Second Lieutenant Caswell M. Higgs, O1057101, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company H, 317th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on 28 March 1945. While leading his machine-gun platoon during a night-assault crossing of the Rhine River, he was wounded in the shoulder by enemy machine-gun fire. Refusing medical aid, he ordered his assault boat to proceed to the enemy-held bank of the river where he personally led his men in capturing two enemy gun emplacements. Lieutenant Higgs then led his men farther into the enemy lines and secured a small beachhead, which allowed the succeeding assault troops to land with comparative safety. He was again wounded, mortally, while reorganizing his platoon. Lieutenant Higgs' heroic actions were an inspiration to his men.

II. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Colonel Walter I. Miller, O913582 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, Army of the United States. 23 October 1943 to 20 December 1945. (THIS award supersedes the award of the Commendation Ribbon to Colonel Miller for service from 15 June to 30 September 1945.)

Major Ernest A. Pinson, O31825, Air Corps, United States Army. November 1942 to September 1945.

Lieutenant Colonel Luther R. Storey, O178454, Finance Department, Army of the United States. May 1945 to July 1947.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Colonel Paul E. Ruestow, O18029, Air Corps, United States Army. March 1945 to June 1947. (This award supersedes the awards to Colonel Ruestow, of the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service from 21 March to 8 May 1945, as published in General Orders 24, Headquarters, Air Technical Service Command in Europe, 26 June 1945, and the Commendation Ribbon for service from 31 August 1945 to 28 February 1946.)

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Floyd R. Ward, O1999124, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, while serving as assistant post engineer at Camp Taejon, Taejon, Korea, was responsible for saving the life of Corporal John W. Griener, an electrician of the 517th Engineer Utilities Detachment. On the morning of 12 September 1948, a fire of undetermined origin occurred in the Consolidated Mess Hall, Taejon, Korea. It was deemed necessary that the high tension wires leading from the mess hall would have to be cut to prevent the fire from spreading to the rest of the hospital. Corporal John W. Griener was selected for this hazardous work. Upon reaching the top of the high tension pole, he came in contact with a live wire, and was immediately rendered unconscious and in danger of losing his life. Lieutenant Ward, with complete disregard for his personal safety, climbed the pole and, upon reaching the top, carefully removed Corporal Griener from the live wires. Lieutenant Ward's courage, alertness, and initiative were one of the main factors in saving the life of Corporal John Griener and his act of heroism displayed on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Harry R. Shirey (Army serial No. 13108116), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of the 339th Bombardment Squadron, 96th Bombardment Group (H), displayed extraordinary heroism in action near Bremen, Germany, on 8 May 1944. As tail gunner of a B-17, which was crippled by fighter attacks, he refused to bail out, although painfully wounded in both legs, but remained at his guns to keep the attacking enemy at bay until the rest of the crew could safely leave the airplane. Sergeant Shirey continued to return the enemy fire until the B-17 exploded, when he barely escaped with his life.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster), for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

General Lucius D. Clay, O9318, United States Army. As United States Military Governor in Germany and Commander in Chief of United States Forces in Europe. 15 March 1947 to 15 May 1949.

III. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Bernhard A. Stensler (Army serial No. 39044206) (then private first class), Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the armed enemy at Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 28 February 1945. A party of eight men sent out to secure water from a nearby stream was fired on by the enemy. Three members of the group were wounded, two were killed, and the remainder sought cover. Sergeant Stensler, who was leading a carrying party close by, immediately, upon witnessing the action and with total disregard for his personal safety, rushed to the aid of the wounded men, necessitating his crossing 300 yards of open terrain which was under continuous enemy fire. Upon reaching one of the wounded men, he dragged him approximately 100 yards to a covered position, where he administered first aid. Sergeant Stensler's heroism was instrumental in saving his comrade's life and greatly inspired those who witnessed his action.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918) the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain James G. Piper, O49248 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 12th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against an armed enemy near Mortain, France, during the period 8 to 11 August 1944. The 12th Infantry Regiment, attached to the 30th Infantry Division; was engaged in stopping the German drive to break out to the Normandy beaches, and was heavily engaged with the enemy in a further effort to relieve an infantry battalion of the division surrounded in Mortain. The 2d Battalion, 12th Infantry Regiment, of which Captain Piper was a member, became virtually isolated during its attacks to reach the St. Barthelmy-Mortain road. Captain Piper, perceiving the seriousness of the situation and despite intense enemy artillery and small-arms fire, volunteered to make frequent trips, both day and night, throughout the period to the main lines of resistance on reconnaissance and to the various company strong points in order to bring in urgently needed ammunition, replacements, food, and water. Captain Piper was an outstanding example to the officers and men of the battalion and his ingenuity and heroism were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Corporal Ben C. Bailey (AF43019060), United States Air Force, displayed heroism at the risk of his life while participating in the rescue of four survivors of a United States Navy PB4Y2 aircraft which crashed and burned in Argentinia Harbor on 21 October 1947. With utter disregard for his safety, he swam to the burning wreckage in icy cold water and successfully rescued one of the survivors. Corporal Bailey's disregard for personal safety, and his courage, fortitude, initiative, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the United States Air Force.

Private First Class Howard L. Brown (Army serial No. RA19287594), Corps of Military Police, United States Army, displayed heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy on 20 February 1948. While on duty in a Tokyo, Japan, elevated railway station, he saw a soldier climb down from the platform to the train tracks. He shouted to the soldier to get off the tracks, but the soldier apparently failed to hear the order. A train was rapidly approaching on the same track. When the train was approximately 50 feet from the soldier, Private Brown, with disregard for his safety, leaped from the platform onto the tracks and pulled the soldier to a position of safety against the railing on the far side. His quick thinking saved the soldier from being crushed between the moving train and the concrete station platform. Private Brown's heroic action is worthy of the highest commendation and reflects great credit on the military service.

Master Sergeant Harold L. Mitchell (AF15041577) (then warrant officer, junior grade), United States Air Force, displayed heroism at the risk of his life while participating in the rescue of four survivors of a United States Navy PB4Y2 aircraft which crashed and burned in Argentinia Harbor on 21 October 1947. He swam out in the icy cold water to the scene of the blazing crash, although there was imminent danger from exploding gasoline. Sergeant Mitchell's utter disregard for his personal safety and his initiative, fortitude, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the United States Air Force.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Ennis G. Laney, Jr. (Army serial No. 34687340) (then sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States. 15 December 1944 to 30 June 1945.

Major Byron C. Smith, O427421, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. January to August 1945.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—The President, authorized by the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), has awarded the Distinguished-Service-Medal to The Honorable James Forrestal for exceptionally meritorious service in a duty of great responsibility as The Secretary of Defense during the period 18 September 1947 to 28 March 1949.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant George W. Chaille (Army serial No. 18023525) (then sergeant), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 59th Coast Artillery Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Fort Mills, Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on 2 May 1942. When an ammunition magazine was blown up by enemy shell fire, a score of men were trapped, dazed, and wounded by the explosion and several were killed. Sergeant Chaille voluntarily left his place of safety and ran a half-mile to the battery under heavy Japanese shelling and bombing. He and others worked all afternoon extricating the trapped men and carrying the wounded to the hospital station. Sergeant Chaille's heroic actions are highly commendable.

Technical Sergeant Sam Sacco (Army serial No. 39532642) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism on 22 June 1943 as tail gunner of a B-17 aircraft. He was severely wounded while shooting down an attacking enemy fighter. Weak from loss of blood and oxygen, he crawled to the waist for first aid. Instead of remaining there for further treatment, he insisted upon returning to the tail, upon which undefended section the enemy had begun a concentrated attack. Manning the one remaining tail gun on his badly crippled airplane, Sergeant Sacco, again badly wounded, shot down three more enemy fighters for a total of four, and remained until ordered to bail out.

Staff Sergeant Rex B. Smith (Army serial No. 12158174) Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry while serving as waist gunner on a heavy bombardment mission to Brunswick, Germany, on 10 February 1944. So seriously wounded in both legs that he was unable to stand when his aircraft was attacked on the bomb run by FW-190s, he propped himself against his guns and continued firing with such accuracy that he destroyed at least one fighter in the first attack. With two engines completely knocked out, another delivering only partial power, and a fire in the wing, the pilot gave the bail-out signal. Sergeant Smith was carried to the waist door, where he was wounded in the groin by 20-mm fire in an unsuccessful attempt to salvo the door and provide a means of escape for himself and his companions. Before he could do so, the aircraft had been brought back under control with the wing fire out. Sergeant Smith, deliberately refusing first aid for his wounds, was carried back to his position, where he again propped himself up and manned his guns so accurately that he destroyed another enemy fighter. In the course of the third attack, this gallant soldier was wounded in both legs and one ~~remained~~ remained at his post until the aircraft was crash-landed in a field near the border of Holland, where he was captured by the Germans.

Sergeant Edward F. Wilson (Army serial No. 19000035) (then corporal), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, a member of the 59th Coast Artillery Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on 26 April 1942. When an officer and three enlisted men were seriously injured by a direct hit of a Japanese artillery shell on the observation post, he voluntarily exposed himself to enemy aerial bombardment and artillery fire and rescued them. Sergeant Wilson's heroic actions are highly commendable.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer.

Colonel James E. Roberts, O22541 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, United States Army. 3 December 1942 to 2 February 1943 and 3 February to 30 July 1943.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Chief Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded to the following-named officers:

His Excellency Romulo Gallegos Freire, President and Commander in Chief of the armed forces of the United States of Venezuela.

His Highness The Maharaja Mohan Shum Shere Jung Bahadur Rana, Prime Minister and Supreme Commander in Chief of Nepal. December 1941 to April 1948.

His Excellency Doctor Carlos Prío Socarras, President and Commander in Chief of the Republic of Cuba.

V. SILVER STAR.—So much of paragraph 2, section I, DA General Orders 74, 1948, as reads "Private Alfred McDonald" is amended to read "Private Alexander McDonald."

VI. LEGION OF MERIT.—So much of paragraph 2, section IV, DA General Orders 7, 1947, as reads "Colonel Clerin R. Smith" is amended to read "Colonel C. Rodney Smith."

V. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 5th Cavalry Regiment and the following attached units:

Detachment, Headquarters and Headquarters Troop, 1st Cavalry Brigade;

99th Field Artillery Battalion;

Troop A, 8th Engineer Squadron;

1st Collecting Troop, 1st Medical Squadron;

Detachment, 1st Signal Squadron;

673d Antiaircraft Machine Gun Battery (Airborne);

Battery C, 168th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion (Gun);

Battery A, 211th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion (AW); 12th Air Liaison Party, Fifth Air Force; and the 30th Portable Surgical Hospital

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Los Negros Island, Admiralty Group, during the period 29 February to 4 March 1944. On 29 February, elements of the 5th Cavalry Regiment landed on Los Negros Island for a reconnaissance in force of this Japanese-held base. The rapid and aggressive movements of the assault overwhelmed the defenders and enabled the landing force to seize a portion of Momote airstrip and establish a beachhead. For 3 days and 2 nights this small force held the beachhead, repaired the airstrip, and repulsed several strong enemy attacks. On 2 March, the remainder of the 5th Cavalry Regiment and supporting forces landed, expanded the beachhead, and secured the entire airstrip, thereby permitting reconstruction of this essential airdrome. However, the Japanese commander assembled his forces and launched an all-out attack on the night of 3-4 March. Wave after wave of screaming, fanatical Japanese, supported by artillery and mortar fire, charged the thinly held perimeter of the 5th Cavalry Regiment. Infiltrating parties cut all communication lines and attacked command posts, artillery, and automatic-weapons positions. Many hand-to-hand fights took place within the perimeter. Every attack was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy and by dawn the shattered remnants of the Japanese forces withdrew into the jungle. When a new outpost line was established, over 750 enemy dead were counted. The indomitable fighting spirit and outstanding achievement of the 5th Cavalry Regiment and attached units were major contributions to the success of the Admiralty campaign and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States. (This citation supersedes the citation made to a subordinate unit for action included in the above-cited period, but does not constitute an additional citation authorizing the wearing of an Oak-Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Unit Emblem of personnel of the 2d Squadron, 5th Cavalry Regiment, cited in par. 2, sec. XI, WD General Orders 50, 1944).

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Charles D. Herron, O777, United States Army. February 1945 to December 1946.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Santiago A. Berbano, O43241, Corps of Engineers, Philippine Army, a member of the 2d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in the Pilar-Bagac Road Sector, Bataan, on 28 March 1942. When units on his right and left retreated, Lieutenant Berbano, commanding the outpost unit of the 2d Battalion, stuck to his post and resisted the enemy. With utter disregard for personal safety in the face of superior fire and a greater number of men, he forcefully prevented the members of his unit from withdrawing, staged a stiff fight, and successfully prevented the advance of the enemy.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Roland A. Campbell, O53172, Air Corps, United States Army. July 1944 to September 1945.

Colonel Merian C. Cooper, O163054, Air Corps, Army of the United States. July to December 1942.

Lieutenant Colonel John W. Hansborough, O18376, Field Artillery, United States Army. January to September 1943.

Colonel Joseph S. Hoover, AO907184 (then lieutenant colonel), United States Air Force. December 1944 to July 1948.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Albert B. Neske, O272353, Air Corps, Army of the United States. September 1943 to August 1945.

IV...SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with the enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Technical Sergeant Thomas M. Crews (Army serial No. 14129408) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by voluntarily risking his life near Karlsruhe, Germany, on 1 November 1945. After escaping from a crashed and burning aircraft, heroically disregarding his safety, Sergeant Crews went to the aid of a seriously injured comrade and succeeded in removing him to safety. He then reentered the airplane in an attempt to rescue other injured personnel and in so doing suffered severe burns. By this act, so bravely and unhesitatingly performed, Sergeant Crews saved a fellow airman from certain death and brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant Howard M. Davis (Army serial No. 17057995) (then corporal), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Squadron A, 1385th Army Air Forces Base Unit, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he entered the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the aircraft. Sergeant Davis voluntarily exposed himself to the icy water and freezing temperature of the air for an extended period of time during the rescue of the pilot and remained in the fjord until the last person was on shore, standing by to give assistance wherever needed. Through his action, casualties from shock and drowning were prevented, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Davis brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Jesse L. Hinely (Army serial No. 34268126), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed remarkable heroism, on 1 August 1943, in contributing to the rescue of two Army officers from certain death in a wrecked and flaming airplane, from which he had escaped. With complete disregard for his safety, he and First Lieutenant Lloyd W. Reese, Jr., voluntarily risked their lives by reapproaching the aircraft and rescuing First Lieutenant Walter M. Sorensen and First Lieutenant Robert R. Snyder, who were trapped in the pilot's compartment. Without this heroic action displayed by Sergeant Hinely, the two officers would have perished in the flaming wreck.

Master Sergeant Rufus N. Lindsey (Army serial No. 6375025), Air Corps, United States Army, while a member of 2518th Army Air Forces Base Unit, Enid Army Air Field, Enid, Oklahoma, distinguished himself by heroism at the voluntary risk of his life. He was leaving his home at Jefferson, Oklahoma, on the morning of 9 December 1946, for duty at the Army air base when he noticed his neighbor's house afire. With total disregard for his safety, Sergeant Lindsey helped the father remove two children from the burning building and tried to save a third child, but the opening of a door in the building caused a blast of flames that rendered this second brave attempt to save life unsuccessful. Sergeant Lindsey's heroism is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service.

Chaplain (colonel) Edward R. Martin, O16358, Corps of Chaplains, United States Army, while serving as port chaplain at the New York Port of Embarkation, Brooklyn, New York, on 26 April 1948, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life during an explosion and fire at the Kings County Lighting Works, Brooklyn, New York. Chaplain Martin's outstanding achievement on a mission of mercy, in the rescue of trapped and seriously injured persons and administering to their spiritual and physical needs during a period of grave emergency, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army.

Chaplain (major) Albert W. Nickel, 0408559, Corps of Chaplains, Army of the United States, while serving as assistant port chaplain at the New York Port of Embarkation, on 26 April 1948, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life during an explosion and fire at Kings County Lighting Works, Brooklyn, New York. Chaplain Nickel's outstanding achievement on a mission of mercy, which included the rescue of trapped and seriously injured persons and administering to their spiritual and physical needs during a period of grave emergency, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Private Thomas E. Rutherford (Army serial No. RA19258676), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the Guard Company, Headquarters and Service Group, General Headquarters, Far East Command, displayed heroism on 23 October 1948 at Tokyo, Japan. While engaged in directing traffic and dispersing spectators at the scene of a fire in the Shimbashi area, Private Rutherford performed heroic action in rescuing one of his comrades. The fire spread rapidly among the closely constructed frame structures, making approach difficult. Upon learning that a soldier was still in one of the burning buildings, Private Rutherford, without regard for his personal safety, rushed into the building, located the then unconscious soldier, and carried him to safety. His brave actions reflect distinct credit on the military service and are highly commendable.

Captain Stephen J. Gifford, Jr., O1107975, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, as company commander, Company C, 149th Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 6 June 1944, during the landings in France at Omaha Beach, near St. Laurent, Normandy. To enable his troop to perform their mission, it was necessary to eliminate enemy fire for which no infantry units were then available. Sergeant Wallace C. Cooley (Army serial No. 14146024) (then private first class), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. He was among the first persons at the scene of the crash and, although exhausted from running three-quarters of a mile, without hesitation plunged into the iceberg-filled water. With utter disregard for his safety, he swam several hundred feet to the almost sunken AT-6 aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperature of the water and air for an extended period of time while assisting in releasing the injured pilot from the cockpit and seeing him safely to shore. Through his action, the life of the pilot, endangered by injuries and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Cooley brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Master Sergeant Grover D. Kimball (Army serial No. 38565758), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Giebelstadt, Germany, on 9 July 1947. Upon witnessing a crash landing of a B-29 aircraft and realizing that some of the crew were trapped, he heroically and voluntarily, at the risk of his life, entered the wreckage, despite the imminent possibility of explosion because of leaking gasoline. His efforts resulted in the rescue of several of the trapped men who were unable to extricate themselves and reflect great credit on Sergeant Kimball and the military service.

First Lieutenant Francis J. Lee, O2100172 (then second lieutenant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he plunged into the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the almost sunken AT-6 aircraft. He was the second person to reach the aircraft and voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperatures of the water and air for an extended period of time while releasing the injured pilot from the cockpit and seeing him carried to shore. Through his actions, the life of the pilot, endangered by injuries and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Lieutenant Lee brought great credit to himself and the military service.

First Lieutenant James O. O'Neal, O839130, Air Corps, Army of the United States, traffic officer of the 1385th Army Air Forces Base Unit, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he swam several hundred feet in the iceberg-filled water, carrying a fire ax, to the almost completely sunken AT-6 aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperatures of the water and air for an extended period of time while assisting in the release of the injured pilot from the cockpit and then carried him to shore. Through his action, the life of the pilot, endangered by injury and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Lieutenant O'Neal brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant Donald E. Smith (Army serial No. 13208836), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he entered the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the icy water and freezing temperature for an extended period of time during the rescue of the pilot. He remained in the fjord until the last person was on shore, standing by to give assistance wherever needed. Through his action, casualties from shock and drowning were prevented, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Smith brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant James D. Turner (AF13204518) (then private first class), United States Air Force, a member of the 7767th Special Service Band, displayed heroism at the risk of his life at Assmannshausen, Germany, on 6 February 1948. Seeing a young girl suddenly disappear in the dark into the Rhine River, he quickly located her with a flashlight and dived fully clothed into the river. Guided only by the girl's screams, he swam to her and, although exhausted by his efforts to keep the struggling girl afloat and battling against the swift current, towed her to safety at the edge of the river. Sergeant Turner's personal courage and quick action reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918) the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Mariano B. Inovejas, O30099, Infantry, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in the Philippine Islands on 2 February 1942. When the 11th Infantry Division, Philippine Army, was deployed along the Pilar-Bagac Road in Bataan, Lieutenant Inovejas, a platoon leader of Company A, 1st Battalion, 12th Infantry Regiment, was sent out in charge of an 11-man patrol to determine the strength and position of the enemy. Encountering a Japanese patrol of superior numbers, he led his men in attack and killed all of them, with no casualties to his own men. By his gallantry and leadership in combat, Lieutenant Inovejas aided in preventing the enemy from infiltrating into friendly lines and contributed much to the defense of Bataan.

II. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Solon Ghikas, Greek Army. December 1946 to November 1948.

III. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Captain Lloyd W. Reese, Jr., O733097 (then first lieutenant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 1 August 1943, displayed remarkable heroism in contributing to the rescue of two officers from certain death in a wrecked and flaming airplane, from which he had escaped. With complete disregard for his safety, Captain Reese and Technical Sergeant Jesse L. Hinley voluntarily risked their lives by reapproaching the aircraft and rescuing First Lieutenant Walter M. Sorensen and First Lieutenant Robert R. Snyder who were trapped in the pilot's compartment. Without this action, these two officers would have perished in the flaming wreck.

Sergeant Robert Riddle, Jr. (AF14224252) (then corporal), United States Air Force, a member of the Installations Squadron, 57th Airdrome Group, 57th Fighter Wing, displayed heroism at the voluntary risk of his life, on 16 May 1948, at Elmendorf Field, Alaska. He was on duty with a crash crew summoned to fight a fire that broke out on a refueling truck, which was servicing a P-51 fighter-type aircraft. Fanned by a gusty wind, the flames were endangering approximately 20 P-51's in the nearby vicinity and had engulfed 2 airplanes fully armed with rockets, which were parked on the flight line. Sergeant Riddle, with complete disregard of his life and personal safety, jumped into the burning truck, drove it approximately 500 feet away, and continued to assist in bringing the fire under control. Sergeant Riddle's quick and heroic action prevented serious injury and loss of life among the personnel fighting the fire and was in the highest tradition of the military service.

