Corporal John W. Collier (Service No. RA 15377981), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company C, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action near Chindongni, Korea, on 19 September 1950. While engaged in an assault on a strategic ridge strongly defended by a fanatical enemy, the leading elements of his company encountered intense automatic-weapons and grenade fire. Corporal Collier and three comrades volunteered and moved forward to neutralize an enemy machine-gun position which was hampering the company's advance, but they were repulsed twice. On the third attempt, Corporal Collier, despite heavy enemy fire and grenade barrages, moved to an exposed position ahead of his comrades, assaulted and destroyed the machine-gun nest, and killed at least four enemy soldiers. As he returned down the rocky, fire-swept hill and joined his squad, an enemy grenade landed in their midst. Shouting a warning to his comrades, he, selflessly and unhesitatingly, threw himself upon the grenade and smothered its explosion with his body. This intrepid action saved his comrades from death or injury. Corporal Collier's supreme, personal bravery, consummate gallantry, and noble self-sacrifice reflect untold glory on himself and uphold the honored traditions of the military service.

This general order will be read to all troops and will be posted conspicuously on the bulletin boards in each unit area.

DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION—Citation of units.....	Section I
MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION—Awards.....	II

I. DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following units in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

- 3d Battalion, Royal Australian Regiment;*
- 2d Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry;*
- Company A, 72d Heavy Tank Battalion (United States),*

are cited for extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of combat duties in action against the armed enemy near Kapyong, Korea, on 24 and 25 April 1951. The enemy had broken through the main line of resistance and penetrated to the area north of Kapyong. These units were deployed to stem the assault. Early on 24 April, the 3d Battalion, Royal Australian Regiment, moved to the right flank of the sector and took up defensive positions north of the Pukhon River. The 2d Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, defended, in the vicinity of Hill 677, on the left flank. Company A, 72d Heavy Tank Battalion, supported all units to the full extent of its capacity and, in addition, kept the main roads open and assisted in evacuating the wounded. Troops from a retreating division passed through the sector which enabled enemy troops to infiltrate with the withdrawing forces. The enemy attacked savagely under the clangor of bugles and trumpets. The forward elements were completely surrounded going through the first day and into the second. Again and again the enemy threw waves of troops at the gallant defenders, and many times succeeded in penetrating the outer defenses, but each time the courageous, indomitable, and determined soldiers repulsed the fanatical attacks. Ammunition ran low and there was no time for food. Critical supplies were dropped by air to the encircled troops, but still they stood their ground in resolute defiance of the enemy. With serene and indefatigable persistence, the gallant soldiers held their defensive positions and took heavy tolls of the enemy. In some instances when the enemy penetrated the defenses, the commanders directed friendly artillery fire on their own positions in repelling the thrusts. Toward the close of the second day, 25 April, the enemy break-through was stopped. The seriousness of the break-through on the central front was changed from defeat to victory by the gallant stand of these heroic and courageous soldiers. The 3d Battalion, Royal Australian Regiment; 2d Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; and Company A, 72d Heavy Tank Battalion, displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their missions under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set them apart and above other units participating in the campaign, and by their achievements they brought distinguished credit on themselves, their homelands, and all freedom-loving nations. (General Orders 453, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 23 June 1951.)

II. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following units of the United States Army for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated. The citations read as follows:

1. The 3d Replacement Company, 3d Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 18 November 1950 to 4 June 1951. During this period, the company was given the mission of processing replacements which involved receiving, billeting, equipping, screening records, and a brief orientation course. In addition, the company was called upon to furnish adequate facilities for reception and shipping of individuals who were participating in the rest and recuperation program. The company processed with great rapidity and efficiency over 10,117 replacements and 2,688 hospital returnees. Under the most adverse conditions, replacement personnel were efficiently handled and prepared for entry into combat within a minimum period of time. The company provided facilities for rest and recuperation personnel, averaging 600 a month. The 3d Replacement Company displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The extraordinary accomplishments of the 3d Replacement Company reflect credit on the members of the company, the 3d Infantry Division, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 439, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

2. The 17th Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 6 September 1950 to 5 March 1951. During this period, the company displayed superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks. The unit operated efficiently under all conditions and difficulties, maintaining ordnance equipment and extending support direct to forward infantry, artillery, and tank units by sending maintenance teams to the units to perform maintenance at the front. In this manner, maintenance was accomplished with a minimum of delay, thereby increasing the effectiveness of the combat units served. This company has continually maintained a large inventory of parts and major items to expedite maintenance which normally would require the replacement of entire assemblies or evacuation of the vehicles. The 17th Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The skill, effectiveness, and outstanding meritorious achievements of this organization in the performance of its vital services reflect credit on its members, the Ordnance Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 436, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

3. The 24th Counter Intelligence Corps Detachment, 24th Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 16 September 1950 to 16 March 1951. During this period, personnel of the detachment screened approximately 300,000 refugees. They interrogated over 6,000 prisoners of war for information of intelligence interest, and sent over 500 suspicious persons, in addition to many North Korean Labor Party officials, to the rear for further investigation. All this was accomplished despite extremely adverse conditions, frequent tactical moves, and constant contact with the enemy. Many times screening points on the front lines were operating while under strafing attacks from small-arms, mortar, and artillery fire. The 24th Counter Intelligence Corps Detachment, 24th Infantry Division, displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The determination of purpose and devotion to duty of the personnel of the detachment during this period reflect great credit on its members, the Counter Intelligence Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 438, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

4. The 207th Malaria Survey Detachment is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 17 July 1950 to 1 May 1951. During this period, the detachment performed the dual function of initiating control measures and conducting survey examinations of insect-borne diseases. To insure the effectiveness of this over-all program, the detachment also instructed indigenous personnel in correct insect and rodent control. Working in forward areas, the members of the detachment endangered their lives, not only by exposure to enemy action but by deliberately and continuously exposing themselves to various infected insects to determine the vector of various diseases. They initiated control measures which have undoubtedly prevented many casualties among United Nations personnel. The 207th Malaria Survey Detachment displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The determination, effectiveness, and professional ability of the members of this organization reflect great credit on themselves, the Army Medical Service, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 437, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

5. The 545th Ordnance Medium Automotive Maintenance Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 27 July 1950 to 31 May 1951. During this period, the company displayed superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks. The unit operated efficiently under all conditions and difficulties, maintaining ordnance equipment and extending support direct to front-line infantry, artillery, and armored units. Front-line maintenance was accomplished with a minimum of delay, thereby increasing the effectiveness of the combat units. The 545th Ordnance Medium Automotive Maintenance Company was one of the first ordnance units to arrive in Korea and its personnel and facilities were greatly overtaxed to meet the urgent combat needs. The unit has given support to most of the units now operating in Korea. The 545th Ordnance Medium Automotive Maintenance Company displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The skill, effectiveness, and outstanding achievements of the 545th Ordnance Medium Automotive Maintenance Company in the performance of its services justify the honors inherent in the Meritorious Unit Commendation. Its achievements reflect credit on the members of the unit, the Ordnance Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 435, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

6. The 765th Transportation Railway Shop Battalion is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 1 September 1950 to 1 March 1951. The mission of the unit was supervision of the Korean national backshops. In addition to the assigned mission, the battalion operated the engine houses and riptacks at Pusan, Kyongju, Taegu, Taejon, and Yongdongpo. The battalion also supervised the repairing of locomotives, passenger cars, and freight cars. New equipment consisting of locomotives, steam and Diesel cranes, boxcars, gondolas, tankcars, flatcars, refrigerator cars, hospital kitchen cars, and hospital unit cars was processed and placed in service. The battalion was responsible for inspecting, maintaining, and repairing all United States Army hospital cars in Korea. One of the most outstanding achievements of the unit was the conversion of standard United States Army buses into ambulances with railcar units, which facilitated and expedited the removal of the wounded, in addition to providing them with the comfort and ease of rail movement. The 765th Transportation Railway Shop Battalion displayed such outstanding devotion to duty and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. Despite the handicaps of obsolete foreign equipment, the necessity of working with strange operational procedures, and the fact that the battalion was critically understrength and untrained, the extraordinary devotion to duty and efficiency displayed by each member of the 765th Transportation Railway Shop Battalion reflect great credit on the unit, the Transportation Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 440, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 June 1951.)

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Corporal Robert Cooper (Service No. RA 19350356), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company L, 23d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action near Changnyong, Korea, on 21 September 1950. His platoon was holding a position on Hill 409 when it was attacked by greatly superior numbers. He remained in position with his machine gun for a period of 4 hours under constant artillery and mortar fire. Finally, despite an enemy banzai charge up the hill, he left the comparative safety of his fox hole and moved his weapon over an open route to an exposed position far down the hill in order to occupy a more favorable firing position. When his machine gun was destroyed and he was wounded by enemy grenades, he continued to fight off the enemy with his pistol until his ammunition was exhausted. He then took his assistant's rifle and, ordering his helpers to the rear, held off his foes with rifle fire until he was killed by the enemy. Corporal Cooper's gallantry and extreme devotion to duty reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the finest traditions of the military service.

Sergeant Jack E. Hiday (Service No. RA 19342704), Artillery, United States Army, a member of Battery D, 15th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion (Self-Propelled), distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action on 30 November 1950 in the vicinity of Chosin Reservoir, Korea. When the enemy launched a vicious attack, supported by mortar, automatic-weapons, and small-arms fire, against the M-16 half-track vehicle which he commanded, he stood on top of the vehicle and directed a barrage of fire into the charging hostile force. At the peak of the assault, it became necessary to replenish the weapon with full chests of ammunition. Observing that the cannoneers were unprotected during the change, the alert enemy rushed the vehicle. Sergeant Hiday, to protect his gun crew, grabbed a bazooka and leaped from the vehicle to draw hostile fire. As a result of his daring action, he was mortally wounded by a hail of fire, but his crew, meanwhile, reloaded and threw a heavy blanket of fire into the rushing enemy, killing a large number, dispersing the remaining element, and maintaining the defense of the perimeter. Sergeant Hiday's heroic action and self-sacrifice reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the finest traditions of the military service.

Master Sergeant Donald L. Patch (Service No. RA19049652), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company C, 24th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy near Wonsan, Korea, on 22 September 1950. His organization, committed to capture a hill strongly supported by a mortar position about 300 yards away, was pinned down by intense flanking automatic and small-arms fire. Sergeant Patch volunteered to lead a group of three attached South Korean soldiers on a flanking movement against the position. The hostile force spotted this valiant group approaching, concentrated a vicious stream of fire on them, and wounded Sergeant Patch in the chest. Ignoring his serious wound, he nevertheless forged on with unwavering determination. The group wiped out the position, killing nine of the defenders and routing the remainder. During the final charge on the strong point, this heroic leader received mortal wounds, but his intrepid action enabled his company to take its objective. Sergeant Patch's incredible courage and willing self-sacrifice reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the esteemed traditions of the military service.

Captain Robert B. Walker, O39384, Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company L, 7th Cavalry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in Korea in 1950. On 12 September, when Company L was pinned down by heavy enemy fire during an attack on stubbornly held Hill 314, it was viciously counterattacked by North Korean troops who inflicted heavy casualties. With utter disregard for his safety, Captain Walker charged forward into a veritable hail of enemy fire, shooting his carbine and exhorting his men to follow him. His company, inspired by their commander's courage, moved forward, aggressively following him in the vicious and bloody assault, engaged the enemy in hand-to-hand combat, and pursued the foes down the mountain until halted by Captain Walker. On 24 September, while leading a reinforced platoon on patrol through enemy-infested territory in the vicinity of Sangju, Captain Walker's patrol suddenly received heavy automatic fire from enemy entrenched in a rice paddy. While the troops were deploying to return the fire, they were fired on from the rear by an enemy group that had been by-passed in the aggressive advance and Captain Walker was seriously wounded, but he voluntarily exposed himself to draw fire in his direction, thus enabling his men to take cover, locate the enemy, and annihilate them. During this fierce fight he was wounded again, fatally. Captain Walker's outstanding heroism and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service.

Corporal Marvin R. Wood (Service No. RA19322364), Medical Corps, United States Army, a member of Medical Company, 17th Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy near Soju-ri, Korea, on 17 November 1950. Corporal Wood's platoon was moving out into a narrow valley affording little cover when the enemy opened a violent cross-fire which resulted in many casualties to his unit. With utter disregard for his personal safety, he moved about in the heavy hostile fire attending the wounded and assisting in their evacuation. As he dashed through vicious cross-fire toward a wounded man approximately 100 yards away, he was wounded by concentrated fire and knocked to the ground. Crawling the remaining 25 yards to the wounded man, he unhesitatingly sat astride the back of his patient and administered first aid. He was again wounded and knocked from the wounded man's back, but returned to his position and again attempted to administer first aid. He was struck for the third time and fell mortally wounded alongside his comrade. Corporal Wood's supreme courage, indomitable tenacity, and gallant self-sacrifice reflect the highest credit on himself and the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy on the date indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class John Ceffalo (Service No. 11018491), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 3d Battalion, 505th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy on 6 June 1944 near Ste. Mere Eglise, Normandy, France. Landing by parachute, he assembled, organized, and led a reinforced machine-gun squad that repulsed numerous armor-led attacks. He personally disabled one enemy half-track and laid a pattern of road mines under fire that enabled his group to drive off several armored-car and infantry attacks until relieved. Private Ceffalo's initiative, gallantry, and superior combat leadership made a vital contribution to the success of his unit on D-day and reflect the highest credit on himself and the Parachute Infantry. (So much of sec. IV, DA General Orders 2, 1951, as pertains to the award of the Silver Star to Private First Class Ceffalo for gallantry in action on the same date is rescinded.)

III. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—1. IV. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action on the date indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant John Czerniawski (Service No. RA32170860), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company C, 105th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Kakazu Ridge, Okinawa, on 19 April 1945. His company was attacking an enemy-held ridge when heavy hostile fire halted the advance. During this action, his platoon leader became a casualty and Sergeant Czerniawski assumed command. Later, when the platoon was ordered to withdraw, he directed evacuation of the wounded and, taking a forward position, engaged the enemy with rifle fire until the unit had withdrawn. Sergeant Czerniawski's prompt, courageous actions restored the confidence and efficiency of his platoon and reflect great credit on himself and the United States Army.

V. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Major Homer H. Hammond, O33507 (then captain, Infantry), Cavalry, United States Army, a member of the 9th Armored Infantry Battalion, 6th Armored Division, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy on 10 November 1944 near Luppy-Bechy, France. As commander of a task force from his battalion, he courageously and skillfully led his troops in the capture of a strongly defended position by a surprise flanking maneuver over extremely difficult terrain. Later, acting on his own initiative, he attempted to obtain the surrender of the demoralized yet still dangerous and treacherous hostile force by entering the enemy lines, at great personal risk, under a flag of truce. The courageous leadership and high degree of initiative exhibited by Major Hammond reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Major James G. Shanahan, O36322 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 35th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy near Putlan, Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 5 March 1945. During an attack, his battalion was held up by intense enemy mortar and automatic-weapons fire from a wooded hill crest. His platoon was ordered to take the hill at all costs, but several attacks were broken up. Seeing that his men were being disorganized, he personally charged the position with fixed bayonet and, with rifle fire and hand grenades, silenced a machine-gun and caused considerable other casualties. The platoon, inspired by his heroic example, captured the position. Major Shanahan's initiative, courage, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the military service. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster with "V" device) to Major Shanahan, for service during the same period, published in General Orders 512, Headquarters, 25th Infantry Division, 26 December 1945.)

DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION—Citation of units-----	I
MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION—Awards-----	II

I. DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following units are cited under AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citations read as follows:

1. The 23d Regimental Combat Team, 2d Infantry Division, comprised of the following units:

- 23d Infantry Regiment (Oak-Leaf Cluster for 3d Battalion only)*
- 37th Field Artillery Battalion (105-mm howitzer)*
- The French Battalion, United Nations Forces (Oak-Leaf Cluster)*
- Battery B, 82d Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion (SP)*
- Battery B, 503d Field Artillery Battalion*
- Company B, 2d Engineer Battalion*
- 2d Clearing Platoon, Clearing Company, 2d Medical Battalion*
- 1st Infantry Ranger Company*

is cited for extraordinary heroism in combat near Chipyeong-ni, Korea, during the period 13 through 15 February 1951. These units, comprising a regimental combat team, were disposed in a defensive perimeter around Chipyeong-ni with the hazardous mission of holding this important communications center and denying the enemy its extensive road net. On 13 February, hordes of Chinese Communist troops launched many determined attacks from every quarter, strongly supported by heavy mortar and artillery fire. Prearranged fire with artillery, tanks, and mortars hurled back these fanatical assaults until the morning of 14 February, when the enemy separated the 23d Regimental Combat Team from supporting units to the south, entirely surrounded it, and made resupply possible only by air drop. Because of the encircling force, estimated to be four Chinese communist divisions, the Chipyeong-ni perimeter rapidly developed into a "stand or die" defense. Fierce hand-to-hand combat engaged the two forces in the evening of the second day of the siege and only one company remained in reserve. With ammunition stocks running low, this one remaining unit was committed on 15 February and waves of attacking Chinese communists again were stemmed. Shortly after noon of 15 February, radio contact was reestablished with a relief force, and friendly tanks broke through the enemy encirclement and forced his withdrawal. The dogged determination, gallantry, and indomitable spirit displayed by the 23d Regimental Combat Team when completely surrounded and cut off, the destruction of attacking Chinese communist hordes which enabled the United Nations Forces to maintain their front and resume the offensive, and the steadfast and stubborn refusal to allow a fanatical and numerically superior force to dislodge them are in keeping with the finest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit on all members of the units who participated in this historical combat action.

2. The 27th Infantry Regiment (less Heavy Tank Company), 25th Infantry Division, and the following attached units:

- 8th Field Artillery Battalion (less C Battery)*
- 37th Field Artillery Battalion (less A Battery)*

Company C, 65th Engineer Combat Battalion

Company C, 73d Tank Battalion

5th Air Force Tactical Air Control Party

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in combat against the armed enemy in Korea during the period 21 through 24 August 1950. On 21 August, the enemy had massed an infantry division plus two regiments supported by armor and artillery in an effort to break through United Nations Forces and seize Taegu, Korea, site of the Eighth Army Headquarters and a strategic rail and highway center. By skillful, defensive deployment and through courageous and tenacious fighting by all personnel of the regiment and supporting forces, the determined defenders not only held but improved their positions. Throughout the 74-hour period, the enemy attacked with fanatical fury, yet in the face of these screaming "banzai" charges the men of the 27th Infantry Regiment bravely and coolly held their fire until the enemy closed, and then literally blasted them into annihilation. Infiltration and flanking attacks carried to the regimental command post and rear echelon positions; all personnel became engaged in the action. The entire command, involved in close combat, displayed indomitable courage in stopping the many fanatical charges and denying the enemy an important terrain corridor leading to Taegu. The steadfast courage with which the members of the 27th Infantry Regiment and supporting units held their positions in the face of vastly greater enemy forces reflects the highest combat credit on the command and is in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

3. The 35th Infantry Regiment (less Heavy Tank Company), 25th Infantry Division, and the following attached units:

6th Field Artillery Battalion

Company A, 89th Medium Tank Battalion

Battery C, 90th Field Artillery Battalion

Company B, 65th Engineer Combat Battalion

1st Platoon, Battery A, 25th AAA Battalion

Tactical Air Control Party, 80th Fighter-Bomber Squadron

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in combat against the enemy near Masan, Korea, from 1 to 4 September 1950. The regiment and attached units, deployed in a defensive position along the Nam River on a 25,000-yard front, were heavily attacked by the 7th North Korean Division and elements of the 4th, 6th, and 9th North Korean Divisions, including supporting armor and artillery. The determined and repeated assaults drove the units back on each flank of the 35th Infantry Regiment. By infiltration and flanking movements, the enemy was able to penetrate to the rear of the regiment. Under these critical conditions and in the face of fanatical frontal assaults, the gallant defenders turned back attack after attack by small-arms fire, grenades, and hand-to-hand combat. Artillery and rear echelon units were brought under direct assault by hostile infiltration and flanking attacks. Several positions were surrounded, but the men stood their ground. All elements found themselves engaged in close combat. Through ability, courage, tenacity, and indomitable fighting spirit, the enemy was contained and denied his most cherished objective, the capture of Pusan. The extraordinary heroism, steadfastness, and courageous determination of the 35th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division, and attached units reflect the highest credit on themselves and uphold the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

4. The Turkish Brigade, a member of the United Nations Forces in Korea, and the following attached units:

Turkish United Nations Brigade Advisory Group

Company A, 79th Tank Battalion

Company D, 89th Medium Tank Battalion

3d Platoon, Battery A, 25th AAA AW Battalion

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in combat in the area of Kumyangjang-ni, Korea, from 25 to 27 January 1951. The Turkish Brigade and attached units were deployed along a 7-mile front between I and IX Corps, against numerically superior hostile forces defending their vital supply route and their main line of resistance south of the Han River. Enemy-held hills 185 and 156 and Kumyangjang-ni were defended tenaciously and stubbornly against savage and relentless attacks by the Turkish Brigade, but finally fell in dogged and bitter hand-to-hand combat. The success of the savage bayonet assault is reflected in the 1,734 casualties inflicted on the hostile forces during the period. The fanatical defense by well-entrenched communist troops was finally smashed by the gallant, intrepid United Nations personnel engaged in the encounter. This sustained drive carried all strong points for a depth of 10 miles and crushed the defenders of the sector. The fidelity, indomitable fighting spirit, and outstanding heroism displayed by the Turkish Brigade and attached units in this bitter assault are in keeping with the finest and noblest traditions of heroic fighting men, and reflect the highest credit on the United Nations Forces, the United States military service, and the Turkish homeland.

II. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following units for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated. The citations read as follows:

1. The 2d Signal Company, 2d Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 17 August 1950 to 16 April 1951. The 2d Signal Company had the mission of providing all signal communications for Headquarters, 2d Infantry Division. Despite a rapidly changing tactical situation and adverse conditions, the company installed 50 command post signal networks and provided and maintained wire lines to the combat units. It also operated a radio relay section and provided official signal corps photography for the division. The 2d Signal Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The meritorious achievements and exemplary conduct of the 2d Signal Company, 2d Infantry Division, reflect great credit on itself, each individual member, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 354, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 26 May 1951.)

2. Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 4th Ordnance Battalion, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 30 August 1950 to 28 February 1951. The detachment accomplished missions of ordnance maintenance, supply and recovery, and evacuation support under the most severe conditions of ordnance field service. This unit aided materially to the success of the I Corps in the advance from the Pusan perimeter, the recapture of Seoul, AGO 103B and the capture of Pyongyang. Upon the intervention of the Chinese communist forces, the detachment moved and maneuvered the battalion units with such skill and efficiency that there was no breakdown of ordnance support. Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 4th Ordnance Battalion, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The skill, effectiveness, and outstanding meritorious achievements of this unit reflect great credit on its members, the Ordnance Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 385, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 1 June 1945.)

3. The 11th Engineer Combat Battalion is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 28 August 1950 to 28 February 1951. During this period, the battalion worked under terrific difficulties and seemingly insurmountable problems. The battalion was confronted with combat hazards, extreme heat which handicapped operations, and totally inadequate supplies and equipment because of the sudden demands through military operations. The battalion constructed defensive positions strategically important to block the advance of the enemy on Pusan and often did so while under enemy fire. The unit supported assault river crossings and constructed many floating and fixed bridges across Korean rivers. Roads were indispensably important. The 11th Engineer Combat Battalion constructed 40 miles of new roads, maintained 2,200 miles of existing roads, and constructed airstrips and airfields. Many times the members of the battalion discarded their engineer tools to fight shoulder to shoulder with infantrymen when the enemy threatened a breakthrough. The ubiquitous battalion prepared roads and bridges for combat units from Pusan to Kunu-ri, and likewise engaged in demolition activities. The 11th Engineer Combat Battalion displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The results of the battalion's accomplishments exemplify the effectiveness of a well-organized force and their signal achievements reflect credit on the unit, its members, the Corps of Engineers, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 322, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 17 May 1951.)

4. The 14th Engineer Combat Battalion (less Company A) is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 1 August 1950 to 8 March 1951. During the early critical period of the Korean campaign, the battalion served as infantry with the 21st Infantry Regiment, 24th Infantry Division. During this action, the battalion also placed mines, barbed-wire entanglements, and booby traps. In the initial break-out of the Pusan defensive perimeter, the battalion provided engineer support to the 1st Cavalry Division and the 1st Republic of Korea Division in crossing the Naktong River. In the drive northward, the Imjin, Yaesong, and Taedong Rivers were bridged by the battalion. The battalion served as infantry in Task Force Allen, which was heavily assaulted in the initial Chinese communist attack. During the withdrawal in the face of numerically superior forces, the battalion demolished all bridges in the path of the enemy. Major demolitions also were accomplished in Pyongyang. In the spring offensive of the United Nations, the battalion bridged the Han and Pukhan Rivers to permit troops to flank the city of Seoul,

Forcing the enemy to withdraw from that city without defending it. The 14th Engineer Combat Battalion (less Company A) displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The high degree of skill, morale, and determination with which the members of this organization performed their tasks reflect great credit on themselves, the Corps of Engineers, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 408, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 6 June 1951.)

5. Headquarters, Headquarters and Service Company, 14th Transportation Port Battalion, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 1 September 1950 to 1 March 1951. Advance elements of this unit arrived with the invasion forces at Inchon and immediately began the task of coordinating and supervising the repair of damaged facilities at the Port of Inchon. Despite the destruction caused by war, the unit accepted the challenge, and through untiring efforts made a major contribution toward the successful operation of the Port of Inchon during the early phases of the invasion. On 16 October, personnel of the headquarters were called upon to organize a provisional medium port. With only the personnel and equipment of the headquarters, this unit assumed the duties and responsibility of a headquarters staff of a medium port. The individuals assigned to this organization successfully operated the Port of Inchon and accomplished a major task in discharging vitally needed war supplies and equipment for the Eighth United States Army and attached troops during a critical phase of the Korean campaign. Although faced with extremely difficult conditions, such as the unusual tidal ranges, inadequate port facilities, insufficient equipment and inadequate personnel, the unit met operational requirements in the Port of Inchon. During the period 6 December 1950 through 5 January 1951, the unit directly controlled and supervised the outloading of thousands of tons of valuable military cargo and hundreds of military personnel. Through their superior performance of duty, this unit so successfully discharged its responsibilities at the Port of Inchon that only a minor portion of military supplies had to be destroyed prior to the evacuation of the port when the enemy recaptured the area. During the period of its operational function as a medium port, the Headquarters, Headquarters and Service Company, handled a total of 418,140 long tons of cargo, 30,205 vehicles, and 220,734 personnel. Following the evacuation of Inchon, the unit was attached to the 7th Transportation Medium Port at Pusan, where it established a camp area under adverse conditions in a highly creditable manner, and personnel of the unit continued to perform outstanding service to the logistical support of the United Nations Forces in Korea. The Headquarters, Headquarters and Service Company, 14th Transportation Port Battalion, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The achievements of the unit at the Port of Inchon during the invasion and subsequent evacuation and the services rendered at Pusan are outstanding and reflect high credit on each member of the command and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 302, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 12 May 1951.)

6. The 21st Transportation Car Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 17 July 1950 to 31 January 1951. Throughout this period, the 21st Transportation Car Company furnished Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, with passenger transportation and messenger service. The vehicles of the organization traveled approximately 2,100,000 miles over the rough Korean roads. The problem of shortage of parts for vehicles was overcome by the superior mechanical ability and initiative of the members of this unit, thereby establishing a constant and efficient passenger transportation and messenger service. The motor pool located in the Eighth Army compound is a superior product of the work of this unit. The motor pool, by far the most outstanding in Korea, has been a constant source of praise because of its beauty in appearance and its orderliness of operation. The 21st Transportation Car Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The officers and enlisted men of this unit, by their aggressiveness, ingenuity, and resourcefulness, overcame all obstacles and fulfilled all assigned missions in a superior manner, which reflect great credit on themselves, the Transportation Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 381, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 1 June 1951.)

