar to the drivers. It is not just the long trips that are hazardous.

The vast majority of drivers will enjoy the holiday free of accidents. Safe driving requires only that the driver exercise the same caution and consideration that he would normally be expected to exercise. Drivers should inspect their vehicles and insure that they are in safe driving condition. Plan the trip to avoid night driving and high speeds. Driving more than 300 miles in a 24-hour period is asking for trouble. If driving at night or longer than an 8-hour period, compensate for the unsafe practice by leaving the side windows open to assure plenty of fresh air, insist that passengers stay awake, and if one of them has a driver's license and can be trusted, let him drive occasionally; eat sweets for quick energy; and stop periodically and exercise.

A review of accidental drownings indicates that the following precautions will prevent drownings: . . .

Use the buddy system in any water sport. Make sure the other person knows what to do in the event of trouble. Swim only in the company of others and in properly supervised swimming areas. Never engage in any water sport alone. If trouble arises, there will be someone to help. In boating, provide a life preserver for each person. Children and non-swimmers should wear preservers at all times. If a boat overturns, grab the side and hold on as a capsize boat will support you.

MOST IMPORTANT — keep your head in case of trouble. The situation may be desperate, but panic can only add to your difficulties. On the approach of a thunderstorm, get out of the water or head for shore immediately. The lightning and gale-like winds accompanying thunderstorms increase the accident potential for water sports.

In choosing holiday activities over the Labor Day weekend, consider carefully the recreation facilities available on post and in nearby communities. Making use of them will mean more time for pleasure and less time on the highway, exposed to the hazards of holiday traffic.

Sound like a lifetime's worth of accomplishments?

Well in this instance, all of this and more have been accomplished by a 14-year-old boy. Andre Michael Everette, son of MSGT and Mrs. Robert Everette, recently was rewarded for his achievements the Eagle Scout Award, the highest award given to a Boy Scout.

Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, post commander, presented Andre with the award during ceremonies conducted in his office. Present with Everette when he was honored were his mother and father, his maternal grandmother, Charlotte Steman, of Mannheim, Germany; his two brothers, Mark and Peter; and his sister, Monica. Everett who is a member of Troop 27, Fort Benning, will depart with his parents and family on September 4 for Nurnberg, Germany, where his father has been reassigned. There Everette will continue his scouting while working with the American and German Boy Scouts in the area. He also plans to spend the next 3-4 summers working with the Sea Explorers, in Greece. Everette's father Robert is presently assigned as the acting Sergeant Major for the Post Chaplain's Office.

Cost of drag strip exorbitant for government, GIs

By DALE WILSON

Drag racing can be a very expensive sport. Insurance for the dragster alone can cost as much as $2000 a year.

This was one of the findings of a survey ordered by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning's commander, to study the feasibility of building a drag strip on post.

The force behind the study was a request from a soldier in the 197th Inf. Bde. The young man recommended a post-sponsored drag strip and suggested that one of the unused light aviation landing fields become the basis for a facility.

Attempt By Another Post

The survey, conducted by the office of the Directorate of Personnel and Community Activities, got off to a quick start when it was discovered that another Third Army post had already made a complete study of the subject. The post had gone to the point of requesting funds from Department of the Army when the project was cancelled.

One of the major reasons for the commander's decision to cancel the project was the liability risk involved. This risk affected not only the government, but the individual as well.

Insurance Costs Found Prohibitive

Third Army directed the post to survey insurance companies concerning liability coverage. Of 228 inquiries, 130 responses were received indicating that insurance companies would cancel normal insurance on any automobile caught drag racing. The companies pointed out that special coverages are required and would cost from $1200 to $2000 per participant.

The conclusion reached by the post was that while drag racing is a popular sport, insurance costs would be prohibitive. If insurance companies could be found that would insure military racers, recommended coverage would be $300,000 or more public liability insurance. The premium would undoubtedly be beyond the reach of all but a very few soldiers.

Possible Government Liability

In the event of an accident on the strip owned and operated by the post, the government could be liable for negligence under the Federal Tort Claims Act. Because of this, the strip itself would have to be covered by substantial liability insurance. The State of Georgia requires the owners of drag strips to carry $1 million public liability insurance.

It was further noted in the study that racing on an unresurfaced runway is not considered adequate for a planned recreational sport. The only alternative for a post-sponsored drag strip would be to establish a facility that meets the specifications and safety requirements of various racing associations.

The estimated cost for undertaking the construction of a drag strip to specifications would be about $400,000. In addition, any request for construction would require an exception to Department of Defense space construction criteria.

Taking all things into consideration: government and individual liability insurance costs, government liability in the event of accidents and the exorbitant costs of constructing a "safe" drag strip, it is not surprising that the idea must be scrapped.

Sports car club seeks members

If you're interested in sports cars, or even the old family jalopy, the Sports Car Club of Fort Benning needs you.

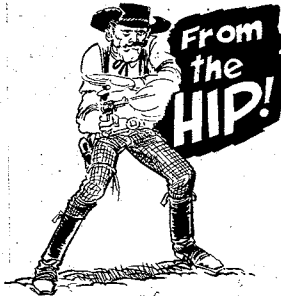

The club is composed of personnel who are interested in automobiles and want to learn more about controlling them, explained Capt. Lynn G. Stober, a spokesman for the group.

The club meets at Ladley Heliport near Kings Pond on the second Sunday of each month.

After setting up rubber pylons in patterns similar to a ski slalom, the drivers pit their skill against the clock. The object is to get through the course without knocking over any pylons. Speeds generally average 30-35 miles per hour, said Stober.

The pylon course helps the driver learn more about controlling his vehicle and makes a better driver of him.

Anyone interested in joining should contact Capt. Stober at 545-4733 or 545-1222 for further information.

Phenix drags open to GIs

The Phenix City Dragway located off Woodland Drive in Phenix City welcomes GI drag fans said Mrs. Betty Zimmerman.

"The biggest part of our weekly competition is made up of soldiers," explained the Department of the Army Civilian employed at Martin Army Hospital.

In her free-time, this mild-mannered lady likes to scrouch behind the wheel of her hotrod and join the fun at the Phenix City strip.

She first became interested in dragging in 1969. She attended a meet and was hooked. The following week she entered her late model station wagon, fully equipped with air conditioning and automatic transmission.

After buying a 1969 Mercury Cyclone equipped with 390-cubic inch engine and four speed, she chucked up her first win, despite being plagued by a broken wrist.

The 1969 Alabama State Powder Puff Champion added that entering local meets is not expensive. The dragway is currently open Wednesdays, but will begin operating on Saturdays soon. In the winter months, the strip is open Sunday afternoons.

In dog house?

100 dogs provided shelter in 'nick of time'

By RAY BASSETT

What do you do when 100 dogs need new homes and it can't wait? That was the situation for the 17th Company Scout Dog of Fort Benning. The answer came in the nick of time from the 1st Construction Platoon, Company C, 4th Engineer Battalion (Construction).

With a design to fit the size and needs of some of the Army's finest sentry dogs, the 1st platoon set out to construct 100 doghouses as rapidly as possible. Using lessons borrowed from the construction of carnival booths for Fort Benning's successful

Fourth of July carnival, the members of the platoon designed an assembly line of forms and work started at mid month July.

Picking an assortment of engineer carpentry tools from simple hammers to a 16 inch portable radial arm saw, the platoon members began pushing finished product off the end of the assembly line.

With an eye towards continually speeding up the process, PFC Davis brought to the attention of the crew some procedures learned from his MAF102 training in AIT. Sp1 Robert Anderson became an expert with the giant radial arm saw to make sure the assembly crew never stopped for lack of materials.

The assembly crew, featuring such stars as Sp5's Sylverson and Anderson, Sp4's Marino and Wilson, and PFC McMorrow and others placed and pushed the pre-cut plywood and two-by-fours into near-perfect alignment every time. With an eye towards continually speeding up the process, PFC Davis brought to the attention of the crew some procedures learned from his MAF102 training in AIT. Sp1 Robert Anderson became an expert with the giant radhandler to remove the "friendly" scout dogs from their runs while they removed the old and rotted dog houses and replaced them with the bright new ones. Amid the noise and confusion of 132 lively sentry dogs, the members of the platoon installed all one hundred new houses in one day as Sp5 Cole and Sp4 McFarland carried the old, unserviceable dog houses to the nearby sanitary dogs, the members of the platoon's ton dump trucks.

With construction and painting complete in the first week of August, the 1st Platoon made arrangements for delivery. With truckload after truckload arriving at the 17th company kennels, the engineers promptly and gladly enlisted the help of the Army Community Services is one of the few military oriented programs that is staffed almost completely by volunteers.

ACS seeks volunteers

Here at Fort Benning, both male and female volunteer workers are needed in almost every area of the program. For men, there is the Big Brother Program, and work with handicapped kids. For the ladies, positions need to be filled in the Administrative Committee, the Welcome Reception Committee, the Social Service Committee, the Citizenship Committee, the Public Relations Committee, the Emergency Food Locker Committee and the Lending Closet. In short, almost every area of assistance to the military family needs some volunteer help.

If your schedule has some free time in it, why not spend some of it working for your military community? Anyone interested is asked to contact Mrs. Ginger Merrill at 545-1218 or 1633.

Along the fem line

BY LOUISE ROSS
The "fem-line" bids farewell to Mrs. Edward Fiora. Betsy has been the column's inception in June, 1971. Her busy fingers and cheerful manner will be missed. We say, "thank you and good luck."

It seems that there has been some confusion with "fem-line" procedures for women's news to appear in the column it is not necessary for articles to be taken to the Bayonet office.

Publicity chairmen can send their news to the "fem-line" by way of the yellow boxes in the Main or Custer Terrace commissaries, or sending it directly to Louise Ross at 308A Lumpkin Rd., Fort Benning. The deadline for news is Wednesday noon. The column now requires only one copy of items submitted — preferably typewritten and double spaced. If there are questions or suggestions please call 545-7797.

Now that school has started it is time to get back into the swing of women's activities and begin a rather busy year. OWC will start the ball rolling on Sept. 13, with an Activities Tea at the Main Officers' Club at 1 p.m. This is the time to sign up for fall classes and obtain club membership.

A final reminder — the fall term for the Fort Benning Pre-Kindergarten school begins, Sept. 5.

Headquarters Command
The Ladies of Headquarters Command held their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fraser.

Mrs. Fraser bade Mrs. James Cravens farewell and welcomed Mrs. Bryon Arnold into the command. Mrs. Larry Craven, Christmas Bazaar chairman, discussed the plans for the project. Mrs. Arthur Zieske led the planning of the Hall and Farewell party to be held this month. A short social hour followed the business meeting.

Infantry Agency
The ladies of the Infantry Agency met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Sines at their Aug. coffee. Mrs. Sines and Mrs. Aaron C. Brown co-hosted the coffee.

The table was covered by a white lace cloth with a pink liner. An attractive centerpiece of fresh pink and white carnations rounded out the decorations. A delicious Golden Grid punch was served along with doughnut holes, cheese and sausage balls, date bars, banana bread and coffee.

Mrs. John L. Daniels, in the absence of Mrs. Robert H. Siegrist, conducted the business meeting. The new hospitality chairman is Mrs. John E. Korhonen. Special guest was Mrs. A. F. H. Robertson, wife of the British Liaison Officer.

MEDDAC
The MEDDAC C Wives' Book Club recently held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Seabold to discuss the August selection, "The Making of the President 1968" by T. H. White. The group found the book most timely in light of the coming elections. The selection for September is Taylor Caldwell's "Testimony of Two Men." The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 6 at the home of Mrs. Haskell Ziperman, 577 Bellvue Avenue. Anyone interested in attending is encouraged to phone Mrs. Ziperman at 545-8536 before the meeting.

What better way to hit the first MEDDAC luncheon of the session than with a presentation of fall fashions. Wives representing all MEDDAC branches will model a stunning array of styles from Kinly's. The luncheon will be held in the Supper Club on Sept. 8 beginning at noon with a Sherry hour. Hostesses will be the wives of Bernheim Dental Clinic and Preventive Medicines, Curiology and Radiology; headed by Mrs. William D. Hartsack. Reservations may be made with your caller or by contacting Mrs. George Kerr Jr. at 545-3820. The deadline for reservations and cancellations is noon Sept. 5.

Other guests for the coffee were Mrs. Lee Berry and her daughter, Edie, who are visiting Lt. and Mrs. Richard Bray.

Scout Uniform Exchange Day to be Held

The Fort Benning Scout Uniform Exchange Day will be held Sept. 7 and 8. If you have any Girl Scout, Boy Scout, or Cub Scout uniforms you wish to sell, come to Bldg. 1206, located next to the Scout Coordinating Office on Ingersoll St., between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon on either day for consignments. The hours for buying or purchasing uniforms will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. It is suggested that parents bring your son or daughter along in order to try on uniforms, as the selling will be approximate.

BPOD
Ladies of Tactics Group met in the quarters of Mrs. Guy McElroy, with Mrs. Wallace Noll acting as co-hostess for their Aug. coffee.

Mrs. Meloy conducted the business meeting. Plans for the forthcoming OWC bazaar were discussed along with preparations for the BPOD luncheon in September and the BPOD formal in October.

Tactics Group will host both events.

The next coffee will be a workshop held in the OWC lounge Sept. 20 to finalize the Tactics Group will host both events.

Mrs. Jim Graham and Mrs. Ken Owen were hostesses Aug. 8, for a bridge luncheon and surprise baby shower honoring Mrs. Frank Mims. After Mrs. Mims had opened a variety of lovely gifts presented her by ladies in the 2d Ba. 10th Artillery, and other friends at Fort Benning, the ladies enjoyed a delicious lunch and an enjoyable afternoon of bridge. A special guest on this occasion was Mrs. Graham's mother, Mrs. Charles Peterson, who is visiting from Kansas.

An evening coffee for the ladies of 2d Ba. 10th Field Artillery was held in the home of Mrs. James A. Pongonis Aug. 15. Mrs. Pongonis and Mrs. Frank Mims greeted the guests and presented them with nametags. Assisting the hostesses in serving chocolate fondue, fresh fruit, cake, punch, and coffee were Mrs. Curtis Hogan and Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, special guest of the evening.

In the business session, Mrs. H. Ogila announced that couple's bridge will be at Mrs. Ed Brice's, Sept. 1, and that the Brigade luncheon a musical fashion show, will be Sept. 20.

Farewells were said to Mrs. Martin Johnson and Mrs. Richard Holley. Other guests for the coffee were Mrs. Lee Berry and her daughter, Edie, who are visiting Lt. and Mrs. Richard Bray.

The battalion classroom of the 1st Battalion, 29th Infantry was the scene of the Soldiers Wives coffee held Aug. 17. This coffee is the second in a series planned by the commander of the 1-29th, Lt. Col. Robert Faulkner.

The coffees are held for the wives of the soldiers and officers of the 1-29th and feature various speakers of interest to those ladies.

Lt. Col. Hayes retires Aug. 30

Lt. Col. Aldric M. Hayes, deputy commanding officer of the 17th Infantry Brigade, Fort Benning, Ga., will complete a distinguished Army career when he is awarded the Meritorious Service Medal in a retirement ceremony at York Field on August 30. A native of Santee, Fla., Lt. Col. Hayes has served for more than 23 years, including nearly two years as an enlisted man at the close of World War II.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry upon graduation from Alabama's Tuskegee Institute in 1951 with a bachelor of science degree.

Throughout his career, Lt. Col. Hayes has held a number of leadership and staff positions, including important assignments as Assistant Professor of Military Science at Fort Monmouth State College, Baltimore, Md. and Assistant Director of the Department of Military Science at the U. S. Army Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. He was awarded the Army Commendation Medal for his work in this position.

In Vietnam, Lt. Col. Hayes served as Senior Infantry Training Advisor to the South Vietnamese Infantry School. His outstanding service in this capacity was recognized when he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal by the United States and the Training Service Honor Medal, First Class by the Republic of Vietnam.

Lt. Col. Hayes was executive officer, then commanding officer of the 2nd Training Brigade, U. S. Army Infantry Training Center at Fort Benning from 1969 to 1970.

He served as Chief of the Plans and Operations Division of the Directorate of Operations and Training of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning before being named Deputy Chief of the Modern Volunteer Army Control Group at Fort Benning.

In this assignment Lt. Col. Hayes sparked the adoption of the Benning Plan for a Modern Volunteer Army. Most of the major points of this plan are now part of the regular operations and lifestyle at Fort Benning.

Politics, sports featured at Fort Benning libraries

Special Services Libraries offer new books for recreational and informational reading. "Dots" Robert Lee Graham: True story of a 16-year-old boy who sailed his 24 foot sloop around the world to discover adventure and love. "Dark Horse." Fletcher Knebel: Edward Nicholas Quinn, an obscure New Jersey highway official, had suddenly become a presidential candidate; not a serious contender, of course. He was the compromise choice of the National Committee following the sudden death of the party's original nominee. With only three weeks left before election, no one considered him more than an ineffectual figurehead. Quinn's popularity increased in the opinion polls, but he could not get elected. Or could he?

"How Many Miles to Camelot?" Jerry Izenberg: This is a different kind of book about sports. It is a book about big business, hypocrisy and the American sport myth.

WORLD WIDE BANKING

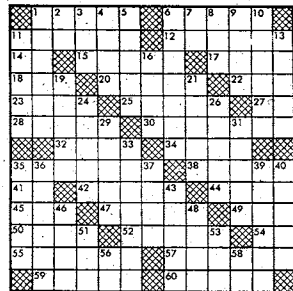

we've got night depositories all over the WORLD

Yes, our World Wide banking services give us night depositories all over the globe. Here is how it works: While we sleep, National Bank of Fort Benning customers are making deposits all over the world, by mail, or through the JUMPS program, whichever is most convenient. All of our full service banking programs are operated with the traveler in mind, so NBBF can be your bank, no matter where you live or are stationed, on no matter how long you might be away. The programs were invented with the military in mind, but it works just as well for civilians who find their business takes them far from home. It's a matter of convenience, and convenience is what people want in their banking. We ARE the "People Bank."

Additions are being held in the Benning Playhouse Sept. 6-8 at 7:30 p.m. They are open to all military and their dependents, and a very interested civilians. The Playhouse is located behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll Street on Main Post.

In addition to actors, the Dramatizers are also looking for people to work on technical crews. This production requires costumes from the late 1930s, a series of sets for several scenes, and a multi-media show. This display needs artists, sound men, and photographers to create a show that recalls the world of boxing in the 1930s.

What should I spend on a music system?

At the Sound Center we sell and service a variety of carefully chosen stereo music systems, ranging in price from about $200 to several thousand dollars. If you come in and specify the price range that you are interested in, we'll tell you what we recommend, and why we recommend it as the best choice for your amount of money.

However, we at the Sound Center think that the question "What should I spend?" deserves a straight answer. Without knowing anything about you, we're willing to risk such an answer: You probably should spend $459. Why are we so sure?

The system we have for $459 is not just a good value (although we do think it actually the best value now available in hi-fi equipment), nor is it just a question of it sounding "good for the money." Our $459 Advent/Garrard/Sony/Slantion system is unique among all other systems that can be put together: it is a stereo radio/phonograph system that is nothing less than the right, completely satisfying choice for most people with a demanding interest in music and sound, at a price far lower than such a system would have cost just a few years ago. See this system and the many other components on display in our store today!

Try ACS; their business is to help YOU

By Willie Hinton

Since the establishment of ACS in 1965, the soldier and his dependents can expect prompt and efficient assistance and guidance in times of stress.

Army families experience many of the same problems that confront non military families however, some of the circumstances encountered by the military families are both peculiar to and expected in Army life. The broad scope of ACS activities are especially designed to meet the twofold needs of these family groups.

"The telephone is one of the instruments most used by the Administration committee," says Jean Sydnor, Chairwoman. Many of those who telephone come in for further assistance. Specially trained volunteers interview persons seeking help. After preparing a file with some basic information, the volunteers direct the client to that professional staff member best trained to help with the specific problem. These volunteers also make inquiries concerning missing or delayed allotment checks.

Big Brother Program

Big Brothers are soldiers who provide companionship, personal attention, understanding, and recreation for boys ages six through 14. The dependent boys' fathers are not living in the home, are overseas, or are deceased. When questioned, SPS Michael Tucker, chairman of the group, and 1st Lt. Donald V. Schiesler both agreed that the types of activities range from involvement in all kinds of sports to just sitting and rapping. Several times during the year the entire group of Big and Little Brothers gather for a special group activity.

Emergency Food Locker

The Emergency Food Locker Committee now has two freezers in addition to the usual cabinet space for non-perishable foods. "Better supplies of meat and fresh frozen vegetables give us a chance to offer the family in a crisis situation a nutritional balance," said Kathy Wissinger, chairwoman. Social Service Committee Volunteers and professional staff members distribute food to families in emergency situations.

Kathy Wissinger further stated, "Without the continued cooperation of the various wives groups on post and their generous donations of money and food, this vital service would have little chance for success. Just last week the NCO wives group agreed to donate $25.00 a month for the next 5 months."

Social Services

When Mrs. Kitty See could be pinned down for five minutes in her hectic schedule as chairwoman of the Social Services committee, she indicated, "Possibly one of the greatest assets a volunteer on this committee can have besides the ability for empathetic problem solving, is a thorough knowledge of military 'jargon' and military practices. So many of the people we talk to need assistance that must begin with forms or papers issued in the sponsor's military unit." Most of the cases handled by this specially trained group of volunteers and professional staff begin with marital conflict. This is often related to financial difficulty and home management. The group also work closely with such local civic organizations as the Family and Children's Services and the Food Stamp Program.

"We have just finished a two-week summer day-camp for handicapped children," says chairwoman Kathy Sulton. "The program included arts, crafts, music, field trips and swimming. Now we are looking forward to the Saturday morning activities for arts and crafts and games."

Members of the committee participate in in-service training workshops and coordinate their activities with school, post, and civilian programs for special children. Mrs. Diane Corder commented, "The children especially like the out-door games provided at our weekly Saturday morning programs." The group is planning to expand their activities now that it has a building to house the variety of programs offered for the special children.

Welcome Center

To the family who must set up temporary house-keeping, the volunteers and staff can loan essential household items. Volunteers gather donated items, prepare and store them. Pots, pans, dishes, eating utensils, cribs, cots, card tables, and folding chairs are available at the Welcome Center's Household Goods Lending Closet. SSG Robble L. Owensby commented, "During the summer it is hard to fill all the requests that come in. So many families move here during the summer months that often the demand is greater than our supply."

Emergency Assistance is available 24 hours a day by dialing 545-HELP. Some callers decide to come to one of the ACS agencies or other post facilities for help, and in emergency situations an on-call officer will assist. ACS has a vehicle available to assist in emergency situations. This service provides all military personnel and dependents a source of immediate assistance nights or holidays when regular post offices are closed.

Citizenship Classes

The Army Community Service sponsors citizenship classes for active duty military and their dependents who are preparing for naturalization examinations. Julietta Fitzgerald, citizenship committee chairwoman and a successful candidate for United States citizenship, said, "At first I was a little nervous, but the class helped me to prepare for the test."

Sp4 Wayne Centers, center, and wife Linda borrow utensils from the ACS lending closet until their household goods arrive. Making the loan is SSG Robble Owensby.

Where is ACS?

1. Main Office, Building 55.
2. Welcome Center and Lending Closet, Building 83.
3. Special Children's Activity Center, which houses the Handicapped Committee, Handicapped Scouts Program and Occupational Therapy Clinic, Building 1803.
4. Sav-A-Toy and Christmas Aid program, Building 1809. These projects receive support from a variety of sources around post. Throughout the year, the airborne department, Motor Committee, and Provost Marshal Division collect and repair toys. ACS coordinates these functions and matches the needs of a family with the appropriate number of toys. The Holiday festivities are concluded with a Christmas dinner.

ACS spells help

Even before you reached the main gate, Army Community Services (ACS) was reaching out to welcome you to Fort Benning. Following the motto of the Infantry, you were led by the little blue and white signs "follow me" to the welcome center. From here many services and activities are open to you.

By proclamation, Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, post commander, has designated September as Army Community Service Month at Fort Benning. During the month the expanding programs and services provided by ACS will be emphasized. A variety of service and social activities have been planned to recognize the efforts and hours of service contributed to Army personnel, their families and the Columbus community by the ACS volunteers and staff.

The Army Community Service is a centrally located social service agency which provides information, guidance and counseling to the soldier and his family. In the past servicemen were often confused and frustrated by the many agencies and organizations offering limited kinds of assistance. ACS Centers provide the resources, both on post and in the local community that can help resolve complex personal and family problems. Often the job of ACS is to unite the individual having a problem with the agency that can best help him. Such as Red Cross, Army Emergency Relief, CHAMPUS or the HEALTH Department, family and children's services, plus numerous other local social service agencies are available to complement the services offered by ACS.

ACS combines the expertise of professional social workers, guidance counselors and financial advisers with the varied skills and talents of volunteer workers. The center has a permanent staff of a few military and civilian personnel; however, the "muscle" for the operation is provided by volunteers.

Mrs. Charles Suttan, left, and Mrs. Ian Corderner serve on the handicapped children's committee. This committee sponsors special activities for military dependents with special handicaps.

CG proclaims Sept. as post ACS month

Whereas, Army Community Service has served the Fort Benning community dedicatedly and professionally for a period of seven years;

Whereas, Army Community Service provides information, assistance, and guidance to military personnel to help solve personal, family, and community problems;

Whereas, Army Community Service, in performing these functions, aids commanders and staff in solving problems, increases performance and career satisfaction of servicemen, and enhances the quality of living at Fort Benning;

In recognition thereof, I hereby proclaim the month of September 1972 to be Army Community Service month at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Further, I urge military sponsors and dependents to strongly support Army Community Service activities through contributions of service through the volunteer program and goods to aid servicemen in emergency situations.

197th bids farewell to CSM Gallagher

The soldiers and non-commissioned officers of the 197th Infantry Brigade Monday said farewell to a distinguished command sergeant major who has served all but one of the last seven years of his 22 years in the Army with the 197th.

In a ceremony arranged, conducted and participated in solely by the Brigade's soldiers and non-commissioned officers, Brigadier General James J. Gallagher relinquished his position to CSM Harvey Parrish, who served as command sergeant major of the 1st Bn. (Mech), 58th Inf. (Paratroopers), before assuming his new position.

The 38th Army Band provided marching music for the occasion and for the formal pass in review which concluded the ceremony. Following the ceremony a public reception was provided adjacent to Presidential Field.

An audience of civilian and military persons viewed the ceremony and listened to speeches by Gallagher and Brigadier Commander Col. Edwin L. Kennedy.

Special guests for the ceremony were Col. and Mrs. Willard Latham, Col. Latham, post chief of staff, was commander of the 197th for nearly two years, with Gallagher serving as brigade command sergeant major during part of the time. Col. Kennedy, noting Gallagher's achievements in improving and sustaining high levels of troop performance and morale, said the outgoing command sergeant major typified the best of an elite corps of army non-commissioned officers, which Col. Kennedy termed, "the backbone of the Army."

Gallagher reflected on his six years of service in the 197th and his fondness for Fort Benning and its harmonious relationship with the community of Columbus-Phenix City. He said he was proud to have served in "the finest unit in the Army and at Fort Benning, home of the Infantry and what I think is the heart of the Army." "Having served as Command Sergeant Major of the 197th Infantry Brigade has been the greatest privilege of my 22 years of Army service," said Gallagher. Gallagher's next assignment is with the 3rd Armored Division in Germany.

The 197th's new command sergeant major, Command Sergeant Major Harvey Parrish, who assumed duties as command sergeant major of the 1st of the 58th Infantry early this year following a tour of duty in Korea, was congratulated and welcomed to his new position by Col. Kennedy. Parrish has been selected for inclusion in the publication "Outstanding Young Men in America." The national publication annually presents names and short biographies of what it considers to be the most outstanding men in America based on civic and community service.

FBOOM planning to improve services

The Fort Benning Officers Open Mess has planned several changes to improve its services for members.

A major change is the expanded eligibility for civilian membership. Now, General Schedule (GS) or Nonappropriated Fund (NAF) civilians with a seven rating or above are eligible to join the Club after being recommended by two current members.

Beginning in the middle of September, the Fountain Room of the main club will serve ala carte dinners seven days a week, initially. This will give members an opportunity to have sit-down meals served by waiters during the week.

New management is running the Officers Mess. Lt. Col. Harold Carter took over as manager in July.

and Sgt. Maj. George Spencer is now managing the main club. Spencer previously was manager of the Noncommissioned Officers Open Mess.

586th plays significant part in Lake Festival

The men of the 586th Float Bridge Company, 931st Engineer Group (CBT), played a significant part in Eufaula's annual Lake Festival held last week-end at Lake Eufaula, Ala.

The Lake Festival is celebrated annually at Eufaula under the sponsorship of the Eufaula Chamber of Commerce. At the festival, Miss Eufaula is chosen, and the celebrations climax in the boat races at Lake Eufaula.

These races attract entries from all over the country, and in past competitions, several world records have been set here, the last being the one set by Don Baleman in the 1971 Festival.

Here, the soldiers' help proved invaluable, as they provided most of the safety personnel and equipment so necessary to the races. Mr. James Bradley, executive director of the Eufaula Chamber of Commerce stated that "without the help of the 931st, it would really have been difficult to continue with the races, since we could not provide the safety personnel necessary."

The racers were impressed with the efficiency of the safety and recovery team, as they swiftly recovered two boats, both of which had flipped and began to sink in about eighty feet of water. Mr. Bradley expressed his regret that the men had not been there last year when two boats were lost in the same area.

In addition to their function as safety personnel, the men of the 931st also provided electricity and communications for the races.

Miss Eufaula, Eva Cox, toured the pit and race area and paid a visit to the exhibits which the Engineers had a public display.

High and dry on its trailer, one of the boats awaits its turn at competition.

110 to compete on Post golf course for position in Southern Open golf

Fort Benning golf enthusiasts will have an opportunity to get a first-hand view of the caliber of golf to expect in the Southern Open Golf Championship at Green Island Country Club, when amateurs and professionals play qualifying rounds on the Fort Benning Country Club Pine Side Golf Course Sept. 5.

About 110 players all aspiring to compete in the Southern will start teeing off about 8 a.m. next Tuesday to determine those to be added to a list of the top golfers of the world who are already qualified and committed to play.

Cesar Cenio, Charles Sifford, Bob Dickson, Teddy Hayes, Howie Johnson, Dick Crawford, Chuck Courtney, Bunky Henry and George Johnson are some of the better known golfers who will have to qualify if they do not make the 36 hole cut in the Hartford Open today.

Big names in golf continue to indicate they will be in Columbus when the Southern activities begin with a pro-am tournament on Sept. 6 followed by 72 holes of golf to determine the 1972 champion.

Latest entries according to Sam Wellborn, general chairman are J. C. Snead and Orville Moody.

"These are just a couple of more of the top players we continue to get," said Wellborn. "I would say that by the time the Southern begins we will have at least 35 of last year's top 50 money winners, and the chances are we even have in the 50s."

The $100,000 Southern Open is scheduled for Sept. 5-10 at the Green Island Country Club.

Moody and Snead are similar in that neither of the two hit the tournament Club, when amateurs and professionals play qualifying rounds on the Fort Benning Country Club Pine Side Golf Course Sept. 5.

Jesse Carlyle (J.C.), nephew of the legendary Sam Snead, had baseball on his mind most of his formative years and it wasn't until he was 22-years-old that J. C. decided there might be something to the game that made his uncle famous and very rich.

Moody, on the other hand, knew it was golf that he enjoyed, and he spent the better part of 14 years in the Army (some at Fort Benning) working in and around golf shops.

In 1968 Moody decided to put aside his Army career as he was a sergeant at the time—for a crack at the pro circuit. The Chickasha, Okla., native was 24-years-old his rookie season.

The three-time Korean Open champion picked up $12,850 his first year, and then things began to happen.

Moody, as did Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, gained his first tour triumph with a U.S. Open victory.

His winnings for the 1969 season came to $79,176, which didn't include the $50,000 first prize for the title in the World Series of Golf. Moody also teamed with Lee Trevino to win the World Cup title for the United States. A $50,000 year was waiting on Moody in 1970, but then it shrank to $33,566 in 1971. Thus far this season has not been the best for Orville as he has had to struggle most of the way.

One of the straightest golf trails in the world, Moody balmes his slump on the putter.

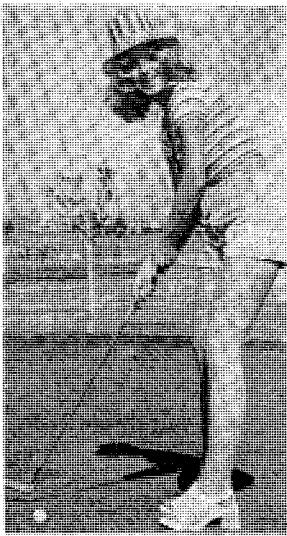

While Moody's star might not be shining so brightly now, Snead's is one that is on the rise.

After three lean campaigns on the tour, J. C. really broke through last year with victories at the Tucson and Doral-Eastern Opens within a three week period.

The 31-year-old Snead went on to win $98,920 in 1971 and has thus far collected $78,670 on the 1972 tournament trail, including $20,000 for his victory in the Philadelphia IVB Golf classic.

The popular entries join defending champion Johnny Miller, Chi Chi Rodriguez, George Archer, Tommy Aaron, Bob Murphy, Bobby Mitchell, and as Wellborn said, many more to come in the 1972 Southern Open.

Also previously committed were: Larry Hinson, Steve Melnyk, Steve Tom Shaw, Chris Blacker, Chuck Torpe, Bobby Eastwood, Gary Bowerman, Bob Bourne, Bert Yancey, John Schies, John Lotz, Hubert Green, Mac McLendon, Ron Cerrudo, Larry Ziegler, Bud Allen, LeRoy Harris, Jr., Lou Graham, Bob Dickson, Dwight Nevil and Dale Douglas.

Sergeant Roy Smith is preparing to drink a post-game toast with the "Every Vote Counts" in the upcoming November elections.

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted.

"The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

Engineers get good training

For the soldiers of Company B, 43d Eng. Bn. (Coast) training is an everyday happening. That unit is presently engaged in a variety of tasks to enhance the training of soldiers both new to the army as well as old timers. Being a unit of choice organization, a continual effort is made to train unit leaders and qualify soldiers in one of many skilled MOS's organic to the unit.

The new soldier has a variety of MOS's to choose from that provides the Army with skilled construction personnel and at the same time gives the individual a marketable skill for civilian life. These jobs include carpenter, electrician, plumber, heavy equipment operator and mechanic, to name a few.

Training of personnel is conducted in a manner which provides benefit to as many people as possible by working on construction projects for the Infantry School, the Fort-Benning Facilities Engineering and civilian communities as far away as Selma, Alabama.

Projects of such a nature throughout the post, erosion control and soil stabilization on River Road and the upgrading of roads in Selma, Alabama, are typical of what it takes to generate a meaningful training.

Marksmanship clinic presented in Mont.

A two-man U. S. Army Marksmanship team will present a shooting clinic for rifle and pistol enthusiasts during the annual members and business meeting of the Montana State Rifle and Pistol Association in Helena, Mont., Sept. 9 and 10, it was disclosed by Col. William H. Harper, Commander of the Army Marksmanship Training Unit.

The two man team, including Maj. John Foster of Libby, Mont., and M-Sgt. Samuel Hunter of Warrenton, N. C., will present lectures, slides and demonstrated pointers during their handgum and shoulder-fired weapons clinics.

Foster, one of the outstanding rifle marksmen in the nation, has competed against the best of the international competitors in Olympic and World Championship while Hunter has fired on national record pistol teams. Both marksmen are veterans of the conflict in the Republic of Vietnam.

The Army marksmen will be presenting instruction primarily to State's shooting club instructors but all interested members are invited to participate. Both pistol and rifle fundamentals and techniques will be covered in detail by the veteran marksmen.

Foster, presently assigned to the U. S. Army

Voting advice available

If you are military, or you are a dependent of military personnel and are eligible to vote, you may seek registration advice and information pertaining to registration in the State of Georgia from the Board of Registrars in the county in which registration is desired. At Fort Benning, this would most likely be in either Muscogee or Chhattahoochee counties.

Generally, eligible military and dependent personnel who have an off-post address and who intend to make their home in the local area may be registered to vote. Eligibility, however, must be determined on a case-by-case basis.

Olympic gold

Three Fort Benning marksmen shoot their way to medals

Three U.S. Army marksmen met the World's best shooters in the Olympics at the Bavarian village ranges and captured for the United States two Gold and one Silver Medal.

The talented marksmen, Maj. Lones Wigger and Capt. Lanny R. Bassham, both from the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit at Fort Benning, along with Army Reserve 1st Lt. John Wriener, Clarendon Hills, Ill., won their medals in the Smallbore Rifle competition. (Wriener, a former member of the Army Marksmanship Unit, trained with the Fort Benning marksmen and traveled to Europe with the shooters this spring for pre-Olympic training.)

Wriener, winner of the Gold Medal in the Three Position Smallbore Rifle match, broke the ice for the Army marksmen when he slammed a new World's record of 1,166 in to his target. Bassham garnered 1,177 in the same event to win the Silver Medal and make a clean sweep for the U.S. of the top two positions.

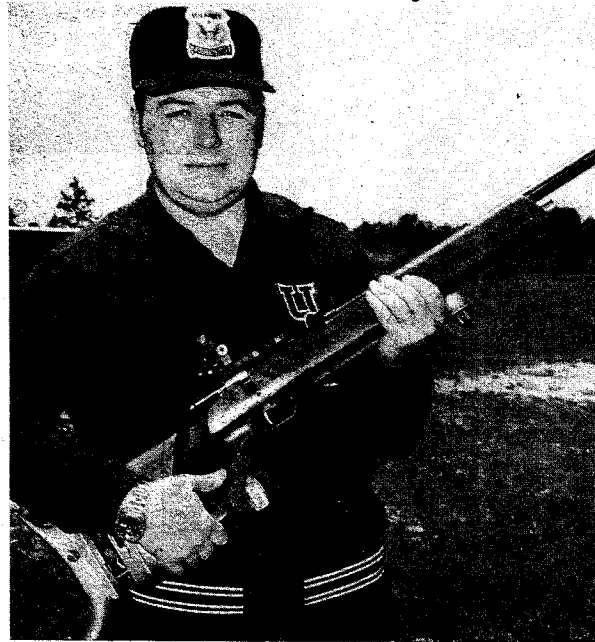

Wigger, winner of the Gold Medal in the 300 Meter Free Rifle at Munich, missed the World record mark by two points with his three position aggregate of 1,155 of a possible 1,200, but he did establish a new World's record in the standing, or "offhand" event on his way to the championship.

From the three positions, Wigger compiled a 379 in the off hand, 382 kneeling and 394 in the prone position for his 1,155 aggregate score.

Boris Melnik of Russia also fired a 1,155 but was awarded the Silver Medal when the tie-breaking decision was determined through the last ten shots fired from the kneeling position where Wigger dropped only three points for a 97 while Melnik had one less total in his target.

'Family Practice' approved by AMA

The Family Practice Residency Program at Martin Army Hospital has recently gained the approval of all the Residency Review Committee for Family Practice, Department of Graduate Medical Education, Division of Medical Education, American Medical Association.

This approval by the American Medical Association is a mark of academic excellence for the program and insures that physicians who complete the program at Martin Army Hospital have received excellent training and are eligible to take the board examination of the American Board of Family Practice.

The Family Practice Residency Program at Martin Army Hospital is the first of its kind within the Army Medical Department. Recent affiliation of Martin Army Hospital with Emory University School of Medicine gives the program ready access to outstanding consultants and educational guidance in all fields of medicine. The program, which is also affiliated with the Emory University School of Medicine, is located at the Columbus Medical Center, Columbus, Georgia. The program started on July 1 with a total of 9 resident physicians in training.

As the name implies, Family Practice emphasizes the continuous and comprehensive care of all members of a family by the same physician wherever possible. At the same time, a total of 500 Ft. Benning families, both active duty and retired, are receiving medical care from members of the Family Practice Residency Program. It is planned to add approximately 300 more families to this number over the next several weeks.

The Family Practice

Program at Martin Army Hospital represents one of the actions now being taken by the Army Medical Department to significantly improve ambulatory (i.e. general outpatient) care of patients at its various treatment facilities. Over the next several years, it is envisioned that the bulk of all medical care within the Army Medical Department will be provided in a family oriented, one physician per family, format.

New OER system to be put into effect Jan. 1, 1973

PL. Monroe, VA — A new officer reporting system, known as the Officer Evaluation Reporting System (OERS), has been approved by the Army's Chief of Staff to be effective 1 January 1973.

The basic concepts of the OERS are:

- A three man rating chain will be retained. This will help control inflation, insure objectivity, and provide for system of checks and balances.
- Rated officers will receive a copy of their completed reports. Thus, an officer will immediately know his rating, and shortcomings if any.
- In contrast to the current report in use, the new report will contain numerical scoring ranges. This will provide an openly visible score.
- The average rating score by grade for the officer corps will be computed and published periodically. Rates will thus have an objective "benchmark" from which to begin their evaluation of subordinate officers.

Each officer will receive, on a personal and confidential basis, his annual individual mean score. This will be overwhelming demand to "know where they stand."

— The rating officer, not the personnel officer, will be required to complete a description of the rated officer's duties, as a preliminary step to recording the manner of performance of these duties.

— The Officer Evaluation Report (DA Form 67) will be prepared in two copies; one for the rated officer and one for forwarding to DA. The TAGO will retain the original copy in the Officer's Official Military Personnel File, and will prepare and forward a reproduced copy to the officer's career branch.

— Instruction in officer evaluation will be mandatory in all Army officer service school courses, from the officer basic course through the Army War College. This will be augmented by a field education program. The OERS education program will also provide statistical data which DA may assess the effectiveness of the officer evaluation system and to provide a basis for improvement.

Automobile course for ladies

Aspiring lady mechanics may take the three day automobile maintenance and operation course being offered by the Main Post Service Club Sept. 11, 13 and 15.

The workshop will cover tire changing, recognizing misalignment, how to blow carbon out of an engine and other maintenance considerations. The ladies will actually take part in simple maintenance work.

Jane Burris, from Project Transition's Automotive Section, will teach the course to military wives. Classes will be held in Building 5896, North Harmony Church at 6 p.m. Students may sign up by calling 545-4408-1375.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
by Bill King

For a buffet salad, use artichoke hearts, button mushrooms and peeled tomato quarters. Chill in French dressing seasoned with garlic, basil and oregano.

To draw out sand from fresh clams, rinse and scrub out cover with salt water. Soak a few handfuls of cornmeal top and bottom for about two hours. Rinse again before using.

It's best to wait until the water boils before adding frozen vegetables, because the sudden shock seals in more flavor and coloring.

Before barbecuing spareribs for a picnic, use kitchen shears to cut the ribs into manageable pieces.

In Mexico, there are many types of small capers called "onjonillo" which translates into "little onions".

Nursing course scheduled

Educational benefits abound in today's Army and nurses definitely are not left out.

The Nursing Services Educational Program for Registered Nurses (R.N.) will begin Monday morning at 8:30. Classes will be held in the fourth floor classroom at Martin Army Hospital.

The guest speaker will be Maj Charles F. Benson Jr., chief of Plans, Operations and Training for MEDDAC. He will discuss "MAH Disaster Plans for the R.N."

All Registered Nurses are invited, and refreshments will be served. For further information, call 544-2498.

Pioneer Wagon a registered vehicle

The 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry (Pioneers) dedicated Pioneer Field on Kelley Hill and registered their 1959 Cavalry Escort Wagon as a regular vehicle at Fort Benning during the festivities at Wagon Day on August 29.

Col. Eugene Murdock, post provost marshal Gary Nitz, Miss SARA (Safety Awareness Reduces Accidents) for the 1970 were present to participate in the ceremony registering the Pioneer Wagon.

The two officials presented post registration tags to the Pioneer Wagon's driver and were greeted by Lt. Col. Robert Faulkender, commander of the 1st of the 28th.

In addition to dedicating the field at the intersection of Ivy and First Division roads as "Pioneer Field" the battalion held a variety of games and entertainment, including a wagon dragging contest, for the men and their families.

The Army Materiel Command provided an exhibit of clothing and equipment being tested for future use by the Army. The Pioneer soldiers saw such new equipment as cold weather boots, dehydrated foods and permanently pressed fatigue and khaki uniforms. The battalion's dining facilities established barbecue cooking facilities at the field and provided the men and their families with hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks and additional foods. Several kegs of beer added enjoyment to the hot afternoon for the thirsty soldiers.

Rangers adopt television for instruction of students

The Ranger Department has adopted television videotaping to aid in its instruction to Ranger Students.

The videotape unit consists of a hand camera and a power pack and taping unit on a shoulder strap.

Maj. Powell A. Johnson Jr., officer in charge of Camp Darby Forward Training Area, Benning Ranger Committee, said, "We started on a trial basis and found it to be so satisfactory that we are now incorporating it into all future Ranger classes to augment our other instructional techniques."

The operator of the equipment is a regular Ranger Committee instructor who is familiar with the problems given the students. The operator is given orientation and training to use the equipment.

The use of videotaping enables the instructors to highlight key critique areas.

"The instant critique and counseling becomes more real to the student when he can objectively review his activities as seen by the camera," said Maj. Johnson.

The Benning Ranger Committee operates two portable video camera-recorder units and six TV monitors. The cameras record sight and sound and make critiquing material immediately available to the student.

Videotape to aid instruction has been used at the U.S. Military Academy orientation visit to the U.S. Army Infantry School and was proven in use with the Army ROTC Summer Training Ranger Camp.

"The advantages of increased instructional capabilities far outweigh the disadvantages of weight and complexity of the equipment," said Maj. Johnson.

Unfortunately the equipment is not usable during limited visibility or darkness, but its capabilities during daylight hours allow its full use.

Maj. Johnson said that the Ranger Committee is planning to hold tapes of instruction and to show proper and improper ways of solving problems.

The use of this instructional aid is now being shown in following a mission from the planning stage through the rehearsal stage and in the actual problem phase of training.

Maj. Johnson advises that unit commanders could follow the Benning Ranger Committee's idea and make a library of instructional tapes to be used in unit or individual training.

SFC Raleigh Thomas, senior instructor, Benning Ranger Committee, examines his videotaping equipment which is used by the Committee in critiquing the Ranger Students. The case over SFC Thomas' shoulder contains the power pack and the taping reels. (Photo by the Committee in critiquing the Bayonet).

Flying doctors hold convention

Callaway Gardens was an "Air Traffic Controller's Nightmare", but a flying enthusiast's dream, on August 30. Over 200 airplanes, belonging to doctors, were lined up at Harris County Airport. The occasion was the 19th Annual Flying Physician's Convention.

These doctors, representing all 50 states, meet annually to discuss various topics concerning medicine and flying. Many are very interested in the Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic program (MAST). This program provides the civilian communities the use of military evacuation helicopters in emergency situations. In conjunction with this interest, the 34th Medical Battalion, Fort Benning, Georgia, sent a UH1H Bell Iroquois helicopter to Callaway Gardens for display.

This medical evacuation helicopter is known as a "Dust Off". The pilots, Captains William Kruse and Alvin R. Kieler of the 498th Medical Company, Air Ambulance, were standing by with the answers to the many questions asked of them by the doctors and their families.

The crew's medic and the crew chief, Sp5 Fremont Kerriek and Sp5 Peter Zavala were also on hand to explain the uses of the various medical equipment, the hoist, and the capacity of the aircraft. A great deal of interest was shown in this unique method of transporting accident victims to the hospital.

The 34th Medical Battalion will be making more trips to various civilian communities to display the "Dust-Off" and its medical evacuation capacities — thusly contributing to the Domestic Action Program.

ACS to offer Citizenship Course to post personnel

Beginning September 9th, the Army Community Service will offer a Citizenship Course to any active duty military personnel and their dependents. The classes will be held in the Welcome Center, Building 83. The six weeks course meets every Saturday morning from 10:00 till 12:00 beginning September 9th and ending October 14th.

Interested students may register by calling 545-1223, 545-1633 at the ACS center. There is no charge for the course, but a refundable deposit of $1.50 is necessary for the use of textbooks and materials.

The primary objective of the course is to aid the prospective citizen in preparing for the U. S. naturalization process. A background of basic American political process and history forms the nucleus of the course. Films, slide presentations, discussion groups, and lectures will be used to provide a variety of viewpoints and interest levels. Sources for further study of U. S. history and government will be provided.

ACS volunteers organize and teach the classes. Many Volunteers are needed to work with the small group discussions. Some of the volunteers are foreign-born dependents who have successfully completed the course and passed the citizenship exam. Other volunteers include those who have teaching experience and graduate degrees in history and government.

Mrs. Julietta Fitzgerald, chairwoman of the ACS

Citizenship Committee commented, "The enrollment has already reached more than 25 students who represent many countries: Germany, the Philippines, Vietnam, Cuba, Thailand, Korea, Mexico, England, Taiwan, Japan, France and Panama."

Recently the Columbus City Council passed an ordinance which sentences litterers to 8 hours of policing of the local highways. How effective do you think a regulation of this type would be at Fort Benning?

'It should be on your own initiative'

PFC Henry Smith,
Co. D, 58th Inf.

PFC Henry Smith, Co. D, 1st of the 58th Inf. said "It wouldn't make much difference. Fort Benning has regular policing people and a large amount of manpower to get the job done anyway. There wouldn't be much effect on the individual."

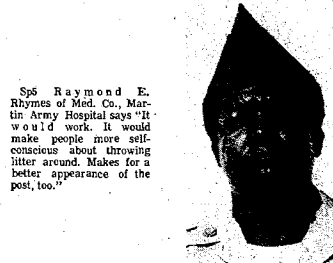

Sgt. Lou R. Davis,
3rd Reg. Co.

Sgt. Lou R. Davis, 3rd Ranger Co., thinks it would be a terrific idea. He says, "It is the only real effective way to deal with it (litter). Some people can easily pay a fine and be done with it. They wouldn't miss the money. Sgt. Davis thinks "it would be a terrific ordinance for Benning if it was applied to all ranks equally. I don't know why they didn't think of doing this earlier."

Pvt. Otis Huff, 498th Med. Co., said, "Yes, it would help. It would let the litterers know that they would have to pick up their own litter and that of others too."

Pvt. Otis Huff,

Sp5 Raymond E. Rhymes,

Sp5 Raymond E. Rhymes of Med. Co., Martin Army Hospital says "It would work. It would make people more self-conscious about throwing litter around. Makes for a better appearance of the post, too."

Sp4 Michael R. Roberts,
HQ. Co., 43rd Eng.

Sp4 Michael R. Roberts, Hq. Co., 43rd Eng. says that "If someone litters he should help to clean it up. Like around the 43rd Engineers, everybody pitches in to help clean up the duty sections. It really should be something that is done without someone telling you to do it. It should be on your own initiative."

Youth vote packs a whale of a wallop

The youth vote could pack one whale of a wallop in the upcoming presidential election, but it probably won't because, contrary to what some are preaching, the young people are not all of one mind.

Nevertheless, greater emphasis than ever is being directed toward youth. And, no wonder; 25.7 million of them, in the 18 to 24 age group, will be eligible to vote in a presidential election for the first time.

Just how many will actually vote, no one can predict. Estimates run from 13 to 15 million.

U. S. News and World Report, in its current issue, presents this interesting profile of the 25.7 million new voters:

- 50.5 per cent are women.
- 49.5 per cent are men.
- 87 per cent are white.
- 12 per cent are black.

- 57.7 per cent are single.
- 40.9 per cent are married.
- 1.4 per cent are widowed or divorced.
- 65.6 per cent live in cities or suburbs.
- 34.4 per cent live in small towns or rural areas.
- 54.3 per cent are employed.
- 7.2 per cent are unemployed.
- 18.2 per cent are in school.
- 5.8 per cent are in the armed forces. Of that percentage, 72 per cent are 18-22 years of age.
- 16.5 per cent are housekeeping or "other."
- 24.8 per cent have not graduated from high school.
- 75.2 per cent have high school diplomas.
- 31.2 per cent have some college education.
- 7 per cent have four years of college.

These young people represent 18.4 per cent of the 139.6 million Americans who could qualify as voters in the upcoming presidential election.

Flying ambulance saves life

David Worsham, 22, of Albany, Ga., is alive today because of a mercy mission flown by the 49th Medical Ambulance Company, 34th Medical Battalion, Fort Benning, Ga.

Worsham was trapped in his wrecked car Sept. 1 for eight hours. When found Saturday morning, he was cut free from the car but his condition required removal of part of his intestine and repair to theorta.

His condition took a nose dive when his kidneys refused to function. By Monday, it was clear that he would need the services of an artificial kidney machine. The nearest machine, by ambulance, was six hours away in Gainesville, Fla.

The youth's physician, Dr. C. B. Gillespie, called Lt. Col. John Hammett, commanding officer of the 34th Medical Battalion. A helicopter took off at 9 p.m. Monday with Dr. Gillespie and Dr. W. F. Harper attending the patient. The boy arrived in Gainesville and was put on the kidney machine. His condition is now stabilized.

Lt. Col. Hammett expressed that such mercy missions are frequently performed by the Army in life-threatening situations. He is military coordinator for the Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic (MAST) committee for the 13 county area around Columbus. MAST is a pending civilian-military project which will provide such life-saving assistance in a variety of emergencies.

Ecology kick

Fort Benning a leader in helping clean up environment

By WILLIAM BROWNELL

While citizens and student groups have demonstrated and voiced discontent with pollution and waste, the record shows that as individuals, they have been short on action. Not so Fort Benning.

In the race to stop man's waste and exhausting of natural resources, Fort Benning has proven to be an ecological pioneer.

The United States has six per cent of both the world's population and land area, but consumes about 40 per cent of the world's resources. This means that the world could be headed for an eventual depletion disaster. The answer to this is to institute pollution controls, utilize ecological foresight and recycle products for reuse by consumers.

Education Is Key

The key to these objectives and their ultimate success is the education of the individual. Being able to identify a recyclable product and where to take it for processing is half the battle.

Fort Benning has taken the first steps towards preventing pollution. Some of the steps are reusable. But the job cannot be that of governments and military installations alone. Since it is the individual who demands action, he must share the burden and responsibility. It has been computed that each individual creates about nine pounds of waste each day. Waste, when speaking in ecological terms, means misplaced resources.

To date, the picture is clear. Fort Benning leads hands down. Eighty per cent of all U.S. cities have only primary sewage treatment facilities which consist of nothing more than the filtering of solids. Where does the remaining waste go? You guessed it, right into the lakes and rivers. Sometimes right into your favorite eight-ounce tumbler.

Fort Benning possesses a three-stage process which includes disinfecting and purifying. It also has separate sewage and sanitation sewer systems. This means rain water runs into the rivers and sewage into the treatment facilities.

Fort Benning was the pioneer in publishing a regulation dealing with environmental quality control. It has been proposed that a circular be published that would request individuals to act. The proposed circular would direct each Fort Benning resident to recycle paper, metal cans and glass.

Individual Action Disappointing

Individual action to curtail pollution and waste has been disappointing. After all the shouting and pointing of blame, we need only to look in the water we pollute and the metal reflecting the sun's rays to see the real villain.

In April of this year an experimental pick-up program of recyclable papers from various rank-segregated samples of government quarters was conducted. Fourteen field grade, 16 company grade and 12 enlisted families were tested. 37.2 per cent participated at least once. Only 24.5 per cent of the field grade, 23.4 per cent of the company grade and 4.2 per cent of the enlisted families participated more than once. A dismal failure? Not exactly. The direction is now clear. Education and directives are needed.

Post Recycles Oil And Junk

Recyclable oil, used as fuel in heating Fort Benning, is not only saving the taxpayers money, but is supplementary fuel when fuel shortages occur.

Recyclable paper is sold to paper mills. This does two things: it cuts down on wood cutting in our already depleted forests and also provides money for the government, thus saving you, the taxpayer, money.

Glass is also recyclable. In case you're wondering, it's crushed and used in the making of roads. Ever heard of glassphalt?

When was the last time you saw an abandoned car or an improperly disposed tin can? Fort Benning has even found a source for aging iron. Abandoned cars are used as range targets or are sent off for recycling through the Property Disposal Office. A new process for making steel out of scrap iron has made it possible. Sell your old car and reap the benefits.

Fort Benning has been so successful in fact, that its recycle programs have been adopted by other military installations and some cities.

We all can be proud of Fort Benning in its drive towards preventing waste. However, the job isn't done by units or government alone. The hard work has just begun: individual effort.

Eager ecologist 24 hours a day

"I'm proud of living at Fort Benning because the troops try to preserve the beauty of the post by cleaning up the environment," said Pvt. Robert Holden, clerk typist of HRC, 19th Infantry Brigade.

Holden has been with the 197th for nearly a year and during his entire time with the Brigade he has put an all out effort to clean the environment that surrounds not only him but other troops. In his off-duty hours he participates in ecology projects that help keep Fort Benning clean. He does this by picking up any trash that he finds, no matter what the size of the object.

The eager ecologist declares, "It is amazing to see exactly what individuals throw from their vehicles. Even when some passers-by see me stooping to pick up trash along highway 27 they throw bottles at me and wonder what I could possibly be doing."

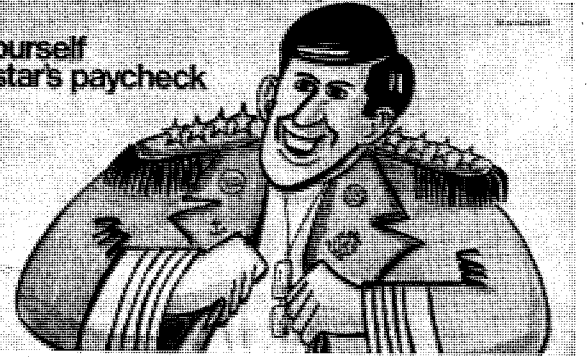

A native of Johnson City, Tenn., Holden believes in keeping all areas clean of debris. "Even when I'm working at the office I believe in keeping a tidy area. All trash must enter the trash can and not the floor."

Don't let it get away!

JEWISH HIGH HOLY DAYS GREETING

With the advent of the Jewish High Holy Days, it is my pleasure to extend to all Jewish personnel and their families at Fort Benning my greetings and best wishes for the Jewish New Year 5733.

May this period provide a stimulus for you to rededicate your lives to those high moral and spiritual values which Judaism has bequeathed to mankind.

It is my sincere wish that the New Year will usher in an unparalleled period of happiness for the Jewish people, and an era of justice and peace for all men.

for the evening was Mrs. Gerald Weigand. The ladies enjoyed coffee, homemade pound cake, chocolate chip cookies and finger sandwiches.

Mrs. Nathan Vail, wife of the new committee chairman, was introduced to the ladies. Also welcomed were Mrs. Sylvester Shannon and Mrs.

Meredith Standley. A return visitor was Mrs. Robert Rodgers, mother of Mrs. Jack Humphries.

Main topic of discussion during the business meeting was the OWC Christmas Bazaar project. A workshop for this was held on Aug. 31 at the home of Mrs. Vail. Mrs. Richard Wright was presented with an Army Wife scroll and thanked for all the work she has done while with the committee. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Larry Owens and Mrs. Kenneth Burns.

The ladies of the Coast-Hoing, Combatives, and Drill Committee held their monthly coffee Aug. 17 in the home of Mrs. Jerry T. Walden. The hostess served a delicious lemon ice box pie, cookies and homemade divinity candy.

A welcome coffee was held Aug. 25 to welcome Mrs. Edward L. Harris, the new Committee Chairman's wife, into the committee. Hostess for the coffee was Mrs. Billy W. May. Mrs. Billy E. Rutherford, wife of the Department Director, was a special guest.

King's Pond was the scene, Aug. 6 of the Artillery Committee's family picnic. It was a potluck affair where the parents enjoyed "cooling off" on the patio with liquid refreshments, while the children exerted the energy: passing out only for "one more soda" and a bite of hamburger.

Guests for the afternoon were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Curtis Hogan, Maj. and Mrs. Gregory Mason, Capt. and Mrs. James Pongonis, Capt. and Mrs. William Echols, Mjst. and Mrs. Carroll MacDonald, Sr. and Mrs. George Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. William Wright from Louisville, Kentucky.

Newcomers welcomed to the Committee were Maj. and Mrs. Marshall McRee and Lisa Tucker, new daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Larry Tucker.

Adventure training for aviators

The USAIC Aviation Command has developed a program of Adventure Training for the men assigned to the Aviation Units here at Fort Benning. Adventure Training is a concept developed by the Army to provide interesting and meaningful training to troops. It is often an attempt to do something that hasn't been done before.

For example, Infantry Adventure Training might involve orienteering, rafting down a river, or something else that can be correlated to the Infantry mission.

The Aviation Command is now attempting to find things that can be related to the mission of Army Aviation. Plans are now being developed for a series of tours to places of interest and relevance to Army Aviation. These include a tour of the FAA Air Traffic Control Center in Atlanta, the Lockheed Corporation aircraft plant in Marietta, Georgia, and the Atlanta Army Depot Aircraft Rebuild facility. Plans now call for the use of indigenous transportation, namely CH-47 "Chinook" helicopters, to carry the men to these locations thus allowing a degree of training enroute.

Latest issue of INFANTRY features the 'future'

Hood's Cycle Gang. The most powerful cycle gang of all time... with Dragon and Redeye missiles, is riding the back trails of Hood, Col. Ben Malcolm and Capt. Jay Hickey describe the three weeks of intensive training for this all-volunteer program. No longer considered merely for message delivery and traffic control, motorcycle platoons are being evaluated for possible use as advance, flank and rear guards, and especially as airborne hunter-killer teams. This could be a new era for military use of the motorcycle.

"Prologue to the Future..."

The importance of continued reassessment, discussion and change in combat doctrine and tactics is discussed by Maj. Gen. George B. Pickett in this article and "The Future of Close Combat" in the future, General Pickett foresees the need for the best tanks, helicopters, combat vehicles, and defense equipment possible. But there is also an important need to reevaluate and change much of our close combat concepts. The "Immediate Future Infantry Squad" is just one of his proposed changes. We need to increase the rifleman (M-16 equipped) and the "lead sprayer" or "Musketier" (M-16 equipped) into our squad for the future. Conclusions on future options is necessary to avoid "the inevitable" as a possible result of defeat on the battlefield.

being done already at Fort Benning.

Secrets of A Six Day War

"Mechanized Infantry in Israel" by Jack Welter, is more than an article on the background, organization and use of the mechanized Infantry in a foreign country. It is also the story of the effective and efficient use of superior armor and mechanized Infantry in defending a nation. The "secret weapon" of the Israeli Defense Forces is particularly perminent now that heavy emphasis is being placed on the defense against superior armor... the Jews are spread thin, but can concentrate quickly. They always take full advantage of their mechanized capabilities. So far they have won all along the line.

What's Your Hang-Up... Sir?

Col. R. E. Mack in "Leaders Also Have Hang-Ups" advises today's leader to recognize and deal with his own "hang-ups" before attempting to reason with those of this troops. Col. Mack lists and gives examples of the five basic hang-up factors. Which ones do you have? How is it affecting your leadership?

Vietnamese Recruits Become Taciturns

"Vietnamization" is a reality. Self-sufficiency does not come easy for the Vietnamese recruit training at the Quang Trung National Training Center. To insure he arrives at his unit with demonstrated ability to perform in battle, the "Squad Battle Drill Test" has been developed. Brigadier General Stan L. McClellan describes the eight phases

Future Oriented Defense: In Action Without

"Our tactical doctrine, especially defensive doctrine, was inadequate to cope with the almost overwhelming armor thrust". In response to this, there is the new force oriented defense. This month two articles: "Antiarmor Tactical Training Exercise (ATTE)", by Capt. Larry Ardison, and "Tactical Exercise Without Troops" by Majors Joseph Keyes and Terry Gee discuss how this new defense is being taught effectively and without huge support troop commitments. With increased budgets and troop strength there is an urgent need to develop training methods and devices that will not require large amounts of troops and expenditures. This is how it's

1-58th soldiers find themselves subjects of Army ad campaign

By Alex Angelle
A group of soldiers from the 1st Bn. (Mech), 58th Inf. (Patriots), 197th Inf. Bde. found themselves in the rather unlikely role of actors last week when they were chosen to be the subjects for a new Army advertising campaign.
Photographers hired by the Army to produce pictures for the print-media campaign covered an array of maneuvers, physical training and combat drills involving the soldiers on Olive Field and at Victory Pond.
The 197th Inf. Bde. was chosen to provide soldiers for the pictures because it has a full organizational complement of manpower and equipment necessary to realistically depict features of the Army which the future advertisements are intended to show to prospective enlistees.
On previous occasions, the 197th has been called on to provide support for other still pictures and slide photographing. These have been used in the Army's massive and continuing unit-of-choice recruiting program, of which the 197th is a participant.

Fort Jackson's recruiting selection station now uses photos and slides photographed with 197th Infantry Brigade soldiers as subjects.
Recently, photographers from the U.S. Army Recruiting Command chose the 197th for further photographs in support of the recruiting command's photo service.
Pete Papadopolous, chief photographer for the Philadelphia-based film crew, twisted and turned, scooted around the field and even laid on his back to complete the assignment, which was stretched to two days due to rainy weather conditions.
His subjects, the Patriot soldiers, were not at all baffled at their part of the photographing, however, for they have been at that end of the camera's lens before.
PFC Ricky Pennington, a unit-of-choice enlistee for the 197th, was filmed earlier this year training on the future combat use.

Following a bout with another soldier using pugil sticks for this photo session Pennington commented, "I like being photographed while training." "I haven't seen any of the results yet, but I'll be looking for them."
PFC Gerald Miller, another soldier filmed during the Dragon testing, "I tried a little harder, knowing that so many people would watch what I was doing."
Night vision devices used with small arms were also demonstrated in the photographs. These pictures will show the device as examples of new equipment used by soldiers in the Modern Volunteer Army.
Some of the 1st of the 58th's Armored Personnel Carriers were used to demonstrate mechanized infantry maneuvers for the photographs.
Rope climbing and other physical training were photographed to show this aspect of Army life for the advertisements.

Pete Papadopolous, a professional photographer from Philadelphia, Pa., emphasizes the action he wants in the faces of his subjects. The picture was part of a series of photos being taken for an Army unit-of-choice advertisement to be used nationwide. At left, 2Lt Rafael De Jesus and PFC Gerald Miller, both of the 1st Bn., 58th Inf., 197th Inf. Bde.

Col. Kennedy makes TV appearance

"And now heecccerr's Kennedy." Col. Kennedy wasn't announced exactly like that, but he did make his television debut on a familiar talk show, "TODAY IN GEORGIA."
Col. Kennedy, commanding officer of the 197th Inf. Bde., along with Sp4 Stanley Palmer of HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf., a unit-of-choice enlistee, was interviewed by Miss Billye Williams, co-hostess of the "TODAY IN GEORGIA" show.
Miss Williams quizzed Col. Kennedy and Sp4 Palmer on the advantages of an all volunteer force, and specifically the advantages of joining the 197th Inf. Bde. During the interview, which was filmed on live Sept. 1, a recruiting film depicting the 197th Inf. Bde. was also shown.

The day before the television show, Governor Jimmy Carter proclaimed the month of September, Modern Volunteer Army month in Georgia and Col. Kennedy was on hand for the signing of the proclamation.

Final night to tryout

Tonight is the last night for tryouts for the "Golden Boy" production by the Benning Dramatrics.
Additions are being held in the Benning Playhouse, Bldg. 1237, behind the Infantry Museum at 7:30 p.m.
"Golden Boy" is a dramatic story of a young boxer who must choose between his abilities as a boxer and a violinist. In all, 17 male parts are available plus 2 female roles.
Director Ed Gross explains, "Golden Boy" requires actors with a variety of ages. Several of the roles are very suitable for men in their fifties."
This production is the Dramatrics' entry in the Fourth year

Thespians seek talent for new season

As the Fort Benning Dramatizers move into their fourth active season of little theatre productions, they extend an invitation to other interested amateur play-makers to join.

The Dramatizers are a group of military personnel, dependents and any interested civilians who enjoy working in community theatre in their spare time. The only requirement for membership is enthusiasm and a desire to learn.

A season of Dramatizer entertainment offers a variety of plays to choose from. The past year, the group has performed such varied thespian gems as "Carnival," a musical; "Blithe Spirit," a comedy of ghostly mixups; Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; and a children's theatre production of "Winnie the Pooh."

No talent or special ability will be turned away or unused. Seamstresses have made circus costumes and fairy gossamer wings. Electricians set lights for all shows. Carpenters have created rabbit holes, circus wagons and an English drawing room.

In addition, writers, artists, painters, sound men and make up experts all contribute to the development of a show.

The cast and crew of any show are a mixture of experienced hands and first timers. The potential of each actor is carefully weighed in the tryouts for a show, and the technical crew selected on experience, ideas and drive.

For audiences, the Dramatizers are a proven source of entertainment. In the previous three years, the group has taken three prizes in the Third U. S. Army Tournament of Plays. The 1970 production of "A Man for All Seasons" by Robert Bolt won third place. The 1971 "Blues for Mister Charlie" by James Baldwin captured second. Last spring, the Dramatizers won the first place award for their production of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit."

Dramatizer meetings are held every Monday evening at 7:30 in the Fort Benning Playhouse located behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll Street. Visitors are welcome and new members encouraged to come.

Unhand me, knave!

Connie Hartenfelt and Tom Berg portray two of the confused lovers in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." As Hermia and Lysander, it was the first leading role either had with the Dramatizers.

Looks a little snug, eh?

Costuming is an important part of any play. Here, Mrs. Bean Stark, left, and Mrs. Peter Thompson work on costumes for "Blithe Spirit." Mrs. Stark was given second place recognition for her costumes in the 1972 Third U.S. Army Tournament of Plays.

Where there's a will, there's a way

John Harding was a sharp NCO who achieved the rank of sergeant before he retired from the Army. John Harding, the civilian had a sharp business acumen and built a wealth that few men can boast. But he forgot one thing... a Will. John didn't have a will and his family could have prevented all of this hardship to his family by contacting his legal assistant officer or a civilian lawyer to write and to assist him in executing his Will. This precaution would have guaranteed his family the security that he had worked so hard to provide all those years.

There is no limit as to the number of times John could have changed his Will. He should have written it immediately when an estate was started early in his life and then reviewed it annually to insure that it continued to reflect his wishes. After John died, Mary learned her lesson and immediately had a Will drawn to her specifications. If she chose to revoke or alter her Will, she was advised by her lawyer to seek legal assistance. Never try to change a Will by lining out parts of it or writing in additions. This could have the effect of revoking the entire Will and leaving your estate without a Will upon your death."

If John's Will had been properly established and in effect, Mary, as the executor of his estate, would have had the responsibility to collect and preserve the estate, to have the property appraised, to furnish an inventory of the property with the appraised values to the court and taxing authorities to publish a notice in the newspaper to all who might have a claim against the estate and to pay for all justifiable claims, and to distribute the remainder of the estate with court approval to the persons named in the Will.

A Will is a legal document which states your desires for disposition of your property after death. John failed to make one out and his estate was distributed in accordance with the laws of the state where his property was located and also in the state of his legal residence. When all was said and done, Mary, John Jr., and Ralph Harding had little to show for John Sr.'s hard work. Mary had to go to work at the age of 58 to supplement the family income.

A valid Will dictates the distribution of property in accordance with the terms of the court in which probated. By having that Will in effect at the time of death, John could have designated who would receive his property, who he would have liked to become the guardian of his children in case both he and his wife Mary had died simultaneously, and who he desired to select as executor of his estate. John could also have specifically stated the executor he permitted to serve as the executor without a bond, thereby saving the estate the cost of a bond premium. John could also have donated money to his favorite charity business account and made bequests to persons outside his immediate family. John could have prevented all of this hardship to his family by contacting his legal assistant officer or a civilian lawyer to write and to assist him in executing his Will. This precaution would have guaranteed his family the security that he had worked so hard to provide all those years.

Benning's 1st Female orienteer

The Ranger Department's Orienteering Team has a new member: its first female. She is Sp5 Debbie Krause from Lander, Wyo. Debbie recently re-enlisted for six more years in the Army so she could come to Fort Benning to join the team.

Debbie was 20-years-old in May, and is one of 10 members of the Orienteering Team. She entered the service for the first time in July 1970, and has been at the Ranger Department since Aug. 7. She re-enlisted "for the bonus," she said, "and because I don't like to do anything halfway."

At the Ranger Department, things are never done halfway. Debbie and the male members of the team work out every morning at Harmony Church. She has always enjoyed running, the outdoors, and adventure, so Orienteering as a sport comes naturally to her.

How Debbie came to Fort Benning makes an interesting story. She was stationed at Ft. Dix, N. J., prior to coming here, and in June she participated in the 1st Army Area Orienteering Championships held at Quantico, Va.

Debbie not only ran in the event, but won the Women's Orienteering Championship. An officer who also took part in the meet was training with the Fort Benning Orienteering Team at the time in Ft. Knox, Ky.

He told the team members about Debbie, and the Ranger Department contacted her and asked her if she would like to join.

She did not have to meet the usual qualifying standards, which are set up for male members of the team, because she had already demonstrated her Orienteering ability by winning the 1st Army Women's Championship.

Members of the Ranger Department's Orienteering Team need not be Ranger qualified. The fact that Debbie is female was actually in her favor, since teams that participate in international competition are required to have women members.

Debbie has had to adjust to working with nine men in a barracks-type headquarters situation, even though she lives off Post. During practice sessions, members take turns setting up the Orienteering course, with its control markers and clue cards. Maps and compasses are used, and each person finds his (or her) way along a prescribed course through natural surroundings.

Debbie jumped hurdles during high school, but finds that "short distance running is very different from Orienteering." She has certainly come a long way from jumping hurdles, and will probably go even further before all is said and done.

Olympiad

Two Gold, one Silver won by marksmen in Munich

Three U.S. Army marksmen met the World's best shooters in the Olympics at the Bavarian village ranges and captured for the United States two Gold and one Silver Medal.

Olympic medals become 'old-hat' for marksmen

For Wigger, Olympic Medals are not a novelty as he won two in the 1964 Olympics, but he is still proud of the achievement. At the same time the winning of his Gold Medal in the 300 meter Free Rifle makes him possibly the only man who has ever won Olympic Medals in all three International Rifle events. He won a Gold Medal in the Three Position Smallbore Rifle and a Silver Medal in the English Match (Prone) in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Wigger, a native of Carter, Mont., has distinguished himself through his outstanding marksmanship over the past decade. He has been the National Smallbore Position Champion six years and has been awarded Gold and Silver Pan American and World Championship Medals in addition to his Olympic Medals.

Bassham, a Fort Worth, Tex., marksman, has also won prior recognition in international competition. He won Silver Medals as a member of the U.S. team competing in Air Rifle, Army Rifle and Standard Rifle in the 1970 World Championships at Phoenix, Ariz. and holds several indoor rifle records.

Two orienteers win in Atlanta road race

Two members of the Ranger Department's Orienteering Team, one male and one female, took first place in the Peachtree Battle Road Race in Atlanta. The race was held on August 26.

Sp4 Don Kennedy, who set a new course record with an average of 8 minutes, 6 seconds per mile over the hilly 7-mile course, won the race with a total time of 55:48.

Sp5 Debbie Krause, recently assigned to the Orienteering Team as its first female member, won the women's 1-mile race with a time of 7:10.

Other Fort Benning Orienteers who placed were Capt. Ed Strabel, Capt. John Nolan, and Sp4 Bill Maldonado. Capt. Greg Kemp, a student in the Infantry Officer Advanced Course, also placed.

Strabel came in sixth place in the Open Division. Nolan placed 9th, Kemp took eleventh place, and Maldonado finished twelfth, out of a total of 76 runners finishing the race.

The one-mile Novice race had a total of 24 competitors, including seven women. Debbie Krause defeated the other female competitors and several of the men to finish eighth overall in the race.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

Notes

BY BILL KLOEB

Nearly 200 men, women and children participated in the Rod and Gun Club Labor Day Fishing Derby last weekend.

Fishing was above average for this time of the year and most participants took some fish even if they didn't qualify for one of the merchandise prizes.

The $25 merchandise prizes for first place went to Peter Swiderek, George L. Fall and Constancao Meyer. Swiderek won with an 8-pound, 8-ounce bass he took from Kings Pond. Fall's bream weighed 1-pound, 8-ounces and came from Kings Pond and Meyer took his 7-pound, 2-ounce catfish from Twilight Pond.

This was the second year running that Swiderek has won the first prize in the Labor Day bass contest.

Second place winners were Joseph Kinder with a 6-pound, 1-ounce bass, Lloyd Smith with a 10-ounce bream and Norman Hicks with a seven-pound catfish.

Charles Putnam was third in the bass contest, Verlin James third in the bream and Calvin High took the third place in the catfish contest.

Dorothy La Cross won the special prize, an 11 Foot family tent with four sleeping bags.

August Fishing Derby

Griffin Walker was the winner of the bass contest for August. He took his 7-pound, 1-ounce catch from Kings Pond.

The catfish prize went to Fred W. Malner. He entered a nine pounder from Kings Pond.

The winning bream also came from Kings Pond. It weighed 15-ounces and was caught by August Kiamar.

The Rod and Gun Club holds a fishing contest each month of the year. Prizes are awarded to the fishermen registering the largest bream, catfish or bass. The prizes usually consist of $15 merchandise orders redeemable at the club.

Rules of the contest are simple. The fisherman must be a member of the club and register his intent to fish at the club prior to going fishing. Make his catch at one of the named ponds on post and bring the catch back to the club for weighing and registration. Personnel catching fish after the club facilities have closed for the day may register the catch the next day.

It's Doves Tomorrow

All indications are that Georgia dove hunters will have an exceptionally good opening day tomorrow. The number of doves spotted in various fields on the reservation has increased quite a bit in the last week or two. Last week a federal game marshal inspected the fields on the reservation and his report was good. According to the marshal all fields on the reservation are legal fields and have been well managed as is attested by the numbers of doves here at this time.

There are numerous fields on the Georgia side of the reservation. Personnel from the Post Wildlife unit say a hunter should get some shooting at any one of them but they recommend the fields on Pine Tree Road, Hourglass between First Division and Red Diamond Road, Box Springs and Turntime Roads and the close in field on First Division Road.

Before you go out be sure you have all the necessary permits. A post hunting permit and a Georgia resident or non-resident license is required. Remember the season will open only on the Georgia side of the reservation tomorrow. The first Alabama season is not scheduled to start until September 23. No shooting is permitted until noon Georgia time each day and you must stop shooting at sundown. The bag limit is 12 birds a day and you can only have that number in your possession at any time.

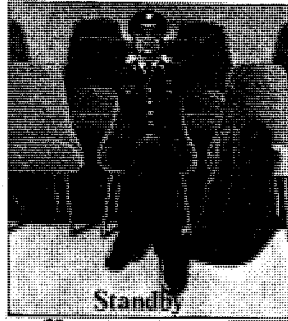

These are just a few of the more important items of information a hunter should know. He should also be familiar with all provisions of Post Hunting and Fishing Regulations (No. 210-2) and the 1972 Post Circular (210-4) Hunting Seasons and Bag Limits. These publications are available at the Rod and Gun Club. It would probably be a good idea to spend some time this evening going over these regulations. The Post Game Wardens are bound to be out in force beginning tomorrow and ignorance is no excuse for violating the laws.

Cindy Lee, right, carries Rhonda Burnett to defeat Peter Swiderek, George L. Fall and Constancao Meyer. Swiderek won with an 8-pound, 8-ounce bass he took from Kings Pond. Fall's bream weighed 1-pound, 8-ounces and came from Kings Pond and Meyer took his 7-pound, 2-ounce catfish from Twilight Pond.

Eastern's Leisure Class. Is it better than standby?

Standby
If you wait, it's 50%.

Leisure Class
If you wait, it's free.

Eastern has a new way for you to fly. Besides First Class and Coach and Standby, Eastern has Conditional Reservations, Leisure Class.

Leisure Class costs you the same as you'd pay for coach (½ regular fare). But we don't guarantee you'll get on your scheduled flight.

If you do, it's the same as Coach. But if Coach is full, you may fly First Class. Without paying anything extra. And, if the whole plane is full, you won't get on at all. And that's the good part.

Because then you get your money back. And we put you on our very next flight that has seats available, and fly you free of charge.

Now, our lawyers would get nervous if we left this out: Leisure Class does not apply to some reduced fare tickets.

Nor to the Air-Shuttle; nor Bermuda, Jamaica, Mexico and Bahama flights. Nor when the originally scheduled plane is grounded due to adverse weather conditions, equipment failure or equipment substitutions.

To qualify for a free ride, you must have your Leisure Class ticket at the boarding gate 20 minutes before flight time.

The number of Leisure Class tickets per flight is limited. And, if you have to wait, it will be anywhere from several minutes to several hours.

But if you've got more time than money, you probably won't mind that at all.

Call Eastern or your base JAMTO office for details.

"Meeting people is my thing."

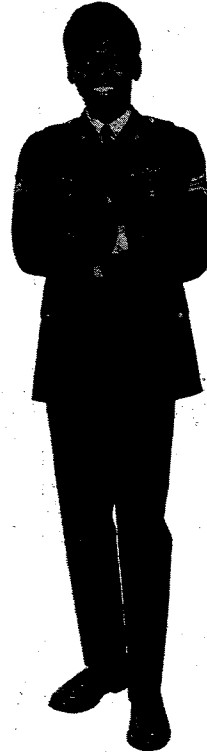

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

"I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

"One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

"I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that."

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things. Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

YOUR NO. 1 Ford DEALER

Volunteer... for Family Practice

BY GINGER MERRILL

Do you ever wish that, for just once, you could see the same doctor through the baby's cold or Johnny's chicken pox? Do you get dizzy trying to remember what doctor, at what clinic, seemed sympathetic when you had lots of aches and pains but couldn't really say you were sick? Are your nerves frayed from hugging the baby to one clinic and the kids to another? Well, forget the tranquilizers, m'lady. Family Practice is here. Take it from this reporter — it's one of the best things to hit Fort Benning since the wearing of pants suits was allowed in the commissary. (Can you remember these dark days back in the early 60's when they weren't?)

Inheriting, somewhere along the line, a great deal of "I'm from Missouri — show me" spirit, I had a few doubts when the program was conceived. Finally adopting a "nothing ventured, nothing gained" attitude, our family volunteered, was accepted, and... "Great day in the morning. Medical heaven is right here at Benning."

Right off the bat I knew something was great... called for an appointment with our assigned doctor — no busy signal. The receptionist was very informative and helpful. No more taking the wee one to Well Baby Clinic (I must be an unnatural mother. There's something about that many naked babies all in one room that intimidates me, even though the care is great) and my first grader to the Pediatric Clinic — and myself to the Outpatient Clinic — and trying to figure out what troop dispenser my long-suffering spouse is currently assigned to. We all see the same doctor — which has to be a welcome relief in my family.

No more feeling guilty because I'm perhaps asking too many questions and taking up too much of his time. Our doctor was understanding, concerned, and very gentle with the two children, winning their confidence and affections immediately.

If you qualify, I wholeheartedly recommend that you volunteer for the Family Practice Program. Try it — you'll like it.

Penn. Skeet Shoot won by Whitaker

HUNTINGDON, Pa. — Interservice Champion Capt. James P. Whitaker, Eunice, N.M., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning, grabbed the Pennsylvania State Skeet Championship here July 28 when he completed a three day total of 290 birds to lead a mixed field of international title competitors.

Whitaker, who started the highly competitive match off on a serious note, established an early lead and took the first two days high scores when he permitted only five birds to escape his deadly shot pattern. He knocked 97 birds from the skies the first day as they hurried across the high target houses and followed this high score with a near perfect 98.

From this vantage point where he was five points ahead of his nearest opponent, companion shooter Capt. Kenneth G. Beyer, Whitaker coasted into the winners circle by posting a 95 on the final day for his 290 total.

Capturing the runner-up spot with a 286 total, Gilbert of Ellenville, Miss., fired scores in the shadow of the champion through the first two days with his 96 and 94 but then lost it on the final day with his 96 birds.

In team competition, Whitaker and Gilbert teamed together to top a 580 total with their combined effort of 383.

State Championship title, which was open to all International competitors, came from as far away as Arizona, with the top Pennsylvania shooter Elwood Hunsberger of Philadelphia taking fourth place with 284.

Two menus are better than one! A short order menu as an alternate at the afternoon meal in mess halls is now a part of everyday life in the Army at Fort Benning.

Fort Benning honors 8 Olympians

Eight of the Army's and the nation's most outstanding marksmen and their special armorer, each an Olympic competitor in one of the many competitive arms, were honored individually and as a team by Fort Benning's Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot.

The Olympians, initially honored with a review and the presenting of colors on York Field here, were then singled out individually for praise and personally thanked by Gen. Talbot for their contributions to the nation and the Army. Gen. Talbot congratulated the men upon their outstanding performance in bringing home to the United States two Gold Medals and one Silver Medal, won on the field of World competitive marksmanship.

There were only eight Gold Medals possible to win in Olympic competition and the Fort Benning marksmen brought one fourth of them home.

The Olympians honored in the morning ceremony included Maj. Loes W. Wigger Jr., Capt. Lanny R. Basham, 1st Lt. John Writer, Sergeants First Class Hershel Anderson, James W. Carter, Charles Davis, James McNally, Edmund O. Mueller Jr., and Sgt. Donald Haldeman. Carter accompanied the team as their personal gun smith.

Wigger, one of the most distinguished rifle marksmen in the nation today, won a Gold Medal for the U.S. when he claimed the championship of the 500 meter Free Rifle event at Munich with his three position aggregate of 1,185 points.

Boris Melnik of Russia also fired a 1,165 but was awarded the Silver Medal when the tie-breaking decision was determined through the last ten shots fired from the kneeling position. In this event, Wigger dropped only three points for a 97 while Melnik had one less point total in his target.

Wigger who has competed in the 1964 and 1968 Olympics where he won both Gold and Silver Medals, established a new World record in the standing competition of the three position match when he posted an unprecedented 379 of a possible 400 points.

Volunteers at luncheon promoting ACS month

More than a hundred guests and volunteers attended the luncheon to promote September as Army Community Service (ACS) Month. The noon luncheon was held in the Supper Club of the Officers' Open Mess, Sept. 8.

Among the honored guests were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Orwin C. Talbot, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. William R. Richardson, Mayor J. B. Allen, Col. Charles C. Thebaud, Col. Leon R. Livingston, Jr., and each major unit commander and each chief of directorate was represented.

The guest speaker, Lt. Col. Raymond M. Marsh, provided an overview of the goals of ACS as a vital part of the Army community. Marsh is stationed in Washington, D.C., where he serves as a special work consultant to the Surgeon General for the ACS program. Marsh's 18 years of military experience has provided him a wide variety of experiences in preparation for his work with the ACS program. He started the ACS program at Fort Knox in 1966, served at Fort Bragg in helping initiate the Army Drug Abuse program, has had tours of duty at Letterman and Walter Reed.

His educational preparation includes a BA in Sociology from Bridgewater College in Virginia, a Master's Degree in Social Work from William and Mary, a Master's Degree in Public Administration from Berra F. D. Baruch School of Business and Public Administration at New York University, and a PhD in Social Planning from Brandeis University.

In his remarks Marsh stressed the importance of ACS in helping to maintain the stability of the community. He further commented that the use of volunteers from the Army Community gives both the giver and receiver a stronger sense of real meaning the ACS motto "Service, Self-Help and Stability."

MSGt. Guzman completes 25 years of jump status

M. Sgt. Julian R. Guzman, chief instructor of Fort Benning's Pathfinder Committee, completed 25 consecutive years of airborne jump status Sept. 7. This is a feat equaled by few soldiers. The Airborne School graduates 15,000 paratroopers each year, but the overwhelming majority remain on jump status for only a few years. Guzman lost count of his jumps in 1965 when he had jumped more than 500 times.

He has never had a malfunction, and he plans to remain on jump status with the Pathfinder Committee until he retires.

Having enlisted on April 26, 1944, MSG Guzman decided to volunteer for airborne training when he was crossing the English Channel with the 86th Infantry Division for the Normandy Invasion. His craft was torpedoed and sunk. That motivated him to go airborne as soon as possible to keep away from submarines and torpedoes.

Guzman graduated from Fort Benning's jump school on Sept. 7, 1947. Since graduating, he has remained with the Pathfinders, except for two tours of duty in Vietnam, the first with Vietnam Ranger and Airborne units which have included the 11th Airborne Division, the 502nd Airborne Division, and the 508th Regimental Combat Team (Airborne). He has served with these units in more than five different countries.

Then Lt. Col. John M. Wright, who later, as a major general, was Fort Benning's commanding general, was Guzman's battalion commander when he served with the 508th at Fort Benning in 1950. Guzman's platoon leader at that time was then Lt. Paul F. Gorman, recently as a brigadier general, Fort Benning's assistant commandant.

In 1961 Guzman was assigned to the Pathfinder Committee. Since then he has remained with the Pathfinders, except for two tours of duty in Vietnam, the first with Vietnam Ranger and Airborne units which have included the 11th Airborne Division, the 502nd Airborne Division, and the 508th Regimental Combat Team (Airborne). der Committee runs the only course in the United States that trains pathfinders.

Pathfinders are paratroopers who assist in navigating and controlling Army aircraft in landing zones, who assist units in planning airborne operations, and who help prepare both men and equipment for air movement.

Even after 25 years of jumping, Guzman's enthusiasm for parachuting and airborne operations has not diminished. He believes he has truly found his place in the Army, giving young airborne

Voter Day proclaimed

Today is Armed Forces Voter Day as proclaimed by the Secretary of Defense.

This day is designed to remind all soldiers and their families to register and vote in the upcoming elections.

Soldier voting is a relatively new practice. Although some states permitted their soldiers to vote by absentee ballot in the Civil War, the practice was not general until 1944.

In 1955, the Federal Voting Assistance Act created a system for absentee voting that would permit all eligible soldiers to register and vote.

Now, 98 per cent of the Army is eligible to enter the voting booth.

The post voting officer is sponsoring several voting registration booths which will be open today and throughout September. If you are not registered or if one of your dependents is not registered, take advantage of this easy way to get the appropriate forms and information.

In addition, each unit has a voting counselor. He also has all the Federal Record Card Application for absentee registration.

One of the many legends about the origin of the doughnut attributes the discovery to a sea captain who cut holes in his fried cakes before cooking because, he said, the doughy middle part gave him indigestion.

A bit of Dijon mustard added to a lemon rice-and-onion salad brings out the distinctive flavor of a fresh spinach salad.

Use a fork, not a spoon, when stirring rice, so that the grains are kept fluffy and separated.

When cooking lobster stew, chowder or similar shellfish dishes, include some of the flavorful shells you have them. Remove before serving.

The popular Indian curry dishes traditionally taste best when accompanied by cups of brisk, hot Darjeeling, regarded by many as the finest of straight teas.

Safer flame-resistant sleepwear for children coming to PX system

DALLAS — Safer flame-resistant sleepwear for children five years old and under is coming to post and base exchanges worldwide.

Officials of the Army and Air Force Exchange Service have announced AAFES is moving to insure sleepwear sold in exchange meets Federal standards long before a July 1973 deadline for doing so.

Sleepwear meeting the Federal standards will begin appearing in exchanges during the late fall of 1972. An exchange spokesman said the AAFES plan is to stock only flame-resistant children's sleepwear that meets the new Federal standard by late January.

Further offered the continued support and cooperation of ACS staff and volunteers to the soldiers and their dependents.

The theme "ACS Does a Whale of a Job" was carried out in the table centerpieces. A stuffed spouting blue whale adorned each table. On the head table miniature replicas of the more than a dozen ACS activities followed the theme.

"We feel our customers would rather have some temporary inconvenience rather than purchase sleepwear which is potentially unsafe."

The new Federal standards for sleepwear were first published in July 1971 with an effective date of July 29, 1972. Items covered included pajamas, nightgowns, robes and any garments intended or promoted for use as children's sleepwear in sizes 0 to 6X. Diapers and underwear are excluded from this definition.

In the move to insure the safety of children from flammable materials, the AAFES spokesman noted some temporary customer inconvenience may occur.

The limited supply of flame-resistant fabrics available to manufacturers in the early stages of the program could restrict the range of styles and colors available for customer selection.

As one AAFES spokesman put it, "Due to the unique relationship of AAFES to its customers, our position regarding this subject is to stock and sell only items in compliance with the Federal standards as quickly as possible without waiting for the July 1973 deadline."

Do it yourself Environmental Management Division encourages individuals

BY SUSANNE BOSTICK
The best way to get anything done, they say, is to do it yourself. The Environmental Management Division of the Directorate of Facilities Engineering at Fort Benning, however, has proven that it is possible to operate successfully by getting other people on the job.

Miss America Pageant seen by post soldiers

Among the happiest of the spectators enjoying the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J. last weekend was a contingent of soldiers from Fort Benning who represented the Army along with similar groups from other posts.

The job is usually correcting some ecological problem that exists on Post EMD, which was set up in May 1971, as a "division concerned solely with the environmental implications involved in everything the Post does," according to Lt. Col. Charles T. Keaton.

In most cases, EMD operates by bringing problems to the attention of those responsible for them, either individuals or organizations, for correction.

1st Lt. John Suggs of Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 197th Infantry Brigade led the 20-man party from Fort Benning. The Fort Benning representatives left the post on a U. S. Air Force transport plane from Lawson Army Air Field on Sept. 6.

Fort Benning was actually ahead of the times in the formation of its Environmental Division. Since its beginnings over a year ago, additional regulations from the U. S. Environmental Agency, which opened in November of last year, which is operated by EMD's parent organization, the Directorate of Facilities Engineering, takes paper, cans, and glass materials for recycling. Patronage has steadily increased since its opening, according to 1st Lt. J. P. Greene, Solid Waste Coordinator.

The Oil Reclamation Point which is operated by the Utilities and Pollution Control Division (DIPAC), monitors oil turn-ins by units to insure that proper disposal methods are observed. This involves actual inspection of the units' oil disposal operations by EMD.

Under the direction of Col. David B. Conard, the Director of Facilities Engineering, the Oil Reclamation Point has also instituted a program for the re-use of oil in heating plants on Post. This not only recycles the oil, but saves 10.8 cents per gallon, offsetting heating costs considerably. The used oil is mixed with new oil in this process.

Pvt Clinton Owens (left) and PFC Thomas Riley, both of the 3rd Reclamation Company, TSB, load waste paper onto the conveyor at the Solid Waste Recycle Point. The paper is sent upward via the conveyor into the compaction trailer, where it is compressed for recycling purposes. Units on Post are encouraged to make regular turn-ins to the Recycle Point as a part of the continuing effort to improve the ecological balance at Fort Benning.

These instruments measure cloud height, visibility along the runway, temperature, humidity, and wind direction and velocity. The observer disseminates this information to each of the Aviation units here at Fort Benning through the Teletype network to aid forecasters in other areas. The 10th Detachment also has its own weather radar, an FFS-77 Storm Detection Radar, with a range of two hundred miles, although it is most accurate within 100 miles. This radar can detect rain, thunderstorms, snow

931st CO appears on TV

"A very pleasant young lady" is how Col. James M. Thompson, commanding officer of the 931st Engineer Group (OGT) described Miss Ellye Williams, co-hostess of the popular television talk show, "Today in Georgia" after his appearance on the show on September 14th. With Col. Thompson was PFC Earl Williams of C Company, 34th Engineer, 931st Engineer Group. Col. Thompson's appearance, aimed at making the public more aware of today's army, was part of a state-wide program, initiated by Governor Jimmy Carter with his declaration of "Modern Volunteer Month" during the month of September.

Miss Williams displayed a keen interest in the Modern Volunteer Army and in the benefits which accrue to the soldier-enlisting in the 931st Engineer Group under the "Unit of Choice" program. She seemed impressed with PFC Williams' description of the myriad opportunities available within the Engineer Group.

PFC Williams commented after the show that he enjoyed the experience thoroughly. "I was not at all nervous" he said. "After all, it's just like being photographed by one huge camera."

Snowbirds boost scouting

Boy Scouting at Fort Benning receives a boost from the "snowbirds" of the 1st Battalion, TSB.

Officers assigned to Benning to attend the Advanced Course often find that they don't start the course as quickly as anticipated. The 1st Battalion utilizes some of these snowbirds to assist the Boy Scouts with their various projects.

Emmitt McKay, District Executive and representative for the Boy Scouts here at Fort Benning, is the Chief coordinator for these projects. The projects are designed in stages incorporating the turnover factor of the snowbirds, so that when a snowbird is unable to complete a project, another picks up his work. If, if no snowbirds are available, Mr. McKay completes the project.

Snowbirds of the 1st Battalion are currently involved in or have laid the groundwork for several upcoming and interesting Boy Scout projects which utilize and task their managerial and organizational skills. Capt. Harold Lynch developed the Fall Roundup plan for new boys to join scouting. Capt. Russell Mayhall is planning an Orienteering project for the District Boy Scouts for the first weekend in November. The Ranger Department which sponsored Orienteering Posts 23 and 37 will provide a great deal of the help and faculty for this outing. Posts 28 and 189 will be sponsored by Martin Army Hospital.

Clean-up your own backyard

What can you as an individual do to promote better policing at Benning?

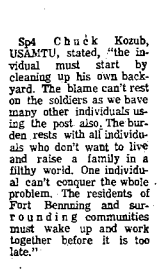

Sp4 Reid Johnson, Res.

Sp4 Reid Johnson, a reservist from Atlanta thinks that the litter problem is "an individual thing. Everyone can do their own little part." Johnson cited a specific instance. "In Atlanta," he said, "every Sunday an old man and woman go along the expressway with a broom and litter barrel and clean it up." "As an individual, I have littered like everyone else, but we as a nation should see the problem and have stricter penalties for littering." Johnson feels that Fort Benning is a very clean post.

Sp4 James Lowry, USAMTU

Sp4 James Lowry, USAMTU, said, "As an individual it is my responsibility of course, to make sure that I personally do not litter. If everyone was aware enough to do this, it would be great, but of course it doesn't work this way. On a larger scale, the Army itself will have to be more responsive. Granted, we can see that the Army is taking some steps to help in the ecology movement, but anyone who has ridden behind a shuttle bus for any length of time knows that the Army has a long way to go."

Sp4 Chuck Kozub, USAMTU

Sp4 Horace McCoy, 16th Co.

Sp4 Horace McCoy, 16th Co., Sta. Bde., said that the individual can't do much alone. He thinks that even if it were mandatory to some individual policing, people would shun on the job. People don't like to be forced to do anything.

Fvt. Burt Nunley, Co D, 1st of the 50th, thinks that the individual won't do anything until harsher penalties are enforced. In his opinion, people don't have any incentive to go out and clean up something somebody else dirtied. The only care they have is about the area that pertains directly to them.

Fvt. Burt Nunley, O. D. 1-58th

Olympics

Unfortunate displays of selfishness

Those who followed the XX Olympiad saw many acts of sportsmanship to make them proud of the U.S. Athletes and the athletes of the world, but, unfortunately, there were blatant displays of nationalistic selfishness on the parts of several of the Olympic judges and some displays of unsportsmanlike attitudes on the parts of a few athletes.

During the few days of international harmony and friendly competition that are held every four years, six Olympic boxing judges were fired and ten were reprimanded for the obvious misjudging of matches.

The most obvious infractions to the viewers were made during the 10-meter platform diving competition during which an East German, an American and an Italian judge played an unfortunate game with the scorings of nationally favored athletes.

Displays such as these detract from the ideals of the Olympics and the performances of the competing athletes by involving individuals and teams in controversies that should not mar the purposes of the Games.

Many questions have been raised about the judging. A possible answer to the problem posed by such a childish display would be to have the judges chosen from countries that would not have a team or individual competing in that event. Another possibility would be to have a few judges in reserve who would be called in to replace a judge who is noticed scoring in an unreasonable manner.

These are possible solutions to a problem which should never have come about. In the spirit of the Games, all judging should have been done with an impartial, international flavor. Partisan politics have no part in an Olympiad, and the judges should realize this.

The misjudging of an event is as unsportsmanlike as the performance of the unidentified runner who entered the Olympic Track and Field Stadium in an attempt to pass himself off as the winner of the Marathon Run.

Such attitudes and actions should not be tolerated.

Georgia Police Officers joined those from several other State and Government law enforcement agencies in a nine day firing course conducted by the U. S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit here, Sept. 5-14. The special shoulder fired weapon course which focused on the Army's M16 Sniper Rifle program was geared toward civil law enforcement with the fundamentals being presented by Sniper instructors from the Army Marksmanship Unit.

Free bus transport available

Free time on weekends and don't know what to do? Free bus transportation is provided military personnel to Atlanta, and Panama City Beach, Florida.

Buses for both trips leave the parking lot of the National Bank of Fort Benning at 7:00 p.m. Friday evenings. The return to Fort Benning from Panama City Beach is on Sunday at 5 p.m. (Central Standard Time), and return from Atlanta is from the USO at 9 p.m. on Sunday.

To make reservation for a seat on the buses, call the Recreation Branch, 515-7414-5641, not later than 4 p.m. on Wednesday preceding the weekend seats are desired. Seats not reserved will be allocated on a first come basis at the time of departure. Buses are programmed based on reservation requests, but may be cancelled at departure time if actual utilization is not sufficient to justify the trip. Make your reservations now for that upcoming weekend.

Law enforcement officers which are normally a handgun force, have found a need for specialist in shoulder fired weapons to cope with situations such as riot control and concealed snipers who prey upon the unwary pedestrian, fire department vehicles and law enforcement vehicles and personnel.

The intensified course, under the direction of Sgt. Robert G. Lancaster who is a veteran of the conflict in the Republic of Vietnam and a specialist with the Army Sniper School, basically teaches the students how to be effective with the first shot from their rifle. In addition, it gives effective means of engaging the potential target at all ranges, stressing the danger of Dangerous Drugs, Washington, D.C., and military representatives from Fort Hood, Texas, Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, Fort Riley, Kansas and Fort Benning, Georgia.

Dependents only

Active duty soldiers ineligible for benefits under CHAMPUS

BY DALE WILSON

So you're on active duty and you've been wondering how the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) affects you. It doesn't, directly.

As an active duty soldier, you are not eligible for CHAMPUS benefits. However, your spouse and dependents are covered by CHAMPUS, and this is a definite boon to your pocketbook.

Who Qualifies For CHAMPUS?

Who qualifies as a "dependent?" According to Dept. of the Army Pamphlet 369-505 (Uniformed Services Health Benefits Program), those eligible for benefits include your wife (or husband if he is dependent on you for more than one-half of his support), an unmarried legitimate child, including adopted children or legitimate stepchildren who are under 21 years of age, 21 or over but incapable of self-support because of a mental or physical incapacity that existed before age 21, or under 23 and enrolled in a full-time course of study in an approved institution of higher learning.

Parents or parents-in-law who are dependent on you are not eligible for CHAMPUS benefits, but may receive space-available care in Uniformed Services facilities.

Many soldiers labor under the impression that dependents are eligible for CHAMPUS benefits as long as they are on active duty. However, there is one stipulation: you must be on active duty for pay. If you are officially placed in a desertion status your dependents will be considered ineligible for benefits.

A wife or dependent husband who is divorced from the active duty member loses eligibility as of midnight on the date the divorce is finalized.

If a child is married before reaching 21 to a person whose dependents are not eligible for care, eligibility stops on the date of their marriage. If the marriage is terminated, the child may again be entitled to dependent care provided eligibility requirements for children are met.

Authorized Services Listed

Now that you know who is eligible for CHAMPUS benefits, let's take a look at what services you can expect to receive.

The following medical services are authorized for all eligible dependents provided that the care is not available in a Uniformed Services facility and a Nonavailability Statement has been issued (Nonavailability Statements are not required for outpatient care or when dependents are not residing with you. Also when residing more than 30 miles from a military hospital.) Maternity care and in-hospital care of the newborn infant, family planning services, diagnostic examinations, insulin, drugs and medicines obtainable by prescription only, anesthetics, oxygen, blood transfusions, immunizations when required as a part of medical treatment, home calls when medically necessary, dental care when part of surgical treatment, ration therapy, physical therapy, orthopedic braces and crutches, artificial limbs and eyes; services of private-duty nurses when ordered by a physician, non-government durable equipment such as wheelchairs, iron lungs and hospital beds, routine physical examination and immunizations only when required by dependents who are under orders to perform outside the U.S. as a result of their sponsor's duty assignment and semipermanent hospital accommodations and all necessary services and supplies furnished by the hospital.

Services Not Covered by CHAMPUS

Among the services not authorized for coverage under CHAMPUS are routine care of the newborn and well-baby care, spectacles or examinations for the correction of ordinary refractive error, prosthetic devices (other than artificial limbs and eyes), hearing aids and orthopedic shoes, ambulance service when medically necessary, rental of dental care (except as a necessary part of medical or surgical treatment), domiciliary or custodial care and chiropractic services.

CHAMPUS is a cost-sharing plan similar to a health insurance policy carried by civilians. The spouse and children of active duty personnel must pay the first 25% of the hospital charge for inpatient care, or 1.75 a day, whichever is greater. The government pays the remainder of the reasonable hospital charge and the reasonable fees of professional personnel.

For authorized outpatient care, a deductible must be paid by the beneficiary each fiscal year. When a claim for authorized care is submitted for only one beneficiary, the charge is $50. If there are two or more beneficiaries, the charge is $100. After the deductible charge has been paid, the government will pay 90 per cent of the remaining reasonable charges for authorized care.

When outpatient care is directly related to the condition for which the patient is hospitalized, it can be considered as inpatient care when computing your share of the charges.

If you desire more information about the CHAMPUS program, contact the Registrars Office at Martin Army Hospital, phone 544-1518.

CHAMPUS aid for handicapped

Fort Benning soldiers who have mentally or physically handicapped dependents should look into a special program of civilian health services training and rehabilitation sponsored by CHAMPUS.

To obtain benefits under the Program for the Handicapped, the sponsor must send a request for acceptance of the dependent under the program to OCHAMPUS in Denver, Colo.

To make an application under the Handicapped Program, CHAMPUS Form 190 is necessary. This form is available at Martin Army Hospital on request.

The request must include the member's name, grade, service number, branch of service, organization and the date his current term of service expires. The handicapped dependent's name, age, address and relationship to the active duty member must also be included.

A signed statement by a physician giving the diagnosis, history of the dependent's disability, present condition, prognosis, a recommended plan for management of the condition and the estimated cost must accompany the request.

Only spouses and children of active duty members are eligible for care in this program. Each member pays an initial share of the monthly cost of civilian services according to his pay grade.

The government pays the rest up to a maximum of $50 per month. Anything over that amount is paid by the member.

Further information can be obtained from the Registrars Office at Martin Army Hospital, telephone 544-1518.

E-5, E-6 promotions changed

The Department of the Army has announced that effective January 1, 1973, new policy procedures concerning promotion to the grades of E-5 and E-6.

Thereafter, personnel promoted to these grades will be required to serve at least twelve months in that grade prior to voluntary release or ETS from active duty. All personnel whose current ETS will not permit completion of this twelve month obligation will be required to reenlist or extend their current enlistment to meet this requirement in the event they elect to accept promotion to grade E-5 or E-6.

The Department of the Army emphasizes that the purpose of this policy is not intended to deny advancement to men who have met the requirements and have been selected for promotion. Based on recently announced time in service constraints for promotion to the grade of E-5, many personnel serving on their first enlistment will be promoted to this grade a few months prior to their ETS and without a service obligation, neither they nor the Army will gain benefit from their service in the higher grade.

This policy is not meant to be punitive in nature toward men not intending to stay in the Army, but is meant to infer that as a reward for reenlistment or extension of enlistment, promotion will follow.

AER nears goal

The Army Emergency Relief (AER) fund drive drew near its $20,000 goal this week, according to Mr. James Schoonover, secretary-treasurer of the Community Activities Association, who said "Less than $1500 will put Fort Benning over its goal."

The emergency relief fund was organized in 1942 to help soldiers, their dependents, or widows and orphans cope with financial difficulties.

Schoonover said "In a ending in April, the Fort Benning Army Emergency Relief officer helped 4613 people with assistance totaling $171,969."

Capt. Kenneth Brum, USAIC Army Emergency Relief officer, said that Fort Benning people needing assistance should apply through their unit commanders.

Eligible personnel in the Columbus area may contact the Red Cross or the AER office.

Benning Preview aired every Sunday

A new show has been added to the list of those programmed by the members of the Infantry Center's Public Information Office Radio-TV Section.

The Benning Preview is aired every Sunday evening at 7:30 on WXLB-FM (Stations 100.1). Featuring Sp4 Jim Gilbert, the program is built around the "new" sound of today's pop music artists. Skillfully blended in is news of what's going on at Fort Benning and throughout the Army.

The show is the brainchild of WXLB-FM program director Lanny West and Gilbert.

"I wanted to promote public interest in the activities of the Army and Fort Benning, and felt that this would be an excellent way to present the information," explained West.

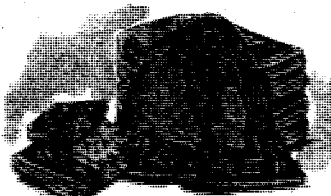

"We feel that it adds to the type of programming that appeals to young military personnel and members of the civilian community who make up our listening audience," added Jim Sanders, the station manager.

TUSAMTU
Mrs. William H. Harper, wife of the Commanding Officer of the United States Army Marksmanship Training Unit, presided over a luncheon in the Corregidor Room held on Aug. 50.

Farewells and good wishes were extended to Mrs. Chesley E. West and to Mrs. William T. Raines, whose husbands will be leaving the unit in the near future. Both ladies have been very active in the wives' activities, especially Mrs. West, who acted as First Lady until Mrs. Harper arrived to take over the group. Mrs. David W. Blaskiw will also be leaving the unit soon, but was unable to attend the luncheon. There were farewell gifts for all three ladies, and Mrs. West was presented with the lovely flower arrangement which centered the luncheon table.

A brief business meeting was held and plans discussed concerning the forthcoming Christmas Bazaar.

Mrs. John R. Foster and Mrs. James V. Grizzell II were the hostesses. We were all happy to have Mrs. Jeremiah McKenzie and Mrs. Willis Powell, whose husbands were formerly with the unit, and Mrs. Grizzell's mother-in-law attended the luncheon.

Ranger Department
Officers' wives of the Fort Benning Ranger and Airborne Departments are invited to attend a Fashion Show and Luncheon on Thurs., Sept. 21 in the MOOM Supper Club. The event starts with a sherry hour at 11:30 a.m. The fashions will be presented by Matthews-Dunwoody. Make your reservation by Mon., Sept. 18 to Mrs. Gabino Caballero, 501-1488.

