Only One Fatality Mars Benning Holiday Season

Fort Benning's 16-day holiday season was marred by only one traffic fatali-ty, post safety officials announced this week.

The season began at 8 a.m. on Dec. 17 and ended at 6 a.m. on Jan. 3. In addition to the fatality, eight injuries occurred as a re-sult of traffic accidents causes.

Safety officials termed this record "good".
An official said, "The traffic fatality was, of course, unfortunate, but course, unfortunate, but when you consider the vast amount of mileage that our

Variable Bonus Stirs Re-Up Interest Here

Benning reenlistment counselors were kept busy this week after the Army announced policies governing the new variable reenlist-ment bonus (VRB) that means more dollars for first term reenlistees in selected occupation specialties.

The new bonus will be paid to soldiers in addition to the regular re-up bonus, special or incentive pay, farmy officials said.

The purpose of the bonus is to improve recilistments among soldiers serving their first terms, thereby increas-ing the number of career men in needed military occu-

The amount of the bonus The amount of the bonus will also depend on the job the soldier is doing at the time of reenlistment, the Army said.

Some of the rules govern ing eligibility for the bonus are a pay grade of E-3 or higher (excepting certain MOSs), work in a designat-ed listed MOS and completion tive duty before discharge.

One brigade — out of the three promised for the Viet Nam buildup — is already at full strength at Fort Devens. It's the 196th.

Originally the Army said that the second and third separate brigades would be formed in January (at Campbell) and February (at Benning).

The current Army posi-tion is that activation of the units won't rome off until the first quarter of 1966. Clearly officials are guard-ing against red faces if the schedules slip.

Army Secretary Stanley Resor also gave "the first quarter of calendar year 1966" as the activation date for the new 9th Inf. Div.

The Pentagon declines spell out the maneuver bat-talion "mix" of Maj. Gen. George S. Tike the brigades, the G vision is drawing from cur-NCO strength with draftee "fleshing out" the 9th.

Only home state can tax your army income

Under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act, only the state of which a serviceman is a legal resident (domiciliary), as opposed to the state in which he may be only a temporary resident, may impose a state income tax on his military pay.

Formerly the Department of the Army sent information regarding a serviceman's pay to the tax authorities of the state where his finance officer was headed. his finance officer was located; however, un-der the provisions of AR 37-104-2 (February 1965), the Army is now required to send Copy E of Withholding Form W-2 to the state which the serviceman indicates to be his le-

The Army will not automatically send to a state information regarding the military pay received by a serviceman while he is stationed outside the United States.

Because of his frequent changes in a duty station, determining the legal residence of a serviceman is quite often a complex prob-Iem; however, everyone must, under the law, have a legal residence. Generally, the legal residence of a serviceman when he entered the armed forces is not lost unless a new one is

Experience over the years has proven that the driver's act of kindness frequently places him in danger of serious bodily harm, loss of property or, in many instances, both.

The Provost Marshal's and civil police files produce case after case where the driver was rewarded for his kind act by being held up and robbed, assaulted and even murdered.

But there are two sides to every situation. Dut there are two suces to every situation. To the hitch-liker there is also a possibility of loss of life, theft of property or a sadistic beating from the helping hand of the driver who stops to give him a lift.

There are many cases where soldiers on payday have accepted a ride from a stranger and have been assaulted, robbed and thrown into a ditch. Many more of these incidents will occur again unless we heed the lessons already learned.

It is against Army regulations for soldiers to hitch-hike except at authorized Soldier Pick-Up stations. There a generous driver can feel relatively sure that the man in uniform is a bona-fide soldier and a person he can assist. with safety.

Soldiers seeking a ride should use the bud-dy-system for their mutual protection, espe-cially during the hours of darkness. Soldiers paydays should use commercial buses and away from offers of a free ride.

SPORT HAD A ROCKY road at Fort

Part of the difficulty in achieving a successful and vigorous athletic program here last year stemmed from the great changes troop movements that swept over the post and in part on a lessening emphasis on sports throughout the Army.

This was definitely a year of flux at Fort Benning and the fundamental fact of the sol-dier's life — change — wrote much of the 65 sports story.

The baseball season in 1965 suddenly lost the basepail season in 1900 studenty use half of its impetus midway in the season when 50 per cent of the participants had to leave the diamond as duty called. Pitchers, catchers, outfielders and shortstops from the 2nd Infantry and 11th Air Assault Divisions picked up their bats, balls, gloves and a lot of other things and jumped into the Viet Nam-bound lst Cavalry Division. There was no finishing the Benning baseball race for them. They were going where they were needed.

The season carried on bravely with the four remaining teams but it was almost like basehall without a National League. All that could he done was to continue play on another workable if less grand scale.

The Infantry Center Troop Command battered The Student Brigade, 9 to 3, in the final game of the season on August 13 to win the basehall crown for the second year in a row.

COMPANY-LEVEL SOFTBALL, with a multiplicity of teams, enjoyed a healthy season. Competition on this lower level was well organized and intense. A large number of games was played throughout the post during the season and the top teams from major units met in a week-long post playoff beginning August 23 to determine the Benning champs.

After 20 games among 10 teams, Compa-

Touch football never got off the launchpad but did manage a few sparks at the post championships in November. Most units complained of personnel shortages and reprganizational movements which prevented them from pushing an active touch grid pro-gram. As a result, everyone was left to their own devices and a giant fizzle was heard from one end of the post to the other.

Most major units contented themselves

This was sad because there might have been a lot of good football here in 1965. Company D, 1st Battalion of the 29th Infantry, which won the post championship, had a great team and were entertaining to watch. It's too bad they weren't exposed to more of us for a longer time

. Beyond the post level. Benning exported two young men to Third Army contests and they came back heroes. John McGill copped the Benning tennis playoffs in June and then went on to win the Third Army open singles crown in July. Nat Starks likewise won the Benning golf title and then traveled to the

For the second round of the scheduled three round season.

In case you just tuned in, the season was originally planned to have two halves of play in the second round of the scheduled three round season.

but the disappearance of some teams and the appearance of others caused some deft shuff-ling by the Special Services Section and now have rounds instead of halves. The 29th Infantry was declared winner of the first round. Imagine such goings on in the NBA.

The Army Training Center is scheduled to make its first appearance in Benning sports action when it fields its hoop squad next month at the start of the third round. Welcome to ATC and may the best man win.

In addition '65 contained the small games tournament, hundreds of shooting matches (few of which I could understand), several other tennis and golf tournaments, swimming meets and Pee Wee football for the kids, and a large vacancy in stadium and gymnasium stands. Fort Benning is definitely not a place of the "standing room only" as far as sports are concerned

All things considered, it was a year that defied prediction because Army sports must justifiably depend on that great unpredictable, the needs of the Army.

Therefore this "year ender" will contain no predictions and end with a slightly belated Happy New Year.

President's inauguration significant for military

President Johnson's inauguration January 20, 1965 was a significant moment for men and women of the military services. Many of them took part in the ceremonies on that day; many were present in the crowd to hear the words of the President

In part, the President said, "It is the excitement of becoming-always becoming, trying, probing, falling, resting, and trying again — but always trying and always gaining . . . we have

Many soldiers think all that is necessary for the notarization of a document is to get the signature of a notary and his seal. This is notarizations contain requirements s "personally appeared", "subscribed such as "personally appeared", "subscribed and sworn to before me," etc. This means that the notary must personally identify the signer of the document and actually witness the signature. A notorization which is not properly executed is a fraud and is invalid.

For example, a soldier walked into the SJA Office with a transfer of title for a vehicle and exclaimed, "I want this signature notarized!" The notary public examined the document and found that it had already been signed. The soldier himself did not know for sure who had signed the document.

The notary public, of course was not able to notarize the document because he did Cars today are adopting the pseudo racing styles of not actually witness the signature or identify the person who signed it.

The purpose of having certain documents notarized is to protect people from being de-ceived. Thus, in the sale of an automobile, the person who claims to own it must swear before the notary that he is the person whose name appears as the rightful owner.

To become a notary public a person must be appointed under state laws. The duties of a notary public include administering oaths, taking acknowledgements and witnessing sig-

Commissioned officers of the Army who are serving as judge advocates, summary courts-martial or adjutants are authorized to be notaries. However, since some states do not recognize the authority of an officer to act in this capacity, it is best to check first with the Legal for your dental health Assistance Officer when you require the services of a notary.

Troops in Viet Nam given big tax break

The President issued an executive order designating Viet Nam (and adjacent waters within defined limits) as a "combat zone," effective January 1, 1964. The designation of Viet Nam as a combat zone triggers several tax relief provisions covering members of the Arm-ed Forces who are serving or have served on or after Jan. 1, 1964 in Viet Nam.

Under the Internal Revenue Code, there is excluded from income tax all compensation received while a member of the Armed Forces for any month, any part of which was served in Viet Nam. Exclusion also applies if hospitalized anywhere as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while serving in Viet Nam.

For enlisted personnel and warrant of-ficers, W1 through W4, the monthly exclusion is unlimited; however, commissioned officers are limited to an exclusion of $200 per

Beginning Jan. 1, 1965, no withholding of taxes from the wages of any member of the Armed Forces is required during a month in which any part of his service is in Viet Nam. If Federal income taxes were withheld after Dec. 31, 1964 for any month during which such a serviceman served in Viet Nam, these taxes will be refunded.

This withholding provision may cause financial hardship to commissioned officers who have served or will serve in Viet Nam after Dec. 31, 1964 if they fail to provide for the eventual payment of taxes on income in excess of $200 per month. Commissioned officers can provide for withholdings on income over $200 per month.

Military personnel who served in Viet Nam between Jan. 1, 1964 and Dec. 31, 1964 probably had income taxes withheld but, since they are entitled to the combat pay exclusion, they may file an amended return to recover any overpayment they may have made. Special procedures are required in connection with the amended return. Affected personnel should consult their local legal assistance officer for de-

These special procedures should also be followed by personnel filing their 1964 tax return for the first time. The Internal Revenue Serv-"Instructions for Form 1040" for 1965 will contain a full explanation of the combat pay

Post Airborne Training Increases

Story and Photos

By Mike Geydoshek

Airborne training at Fort Benning has been steadily expanding during past months with the average number of weekly graduates now nearing 750. Classes formerly averaged about 500 graduates per

In giving the reason for this increase, Capt. Dean Potter, operations officer for the 4th Student Battalion (Airborne), compared paratroopers to firemen in a large city. "Every time a fire, in this case a brush-fire war, breaks out, firemen must be able to respond quickly and in sufficient numbers to put the fire out," he said.

The training of the airborne volunteer begins with "ground week." The student is taught how to make parachute exits from mock doors, execute parachute landing falls from an inclined ramp and a four foot platform, and is shown the correct body position for jumping from the 34-foot training, the student becomes familiar with his instructor's advice to become essential for timely reactions to either created or actual situations in ground training and during actual

Physical training during ground week and all other phases of the airborn training course is not de-signed to get the already conditioned student into condition but rather to harden him further to meet the demands of parachute training and jumping.

Training on the mock door and 34-foot tower are continued into tower week when the student makes his first jump from the 250-foot training tower. Physical training is also height-ened during this week ened during this week. Each student is required to do six pullups and complete a 30-minute run as well as ten repetitions of eight physical training exercises.

A student can be dropped from the course or turned back to another class at any time if his instructors up to the standards set by the Airborne Department

The last phase of air-borne training takes place during "jump week" when trainees board aircraft for the first time and make their initial parachute jumps from 1250 feet. Upon completion of five qualifi-cation jumps, the student cation jumps, the student ends his arduous three week course and is ready to join airborne units sta tioned around the globe.

Judo Black Belt Takes Training At Fort Benning

"All eyes are on Allnatt this week as the company begins band-to-hand combat," said Capt. Peter J Barrett, commanding officer of Company B, 1st Battalion, 1st Training Brigade, Army Training Center.