7. The 24th Replacement Company, 24th Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 16 September 1950 to 15 March 1951. Throughout this phase of combat operations, the 24th Replacement Company processed over 11,500 replacements for elements of the command. Often the company operated close to the front lines, and on numerous occasions in several echelons, widely dispersed, and far from railheads and receiving points to insure the expeditious and effective flow of replacements to the front-line elements of the division. Although seriously hampered by inadequate road and rail nets throughout Korea and frequent movements because of the ever-changing complexion of the campaign, the personnel of the organization solved the many and varied problems inherent in such an operation through their selfless devotion to duty, and in so doing contributed most materially to the successful accomplishment of the division's mission. The company, in addition to the normal detailed processing involved, conducted a brief course of orientation for immediate entry into combat and, during the latter portion of the period, operated training cycles designed to acquaint all replacements with the type of fighting in which they would be engaged. In addition to this monumental task, the unit processed over 1,400 Republic of Korea troops for integration into the division. The 24th Replacement Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The zeal, superior performance, and complete devotion to duty displayed by all ranks of the 24th Replacement Company, 24th Infantry Division, during this phase of the campaign reflect great credit on themselves and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 321, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 17 May 1951.)

8. The 24th Signal Company, 24th Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 16 September 1950 to 15 March 1951. During this period, the company was confronted with the responsibility of installing and maintaining communications to support the 24th Infantry Division in its sundry combat duties. Difficulties exceeded those normally encountered. The suddenness with which the division was drawn from occupation duties and committed to battle found the company short of immediate supplies and equipment for expanded combat needs. There was also the handicap of inexperienced Signal Corps men. The battle grounds likewise presented unsurpassed difficulties. Valuable supplies and equipment were often lost during early withdrawals. In addition, installing communications through flooded rice paddies and over rivers and rugged mountains required the greatest effort from each member of the company. Under these conditions the 24th Signal Company met the technical requirements which enabled the division to accomplish its mission. Mobile carrier systems were constructed for very high frequency terminal and relay operations, radio operators trained, wire networks installed, and materials salvaged for reuse. Messenger schedules were established to augment, broaden, and assure necessary communications under hazardous combat conditions. The 24th Signal Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The outstanding skill, success, and achievements of the 24th Signal Company, 24th Infantry Division, reflect credit on the unit, its members, individually, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 350, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 26 May 1951.)

9. The 114th Quartermaster Graves Registration Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 25 November 1950 to 25 May 1951. As a result of careful devotion to duty and tireless efforts of the men of the 114th Quartermaster Graves Registration Company, the dead of United Nations Forces were interred in suitable sites in accordance with the customs of the various member nations. When it was decided to establish one central United Nations Cemetery to accommodate all interments in Korea, the task of preparing and maintaining this cemetery was given to the 114th Quartermaster Graves Registration Company. In an extremely short period of time while still remaining operational, the company transformed a bleak hilltop into a dignified and beautiful cemetery in keeping with the reverent spirit in which the United Nations Forces regard their honored dead. The 114th Quartermaster Graves Registration Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The excellence with which this company has performed its outstanding duties reflects great credit on itself and the United States Army. (General Orders 344, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 25 May 1951.)

10. The 117th Station Hospital is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater from September 1943 to April 1944. In September 1943, this unit was assigned the mission of preparing ground for and constructing and operating a 500-bed station hospital at the site of former Koki Mission, Port Moresby, New Guinea. With energy and enthusiasm, the unit set about the complex task of construction, rehabilitation, and improvement of an abandoned tent hospital, which was then in a miserable state of repair and sanitation. In 43 days, the area had been cleared and drained, 50 buildings had been constructed, and 30 structures remodelled for the reception of wounded battle casualties. The accomplishment of this task was undertaken and completed by a force of 150 Army Medical Service officers and men hastily recruited from personnel whose training had been entirely along professional medical lines. More than 2,400 casualties cleared the facility in the first 2 months of operation. Construction and rehabilitation continued and a total of 115 buildings were completed for occupancy by early April 1944. Patients were routed to the installation for treatment from battle areas in New Guinea, New Britain, and the Admiralty Islands because of the high caliber of its professional service. The entire hospital staff was imbued with the basic ideal that care of the wounded was of the utmost primary importance and this paramount objective obtained throughout the entire period. The accomplishment of this contributory mission is attributable to the persistent and aggressive efforts of the members of this organization, and their achievement places the unit above and beyond those of a similar type who meet normal requirements. The consistently high standard of operating efficiency, teamwork, morale, discipline, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on the 117th Station Hospital and the Army of the United States.

11. The 162d Ordnance Maintenance Company, 2d Engineer Special Brigade, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period 14 August 1950 to 14 February 1951. Assigned the mission of providing ordnance maintenance and supply support for the 2d Engineer Special Brigade, attached units, and divisional elements of the X Corps, the unit performed its many assignments with outstanding success. The speed and efficiency with which all jobs were accomplished materially contributed to the success of the X Corps in its amphibious landing at Inchon, the capture of Seoul, and later operations against the opposing enemy. The 162d Ordnance Maintenance Company, 2d Engineer Special Brigade, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. 12. Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 192d Ordnance Battalion, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 30 June to 31 December 1950. The unit moved from Kobe, Japan, to Pusan, Korea, on 8 July, and immediately established recognition through its extraordinary devotion to duty. Under the critical conditions imposed by the tactical situation, this unit issued matériel for field units from ships and trucks within 8 hours after arrival. Continuous operations were immediately initiated to help alleviate the demand for matériel and equipment imposed by heavy combat losses. Members of the unit worked fervently to support combat necessities. The unit initiated the processing and hiring of approximately 3,000 indigenous laborers, clerks, mechanics, and technical personnel. The unit's task of supply and maintenance of ordnance matériel for all United Nations Forces in Korea was performed with such skill and ingenuity as to be reflected in the combat effectiveness of the units served. The morale and discipline of the detachment was consistently superior. Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 192d Ordnance Battalion, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The mission of directing, coordinating, planning, and supervising the ordnance logistical support of the United Nations Forces was imposed upon this hastily activated unit because of the critical nature of the tactical situation. It immediately proceeded to acquit itself with distinction by providing the necessary control to provide unified and comprehensive direction to the ordnance operations. This achievement was made possible only by the genuine devotion to duty evidenced by this entire organization and manifested by exceptional diligence over sustained periods. Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 226th Ordnance Base Depot, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The exceptionally meritorious service of this unit reflects great credit on itself, the Ordnance Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 407, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 6 June 1951.)

14. The 287th Signal Company, 2d Engineer Special Brigade, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period August 1950 to February 1951. The 287th Signal Company was assigned the mission of providing all signal communications for the 2d Engineer Special Brigade, and frequently called upon to extend its network far beyond normal capabilities. The company installed and operated all signal communications in the city of Inchon during the assault landing at that port. This included complete signal communications for all units of the brigade, the 1st Marine Division, naval units, and the 3d Logistical Command. In addition, the unit installed an internal wire communication system at the prisoner of war stockade at Inchon, and a telephone line from Inchon to Yongdongpo. The unit was able to provide and maintain communication facilities to meet the extensive needs of combat requirements. These communications were indispensable to the brigade. The high degree of skill, morale, discipline, and will to work displayed by members of the company during this period were exemplary. The 287th Signal Company, 2d Engineer Special Brigade, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. 15. The 330th Ordnance Depot Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 25 September 1950 to 24 March 1951. During this period, the unit furnished ordnance supply support for the X Corps operation from Inchon landing. When further tactical missions were planned, the unit was split in half. One section was assigned to X Corps as the only ordnance supply support for the Wonsan and Hamhung operation and the remaining section was left to operate Ordnance Base Depot Number 2 for the Port of Inchon to support all Eighth Army units while other ordnance field depots were moving up from the south. Only sincere devotion to duty and aggressive initiative overcame the tremendous supply problems which arose because of the nature of these operations and the shortage of men, equipment, and supplies. Upon the completion of the X Corps operations at Hungnam, the company was reunited and, although under strength, continued to furnish ordnance support to X Corps and Eighth Army units in a superior manner. The 330th Ordnance Depot Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. 16. The 363d Medical Composite Detachment (Laboratory) is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater from March to December 1945. Specially selected by The Surgeon General to proceed direct from the United States to Luzon, Philippine Islands, this outstanding unit was given the comprehensive and difficult mission of setting up operations in the devastated and war-torn Santo Tomas University in Manila. With energy and aggressiveness, the personnel of the unit achieved such admirable results in the initial construction and rehabilitation of the site that operations commenced on 1 June 1945, without any target date having been set by higher authority. Receiving 900 specimens for clinical pathological examination the first day, the unit completed more than 120,000 technical procedures in the first 4 months of operation. The ability to handle adequately and expeditiously all clinical laboratory procedures on Central Luzon for the military and civilian population is attributable to the outstanding capacity for planning, the intensive training received prior to arrival, and the esprit de corps consistently maintained by the personnel of the entire unit. The accomplishment of this complex mission was an attainment above and beyond the performance normally expected from a unit of this type. The continually high standard of operating efficiency, teamwork, morale, discipline, and devotion to duty demonstrated by the 363d Medical Composite Detachment (Laboratory) reflect great credit on itself and the Army of the United States.

17. The 450th Engineer Depot Company is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater from January to August 1944. This unit faced the momentous task of supplying tonnages of engineer materials to combat units approximately five times as large as those for which it was originally and normally activated. It functioned continuously, capably, and efficiently in the administration and supervision of many difficult types of labor; in the maintenance of accurate stock-record accounts under adverse conditions; in its ingenuity in the manufacture of scarce items; and in the redesigning of supply operations to more adequately provide for combat forces through a simple, flexible, and expeditious system. The 450th Engineer Depot Company's consistently

In addition, this company acted as air evacuation holding installations on seven airstrips in Korea. One of its platoons moved via air from Taegu to Anju to assist in the evacuation of United Nations patients from the K-29 airstrip. Its platoons offered close support to the mobile army surgical hospitals in their mission of direct support of combat divisions. The personnel of this unit through their high devotion to duty, efficiency of operation, and desire to see a task well done processed over 27,000 United Nations casualties. The 514th Medical Clearing Company (Separate) displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The professional standards, effectiveness, and versatility displayed by the members of this company in the performance of their duties reflect great credit on themselves, the Army Medical Service, and the military service of the United States. Displaying extraordinary devotion to duty and superior operating ability, this unit met all challenges and successfully overcame them despite an acute shortage of spare parts and personnel. The handicap of spare-parts shortages was alleviated by establishing a salvage crew to acquire parts from abandoned and damaged equipment. Successful accomplishment of their missions reflects extraordinary qualities of skill, cooperation, determination, and efficiency of the company. The 538th Engineer Maintenance Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The 622d Military Police Company, 1 Corps, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 23 September 1950 to 23 March 1951. During this period, the 622d Military Police Company provided traffic control throughout the corps area, assisted in control and screening of refugees, and evacuation of prisoners of war. These tasks were performed under very difficult conditions over a greatly extended area and inadequate transportation facilities. On several occasions it was necessary to channel all traffic over a single one-way bridge, which called for exceptional ability on the part of the military police to keep the traffic moving. The fact that supplies and troop movements continued without interruption is in a large measure a reflection of the devotion to duty and proficiency of the members of this company. The 622d Military Police Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. Under exacting and urgent conditions, the 725th Ordnance Maintenance Company achieved its outstanding effectiveness under the hazards of enemy fire, inadequate supplies, and partially trained personnel. Heavy combat material losses were alleviated by the rapid on-the-spot repairs made by the contact teams and by the diligence and extreme devotion to duty of all personnel. Damaged and inoperative equipment was evacuated, frequently under enemy fire, and returned to service expeditiously. Through perseverance, ingenuity, and technical skill, arduous tasks were met with challenge and successfully performed. The 725th Ordnance Maintenance Company, 25th Infantry Division, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The success of this unit was revealed by the combat effectiveness of the units it served, and its extraordinary qualities of skill, cooperation, determination, and marked efficiency reflect credit on each individual member, the Ordnance Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 399, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 4 June 1951.)

22. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8055th Army Unit, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 6 July 1950 to 6 January 1951. This hospital, the first of its type to land in Korea, under extremely adverse conditions, fulfilled its primary mission of offering surgical treatment and hospitalization to front-line combat elements in a highly commendable manner. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8055th Army Unit, moved 15 times during this period in order to be available to front-line combat units, and provided treatment for more than 10,980 patients. Problems such as shortages of personnel and equipment, inadequate transportation, and an unusually large influx of casualties were handled expeditiously. The personnel of this hospital cheerfully performed their various tasks with efficiency and thoroughness, which resulted in exemplary medical service and the saving of many lives. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8055th Army Unit, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. (General Orders 401, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 5 June 1951.)

23. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8063d Army Unit, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 7 July 1950 to 7 May 1951. During this period, the Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8063d Army Unit, was required to operate in no less than 14 different areas in close support of front-line divisions, including an amphibious landing and the airdrop of the 187th Regimental Combat Team in the Sukchon area. This created many difficult problems of supply and medical procedures, which were overcome by diligent and aggressive action by each member of the hospital. Over 13,000 patients were admitted and over 2,000 surgical procedures were performed. The personnel performed around-the-clock operations to accomplish its assigned mission. The hospital personnel operated effectively under all conditions, rendering outstanding service in the care of the sick and wounded. As a result, their superior performance and devotion to duty saved many lives which otherwise would have been lost. The high medical standards set by the Army Medical Service were maintained at all times and in many instances surpassed. The battalion supervised the operation of eight troop trains, including mess facilities. Clubs, recreational facilities, and educational and orientation programs were established for replacements. Hospital returnees for all United Nations were reequipped and returned to their proper stations. In addition to the normal replacement duties, the battalion provided for the implementation of the rotation program. The 8069th Replacement Battalion displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. Through the outstanding achievements of the battalion, its members reflect credit on themselves, their organization, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 406, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 6 June 1951.)

25. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8076th Army Unit, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the period 25 July 1950 to 11 May 1951. During this period, the Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8076th Army Unit, functioned in close support of front-line units, rendering outstanding medical services. Its primary mission was to perform as a 60-bed surgical hospital; however, in many instances the hospital assumed the additional responsibilities of an evacuation hospital without loss of operational efficiency. Between 2 August and 5 October at Miryang, the hospital furnished forward hospital support for all front-line troops, except the 25th Infantry Division, admitting 5,674 patients and in one 24-hour period handled 244 surgical procedures. On another occasion, this hospital processed 608 patients in 1 day. A total of 15,000 patients were cared for during the 9 months this hospital was in operation, and the medical service rendered to the United Nations Forces was of the highest caliber. Under all types of conditions, this hospital displayed outstanding initiative and aggressive action in performing its many missions. Although the hospital was required to operate in no less than 13 different areas in close medical support of front-line units, its effectiveness and efficiency excelled the high standards set by the Army Medical Service. The Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, 8076th Army Unit, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The efficiency, effectiveness and versatility shown by the members of the hospital in the performance of their assigned missions reflect great credit on themselves, the Army Medical Service, and the military service of the United States. The citation reads as follows:

Company E, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in action against the armed enemy in the vicinity of Wonju, Korea, on 14 February 1951. Company E was assigned the mission of repulsing a Chinese communist force which had overrun elements of a United Nations regiment on Hills 240 and 255. Intelligence reports indicated that the mission of the Chinese force was to seize the city of Wonju. Company E received orders to attack and secure Hill 240. This was quickly accomplished and the hill occupied. Company E then was ordered to seize the secure Hill 255. The first and third platoons were used as assault elements. The enemy force consisted of a battalion occupying dug-in positions on the reverse slope. The two platoons closed on the enemy in hand-to-hand combat, utilizing hand grenades, rifles, pistols, and bayonets. In the savage, close combat which ensued, the enemy suffered appalling casualties and was forced to fall back in disorder in the face of this determined attack. Company E, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing its mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set it apart and above other units participating in the action. Their extraordinary heroism, ability, and achievements are in keeping with the fine traditions of airborne units and reflect credit on each courageous soldier and the military service of the United States. VI. DISTINGUISHED-FLYING CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Distinguished-Flying Cross (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroism while participating in aerial flight during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Anthony A. Rozga, O421653, Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in Kyushu, Japan, on 29 October 1949. When a soldier was critically wounded by a flying shell fragment while on maneuvers, Major Rozga immediately volunteered to fly the soldier to a station hospital at Kyushu, through a predicted storm and over an unmarked route across several mountain ranges during darkness. Despite strong headwinds and extremely unfavorable flying conditions, he was successful in getting within a few miles of his destination before being forced to land because of the lack of gasoline. While landing in what he thought was an open area, the airplane struck a telephone line. Nevertheless, by skillful maneuvering, Major Rozga landed without injury to himself or his patient, but the aircraft was wrecked beyond repair. His technical ability and willingness to undertake an extremely dangerous mission were directly responsible for saving the soldier's life. Major Rozga's courageous action and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

VII. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Sergeant J. T. Jones (Service No. RA38788573), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 279th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism on 8 January 1951 at Camp Polk, Louisiana. While acting as instructor of throwing pits Nos. 1 and 3 on the hand-grenade range, he observed a soldier attempting to throw an activated fragmentation grenade, which lodged on a sandbag of pit No. 1. With complete disregard for his safety, Sergeant Jones brushed the armed grenade from the sandbag and pushed the soldier down into the pit so that he would not be injured by the explosion. The soldier started to crawl from the pit and Sergeant Jones again at great hazard to himself tackled and fell upon him, shielding him from the exploding grenade. Sergeant Jones' prompt, determined action in the face of great danger reflects distinct credit on himself and the military service.

Major Luther D. Shaw, O464434 (then captain), Ordnance Department, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters and Service Company, 3d Battalion, 302d Ordnance Regiment (Base), distinguished himself by heroism aboard an Army transport at sea on 12 February 1943. En route in convoy to an oversea destination, the vessel was rammed and a large hole torn in the starboard side, exposing three decks to inundation. Major Shaw led a detail of men to the flooded area awash with waves from the sea, and, with complete disregard for his safety, succeeded in removing the dead and injured from the area. Major Shaw's courageous actions during this emergency reflect distinct credit on himself and the military service.

Sergeant Merwin F. Williams (Service No. RA39192666), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of Company A, 231st Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism on 16 January 1951 at Fort Lewis, Washington. While acting as a coach on the hand-grenade range, he noticed a live grenade roll into his pit. With complete disregard for his safety, he grasped the grenade with his left hand and attempted to throw it from the pit. Before he could dispose of the grenade it exploded, severing his left hand at the wrist and inflicting other painful injuries. Sergeant Williams' prompt, determined action in the face of great danger saved his comrade from critical injury and reflects distinct credit on himself and the military service.

VIII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., O139726, United States Army, assistant division commander, 1st Infantry Division, distinguished himself by heroism in action at Les Andalouses, Algeria, North Africa, on 8 November 1942. In command of an infantry regimental task force which made an assault landing during the invasion of North Africa, he directed the operations of the assault wave which established the beachhead. Immediately thereafter, he joined the leading battalion which was advancing under sporadic small-arms fire toward its objective, the top of Djebel Murdjadjo. General Roosevelt, seeing the battalion slowed by enemy fire, drove forward by jeep beyond the point of the advance guard to reconnoiter. While thus engaged, his party was attacked by an enemy cavalry patrol. Exposed to hostile fire, he held his position and engaged the enemy with small-arms fire until the hostile patrol withdrew. General Roosevelt's courage and leadership were a source of inspiration to his command and reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

IX. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Major Will G. Atwood, Jr., O25067, Infantry, United States Army. 21 to 28 January 1945.

Major James O. Bagg, O24132, Quartermaster Corps, United States Army. September 1944 to July 1945.

Colonel Frederick D. Sharp, O8649, Artillery, United States Army. February to November 1943. (This award supersedes the award of the Commendation Ribbon (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Colonel Sharp, announced in Letter Orders, G-2, War Department General Staff, 10 April 1946.)

Lieutenant Colonel Richard W. Waters, O330745 (then major), Signal Corps, Army of the United States. August 1944 to August 1945.

Lieutenant Colonel John A. Williams, O42257 (then major), Cavalry (General Staff Corps), United States Army. March to April 1945.

2. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Freeman H. Kinley (Service No. 34932798) (then private), Infantry, Army of the United States. 25 February 1945.

X. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Gilbert A. Scheetz (Service No. 33836308), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company E, 351st Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic conduct in action in the Mount Delle Formiche Sector near Highway 65, Italy, on 18 November 1944. Returning to his unit from the hospital, he joined the mule train carrying supplies to his company. As the pack train moved along a tortuous trail, it was subjected to intense enemy artillery and mortar fire, which caused panic among the mules and the native mule-skinner. Private Scheetz, disregarding the intense shelling, moved to the head of the train and leading one mule forward at a time reached his company with the badly needed supplies. The courage and devotion to duty displayed by Private Scheetz reflects distinct credit upon himself and his organization.

2. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant Harold W. Ziel (Service No. 36207623) (then corporal), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 128th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism during the attack on the Buna-Gona area, New Guinea, on 20 November 1943. When ammunition for his machine-gun squad was nearly exhausted and all efforts to send resupply forward had failed, he left his covered position and passed twice through an area exposed to heavy enemy machine-gun fire to resupply the guns. Sergeant Ziel's heroic efforts enabled his unit to hold its forward position and reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By Direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-name enlisted man:

Sergeant John A. Pittman (Service No. RA14267588), United States Army, a member of the 2d Platoon, Company C, 23d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Kujang-dong, Korea, on 26 November 1950. He volunteered to lead his squad in a counterattack to regain commanding terrain lost in an earlier engagement. Moving aggressively forward in the face of intense artillery, mortar, and small-arms fire, he was wounded by mortar fragments. Disregarding his wounds, he continued to lead and direct his men in a bold advance against the hostile strong point. During this daring action, an enemy grenade was thrown in the midst of his squad, endangering the lives of his comrades. Without hesitation, Sergeant Pittman threw himself on the grenade and absorbed its burst with his body. When a medical aid man reached him, his first request was to be informed as to how many of his men were hurt. This intrepid and selfless act saved several of his men from death or serious injury and was an inspiration to the entire command. Sergeant Pittman's extraordinary heroism reflects the highest credit on himself and is in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant Ernest R. Kouma (Service No. RA7060531) (then sergeant first class), United States Army, a tank commander in Company A, 72d Tank Battalion, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Agok, Korea, on 31 August and 1 September 1950. His unit was engaged in supporting infantry elements on the Naktong River front. Near midnight on 31 August, a hostile force estimated at 500 crossed the river and launched a fierce attack against the infantry positions, inflicting heavy casualties. A withdrawal was ordered and his armored unit was given the mission of covering the movement until a secondary position could be established. The enemy assault overran two tanks, destroyed one, and forced another to withdraw. Suddenly Sergeant Kouma discovered that his tank was the only obstacle in the path of the hostile onslaught. Holding his ground, he gave fire orders to his crew and remained in position throughout the night, fighting off repeated enemy attacks. During one fierce assault, the enemy surrounded his tank and he leaped from the armored turret, exposing himself to a hail of hostile fire, manned the .50 caliber machine gun mounted on the rear deck, and delivered point-blank fire into the fanatical foe. His machine gun emptied, he fired his pistol and threw grenades to keep the enemy from his tank. After more than 9 hours of constant combat and close-in fighting, he withdrew his vehicle to friendly lines. During the withdrawal through 8 miles of hostile territory, Sergeant Kouma continued to inflict casualties upon the enemy and exhausted his ammunition in destroying three hostile machine-gun positions. During this action, Sergeant Kouma killed an estimated 250 enemy soldiers. His magnificent stand allowed the infantry sufficient time to reestablish defensive positions. Rejoining his company, although suffering intensely from his wounds, he attempted to resupply his tank and return to the battle area. While being evacuated for medical treatment, his courage was again displayed when he requested to return to the front. Sergeant Kouma's superb leadership, heroism, and intense devotion to duty reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Carl H. Dodd, O2262354 (then second lieutenant), Company E, 5th Infantry Regiment, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Subuk, Korea, on 30 and 31 January 1951. Lieutenant Dodd, given the responsibility of spearheading an attack to capture Hill 256, a key terrain feature defended by a well-armed, crafty foe who had withstood several previous assaults, led his platoon forward over hazardous terrain under hostile small-arms, mortar, and artillery fire from well-camouflaged enemy emplacements, which reached such intensity that his men faltered. With utter disregard for his safety, Lieutenant Dodd moved among his men, reorganized and encouraged them, and then single-handedly charged the first hostile machine-gun nest, killing or wounding all its occupants. Inspired by his incredible courage, his platoon responded magnificently and, fixing bayonets and throwing grenades, closed on the enemy and wiped out every hostile position as it moved relentlessly onward to its initial objective. Securing the first series of enemy positions, Lieutenant Dodd again reorganized his platoon and led them across a narrow ridge and onto Hill 256. Firing his rifle and throwing grenades, he advanced at the head of his platoon, despite the intense, concentrated hostile fire, which was brought to bear on their narrow avenue of approach. When his platoon was still 200 yards from the objective, he moved ahead and with his last grenade destroyed an enemy mortar, killing the crew. Darkness then halted the advance, but at daybreak Lieutenant Dodd, again boldly advancing ahead of his unit, led the platoon through a dense fog against the remaining hostile positions. With bayonet and grenades, he continued to set the pace without regard for the danger to his life, until he and his troops had eliminated the last of the defenders and had secured the final objective. Lieutenant Dodd's superb leadership and extraordinary heroism inspired his men to overcome this strong enemy defense, reflect the highest credit on himself, and uphold the esteemed traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION—Citation of units-----	Section

I. DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION.—1. As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 35th Infantry Regiment with the following-attached units: 25th Reconnaissance Troop and 64th Field Artillery Battalion are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Guadalcanal, British Solomon Islands, from 10 to 23 January 1943. The regiment making the main effort of the division attacked the south flank of the long prepared and tenaciously defended Japanese positions in the vicinity of Mount Austen. The core of these positions was the Gifu strong point most heavily defended hostile bastion on the island. Containing this position with a reinforced battalion, the remainder of the regiment forced its way through almost impassable jungle terrain to attack the Sea Horse, an important supporting center of resistance in the enemy's defense line. Continuing the advance despite lack of supplies, exceptionally difficult terrain, and vicious counterattacks, the Sea Horse was secured and the strong enemy pocket east of the Sea Horse, which offered extremely stubborn resistance, overrun in hand-to-hand fighting. Consolidating this last position the advance was continued to the corps' objective. Meanwhile, the containing force had enveloped and fixed the Gifu strong point. The enemy firmly entrenched in well-camouflaged, log-reinforced pillboxes contested every foot of the ground. Relentlessly pressing the assault, the battalion supported by timely and accurate artillery fire finally broke the hostile line of pillboxes. Faced with annihilation, the enemy made a desperate attempt to cut his way out of the strong point, but the battalion held its position, smashed the fanatical attack, and, taking the offensive, overwhelmed the remaining defenders. The regiment in its first engagement killed over 1,100 Japanese, destroyed great quantities of enemy equipment, and broke the south anchor of the enemy's main defense line. The distinguished heroism, determined devotion to duty, and outstanding results achieved by the 35th Infantry Regiment and its supporting units were a major contribution to the success of the operations on Guadalcanal and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

2. As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following units in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citations read as follows:

The 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, 2d Infantry Division, is cited for extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of duty in action against the armed enemy in the vicinity of Chipyeong-ni, Korea, during the period 30 January to 2 February 1951. During this period, the unit was advancing to the north as a part of the 23d Regimental Combat Team with the mission of locating and engaging the Forty-Second Chinese Army. The 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, supported by artillery and tanks, began the attack from the Chongsan-Tanguri assembly area up the Kumdang Chon valley. Advancing to the vicinity of two railroad tunnels which cut through the north-south ridges on each side of the valley, the force halted at darkness. They began organizing and occupying positions around the tunnels. At 0450 hours on 1 February, the 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, was attacked by a large force of Chinese infantry, screaming, blowing bugles, and advancing under cover of a heavy barrage of mortar and automatic-weapons fire. The Chinese broke through a gap between Companies I and L of the 3d Battalion, but were immediately thrown back by a determined counterattack which the battalion launched at the point of the bayonet. The enemy deployed more forces until the entire 374th Chinese Infantry Regiment was committed. They pressed the attack against the position for 8 hours. Many times they reached the crest of the ridges only to meet a hail of hand grenades and point-blank fire from the gallant defenders. The crisis came in the early afternoon with the 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, still under pressure and no air support available because of heavy ground fog. However, at this time the fog lifted and 24 fighter aircraft strafed and bombed the enemy. Observed mortar and artillery fire was placed on the masses of attacking troops. Under this merciless hail of fire, the enemy broke off the engagement and withdrew at 1800 hours on 1 February, just as a supporting United States battalion arrived from the south. On the next day, more than 600 dead Chinese were counted in front of the positions of the 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, and many more were known to have been killed or wounded. As a result of the gallant stand of the 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, the enemy was prevented from breaking through to the command post rear areas. The position was intact, and the 374th Chinese Infantry Regiment was practically destroyed. This action eliminated the 125th Chinese Infantry Division as an effective fighting force, and enabled the 23d Regimental Combat Team to continue its advance. The extraordinary heroism, aggressiveness, and determination displayed by the 3d Battalion, 23d Infantry Regiment, 2d Infantry Division, reflect great credit on itself and each courageous soldier, and are in keeping with the fine combat traditions of the United States Army. (General Orders 265, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea (Eusak), 3 May 1951.)