Ladies of the Benning Ranger Committee met at the home of Mrs. Karl V. Hurdie for a Tropical Brunch, Aug. 16. Included in Mrs. Hurdie's menu were Mrs. David E. Grange, Mrs. Donald C. Bowman and Mrs. Frank H. Scott.

Fem-Hints And Kitchen Helpers
Cherry-Peach Pie
3 cups peeled, sliced peaches
2 cups pitted tart cherries
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
1 tbsp lemon juice
2 tbsp butter or margarine
(Recipe for double pie crust)
In bowl, combine peaches, cherries and sugar. Let stand at room temperature for 1½ hrs. Drain fruit, reserving syrup. Add water to make 1 cup, in saucepan, combine cornstarch and syrup. Cook and stir until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice. Fold in drained fruit and turn into pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with butter. To make basket-lattice top, roll out remaining pastry and cut 18 strips ¾" wide. Weave lattice on, baking sheet generously sprinkled with sugar, and bake at 400 F. about 35 min. Cool. Serve topped with peach ice cream.

For odorless garbage disposals throw in a few lemon rinds.

To sharpen those dull diaper pins run the pointed end through your hair a couple of times.

was an Oriental Chicken Dish, complimented by a Meat-Tri.

Farewells were said to Mrs. Gary L. Gresh and Mrs. Colin Quigley. Guests were Mrs. David E. Grange, Mrs. Donald C. Bowman and Mrs. Frank H. Scott.

Patrolling Committee
wives held their monthly coffee in the Columbus house of Mrs. Joseph W. Trez, Aug. 22. Mrs. Charles S. Cicciolla was co-hostess. Many delicious cakes and pastries were served along with coffee and punch. The group discussed the Christmas Bazaar Project and coming events for the Ranger Department.

The ladies were pleased to welcome a male guest for a change. Six-week old Arthur David Smith accompanied his mother Mrs. Arthur G. Smith.

OWC
The Officers' Wives Club bids farewell to the Allied Ladies of Class 422 who will be returning to their countries very shortly as their husbands are about to finish the Advanced Course at the Infantry School. They will "see With Us" for the last time at the opening Tea on Sept. 13. Leaving Fort Benning and the Columbus community will be: from Jordan, Mrs. Abdul Majah; from Lebanon, Mrs. Eldah Torbay and Mrs. Antoine Karara; from Norway, Mrs. Sten Jensrud and from England, Mrs. Richard Ball.

On behalf of the OWC, Mrs. Alejandro Mercado, allied Liaison Chairman, presented each lady with an engraved silver card tray.

BROD
The Ladies of Combat Support Group resumed their monthly coffees on Sept. 6. The event took place in the Benning Room of the Main Officers' Club. Hostesses were Mrs. George W. Aust, Mrs. Franklin A. Bachrach and Mrs. James L. Badger.

Mrs. James T. Dunn conducted the business meeting and introduced the guests and newcomers. Mrs. Lawrence L. Mowery, Mrs. Allen M. Buckner and Mrs. Gregory W. Mason were guests from BBOD Headquarters. Newcomers welcomed included Mrs. Gerald T. McCall, First Lady of the Engineer Committee. Mrs. William O. Niles from the NBC Committee; and Mrs. Marshall McFie from the Artillery Committee.

Airborne Wives
The Airborne Wives got the new season off to a good start with a coffee at the home of Mrs. Gregg P. Walls, Aug. 30. The main order of business was discussion of preparations for our Christmas Bazaar project.

Mrs. Robert B. Tully and the ladies were happy to welcome new members to the group. Joining us were Mesdames Charles F. Manning, Mark Ponzillo, Jr., Eliza L. Garcia, John A. Gavol Jr., George E. Burke, Ferdinand E. Peche, Jr., and James E. Lewis. Each was presented a Philodendron plant.

At the same time we bid farewell to several of our members. Mrs. Tully presented silver Airborne wings in the form of charms to Mesdames Randall J. Kirner, William G. Duval, Francisco D. Madina, William J. Higgins, III, and Douglas E. MacFarlane. Good wishes to all in your new assignments.

The new season also brings some changes in committee chairmen. Mrs. Walls will take charge of Reservations; Mrs. Jack C. Helms, Treasurer; Mrs. Michael R. Barnes, Thrift Shop; and Mrs. James S. Kenady, Publicity.

Thrift Shop volunteers for September — Mrs. Elroy L. Grizzell, Mrs. Michael R. Barnes. The October coffee will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward M. Chamberlain.

The afternoon of good friends and good talk was complemented superbly by the refreshments Mrs. Dalmas and Mrs. Pety had prepared — prune cake and cookies, pineapple punch, and lime caquities.

The cure for deterioration of the environment means that the job of pollution control does not end at 1700 hours. Using low- or non-phosphate detergents when washing clothes, returning all bottles and cans to a central collecting point, using pyrethrum instead of DDT insecticides, properly disposing of trash and garbage, using the proper fuel prescribed for your car's engine, changing dirty fuel, air and oil filters, and conducting periodic maintenance on vehicles and engines are but a step in the right direction.

Have you bent over today and picked up a piece of paper? That's the second step. It's called PRIDE, and PROFESSIONALISM.

Adventure Training

Soldiers turn in tanks for rowing and rappelling

STORY AND PHOTOS
BY KEARY COX

Soldiers from Fort Benning's only Armor unit, 68th Armor, 197th Spt. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde. gave up their 12 ton tanks to "try on" new uses in unique adventure training exercises. It is unique that the soldiers underwent training that is normally considered mandatory for other branches of the service.

The exercise began with a six-mile row of young men marching in a ten-mile cross country hike to Providence Canyon, Ga. Following the long walk the soldiers furthered their adventure training by rappelling from 100-foot cliffs at Providence Canyon. The soldiers were under the direction of ranger 1st Lt. Richard Dallas from the Ranger Department.

The third day of training consisted of the soldiers taking instructions from SFC Kent Bickers and Sgt. Gary Reed, both from H Co., 69th Armor, on the procedures of Scuba diving. Both Bickers and Reed are certified scuba divers and advanced cave divers. The scuba training and instruction was initiated at Morrison Springs, Fla.

"Out of my entire stay in the service the scuba training is by far the most interesting and educational training that I have been taught," stated PFC James Thornton from H Co., 69th Armor.

clean up after themselves. "It is often a very simple matter to identify the culprit in cases of chumping and littering, due to the fact that units and individuals leave identification markings on their trash," noted Lt. Col. Keaton.

The Criminal Investigation Division has also followed up on some individual cases, and has been able to secure two convictions in Recorder's Court amounting to a $50 fine each. Capt. Clarence Howard is in charge of the Land Management Section.

EMD has brought soil erosion problems on Post to the attention of others through its work in attempting to reclaim "borrow pits" where topsoil has been removed for road construction. "Some of these pits have been stabilized for future reclamation by a grading and leveling process, which prepares them for the planting of pine trees during the November - through March planting season," Lt. Col. Keaton said.

There are several endangered species of flora and fauna, and EMD's Land Management Section has begun trying to protect some of them. According to Capt. Howard, one is the red-cockaded woodpecker, which makes its home in large, mature pine trees afflicted with the red heart disease. "Fort Benning may have the largest concentration of such birds in the U. S.," Capt. Howard added.

EMD has been identifying the nest trees of the woodpecker, whose habitat is being destroyed because most trees today are smaller and grow closer together than in the past. The birds prefer the Reservoir because trees here are cut only once about every 80 years, which permits them to grow much larger than the average, and because of the high fire rate due to dud areas, which keeps the undergrowth down in forested sections.

Other endangered species include the American chestnut, which is rarely seen in the area, the spider lily, and the climbing fern.

Such conversion is a joint EMD/PAE project. Since 1970, 70 per cent of the coal-burning furnaces on Post have been converted to propane gas. The process, which is expected to be 100 per cent complete by next July, involves installing new furnaces in all active buildings, using the same ducts, pipes, blowers, or vents.

The heating units at Fort Benning put on 11 tons per day of "particulate matter," or air pollution, when the project was begun. The vapors produced by gas furnaces are not measurable on an individual basis. This gives an indication of just how significant the reduction in air pollution will be when the project is complete. Under the direction of SFC Bobby R. Deckelman, EMD has also begun monitoring tissue samples from animals at Fort Benning. Samples from the Alabama side of the Reservoir are sent to Auburn University for analysis as to their pesticide residue content.

Plans are being made to send samples of stream and pond water to Third U. S. Army Laboratories of Ft. Monmouth for analysis of pesticides, oils, heavy metals, bacteria, and all other contaminants.

At present, Upstate Creek is processed at the intake point by the Preventive Medicine Activity of MEDDAC for potability or fitness for human consumption. The only other water on Post that undergoes any kind of check is the sewage plant, the swimming pools, and the water hazards on the golf course.

Education which is one of the most important functions of EMD, includes a speaker service which provides programs and presents talks to various local groups which are concerned about the condition of their environment, according to Capt. Frank Peterson, who is in charge of the Division's Education Section.

To date over forty groups have heard programs presented by EMD, including schools, colleges, clubs, and other civic organizations throughout the Chattahoochee Valley, both on Post and off. Some of these have been Columbus College, the Estalia Garden Club, and the Chattahoochee Valley Natural History Club.

The Education Section also procures and distributes materials, such as "Pitch In" posters, to promote environmental awareness. "The local media are utilized to whatever extent possible, as well as on Post publications such as the Daily Bulletin, the Army Community Service Action Line Newsletter, and the Bayonet," Lt. Col. Keaton added.

In its overall efforts, the Environmental Division is trying to take action on what Col.

Conard has said, paraphrasing R. Buckminster Fuller. "Waste is only misplaced resources." By searching out the waste and seeing that it is put to good use whenever possible, they are helping to insure that Fort Benning has a more livable environment and a better ecological balance, to the benefit of all concerned.

Deadline draws near to recertify BAQ

If you're in the grade of E-4 (with over four years of service) or above, the time is drawing nigh for recertification of your Basic Allowance for Quarters (BAQ) for primary dependents.

Army Regulation 37-104-2 requires that your DA Form 3288 (Authorization to State or Stop BAQ Credit) be certified by Oct. 1 of each year. The regulation also requires that a new DD Form 137 (Application for BAQ for Members with Dependents) be initiated by Oct. 1 each year if you draw BAQ for secondary dependents.

All personnel who fail to certify their BAQ entitlement will have their BAQ terminated automatically and must repay all BAQ with dependents paid after Oct. 1, 1971.

To help you satisfy this requirement, the Military Pay Section has formed a special BAQ team in Bldg 88 to assist personnel in recertifying BAQ. The team will be available from Sept. 18 to Oct. 10. All personnel whose financial records are maintained at Fort Benning and are in the grade of E-4 or above, and authorized to draw BAQ for dependents as of Oct. 1 must report to DA Form 85 between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. according to the following schedule:

If your last name begins with A-C, Sept. 18-19; D-G, Sept. 20-21; H-K, Sept. 22-23; L-N, Oct. 2-4; O-R, Oct. 5-6; and S-Z, Oct. 9 and 10.

This recertification requirement does not apply to single members drawing BAQ in their own right.

Freedom Foundation offering cash prizes

The Freedom Foundation is offering several cash prizes to military personnel in its 1972 Awards Program for letters on the subject "Freedom Has A Price."

There are two awards of $1,000 for the two best letters. In addition, there are 100 second and 100 third place awards in cash.

All active duty personnel and members of the Reserve components, including the National Guard and Reserve Officers Training Corps, are eligible to enter.

The entry should be a letter between 100 and 300 words in length on the subject "Freedom Has A Price." Entries must have your full name, rank, and Social Security number. Include your full military address and service or Reserve component. Give your complete home address.

Entries must be mailed by Nov. 1, 1972. Awards will be presented Feb. 22, 1973 at Valley Forge, Pa.

Parish Picnic slated

All Catholic parishioners, single or married, are invited to come and bring their families to the annual Parish Picnic this Saturday at the USAIC Recreation Area off Red Arrowed Division Road.

The picnic will last from 2 p.m. till 7 p.m., and those attending are asked to bring one dish with them (salad, vegetable or dessert). Beverages, hot dogs, hamburgers, and rolls will be furnished.

There will be games and races for the youngsters, and live music will be provided. Mass will be said at the Recreation Center after the picnic. Attendance at this Mass will meet the Sunday Mass obligation.

General Chairman of the Picnic Committee, Lt. Col. Donald F. Hanson, promises that the picnic will be a huge success this year, as it has always been in the past. The picnic has become an annual tradition, and good weather is guaranteed for the occasion.

Protect your pet

To maintain the safety of both military personnel's pets and that of members of the command, it is requested that all animals maintained on the reservation be controlled at all times by their owners so as to prevent them from becoming a menace or nuisance to other people.

Owners should insure that their pets, when outside their quarters, are leashed or under direct voice control while accompanied by a responsible person. When out of doors, the animal should wear the rabies inoculation tag. Occupants of quarters who leash their pets in such a manner as to interfere with normal delivery of mail or the collection of garbage will be denied these services. All pets found running loose on post are in direct violation of USAIC regulation 310-10, and will be picked up by the military police and impounded.

MTU honors departing and arriving personnel

Members of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit held a "Hail and Farewell" party September 7, at the Fort Benning Officers Club. Normandy Rooms to honor new members of the unit and those departing for other assignments.

Special honored guests for the evening with their wives were singled out for recognition following the finger-tilt buffet and presented special awards. For those who had served the unit over a period of time, a special platoon was presented by the Commanding Officer, Col. William H. Harper. In addition, honorarium trophies were awarded by the Master of Ceremonies, Maj. Douglas L. Worthington, unit Executive Officer.

In addition, baby cups were presented five copies of the unit who had new arrivals since the last official unit party. These included Capt. and Mrs. David W. Blashkiw, Capt. and Mrs. Edward L. Schumacher, Capt. and Mrs. Carl Jones, 2nd Lt. James Clawson and 2nd Lt. James Grizzell.

Newcomers welcomed to the unit included Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles E. Orr, Jr., Capt. and Mrs. Merrilee Alkire, and Lt. and Mrs. Grizzell. Recognition for his service and a parting farewell was paid to Capt. David Blashkiw, Chief of the Service Rifle Division, who is departing the service to return to Engineering School at Lowell, Mass.

Three young officers who had been working with the unit and are presently students of the Infantry Officers Advanced Course were also recognized during the evening. The officers, all Vietnam veterans, included Capt. James Homer Steedly, Jr., James Johnson and Gordon D. Hoffelstein. They were each presented a plaque for outstanding contributions to the unit by Colonel Harper.

Staff group has hail and farewell

The officers and wives of Staff Group, Brigade and Battalion Operations Department, held a Hail and Farewell Luncheon at the Fort Benning Main Officers Club on Friday, Sept. 8. During the luncheon, Col. Seymour A. Cortner, Chief of Staff group, welcomed Col. Purdy B. McLean, Jr., to the Logistics Committee.

Other guests were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Andrew J. Miller, Jr., Capt. and Mrs. Peter N. Kramer, Jr., and Capt. Willie R. Skinner, new members of the Operations Committee. Capt. William R. Irvin, Capt. Everett R. Jenkins, Capt.

James F. Kethrick, Capt. and Mrs. Russell E. Mayhall and Capt. and Mrs. Francisco G. Tordillos, who are sojourning with Staff Group while waiting to attend the Infantry Officer Advanced Course, were also welcomed.

Atlanta USO gives comfort, aid, food to fun-seeking Fort Benning soldiers

Maybe you won't be able to see Atlanta for $5 a day, but with a little help from the USO, you could save a good hunk of change.

The Atlanta USO can get you a room at military rates subject to available space. The only catch is that cash in advance is required to hold rooms after 8 p.m.

to shows in local theatres and to home sporting events. All you need to do is register in the lobby of the USO on the day you wish to see a show or game. Tickets are assigned as space becomes available.

Some tickets are also given out for dinner for two at many of Atlanta's restaurants. Preference is given to couples.

Free coffee and cookies are available at all times. A wide variety of activities are offered, including pool, ping pong, chess, checkers, cards and an amateur show every Saturday night.

If you're visiting the Atlanta area, why not put the USO on your list of things to see?

Westville to host music convention

The 1850 village of Westville will host its Second Annual Music Convention at Westville's historic Yellow Creek Camp Meeting Tabernacle on Saturday, Sept. 30 and Sunday, Oct. 1.

The purpose of the convention is to preserve, collect, record, and enjoy music which is traditional to Georgia and the states of the Southeastern United States.

Outstanding musicians from all the Southern States, as well as New York, Michigan and Massachusetts, are expected to perform.

There will be four sessions of performances, as follows: Saturday, Sept. 30 2:00 p.m. — General Traditional Music. Saturday, Sept. 30 7:30 p.m. — Pro-1850 Southern Music. Sunday, Oct. 1 1:30 a.m. — Religious Music of the South. Sunday, Oct. 1 8:00 p.m. — General Traditional Music.

Westville, open daily from 10:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. and Sundays from 1:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m., is only one half mile from Lumpkin, Ga., which is located on U. S. Highway 27 in Southwest Georgia.

Visitors to Westville may tour the more than twenty buildings of the village in all stages of restoration and watch the costumed craftsmen as they demonstrate cloth weaving, spinning, quilting, pottery making, basket weaving and single rivving.

A special treat is a visit to the blacksmith shop in which the blacksmith in action or a tour of the farmhouse kitchen for a sample of delicious gingerbread cooked over the huge open fireplace.

Golden Boy roles still available

A few roles are still available in the Fort Benning Dramatizer's production of Clifford Odets' play on the boxing game, "Golden Boy."

"Golden Boy" is Fort Benning's entry in the Third Army Tournament of Plays. Fort Benning took first place in the tournament in February for best play along with best set design and best access.

For the time being, rehearsals for the play will be held Tuesday through Friday evenings at 7 at the Fort Benning Playhouse. Meetings and technical nights are held each Monday at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in theater is invited to come to the meetings at Building 1259, behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll Avenue.

Trail riding

Fort Benning military personnel and dependents who ride motorcycles have had an area designated for off the road riding trail and hill climbing.

The area is within area P-2 on Fort Benning Map revised edition dated April 1962, and is located in the area off Cassetta Road near Upland Creek. Personnel are authorized to operate motorcycles in this area. Motor vehicles not licensed for operation on public roadways will be operated only within these described boundaries and not on Ist Division Road or Cassetta Road. This is the only authorized area on post where a motorcycle may be operated off the hard surfaced roadways.

Home decorating hints available at libraries

Today's freedom of expression has indicated the field of home decoration. Special Services Libraries have a collection of books on how to design and decorate your home and how to redecorate old rooms.

"Decorating is Fun," Dorothy Draper: This up-to-date edition of the popular best seller — with new ideas and new illustrations — tells the exciting story of decorating today. The author tells you how to be your own decorator.

"Betty Peppis' Guide to Interior Decoration," Betty Peppis: Miss Peppis traces the course of taste from the end of the nineteenth century to the present; discusses the effects of interiors of the present-day plans for informal living and dining. The author shows what is being done abroad and the influence of foreign designs on American taste.

"The New York Times Book of Interior Design and Decoration," New York Times: The book is illustrated with 238 black-and-white photographs, 24 full color plates, and includes full glossary of decorating items and styles. It shows how the home owner or apartment dweller can achieve style with or without the help of a decorator.

"Designing and Decorating Interiors," David B. Van Dornelen: This profusely illustrated book offers "show-how" treatment of the many elements, small and large, that must be organized to make your home an attractive, individual, and useful space in which to live. It is a book on how to plan unique, colorful, and practical interiors.

"Harmonizing Your Home," Kay Hardy: Here are all the tips and tricks you can do yourself to make your home more comfortable and inviting. The book is illustrated with beautiful color photographs, charts and drawings. It brings out sound decorating ideas in making rooms look larger or smaller.

"Color Rules Your Home," Lucy Halford: This book is addressed to those who are interested in studying the principles of harmonizing color and interior design for modern living.

James Anglin retires after 30 years service

Mr. James D. Anglin, Supervisor of the Sewage Treatment Plant at Fort Benning, retired Sept. 1 after 30 years of service on Post. He was hired in 1942 as an incinerator operator in the Refuse and Sewage Plant.

After serving in that position for a few months, Anglin became a sewage disposal plant operator, a job he held until 1956. At that time he was assigned as a supervisor over all refuse collection and sewage treatment operations at Fort Benning.

Anglin has seen many changes in the operation of the sewage treatment plant since he began working there. Trucks were the open type at first; later they were switched to lead-pnecker trucks and Dempster Dumpsters. Trash, which was burned in open dumps or incinerators until 1946, has been buried in sanitary fill areas since then.

The number of sewage treatment plants on Post has varied since 1942. At that time there was one at Sand Hill and one at Harmony Church, but the Sand Hill plant closed in 1945. Construction was begun on two new plants on each in 1971 for his efforts in training soldiers as sewage plant operators. His successor as supervisor of the Sewage Treatment Plant is Mr. James M. Kite.

type of equipment would be economical to the operation of the Sewage Plant.

Anglin also received a Sustained Superior Performance Award and $120 cash in 1971 for his efforts in training soldiers as sewage plant operators. His successor as supervisor of the Sewage Treatment Plant is Mr. James M. Kite.

received a Special Act award and $850 cash for his efforts in conducting a survey to prove that this

Local chapter sponsors picnic

The Fort Benning Chapter of the Army Aviation Association of America (Quad A) will sponsor a picnic in conjunction with its quarterly meeting on Friday, September 15, at the Kings Pond Recreation Area. The affair starts at 8 p.m. and is open to Quad A members, Army Aviators, families, guests, and anyone interested in Army Aviation.

There is no charge and chips, dips, beer, and soft drinks are free. Those attending should bring their own steaks, dogs, hamburgers, hot dogs, or whatever. Charcoal and grills will be available.

Persons desiring additional information should contact the Aviation Command Information Office at 545-2174. This event will take place regardless of the weather as indoor facilities are available at the Recreation area.

September proclaimed MVA month

Governor Jimmy Carter proclaimed September Modern Volunteer Army Month for the State of Georgia on August 31. Col. Edwin L. Kennedy, Commanding Officer of Fort Benning's 1971 Infantry Brigade and SFC Billy J. Cox, SA Operations Sergeant of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry were present at the signing of the proclamation in Atlanta.

September will serve as a kick-off month to gain public support for the Modern Volunteer Army (MVA).

In Nov. 1970 Col. Kennedy was appointed Volunteer Army (VOLAR) Project Chief at Fort Benning. A year later he assumed command of the 1971 Brigade, and in January 1972 the brigade gained the Army's first official all-volunteer unit, C Co., 1-28th, later the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry because two towns for an 18 month tour of duty with the battalion.

Cox also coordinates other battalion activities that help the State of Georgia. These activities include domestic action projects, speaking engagements, and public displays.

Continuing the MVA Month kick-off, Col. Kennedy and SFC Stanley Paulmer, a unit-of-choice enlistee from the battalion activity on the Today in Georgia television show the next

Georgia AAU selects Jim Tucker

By Susanne Kostick

1st Lt. Jim Tucker of the Fort Benning Judo Club has been selected as the Outstanding Judo Athlete of the Year by the Georgia District of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Tucker received the award at the annual meeting of the AAU on Sept. 9 in Macon. He has studied Judo since July 1971 at the Fort Benning Judo Club, and entered the Florida AAU Open Judo Tournament after only three weeks of study.

At the Florida AAU Tournament, which was held in Jacksonville, he won three of his five matches, finishing in third place in the 205-pound class. Since that time, he has entered 13 tournaments and has compiled a record of 42 wins and 13 losses as of this date.

Tucker has been the Grand Champion in two tournaments, finished in first place in five tournaments, in second place in class in three tournaments, and in third place in class in four tournaments. He received a Betsu-guin (instantaneous) promotion from 6th grade white belt to 3rd grade brown belt last October, based on his outstanding performance at the Florida State University Open Tournament.

At that tournament he was both the 205-pound class and Grand Champion. He was also selected to represent the Georgia District of the AAU in the 205-pound class in the National AAU Championships in April after finishing third in the district competition. He competed through the fifth round, finishing in the top ten ahead of anyone else in this class from the Southeast.

At that time, he had only nine months' experience in Judo, and he was competing against the Judo experts in the United States. His three wins were against highly experienced competitors in the grades of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Degree Black Belt.

The only two tournaments in which Tucker has not finished in the top three places were the Southeastern Championships in Jacksonville in March, and the National AAU Championships in Philadelphia in April. In these two events, he still maintained a record of five wins against three losses, even though he was competing against top district and national Judo experts.

Tucker was eliminated from the Southeastern Championship Tournament by penalty points with two decision wins and one loss. Considering his Judo grade and experience, he has put together a very impressive record since he began studying it.

He was born in Norfolk, Va., in 1948, and attended grade school and high school in Norfolk. He lettered in football and track while in high school, graduating in 1965. Entering Norfolk State University in September of that year, he participated in football and the ROTC program in November.

He entered the Army at Fort Benning in November 1969, and has attended the Infantry Officer Basic Course, Ranger School, Airborne School, and Pathfinder School. He was the Norfolk YMCA while he was in college. Graduated from Norfolk State in August 1969, Tucker was commissioned a second lieutenant in the 4th Battalion (Airborne), School Brigade, at Fort Benning.

2 more receive 500 mile patches

SFC Charles Cole and SFC Lawrence V. Espy recently were presented 500 mile patches from Col. Kendrick Barlow, deputy assistant commander, Infantry School.

The men won their patches through their participation in the Run For Your Life program. They now join the group of 147 other runners who have reached the magic total of 500 miles.

Pickup with a racy background.

We entered the Datsun Pickup in the grueling Mexican 1000 to show how tough America's No. 1 selling small truck really is. What makes durability in a truck? Things like overhead cam engine, torsion bar front suspension and 4-speed stick. All-steel 6-foot load bed with tie-down hooks. Long-lasting, full-vinyl interior. 6-ply rated whitewalls, 5 including spare. All included at an extra cost. Datsun Pickup. It sure beats whatever's second.

The Fort Benning reservation takes up about 285 square miles or 182,849 acres of real estate. This sounds like a lot of land and you realize that it is if you ever get out of an automobile and walk some of it.

It would seem that with all this acreage an outdoorsman wouldn't have any trouble locating a place to hunt, fish, picnic or indulge in any other outside activity that has taken his fancy. That's not the case. To start whittling on this vast expanse first consider that the primary purpose of the land is to provide military training areas. That eliminates a big percentage of the available area on any day training is scheduled. Then there are numerous and large built-up areas where hunting is not permitted at any time. And finally there are impact areas that contain dangerous unexploded shells and other type duds.

Dud Areas are Reclaimed

The Range Control Office works constantly to reclaim these dud areas for hunting after they are no longer needed as impact areas. About 7,250 areas of dud areas, formerly off-limits have been "swept" of duds and the area opened to hunters. Approximately 4,000 acres are located in area "A", 3,000 in area "C" and the remainder are in area "D". Special signs were erected to warn the hunter that some duds could still be in the area and request that anyone finding a dud report the location to the Range Control Office so they can remove it. Trouble is quite a few of them have been defaced or torn down already and the hunting season has not really gotten underway.

The designs were put up for the safety of hunters and others who might want to use the area. It's difficult to understand why anyone would want to remove or ruin them but it does illustrate a problem a few people have generated for all hunters. Hunters want as much of a reservation opened for hunting the maximum number of days during the hunting season. They claim that organizations using the areas for training don't report the area open for training don't like to put the area open because the next time they have to use it they will probably find a lot of damage. Some of the more common acts of vandalism in the past have been signs and other objects that fall off holes by disgruntled hunters who failed to find game, using lumber from training facilities to build deer stands and removal of road blocks.

Vandalism Must Stop

All of these little acts of sabotage have a tendency to irk the people who have responsibility for the area in which they occur. As a result the next time the area could be used for hunting they forget to notify Range Control that they are clear. I can't fault anyone for this kind of logic. If the hunters don't get into the area the chances are that it will be usable the next time it's scheduled for use.

The hunters that use training areas are their own worst enemies. Some by acts of commission and others by failure to stop these acts or at least report them.

Last year some of the prime deer hunting country in the south eastern part of the reservation was almost put off limits to hunters because of damage a few people had done to the training facilities located in the area. It has to be just a few of the large number of people who use the reservation. These few thoughtless juveniles are spoiling a lot of spots for a lot of people who use the reservation. The majority of hunters are satisfied to hunt an area and leave it in the same condition they find it. They also have to start taking an active role against these vandals. On the spot corrections or accurate reports to the authorities are required.

Unless something is done the hunter is going to find large holes of acres closed off to him.

'Gonna pay it all for Sooner football'

College football known for producing the faded football widow has now produced a Fort Benning football fanatic.

A self-proclaimed football nut, Capt. Gerald Sharpe, artillery committee instructor, came up with the idea to bring Oklahoma University football directly to his home on post, via a closed circuit telephone hookup and loudspeaker system. "I'd probably go to any lengths," says Sharpe, "to follow Sooner football."

A recent O. U. graduate through the Army's degree completion program, Sharpe became interested in Sooner Football back in 1963 while attending Artillery OCS at Ft. Sill, Okla. "It was while I was there that I switched my allegiance to Oklahoma from University of Colorado." "I even subscribe to the Norman papers just to follow the weekly goings on of the team," added Sharpe.

The original idea came to Sharpe when he was on a business trip this past July. "I originally wanted to have someone relay the games to me by phone, but the sound quality is extremely weak and there would have been too much interference."

"I then," said Sharpe, "contacted Southern Bell who suggested a few different ways to pipe the games to Fort Benning. One of which was relaying the transmission from Silverpoint, La., but," he added, "that would cost as much a mile for 900 miles per game."

"Right now," said Sharpe, "we have O. U. alumni who are willing to pitch-in and share the entire cost ($612.00), but... We are hoping for at least 20 die-hard Sooner football fans to help us break even. If not it's going to end up costing us a bundle."

YAC football season opens

The opening ceremony for the 1972 Youth Activities Football Program is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., tomorrow, in Daughboy Stadium.

Col. Bruce Fraser, commanding officer of Headquarters Company, and President of the Youth Advisory Council, will act as reviewing officer.

Capt. Lafayette L. Sale III, Major League Commissioner, will introduce the League Commissioners, Maj. Thomas G. Bullock, Capt. Charlie E. Miller, Maj. James Thomas, and SFC Raymond E. Howard. Capt. Sale will also introduce the teams, cheerleaders and coaches.

Following the invocation by the chaplain, and opening remarks by Col. Fraser, the 282d Army Band will play the National Anthem.

Col. Fraser will then toss the game ball to the Receiving Captain.

"I want to be where my husband is."

Sergeant Jenny Preston, a medical specialist, found more than a challenging career and a chance to continue her education in the Army. She found a husband.

"There were many reasons I reenlisted. The main reason, however, was to be with my husband. He's also in the Army.

"Our chances of being together in the Army are a lot better than if I was just a dependent. We have a much richer life together. I'm looking forward to traveling together and seeing a lot more of the world.

"We're hoping to see Japan and Hawaii and I'm planning to return to the Philippines for a visit.

"My husband and I are saving as much as we can so the $10,000 bonus was very, very nice.

"My job has been very rewarding because I'm dealing with people's lives. And what could be more important than that?"

Sergeant Preston feels the Army has given her all the things a woman needs. A richer social life, job satisfaction, a good salary, regular promotions, educational opportunities, free housing, dental and medical care.

USAB

Capt. Harold J. Bennett became the new company commander of 11HC USAB, in a Change of Command Ceremony held on June 23.

A Vietnam veteran, Bennett served with the 101st Airborne Division as a platoon leader in 1969, where he was awarded the Bronze Star and Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry. His credits also include a Bachelor's Degree from Morgan State College, the Air Medal, and he has completed the Airborne Ranger Course.

Upon receiving his commission as an ROTC graduate in 1969, he had his first tour of duty as a second lieutenant at Ft. Lewis, Wash., where he acted as a Platoon Tactical Officer and Executive Officer in a Basic Training Company.

His most recent duty assignment was here at Ft. Benning where he served with the 10 as ombudsman since 1970.

A native of Baltimore, Md., Bennett currently resides with his wife, Tricia, in Columbus, Ga.

USAIS

Capt. Harold J. Bennett accepted this position of Commanding Officer of the Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the U. S. Army Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Thomas, President of the Board, presented the flag during Change of Command Ceremony held at the Sandy Patch Test Area.

Barracudas will hold tryouts for dependents

The Fort Benning swim team, the Barracudas, will hold tryouts for any interested military dependents, 17 and under, Sept. 18-22 and 25-29, at the Youth Activities Swimming Pool near the Hospital Annex.

The tryouts will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. each day and are open to all military dependents living on or off post.

The Fort Benning Barracudas participate in invitational swim meets in Georgia, Alabama and Florida and compete in many different events.

The Barracudas need coaches. If interested contact Lt. Col. Gordon M. Hunt, 545-8516.

Writer, an Army Reservist and former member of the Army Marksmanship Training Unit here, had won a Silver Medal in the Three Position Smallbore Rifle competition during the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City. This year he topped it with a Gold Medal. In this event at Munich, this talented young rifle marksman not only won the Gold Medal but established a new World record with his aggregate score of 1,166 points.

Bassham, the third medal winner to be recognized, was one of the youngest competitors on the American marksmanship team. This being his first Olympics did not deter the aim of his superb marksmanship and he gave an outstanding account of himself by winning the Silver Medal in the Three Position Smallbore Rifle match. With his 1,157 points taking the second spot, this gave to the U. S. a clean sweep of the top medals in this event.

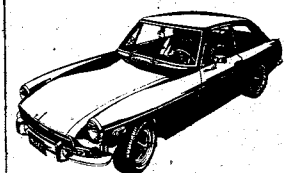

Each of the other Olympic contestants, although not realizing the honor and thrill of being the recipient of an Olympic Medal, gave a fine performance in their respective field of endeavor. The competition at Munich was close all the way and many times when a competitor was down but two points in an aggregate match, he would be down as far as seventh place position wise. This was the case of Wiger in the English Match.

The U. S. Olympic Marksmanship team was made up of 14 select athletes from the entire nation who had won their specialty in the U. S. International Shooting Championships at Phoenix, Ariz., in June. Team members at Munich competed in Trap, Skeet, Running Boar (Moving Target), Free Pistol, Rapid Fire Pistol, English Match, Three Position Smallbore Rifle and 500 Meter Free Rifle. Eight of these 14 selected shooters were Army competitors, all representing Fort Benning and the Columbus, Georgia area. The other six were civilian, Marine and Air Force marksmen.

Engineers to upgrade area

The Ranger Demonstration Area at Victory Pond will soon be upgraded as part of a joint training project to be conducted by soldiers of Co. B, 3rd Engr. Bn, 1st Engr. Gp., and the 58th Flot Bridge Co. also from the 58th.

Part of the project will involve driving wooden piles in the pond, which will be accomplished by loading a twenty-ton crane on a modified M476 raft, constructed by the 58th.

The aim of the project, besides the upgrading of Victory Pond, is to expand the area of experience for personnel in both units. For the soldiers of the 58th, it offers an opportunity to utilize their equipment for a mission other than standard bridge installation, and for Co. B, it offers an opportunity to "water-borne" construction.

Both units are looking forward to the start of this project in mid-September as soon as planning and coordination are completed.

Trash pick-up

Personnel residing in family housing are requested not to deposit trash, debris, grass, or slushy bottles, leaves, limbs, or other bulky items in or near the curb of family quarters. Instead, these items will be bagged, or neatly stacked at the quarters refuse collection point and picked up along with the regular collections.

Large bulky items such as tree limbs, brush, lumber should be reduced in size to not more than 5 feet long or 2 feet wide. The refuse collection personnel can then remove these items along with regular refuse.

For any items that can not be reduced in size, please call 645-7794 for a special pickup. The cooperation of all occupants who maintain their grounds in good appearance is greatly appreciated.

Placing all refuse in the proper location and of the proper size will produce more efficient refuse service to help the quarters look more desirable.

Did you know that the elimination of bed check is a part of everyday Army life here at Fort Benning? Another VOLAR action that MVA likes.

DA raps: Benning hosts race relations conference September 26-29

The second Department of the Army world-wide Race Relations - Equal Opportunity Conference will meet here Sept. 26-29. The first conference met two years ago at Ft. Monroe, Va.

Gen. Ralph E. Haines Jr., commanding general of U.S. Continental Army Command, will open the conference Sept. 26. Attendees will include 145 field commanders and staff officers who will review race relations and equal opportunity programs within the Army.

The conference will evaluate the effectiveness of existing programs and develop an Army wide approach to RRRO problems.

Lt. Col. Walter Kuhn, chief of administration and budget office of the directorate of personnel and community activities is Fort Benning's project officer for the conference. He says "Fort Benning was nominated as the conference site because it has one of the most advanced and progressive race relations programs in the Army."

Each day of the four day conference will have a topic. The first day will explore the RRRO program within the Army and how it is viewed by soldiers.

The second meeting will focus on minority soldiers and equal opportunity for Army women. Leadership in dealing with race relations and training for such leadership will be the subject of the afternoon session.

Various programs for race relations and training for such leadership will be the subject of the afternoon session.

Various programs for race relations will be studied on the third day. The Navy, Air Force and Marines will describe their particular efforts. These will be followed by reports of programs on the theater, division, installation, and brigade levels.

The last day will cover the possible actions staff activities can take to support RRRO objectives.

Kuhn explained that the conference will deal more with race relations because it is an interpersonal problem while equal opportunity is a legal problem.

The crime rate at Fort Benning has dropped every month since last February.

In fact, figures at the Provost Marshal's Office show that the present rate of crime is lower than any time since April 1971, and that the number of offenses so far this month is less than the number at this time last month.

The rate of crime is based on a number of crimes committed for every 1000 individuals assigned to Fort Benning.

Nationally, the crime rate surges upward during each summer.

Why, when the national crime rate rises, does Fort Benning have a definite, uninterrupted, downward trend in crime this year?

September issue of Military Review focuses on Army's need for change

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kans. — The September issue of the Military Review, the Army's professional journal, includes articles by Army Col. Richard M. Jennings, Ph.D. candidate at Georgetown University, Lt. Gen. Lam Quang Thi, superintendent of the Republic of Vietnam Military Academy, and Army Maj. Monte R. Bulard of the Department of Social Sciences at the US Military Academy.

In "Another View of the Need for Change," Colonel Jennings has prepared a rejoinder to new ideas put forth in several military journals, but notably in the Military Review, by what he terms the "Army Reformers" — Lt. Colonel Bradford Brown and Hatcher.

Although he notes that individuals within the group of new thinkers do not necessarily agree with each other, he offers a critique of a number of the themes advanced by the group.

He concludes that the Army should not fall into a cynical or overcritical vein, but should help the Nation to preserve itself. One way, he suggests, is to realize that we have a professional Army with a mission, led by a fine, combat-experienced officer corps.

General Thi warns against the view of a leader as a symbol in "Leadership and Environment." He notes that when a leader is viewed as a person who possesses extraordinary qualities or virtues and when he is separated from the environment, the leader no longer knows what needs and hopes are felt by the people he leads — and thus often comes to oppose those very needs and hopes in a distortional manner.

On the other hand, if one holds that the leader is a person chosen to satisfy the needs of a group of people and is merely the passive embodiment of the forces of a given social environment, it may result in a different camaraderie — demagoguery.

In "Current Trends in the People's Republic of China," Major Bulard isolates, clarifies and analyzes Chinese internal foreign policy and its impact on our understanding of China now and in the future.

He holds that China's priority national interest is to regain its position as "Center of the World," but the perception of that interest means different things. It means a strong, viable, legitimate and respected nation in the eyes of the Chinese themselves. It means treatment as a culture superior in the

by Bill King

A cold beef salad makes a protein-rich supper on a warm night. Marinade chilled canned kidney beans, chick peas and green beans with chopped onion, celery and peppers for crunch to make an attractive in-color dish.

Add a teaspoon of mayonnaise per every two eggs before scrambling, and the family will wonder how you achieved that creamy texture.

For low-calorie mock-fried chicken, cover a cut-up broiler, with orange juice and chill a few hours. Salt and pepper, and coat each piece with crushed cornflakes. Bake at 350 degrees for an hour.

When buying fresh ginger, remember the lighter the color, the more pungent the flavor.

Oysters Rockefeller, that very rich and famous dish, was named for John D. Rockefeller, the wealthiest man in the United States.

What would you think of instructing your son, but having to call him "sir?"

SFC William W. Black, senior instructor in Fort Benning's Mortar Committee, has just finished giving a week of forward observer instruction to his oldest son, 2nd Lt. William McKiney Black. Lt. Black, 21, is a member of Infantry Mortar Platoon Class 2-73.

SFC Black is an expert in mortar operations. In his 18 year career, he has had four tours of duty at Fort Benning, and in all of them he has worked for the Mortar Committee. Thus, Lt. Black, his son, is not a stranger to either Fort Benning or to mortar work. Besides teaching forward observer procedures for the second week of the Mortar Platoon Course, SFC Black also manages a private business and pastors a Baptist church with the help of his wife, Mrs. Martha Lou Black. Also, SFC Black has built his own three bedroom house in nearby Cassida, Ga., with the help of his sons. His other children are David, 17, a senior in high school, and Angela, 7.

Lt. Black received a commission in the Regular Army through a two-year ROTC scholarship at Henderson State College in Arkadelphia, Ark. He has already graduated from the Airborne School and the Infantry Officer Basic Course, and he plans to enter the Ranger School, after completing the Mortar Platoon Course.

Although SFC Black plans to retire in two years to go full-time into business and missionary work, Lt. Black has not yet decided on an Army career. He says he will keep his eyes and ears open to make a final decision. See FATHER, page 28

DA raps:

Benning hosts race relations conference September 26-29

The second Department of the Army wide Race Relations - Equal Opportunity Conference will meet here Sept. 26-29.

The first conference met two years ago at Ft. Monroe, Va.

Gen. Ralph E. Haines Jr., commanding general of U.S. Continental Army Command, will open the conference Sept. 26. Attendees will include 145 field commanders and staff officers who will review race relations and equal opportunity programs within the Army.

The conference will evaluate the effectiveness of existing programs and develop an Army wide approach to RREO problems.

Lt. Col. Walter Kuehn, chief of administration and budget office of the directorate of personnel and community activities, is Fort Benning's project officer for the conference. He says "Fort Benning was nominated as the conference site because it has one of the most advanced and progressive race relations programs in the Army."

Each day of the four day conference will have a topic. The first day will explore the RREO program within the Army and how it is viewed by soldiers.

The second meeting will focus on minority soldiers and equal opportunity for Army women. Leadership in dealing with race relations and training for such leadership will be the subject of the afternoon session.

Various programs for race relations and training for such leadership will be the subject of the afternoon session.

Various programs for race relations will be studied on the third day. The Navy, Air Force and Marines will describe their particular efforts. These will be followed by reports of programs on the theater, division, installation, and brigade levels.

The first day will cover the possible actions staff activities can take to support RREO objectives.

Kuehn explained that the conference will deal more with race relations because it is an interpersonal problem while equal opportunity is a legal problem.

Crime rate dips at Fort Benning

The crime rate at Fort Benning has dropped every month since last February.

In fact, figures at the Provost Marshal's Office show that the present rate of crime is lower than any time since April 1971, and that the number of offenses so far this month is less than the number at this time last month.

The rate of crime is based on number of crimes committed for every 100 individuals assigned to Fort Benning.

Nationally, the crime rate surges upward during each summer.

Why, when the national crime rate rises, does Fort Benning have a definite, uninterrupted, downward trend in crime this year?

Why are the recent number of offenses "peanuts," as one MP called them, considering the normal number that could be expected with a population the size of Fort Benning's?

The answer is complex. Certainly a lot of credit goes to the work of the Military Police. The average Benning MP works 12 hours a day, and keeps high standards on the job. Also, Benning's police use several effective law enforcement techniques, some unique to Fort Benning, such as selective enforcement, heroin and marijuana dog patrols, juvenile delinquency work, and night helicopter surveillance.

The answer also lies

What spectator sport would receive the support of the personnel on this post if Fort Benning fielded a team?

Fall should bring football in Army

Sp4 Charles H. Bowie, USAMTU

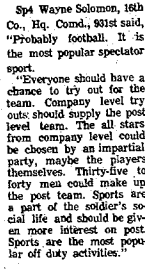

Sp4 Charles H. Bowie, USAMTU, said, "I think football would be a good sport for Fort Benning because it is a contact sport which requires someone to be in good physical condition and I think Fort Benning would have the best conditioned men. Also football is one of the better spectator sports today."

SSGT Joe W. White, USAMTU

SSGT Joe W. White, USAMTU, said, "I believe that football would have the most support of all, because mainly it is a sport that usually everyone will come out to see and support whole heartedly. This includes the whole family. The community needs to call a team its own. Fort Benning and Columbus could have their own team to support, which they would."

"From my personal experience, at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the 101st had a football team and the stands were always full. People were even standing to see the games. "People here at Special Services could generate enough interest. Getting up a team would probably be the easiest part. Fort Benning has a lot of personnel and could draw its best people from the school, and major units."

Sp4 Wayne Solomon, 1stH Co., Hq. Comd., 501st

"Probably football. It is the most popular spectator sport. "Everyone should have a chance to try out for the team. Company level try outs should supply the post level team. The all stars from company level could be chosen by an impartial party, maybe the players themselves. Thirty-five to forty men could make up the post team. Sports are a part of the soldier's social life and should be given more interest on post. Sports are the most popular of duty activities."

PFC Kenneth McCawley, Co. A, Hq. Comd., USAIC

"The sport could be played on weekends. The GIs would stay on post to see the game, if we had a good team, I think night games would be the best choice of time."

Pvt. Cornelius A. Mayo, 16 Co. Hq. Comd., 501st

PFC Cornelius A. Mayo stated that "either football or basketball would be a good sport to have at the post level. Tryouts should be at the company level with the best men from the companies trying out for the post team. The games I think should be played on nights or weekends. The men would probably stay on post to see the games rather than going off post." Mayo is with the 16th Co., Hq. Comd., 501st.

Vote

Silent testimony to democracy

Everywhere you look you are bombarded by advertising ad infinitum on the subject of voting. Why should you vote? Why shouldn't you vote? Are you registered? Have you sent in your FP/CA?

I'm not going to be trite and stand on a soapbox exhorting everyone to go to the polls. I wouldn't want to insult your intelligence.

Even if you've managed to sleep through most of the past few months you have probably noted that:

—President Nixon gained his office by only a very small margin in popular vote in 1969.

—The only way to get your absentee ballot is by submitting a Federal Postcard Application form.

—Eighteen-year-olds can vote in this year's election.

—Sargent Shriver replaced Senator Thomas Eagleton

as the Democratic nominee for vice-president. —The Army is conducting a massive campaign to inform officers of necessary voting procedures and how to utilize them.

If these items have managed to escape your attention, there can be only one of two reasons: You are either a prisoner of war held incommunicado in Laos, or your iv set and radio were repossessed at the same time you cancelled your newspaper subscription.

In all seriousness, this year's election is going to be very important. Every ballot cast is a silent testimony to democracy. Your vote could be the one that decides the outcome.

If you don't vote, don't fust your complaints about politics on me. DEW.

Benning parachutists during freefall

Leapfesting

Parachutists take first at Fort Bragg Leapfest

A team from the Airborne Department won first place trophy for relative work in the Annual Leapfest Parachute Competition at Ft. Bragg, N. C. Sept. 2, 3, and 4. 41 military parachute teams from the U. S. Army competed for the prize.

Besides taking first for relative work, Fort Benning's team also placed second in the accuracy event and placed second in overall competition.

Members of the winning team were 1st Lt. Mick Barnes, SFC Richard Gibbs, SSGT R. C. Kinser, and CWR Nokey Klutts.

In relative work, teams consisting of four parachutists jumped from aircrafts almost 1/4 miles high and freefall at speeds above 125 miles per hour. The teams competed to achieve a star formation in the least amount of time by controlling their bodies while falling.

Benning's team placed second in accuracy by trying to hit a four inch disc on the ground after falling 3,000 feet. Both Barnes and Kinser scored dead center hits in this competition, and Barnes and Kinser placed fifth and sixth respectively for individual accuracy competition.

The award of the team's second place overall trophy

TSB

Capt. John P. Cotton, SI, TSB awarded 2nd Lt. William E. Lamy of 48th Co., 4th Bn., TSB five silver dollars. Lamy won the money simply by wearing his seat belt. The Fort Benning Safety Office believes that seat belts are of such value that they are paying motorists to use them. Out of 13 cars stopped during one afternoon, only five had their seat belts fastened.

SFC Don E. Taylor, NCOES student of 8th Co., 2d Bn., TSB, was given the reenlistment oath from Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, Commanding General of Fort Benning. Taylor, who served with Gen. Talbott in Vietnam in 1968-69, repaid for another four years.

Lt. Col. Elliott P. Snyder, USAIS Company Operations, attached the Tiger Tactics Streamer to the 2nd Bn., TSB, during a brief ceremony on August 12. The Tiger Tactics Award is presented by the Commanding General in a ceremony to student companies which display exceptional enthusiasm and proficiency during their instruction. In a speech during the ceremony, Col. Snyder praised the outstanding performance, leadership and enthusiasm displayed by the company. He also mentioned the effort and spirit needed to win the coveted banner.

Capt. Robert G. Johnson, company commander of 8th Co., 8th Bn., TSB was decorated with the George Hudgins for another three years. Hudgins is the first active for duty drill sergeant to be reenlisted at Fort Benning since 1969 when the advanced individual training (AIT) center was dedicated. The AIT company for field radio repairs, 8th Co., has been producing radio mechanics for about one year now.

Engineers devote time to youths

Bravo Company, 43rd Engineer Battalion (Construction) is currently involved in a project to aid the military youth at Fort Benning. Goal posts are being erected on four recently established football fields on post. This project is under the supervision of SFC Robert L. Goldsmith, platoon sergeant of second platoon.

Close coordination is being made with Mr. John Szymanski of the Youth Activities Center to insure that the project will be completed for the opening night of the 1972 season on September 15. In past years, games were played in Doughboy Field nearly every night of the season to complete the schedule for all the teams in the league. The new fields will enable teams to all play on weekends thus lessening the possibility of interfering with school activities.

Survivors from the S-3, 43d Engr Bn have been busy setting up all the football fields for the YAC. The Engineers have happily devoted their time to such a worthy cause.

Where to park

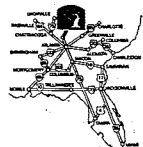

The Post Transportation Division has requested that section chiefs of activities located near the railroad tracks be kept from parking to the attention of their employees. Recently there has been a continuing problem with privately owned and government vehicles parking on or too close to the railroad tracks. This causes unnecessary delay to personnel performing switching services and to activities receiving equipment and supplies by rail.

Identical twins assigned to Benning's Weapons Dept.

Why would identical twins join the Army? Assigned to Fort Benning's Weapons Department Supply Section are identical twins, PFC Dalton and PFC Dwight O'Guin. They were asked the question. The O'Guin twins, claiming Duluth, Ga., as their present home, think they had good reasons for joining the Army last December. They think now that they made a good choice. At the present time, Dalton, O'Guin's main job is to supply drinking water to Fort Benning's ranges. He drives a tank and pump water truck. Dwight's job is supplying the ice for the water, driving a cargo truck. They also help in maintaining the ranges when they are not on water resupply missions. As to why they joined the Army, Dwight said, "We joined the Army in Virginia. That's where we were living at the time. We had just got out of high school, and the Army fits looked good, such as the pay and the opportunity for taking college courses." Dalton said, "We wanted to make better use of our man hours. There wasn't much work available in Virginia, and our father is a minister. Ministers don't make that much money and he has five children, so we decided that joining the Army was the best thing we could do." The O'Guin brothers went through Basic Combat Training together at Fort Campbell, Ky., and Advanced Individual Training together at Fort Polk, La. After both had earned a heavy weapons specialist Military Occupational Specialty (MOS), they volunteered for airborne training together naturally. The twins were starting their second week of airborne school when Dalton said, "I want to be an X-ray technician when I entered." Dalton, "but the school never opened, so I plan to get out and become an X-ray technician using the GI bill." It is evident that keeping the O'Guin twins together has benefited the Army so far. They work as an efficient team together. There is, however, one event in the near future that will tend to split the team up. Dwight is getting married on the 24th of September to Miss Wynn Johnson of Glen Burnie, Md. The couple plans to live in Columbus while Dwight is stationed at Fort Benning. Dalton volunteered, "We almost got married to identical twin sisters a little while back." "But that didn't work out," added Dwight quickly.

Army medical research display in Infantry Hall

Several of the newest products of Army medical research have been on display this week in the lobby of Infantry Hall. The Office of the Staff Surgeon USAIS, was responsible for the display, which featured a device used for surgical cleaning and a new type of field dental chair, along with a pictorial demonstration of electric anesthesia and a "metal with a memory." Pulse pressure lavage, which has been developed over the last six years by the U.S. Army Institute of Dental Research at Walter Reed Hospital, is a vastly improved method of cleaning wounds. It can also be used by physicians for scrubbing prior to performing surgery. The new method applies water to open wounds at fluctuating levels of pressure, instead of forcing a steady stream of water into the wound at a constant pressure level. This allows the tissue to "breathe" by permitting blood to circulate through it, and assists the skin in expelling particles of debris deeper into the wound. Antibiotics and anesthetics can be added to the water, thus sterilizing the wound or even permitting the physician to operate without further anesthesia. The portable dental field module was also part of the display. The module includes a chair, dental unit, air compressor, water containers, and an instrument chest, all of which fit into three cases. It can be dropped from a plane or brought in by helicopter. The module was designed for field use, and has been field-tested in the Republic of Vietnam. Other features are a fiber-optic lighting system with a separate heating unit and a high-speed drill, which is a significant improvement in dental equipment. Surgical hydroscrub is a new method used by surgeons to scrub their hands and arms before operating. It makes use of the pulse pressure lavage technique, and shortens scrubbing time from ten minutes to ninety seconds. According to the Spring 1972 issue of the Army Medical and Dental Service Newsletter, it will bring huge savings in time and money to the field of medicine. Electric anesthesia enables the patient to get up and walk away from an operation almost immediately after surgery. This experimental method elim-

The module includes the chair and other equipment shown, as well as an instrument chest, all of which fit into three cases. It can be dropped from a plane at low levels or flown into a combat area by helicopter, and it has been field-tested in the Republic of Vietnam. (Photo by Stan Gumble)

Rangers respond to plea; halt snake's freedom bid

Members of the Ranger Department responded to an emergency call Friday Sept. 18, from Grants at Cross Country Plaza. SFC Roger W. Yuraska of the Ranger Dept. said that the call came in at approximately 4:30 p.m., that a large snake had escaped from a display cage in a trailer at Grants. Nine men, Capt. Michael E. Gorecki, SGM Robert F. Gilbert, MSG Milton Lockett Jr., SFC James O. Richardson, SFC Thomas E. Coon, SFC George A. Wade, SFC Yuraska, Sgt. George E. Pearce and Sgt. Boyd W. Bowers, arrived at the scene and made an estimate of the situation and made their plans. The snake was a Regal Python, 24-feet long and 370 pounds. It's diet consists of 25 rats per week

Infantry Center staff follows rigorous PT program

BY DALE WILSON

The staff of the U. S. Army Infantry Center is setting the example for all of Fort Benning in physical training activities.

During the lunch hour and in the late afternoon officers and men of the various staff sections enthusiastically participate in organized activities, practice for the physical training test or huff and puff their way to another few miles' credit in the "Run For Your Life" program.

Difficult To Organize

"It's a good program," declared Col. Roy R. May, Jr., chief of the Directorate of Plans and Training (DPT). "One of the most difficult physical training programs to organize and administer is in a headquarters. Trade offs are involved. You have to do it on duty time and this means trading duty time for PT. Don't get me wrong, though, it's worth it. It illustrates that a headquarters of this nature can conduct PT without affecting its mission."

Capt. Robert R. Siebenmorgen of the DPT Aviation Division has pulled tours at Fort Benning off and on since 1964. He recalled that "the last time I came here, physical training was on an individual basis. The new program is good because it encourages people to work out in groups and fits in well with a daily PT program.

Minds And Bodies

"I think the current program was a long time in coming," declared Capt. Timothy L. McMahon, a member of the DPT Operations and Plans Division. According to McMahon, many officers have been concentrating on advancing professionally while neglecting physical training.

"One of the concepts of the military is total development of the mind and body," he explained. "It seemed for such a long time that people were doing just their desk jobs and had lost sight of development of their bodies."

Fitness, as an important part of leadership, is emphasized. In order to test the effectiveness of the program, the officers recently took a special physical training test and last Saturday, participated in a 12-mile forced march.

High scorers in the PT test were Maj. William D. Schuler, DPT, with a 486; Capt. William Brownell, commander of the 13th P.I.D., who garnered 456 points; Capt. Joseph S. Parker, Directorate of Industrial Operations, had a 454 and Col. Willard Latham, post chief of staff, placed fourth at 445.

Of the 94 officers who took the test, 15 scored over 400 of a possible 500 points.

One-hundred and twenty-seven officers participated in Saturday's 12-mile forced march, with 126 completing the grueling test. Capt. Gary Dolan from Protocol had the best time at two hours, 10 minutes. He had to run almost the entire distance to get this time. Three other officers finished within two minutes of Capt. Dolan.

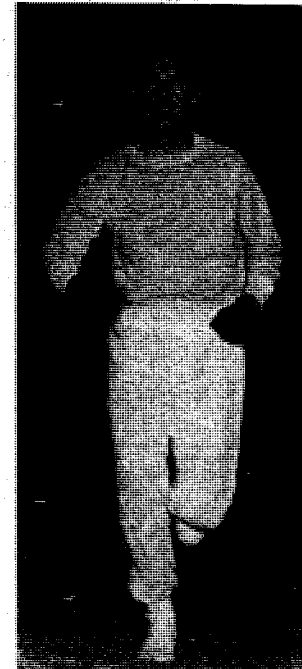

Chief of Staff Pleased

Col. Latham is pleased with the results. "I would have been more pleased," he added, "if the scores had been higher. I'm sure these scores will improve during the next 90 to 90 days. I'm extremely pleased with the results of the 12-mile march. Most of the officers finished within three hours, the time limit for the Expert Infantry Badge test."

A pointed question was raised by SFC Robert J. Tolbert of DPT. "Why has the emphasis been placed on officers?" he inquired. "Many noncommissioned officers have lost sight of physical development. How many times do you see an SFC or an E-8 participating in PT? If a sergeant major can find time for PT, why not other senior NCO's?"

Tolbert won't be disappointed. Col. Latham has scheduled another Staff and Specialist Physical Training Test for USAIC staff members that will include both officers and enlisted men.

'One of the concepts of the military is total development...'

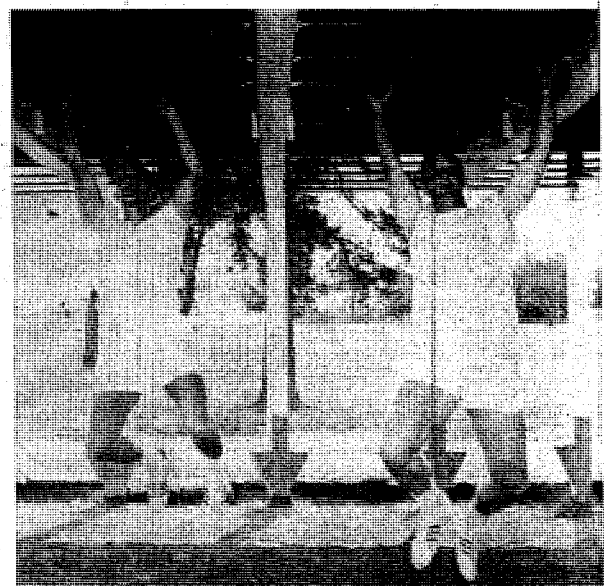

Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander, jogs several miles each morning. The general is an advocate of the "Run For Your Life" program and local fitness program. When he initiated the current fitness program, he said, "I expect the members of the center staff to set the example for the rest of the post." (U.S. Army Photo.)

Coming to the screen...

Chato's Land (Rated PG) — Charles Bronson stars as the murderer of a white sheriff in Arlito, New Mexico. Jack Palance, the town's saloon keeper and a former Confederate soldier, organizes a posse to track Bronson down. Chato plays a cat-and-mouse game with the posse. The posse captures and rapes Bronson's Apache wife. After setting her free, Bronson kills off the evil-doers one by one.
The Dead Are Alive (Rated R) — It looks like the work of an ancient Aztec god when several bizarre murders of pairs of young lovers are reported. The superstitious folk believe that this god has returned to life to punish those who would desecrate his tomb. Alcoholic archeologist Alex Cord is trying to get his former wife Samantha Eggar back by ending her relationship with a no-nonsense conductor John Marley. Meanwhile, a series of murders like the first transpire and all at one time or another are murder suspects.
Son of the Blob (Rated PG) — This is a today-movie for the young. Science fiction fans will remember that in his first movie, Steve McQueen deported the Blob to the North Pole where it was frozen for safekeeping. But, fate is fickle and biologist Godfrey Cambridge brings a small portion of the dormant frozen mass back home by mistake. He puts the Arctic sample in his freezer, and his wife accidentally lets it thaw. Now You See Him, Now You Don't (Rated G) — Joe Flynn and philanthropist Jim Backus enter a golf game to raise mortgage money for Flynn's college in this Walt Disney comedy. Campus student Kurt Russell invents a liquid which makes people and objects invisible. This results in a golf sequence that will bring laughs to the whole family. The film culminates in a wild police chase with a phatom car commanded by a bank robber Cesar Romero.

VA dispels special war dividend rumor

The Veterans Administration reported today that it is receiving a deluge of telephone calls and applications for World War II veterans who have been cruelly deceived by an erroneous rumor of a special dividend on the World War II G.I. Insurance.

Leaflets and pamphlets detailing the rumor as true—some with application blanks to be filled out and mailed to VA Regional Offices—are being distributed among the Department of Defense employees in the Washington, D.C. area, in Newark, New Jersey, and many in the southeast United States. VA officials are concerned that many World War II veterans now have the false hope that they are in for an insurance special dividend windfall. They are not.

The hoax that has swept the nation involves accumulated dividends that were supposed to have been paid up on World War II National Service Life Insurance policies—even though no premiums have been paid on the policies since the end of the war. The stories may stem from an action taken in 1948 when payment of a special dividend on these same policies was authorized. These dividends were derived from premium overpayments because of a lower than anticipated casualty rate during the war. However, all payments of with our selective enforcement, our dogs, our helicopters surveillance, but the bulk of the credit must go to the emphasis the commanders are placing on crime prevention in their units."

Col. Murdock was careful to caution against relaxing because of the present low crime rate. September is not over yet. Crime right now may be lower than last month at this time, but it could still increase over August."

Col. Murdock's attitude is reflected by the rest of the Provost Marshal, Benning's Military Police. They still report a need for more common sense security and crime prevention in the unit areas that they patrol.

In the lonely, thankless guard duty that most of Fort Benning's soldiers pull many more times than they wish they did in September alone guards were effective in preventing larceny, a robbery, and an assault.

The Provost Marshal, Col. E. J. Murdock, attributes the crime decrease to the Commanding General's emphasis through the Chief of Staff to the major unit commanders to combat crime. Each of Fort Benning's commanders has been assigned an area in Volleyball is just one of the forms of exercise available; others include handball, swimming, exercises with or without machines, paddle ball, and a sauna bath. Mr. Albert McCumber, Recreation Specialist, and Mrs. Jean Mays are the instructors. The class is free, and any military dependent ladies may participate.

USAMTU CISM team to train in Cairo, Egypt

Members of the United States Counsel International scene of nearly 40 nations competing for the coveted trophy Sport Militaire (CISM) marksmanship teams trained on the post rifle and pistol ranges here this week in preparation for their competition with the world's top military marksmen at Cairo, Egypt, the last of this month.

The ten man team, five handgunners and five who compete with the rifle, along with their captains and gunsmith will depart Fort Benning Sunday.

On their flight into Egypt, the American team will stop over night in Athens, Greece, which is quite fitting as that is where the first firing of CISM took place in Hershal Anderson, SFC Bonnie Harmou and SSGT Jimmy Boswell. The priceless silver encased dueling pistols which serve as the CISM trophy was awarded by King Paul of Greece during this first international match which was the Goldsby.

Orienteers truck up to Smoky Mountains

Seven soldiers, including five members of the Ranger Department's Orienteering Team, traveled to the Smoky Mountains last weekend to participate in the Seventh Annual, Cades Cove 10 mile road race.

Over 90 runners representing "general" colleges, universities and long distance running clubs participated in the hilly 10 mile run.

Running in its driving rain Fort Benning proved to be a surprise to most of the college and university runners. 2nd Lt. Ell Blew-

Six Army, three Marines and one Air Force marksmen make up the 1972 CISM team which is representing the nation. The six Army shooters are all members of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit (three of them were Olympic competitors).

Three Army shooters are on each of the pistol and rifle teams. The Army members are: Pistol competitors, SFC Bonnie Harmou and SSGT Jimmy Boswell. The three rifle competitors are: Maj. Lones W. Wigger, Jr., Capt. Lanny R. Bassham and Capt. Boyd D. Wigger.

Marine shooters on the elite team include former National Pistol Champion, Warrant Officer Francis Higginson and outstanding high-power rifle competitors, Warrant Officer David L. Boyd and SSGT Jerry Boswell. All three are from Quantico, Va.

The lone Air Force marksman making the team is MSgt. Donald Rupp.

Competition at Cairo will commence on Sept. 29 and will be initiated with two days of pistol matches.

William W. Wigger, Olympic Gold and Silver Medalist, CWO 1, U.S. Marine Corps, is the recipient of the scholarship awarded to him by the 1st Cavalry Division. He is shown here with his family.

1st Cav. scholarship awarded

A second 1st Cavalry Division scholarship has been awarded to the Radcliffe family, Connell Radcliffe, the son of the first soldier from the 1st Cavalry to be killed in action in the Republic of Vietnam. The scholarship was awarded through the George W. Casey Memorial Scholarship of the University of Georgia.

Col. Malcolm R. Baer, the Adjutant General, presented a check for $400.00 to Connell Radcliffe at a ceremony held in the Adjutant General's office last Friday, September 15. Col. Baer is First Vice-President of the Fort Benning "Follow Me" Chapter of the 1st Cavalry Society. Also present at the ceremony were Mrs. Donald Radcliffe, whose husband was killed in action in the Republic of Vietnam in August 1968, and Sgt. Maj. (Ret.) Frank Plass, who is Second Vice-President of the Fort Benning Chapter and First Vice-President of the National Chapter of the 1st Cavalry Society.

Connell Radcliffe graduated from Columbus High School this year and is entering the University of Georgia this fall with plans to major in Accounting.

Army flick receives Bronze Medal Award

Green Scene Three, an Army Command Information film, has been awarded a Bronze Medal for Excellence in documentary film production at the Fifth Annual Atlanta International Film Festival.

Green Scene Three was the winner in the internal public relations documentary category. Part of the film was photographed at Fort Benning using military and civilian personnel. The Golden Knights, the U.S. Army parachute team, are shown in action during the lead story. What the Army Environmental Hygiene Agency is doing about ecology and a photo essay of "Freedom: Privilege or Obligation" are the two other subjects of the 15-minute film.

The film, judged by a jury of 100 motion picture experts including Frank Capra, Otto Preminger, Martin Landau and Peter Bogdanovich, was selected from among more than 7500 entries in various categories.

The film may be obtained for viewing from the Audio-Visual Systems Division of the Directorate of Communications - Electronics, located in Building 1792. The number to call in order to get his international award winner for showing is 545-7343.

100 officers attend Jaycee Military Appreciation Night

More than 100 young Fort Benning officers were guests of the Columbus Jaycees at the annual Military Appreciation Night banquet meeting recently at the Ralston Hotel. Among the guests were Maj. Lones Wiggers and Capt. Lenny Bessham, gold medal winners in the shooting competition during the recent Olympic Games in Munich, Germany. During the program several Jaycee project chairmen explained the group's community action projects. In addition to the young officers, Col. Willard Latham, chief of staff of the Infantry Center, attended, as well as commanders of major units on post. Stan Howard, who was sponsored by the Jaycees as he won second place in the National Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, was presented a trophy by Jeff Blankenship Jaycee president. The banquet is held each year to show Fort Benning personnel they are appreciated by the local community and to explain the various functions of the Jaycee organization.

Lt. Black's next assignment will be with the 24th Division in Hawaii. He decided to attend the Mortar Platoon Course while in the IOBC. He said, "I'm looking to the future. I know a mortar platoon leader is with his commander nearly all the time, and you get an overall concept of company or battalion operations. With this course I hope to become a mortar platoon leader as a second lieutenant."

The Mortar Platoon course consists of six weeks of training. The teach men who already have some experience with mortars how to go back to their units and teach their men mortar procedures." In the first week of the course the students learn the mechanical procedures of the mortar, the aiming circle and the bore-sighting device. Forward observer procedures are taught the second week and fire direction center procedures are taught the third, fourth and fifth weeks. After learning how to operate the control element, each class is then left on its own during the sixth week for a field training exercise. "By the sixth week we find the students are completely able to run the mortar platoon by themselves," said SFC Black.

Pioneers convince Georgians of MVA's many advantages

Although Governor Jimmy Carter recently proclaimed September Modern Volunteer Army Month for the State of Georgia to gain public support for the MVA, the 1st Battalion, 26th Infantry of the 19th Infantry Brigade has been convincing Georgians on the advantages of the MVA for some time now. The 126th was the first all-volunteer battalion in the U. S. Army, and most of its recruits came from Georgia. To do this the 126th placed its own representatives throughout Georgia.

This unit-of-choice recruiting, as it is known, is enjoying success in Georgia not just because selected soldiers have been recruiting for the MVA, but also because the rest of the Battalion has been showing Georgia what MVA is all about. Many members of the 126th have been accepting speaking engagements for Kiwanis clubs, Lions clubs, Chamber of Commerce, and other civic organizations. During most of these engagements a film called The 19th Infantry Brigade has been shown. Additionally, the Battalion has been working with the Kiwanis Club of Columbus in helping an orphanage build a play ground, showing that the mission of the soldier involves helping the community not just training for war.

ECOctoberfest

Everyone Urged to do their share

BY SUSANNE BOSTICK
One phase of ECOctoberfest will be "the enhancement of environmental awareness." This will include publicizing the program through Post news media, getting the word to the troops via Commanders Calls and staff meetings, and briefing incoming personnel on ecology programs.

The purpose of ECOctoberfest is to place special emphasis on "selected areas of environmental improvement and maintenance of environmental quality." After ECOctoberfest, efforts to improve the ecological balance on Fort Benning personnel.

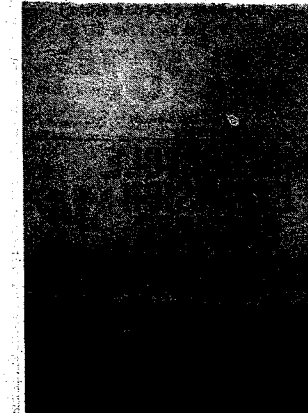

As part of ECOctoberfest, major units will take over the recycling of solid waste materials is one of the jobs, such as the collection of solid waste materials for most important aspects of ECOctoberfest. Each major unrecycling purposes, that are presently being handled by the it will be assigned a specific area of family housing for pickup of glass, cans, and paper, and delivery of these materials to the Solid Waste Recycle Plant on Gaudette Directorate of Facilities Engineering.

Data will be collected concerning the amounts of re-cyclable materials on Post so that programs initiated during ECOctoberfest can be made permanent. Units will also collect solid waste materials from during ECOctoberfest can be made permanent. See Ecology page 4.

Parking violators warned

Due to the numerous parking violations that have been occurring on a daily basis in the parking lots adjacent to Infantry Hall, Bldg. 4, the lots will now be monitored daily and compliance with parking regulations will be strictly enforced.

It has been noted that while violations have been observed primarily in the East lot, there have at the same time been unfilled spaces in other lots.

There are a total of 2104 parking spaces available around Infantry Hall, which is more than sufficient to meet the parking needs of students and personnel assigned personnel. Thus far, efforts to reduce or eliminate these parking violations have been unsuccessful, and so the stricter enforcement of violations.

Starting immediately, parking violators will be subject to the following disciplinary action:
First offense: warning;
second offense: loss of Post driving privileges for 30 days; third offense: 6-month suspension of Post driving privileges.

Infantry Center Staff leads way

Twelve miles can be a lonely distance, and it was for 28 Infantry Center Staffers who completed the requirement last Saturday.

The minimum time for the distance was 1 hr. and 49 min., while the maximum time was 3 hrs. and 2 min. The best time was shared by Lt. Col. Salvan, French Liaison Officer and a member of the Center Staff. All completed the distance in the time allotted for the Expert Infantryman's Badge test.

Yes, twelve miles before dawn is a lonely road, just ask yourself next time.

AUSA picnic tomorrow

Sergeant John W. Hockett gives his daughter, Tina Marie (sitting next to her father), and Lisa Ferguson, daughter of SSgt. James Ferguson, a ride in an all-terrain Combat Vehicle Simulator (Hustler). The purpose of the ride was to get an idea of children's reaction to the vehicle which, with another one, will be part of the entertainment at the 1972 Annual AUSA Picnic tomorrow (Sept. 30) at 2 p.m. at Victory Lodge. Tickets will be available at the entrance and signs will point the way from the Traffic Circle. See map page 10.

Oct. 1-7 is National Employ the Handicapped Week

During the week October 1 - 7, Americans will pause for a period of national observance. This period, set aside as National Employ the Handicapped (N E T H) Week, will serve to emphasize the capabilities and opportunity needs of a large reservoir of talented, skilled and knowledgeable Americans: the handicapped.

One of the best examples of this talent reservoir are the disabled veterans. A great many possess hard-to-find specialties, gained either through service schooling or from vocational rehabilitation. They offer more to a prospective employer, however, than just experience and skills. Through their willingness to participate in the defense of their country, they have shown the kind of determination that would make them highly desirable employees.

It has been consistently shown in studies by private industry that handicapped employees, when given the chance, do make outstanding employees. These same studies have shown, in comparison to their non-handicapped fellow workers, the handicapped have fewer absences and accidents and show higher productivity and employee loyalty.

In the past ten years the federal service — through Presidential Orders, Civil Service Regulations, and agency regulations — has made great strides in the direction of increased employment of handicapped personnel. By means of a Selective Placement Program, the Civil Service Commission has opened the door of federal employment opportunity to a vast number of qualified Americans.

In addition, the Civil Service Commission helps focus attention on the job capabilities of the handicapped by means of a national award program. This award program, called the Outstanding

Handicapped Federal Employee of the Year Award, serves to increase public awareness of the valuable contributions of the handicapped, publicize federal career opportunities available to other handicapped persons, and offer still more evidence that the handicapped are able to perform top-quality work when provided the opportunity to do so.

The federal government, as the nation's largest employer, has committed itself to a policy of seeing that employment opportunity for the handicapped is both visible and obtainable.

Best cook selected for Sept.

Sgt John F. Hilton, 10th Co., Hq. Comd, TSB, has recently been selected as the Cook of the Month for September.

Col. Bruce H. Faser, commanding officer, Hq. Command, USAIC, presented Specialist Hilton with a letter of commendation and a three day pass for being selected for the honor.

To be chosen as Cook of the Month, Hilton was selected as his company's representative to appear before a special board of knowledgeable food service personnel who made the final decision as to who was the recipient of the award.

Specialist Hilton and his wife June, have two children: John Jr., 8, and Ronald Edward, 5. The Hiltons reside at 127 Ingersoll Loop, Fort Benning.

Hilton is originally from Marinette, Wisconsin, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hilton reside at 812 Main St.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
by Bill King

Slice off the tops of cherry tomatoes and scoop out seeds with a spoon handle. Stuff with a cream cheese anchovy mixture and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Very nice for a cocktail buffet!

When cutting lunchbox sandwiches, cut the bottoms out part-way through. It will be easier to get the sandwiches into those little plastic bags, and the lunchbox can pull them apart later.

Always buy the very best kitchen knives you can afford, and keep them sharp. As easy as that is, it's easier to cut yourself with a dull knife than with a sharp one.

Add several tablespoons of red currant jelly to each cup of the hot brown gravy you pour over cold slices of leftover roast lamb or pork.

The windows of many neighborhood restaurants in Japanese cities display wax models of their featured dishes.

Members from the cleanup project the Fort Benning Basin Anglers Association gathered at King's Pond last Saturday. About 25 members of the society and their dependents observed National Hunting and Fishing Day by cleaning the shoreline and adjoining areas of the largest pond on post. The project included grass and weed cutting, improvement of trails leading to the pond and collection and removal of litter from the area.

their own areas and deliver them to the Recycle Point.

In the area of land management, "a thorough police of all areas on Post will be conducted." The Military Police will enforce a new regulation which prohibits fishing on Post within 25 meters of litter, and each battalion-size unit will select one land management or area beautification project for the ECOOctoberfest.

The Forestry Section will instruct units in the land planting of trees for the period November 15, 1972 to March 15, 1973. Each unit will be assigned a specific area in which to plant trees. These will be areas where mechanical planting is impractical.

The units will conduct the police of areas on Post and a Project Officer for ECOOctoberfest. These men will have the responsibility for coordinating projects on the unit level.

The units will conduct the police of areason Post mentioned above, placing special emphasis on ponds, streams, and recreation areas. They will haul refuse to sanitary land fill areas.

Environmental Information Packets will be placed in dayrooms, reading rooms and study rooms on Post. These packets will be issued by the Directorate of Facilities Engineering.

recyclable materials and separate them into glass, paper, steel cans, and aluminum cans.

Units will pick up the materials on Oct. 11 and 25 at family quarters and take them to the Solid Waste Recycle Point. The Directorate of Facilities Engineering requests that occupants of family housing quarters pay particular attention to the segregation of recyclables as outlined in the Recycling Instructions.

Photo Contest

Ten dollars will be awarded to the individual submitting the best picture depicting the worst aspects of the Fort Benning environment.

Any person of any age living or working on the reservation may submit a picture. Call 545-3312 for additional information.

FORT BENNING, GEORGIA 31905

TO ALL MILITARY AND CIVILIAN PERSONNEL

Fort Benning has historically led the way in the development and pursuit of meaningful programs, and it is desirable that we continue this leadership.

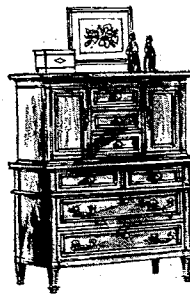

Therefore, during the month of October the Fort Benning community will participate in an ecology program (ECOOctoberfest) to provide special emphasis in selected areas of environmental improvement and maintenance.

This month will allow meaningful participation by units, direct- service and residents in promoting awareness of our environment and at the same time procure data for more effective programs. Upon completion of the emphasis period, plans will be made and implemented to make the overall provisions of the program permanent.

I urge the active participation of all personnel of this command in this worthwhile effort to make Fort Benning a better place to live.

What is the most important morale boosting change brought about through the recently completed VOLAR test program?

No KP, Five day workweek top list

PFC Mike Messick
Co. D, Hq. Cnd.

PFC Mike Messick, Co. D, Hq. Cnd., USAIC, said, "No KP and a 5 day work week. This gave enlisted men more time off and to themselves. You don't have to wash dishes anymore and that sort of thing. Volar though is sort of a joke. Older enlisted men are old Army and they think old Army. Volar is a joke to them."

2nd Lt. Steven Walsh
25th Co., 758

2nd Lt. Steven Walsh, 25th Co. TSBJ, said, "Probably the streamlining of the Army routines. Everything was rigid and un-moving; there was a lot of needless crap. The booster was the cutback of needless stuff."

The incorporation of enlisted men's ideas in the modern army procedures made the enlisted man a part of the Army rather than an excuse for the Army. I served as an enlisted man both prior to and after the Volar Test Program. I think the Volar changes were definitely an asset to the Army as far as the enlisted man is concerned."

PFC Tim Norris
129th MP

Sp4 Tom Tegtmeyer
Co. C, Hq. Cnd.

Sp4 Tom Tegtmeyer, Co. C, Hq. Cnd., USAIC, said, "I think the elimination of KP and other non-essential duties that were a burden to the enlisted man was the biggest morale booster."

Of secondary importance was the significant pay raises which definitely boosted morale and raised the enlisted man's image of the Army. Formerly, the pay received by enlisted men wasn't enough for them to do anything that required a good sum of money, something that would be really worthwhile to them. Now a man earns enough to buy a car or motorcycle, among other wanted items."

"Probably civilian KPs" said PFC Tim Norris, 129th MP. "There is now more freedom in moving around. It is easier to get three day passes, leave time and that sort of thing. The pay hike is real good too, but elimination of KP is the biggest morale booster, I think."

PFC Mike Carson, Co. D, Hq. Cnd. USAIC, said, "There is less hassle from officers and NCOs now. It is easier to get along now than it was before. I think cutting it down to a 5 day work week will keep more people in the Army. One thing though, it seems that the Army is harder on draftees than it is on those who enlisted, but still, generally the Army has cut down on fines and busts as disciplinary actions."

Sign of the times

This sign (L) located on Sandy Fe Road at the bridge over Upatoi Creek has caused some confusion and quite a few comments in the past month. Many drivers have been under the impression that it is an International Traffic Sign but that's not correct. The sign is a Military Bridge weight classification indicating the bridge will safely hold one vehicle weighing 40 tons or two vehicles weighing 25 tons each if they are traveling in opposite directions.

The brass raps

Here to understand sameness and appreciate differences

"To understand sameness, to appreciate differences. That's the heart of the race relations—equal opportunity program for the Army," said Lt. Gen. Walter T. Kerwin Jr., deputy chief of staff for personnel, Department of the Army, when opened the Army's world-wide Race Relations-Equal Opportunity (RREO) Conference, Sept. 26 at Fort Benning.

The conference, the second of its kind, drew more than 140 field commanders and staff officers to Fort Benning to review race relations and equal opportunity programs within the Army.

Gen. Kerwin further defined Army race relations as the attempt to ensure that each soldier will be treated as an individual with his own needs, desire for respect, and ambition to enhance personal worth.

Taking up Gen. Kerwin's definition, Mr. Donald Miller, deputy assistant secretary of defense for equal opportunity, challenged the conference attendees to find new ways to attain equal opportunity. He said "Progress is usually measured in terms of what has been done. What is past is prologue."

Miller, who has just completed a extensive field trip to various commands, finds that the RREO program is not fully understood.

In a special plea for better opportunities for women, Miller pointed out that women may make the difference between a success or failure for the Modern Volunteer Army plan.

Miller, in concluding, said, "We may have come a long way, baby, but I tell you, we got a long way to go."

Brig. Gen. Harry Brooks keyed on specific problem areas in Army equal opportunity programs. Gen. Brooks, director of equal opportunity programs for the Department of the Army, found that racial tension in some units is strong enough to prevent them from accomplishing their primary missions.

Two major factors are responsible for the tension. First, the chain of command is inconsistent in its abilities to handle racial problems. This emphasizes the need for leadership training.

Secondly, while some leaders do not see a need for RREO programs, many areas of personal discrimination have been found in the United States and overseas. Many commanders are not aware of these actions and do not support or use their RREO effectively.

Gen. Brooks defined several principles which he considers basic to the Army's RREO effort. The creation of an atmosphere of racial harmony is the responsibility of all commanders. Programs must go from response to a crisis to programs designed to identify and correct inequities.

He also urged that high standards for career development must be maintained. The career development program supports a soldier's drive for individual and cultural pride.

Mr. Curtis Smothers, director of equal opportunity within the Office of the Secretary of Defense, explained how his office reviewed RREO programs to find their effectiveness. Compliance monitoring, he said, starts with a series of hard-nosed questions asked of the commander.

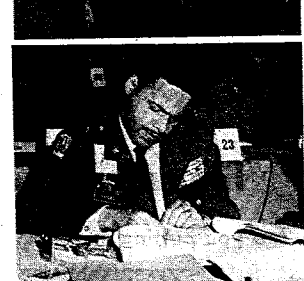

Because RREO programs require command emphasis, a commander cannot shirk them off to his RREO officer and forget about them. Compliance monitoring is one way of checking progress within a command.

A recurring theme with the speakers was the lack of downward communication. Many minority soldiers see discrimination in promotions and training opportunities. Conversely, many soldiers feel minorities receive such promotions because they are minorities.

This misunderstanding, is caused because the low ranking soldier does not understand the program. Further, minorities do not know of many advances that have been made in equalizing opportunities and of the chances open to him.

Gen. Ralph E. Haines Jr., commanding general of the Continental Army Command, welcomed the conferees to Fort Benning and the conference. He hoped the conference would make a special dream of his come true, "All who wear the Army green will, in fact, be brothers in arms."

Minority groups and the Army

If the modern volunteer army program is to succeed, it's about-time the Army did something about racism. This was the theme Dr. Charles Moskos, sociology department of Northwestern University, followed as he discussed racism in the Army.

Moskos said there are three fronts to be attacked. The first is vertical dimension. Blacks see themselves as against the command structure because institutional racism does not recognize differences in lifestyle. In this case, rules are applied equally to all but because blacks start from behind, they can never catch up.

Another aspect of the vertical dimension is the gap between black higher noncommissioned officers and the enlisted men. Higher enlisted ranks tend to unite with men of equal rank rather than down the scale with the men of the same rank.

The number one problem of military racism is among men of equal ranks. White soldiers do not understand the need for and use of black solidarity symbols and cultural emblems. Black soldiers assume that prejudice exists in his white counterpart.

Dr. Moskos described life in the typical Army barracks as similar to life in a tough neighborhood. Fear, muggings, petty extortions, and other crimes makes the once safe barracks a hotbed for racial incidents. Although much must be done to correct this situation, Moskos does not feel a leeway for violence is the answer. Firmness and discipline are needed at this crucial time to solve these problems.

Moskos says small unit problems can be solved at the small unit level by commanders who apply traditional leadership skills, firmness, and understanding.

Dr. Reinaldo Maduro, executive director of the President's cabinet committee for Spanish speaking people, discussed the Spanish minority in the Army. Maduro feels that the difficulty of adjusting to the military environment begins when the Spanish speaking minority approaches its local draft board. Only 820 selective service board members are of Spanish descent and 250 of those are in Puerto Rico.

Maladjustment and disaffection continue as the Spanish speaking soldier has to adjust to an environment which is predominantly and overwhelmingly English speaking.

The final presentation of the morning came from the Women's Army Corps. IA. Cole, Marilyn Russell and Lorraine Rossi explored the scope of women in Army life. Both women are convinced that the success of the modern volunteer army depends on equalizing treatment for women in the Army. Although only 48 military occupational specialties are now closed to women, many commanders do not use the training their women soldiers have.

Women are assigned as typists, receptionists, and clerks even if trained in special skills. Rossi feels this situation will change as women are trained in the same schools with their male counterparts after basic training. Women officers will attend advanced courses in the branch school of their specialty but commanders must not be afraid to use these women as commanders and supervisors of men.

They then decided to also be available when needed, so they are present at all of Carver's home games to render medical assistance to any hurt player. Not many schools can boast of a medical staff of three doctors for their football team but thanks to the generosity of these three Army doctors, Carver can.

Hudson selected for parade

John Hudson, the 17-year-old son of Maj. and Mrs. Samuel Hudson, has been selected to play the trombone in the McDonald's All-American High School in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City this year.

He will also play in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, California, on New Year's Day, 1973. McDonald's Corporation provides an all-expense paid trip to and from New York City and to and from Pasadena, California, including hotel accommodations and meals, for all students selected to be in the band.

Men and women music educators will be provided as chaperones during the students' stays in New York City and Pasadena. Being chosen for the band means that John is one of the top 101 high school musicians in the United States.

The Hudsons live at 107 Miller Loop, Fort Benning, Ga., John, who is a senior at Spencer High School in Columbus, was selected for participation in the band on the basis of a nomination made by his high school band teacher because of his outstanding record as a musician.

2-10th adds horse to 197th motor pool

BY ROBERT THOMAS
The Robert Thomas to the motor pool of the 2nd Bn., 10th Field Arty., 197th Inf. Bde. does not have tracks or wheels.

However it does have four strong legs and lives on a diet of oats and hay. Foster, a 6-year-old saddle horse, was acquired less than a month ago by the 2nd of the 10th to help pull the unit's caisson in parades and special events. A total of four caissons is actually needed to make the antique artillery piece authentic, but so far only Foster has arrived.

"He came from Woodbridge, Va.," explained PFC Byron Allison, the man assigned to the task of caring for the horse. "He was donated to us and I'm sure the 2nd of the 10th will prove to be a better home for him." Foster tended to agree. "I really like it here," Foster assured. "I like my job too. You have to admit that trotting around this corral all day is pretty easy. It sure beats details and commitments.

"The Georgia climate is a little warm for me though," Foster added, "but at least I won't have to stand around in the freezing snow any more."

Allison said that when the other horses arrive a small stable will be built.

to house them, in addition to the spacious corral already completed.

"I really enjoy this job," Allison commented as he brushed some dirt from Foster's back. "I've worked on a ranch for half my life and there is nothing I would rather do than take care of horses."

Allison is from Bowling Green, Fla.

The 17-year-old horse-enthusiast had to give up his weekends to get the job, however he assured he does not mind. He now spends his spare time riding.

"My favorite food is carrots," Foster reminded. "Anyone who would like to bring me one or two is welcome to visit."

The show can be viewed during The Talent Tree's normal opening hours: 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and on the 1st and 3rd Saturdays. There will be a reception for the artists on the opening date, Oct. 5, at noon. The public is cordially invited.

The people have spoken and The Thrift shop has responded. There will be another Flea Market on Oct. 7. The time: 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with an auction at 2 p.m. The place: The sponsored by the Junior League of Columbus, which will be held today and tomorrow, Sept. 30. The time is 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day. The site of the sale will be the Municipal Auditorium, which is located at 4th Ave. and Victory Dr.

The Attic Sale is the chief money-raising project sponsored by the Junior League each year. All the proceeds from the sale are placed in the Community Trust Fund and are returned to the community in various services and opportunities available to the public.

BBOD
A luncheon for wives of officers of the Brigade and Battalion Operations Dept. will be held Sept. 14. This event, hosted by Tacties was applauded throughout each candidate's spoof policies. Following the election speeches, the OWC choral group rendered a selection of patriotic songs.

Mrs. Lawrence Mowery, first lady of BBOD, welcomed the new ladies into the department and gave special recognition to Mrs. Orwin C. Tabbutt and Mrs. William Richardson. Other guests included Mrs. Frank Cochran and Mrs. Manuel Alvar.

A warm welcome was extended to two new members of BBOD — Mrs. Angus Robertson, wife of the British liaison officer, and Mrs. Spence M. Armstrong, wife of the U.S. Air Force representative.

TSB
The monthly coffee for waters. Mrs. Malcolm Vass was welcomed back as group chairman and introduced the newest member of the Vass family, Amy Kristin Vass. Announcements included a selection of patriotic songs.

There are also openings in Garbage Art classes starting Oct. 18. Learn to make beautiful plaques and pictures from materials which would otherwise be thrown away. Three openings in classes beginning Oct. 17 at 10 a.m. and Oct. 18 at 9 p.m. Three lessons for $7.50. Call Mrs. Billy Arthur at 545-5089 or Mrs. Jon Stillman at 544-1196 for further information.

There will be a project meeting of the ENVIRONMENTAL WORKSHOP at 10 a.m., Oct. 4 in the OWC Lounge. On Oct. 11, the Workshop will view the film "Water" and hear a report on the state of water pollution in the Chat taboochee River. Even if you haven't signed up for these meetings, stop by and join the group in action.

Don't forget to "Bee with Us" at our two weekly bridge games. Duplicate bridge is 12:30 Mondays at the Main Officers Club, (bring a partner and attend or, if you need a partner, call Mrs. Paul Serff at 628-6987), and party bridge at 12:30 on Thursdays at the Country Club.

Group, was far from the usual luncheon that one might attend. The ladies enjoyed a spoof election with a real convention atmosphere. The election hall (FBOOM SuperClub) was decorated with red, white and blue streamers and miniature flags depicting each state in the union. Campaign posters were carried throughout the sherry hour contesting each candidate's abilities to best give the ladies, amazing as it may seem, a new army to fit each army wife's needs.

Mrs. Guy S. Meloy introduced the two candidates as "Martha M. Ake-Out" (Mrs. James Arthur) of the Permissive Party, and "Bella B. Bence" (Mrs. Andrew Miller, Jr.) of the Promotion Party. Amidst a game of laughter, the laladies of the 2ND STUDENT BATTALION was given by Mrs. Alvin Walker at her home on Sept. 15. The array of food was delicious. Mrs. Walker served brownies, doughnuts, coffeecake, and miniature sausage biscuits. A warm welcome was extended to Mrs. Michale E. Dunn who will be with the group until November.

Lively discussion highlighted the Sept. 11 coffee at 4TH PLATOON, 10AC 6-72 wives as final chairmen were selected for the upcoming November class luncheon. Mrs. Carl D. Springer and Mrs. Robin M. Robertson were the gracious hostesses, serving coffee and lemonade and such yummys as pecan tarts, sock-it-to-me cake, banana pupus, and cheese.

A WOL OC's rap with the experts

By PETE FOREMAN
Leadership and techniques going AWOL are about as compatible as an OCS Candidate and his Tactical Officer, but for the 50th Company (OCS) they went hand in hand in one of Fort Benning's more bizarre happenings. The 50th Company (OC) was discovered missing when its tactical officers (tacs) came to work. Instead of finding 120 senior candidates hustling to get ready for work formation, they found the company area completely deserted. Even as late as 8:30 a.m., when asked where the candidates were, one of the tacs admitted "We don't know where they are."

The tacs know one thing, however. It was bad for an OCS company to leave its area unguarded. They pointed to a large pile of foot gear in the student orderly room. "You know the competition between OCS companies is keen," explained one tac. "Someone did this senior OCS company in. . . . Actually, the tacs had three clues that the situation was under control. First, the company's daily bulletin, written by candidates, had mysterious allusions to an OCS caper. Second, the Company Commander did not show up for work. The bulletin said he was kidnapped. Third, the 5th Battalion Headquarters almost laughed instead of getting excited when the tacs reported that the entire 50th Company was absent and that the First Sergeant was going to report the whole company AWOL on the Morning Report.

Project Awareness
While the tacs were trying to solve the mystery, the 50th Company's candidates along with its Commander, Capt. Cardell S. Hunter and other selected officers, were at Fort Benning's Victory Lodge in civilian clothes. They were participating in "Project Awareness."

During "Project Awareness" at Victory Lodge the candidates rapped with experts in the fields of the military aspects of race relations, the role of the chaplain, the military aspects of drug abuse, the Army and the environment, Army Community Services, civil schooling, and the unique aspects of the military family.

The atmosphere was kept as informal as possible. During the morning and early afternoon the company split into four discussion groups. The candidates rotated from group to group. The resource people of a each group, selected officers from Fort Benning, opened with a 10-15 minute talk. The talk was followed by questions and answers for an hour.

Hunter, 50th Company Commander, had been kept informed of the planning of "Project Awareness" since it was first conceived. Candidate Charles W. Stecker Jr., 50th Company's Student Council President, had discussed the project in June with the Commander of the 5th Student Battalion, Gordon M. Hunt. Hunt heartily approved of the project, except that he insisted that Hunter, the Company CO, would be informed. The rest of the cadre, however, were to know nothing.

The candidates expressed excitement that the day, which for some did not end until 11:30 p.m., was invaluable to them. The fun of putting a rank on the tacs was secondary to the discussions they had with experts in contemporary leadership problems which each of the candidates will face when he is commissioned in a week.

After most of Project Awareness had taken place, Hunter said, "Project Awareness was not a typical OCS project. It was really valuable training that young officers are going to need. What was really so great about this training was that it was all planned by candidates and that it was approved by the Battalion and Brigade commanders." Hunter expressed complete satisfaction with "Project Awareness."

OC James J. Corniglin thought it was a fine approach in training for some of the leadership problems that young officers face. "We need to get down to earth like we did to examine these subjects," he said.

Capt. Frank H. Peterson, CMD discussion leader said, "I never saw anything like this. I'd like to see this happen to every OC class. We answered some questions today that ordinarily wouldn't have been answered for these candidates."

OC Douglas J. Brown said, "It was one of our better days of instruction. There was no barrier between the teacher and student. This instruction was better than most instruction we got in Infantry Hall because it as on subjects that we'll be concerned with when we go to our next assignment and because each of the instructors was highly qualified in the subject he was presenting."

Investigators celebrate their first anniversary

The United States Army Criminal Investigation Command (USACIDC) celebrated its first anniversary as a separate Department of the Army Command Sept. 17. The Fort Benning Field Office, was host to organization day activities in commemoration of the first anniversary of USA-CIDC. The Commanding Officer, Capt. Robert E. Lee, opened the ceremony with a welcome to all personnel present and a brief history of the US Army CID Command. After his remarks he was assisted in cake cutting ceremonies by Col. Eugene J. Kuebeck, Provost Marshal, and Mrs. Mildred Davis, Supervisory Clerk, who has been with the CID at Fort Benning for 20 years. A social hour followed the cake cutting ceremony.

the US Army Criminal Investigation Command, all US Army criminal investigative activities had been coordinated and supervised by US Army Criminal Investigation Agency as a Class II Activity under DSPER. March 16, 1971, the Secretary of Defense requested the Secretary of the Army to establish an Army CID organization to exercise control over all CID resources. As a result of this request the US Army Criminal Investigation Command was established on September 17, 1971. The Command which is headquartered in Washington, D. C., is divided into six regional areas worldwide. Each region consists of headquarters and subordinate field offices which are located in selected US Army installations throughout each regional area.

The Third Region, USA-CIDC, of which Fort Benning Field Office is a member, is headquartered at Fort McPherson and consists of nine Field Offices and five Resident Agencies including Puerto Rico.

In a special Awards Ceremony at the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Sept. 15, five individuals were awarded promotions, five men were decorated for combat achievement and outstanding performance of duty and two civilians were recognized for outstanding work.

Col. William H. Harper, U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit Commander, honored the soldiers in one of the largest honor ceremonies conducted by the small Fort Benning target unit.

In the special ceremony, Capt. Floyd W. McLean Jr., Unit S-4 Officer, was decorated with the third oak leaf cluster to the Bronze Star Medal for distinguishing himself by meritorious service against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. He was recognized for his professionalism and initiative in the combat zone.

The Bronze Star Medal, first oak leaf cluster, was presented to SFC Patrick J. Boyle for distinguished meritorious service in the Vietnam combat zone. Boyle, an outstanding Running Bear competitor, was recognized for his gallantry upon his return from the Republic of Vietnam.

Msgt. Burt Brannan, Service Rifle instructor, was awarded the first oak leaf cluster to the Army Commendation Medal for distinguishing himself through meritorious achievement against communist aggression in the Republic of Vietnam during the period of January through October 1971.

Two other Army Commendation Medals were presented to individuals within the unit who displayed exceptional professional competence in administrative duty during the past year. Receiving awards for this outstanding performance of duty were Sps James Lovry and Sps Stephen L. Good.

A special commendation to SFC Warren P. McLean was read in recognition for his receiving a diploma for completion of the Pre-Commissioning Course.

The two civilian employees included Mr. Coats Brown, Illustrator for the unit and Rex Ellis. Each of the two were officially commended for outstanding work during the past year which contributed immeasurably to the unit's morale and operation.

Coming Attractions for Fort Benning

THE NEW CENTURY
ANS — Graduating from the Los Angeles Police Academy, law student Stanley Keach is assigned to a patrol car with veteran George C. Scott. The two become close friends as the older man breaks in to the rookie with his own peculiar philosophy on handling people and situations. Scott retires and Keach is assigned to the vice squad under Sgt. James Sikking. Having neglected his wife and daughter, Keach finds he's lost them both. Embittered, Keach takes to drink. Keach meets a black nurse, a robbery victim, who helps him to get back on his feet.

LONG, AGO, TOMORROW — Crippled by a stroke, Malcom McDowell, withdraws into himself almost completely at a nursing home. He is roused only by the sight of fellow paralytic patient, Nansette New man. Eventually a friendship develops only to be suddenly cut off by tragic circumstances. With the help of the other patients the future remains hopeful.

LOVERS AND OTHER STRANGERS — About to wed, even though they have lived together for an month, Michael Brandon and Bonnie Bedelia have mixed emotions. She peacefully agrees to go along with him, continuing as is, realizing she'll win out in the end. The story uncovers the lives of all the couples brought together by the pending marriage of the two attractive young people. Academy Award Winner Gig Young plays the father of the bride.

Public invited to artist reception

The public is invited to attend a reception to meet the artist from noon until 2 p.m. Thursday, October 5th at "The Talent Tree" at Fort Benning.

The Artist's Craft Show will run October 5-26, and will display the works of Liz Miller, a ceramicist and handweaver; Patsy Maddox, decorative painter; Liz Miller is very adept with her hands. She sews all her own clothes, has taught ceramics and handweaving, enjoys knitting and crocheting, but of all the handicrafts, she is most fascinated by and enjoys macramé most. Mrs. Miller is self-taught but has become so proficient that she teaches a course in macramé and creates her own designs in belts, purses, candle slings, wall hangings, placemats, lamp shades, necklaces, shoes, and chairs.

Weaving is an intricate art that is not in common practice today, however, Sandra Petty has an avid interest since the age of ten when she began weaving on a toy loom. Her mother had been a handweaver for years and would let Sandra help her warp her loom and weave once the loom was readied. She began serious handweaving and training at Oregon State University where she learned the methods and techniques that she now uses in her handweaving. Mrs. Petty creates lovely baby blankets, place mats, handkerchiefs, wall hangings and weaving fabric for hostess gifts on several looms. She will demonstrate the art of handweaving on a loom at the show.

Patsy Maddox studied courses in Art Design at college, working in copper enameling, and textile printing. She began decorative painting by accident. Working in ceramics, she could not get instruction in painting designs on ceramic ware. She intended to use what she had learned in the "hole" course in ceramics but became so fascinated with that as an art that she began an intensive study of folk art painting and the different techniques used in decorative painting.

Mrs. Maddox had instruction last year at Leavenworth and Kansas City, Kan., and at Kansas City, Mo. She has exhibited at the West Point Arts and Crafts Show and sold through commercial outlets in Minnesota and Williamsburg, Va.

"The Talent Tree" is open every Tuesday and Thursday, 10-9, and the first and third Saturday. For further information, call 545-ARTS.

Dramatizers organize theatre workshop

The Fort Benning Dramatizers have organized a Theatre Workshop at the Fort Benning Playhouse (bld. 1277) behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll Avenue.

The purpose of the Workshop is to acquaint persons interested in dramatizing with the many different aspects of theater.

Dennis Sealy, the director of the Workshop, and the director of the 1972 winner of the Third Army Tournament of Plays, holds the workshop each Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. at the Playhouse, or by calling the Playhouse at 945-5067.

Future Workshops will pertain to the technical aspects of theater: sets, lights and sound; acting, directing and publicity.

Anyone interested in attending the workshop, military, civilian or dependent, is welcome. Also, anyone with a theatrical specialty which he or she would be interested in teaching the group is invited to get in touch with the director, Dennis Sealy, by coming to the workshop, the Dramatizer meetings held each Monday at 7 p.m. at the Playhouse, or by calling the Playhouse at 945-5067.

Library features religion

The Couch and The Altar, David A. Redding, Psychology can be essential in freeing man from paralyzing repressions. But neither Freud nor his die-hard followers have understood that to mean that they could offer a person wholeness and fulfillment. The time has come to seek God's loving forgiveness without hesitation. Through case histories and sensitive interpretation of the work of Freud, Jung, and other therapists, the author shows how the fresh insights of psychology can be joined with faith to equip us for a new excitement of self-consciousness.

Four Hides of The Apocalypse, Louis O. Valance. — In this thoughtful book the author presents a grotesque interpretation of the Book of Revelation, which will challenge, as it stimulates, the minds of students of Ultimate Truth. In reading this volume, we are guided toward a light that calls for the waging of ideological warfare on the enemies of the Common Good and the Common Man. And in a book reflecting years of study, meditation, and sincere seeking, Mr. Valance brings to thoughtful readers a challenging new approach to the truth that sets man free.

PFC Predicto PICKS!

That page of the pigskin prevailed once again with 12-1 record, which is just prelude to my pit of pulverized prey. The pitiful P.I.O. pletty salvaged a scinty 714 to the Majestic Master's 923 Percentage. This week those fabled Fieled fearless fumbler's of 15th finance dare to duel the demon of darkness. You can become pillerage in my pot by dialing 545-7811 or 545-7241 and asking for Predicto.

Benning orienteers compete in Stone Mountain road race

Eight soldiers, including seven members of the Ranger Department's Orienteering Team, ran in the Fifth Annual Stone Mountain five and ten mile road race.

Over 225 runners representing several colleges, universities and long distance running clubs participated in the races. In the 10 mile open class Sp4 Don Kennedy placed second with a time of 51:21 behind Barry Brown of the Florida Track Club who posted a time of 50:25.

Capt. Jon Nolan placed 16th with 54:51 followed by Capt. Ed Strabel, 56:26; Sp4 Eli Maldonado, 57:08; Sp5 Bill Mellars, 57:10; Capt. Greg Camp, an IOAC Student, 58:38 and Sp4 Don Stanley 59:07. In the team competition the Fort Benning Orienteering Team took the third place team trophy behind the Florida Track Club and the University of Kentucky.

In the women's five mile open Sp5 Debbie Kruse took fourth place in a time of 41:28. The race was won by Margaret Talbot of the Florida Track Club in 35:15.

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted.

"The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post-exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

Love message hits Kelley Hill Chapel

"Love is more than a song—it's an experience." This is the message conveyed to the Protestant congregation at the Kelley Hill chapel last Sunday.

The Youth Choir of the Wesley Heights Baptist Church performed magnificently in their presentation of a musical which replaced the normal sermon for Sunday morning.

The program opened with a number entitled "Love can work a miracle" with various skills following it to emphasize the point. When the congregation left the church one hour later, they too were convinced that love can indeed perform a miracle.

The Holy See at Work: How the Catholic Church is Governed. By Peter Van Lierde — This is probably the most authentic account of the inner workings of the Vatican organization ever to be published. The author's position as Papal Sacristan and Viar General for Vatican City has enabled him to write with such authority. Bishop Van Lierde is in daily contact with the Pope and in constant communication with the Holy Offices, the Bureau, and Tribunals which go to make up the delicately balanced organization of the Holy See.eldom has such intimate knowledge and such unimpeachable authority been combined.

'Pot Luck'

On Sept. 20 the ladies of Directorate of Plans and Training (DPT) met at the home of Mrs. Roy R. May, Jr. for a "Pot Luck" luncheon. Approximately 25 ladies attended, each of them bringing one of their favorite foods. The wide range of dishes—varied from delicious home baked cakes and pies, to an exciting, Vietnamese specialty.

Chaplain Harbour went on to say that the very effective musical had "even more impact on the congregation because the convayers of the message of love were so young."

After the unique service, refreshments were served outside and the congregation got a chance to visit with approximately 50 youngsters.

PFC gets quick promotion to E-5

It isn't every day that a soldier can come to work a PFC and leave that evening wearing Sgt. stripes. But that's exactly what happened to George Vernon Coleman of the 51st Scout Dog Platoon, 1st Bn., 25th Inf., 197th Avn. Bde.

Sgt. Coleman, a native of Rainesville, Ala., is a prior serviceman with a duty as a combat dog handler in the Republic of Vietnam. He completed his tour of duty and was discharged from the Army in June of 1971 as a Sgt., E-5.

On June 15, 1972, Coleman again enlisted in the Army, "mainly because I love dogs and I felt I would get to work with them again."

Coleman got his wish when he joined the 197th Avn. Bde., the Army's finest, for he was immediately assigned to the 51st Scout Dog Pl., of the 1st Bn., 25th Inf.

Due to the Army's method of grade determination, however, Coleman was made a PFC upon returning to active duty. Then, on Sept. 14 of this year, a Department of the Army message came out that provided for the return of a prior serviceman's rank. So, even though Sgt. Coleman came to work on the morning of Sept. 15 as a PFC, he departed that evening sporting a set of Sgt. stripes.

Lt. Col. Robert Faulenber, commanding officer of the 1-25th Inf., promoted Coleman in a ceremony held at the "Pinner's Wigwag," but secretly admitted that it was the first time he had ever promoted a PFC to Sgt. E-5.

Sgt. George Coleman, recently promoted from PFC to Sgt. E-5 due to his prior service, Coleman, an excellent dog handler in the Republic of Vietnam. He is currently with the 51st Scout Dog Pl., 1st Bn., 25th Inf., 197th Avn. Bde., and is a native of Rainesville, Ala.

MPs celebrate 31st birthday

The Military Police officers and their wives along with their guests attended the MP's 31st anniversary Sept. 22 at the Main Officers Club.

Among the guests were Col. Willard Latham, chief of staff and Col. James M. Thompson, commanding officer of the 831st Engineering Group.

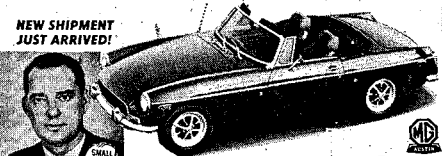

Before the cake-cutting ceremony, Col. Latham, Col. Thompson and Col. E. J. Murray, chief provost marshal, each gave a short appreciation speech.

2nd Lt. Grant Harris, one of the organizers of the celebration said, "it was a memorable occasion, and we had a great turnout."

Engineers return to Benning

Last week, soldiers from the 31st Engineer Group concluded a program to improve conditions in the city of Selma, Alabama, and reluctantly packed their bags to return to Fort Benning.

The men had been engaged in the restoration of the historic L and N railroad station for use as a youth center. In addition, they removed a number of abandoned cars which had been creating a definite health hazard and aided in the paving of several hitherto unpaved roads with in the city.

On Wednesday last, the men were entertained by the city and each man was honored by the mayor, Joe E. Smithman, for what he described as an "outstanding performance by the men, one for which I am very grateful." Each man receives a citation from the city of Selma for their help in the work done.

The men were royally entertained at the city FOP lodge, food and drink freely as the people of Selma expressed its gratitude to the men the best way they knew how. The men enjoyed themselves and many of them expressed a desire to take part in more projects of this nature.

Post ecology movement needs your help—Pitch in Here are some suggestions to consider in the fight to save the environment, focusing attention on the fact that "ecology begins at home."

Plant a blade of grass. The roots will spread and hold the earth together, preventing soil erosion. Start a window box, a garden. The plants give off oxygen which the air needs.

Join a car pool. It's economically and ecologically sound. Car fumes make the air unhealthy to breathe and contribute to respiratory diseases.

Better yet, ride a bicycle. It doesn't dirty the air or pollute the roadways and it's good for you.