Pvt. Robert J. Allnatt, a native of Southeford, England, is a holder of a second degree black belt in

Winner of a British judo championship in the open weight class in 1963, Allnatt also won the Florida State 180-pound class champion-Allnatt was drafted into the Army in Miami, Fla. He arrived in the U.S. hitch-hiking across Europe.

Spy spoof supplies aood entertainment

There are so many medincre programs on television these days that one of the most interesting con-trasts, in my opinion, is a half-hour spy spoof called "Get Smart."

Max is portrayed by ac-ter Don Adams who, in my epinion, does a fine job playing "Agent 86." He is capably assisted by Barbara Feldon who is cast as "Agent 99" and by Edward Platt who plays the chief of the super-secret counter-espionage organization for which Max works.

The bad guys in the "Get Smart" series are the members of KAOS against whom Max and company pit their skills knowledge and ingenuity each week.

Though not winning all of the battles. Max and crew do wind up triumphant in each, half-hour war.

Viet service means tax relief benefits

The designation of Viet Nam as a combat zone effective January 1, 1964 triggers several tax relief provisions in addition to those discussed in last week's Tax Tip.

The due dates for filing returns and declaration of estimated taxes, or the payment of any tax or estimated tax, are automatically postponed without any interest or penalty while a member of the Armed Forces serves in a

This provision also applies if the service-an is continuously hospitalized outside the United States as a result of injury received the United States as a result of injury received while serving in a combat zone. The post-ponement remains in effect for 180 days fol-lowing the member's return to the United States or transfer from the combat zone.

When the serviceman does file his return, he should attach a statement which will in-dicate to the District Director the date on which combat zone service or hospitalization outside the United States ended

Moreover, the Internal Revenue Service should be advised promptly of the taxpayer's combat zone status if any attempt is made to require the filing of a return or payment of tax prior to the expiration of the combat zone postponement

Liberal federal income and estate tax relief is provided beneficiaries of service personnel who died or die either while serving in Viet Nam or as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred in Viet Nam after Jan. 1,

In addition to the federal tax benefits resulting from the executive order, State income tax obligations may be reduced in many instances by service in Viet Nam on or after

Among the States already giving tax breaks to servicemen in Viet Nam are Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Montana, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Personnel desiring to know to what extent, if any, their state exempts pay for service in Viet Nam should write to tax authorities in their home state for complete information.

Servicemen having questions regarding the application of the combat zone tax relief provisions should consult their legal assistance officer. (ANF)

Carbon monoxide can make auto death trap

Winter driving holds many hazards but the most treacherous menace is carbon mo-noxide poisoning. Inhalation of this gas Causes more deaths than all other toxic gases combined and the death toll is steadclimbing this year.

Carbon monoxide poisonings are infrequent here in the South because of the relatively mild winters. But many of us are guilty of keeping our car motors running while waiting for someone. people with older cars.

Pure carbon monoxide is odorless, colorless, tasteless, non-irritating and lethal.

However, it is usually mixed with other gases that have an irritating odor. This will warn you of the impending danger. However, when irritants are absent, there no warning.

You can avoid the dangers of carbon monoxide by keeping the exhaust system of your car in good condition and by not following too closely in bumper-to-bumper traffic. It is wise to keep car windows open a little for ventilation.

Some active duty pay is exempt from taxes

Subject to limitations, active duty pay received for periods of absence from duty by reason of injury or sickness may be excluded from gross income for federal income tax pur

For absences beginning after Dec. 31, 1963, pay received for the first 30 days of each continuous absence may not be excluded, except in rare instances in which the individual's pay has been cut to less than 75 per cent of regular rate due to disciplinary action.

Sick pay received after the first 30 days of absence may be excluded up to a maximum of $100 per week.

Personnel filing delayed tax returns may have absences beginning prior to Jan. 1, 1964; in that event, active duty pay for the entire period of absence may be excluded, up to a maximum of $100 per week, with the following limitation: sick pay for the first seven days of each continuous period of absence may not be excluded unless either (1) the absence is a result of injury or (2) the taxpaver is hospitalized on account of sickness at least one day during the period of absence.

A retired serviceman can claim the sick pay exclusion if (1) he was retired for disabilincurred in active service, (2) at least some of his retirement pay is not otherwise tax exempt, (3) the taxpayer is not employed by the United States Government (includes nonthe United States Government unchaces non-appropriated funds), and (4) he has not reach-ed "retirement age." See the Retired Army Personnel Handbook (March 1965), pages 26-28.

The exclusion and weekly rate are determined in accordance with instructions contained in Form 2440, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay, which form has been prescrib ed for claiming the exclusion on Form 1040.

Service personnel entitled to benefits under this section of the law should make their claims when they file their individual income tax returns with the Internal Revenue Service.

Military personnel having questions relating to the sick pay exclusion are urged to con-sult their local Army legal assistance officer.

The USO to celebrate 25 years of service

The United Service Organization, known to millions of Americans in uniform as the USO, celebrates its 25th birthday Feb. 4.

Born of the Second World War, the USO continued to serve American fighting men and women away from home through periods of cold war and limited conflicts against those who would destroy our traditions of freedom

USO shows have become a tradition for the American serviceman and for American entertainers. USO Canteens in the United States and dozens of foreign lands have been "home" to thousands for the past quarter cen-

Divorces granted only for specific grounds

In most states divorces cannot be obtained merely for the asking. State laws provide certain grounds for divorce and, unless these ounds are satisfied the court will not arbitrarily grant a divorce.

The most commonly used grounds for divorce are adultery, desertion and extreme cruelty. The length of desertion necessary to obtain a divorce varies by states but the average time is one year.

In some states, cruelty must be inflicted physically to provide grounds for divorce. If mental cruelty is to be a ground, it must be shown to be aggravated and detrimental to

Most courts will not grant a divorce for incompatibility or for the husband's failure to provide adequate support.

The complaining party in most divorce suits usually must meet certain residence requirements of a state. In Georgia, he must have lived in the state for at least six months and intend to reside here indefinitely.

However, if he is in the service and living on a military reservation, he must meet a Dilkes said that one of the problems involved in learning Vietnamese is that it is a tonal language. The same sound can have several different meanings, depending on the way it is inflected.

To help Americans sur-mount this problem, Dilkes uses a two-fold method of at tack. First, the students lister to each lesson on tapes in the language lab. Then each re-cites the lesson before the rest of the class

In 1941, the slender outfielder with the in 1941, the stender outstelder with the restless stance and picture-book swing ham-mered American League pitching for a spark-ling 406 mark, ending an 11-year drought since Bill Terry's 401 for the old New York Giante in 1930

And, when Memphis Bill broke the har-rier, five years had clapsed since the immortal Rajah himself, Rogers Hornsby, finished putting Rajah himself, Rogers Hornsby, finished putting back-to-back 400 seasons together for the St. Louis Cardinals. Williams and Terry were left handed batters, Hornsby a right hander—many elaiming him to be the best righthan

Now, 24 seasons have come and gone without a new member for baseball's exclusive '400' Club. Only one man has managed to come close in the intervening years and it was Williams again in 1957. When approaching the shadows of his illustrious career, the ag-ing Thumper batted .388, the highest average in the majors since his .406.

Will anyone ever hit 400 again, a feat ac-complished only 19 times by 13 men? Don't count on it. The weight of statistical evidence showing the trends taken by modern base-ball, plus the view of some of the game's finest contemporary minds, cries out strongly against the emergence of another $00 swat-

It is unfortunate that, in the game of baseball, today's heroes are tomorrow's history, because Cincinnati's Johnny Vander Meer's double no-hitter was an incredible feat that may never be duplicated.

Let's take the space capsule back into the pages of time and recount Vander Meer's per-

On Saturday afternoon, June 11, 1938, the on Saturday anernoon, June 11, 1355. the big Cincy southpaw fired his first no-hitter against the old Boston Braves, then managed by none other than the "Old Professor" himself-Casey Stengel

On June 15, Larry McPhail introduced night baseball to Ebbets Field in Brooklyn but little did he dream that Vander Meer would christen the place with a second succes-

Generally unknown is the fact that Van-der Meer almost pitched a third no hitter in 1938, an accomplishment that would have tied him with the great Bob Feller, Cy Young and Larry Corcoran for most no-hitters in a career. This was, of course, BSK. . (Before Sandy Koufax). Vander Meer, who now lives in Tampa Fla., is a military sales representative for a national brewery and Fort Benning is on his

The Kentucky Wildcats, who have 21 South-eastern Conference basketball crowns under their belts, are apparently the team to beat in the hectic Southeastern Conference basketball

However, Kentucky, second ranked na tionally by both the Associated Press and United Press International, still has a long, tough road ahead before it can lay claim to a 22nd SEC title and a shot at an unprecedented fifth NCAA

Although the Wildcats hold the upper hand, they still must play highly ranked Vanderbilt, Auburn and ever dangerous Mississippi State, all away from home.

Let's face it. If a car thief wants to steal your car bad enough, the fact that the doors, windows and ignition are locked won't stop him at all On the other hand, a car with the key in the ignition is a temptation to a passing juvenile who wouldn't bother with a locked car.

This same principle applies to life in the barracks. Military police reports reveal very few thefts in which wall lockers, foot lockers or rooms have been forced open. However, those same police reports show numerous thefts of property that was left lying on a bunk, dresser or hanging up and unattended. Most barracks thieves are eventually caught and the barracks thieves are eventually caught and the great majority are those persons with no prior incidents of criminal conduct. Invariably they say, "It was just lying there, so I took it," and often they add, "I don't know why." Another method of protection for your property is to copy the serial numbers of items which have such numbers. This may include the such authors. This may include the such authors.

Such information is of great assistance to police investigators because about 78 per cent of the stolen property is "hocked" or sold to pawn shops or dealers in second hand merchandise. Often the shop has several items exactly like yours except for the serial number. If you purchase theft insurance from a commercial insurance company, you will discommercial insurance company, you will discover that you will be required to furnish the cover that you will be required to fur cover that you will be required to turnish the company with information as to how you see-ure your property and a list of serial num-bers. The running of these limitation periods is suspended while the taxpayer serves in the Armed Forces, up to a maximum period of four years from the date of sale of the old residence. This special suspension rule applies to sales made before or after the taxpayer enters

Under Section 1034, gain is recognized on the sale only to the extent that the adjusted sales price of the old residence exceeds the cost of the new residence. The adjusted sales price, essentially, is the selling price minus any brokers' commissions or other selling expenses of "fixing-up" the residence preparatory

The adjusted sales price includes the amount of any indebtedness to which the old residence is subject, whether or not the debt is personally assumed by the buyer. Likewise, the cost of the new residence includes the amount of any indebtedness to which the new residence is subject, whether or not the tax-

Internal Revenue Service Form 2119 may assist servicemen in understanding the inechanics of the provisions concerning tax treatment of a sale of a residence. Though intended primarily for use as a questionnaire in the audit of tax returns, the completed form may be attached to Schedule D of an individual's tax return at the time of filing. Form 2119 is available at the various District Director's offic-

Application of Section 1034 to gains which qualify for deferred recognition is mandatory; the taxpayer bas no option or election. YAC Seeks To Bolster Membership Membership

Col. Robert M. Williams, USAIC chief of staff, has called for "greater family participation" in the pro-grams offered by the Youth Activities Club and has an-nounced a YAC membership drive to begin soon. Williams termed it "essential to the full success of YAC that greater par the that greater par-ticipation be encouraged. He said only about six per cent of eligible families are fully participating in club activities.

Regular membership is open to all active duty or retired military personnel with families living at Fort Benning or surrounding area, and to civilian employes with children living on post.

Retired soldiers and ac-tive members of the armed forces of foreign countries and resident civilians withchildren are eligible associate membership

Late in the final quarter, Bragg's Gerald Glur put the Carolina team ahead by three points, 81-78, on two free throws. Then, with just 10 seconds showing on the clock, Benning's Donald Harnum connected with a field goal to make if 81-80. Late in the final quarter to make it 81-80.