The 3d Battalion, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, and the following attached units: 3d Platoon, Company A, 127th Engineers, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, 2d Section, Antitank Gun Platoon, Support Company, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the armed enemy near Sukchon, Korea from 20 to 22 October 1950. On 20 October, these units were a part of a force which made an airborne assault behind enemy lines. The units parachuted at 1500 hours and seized their initial objectives by 1730 hours, 20 October. On 21 October, the 3d Battalion, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, and the attached units were given the mission of moving south toward Pyongyang to occupy blocking positions and prevent the enemy from escaping to the north. To accomplish this mission, it was necessary for the units to move south a distance of 8 miles and at the same time clear the enemy from the two principal routes of advance: the railroad and the Seoul-Pyongyang highway. Company I, plus half of Company M, was given the mission of clearing the railroad; Company K, plus half of Company M, the main road. Company I (reinforced) moved aggressively to a point north of Opari where it engaged and drove back an enemy outpost. This uncovered a well dug-in enemy force by battalion size supported by heavy mortars and 40-mm guns. Company I (reinforced) pressed its attack, but an enemy flanking attack in overwhelming numbers forced the company to take up positions on the high ground to the west to prevent encirclement. In this action, Company I (reinforced) killed 200 enemy and so disrupted the enemy flanking attack that the enemy broke contact. In the meantime, Company K (reinforced) encountered an enemy force of two companies. The company's vigorous attack forced the enemy to withdraw to an area south of Yongyu. In pursuit of the enemy, Company K (reinforced) moved into Yongyu and took up positions on the high ground north of the town. In this action, Company K (reinforced) killed 150 enemy and captured a large quantity of enemy supplies. During the hours of darkness, the enemy regrouped his elements into a force of regimental size. During the period from 0115 to 0400 hours, 22 October, the enemy launched four attacks against the positions held by Company K (reinforced). All four attacks were repulsed with a loss to the enemy of 100 killed and many wounded. The enemy moved the bulk of his forces north around the west flank of Company K (reinforced) in an effort to make good his escape. However, once more he found his route blocked, this time by Company L and Headquarters Company. This attack was pressed with fanatical determination, despite staggering losses. By 1100 hours, the enemy force had been annihilated by the withering fire from Company L and Headquarters Company. In front of these two companies lay 450 enemy dead. The action of the 3d Battalion and attached units during this period resulted in killing 805 enemy, taking 681 prisoners, capturing a Russian-made radar set, thirty-four 82-mm mortars, four 120-mm mortars, 12 cargo trucks, and numerous machine guns and rifles. The 239th North Korean Regiment along with remnants of the 2d North Korean Regiment were eliminated as an effective fighting force. The aggressive, determined spirit displayed by the members of the 3d Battalion and attached units in the face of overwhelming odds in closing with and destroying the enemy set an example for airborne operations. Their combined efforts were of such significance that a determined attempt by the enemy to flee to the north was thwarted. The personal bravery by the members of these units was of such compelling consequence that they distinguished themselves on the field of battle and demonstrated a superb mastery of airborne tactics, terrain evaluation, and employment of weapons. The 3d Battalion, 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment, and attached units displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set them apart and above other units participating in the action. Their extraordinary heroism and achievements reflect credit on themselves, their units, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 293, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 9 May 1951.)

The 3d Battalion, 397th Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding and exceptional accomplishment in combat during the period 1 to 5 January 1945 in the Bitché sector, near Rimling, France. The 100th Division was assigned the mission of defending against an expected enemy attack in force, which had as its objective the capture of Saverne Pass, a vital terrain feature in the Seventh Army front. The 3d Battalion, 397th Infantry Regiment, occupied a defensive position on the left flank of the division. Suddenly, at midnight on New Year's Eve, the enemy (17th SS Pz Gren Div) launched a heavy and fanatical attack, the main effort of which encompassed the 3d Battalion and units on its left. The unit on the left of the 3d Battalion was driven back during the course of the day some 5,000 yards. Because of the width of the front, reserves were not available to fill the gap. A platoon of the left company was overrun by the enemy tank-infantry assault, and the enemy infiltrated in force into Rimling, behind the lines of the 3d Battalion. Notwithstanding the exposed and tactically disadvantageous position in which the 3d Battalion found itself, it succeeded in restoring its lines and capturing or killing all of the infiltrating enemy. For 5 days the 3d Battalion, in this exposed position, was subjected to repeated attacks from the front, flank, and rear by enemy tanks and infantry accompanied by mortar and artillery fire. Repeated attacks by troops of this division and the division on the left to reestablish the line and make contact with the left flank of the 3d Battalion failed. The 3d Battalion, nearly surrounded, still held on, despite heavy losses and a disadvantageous tactical situation, which warranted withdrawal. However, in doing so, it inflicted such heavy losses upon the enemy and impressed upon him so successfully the will of our troops to hold on, that further offensive action on this part of the front by the enemy was discontinued. The action of the 3d Battalion, therefore, played a decisive role in thwarting the enemy from attaining his vital objective of Saverne Pass and enabled the division to hold its position without a serious change in dispositions. The extraordinary heroism, determination, esprit de corps, and effective fighting displayed by the 3d Battalion, 397th Infantry Regiment, in successfully accomplishing this unusual and rugged task were an inspiration to other troops in the sector and reflect the greatest credit on the Armed Forces of the United States. (General Orders 183, Headquarters, 100th Infantry Division, 27 June 1945.)

Headquarters Battery, A Battery, and the 1st Ammunition Train Section of Service Battery, 90th Field Artillery Battalion, 25th Infantry Division, are cited for outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in action against the armed enemy in the vicinity of Pongam-ni, Korea, on 11 and 12 August 1950. On these dates, the units operated as a part of the 5th Regimental Combat Team with the mission of supporting the 555th Field Artillery Battalion. The 90th Field Artillery Battalion (minus) moved forward to attack enemy positions on 7 August. The attack progressed favorably until the early morning of 11 August, when the enemy launched a strong, coordinated counterattack centered on the artillery positions. Following an intense mortar barrage and fire from small arms and automatic weapons, the enemy assaulted the artillery positions in a frenzied banzai charge. Two howitzers of A Battery immediately began to fire illuminating missions, while another howitzer was turned in the direction of the attack to silence the automatic weapons of the enemy. The enemy overran machine-gun positions on the battalion perimeter and gained control of surrounding high ground by infiltration. From this position, the enemy delivered a terrific volume of fire from automatic weapons. The battalion engaged the onrushing enemy from a distance of 100 yards. Under point-blank fire, the fanatical enemy was forced to withdraw, leaving a heavy toll of dead and wounded in the battalion position. The battalion remained in position and continued to fire on the enemy. The battalion command post moved a short distance to a less vulnerable position. During the night of 11-12 August, the battalion was subjected to heavy artillery and mortar fire. At approximately 0400 hours, 12 August, the enemy launched a second counterattack, supported by self-propelled artillery, tanks, mortars, and automatic weapons. By forcing friendly infantry off the surrounding high terrain, and again through successful infiltration, the enemy got into position to try to destroy the small force comprising the 90th Field Artillery Battalion. At the start of the attack, the enemy was successful in obtaining direct hits on two howitzers and several ammunition trucks of A Battery which caused many fires and ammunition explosions within the battalion perimeter. Simultaneously, the enemy launched a banzai charge from all directions, except the northeast. For the next 3½ hours, personnel of the 90th Field Artillery Battalion (minus) withstood repeated attacks by the enemy infantry, and each time they were successful in stopping the attacks with accurate fire from machine guns and small arms. Enemy casualties were heavy. Friendly aircraft arrived and fired on the enemy with rockets and machine guns. The positions, however, had become untenable, and after making sure that all wounded personnel of the battalion had been loaded on the few remaining and serviceable vehicles, the battalion withdrew under protective fire from fighter airplanes. The majority of the personnel evacuated the area on foot and provided as much protective fire for the wounded as was humanly possible. In addition to battle casualties, the extreme and torrid heat from a blazing sun added greatly to the hazards of battle. The 90th Field Artillery Battalion (minus) displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing its mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set it apart and above other units participating in the action. The extraordinary heroism displayed by the members of the 90th Field Artillery Battalion (minus) reflects great credit on themselves, their battalion, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 291, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 8 May 1951.)

Companies A and B, 1st Battalion, 5th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against the armed enemy near Kamyangjang-ni, Korea, on 30 January 1951. On 29 January, following an artillery barrage and an air strike, Company C, 5th Cavalry Regiment, advanced to within 75 yards of the objective, where they met a withering concentration of fire from small arms, automatic weapons, and mortars which forced them to take cover. The company was ordered to withdraw under the covering fire from a tank battalion. The following morning, 30 January, Company B launched a coordinated holding attack over the ground used the previous day, with Company A maneuvering to the left and making the main effort. With a section of tanks and a platoon of infantry covering its left flank, Company A advanced north up a road and turned to approach Hill 312 from the west. Forming a base of fire with the first and fourth platoons, the second and third platoons of Company B moved to the base of the hill. While Company B drew the enemy's fire, Company A moved to within 75 yards of the enemy's positions before being detected. Using the third platoon as a base of fire, Company A deployed on a small ridge under heavy fire from small-arms and automatic weapons. The fourth platoon moved its mortars to the draw behind the third platoon. At 1100 hours, the first and second platoons of Company A jumped off in the assault after the first platoon of the Heavy Mortar Company had saturated the objective with a concentration of 4.2 mortar fire. The two platoons scrambled up a steep cliff, as the enemy, in an all-out effort to repulse the attackers, fired into the advancing soldiers and showered them with grenades. Trying to avoid the exploding grenades, the troops attempted to throw them back or kick them from their path. Numerous grenades rolled farther down the slope, wounding the men below. The supporting platoons continued to lay down a heavy concentration of fire on the enemy positions as the lines reached the crest. Pushing up the last few yards, the men of the assault platoons expended their supply of grenades and with fixed bayonets moved in to clean out the enemy positions. The cavalrymen moved through the dugouts and trenches and engaged the enemy in hand-to-hand combat. With razor-sharp bayonets glittering in the sun, the gallant soldiers bayoneted and killed the communists in courageous individual assaults. Wounded men from both forces staggered from the battle lines as the struggle gained momentum. The battle hung in balance as the lines swayed back and forth on the crest of the hill. Battle cries could be heard above the noise of exploding grenades and the clanging of smashing steel blades. With fixed bayonets, members of the third platoon, Company A, were committed. Their charge overwhelmed the enemy and swept over the hill. In the confusion, many well-camouflaged fox holes were overlooked and the enemy occupying these positions stood up, threw grenades, and fired into the backs of the attackers as the line swept forward and onward. Small and desperate hand-to-hand engagements took place over the entire hill as determined troopers inflicted heavy casualties on the defending forces. By this time the assault platoons of Company B had reached the objective and assisted in mopping up and securing the hill. The bravery, courageous actions, and extraordinary heroism displayed by all members of the attacking force were far above and beyond the call of duty. Companies A and B, 1st Battalion, 5th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set them apart and above other units participating in the action. Their aggressiveness and eagerness to close with the enemy contributed materially to their decisive victory. Their extraordinary heroism and devotion to duty reflect great credit on themselves and the United States Army. (General Orders 289, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 8 May 1951.)

Company L, 5th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division;

Company A, 70th Tank Battalion (heavy);

Company D, 6th Medium Tank Battalion;

1st Squad, 1st Platoon, Company A, 8th Engineer Combat Battalion, are cited for outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in action against the armed enemy near Koksuri, Korea, on 15 February 1951. On this date, the above named units, designated "Task Force Crombez," were organized into an infantry-tank task force to drive through enemy lines and to assist the 23d Regimental Combat Team which had been encircled by the enemy but was still holding Chipyong-ni. As Task Force Crombez approached Koksuri, they encountered heavy concentrations of mortar, small-arms, and automatic-weapons fire from an estimated 2,000 enemy occupying well dug-in positions on the cliffs along the sides of the road. Rocket-launcher crews made an all-out attempt to stop the advancing column. Fanatical antitank crews, carrying satchel and pole charges, attacked the column in waves. Other enemy from positions along the high bank on the road threw hand grenades in an effort to kill off the infantry mounted on the tanks. Through skillful maneuver by the armor and excellent covering fire by the infantrymen, the infantry-tank team destroyed many enemy combat crews in dug-in positions, knocked out numerous automatic weapons and mortars, and prevented the charging enemy from mounting the tanks. Task Force Crombez smashed through the 4 miles of defensive positions, leaving a path of destruction with over 500 enemy dead, and arrived at the objective at the most psychological moment. The enemy had attacked the 23d Regimental Combat Team and had driven into their perimeter defense beyond the 155-mm howitzer battery positions. Task Force Crombez decisively defeated and repulsed the enemy attack against the beleaguered regiment in its perimeter defense of Chipyeong-ni. The intrepid bravery, outstanding fighting teamwork, and courageous actions displayed by all members of Task Force Crombez throughout the entire engagement insured the successful accomplishment of its tactical mission and the defeat of at least two enemy divisions. The units comprising Task Force Crombez displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set them apart and above other units participating in the action. Their conduct throughout this operation was a demonstration of an outstanding performance of duty; is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service; and reflects great credit on themselves, their organizations, and the United States Army. (General Orders 294, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 9 May 1951.)

The Netherlands Detachment, United Nations Forces in Korea, is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against the armed enemy at Hoengsong and Wonju, Korea, during the period 12-15 February 1951. On the early morning of 12 February, the enemy launched an offensive with two divisions aimed at splitting the central front. Against this onslaught the Netherlands Detachment had the mission of maintaining blocking positions on the outskirts of the strategically important communication center of Hoengsong. The purpose of this was to permit two American battalions, supporting artillery, and remnants of the 5th and 8th Divisions of the Republic of Korea to withdraw from their exposed positions where surrounded. The Netherlands Detachment deployed astride the main axis of the hostile advance. Large groups of hostile forces approached along the high ground from the west and on the ridges to the north. A small enemy group penetrated to the positions of the defenders, but was quickly repulsed. By noon of 12 February, the enemy had concentrated a large force in the vicinity of Hoengsong and was delivering small-arms, automatic-weapons, and mortar fire on the gallant defenders. All during the afternoon, the troops of the Netherlands Detachment supported the withdrawal of United Nations Forces by delivering accurate and effective fire. After darkness had fallen, a company of enemy troops infiltrated with the withdrawing Republic of Korea forces. They succeeded in passing around the open right flank of the detachment's positions and reaching the location of the command post. Recognizing the enemy and shouting warning to his troops, the commander of the Netherlands Detachment rallied his headquarters personnel and led his small group against the treacherous foe until he fell mortally wounded. His gallant example and self-sacrifice so inspired the staff-personnel that they repelled the enemy and killed many of them in fierce hand-to-hand combat. The battered and courageous troops withdrew to successive blocking positions until the last of the friendly forces broke through the enemy lines. The enemy meanwhile had infiltrated to the southwest and established a road block on the main supply route to Wonju. Once more, the valiant troops of the Netherlands Detachment were ordered to fight a rear-guard action and hold the enemy until the road block could be eliminated. They fought tenaciously against overwhelming odds, and gained time for friendly forces to open the road. Utilizing 13 February to establish new defensive positions, the Netherlands Detachment dug in and waited for the next onslaught, which came against Company B early on the morning of 14 February. The company was forced back until friendly mortar and artillery fire could be brought to bear on the Chinese attackers. The situation became critical by the evening of 14 February. The enemy was in full control of Hill 325, a dominate terrain feature overlooking the friendly position. Communications were disrupted, losses heavy, and the situation fluid. At this time, Company A, so understrength that it had to be reinforced by a platoon from both Company B and the Heavy Mortar Company, was ordered to retake the hill. Launching their first counterattack at 0230 hours on the morning of 15 February, they were beaten back by heavy machine-gun fire from the top of the hill. They moved up again at 0345 hours. This time they advanced to within 300 yards of the crest, only to be repulsed for the second time. At 0600 hours, after two set-backs and three sleepless nights of fighting, this noble band of heroic men, short of ammunition and out of communications, snatched victory from defeat by fixing bayonets and storming the hill. Shouting their famous "Van Heutz" battle cry, they slashed their way to the crest of the hill through the last of the remaining enemy. The inspiring and determined actions of the brave soldiers of the Netherlands Detachment withstood the enemy offensive and enabled allied forces to withdraw and regroup. The Netherlands Detachment displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing its mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The individual and collective heroism displayed by the soldiers of the Netherlands Detachment in their valiant stand against great odds reflect the highest credit on themselves, their homeland, and the Armed Forces of the United Nations. (General Orders 298, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 10 May 1951.)

II. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATIONS.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following units of the United States Army for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated. The citations read as follows:

Company A, 14th Engineer Combat Battalion, is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations from July 1950 to April 1951. During this period, beginning with its duties as port company supporting the landing of the 1st Cavalry Division at Pohang Dong, Company A, 14th Engineer Combat Battalion, expanded its repertoire of duties to include the demolition of bridges, laying and clearing mine fields, front line combat as infantrymen, assault crossings of rivers, road and bridge repair and construction, support of Republic of Korea and British combat units, clearing Seoul of land mines and "booby traps," and participating in several task force operations. Company A, 14th Engineer Combat Battalion, was trained and equipped as a combat engineer unit, however, the exigencies of the service made it necessary to use the unit in many combat roles to the outstanding credit of the potentialities of Company A. The members of this company fought well as riflemen in the crucial days of the Nakdong River struggle; then quickly reverted to engineers to build the bridges and repair the roads for pursuit of the enemy. Their versatility has made them indispensable to the Korean operations. Company A, 14th Engineer Combat Battalion, successfully accomplished all assigned missions; each member exemplified devotion to duty, skill, and courage. Always confronted with danger, Company A, met the challenge and contributed immeasurably to combat operations. By its superior performance of exceptionally difficult and hazardous tasks, Company A, 14th Engineer Combat Battalion, set itself apart and above other units of similar missions, and brought acknowledged credit on itself, its members, combat engineers, and the military service of the United States Army. (General Orders 266, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 3 May 1951.)

The 74th Engineer Heavy Equipment Company is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations from September 1950 to March 1951. During this period, the 74th Engineer Heavy Equipment Company was given the mission of maintenance and repair of approximately 400 miles of vital roads and bridges from Sinnjong to Namchonjin. The unit, with an acute shortage of personnel and equipment, constructed bypasses and bridges and kept the supply routes open during the extreme winter and inclement weather. Because of the scarcity of engineering units in the combat theater, the 74th Engineer Heavy Equipment Company gave critically needed support to engineer units on major construction projects. Maintaining both rail and road traffic through a war-torn country, the company contributed immeasurably in keeping supply routes open in support of combat operations in Korea. The reconstruction of the Hampori railroad bridge, a task normally assigned to an entire engineer battalion, was superbly accomplished by the 74th Engineer Heavy Equipment Company in guerrilla-infested territory and bitter cold. The consistent high standard of operating efficiency, loyal teamwork, and devotion to duty displayed by each member of the 74th Engineer Heavy Equipment Company enabled the company to perform outstanding services which reflect credit on itself, the Corps of Engineers, and the United States Army. (General Orders 269, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 4 May 1951.)

The 21st Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations for a 6-month period from July 1950 to January 1951. Assigned the mission of direct back-up maintenance and supply support to the 25th Infantry Division, the 21st Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company repeatedly accomplished its vital but seemingly impossible mission under adverse conditions. While located at Masan during the critical period between 22 July and 28 September 1950, the company worked tirelessly and zealously in repairing and returning to the hard pressed 25th Infantry Division, the 1st Provisional Marine Brigade, and attached units critically needed items of small arms, artillery, and vehicles. The company's superb effort during this time materially aided the subsequent powerful and successful offensive of these units against the enemy. From 12 October to 10 November 1950, the 21st Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company was located at Taejon. Here, in addition to its primary mission of back-up of the 25th Infantry Division, the company had assigned to it for maintenance and support all of the Eighth Army units in the surrounding area. This resulted in a tremendous work load being placed on the company. The company also furnished road maintenance patrols on the main supply routes to the north and south of Taejon and operated the army collecting point. By unflagging determination and a high degree of efficiency, these tasks were accomplished in an exemplary manner. On 28 November 1950, the 21st Ordnance

Medium Maintenance Company was bivouacked near Yonghyon and was busily repairing the accumulated overload of another ordnance company when they were notified that they were in grave danger of being surrounded by the surprise attack of the Chinese communists. They quickly loaded their equipment and moved south to Kunuri. For the remainder of the day, despite the grave danger involved, members of the company made repeated trips to the old area, towing out vehicles which were consigned to them. Because of this daring and diligent devotion to duty, the only vehicles destroyed were those which were too heavy for the towing equipment. The individual and collective meritorious achievements displayed by all ranks of the 21st Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company during this period contributed materially to combat operations and reflect great credit on themselves and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 251, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 1 May 1951.)

The 51st Military Police Criminal Investigation Detachment is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in Korea for a 6-month period from August 1950 to February 1951 in connection with military operations against the armed enemy. During this period, while performing its mission of investigating and preventing crime within the Eighth United States Army zone of responsibility, this unit repeatedly conducted investigations which took its personnel into combat zones, where they were subjected to enemy action. The 51st Military Police Criminal Investigation Detachment moved its headquarters eight times during this period in order to be available to front-line units. This created serious problems of administration and supply, which were overcome by diligent devotion to duty and aggressiveness. During this period, the 51st Military Police Criminal Investigation Detachment investigated 230 criminal incidents and completed 200 of these. Agents of this detachment recovered stolen Government property valued at $17,322.64 and private property valued at $5,713.83. Another mission of this unit was conducting surveys and making recommendations to prevent pilferage and theft of vitally needed equipment and clothing. This task was performed with efficiency and thoroughness, which resulted in a great reduction in thefts. The exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service displayed by each member of the 51st Military Police Criminal Investigation Detachment reflects credit on themselves, the Military Police Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 219, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 18 April 1951.)

The 567th Medical Ambulance Company (Separate) is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in its primary mission, the evacuation of sick and wounded for combat elements of Eighth United States Army in Korea during the period of military operations against an armed enemy from July 1950 to March 1951. This ambulance company arrived in Korea in the very early stage of the action under extreme adverse conditions and acquitted itself at all times in a highly commendable manner. For over 2 months, this was the only unit of its kind in Korea to offer ambulance service to the entire operation, and it performed its mission from deep within division areas. It supported front line hospitals and gave ambulance service to the entire Pusan area, including its airfields and busy dock facilities. Trying problems such as mountain terrain, poor roads, excessive patient loads, scarcity of spare parts for maintenance, and extremely adverse operating circumstances were overcome with great ingenuity and unusual versatility. The personnel of this company were called upon to operate its organic vehicles for prolonged periods under trying conditions, to improvise maintenance facilities, to plan and exploit evacuation systems, and to carry out additional functions such as emergency medical treatment of patients, loading and unloading aircraft and surface vessels used for evacuation purposes, and other such missions not normally assigned to a unit of this type. The extraordinary devotion to duty, esprit de corps, and efficiency displayed by each member of the 567th Medical Ambulance Company (Separate) reflect credit on itself, the Army Medical Service, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 218, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 18 April 1951.)

The 24th Military Police Company, 24th Infantry Division, is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in Korea for a 6-month period from September 1950 to March 1951 in military operations against the armed enemy. Throughout this period, the 24th Military Police Company was confronted with and solved unusual and difficult problems of such magnitude that normally they would have been delegated to a much larger military police organization. During this period, the 24th Military Police Company posted, patrolled, and directed traffic over more than 2,000 miles of roads that were never designed to accommodate the great amount of traffic necessary to the operation of a United States division. The 24th Military Police Company received, processed, and evacuated more than 20,000 prisoners of war. They received and returned to their parent units more than 1,500 military stragglers. They directed away from military supply and traffic routes more than 1,000,000 indigenous refugees after first screening them for guerrillas and saboteurs. On many occasions the 24th Military Police Company acted as infantrymen in the defense of command posts and in establishing outpost lines. In directing traffic in the delaying actions early in the Korean conflict, they were often last to leave in successive withdrawals to new lines of defense. Under all existing hazards, the constant endeavor of the 24th Military Police Company was to get the job done. And this they did, despite the many obstacles inherent to the theater of operations. The zeal, determination, and devotion to duty displayed by all ranks of the 24th Military Police Company, 24th Infantry Division, during this period reflect credit on themselves, the Military Police Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 215, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 17 April 1951.)

The 30th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service for the 6-month period from August 1950 to February 1951 in military operations against the armed enemy in Korea. The 30th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company displayed extraordinary devotion to duty in such manner as to establish recognition beyond and above that normally expected in the performance of such duties. Under exacting and urgent conditions created by critical combat operations, the 30th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company achieved its outstanding effectiveness under the hazards of inadequate supplies, space, and personnel shortages. Heavy combat losses in matériel were alleviated by rapid repair and reconstruction. Damaged equipment was rescued from under fire of the enemy, repaired, and returned to service expeditiously. Through perseverance, ingenuity, and technical skill, arduous tasks were met with challenge and successfully performed. Skill and esprit de corps enabled the 30th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company to maintain its dependability, which was reflected in combat effectiveness of the units it served. Success of the 30th Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Company reflects its extraordinary qualities of skill, cooperation, determination, and marked efficiency, and thereby brings credit to its individual members, its technical service, and the United States Army. (General Orders 213, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 17 April 1951.)

Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 70th Transportation Truck Battalion, is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations during the 6-month period from July to December 1950. This unit, composed principally of new and untrained personnel, departed Yokohama, Japan, on 3 July 1950, completely organized and equipped. It arrived in Sasebo, Japan, the next day, and became engaged immediately in port hauling and meeting all commitments in around-the-clock operations. The company arrived in Korea on 14 July 1950. The unit and its attached companies were assigned the mission of port clearance at Pusan. Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 70th Transportation Truck Battalion, transported more than 432,000 long tons of cargo and 372,000 passengers up to 31 December 1950. It also supervised and controlled many convoys in support of combat operations and operated an administrative motor pool and a military bus line in the Pusan area. Personnel also were employed as cadré for indigenous truck companies, in which they successfully trained and supervised the work of more than 300 Korean drivers and mechanics. Operational and administrative supervision was furnished for 17 truck companies attached to the unit at various times during the period. Throughout the period, the unit maintained a superior administrative record. Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 70th Transportation Truck Battalion, displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. Their superior conduct and efficiency under extremely difficult conditions brought credit on themselves, the Transportation Corps, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 279, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 5 May 1951.)

The 539th Transportation Truck Company is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in support of combat operations for a 6-month period from August 1950 to February 1951. During this period, the 539th Transportation Truck Company was assigned the mission of transporting troops, cargo, and personnel for the 25th Infantry Division, 1st Provisional Marine Brigade, 24th Infantry Division, 1st Cavalry Division, I Corps, 67th Ordnance Ammunition Battalion, Young Yon Ni Airstrip, 1st Republic of Korea Division, 2d Logistical Command, K-9 Airstrip, and Heunde Army Supply Point. The company was placed on a 24-hour duty status. Working under extremely hazardous conditions in the face of enemy artillery and mortar fire, the 539th Transportation Truck Company succeeded in moving elements of the 24th and 25th Infantry Divisions to new positions in order to hold the Masan front. The alertness and quick thinking of the men of the unit prevented many casualties when the troops were attacked by the enemy during this mission. The enemy had set large mine fields; however, the 539th Transportation Truck Company successfully completed its mission of transporting troops across the Naktong River. On many occasions when their vehicles were not in operation, the drivers assisted the tactical units by loading weapons and handling ammunition. Many times in order that the fighting forces might get some rest, the men assisted by doing patrol duty. In connection with the cited tactical and nontactical operations, the unit traveled over hazardous mountain terrain, often under guerrilla fire, to accomplish its mission. The 539th Transportation Truck Company traveled 224,949 aggregated road miles, transported 48,836 tons of cargo, and 23,022 personnel. The determination to complete a job successfully and the action displayed by this company were of outstanding value to combat operations. The 539th Transportation Truck Company displayed such outstanding devotion and superior performance of exceptionally difficult tasks as to set it apart and above other units with similar missions. The exceptionally meritorious conduct and devotion to duty brought credit to the 539th Transportation Truck Company, its members, individually, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 278, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 5 May 1951.)