Kick the cigarette habit. It's bad for our air and yours. Conserve water. Don't run it unnecessarily. When cooking, use vegetable water in making soups and sauces.

Use rain water for your plants. It saves the drinking water for you.

Showers use less water than baths, and they're cleaner.

More suds do not make a cleaner wash. Most detergents are up to 70 percent phosphate, which promotes the growth of algae in our waters. Algae absorb the oxygen, suffocate fish and eventually kill lakes and streams.

Use the litter bag in your car or boat. Picking up after you costs you money.

Compact your own garbage. Crush milk cartons or fill them. Stack cans inside each other. See Ecology page 29

Post gets tough with litterbugs

Last week a new regulation was added to the Post Hunting and Fishing Regulations to reduce the litter found at post fishing areas.

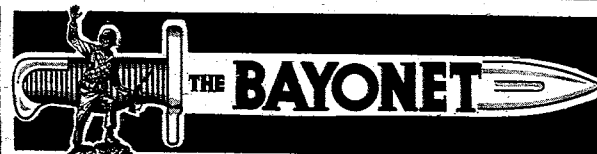

Under the provisions of this regulation, fishing within 25 feet of litter is unauthorized. Persons desiring to fish at a specific location will ensure that the area is properly policed prior to the start of fishing. Litter within a 25 foot distance from an individual fishing will be considered prima facie evidence of violation of this regulation.

The first offence will result in the suspension of post hunting and fishing privileges for 30 days. Second offenders will have those privileges revoked.

Post Pre-Marital Seminar sponsored by Chaplains

Beginning one week from Sunday, engaged and newly married couples at Fort Benning will have an opportunity to prepare themselves for marriage, or to strengthen their marriages, by taking part in a Pre-Marital Seminar sponsored by the Fort Benning Chaplain's Office.

The Seminar will be held on a continuing basis, beginning October 15, each Sunday from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m. in The Infantry Center Chapel Annex (Building 101). Military-connected couples of all faiths who are planning to marry, or who have been recently married, are encouraged to participate.

Topics of discussion will include the religion, moral, social, emotional, physical, and economic aspects of marriage. The seminar is supported by Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish Chaplains on Post, and will fulfill the requirements of 300 military personnel living in the civilian community are welcome.

All an individual needs to do in order to enroll is see his unit chaplain and complete a pre-marital information form. Fort Benning physicians and a representative of the Judge Advocate General's office will present the seminar discussions, along with Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Richard Nybro, who is in charge of the seminar, and Chaplain (Capt.) George of the Catholic Chapel.

If a fiancé or spouse is not in the Fort Benning-Columbus area at the present time, the other party is encouraged to attend. A couple need not live on Post to participate; dependents of active or retired military personnel living in the civilian community are welcome.

Chaplain Nybro states, "Every marriage can be enriched. The greatest barrier to a successful marriage is the belief that 'our marriage is good enough.'" This applies not only to married couples, he feels, but to engaged couples who may think they are ready for marriage when they actually are not.

He adds, "Our basic goal is to enrich their relationships by assisting them in examining their total readiness for marriage. We understand that it will be natural for them to return for further counseling if they have major difficulty in the future."

According to Chaplain Nybro, the purposes of the seminar are "to correct misimpressions about marriage, to give basic information that couples about to be married or newly married may need, and to assist them in integrating this new knowledge into their lives."

AUSA

Up, up and away

It was a cool and windy day for the 1,200 brave souls who attended the annual AUSA picnic last Saturday. One hearty picnicer knew how to make the best of it; as his AUSA balloon will attest. (Photo by Rick Wassner)

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS
FORT BENNING, GEORGIA 31005

I wish to express my appreciation to the members of this command for their cooperative and enthusiastic efforts in support of the Department of the Army Race Relations and Equal Opportunity Conference held at Fort Benning during the pasted 26-29 September 1972.

The highly favorable comments from the distinguished guests concerning the impressive display of the United States Flag, the overall appearance of the Post, and the military courtesy and bearing of all personnel were most gratifying and well deserved.

Please accept my sincere thanks for a job well done.

Next week proclaimed Fire Prevention Week

To emphasize the year round need for greater attention to fire safety, and to stress that nearly all fires are preventable, the President has proclaimed the week of Oct. 8-14, as Fire Prevention Week.

At Fort Benning, fire prevention talks and demonstrations will be conducted by fire department personnel each day of Fire Prevention Week. These talks and demonstrations will be conducted at different locations, including the schools for the children, for the benefit of both military and civilian personnel.

Approximately 12,000 persons lost their lives last year because of fires. Destructive fire leaves no prejudices, its victims come from every neighborhood, from every income bracket, from every race and ethnic group. One American home catches fire every 56 seconds. The toll in human sorrow, shattered dreams and plans, in pain and fear overshadow last year's three billion dollars in property losses.

The average daily toll of fire in the United States is 33 lives; 1,486 homes; 215 apartment buildings; 30 schools; 10 churches; buildings on 110 farms; 207 stores, offices and restaurants; and 142 industrial plants.

In almost every case the loss of lives and property could have been averted with the observance of the simple rules of fire safety.

Fort Benning's fire loss for Fiscal Year 1972 was $94,093.00.

Children attending the 5th grade at all Post schools will be conducted through the Fire Prevention Museum during the week and a twenty minute film on fire prevention will be shown after each tour.

Fire prevention talks will be conducted at all Post schools with fire trucks on display at the schools.

Pamphlets on fire prevention will be given to each child to take home to their parents.

A Fire inspection check list will be given to each child for use as a guide for making a home fire inspection with the aid of the child's parents.

On Oct. 10, demonstrations will be held at 8 a.m. in the rear of Bldg. 4550, 43rd Engineer Motor Pool, and at 1:30 p.m. on the soft ball field at the rear of Bldg. 9040 on Kelley Hill.

On Oct. 11, demonstrations will be held at 10 a.m. in the Motor Pool on Wald Avenue, and at 1:30 p.m. on the Ball field in the rear of Bldg. 76.

On Oct. 12, they will be at the rear of Bldg. 1694 at 8:30 a.m. and near Bldg. 2035 at 1 p.m.

On Oct. 13, at 8 a.m. it will be at the Roads and Pavement Yard near Bldg. 330 and at 1:30 p.m. it will be on Patriots Field, Cossie Road, in the Harmony Church area.

The exhibitions will demonstrate the use of fire extinguishers and explain the techniques of fire prevention.

With the holiday season approaching, people at Fort Benning must be more on guard against fire than ever. Traditionally,

Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's are times of joy, but faulty decorations and non-fireproofed decorations, costumes, clothes and toys present a deadly ground for fires to start. Fort Benning Fire Chief Henry M. Montgomery asks that, "If you are planning to decorate your club, dayroom and cabin, please insure that all decorations are fireproof, be especially careful when purchasing costumes and toys for youngsters, make sure that the items are certified as fireproof."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
by Bill King

Before spooning toothpicks with shrimp, cheese cubes or other party tidbits, stick them into garlic cloves for a while to impart a tangy flavor later.

Steam sliced carrots and celery and, just before serving, add a few tablespoons of brown sugar and butter and a good pinch of powdered ginger.

Before Queen Elizabeth's state visit to France in May, Buckingham Palace discreetly forwarded word that the Queen has a light appetite and official banquets should consist of merely "a beginning, a middle and the pudding."

Next trick: when preparing a meal, try putting all the ingredients into a large plastic bag and kneading the mixture together.

Top baked, but apples, still warm from the oven, with vanilla ice cream and chocolate for an old-fashioned finish to a fall supper.

(51st Office Candidates Co.)

Forestry Branch trying to keep resources healthy

Dr. F. Force, chief of forestry branch, is shown in planting pine seedlings. Above: a controlled burning site.

N. F. Force, chief of forestry branch, says "What we do more than anything else is keep costs healthy."

The forestry branch, part of the directorate of facilities engineering, works to protect and conserve natural resources, improve grounds by using a scientific and orderly program.

Force described this program as having four parts — silviculture, reforestation, harvesting, and controlled burning. He said these specific projects can be helped by actions of individuals who use post forests.

Silviculture is planning for pine stands of various ages to be distributed throughout the forest. Eventually, the forests will have an equal number of stands in each age group — 0 to 20 years, 20 to 40 years, 40 to 60 years, and 60 to 80 years. When stands reach 80 years, they are cut back to the 0 to 20 year age group. Each age group receives planned harvesting to improve growth potential.

After the final harvesting was done, areas are reforested with pine seedlings. Force said that forestry plants about 400 acres a year.

The last part of a controlled resources program is controlled burning said Force. He described controlled burning as necessary to reduce undergrowth in forested areas to fire proofing and to improve visibility for military training.

"Such burning when done with the wind out of the northwest can burn through pines as small as three inches in diameter and not hurt them" said Force.

Besides improving conditions for forest growth, Force said this burning helps wildlife by bringing plants down to their reach.

In relating the work of the forestry branch to the ecology program, Force named several areas where individuals could help improve the forests on post.

"Being careful with fires in the dry season is very important," he said. There has only been one substantial rainfall since July 25, he pointed out and the October dry season is still to come. Time is of essence in reducing the amount of damage done.

Another area he named was littering. Each year, the post loses about 1000 acres in fire he noted. A lot of these fires start from trash accumulated in plies. In comparing Fort Benning forests to national forests of the same size (123,000 acres), Force found that "We have 30 forests to their one." The third problem he named was carelessness in the woods.

The Post Environmental Management Division has only received two photos to date in the Phoul Photo contest being held in conjunction of the EDOctoberfest.

Ten dollars will be awarded to the individual submitting the best picture depicting the worst aspects of the Fort Benning environment.

Any person of any age living or working on the reservation may submit black and white or color pictures in the contest. Entries should be submitted to the Environmental Management Division, Bldg. 224 or the Administrative Office of the Directorate of Engineer in Room 241, Bldg. 35 prior to the close of business October 20. Call 545-2812 for additional information.

Airborne

Medics take to the air

Two hundred members of the 34th Medical Battalion were guests of USAIS Airborne Department on the afternoon of September 18. Several instructors of the jump school presented a Modified Problem 5000 to the 34th Medical Battalion medics and gave them a glimpse of just what three weeks of airborne training would be like.

Included in the demonstration on Eubanks Field was a sky diving exhibition. As a part of the sky diving portion, one diver peeled off from the formation in honor of our Vietnam pilots that are missing in action or prisoners of war.

Following the demonstration by the school, the medics were given an opportunity to experience first hand some of the thrill of that "Good Ole Airborne Training." First came the 34 foot tower over on Mann field. Harlan medics on "Climb the stairs... Hook up... Stand in the door... Go... Down the wire to the waiting moment."

Having "mastered" that tower with only one or two jumps, the medics graduated to the 250 foot jump towers on Eubanks Field. All personnel were given an opportunity to make a controlled ascent and descent in a chair swing suspended beneath a canopy.

Do you feel your training in the Army was adequate for the job you now hold?

Army training still shaky

14th Co.

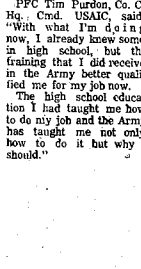

Sgt. Dale Wilson, 14th Co., TSB, stated, "Yes, I do. I went to Infantry AIT and then Visual Trackers Reconnaissance School which I filled in the holes in my knowledge of the Infantry." At Defense Information School which I attended after my return from Vietnam, I learned as much as possible in the short time allotted. I had a civilian background in "outfitting" and "DINROS" furthered my knowledge in that area. In my opinion, my education surpassed my job duties."

PFC Tim Purdon
Co. D, Hqs. Cmd.

"Seems to me," said Sp5 Randy Boose, "the Army trains you in an MOS so that you can go only so far in a field unless you re-enlist. They teach you only enough to support the job you will hold. There is no opportunity to advance unless you stay a few more years."

The Army does not utilize its people to the fullest extent. You can't further your education at night because you can't set up a schedule. To me, correspondence courses do not rate in scholastic level with regular classroom study. I worked in my trained MOS for a year after I received my education (Army). But I was stuck there. I couldn't advance; so I volunteered for the job I now hold. If the Army is to reach its desired level of professionalism, they are going to have to make better use of their people." Boose is from Co. D, Hq. Cmd., USAIC.

Sp5 Stan Gumble
Co. A, Hq. Cmd.

Sp5 Stan Gumble, Co. A, Hq. Cmd., commented, "Not actually. Having been trained as a motion picture photographer, it was not helpful to my next assignment as a clerk typist. But it did have some bearing when I went to Vietnam. In Vietnam, I was a still photographer. The fact is, the last time I held a movie camera was the day before I graduated from AIT at Ft. Monmouth."

Sp5 David McQueen, 13 P.I.D., 931st Eng. Gp., stated, "My training for the job I hold now has been highly erratic. I took basic in combat arms, but having been trained in AIT in the combat engineers, I found myself assigned as an information specialist. I was able to go to a service school pertaining to my job MOS. The training I received there was excellent and was pertaining exactly to the job I now hold. As of this time, the AIT training and MOS I received there are worthless to both me and the Army."

In a Bayonet editorial a couple months ago, an article appeared which sought to move Fort Benning personnel (both military and civilian) to work together.

A cloudy dust still obscures the ideal — teamwork for mission accomplishment. Self is seldom sacrificed for the well-being of others, or for the sake of performing beyond the common call. The all-encompassing "I" is still pre-eminent.

Simple tasks become difficult to complete because hostile to exert the necessary initiative. Phones are used as a crutch to pawn responsibility off on others. In many cases, time and energy would be saved if each of us took that extra step — that extra moment — to assist our fellow worker.

With the realization that many Fort Benning offices and units are somewhat burdened with a decrease in personnel over the last six months, it is even more important that we now work in Physical training is being conducted by most Fort Benning units and the best TEAM usually ends up victorious. There would be many more victories if this same concept of TEAMWORK were applied to our normal duty.

Under the Modern Volunteers Army concept, "sense of purpose" must be given to every individual. Reenlistment figures from the 197th Infantry Brigade indicate that they are well on the road to achieving this model. Among the Unit of Choice enlistees, 70 per cent of those men eligible to reenlist for the second time reenlisted for their current duty assignment, a school, or another unit.

This same flavor must be tasted throughout Fort Benning... and it can be. But every individual must make a concerted effort to assist those who work with him. This agreement will instill a sense of purpose and will ultimately raise the standard heretofore set.

You are only one man making a small portion of the pie that is to be baked at Fort Benning. For the sake of the whole, the spices you add can have a lasting impact. (CFK)

Venereal Disease

It can be cured, but it takes a little common sense

Venereal Disease rises to epidemic proportions . . . What does it mean to us? The individual soldier and his family? Quite a bit . . . If you are concerned about your physical well-being.

According to Mr. William Carney, VD control officer, preventive medicine, Martin Army Hospital, "the incidence of venereal disease at Fort Benning on a percentage basis has risen significantly due to the reduction of troop strength. We still have the same number of cases, and the percentage went up accordingly. At the present time, several hundred cases of venereal disease are treated each month at the VD clinic."

"In 1972, the incidence of syphilis was 1.8 per 100 people and the rate of gonorrhea was 42 per 1000 people. This rate of infection is on par with the Columbus statistics and also that of the nation."

"The incidence of venereal disease among other military installations varies according to its location. Coastal areas for instance a greater amount of individual cases because of transient personnel, whereas, inland military installations have a stabilized rate of cases due to the personnel stationed there for an indefinite length of time."

Fort Benning statistics on those who are most likely to contract the disease weight heavily on the lower enlisted man.

Mr. Carney said, "enlisted men in the ranks of E-5 and lower constitute most of those treated. As rank increases, the rate of infection decreases proportionately. The average age in these cases is about 22 years. Married individuals compose approximately 25 per cent of the cases."

"There is one good point in the rise of reported VD infection. More people are now willing to submit to treatment and are seemingly less afraid to talk to physicians."

Education is still the most important aspect of VD prevention. In New York City, for example, advertising time by television and radio is used to educate people about VD and encourage them to seek treatment. At one time in the military there was a regulation stating that people who had contracted cases of VD could be removed from active duty with a general discharge for traits and habits undesirable to the Army. In today's Army, no disciplinary action can be taken against any individual for the contraction of VD.

Mr. Carney stated that the loss of man hours due to the infection of syphilis or gonorrhea is almost non-existent. Early diagnosis and treatment keeps the infected individual in his job without loss of time.

Keeping Benning men educated about VD is left to the individual commander during commander's time lectures. T. B. VD officer in Preventive Medicine has supportive material that these commanders can use; including color slides, posters and handouts. "When Col. Latham was the commanding officer of the 197th Inf. Bde, there was much emphasis put on educating the troops," said Mr. Carney. "Enlisted men and officers had to attend classes on the subject every month. Since Col. Latham moved up to the Chief of Staff position, we have had only one or two units ask us for support material for their lectures on VD."

"There is a lot of apathy and a lot of misconceptions about VD," said Mr. Carney. "Most people just don't care if they get it. They figure a cold is not curable and VD is." In the last month at a kickoff luncheon for a VD eradication campaign, the treatment for VD has doubled in dosage. "The strains of VD are becoming immune to the therapy. One reason for this is that personnel will take their medicine until the symptoms disappear and then stop taking it, or let a friend use the rest of the medicine for his own case. In this instance, neither man will get the benefit of a complete cure and the disease will build a resistance to the medication, making future treatment much harder."

For eradication of the venereal diseases at Fort Benning, as anywhere else, the patients must understand the disease, seek professional help, identify their sexual contacts and take the complete cure.

Story By Tom Tegtmeier

Art By Bill Dolan

I caught VD

"I caught VD in Vietnam in 1969 just prior to coming home. I was treated both in Vietnam and the United States."

"Our team had their own medical supplies so we didn't really think much about catching it. There was no psychological effect at all, at least to me. The treatment was close so there was no need to worry. I was also worried. I wouldn't have put myself in a position to contract VD."

"Usually we took a penicillin shot or tetracycline pills before we went to Saigon and after we made contact with the disease. We covered ourselves both ways."

"This is a statement made by a Fort Benning soldier, one of thousands of military men who contract VD yearly. What do they say? An office of prevention . . . he caught it anyway."

VD clinic open daily

The VD clinic, Martin Army Hospital Annex, Bldg. 386, is open daily, from 8:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. for active personnel and from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. for dependents. This is a walk-in clinic with no appointment needed.

Patients can be treated by the doctors without their parent's knowledge or permission.

National AUSA Convention to honor Mr. Joe J. Flowers

Joe J. Flowers, former president of the Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning Chapter, Association of the U.S. Army (AUSA), will be presented with a certificate of achievement by the national AUSA chapter during the group's national convention opening Sunday in Washington. The presentation will be made at a banquet meeting Sunday night at the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Flowers will be one of approximately 65 members of the local chapter who will be attending the national convention. Also during the convention the local AUSA unit will receive first place awards for largest overall membership and for the second place awards won by the local unit this year are for the greatest civilian membership input, best single chapter meeting, best overall projects for the year, the chapter most active in telling the Army story, most active chapter in pursuit of AUSA objectives and the best chapter overall.

The local chapter will receive honorable mention citations in two categories — best overall chapter meetings and outstanding support to Jobs for Veterans Program.

Groundbreaking set for Infantry Museum

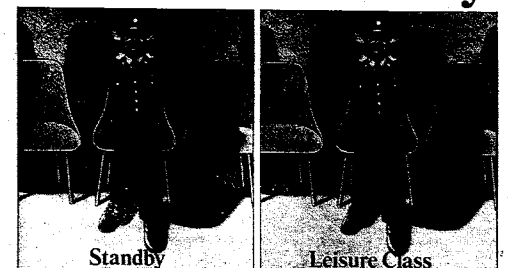

Groundbreaking for the National Infantry Museum will take place Nov. 11, 1972.

The proposed site of the new Infantry Museum is located across Eckell Street and to the East of Infantry Hall on Main Post.

The purpose of the fund raising campaign is to cover the estimated cost of building the Infantry Museum. The estimated cost of the building is $6 million.

Washington, D. C. is one of 15 cities around the U.S. in which the campaign has started, signifying the national status of the Infantry Museum Campaign.

Eastern's Leisure Class. Is it better than standby?

If you wait, it's 50%. If you wait, it's free.

Eastern has a new way for you to fly. Besides First Class and Coach and Standby, Eastern has Conditional Reservations, Leisure Class.

Leisure Class costs you the same as you'd pay for coach (75 regular fare). But we don't guarantee you'll get on your scheduled flight.

If you do, it's the same as Coach. But if Coach is full, you may fly First Class. Without paying anything extra. And, if the whole plane is full, you won't get on at all. And that's the good part.

Because then you get your money back. And we put you on our very next flight that has seats available, and fly you free of charge.

Now, our lawyers would get nervous if we left this out: Leisure Class does not apply to some reduced fare tickets.

Nor to the Air-Shuttle; nor Bermuda, Jamaica, Mexico and Bahama flights. Nor when the originally scheduled plane is grounded due to adverse weather conditions, equipment failure or equipment substitutions.

To qualify for our free ride, you must have your Leisure Class ticket at the boarding gate 20 minutes before flight time.

The number of Leisure Class tickets per flight is limited. And, if you have to wait, it will be anywhere from several minutes to several hours.

But if you've got more time than money, you probably won't mind that at all. Call Eastern or your base JAMTO office for details.

Along the fem line

By LOUISE ROSS

Attention—publicity chairman! "Along the fem line" requires one copy of each article submitted. However, if you would like your news to appear in the Columbus papers or in "The Army Times" make 3 copies. Take 1 copy to the "fem line" via the commissary boxes, and send (mail or hand carry) 2 copies to Mrs. Eda Evans, PIO, room 501, Infantry Hall, Fort Benning. These articles should be headed: "Femline" as this article. For immediate release to:

Columbus papers and "Army Times".

It should be noted that "The Army Times" and the Columbus papers will not accept news that is 10 days old, so do your write ups as soon as possible after the event.

See you at the Flea Market tomorrow, Room 2 in the fully-fueled site in the yard area of the Thrift Shop complex from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. An auction is to be held at 2 p.m.

While in the area, stop in at The Talent Tree, and view (and buy) the crafts, decorative painting, ragnames, and weaving of three talented artists; Patsy Maddox, Liz Miller, and Sandi Petty, being featured this month. The show will continue through Oct. 26.

PANHELLENIC

The Fort Benning-Columbus Panhellenic Organization held its monthly coffee in the home of its president Mrs. Ed Schumacher on Sept. 22. Co-hostess for the coffee was Mrs. John York.

Many newcomers were welcomed to the group. Plans were made for a re-organization meeting and an election of officers to be held in November. The group also made tentative plans for a fall husband and wife get-together.

This group meets on the third Friday of each month and sponsors a monthly bridge group. We cordially invite our friends from the community of Columbus and other eligible residents of Fort Benning to join our group. For more information call Mrs. Ed Schumacher 687-3370.

Auto Mechanics for Ladies: Oct. 23. Two lessons for 4 lessons. Contact Mrs. Richard Runke, 545-4140.

On Oct. 11, the Environmental Workshop will meet at the OWC Lounge at 10 a.m. to view the film "Water" and hear a report on the state of water pollution in the Chattahoochee River.

OWC sponsors two weekly bridge games. Duplicate bridge every Monday at 12:30 p.m. at the Main Officers' Club, and party bridge each Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Country Club. For further information contact Mrs. Paul Serff at 688-6087.

1971 INF. BDE.

"Getting to know" the 1971 "Wife" was the theme for the Brigade Musical - Fashion Show luncheon, hosted by Headquarters ladies Sept. 20 in the Supper Club at Fort Benning.

The honored guests introduced by Mrs. Charles Arnecke, were Mrs. Orwin Talbot, Mrs. William Richardson and Mrs. Willard Latham.

The moment you walked in the door you were met by bright yellow "Happy Faces" smiling right at you from all over the room. Each round table was decorated with a flower pot of yellow tissue flowers and big holly-like "Happy Faces". The mood of "we'd like to get to know you better" was further enhanced by changing of seats before dessert was served. The musical fashion show was the enjoyed with new faces at different tables.

The fashion show skit, writer and narrated by Sara Beth Harbour, depicted a very busy day in the life of an Army wife at Fort Benning. The Brigade Commander's wife, Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, and the four Battalion commander's wives, Mrs. Watha Eddins, Mrs. Curtis Hogan, Mrs. Robert Orland and Mrs. Robert Faulkender were each introduced, first by a short biographical sketch and then represented by a fashion model in an ensemble of the lady's special ladies.

Modeling the attractive ensembles from a local fashion shop were the lovely Brigade wives:

Mesdames Ronald Formlak, Thomas Woods, James Howell, Michael Puckett, Jerome Faust, Larry Higgins, and Arthur Kellum.

The musical renditions throughout the fashion show can be credited to the talents of Mrs. Richard Rowe at the piano, and the lovely voices of Mrs. Mont Robertson, Mrs. Larry Aaron, and Mrs. Thomas Griffin, who also sang a solo "Leaving on a Jet Plane", and Mrs. Robert Bifano, who also sang "Rain Drops" and the English Version of "Vissi d'arte" from Puccini's "Tosca."

Mrs. Michel Puckett and Mrs. Arthur Kellum entertained the ladies of HEADQUARTERS, 1971 Infantry Brigade on Sept. 20 with a coffee in the Corregidor Room, Main Officers' Club.

A beautiful autumn flower arrangement was created by Mr. Puckett was used as a centerpiece. Orange candles combined to add decorative fall to the scene, with colorful leaves for name tags enhancing the effect.

Mrs. Charles Arnecke introduced Mr. David Dannebaum Manager Director of the Springer Theatre Co., who gave an entertaining and informative presentation of the Springer Fall production.

During brief business meeting, the following announced the following:

NCO wives president leaves post

Mrs. James Dixon, President of the NCO Wives Club, resigned her position September 27, and Mrs. Charles Spencer was installed as the club's new President.

Mrs. Dixon was the NCO Wives Club nominee in the Fort Benning competition for Military Wife of the Year. She has been a member of the club since 1970, and has served in the offices of President, Vice President, Secretary, and Program Chairman.

Mrs. Dixon has been active as a Clinic Mother at Baker High School, and has been a PTA Room Mother for the past eight years.

Mrs. James Dixon (right), outgoing President of the NCO Wives Club, received a farewell tray on September 27 at Crain Hall, when the new President, Mrs. Charles Stanley (left), was installed. Mrs. Dixon will be leaving for Germany later this month, where she and her family will be stationed in Bamberg. (U.S. Army Photo - Jack Stroud)

Mrs. Dixon was the NCO Wives Club Representative on the Commissary Board at Fort Benning.

Mrs. Dixon has been active as a Clinic Mother at Baker High School, and has been a PTA Room Mother for the past eight years.

Military Wife of the Year selection slated to begin

Once again, the time has come to elect the Military Wife of the Year. Since 1967, military wives clubs from all over the world have nominated their most outstanding members for their honor.

According to an information brochure published in the contest, "the program focuses attention on the large scale voluntary efforts" of military wives "in fostering better human relationships around the globe through their involvement and participation in public service."

This year, wider participation in the Military Wife of the Year Contest is desired. Any and all ladies groups at Fort Benning may enter, not just the Officers' Wives Club. The Ladies' Golf Association, Army Daughters, Panhellenic organizations, Army Community Service, ceramics clubs, and women's chapter groups are encouraged to participate as well. Fort Benning's Military

Wife of the Year will be selected by a panel of judges made up of ladies who represent the military community, both active duty and retired of all ranks, as well as members of the civilian community.

All wives of active duty Army personnel are eligible to participate. Wives of Army personnel who are Prisoner of War or Missing in Action status should not be overlooked as possible nominees.

Each nomination will be considered on its own merit. No special consideration will be given to the nomination because of the husband's participation in the program.

Any copies of letters of commendation, certificates of merit, awards, or citations that are submitted with applications cannot be returned, so participants are advised not to send originals.

1,037th man enlists for 931st Eng.

Last Monday, the 1,037th man to enlist for the 931st Engineer Group under the Unit of Choice program, took the Oath of Enlistment in the presence of Col. James M. Thompson, commander of the 931st Engrs., at the AFES station in Montgomery, Ala. Joseph Hayle, a native of Montgomery, enlisted for a career as a Military Policeman, with the option of serving sixteen months with the 931st Engr. Gp. here on Fort Benning. Hayle is scheduled to take his basic training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky and to complete his training with M.F. AIT at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Asked for his reasons for choosing the 931st Engrs., Hayle replied that he was interested in law enforcement and was seriously considering the army as a career. In addition, "my girl recently joined. She's stationed at Ft. Gordon, and she finally convinced me to join".

His parents too, were very enthusiastic about his decision. Both his father, Reuben, and his mother, Evelyn are behind him in the venture.

Fund Drive tops $25,000

The 1972 Annual Tri-Community Combined Federal Campaign Fund Drive is well on its way with contributions totaling $23,061.81 turned in as of Tuesday, Oct. 3.

According to Mr. James Schoonover, project officer for the campaign, this amount represents 17 per cent of the total goal of $145,000. Eleven of the 20 individual units organized at Fort Benning have reported in with either part of their donation or all of it. Individual contributors from these units have given an average of $101 each, said Mr. Schoonover.

Col. Charles Thebaud, chairman of the fund drive for Fort Benning, urges all Commanders, project officers and key men to complete the fund drive by Oct. 15, and strive for the 2-3 of one day's pay as the fair share donation.

Mr. Schoonover estimated that by Friday, Oct. 6, total donations would double in size.

Powder Puff

Lady mechanics learn the nuts and bolts of auto maintenance

BY PETE FOREMAN

The next time a service station mechanic tries to cheat a Fort Benning lady he may be in for a surprise. If the lady has attended Benning's Powder Puff Mechanics Course, the mechanic will find she knows too much to be tricked into paying for services her car does not need or did not ever get.

Fifteen women finished the second Powder Puff Mechanics Course September 22 at the Fort Benning Project Transition automobile garage. 20 women finished the first down."

Jim Burns, instructor for automotive maintenance at Project Transition, volunteered evenings of his own time to teach the two courses. He said, "We aren't out to make the ladies into auto mechanics. We just want to teach them how to take care of their car by themselves and to teach them enough so that they won't be paying for services that their cars don't need or don't get."

The maintenance course for women came about because of the ideas and work of Mrs. Billie Smith, Club director, and Mrs. Anne Honeycutt, Program Director of Benning's Main Post Service Club.

"We decided to try the courses because Army wives are often separated from their husbands and their wives often get taken when they take their cars to the garage," said Mrs. Smith. "We also hope the course will help keep them from panicking when their cars do break down."

Among the subjects the lady students learned were how to recognize true wheel alignment problems, how to correctly check fluid levels, how to change wheels, and how to guard against being swindled at service stations.

The ladies were extremely enthusiastic students. They thoroughly enjoyed themselves as they learned basic driver maintenance and then worked on their own cars under the supervision of Jim Burns.

"The course is just what I needed," said Mrs. Sam Spence during one of the classes, pausing for a struggle with the lug nuts on her car's wheel and wiping her forehead with the back of her hand. "I'm so glad to be learning the things that I really need to know about my car."

Mrs. Virginia Sibley said with a smile of victory because she and her daughter, Pat, had just successfully changed a wheel on her car. "This course is really valuable. There are so many good services on post that most people don't get to know about them. I just accidentally found about this course when my husband brought home a Daily Bulletin the very day the course was to start. I called up right away to get in. It's just what I need."

Mrs. Lillie Silva, another student, also expressed that she thought the Powder Puff Maintenance Course taught very important driver maintenance subjects. It taught what every woman should know about her car she said.

Book review

The lives of interesting men you will enjoy reading about. The following books may be found in your Special Services Libraries:

MAN OF THE CENTURY — Editor of the Reader's Digest — No one in our time has been a greater claim to the title Man of the Century than Sir Winston Churchill. The sixty-one years of his life might well be called the 'Age of Churchill, for history now marks the imperishable marks of his mind and spirit.

Y. A. TITTLE: I PASS. — Don Smith — Considered by the man who plays the violent game of football to be the greatest all-around quarterback in history, Y. A. Tittle has been throwing the ball ever since he can remember, from the days behind the tube house to Marshall, Texas, to his record-breaking 38th touchdown pass to Joe Morris in the Astor Stadium in 1963. This is the heartwarming story of a man who faced the toughest possible competition long after a lesser man would have retired.

ONELL, SON AND PLAYWRIGHT — Louis Sheaffer — This biography gives a portrait of Eugene O'Neill different in some respects from the customary image, chiefly concerning his feelings toward his parents and it offers both new information and some fresh thoughts on his plays, particularly in regard to their autobiographical content.

ROBERT BROWNING AND HIS WORLD: TWO ROBERT BROWNING'S — Maisie Ward — In this portrayal of Browning's life is a particularly perceptive analysis of his relationship with his son, who much spoiled during Elizabeth's lifetime, was never adequately able to come to grips with the private responsibilities and obligations of a grown man.

THE SERVICE: THE MEMORIES OF GENERAL REINHARDT GEHLEN — An account of the legendary spy-master - in chief, Hitler's head of military espionage in Russia, who as the war ended transferred his mammoth files and network of spies to the service of the Western Allies, ultimately to become chief of the Western agency.

Weekend events offered on post

In an effort to provide some on-post activities for military personnel at Fort Benning during the Columbus Day weekend, the Special Services Office has planned several special events.

The holiday weekend which covers Oct. 7-9, will see such things as an invitational handball tournament, giant screen football game and bowling competition.

The Main Post Service Club will present a Giant Screen Pro Football Game at 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 8, with a Holiday Buffet at 6:00 p.m. on Oct. 9.

The Kelley Hill Service Club will present NCAA Football at 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 7, and an Italian Travel Party at 7:30 p.m. with food and refreshments.

The Harmony Church Service Club will present NCAA football at 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 7. Pro Football on Oct. 8 and a free buffet at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 9.

The Sports Branch of Special Services will feature an invitational Baseball Tournament Oct. 7-9, starting daily at 1:00 p.m. Singles and double competition is scheduled. Elimination will be held at each gym on Oct. 7-8 with Finals scheduled at the Main Post Gym on Oct. 9.

All of the craft shops, normally closed on Mondays, will be open from 8:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 9.

The Libraries will operate on regular holiday schedules from 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The Youth Center will host a Columbus Day Open House from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Oct. 9. Youth Football Games will be played from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 7, on Blue Field and Doody Stadium.

The Main Post Bowling Center will feature competition in a special tournament.

Singapore soldiers taught the art at Benning

BY PETE FOREMAN
Fort Benning is still expanding its role as the free world's chief center for training infantry. The Republic of Singapore has been added to the long list of nations that have sent significant numbers of infantrymen to train at Fort Benning.

Fort Benning is now hosting 52 soldiers from Singapore, 7 officers and 45 enlisted men, to give them airborne, ranger, and Pathfinder training.

These allied students from Singapore arrived at Fort Benning August 17 highly enthusiastic and ready to begin the Basic Airborne Course immediately. On Sept. 7 they completed airborne training with excellent results and are at this time half way through the Ranger Course.

Out of many volunteers from the Singapore Army these soldiers were selected because of their physical fitness, English ability, and skills in soldiery. Since all men in Singapore must serve 24 years in the armed forces, these students represent the cream of Singapore's male population.

Except for 7 lieutenants and 5 sergeants, all of them are corporals with only 107 months of military life behind them. In spite of their youth, however, they have performed magnificently.

Capt. Donald A. Rehm, whose primary job since August 1 has been to coordinate all administrative matters for the Singapore students, said, "Observing their superb and qualitative while going through airborne training was a real pleasure to me."

Rehm said that all the Singapore soldiers speak and write English well, and they all have a Western name, such as Anderson, Kit, Larry, or George. Instructing them, he said, has not been a problem. In fact, it has been a pleasure because of their tremendously positive attitude.

While the Singapore students were in their tower

On his way

It takes teamwork, speed, strength but above all, the will to win. SP4 Thomas Warren of HHD 6th Maint. Co., 56th S and S Bn., 93st Engr. Gp. HHD won the face as he races for a touchdown in a game against C game with a score of 14 to 7.

PFC Predicto PICKS!

That magician of the midfield prevailed in the pickin' picks once again with a 9-3-1 record. The financial fools from 15th finance were no match for the stadium seer. The ridiculous razzes of the records could only conjure up a pitiful .631 compared to the .750 percentage of the master. They are now just another layer of pillage in my pit of grey.

This week those hideous heroes from headquarters command will try to trip the soccer of the scoreboard. If you too dare to try dial 545-7281 or 545-7841 and ask for Predicto.

Follow me Deep sea fishing, one of many activities at Destin

The USAIC Recreation Area, Destin, Fla., located south of Route 98 between Panama City and Pensacola, Fla., is easily accessible to all Fort Benning personnel.

This facility, operated for the enjoyment of all Fort Benning personnel, both active and retired, has much to offer the outdoorsman.

There are fifteen cabins available, two and three bedrooms, fully equipped to include air conditioning and television. These cabins can be rented at reasonable rates through the Special Services Office on a first come, first served basis with active duty personnel having the first priority and retired persons having the second priority.

The boat has a capability of carrying eight people with four of these fishing at one time.

The availability on the boat is decided by those patrons who are renting cabins. They have first choice of dates, with the rest left open to campers and others to the area. The rates for the boat are $30 per half day and $70 for a full day.

Falcons take opener 29-0 over Bulldogs

In action seen on Green Field, Saturday morning, the Falcons beat the Bulldogs in a Biddy League game by a score of 29-0.

The fast scoring Falcons showed a dependable hard ground attack that could be counted on in short yardage situations. The quarterback sneak proved effective many times against the Bulldogs. The Falcons beat the Bulldogs on the other hand, showed good ball pursuit and hard tackling.

The one-sided score does not reflect the hard work and dedication these boys have given their coaches. During the game, the boys not only showed good football knowledge and execution, but physical conditioning which kept them playing without injuries.

The Falcons are coached by Ivan Horton, and the Bulldogs by William Hall.

In other action Saturday, in the Biddy League it was the Browns over the Raiders 14-7, and the Eagles and Dolphins played to a 14-14 tie.

In the Pee-Wee League, the Falcons beat the Jets 6-0; the Vikings over the Cowboys 29-14; and the Chargers overwhelmed the Chiefs 28-0.

The only game in the Doughboy League was the Cardinals over the Cowboys 22-6, in the Pony League, the Phantoms and the Chiefs, played to a scoreless tie.

boats can be reserved by active duty personnel.

During the winter season at Destin (September to May) one of the most popular attractions is the Florida Fishing Rodeo, this year being conducted from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31. For this state-wide contest, both Destin Recreation Area and the "Follow Me" are registered. The purpose for registering the area is that if an individual is staying at the recreation area and catches a prize winning fish, he receives additional prizes for the catch.

Prizes are awarded for the largest fish caught daily, weekly and an overall grand prize for the largest fish caught during the entire month. There are various categories of fish: dolphin, King, Blue Marlin and such for which prizes are given.

On the final day of competition, there is a fish fry held as an awards ceremony for presenting the awards won during the Rodeo.

As an example of the tremendous fishing at Destin, CSM A. J. Schmitt, Co C, Hq. Comd., USAIC, recently took his family out for the afternoon aboard the craft, "Follow Me" and within three hours, caught 20 King Mackerel.

CSM A. J. Schmitt and wife Sandra pose with their son Tim (far left), and family friend Randy Bray and their catch of 20 King Mackerel caught from the deep sea fishing boat "Follow Me" in Destin, Fla. The group had just finished a half day of fishing in the Gulf of Mexico, at the USAIC Recreation Center. Schmitt is assigned to Co. C, Hq. Comd., USAIC.

For those who don't wish to compete in tournament fishing, there are many one and two-man sailboats, ten and twelve foot fishing rigs and a fourteen foot skit-boat, all available for a minimum charge.

The Special Services Office hopes that Fort Benning personnel make the most of a good thing and spend some time exploring the good times in Destin, Florida, and possibly catch themselves a trophy fish if they wish to get serious about their fishing time.

Some changes to the Post Hunting and Fishing Regulations were published last week. Actually one of the changes was an additional regulation which should go a long way to help keep the post fishing areas clean. Just in case one hasn't seen a copy of the new regulation I'm going to quote it verbatim "LITTERING: Fishing within 25 feet of litter is unauthorized and will be in violation of this regulation. Persons desiring to fish at a specific location will insure that the area is properly policed prior to the start of fishing. Litter within a 25 foot distance from an individual fishing will be prime facie evidence of violation of this regulation."

First offenders will have hunting and fishing privileges suspended for 30 days. Second offenders will have these privileges revoked.

Staff Sergeant Mike Spinks of the Airborne Department got the first deer he has heard about this year. Spinks bagged a 90-pound buck last Sunday afternoon near the intersection of Pine Tree and 1st Division Roads.

The deer season for archers opened on the Georgia portion of the reservation Sept. 29 and will close Oct. 22. Total bag limit is two bucks or one buck and one doe antlerless deer. The deer archery season for the Alabama portion of the reservation opens next Tuesday and will close Jan. 10. The limit in Alabama is two bucks with antlers a minimum of three inches in length.

Very few deer have been taken during previous archery seasons but there should be quite a few taken this season. According to all reports we are going to have the best deer season in the history of the post.

Ecology Volunteers, The Fort Benning special emphasis ecology program has gotten off to a good start by cleanup projects at King's Pond and Victory Pond.

The Fort Benning Bass Anglers Sportsmans Society (BASS) led the way with a complete cleanup of the King Pond area. The 51st Officers Candidate Company followed close behind when they gave the Victory Pond area a good going over.

Both projects were big ones. I don't know in which major unit police area they are located but whoever the ponds belong use these units a vote of thanks.

King's Pond is the largest on the reservation. It has 72 acres of water and is in addition to being a great fishing pond one of the favorite family picnic areas on post.

The pond is ideally located just off Hourglass Road in the Harmony Church Area. It is accessible by all weather handout roads and is very seldom ever closed because of military training requirements.

This pond is intensively managed by the Post Fish and Game unit. The pond was drained and shorelines and bottom were cleaned in 1958. After the pond was filled again it was stocked with about 700 bass and about 20 percent of which were shillercrackers, and about 7,500 bass fingerlings. Later about 2,000 channel catfish were added.

The pond is fertilized at regular intervals and seine samples show all species have grown and reproduced normally and the fish population is in almost perfect balance.

Some of the largest bass, lunkers going up to 13-pounds have been taken from King's Pond.

Victory Pond covers 25 acres. It is located just off 8th Division Road about a mile northwest of the intersection of the Division and Hourglass Roads. This is another pond that gets special attention from the Fish and Game Unit. Back in 1965 it was drained and cleaned. After it was filled again it was stocked with 50,000 channel catfish. Subsequent to that time the pond has received additional stockings. Altogether more than 100,000 channel catfish have been put into the pond over the last few years.

The Fish and Game unit also followed a feeding plan for this pond. There is every reason to believe it has been a success. It's not uncommon for fishermen to take 10 and 12-pounds from this pond and one catfish weighing over 18-pounds was taken a couple of years ago.

There are bigger fish in the pond. I was present a few years ago when about 30 flathead catfish all weighing about 25-pounds apiece were put into the pond. They must still be there somewhere. The success of these monster fish have been found and anyone who had caught one would certainly not try to keep it a secret.

Victory Pond is sometime closed because of a Ranger Department demonstration. It's a good idea to check with the Rod and Gun Club before you go out there.

Ladies prepare field for Pee-Wee football

Getting your son ready for a Pee-Wee football game can be more work than you think. Last Thursday afternoon, several ladies were seen cutting the football field grass with hand mowers on Green Field.

SFC Don Elkins, parent representative to the football league, noted that this was not the only job to be done before the game on Saturday morning. In addition to cutting the grass, the field had to be lined, yardage markers had to be supplied and the chain marker had to be obtained along with a down marker.

According to Elkins, the responsibility to get these things done is given to the team designated as the "home" team. Each team should have this duty approximately 5 times each year, said Elkins. If the duties are not carried out by game time, the home team forfeits the game.

VOLVO: IT'S BIGGER THAN YOU THINK.

The Volvos in our showroom are bigger inside than many larger cars. Take our Volvo 144 sedan. It has more front seat legroom than a Cadillac DeVille. More legroom in back than a Buick Electra. And a trunk bigger than a Lincoln Continental's.

The sticker is usually starting. It lists the equipment you don't pay extra to get. Four-wheel power disc brakes, fully reclining bucket seats, whitewall radial ply tires, tinted glass, electric rear window defroster, fuel injection instead of carburetors. How much for a Volvo that roomy and that well equipped? Less than you might think. $38,400.

*Suggested retail price for Volvo 144 with standard transmission. PPE, exclusive of dealer delivery, dealer preparation, state & local taxes. VOLVO reserves the right to change prices without notice.

“Meeting people is my thing.”

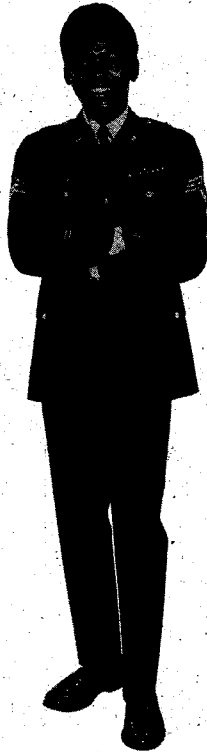

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

“I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

“One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

“I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that!”

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things. Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

Ladies Golf Association welcomes over 40 golfers

Mary Cannon, president of the Ladies Golf Association welcomed over forty golfers at the fall coffee held at the Country Club on Sept. 26. She announced Andy Monahan and Susan Hoernsman as the new nice hole co-chairmen. The ringer chairman, Alice Keifer, awarded the ringer tournament prizes to the following: Lois Sutton, low gross; Bea Cameron, Bobby Kiersey, and Mia Harris, low net; most improved, M a d g e Launford and Helga Brockman. Mary Magner presented silver charms to Helga Brockman for breaking 90; Gladys Fowler for breaking 88; and Marge Tidmarsh for breaking 80. Following the coffee the annual Club Championship tournament will be held October 3, 4 and 5. The defending champion Lois Sutton will be on hand to defend her title. Announcements were made on forthcoming tournaments of interest to the L.G.A. The annual inter-club tournament for the Elebash Trophy will be held at Fort Benning on October 24, 25 and 26. On November 7 the L.G.A. will travel to Maxwell Field for their annual home and home tournament. Following the coffee the ladies played a pro-am tournament mixing nine and eighteen holes.

Bikes scheduled for first time at dragway

One of Fort Benning's sporting activities could be motorcycle drag racing. Ssgt. Chuck Ermi of the Defense Committee of the Brigade and Battalion Operations Department has been riding them for seven years and racing them for two.

"The national record is 12.90 seconds in Estimated Time class but I've been turning in 12.80's with all stock equipment," said Ssgt. Ermi.

Ermi is the owner of a Honda with an engine size of 750 cubic centimeters and claims it is one of the fastest bikes on the road.

"Being assigned to Benning makes it difficult to attend and compete in the National Meets, since they are held at points distant to Columbus, but with sufficient interest it could be possible to bring the meet to the Phenix City Dragway," claims Ermi.

Tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the dragway a bike class will be scheduled for the first time. First place prize is $30 and the runner-up gets a trophy.

It makes no difference what type or size your bike is in order to race, but you must have a helmet and gloves along with a heavy coat.

"If you want to race or see how fast your bike will go, this is the only place to do it," says Ermi.

For further information, call 561-1788, after 6 p.m.

Center Staff changes

Col. Latham now full-time deputy commander; three other major moves made by Gen. Talbot

Col. Willard Latham has been named full-time deputy commander of the Infantry Center and his duties as chief of staff will be assumed by Col. Charles Thebaud, currently assistant commander.

The staff change will allow Col. Latham to devote additional time to duties as deputy commander. In the past he has been deputy commander with responsibility for the following assignments to the 9th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, he served with that unit in Korea for two years and five campaigns as a heavy mortar and rifle platoon leader.

After returning to this country, he served tours of duty with the 2nd Airborne Division and the 31st Infantry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, and later was assigned to the 2nd Battalion, 68th Infantry in the Berlin Division and Community Activities, has not been named.

The staff changes were announced by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, post commander, Wednesday (Oct. 11) and become effective immediately.

Col. Willard Latham who has been nominated for promotion to Brigadier General, was first assigned to Fort Benning in 1949 for airborne training and the Infantry Officers Basic Course after receiving a direct commission.

Following assignment to the 9th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, he served with that unit in Korea for two years and five campaigns as a heavy mortar and rifle platoon leader. After returning to this country, he served tours of duty with the 2nd Airborne Division and the 31st Infantry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, and later was assigned to the 2nd Battalion, 68th Infantry in the Berlin Division and Community Activities, has not been named.

He returned to Fort Benning in 1956 for the Infantry Officers Advanced Course and Ranger training, and then served three years as an ROTC instructor at the University of Texas.

In 1960, Col. Latham attended the regular course of the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and then was assigned to the Iceland Defense Force.

Following attendance at the Armed Forces Staff College, he served as personnel management officer in the Infantry Career Management Division in the Pentagon and later was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Staff. Col. Latham left staff duties in 1966 to assume command of the 2nd Battalion, 68th Infantry in the Berlin Division. See Staff changes page 15

Pioneer soldiers donate blood to local Red Cross

Two bus loads of soldiers from the 1st and 29th Inf. (Pioneers), 29th Inf. Bde. donated blood last week to the American Red Cross Bloodmobile in Buena Vista, Ga.

The donors, all volunteers, gave the blood in the name of the Marion County Memorial Hospital. In addition to the 47 soldiers who contributed blood, the 1st Scout Dog Platoon and the Pioneer Drill Team performed in conjunction with the drive. About 150 citizens came out to watch the performance.

The donors made the 35-mile trip for various reasons, most of them in good faith.

"They let us off work to come," commented Pvt. Denver Walker, HHC, 1st-29th. "Giving blood is a lot easier than washing a jeep."

"I came because I enjoy helping others," explained PFC Lynn Garner, HHC, 1st of the 29th, representing a different viewpoint. When asked if it hurt he said, "I didn't even feel it. I guess I was busy looking at the nurse."

William J. Hays enlisted in Montgomery, Ala., selected Fort Benning as the installation of his choice and is now engaged in basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. If he successfully passes his advanced individual training, Hays will be assigned to Fort Benning for 12 months of duty.

The SOC program offers an enlistee his choice of training in one of approximately 230 Military Occupational Specialties.

While only nine installations are now participating in the new program, the rest of the 29 CONUS stations will join by the end of 1973.

Other eight posts where the option is effective are Fort Devens, Mass.; Fort Dix, N.J.; Fort Knox, Ky.; Fort Belvoir, N.C.; Fort Hood, Tex.; Fort Campbell, Ky.; Fort Carson, Colo., and Fort Riley, Kan.

"We certainly appreciate the help the list of the 29th Pioneers have unselfishly provided our small community hospital," said the blood drive chairman, Johnson Henson, Marion County Memorial Hospital.

"In the past the list of the 29th has made the difference between us meeting our annual quota and missing it. It appears that today, thanks to the Pioneers' help we are going to make it."

The small facility must supply 200 pints of blood each year to be eligible for American Red Cross blood. It was about to fall short of its quota last spring when the list of the 29th first came to its aid.

"Our men always put out a fine effort in community projects," 1st Col. Robert Faulkner, 1st-29th commander, said about the blood donors. "The soldiers who volunteered for this particular project should be especially commended."

Benning selected Station of Choice

Fort Benning has been selected as one of nine Army installations to participate in a new option program that guarantees new enlistees their choice of duty at one of 29 installations within the continental United States.

The program called the CONUS Station of Choice Enlistment Option (SOC), went into effect on Oct. 1, and, on Oct. 2, a Tyler, Ala., youth became the first SOC enlistee to select Fort Benning.

William J. Hays enlisted in Montgomery, Ala., selected Fort Benning as the installation of his choice and is now engaged in basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. If he successfully passes his advanced individual training, Hays will be assigned to Fort Benning for 12 months of duty.

Lt. Gen. Zais presents safety plaque

The 288th Aviation Company (Assault Support Helicopter), Fort Benning, was presented a safety award plaque in recognition of its outstanding safety record during the Fiscal Year 1972, by Lt. Gen. Melvin Zais, Third Army commander.

The presentation was made at the Annual Safety Army Aircraft Accident Prevention Conference at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Third U.S. Army (TUSA) sustained 430 aircraft accidents per 100,000 flight hours in Fiscal Year 1972, making it the "best in the world" in comparison with other major U.S. Army commands.

That announcement was made by Gen. Zais, TUSA commander, as he spoke recently to the approximately 125 people attending the conference.

He attributed the rate, which is the best in the Third Army's history, to the safety programs conducted by commanders and aviation safety officers during the 12 months that ended June 30, 1972, and to the safety consciousness of all aviators.

Gen. Zais presented award plaques in recognition of their records. The plaques were designated as category A (less than 10 aircraft), B (between 10 and 30 aircraft), C (more than 30 aircraft), and D (a separate department of the Army Aviation School or the former School Element at Ft. Stewart, Ga., which has an independent accident prevention program).

Respective recipients were the Aviation Division, Directorate of Plans, Training, and Security, Ft. McClean, Ala.; 288th Aviation Company (Assault Support Helicopter), Ft. Benning, Ga.; 288th Aviation Battalion, 282d Airborne Division, Ft. Bragg, N.C.; and the Attack Helicopter Training Department at Ft. Stewart.

Other conference speakers were Maj. Gen. James

Apple, banana, peach, pear, avocado and other firm-fleshed fruits should be cut with a silver knife to prevent discoloration. Dip the fruit into citrus juice or not to be served immediately.

Lettover mashed potatoes can be reheated easily by wrapping them in foil and heating in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

A few drops of almond extract impart a bitersweet flavor to eggless coffee.

Use sweetbreads from a lamb or calf if you want those with the most delicate flavor and tenderness.

When bottled Aloka was served at the United States dinner during the Moscow summit meeting, Community Party leader Leonard Brezhnev pointed Americans for their wonderful invention of "hot cream".

Mech. to celebrate birthday

On October 6 the 1st Bn. (Mechanized), 58th Inf. (Pz), 197th Inf. Bde., celebrated Organization Day.

The 158th Infantry was formed on June 5, 1947 as part of the regular Army at Gettysburg National Park as Company A, 58th Infantry, an organic element of 4th Division.

In honor of the event the 158th Infantry conducted a mounted review at 1600 hours at Warner Range. The Organization Day festivities commenced, happily, with the mounted review.

THE BAYONET Inside Front

This clothes drying stand in the Officers' Caphart Heating Area looks like a nice safe place for small toys to play. But is it? A closer look reveals several places that could cause trouble. Some of these nails are big enough to stick an adult real good too. A little first-aid kit maintenance would improve this play area a great deal. Do you have any accident making areas around your quarters? A quick inspection now could save a lot of pain and worry later.

What are you doing?

The Fort Benning Ecology movement needs your help and participation

You, Average American Citizen, have finally met the 20th Century. After millions of printed words and hours of radio and television time, you have found some small way to contribute to preserving the ecological balance.

In your search for constructive things to do you have hit upon several actions that you, Average American Citizen, alone against the power of large industries, can do.

LITTER: You used to throw cups, cans, and bottles out the car window with any assorted paper but you're reformed. Now you save it for your trash pile. Yet, how many picnic areas have you cleaned completely before leaving? That means everybody's trash. How many roadside miles have you removed trash from? (PS: exercise is good for you.)

RECYCLE: Now you can relax again. Perhaps you were the one who got everybody in the unit to recycle waste paper and you arranged for the recycle point to collect it regularly. Yet, all the refuse from your house is not recycled. How many rolls of foil does your family use in a year? Tin foil can be cleaned and used again and again. Unfortunately, many plastic products are for one-time use and cannot be recycled.

Do you return all returnable bottles? In a mood of self-righteousness, do you return non-returnable bottles to your local grocery store? Actually, you just missed the boat. The store manager is the poor middle man here. What you should do is write letters to the company promising not to buy its products if packaged in non-recyclable containers. Send letters with several signatures and watch what happens.

AIR POLLUTION: At last you found somebody to carpool with. Instead of using two gas monsters to get to work you only use one. But, how many extra trips have you driven to the corner store or shopping area, or playground, or school when exercise is good for you (and the kids)?

And does your car meet the pollution control standards considered minimum? Do you use nondetergent, nonleaded gasoline and motor oils? Is your muffler and exhaust system "tickety"? WATER POLLUTION:

You finally found a detergent for your laundry and dishes that does not suds. Well, back off and check the phosphate content. There's the real damage deer. In addition, how

Ecology program under way

The Environment Program for Headquarters Command is now under full speed. Total recycling of Command offices, day-rooms, mess halls and recyclable waste is picked up by Headquarters Command S4 vehicles every Thursday afternoon. Other environmental projects include an erosion prevent program by Charlie Company, Headquarters Command in their own unit area. Area and Fort Benning ponds are projects for A, B, Headquarters and High Companies.

Among some of the ponds planning to be policed are Hensley Pond and Weems Pond. Other projects are the labeling of unusual trees and vegetation so as to further "environmental" awareness.

many letters have you written to industries in your areas protesting the dead fish, dying plants and soured waters of streams and lakes they dump waste into?

CHEMICALS: The going gets real tricky here. Not many people read the contents label of a can and figure out what they're really getting. (My sisters are chemistry majors and they have trouble.) Yet, a lot of preservatives are now being proven to be carcinogenic (that means cancer-causing, baby). Others, in accumulated amounts, have varying derogatory effects on the body. Suggestions — try fresh vegetables, fruits, and meats as much as possible. They're also more nutritious than canned varieties. If you're really industrious and don't like pesticides to boot, you could grow your own. Think of all that exercise and fresh air.

CONSERVATION: When you built your house, how many trees had to be cut down? Have you replaced them yet? Your fireplace doesn't need all that wood either. Put plants in the ground instead of taking them out. Hunters and fishermen should kill only what they plan to eat. Killing for sport is a human phenomenon.

And, ladies, do you really need a new fur coat? Endangered species of wild mammals, reptiles, and birds number 861. There are many things that can be substituted for these animals' skins for use in gloves, shoes, handbags, coats, and interior decoration.

How much water does your family pollute daily? Showers use less water than baths and they're cleaner. The water level in the commode can be reduced by adjusting the valve. Reuse vegetable water and meat broths — they're very nutritious.

There's a point to all of this (and this is only the beginning.) What the individual citizen does to preserve the environment can be a tremendous factor in saving our dwindling resources.

The Average American Citizen is a powerful person. His actions will influence his neighbors far more than a ton of printed words. Further, the citizen can express his opinion to "industries, plants, and public utilities. Such organizations must rely on public support and favor to be successful.

Khakis to greens Monday

The changeover date for the winter uniform season for all military personnel is Monday, Oct. 16, 1972.

Commanders should insure that the winter uniforms of their personnel fit properly prior to this date. Particular attention should be paid to the fit of the coat around the waist and the length of the trousers.

Officers and warrant officers should note that the service cap must be worn with the uniform unless TDY away from Fort Benning or while operating a combat vehicle. Unit commanders may prescribe the wear of the service cap or garrison cap for their enlisted personnel.

Since the birth of our great nation men have rallied to defend those forces that would threaten the ideals on which this country stands. There have always been those great individuals who rose above the tide of pessimism and dissension to provide barriers of integrity and honesty which protect our shores of freedom. Tremendous sacrifices have been made to preserve and strengthen America for the good of future generations.

We are seldom asked to make unreasonable sacrifices today, but we are all serving an obligation to our forefathers. We have inherited the greatest nation on earth and it is our duty to sustain this gift.

A primary step toward fulfilling our obligation is to support the candidate which we think will best serve in his particular capacity. Great men are still with us and will continue to defeat those not directed toward the attitude of excellence which is inherent in America.

We at the National Bank of Fort Benning urge you to exercise your right as a free American and please vote on November 7.

A new Fort Benning regulation states that anyone fishing on Post within 25 feet of any litter is responsible for it and is subject to receiving a DR for littering. What other regulations could be used to reduce litter?

Only a dozen steps for ecology

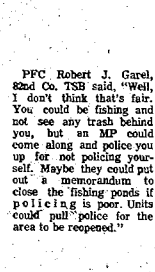

OC John Moorman
51st Co.

Officer Candidate John Moorman, 51st Co., thinks that "strict control by NCOs and officers could reduce the problem. Some don't correct situations they see. There should be more individual initiative also. There should be no need for disciplinary measures."

Sp5 Robert Mark
13th PIG, 831st

Sp5 Robert Mark, 13 PIG, 831st Eng. Grp., said, "I feel that regulation is unjust and unfair. Just because a man is fishing near some litter doesn't mean he left it there. Anyone caught littering on post should receive a DR and have to clean post for a week and that should discourage litterers." "I really can't go along with the regulation though. Innocent people will be getting the DRs. I don't think any GI will go along with it. It isn't fair at all. I'd really be mad if I was fishing and got a DR for somebody else's litter."

PFC Robert J. Garel
82nd Co., TSB

"I can see being responsible for your own stuff," said Sgt. Dale Williams, 10th Co. TSB, "but I can't for somebody else's. It ought to be that if you are seen littering or leaving an area messy with your stuff, then you should be held responsible. According to circumstances this could be a very unfair regulation."

PFC Robert J. Garel
82nd Co., TSB

"Msgr. William E. Webb, 14th Co., TSB had an interesting answer. "What I think happened was Volar. More people were hired for maintenance of roads, ways, etc. and now people thinking that little will be picked up, they care less about throwing it out. I really can't see it (the regulation) You might be punishing someone who polices all his own litter and not someone else's."

The United States Army Field Band of Washington, D. C. will appear in Columbus at the Three Arts Theater, Sunday, Oct. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

The Army Field Band and the Soldiers' Chorus, a component of the Field Band, will not be confused with Fort Benning's Army Band or the Infantry Chorus or any other local musical organization, as good as they may be. This editorial does not intend to disparage any fine band or orchestra or chorus, but it aims to get the record straight.

The Army Field Band has marched in Presidential Inaugural parades, escorted Presidents to special events, and performed for visiting heads-of-state, made thousands of appearances and stirred patriotic emotions in millions of Americans across the country. It is considered by critics as one of the most proficient and inspiring musical organizations in the world.

Known as the "Kings of the Highway," the Field Band Soldiers' Chorus travels thousands of miles each year. They have performed in all 50 states, Canada, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Europe, the Far East, Central and South America, Puerto Rico, and the U. S. Virgin Islands.

Organized in 1946, The Army Field Band has always had more than 100 of the Army's finest soldier-musicians. Its members have studied at leading conservatories and schools of music. Many have played with major symphonies and with leading dance orchestras — before joining the Army. Every one of the musicians was selected for the Field Band out of the entire U. S. Army by personal appearances and competitive auditions. They represent the finest musicians that America can produce.

Even in its short history The United States Army Field Band of Washington, D. C. in itself has become something of a patriotic symbol. Its music has always been of the highest quality. It unites American spirits and renews personal goals. It is not just another band coming down the pike. It is the Army Field Band.

Supervisors receive Alcoholism briefing

Top level supervisors received a briefing in Industry Hall last week concerning the Department of the Army Alcoholism Program for Civilian Employees.

The program, designed to identify and help workers who have drinking problems incorporates several unique features and policies.

Alcoholism is defined as a treatable illness in which the employee's job performance is impaired as a direct consequence of the abuse of alcohol.

An employee having an illness or other problems relating to the use of alcohol will receive the same consideration and assistance that is presently extended to employees having any other type illness.

No employee will have his job security jeopardized by his request for assistance.

Medical records of employees with drinking problems will be held as confidential as all other medical records.

Sick leave will be granted for treatment or rehabilitation on the same basis that it is granted in any other illness.

Supervisors will play a key role in making the program a success. They must be keenly aware of any change in an employee's performance which takes the form of poor workmanship, errors in judgment, tardiness or absenteeism. When they relate these changes to alcoholism immediate action must be taken to correct the situation. Prevention of the illness is easier to effect than rehabilitation after the employee has advanced to later stages of alcoholism.

The guidelines stress that the program is to be conducted as a nondisciplinary procedure aimed at providing aid to the employee.

Any employee that suspects that he or she has an alcoholism problem is encouraged to voluntarily seek help through his supervisor.

ECOOctoberfest in full swing

One of the 197th Inf. Bde.'s ECOOctoberfest projects is the beautification of an

Patriots beautify Harmony Church for ECOOctoberfest

One of the first projects completed in Fort Benning's current ECOOctoberfest program has resulted in the beautification of a portion of Harmony Church controlled by the 1st Bn. (Mech), 38th Inf. (Patriots), 197th Inf. Bde.

Following the condemnation of a World War II-era wooden structure near the 1st of the 58th's headquarters, the battalion called on the post engineers for an evaluation of the building's potential. Officials confirmed that the "condemned" label applied and deemed the edifice unusable.

Company A of the 1st of the 58th assumed the task of destroying the building. Using an M-576 VTR (recovery vehicle) and 30 men under the direction of 1st Sgt. Fred A. Van Peski the soldiers soon reduced the unsightly structure to a mass of rubble.

Van Peski said the old building was "unsightly and dangerous." He added, "some years ago it was probably an office or mess hall, but it deteriorated to such a condition that it could not be used or economically restored."

Two five-ton loads of rubble were hauled away after the structure was demolished. The remainder will be removed by daily 20-man details from the 1st of the 58th.

A special pickup of recyclable glass, paper, tin cans and aluminum cans from Post Family Quarters on Oct. 25 will be an important feature of the Fort Benning ECOOctoberfest PROGRAM.

The purpose of this pickup is to collect data on quantities of recyclables produced on post so that regular pickups can be scheduled and items collected within the routine solid waste collection plan.

Quarters occupants are requested to prepare items in accordance with instructions contained in the above chart. Occupants are requested to segregate items. Plastic or paper bags or cardboard boxes will serve as suitable containers for the material. Place them on the curbside early on Oct. 25.

Post the chart inside a cabinet door in your kitchen for ready reference. For additional information call the Recycle Point, 545-3888 or the Environmental Management Division, 545-4262.

Scouting goes modern

Just as the Army has gone modern, so has Scouting. And indicative of this is the fact that "Boy" has been deleted from Scouts and only Scouts or Scouting is used. To spread the word of the "new" Scouting programs, a training session was held the weekend of September 22-24 to train new adult leaders and to provide refresher training for current Scout leaders.

The training was conducted at Camp Hildesley by members of the Leadership Training Committee with logistical support provided by First Battalion, TSB. The new Scouting program was the result of a study done in California and of the subsequent successful trial program aimed at maintaining young Scouts after two or three years in Scouting. The program was so successful that it being implemented across the United States this Fall.

The study revealed that to reach a representative third of all American boys, Scouting needed to be sensitive to the needs of youth everywhere. In essence, the program marked a return to the original concepts of Scouting. The goal hasn't changed, just the way to get there. The early Scouts were required to know how to stop a horse or to become a Second Class Scout, to earn a dollar. The modern Scouting concept recognized these changes and is attempting to make Scouting grow by giving the Scout more latitude in his advancement plan; helping him learn how to make decisions; letting him have a say about what he does in Scouting and giving him more chances to lead as he gets older.

Part of the new concept is to get the troop more involved in the communities' interests and problems. And the list of acceptable campsite areas has been expanded to making camping possible for those who normally couldn't get to standard campsites. Patriots are also encouraged to do more on their own and to lead themselves more often.

Beginning next week the "Femline" will have a new editor, Mrs. Joseph Jakubowski. Judy and her staff, Mrs. Robin Robertson and Mrs. Steven Zelnick will continue the column's tradition of weekly editing, meetings, typing and trips to the "Baynet" office.

Judy is now the person to call when problems and questions arise. Her number is 322-3596.

With this change, an additional drop off point for news has been established: 201A Madden Ave., main post. This is the home of Mrs. Charles Anderson.

In turning the column over to Judy, I'd like to thank her and the other staff members for their interest and co-operation. A thank you, also, to the women of post who have sent their news to the "Fem Line". Last, but not least, gratitude for the men of the "Baynet" for their tolerance.

At a recent command-ants' wives' meeting, information sheet on "Femline" procedure was passed out. These were to be handed down to unit public relations. If you have not received a copy contact Mrs. Jakubowski at the above phone number.

The "three-man" art show at The Talent Free continues through Oct. 26. The show is open each Tuesday and Thursday and on the third Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The work featured is macramé by Liz Miller, decorative painting by Patsy Maddox and weaving by Sandi Peck.

COMPANY OPERATIONS

DEPARTMENT
Recently the Land Navigation Committee hosted a "Happy Hour" to say farewell to Lt. Col. and Mrs. Elliot P. Snyder, Lt. Col. Snyder came to the Department in July 1970 and served as chairman of the Company Tactics Committee until January 1972. At that time he assumed the responsibilities of Deputy Director of the Department. Our loss is the gain of the Department of Operations and Logistics of which he is now the Director. We wish only the best for the Snyder's and as he said in his farewell speech, "we'll see you around campus."

Department Director Col. Herbert F. Anderson presented wedding trays to the newwives, Capt. and Mrs. Michael N. O'Leary, Capt. and Mrs. Lynn Stover, Capt. and Mrs. Greg Ambrasse and Capt. and Mrs. William Hand.

He also was privileged to welcome six new officers to the Department. They are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Raymond Marshall, Maj. and Mrs. Phillip Lee, Capt. and Mrs. T. L. Pasquarelli, Capt. Parker Stockdale, Capt. and Mrs. Gilbert Wainwright, and Capt. and Mrs. Gary Watson. Capt. and Mrs. Donald H. Evans are leaving us to go to the Advanced Course.

The ladies of HEAD-QUARTERS gave a coffee in honor of Mrs. Elliot P. Snyder and presented her with a framed copy of "An Army Wife". Mrs. Donald H. Evans was hostess for this event.

The ladies of Headquarters, Military Dog, and Land Navigation are hostesses for a white elephant bingo luncheon in the commissary room on Sept. 26. We are all indebted to Sandra Ott for the adorable elephants which decorated the tables and the book and to the recipients for the following sections: appetizers, beverages, soups, salads and vegetables.

INFANTRY AGENCY

The ladies of the Infantry Agency held a luncheon for their September function at Villa Tea Garden in Seale, Ala. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Alfred McDonald and Mrs. Roger L. Watson.

Mrs. Robert H. Siegrist welcomed Mrs. Seth W. Burkhardt and special guests of General and Mrs. Mrs. Gillian Robertson and Mrs. Paul I. Kaufman. Mrs. Arthur Richards and Mrs. Donald Whittlewick were asked to give their report on the Christmas Bazaar. Mrs. Siegrist also announced that Girl Scout leaders were needed in Custer Terrace. Mrs. John L. Daniel will hostess the next coffee.

Flash! The following letters were sent to Mrs. Richard Stoltz, OWC COOK-BOOK COMMITTEE chairman, from the office of General and Mrs. Omar N. Bradley.
"Dear Mrs. Stoltz, General and Mrs. Bradley was pleased to learn of your cookbook project to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of the Officers' Wives' Club of Fort Benning. We consulted with Mrs. Bradley and she suggested that we forward the enclosed recipes which are among the General's favorites for possible use in the "Riverside" chapter. With best wishes for success in your publication."

TRIP THE LIGHT FAN-TASTIC

By Judy Jakubowski
Twenty-six officers' wives "tripped the Light Fantastic" Oct. 4 on the first in a series of trips sponsored by the OWC.

The first stop was "House on Cedar" in the Wynnton shopping area of Columbus. The ladies browsed among selections of silver, crystal and china as well as brassware and many handcrafted items. There were gifts for all ages and interests.

All too soon the group left for the Ledger-Enquirer Building where they heard Charles Black explain the workings of a newspaper and his role in the news world. A very interesting and enlightening tour of the building followed. Seeing clip files, microfilm and photo files, tickertapes, engraving machines and linotype machines helps one better understand the newspaper business.

After visiting "The Eagle and Phonic Mail Club Shop" the tour ended with a late lunch at Spano's Restaurant, in downtown Columbus.

TSB

A special treat was shared by ladies of the 4TH PLATOON, IOAC 672 during their Oct. 2 coffee at the hostesses, Mrs. Roberto Vaquilar, displayed Sarah Coventry jewelry. Mrs. Vaquilar invited everyone to examine and try on the jewelry while she and her co-hostess, Mrs. Larry Smith, served coffee, punch, and refreshments. Discussion centered around the November luncheon, and ladies were asked to bring a canned goods to their November coffee for the ACS food locker.

BOBOL

The ladies of COMBAT SUPPORT GROUP met for their October coffee on the 4th in the Benning Room of the Officers' Club. Hostesses were Mrs. J. P. Ballenger and Mrs. Frederick Betteglier. Mrs. James Dunn, wife of the 121st Aviation Company, discussed Mrs. Richard Stoltz who spoke to the ladies about OWC's golden jubilee tree.

LEADERSHIP COMMITTEE

Mrs. and Mrs. Richard Pope hosted the officers and their families of the 69TH TRANSPORTATION COMPANY in a recent cookout and pollock dinner at Lake Okeuch in addition to an informal hamburger cook-out, the families also enjoyed a delightful afternoon of swimming, skiing and boating.

The Officers' wives of the 69TH TRANSPORTATION COMPANY met in the home of Mrs. Victor Rose for their monthly coffee. Mrs. Rose served pound cake topped with fresh fruit and whipped cream with coffee and iced tea.

Mrs. Richard Pope welcomed Mrs. Lester Howell to the group and then proceeded with the business of the month. All the ladies were informed of the workshop for the OWD Christmas Bazaar project.

Mrs. Lester Howell will host the October coffee. RANGER DEPARTMENT Mrs. G. Joseph Cabalero, Jr. hosted a coffee Sept. 14 for the benefit of the BENNING RANGER COMMITTEE, in her Columbus home.

Interesting and amusing discourse on "Operation Richelieu," a 145 mile canoe trip, traveled by U.S. and Canadian troops. Members of the Ranger Department participated in the trip.

Guests were Mrs. Gary L. Gresh, Mrs. Michael J. Brennan and her son, Ricky, Miss Angie Wheeler and Miss Julie Barry.

Ladies of the PATROLLING COMMITTEE met at the home of Mrs. Frank H. Spoth, for coffee and conversation, Sept. 14.

The group gave a hearty welcome to their newest member, Mrs. Jimmy Fuchs. The Oct. 12 coffee will be in the home of Mrs. Ronald K. Westervelt.

Officers' wives of the Ranger and Airborne Departments gathered at the Supper Club for an afternoon of fine food and fashions, Sept. 21. The decorations emphasized the fact that it was also election day for the Ranger wives.

Mrs. Alvin L. Hennigan, Jr., outgoing president, thanked all the ladies who helped make the activities of the last six months such a success. Mrs. Hennigan welcomed special guests, Mrs. Robert Tully and Mrs. Gre. Schneider, as well as a new member, Mrs. John J. Barry.

Farewell was expressed to Mrs. Michael J. Brennan, Wendell O. Dood, Gary L. Gresh, John J. Inselman, Powell A. Johnson and Earl N. Stock.

A final "Thank you" to the outgoing board was followed by a formal election and passing on of the club gavel to the new president, Mrs. Richard W. Horn. The other new officers: Mesdames Jack M. Petr, 1st V.P. (Coordinator); Joseph W. Frez, 2nd V.P. (Publicity); Gene W. Cole, 3rd V.P. (Hospitality); Frank Romit, Secretary; and James S. Roach, Treasurer, were each presented with a longstemmed yellow rose, accented by a black ribbon and Ranger Tab.

Formalities completed, the ladies enjoyed viewing many lovely fall and winter fashions from pantsuits and long skirts to fun-fur coats and formals. The Oriental influence was definitely present in some of the fashions, as well as the jewelry. Modeling the lovely fashions were Mesdames Hennigan, Frez, Victor E. Arndt, Thomas W. Ellis and Gregg Walls.

Hostesses for the afternoon were the ladies of the Benning Ranger Committee, headed by Mrs. Kart V. Hurdie.

The officers' wives of HEADQUARTERS, THE SCHOOL BRIGADE, met for their monthly coffee on Sept. 20. As has been customary for the past several months, the ladies met with needle and thread in hand to work on "Hobby Horses," KSP's project for the Christmas Bazaar. Not a single hand was idle as the ladies worked on the horses while concurrently conducting their formal business. A special event at the coffee was a donation of food items for the ACS Emergency Food Locker. Mrs. A. G. Norris honored newcomers Mrs. Jimmy Coger and Mrs. William Bowdren. A variety of delicious coffee cakes was served by the hostess, Mrs. Robert Brumback.

Mrs. William H. Harper, wife of the commanding officer of the United States Army Marksmanship Training Unit, entertained the officers' wives, upside down pecan cakes and piping hot coffee as they congregated and constructed peach name tags and place cards for the Department Luncheon on October 3.

In addition to working on the luncheon, Mrs. Billy E. Rutherford held a short business meeting and plans were made to work on the Christmas Bazaar project.

By Elizabeth Yark Those of us who arrived a few minutes late to the Opening Tea of the Fort Benning Officers' Wives' Club and tried to find a parking space can readily agree that an estimated 2,000 women attending was highly possible.

The ladies of the Medical Department Activity, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. William F. Adul and Mrs. Lloyd Samson, decoration chairman, were the hostesses of the opening tea and they outdid themselves. Beautifully handmade decorations consisting of gaily-colored flowers and streamers plus lively swinging "bees" made the theme of the tea, "Bee With Us" come alive. The centrally located, three-foot "Happy Bee" made under the directing of Mrs. James Huff, looked as if she would swoop down on the heavily laden refreshment tables any minute. The assorted cookies, tuna puffs, open face sandwiches and chocolate eclairs were tantalizing. Who can resist champagne and cold fruit punch on a warm afternoon? This Opening Tea was highly successful as the officers' wives and retired officers wives chose the classes and activities they wanted to participate in for the fall and spring. There were a multitude of choices: Girl Scouting, swimming, candlemaking, decoupage, furniture refinishing, interior decoration, international cooking, music lessons, dancing, yoga and sewing to name a very, very few.

Mrs. Bruce Fraser led the business meeting. She announced several charitable activities were in need of volunteers and some ladies in the command volunteered their services for these jobs. Mrs. Larry Craven gave a progress report of the Christmas Bazaar project.

"Poachy" is the best way to describe the monthly coffee held by the Ladies of Headquarters, Sept. 19 at the home of Mrs. James D. Williams. The ladies enjoyed blueberry pastries, upside down pecan cakes and piping hot coffee as they congregated and constructed peach name tags and place cards for the Department Luncheon on October 3.

In addition to working on the luncheon, Mrs. Billy E. Rutherford held a short business meeting and plans were made to work on the Christmas Bazaar project.

By Elizabeth Yark Those of us who arrived a few minutes late to the Opening Tea of the Fort Benning Officers' Wives' Club and tried to find a parking space can readily agree that an estimated 2,000 women attending was highly possible.

The ladies of the Medical Department Activity, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. William F. Adul and Mrs. Lloyd Samson, decoration chairman, were the hostesses of the opening tea and they outdid themselves. Beautifully handmade decorations consisting of gaily-colored flowers and streamers plus lively swinging "bees" made the theme of the tea, "Bee With Us" come alive. The centrally located, three-foot "Happy Bee" made under the directing of Mrs. James Huff, looked as if she would swoop down on the heavily laden refreshment tables any minute. The assorted cookies, tuna puffs, open face sandwiches and chocolate eclairs

Leadership workshop to be held Oct. 16, 17

"Creative Teaching Styles" will be the theme of a Protestant Leadership Workshop to be held at the Infantry Center Chapel Annex, Bldg. 101, on 16 and 17 October, 1972.

Mr. Charles I. Mann Jr., Minister of Education, Peachtree Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, Georgia, will direct the workshop. He will focus upon creative teaching styles and activities, inductive learning as opposed to Deductive teaching, use to simulation games in teaching, and how to lead and stimulate good discussions.

A pot-luck supper, at 6:30 p.m., will precede the first session of the workshop on Monday evening, 16 October. This will be followed by the first class session, and all persons interested in teaching or working in the religious program at Fort Benning—Sunday School, Youth of the Chapel, study groups, or Vacation Bible School next June—are urged to attend.

The Tuesday morning session will center particularly upon Pre-School teaching and a video-tape of a very progressive pre-school Sunday School in action will be shown.

On Tuesday evening special attention will be given to teachers from the first grade through adult.

FTX Aviation Command moves out to the field for training

Last week the majority of the Aviation Command moved to the field for a combined Field Training Exercise. The units involved were the 121st Aviation Company, the 26th Aviation Company, the 21st Aviation Company, the 69th Transportation Company (ADS), the 21st Aviation Platoon, the 187th Pathfinder Detachment, and the Aviation Command Standardization Section.

The exercise was conducted in two locations, the mountains in Northern Georgia and here on the Fort Benning Reservation. Elements were moved between LZ Charlie, north of the Mountain Ranger Camp, and McKenna and Leyte Heliports here at Fort Benning.

The Command continued to provide support for the Infantry School while participating in an invasion scenario in the mountains. The exercise included airlifting an entire company of Ranger Students from Fort Benning to the Mountain Ranger Camp at sunrise on Sunday, and then inserting and extracting these same students on patrols in the mountains.

At the beginning of the exercise, the units operated from concentrated locations. During the scenario, however, a simulated nuclear threat was posed requiring the units to disperse to a number of different locations.

This exercise demonstrated the ability of the Aviation Command to move to the field and conduct extended operations without relying on external support.

A frozen piston bearing grounds an AH-1G Cobra at LZ Charlie. Sp5 Michael Shaw of the 121st Avn. Co. assessed the situation. The entire rotor assembly was removed and flown back to Fort Benning that night in a CH-47 Chinook belonging to the 26th Avn. Co. The 69th Trans. Co. (ADS) repaired the head and it was flown back to LZ Charlie and re-installed the next day.

Coming to the screen

The Great Dictator — In this satirical indictment of Hitler's totalitarianism made in 1940, Charlie Chaplin plays dual roles: Hynek, the mini-mustache dictator of Tomania; and the Little Tramp in the form of a Jewish barber. In the opulent inner chambers of the dictator, Chaplin fits from one lackey's ministrations to another, does a wonderful farcical ballet with a balloon-globe and, perhaps best of all engages in a riotously undiplomatic meeting with Jack Drake as the Bacterian dictator, Napoleon. As his ladylove, Paulette Goddard shines luminously, even when she's hanging SS troopers over the head with her frying pan.

Pancho Villa — To his own people the Mexican Bahido revolutionary Pancho Villa became a legend and hero in his lifetime but most American don't remember that he was actually only man to invade the United States. Clint Walker is seen as the bandit's aide, whose loyalty takes him across the border to collect a shipment of arms. Chuck Connors plays a knit-pickin' Army Colonel so busy inspecting he hasn't heard the warning that Villa's army is on the way. The film is based on a raid that actually took place in 1916 and prompted President Wilson to send General Pershing to hunt down the celebrated revolutionary.

Without Apparent Motive — In beautiful black and white, presumably unrelated people are shot dead by a high power rifle. Frank Sprague with the idea that a sniper who kills randomly without motive is loose on the loose. Detective Carolla whose job it becomes to try to make a connection between the victims finds matters complicated for him when the fourth victim turns out to be his estranged friend. Jack-Paul Tringman is excellent as the tough, relentless and dogged detective who pursues a suspected killer into the violent world of murder and drugs.

Bad Company — Eric Dixen (Jack Brown) escaping to St. Joseph, Mo., to join a wagon train headed into the Western territories rather than be recruited in the Union Army (1862 falls in with a young AVOL and petty crook, Jake Ramsey (Jeff Bridges) and six scantly teenage boys. The West turns out rougher than they expected and the band's number decreases. Consistent of the Frigate of the Apes — Chesu (Roddy McDowell) the offspring of the two intelligent apes Cornelius and Fira who

Dramatizers present 'Edwin Booth' Nov. 7-11

The Fort Benning Dramatizers will present as their Third Army Tournament of Plays selection, "Edwin Booth" by Milton Geiger.

"Edwin Booth" is a play about one of the greatest Shakespearean actors of the American or world stage, who was also the brother of the man who assassinated President Lincoln.

The play will be presented each Sunday afternoon after that of any other has, must of the "Messiah", they are asked to bring it along.

The performance itself will be Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Three Arts Theatre. Harry Kruger, director of the Columbus Symphony, will direct the performance. Horace MacFarland, director of music for St. Luke's, will assist in rehearsing the chorus.

ed Nov. 7-11, at the Fort Benning, Playhouse, Big 1237, on Ingersoll behind the Infantry Museum.

The cast of characters will include: SPS E. Linton Gross III as Edwin Booth the man a Leanne Gomez (dep.) as Edwin Booth the boy; David O. McQueen as William Winter, drama critic of the New York Tribune and friend of Edwin Booth and narrator of the play; Sgt. David Hoyt as Julius Brutus Booth, Edwin's father; Sp4 Miles Sherkey as John Wilkes Booth, Edwin's brother; Lanie Russell (dep.), as Mary Devlin, Edwin's wife; and Cathy Ketrick (dep.) as Asia, Edwin's sister.

Anyone interested in the actor or who would like to work on this play is invited to attend the Dramatizer meetings, held each Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Playhouse, or the Theatre Workshops which are held each Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Playhouse.

Rehearsals for the play are held each evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Playhouse, and anyone interested in a technical position may talk to the director at that time. Further information may be obtained by calling 545-0057.

Auditions to be held

Military personnel and their families are invited to audition for the December performance of Handel's oratorio "Messiah".

Auditions for soloists will be held at St. Luke's Methodist Church Oct. 18 at 2 p.m. through 4 p.m. Four soloists are needed — soprano, alto, tenor, and bass.

Chorus practice begins Nov. 5 at 2 p.m. at St. Luke's. Rehearsals will be held each Sunday afternoon after that of any other has, must of the "Messiah", they are asked to bring it along.

The performance itself will be Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Three Arts Theatre. Harry Kruger, director of the Columbus Symphony, will direct the performance. Horace MacFarland, director of music for St. Luke's, will assist in rehearsing the chorus.

MAH clarifies misleading information

EDITORS NOTE: The previous edition of the Bayonet contained an article on Venereal Disease that was somewhat misleading. We are correcting that article by clarifying it. Col. H. Haskell Ziperman, MC, MEDDAC Commander, and Col. Olin Dobbs, MC, Chief of Preventive Medicine Activity have supplied the following factual information:

Hundreds of cases are not treated at the infectious disease clinic each month. During 1971 the average number of gonorrhea cases treated per month was 114 compared to 105 per month this far in 1972. Syphilis cases averaged 5 per month both years. Although the number of cases per month has decreased slightly, with a lower troop strength the rate per 1000 troops is increasing, reflecting a national trend.

Military VD rates are not comparable to civilian rates due to differences in the make-up of the population. VD rates in the military are calculated for active duty personnel only. This population is made up mostly of young male adults. The rates cannot be compared to civilian rates which are based on a population encompassing all age groups and essentially equal numbers of both sexes.

According to Col. Ziperman, VD incidence rates for individual units are not maintained or compared, and no inference concerning specific units should be drawn from last week's article, which was erroneous in several respects. The Medical Department Activity is not responsible for monitoring them and does not routinely get involved unless requested to provide support. MEDDAC has no detailed knowledge about unit educational programs and therefore can not compare what a unit is doing now as opposed to what it did previously.

Col. Ziperman stressed that his intent in the article was not to belittle the part of commanders and other personnel of this post regarding the VD problem.

So far as treatment is concerned, penicillin is still the drug of choice for both gonorrhea and syphilis. The micro-organisms which cause these two diseases have demonstrated increasing resistance to penicillin and other antibiotics in recent years. This resistance has resulted in larger doses of antibiotics being prescribed to effect cure. Early treatment yields the best results. Delayed treatment or partial treatment (as with self-medication described in the previous article) often leads to complications which prolong treatment.

Individuals can help control VD by using preventive measures and seeking early treatment if they suspect they have venereal disease. If they do have VD they need to identify their sexual contact so that they may be treated as early as possible. All information obtained during treatment and contact interviewing is kept confidential.

For further information contact the TV stations. Programs listings are supplied by the individual stations.

9 teams to play in Post tourney

The 1972 USAIC Company Level Flag Football Tournament will be conducted at Gowdy Field, Main Post, during the period Oct. 16-27, to determine the post championship.

The games will be played each evening Monday through Friday at 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

There are 9 teams from the major units on post participating in the double elimination tournament.

Trophy presentation will be made at the final game on Gowdy Field, Oct. 26 or 27. There will be first and second place team trophies presented along with individual trophies for the team members of the first and second place teams.

James Hill of HHC, 1-2nd Defects a pass from George Goodin of HHC, 17th Bde., in Friday's championship game. HHC, 1st Bn., 2nd Inf., smashed HHC, 17th Inf. Bde., in the flag football playoffs by a score of 19-0. 1-2nd Inf., the defending post champions, lost only one game in the 1972 Inf. Bde. tournament this year and that was an 18-13 loss to the brigade headquarters company team. Other than this loss, no other team in the brigade was able to score a single point against the defense of HHC, 1-2nd Inf. The 1-2nd team along with HHC, 17th Inf. Bde., will journey to Malta Post next week for the Post championship. (Photo by Rick Wasser).

Stock car driver turns jeep driver

The switch from a racing stock car to an Army jeep was not as difficult as one might think, for FFC Harry Link, (at the wheel of the jeep in pic) HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf. (Pioneers), 197th Inf. Bde, (Link, of St. Petersburg, Fla., raced a late model sportsman stock car at local speedways prior to coming into the Army. He is currently assigned to the reconnaissance platoon of HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf. (Pioneers), 197th Inf. Bde, where he does much driving on commitments.

"But driving on the race track has taught me an awful lot about handling a vehicle under emergency situations," he added. "It is an experience that might come in handy and couldn't have been acquired in any other manner."

"I think it was also on the track where I first began watching the drivers around me. You have to watch out for the other guy or he could put you into the wall. On or off the track."

Link does not compare himself with Richard Petty or Mario Andretti. However, his platoon sergeant, SSgt. Eassu Fyatt, did make a comment on Link's driving ability.

"He is a safe driver," Fyatt explained. "I feel that this is an important quality. However, he doesn't keep his vehicles as clean as he should."

Link, who is 18-years-old and has been in the Army for six months, is not sure what he wants to do in the future.

"I'd like to take up racing again," he confirmed, "but only as a hobby. You have to be pretty good to make a living racing stock cars and I need a little more practice before I could say anything like that. I'm a little too cautious to be really good."

Racing action now on Sunday

Racing enthusiasts at Fort Benning will now see their racing action at Tri-County Raceway on Sundays.

Auto racing at The Raceway in Phenix City has been switched to Sunday. Highlighting this Sunday's card of activities will be a Demolition Derby (featured on Wide World of Sports) in addition to regular feature Sportsman and street car events.

Starting time at Tri-County Sunday will be 2:30 (ST) with gates opening at 12:30. There will be a change in racing format this week with Sportsman cars time trialing for their starting positions. Qualifying times will be held from 1 to 1:45 p.m.

On hand will be top driver from all over Georgia and Alabama while the Demolition Derby will feature plenty of color and excitement. Special admission prices for Sunday are in effect with adults being admitted for $3.50 and children 3-10 for fifty cents.

In Saturday's Tri-County action, Eddie Wells won the Sportsman feature after battling it out with Aubrey Rhodes who took second. Third went to Mack Waugh while Woody McNamee and Ronnie Ivey took fourth and fifth, respectively.

In the Street Class feature, which started with 17 cars, Gary White took the checkered flag for the fifth straight week. Behind him were Jackie Lewis, Mac Garner and William Morris.

In the heat races, the Street Division winners were Eddie Wells and Bobby Hall with consolation going to Jackie Lewis.

In the Sportsman heats, winners were Aubrey Rhodes and Eddie Wells while Ronnie Ivey took the checkered flag for the consolation.

Rod and Gun Club plans for a sporting weapons zero firing area are getting well underway. Mike Bricker who is in charge of the project has made arrangements for the club to use Brinson Range in the Harmony Church Area on October 28 and 29. Anyone interested will be able to bring out his sporting rifles or scatterguns on either of these days and fire them.

Hunters can only use shotguns of more than 410 gauge and not larger than 10 gauge to hunt deer on the military reservation. The club will provide the facility for rifle zeroing to accommodate hunters who intend to use them off the reservation.

A shotgun is not a point accurate weapon. They were primarily designed as scatterguns. Most are not equipped with sights and they are all smooth bore. The whole combination makes hunting deer a difficult problem even when the hunter has had his weapon for years and knows all of its eccentricities. With a new shotgun the hunter has a better than 50 per cent chance of not hitting game because his gun is not hitting where he is aiming.

On Brinson Range the hunter will have the opportunity to get familiar with his weapon. Find out how it shoots and what Kentucky widge he has to apply to put his shot where he wants it to go. Probably the most frustrated hunters in the world are hunters who see a prize buck on opening day, take careful aim and score a complete miss then find out at a later date that he was actually aiming a foot too low or too high, left or right to hit the target.

The injured bear was shot, and it was necessary to use a crane to load the carcass onto a truck. "It was the largest bear ever killed around here,"

It's not necessary for a hunter to be a member of the Rod and Gun Club to use the range for zeroing. Hunters who use guns they do not know also would deer that are sometimes not recovered. The Club feels that the chances of this happening should be reduced as much as possible. Zeroing or test firing of shotguns will go a long way toward this goal so the club invites anyone who intends to hunt deer this season to come out and use the range.

Help is Available

Plans also call for some individual to be around who can perform first or maybe second echelon work on guns. They won't be professionals but they will have a lot of practical experience. If you have a weapon that isn't working bring it out. You might get it fixed.

Hunters who haven't had a lot of deer hunting experience or some that are new to the post might get a few valuable pointers on how to hunt or where to hunt. There are always a few dedicated hunters who come out to these affairs and make a day of it. They like to be helpful and could solve some problems for those who don't have a lot of experience.

Turkey Shoot

The club also plans to hold a turkey shoot in conjunction with the gun zero. This will give you a chance to check out the shot pattern of your gun when you use smaller sized shot loads.

The turkey shoot will also be held at Brinson Range on Saturday, October 28. Frozen turkeys weighing approximately 12 to 14-pounds will be awarded to winners in the shoot.

The club has been allowing non-members to participate in these shoots. Lets face facts. The club does make money on these shoots. Not a lot but every little bit counts and the more people participate in a shoot the more money the club makes. An additional benefit is that some of the people who have come out to shoot have joined the club.

Some members have voiced a few objections to this policy. They feel for example that the member should be charged one dollar to participate in the turkey shoot. Any non-member who wants to shoot should be charged a little extra.

This subject will no doubt come up for a decision before the shoot on Oct. 28. If you want to have your desires in the matter considered get hold of your unit representative on the board of governors and let him know how you feel.

There seems to be a reluctance on the part of the membership to get involved in club activities. In the past members were much more active and didn't hesitate to get their feelings on record. You will get much more enjoyment out of your membership if you become involved in its activities.

Bear hunters beware, bears are everywhere

Outdoorsmen and hunters in Georgia can look forward to more areas opening up for bear hunting in the future.

There have been an unusually large number of bears seen in north Georgia this fall and state game ranger said there is even a possibility of a hunting season on them.

Ernest Youngblood, a ranger whose district includes the mountainous Kahun Gap area, said, "I wouldn't be surprised if we had a bear season next year. We've never had one in this area, and I would be surprised if we had one now."

He said every fall the bears come down out of the mountains into settlements and raid beehives and look for other sweets, but he said he has never seen a bear to be more numerous than usual.

State Trooper Henry Dillard said he was driving north of Clayton, Ga., one night last week when his patrol car struck a bear that weighed about 400 pounds and caused about $1,500 in damage to the car.

The injured bear was shot, and it was necessary to use a crane to load the carcass onto a truck. "It was the largest bear ever killed around here,"

Split season for doves

Part Benning hunters can look forward to a split season on doves at the Eufaula Wildlife Refuge.

Jim Tisdale, manager of Eufaula National Wildlife Refuge, announced Wednesday that the refuge will hold public dove hunts during both periods of the split season.

Hunts for the first half of the split season will be held on Oct. 14, 21, 28 and Nov. 4 and 11. Hunts for the second half of the split season will be held on Dec. 23 and 30, and Jan. 7, 1973.

Hunting hours will be from noon until sunset (central time).

No applications will be accepted for these hunts prior to 11 a.m. on each of the dates. On these dates, the refuge checking station will be open at 11 a.m. and permits will be issued on a first come basis to the first 40 hunters applying. There will be no charge for permits.

So says the VA... (Small text and graphic related to a VA notice)

Dillard said, Ernest, a biologist with the Game and Fish Department, said a brief bear hunting season would help hold the growing bear population within manageable limits.

In his view, hunters would be limited to one bear each and would not be permitted to stalk the animals.

"I don't think this would have any harmful effects on the bear population, and could very well be beneficial," he said.

The biologist of Gainesville, Ga., said he is making an extensive study of the black bears of north Georgia and has spent several months trapping and tagging bears in the Chattahoochee Wildlife Management Area of White County.

He said he has even attached radio collars to several. The project has yielded information on weight and characteristics, and the radiotelemetry helps researchers determine the migration and hibernation habits.

Ernest said he does not believe the increased number of bear sightings in north Georgia indicates a sudden invasion of bears from the Great Smokey Mountains of neighboring North Carolina.

"I think this has been a slowly growing trend which is reaching a peak, and the number of bear-human encounters illustrates this peak," Ernest said.

VOLVO: IT'S BIGGER THAN YOU THINK.
 The Volvos in our showroom are bigger inside than many larger cars. Like our Volvo 144 sedan. It has more front seat legroom than a Cadillac DeVille. More legroom in back than a Buick Electra. And a trunk bigger than a Lincoln Continental's.

The sticker is equally startling. It lists the equipment you don't pay extra to get. Four-wheel power disc brakes, full-retracting bucket seats, whitewall radial ply tires, tinted glass, electric rear window defroster, fuel injection instead of carburetors. How much for a Volvo that roomy and that well equipped? Less than you might think. $3849.00.

Saturday's game of the week close call

In the Fort Benning Game of the Week, played last Saturday on Blue Field, the Falcons of the Pee-Wee League edged the Vikings by a score of 24-16.

The Vikings started the scoring in the first quarter with a 15 yd. pass into the end zone. This was followed by a 2-point conversion around right end.

The Falcons retaliated with touchdown by their quarterback on a short plunge, but the conversions on all three TDs were stopped.

The Vikings added another TD with a 36 yd. pass. The conversion was good for 2 points.

Highlights of the second half included 3 touchdowns by the Falcons on 14 and 5 yd. runs and an intercepted pass run back for the TD. Conversion attempts were stopped by successive holding and clipping penalties.

Close to the end of the half, the Falcons intercepted a pass by the Vikings and started a long drive down to their goal line which included a five 20 yd. pass play. Time ran out before a score could take place.

In other action in Little League Football, in the Biddy League the Browns beat the Eagles 30-16; the Falcons beat the Dolphins 44-0, and the Raiders beat the Bulldogs 14-3.

In the Pee-Wee League, the Cowboys beat the Chargers 14-6; the Chiefs continued their winning streak with a 42-0 romp over the Jets. Last week they beat the Chargers 29-0.

In the Doughboy League, the Cardinals beat the Warhawks 18-0, the Thunderbolts beat the Cowboys in a close one, 8-6.

In the Pony League, the Phantoms beat the Demons, 8-0.

Bassham leads U.S. team in CISM match sweep

United States marksmen led by Gold Medal Winning Larry R. Bassham of the U. S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Fort Benning, made a clean sweep of the top spots in the firing of the 15th Annual Counsel International de Sports Militaire (CISM) matches in Cairo, Egypt last week.

Of the 30 Gold Medals awarded, four individual and 16 for team effort, the U. S. shooters won all of them. (The 16 medals for teams were presented one each to the four team members on the four different teams).

Bassham, Olympic Silver Medalist from Fort Worth, Texas, captured both of the individual Gold Medals in rifle competition when he won the Army Standard Rifle and the Military Rapid Fire Rifle and then won two more Gold Medals in leading the U. S. team to victory in these events. He was the top medal winner for the United States in the CISM.

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted.

"The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it"

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

'Swim for your Life' begins Monday

Fort Benning Special Services is sponsoring a "Swim for your Life" program, scheduled to begin Oct. 16.

All active duty and retired military personnel and dependents may participate.

The objective of the program is to contribute to the physical and mental well being of the individual by providing an opportunity to participate in a meaningful and enjoyable voluntary activity by regular swimming until 80 miles is reached," says Capt. Richard A. Hayes, program director at special services.

There are three phases in the program. First is the preparatory phase which should begin with personnel who have recently led an inactive life and or persons who do not swim of exercise regularly. For the initial three miles in this phase, the only requirement is that the swimmer complete 440 yards of swimming during a one day period.

The next phase is the sustaining phase which is for conditioned swimmers about joining the "Swim for your Life" program may be obtained in the sports branch at Special Services Office.

reached the 50 miles goal. During this phase the swimmer must swim a minimum of 800 yards without stopping in each session.

Swimming may be done at any swimming pool convenient to the participant.

According to Capt. Hayes, mileage certificates and certification cards will be awarded by the Infantry Center and the American Red Cross respectively for completing 10, 20, 30 and 40 miles of swimming.

Upon completing 50 miles, the swimmer will be awarded a patch and pin from the American Red Cross.

Awards for 75 and 100 miles will include an achievement certificate and patch from the Infantry Center and for 200 miles and each 100 miles after that will include a wall plaque in addition to the other awards.

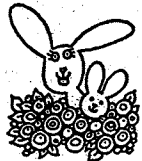

To record your progress, individual progress cards are available at the Special Services Office (Bldg. 884) and at all Special Services swimming pool facilities.

For further information about joining the "Swim for your Life" program may be obtained in the sports branch at Special Services Office.

197th football tournament action

The 197th Inf. Bde. flag football tournament got under way on Oct. 2 at Eschenbarger field at Kelley Hill.

The first game pitted HHC 1-29th, 69th Armor, against the 1st Bn., 29th Inf., in a highly defensive game. The 1-29th Inf., led by Bill Baker, drew first blood with a 40 yard touchdown pass in the first two minutes of play. The extra point was made and the 1-29th went ahead 7-0.

On their first set of downs, HHC, 1st Inf. Bde., also scored a touchdown as the result of an extra pass, but they failed to make the extra point. The remainder of the game was a defensive battle, with neither team able to score another point. Final score: 1-29th, 7, HHC 6.

In the second game of the day, the defending post champions, HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf., 197th Inf. Bde., played G Co., 69th Armor, 197th Sp. Bn. It was practically a repeat of most of last year's games.

played by HHC, 1-29th Inf. The stunning offense attack launched by co-captains Milton Johnson at quarterback, and Bill Patterson at left end, proved to be too much for the 69th Armor team as HHC, 1-29th Inf. got out to an early lead, 6-0.

Before the first half was up the 1-29th's answer to Sullivan and Bosaley once again broke loose for another touchdown pass and went ahead by a score of 12-0.

Allowing only 12 points to be scored against them in the entire season last year, the HHC 1-29th Inf. team is out to better their efforts this year, as the 69th Armor team found out. When the game-ending whistle blew, the 1-29th had shut out another football team while adding one more touchdown to the score.

Final score: HHC, 1-29th Inf., 19; G Co., 69th Armor, 0.

Joyce Maloof believes. . . .
"THE MOST IMPORTANT PERSON IN OUR BUSINESS IS . . . YOU!"

CAR FOR CAR - DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR . . . YOU CAN'T BEAT TOYOTA

At Maloof's, we have "10 COMMANDMENTS FOR SATISFYING OUR CUSTOMERS."
Our business is built on these commandments. Both of our sales and service departments love them. Over 20 years of automobile experience has taught us, that this is the only way to operate a business.

1. Our customers are our most valuable asset — and the most important people in our business.
2. Our customers are NOT dependent upon us — we are dependent upon them. They don't owe us an ounce.
3. Our customers are the purpose of our work — without them there would be no jobs.
4. Our customers are not just names on our papers — human beings with needs and desires who have an honest right to be satisfied at all times.
5. Our customers are not outsiders — but a very necessary part of our business.
6. Our customers do us a favor when they buy what we have to sell — and we owe it to them to see that they are completely satisfied.
7. Our customers are free to take their business wherever they wish — whenever we fail to satisfy them.
8. Our satisfied customers are an army of Ambassadors of Good Will for our company (you can't get it any other way).
9. Our profits and our jobs depend not only on getting customers — but on keeping them satisfied with everything we do in their behalf.
10. Satisfied Customers are the Life Blood of our business — and every business in America — for without them there would be no business.

Easley selected top driver

Sgt. Johnnie L. Easley Jr., distinguished NCO for 121st Aviation Company Operations, has been selected as the driver of the quarter for Fort Benning. Easley first completed for and won the distinction of Aviation Command Driver of the Month for August. This award, like that for Post Driver of the Quarter, is based on competition in four categories: A mechanical inspection of the vehicle, a written test on post driving regulations, a road test, and personal appearance. Easley entered the competition with his regularly assigned vehicle, AVN-35, the 121st Aviation Company's 2½ ton command and operations van. In winning Post Driver of the Quarter, Easley received 923 points out of a possible 1000 with no discrepancies recorded on his vehicle.

Easley resides on post with his wife, the former Ethel Mae Webster of Birmingham. His hobbies include football and baseball among other sports.

The Aviation Command extends its heartfelt congratulations to Sgt. Easley on his singular accomplishment.

Don't let money problems affect your performance.

You have important work to do. And you'll do your best if you don't have other things on your mind. Like a sack of unpaid bills.

Please note that immunization forms (PHS 731) must accompany each child at the time of physical.

These physical examinations (on-post and off-post) will be conducted in the Physical Examination Section, Martin Army Hospital Annex, Bldg. 323. Please contact the front of Bldg. 308. Physical examination forms for both on-post and off-post schools can be obtained, if needed, by the parents at the time of examination.

Patriots observe 10th anniversary

The 1st Bn. (Mech), 4th Inf. (Patriots), 19th Inf. (Patriots), observed the 10th anniversary of its designation as a mechanized infantry unit on Oct. 6 with a mounted review and day-long celebration involving most of the unit's members and their families.

Brigade Commander Col. Edwin L. Kennedy and Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Robert E. Orland reviewed the unit's troops and mechanized vehicles before an audience of soldiers and their families during the brief opening ceremony commemorating the unit's present organization on Sept. 29, 1962.

Col. Kennedy said he was "proud of the consistently outstanding manner in which the Patriots have performed all assigned tasks."

Following a narrative describing the unit's lineage and battle credits which include campaigns in France and Germany during World War II, soldiers and their families enjoyed a barbecue meal provided by the 18th's dining facilities.

The afternoon agenda included a variety of games and entertainment plus rides for families in several armored personnel carriers.

Soldiers attending the Organization Day activities were treated to special keg of cold draft beer to accompany their rides during the hot afternoon.

Deputy comptroller awarded decoration

George E. Heberling, deputy comptroller at Fort Benning, has been awarded his second Department of the Army decoration for meritorious civilian service during the period from December, 1967, to May, 1972.

The award is the second highest the Department of the Army bestows on civilians and it marked the first time a civilian at Fort Benning has received the honor.

Heberling received his first meritorious civilian service decoration in 1961 and also was the recipient of the Department of the Army Certificate of Achievement in 1970.

A native of Quincy, Ill., and a veteran of World War II Army service as an officer, Heberling has been with Civil Service at Fort Benning since 1953.

He and his wife, Kathryn, live at 428 St. Mary's Road, Columbus, Ga.

Heberling received his decoration in ceremonies held in the office of Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander.

The citation read in part: "Mr. Heberling's job as comptroller and acting deputy comptroller has been accomplished in a manner which resulted in many important contributions approached each new assignment with fervor and initiative which are essential ingredients of any successful accomplishment. Mr. Heberling has provided a stable influence in financial management matters and has been extremely successful in obtaining maximum effective utilization of available funds.

His executive abilities and professional competence have been significant factors in the implementation of a many changes and improvements in installation management."

Heberling received his award and decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters and the Air Medal with 22 Oak Leaf Clusters.

He and his wife have three children: Colonel Leon R. Livingston Jr., graduated from the Citadel, Charleston, S. C., in 1949 with a B. S. degree in business administration. He received an ROTC commission, and was designated a Distinguished Military Graduate of the program.

He has served in Puerto Rico, Germany and the Republic of Vietnam. He was an instructor at the United States Infantry School, Fort Benning, from 1955 to 1966, and assistant professor of Military Science, ROTC, at the University of Illinois from 1961 to 1962.

He graduated from the United States Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in 1964. He came to Fort Benning in August 1970 as deputy director of Personnel and Community Activities. He was named director in September 1971.

His awards and decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal.

Col. Livingston is married to the former Camilla Richardson and they have three daughters.

Army Field Band to perform at Three Arts Theater free

In two days the United States Army Field Band of Washington, D.C. and the Soldiers' Chorus will perform in the Three Arts Theater.

The Sunday evening performance, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., is an admission-free, public-service concert, sponsored by the Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning Chapter AUSA, by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, and by the Columbus News Media.

Because of the great demand, all tickets have been given away.

Charles Daley, President of the local AUSA Chapter, said, "This 90-minute performance promises to be one of the most rewarding events of the year."

The Army Field Band's concert will make Sunday a big day for Columbus. "An event you will not want to miss," according to Daley.

"ARMY FIELD BAND DAY"

Governor Jimmy Carter proclaimed Sunday, October 22 as "UNITED STATES ARMY FIELD BAND AND SOLDIERS' CHORUS DAY" for the State of Georgia.

In his official proclamation from the Executive Department, dated October 3, Gov. Carter urged all citizens of Georgia "to attend this outstanding musical event."

The Governor's proclamation stated, "The United States Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus is the official touring representative of the Department of the Army, and since its original concert at the White House in Washington, D.C. in 1946... has traveled well in excess of one million miles, proclaiming America's heritage in every state... and 23 foreign countries."

The State Capital and the local Atlanta chapters are not the only organizations that have supported the Field Band. Other agencies all over Columbus and Phenix City have been helping to make the concert a success.

Local radio stations, television stations, and newspapers have given many hours of public service time to promote the Army Field Band concert.

High school ROTC units, under Maj. William H. Newbold, have distributed programs and will guarantee a seat for the concert.

Martin Army Hospital will transport patients to the concert. Youth groups of Columbus and Phenix City churches were given special identification, and many bands, orchestras, and choral groups at local public schools.

The governments and chambers of commerce of Columbus and Phenix City have been instrumental since the day the Field Band was formed.

Pay Section changes hours

Operating hours of the Military Pay Section (Building 83) will be changed starting Oct. 23 to provide adequate time for formal classes of instruction, training and physical training of unit personnel.

Lt. Col. W. G. Arum Jr., finance and accounting officer, said a continuing training program "is required in order to provide more responsive and accurate service to military members," and that the additional training time will increase the efficiency of military pay service.