Master Sergeant Daniel A. Smith (Army serial No. 31170931), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Giebelstadt, Germany, on 9 July 1947. Upon witnessing a crash landing of a B-29 aircraft and realizing that some of the crew members were trapped, he heroically and voluntarily, at the risk of his life, entered the wreckage despite the imminent possibility of explosion because of leaking gasoline. Sergeant Smith's efforts resulted in the rescue of several of the trapped men who were unable to extricate themselves and brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Captain David H. Stoddard, O1784858, Medical Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Giebelstadt, Germany, on 9 July 1947. Upon witnessing a crash landing of a B-29 and realizing that some of the crew members were trapped in the aircraft, he heroically and voluntarily entered the wreckage at the risk of his life, despite the imminent possibility of explosion because of leaking gasoline. Captain Stoddard's efforts resulted in the rescue of several of the trapped men and his heroism reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the Commanding General, European Theater of Operations, to the following-named officer and is hereby confirmed:

Gunner John Cruickshanks, 176th Battery, 66th Light Antiaircraft Regiment, British Army, displayed heroism at Foggia, Italy, on 8 May 1944. When an American bombardment aircraft overshot the runway in an attempt to make a crash landing, Gunner Cruickshanks, disregarding flames which had begun to spread from the burning engine and the imminent danger of explosion, rushed to the aircraft and led two of the dazed crew to safety and returned twice to the blazing wreckage to drag other members of the crew from the fuselage. By his heroism and initiative, Gunner Cruickshanks reflected great credit on himself and the armed forces of the Allied Nations.

IV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

First Lieutenant Jack M. Bochner, O1321282, Infantry, Army of the United States. July 1944 to May 1945.

Major Halbert L. King, O363955 (then captain), Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States. 8 August to 16 September 1944.

Major James H. McMullin, O397912, Infantry, Army of the United States. September 1944 to September 1945.

Major Harold C. Mears, O317962, Air Corps, Army of the United States. September 1944 to May 1945.

Captain Joseph B. Nestor, O2009879 (then master sergeant), Medical Administrative Corps, Army of the United States. 22 November 1944 to 17 May 1945.

Second Lieutenant Mariano Y. Siasat, Jr., O29549, Infantry, Philippine Army. 1 May to 25 August 1945.

Colonel Ralph T. Wienbroer, O211789 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, Army of the United States. June to September 1945.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated was awarded by the Commanding General, European Theater of Operations, to the following-named officer and is hereby confirmed:

I..SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Leon V. Pablo, O42075, Infantry, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in Bataan, Philippine Islands, on or about 12 February 1942. When a large force of Japanese broke through the main line of resistance along Trail 7 of the Pilar-Bagac Road and headed toward Mariveles, Lieutenant Pablo, in charge of a contingent of soldiers from Company F, 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry Regiment, 11th Infantry Division, Philippine Army, mounted a tank and directed his men in a successful counterattack, which despite overwhelming odds, resulted in annihilation of the entire enemy force and restoration of the main line of resistance without loss of ground. By his undaunted courage and outstanding leadership, Lieutenant Pablo did much to prevent an early attack on Mariveles and its possible capture.

II..SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Sergeant First Class Larry S. Bussler (AF37461857), United States Air Force, a member of the Maintenance Squadron, 316th Maintenance and Supply Group, Greenville Air Force Base, Greenville, South Carolina, displayed heroism on 7 February 1948, near Saluda, North Carolina, when a C-47 aircraft, on which he was assigned as crew chief, crashed into a mountain and caught fire. Sergeant Bussler escaped through the cockpit escape hatch and after he was clear of the airplane he heard cries for help and returned to find the copilot hopelessly trapped in the escape hatch by a falling tree. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Sergeant Bussler climbed on the airplane, which was then burning fiercely and in immediate danger of exploding, released the copilot, and carried him to safety. By his courageous action in saving the life of his comrade at the risk of his life, Sergeant Bussler brought great credit to himself and the United States Air Force.

Master Sergeant Thomas A. Culley (Army serial No. 34718676), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at the risk of his life on 8 March 1947 at Panama City, Florida. While boating with another soldier in the Gulf of Mexico, their small boat was capsized by the wake of a passing vessel, throwing Sergeant Culley and the other soldier into the water. Sergeant Culley, after reaching safety, saw the other soldier drowning and left his position of safety to rescue his companion, having to submerge to locate him. He attempted to tow his companion to some nearby pilings, but the current was too strong and both men were swept past the pilings. He then attempted to reach the capsized boat, 150 yards away, finally succeeding despite the handicap of heavy clothing worn by himself and his companion. Not until this time did Sergeant Culley call for help. Both men were eventually picked up by a Navy rescue boat. Sergeant Culley's courageous act, with complete disregard for his personal safety, saved the life of his fellow soldier and reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant John A. Leaf (Army serial No. 39249627) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism on 26 July 1943 when his battle-damaged aircraft was forced to ditch in the North Sea. When the airplane struck the sea, an oil fire ignited and spread over the water. Completely disregarding personal safety, Sergeant Leaf pulled an unconscious gunner out of the burning oil and into a life raft. Sergeant Leaf's prompt and heroic actions on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 21 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class James M. King (Army serial No. 14002381), Company A, 3d Reconnaissance Battalion (A), 3d Armored Division, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in saving a soldier from drowning at Alexandria, Louisiana, on 3 May 1941. Private King jumped from the Pineville-Alexandria Bridge, a distance of 15 feet, into the Red River, which was at flood stage and choked with mud and debris, and rescued a soldier who had fallen from a houseboat into the river and who was fighting desperately in an attempt to avoid rescue. This act was performed without thought of personal safety and at the risk of his life and the heroism and presence of mind displayed by Private King on this occasion reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Robert R. Harrison, O1013093 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, while serving with the 501st Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action. On 12 June 1944 his platoon was directed to envelop the German position on Hill 30 which dominated Carentan, France. When German reserves pinned the company down, Lieutenant Harrison moved up a sunken road to within 30 feet of a machine gun and remained there, exposed to enemy fire, directing artillery fire on the enemy. When his two scouts were wounded, he dragged them to safety and returned to his exposed position. Eventually the enemy was forced to withdraw, permitting the company and battalion to reach its objective. Lieutenant Harrison's courage and leadership were an example to all in his command and his actions were in accordance with the highest standards of the military service.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Sergeant Corbett W. Clark (Army serial No. 20444353), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action in ground combat against the enemy on 20 August 1945 when a member of the 694th Field Artillery Battalion, 121st Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army. Attempts had been made to negotiate peaceful surrender by the enemy but had been unsuccessful. The cease fire order was not being observed and hostilities in this sector were continuing despite the capitulation of the Japanese high command. On this date, Sergeant Clark volunteered to contact the enemy and, accompanied by an officer, made his way unarmed and unsupported in face of grave danger to the enemy zone. The advance was over open terrain in full view of a stubborn enemy who had previously shot an intelligence officer attempting to fulfill the same mission. Upon making contact with the opposing troops, preliminary arrangements were made for the mass surrender of the hold-outs and the needless firing ceased, thereby eliminating greater bloodshed and loss of life. Sergeant Clark's undaunted courage and bravery, in risking his life that his comrades might be saved, reflect great credit on the armed forces and the military service.

Captain Lloyd R. Golby, O887508 (then staff sergeant, Army serial No. 32060935), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 12th Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, displayed gallantry in action near St. Pois, France, on 15 August 1944. After a litter team and ambulance were fired on by hostile machine guns while attempting to evacuate two wounded men and forced to withdraw and when medical corpsmen refused to go forward again because of their distrust of a German officer of safe conduct, despite the fact that as a combatant he was afforded no protection under the rules of war, Captain Golby volunteered to go into enemy-held territory and evacuate the wounded men. Accompanied by one other member of the command, he walked forward into the field of direct fire of enemy machine guns and evacuated the casualties in a jeep which had been abandoned in combat.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Francis E. Rounds, O1308549, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 12th Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, displayed gallantry in action near St. Pois, France, on 15 August 1944. After a litter team and ambulance were fired on by hostile machine guns while attempting to evacuate two wounded men and forced to withdraw and when medical corpsmen refused to go forward again because of their distrust of a German officer of safe conduct, despite the fact that as a combatant he was afforded no protection under the rules of war, Lieutenant Rounds volunteered to go into enemy-held territory and evacuate the wounded men. Accompanied by one other member of the command, he walked forward into the field of direct fire of enemy machine guns and evacuated the casualties in a jeep which had been abandoned in combat.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Chief Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant General Efsio Marras, Italian Army. November 1944 to November 1948. (So much of paragraph 2, section I, General Orders 5, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to the award of the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, to Lieutenant General Marras, is rescinded.)

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Viera Felipe Bonilla (Army serial No. RA1229673S), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company A, 32d Infantry Regiment, exhibited heroism, on 8 August 1948, at Ponchon, Korea. While standing at the edge of his company area watching the nearby flooded stream, Private Bonilla saw a small Korean boy swept into the raging river as he was attempting to cross an inundated bridge. The swift current rapidly carried the helpless boy downstream. Private Bonilla ran to the river, a distance of about 100 yards, stripping off his jacket as he ran. Without hesitation and with complete disregard for his personal safety, he plunged into the raging debris-filled river and fought his way to the child. With great difficulty, he reached the shore with the rescued boy, after swimming approximately 200 yards in the dangerous waters. Private Bonilla's heroic actions are deserving of the highest praise and reflect great credit on the military service.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Technician Fifth Grade Frank T. Boulosa (Army serial No. 42034387) (then private first class), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Technician Boulosa was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

Corporal Henry N. Clay (Army serial No. 35293191) (then private first class), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Corporal Clay was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

Technician Fifth Grade Joseph W. Gabler, Jr. (Army serial No. 36765468), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Technician Gabler was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

Sergeant James C. Lowery, Jr. (Army serial No. 34880753) (then technician fourth grade), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Sergeant Lowery was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

Sergeant Edwin G. Smith (Army serial No. 36870551), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Sergeant Smith was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated was awarded by Commanding General, European Theater of Operations, to the following-named enlisted man and is hereby confirmed:

Signalman Francis Martin Neasham, Royal Corps of Signals, Headquarters, 231st Infantry Brigade, BWEF, distinguished himself by heroic achievement on 6 June 1944 in the vicinity of Colleville sur Mer, France, while serving with the Army of the United States. Signalman Neasham was acting as the radio operator for the British liaison party with the 16th Infantry Regiment. He came ashore in the midst of a fierce bombardment from artillery, mortars, and machine guns situated on the cliff 400 yards from the beach and, without a moment's hesitation, calmly began operating his radio on the bullet-swept beach. Disregarding his personal safety, he continued operating his radio and supplied vital information concerning the movements of the invasion force on our flank. Throughout this bitter engagement, Signalman Neasham diligently applied himself to his duties and heroically continued his important work regardless of the imminent danger.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Sergeant James R. Craft (Army serial No. 34892827) (then corporal), Chemical Warfare Service, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 90th Chemical Mortar Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Germany on 24 February 1945. With five other men, Sergeant Craft was assigned the task of constructing and establishing wire communications to a proposed forward infantry command post. Working throughout the night, this team, under incessant enemy strafing, successfully completed their task and contributed materially to the advance of the infantry.

Technician Fifth Grade Edward K. Tews (Army serial No. 36775289) (then private), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters, 2d Battalion, 12th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in the Hurtgen Forest, Germany, throughout the period 10 to 13 November 1944, while his battalion was completely surrounded by a superior enemy force. Carrying an SCR 300 radio, he calmly and courageously maintained contact with regimental headquarters from exposed positions despite intense artillery and small-arms fire. The final success of the 2d Battalion in extricating itself depended greatly upon the courageous actions of Technician Tews throughout this period.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. So much of paragraph 1, section VII, General Orders 16, War Department, 1946, as pertains to Captain René J. Guiraud, Infantry, is rescinded.

2. So much of section VI, General Orders 46, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to Staff Sergeant Dumont Wade, Infantry (Coast Artillery Corps), is rescinded.

I. GENERAL COURTS MARTIAL.—By direction of the President, the commanding officer, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, is empowered, pursuant to the eighth article of war, to appoint general courts martial, effective as of 24 December 1948.

[AG 250.401 (6 Dec 48)]

II. ROTC UNIT.—Effective as of 1 September 1948, the Infantry ROTC unit at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was withdrawn.

[AG 000.8 (29 Jul 48)]

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citations read as follows:

1. The 2d Battalion, 143d Infantry Regiment, is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy from 6 to 9 December 1944 in the vicinity of Mount De Sigolsheim and Fme Boux, France. On 6 December, the battalion attacked across 2,000 meters of open terrain and captured the key terrain features of Mount De Sigolsheim and Hill 351, securing strong positions from which fire could be directed on vital enemy targets. Determined to regain these important heights, the enemy launched five strong, heavily supported counterattacks. The battalion successfully repulsed all of these assaults, fighting the enemy to a standstill and holding its positions. The exceptionally outstanding achievement and extraordinary heroism displayed by the 2d Battalion, 143d Infantry Regiment, during 4 days and 3 nights of unremitting and successful combat against skillful, determined, and vicious enemy forces reflect great credit on itself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

2. The 3d Battalion, 143d Infantry Regiment, and the following attached units:
Cannon Company, 143d Infantry Regiment;
Company C, 111th Engineer Combat Battalion;

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy from 2 to 6 December 1944 in the vicinity of Ribeauville, France. Passing through other elements of the regiment, the battalion launched a sustained attack which forced a passage through the mountainous country between Walbourg and Ribeauville, expanding the division's area and permitting access to the Colmar Plain at Ribeauville, France. The enemy in this sector being steadily reinforced employed aggressive and fanatical efforts to halt the rapid advance of the battalion. Continuing the attack eastward, the unit destroyed the enemy bridgeheads across the Fecht River at Guemar and Ostheim, against increasingly large enemy forces fighting with a skill and determination seldom encountered. During this attack, the 3d Battalion was gallantly supported by the Cannon Company armed with light tanks and acting as armor and the engineers who performed the hazardous tasks of removing several kilometers of booby trapped and cleverly mined road blocks. The indomitable fighting spirit and outstanding achievement of the 3d Battalion, 143d Infantry Regiment, and attached units, were major contributions to the success of the 36th Infantry Division in the Colmar region and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

DISTINGUISHED-FLYING CROSS—Award----- I
COMMENDATION RIBBON—Awards----- II

I. DISTINGUISHED-FLYING CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Distinguished-Flying Cross for heroic achievement while participating in aerial flight during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 4 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Colonel William E. Creer, O22352 (then second lieutenant), Air Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism while participating in aerial flight from France Field, Canal Zone, to Rio Hato, Republic of Panama, on 31 July 1940. While flying a B-18 airplane near San Carlos, Republic of Panama, at approximately 4,000 feet altitude, with a crew of six men, the right engine failed and vibrated excessively. Colonel Creer, who was acting as instructor pilot, immediately took command of the airplane and ordered each crew member to check his life vest and parachute and headed the airplane for Rio Hato to make a landing. When the vibration became so excessive it was evident that the airplane could not be flown that far, Colonel Creer, because of the rough terrain around San Carlos, headed the airplane out over the ocean, intending to land on the water. When the right engine caught fire and after attempts to extinguish the flames failed, Colonel Creer turned the airplane back to shore and immediately ordered the men to jump. After making sure the copilot and other members of the crew had jumped, Colonel Creer continued to hold the airplane level and attempted to adjust the automatic pilot. At that time, the right engine vibrated off the airplane, taking a portion of the wing with it. When the fire spread over the right side of the airplane and dense smoke entered the cabin, Colonel Creer abandoned the airplane through the pilot's escape hatch. The calmness, judgment, and bravery displayed by Colonel Creer on this occasion reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

SILVER STAR—Awards.....	I
LEGION OF MERIT—Award.....	II
SOLDIER'S MEDAL—Awards.....	III
BRONZE STAR MEDAL—Awards.....	IV, V
COMMENDATION RIBBON—Awards.....	VI
BATTLE HONORS—Corrections in general orders.....	VII

I. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Major William R. Morrison, O322359 (then captain), Armored Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Combat Command B, 4th Armored Division, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on 3 and 4 December 1944. When means of radio communications were knocked out while on a liaison mission with the 71st Combat Team 7 miles away, he repeatedly drove his truck on the road between Berg and Bourbacht, under German observation and heavy fires by observed German artillery and mortars, to coordinate details of actions between the two commands. Major Morrison's heroism and disregard for danger on this mission were a material factor in the reduction of Sarre Union.

Private First Class José Vargas, Jr. (Army serial No. 10306294) (then private, Philippine Scouts), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Battery, 23d Field Artillery, Philippine Scouts, distinguished himself by gallantry in action at Culis, Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 6 January 1942. During an intense artillery bombardment that disrupted all communication lines, he repeatedly braved heavy shelling to deliver vital messages between command posts. The conduct of Private Vargas was in the highest tradition of the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated was awarded by the Commanding General, Mediterranean Theater of Operations, to the following-named enlisted man and is hereby confirmed:

Private Alfred McDonald, Northamptonshire Regiment, British Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on the Anzio Beachhead from 10 to 20 March 1944. Private McDonald's battalion was committed to front-line duty in a particularly active sector where there was little natural cover and in a position where all daylight movement was restricted. Communication with one company was dependent upon a single wire line, strung along a shallow wadi. This line was cut repeatedly and communications interrupted as a result of enemy shelling. For five successive nights Private McDonald worked under intense and continuous enemy shell fire and over ground covered by active enemy machine-gun fire in order to keep this line in repair, once laboring for nine consecutive hours before communications were restored. On the third night Private McDonald was grazed four times by shell fragments, but he nevertheless continued his task with determination, courage, and complete disregard for personal safety.

II. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Elliott J. Barnette, O28847, Transportation Corps, United States Army. September 1945 to April 1947. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Colonel Barnette for service from February to March 1946.)

III. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 7 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant Matthew L. Pelikan (Army serial No. 6941494) (then private), Air Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing a woman from the roof of her burning home at McKeesport, Pennsylvania, on the night of 27 December 1939. Upon seeing a woman trapped and in grave danger on the porch roof of her burning home and attempting to jump to the ground, following her sister who was injured in doing so, Sergeant Pelikan immediately cautioned the woman not to jump. With utter disregard for his personal safety, he climbed to the roof and, with great difficulty, succeeded in carrying the woman safely down to the ground, thereby saving her life. He then rushed the injured sister to the hospital, where she later died from the injuries received. Upon returning to the scene of the fire, he took the rescued woman to the same hospital. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Pelikan on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 20 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Technician Fifth Grade Hobert K. Fry (Army serial No. 35030011) (then private), Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in saving an enlisted man from drowning in the Brazos River, near Mineral Wells, Texas, on 26 July 1941. When his companion, who could not swim, was wading in shallow water, he slipped and fell into a deep hole. Technician Fry suddenly realized that his companion had been under the surface too long and, without thought of his own safety, swam to the spot where he had last seen him. Upon locating the unconscious man under water, Technician Fry succeeded in carrying him to shore, where he immediately administered artificial respiration and thereby saved his life. The heroism displayed by Technician Fry on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

IV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Captain George E. Aikin, O857918, Air Corps, Army of the United States
June to November 1945.

Technical Sergeant Frederick T. Bowen (Army serial No. 6144698) (then sergeant), Air Corps, United States Army. 7 December 1941.

Major Anthony M. Cavallo, O359559 (then captain), Infantry, Army of the United States. March 1944 to June 1945.

Captain William H. Darley, O395509, Field Artillery, Army of the United States. June 1943 to November 1944.

Major Phil W. Freund, O333371, Field Artillery, Army of the United States. September 1943 to June 1945.

Major Eli Goodman, O399364, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. October 1943 to June 1945.

Captain William F. Hogan, Jr., O2040947, Air Corps, Army of the United States. September 1942 to January 1944.

Lieutenant Colonel James Irvine, O488151 (then major), Air Corps, Army of the United States. November 1944 to January 1945.

Captain Thomas M. Mann, O578500, Air Corps, Army of the United States. 18 April to 3 August 1945.

Major Lucius A. Perry, Jr., O33792, Air Corps, United States Army. 1 July 1944 to 24 May 1945.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated was awarded by the Commanding General, European Theater of Operations, to the following-named officer and is hereby confirmed:

Captain Derek F. Drewitt, British Army. August 1944 to May 1945.

PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION (NAVY) awarded, in the name of the President of the United States, by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

The officers and enlisted men of the First Marine Division, Reinforced, on August 7 to 9, 1942, demonstrated outstanding gallantry and determination in successfully executing forced landing assaults against a number of strongly defended Japanese positions on Tulagi, Gavutu, Tanambogo, Florida and Guadalcanal, British Solomon Islands, completely routing all the enemy forces and seizing a most valuable base and airfield within the enemy zone of operations in the South Pacific Ocean. From the above period until 9 September, 1942, this Reinforced Division not only held their important strategic positions despite determined and repeated Japanese naval, air and land attacks, but by a series of offensive operations against strong enemy resistance drove the Japanese from the proximity of the airfield and inflicted great losses on them by land and air attacks. The courage and determination displayed in these operations were of an inspiring order.

For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the invasion and capture of Okinawa Shima, Ryukyu Islands, from April 1 to June 21, 1945. Securing its assigned area in the north of Okinawa by a series of lightning advances against stiffening resistance, the First Marine Division, Reinforced, turned southward to drive steadily forward through a formidable system of natural and man-made defenses protecting the main enemy bastion at Shuri Castle. Laying bitter siege to the enemy until the defending garrison was reduced and the elaborate fortification at Shuri destroyed, these intrepid Marines continued to wage fierce battle as they advanced relentlessly, cutting off the Japanese on Oroku Peninsula and smashing through a series of heavily fortified, mutually supporting ridges extending to the southernmost tip of the island to split the remaining hostile force into two pockets where they annihilated the trapped and savagely resisting enemy. By their valor and tenacity, the officers and men of the First Marine Division, Reinforced, contributed materially to the conquest of Okinawa, and their gallantry in overcoming a fanatic enemy in the face of extraordinary danger and difficulty adds new luster to Marine Corps history and to the traditions of the United States Naval Service.