However, another of a serles of Benning fouls enabled Bragg's James Crable to put two free throws through the basket and give the winners another three point lead.

Harnum again raced down court and sank a layup as the horn sounded for the game's final tally but the Benning five had given up too many gratis points to win. Harnum was the game's high scorer with 36 points and Crable netted 28 for Bragg. The one point loss prevent ed Fort Benning cagers from putting together back-to-back championships. They were

Scout is living symbol of hope for new world

TO THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA AND THEIR LEADERS (From Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States)

The story of Scouting reflects America's vitality of spirit and generosity of heart.

It represents fifty-six eventful years of service to progress and achievement. And its hero, the Boy Scout, continues to be a living symbols of our aspirations and hopes for a better

Over 40 million Americans have found Scouting to be a rewarding experience. And its many salutary programs have often been the springboard to their success.

The role of the volunteer leader, so indispensable in our time, has had in Scouting a ready testing ground. It has served to develop in our youth the qualities of mind and character which in years ahead will enable them effectively to guide the Ship of State.

In observing Boy Scout Week, you rededi-cate yourselves to the high principles of the Scout Oath and Law. And you renew your determination to secure for every American boy the opportunity of Scouting membership.

I salute your desire to share in the build-ing of the Great Society, and I especially ap-plaud your efforts to "Keep America Beauti-ful."

Honor, integrity, and devotion to your country have made you responsible citizens. And they have made the story of Scouting a genuinely American story.

The Surgeon says

Heart disease nation's leading cause of death

Cardiovascular disease is today's leading cause of death in the United States.

About 16 million American adults have heart disease and nearly one million citizens die each year as a result of this ailment Arteriosclerotic or coronary heart disease accounts for about two-thirds of all heart disaccounts for anout two-thirds of an neart magnetic first disease results from narrowing of the blood vessels that supply blood containing oxygen and nutrients to the heart muscle itself. The narrowing occurs as plaques containing a high concentration of choesterol (fat) are deposited within the vessel wall limiting the available blood supply to the

Coronary heart disease becomes dramatically apparent in three ways: sudden unexpected death, myocardial infarction (heart attack with death of a portion of the heart muscle), or intermittent, usually disabling, chest pains.

In some diseases all that is necessary to obin some diseases an that is necessary to op-tain a cure is the physician's making the diagnosis and instituting appropriate treat-ment. However, in coronary heart disease, a preventive approach is necessary because of the high incidence (34 per cent) of immediate death from this condition comments with death from this condition occurring without forewarning.

Almost all men over 30 years of age and women who have passed menopause can exworden wild have pussed menopause can ex-pect some degree of narrowing of the blood vessels supplying their heart muscle. Although this is present they may live their natural lives without developing symptoms of heart disease

Studies of large groups of people have been made to determine those factors which play a role in the development of coronary heart disease. The most highly susceptible individuals seem to be heavy smokers and middle-aged, obese males who are under emotional stress, who do not exercise enough and have high blood pressure and blood fat levels.

Individuals in their fifties run four times the risk of having coronary heart disease than those in their thirties. Those that smoke over one pack of cigarettes daily have a threefold increase in incidents of this type of heart disease over those who are non-smokers, who have stopped smoking, or who smoke a pipe

A high blood fat (cholesterol) level produces a three to five-fold increase in risk: High blood pressure gives a four-fold increase. filin blood pressure gives a four-toin increase. Being overweight produces a twofold increase. Obesity by itself is much less a risk than when accompanied by high blood pressure and high blood fat levels as so often oc-

The outstanding factors seem to be: (1) ine obustanding factors seem to be: (1) high blood pressure, (2) high blood fats and (3) excessive smoking. The average individual has one of these factors already. The presence of all three factors quadruples the risk of heart disease and makes this individual 1 times the risk of the presson who dividual 10 times the risk of the person who has none of the factors.

What then can be done to prevent this dis-The individual can help himself through regular medical examinations, by maintaining normal weight, sufficient exercise and by curbing excessive cigarette smoking.

The physician's role in the prevention of coronary, heart disease consists of reducing overweight persons, treating high blood pressure and advising diets to reduce the blood fat level when an elevation exists.

The primary role of prevention lies with the individual. Such preventive measures seem to result in lowering of the risk of developing coronary heart disease but only time can tell idence of this disease has been re-

Post Library Will Expand

The Main Post Library shut its doors Tuesday atternoon to begin moving to temporary headquarters in the Old Education Center building while awaiting construction of a new wing mand renovation of the state of the s year-old building.

Courtesy Creates Our Image

Where has military courtesy gone?
Here at the home of the Infantry, it has been no-ticeably lacking as of late. Failure to salute is one example. Sloppy appear-ance is another. These shortcomings in military courtesy are par-ticularly noticeable at Fort Benning because, as the home of the Infantry, the post is subject to almost daily inspections and visits by high ranking military and civilian dignitaries and civilian dignitaries from the U.S. and allied countries. What they see bere, particularly in the case of the foreign visitors, often plays a big part in shaping the impressions of the U.S. which they take back with them.

If they see a clean look-ing post with neat, sharp personnel, they will, of course, go away from Fort Benning with a most favor-able impression of the U.S.

Services officer, the library has moved all its books and equipment to the temporary site and is prepared to remain there until the re-opening of the renovated main building.

Present plans, which can-not be confirmed until the not be confirmed until the construction contract is ofoficially dwarded, call for a groundor-leaking ceremony March i The actual construction is expected to take about eight months according to Miss Jeannette Cattage, chief reference librarian.

The construction will more than double the flour sponsor their Columbus stop.

Within the last three months, 250,000 people have seen "Sing Out '66" at college and high school campus-es, arenas and coliseums.

At a number of places where the show has appear-ed, local youngsters have joined the "Sing Out." After the group's performances in Columbus last month, a lo-cal girl joined the show.

"Sing Outs" performances have also prompted the formation of local shows. A meeting was held at Cohim-bus High School on Wednesbus High School on Wedness-day for persons interested in organizing a local "Sing Out". Members of "Sing Out '66" appeared at the meeting.

"Sing Out '66" was creat-ed and produced as a result of "The Moral Rearmament Conference for Modernizing America", held at Mackinac Island, Mich., last summer. About 5,000 students from 150 colleges, 300 high schools and 51 countries took part in the conference.

The Mackinac School taught that America's conscience and morality had to keep pace with its technological strides. To this end and to the end of love, honesty and purity are these young-sters declicated.

Today the United States is repeating the past aggressions of Japanese and Nazi imperial

Downtrodden people can free themselves from the imperialists by following the example of Red China.

First winning control of Asia, Africa and Latin America, the Communists will surround and overwhelm the advanced nations of Europe and North America.

Lin Piao has completely misrepresented the role of the United States and other free nations in trying to help the developing nations. He is concocting a witch's brew of hate in areas where we are trying to help people and nations to better living.

No boxer ever won a victory by going into a ring blindfolded. If we are going to defeat Red aggression, we cannot delude ourselves as to Communist aims. Lin Piao's article will be available in most service libraries in the near future. Read it, then reflect on what it means to America and other free nations. (AFPS)

First president's birthday

George Washington, born Feb. 22, 1732, left many gifts to the nation he helped found. His words and writings are those of both the soldier and statesman.

As with great men, many truths in Washington's words have outlived him.

In his first annual address to both houses of Congress, Jan. 8, 1790 — the first State of the Union Message — President Washington made a statement, the importance of which has become more significant through the years. He told leaders of the young American nation, "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

America didn't learn Washington's lesson easily. More than once in our history we have been drawn into a conflict unprepared or only partially so.

In today's world, far removed by time and technology from Washington's struggles, his warning words still ring out. They are a bluerint of our hope for peace.

President Johnson voiced them differently when he said: "We will give our fighting n what they must have; every gun, every dollar, and every decision - whatever the cost and whatever the challenge."

This statement, too, was made to preserve the peace — to stop aggression and re-store human rights.

Sometimes, as in the case of Viet Nam. we must fight the smaller battle to mainwe must fight the smaller battle to maintain and insure the larger peace of the future. This is a political and military tactic which soldier-statesman Washington would understand and support. For like those in Viet Nam today, Washington's struggle was not only for the hour, but also for the future. (AFPS)

Today's fighting man is as tough as ever

When U. S. troops were committed in the Republic of Viet Nam, there were some who

Republic of Viet Nam, there were some who said the American fighting man in the 1860s simply couldn't handle the rough, bitter type of battle that rages in Southeast Aais.

Some critics said today's fighting man just wasn't as rugged as his father or grand-father; that he was soft and too dependent on "mechanical adadests". "mechanical gadgets."

Others said he simply could not be expected to adapt to conditions in a country like Viet Nam; to the monsoon rains and sunscorched dust; to the nerve shattering, strain of possible appropriate the nerve shattering, strain of possible appropriate. of possible ambush around every bend in a jungle track.

Events have proved these critics wrong. The American fighting man in the Republic of Viet Nam has been described by his senior officers and by civilian and press observers as the toughest, best trained, most dedicated American serviceman in living memory.

The fighting man today does use "mechanical gadgets" but not out of weakness. He uses them to augment his strength. The helicopter gives mobility but does not eliminate meet-ing the enemy in hard and often hand to-hand

In adapting to conditions in Viet Nam, the in adapting to conditions in view wan, the American fighting man has even surprised some of his oldest supporters. He has not only shown the physical ability to adjust to natural canditions but has gone further. He has shown himself master of his own swift mobile tactics as well as dominant over the enemy's guerrilla skills. (AFPS)

One man's opinion

Some entertainers need a shearing

By Maj. M. S. LINDNER

I have developed a burning desire.

It is simply to take a pair of shears and go to work on some of the "monkeys" who appear on TV, in the movies, in night clubs, etc., under the guise of being entertainers.

These young men or wom-en, it's hard to tell what en, R's nard to tell what they are at times, are, in my opinion, a shocking rep-resentation of what must be the national taste or at least a sampling thereof.

When they appear on the TV screen, they are invariably accompanied by hes and scream screeches and screams from the younger set who seem to be virtually "sent into orbit" by the appear-ance of these unkempt, sloppy looking, often untal-ented and sometimes re-pulsive looking alleged en-tertainers.

The format of their presentations is generally a lot of noise, a considerable amount of body movement, a lot of yelling from the audience, the uttering of a bunch of unintelligible bunch of unintelligible words, and frequent cam-era closeups of these young "beauties" with their odd-enter t a inment with the so-called en-

How utterly fantastic it is! How startling that so many with so little to of-fer have captured the imagination and pocketbooks of so large a portion of the American public. How odd that anyone would pay any-thing at all to see some of those characters perform let alone wait hours on end on occasion to greet them on their journeys to various American cities.

Granted, a few of these groups do have genuine tal-ent if one can find it be-neath all their screeching and screaming and lossy looks. But all too many, in my opinion, fall into the category mentioned above — that is, being unkempt. sloppy, often untalented as sometimes repulsive.

There is one currently popular group which calls itself "The Animals." To me, this is a most appro priate description for many of these so-called musical

I guess, though, that I can't win with regard to these obnovious as well. And, secondly, my seven year old daughter wouldn't let me clip their sloppy "locks" anyway as she is an avid Beatle fan with Paul McCartney as her favorite

Notwithstanding this however, my favorites will continue to be Mantovani, Andre Kostelanetz, Sammy Kave and other backward to play, believe it or not, music that is pleasant and

As to "The Animals" and may get, they'll always have one detractor who thinks that they used to be terrible, that they're terrible now and that they'll always have be the startible of the starting of the star ways be terrible.

Guess they'll worry about that all the way to the bank!