The Military Pay Section will be open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays; 9 a.m. to noon and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesdays (the section will be closed when Wednesday falls on the last two working days prior to payday); 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Thursdays; and 9 a.m. to noon on Fridays.

For the end-of-the-month payday and two working days after payday the section will operate from 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Col. Arum also announced hours of operation for the Finance Services Section (Building 83), stating that the section will be closed two days in advance of payday to allow settling and filing of leave and earning statements in the records.

Veterans Day activities slated

In honor of our Nation's veterans, Fort Benning will be participating in a number of activities throughout the tri-state community.

A Veterans Day ceremony will be held at York Field today at 4:45 p.m. Following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the lobby of Infantry Hall. The public is invited.

The Sport Parachute Club will be performing at the Explorer Committee Airshow in Pascagoula, Miss., tomorrow.

There will be an aviation display at the Marion Institute Homecoming in Martin, Ala., also tomorrow.

A color guard from the 197h Infantry Brigade will be performing during the Miami Dolphins-Buffalo Football Game in Miami, Fla. this Sunday.

The 288th Army Band and a company-size color guard from the 197h Infantry Brigade will be performing during Veterans Day ceremonies at Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 22 and 23.

Maj. George Moss, 31st Engr. Gp., will give a Veterans Day speech to students at Mount Olive High School at 12:15 p.m. today.

Col. Robert B. Nett, DPAR, will give a Veterans Day speech to students at South Girdard High School at 11 a.m. this morning.

Lt. Col. Richard J. Rappaport, commanding officer, 42d Engr. Bn. will give a Veterans Day speech to students at Daniel J. High School at 9 a.m. Oct. 23.

USMAPS

Soldiers stepping stone to West Point

By BILL B. BAUER
 Nearly everyone has heard of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., but relatively few people know of the existence of the United States Military Academy Preparatory School at Ft. Belvoir, Va. USMAPS, the enlisted man's stepping stone to West Point, is an Army school exclusively for soldiers of the active

Army and its Reserve components, but very little is known about the school, within the Army's ranks of the Cadets. The concept of preparing young men for West Point is not a recent innovation but has been practiced as long as there have been West Point graduates. In 1919, General John J. Pershing established two West Point graduates. The Prep School, as it is now configured, was officially established by General Maxwell D. Taylor in 1946 at Stewart Army Air Field. It was moved to Ft. Belvoir in 1957 and is now the only Army operated school specifically designed to prepare enlisted men for the rigorous life of a West Point Cadet. Although entrance to the Prep School does not automatically insure an appointment to West Point, approximately 80 per cent of the Cadet Candidates who graduate in each class do receive appointments. This year alone 159 men went on to West Point as a direct result of the training they received at the Prep School. The academic training is intensive and the physical training is strenuous. However, if you have a sincere desire to attend the U. S.

Military Academy and become a career Regular Army Officer, here's your chance. Don't let what you don't know hurt you. If you are single, between the ages of 17 and 24, and feel that a career as a United States Army Officer is what you really want, write to the Commandant, USMA Preparatory School, Ft. Belvoir, Va., 22600, or see your Unit Commander or the Post West Point Candidate Advisory Officer.

Expectant Parents' Classes

Pregnancy and childbirth are normal, natural happenings. It is believed that through a thorough program of education, the expectant father and mother can be prepared both physically and emotionally to make childbirth and parenthood a satisfying and rewarding experience. The Army Health Nursing Service, in conjunction with the Obstetrics Department, Martin Army Hospital, is beginning another series of Expectant Parents' Classes on 7 November 1972. The series consists of four classes, each two hours long, on the first four Tuesday nights of each month. Classes are held in the conference room on the second floor of Martin Army Hospital. The sessions improve your knowledge of pregnancy, childbirth, and newborn babies. Movies, slides, short talks, and discussion groups help to explain the physical structure of the male and female, reproduction, body changes, signs of labor and infant care. Because of the limited space, you are asked to pre-register for these Army Health Nursing Service 645-5311, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

When setting a buffet dinner, alternate buttered slices of dark and light bread, staked on a bread tray and sprinkled with chopped parsley.

If you're in the market for fresh fish, look for those with bright red gills and a firm flesh that bounces back when you poke it.

Julius Caesar decreed that mushrooms, highly prized by the Romans, should be made available only to the upper classes and not to the common people.

Before searing a pot roast, rub it with minced fresh ginger root. Powdered ginger will substitute nicely, too.

Parsley won't wilt if you wash and blot it well, orange it into small bunches, and refrigerate it in a jar of water so that the stems are kept wet.

If your appetite is wilted, come refresh yourself with a delectable dinner at

New officers installed for CWOC at Mass

On October 6th, during the regularly scheduled First Friday Services at the Mass, the new slate of officers of the Catholic Women of the Chapel (CWOC) was installed.

In order to accommodate the number of people attending, the 9:30 a.m. Mass, celebrated by Rev. George Guzik, the CWOC Spiritual Moderator, was held in the Infantry Chapel Annex, rather than the Main Post Catholic Chapel.

The newly installed officers are: President, Mrs. Allen Wisinger; Vice president, Mrs. Kenneth Gubert; Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Terrence Kennedy.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Leander Galanos.

Following the appointment of new Commission Chairmen, the ladies were entertained with Musetta's Waltz Song, from La Boheme, sung by Mrs. Robert Bitton, and Schubert's Ave Maria, sung by Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald. This was a departure from the usual program format in honor of the special occasion.

Joining the members in the appreciative audience were Rev. James Shull and Rev. Richard D'Arcy, Fort Benning Chaplains.

The first order of new business was the presentation, made on behalf of the outgoing officers to Mrs. Schneider, of an engraved silver casserole. In addition to Mrs. Schneider the outgoing officers were: Vice president, Mrs. Norbert Otto; Treasurer, Mrs. Terrence Kennedy.

Alcohol, Drug Abuse Control Sponsors traveling 'help' show

The traveling road show offered by the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Control Office is available for battalions to educate their leaders in drug abuse prevention and in counseling techniques. A spokesman for the office said, "The program was developed because people cannot be human alone. When some people cannot face their problems, they retreat into drugs. The purpose of the seminar is to help leaders be better equipped when assisting troubled people," he explained. The spokesman described the seminar as having three main parts. The staff surgeon of the Infantry School teaches identification of drugs, effects on the user, and recognition of symptoms the user will show. In the second part, the staff judge advocate covers the legal aspects of drug abuse. "Counseling techniques are the major part of the seminar," he said. "We have discussion on basic counseling principles, the art of listening, crisis counseling, and team counseling," he continued. The spokesman emphasized that this program was available for any unit or civilian activity interested in learning about communicating with troubled people. He said, "We will be taking a two hour version of this seminar to Baker High School Nov. 13-17 sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association. We can visit other schools on invitation."

Bob Hope Army entertainer receives AUSA's highest award

"I've spent so much time around military bases, some GIs wanted to know why I didn't pull latrine duty." That's what Bob Hope said as he received the Association of the U. S. Army's highest award, the George Catlett Marshall Medal. The award was presented to Hope at the Gen. George C. Marshall dinner during the annual convention last week. Elvis Stahr, Chairman of the AUSA, Chief of Trustees made the presentation. Over seventy members of the local chapter attended the event, including soldiers from all of Fort Benning's major units. The medal is awarded annually to an individual for selfless and outstanding service to the United States of America. Hope was the 13th recipient of the coveted Medal. Others include former Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, former General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and former Vice Chief of Staff of the Army and Supreme Allied Commander, Europe, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer. Upon receiving the medal, the comedian said, "I should be humble, but fortunately I think I have the strength of character to overcome it."

Rape Brass Chief of Staff of the Army, Creighton Abrams, was at the head table for the presentation but was one day away from being confirmed for his position by the Senate. Hope said, "I'd like to congratulate Gen. Abrams — but he's still in the bullpen. Why are you eating in a crouch, General?" In explaining how he qualified for the award, Hope said, "I'm just being a ham and searching for the best audience in the world." "I did what I could for a strong America," he said, "I flunked my physical." Hope has entertained over 10 million soldiers since his first camp show in 1941. A pictorial review of the highlights of the AUSA annual meeting will be presented in next week's BAYONET.

Benning Soccer Team admitted to league

The Fort Benning Soccer Team was recently admitted to the Southeastern Military Soccer League. The team is scheduled to play a total of seven games against teams from MacDill Air Force Base, Elgin Air Force Base, Pensacola Naval Air Station and Glyncro Naval Air Station. For the Fort Benning team, the tournament has gotten off to a good start, by winning their first game against Glyncro NAS, 6-4. It was by no means an easy victory. Tired by the long trip to Glyncro, Ga., the men ended the first half down 3-2. Scoring for Fort Benning were Sayel Rashaydeh of ILK, Jordan with an assist from Robert Benche and C. B. Garung of Nepal with an assist from John Prescott. The three Glyncro goals came from Jim Kane (2) and Louis Carlilo, son of the famous Cisco Kid. The second half saw a determined Fort Benning take the field. Spurred on by a brilliant save off a penalty by goalkeeper-coach Felix Enriquez and a solid defense by John Prescott, stopper, the team rallied to swing Glyncro with four more goals, while only allowing one. Scoring for Fort Benning were Sayel Rashaydeh (3) with the last goal coming in the final four minutes off the boot of John Prescott. Prescott's goal came after he made an inspired solo run of seventy-five yards beating five defenders and scoring despite a last-ditch attempt by the Glyncro goalkeeper to stop him. In their next game, Fort Benning comes up against MacDill AFB in Tampa, Fla. Good luck to the Benning team.

Harry Kruger to conduct Army Field Band Sunday

Local residents will get a special treat in Columbus when the United States Army Field Band of Washington, D. C. comes to Columbus for a concert at the Three Arts Theater. During the concert they will see their own maestro lead the world famous Army Field Band.

Harry Kruger, Conductor of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra has been invited to direct part of the Field Band's evening concert. I. Col. Hal J. Gibson, the Army Field Band's Commander and Conductor, made arrangements last week with Kruger over the telephone. Gibson was on a concert tour at the time. During the conversation Kruger said he was delighted to be invited as guest conductor.

A few days after the telephone conversation Kruger said "I've often attended concerts of the Army Field Band on the steps of the nation's Capital building, but I never imagined that one day I would conduct this famous Band myself."

This particular event in Kruger's life was made possible when he moved to Columbus in 1965. At that time he took over the Columbus Symphony Orchestra and also became Professor of music at Columbus College. In an interview, released in his Columbus College office, the affable Harry Kruger happily talked about his pride and joy — the Columbus Symphony Orchestra. Since 1965, when Kruger took charge, the Columbus Symphony has grown from 50 to 80 musicians. It has stepped up from a budget of $5,000 to $30,000, and from a schedule of 3 concerts a year to over 10 concerts of various types. Kruger's lively wife, Mrs. Natalie Kruger, dropped in the office during the interview. This was not surprising. Mrs. Kruger works very close to her husband. A professional flutist, Mrs. Kruger plays first flute in the Columbus Symphony, teaches flute at Columbus College, and concertizes as well. She is also kept busy as the Symphony's publicity director. Mrs. Kruger revealed that the Army Field Band's appearance in Columbus is not her first experience with service bands. As a high schooler, Mrs. Kruger was selected to play at a Boston concert of the United States Navy Band. She said radiantly, "After the concert, they invited me to join them, but I didn't take them up on the offer. I often wondered what would have happened if I did."

Harry Kruger also has had some experience with Army bands. In 1948 he was selected to conduct the Army Band for only a short while, however. Kruger went to the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. After graduating with high honors in 1953 with a Bachelor of Music, he tried a business career. "But I loved music too much," he said, "and in a year I was back working in music." He went on to earn a Masters of Music Education. From 1955 to 1961 he was assistant conductor of the Atlanta Symphony and conductor for five other musical organizations. He then moved to Bowling Green State University in Ohio to direct orchestral activities until he moved to Columbus. Three children are in the Kruger family. All are as active as their parents in music. Becky, 14, plays the violin. Anna, 12, is a violinist. And William, 10, is working out on the cello. They all play the piano and the two oldest are also starting wind instruments. "We are training future talent for the Columbus Symphony," laughed Kruger.

Summer and winter can find them pitching a tent anywhere from Maine to the Florida Keys or from the Southwest United States and Mexico to Canada.

Are you willing to spend more money in order to help ecology by using unleaded gasoline, returnable bottles (deposit required), special packaging, etc.?

Sp4 Joseph H. Floyd, Hq. Co., Hq. Comd., USAIC, said, "Yeh, a few dollars more doesn't mean too much. You're going to throw away some of it on needless purchases anyway. Why not use it on something useful?"

Sp4 Robert McNabb
14th Co., TSB

Sp4 Robert McNabb had this to say, "Stuff like unleaded gas is a good idea. It doesn't cost much more and it helps your car; it makes it last longer. "The extra money spent is worthwhile if it is used to prevent extra expenditures in the cleaning up of pollution. The returnable bottles are a good idea too. Taking them back would mean there is less to throw on the ground." McNabb is from the 14th Co., TSB.

Sp4 Thomas P. Warren
14th Co., TSB

Sp4 Thomas P. Warren, 14th Co., TSB, said "Yes, I would go for that. Eventually we would be living in garbage if not for the ecology boost. The problem might not seem serious now but people should make up their minds before the situation is irreversible. "The products are good, but advertising is not effective enough. TV commercials should be more serious and to the point."

Veterans Day From Valley Forge to Vietnam, Americans responded

This year, Fort Benning celebrates Veterans Day in October, the date designated by a new Federal law. Traditionally, Veterans Day was observed on Nov. 11 and, until 1954, was called Armistice Day.

On that day, now more than fifty years ago, the "Great War" ended. . . over there, President Wilson originally set the day aside that we might remember the val-we men and women who had fought in one of the most costly and bitter wars in our history.

We now know, however, that peace commands containing effort and renewed sacrifice. Unforgettable names they met with hostility or with indifference. Yet like Anzio, two Jima and Bastogne remind us that peace, their role in serving their country is no less filled with freedom and the right of peoples everywhere to determine their own futures is not won easily.

The struggle against oppression continued in Korea, port. and now, in Vietnam. There, another generation of American servicemen was called to fight against forces seeking to overwhelm and subjugate an infant nation, a nation ill-prepared for its own defense.

These American veterans are a select group. They are the thread that makes the fabric of our National life strong.

President Nixon has reminded us that "From Valley Forge to Vietnam, American servicemen have responded even death, that have secured the blessings of liberty to their Nation's call to duty. In response to that call, us and for our children.

They have acted with unsurpassed valor and devotion and have demonstrated to the splendors of freedom all over the world that free men and women will defend the principles

Abandoned children's home improved by 1-29th Pioneers

A group of soldiers from the 1st Bn., 29th Inf. (Pioneers), 197th Inf. Bde. joined forces with the Columbus Kiwanis Club recently in the improvement of a local home for abandoned children.

The home, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis and handles from 15 to 20 homeless children each month, acquired a playground in the back yard, thanks to the help of the 1st-29th.

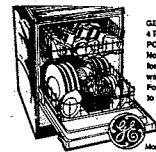

What was once a dangerously steep slope is now a leveled lot with concrete walls to prevent erosion.

"A lot more work was needed here than meets the eye," indicated SFC Billy Cox, who arranged for the six-man detail to help out. It took them three weeks to do the manual labor involved in leveling the back yard. All of the men used came from Co. A, 1st-29th.

The 197th Sp. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde. supplied trucks and drivers to haul dirt to the site and Cox praised their ability to maneuver the huge trucks into the relatively crowded area. Project Transition supplied bricklayers to build the walls.

"I'm happy these men have had a chance to get out into the community and do worthwhile work like this," commented Lt. Col. Robert W. Faulkner, 1st-29th commanding officer, after personally in-

Pests controlled best through sanitation methods

Insects, like every other form of life, have a place in the environment. When they become harmful to humans, however, they must be controlled. This control is the job of Fort Benning's two entomologists, who come under the Medical Department's Activity, Preventive Medicine Division, and the Directorate of Facilities Engineering. The two work very closely together in their related fields.

Maj. William A. Dirmitt, the medical entomologist, is charged with controlling the spread of disease through insects. This responsibility includes making surveys of the insect population on Post to determine if disease-carrying insects are present.

Once a problem is identified, the Directorate of Facilities Engineering Entomologist takes over with the actual measures necessary to control the insect at Fort Benning.

Nature provides her own biological controls in the form of predators and parasites. These are animals or insects which live off others. Often, however, man's controls destroy these natural mosquitos. Then he must substitute ever-increasing environmentally destructive controls of his own to rid his crops or habitat of the more harmful varieties.

The dispersing of insecticides as a control measure should be a last resort, Maj. Dirmitt states. Sanitation is the best control measure available, and if it is practiced, the use of insecticides will only occasionally be necessary, and then only in minimal amounts.

Maj. Dirmitt continues, "Cockroaches and flies, in a climate such as Fort Benning's, are continuing problems. The only basis for their control is sanitation. Unless exterior trash and garbage areas are kept scrupulously clean, you will have flies."

"Unless interiors (under appliance and stoves) are thoroughly cleaned, and opened food kept in sealable containers, you will have cockroaches. In unit or quarters areas, insecticides will be applied only after evidence that scrupulous sanitation is insufficient."

The DFAC Entomologist, Mr. Jack Arline, maintains an ongoing pest-control operation, of which Mr. Willie Jackson is the foreman. This includes roach, termite, and mosquito controls.

Mosquito control on Post involves the use of light traps, among other measures. These determine the extent of the mosquito population in a given area. Samplings from the light traps are studied to discover whether disease-carrying insects are present.

If necessary for prevention of disease, hot spots are treated. One method of larviciding (destroying larvae or eggs) by spraying insecticides in a damp, swampy areas that do not lend themselves to proper drainage.

Each fall, swampy areas are de-bushed and drainage ditches are cleaned and channeled out to destroy stagnant-water breeding places of mosquitoes. This is another method of sanitation.

The entomologists on Post work closely with the local Public Health Service. Each keeps the other informed on what types of insect pests are prevalent and what measures are being taken to control them with the least adverse impact on the environment.

Anyone desiring more information on entomology, or wishing to present a school or club program, is encouraged to contact Maj. Dirmitt at 545-1144 or 545-3518.

Pastry school honors first class of 1972

"Cooking is an art, but baking is a science." These are the words that students of the 1972 Inf. Bde. Pastry School are faced with every day during their training to improve their cooking skills. The sign is strategically placed just inside the front door of the pastry school so that the students are reminded of their goal every day they come to work.

The 1972 Inf. Bde. Pastry School has been closed since last September, but on Sept. 22 of this year, the first class of 1972 was graduated.

SFC James G. Moore, the principal instructor of the pastry school, explains his method of teaching as follows: "It's really quite simple—first I show the students exactly how a pastry of one kind should be prepared, and then I monitor each of them while they attempt to prepare it themselves. If a student makes a mistake somewhere along the line, he is stopped at that point and corrected."

The main objective of the 1972 Inf. Bde. Pastry School is to make better cooks of those men who are already trained to be cooks. Those men that go through the school, and learn the science of baking the various desserts found in the mess halls of the 1972 Inf. Bde., are then expected to return to their respective mess halls and pass on to other cooks what they have learned.

The pastry school is open to personnel with a 9A or 94B (cook) MOS or for on the job training (OJT) for dining facility persons.

One man from each battalion in the brigade may attend the pastry school which lasts for three weeks. Beginning with the next course, however, qualified personnel from other units on the post will also be permitted to attend the school.

The outstanding graduate for the class of Sept. 1972 was PFC Nathaniel Hamilton of HHC 1972 Inf. Bde. The other members of the graduating class were Sp4 Dennis Jones of D Co., 1st Bn., 88th Inf., and PFC James Thayer of HHC, 1st Bn., 23rd Inf.

Col. Edwin L. Kennedy, commanding officer of the 1972 Inf. Bde., was on hand for the graduation and commended the class on their outstanding display of pastries. He was especially impressed with an assortment of cupcakes baked by the honor graduate that he said had "a very artistic touch about them."

Mrs. Talbott heads panel for selecting wife of year

Mrs. Orefa C. Talbott, wife of Maj. Gen. Orefa C. Talbott, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Infantry Center and Commandant, U.S. Army Infantry School, will head the panel which will select Fort Benning's nominee for the 1973 Military Wife of the Year.

Mrs. William R. Richardson, wife of the Assistant Commandant of the U.S. Army Infantry School, and Mrs. Leon H. Livingston, wife of the Commander, Headquarters Command, will also represent the military community on the panel.

Mrs. J. R. Allen, wife of Lt. Major, of Columbus, and Miss Mary Margaret Byrne, head of the League-Enquirer Women's Department, are the representatives of the civilian community on the panel.

Other representatives of the military community are Mrs. John P. Lavioie, wife of the Infantry Center Command Sergeant Major, and Mrs. William T. McCon, wife of the Infantry School Command Sergeant Major.

Representing the retired military community on this year's panel will be Mrs. Earl Holton, wife of Col. (ret.) Holton, and Mrs. Colin Campbell, wife of Staff Sgt. (ret.) Campbell.

The panel will select Fort Benning's representative from among nominations made by various women's organizations on the post.

Military wives from the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Air Force, and the Coast Guard are eligible for selection as 1973 Military Wife of the Year. The winner will be announced at a banquet to be held in Washington, D.C., on Oct. 15, 1973. The 1973 Military Wife of the Year will tour across the United States in May and June, visiting military installations and meeting with Patrice Munsel is an urban-wise, tough and dry-eyed look at backstage life... a tuneless musical night on the town.

The public is cordially invited to attend a barbecue sponsored by the Baker High School Touchdown Club. The barbecue will be held tomorrow, in the Baker cafeteria.

The barbecue will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 9 p.m. All plates are $1.50 each. A bake sale will also be held in the cafeteria during the barbecue, with homemade cookies, cakes and candies for sale.

A number of military personnel belong to the Touchdown Club, which consists of Baker High School parents who are interested in supporting the athletic department.

The purpose of the barbecue is to raise money for projects such as furnishing carpet for the athletic department's exercise room, purchasing a weightlifting machine, and buying an instant replay camera for practice sessions.

These are the projects which the Touchdown Club has completed this year; with the money raised by the barbecue, more will be possible.

Service Club to sponsor 5th cat show

The Kelley Hill Service Club is sponsoring the fifth Annual Cat Show next month in honor of National Cat Week. The show will be held on Saturday, November 11 at 2 p.m. at the Kelley Hill Service Club.

Entries must be in by November 5 in order to be eligible. One entry per person is the limit, and owners are responsible for their entries.

Ribbons will be awarded to first, second, and third place winners in five categories: kittens, Siamese cats, longhairs, American domestics, and exotic breeds.

For more information about entering your cat, call 544-1721 or 545-3973. Owners are urged to keep feline distemper shots up to date.

Preparation of the meal was supervised by Mrs. Alfred Russell, one of the Battalion ladies. German costumes were worn by some of the ladies.

Welcomed to the group were Capt. and Mrs. Richard Malarski. Farewells were said to Maj. Bill Curi, Capt. and Mrs. John Moser, Lt. and Mrs. John Hutchinson, and Lt. Dennis Englebretson. A baby cup was presented to Capt. and Mrs. John Moser.

LEADERSHIP WIVES BECOME AWARE OF HISTORIC COLUMBUS

The ladies of the LEAD-

ERSHIP DEPARTMENT held their October luncheon in the Benning Room of the Fort Benning Officers' Club on Oct. 3.

Mrs. Billy E. Rutherford, wife of the Department Director, welcomed everyone and expressed appreciation to the ladies of Headquarters for hosting the luncheon. Following a discussion on new business and upcoming events, Mrs. Rutherford, Director of the Historic Columbus Foundation, Inc. Mrs. Biggers explained that the foundation is a "non-profit tax-exempt organization founded in June of 1966 for the purpose of preserving sites and structures which are of historical and architectural importance to the heritage of Columbus."

The foundation headquarters is itself located in the oldest house in Columbus, the Walker-Petersen-Langdon House, which the foundation has restored to its original state.

Mrs. Biggers discussed the foundation's numerous accomplishments, which include the famed Springer Opera House where Edwin Booth, the actor and brother of historic assassin John Booth, once performed. She explained how Columbus literally abounds with historic dwellings like the "St. Elmo," the one time U.S. Executive and Henry L. Benning, and United States Presidents James K. Polk and Millard Fillmore.

Special note was made of a recent addition to the National Register of Historic Sites and Places of the Department of Interior. This addition is Fort Benning's House of the Commandant, now occupied by Major General Orvin C. Talbott.

Mrs. Biggers closed her presentation with an invitation to the ladies to attend one of the Heritage Tours of historic Columbus sites.

New arrivals into the Leadership Department were introduced. They included Mesdames Rudolph Baker, Thomas L. Patterson, William E. Pittman and Gregory F. Miller. Guests for the afternoon were Mesdames John Colson, Robert Smith and Tom Robinson.

Mrs. Thomas L. Patterson and Mrs. Gerald L. Weigand each won one of the peachy deer prizes, a jar of homemade peach preserves, made by Mrs. Donald Taylor.

The regular monthly coffee of STAFF GROUP, BBOD wives was held Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Michael H. McCormick, Mrs. Francis A. Norose and Mrs. McCormick were co-hostesses for the Training Management Committee wives. Halloween decorations were used on the tables around the room.

Mrs. Sanders A. Corther was the special guest. Mrs. Allen M. Buckner, A warm welcome was also extended to newcomers, Mesdames Patricia M. Willie Skinner, Francisco Tordillos and Everett Jenkins.

Mrs. Corther announced the transfer of the Communicative Arts Committee from the Leadership Department to Staff Group, BBOD.

A short business meeting was held concerning the various projects the Staff Group wives are working on for the annual OVC Christmas Bazaar. In addition, the next regular monthly coffee, a snow-doll workshop-coffee was planned for Thursday, Nov. 2 at the OVC Lounge. Committees were formed to work on the BBOD luncheon to be hosted by Staff Group wives.

MEDDAC

The MEDDAC Wives Book Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Kaufman to discuss the widely acclaimed book by Franz Kafka, The Metamorphosis. The discussion centered around the symbolic meanings of the "Metamorphosis" and the reaction of the readers to each of the characters. The group will meet again on Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Larry Ritter, 2205 Sumner Ave., Columbus. The selection for November, Yaxzo, by Willie Morris, is a contemporary work depicting the problems faced by a small Mississippi town when its schools were ordered to desegregate in 1970. Any one interested in attending the meeting should contact Mrs. Ritter at 687-2220.

"BE WITH IT"

Fanciful fashions, food and just plain fun headlined the Fort Benning Officers' Wives' Club luncheon sponsored by the ladies of the 197th Infantry Brigade. "Be With It" was the theme and the 300 women attending were certainly were. Many of the gaily colored outfits of the audience were rivaled only by the lovely fashions being modeled onstage.

A great deal of the credit for the successful afternoon must certainly go to the merchants participating in the fashion show. They were Katherine's, the government's, Matthews on Wynnton and Penney's. They supplied some truly beautiful fashions and were the hit of the afternoon with the very generous doorknocks they donated.

Models for the show were members of the ladies of the 197th Infantry Brigade and included: Mesdames Robert J. Bilano, Richard D. Gray, Richard W. Dallas, Rafael DeJesus, Ronald L. Formalka, George N. Gull, Chamecy Johnson, George E. Johnson III, Thomas M. Petty, Larry H. Pogue, John E. Roulton, Alfred A. Russell, Harold A. Threlton. Representatives did the model's make-up and their hairstyles were coiffed by the FBOOM Beauty Shop.

As the models paraded down the runway, Mrs. Walthe J. Eddins acted as commentator and Mrs. Richard K. Rowe provided piano music.

We spotted the three-foot long "Happy Bee" watching the proceedings while swinging from the Supper Club chandelier. "Happy Bee," which is the central theme of the Officers' Wives' Club functions of the year, is really something to see. "She" is beautifully hand-done in black and yellow and is worth seeing all by herself.

Surprise guest of the hour was a bald-headed, Calamity Jane who modeled a lovely red fringed cowboy outfit that no one of the participating merchants claimed as their own. Calamity told of the upcoming OVC food tasting party in February and then disappeared into the sunset, dragging a beautiful autumn hat made from Kivron's. Perhaps she was on her way to come as our party, held, we hope, in Texas.

The 488th Medical Company (AIR AMBULANCE) staged this accident on Fort Benning grounds to show Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic (MAST) procedures. In this SIMULATED incident Georgia State Patrol Officer David Hinton radioed for military helicopter evacuation. The ACTING victims are 1Lt. Sharon F. Whitley (foreground); nurse at Martin Army Hospital, Mrs. Sue Atkinson, wife of 1 Lt. Alonzo M. Atkinson of the 488th, and Sp5 Richard Mullins (under car) of HHC, 34th Medical Battalion. Assisting Officer Hinton are Sp5 Altonia Wilson and Sp6 Willie L. Garland, both of 488th. MAST is not yet in effect at Fort Benning, but plans are prepared so that the program can be implemented as soon as funds are made available. Drive safely. (Photo by John Wright).

Chopper crews take jump training

Although Army Regulations require that parachutes be worn at all times by the crews of fixed wing aircraft, the use of parachutes by the crews of rotary wing aircraft is not required. However, the USAIC Aviation Command SOP requires that parachutes be worn by helicopter crews operating at high altitudes during skydiving, instrument training, and maintenance test flights. It was quickly decided that if flight crews were going to wear parachutes, it might be useful to know how to use them. On Friday, September 26, the personnel of the 266th Aviation Company who are on flight status, as well as non-flying personnel who desired to participate, were provided with a parachute orientation by the Airborne Department here at Fort Benning. The orientation consisted of a thorough briefing on the emergency parachute, a two-hour block of instruction on inspection and fitting, and a half-hour block on parachute landing falls, water landings, and landings in trees.

After the ground portion, everyone was required to make at least one exit of the thirty-four foot tower. This tower, which demonstrates the opening shock of a parachute, is set at the exact height that will have the greatest psychological effect, a point that was not missed by the aviators participating.

Reactions to the tower were mixed. Many held the opinion that an aircraft in flight is much safer and considerably more secure than a tower, especially a tower from which one is supposed to jump. Nevertheless, about twenty percent of the people went out more than once. "It's like a roller coaster ride," one man was heard to comment.

Few of the participants, however, expressed any overwhelming desire to jump out of a perfectly good aircraft in flight, although all agreed that it was good to know how in the event of mid-air collision, fire, or component failure at high altitudes.

This picky lass wants to remind all Fort Benning soldiers to recycle their old telephone books. "But," she says, "the cover can't be recycled."

Units wage war for Ecology

Major units all over Fort Benning are taking an active part in ECOtoberfest. A number of projects have been initiated, and others are in the planning stages. Troops are performing the majority of tasks, with areas of emphasis scattered all over Post.

The 197th Infantry Brigade has a number of projects scheduled. The 1st of the 23rd Infantry is beautifying its battalion area, reseeding eroded areas and planting trees and shrubs to assist in soil stabilization.

The 2nd of the 10th Field Artillery plans to scrape oil contamination out of an area near their motor pool. After the area is cleaned out, they will refill it with soil and plant grass to hold the soil down.

The 2nd of the 10th will also plant grass at Cactus Firing Point at Buena Vista and Box Springs Roads. This is their primary firing area for their School support mission, and erosion has taken hold there.

The 1st of the 58th Infantry (Mech) has torn down Building 4946, a World War II-vintage frame building, using troop labor after obtaining approval from DFAC. After the area is cleaned up, it will be replanted. A 900-gallon tank for used oil has already been installed in the motor pool.

The 197th Support Battalion has already replanted eroded areas in its battalion area. They hauled in 25 five-ton loads of topsoil, spread it, fertilized by disking (missing soil with fertilizer), and replanted the area with grass seed.

The Student Brigade has also undertaken a number of projects. Recyclable materials were picked up in the area on October 21, and will be picked up again on October 25.

Students of Infantry Officer Advanced Course 6-72 canvassed over 970 units in the housing areas and distributed ecology literature to occupants, telling them about ECOtoberfest as they visited each unit. This was a voluntary project on the part of IOAC 6-72, undertaken for the purpose of helping TSB fulfill its ECOtoberfest requirements.

TSB is also planning to build an Ecozone between 10th Division Road and the Chattahoochee River shore. It will become, they hope, the "Flat Rock Park" of Fort Benning. The area will be subdivided by units into police areas, and units will remove trash within their areas and take it to sanitary fills.

The units will also clear fallen trees and prepare the area for conversion into a picnic spot. 55-gallon oil drums will be painted and used as trash cans, and each area will be identified by unit by means of signs.

Across from the Main Post Bowling Alley, the 4th Student Battalion is planning to clear out underbrush and create a picnic area by a small stream near the library branch on Sightseeing Road.

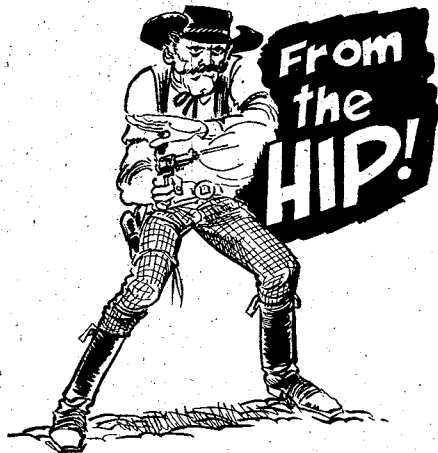

On the north side of Lavoye Housing area, Headquarters and Headquarters Command will beautify and restore an area by a stream which runs from the snack bar by the Main Post Tennis Courts to the end of the housing area.

The 931st Engineer Group is also working on several projects. The 67th Maintenance Battalion is building a picnic area behind the 688th Ordnance Company's Motor Pool. After clearing the area and putting in picnic tables, playground equipment, and trash receptacles, they will plant rosebushes and shrubs.

The 67th Maintenance Battalion will also repair and resurface a ballpark near Building 404, building new dugouts; they will conduct a general cleanup of the cemetery across from the 698th Ordnance Company; and they will beautify each company area.

324th Personnel Services Company will clean up and improve the grounds in the vicinity of Building 75, their headquarters. The 128th MP Company will improve the MP recreation area.

The 43rd Engineer Battalion is planning to build a battalion picnic area at the corner of Kaiser and Cusseta Roads, and will also clean up trash and dump areas within their general area of responsibility.

ECO healthfest sponsored by MEDDAC Nov. 17th

Healthfest sponsored Nov. 17

The Medical Department Activity will sponsor an "ECOhealthfest" on the relationship between sound ecological principles and good health practices on Nov. 17 in Classroom 2 at Infantry Hall.

ECOhealthfest '72 will be a multimedia (films, slides, live demonstrations, exhibits, etc.) fair that will open to the public. Admission is free, and schools are encouraged to schedule field trips to ECOhealthfest '72 by calling Preventive Medicine Activities, 945-1144 or 515-3518.

Planned for ECOhealthfest '72 are approximately 20 booths that range from a phase contrast scope to depict dental plaque (oral pollution) to a color film or recycling of urine to drinking water in space. Major areas in ECOhealthfest '72 include aerospace medicine, air pollution, hearing conservation, human health and ecology, pesticide management, radiological health, solid waste management, and water pollution. In the area of air pollution, for example, a technician will analyze the carbon-monoxide concentration of vehicle emissions. Visitors will watch how water is tested for its bacterial quality.

For the athlete a physician will explain about the respiratory and circulatory systems while undergoing exercise. A dietician will exhibit and debate with you on the pros and cons of organic health foods, and an audiologist will describe how to prevent noise induced hearing loss.

The "ECOhealthfest" will run from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"The Chief Executive: Inaugural Addresses of the Presidents of the United States." This volume contains the complete text of every inaugural address up to and including President Lyndon B. Johnson, preceded by a commentary by Fred L. Israel, who describes contemporary events and influences so that one gains more profound insights into an understanding of the purposes of the addresses.

"The Presidency," John P. Roche: In this volume have been gathered documents that illustrate the diverse powers, tasks, and roles of the President of the United States.

"The American Presidency," Harold J. Laski: This is less a treatise on the presidency of the United States than an attempt, made through English eyes, to interpret the way in which it actually works. Here one can benefit from Mr. Laski's working close at hand with the presidents, as well as his twenty-five years of teaching at Harvard University.

"The Contemporary Presidency," Dorothy Buckton James: An illuminating study of the use of expanding presidential power from the Roosevelt era to the present. Viewing Franklin D. Roosevelt as a transitional figure in the development of the modern presidency, it analyzes those changes which have substantially altered the nature of the presidential office during the Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

"The Year We Had No President," Richard H. Hansen: The subject of this book is as important as the office of the United States Presidency itself. The historical and legal background of presidential inability is complex interplay of events, politics and personalities during the series of power vacuums that comprise "the year we had no president" is set forth in his timely and engaging study.

"The President and the Management of National Security," ed. Keith C. Clark: This is an examination of the organizational structures under the past four administrations to assess the worth of the system devised by each for managing national security. Without judging the substance of past policy decisions, Mr. Clark presents a detailed analysis of the past and possible ways of organizing and coordinating the White House national-security staff, the Department of Defense and the Department of State.

"Recent Presidential Decisions," Richard B. Morris: To read this book is to recapture a time of greatness and grave crisis, to meet face to face men who put courage ahead of popularity and patriotism ahead of party, and to gain new understanding of the enormous responsibility that future presidents will have to assume.

The good neighbor.

Largest ACSC Class is graduated

One of the largest Army Community Service Citizenship Classes, 23 men and women, completed the course work and were awarded Certificates of Completion on Saturday, October 14.

Colonel Bruce H. Fraser, Assistant Commander, presented the awards before a gathering of the students' families and ACS volunteers at the Welcome Center. Colonel Fraser commended the foreign-born students for their labors over the six week period and encouraged them to exercise their right to vote and participate in local, state and national government upon the completion of the naturalization process.

The men and women represented 13 countries including: The Philippines, Canada, Germany, Thailand, Mexico, Cuba, Japan, France, Korea, Taiwan, Hungary, Venezuela, and England.

Following the ceremony a social hour included a variety of refreshments prepared by the students representing recipes from the native lands. Many of the graduates of the course donned native dress for the occasion and presented a delightful array of color and costume reminiscences of the United States.

Flag-Football

Championship

Photos and story

by Rick Wasser

Victory
For previous champs comes easy

The opening game of the Post Flag-Football Championship proved to be a disaster for the Dental Dept. of MEDDAC and another crushing victory for the defending post champions, HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf., (Pioneers), 197th Inf. Bde.

From the game-opening kick-off until the final whistle blew, there was never any doubt in anyone's mind who the dominating team was. The PIONEER team drew first blood with a thirty-yard drive in the first minute of play to go ahead 6-0.

If there was even a spark of hope left for the Dental Company, it soon disappeared when a key interception followed by a punt return pushed the 1-

29th Inf. ahead 9-0.

The remainder of the game was mostly scrimmages for the defending champs, as they utilized this time for practicing difficult plays and working on new strategies. But all the while, the PIONEER defense remained impregnable to the MEDDAC dentists, as it had to so many other teams this season.

However, to keep the spectators from becoming too bored, the 197th team added another couple of touchdowns in the late minutes of the game.

It looks like a repeat of last year's championship performance for HHC, 1-29th, as they utilize every man on the team to his fullest potential. Final score, HHC, 1-29th, 34, Dental Co., 0.

Recent editions of the Post Daily Bulletin have contained items of interest to hunters or fishermen. Since everyone doesn't have a chance to read the bulletin I'm going to use this space today to give additional publicity to some of the more important announcements.

The firing of any caliber rifle on the reservation is authorized only on established rifle ranges after permission has been obtained from proper authority.

Military police, Wildlife officials and individuals on interior guard may fire a rifle in the execution of their duties.

Individuals observed with a rifle in an area where hunting is permitted will be presumed to be hunting in violation of post regulations.

Training that requires the firing of dud making shells into non permanent impact areas has produced areas that constitute a hazard to hunters or other outdoorsmen. These areas have been searched for duds but some of them may have been overlooked. These areas have been marked and personnel should use caution when they travel in them. Any duds seen in these areas should be reported to the Range Division, 545-5188.

All individuals planning to hunt, fish, or engage in any other outdoor activity on the military reservation must check range clearance maps prior to entering areas. Maps are posted at the Provost Marshal Office, Bldg. 215 and Main Post, Range Control office in Bldg. 2221 on Dixie Road in the Main Post Area and the Rod and Gun Club in Bldg. 4650 on 1st Division Road in the Harmony Church Area.

Clearance for licensed fishermen is not required for Twilight Pond, Russ Pond, Russ Pool, Weems Pond, Clear Creek Pond, Hedley Pond, Kirk's Pond, Upatot Creek from the Old Cusseta Road to the Chattahoochee River, Ochille Creek, the Chattahoochee River Shoreline, Uchee Creek or other parts of the Alabama side of the reservation.

The Range Clearance Maps are posted daily. They are in effect for a 24 hour period and will show which areas are open and areas that are off limits because of training, duds or other conditions.

The Kunzig Range Complex, located north of Sunshine Road (Coordinates 870 755-000 758-000 778) used as a test area by the United States Army Infantry Board is a restricted range area. Individuals desiring to enter this area must coordinate with the Range Division (545-5186) and the Operations Office of the Board (545-2164).

The USAIC Hunting and Fishing Regulations, 210-2 dated July 1, 1971 have been amended to permit individuals under the age of 10 years to accompany sponsors on hunting trips if permission has been granted by the Center Chief of Staff.

Paragraph 18 pertaining to tagging of deer and turkey taken on the reservation has been amended to require that the individual taking a deer, or turkey bring the animal to the check station located in Building 5863, Harmony Church Area prior to the end of the day during which the animal was killed.

Paragraph 24 of the regulation has also been changed. It now reads "All boats utilized on the Fort Benning Military Reservation must be registered with either the Georgia Game and Fish Commission or the Alabama Conservation Department. As a convenience to its members the Rod and Gun Club has available application blanks for Georgia registration."

Then there is the additional regulation concerning littering. Under this regulation it is unlawful to fish within 25 feet of litter. Individuals desiring to fish in a specific area must police the area within 25 feet of their fishing location prior to fishing. Fishing within 25 feet of litter will be prime facie evidence of littering. First offenders will have hunting and fishing privileges suspended for 30 days. A second offense will cause revocation of these privileges.

This last regulation has caused a lot of pro and con comments. Quite a few alternate suggestions have been offered. It has caused a lot of people to give some thought to the problem and that's good. If it should, if it is properly enforced go a long way toward reducing litter at post fishing places.

It may even motivate some people to make on the spot corrections and get tough on litterbugs.

Gun Club holds zero days at Brinson range

The Fort Benning Rod and Gun Club will hold a sporting weapons zero and sight-in at Brinson Range to help hunters get ready for the coming hunting season.

Hunters will be able to bring guns and ammunition to the range from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28 and from noon until 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29. Hunters need only bring guns and ammunition. The club will furnish targets and other equipment. Experienced personnel will be available to assist new shooters.

Hunters do not have to be a member of the Rod and Gun Club to use the range. Hunters who do not know where or how their gun is shooting are likely to wound deer that are not recovered. The club feels that the chance of this happening should be reduced to the absolute minimum.

Zeroing or sighting-in weapons should go a long way toward this goal so the club invites anyone who intends to hunt this season to come out and use the range.

For additional information phone 545-6028.

McQuien sets record in Rifle tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — MSgt. James L. McQuien, 1968 and '71 All Army Service Rifle Champion from the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, blazed a new national record in long range competition and won the Grand Aggregate High Power Rifle Championship of the Southwest Invitational Rifle tournament on Camp Bullis ranges here Oct. 14 and 15.

McQuien won the championship crown with a five match aggregate of 522.32x of a possible 600, four points over his nearest competitor, Marine Chief Warrant Officer G. N. Crane of Quantico, Va.

In addition to his new crown, McQuien established a new high mark in long range competition when he compiled a 485.28x in the long range events, after allowing only five points, an unprecedented accomplishment, to slip from his ton ring and almost perfect target. His score has been forwarded to the National Rifle Association to be confirmed and included in the national records.

The two day match, inaugurating the 1973 marksmanship season, saw the individual match honors being almost equally divided between the Army and Marine "Big Bore" competitors.

Marine marksmen shouldered their way to the forefront in the initial 200 yard range event with the Army shooters being narrowly led out. SFC William R. Lee of the Marksmanship Unit broke into the winning circle for the Army squad when he grabbed the top spot in the 300 yard Rapid Fire match, the third individual contest, after placing all ten of his shots in the ten ring for a 100-X score.

McQuien, one of the nation's most accurate long range marksmen, jumped into the winning column after taking the first 600 yard Slow Fire event and from that match, vaulted into possession of the Grand Championship.

Sponsored by Lackland Air Force Base Marksmanship Unit here, the match witnessed the top 69 high power shooters of the nation pitting scores against one another. This included civilian marksmen, Air Force, Marine, Navy and Army shooters, all vying for the top honor.

Since you have to shave every day, you may as well get a comfortable one.

Shaving isn't fun. But it doesn't have to be unpleasant either. A lot depends on the tools you use. Take shaving cream. You need a shaving cream that's moist. Because it's moisture that makes your whiskers soft and easy to cut. Rise has enough moisture to do just that. Slowly it seeps moisture into your beard and holds it there for as long as it takes you to shave. Rise. It can't make shaving fun. But it can make it comfortable.

MTU member selected for WAC of the Week

Sgt. Irene Alcorn of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit (USAMTU), Editors of Army Times, the Army weekly newspaper. Specialist Alcorn, a pistol shooter-instructor with the MTU, was informed of her pending selection and honor the last of September when Army Times editors requested further biographical information for their story.

IRENE ALCORN

A native of Pleasant Hill, Calif., Specialist Alcorn entered the Army for adventure after tiring of the more sedate life of private secretary and college life. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Alcorn of Pleasant Hill.

A relative newcomer to the Army scene, Specialist Alcorn had come to the attention of Army Times when she was assigned to Ft. Gordon, Augusta, Ga. At the Georgia post, she was serving as a news announcer on closed circuit television for the public information Office and had varied and interesting hobbies of motorcycle riding and sport parachute jumping. In addition, she was also participating in Service Rifle competition where she was making giant strides toward being selected to the post team.

Not a normal days activities for an attractive young lady who a short time before coming into the Army in November 1970 had been a private secretary, Specialist Alcorn's story was sure to be recognized by some aspiring newsmen. And so it was that Army Times jumped on the bandwagon.

In the Army, Specialist Alcorn was trained as an Intelligence Analyst. But her hobbies and interest in shooting soon led to her assignment in the Marksmanship Unit.

On visits to the rifle range with a friend, Specialist Alcorn became fascinated with the "art" of shooting and asked to try her hand. She surprised her coaches with her remarkable skill and they asked her to compete for the post team. The first step was taken and a new marksmanship star was in the making.

As a team of the Third Army Rifle Team, she competed in the All Army matches at Fort Benning in May 1972. In the big matches, she won the championship of the women's division for the M-16 Rifle competition.

Since joining the MTU in August, she has shown an interest in handgun and is now shooting and instructing in the Pistol division.

Co. C wins USAIC crown

The flag football team of Company C, Headquarters Command, USAIC won the Command Championships with a 9-0 record.

The team had many hard fought games, especially against Companies A and B of the Command. The well balanced offense consisted of Lemuel H. Padgett, Lafayette Gatewood, Roman C. Kern, Anthony M. Vanzee, Richard M. Hamilton, Randall W. Campbell, William F. Geise and is directed by quarterback Wayne M. Womack.

The defense consists of Vernon J. Priolo, Geronia Lewis, Edith Lewis, James M. Jones, Richard Johnson, Kent D. Tompkins, Kenneth L. Rouse, Hubert C. Jackson, Joe M. Garcia, and Michael L. Bennett.

The greatest personal library of great writings ever assembled...GREAT BOOKS.

Granted, the world is not in good shape. War, pollution, poverty, simple social justice... the problems are all around us. And today, everyone seems to have pat, simple solutions to very complicated problems. Problem is, most of these solutions are more simplistic than simple. Meanwhile, the problems remain.

Freud still has great relevance for today. And that's what the Great Books are all about! They contain just about every key idea conceived by Western man over the past 3000 years. The Great Books are published in collaboration with the University of Chicago, by Encyclopaedia Britannica. A set of 54 scudily bound volumes containing 445 master works by 74 of the greatest geniuses who ever lived.

every one of the thousands of topics and subtopics within the Great Books. In minutes, the Syntopicon enables you to look up any idea in the Great Books and find what each of these great thinkers thought about it.

What more can you do about these problems? How can you, personally, begin to attack them? Paradoxical as it may sound, you can move ahead by looking back. Because these problems are not new, they've been around as long as man has been around. It's just that they're intensified by the surge of population growth and the speed-up of social change.

The $1,000,000 Syntopicon included

With the Great Books (and available only with Great Books) is a unique reference work called the Syntopicon. An amazing index, it took some 8 years and cost some $1,000,000 just to write!

Unlike a dictionary that defines words or a reference book that synthesizes facts, the Syntopicon indexes ideas—

A wealth of knowledge for you to use

As you begin to absorb some of these great ideas, you'll find it may change many of your reactions to the world around you. You'll find yourself re-thinking some of your original opinions on war, ecology, justice, opportunity—all the problems confronting the world today.

You'll find yourself referring back through the Syntopicon to that wealth of ideas in an instant—double-checking your original reaction with your considered reaction.

If you really want to help change the world, and change your life in the process—if you're not afraid to have your ideas challenged—look into the Great Books. Not incidentally, you'll find there a lifetime of reading for pleasure as well as stimulation.

One more entry for the sweepstakes. Mrs. Jean Strickland, 356 Camilla Motel, deposits an entrance slip while hoping to win the "House of the Year" in Fort Meibach, Florida, this year's first prize in the commissary contest, COMSWEEPS IV. This contest is restricted to active duty and retired military personnel world wide. (U.S. photo by Phillip Reid)

COMSWEEPS IV

'Family Commissary Sweepstakes'

COMSWEEPS IV is here. It sounds like a new headquarter, but it's not. It is number 4 in the overwhelming successful "Family Commissary Sweepstakes" promotion, sponsored by the Army Times Publishing Company exclusively for U.S. military families throughout the world.

Last year COMSWEEPS I and II generated more than 600,000 entries. The incentive was cash prizes to be used for commissary shopping of a week, month or a full year. COMSWEEPS III, the first of two-for-1972 commissary sweepstakes, started on April 5 of this year with a new first prize, "Shop Free For A Lifetime."

COMSWEEPS IV, a sweepstakes set for October, has localized promotion directly involving customers with the commissary on their base. So for this sweepstakes, every commissary worldwide will be sent a "ballot" box for in-store display. Suggestions from Commissary Officers in the U.S. and overseas indicated a strong preference for a store display.

Three winners will be drawn from every participating commissary. Their names will be posted in the commissary from which their entries originated. Every local winner will receive a package of participating advertisers' products and also becomes eligible in a later drawing for anyone of the grand prizes.

Cycling

Patriot soldier bikes his way toward cleaner air and exercise

Bicycle riding is one of the fastest growing sports in the United States today as well as a great way to receive Benning.

All over the world, and particularly on college campuses, bike riding for transportation is becoming increasingly popular.

Soldiers from the 1st Bn. (MECH), 58th Inf. (PA-TRIOTS), 197th Bde., are doing their part for ecology by riding bicycles to work whenever feasible. The Patriots feel that this is one way to produce cleaner air at Ft. Benning.

"This is one way I can prevent air pollution in Azezeta by riding my 10-speed bike to work," says PFC Christian W. Bernatovitz III, of Co. A, 1-58th Inf. "At the same time, it allows me to get plenty of exercise," he adds.

Each and every morning—weather permitting—PFC Bernatovitz rides 10 miles to the 1-58th area from his home on main post. In addition, this physically fit PATRIOT soldier runs three miles a day. He received his 500 mile "Run for your Life" patch in January and hopes to get his 1000 mile patch for Christmas.

While attending Columbus High School, he was on the President's All-American Physical Fitness Team and his picture appears in a brochure put out by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot.

Bernatovitz has been in the Army for one year and is a unit-of-choice enlistee for the 197th Inf. Bde. He received basic training at Ft. Polk, Louisiana and his Advanced Individual Training (AIT) at Ft. Benjamin Harrison where he attended the Adjutant General school. He is currently a legal clerk in his company.

Bernatovitz purchased his 10-speed bicycle in Columbus and rides it not only to work every day, but does cross-country riding on weekends.

Emplo '72' takes place Nov. 15

The second Job Fair of 1972, Empl- '72, will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 15 at Briant Wells Field House on Main Post.

The fair will be hosted by the Adjutant General's Division of the Directorate of Personnel and Community Activities. It will open at 1 p.m. and close at 9 p.m.

Empl- '72 is a continuation of the AG Division's efforts to provide a wide range of employment opportunities to Fort Benning personnel who are separating, retiring, or already retired.

Maj. William E. Davis of AG stated, "The fair will not guarantee anyone a job. Its purpose is to open the channels of communication between employers and people who have the skills and training in a wide variety of job areas."

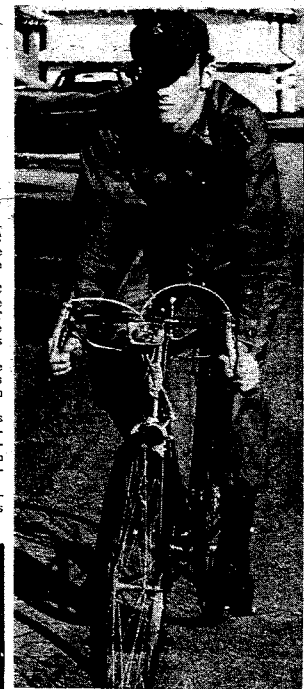

"These include truck drivers, bank clerks, key punch operators, construction workers, service station operators, air conditioners and refrigeration repairmen, supply personnel, electricians, security guards, and administrators."

An offshoot of the President's "Jobs For Veterans" Program, Empl- '72 will acquaint civilian employers with the various types of training given to military personnel in skills which can be adapted to civilian jobs.

Do you like hamburgers and fries? Well, here at Benning they are a part of MVA's everyday short order menu.

"Cycling gives me a good chance to get some fresh air and see the wonderful state of Georgia," says Bernatovitz. "I really dig it."

205th Aviation Company takes survival training

According to Newton's Law of Gravity, "What goes up must come down." This of course applies to aircraft. Unfortunately, aircraft have, on occasion, been known to come down at a time and place and under conditions that one would consider less than ideal.

For that reason, survival training has long been an important aspect of Army Aviation. Army Aviation, by its very nature, has concentrated primarily on land survival. But with the ever-increasing role of Army Aviation, we are finding more and more missions requiring flight over water. In addition, should a flight crew find themselves in a survival situation in a remote area, the fastest and easiest, or possibly the only, means of reaching civilization might well be through utilization of water routes.

To prepare for this eventuality, the men of the 205th Aviation Company, Aviation Command, are now in the process of setting up a water survival escape and evasion training program in conjunction with the Aviation Command's emphasis on Adventure Training.

To test the design of this program, CW4 Sidney E. Shows and CW2 Donald E. Stubbs recently undertook a survival mission of approximately 105 miles along the Chattahoochee River. They traveled by canoe and carried a shotgun and other survival gear. But no food. They were transported to a point just south of Atlanta where they began the canoe. They were able to go as far up the river as they had hoped because, due to weather, the aircraft could not proceed further.

Regarding food he said, "We had more food than we knew what to do with. The beaver weighed about forty-five pounds. When the journey ended we had food for three days left."

Mr. Shows told the following anecdote about this trip: "About three o'clock the first afternoon, we stopped to get water at an old swimmer's cabin. When we told him where we had been and where we were going, his only comment was, 'Oh Lord, son, you gotta go through Hell's Gap.'"

"We asked him what Hell's Gap was."

"He explained that it was a rough stretch of rapids and said, 'Son, you ain't gonna make it.' I asked him to tell us more about the rapids but the only thing I could get out of him was: 'Son, you ain't gonna make it.'"

Shows commented that they had enjoyed the experience very much, but they were "mighty tired at the end."

The 205th Avn. Co. is now planning to tackle a two hundred mile stretch against rocks with the water on either side of the canoe being too deep to stand in so we rolled our bodies out of the canoe on either side dislodging the canoe. Then we would get back into the canoe at the next opportunity."

"Since our feet were wet all day, we spent considerable time each night massaging our feet to prevent immersion foot."

Shows commented that they had enjoyed the experience very much, but they were "mighty tired at the end."

The 205th Avn. Co. is now planning to tackle a

AUSA

BY RANDY BOOSE

AUSA has been described as "everyone's organization." This year's National Convention typified this thought. It was fortunate to have attended the convention and it seemed like everyone was there.

Anyone who has read anything about the convention knows that the big brass were there. It is not often that you get to see the Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froelike, Gen. Bruce Palmer (who was the acting Chief of Staff of the Army) and military notables such as Gen. (Ret.) William Westmoreland and Gen. (Ret.) Omar Bradley, who were all present at the convention. But the Army was also represented with men of similar caliber from all ranks and walks of life. It is this aspect of the convention that I think was the real tribute to AUSA and to the Army. Most of the speeches and workshops were geared toward the "average" soldier.

Speeches covered many areas important to the soldier like BG William L. Webb Jr., deputy commanding general, Fort Ord, Calif., speech on "Basic Combat Training" and SFC James E. Booher 1st sergeant of the year who talked about "NCO Educational Development." Not only were there speeches on topics vital to the soldier but they had ROTC and WAC seminars, and workshops where everything from race to lip was discussed. It was a convention where the brass listened to the soldier, and the civilian listened to the Army and everyone listened to the WAC's and ROTC Cadets. I personally talked with many of these people and it is surprising how easy it is to talk to them. During the functions they went out of their way to talk with "everyone."

Another important part of the convention were the displays that various Army posts and businesses who have contracts with the Army set up on subjects relating to the Army, such as North American Rockwell's mobile low attack radar system and Fort Benning's Modern Volunter Army display.

All of these things together were probably summed up best by the CONARC exhibit which depicted the Whole Man Concept. The theme reflected the "professionalism, new and innovative training at all stages of career development, skill acquisition and fostering initiative and leadership which truly names today's Modern Volunter Army soldier - "Whole Man."

The Army may still have a way to go before it reaches all the goals they have set for themselves but the AUSA convention showed that they have the will to try.

As for the local chapter, it was rewarded for its outstanding contribution to AUSA for the past year with several chapter awards and a special achievement award to Joe Flowers Jr.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Chilled green grapes, tossed with sour cream and sprinkled with brown sugar, make a refreshingly easy dessert or breakfast starter.

The Fannin law of ancient Rome forbade serving any food but a non-fattened hen, thus guaranteeing roasters a long and happy life. Hopeless Romans then created the first fattened fowl that today we know as capons.

The protective coating on caponettes must be removed from caseroles, teapots and other pieces to be used for cooking. Roll the piece in a strong solution of baking soda and water until the lacquer peels and can be gently rubbed off.

Tossed wheat germ, mixed with some melted margarine, makes a crunchy and beautiful topping for creamed cauliflower or other vegetable.

Groundbreaking

New museum to make history Nov. 11

Pomp and circumstance in the best Army tradition will take place at the groundbreaking ceremony for the construction of the new Infantry Museum at Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 11, 1972, at 11 a.m.

The six-million dollar Museum will be constructed on Watson Field near Infantry Hall. It will preserve the history of the U. S. Army Infantry.

"The President's Own," the 1st Battalion, 3rd Infantry will provide ceremonial troops for the groundbreaking. The 3rd Infantry, the oldest active Infantry unit in the Army, was established in 1794.

Also known as "The Old Guard," the unit is the official Army honor guard and escort for the president. In addition, the Old Guard maintains the vigil at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery.

The ceremonial troops are composed of a 60-man historical team which appears in authentic replicas of Infantry uniforms from various periods in American history.

Each era will be represented by the official flag of that period. The Old Guard in appropriate uniform will provide the color guard for the flag.

The groundbreaking will begin with three volleys fired to honor all Infantrymen past and present. "Taps" will salute the men who have given their lives in the nation's service.

A bugler and drummer from the 3rd Infantry will play "Taps," and the volleys will be fired by a team from Fort Benning's 197th Infantry Brigade.

The flags will be presented and a short commentary given on the Infantry in that era. Contemporary music will set the mood for each flag with the 283rd U. S. Army Band, Fort Benning, and the Fort Rucker, Ala., Band performing.

After the historical pageant, tools for the groundbreaking will be parachuted in by airborne infantrymen. Four tools will be used, each from a different historical era.

Throughout the ceremony, The Old Guards' Herald Trumpets will fanfare each section of the activities. The Trumpeters were organized to salute Queen Elizabeth II of England when she opened the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959. Since then, they have appeared with the President and on other occasions of high importance.

In addition, the 197th will display the 56 state and territorial flags of the United States.

Behind each flag and color guard will be a static display of equipment from that period. After the ceremony, the public is welcome to inspect the displays and ask questions. The material is all part of the Infantry Museum collection and is only a small sample of the Museum's variety.

A model of the planned museum also will be on display.

The U. S. Army Infantry Museum was first organized in 1959 in the wooden building it now occupies on Main Post, Fort Benning. Currently, the collection has over 34,000 artifacts from Infantry units throughout American history. Only 20 per cent of these can be displayed in the 5,000 square feet of exhibit space.

The new museum will have 71,000 square feet of exhibit space. Plans for the museum insure that the building will be fireproof, burg proof, weather proof, theft proof, and offer sufficient space to house the current collection and future additions.

When the museum opens in late 1975, the initial exhibits will use 10,000 to 20,000 feet of space. This will immediately double the amount of material on display in the present Museum. After the opening, exhibits will be increased gradually.

Fund raising for the multi-million dollar museum has been a national project for five years. The U. S. Infantry Museum Association, with headquarters in Columbus, Ga., has over $75,000 from Fort Benning alone.

Survivor Benefit Plan enacted into Public Law

With the enactment of Public Law 92-425 on Sep. 21, 1972, career military members can now provide for their widows or widowers and dependent children a survivor income of up to 55 per cent of retired pay.

The Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) initiated by PL 92-425 puts into effect for career members of the Uniformed Services a survivor protection plan comparable to all available to Civil Service employees.

During bill signing ceremonies at the White House, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird expressed to the Congress, his department's appreciation of its long interest in correcting the survivor benefits inequity for military members and for its work in finalizing legislation for the new plan.

"That the legislation 'is a reality today,'" Secretary Laird indicated, "is of particular importance to those of us in the Defense Department who are working for an All-Volunteer Force for our Army, our Air Force, our Navy, and our Marine Corps."

"Military Men," he said, "are involved in a very real sense because of their separation from their families during their career in the military service. This means a great deal to them because it is the support of their families that makes it possible for them to do the kind of job that is so necessary in the defense of freedom in peace throughout the world."

While testifying last month before the special subcommittee on survivor benefits of the Senate Committee on Armed Services, Lt. Gen. Leo E. Berade, deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Military Personnel Policy) termed the SBP legislation "one of the most important" to date for career military personnel.

"If we are to attract the quality member to a military career," he said, "we must be able to offer him and his dependents a compensation system with the financial security afforded members of other systems. The survivor benefit plan supports this objective."

The new survivor benefit plan allows persons already retired to provide, on a voluntary basis, the same protection for family members as future retirees can provide for their families and at equal cost for the protection. SBP embraces, also, the members of the Reserve Components, including members of the Army National Guard and Air National Guard, with participation beginning at age 60 or later, when retired pay starts.

SBP fills a gap in the area of service benefits that many active duty persons, retirees, and members of their families did not even know existed. Until SBP went into effect, the retired pay of a member ended with his or her death, unless the member had elected voluntarily to participate in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFRP), known originally as the Contingency Option Act.

As a result, surviving members of retirees' families often found themselves with little or no income following the death of a retiree. Under the new law, members who retire on or after the Sept. 21, 1972, effective date of SBP will be automatically enrolled in the plan if they have spouses or dependent children at retirement time.

A member who does not have a spouse or dependent child at retirement can participate in SBP either at retirement by naming another person as his beneficiary or later should he or she acquire a spouse or a child after retirement.

Persons who retire within 180 days after the effective date Sep. 21, 1972) of SBP have a special grace period of 180 days after their retirement dates in which to finalize either automatic or voluntary participation in the plan. Persons retired before Sep. 21, 1972, have up to the first anniversary of that date to advise their services that they wish to enroll in the plan.

Participating in SBP at the maximum level — 55 per cent of retired pay as the survivor payment, the average enlisted member retiring today can provide a monthly survivor payment to a spouse of about $220 per month at a monthly reduction in retired pay of $17.50. The average officer retiring now can provide about $520 as a monthly survivors payment, with reductions in retired pay of about $72 per month. Protection for dependent children is also available at a small cost based on the retiree's age and the child's age.

The SBP applies also to members and retirees of the U.S. Coast Guard and the Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, as well as to members and retirees of the military services.

When you attended the AUSA Convention in Washington, D.C., what impressed you the most about the convention?

Meeting different people exciting

Sp4 Carol A. Crawford, A WAC from Hq. Co. Hq. Comd., USAIC, said "The night of the big dinner, it was the culmination of all the activities. Bob Hope was there and was given the George Catlett Marshall award."

"The dinner was formal everyone you had met was there, and it was just the atmosphere, I guess."

"I enjoyed the exhibits, meeting the people, and our own chapter became closer by meeting some people that are part of it, and we had never known them before."

Sp5 John E. Johnson, 50th Co. TSB, said, "The most worthwhile was the times when the lower ranking men had the opportunity to speak with higher ranking officers and men from all levels of the Army. Third Army, CON-ARC, DA. It was a person to person type communication rather than General to private communication."

Sp5 John E. Johnson
Hq. Co. TSB, 50th Co.

Capt. Michael B. Nelson, D Co, Hq. Comd, USAIC, said, "I think there are several. As an infantryman, I was interested in weapons; the new replacement for the M-16 for instance. There is quite a difference in weight for the individual soldier."

"All systems such as communications, vehicles, radio, and aircraft are going to light weight computerized and transistorized systems. Computers are doing so much more now."

Capt. Tom Curtin, said, "I was impressed by the number of enlisted men and women and civilians that participated in the convention. I found that AUSA is not a closed military club, but a group of concerned individuals with a genuine interest in our nation's security. I hope the young soldiers interest in AUSA will continue both in the remainder of their active duty tours and long into their civilian careers. This association perpetuates the idea of a concerned citizen who is willing to participate in our nation's development."

Capt. Tom Curtin

Sp4 Daisy M. Jackson, a WAC with D Co, Hq. Comd, U S A I C, said, "Meeting people actually was the most worthwhile part. There were a lot of people you would have liked to meet, but never before had the opportunity."

"The convention as a whole was interesting because it was different." Specialist Jackson enjoyed the time spent in Washington, and thinks that the WACs should send different representatives every year to get their own impressions of the Army and its aims.

President to sign bills for Vets' benefits

Are you putting me on?

Several bills pertaining to veterans' benefits are in the White House awaiting the President's signature and, according to Georgia Veterans Service Director Pete Wheeler, "The President is expected to sign into law a bill which will be known as the National Cemeteries Act of 1972 and which provides for a National Cemetery System to be operated by the Veterans Administration rather than by the Department of the Army as has been the case for many years."

One of the bills, when enacted, would be known as the Viet Nam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1972 and would benefit substantially those veterans who are now attending, or plan to attend school under the GI Bill.

Under the new bill, the educational allowance for a single veteran attending school full-time will be $200 a month. The current basic rate is $175 monthly. A veteran with an independent who is attending school on a full-time basis will receive $261 a month. Presently, a veteran in his category receives $205 a month.

Veterans having two dependents will get $398 a month, and for each additional dependent the allowance will be another $18 a month.

Wheeler said that the increases will be retroactive to the commencement date of a veteran's current enrollment in school, but not earlier than Sept. 1, 1972. For those who are not currently enrolled in school, the effective date for the increases will be Oct. 1, 1972. He added that the bill also provides for an increase in various vocational rehabilitation programs.

Another bill awaiting Presidential action provides for an increase in the burial allowance for veterans. At the present time, the Veterans Administration provides a burial allowance of $250.

Under the new bill this amount will be increased by an additional $150 if the veteran's death is not service-connected and if burial is in a private cemetery. The burial allowance for veterans dying of service-connected causes will range up to $800 under the new bill.

The President also is expected to sign into law a bill which will be known as the National Cemeteries Act of 1972 and which provides for a National Cemetery System to be operated by the Veterans Administration rather than by the Department of the Army as has been the case for many years.

1. Young children should be accompanied by an adult.
2. Trick or Treaters should visit only known neighborhoods.
3. Visits should be made during daylight hours.
4. Children should accept only wrapped or sealed candy.
5. Treats should be inspected before eating.
6. Children should call only on homes with porch or other outside lights burning.
7. Halloween masks should not be worn while crossing streets. (Masks matter vision)
8. Halloween costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping and non-flammable.
9. Pumpkins should be lighted only by means of a flashlight, never a candle.

Environment

Man must strive for improvement or die

By Stephanie McGregor

"Man has lost the capacity to foresee and to forestall. He will end by destroying the earth." (Albert Schweitzer)

"I am pessimistic about the human race because it is too ingenious for its own good. Our approach to nature is to beat it into submission. We would stand a better chance of survival if we accommodated ourselves to this planet and viewed it appreciatively instead of skeptically and destructively." (W. B. White)

Before I start my report there is a question I should ask and define. "What is ecology?" Many of us have heard the word and know the definition as being associated with stopping pollution, clean air, wild life and trees. But, "How many of us know the real meaning?" Ecology is the branch of biological science that deals with the relations between living things and their surroundings.

You may be asking yourself, "What does this have to do with me?" A lot. If man does not take care of his environment there won't be anything living for long, including us. Take water, for instance. Scientists estimate that with our increasing population, by 1980 all the water will be re-used. That may not sound too bad but each time it is used it must be purified before it can be used again. As pollution increases it becomes harder and harder to make the water drinkable and it is of poorer and poorer quality. In other words, if we don't save our water and use it carefully there either won't be any or what there is won't be fit to drink.

Our birds and wildlife are becoming less and less. With such "helpers" as DDT, oil, man, and pesticides, wildlife and birds are dying fast. DDT helps us control the insects but what about the animals that die from inhaling it or maybe eating something that was sprayed with it? Oil also hurts. By taking oil from the ocean we take a chance on having a pipeline broken and oil covering our ocean. Cleaning it up is a long process and birds who hunt for fish as food will find themselves covered with oil and slowly sinking into the water because of losing their buoyancy and drowning. With the water being polluted, though, the fish might also be dead.

Man is also threatening the many forms of wildlife by changing the environment. He can easily do away with these creatures by taking away their living places as he can by shooting them. We are finally now realizing that if we are to have many types of animals and birds in this country and maintain nature's balance, we must provide suitable places for them to live instead of destroying them by our own needs or pleasures.

Air pollution is becoming a more serious problem every day. Surveys indicate that ninety per cent of Americans live in dirty air. The air we breathe is often full of wastes and residue from factory chimneys, furnace fires, and automobile exhaust. Smog is usually automobile exhaust. Do you want to go outside one day and see smog all around you (in some cities people already do) and have to wear a gas mask for the rest of your life? Smog is often so dark and thick that during the day drivers must keep their lights on in order to see and be seen.

Litter is one of our biggest problems. People have a habit of littering too much. You may be walking along the street one day with your favorite candy bar and remove the wrapper and toss it aside on the ground without giving it another thought. You think what does it matter, but suppose everyone who walked by that spot threw down his trash? You might be able to start your own garbage collection. It also makes you wonder if anyone has ever heard of a trash can. If a trash can isn't handy it won't kill you or strain your arm to carry your trash until you find one.

Remember by each and everyone of us doing our own share, we can clean up and improve our environment and make our world last. If you do your share you will make yourself and others happy.

Ecology begins with you

By Dorothy Okamoto

What is happening to nature? Take a walk in the woods or on the countryside. What you probably will see is paper and garbage littered on the ground, burnt trees and forests, and polluted air and streams.

Years ago you could take a walk and it would be peaceful, quiet and relaxful. Now you could take a walk and more than likely it wouldn't be quiet.

People are moving to the suburbs and the country to get away from pollution. All they are doing is just spreading the pollution to the country. After all it's people who cause pollution.

How can we prevent pollution? Air pollution and litter are unnecessary. People talk about pollution, but do they do anything to help prevent it? Usually people like this expect everyone else to do it.

Another way to help is to bring cans, bottles, and paper to recycling points. We won't have to cut down more trees than we have to. Be careful with fire, so that we won't burn down one of our natural resources.

The government is spending money for the prevention of pollution. So far, no results have appeared. Also the people have to pitch in to help beautify America.

The wildlife is getting killed off at a rapid rate, which is unnecessary. Sea foats are becoming lovable because of the mercury content.

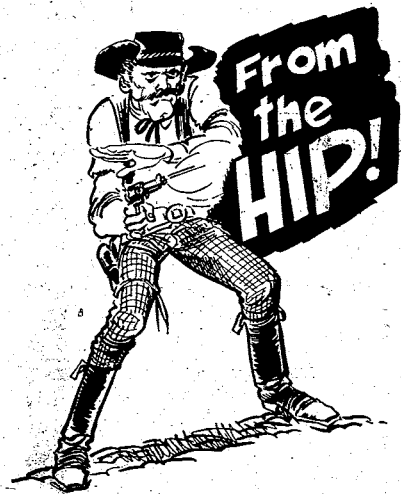

The oil slicks are also killing fish and birds. They are difficult to clean up. Hundreds of people go to oil slicks to help save the birds. Most of the oil can be cleaned up.

The smog in some cities is becoming unbearable. The factories should have air filters to help purify the air. Cars also should be kept in perfect condition.

The noise pollution is becoming uncontrollable. The airplanes are too noisy. Noise sometimes can be prevented.

Water pollution is one of the worst things. Streams that were once beautiful are now choked with litter. Lakes are also the victims of pollution.

See everything while you can, before nature is ruined. We have to stop pollution before we get killed off, too.

ECO

'Save Our Environment'

The ECOtoberfest essay contest at Faith School produced two winners selected for their ideas about what individuals can do to improve the environment. Dorothy Okamoto, daughter of Master Sgt. and Mrs. Joey Okamoto, was the seventh grade winner. Her theme was "See It While You Can."

In the eighth grade, Stephanie McGregor, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas McGregor, won. "Ecology—Save Our Environment" was her theme.

the magnetic stripe

It's the end of the ordinary charge card!

We've added something unique to the CB&T BankAmericard; a special brown magnetic stripe. (Within this stripe-your personal security number will be invisibly imprinted.) This allows you to operate the amazing Constant Banker that will soon be installed in several CB&T locations.

Then, in early November you'll be able to do your banking any time you feel like it... any hour, any day.

(Including weekends and holidays!) With the Constant Banker, we never close! You'll be able to make deposits or payments anytime, and receive a receipt of the transaction immediately. You'll even be able to get cash (in multiples of $25.00) from either your CB&T checking account, your savings account, or you can even get a cash advance from your CB&T BankAmericard account.

These plus many other of the most used personal banking transactions. All of this at your convenience, any hour, any day! The Constant Banker is fast, simple to operate and convenient.

All you need to operate the Constant Banker is the new CB&T BankAmericard with the magnetic stripe.

But remember, "your good for everything" card is still good at thousands of retail stores in Columbus, and across the nation.

And there's still no liability if you should lose the card.

So now there's more reason than ever before to have a CB&T BankAmericard. If you don't already have one, get a CB&T BankAmericard.

You can get complete information at any of our 10 convenient neighborhood offices.

Along the fem line

BY JUDY JAKUBOWSKI
Make your own favorite recipe a part of history by submitting it for the OWC Golden Jubilee Cookbook. Remember the deadline is Oct. 31. Drop them in the yellow "Femline" boxes at either commissary or deliver to Mrs. Richard Stoltz, 309 Miller Loop, Fort Benning, 545-1845.

Be sure to watch the "Bozell Show" Nov. 1 for "Bozell" news; Pinatas will be featured.

OWC ACTIVITIES
There are a few openings left in the French crafts classes which will begin on Oct. 30. Learn to make beautiful plaques and pictures using decoupage, paper tape, and glue. Great gift items and fun to do. Five lessons for $10. Call Mrs. James Davis at 897-7494 or Mrs. Nicholas Pasquetti at 687-1223 for further information.

A new session in children's Art will begin on Nov. 4. Two age groups will be taught. Ages 5 to 7 will learn fun crafts, while ages 8 to 14 will learn basics of art (e.g. Perspective, use of colors, etc.) Six lessons for $12. For more information or to enroll your child in these Saturday morning classes, call Mrs. Charles Williams at 561-6967 or Mrs. Jon Sullivan at 544-1192.

Many OWC classes are beginning a new session and some openings are available.
Beginners and intermediate sewing, starting the week of Nov. 6.

Fitting (sewing), starting Nov. 9 (if enough interest is shown). All three classes, 6 lessons for $18. Call Mrs. Curtis Hogler at 645-1838 for more information.

Oil Painting, starting on Nov. 7, 6 lessons for $15. Call Mrs. Charles Zimlacher at 545-1406.

Rug and Pillow Making, starting Nov. 8, 4 lessons for $10. Call Mrs. Charles Ellithorpe at 545-1406.

Yoga, starting Nov. 8, 6 lessons for $12. Call Mrs. Alfred Buzer at 628-4440 for information.

Slum 'N Trim, starting the week of Nov. 6, 6 weeks for $7. For more information, call Mrs. Stephen Mowe at 544-3897.

The Environmental Workshop is having a project meeting Nov. 1 to judge the posters and photos from the "Ecozoo-forest." Also there will be a discussion on how to help animals and animal overpopulation problems. On Nov. 8 the workshop will view a movie "Why Animals are Crying." Everyone, military and civilians, are invited to the OWC Lounge at 10 a.m. on these mornings.

The OWC is beginning a new class for teens, ages 12 and up; a baby-sitting course. The class is four evening lessons, will cover feeding, diapering, and disciplining infants and small children as well as other topics. The students will receive certificates upon completion of the class and a list of their names will be available to mothers needing a baby-sitter. The class will begin on Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. at a cost of $8. If interested in attending, call Mrs. William Higgins at 545-2925.

NCO WIVES
The NCO Wives Club held their monthly business meeting on Oct. 11 at the Top Five Club.

It was voted to allocate $60 for the purchase of candy to donate to the youth activities for the Halloween Party to be held on Oct. 31 for children 6 to 12.

Also it was voted to donate a slide projector to the Religious Education Center. This is something that they need badly.

There will be a membership list printed twice a year. In January and June. This will be a great help as there are always so many who leave and new members that come into the club.

A committee has been formed to work on the selection of a representative from the club for Military Wife of the Year.

The Harvest Bazaar will be coming up on Nov. 4. This will be held near the commissary. All members are asked to donate items to be sold at this affair.

On Oct. 13 the NCO Wives held an October Fest at the NCO Wives Clubhouse. There was beer, wine, winners, saterbraut and brochen furnished by the club. Members that attended brought hors-d'oeuvre and there certainly were many kinds to choose from.

Several people brought records and there was everything from German folk songs to Sonny and Cher.

Many of the men took advantage of the opportunity to get a game of Pinochle going. There is no doubt that fun time was had by all.

day 9-11 a.m. The Red Cross is offering beginning, advanced beginning, and intermediate swimming classes for interested military wives. These classes are now in progress but new members are welcome at any time.

If you don't want to "run for your life" you can "swim for your life" by joining the "Swim and Stay Fit" program sponsored by the Red Cross. All military personnel and dependents are welcome to participate.

The goal is a 50 mile swim. A record is kept of the distance you swim each day until you have accumulated 50 miles. You will then earn a 50 mile badge. Come to the Briant Wells Field House pool Tuesday and Thursday 9-11 a.m. for ladies only or 11-14 daily for men, women, and children.

For more information about the swim classes or the "Swim and Stay Fit" program call Mrs. Gertrude Brandt at 545-3282.

HEADQUARTERS COMMAND
The ladies of Headquarters Command held their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Larry Craven.

Mrs. Michael Biddle expressed farwell wishes to Mrs. Bruce Fraser and presented her with a gift. Mrs. John Rogers discussed the OWC news and collected recipes for the new cookbook. Mrs. Craven directed a short work program call Mrs. Gertrude Brandt at 545-3282.

WOODEN'S NEWS

er Theater by its new managing director, David Dannenbaum. He spoke at their monthly luncheon on Oct. 14, and a party held at the Supper club on Oct. 15.

Dannenbaum gave a history of the Springer, pointing out that the theater is registered in Washington, D.C. as an historical monument. Such famous personalities as Edwin Booth and Oscar Wilde have performed at the Springer, he said.

Dannenbaum went on to discuss future plans for the Springer such as an expanded theater program. He stated that the Springer Theater is here to serve the community, and that the working company of 237 are all volunteers.

A Halloween theme prevailed at the luncheon with the hostess providing each table with a "which - on-a-broomstick" centerpiece. The hostesses who were wives from Dental Clinic No. 4, Anesthesia, and Chaplains' wives, wore "bat-shaped" name tags while he also served to remind the guests of a future Springer performance, Dracula.

Mrs. Robert Moore was a chairman of the hostesses. Mrs. Paul Kaufman welcomed the luncheon guests and introduced the following new members: Mesdames David Billings, Dennis Caulder, Robert Jones, Chester Jenkins, Mark Curry, David Barbs, James McGill, Peter Serreque, James Shum, Merwin Wheeler, William Montgomery and John Kozlowski.

The door prize was presented to Mrs. Victor Herbert, mother of Mrs. Marc Lowen.

Costuming has important role in production of show

Anyone walking into the lobby of the Playhouse lately has been greeted by a strange sight. Three men have been set up, there's a giant box piled high with assorted cloth and trims, and the curtains that form the back wall of the lobby are covered with patterns made of heavy brown paper. Two portable costume racks are beginning to blossom with semi-finished outfits destined to be worn in the Dramatizers' upcoming production "Edwin Booth" to be presented Nov. 7-11 at 8 p.m. in the Playhouse (located behind the Infantry Museum).

The conductor for "Edwin Booth" is Ami Tufts Disbro, whose husband, 2nd Lt. Marcus Disbro is stationed at Ft. Benning and is also active in the Dramatizers. She is a 190-cum laude graduate of Ripon College, Ripon, Wis., where she majored in Speech-Drama and Spanish. In music, high in the Dramatizers, Disbro worked extensively on college productions, on such technical crews as lighting, makeup, set construction, properties, and of course, costumes. She has worked on three Dramatizers productions since coming to Ft. Benning, including "Winnie the Pooh" for which she designed and constructed costumes.

When asked about the challenge of costuming, Ms. Disbro mentioned that low budgets and lack of volunteers for sewing are perennial problems here and everywhere. "Many people hesitate to offer to work because they expect the sewing to be complicated," she stated. "Actually, it's quite the opposite," she continued, "because stage costumes require much less detail work. Many of the small finishing touches are eliminated in costuming because they do now show."

In response to the question, "What steps are involved in costuming a show?" Ms. Disbro said, "The first consideration, naturally, concerns the time, season, and place (geographical and literal) where the action of the play occurs. The changes in their ages and life situations make just as much difference, so the logical place to begin is by thoroughly reading the play... usually more than twice. On the second and third readings, you begin to visualize the characters and to make notes of all costume changes that are mentioned, plus those that are logical. Eventually, you discuss that list very thoroughly with the director, and see what changes or additions he wishes to make. "The next step is to decide (and this is a joint decision) whether to make or rent the costumes. The budget available, and the long-range plans of the group make a lot of difference on this question. For "Edwin Booth," we decided to construct the costumes for several reasons, one of them being that the costumes could then be added to the Dramatizers' permanent stock of costumes, to be used in the future."

The third step involves doing a great deal of research, particularly if the play is set in a different historical period as "Edwin Booth" is. This particular play is set around the time of the Civil War, and required a lot of reading and investigation into styles, colors, hairstyles, and so forth work at that time. "The work for which the costume designer is responsible, you're responsible for sketching and designing for the show. It's at that point that you begin to get your ideas of color scheme, materials, textures and silhouettes worked out. "Once you've committed your ideas to paper, you begin working with the individual actors taking measurements, and estimating the yardages of material you will need. It's very easy to go wrong."

"Next, you move on to purchasing the materials you need, and to sorting through any materials you already have available. Quite often you'll find odds and ends you can incorporate into the overall costume scheme. When you've done your purchasing, you proceed to an area that's lots of fun: making patterns for whatever unusual patterns you have designed or chosen for the period. I've relied heavily on a very helpful book in pattern-making, and with some patience and geometry, the results are very good."

"One aspect I've skipped over is gathering a crew to do the actual sewing. Shop Sears Daily 10 am 'til 9:30 pm—FREE Parking

Fish and Wildlife Section maintains proper habitat

Fish and wildlife at Fort Benning are an integral part of the ecology. The Fish and Wildlife Section of the Directorate of Facilities Engineering is charged with the responsibility for maintaining a proper habitat for fish and game, in accordance with the belief that the balance of nature must be preserved.

The Fish and Wildlife Section attempts to strike a balance between the available habitat and the fish and game population on the Reservation. They control the habitat by means of plantings, and the animal population by prescribed hunting seasons. Their main concern is with game species of animals, but in a sense taken to preserve these species benefit others as well.

5000 acres of land are planted in various food stocks for game. This land is divided into 500 separate permanent openings, which are planted on a rotating basis in rice, corn, and other grains. Deer, rabbit, quail, squirrel, turkey, and dove are the six major species which the Fish and Wildlife Section attempts to preserve for hunting purposes.

The Fish and Wildlife Section also practices predator control against various predators of animals. Man, however, has eliminated most natural predators and must now take their place by doing his own hunting. Those who are concerned about the decimation of animal popu-

The Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning AUSA Chapter was presented two first place awards at the convention. Secretary of the Army the honorable Robert Froehle (C) poses here with the recipients of the award for the local chapter. CSM William T. Mixon (L), is holding the General John E. Hull award for greatest membership input. First Vice President, AUSA, Joe Windsor (R) holds the Milton G. Baker award for the World's Largest Chapter. Secretary Froehle was the keynote speaker at the convention's opening session when the awards were presented.

Local Chapter meets the brass in Washington

Center: Tom Curtin (USAIS) and his wife, Donna, meet General Creighton Abrams, now Chief of Staff of the Army, at a reception held on Oct. 19 during the annual AUSA convention. Also pictured are (L-R) Secretary of the Army, the Honorable Robert F. Froehle; acting Chief of Staff of the Army (now Deputy Chief of Staff) General Bruce Palmer, Jr.; and chairman of the council of trustees of AUSA, Elvis J. Stahl.

The 18th annual Association of the U. S. Army (AUSA) convention was held at the Sheraton Park Hotel Oct. 8-11 in Washington, D. C.

The Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning sent one of the largest contingents of any chapter to the meeting. The group of more than 75 delegates was headed by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, commanding general of Fort Benning. The delegation was composed of many prominent civilians, officers, senior noncommissioned officers and enlisted men.

Among the civilians attending was the chapters president Charles Daley and 1st vice-president Joe Windsor. On hand to accept a Certificate of Achievement award for his service to AUSA was Joe Flowers Jr. The chapter also had in attendance J. W. Woodruff Jr. who is on the AUSA National Council of Trustees.

The chapter also sponsored three ROTC cadets. The representatives were from Columbus College, Tuskegee Institute and Auburn College. The "War Eagle" unit from Auburn received special recognition as the outstanding AUSA ROTC college unit in the nation.

More than 7,000 people turned out for the annual meeting of AUSA, which is a civilian organization devoted to supporting the U. S. Army.

Among those who attended were members of Congress, top civilian and military officials of the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army, officers and enlisted men of the Active Army, Army National Guard, Army Reserve, retired Army and interested civilians.

Those addressing AUSA during the three day meeting were Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehle, Gen. Bruce Palmer, then acting chief of staff, and third Army commanding general, Lt. Gen. Melvin Zais. Also present were Bob Hope, Marshall Medal Recipient and Gen. (Ret.) Omar Bradley, and Gen. (Ret.) William Westmoreland.

At the chapter reception, key Army and civilian leaders met informally with the chapter delegates.

The chapter as a whole was cited for its achievement as the Biggest AUSA Chapter in the World, as well as the Chapter with the largest membership input. The chapter was runner-up in six other categories and honorable mention in two others. The chapter was announced as a merit chapter for achieving their membership goal or 1971-1972.

News of the convention was not limited to the 75 member delegation that attended. Coverage of the convention was carried back to the tri-city community in the form of stories by Charlie Black of the Columbus LED-GEB-ENQUIRER who attended the convention.

(L-R) SFC Bonnie Harmon (USAMDTI) and Georgia Congressman, the Honorable Jack Brinkley, talk over shooting techniques while at the AUSA convention. SFC Harmon was a member of the olympic shooting team which competed at Munich this year. He was quite surprised when the Congressman asked him to send him a copy of the above picture and also SFC Harmon's autograph.

PFC Bryant Feglin, 197th Infantry Brigade, sets a "hands on" demonstration of proposed new equipment on display in the industrial-exhibit area of the AUSA annual convention. Many industrial firms exhibited pieces of hardware which may be issued to the Army of the future, including aircraft, weapons systems and clothing.

Sgt Carol Crawford, Hq. Cmpd, inspects winter combat gear placed on display by the JFK Special Warfare Center at the AUSA convention in Washington, D.C. The green beret CSM was on hand to answer questions and perhaps recruit a few soldiers for Special Forces. "He couldn't talk me into it though," said Sgt Crawford, "I'm enjoying Fort Benning too much, right now."

Motives—the reasons behind most rip offs

Most assaults have a motive behind them. Third U. S. Army Provost Marshall reports that assaults occur every day against soldiers, dependents, and civilian employees because they provide sufficient motivation. For example, do you like to flash large rolls of cash around? One common motive in violent crimes is a need for money. By showing off your cash you will sooner or later help a criminal single you out as his next assault victim. Do you encourage arguments or disagreements? Last year a man in Third Army was murdered merely because he broke into a mess hall line. Others have died because of arguments they started by insulting a person as a joke. Unfortunately, too many of these arguments began from racial disagreements. Tempers are always short and jokes are never funny in this area. Thus, you can avoid an assault by being a manager, a motive. Don't carry money needlessly, but if you must, always carry it in secrecy. Don't joke using insults, or you may not be joking at all again. Besides providing a motive for a violent crime, there is one additional precaution you can ignore in order to get caught. Most crimes of violence in Third Army area occur during early hours of darkness and occur close to billets and service areas, such as bus stations, telephone centers, snack bars, PX facilities, and clubs serving alcoholic beverages. Unlighted streets, woods, and parking lots also offer outstanding opportunities for muggers and thieves. Avoid walking in these high risk areas at night, unless travelling in

With only two more days of competition left in the West-wide flag-football tournament, it appears as though the 197th Inf. Bde. has no chance of losing. Having entered two teams to represent the brigade, the 197th has indeed shown the teams at main post "where Kelley Hill is at." Both BHC, 1st Bn., 2nd Inf., and HHC 87th Inf. Bde. have won every game they have played thus far, so it seems inevitable that one of the teams from the 197th Inf. Bde. will emerge from the tournament as the post champions.

Orienteers place 2nd at Callaway Gardens race

Four members of the Ranger Department's Orienteering Team, along with two Advance Course students and one IOBC student, captured second place in the 1972 Callaway Gardens Invitational 5.6 mile cross country race, Saturday.

Running against a field of over 350 runners, including some of the finest distance runners in the nation, the Fort Benning runners surprised themselves with their performance. Sp4 Don Kennedy, who placed 28th with a time of 28:16 said "It really was a shock, we just returned from a 3,500 mile 14 day trip to the Canadian and U.S. Orienteering Championships and haven't really had an opportunity to run consistently." 2nd Lt. Bill Blewett, an IOBC student from Fort Benning with a time of 27:52 and placed 21st. Blewett and Kennedy were followed by Capt. Jon Nolan 29:36, Capt. Greg Campbell 30:36, Sp5 Bill Melars 30:30 and Capt. Ed Strabel 30:41. The Florida Track Club, noted for their outstanding distance runners (including Frank Shorter the Olympic Marathon Gold Medal winner) placed first in the team totals with Fort Benning's second, and the Greenville South Carolina Track Club third. The Orienteering team's next in a major competition will be on Oct. 28-29 at the North American Orienteering Championships at Carbondale, Illinois. Only a portion of the team will be attending this meet, as funds are unavailable to support the team's travel and TDY expenses. Capt. Strabel, the Orienteering Team Chief, said, "The All-Marine Orienteering Team has nicknamed us the Gypsies, because of our ability to stretch a buck when it comes to lodging. We came pretty close to beating the Marines at the U.S. Championships. I only hope that our best orienteers can afford to make it to the North American Meet. The Gypsies might surprise some people."

Ranger Dept. invites you to 'Run for Fun'

The Ranger Dept. invites young and old, male and female, the ardent and the casual jogger to "Run for Fun" Thursday afternoon Nov. 9 on Steward Field (located in front of Infantry Hall).

The "Run for Fun" has become a semi-annual happening. "It will offer something for all who enter," according to Capt. Ed W. Strabel, who set up the original "Run for Fun" last May to promote running and orienteering on post. He is also running the program this time.

"Besides gaining a new acquaintances and a sense of accomplishment, everyone who completes an event will get a 'Run for Fun' certificate," said Strabel. "Also, 59 awards will be presented for 7 race categories, so the chances of getting a medal or trophy are great," he said.

The Ranger Dept. announces the following schedule of events:

- 12:00 - 1:00 p.m. - Late Registration
- 1:20 p.m. - 2 Mile Run for active duty personnel or for "Run for Your Life" personal classes: under 30 (11 awards); 30 thru 35 (6 awards); 36 thru 40 (6 awards); 41 and older (6 awards)
- 2:00 p.m. - 1 Mile Women's Open (6 awards)
- 2:15 p.m. - 4 Miles Post Relay (awards to first three teams) (for 4 men from same company site unit)

3:00 p.m. - 5 Mile Open (10 awards)

3:45 p.m. - Awards Presentation

Last May a 17-year-old won the "5 Mile Open" with a time of 31:37. A dependent with the "1 Mile Women's Open" with an 8:15, and a 10-year-old girl clocked 10:13 in the same event. The winning time in the "4 Mile Relay" was 21:08.

Capt. Strabel also said that any foot gear is authorized in "Run for Fun."

Track shoes may be worn because running will be on a dirt track. Runners must wear shirts. He also said that members of high school or college track or cross country teams may participate, but are not eligible to receive awards.

The Post Orienteering Team will be supervising the events.

ROD AND GUN CLUB Notes

The Rod and Gun Club will operate Brinson Range this Saturday and Sunday to give those who intend to hunt during the coming hunting season a chance to get acquainted with their weapons. Anyone interested can bring out his shotgun or rifle from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday or from noon until 4 p.m. Sunday.

Hunters may only use shotguns of more than 410 gauge to hunt deer on the post. The use of rifles is not permitted but facilities will be available for zeroing sporting rifles as a convenience to individuals who intend to hunt off the reservation.

Everyone knows the necessity for zeroing a rifle but few people seem to understand that it is even more important to take a shotgun out and shoot it a few times before going hunting. The shotgun was not designed as a point accurate weapon. Most are not equipped with sights and all are smooth bored. With a new weapon the hunter has less than a 50 percent chance of hitting what he aims at unless he has figured the "Kentucky Windage" of his gun.

Out on Brinson Range the hunter will have the chance to get familiar with his weapon. He can find out where he has to aim to hit a target. It's an opportunity a hunter shouldn't miss. Probably the most frustrated hunters in the world are among those who use a trophy brace on their door that are sometimes not recovered. The club feels that the chances of this happening should be reduced to the minimum. Zeroing of rifles or sighting in shotguns will go a long way toward this goal so the club invites any hunter in the area to come out.

Help is Available

There will be some people around who have a lot of gun savvy. If there are three to help, if your gun isn't working properly contact whoever is in charge of the range at the time. If he can't help he'll probably find someone who can.

Hunters who haven't had a lot of deer hunting experience or some who are new on post may get some valuable pointers too. There are always a few dedicated hunters who come out to these affairs and make a day of it. They just might tell a newcomer where the second best place to be on opening day is located. Of course they plan on being at the best place.

Turkey Shoot

The club is also holding a turkey shoot on Brinson Range this Saturday. It will operate from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Freeze turkeys weighing approximately 10 to 12 pounds will be given as prizes.

The shoot will give you a chance to check out the shot patterns of your gun when you use smaller shot and save the price of a Thanksgiving Day Turkey.

Be Ready to Go

Saturday, Nov. 4 is the big day for Georgia deer hunters. The Alabama season will not open until Nov. 15. Both dates will be recognized as opening days on the two state portions of the reservation.

Georgia hunters will need three documents in their possession when they take to the field. A Georgia license, a big game stamp and a Post Hunting permit are required for all persons hunting the Georgia side of the reservation. The state license is the big game stamp can be purchased at numerous places in town but the Rod and Gun Club is the only activity authorized to issue the Post Permit. It also has the State License and the big game stamp. You can get it all at the club located on 1st Division Road in the Harmony Church Area. If you want additional information on license requirements call the club (545-6028).

Barracudas plan Invitational meet

The Fort Benning Barracuda Swim Team will host the annual Halloween Invitational Swim Meet at Briant Wells Field House tomorrow, beginning at 9 a.m.

Sgt. Maj. Jubal E. Rodgers, swim team president, said he expects over 250 swimmers from eight teams in Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

Swimmers will compete for individual awards and also for team trophies for the top three teams.

Brig. Gen. William R. Richardson, assistant commander of the Infantry

School, will take part in the opening ceremony.

Other teams competing include the Albany (Ga.) Jets, the Auburn (Ala.) Swim Team, the Cordova Park Swim Team of Pensacola, Florida, the Montgomery (Ala.) Area Aquatic Club, the Englemore Swim Team, the Columbus Y.M.C.A. team, and the Windsor Park Swim Team of Columbus.

The Barracuda Swim team now consists of sixty-five swimmers and Capt. Fred Paavola is the head coach. He is assisted by 2nd Lt. David Bradford and Michele Burdette. Additional coaches are still needed and anyone interested may contact Sgt. Maj. Rodriguez at 545-1561.

MTU marksmen to present clinic

A combined team of U. S. Army Pistol and International Rifle marksmen of the USAMTU will present a shooting clinic for classroom of the U.S. Naval Academy, and Military Academy the last of October. Bassham was the individual and two team Gold Medals to lead the U.S. team to victory there. He also won a Silver Medal in the Olympic Games at Munich in September.

The clinics will include lecture sessions, interspersed with demonstrations depicting basic fundamentals of proper body positioning, trigger pull, slight alignment and breath control.

There will also be periods for discussion and question and answer sessions. In addition, there will be giving practical coaching advice to new shooters who will be trying their hand on the ranges and seeking to develop their talents.

Foster, one of the most distinguished International Rifle competitors in the nation, has won Gold and Silver Medals for the U.S. in World Moving Target Championships and World Shooting Championships.

The marksmanship instructor team supporting Foster includes some of the world's most talented rifle and pistol marksmen and will be instructing on International Rifle and Pistol techniques and proved procedures which have been found by the Marksmanship Unit to get championship results in past decades of International competition.

Among the team members will be Captains Lantry R. Bassham and Boyd Goldsby, Gold Medal winners in the U.S. Championship drive in the International Council of Military Sports (CISM) at Cairo, Egypt the first part of October. Bassham was the individual and two team Gold Medals to lead the U.S. team to victory there. He also won a Silver Medal in the Olympic Games at Munich in September.

First football action in the 1952 TSB, Sp4 Frank Smith of HHC, 17th Inf. Bde., throws a pass against the 1st Bn., 58th Inf. (Photo by Rick Wasse).

TSB flag football champion decided by yardage gained

The 1952 TSB Flag Football Championship was won by IOAC 6-72 over a determined IOBC 4-73 team. The final score was 64 with 672 winning on yardage on the extra series of downs played after the conclusion of regulation play.

Both teams played superlative defense with the most serious threat coming near the end of the first half when the Advanced Course intercepted a pass at midfield thrown by 4-73 quarterback Walter Wojdakowski and returned it to the 4-73 twenty yard line.

A 18 yard pass to Capt. Jodie Giore took the ball to the three yard line but 4-73 held the Advanced Course on downs. This proved to be the deepest threat of the ball game.

Defense was the strength of both teams. The Advanced Course recruited their own cheerleaders dressed in gold outfits who lead yells throughout the game and were supported by a large contingent of Advanced Course students and dependents.

At the conclusion of the game, Col. A. G. Norris, Commander, TSB, presented the Brigade Flag Football Championship trophy and individual trophies to members of the victorious IOAC 6-72 football team. Col. Norris then presented the runner-up trophy to 4-73.

Col. Norris concluded his comments by saying that since IOAC 6-72 was ineligible to play in the Post playoffs, they should challenge the Post Champs to see "who really is Number One at Fort Benning!"

Undefeated Falcons overwhelm Eagles 38-0

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted. "The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already."

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS."

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

51st OCS has status party at Ramada Inn Friday 13

Tossing premonitions of bad luck to the wind, the 51st Company (Officer Candidate) held their inter-mediate status party at the Ramada Inn in Phenix City on Friday, Oct. 13.

Drawing on the talents of VIP guests LTC Gordon Hunt, 5th Battalion Commander, Cpts Melms and Getman of the 50th Aviation Company, and Captains Bradshaw and Crockett of the Infantry School, and aided by the staff and tactical officers of the 5th Battalion, the candidates of the 51st Company passed the night without breaking any mirrors, walking under ladders, or seeing any black cats.

Through a purple haze of black lights, fluid projection and d i r o e s, provided by Light Shows of Columbus, the Hats, a local rock band, kept everyone on their feet to a mixture of sounds ranging from Neil Young to Elvis Presley. The outstanding sounds were complemented by a plethora of talent drawn from within the 51st Company. Officer Candidate Means provided a piano bar act which kept everyone jolly as they imbibed in the local spirit. Skits and songs by other candidates vied with a selection of Laurel and Hardy and W. C. Fields movies for the eyes and ears of the partygoers.

As the clock struck twelve, and it was seen that no one turned into a pumpkin, the 51st Company bid its basic phase adieu to a resounding che-

MEDDAC goes ECO-minded

If you wonder what a dumpster is doing out at the front door of Martin Army Hospital, you can say MEDDAC is going ECO-minded. As part of ECOberfest, all offices and administrative sections within Martin Army Hospital (Bldg. 9200 only) are participating in recycling of waste paper.

This started the week of October 18 and will continue through October 31.

Containers for receiving recyclable papers have been placed in each division. Only paper from offices and administrative areas are being recycled. No waste paper from patient areas are being recycled for obvious reasons.

A survey of selected containers for receiving recyclable papers indicates that response by personnel is good and suggests that this can be instituted on a continuing basis.

The only complaint by Martin Army Hospital personnel is that people are employing other than recyclable papers in the dumpster near the Information Desk entrance of the hospital. Let's cooperate. Only you can put the GO in ECO.

India native has unique background

It was recently discovered that Sp5 Percy A. Dewan as well as being an outstanding soldier also has a very unique background. Dewan, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, TSB, was born and raised in Delhi, India where his father is proprietor of a bimetal bearing factory. In Delhi, he attended grade school and graduated in the first graduating class from Xavier's High School in 1967.

Upon completion of high school, Dewan entered the Indian Institute of Technology to pursue a degree in electrical engineering. While at the Institute, he participated in a program similar to our ROTC and became a sergeant in the Indian Army.

Seeking the best education possible, Dewan came to America in 1969 and enrolled in the University of Nebraska. In 1971, he was drafted for service in the United States Army. After completion of Basic Training at Ft. Leonard Wood, he attended AIT Ft. Polk, La. The 11C MOS obtained at Ft. Polk proved only temporary as Dewan came to Fort Benning and achieved his duty MOS of 71199. Since arriving at Fort Benning, he has worked in the IOAC Records Section of the Personnel Office.

Dewan officially became a United States Citizen September 15, 1972, and will vote in his first election on November 4. Earlier this year, he was named the USAIC Dookie Ping Pong Champion and went on to represent Fort Benning at the Third Army Small Games Tour-ament at Ft. Jackson, S.C. Future plans for Dewan include attending 49 weeks of advanced electrical training at Fitzsimmons Hospital Complex in Denver, Colorado.

28 Rangers train soldiers from Ft. Hood

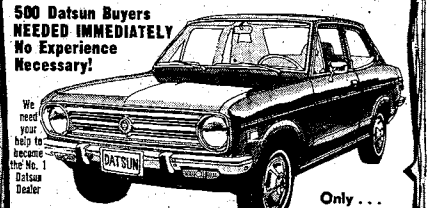

Twenty-eight United States Rangers departed Thursday (Oct. 2) for White Sands, Missile Range, N.M., to train soldiers from a Fort Hood, Tex., Mechanized company in the art of rappelling.

The Rangers, all from the Florida camp, are headed by LTC William Old, camp commander. In September, a 68-man Ranger unit from the mountain camp, headed by Lt. Col. Everett Yo, also were at White Sands to offer similar training to men of the 2nd Battalion, 68th Infantry, 82nd Airborne Division.

White Sands Missile Range is supporting the operation with billeting, supply, rigging and timber, emergency radio nets and helicopters. The Air Defense center's aviation division at Fort Bliss also provided air support.

Reenlistment for overseas duty

Department of the Army Message 12074, October 72, subject: Reenlistment for Overseas Assignment allows First Term personnel to reenlist in those who are on SEPOS levy. First Term soldiers who possess the same PMOS and grade as those soldiers being reenlisted may reenlist for the levy assignment.

The substitution of personnel on levy by those reenlisting will be accomplished as soon as possible to prevent undue hardship to all personnel involved. Substitutions may be accomplished within thirty days or less of shipment, only if the alternate soldier agrees to waive his right to a thirty day leave before departing for the overseas command. However, the administrative processing must not interfere with the reporting month to the overseas command as no deferments are allowed.

Command and selected soldier must understand that a soldier who is taken over by the substitute and will be subject to routine selection for other overseas assignments at a later date.

The following list of PMOS and grades currently on SEPOS levy 92-21 are available for reenlistment during the month of January are available. For additional information call the major unit career counselor.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Bill King

Most of us think of camp or messup in only the tomato variety, but it's also made of such basic ingredients as cucumbers, radishes, mushrooms or grapes.

A large, used sheet of foil, if not properly recycled, is just a piece of trash. It's a dirt-washer rack for easy cleaning.

Lagos has been in the United States for two years now. He studied English in Washington and New York and also spent time at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. When he completes his training at Martin Army Hospital, he will return to Honduras to work in the first independent Army hospital there. The Honduras Army up until now had used existing civilian facilities.

Lagos is very favorably impressed with the "excellent" cooperation from the medical personnel in supporting the observer training program. He would like to see the program expanded to include nursing and enlisted medical personnel. He is sure that they would benefit from training in the United States.

Dramatizers

Edwin Booth cast consists of many first time actors

The cast of the Fort Benning Dramatizers' entry in the Third U.S. Army Tournament of Players, as are most community theater productions, is composed of both experienced actors and people who are either acting for the first time or who are working in that theater for the first time.

SP5 E. Linton Gross III, who plays the title role, has been in the last three productions at the Fort Benning Playhouse. In the Tournament play, "Bilthe Spirit," which was put on in March of this year, he played Madam Aitah; in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," he played Oberon, King of the Fairies, and in "Winnie the Pooh," he was Winnie the Pooh.

SP5 Gross is a graduate of Webster College, Webster Grove, Missouri, and is the entertainment specialist for the Entertainment Center. He has played with professional companies.

SP5 David O. McQueen, who plays William Winter, the narrator of the play, has done two other plays with the Dramatizers. His first play was "Carnival," in which he played Dr.

Wilhelm Glass, the circus strongman and a roustabout. His second performance at Fort Benning was "Egeus," in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which he played in a walking cast.

SP5 McQueen was a Theatre and Communicative Arts major at the University of Iowa, prior to his entry into the service.

Mrs. Lannie Russell, who plays Mary Devlin,

SP4 Jeff Stolnick, Junius Brutus Booth Jr., is one of the newcomers to the Fort Benning Dramatizers. He has done musicals in school and other amateur productions. He is with the 888th Eng., Float Bridge Co.

PFC Mike Shirkey, Johnny Wilkes Booth, is another newcomer, both to the Dramatizers and to the Brutus Booth Sr., has performed in "Dream" as Bottom, the weaver. He has played at The Old Globe Theatre in San Diego, Calif. He is NCOIC of the Infantry Chorus and the president of the Dramatizers.

The performances of "Edwin Booth" will be Nov. 7 - 11, at 8 p.m. at the Fort Benning Playhouse, Bldg. 1227, behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll. The performances are free; although tickets must be picked up prior to the performance. Further information may be obtained by calling 545-2922 for 545-5057.

was one of the organizers of the Dramatizers. She has played in many productions, recently she has been Ruth Cokaine in the Tournament play "Bilthe Spirit," for which she was awarded Best Actress in Third Army; she played Helena in "Dream," and she played Kanga in "Pooh."

Aviation Command in step with post ecology push

Although the Aviation Command maintains a continuing ecology program, several new projects have been initiated during Ecocolorbest.

In the past, the Aviation Command Mess Hall has cooperated with the University of Georgia College Ecology Program. This program found that vermed and dried, was suitable for feeding animals.

The large amounts of oils and lubricants used in aviation are collected and recycled. In addition to protecting the environment, this practice results in a considerable cost saving to the government, and a reference to the taxpayer.

has for some time been engaged in a Land Management Program designed to maintain the general appearance of the airfield and to prevent erosion. Earlier this summer the Aviation Command continued the use of herbicides to control the tall grass and weeds along the airfield perimeter fence.

During the week of October 15-19, 1972,

High Aviation Companies and the 69th Trans. Co. (ADS) went into a large wooded area near Lawson Army Airfield and removed several truckloads of cans, boxes, and other trash that had accumulated there. They also removed piles of dried brush and cuttings that presented a fire hazard. Future plans for this area include disposal as a recreational area.

These plans, however, have been delayed somewhat. During the cleaning operations, several old practice mines were discovered. The area was immediately evacuated and blocked off. The Aviation Command is now coordinating with the 88th Explosive Ordnance Disposal to have them removed and the area declassified.

ECOhealthtest shows water quality test

Laboratory testing for water pollution will be an ECOhealthtest to be held Nov. 17 in Classroom 2 of Infantry Hall, Fort Benning.

Sponsored by the Fort Benning Medical Department Activity, the Healthtest will provide environmental education on how sound ecological practices affect health.

Two booths at ECOhealthtest will demonstrate how the bacterial, physical, and chemical qualities of a water source can be determined.

