I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following named officer:

Major General William H. Draper, Jr., O148333, Army of the United States. May 1945 to August 1947.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Captain Richard M. Blackburn, O1323903 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action in the vicinity of Dinard, France, during the period 13 to 15 August 1944. Although painfully wounded by enemy action, which killed his company commander and disorganized the company, he refused evacuation, assumed command, rallied his men, and led them in an attack through heavy enemy fortifications to capture all company objectives. Captain Blackburn's heroism in continuing despite his wounds inspired his company and contributed to the success of the offensive.

Private First Class John F. Camien, Jr. (Army serial No. 12123820), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 502d Parachute Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry and heroic action against the enemy near St. Martin de Varreville, France, on 6 June 1944. After landing by parachute, he assembled with others and approached the village where they were met by rifle fire from a house. While others gave protective fire, Private Camien opened the door of the house and threw a grenade, killing four Germans and capturing two. He then continued to several other houses, where several more Germans were killed and many captured. Private Camien's efforts were a distinct contribution to the success of his regiment in combat and an inspiration to his comrades.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (Sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence A. Spilman, O20785, Air Corps, United States Army. June 1944 to June 1947. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Lieutenant Colonel Spilman for service from December 1944 to March 1946.)

Colonel Ernest R. Swanson, O279002 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, Army of the United States. December 1941 to June 1943.

Lieutenant Colonel Michael J. Wozney, O308754, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States. December 1941 to July 1947.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel John H. Stokes, Jr., O12181 (then brigadier general), General Staff Corps (Infantry), United States Army. September 1944 to May 1945.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, Bul. 40, WD, 1942), and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, Bul. 54, WD, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Milciades Contreras, Chilean Army. 1943 to 1948.

V. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

First Lieutenant Carey J. Land, AOS17050, United States Air Force, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, Fifth Air Force, distinguished himself by an outstanding act of heroism on 2 February 1948 at Nagoya, Japan. Upon being awakened by his gardener and informed that a neighboring house was afire, Lieutenant Land rushed to the burning house in fear that a baby was trapped in the conflagration. An excited Japanese maid tried to explain that the baby was not in the house, but could not express herself in English. Her intense excitement was construed to mean that the baby was still in the house. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Lieutenant Land plunged into the blazing house and groped his way to the baby's room. After a vain search he realized that the baby was safe. He then turned his attention to salvaging the household belongings by throwing everything possible out of the window. Although three Japanese attempted to enter the house and were driven back because of the intense heat, Lieutenant Land remained and continued to salvage what he could until forced out of the house when the ceiling collapsed, followed by an explosion of undetermined origin.

Staff Sergeant James J. Walsh (Army Serial No. RA19189364), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of the 36th Engineer Base Depot Company, Adak, Alaska, distinguished himself by heroism on 14 March 1948. When the boat in which Sergeant Donald L. Hilde, a fellow soldier and member of the company, was riding in Andrews Lagoon overturned about 200 feet from shore, Sergeant Walsh stripped off his outer clothes and, without regard for his safety, unhesitatingly jumped into the ice cold water and swam toward Sergeant Hilde to rescue him. Sergeant Hilde disappeared before Sergeant Walsh could reach him. Sergeant Walsh returned to shore completely exhausted and suffering from exposure. His heroic action nearly cost his life.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant William F. Hobbs (Army serial No. 34140051), Infantry, Army of the United States. July to November 1944.

VII.—BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Captain Bobby H. Hale, O2037053 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States. 8 August to 22 September 1945.

Captain Reuben Rapaport, O1689011, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. January to March 1944.

Sergeant Sidney J. Stewart (Army serial No. 38021621), Medical Department, Army of the United States. 14 and 15 December 1944.

VIII.—BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Rufino D. Agcaoili, O34660 (then third lieutenant), Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company L, 3d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement at Moron Point, Bataan, on 19 January 1942. When superior enemy forces broke through the outposts of his platoon, causing panic and disorder among the troops, Lieutenant Agcaoili left his foxhole and, without cover, ran the entire length of his sector, encouraging his men in such manner that they rallied and successfully held their position against all assaults.

Technician Fifth Grade Metro Bohaczyk (Army serial No. 33117361), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 12th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, during the Normandy invasion, on 13 June 1944. When an enemy counterattack overran and captured the battalion ammunition dump, an urgent call was relayed for a resupply. A jeep and trailer were loaded quickly and Technician Bohaczyk volunteered to deliver it. The only road to the battalion was being constantly shelled and fired on by small arms, as it was under direct enemy observation. Technician Bohaczyk, never faltering, drove this vehicle through the terrific fire to its destination. The resupply of ammunition staved off the attack and the battalion was able to go on the offensive. Technician Bohaczyk's courage was an inspiration to his comrades.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, Bul. 3, WD, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain John B. Metz, O1307280 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company I, 22d Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement near Konigsbafen, Germany, on 5 April 1945. When his company was given the mission of clearing a ridge of enemy elements, Captain Metz volunteered to lead his platoon in a frontal assault on the entrenched enemy. He successfully led the way up the hill, at times crawling into the direct fire of the enemy. After reaching the summit, he quickly reorganized the remnants of his platoon into a holding force until reinforced by the remainder of his company. Captain Metz's efforts contributed greatly to the general advance of the 22d Infantry Regiment.