X-ray is one of biggest medical achievements

There have been many medical and scientific achievements during the past few genera-tions, yet perhaps none has eclipsed the discovery of x-rays in significance to human health

The medical applications of this useful discovery make a fascinating story since the x-ray has saved countless lives and is a means of contributing to every individual's most price-less possession — health. Radiologists are doing many wonderful things today from directing transfusions in unborn babies afflicted with possibly fatal diseases to detecting the amount of calicum in the bones.

Many millions of people have had one or more radiographs (x-rays) made. Millions of people have had chest radiographs to insure the health of their lungs. Other young men and women have been x-rayed as part of the routine "physical", before entering the arm-ed forces and several million children and adults have their teeth x-rayed periodically.

If you've ever been examined with x-rays, you probably thought that the radiograph looked somewhat like a photographic negative.

But a photographic negative only shows your visible features while the radiograph shows much more. It reveals the features and conditions of invisible structures and organs.

X-rays have the ability to go through many materials such as wood or cloth or paper or flesh with ease, while they are stopped in greater or lesser degree by other substances like bone. The rays are stopped entirely by, the heaviest metals such as lead.

When x-rays are directed through a porwhen x-rays are directed through a por-tion of the body, a special kind of film is plac-ed where it will be acted upon by the rays that succeed in getting through. After this film is developed, it becomes a picture record formed by those x-rays, a record that speaks clearly to the experts.

While a radiograph may not look like a thing of beauty, there are in medical science, few surer, more accurate and dependable methods for the diagnosis of many human ills and few more certain aids in planning and pursuing the proper course of treatment.

An x-ray examination makes it possible for the radiologist to determine whether some-thing is present that doesn't belong there. Radiographs made during special tests can also show whether the organs being examined are functioning properly. In order to examine the stomach, gailbladder or kidneys, it may be necessary to make several x-ray exposures an hour or so apart to obtain complete information.

Your physician and dentist already think of the x-ray examination as one of their most important allies in preventive medicine. You should think of it as insurance against illness, operations and hospital bills.

The x-ray is a highly profitable investment in health. It can save you time and money and it can also save your life.

Extra care is needed when driving in winter

During the winter month ice, heavy rains and generally bad weather substantially increase possibilities for automobile accidents.

Armed services personnel do a lot of driving in the winter, with trips home or moving from one assignment to another. They should be more alert to the dangers of winter driving.

Every car should be winterized and kept in good mechanical condition. Defrosters and windshield wipers should be checked and if necessary repaired or replaced. Never drive your car on the road until all windows are clear. You can't avoid an accident if you don't see it coming.

Education is vital to today's soldier

Education is vital in today's military. To assist men and women in meeting educational requirements, the armed forces operate the biggest educational system in the world.

The foundations of military education are service schools which train military personnel to handle specific military responsibilities from dership to computer repair.

In addition to formal military schools, all services offer correspondence courses in military subjects

The military also recognizes the value of

Through the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) and schools in command areas, hundreds of high school, college, and technical courses are available.

Courses taken directly from USAFI are one of the biggest dollar buys in education in the United States today — an almost unlimited number complete with text for one basic, token

Courses taken directly from civilian schools cost more but even here service personnel have help. USAFI offers correspondence courses directly from dozens of schools at low rates. The new G. I. bill has a provision to cover the cost of tuition and books for courses taken at local schools by service men and women on active duty.

46 Soldiers Reenlist Here On RITA Day

Forty - six Fort Benning soldiers recollisted for a cu mulative total of over 20 years Monday at a ceremony in front of the post's Infanin front of the post's infan-tryman statue.

The mass ceremony was in observance of RITA (Reen-list in the Army) Day spon-sored by retruiting and ca-reer counseling personnel of the Adjutant General's Of-fice

Brig. Gen. George I. Forsythe, acting commander of Fort Benning, administered the oath of enlistment to which the assembled reenlistees responded in unison.

AS EVERYONE KNOWS, all coins are two sided. The coin presently under examination is the shift of the professional baseball club known as the Braves. As of the moment, all indications point toward their playing in Atlanta this season.

Now on one side of the coin, there is the Atlanta group. Sports fans hearts are filled with delight as they give thought to their new ballclub. Many have already gone as far as planning just what games they will attend this summer at the brand new stadium in Atlanta. summen at the branc new stamum in Atlanta. For a great multitude of people in the area this will frepresent their first claime to enjoy big leading sames. In acquiring the franchise the city of Atlanta has done much to enhance itself in the eyes of many people.

But just how do the "good" people of Mil-waukee feel about all of this? For the first time in many years they will no longer have a big league team to root for. All they will have now will be the memories that Mathews and Aaron and Spahn and Burdette left them.

and lairon and Spann and Burdette left them. Many reasons have been given for the loss of the learn to Milwaukee. The club owners often stated that they were losing money because of poor attendance at the games. And one must remember that a baseball te am is like any other business in that it must make money to exist.

Be that as it may, the Milwaukee sports fans still feel a sense of loss. Their feelings range to the extremes of sorrow and bitterness toward those who took their team away.

I just wonder how many beople in the country are in sympathy with their problem. A few years back when the Braves moved from Boston to Milwaukee, the tables were completely reversed. It was the Boston fam who then felt the sense of loss and the people of Milwaukee the sense of goin. of Milwaukee the sense of gain.

This whole situation seems ironic to me. Now the Milwaukeans know how the Bostonians felt when they lost their team. What's that about turnabout being fair play? Maybe

During a recent informal survey conducted by the editors of The Bayonet, Ann-Margaret ranked high on the list of girls Fort Benning soldiers like to look at. It's easy to see why. The editors therefore present this photo as a public service to men stationed here and to red-blooded American males everywhere.

Viet Forces Fire Billion Shots Yearly

Ordnance programming for February indicates that country's armed force will fire an estimated on hillion rounds of small arms ammunition in South Viet Nam annually

The small arms estimate include 30-caliber machine guns, according to U. S. of-ficials, but do not include 40mm air - launched gre-nades or 40mm ground-launched rockets.

If the February rate is sustained, the annual projected ammunition usage for Viet Nam could include air-to-ground (machine guns priground (machine guns pri-marily), 88.8 - million rounds; 40mm grenades (air - launched), 6.8-million; 40mm grenades (ground-launched), 9.4 million and million rounds.

Officials estimate 18 million bombs will be used in Viet Nam annually, if the February rate is reached, and 4.8-million 2.75-inch rockets will be fired.

A story appearing in the Sporting News pointed out many interesting facts. It seems that the union pitch was made to the National Football League's Detroit Lions. After hear-ing what the union had to say, the players decided against the idea.

Hoffa feels that professional baseball could benefit from a players' union. The big stars make big money but the lesser players definitely don't do as well. It also could be that many yeteran players are jealous of the big babies of recent years.

An editorial in the Sporting News referred to Hoffa's interest as only a publicity gim-

Lungs are like a highly complicated sponge, and during breathing in, they fill with air. The x-rays can readily pass through lung tissue and from the evidence on the radiograph the radiologist or other physician can tell whether the lungs are healthy or not.

Sometimes people, usually children but not always, inhale dangerous items more solid than air. The commonest ones that get into the lungs are tacks, fishbones, false teeth, peanuts and pins - hairpins, straight pins and safety pins.

In such a case, it isn't enough for the specialist who has to get it out to know that some thing strange has been inhaled. If he doesn't know what the foreign body is and where it is located, the task of finding it would be more difding to a commission in the U. S. Army. The occasion takes its name from the changes the candidate makes to his military appearance. "Blue Day" arrives at the end of the 18th of 23 weeks of training. At this time, the candidate exchanges the junior and intermediate sta-tus for the Infantry blue helmet of a senior candidate.

He adds a blue felt back ground to the OCS brass he wears on the collar of his fatigue uniform and as a fi-nal touch to his new uniform be wears a white scarf with OCS insignia sewn on

On the green "Class A" uniform, the senior candidate adds blue boards to the epaulets and a blue felt circle to the garrison cap. Though these changes may seem minor to those who do not know, they are most importhaving gold bars pinned on his shoulders.

Karate; A Fascinating Oriental Art

and PFC David Ybarra

The atmosphere is tense to he drawing strength from the air as he pauses a moment hefore unleashing a blow that could just as easily split a man's skull as it does the two boards before nary one. He is distinctive in two ways. First, he is an In-fantry Officer Candidate: two ways. First, he is an In-fantry Officer Candidate: Candidate Robert L. Sher-lock of the 82nd Company (OC), 6th Student Battalion, The Student Brigade, who is learning, through strenuous mental and physical lessons, to be a leader of men.

Secondly, he is a Karate expert capable of defending himself against one or sev-eral opponents without weapons except those which are part of his body. Sherlock, a Sho-dan (first degree black belt), studied for over three years under Anthony Mirakian in Watertown, Mass., before being awarded his black belt.

"Karate translated into English means 'empty hand,' 'Sherlock explained.
"In its original form, it was developed by Chinese monks to defend themselves from highwaymen or other attack-

Sherlock demonstrated a number of Katas, set patterns of blows, blocks and kicks,

"Katas are used to develop the individual's confidence in the different movements and also to allow his instructor to check the student's proficiency," Sherlock said,

He went on to give a short history of Karate. "Karate did not develop into an art of its own until 1920 when Chojun Kiyagi, an Oki-nawan, saw that the old ori-ental arts of fighting were disappearing and dying. He felt that with their emphasis character development and physical fitness, some vestige of these arts should be preserved. He combined then in practice and develop

"Karate today is recognized as an amalgamation of Chinese Kenpo, Ju-jitsu, Hop-pa Ken (Mongolian foot fighting) and Nampa Ken (Indian and Okinawan nerable parts of the body.)

"Kenpo is attributed to Prince Daruma, first suc-cessor to the Buddha. He taught this art to his followers in the monasteries of China so they could defend themselves. As B u d d h i s t monks, they were not allowed to carry weapons.

"Ju-jitsu is one of the old-est methods of fighting with-out weapons," he continued. "It was reportedly used by the forces of the emperor against the Hun - yu, ances

POWERFUL BLOW . . . Candidate Sherlock, ising his knowledge of Karate, delivers a power-ful blow splitting two one inch thick planks.

"The Japanese learned Jujitsu around 1650 A.D. when they invaded Korea," Sherlock added. "Korea was held by the Chinese at that time. The art was then brought to Japan where it was taught to the elite Samurai warriors. Discipline

"The discipline of the Sam-ural and the high moral character of the Buddhist monks were made a part of Karate and teachers of the art today attempt to give in-structions in it only to people who wish to develop these characteristics."

There are many schools of Karate today but Okinawa, Japan, Korea and China are recognized as the leaders of art. Karate has develor ed a vast following in the United States and all the forms are taught here. It was imported to the U. S. mainly by American soldiers station ed in the Far East. Its popuse soldiers began to teach

"You can read advertise "You can read advertise-ments saying that they will teach you Karate in 'ten easy lessons' but this is false," Sherlock said. "You cannot learn Karate in any easy way. You have to work long hard hours, sometimes years before you can even claim to have a working knowledge of

"While learning Karate, the student is subjected to a discipline almost as rigid as that at OCS," he added. "The student practices individual movements until he learns the movement to the satisfac-tion of the instructor."

During his training a stu-dent is taught blows, parries and other movements in comhinations. Each of these com binations or series is called a Kata. Later he practices basic Kumites with an oppo-

As, far as pitchers go, to qualify as super-stars, they must possess durability. This can be determined through statistics such as in-mings pitched, games won and earned run averages. But once again, the superstar pitcher must be a leader.

must be a leader.

Lefty Grove Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson could all fall into this category.

Year after year, they led their leagues in pill of liquid form, mixed with his food.

All of the players mentioned excelled at their sport when they played. So let's keep this idea in mind;

Today many people armys that water White said. Horse meat,

this idea in mind:

Today many people argue that modern players could not hold an old-timer's glove if milk and greens all are
milk and greens all are
milk and greens all are they had played years ago.