The first booth will exhibit how water samples can be analyzed for the bacterial quality of water using a membrane filter apparatus. This procedure helps determine whether coliform bacteria, a group of bacteria indicative of possible fecal contamination, are present. This test is less time consuming and easier than testing for a ch possible individual water-borne pathogenic bacteria and is especially helpful in monitoring drinking water and swimming pools. During any particular month Preventive Medicine Activity routinely tests 45 water samples and many more during the swimming season. To date, no coliform organisms have been detected in Fort Benning's water distribution system or swimming pools this year.

A second booth in the water pollution portion of ECOhealthtest will be an exhibit of a HACR kit, a mobile field chemistry lab. This HACR kit has the capability to provide approximate indications on the physical and chemical characteristics of a water source.

Both of these apparatuses will be on hand at the ECOhealthtest Nov. 17.

Do you think a Post level football team would achieve better morale and strengthen on Post activities at Fort Benning?

Football liked at Benning

SFC Wallace F. Archie
14th Co, 43B

SFC Wallace F. Archie, 14th Co, 43B, said, "I think that it would improve the morale of everyone concerned. I remember the competitive spirit of the Ft. Campbell post football team."

PFC Randolph U. Pattillo
14th Co, 43B

PFC Randolph U. Pattillo to look a negative attitude. "I don't think it would work out because of the fact that the troops here at Benning are too independent and have widespread interests. You probably couldn't get all of them to back any one thing." Pattillo is with the 19th Inf. Bde.

Sp4 Tony Van Zee
Co. C, 43B

Sp4 Tony Van Zee had some specific ideas on the subject. "Yes, I definitely think that would help morale. Something would be like the could help guys who like football prove how good they are. Even if the majority of men didn't try out for the team, they could take pride in their team's efforts to win. Van Zee is from Co. C, Hq. C m d, 43AB.

Sp5 Juan Rivera, PFC, 43B

Sp5 Juan Rivera, PFC, 43B, said, "I think it would put a little excitement on post about football. I do on weekends is watching football on TV anyway, and it would give me a chance to get out of the house."

Pvt. Robin Lacey
14th Co, 43B

Pvt. Robin Lacey thinks it would be a good idea. "I think it would be good because it would get the guys working together and the spirit for the goal—(football) would be healthy both physically and mentally also. Soldiers would also have something to do on weekends that they could enjoy. Lacey is from 14th Co.

Infantry a go-go sets atmosphere

The Officers Club has taken several steps to improve its services according to Lt. Col. Harold Carter, general manager of the Fort Benning Officers Open Mess. "We put suggestion boxes out a month ago in all of the club activities—golf course, kennels, tennis courts, Custer Terrace, and each of the bars and eating areas," said Carter. Because of constructive criticism offered, he said the club has improved what he termed the "meal preparation process" and increased the number of fresh vegetables offered. Carter stated that the second area of major improvement has been in the Infantry Bar. He described the redecoration being done to liven the bar's decor. "The idea of rotating the go-go girls who performed came from another suggestion," he said. "Another change started by a suggestion is the use of a band in the Custer Terrace Club on Tuesday evenings," he stated. "We hope that people continue to use the suggestion boxes to voice their criticism," said Carter. "Help from our members is invaluable in uncovering problem areas," he continued.

"Infantry A Go-Go." The newest attraction at the Infantry Bar is the go-go girls who perform five days a week, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Addition of the girls is just one of the changes done to attract young officers to the club.

Retired officers council selected

Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Commanding General of Fort Benning, has appointed a retired officers' council consisting of nine retired officers and two active duty officers. Its purpose is to improve communications between retired and active duty personnel and to give the Commanding General information on the problems of the retired community. The Council will meet monthly, and will serve all retired personnel, enlisted as well as officers. Active duty members of the Council are Col. R. Livingston Jr., Commanding Officer, Headquarters, 1st Signal Battalion; Lt. Col. Joseph A. Hamilton, Recorder of the Council; Retired Army members are Col. James G. McConaughy, Chairman; CW2 Samuel C. Stevens Jr., Co-Chairman; Col. Thomas B. Ross Jr.; Col. Talbot; S. Burroughs Jr.; Lt. Col. Jack H. Johnson; Lt. Col. Donald R. Morton; S. O. C. Phillips W. Alcohol

Surveys indicate 9 Million addicts

Alcohol is a poisonous substance — a food and a drug — a stimulant and a depressant. It is a habit-forming drug and its use leads to physical and mental deterioration and death.

1. Have you ever felt to stop drinking for a week or longer, only to fall short of your goal?
2. Do you resent the advice of others who try to get you to stop drinking?
3. Have you ever tried to control your drinking by switching from one alcoholic beverage to another?
4. Have you taken a morning drink during the past week?
5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting drunk?

6. Has your drinking problem become progressively more serious during the past year?
7. Has your drinking created problems at home or work?
8. Do you ever feel that you can stop drinking on your own terms?
9. Despite evidence to the contrary have you continued to drink when you know you should stop?
10. During the past year have you missed time from work as a result of drinking?
11. Have you ever "blacked out" during your drinking?
12. Have you ever felt you could do more with your life if you did not drink?

If your answer is "YES" to one or more of these questions you had better take a good inventory of your drinking habits or pattern. If your answer is yes to four or more of the questions in all probability you now have a drinking problem.

Voting

November 7th marks the day when soldiers can put up or shut up

Officers and soldiers, the old gripe that I'm old enough to fight and die, but not old enough to vote and drink, is a "long syndrome" is a super-legitimate gripe or just an excuse to knock the "establishment"? November 7th will tell the story.

Thousands of new potential voters are now on the verge of having voice in their government. Some estimate 25 million young voters between the ages of 18 and 24 are eligible. Some estimates suggest that only 15 to 15 million of these will make the effort. Excluding dependents, soldiers assigned to Fort Benning will add over 10,000 new potential voters to the rolls.

Excuse or Laziness?

At least only 40 per cent of the eligible military voters actually cast ballots. Votes count.

It takes millions of individual efforts to make a President so why stop short of responsibility and get lazy? Thomas Dewey was the overwhelming favorite as the Republican presidential nominee in 1948. Some experts feel that many voters felt that their votes were meaningless and left the responsibility to fellow Americans. The results were unbelievable to most Americans; Dewey lost to the underdog Harry Truman. The question remains — how many voters have been elected by a majority of voters?

If the soldiers and their dependents are registered voters, they are eligible to vote. Some registered voters might be spending too much time on soldiers and not enough time listening to records or watching television. The opportunity exists for the or she cast their preference on November 7th. For the lazy, it's time for four years of unfounded griping.

Issues For Everyone

Soldiers and their dependents are faced with several issues that affect them directly or as prior servicemen who have separated from service or retired. It behooves everyone to be aware of these issues, then vote for the candidate which reflects their thoughts. Some of the most important issues are unemployment, environmental control, war and amnesty, an all-volunteer Army, Federal, state and local taxes, defense spending and foreign policy. The list is endless but important enough that each eligible voter should know, take the time to study the issues. Voting for the man with long locks and curly hair is not enough.

The Electoral Vote

538 electors from the various states will be chosen to form the Electoral College on November 7th. All the electoral votes go to the candidate that wins that particular state based on the popular vote. In essence, eligible voter will be casting ballots for electors who in turn will cast another ballot for the candidate who won their respective state. Under this system, the possibility exists for a candidate to become President without a majority of the popular vote. For this reason, the absentee ballot and local voting is extremely important.

The stronger the vote, the stronger the indication to Congress as to which direction it should head when the issues are put into laws. A few votes can make a difference on the whole but they can make or break the difference in the electoral vote on the state scene. Since each state has different numbers of residents, then a one-vote victory in New York could offset a 100,000-vote victory in Rhode Island. It takes several small state victories to offset one large state victory.

One-time Political View

Since military members are not permitted to openly voice or act politically as military representatives, you do have the right and DUTY to vote. The vote is your one-time political voice.

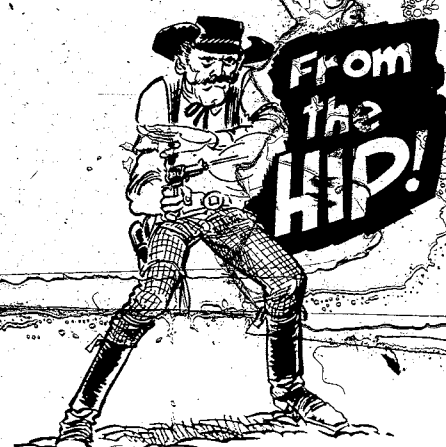

One Vote Does Make A Difference

The famous resolution which favored American independence was passed by one vote. One must remember that many colonists were loyal to England.

One electoral vote decided the fate of Samuel J. Tilden's vie for the presidency. Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President in a heated contest in which Hayes was beaten by the popular vote, but was the victor in the electoral court.

The level of military preparedness in 1941 was better. Congress extended the draft law by one mere vote. Four months later, Pearl Harbor was under attack.

There are but a few of the many examples of what the individual vote can do. Will you voice be heard?

Where to vote

For those soldiers who are not voting by absentee ballot, locally registered voters must vote in their respective counties and precincts. Soldiers residing in Sand Hill County, Georgia, should vote at the Sand Hill County Courthouse located at Eddy Junior High School at 2100 S. Lumpkin Road. Chattahoochee based voters will vote at the county courthouse in Cusseta, Georgia. The latter includes those soldiers and dependents living on Main Post, Kelly Hill, Martin Army Hospital and Harmony Church.

Off-post military personnel and their dependents must vote at their respective precinct polls. If in doubt as to where and when, Columbus residents should call 322-1472. For those based outside Columbus and in Chattahoochee County, the information can be obtained by calling the County Courthouse, Cusseta, Georgia.

Be professional, vote.

By William Brownell

and Randy Boose

Voter identity lost

Lost in the shuffle of the upcoming national election is the identity and importance of the individual voter.

The voter is categorized according to sex, age, race, religion, or ethnic background and then some poll tells him how he is going to vote. Voting then sinks to the level of predicting football games. The analyzing of the event becomes more important than the event itself, or the individuals involved.

Not only is the individual voter dehumanized, but the issues become second in importance to the candidate. Innocuous of one sort or another become the prevailing issue. This method of politicking compared to football prognosticating is like judging a team on its locker room name calling ability.

A wrong pick on any given Saturday of a particular football team results only in a denied ego. Choosing a wrong candidate involves much more. It determines how your tax dollar is spent, what foreign policy decisions are made, the supreme court make-up, and an endless list of things that never really get discussed.

Of course, voting is a two way street. Not only does the politician need to address their campaigns to the issues but the voter must examine those issues before he votes.

AIRBORNE WIVES

The airborne wives met for their monthly coffee on Oct. 11, at the home of Mrs. Edward M. Chamberlain. Co-hostess for the occasion was Mrs. George E. Bugher.

After refreshments Mrs. Robert B. Tully called a brief business meeting, at which time she welcomed Mrs. Jerry Goodenough and Mrs. Vernon L. Klingger to the group. Also, respectively, she bid farewell to Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Robert W. Kinser.

Of those who were present were: Airborne Wives, Mrs. Channing Greene, a spokeswoman for the Airborne Wives Club. Mrs. Greene's husband, Mr. Thomas Greene, has been assigned the training committee as a deputy. Another special guest at the coffee was the newest member of the Ranger Department, Miss Lisa Anne Barnhill, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Jerry Barnhill.

BROOD

Friday the 13th wasn't an unlucky day for the ladies of the ARTILLERY COMMITTEE, it was a busy day. In the afternoon there was a wives' tour of the Brigade and Battalion Operations Department facilities in Infantry Hall, and that evening a party with their husbands at a restaurant in Phenix City (The Holiday Inn).

WEAPONS DEPARTMENT MEET

The ladies of the WEAPONS DEPARTMENT met on Oct. 18 for a brunch in the Benning Room of the Officers' Open Mess. The Headquarters ladies were hostesses. The food served was a fruit cup, eggs benedict, asparagus, broiled tomato and assorted rolls.

WOODEN'S NEWS

cused for the Department the group was Mrs. Jacques Sabus.

A fun October coffee was enjoyed. The ladies of the A AND M COMMITTEE at the home of Mrs. Joe W. Peden. Halloween shaped and decorated cookies, congealed salad, coffee cakes, coffee and cakes were served on the sunny porch. The table was decorated with a gay seasonal arrangement. Two spokespersons for the committees are Mrs. Rosalind J. Waldheim and Mrs. Wilson E. Hall.

THE MORTAR COMMITTEE Ladies held their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Curtis A. Laird. Goodbye was said to Mrs. Michael E. Virgin.

The ladies of the SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE enjoyed an October coffee at the home of Mrs. Jules C. Trogstad Jr. The Christmas Bazaar project was completed, and the ladies then enjoyed refreshments.

"The Spirit of Christmas... a bit early" was the theme of a luncheon given by the wives of 10 OWC on Oct. 19. To extend the spirit of giving to the Columbus area, the ladies brought presents which were taken on the following day to patients of the Columbus Consolidated Government Nursing Home.

The Benning Room of the Fort Benning Officers' Open Mess took on this "spirit" with decorations made by the wives.

Enticing guests placed their gifts in Santa's sled which was beside a mantle featuring a wreath and monogrammed stockings for the honored guests, Mrs. William P. Richardson, Mrs. Alvin E. Walker and Mrs. A. G. Norris.

Tables were decorated with festive centerpieces, including holiday scenes and magazine augurs. It truly was a bit of Christmas.

The ladies of the 1st Battalion, TSB enjoyed delicious fudge brownies, apple coffee cakes, refreshing iced tea and coffee served by our lovely hostess, Mrs. Elaine Marlor in her charming Fort Benning apartment recently. An elegant round table draped in bright orange linen added a glow of sunshine to the evening. Mrs. Marlor is the wife of Maj. Gordon E. Marlor, Executive Officer of the 1st Battalion.

We were happy to have Mrs. Betty Walker, wife of Lt. Col. John R. Walker, Commanding Officer of the 1st Battalion back with us. Mrs. Walker will be leaving us again very soon, PCS, and will be deeply missed.

After thanking Mrs. Marlor for a most delightful ful evening Mrs. Walker welcomed two newcomers to the unit, Mrs. Patricia Mills and Mrs. Kay White.

The ladies of the Project and the Fall Fall were the topics of discussion. Items for the Army Community Service food locker were also collected.

The ladies of 2nd Battalion, TSB, Fort Benning, are hosting a luncheon on Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1972, at the Supper Club.

The Sherry Hour will begin at 11:30 a.m. One baked turkey will be given away as a door prize.

Guests of Honor are Mrs. William P. Richardson and Mrs. A. G. Norris.

The Hostesses will be Mrs. Alvin E. Walker and Mrs. Edgar L. Johnson.

The OWC Cookbook Committee has two requests. First, the cookbook will need a name, so please submit your suggestions through the Feltine boxes. Second: If you like to try out new recipes, then you can help the committee by testing recipes for the new cookbook. Make them up at home for your family, saving a small portion for the committee to taste. For further information call Mrs. Richard Shultz at 545-1845.

The Environmental Workshop will view a movie, "The Animals are Coming" at 10 a.m. Nov. 8 at the OWC Lounge. All military and civilians are invited. On Nov. 15 the "Workshop" will have a project meeting on the problem of pet overpopulation and abandonment at Fort Benning. Game Warden, Veterinarian, Fish and Wildlife and Humane Society representatives will be present to discuss this matter.

Nov. 14, OWC will sponsor a trip to Atlanta. The tickets are $6.50 and cover the following: round-trip bus fare, coffee and doughnuts prior to leaving, bus luncheon, a fashion show and tea.

The buses will leave from the PROMM at 8 a.m. and return at 6:30 p.m. Tol Town Nursery will remain open late for those who wish to use it.

Please call Mrs. Jack B. Cummings, 333-4797, or Mrs. Russell C. Miller, 545-4780 for tickets and more information.

Springer Children's Theater
The Springer Children's Theater will present "Snow Queen" Sat., Dec. 3, at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.00 for children and $1.50 for adults.

If 300 tickets are sold by the OWC before Nov. 21, 75 free tickets will be given to handicapped children. For more information on the tickets call Mrs. Dana Maddox, 545-4249.

The ladies of HEAD-QUARTERS, TSB, as they met for their monthly coffee, Oct. 12, at the home of Mrs. William Cogar, Dilbeck St. Fort Benning, a Halloween decor was attractively used by the hostess throughout her home.

Mrs. A. G. Norris expressed her sincere appreciation to the group for their many hours of tireless effort expended in completing TSB's Christmas Bazaar project. Plans were made to attend the brigade luncheon on Nov. 1. Mrs. Robert Brumback was extended a warm welcome into the group. Mrs. Norris honored departees, Mrs. Robert Brumback and Mrs. Thomas Hiter, by presenting both with a silver tray.

A candy-filled jack-o-lantern surrounded by black cats and witches was the centerpiece on a lovely refreshment table. Menu: nuttula, cream puffs, coffee cake, ham biscuits, orange sherbet punch, and coffee were served by the hostess.

The ladies of the FIFTH BATTALION held their monthly coffee on Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. James Donald, Oakland Park, Columbus. Hostesses for the coffee were Mrs. Jon Mackey, Mrs. Neil Hill and Mrs. Donald from the OWC company refreshments and decorations for the evening centered around a Halloween theme. The TSB luncheon on Nov. 1 and an upcoming batallion party were among the topics discussed. A formal goodbye was extended to Mrs. Gordon Nesbitt. Mrs. Gordon Lepley assumed the responsibility of Treasurer, formerly held by Mrs. Nesbitt.

Have you ever tried coffee with a touch of creme de cacao, cream and grated chocolate stirred with cinnamon stick — or coffee with cognac, cream and grated nutmeg? The ladies of the COMBAT ARMS TRAINING BOARD were able to experiment with these and five other "coffee blends" when they met at the home of Mrs. William J. Blisman on Oct. 19. Mrs. Blisman was the hostess for this unusual OTC monthly coffee meeting, was assisted by Mrs. Anthony Slovacek and Mrs. Larry Jordan.

In addition to the many OWC announcements, Mrs. John Seigle told the ladies of the contest to name the new golden anniversary edition of the OWC cookbook. She also mentioned that she had received the form for the CATB nominee for the Military Wife of the Year. During the meeting it was decided to change the date of the monthly coffee

The ladies of HEAD-QUARTERS met for their monthly coffee on Oct. 11, at the home of Mrs. Billy E. Rutherford. Everyone enjoyed hot apple and blueberry pastries along with piping hot coffee.

Mrs. Rutherford held a short business meeting to bring everyone up-to-date on news concerning the different activities in the department and around post. The rest of the afternoon was spent enjoying lively conversation and working on the OWC Christmas Bazaar Project.

Next month's coffee will be hosted by Mrs. John E. Hufenberger.

The ladies of the LEADERSHIP COMMITTEE met Oct. 24 in the home of Mrs. Nathan Vail for coffee, good food and conversation. Farwells were said to many lovely ladies who have been a definite asset to the committee and our projects. Scrolls were presented to Mrs. Jack Humphreys and Mrs. Mae Rogers who will "push hubby thru" the IOAC. Mrs. Humphreys was our Hospitality Lady and Mrs. Rogers was our Historian. We'll certainly miss them. The ladies of the newly formed committee — Contemporary Subjects — are in good hands as Mrs. Robert Bonthuis leaves us for this new post-

With Mrs. Bonthuis will be Misses as Al Cuke, Sylvester Shannon, John Grand, Glenn Youngblood, Michael O'Reilly, Peter Collins, Lory Fort, Mack Hill, David Petruska, William Pittman, and Misses.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Shannon and hostesses. Delightful coffee were Mrs. Nathan Vail, Mrs. Bonthuis, and Mrs. Jack Calk.

from the third Thursday to the second Thursday of the month. However, on Nov. 9, instead of the usual coffee, the ladies hope to be able to travel to Atlanta as a group to do their Christmas shopping with a few muscums and shops. They will spend some money.

Plans are also underway for the CAFE formal dinner-dance to be held at the Supper Club on the evening of Sunday, Dec. 17. The dances will give the members of the Board and their ladies an opportunity to start the Christmas season early in a spirit of conviviality.

The ladies of the 210 FIELD ARTILLERY held their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Richard Ray, Craig Drive at Fort Benning, on Oct. 17. Mrs. Kenneth Meredith served as co-hostess. A lovely arrangement of fall flowers and Halloween decorations adorned the refreshment table. Mrs. Curtis Hogan, mander, greeted the special guest, Mrs. Larry Aaron, and welcomed Mrs. Larry Brannon whose husband is serving temporary duty with the battalion.

The ladies had been requested to wear Halloween masks, and after a short business meeting, a prize was given to Mrs. Robert Smith whose mask was judged to be most original. Continuing in the tradition, each lady had her turn hobnobbing for apples.

Before the evening was over, Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. Robert Veen introduced the group to the basics of candlemaking. Mrs. Hogan demonstrated an ice candle and Mrs. Veen showed how to make a sand candle. The ladies were also pleased to take home with them the "Gunner's Mate Cookbook," a collection of favorite recipes recently compiled by the battalion "distaff side."

The ladies of the 1ST BN., 8TH INF., held their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Myron Davis with Mrs. Cecil Calloway acting as co-hostess.

The ladies welcomed Mesdames Joseph Brand, Henry Hagel, Bernard wife of the Battalion Commandant, were said to Mesdames Bruce Byard, Fred Heath, and John Lockard.

After the business meeting everyone enjoyed refreshments consisting of sandwich trols, cake, nuts, mints, apple cider, and coffee.

Mrs. Charles Arnecke and Mrs. Robert Kelley hosted the monthly coffee for the HEADQUARTERS, 197th Bde. Ladies, Oct. 18 in the Normandy Room, Main Officers Club.

Mrs. Arnecke introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Capt. Frank Peterson, Environmental Management Section, who gave an educational and informative talk on Ecology and how "the important housewife" can help.

An imaginative centerpiece composed of disposable items, surrounded by throw-away bottles complimented the "Recycling" theme.

During the business meeting, the group decided

Environmental Workshop urges Columbus to help

Pet overpopulation, recycling, pollution in the Chattahoochee River and zero population growth are just a few of the concerns of the environmental Workshop. Sponsored by the Officers Wives Club of Ft. Benning, the group recently held a meeting with a group of military wives who believed that improving the quality of our environment is the responsibility of all citizens.

The group has now blossomed into an active and energetic organization headed by new members from both Ft. Benning and the Columbus area. "Concerns with population, pollution and the quality of life should not be limited to any group of citizens," states Mrs. Paul Anderson, President of the group.

"We're all in this together, and we'd love to have more members from Columbus join us."

The group meets each Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. in the OWC Lounge at Ft. Benning. Program meetings are alternated with project meetings. Recent programs have been a slide presentation from the National Wildlife Federation ("Conservation Summit - A Family Adventure in Awareness of the Only Earth We Have") along the banks of the Chattahoochee where there could be walks, horse trails and bicycle trails.

Workshop efforts have recently been directed toward urging Columbus to install secondary sewage treatment facilities in an attempt to clean up the Chattahoochee and to prevent further pollution.

Scheduled for future programs are the topic of recycling, a movie from the Living Earth series and "The Animals Are Crying," a film centering on humanity to animals.

Workshop members also envision an attractive, green, landscaped park along the banks of the Chattahoochee where there could be walks, horse trails and bicycle trails.

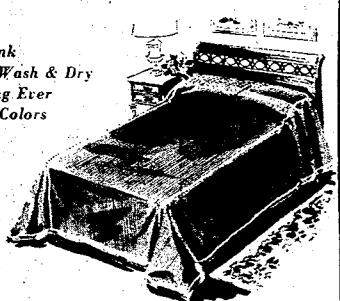

They are in touch with the Department of Community Development and the Army Corps of Engineers on this idea.

Scheduled for future programs are the topic of recycling, a movie from the Living Earth series and "The Animals Are Crying," a film centering on humanity to animals.

Marine Coon Cats featured at show

One lady and thirteen cats live at 2721 Wist St. in Columbus, the home of Lt. Col. Mary Condit of Marine Army Hospital, I.A. Col. Condit raises cats, and ten of hers are a comparative-ly unknown breed called Maine Coon cats. She also has one Siamese cat, and two that are part-Perisian.

The Maine Coon cats are long, large boned cats, with long full tails and long coats. "They make extremely good pets," says their owner. "They look ferocious, but they're gentle as lambs. Like all cats, they make up their own tricks, and they're always into something."

One of Lt. Col. Condit's Maine Coon cats, Andy, is a Grand Champion, and another, Jason, won the 1972 Cats Magazine award for best Silver Mackerel Tabby (this refers to his coloring, not his breed).

Chess championship now in book form

The recent Fischer-Spassky World Chess Championship was the biggest news in the long history of the game. Every newspaper and television channel in the country covered the event, and just days after Bobby Fischer won the championship, books on the match began to appear. Most, like the newspapers and television, simply reported the moves of the games. But now, Samuel Reshevsky, International Grandmaster of Chess, chess writer for the New York Times and a man who himself defeated Bobby Fischer in a match, has written a definitive critique of the championship in a new paperback, RESCHEVSKY ON THE FISHER - SPASSKY GAMES (Acce. Publishing Co., 218 Park Avenue South, New York).

THE LOVE MACHINE

Jacqueline Susann's best seller is now on the screen. TV newscaster John Phillip Law impresses his boss Robert Ryan, chairman of the IBC TV network in New York City. Ryan's a network chief, Jackie Cooper, fights Law's popularity by developing Sheeky Greene, a second rate saturo comic, into an IBC star. Ryan's wife Dyan Cannon begins an affair with Law. When Ryan finds a heget attack, Cannon makes Law acting president over Cooper. Upon his return, Ryan goes out to curb Law's power. Diome Warwick's "He's Moving On" and "Amanda's Theme," are beautifully sung in the film's soundtrack.

DR. PHIBES RISES AGAIN... The continuing efforts of the diabolical Dr. Phibes to bring back to life his wife Victoria, killed in an automobile crash, is again the vehicle for ingeniously contrived murders, mixing broad satire with classic screen gore, in this sequel to The Abominable Dr. Phibes. Vincent Price is again superb as Dr. Phibes, the mad scientist who devises mayhem on his victims and who arises from suspended animation to take his wife to Egypt, where a secret elixir hidden below a mountain will restore her life and make them both immortal. Also intent upon getting the elixir is a ruthless scientist named Biederbeck, played by Robert Quarry, and before the final showdown, Biederbeck's man are bitten by hordes of scorpions, clawed to death by a hungry eagle and crushed in a giant vice, to name only a few deaths meted out by Phibes.

WANTS UP, DOC... Ryan O'Neal as an absent-minded mnaficologist whose paid suitcase full of rock samples gets mixed up with three identical suitcases, two of which contain secret papers and stolen jewels. Free spirited fulltime kook, Barbara Streisand

By Robert Thomas

The flag football team of HHC, 1st Bn., 29th Inf. Pioneers, 197th Inf. Bde. clinched the post championship Oct. 30 at Essebagger Field, defeating HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. 9-0. The two teams went into the final match of the tournament with one loss each. Both teams had beaten the other previously, but the Pioneers were given a slight edge having taken three out of four meetings in brigade level play. This final meeting of the two was also the closest contested. Neither team scored until the second half when the 1st-29th defense captured the 197th quarterback in his own end zone. This turned a deadlock into victory for the Pioneers as their offense got the ball and quickly added a touchdown and conversion to their score.

Kinder Konzert set for Nov. 11th

An entertaining hour of fun with music is planned for the young children of Columbus-Ft. Benning area on Saturday, November 11th, when the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, Harry Kruger conductor, will present a Kinder Konzert at 3:30 P.M. in Pine Arts Hall at Columbus College.

The theme of the concert will be "Symphony Stories" and the circus idea will be carried throughout with the decorations, costumes, entertainment, program etc. Dee Dee's Children's Shop will sponsor the concert.

The program is designed to explore various aspects of music, showing the children how music is a language, a language of sound that can tell stories and also paint pictures. Conductor Harry Kruger will explain each selection to the children so they can enjoy it even more.

A father of three children himself, Mr. Kruger is highly qualified in the area of describing and relating to young people. His informative and often humorous comments always delight his young audience.

All the numbers of the program will be short, lasting in mind the length of time it is practical to expect a child to sit still, and many of the numbers will be accompanied by dancing and other visual effects which the children will enjoy.

There will be matching dancing story - telling and singing along with the orchestra. Plan to bring your children and your neighbor's children for a guaranteed hour of fun. Tickets will be available at the door. For advance tickets call the Columbus Symphony Guild at 323-5039.

'The Lion in Winter,' comedy or tragedy?

"The Lion in Winter," presented by the Springer Theatre Company beginning November 9, is a comedy... or is it? Audiences in many cities have found it a study in laughs in its lines and situations. But whether or not it may properly be called a comedy is a matter that puzzled even its author, James Goldman, who told of his dilemma in a signed article in the New York Herald Tribune the Sunday before his play hit up the Broadway scene with its rich imagery early in 1966.

Several weeks earlier, Mr. Goldman related, he and his producers had been looking over advertising layouts that would announce the play's opening. As usual, underneath the title was a line, with a blank left by the advertising agency that was uncertain of what word had longed there — "A New —" — by James Goldman.

What was the word to insert? "It's a comedy," said Goldman, "but we can't call it that."

Why not? Because, he theorized, fundamentally laughter has little more to do with comedy than tears have to do with tragedy. Audiences, he said, are more likely to weep over "The Drowning Mermaid" or "All the Way Home" — See Lion page 19 than over the more majestic tragedy of "King Lear."

Lion

"Just as something larger and more terrible than Lear comes out of tragedy," he continued, "so something larger and more penetrating than a good laugh is the product of comedy. The Lion in Winter is concerned with things that are ordinarily so m b e r. hatred, rage, ance, lost love, greed, the threat of death, to name some. I believe that the subject matter of comedy and tragedy is the same. What makes the difference is an author's view of life, whether he tends to see existence as a comic or a tragic enterprise. I tend to see it as a comic. The source of comedy for me — now, at any rate — is that man has a natural tendency to make sense of life, to organize a world that resists being put in order. "Concretely this means that we tend never to know what we're really doing, what we truly want or how to get it, but we spend our lives behaving as if we did. And this, it seems to me, is what comedy is made of."

"This kind of comedy, left undecorated, tends to be heavily ironic, somewhat grim and not much fun. The ordinary comedy o-ments — wit, humor, style, verve, bright coloring — are what we all desire. A comedy ought to be both fun and funny. There are very few simple jokes in "The Lion in Winter," but comic things go on and comic things get said. The play was intended for laughter.

"It's an odd play — a comedy, but not the kind we're used to seeing. It wants to be amusing and upsetting, both.

'Miss Columbus' fires handgun like an expert

Tina Perrine, "Miss Columbus" not only has a radiant smile, a beautiful figure and a winning disposition, but she has a champion manner of shooting a gun.

In the Columbus Beauty's visit to the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit October 27, she met Champion shooters from each of the competitive branches and after a brief instructional period on the Indoor Pistol Range, proceeded to amaze her "attentive" male shooting audience by her expertise with the handgun. She liberally fired championship caliber scores from the first shot. From her first five shot string, she placed three in the ten ring and two in the nine for a 48.

Then to show her admirers that it was no accident, she repeated the feat in the second string for a grand total of 96 of a possible 100 points in her target.

As her handgun instructor, S-Sgt. Jimmy McCauley a Champion pistol shot said, "her shooting arm was as steady as the Rock of Gibraltar." McCauley, who won a Gold Medal in the recent CISM matches at Cairo, Egypt, helped Miss Perrine load the pistol and then talked her through the first string.

During her visit, the lovely young Columbus Beauty was made an honorary member of the Army Marksmanship Unit by Maj. Lones W. Wigger, Olympic Gold Medal marksman. Wigger presented Miss Perrine with five Olympic lapel shooting pins and a unit Marksmanship patch to signify her membership.

Miss Perrine toured the Skeet range and Rifle ranges also during her visit and tried her hand with the many competitive guns.

PFC Predicto PICKS!

BRATS, RATS, BATS, those lifeless lizards from the Leadership Dept. somehow got passed my picking wit. Those babbling hamboozlers must have had outside help. So degrading was my defeat that I refuse to talk statistics but rather get on with crushing those silly spgs from the Weapons Dept. This week, I will strike back with such fury that not even one game do I plan to forfeit. If you wish to chance your forecast against the Powerful Predicto, just dial 543-7241 or 543-7811 and get burned.

Second 'Run for Fun' scheduled by Rangers

Fort Benning's second "Run for Fun" will be held Thursday, Nov. 9 on Stewart Field. The Ranger Department's Orienteering Team will supervise the meet.

Those who want to enter "Run for Fun" early can (1) filling out a registration form or (2) by telephoning Capt. Ed W. Strubel at 545-6021.

Registration forms have been distributed to most units on post, and should be mailed or sent through message center to the Ranger Department, Attention: Orienteering Team.

Calling in a registration is faster, but anyone not on active military duty should sign a "Claims for Damage" form.

Events of "Run for Fun" are scheduled as follows:

12-1 p.m. Late Registration

1:30 p.m. Two Mile Run (only for those on active duty or already entered in the "Run for Your Life")

(1) under 30 years class (2) 30-35 class (3) 36-40 class (4) 41 and older class.

2 p.m. One mile Womens Open

2:15 p.m. Four Mile Post Relay

3 p.m. Five Mile Open

3:45 p.m. Awards Presentation

Running will be on a dirt track, so runners may wear track shoes or any other type of foot gear. Everyone must wear shirts. Members of college or high school track or cross country teams may run, but are not eligible to receive awards.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

Notes

BY BILL KLOEB

Football, golf, fishing and even girl watching will take a back seat tomorrow when the Georgia 1972-1973 deer season opens.

Many hunters have been planning for this date for a long time. A lot of other hunters haven't given it much attention but intend to be out in the woods looking for that trophy buck at sun up tomorrow.

Despite the off handed attitude of many hunters this is not a day to take lightly. The odds are stacked in many ways against the hunter who just grabs his gun and heads for the woods.

Most experienced hunters have been spending hours in the woods reconnoitering for places where deer are likely to be tomorrow and building shooting stands at the most likely places. They have sighted in their weapon and checked out all the other hunting gear they intend to use. They also have all of the permits and licenses required by law.

Weapons Must be Registered.

Before any hunter takes to the field he should be sure he is operating within the laws.

Weapons used for hunting on post must be registered with the Provost Marshal Registration Division located in Building 63. The weapon must be brought to the registration point for the initial registration. Provost Marshal personnel will check the weapon for safety and verify any identification numbers on the weapon. The gun owner will receive a registration card when the registration has been completed. He should keep this card in his possession whenever he uses the gun on post.

There is also a requirement to re-register weapons. The registration card has a date in the upper right corner. Weapons to be used after this date must be re-registered. The card but not the weapon must be brought to the Provost Marshal. Cards in the upper right hand corner have expired. If you have any questions on the legality of your weapons call 565-4561.

Everyone Needs Licenses

All personnel hunting on the reservation must have a state hunting license. All military personnel on active duty and Georgia residents must have a Georgia state license. All other persons authorized to hunt on post must have a Georgia State Non-Resident Hunting License. All deer hunters must have a Georgia Big Game License.

All personnel hunting on the reservation must have a Post Hunting Permit. Post Permits and Georgia Licenses may be purchased at the Rod and Gun Club sales counter. The club is located on First Division Road about one-quarter mile south of Highway 27.

Big Deer Contest

The Rod and Gun Club will hold a big deer contest again this year. The contest, open only to members of the club will provide awards for the deer with the most number of antler points and deer weighing the most after being field dressed.

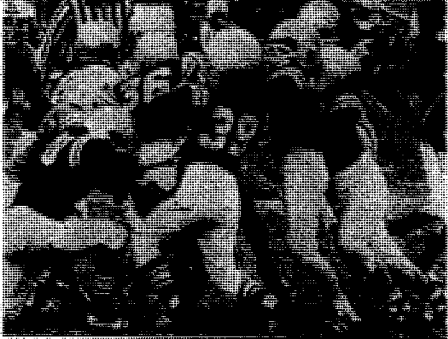

Only deer taken on the Fort Benning reservation may be entered into the contest. Personnel authorized to hunt on post may obtain a Rod and Gun Club membership when they come to the club for the post hunting permit. Detailed information concerning the contest will also be available at the club.

Be Careful

From all indications tomorrow will see a record number of hunters in the field. There are many deer and many days available in the hunting season to bag one. Don't let opening day excitement cause an accident.

Take the time to check one of the range maps to be sure the area you intend to hunt is actually open for hunting. One of these maps is located at the Provost Marshal Office, Building 215, Main Post, the Range Control Office, Building 2621 Main Post and at the Rod and Gun Club, Building 4050, Harmony Church Area.

If you do bag a deer remember that it must be tagged with your Georgia Big Game license and brought to the Post Fish and Game Unit Check Point at Building 2682, Harmony Church. After it has been checked there bring it to the Rod and Gun Club for entry in the Big Deer Contest. Deer will not be entered into the contest until they have been checked by the Fish and Game Unit.

Although the Cornish were known for their prowess in the field of arms, they were also known for their skill in the field of arms. Cardinals blank Cowboys in Doughboy Division

The Cardinals of the Doughboy League proved to fans this past weekend that they are deserving of the first place position that they occupy within their league. Flaying it against the Cowboys, a team without wins, the Cardinals not-so-easily won the game.

For a last place team, the Cowboys looked pretty good. From the vantage point of the side lines, there seems to be little difference between the first and last place teams. This is good to see since closely matched teams provide better football for the viewers, not to mention the players.

In the first quarter of last Saturday's game No. 69 for the Cardinals, Scooter Wilson, ran off tackle for a gain of 40 yards and a TD. The two point conversion was stopped by a surging defensive line of the Cowboys.

The only other action in the first half of the game was on the ensuing kick-off. A back for the Cowboys followed some good blocking for a 40 yard return, only to have it nullified by a clipping penalty by one of his teammates. The half ended without any further scoring by either team.

During the 3rd quarter, the teams exchanged punts for little action and no scoring. The 4th quarter however, provided a little more entertainment. Kellis Nobles, No. 64 for the Cardinals, made a fine 26 yard run around left end for a TD and No. 18, Brian Liver added 2 extra points with the conversion. With one second left in

“Meeting people is my thing.”

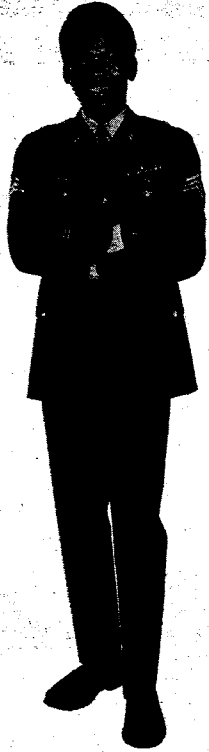

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

“I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

“One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

“I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that.”

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things: Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

USAIS takes PT test

Members of the Infantry School took their physical training test the 26th and the 31st of October, with the last day scheduled for Friday at Stewart and Watson fields.
Captain Michael A. Tross, Team Officer in Charge of the conditioning sub-committee, gave the slogan for the PT test as "follow me in physical fitness."

Before starting the test the 26th, Captain Joe L. Young, principle instructor and the chairman of the conditioning sub-committee gave instructions on what the test would consist of.
The test consisted of five events: bent leg sit-ups, pushups, the run-dodge and jump, the horizontal ladder and the mile run.
During the two days of the PT test, 510 men have taken the test with an expected 300 more to take the test Friday, according to Capt. Young.

German Liaison holds reception

Lt. Col. Paul Schultze, the German Liaison Officer to the U.S. Army Infantry School, held the German Liaison's Annual Reception Wednesday.

Among the guests at the reception, which was held at the Supper Club of the Officers Club, were MG Orwin C. Talbot, commanding general of Fort Benning, Brig. Gen. William R. Richardson, assistant commandant of the Infantry School, and Col. Willard Latham, deputy post commander.

The theme of the reception was "A Salute to the Infantry of the United States of America."

Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, left, Fort Benning commander, receives a check representing the National Bank of Fort Benning's contribution to the Combined Federal Campaign being conducted at all federal civilian and military agencies in the metropolitan area of Fort Benning, Columbus and Phenix City. Making the presentation are William A. Lyman, center, chairman of the bank's Board of directors, and E. G. Sparras, bank president. (Photo by Philip Reed)

Post Job Fair slated for Nov. 15

The job market may be tight but a area soldiers and veterans have an inside 11 to 15 to information about possible employment areas.

The Adjutant General's office at Fort Benning is sponsoring its second job fair for separating, retired, or already separated veterans. Nov. 15 in the Briant Wells Field House from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. "So far," says Maj. William Davis, project officer for the job fair, "48 firms have accepted invitations to come. These are on the local, state and national level. We expect others to answer positively before the fair date."

Davis explained that the fair, Emplio 72, is not for specific hiring purposes. "What it will do," he said, "is bring together people with skills and training and the employers who need these skills."

An offshoot of the President's Jobs for Veterans program, the fair also will acquaint civilian employers with the variety of military training which can be adapted to civilian jobs.

Davis urged each person attending the fair to complete a questionnaire of general background information before coming to the Field House.

The questionnaires are available on the back of the "Daily Bulletin," published by the Adjutant General's office, and in the project office for the fair.

The Emplio 72 office is Eight former commandants return here

Eight former commandants of the U.S. Army Infantry School are returning to Fort Benning to attend the groundbreaking ceremony of the new U.S. Army Infantry Museum.

The groundbreaking will be held on Watson Field, main post, on Nov. 11 at 11 a.m.

Returning are Lt. Gen. and Mrs. John W. O'Daniel, July, 1948-June, 1948; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Joseph Harper, June, 1954-May, 1956; Maj. Gen. George Lynch, May, 1956-August, 1956; Gen. and Mrs. Herbert Powell, August, 1956-April, 1958; Gen. and Mrs. Paul L. Freeman, May, 1958-April, 1960; Gen. and Mrs. Ben Harrell, August, 1960-February, 1962; Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Charles Rich, February, 1962-August, 1962; and Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Robert York, July, 1962-July, 1967.

When "reheating baked pasta dishes such as lasagne, be sure to use the microwave with foil so that the top doesn't dry out before the middle is hot."

By returning the questionnaire, the veteran will increase the number of firms he can talk to effectively. The project office is going to match the veteran's skills and interests with companies looking for that type of training.

Davis encouraged veterans to come by reviewing the success of the last job fair. "In our spring fair," he said, "about 90 percent of the 750 attendees eventually got jobs because of the contacts they have here."

Firms that have accepted invitations to the fair include: Electronic Data Systems, Southern Airlines, Prudential Life Insurance, Kinnett Dairies, and Horizon Corporation. Also coming are Southern Airways, Aetna Life Insurance, Seaborn Bell, Steak and Ale Restaurants, and Coca-Cola. Other firms are Texaco Oil, University of Georgia, Metropolitan Life Insurance, and Columbus Consolidated Government.

THE BAYONET Inside Front

The Old Guard marches in the uniforms of the Sailing Masters of 1812. This is one of the honor guards and flags that will participate in the groundbreaking ceremony for the new U.S. Army Infantry Museum, Nov. 11 at 11 a.m. (U.S. Army Photo)

Old Guard to perform at historical pageant

The Old Guard of the Army will perform its colorful historical pageant at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the new U. S. Army Infantry Museum at Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 11 at 11 a.m.

Persons attending the ceremony are requested to be seated by 10:45 a.m.

The Old Guard, organized in 1784, is the oldest regiment in the Army and is officially designated the Third U. S. Infantry.

Often called the "President's own," the 3rd Infantry is the official Army honor guard for the president. It also stands vigil for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The pageant the Guard will perform for the groundbreaking is a salute to the finest in American military tradition. Each period of military history will be remembered with the era's flag and an honor guard in uniforms from the period.

Each member of the 3rd Infantry wears a black and tan "buff" sash on his left shoulder. This sash is a replica of knapsack straps used during the 18th century to display the unit colors.

The Old Guard earned its name during the Mexican War. Gen. Winfield Scott, when the unit entered Mexico City, told his staff to "take your hats off to 'The Old Guard of the Army.'"

Another distinction for the unit is its custom of passing in review with fixed bayonets in each parade. This honor originally led in the Mexican War when the 3rd Infantry led a successful bayonet charge against the enemy at Cerro Gordo. Today, the Old Guard is the only unit permitted to review with fixed bayonets.

Since 1948, the Old Guard has been stationed in Washington, D. C. In addition to official ceremonial duties, the 3rd Infantry also acts as security guard for the Capital.

During the last year, the Old Guard performed in more than 3,400 ceremonies.

"Old Guard" drummer Sgt. Rodney Seward of Hagerstown, Md., and a young friend exchange ideas on drum techniques during a recent Guard muster at Ft. Myer, Va. The official honor guard for the president will participate on the Infantry Museum groundbreaking ceremony at Fort Benning on Nov. 11 starting at 11 a.m. on Waston Field. Persons attending the ceremony are asked to be seated by 10:45 a.m.

'Queen of Battle' to be commemorated in new museum

The proud tradition and heritage of the "Queen of Battle," the U. S. Infantry, will be on review during the groundbreaking for the new U. S. Army Infantry Museum at Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 11 at 11 a.m.

The ceremony, to be held on Waston Field near Infantry Hall, will begin with a volley fired in honor of infantrymen past and present. "Taps" will be played to salute those who gave their lives in their country's service.

Guests are requested to be seated by 10:45 a.m. so they can fully appreciate the pre-ceremony activities.

After the volley, the famed "Old Guard," the 1st Battalion, 3rd U. S. Infantry from Washington, D. C., will perform in review of historic national colors and uniforms.

The oldest unit in the Army, the 3rd Infantry is the official Army ceremonial unit and the Army honor guard and escort for the president.

"Pageantry" is the keynote of the Old Guard review. Each era of American history will be remembered through its flag and the Army uniform of the period. As the appropriately dressed color guard presents a flag, the Forts Benning and Rucker bands will play an air from the past Army ceremonial.

Then, a narrator will describe the history of that time as it developed through Army activity.

Joining the Old Guard are the Herald Trumpets from the U. S. Army Band. The trumpets will introduce each section of the program with fanfare. Performances of the Herald Trumpets are limited to occasions of presidential importance.

The "Taps" salute will be performed by a bugler and drummer who play for ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

Stationed with each flag will be equipment used by infantrymen of the era. The tools are part of the present collection of the Infantry Museum. Gray is invited to examine these weapons closely.

The Honorable Gordon Gray, Secretary of the Army in 1949-50, will be keynote speaker for the groundbreaking. A member of the Fort Benning Officer Candidate School Hall of Fame; he served for two years during WWII before going to the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater in 1944.

Also attending the ceremony will be eight former commandments of the Infantry School, Infantrymen from all levels of service, and civilians interested in the Army's history.

The ceremony will be the turning of the first ground for the Museum. Four members of Benning's airborne department will parachute in with the shovels to be used. The oldest entrenching tool is a 1910 model used in World War I while the newest was developed for the Vietnam conflict.

In addition to the displays outside, a collection of mementos of Gen. George C. Marshall will be on view in the main lobby of Infantry Hall. Marshall, an Infantryman who became Army Chief of Staff, Secretary of the Army, and Secretary of Defense, was assistant commandant of the Infantry School from 1927-32.

The collection will include pictures, clothing items, medals, flags and speeches from various periods of Marshall's career.

The Museum itself is slated for completion in 1975 and will have 71,000 square feet of exhibit space. Plans for the new museum insure that the building will be fireproof, bug proof, weather proof, theft proof, and offer sufficient space to house the current collection and future additions.

The U. S. Army Infantry Museum was first organized in 1959 in the wooden building it now occupies on Main Post, Fort Benning. Currently, the collection has over 14,000 artifacts from Infantry units throughout American history. Only 20 per cent of these can now be displayed in the 5,000 square feet of exhibit space.

SOUND OFF!

Do you feel that the chain of command system is the best way for the individual soldier to solve any grievances or problems?

SFC Edwardo H. Garcia, 586th Eng. said, "I don't see any other way, to tell you the truth. If the problem is very serious, I would try harder to get it solved. If a man comes to me and I can't help him, I go to my platoon leader and higher if necessary. I wouldn't discourage a man from getting his problem solved, no matter what the source, but I would very strongly encourage following the correct channels."

PFC James Malone
586th Eng.

SFC Tilton King, 586th Eng. said, "I highly recommend it. A man can get his problems solved at lower levels without going up. If it can't be solved, there is always some place higher where it can and will be solved."

Sgt. Raymond Provencher
Co. A, 1-29th

Sgt. Raymond Provencher, Co. A, 1-29th, said, "No. The Chain of Command is unrealistic. When you have a problem, it isn't taken care of right away. You have to wait and by the time your answer gets back it's too late. There should be someone other than your platoon sergeant, 1st sergeant, XO and CO to go to. I would like to go to someone in my own rank for the answers. Maybe he could solve the problem easier. He would know how a man his same rank feels."

SFC Edwardo H. Garcia
586th Eng.

PFC James Malone, 586th Eng., said, "Yes. If I had a problem, I would go to my duty section sergeant first, then the platoon sergeant. One of them could probably help me and give the best help. If not, they could send me higher up to the right person."

SFC Tilton King
586th Eng.

Birthright

Has roots in moral foundation of nation

The birthright of every American has its roots in the moral foundations of the Nation. These moral foundations are broad agreements upon specific values which guide us in managing our individual lives and social activities. Our values flow from our belief in the supreme importance of individual personality. We believe that every individual can acquire the capacity for moral judgment and a sense of moral responsibility.

Each of us is free to justify our beliefs in the rights and obligations that form our democratic values from the religious, philosophical, or scientific meanings to which we are personally committed. Protestant, Catholic, Jew, Muslim, and atheist have all found ways to affirm the fundamental value of the individual as the cornerstone of morality in our country. The numerous creeds and beliefs which are held by groups of Americans have, each in its own way, clarified and strengthened our democratic values. When these values are understood and believed by an individual American he has a common bond with the people of the world who are struggling to establish freedom and human dignity in their societies because these values are common to all people who fight for human rights.

Three of the values that flow from our basic belief in the supremacy of the individual personality are: institutions are the servants of men, all people should be judged to speak his mind. Anytime one of these values is reversed or weakened our birthright is under attack. The American consensus of values and our freedom to justify them in terms of our personal beliefs is protected by the Bill of Rights. Every citizen ought to know, understand, and be able to defend these rights which are enumerated in the first ten amendments to the Constitution. For instance every one of us ought to be able to defend the idea that every man is innocent until proven guilty. This is a right enshrined in the fifth amendment which states that "No person shall . . . be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law . . . Life without these rights would destroy our birthright. It would mean that a person could be deprived of life, liberty, or property for the good of the state.

Remember the groundbreaking ceremony for the new Infantry Museum is tomorrow. This young lady would like to remind you to be seated by 10:45 a.m.

CB&T's Constant Banker.

You can bank on it.

Any hour. Any day.

Here it is! The Constant Banker! And it's coming to our Macon Road Office this week. And when we say you can bank on it any hour, any day, we really mean it. Even weekends and holidays. All you need is the new CB&T BankAmericard with the magnetic stripe containing your secret personal security number (invisibly imprinted within the stripe). The Constant Banker is fast, simple to operate, and convenient. (What more could you ask for?) With the Constant Banker you'll be able to make deposits or payments anytime, and receive a receipt of the transaction immediately. Or, if you need cash, you can get a CB&T BankAmericard cash advance. You can also make cash withdrawals from either your checking account or savings account. Even transfer funds from one account to another. So now there's more reason than ever before to have a CB&T BankAmericard. If you don't already have one, stop by and apply for yours today. Because next week it'll be much more than just another charge card.

The Vasectomy

MAH performs 287 vasectomies since Feb. 1971

BY WILLIAM BROWNELL

"A vasectomy is a form of contraception whereby a male is sterilized by causing what is called an interruption in the route of the sperm," according to urologist Dr. (Maj.) David W. Kalles, Martin Army Hospital.

The vasectomy in the male of the procedure performed on women called "cubignation," commonly referred to as, "tying off the tubes." Both the vasectomy for men and the tubaligation in women are in no way similar to "castration" for men and "hysterectomy" for women. "Castration" is the removal of both testicles while "hysterectomy" is the removal of the uterus in women. The latter are more complicated and time-consuming procedures performed for other reasons than contraception.

"Like the vasectomy performed on men, the tubaligation in women is an interruption in the route or the tying off of the fallopian tubes to prevent the egg from moving to the uterus for fertilization," Dr. Kalles continues.

Vasectomy Is Something New?

The history of vasectomy is but a mere 70 years. Until recently, nearly three-quarters of all sterilizations were performed on women, usually after the delivery of their last child. Now, the ratio is shifting towards vasectomies.

The Army's role in performing vasectomies began to gain momentum in the late sixties. At Martin Army Hospital vasectomy, as a method of contraception, began to gain popularity in February, 1971. Nationwide, 50,000 were performed in 1967 and this has accelerated to 750,000 vasectomies annually. Since February 1971, 458 operations have been requested at Fort Benning, 287 were actually performed and 85 canceled for various reasons. Two of the common reasons were a change of mind and a lack of assignment time remaining to permit proper post-operative follow-up. What is the reason for such a rise? Some people attribute it to a more permissive, sexual society. The Association for Voluntary Sterilization has estimated that the steroid "pill" was given both unfair and unfavorable publicity by the Nelson Senate Committee hearing early in 1970.

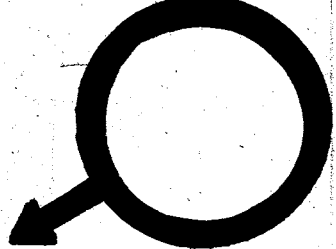

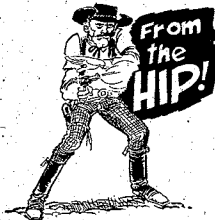

Scheduling A Problem

The waiting list at MAH presently stands at 100. Each month, approximately 16-20 vasectomies are performed. One day each week, normally Fridays, are reserved for performing approximately four vasectomies at one time. This schedule will continue based upon the size of the urology staff.

"There is no psychological basis for a waiting list. It is solely a matter of other more urgent urological procedures taking priority over this elective procedure. The patients are presumed to be physiologically prepared when they appear for pre-operative counseling," added Dr. Kalles.

If a patient changes his mind, regardless if he got "cold feet" or not, he may be rescheduled at a later date, although he and his wife are normally counseled once again.

NEXT WEEK The Bayonet will once again feature vasectomies as a second of a two part series.

One man's experience

(EDITORS NOTE: It is to be remembered that this is just one man's experience and not a typical reaction.)

"The first time I ever heard of a vasectomy was just before my 28th birthday. My wife brought up the subject one evening after she and a friend had discussed vasectomies."

"My first emotion was mixed: Embarrassed that I didn't know what a vasectomy was and interested to the point that I later had the operation. What is most interesting is the variation of stories that circulated, then and now."

"An acquaintance had been 'peached out' by some evidently adverse stories. He later canceled his operation. Meanwhile, I continued to await my operation with optimism. . . . I think."

"My wife was pregnant with our second planned child and I felt that it was only right that I have the operation, since she was having the children. Besides, I had always heard that women were plagued with more psychological hang ups and physiological change than men after sterilization."

"I had at times wondered if I would be less a man after sterilization due to all the myths, but after reading about vasectomies in a couple of journals and men's magazines, and talking with veterans of the operation, I was assured that only men with previous mental hang ups were subjects of such fantasy."

"All the stories I had ever heard about the simplicity of the operation were generally, 'quick and easy.' The pain of the injection for me was excruciating. I had expected the operation would be nothing, but when I was given the 'local,' I nearly took a stroll on the ceiling. Maybe if I had been more honestly informed by the 'vas veterans,' then I would probably have handled the situation with more grace."

"For the next twelve days, I strolled, or should I say, waddled, in fear of pain. Then just overnight I awoke and bingo, I could walk like I had a purpose in life."

"Since that time, I've had no problems either mentally or physically. My sexual life is tremendous and my wife and I are able to relax sexually. No worry about taking pills or injecting foam. I would definitely and gladly have the operation again, even though for the twenty minutes that I was on the operation table I had had my second thoughts."

"Every man who has had no previous sexual hang ups and desires a carefree marriage should consider this simple operation. But he should do so ONLY after realizing that there may be some short-lived pain and a wobbly, two-week recovery."

"Having actually seen the hours of pain that my wife experienced in labor with our planned second child, I can honestly say that my minor operation was but a small sacrifice for one so great, if we were to have unplanned, additional children."

Maj. Gen. Carley to address IOBC 5-73 Nov. 8th

Major General John T. Carley Jr., Commanding General of the United States Army Test and Evaluation Agency, Fort Belvoir, Va., will visit Fort Benning, Nov. 10, to address and graduate the Infantry Officer Basic Course 5-73.

A briefing on the class will take place in room 650, Infantry Hall at 10:15 a.m., the 8th. At 10:30 a.m. the graduation will take place.

Maj. Gen. Carley has served at Fort Benning on numerous occasions. In 1945, he attended the IOBC, and was an instructor here with the Staff Department from September, 1961, until September, 1963, before entering the OAC. In June of 1953, he was named Assistant Director of Instruction and later served as an instructor in the DI's Instructor Training Section. He received his Parachutist Badge here in 1956 and then went on to Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

He returned to the Infantry School again in September, 1969, as Director, Weapons Department, and was shortly thereafter reassigned as Director of Instruction. On June 1, 1970, he became Assistant Commandant of the Infantry School, Ft. Benning.

From assistant commandant, he went to Vietnam on July 21, 1971 to serve as director of Operations, Military Assistance Command.

Maj. Gen. Carley has held a number of major command and staff assignments. He was Assistant G3, 2nd Infantry Division, Korea, from September, 1950, until September, 1951; Assistant G2, Allied Land Forces, Central Europe, France, from August, 1957, to February, 1960; G2 and then G3, 82nd Airborne Division, from August, 1960, to September, 1961; Deputy Battle Group Commander, 2-504th Airborne Infantry, September, 1961 to May, 1962; assigned special duty with the HOWZE Board from May to August, 1962; and staff officer with the War Plans Division, Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations, Washington, from July, 1963, until March, 1964.

He has also served as Military Assistant to the Undersecretary of the Army and Military Assistant to the Secretary of the Army from March, 1964 until July, 1968; Chief of Staff, 82nd Airborne Division July, 1966, to August 1967, and Brigade Commander, 2nd Brigade, 82nd Airborne Division, from August, 1967, to June, 1968. He was a Brigade Commander, 2nd Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, in Vietnam from August, 1968, to July, 1969. Staff College and the U.S. Army War College.

His awards and decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Bronze Star Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Air Medal with 17 Oak Leaf Clusters, Army Commendation Medal, Combat Infantryman Badge and Senior Parachutist Badge.

Maj. Gen. Carley is a native of Richmon, Miss., and attended Marion Military Institute in Marion, Ala., before entering and subsequently graduating from the U.S. Military Academy in 1945.

Honorable Gordon Gray to speak here Nov. 11

From private to Secretary of the Army in seven years is a big jump even with ascending promotions in times of war. The man who did it, Honorable Gordon Gray, will address the guests at the groundbreaking ceremony for the new U.S. Army Infantry Museum at Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 11 at 11 a.m.

Gray entered the Army as a private in May, 1942, after resigning from his second term in the North Carolina State Senate. He attended the Infantry Officers Candidate School here in November, 1942.

After being commissioned in February, 1943, he served at Fort Benning for two years in assignments as assistant intelligence officer, public relations officer, and assistant executive officer.

In September, 1944, Gray went to the 12th Army Group, European-African-Middle Eastern Theater as an intelligence staff officer.

He completed his active duty at Ft. Bragg, N.C., in May, 1945.

The Secretary was born in Maryland in 1909. He received a bachelor of arts from the University of North Carolina, 1930, and a bachelor of laws from Yale Law School, 1933.

Gray practiced law in New York until 1938 when he moved to Winston-Salem, N.C. In 1937, he became president of the Piedmont Publishing Company which operated Radio WFSB, Winston-Salem, N.C., and published the "Winston-Salem Journal" and "Twin City Sentinel."

In 1939 and 1941, Gray was elected to the North Carolina State Senate. He resigned in 1942 to enter the Army. After the war, he was again elected to the state senate in 1946. President Harry Truman nominated him to be assistant Secretary of the Army in 1947. He held this position from September, 1947, until April, 1949, when he became Acting Secretary of the Army. Gray was sworn in as Undersecretary of the Army in May, 1949, and took office as the Secretary in June, 1949. He held this position until April, 1950, when he became a special assistant to the President, April-November, 1950.

Gray's service to his country did not end there. He spent two years, 1950-57, as assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs; a year as director of the office of defense mobilization; and three years, 1958-61, as a special assistant to the president for national security affairs. The Secretary is the only member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory board to serve continuously since 1961.

In addition, Gray is currently chairman of the board of Piedmont Publishing Company, a director with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and American Security and Trust Company, and a trustee for the Federal City Council.

Gray's interests extend into the field of education. He serves as a trustee for the Corcoran Art Gallery, the Brookings Institute, and is currently chairman for the National Trust for Historic Preservation. He served as president of the University of North Carolina in 1961.

1-29th Infantry colors officially retired Nov. 30

The present 29th Infantry dates back to February 2, 1901 and has been service in the Philippines, Panama during WW I, Europe during WW II, and in the Korean conflict.

Today, the 1st Bn, 29th Infantry, 19th Inf. Bde., continues to fulfill the historic role of the 29th Infantry Regiment, as a demonstration unit in support of the United States Army Infantry School (USAIS) at Benning.

The Pioneers provide the demonstration units for the most recent innovations, trends, and concepts taught by the Infantry School. It is through these demonstrations that the men of the 1-29th Inf. have helped to produce the world's finest leaders.

On November 30, the 1-29th Inf., 19th Inf. Bde., officially retired its original colors to the Infantry Museum.

The colors, though encased in a huge glass case, were decaying more and more with age, as are most things that have been around since 1901. Lt. Col. Robert Faulkender, commanding officer of the 1-29th Inf., presented the colors to Mr. Glen Hunter, curator of the Infantry to apply a special presernative to the colors after full restoration is made and they will then be on permanent display in the museum for all to view.

COOKBOOK NOTES
The cookbook committee is on the lookout for names, testers and samples. The Golden Jubilee cookbook is still without a name. You can submit your ideas via the feminine boxes. If you like to try new recipes, help the cookbook committee by testing some of them. Make it up for your family, saving only a small portion for the committee. Also anyone who has already submitted recipes and plans to make them for their families can still submit samples for testing by the committee. Call Mrs. Richard Slutz, 545-1946, for more information.

ATLANTA TRIP
It's still not too late, there are tickets remaining for the Nov. 14 trip to Atlanta. Tickets are $6.30 and may be purchased from Mrs. Jack B. Cummings, 404-777, or Mrs. Russell C. Miller, 545-4739.

The trip schedule includes coffee and doughnuts at the P.O. before leaving. The buses will leave at 8 a.m. and return about 4 p.m. There will be box lunches and a tea and fashion show, all of which is included in the price of the tickets.

Tot Town Nursery will remain open late for those who wish to use it.

"BEE-ZAAR" NEWS
Undecided what to buy that favorite niece or nephew or maybe even that hard to please in-law for Christmas? Try the "Bee-Zaar" — there will be something for everyone.

Just to give you an idea, there will be bean bag frogs, ring toss games, hobby horses, decorator light switch plates, foot stools, my wreaths, pine cone wreaths, decorative lunch box purses, and much more.

Why don't you join us Dec. 6 at 10 a.m. at the Fort Benning Officers' Open Mess and find just what you've been wanting for Christmas?

FORT BENNING HISTORICAL SOCIETY
The Fort Benning Historical Society is seeking information about Fort Benning, Georgia (Camp Benning) during the period 1918-1965. Anyone having any pertinent information is asked to either write or call Mrs. Jack B. Cummings, Rt. 4 Box 726, Columbus, Ga., 31904, 404-323-4757 or Mrs. Franklin A. Hart, 501 Running Ave., Fort Benning, Ga., 31905, 404-545-4108.

REGISTERED NURSES CLUB
All registered nurses in the Fort Benning, Columbus, and Phenix City area are invited to a meeting of the RN Club, Nov. 15, at 9:30 a.m. in the fourth floor classroom at Martin Army Hospital.

The guest speaker will be Lt. Col. John A. Smith, Assistant Supervisor of Anesthesia Section, Martin Army Hospital, who will speak on "Infant Resuscitation and the Bourne Ventilator."

HEADQUARTERS COMMAND
Mrs. Bruce H. Frazer entertained for the ladies of Headquarters Command with a coffee in her home, introducing Mrs. Leon R. Livingston to the group. The hostess served an assortment of pastries, hot chocolate and coffee.

BBQD
The October coffee for the TACTICS GROUP, Brigade and Battalion Operations Department was held in the quarters of Mrs. R. E. Funderburk, Wickesham St., Fort Benning, Ga. The Hospitality Operations Committee hosted the BBQ. Mrs. S. Meloy introduced the BBQ and spoke on the OWC golden anniversary "cookbook" to be available early in 1973. Mrs. Meloy presented to Lt. and Mrs. Robert Faulkender, Col. Faulkender, the Battalion Commander, turned over his command Thursday, Nov. 2. He was presented with a plaque and an engraved shaker from the men of the Battalion.

The wives of officers of COMBAT SUPPORT BATTALION met for their November coffee on the first in the Benning Room of the Main Officers' Club. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Hinton Crockett, Mrs. Donald R. Dunsen, and Mrs. George E. Friel.

Mrs. James T. Dunn, wife of the Group Chairman, welcomed three newcomers, Mrs. David L. Carl, Mrs. David H. Moss and Mrs. Donna R. Taylor.

The next coffee will be Dec. 13 in the Corregidor Room of the Main Officers' Club.

The ladies of the 197TH SUPPORT BATTALION enjoyed their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. Harold Thorne on Austin Loop, Fort Benning, Oct. 19. Mrs. Edwin Kennedy honored the group as its special guest. The brief business meeting included mention of the appearance of Mrs. W. J. Poddins, Jr. on the Roselle Show, Fort Columbus television debut, Mrs. Eddins was accompanied by a retinue of Sesame Street puppets, the handiwork of the 197th distaff of the OWC Christmas Bazaar. A run-down of the OWC news included special note of an OWC commissary liaison, through whom our complaints and suggestions can be made known.

The 1972 29TH INF. (The Pioneers) held their monthly Hail and Farewell, Oct. 27 at the Holy Hills Apartment. Her culinary talents with an array of cakes, highlighted by a chilled champagne punch. Douglas Turbak assisted with the coffee's preparation and Mrs. Douglas contributed an assortment of homemade cookies and delicacies.

Oct. 27 the entire battalion got together at Mrs. Eddins' home on Eames St., Fort Benning for an occasion of Halloween fun. Heading the list of contumed guests were prize-winner Mrs. Henry Hage, who emulated Carol Burnett's charming guise, and CW2 Jerry Sheve, whose costume was that of a man returned from the grave, complete with a wig of Spanish mair.

The Eddins entertained their guests with decorations of a haunted house, and, in fact, had transformed the entire dining room in Boris Karloff fashion. Refreshments included an assortment of cheeses and crackers, followed by pizza and salad.

Welcomed to the group clubhouses.

Two EM leave unit a lot better

Two "Readrunners" from the EM Platoon, C Company, 43rd Engineer Battalion who were very important to the Unit of Choice Program of the 931st Engineer Group have left the MVA environs and returned to civilian employment.

Sp5 Donald Nixon of Yorktown, Indiana and Sp4 Jonathan M. Greene from Canton, Ohio were presented 931st Engineer Group awards of appreciation and achievement upon their departure by Colonel James M. Thompson, 931st Engineer Group Commander.

The two outstanding soldiers logged many miles with the Unit of Choice road show as they displayed their earthmoving equipment and encouraged enlistments for the engineers. In addition to the many miles logged in the recruiting effort these two engineers were taken away from their customary earthmoving work to provide equipment support for the National Political Conventions in Miami.

USAIB
 A USAIB Certificate of Achievement was awarded to Sp5 Michael J. Lella recently in the office of Lt. Col. Santiago A. Garcia, Chief, Small Arms Test Branch, U.S. Army Infantry Board. Lt. Col. Garcia made the presentation.

Sp4 Lella received his award for his superior performance of duty as a gunner and armorer in the Small Arms Test Branch during the period 18 July 1971 thru 13 October 1972.

SEC Ronald F. Laurence achieved his present grade, 1st Sergeant, in a ceremony conducted recently in Infantry Board President Col. Walter E. Meinen's office. Col. Meinen made the presentation of the stripes to Laurence.

Laurence is currently assigned as operations sergeant in the USAIB Small Arms Test Branch. His previous assignments at Fort Benning include a tour with the 7th Student Battalion and the Land Navigation Committee, USAIS.

His combat duty includes service with the 2nd ROK Division in Korea, and with the 28th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam. He also served in Vietnam with the 1st Infantry Division (Mech).

Laurence has distinguished himself by attaining the rank of 1st Sergeant and so on.

'Edwin Booth' ends tomorrow

The Third U. S. Army Tournament of Plays is an annual event of competition open to all units. Edwins wish to in the Third Army Area.

The purpose of the Tournament is to promote morale through increased entertainment opportunities on post and also to encourage excellence in the presentation of plays.

The Fort Benning Dramatizers have put in a lot of work to try for the excellence needed to be selected as Best Play in Third Army.

E. Linton Gross III, has both the demanding job of director of "Edwin Booth" and playing the title role. Gross has done many parts in plays for the Dramatizers, but this is his second time as director of a play at the Fort Benning Playhouse. He directed the Dramatizers' last production, "Winnie the Pooh," the annual children's play.

Robert Swain is Gross' assistant director. This is his first production with the Dramatizers, but he intends to submit plays for production. With Ed Gross on the stage, the task of choreographing the play falls to her as the task of locating objects that would look authentic in the 19th Century setting of the play.

The costumes were produced by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Ann Disgro. She has designed costumes for both this show and for "Winnie the Pooh." She also was on the costume committee for "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Publicity was a joint operation under the direction of David McQueen and his co-chairman E. D. Sims. Under their direction comes the radio, television and newspaper coverage.

James D. Ammons

Rick Wasser

Sp4 Rick Wasser of the 17th Infantry Brigade and Capt. J. D. Ammons, a student in Infantry Officers Advanced Course 2773, took top honors in the Photo Contest held at Fort Benning in conjunction with ECOberfest.

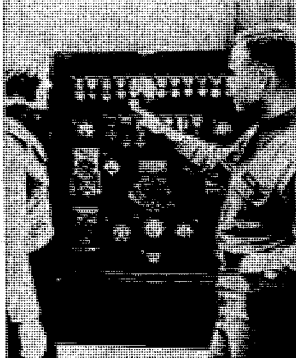

Wasser won first place in the contest with two photographs depicting one of our worst habits, littering, and the exhaust fumes from a vehicle on Post.

Ammons took honorable mentions with two pictures, one entitled "No Fishing, Pond Closed, Fish Dead" and one called "You Are What You Breathe." He also received an honorable mention for his photo called simply "Please."

The contest was sponsored by the Environmental Management Division of the Directorate of Facilities Engineering, and pictures were judged by the Officers' Wives Club Environmental Workshop. Wasser will receive a ten-dollar award for his first-place photos.

Gen. Marshall to be remembered Nov. 11

Gen. George C. Marshall, former Army chief of staff and Secretary of Defense, will be remembered during the groundbreaking ceremonies for the new U.S. Army Infantry Museum at Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 11.

These medallions, which were made by Gen. George C. Marshall, will be on display Nov. 9-12 in the Infantry Hall lobby, Fort Benning, Ga. The medallions are part of a collection of Marshall medallions being displayed as part of the groundbreaking ceremonies for the new U.S. Army Infantry Museum, Nov. 11. (U.S. Army Photo.)

A collection of Marshall medallions will be displayed in the Infantry Hall lobby, Nov. 9-12. Marshall, an infantryman from the beginning of his career, was assistant commander of the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

That period, he stressed three basic principles in a company grade officer training. He said the techniques of troop leading should be simple and concise for easy use in rapidly changing situations. To improve speed and quality of decision making, he insisted students be given only the type of information they would actually receive in combat. His third emphasis was on the art of improvisation in unexpected situations.

While Marshall headed the Infantry School, more than 150 future generals of World War II went through the School. In addition, 50 future generals were instructors under him. The list includes such names as Bradley, Collins, Hodges, Ridgeway, Decker, Stilwell, Bolke, Dahlquist, Hushner, Paul, Bedell, Smith, Bull, Eddy, Moore, Hull, Cook, and Eilhardt.

The medallions in the display are part of the collection of the Marshall Research Foundation, Lexington, Va.

Focus of the arrangement is the SEBASTIAN SHOWCASE OF THE SOUTH. Seban, Inc. READERS IN AUDIO VISUAL QUALITY TA 23297 Corner of 11th St. & 38th Ave.

ment will be a painting of Gen. Marshall in his uniform as Army chief of staff. With this will be his four star general's flag and a 48 star American flag. Clothing items will include a hat from World War I, a blouse from World War II, and summer uniform complete with ribbons.

HHC, School Brigade aware of eco problems

Aware of the ecological problems that endanger the beauty and health of our natural areas, Headquarters Company, The School Brigade, eagerly joined the EcoOctober fest here on Oct. 28.

HHC with help from equipment and operators from the 43rd Engineer Battalion and supported by the tireless efforts of Cub Scout Pack 27 cleaned-up the wooded area at Indianhead and Marchant Roads on Saturday October 28.

To its past beauty and removed four dump truck loads of refuse. Several hours of shoveling was done to remove silt that had built up in a concrete conduit. Now the water flows pleasantly instead of flowing into marshy pools that attract mosquitos.

Each scout was presented a TSB Certificate of Appreciation for his fine effort.

Benning Game of Week Phantoms trim Demons 14-12 in Pony League battle

The Fort Benning Game of the Week in Little League Football saw the Phantoms and the Demons of the Pony League play one of the hardest fought games this year.

In the first quarter there was no scoring as all the play was defensive. In the second quarter, that same defense was responsible for the first scoring of the game. While at midfield, the Phantoms quarterback faded back to his right, was hit hard by a defensive lineman and fumbled. The fumble was picked up by No. 11, a defensive back, and run 55 yds, into the endzone for a TD. The conversion was stopped short of the goal line.

On the next possession by the Demons, it was second and twelve on their own 18 yd. line. Staying in his pocket, the quarterback completed a 50 yd. pass play which put them into the Phantoms ground. On the following play, No. 19 for the Phantoms, a defensive back, picked off a pass and the half ended without further scoring by either team.

During the second half, the Phantoms made a surprising and well deserved comeback.

The Demons scored quickly, with a 1 yd. plunge off right tackle for the TD. The conversion was again stopped short.

On the ensuing kickoff, No. 10 for the Phantoms made an excellent return on the 45 yard punt. The Phantoms' defense was able to stop the Demons' drive at the 10 yard line. The Phantoms' offense then drove to the 10 yard line for a completion. This action was superb and his run took him right up the middle, unmoled. The conversion for the extra two points was halted short.

In the fourth quarter, No. 24 for the Phantoms capped an excellent drive with a 3 yd. run off right tackle for the TD. This time the conversion was good and the Phantoms had topped the Demons 14-12. The rest of the game was marred by two sportsman like conduct penalties by the Demons' coach which brought little excitement to the final minutes of the game. Final score: Phantoms 14, Demons 12.

In other action seen this past weekend, in the Buddy League, the Dolphins whipped the Eagles, 20-6; the Browns were victorious over the Raiders by a score of 24-14; and the Falcons stomped the Bulldogs, 45-6.

In the Pee-Wee league action, the Jets edged the Falcons, 22-20; the Chiefs beat the Chargers, 30-14, and the Vikings shut out the Cowboys, 20-0.

In Doughboy action, the Cardinals smacked by the Warhawks, 8-6; and the Thunderbolts shut out the Cowboys, 20-0. The League Standings are now like this.

Col. William H. Harper, U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, Ft. Benning, Ga., followed TRICAP Procedure and made an unusual review of his troops here Nov. 3. Motorcycle operator Loyd Johns chauffeured for the commander to the ceremony where the unit's marksmen were honored.

Harper reviews troops from motorcycle sidecar

Col. William H. Harper, U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit Commander, reviewed his troops from a motorcycle sidecar during a ceremony here Nov. 3. Harper took the cycle route during a special awards ceremony which honored the Olympic, CISM and National shooting champions and a culmination of a successful shooting season.

Compuncting the unit's marksmen, Col. Harper commented, "It was a season in which the U.S. Army can be justly proud of its shooters. Two Gold and one Silver Olympic Medal were won by your shooting prowess while in the CISM matches you won all the Gold Medals available, both individual and team. I am indeed proud of your accomplishments."

"In the National competition," the colonel continued, "the Army pistol and service rifle marksmen ruled supreme. Each championship crown is being held by our talented shooters here."

Following the unusual command entry and ceremony, Col. Harper accepted a challenge from the unit's pistol shooters to compete in a 45 Caliber match. Results of the unusual match in which the colonel used a Thompson Sub-Machine Gun, were undetermined due to the commander's target being whisked away by a large balloon which prevented scoring. The Pistol Champions, which included SFC Bonnie Harmon, National Pistol Champion, claimed victory by default.

Safety office conducts test on car brakes

During October the USAIC Safety Office conducted several demonstrations to illustrate to motorists the importance of maintaining proper interval between their vehicles and the vehicles ahead. The demonstrations revealed the actual time and distances required to stop a vehicle at various speeds and what the results could be if safe following distances are not maintained. The equipment used in the demonstrations can be made available by the USAIC Safety office to units desiring to conduct their own demonstrations.

To assist motorists in operating their vehicles at a safe following distance, there are a few basic rules. You should allow one vehicle length for every ten miles per hour of speed. A good way to recognize a safe following distance is by watching the distance ahead pass some definite point on the highway. Then count to yourself "a one thousand one, one thousand two." This requires two seconds. If you pass that spot before your finish these six words, you are following too close. This rule holds true at any speed.

What is meant by reaction distance? The distance your car has traveled after sensory perception of a situation, after realizing the meaning of the situation, deciding what to do about it, and starting a stopping action. The average reaction time is 3/4 of a second.

Here is an interesting way for calculating how far you will travel in 3/4 of a second at various speeds. Take the first digit of your speedometer reading and add it to your total speed. This will give you the distance in feet. For example, 25 MPH plus 2 equals 27 feet in 3/4 second. 20 MPH plus 2 equals 22 feet in 3/4 second. Don't forget this is only the reaction distance. You now have to stop your

Notes

BY BILL KLOEB

Every once in a while someone asks "Why would I join the Rod and Gun Club? I don't have to be a member of the club to get a post hunting and fishing permit."

My first thought is that if the only interest the individual has in hunting and fishing is taking fish and game he probably wouldn't fit very well into the club even if he were willing to part with the required five dollars.

There is a lot more to being a sportsman than just taking. Those who really enjoy the sports get a lot of satisfaction from the comradeship and group activities they promote. They are also willing to put something back into the environment that provides these pleasures.

This year the Rod and Gun Club has contributed more than eight thousand dollars to support activities of the Post Fish and Wildlife Unit. The wildlife people have in turn used this money to improve the fishing and hunting on post. From time to time the club engages in organized activities to aid the wildlife group in accomplishment of its mission. Last year the club held a small game contest which required contestants to bring squirrels, rabbits and quail to the Wildlife unit for inspection prior to entry in the club contest. Inspection of these specimens aided the unit in planning conservation programs for these species of wildlife.

The club is also active in supporting the regulation enforcement program of the Provost Marshal Office. Members of the club provide a source of information to this group that enables them to more adequately cover the 285 square miles of reservation real estate.

Members of the club are also individually active in the enforcement effort. Just about all of the approximately 50 volunteer game wardens who work with the Provost Marshal Office are Rod and Gun Club members. These sportsmen spend many off duty hours working in this capacity. Their efforts go a long way in protecting game and fish from poachers and other persons who use unauthorized methods.

There is more to it than that. The club on post is an active one. It sponsors various activities throughout the year. Right now the club is holding a big deer contest open to all members. Three hunters will receive Remington Model 700 Automatic shotguns. One will go to the hunter who bags the heaviest deer on the reservation during the current open season, another will go to the hunter taking the deer with the most antler points and the winner of the third gun will be one of the hunters who registers a deer in the contest but are not fortunate enough to win one of the other two prizes.

The club also has a fishing derby each month. The fisherman registering the largest bass, bream, or catfish each month receives some item of hunting or fishing equipment or a merchandise order worth $15 at the club.

At various times during the year, usually in conjunction with a long weekend holiday the club holds other fishing contests for members. Merchandise prizes are awarded at a social event that some members seem to enjoy more than the contest.

The club, located on First Division Road in the Harmony Church operates several facilities of interest to sportsmen. Skeet shooters have four officially recognized skeet ranges available. This range complex is one of the top operations in Georgia or Alabama. They were selected as the site for the Georgia State Skeet Championships in 1970.

Archery enthusiasts are also fortunate. The club has two official field archery ranges and a known distance range located on the club grounds. The Georgia State Archery championships were held on these ranges in 1970.

The club also operates a sales counter. Hunters and fishermen can obtain shells, lures, bait and other hunting and fishing equipment at competitive prices. Boats located on ponds throughout the reservation can also be rented. Those not in the mood to paddle a boat can also rent electric motors. There is a side advantage too to visiting the club before fishing or hunting. The men behind the counter probably know more than anyone on post the ponds where fishing is good, the best bait to use, areas where hunters are finding game and have the answers to a multitude of other questions about local hunting and fishing.

Then there is Sportsman Lounge where you can get something to eat or drink before or after a day in the field. If you are looking for a modern, chrome spilt and polish place you'll be disappointed but if you are looking for a place where you can get a good meal and if you think the club would interest you come out and look

Alabama loses ground In UPI top ten teams

NEW YORK (UPI)—The University of Nebraska juggernaut, methodically rolling over everyone in sight since its opening-season loss to UCLA, took another step closer to the top of the United Press International Board of Coaches Football Ratings Tuesday by moving into the No. 2 spot behind top-ranked Southern California.

The defending national champion Cornhuskers, who belted Colorado 24-0 last week at Boulder, Colo., picked up six first place votes from the coaches and 284 points. Southern California again picked up the vast majority of No. 1 nods (77) and 242 total points to easily win the field for the eighth straight week.

Alabama, which plays unbeaten LSU Saturday in the year's first "Game of the Century," got a rude shock from the coaches before it even took the field. The Crimson Tide, coming off a 58-14 shellacking of Mississippi State, fell victim to the steady rise of Nebraska which has not let up since opening day when it lost 26-17 to UCLA. Alabama wound up with 280 points and also got the remaining two first place votes.

The only other change in the top 10 (and this may also be a bad omen for Alabama) was at No. 6 where LSU switched places with Oklahoma after they both had struggles last week. Oklahoma's potent running game managed State while LSU had to rely on a last second TD pass to edge Mississippi, 17-16.

Big Ten rivals Ohio State and Michigan remained 4-5 respectively while UCLA, Texas and Auburn completed the top 10. Teams eleven through fifteen respectively were: Penn State, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Iowa State, Texas Tech and Utah. Between North Carolina and Colorado for the sixteenth spot. Only seven teams received votes.

Gun Club sets sights for turkeys

The Fort Benning Rod and Gun Club will hold a turkey shoot at the club skeet ranges from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on November 18 and 19.

Contestants may use privately owned shotguns but must fire ammunition furnished by the club.

Frozen turkeys weighing from 10 to 12 pounds will be awarded to winners.

The club is located on First Division Road about one-quarter mile south of Highway 27.

Everyone is invited. For additional information call 545-0028.

Co. C downs HHC in muddy TSB tilt

Company C, Headquarters Command, won over HHC, TSB 7-0 after a hard fought and just game at Gowdy Field on Veteran's Day.

The Chargers were down 6-0 at half time, but bounced back in the second half to tie it up 6-6. One point was then added to the score by a three yard plunge thru the line by LAFETTE GATEWOOD.

A key interception was executed by GERONIA LEWIS in the late seconds of the game to clinch the game for Company C.

Oral Health Control Clinic out to keep teeth healthy

A program relatively new to Benning has been set up at the Oral Health Control Clinic, (formerly Preventive Dental Clinic). There are many dental diseases we cannot prevent, but the two most common varieties, dental decay and gum disease, can be decreased in severity or prevented entirely.

The Oral Health Control Clinic's goal is to help the patient maintain his or her teeth for the rest of their lives. Keeping your teeth and mouth in a healthy state requires daily care, but your reward will be knowing that you will have a few dental problems, or none at all, for the remainder of your lifetime.

Three appointments will be set up for you, and every effort will be made to insure that they are as convenient as possible. These appointments are made in order to teach you how and why you need to clean your teeth thoroughly every day.

Calculus or tartar forms, only when you have not thoroughly cleaned your teeth on a daily basis. If you already know how to clean your teeth and are doing it now, you will only have to attend one class.

It has been found, however, that most patients need two or more visits. This is because it is nearly impossible for a person to learn how to clean his teeth properly in one or two days. The course cannot be condensed into one longer session because the patient must be given the chance to practice at home between classes. This is not a form of harassment, but a very sincere effort on the part of the Oral Health Control Clinic to demonstrate why you don't walk away with a clean bill of health every time you visit the dental clinic. No matter how many times a tooth is filled or a gum problem relieved, if the cause is not eliminated, the problem will return.

If you have children who need to be motivated to develop better oral health habits, the clinic will be glad to work with them. Personalized dental plans are being made to expand to other dental clinics so that more military personnel can be served.

Each individual patient must set personal priorities, however. If one of them is good oral health and maintenance of his or her teeth for a lifetime, the staff of the clinic is ready, willing, and able to help achieve this goal.

Please call 545-8772 any Monday morning for an appointment. The program is open to both military personnel and dependents at the present time, and plans are being made to expand to other dental clinics so that more military personnel can be served.

In addition, during his command of the battalion, Faulkender led his unit in the performance of a number of domestic action projects, extending throughout Georgia and highlighted by a 170-mile effort in Greenville, S.C. early this year, in which a platoon from the battalion aided the city in building children's playgrounds.

Public events participation by the 1st of the 29th Infantry under Faulkender's direction as the unit projected the Army's image in communities throughout the Southeast with demonstrations by the battalion's Scout Dog and Pioneer Faulkender's previous assignments included duty with the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam, the 18th Infantry with the U.S. Army in Europe and the 5th Infantry Division at Ft. Carson, Colorado.

Faulkender holds a master's degree in industrial engineering from Georgia Tech and has been an instructor in the economics department of the U.S. Army Management School at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.

Faulkender, who currently resides in Columbus with his wife, Heidi and daughter, will next attend the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

Arnecke, who joined the 197th Brigade as executive officer early in June, has also been executive officer of the 2nd Brigade, 101st

Infantry Museum

Groundbreaking ceremony honors Infantrymen everywhere

BY EDITH SIMMONS
A living memorial to the American Infantryman took shape today in Fort Benning's history. It marks the symbolic beginning of the fulfillment of a dream shared by U. S. Infantry soldiers everywhere.

MaJ. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, Fort Benning commander, welcomed approximately 8000 people to the ceremonies held on the traditional Armistice and Veterans Day. He said "Today's groundbreaking is an especially significant event in Fort Benning's history. It marks the symbolic beginning of the fulfillment of a dream shared by U. S. Infantry soldiers everywhere."

Gen. Talbott read a telegram from the Honorable Winthrop Rockefeller, former governor of Arkansas and national campaign chairman for the Infantry Museum Association. Gov. Rockefeller was unable to attend the ceremony due to illness.

In his telegram, Gov. Rockefeller said "It is in grateful acknowledgement of the worth and dignity of him, the individual American foot soldier, that I send these words of dedicating, having proudly been one of his kind."

Gen. Talbott also recognized the Infantry Museum Society for its voluntary work in raising funds. He saluted the board of trustees and national advisory council members who were present.

In addition, he recognized eight former commanders of the U. S. Infantry School who attended the ceremony and three Medal of Honor winners stationed at Fort Benning.

James W. Woodruff, president of the Infantry Museum Association, saluted the personal dedication of the thousands who have given of time and money to support the Museum.

SUBJECT: Letter of Appreciation

All Fort Benning Personnel

1. I wish to express my appreciation to all personnel at Fort Benning on the outstanding conduct of all phases of the National Infantry Museum Groundbreaking Ceremony held on Saturday, 11 November 1972.
2. The flawless performance of all participating units was indeed noteworthy and reflected the vast amount of extensive planning, coordination, attention to detail and concerted effort which went into the preparation for this event. Operations of significant scale in our history was most fitting to the occasion and provided the spectators with an interesting realistic picture of the Infantryman as he advanced from colonial yesterday through modern today to our concept of ultra-modern tomorrow.
3. My congratulations to the members of this command on the finished performance presented for our distinguished guests. Well done!

Posthumous awards given to 1st Lt. Jones

The Silver Star, the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart were awarded posthumously to 1st Lt. Johnny M. Jones in ceremonies at Fort Benning, Ga., Oct. 18.

He was the son of Mrs. Willie Espey Jones, 694 Florence Drive, Auburn, Ala. His brother is Billy Jack Jones of Auburn.

Lt. Jones died April 24, 1972 when the military aircraft in which he was riding crashed and burned after receiving small arms fire. He was serving as an adviser in G-3 (plans and training) with the 2nd Division, Army of Vietnam.

The Silver Star was presented for action during an enemy attack on a bunker April 23-24. Jones gave lifesaving first aid to the casualties. The next day, he repeatedly exposed himself to enemy fire to slow attacking tanks and provide covering fire for the forces to maneuver through the enemy attack.

The citation read: "His courage and leadership ability were in the highest traditions of the military service."

The Bronze Star Medal was presented for "distinguishing himself by outstanding meritorious achievement in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam from February 1972 to April 1972."

The Purple Heart was presented for wounds received in these actions.

The Republic of Vietnam presented Lt. Jones with the National Order of Vietnam, fifth class, and the Gallantry Cross with Palm for his self-sacrifice in aiding the Republic of Vietnam's army.

Prior to his death, Lt. Jones had also been awarded the Army Commendation Medal, Good Conduct Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal, Combat Infantryman Badge, Parachutist Badge, Expert Badge with automatic rifle and rifle bars, and the Sharpshooter Badge with machine gun bar.

Col. Charles Teaband, assistant post commander, presented the decorations to Mrs. Jones.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT by Bill King

Shape liver sausage into small balls around a stuffed olive or pickled onion. Roll them in minced, salted nuts and insert a pretzel stick before serving.

For those who can't get the knack of separating eggs, provide a small funnel set over a bowl. When an egg is broken into the funnel, the yolk will remain while the white spills through.

Most seafood dinners benefit by a tort, rather than sweet, desert. A lime sherbet or fruit-and-cheese platter would be good choices.

Hosts known for consistently good cocktails always use a paper or other accurate measure. A too-strong drink is as unpalatable as a weak one.

According to the great gourmet Jean-Antoine Brillat-Savarin, "A good sauce, mother is a genius born, not made."

Teeth

Benning's Oral Health Control Clinic helps uppers and lowers

Part of the Oral Health Control Clinic's program is teaching school-age children how to brush their teeth properly. Here Joletha Simmons, daughter of Sp5 and Mrs. Thomas E. Simmons, practices along with the rest of her class at Edward R. White School.

BY SUSANNE BOSTICK

Two staff members at Benning's Oral Health Control Clinic visit every dependent school on Post twice a year. The purpose of their visits is to teach grade-school children how to clean their teeth properly.

The Oral Health Control Clinic (formerly Preventive Dentistry Clinic) operates on the belief that patients can learn how to control the growth of plaque, a form of bacteria which form on teeth, by brushing their teeth properly at home.

According to a pamphlet published by the Public Health Service, "It has been shown that certain forms of tooth decay are related to certain types of bacteria found in most people's mouths. These bacteria are able to attach themselves to the teeth, then grow and multiply into increasingly larger bacterial colonies called plaque.

"Dental plaque is developed constantly in the mouth and is very adhesive, but its build-up can be kept under control through proper self-care. Such care consists of removing plaque from all surfaces of the teeth as thoroughly as possible at least once a day."

This is exactly what the elementary school children at Ft. Benning are taught to do. Sp5 Charles Heary and Mrs. Barbara Diamond are the staff members who teach them how to do it. This educational program is a very important part of the Oral Health Control Clinic's work.

Each child receives an initial screening examination to determine if he or she has plaque or calculus, which is a hard deposit of bacterial plaque. If either plaque or calculus is present, an appointment is made at the Oral Health Control Clinic for a thorough cleaning of his or her teeth.

A slide or filmstrip lecture is present to the class to show pupils the proper toothbrushing technique, including the use of dental floss and disclosing wafers. A disclosing wafer is a small red tablet containing red food coloring which is chewed in order to make the plaque visible so that it can be more easily removed.

The pupils then participate in actual classroom brushing learning proper techniques and self-applying a tooth-paste with a high concentration of stannous fluoride. A toothbrush is given to each child, and a return visit to the class is made later in the school year.

Mrs. Diamond explained, "If children can be taught to control bacterial plaque at an early age, and receive proper diet at home, tooth decay and gum disease can be almost entirely eliminated." Teaching youngsters to control bacterial plaque is exactly what she and her co-workers are doing.

Vernon Klingler, son of Capt. and Mrs. Vernon L. Klingler, practices the correct way to brush his teeth. Vernon is one of a whole classroom of pupils at Edward R. White School who brush their teeth every day after lunch.

HHC, 197th undergo CBR refresher course

Members of HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. underwent an afternoon of CBR refresher training recently under the supervision of the company's CBR officer, 1st Lt. John R. Suggs.

Although some of the men in the company were not very keen on the idea of going through the training they remember so well from basic, once the three-hour program was complete, many expressed opinions in favor of it.

"It was fun," said Sp4 Larry Fennell. "I actually learned some new things as well as getting reminded of the old."

"This was my first exposure to any CBR training since I got out of basic over six months ago," added PFC William Walters. "I think I learned a little more this time."

The course consisted of ten stations in which individuals were tested on various CBR emergency procedures. A score of 70 out of a possible 100 seemed to be par for the course. Mistakes were corrected on the spot.

"This is designed more as a learning course than a test," explained Suggs. "I feel that by showing the soldier what he did wrong immediately, he will benefit more."

gained the approving ear of the post's Commanding General.

The chain-of-command is the Army's system of communicating between the lowest ranking private and the Commander-in-Chief through leaders and commanders.

"I would like to see a scoreboard in the front page of the Bayonet," said Kazmarek. "It should show the number of times the IG, ACS, AER, Red Cross, JAG, chaplains, Congressional inquiries, and all the other special staff agencies. The score would end up something like: chain-of-command: 1,000,000; all others: 10."

Kazmarek said that he is tired of Army leaders sitting around in special conferences "beating their breasts and putting on sackcloth and ashes and wailing woe, woe, woe."

"There is a lack of communication between the troops and the leaders" and "leaders are insensitive to the needs of the troops."

"These much publicized generalizations are not totally true," Kazmarek claims. "If they were, the Army would cease to function. Nevertheless, because the Army severely criticizes itself, it promotes programs and special staff

The chain of command can help

(Editor's note: First of a series on using the chain of command. Also see Spauldoff, Page 6.)

BY PETER FOREMAN

"The chain of command solves more problems in one day than the IG, ACS, Red Cross, chaplains, Congressional inquiries, Benning House, and all other social services on post put together, and I'd like to see positive credit given to it just once."

The above quote comes from a Sergeant Major who has been attracting a lot of attention recently in promoting a doctrine as old as the U.S. Army and as relevant as the MVA.

CSM Alfred M. Kazmarek, Command Sergeant Major of the 8th Student Battalion, has been encouraging both "old timers" and new second lieutenants to trust the effectiveness of the Army's chain-of-command. He has even

"I would like to see a scoreboard in the front page of the Bayonet," said Kazmarek. "It should show the number of times the IG, ACS, AER, Red cross, JAG, chaplains, Congressional inquiries, and all the other special staff agencies. The score would end up something like: chain-of-command: 1,000,000; all others: 10."

Do you use the Chain of Command when you have a personal problem you need solved?

Chain of Command used by many

Sp4 Joseph Blash
Co. C, 1st Bn., 29 Inf. Bde.
"Yes," says Sp4 Joseph Blash, "because there is probably someone in the chain that can solve my problem instead of doing something I might regret."

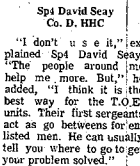

Pvt. Don Paul
Co. C, 1st Bn., 29th Inf. Bde.
"Sometimes they'll feed you some junk and let it go at that," says Pvt. Don Paul, "I've never had a problem solved."

Pvt. Sam Kincaid
10th Co., TSB
"Not all the time, it all depends on what kind of problems. I only like to discuss my personal problems with higher ranking personnel. My big complaint is that it takes too long to get results and there are too many people in the Chain of Command."

Pvt. Richard Johnston
Aird Airborne
"Most of the time it works out pretty well," declared Pvt. Richard Johnston, "Your section sergeant and you usually work pretty close together and he knows what you are like and knows how best to help solve your problem. I've used it quite a bit and usually get results."

Sp4 David Seay
Co. D, HHC
"I don't use it," explained Sp4 David Seay. "The people around me help me more. But," he added, "I think it is the best way for the T.O.E. units. Their first sergeants act as go betweens for enlisted men. He can usually tell you where to go to get your problem solved."

Alcoholism is a complicated disease involving a variety of conditions which are preventable and treatable, formance.

When not treated these conditions can result in alcohol dependency, brain damage, psychiatric illness and organic problems such as liver disease, hypertension, gastrointestinal disorders and pancreatitis.

The severity of alcoholism may be classified into three stages which presented a description of the progressive nature of the conditions. They range from a condition where an individual outwardly appears to lead an ordinary life to the stage where an individual requires constant care. These stages are not clearly delineated and some stage may merge into the next but they generally progress from:

The Early Symptom Stage — The individual develops an increase in alcohol tolerance, develops an urgency for the first drink of the day and doesn't consider any activity worthwhile unless drinking is involved. In this stage the drinker uses alcohol to bolster his confidence and as a relief from the problems in his life.

Problem Drinking Stage — The problem drinker enters the full pampering effects of alcohol. He likes and depends on the glow and feeling of well being it gives him. He figures ways to get more and stronger drinks at all functions and attempts to conceal the amount he is consuming. He may suffer severe hangovers and memory lapses or blackouts. This period is usually marked by family problems and an adverse effect on his work performance.

Early Alcoholism Stage — During this stage the drinker develops the conditions and symptoms of pre-advanced stages to a more noticeable degree. He is an obvious and confirmed heavy drinker. His family and social relationships are unsatisfactory, his work performance is poor, he is dependable and he extends much effort devising alibis and trying to cover his condition. Individuals in this stage claim to be able to stop drinking but in reality cannot stop without help.

Chronic Alcoholism Stage — Individuals in this stage have become completely dependent on alcohol. Their need for professional help is urgent. They show a definite physical and mental deterioration marked by impaired thinking, indefinable fears, and a physical inability to perform normal actions.

The progression of alcoholism does not follow a set schedule. The slide down to total addiction may be in a relatively short time or may extend over a period of many years. The progression is not inevitable. It can be arrested. The earlier action is taken the better the chances for success.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
HEADQUARTERS, WASHINGTON, D. C. 20315
FOOT & MERRILL BUILDING

TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE THIRD UNITED STATES ARMY

Wednesday, 11 November 1972, marks the 54th anniversary of the activation of the Third Army as an Army of Occupation in Europe following World War I. In that capacity the Third Army returned with distinction to both France and Germany.

Twenty-two years later, the Third Army again made military history when, under the leadership of General George S. Patton, Jr., it moved across France and Germany into Czechoslovakia in a series of military exercises centered around the anniversary of World War I conflict in Europe. Time has moved swiftly since the Third Army ceased its momentous World War I basic structure, but the passage of years has not dimmed these achievements. Today, it has combined them with the timeliness of legend and has provided us with a heritage of victory unsurpassed in American history.

Today, as in the past, the men and women of the Third United States Army stand ready to perform whatever mission is assigned to them.

As the 29th commander of this historic Army, I am proud to extend to each of you who are serving in this command unit my sincere congratulations on this occasion. It is through your efforts that the Third United States Army continues to excel.

The Vasectomy

Post Chaplains give church's view; operation explained

In an article written for Soldier's magazine by Colonel Anthony Borstad, Chief of Urology Services, Walter Reed Hospital, the military's position governing vasectomies was clearly outlined.

Of those, medical staff and facilities, any Army medical facility can perform a vasectomy. If a lack of one or more of these requirements does occur, the patient may be referred to another military hospital component in conjunction with the patient's own moral and religious beliefs. This also pertains to other medical personnel who may have some connection with the operation. But moral and religious objections are honored.

At Fort Benning additional criteria exist. Dr. Kalles went on to say, "Until recently, the patient must have been married, have at least two children and have been at least 30 years of age. Of course we will weigh special considerations. This may be the case when it is deemed necessary that the couple can no longer have children due to a medical condition existing. In this situation an exception can be made."

Although the results of the operation cannot be guaranteed, even if the vasectomy is not permanent, the procedure is safe and virtually painless. It is explained that a vasectomy is not intended to be permanent, but that it is a permanent procedure and that chances for correction are very slim.

Both the husband and wife must sign a statement giving consent for the operation and acknowledgment of complete understanding of the risks involved in the procedure. Presently, neither Georgia nor Alabama have laws which prohibit vasectomies. According to Col. Borstad, there are no states which have any laws prohibiting vasectomies.

"Potency after a vasectomy is a common question that is raised. A vasectomy should have no effect on the normal potency before the operation. All the vasectomy does is interrupt the sperm from being added to the semen. The amount of sperm is only a very small part of the total volume of the semen. There is no difference in the amount ejaculated after vasectomy. Any actual potency problems have no connection with the operation itself. Potency problems normally existed before the operation and have no correlation with the actual vasectomy procedure," says Dr. Kalles.

Dr. Fred J. Ziegler, Director of Mental Health Center at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, California, said that a vasectomy is a simple operation performed only for sterilization purposes. It is a permanent procedure and must be 100 per cent sure of his decision before permanent sterilization is performed.

Vasectomies

"It's the old question of whether the ends justify the means," he continued. "Proper means (self-control) must be used to achieve an end; not improper means to bring about a good. The Catholic Church does not have a policy of planning and instructing that every couple should have as many children as possible. It merely directs that such planning be through more natural means, such as rhythm."

Unnecessary Bodily Assault
 "The decision is left to the couple's 'frugal judgment,'" says Maj. Edgar Shaeffer, Presbyterian chaplain, The School Brigade. "The decision is both moral and practical in medical complications, psychological hang ups and the loss of existing children through premature death and accidents."

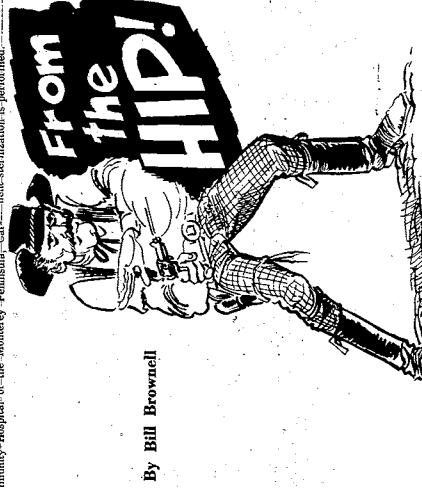

Chaplain (Maj.) Donald Burnett, a Southern Baptist, assigned to the 609th Transportation Company, said that "the individual believer," "nothing is said at our conventions which is binding at the local church level or on the individual. In fact, we believe in the freedom of the individual's decision based on the individual's conscience. It is out of love, selfishness, or concern for the welfare of the entire family? These are the considerations that must be weighed."

Post chaplains explain position

"This, however, is not an excuse to commit a morally wrong act," says Maj. Richard D'Arcy, Deputy Post Chaplain and senior Catholic chaplain at Fort Benning, "and the individual being not meet convenience to avoid fertility."

Protestant Views
 "The decision is left to the couple's 'frugal judgment,'" says Maj. Edgar Shaeffer, Presbyterian chaplain, The School Brigade. "The decision is both moral and practical in medical complications, psychological hang ups and the loss of existing children through premature death and accidents."

Chaplain (Maj.) Donald Burnett, a Southern Baptist, assigned to the 609th Transportation Company, said that "the individual believer," "nothing is said at our conventions which is binding at the local church level or on the individual. Infantry Agency
The ladies of the Infantry Agency held a "Sing-A-long Picnic" at the USAIC Recreation Center on Oct. 24 for their monthly luncheon. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. John L. Daniels, Mrs. John E. McHenry and Mrs. Arthur Richards. The guitar players for the sing-along were Mrs. Frank Scott. The picnic was catered by Vintner's.

Mrs. Robert H. Siegrist welcomed the newly arrived Mrs. Lawrence M. Hamblin.

Special guests were Mesdames Gay Morgan, Frank Robertson, Frank Scott and Myrtle Crist. A singing good time was had by all.

The next coffee will be hosted by Mrs. John Korhonen, Mrs. Irmgard Binkiewicz and Mrs. Bruce Davis.

The monthly coffee for the ladies of the 4TH STUDENT BATTALION was given by Mrs. Gilbert Rogers, Kessler Drive, Fort Benning on Oct. 24. Mrs. Billy Heath assisted Mrs. Rogers. An assortment of cakes and rolls were served along with the coffee and tea. After the refreshments, plans were discussed for the function that will be held for the School Brigade ladies in January.

The Thanksgiving luncheon for the wives of THE SCHOOL BRIGADE was held Nov. 1, at the Supper Club. The wives of the 2nd Battalion, who sponsored the luncheon, were dressed as early pilgrims representative of the period. Some of the girls who were dressed as male pilgrims wore black buckickers with white stockings and blouses.

A sherry hour preceded a delicious luncheon of tossed salad, turkey slices over cornbread dressing, peas and mashed potatoes. Pumpkin pie, of course was served for dessert.

A turkey, baked by Mrs. Richard Fishary, was given as the door prize to Mrs. Edgar Johnson, 2nd Student Battalion.

Among the guests attending the luncheon was Mrs. C. W. Schuermeyer from Louisville, Ky. She was with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Rowe, of the 2nd Battalion. Another guest was the mother of Mrs. Wayne Allton, who was visiting from Germany.

The monthly coffee for the ladies of the 2nd Bn. was held by Mrs. Richard Fishary on Nov. 3, in her home on Rice St. in Columbus.

Refreshments consisted of a chocolate bundt cake, pumpkin bread, and two fruit tarts. Served along with the coffee was an orange Julius punch.

Cadette Troops host troop from Auburn

Four Cadette Troops from Benning hosted a Cadette Troop from Auburn for a weekend of fun and learning Nov. 10-11.

Sixteen girls from Troop 15 in Auburn, with their leader Mrs. R. A. Albert, came by bus and were met by 12 girls from Troop No. 5 under Mrs. Lennie Bolton, 12 girls from Troop No. 169 under Mrs. Nelson Newcomb, 14 girls from Troop No. 187 under Mrs. Raymond Nordwall, and 15 girls from Troop No. 193 under Mrs. Arthur Feun.

The girls and their leaders had dinner at Henry Hall followed by a campfire and program at Camp Hideaway.

Boys from the Order of the Arrow Lodge No. 504 Dance Team demonstrated their Indian dances at the campfire. Boys participating were Ricky Abernedy, Randy Fitch, Tim S. Agui, Jeff Newcomb, and Chris Hall.

Following the campfire, the Auburn girls stayed in the homes of the Ft. Benning girls.

Last Sunday, a special conference was held at Columbus College for the Cadette Troops. One hundred and sixty girls attended the conference sponsored by the Conchary Council of Girl Scouts (which includes six counties in Alabama and eight counties in Georgia) Junior Women's Club, and Columbus College.

The conference included a fashion show, plus topics such as Emergency Preparedness, Civil Defense Shelter, Active Citizenship, and the Girl Scout Promise. It was hoped that all the girls went home ready to face the real challenge of preparation through Scouting for the exciting years to come.

Auburn Univ. opens first play

"Night of the Iguana," by Tennessee Williams, will open Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the Auburn University Little Theatre.

The play will run through Nov. 11, and Nov. 15-18. Curtain time is 8 p.m., with all seats reserved.

"Night of the Iguana," which won Williams his fourth award from the New York Drama Critics Circle as the best play of 1961, is considered by some critics as a melodramatic version of earlier themes: lost and lonely people whose private images are shattered by the ugliness of reality. In this play, set in a ramshackle hotel on the west coast of Mexico, Williams persistently grapples with the inescapable loneliness of man.

Dr. A. Cleveland Harrison, head of Auburn's Department of Theatre, is the director.

Included in the cast are:

Carlton Spurlock of Huntsville as the Reverence T. Lawrence Shannon; Karen Drury of Chickasaw as Hannah; Janet Price of Dublin, Ga., as Maxine; George Newman Jr. of Guntersville as Norman; Michelle Buchanan of Montgomery as Mrs. Felicia; Nancy Sower of Vidalia, Va., as Charlotte; David Tomlinson of Baltimore, Md., as Hank; Raul Giot of San Juan, Puerto Rico as Jake Latta; James Lee Jackson of Billings, Mont., as Pancho; and Larry Hall of Auburn as Pedro.

Tickets are on sale now and may be reserved at the Theatre Box Office, Music Building Annex, or by calling 828-4154. Students will be admitted free cards, but must have upon presentation of ID surrogates. General admission is $2, with high school students and student wives admitted for $1.

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted. "The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it." Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more. And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could. And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

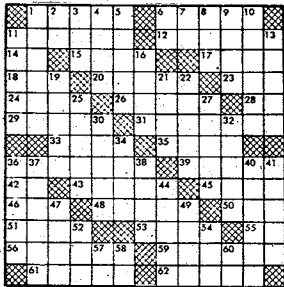

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

USO Pal Day Dec. 2 at St. Augustine, Fla.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — This oldest city lying wide its historic city gate the beginning of December when the USO Council of St. Johns County, Fla., presents its now world-famous USO annual Pal Day.

It is the day which the council, along with the assistance of the entire community, sets aside to say a simple "thanks" to the servicemen of our country and their families, by providing a day of entertainment in the nation's oldest city. Only admission requirement is that a serviceman must be in uniform and dependents must have ID cards, if husband and fathers are on tours.

December 2 is the date for the 1972 event, as the first Saturday in December is the traditional Pal Day. On this day, servicemen and their families or dates are treated to free admission to the city's numerous points of interest, a complimentary dinner — this year to be served at the Kettering Junior High School Gym — and free transportation around town and to Marineland of Florida located south of St. Augustine.

There is plenty of free parking, with visitors invited to park their cars at the Chamber of Commerce Visitors Information Center.

tion of town — distinctive by the narrow, balcony-dotted streets and converted crabs. The quaint horse-drawn carriages or more modern trailers and small buses convey visitors to these points.