IX. COMMENDATION RIBBON.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 17.1, AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Dolliver, Jr.*, O1323695, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 105th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy at Saipan on 21 June 1944. While moving through heavily wooded valleys, the 1st Battalion was met with enemy machine-gun fire. Lieutenant Dolliver quickly organized a squad of men and led them to the top and rear of the enemy position. After his squad was wiped out, he continued to creep and crawl closer to the enemy, knocking out two enemy machine-gun emplacements with hand grenades and rifle fire and disorganizing the remainder of the enemy. His efforts enabled the battalion to move forward and set up a defensive perimeter before dark. Lieutenant Dolliver's courageous leadership was an inspiration to his men.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bul. 43, WD, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Captain Stanley R. Navas, O412338 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 504th Parachute Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action on the night of 27 February 1944 in the vicinity of Sessano Italy. Captain Navas led a combat raid of 30 men behind the enemy lines with the mission of capturing or killing the occupants of two farm houses who were presumably ranking German officers. Although he was hit by an enemy grenade which severed his left arm, Captain Navas successfully completed his mission, destroying an enemy observation post, two machine gun emplacements, and an estimated 20 Germans killed. The leadership and courage of Captain Navas are worthy of great praise.

III. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1923 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Private Billy E. Bolinger (Army serial No. RA14259363), Infantry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic actions on 17 June 1948 at Chicago, Illinois. While standing on the Madison Street Bridge over the Chicago River, he saw a woman climb over the rail and jump into the river. Private Bolinger immediately ran to the end of the bridge, attracting the attention of the bridgetender, climbed a fence, and dropped to the ground below, a distance of 18 feet. Removing his shirt and shoes, he dived into the water, swam to the woman, who was making no attempt to save herself, and managed to place her in a life preserver which had been thrown to her. He then grabbed a line, thrown by the bridgetender, and was pulled ashore, where the would-be suicide was revived. Private Bolinger's actions brought great credit on himself and the military service.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 4 October 1941, to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Don G. Jeffers (Army Serial No. AF6961252) United States Air Force (then private, Cavalry, United States Army), displayed heroism during the burning of a gasoline truck near Rocky Face, Georgia, on 22 May 1941. When the service troop of the Sixth Cavalry came to a halt on a hill on the highway while participating in Regimental Field exercise, a truck containing about 600 gallons of gasoline in metal containers, driven by Sergeant Jeffers, suddenly burst into flames, apparently caused by a friction spark from the metal cans in the body of the truck. Sergeant Jeffers, and others, immediately seized fire extinguishers and attempted to put the fire out, however, upon the flames gaining headway and destroying the brake linings of the truck, allowing it to start rolling down the hill, Sergeant Jeffers, with complete disregard for his safety, leaped into the flaming truck and succeeded in bringing it to a halt, preventing it from rolling into a filling station located at the foot of the hill, and with the possible attendant injury, or loss of life of bystanders. The heroism displayed by Sergeant Jeffers on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with the enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 15 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel John M. Talbot, O22289 (then captain), Medical Corps, United States Army, displayed heroism in extricating an enlisted man from an overturned airplane on 9 December 1940, at Clear Lake, California. When an OA-9 airplane in which Colonel Talbot was on duty as flight surgeon went out of control, crashed, and overturned in the lake about 1½ miles from shore, Colonel Talbot, finding himself in an upside down position suspended by his safety belt, observed that a man was lying unconscious below him crosswise of the fuselage and in grave danger of drowning. With utter disregard for his safety, in the face of rushing water and imminent sinking of the airplane, Colonel Talbot immediately unfastened his safety belt, removed the unconscious man from the submerged cabin, and brought him to the surface of the water, undoubtedly saving his life. Although suffering from immersion and shock, with great presence of mind Colonel Talbot clambered about administering first aid to the badly wounded crew members. Fearing immediate sinking of the airplane, he then attempted to brave the cold water and swim ashore for help, but becoming exhausted, was forced to return to the airplane.

4. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bul. 8, WD, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated was awarded by the War Department, on 11 October 1941, to the following-named officer:

Colonel Edgar J. Tulley, O6036 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, displayed heroism in saving the lives of his Army and civilian companions after an accident in the China Sea off the west coast of Bataan, near Nagbalete Point, Philippine Islands, on 9 March 1941. While a group of officers and men were returning from a fishing trip, the banca in which they were riding suddenly overturned, throwing the entire group into the sea about 100 yards off shore in shark and barracuda-infested waters. All helped one another to safety on the overturned banca and, by paddling with their hands, managed to bring the banca within 200 feet off shore, when it was caught in a cross-current and gradually drew out to sea. Realizing their danger, Colonel Tulley and an enlisted man, with utter disregard for their safety, swam ashore and with great difficulty reached the Signal Corps camp in Balaan, about 2 hours after the accident. Upon the Signal Corps reporting the accident to Fort Mills, Philippine Islands, a motor launch was immediately dispatched and rescued the remaining members of the group. The heroism displayed by Colonel Tulley on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Sergeant Wallace C. Cooley (Army serial No. 14146024) (then private first class), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. He was among the first persons at the scene of the crash and, although exhausted from running three-quarters of a mile, without hesitation plunged into the iceberg-filled water. With utter disregard for his safety, he swam several hundred feet to the almost sunken AT-6 aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperature of the water and air for an extended period of time while assisting in releasing the injured pilot from the cockpit and seeing him safely to shore. Through his action, the life of the pilot, endangered by injuries and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Cooley brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Master Sergeant Grover D. Kimball (Army serial No. 38565758), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Giebelstadt, Germany, on 9 July 1947. Upon witnessing a crash landing of a B-29 aircraft and realizing that some of the crew were trapped, he heroically and voluntarily, at the risk of his life, entered the wreckage, despite the imminent possibility of explosion because of leaking gasoline. His efforts resulted in the rescue of several of the trapped men who were unable to extricate themselves and reflect great credit on Sergeant Kimball and the military service.

First Lieutenant Francis J. Lee, O2100172 (then second lieutenant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he plunged into the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the almost sunken AT-6 aircraft. He was the second person to reach the aircraft and voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperatures of the water and air for an extended period of time while releasing the injured pilot from the cockpit and seeing him carried to shore. Through his actions, the life of the pilot, endangered by injuries and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Lieutenant Lee brought great credit to himself and the military service.