But how is any comparison justifiable? Things have changed over the years. The game has remained the same had artifacts have changed. Each era has its own allotment of superstars. All that one has to do is check the record book and almost autometically. to do is cheek the record book and almost auto-matically a baseball fan lingers over the names of Stan Mucial Ted Williams. Henry Aaron, Joe DiMogrio. Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle.

All these men were, and some still are, great hitters. Everyone of them has had a string of streat seasons are these men not superstars? Pitchere such as Bob Feller, Robin Roberts and Warren Spahn have had great ca

These players were the superstars of today's day and age.

But who will be tomorrow's? Maybe the likes of Tony Oliva Sandy Kou-tax, Sam McDowell and Richie Allen will super-stardom. Only the accomplishments of these men in the next few years will tell the story. To reach this status, they must have one great season after another, to the fans'

HAVE YOU EVER noticed how every year during spring training many teams anyear during spring training many teams and an anounce that the current crop of rookies in camp is the hest that they have ever had. Team officials say that they can see no reader the control of the con son why most of them won't be able to stick in the big time for the current season. Pennant predictions are even made.

But come September, where are these teams in the standings? Usually in the second division because none of the hew Babe Ruths panned out It's a good thing that baseball fans remain loyal to their home team.

Who repairs Army's repair equipment?

Perhaps this question has not occurred to many people, but who repairs repair equip-

In this age of push-buttons and intricate electronic devices, maintenance is still a necessity. But what is to be done when the very specialized electronic test devices used for repair are themselves in need of repair?

The U.S. Army's foresight in this regard is reflected in its establishment of the Electronic Devices Repair Course (MOS 35C20) at Fort Gordon, Ga. A specialist trained there is nicknamed "the repairman's repairman."

The scope of instruction in the Electronic Devices Repair Course provides enlisted men with a working knowledge of the techniques and procedures utilized in inspecting, testing, adjusting, calibrating and repairing elec-tronic test equipment. Among the diverse equipment categories are radiac devices, fac-simile equipment and lie detectors.

Specific academic subjects covered by the course include electronic fundamentals, audio oscillators, AM Signal generators, frequency meters and applied electronic devices repair.

When the student is graduated, he may be ssigned practically anywhere in the world. He may be repairing equipment at an electronic proving ground, the Missile Center at Huntsville, Ala., or Cape Kennedy, Fla. Or he might be assigned to a repair depot in the United States, Korea, Okinawa or Europe.

The student might become part of a threeman mobile team traveling on a large bus with more than 300 items of test equipment to repair and calibrate test equipment at missile

Men on a mobile team are sometimes gone from their home units on a road trip for 30 to 40 days at a time. The reliability of the entire missile system depends upon the accuracy of the repairman's test equipment so these Electric Devices Repair Specialists must be able to do a first class job.

To qualify for MOS 35C20, the applicant must have normal color perception, 14 months or more of active duty service remaining after completion of the course, full use of both hands and a standard score of 100 or higher in antitude area EL

Whether on a satellite tracing team anywhere in the world from Spain to Samoa or traveling with a mobile team in Europe or Korea, the Electronic Devices Repair Specialist has a fremendous responsibility.

He had hoped to make the big hop from Class A ball to the majors with the Mets but Uncle Sam got priority on his contract and he'll be playing for Sam's team for the next few

A $10,000 "honus baby" and a native of Baltimore, Md., he now is drawing $87.90 a month.
Sanders styles his batting form after last year's American League batting champ, Tony Oliva. "I try to spray my hits all over the field so that the defense can't swing around on me."

The southpaw slugger, both a pitcher and a first baseman, has a wide assortment of pitches but was used mainly at first because of his hefty hitting and his size. He stands 6'1" and weighs 180 pounds. He is also very quick on

Three of Sanders' teammates are presently playing in the senior circuit.

Billy McCool graduated to the parent Cincinnati club and is one of the top prospects in the National League; Ron Swoboda is with the New York Mets and is expected to give newly acquired Dick Stuart a run for the money at be ing the Mets' homer champ; and Dave Boswell is tossing for the Minnesota Twins - Boswell had a great showing in last year's World Series.

Mike is very proud of one of his past coaches - Don Heffner. Heffner is now manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

This past January, Mike decided to ask for release from the Cincinnati organization to try his "luck" with the New York Mets.

"I figured I would have a much better chance of making the big time with the Mets. Cincinnati has two good first basemen and was gracious enough to grant me the release. I had planned to contact Wes Westrum this springbut it looks as though I will have to wait until next spring," said the National Guardsman

The 21 year old Sanders has a rosy future in front of him. With a smooth swing, a good glove and plenty of determination—he should make a strong bid for big league scccess.

The Let Aftermath

By Sgt. Mike Frederick

Well, it's happened again. A certain major league team has no plans at all for a young minor league pitcher in its organization.

Every spring this situation probably confronts many youngsters who are aspiring to a major league career

The reasons for any team feeling this way about a player could be many and varied. They could lie with the team itself or with the play-The team, for example, could have won the pennant during the previous season and have a set pitching staff for the upcoming campaign. Quite possibly, trades could have been made during the offseason to fill any gaps

The pitcher bimself could have had only limited experience in organized baseball, say less than one full year. Or he could have compiled very poor minor league records.

For a team to feel this way about a player would be understandable if any of these reasons applied. He would not merit any consideration in

But to the player I have in mind none of these reasons have any bearing. This player has had several seasons of minor league experience had several seasons of minon league experience under his belt. He has had good years. As a matter of fact, last season he help-ed pitch his team to the pennant in a Double-A League. He finished the year with an 18-0 won-loss record. Even Sandy Koufax hasn't

To add to the irony of the whole situation, his parent club finished last season deeply en-trenched in the second division. And, it wasn't because of a lack of hitting, for they were one of the best hitting teams in their league. All season long, their pitching staff turned in poor

The player involved is Billy MacLeod. He is in the Boston Red Sox organization.

In a recent column authored by John Gil-looly in the Boston Record-American, the reason cited for MacLeod's snub was the fact that he is not an overpowering thrower. Because of this lack of a real good fast ball, Red Sox officials feel that he doesn't stand a chance to make it in the "big time." But it still remains that he got the hitters out. He must have been good to compile such a fantastic record.

It appears to me that a losing team is perhaps hesitant to give a winner a chance. Maybe this is the reason that this team year after year always manages to finish at the bottom of the answer to this question is the Los Angeles Dodgers with 1373 victories. The Braves second having amassed 1286 wins

THE NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE is preparing for the first big expansion in its history. Conditional franchises have been awarded to six new clubs in the following cities: Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

WHEN THE CLEVELAND BROWNS played an opponent from the Western Division. Jimmy Brown sometimes did not fare too well. In two games this past season against Western teams. Brown rushed for a total of only 59 yards for an average of 1.9 yards per carry.

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED who the winningest baseball team has been in the National League over the last 15 years?

SPEAKING OF STRIKES, a strike by the odcarriers union has halted construction of the new St. Louis stadium. Plans had been made to play the 1966 All-Star baseball game there. But if this strike continues much longer and the stadium is not ready on time, the

Vital body processes need water to function

Next to oxygen, water is most important to the body and general health since it per-vades every tissue and organ and assists in

Blood, lymph, urine, sweat, tears and the digestive juices are all watery fluids. The central nervous system reposes in a water cush-ion. Water is basic to food digestion and absorption. It is part of the thermostat to the body's marvelous cooling and heating system which keeps the healthy body at just the right

Water aids all organs that touch to slide smoothly across each other and lubricates the Equal diligence various parts of the body such as the eyeballs. It protects a new life from the very beginning, cradling the unborn baby from shock as he develops and grows.

The human body is mostly water. In fact, liquid accounts for about 60 per cent of its weight. A newborn infant is 75 per cent water; and, at the very start of life in the embryo state, 97 per cent.

And yet, according to "Today's Health," a magazine published by the American Medical Association, the process of getting this vital sub-stance into the body has always been a subject of popular misunderstanding. There are still many superstitions and misconceptions about water drinking. Following are answers to a few of the most frequently asked questions about thirst, drinking water and health.

SHOULD YOU EVER FORCE YOURSELF TO DRINK MORE WATER THAN YOUR THIRST CALLS FOR?

In most cases, the normal person can safely rely on his sense of thirst to tell him to drink enough water to meet his body's requirements. However, in extremely rare cases, this may not be true.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU CON-

It depends a great deal on your activity and the temperature. At 40 degrees, three pints of water a day will keep you alive; at 90 degrees, the need goes up to three quarts a day. Under exceptional conditions, you may need as much as a quart of water an hour. The National Research Council's "Recommended Dietary Allowance" states that "a suitable allowance for adults is 2,5 liters daily." (A liter is a little over one quart

IS IT HARMEUL TO DRINK WATER

"Dont gulp water" is a common admonition, but, medically speaking, it has little foundation. Some people are made uncomfortable by drinking cold water fast. A good rule that applies to water drinking in general: Do it the way that you find most agreeable

IS DRINKING PLAIN WATER BETTER THAN DRINKING OTHER TYPES OF BEV-

It is believed that your body doesn't care in what form it gets its water. Its needs can be met equally as well by drinking tea, coffee, soft drinks, milk, fruit juces or even by eating watery fonds

WHY ARE WE WARNED TO FIRST BOIL OUR DRINKING WATER WHEN WE ARE NOT SURE OF ITS COURSE OR PURITY?

You are warned to do so for your health's sake. Pure water means that it is not contaminated — that it is free from harmful bacteria that cause illnesses and disease. And, stagnant water from a lake or an earthen tank as well as many small streams may be disease-ridden. Contaminated water may be the carrier of any of a score of diseases

On a hunting, camping or hiking trip, when there is any doubt as to the purity of the water you intend to drink, boil it first for your protection. This usually requires very little time. Drinking water from questionable sources could be an invitation to serious illness. A good rule in such cases is-"When in doubt, DON'T." Good water helps maintain good health other soldiers, serving far from their ramilies and daily facing a treacherous enemy.

Other soldiers, serving far from the jungle war zones of that war-weary republic, will endure none of these hazards.

It is to these soldiers that the Army's Chief of Staff, General Harold K. Johnson, spoke in his recent message to the Army. "We should show our pride in our comrades there," he said, "by doing our tasks with equal diligence and by standing ready to acquit ourselves as they do."

General Johnson called on the Army "to display the same sacrifice, sense of urgency and responsiveness which are prevalent there. not the time for a business as usual ap-

The Chief of Staff's words would be ap-plicable to any war. But they are more important than usual to the men behind the lines in the war in Viet Nam. Unlike the Revolutionary War, our homes are not being burned. Unlike World War II, there are neither blackouts nor rationing to bring the hardship of war to the homefront. In our comfort it is easy to forget that our comrades are dving. Although we are not on the front lines, the job we do counts in the battle they are fighting. The life of a front line soldier may depend directly on whether an officer in the Pentagon planned correctly or a civilian at logistics installation quickly filled a requis-

AUSA Drive Short of Goal. General Says

By Sgt. Maj. Al Spratley

After reviewing the latest report on the Association of the U. S. Army (AUSA) membership drive, Fort Benning's commander, Mai, Gen. Robert H. York, expressed pleasure at the efforts put forth by most units but tempered this with a reminder that the goal has still not been attained.

With the membership slightly over the 5,000 mark at the time, Gen. York indicated he would like to see "another thousand" added before the campaign could be an unqualified suc-

At the start of the campaign, there were actually two goals established: first, to "sign up" every officer, every enlisted man in pay grade E-5 or over and all civilian employes in grade GS-7 or above. This "poten-tial" was estimated at 5,500. The second objective was nix City-Fort Benning chap-ter the largest chapter in the Association, a distinction it held in 1964.

An ancillary objective was, and is, to top the membership at Fort Bragg, N. C., home of the 82nd Airborne Division, formerly commanded by York.

At last reading, the local chapter's membership stood at 5,185, still more than 300 short of the announced "po-tential." In addition, it is estimated that some 300 to 400 memberships are due to expire within the next 30 days if they are not renewed.