For the defense of the Naktong river line against determined and heavy enemy attack from 1 to 5 September. The enemy's attack was designed to cut the Pusan-Taegu line of communications and, in conjunction with a nearly simultaneous attack against the Republic of Korea Army from the South. Eighth Army, Headquarters

REPUBLIC OF KOREA PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION awarded by citation dated 2 October 1950, by Syngman Rhee, President of the Republic of Korea, for outstanding and superior performance of duty during the period 4 July 1950 to 2 October 1950, inclusive, with citation as follows:

For the magnificent manner in which Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, accomplished its most difficult task in Korea. From the first commitment in battle of units of the Eighth Army and other United Nations Forces on 4 July 1950 to the crossing of the Thirty-eighth Parallel by units of the Republic of Korea on the night of 1-2 October 1950, the entire Headquarters of the Eighth Army has served with marked accomplishment and distinction. With few hours notice, staff experts were drawn from their normal military duties and responsibilities, rushed from distant shores by air and sea, and committed to battle direction against a determined, well-trained and ruthless enemy. Courageous soldiers found themselves confronted with many logistical and tactical difficulties of the most exacting nature. Command and staff functioning of the battle front was fluid because of the suddenness of the attack. Locating the enemy, learning his battle plan, and preparing counter measures were executed under severe handicaps. Transportation, communications, evacuation and logistical support were problems of the most significant nature. Troops found themselves in terrain and under climatic conditions which exacted heavy toll and made each individual act a heroic or meritorious one. Under these most severe military tests and adverse conditions, the valiant soldiers of the Headquarters, Eighth Army, worked relentlessly against numerically superior and fanatically driven forces. Reconnaissance by air and road was limited by time and the shortage of military maps. By aggressive planning and direction the enemy spearheads were gradually sought out, and with determined fortitude and courage, units were locked in battle across the rivers and valleys, through streets and villages, and over the peaks of mountains. Despite superior numbers and repeated attempts, the enemy was unsuccessful in penetrating the Taegu perimeter defense. Headquarters, Eighth Army, working under adverse conditions directed the battles which raged across the now famous Naktong River and along the northern limits to Pohangdong, wearing down the enemy and giving time to acquire essential supplies and troop strength for the offensive so anxiously desired. Finally, after superior accomplishment, a planned offensive was unleashed with such power, fury and aggressive follow-up, that the enemy was forced into a state of disintegration in a few days. By aggressively directing the exploitations of breakthrough, those not destroyed were forced to flee in disorganized bands to the false protection of the land from which they rolled in destructive hordes on 25 June 1950. The Republic of Korea holds in the highest esteem the gallant, heroic and meritorious service of the officers and enlisted men of Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, under whose superior direction the United Nations forces have distinguished themselves on the field of battle in skill, courage and with indomitable spirit. By their extraordinary staff action they have brought the highest credit to themselves and the forces of freedom throughout the world. The government and the people of the Republic of Korea will remember with undying gratitude the truly meritorious services made to sustain their freedom and to thwart despotic aggression in other peace-loving nations.

As the first United States Division in combat at Pyongtaek, Korea, it so distinguished itself by its tenacity, hard fighting and willingness to make extraordinary sacrifices against greater odds as not only to delay the advance of a numerically superior enemy, but, in addition, gained valuable time to permit other United Nations Forces to arrive on the battlefield. This marked and brilliant performance of duty by each individual member of the 24th Infantry Division of the United States Army is in accord with the highest traditions of peace-seeking defenders of Liberty.

For the unprecedented shift on the night of 1-2 August from the Army's right to left flank, for its rapid organization of defenses in the Masan area and for its counterattack against three North Korean Divisions in the Chinju area. This counterattack so disorganized the enemy's advance that it was never later able, despite repeated and heavy attacks, to advance and capture the port of Pusan. This marked and brilliant performance of duty by each individual member of the 25th United States Infantry Division is in accord with the highest traditions of the military service.

United States Military Advisory Group to the Republic of Korea

REPUBLIC OF KOREA PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION awarded by citation dated 29 December 1950, by Syngman Rhee, President of the Republic of Korea, for outstanding and heroic performance of duty on the field of battle during the period 25 June 1950 to 29 December 1950, inclusive, with citation as follows:

The Korea Military Advisory Group has been a vital element in the operations of the Army of the Republic of Korea from the time of the first surprise Communist assault through the difficult days of retreat, then during the triumphant drive north, and again today when the fortunes of war are temporarily against us. During all this time the officers and men of the Korea Military Advisory Group have served alongside the officers and men of the Korean Army, giving them invaluable counsel. They have served wherever the battle called: in the front line, at division command posts, and at Army Headquarters, always developing the most cordial and cooperative relationships with the Korean Army units to which they have been attached. They have shared the vicissitudes of the Korean Army, their victories and their defeats. They have suffered the same hardships, the same burning heat, the same bitter cold, the same uncertainties, and the same gallant defiance of the the foe.
They have never commanded; they have only advised. That role has required particular strength of character, since in the military service an officer is accustomed to command but not to advise; the adjustment to this situation has indicated character, flexibility of mind and temperament, and a friendship and understanding of the Korean soldier and the Korean civilian which will always be remembered to the lasting glory of the men and officers of the Korea Military Advisory Group. The brilliant performance of duty in combat in Korea of each individual member of the Korea Military Advisory Group has been in accordance with the highest traditions of military service.

DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL—Posthumous award.....	I
DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION—Citation of unit.....	II
MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION—Award.....	III

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Laurence K. Ladue, O15750 (then colonel), United States Army. 11 February to 23 May 1951.

II. DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following unit in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 1st Battalion, Gloucestershire Regiment, British Army, and Troop C, 170th Independent Mortar Battery, Royal Artillery, attached, are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in action against the armed enemy near Solma-ri, Korea, on 23, 24, and 25 April 1951. The 1st Battalion and Troop C were defending a very critical sector of the battle front during a determined attack by the enemy. The defending units were overwhelmingly outnumbered. The 63d Chinese Communist Army drove the full force of its savage assault at the positions held by the 1st Battalion, Gloucestershire Regiment, and attached unit. The route of supply ran southeast from the battalion between two hills. The hills dominated the surrounding terrain northwest of the Imjin River. Enemy pressure built up on the battalion front during the day, 23 April. On 24 April, the weight of the attack had driven the right flank of the battalion back. The pressure grew heavier and heavier and the battalion and attached unit were forced into a perimeter defense on Hill 235. During the night, heavy enemy forces had bypassed the staunch defenders and closed all avenues of escape. The courageous soldiers of the battalion and attached unit were holding the critical route selected by the enemy for one column of the general offensive designed to encircle and destroy I Corps. These gallant soldiers would not retreat. As they were compressed tighter and tighter in their perimeter defense, they called for close-in air strikes to assist in holding firm. Completely surrounded by tremendous numbers, these indomitable, resolute, and tenacious soldiers fought back with unsurpassed fortitude and courage. As ammunition ran low and the advancing hordes moved closer and closer, these splendid soldiers fought back viciously to prevent the enemy from overrunning the position and moving rapidly to the south. Their heroic stand provided the critically needed time to regroup other I Corps units and block the southern advance of the enemy. Time and again efforts were made to reach the battalion, but the enemy strength blocked each effort. Without thought of defeat or surrender, this heroic force demonstrated superb battlefield courage and discipline. Every yard of ground they surrendered was covered with enemy dead until the last gallant soldier of the fighting battalion was overpowered by the final surge of the enemy masses. The 1st Battalion, Gloucestershire Regi- ment, British Army, and Troop C, 170th Independent Mortar Battery, Royal Artillery, displayed such gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their mission under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions as to set them apart and above other units participating in the same battle. Their sustained brilliance in battle, their resoluteness, and extraordinary heroism are in keeping with the finest traditions of the renowned military forces of the British Commonwealth, and reflect unsurpassed credit on these courageous soldiers and their homeland. (General Orders 286, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army Korea, 8 May 1951.)

III. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following unit of the United States Army for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated. The citation reads as follows:

The 25th Replacement Company, 25th Infantry Division, is cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in Korea for a 6-month continuous period from July 1950 to February 1951. During this period, the 25th Replacement Company processed over 20,500 replacements for the 25th Infantry Division. The processing involved receiving, equipping, and giving a brief course of orientation for immediate entry into combat. All records of the replacements were screened and brought up to the highest standards. Despite the difficulties of transportation, weather, supply, and numerous movements of the company caused by the tactical situation, the mission was expeditiously and skillfully accomplished. In addition to the normal replacements, 4,200 Republic of Korea troops were processed for integration into the division. When the rest and recuperation program to Japan was initiated, the company provided facilities for reception, equipping, and shipment of as many as 300 soldiers at one time. The spirit of cooperation, devotion to duty, and the unflinching excellence of the work of all members of the company contributed essentially to the immediate combat effectiveness of the division and to the general morale of the organic units. The successful, extraordinary, and distinctly meritorious achievements stand as exemplary criteria in the processing of personnel replacements and bring noteworthy credit to the 25th Replacement Company, 25th Infantry Division, and the military service of the United States. (General Orders 200, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea (EUSAK), 12 April 1951.)

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Mitchell Red Cloud, Jr. (Service No. RA 16299515), Company E, 19th Infantry Regiment, United States Army, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Chonghyon, Korea, on 5 November 1950. From his position on the point of a ridge immediately in front of the company command post, he was the first to detect the approach of the Chinese Communist forces and give the alarm as the enemy charged from a brush-covered area less than 100 feet from him. Springing up, he delivered devastating point-blank automatic-rifle fire into the advancing enemy. His accurate and intense fire checked this assault and gained time for the company to consolidate its defense. With utter fearlessness, Corporal Red Cloud maintained his firing position until severely wounded by enemy fire. Refusing assistance, he pulled himself to his feet, wrapped his arm around a tree, and continued his deadly fire until again, and fatally, wounded. This heroic act stopped the enemy from overrunning his company's position and gained time for reorganization and evacuation of the wounded. Corporal Red Cloud's dauntless courage and gallant self-sacrifice reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class Joseph R. Ouellette (Service No. RA11177954), Company H, 9th Infantry Regiment, United States Army, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy from 31 August to 3 September 1950 in the Naktong-Gang River salient near Yongsan, Korea. When an enemy assault cut off and surrounded his unit, he voluntarily made a reconnaissance of a nearby hill under intense enemy fire to locate friendly troop positions and obtain information of the enemy's strength and location. Finding that friendly troops were not on the hill, he worked his way back to his unit under heavy fire. Later, when an air drop of water was made outside the perimeter, he again braved enemy fire in an attempt to retrieve water for his unit. Finding the dropped cans broken and devoid of water, he returned to his unit. His heroic attempt greatly increased his comrades' morale. When ammunition and grenades ran low, Private Ouellette again slipped out of the perimeter to collect these from the enemy dead. After collecting grenades he was attacked by an enemy soldier. He killed this enemy in hand-to-hand combat, gathered up the ammunition, and returned to his unit. When the enemy attacked on 3 September, they assaulted his position with grenades. On six occasions Private Ouellette leaped from his fox hole to escape exploding grenades. In doing so, he had to face enemy small-arms fire. He continued his resistance, despite a severe wound, until he lost his life. The extraordinary heroism and intrepidity displayed by Private Ouellette reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following named enlisted man:

Sergeant William R. Jecelin (Service No. RA13277545), Company C, 35th Infantry Regiment, United States Army, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Saga, Korea, on 19 September 1950. His company was ordered to secure a prominent, saw-toothed ridge from a well-entrenched and heavily armed enemy force. Unable to capture the objective in the first attempt, a frontal and flanking assault was launched. Sergeant Jecelin led his platoon through heavy enemy fire and bursting shells, across rice fields and rocky terrain, in direct frontal attack on the ridge in order to draw fire away from the flanks. The unit advanced to the base of the cliff, where intense, accurate hostile fire stopped the attack. Realizing that an assault was the only solution, Sergeant Jecelin rose from his position, firing his rifle and throwing grenades as he called on his men to follow him. Despite the intense enemy fire, this attack carried to the crest of the ridge, where the men were forced to take cover. Again he rallied his men and stormed the enemy strong point. With fixed bayonets, they charged into the face of anti-tank fire and engaged the enemy in hand-to-hand combat. After clubbing and slashing this force into submission, the platoon was forced to take cover from direct frontal fire of a self-propelled gun. Refusing to be stopped, Sergeant Jecelin leaped to his feet and, through sheer personal courage and fierce determination, led his men in a new attack. At this instance a well-camouflaged enemy soldier threw a grenade at the remaining members of the platoon. He immediately lunged and covered the grenade with his body, absorbing the full force of the explosion to save those around him. This incredible courage and willingness to sacrifice himself for his comrades so imbued them with fury that they completely eliminated the enemy force. Sergeant Jecelin's heroic leadership and outstanding gallantry reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the esteemed traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Gordon M. Craig (Service No. RA11183227), 16th Reconnaissance Company, 1st Cavalry Division, United States Army, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Kasan, Korea, on 10 September 1950. During the attack on a strategic enemy-held hill, his company's advance was subjected to intense hostile grenade, mortar, and small-arms fire. Corporal Craig and four comrades moved forward to eliminate an enemy machine-gun nest that was hampering the company's advance. At that instance an enemy machine gunner hurled a hand grenade at the advancing men. Without hesitating or attempting to seek cover for himself, Corporal Craig threw himself on the grenade and smothered its burst with his body. His intrepid and selfless act, in which he unhesitatingly gave his life for his comrades, inspired them to attack with such ferocity that they annihilated the enemy machine-gun crew, thereby enabling the company to continue its attack. Corporal Craig's noble self-sacrifice reflects the highest credit on himself and upholds the esteemed traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Charles E. Nichols (Service No. RA 13165264), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company F, 7th Cavalry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy near Waegwan, Korea, on 18 September 1950. During a company attack against a hill heavily defended by intense enemy mortar, machine-gun, and small-arms fire, Corporal Nichols observed his platoon commander approaching, unknowingly, into the fire of a hostile machine gun approximately 50 yards away. He shouted a warning, but it was lost in the noise of battle. Acting without hesitation and well aware of the personal risk involved, Corporal Nichols hurled himself between his platoon commander and the point-blank machine-gun fire, absorbing with his own body the bullets aimed at the officer. During this noble selfless act, he suffered critical wounds that resulted in his death. Corporal Nichols' supreme courage and gallant self-sacrifice reflect the highest credit on himself and uphold the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Crump Garvin, O12746, United States Army. 4 July 1950 to 19 March 1951.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Sergeant Arthur M. Hilgendorf (Service No. 20610015) (then corporal), Quartermaster Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Company F, 132d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action at Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, on 2 January 1943. During action to capture and hold a hill, five men were trapped in an exposed position and wounded by the enemy. Fire action designed to silence the enemy fire enabled the wounded men to dash from their exposed position, but two of them were wounded again and unable to continue alone. At this point, Sergeant Hilgendorf, without regard for his personal safety, dashed up across the open ground and carried one of the wounded men down. Again he returned up the slope, but was wounded in the shoulder by enemy rifle fire. Despite this painful wound, he continued forward and brought down the second wounded man. Sergeant Hilgendorf's courageous acts reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Captain Paul C. Rapp, O1287059 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company E, 330th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Carentan, France, on 4 July 1944. While directing the combat operations of his company he was severely wounded in both legs by enemy mortar fire. During his return from this exposed position, Captain Rapp, without regard for his painful wounds or personal safety, picked up a critically wounded soldier and carried him on his shoulders 100 yards across an open field under direct enemy fire to a place of comparative safety. Captain Rapp's gallant action and heroic achievement reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Chief Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

His Excellency Vincent Auriol, President of France. January 1947 to March 1951.

2. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Officer, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Colonel Cuthbert Arnold-Edwards, British Army. February to December 1942.

Colonel F. H. W. C. J. van Dun, Netherlands Army. August 1949 to April 1951.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer.

Second Lieutenant Edward Anderson, O992619 (then staff Sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion, 17th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism in action at Okinawa, Ryukyus Islands, on 20 April 1945. His platoon was in a road block position on the battalion's right when a hostile force penetrated the front lines. Lieutenant Anderson attacked this force and during the fire fight killed or wounded 16 enemy. Then, with the help of a small patrol and supporting fire, he uncovered the enemy's main attack. The courage and aggressive acts of Lieutenant Anderson eliminated an enemy penetration and reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States.

VI. COMMENDATION RIBBON WITH METAL PENDANT.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Major John W. Kearney, O478175, Transportation Corps, Army of the United States. May 1943 to February 1945.

Major Francis A. Lord, O341965, Military Intelligence Service, United States Army Reserve. September 1944 to September 1945.

Private First Class William H. Schultz (Service No. RA 14258941), Army Medical Service, United States Army. 19 November 1950.

2. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for meritorious achievement during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Tony J. Mason (Service No. RA 52041268) (then recruit), Infantry, United States Army. 6 December 1950.

VII. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following units in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Company E, 27th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division, and the following-attached units: 81 Millimeter Mortar Section, Company H, 27th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division; Assault Gun Platoon, 89th Medium Tank Battalion, are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against the enemy in Korea in the defense of the vital command post area of Task Force Wilson near Ipsok on the night of 26-27 November 1950. For a period of 5 hours, these units successfully withstood three successive attacks of an enemy battalion well supported by mortars. The units were moved from reserve to meet the threat of an enemy attack. Without previous reconnaissance and prepared positions, it moved during the night, engaged the enemy promptly, and held its positions tenaciously. The rapid and successful movement of this force prevented the annihilation of the command post of Task Force Wilson and enabled all units in the area to function under centralized control. This gallant force rose to the occasion against tremendous odds and protected the command post, the only road between the forward and rear elements, and the supplies vital to the operation. Their successful stand also enabled the wounded to be evacuated safely. The results exemplify the effectiveness of unity of arms and purpose. Without thought of defeat or surrender, this heroic force stopped assault after assault until the enemy could no longer muster an attack. Their achievements are in keeping with the rich traditions of an Army well renowned on the battlefield. Their extraordinary heroism reflects the highest credit on themselves, their units, and the Armed Forces of the United States. (General Orders 137, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 13 March 1951.)

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Robert E. Dare (Service No. RA 6794378), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company K, 34th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action near Taejon, Korea, on 20 July 1950. His platoon was leading the company advance along the airport road when it was dispersed into the rice paddies and pinned down by cross-fire from six hostile tanks and an estimated enemy battalion. Sergeant Dare, assistant squad leader, with utter disregard for his safety, exposed himself to the intense fire to take command of the platoon. Displaying outstanding leadership and courage, he personally directed the fire of his machine-gun squad, reorganized the platoon, and ordered its withdrawal to a defensive position. During this action he was critically wounded, but continued to command the platoon. Refusing aid, he ordered his men to leave him behind and withdraw to a secure position. His initiative, aggressiveness, and gallantry during this engagement cost him his life but saved many of his comrades. Sergeant Dare's heroic action reflects the highest credit on himself and upholds the finest traditions of the military service.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Brigadier General John A. Dabney, O16602, United States Army. 15 August 1950 to 19 March 1951.

Colonel Rufus S. Ramey, O6614 (then brigadier general), General Staff Corps (Armor), United States Army. August 1942 to January 1944. (So much of sec. III, WD General Orders 18, 1944, as pertains to the award of the Legion of Merit to Colonel Ramey (then brigadier general), for service during the period 26 August 1942 to 2 January 1944, is rescinded.)

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Edward A. McCarthy, O291380, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters 2d Battalion, 105th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy on 21 June and 7 July 1944 at Saipan, Marianas Islands. When the battalion command post was shelled on 21 June, causing several casualties, Major McCarthy, with total disregard for the explosions, quickly dispersed the personnel, directed evacuation of the wounded, and reorganized the command post. On 7 July, while Major McCarthy was in command of the battalion, a fanatical enemy attack rendered the unit's position untenable. Major McCarthy ordered a withdrawal to a more favorable position. During the withdrawal, enemy fire disorganized the unit. Major McCarthy, exposing himself to hostile machine-gun and mortar fire, moved to a position from which he rallied the battalion, reformed it, and checked the attack. Inspired by his courageous example, the troops beat off wave after wave of attackers and held their positions until relief arrived. The quick thinking and gallant actions of Major McCarthy reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device to Major McCarthy, for service during the same period, published in General Orders 68, Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Middle Pacific, 27 May 1946.)

VII. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Captain Robert W. Cook, O1338442, Infantry, United States Army, a member of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. On 23 October 1950, a civilian lineman working on a power line suffered severe shock and burns from contact with a live wire. Captain Cook, seeing the man suspended by his safety belt and in great pain, secured a ladder and a fire extinguisher, climbed the pole, and, at great risk to himself from possible electric shock or fall from the ladder, succeeded in partially extinguishing the flames. The initiative and courage displayed by Captain Cook reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Captain Ralph M. Wymer, O478018, Medical Corps, United States Army, a member of Medical Company, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. On 23 October 1950, a civilian lineman working on a power line touched a live wire and suffered severe shock. Seeing the man suspended by his safety belt, with clothing afire, Captain Wymer, without hesitation, climbed the ladder, put out the fire, and attempted to cut the live wire. When the power was finally turned off and the victim lowered to the ground, he administered first-aid treatment. Captain Wymer's courageous act reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

VIII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Hunter B. Gainor, O416082 (then major), Infantry, Army of the United States. June 1943 to August 1944.

2. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Alfonse R. Miele, O12754 (then first lieutenant), Air Corps, United States Army. 15 July 1944.

IX. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Frederick W. Heffner (Service No. RA6944877) (then private), Infantry, a member of Company L, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement on 2 February 1945 in the vicinity of Colmar, France. When his platoon was pinned down by German heavy machine-gun fire, he braved the hail of enemy fire to move two of his wounded comrades to the shelter of an abandoned German mortar emplacement. He then, without regard for his safety, moved into a position where he was able to silence the enemy gun with his automatic rifle. This action enabled the platoon to move on with the company and reach the objective without any further loss. Sergeant Heffner's courageous action in the face of heavy enemy fire is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Lieutenant Colonel O'Neill K. Kane, O18150, General Staff Corps (Armor), United States Army, as commanding officer, 776th Amphibian Tank Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism achievement during the landing near Palompon, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 25 December 1944. He accompanied the first wave ashore and immediately located the only access route inland from the beach. Leading the task force inland, he encountered a strong anti-tank gun that threatened the entire landing beach. With complete disregard for his safety, he dashed forward in his thinly armored amphibious tank and neutralized this hostile gun. Colonel Kane's initiative and fearless leadership made a direct contribution to the early capture of the important port of Palompon. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Lieutenant Colonel Kane, for meritorious service from 19 to 25 December 1944, published in General Orders 449, Headquarters, 77th Infantry Division, 23 November 1945.)

Captain Robert W. Landies, Jr., O1319292 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 357th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism in action at Maizières-les-Metz, France, on 30 October 1944. During the attack on the town, he led his men through constant enemy fire, repeatedly exposing himself to direct fire, while personally cutting enemy communication lines and placing demolition charges against underground machine-gun emplacements. He was twice knocked down by mortar fire, but directed the advance with such skill and courage that the mission was quickly accomplished. Captain Landies' courageous leadership and example reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Captain Landies, for heroic achievement on the same date, published in section II, General Orders 90, Headquarters, 90th Infantry Division, 4 February 1945.)

Corporal Harry W. King (Service No. RA32523332) (then private), Quartermaster Corps, United States Army. 20 November 1944.

Corporal Bernard P. Ridlen (Service No. RA16017155) (then private first class), United States Army. 31 May 1950.

3. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for meritorious service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Gambrill, O39716 (then major), Adjutant General's Department, United States Army. March to October 1945.

XI. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following unit in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The French Battalion, United Nations Forces in Korea, displayed extraordinary heroism in action against an armed enemy in the vicinity of Chipyongni, Korea, during the period 30 January to 2 February 1951. Advancing to the north as a part of the 23d Regimental Combat Team, 2d Infantry Division, with the mission of locating and engaging the Forty-Second Chinese Army whose position was not known, the French Battalion, together with a battalion of American infantry supported by artillery and tanks, began their attack from the Chonsan-Tanguri assembly area up the Kumdang Chon Valley at 310900 January. Advancing over the rugged, mountainous terrain, the attack progressed slowly until the French Battalion, on the left of the two advancing units, seized Hill 453, a critical terrain feature which not only dominated the area to the south, but also overlooked a northern valley divided by two ridges through which twin railroad tunnels ran on an east-west axis. With the French on this hill, the remainder of the objective was taken without opposition at 1815 hours and the force immediately began occupation and organization of the high ground around the tunnels. One company of the French Battalion was placed on Hill 453 and the remainder of the Battalion deployed on the ridges to the north, making up the western half of the perimeter. At 0600 hours on the morning of 1 February, after the American battalion on the eastern half of the perimeter had been under attack for over an hour, the French Battalion was attacked by the 373d Chinese Infantry Regiment, which by 1020 hours had employed its entire strength and had reached the crest of Hill 453. The French company on the hill counter-attacked with bayonet and drove the enemy back. By noon, elements of another Chinese regiment had gained a high, rocky hill on the northwest corner of the perimeter from which they brought direct machine-gun fire down onto the area and the force command post. The French 3d Company, deploying along the crest, attacked this lodgment under cover of direct recoilless rifle and tank fire, drove the enemy off, and restored the lines. The crisis came in the early afternoon with the French 1st and 3d Companies still under heavy attack and no air support available because of the ground fog which had covered the area throughout the morning. However, at this juncture the fog lifted. Twenty-four fighter aircraft sorties were brought in, and observed mortar and artillery fire were placed on the masses of attacking enemy. Under this firepower, the enemy broke off and withdrew at 1800 hours, just as a fresh American battalion arrived from the south. On the next day, 1,300 dead Chinese soldiers were actually counted in front of the perimeter, the majority of whom were in front of the French Battalion's position. Also, of a total of 225 casualties suffered by the task force, 125 were among the companies of the French Battalion. As a result of the gallant actions of this splendid fighting unit of French volunteers, representing 50 percent of the infantry in the force, the position was held and the 373d Chinese Infantry Regiment was routed. These actions, coupled with the equally heroic stand of the 3d Battalion, 23d Regimental Combat Team, on the other half of the perimeter where the Chinese 374th Infantry Regiment was destroyed, cost the enemy an estimated 3,600 casualties and put the 125th Chinese Division out of action as an effective fighting unit, thus enabling the 23d Regimental Combat Team to continue its advance. The extraordinary heroism, aggressiveness, and esprit de corps displayed by the French Battalion, United Nations Forces in Korea, during this period reflect great credit on the arms of the Republic of France and the United Nations. (General Orders 36, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 February 1951.)