First Lieutenant James O. O'Neal, O839130, Air Corps, Army of the United States, traffic officer of the 1385th Army Air Forces Base Unit, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he swam several hundred feet in the iceberg-filled water, carrying a fire ax, to the almost completely sunken AT-6 aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the freezing temperatures of the water and air for an extended period of time while assisting in the release of the injured pilot from the cockpit and then carried him to shore. Through his action, the life of the pilot, endangered by injury and drowning, was saved, and by this act of selfless courage, Lieutenant O'Neal brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant Donald E. Smith (Army serial No. 13208836), Air Corps, Army of the United States, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he entered the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the aircraft. He voluntarily exposed himself to the icy water and freezing temperature for an extended period of time during the rescue of the pilot. He remained in the fjord until the last person was on shore, standing by to give assistance wherever needed. Through his action, casualties from shock and drowning were prevented, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Smith brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant James D. Turner (AF13204518) (then private first class), United States Air Force, a member of the 7767th Special Service Band, displayed heroism at the risk of his life at Assmannshausen, Germany, on 6 February 1948. Seeing a young girl suddenly disappear in the dark into the Rhine River, he quickly located her with a flashlight and dived fully clothed into the river. Guided only by the girl's screams, he swam to her and, although exhausted by his efforts to keep the struggling girl afloat and battling against the swift current, towed her to safety at the edge of the river. Sergeant Turner's personal courage and quick action reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General Charles D. Herron, O777, United States Army. February 1945 to December 1946.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Santiago A. Berbano, O43241, Corps of Engineers, Philippine Army, a member of the 2d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in the Pilar-Bagac Road Sector, Bataan, on 28 March 1942. When units on his right and left retreated, Lieutenant Berbano, commanding the outpost unit of the 2d Battalion, stuck to his post and resisted the enemy. With utter disregard for personal safety in the face of superior fire and a greater number of men, he forcefully prevented the members of his unit from withdrawing, staged a stiff fight, and successfully prevented the advance of the enemy.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Roland A. Campbell, O53172, Air Corps, United States Army. July 1944 to September 1945.

Colonel Merian C. Cooper, O163054, Air Corps, Army of the United States. July to December 1942.

Lieutenant Colonel John W. Hansborough, O18376, Field Artillery, United States Army. January to September 1943.

Colonel Joseph S. Hoover, AO907184 (then lieutenant colonel), United States Air Force. December 1944 to July 1948.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Albert B. Neske, O272353, Air Corps, Army of the United States. September 1943 to August 1945.

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with the enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Technical Sergeant Thomas M. Crews (Army serial No. 14129408) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by voluntarily risking his life near Karlsruhe, Germany, on 1 November 1945. After escaping from a crashed and burning aircraft, heroically disregarding his safety, Sergeant Crews went to the aid of a seriously injured comrade and succeeded in removing him to safety. He then reentered the airplane in an attempt to rescue other injured personnel and in so doing suffered severe burns. By this act, so bravely and unhesitatingly performed, Sergeant Crews saved a fellow airman from certain death and brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Sergeant Howard M. Davis (Army serial No. 17057995) (then corporal), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Squadron A, 1385th Army Air Forces Base Unit, on 4 April 1947, displayed heroic conduct at the scene of an airplane crash in the fjord at Narsarssuak, Greenland. With utter disregard for his safety, he entered the iceberg-filled water and swam several hundred feet to the aircraft. Sergeant Davis voluntarily exposed himself to the icy water and freezing temperature of the air for an extended period of time during the rescue of the pilot and remained in the fjord until the last person was on shore, standing by to give assistance wherever needed. Through his action, casualties from shock and drowning were prevented, and by this act of selfless courage, Sergeant Davis brought great credit to himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Jesse L. Hinely (Army serial No. 34268126), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed remarkable heroism, on 1 August 1943, in contributing to the rescue of two Army officers from certain death in a wrecked and flaming airplane, from which he had escaped. With complete disregard for his safety, he and First Lieutenant Lloyd W. Reese, Jr., voluntarily risked their lives by reapproaching the aircraft and rescuing First Lieutenant Walter M. Sorensen and First Lieutenant Robert R. Snyder, who were trapped in the pilot's compartment. Without this heroic action displayed by Sergeant Hinely, the two officers would have perished in the flaming wreck.

Master Sergeant Rufus N. Lindsey (Army serial No. 6375025), Air Corps, United States Army, while a member of 2518th Army Air Forces Base Unit, Enid Army Air Field, Enid, Oklahoma, distinguished himself by heroism at the voluntary risk of his life. He was leaving his home at Jefferson, Oklahoma, on the morning of 9 December 1946, for duty at the Army air base when he noticed his neighbor's house afire. With total disregard for his safety, Sergeant Lindsey helped the father remove two children from the burning building and tried to save a third child, but the opening of a door in the building caused a blast of flames that rendered this second brave attempt to save life unsuccessful. Sergeant Lindsey's heroism is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service.

Chaplain (colonel) Edward R. Martin, O16358, Corps of Chaplains, United States Army, while serving as port chaplain at the New York Port of Embarkation, Brooklyn, New York, on 26 April 1948, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life during an explosion and fire at the Kings County Lighting Works, Brooklyn, New York. Chaplain Martin's outstanding achievement on a mission of mercy, in the rescue of trapped and seriously injured persons and administering to their spiritual and physical needs during a period of grave emergency, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army.