Salutes School On Anniversary

On behalf of all United States Army Infantry Center personnel, I congratulate The Infantry School on its 58th amiversary. As commandant of The Infantry School,

I share your pride in past achievements. But these are critical times and the past must be subordinated to the efforts we expend today smoothnated to the entires we expend today and our continuing dedication to the future.

The Infantry School is no stranger to crises. In every period of national stress since World War I, we have met the challenge to provide muscle, manpower and leadership for our fighting forces.

The clarion call has again been sounded and, like our predecessors, we shall respond with every facility at our disposal and with whin every recurry at our misposal and with the unmatched esprit of the Infantry soldier. I share with you this brief salute to the 59 years that have gone before and join with you in pressing every effort for complete ful-fillment of each mission and commitment imposed upon us during the coming year.

The Infantry School, with its reputation for leadership and its emphasis on mastery of both the tactical and human elements of modern warfare, occupies a key position in the Army School System. It is a source of pride and inspiration to the entire United States

During the current expansion of the Army, the Infantry School again is meeting great challenges in a manner worthy of tradi-tions dating back to its establishment on April

> PAUL L. FREEMAN IR. General, United States Army

From the Artillery School Commandant

On behalf of the United States Army Artillery and Missile School, I extend congratulations on the occasion of the 59th anniversary of the United States Army Infantry School.

The American Soldier today is called upon to carry a greater burden and to accept a greater responsibility than that known to any of his predecessors. The demonstrated skill dedication and valor of our Infantrymen in Viet Nam today reflect the Infantry School's outstanding training to meet these expanded duties of our fighting men.

The Field Artillery is proud to salute you

HARRY H. CRITZ Major General, USA Commandant

From the Armor School

I send personal best wishes and those of the officers and men of The United States Army Armor School on the occasion of the 59th anniversary of the United States Army Infantry School

The battlefield accomplishments of many distinguished graduates are a testament to The Infantry School's achievements, progress and vital contribution to our nation's military

Today, with high professional standards and teaching skill, the staff and faculty of the school continue to impart a wide range of essential education in the preparation of fighting men and their leaders.

May you have continued success in this challenging and meaningful task.

A. D. SURLES JR. Major General, USA Commandant

From the Chemical Center

It is noted with pleasure that the U.S. Army Infantry School will celebrate the 59th anniversary of its establishment on April 1, 1966. The members of the U.S. Army Chemical Center and School join me in congratulating you on the splendid accomplishments which are marked by this day.

We equally extend our best wishes for an enterprising future in the advancement of pro-fessional and technical skills of the soldierly profession. Your contribution to this achievement will be a vital element in meeting sion of the modern U.S. Army,

As a member of the military school system, the Infantry School has established an enviable record. Your graduates, with their thorough training in modern warfare, make a vital contribution to the effectiveness of American defense_forces.

We wish you continued success in the ac-complishment of your demanding mission.

From the Third Army Commander The men and women of the Third United States Army join me in extending congratula-tions to the United States Army Infinity School on its 59th anniversary, April 1, 1866.

There have been many changes in weapon, technology and tactics since the inception the school in 1907, and your school has led the Infantry in mastering changing concepts in land warfare.

We all take pride in the quality of training and the high caliber of leadership generated by your school.

With every best wish.

Questions answered about use of water

Last week's BAYONET printed several of the more common questions and answers about water, a very important but much misunder-stood fluid.

Following are some more questions and answers about thirst, drinking water and health: IS SWELLING OF ANY PART OF THE BODY, PARTICULARLY THE FACE, HANDS OR LEGS, DUE TO DRINKING TOO MUCH

Normally the answer is "No." Yet, excessive salt intake can cause the cells to retain more water than they usually would. This is particularly true of some illnesses or when hormonal changes disturb water metabolism. You should see your physician if continuing edema or swelling prevails. It may be a sign of heart or kidney ailment or nutritional deficiency.

Idea of grass roots aid nothing new to military

When the late President Kennedy created the Peace Corps by Executive Order, March 1, 1961, the idea of providing foreign aid on the grass roots level was new to many Americans. Not so for those in the armed forces, For many years men and women in uniform stationed overseas have been giving this kind of assistance.

The military man's off-duty efforts to aid those in other lands has had many names— People-to-People, Civil Affairs, Community Relations — but only one purpose. This purpose is simply to aid those in need where help will be the most effective - in the home and com-

Today, in many places, including Viet Nam, this program has become a very real part of of-ficial policy. But for every official project there are dozens being carried out quietly by indi-viduals and small groups of service personnel. They are devoting to these projects their own time and labors.

These programs, the official and individual, the large and very small, are all part of the American tradition of selflessness and America's struggle for a better future, not, just for ourselves, but all the peoples of the world

The New York Yankees are dead. Actually, I'm being easy on them hy saying that they'll finish this high. Only fantastic comebacks by Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Elston Howard and Jim Bouten could save them from their second consecutive second division finish. This is highly unlikely, however. Both Mantle and Howard are old men haseball-wise. For the first time in many years, the Yankees have to rely on untried rookies and others who have never really had a home, Ruben Amaro will probably open at short. But the question is who will play left and center field? Who will do the catching if Howard isn't up to par? I'm afraid that the Yankee era of tion has ended

Baltimore, Chicago Lead Poll in American League Pennant Picks

Two Robinsons to Lead Baltimore Go-Go' Sox of '59 Come to Life

After gazing into my crystal ball, the "great swami" is ready to take a brief journey into the future to predict the eventual outcome of the 1966 American League pennant

1. The laurels this year will go to the Baltimore Orioles. The addition of Frank Robinson to their batting order along with Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell and Curt Blefary will give them the necessary hitting. The only question mark is their pitching staff. As far as starters, go, once you go by Steve Barber, Dave McNally and Wally Bunker, there is nothing but rookies. They must come up with a fourth dependable starter. Their bullpen is in excellent shape with Stu Miller and Dick

2. The Detroit Tigers have their best team in years. They have a fine young pitching staff that is dotted with experienced veterans. Mickey Lolich and Dennis McClain are both capable of winning 20 games apiece. They have fine hitting with Willie Horton, Al Kaline and Norm Cash supplying the power. They are also excellent afield

3. Sam McDowell will carry the Cleveland Indians this year. He should make the natives forget the heroics of Bob Feller. This young man will even he better than Sandy Koufax.

4. Year after year, the Chicago White Sox wind up near the top. I honestly don't know how they do it. One reason this year should how ney do it. one reason mis year snound be Eddie Stanky. They are going to feature speed and hustle again. They could even be likened to the "Go-Go Sox" which won the pennant in 1859. The thing that hurts, though, is their definite lack of hitting which they surely need to go with their defense and pitching if they ever expect to win

5. The Minnesota Twins are not going to repeat their accomplishments of last year. Everything went right for them. Their luck

tive secretary, the legal stenographer and the administrative assistant, so the Army requires the services of the military stenographer to enable staff officers to perform their jobs with greater skill and efficiency.

A quick glance at the want ads of any metropolitan daily shows the importance major industrial concerns attach to the private secretary. The Army, too, has discovered that when the "good right arm" frees the busy commander from the mass of paper work; he can better discharge the important policymaking aspects of his job.

It is the mission of the Stenography Division, U. S. Army Adjutant General School. Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., to train enlisted men and women to perform this important job.

To qualify as a military stenographer, an enlisted person must be able to take dictation in shorthand at a minimum speed of 90 words per minute and to transcribe this material accurately into acceptable form,

He must be able to type at least 45 words He must be able to type at least ap worth per minute and perform related clerical and administrative duties, including receiving visitors, answering the telephone, arranging appointments and conferences, and keeping office files current.

The graduate stenographer must know how to prepare military correspondence, in cluding indorsements, disposition forms, joint message forms and non-military letters. A knowledge of the basic principles of English grammar is a vital tool of the Army stenographer. To teach these skills is the primary function of the Stenography Course.

The majority of the military stenographers required by the Army and Air Force are trained at the U. S. Army Adjutant General School. The course is 16 weeks in length and is the longest enlisted course presented at the Classes range in size from 30 to 42 students. The equipment is modern and facilities are comparable to those found in any major educational institution. The faculty is composed of licensed civilian teachers supple-mented by carefully selected highly qualified

To meet the minimum prerequisites for attendance an applicant must be able to type at least 35 words per minute. This initial type ing speed is necessary because students must utilize the typing skill from the beginning of the course

Consequently a deficiency in typing is a serious impediment to eventual student suc-

General York Offers Passover Greetings

On the occasion of the Jewish festival of Passover, I extend my sincerest greetings to all members of the Jewish faith stationed at Fort Benning.

Passover emphasizes liberation from the physical oppression of slavery. In these trou-bled times, its message is clear to all of us. Only when mankind is free, can peace, his greatest blessing, become a reality.

In this spirit, I wish all Fort Benning personnel and their families who cherish the ancient and hallowed customs and observances of these days a year of happiness and prosperity.

Exodus From Egypt Celebrated in Seder

A Passover Seder was con ducted at 7 p.m., Monday at Fort Benning's Oran Mess The event featured traditional worship symbols and foods representing details of the story of the deliverance of the Jewish neonle from bondage in Egypt as told in the Book of Exodus.

On the table were bitte herbs to recall the anguish o slavery; matzoh (unleavened bread) to represent the un baked dough hastily snatch ed from the ovens and pack ed for the journey when th people fled from Egypt; and karpas (greens) dipped in sait water, reminiscent of the poor diet of the slaves and the tears shed under the barsh rule of their Egyptian

The Seder initiated the ol servance of Passover from sunset April 4 to sundown April 12 and was led by Lt. Col. George M. Alter and

By Pyt. Julian Marbut

The next big New York Yankees' star will be, everyone seems convinced, Bobby Ray Mur-Murcer may or may not be in the opening day line-up hut he probably will play shortstop most of the first month of the season. His consistent hitting and steady improvement as a won him that opportunity.

But it is, as of this moment, still only an opportunity because for all his promise, he remains a teen-ager with less than a year and a half of professional experience. It's a safe bet that he'll be a Yankee regular in 1967. But it remains to be seen how smoothly he can go through 1966

In any case, he will be a major topic of conversation for Yankee fans and Yankee management in the weeks ahead.

His own ability and personality are worthy of attention and there are some inescapable comparisons to Mickey Mantle that make Murcer's situation quite interesting.

Bobby won't be 20 years old until May 20. The last teen-ager that started for the Yankees was Mantle in 1951.

But Mantle, at 19, was an awed, inarticulate kid with the most impressive physical equipment a player could have. Murcer, not that gifted but impressive enough, is a much more open personality, at ease socially, talkative, and at least partially aware of the problems he Murcer, like Mantle, is from Oklahoma. Both turned to professional baseball right out of high school even though college football scholarships were available. Mantle settled for a few hundred dollars "to sign-up" while Mur-cer managed to get hetween 15 and 20 thous-

Phil Rizzuto, perhaps the best shortstop the Yankees ever had, is a major Murcer boost-

"This kid's got good hands, a great arm and he's quick," said Phil. "All he needs is the experience of learning the hitters, when to cheat on a fast man and how not to hurry on a slow man. With all the things he can do — I mean hit and run and throw—all I can say is that I'm glad he wasn't in the Yankee system when I came

WHEN THE LOS ANGELES Dodgers swept four straight games from the New York Yankees in the 1963 World Series, it marked the first time in 50 years that a National League team

Preceding the Dodgers were the "Miracle Braves" of 1914 who handed the Philadelphia Athletics four straight defeats.

THE NEW YORK GIANTS, pennant winners in the senior circuit in 1904, refused to play the American League champion Boston Red Sox because, in that year, the Giants said that American League competition was not strong enough to compete with the National League. At that time, the American League was only two years

However, since the inauguration of the series, the junior loop has won 37 world championships compared to the National League's 25.