(NAVY) awarded, in the name of the President of the United States, by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces at Peleliu and Ngesebus from September 15 to 29, 1944. Landing over a treacherous coral reef against hostile mortar and artillery fire, the First Marine Division, Reinforced, seized a narrow, heavily mined beachhead and advanced foot by foot in the face of relentless enfilade fire through rain-forests and mangrove swamps toward the air strip, the key to the enemy defenses of the southern Palaus. Opposed all the way by thoroughly disciplined, veteran Japanese troops heavily entrenched in caves and in reinforced concrete pill-boxes which honeycombed the high ground throughout the island, the officers and men of the Division fought with undiminished spirit and courage despite heavy losses, exhausting heat and difficult terrain, seizing and holding a highly strategic air and land base for future operations in the Western Pacific. By their individual acts of heroism, their aggressiveness and their fortitude, the men of the First Marine Division, Reinforced, upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.

PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION
(NAVY) awarded, in the name of the President of the United States, by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

For outstanding performance in combat during the seizure of the Japanese-held islands of Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas from June 15 to August 1, 1944. Valiantly storming the mighty fortifications of Saipan on June 15, the Fourth Division, Reinforced, blasted the stubborn defenses of the enemy in an undeviating advance over the perilously rugged terrain. Unflinching despite heavy casualties, this gallant group pursued the Japanese relentlessly across the entire length of the island, pressing on against bitter opposition for twenty-five days to crush all resistance in their zone of action. With but a brief rest period in which to reorganize and re-equip, the Division hurled its full fighting power against the dangerously narrow beaches of Tinian on July 24 and rapidly expanded the beachheads for the continued landing of troops, supplies and artillery. Unchecked by either natural obstacles or hostile fire, these indomitable men spearheaded a merciless attack which swept Japanese forces before it and ravaged all opposition within eight days to add Tinian to our record of conquests in these strategically vital islands.

PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION
 (NAVY) awarded, in the name of the President of the United States, by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the assault and capture of Okinawa, April 1 to June 21, 1945. Seizing Yontan Airfield in its initial operation, the Sixth Marine Division, Reinforced, smashed through organized resistance to capture Ishikawa Isthmus, the town of Nago and heavily fortified Motobu Peninsula in 13 days. Later committed to the southern front, units of the Division withstood overwhelming artillery and mortar barrages, repulsed furious counterattacks and staunchly pushed over the rocky terrain to reduce almost impregnable defenses and capture Sugar Loaf Hill. Turning southeast, they took the capital city of Naha and executed surprise shore-to-shore landings on Oruku Peninsula, securing the area with its prized Naha Airfield and Harbor after nine days of fierce fighting. Reentering the lines in the south, Sixth Division Marines sought out enemy forces entrenched in a series of rocky ridges extending to the southern tip of the island, advancing relentlessly and rendering decisive support until the last remnants of enemy opposition were exterminated and the island secured. By their valor and tenacity, the officers and men of the Sixth Marine Division, Reinforced, contributed materially to the conquest of Okinawa, and their gallantry in overcoming a fanatic enemy in the face of extraordinary danger and difficulty adds new luster to Marine Corps history, and to the traditions of the United States Naval Service.

PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION
 (NAVY) awarded by the President of the United States. The citation reads as follows:

not be forgotten so long as gallantry and heroism are respected and honored. They are commended for their devotion to duty and splendid conduct at their battle stations under most adverse conditions. With limited defensive means against attacks in great force, they manned their shore installations and flew their aircraft so well that five enemy warships were either sunk or severely damaged, many hostile planes shot down, and an unknown number of land troops destroyed.

PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION (NAVY) awarded, in the name of the President of the United States, by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the Okinawa Campaign, from April 4 to July 14, 1945. Bearing the entire burden of land-based aircraft support during the early part of the Okinawa Campaign, the Second Marine Aircraft Wing established facilities and operated its aircraft under the most hazardous field conditions with a minimum of equipment and personnel. Undeterred by either the constant rain during April and May or by heavy enemy artillery shelling and repeated day and night aerial bombing of the air strips, the unit succeeded in carrying out highly effective aerial operations against the enemy from Kyushu to the southernmost islands of the Ryukyu Group, flying picket-ship and anti-submarine patrols, fighter sweeps, day and night fighter and bomber strikes, reconnaissance and search missions, escort missions, and minesweeper and photographic plane cover, in addition to paradrop missions to move essential supplies to our forces. Blasting night and day at the enemy's dug-in infantry and artillery positions and executing some of the most successful night fighter operations of the Pacific War, the unit furnished close air support for our ground forces, shooting down 495 Japanese planes during this period. A gallant, fighting unit, complemented by skilled officers and men, the Second Marine Aircraft Wing played a major role in achieving the air superiority essential to our success in the Okinawa operation.

NAVY UNIT COMMENDATION awarded by the Secretary of the Navy.

The citation reads as follows:

For outstanding heroism in support of Military Operations during the seizure of enemy Japanese-held Iwo Jima, Volcano Islands, February 19 to 28, 1945. Landing against resistance which rapidly increased in fury as the Japanese pounded the beaches with artillery, rocket and mortar fire, the Support Units of the Fifth Amphibious Corps surmounted the obstacles of chaotic disorganization, loss of equipment, supplies and key personnel to develop and maintain a continuous link between thousands of assault troops and supply ships. Resourceful and daring whether fighting in the front line of combat, or serving in rear areas or on the wreck-obstructed beaches, they were responsible for the administration of operations and personnel; they rendered effective fire support where Japanese pressure was greatest; they constructed roads and facilities and maintained communications under the most difficult and discouraging conditions of weather and rugged terrain; they salvaged vital supplies from craft lying crippled in the surf or broached on the beaches; and they ministered to the wounded under fire and provided prompt evacuation to hospital ships. By their individual initiative and heroism and their ingenious teamwork, they provided the unflinching support vital to the conquest of Iwo Jima, a powerful defense of the Japanese Empire.

of extremely adverse conditions, the unit penetrated forward areas where our assault troops were engaged and, with limited men and material, began investigations, developed methods for suppressing the disease and organized and carried out the control operations. Faced with the problem of malaria in serious proportions during the early occupation of Guadalcanal, this unit employed effective measures to crush the epidemic. Later, during the landing of the first assault troops on Munda, the unit sent ashore a combat malaria control team which attacked the source of the disease and brought it under almost immediate control before an epidemic could develop. Successful in its mission on some of the most highly malarious islands in the world, the Malaria and Epidemic Disease Control Unit rendered invaluable service in preventing the loss of manpower and, by the efficiency and cooperation of its entire company, contributed materially to the success of our South Pacific Campaign.

NAVY UNIT COMMENDATION
 awarded by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows:

For outstanding heroism in support of military operations in the forward areas of the South Pacific from December 10, 1942 to July 15, 1944. Flying unarmed, land-based planes without escort despite dangers from Japanese land, sea and air forces, treacherous tropical storms and mechanical failures at sea far from base, the South Pacific Combat Air Transport Command delivered bombs, ammunition, gasoline and vital supplies to combat troops in close and direct contact with the enemy. Frequently taken under fire by hostile antiaircraft guns and fighters while airborne, and by Japanese artillery and Naval gunfire while on the ground at advanced fields, the pilots, aircrewmembers and ground echelons served with courage, skill and daring in maintaining uninterrupted support of our forces in the forward areas and contributed essentially to the rout of the Japanese from strategically important bases in the South Pacific. This gallant record of achievement reflects the highest credit upon the South Pacific Combat Air Transport Command and the United States Naval Service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Bautista P. Siaocong, O1897073 (then private, Infantry, Philippine Scouts), Ordnance Department, Army of the United States, a member of Company E, 57th Infantry Regiment (Philippine Scouts), displayed extraordinary heroism in action against the armed enemy on 29 January 1942. His unit was engaged in dislodging a Japanese force which had landed at Longoskawayan Point, Bataan. Hand-to-hand fighting developed with the captain of the adjacent company in the midst of it. After the captain had fired the last round from his pistol at a Japanese officer, who was attacking with his sword and had served the hand of the first sergeant, Lieutenant Siaocong, from the adjacent company, placed himself between the captain and the Japanese officer and killed the enemy with his rifle. Lieutenant Siaocong, by his courage and heroism, saved the life of the captain and deprived the Japanese forces of one of their commissioned officers.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July, 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (third Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger, O2624, United States Army. June 1945 to August 1948.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Edwin H. Johnson, O5434, Infantry, United States Army, while a member of the 32d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action at Abucaay Hacienda Road, Bataan, on 12 January 1942. During an enemy shelling of his command post, despite a wound he then incurred, Colonel Johnson immediately gave directions, supervised the medical personnel in treatment of the wounded, and, by his example, assisted in restoring order within his regimental bivouac area.

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926) the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 4 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

AGO 775B—Oct. 800539—48

in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in Little Neck Bay, Fort Totten, New York, on 18 May 1941. When an enlisted man overturned in a boat about 50 yards from shore and was in grave danger of drowning, Sergeant Churuti and four other enlisted men, upon seeing the man struggling in the water, with utter disregards for their safety, jumped into the rough water and swam out to him. With great difficulty they succeeded in bringing the unconscious man to shore, where he was revived by means of artificial respiration, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Churuti on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Ernest E. Stout (Army serial No. 20544900) (then sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a young boy from drowning in Fall Creek, on the Government reservation at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, on 5 June 1941. While two young boys were swimming in water about 8 feet deep, one of the boys suddenly called for help and sank from sight. Sergeant Stout, with utter disregard for his safety, immediately dived into the water and, after making several attempts, located the boy, who had been under the water about 4 minutes. He succeeded in bringing the boy safely to shore, where he was assisted by others in reviving him by artificial respiration. The boy was then taken to the hospital. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Stout in saving the life of the boy reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD, Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 11 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Harold C. Milliken, O1798944 (then sergeant (Army serial No. 6544559), United States Army), Corps of Military Police, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in saving his company commander and others from serious injury, perhaps death, when threatened by an armed soldier at Fayetteville, North Carolina, on 31 January 1941. When his company commander was threatened by an armed soldier with a Colt .45 automatic pistol, near a cafe, Lieutenant Milliken, with great presence of mind, slipped out of the crowd, around to the back of the cafe, and through to the front door. With coolness and great courage, and without fear of bodily harm to himself, he leaped upon the armed soldier, grasped his arm, and turned the pistol from the officer. In so doing, he facilitated the disarming of the man. The courage and presence of mind displayed by Lieutenant Milliken on this occasion reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 22 October 1941, to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Lieutenant Colonel Francis C. Grevenberg, O408972 (then second lieutenant), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing two enlisted men from drowning in the Chesapeake Bay, at Fort Monroe, Virginia, on 21 May 1941. On hearing calls for help from the two enlisted men who were being carried into deep, rough water by an undertow while they were swimming in the bay, Colonel Grevenberg, with utter disregard for his personal safety, immediately swam to their assistance. Reaching the frightened men who were holding on to one another. Colonel Grevemberg was twice pulled under the water before he could separate them. With great difficulty, however, he managed to get them to shallow water, where he was assisted in bringing them safely to shore by several other men who swam from shore to aid in the rescue. The heroism displayed by Colonel Grevemberg on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Angelus J. Haberstock (Army serial No. 20758732) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing an enlisted man from a burning airplane at Lovell Field, Chattanooga, Tennessee, on 12 June 1941. When a type A-20-A airplane crashed in landing and burst into flames, Sergeant Haberstock and another enlisted man, without thought of personal safety, immediately rushed to the scene. Without considering the intense heat, smoke, and flames and not knowing the quantity of gasoline in the tanks of the airplane, they entered the gunner's cockpit, one man from above through the solarium and the other man through the door in the bottom, succeeded in pulling the gunner, who was trapped inside, from the burning airplane, and carried him to safety, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed on this occasion by Sergeant Haberstock reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Technician Fifth Grade William M. Hopkins (Army serial No. 33636655), Medical Department, Army of the United States, as aid man of Company I, 328th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Bombotsch, Luxembourg, on 26 January 1945. Using a board as a sled, he left a position of relative safety and crawled 75 yards under heavy, direct small-arms fire across open, snow-covered terrain to a soldier who had been severely wounded. After administering first aid to the helpless wounded man, Technician Hopkins brought him back to safety.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technician Fifth Grade Robert C. Shurtliff (Army serial No. 39935183) (then private first class), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company L, 383d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic actions on 20 June 1945, at Okinawa. In the town of Aragachi, the advance of his platoon was harassed by the fire of a bypassed sniper. Technician Shurtliff detached himself from his squad and, on his own initiative, found and destroyed the enemy rifleman. Later, when the forward movement of his platoon was again checked by two strongly defended hill positions, he and two other enlisted men crept cautiously up to the enemy emplacements and knocked them out. Technician Shurtliff was personally responsible for killing 10 of the enemy and his courageous actions enabled the unit to gain its objective.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant James W. Carrington, O4S412, United States Marine Corps Reserve, displayed extraordinary heroism in action in the Philippine Islands from 15 March 1944 to 5 February 1945. After a hazardous escape from Bilibid Prison, Manila, Lieutenant Carrington established contact with, and was inducted into, the East Central Luzon Guerrilla Army Forces. Assigned as commandant, Headquarters and Security Detachment, he displayed unusual zeal and ingenious ability in training and drilling non-English speaking guerrilla recruits and forming them into an able combat team, which successfully faced the enemy time and time again under his personal command. When the Japanese forces attacked the main radio station and headquarters of the East Central Luzon Guerrilla Army Forces on Bituin and Balagbag Mountains on four separate occasions, extending over a period of 8 days, with the aid of two salvaged machine guns, Lieutenant Carrington repelled the initial attack and, with five additional riflemen, completely routed the second and succeeding assaults, despite seemingly overwhelming odds. Moving the headquarters to the lowlands, he returned several times through the enemy lines to rescue the sick and wounded and retrieve necessary equipment, including his two machine guns. Throughout his entire service, Lieutenant Carrington displayed outstanding leadership ability and devotion to duty and reflected great credit on himself and the military service.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Jerome B. Leek (AF 20916717), United States Air Force (then private, Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States), a member of Headquarters Battery, 60th Coast Artillery (AA) Regiment, displayed gallantry in action at Breakwater Point, Fort Mills, Corregidor, on 2 January 1942. When the roof of a command post caught fire from an enemy bomb, trapping several men underneath, Sergeant Leek, with utter disregard for his safety, fought the fire, extinguished it, and brought five men out alive.

III. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Sammie Liles (Army serial No. RA44144063), Quartermaster Corps, United States Army, a member of the 7737th Headquarters and Service Company, distinguished himself by heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy at Bad Nauheim, Germany, on 14 June 1948. When a fire broke out while gasoline was being unloaded into his 2,000-gallon trailer tank from a railway tank car, AGO 648B—Oct. 800539—48

he jumped into the cab of his prime mover, at the risk of being badly burned, and drove the blazing trailer a safe distance away, where he got out, unhooked the prime mover from the burning trailer, and returned to the siding where the railway tank car, which was one of four tank cars, was burning furiously. Corporal Liles then proceeded to uncouple the tank cars which were not burning from the one that was on fire and, driving his prime mover on the railroad tracks, pulled the nonignited cars to safety.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 7 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

Corporal Walter R. Houston (Army serial No. 20468492) (then private first class), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in extinguishing the flaming clothing of an enlisted man on the night of 6 June 1941, near Beechgrove, Tennessee. When an enlisted man of the battery kitchen truck was refueling the tank of one of the burners on the field range with gasoline, the vapor from the gasoline ignited, covering his clothing with flaming gasoline. Upon leaping from the truck and attempting to run, Corporal Houston and another enlisted man seized him, threw him to the ground, and, without thought of personal danger, covered him with their bodies. With the help of another soldier who had arrived with a fire extinguisher, they succeeded in extinguishing his blazing clothing and thereby saved his life. The heroism displayed by Corporal Houston on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Peter Schur (Army serial No. 6718063) (then private first class), Air Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in the waters of Manila Bay, Manila, Philippine Islands, on 28 February 1941. When the United States Army transport U. S. Grant was pulling out from the dock, an enlisted man fell overboard from the troop deck and, being partially stunned by the fall, was in grave danger of drowning. Upon seeing his predicament, Sergeant Schur, who was on duty in a crash boat nearby, with utter disregard of his safety, immediately jumped into the shark-infested waters and, with great difficulty, succeeded in bringing the helpless man to the surface, where he was assisted to a place of safety, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Schur on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 15 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant William P. Wedeking, O1303262 (then private first class Army serial No. 16020520), Transportation Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a man from drowning at Fort Slocum, New York, on 28 April 1941. Upon being informed that a man was drowning in the bay, Lieutenant Wedeking immediately ran to the scene and, with utter disregard for his safety, jumped into the water, despite the cold and darkness. He located the drowning man and, with great difficulty, succeeded in bringing him safely to shore, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed on this occasion by Lieutenant Wedeking reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

IV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant John H. Kidd, Jr. (276305) (then sergeant), United States Marine Corps. December 1941 to May 1942.

First Lieutenant Joseph D. Wallace, O1295301, Infantry, Army of the United States. 22 January 1948.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Arthur H. Wilson, Jr., O20693, Infantry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic action against the enemy at Caylayway, Southern Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 2 February 1945. During an attack on strongly fortified enemy positions, the two assault companies of his battalion met stiff enemy resistance from several small suicidal units armed with automatic weapons. Colonel Wilson made a personal reconnaissance of his right flank and from a small ridge located the enemy positions which were in an area of rugged terrain. With his battalion S-3, he crept upon the enemy and single-handedly destroyed the position with grenades and pistol fire, thereby permitting the advance of his battalion without further casualties. The exemplary heroism and fearless leadership of Colonel Wilson reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

2. The Army Effects Bureau and the American Graves Registration Distribution Center will be established as class II activities under the control of The Quartermaster General at the Kansas City Records Center, Kansas City, Missouri.

3. The redesignation of the Kansas City Quartermaster Depot will not affect the status of any other activities located thereat and they will remain in their present classification.

[AG 323.361 (31 Aug 48)]

II. ROTC UNIT.—Effective as of 10 September 1948, the Antiaircraft Artillery ROTC unit at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts, was withdrawn.

[AG 000.8 (13 Sep 48)]

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9326 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 1st Battalion, 415th Infantry Regiment, and the following attached units:

Company C, 329th Engineer Combat Battalion;

1st Platoon, Antitank Company, 415th Infantry Regiment;

Company C, 750th Tank Battalion;

Company A, 555th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion (AW);

1st Platoon, Company B, 692d Tank Destroyer Battalion,

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy from 23 through 25 February 1945 in the vicinity of Birkesdorf and Arnoldsweiler, Germany. On 23 February, the battalion forced a predawn crossing of the violent, flood-swollen Roer River and overran a well-established and heavily mined enemy position. Devastating counterfire failed to halt the attack on Birkesdorf and the adjacent high ground to the north. With these objectives well in hand, the battalion was committed to a night assault across unfamiliar ground to capture Arnoldsweiler. Advancing without hesitation, the unit met deadly artillery fire, but secured a portion of the town by dawn. At this point, the enemy launched six furious counterattacks heavily supported by artillery and self-propelled guns. The battalion frustrated all of these thrusts, inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy, and, after 2½ days of furious fighting, secured Arnoldsweiler. The conspicuous gallantry, indomitable fighting spirit, and outstanding performance of duty exhibited by the 1st Battalion, 415th Infantry Regiment, and attached units, enabled the Roer River bridgehead to be firmly established and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., 15 September 1948

SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 4 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Bertram Smith (Army serial No. 12017711) (then private first class), Medical Department, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in assisting in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in Little Neck Bay, Fort Totten, New York, on 18 May 1941. When an enlisted man overturned in a boat about 50 yards from shore and was in grave danger of drowning, Sergeant Smith and four other enlisted men, upon seeing the man struggling in the water, with utter disregard for their safety, jumped into the rough water and swam out to him. With great difficulty they succeeded in bringing the unconscious man to shore, where he was revived by means of artificial respiration, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Smith on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 6 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant Horace W. Timson (Army serial No. 6798330) (then technical sergeant), Field Artillery, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing a girl from drowning in Lake Rush, near Fort Sill, Oklahoma, on 30 May 1941. Upon seeing a small girl who had fallen from a dam into deep water below and in grave danger of drowning, Sergeant Timson, who was fishing nearby, although fully dressed and wearing hip boots, without hesitation or thought of his safety jumped into the water which was about 8 feet deep and swam to her rescue. Upon reaching the girl, who had gone under the water for the second time, he succeeded in bringing her safely to shore, thereby saving her life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Timson on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 7 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

Private John Schivetz (Army serial No. 6975703), Transportation Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing a small boy from drowning in a mountain pool at Waiakea Falls, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, on 8 March 1941. While resting on a ledge about 20 feet above the pool where he had been swimming, Private Schivetz heard the frightened call of a woman for help. Seeing a small boy floundering in the water disappear beneath its surface, Private Schivetz, without hesitation and with complete disregard for his personal safety, dived from the ledge into the murky water of the boulder-strewn pool, brought the child to the surface, and swam with him to the shore, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Private Schivetz on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class William U. Taylor (Army serial No. 20410341), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in extinguishing the flaming clothing of an enlisted man on the night of 6 June 1941, near Beechgrove, Tennessee. When an enlisted man of the battery kitchen truck was refueling the tank of one of the burners on the field range with gasoline, the vapor from the gasoline ignited, covering his clothing with flaming gasoline. Upon leaping from the truck and attempting to run, Private Taylor and another enlisted man seized him, threw him to the ground, and, without thought of personal danger, covered him with their bodies. With the help of another soldier who had arrived with a fire extinguisher, they succeeded in extinguishing the man's blazing clothing, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Private Taylor on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

4. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 11 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Raymond J. Bouley (Army serial No. 5163070) (then private), Medical Department, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in the Pacora River, in the Republic of Panama, on 15 February 1941. While two men were in wading about 30 feet from shore, one of them suddenly stepped into a deep hole beyond his depth and, unable to swim, was in grave danger of drowning. His companion endeavored to rescue him but was unable to do so and both were clinging frantically to each other when Sergeant Bouley noticed their predicament. With complete disregard for his safety, Sergeant Bouley plunged into the river, swam out to the struggling men, and, with great difficulty, succeeded in separating them. He then swam back to shore with one of the men, who was semiconscious, and thereby saved his life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Bouley on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Master Sergeant Levi A. Freed (Army serial No. 6455309) (then technical sergeant), Air Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in extricating an officer from an overturned airplane at Dodge City, Kansas, on 25 May 1940. While taking off from the airport, an airplane piloted by an officer with Sergeant Freed as passenger suddenly crashed into a car parked nearby and overturned causing a gasoline tank to burst and cover both occupants with gasoline. Realizing the imminent danger of an explosion or fire and seeing that the pilot was seriously injured and unable to extricate himself, Sergeant Freed, with great difficulty because of the position of the airplane, succeeded in removing the pilot from the cockpit. Although slightly injured himself, Sergeant Freed courageously reentered the airplane, cut the switches, and removed the wires from the battery terminals, thus preventing the complete destruction of the airplane. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Freed on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Corporal Arthur L. Ingalls (Army serial No. 19013121) (then private), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in saving the lives of his Army and civilian companions after an accident in the China Sea, off the west coast of Bataan, near Nagblaete Point, Philippine Islands, on 9 March 1941. While a group of officers and men were returning from a fishing trip, the banca in which they were riding suddenly overturned, throwing the entire group into the sea about 100 yards off shore in shark and barracuda-infested waters. All helped one another to safety on the overturned banca and, by paddling with their hands, managed to bring the banca within 200 feet off shore, when it was caught in a cross current and gradually drew out to sea. Realizing their danger, Corporal Ingalls and an officer, with utter disregard for their safety, swam ashore and, with great difficulty, reached the Signal Corps Camp in Bataan about 2 hours after the accident. Upon the Signal Corps reporting the accident to Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, a motor launch was immediately dispatched and rescued the remaining members of the group. The heroism displayed by Corporal Ingalls on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

5. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 14 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

First Sergeant Stephen Sinko (Army serial No. 6977710) (then corporal), Infantry, United States Army, displayed heroism in assisting in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in Little Neck Bay, Fort Totten, New York, on 18 May 1941. When an enlisted man overturned in a boat about 50 yards from shore and was in grave danger of drowning, Sergeant Sinko and four other enlisted men, upon seeing the man struggling in the water, with utter disregard for their safety, jumped into the rough water and swam out to him. With great difficulty they succeeded in bringing the unconscious man to shore, where he was revived by means of artificial respiration, thereby saving his life. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Sinko on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

6. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 15 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Talmadge M. Adams (Army serial No. 14002620) (then private), Quartermaster Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a man and a woman from a burning automobile that had crashed on the highway near Cusseta, Georgia, on 6 April 1941. While Sergeant Adams and another enlisted man were returning to their barracks by automobile, they came upon an automobile that had left the highway, overturned, crashed into a corner of a building, and was on fire. Unable to open the jammed doors of the car, they kicked out the glass and saw that the car was occupied by a man and a woman who had been knocked unconscious. By presence of mind and quick action, Sergeant Adams and his companion, with utter disregard for personal safety, succeeded in extricating the two persons from the blazing wreck, thereby saving their lives. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Adams on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technician Third Grade Kyle C. Baggett (Army serial No. 6394546) (then sergeant), Infantry, United States Army, displayed heroism in rescuing a man and a woman from a burning automobile that had crashed on the highway near Cusseta, Georgia, on 6 April 1941. While Technician Baggett and another enlisted man were returning to their barracks by automobile, they came upon an automobile that had left the highway, overturned, crashed into a corner of a building, and was on fire. Unable to open the jammed doors of the car, they kicked out the glass and saw that the car was occupied by a man and a woman who had been knocked unconscious. By presence of mind and quick action, Technician Baggett and his companion, with utter disregard for personal safety, succeeded in extricating the two persons from the blazing wreck, thereby saving their lives. The heroism displayed by Technician Baggett on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Private Charles W. Browning (Army serial No. 14008844), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, displayed heroism during a fire at Greenville, South Carolina, on 6 May 1941. Upon observing a fire in a house near his home, Private Browning, without regard for personal safety, rushed into the house and rescued a 2-year old baby. The baby was sleeping in a room adjoining the kitchen where the fire originated from a kerosene cooking stove which had become ignited. Upon carrying the baby to safety, Private Browning returned to the house and, by fighting the fire with buckets of water, succeeded in extinguishing the flames before serious damage was done. The prompt action on the part of Private Browning and his coolness in the face of danger reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

7. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 22 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted men:

Sergeant Robert Bobley (Army serial No. 34052416) (then private), Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a comrade from drowning in the Big Piney River, at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, on 27 June 1941. While two squads of men were clearing trees and underbrush in preparation of building a bridge over the river, one of the enlisted men in attempting to swim to the boat was seized with cramps about 30 feet from shore. Upon seeing his comrade in grave danger of drowning, Sergeant Bobley, with utter disregard for his safety, immediately dived into the river and with great difficulty succeeded in bringing the unconscious man safely to shore, where he was revived by means of artificial respiration. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Bobley on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Technician Third Grade Seymour Weiser (Army serial No. 12020722) (then private), Medical Department, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a small girl from drowning near the station hospital at Fort Jay, New York, on 20 April 1941. Upon seeing a small girl ride her bicycle over the seawall into approximately 7 feet of water, in the rear of the station hospital where he was a convalescent patient, Technician Weiser immediately jumped into the water, fully clothed, and pulled the girl to shallow water. With the help of the girl's father, she was returned to the top of the wall. By presence of mind and prompt exemplary action, Technician Weiser prevented the girl from being thrown against the rocks at the foot of the wall by the tide, and his act resulted in saving her life. The courage and presence of mind displayed by Technician Weiser on this occasion reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Charles E. Trimmingham, O727282, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism over Vunakanau Aerodrome, near Rabaul, New Britain, on 26 June 1943. After skillfully flying his heavy aircraft through unavoidable thunderstorms, icing conditions, and zero visibilities, the target was tenaciously attacked in the face of intense enemy fire. The bombing run was precise and, as a result, nine enemy bombers were set on fire. Although his mission was accomplished, Lieutenant Trimingham remained in the target area to assist the remainder of the squadron to attack and get safely away. By making numerous runs over the enemy radar station and dropping fragmentation bombs, the enemy was confused and attention attracted from the striking force. When his airplane was attacked by heavily armed night fighters, one of which was shot down and others dispersed, the copilot was killed and Lieutenant Trimingham mortally wounded, dying at the controls of his disabled aircraft while attempting to bring the airplane and crew back to safety. Through his inspiring gallantry and heroic action, Lieutenant Trimingham upheld the finest traditions of the military service.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Robert C. Silhavy, O406766 (then second lieutenant), Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, displayed extraordinary heroism in action at Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 17 December 1941. A detachment trained in demolitions by Captain Silhavy was detailed to move into the Bicol area, make contact with the advancing enemy, and to destroy highway and railroad bridges to deny their use to the enemy. At a large railroad trestle near Banga Caves, Camarines Sur, the Japanese moving down the track toward the demolition squad opened fire and forced the group to cover. Captain Silhavy attempted to blow up the bridge, but the charge that had been laid was insufficient to destroy it. Alone and covered by a single .30 caliber machine gun, he moved forward, although exposed to enemy fire the entire time, prepared charges, and successfully demolished the trestle. By his heroic and determined action in delaying the enemy advance, Captain Silhavy upheld the highest traditions of the military service.

III. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Bryant E. Moore, O8633, United States Army. September 1947 to June 1948.

IV. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Charles W. Wood, O424786, Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action in the Philippine Islands on 24 March 1942. Leading a combat patrol against the Japanese, Lieutenant Wood succeeded in securing vital positions and personally directed artillery fire from the tower of a church, at all times exposed to enemy mortar fire. Upon completion of his mission, he led his platoon back to the main line of resistance through devious and dangerous territory with only one casualty. By his outstanding initiative and courage, Lieutenant Wood reflected great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Henry Garcia (Army serial No. 19080310), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroism over Vunakanau Aerodrome, near Rabaul, New Britain, on 26 June 1943, as assistant engineer on a B-17 aircraft during an important and strategic bombing raid against the most heavily defended Japanese base in the Pacific. When a load of fragmentation bombs came free of their racks and scattered, Sergeant Garcia gathered them on the floor and, by lying on them for approximately 2 hours until the target was reached, prevented possible detonation. Then, while the pilot made runs over radar installations and other positions, he held them one by one out the side window and skillfully directed them to clear the airplane and hit the target. When notified that a crash landing was inevitable, he chose to remain with the aircraft to assist the wounded personnel aboard, rather than bail out. Through his gallantry and intrepidity, Sergeant Garcia upheld the finest traditions of the military service.

Second Lieutenant Francis G. Peattie, O727655, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroism in action over Vunakanau Aerodrome, near Rabaul, New Britain, on 26 June 1943. As bombardier of a B-17 aircraft on an important and strategic bombing raid against the most heavily defended Japanese base in the Pacific, Lieutenant Peattie, 65th Bombardment Squadron, 43d Bombardment Group (H), demonstrated conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity. His bombs were dropped on the target with such precision and accuracy that only one bombing run was necessary in destroying nine enemy bombers. During an ensuing battle with enemy fighters, although wounded himself, Lieutenant Peattie administered aid to the wounded pilot, copilot, and navigator, removing his parachute in order to be of more assistance. He thereby placed himself at a disadvantage which later led to his death, since he was unable to bail out of the airplane before it crashed. Through his marked courage and heroism, Lieutenant Peattie upheld the highest traditions of the military service.

V. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Sergeant Charles C. Branum (Army serial No. 6912384) (then corporal), Air Corps, United States Army, displayed gallantry in action against an enemy in the Philippine Islands on 20 January 1942. Detailed as chief of a gun crew at Agloloma Point, the gun had fired only a few rounds when it was hit by enemy machine-gun fire, which killed one and seriously wounded two of his men. Sergeant Branum carried the most seriously wounded soldier to safety and then returned to bring the other wounded man out while under constant enemy fire. His heroic actions were an inspiration to his comrades.

Lieutenant Colonel Victor P. Brósokas, O388976 (then captain), infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 16th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy near El Guettar, Tunisia, on 31 March 1943. As regimental S-2, he accompanied the advance guard in an attack on this village. Although seriously wounded, he ably assisted the regimental commander in organizing a defense position, in caring for the wounded, and in assisting them to the rear. His courage and bravery were an inspiration to those about him and aided materially in saving several American lives and in the success of his regiment during this engagement.

Major Robert A. Robbins, O35780 (then captain), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 361st Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action, on 11 and 12 October 1944, near Sassi, Italy. While leading his company in attack on a strongly fortified position, Major Robbins and his company were suddenly engaged by overwhelming enemy machine-gun, rifle, artillery, and mortar fire from the front and both flanks. Undaunted, he immediately organized his company to return the enemy fire. Inspired by his aggressive leadership and courage, his company successfully repelled repeated counterattacks throughout the day and night. In leading the attack, Major Robbins personally destroyed 2 enemy machine-gun emplacements, killing 11 enemy soldiers and wounding 8. His courage and aggressive leadership reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster), to Major Robbins, for heroic achievement on 11 October 1944, as published in General Orders 67, Headquarters 91st Infantry Division, 14 June 1945.)

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant George B. Dolliver, Jr., O1320695, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 105th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Saipan on 21 June 1944. While moving through heavily wooded valleys, the 1st Battalion was met with enemy machine-gun fire. Lieutenant Dolliver quickly organized a squad of men and led them to the top and rear of the enemy position. After his squad was wiped out, he continued to creep and crawl closer to the enemy, knocking out two enemy machine-gun emplacements with hand grenades and rifle fire and disorganizing the remainder of the enemy. His efforts enabled the battalion to move forward and set up a defensive perimeter before dark. Lieutenant Dolliver's courageous leadership was an inspiration to his men.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Stanley R. Navas, O412838 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 504th Parachute Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action on the night of 27 February 1944 in the vicinity of Sessano Italy. Captain Navas led a combat raid of 30 men behind the enemy lines with the mission of capturing or killing the occupants of two farm houses who were presumably ranking German officers. Although he was hit by an enemy grenade which severed his left arm, Captain Navas successfully completed his mission, destroying an enemy observation post, two machine gun emplacements, and an estimated 20 Germans killed. The leadership and courage of Captain Navas are worthy of great praise.

III. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Billy E. Bolinger (Army serial No. RA14250668), Infantry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic actions on 17 June 1948 at Chicago, Illinois. While standing on the Madison Street Bridge over the Chicago River, he saw a woman climb over the rail and jump into the river. Private Bolinger immediately ran to the end of the bridge, attracting the attention of the bridge-tender, climbed a fence, and dropped to the ground below, a distance of 18 feet. Removing his shirt and shoes, he dived into the water, swam to the woman, who was making no attempt to save herself, and managed to place her in a life preserver which had been thrown to her. He then grabbed a line, thrown by the bridge-tender, and was pulled ashore, where the would-be suicide was revived. Private Bolinger's actions brought great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 4 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Don G. Jeffers (Army Serial No. AF6964252) United States Air Force (then private, Cavalry, United States Army), displayed heroism during the burning of a gasoline truck near Rocky Face, Georgia, on 22 May 1941. When the service troop of the Sixth Cavalry came to a halt on a hill on the highway while participating in Regimental Field exercise, a truck containing about 600 gallons of gasoline in metal containers, driven by Sergeant Jeffers, suddenly burst into flames, apparently caused by a friction spark from the metal cans in the body of the truck. Sergeant Jeffers, and others, immediately seized fire extinguishers and attempted to put the fire out, however, upon the flames gaining headway and destroying the brake linings of the truck, allowing it to start rolling down the hill, Sergeant Jeffers, with complete disregard for his safety, leaped into the flaming truck and succeeded in bringing it to a halt, preventing it from rolling into a filling station located at the foot of the hill, and with the possible attendant injury, or loss of life of bystanders. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Jeffers on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with the enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 15 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel John M. Talbot, O22289 (then captain), Medical Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in extricating an enlisted man from an overturned airplane on 9 December 1940, at Clear Lake, California. When an OA-9 airplane in which Colonel Talbot was on duty as flight surgeon went out of control, crashed, and overturned in the lake about 1½ miles from shore, Colonel Talbot, finding himself in an upside-down position suspended by his safety belt, observed that a man was lying unconscious below him crosswise of the fuselage and in grave danger of drowning. With utter disregard for his safety, in the face of intruding water and imminent sinking of the airplane, Colonel Talbot immediately unfastened his safety belt, removed the unconscious man from the submerged cabin, and brought him to the surface of the water, undoubtedly saving his life. Although suffering from immersion and shock, with great presence of mind Colonel Talbot clambered about administering first aid to the badly wounded crew members. Fearing immediate sinking of the airplane, he then attempted to brave the cold water and swim ashore for help, but becoming exhausted, was forced to return to the airplane.

4. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 11 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Colonel Edgar J. Tulley, O6036 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, displayed heroism in saving the lives of his Army and civilian companions after an accident in the China Sea off the west coast of Bataan, near Nagbalete Point, Philippine Islands, on 9 March 1941. While a group of officers and men were returning from a fishing trip, the banca in which they were riding suddenly overturned, throwing the entire group into the sea about 100 yards off shore in shark and barracuda-infested waters. All helped one another to safety on the overturned banca and, by paddling with their hands, managed to bring the banca within 200 feet off shore, when it was caught in a cross-current and gradually drew out to sea. Realizing their danger, Colonel Tulley and an enlisted man, with utter disregard for their safety, swam ashore and with great difficulty reached the Signal Corps camp in Bataan, about 2 hours after the accident. Upon the Signal Corps reporting the accident to Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, a motor launch was immediately dispatched and rescued the remaining members of the group. The heroism displayed by Colonel Tulley on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

IV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following named enlisted man:

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following named officer:

Major General William H. Draper, Jr., O148333, Army of the United States, May 1945 to August 1947.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Captain Richard M. Blackburn, O1323903 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action in the vicinity of Dinard, France, during the period 13 to 15 August 1944. Although painfully wounded by enemy action, which killed his company commander and disorganized the company, he refused evacuation, assumed command, rallied his men, and led them in an attack through heavy enemy fortifications to capture all company objectives. Captain Blackburn's heroism in continuing despite his wounds inspired his company and contributed to the success of the offensive.

Private First Class John F. Camien, Jr. (Army serial No. 12123820), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 502d Parachute Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry and heroic action against the enemy near St. Martin de Varreville, France, on 6 June 1944. After landing by parachute, he assembled with others and approached the village where they were met by rifle fire from a house. While others gave protective fire, Private Camien opened the door of the house and threw a grenade, killing four Germans and capturing two. He then continued to several other houses, where several more Germans were killed and many captured. Private Camien's efforts were a distinct contribution to the success of his regiment in combat and an inspiration to his comrades.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (Sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence A. Spilman, O20785, Air Corps, United States Army, June 1944 to June 1947. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Lieutenant Colonel Spilman for service from December 1944 to March 1946.)

Lieutenant Colonel Michael J. Wozney, O308754, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States. December 1941 to July 1947.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942), and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Brigadier General Milciades Contreras, Chilean Army. 1943 to 1948.

V. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

First Lieutenant Carey J. Land, AO817050, United States Air Force, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, Fifth Air Force, distinguished himself by an outstanding act of heroism on 2 February 1948 at Nagoya, Japan. Upon being awakened by his gardener and informed that a neighboring house was afire, Lieutenant Land rushed to the burning house in fear that a baby was trapped in the conflagration. An excited Japanese maid tried to explain that the baby was not in the house, but could not express herself in English. Her intense excitement was construed to mean that the baby was still in the house. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Lieutenant Land plunged into the blazing house and groped his way to the baby's room. After a vain search he realized that the baby was safe. He then turned his attention to salvaging the household belongings by throwing everything possible out of the window. Although three Japanese attempted to enter the house and were driven back because of the intense heat, Lieutenant Land remained and continued to salvage what he could until forced out of the house when the ceiling collapsed, followed by an explosion of undetermined origin.

Staff Sergeant James J. Walsh (Army Serial No. RA19189364), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of the 36th Engineer Base Depot Company, Adak, Alaska, distinguished himself by heroism on 14 March 1948. When the boat in which Sergeant Donald L. Hilde, a fellow soldier and member of the company, was riding in Andrews Lagoon overturned about 200 feet from shore, Sergeant Walsh stripped off his outer clothes and, without regard for his safety, unhesitatingly jumped into the ice cold water and swam toward Sergeant Hilde to rescue him. Sergeant Hilde disappeared before Sergeant Walsh could reach him. Sergeant Walsh returned to shore completely exhausted and suffering from exposure. His heroic action nearly cost his life.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant William F. Hobbs (Army serial No. 34146051), Infantry, Army of the United States. July to November 1944.

VII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Captain Bobby H. Hale, O2037053 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States. 8 August to 22 September 1945.

Captain Reuben Rapaport, O1689011, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. January to March 1944.

Sergeant Sidney J. Stewart (Army serial No. 38021621), Medical Department, Army of the United States. 14 and 15 December 1944.

VIII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Rufino D. Agcaoili, O34660 (then third lieutenant), Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company L, 3d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Moron Point, Bataan, on 19 January 1942. When superior enemy forces broke through the outposts of his platoon, causing panic and disorder among the troops, Lieutenant Agcaoili left his foxhole and, without cover, ran the entire length of his sector, encouraging his men in such manner that they rallied and successfully held their position against all assaults.

Technician Fifth Grade Metro Bohaczyk (Army serial No. 33117361), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 12th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, during the Normandy invasion, on 13 June 1944. When an enemy counterattack overran and captured the battalion ammunition dump, an urgent call was relayed for a resupply. A jeep and trailer were loaded quickly and Technician Bohaczyk volunteered to deliver it. The only road to the battalion was being constantly shelled and fired on by small arms, as it was under direct enemy observation. Technician Bohaczyk, never faltering, drove this vehicle through the terrific fire to its destination. The resupply of ammunition staved off the attack and the battalion was able to go on the offensive. Technician Bohaczyk's courage was an inspiration to his comrades.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain John B. Metz, O1307280 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 22d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Konigshofen, Germany, on 5 April 1945. When his company was given the mission of clearing a ridge of enemy elements, Captain Metz volunteered to lead his platoon in a frontal assault on the entrenched enemy. He successfully led the way up the hill, at times crawling into the direct fire of the enemy. After reaching the summit, he quickly reorganized the remnants of his platoon into a holding force until reinforced by the remainder of his company. Captain Metz's efforts contributed greatly to the general advance of the 22d Infantry Regiment.

IX. COMMENDATION RIBBON.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 17.1, AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Major Harold L. Cumming, O31194, Medical Service Corps, United States Army. September 1945 to March 1948.

III.—BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15, in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 3d Battalion, 117th Infantry Regiment, and the 3d Platoon Antitank Company, 117th Infantry Regiment, attached, are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy, on 3 and 4 October 1944, in the vicinity of Ubach, Germany. Passing through other elements of the 117th Infantry Regiment to further expand the initial penetration of the Siegfried Line and to seize and secure the town of Ubach, the battalion encountered stubborn resistance and engaged in bitter house-to-house fighting. Beginning at dawn on 4 October, the battalion was subjected to a series of three determined counterattacks by strong enemy forces, supported by tanks, self-propelled guns, and intense artillery and mortar fire. Every available man was employed in repulsing these enemy thrusts. Even though severe casualties were inflicted on this unit, it accomplished its mission successfully and contributed materially to the complete penetration of the formidable Siegfried Line defenses, as well as the subsequent successful offensive action by other troops in adjacent areas. Throughout this heroic action, the personnel of the 3d Battalion, 117th Infantry Regiment, and the 3d Platoon Antitank Company, 117th Infantry Regiment, attached, distinguished themselves by displaying determination, aggressiveness, high combat efficiency, and indomitable courage in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

GENERAL ORDERS
No. 50

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., 15 July 1948

The death of General John Joseph Pershing, General of the Armies of the United States, which occurred at Washington, D. C., on 15 July 1948, is announced to the Army with deep regret. Throughout 66 years of distinguished service he held responsibilities vital to the security and welfare of his country. In leadership, courage, and steadfastness of purpose he was unexcelled. Whether in command of vast bodies of troops, in leading men into battle, or in cooperating with the commanders of allied forces, he proved himself one of the world's great military leaders. With his passing the Nation has lost a faithful servant and the Army a great commander.