Sgt Robert Rozanski simulates a procedure in water quality testing, using a HACH kit. This kit can be used to analyze the chemical quality of water.

Spts Glen Rovig and Willy Odum of the Preventive Medicine Activity demonstrate the Vitalor lung capacity apparatus. Visitors to the ECOhealthfest will be able to see what effect that "pack-a-day" has had on their lungs.

High Altitude Swimming Lungs Kit is used to demonstrate swimming equipment from the Universal Testing Kit. The air pollution booth at ECOhealthfest will instruct on how effective preventive maintenance can reduce air pollution. The ECOhealthfest will take place Fri. Nov. 17 in Classroom II of Infantry Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

ECOhealthfest '72-Today

Today the ECOhealthfest '72 is being held in Classroom II, Infantry Hall with approximately 20 booths demonstrating the relationships between good health and sound ecological principles will be staffed and available to interested people.

The event will be started at 9:30 a.m. and will continue to 4:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

Anyone, ranging from a school child to a senior citizen, will find his curiosity piqued at ECOhealthfest. Organic foods, vehicle emissions, microwave oven, radiation and health, hearing conservation, preventive dentistry, the trail of trash and many other areas of ecology and health will be covered at the event.

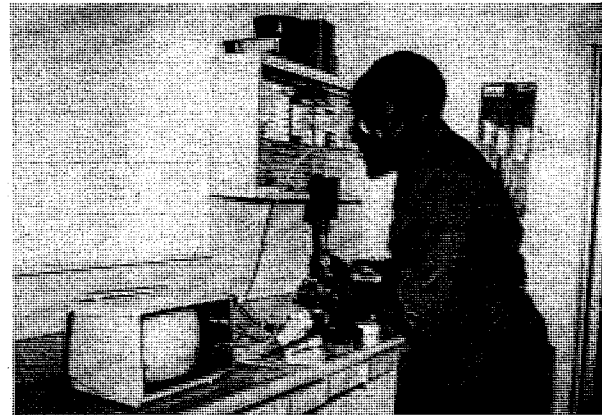

Two booths at ECOhealthfest will demonstrate how the bacteria, physical and chemical qualities of a water source can be determined.

One booth will exhibit how water samples can be analyzed for the bacterial quality of water using a membrane filter apparatus. This procedure helps determine whether coliform bacteria, a group of bacteria indicative of possible fecal contamination, are present. This test is less time consuming and easier than testing for each possible individual in water-borne pathogenic bacteria and is especially helpful in monitoring drinking water and swimming pools. During any particular month, Preventive Medicine Activity routinely tests water samples and many more during the swimming season.

The other booth in the water pollution portion of ECOhealthfest will be an exhibit of a HACH kit, a mobile field chemistry lab. This HACH kit has the capability to provide approximate indications on the physical and chemical characteristics of a water source.

Various media will be used so ECOhealthfest will be entertaining as well as informative. Audience participation is a key part of the exhibits and trained personnel at each booth will answer your questions.

Sponsored by the Fort Benning Medical Department, the Healthfest will provide environmental education on how sound ecological practices affect health.

Sps Willie Herward brings a Phase Contrast Scope into focus showing live bacteria taken from "clean" teeth. The Preventive Dentistry Clinic uses devices such as this in their program of oral hygiene instruction.

Sgt Stephen Bendas demonstrates how to test for the bacterial quality of water, using a membrane filter kit. Water from the Chattahoochee River, Victory Pond and the Fort Benning water distribution system will be compared at ECOhealthfest.

Change

agencies as the primary means for solving its problems. Every time these services do solve a problem, praise is heaped on praise for them."

The fact is however, that members of the chain-of-command quickly take care of the majority of soldiers' problems in out-of-the-way orderly rooms. But as the work of the chain-of-command is overlooked, confidence in it is undermined.

"The chain-of-command is working effectively every day throughout the Army," Kaczmarek said. "The orderly room is still the best and fastest place for a soldier to get an answer to his problem. Most problems received by the 100 or so agencies are referred right back to the unit commander anyway. In fact, access is faster and help is given sooner by the XO, AER, Red Cross, chaplain, Beming House or any other needed service agency. If the chain-of-command is used, these services complement, but do not take the place of the chain-of-command.

"There are a lot of good, hard-working NCOs and officers in company-size units all over the Army doing their jobs from 6:30 in the morning to 11 at night," said Kaczmarek. "They don't keep score on the thousands of problems they take care of every day, but need to be recognized, so the soldiers know who to go to when they have a problem."

213th Aviation takes three day field training

The 213th Aviation Company's "Black Cats" moved to McKenna Airfield last week for a three day field Training Exercise. Beginning Wednesday, November 8, the company practiced perimeter defense, patrolling, and CBR training, including a gas-supported probe of their perimeter.

While in the field, the 213th continued to provide support to and fly missions for the Infantry School as well as engaging in such specialized training as internal and external loads and simulated search and rescue missions.

In one such S and R drill, the unit, provided medicav support, secured the area of downed aircraft, performed maintenance and executed a recovery all within 35 minutes from the time the initial call was received.

12 miles

Men of 43rd Engineer Bn. take a walk

Top physical condition is essential to any soldier if he is to complete his mission and last week, the soldiers of the 43rd Engineer Battalion, 531st Engr. Gp. demonstrated their overall fitness on a twelve mile hike.

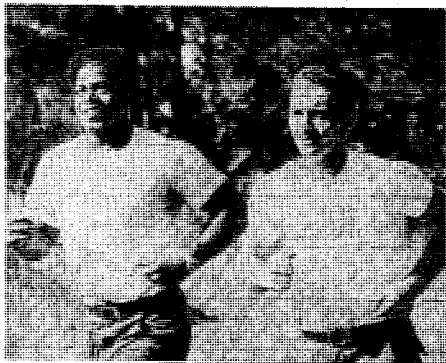

The hike was undertaken as part of the units physical fitness program, with the goal being to complete the distance in three hours. Enthusiasm among the soldiers was high and it was with smiling faces that the men set out for the march. Most of them felt that the twelve mile walk was no problem; "No sweat", was the way that PFC Milton Adams of HHC, 43rd, expressed his feelings about the hike.

Most of the men completed the march in the designated three hours, with a substantial number doing it in two hours. The record time was 1:41, done by PFC Carry N. Holt, of Co. C.

Stagg Bowl

Four schools left on list for holiday tilt

Thanksgiving weekend could be a disaster for football fans of the Chattahoochee Valley - Fort Benning area.

All the high schools will have finished their seasons by then. It is an open date for Alabama, Auburn, Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia; they're all idle, waiting for the season's final big games on Dec. 2.

That dreary prospect is being swept away, however, and a glittering attraction brought in to fill the breach. Thanks to the Phoenix City Lions Club, the Alton Stagg Bowl Game to determine the championship team in the Midwest and/or Southeastern Divisions will be played Friday, (Nov. 24) at 8 p.m. at Phoenix City Municipal Stadium.

Of 101 eligible teams the choice has narrowed to four teams; Ashland College, Ohio; Heidelberg College, Ohio; Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill.; and Fort Valley, Fort Valley, Ga.

If Ashland College plays, spectators will be able to observe Jeff Groza son of the famed Lou Groza.

Registration for basketball

The Fort Benning Youth Activities Council is registering players for the 1973 basketball season.

Registrations will be accepted at 3 a.m. until 6 p.m. from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Registrations close after January 15.

Boys ages 8 through 15 and girls 9 through 15 are eligible. A birth certificate of the player to be registered and a $5 registration fee is required at the time of registration. Parents must accompany players when registering.

Youth activities will operate 4 leagues during the coming season.

- 8 to 9 years of age — Biddy League
- 10 to 11 years of age — Pee Wee League
- 12 to 13 years of age — Dugbby League
- 14 to 15 years of age — Pony League

Adult volunteers are needed to act as coaches and league commissioners. For additional information call Capt. Roger or Mr. Ranier at 545-7414 or 545-8561.

Pre-marital Seminar scheduled

The post Pre-Marital Seminar will be held November 19, at 2 p.m. and will end at 6 p.m. The seminar will be held at the same time on the third Sunday of each month. Registration for the seminar may be made at the door.

The USAIC Chaplain's Office is sponsoring the seminar, which is open to newly married couples as well as engaged couples. Anyone living on Post may attend, and dependents of military personnel living in the civilian community are also welcome.

OCs excel in

'Run for Fun'

The 52nd Officer Candidate Company of the 9th Student Battalion made a terrific showing in the Fort Benning "Run for Fun" competition sponsored by the Ranger department. Twenty OCs entered into the events, carrying away many of the awards, which is keeping with the winning spirit of the 52nd Co.

The 52nd Co. was represented in the two mile run, the four mile relay and the five mile open. The showing of the day for the future officers was the four mile relay, which saw 52nd Co. teams secure first and third place. The first place team was comprised of OCs Kinney, Heaston, Urban and Paxton who ran the event in 21:44. This event was all the 52nd Co. needed to get warmed up.

The two mile run saw OC's Curnero, Hunner and Roche place 7th, 8th and 10th respectively. The last event was the five mile run. In this test of endurance, OC Trimmer grabbed third place, finishing in 31:09. Candidates Sablin and Amundson weren't far behind with three times of 30:35 and 34:24.

The 52th Co. is proud to participate in such worthwhile competition as the "Run for Fun." The Ranger department put on a fine program and, although the spirit was competitive, the contestants indeed had a great time.

Post Boxers claim top spots

Lightweight Orben Young, Co. C, 1st Battalion, 58th Infantry, defeated Joe Newton of Ft. Bragg during the 3rd Army Notice Boxing Tournament at Ft. Campbell, Ky, this past weekend.

Light-heavyweight Q. P. Brundage, Co. G, 1st Battalion, 58th Infantry, lost to Alcide Townsend of Ft. Bragg in the Championship bout to capture the runner up spot in his division.

Robert Moore, Co. A, 1st Battalion, 58th Infantry went to the semi-finals before being defeated in the welterweight class.

Heavyweight Michael Abney and middleweight Arthur Storey, the other members of the Fort Benning team, were defeated by decision in preliminary bouts. Both are from Company A, 1st Bu, 58th Infantry.

PFC Predicto PICKS!

Shame! Shame! Those sad and sobbing saps from Airborne Dept. turned on the Ole war-jerker to that great and glorious god of the gridiron trying to break his heart after losing to him last week but, after many sleepless nights I could only do the fair thing and tell it like a reason from that sensational seer of the serene-board. This week those scheming soundrels from severity will be on the scaffold. You too can try to out duel the Oracle by dialing 545-7241 or 345-7841 and asking for Predicto.

Eagles upset Browns with last second TD

This week's Biddy game of the week saw the Eagles with an unexciting second half defensive ball and a last scoring drive defeat a strong second place Browns club 20-14.

With only eleven seconds remaining on the clock the Eagles behind 14-12 scored and then built in for the two point conversion wrapping up the game.

In other action seen in the Biddy League a last week the Bulldogs defeated the Raiders 24-12 and the Falcons shut out the Dolphins 22-0.

For Wes games saw the Chiefs shut out the Jets

28-0, the Cowboys squeaked by the Chargers 12-8 and the Vikings outlasted the Falcons 6-0.

INFANTRY important reading for today's Infantryman

ATTACK... ATTACK... ATTACK??

Is too much emphasis given to offensive tactics? "Infantry On Defense," by Jack Weller, questions our "all for defense" doctrine. He points out that over the last 2600 years, Infantry has been more effective defensively and while "defensive-mindedness" can lead to a passive attitude and sure defeat, "protection is still vital 86 per cent of the time." An aggressive offense is essential, but we cannot afford to ignore the other half of the game. In the future, "survival may depend as much on the shield as on the sword."

"ADVENTUROUS TRAINING: BRITISH STYLE"

"Nothing destroys efficiency, enthusiasm and motivation more than boring, repetitive training... to combat the boredom of peacetime soldiering, the British Army came up with Adventurous Training. Colonel Dodd describes some of the "training" undertaken under this program. Small groups of men, as little as four, have taken treks across Europe and North Africa, climbed the 24,000 ft peaks in Nepal, and believe it or not, sailed in a "Round the World" yacht race. Mount Everest is scheduled for 1973.

ADVENTURE TRAINING: U.S. STYLE

Facing a peace-time situation, many U.S. units are developing their own "Adventure Training." At Fort Riley, sky-diving, karate, and a scout-shooting program have been initiated to enliven dull training. The 22nd Arctic Light Brigade use their 3,000 mile playground to... ski, mountain climb, do glacier work and rock climbing, and hike over the most beautiful terrain in the world. At Fort Benning, the 17th altts duty hours for their "something different" training, including sea-bathing, canoeing and rappelling. "Training With A Twist" headlines a group of articles describing this new idea in training.

"A SELF-FULFILLING PROPHECY"

"Officers should receive only oral efficiency reports... their first three years... "Fancical Ravings? How about assigning all second lieutenants to field grade officers for their initial three months? Lawrence R. Crane proposes some basic changes in "rearing" new officers to increase their future effectiveness and motivation.

AIRBORNE RANGER: OBSOLETE?

Take a look at the 82nd Airborne Division in the "Future of Airborne" by L. Col. Parsons. A quick deterrent force capability is essential in the future, and the 82nd with its airborne, airmobile, and airmar-division ready brigade might surprise you.

"A miserable nine weeks of punishment and suffering" With our withdrawl from Vietnam, is Ranger Training still necessary? Captains Lanning and Garlock clarify the myths surrounding the 82nd Airborne and present the important role of Ranger-trained leaders in any combat environment.

Three excellent articles on the relationship between officers and NCOs and vice-versa — discuss who expects what from whom, when and why. Getting short? Getting out? You'll want to read "The Grass Isn't Always Greener."

These features and others, in addition to the regular departments including Editorial and Officer Career Notes, Infantry News, and reports on the latest weapons and equipment, make the November-December INFANTRY important reading for today's Infantryman. Available now at many Post Ex-

Dupont "TELAR" Anti-Freeze and Summer Coolant $165 GALLON
 Dupont Telar is more than an anti-freeze. It's an all-year, all-purpose protective treatment for the car's cooling system.
 • FREEZING PROTECTION—full strength permanent-type anti-freeze.
 • CORROSION PROTECTION—Protects all cooling system metals, including aluminum, against Rust and Corrosion.
 • SUMMER COOLANT—Raises the boiling point of the coolant. Keeps engines from overheating—summer and winter—under all driving conditions. No better coolant for air-conditioned cars than 50% solution of Dupont Telar.
 • COMPATIBLE with all cooling system filters.
 • "TELAR" turns yellow when it no longer provides adequate CORROSION protection. When solution turns yellow, drain and replace it.
 "Telar" is a concentrated permanent-type anti-freeze. The super-strong chemical stabilizer and rust inhibitors in "Telar" keep cooling systems clean and rust-free. Dangerous rust elongate which contributes to overheating is prevented and efficient cooling is maintained in summer as well as winter.

 For an attractive garnish for a holiday turkey, fill canned peach halves with condensed minced meat and heat thoroughly under the broiler.
 Add a few drops of vanilla to a hot milk rom punch when you feel like having a midnight, and you're guaranteed sweet dreams!
 When seasoning buttered mashed potatoes, add some orange juice concentrate and brown sugar.
 The tasty sauce we call Worcestershire was used by the ancient Romans, Indians and Phoenicians, but didn't get its present name until centuries later, when it was manufactured in Worcester, England.

THE BAYONET Inside Front Racing

Admin NCO devotes spare time to sports car racing

Sgt. Edward L. Malloy, Admin NCO for the Aviation Command S-1 Section, devotes his spare time to sports car racing. The car he races, a Triumph TR-4A, used to belong to the West Coast Triumph Team and was raced in national Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) events for British Leland, the manufacturer of Triumph and MG. This car is completely race-prepared having all the modifications SCCA rules will allow to include engine, chassis, frame, and body.

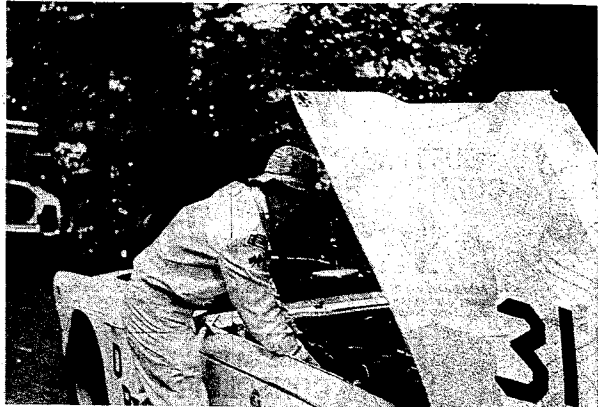

SCCA racing is divided into three categories: Solo II, Solo I, and Competition Driving. Solo II, the category in which SGT Malloy has done most of his driving, is the first stage in Sports Car racing. A Solo II event can be run in a parking lot, on a race track, or in any large open area that is paved. There is only one car on the course at any given time and each contestant runs against the clock. The course is set up with pylons in the form of gates and slaloms. Generally speaking, Solo II racing is for trophies rather than prize money.

Street cars are very competitive in this class and anyone with a sports-type vehicle with seat belts can enter. Solo II events are run once a month here at Fort Benning. They are sponsored by the Fort Benning Sports Car Club and are held at Layton Fieldport. Safety helmets are required. However, if you don't own a helmet the Fort Benning Club will loan you one.

Points are awarded for Solo II events from the FBSCC and the SCCA Chryvaga Region, which includes Columbus, Fort Benning, Albany Ga., Ft. Rucker, and other towns in the area. The top three contestants from each region compete in the Southeast Division Solo II runoffs held in September of each year. Future SCCA plans call for a national Solo II runoff which will include the top three competitors from each of the Division run-offs.

Solo I events are the next step up the path to competitive racing. They can be run on any racetrack, either regular or airport, and hillclimbs, either paved or dirt. Solo I competition requires considerably more in the way of equipment and paper. The personal equipment includes a helmet and fire-resistant clothing. The racing vehicle itself must have extensive safety equipment to include a rollbar, fire-extinguisher, fuel cut-off switches, and a fly-wheel scatter shield as well as a five or six belt safety harness. In addition, entrants must have a Solo I license, either novice or senior, a personal log book, and a vehicle log book. SGT Malloy presently holds a senior Solo I license and a Competition novice permit.

Competition racing is the most advanced of the SCCA racing events. To drive in these events the individual Solo I events due to the fact that there were no driver's when he has completed his military service.

Sgt. Edward L. Malloy, Admin NCO for the Aviation Command S-1 Section performs a final check of his TR-4A engine prior to the Solo I hill climb at Chimney Rock, N. C.

Malloy must attend two special drivers schools and pass a written test on track procedures and rules. He attended his first driver's school on October 20, 21, and 22.

Malloy is presently working his way into competition racing while a student at Clarendon High School in San Diego, Cal., his home town, when he helped to build a NASCAR stock car. His last event was a Solo I hillclimb at Chimney Rock, N.C., a national event which required a Solo I license to enter. As far as hillclimbs go, his course is on Pike's Peak. In it's 1.9 mile length in it's major, or hairpin, turns. The only straightway is 150 yards at the start-finish.

Entrants in this event came from as far away as New York and Miami. Malloy, in spite of a bad first run, managed to finish the event ninth in class. He's looking forward to his next competition and plans to race professionally.

Until September Malloy raced only in Solo II, and his next competition and plans to race professionally.

SGT. EDWARD MALLOY

Thanksgiving Be safer than the turkey

We look forward to Thanksgiving. We plan for it in advance— for days or even weeks. We like to have it come as it means for many of us an extra long weekend. Four days in which we are free from the cars and responsibilities of our normal daily tasks. That's the way it should be; however, there can be a catch in it. The Thanksgiving we looked forward to so longingly can be a dud or worse. Many things can happen to make it go bad, but the worst of all is an accident—the kind that hurts someone seriously or even kills.

You must know about this country's terrible accident record. At least you should. The papers are full of it. We get it over radio and TV. Over fifty-four thousand killed in 1971 alone. Well over two million received disabling injuries. Many hundreds of thousands had to be patched up in hospitals with a lot of the victims being more or less crippled for the rest of their lives.

The majority of these tragedies aren't caused by the wild drivers, nor by the heavy drinkers, though liquor plays an awful part in many of the worst crashes. Most of the accidents involve the ordinary everyday driver who simply doesn't take driving seriously enough. This shows up on weekends and particularly on long holiday weekends. Just when everyone should put safety first, many drivers seem to think that getting there fast is more important. They drive at speeds too high for conditions. They take chances in passing. They cut curves and corners. They crowd stop lights and pass stop signs. Everyone of them knows better or did before he got killed, if that was the way it turned out for him.

Traffic accidents aren't the only causes of people getting banged up or bumped off on holidays. They drop and they fall out of trees and off cliffs. Poisonous snakes get a few. Once in a while, a bull gets his man. During hunting season, hunters shoot themselves or others because they have never learned how to use and handle firearms safely. Others pour gasoline or kerosene on a fire to make it burn better. Sometimes it does—so much bigger and fiercer in fact that they get themselves fried. Maybe the wife or a youngster does, too. And so it goes. The thing that runs through all these accidents is that a little safety mindedness and the use of good common sense would have prevented them. This applies even to the freakish ones.

Very few people carry on activities during holidays that are really dangerous, like skiing or mountain climbing. But everyone does things that can cause injury if no thought is given to safety. Over and over again, the accidents prove it. With this in mind, during the forthcoming long Thanksgiving weekend, make sure you are safer than the turkey. Don't stick your neck out to an accident and take care to keep your head from under the descending ax.

Why the big push for PT?

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter to try to get an answer on a subject that may seem trivial to some. I know, however, that the same thought is going through the minds of many of the men here at Fort Benning.

What I would like to know is why the big push here at Fort Benning towards PT?

Granted that this is an infantry post and that PT just may help a man in the future when he really needs to be physically fit. But what about those of us who are not in the field of infantry-man?

It seems to me that one of the things that all this 'new Army' talk was supposed to do was to do away with a lot of the harassment. If you ask me, and I am sure that many others would agree with me, that someone telling me I have to take PT for one hour everyday is a large form of harassment.

Don't get me wrong, I am not saying that being physically fit is a bad thing. If a man wants to participate in physical training then more power to him. As for myself, I think that it

THANKSGIVING DAY MESSAGE

The great traditions of Thanksgiving most remind us of the blessings we enjoy in this country and encourage us to demonstrate our appreciation by lives lived in harmony with each other.

As we express our gratitude, let us pause and remember our American servicemen wherever they may be, especially the prisoners of war. They are among the great men who have given this nation its glorious heritage.

I take this opportunity to wish each of you and your families a safe and happy Thanksgiving.

'Widows Equity Act' helps VA beneficiaries

Provisions of the new "Widows Equity Act" may be important to a number of VA beneficiaries, the Veterans Administration reported today.

Approved into law by the President on Sept. 21, 1972, the new Survivors Benefits Act was designed primarily to bring benefits for survivors of military retirees in line with those covered by Civil Service programs. Many of the new provisions bear directly on VA benefits, it was pointed out.

One provision guarantees a minimum annual income of about $100 to current widows of military retirees who are receiving VA death pension. Widows of military retirees who are on VA pension roles should be on the alert for Department of Defense announcements on procedures for applying for the new benefits.

Also affecting VA benefits is a provision in the bill that all annuities under the Act are specifically included as income for VA benefits. However, benefits under the Retired Servicemen's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP), which is being superceded by the Act, are not considered income for the purpose of VA benefits. This provision is important to those now participating in RSFPP because they have the option under the new Act of continuing under the old provisions, dropping them in favor of the new plan or continuing coverage and supplementing it with coverage under the new plan.

Widows who are eligible for VA death indemnity compensation (DIC) are eligible under the new program, if their husbands elect to participate, to receive a supplemental annuity in addition to DIC. The supplement is the amount by which the annuity normally payable for dependent children and for aid and attendance are not considered in determining the amount of the supplement, it was added.

Soldiers Council meets

The Soldiers Council meeting for September studied the problems involved in getting additional tennis courts behind Theater No. 2 and in providing more washrooms for privately owned vehicles (POV).

areas on post could easily be converted for this use. In the meantime, a coin-operated washrack is planned for the corner of Gillespie and Gaudette Streets. If approved by higher headquarters, this washrack will be open in April, 1973.

The Council, made up of privates through specialists, expressed concern over the appearance of people using public facilities on post. They urged a concerted effort to enforce dress standards.

The need for more tennis courts was determined by an informal survey of people using the courts. The Council suggested that the courts behind Theater No. 2 be extended in the direction of the quarter-master sales store. In the meantime, new courts are planned for the New Main Post gymnasium.

The Council also brought up the possibility of increasing the number of car washes for POV. It was suggested that several Private to President the chain is made up of links

Chain of Command

One of the most difficult places for the chain of command to work in is a student company at Fort Benning.

Many times these companies are made up of young soldiers who do not use the chain of command because they lack confidence in it.

1st Sgt. Charles V. Irwin of the 48th Company (Airborne) believes that their lack of confidence is caused by lack of knowledge. Because using the chain of command is important in any Army unit, Irwin and his company commander, Capt. Michael J. Brennan, devote much time and effort to make sure their men understand it.

Apparently their efforts have been successful. "In the last 2 1/2 years," said Irwin, "I have not had more than 10 men see the IG or JAG. Most who went were simply soldiers who could not accept being medically disqualified or dropped from airborne training."

The 48th Company is a training unit for basic airborne students. Most of the students are very young and inexperienced. They lack the knowledge that experience provides, especially knowledge concerning the chain-of-command.

Training the young soldiers of the 48th Company to use the chain-of-command is, therefore, a major task for Irwin and Brennan. In addition they face two other major problems.

First, they acquire an entirely new company every few weeks, when the 48th Company graduates one airborne class and then starts to fill again with a new class of students.

Second, the 48th Company virtually does not have the lower levels of the chain-of-command that most companies have. Regular team leaders, squad leaders, section leaders, platoon sergeants, and platoon leaders are not assigned to fill again with a new class of students.

Before students arrive we send them a letter and tell them to bring any problem to the attention of the company cadre at any time," said Irwin. "We brief them on using the chain-of-command as soon as they arrive. While they are here, we keep emphasizing that the company's cadre are available at any time to assist in both personal and military problems." This policy has paid off. Often Irwin or Brennan have caught simple problems and solved them before they developed into perplexing state of affairs.

"Our biggest obstacle is changing the attitude of the students," said Irwin. "They are reluctant to approach the orderly room with a problem."

Irwin explained that many have been taught to pass through a ritual merely to see the first sergeant or company commander. For example, some come from back-grounds that required them (1) to come to the orderly room with a problem only during the hours of 1700 to 1800 on a specified day of the week (2) to take off their hat at the orderly room door (3) to knock on the door (4) to wait outside the door after knocking (5) to enter when commanded to (6) to salute and report when inside.

Irwin said that such formalities are not required in the 48th Co. They discourage communication.

"The chain-of-command is as good as the doors are left open," Irwin said, "and anytime means anytime. The chain is made up of links. See Chain page 22

By Pete Foreman

What it is and

Many new soldiers and civilians hear the term chain of command, but are not clear on what it is or how it works.

The Army regulation on command policy says, "The chain of command is the most fundamental and important organizational technique used by the Army."

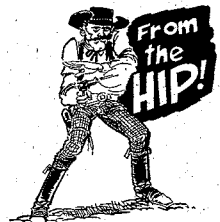

The regulation says that the chain of command is the succession of commanders, superior to subordinate, through which command is exercised. This chain, also known as the command channel, starts with the President and extends to the Secretary of Defense and then to the Secretary of the Army.

From the Secretary of the Army the chain of command goes to the Army Chief of Staff and then extends downward to major commanders and then to small unit commanders. Eventually, it reaches section leaders and squad leaders.

In Fort Benning's case, the chain of command extends from the Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, to the Continental Army Commander, Gen. Ralph E. Haines, and then to the Third Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Melvin Zeig and finally to Fort Benning's Commander, Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot.

Army policy states, "A superior in the chain of command holds his subordinate commanders responsible for everything their command does or fails to do."

This means, for example, that the Third Army Commander holds Fort Benning's Commander responsible for everything that every unit on the post does or fails to do.

how it works

complicating the mission that his higher headquarters has given him. Second, he is responsible to look out for the welfare of all the people and the property in his command.

Normally, a commander cannot accomplish one of these responsibilities without the other. That is, he cannot accomplish assigned missions without taking care of his men and equipment. On the other hand, a commander cannot keep his men and equipment in a high state of readiness unless he is making them accomplish assigned tasks. The wise commander will keep his men and material working to keep them in top shape.

The chain of command is not a one way street. It also works from the private soldier upward to the highest levels of command. This system is by far the most effective means for a soldier to get a problem solved.

The Army is very interested in the problems of a soldier. A soldier cannot perform his duty in an effective manner if he has personal problems. The system that the Army has developed to take care of soldier problems is the chain of command.

A private soldier can bring a problem to the attention of his squad or section leader. The leader knows that all problems must be solved as soon as possible. If the leader cannot get the problem solved by himself, he asks the sergeant to get the soldier to the agency that can. The full chain of command can go to work if necessary and the system has been proven beyond any doubt to be the most efficient means for the soldier to get problems solved.

Any commander (or leader) has two chief responsibilities. First, he is responsible for ac-

CWOC holds retreat
 The Catholic Women of the Chapel (CWOC) will attend a Day of Reflection on December 1st for their First Friday devotions. The Holy Trinity Shrine Retreat House, near Ft. Mitchell, Alabama, and run by the Missionary Sisters of the Blessed Trinity, will be the site of the retreat. The ladies will meet at the Main Post Catholic Chapel at 9:00 a.m. to form a carpool. Anyone desiring to provide her own transportation may do so and follow the carpool. The carpool will return to Main Post prior to 3 p.m.
 There will be no charge for the Day of Reflection and a hot lunch will be provided as well. The Town Nursery service will be free of charge, excepting lunches and snacks, but those planning to attend must make nursery reservations to assure accommodations at The Town. Rev. Edward Frank, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, Columbus, will be the Retreat Master. Fr. Frank, who is involved with the cursillo movement, is in frequent demand as a speaker and will provide the members with a refreshing experience.
 Make your reservations by noon on Wed., Nov. 29th for this relaxing way to spend a spiritually rewarding day, by calling Main Post Catholic Chapel (545-7082).

Then why not try out for Fort Benning's Band

By PETER FOREMAN

The Infantry Center's 23rd Army Band is looking for soldiers who can play a musical instrument and who want to join its ranks.

The Band Master of the 42-piece musical organization, CWO Brian D. Arnold, said the largest number he can put on the field at one time is only 24 men. In fact, for the Nov. 11 Infantry Museum ground-breaking ceremonies, Benning's band had to combine with Fort Rucker's Army Band in order to field a total of 42 pieces appropriate for the occasion.

Since Arnold took over Benning's band four months ago, he has combed the post for qualified musicians. In spite of his efforts, he has just managed to maintain his personnel strength. The Band's gains in members have balanced its losses.

Arnold said, "The surprising pattern we have found is that most men who are qualified on an instrument, are either commissioned or are above average soldiers whom unit commanders are very reluctant to give up."

It may seem odd that the free world's largest infantry school would have difficulty in filling its assigned military band, Arnold said, however, that Benning's Band has a long history of personnel strength problems. Replacements have trickled in while the Band's strength has always been sapped because of its members being levied by high headquarters for transfer or being separated from the Army.

"The only time the 23rd was close to full strength was in July 1970 when the 21st Army Band deactivated and its members who were left over were transferred to the 23rd," said Arnold. "Due to lack of replacements, separations, and levied transfers soon brought the strength of Benning's 23rd down again."

At this time, therefore, Arnold would be glad to admit any soldier in Fort Benning who plays a standard marching or concert band instrument and who wants to join the Infantry Center's Army Band. One merely needs to call 545-2902 to arrange for an audition.

Members of the Band work unconfined 40-hour weeks. Besides performing in post ceremonies, members occasionally take short trips throughout the Southeast.

During October, for example, some members traveled to the Lodge of Pine Mountain, Georgia to help celebrate a German Oktoberfest. The entire Band helicoptered to Bainbridge, Georgia one day to play in an old time town meeting and patriotic rally, and the Band also played in the Veteran's Day parade in Birmingham, Alabama.

Arnold dreams of the day when the Band attains its full strength. For Benning's Band could then form a symphonic concert band, a marching band, light dinner ensembles, rock combos, and a full stage band. At this time, however, it can only muster enough for a light marching band, a light concert band, and a dinner music ensemble.

Benning chapel bell rings for first time in 19 years

"Here to sing through the years its stentorian reminder that peace is a hard endeavor, only as long as the power of right insures its endurance." These words are on a plaque inside the Infantry Chapel at Fort Benning, Ga.

The sound of the chapel bell was heard on Nov. 6 for the first time in nineteen years. The Liberty Carillon will soon be in working condition also; it has been silenced since 1952.

Repairs on the bell were initiated by Col. David B. Conard, Director of Facilities Engineering, following a conversation with Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander.

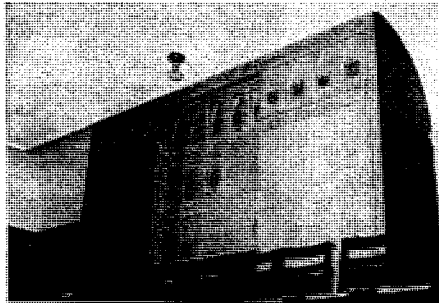

The bell was cleaned out by the engineers, the bell cable was replaced, and new louver's and screens have been installed in order to prevent pigeons from roosting there.

DFAE also straightened the hammer to the Mourner's Gong and installed a new cable. The Mourner's Gong is sounded whenever a death takes place at Fort Benning.

Both the bell and the Liberty Carillon have been at Fort Benning for several decades. The bell was installed when the chapel was built in 1955, and the carillon was given to the chapel in 1946.

The carillon was originally located at Camp Patrick Henry, Va. It was given to Camp Henry's "Chapel in the Woods" by Harvey S. Firestone Jr. in 1948. In 1944, a fire destroyed it, but it was rebuilt the same year.

Over 600,000 men on their way overseas during World War II, as well as 850,000 returnees from combat in Europe, enjoyed the carillon during the time it was installed at Camp Henry. It was moved to Fort Benning in

The Liberty Carillon, which was installed in the Infantry Center Chapel in 1946, will soon be heard again for the first time since 1952. It was originally given to Camp Patrick Henry, Va.'s "Chapel in the Woods" by Harvey S. Firestone Jr. The inscription reads: "There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations. People armed in the holy cause of Liberty in a country such as ours are invincible." (Patrick Henry) Below the inscription are the words, "Dedicated to the men and women of Firestone in the service of their country."

1946 and placed in the Main Post Protestant Chapel.

The Liberty Carillon has been removed for repairs. A stereo tape system will be installed in it so that music can be recorded, and it will also be connected to the chapel organ.

A special ceremony will be held to re-dedicate both the bell and the Liberty Carillon. Plans are being made to schedule the service in time for the Christmas season.

From now on, the chapel bell will be rung a quarter of an hour before each scheduled service.

Four finalists named for Miss Marksman

Four lovely young ladies survived the scrutiny of judges and attrition in the selection of "Miss Marksman" at the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit and were named "finalists" in the naming of the reigning marksmanship beauty.

The four reaching the final selection were Linda Tharp, daughter of MSgt. and Mrs. Harry Tharp; Deborah Tomlin, daughter of Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. Jack Tomlin; Tammy Williams, daughter of 1Sgt. and Mrs. Tommy Williams; and Debbie Ridings, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Douglas Worthington.

The reigning "Miss Marksman" will preside over the forthcoming holiday festivities within the unit and assist in the inauguration of the 1973 marksmanship season.

Miss Marksman will also have the honor of having her picture printed in color and included as the center section of the unit's newsletter "The Marksman."

TRAILER INSPECTIONS

November 1, Georgia instituted a state wide safety inspection program for all trailers that presently require a tag. These trailers include campers, boat trailers, horse trailers, motorhome trailers and other trailers in this category. The only exception to this will be mobile homes which are permanently placed.

According to a newsletter sent out by the Motor Vehicle Inspection Div., Georgia State, each trailer must be inspected yearly. The exceptions are a qualified in the newsletter as following, "Provided, however, those trailers or semi-trailers which are built upon a chassis and are designed to be used as a dwelling without a permanent foundation and which exceeds a width of 8 feet and a length of 29 feet or a gross weight of 4,500 pounds shall not be subject to the provisions of this section." In effect, if your trailer exceeds a width of 8 feet and length of 29 feet, or a gross weight of 4,500 pounds, it is not subject to inspection.

According to the Provost Marshall's Office on post, they will enforce the law within the reservation boundaries. PMO stated that an trailer is registered in Georgia, and meets the requirements, however, it must be inspected at a certified inspection station and have its decal placed on the left front corner of the trailer for proof of inspection.

On Main Post, Cox and Kennon Garage is presently conducting these safety inspections for trailers at a cost of $3.00. This fee is established by the State.

If you are to be getting your trailer inspected, here is what they will check for. Brakes, which shall be checked while hooked to towing vehicle. Lights, turn signals, reflectors, tires, and general inspection. This is for such things as loose or protruding parts, broken and dragging parts.

All qualifying trailers without inspection stickers will be subject to receiving a citation for the offense.

DIAL 545-DR-U-G

By dialing 545-DR-U-G or 545-D-O-P-E anyone can hear answers to varied questions concerning the illegal and improper use of various drugs. The taped messages, which are changed daily, are available on a 24 hour basis.

The Drug Education Team, Provost Marshal Office, who produces the taped messages, is planning some stimulating programs in the weeks to come. A whole week will be devoted to a single subject, such as barbiturates, L.S.D., drugs and adolescence, etc. Each daily segment will highlight a specific topic of the drug being presented: history, popular usage, effects, legal penalties, and rehabilitative techniques.

The Drug Education Team hopes this in-depth approach will give the listener a greater awareness and understanding of the drug scene.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

One thousand Army Reserve Officer Training Corps four-year scholarships will be awarded for the school year 1972-74.

The scholarships give financial assistance to young men and women who desire to serve as commissioned officers after graduating from college.

To be eligible for the scholarship, the applicant must be a citizen of the United States; be at least 17 years of age before Oct. 1, 1973; be able to complete all requirements for a commission and college degree; successfully pass a physical examination given by the U. S. Army; be a high school graduate or have an equivalent certificate before Sept. 1, 1973; have no moral obligation or personal conviction that will prevent the applicant from supporting and defending the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Applications for these scholarships may be obtained from Headquarters, Third U. S. Army, Fort McPherson, Ga., 30338. The deadline for applying is Jan. 15, 1973.

FAMILY PRACTICE PROGRAM

Families who desire to receive their medical care through the Family Practice Program are advised that only a limited number of families can be accepted at the present time. Interested persons should contact the Family Practice Clinic, 545-4162 - 2863 or come to building 234 for further information. New families will continue to be added from time to time as families move to other locations. Application forms and boxes are no longer present in the previously designated locations.

OERS

New evaluation system is subject of Nov. 21-22 conference

The new Officer Evaluation Reporting System (OERS), which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1973 took a big step with a OERS Seminar held Nov. 21-22. Personnel in supervisory positions as well as all center officers attended the conference to receive guidance in the new system.

OERS, a product of extensive research and field testing by the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel and the Office of Personnel Operations, Department of the Army, was developed specifically in response to the officer corps' interest in an improved efficiency reporting system.

As part of the new system, the rated officer will receive a personal copy of each evaluation report rendered on him. Thus, not only will he know immediately how his performance has been judged by his rater; he will also play a key role in early detection and resolution of any administrative errors which might occur during the preparation of his completed OER. DA feels that in the future this new practice will relieve the officer of having to correct administrative errors through letter correspondence or personal visits to TAGO. Moreover, to satisfy the officer's longstanding desire to know exactly how his report compares with those of his peers, each officer will be furnished his annual average score on a confidential basis.

The new Officer Evaluation Report (DA Form 07-7) itself features a visible scoring system. Numeric scoring ranges will be used for evaluating both performance of duty and potential. The maximum score for the overall report is 100 points — 100 each for the rater and inductor. No other scores will be associated with the report.

Additionally, the average score by grade for the officer corps will be compiled and published periodically to provide raters with an objective norm from which to begin evaluating their subordinate officers and to aid in continuous officer counseling sessions during rating periods. The purpose of such performance counseling, which is mandatory, is being incorporated into appropriate Army regulations. An important administrative change in the new OERS makes the rater — not the personnel officer — responsible for preparing a precise description of a DA rated officer's duties. Also, continuation sheets to DA Form 67-7 will not be allowed, since experience reveals that verbose narratives obscure important information.

To insure the successful implementation of the OERS, DA has directed a comprehensive education program to support the new system. Instruction in officer evaluation will be mandatory for all officers attending basic and advanced branch courses as well as the Command and General Staff School and the Army War College. Envisioned as broad in scope, the OERS instruction will encompass evaluation theories and techniques as well as emphasizing the mechanics of the new evaluation system and DA Form 67-7.

The new OERS, it should be noted, will capitalize on the advantages of automation. A computerized file of all officer evaluation data will be created to yield appropriate information to the individual officer and DA personnel managers. As an important by-product of the computerized file, a statistical data base will help assess their effectiveness.

Mrs. Stillman selected post Wife of the Year

Mrs. Jan C. Stillman has been selected as Benning's entry in the 1973 Military Wife of the Year Contest. Mrs. Stillman, whose husband is stationed in Vietnam, was nominated by the 19th Infantry Brigade. Mrs. Stillman is currently with the 60th Assault Helicopter Company. Until the end of September, he was with the 1st Battalion, 25th Infantry, 197th Infantry Brigade.

The Stillmans have two children, Heidi and Toby, and have been in the Army 11 years. They live at 103-B Butts Street on Post.

Mrs. Stillman has been active in the Officers' Wives Club, serving as Allied Liaison Chairman, Program Chairman, and currently as 2nd Vice-President in charge of activities.

She was co-founder of the OWC International Cooking Course, which features foreign-born wives instructing in the preparation of their native foods. She also helped establish the OWC-sponsored Environmental Workshop.

The Benning winner will go on to Third U.S. Army competition, and the Army winner will be announced by the end of February, 1973. Finalists from the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, and Coast Guard will be selected in March.

The overall winner will be chosen in May, and announced at a banquet to be held in Washington, D. C. The 1973 Military Wife of the Year will tour across the U.S., making personal appearances in major cities and military installations.

The winner "must be a military wife active in not only base activities, but especially active in the local civilian community," according to the official criteria for the contest.

This year marks the seventh Military Wife of the Year competition, sponsored annually in cooperation with the Department of Defense. Previous winners have included military wives from all five branches of the armed service.

Springer presents 'The Snow Queen'

On Thanksgiving Day, as Mayor J. R. Allen turned on the Christmas lights in downtown Columbus, the Springer Children's Theatre Company began the holiday season with a new production of Hans Christian Andersen's children's classic, THE SNOW QUEEN. Before the performance the choir of Phenix City Central High School, under the direction of Barbara Freeman, serenaded onlookers with Christmas songs from the balcony of the Springer Opera House. For this special occasion Tenth Street was blocked off from traffic from 8:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The festivities began in front of the Opera House at 7 p.m.

This production of THE SNOW QUEEN represents thousands of hours of labor from adults in the community as well as children. The sets are designed by Steve Haywood who has served as assistant technical director for many Springer adult productions. Art Lane, veteran of many Springer shows, is state manager and Sheila Plank, who works GYPSY audiences as Fessie Tura, is assistant director. Sandy Jewell has designed and executed the costumes that have been supplemented by some special costumes from the Asolo State Theatre Company of Florida, one of the nation's finest repertory companies. Mrs. Margaret Kendall coordinated the wardrobe a and Dae Lane is running sound. Of course, no children's theatre production can be done entirely by adults; there must be effort from the young people to make the characters in fresh presentation that every Springer Children's Theatre production is.

The cast and their roles are as follows: Bobbi Kingston-plays The Storyteller; Cindy Hines, Gerda; Phillip Green, Kay; Frank Schley, the Snowman; Gogo Green, Karl; Klara, Kathy Molnar; Suzanne Molnar, Christina; Billy Kendall, The King; Wal Caproni, Robber Woman;

Third U.S. Army Show coming here

The Third United States Army Soldier Show will soon be coming to Fort Benning with its current production "A Celebration."

The Musical program "A Celebration" will be presented on the 8th and 10th of December at 7:30 p.m. in Marshall Auditorium at Infantry Hall.

The program includes such current hits as "Saturday in the Park," "The Backstoppers," "Nights in White Satin" and "The City of New Orleans." In a fun-filled finale, "A Celebration" takes rather humorous and nostalgic look back at those "Fabulous Fifties."

During the 1971-72 season, the Dramatizers produced "Carnival" a musical-comedy; "Blithe Spirit," a comedy which won the 1972 Third U.S. Army Tournament of Plays; "A Midsummer Night's Dream," a Shakespearean comedy which had cast and crew of over 130 people; and "Winnie the Pooh," the Dramatizers' summer children's show.

The group then opened the 1972-73 season with "Edwin Booth" which is a melodrama set in the 19th century.

The theatre group is now looking forward to their next production, but they need plays and directors. Anyone wishing to produce a play is encouraged to contact the Fort Benning Playhouse, Bldg. 1327, on Infantry Hall, behind the Infantry Museum. The phone is 545-2332 or 545-5387.

The Dramatizers also need people who are interested in Theatre as members; anyone who is willing to work and learn or who has a special skill he would like to share with others is welcome. The Playhouse is always in need of carpenters, seamstresses, electricians, actors, musicians, singers, writers and almost anything else.

Coming to the screen

THE CONCERT FOR BANGLADESH... A rock documentary of the now historic Concert for Bangladesh, in which an impressive collection of superstars appeared before 40,000 young, hip, and extremely enthusiastic fans who jammed New York's Madison Square Garden. Eric Burdon, George Harrison, Ringo Starr, folk-rock giant Bob Dylan, Billy Preston, Eric Clapton, Leon Russell and Bavi Sharron are among those who appeared. Bangladesh is a film no one even remotely interested in rock today will want to miss.

THE SEVEN MINUTES... This picture revolves around the arrest of a young book store clerk for selling an erotic novel called "The Seven Minutes" on the grounds that it is obscene. What should have been a routine case of misdemeanor is blown up by evil politicians and their own selfish claims to a grandstand circus of a trial in which the defendant, Tom Meyer, is like the book—makes straight commercial use of that most popular and durable of dramatic devices: the courtroom trial, complete with a judge apparently prejudiced in favor of the prosecution, a handsome young lawyer, for the defense, witnesses that claim up, disappear, or go hysterical on the stand, and that of indispensable standby—the surprise witness who flamboyantly appears at the last moment and clinches the case for the defense.

THE WRATH OF GOD... In revolution torn Mexico of the late '20s, a priest and a doctor, Van Horn (Robert Mitchum) runs into Irish rebel Ken Hutchinson, who has been hired by a deadly Buono to transport bootleg whiskey. After rescuing the priest, Hutchinson is blown up in order to save their lives. Mitchum, Hutchinson and Buono, are ordered to kill "mad Frank Langella, who controls a nearby village. Langella has a penchant for killing priests and Mitchum, in reality an excommunicated cleric, has to keep up the pretense. The people look up to Mitchum in the final showdown.

THE ANDROMEDA STRAIN... Based on the best-selling novel by Michael Crichton, "THE ANDROMEDA STRAIN" tells the story of a living organism from the outer regions of space which has hitch-hiked its way to earth aboard an earth-launched satellite; it has killed and destroyed an entire community — except for two survivors and is threatening to divide and mutate into a deadly super-toxin with unlimited destructive force. A team of scientific experts (Arthur Hill, John Wayne, James Olson, Kate Reid), is assembled with the task of discovering, isolating and exterminating the unknown and fatal strain.

Maxwell AFB holds golf tournament

It has been many years since the Maxwell AFB Golf Course has had an Invitational Golf Tournament, in fact not since the early 1960 years.

One of the problems in recent years has been getting a satisfactory date that wouldn't conflict with other club tournaments in the area. In any case, the Maxwell AFB Golf Course is announcing a 2-Man Best Ball Invitational Tournament to be held the weekend of Dec. 9-10.

Shop as brackets and entry blanks have been mailed to him. If he has run out of forms he can get more immediately by calling the Maxwell AFB Golf Course.

The schedule is for "shotgun" starts on the West Course at 10 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 9-10. The first 18 hole round best-ball score will be used to set up the field in flights. The second and final round on Sunday will be added to the first round score to determine the winners in each flight.

Entry fee is $25 per man (450 per team). The field will be limited to 78 teams (156 players) so that the "shotgun" start schedule can be used.

Advance entries are indicated from golf team members of the University of Alabama and the Alexander City Junior College. The Maxwell golfers will be especially pleased to have a contingent of Fort Benning players join them and their other guests in a big week-end of golf.

Chain

Chain-of-command cannot shut down during non-duty hours or on weekends. It cannot take days off. It must be available and accessible at all times.

To get the idea of accessibility across, either Irwin or them. I expect them to do some thinking for themselves. Brennan stick close to the students during most of their training. They take physical training with the students. They eat with them. They talk with them. And they let anyone come into the orderly room at anytime.

"I often have soldiers come in the orderly room who just want to chat," said Irwin, "but this often helps me solve problems in their budding stage."

How do you get your administrative work done?

"That's easy," said Irwin. "I come in every morning at 5 o'clock. Between 5 and 6 I make up a things to do list for the clerks. (I don't believe in doing their work for them.) I expect them to do some thinking for themselves. Brennan stick close to the students during most of their training. They take physical training with the students. They eat with them. They talk with them. And they let anyone come into the orderly room at anytime."

Irwin says "The chain of command can settle all problems better than any other channel or method it can. It is the first sergeants and company commanders must first instill this confidence."

'Tank handles better' than truck,' says PFC

What does a 10 ton Diamond Rio have in common with an M551 Sheridan tank? "Not much," said PFC Benjamin M. Donohue, G Co, 89th Armor, 197th Sp. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde. Donohue was comparing his Army job with his civilian work.

The 19-year-old Donohue is from Lake Worth, Fla., where less than a year ago he was driving a dump truck for the city. Now he handles a tank that weighs just over 15 tons, over twice that of his old vehicle, and cost more than $300,000.

"Although a tank is a lot heavier than a dump truck," Donohue explained, "it handles 10 times better. Especially on rough terrain."

The unit-of-choice enlistee said he enjoys his present duty and is pleased with what he has learned.

"I admit you can hardly find a job driving a tank after you get out," Donohue checked, but "I have learned a lot about everyday life since entering the Army a year ago."

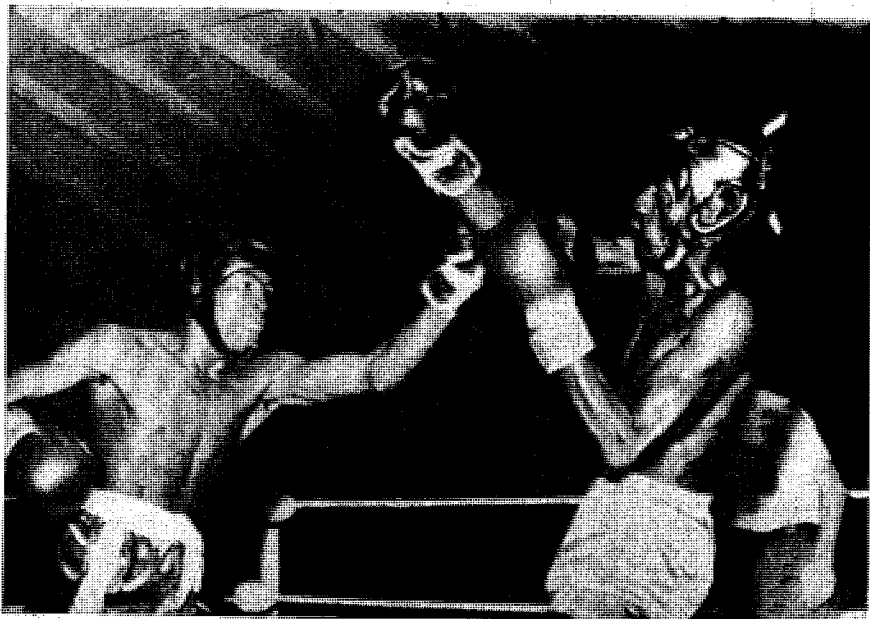

Donohue was named the Soldier of the Month for the 197th Inf. Bde. in September. He graduated from Basic Combat Training at Ft. Jackson, S.C. in February of this year.

ROD AND GUN CLUB Notes

BY BILL KLOES

There were two new leaders in the Rod and Gun Club Big Deer Contest this week. Both deer were taken last weekend. SFC (ret.) William Malberg has registered the heaviest deer. His deer tipped the Rod and Gun Club scales at 174-pounds. Sgt. (ret.) Ernest R. Johnson scales at 171-pounds. Sgt. (ret.) Ernest R. Johnson brought in a deer with nine countable antlers to take over the lead in the antler contest. Neither of these deer come up to the ten pointer weighing 170-pounds taken by a hunter not eligible for the contest but at the rate deer are being harvested there is a good chance that someone will top both weight and antler count before the season is over.

As of last Monday 224 deer had been registered at the Fish and Game Unit Check Point located in Building 5883, Harmony Church. Of course by now most of the deer have found that the season is open and will not be near as easy to approach.

SFC (ret.) Gabriel Ring leads the catfish category in the November fishing derby. He registered a fish from Twilight Pond that weighed in at 120.75-pounds, 12-ounces. Sp4 Louis Fasan of the 208th Aviation Company has the largest bass for the month with a four-pound, two-ounce catch from Kings Pond. No one has registered a bream during the month of November.

The Rod and Gun Club has three Remington Model 1100 automatic shotguns for three lucky hunters at the end of the current deer season. One will be awarded to the member who registers the heaviest deer, a second gun will go to the member who registers the deer with the most number of antler points. The winner of the third gun will be one of the members who registers a deer in the contest but does not win one of the other guns.

The club fishing derby is held each month of the year. Prizes are awarded to fishermen registering the heaviest bass, catfish or bream during the month.

You can get additional information concerning these contests by calling 545-6023 or come out to the club located on First Division Road in the Harmony Church Area.

According to the Provost Marshal Office more hunters are receiving delinquency reports than during any previous year.

The most common violation is hunting in a closed area. This is a serious offense in more ways than one. Areas are closed primarily because of training or some condition that makes the area unsafe to hunt. According to the game warden, the usual excuse is that the hunter became lost. A poor excuse from any hunter but completely unacceptable from a hunter with a military background. Areas are usually defined by some recognizable terrain feature. Basic map training of the type given in basic combat training is all that is needed to recognize these map features on the ground.

I think in many cases the hunter didn't bother to check a range map at all before going out. These maps are located at the Rod and Gun Club, Provost Marshal Office and outside the Range Control Office. They are posted by 1200 and indicate those areas open for fishing during the next 24 hours. Some people take these maps for granted, assuming that if an area is open today it will also be open the next day. That's not right. The opened and closed areas change each day. Army Reserve and National Guard units use ranges on post for live firing practice during the entire year. They usually train on weekends so the areas open one weekend may be an impact area the next weekend.

There are a few areas that are always clear. These are: Russ, Twilight, King, Weems, Clear Creek, Hedley and Marks Ponds, the banks of Upatoi Creek from the Old Cussetta Road to the Chattahoochee River and the Chattahoochee River shore line. Fishermen can fish in these areas at anytime.

Hunters going into other areas without a map check are just asking for trouble. I don't imagine there is too much difference between taking "friendly" and "enemy" fire and this could happen.

Other regulations frequently violated are leaving vehicles unlocked, improper headgear and license discrepancies.

Copies of the Post Hunting and Fishing Regulations are available at the Rod and Gun Club. Get copies and study them. You'll feel more at ease in the field if you know you are within the law. Having another hunter with you will make you feel even more at ease.

More than 100 Participate in 'Run for Fun' Nov. 9

More than 100 men and women, boys and girls ran for fun Nov. 9, Thursday, on Stewart Field.

Capt. Greg Camp, who is taking Infantry Officers Advanced Course took high honors by placing first overall in the 2 mile and 5 mile men's open. Capt. Camp's time for the 2 mile run was 10:25 and his time for the 5 mile was 29:38.

The running McNeely family who live at 17 Lenox Dr. and go to school at Benning Hills Elementary were well represented with Stephen McNeely, 12 years old, placing overall second in the 5 mile run with a time of 30:41. His brother Phillip, 11 years old, placed 16th overall in the 5 mile run with a time of 36:40, while their sister Julie, age 10, placed second in the women's one mile run with a time of 6:52.

Besides the three McNeely's running in this event there are also two other brothers who run track at high school.

"I ran in the first run for fun event," said Steve, "but I didn't do so good so I decided to run this time and really try to win."

Col. Willard Latham, deputy post commander and his wife Myra both participated. Col. Latham ran the five mile race in a time of 40:49 and his wife ran the women's 1 mile race in 8:30.

Post CSM John F. LaVoie won the senior class two mile race (41 years old and up) with a time of 14:25 and ran the 5 mile race in the time of 43:42.

The post information officer, Maj. Patrick F. Cannon won the 30-35 age class 2 mile race with a time of 12:42 and ran the 5 mile race in the time of 39:25.

Maj. William Schuler of Headquarters USAIC finished only one second behind the winner in the 30-35 age class for the two-mile run.

SP5 Debbie Kruse of the Fort Benning Orienteering Team won the women's 1 mile race in a time of 6:36.

The OCS 1-52 Company were well represented with several participants in the 5 mile relay.

The 52d OC Co. No. 1 with candidates Robert Kenney, Bill Paxton, Ron Urban and Steve Hearston won first place in the 5 mile relay with a time of 21:44.

Ed. H. H. Jean, French L.N.O.

Special recognition was given to Earl Jones, a civilian who placed first in the 41 and older age group with a time of 11:07 but was not eligible for an award.

Trophies and medals were awarded to the top contestants. Everyone who completed a race received a certificate of completion.

Finishing here in first running to win "Run for Fun" I made sense to that little Robert, 11, of the Fort Benning High School team. He was there for Phillip McNeely, age 10, of 17 Lenox Dr. Columbus. Julie finished second in the 1 mile women's event. (Photo by Stan Gumble)

Youth Bowl

Late interception by All-Stars decisive

By MSgt. A. J. Book

In the first edition of the Youth Bowl the Doughboy League players of the Youth Activities football program ended their season with an exciting contest between the Doughboy All-Stars and the league champion Cardinals. The All-Stars defeated the Cardinals by a 20-6 margin.

For the opening coin toss, both teams met in the center of the field. The All-Stars won the toss, elected to receive and the game was underway.

After an exchange of fumbles early in the first quarter the All-Stars mounted a drive as their offensive linemen, Carlton Scott, Chris Grace, Keith Book, Greg Boles and Billy Avant, opened the holes for All-Star backs Kevin Grice, Terry Norris and Bobby Hill as they drove the ball down into scoring position.

The Cardinals made a valiant stand when the All-Stars had the ball first and goal to go on the 5 yard line and in 3 plays had only moved the ball to the 1 yard line. Finally on fourth down All-Star linemen John Brown, Ray Rushing and Steve Moeller moved the Cardinals back and All-Star quarterback Billy Skinner slipped into the end zone for the first score of the game. The try for the extra point was not good, and the All-Stars led 6-0.

Throughout the second and third quarters the teams played a defensive standoff. All-Star defensive linemen Doug Sagul, Jim Matheson, Ben Dishman, Allen Peters and Pete Hautt and linebackers Greg Basterling, Zach Ruckner, Kelly Scroggins, David McMillen, and Bobby Nickboe and safeties Dwight Burnett, Marc Ingram and Jack Richardson kept the Cardinals from mounting any kind of a sustained drive.

At the same time the Cardinal defense was also containing the All-Star offense as Cardinal stalwarts Tim Booth, Arthur Butts, Dan Hartcock, John Mills, John Whaley and Kellis Nobles helped keep the All-Stars off the scoreboard until the fourth quarter.

In the first few minutes of the final quarter the All-Stars moved the ball to the Cardinal 20 yard line and then excellent blocking. Again the try for the extra points was not good and it was the All-Stars ahead 12-0.

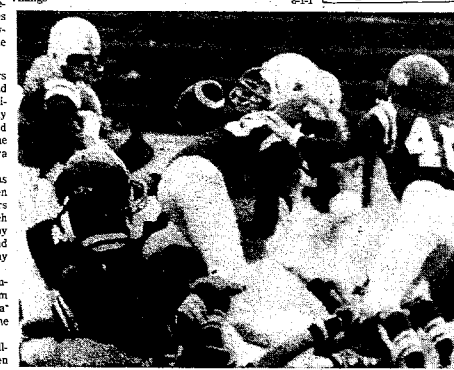

After receiving the kickoff following the All-Star TD the quick striking Cardinals scored on a beautifully executed pass play from quarterback Bob Jenk to Jonathan Wilson. Their try for the extra points was not good and the score near the half way point of the fourth quarter had become a close 12-6.

The remaining few minutes of the game became a defensive struggle. With a little over one minute left in the game the Cardinals again took to the air in an attempt to score a quick TD. But with 37 seconds left in the game All-Star Kevin Grice intercepted a pass and raced 50 yards for the final All-Star touchdown. This time the All-Stars converted the try for the extra points with Grice adding the final 2 points as the clock ran out.

That was the game — All-Stars 20, Cardinals 6.

"Meeting people is my thing."

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

"I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

"One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

"I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that."

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things. Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

BE A COUGAR BOOSTER

4 games tip-off Stn. Bde. b-ball

Four games heralded the start of the Student Brigade basketball season Monday night, Nov. 13.

The TSB division is divided into two leagues, the Red League and the Blue League.

In Red League action at the TSB gym the 2nd Bn. Cadre just nipped the Hq. 6th Bn. 32-30, and the 4th Bn. Cadre squeaked by the 5th Bn. Cadre, also by the score of 32-30.

In Red League play at the Main Post Gym the 11th Co. rolled over the 3rd Ranger Co. 40-28, and the Parachute Rigger Co. outlasted HHC, TSB 36-16.

There are a total of seven teams in each league, and each team has 12 games scheduled. The season is slated to end Jan. 22. The two leagues will send their league championship teams to the Post playoffs to determine the Fort Benning Champions. Post playoffs will run from Feb. 2 to Feb. 16. Teams from the entire post will compete.

Dear Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I add a word to your warning in regard to the unfortunate things that can befall children because an adult was careless or thoughtless? Our old car didn't have seat belts. Our three-year-old was in front with me. I turned my head to look to my left and in a second's time she had her head under the door handle, the car swerved, the door opened and she went. Through some miracle she wasn't hurt.

Two weeks later we had a new car—switch seat belts. My older boy was in the back seat. I neglected to make sure his belt was fastened before we started. A few minutes later we were in heavy traffic, the door flew open and the child fell out. Another miracle. He didn't get a scratch.

From now on we don't turn the key in the ignition until all doors are locked and the seatbelts are fastened. I was lucky twice and I'm not going to take another chance.—MRS. H.K.B.

DEAR MRS. H.K.B.: Thank you for saying something that needs to be said again and again. I can't tell you the number of times I've seen an adult driving with a child on his lap—or a youngster standing up in the front seat—or kids fighting in the back seat. I'm tempted to roll down my window and shout, "Don't you care what happens to your children?"

(Reprinted with permission from Ann Landers, Publishers-Hall Syndicate, The Columbus Enquirer.)

Ist Inf. Div. elects officers

The Society of the First Infantry Division held their election of officers recently.

The new officers are: President, Captain Edward A. Benasman; Vice-president, CSM (ret.) James E. Bell; Secretary, Capt. Phillip F. Kearns; and Treasurer, MSgt. James Lewis.

One of the major pieces of business passed at the meeting was to change the meetings from semi-monthly to bi-monthly (every other month). The next meeting is now scheduled for Jan. 10, 1973.

The Society is looking for former members of the Big Red One, people who served with the division during peace or war.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Infantry Chorus under the direction of Ist Lt. John Geiss.

Any former member of the Big Red One is invited to attend the Jan. 10 meeting.

REFERRAL designed to help military retirees

REFERRAL, a program designed to enhance the employment opportunities of military personnel who retire from the Armed Forces, has registered more than 20,000 service members and 8,000 job vacancies since its beginning more than year ago.

A Department of Defense program REFERRAL uses counseling and voluntary registration of retiring military personnel in a computerized man-job matching system.

Information such as availability dates, geographical areas, job preferences, job openings, skills, experiences, wage ranges and education are fed into a computer for a "man-job match."

After the match the computer facility provides abbreviated resumes to prospective employers. An employer can then contact the retiree for direct negotiations that may lead to employment immediately upon the service member's retirement.

Any active-duty member of the Armed Forces is eligible for voluntary participation in REFERRAL provide he or she:

— Has completed, or is within six months of completing, the required length of service established to retired military pay.

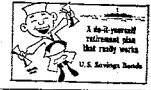

— Is declared eligible for disability retirement.

— Is declared a disability separate with ten or more years active service.

— Declares intent to retire.

— Registers with REFERRAL while still on active duty.

Service men and women interested in the REFERRAL program can obtain further information from their personnel offices.

In the Motel/Hotel field, you can make more than a good living . . .

You can make a great life, too!

Imagine a management career that lets you work and live year-round in a fashionable resort . . . in a luxury motel . . . or in a quaint inn or quiet motor hotel in your favorite part of the country! That offers you an excellent salary plus fringe benefits! Even the chance to have your own business!

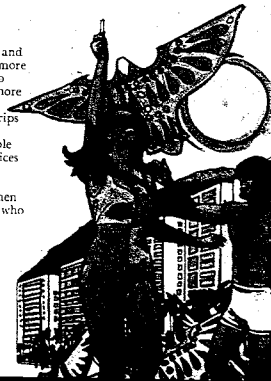

Hard to believe, yet thousands of such jobs are opening up every year—in the field of Motel/Hotel Management.

A field of mushrooming opportunities

Our society is growing more and more affluent. People are taking more vacations . . . travelling further to more exotic places . . . enjoying more evenings in glamorous clubs and luxurious restaurants. Business trips and conventions are creating an increasing demand for comfortable motel and hotel rooms, food services and banquet facilities. All this is opening up thousands of new executive job opportunities for men and women who like people and who enjoy being of service to them.

A new career or a new life can be yours. Best of all, these career opportunities are open to men and women of all ages—to the young person looking for a non-routine job with plenty of advancement potential . . . to the mature person seeking a new life style in a better location . . . to the couple wanting to share a relaxed (or adventuresome) way of life with each other.

And for those who look forward to owning their own businesses, there are few more interesting fields to choose from than Motel Management.

Are you a dreamer or a do-er?

The Motel/Hotel industry needs people now . . . people who do more than just dream about the great life they would lead managing glamorous motels and jet-set resorts . . . people who are willing to act in order to make those dreams come true. That is why the Educational Institute of the American Hotel/Motel Association has joined with ICS—world pioneer in home-study education—to offer a special career-training program in Motel/Hotel Management. This program is open to ambitious, outgoing men and women, ages 18 and over, who sincerely want to prepare now for the career of a lifetime.

makes use of ICS' proven method of supervised home study: you learn at home, at your own pace, in your spare time. You don't lose an hour's time from your regular job.

Two cannoneers lend a helping hand to victims

When two cannoneers from the 2d Bn., 10th Arty., 197th Inf. Bde. left for home on a weekend pass Nov. 17, they had no plans for granting support for anyone while they were off duty.

S4 Steven Schuppener and PFC Henry Williams both of "B" Btry., 210th Arty., were en route to their hometowns in Huntsville, Ala., on a routine weekend pass, when a situation arose that caused them to assume their military roles as "support men."

About ten miles out of Alexander City, Ala., Schuppener, who was at the wheel of his car, noticed the car in front of him swerving to the left and right of the white line. The automobile in front of the Ft. Benning soldiers then ran off the road into a ditch, turned over several times and ended up on its roof.

Schuppener and Williams pulled off the road and ran out to see if they could be of any assistance. When they reached the overturned car, they found that its occupants, an elderly woman and four small children, were all pinned inside of the car, the woman being trapped under the steering wheel. Working swiftly and efficiently, the two artillerymen prised open the doors of the badly damaged automobile and had the unfortunate family out of the car in about fifteen minutes.

By this time, several more cars had stopped and were lending what assistance they could to the woman and her frightened children. Schuppener and Williams took this opportunity to assume their military roles as "support men."

"I really didn't want to get involved with any paper work or anything like that," commented Schuppener. "People were already starting to call us heroes and stuff like that," said Schuppener, "and I was more interested in getting home than standing around getting thanked a million times." According to Williams, "It really wasn't that big of a thing. All we did was see some fellow human beings in need of assistance, and we went to their aid."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT by Bill King

For Sunday night supper, bake cornbread in a ring pan and serve filled with a mixture of vegetables and creamed ham, turkey or beef.

Despite rumors to the contrary, vodka is usually distilled from wheat, rye or corn, but rarely from potatoes. The grates from a gas range, placed on a counter top or table, are ideal as cake racks in a pinch.

For a hearty soup, blend condensed tomato soup with a cup of peanut butter. Add one and a half soup cans of milk. Heat and serve with a green salad to three or four hungry lunchers.

The slant-sided Chinese wok, in which cooked foods can be perfectly stir-fried, is a long-time favorite of the long-time shortage of fuel in China.

When it comes to offensive words, you'll find there's no shortage of Drug expert gets patch

The drug education specialist in a person with the mission to keep soldiers away from drugs by keeping them informed on how deadly they can be. This person with the special mission will soon be wearing a special patch designed by SFC Earle G. Brigham, former Chief, U.S. Army Pacific Drug Orientation team, who is presently assigned to TSB's S-3 section.

The patch is an eye-catching combination of red, white and blue. The red takes the shape of a large pill, or barbiturate in the center of the patch. Barbiturates are sometimes referred to as "reds". Inside the red are three more symbols: a joint for Marijuana, a syringe for drug addiction, and a jug with three 'x's on it to symbolize alcohol.

Brigham hopes that the patch will be seen by someone that is having a problem with drugs, and that he or she will know that the person wearing the patch is someone who can be talked to, and who can be counted on to give factual information and advice to those who ask.

Brigham is currently working on TSB's Alcohol and Drug Abuse Control Program in an effort to help bring it to the individual unit level.

Do you think that there are sufficient educational opportunities at Fort Benning?

Advance education thru Army? Yes

E-7 Henry F. Truss
Headquarters TSB

There certainly is. You have Columbus College here and down town plus Project Transition which is very big on post. At other posts educational facilities are used much more extensively. Like the old saying goes, "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink."

Yes, you do have a lot of facilities and most personnel have a chance to further their education, but your job has a lot to do with what kind of an education you can get. If you're in the field you're not going to get the chances that a soldier that works an eight hour day gets.

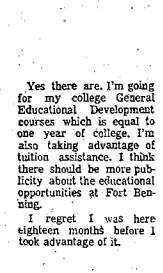

Capt. Marion McCoy
Co. D, Headquarters

Yes, definitely. If the person wants to further his education he can do it here at Fort Benning. They give you the opportunities to take in courses tests, they have a Columbus College representative on post, adequate libraries and educational assistance. These four reasons are enough to show people that there are sufficient opportunities for education here at Fort Benning. There should be some way to solve the problem with the soldier going on field problems and having to drop out.

Capt. Lawrence J. [Name obscured]
Unit

[Name obscured]

E-5 Norberto Falcon
3rd Ranger Co.

Yes there are. I'm going for my college General Educational Development courses which is equal to one year of college. I'm also taking advantage of tuition assistance. I think there should be more publicity about the educational opportunities at Fort Benning.

I regret I was here eighteen months before I took advantage of it.

Capt. Jimmie Rogers
11th Co. TSB

Yes. You have so many places you can get education at Ft. Benning or off post. Of all the posts I've been stationed, Fort Benning puts the most emphasis on furthering your education. There is a representative from Columbus College on post. You don't have to travel to a college because everything is here for your convenience.

Early identification is aid to rehabilitation

Alcohol is a mysterious substance — cunning, baffling, their lives and has a drastic effect on those with whom powerful and equally at home in any social, economic or they come in contact.

The progression of alcoholism can be arrested. Positioning the victim usually doesn't realize what is on his own. Early identification of the problem driver who is happening to him and powerful enough to completely alcoholic increases the chances of rehabilitation. Here are dominate the lives of victims, alcoholism is now recognized as the more common traits that indicate an individualized as the Nations' fourth most prevalent health problem. 1. Frequent hangovers.

2. Alcohol on the breath or frequent use of breath agent and provides a catalyst for social activities. For approximately nine million Americans, it is a drug that runs

1-58th scuba divers explore Florida underwater caves

More than 60 SCUBA divers have lost their lives in Florida's underwater caves is the last five years, and 1st Sgt. Fred A. Van Peski, Co. A, 1st Bn. (Mech), 88th Inf. (Infantry), 197th Inf. Bde., recently ventured to the "Sunshine State" to find out why.

Van Peski, an experienced and licensed diver who has given lessons to several men in his company, initiated the trip as a type of adventure training. Prior to departing he had a few ideas of his own as to what might be causing the deaths and he wanted to gather some information to test his hypothesis. The caves are basically limestone formations, filled with water and rock samples. They have become a popular spot for SCUBA diving because the water is very clear and at times many artifacts from Indian tribes and Spanish conquistadors can be found in them. The 1st Sgt. felt that possibly the carbon dioxide was bonding with the lime in the rocks, forming toxic gas in the water.

1st Sgt. Gary A. Reed, H. Co., 69th Armor, 197th Spt. Bn., 197th Inf. Bde., and 1st Sgt. Kent G. Vickers, also of H Co., 69th Armor, Young, PFC James Wheeler, and Pvt. Melvin Burr, all of A Co., 1st-35th Inf., 197th Inf. Bde., also participated in the exploration.

The group traveled to Bradford, Fla. on Oct. 6 to study the mineral deposits inside the springs, and collect water and rock samples. They have in the area another diver lost his life, just as mysteriously as the others. The Fort Benning divers also gathered samples in the area of the latest death.

Van Peski and his men employed the use of a rope to prevent becoming lost in the caves. However the 1st Sgt. from A Co. said that even with the ropes, he almost became lost on several occasions.

"It was so dark down there," he explained, "I don't see how anyone in their right mind could go down there. Once I dropped the rope and couldn't even see it lying right next to me."

Van Peski has been diving for 20 years, mostly in the oceans. He said he prefers salt water diving to fresh water because the water is generally cleaner and safer.

The Heisberg State team from Ohio were guests of the HHC 197th Inf. Bde. dining facility, while the Fort Valley team had their Thanksgiving dinner in the dining facility of Co. C, 1-28th Inf.

The highlight of the day was the arrival of two football teams — one from Fort Valley State College, and the other from THEN, Ohio. The football teams met each other in competition on Nov. 24th at the Alonzo Stag Bowl, held in Phenix City.

Survival to pleasure, man must keep on running to stay physically fit

By Don Kennedy

Running is an activity that man has indulged in since the beginning of time. In prehistoric time it was vital to time is spent maintaining equipment and less time is devoted to his survival. Man chased the smaller animals and killed voted to maintaining the soldiers physical condition. Pro them for food, clothing, and shelter. He used his speed grams such as "Run For Your Life" offers the individual and cases other men. As man surged into the age of push-but, during off-duty hours to maintain his physical fitness. RUNNING EQUIPMENT

Being comfortable while participating in any activity will make it more enjoyable. Running in fatigue pants and combat boots is not conducive to a relaxing and en- joyable run. Fatigue pants restrict leg movement and cause increased heat buildup which quickly depletes en- tions and heart attacks, he realized that running can help. Life" participants. With all of this running being done running. Running in boots increases the probability of foot

A sleeveless T-shirt, a pair of running shorts, and a good pair of running shoes can change your entire outlook on running. During cold weather loose sweat clothes may be substituted for the T-shirt and shorts to help retain body heat. A good pair of running shoes are necessary to reduce the possibility of foot injury. There are two types of running shoes, training and racing. Training shoes have thick cushion soles and offer better support for the arch. Racing shoes are very light and as a result have little cushion or arch support. Unless you plan on racing, you need only the training shoes.

VARIETY

Variety has always been effective in maintaining a positive outlook towards any activity. In running, by using a variety of training techniques and changes of scenery each run can offer something new and interesting. One of the more common forms of running is long slow distance (LSD). If, as an example, your best time in the PT test mile is 6:45, your LSD pace would be 7:30 to 8:30 per mile for several miles. To prevent boredom, LSD should be supplemented with some speed running at shorter distances with walking or jogging between repetitions. This "speed" work can be done anywhere, on a track, along roads and trails, on golf courses or in open fields.

Variation in training areas will also help you maintain a positive attitude towards running. It is monotonous to run on a track or roads on the same route every day. Therefore, select several different routes, some on residential streets, others on roads and trails, some hilly, some flat. Try not to run the same route more than once a week. Also whenever possible measure your different courses with an automobile odometer to determine how far you travel on each run.

Recently a new running sport that offers a variation in training technique and running area has appeared in the United States. The sport is Orienteering. It involves cross country running at a variety of paces through the countryside. The runner is also required to navigate his way through the countryside using a map and compass. With this added mental aspect to running, the individual soon forgets the distance he is running and the effort involved. Orienteering is just one more way to add variety and enjoyment to your runs.

See Running page 24

Relaxation hampered by joggers while doing their 'run thing'

Good form is overlooked by many of the new runners, joggers, or plodders. Daily one can observe these new runners doing their thing, whether it be three miles for "Run For Your Life" (RFYL) or just for the sake of exercise. While viewing them it is very evident that they are using many different forms and techniques. When participating in any other activity (or sport) one likes to be as proficient as possible. Therefore, the same should apply to running.

In discussion of these mechanics and techniques there are five important areas to be considered.

BODY POSTURE: This is one area that is greatly overlooked. Many runners believe that a slight forward body lean will be conducive to continuous forward momentum. A forward lean is more of a hindrance than an aid. The body (torso) should be as vertical as possible. By leaning forward the runner is using muscles that are not necessary for the actual movements involved in running. The lower back and upper leg muscles (hamstrings) are hampered. In reaction to the forward lean they contract slightly to support the upper body. By running with a vertical body these muscles will be relaxed.

BREATHING: The rate, rhythm and muscles used in breathing can aid in relaxation while running. The runner should breathe deeply at a comfortable rate, using the diaphragm muscle. By using short quick breaths one exchanges only residual air, (air in the upper windpipe). Oxygen that would later be used by the leg muscles, is not brought down deep into the lungs. By developing a rhythm of one breath for every 2-3 steps (this is largely governed by the pace you are running) the runner is able to slow down the rate and breathe more deeply. An oxygen debt will not build up as quickly, if one breathes more deeply, inhaled more oxygen.

STRIDE: In relation to the distance to be covered and the running pace, the stride is very important. As the distance increases, the stride should not be exaggerated. When overstriding (extending the legs farther than normal) you use unnecessary muscles and begin to tire very quickly. A very short choppy stride will bring the same results. By emphasizing either of the two extremes it is hard to develop good balance and rhythm necessary for relaxed running.

ARM CARRY: The position of the arms should be such that they move in a backwards and forwards motion. The forearm should be basically parallel to the ground during this movement and not rotated across the chest. The rate of movement is related to the distance being run and pace. A short quick run (sprints) will require considerable arm movement. Long distance runs require very little movement.

FOOT PLACEMENT: It may look good to be bouncing around on your toes as you run, but it is also very tiring. It takes years of running and considerable strength to do this. Running on your toes is not necessary, unless the running pace is at a rate of five minutes per mile or faster. It is much more comfortable to roll the foot. Come down lightly on the heel, roll forward, and push off with your toes. Do not run flat footed (slapping the foot hard on the running surface). This will quickly cause injuries to both the feet and legs. The running pace will govern whether or not you stay on your toes (or the ball of the foot), or you roll your foot. Adjust accordingly.

These five considerations for improved running will aid in developing a more relaxed and comfortable form. They are important suggestions, but each individual will have to adapt them to his own specific needs.

Running is an activity that can be as enjoyable as any other, if it is done in the correct manner.

Scouting camp-o-ree slated for Dec. 1-3

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. — Some 800 Boy Scouts from the Chattahoochee Council are expected to participate in the second annual camp-o-ree here December 1-3.

The camp-o-ree site is located on U.S. 27 just north of the Pine Mountain city limits at the BOA Kampground.

Activities scheduled for Saturday include competitions in cooking, pioneering, log sawing, fishing clinic, horsemanship, orienteering, and a five mile patrol hike. There will be scout dog and sky diving demonstrations presented by Fort Benning on Saturday also. Concluding the day's events, will be an impressive campfire program featuring an Indian dancing and live entertainment at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday's programs will be a worship service, a camp-o-ree forum and the closing ceremony. There will be competition for both patrol flags and troop giveaways during the three-day event. Patrol flags will be judged upon originality, workmanship, and clarity. The troop giveaways will be constructed at the assigned areas and will be selected according to their originality, proper loadings, knots and workmanship.

Chairman for this year's camp-o-ree is Lem Thomas of Columbus. "This is the only time during the year when all troops in the council have the opportunity to demonstrate their skills and earn new scoutcrafts at a total gathering," said Thomas.

MILL OUTLET FOR FAMOUS FIELDCREST PRODUCTS

Along the fem line

By Judy Jakabowski
The officers' wives of BBOD held their November luncheon Nov. 9, at the FROGGM Supper Club. For the non-time affair, round tables were graced with beautiful dried autumn arrangements. Mrs. Sanders A. Cortner introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, Mr. William South.

Approximately 20 ladies from DPT gathered at the home of Mrs. James E. Miller on Oct. 25 for their monthly coffee.

Along with assorted cakes and cookies, a Fall mood was set with hot coffee and hot mulled cider. A short business meeting concluded the coffee and the ladies were reminded to bring canned goods to the next coffee for the ACS Food Locker.

They say elephants never forget, well, neither should you when it comes to the Bee-Zaar. A stampedie is expected when the doors open at 10 a.m. Dec. 6.

There will be tables, tables, and more tables of beautifully hand-crafted items, not to mention baked goods and "white elephants." There will be a three-item limit at each table for the first hour.

"Door prize tickets are still available and may be purchased from Mrs. Jimmie D. Rogers, 120 Rainbow, 645-2807, or the day of the Bee-Zaar. Tickets are 25 cents each or $ for $1.

Bee-Zaar workers are asked to use the parking lot nearest the tennis court and to place an OWC Bee-Zaar worker sign in their windows.

See you there.
The next flea Market will be Dec. 2, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Only military personnel or their dependents may sell, but the public is invited to browse and buy.

Information on the Communicative Arts Committee was moved to Staff Group and three wives were present for their first luncheon. They were Mesdames Jacob B. Coch, Thomas L. Patterson and Mrs. Richard F. Stewart.

Mrs. Lawrence A. Redmond and Mrs. Frank S. Graham were also welcomed to Tactics Group by Mrs. Guy S. Meloy.

Ladies of the Fourth Platoon, IOAC 672 gathered at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Wiley on the evening of Nov. 2 for their monthly coffee. We were served an assortment of goodies prepared by Mrs. Wiley and her co-hostess, Mrs. William Aznow.

Mrs. MacIom Voss opened the coffee with the introduction of Mrs. William Ippok, our staff representative, who announced plans for a formal class dinner and dance to be held at the Officers' Club on Dec. 13 to celebrate the holiday season.

Next, came reports from the various committees regarding their progress in preparing for the class luncheon and fashion show to be held at Kivren on Nov. 30. We hope all will have as much fun attending as we have had preparing for it.

For the officers and wives of the Infantry Board, Oct. 28, at Lawson Field Club. Guests entered a decorated entrance way and were greeted by a gourd laughing hysterically. The sounds were heard in the background. Orange and black streamers hung from the ceiling, with skeletons, pumpkins and all the Halloween symbols enhancing the scene. CW3 George Spencer was the announcer for the costume judging, as all sorts of weird creatures paraded onto the stage. Winners of the costume show were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl Busdicker as Mr. and Mrs. Frankenstein; Mrs. Bill Sawczyn as Raggedy Ann; Capt. Leigh Fairbanks as The Falcon; and Col. and Mrs. Walter Meinen as Mincey and Minnie Mouse. Dunking for apples, a potato race and a string game were enjoyed by the guests. Col. Meinen welcomed Capt. and Mrs. Haynes to the group. Before departing, the guests enjoyed a dinner of Kentucky Fried Chicken and trimmings.

A cider party for the ladies of the Infantry Board was given by Mrs. Billy Arthur, Mrs. John Ensor and Mrs. Larry Mickel on Nov. 1, at the home of Mrs. Arthur. Hot mulled cider, pecan tassies, spice nuts, pumpkin bread, apricot squares, banana nut bread and butterfinger squares were served to the 26 ladies attending. Mrs. Walter Meinen conducted the business meeting. The December luncheon will be held Dec. 12.

Mrs. James Howell and Mrs. Bernard Toombs hosted the HEADQUARTERS, 1973 INFANTRY BRIGADE ladies at the November coffee in the Normandy Room, Main Officers' Club.

Upon entering the room, a decorative scene of guards, ornamental gourd, colorful Indian corn, and festive food gave the ladies the spirit of the approaching holiday season.

Women's News

Welcomed to the group were Mesdames Jim Johnson, Paul Teberl, Tonya, Phil Crawford and Bruce Blake. Farewells were extended to Mrs. John Moser, Mrs. Sam McKinney and Mrs. Ed Frederic. Special guests and former members of the Battalion, Mrs. Ina Sillman and Mrs. Carl Underhill, were greeted.

The Fifth Battalion held a Hall and Farewell party on Nov. 11, at the USAIG Recreation Area. The party was hosted by the 50th Co. and approximately 25 couples attended the casual affair. The food was prepared by the wives and consisted of various sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres and snacks. Lt. Col. Gordon

M. Hunt, Fifth Battalion Commander, welcomed Lt. and Mrs. John Loftus to the Battalion and presented them with a silver tray and also said farewell to Lt. John A. Tretry. Ranger Department Mrs. Jerry Barnhill hosted a coffee in her home on Lumpkin Road, Fort Benning, for the ladies of the Patroling Committee, Nov. 9. The evening coffee gave many of the ladies who work an opportunity to enjoy an evening out and to catch up on the latest news.

Mrs. Jerry Barnhill served the ladies Southern pecan pie, whipped cream, coffee pinwheels, cookies, sausage and punch. Following refreshments, Mrs. Frank Scott began the business meeting. She reminded the ladies of the many upcoming events including the OWC Bazaar and the Ranger Department Formal, Dec. 7. The December coffee will be hosted by Mrs. Roger Baurer, Dec. 14, at 10:00 a.m.

A brick and mortar day provided a perfect setting for the Columbus Heritage Tour which a group of ladies from the Ranger Department took Nov. 15. Although the group was small in number, the ladies spent an enjoyable day. Many historical landmarks and restored Southern mansions were viewed. Special points of interest in the itinerary included the Walker-Peters-Langdon House, considered to be the oldest remaining house in Columbus. The house is furnished with original ex-

Six awards presented in communications field

Colonel William J. Jones, Director of Communications-Electronics, USAIC, presented six awards at a ceremony held on Thursday, November 6, 1972.

Mrs. Hazel P. Carney was presented a letter for outstanding duty performance for personal attention rendered as Telephone Operator on Sunday evening, October 8, 1972. Mrs. Carney was advised of the need to contact a newly arrived serviceman in Vietnam so that he could be advised of his mother's sudden death. With a minimum of information, she successfully established contact with replacement authorities at Camp Alpha, Vietnam, who contacted the serviceman. Mrs. Carney willingly and cheerfully stayed on almost an hour beyond her normal tour of duty to insure that the action she had initiated would be successfully completed. She exercised great determination and ingenuity and demonstrated an outstanding degree of professional competence in this emergency situation.

Mrs. Eleanor F. Hunter was officially commended for Superior Job Achievement for the period September 1, 1971 through August 31, 1972 and received a cash award while serving as a General Communications Equipment Operator in the Telecommunications Center Branch.

The Kendrick High School PTA will be hosting a Christmas Bazaar Saturday, Dec. 2, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Various shops will be open throughout the school including a Flower Shop, White Elephant Sales, Handicraft Shop, Country

STORK CLUB

Mrs. Willie M. Elmore was officially commended for High Quality Performance of duties during the period September 17, 1971 through September 19, 1972 and awarded a Quality Step Increase while serving as Secretary (Stenography), Directorate of Communications-Electronics.

Mrs. Sandra G. Babb was officially commended for High Quality Performance of Duties for the period September 4, 1971 through September 3, 1972 and was awarded an Outstanding Rating while serving as a Clerk (Typing), Administration and Management Office, Directorate of Communications-Electronics.

Mr. William M. Froeman was officially commended for High Quality Performance of Duties for the period August 6, 1972 and was awarded an Outstanding Rating while serving as Telephone Maintenance Branch, Communications Systems Division, Directorate of Communications-Electronics.

Sergeant Larry W. Little was presented the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service while serving with Headquarters, United States Army Strategic Communications Command Pacific, USARPAC Operations Battalion, Okinawa, for the period December 16, 1968 through June 15, 1972.

Boss of Year named for local ABWA

The sixth annual Chattanooga Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Boss Night Banquet was held at the Ralston Hotel, Nov. 17.

The highlight of this affair was the naming of the "Boss of the Year" for 1972. Mrs. John C. Royer, Chief, Property Control Branch, Supply Division, USAIC, Fort Benning, was presented by Mr. O. B. Burnham (1971 "Boss of the Year") to Mr. John C. Royer, Chief, Property Control Branch, Supply Division, USAIC, Fort Benning, as the winner of the award.

The winning letter was submitted by his secretary, Mrs. Gladys L. Davis.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Jean C. Westbrook, who gave an outline of her duties as secretary to Chief George D. Lamb, Columbus Fire Department.

Mrs. Joseph Spano was the mistress of ceremony.

'Telling it like it is' part of Father Gudz's theory

Something exciting is happening at the TIC Chapel Annex. Every Thursday evening, a group of enthusiastic and interested adults are coming together to learn more about their faith. Father Gudz, Main Post Catholic Chapel, who is presenting this informal lecture series finds their response very gratifying.

Father Gudz takes a sincere approach to the basic truths of the Church, backed by intelligent research, and does not hesitate to "tell it like it is."

The theme of his current series is "The Church in Today, Same but Different." This covers many aspects of the Church's doctrine that Catholics today find of particular interest.

On Thursday, December 7th, he will conclude this series to discuss with a continuation of a discussion on the Christian conscience, going into specific areas such as Birth Control and Abortion, topics which are of the utmost importance to the Catholic people today.

CFC over the top by $43,000

The Combined Federal Campaign for 1972 closed its books at Fort Benning this week and tabulated results show the post was $43,000 over its goal.

Drive officials reported Tuesday that a total of $188,395 had been received in cash and pledges through payroll deductions. Thirty-one major units and activities were involved in the campaign.

Fort Benning's contributions, added to those still being collected from federal government employees in Columbus and Phenix City, will be distributed comprising the local United Givers, the National Health Agencies and the International Service Agencies.

Although a complete tabulation, including those contributions designated for specific agencies, was not available at press time, campaign officials estimated that approximately $152,000 would go to the United Givers Fund, $10,000 to the International Service Agencies and the remainder to the National Health Agencies. Officials pointed out that these are estimates only since all distributions are subject to final audit by the agencies concerned.

Approximately $40,000 of the funds are programmed by United Givers for release to the Fort Benning Community Activities Association for youth by Youth Activities, the Dental Health Program and the Army Community Service.

An analysis of the tabulated results of the campaign shows that nearly all of the 31 units organized for the drive exceeded their assigned goals or fair shares of the total goal of $145,000. These activities are being recognized through official channels for their effectiveness in organizing and conducting this year's campaign.

Contributions were made by military and appropriated and unappropriated fund personnel, the various concessions operating under the Army and Air Force Exchange Service, private associations located at Fort Benning, and retired personnel located in the area but not associated with local firms.

One ROTC student taking his ranger training as part of his summer training course certainly appreciates the competence of the medical support provided them by the 34th Medical Battalion, Fort Benning, Georgia.

On the morning of June 17, shortly after the students completed the physical training (PT) program, a student collapsed. Sp6 Ronnie M. Miller, 2nd Evac Hosp. medic, immediately recognized the symptoms of heat stroke. He administered mouth to mouth resuscitation, cardiac massage, and on the way to the hospital inserted an airway tube. Upon arrival to the hospital he assisted the emergency room personnel pack the man in ice.

The immediate and knowledgeable actions of this medic saved the ranger student's life and prevented brain damage which is also a possibility in these cases. The Ranger Control Committee saw fit to recognize Sp6 Miller for his actions. Therefore he was awarded the 3rd Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Medal.

Lewis and his wife Ruth, a teacher in Muscogee School District in Georgia, reside at 466 Dava Ct., Columbus, Ga.

TSB
Capt. Robert C. Perry of Buffalo, N. Y., has been named distinguished honor graduate of Infantry Officer Advanced Course S-72, 12th Co. 1st Bn., TSB, which graduated Nov. 22 at Marshall Auditorium, Infantry Hall.

1st Gen. Harris W. Hollis, Chief of Officer Reserve Components, Department of the Army, delivered the commencement address to the 202 students.

Capt. Perry finished the nine-month IOAC course with a score of 95.15 out of a possible 100. He is a graduate of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. He is a business administration degree holder and received his commission through the ROTC program at the university.

Capt. Perry is presently assigned to the U. S. Army Sergeant Major Academy, Ft. Bliss, Texas.

2nd Lt. Paul T. Gillingstead of Columbus, Ohio was named distinguished honor graduate of Infantry Officer Basic Course 6-73, 2nd Co., 2nd Bn., TSB, which graduated Nov. 21 at Marshall Auditorium, Infantry Hall.

HEALTH SCHOLARSHIPS

A new Army Health Professions Scholarship Program is open to all students or potential students of medicine, osteopathy, dentistry, veterinary medicine or medical allied sciences.

A student selected for participation will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve. While in school, he will remain on inactive status receiving a $400.00 per month plus tuition and other academic expenses. The student will be paid a second lieutenant's salary for 45 days per year — his pay totaling about $500 annually.

An applicant must not be over 28 years old, meet other requirements for an officers commission and be sincerely motivated toward military service in his profession. Inquiries should be sent to: The Surgeon General, DASC-FTP-D, Attention: Maj. Vance, Washington, D.C. 20314.

MEDICAL RECORDS

Medical records of an adult will not be released to anyone other than to whom they pertain, unless a signed authorization for release of medical information is presented to the medical treatment facility. The signature of the patient must be authenticated by a Notary Public or personnel of the Registrar's Division, MAH. It is suggested that dependent wives go to the Records Room, Bldg. 396 to sign for their own records as well as for their minor children, for delivery to the next military facility or between clinics.

SAM MAIL

A new law will make mailing of parcels easier for troops. The legislation, which became effective early in October, increases the size and weight of parcels to be mailed as Space Available Mail (SAM). The law provides that parcels up to 15 lbs. may be sent through civil post offices by SAM. The bigger break comes for those who use Armed Forces postal facilities where parcels up to 70 lbs. and not exceeding 100 inches in length end girth combined are eligible for SAM.

GOOD DUTY

The Army is looking for personnel for assignments to the Army Reserve, National Guard and ROTC Instructor Groups. MOSS needed are in the Combat Arms career fields for instructors and advisors and 71H40 (E6-E7); 76Y40 (E6-E7); 71L40 (E6-E7); 71H20 (E4-E5); 71C20 (E4); 71B30 (E-E5); and 71L20 (E4-E5). Vacancies exist in all Army areas for staff sergeants and specialist five. But you have to request the assignment. Check with your unit personnel officer for assistance.

TRANSFERS

DA is still looking for majors and senior captains who wish to branch transfer to AG, Finance, MI, Quartermaster, and Signal. Officers (other than EA) may apply for transfers to one or more of these branches directly to the chief of the present career branch at DA. The liberalization policy is a one-time exception to governing regs. This program and exceptions to normal procedures is scheduled to end 31 December. More details are in DA Msg DAPO-OPD-PA dated 131646 Oct. 72.

USAREUR TOURS

Looking for a tour in Europe? DA has sent a message to the field announcing a program to attract enlisted volunteers to USAREUR to fill anticipated shortages there in early 1973. So tell your friends who are thinking of joining the MVA to check into this deal.

GOING HUNTING

Any individual interested in hunting on a 600 acre tract of land in the vicinity of Cusseta, Ga., may obtain free passes from Herman Dubbs, commander of American Legion Post 263 in Cusseta.

VA BOOST

There's boosts now in effect for qualified vets going to school full time. Single student VA allowance is now $200... married vet $261... married with one child $268 and $18 for each additional child. Part time study draws scaled allowances. Check with your VA office for more details.

Red Cross Volunteers cheer up MAH patients

What does a hospital stay mean to you? Long hours of bed rest, nothing to do? Boring days broken by an occasional visit from a friend? This is not so at Martin Army Hospital thanks to a dedicated Red Cross recreation staff and volunteers. The Red Cross recreation volunteers have an important and varied job at Martin Army Hospital. Working closely with the recreation staff, they have the responsibility of making the patient's hospital stay a little more pleasant.

Recently, the Red Cross Recreation Department held a workshop at Martin Army Hospital to train two new volunteers, Mrs. William R. Barker and Mrs. Stanley A. Lee. The purpose of the workshop training was to acquaint these new workers with the Recreation Department's function and purpose at Martin Army Hospital.

Miss Edith Ott, Red Cross Recreation Supervisor, welcomed the new volunteers and introduced Miss Liz Tyson, Red Cross Recreation Worker and Mrs. Joseph Jakubowski, Red Cross Recreation Volunteer Chairman.

Miss Ott outlined the Recreation Department's program and the responsibilities of the volunteers. The volunteers work in the hospital wards with the patients. They supply cards and games and organize the patients for group activities. Miss Ott stated that, "In some wards, such as orthopedics, patients may have a long hospital stay and be eager to participate in recreational activities. In other wards the patients may not be active in group games but may appreciate individual attention, such as playing cards or checkers."

The recreation volunteers also have other responsibilities. They may welcome and escort civic groups who come to sponsor events for the patients. The volunteers welcome the group, instructs the group members on hospital policies, guides them to the selected wards and assists them in carrying out their activities. Often the volunteer suggests and supplies games for them to use in entertaining the patients.

Another important responsibility of a recreation volunteer is escorting patients to functions outside the hospital. The volunteer must ascertain that all patients going to any outside activity have their doctor's permission. Such activities may be attending sports events, plays, or even seeing a Miss Columbus pageant.

The Red Cross Recreation Department shows a movie each week on the wards and in the recreation hall of the hospital. The volunteers help by popping corn and making the evening seem like a "night out at the movies."

Of course, the primary responsibility of a recreation volunteer is to provide enjoyable activities in which the patients can participate. Miss Ott instructed the volunteer to train on different group activities for the patients. She said, "The purpose of group recreation is to have patients get acquainted with each other and to have fun. Group competition is an excellent way to have a good time." To aid the volunteers in organizing group activities for the patients, the Recreation Department keeps a file of party props and games.

Miss Tyson led the trainees on a tour of the Red Cross area of the hospital. She pointed out the vast number of recreational supplies available to the Martin Army Hospital patients. Recreation party games, cards, art supplies, guitars and record players are furnished.

Mrs. Jakubowski informed the new volunteers of their specific responsibilities. She said, "I want to stress the importance of dependability, as the patients look to the Red Cross Volunteer to brighten their hospital stay."

To be a patient in any hospital is not a pleasant experience, but it is comforting to know that there is a group of dedicated Red Cross Volunteers at Martin Army Hospital trying to make the patients' stay more enjoyable.

Hunting with dogs

Injury Center hunting regulations (the 1972) have been amended to permit hunting with dogs other than pointers and retrievers on the Alabama portion of the reservation.

This easing of the regulation pertains only to the Alabama portion of the reservation. Pointing and retrieving dogs are the only type that may be used on the Georgia side of the reservation.

Running deer with dogs or shooting at deer being pursued by dogs is prohibited on the entire Fort Benning Reservation. Call the Post Fish and Game Unit, 545-6120 for additional information.

Soldier Show

Third U.S. Army Soldier Show to be presented at Fort Benning

The current musical production "A Celebration" will be presented on the 9th and 10th of December at 7:30 p.m. in Marshall Auditorium in Infantry Hall.

The cast and crew is composed of enlisted men and women from the Third United States Army area.

Featured performers from Fort Benning are Sp4 Lavonne Johnson who sings "Bless the Beasts and the Children," "Goodbye to Love," and "If I Were Your Woman," and SP4 William Holcomb performs "Garden Party," "Alone Again, Naturally," and "The City of New Orleans."

After each performance of "A Celebration" there will be auditions for any enlisted personnel who would be interested in serving with the soldier show unit.

Anyone who has seen the past performances of The Third United States Army Soldier Show here at Fort Benning will agree that the staging, choreography, and quality of the performance is to be hailed as a tightly-paced, exciting and purely entertaining program for the entire family.

Remember that anyone in the Columbus, Phenix City and Fort Benning areas is invited to attend. Tickets are available at all Special Services Facilities and in front of the Commissary and PX on Main Post. Those interested in auditioning for the Soldier Show in the line of performer, musician, technician, costume construction and administrative work can contact Mr. Roy Lohrer, Entertainment Director at 545-2833 or 545-9097.

"A Celebration" stars enlisted personnel from the Third U.S. Army area, such as Sp4 Lavonne Johnson, who is from Fort Benning, and, from left, PFC Henry Williams from Ft. Black Rage

Bayonet reviews version 'why do they act that way'

Professors William Grier and Price Cobbs can't quite make up their minds which problem they want to discuss in "Why Do They Act That Way?" They seem torn between warning white America of the consequences of ignoring their injustices to blacks, which problem they affirm their identity after 300 years of exploitation. Most of the book is devoted to the hope that "society will keep on changing for as long as this 'troublesome' tenth of the population feels a change is needed." Grier and Cobbs are ex-than the rhetoric of violence. What they say to whites is: "Imagine you were the ones who lived through slavery because you would be where blacks are today. They point out the principles of human behavior apply to all men—it is only the experiences of black people in this country that are unique." To the blacks they offer the hope that "society will keep on changing for as long as this 'troublesome' tenth of the population feels a change is needed." Grier and Cobbs are explained, stating that the real hope for blacks to build a relevant beautiful life style is to build a relevant beautiful self. Throughout their book they describe the barriers that make this relevant beautiful self. For too long survival for blacks has meant degradation, pain and self denial. Too often laws were designed to protect only the whites. And too many Americans find truth in the rhyme: "If you're white, you're right. If you're brown, hang around."

All of these prejudices have produced generations of blacks whose wants have been molded by white standards, whose families have been disintegrated and whose African heritage has all but been obliterated. To better understand "why they act that way," Grier and Cobbs want you to ask yourself the question, "If slaves were ever going to be freed, what was the point of making out they were less than human?"

Brubeck concert coming to University

Two Generations of Brubeck will be presented Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 p.m., in Auburn University's Memorial Coliseum.

It is the second offering in the 1972-73 Concert Series, sponsored by the Performing Arts Committee. There is no charge nor admission.

Two Generations of Brubeck means just that. Appearing with the renowned Dave Brubeck Trio, is the Darius Brubeck Ensemble. Darius, 25, is the oldest of Dave's six children. And 17-year-old Danny Brubeck is featured on the drums.

Dave Brubeck, pianist, became established in the early 1950s as one of the most sought after concert artists both in the United States and around the world. His success with his famous jazz group and his many innovations combining European classical music forms with jazz made him one of the most prolific artists in American music.

In the spring of 1972, Brubeck returned to the concert field after four years of sporadic touring, while concentrating his efforts to write three major serious works.

Two Generations of Brubeck was a sellout concert in New York's Carnegie

Hall in March of 1972. The tandem presentation has since played many major cities, college concert halls and summer festivals.

The Darius Brubeck Ensemble presents a combination of rock, classical, traditional and free jazz, as well as Eastern music. Darius is featured on the piano as well as guitar and viola—foreground of the sitar.

Two Generations of Brubeck with Dave Brubeck and his two sons, crosses over from Dave's type of jazz to modern jazz and rock.

Time Magazine in its Sept. 11 issue, wrote, "...no 'gap' is visible or audible. The Brubecks are in fact one of the best jazz music shows on the road. Their program is essentially a series of casual encounters, each in which each Brubeck has his moment alone in the spotlight, then mixes it up with the others."

The Concert Series will continue Feb. 8, with the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Amerigo Marino. "Thunder," starring William Windom, will be presented Feb. 22, and the series will conclude with Carlos Montoya, April 12.

Christmas season special to Westville

The Christmas Season is a very special time at Westville, the village where it is always 1850, located on the outskirts of Lumpkin, Georgia.

Already, candles are being dipped and molded for lighting the Westville buildings and bright yarn dolls are being made to decorate the Christmas trees.

Later, fruit, native greens, and berries will be brought to the various buildings of the village. 10 used in wreaths and garlands. Gingerbread men will be made and popcorn strung.

As the day of the Annual Yule Log Ceremony draws near, activities become more frenzied; for wassail and yule log cake must be prepared to be served to the visitors.

The Lighting of the Yule Log and the Hanging of the Greens, a charming and delightful ceremony combining both holiday and holy day, will take place at Westville at 4 p.m. on Saturday, December 9. Activities begin with an exciting yule log hunt by costumed children. Then, the greens are hung, the yule log is lit, and lastly, wassail and yule log cake are served to the visitors.

Visitors are urged to arrive early to watch the craftsmen at work and tour the various Christmas decorations for Christmas in the 1850 manner. The village will be open, as usual, from 10

Auburn Univ. Dance Council to perform holiday ballets

The Auburn University Dance Council will add to the festivities of the holiday season with its performance of "Season's Greetings in Dance" in the Union Ballroom on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Twenty-four dancers will combine their talents to dance the "Pastorale" and "Christmas Story" from Handel's "Messiah," an original ballet, "The Gift of the Magi," and series of short "Vignettes" based on Christmas themes.

"The Gift of the Magi" will be danced in four scenes. The dancers will portray the story of a young couple who, finding themselves without money with which to buy each other a Christmas gift, sell their most prized possession in order to purchase a gift for the other.

In addition to the Auburn campus presentation, the Dance Council will give the same performance at Southern Union in Wadley Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m. A portion of the Messiah will be presented at the offertory at Dunstan Student Chapel on Dec. 8 at 11 a.m.

Dancers include Lisa Brigue of Decatur as Delia; Eddie Ramsey of Chatsworth, Ga., as Jim; Eric Garret of Huntsville as Mm. Scroline; Sue Dicker of Decatur as Mrs. Cooper; consultant of Della's, Lohren Eshney of Flat Rock, N. C., as Mr. Cooper; Merle Egan of Birmingham as Lucille; Mm. Scroline's assistant; Tom Sizemore of Auburn as the clerk; Steve Carter of Winslow, Ill., as the jeweler; Marilyn Matthews of Montgomery and Eleanor Harris of Mobile as Christmas shoppers; and Ingrid Meeks of Montgomery and Ginny Arnold of Auburn as maidservants.

A highlight of the performance will be the dance portrayal of the Christmas portion of the "Messiah." Although this choral work is frequently performed in the Auburn community, this will be the first time it has been presented in dance. Dancers will be Ken Wilkerson of Birmingham, Steve Carter of Winslow, Ill., Jules Davis of Opp, Anna Harris of Ashland, Michele Meloy, Carol Worley of Phenix City, Ingrid Meeks of Montgomery and Karen Rife of Montgomery.

"Vignettes" will include a series of short dances based on less serious Christmas themes: "Christmas Turkey," "Fire Crackers," "Surprise Catch," and "Christmas Songs."

Costumes for the

"Magi" and "Messiah" were designed by Pattie Gerringer of Jacksonville, Fla., and constructed by Debbie Stewart of Birmingham with the assistance of Jacqueline Wells of Satellite Beach, Fla., Suzanne Wiggins of Auburn, Kathleen McGowan of Jackson, Miss.; and

Coming to the screen

BLACULA — In 1780 Transylvania, African prince William Marshall and wife Vonetta McGee ask Count Dracula (Charles Macaulay) to help in ending the slave trade. Dracula curses Marshall to a life of vampirism. In 1972 two doctors buy all the books from Dracula's castle and unwittingly turn loose Marshall who kills both of them. When the doctors are discovered to be vampires, Dr. Thalmus Rasulala and Lt. Gordon Finest try to avert an epidemic of modern day vampires.

WHAT THE FEEPER SAW — This movie is to terror: it turns you on to fear. It tells the chilling story of a charmingly intelligent adolescent boy who destroys the love of his parents. The Joseph E. Levine presentation stars Mark Lester as the boy, Marcus, Britt Ekland as his attractive stepmother, and Hardy Kruger as the father who stubbornly refuses to believe anything bad about his son. Marcus plays a strange game pitting father against stepmother, driving a wedge between them deeper and deeper.

THE FRENCH CONNECTION — The story, based on Robin Moore's book, with overtones of two real life cops, Gene Hackman and Roy Scheider, finds the two narcotic detectives on a case to bring down a mutant breed of non-sters terrorizing the southwest. Now from the shroud of night they come, a scuttling, shambling horde of creatures destroying all in their path.

away the money and lives with his dreams of striking it rich. McQueen has an itch to ride a particular bull at the rodeo, and he persuades breeder Ben Johnson to give him that chance. After a brief fling with Barbara Leigh, McQueen buys Ernie's ticket to Australia and leaves.

NIGHT OF THE LEPUS — Rancher Roy Calburn, through poison, has rid his ranch of a plague of coyotes only to find it overrun with rabbits and nothing to stop them. He meets Janet Leigh and Stuart Whitman, a husband and wife science team, who are attempting to control nature without destroying its natural balance. As a result of their experiments a mutant breed of non-sters terrorizes the southwest. Now from the shroud of night they come, a scuttling, shambling horde of creatures destroying all in their path.

CITY LIGHTS — Written, produced, scored and directed by Chaplin in 1931, CITY LIGHTS tells the story of Charlie's continuing bout against all manner of adversity in the big city. Chaplin's near-unrequited love for blind flower girl, Virginia Cherrill, is mixed with hilarious tender, pathetic and always affecting episodes. There are some of Chaplin's best comic moments: a boxing match that brings truth to the police and the rats. Audiences are in for startling surprises as they follow his army face challenges both human and non-human.

erality of the undertow we all pull for because, way down, we know he is part of us.

LE MANS — Top Gulf-Porsche racing driver Michael Delaney (Steve McQueen) comes to Le Mans, France to compete in the famous Endurance Race. He meets the beautiful widow of a racing driver, Monique Beigetti (Elga Anderson) in the company of playboy racer Claude Aurne and Ferrari driver Erich Stahler, who is known for his vicious racing tactics. About 300,000 spectators are present for the start of the 24 hour team race. There is peak drama and excitement as it shapes into a personal battle between Mike and Stahler. With only 1 and 1/2 hours left in the race Mike takes over the last Porsche available and courageously fights disaster in a desperate contest with Stahler in his Ferrari.