RALPH KINER, Pittsburgh's greatest home run hitter, led the senior circuit in 1946 with a mere 22 homers, the smallest amount a leader has hit in the past quarter-century.

The very next year, though, he walloped 51

Kiner eclipsed his own record in 1949 with 54 home runs.

Starting with the title he earned with his mediocre output in '46, Kiner either won or shared the league home run title for seven consecutive years until 1952.

Army Blue Takes Title At Lackland

The U.S. Army Blue squad slammed out a four-man score of 3.530 to capture the Interservice Warmin Pistol Championships held last Friday at Lackland AFS, Texas.

The individual championship went to PO Donald Hamilton of the Navy who compiled a three gun total of 2,660 points. It was the second major crown for the Navy man in less than a year. He won the national championship last August at Camp Perry, Ohio. Army shooters from the Marksmanship Training Unit service Warmuf Pistol Championships as the sol-diers swept first place awards in all team matches. The MTU Blue entry as it captured first place in and the aggregate.

The four-man squid posted totals of 1,185 in the 22 cali-ber match; 1,176 in the Cen-ter Fire; and 1,169 in the .45 all score of 3,530 topped all

It was one of the best ag-gregate scores by the soldi-ers in competition this year.

No forced feedings: A child naturally resists forcing and constant nagging about foods and eating. Such action results in in-creased hatred of these foods and decreased food intake. This is particularly true of the two-four year old age group.

Nothing between meals: For the establishment of good eating habits, it is important that children be permitted to become quite hungry in order that they might learn through experience the pleasure and satisfaction to be derived from eating proper foods

When most of us hear the word, we think of someone who is "nuts," "off his rocker," or "batty"—in short, someone who doesn't act like a normal person should act. If we stop and think for a minute, we realize that we apply the word "ineasity." A psychiatrist, on the other hand, immediately thinks of particular, definite states of mind which he has studied and defined in very technical terms. He might call it something like "psychosis," "schizophrenia" or "paranoia."

A military lawyer likewise has his own idea of what "insanity" is and that is different from both the popular notions and medical theories. The law is concerned with whether a man is responsible for his acts.

If the law decides he is responsible, then he must answer for what he does. Paragraph 120 of the Manual for Courts-Marial therefore declares that a person is insane only if he lacked mental responsibility at the time of the act.

Now, what constitutes a lack of mental responsibility in Military law has combined the McNaghten rule, originally developed in England, and the more recent "irresistible impulse" test.

The first requirement is that there be a mental defect, disease or derangement. The defect must be such as to make the accused either unable to know right from wrong, or, knowing the right, be unable to adhere to it. This disability must also relate to the acts in question and he care for leading the right, be unable to adhere to it. His service with the 197th has been marked by an air of informality spiced by the respect of 197th soldiers who view him as a tough soldie of the old school.

Yet even the briefest discussion with "Jumpy," a nickname known to all the soldiers of the 197th without any real traceable origin, re veals that he is an old time soldier employing modernday concepts.

"Today's Army is a faster and a smarter Army. We learned a lot in World War II. more in Korea, and th education is continuing today in Viet Nam," the veterar soldier points out.

"I have learned a lot with the 197th. Before I came here. I was strictly Infantry. How ever, this brigade has a lit-tle bit of everything and I learned to appreciate the work of Artillery, Armor and Engineers more than ever before."

"The men of this unit have a great deal to do. There are many people who think all we do here is supply Main Post with honor guards. Yet we have more equipment than any single unit on post and, on a ratio basis, less people to maintain it. I sometimes wonder how we man-age to get our job done with Edward Benedit

Giants Get Unanimous Endorsement

Atlanta to Make Brave Attempt

Once again the National League pennant race will go down to the wire this year - with three teams battling it out for the title. Three more teams will be in the thick of the fight for most of the campaign, but will fade in the final weeks

SAN FRANCISCO — The Giants, who always seem to almost win the pennant, will finally be the bride this year.

With the incomparable Willie Mays, and Willie McCovey and Jesus Alou and hopefully Orlando Cepeda providing the power, the Giants will be on top come next October.

In Juan Marichal, Manager Herman Franks has one of the best — if not the best — left-handers in baseball. Behind the acc lefty, San Francisco has Bob Shaw, Bob Bo-lin, Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon, Lindy Mc-Daniel and two prize rookies, Frank Linzy and

Phillies Might Be Phill Ins

By Sgt. Mike Frederick

Once again this year, all indicators are pointing to another tight National League pen-nant race. There will be six teams scrambling for the flag up to the last days of the season and they should finish like this:

1. The addition of Lindy McDaniel and Gibbon gives the San Francisco Giants the depth they need in the pitching department. They already have the best righthander in baseball in Juan Marichal. Orlando Cepeda will make a strong comeback. Baseball's greatest weapon, Willie Mays, will be as potent as ever.

2. The Philadelphia Phillies will put the capabilities of Dick Groat and Bill White to good use. Jim Bunning and Chris Short form one of the best lefty-righty duos in baseball but the Phils are lacking in capable second-line hurlers. Johnny Callison and Richie Allen will again be two of the best players in the

3. Solid hitting has been in recent years the Cincinnati Reds' forte. They have a real strong pitching staff also. But it seems that whenever things look bright for them, a key

CINCINNATI-The Reds traded their leading slugger, Frank Robinson, and pitcher Milt Pappas will not make up for his loss. Last year's pre-season pennant picks will finish third this look come October

Vada Pinson and RBI champ Deron Johnson will lead this year's Reds, aided by Pete Rose, Gordy Coleman and Leo Cardenas.

Comebacks by Jim O'Toole and Joey Jay will be necessary for the Reds to finish anywhere near the top. With Jim Maloney, Sam Ellis and Billy McCool, the y should complete a respectable pitching staff.

LOS ANGELES. Despite Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, the Dodgers will finish fourth this year. They won last year with a .245 team batting average and only 78 homers. Ron Fairly, the team's leading RBI man, drove in only 70 runs last year.

5. Maybe the gold-dust twins of the Los Angeles Dodgers should have sat out the current season. There will be no World Series' money for them this year. They have good pitching and defense but their hitting is something

6. The St. Louis Cardinals traded away three-quarters of their million dollar infield over the winter. But, then again, maybe the fans will enjoy watching them lose with a bunch of rookies playing.

7. I find it hard to comprehend how the Pittsburgh Pirates finished as high up in the standings as they did last year. It won't happen again this year. Bill Virdon retired over the winter. Vernon Law is another year closer to the age of 40. Their only real bright spots are the fantastic hitting of Roberto Clemente and the fine pitching of Bob Veale.

8. Dick Stuart is really in his element now. He could be the best thing that happen-ed to the New York Mets since the days of Marvelous Mary Throneberry. They will climb

Ron Hunt and Ron Swoboda will assist at the plate as the Mets rely on a host of ST. LOUIS - The Cardinals should have new stadium, some new faces on the team a new stadium, some new races or the team and a new spot in the standings. They will become the first non-expansion National League team to finish below eighth place.

Julian Javier is the lone remaining member of the Cards' world champion infield of two years ago and Bob Gibson is the only established pitcher on the staff.

A reminder about the dangers of foreign bodies in the windpipe or gullet is worthwhile occasionally - particularly on an Army post where there are so many children.

Such accidents are always very serious and often end tragically unless promptly attended to. Approximately 90 per cent of these patients are under 14 years of age. While many factors may be responsible for this type accident, unquestionably the most significant one is CARELESSNESS, Dr. Jackson of Philadelphia who has had more experience with this problem than anyone else has grouped the variety of forms of carelessin the following manner:

Carelessness in the preparation of food. This is obvious when bits of bone are served in soup, gravy, dressing and the like. When the butcher shatters a piece of bone with a cleaver instead of a saw, he sets the stage; and, when the cook fails to recognize this danger, both have been careless.

Other such possibilities are with egg shells, cherry seeds, prune seeds, peach stones, particles of glass and fragments of

When eating fish, expect to find small bones even when the fish presumably has been

Carelessness in parents in observing their children: It is natural for infants to put things into their mouths. Some children are more prone to do it than others. This is one of the natural ways of finding out about objects. Teething infants will bite on anything.

This is surely a situation where conscientous prevention and constant observation are

Carelessness in putting inedible things into the mouth: The mouth is not a safe holder for tacks, pins, bobby pins, marbles and a host of other foreign objects: If you can't eat it, don't put it into your mouth.

Many toys for children are very danger-ous because of the loose pieces in them— plastic rattles with pebbles in them, bean shooters, etc. In addition, many toys are so poorly made that pieces can easily be broken off and put into the mouth. This point has to be evaluated by parents - not the child.

A final comment on what you should do once the foreign body has been stuck into the throat: Do not try to dig it out with the finger nor to "force" it down by eating bread. Bring the patient to the hospital!

Feeding tips supplied for young children

There are essential rules There are essential rules which, if properly understood and practiced within families, would eliminate most feeding difficulties with average healthy children. Some of these rules include:

Avoid excessive milk consumption — Excessive milk intake serves to satisfy hunger and natural dewhich in turn decreases the likelihood of a well-round-

Avoid excessive amounts of carbohydrates - What this means is control of the cookie - cracker - cake routine which all too fre-quently is permitted to sat-isfy the child's hunger. Needless to say, the high intake of other sugar-rich refined carbohydrates such as candy, sugar-coated cereals and the like should gory. The harmful effects

Reason and lovalty celebrated on May 1

In past years there have been three modern celebrations beld on May 1 that are much a part of our century and its history. One is the Communist May Day, when Red leaders swing out their aggressive military power in massive parades and make rambling speeches about their own version of the future of the Less auspicious but honest, are the two designations for the day in the United States. For Americans, May 1 is both Law Day and Loyalty Day — the recognition of two different, and yet interlocking ideas that have helped build our na-

In Law Day we recognize the rule, not of force, but of consent that has enabled the United States to build a working government from a population drawn from every nation on earth. We acknowledge that it is through law we strive to meet the needs of all our citizens fairly and without discrimination.

In Loyalty Day we look to the past for a lesson to use today and tomorrow. We see in the American society proof that the blind-faith loyalty demanded by the Communist and other "by force" forms of government is less effective, less strong, than the questioning, reasoning and understanding loyalty Americans have always given this nation. We recognize those of the past who have given their loyalty, and dedicate ourselves to an equal measure of Loyalty and Law days stand in strong contrast to the Communist celebration of May Day. We offer human reason and faith in the ability of people to build a better world. The Communists can offer only massed weapons and the continued profile of threat and fear.

Far too many persons ignore the primaries and vote only in the general elections. This is especially true of the military, since members of the armed forces vote largely by absentee ballot and thus face problems not encountered by the cyilians "back home." For one thing, the civilians at home find it much easter to keep informed about candidates, issues and election dates. Military men and women can keep abreast, however, if they make the effort

In some states where one party is dominant, the real decisions often are made in the primary elections. What is decided there is simply ratified later in the general elections. If you want to make your ballot count, be sure you vote in the primary.

Even where the two major parties are evenly matched, primary elections are meaningful. Here you have the opportunity to choose the candidates who will represent your party in the general election.

Consult your voting officer about primary elections scheduled for your home state this year. Then read one or more newspapers from your home state to keep abreast of candidates and issues

If this calls for a little extra effort, consider it part of your responsibility as a member of the armed forces and an American citizen.

It's a small price to pay for the privileges you enjoy! (AFPS)

Telephone may betray unwary with 'buas'

Tiny microphones and other sophisticated snooping devices spawned by an age of elec-tronic eavesdropping have captured the public's imagination.

The clever methods of trench-coated es onage agents are continually unearthed by vernment investigators.

Clearly outlined procedures have been established to regulate the handling of classified information and documents.

These things add up to a security-con-cious public. And in the Army, where seping is a big responsibility, such watch fulness is essential, particularly during the present time of expansion and activity.