General Pershing entered upon his active military career in 1882. After his graduation at the United States Military Academy in 1886 and his appointment as a second lieutenant of Cavalry, he was promoted in regular order to the grades of first lieutenant and captain, reaching the latter grade in 1901. He served in the meantime as chief ordnance officer and as assistant adjutant general of volunteers, with the rank of major, in the war with Spain and the Philippine Insurrection.

During his early career, while on the western frontier, he took part in campaigns against hostile Apache and Sioux Indians. In 1898 he participated in the Santiago campaign in Cuba and was highly commended and recommended for brevet promotion for personal gallantry in the battle of San Juan. In the Philippine Islands, 1902-03, he commanded expeditions against the Moros and was in the engagements of Gauan, Bayabao, Maciu, Bacolod, Calahui, and Taraca River. His great ability and outstanding leadership were demonstrated in these campaigns; and it was because of the superiority then evidenced that, in 1906, he was advanced from the grade of captain to that of brigadier general. In this grade he commanded the Department of Mindanao from 1909 to 1913 and was made Governor of the Moro Province.

After his return to the United States, he commanded a brigade on the Mexican Border, and in 1916-17, he was charged with the difficult task of leading the force that pursued into Mexico the bandits whose depredations on the border had compelled the United States to take drastic measures for their suppression. In 1916 he was advanced to the grade of major general, and, on the entrance of the United States into World War I, was selected by the President to be the commander of the American forces sent to France to join those of the nations allied against the aggressive central empires of Europe. He was advanced to the grade of general on 6 October 1917, in which grade he served until 3 September 1919, when in recognition of his accomplishments, he was appointed for life General of the Armies of the United States.

General Pershing was Chief of Staff of the Army from 1 July 1921 until his retirement on 13 September 1924. After his retirement he continued to serve as Chairman of the American Battle Monuments Commission, which was created by Congress for the purpose of commemorating the services of the American forces in Europe during World War I. In November 1924, he was designated by President Coolidge as Ambassador to represent the United States in Peru during the Centennial of the Battle of Ayacucho. He returned the following year to South America, where he served as head of the Tacna-Arica Plebiscitary Commission. On 24 June 1936, he was appointed by the President a member of the commission to prepare plans for the erection of a memorial within the Panama Canal Zone to Major General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal.

In 1937, General Pershing was appointed by President Roosevelt a member of the special delegation to represent him at the Coronation of His Majesty King George VI, and attended the ceremonies in London. Following the coronation ceremonies he participated in the dedications of the monuments and chapels erected in France by the American Battle Monuments Commission. He was present also at the dedication of the statue erected at Versailles by the French to commemorate the services of the American Expeditionary Forces.

Congress, in a public resolution approved by the President 29 September 1919, extended its thanks to him in the following words: "*Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the thanks of the American people and of the Congress of the United States are due, and are hereby tendered, to General John J. Pershing for his highly distinguished services as commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe * * " He holds the Distinguished-Service Cross, the Distinguished-Service Medal, and Silver Star decorations awarded by the United States. He was granted 20 degrees by universities and colleges throughout the world. The esteem in which he was held in foreign countries was evidenced by the action of 15 governments in conferring upon him decorations of their highest orders. His name will pass into history as that of the American commander who led through World War I the Army without whose intervention the cause of the allied nations of Europe, and possibly of democracy, might have been lost.

As a mark of respect to the memory of General Pershing, a period of national mourning has been directed by the President from sunrise 16 July 1948 until sunset on the day of burial 19 July 1948, during which period flags on all public buildings will be displayed at half staff. The flag will be displayed at half staff at the headquarters of all military commands and vessels under the control of the Department of the Army for 30 days from date of death 15 July 1948, west longitude dates.

The wearing of mourning bands and the draping of colors and standards will be dispensed with. Firing of salutes, however, will be accomplished.

The Commanding General, Military District of Washington, is charged with such military arrangements in connection with the funeral as may be ordered by the Department of the Army.

II. ROTC UNIT.—So much of paragraph 1, section II, General Orders 3, Department of the Army, 1948, pertaining to the establishment of an Artillery ROTC unit at the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, Texas, as reads "Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, Texas," is amended to read "College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, Texas."

[AG 000.8 (24 Jun 48)]

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 105th Infantry Regiment (less 3d Battalion and Company G) and the Spears Detachment, 762d Provisional Tank Battalion, attached, are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in combat against the enemy at Saipan, Marianas Islands, on 7 July 1944. The regiment attacked north toward the village of Makunsha on the west coast of Saipan, against increasing enemy resistance. At dawn on 7 July, this unit was subjected to one of the greatest Japanese mass attacks attempted in the Pacific Theater. The 1st and 2d Battalions fought furiously, as the enemy, attacking in great numbers and with fanatical fury, penetrated the combined perimeter defense and inflicted overwhelming casualties on the units. Forced to yield, the survivors of that fierce assault formed successive defensive positions and continued to engage the attacking forces. These units, faced with a dwindling supply of ammunition, water, and medical supplies, fought off incessant enemy attacks throughout the day. Meanwhile, the Japanese drive had carried on to the regimental command post where it was completely stopped and contained by the determined stand of Regimental Headquarters and Special Units. Every available man engaged in the action. Through the courage, tenacity, and endurance displayed by all ranks, this unit and its attachment, suffering severe casualties, repulsed the powerful assault launched by a numerically superior enemy and contributed materially to the defeat and destruction of the Japanese forces at Saipan. The conduct of the 105th Infantry Regiment (less 3d Battalion and Company G) and the Spears Detachment, 762d Provisional Tank Battalion, attached, throughout the battle reflects great credit on itself and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. (The foregoing citation supersedes the citation made previously to a subordinate unit for action included in the above-cited period, and does not constitute an additional citation authorizing the wearing of an Oak-Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Unit Emblem to personnel of Headquarters Company, 105th Infantry Regiment, cited in paragraph 4, section VII, General Orders 45, War Department, 1946, which is rescinded.)

III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Combat Command B, 7th Armored Division, composed of the following units:

Headquarters and Headquarters Company;

17th Tank Battalion;

31st Tank Battalion;

23d Armored Infantry Battalion;

38th Armored Infantry Battalion;

87th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron Mechanized (less Troop D);

275th Armored Field Artillery Battalion;

434th Armored Field Artillery Battalion;

965th Field Artillery Battalion;

168th Engineer Combat Battalion;
3d Platoon, Company F, 423d Infantry Regiment; Company B, 33d Armored Engineer Battalion; and Company A, 814th Tank Destroyer Battalion (SP),

is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action from 17 to 23 December 1944, inclusive, at St. Vith, Belgium. Combat Command B, 7th Armored Division, was subjected to repeated tank and infantry attacks, which grew in intensity as the German forces attempted to destroy the stubborn defenses that were denying to them the use of the key communication center at St. Vith. By the second day, the flanks were constantly threatened by enemy forces that had bypassed the St. Vith area and pushed far to the rear in an effort to encircle the command east of the Salm River. The attacking forces were repeatedly thrown back by the gallant troops who rose from their fox holes and fought in fierce hand-to-hand combat to stop the penetrations and inflict heavy losses on the numerically superior foe. As the command continued to deny the important St. Vith highway and railroad center to the Germans, the entire offensive lost its initial impetus and their supply columns became immobilized. By 21 December, the German timetable was so disrupted that the enemy was forced to divert a corps to the capture of St. Vith. Under extreme pressure from overwhelming forces, this command, which for 6 days had held the St. Vith area so gallantly, was ordered to withdraw west of the Salm River. By their epic stand, without prepared defenses and despite heavy casualties, Combat Command B, 7th Armored Division, inflicted crippling losses and imposed great delay upon the enemy by a masterful and grimly determined defense in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Vice Admiral Jesse B. Oldendorf, 7230, United States Navy. 1 January to 15 February 1945.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster), for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant General John E. Hull, O7377, United States Army. September 1947 to June 1948.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant John T. Hindman, O1690954 (then second lieutenant), Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Troop F, 7th Cavalry Regiment, displayed gallantry and heroic leadership of his platoon in the Philippine Islands on 27 April 1945. An infantry company, which his platoon was supporting, was unable to penetrate the enemy position which consisted of heavy bunkers and caves located on a hill. Lieutenant Hindman volunteered to lead a platoon attack, coordinated with artillery fire. He reached the foot of the fortified hill under the protection of the concentrated artillery fire and then led his platoon up the slope, destroying the enemy positions, killing many of the enemy, and capturing several machine guns and mortars. Lieutenant Hindman's heroic leadership was an inspiration to his men and reflects great credit on himself.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas N. Griffin, O17775, Infantry, United States Army, as commanding officer of the 395th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action in Germany on 30 April 1945. While attacking across the Isar River, elements of the 395th Infantry Regiment and of the 14th Armored Infantry Regiment became intermingled. Realizing the seriousness of the situation, Colonel Griffin crossed the river under shell fire and, with disregard for personal safety and in direct view of the enemy, proceeded through heavy concentrations of direct, heavy-velocity artillery fire, issued orders on the spot, and supervised their execution. As a result of Colonel Griffin's fearless action, the two units were disentangled in a minimum of time and his regiment moved forward quickly to capture its objective.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel William H. Bartlett, 012695, Field Artillery, United States Army, October 1944 to May 1945. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Colonel Bartlett, for meritorious service from 16 to 23 March 1945, as published in General Orders 26, Headquarters, XII Corps, 5 April 1945.)

IV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Frank P. Cassidy (Army serial No. 20251994) (then sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 165th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement against the enemy on Butaritari, Makin Atoll, on 22 and 23 November 1943. In jungle terrain with overcast sky and poor visibility, Sergeant Cassidy displayed high qualities of leadership. He directed the fire of those near him on the perimeter front in delivering protecting rifle fire to the heavy machine-gun position next to him, which in turn proved invaluable in repelling the enemy night attack. In doing so, Sergeant Cassidy exposed himself and his position with complete disregard for his personal safety.

Major Thompson B. Maury, III, 019381, Field Artillery, United States Army, while a prisoner of war, distinguished himself by heroic service to his coprisoners of war during the "Death March" out of Bataan, Philippine Islands, in April 1942. When Major Chester Johnson, one of the participants on the "Death March," could no longer walk, Major Maury, with total disregard for the fatal consequences that might ensue, risked his life by rescuing and carrying Major Johnson, who would probably have been murdered by the barbarous enemy if left behind. When Major Maury refused the order of a Japanese guard to put Major Johnson down, he was bayoneted. Despite this, he continued his heroic deed by carrying the unconscious prisoner for several kilometers, and thereby contributed materially to Major Johnson's survival of the "Death March." Through his inspiring bravery, courage, and devotion to his country, Major Maury made a distinct contribution to the morale and welfare of the prisoners of war during the dark days of World War II.

Major William R. Thomas, 018888, Field Artillery, United States Army while a prisoner of war, distinguished himself by heroic service to his coprisoners of war during the "Death March" out of Bataan, Philippine Islands, in April 1942. When Major Chester Johnson, one of the participants on the "Death March," could no longer walk, Major Thomas, with total disregard for the fatal consequences that might ensue, risked his life by rescuing and carrying Major Johnson, who would probably have been murdered by the barbarous enemy if left behind. Major Thomas carried the unconscious prisoner for several kilometers, and thereby contributed materially to Major Johnson's survival of the "Death March." Through his inspiring bravery, courage, and devotion to his country, Major Thomas made a distinct contribution to the morale and welfare of the prisoners of war during the dark days of World War II.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. Sergeant John H. Boll (Army serial No. 16177291), Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States. November 1944 to May 1945.

Captain William A. Clair, O46346, Air Corps, United States Army. August 1942 to March 1944.

Lieutenant Colonel Walter D. Thomas, O151724, Transportation Corps, Army of the United States. 25 April to 10 July 1944.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel John B. Rago, O278636 (then major), Dental Corps, Army of the United States. April to November 1942.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Master Sergeant Ralph W. Montgomery (Army serial No. 6819960), Counter Intelligence Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 23 January 1942, at Bataan, Philippine Islands. When other attempts to contact an adjoining division command post had failed, Sergeant Montgomery, on his own initiative, traversed half a mile of open country under constant enemy fire and successfully accomplished the important mission.

Staff Sergeant Dumont Wade (Army serial No. 18038601) (then corporal), Infantry (Coast Artillery Corps), Army of the United States, a member of the 60th Coast Artillery (AA) Regiment, displayed heroic action at Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on 4 May 1942. Immediately after bombs had fallen in his area, killing and wounding men of his battery, Sergeant Wade, while under enemy artillery fire, left a place of shelter and aided and transported the wounded personnel to the hospital.

VII. ARMY COMMENDATION RIBBON.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 17.1, AR 600-45, the Army Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Captain Marshall J. Fiese, O1785344, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. December 1946 to April 1948.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (third Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

General Carl Spaatz, AO3706, United States Air Force. 26 September 1947 to 30 April 1948.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Robert W. Hansen, O1331728, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 105th Infantry Regiment, 27th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on 30 April 1945. During an attack on a well-concealed Japanese position on Okinawa Shima, the attack bogged down because of heavy mortar and machine-gun fire. Lieutenant Hansen ran forward, spotted the Japanese position, signalled his platoon, and led it forward in an advance, during which he was killed. His courageous leadership was the means by which the advance was continued and the objective taken.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Technical Sergeant Forrest L. Alson (Army serial No. 6549911) (then sergeant), Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army, a member of Battery E, 60th Coast Artillery (AA), displayed gallantry in action at Mariveles, Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 19 December 1941. During a heavy bombing raid he voluntarily left a place of shelter to lead his section into the burning barrio, where he led and inspired his men to valorous deeds of rescue and salvage. Sergeant Alson dashed into a blazing wooden ammunition storehouse and, using his hands and rifle butt, beat out the flames. He then assisted and directed his section in throwing out boxes of small-arms ammunition already aflame. By his intrepid action and fearless devotion to duty, Sergeant Alson inspired his men to heroic action and saved thousands of rounds of small-arms ammunition and 3-inch anti-aircraft shells from destruction.

Second Lieutenant Pedro J. Leander, O47302 (then captain), Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company A, 3d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Nagbalayon, Bataan, on 22 January 1942. While in command of his company on a defensive front, Lieutenant Leander crawled to a hostile enemy mortar and silenced it, thus minimizing the shelling of his own men.

AGO 2069B—June. 771953—48

Sergeant Antonio Martin (Army serial No. 6614391) (then corporal), Coast Artillery Corps, Philippine Scouts, a member of Headquarters Battery, 91st Coast Artillery (Philippine Scouts), distinguished himself by gallantry in action during the action on Corregidor, Philippine Islands, between December 1941 and April 1942. On at least two occasions, driving through intense artillery fire and bombing, Sergeant Martin took seriously wounded men to the hospital.

Staff Sergeant William M. Murphy (Army serial No. 6295182) (then sergeant), Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army, a member of Battery E, 60th Coast Artillery (AA), displayed gallantry in action at Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, on 16 April 1942. During the course of heavy artillery fire on Fort Mills, when over 20 casualties occurred in the Middleside Barracks, Sergeant Murphy voluntarily and without regard for his personal safety, left a place of shelter and aided in removing and then treating casualties in an exposed position for 1½ hours, during which time heavy shelling of the area continued and one air-raid alert was given.

IV.—LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Egmont F. Koenig, O4700 (then brigadier general), General Staff Corps (Infantry), United States Army. March to December 1945. (This award supercedes the awards, to Colonel Koenig, of the Bronze Star Medal, for service from 21 March to 7 May 1945; as published in General Orders 119, Headquarters, Communications Zone, European Theater of Operations, 29 June 1945, and the Legion of Merit (second Oak-Leaf Cluster), for service from 9 May to 14 December 1945, as published in General Orders 116, Headquarters, United States Forces, European Theater, 23 April 1946.)

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Thomas S. Timberman, O15328, United States Army. June 1946 to February 1947. (Par. 3, sec. III, General Orders 5, Dept. of the Army, 1947, pertaining to the award of the Legion of Merit (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Brigadier General Timberman, for service during the same period, is rescinded.)

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Captain Antonio Alejandr e, Jr., O950476, Infantry, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on Bataan, Philippine Islands, from 26 January to 17 February 1942. As a battalion commander with the 11th Infantry Regiment, 11th Division, Philippine Army, he led his men in a series of attacks against well-fortified positions of the Japanese troops behind the main line of resistance, resulting in the complete annihilation of the enemy and capture of his positions. Captain Alejandr e's gallantry and bravery in action contributed greatly to the heroic defense of Bataan.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

First Lieutenant Foster D. Arnett, O465196, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 511th Parachute Infantry, displayed outstanding gallantry in action against the enemy near Mahonag, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 12 December 1944. When the force of an enemy banzai attack overran a portion of the battalion defensive perimeter, within which the regimental staff was located, and caused a platoon of men to withdraw into the perimeter seeking more tenable positions, Lieutenant Arnett, although a regimental staff officer with no command responsibility, perceived immediately that the enemy penetration endangered the entire battalion position. Leaving the relative security of his fox hole, he ran forward to a position in front of the withdrawing platoon. Standing bolt upright, totally exposed, and with utter disregard for the heavy enemy fire all around him, he rallied the platoon with his inspiring display of personal courage and, although receiving serious wounds which later necessitated his evacuation to the United States, led the men in a counterattack which succeeded in retaking the platoon's position and killing approximately 20 enemy soldiers.

First Lieutenant Jesse B. Doty, Jr., O354046, Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on 25 January 1945. He led a patrol of approximately one squad, of Company E, 161st Infantry Regiment, with the mission of reconnoitering the southwest side of San Manuel, Luzon, Philippine Islands. This town was to be the regimental objective, but little information was available concerning Japanese dispositions in the locality and all previous patrols had been driven off. Lieutenant Doty led his patrol past Japanese outposts and into the town, where he made an initial radio report. Shortly thereafter, the patrol came under intense rifle, machine-gun, mortar, and 47-mm tank gun fire. By his exemplary conduct and leadership, he maintained control of his patrol, waiting for darkness to cover his withdrawal. Although wounded seriously, he refused medical attention until he could collect all possible information and withdraw his patrol. By his gallant leadership and personal courage, Lieutenant Doty had so successfully led his patrol as to gain the desperately needed information, which enabled his regiment to defeat the enemy forces holding the town and capture its objective. Lieutenant Doty's actions were an inspiration to all who served with him.

Colonel Wallace A. Mead, O7384, Infantry, United States Army (then 23d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army), displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on 4 January 1942. As senior instructor, 23d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, his heroic actions in directing the defense of this regiment at Porac, Pampanga, Luzon, were such as to warrant the approbation of the Commanding General, 21st Division, who awarded him this citation.

Captain Harvey D. Patterson, Jr., O1166805 (then first lieutenant), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, a member of the 391st Field Artillery Battalion, displayed gallantry in action near Stoldberg, Germany, on 17 September 1944. Present with Company E, 36th Armored Infantry Regiment, as an artillery observer, he volunteered in an emergency to command an infantry platoon and lead it in battle. A strong German counterattack precipitated a retreat on his flanks, but he held his platoon together and delivered small-arms fire on the Germans advancing behind tanks, at the same time directing accurate artillery fire. Captain Patterson and his group fought until completely surrounded, out of ammunition, and physically overpowered.

The citation reads as follows:

Headquarters and Headquarters Troop, 1st Cavalry Brigade, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy on Luzon, Philippine Islands, during the period 1 to 3 February 1945. This unit, as part of a larger force, engaged in the daring and successful dash into enemy-held Manila that liberated the internees imprisoned in Santo Tomas University. Beginning the hazardous march at Guimba, Nueva Ecija, the troop traveling alone 30 minutes behind the leading squadron came under particularly heavy rifle, machine-gun, and mortar fire at Novaliches, the Chinese Cemetery, and Grace Park in North Manila. Entering the city in the evening of 3 February, the troop engaged in hand-to-hand combat with enemy forces which tried to crush the column as it proceeded south on Avenida Rizal. At Far Eastern University, the troop plunged into a pitched battle and for 3 hours stood off a determined and fanatical foe who launched repeated motorized and dismounted banzai attacks. During this battle many casualties were suffered and several badly needed supply trucks lost. Reorganizing under fire, the troop proceeded to Santo Tomas University where it participated in the liberation of 3,700 internees and prisoners of war. Within a period of 72 hours this unit made a bold and aggressive advance, through territory which had neither been reconnoitered nor secured and was known to be enemy-held, and was among the first forces to enter the city of Manila. The conspicuous gallantry, indomitable fighting spirit, and outstanding performance of duty exhibited by Headquarters and Headquarters Troop, 1st Cavalry Brigade, are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, W.), 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Richard E. Leary, O35767 (then major), Air Corps, United States Army, a member of the 397th Fighter Squadron, 368th Fighter Group, distinguished himself by heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy in the European Theater of Operations in the vicinity of Neudstadt, Germany, on 14 January 1945. On three separate occasions, Colonel Leary turned back to engage an overwhelming force of more than 40 enemy fighters, which were attacking his flights. With utter disregard for personal safety, he repeatedly attacked to divert and disrupt the enemy's intentions, and to enable his squadron to reform to a defense formation. The gallantry and heroism displayed by Colonel Leary reflect great credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technician Fifth Grade Carl W. Jacobs, Jr. (Army serial No. RA11162700), Transportation Corps, United States Army, displayed heroic conduct in Yokohama, Honshu, Japan, on 27 August 1947. While walking past a canal, Technician Jacobs heard water splashing. He immediately investigated and found an enlisted man splashing around in the water 12 feet below and in urgent need of assistance. Unable to obtain rope, Technician Jacobs dived quickly into the canal after the man who had disappeared under the water. In a last searching attempt, before coming up for air, he located the man on the muddy bottom of the canal. After bringing the victim to the surface, he found it difficult to keep the victim afloat and called for help. Private First Class Russell V. Hansen immediately answered the call and dived in to assist. Together, they finally got the victim on a Japanese boat. With the aid from spectators above, all three men were hoisted ashore by rope, and, with further assistance from spectators, Technician Jacobs and Private Hansen administered artificial respiration. The quick thinking and courage displayed by Technician Jacobs in saving an enlisted man's life reflect high credit on himself and the military service.