Lieutenant Colonel Harry W. Hughes, O261543 (then captain), Infantry, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Gram-michele, Sicily. While in command of Company A, on 14 July 1943, the unit was subjected to intense small-arms, tank automatic-weapons, and artillery fire from a strong enemy position. Observing that one of his platoons was breaking and other personnel faltering under the heavy fire, he moved among the men organizing an attack. Leading the company assault, he was painfully wounded in both legs and the right arm, but refused evacuation until he had reorganized his unit on its objective. Colonel Hughes' heroic action was an inspiration to his comrades and reflects great credit on himself and the Army of the United States.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class Melvin L. Brown (Service No. RA 13 303 715), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, Company D, 8th Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against an enemy on 4 September 1950, near Kasan, Korea. While his platoon was securing Hill 755 (the Walled City) the enemy, using heavy automatic weapons and small arms, counterattacked. Taking a position on a 50-foot-high wall, he delivered heavy rifle fire on the enemy. His ammunition was soon expended and although wounded he remained at his post and threw his few grenades into the attackers, causing many casualties. When his supply of grenades was exhausted his comrades from nearby fox holes tossed others to him and he left his position, braving a hail of fire, to retrieve and throw them at the enemy. The attackers continued to assault his position and Private Brown, weaponless, drew his intrenching tool from his pack and calmly waited until they, one by one, peered over the wall, delivering each a crushing blow upon the head. Knocking 10 or 12 enemy from the wall, his daring action so inspired his platoon that they repelled the attack and held their position. Private Brown's extraordinary heroism, gallantry, and intrepidity reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the honored traditions of the military service.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Charles W. Turner (Service No. RA 20 157 371), Armor, United States Army, 2d Reconnaissance Company, 2d Infantry Division, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Yongsan, Korea. On 1 September 1950 a large enemy force launched a mortar and automatic-weapon-supported assault against his platoon. Sergeant Turner, a section leader, quickly organized his unit for defense and then observed that the attack was directed at the tank section 100 yards away. Leaving his secured section, he dashed through a hail of fire to the threatened position and mounting a tank, manned the exposed turret machine gun. Disregarding the intense enemy fire, he calmly held this position, delivering deadly accurate fire and pointing out targets for the tank's 75-mm gun. His action resulted in the destruction of seven enemy machine-gun nests. Although severely wounded, he remained at the gun shouting encouragement to his comrades. During the action the tank received over 50 direct hits; the periscopes and antenna were shot away and three rounds hit the machine-gun mount. Despite this fire he remained at his post until a burst of enemy fire cost him his life. This intrepid and heroic performance enabled the platoon to withdraw and later launch an attack which routed the enemy. Sergeant Turner's valor and example reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant Travis E. Watkins, (Service No. RA6295287), Infantry, United States Army, Company H, 9th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against an enemy near Yongsan, Korea, from 31 August through 3 September 1950. When an overwhelming enemy force broke through and isolated thirty men of his unit he took command, established a perimeter defense and directed action which repelled continuous, fanatical enemy assaults. With his group completely surrounded and cut off, he moved from foxhole to foxhole exposing himself to enemy fire, giving instructions and offering encouragement to his men. Later when the need for ammunition and grenades became critical he shot two enemy soldiers fifty yards outside the perimeter and went out alone for their ammunition and weapons. As he picked up their weapons he was attacked by three others and wounded. Returning their fire he killed all three and gathering up the weapons of the five enemy dead returned to his amazed comrades. During a later assault, six enemy soldiers gained a defiladed spot and began to throw grenades into the perimeter making it untenable. Realizing the desperate situation and disregarding his wound he rose from his foxhole to engage them with rifle fire. Although immediately hit by a burst from an enemy machine gun he continued to fire until he had killed the grenade throwers. With this threat eliminated he collapsed and despite being paralyzed from the waist down, encouraged his men to hold on. He refused all food saving it for his comrades and when it became apparent that help would not arrive in time to hold the position ordered his men to escape to friendly lines. Refusing evacuation as his hopeless condition would burden his comrades he remained in his position and cheerfully wished them luck. Through his aggressive leadership and intrepid actions, this small force destroyed nearly five hundred of the enemy before abandoning their position. Sergeant Watkins' sustained personal bravery and noble self-sacrifice reflect the highest glory upon himself and is in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Frederick F. Henry, O2007676, Infantry, Army of the United States, Company F, 38th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action on 1 September 1950 in the vicinity of Am-Dong, Korea. His platoon was holding a strategic ridge near the town when they were attacked by a superior enemy force, supported by heavy mortar and artillery fire. Seeing his platoon disorganized by this fanatical assault, he left his fox hole and moving along the line ordered his men to stay in place and keep firing. Encouraged by this heroic action the platoon reformed a defense line and rained devastating fire on the enemy, checking his advance. Enemy fire had knocked out all communications and Lieutenant Henry was unable to determine whether or not the main line of resistance was alerted to this heavy attack. On his own initiative, although severely wounded, he decided to hold his position as long as possible and ordered the wounded evacuated and their weapons and ammunition brought to him. Establishing a one-man defensive position, he ordered the platoon's withdrawal and despite his wound and with complete disregard for himself remained behind to cover the movement. When last seen he was singlehandedly firing all available weapons so effectively that he caused an estimated 50 enemy casualties. His ammunition was soon expended and his position overrun, but this intrepid action saved the platoon and halted the enemy's advance until the main line of resistance was prepared to throw back the attack. Lieutenant Henry's outstanding gallantry and noble self-sacrifice above and beyond the call of duty reflect the highest honor on him and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named officer:

Major General William F. Dean, O15453, Infantry, United States Army, Commanding General, 24th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the repeated risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty in Taejon, Korea, on 20 and 21 July 1950. In command of a unit suddenly relieved from occupation duties in Japan and as yet untried in combat, faced with a ruthless and determined enemy, highly trained and overwhelmingly superior in numbers, he felt it his duty to take action, which to a man of his military experience and knowledge was clearly apt to result in his death. He personally and alone attacked an enemy tank while armed only with a hand grenade. He also directed the fire of his own tanks from an exposed position with neither cover nor concealment while under observed artillery and small-arms fire. When the town of Taejon was finally overrun, he refused to insure his own safety by leaving with the leading elements, but remained behind organizing his retreating forces, directing stragglers, and was last seen assisting the wounded to a place of safety. These actions indicate that General Dean felt it necessary to sustain the courage and resolution of his troops by examples of excessive gallantry committed always at the threatened portions of his front lines. The magnificent response of his unit to this willing and cheerful sacrifice, made with full knowledge of its certain cost, is history. The success of this phase of the campaign is in large measure due to General Dean's heroic leadership, courageous and loyal devotion to his men, and his complete disregard for personal safety.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

1. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Corporal Coleman C. Ellison (Service No. RA14326811) (then private), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company B, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy near Chung Chon-ni, Korea, on 2 August 1950. While advancing with his company across a bridge west of Chung Chon-ni, he spotted a group of the enemy in a gully attempting to flank the column. Realizing the danger, Corporal Ellison, although not a squad leader, on his own initiative collected and led a squad, attacked, and destroyed this group. After advancing a short distance, the column was ambushed and received devastatingly accurate machine-gun, mortar, and 20-mm fire from the front and flanks. An estimated 100 enemy were in position on the right flank on top of a rolling cliff and their heavy fire was inflicting many casualties. Corporal Ellison ran to the base of the cliff and started climbing. This daring action inspired the platoon to follow, scale the cliff, and assault the hostile position. Reaching the top of the cliff, the platoon was pinned down by heavy enemy fire. Seeing this desperate situation, Corporal Ellison sprang up and dashed to the enemy's flank, where he laid down accurate enfilade fire on the position. Expendng his ammunition, he continued to advance, throwing grenades that destroyed the machine guns holding up the platoon's advance. Out of grenades, he ran to the platoon's position and seizing an automatic rifle from a wounded comrade, returned to the crest of the hill firing as he ran. The tenacious fearlessness of his frontal assault in the face of overwhelming odds and the devastating accuracy of his fire completely disrupted the enemy. In this action he killed 18 and routed the force, thereby enabling his platoon to take the hill and relieve the trapped column on the road below. Corporal Ellison's inspiring leadership and sustained heroism reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

First Lieutenant James A. Harris, Jr., O2204091 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Hwanggan, Korea, on 28 July 1950. When the enemy set up an observation post on a dominant hill and repulsed all attempts to be dislodged, he organized a patrol of seven men to take the hill. Climbing the precipitous slope, he led the patrol in a daring frontal assault against an estimated 40 enemy soldiers armed with automatic weapons and supported by mortars and artillery. Storming the position, his patrol routed the enemy in a bitter hour-long fight. When the hill was secured, 21 enemy dead were counted and nine machine guns and numerous maps were captured. Lieutenant Harris' conspicuous gallantry and superb fighting leadership enabled his unit to capture an important terrain feature and reflect great credit on himself and the United States Infantry.

II...DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant John R. Hardy, O2007768, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company E, 35th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Kuhe-ri, Korea. On 25 August 1950, his unit was providing fire cover for a patrol crossing the Nan River. As the first assault boat reached the enemy-held shore and the troops deployed, they were subjected to intense small-arms fire from three sides. Observing that the patrol's position was untenable, the company commander ordered an immediate withdrawal, but hardly had the order been given when the patrol leader was killed. The remaining eight men reentered the boat and started to return, barely getting underway when six were wounded by the intense enemy fire and the boat adrift started moving toward the enemy shore. Seeing the helpless plight of his comrades and disregarding the hail of enemy fire, Lieutenant Hardy plunged into the swift current, swam 60 yards to the boat, retrieved it, and succeeded in towing it safely to the friendly shore. This prompt display of outstanding heroism by Lieutenant Hardy reflects great credit on himself and is in keeping with the finest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

General Walton H. Walker, O3405, United States Army. 30 June to 23 December 1950.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General John H. Church, O8197, United States Army. 23 July 1950 to 20 January 1951.

2. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General David G. Barr, O10313, United States Army. 30 June 1950 to 20 January 1951.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Donald F. Brian (Service No. RA6565440), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 409th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy, on 18 and 19 December 1944, near Dorrenbach, Germany. His platoon attacking along the Siegfried Line on 18 December captured pillboxes. The next day, strong enemy counterattacks recaptured all but one of the pillboxes. Determined to find out whether the lone position was still holding, he advanced toward it, covered by two riflemen. As he approached the position, he was critically wounded by enemy machine-gun fire. Later, when the position was secured, he was missing. Sergeant Brian's initiative and courageous leadership reflect great credit on himself and the United States Army.

Private First Class George Zimmerman (Service No. 35001492), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 192d Tank Battalion, displayed gallantry in action, on 4 February 1942, at Agalomma Point, Bataan. Although suffering from battle fatigue and burns on his hands and face, he volunteered to drive his tank alongside a disabled tank and try to rescue its trapped crew. After several attempts, he, with the aid of another tank, drove off the enemy, reached the isolated vehicle, and rescued its crew. Private Zimmerman's determination and courage in this action saved the lives of his comrades and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

IV. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Captain Bernard Big, O58835 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company D, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action at Pemienta, Pangasinan Province, Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 29 and 30 January 1945. In command of a mortar section, he dug in his unit as part of the road block protecting the battalion zone. A heavy enemy attack penetrated the forward elements of a position and pinned down the defenders. Captain Big, with two soldiers, dashed from their shelters and put an 81-mm mortar into action. Assembling the mortar, they fired it by estimation, inflicting many enemy casualties. When the position became untenable, he withdrew his section to another location, set up the mortars, and supported a violent action that annihilated the hostile force. Captain Big's initiative, example, and heroic combat leadership during this battle are in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Infantry.

Private First Class John Ceffalo (Service No. 11018491), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 3d Battalion, 505th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 6 June 1944, in Normandy, France. Landing by parachute, he assembled, organized, and led a reinforced squad that repulsed numerous tank-led, hostile attacks. The enemy was intent on securing Ste Mere Eglise, but his squad, holding an important approach to the town, repulsed every assault, disabled two tanks, and disrupted the attacks. Private Ceffalo's initiative and superior combat leadership made a vital contribution to the success of his unit on D-day and reflect the highest credit on himself and the Parachute Infantry.

Major James W. Graham, O24064 (then captain), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Wallendorf, Germany, on 19 September 1944. When an enemy counterattack seized a position covering a route of withdrawal for another division, he led his seriously depleted unit across a bridge over the Sauer River. Facing heavy enemy artillery and small-arms fire, his unit climbed an almost impassable ascent, forced superior enemy elements from their position, and secured the bridgehead. As a result of this outstanding action, the division was able to complete its withdrawal. Major Graham's gallantry, personal courage, and aggressive leadership reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class Edward Sanders (Service No. RA12297410), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Haman, Korea, from 8 to 11 August 1950. Following an attack on his platoon by numerically superior enemy forces, he, with four other seriously wounded men, crawled through the brush to a secluded spot which afforded shade and water. After 2 days without food and no apparent relief, he overcame vehement objections and obtained permission to attempt the hazardous trip to friendly forces for help. Departing at night, he painfully crawled and dragged his way toward friendly lines. During the first day of his tortuous journey, he encountered a group of enemy soldiers and feigned death while they kicked and beat his face and body before leaving him for dead. Later, a poisonous snake bit his hand, adding further torture to his progress. Driven by his desire to help those depending upon him, he finally succeeded in crawling to a friendly position, where he refused evacuation until he made sure that a rescue party was dispatched to his helpless comrades. Private Sanders' indomitable spirit and tenacious devotion in insuring the rescue of his comrades reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

V. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 24th Infantry Division and the attached 441st Counter Intelligence Corps Team is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against numerically superior enemy forces in Korea during the period 2 July to 15 September 1950. When the gravity of the military situation in South Korea, and shortage of immediately available transportation necessitated piecemeal commitment of the division, despite its one-third shortage in all essential elements, the division faced an enemy force estimated to be a completely equipped corps, delayed this force and limited its advance. Stubbornly resisting the enemy's drive from Osan, where the advance force of two companies bravely blunted the driving onslaught, the division, though outnumbered, out-gunned, and outarmored in the face of continual frontal attacks, intense guerilla activities and infiltration of exposed flanks, succeeded in delaying the enemy's main effort until United Nations reinforcements arrived in the critical combat zone. Fighting in the streets of Taejon, where the Division Commander himself led rocket launcher assaults, the enemy was made to pay dearly for every mile gained. Time and time again fierce fighting took place throughout the delaying action when front line units decimated waves of attacking enemy with rifle, machine-gun and artillery fire, then killed the remnants that reached their position with bayonet and grenades. On 24 July, when a grave threat to the vital port of Pusan was made by superior enemy forces from the west, the division was called upon to meet this crisis. With only 2 days rest, the 24th Infantry Division met this critical menace and foiled the enemy's attacks; battalions and companies tenaciously gave ground, exacting a heavy toll of enemy dead and stopped this advance. Moving to a sector on the central Naktong River front it resisted and later eliminated a dangerous enemy bridgehead that threatened the entire United Nations beachhead. This determined and successful attack completely destroyed one enemy division as a fighting force. The division again distinguished itself in early September when it reinforced a Republic of Korea unit whose lines had been breached in the Kyongju-Pohang sector. By skillful strong attacks this last serious threat to the final defensive area was eliminated. Throughout the entire period of this heroic action, officers and men distinguished themselves by conspicuous gallantry and courage. Service troops fought side-by-side with riflemen, supply and medical personnel performed their missions despite enemy infiltration and flank penetrations. Engineers fought as infantry and stopped hostile assaults with mines and demolitions. Artillerymen fought off attackers to keep their guns in action, in fact every man in the division was engaged in battle. The individual and collective heroism displayed by all ranks of the 24th Infantry Division in its valiant stand against great odds reflect the highest credit upon itself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

LIST OF UNITS AND CITATIONS	II
RESCISSIONS	III

I. GENERAL.—1. Confirmation.—The following list of units of the United States Army to which decorations have been awarded by cobelligerent foreign governments during World War II, together with the citations therefor, is confirmed in accordance with current regulations.

2. Wearing of foreign decorations.—The wearing of foreign decorations by individuals will be in accordance with AR 260-15 and the following:

a. French and Belgian Fourrageres.—Normally, two citations are required before a unit becomes eligible for the award of the Fourragere. The award of the Fourragere is not automatic, but must be specifically authorized by decree of the respective foreign government. A citation in orders or award of the Croix de Guerre to a unit does not authorize the wearing of the decoration by an individual. Likewise, no award of the Croix de Guerre to an individual will serve to constitute eligibility to wear the Fourragere. The Fourragere may be worn permanently by individuals who participated with the unit in both actions for which the unit was cited. The French Fourragere may be worn temporarily by individuals assigned to the unit subsequent to the time the award was made, but only so long as they remain with such unit. The Belgian Fourragere is not authorized to be worn temporarily.

b. Netherlands Orange Lanyard.—The Netherlands Orange Lanyard may be worn permanently by individuals who participated with the unit in the action for which it was cited and temporary wearing of the Lanyard is not authorized.

Placed under the command of General JUIN, Chief of the French Army Detachment, at the beginning of the Tunisian Campaign in 1943, distinguished itself in the Ouseltia valley, supporting effectively the French 19th A. In March 1943, it received the shock of the enemy offensive at Kasserine, and after hard fighting, stopped the German armor and took successively Gafsa and El Guettar, at the price of great sacrifices. In April 1943, it strongly attacked near Beja and menaced Mateur in such a way that at the beginning of May, Mateur fell, opening the way to Tunis.

During this operation, the 1st Infantry Division of the United States Army and the attached units, after valiant efforts, captured more than 5,000 prisoners, killed or wounded 4,000 enemy soldiers and captured or destroyed more than 1,500 vehicles and 40 tanks. The Division also took the Commanding Officer of the 6th German Airborne Division, prisoner.

The Division fought against the enemy in the northern flank of the German counteroffensive in the Ardennes in the area of Eupen-Malmedy. These counterattacks were launched by the enemy on 28 and 30 December 1944, but they were repulsed after heavy combat. This action prevented the expansion of the critical break-through. Independently of the strenuous defense, a strong base was established that later formed the pivot of attacks against western penetrations of the enemy. After the enemy counterattacks were efficiently stopped, the 1st Infantry Division of the U. S. Army and the attached units pushed forward to reduce the pockets and throw the enemy out of Belgian territory. On 2 September 1944, at 0930, its reconnaissance elements crossed the Belgian border near Rume. These were the first American troops to enter Belgium and this marked the beginning of the liberation of the country. The Division fought violently and threw back the enemy on the Albert Canal. Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

During the German offensive in the Ardennes, in December 1944, the 2d Armored Division was located in Germany, on the banks of the Roer River between Linnich and Julich. On 21 December 1944, it received orders to proceed to the region of Havelange, Avin Clavier. This movement of more than 100 miles was accomplished in less than 24 hours and on 23 December 1944, the Division established contact with hostile forces at Celles. From the 23d to the 28th of December 1944, violent engagements developed in the Celles salient and brought about the total destruction of the spearhead division of the Fifth Panzer Army. This victory blocked the German advance and prevented it from reaching the Meuse. From thence on, the Division pushed back the enemy forces and, after having retaken many communities of the Ardennes region, it liberated the town of Houffalize.

BELGIAN FOURRAGERE (1940), awarded under Decree No. 514, 22 May 1945, as amended by Decree No. 3864, 28 April 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A unit inspired by the highest sentiments of duty. On 8 August 1944, it was charged with destroying a bridge 5 kms. back of the enemy lines, in the region of Lonlay l'Abbaye. It accomplished its mission with the most absolute contempt for danger. Finding the bridge occupied, the 2d Platoon attacked and accomplished its task under enemy fire, evincing the finest qualities of bravery and army discipline.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This magnificent Battalion is animated by the greatest sacrificial spirit. During a long offensive, which lasted from 14 to 28 November 1944 and which was to lead the 2d Armored Division from the Puffendorf to the Roer, they courageously attacked a powerful antitank pit, heavily mined and protected by heavy artillery. In spite of serious losses, they crossed the pit and followed up their initial success by seizing Edernan, Mertzzenhausen and Barmen, thus permitting the 2d Armored Division to attain its objectives.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A fine combat unit, spirited and animated by exceptional courage. It distinguished itself particularly during the operation in Normandy, near Grimesnil, on 29 and 30 July 1944. Its mission was to capture a road by which the German forces were withdrawing. It withstood, without weakening, the attack of an enemy column of 2,500 men and 90 vehicles, during more than 6 hours of fierce hand-to-hand fighting. In spite of the enemy numerical superiority of 4 to 1, it destroyed this enemy force, killing 450 men and taking 900 prisoners. This brilliant action contributed to the annihilation of the enemy forces in Normandy and success of the Allied landing.

During the period 13 to 19 December 1944, the 2d Infantry Division with attached units received the order to cease its participation in the great attack in which it was completely engaged. It was ordered then to play the principal part in the constitution of the "North Shoulder" of the Ardennes. This was accomplished by resistance, as a stone wall, the enemy attack, in a way to limit and check it and to give our forces the time and the opportunity to organize the struggle against the German plan. Its operation led to an absolute success under the most difficult conditions of pressure and climate.

French Republic, with the following citation:

An elite Division which has remained faithful to the traditions of courage and sacrifice which it had already made during the last war, when it won the nickname "Rock of the Marne." Under the vigorous impetus of an energetic chief and skilled maneuverer, General O'Daniel, it fought without interruption for 169 days, from the Mediterranean beaches to the banks of the Rhine. Placed under the command of the Commanding General of the 1st French Army, for the operations of the Alsace pocket, it contributed greatly, by the power of its repeated attacks, to the victorious battle of Colmar. During the night of January 23 to 24, 1945, it succeeded in crossing, by surprise, the Fecht and Ill and in taking the first enemy position, in spite of a violent snow-storm and a field of action sown with obstacles. Allowing the adversary no respite and pushing its action harder and harder, it crossed the Colmar Canal in order to circle and conquer by sheer fighting, the city of Neuf-Brisach, thereby cutting one of the two remaining routes of retreat left to the German troops still defending the Colmar region. It captured during these actions, more than 4,000 prisoners thus concluding brilliantly the series of glorious operations which took place from the Mediterranean to the Rhine.

During the furious combat of 27 to 30 July 1944, the unit broke the German defense and captured Coutance, then the key position of Avranches. Immediately exploiting the break-through by a maneuver of great boldness, it plunged into the break in the enemy's rear lines. In less than 10 days, the unit decisively overcame the German counterattacks, freed Rennes, Vannes, and Nantes and confined the enemy to Lorient. Continuing its advance on a 300-kilometer front, it reached the Loire and seized Nantes on 11 August 1944. Its crushing action largely contributed to the success of the campaign in France.

Army Corps, the 9th Infantry Division of the United States, and attached units, crossed the Belgian border and during the period from 3 to 13 September 1944, defeated the German Army in a decisive manner, in the sector of Florennes-Namur-Dinant-Givet, liberating all the Belgian territory included in this zone. During that time also, the passage of the Meuse was forced at Dinant and they advanced on the Huy-Theux axis. The division and attached units then pushed back the enemy beyond the German border to within the Siegfried fortifications.

From 20 December 1944 to 26 January 1945, in the course of the German offensive in the Ardennes, the 9th Infantry Division of the United States and the attached units received the mission to defend the north flank of the counter-offensive led by the V Corps of the United States Army in the sector of Eupen (Belgium) Montjoie (Germany). Facing an obstinate defense, it attacked without respite. The enemy counterattacked but was unable to enlarge the breach caused by its break-through. After the enemy attack was unsuccessful, the 9th Infantry Division and the attached units attacked and forced the German Army to retreat and abandon the Belgian Territory in that region. A battalion animated by a remarkable dash and combativeness. It distinguished itself especially on 18 June 1944, in the region of Saint Jacques de Nehou. Attacked by elements of the 7th German Division, it heroically withstood the impact of an enemy which was very keen and greatly superior in numbers. In spite of an intense fire, it immediately countered with all its resources and succeeded in throwing back the enemy beyond the Seve, thus permitting the 9th U. S. Infantry Division to take possession of St. Christophe du Foc.

During the days from 6 to 9 August 1944, in the region of Charence Le Roussel, it was attacked and encircled by a greatly superior force that was resolved to conquer at any cost. It inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in combat which involved hand-to-hand fighting. It forced the enemy to withdraw beyond the Mortain-Avranches road, leaving 10 tanks on the terrain.

After having mopped up the coast west of Cotentin, it reached, on 24 June, the outer defenses of Cherbourg, occupied Fort Equeredeville on 25 June, then, exploiting its success, liberated the towns of Orville, La Hague, Greville, and Grouchy, after violent combat. In spite of heavy losses, it entered Cherbourg after having captured more than 3,000 prisoners, 40 antiaircraft guns and a large amount of matériel. It thus demonstrated the highest military qualities and contributed, with exemplary bravery, to the outcome of the battles which liberated France.

Stopped at the Chateau of Freuzenberg by an enemy greatly superior in numbers, it nevertheless continued its attacks in the face of a very heavy artillery barrage and succeeded in winning the positions. Due to magnificent courage and high conception of duty, it captured more than 450 prisoners in 5 days of deadly combat, destroyed almost three enemy battalions and captured a large amount of matériel. It contributed to the defeat of the enemy in a particularly difficult action.

LUXEMBOURG CROIX DE GUERRE, 1940-1945, awarded by Decree dated 31 October 1949, by the Minister of the Armed Forces, Luxembourg, with the following citation:

The 28th Infantry Division, Army of the United States, is cited and awarded the Croix de Guerre, 1940-1945, for military operations during the month of September 1944 in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg which resulted in the driving of the German Army from Luxembourg soil and the liberation of Luxembourg from the Nazis, thereby restoring to the citizens of Luxembourg their basic individual rights. During these operations, the 28th Infantry Division swept on a north-south line through Luxembourg, liberating the Esleck, including the towns of Wiltz, Clervaux, Weiswampach, and Trois-Vierges. One combat team of the division, the 112th Combat Team, took part in the liberation of Luxembourg City on 10 September 1944. Later, during the month of December 1944, the same Division, suffering extremely heavy casualties, gallantly defended Luxembourg soil in the Battle of the Bulge, taking the full impact of the German assault on its division front, and delaying the advance of elements of nine German divisions for four days, thereby allowing reinforcements to assemble at Bastogne, Belgium, and stop the German advance.

A magnificent unit which engaged in the battle of La Manche. It stood out especially because of its bravery and fighting spirit at the time of the attack on Hill 122, on 15 July 1944. After having taken this position, which was heavily fortified, mined and occupied by an enemy which was greatly superior in numbers, the 134th Infantry Regiment, exploiting its initial success, broke into St. Lo and engaged for 1 week an enemy who had resolved to resist at any cost.

A battalion animated by the greatest qualities of courage and combativeness. It was given the mission of reestablishing contact with units momentarily encircled and, heedless of losses, broke through the enemy lines and was successful in extricating a battalion that was in a critical situation. Executing a daring maneuver, it seized by surprise attack, the pass and town of Sainte-Marie-aux-Mines, in spite of a very difficult terrain and the savage resistance of the enemy. Following up immediately, it occupied Ste.-Croix-aux-Mines, Rombac-Le-Franc, and Haut-Koenigsburg, broke into the place of Alsace and seized Selestat 2 December 1944, at the cost of hard fighting. This established a wide breach in the German defense system. Next, with untiring ardor and energy, and in spite of desperate counterattacks, the unit carried on daily combat, which completely broke up the defensive organization of the enemy. In the course of these actions, it took more than 3,000 prisoners and

A remarkable unit which displayed splendid endurance and exceptional fighting zeal. It distinguished itself brilliantly from 21 to 24 November 1944 in hard combat. It mopped up in the forest of Parroy and materially aided the 2d Armored French Division to break through to the Col de Saverne. In spite of heavy losses, it fought stubbornly against a dashing and fanatical enemy, preventing it from reappearing in the Vosges. It thus contributed greatly to the liberation of Baccaret, Phalsbourg, and Saverne.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 5, 14 January 1949, by the Minister of National Defense, with the following citation:

Splendid unit incited by savage vigor, landed in Normandy in June 1944. Covered itself with glory in the battles of Saint-Lo and at Haye-du-Puits. Participated in the capture of Fougères, Laval, and Le Mans, then crossing the Seine at Maintes-Gassicourt, on 19 August 1944, inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy before marching triumphantly into Paris on 27 August 1944. By its bold actions, contributed largely to the success of the Allied armies and the liberation of Paris.

In spite of the stiff resistance of the enemy and its very heavy losses, it managed by its military qualities and the gallantry of its personnel, to occupy the important position of Saint Mere-l'Eglise, thus making possible the success of the landing in strength of the Allied liberating troops.