Chaplain (major) Albert W. Nickel, 0408559, Corps of Chaplains, Army of the United States, while serving as assistant port chaplain at the New York Port of Embarkation, on 26 April 1948, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life during an explosion and fire at Kings County Lighting Works, Brooklyn, New York. Chaplain Nickel's outstanding achievement on a mission of mercy, which included the rescue of trapped and seriously injured persons and administering to their spiritual and physical needs during a period of grave emergency, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Private Thomas E. Rutherford (Army serial No. RA19258676), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the Guard Company, Headquarters and Service Group, General Headquarters, Far East Command, displayed heroism on 23 October 1948 at Tokyo, Japan. While engaged in directing traffic and dispersing spectators at the scene of a fire in the Shimbashi area, Private Rutherford performed heroic action in rescuing one of his comrades. The fire spread rapidly among the closely constructed frame structures, making approach difficult. Upon learning that a soldier was still in one of the burning buildings, Private Rutherford, without regard for his personal safety, rushed into the building, located the then unconscious soldier, and carried him to safety. His brave actions reflect distinct credit on the military service and are highly commendable.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Virgilio B. Blando, Infantry, Philippine Army. August 1944 to April 1945.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Colonel Merian C. Cooper, O163054, Air Corps, Army of the United States. 29 April 1942.

Major James A. Kerr, O460639, Air Corps, Army of the United States. 22 December 1943 to 29 February 1944.

Captain Stephen J. Gifford, Jr., O1107975, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, as company commander, Company C, 149th Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by heroic achievement, on 6 June 1944, during the landings in France at Omaha Beach, near St. Laurent, Normandy. To enable his troop to perform their mission, it was necessary to eliminate enemy fire for which no infantry units were then available. Captain Gifford organized and led an assault party on a flanking attack which materially assisted the infantry approaching from the other flank in taking this position. His courageous action is highly commendable.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Second Lieutenant Filomon C. Daviera, O42495, Infantry, Philippine Army, a member of Company A, 51st Engineer Combat Battalion, 51st Division, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in Bataan on 5 February 1942. During the heavy defensive fighting in the Pilar-Bagac sector, Lieutenant Daviera conducted himself with conspicuous courage and disregard for personal safety while advancing in a counterattack, until severely wounded by Japanese trench mortar fire.

Staff Sergeant William E. Hobbs (Army serial No. 37236702), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while serving as tail gunner of a B-17 aircraft on a heavy bombardment mission to Brunswick, Germany, on 11 January 1944. He was seriously wounded in both arms early in the action. Although suffering great pain and becoming weak from loss of blood, he continued firing at the enemy fighters, destroyed one enemy aircraft (ME. 109), which was confirmed by the radio operator, warded off many enemy attacks, and continued firing the tail guns until the pilot gave the order to "bail out." The outstanding courage and determination to destroy the enemy displayed by Sergeant Hobbs on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Technical Sergeant Charles H. Keaten (Army serial No. 6971758) (then staff sergeant), Air Corps, United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 5 September 1944, as aerial photographer on a B-17 type aircraft during an operational mission to Budapest, Hungary. After the bomb load had been released, Sergeant Keaten crawled into an open bomb bay to release an armed bomb which had been only partially released and was hanging nose down, endangering the aircraft and the lives of the crew members. Although wounded by flak while engaged in this precarious task and without a parachute or oxygen, he continued his efforts until successful in releasing the bomb. The outstanding courage and fortitude displayed by Sergeant Keaten reflect great credit on himself and the United States military service.

Sergeant Charles J. Mott (Army serial No. 36733017), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of the 333d Bombardment Squadron, displayed gallantry in action near Kiel, Germany, on 11 April 1944. Although he had sustained severe injuries when the airplane of which he was a crew member was forced to crash-land as a result of enemy action, he remained in the furiously burning aircraft until he found and removed the first-aid kit. He then reentered the airplane and released and carried to safety the unconscious, wounded pilot. Refusing treatment for his injuries, Sergeant Mott administered first aid to the wounded until he was captured.

Lieutenant Colonel Eustacio D. Orobia (then captain), Philippine Air Force, displayed gallantry in action, on 25 January 1942, at Bataan, Philippine Islands. As executive officer of the 1st Provisional Infantry Battalion, Philippine Army Air Corps, he was most aggressive in pushing the lines forward and, by his display of courage and leadership, was able to coordinate the efforts of the Air Force enlisted men in advancing through the thick underbrush. Lieutenant Orobia's leadership was a source of inspiration to the men of the Air Force, who fought as infantrymen.

Staff Sergeant Robert L. Reed (Army serial No. 39551544), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while serving as tail gunner on a B-17 aircraft during a heavy bombardment mission to Brunswick, Germany, on 10 February 1944. When his aircraft was attacked by 15 to 20 FW 190's over the Zuider Zee, Sergeant Reed received penetrating wounds in both arms and his oxygen system was shot out. Although suffering great pain and without sufficient oxygen, he stayed at his tail guns and destroyed one enemy aircraft and probably destroyed another. Only when the situation became hopeless and the pilot gave the order to "bail out" did Sergeant Reed cease firing. He painfully dragged himself to the rear escape hatch and bailed out. The outstanding courage and determination to destroy the enemy shown by Sergeant Reed on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

II. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel Jahn H. Clayton, O233787 (then major), Air Corps, Army of the United States. September 1943 to March 1943.

Lieutenant Colonel William H. Frederick, Jr., O21262, Air Corps, United States Army. January 1942 to September 1944. (This award supersedes the award of the Commendation Ribbon to Lieutenant Colonel Frederick for service during the same period.)

Colonel Robert J. Goewey, O41801 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, United States Army. March 1942 to July 1944.

Colonel Norman J. McGowan, O21778 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, United States Army. August 1943 to November 1944.

Lieutenant Colonel Henry J. Taylor, O51428, Air Corps, United States Army. December 1941 to March 1947. (This award supersedes the award of the Commendation Ribbon to Lieutenant Colonel Taylor for service from 1 June 1941 to 20 April 1946.)