GENERAL COURTS MARTIAL—Authority to appoint granted	Section I
SECTION 55C, NATIONAL DEFENSE ACT, UNIT—Inactivated	II
BATTLE HONORS—Citation of unit	III

I. GENERAL COURTS MARTIAL.—By direction of the President, the commanding officer, Yokohama Command, is empowered, pursuant to the eighth article of war, to appoint general courts martial, effective as of 16 April 1948.
[AG 250.401 (15 Apr 48)]

II. SECTION 55C, NATIONAL DEFENSE ACT, UNIT.—Effective 19 April 1948, the section 55c, National Defense Act, unit located at Porterville Union High School and Junior College, Porterville, California, is inactivated.
[AG 000.8 (7 Apr 48)]

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Combat Command B, 2d Armored Division, composed of the following units:

- Headquarters and Headquarters Company;*
- 67th Armored Regiment (less 3d Battalion);*
- 1st and 3d Battalions, 41st Armored Infantry Regiment;*
- 78th Armored Field Artillery Battalion;*
- Company B, Detachment E, 17th Armored Engineer Battalion;*
- Company B, 702d Tank Destroyer Battalion (SP);*
- Company B, 48th Armored Medical Battalion;*
- Detachment, 2d Armored Maintenance Battalion; and*
- Battery A, 195th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion (SP),* is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action from 27 to 30 July 1944, inclusive, during the critical break-through of German positions west of St. Lo, France.

Following the saturation bombing on 25 July, Combat Command B moved to Canisy as a part of the division column, advancing with considerable difficulty over terrain characterized by sunken roads, hedgerows, and bomb craters. Upon reaching Canisy, the command pivoted to the southwest and drove for its assigned objective of St. Denis le Gast and the Sienne River. Crack German troops were caught in the pocket created by this maneuver. The enemy endeavored to break through the extended lines of the command with a series of vicious and determined attacks. All of these failed, though well-supported and organized, by reason of innumerable acts of individual heroism on the part of the members of Combat Command B and the teamwork and indomitable ability of the command as a unit. Eight successive enemy assaults at Pont Brocard, Notre Dame le Genilly, la Penetiere, St. Denis le Gast, and on the road northwest of Grinesnil were beaten off in vicious hand-to-hand fighting and by direct fire from artillery and antiaircraft guns.

In less than 48 hours, Combat Command B forged its way from Canisy to the Sienne River and completed the encirclement of all German troops remaining in the area: Marigny, Coutances, and Cerences. This operation was a major factor in ending the hedgerow warfare of Normandy and opened the way for the subsequent rapid advance of the Third United States Army. The entire command was operating over a greatly extended front and its units frequently were nearly surrounded by larger German forces. From reconnaissance elements to supply services, all were almost constantly in contact with the enemy, owing to the situation created by the break-through into the enemy's rear areas.

However, all members of the command, clearly conscious of the importance of their own particular mission to the success of the entire operation, displayed the highest degree of initiative and enthusiasm, coupled with a complete disregard for their personal safety. The superb efficiency and fighting qualities of Combat Command B, 2d Armored Division, in this action are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States. (The foregoing citation supersedes those already made to subordinate units for action included in the above-cited period, and does not constitute an additional citation authorizing the wearing of an Oak-Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Unit Emblem to personnel cited in paragraph 7, section X, General Orders 2, War Department, 1946, citing Company I, 41st Armored Infantry Regiment, and the following units of the 67th Armored Regiment: Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion (less the Assault Gun Platoon); Company E, and the 3d Platoon, Company B; and section II, General Orders 54, War Department, 1946, citing the 78th Armored Field Artillery Battalion.)

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Technical Sergeant Abraham Jamail (Army serial No. 18114594) (then staff sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, as section sergeant of Weapons Platoon, Company G, 359th Infantry Regiment, displayed extraordinary heroism in action in the vicinity of St. Suzanne, France, on 4 July 1944. Locating an enemy machine gun which was holding up the company's advance, he fired a rifle grenade into the position, routing the crew of three which he then killed by rifle fire. Receiving fire from the left, he then crossed a heavily mined field to a hedgerow which had been cleared by the enemy to give them better fields of fire. Moving along its embankment, he destroyed another machine gun with grenades and forced the surrender of four others. Reaching the enemy command post, Sergeant Jamail killed, wounded, and captured the remainder of the group. (This award supersedes the award of the Silver Star Technical Sergeant Jamail, for gallantry in action on the same date, as published in General Orders 38, Headquarters 90th Infantry Division, 16 August 1944.)

Staff Sergeant Gaudencio Licerio (Army serial No. 6866189) (then sergeant), Infantry, Philippine Scouts, United States Army, a member of Company A, 57th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism at Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 28 March 1942. During the battle of Anyasen Point, he was designated by his company commander as leader of a suicide squad. Under heavy enemy fire, Sergeant Licerio engaged the enemy with hand grenades, thereby enabling his battalion to go forward and later to take the enemy position.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (third Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 27 August 1945, to the following-named officer and is hereby confirmed:

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, O57, United States Army. 20 October 1944 to 4 July 1945.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Wilbur J. Lage, O33911 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army displayed gallantry in action at Zaragosa, Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 28 December 1941. Major Lage, during a crucial action of the 3d Battalion, which was in danger of being overrun by the enemy, courageously led a counter-attack which enabled the battalion to withdraw and thereby avoid serious casualties.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Colonel Russel H. Patterson, O511504, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. March 1942 to January 1946.

First Sergeant Asger Poulsen (Army serial No. RA 6678181), Field Artillery, United States Army. December 1941 to April 1946.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

IV. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 2d Battalion, 47th Infantry Regiment, is cited for conspicuous battle action during the 5-day period between 24 and 28 November 1944, during which time it assaulted and completely penetrated the enemy main line of resistance guarding approaches to the Roer River. After clearing scattered resistance in Nothberg, on 23 November 1944, the 2d Battalion launched its main attack, at 1000 on 24 November 1944, toward Hucheln, Germany. Coming under murderous barrages of mortar, artillery, flat-trajectory, and machine-gun fire about 300 yards west of Hucheln, the 2d Battalion, using its attached tanks, closed on the enemy and in fierce hand-to-hand fighting forced their way into the town. They immediately engaged in house-to-house fighting throughout the entire night, capturing over 60 prisoners, 2 tanks, 18 machine guns, and many bazookas and small arms. Continuing their drive forward, on 25 November, they assaulted one of the strongest positions in the enemy's belt, the town of Wilhemshohe. The cellars of all houses had been strongly reinforced and reconverted into individual pillboxes. Following a heavy artillery barrage, the 2d Battalion closed swiftly with the enemy and, again in violent hand-to-hand fighting which lasted until midnight, forced the capitulation of the town. Over 300 of the enemy were taken alive, in addition to much equipment including 2 antitank guns, six 20-mm antiaircraft guns, 20 machine guns, and many bazookas and small arms. On 26 November, the 2d Battalion, reinforced, resumed the attack on the castle of Frenzenbert. Since the battalion had completely broken through the enemy's main line of defense, the enemy, in desperation, threw a company of paratroopers into the castle to halt our advance. In the face of extremely heavy artillery and mortar barrages, Company K succeeded in gaining a foothold in the outer buildings of the castle, putting up a savage battle until Companies F and G were able to force their way to the castle and assist them. For 2 days, a violent hand-to-hand battle continued in the castle, during which time the enemy launched repeated counter-attacks from the northeast and southeast to relieve the hard-pressed paratroopers holding out in the castle. On the third day, the castle was completely cleared of the enemy after more than 60 of the defenders had been killed. Within the 5 days from 24 to 28 November, the 2d Battalion assaulted and captured 3 heavily fortified positions, over 450 prisoners, twenty 20-mm antiaircraft guns, 2 tanks, 2 antitank guns, and hundreds of automatic weapons and small arms. In addition, the 2d Battalion completely destroyed one battalion of enemy infantry, one company of paratroopers, and parts of two other infantry battalions. Without ever having flank protection from units on its right and left, suffering severe casualties from the constant heavy barrages rained upon it, and having to cross more than 5 kilometers of heavily fortified and difficult terrain, the 2d Battalion, 47th Infantry Regiment, engaged and defeated a fanatical enemy by a magnificent display of courage and devotion to duty. (General Orders 22, Headquarters 9th Infantry Division, 3 February 1945, as approved by the Commanding General, First Army, 21 January 1945.)

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Willie L. Whitehurst (Army serial No. 3170761), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 2d Battalion, 61st Infantry Regiment, 5th Division, displayed gallantry in action during combat in France on 25 October 1918. His unit was engaged on the Meuse-Argonne front and had come through a terrific German Artillery barrage which killed and wounded many men. It was imperative that someone reach headquarters and return with reinforcements. This necessitated passing through the barrage twice. Private Whitehurst volunteered for this hazardous duty and accomplished his mission successfully, thus encouraging his comrades whose morale had been visibly shaken.

I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

- Lieutenant Colonel Wilmot T. Baughn, O40155, Judge Advocate General's Department, United States Army. October 1942 to September 1945.
- Colonel Joseph C. Burton, O189286, Judge Advocate General's Department, Army of the United States. September 1943 to January 1946.
- Colonel Wilfred D. Darling, O297594, Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States. April 1942 to April 1945. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Colonel Darling, for service from 24 April 1942 to 3 April 1945, as published in General Orders 83, General Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Pacific, 30 July 1945.)

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

VI. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 16th Reconnaissance Squadron (Heavy) Special is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy in the Mediterranean area from 1 October 1943 to 31 January 1944. Assigned the difficult and extremely dangerous task of cracking open the Axis radar defenses of "Festung Europa," the unit engaged in sustained operations against the west coast of Italy from Salerno to the coast of southern France in an uninterrupted series of single, unescorted night investigational missions in which each and every aircraft of the squadron participated. Departing home base in Africa at dusk, the aircraft of the 16th Reconnaissance Squadron (Heavy) Special took off on 1,200-mile missions, often in the face of formidable weather which grounded other units, flew across the Mediterranean, and proceeded to investigate predetermined areas. Descending to altitudes as low as 200 feet despite the fact that the B-17F type aircraft was designed for high-altitude operations, the crews purposely attempted to alert and excite enemy radar, exposing themselves to intense radar-controlled antiaircraft fire of all caliber, as well as the small-arms fire which was extremely effective at the dangerously low altitudes required for the investigation. Harassed by enemy night fighters, constantly on the alert for abrupt changes in terrain over hostile and unfamiliar territory, and exposed to the possibility of ramming barrage balloons anchored in the harbor areas, the crews of the aircraft were hard-pressed under this psychological strain to obtain the top priority information on enemy radar strength. Of particular value to Allied intelligence in planning the amphibious part of the Anzio invasion was the information gained from 21 highly hazardous missions devoted to probing the strength, multiplicity, and tactics of the Axis radar defenses in and around the Anzio beachhead, both prior to and during the actual invasion. In the complete darkness of moonless nights and with inadequate navigational aids, the coastal strip which contained the beachhead was unerringly covered. Skill and alertness averted certain disaster from the jagged cliffs which characterized the precipitous terrain north and south of Anzio Point. During this action, the 16th Reconnaissance Squadron (Heavy) Spécial sustained 50 percent combat casualties. The squadron located over 300 enemy radar stations and was instrumental in the destruction of over 65 enemy ground electronic installations. The skill and efficiency of the ground crews materially aided the accomplishment of these missions. The outstanding heroism and devotion to duty displayed by the officers and enlisted men of the 16th Reconnaissance Squadron (Heavy) Spécial are in keeping with the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States.

VII. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. So much of paragraph 1, section II, General Orders 6, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to Colonel Edward J. Foord, British Army, is rescinded.

2. So much of paragraph 2, section II, General Orders 6, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to Captain Arthur Shirley Janes, British Army, as reads "Captain Arthur Shirley Janes" is amended to read "Captain Albert Shirley Janes."

3. So much of paragraph 2, section I, General Orders 5, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to Major General Pang-Ch'u Mao, Chinese Air Force, as reads "Major General Pang-Ch'u Mao" is amended to read "Lieutenant General Mow Pang-tsu."

VIII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. So much of section IX, General Orders 20, War Department, 1947, pertaining to First Lieutenant Herman Klugge, 121st Infantry, Philippine Army, as reads "First Lieutenant Herman Klugge, 121st Infantry, Philippine Army" is amended to read "Captain Herman C. Kluge, O890368, Infantry, Army of the United States."

2. So much of paragraph 1, section III, General Orders 5, Department of the Army, 1948, as pertains to Captain Georges Emil Mathoit, French Army, as reads "Captain Georges Emil Mathoit" is amended to read "Captain Georges Emile Mathoit."

BELGIAN CROIX DE GUERRE, awarded under Decree No. 4309, 26 September 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Realm, with the following citation:

In the course of the period from 27 November to 14 December 1944, the 31st AAA Group and its attached units provided the antiaircraft defense of the City of Liege against numerous attacks from the German air force. The ardor displayed by these units in the accomplishment of their mission was outstanding in the protection of property and human lives among the civilian population of Liege, as well as among the Allied troops.

BELGIAN CROIX DE GUERRE, awarded under Decree No. 4309, 26 September 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Realm, with the following citation:

¹⁰ Also cited with Antwerp X AAA Command for Belgian Fourragere.

At the time of the Ardennes offensive, and in spite of the efforts made by the German army to seize the City of Liege, the units forming the 31st AAA Group set up a particularly effective antiaircraft defense. During the period from 16 December 1944 to 25 January 1945, these units fought without respite against the most violent attacks of the German air force, thus contributing to the annihilation of every attempt by the enemy to secure possession of this particularly important center of communication and to effect a deep penetration into Belgium. The units of the 31st AAA Group displayed such an aggressive and effective defense that the Luftwaffe was unable to interrupt the continual stream of the supply trains bound for the front lines along the sole railway and over the single important bridge crossing the Meuse. These actions contributed in a large part to the liberation of Belgium.

2. Section III, General Orders 24, Department of the Army, 1947, is added as follows:

III. WEARING OF FOREIGN DECORATIONS.—The wearing of the French and Belgian Fourrageres and the Netherlands Orange Lanyard, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 18, AR 260-15, will be governed by the following:

1. French and Belgian Fourrageres.—Normally, two awards of the Croix de Guerre are required before a unit becomes eligible for the award of the Fourragere. The award of the Fourragere is not automatic, but must be specifically authorized by decree of the respective foreign government. The award of the Croix de Guerre to a unit does not authorize the wearing of the decoration by an individual. Likewise, no award of the Croix de Guerre to an individual is considered in determining eligibility to wear the Fourragere. The Fourragere may be worn permanently only by those individuals who were assigned, or permanently attached, to and present for duty with a unit during both actions for which the unit was cited for the Croix de Guerre. The French Fourragere may be worn temporarily by those individuals assigned, or permanently attached, to such unit, but who were not present for duty with the unit in both actions for which it was cited, only so long as they remain with such unit. Temporary wearing of the Belgian Fourragere is not authorized.

2. Netherlands Orange Lanyard.—The Netherlands Orange Lanyard may be worn permanently only by those individuals who were assigned, or permanently attached, to and present for duty with a unit during the action for which it was cited. Temporary wearing of the Netherlands Orange Lanyard is not authorized.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel James D. McIntyre, O7466 (then brigadier general), Air Corps (Ordinance Department), United States Army. September 1944 to June 1946 and September 1946 to August 1947. (This award supersedes the awards to Colonel McIntyre of the Army Commendation Ribbon, for service from 1 January to 1 May 1946, and the Army Commendation Ribbon for service in 1944. So much of sec. II, General Orders 43, WD, 1946, pertaining to the award of the Legion of Merit to Colonel McIntyre, for service from September 1944 to April 1946, is rescinded.)

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Captain Harry L. Morris, O365832, Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 29 January 1942, while serving as signal officer with the 91st Division, Philippine Army. He courageously led a detail into the enemy-occupied barrio of Bagac, Bataan, for the purpose of recovering telephone wire and other supplies. Despite enemy fire and resistance, Captain Morris was able to recover the equipment so badly needed by the I Corps in their defense of Bataan.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918, (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Albert L. Oddy (Army serial No. 20145648), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company A, 22d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action in Germany on 1 April 1945. He was in charge of a machine-gun section when the enemy counterattacked the company's exposed left flank. With three of his men, Sergeant Oddy moved one of his guns into the gap through intense artillery and rifle fire. Electing to fire the gun himself, he immediately dispatched two of the men for ammunition and kept one for his assistant. His assistant was killed, and Sergeant Oddy single-handedly held up the counter-attack by firing his machine gun from an exposed position until assistance arrived. Sergeant Oddy's heroic action resulted in saving the situation for the entire battalion and reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Master Sergeant Walter E. Slivka (AF12062369), United States Air Force, April 1942 to January 1948. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Master Sergeant Slivka for service from 15 September 1943 to 18 April 1946.)

V. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Master Sergeant Stephen J. Csotty (AF20522574), United States Air Force, a member of the 17th Communication Squadron, Command Headquarters, Twentieth Air Force, displayed outstanding heroism at the risk of his life, on 6 October 1947, at Guam, Marianas Islands. While three soldiers were floating in a rubber life raft in the ocean, the small boat was swamped by a large wave and the men were thrown into the water. One man was washed out to sea past the coral reefs. Rescue craft were notified, but it appeared that the man could not hold out in the heavy running sea until help arrived. Sergeant Csotty and another soldier launched a life raft and, although battered and pounded by the 15-foot high waves, managed to reach the struggling soldier. The man was too exhausted to help himself. Sergeant Csotty and the other soldier placed him on the raft and swam beside it, pulling it to shore. The raft was capsized by another large wave while crossing the reefs, but Sergeant Csotty and the other soldier, although painfully cut and bruised on the sharp coral, towed their fellow soldier to safety. Sergeant Csotty's courageous act, with complete disregard for his personal safety, saved the life of his fellow soldier and reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class Robert W. Herring (AF 17219738), United States Air Force, a member of the 17th Communication Squadron, Command Headquarters, Twentieth Air Force, displayed outstanding heroism at the risk of his life, on 6 October 1947, at Guam, Marianas Islands. While swimming in the ocean, Private Herring saw a small boat with three soldiers aboard swamped by a large wave and the men thrown into the water. One man was swept out to sea past the coral reefs. Rescue craft were notified, but it appeared that the man could not hold out in the heavy running sea until help arrived. Private Herring and another soldier launched a rubber life raft and, although battered and pounded by the 15-foot high waves, managed to reach the struggling soldier. The man was too exhausted to help himself. Private Herring and the other soldier placed him on the raft and swam beside it, pulling it to shore. The raft was capsized by another large wave while crossing the reefs, but Private Herring and the other soldier, although painfully cut and bruised on the sharp coral, towed their fellow soldier to safety. Private Herring's courageous act, with complete disregard for his personal safety, saved the life of his fellow soldier and reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. First Lieutenant William G. Dulnoan, O950100, Infantry, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while serving as commanding officer of Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army, at Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 7 February 1942. When superior Japanese forces in a Banzai charge overran a portion of the battalion forward positions and threatened to capture the battalion command post, Lieutenant Dulnoan led the only 12 men available, mostly clerks and supply men, in a determined resistance which turned the force of the attack. With the survivors of his detachment, he then assisted machine gunners to hold their position and to limit enemy penetrations. During the 4-hour fight before assistance arrived from the rear, Lieutenant Dulnoan's detachment suffered several casualties, and his rifle was splintered in his hand when struck by a Japanese bullet. He nevertheless continued to fight with the relieving troops for 10 succeeding days until the enemy was finally expelled from the position.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43; WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Harry McK. Roper, O15176 (then brigadier general), Field Artillery United States Army. December 1944 to August 1945. (This award supersedes the award of the Legion of Merit to Colonel Roper, for service from 21 December 1944 to 17 April 1945, as published in General Orders 217, General Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Pacific, 2 October 1945.)

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Ewart G. Plank, O12649, United States Army. July 1945 to February 1946.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Charles E. Wright, O1325845, Infantry, Army of the United States, on 30 December 1944, displayed conspicuous gallantry in action in the vicinity of Wiltz, Luxembourg. The 1st Platoon, Company K, 101st Infantry Regiment, 26th Division, commanded by Lieutenant Wright, was leading the attack of the company when it was stopped by heavy resistance from enemy infantrymen supported by automatic weapons and two tanks. Realizing the tanks were the greatest obstacle, Lieutenant Wright continued forward alone and disabled both tanks with a bazooka. With the tank threat removed and inspired by Lieutenant Wright's courageous example, the 1st Platoon and the remainder of Company K moved forward in the attack to gain its objective, capture 18 prisoners, kill 20 of the enemy, and force the remainder to withdraw. The courage, devotion to duty, and disregard for personal danger displayed by Lieutenant Wright reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

III. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Technician Fourth Grade Darrell E. Clark (Army Serial No. 37043048) (then corporal), Ordnance, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 133d Infantry Regiment, 34th Division, on 2 December 1943, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Mount la Rocca, Italy. In a desperate defensive stand against a heavy enemy attack, he was at the fore of a squad of men and inspired them to hold against the greatly superior enemy force. Shooting his rifle at the enemy among rocks less than 3 feet away and standing his ground amid a hail of enemy explosives, he lobbed grenades into the air and over only several feet so that they would land among the closely fighting Germans. Shouting words of encouragement to his comrades in the fierce fight, shifting them for better firepower, and disregarding the hail of enemy explosives and concentrated fire, as he bore the brunt of the main attack, Technician Clark enabled the group of men to hold a constant front as another small force flanked the enemy unit and started a stream of fire from the rear. Through his courageous action, in which he gave replacements an example of daring and resourceful fighting that heartened them in their own heroic actions, Technician Clark was instrumental in forcing the flight of a German company, which left its entire equipment on the field, making it possible for the battalion to take up the attack.