Normandy. It formed part of the 82d Airborne Division and occupied central road points and river communications commanding the access to the landing beaches of the Cotentin. It sacrificed itself on the banks of the Merderet and the Douve, at Saint Sauveur le Vicomte and at Etienneville from 6 to 20 June 1944, in order to stem at all cost the advance of the German reinforcements which far outnumbered them in strength and fire power. It forced the enemy to remain on the defense, thus permitting the arrival of the main Allied force. FRENCH FOURRAGERE in the colors of the Croix de Guerre, awarded under Decision No. 161, 6 April 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1034, 4 October 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

This elite division which had gone with great elan through the campaigns of Tunisia, Sicily, Italy, Holland, and France, again distinguished itself particularly in the battle of the Ardennes from 17 to 31 December 1944. Called upon as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command in the evening of 17 December at the time when they were in the vicinity of Reims, the division was able to take up combat positions in the region of Werbomont only 24 hours later and this under very severe climatic conditions. Progressing toward Ambleve and the Salm, the division opened and maintained a corridor for the elements of four American divisions which were surrounded in the vicinity of St. Vith, thus giving new courage to the engaged units. The division had prevented the enemy from piercing the north flank of the pocket created by the offensive of Von Rundstedt and thus succeeded in saving the city of Liege and its surroundings from a second occupation by the Germans.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1034, 4 October 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

After having excelled in defensive warfare at the banks of the Salm and the Ambleve, and after having repelled successfully the repeated attacks of the best German shock troops, the 82d Airborne Division with the 508th Parachute Infantry Regiment attached, in spite of extreme cold and excessively deep snow, went on the offensive themselves and advanced to the German border, capturing 2,500 German prisoners, including five battalion commanders. This fighting was extremely valorous as the organic composition of the division handicapped the unit considerably, not having at their disposal, as any other infantry division would have, heavy weapons to support their attack. During 23 days, under most painful and adverse conditions, the veterans of the 82d Airborne Division did not cease to give a wonderful example of courage and heroism, exemplifying their fighting spirit by several remarkably brilliant actions. By its valor, the division wrote another page in heroic annals of Allied airborne troops and rendered an important service to Belgium and to the Allied cause by establishing the necessary basis for the new pursuit of the enemy toward the Rhine River.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 367, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid airborne unit which gave proof of extraordinary heroism in the course of the Normandy landing operations on 6 June to 8 July 1944. It parachuted before dawn on the assault beach on 6 June and in spite of all sorts of difficulties, succeeded in regrouping. Attacked by important forces with violent fire, it nevertheless occupied positions of strategic importance for the landing of friendly troops. This action opened the way to La Douve and the Carentan road for the assault troops. In this way, it greatly contributed to the first phase of the liberation of France.

By its glorious resistance from 22 to 27 December 1944, in the hardest time of the Battle of the Ardennes, it kept, completely isolated, the key position Bastogne. The 101st Airborne Division with its attached units caused the failure of the enemy's plan. This required a deep penetration into Belgium and this division served as a pivot to the operations of the counteroffensive which liberated the invaded territories. During these operations, because of its courage, endurance, discipline and experience in fighting, the 101st Airborne Division pushed back the unceasing attacks of the elements belonging to eight German divisions, in spite of scarce supplies. The 101st Airborne Division of the U. S. Army landed by parachute, sea-planes and small boats on 6 June 1944, on the seashore of France, and was one of the first units ready to attack the enemy in the campaign which later liberated Europe which was occupied by the Germans. It was necessary that small detachments enter into hard combat at many places to reunite themselves at the assembly points. They inflicted big losses to the enemy and the division had many losses itself while winning back important points, attacking and keeping centers of communication, bridges and high positions. The success with which these missions were performed prevented the enemy from using reinforcements which could have succeeded in preventing the landing of the VII Corps of the U. S. FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable battalion whose brilliant conduct was greatly valued during the battles of Saint Vith and Manhay on 16 to 23 December 1944. Attacked by an enemy operating in force but filled with the desire to conquer at any cost, it remained in position and, with direct and accurate fire, kept the attackers from access to vital communications south of Manhay. Short of food, water and pharmaceutical products, the 589th Field Artillery Battalion endured three attacks without flinching, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and forced him to retire.

CROSS OF WAR MERIT, awarded under Royal Italian Army Order No. 927, 17 November 1945, by the Minister of War, with the following citation:

In testimony of the personal courage, abnegation, capacity for organization and realization of the officers and men of the Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, shown in the course of the campaign of liberation, to the benefit of the civil population so long bound by hard servitude and disastrously injured by the devastation of war. The generous military spirit and high and humanitarian sense of responsibility, inspired by the most noble traditions of the American people, contributed in a decisive manner to reinforce the bonds of admiration, of respect, and of friendly understanding between the two peoples.

The units of the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command played a heroic part in the organization and maintenance of the antiaircraft defense, with a view of opening the Antwerp Port on 28 November 1944. They caused the failure of the supreme attack of V-1 bombs thrown by the Germans located in the Trier area, as well as of the areas situated at the northwest of Nimegue. Due to the unceasing efforts of the personnel belonging to these units, the matériel destruction and loss of lives for the Belgian civilians as well as for the Allied troops was held to the minimum. Fighting day and night, these military personnel performed their duty in a remarkable way. This resulted in the liberation of the harbor of Antwerp and the forwarding of supplies of ammunition to five Allied armies. The heroic behavior of these units honors very much the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command and the Allied forces.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 2509, 17 June 1946, as amended by Decree No. 4309, 26 September 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The units of the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command, at the moment of the supreme offensive thrown by the Wehrmacht on 16 December 1944, established, without precedent against the attempts of destruction, an antiaircraft defense system of the harbor of Antwerp. The results of this heroic action, the success of which was of vital importance to the Allied cause in general, and for the maintenance of the liberation of Belgium in particular, proved so effective that the utilization of the harbor was never interrupted. The action of the officers and men, together with their unceasing efforts and their technical ability, closed the campaign with a result that outstanding success was obtained by the destruction of 97 percent of the pilotless aircraft engaged by the command.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 128, 22 July 1944, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

An outstanding observation and spotting unit under the command of Col. J. D. Ellerson. This unit completed its observation and listening posts during the winter campaign on the rain and snow-swept peaks of the Mainarde, Monna Casale, and Monna Acquafondata. From these positions they furnished, in day and night operations, extremely valuable information to the Allied counterbattery staff. From 11 May 1944, it supplied the artillery unit of the French Expeditionary Corps with an exact lay-out charted by the sound and flashes of numerous enemy guns and, in spite of losses in personnel, carried out its difficult task with admirable zeal.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable unit characterized by a spirit of collaboration, zest for battle, and magnificent military qualities. From 14 September 1944 to 8 February 1945, it operated with the I Corps of the First French Army. In spite of the violent enemy attacks, the difficulty of the terrain, and the atmospheric rigors, it tirelessly furnished the most valuable information. Thanks to this unit, more than 700 enemy artillery positions and other installations were located. Their magnificent aid contributed in a large measure to driving the Germans from the Belfort Gap and to the liberation of Alsace.

 Subject to the orders of the Commanding General of the French Expeditionary Corps during the entire period from 11 May to 23 June 1944, it never failed to contribute, with the finest spirit of cooperation, devotion and self-sacrifice, to the victorious operations conducted with the French troops. It particularly distinguished itself on 11 May 1944, at Castelforte, and in the lower Garigliano, and on the following days at Ausonia, Esperia, and Pice. It took part in the brilliant and victorious operations of Roccagera, Lenola, Colleferro, from May to June 1944, as well as in pursuit of operations up to Siena.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This shock unit particularly distinguished itself in the course of the landing operations in Normandy, 6 June 1944. At Pointe du Hoc, in spite of great losses, the unit captured, by storm, cliffs commanded by heavy guns which were captured and destroyed, thus permitting the main body of the Allied forces to land.

It attracted particular notice while engaged in the battle of Normandy from 21 June to 1 July 1944, at Pointe de la Hague. Attacked day and night by forces greatly superior in number and subjected to very violent artillery fire, it nevertheless occupied positions vital to the protection of Cherbourg, occupying Vauville, Thiebot, Bouchard, and Dannery. Its action contributed in a large measure to the elimination of the enemy from le Cap de la Hague.

This group was composed of the 17th and the 933d Field Artillery Battalions. FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A Battalion inspired with verve and combat ardor worthy of praise. It distinguished itself during the battle of Mons on 2 September 1944. Cut off from the main body of the unit, and in a very exposed position, it endured, without weakening, the repeated attacks of an SS Battalion. Assisted by four light tanks, it attacked compelling the enemy to retreat, taking 250 prisoners. Continuing the pursuit on the morning of 3 September 1944, it established contact with an important enemy column. The 18th Field Artillery Battalion attacked it on the spot and after three hours of combat, forced the Germans to break off and to abandon 14 vehicles, numerous dead, and 338 were taken prisoners.

tant degree to the liberation of Belgium. On 2 September 1944, it resisted a Battalion of SS troops on the Mons road, which resulted in not only the defeat and surrender of the German unit, but also prevented a later attack upon the supply trains. On 3 September the members of the 18th Field Artillery Battalion acted as infantry to lead a tank attack against a strongly entrenched force on the outskirts of Mons.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 3311, 3 January 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The 18th Field Artillery Battalion again distinguished itself during the battle of the Ardennes in December 1944 and January 1945. From its position on the north flank of that zone, it hurled back the German troops and advanced swiftly toward Malmedy and Stavelot in support of the 30th Infantry Division of the U. S. Army. It resisted the constant and fanatical break-through attacks of the enemy. On 24 December 1944, this unit received the command to go immediately into the Manhay-Grand Mesnil zone, to halt the advance of the German attack. By a night march in the snow, the battalion reached the position indicated and was attached to the 75th Infantry Division and placed in support of the 13th Armored Division. By its effective and accurate fire, the 18th Field Artillery Battalion helped localize the break-through and contributed in an invaluable manner to definitely stopping the German attack. Throughout the entire campaign, fighting to the limit of their endurance in adverse weather conditions and against constant attacks, all the members of the 18th Field Artillery Battalion conducted themselves with gallantry, devotion and determination, and contributed to the defeat of the common enemy.

Pressing the attack without respite in the face of a stubborn defense, the enemy was incapable of expanding the breach caused by this break-through. After the enemy attack had been contained successfully, the 9th United States Division and the units attached to it took up the attack themselves and forced the German army to fall back and leave the territory of Belgium in this area.

It attacked, without artillery preparation, positions strongly held by a trained and fanatical enemy. In spite of gunfire which was annihilating its ranks, this unit gave proof of wonderful dash and, aided by tanks, captured the position. It held this position despite terrific bombardment. An engineer unit possessing a remarkable combative value and a very pronounced sense of heroism. A crack unit which successfully completed the Tunisian, Sicilian, Italian, French, and Dutch campaigns, and distinguished itself in the battle of the Bulge from 17 to 31 December 1944. In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command; 24 hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region about Werbomont. Advancing toward the Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American Divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

It progressed, in spite of the added difficulty of cold weather and a deep fall of snow, to the German frontier, capturing 2,500 prisoners, 5 of which were Battalion Commanders. Some deeds were extremely valorous, since its table of equipment presented a serious handicap, in not being able to utilize heavy equipment meant to support them in action like a normal division. A magnificent group, whose brilliant operational successes during the period from 20 August 1944 to 10 February 1945, while fighting with or in support of the 2d Armored Division (French), impel admiration. Boldly thrusting out deep reconnaissances east of the Mouldre around Crespieres and up to the Moselle near Charmes, it established a bridgehead and held it all alone. Toward Luneville and Baccarat, it engaged in protective and advance guard missions, first at Andelot and then from the Marne to the Moselle and in the La Mortagne area. It took the village of Mont, overran Vaucourt and reached the Emmersville, Gieslautern, Wadgassen line, where it held out stubbornly in spite of violent German counterattacks on 31 December 1944 and 1 January 1945. During the course of these operations, the 106th Cavalry Group showed tenacity and spirited operating efficiency of the highest praise. Never letting up in its drive, even when it had to battle against a determined enemy superior in numbers, it carried out all its assigned missions, seeking contact which the enemy was attempting to elude. This unit demonstrated the finest military attributes and incomparable battle attainments.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 3865, 28 April 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

In a brilliant military operation of four days, the 113th Cavalry Group progressed 130 miles on a front of 20 miles, crossing Belgium between Charleroi and Brussels, in order to reach the Albert Canal and the Meuse in the Tongres area, on a mission of combat reconnaissance, without the continuous support of the other combat units of the XIX Corps, who were temporarily immobilized because of the lack of gasoline. In spite of the unknown position of the enemy, the danger of being cut off from their Corps or immobilized in enemy territory because of the lack of fuel, the firm resolution of the 113th Cavalry Group to carry on its mission was never shaken for an instant. The bravery and intelligence with which this advance was effected permitted the Allies to seize the Albert Canal line rapidly, reconnoiter the fort of Eben-Emael, the Meuse, and thus free from German domination an area of about 2,500 square miles, including hundreds of Belgian villages and towns.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 3865, 28 April 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

By a brave maneuver, the 113th Cavalry Group, under the XIX Corps, entered into the combat sector of the VII Corps and cleared a path, while contending with the stubborn resistance of the enemy on a particularly unfavorable terrain for mechanized cavalry operations. In spite of the difficulty of the mission, the presence of two important obstacles, the Albert Canal and the Meuse, and of being separated from the XIX Corps, the 113th Cavalry Group, operating with bravery and confidence, cleared the east bank of the Meuse and thus made possible the construction of a bridge, its crossing by the 30th Infantry Division, and the attack which ensued toward the northeast to skirt the defensive works of the enemy on the Meuse.

In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command. Twenty-four hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region about Werbomont. Advancing toward Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by Von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

The 82d United States Airborne Division, with its attached units, after having delivered a marvelous counteroffensive thrust along the Salm and Ambleve, and after having withstood repeated attacks of the best German units, put up a stubborn resistance to all hostile measures. It progressed, in spite of the added difficulty of cold weather and a deep fall of snow, to the German frontier, capturing 2,500 prisoners, 5 of which were battalion commanders. Some deeds were extremely valorous, since its table of equipment presented a serious handicap, in not being able to utilize heavy equipment meant to support it in action, like a normal division. For 23 days, under the most trying circumstances, the veterans of the 82d Airborne Division did not cease to be an example of heroic courage, distinguishing their combat with several brilliant actions. With its valor enhancing the traditional spirit of the Allied Airborne troops, it has rendered immense services to Belgium and to the Allied cause in establishing bases necessary for a new drive against the enemy and the Rhine.

A unit which distinguished itself particularly during operations of the Vosges from 17 September to 13 November 1944. It was charged with supporting the II Corps of the French Army, and rendered valuable assistance in disorganizing the enemy by its fire behind the lines. Participating in the offensive of Belfort, it distinguished itself again from 14 November 1944 to 10 March 1945, by aiding with all of its fire the I Corps of the French Army, thus permitting the infantry to advance with the minimum of losses.

Under the command of Lt. Col. Henry P. Ward, this unit took part in all the operations of the French Expeditionary Corps, with magnificent zeal, from the month of February 1944. On the occasion of the attack of 11 May, it contributed in a great measure by the accuracy of its shooting to the neutralizing of the enemy artillery. During the pursuit of the enemy, it contributed to their disorganization by pushing forward its batteries and by rapid and outright firing. Its actions afforded the French forces particularly efficient support.

A crack unit which successfully completed the Tunisian, Sicilian, Italian, French, and Dutch campaigns, and distinguished itself in the Battle of the Bulge from 17 to 31 December 1944. In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command; 24 hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region of Werbomont. Advancing toward the Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by Von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

It progressed, in spite of the added difficulty of cold weather and a deep fall of snow to the German frontier, capturing 2,500 prisoners, 5 of which were battalion commanders. It demonstrated an unshaken will not to yield to the enemy in the course of violent battles which developed from 12 to 14 November 1944 at Sanry-Sur-Neid. Capturing this town on 12 November, it had to meet, one after the other, six furious counter-attacks carried out by doubled forces which brought the enemy, after street battles, to the interior of the town. It remained in possession of the town by totally destroying the attacking enemy forces. It inflicted more than 500 casualties, including those killed, wounded or prisoners.

An excellent unit which especially distinguished itself at the time of the capture of Cherbourg. By the accuracy of its fire, it destroyed several enemy guns which were hindering the advance of the troops. In addition, it showed its valor during the street battles in Cherbourg and Greville, locating and neutralizing numerous arms very deadly to the infantry.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A magnificent unit, tireless and full of bravery. During 1944, in spite of sharp resistance on the part of the enemy, it performed over 2,900 photographic missions at low altitude in unprotected planes. This action brought to the Allied Command the elements essential to the success of the landing and then of the Allied ground operations. This unit facilitated the rapid destruction of enemy communication lines and military installations. By its ability and spirit of sacrifice, it contributed greatly to the liberation of French territory.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1392, 20 November 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

Exceptional heroism was displayed in combat during the period of 6th of June 1944, to the 30th of September 1944. During this time, the IX Tactical Air Command had the enormous task to assure the air-land cooperation for the benefit of the ground forces of the American and Allied Armies, at the moment of their victorious advance, which, from the Normandy beaches, led them to the initial phases of the liberation of Belgium. All along the hard period of combat operations, the intrepid pilots of the IX Tactical Air Command operated from bases situated immediately in the rear of the advance echelons of the ground forces, contributed strongly in opening a way for the land units in march, destroying the enemy centers of communication, harassing the concentrations of troops, machine-gunning and bombarding the columns of tanks and sweeping the sky of the enemy planes. The pursuit-plane bombardiers of the IX Tactical Air Command, in particular, displayed exceptional technical cleverness and science of combat at the time of their operations above Belgium. Due Exceptional services were performed from the 16th of December 1944 to the 25th of January 1945. Its staff settled at Verviers and its tactical groups were distributed on the Belgian airfields or on airfields in the north of France. The IX Tactical Air Command bore all the weight of the Ardennes counter-offensive in December 1944. Without stopping, it sent its planes away on reconnaissance missions, in very perilous atmospheric conditions, directed formations of pursuit planes and pursuit-plane bombardiers against the enemy, throwing, ceaselessly, its intrepid pilots against the concentrations of troops, the communications, the columns of tanks, and the enemy lines of supply. During these operations, it succeeded in destroying a great quantity of planes, troops, and matériel of the enemy. The increasing efforts of the pilots and of the heroic airmen of the IX Tactical Air Command, as well as the heroism and military perspicacity of their chiefs, contributed in a large measure in pushing back and defeating the enemy.

vast concentrations of German Armored troops in the region of Malmedy. From 24 to 28 December 1944, the XXIX Tactical Air Command distinguished itself by the unceasing support it gave the land forces. In these 4 days, it made 145 sorties against the enemy, destroying 27 enemy planes, 34 tanks, 391 car transports, 31 armored tanks, 14 staff cars, 12 locomotives and 102 trains, including tank loadings. 556 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy during these operations which took place in Bastogne, St. Vith, Houffalize, St. Hubert, and Celles. From 1 to 15 January 1945, the planes of the XXIX Tactical Air Command pursued the enemy stubbornly in his retreat from Belgium, harassing the infantry columns and machine-gunning the tanks. They inflicted irreparable and decisive losses on the enemy at St. Vith and Vielsalm and Houffalize. The unceasing and heroic efforts of all the officers, warrant officers, and soldiers, from all the units of the XXIX Tactical Air Command, permitted this command to organize and execute the missions which were assigned to it. A glorious and decisive part belongs to them in the defeat of the enemy during the battle of the Ardennes. They contributed in a large part, because of their military virtue, to the liberation of Belgium.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 44, 8 August 1944, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

During April, May, and June 1944, it performed a very important part in the preparation and support of the Allied offensive actions which opened on 11 May 1944, in central Italy. It attacked the rear lines of the large opposing German forces in order to aid the French Army and particularly distinguished itself by the following actions: (1) On 12 May 1944, participated in the attack and destruction of an enemy division command post; (2) on 18 May 1944, attacked bridges and important communications lines; (3) on 24, 25, and 30 May 1944, it destroyed bridges completely, preventing any movement of enemy troops. Within that period, during which it flew more than 5,000 sorties, it dropped upon the enemy more than 10,000 tons of bombs, downed several fighter planes, and lost only 20 planes to the enemy due to antiaircraft. Skilled and formidable fighters, their results testify to the efficiency and tactical skill of the personnel and to the high competence and the experienced technique of the command.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable combat unit, possessing the finest military and professional qualities. It distinguished itself brilliantly from 25 June to 31 December 1944, during the massive raids on Germany, by accomplishing numerous hazardous missions and dropping over 13,000 tons of explosives on vital enemy centers which were stubbornly defended by numerous fighter planes and by a concentrated and murderous antiaircraft defense. In addition, it boldly parachuted supplies for the use of the French forces of the interior. By its sustained and effective action, it thus contributed to the collapse of the common enemy and to the liberation of France.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable reconnaissance unit, which was present on every Mediterranean battlefield from December 1942 to July 1944. The 111th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron contributed greatly to the destruction of enemy personnel with the number of reconnaissance missions executed over enemy lines in spite of heavy antiaircraft fire, with the value and accuracy of the information gathered, and with the adjustment of friendly artillery fire while in flight. Its excellent work made itself felt in the most critical situations in the battle in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, notably in the early part of 1943. It protected ship convoys by taking bearings and destroying enemy submarines. During the campaign in Sicily, in 1943, at the time of the landing at Salerno and especially during the campaign in Italy, it gave excellent protection to the victorious advance of the French Expeditionary Corps from the Garigliano to Siena. It performed a series of brilliant feats of arms, the principal ones which were during the break-through north of Cassino. It destroyed enemy communication lines and numerous bridges, among others, that of Pontecorvo which was of capital importance, before and after the large scale offensive against the Hitler line. Moreover, in the midst of combat, it trained the French reconnaissance group 2/33 of which profited by methods that had proven their effectiveness. Through the courage and ability of its crews during the course of 2,350 missions, totaling 9,250 flying hours, it contributed greatly to the collapse of the Axis forces in the Mediterranean Theater.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 236, 8 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This is a brilliant American Fighter Group. Under the stimulus of its commander, Col. Leonard C. Lydon, it contributed especially valuable and effective aid to the French Expeditionary Corps during the campaigns of Italy and France. Due to the skill and courage of its pilots, many vital enemy objectives were destroyed in the break-through of the sector of the lower Gargigliano. Their action permitted the French troops to accomplish their mission which was to capture Rome. On 20 May 1944, it dealt severe blows to the enemy communications system between Vallecorsa, Frosinone, and Ceprano. This prevented the enemy transports from escaping the combined Franco-American attack. By murderous attacks of its fighter-bomber Thunderbolts on the day of the invasion of the south of France, it collaborated brilliantly with the French troops, in spite of the desperate resistance of the enemy. From 20 January to 9 February 1945, it participated in the reduction of the pocket of Colmar, permitting the First French Army to drive the enemy from the left bank of the Rhine. This unit is cited as an example of successful work and continued collaboration between the French and American units.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid fighter group, distinguished for its heroism and its dash. During a surprise air attack (1 January 1945) on the airdrome occupied by this unit, it took off with courage and resolution under the machine-gun fire of German planes. Thanks to its remarkable combativeness, it succeeded in stopping the enemy attack by shooting down 23 of the assailants. Through this brilliant feat of arms, it restored to normal a situation that was considered critical and pregnant with consequences for the Allied forces, thus contributing to the maintenance of Allied pressure on the German Army and to a more rapid liberation of France.

its extraordinary endurance. It has to its credit more than 1,000 enemy planes destroyed or damaged. From the time it reached the line, on 1 December 1943, until 31 December 1944, it distinguished itself by its brilliant feats of arms. It furnished efficient and incessant air cover for the troops which landed in Normandy and advanced victoriously into central France by making 519 sorties, in spite of difficulty in supply and repair. It escorted bombers to Germany over great distances, destroying during the course of these raids, 324 enemy planes. In a bitter struggle, conducted often in the ratio of 10 to 1, it shot down 51 and 39 enemy planes, respectively, in the skies of France on 25 August 1944 and 12 September 1944. While on missions to machine-gun and bomb military objectives, it caused the additional destruction of 560 military transports, 490 locomotives, 1,120 cars, 14 bridges and 609 factories and military buildings. It greatly contributed to the collapse of the enemy forces and to the liberation of French soil.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable unit that is ardent and animated with the finest spirit of sacrifice. It distinguished itself brilliantly during the period from 11 February 1944 to 15 January 1945, by performing numerous and perilous escort missions involving machine-gun fire on ground targets and dropping equipment by parachute. The principal builder of Allied air supremacy had, by 18 November 1944, shot down the impressive number of 426 enemy planes and inaugurated new combat tactics by machine-gunning ground targets in the heart of Germany. By its military valor and its remarkable courage, it hastened the liberation of French territory.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 1387, 15 November 1945, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

An elite group which entered the operations on 20 October 1943, until 1 March 1944, and protected the extensive strategical bombardment of the 8th Air Force. It established the magnificent record of never permitting the loss of an escorted bomber by an enemy plane. From 1 March 1944, to 6 June 1944, this group attacked all important centers of communication in northern France, especially the bridges of the Seine River and of the Loire River and the air-ports of Gael, Saint Omer, and Abbeville. It actively participated in the battle of Normandy and in the surrender of St-Lo and Vire, including the capture of 20,000 German soldiers in the south of the Loire River. From 1 until 10 January 1945, which was a very critical period, it performed a great number of very successful missions in direct support of the 2d Armored Division. During that difficult period, it brought down 20 enemy planes and damaged 6 others. It destroyed numerous buildings, vehicles, trucks, and routes of communication of the enemy. This unit contributed greatly to the liberation of France and the final victory.

A magnificent combat unit, remarkable for its extraordinary heroism, its highly developed sense of duty, and a great tenacity in performing missions. It distinguished itself during the campaign in France. On numerous combat missions brilliantly conducted, especially from 1 to 10 August 1944, it hammered the enemy rear relentlessly, enabling the forces of liberation in Normandy to break through the Normandy front. From 11 to 15 August 1944, it neutralized the Falaise pocket with a deluge of fire and steel, always keeping planes in the air, in spite of difficulties of all kinds. On 17 August, it protected the French 2d Armored Division and opened for it the road to the capital. During the month of August 1944, it destroyed 36 enemy planes, 421 vehicles, 52 tanks, 22 locomotives, 899 cars, 12 bridges and ammunition dumps. It greatly contributed to the collapse of the German forces and to the success of the decisive campaign in Normandy.

It played an important role in the Allied victory by rapid and timely actions during the course of more than 2,500 sorties, notably from 6 June 1944, to 14 September 1944. It paralyzed the enemy reinforcements on their way to the Normandy beaches with its destructive power and hastened the enemy defeat by its offensives in support of the Allied ground forces which were driving through France. Within a little over 3 months, it destroyed 17 bridges, 17 gasoline dumps, 9 fortifications, and attacked 5 troop concentrations, 4 classified yards, and other important targets. Through the

A magnificent fighter unit, full of dash, tenacious and brave beyond all praise. It distinguished itself brilliantly during the campaign of Normandy on 29, 30, and 31 July 1944, by continuously providing air cover and protection for the shock columns of four armored divisions. In spite of losses and enemy anti-aircraft fire which was very dangerous by reason of a low ceiling, it contributed greatly to the success of the decisive break-through of the American First Army to the west of St.-Lo. During these 3 days, it attacked numerous targets on the ground, destroying 94 tanks and over 300 vehicles, and stopped the enemy attack by destroying 13 Focke-Wulf 190's and Messerschmitt 109's. Besides, in response to the appeals of the French forces of the interior, in Brittany, it furnished aid and protection. By its presence in the sky above Brittany, it gave encouragement to the resistance forces in the peninsula.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid unit, distinguished for its exceptional heroism, military valor and profound sense of duty. Its mission was to transport by plane-towed gliders, airborne troops charged with invading Normandy. It accomplished this dangerous, delicate, and essential task with sureness, precision, and speed, on the nights of 5 to 6 June 1944, during the next 2 days. In spite of violent enemy resistance and numerous ground obstacles, it attained the specific ground objectives, with very light losses, thanks to the ability of the pilots. It made it possible for the airborne troops to regroup rapidly and inject timely confusion into the enemy zone exposed to the frontal attack of the bulk of the landing forces. Through the courage and ability of its pilots, it executed its mission brilliantly and contributed materially to the collapse of the Atlantic wall and to the liberation of France.

A magnificent unit which nobly distinguished itself by opening hostilities against the Fortress Europe on 6 June 1944, in a brilliant feat of arms. It again distinguished itself from 20 to 28 August 1944, during the famous dash of the American 3d Army through France. It provided constant supplies of all kinds for the armored units dashing like arrows in pursuit of the enemy who was falling back of Metz. It piloted unprotected planes without armor or armament and landed on fields that had barely been liberated which were still full of mines, obstacles and shell holes. The crews of the 434th Troop Carrier Group completed 520 sorties and transported by night and by day in all sorts of weather about 3 million liters of gasoline, heavy oil and ammunition, and evacuated about 2,000 seriously wounded men from the front. Through their energy, their magnificent skill as aviators, and their coolness, these crews made a great contribution to the rapid liberation of the soil of France.