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Arthur S. Champeny, O8264, Infantry, United States Army. October 1945 to December 1947.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Brigadier General Carlos Iribar, Uruguayan Army. July 1945 to May 1949.

Major General Ramon Canas Montalva, Chilean Army. January 1947 to May 1949.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. V. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following units are cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 17th Infantry Regiment and the following attached units:

Company A, 767th Tank Battalion;

91st Chemical Company (less 1st and 3d Platoons);

Company A, 7th Medical Battalion; and

Company A, 13th Engineer Battalion,

are cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Leyte, Philippine Islands, during the period 23 to 30 October 1944. On 23 October, the regiment launched an attack that secured the barrios of Julita, Tanganon, San Pablo, and the vital airfield at San Pablo. Continuing the attack against fanatical resistance, the combat team, with its flanks exposed, advanced on Dagami. Approaching the town, violent and bitter resistance was encountered in the "Battle of the Stone Bridge." This enemy position dominating and guarding the approaches to Dagami consisted of numerous pillboxes fully manned, protected by tank traps, mines, and rice paddies. Driving forward, the battalions, by aggressive and courageous fighting, overcame this last major obstacle protecting the town. In one of the hardest fought and bloodiest actions of the Leyte campaign, the regiment and its attached units annihilated elements of three enemy regiments, captured two airfields, and secured the corps beachhead line in its zone. The invincible fighting spirit and outstanding achievements of the 17th Infantry Regiment and attached units were major contributions to the success of the Leyte campaign and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously, to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Thomas J. Tubman, O827994, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy on 24 March 1945. While flying as pilot of a B-17-type aircraft on a combat mission to Berlin, Germany, Lieutenant Tubman skillfully maneuvered his burning aircraft in level flight in order that his crew might escape. In delaying his departure from the flaming airplane until first aid had been given to a wounded crew member, Lieutenant Tubman sacrificed his own chance for safety and was killed when the aircraft exploded. The technical skill, superior leadership, and heroic conduct displayed by Lieutenant Tubman reflect great credit on himself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Second Lieutenant Thomas Speers, O890172, Infantry, Army of the United States, attached to Company C, 43d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action, on 15 January 1942, in Bataan, Philippine Islands. When the company commander was killed, Lieutenant Speers took command and led a counterattack which eliminated an enemy penetration in the main line of resistance. Although killed in the action, Lieutenant Speers' bravery was an inspiration to the entire regiment.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. Major Henry H. Hower, O42904, Air Corps, United States Army, January 1943 to June 1945.

IV. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit, in the Degree of Commander, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Juarez do Nascimento Fernandes Tavora, Brazilian Army, January 1944 to August 1948.

V. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted men:

Sergeant Denny B. Cantrell (Army serial No. 33531978), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism at Andrews Field, Washington, D. C., on 8 January 1947. While assisting in the inspection of an aviation gasoline refueling trailer, he observed a soldier, who was attempting to start the pump motor, become enveloped in flames that ignited the entire rear end of the trailer. With the whole unit in danger of explosion and the victim on fire, Sergeant Cantrell caught the burning man, threw him to the ground, extinguished the flames, and moved him to a place of safety. Sergeant Cantrell's heroic actions were highly commendable.

Sergeant Cloyd M. Claar (AF37882467) (then corporal), United States Air Force, displayed heroism, on 20 September 1947, at Boca Raton Army Air Field, Florida. When his servicing unit was transferring gasoline from a tank truck to supply drums, the gasoline ignited, set fire to the area and enveloped a soldier in the flames. With total disregard for his safety, Sergeant Claar rushed to his comrade, smothered the fire, and dragged him to safety. Seizing a knife, he then cut the gas hose, jumped into the truck, and drove it from the area. The quick thinking and courageous actions of Corporal Claar were highly commendable.

Private First Class Henry F. Janczak (Army serial No. 42199599), Air Corps, Army of the United States, a member of Squadron A, 2622d Army Air Force Base Unit, Mather Field, California, displayed heroism involving voluntary risk of life near Fair Oaks, California, on 4 July 1946. Upon hearing the screams of a boy who was attempting to swim the swift American River, Private Janczak, although not an expert swimmer, plunged into the stream and swam to his rescue. After reaching the victim, he was forced to break a strangle hold before he could tow the boy to shore. The heroic actions of Private Janczak reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Technical Sergeant Vincent J. Marino (Army serial No. 32012785), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism in rescuing a mother and two children from a burning building, on 4 October 1945, at Port Washington, New York. While on furlough, Sergeant Marino observed a fire in a home. He and another man entered the flaming house and discovered the mother in flaming clothing. He extinguished the burning clothes and aided the mother and one child to reach safety. Then learning that another child was in the building, Sergeant Marino reentered the house and, led by her cries, found the child on fire in the hall on the second floor. After extinguishing the flames enveloping the child, Sergeant Marino found his escape cut off. Fighting the mounting flames and dense smoke, he made his way to a window, where he dropped the child to a man waiting below. He then jumped out of the window and, upon landing, suffered lacerations of the face. Disregarding his injury, Sergeant Marino aided the physician in treating the three severely burned persons. His heroic actions in the face of grave personal danger were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Armed Forces.

Sergeant Marshall E. Nichols (Army serial No. RA15100037), Transportation Corps, United States Army, a member of Headquarters Company, 55th Transportation Medium Port, displayed initiative and courageous action on 8 April 1949 at Honolulu, Hawaii. While checking the level of a 4,000-gallon tank trailer delivering gasoline to an underground storage tank, an explosion and fire occurred, igniting the tanker and Sergeant Nichols' clothes. Disregarding the pain of his burns, he extinguished his flaming clothes, ran to the burning vehicle, and drove it from the scene of the explosion. He then dismounted and assisted in putting out the fire. Sergeant Nichols' courageous actions were highly commendable.