Sergeant Ronald H. Greiman (Army serial No. 37043087), Infantry, Army of the United States, Company I, 133d Infantry Regiment, 34th Division, on 2 December 1943, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Mount la Rocca, Italy. In a desperate defensive stand against a heavy enemy attack, he was at the fore of a squad of men and inspired them to hold against the greatly superior enemy force. Shooting his rifle at the enemy among rocks less than 3 feet away and standing his ground amid a hail of enemy explosives, he lobbed grenades into the air and over only several feet into the closely fighting Germans. Shouting words of encouragement to his comrades in the fierce fight, shifting them for better firepower, and disregarding the hail of enemy explosives and concentrated fire, as he bore the brunt of the main attack, Sergeant Greiman enabled the group of men to hold a constant front as another small force flanked the enemy unit and started a stream of fire from the rear. Through his courageous action, in which he gave new replacements an example of daring and resourceful fighting that heartened them in their own heroic actions, Sergeant Greiman was instrumental in forcing the flight of an enemy company, which left its entire equipment on the field, making it possible for the battalion to take up the attack.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1913 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated was awarded by the Commanding General, 1st Regular Division, Philippine Army, to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Siato R. Melendez, O33253 (then third lieutenant), Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company D, 3d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in Bataan from 4 to 10 February 1942. Ordered to reinforce a sector of the adjoining company at Trail 7 (Tuol Pocket), Bagac, Lieutenant Melendez led his two machine-gun sections with such valor that the enemy was annihilated and his mission accomplished successfully.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Frank F. Aiello (Army serial No. 32002089), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company M, 39th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action at Kasserine Pass, Tunisia, on 20 February 1943. While serving as leader of a section of machine guns, he was painfully wounded by an enemy grenade. Although ordered to seek first aid, he refused to leave his position, which was under heavy enemy attack, but continued to direct his section in repelling those attacks. Several hours later, when the platoon sector became untenable as a result of enemy penetrations and withdrawal to a new position though heavy machine-gun fire was ordered, Sergeant Aiello elected to remain behind, firing a machine gun at the advancing enemy to protect the withdrawal of his men by drawing to himself the fire and attention of the enemy. In so doing, he was mortally wounded.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (third Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility is awarded to the following-named officer.

General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, O3822, United States Army. As Chief of Staff, United States Army.

III. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

First Lieutenant Juan M. Duyan, O28883 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Philippine Army, commanding the 3d Platoon, Company F, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army, from 7 to 9 February 1942, displayed gallantry in action near Pilar-Bagac Road, Bataan, Philippine Islands. He led his platoon in a counterattack against a greatly superior enemy force, but unable to reestablish contact with the regiment, he directed the men to organize for defense. Digging fox holes with bayonets and sharpened bamboo, and with few rifles, little ammunition, and no food, the platoon held the position against repeated Japanese attacks. For 2 days Lieutenant Duyan led the valiant unit in a desperate defense until, finally, other units fought through. Then, resupplied with food and ammunition, the platoon immediately joined in a series of attacks and destroyed the enemy who penetrated the position. Courageously leading the platoon through a 2-day siege under repeated enemy infantry and fire attacks, Lieutenant Dujan aided greatly in limiting the hostile penetration and contributed to the destruction of the enemy force.

Captain William W. Jean, O1030680 (then first lieutenant), Cavalry, Army of the United States, as platoon leader, Troop F, 7th Cavalry, on 19 March 1944, displayed gallantry in action on Manus Island, Bismark Archipelago. Leading his unit on combat reconnaissance, he suddenly ran into heavy enemy machine-gun fire, which killed or wounded several of the platoon. Quickly, he made a check of the terrain under the continuing fire. Discovering a large bunker as the key to the enemy location, he designated positions for the platoon and, with one other man, crawled forward. Suddenly, he signaled the other man to open fire on the enemy position. With a grenade in each hand, Captain Jean made a lone assault on the enemy bunker, throwing the grenades through the gun slit and dropping to the ground. Crawling back quickly to the platoon, he assembled his men and directed the systematic clearing of the remaining enemy force. Through his personal courage and outstanding leadership, Captain Jean accomplished the elimination of the dangerous enemy position, which enabled the platoon to continue its advance.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated was awarded by Headquarters, Philippine Coast Artillery Command, Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant Walter J. Wasilewski (Army serial No. 7031498) (then corporal), Medical Department, United States Army, a member of Company A, 803d Engineer Battalion (Aviation), on 24 March 1942, displayed gallantry in action at Corregidor, Philippine Islands. During a heavy Japanese bombardment and shelling of Kindley Field and vicinity, in which several men were severely wounded, he moved without regard for his safety through the barrage of enemy shells to aid the fallen men. Passing through an area of tall grass blazing among stacks of bombs in imminent danger of exploding, he helped move the wounded soldiers to the hospital in Malinta Tunnel. Sergeant Wasilewski's outstanding courage and determination are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Private First Class Edwin A. Lynch, Jr. (Army serial No. 13249528) (then private), Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Troop C, 7th Cavalry Regiment, displayed outstanding heroism at the risk of his life on 15 June 1947. VIII.—BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Sergeant Ramon Abalon (123233), Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company E, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army, on 9 February 1942, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Pilar-Bagac Road, Bataan, Philippine Islands. Seeing that the tanks soon lost direction in the dense jungle growth, in a tank and infantry attack against a strong enemy force, he voluntarily climbed atop one of the vehicles and guided it through the jungle. Exposed to the full range of enemy fire atop the advancing tank, he sent a stream of bullets into an enemy machine-gun nest from the tank antiaircraft gun. Then, seeing one of the tanks disabled and surrounded by hostile soldiers, he led a group of men and, with a captured enemy mortar, killed several of the enemy and dispersed the remainder, thereby saving the tank and its crew from capture. Despite a serious wound suffered in the attack, Sergeant Abalon continued to demonstrate his outstanding courage, leadership, and determination and contributed greatly to the success of the attack until relieved by a supporting force.

First Lieutenant Carl M. Blevins, O1290884 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company L, 39th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Tunisia, French North Africa, on 21 February 1943. The mission of the company was the defense of a mountain ridge west of Kasserine Pass. During the morning, the enemy overran the position and the remnants of Company L were forced back, leaving the 2d Platoon to cover the withdrawal. Lieutenant Blevins, although painfully wounded, retained control of his platoon and, showing great courage and heroism, enabled the remnants of the company to fall back and reorganize in a new position. After completing his mission, he ordered what few men were left in his platoon to retire and covered their withdrawal. Lieutenant Blevins sacrificed his safety for his men and was captured. His courageous actions were highly commendable.

Sergeant Johnie T. Carter (Army serial No. 6896200) (then private first class), Chemical Warfare Service, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in the Philippine Islands on 7 April 1942. During the defense of Bataan, when one of his comrades was wounded by enemy mortar fire and unable to walk, he carried this soldier for a mile through the jungle to where five other soldiers lay wounded. He then attracted a passing jeep and evacuated all six to a hospital through enemy fire. Sergeant Carter's actions reflect great credit on himself.

Major George J. Heil, Jr., O39109 (then captain), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 16th Infantry Regiment and commanding Company F, on 22 March 1943, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near El Gueffar, Tunisia. With his company leading an assault in the face of intense enemy mortar, artillery, and small-arms fire, and seeing the danger to the men and possible failure of the attack if the unit became pinned down by the curtain of fire, Major Heil quickly placed himself at the head of the company and, though wounded, courageously led the men forward through the narrow pass. Reaching the other side and placing the men in effective positions under the continuing enemy fire, he was again wounded seriously and was evacuated. Major Heil demonstrated outstanding courage and aggressive leadership in leading his company in the face of heavy enemy fire.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following named officer:

Major Leonard R. Generson, O494705 (then captain), Medical Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 15 August 1944, during the invasion of southern France. During the landing, an LST carrying heavy elements of the assault force was hit by a guided missile. Fire broke out and ignited vehicles loaded with gasoline and ammunition. The ship was beached and abandoned. Major Generson, who had previously landed, returned to the beach and throughout the imminent hazards of mines, enemy airplanes, and artillery fire, together with ammunition from the exploding LST, continued to search the area for wounded, and to give them quick and efficient medical aid. His heroic action, quick thinking, and professional skill were an inspiration to those working with him and reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Gordon O. Fraser, O378031 (then captain), Field Artillery, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters, 863d Field Artillery Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 4 March 1945, in the vicinity of Bubingen, Germany. As liaison officer with the battalion, he was following a company in an attack. In the course of this attack, the company advanced across open ground and the enemy fired on them, disorganizing the company. Major Fraser, disregarding his personal safety, immediately exposed himself to heavy enemy fire to talk to the leaders and the men, restore their confidence, and reorganize the company. The courage and leadership displayed by Major Fraser reflect credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for meritorious achievement to Major Fraser, during the same period, as published in General Orders 633, 63d Infantry Division, 30 August 1945.)

II. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. 1, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. 11, WD, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Company L, 383d Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy, on 9 April 1945, in the vicinity of Kakazu Ridge, Okinawa Island. This company was assigned the mission of assaulting a heavily foreified T-shaped ridge spur in the northwest extremity of the town of Kakazu, which gave the enemy complete observation and flanking fire on the entire regiment. The occupation of this spur, which provided observation of the main enemy strong point along the entire ridge, was of vital importance to the entire command. Company L gained complete surprise and, with bayonets fixed, boldly and fearlessly charged the heavily defended position and attained the assigned objective. Company G, 383d Infantry Regiment, on the left and Company I, 383d Infantry Regiment, on the right encountered withering machine-gun cross fire and intense mortar and artillery barrages and were unable to take the ridge in their sectors, thus imperiling Company L's security. Superior enemy forces supported by heavy mortars and massed artillery launched four powerful and determined counterattacks. Company L, although weakened by severe losses, displayed unexcelled courage and prowess in arms by gallantly holding its objective through the grimly raging battle until, ultimately, the enemy was repulsed. Company L held this strategic position all day until forced to withdraw at 1630 because of severe flanking fire and a critical shortage of ammunition. This company killed 160 of the enemy, including 1 colonel and 1 major and destroyed a 320-mm mortar which had been harrassing the regiment. Company L's losses included 10 killed in action, 5 missing in action, and 30 wounded. The conspicuous aggressiveness, valor, extraordinary heroism, and profound devotion to duty displayed by this company were an inspiration to the regiment. The eminently significant accomplishment of this gallant and cohesive fighting force was instrumental in breaching the enemy defenses in this sector, enabling the entire command to advance. Such achievements evidence the finest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit on Company L, 383d Infantry Regiment, and the armed forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Rear Admiral Russell S. Berkey, United States Navy. February to July 1945.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated was awarded posthumously by the Commanding General, Philippine Coast Artillery Command, Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, to the following-named enlisted man:

Technician Fifth Grade Fred W. Zimpfer, (Army serial No. 35030659) (then private first class), Medical Department, Army of the United States, a member of Company A, 803d Engineer Battalion (Aviation), on 24 March 1942, displayed gallantry in action at Corregidor, Philippine Islands. During a heavy Japanese bombardment and shelling of Kindley Field and vicinity, in which several men were severely wounded, he moved without regard for his own safety through the barrage of enemy shells to aid the fallen men. Passing through an area of tall grass blazing among stacks of bombs in imminent danger of exploding, he helped move the wounded soldiers to the hospital in Malinta Tunnel. Technician Zimpfer's outstanding courage and determination are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Gerald E. Boyea, O37258, Infantry, United States Army, exhibited gallantry in action in the vicinity of Styring-Wendel, France, on 3 March 1945. When the advance of his battalion was disorganized, he fought his way forward through mine fields in the face of hostile machine-gun and artillery fire to reach the foremost troops. Rallying these men, he led an assault on an enemy-held trench, capturing and killing 40 Germans. Proceeding across exposed terrain, he again led the assault against the Siegfried Line positions, which were wrested from the enemy and the battalion objective captured. The courage, leadership, and devotion to duty displayed by Captain Boyea, in the face of the enemy, reflect high credit on himself and the military service.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. - Lieutenant Colonel Ferdinand T. Unger, O20734, General Staff Corps, United States Army. June 1945 to December 1947.

XI. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, Bul. 22, WD, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, Bul. II, WD, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citations read as follows:

1. The 1st Battalion, 517th Parachute Infantry, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy during the period 22 through 26 December 1944. Attached to the 3d Armored Division at the height of the German counteroffensive, committed to battle in the vicinity of Soy, Belgium, at 1700, 22 December 1944, the 1st Battalion fought continuously until 1700, 24 December 1944, to contain the German attacking forces and to regain the initiative. In bitter cold, and against numerically superior enemy forces, the 1st Battalion accomplished all assigned missions in fighting its way from Soy to Hotton, Belgium, checking and displacing the enemy forces driving toward Liege and Namur. This battalion captured the high ground controlling the road nets at Haid Hits and Hotton, cleared the enemy forces in its sector, relieved the beleaguered American forces at Hotton, and established a main line of resistance on a 6,000-yard front from Soy to Hotton, from which an attack was launched to the south by a fresh infantry regiment. At 1200, on 25 December 1944, when this regiment failed to accomplish its mission, the 1st Battalion, 517th Parachute Infantry, with less than a day's rest was further committed, and captured, with a handful of remaining men, the hill objective La Roumiere Of Fange, from which a reinforced battalion had been repulsed with severe casualties. Through repeated displays of individual and collective gallantry, the officers and men of this battalion accomplished with distinction every mission assigned their commander and gained the appreciative admiration of all adjacent units with whom they fought. Suffering 157 casualties, the 1st Battalion accounted for 210 enemy dead and 18 captured. This battalion exhibited a high sense of duty and will to fight, and, through the resulting achievements, it reflected great credit on its parent unit and the armed forces of the United States. (General Orders 50, Headquarters United States Forces, European Theater, 27 December 1945.)

2. The 7th Bombardment Group (H) is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action on 19 March 1945. Upon the denial of Rangoon, Burma, as a major port of entry for Japanese supplies because of constant bombardment, harbor mining, and sea sweeps by bombardment units in the India-Burma Theater, the enemy was forced to utilization of Bangkok, Thailand, as the main receiving point for supplies, equipment, and personnel. Two methods were available to the enemy for transportation to Bangkok. One was by sea through that port and the other was overland by railroad and road running down the

Kra Isthmus through Jumbhorn, Thailand, and extending to receiving ports along the Gulf of Siam and to the large enemy base at Singapore. Previous mining of Bangkok harbor had effectively denied the use of the first method. Only the overland route remained available. To interdict, destroy, and disrupt this most vital line of supply, the 7th Bombardment Group (H) undertook, on 19 March 1945, the longest known attack mission by formations of heavy bombers in World War II. Thirty-seven heavy bombardment aircraft of this group, all squadrons participating, carried out a 2,700-mile round trip to strike the enemy's rail and road bridges ranging from Bandon to Jumbhorn, Thailand. All personnel of this group extended maximum effort in the planning and preparation of this mission. Meticulous calculations were made as to fuel and bomb loads. Maintenance crews spent inordinately long hours preparing the aircraft to operate at peak efficiency. Taking off from bases in India, aircraft of this group were airborne for approximately 18 hours, the flight being made almost entirely over water, with the major portion of it over hostile waters. Outstanding bombing results were accomplished, one road and four rail bridges being either destroyed or severely damaged. The attack on the Ban Tak Kan bridge, of heavy steel and concrete construction, lifted this bridge 8 feet in the air and threw it 6 feet out of line, destroying the railroad trackage and severely weakening the structure. All strikes were made without benefit of fighter escort and in the face of enemy automatic weapons and machine-gun fire. In order to achieve maximum results, several bombing runs were made on each bridge, although heavy anti-aircraft fire was being encountered. Several aircraft were damaged, with one crew member killed and two wounded. Only one aircraft was lost, because of shortage of fuel, its air crew successfully parachuting to safety. On this occasion, all personnel of the 7th Bombardment Group (H) displayed exceptional determination, aggressiveness, courage, and flying skill, attaining results so outstanding as to seriously curtail the enemy's line of supply in Southeast Asia and to aid greatly the conduct of the allied war effort in Burma. This group's superior performance of duty in action against an armed enemy is worthy of the highest traditions of the military service and reflects credit in the highest degree on the armed forces of the United States. (General Orders 201, Headquarters Tenth Air Force, 5 May 1945.)

3. The 109th Field Artillery Battalion is cited for outstanding performance of duty against the enemy from 16 to 23 December 1944. On the morning of 16 December, the 109th Field Artillery Battalion was supporting the 110th Infantry Regiment as a normal combat team attachment. When the 15-mile defensive line of the 110th Infantry Regiment was struck with terrific force by tanks and infantry of five enemy divisions during the early stages of the German counter-offensive, the widely separated gun positions of the 109th Field Artillery Battalion were fully exposed to the oncoming enemy who had penetrated the line of the hard-pressed infantrymen on the front. At the very outbreak of the offensive, all guns crews, given the order to hold at all costs, commenced placing heavy counterbattery fire on German gun positions and direct fire at huge waves of fast driving infantry assault teams to inflict tremendous casualties on the enemy. Overcome at their howitzers by numerically superior forces after bitter fighting, the artillerymen battled strictly as infantry with carbines and grenades in bloody hand-to-hand combat in valiant efforts to regain their positions. Despite intense artillery, mortar, small-arms, and tank fire and lacking in food, sleep, and ammunition, units of the 109th Field Artillery Battalion, though surrounded, managed to make extremely difficult displacement of several howitzers and carry on the fight with both individual and crew-served weapons at vital points near Wilwerwiltz, Clervaux, Wiltz Bastogne, Allerborn, Sibret, and Neufchateau. The conspicuous gallantry, heroism, and determination displayed by the members of the 109th Field Artillery Battalion in remaining at their posts and fighting for days as both artillerymen and infantrymen and to hold at all costs under the most adverse climatic conditions in the face of numerically superior enemy forces helped greatly to upset Van Rundstedt's plan to reach Bastogne on December 16, contributed materially to the successful defense of Bastogne and to the defeat of the enemy in the Ardennes, and reflect the highest traditions of the armed forces. (General Orders 50, Headquarters United States Forces, European Theater, 27 December 1945.)

XII. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 14, AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following unit of the Army of the United States for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated. The citation reads as follows:

The 113th Counter Intelligence Corps Detachment is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct in performance of outstanding service in the Fifth Army Area, United States, from 1 February to 15 September 1946. During this period, personnel of the detachment completed more than 9,500 investigations in connection with highly classified work for the War and Navy Departments and the Manhattan Engineer District. Fluctuation in strength of the unit, and continuous orientation of new officers and men, necessitated long hours of work above and beyond the normal tour of duty. As an essential part of conducting these investigations, the unit maintained important liaison with other agencies and activities in a manner which reflected distinction on the Military Establishment. Through its outstanding service and high standards of discipline, the 113th Counter Intelligence Corps Detachment did much to reflect credit on itself and the Army of the United States.

XIII. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—So much of section II, General Orders 79, War Department, 1945, as pertains to Brigadier General Stanley R. Mickelsen, United States Army, as reads "November 1944 to June 1945" is amended to read "November 1944 to August 1947."

XIV. LEGION OF MERIT.—Paragraph 1, section XI, General Orders 50, War Department, 1946, pertaining to Colonel Boris Theodore Pash, General Staff Corps, is rescinded.

XV. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—So much of section VIII, General Orders 16, Department of the Army, 1947, as pertains to Colonel Alfred G. Karger, Chemical Warfare Service, as reads "Bronze Star Medal is awarded" is amended to read "Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) is awarded."

XVI. BATTLE HONORS.—Paragraph 28, General Orders 84, War Department, 1945, pertaining to the 474th Fighter Group, is rescinded.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Michael J. Auer, O2006838 (then staff sergeant) (Army serial No. 37339680), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company A, 19th Armored Infantry Battalion, displayed extraordinary heroism in action near Hatten, France, from 13 to 20 January 1945. When his battalion was forced to withdraw and covering unit was cut off by the enemy, he moved about from group to group under intense enemy artillery, mortar, and small-arms fire and, organizing and encouraging the troops with him, did much by his aggressive and fearless leadership to save the covering force. With the battalion again on the offensive, Captain Auer manned a machine gun, and, in addition, hurled grenades into the enemy position and broke up a German attack single-handed. Then, fighting a rear guard action, he enabled a surrounded and outnumbered company to withdraw from threatened enemy encirclement. The exemplary heroism and constant fearless leadership of Captain Auer reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel John W. Bowen, O18904 (then colonel), General Staff Corps (Infantry), United States Army. November 1944 to February 1948. (Par. 1, sec. VIII, General Orders 88, WD, 1945, pertaining to the award of the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Lieutenant Colonel Bowen (then colonel), for service from November 1944 to August 1945, is rescinded.)

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Colonel Franciszek Demel, Polish Army, commanded the 4th Wolynska Brigade attached to the 15th Army Group in an encircling movement at Bologna, Italy, on 21 April 1945. To reduce a series of mutually supporting strongpoints, he led his men in several assaults across flat, heavily mined terrain, forcing the enemy to abandon one position after another, despite the fact that the attack was carried out under heavy artillery, mortar, machine-gun, and small-arms fire. Colonel Demel's disregard for personal safety, his inspiring leadership, and great tactical skill contributed in large measure to the liberation of Bologna.

Sergeant Albert T. Gerritsen (Army serial No. 37036768) Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 133d Infantry Regiment, 34th Division, on 4 November 1943, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Santa Maria Oliveto, Italy. In a desperate defensive stand against a heavy enemy attack, he was at the fore of a squad of men, helping and inspiring them to hold against the greatly superior enemy force. He maintained constant contact among the men throughout the night. The next morning, as the Germans launched their attack on the defenders, he quickly moved from spot to spot, wherever the fight was heaviest, to face the enemy attackers. Later, going down the mountain through a heavy barrage of mortar shells, machine-gun, and artillery fire, he and two other men obtained a machine gun and a 60-mm mortar and returned with their clothing loaded with ammunition and grenades. Using the mortar to break up gatherings of the enemy force, he then took up the machine gun and, always making for the hottest spot of the fighting, provided a constant source of strength in the desperate defense. Through his courage, daring, and indomitable fighting spirit, demonstrated in his heroic actions in meeting the overwhelming enemy attack, Sergeant Gerritsen did much to aid in holding this important break in the German Barbara Line in Italy.