A magnificent formation which was animated with splendid courage and which gave proof of exceptional heroism and military valor. It distinguished itself brilliantly on the nights of 5 June and 7 June 1944, when the Allies landed. It successfully executed its delicate and dangerous mission on which depended the success of the airborne troop attack on the enemy rear lines in Normandy. It piloted planes with gliders without armor or armament. It arrived over the ground objectives in close formation, thus making it possible for the airborne troops to regroup rapidly and open combat immediately with all their means, in spite of a sharp enemy resistance. Through the courage and ability of its pilots, it made a remarkable contribution to the initial effort for the liberation of French territory.

A remarkable unit which proved its worth by opening the invasion route to the Allied forces on 6 June 1944, in Normandy, in a brilliant feat of arms. This exploit was repeated on 15 August 1944, when the Allies landed in Provence. The airborne invasion troops were transported in two missions. With unarmed and unprotected planes, towing heavy gliders, it took off from its base in Italy and crossed the Ligurian Sea. In spite of sharp enemy resistance, it crossed the coast of Provence and flew deep into the country in close formation, landing parachutists and gliders in a rather narrow zone which facilitated their essential regrouping for the success of the operation. Thus it was possible, through the ability and coolness of its crews, to hurl at the enemy's rear an important force consisting of 1,500 men, 70 pieces of artillery and several tons of ammunition and equipment, which contributed greatly to the rapid conquest of southern France.

A splendid unit, animated by the finest spirit of courage and tenacity. It distinguished itself brilliantly in air operations over occupied territories and Germany from 1 December 1943 to 1 February 1945. It made 225 combat missions and dropped over 13,000 tons of bombs on vital German centers, in spite of sharp enemy resistance, which cost it 97 planes as against 142 enemy planes shot down or damaged. By its sacrifices, its tireless devotion, and its excellent crew work, it made a great contribution to the liberation of French territory.

Of recent formation, active ever since its arrival in Europe, it immediately achieved a brilliant feat of arms by making over 830 sorties between 5 and 15 June 1944, to support and protect effectively the Allied invasion forces in the attack on the continent. V. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 24th Infantry Division and the attached 441st Counter Intelligence Corps Team is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against numerically superior enemy forces in Korea during the period 2 July to 15 September 1950. When the gravity of the military situation in South Korea, and shortage of immediately available transportation necessitated piecemeal commitment of the division, despite its one-third shortage in all essential elements, the division faced an enemy force estimated to be a completely equipped corps, delayed this force and limited its advance. Stubbornly resisting the enemy's drive from Osan, where the advance force of two companies bravely blunted the driving onslaught, the division, though outnumbered, out-gunned, and outarmored in the face of continual frontal attacks, intense guerilla activities and infiltration of exposed flanks, succeeded in delaying the enemy's main effort until United Nations reinforcements arrived in the critical combat zone. Fighting in the streets of Taejon, where the Division Commander himself led rocket launcher assaults, the enemy was made to pay dearly for every mile gained. Time and time again fierce fighting took place throughout the delaying action when front line units decimated waves of attacking enemy with rifle, machine-gun and artillery fire, then killed the remnants that reached their position with bayonet and grenades. On 24 July, when a grave threat to the vital port of Pusan was made by superior enemy forces from the west, the division was called upon to meet this crisis. With only 2 days rest, the 24th Infantry Division met this critical menace and foiled the enemy's attacks; battalions and companies tenaciously gave ground, exacting a heavy toll of enemy dead and stopped this advance. Moving to a sector on the central Naktong River front it resisted and later eliminated a dangerous enemy bridgehead that threatened the entire United Nations beachhead. This determined and successful attack completely destroyed one enemy division as a fighting force. The division again distinguished itself in early September when it reinforced a Republic of Korea unit whose lines had been breached in the Kyongju-Pohang sector. By skillful strong attacks this last serious threat to the final defensive area was eliminated. Throughout the entire period of this heroic action, officers and men distinguished themselves by conspicuous gallantry and courage. Service troops fought side-by-side with riflemen, supply and medical personnel performed their missions despite enemy infiltration and flank penetrations. Engineers fought as infantry and stopped hostile assaults with mines and demolitions. Artillerymen fought off attackers to keep their guns in action, in fact every man in the division was engaged in battle. The individual and collective heroism displayed by all ranks of the 24th Infantry Division in its valiant stand against great odds reflect the highest credit upon itself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Edward S. Hamilton, O22165 (then major), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 357th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism near Avril, France, on 8 September 1944. During a fierce attack by German infantry, tanks, and artillery, while his battalion was organizing its position on an exposed hill, Colonel Hamilton, with utter disregard for his safety, supervised, in person, the deployment of anti-tank guns to open positions atop the hill, where he personally directed the fire of one piece. By his valorous example and vigorous action, Colonel Hamilton inspired his battalion to retrieve a deteriorating position and press forward in its mission toward the Moselle River.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (fourth Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, O57, United States Army. June to October 1950.

III. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Warren C. Davis (Service No. 1805001C) (then private first class), Artillery, Army of the United States, a member of Battery F, 60th Coast Artillery (AA), displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 29 April 1942, on Corregidor, Philippine Islands. During an intense enemy artillery bombardment and with utter disregard for his personal safety, Sergeant Davis made frequent repairs to the fire control system of his battery, thereby enabling it to deliver antiaircraft fire.

Captain Dallas Dick, O1289705 (then first lieutenant), Adjutant General's Department, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 19th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry on Red Beach, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 20 October 1944. When his company commander was killed during the assault landing, he assumed command, assembled the company, and led its advance on the battalion objective. Moving across fire-swept terrain up Hill 522, he, with the advance elements, reached the crest as the enemy was advancing up the other side. He quickly built up a firing line that routed the enemy and secured this important terrain feature. At daylight the next morning, he dispatched patrols to contact the enemy and then reported for medical treatment. He had been wounded twice the preceding day. Captain Dick's aggressive troop leadership and sound tactical judgment reflect great credit on himself and his regiment. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Captain Dick, for service during the same period, as published in General Orders 32, Headquarters, 24th Infantry Division, 22 December 1944.)

Staff Sergeant George S. Garman (Service No. 35002386) (then private first class), Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 192d Tank Battalion, displayed gallantry in action, on 4 February 1942, on Agalomma Point, Bataan. Although suffering from battle fatigue and burns on his hands and face, he volunteered to drive his tank alongside a disabled tank and try to rescue its trapped crew. After several attempts, he, with another tank, drove off the enemy, reached the isolated vehicle, and rescued its crew. Sergeant Garman's determination and courage in this action saved the lives of his comrades and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Technical Sergeant Joseph J. Hrupcho (Service No. 20500736) (then staff sergeant), Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 192d Tank Battalion, displayed gallantry in action, on 4 February 1942, on Agalomma Point, Bataan. During a tank action, one of the vehicles was disabled and its crew endangered. While two tanks attempted to rescue the crew, Sergeant Hrupcho led an attack covering them until the men were released. Sergeant Hrupcho's determined and courageous action disorganized the enemy and saved a vital tank.

Master Sergeant Joseph Sedlar (Service No. RA6712917) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, United States Army, a member of the 21st Pursuit Squadron, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy on Bataan, Philippine Islands, from 28 January to 10 February 1942. During the battle to eliminate an enemy penetration on Quinauan Point, he was conspicuous by his bravery and was an example to the less experienced men in his platoon. He was constantly seeking action and voluntarily led patrols in mopping up hostile positions. Sergeant Sedlar's heroic conduct was directly responsible for the high morale and fine performance of his platoon.

2. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Warren C. Davis (Service No. 18050010) (then private first class), Artillery, Army of the United States, a member of Battery F, 60th Coast Artillery (AA), displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 2 May 1942, on Corregidor, Philippine Islands. In the face of concentrated air and artillery bombardment by the enemy and with complete disregard for his personal safety, Sergeant Davis assisted the battery range officer in manning the communications command post, thus enabling the battery to maintain its fire.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas F. Colteran, O924566, Ordnance Department, Army of the United States. June 1943 to September 1945. (So much of set. XIV, WD General Orders 28, 1947, as pertains to the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Lieutenant Colonel Colleran, for service during the same period, is rescinded.)

Lieutenant Colonel Roy T. Dodge, O21468, Corps of Engineers, United States Army. June 1944 to May 1945. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Colonel Dodge, for service from 27 June to 12 September 1944, as published in General Orders 40, Headquarters, 83d Infantry Division, 15 September 1944; the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster), for service from 13 September 1944 to 8 May 1945, as published in General Orders 140, Headquarters, 83d Infantry Division, 29 June 1945; and the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster), for service from 3 to 18 April 1945, as published in General Orders 22, Headquarters, United States Forces in Australia, 5 March 1946.)

Colonel Frank Dunkley, O240437 (then lieutenant colonel), General Staff Corps (Infantry), Army of the United States. July 1942 to January 1943.

Colonel Marcellus A. Johnson, Jr., O449552, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. July 1944 to July 1945.

Lieutenant Colonel Ciriaco Mortera, O1081, Infantry, Philippine Army. October 1942 to March 1944.

Colonel Charles H. Nichols, O104163 (then lieutenant colonel), Transportation Corps, Army of the United States. 10 May to 15 August 1943.

Colonel Frank A. Pettit, O16092 (then lieutenant colonel), Corps of Engineers, United States Army. February to October 1942.

V. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Officer, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Refik Tulga, Turkish Army. October 1947 to October 1950.

VI. Corporal Bobbie R. Coleman (Service No. RA18297422), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Service Company, 21st Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. He volunteered to man a fire truck engaged in fighting the fire that threatened to engulf the camp. At the risk of his life, he repeatedly answered fire calls and dashed into the wind-fanned flames to evacuate stricken personnel. Corporal Coleman saved many of his comrades' lives but suffered severe burns, which later cost him his life. His intense devotion to duty and great courage reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

Private Robert E. Moore (Service No. RA16317490), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Service Company, 21st Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. He volunteered to man a fire truck engaged in fighting the fire that threatened to engulf the camp. At the risk of his life, he repeatedly answered fire calls and dashed into wind-fanned flames to evacuate stricken personnel. Private Moore saved many of his comrades' lives but suffered severe burns, which later cost him his life. His intense devotion to duty and great courage reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class William H. Rau (Service No. RA19317235), United States Army, a member of Headquarters Detachment, 5022d Area Service Unit, distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. A member of the post fire department, he repeatedly risked his life to fight the intense forest and field fire that threatened the camp. He remained in dangerous areas to prevent the fire from spreading. Trapped by a sudden change of the wind, he was completely engulfed in flames and fatally burned. Private Rau's courageous action and intense devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Private Marvin A. Tevis (Service No. RA16320895), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Service Company, 21st Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. He volunteered to man a fire truck engaged in fighting the fire that threatened to engulf the camp. At the risk of his life, he repeatedly answered fire calls and dashed into wind-fanned flames to evacuate stricken personnel. Private Tevis saved many of his comrades' lives but suffered severe burns, which later cost him his life. His intense devotion to duty and great courage reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

Warrant Officer (junior grade) William J. Tripp (W903939), United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Service Battery, 4th Field Artillery Battalion (Pack), distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. He was in command of a detail that was fighting the intense forest and field fire that threatened the camp. When the wind shifted, trapping his detail, he searched the area to see that all men were safe. Before he could leave, he was engulfed in flames and fatally burned. Warrant Officer Tripp's complete disregard for his safety and concern for his men reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

VII. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Sergeant John R. Byrns (Service No. RA16009127), Artillery, United States Army, a member of the 4th Field Artillery Battalion (Pack), distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. During the intense forest and field fire that threatened the camp, he saw a member of his unit, engulfed in flames, fall helpless. With complete disregard for his life, Sergeant Byrns ran through the fire to help the stricken man to safety. When he, in turn, was rescued several minutes later, he was still trying to save his fallen comrade. Sergeant Byrns' outstanding actions, despite the severe burns he received, reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class Delbert O. Holmes (Service No. RA18333882), Military Police Corps, United States Army, a member of the 558th Military Police Company, distinguished himself by an act of heroism while on duty at Sendai, Honshu, Japan, on 11 June 1950. A soldier fell from a precipitous cliff to a sandbar and lay unconscious, his life menaced by the flood waters of the Hirose River. Private Holmes, without regard for his personal safety and at great risk of life, descended the cliff made treacherous by constant rain, revived the man, and remained with him until a rescue party arrived.

Private Frank D. Lake, Jr. (Service No. RA39183098), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the Heavy Mortar Company, 14th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism, on 17 January 1950, at Camp Carson, Colorado. While engaged in fighting an intense forest and field fire, his detail caught in the fire, he was ordered to safety. When out of reach of the fire, he heard a comrade scream for help. Leaving his place of safety and with complete disregard for himself, he rushed to the victim. Putting out the fire that enveloped his comrade, he, with the help that quickly arrived, pulled him to safety. Private Lake's dauntless courage and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., 25 October 1950

The Department of the Army announces with deep regret the death of the Honorable HENRY LEWIS STIMSON, at Highhold, West Hills, New York, on 20 October 1950.

Mr. STIMSON was born in New York City on 21 September 1867. Admitted to the bar of New York State in 1891, he entered public service as United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York in 1906, and was the Republican candidate for Governor of New York in 1910. President Taft appointed Mr. STIMSON Secretary of War, in which capacity he served from 1911 to 1913. He was delegate-at-large to the New York Constitutional Convention in 1915, and special representative of President Coolidge to Nicaragua in 1927. He served as Governor General of the Philippine Islands from 1927 to 1929 and as Secretary of State in the Cabinet of President Hoover from 1929 to 1933.

Mr. STIMSON first entered military service as a member of the New York National Guard in 1898. He was commissioned a major in the Officers Reserve Corps on 28 May 1917, and placed on active duty in June 1917. Promoted to lieutenant colonel, Field Artillery, National Army, he was assigned to command of the 2d Battalion, 305th Field Artillery of the 77th Division. He served in both the American and British Expeditionary Forces in 1918 until his discharge from active service in December of that year. Subsequent to World War I, he was commissioned colonel of Field Artillery in the Officers Reserve Corps in December 1921, and brigadier general in that Corps in 1922.

Mr. STIMSON was awarded the decoration of the Ordre de l'Etoile (officer) by the French Government in 1919 and the Distinguished-Service Medal by the President of the United States in 1945.

On 10 July 1940, Mr. STIMSON assumed the Office of Secretary of War for the second time and, throughout the most critical period in the history of the Nation, he administered the affairs of the Army with great wisdom, steadfast purpose, and untiring zeal until complete victory was achieved. Mr. STIMSON's selfless character and integrity unflinchingly placed the service of his country above his own personal interest. In the passing of this distinguished citizen and soldier, the country and the Army have sustained an irreparable loss.

For outstanding heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the assault and capture of Eniwetok Atoll, Marshall Islands, from February 17 to 22, 1944. As a unit of a Task Force, assembled only two days prior to departure for Eniwetok Atoll, the Twenty-second Marines, Reinforced, landed in whole or in part on Engebi, Eniwetok and Parry Islands in rapid succession and launched aggressive attacks in the face of heavy machine-gun and mortar fire from well camouflaged enemy dugouts and foxholes. With simultaneous landings and reconnaissance missions on numerous other small islands, they overcame all resistance within six days, destroying a known 2,665 of the Japanese and capturing 66 prisoners. By their courage and determination, despite the difficulties and hardships involved in repeated reembarkations and landings from day to day, these gallant officers and men made available to our forces in the Pacific Area an advanced base with large anchorage facilities and an established airfield, thereby contributing materially to the successful conduct of the war. Their sustained endurance, fortitude and fighting spirit throughout this operation reflect the highest credit on the Twenty-second Marines. Reinforced, and on the United States Naval Service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant General James A. Van Fleet, O3847, United States Army. February 1948 to July 1950.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Lieutenant Colonel Wayne P. Litz, O30304, Signal Corps, United States Army, as Signal Officer, 37th Infantry Division, displayed gallantry in action on 13 June 1945 in Northern Luzon, Philippine Islands. While on a personal reconnaissance for the division commander in the town of Santiago, he became involved in the battle to secure the town before he could finish his mission. After completing the reconnaissance, he began the return drive to the division command post. As he approached Oriong Pass Colonel Litz heard firing and, on entering the pass, found the enemy about to cut the division's axial road. Realizing the desperate situation he determined to run the gantlet of hostile fire. Pushing his vehicle to the limit, over the narrow twisting road, nearly blocked by disabled vehicles, he cleared the pass and, arriving at headquarters, reported the critical situation. Colonel Litz's devotion to duty, his courage under fire, and prompt judgment reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

Captain Felix W. Stanley, O36428 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company H, 501st Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy near Carentan, France, on 12 June 1944. Directed to seize Hill 30 which dominated the city, he led his company across a river and through a waist-deep swamp to the first approach of the hill. Advancing on the hill, unsupported by artillery and aided only by a smoke screen, the company was pinned down by enemy machine gun, mortar, and a direct-fire 20-mm gun. Realizing the desperate position of his unit, he, with two other men, assaulted the 20-mm gun and knocked it out. The enemy then counterattacked and by skillful use of his support platoon Captain Stanley repulsed and disorganized the attack. Seizing the opportunity to advance, he led the company in a charge up the hill and secured the position. Captain Stanley's heroic action in taking this vital hill reflects great credit on himself and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the parachute infantry.

Master Sergeant James K. Vann (Service No. AF6816419), United States Air Force (then second lieutenant, O890264, Infantry), a member of the 1st Battalion, 22d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on Bataan. On 10 February 1942, he volunteered to accompany an officer patrol that made a daylight reconnaissance of the enemy lines. Vital information gathered by this patrol was used to plan a successful attack on the Japanese position. Sergeant Vann's willingness to accept and carry out hazardous missions made a noteworthy contribution to the continued effectiveness of the 22d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army.

First Lieutenant Wayne E. Winans, O1288990, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Ste. Marie Du Mont, France, on 6 June 1944. During a stalled attack against an enemy battery position, Lieutenant Winans volunteered to lead a small flanking patrol. Covered by his men and armed with a rocket launcher, he crawled up a ditch and, from a distance of 15 yards, fired into the position. His attack demoralized the enemy and the position was reduced. Lieutenant Winans' heroic action, in which he was wounded, resulted in the capture of the enemy battery and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

First Lieutenant Jake K. Young, O2055192 (then first sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company G, 180th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action on 25 July 1943, near Cefalu, Sicily. During an attack, intense small-arms and artillery fire pinned his company down and wounded the company commander. Realizing the serious situation, he calmly moved among the men, reorganized the company and, coordinating its fire and movement, forced the enemy to withdraw. He then directed the attack against a strong enemy position on a dominant hill. As the attack progressed, the leader of the assault platoon became a casualty. Lieutenant Young personally took command of the platoon, led the attack, and secured the hill. His prompt and courageous actions during the engagement reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

V. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Captain John F. Christianson, O960853, Medical Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroism at Coronado Beach, Chame, Republic of Panama, on 5 September 1949. While vacationing at the beach, he was attracted by cries of distress from two women and one man who had been swept into the ocean. Plunging into the water, he swam to the party, grasped the women by the hair, and towed them to shore. Upon reaching shallow water, other bathers relieved him and carried the women to safety. Captain Christianson then noticed that another officer who had aided in the rescue was in trouble. Swimming to his aid, he grasped the officer's hair, hauled him to shore, and began artificial respiration in an attempt to revive him. The outstanding initiative and courage displayed by Captain Christianson in voluntarily risking his life reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Corporal Wallace R. Evans (Service No. RA36690076), Corps of Military Police, United States Army, a member of the 88th Military Police Company, displayed heroism on 21 June 1950 at Fort Jay, Governors Island, New York. While in his quarters, Corporal Evans heard someone call for help from the vicinity of the seawall nearby. Securing a flashlight, he called to a neighbor to notify the military police and, half dressed, ran down stairs and out to the seawall, where he saw a man struggling in the water about 40 yards out. Without waiting for help and with full awareness of the treachery of the tides and currents, rock, and unknown depth of the water, he dived into the sea, swam to the man, calmed him, and by great effort towed him to the seawall. With the help of new arrivals, the victim was removed from the water to safety and recovery. Corporal Evans' heroic actions reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

I. MEDAL OF HONOR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty during the period indicated is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Isadore S. Jachman (Service No. 13136814) Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 513th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty at Flamierge, Belgium, on 4 January 1945. When his company was pinned down by enemy artillery, mortar, and small-arms fire, two hostile tanks attacked the unit, inflicting heavy casualties. Sergeant Jachman, seeing the desperate plight of his comrades, left his place of cover and, with total disregard for safety, dashed across open ground through a hail of fire. Seizing a bazooka from a fallen comrade, he advanced on the tanks, which concentrated their fire on him. Firing the weapon alone, he damaged one tank and forced both tanks to retire. Sergeant Jachman's heroic action, in which he suffered fatal wounds, disrupted the entire enemy attack, and reflects the highest credit on himself and the 513th Parachute Infantry Regiment. (Sec. I, WD General Orders 25, 1947, pertaining to the award of the Distinguished-Service Cross (posthumous) to Staff Sergeant Jachman, for extraordinary heroism in action on the same date, is rescinded.)

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class Caliste A. Callahan (Service No. 434002), United States Marine Corps, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action in the Southwest Pacific area on 28 December 1943. When heavy enemy mortar, machine-gun, and rifle fire from a heavily fortified series of concealed pillboxes and rifle pits held up the advance of a combat patrol of the 1st Marine Parachute Battalion, whose mission was to destroy an enemy outpost 1/2 mile east of the Borokina River, Bougainville, Solomon Islands, Private Callahan and a comrade moved forward in the face of the hostile fire and quickly destroyed two emplacements with grenades and demolition charges. Then, on his own initiative, he charged forward to the remaining positions, where he engaged in fierce hand-to-hand combat and inflicted severe casualties before he was killed. Through his intrepid, voluntary assault without regard for his safety and at the cost of his life, Private Callahan enabled his patrol to overcome the enemy and continue the advance, thereby setting a lasting example of heroism for his comrades-in-arms.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following named officers:

First Lieutenant Carl F. Cooke, O1012409, Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Troop C, 87th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy at Meijel, Holland. On 27 October 1944, Lieutenant Cooke's squadron received the brunt of a powerful German attack consisting of armor and infantry in at least brigade size aimed at splitting British and American forces. The point of the attack struck his troop and forced the leading platoons to withdraw. Realizing the critical situation, he volunteered to lead his platoon in a counterattack. His unit stalled the attack and forced the enemy to withdraw with heavy casualties. During the action he was killed by an enemy sniper. Lieutenant Cooke's courage and leadership were an inspiration to the entire squadron and reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

First Lieutenant Daniel W. Griswold, O391006, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 31st Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic action against the enemy on 21 January 1942 near Abucay Hacienda, Bataan. As company commander, he led his unit forward, contacted the enemy, and wiped out a Japanese force that had penetrated the stabilized line. Lieutenant Griswold's heroic actions during this engagement reflect great credit on himself and his company.

IV. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant William H. Costello (Service No. 13021331), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 26th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Ellendorf, Germany. On 28 October 1944, he was directing mortar fire in support of a patrol assaulting an enemy pillbox. Antipersonnel mines and mortar fire stalled the patrol and forced its withdrawal, leaving a wounded man in the mine field. Seeing the man helpless, Sergeant Costello, with utter disregard for his safety, dashed to the man's aid and while carrying him to safety was severely wounded. Sergeant Costello's daring rescue of a comrade in arms was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Infantry.

2. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Floyd E. Dunn, O16261 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 182d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on Bougainville, British Solomon Islands, from 21 to 27 March 1944. Upon taking command of the regiment, then engaged in close contact with the enemy, he immediately made a personal reconnaissance of the regimental lines, including the most forward positions, literally in the face of the enemy. He repeatedly exposed himself in visiting forward elements, personally inspecting and test-firing weapons under close observation of the enemy. His presence in the most forward areas, as well as the supervision he gave to all details of the tactics of his regiment, was an inspiration to the men, and greatly improved the positions and effectiveness of the units during their stubborn holding efforts and subsequent annihilation of the enemy on Hill 260. Colonel Dunn's courageous leadership, tactical ability, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the United States Army. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device to Colonel Dunn, for heroic achievement during the same period, published in sec. I, General Orders 56, Headquarters, Americal Division, 13 April 1944.)

V. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

VIII.—SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Private First Class Roland E. Burley (Service No. RA33574550), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 31st Infantry Regiment, displayed heroism while on a beach party at Ishikahi Beach, Hokkaido, Japan, on 17 July 1949. Upon hearing cries of distress from a group of Japanese nationals who were swimming, Private Burley, with four of his companions, plunged into the sea. With complete disregard for safety, he fought through 100 yards of rough sea and heavy breakers and succeeded in bringing one of the Japanese safely to shore. The heroism and quick thinking displayed by Private Burley reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class Royce H. Clafin (Service No. RA11202027) (then private), Cavalry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism off Vieques Island, Puerto Rico, on 5 March 1950. While on a swimming party, he saw one of his comrades struggling in treacherous waters. Although tired from a long swim in the dangerous current, he swam to the exhausted man and, by great physical effort, towed him to shore. Private Clafin's brave act and complete disregard for personal safety reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class William C. Leathers, Jr. (Service No. 21283200), Field Artillery, Massachusetts National Guard, a member of Battery A, 102d Field Artillery Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism on Long Island Sound on 19 July 1949. When a fellow member of his battery fell overboard during a fishing trip, Private Leathers unhesitatingly dived overboard, fully clothed, to swim to his rescue. Although the victim was unable to swim and had gone down several times, Private Leathers skillfully managed to overcome his struggles and keep his head above water until a boat reached them. By his conspicuous courage and disregard for personal safety, Private Leathers upheld the finest traditions of the military service.

Private First Class William H. White. (Service No. RA14328369), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, displayed heroism while participating in Operation Portrex, near Isla Vieques, in the Caribbean Sea on 8 March 1950. During invasion exercises, Private White and his section were aboard a landing craft approaching the beach at Vieques. About 150 yards from the beach, the craft sank, leaving the combat-equipped troops floating. Relief boats were sent immediately to the scene, but because of the excitement and sudden sinking some of the men were unable to discard their equipment. Private White, seeing a soldier in difficulty, swam to him, gave him his life preserver, and assisted him to the nearest rescue boat. Private White's disregard for personal safety, his initiative, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

IX. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Sylvester C. Bitter, Jr., O1305002, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 305th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy near Deposito, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 8 December 1944. During an attack his platoon was held up by intense fire from a well dug-in strong point. Seeing that his men were being disorganized by this fire, he determined to attack. Organizing the platoon, he led the assault and the men, inspired by his example, overran the position. In this gallant action, Lieutenant Bitter was killed. His fearless example reflects great credit on himself and the United States Infantry.

Private José Guevarra (Service No. 10303399), Infantry, Philippine Scouts, a member of Company H, 57th Infantry, Philippine Scouts, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Bataan from 27 to 29 January 1942. As a member of the battalion that destroyed the enemy forces on Lungós Kawayan Point, his courageous actions were an inspiration to his comrades. Private Guevarra's heroic achievements reflect great credit on himself and the Philippine Scouts.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers, enlisted men, and civilian:

Captain Brewster G. Gallup, O317319, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by courageous action on 18 April 1942. During an intense bombardment of Corregidor by enemy batteries on Bataan, a shell fragment cut the halyard of the fortress flag. As the colors descended, Captain Gallup and two comrades ran to the pole, gathered the flag in their arms, and kept it from touching the ground. Working fast, despite the furious shelling, they repaired the halyard and raised the flag again. This conspicuous act of gallantry was an inspiration to the heroic defenders of the Philippines.

Staff Sergeant Lawrence M. McQueeney (Service No. RA6981614) (then sergeant), Corps of Military Police, United States Army, a member of Military Police Company, II Philippine Corps, displayed gallantry in action near Lamao, Bataan, on 5 April 1942. During a bombing raid, he voluntarily left his place of shelter to rescue a severely wounded man who was trapped in an inclosed fox hole and endangered by exploding ammunition. Sergeant McQueeney's courage and complete disregard for safety reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Staff Sergeant Harold R. Morter, Jr. (Service No. 36686629) (then private first class), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 63d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy near Munoz, Nueva Ecija, Luzon, on 7 February 1945. After a heavy tank battle the night before, his platoon was mopping up a large enemy force. Approaching a deep ditch, the platoon was held up by a barrage of hand grenades. Without thought of his safety, he crawled to the ditch, after throwing two grenades, rushed the position, and in hand-to-hand combat killed three of the enemy. Sergeant Morter's heroic action enabled the platoon to advance and complete its mission.