But, in our concentration on preventing a major security breach, we're liable to overlook some obvious causes of dangerous information

Take your telephone, for instance. It makes your job a lot easier — but it's not secure. Nor is the washroom or the snackbar, your desk drawer or your coat pocket.

Never discuss classified information over the phone or in public places. In fact, never discuss it anywhere unless the other person has a definite "need to know."

Never tuck classified documents in your pocket or desk drawer for even a few moments, and never leave them in the open un-

In short, don't let the habits of daily routine lull your common-sense security conscious ness. It would be mighty embarrassing to be on the watch for spies—and be done-in by your own telephone. (ANF) opments study. The opportunity came with the establishment this year of the Electives Program at the school, which provides the student a chance to further his military knowledge with time spent on a sub-ject of his own choosing. The electives innovation is being recommended for implemen tation at service schools

For Capts, Duane Zimbrick Raymond Rau, Roy Lembar-do and Donald Schwab, the electives choice was to par-ticipate with the Infantry Ag-ency's Doctrine and Organization Division in a real life study of how small Infantry units should be organized and equipped in 1975 The four contains report to the Infantry Agency for an average of two sessions per week. While there, they work directly with the Studies Branch project officer, Maj. Lawrence Campbell. Popular-ly called the "Four Captains" Program," the work of the students is adding fresh ideas to Project IRUS-75 (Infantr Rifle Unit Study 1966-1975 and backing the ideas with actual association with com-- prone small Infantry

According to Maj. Camp bell, the experienced-backet opinions of the four student have proved so useful that they have been asked by the Infantry Agency to conduct poll of the entire career class to get an even greater depth of military experience. The information gained in this

In choosing the men to work toward elective credits on the Infantry Rifle Unit Study, the Agency asked The Infantry School to select four students with recent platoon and company command ex-perience. The 1966 baseball season should provide the fan with many interesting things to follow once again

And to me, this is even much more so this

The biggest question in everybody's mind is just how the New York Yankees will finish this year. Is their dynasty really at an end?

Also one of the other feature attractions this year will be the comeback attempts of many of the top names in the game after a poor season last year for one reason or anoth

Both Orlando Cepeda and Tommy Davis are hale and hearty this year after being out most of last year with injuries. If you remember Davis won the National League betting championship for two years running a few years

Roger Maris and Elston Howard are both supposed to be fit as a fiddle. Mickey Mantle is still ailing but can you name me one season when there wasn't something wrong with him? The Yankees are dependent upon these men to lift them out of the second division.

And once again the New York Mets prove watching, but not for the same reasons as in the

The Mets stand a very good chance of winning more games than they ever have before. Young players such as Ron Swoboda, Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool improve with every game they play. Winter trades also helped the Mets, The Atlanta Braves found this out when they ran into Key Boyer's bat last weekend.
Dick Stuart can drive home quite a few runs if given the chance. Both Boyer and Stuart have played in the World Series in the past They know what winning is like. They don't like to loose. But again this year, the Met's big weak spot is pitching with no real immediate relief in sight.

All of these factors should add up to another great year for the sport,

COMING?

Don't raise the white flag. Call us. We've got what it takes to feed an army. Tender and tasty Kentucky Fried Chicken, made with Colonel Sanders' original recipe so it's finger lickin' good. We do the cooking. All you have to do is

M bring it home and serve it up to the troops. And don't be surprised if they salute.

Help the Law, It Helps You

This Sunday (May 1) has been proclaimed by the President of the United States as Law Day USA. This is the ninth year Law Day has been officially celebrated. In keeping with this important occasion this column will deviate from its normal procedure of discussing legal problems and instead devote this space to Law Day.

The theme of Law Day this year is "Respect the Law — It Respects You." In this day and time the theme could not be more ap-

Do you know cancer's seven danger signals? By being aware of them, you may save a life - vours

Today cancer is the second leading cause of death in the United States. Only deaths from heart and circulatory diseases out-num-ber deaths from cancer. Of every six deaths from all causes in the United States, one results from cancer

In 1900, 41,000 people in the United States in 1900, 41,000 people in the United States died from cancer, in 1956, this figure reached 265,000. This is related in part to the increase in the population of persons above the age of 45—the age when death from cancer rises sharply. Lung cancer, which was rare in 1900, has shown the most notable increase.

Due to improved diagnostic techniques and treatment, many people are alive today who otherwise might have died from cancer. Each year, 85,000 people are cured of cancer and early detection can increase this num-

The seven danger signals of cancer are:...

— Unusual bleeding or discharge.

— A lump or thickening in the breast or

- A sore that does not heal.

- Change in bowel or bladder habits. - Hoarseness or cough

Indigestion or difficulty swallowing. - Change in a wart or mole.

If your signal lasts more than two weeks. go to your doctor to learn if it means cancer. Many people wait for a long period of time before consulting a physician after getting one of these signals. Delay can be dangerous; the best chance for cure is early detection. Re-member that early discovery leads to a quick

Not all growths are cancerous. (Many are benign, that is, they do not threaten your life.) But only a doctor can tell whether it is cancer or not. Also, cancer can occur without any symptoms; therefore, periodic checkups are important

Cancer is a bad disease, but it has never been proved to be contagious. You do not have to be afraid of contracting cancer if you have been in contact with a patient having the disease. Also, it is not hereditary, but there may be a tendency for certain types of cancer to

Savings bonds are still best investment

Investment in U. S. Savings Bonds has always been attractive to servicemen and women. Payroll savings plans that provide for automatic deduction, regular interest, and known security have drawn thousands of military personnel into bond buying programs.

Now Savings Bonds are a better investment than ever Interest on Series E and H Bonds has been increased from 3.75 to 4.15 percent. Under the increased interest a $100 ries E Bond, costing $75, can be redeemed for its face value after only seven years.

In making the announcement of increased bond interest. President Johnson called honds "the most important investment that any American can make?

The President said, "The Savings Bond Program is both prudent and patriotic. It is prudent because it strengthens the security of your own family. It is patriotic because it strengthens the economy of our country, it supports our fighting men in Viet Nam. . and supports the cause of freedom everywhere world. It helps to preserve the buying power of our American dollars."

With the increase in bond interest, service men and women should give serious consideration to joining or increasing their invest-ment in the Savings Bond Program, It's a sound investment in yourself and your coun-

Law Day, USA

Sunday we will celebrate the ninth annual observance of Law Day USA. This year's theme is "Respect the Law, It Respects You."

With the crime rate in our country on the increase it is important that we as citizens re-dedicate ourselves to respecting the law. It is through respect for the law and hence obedience to the law that order is maintained in our society and our individual freedoms pre-served. Without such a rule we invite anarchy. Likewise, it is the rule of the law which insures against the rule of fear and force as practiced by the Communist system.

This Sunday let us all be heedful of the benefits we derive from a governmental system based on the rule of law as opposed to a system based on the arbitrary rule of individ-

The aides, from all five Army areas, Hawaii, Alaska and the Southern Commands, provide civilian contacts for the secretary of the Army. They play an important role as advisors and provide lia-ison between the secretary and the civilian community.

Deling the thomas "Chair. Tenge and Belipsens," the conference gave a dramatic but practical picture of the Army's role in Viet Nam.

Conferees were permitted to get "into the action" as they participated in briefings by officers defending a mock Vietnamese village, listened to Viet Cong presentations of their motives and methods, heard village chiefs explain their problems, and were briefed on the mission and training of the American advisory teams.

Adding realism to the experience, the aides were am-bushed by the "enemy" as they went by convoy from one village to another. The conference afforded the

U. S. Army Infantry School an unprecedented opportun-ity to demonstrate the training it furnishes soldiers des-tined for service in Viet Nam.

The demonstrations includ-rif at might dedenon action.

LT. PARETTE Newly Commissioned

AG Sergeant Gets Direct Commission

Garland D. Parette, 27. formerly the NCOIC of the cadre enlisted personnel section of The Student Brigade was directly commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve Monday.

The former SFC was commissioned in the Adjutant General's Corps as a result of his qualifications and ex perience gained during eight years of working in personnel and other AG functions.

He first entered AGC classification in 1961 after completing Personnel Specialist Training at the Army Adju-tant General School, Ft. Ben-jamin Harrison, Ind. He lat-er completed the personnel staff non-commissioned officers course at the same school and now he is await ing orders to attend the AGC Basic Officers Course also at Ft. Beniamin Harrison.

Lt. Parette first applied January after he was en-couraged to do so by his for-mer section leader, 1st Lt. Vernon H. Krider, troop en-listed branch, TSB. With the return of affirmative results from Department of the Army, Col. Jess W. Walls commanding officer of TSB formally initiated Parette into the Officers Corps by administering the oath. Mrs. Parette pinned gold bars on her busband.

"It was a big change that came about fast," said Lt. Parette. "This morning I was wearing five stripes and this afternoon I'm wearing bars."

Modern Infantry Changes to Meet The Challenge

The modern Infantry changes to meet the

Here at The Infantry School, dramatic innovations are taking place to prepare junior officers for duty in Viet Nam.

For example, instruction and training in the Infantry Officer Basic, Officer Candidate and Ranger Courses have changed significant-ly to increase the ratio of Viet Nam oriented problems and will continue to change to meet the needs of the Army and prepare newly com-missioned officers for their first assignment with troops.

The Infantry Officer Basic Course now includes theoretical problems involving U. S. Government policy, practical exercises in patrolling and small unit counterguerrilla operations.

The Officer Candidate Course has undergone changes almost indentical to those in the Infantry Officer Basic Course and, in addition, will include one more week of patrolling and increased emphasis in airmobile opera-tions in the Fiscal Year 1967 Program of In-

The Ranger Course has been revised to include three full weeks of small unit operations in a simulated counterguerrilla warfare environment and instruction in rapelling from

Post Savings Drive Aims To Include At Ninety Per Cent Goal

The kick-off rally of the 1966 person-to-person U.S. Savings Bond drive was held last Friday at Fort Benning.

The canvass to encourage more people to purchase savings bonds will continue through May 31. Participation in the payroll savings plan now stands at 79 per cent with the goal for this year set at 90 per cent.

1966 marks the 25th anniversary of the savings bond campaign. Bonds, available at a 25 per cent discount from face values running from $25 to $10,000, were first offered to the public in of the Armed Forces as a report to the Nation which they are sworn to protect."

Thus, Armed Forces Day 1966, to be celebrated May 21, has a dual purpose. It is a day to pay tribute to Americans in military uniform. It is also a day when men and women to the same of the uniform. It is also a day when men and wom-en-in the armed forces can report directly to the American people on their state of readi-ness and dedication to the task at hand — protecting the nation.

The armed forces are like an investment The armed forces are like an investment in insurance made by the American people. Billions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of young men and women have been poured into this investment. The desired result of all this is a firm assurance that the nation which they built, and are building, will continue as a strong force working toward the betterment of

Toothache causes can be corrected by professionals

What is a toothache? To many individuals it is a bitter memory or a series of agonizing memorseries of agonizing memor-ies, perhaps a seemingly endless night of excruciat-ing pain or the sharp twinge which follows the eating of a sweet substance.

Whatever form it takes, a toothache is nature's warning that an unhealthy, vulnerable condition exists within the mouth. It is an indication of the presence indication of the presence of "caries" (tooth-decay) or other aliments and often proclaims a death sentence for one or more teeth. Inmost cases however toothaches are symptomatic of reversible ailments easily corrected by any dentist and are in fact often more easily prevented than

The treatment of choice is of course is of course professional, routine care and the elimin-ation of dental defects and potential causes of pain. Home remedies are varied and range from aspir-in to beurbon, The former is often effective, the latis often effective, the lat-ter may substitute other in-teresting complications. If, as usually occurs, the pain is caused by an extensive cavity in a tooth it is best cavity in a tooth it is best eliminated by inserting therein a cotton pellet moistened with Eugene or oil of cloves. All home remedies are temporary in nature and professional care should be sought as sought as soon as possible.