BEN — In this exciting sequel to WILLARD, Ben is befriended by Danny (Lee Harcourt Montgomery), a small boy with a heart condition. Danny's neighbors and the city's exterminators are doing their best to turn the army of rodents away, but they keep on striking in health spas, candy factories and cheese shops. A fiery battle in the sewers between the exterminators, W. C. Fields' description of him as "the greatest ballet dancer that ever lived." And perhaps what is most appealing about CITY LIGHTS is the un-

RUNNING GOALS

For most people the objectives of running are similar; to improve or maintain their overall physical fitness. Running goals on the other hand must be tailored to the individual. The initial goal should be to maintain a consistent running program, no matter what the distance. Once this is achieved, establish reasonable time or distance goals. To run a 6:30 mile, to run three miles without stopping. As these goals are reached you will be motivated to set towards higher goals. The important things to remember are: make these goals reasonable, and don't expect instant results. Once your running program is well established, you may decide to enter local road races. These programs offer something for everyone, the 50-year-old plodder gets an opportunity to bump elbows with Olympic champions. Winning is secondary to running your own race.

In one road race Frank Shooter, the Olympic Marathon Champion, ran in a ten mile race and finished fifth. Why did he finish fifth? His wife was running in a five mile race. The initial goal should be to maintain a consistent mile race being held concurrently and be run along with her for her race.

The consistent runner is always looking for new ways to add enjoyment and satisfaction to his running program. He is running in a particular race, such as the Boston Marathon, scoring 100 points on the PT test mile run, or running in a scenic area you have never been in before. This enjoyment is vital to a successful running program.

New approach to physical training set up for personnel

Ever since Hannibal led his men on their gruelling emphasis was laid on intra-company competitive The success of the program is borne out by the enthu-trip across the Alps, the physical condition of the individual soldier has been one of the most important factors in visual a wide range of choices in selecting the particular success of any mission. The soldier must be fit activity in which he wishes to engage.
 enough to overcome any obstacles in the accomplishment.
 The new program has proven a hit with the men, PV2 John Squires remarked that "the new PT program is the best thing they have come up with so far. I really look forward to PT; it's a lot better than having to do a set of knee-bends and pushups. I still do those exercises, but now I do them as part of MY PT, not just because somebody told me to."
 For many men, the program has proven to have advantages beyond those more obvious physical benefits.
 PFC Ronald Hartley believes that PT can build character.
 "Not only does exercise build the body," he explains, "but it would seem then, that the new program is here to stay. From the smiling faces that are in evidence at PT Group, No exercises were prescribed. Instead, four hours of exercise, religiously followed, can teach the mind how to control the body, a lesson which once learned, can be applied with great advantage to daily life."

Notes

By Bill Kloeb
The duck season opens in Georgia and Alabama tomorrow. There won't be a lot of obvious activity but, there are hunters who have waited for this day since the 1971-72 season closed last January.

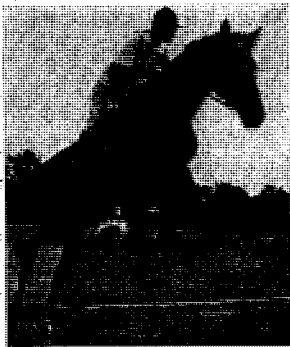

There are not too many duck hunters in this area. There are several good reasons for this. One is that not too many people are scared off by the regulations. It takes a law firm to interpret what is allowed and what is forbidden. And finally there are not too many ducks in this area. None of these facts dull the enthusiasm of the avid duck hunter.

Ducks are migratory birds. They travel from north to south and back again along four principal flyways. The Atlantic, Mississippi, Central and Pacific flyways handle just about all of the duck traffic. Here we are about midway between the Atlantic and Mississippi flyways. The only birds that come into the area are those that have wandered from one of these flyways.

Ducks are protected by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Regulations governing the hunting of these birds are prepared by the Secretary of the Interior. Federal Migratory Bird Hunting Stamps more commonly known as Duck Stamps are required by all persons over 16 years of age, who hunt them. These stamps can be purchased at United States Post Offices. Copies of the Federal Regulations governing hunting of migratory birds may also be obtained at the time the stamp is purchased.

Turkey Shoot
The club gave away 88 turkeys at the turkey shoot held Nov. 18 at the home. The turkeys no doubt made Thanksgiving for quite a few families but, none were appreciated more than the turkeys two members donated to the Ann Elizabeth Shepherd Home on Double Churchers Road in Columbus. These turkeys were the Thanksgiving meal for the 19 children at the home. The gifts were appreciated too. Tom McCullough, club custodian, received a letter from the home thanking the donors and thanking the club for being instrumental in making the gift possible.

These turkey shoots are becoming more and more popular. Most of those who recommended that the club have another before Christmas so the club is going to try another. This time winners will have a choice between hams and

Basketball action in the 1971 Inf. Bde. — the 2d Bn., 11th Arty., versus HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. (Photo by Rick Wassser.)

HHC, 197th Squeezes by Patriots

HHC, 197th Inf. Bde., several field goals, several points were scored courtesy of the opposing team, as HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. ran a little wild with personal fouls allowing the 1-58th team to score many of their points on free throws.

The brigade basketballers company team jumped out to an early lead and the game appeared to be a pushover. At halftime, HHC, 1-58th narrowed the gap with several field goals. Several points were scored courtesy of the opposing team, as HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. ran a little wild with personal fouls allowing the 1-58th team to score many of their points on free throws.

With a half-time lead of 41-19, HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. was feeling pretty confident and put in their third and fourth string team. HHC, 1-58th took advantage of this change of events, and scored freely as well as defending the goal magnificently.

The PATRIOT team played jump to basketball for the remainder of the game, but they were just too far behind the more skillful basketballers company

11th Co. comes from behind to beat IOAC 4-73 by two

In a furious, last minute charge 11th Co., 1st Bn., TSB came from behind to shock IOAC 4-73, 40-38 a 20-18 advantage. In the time remaining HHC could manage only one more point while 11th Co. scored nine. Tom Fallon scored 9 points to lead 11th Co. and Robert O'Neal poured in 8 for HHC.

At the TSB gym 8th Bn. Cadre took an easy 30-24 win over IOAC 6-72. John Maske tossed in 12 points for 8th Bn., and Roger Garity dropped in 10 for IOAC-6. The game between 2nd Bn. Cadre and 27th Co. 2nd Bn. was canceled as 27th Co. has pulled out of the league.

Marksmanship unit recognizes seven

In a combined pre-holiday unit meeting November 23, Col. William T. Harper, Commander of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, recognized seven of his men with promotions and decorations and then added his briefing of traffic caution and safety prior to the long holiday weekend.

Leading off the ceremonies, M-Sgt. Clinton D. Stephens and SFC William R. Lee were honored when Colonel Harper decorated them with the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service performed as senior shooter-instructors with the Service Rifle Division. Both men have been instrumental in leading the Army champion shooters to national honors during the past two shooting seasons.

A third decoration, the Meritorious Service Medal, was presented to SFC (Ret.) Paul Parker of Columbus who was recognized for his coaching and instructing of marksmen while with the Army Marksmanship Unit during the past two seasons. He also instructed the 1972 U.S. Frik LeClercq Team. Parker, retired in September.

Promotions were awarded to two young infantrymen when Charles Bowie and Jimmie Williams were advanced to the rank of Specialist Five. Bowie is one of the leading young Army Trap shooters while Williams performs duty in the Test and Evaluation section of the unit shops.

The unit ceremony was concluded by the short pre-holiday safety briefing.

Barracudas place three in swim meet

Jonathan Warren, of the Fort Benning Barracudas Swim Team, was the high point winner in the recent Mobile, Ala., Invitational Swimming meet after placing in 10 individual events for 13-14 year olds.

Warren was a first place winner in four events, placed second in three, and was third in three.

Jennifer Warren of the Barracudas' placed in four events, and Jeffrey Warren placed in three.

Army marksmen to present clinic

A two-man Army Marksmanship team will present a two day clinic commencing December 2 at the Kansas State University Rifle Range. It was directed today by Col. Archie Hyle, Professor of Military Science, at the University.

Let by Olympic Gold Medalist Marksman Maj. Lones W. Wigger, Jr., the team will conduct an International Smallbore Rifle and Free Rifle instructional session in conjunction with the annual Intercollegiate Smallbore Rifle match to be held at this time. Approximately 50 college Smallbore Rifle teams will be competing for laurels during the two day match.

Sponsored by the University Military Science Department, the marksmanship clinic will include afternoon and evening sessions which will be open for all interested shooters. Major Wigger will lead in the presentation of lectures which will be supplemented with slides, demonstration and displays of equipment. Lt. William Beard will be assisting Wigger in the two day clinic. The instruction will include Gallery, Outdoor, International Three Position and Junior Four Position type of competition. The team will be stressing proper body positioning, breath control, sight alignment, trigger squeeze and basic marksmanship fundamentals which have proven beneficial to the Army champions. The clinic is expected to attract over a hundred of the most promising Olympic and International Smallbore Rifle competitors from the surrounding areas.

Wigger, Olympic Gold Medal winner in the 300 Meter Free Rifle at Munich in September, has been actively competing for the past decade and has won the National Smallbore Rifle Position Championship six years during this period. He has won Gold and Silver Medals in the Olympics, World Championship Games and the Pan American Games.

Beard, a relative newcomer to the Army competitive scene, is a 1971 graduate of Murray State University, Murray, Ky. He distinguished himself while firing on the University rifle team where he made All American in 1970 and 71. In the short time he has been firing with the Army squad, he has established a new National record in position competition. He fired a perfect 400 in kneeling during a Fort Benning In 4000 Tournament early this year.

Fair Play has helped America

The principle of fair play has helped Americans expand democratic practices throughout our history. The gradual extension of the right to vote to all our citizens is a case in point. After The Civil War the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution repudiated racial qualifications for voting in these words: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude..." Firm enforcement of this part of the law of the land has enfranchised millions of Americans in recent years.

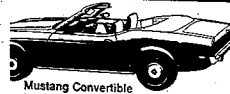

It was not until August 1950 that the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution was ratified which states: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex." This ended a form of discrimination against women and approximately doubled the number of Americans who could exercise the right to vote.

Even though the conscience of the Nation had to be goaded by a war and massive demonstrations, the principle of fair play won out over entrenched patterns of discrimination based on race and sex.

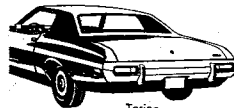

Organized sports have written the principle of fair play into their rules in order to determine the real winners of various games. This means that our ability to play the game is valued only when it is played within the rules. This points up the fact that fair play is as much of a skill to be developed as the physical and mental requirements of athletic competition.

Fair play can become an automatic part of our everyday lives if we will concentrate on some underlying principles like the following. FIRST, we must recognize and live within our limitations. This will keep us from both over-reaching ourselves and underestimating our abilities. This can be accomplished if we have a healthy attitude toward our mistakes, avoid pretending to know more than we actually do, and learn the art of exchanging ideas. SECOND, we must learn to practice fair play in situations of conflict. We can do this by keeping in touch with reality, controlling our righteous indignation, and preserving the dignity of our competitors. THIRD, the principle of fair play can contribute to a happy emotional environment if we show respect for individual differences, use our imaginations creatively, and cultivate our capabilities.

Flight surgeon digs aero-medicine

An early interest in aviation and a fascination for medicine combined to bring Fort Benning's only Flight Surgeon, Capt. Bruce I. Bodner, into the Army Medical Center and then into Aero-medicine.

"I've always been interested in Aviation," Capt. Bodner said. "I used to be an avid model builder and enjoyed flying radio-control model planes. Originally I wanted to be an aeronautical engineer until I hit the Waterloo of calculus."

His interest in medicine was awakened when, as a high school student, he took part in the Pre-ceptor Program in which a few interested students would spend afternoons and weekends with local doctors. "I found," he said, "that blood didn't bother me too much, and medicine caught my imagination." He went on to major in biology at Virginia Military Institute and "found it came very easily" to him. He maintained a 3.75 average at VMI and was a Distinguished Academic Student his last three years. "My nickname-in school," he recalled, "was 'Hermit'."

After receiving his degree from VMI in 1967, Capt. Bodner entered active duty at Ft. Bragg as an Infantry 2nd Lieutenant. Because of his academic record, he was selected for a program to continue his education. His tour in the Infantry was not short and he entered the University of Virginia Medical School. While there he was elected president of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society and vice-president of the Medical Student Body.

Each summer during Medical School, he served on active duty as a Lieutenant, the last two summers with the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology at Walter Reed Hospital.

The first summer he was involved in medical research and the second summer he worked in the wards specializing in urology, renal medicine, and general surgery.

After graduating from U. Va. Medical School, Capt. Bodner interned in internal medicine at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor and at the Wayne County General Hospital in Detroit.

In July, 1972 he reported to Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for the Army Medical Officers Basic Course. "I felt that my tour would be more enjoyable and more challenging as a Flight Surgeon than as a general Medical Officer. When the opportunity arose, I grabbed it."

After attending the Flight Surgeons School at Ft. Rucker, Ala., Capt. Bodner came to Fort Benning and the Aviation Command, where he has become much more visible and much better known than seems to be the case with many Flight Surgeons.

Course. "I felt that my tour would be more enjoyable and more challenging as a Flight Surgeon than as a general Medical Officer. When the opportunity arose, I grabbed it."

What do you think should be done to the 'barracks thief' if caught?

Sock it to 'em, sock it to 'em, sock it to 'em . . .

Sp4 Carl Cabanis
Co. C, 1st Bn., 25th Inf.
"He should be sent to the stocks in addition to a stiff fine. I'd punish him severely enough so he would know next time it wasn't worth it. If he stole a lot, I would give him a dishonorable discharge."

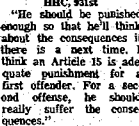

MSgt. Willie Robinson
HHC 31st Eng. Grp.
"I would give him a stiff punishment. If you are lenient on them he'll tend to do it again. After his punishment is completed I would have him transferred out of the unit, so he would have some peace. No one likes a thief."

SFC James E. Moore
HHC 17th
"He should be jailed. In the old Army no one dared steal anything. You could leave your property on your bed when you went to take a shower and wouldn't even worry about anyone touching it. It was an honor system. There's no place in the Army for a thief."

PFC Danny Smith
HHC 158th Infantry
"I wouldn't give him a chance to do it again. I'd punish him so he wouldn't dare. I'd knock his head off if I caught him."

Phil Benjamin
HHC 31st
"He should be punished enough so that he'll think about the consequences if there is a next time. I think an Article 15 adequate punishment for a first offender. For a second offense, he should really suffer the consequences."

I'll tell you why the push for PT!

Dear Editor,

This is in reply to the letter by, Name withheld by request, "Why the big push for PT?" (Bayonet, 17 Nov.).

Physical fitness is not only one of the most important keys to a healthy body, it is the basis of dynamic and creative intellectual activity. The relation between the soundness of the body and the activities of the mind is subtle and complex. Much is not yet understood but we do know what the Greeks knew: that intelligence and skill can only function at the peak of their capacity when the body is healthy and strong; that hardy spirits and tough minds inhabit sound bodies.

This is the inscription on the certificate received by each individual who participates in a Fort Benning "Rm for Fun." I think it answers the why of PT. I hope that Name withheld's gripe is with the way in which physical training is administered in his unit, not with the fact that he is not allowed to simply vegetate. If PT is his problem, stripping him of the title "man" may be appropriate.

Problem solving

The chain of command and AER work hand in hand to help soldiers

"Hey Larry, you're packin'. Where ya goin'?" "Home man."

"Yeah! How come?"

"My wife's in labor, Jim. She's havin' complications. I expect to be there in six hours by jet though."

"Man, I'm sorry to hear that, Larry. But how'd you swing it man, I thought you were flat out broke."

"Well let me tell you Jim, The Red Cross notified me at 6 o'clock that I should get home right away. I told Sgt. Hill and he took me straight to the first sergeant. Top listened to my problem right away and caught the CO just as he was leaving to eat supper."

"The CO and Top went to work for me right then and there. The CO called the Red Cross and Top called the hospital where my wife is. The CO got authority for me to go on emergency leave and I got to talk to my wife's doctor because of Top's call to the hospital."

"Then the CO called AER, because I didn't have enough money for the airline ticket. And by 7:30 I had a $70 loan for a plane ticket and reservations for the 8:35 flight out of Columbus."

"Well see ya later, Jim, thanks to the CO and AER."

dependents on behalf of the chain of command. ACS help "help" soldiers. Most of the help it gives individual soldiers is for financial problems that are too big for commanders in the field to handle by themselves.

Commanders can and should handle most of the financial problems a soldier runs into. Many times all that is required is a visit to the man's pay section.

Some financial troubles, though, like Larry's, must be referred to AER. Commanders cannot grant loans every time a soldier has an emergency.

One type of financial roadblock that Benning soldiers run into more often than anyone would like to think is "wipe-out."

What is a "wipe-out?" When a soldier gets no money or almost no money on any pay day, he is "wiped-out." Sometimes it is the soldier's fault. For example, he may have blown 6 months of advance pay on a night on the town. Sometimes a "wipe-out" is caused by an administrative error and is not the soldier's fault.

No matter what the cause of a "wipe-out," it is always of great concern to the commander. A man cannot do his job well if he and his family have no money to live on.

Gilbert said, "Sometimes a man gets 'wiped-out' for several months. If the pay section can't solve the problem, then the commander usually must refer to ACS for help."

ACS tries to avoid giving loans. If a man is already in debt, another loan will just put him deeper in debt. The first action ACS tries in order to help a soldier and his family is to give meals from the Emergency Food Loan Office or by loaning items from the Household Goods Lending Clinic. ACS also gives professional bone budget, and consumer counseling.

When all else fails, the AER will grant loans.

ACS and AER are really an extension of the chain of command. The chief of the AER section, Capt. Mitilde M. Porter said, "AER assistance comes much faster when a soldier comes to us after first going through the chain of command."

Porter added, "When someone comes to us for financial assistance without first seeing his CO, we have to send him back to his company. We depend on the commander for the information we need to help a soldier."

"We can help solve a soldier's emergency financial problem," she explained, "after the company commander has exhausted his resources."

ACS and its AER section are designed to act by the direction and by the authority of the chain of command. ACS is not a substitute, it is a part of command channel operations.

Larry's case was recent and typical. Fort Benning's AER, a section of the Army Community Service (ACS), can respond quickly when used as it was with Larry — through the chain of command.

Capt. Donald F. Gilbert, chief of Benning's ACS, said, "Since ACS first began, we've been criticized for lacking over the first sergeant's job."

"But this isn't true," Gilbert added. "We don't compete with the chain of command. We can't. We supplement it. We are a tool to help commanders and first sergeants take care of their men better."

Gilbert pointed out that on behalf of the chain of command ACS takes care of personnel who are not soldiers like Larry. These persons are a great concern to the chain of command, but commanders are not equipped to deal with them.

ACS looks out for gold star wives (wives whose husbands were killed in Vietnam), and their children. It looks out for waiting wives (wives whose husbands are serving in Vietnam, Korea, or other hardship areas), and their children.

Also, handicapped children, couples having marital problems, non-U.S. citizens, and newly arrived personnel are given special help by ACS programs.

One Fort Benning sergeant major said, "I couldn't begin to repay ACS for the help they gave me wife the last time I was in Vietnam."

"For instance," he said, "they made sure my wife got a daily bulletin. This might not seem like much, but it was my wife's only contact with the post."

He added, "ACS made sure my boy got signed up for little league baseball. They got him in the Big Brother Program so he would have a little adult male companionship while I was gone."

"ACS is the smartest organization the Army ever started," the sergeant major summed up.

As seen with Larry, however, ACS does not just help dependents on behalf of the chain of command. ACS help "help" soldiers. Most of the help it gives individual soldiers is for financial problems that are too big for commanders in the field to handle by themselves.

Commanders can and should handle most of the financial problems a soldier runs into. Many times all that is required is a visit to the man's pay section.

ACS fights back!

EDITOR'S NOTE: CSM Kaczmarek said that he agrees with Mr. Merrill's comments. The importance of the chain of command needs to be emphasized. He believes the article agrees with her letter. The Army needs special staff agencies, but as he said in the article, "These services complement, but do not take the place of the chain of command."

I wish to write a partial rebuttal to an article entitled CHAIN OF COMMAND by Pete Foreman which appeared in 17 November BAYONET and in particular to remarks attributed therein to CSM Kaczmarek. I have two objectives in mind. First, I grant CSM Kaczmarek his wish to "see positive credit given to the chain of command," just once. I feel, being a rather conservative wife of a rather conservative infantry officer, that the Chain of Command is the ultimate entity in the Army. The military I have associated with makes no fuss about it because it just "is," like the sun, always there, always has been, and we will continue to revolve about it. For an Army to function without an effective Chain of Command is an idea of which I cannot conceive. But if CSM Kaczmarek feels that one must sting the Chain of Command's prizes in order to give it credit, then I gladly do so here and now.

However, when CSM Kaczmarek suggested this publication should run a score board on the front page with the score ending up as the captain of this letter, I feel he has needlessly maligned the IG, ACS, AER, ARC, JAG, the Chaplains Corps, and the Congressional Liaison Branch. To answer for each of these agencies would make this letter too lengthy. I will present knowledge based on personal experience for only two or three.

IG: I am sure that statistics would bear out that more IG complaints are referred back to the orderly room than are actually resolved by the IG. But unless one has been in the orderly room the news media for the last 2 years one has heard of senior officers and NCO's alleged to have committed crimes. Where does the soldier go when such occurs in his Chain of Command?

AER: (most informed soldiers know that this is a part of ACS). AER sees clients that could have effectively been handled by the Chain of Command. But — in the last month AER has loaned $100 to soldiers in 2d Sg. Bu alone. Let's hear from CSM K's first sergeants. Do they wish to put out that kind of money on an interest-free, unsecured loan?

Congressional Liaison Branch: The first Amendment of our Constitution states "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging . . . the right of the people . . . to petition the government for a redress of their grievances." Since the Army exists at the sufferance of Congress (American Constitution, Article II, Section 8) that about says it all. I'm conservative enough to believe the Constitution means what it says. For CSM Kaczmarek? I think your brown boots are showing — which is not all bad. I too feel we may have misplaced priorities from time to time. But let's face it. We're not Fort Laramie in 1890. We're at Fort Benning — today — with more soldiers in a few acres than were in all of Wyoming territory back then. We're taking care of people whose problems might best be resolved by a phone call to Korea or a Red Cross wire from Anchorage or an interest free loan to fly home from Germany. And least the neatfoot oil rub off those brown boots and blind you. CSM Kaczmarek — let me put out — those Social-Welfare agencies you mentioned are not in competition with the Chain of Command — they are a part of, and answer to, it.

Crimes committed on post may be handled by FBI

All crimes committed on post are not processed by the Provost Marshal Office and the Military Judicial system. When Federal laws are violated the Federal Bureau of Investigation can take over the case and it is handled by a civilian court.

The following news release published in the Columbus Ledger Newspaper illustrates such a case:

A Fort Benning soldier and a Columbus man were bound to U. S. District Court here under $10,000 bond each Friday to stand trial on a charge of armed robbery.

The two men, PFC Bobby L. Hodge and Charles W. Brown, a civilian, were arrested and charged by military police in connection with the armed robbery of PFC Christopher L. Brown, 58th Infantry, 19th Infantry Brigade, Nov. 28, on post.

The gunman took his wallet with $120 in it, Brown told the MPs. Shortly before the robbery, Brown said he saw a dark-colored GTO riding around in the area with two men inside.

Military police stopped a car at 10:17 p.m. fitting the description. Brown gave them and following an investigation arrested Hodge and Brown.

The defendants were given a hearing before Judge William L. Slaughter Friday and placed under $10,000 bond each, which they were not able to meet and are being held in Muscogee County jail.

An American Red Cross capping and awards presentation was held in November at the Fort Benning Main Post Chapel Annex. It was presided over by Mrs. Nelson Newcombe, Post Chairman of Volunteers.

Mrs. Newcombe introduced Col. H. Haskell Zippman, Commander, MEX-DAC, who gave the address. He congratulated the volunteers on their work and said, "The Red Cross Volunteers have asked not what their hospital can do for them, although that is considerable, but what they can do for their hospital."

Col. Zippman went on to say, "Service to your fellow man — there is no more gratifying experience in the world."

Forty-seven volunteers were then presented with their caps by Lt. Col. Maxine Daughas, Assistant Chief, Nursing Services, Martin Army Hospital and Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald, Secretary of Volunteers. These volunteers earned their caps by participating in a four hour basic orientation course which presented the history and responsibilities of a Red Cross Volunteer and by completing six hours of on-the-job training. The ladies received their caps were Mrs. Vladimir Aseff, Mrs. William Barber, Mrs. Fannie Bell, Mrs. Bobby Booknight, Mrs. Homer Brookshire, Mrs. Jackie Catz, Mrs. John Chertoff, Mrs. Melvin Oarder, Mrs. Edward Crowley, Mrs. Robert Grant, Mrs. Cheryl Harbick, Mrs. John Hubbs, Mrs. Curtis Hogan, Mrs. Duayne Hoolapa, Mrs. Billie Hodgins, Mrs. Thomas Huddler, Mrs. Francis Daczynski, Mrs. Carl Kruger, Mrs. Jose Laguna, Mrs. Sara Lambert, Mrs. Henry Lee, Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. Stanley Lee, Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Doreen Lynch, Mrs. Gary Lynde, Mrs. Douglas MacFarlane, Mrs. Margaret McDonald, Mrs. Robert Mattox, Mrs. Frank Moursand, Mrs. Joseph Perry, Mrs. Jimmie

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Article 15's will now be permanently entered in the 201 files of all soldiers with more than three years' service.

According to AR 27-10, as changed Sept. 22, 1972, non-judicial punishment actions will be entered permanently in the efficiency portion of their 201 records.

For enlisted men with three or fewer years' service, however, Article 15's will be kept in the 201 file for no more than two years. But they will be entered permanently in the efficiency portion of their personnel file at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

The new policy applies to all Article 15 records, including those imposed before the recent change.

EUROPEAN DUTY

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Enlisted men serving state-side can volunteer for a 12-month tour of duty in Europe under a special program initiated by Department of the Army.

The program applies to enlisted men serving in the U.S. Army Continental Army Command, U.S. Army Combat Developments Command, U.S. Army Medical Corps and the U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

Initial term enlistees, with less than 12 months remaining until their scheduled ETS dates, may extend for an additional 12 months if they wish to participate in the program. (AR 60-288, Ch 4)

Personnel not on initial enlistments must be able to complete the 12 months in Europe without extending. Those whose terms are long enough may extend.

Other prerequisites to be met in order to get the European assignments include the following:

Personnel serving a guaranteed period under the completed five-sixths of the stabilized tour.

Personnel serving a guaranteed period under the Unit-of-Choice enlistment program are not considered stabilized for this program, but can volunteer if they agree in writing to waive their present assignment guarantees.

Volunteers who possess skills required in duty with U.S. Army Europe and are found to be eligible, will receive orders for Europe between January and June 1973.

Applications should be sent through channels to DA-FOEPC-5. All applications will be forwarded to Department of the Army regardless of approval or disapproval at other levels of command.

GEORGIA STATE REGISTRATION

Georgia State University Winter Quarter students may register for classes at the office located in Room 902, Building 25 on 2 January 1973, from 0900-2100 hours. Application for admission and transcripts must be on file prior to registration. Georgia State University Winter Quarter schedules have been issued to all Major Commands. Class schedules and information are available at all Education Centers, Room 310, Bldg. 35; Bldg. 5153, Harmony Church; Bldg. 9003, Kelly Hill; Bldg. 3355, Sand Hill and Bldg. 4, Room 2-25, to call Georgia State University at 545-2620. SOLDIER SHOW

The Third United States Army Soldier Show will soon be coming our way with its current production, "A Celebration." The musical program will be presented on the 9th and 10th of December at 1930 hours, in Marshall Auditorium in Infantry Hall. There has been a misconception in the past among the civilian community of Fort Benning, Columbus and Phenix City that these shows are restricted to the military. Although it is the primary aim of the Soldier Show to entertain the soldier, civilians are authorized and encouraged to attend. Free tickets are available at all Special Services Facilities and in front of the Commissary and Main PX. For further information you may call the Fort Benning Entertainment Office at 545-2822.

Post's smallest OCS class graduates 25 man group

"The least with the most, Srd" rings out from the smallest Officer Candidate School class in the history of the Infantry School. The 25 man company is composed of National Guardsmen from 13 states and is commanded by Captain David E. Leslie. Before Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Gordon M. Hunt greeted the class in September, the 25 man company waited through an agonizing weekend wondering whether or not the class would begin.

After word was received to continue, eight weeks training began. Senior Status was approved for the company on September 17. Brigade Commander Col. A. G. Norris attached the 1st Infantry Blue Senior Streamer to the Unit Goddon in ceremonies conducted in the company area. He was assisted by the Battalion Commander LTC Hunt and the company First Sergeant, James G. Lowderby.

The path to senior status was an arduous one as Tactical Officers, Lieutenants Don D. Mackey and Dorsey O. Hill, began molding the disorganized group into a cohesive unit with stamina, pride, esprit and leadership. At times it was a monumental task making and reshaping citizen soldiers into officers and leaders, but they continued to press for the essentials necessary in being officers.

Though the program is designed to take soldiers and make officers, all is not without its humorous, painful though it seemed at the time. Company Executive Officers, Lt. James J. Donald supervised the evacuation of the billets by the candidates with their personal gear, equipment and all the furniture. Within the time limits established the building was cleaned and returned to its original state much to the chagrin of the class. In the process several learning points were unceremoniously absorbed and later discussed in a company critique. Despite, and sometimes in spite of themselves, the class made the transition from "basic trainees" (basic officer candidates) to intermediate status and finally the most awaited senior status.

The School Brigade and the Infantry School were faced with a peculiar problem with the small company, how to gear a program designed for 200 students to a 25 man class? OCS Class 1-73 was joined with members of the 1st Company (OC) and an OCS class in the field for instruction in land navigation, special weapons, and tactics. This combined instruction permitted the classes to exchange ideas and notes with their fellow candidates and officers. OCS 1-73 learned a valuable lesson in organization when the 5th Student Battalion participated in the Ecotocoberfest. The class planned and hosted a picnic for the battalion at the conclusion of the clean-up along Upland Creek. The weeks spent learning the principles and fundamentals of leadership have passed quickly and the senior candidates of 53d Company see that their training as future officers has just begun. The countless instructors, cadre and tactical officers who guided, pushed and shoveled created a base to build upon.

At our Ethan Allen Gallery it's not just what we sell that makes us different— it's how we sell it.

Our Gallery isn't just a furniture store. It's a home furnishings center. Where you'll find everything you need to decorate any or every room in your home.

You'll see hundreds of different designs and styles of furniture. And you'll see them in fully decorated bedrooms, living rooms, dining rooms, dens, children's rooms. Formal and informal. Subtle and eclectic.

Rooms, not just full of beautiful furniture in beautiful surroundings—but rooms full of ideas. Decorating ideas complete with lush carpets and exciting rugs, colorful drapes and upholstered fabrics.

Make your selections, then discuss them with our home planners. They're not salesmen, but people with professional decorating experience. Who'll give you as much or as little help as you need. From planning an entire room with you...to choosing an ashtray for your coffee table.

And when it comes to choosing accessories, you may want to talk to our gift consultants. You'll find them in our gift shop. A room brimming over with interesting, unusual accessories. Plus gifts for every one and every occasion you can think of.

Talk to our expert staff. Ask them for ideas. Browse through our rooms for more. And if you didn't make it to our Grand Opening, Come on by Monday thru Saturday and browse.

If, in addition to looking at all our furniture, you'd like to learn about it—we have tours for interested groups for that purpose by appointment.

You'll also learn about working with colors and patterns, using accessories, arranging furniture, and much more.

Now that you know why we think of ourselves as more than just another furniture store, why not visit our gallery—and let us know what you think of us. We're just a short, pleasant drive from the Fort Benning area via the Lindsay Creek By-Pass to Macon Road and then East for one mile. See you soon!

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted.

"The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Why are you staying in?

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

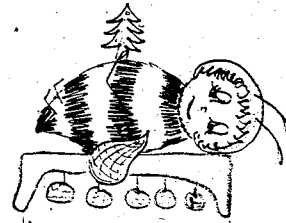

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Do your Christmas shopping early at The Talent Tree. They have gifts for all ages and interests. The Talent Tree will close Dec. 17 for the holidays but re-opens Jan. 9, 1973.

TUSAMTU
Mrs. Charles E. Orr entertained the officers' wives of the United States Army Marksmanship Training Unit with a coffee at her home on Henson Avenue on Nov. 15.

The table was beautifully decorated with candies and a flower arrangement of chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.
Mrs. William H. Harper confounded a short husband's attempt to bring a gift to her meeting. A silver relish dish was presented to Mrs. Lanny R. Bassham, whose husband has assumed command of the 690th Medical Company at Fort Benning.

TBS
Mrs. Jim Hruska and Mrs. Bill Tibbitts entertained the ladies of the 48th STUDENT BATTALION for their monthly coffee on Nov. 20 in Mrs. Hruska's home on East 38th St., Columbus.

A thanksgiving theme was used to decorate the refreshment table. Along with the coffee and fruit punch, cinnamon baked apples, raw apple cake, banana nut bread and cheese puffs were served. The ladies of the Battalion presented Mrs. Ronald Dekey with a silver plate

— a farewell remembrance. Mrs. Richard Bonnette and Mrs. Bill Steck were welcomed to the Battalion. Final plans were made for the luncheon for the ladies of The School Brigade to be held on Jan. 11. The ladies were reminded of the Dinner-Dance that will be held at the Sand Hill MCO Club on Dec. 1 at 7:00 p.m.

The next coffee will be held at Mrs. Jack Dawson's home in Wedgfield Court, Columbus, on Dec. 18.

197TH
Mrs. Emil Farr welcomed the ladies of the 197TH SUPPORT BATTALION to her home on Kessler Court, Fort Benning, for their monthly coffee on Nov. 16.

Mrs. W. J. Eddins Jr. presided over the afternoon's business meeting. The ladies volunteered for their various assignments to sell the unit's handsome Sesame Street puppets for the upcoming Christmas.

Mrs. Eddins also reminded everyone of the Brigade tea to be held Dec. 14 at the Support Club and mentioned, in particular, that everyone should plan to bring a gift to her lovely home in Phenix City, Ala. Mrs. Lemax's husband, Lt. Col. Lemax, is the chairman of the Military Dog Committee.

COMPANY TACTICS ladies enjoyed a lovely coffee at the home of Mrs.

Another removable tag should state exactly what the gift is. The Harris County Department of Families and Services also asks that the Fort Benning ladies donate whatever clean and mended clothing they can — with no restrictions on size or age group — and this clothing need not be gift-wrapped.

Mrs. Farr announced that a horse show, open to riders from Fort Benning and surrounding areas, will be held at Fritch Field at 9:00 a.m. on Dec. 2. Events will include a jumping class.

The 197th was especially pleased to welcome newcomer Mrs. Donald Ching, and then adjourn the formal business meeting in favor of Mrs. Farr's refreshments, which included spice tea, coffee, cakes and cookies, and a cheese ball fashioned to look like a Tom Turkey.

Company Operations Department
It was time for a change and the ladies of COMPANY TACTICS COMMITTEE did it with a "change of pace" luncheon at Au Petit Jean's and it was an interesting function.

Mrs. Herbert Franden welcomed three new girls to the group. They were Mrs. Virgil Neely, Mrs. Stanley Cherris and Mrs. Stephen Barati. We also had a special little guest, Christopher Michael Stallings, infant son of Capt. and Mrs. Roger Stallings.

The door prize, a lovely ceramic "born of plenty" made by our own Mrs. David V. Masan, was won by Mrs. William R. Jones. We were all able to get a sneak preview of all the lovely bazzar projects made by each committee and believe me, you'd better get to the Bazaar early.

PLATOON TACTICS OFFICER was given by Mrs. Glenn A. Hedge and Mrs. Herbert Southwell. For them it was farewell to Capt. and Mrs. Dennis Battles and Capt. and Mrs. Wayne Allton and Mrs. John Fong on their new daughter and Capt. and Mrs. Roger Stallings on their new son.

Mrs. Robert Lemax hosted the coffee for the ladies of HEADQUARTERS, LAND NAVIGATION AND MILITARY DOG at her lovely home in Phenix City, Ala. Mrs. Lemax's husband, Lt. Col. Lemax, is the chairman of the Military Dog Committee.

COMPANY TACTICS ladies enjoyed a lovely coffee at the home of Mrs.

"The American Woman, Who is She?"
In January, Mrs. Frank Hart will offer a new seminar and discussion group through the OWC, provocatively entitled "The American Woman, Who is She?" Mrs. Hart graduated from Stanford University with an MA in history and a growing interest in woman's roles and place in society.

How do you really feel about woman's life in the past? Is it true that all the far-out ideas put forth by Libbers today were being discussed by the Greeks in Plato's time? Is racism or sexism more discriminatory? Are women "better off" in the United States than in other countries? What is "better off?" Who invented passive resistance and mass demonstrations as political weapons? Has motherhood always been a full-time job? Save Wednesday afternoons and discuss these and other topics.

Military Wife of Year nominee partakes in many organizations "Meeting people is the best part," says Mrs. Jon C. Stillman, the Fort Benning nominee for 1973 Military Wife of the Year, of her many activities on Post.

Jane Stillman is probably one of the busiest members of the Officers' Wives Club. She is second vice-president for activities right now; in the past she has been Allied liaison chairman (1970-71) and program chairman (1971-72).

She was nominated for the award by the 1973 Military Wife of the Year, her husband, Maj. Stillman, was executive officer of the 1st Battalion, 25th Infantry, with the officers and their families get settled in their new homes and schools, planned cultural activities such as the Heritage Tour of Columbus, and entertain the Allies with home potluck suppers involving hundreds of people. Jane spent a great deal of time making sure each Allied wife was able to adjust to American life during her stay here. Her eagerness to help put each of her "charges" at ease, and they felt free to ask her advice on various personal matters.

Jane and the Allied wives spent long hours job hunting, shopping, and attending club functions. These special tasks were interspersed with Jane's "other duties" as the wife of an Army officer.

Mrs. Stillman has always been concerned with the military image in the civilian community and has taken the opportunity to unite the two whenever she could. She encouraged civilian friends to act as sponsors for the Allies.

She also included members of various women's groups in Columbus, such as the Junior Women's Club and the Sertoma Club, in the functions she planned for the Allied wives.

In conjunction with the Pen Women's Club of Columbus, Mrs. Stillman collected art objects from the Allied wives and used them in a display she set up at the Columbus Museum of Arts and Crafts.

The job of program chairman was "the most nerve-wracking one, but also the most rewarding," according to Mrs.

Stillman. Some of the programs presented under her leadership included two fashion shows.

Others were an international cooking demonstration by Mrs. Sara Spano, food editor of the Ledger-Enquirer newspapers, and a tea featuring Bob Hope as the guest of honor.

This year, Mrs. Stillman has served as second vice-president for activities. In September the Officers' Wives Club held 35 different classes for its members, 15 of which were offered for the first time. Next month, six more classes will begin.

Among the new classes held this fall were auto mechanics, cake decorating, rug and pillow making, decorative painting, "garbage art," volleyball, and furniture refinishing. Others were Raggedy Ann doll-making and a number of tours of interest spots around the Columbus area.

AUSA's Sav-A-Toy program underway at Fort Benning

Charles Daley, president of the Columbus-Phenix City Fort Benning Chapter, Association of the U.S. Army, Tuesday presented a $300 check to the post Sav-A-Toy program on behalf of AUSA.

The funds will be used for repairing toys to be given to needy families at Christmas. Work on toys used in the program is done throughout the year by prisoners at the Post Stockade.

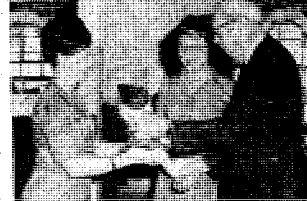

The program was begun in 1964 by the Mortar Committee of the Infantry School's Weapons Department. Since that time the program has grown to such proportions that other groups now take part, with Army Community Service in charge of overall coordination.

Patients in Martin Army Hospital's neuro-psychiatric ward, as well as the 40th Wagon, are involved in the program. The NCO Wives, who are taking part for the first time this year, dressed all the dolls donated to the program.

Each unit provides the names of needy families with children, and the Post Chaplains and Army Community Service locate other families and screen them. This year 110 families, including 335 children, will receive toys.

This year's toy collection includes 75 bicycles, 50 tricycles, 10 pedal cars, 12 hobby horses, 22 wagons, 5 tractors, and 3 electric cars, 175 dolls, 60 boxes of miscellaneous toys, and 10 boxes of games.

The needy families also receive Christmas dinners, furnished by each company's unit.

Mrs. Charles Daley (left), Mrs. Margaret Merritt (center), and Mr. Charles Daley, President of the Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning Chapter, Association of the U.S. Army, admire a doll which was dressed by the NCO Wives for the Sav-A-Toy program. Mrs. Merritt and Mrs. Wiley work for Army Community Service, which coordinates the program. Daley presented a $300 check to the Sav-A-Toy program on behalf of AUSA. (Photo by David Southward.)

Fort Benning WACs to take adventure trip

The Fort Benning Women's Army Corps (WAC) Company of Headquarters Command, will stage a Chatahoochee River trip as Adventure Training for the WACs.

A group of 16 WACs, including two officers, will depart the boat ramp one mile south of the Eddy Bridge on Fort Benning at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, Dec. 11.

Support for the trip is being supplied by the 56th Engineers (Float Bridge), 561st Engineer Group. Each of four boats to be used will have a boat operator, a male diver from the 56th and four WACs. Two male officers from HQ Cmd and a cook will also accompany the WACs.

The trip will last three days and nights with the group being transported back on the fourth day. The group will travel approximately 90 miles down river to an island on Lake Eufaula near the mouth of Patoka Creek.

The WACs are taking this opportunity to learn how 197th Courtesy Patrol considered the 'law'

They don't wear badges on their uniforms, nor is their jeep equipped with a siren and blue light, but the 197th Inf. Bde. Courtesy Patrol is still considered the "law" at Kelley Hill.

The Courtesy Patrol, headed by SFC Jonathan Barker, has many functions, and all are aimed at making better soldiers of the men in the 197th Inf. Bde.

"Our main function," Barker says, "is to apprehend soldiers that are in violation of military uniform violations. If it is a minor infraction like a pocket unbuttoned the soldier is corrected on the spot. If there is something wrong with the soldier's appearance then he receives a written reprimand through his immediate superior."

Also, the 197th Inf. Bde.'s Courtesy Patrol is responsible for the excellent traffic record that most of the soldiers from the brigade have. The Courtesy Patrol issues traffic tickets on Kelley Hill to those soldiers that are caught speeding, running stop signs, and other traffic violations. Rather than having these tickets forwarded to the Provost Marshal though, the Courtesy Patrol insures that the individuals immediate superior and his commanding officer are made aware of what has taken place. Said Barker, "This is usually enough to make most soldiers realize that speed kills. I think you'll find that most soldiers that are caught speeding on Kelley Hill are grateful that it wasn't downtown where it would cost them a big fine, and that the next time they are downtown, they'll go a little slower." The Courtesy Patrol has an outstanding quality that makes them unique from a good many law-enforcing agencies—their goal is to help people from a good many law-enforcing agencies—their goal is to help people become better persons out of themselves and profit from it.

Why are you pulling Guard Duty?

Story by Roger Povey
Photos by Ron White and David Housery

"They mean what a top officer... This guy... I mean some of these staff... rip me off like this. I mean some of this staff... I just can't replace, I mean its stuff I picked up in 'Nam and man I just don't see how I can get it back."

"What kind of dude would do this to a guy. And what's being done to stop it. I mean does this type of thing happen all the time. How many other dudes are gettin' ripped off... I mean this whole thing makes me sick at my stomach. Kinda empty... Man whatta a bummer."

Bummer us right if a barracks thief hits you, and when he does there is no sentiment involved. He'll steal anything of value, anything he gets his hands on.

The barracks thief or the guy that commits larceny under $250 is the most common criminal at Fort Benning.

According to Benning Provost Marshal Statistics NCO. Sgt. Ron White, "Barracks larcenies or thefts under $250 constitute almost half of Fort Benning's crimes. "But," adds White, "Crime in general has been reduced by almost 50 per cent since last January."

That is quite a staggering statistic in light of the fact that crime in the rest of the country is a serious upsurge. What makes Benning different? What causes Fort Benning's statistics to show such a drastic decline? Are they not reported properly? Or are some crimes not reported at all? Are they not truly representative? What? What then is the difference?

"Crime statistics," says White, are recorded in offenses per thousands so it really doesn't make any difference what the post population is. For instance, the lowest incidence of crime before was 8.5 offenses per 1000 in 1970, however in January 1972 the crime rate was 13.7 incidents per 1000. Right now the crime rate per 1000 is 7.5. As you can see the number of offenses has dropped almost in half."

"The statistics," says White, "are reported in ten categories, rape, murder, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, auto theft, larceny over $250, larceny under $250, disorderly conduct and narcotics and drug violations."

Col. E.J. Murdock, post Provost Marshal believes its extremely difficult to discount these statistics, stating, "when a soldier has something stolen he reports it to the MP's and not to his commander."

"Everything," insisted Murdock, "is put on the blotter. If an MP is stopped for drunk driving, then he, just like everyone else is recorded on the MP blotter, the same for all officers and EM's." "The blotter" is there for every commander to see. We have nothing to hide. If an MP becomes a statistic against Fort Benning then he becomes just that: a statistic against Fort Benning."

When asked if unit commanders alter the statistics in anyway, Murdock said, "If you tell a lie you eventually have to tell another one, but if you tell the truth you'll only have to tell it once."

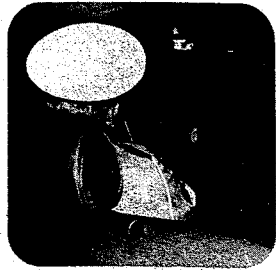

Murdock believes that the only way to defeat crime is to get it out in the open. "If we throw a crime under the rug and don't report it," states Murdock, "then we are really in trouble."

When asked why the crime rate has been reduced by almost half since last January, Col. Murdock pointed to the various maps on the wall in front of his desk. "Increased emphasis on law enforcement is responsible

Crime Prevention

Crime rate cut in half since January for the reduction," Murdock said. "The maps Murdock pointed to are a reflection of Col. Willard Latham, post deputy commander's system of dividing the responsibility of security among the major units and not leaving it solely to the provost marshal office."

"Most commanders," says Latham, "feel that the PMO is responsible for crime prevention, but the individual commanders are responsible for their own areas."

"If a commander didn't take the proper action to halt the crime in his unit," warns Latham, "then I would go to the general and ask him to appoint another commander."

Latham believes that a Fort Benning Soldier has the right to feel secure and walk anywhere on post without the fear of being molested. "A secure environment," adds Latham, "is essential to a man's well-being. We're trying for an environment that soldiers will enlist for and if he doesn't feel safe he probably won't enlist."

The same reaction to crime occurs within the units. "If there is unit," says Latham, "that falls in law and order then that unit will be unhappy."

"People are not aware of the rising crime rates or law and order in general. People see the law as a bother. There has to be increased public awareness in the area of law enforcement. The public must," says Latham, "help fight crime."

Capt. Earl Whited, OIC of the Military Police Investigation Section believes there are several reasons for the reduction in crime at Fort Benning. "Unit commanders," says Whited, "are stressing it to their soldiers and making them aware of how serious crime has become." "I especially like the new guard system Col. Latham installed, this has to be a positive factor," says Whited.

Col. Murdock is also a supporter of the increased guard theory. "Guards," adds Murdock, "add one more deterrent or factor that a potential thief or criminal has to deal with. My belief is if you want INCREASED crime eliminate the guards."

Col. Latham states, "if the crime rate continue to go down there will be a reduction in the amount of guard duty but not their area of responsibility."

"Aside from the unit guards; says Whited, we use Marijuana dogs, helicopters and selective enforcement techniques, which include road blocks placed indiscriminately throughout the post area."

"The road blocks," Whited says, "must be a deterrent to the pot smoker. He never knows when he is going to run into one because they may be at any number of places on any given night."

"The key to the road blocks is the dogs," adds Whited, "we've even put marijuana into airtight containers and left it for two weeks and our dogs still found it."

"Most of our arrests," states Maj. Marcus J. Humble, assistant MP Operations Officer, "from marijuana come from our dogs. Prior to having the dogs they were very few cases made. I think that if the stuff is there the dogs will find it."

The dogs have been in use for three years here at Fort Benning, but they must be certified before their findings can be submitted as evidence. "The dogs," says Humble, "are run through our own nine to fourteen week training course. They then must go to Ft. Gordon for a two week certification trial. One certified both the dogs and their three man team must convince the judge as to the reliability of the dogs."

"Above all and the key to the success of the dogs," says Humble, "is the ability of the handler to recognize when the dog alerts, and no two dogs will alert in the same way."

Barracks Larcenies

"Thefts involving less than $250 comprise almost half of post crimes," says Capt. Whited. "A lot of it is that a guy needs a fire or a battery for his car; so he looks around until he finds a car like his and takes whatever he needs," adds Whited.

"Most offenses happen where soldiers don't know anyone else. Most post robberies occur," adds Whited, "on or near pay day whereas larcenies increase just before pay day."

Parking lots, the PX, Briant Wells Field House, MAH and Infantry Hall parking lots are notorious places for thieves to strike."

"With Christmas coming up," warns Whited, "remember to keep your car locked at all times or put your packages in the trunk."

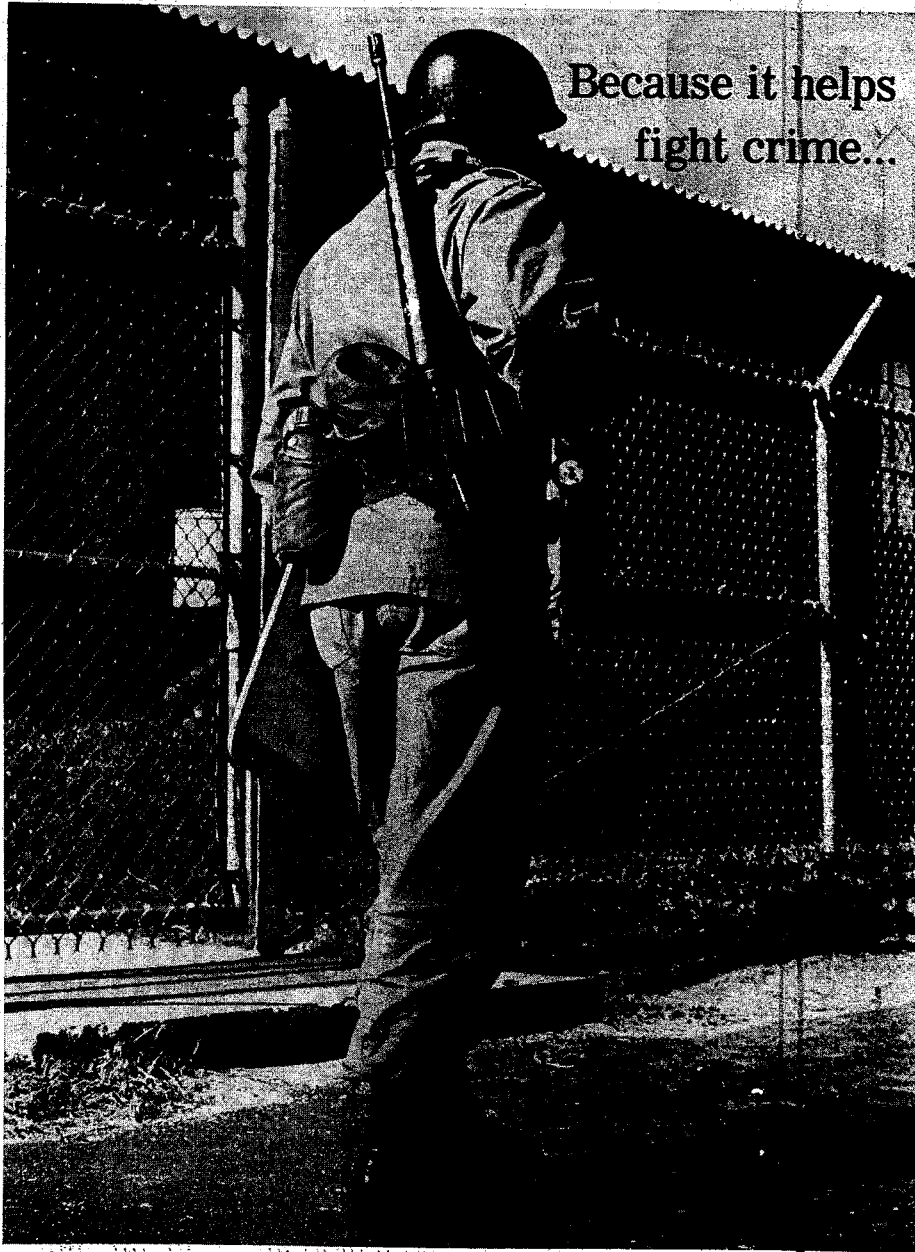

"The whole or crux of the problem," says Col. E.J. Murdock, is that soldiers don't secure their property. They leave their valuables unlocked and out in the open. They never write down serial numbers, and they consistently help the thieves by making easy marks."

"The main reason why larceny is such a problem," states Murdock, "is that the average soldier makes it so easy. Too many times people have gone on vacation and left their daily newspapers pile up on their front lawn. This is an open invitation to most thieves and they have been taking advantage of the situation."

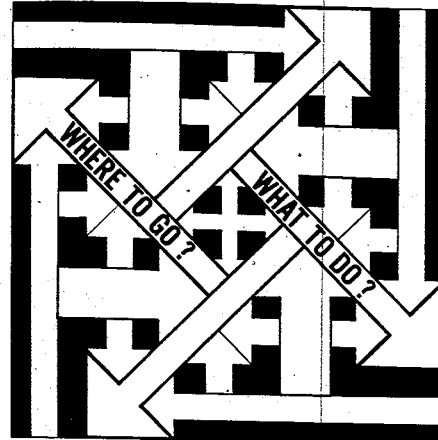

Park Johnson of the Physical Security Section concurs with Col. Murdock's theory. Johnson says, "thieves are banking on the premise that soldiers are not going to take the proper steps in securing their property. One unit in the 1970s, however, requires its soldiers to write down all serial numbers and put them in the CO's safe. This make it harder for thieves to fence stolen property."

"A typical case," cited Murdock, "is the sergeant who takes $400 out of the bank and goes off to a range. He proceeds to wave it all around. He then puts it in a locked brief case, but neglects to lock the car doors. Hours later he returns only to find both the briefcase and money gone. He then comes to us and demands that we take fingerprints. A lot of good that's going to do... right."

Col. Murdock contends that crime at Fort Benning would be severely reduced if people would simply take care of their property. Its critical for people to care," says Murdock, "but they always seem to care too late."

Because it helps fight crime...

Keeping busy

Entertainment plentiful on Post

Are you one of the many that is spending your Holiday season here at Fort Benning? If so, don't forget that there is plenty to keep yourself occupied and having a good time during your time off.

If bowling is your thing, there are two great bowling alleys on post.

The Main Post Bowling Center is located at Bldg. 2763 near Infantry Hall. The center consists of 24 lanes, a bowling Pro Shop, a Lounge, and a Snack Bar.

The Kelley Hill Bowling Center is located on Kelley Hill area at Bldg. 5049. This center has 12 lanes, a resale outlet for bowling equipment, and a snack and lounge.

Maybe you would rather relax while enjoying a movie. Fort Benning has four theaters located throughout the post.

Theater No. 1 (Main Post), Bldg. 90 is located on the corner of Wold Ave. and Ingersoll St.

Theater No. 2, Bldg. 73, is located on the corner of Wold Ave. and Anderson St.

Theater No. 3, Bldg. 2440 (New Sand Hill Theater) is located on the corner of Scott Ave. and 14th St. in the Sand Hill area.

Theater No. 4, Bldg. 5076 is located on Watkins St. Kelley Hill, next to the Chapel.

For those of you who enjoy curling up with a good book at night, Fort Benning has seven libraries for your convenience.

Seyers Memorial Library (Main Post), Bldg. 93, is located on Wold Ave. and Pecom St.

Branch 1, Room 81D, Bldg. 5200, Martin Army

Hospital; Branch 2, Bldg. 3743, Scott Ave. and 4th St. at Sand Hill; Branch 4, Bldg. 4840, Backstrom Rd. at Harmony Church; Branch 5, Bldg. 2826, Sightseeing Rd. at Lawson Field, and Branch 6, Bldg. 5277, Watkins Rd. at Kelley Hill.

The Library Service Center, Bldg. 1761, is located at the corner of Ingersoll and Marchant St.

Fort Benning also offers everyone here nine Arts and Crafts shops located around the post, three service clubs, six field houses and gymnasiums, and an indoor swimming pool.

For more information on what to do during the Holiday season and the hours of operation that the different facilities will be open, contact the Recreation Branch Office located in Bldg. 394.

Auditions for new play to be held Dec. 16 and 17

The next Springer Theatre Company production, "The Pajama Game," with hit songs including "Hey There," "Steam Heat" and "Hernando's Hideaway" opens February 8 and runs through February 18. This is about the best natured musical to ever come from Broadway—an infectious hitting musical comedy about a factory strike that's conducted in the spirit of a cheerleader's carnival.

Auditions for "The Pajama Game" are set for Saturday, December 16 and Sunday, December 17 at 7:00 p.m. at the Springer Studio, 640 Broadway, Columbus, Georgia. Tryouts will also be held on Monday, December 18 at 7:00 p.m. on stage at the Springer Opera House.

All parts in "The Pajama Game" are open and everyone is invited to try out. Each person will be expected to sing an audition song of his choice. An accompanist will be provided but each person is requested to bring music for their song. Scripts are available in the Bradley Library reference room.

During the auditions, production committee assignments will begin, and many backstage volunteers are needed.

Rehearsals will begin on January 8th.

The director is Howard Fox, professor of drama at Montclair State College, New Jersey. Mr. Fox has directed over 50 plays in a career that has led him to community, educational and professional theaters.

Zip, Zip, Zip!

Not a second lost in 'Celebration'

Zip, zip, zip. That's just how fast the show moves and with not a second wasted.

"Celebration," the Third United States Army Soldier Show, will soon be here to entertain the personnel of Fort Benning and our neighbors from Columbus and Phenix City.

The musical review, which is composed of enlisted men and women from throughout the Third Army area, will be performed at Marshall Auditorium in Infantry Hall on the 9th and 10th of December at 7:30 P.M.

The opening number of the show, "Celebration," features Pfc. Henry Williams, dancer, and Sp4 Warren Hartwell, vocalist.

There are Carpenters numbers, "If I were Your Woman" by Sp5 LaVonne Johnson, from Fort Benning and "Everybody Plays the Fool" by a terrific trio.

The Country-Western portion — "The City of New Orleans," and "Guitar Man," is performed by Fort Benning's own Sp4 William Holcomb.

You would have to search a long time before you could come up with a better band which accompanies the performers, led by Dennis Buck, Music Director.

Nita Hughes is the supervisor for the fantastic costumes and Mr. Harold J. Frey, designed the set and lighting effects which so enhance the show.

After the two performances, Mr. Gilbert Gross, Production Supervisor and Director, will hold auditions for any enlisted personnel interested in serving with the Soldier Show Unit. Anyone interested in auditioning can contact Mr. Roy Lehner, Entertainment Director, at 545-2932 for further information.

The free tickets can be picked up in front of the Commissary, PX and in the main hallway of Infantry Hall.

If you like musical reviews, you will want to bring the whole family to see Third Army's extravaganza, "A Celebration."

fits; something like taxation without representation?"
 Some of the more physical steps to be taken are to continue the operation of the Custer Terrace Club, but with revised hours and dress requirements. The men will be allowed to wear fatigues. The Main Club will close on Mondays which is a common practice among many of the other clubs around the country as well as civilian establishments off post. This will result in a monthly savings of $4200 and provide a time for cleaning and maintenance. Bingo will move to Wednesday nights on January 10th. Tennis, golf, the Olson Hall Lounge and the beauty and barbering concessions, however, will remain open.

The Country Club's food services will be reduced to a cold sandwich menu since few members are using that facility. The check cashing facility located in the main club will have reduced operating hours since it is a non-profit function. Costing $15,000 a year. Checks can still be cashed at the other mess facilities. The Supper Club package store will close in January. The Consolidated Store located near the museum will have its hours of operation changed and will provide service Tuesday through Saturday.

A Positive Outlook

Lt. Col. Carter was quick to point out that every effort is being made to upgrade the services and facilities and lessen inefficiency. If these actions have the desired result of putting the club into the black then some of these more unpopular actions may be reversed.

Seagulls?

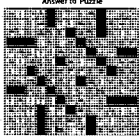

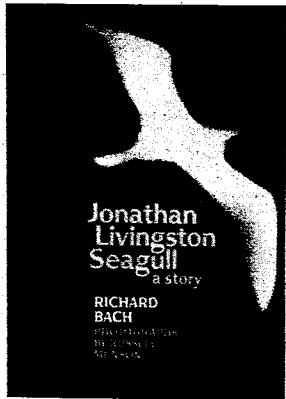

Book review of 'Jonathan Livingston Seagull'

BY RANDY BOOSE
 Can one million people be wrong? They can, if after reading Richard Bach's Jonathan Livingston Seagull they describe it as "icky-poo", as one critic did.
 With sales over a million and having the number one spot on the best seller list, as well as making the cover of TIME, Jonathan should not be taken lightly. Several publishing firms, who passed up a chance to publish the book, did not take it seriously and they are moaning as its sales figures soar.
 What is Jonathan Livingston Seagull all about? He is the main character of the book named after John Livingston, a famous racing pilot of the 1930s. The author, Bach, is a former jet pilot who like Jonathan would rather fly than almost anything.

Flying is what Jonathan does in the book — to become a perfect gull; in essence the perfect self. "A Seagull," one of Jonathan's disciples says, "is an unlimited idea of freedom, an image of the Great Gull, and your whole body, from wing tip to wingtip, is nothing more than your thought itself." Jonathan's motto is "the gull sees farthest who flies highest." Jonathan is the gull who can see the farthest. He is the flock and this causes him to become an Outcast. He is more to being a gull than flying for food. He eventually discovers the joys of flying that he and many of the other seagulls never knew existed. Teaching other gulls to escape their own self-imposed limitations then becomes his ultimate goal.

Of course there is more to the book than just seagull flying. This is what makes the book so intriguing, you can make the story whatever you want. Bach fills the book with religious and philosophical implications to involve the reader and make him ask questions of himself. Of course the reader can avoid this level of involvement in the book and read it just for the enjoyment of the story itself. When you finish with the book, even if you think it is corny, it still leaves you with a positive feeling. It is a book for children and adults alike. Jonathan Livingston Seagull has all the qualities of becoming a classic. It is a cross between Alice in Wonderland and Ghibran's The Prophet, with the commercial impact of Naked Came The Stranger.

Russell Munson adds another dimension to the books with his quality photos of seagulls which are placed interestingly throughout the book.
 Now you want to go out and buy the book? You can buy it at the Main Post bookstore at less than the $4.95 it costs at most places. That is, if they have any copies of it. Like most places it sells as fast as it can be stocked. A new order is expected next week at the book store if you want to discover gulldom.

Southern California No. 1 on gridiron

By the Associated Press Southern California sits atop the college football world, but the Ohio State Buckeyes could rock the boat by upsetting the Trojans in the Rose Bowl.

Although unanamous No. 1 in Tuesday's final regular season Associated Press poll, the 11-0 USC team must risk its top-rated week one more time.

Post-bowl balloting in the infant hours of 1973 will determine the 1972 national champion since most leading teams have post-season duty ahead.

Southern Cal grabbed all 50 first-place votes from sports writers and broadcasters in final regular season voting in a runaway over second place Oklahoma. Sugar Bowl

5th Bn. second half surge wins game

Second Battalion Cadre put on a last half charge and outscored 5th Bn. Cadre 21-10 but it wasn't enough as 12th Bn. squeezed out a 31-29 triumph in TSB basketball action last week. Lonan Ellis topped 5th Bn. with 10 points, and Gustavus Martin scored 12 for 2nd Bn.

It looked like a runaway with 5th Bn. leading 21-9 at halftime, but then 2nd Bn. started their assault that brought them within two points of winning.

IOAC 6-72 stopped 8th Bn. 32-26, overcoming 8th Bn.'s slim one point lead at halftime. IOAC-6 poured in 10 points to just 3 for 8th Bn. in the final period to clinch the victory.

In other action IOAC-73 cruised to an easy 40-23 conquest of the punchless parachute riggers.

Fourth Battalion Cadre outlasted 88th Co. in a low scoring 25-19 contest. All tied up at halftime, 4th Bn. scored 11 in the second half while 88th Co. could manage only 5. Timothy Binder led 4th Bn. with 7 points, and Wayne Stabb accounted for nearly 50 per cent of his teams total with 9.

77-52 HHC, 197th maintains hold

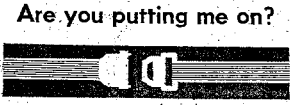

HHC, 197th Inf. Bde. maintained their hold on first place in the brigade company-level basketball tournament by defeating HHC, 1st Bn., 88th Inf., 77-52 at Kelley Hill Gym on Nov. 29th.

With fast-paced action throughout the entire game, the score really should have been closer than it was, but the PATRIOT team was outjumped and outscored throughout.

A major factor in this win was the ability and height of William (Slim) Dottery, of HHC. Dottery, who towers above most mortal men, stands at 6-feet-8-inches tall and has four years experience as a basketball center. In addition to his ability to score and outjump the majority of his opponents, Dottery possesses an uncanny amount of grace and coordination.

As would be expected, Dottery was the high scorer in this game with 29 points along with his 15 rebounds that gave HHC an obvious advantage.

When the post basketball championship gets underway in January, there is no question that Dottery and the 197th are going to provide some rugged competition for the major units on post.

Allstars win 24-0 in Pee-Wee tilt

A punishing line, powerful backs, a steadfast defense and a running back named Bryan Thoma combined in a 24-0 rout over the Allstars' first score determined but outmanned "Pee-Wee League Champs" Vikings last Saturday at Doughboy Stadium.

In the first quarter, Brian Thoma found a hole and rambled 24 yards for the Allstars' first score and a 6-0 lead.

A costly fumble on a hand off early in the second quarter gave the Allstars another touchdown as Allstar Kevin Thoma fell on it in the end zone to boost the score to 12-0.

In the third quarter the Vikings came out ready to do some damage to the Allstar. Following a long kick off return by Viking's Joe Kinder the Vikings drove to the Allstar 9 yard line, sparked with hard running by Viking Ken Whitaker. Bad luck struck again as Allstar Dan Glemakor recovered a Viking Brian Thoma (14) scores for the Allstars' first score in the Pee Wee Allstar game.

Dramatizers prepare to elect new officers

The Fort Benning Dramatizers call on all members to be at the Dec. 11 and 18 meetings at the Fort Benning Playhouse, Bldg. 1237 behind the Infantry Museum on Ingersoll. The Dramatizers will be taking nomination for the election of officers at the Dec. 11 meeting, with the election being on Monday

Dec. 18. Also, Dec. 11 is the last day for submission of plays by directors for the Dramatizers next production. The play will be selected by the Board of governors of the Playhouse and be announced at the Dec. 18 meeting.

The Fort Benning Dramatizers is open to all persons interested in theatre, military, civilian or dependent. The purpose of the club is to put on plays for the Fort Benning, Columbus and Phenix City audiences that come to the Playhouse. Also the Dramatizers provide interested persons with on the job type training in the technical aspects of play production. Meetings of the Dramatizers are held each Monday evening at 7:30 at the Playhouse. Anyone wishing to attend is welcome.

Operation Adventure introduced to 51st Co.

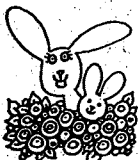

What's it like to be Airborne? That's what the officer candidates of the 51st Co. 5th Sst. Bn. found out last Saturday as they participated in another phase of "Operation Adventure." The officer candidates were given the full tour of the facilities of the Airborne Department's tower committee.

Included in the tour was a briefing by Major Mark Pomilio and MSGT. Jerry D. Wilson of the tower committee. Then it was out to the towers as the officer candidates jumped from both the 54 and 250 foot towers.

Sponsored by 2nd Lt. Larry H. Robertson, 51st Co. tactical officer, "Operation Adventure" is designed to give officer candidates a first hand look at various career fields and schools offered by the Army, with an emphasis on infantry oriented training. The candidates have already participated in Ranger Training and Airmobile operations.

During the morning activities the candidates were treated to a surprise visit by Col. A. G. Norris, commander of the School Brigade.

MTU conducts matches

Many of the nation's top marksmen will be converging on this west Georgia Infantry post Dec. 8 to participate in three of the final competitive matches of the year.

The first of these matches, an indoor individual and four-man team event, will feature a 500 point 23 Caliber handgun Galle y championship. This one day match, sanctioned by the National Rifle Association, will serve as a preliminary for the January Indoor Sectional. SFC Heshel Anderson of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit and Tracey City, Tenn., won the 1972 championship with his new annual record score of 89-60X in January this year.

The remaining two tournaments, one a Three-Gun 2700 Aggregate Pistol Championship and the other an 800 point aggregate High Power Rifle tournament will both be two day affairs fired over the weekend.

The three days of pistol competition offering the two championships will pit the cream of the handgun world in a scoring duel for recognition and honor. Both National Pistol Champion, SFC Bonnie Harmon and Anderson will be vying for the top spots.

The Three-Gun 2700 Aggregate tournament, a regular Fort Benning Monthly Open Pistol match held at Phillips Range, will witness nearly 60 marksmen from various military and civilian communities competing for the top prize. Shooters from Ft. Bragg, N. C.; Third Army Marksmanship; U. S. Army Infantry Center; Ft. McClellan, Ala.; Eglin AFB, Fla., and the U. S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit, will compete in the events for both individual and team honors. A WAC Pistolist from Fort McClellan will be competing for distaff honors.

Message insures fair practices at every level of command

Increased emphasis is being placed on equal employment and race relations throughout the Army in a concerted effort to insure nondiscriminatory practices at every level of management and command.

The added emphasis has been stressed in messages from both Lt. Gen. Melvin Zais, commander of Third U.S. Army (USA), and Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander.

In a message to commanders of all TUSA installations, Gen. Zais noted that it has long been his conviction that a soldier can be judged only by his military attributes, not by the color of his skin, or his ethnic or religious background.

Gen. Zais said the message "is for the purpose of reiterating my conviction and personal commitment to assure equal opportunity for all members of our military community," adding that the commitment "applies to civilian employees as well as to military personnel and their dependents."

The Third Army commander pointed out that certain positive actions are being taken at his headquarters to strengthen the Equal Opportunity/Race Relations Program.

"A separate Human Relations Officer" to operate under the deputy chief of staff for personnel, but with special staff status, is being established," Gen. Zais said. "This insures that the Human Relations Officer will have immediate and direct access to the Command Group. "While this office will have staff responsibility for Equal Opportunity Race Relations matters, I consider myself to be the Equal Opportunity Race Relations Officer. As such, I will be actively and personally involved in the program and will expect no less of installation commanders. The Army staff as well as the Human Relations Officer will be involved in the program and methods are being devised to measure results."

Gen. Zais added that "racism in any form, whether individual or institutional, must be crushed and affirmative actions taken to establish true equality of opportunity."

In his message, Gen. Talbot noted that he also is "totally committed to equality for all members of our military community, to include civilian employees as well as military personnel and their dependents."

He said a concerted effort must be made within the chain of command to insure nondiscriminatory practices at every level of management and command within our military organization.

Gen. Talbot charged "each commander at every level to reexamine his programs to support Equal Opportunity and Race Relations, and to strengthen them in every area where it is deemed necessary. Firm and aggressive leadership is of the essence in this vital issue. Whatever our rank, whatever our position, we owe our personal commitment to the task of providing equal opportunity for all."

Nation's top marksmen converge here to battle handgun competitors entered in the three days series of matches includes Dr. William Davis, Atlanta; Dr. William Olesby, Miami; and Harry Burks, Albany, Ga., all master marksmen.

High Power Rifle competitors will be swapping shots on McAndrews Range both Saturday and Sunday with the 800 point five match aggregate championship being determined on Sunday.

Competition in the "Big Bore" rifle matches will include both a slow fire and rapid fire contests at the 200 yard range, a 800 yard rapid fire match and the customary 600 yard slow fire match. Twenty shots will be fired at each range mark making up the 800 point aggregate.

From entries mailed in, indications are that nearly 40 high power rifle competitors will be contending for the top honors. Competitors include teams representing Ft. Bragg, N. C.; Third Army Headquarters; The Infantry Center and U. S. Army Marksmanship Unit. One of the top civilian rifle competitors will be James Canington of Columbus, Ga., who won the Air Force Cup Match in the 1971 National Rifle and Pistol Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The series of matches, sponsored by the Fort Benning Rifle and Pistol Club, are all sanctioned NRA matches and open to all competitors. Mr. Tom Kirkman, Rifle and Pistol Club manager, will be directing.

Fort Benning Warrant Officer Chapter has first meeting

The newly organized Fort Benning Warrant Officer Chapter is off to a good start, according to Warrant Officer Bryce W. Gordon, chairman of the chapter.

According to Gordon, 31 warrant officers assigned to Fort Benning attended the first chapter meeting at the Main Officers Club, 9 November. The members present, elected temporary officers in order to conduct this and future meetings until their proposed Constitution and By-Laws are approved and permanent officers are elected.

The temporary officers are: CW3 Gordon, 60th Transit Company, Chairman; CW2 Warren Harding, USAIS, Vice Chairman; and CW2 Jesse Collins, USAIS, Recorder.

"The Constitution of this chapter has been approved," says Gordon, "the following objectives will be established: to foster a spirit of patriotism and devotion to duty among our members; recommend and support the improvement of the services; to disseminate professional information among Warrant Officers, to promote the technical and social welfare of our members and to promote a spirit of true comradeship among our members."

All Warrant Officers, both active or retired, in the vicinity of Fort Benning who are interested in obtaining membership in the U.S. Army Warrant Officer Association and the Fort Benning Chapter, are encouraged to contact CWO Flash Gordon at 345-

SFC climaxes 20 yrs.

SFC Lawrence Reynolds climaxed 20 years of active service in the Army during a retirement ceremony held in his honor on Oct. 31 in the USAIS conference room. Beard President Walter E. Meitzen, presided over the ceremony, and officially made the presentation of Reynolds' retirement orders.

Much of Reynolds' career has consisted of his work as a Combat Construction Specialist and Foreman. Another of his major assignments was his work as a Chemical NCO. He served in that capacity for a tour at Ft. Benning, and also with the 1st Cavalry Division in Vietnam.

'This Man's Army' phrase outdated Whose Army?

Women have invaded the citadel of the foot soldier at last. The United States Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, ironclad domain of the infantryman, will enroll its first WAC students in the Infantry Officer Advanced Course this January.

The two WACs, Capt. Theresa Netherton and Capt. Patricia Hickerson, will be the first of several hundred Infantry officers. One of them, Capt. Netherton, is married to an Infantryman, Capt. David Netherton.

The two Nethertons will be going through the nine-month course together. They will attend the same classes, use the same textbooks, and listen to the same instructors.

Capt. David and Theresa Netherton are both currently assigned to the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station, where they met in 1971. She was assigned there in January, 1971, as WAC recruiting officer, and he is executive officer of the recruiting station.

Capt. Theresa Netherton came to Montgomery from Camp Zama, Japan, where she had been Army Community Service officer since November, 1968. Before shipping off to Japan, she was an instructor in general military subjects at the WAC Training Battalion, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

She holds a bachelor's degree in secondary education from Arizona State University. She taught high school Spanish for a year in California before entering the Army with a direct commission as a second lieutenant.

Capt. Netherton attended the WAC Officer Candidate Course, at Ft. McClellan. Following completion of the course, she commanded a WAC detachment there.

The Nethertons will begin the Infantry Officer Advanced Course on Jan. 13, 1973. Capt. Patricia Hickerson, Commanding Officer of the WAC Band at Ft. McClellan, will start the course at the same time.

Capt. Hickerson entered the service at Raleigh, N.C. in August, 1968. She received her Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from Converse College in Spartanburg, S.C., and came into the Army with a direct commission as a first lieutenant.

After attending the WAC Officer Basic Course, Capt. Hickerson was assigned to Headquarters, Military District of Washington, D.C. She served there from December, 1968, until January, 1970, when she was transferred to Ft. McClellan.

Capt. David Netherton, the male member of the team, is a graduate of the University of Arkansas, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration. He attended the Infantry Officer Basic Course at Fort Benning in 1966.

Capt. Netherton left the Army for 14 months after assignments with the 199th Infantry Brigade here and the 2d Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex. He returned to active duty in April, 1969, and served a tour in Vietnam beginning in September, 1969.

After returning from Vietnam in September, 1970, he was assigned to the U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station at Gunter Air Force Base. He and Capt. Theresa Netherton were married there in December, 1971.

Capt. Patricia Hickerson is also married. Her husband, who is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute; was in the Army for two years. He is now with a management consultant firm based in New England.

Both Capt. Theresa Netherton and Capt. Hickerson are looking forward to the course, although they are "somewhat apprehensive" about being female pioneers in a (until now) all-male course.

Capt. Netherton was originally scheduled to attend the Adjutant General officers' advanced course at Fort Benning, Ind., and her husband had been placed in the Infantry Officer Advanced Course.

When she learned that she, too, was to attend IOAC, her husband received permission to enroll in the same course as his wife. He had previously been scheduled for an earlier course.

Capt. Netherton hopes to benefit from her husband's Infantry experience. "I'm looking forward to the training and exposure to new subjects," she said.

Capt. Hickerson requested the Infantry course over other branches "because Infantry schooling has such a good reputation." She feels that "Infantrymen have the type of background that we lack," and adds, "I hope the backgrounds will be compatible. It should be interesting to find out."

Times are changing, they say. When WAC officers attend the Infantry Officer Advanced Course, who can her husband receive permission to enroll in the same course? "This man's Army" in favor of a more up-to-date expression.

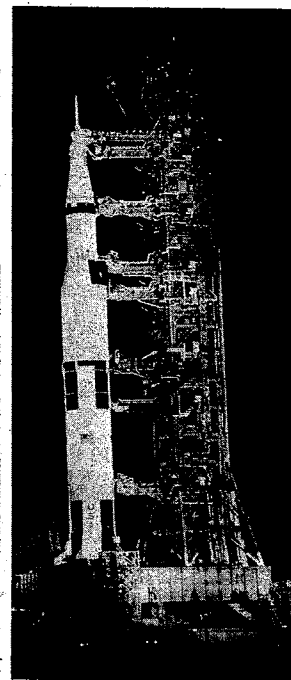

Free AUSA sends soldiers to Peach Bowl clash

The Fort Benning Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army (AUSA) will bring cheer to 30 outstanding soldiers during the holidays. Tickets to the Peach Bowl Game scheduled

Dec. 29 at 3 p.m. will be given to individuals to be determined by the command sergeant majors of each of the major command headquarters.

In addition to providing 30 tickets to the North Carolina State — Virginia clash, AUSA is also providing bus transportation to and from Atlanta. Those men selected to attend the game will leave from the National Bank of Fort Benning at 3 p.m. and will return to Fort Benning immediately following the game.

Charles S. Daley, president of the Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning AUSA Chapter said, "We think this is one of the most worthy projects that we can sponsor for the young soldiers who may not make it home for Christmas."

Benning helps

Two helicopter crews from the 494th Medical Co. (Air Ambulance) participated in the launch of Apollo 17 at Cape Kennedy, Fla., last week. The crews were on standby in the event of injuries to persons on the ground. Assisting the operation were CW2 William J. Loyd, 1st Lt. Richard R. Beacham and SPS John E. Barnaby. Also making the trip to the launch site were Capt. Eldon H. Ideus, CW2 William M. North and SPS James H. Jackson.

Christmas tree lighting scheduled for Tuesday

The annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony at Fort Benning will be held in front of Infantry Hall (Bldg 4) Tuesday, December 19, beginning at 5:45 p.m.

Major Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander, will make remarks for the occasion prior to simultaneous lighting of the Christmas trees and the "Seasons Greetings" sign, located on top of Infantry Hall.

The 268th Army Band, Infantry Chorus, and a children's choir provided by the Chaplains Division, will provide music for the occasion and a community sing will conclude the ceremony.

All personnel and their dependents are cordially invited to attend the ceremony.

Stamp albums make excellent gifts

Postmaster S. R. Kelly announced that the 1972 commemorative stamp folders are available to area residents at the Columbus Post Office and all classified stations, including the Ft. Benning Branch. The limited quantity of 1971 first issue albums are also available to make a complete set.

AUSA plans to help underprivileged kids

The Columbus-Phenix City-Fort Benning Chapter, Association of the U.S. Army (AUSA), will assist the Valley Rescue Mission in providing toys for underprivileged children and Christmas baskets for many needy area families this year.

Charles Daley, president of the local AUSA unit, Tuesday presented a check to mission officials to help defray the cost of the program. Accepting the check were Mrs. Howard Mott and Col. (ret.) Reuben Kyle.

Last Christmas the Mission provided toys for 1,360 children and Christmas dinners for more than 600 area families. In addition, a Christmas dinner was served at the mission for the homeless and transient.

Mission workers, as well as groups and individuals in the Chattahoochee Valley area, are now repairing toys to be distributed this Christmas. Additional volunteers and toys are being sought.

Persons having toys to donate to the program are asked to telephone 322-6267 or write P.O. Box 1232, Columbus.

What is your opinion of the Army's progressive educational system for noncommissioned officers?

NCOES grads give opinion

E-7 James Clark
84th Co. School Brigade
I think the program is very good. It's something that all non-commissioned officers have always wanted. The school is working well but it has some rough edges that have to be smoothed out just like any new project would have.

E-6 Fredrick Puchs
82d Co. School Brigade
I think it's great. It's about time the Army came through with something like this. Although the first three weeks were administration, I'm learning a lot out of it.

E-6 Larry Welch
82d Co. School Brigade
This school for E-5s and below that I'm participating in should be for low ranking enlisted men with no prior combat experience. I could see maybe a refresher course for E-5s but I really think that the school should have E-5s and E-6s together. It should have more administration work involved in the program. It needs many improvements.

E-7 Arthur Larson
84th Co. School Brigade
It could be better. The idea is good and the opportunities are there and unlimited in school, but more soldiers have to know what's available for their use. It will take time to make this program 100 percent successful. It needs improvements.

E-6 William Hamilton
84th Co. School Brigade
I think the program is good. It's something that all non-commissioned officers have always wanted. The school is working well but it has some rough edges that have to be smoothed out just like any new project would have.

THE ARITHMETIC OF ADEQUACY

The National AUSA Headquarters has recently distributed a fact sheet which summarizes the present defense posture of the United States. At its last annual meeting, the Association outlined its recommendation that the total US Army force strength (including Active, National Guard, and Reserve) should not be reduced below 900,000. A copy of the position paper has been provided to the USAIS Library so that its contents are readily available to anyone interested.

JOBS FOR VETERANS PROGRAM

Another topic vital to the concerns of AUSA is the employment of veterans seeking employment. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said in a recent speech that "perhaps the most important single project to help the veteran is the Jobs for Veterans Program inaugurated by President Nixon in June, 1970." The need for a program of this nature is caused by a transition "from a wartime economy to a peacetime economy" that has resulted in the past three years. All the veteran is asking, Laird said is "for the chance to serve his Nation in peace as he did in war."

For further information regarding the Jobs for Veterans Program, write to the AUSA National Headquarters in Washington, D. C. AUSA is offering a special Best Chapter Award this year for the chapter contributing most to adequate military strength to insure the peace of the world. The paper concludes, "It is our view that in the involved

Ordnance demonstration gives children insight

Two teams of soldiers from the 88th Ordnance Detachment at Fort Benning visited every school on Post recently. The purpose of their visits was to present demonstrations on ammunition safety during the holidays and throughout the year.

The demonstrations were held from November 27 to December 8, for grades 1 to 8. The children were made aware of the danger involved with explosive devices, and told how to identify such a device when they see one.

In most schools, classes viewed the demonstration in small groups. The demonstration included a lecture and discussion about ammunition safety, a display of explosive materials, and a film showing the correct way to handle explosives.

Teachers of the classes follow up using leaflets and other aids. One 4th grade teacher, Mrs. Brenda Rowe of Edward A. White School, said, "Parental action is necessary to drive the point home to the kids."

Miss Bammie Sheppard, a 6th grade teacher at White School, added, "So far, the parents have done a good job, but it is necessary for them to be extra careful now with the holidays coming up."

The demonstration is put on every year by the men of the 88th Ordnance Detachment. It is sponsored by the Safety Section in conjunction with the Assistant Superintendent for Instruction of Fort Benning Dependents' Schools.

Christmas trees and toys can put an end to your holiday

"It was the night before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse. The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, in hopes that Saint Nicholas would soon be there." Or would he? He most assuredly would have no trouble in finding the house. Why? It was burning as a result of faulty Christmas tree wiring.

Although Fort Benning has not had a serious holiday fire in the last few years, it doesn't mean that we shouldn't knock on wood. Everyone, rich or poor, is susceptible to fire in their homes. Christmas for those people who suffer a disaster is anything but merry. Since Christmas decor is a once-in-a-year thing, it behooves all of us to take out time when selecting the proper decorations.

Not all Christmas trees are freshly cut. You, the buyer, should inquire as to the time the tree was cut. If the salesman lacks this information, check the cut end to see how dry the sap appears to be. If the needles fall easily from the branches, the tree has probably been around for several days, if not weeks.

Fresh trees do not catch fire as easily as dry ones. Once cut, they will not dry out as readily if the cut end is kept in a container of water and sugar solution. The trees should not be placed near heating units or fireplaces. Lighted candles, matches, and other "open flames" should be kept away from the tree as well. An even bigger danger exists when decorative lights are left burning after going to bed or leaving the house. The common dangers of short circuits, broken insulation or exposed wires can exist even with approved tree light sets. Old age and excessive handling can impair even the best equipment.

Overloaded circuits can occur when you have too much plugged into too little power, or by using aluminum or metal foil in a burned out light socket hooked in a "series" to keep others burning. Don't be cheap and use indoor light sets outdoors. Santa doesn't like getting a surprise when admiring a tree.

Waste strewn about a tree on Christmas day can end in a wasteful day. Tissue-gilt wrapping paper catches fire especially when left near fire places after gifts have been exchanged. These wrappings should be discarded as soon as possible, and remember, recycle that paper. This reduces waste and a loss of valuable resources.

"I heard him exclaim as he drove out of sight, Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."

Christmas trees are pretty but dangerous too

By Bill Brownell

700,000 hurt because of toys

"Dear Santa,"
"My name is Barry and I am six years old. Boy, I can hardly wait for Christmas this year. I've been a real good boy and haven't cursed or spit at the dinner table. So I think it would be nice if you would let me have the following stuff: electric train, chemistry set, cowboy guns."
"My sister would like a doll and a play kitchen. She has been real good too."

Love,
Barry Brown
Santa has read this letter and many letters just like it from millions of other children from all over the world. Well old Chris Kringle put out the word to all his elves this year that if there are any goods in gifts that those responsible will get sent to the hot place for endangering the lives of all of his subjects. No foolin'!

Santa said, "While most toys are considered safe, there are enough unsafe ones around to cause an estimated 700,000 injuries each year to children just in the United States alone. Of course, the majority of these injuries are not serious, but that is little consolation to those parents whose children do suffer serious, sometimes fatal, injuries."

"Toy construction should be one of your most important considerations in choosing toys. Is the toy able to stand up to a child's rough treatment?" he asked.

"Construction material is another vital point of consideration. Wood parts can splinter, metal parts might have sharp edges, plastic might shatter, and small parts, if removable, might be swallowed by our little friends."

See Toys page 36

HumRRO

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — What kind of soldier is best equipped by nature to detect mines and booby traps, and what kind of training can the Army give him to enhance this inherent ability?

Finding an answer to this double-barreled question is the task the Army has just given to HumRRO — the Human Resources Research Organization. The U.S. Army Mobility Equipment Research and Development Center has awarded HumRRO an 18-month, $2,000 contract to identify the individual differences involved in human mine detection, and to recommend appropriate selection procedures and training programs.

This research project, code-named "IDENTIFY," will be undertaken by HumRRO Division No. 4 at Fort Benning, with Theodore Powers as Principal Investigator. The ultimate aim of the HumRRO research project is to identify the visual skills used during the mine-detection process that can be refined by training. In addition, HumRRO scientists will identify selection programs for identifying men who already possess a high aptitude for training in visual detection.

In addition, HumRRO scientists will identify training methods that can be used with high-aptitude personnel who are chosen by the recommended selection procedures.

Children of Meddac to have party

Children of members of the MEDDAC Officers' Wives Club from one through six years of age will be entertained at a special Christmas Party on Sunday, December 17 from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Main Ballroom of the Fort Benning Officers' Open Mess.

In addition to punch, cookies, candy and other holiday treats, the children will enjoy a personal chat with Santa Claus and the antics of visiting clowns. Each child is requested to bring a wrapped gift, not to exceed $1.00 in cost and marked "boy" or "girl" according to the child's own sex.

SUBJECT: Accident Prevention - Christmas-New Year Holiday Season

ALL FORT BENNING PERSONNEL

1. The approaching Christmas-New Year holiday season will be marked for many by accidental deaths and injuries. Traffic accidents alone will claim hundreds of lives and will seriously injure thousands more during the two week period.
2. To preclude Fort Benning personnel from becoming a holiday statistic, I encourage each of you to recognize and fully appreciate the increased accident potential associated with this holiday season.
3. If you must drive, drive defensively, fasten your seat belts and become safety conscious. Always expect the unexpected and be prepared for it. Although the unexpected may never occur, your increased awareness could prevent an accident or substantially reduce the seriousness of one.
4. I urge everyone to join me in a consolidated effort to make this an accident free holiday season.

Singing specialist turns to PIO

Pounding a defensible typewriter is not the only passion of the brand new School Brigade PIO. Sgt George Korda is a singer, and has been singing as long as he can remember. He has performed on records, in concerts, in contests, and even at football games.

As in any endeavor where one has to perform in public he can recount many experiences, some unusual, some terrifying, and some very gratifying.

"I can remember one time when I sang at a Junior Miss Pageant near my hometown of Merritt Island, Fla. I sang 'Love Story,' 'Close to You,' and some other songs that fit the occasion. When I got finished and was leaving the hall a girl grabbed hold of me and tried to yank my coat off. Then she went for my tie. She didn't get either one!"

Another time he was about to sing the national anthem at his high school's homecoming football game in front of 7,000 people, accompanied by the band. "Everything was going just fine" he said "then the band sat down, then suddenly as he puts it, "the room exploded. People were standing up on chairs clapping and yelling. They went on for so long I had to do it again. I enjoyed it very much. Everyone enjoyed being appreciated."

With all this going for him, why join the Army? "There isn't much stability in singing unless you hit it big. Besides I just got engaged recently and I wanted something stable. I enjoy writing, and the Army made it possible for me to do exactly what I wanted to. Besides, I'll always have my voice."

Cadettes to hold bazaar

Cadettes of the Fort Benning area will hold a bazaar selling Christmas ornaments and assorted odds and ends at the Youth Activities Center on Dec. 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All items to be sold are hand-made by the Cadettes and the proceeds from the bazaar will go toward a Cadette trip to Savannah.

Race Relations workshop to be held Dec. 18, 19

Dr. Carl Segal, a former Army psychiatrist from Columbia, Maryland, will conduct a workshop in race relations here next week at Benning House. The workshop will be held Dec. 18 and 19 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Among those in attendance will be Maj. Gen. Edwin C. Talbot, Fort Benning commander. Approximately thirty other senior officers, including major or unit commanders and USAIS department directors, also will participate. The purpose of the workshop is to provide an opportunity for commanders to discuss and exchange their personal feelings and ideas concerning race relations.

Dr. Segal will be assisted by the Fort Benning Race Relations Coordinating Group. The workshop will examine individual attitudes of those attending, their attitudes as leaders, and will discuss possible future directions for race relations program.

Dr. Segal will bring two other individuals along with him to act as "floating resource people" during the conference. They are Dr. Emile Benedit, who is employed by the Public Health Service, and Mrs. Barbara Bray, a dependent Army wife and high-school guidance counselor. The conference will consist of large group meetings as well as smaller discussion groups. Two local high-school students from the Neighborhood Youth Corps program will also participate. According to Dr. Segal, the conference will discuss "individual attitudes of the men involved and exploration of current issues and methods of con-

Hostesses for the OWC cookbook still need recipes of all sorts, omelets, beverages, main dishes, desserts, etc. Wives get your husbands to write their favorite recipes. Place the recipes in the Feminine Boxes at both commissaries or contact Mrs. Richard Soltz, 545-1825.

The evening was concluded with Mrs. Hoglan teaching the basic steps in making a round tablecloth. Several suggestions were also discussed for holiday decorations.

The monthly coffee for the ladies of DIO was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Hutcheson on Zuckerman Ave., Fort Benning. Mrs. Edward Schowalter poured at a table laden with party delights.

Following the social hour was a brief business meeting. Mrs. Henry Hutcheson presented Mrs. Kenneth Kaplan with a farewell tray. The completed disaster projects were on display for the group. DIO will sponsor a needy family for Christmas. Mrs. Thomas MacGregor and Mrs. John Segal will be co-chairmen for this project. An evening Christmas party will take the place of the December coffee. Mrs. Edward Schowalter will be our hostess for January.

FIELD ARTILLERY. Hostesses for the occasion, Mrs. Jim Graham and Mrs. Ed Erick greeted the guests at Mrs. Graham's home on Fournet Court, Fort Benning, and presented them with colorful nametags. A bowl of fruit served as centerpiece for the table, which boasted a lavish assortment of homemade cookies, tarts, and sandwiches. Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, special guest of the evening, and Mrs. Curtis Hoglan assisted the hostesses by serving coffee and punch. In the business session, Mrs. Hoglan greeted several new wives. Attending their first coffee were Mrs. Mike Wells, Mrs. Isaac Thomas, and Mrs. Steve Emison, all coming to the group from Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. Mrs. Jerry Nowals, a recent bride, was also welcomed officially to the wives' group. Many announcements were made and plans were discussed for the upcoming artillery ball.

Infantry Chorus sings for Meddac wives' tea

Meddac wives were put into a festive mood when the Infantry Chorus performed at their dessert tea on December 8th. Applause greeted the Chorus as they marched crisply into the FBOOM Super Club. Dressed in blue jackets, red shirts, and white pants the Infantry Chorus presented a striking group. They sang such favorites as "We Three Kings of Orient Are" and "Little Drummer Boy."

Hostesses who were wives from the departments of OB-Gyn, Pathology, and AMSC provided Christmas decorations for the tea. Mrs. Billy Burk headed the hostesses. Mrs. Lawrence Minei and Mrs. Marc Lowen won the raffle prizes. The January Meddac Wives' Club event will be a farewell luncheon honoring Mrs. Haskell Zipper-

ADVENTURE TRAINING!

FOURTEEN HARDY MEMBERS OF HEADQUARTERS COMMAND SPENT AN EVENTFUL THREE DAYS RECENTLY BOATING AND FISHING THE CHATTANOOGHEE RIVER. LARRY ANDERSON ON AN ISLAND ON LAKE EUFALLA AND DEBATED A BOUT OF BAD WEATHER. LARRY ANDERSON ENJOYED THEMSELVES. BOATS AND EQUIPMENT WERE PROVIDED BY THE REG. ENGINEERS.

Just like the old days?

CAN YOU TIE A BOWLINE? BOUCE?

WHAT'S THAT? FISHING? BOUCE?

THEY'RE ALL LAUGHING AND ENJOYING THEMSELVES.

“Meeting people is my thing.”

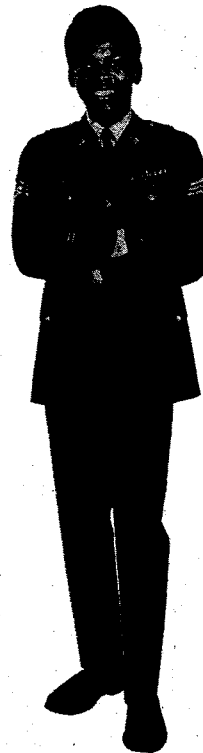

Sergeant Cornell Russell is a drill sergeant. He's a friendly guy. He likes people and they like him.

“I chose this job because I always wanted to work with people. When I came into the Army the drill sergeants who trained me were really enthusiastic and they gave me that same enthusiasm.

“One of the great things about the Army is that you meet a variety of people from all walks of life. Every day you meet somebody new and interesting and you get to know them and like them. To me that's important.

“I've worked hard at my job and I'm proud to say that I have always had 100% graduation in my classes. I feel good about that.”

The Army is giving Sergeant Russell plenty of opportunity for job satisfaction.

The Army gives a man a lot of other opportunities, too. Job and educational opportunities. With the hundreds of jobs in the Army, there's bound to be a dozen or so that will give you the kind of challenge you're looking for.

And travel opportunities in Europe, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Panama. And the time to get to know a country the way no tourist ever could.

The opportunity to save money on everyday things. Like free housing, dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance, to name a few.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you.

He'll give you lots of other reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

Two soldiers prepare for college

Degree Completion Program Working in TSB
A Sergeant Major with nearly 27 years, service and a Spt with not quite 18 months in the Army are both preparing to leave for college on the Army's Degree Completion Program.

Sgt. Maj. Frederick P. Pine, TSB Operations Sgt., has been diligently taking night courses for nearly 10 years, and now he is only one year away from a degree in Community Relations and Urban Development.

In several weeks he will arrive at William Carey College in Hattiesburg, Miss., where he will become a typical student, if perhaps a little older than most. When his year there is up he will have two more years of active duty with the Army. His reason for deciding on this course of action so late in life is as he says "to gain knowledge and learn things I didn't know about."
Spt Alexander L. Wisnoki Jr. is just the opposite of Sgt. Maj. Pine, who has never been to College on a full-time basis. Spt Wisnoki went to Texas A and M for four years and left lacking just 27 hours for his degree in history because as he puts it "the mental strain just got to be too much, so I enlisted." While at A and M he took ROTC, and when he took his degree all he'll have to do is resubmit his paperwork to get his commission. Then he will have two years of active duty as an officer to serve. What will he do when he leaves the Army, "Whatever God is leading me to do," he said.

Promotions halted by wage freeze

All civilian hire and promotions for officers, enlisted personnel and civilians have been suspended until further notice from the Department of the Army, in accordance with the President's wage-price freeze.

Promotions that were made before midnight on Dec. 11 will remain in effect. It was announced in Washington that there are exceptions for promotions on a case-by-case basis. One exception is the graduates of OCS would be commissioned as second lieutenants.

NCOES

Education is essential for today's Infantry NCO

Progressive education is the keynote for the noncommissioned officer (NCO) in today's Modern Volunteer Army (MVA).

The Noncommissioned Officer Education System (NCOES) is a recently implemented education system ranging from 11 to 22 weeks of training for NCOs, to achieve and maintain proficiency in their military occupational specialty (MOS).

Basic and advanced NCOES students at the Infantry School receive their administrative and logistical support from the 8th Student Battalion, The School Brigade. The 8th Battalion is organized into five numbered companies and a battalion staff in order to accomplish their mission. Additionally, the battalion supports the field radio mechanic classes.

More than 560 NCOES students have been assigned, billeted, trained and graduated from the battalion since March, 1972. The 8th Battalion commander, Lt. Col. Robert I. Farris stated, "The NCOES program will do more toward developing a Modern Volunteer Army than any other program implemented by the Army recently. It will broaden the perspective of our NCOs, open the door to new management techniques, improve the two-way flow of communication and enhance efficiency throughout the U.S. Army."

Command Sergeant Major Norris W. Curry, 8th Student Battalion, said, "NCOES is the most positive step ever taken to develop professional NCOs for a professional Army. Help the NCOs who have the greatest responsibility, gain the tools to better carry out their mission."

Education essential for today's NCO

"If an individual enters the course with an open mind, a complete evaluation of himself, and gives his all, he will finish well prepared for the responsibilities and duties of senior NCOs which the Army needs in the future," Curry continued.

NCOES was developed as a result of a student undertaken by the Army deputy chief of staff for personnel in July, 1969. The study revealed NCOs had little or no formal progressive education available to gain or maintain proficiency within their MOS. Various schools such as Airborne, Ranger and NCO Academies were available on an allocation basis, but these were not sufficient.

After the completion of basic combat and advanced individual training, the majority of their education and training was achieved through experience, correspondence courses or on-the-job training (OJT).

The NCOES program now consists of three progressive levels: basic, advanced, and senior. The basic level, a twelve-week course, is presented at the Infantry School, in four MOSs: Reconnaissance and Intelligence (11F), Recoiless Weapons (11H), Indirect Fire Weapons (11C), and Light Weapons Infantry (11B).

The advanced course, also presented at the Infantry School, consists of two MOSs, Infantry Senior Sergeant (11G) and Operations and Intelligence Sergeant (11F). These courses are eleven and fourteen weeks respectively.

For both courses, most of the students are sent here on a temporary duty (TDY) basis for training and then returned to their parent unit. Some receive their instruction between duty station assignments.

The senior course for command sergeants major (CSM) is scheduled to start in early 1973 at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Seven basic and four advanced NCOES classes are programmed for Fort Benning for fiscal year (FY) 73.

Standards of appearance, conduct and discipline in the NCOES program are high. Since the Army is moving toward quality control and a Modern Volunteer Army (MVA), the program provides the way of developing the professional NCO, technically proficient and highly motivated. Students unwilling or unable to maintain the high standards are eliminated through administrative or board actions.

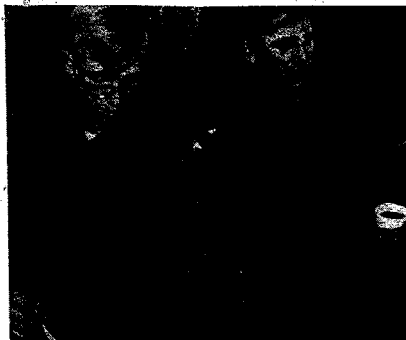

In addition to meeting these high standards, the individual student must meet a minimum academic requirement of seventy per cent in numerous subjects, some common to all MOSs and some related to his specific MOS.

All MOSs are combined into one class for the first portion of instruction which is on subjects common to all the Infantry MOSs. After the common subjects instruction is completed, the class is divided into smaller groups by MOS and then given MOS related subjects. This occurs after seven weeks for the advanced course and five weeks for the basic.

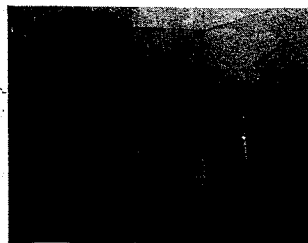

Sgt. Calvin Fields, left, and PFC James E. Fink depart on their land navigation problem.

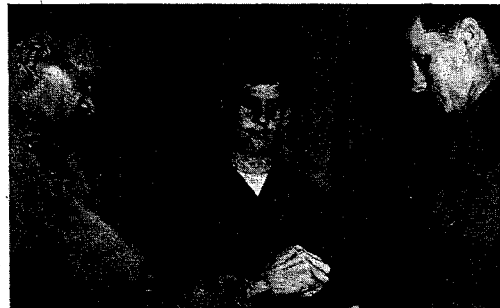

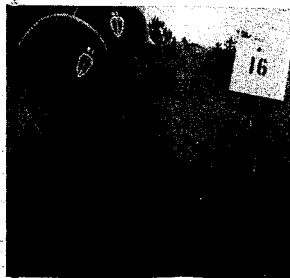

Sgt. William C. Allen, left, and Staff Sgt. Gerrard J. Cousin, basic NCOES students, receive their requirement for land navigation.

Sgt. Richard L. Simmons, left and Sgt. John E. Royal stop for "C" ration lunch at Craston Hill.

The Teacher is a Student

Peer Instruction is an important feature of the Non-Commissioned Officer Educational System (NCOES) course now being offered at Fort Benning. Peer instruction, which means that advanced NCOES students teach basic course NCOES students, not only cuts down on the required number of Infantry School personnel—it gives the advanced NCOES student practical work in methods of instruction (MOI).

The Infantry senior sergeant students present a period of instructions to all groups of fellow students in the classroom and his presentation is observed by an Infantry School staff member.

These students are operations and intelligence sergeants who conduct instruction in basic NCOES in combat and built up areas training. The area where the training is conducted has been dubbed "Leroy City" by the students.

In the Harmony Church training area the basic students receive instruction on combat in built-up areas. The "City," constructed from old barracks to resemble a small town, is operated by the Company Tactics Committee of the Company Operations Department.

Initially, the students view a demonstration on assaulting a built-up area taught by an ideal instructor. After the demonstration, advanced NCOES students instruct small groups at ten different stations. Using the county fair system, the basic students rotate through all stations gaining knowledge and doing practical work in top and low level entry of buildings, use of grenades, search parties, individual and crew served weapons positions, techniques of movement and demolitions.

Coming to the screen

MELINDA... Supercool disk jockey Calvin Lockhart, picks up beautiful, mysterious, Melinda (Vivian Maughan) in a nightclub. After a brief affair, Melinda is murdered. Lockhart's ex-love, Rosalind Cash, becomes his chief ally and support as he searches for the killer. His life is turned upside down as the police, the syndicate (Melinda), was ex-girlfriend of the boss) and a few friends and enemies make his life miserable. Lockhart solves the mystery of what everyone is after and battles the mobsters in a grueling fight for survival, using his karate prowess with brutal efficiency.

FOUR FLIES ON GREY VELVET... Young rock star Michael Brandon, is married to rich heiress Mimsy Farmer, lives in the best part of town, drives a flashy sports car and travels with the jet set. He has everything, until an unexpected encounter with a mysterious stranger envelops him in a bizarre series of murders, violent, terrifying and unexplained. Brandon begins to realize that he is to be the next victim of the relentless killer... and the killer is stalking him now.

FILMORE... "Fillmore" is music. It also puts you on intimate terms with the producer Bill Graham revealing the multi-faceted personality behind the two famous halls East and West. The cast includes many of the greats of rock and roll. The great full Dead, Santana, Lamb and Cold Blood, Quicksilver Messenger Service, Boz Scaggs, Hot Tuna, The Jefferson Airplane, The Elvin Bishop Group and the novice Rowan Brothers. "Fillmore" liberates the earthbound documentary and sets it squarely in musical orbit as it captures the backbone and the inside of the music and the people.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE FIVE... Billy Pilgrim (Michael Sacks), who has become unstuck in time, splits constantly between the episodes of his life, past present and future. Billy first came unstuck during the second World War and he has been ricocheting through the events of his life with absolutely no control over where he will be going next. Billy gets kidnapped by a flying saucer and taken to the planet of Tralfamadore, where Billy is mated with another earthling a sexy movie starlet Valerie Perrine. Poor Billy Pilgrim always knows how things will turn out because he has already been there in his future.

J. W. COOP... A rodeo circuit rider, J. W. Coop (Cliff Robertson), after ten years of prison confinement returns home to his widowed mother, Geraldine Page. Coop, out of touch with the times, a man whose values were from another generation, has entered into a world that hasn't waited for him. All Coop knows is rodeo riding, and in his words "too lacy to work and too nervous to steal." It is now the day of the specialist and Coop's excellent and "just hanging in there" is not the match for Champ on Billy "Hot Pistol" Hawkins. Lovely Christina Ferrare provides the romantic interest, for Coop as he rides the suicide circuit.

Patriot bags a buck on Fort Benning

MECH 58TH INF

PFC Kenneth Grider, Company A, 1st Bn. (Mech.), 58th Inf. (PATRIOTS), 197th Inf. Bde., bagged this 8 point buck on the Fort Benning reservation while participating on an adventure training exercise. The buck dressed out at 130 lbs.

"Adventure training ended with a bang this time," said Capt. Floyd Richard, Commander of Company A, 1st Bn. (Mech.), 58th Inf. (PATRIOTS), 197th Inf. Bde., after one of his men, PFC Kenneth Grider bagged a trophy 8 point buck while participating in an adventure training exercise recently at Fort Benning.

PFC Grider purchased his license on Nov. 15 at 2 p.m. hours and recorded his first kill at 4 p.m. hours on the same day. The big buck was downed with only one shot through the heart. PFC Grider was using a 12 ga. shotgun with slug ammunition. The buck dressed out at 130 lbs. and a handsome rack for mounting. His hunting companions were SSGt. Pablo Moreno and SSGt. Patrick.

A Unit of Choice Volunteer for the 197th Inf. Bde., he is a native of Pisgah, Alabama; He received his basic training at Fort Polk, La., and took advanced individual training with his present unit, Company A, 1-58th Infantry. His present duty position is armored personnel carrier driver.

Merritt and company win crown

Capt. Robert Merritt, Des Moines, Ia., and the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit, won the championship crown of the Fort Benning Indoor Pistol Tournament December 8 when he posted a four-match Grand Aggregate of 86-32X on the infantry post's indoor range.

A companion marksman, SFC Charles Tipton earned the runner up honors, with his combined score of 870-35X while SSGt. John Mc-Clellan of the U. S. Army the third place with five jess points.

Most improved are selected

Helga Broecker and Orzie Melander have been selected as the most improved golfers for the 1972 golfing season at the Fort Benning Country Club.

Each golfer received one of the coveted golf award certificates from GOLF DIGEST MAGAZINE, America's golfing publication.

Howard Holbrook, golf professional at the Country Club presented the awards. In making the presentation Holbrook noted that two golfers had succeeded in improving their games in relatively short periods through hard work on the practice grounds and great dedication.

These certificates are among the nation's most highly prized awards recognizing individual achievement.

GOLF DIGEST also awards certificates to the most improved golfers among the Ladies Professional Golfers Association and the Professional Golfers Association. The names of the professional winners for this year along with those of the Fort Benning most improved golfers will appear in the January issue of GOLF DIGEST MAGAZINE.

Turkey shoot scheduled

The Fort Benning Rod and Gun Club will hold a Turkey Shoot at the club shoot ranges from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Dec. 16.

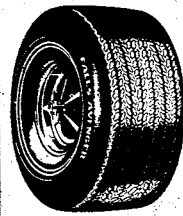

Winners will receive frozen turkeys or hams weighing from 10 to 12 pounds.