Honorio Punongbayan, Filipino civilian, distinguished himself by courageous action on 18 April 1942. During an intense bombardment of Corregidor by enemy batteries on Bataan, a shell fragment cut the halyard of the fortress flag. As the colors descended, Mr. Punongbayan and two soldiers ran to the pole, gathered the flag in their arms, and kept it from touching the ground. Working fast, despite the furious shelling, they repaired the halyard and raised the flag again. This conspicuous act of gallantry was an inspiration to the heroic defenders of the Philippines.

Colonel Henry J. Royall, O18242 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 334th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Linnich, Germany, on 30 November and 1 December 1944. He led his battalion with a display of calm courage and fighting spirit to a successful capture of terrain features essential to a planned crossing of the Roer River. Exposing himself to ground fire in the forward rifle areas, he furnished the example necessary to keep the battalion advancing. During the action he suffered severe shocks and concussion from enemy shell fire and was wounded by small-arms fire. By his fearless leadership and devotion to duty, Colonel Royall fully upheld the finest traditions of the United States Infantry. (Par. 4, sec. VII, DA General Orders 27, 1948, pertaining to the award of the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Colonel Royall for meritorious achievement during the same period is rescinded.)

Major John D. Semken, Sherwood Rangers Yeomanry, British Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Germany on 18 November 1944. As leader of a British tank squadron, his superior direction of these supporting elements contributed in a large measure to the success of the entire operation. The military skill and aggressive leadership displayed on this occasion by Major Semken reflect high credit on himself and the military service of his country.

As the colors descended, Sergeant Smith and two comrades ran to the pole, gathered the flag in their arms, and kept it from touching the ground. Working fast, despite the furious shelling, they repaired the halyard and raised the flag again. The conspicuous act of gallantry was an inspiration to the heroic defenders of the Philippines.

NATIONAL BOARD FOR PROMOTION OF RIFLE PRACTICE—Change in membership.....	II
TROPICAL RESEARCH MEDICAL LABORATORY—Medical Laboratory, Antilles Department, Fort Brooke, P. R., redesignated.....	III

I. AMERICAN GRAVES REGISTRATION SERVICE.—1. Authority.—Public Law 383—79th Congress (60 Stat. 182; 50 U. S. C. 1811-1816, incl.), as amended by Public Law 368—80th Congress (61 Stat. 779; 50 U. S. C. 1811-1819, incl.), and SR 830-110-5 provide for American Graves Registration Service area and separate zone commands, self-contained organizations for the operation and administration of the American Graves Registration Service outside the continental limits of the United States.

2. Basic principles.—The following basic principles, established for the assignment of responsibilities, will remain in effect until specifically revised or rescinded:

a. The Quartermaster General, designated Chief of the American Graves Registration Service, is charged with technical supervision of all graves registration activities; for this purpose, direct communication is authorized between theater, area, and separate zone commands and the Quartermaster General. The Quartermaster General is responsible for originating, preparing, and publishing, through appropriate media, plans, policies, and procedures to implement existing and subsequent Department of the Army graves registration directives.

b. Major oversea commanders are responsible for graves registration activities within their respective command areas until such time as their commands are abolished, at which time responsibility for such activities passes to the Quartermaster General. Required graves registration personnel are to be provided within authorized troop strength.

c. Area and separate zone commanders are responsible for the establishment, improvement, maintenance, administration, and operation of all World War II military cemeteries within their respective areas or zones (until the transfer of jurisdiction of the cemeteries to the American Battle Monuments Commission), recovery and identification of decedents, the return of United States World War II dead to their homelands or to other permanent place of burial, in accordance with existing regulations, and for related activities as directed.

d. Under each American Graves Registration Service area and zone headquarters, the establishment of such subdivisions as might be required is authorized, subject to approval by the Department of the Army. These subdivisions will be, so far as practicable, in conformity with SR 830-110-5. Area and zone headquarters and subordinate units and organizations will be, to the extent practicable, organized in accordance with T/D 10-3 and T/D 10-3-1 through T/D 10-3-7, inclusive, 7 January 1947.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel (then lieutenant colonel) Halstead C. Fowler, O12636, Field Artillery, United States Army, displayed extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the Moron Sector, Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 21 January 1942.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel (then lieutenant colonel) Halstead C. Fowler, O12636, Field Artillery, United States Army, displayed extraordinary heroism in action, on 24 December 1941, at the Agno River, Luzon, Philippine Islands. While serving as commander of a unit designated to cover the withdrawal of troops, Colonel Fowler, sensing impending panic and disorder among the withdrawing troops which would have resulted in the annihilation by an enemy force overwhelmingly superior in number, without regard for his personal safety, fearlessly exposed himself to oncoming vehicles propelled by armed, fear-crazed drivers and, under intense enemy fire succeeded in reorganizing the troops into orderly fighting groups, thus permitting successful completion of the mission. The exemplary heroism displayed by Colonel Fowler in the face of enemy fire and his constant, fearless leadership under adverse conditions reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Charles H. Marcy, O738436, Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism while serving as pilot of a B-17 aircraft on a combat mission to Berlin, Germany, on 29 April 1944. Just prior to bombs away, Lieutenant Marcy was wounded by a burst of flak, but he continued to fly the airplane and drop bombs on the target. Forced out of formation, the bomber was attacked by enemy fighters, which set it afire, and Lieutenant Marcy was wounded again. Despite his painful wounds, Lieutenant Marcy held the airplane in level flight while the crew made good their escape. The cool courage and heroic devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Marcy on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Ronald K. Bowman (Army service No. RA33353144) (then private first class), Transportation Corps (then Infantry), United States Army, a member of Company F, 328th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Germany on 17 February 1945. During an attack on enemy positions within the city blocks of Fraulautern, his platoon was caught in an open lot in a cross-fire of German machine guns and his platoon leader was killed. While two riflemen covered his movements from a building, Sergeant Bowman jumped through a window into the open lot and rushed the German machine-gun position on his right flank. Although wounded by enemy fire, he reached the enemy position and tossed grenades into the building, thus destroying the weapon and capturing the crew. This action allowed the remaining able men to resume the attack and to evacuate the wounded.

I. TOOELE ORDNANCE DEPOT, TOOELE, UTAH.—1. Effective 1 November 1949, The Tooele Sub-Depot of Ogden Arsenal, Ogden, Utah, will be redesignated Tooele Ordnance Depot, Tooele, Utah, a class II installation under the jurisdiction of the Chief of Ordnance.

2. Effective 1 November 1949, Ogden Arsenal, Ogden, Utah, will be redesignated the Sub-Depot of Tooele Ordnance Depot, Tooele, Utah.

[AG 680.1 (14 Oct 49)]

II. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 14, AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following unit of the Army of the United States for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated. The citation reads as follows:

The 824th Engineer Aviation Battalion is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct and performance of outstanding services in Iceland from January to July 1944. Given the mission of preparing airfield facilities at that important base, the unit constructed and maintained Meeks and Patterson Fields during unusually trying weather conditions. In addition, the battalion performed many other essential engineer tasks on the island. The consistent high standard of operating efficiency, leadership, and teamwork reflects great credit on the 824th Engineer Aviation Battalion, the Air Corps, and the Army of the United States.

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Company I, 28th Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy on 23 November 1944 in the Hurtgen Forest, Germany. Given the mission of reducing a well-fortified and supported enemy position, the company launched two attacks which were repulsed. Determined to take the position, the company commander deployed his entire company and ordered a bayonet assault. Springing to their feet, shooting and yelling, the men were upon the enemy before they could bring down defensive fire. This ferocious attack so disorganized the defenders that they were driven from their emplacements and surrendered in groups. Over 100 prisoners were taken in addition to many killed and wounded. The extraordinary courage, initiative, and determination to close with the enemy exhibited by the personnel of Company I, 28th Infantry Regiment, reflect great credit on this unit and the Armed Forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Frank L. Howley, O299977, Army of the United States. December 1947 to August 1949.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted men:

Private Robert W. Lougee (31351858), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company H, 16th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 18 November 1944, near Hamick, Germany. After a successful attack, his company consolidated the position and Private Lougee manned a heavy machine gun. Within the first few minutes of an enemy counterattack, he was wounded in the shoulder and his assistant killed. Despite his physical condition, Private Lougee encouraged the members of his squad to remain at their positions and fight it out with the enemy, while he continued to man and operate his gun. When his machine gun was destroyed by enemy fire and he sustained further wounds, he continued to fight effectively, using the arms of his fallen fellow soldiers. Private Lougee was killed while participating in mortal hand-to-hand combat with the enemy. His display of courage, patriotism, and devotion to duty so inspired his comrades that they successfully fought off the attack against overwhelming odds.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel John H. Fye, O5733, Field Artillery, United States Army. May to August 1943.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel John W. Warren, AO15139, United States Air Force. March 1947 to February 1948.

IV..SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Francis L. Tence (17034713), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 1st Ground General School Detachment, Fort Riley, Kansas, on 9 July 1949, displayed heroism in an attempt to save the life of Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., age 3½ years. Corporal Tence, Corporal Raymond Glenn, Mrs. Raymond Glenn, Mrs. Francis Tence, and Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., were on a picnic on Clarks Creek near Junction City, Kansas. The child, Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., who was playing near the bank of the stream, fell in and was quickly swept away by the current. Corporal Tence immediately plunged into the stream to go to the boy's assistance. He succeeded in reaching him and for a short time was able to hold the child above water. However, because of the swift current and encumbered by his clothing, Corporal Tence was unable to return to the bank without releasing the boy. His valiant efforts were in vain, because he was unable to save the child from drowning and in addition thereto sacrificed his own life.

V..SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Captain George F. Charlton, O25107, Infantry, United States Army, a member of the Tactical Department, The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, on 26 June 1949, at the peril of his life, rescued an officer of the United States Army from drowning in the Atlantic Ocean in the vicinity of Ormond Beach, Florida. The heroism of this act was emphasized by Captain Charlton's deliberate disregard for personal safety. Although he realized the presence of a strong ebb tide and a viciously dangerous undertow and was not sure of his swimming ability, inasmuch as he had done no swimming for more than 5 years, Captain Charlton nevertheless plunged into the hazardous waters, swam to the helpless officer, and brought him back to safety. His brave act of selfless courage reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Sergeant Roy G. Spears (RA6553263), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of the Engineer Detachment, 6006th Area Service Unit (POC), displayed heroic conduct on 26 May 1949 at the scene of an electric power failure in the Army Central Electrical Sub-Station, Fort Lewis, Washington. Sergeant Spears rescued Mr. Ben Chanslor (civilian) who, in the performance of his duties, "threw in" one of the electric oil switches. Upon closing the circuit, an explosion followed, spraying hot gases, hot oil, and flame on Mr. Chanslor, knocking him to the floor, and enveloping the entire sub-station. With total disregard for personal safety, Sergeant Spears rushed in before the flames and explosion had subsided, grabbed Mr. Chanslor's arm with one hand, and dragged him to safety while beating the flames out of his hair with the other bare hand. Upon getting Mr. Chanslor clear, Sergeant Spears tore Mr. Chanslor's burning clothes off with his bare hands. During the process of removing Mr. Chanslor, Sergeant Spears received serious burns which he ignored until assistance arrived. Because of Sergeant Spears' heroic action, Mr. Chanslor was saved from permanent injury or possible death.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Lieutenant Colonel Richard L. Butt, Jr., O336856, Adjutant General's Department, Army of the United States. January 1943 to September 1944.

Major Robert M. Clark, O4924, Air Corps, United States Army. February 1943 to October 1944.

First Lieutenant Harry J. Hovee, O854498, Air Corps, Army of the United States. August 1943 to October 1944.

Major Raymond P. Murphy, O24729, Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army. September 1944 to May 1945.

Staff Sergeant Sam Roska (36501535) (then sergeant), Quartermaster Corps, Army of the United States. March to May 1945.

VII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Judson E. Baggett (RA14014004) (then private first class), Infantry, United States Army, company aid man of Company L, 351st Infantry Regiment, 88th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in action near Itri, Italy, on 14 May 1944. After he had gone forward to a precarious position and had administered aid to a wounded man, in full view of the enemy and without Red Cross arm bands or flags, Corporal Baggett set up an improvised aid station in an area that was constantly under heavy enemy artillery fire and successfully cared for the wounded until the arrival of the battalion aid station personnel. The outstanding courage displayed by Corporal Baggett reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

VIII. COMMENDATION RIBBON.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 17.1, AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Major Virgil W. Bond, O42878, Adjutant General's Department, United States Army. September 1946 to January 1949.

First Lieutenant Walter M. Bowers, O1325263, Infantry, Army of the United States. 18 January to 24 May 1949.

Lieutenant Colonel Huston D. Crippen, O904192 (then major), Corps of Military Police, Army of the United States. 22 April to 12 July 1945.

 with the following citation:

During the crucial period of the general offensive of the Ardennes, in 1944, the 7th Armored Division and the units attached to it were attacked by enemy forces estimated at eight divisions, five of them armored.
 They held the important junction of St. Vith and prevented the German advance and exploitation of this axis. In this manner, it doomed the German offensive by checkmating it and permitted, through its sacrifice, the allied forces to undertake a general counteroffensive. In assuming the attack on 20 January 1945, these units took an active part in the counteroffensive by driving the enemy out of their positions and away from our boundaries. They inflicted severe losses upon them and, more particularly, they captured more than one thousand prisoners.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant Charles L. Peacock (Army serial No. 14066493), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 29 May 1944, as engineer and top turret gunner of a B-24 type aircraft on an operational mission to Tutow Air Field, Germany. After his aircraft had been severely damaged by enemy antiaircraft fire and the pilot had given the bail-out order, Sergeant Peacock calmly forced the right bombay door open with an axe, enabling the other crew members to escape safely. He then remained with the pilot until the aircraft crashed in the Baltic Sea. The outstanding courage and steadfast devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Peacock reflect great credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

Second Lieutenant Leslie T. Speer, O804529, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 6 February 1945, as copilot of a B-25 type aircraft on an operational mission to Rovereto, Italy. During the bomb run, the aircraft was hit by intense and accurate antiaircraft fire which severed the left wing and disabled one engine, causing the aircraft to rapidly lose speed and altitude. After the order to abandon ship had been given by the pilot, Lieutenant Speer remained at his station to help the pilot control the aircraft, thus enabling the five crew members to parachute safely before another direct hit further damaged the aircraft, causing it to crash in enemy territory. The outstanding courage and steadfast devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Speer reflect great credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Robert F. Mattice (Army serial No. 32745939) (then sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 3 August 1944, as ball turret gunner of a B-17 type aircraft on an operational mission over Germany. After the aircraft sustained severe damage from enemy antiaircraft fire and the bail-out order was given, Sergeant Mattice, although wounded and with total disregard for his safety, delayed his exit in order to drag an unconscious fellow crew member from his position to the waist hatch, where he pulled the rip cord of his parachute and threw him out of the airplane. The aggressiveness, outstanding courage, and devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Mattice reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States.

Staff Sergeant Albert M. Sandlin (Army serial No. 18078167) (then sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 12 September 1944, while serving with the 511th Bomb Squadron, Eighth Air Force, on a combat mission over Germany. En route to the target, his aircraft, on which he was serving as waist gunner, was crippled by flak, forcing the crew to bail out. Sergeant Sandlin refused to leave the airplane until he had administered oxygen and first aid to a wounded comrade and helped him clear the airplane a few moments before the airplane exploded. Sergeant Sandlin's heroic action saved the life of his crew mate.

Staff Sergeant James A. Wakefield (Army serial No. 39174079), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 17 August 1943, as waist gunner of a B-17 type aircraft on an operational mission to Schweinfurt, Germany. En route to the target, the aircraft sustained severe damage from enemy fighters. Although seriously wounded in both legs and after the bail-out order had been given, Sergeant Wakefield continued to defend the aircraft from his waist-gun position and shot down two enemy aircraft. The tenacity of purpose, exceptional courage, and devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Wakefield reflect great credit on himself and the United States military service.

Corporal William L. Ware (Army serial No. 14042441) (then private first class), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in the Philippine Islands, on 29 December 1941, while a member of Battery F, 60th Coast Artillery Regiment. During the heavy bombing by the Japanese of Fort Mills, Corregidor, the communications between the guns and the fire control instruments in battalion headquarters were severed. With utter disregard for his safety and upon his own initiative, he ran a communication line between battery and battalion command posts, a distance of 350 yards. Corporal Ware's gallant actions were of great aid to the heroic defenders on Corregidor and reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel James A. McDonnell, O266053, Air Corps, Army of the United States. February 1942 to July 1946. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Colonel McDonnell for meritorious service from 1 March 1942 to 20 January 1944, by letter 24 May 1946 from the Commanding General, Air Matériel Command, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Charles M. Ford, Royal Naval Reserve. August 1942 to December 1945.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Sergeant Eugene Gamba (Army serial No. 32856723), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic conduct in action on 8 September 1944. After a successful crash landing of his aircraft in enemy-occupied France, Sergeant Gamba and six other crew members were taken prisoner. While en route to a prisoner of war camp, Sergeant Gamba organized his comrades in an attack on the German guards and was killed in his attempt to escape. The courage, aggressiveness, and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Gamba reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Second Lieutenant Warren J. Wade, O819023, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic conduct in action on 8 September 1944. After a successful crash landing of his aircraft in enemy-occupied France, Lieutenant Wade and six other crew members were taken prisoner. While en route to a prisoner of war camp, Lieutenant Wade organized his comrades in an attack on the German guards and was killed in his attempt to escape. The courage, aggressiveness, and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Wade reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 19th Infantry Regiment is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Mindanao, Philippine Islands, during the period 29 April to 30 June 1945. After landing on the west coast at Parang and completing a 144-mile advance across the jungle terrain of the island in 17 days, the regiment reached Dayao Gulf and prepared to close with the main enemy defenses. On 3 May, it turned north, made an assault crossing of the Davao River, and seized the strategic city of Davao. Expanding its hold on the city, the regiment again drove north to establish contact with guerrilla forces at the head of the gulf, then pushed westward along the Davao River to crush the Sacred Hill—Mandog defense line. The enemy in the Mandog area resisted every attack from well-fortified positions, but the battalions, by costly and determined assaults, routed the defenders. The 19th Infantry Regiment then joined the division to eliminate the last organized resistance near Mount Monoy. During these drives, 21 large naval coastal guns were seized and destroyed, 5 large airfields secured, and Pakiputan Straits opened. The sustained fighting qualities and the outstanding achievements of the 19th Infantry Regiment were major contributions to the success of the Mindanao campaign and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS—Posthumous award.....	Section I
SILVER STAR—Posthumous award.....	II
LEGION OF MERIT—Awards.....	III, IV
SOLDIER'S MEDAL—Awards.....	V
BRONZE STAR MEDAL—Award.....	VI
COMMENDATION RIBBON—Awards.....	VII

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously, to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Thomas J. Tubman, O827994, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy on 24 March 1945. While flying as pilot of a B-17-type aircraft on a combat mission to Berlin, Germany, Lieutenant Tubman skillfully maneuvered his burning aircraft in level flight in order that his crew might escape. In delaying his departure from the flaming airplane until first aid had been given to a wounded crew member, Lieutenant Tubman sacrificed his own chance for safety and was killed when the aircraft exploded. The technical skill, superior leadership, and heroic conduct displayed by Lieutenant Tubman reflect great credit on himself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Thomas Speers, O890172, Infantry, Army of the United States, attached to Company C, 43d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action, on 15 January 1942, in Bataan, Philippine Islands. When the company commander was killed, Lieutenant Speers took command and led a counterattack which eliminated an enemy penetration in the main line of resistance. Although killed in the action, Lieutenant Speers' bravery was an inspiration to the entire regiment.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Henry H. Hower, O42904, Air Corps, United States Army, January 1943 to June 1945.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Juarez do Nascimento Fernandes Tavora, Brazilian Army, January 1944 to August 1948.

V...SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Sergeant Denny B. Cantrell (Army serial No. 33531978), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Andrews Field, Washington, D. C., on 8 January 1947. While assisting in the inspection of an aviation gasoline refueling trailer, he observed a soldier, who was attempting to start the pump motor, become enveloped in flames that ignited the entire rear end of the trailer. With the whole unit in danger of explosion and the victim on fire, Sergeant Cantrell caught the burning man, threw him to the ground, extinguished the flames, and moved him to a place of safety. Sergeant Cantrell's heroic actions were highly commendable.

Sergeant Cloyd M. Claar (AF37882467) (then corporal), United States Air Force, displayed heroism, on 20 September 1947, at Boca Raton Army Air Field, Florida. When his servicing unit was transferring gasoline from a tank truck to supply drums, the gasoline ignited, set fire to the area and enveloped a soldier in the flames. With total disregard for his safety, Sergeant Claar rushed to his comrade, smothered the fire, and dragged him to safety. Seizing a knife, he then cut the gas hose, jumped into the truck, and drove it from the area. The quick thinking and courageous actions of Corporal Claar were highly commendable.

Private First Class Henry F. Janczak (Army serial No. 42199599), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Squadron A, 2622d Army Air Force Base Unit, Mather Field, California, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life near Fair Oaks, California, on 4 July 1946. Upon hearing the screams of a boy who was attempting to swim the swift American River, Private Janczak, although not an expert swimmer, plunged into the stream and swam to his rescue. After reaching the victim, he was forced to break a strangle hold before he could tow the boy to shore. The heroic actions of Private Janczak reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Vincent J. Marino (Army serial No. 32012785), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a mother and two children from a burning building, on 4 October 1945, at Port Washington, New York. While on furlough, Sergeant Marino observed a fire in a home. He and another man entered the flaming house and discovered the mother in flaming clothing. He extinguished the burning clothes and aided the mother and one child to reach safety. Then learning that another child was in the building, Sergeant Marino reentered the house and, led by her cries, found the child on fire in the hall on the second floor. After extinguishing the flames enveloping the child, Sergeant Marino found his escape cut off. Fighting the mounting flames and dense smoke, he made his way to a window, where he dropped the child to a man waiting below. He then jumped out of the window and, upon landing, suffered lacerations of the face. Disregarding his injury, Sergeant Marino aided the physician in treating the three severely burned persons. His heroic actions in the face of grave personal danger were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Armed Forces.

Sergeant Marshall E. Nichols (Army serial No. RA15100037), Transportation Corps, United States Army, a member of Headquarters Company, 55th Transportation Medium Port, displayed initiative and courageous action on 8 April 1949 at Honolulu, Hawaii. While checking the level of a 4,000-gallon tank trailer delivering gasoline to an underground storage tank, an explosion and fire occurred, igniting the tanker and Sergeant Nichols' clothes. Disregarding the pain of his burns, he extinguished his flaming clothes, ran to the burning vehicle, and drove it from the scene of the explosion. He then dismounted and assisted in putting out the fire. Sergeant Nichols' courageous actions were highly commendable.

Lieutenant Colonel Clifford A. Sheldon O38615 (then first lieutenant), Judge Advocate General's Department, United States Army, displayed heroism, on 22 February 1943, at Lisbon, Portugal. When the airplane in which he was a passenger crashed in the harbor and broke in two, he forced his way through a window and, although injured in the crash, helped two others to escape. He then pulled a seriously injured woman onto the sinking airplane. Colonel Sheldon's courageous acts were highly commendable.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Don Quinn, O912640 (then captain), Air Corps, Army of the United States. 15 September to 28 October 1944.

V.—BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 17th Infantry Regiment and the following-attached units:

Company A, 767th Tank Battalion;

91st Chemical Company (less 1st and 3d Platoons);

Company A, 7th Medical Battalion; and

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Leyte, Philippine Islands, during the period 23 to 30 October 1944. On 23 October, the regiment launched an attack that secured the barrios of Julita, Tanganon, San Pablo, and the vital airfield at San Pablo. Continuing the attack against fanatical resistance, the combat team, with its flanks exposed, advanced on Dagami. Approaching the town, violent and bitter resistance was encountered in the "Battle of the Stone Bridge." This enemy position dominating and guarding the approaches to Dagami consisted of numerous pillboxes fully manned, protected by tank traps, mines, and rice paddies. Driving forward, the battalions, by aggressive and courageous fighting, overcame this last major obstacle protecting the town. In one of the hardest fought and bloodiest actions of the Leyte campaign, the regiment and its attached units annihilated elements of three enemy regiments, captured two airfields, and secured the corps beachhead line in its zone. The invincible fighting spirit and outstanding achievements of the 17th Infantry Regiment and attached units were major contributions to the success of the Leyte campaign and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Second Lieutenant Filemon C. Baviera, O42495, Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company A, 51st Engineer Combat Battalion, 51st Division, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in Bataan on 5 February 1942. During the heavy defensive fighting in the Pilar-Bagac sector, Lieutenant Baviera conducted himself with conspicuous courage and disregard for personal safety while advancing in a counterattack, until severely wounded by Japanese trench mortar fire.

Staff Sergeant William E. Hobbs (Army serial No. 37236702), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while serving as tail gunner of a B-17 aircraft on a heavy bombardment mission to Brunswick, Germany, on 11 January 1944. He was seriously wounded in both arms early in the action. Although suffering great pain and becoming weak from loss of blood, he continued firing at the enemy fighters, destroyed one enemy aircraft (ME. 109), which was confirmed by the radio operator, warded off many enemy attacks, and continued firing the tail guns until the pilot gave the order to "bail out." The outstanding courage and determination to destroy the enemy displayed by Sergeant Hobbs on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Technical Sergeant Charles H. Keaten (Army serial No. 6971758) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 5 September 1944, as aerial photographer on a B-17 type aircraft during an operational mission to Budapest, Hungary. After the bomb load had been released, Sergeant Keaten crawled into an open bomb bay to release an armed bomb which had been only partially released and was hanging nose down, endangering the aircraft and the lives of the crew members. Although wounded by flak while engaged in this precarious task and without a parachute or oxygen, he continued his efforts until successful in releasing the bomb. The outstanding courage and fortitude displayed by Sergeant Keaten reflect great credit on himself and the United States military service.

Sergeant Charles J. Mott (Army serial No. 36733047), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of the 333d Bombardment Squadron, displayed gallantry in action near Kiel, Germany, on 11 April 1944. Although he had sustained severe injuries when the airplane of which he was a crew member was forced to crash-land as a result of enemy action, he remained in the furiously burning aircraft until he found and removed the first-aid kit. He then reentered the airplane and released and carried to safety the unconscious, wounded pilot. Refusing treatment for his injuries, Sergeant Mott administered first aid to the wounded until he was captured.

Lieutenant Colonel Eustacio D. Orobia (then captain), Philippine Air Force, displayed gallantry in action, on 25 January 1942, at Bataan, Philippine Islands. As executive officer of the 1st Provisional Infantry Battalion, Philippine Army Air Corps, he was most aggressive in pushing the lines forward and, by his display of courage and leadership, was able to coordinate the efforts of the Air Force enlisted men in advancing through the thick underbrush. Lieutenant Orobia's leadership was a source of inspiration to the men of the Air Force, who fought as infantrymen.

Staff Sergeant Robert L. Reed (Army serial No. 39551544), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while serving as tail gunner on a B-17 aircraft during a heavy bombardment mission to Brunswick, Germany, on 10 February 1944. When his aircraft was attacked by 15 to 20 FW 190's over the Zuider Zee, Sergeant Reed received penetrating wounds in both arms and his oxygen system was shot out. Although suffering great pain and without sufficient oxygen, he stayed at his tail guns and destroyed one enemy aircraft and probably destroyed another. Only when the situation became hopeless and the pilot gave the order to "bail out" did Sergeant Reed cease firing. He painfully dragged himself to the rear escape hatch and bailed out. The outstanding courage and determination to destroy the enemy shown by Sergeant Reed on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

II. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Davies*, O294576 (then captain), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 1st Philippine Infantry, distinguished himself by valorous action against the enemy near Pils, Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 25 December 1941. Exhibiting high qualities of leadership, devotion to duty, and disregard for danger, he rallied and placed in position a badly shaken battalion of infantry while subjected to hostile fire, stopped the enemy advance, and covered the retirement of friendly units.