Master Sergeant Hiram W. Lane (Army serial No. 20361292) (then staff sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 121st Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action in Germany on 22 December 1944. During a strong counterattack by a very determined enemy in the fierce battle of the Huertgen Forest, Company G was subjected to murderous machine-gun and mortar fire followed by an overwhelming assault on the company position. Sergeant Lane, in the absence of a platoon officer, took command of his platoon. With a light machine gun, he moved from one hole to another to return the enemy fire and inspire his battle-weary men to hold and repulse the enemy attack. He then rallied his men and led an assault on the enemy, and, in the vicious hand-to-hand combat that followed, was instrumental in killing many of the enemy and capturing 14 prisoners. The courageous, fearless, and conspicuous leadership of Sergeant Lane was in keeping with the highest military traditions.

Staff Sergeant Norbert W. Rowenhorst (Army serial No. 20703002) (then sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 133d Infantry Regiment, 34th Division, on 4 November 1943, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Santa Maria Oliveto, Italy. In a desperate, defensive stand against a heavy enemy attack, he led a platoon of men, aiding and inspiring them to hold against the greatly superior enemy force. Placing the men for most effective use of their firepower, he maintained constant contact among them throughout the night. The next morning, as the Germans launched their attack on the defenders, he moved quickly from spot to spot, in the hail of enemy fire and explosives, to face the enemy attackers. Demonstrating exceptional courage, calm judgment, and superior leadership ability, Sergeant Rowenhorst led his unit in securing the regimental objective and in completely beating and disorganizing the almost overwhelming enemy attacking forces, making it possible for the battalion soon to take up the attack.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (First Oak-Leaf Cluster) for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Stanley H. Hankins, O51100 (then major), Signal Corps, United States Army. 23 February to 9 April 1942.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers, warrant officer, and enlisted men:

Second Lieutenant Ernest Afed (O28891), Infantry, Philippine Army, as platoon commander, Company G, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army, on 29 January 1942, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Bataan, Philippine Islands. As he led his platoon toward the position of an infiltrated enemy force, the men suddenly came under heavy enemy machine-gun and small-arms fire. Immediately stopping the unit, he then began a reconnaissance, crawling through the heavy jungle, coming under repeated enemy fire as he penetrated the hostile lines, and returned with valuable information. Leading his platoon in the following attack, continuing to demonstrate outstanding leadership and determination, Lieutenant Afed contributed substantially to the success of his unit and to the disruption of the enemy advance in that important sector.

Corporal Colin C. Francis, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in the Southwest Pacific Area from January 1942 to September 1945. As radio operator and mechanic attached to the Royal Australian Naval Coastwatching party, which operated inside enemy-occupied Bougainville, Solomon Islands, he displayed exceptional technical skill and fortitude throughout a 16-month mission as he furnished regular, accurate reports of enemy sea, land, and air movements to Allied commands during a most critical phase of operations. Later, as a member of an Allied Intelligence Bureau Party, which landed by airplane behind enemy lines in the Sepik River area of New Guinea, he rendered invaluable and gallant assistance in prosecuting field intelligence and native guerrilla activities. Again, in the islands northwest of enemy-held New Ireland, he served with a coastwatching party which gained vital information for the Allied commands. Through his outstanding skill and courage and his resolute devotion to duty, despite trying jungle conditions and the continual risk of life, Corporal Francis made a noteworthy contribution to the continued effectiveness of intelligence activity in the Southwest Pacific Area.

Lieutenant (acting) John F. Lewitz, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Sanananda, New Guinea, from 2 to 19 January 1943. As forward observer of an Australian artillery unit in defense of the Huggins Perimeter, he repeatedly braved enemy fire to direct supporting artillery fire. During the operation, he volunteered to accompany two other men on a patrol to secure information concerning enemy strength and dispositions. While on this mission, the patrol encountered four enemy pillboxes and several snipers. Although pinned down by heavy enemy fire, Lieutenant Lewitz made maps and took azimuths of the enemy positions. He then led a withdrawal and brought the required information back to headquarters. Using this information, the troops broke through the enemy lines and captured one of the strongest enemy positions on Sanananda Track.

Captain John S. Milligan, Australian New Guinea Administrative Unit, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in Dutch New Guinea, on 15 March 1944. He volunteered to act as interpreter for a small reconnaissance patrol charged with locating a site for a proposed air strip on Maty Island, then believed to be held by the enemy. Equipped only with small arms, the patrol took off by seaplane, landed at the island before dawn, located potential sites for the air strip, took soil samples, tested areas of soft ground, and determined the most suitable location. Throughout the operation, Captain Milligan's knowledge of native languages and customs was of great service in securing from local inhabitants information not otherwise obtainable. After completing its reconnaissance, the patrol was recovered by seaplane and returned to its base, where it furnished information vitally important to future operations. Captain Milligan's courage in voluntarily exposing himself to danger contributed markedly to the success in the New Guinea Area.

Leading Aircraftsman David N. Moore, Royal Australian Air Force, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Manus Island, Admiralty Group, on 22 March 1944. A strong enemy counterattack had forced the 2d Brigade Combat Team, to which Leading Aircraftsman Moore was attached, to withdraw from the area north of Rossum Village. Upon resuming the attack, it was found that the enemy had mined the intervening area, making it impossible for tanks to move forward in support of American troops. Leading Aircraftsman Moore, a member of a bomb disposal unit, was charged with clearing the mine field. He crawled forward with a mine detector and, while in a prone position exposed to heavy enemy automatic fire from a distance of 50 yards, located and removed the mines by hand. Leading Aircraftsman Moore's heroic action in the face of grave danger opened a route for the tanks to move forward against the enemy.

Leading Aircraftsman Ernest C. Morrison, Royal Australian Air Force, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Manus Island, Admiralty Group, on 22 March 1944. A strong enemy counterattack had forced the troops to withdraw from the area north of Rossum Village. Upon resuming the attack, it was found that the enemy had mined the intervening area, making it impossible for tanks to move forward in support of the troops. Leading Aircraftsman Morrison, a member of a bomb disposal unit, charged with clearing the mine field, crawled forward with a mine detector and, while in a prone position exposed to heavy enemy automatic fire, located and removed the mines. Leading Aircraftsman Morrison's heroic action in the face of grave danger opened a route for the tanks to move forward against the enemy and contributed markedly to the success of operations on Manus Island.

Sergeant Allan F. Nixon (then corporal), Royal Australian Air Force, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Manus Island, Admiralty Group, on 22 March 1944. A strong enemy counterattack had forced the troops to withdraw from the area north of Rossum Village. Upon resuming the attack, it was found that the enemy had mined the intervening area, making it impossible for tanks to move forward in support of the troops. Sergeant Nixon, a member of a bomb disposal unit, was charged with clearing the mine field. He crawled forward with a mine detector and, while in a prone position exposed to heavy enemy automatic fire, located and removed the mines. Sergeant Nixon's heroic action in the face of grave danger opened a route for tanks to move forward against the enemy.

Lieutenant Colonel Keith E. O'Connell, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Sanananda, New Guinea, from 2 to 22 January 1943. As commander of an Australian field artillery regiment, which was supporting an American infantry regiment, he planned, coordinated, and effectively controlled the artillery fire of his unit. Under intense enemy fire, he frequently accompanied his troops into the front lines and personally directed operations. Colonel O'Connell's superior services in cooperating with American forces were of importance in destroying the strongest point of enemy resistance between Soputa and Sanananda Point, New Guinea.

First Lieutenant Zosimo J. Paredes, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement on Bataan, Philippine Islands, from 29 January to 12 February 1942, while commanding Company G, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army. Being directed to move his unit to the junction of Trails Nos. 5 and 7, and to attack an enemy force of unknown size advancing up the valley of Toul River, he led his men through heavy jungle and attacked with such skill and daring that the progress of the enemy was brought to a complete halt. The enemy was then held in place for nearly 20 hours until additional reinforcements could be brought from the rear. This successful operation was due, in a very considerable degree, to the skill, leadership, loyalty, and heroism in close contact with the enemy displayed by Lieutenant Paredes.

Leading Aircraftsman Harold J. Pares, Royal Australian Air Force, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Manus Island, Admiralty Group, on 22 March 1944. A strong enemy counterattack had forced the troops to withdraw from the area north of Rossum Village. Upon resuming the attack, it was found that the enemy had mined the intervening area, making it impossible for tanks to move forward in support of the troops. Leading Aircraftsman Pares, a member of a bomb disposal unit, charged with clearing the mine field, crawled forward with a mine detector and, while in prone position exposed to heavy enemy automatic fire, located and removed the mines. His heroic action in the face of grave danger opened a route for the tanks to move forward against the enemy and contributed markedly to the success of operations on Manus Island.

Corporal Coy L. Wade (Army serial No. 18038606) (then private), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, a member of the 59th Coast Artillery (AA) Regiment, displayed heroic action at Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on 4 May 1942. Immediately after bombs had fallen in his area, killing and wounding men of his battery, Corporal Wade, while under enemy artillery fire, left a place of shelter and aided and transported the wounded personnel to the hospital.

Warrant Officer Robert B. Waterson, Australian New Guinea Administrative Unit, Australian Imperial Forces, performed heroic service at Bougainville, Solomon Islands, from 20 to 29 September 1944. With six native police boys, he was attached to American forces on Bougainville, Solomon Islands, during American operations in the Reinitekessi River sector. He led reconnaissance patrols and collected much valuable information concerning enemy strength, dispositions, and equipment. Leading two combat patrols on successive missions, he made a thorough reconnaissance, which enabled American forces to ambush and kill 19 of the enemy. Warrant Officer Waterson's skill, efficiency, and aggressiveness contributed much to the success of operations in the Northern Solomons area.

Captain Sidney M. Wilson, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Sanananda Point, New Guinea, from 2 to 16 January 1943. As forward observer for an Australian artillery unit attached to an American infantry regiment, he repeatedly braved enemy fire to coordinate and direct his artillery. I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Corporal Ronald P. Allan, Australian New Guinea Administrative Unit, exhibited gallantry in action against an enemy of the United States near Selsie, Bougainville, Solomon Islands, on 31 October 1944. Accompanying a reconnaissance patrol with an American officer, a soldier, and two native guides, while crossing a wide stream, they were fired on by the enemy concealed on the far bank and the officer was wounded seriously. Ten yards from shore, and exposed to fire, Corporal Allan held his position and drew the enemy's fire until the wounded officer could be carried to cover. He then withdrew, and, though wounded, assisted in carrying the officer several hundred yards over rugged terrain to a more secure area. Sending a native boy for help, he administered aid to the wounded officer. Corporal Allan's brave actions in diverting hostile fire until the wounded officer could be removed reflect credit on himself and the military service.

Major General E. L. Bois, British Army, exhibited gallantry in action against an enemy of the United States during airborne landings in the European Theater on 24 March 1945.

Brigadier General K. Bourne, British Army, exhibited gallantry in action against an enemy of the United States during airborne landings in the European Theater on 24 March 1945.

Brigadier General S. J. L. Hill, British Army, exhibited gallantry in action against an enemy of the United States during airborne landings in the European Theater on 24 March 1945.

Captain Joseph J. Searson, Australian New Guinea Administrative Unit, exhibited gallantry in action in New Guinea on 4 July 1944. When an advanced base was needed for the location of important signal equipment, it was necessary to send a patrol to determine whether the area desired was occupied by the enemy. Captain Searson volunteered to act as interpreter and to control the native scouts on the reconnaissance patrol sent to Tarawai Island, north of But, New Guinea. When the group, consisting of six men, landed at dawn, it encountered about 20 enemy troops and engaged in a fire fight with them. Although his mission with the patrol was as interpreter only, he took a prominent part in the combat action and assisted in making a safe withdrawal to a waiting P1 boat. Through his gallantry in volunteering to accompany the patrol on a hazardous mission and his courage in combat with the enemy, Captain Searson contributed much to the securing of vital operational intelligence.

Major General T'ang Shou-Chin, Chinese Army in India, in the North Burma Campaign, displayed gallantry at Namyu, Kaihtik, and Namhkam, from 1 December 1944 to 15 January 1945. As commanding general of the 30th Division, Chinese Army in India, he, at the risk of his life, chose to direct operations in the front lines under heavy enemy fire and unusual hazards of terrain. By personal leadership and brilliant generalship, he inspired his troops in the speedy capture of and sweeping victories at Namyu, Kaihtik, and Nambkam. The courage and devotion to duty displayed by General T'ang reflect highest credit on himself and exemplify the highest traditions of the Chinese armed forces.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Marciano Achanzar, O28905, Philippine Army, a member of Company B, 11th Infantry, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 28 December 1941, at Nueva Ecija, Philippine Islands. Detailed to guard a bridge near Zaragoza, he moved his platoon along a stream valley under cover, from where he was able to attack an enemy column in flank. Although greatly outnumbered, his surprise attack threw the enemy into great confusion. Thereafter, he deployed his men and held the bridge against a strong counterattack until all friendly troops had passed over. He then supervised its destruction. Through his heroic leadership, Lieutenant Achanzar made possible the safe withdrawal of a truck column carrying supplies desperately needed by the American-Filipino forces.

Flight Lieutenant Harry Belcher, Royal Australian Air Force, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Manus Island, Admiralty Group, on 25 March 1944. He commanded a bomb disposal unit attached to an American cavalry brigade advancing near Lorengau Village. A narrow road, forming the only route of advance for tanks, was blocked by a mine field covered by heavy small-arms fire from well-entrenched enemy positions. Flight Lieutenant Belcher voluntarily crawled alone across the exposed road and located and removed the mines. By his intrepidity in the face of grave danger, he opened a route for a tank attack.

Sergeant Wallis W. Brown, Australian New Guinea Administrative Unit, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Bougainville, Solomon Islands, from 20 July to 3 August 1944. While attached to American forces, with native scouts, on two occasions he led patrols with marked success. He conducted one patrol deep into hostile territory to investigate enemy activity in the village of Sisivie. Moving along trails unknown to the enemy, the patrol took hostile troops completely by surprise and killed 20 of the enemy. Leading a second patrol to observe results of an air strike, Sergeant Brown discovered an occupied bivouac area, guided his patrol silently into firing position, and attacked and destroyed over 20 troops.

Captain (temporary) John E. Flynn, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Sanananda, New Guinea, on 19 January 1943. He acted as forward observer for Australian artillery supporting an American attack on a strongly organized enemy defensive position. With complete disregard for personal safety, he made his way through heavy enemy sniper fire to a point well in advance of the American lines. Although wounded, he remained at his post and so successfully coordinated and directed the artillery fire that enemy resistance was completely overcome. Captain Flynn's courageous leadership was a material factor in the success of the Sanananda operation.

Captain K. A. M. Hirschel, Australian Imperial Forces, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy near Sanananda, New Guinea, from 13 to 19 January 1943. As observer for an Australian artillery unit, he repeatedly moved in advance of the most forward American troops to direct an artillery barrage against enemy positions. Although subjected to machine-gun and sniper fire, he remained within 35 yards of forward enemy positions. By his coolness and daring, Captain Hirschel made a substantial contribution to the successful support of the Sanananda operations.

Upon discovering four enemy soldiers, he fired on the group, killing two and capturing the others. Through his courage and devotion to duty, Sergeant Bautista made a noteworthy contribution to the heroic defense of Bataan.

Second Lieutenant Danio Becasen, Infantry, Philippine Army, commanding Company E, 2d Battalion, 66th Infantry, Philippine Army, on 10 July 1945, displayed gallantry in action in the Philippine Islands. Directing an attack against the enemy strongly entrenched in concrete pillboxes, he moved from his position and, in several lone attacks on the hostile placements, eliminated a strong enemy machine-gun nest. Severely wounded, as he continued his attacks, he returned to his fox hole amid the heavy hostile fire and, refusing medical attention, continued to direct the assault which occupied and firmly secured the important ridge. Lieutenant Becasen's outstanding initiative and leadership reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant Eugene J. Bigda (Army serial No. 32017934) (then staff sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, as squad leader in Company B, 106th Infantry Regiment, on 28 May 1945, performed extraordinary heroism in action at Onna Taka, Okinawa, when he destroyed five of the enemy who had infiltrated behind his company and set up a position blocking its supply route. Moving along a narrow ridge until opposite the enemy machine-gun position on a second ridge, he then turned down into the precipitous gulch between them. Taking over an hour, he finally reached the floor of the ravine and started up the other side, climbing an almost perpendicular slope, working his way up in a driving rain which made the cliff a mass of slippery, sticky mud. Slipping and falling at almost every step, literally pulling himself up the side of the cliff by weeds and bush roots, he finally reached the top. Raising his head over the edge and immediately finding himself staring straight into the muzzle of the Japanese gun, Sergeant Bigda ducked below the ridge just as the enemy gunners opened fire. Hanging to the cliff with one hand, desperately digging a toe hold, he took grenades from his pocket with the other hand, pulled the pins with his teeth, and lobbed them over the crest into the enemy position one after another, until the gun was silenced and the enemy killed. Eliminating this dangerous enemy position by his heroic and determined action, Sergeant Bigda upheld the highest traditions of the military service.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provision of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1919 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Frederick L. Anderson, Jr., O17175, United States Army. June 1945 to August 1947.

III. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Harold D. Wilson, O1326437, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 274th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in France on 3 March 1945. During the attack on Styring-Wendel, as executive officer, he was with the forward element of his company. Although wounded in the head, and after losing two platoon leaders and numerous noncommissioned officers, he led his men forward through heavy artillery, mortar, machine-gun, and small-arms fire to knock out two well-fortified pillboxes and to clear the enemy from fortified buildings. He continuously exposed himself to enemy fire in order to encourage and lead his men to safety in buildings. Lieutenant Wilson was shot and killed by an enemy sniper.

IV. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers, enlisted men, and individual:

Technical Sergeant Eugene J. Bigda (Army serial No. 32017934) (then staff sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, as squad leader in Company B, 106th Infantry Regiment, on 21 April 1945, displayed gallantry in action near Iso Village, Okinawa. While attempting to cross a small ridge in its line of advance, his company was halted by enemy fire from a position which could not be destroyed by rifle or machine-gun fire. Sergeant Bigda crawled forward alone to the crest of the ridge, made a quick check of the enemy position, then crawled back to his platoon. Quickly gathering several grenades, he again worked his way to the crest and, reaching it, charged the enemy position. Throwing his grenades into the openings, he accounted for eight of the enemy and destroyed the gun. Demonstrating great personal courage in his lone assault under concentrated hostile fire, Sergeant Bigda completely eliminated a strong enemy position and facilitated the company's advance.

Captain John W. Brokaw, O1291772 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 184th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on Okinawa Shima on 11 April 1945. Company F, which he commanded, was ordered to attack a group of hills. As the attack started, the enemy immediately covered the area with intense artillery, mortar, and small-arms fire. When all other officers were either killed or wounded, Captain Brokaw took personal charge of the 3d Platoon and led it in an attack against the key emplacement on the objective. He then returned to his other platoons, reorganized them under enemy fire, and led them in an assault which secured the objective. Twice again he led forward platoons which had been pinned down by determined enemy opposition. The determination of their leader to push on was instilled into the men who followed him in an assault of such fury that the enemy broke and ran. The successful completion of the attack was due to the personal courage and iron will of Captain Brokaw.

Captain Karel Hora, Czechoslovakian Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy while serving with a French Commando from 6 to 13 April 1945. The Commando, assigned to an American unit, penetrated the enemy lines, ascertained the disposition of the German forces, captured many prisoners, and returned with important information. Captain Hora then acted as guide for the American unit in its attack on this sector. His heroic services were of great assistance to the Ninth United States Army.

Henry L. Laussucq, civilian employee of the United States Government, from 20 March to 11 September 1944, having been infiltrated into France, successfully established a number of safe hideouts for use as meeting places for secret agents and leaders of the French underground. After accomplishing this mission, Mr. Laussucq, acting on his own initiative, rendered valuable service in the organization of resistance forces and in the gathering and supplying of data and information which was of great value to the Allied cause. The actions of Mr. Laussucq on this dangerous mission reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Colonel Tseng Chi, Chinese Army, commanded the 89th Regiment, 30th Division, Chinese Army, in India. On 9 February 1945, despite a painful wound, he gallantly continued to lead his regiment in repulsing fierce attacks launched by a superior Japanese force at Namhpakka, Burma. During this action a great many of the enemy were killed and much material was captured. The courage and leadership displayed by Colonel Tseng reflect great credit on himself and the Chinese armed forces.

Colonel Yang I, Infantry, Chinese Army in India, displayed gallantry in battle during December 1944 and January 1945. Serving as a regimental commander, he personally led two of his battalions in a frontal attack on a strongly entrenched enemy force of two regiments at Namyu. After a continuous 5-day struggle, his command reduced that stronghold, killing more than 400 of the enemy. Subsequent to the capture of Kaihtik, at the risk of his life, he again personally led his troops in a series of forced marches toward Mong-Wing to clear up the points of enemy resistance along the north bank of the Shweli River and to cover the river crossing of another regiment. By his personal leadership, Colonel Yang inspired his troops in the achievement of these victories, thereby reflecting great credit on himself and the Chinese armed forces.

II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major William H. Greer, O323944 (then captain), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the Service Company, 41st Armored Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in the vicinity of Irxleben, Germany, on the night of 12–13 April 1945. From his unit's location on the left rear of the main body of Combat Command R, 2d Armored Division, Major Greer observed the formation of an enemy attack in Irxleben, just prior to dark. Realizing that a successful attack by the enemy would cut off and probably destroy the gas, oil, food, and ammunition of the main body, and would greatly hinder the planned attack in Madgeburg by Combat Command A, 2d Armored Division, Major Greer organized, with the men he had available, and personally led a counterattack which was successful in pushing back the enemy. He inspired his men, who were, in the main, cooks, drivers, mechanics, and clerks, by being at all times at the head of the advance, personally directing all movement and fire. Major Greer's initiative, leadership, and courage were an inspiration to the entire command and his actions exemplified the best tradition of the military service.