Competitors may use their privately owned shotguns but must fire ammunition furnished by the club.

The Rod and Gun Club is located on First Division Road about one quarter mile south of Highway 27.

Everyone is invited.

11th Co. undefeated in TSB basketball

In TSB basketball battles 11th Co. kept intact its unblemished record with two victories last week. One was a 36-27 win over IOAC 2-73, and the other was a 31-20 pasting of the sliding parachute riggers, 11th Co.'s record is now 6-0, and it has a firm grip on the lead in the Blue League.

4th Bn. Cadre also kept an unbeaten string going by stepping on 2nd Bn. Cadre 41-29. The win ran 4th Bn.'s record to 5-0, and it has an iron hold on the lead in the red league.

85th Co. crunched IOAC-6 38-24 to take second place in the red league.

In a squeaker, 8th Bn. squeaked by 5th Bn. 27-26. It was close throughout the game, with 8th Bn. holding a slim 12-10 halftime lead.

In the only other game of the week 14th Co. forfeited to IOAC-4. The forfeit victory gave IOAC-4 possession of second place in the blue league.

These are the standings for the TSB leagues as of Dec. 8.

Froehle receives trophies

Champion Army marksmen from the U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit Wednesday presented their hard earned 1972 championship trophies to the Honorable Robert P. Froehle, Secretary of the Army, in formal Pentagon ceremonies. It was announced by Col. William H. Harper, Commander of the 1st Army unit here.

Under Secretary of the Army, the Honorable Kenneth E. Belieu, represented Secretary Froehle during the presentation ceremony and accepted the coveted trophies from the Army Champions. Other officials participating in the command performance ceremony included Army Chief of Staff General Creighton W. Abrams and the Executive Vice President of the National Rifle Association, Major Gen. Maxwell E. Rich (Retired).

Conforti elected president

Doctor Joseph T. Conforti, superintendent of Fort Benning Dependents' Schools was elected president of the Chattahoochee Valley Club of Phi Delta Kappa, Wednesday, December 6.

The organizational meeting was held in the David-son Student Center, Columbus College with 40 prominent educators within a forty-mile radius of Columbus in attendance.

The Club elected officers and made tentative plans to apply for Field Chapter status in August.

Dr. William H. Shaw, superintendent of education, Muscogee County School district and a member of the club, was the guest speaker.

Inf. Choir presenting program

The Infantry Center Chapel Choir, under the direction of Sgt. Joel Nitz, is presenting a program of Special Christmas Music on Dec. 17 at 11:00 a.m. in the Infantry Center Chapel. Musical selections are from Handel's Messiah and Bach's Chorales. Mrs. Susan Riddell will accompany the choir at the organ.

Immediately following the service, a reception will be held in the Annex in honor of the choir. The public is invited.

"We made it." Fifteen WACs land on a small island in the Chattahoochee River Monday, Dec. 11. The girls, from the Fort Benning WAC Company, went down the river in pontoons as their first try in a diving training. They arrived near the mouth of Pateula creek around 5 p.m. During their three day stay, the WACs learned camping, outdoor cooking, and fishing. Complete story will appear in next week's Bayonet. Toys

"Electrical toys can be dangerous and must be kept in good repair. They should be used under supervision and always carry the underwriter Laboratories (UL) test label. Electric trains or race sets should have a circuit breaker on the transformer, and children should be taught the correct method to plug and unplug their electric toys. Include whatever detailed instructions are necessary to insure the parents of our little friends carry out this important responsibility."

"Play stoves, irons, metal molding and wood burning devices get very hot sometimes and should be handled with extreme caution. Here again, make sure that the instructions to parents are explicit."

"Even soft stuffed animals and dolls can pose a potential hazard. Button eyes can be pulled off and swallowed, supporting wires can poke through fabric and scratch, and poorly made dolls can come apart at the seams and expose the stuffing which youngsters might put in their mouths and choke or poison themselves to death."

"This season met, exercise good judgment in what you make and we'll prevent a possible tragedy."

Christmas program scheduled for Sunday

An ecumenical youth Christmas program will be held at the Infantry Center Chapel Annex on Dec. 17 at 7 p.m. Children from the Protestant Sunday School and the Catholic Religion School will share in the presentation of "The Shepherd's Story" and the Catholic and Protestant Junior Choirs will provide the special musical numbers.

The God Squad and Follow-Me PYOC will present an original, contemporary playlet as a special feature of the evening program.

Parents are invited to bring their children and share in carol singing during the evening.

Who else But UCLA would lead AP poll

By The Associated Press — American Citizens — Sun Rises in East. — UCLA Leads Associated Press College Basketball Poll.

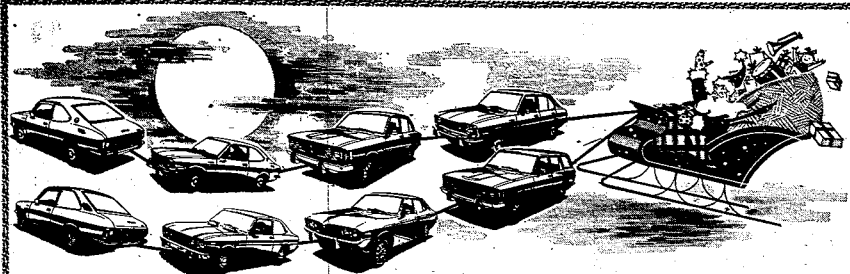

These headlines carry almost equal surprise value as the incredible, unbroken, unthreatened Bruins again are unanimously No. 1 today among major undergraduate roundballers. Florida State and Maryland remained UCLA's distant 2-3 challengers while Marquette jumped one notch to fourth, exchanging places with Big Ten powerhouse Minnesota.

North Carolina State and Long Beach State remained sixth and seventh, respectively. Northwestern Louisiana rose from 10th to eighth, Pennsylvania stayed ninth and Oral Roberts moved up two places to No. 10.

UCLA was idle last week and Coach John Wooden's West Coast wonders have a 2-0 record along with Florida State, Maryland, Marquette and Minnesota. Minnesota was whipped Eastern Kentucky 67-70 and Biscayne 77-62 in action last week. Maryland beat Canisius 107-80 in its only game.

Marquette had an impressive week, crumpling 14th-ranked Tennessee 66-29 and edging No. 11 Memphis State 72-69. Minnesota dropped one place despite slammng Wisconsin.

Cash prizes awarded for suggestions

Cash awards for four military and two civilian adopted suggestions were approved during the recent meeting of the Incentive Awards Committee. The total payment was $5,500 in return for net savings of $1,029,092. During the first quarter, Fiscal Year 73, 112 civilian suggestions were submitted from a workforce of 4,590 employees while 126 military personnel participated. Although Fort Benning has discontinued the practice of assigning quotas, the Department of the Army still has an annual goal of 275 suggestions submissions per 100 employees and adoptions at 70 per 1,000 employees.

UCLA

sia-Milwaukee 79-60. North Carolina is State nation's hottest scoring club, slaughtering Georgia Southern 144-100 and South Florida 102-98. Long Beach State belted Portland 102-66 and Puget Sound 100-70. Kentucky eighth ranked last week, took a double defeat dose in a 78-66 battle with Iowa and a 64-50 game against Indiana and the Wildcats dropped out of sight. Southwestern Louisiana, 4-0, scored its most recent triumphs over Pan American 111-70, St. Joseph's Pa., 84-74 and Marshall 98-84. Ninth-ranked Penn beat The Citadel 67-34 and Navy 58-39. Oral Roberts, leaping into the top 10, slammed Wisconsin 90-0, and Idaho State 95-82 before nipping Murray State 79-72.

VA Director gives crucial date for Post-Korean vets

A. W. Tate, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 780 Peachtree Street, N.E., Atlanta, Ga., 30308, said today that May 31, 1974 is a crucial date for most Post-Korean veterans who haven't started using their GI Bill education benefits. That's the date their benefits expire.

Tate said recent increases in training allowances will encourage more persons to enter VA training programs, and enable many already training to continue their programs.

New rates start at $200 monthly for single trainees going to school full time under the GI Bill. Those with dependents get $261 monthly; those with two dependents, $298, and they receive $18 for each additional dependent.

Rates for GI Bill apprenticeship and other on-job training begin at $160 monthly for single trainees. Those with one dependent receive $168 monthly; those with two dependents, $196, plus $8 for each additional dependent.

Eligible wives, widows and children going to school full time under VA's Dependents' Educational Assistance Program are now entitled to $200 monthly.

Tate urged eligible persons interested in educational benefits, especially veterans whose benefits expire in May 1974, to contact the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Atlanta or local representatives of veterans service organizations.

TALAVERA
 by Drexel

The Mediterranean of old. To the south... Moorish kingdoms, richly ornamented palaces, the Sword of Islam! To the north... the Spanish Court, Granada, the Alhambra! A never-to-be forgotten world of romance and intrigue... of riches and pomp.
 Famous Drexel delves deeply, authentically. The result... Talavera, an awe-inspiring collection of dining room, bedroom and occasional treasures, embracing the full flavor and meaning of the period. Deeply sculptured, as if by chisel, subtly curved and amply modeled as only the hands and eyes of master craftsmen can create. Talavera evokes a drama and elegance second to none.

Witness its authentic features: heavy brass plated hardware, wrought iron, shaded glass, simulated slate... the complements of pecky pecan veneers, combined with pecan and oak solids, finished in highly distressed brown. And always liveable, marvellously comfortable for today's busy life! Give your home this wondrous look by Drexel now. You'll be delighted with the moderate price, too.

Maj. Gen. Tarpley to succeed Maj. Gen. Talbott Feb. 16

Maj. Gen. Thomas M. Tarpley will assume duties as commander of Fort Benning and commander of the Infantry School on Feb. 16, 1973.

Gen. Tarpley was named to the post today by the Department of Army. He is presently commander of the Delta Regional Command in Vietnam.

Gen. Tarpley is succeeding Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott. Gen. Talbott, former commander of the 1st Infantry Division (Big Red One) in Vietnam, has been the Fort Benning commander and commandant of the Infantry School since Sept. 9, 1969.

No announcement was made on Gen. Talbott's reassignment.

Gen. Tarpley commanded the 2nd Brigade, 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam in 1966, and served next as plans and training officer, Second Field Force, Vietnam.

Gen. Tarpley was assigned as the deputy secretary of the general staff in the office of the chief of staff of the Army from 1967 to 1969. He later served as deputy commander, Fort Benning, and commander, Fort Lewis, Washington.

Prior to his present assignment in Vietnam, Gen. Tarpley was commander of the 101st Airborne Division, (Airmobile) serving as that famous division's last commander in Vietnam.

A 1944 graduate of the United States Military Academy, Gen. Tarpley has masters degrees from the University of Maryland and George Washington University.

During his service in Vietnam, Gen. Tarpley was awarded decorations which have included two Legions of Merit, his second Bronze Star, a Star for the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf clusters and two Vietnamese Crosses of Gallantry with Gold Star.

Gen. Tarpley is married to the former Gertrude Baldwin of Evanston, Ill. They have four sons.

Expo '72

50 soldiers return home after 1,000-mile campaign

BY PETE FOREMAN
The first and most intensive Fort Benning campaign of its kind was completed Dec. 18.

Active Army Expo '72, a spearhead of Army advertisements from Fort Benning, penetrated seven civilian strongholds in 15 days. Its drive covered 1000 miles.

When it returned to "the home of the infantry," the Expo's commander reported that it had accomplished its mission.

Its mission had been to attract young men to Army life at Fort Benning.

The Expo consisted of a large number of displays and demonstrations. These were provided by most of Benning's major units. Over 50 soldiers went along.

Dec. 1 the Expo left Benning. It set up in seven cities in Alabama and Tennessee.

ning's Action Army Expo '72 was a tremendous success.

Maj. George Moss, the Expo's operations officer added, "We had a chance to explain to a lot of people what today's soldiers have and what's different from the old Army."

Sgt. James E. Sechrist, a photographer and driver on the Expo commented, "I think the Expo did what it set out to do which was to draw young people toward today's Army."

Sgt. Charles McCredit, a military policeman on the Expo said, "The reaction of most of the people who saw the Expo was one of surprise. They never saw a lot of the things that were in the Expo and didn't know the Army had jobs for men in a variety of fields."

Sgt. Gene C. McKinney, who was in charge of one of the Expo's armored vehicles added, "It was a change of pace. I got to meet a lot of people. A lot had the wrong idea about the Army. We had a chance to explain what the Army is really like."

Bayonet picks Carol McKinney is 'WAC of the Week'

Anybody's Christmas tree would benefit from a good trimming by Sp4 Carol McKinney, the Bayonet's WAC of the Week for our Christmas issue.

Nineteen-year-old Carol, who is a clerk-typist at Headquarters Command, was recently married to Capt. Dan McKinney at Sightseeing Road Chapel.

Carol is from Vermilion, Kansas, and her new husband is from Helena, Montana. She joined the Army in September, 1971, after graduation from high school.

She took a college course before entering the service, and enrolled again at Columbus College's Fort Benning campus when she arrived here. Carol plans to continue her education, and is considering a journalism major. She likes to write, and is a communications center specialist by training.

She also enjoys cooking and sewing, as well as horseback riding. "Most of all, I like to meet people," Carol says. The Army is an ideal place for that, and it's a safe bet to say that people enjoy meeting her just as much.

Most of the exhibits were designed to attract crowds. Once the people came, soldiers mingled and explained what the modern Army is like.

Some of the Expo's features were scout dog demonstrations, ranger rappelling performances, combat vehicle simulator rides, and first aid lessons. Ammunition, armed vehicles, and search lights were also displayed.

In addition to the 931st Engineer Group's basketball team and its musical combo played in some of the cities, and Benning's Infantry Chorus sang in Demopolis, Ala. These attracted large crowds.

Moss felt the most successful exhibits were the ranger rappelling demonstrations, the scout dog displays, the basketball games, and the Infantry Chorus and rock combo performances. Betke added to this list the combat vehicle simulator rides.

recruiter even taught the police in Gafney, Tenn. how to rappel. They practiced by dropping down the side of a high school stadium.

The scout dog's handler was Sgt. George V. Coleman. "Everyone seems to love a dog," he said, "and the public really enjoyed Snooty (the scout dog)."

"Several men who were interested in the scout dog talked to a recruiter. I don't know if they joined because of us, but at least we got some interested."

The basketball games, another highly successful item in the Expo, showed that an Army unit can put together a respectable team. The 931st team almost beat the Demopolis Hawks, one of the best semi-professional teams in Alabama.

At the beginning of the game, Gavitt dropped out of the rafters at the gym. With expert rappelling technique he stopped his fall just five feet above the floor. This attracted the crowd's attention.

Merry Christmas

To anyone passing by, it must seem that Santa has relocated his headquarters to Sand Hill.....

Gold Star children meet Santa Claus

"Santa's coming," Santa's coming," cried the Gold Star Children at the sound of an approaching fire engine's siren. To the amazement of the disbelieving patrons of the Service Club, it really was Santa Claus, bringing gifts to the children of men killed in action in Vietnam.

The Student Council of 51st Officer Candidate A and D at the Company, 5th Student Battalion, The School Brigade, sponsored a Christmas Party on Saturday afternoon at the Main Post Service Club for Fort Benning's Gold Star Children.

The children spent the afternoon munching on cakes, donuts, hot dogs, and a variety of other foods. The food for this occasion was donated to OC Class 1-73 by local merchants and the 51st Company Mess Hall.

Senior Candidate Bryant E. Middleton, the Chairman of the party, and his wife Linn Middleton entertained the children with games, cartoon films, and a live magic show featuring A. P. Hancuff, a local magician. As "Cuffy" the Magician emptied his bag of tricks, the children shouted for more. Cuffy then warned the children that Santa was nearby and that he would be arriving on a fire engine. When the children heard the sound of a fire engine's siren they ran outside to greet Santa. Jolly Saint Nick was sitting on the back of a fire engine from Station No. 1. Santa

Traffic accidents could ruin your Army career

Traffic accidents can affect a soldier's military service and personnel life. If a soldier is found to be at fault for a POV accident, he could be:

- Subject to suspension or revocation of his state driver's license.
- Barred from reenlisting in the Army (AR 601-280).
- Passed over for promotion.
- Reduced in grade for civil court convictions (para 7-30, AR 600-200).
- Eliminated from the service (AR 635-105; 635-200).
- Subject to punishment imposed pursuant to Article 15, UCMJ, or to trial by courts martial.

51st OC's sponsor food drive

After becoming aware of the valuable service provided to Fort Benning's residents by the Army Community Service Food Chest, the 51st Officer Candidate Company's Student Council sponsored a Christmas can-food drive.

The results of this drive were 100 lbs. of commercial food valued at approximately $50.00, and 68 cans of "C" rations. These provisions were all contributed by 51st Company Candidates. It is hoped that a few families will have a happier Christmas as a result of 51st Company's efforts.

Dear Bayonet,

I would like to offer a reply to the clerk who wanted to know why he should have to do PT when his job involved no physical labor as such. I am a second lieutenant with a similar job where I am behind a desk just about all day. Perhaps the biggest reason I do PT every day is to break the monotony of the day. There is nothing more refreshing to me than that exhilarating feeling of relaxation after running a couple of miles. You are probably saying "Well he is just a PT nut." Not so; I hate PT. But I do read reports that say people live longer and enjoy more healthy years if they exercise and eat the right foods. Don't believe it? Ask your doctor.

Then there are reasons of an even more personal nature. Look around you if you have a desk job; chances are you see a few fat slobs who believe that exercise is for the birds and harassment. I am not so gung ho or naive as to believe every man in the Army should weigh 360 pounds, but I think every officer and enlisted man should have enough pride to want to be at least presentable to the civilian community as an example of an American soldier.

It is embarrassing to me for a civilian to see someone, particularly an officer, "swaddling around" because he is either too lazy or does not have enough will power to exercise and diet in order to maintain a respectable appearance.

And one final thing to the clerk, I could agree with him that JUST PT is harassment, but usually athletics involves sports such as football, basketball, volleyball, and numerous others. Competition in sports helps people to learn to work together and teaches one things about his buddies that he would never learn in any other normal daily activity.

Benning brass rap during Race Relations Seminar

Most of the top brass at Fort Benning spent the first two days of this week rapping on the problems faced by minorities in the Army during a work shop and seminar on race relations.

Besides rapping at the Benning House among themselves, the officers also exchanged ideas with several selected enlisted men, a group of local high school students, a black high school counselor, and two psychiatrists.

Nearly forty senior officers, including the post commander, Major General Owen C. Talbot and the Assistant Commandant, Brig. Gen. William R. Richardson attended.

Most of the time was spent in small group discussions. Members of the post Race Relations Coordinating Group acted as moderators for the discussions.

Dr. Carl Segal, a psychiatrist with the University of Maryland, conducted the workshop and took part in the discussions. He encouraged the discussion groups to examine their own individual attitudes as well as that of others.

The exchanges were lively since the ground rules specified disregard to rank and no topics were taboo. The ideas, comments, and recommendations were far-ranging.

Mrs. Barbara Bray, Army wife as well as high school guidance counselor, described the feeling of blacks to several of the group sessions. "On initial contact, every black person you meet distrusts you," she told a group of white officers. "It gets better or worse with each further contact."

Mrs. Bray said she was glad to see a large number of people getting together to look at the problem. "This is why we're here today, — to better understand one another," she said.

Major Tyrone Fletcher, chief of the Race Relations Coordinating Group was responsible for coordinating the activities of the workshop.

Adult choir performs at Kelley Hill

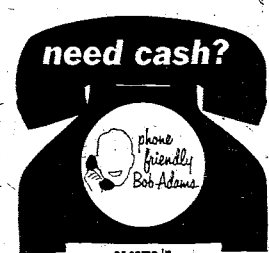

"Carol of Christmas" by John Peterson, a musical worship program, was presented by the adult choir of the Wesley Heights Baptist Church to the congregation of the Kelley Hill chapel, on December 17.

Last month, the youth choir of the Wesley Heights Baptist Church performed "Love" for the protestant congregation, and were received so well, that arrangements for a return engagement were made. However due to the popularity of the youth choir and their previous engagements, it was arranged for the adult choir to perform instead.

It was obvious that the adult choir was received with as much enthusiasm, however, as the congregation swarmed the talented singing group afterwards at the refreshments reception.

In addition to the regular congregation at Kelley Hill, the regular attendees of Harmony Church Chapel No. 1 were present for the musical entertainment. As a special treat, the Allied Students of the United States Army Infantry School were also invited to the musical worship program.

Seat belts do help—just ask me . . .

BY CARL KING

Safety is something that's hard to touch
Some who've not used it, are endorsed to a crutch
They blizzed down the road at a horrible speed
Their seat belt unfastened — no bend in their knee

Others found bliss in a little ale bottle;
It blurred their vision as they stopped on the throttle
This year at Fort Benning ten met their fate
An increasing trend from last year's rate

With the oncoming season, give safety a chance, You've got nothing to lose, and your life to enhance Don't drive when you're weary, tired and distressed,
Unless you are holy and had time to confess.

Many soldiers, on leave, and on furlough,
Will enter their cars—then step on the gas,
They'll change lanes six times in a minute of time,
Unless it's too late . . . their last stop sign.

The cards to 625 soldiers were dealt,
They took not the time to buckle their belts,
Yes, ten men died at Fort Benning this year,
And nine of them were, without a strap near.

The close of business is Friday's dusk,
For memory lapse — for bended necks,
Everyone's off, it's a time for joy,
They bust out the booze then ride, in their joy.

Your families care—and so do we,
So please, don't drive so reckless,
These thoughts we hold to be very dear,
Merry Christmas to all, and Happy New Year.

A Christmas Prayer

May the Saviour who was born this Holy Day grant us the wisdom and strength to solve the conflicts of our times and by renewing our faith in Him, may we gain the understanding necessary to live in peace and harmony.

cially reaping the benefits from the new BABYSITTING COURSE being offered by the OWC. First, the enthusiastic group of young students who have just taken and successfully completed the new course; second, their mothers who were just a little skeptical to see their young offspring take on the new responsibility of attending other people's young children; and finally, the young mothers who often have difficulty in finding good sitters. Of course, the young charges themselves will also realize the advantages of a properly trained sitter.

Mrs. Wm. Higgins III (mother of daughters Jennifer Marie, age 2 1/2 years, and Christina Michael, 3 months) is credited with recognizing the need for such a service. Being accustomed to searching for sitters to care for her own young children, she knew that on occasions she had not felt totally satisfied with her sitter when she went out for an evening. When friends and neighbors chatted, she learned that many of them shared this same feeling and some related most unfortunate experiences. In asking around further, she found too that mothers of some sitters were horrified by incidents in lack of consideration for the sitter, such as staying out hours later than the appointed time or letter a young sitter walk home alone in the wee hours.

Armed with the idea that something constructive should be done to alleviate the baby sitting problems from all angles, and remembering that as a teenager in Vermont she had attended such a course, Mrs. Higgins contacted Mrs. Joe G. Stillman, Activities Chairman for the OWC, to see if a babysitting course was scheduled through the OWC program. Mrs. Stillman was so caught up in Mrs. Higgins' enthusiasm and ideas that she immediately accepted the challenge and elected Mrs. Higgins to plan and to instruct such a class.

The course is divided into four sections: care of infants with class demonstrations; care of toddlers and approved games with which to entertain them; safety precautions and first-aid while babysitting, taught by an Army Public Health Nurse; and a final review of all course material followed by a written examination. Those girls who pass the examination are then presented a certificate of completion. Mrs. Higgins will maintain a current list of girls who have completed the course and will welcome inquiries concerning your needs for a sitter.

New classes for those 12 years and older will begin in January. Anyone desiring information should call Mrs. Higgins at 546-2925.

Infantry Agency
The monthly coffee for the ladies of the Infantry Agency was given by Mrs. Bruce Davis, Mrs. Joseph Blankwitz and Mrs. John Korhonen on Nov. 15. All diets were forgotten as the ladies enjoyed freshly baked spice cake, miniature mince pies, chocolate cake, cookies, and sausage and cheese balls. The coupe-de-grace was blue berry cheesecake.

Special guests were Messdames Angus Robertson Jean Salvan, Anthony Bisantz, Kenneth Sines, Lenora Darbone and little Miss Andrea Gilchrist. Mrs. Edward Scherer was welcomed with extra enthusiasm when the ladies discovered she is quite an antique buff, operating her own shop near Columbus.

A pre-well was bid to Mrs. Douglas Hughes. The December coffee has been cancelled as a busy holiday season is highlighted by the annual Christmas formal.

Toys

Select a toy for your child's age

Selecting A Toy By Age Group: Children grow mentally, emotionally, physically, esthetically, and socially with the help of the right toy at the right age. Here are some suggestions for toys from the National Safety Council.

Up to 1 year: Playthings for children in this age group should be attention-attracting and should be things to look at, to feel, to chew, to hold and to drop. They should be washable and non-breakable and designed with no sharp edges. They must be large enough that the child cannot swallow them and there should be no small attachments that might become loose and be put into ears, nose, or mouth.

1 to 2 years: This is the age when a child loves to investigate the world about him. Choose playthings he can take apart and put back together again. Objects he can move from one place to another help to teach him coordination. Again, avoid small toys that may be swallowed.

2 to 3 years: This is the age of experimentation. Children like to build things with blocks or turn the pages of books. At this age he begins to enjoy playing with others, and toys which can be shared will encourage his social development.

4 to 6 years: This is the dramatic and creative age. Little people love to play at dramatics as well as continuing to play at being grownups. Since he is learning to read and write, give him playthings that will stimulate these interests. Provide storage space for toys and teach the child how to pick up his toys after playtime.

6 to 8 years: At this age the child is particularly interested in developing manipulative ability. Select play materials that stimulate the various interests and things that encourage development of speed and accuracy.

With all the information above, there is one other matter to be considered—where to hide the toys you buy so that they will make it safely to the Christmas tree without being discovered.

This young lady Mercy Rooney wants to remind you to drive with care during the holiday season. And don't forget to fasten your seat belt.

SPEED CHANGE
The speed limit on highway 27, from the old traffic circle to Lindsay Creek Bypass will be 20 mph, due to the road construction. The speed limit will remain 20 mph until September 1973.

NEW SHOW
Tune in to Fort Benning's newest program on WHYD Sunday from 10:00 to 10:30 a.m. featuring country music and happenings of Fort Benning all skillfully blended together by golden tones Sp4 Chuck Farrell, FINANCE

During the Christmas holiday period (21 Dec. 5 Jan. 73) the operating hours of the Finance and Accounting Office will be 0800-1200 hours, except for 27 and 28 December when the Military Pay Section (Bldg. 85) will be closed for filing of Leave and Earnings Statements. The Military Pay Section will be open for inquiries from 0745-1000 hours on 29 December, 2 January and 3 January 1973. Only valid emergency requirements will be handled during hours that Finance and Accounting Division is closed.

WAC NEEDS DRILL SERGEANTS
(ANP)—The Army's expansion of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) means there is a need for more trained women assistant platoon sergeants (APS) and drill sergeants.

For example, the current training load at the WAC center at Ft. McEllan is 200 new basic trainees per week. This will be expanded to 240 per week starting Jan. 1, 1973.

WACS interested in becoming APS or drill sergeants will have to be interviewed to insure that they meet the qualifications for assignment.

Women accepted for the program will be assigned to the WAC center upon completion of Advanced Individual Training.

SELF-SERVICE
All Exchange customers are reminded that the Kelley Hill Service Station will be converted to self-service on 5 January 1973. Serve yourself and save $.02 per gallon.

OPERATION SATISFACTION
A round peg in a square hole? Maybe that's how you feel about your job—but it doesn't have to be. Fort Benning is taking action through Operation Satisfaction. A panel of three management personnel with a major unit representative will meet twice a month at Fort Benning. Purpose: To conduct interviews with military personnel who feel they are not being used to their full potential. An interview sheet will be completed... go through the individual's commander or commander... then return to the panel for the final action. After a thorough review, this Headquarters will make the final decision and notify you in writing of the findings and decision. The next meetings will be held 9 and 23 January 1973, Room 10, Building 35. Call 565-8966 for an appointment.

LES HAS NEW FORMAT
(ANP)—Army Leave and Earning Statements (LES) will have a new look on payday at the end of December.

The revised form is designed to read easier and highlight the information most important to the soldier.

Pay entitlements, tax and leave information and allotment collections are all clearly identified on the new form.

Vital pay information will be listed vertically instead of the present horizontal listings.

The new LES will be distributed to soldiers worldwide this month.

LIGHTS HELP
Safe motorists use their lights during periods of reduced visibility. The principle reason for using lights at these times is TO BE SEEN BY OTHER MOTORISTS! Drivers who use their parking lights instead of the headlights are not as easily seen. Be smart, be safe, use your headlights on your parking lights. Help the other driver to see you. Parking lights are for parking.

Christmas needs the gift of love, not booze

Deck the halls with boughs of holly... 'tis the season to be jolly... What comes to your mind with that statement? If the ever-present cocktail party, and a few jolly drinks under your belt is the answer, please read further. Proverbs 20:1 (wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whoever is decreed thereby is not wise) 1 Peter 5:8 Be vigilant because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.

This is a Holy season of the year... where would we be without the gift of Christmas—the gift God gave to you and me—His Son—Jesus Christ—Keep in mind the real meaning of Christmas (the birth of the Christ Child) and the way to keep Christmas to celebrate Christmas, and to show our appreciation to God for His gift—will find new meaning.

Give your family a gift of love—a gift that will last more than a few weeks or months—give them a beautiful Holy Christmas—a gift that will last a lifetime!

This 1:8 (Be a lover of hospitality—a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate.)

PLAY MISTY FOR ME
- Dicie Jockey, Dave Garland (Clint Eastwood) receives telephone requests while on the air. One feminine voice constantly asks that he "Play 'Misty' for me." The girl is Evelyn Draper (Jessica Walters). The two meet and spend a night together with no strings attached. Later, when Dave resumes his courtship with his estranged sweetheart, Tolly Willaring (Donna Mills), Evelyn - in a jealous paranoid fit - knifes the cleaning woman, almost killing her. Evelyn is taken to a sanitarium. Sometime later, Dave awakes in his bedroom to the music of "Misty" being played on his phonograph, just in time to avoid being stabbed by a crazed Evelyn who escapes. Be prepared for the thrill-packed, suspense-laden conclusion.

- The story involves the Perry family, who, homeless, includes an old man with an apple cellar wherein a series of horrible accidents have taken place. Sometime in the past, the patriarch of the family had fallen to his death in that cellar. Alexandra Perry (Diana Muldaur), the family's fragile widow, has become a semi-recluse, withdrawing into a world of lending library fiction read to her by her young son Niles (Chris Udravnik). While her retarded daughter, boy, certainly sunnier than his twin brother Holland (Martin Udravnik) who's a great one for lingering in the shadows and planning some mischief. Niles however, has his secrets, carrying them around on his person in a battered Prince Albert tobacco tin. Among them a ring bearing the Perseigne falcon, symbol of the Perry family, and a decayed finger wrapped in blue tissue.

DULCIMA - Dulcima (Carol White) is the oldest of eight children of a poor English farmer. Anxious to rise above her poverty-stricken surroundings, Dulcima captivates a young John Mills, a dirty miserly farmer who is a neighbor. Dulcima becomes Mills' housekeeper and by enticing him with her charms, she soon has a secure position in his house. Money is a problem, but she persuades Mills to part with some and then steals a small amount of his large assets. Trouble materializes when Dulcima's position in his house. PLAY MISTY FOR ME
- Dicie Jockey, Dave Garland (Clint Eastwood) receives telephone requests while on the air. One feminine voice constantly asks that he "Play 'Misty' for me." The girl is Evelyn Draper (Jessica Walters). The two meet and spend a night together with no strings attached. Later, when Dave resumes his courtship with his estranged sweetheart, Tolly Willaring (Donna Mills), Evelyn - in a jealous paranoid fit - knifes the cleaning woman, almost killing her. Evelyn is taken to a sanitarium. Sometime later, Dave awakes in his bedroom to the music of "Misty" being played on his phonograph, just in time to avoid being stabbed by a crazed Evelyn who escapes. Be prepared for the thrill-packed, suspense-laden conclusion.

What if?

Christmas could be different and it may be in the future

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is an original Science Fiction story by David McQueen. In this story, McQueen gives the reader a chance to wonder, "What if..." The story shows the possibility of a different Christmas Story—Past or Future.

By DAVID McQUEEN
I had been lying for three weeks to get to the Hub. I could have stopped at any population center on my way, but...

"Ambassador, I am Larz Horace from Aldebaran."

"Aldebaran, isn't that a little far from the Hub for representation?"

"If you mean backward, you're correct, but that isn't why I've come to you."

"Larz Horace? Aren't you the privater, the one that they call the Planet Buster? I don't think you have anything to say to me."

"Ah, but I do. And I hope that you will be the courtesy to listen even if you are from one of the 'Civilized' planets."

"I have opposed five planets for colonization. I have taken over three planets with indigenous, though barbaric, intelligent populations."

"Each time I took one over, I was able to use the 'god' routine, utilizing advanced medical and technological practices to perform 'miracles' to astound the masses and to conquer them."

"Very interesting, I'm sure, and just bordering on illegality, what does this vainglorious tale have to do with me?"

"Just this, Ambassador, there is a proposal coming up in the Worlds Assembly to renege the practice of the conquering of territory for members of the Hub Federation."

"Well, I've just returned from my fourth attempt at opening a planet with intelligent inhabitants..."

"So now, you intend for this proposal to fail in order that you will have no competition for those planets of yours."

"Will you wait until I finish before you jump to any conclusions?"

"As I said, I found a planet that looked perfect for exploitation, a world with some transportation by sea and land, but no motorized transport. I'd say they were working iron and low grade steel."

"I loaded and began my usual batch of magic and miracles which amazed the country folk that lived around there."

"It was successful as usual, and I started a following and moved into the cities; it worked on this way for two or three months when things started to go wrong."

"What things?"
"Within one week, almost my entire following..."

"What if?"
"What if? Just what I want."

Antique glass shown

In an effort to broaden its appeal to military wives and other Post personnel in addition to soldiers, the Infantry Museum is now showing a special loan exhibit of antique glass until the end of January.

The collection is on loan to the Museum from a private individual. Other non-military exhibits are also planned for the next few months, according to Lt. Col. Dick D. Grube, the Museum's new Curator.

Lt. Col. Grube also stated, "Our greatest desire is for the new Museum building, but our staff is continuing to work in its present location, bringing out new items for display and re-arranging present collections."

The Museum is open to the public and return visits are encouraged. The antique glass exhibit now on display includes several rare pieces of American-made and European glass.

"I don't understand what a failure in your semi-legal profession has to do with me?"

"You don't understand."
"Almost all of my followers, all of those that had first come to me, and very few of the others and even less of those who had not yet converted to me, had left."

"They traveled for weeks growing in number as they went along. If of course followed them."

"I put down my ship outside a village just a few hundred miles from my original camp and found hundreds of people just standing around, waiting."

"Of course, that is why I had had such an easy time with my plans. I had happened to land it nearly the right time and very close to the right place. Close enough to have the premature floods of the expectations of those people who knew what was coming."

"I was too close to what was happening to have been able to see it, but the same thing happened on the Home World thousands of years ago."

"I seem to remember a story—you mean that they were waiting for a baby to be born? But what does that have to do with the proposal to resume conquests?"

"Don't you see? This culture has just had its own Birth? Don't you see what could happen?"

"Well, you're finally coming clear. For a change, you are finally seeing the light. You want us to defeat the proposal to allow that culture to mature along its own lines."

"I must say that is really quite refreshing to see the Nilusek change its path."

"You weren't there, so you still don't understand. I don't want to defeat the proposal, I want to pass it. Think of what we could learn—what mistakes we could correct."

"If we take that planet, we will be there while He is there. We need to be there, for our own sakes."

Expo '72

The Infantry Chorus also attracted crowds in Demopolis. They sang on the main square and at the basketball arena. One civilian listener said, "They sounded good."

The seven cities visited were Mobile, Demopolis, Bessemer, and Decatur, Ala.; Columbia, Gallatin, and Chattanooga, Tenn.

How did the soldiers like being on the Expo?
"This was really the amazing part," said one soldier. "Once we put these Expo people together from the many parts of Fort Benning, they molded together into an outstanding unit."

"We started out with fairly decent living conditions. But as we went on the Expo, the conditions got worse. The worse they got the more the men got close together as a team."

"I'm sure the Expo soldiers have many hearts now that they are splitting up and returning to their regular units."

How much good did the Expo do?
"Some of the recruiters were bringing prospects to the Expo to enlighten them about the Army," Sechrist added.

Douglas Smith, a public relations representative with the Alabama recruiting command felt the Expo was very successful. "It got great crowd participation even in very poor weather and in towns that don't normally produce great crowds," he said.

Most thought more people would have attended if the Expo were conducted during warmer months.

Belle said, "I would estimate 10-15,000 people visited the Expo. We did it extremely adverse weather. However, Action Army Expo '72 established rapport with local recruiters in each city and with the citizens of these cities. I think it went a long way in enhancing the image of the Army and causing young men to think of Fort Benning."

ILC moving up to second floor

The Individual Learning Center is in the process of moving up for bigger and better reasons. Due to a shortage of space in their old location the Individual Learning Center could not expand to meet the demand for better facilities. Initially oriented toward the Infantry Officer Basic Course and Infantry Officer Advanced Course students the Individual Learning Center has gained popularity with all students along with the officers and soldiers assigned to Fort Benning. Even dependents have found numerous subjects of interest.

Presently featuring over 275 subjects in four categories the Individual Learning Center is moving up to the second floor of building four to have more room and feature even more subjects in the near future. Approximately 131 carrels will be available in their new location. A carrel consists of a booth equipped with the appropriate equipment to view and listen to the subject the individual has selected on either film sound movie, video tape, or 8mm slides and tape cassette.

Liniment and Band-Aid Bowl

In the big football bash played at Doughboy Stadium last Sunday it was the Infantrymen who squeaked by the Doughboys 10-6. Drawing first blood was the Infantrymen on a 5 yard plunge into the endzone for the first score. The point after was good to make it a 7-0 game. It wasn't until the third quarter that the Infantrymen's kicking specialist Mick Krier booted a 36-yard field goal to finish the scoring and give the Infantrymen a 10-6 victory. The Doughboys narrowed the score to a single point as quarterback Milton Johnson scored on a 24 yard run around left end. A successful point after attempt coupled with a fourth quarter field goal proved to be the winning margin. Proceeds from the game totaling 400 dollars went to the Youth Activities (YAC) fund.

Fourth Bn., 11th Co., undefeated after seven games in TSB league

Fourth Bn. Cadre in the Red League, and 11th Co. in the Blue League remained the only undefeated teams in the TSB basketball league after last week's action.

Fourth Bn. Cadre raised its record to 7-0 by beating 8th B. Cadre 45-31, then polishing off 5th B. Cadre 45-41.

Meanwhile, 11th Co. had its biggest scare of the year, 14th Co., currently holding down last place in the Blue League and determined not to let anyone take it away from them, nearly ruined their record by coming within two points of 11th Co. 40-38.

In other games 85th Co. fell out of second place in the Red League by losing two games, 48-36 to the 5th Bn., and a 58-51 loss to the 2nd Bn., while IOAC-4 crumpled IOAC-2, 49-35. The Parachute Riggers, who had been having their problems, regrouped to clinch winless HHC, TSB 53-27.

Here are the basketball standings after Dec. 15.

RED LEAGUE	WON	LOST
4th Bn. Cadre	7	0
5th Bn. Cadre	4	4
2nd Bn. Cadre	2	2

USAMKTU plans competition for rifle, pistol matches in April

The United States Army Marksmanship Training Unit (USAMKTU) is planning competition with other Third Army installations and commands during the 1973 Third Army Rifle and Pistol matches April 8-14.

The USAMKTU is making preparations for the matches while in intensive training this month.

Fort Benning commanders and activity directors are requested to actively support the program by identifying and selecting qualified and/or potential marksmen to train with the USAMKTU until the conclusion of the matches.

Orienteers teach Orienteering

The Department of the Army orienteering clinic was held at Fort Benning Dec. 11-15. Thirty-seven people from 20 different military posts participated in this Army wide clinic.

It consisted of an introduction, a basic knowledge of orienteering class and on the course practice supervised by orienteers.

The participants will now return to set up and introduce orienteering to their home posts.

There will be orienteering courses set up the 15th and 27th of January for anyone interested. For further information call the Ranger Department at 645-6021.

Prove to yourself the taste of eggnog makes the holiday celebration a little brighter. So does the mellow taste of Old Crow.

And it has always been, when Dr. James Crow invented the process by which Bourbon is aged today.

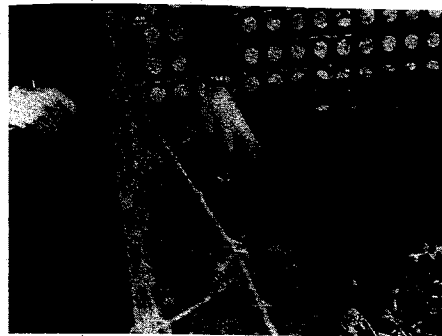

Wish your friends a Happy Holiday with a bottle of Old Crow, festively wrapped for the occasion.

OLD CROW-NOG RECIPE

- 18 eggs
- 2 pounds sugar
- 1 quart Old Crow
- 7 1/2 pints heavy cream
- 1 pint Jamaica Rum
- 1 pint Cognac
- 1/2 pint milk

Beat egg whites. Then beat sugar slowly into the cream and Old Crow. Next, stir in rum, milk and Cognac. Fold in whipped cream. Sprinkle with Nutmeg and Happy Holiday.

RECIPE: STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKY, 40% PROOF, DISTILLED AND BOTTLED BY THE FAMOUS OLD CROW DISTILLERY CO., PHOENIX, ARIZ.

A recent trophy captured by SSG Les Spradlin of the 31st Aviation Platoon. Spradlin and Sp6 Richard K. Williams usually hunt with friends in northern Florida. Dogs are used to track and hold the hogs, usually gripping them by the ear, jaw, or nose.

Avn. Cmd. soldiers spend weekend hunting hogs

What to do on weekends is a question pondered by many Fort Benning soldiers. SSG Lester E. Williams and Sp6 Richard K. Spradlin of the 31st Aviation Platoon have their own idea of how to spend the weekend—hog hunting, of course.

The hogs they hunt are wild hogs, Russian Boars and Pine Rooters, which are similar to domestic hogs except they do not grow as fat, and they have tusks. The length of the tusks depends upon the age of the hog, usually averaging two to four inches in length, but sometimes growing to five inches or longer. And, although they do not grow as fat as the domestic variety, wild hogs are not exactly featherweights, as Spradlin and Williams can testify. One of their recent acquisitions weighed in at 320 lbs.

What makes these soldiers' hobby so interesting is that they always catch their quarry alive. Instead of rifles they use a pocket knife and a length of grass rope with which they tie the hogs. Nylon rope is not used as it tends to slip.

Spradlin and Williams usually hunt with friends in northern Florida. Dogs are used to track and hold the hogs, usually gripping them by the ear, jaw, or nose. The hog hunter then runs in, pulls off the dog, then pins and ties the hog. When asked how he keeps from being tusked, Spradlin replied, "I stay out of his way." The sport, according to Spradlin, "is not that dangerous if you know what you are doing and use common sense."

The best time to hunt wild boars is during rainy weather, as they are often moving about at those times. They tend to gather in wet areas, such as a swamp or the head of a creek. According to Spradlin, the easiest way to hunt hogs, if you don't know exactly where they are, is to travel along the back roads until you find fresh signs, put the dogs out, and follow them.

What do you do with a wild boar once you catch him? Take him home, put him in a steel pen (wire won't hold), fatten him up, and eat him.

Jordan ROTC rifle teams score upset victory at Benning range

The Jordan ROTC varsity and junior varsity rifle teams scored a double upset victory during the recently fired annual fall outdoor rifle match conducted at Paris International Rifle Range at Fort Benning.

Having sub-freezing temperatures and winds which had the range flag flying at ninety degrees, the JVHS ROTC varsity team shot 1243-8x's and the junior varsity scored 1127-12 x's in winning the top trophy in each category.

The Jordan ROTC teams are coached by MSgt. Billy Frost, senior enlisted instructor at JVHS.

High individual honors in varsity competition went to John McNally, Columbus High School, 238-9 x's out of a possible 300 points; Joe Sweeney, Hardaway, 271-6 x's, and Kenneth Jones, Kendrick, 230-6 x's.

Junior varsity individual champs were Larry Watson, Jordan High, 232-3 x's, and William Tew, Spencer High, 237-4 x's.

Sp5 Stan Gumble wins $300 in essay contest

Sp5 Stan Gumble of the Photographic Branch, Directorate of Communications - Electronics, won $300 in a Christmas essay contest sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company. The award was presented at the Columbus plant on Mon., Dec. 18.

Second prize in the contest went to Sp4 Lonsworth Smith of the Human Research Unit at Fort Benning. Sp4 Smith received $100, and Sgt. William Welch, third prize winner, received $25. Sgt. Welch is assigned to S-4, 4th Student Battalion, TSB.

The checks were presented by Mr. Jim Buckner, military representative for the Coca-Cola Company. The subject of the essays was "What Christmas Means to Me." The contest was limited to all military personnel in the Columbus-Fort Benning area.

CHRISTMAS AS 1972 — WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS TO ME

Christmas is a time of gentleness and love wrapped up in a wreath of snow ball fights. It is family time, when neighbors are brothers and strangers are friends. It is a time of giving. Not the gift, not even the act of giving means as much as the reason behind it: To honor the Child and the idea He brings.

Children and Christmas are inseparable, and at Christmas we are all children. We're happy kids singing carols on Christmas Eve and excited kids tearing open presents on Christmas Day. We're kids learning again what it means to love, and discovering what love can mean to the world.

Yet amidst the joy and excitement there is a time for a personal search in the winter night for a Star that shines more brightly than the rest. When that Star is found, faith is found; the faith that lets us dare to believe that perhaps all men can live as brothers.

We burn a candle in a window on Christmas Eve. The candle is to welcome the Christ Child and the idea He brings. The idea is, quite simply, Love One Another. It speaks to all who are willing to listen, and the need to live by that idea is ever increasing. This year, more than any other, Christmas is a time of Hope.

Expectant Parents' class to begin Jan. 9

Pregnancy and childbirth are normal, natural happenings. It is believed that through a thorough program of education, the expectant father and mother can be prepared both physically and emotionally to make childbirth and parenthood a satisfying and rewarding experience.

The Army Health Nursing Service, in conjunction with the Obstetrics Department, Martin Army Hospital, is beginning another series of Expectant Parents' Classes on January 9, 1973. The series consists of four classes, each two hours long, on the first four Tuesday nights of each month. Classes are held in the Conference Room on the second floor of Martin Army Hospital.

The sessions improve your knowledge of pregnancy, childbirth, and newborn babies. Movies, slides, short talks, and discussion groups help to explain the physical structure of the male and female, reproduction, body changes, signs of labor and infant care.

The first class includes prenatal care, psychological aspects of parenthood, and exercises. The second class is labor and delivery, the third is Martin Army Hospital procedures and a tour of Labor and Delivery, and the fourth is infant care, with a special session on breast feeding. It is best to start with the first class in the series and continue with the same group, however, if you should miss one class, you can make it up in the next series.

Particular care is taken to make each expectant mother and father aware of forthcoming events. Fear and uncertainty are results of meeting the unexpected. For assurance and knowledge, you are encouraged to attend a series of Expectant Parents' Classes during your pregnancy. The Obstetrician, Pediatrician, Optometrist, Chaplain, Nursery Nurse, and the Army Health Nurse all participate in the series. It is an excellent opportunity to ask questions.

Because of limited space, you are asked to pre-register for these classes by calling the Army Health Nursing Service, 545-5401, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Holiday fatalities can be prevented

During the last Christmas-New Year season, Fort Benning experienced its worst fatality rate since 1963 with four soldiers being killed in traffic accidents and one from an accidental gunshot wound.

Taking note of the need for more care in driving during the time heavy traffic conditions, Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, Post Commander, has urged all Fort Benning personnel to use caution on the highways.

General Talbot, in a letter to all military and civilian personnel said:

"I am personally concerned for your safety and the safety of others while driving or riding in automobiles during the coming Christmas-New Year holiday season. Unhappily, excessive highway traffic fatalities traditionally occur during this period.

"You have a great personal responsibility to yourself, your loved ones, and to others to drive in a safe manner, to obey all traffic laws (especially speed limits and stop signs), and to share the highway safely with others. It is always wise to wait until daylight to begin an automobile trip and to stop driving and rest at the very first sign of drowsiness.

"Seats belts must be utilized to increase your chances of surviving an accident, but above all, I urge you not to drive if alcohol has been consumed. I ask for your complete cooperation in this important matter so it can become possible for you to have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Fort Benning safety office sent safety packets to all units. The safety packets provide unit commanders with materials on safety and accident prevention, according to Ralph C. Andrews, director of safety for Fort Benning, who also urges motorists to use seat belts and to drive with good defensive driving habits.

Maj. Marcus J. Humble, of the Provost Marshal's Office, said the military police have added two additional patrols during the Christmas-New Year season.

First post baby gets $100

The first baby born in the new year to a military family will receive a birthday present of a $100 savings account, compliments of the National Bank of Fort Benning, the bank announced.

The baby must be born to the wife of a member of the active military at Martin Army Hospital or one of the Columbus area hospitals. In the event of multiple births the prize will go to the first child born. In the event two are born at the exact same time the prize will be shared.

The father (who thinks his baby qualifies for the savings account) should contact Ronald Rice or Cody Smith at the advertising offices of The Bayonet in the Ledger-Enquirer Building at 17 West 12th St. by Jan. 6. The father should bring a doctor's certificate to verify the actual time of birth.

Last year's winner was John Wesley Tripp III, the son of SSgt. and Mrs. Willie E. Tripp.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Bill King

If wax drips on your best cookbooks, put them into the freezer until the wax freezes and can be flicked off without leaving scratches.

For a different accompaniment to lettuce turkey, try sauced old-fashioned honey, cooked with seasoned butter and served with cranberry or apple jelly.

Mushrooms are a time-honored good luck symbol in Austria, and many wish-broom-shaped Christmas ornaments and trinkets are bought to invite fortune in the New Year.

Count the feet of the fruitcake into pudding for the children. Or add some honey and love if you have an ice cream for a grownup portion.

Before roasting chestnuts, slash an X on the flat side of all but one. Roast at 400 degrees, and when you hear the smut chestnut pop open, you'll know the others are done.

Lt. Nancy Zizunas, a 25-year-old WAC from Fort McLellan, Ala., will begin teaching race relations in the Infantry School early next year. She will be the first female instructor ever to teach here.

USAIS Zizunas is 1st woman instructor

Women have broken another barrier here at the Infantry School. The first WAC instructor ever to teach here will begin early next year.

Lt. Nancy Zizunas, who arrived at Fort Benning this month, will be teaching race relations. She is assigned to the Leadership Department's Contemporary Subjects Committee.

In January, Lt. Zizunas will leave for the Defense Race Relations Institute at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. After she completes her studies there, she will attend the Instructor Training Course here at the Infantry School.

Lt. Zizunas, who received her bachelor of fine arts degree in speech at Ohio University, comes to Fort Benning from Ft. McLellan. She has been a platoon officer there since May, 1972.

She also holds a master of arts degree from Kent State University in interpersonal and organizational communications. After entering the Army in February, 1971, she attended the WAC Officer Basic Course at Ft. McLellan.

She was assigned as an instructor in General Military Subjects from June, 1971, until May, 1972, before becoming a platoon officer in the WAC Training Battalion.

She feels that her background in speech and communications, as well as her teaching experience, helped her get her new job. Although she has no formal training in the area of race relations, she wrote her master's thesis on non-verbal communications between blacks and whites.

She plans to continue work in the area, which she feels is vital "because of the importance of communications between subcultures in the United States."

Lt. Zizunas commented that she sees her new job as a "challenge, being the first female instructor. It's an interesting and controversial subject, and one that requires insight into people."

She has always enjoyed working with people. "By instructing," she added, "I hope to enrich others' views on the subject. I feel that teaching is a rewarding experience for both the teacher and the student. You always learn from those you teach."

Lt. Zizunas, who is not in the least apprehensive about being the first WAC instructor in the Infantry School, said, "Everyone has been most helpful to me since I arrived here." She is excited about her new job, and eager to get started.

The military is a challenging way of life for her, and one she enjoys very much. She feels the need to be constantly active and involved, to meet a variety of people and to improve herself through education.

A native of Elkins, Va., her hometown is Warren, Ohio. She is 26 years old, and enjoys cooking, drama, golf, and tennis. As a single woman, one of her chief outside interests is travel, which she feels is "top education in itself."

"The only thing I hate is boredom," she concluded. "That is the best way to sum up Lt. Zizunas, and a good indication that the first female instructor at the Infantry School will be far from dull."

Santa Claus visits 1-29th during Christmas Party

BY ROBERT THOMAS

Santa Claus visited Benning last weekend, as the 1st Bn., 29th Inf., 197th Inf. Bde. held a Christmas party for the children of those assigned to the Pioneer battalion.

The party, which was held in the Co. B, 1st-29th mess hall, was organized by 1st Sgt. Jack Fletcher and Command Sgt. Maj. Aoy Kendrick. Gifts for the youngsters' nearly 80 in all, were purchased with funds donated by individual soldiers of the 1st-29th.

Santa, who arrived by way of the Pioneer mascot wagon, talked to each of the children and gave them the gifts.

"I'm glad to have been invited to this wonderful party," Santa exclaimed in that familiar deep voice. "The soldiers here have done a good job and I'd like to thank them all for keeping in the Christmas spirit."

Rangers conduct training

Selected Rangers from the Patrolling Committee, Ranger Department, assigned to the 197th Infantry, Fort Benning, Georgia, conducted desert training at Fort Bliss, Texas, during the first two weeks of December. This was the fifth trip for the Rangers to Ft. Bliss to train units in desert operations.

The twenty-seven Ranger personnel under the direction of LTC Frank Scott, Chairman of the Patrolling Committee, provided instruction in the techniques of desert patrolling, tracking, land navigation, survival and mountaineering to personnel from B Company, 76th Rangers, Fort Carson, Colorado and the Aero Rifle Platoon, 3d Armored Cavalry Regiment, Fort Bliss, Texas. Formal instruction was followed by a five day Field Training Exercise conducted in Chisosas Valley of the Chihuahuas Desert.

Parachute operations, mountaineering and desert technique training were the highlights of the two weeks of adventure training. Both cadre and students greatly increased their scope of training by

"I'd also like to thank the C Co. dining facility for providing some great refreshments," added the white-bearded gentleman before departing for the North Pole.

In addition to the presents and refreshments, the kids were treated to movies while the 1st-29th executive officer, Maj. Douglas Snell, led the group in the singing of Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer.

Lt. Col. Charles Arnecke, commander of the historic battalion, was also present to thank Santa for coming.

"I think that the men have done a fine thing in organizing this party," commended Lt. Col. Arnecke. "A lot of effort has been put out by a number of individuals too numerous to name. I'd like to thank them all for what they have done here."

adding the many unique techniques required when operating in a desert environment.

A parachute jump into Fryar Field was planned to conclude the operation for the returning instructors on December 15, but was cancelled due to bad weather. The overall goal is to qualify all Ranger Department cadre as instructors in desert training techniques, as well as to train as many selected units as possible. Another desert PTX is tentatively scheduled for sometime in the spring of 1973.

Placing a new starter on a Patriot desert PTX is tentatively scheduled for sometime in the spring of 1973. 197th Inf. Bde. He is one of the many Patriot soldiers working in the moose D, 1st Bn. (Mech), 28th Inf. (Patriots).

Personnel processing tries a new approach

The dehumanization of the individual has long been one of the sore spots of Army life. If there was one area where this was clearly in evidence, it was in the area of personnel processing, which was too often dependent on a group of tired, sulen and disgruntled clerks. The unfortunate result was that men were reduced to mere numbers and passed from point to point as though by some indifferent machine.

With the advent of the Modern Volunteer Army, change came to personnel processing. At Fort Benning, a new approach was implemented; a man was to be treated as an individual, with courtesy and dignity. At the same time, efficiency was to be a byproduct of the program. Four hours was the ideal time established for processing a man onto the post and on to his unit. This was the task that was given to the 18th Replacement Detachment, 931st Engineer Group.

Minimizing the time necessary for processing the individual was one of the most important parts of the overall plan. Elimination of the waiting time between the time that the man reported to Fort Benning and the time that he actually went to work meant a significant reduction in the "thru up and wait" that has plagued the army for so long.

This was accomplished by providing "one stop service" for registrants. The 18th Replacement Detachment coordinated all phases of the individual's processing. Everything that was necessary was made available, right there in the same building. In one smooth, continuous operation, the soldier could complete the entire task of processing in with a minimum of harassment.

Although speed is of essence, it was not achieved at the expense of courtesy. For many soldiers, this represents their first contact with Fort Benning. Processing page 24

Booze, gas don't mix

What should be done to the drunk driver?

E-6 Daniel Mathews
If he is involved in an accident and has been drinking he should be locked up and fined, plus revoke his license. In an ordinary intoxicated driving charge the first offense should be a fine, the second should be a stiff enough fine to make him wish he had not drank and drove. The third time his license should be suspended.

E-4 Edward Borunda
48th Co., TSB
He deserves some punishment. First a warning and a fine depending on how drunk he really is. If he is really intoxicated put him someplace to sober up. When he is sober release him.

E-5 Jimmy Hayes
32nd Signal Platoon
It creates a hazard to all people concerned when a drunk is on the road. He should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. If I'd get caught I would deserve any punishment that they would give me.
On a first offense fine and 6 months without a license. The second offense revoke his license for a year and permanently the third.

E-7 Thomas J. Be Blaise
14th Co. TSB
I have three children and like any other person with kids I'm really concerned about drunk drivers on the roads. The punishment should be severe enough to make any person who drinks have a way to get home without driving. The first offense should be having his license revoked for 6 months; the second time he is caught it should be permanently.

E-2 Daniel Lee Mason Jr.
69th Trans.
Any man who drinks should be careful that he doesn't overdrink when he knows he has to drive. On his first offense he should be dealt with depending on how drunk he is and how far from home he is. On offenses after that the fine should increase with his license being revoked.

By CHAPLAIN HOH
Most of us do not want to think of ourselves as being driven by ruthless ambition anymore than we would admit to having no ambition. This suggests that we ought to try to formulate our ambitions so that we not only have a good chance of achieving them, but so that ambition can be instrumental in improving the quality of our lives. With this in mind, let us think about some ways to put our ambitions to constructive use.

FIRST, we need to choose realistic goals in life. If the goals we set for ourselves are unattainable we can find ourselves in the self-defeating position of doubting our ability to do anything worthwhile. This is why our goals must have a reasonable chance to be realized. Realistic goals will satisfy our basic needs, be in keeping with our interests, and be built on the solid foundation of previous successes.

SECOND, we need to way to realize our highest potential. We receive assurance this is possible from one of the revolutionary insights of modern psychology: we can learn as long as we live. This insight runs counter to what our society actually does. Our society offers educational opportunities almost exclusively to the young and ignores the adult by accepting the adage that you can't teach old dogs new tricks. This is a tragedy because it tends to freeze our adult population in a state of fixed unchangeability in a world that is constantly changing. Even if old dogs cannot learn new tricks, and grown human beings can continue to learn — and must — if they are going to achieve anything close to their maximum potential as persons.

THIRD, ambition must be used to improve the quality of life. Ambition can dominate us so completely that we can lose our sense of individuality. Our personalities can become so subordinated to achieving success that we take on the qualities rather than persons. We need to devise safeguards against ambitions that will dehumanize us in an impersonal technocratic society. Some of these safeguards are: regular examination of the motives behind our ambitions; be certain that our ambitions make a positive contribution to others; and devise ways of using our successes to improve the quality of our lives.

Army

No place for the unprofessional

HQ, CONARC, FORT MONROE, Va. — There's no place in the modern Army for the unprofessional. The whole idea behind MVA is not, as some may think, a submission to the individual, but a submission of the individual to professionalism. No matter what its peacetime mission, the Army has never changed its basic mission — ground defense of the United States; supporting national policies; implementing the national objectives; and overcoming any nations responsible for aggressive acts that imperil the peace and security of the United States. Insouciance and disrespect for a authority have no place in the Army or anywhere in American society.

The professional soldier of any grade acts like a man (or woman); looks like a soldier; conducts himself as a soldier both on and off-duty; and possesses the virtues that, above all others, marks the professional — integrity. No one, least of all the Army, expects sainthood of any grade acts like a man (or woman); looks like a soldier; conducts himself as a soldier both on and off-duty; and possesses the virtues that, above all others, marks the professional — integrity. No one, least of all the Army, expects sainthood from you. Professionalism isn't sainthood. It's caring enough: —to look like a soldier. —to do the job you're assigned to the very best of your ability. —to take pride in your work, your unit, your country, and most of all yourself. If you haven't got that

Sp4 Morris Scott serves himself a man-size helping of Potato Salad at the HHC, TSB company party held on Dec. 29 at the old 42d Company mess hall. The large party, with over 70 pounds of fried chicken, and 25 gallons of soda pop, was attended by approximately 200 people. John R. Outter, HHC commander, gave the party for the company in appreciation "for the people who have made this the best year of my life."

Boy Scout's dream of three years to be paratrooper comes true

Pvt. Steven A. Treadwell, 4th Co. TSB is airborne. When he exited the door of a C-123 aircraft on Monday, Dec. 10, and his parachute billowed out over him it marked the completion of a dream he has carried with him for three years.

In 1969 Pvt. Treadwell came to Fort Benning as a member of an Explorer scout troop from Indianapolis, Ind., under the sponsorship of Indianapolis Congressman William G. Bray. While his troop was here they went through airborne PT and jumped from the 34 foot towers. He made up his mind then that if he ever joined the Army he would become a paratrooper.

On August 31 he enlisted because he wanted to further his education and saw that the G.I. Bill could help him do it. On Dec. 10, alongside Lt. Col. James L. Anderson, commander of the 4th Student Bn., he made the jump he described simply as "a great thrill. Fantastic." Before his entrance into the Army Pvt. Treadwell was an apprentice embalmer. When he joined he was hoping that somehow he could find a way to get into that line of work as his Army job. Sadly for him he discovered that the Civil Service takes care of that for the Army. Since he can't get into embalming while in the Army he decided that he would like to get into a related field, so he is now in the process of getting his Advanced Individual Training changed from Infantry to Chaplain's Assistant. Why? "Because there is a lot of religion in funeral directing and I wanted something I could use when I get out of the service." Pvt. Treadwell hopes to get at least one year of college finished while he is in the Army. Then he will only have one year of mortician's school to go through to get his mortician's license.

When you have eight children (ages 4 - 10), you use your degree in home economics and can be thankful to have that college major.

Mrs. Norbert Otto sews everything from coats to lingerie, bodysuits to blue jeans for herself and her family.

This accomplished lady from Marietta will be sharing her talents with the OWC as she will be offering two sewing courses this Jan. 1, "Which is Stitch" and "Bee-low the Belt."

"Which to Stitch" will consist of three lessons one on lingerie, and two on bodysuits. The cost will be $6.

"Bee-low the Belt" will teach how to make men and boys' pants. Special instruction will be given on sewing pockets, fly, and waist bands. After the four classes for $9.00, you'll have a finished product.

Both classes can be yours by signing up at the OWC tent, the High at 10 a.m. from 1-3 p.m. at MOOM. "Bee" with us again.

CLEARANCE SALE

The Thrift Shop and Bargain Barn are planning an after-Christmas clearance sale "to-morrow" merchandise. The sale begins Jan. 4, 1973, at 10 a.m.

JANUARY TEA

Around the world with Friendship Tea is the plan for Jan. 10 when the Allied Wives display artifacts from their countries and wear their native dress. The "trip" starts at 1 p.m. from the Main Officers Club. No reservations are needed.

Along with the "trip" comes the bonus of activities, activities and more activities.

Be sure to watch the Eagle Show Jan. 3, 1973, at 8 a.m.

BBQ

The Corridor Room of the Main Officers Club was the scene, Dec. 15, of a coffee for the ladies of COMBAT SUPPORT GROUP. Hostesses for the mid-morning event were Mrs. James C. Jackson, Mrs. James R. Kirsch, and Mrs. Robert W. Kimbrough.

During a brief announcement period, Mrs. James T. Dunn welcomed Mrs. Wayne W. Wright and Mrs. Phillip W. Carroll. Farewell charms were presented by Mrs. George W. Auzie Jr. and to Mrs. Gregory W. Mason.

A special mention was made of the arrival of Mary Anne, the new addition to the family of Capt. and Mrs. Thomas P. Ross.

The coming holiday season was the reason for a party on Dec. 15 for the officers and their wives of the ARTILLERY COMPANY.

The group met for dinner at Volpe's Italian Restaurant in Columbus, then adjourned to the home of Capt. and Mrs. Don E. Taylor in Holly Hills for further festivities.

Guests at this evening affair were Lt. Col. and Mrs. James T. Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown.

TUSARETU

Mrs. Gordon D. Horner and Mrs. Lones W. Kewer were hostesses at the Christmas luncheon of the UNITED STATES ARMY MARKSMANSHIP TRAINING UNIT's officers' wives. It was held Dec. 18 at the Goelchins House, festively decorated for the season.

Two new ladies were welcomed, Mrs. Louis M. Thoiner and Mrs. Ernest E. Vanzetti. Mrs. W. H. Harper expressed her appreciation to Mrs. Fred Keller who is retiring as Publicity Chairman, and announced that Mrs. James Y. Grizzell has necks. The Battalion's Children's Christmas party was discussed.

Mrs. Bruce Blake was welcomed to the group. Farewells were said to Mrs. Larry Conner, Mrs. Bill Bealline, and Mrs. Jim Hall.

The group was delighted to have two special guests, Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, and Mrs. Ernest Adkins. At the close of the coffee Mrs. Arnette passed out cheerfully wrapped loaves of pumpkin bread to each lady present that she and her mother, Mrs. Adkins, had baked.

Bravo Company Mess Hall 1st Bn. 25th Inf. was the setting for the Battalion's Children's Christmas party. It was held Dec. 16. The mess hall was brightly decorated for Christmas. The party began with films for the children after which Christmas carols were sung. Then, much to the delight of all, Santa Claus arrived riding in the 1-23rd's covered wagon (the Pioneers' mascot). Gifts were passed out to each of the children and refreshments served.

Arrangements for the party were handled by MSG Accey Akridge. He was ably assisted by the NCO's and Officers' wives of the battalion.

The ladies of the 197th Support Battalion celebrated their Christmas coffee at the home of Mrs. Richard Rockwell on Rainbow Ave., Fort Benning, Thursday, Dec. 14. Mrs.

Rockwell's festive holiday decorations and menu were the perfect complement to the afternoon's congenial get-together. Mrs. W. J. Edkins Jr., presided over the business meeting, announcing that the Philadelphia Department of Family Services is seeking volunteers for a variety of services designed to help underprivileged children.

The opportunities available to the ladies of the 197th Support Battalion were discussed by Mrs. Richard W. Ulrich for the ladies of ODDLP at her home in Green Island Hills, Dec. 26. A very short business discussion was held and the man in the department then joined the ladies for punch and hors d'oeuvres.

ODDLP

Mrs. Richard W. Ulrich held a Christmas Tea for the ladies of ODDLP at her home in Green Island Hills, Dec. 26. A very short business discussion was held and the man in the department then joined the ladies for punch and hors d'oeuvres.

A warm welcome is extended to the newcomers in the department: Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter D. Ginger, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James A. Millner, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Hamberlin, Jr., Lt. Col. Darrell W. Bason, Major and Mrs. Douglas R. Babcock, Capt. Robert M. Keeney, Capt. Edward J. Daly, Capt. and Mrs. William G. Carter, and Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Anderson II.

AIRBORNE WIVES

Dec. 18 the Airborne wives met at the home of Mrs. Robert H. Tully for a "Christmas Party" with Mrs. Jerry C. Goodenough acting as co-hostess. The house was all decorated for the holidays.

The feature attraction was a Cookie Grab Bag. Each lady brought several dozen of her best Christmas cookies and swapped them for several dozen of the other ladies baking efforts. This helped to put a little variety into the cookie jars of the Department.

All were pleased to learn that the pine cone wreaths made for the Bee-zar netted a profit of $45.50 this year.

Volunteers for the Thrift Shop in Jan. are Mrs. Goodenough and Mrs. Mark Foman. The next get-together will be at the home of Mrs. Vernon L. Klinger with Mrs. Michael R. Barnes helping out.

SAC

The officers and wives of the SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE attended a casual Christmas dinner, Dec. 2, at the Support Club in the Main Officers Open Mess.

The officers and wives of the SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE attended a casual Christmas dinner, Dec. 2, at the Support Club in the Main Officers Open Mess.

Honored guests were Col. and Mrs. Kavasaki and his wife, Jenny. After the dinner of Fillet Mignon and Cornish Hen, Lt. Col. Jules C. Trippinger gave a warm welcome to Capt. and Mrs. Bobby Chapman, Capt. Mike Tomasin, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Paul Taylor and Lt. and Mrs. Ray Cumba. Baby cups were presented to happy and proud parents: 1st Lt. and Mrs. Ray Cumba on the arrival of their daughter Christine Renee, born Oct. 9, and Capt. and Mrs. Robert Lemaster on the arrival of their son, Jeffrey, born Dec. 26.

Farewells were extended to Capt. and Mrs. Hollister, Capt. and Mrs. Walt Smith, Capt. and Mrs. Anthony Martin, and Capt. James Harris.

SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE

The ladies of the SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE held their monthly coffee Dec. 14 at the home of Mrs. Heinrich Schmidt, Ridgefield Rd., Columbus. Co-hostess of the coffee was Mrs. Scott Weingardt.

Adding to the Christmas spirit, each of the ladies brought samples of her favorite Christmas goodies and the recipe and these were exchanged.

WEAPONS DEPARTMENT

The ladies of the WEAPONS DEPARTMENT were entertained with a Christmas Tea on Dec. 18 in the Bessing Room at the Main Officers Open Mess.

The tea table was decorated with a red-cloth and a colorful seasonal floral arrangement. The ladies enjoyed an array of finger sandwiches, puffin filled with chicken salad, sausage and biscuits, Christmas cookies, coffee, tea and champagne punch.

Highlighting the tea was the beautiful blending of voices offered by the Infantry Chorus. Lt. Grace discussed the chorus as they sang favorite carols.

Mrs. Michael Kovatsky made several announcements, and wished the ladies and their families a Merry Christmas and a safe holiday. A welcome was made to the newcomers with Mrs. Michael R. Barnes helping out.

SAC

The officers and wives of the SMALL ARMS COMMITTEE attended a casual Christmas dinner, Dec. 2, at the Support Club in the Main Officers Open Mess.

Honored guests were Col. and Mrs. Kavasaki and his wife, Jenny. After the dinner of Fillet Mignon and Cornish Hen, decorated in red and green with poinsettias for the occasions. The ladies enjoyed an array of Christmas cookies, cakes and brownies, along with a champagne punch.

The party concluded as the ladies exchanged gifts. A special guest was Miss Allison Housler, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Michael Housler, born Dec. 7.

DPT

DPT held its annual Christmas party Dec. 14 at the Sand Hill NCO Club. Special guests of the evening were Col. and Mrs. Willard Latham and CSM and Mrs. John F. LaVoe. Decorations enhanced the club, from Silver streamers and Christmas balls to a gaily lit Christmas tree.

DPT

Following the DPT portion of the entertainment, everyone enjoyed "doing their thing" to the music of the Rams.

Delta Airlines opens lounge in Atlanta

With the holiday season here, service personnel are busy making plans for holiday leaves. If they're stationed in the Third Army area and travel by air to their leave destination, there's a possibility they will have a stop-over in Atlanta and maybe have a wait at Hartsfield International Airport.

To make this wait more pleasant for the military traveler, Delta Air Lines, a possibility of use of military travelers and/or their dependents. Refreshments of soft Inc., maintains a Military Lounge adjacent to Gate 61 of the East Concourse. The lounge, which has a television monitor of Delta flights, will accommodate from 25 to 30 persons. Magazines, cards and games, plus stationary are available in the lounge.

A color television has been placed in the lounge by the Central Post Fund of Fort McPherson, Ga., which has also had a direct-line telephone to the post installed for the free drinks, coffee and cookies are available at all times at no cost to the military. During the rush of the holiday season volunteers from among Delta personnel serve as hosts and hostesses in the lounge, serving snacks and soft drinks to waiting passengers.

Wayne Reel, station manager for Delta Air Lines, says there is a possibility that a second lounge will be opened during the holiday season this year to accommodate the over-flow traffic.

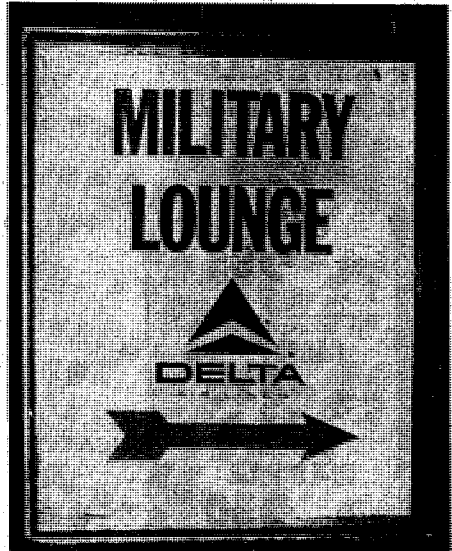

The airline company first opened the lounge in November 1971 as an aid to military travelers during the holiday season. Response to the lounge was so favorable that Delta decided to keep it open on a year-around basis. Mr. Reel reports that some 2,000 thank-you letters were received about the lounge last year, including one from retired Gen. William C. Westmoreland, former Army chief of staff.

When you are flying home on Christmas or New Year's leave, if you have a stop-over in Atlanta, feel free to visit the Military Lounge. It is there for your use 24 hours a day.

Delta Air Lines received such favorable response to a lounge it established for military travelers during the Thanksgiving-Christmas holidays last year, that officials of the air line decided to maintain the lounge on a year around basis. The lounge which offers reclining chairs, a table and chairs, games, coffee, cakes and snacks plus a flight

Benning crew chief has high aspirations

Whir, whir, blup, blup, whir, whir, blup — the sound of a cackling child? No, this is the sound of an OH38 light observation helicopter.

The aircraft fire a common scene at Fort Benning. What is uncommon, the man behind the scene... the man that lights the bolts, checks the fuel lines, and makes sure the "ship" is in proper shape.

Spic Bruce O. Fuller, 32nd Aviation Section, speaks of his job as crew chief with an air of confidence. "If I play my cards right, I'll be sergeant major of the Army," Fuller said. He didn't blink or stammer as he worked on a tall rotor while his supervisor, SSgt. Lester Williams, observed his work.

According to SSgt. Williams, Fuller is a rare breed. "He has superior knowledge of aircraft maintenance procedures. He's a professional and never has to be told to perform maintenance functions," Williams stressed. "If something needs to be done, my crew chiefs work together to make sure our aircraft stay operational."

Aside from Fuller's confident manner, he speaks with pride about the training he has received through the Army. "I've been interested in mechanics all my life and have never seen anything I couldn't fix. Army schools like the Single Engine Turbine School at Fort Rucker have given me the expertise I need to apply my interest," Fuller said proudly.

Born in Macon, Georgia April 28, 1947, Sp5 Fuller speaks with a slight southern accent. His father, Irlton Fuller, retired from the Army as a Master Sergeant. After graduating from Baker High School in Columbus, Fuller enlisted in the Army at the Columbus Recruiting Office August 20, 1967.

After Basic Training at Ft. Polk, he went to school at Ft. Rucker, then to Ft. Hood, Tex. where he was with "D" Troop, 2nd Squadron, 1st Cavalry, 1st Regiment of Dragoons, one of the oldest units in the Army today. This unit deployed to Vietnam in June 1968 and Fuller returned to the states in Sept. 1970.

"The Army has its advantages and disadvantages," Fuller said. "It is no different in civilian life. 'Nearly everyone has someone to whom they are responsible. If you don't do his job, he gets ahead. Everyone paves their own road.'"

Fuller's only complaint concerned the Army pay system. "The system as it exists, tends to mistreat people with experience get out," he said. "I'm a proficient mechanic and I expect to get paid for it. The Army took away $75 per month because they were supposedly overstocked with personnel with a military occupational specialty (MOS) 67V2. Additionally, the Army has downgraded the variable recruitment bonus (VRB) for my particular MOS," Fuller stressed.

"As for my future plans, I'm thinking of OCS and Flight School," Fuller said. "I want to prove to everyone that an enlisted man can go through the ranks and obtain a rank higher than colonel."

51st OC's sing to general

Officer Candidates of the 51st and 52nd Companies, 5th Stu. Bn., TSB, have formed a glee club, and on Monday night, Dec. 18 they did a one-night stand in the courtyard of River-side, home of Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, to sing a medley of Christmas Carols and songs.

The OCS Glee Club, organized by Chaplain (Capt.) Calvin H. Snyder III, left the 5th Stu. area at 7 p.m. The singers were piled into two 2 1/2 ton trucks and since they all wouldn't fit in there the trucks were followed by a caravan of cars. Then they reached Riverside the 150 or so men formed into ranks and marched into the courtyard singing "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas." Once they were in position Gen. Talbot and his wife came out in the chilly night air to listen, and to sing along. The Glee Club was directed by Officer Candidate James Harris, 52nd Co.

After finishing at Riverside the group moved on to the home of Brig. Gen. William R. Richardson, where they repeated their performance. Then the men split up into smaller groups and visited the homes of Col. A. G. Norris, TSB commander, and Lt. Col. Gordon M. Hunt, 5th Bn. commander, and other officers of TSB.

At some of the houses the candidates visited parties were thrown for them. At Col. Norris' home a

The annual Christmas decorating competition for Marine Army Hospital wards was won this year by B-7 (Women) and B-8 (Men). Their themes were "Christmas Card Lane" and "Christmas in Many Lands" respectively. Second place went to B-1 whose theme was "Old Fashion Christmas." Ward A-6 received honorable mention status in the contest.

Selection was based on originality, neatness, amount of effort involved, combination of theme and overall attractiveness.

Judges this year were Mrs. Orwin C. Talbot, Mrs. W. Richardson, Mrs. H. Haskell Zepman, Mrs. Paul Kaufman, Mrs. John Laviole, Mrs. Francis Spencer and Mrs. Bill May.

Warrant Officers Michael A. Gulick, Dennis J. Longman, and Frank H. Zahert, all of the 26th Aviation Company, have been promoted to CW2.

The following individuals from the Aviation Command Mess Hall have received Letters of Appreciation for their outstanding support of the Aviation Command Field Operations from October 1 through October 6: SFC James D. Lee, 69th Transportation Company, Aviation Command Mess Sergeant; Sp4 Guillermo W. Garcia, 26th Aviation Company, Mess Steward; Sp5 John H. Jenkins, 121st Aviation Company, Mess Steward; Sp5 William K. Anderson, 212th Aviation Company, Shift Leader; Sp5 William R. Burnett, 121st Aviation Company, Mess Steward; Sp5 Henry C. Miller, 212th Aviation Company, Shift Leader; Sp5 Charles L. Wooten, 69th Transportation Company, 1st Cook; Sp4 Winston D. Griffith, 121st Aviation Company, 2nd Cook; PFC Frederick C. Clayton, 212th Aviation Company, Cook; PFC Barney E. McQuay, 212th Aviation Company, Cook.

Sp4 Doris E. Byrd Jr., AF-1G Cobra crew chief for the 121st Aviation Company, has realigned for six years.

CW3 Bryce J. Gordon, Avionics Officer for the 69th Transportation Company, Aviation Command, has been selected as one of eleven non-aviation warrant officers to attend the Aviation Warrant Officer Advanced Course at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Attendance of non-aviation warrant officers at the Aviation Warrant Officer Advanced Course is being conducted on a trial basis to determine the suitability of this course for these warrant officers whose career fields do not currently offer such training. To accommodate the non-aviation warrant officer the curriculum has been modified by deletion of the purely aviation-oriented subjects and expansion of the cooperative and elective program. Mr. Gordon will be called upon periodically to provide his appraisal of the value of the course for senior, non-aviation warrant officers. If the test proves successful, the program will be expanded to include attendance from all warrant officer career fields.

Approximately 50 million Americans will go camping this year. That's a lot of people. But you don't have to run into all of them on your next outdoor venture. For there are also 718,000 square miles of public domain land in the United States, stretching from Southwest Deserts to the Tundra of Alaska. It is some of the most beautiful country on earth, and most of it is accessible only on foot or with trail animals. If you decide to pack in, you can have the wilderness world to yourself.

A classic outdoor book, THE HIKER'S AND BACKPACKER'S HANDBOOK by Bill Merrill has just been published in paperback (Arrow Publishing Company, 219 Park Avenue South, New York) to tell you how. It offers a complete guide to every aspect of hiking and packing, from foot care to camp site selection — including map reading and land navigation, clothing and equipment selection, camping, and mountain climbing techniques, what to do if you are lost, and better, how to stay found. In short, how to go light and right.

Going light is, of course, the key to successful backpacking. And if Bill Merrill can't get you to do it, nobody will. In THE HIKER'S AND BACKPACKER'S HANDBOOK he includes information on what constitutes a comfortable great Russian tradition, so is his mode of composition, which has its roots in nineteenth-century naturalism. Every character has a biography; faces matter, general statements about human nature appear. An attempt is made to take in the full social spectrum (aristocrats to peasants, workers to intellectuals); symbolism is muted, the pressure of society on men and women is never absent, and moral conflict is at the heart of all action.

History, according to an old aphorism, is the record of the victors, but Solzhenitsyn speaks for the losers, asserting the supremacy of human over political values, denying that the essence of life can be captured even by the most subtle intellectual formula, and insisting upon rising above all ideological quarrels to declare that only one human difference really matters — the difference between decency and swinishness.

Modernization

Army responsible for many inventions

The Army has done a lot of things to make life easier for everyone. Many people don't realize all that the Army has done for them. Let's take a look at a few of the things that they have done.

For starters, let's take a look at the field of industry. Many of the tools and techniques of modern industry are the result of Army efforts. For example, the hydraulic testing machine used to measure tensile strength in the steel industry was invented at Watertown Arsenal in the late 1870's.

Other Army developments in metallurgy include the use of X-rays to check foundry castings, ultrasonic welding, and centrifugal casting.

Business and science rely heavily on the speed analysis provided by electronic computers. The first one, EINAC, which went into operation in 1946 after four years of Ordnance Corps research and joint development with the University of Pennsylvania, was built to solve Army ballistics problems.

From this huge machine, now retired, came the knowledge and skills which led to today's miniaturized sophisticated computers which influence much of American life.

Industry was not the only field that the Army has contributed to. Let's now turn to medicine and surgery, where they have done a lot of things.

Major Walter Reed solved the deadly mystery of the transmission of yellow fever. Army doctors were the first to apply microscopical photography to pathology, developed the chlorination of water, and pioneered in "preventive medicine," including spreading the use of annual physical examinations.

In 1908, Major Frederick Russell identified flies and contaminated water as the primary carrier of typhoid fever, and the Army began manufacturing typhoid vaccines for the Public Health Service the same year. Army research funds helped develop the artificial kidney device now responsible for saving and prolonging thousands of lives all over the U.S.

If you live in farm country, you're probably aware of some of the Army's contributions to agriculture. Cotton farmers, for example, can cope with the dreaded boll weevil because the Army Chemical Corps developed controls that virtually eradicated this pest.

Army chemists adapted the battlefield smoke screen into a form of crop dusting to help farmers protect fruit trees by surrounding them with chemical fogs.

Chlorophyll, discovered by an Army laboratory, helps control bacteria, soil fungi and nematodes, as well as serving as a fumigant for controlling rodents and pests in mills and grain storage bins.

The Army's Venezuelan vaccine protected over two million horses in 19 quarantined states during the nation's epidemic, but an epidemic in animals — of that disease in 1971.

As Americans, we have all benefited from the Army's professional and dedicated defense of our country. But the non-military contributions and spin-offs are equally important, today as in the past.

Plan careful use of leftovers each week and check what is in the refrigerator or cupboard before replenishing supplies.

Beware of price deceptions. Sometimes products are advertised at reduced prices when, in fact, they never were sold for the higher price. Other deceptions may include false comparisons, stating that costs selling for $30 are "comparable" to a $20 one that is selling for $40 when they are not. Also, during those "two for the price of one" sales, some unethical businessmen artificially in-

Bayonet originally from French town

By Lee M. Hunt and Robert A. Winters

If you look at a map of southern France you will discover a town named Bayonne at a point on the Atlantic coast just a few miles north of the Spanish border. It was here, some time between 1840-1847, that the long slender blades, designed to be attached to the muzzle of a shoulder-fired weapon, were first manufactured and used.

With the advent of mass troop formations using shock, the closed formation became vulnerable to cavalry attacks and an auxiliary weapon was needed which would protect infantry from being overrun by horsemen. Probably the most spectacular use of such a defense was by the British Squads with their front ranks kneeling and their bayoneted muskets, butts on the ground, presented at a 45 degree angle against French and Polish cavalry at Waterloo.

The bayonet also appeared in the mottoes of the distinctive insignia of many military units. It has had, like most items of military equipment, an interesting and varied career, with the method of attachment and the size and shape of the blade being the most common variations to be noted.

Tips on food shopping real help for saving cash

BY MAUREN TUBERT

Food prices get higher and higher each shopping trip, but that food bill can be cut. What is needed is time, determination and stamina. Persistence may be a good time to examine shopping habits to see if changes are needed. Some fruits and vegetables are cheaper at certain times of the year or frozen items are sometimes cheaper than fresh. Here are a few shopping tips to help that grocery bill come down.

Generally, most experts' advice reduces itself to several obvious but worthwhile rules:

- Make a shopping list before going to the store. This list can cut down costly impulse purchases. And it tends to keep spending in line with your budget. People with large families should shop less often but buy in bigger quantities.
- Collect price-cutting coupons and use them.
- Best Advantage. — Use unit prices to find which products are the cheapest per pound, ounce or pint.
- Plan careful use of leftovers each week and check what is in the refrigerator or cupboard before replenishing supplies.
- Beware of price deceptions. Sometimes products are advertised at reduced prices when, in fact, they never were sold for the higher price. Other deceptions may include false comparisons, stating that costs selling for $30 are "comparable" to a $20 one that is selling for $40 when they are not. Also, during those "two for the price of one" sales, some unethical businessmen artificially in-

TASBIS - the soldier's link between field and research

What's a TASBIS? It's neither a weapons system nor a disease; it is the acronym for The Army Sounding Board for the Individual Soldier. Organized on January 1, 1970, at the direction of the Army Chief of Staff, the Army Sounding Board is the direct link between the Soldier in the field and Army research and development laboratories. The purpose of the Sounding Board is to act on suggestions from Soldiers world-wide on combat clothing and equipment.

Each suggestion is considered by a board composed of combat experienced NCOs and officers. When required, experts from Army laboratories or private businesses and industry are consulted. After a suggestion has been thoroughly considered and evaluated, the suggester is personally informed on the action taken on his suggestion. For accepted ideas that improve effectiveness or morale of the Soldier or save the government money, cash awards are authorized. Many Soldiers have already received cash awards this way.

Suggestions to the Army Sounding Board have resulted in the adoption of a pen type flashlight, and improvements in decontaminating kits, litter bags, mine detectors, AN-PRCS harnesses and many others. Suggestions from field Soldiers have very much influenced the characteristics of the new items now under development such as the load-carrying equipment, the squad radio, and the life-vest.

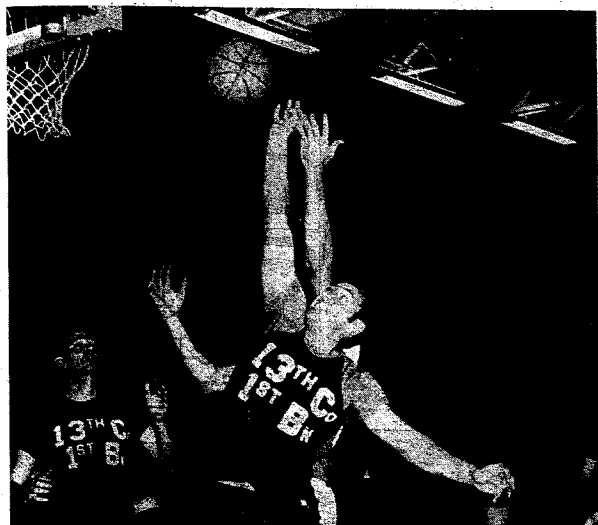

All Soldiers are encouraged to submit their ideas or even general comments and opinions on the individual combat clothing and equipment issued them. Who knows, for a few sentences the reward may be as high as $25,000, depending on the contribution made.

If the Steelers don't get you . . .

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers Tuesday disputed an opinion by an American Football Conference executive that local fans might pose a security problem for the Miami Dolphins in this week's title game.

The Steelers conceded that hundreds of excited fans did rush onto the field in the waning seconds of last Saturday's thrilling 15-7 win over Oakland. "But the crowd was good-natured and orderly," said a Steeler spokesman.

"The same thing could have happened anywhere under the circumstances. It happened to us earlier this season in Cleveland."

The statement came in response to a New York Times article quoting Val Pinchbeck Jr., AFC executive assistant, as saying, "The fans in Pittsburgh just aren't used to being in the playoffs and they got a little carried away by it."

The story said league officials would supposedly meet Tuesday with Pittsburgh police to discuss security.

However, Pittsburgh Police Supt. Robert Colville said Tuesday afternoon that no meeting had been arranged, adding that private guards were responsible for stadium security.

The Times story mentioned a Friday night incident in Pittsburgh in which an Oakland player, reserve tight end Bob Moore, was clubbed on the head, allegedly by a policeman. "We don't want any more incidents of confusion," Pinchbeck was quoted as saying. "The clubbing occurred after an unruly crowd had formed outside the Hilton Hotel, where the Raiders were lodged."

Police said Moore was struck as he attempted to force his way through a line of policemen who were trying to move the crowd away from the hotel.

The Raider tight end was returning from a movie when the incident occurred, and police said later that they had not known he was a player.

Meanwhile, Moore has said he plans to take legal action against the Pittsburgh police, and the National Football League Players' Association also plans to send attorneys here to investigate.

They say that in the game of life two heads are better than one. Well, in the game of basketball four arms are definitely better than two as this player for 13 Co., 1st Bn., TSB demonstrates while an astounded teammate looks on. Actually, an exposing payer managed to sneak around behind him to cause the usual effect. Incidentally, 11th Co. beat 13 Co. in this TSB league game at the Main Post Gym. (Photo by George Kurda)

Davis, Crimson Tide miss No. 1 boat

By BUDDY SULLIVAN
Alabama quarterback Terry Davis, the offensive player of the year in the Southeastern Conference, won't be placing too much stock in national rankings when he leads his Tide teammates against fifth-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl Classic New Year's Day.

"I suppose we could still possibly win the national title, but coming back up from a No. 4 ranking is asking an awful lot," the senior signal-caller from Bogalusa, La., admitted just after Alabama wound up pre-Christmas drills in last week at Tuscaloosa.

"It would take some real freak happenings just for us to move up in the rankings any at all. We had our chance going into the Auburn game and things just didn't work out, that's the way it is."

"But I'm taking this game with Texas personally," Davis pointed out. "We've never beaten them before and a win would be a great way to close out my career."

Davis hasn't done badly in the last three years — for a conclusive fact. He's directed the Crimson Tide to 20 wins in 22 starts and was named National Back of the Week after his performance in Alabama's 35-21 victory over LSU at Birmingham Nov. 11. That game sewed up Bear Bryant's second straight SEC championship.

Coch Bryant calls Davis is the best all-around quarterback in the country and Auburn's Shug Jordan tags him the most underrated quarterback in America.

"Passing-wise, I feel like I've had a pretty decent year," Terry commented on his performance in the 1972 regular season. "I didn't do as well with my running and that's just to Auburn there at the end just look away everything I felt I had accomplished."

"That game hurt us more than losing to Nebraska in the Orange Bowl last year. That's why we're counting so much on beating Texas. We've certainly got an awful lot to gain by winning — especially from the standpoint of personal pride stemming from the Auburn game.

"People are expecting us to bounce back against Texas and if we don't, our season won't mean anything," Davis noted.

Competing to several other quarterbacks around the country, Davis' statistics aren't particularly impressive. Without question, they are the most misleading of any around.

Davis was in command of a highly-intricate offense all-season (and last year, too) in the ever-changing triple option — wishbone as it's more commonly known.

As a senior this year, he picked up 261 yards rushing in 102 carries of the option, completed 50 of 94 passes for 777 yards and six touchdowns and personally scored 54 points.

Perhaps the best two individual showings of Davis' colorful career came in Alabama's wins over Tennessee and LSU this year.

Against the Bengals, he hit 10 of 17 passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns passes to Wayne Wheeler.

In the Tennessee game, he ignited a Crimson Tide rally that saw Alabama recover from a 10-3 deficit in the fourth quarter and win, 17-10.

For that performance, Davis was named the SEC

Back of the Week. Davis had an even 900 yards in total offense as a starting junior quarterback then picked up 1,468 this year. Throwing in another 235 yards his sophomore year, Terry has accounted for 2,193 yards in his Alabama career.

Other backs around the country have had higher totals over a similar period but none played for a team that saw so many different individuals pile up as much yardage of their own.

For example, 10 Crimson Tide backs chipped in at least 130 yards rushing during Alabama's 11-game season. Another had 87.

"We're learning to accept our loss in the last game of the season now," Davis pointed out. "And that is leading us to the realization of what we have to do against Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

"Our first week of practice wasn't the best in the world but we know we'll be ready when we get out to Dallas. I've seen a lot of films on Texas and they look like an awful big team."

"Texas runs about the same basic defenses as we've seen from most of our opponents this year. But we expect them to do a few things different for us since they haven't run into an offense like ours outside of Oklahoma. And that will cause us a few problems on recognition but, hopefully, nothing we can't adjust to as the game goes along," Davis said.

As Davis pointed out, it would take a remarkable combination of circumstances for his Tide to emerge a national champion this year.

AUSA sends soldiers to Peach Bowl clash

In the spirit of Christmas, the Association of the United States Army (AUSA) is sending 30 Fort Benning soldiers to the Peach Bowl Game.

The game, scheduled tonight at 8 p.m. in the Atlanta Stadium, will be between North Carolina State and West Virginia.

Nine Columbus organizations have donated $5 to AUSA so that working soldiers from Fort Benning might have a more enjoyable holiday season. Those organizations contributing are Columbus Bank and Trust, The Fourth National Bank, First National Bank, Trust Company of Columbus, Gas-Light Company, Tom's Foods Limited, Royal Crown Cola Company, WRBL, and WTVM.

AUSA is also providing bus transportation to and from Atlanta. The bus will depart from the National Bank of Fort Benning at 6 p.m. and will return directly after the game.

"$8,000 helped."

Sergeant Roy Smith was going for more than the bonus when he reenlisted. "The $8,000 helped. But part of my reason for staying in the Army is I can get the rest of my college credits for a degree. I've got 2 years in already.

"I enjoy the job I'm doing now as a drill sergeant. But I'd also like to try military intelligence. And eventually get to go to OCS.

"It's all there. It's completely up to me and my qualifications for it."

Sergeant Smith views the Army as one big opportunity for a guy who wants to get ahead.

There are job and educational opportunities. In advanced electronics. Cryptography. Foreign languages. Data processing.

Communications. Traffic analysis. And lots more.

And travel opportunities. In Europe. Korea. Hawaii. Alaska. Panama. And the time to enjoy it. To live it. In a way no tourist ever could.

And the opportunity to save money on all the everyday things.

Like free housing. Free dental and medical care. Commissary and post exchange privileges. Low-cost life insurance.

It's all here. It's up to you.

Your Army Career Counselor has a whole book of job, duty station and training opportunities just waiting for you. He'll give you lots of reasons for staying in.

Sergeant Smith has good reasons for staying in.

Why are you staying in?

Aging Earl

Will start at quarterback for Dolphins

MIAMI (AP) — Aging Earl Morrall again will start at quarterback for Miami when the Dolphins meet Pittsburgh Sunday for the American Conference championship, but Coach Don Shula is leaving the door open for Bob Griese. And a member of the Dolphins' offensive line, repeatedly ripped by Cleveland in Miami's 20-14 squeaker over the Browns Saturday, says they'll have to do better against Mean Joe Greene and his compatriots on the Steelers' front four.

"Earl will start in Pittsburgh," Shula said Tuesday. "Each week Griese is getting more and more time to heal and get back in the groove."

The Dolphins coach said he was tempted to replace Morrall with Griese early in the second half but held off when a turnover resulted from Jim Kick's fumble during a Morrall-led drive.

"It wasn't his fault," Shula said of Morrall.

Morrall directed a come-from-behind 80-yard scoring drive late in the fourth quarter, which included pin-point yard pass to Paul Warfield and Kick's slashing, eight-yard touchdown run that put the Dolphins ahead.

But Griese, out since early in the season when he broke a leg, is in good shape and ready to play if needed in the Pittsburgh game. The winner meets the victor of the Washington-Dallas game for the National Football League championship.

Dolphins offensive lineman Bob Kuechenburg said "we'll definitely have to play better for Pittsburgh than we did against Cleveland. We didn't execute well. It wasn't one of my better days."

A Browns defender didn't think much of Morrall's protection, either.

"If they play like that," said Browns tackle Walter Johnson, "the Steelers will murder 'em."

"We're just going to have to control the line of scrimmage," said Kuechenburg, a left guard. "You're not going to win many ballgames if you don't."

Shula said the Dolphins probably will leave for Pittsburgh late this morning to allow the Dolphins two days of work on the artificial turf of Three Rivers Stadium.

Crackback blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Linebacker Jack Pardee had retired from pro football when he received a telephone call from George Allen, the head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

When Allen moved to Washington, he traded for Pardee, the defensive quarterback.

The veteran, Allen says repeatedly, is the reason the Redskins' defense is one of the best in the National Football League.

Pardee was injured three games ago in a loss to the Dallas Cowboys and missed Washington final regular-season loss to Buffalo. Allen blamed a crackback block thrown by Dallas wide receiver Lance Alworth for the injury.

"It's something designed to hurt a player and I don't think it has any place in football," Allen said. The block is so named because the man throwing it cuts back sharply and hits the man, usually without being seen because he approaches from the blind side. There is no rule against it in the NFL.

"That's what comes from the all-righteous Tom all-good," Pardee said of Tom Landry, Dallas coach.

12 soldiers mentioned in 'Soldiers'

Twelve Fort Benning soldiers were mentioned in an article on adventure training in the December edition of SOLDIERS magazine. The 12 soldiers, led by Lt. Col. Karl Hurdle of the Fort Benning Ranger committee, journeyed 140 miles through Canada and was joined by eight Canadian soldiers after 65 miles of a canoeing expedition.

Hurdle said he hoped the expedition would be the start of many such expeditions to Canada.

Safety is the key word at TSB for holiday season

Safety is the key word in The School Brigade for New Years. Safety is the watchword in The School Brigade for the holiday season.

The vast majority of the people assigned to the School Brigade will be safely minded during the holidays, and will come back healthy and happy. Sadly, there will be those who will be involved in accidents. Sometimes it will be through no fault of their own. Other times, through carelessness, some will be injured; and some may even lose their lives, bringing grief and heartache to families and friends.

"Everyone should be safety conscious while enjoying the holidays," says Capt. John P. Cattan, TSB safety officer. Last year at this time TSB had a total of nearly 9,000 students and permanent party personnel assigned to it. One of that number three needless deaths occurred, and one serious injury.

After coming home from a New Year's Eve party last year an officer and his wife were in the house when the wife thought she heard a prowler. He got his gun in order to protect his home. His wife cautioned him to be careful. He believed the weapon to be unloaded. To prove to his wife it was unloaded and that she had nothing to worry about the officer turned the gun on himself and pulled the trigger. The weapon discharged and killed him.

Another TSB soldier was hunting last year over the holidays. While walking along with the safety off he stumbled and the gun fired, wounding him.

In Florida over last Christmas' holidays a soldier in TSB was driving a car. According to police reports he was speeding. He crashed, and died.

Three men. Not many out of 9,000, but they were three who didn't need to die, or be injured. It is hoped that this year, when the holidays are over, everyone in TSB, or on Fort Benning, will come back after a safe, happy holiday season.

Third Army gets new Command Sergeant Major

FORT McPHERSON, Ga. — Command Sergeant Major (CSM) Theron V. Gergen, who completed his third tour of duty in Vietnam in August 1971, has assumed duties as Command Sergeant Major of Third U.S. Army.

CSM Gergen comes to Third U.S. Army from assignment as command

Benning. It is then, very important that they are presented with a good picture of the post where they will spend, in many cases, a significant portion of their lives.

Every effort then, is made to provide the soldier with a courteous welcome. His comfort is ensured by a personal and efficient staff who attempt him with all the information he needs to get himself settled in. Provision is made for those who are accompanied by their dependents; a section is set up, complete with a nursery and TV room, to insure the comfort of his wife and children if they must wait for him.

With a capacity to handle up to 100 men per day, the 18th Replacement Detachment is responsible for all permanent party personnel reporting to Fort Benning. Its success has been borne out, not only by the men it has served, but by the fact that it has been used as a model for the establishment of similar centers at several other Army posts.

Much of the credit should go to its staff, who seem to improve daily. The effort they make is continuous and the results are obvious.

sergeant major with the 4th Battalion of the 31st Infantry at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Since he began his military career in 1951, CSM Gergen has held many different kinds of leadership positions in the Army. He has attended the Airborne and Ranger Schools at Fort Benning, Ga. During his career, CSM Gergen has served in Korea with the 7th Infantry Regiment and has served in Japan as where he was platoon sergeant of Reconnaissance Rifle Platoon Co. D, 506th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

In 1960 he was assigned to Saudi Arabia as the only enlisted man to train the Royal Saudi Arabian Airborne Battalion in Jidda.

After receiving orders to go to Fort Benning, Ga., in June 1965, where he helped organize the 1st Airborne Brigade of the 1st Cavalry Division, he went for duty in Vietnam and served as first sergeant of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Brigade, 1st Cavalry Division until July 1966.

Volunteering in September 1967, he returned to Vietnam and served as first sergeant of Co. A, 3d Bn., 506th Airborne Infantry, until Nov. 1968.

Returning to the U.S., he assumed the duties of SGM of the Florida Ranger Camp and then moved to Fort Benning as the Ranger Department Sergeant Major, where he served until August 1970.

Then he again volunteered for duty in Vietnam and joined the 1st Battalion of the 14th Infantry, 4th Infantry Division, where he was assigned until Nov. 1970. From Nov. 1970 to August 1971, he was with the 4th Battalion, 503d Infantry, 17th Airborne Brigade in Vietnam; then returning to the U.S., with the unit at Ft. Campbell, Ky., prior to assumption of his command sergeant major duties at Ft. Sill, Okla.

CSM Gergen holds many decorations and awards. Among them are the Silver Star, the nation's third highest award for gallantry in action; the Bronze Star Medal with six clusters; the Meritorious Service Medal; 10 Air Medals; the Good Conduct Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster; the Combat Infantryman Badge with star; the Royal Saudi Arabian Parachute Badge; the Master Parachute Badge; the Ranger TAB; the United Nations Service Medal; the Korean Service Medal and the Vietnam Service Ribbon with nine campaign stars.

931st finishes paving Sightseeing, River Rds.

Charlie Company, 43rd Engineer Battalion, has completed its work of paving Sightseeing Road and River Road near the south end of Lawson Army Airfield. Work on the project was accomplished by the 1st Construction Platoon with the support of elements from other platoons with C Company and from the equipment platoon of A Company.

The project involved the application of a double surface asphalt treatment to approximately 1/2 miles of roadway that was upgraded and contoured by the earth-moving platoon of C Company. Specifications called for the application of a sealing coat of asphalt on the compacted surface of the road, followed by a second application of asphalt upon which was placed by a layer of rock from shoulder to shoulder.

The final traffic surfaced was completed with the application of a fine grade of rock, over another coat of asphalt on the center portion of the road.

A project of this type reflects a trend to assign TO and E Engineer units projects which formerly were contracted to civilian firms almost exclusively. While application of the asphalt was entrusted out, the difficult task of laying the rock lane by lane was accomplished by the engineers.

The rock was distributed onto the hot asphalt by small wheel mounted spreaders attached under the tail gates of 3 ton dump trucks. Application of rock by this method requires a high level of skill from both the driver of the 3 ton, who must back down a straight line at constant speed while manipulating his dump bed, and from the spreader-box crew, who must insure a steady and even flow of rock through the distributor.

On the honor roll of truck drivers for this project are Sps Charles J. Syverson, Sp4 Robert Anderson and Sp5 Gale Foster; of C Company and Sp5's Danny Standsberry and Edward Spaulding of Company A.

'Military Review' published in three languages

FT. LEAVENWORTH — The January issue of "Military Review," the Army's professional journal, includes an article by Maj. Robert Leavenworth, a 1971 graduate of the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College.

In "Functional Management and the Army Staff" Major DiWorth explains that during the past three years, the Army staff has undergone a change in organization and management philosophy. The new approach, he says, is called "functional management."

The shift, according to him, stems from three decisions made in 1969: (1) The Army staff should disassociate itself from operational functions. (2) Standardized, centrally prepared functional statements should be used and (3) all staff effort should be related to discrete functions. These decisions provided the mechanism for separating line and staff functions.

"The Evolution of Chinese Nuclear Strategy" by Maj. Alfred K. Robinson, an advisor at the South Vietnamese Infantry School, examines the changes that have taken place to date in Chinese nuclear strategy and finds three periods of marked differences.

The first, which lasted until 1953, was characterized by a public disparagement of nuclear weapons. This was replaced by a transitional period beginning when they sought to rely on the deterrent value of Soviet nuclear forces and began to develop their own weapons with Soviet assistance. That period ended in 1959 with Chinese recognition of a need for an independent nuclear force free from Soviet control.

Capt. Bohdan Frchak, a student at the U. S. Army Institute for Military Assistance at Ft. Bragg, N.C., holds that the public has been misinformed, even victimized, by recent remarks criticizing military justice in his article "In Defense of the Military Justice System."

In his view of both military and civilian justice, he finds that the military system is more adequate in protecting and preserving individual rights despite certain constitutional exemptions.

He details the basis for his belief by reviewing various precedents, trial proceedings, appellate review and independence of the judiciary, comparing both systems on many points. He concludes the need for improvements in the military system but denies the statement that military justice is stereotyped or inflexible.

Other original articles in the January issue are: "Soviet Armament Project Organization" by Konstantin A. Krylov; "Today's Army Wants To Join You: Do We Really?" by Capt. Timothy R. Jeffrey; "Modern Technology and Political Geography" by Clifton C. Carpenter and "Population, Protection and Resources Management" by Raymond J. Barrett.

The "Military Review" is published monthly in three languages by the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth. Digests of other articles, military notes and book reviews round out the January issue, which brings the magazine to the close of its 53th year.

New customs regulation for international travelers

International travelers are reminded that as of July 1 they must report to Customs any money or the monetary instruments in excess of $5,000 which they carry, mail, or otherwise sent into or out of the United States.

The report forms are now available from any Customs Office or International Revenue Service Office. According to U.S. Commissioner of Customs Vernon D. Acree, the new Treasury Department regulation refers not only to cash and foreign currency, but also travelers' checks, money orders, and all bearer-form monetary instruments.

Failure to comply with the regulation can result in the forfeiture of funds, as well as civil and criminal penalties, Commissioner Acree noted.

The implementation of these regulations is a further step in the major efforts of the Administration directed towards frustrating organized and white-collared criminal elements who use secret foreign accounts to assist in concealing substantive violations of drug smuggling, securities, gambling and currency laws, as well as the untaxed income generated from these and other illegal activities, Commissioner Acree said. The regulations are expected to benefit both such foreign-related and domestic law enforcement efforts toward curbing legitimate commerce.

Reserve component personnel ordered to active duty for training under the Reserve Enlistment Program of 1965 and reservists ordered to active duty due to unsatisfactory participation in their reserve assignment are not eligible for separation under this section.

John Roberts of the 558th FB Co. and Ed Smith (2d) of the 18th Repl. Det. go up for the ball. Following the action on the ground is Grant Hagley of the 558th.

Endurance

Needed for inner strength

BY CHAPLAIN
STEARLING WETHERELL

The need to excel or to be important is a basic part of our personality. We all need to be encouraged to experience success in our lives since it is through success of some kind that life becomes worthwhile and satisfying. Unless we learn to endure in doing our duty and working toward our goals, it is doubtful that we will ever savor the sweet taste of success. Let us place the obvious and uncomplicated meaning of endurance at the heart of our discussion. Endurance is the strength to remain firm under trial or suffering; it is to bear up under adversity. It means to pursue steadily any project or course begun, to persist in an enterprise undertaken in the face of counter-influences, opposition, or discouragement. As the late John Milton expressed it, it means to "stand fast." As we Americans express it, it means "stick-to-it-iveness."

It is not enough for us to be content to let us be sought to endure. We already know that it is not necessary to prove that endurance is a desirable character trait. We already believe that. To have a significant discussion on endurance we will have to look at some ways a reasonable man can strength in this desirable trait within himself.

First, each of us should use our memories and personal histories as tools to analyze our successes and failures. By thinking about our personal histories, we can identify what success and failure have done to our lives. This not only gives us a great opportunity to be honest with ourselves, but it provides a way for us to strengthen our determination to live up to our abilities.

Second, each of us should develop problem-solving techniques which are compatible with our goals and abilities. There are essentially four phases in solving any problem: (1) recognition phase, decide what kind of problem we face and what needs to be solved; (2) creative attack phase, accumulate ideas and facts that will help us decide possible courses of action; (3) judgment phase, making a decision for a course of action; (4) execution phase, perform the action required to solve the problem.

Third, each of us should concentrate on developing our will power. We can do this by learning from the examples of others, learning from our personal histories, and cultivating our strong motivations.

There is nothing magical or automatic in strengthening a strong character. Achieving success in a business or profession, or accomplishing a military objective. It takes effort, struggle, and sacrifice to accomplish these things. When we have these qualities before us, we can be fairly confident that we have the power to endure.

The look of antique English bamboo at look-again prices!

Kensington

Drexel interprets faux bamboo—a charming style from 19th Century England—in our newest collection for bedrooms and dining rooms. Kensington duplicates the look in pecan solids and cherry veneers. Delicate scroll-work, intricate bamboo-and-cane combinations—all possible, thanks to Drexel's the invisible protection for the tops of all wood-finish pieces. Catch the spirit of Kensington... handsomely styled... sensibly priced... with a glowing fruit-wood finish.