Lieutenant Colonel Clifford A. Sheldon O38615 (then first lieutenant), Judge Advocate General's Department, United States Army, displayed heroism, on 22 February 1943, at Lisbon, Portugal. When the airplane in which he was a passenger crashed in the harbor and broke in two, he forced his way through a window and, although injured in the crash, helped two others to escape. He then pulled a seriously injured woman onto the sinking airplane. Colonel Sheldon's courageous acts were highly commendable.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major Don Quinn, O912640 (then captain), Air Corps, Army of the United States. 15 September to 28 October 1944.

VII. COMMENDATION RIBBON.—1. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 17.1, AR 600-45, the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted men:

Captain Chester C. Aavall, O254724, Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States. November 1946 to March 1949.

Recruit Jesse O. Butts (Army serial No. RA38728930), Transportation Corps, United States Army. October 1948 to April 1949.

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 290-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 19th Infantry Regiment is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in action on Mindanao, Philippine Islands, during the period 29 April to 30 June 1945. After landing on the west coast at Parang and completing a 14-mile advance across the jungle terrain of the island in 17 days, the regiment reached Davao Gulf and prepared to close with the main enemy defenses. On 3 May, it turned north, made an assault crossing of the Davao River, and seized the strategic city of Davao. Expanding its hold on the city, the regiment again drove north to establish contact with guerrilla forces at the head of the gulf, then pushed westward along the Davao River to crush the Sacred Hill—Mandog defense line. The enemy in the Mandog area resisted every attack from well-fortified positions, but the battalions, by costly and determined assaults, routed the defenders. The 19th Infantry Regiment then joined the division to eliminate the last organized resistance near Mount Monoy. During these drives, 21 large naval coastal guns were seized and destroyed, 5 large airfields secured, and Pakiputan Straits opened. The sustained fighting qualities and the outstanding achievements of the 19th Infantry Regiment were major contributions to the success of the Mindanao campaign and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant Charles L. Peacock (Army serial No. 14066493), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 29 May 1944, as engineer and top turret gunner of a B-24 type aircraft on an operational mission to Tutow Air Field, Germany. After his aircraft had been severely damaged by enemy antiaircraft fire and the pilot had given the bail-out order, Sergeant Peacock calmly forced the right bombay door open with an axe, enabling the other crew members to escape safely. He then remained with the pilot until the aircraft crashed in the Baltic Sea. The outstanding courage and steadfast devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Peacock reflect great credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

Second Lieutenant Leslie T. Speer, OS04529, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 6 February 1945, as copilot of a B-25 type aircraft on an operational mission to Rovereto, Italy. During the bomb run, the aircraft was hit by intense and accurate antiaircraft fire which severed the left wing and disabled one engine, causing the aircraft to rapidly lose speed and altitude. After the order to abandon ship had been given by the pilot, Lieutenant Speer remained at his station to help the pilot control the aircraft, thus enabling the five crew members to parachute safely before another direct hit further damaged the aircraft, causing it to crash in enemy territory. The outstanding courage and steadfast devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Speer reflect great credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Robert F. Mattice (Army serial No. 32745939) (then sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 3 August 1944, as ball turret gunner of a B-17 type aircraft on an operational mission over Germany. After the aircraft sustained severe damage from enemy antiaircraft fire and the bail-out order was given, Sergeant Mattice, although wounded and with total disregard for his safety, delayed his exit in order to drag an unconscious fellow crew member from his position to the waist hatch, where he pulled the rip cord of his parachute and threw him out of the airplane. The aggressiveness, outstanding courage, and devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Mattice reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States.

Staff Sergeant Albert M. Sandlin (Army serial No. 18078167) (then sergeant), Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 12 September 1944, while serving with the 511th Bomb Squadron, Eighth Air Force, on a combat mission over Germany. En route to the target, his aircraft, on which he was serving as waist gunner, was crippled by flak, forcing the crew to bail out. Sergeant Sandlin refused to leave the airplane until he had administered oxygen and first aid to a wounded comrade and helped him clear the airplane a few moments before the airplane exploded. Sergeant Sandlin's heroic action saved the life of his crew mate.

Staff Sergeant James A. Wakefield (Army serial No. 39174079), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by gallantry in action, on 17 August 1943, as waist gunner of a B-17 type aircraft on an operational mission to Schweinfurt, Germany. En route to the target, the aircraft sustained severe damage from enemy fighters. Although seriously wounded in both legs and after the bail-out order had been given, Sergeant Wakefield continued to defend the aircraft from his waist-gun position and shot down two enemy aircraft. The tenacity of purpose, exceptional courage, and devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Wakefield reflect great credit on himself and the United States military service.

Corporal William L. Ware (Army serial No. 14042441) (then private first class), Coast Artillery Corps, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in the Philippine Islands, on 29 December 1941, while a member of Battery F, 60th Coast Artillery Regiment. During the heavy bombing by the Japanese of Fort Mills, Corregidor, the communications between the guns and the fire control instruments in battalion headquarters were severed. With utter disregard for his safety and upon his own initiative, he ran a communication line between battery and battalion command posts, a distance of 350 yards. Corporal Ware's gallant actions were of great aid to the heroic defenders on Corregidor and reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel James A. McDonnell, O266053, Air Corps, Army of the United States. February 1942 to July 1946. (This award supersedes the award of the Army Commendation Ribbon to Colonel McDonnell for meritorious service from 1 March 1942 to 20 January 1944, by letter 24 May 1946 from the Commanding General, Air Matériel Command, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

Captain Charles M. Ford, Royal Naval Reserve. August 1942 to December 1945.

V. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Sergeant Eugene Gamba (Army serial No. 32856723), Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic conduct in action on 8 September 1944. After a successful crash landing of his aircraft in enemy-occupied France, Sergeant Gamba and six other crew members were taken prisoner. While en route to a prisoner of war camp, Sergeant Gamba organized his comrades in an attack on the German guards and was killed in his attempt to escape. The courage, aggressiveness, and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Gamba reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Second Lieutenant Warren J. Wade, O819023, Air Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic conduct in action on 8 September 1944. After a successful crash landing of his aircraft in enemy-occupied France, Lieutenant Wade and six other crew members were taken prisoner. While en route to a prisoner of war camp, Lieutenant Wade organized his comrades in an attack on the German guards and was killed in his attempt to escape. The courage, aggressiveness, and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Wade reflect great credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Brigadier General Frank L. Howley, O299977, Army of the United States. December 1947 to August 1949.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted men:

Private Robert W. Lougee (31351858), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company H, 18th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy, on 18 November 1944, near Hamick, Germany. After a successful attack, his company consolidated the position and Private Lougee manned a heavy machine gun. Within the first few minutes of an enemy counterattack, he was wounded in the shoulder and his assistant killed. Despite his physical condition, Private Lougee encouraged the members of his squad to remain at their positions and fight it out with the enemy, while he continued to man and operate his gun. When his machine gun was destroyed by enemy fire and he sustained further wounds, he continued to fight effectively, using the arms of his fallen fellow soldiers. Private Lougee was killed while participating in mortal hand-to-hand combat with the enemy. His display of courage, patriotism, and devotion to duty so inspired his comrades that they successfully fought off the attack against overwhelming odds.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel John H. Fye, O5733, Field Artillery, United States Army. May to August 1943.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel John W. Warren, AO15139, United States Air Force. March 1947 to February 1948.

IV..SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Corporal Francis L. Tence (17034713), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 1st Ground General School Detachment, Fort Riley, Kansas, on 9 July 1949, displayed heroism in an attempt to save the life of Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., age 3½ years. Corporal Tence, Corporal Raymond Glenn, Mrs. Raymond Glenn, Mrs. Francis Tence, and Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., were on a picnic on Clarks Creek near Junction City, Kansas. The child, Raymond J. Glenn, Jr., who was playing near the bank of the stream, fell in and was quickly swept away by the current. Corporal Tence immediately plunged into the stream to go to the boy's assistance. He succeeded in reaching him and for a short time was able to hold the child above water. However, because of the swift current and encumbered by his clothing, Corporal Tence was unable to return to the bank without releasing the boy. His valiant efforts were in vain, because he was unable to save the child from drowning and in addition thereto sacrificed his own life.

V..SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Captain George F. Charlton, O25107, Infantry, United States Army, a member of the Tactical Department, The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, on 26 June 1949, at the peril of his life, rescued an officer of the United States Army from drowning in the Atlantic Ocean in the vicinity of Ormond Beach, Florida. The heroism of this act was emphasized by Captain Charlton's deliberate disregard for personal safety. Although he realized the presence of a strong ebb tide and a viciously dangerous undertow and was not sure of his swimming ability, inasmuch as he had done no swimming for more than 5 years, Captain Charlton nevertheless plunged into the hazardous waters, swam to the helpless officer, and brought him back to safety. His brave act of selfless courage reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Sergeant Roy G. Spears (RA6553263), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, a member of the Engineer Detachment, 6006th Area Service Unit (POC), displayed heroic conduct on 26 May 1949 at the scene of an electric power failure in the Army Central Electrical Sub-Station, Fort Lewis, Washington. Sergeant Spears rescued Mr. Ben Chanslor (civilian) who, in the performance of his duties, "threw in" one of the electric oil switches. Upon closing the circuit, an explosion followed, spraying hot gases, hot oil, and flame on Mr. Chanslor, knocking him to the floor, and enveloping the entire sub-station. With total disregard for personal safety, Sergeant Spears rushed in before the flames and explosion had subsided, grabbed Mr. Chanslor's arm with one hand, and dragged him to safety while beating the flames out of his hair with the other bare hand. Upon getting Mr. Chanslor clear, Sergeant Spears tore Mr. Chanslor's burning clothes off with his bare hands. During the process of removing Mr. Chanslor, Sergeant Spears received serious burns which he ignored until assistance arrived. Because of Sergeant Spears' heroic action, Mr. Chanslor was saved from permanent injury or possible death.

VI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man :

Lieutenant Colonel Richard L. Butt, Jr., O336856, Adjutant General's Department, Army of the United States. January 1943 to September 1944.

Major Robert M. Clark, O4924, Air Corps, United States Army. February 1943 to October 1944.

First Lieutenant Harry J. Hovee, O854498, Air Corps, Army of the United States. August 1943 to October 1944.

Major Raymond P. Murphy, O24729, Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army. September 1944 to May 1945.

Staff Sergeant Sam Roska (36501535) (then sergeant), Quartermaster Corps, Army of the United States. March to May 1945.

VII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man :

Corporal Judson E. Baggett (RA14014604) (then private first class), Infantry, United States Army, company aid man of Company L, 351st Infantry Regiment, 88th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by heroic achievement in action near Itri, Italy, on 14 May 1944. After he had gone forward to a precarious position and had administered aid to a wounded man, in full view of the enemy and without Red Cross arm bands or flags, Corporal Baggett set up an improvised aid station in an area that was constantly under heavy enemy artillery fire and successfully cared for the wounded until the arrival of the battalion aid station personnel. The outstanding courage displayed by Corporal Baggett reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

[AG 680.1 (14 Oct 49)]

II. MERITORIOUS UNIT COMMENDATION.—By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 14, AR 260-15, the Meritorious Unit Commendation is awarded to the following unit of the Army of the United States for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated. The citation reads as follows:

The 824th Engineer Aviation Battalion is commended for exceptionally meritorious conduct and performance of outstanding services in Iceland from January to July 1944. Given the mission of preparing airfield facilities at that important base, the unit constructed and maintained Meeks and Patterson Fields during unusually trying weather conditions. The consistent high standard of operating efficiency, leadership, and teamwork reflects great credit on the 824th Engineer Aviation Battalion, the Air Corps, and the Army of the United States.

III. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

Company I, 28th Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy on 23 November 1944 in the Hurtgen Forest, Germany. Given the mission of reducing a well-fortified and supported enemy position, the company launched two attacks which were repulsed. Determined to take the position, the company commander deployed his entire company and ordered a bayonet assault. Springing to their feet, shooting and yelling, the men were upon the enemy before they could bring down defensive fire. This ferocious attack so disorganized the defenders that they were driven from their emplacements and surrendered in groups. Over 100 prisoners were taken in addition to many killed and wounded. The extraordinary courage, initiative, and determination to close with the enemy exhibited by the personnel of Company I, 28th Infantry Regiment, reflect great credit on this unit and the Armed Forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Major General George P. Hays, O7149, United States Army. August 1947 to July 1949.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers, warrant officer, and enlisted men:

Warrant Officer (junior grade) William A. Barbee (W900613) (then technical sergeant, Army service No. RA33001289), United States Army, a member of Company F, 175th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action near St. Lo, France, on 25 June 1944. In the absence of a commissioned officer, Warrant Officer Barbee assumed command of the company, reorganized it during a severe enemy attack, and personally moved a light machine gun from under heavy fire. Thereafter, he moved fearlessly about under hostile fire until an officer arrived to command the company. (Par. 2, sec. VI, DA General Orders 28, 1949, pertaining to the award of the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement to Warrant Officer Barbee (then sergeant first class) during the same period, is rescinded.)

Sergeant First Class Frank Camp, Jr. (Army service No. RA6956935), Infantry, United States Army, displayed gallantry in action, on 8 October 1944, at Verlantenneheide, Germany. With total disregard for personal safety and with unusual determination, courage, and level-headedness, he advanced single-handedly, while in a severely wounded condition, over 100 yards of open terrain to pin down a machine-gun nest and a squad of German riflemen until his platoon leader and section sergeant could join him to take prisoner those who had not been killed. Sergeant Camp's heroic act resulted in a route being opened by which his platoon could advance and was an inspiration to his comrades.

Captain Wayne M. Douglas, O2042810 (then sergeant, Army service No. 36330195), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company F, 132d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action on 2 and 3 January 1943, on Guadalcanal. While attacking Hill 27, the 1st Platoon suffered severe losses, including the platoon leader. Captain Douglas, a squad leader at the time, took command immediately. It was necessary to move some of his men to more advantageous positions. During this movement, Captain Douglas covered the movement by throwing hand grenades and firing his rifle, exposing himself to severe enemy fire. During the night the enemy made seven counterattacks against the platoon, all unsuccessful. Captain Douglas's disregard for personal safety was an inspiration to his men and his leadership reflects great credit on the service.

Private First Class Morris A. Ferry (Army service No. 35928083), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company L, 15th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action, on 22 March 1945, near Hobeisweiler, Germany. Private Ferry, leader of a small patrol sent out to locate enemy armor, left his patrol and ran to within 50 yards of an enemy Mark IV tank to kneel and fire his bazooka. The machine gun on the enemy tank showered bullets all around him, but he held his position and fired carefully, hitting the tank and forcing it to withdraw. Private Ferry, by his audacious action, held off the enemy tank until his own armor could cross a ditch and move forward.

Captain José C. Guevarra, O22808 (then first lieutenant), Philippine Army, a member of the 41st Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, displayed gallantry in action in January 1942 at the Abucaay Sector, Bataan. As assistant S-3 of the regiment, Captain Guevarra, with a mortar section of the Regimental Combat Company, counterattacked and dislodged the enemy which had threatened the right flank of the regiment.

Technician Fourth Grade Paul Liebeskind (Army service No. 32190791) (then private), Medical Department, Army of the United States, displayed gallantry in action while serving with Company A, 9th Medical Battalion, on 1 May 1943, in the Mateur-Bizerte Sector, Tunisia. Private Liebeskind volunteered to go through an uncharted, heavily mined, and booby-trapped field to locate and help evacuate two soldiers wounded by antipersonnel mines. His bravery and devotion to duty were an inspiration to his comrades.

Private First Class Atanacio Mercado (RA6739348) (then private), Infantry, United States Army, displayed outstanding courage and gallantry in action during the Moron campaign in Bataan, from 16 to 25 January 1942, while serving with Battery A, 23d Field Artillery, Philippine Scouts.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Colonel Anthony Ruppertsberg, Jr., O306198 (then lieutenant colonel), Medical Corps, Army of the United States. November 1942 to May 1944.

(This award supersedes the awards of the Commendation Ribbon and Commendation Ribbon (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Colonel Sussman by letter from the War Department, 21 May 1946.)

Lieutenant Colonel William A. Sussman, O21165, Armored Cavalry, United States Army. 24 December 1944 to 8 May 1945. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Lieutenant Colonel Sussman for service from 27 February to 5 April 1945, published in General Orders 82, Headquarters, 6th Armored Division, 7 May 1945.)

Upon hearing cries of distress from a group of Japanese nationals who were swimming, Private Cottrell, with four of his companions, plunged into the sea. The sea was rough with heavy breakers. Despite a warning about the rough sea and with complete disregard for personal safety, he fought his way for 100 yards out into the deep water in his attempt to rescue the Japanese. I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel (then lieutenant colonel) Halstead C. Fowler, O12336, Field Artillery, United States Army, displayed extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the Moron Sector, Bataan, Philippine Islands, on 21 January 1942.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel (then lieutenant colonel) Halstead C. Fowler, O12336, Field Artillery, United States Army, displayed extraordinary heroism in action, on 24 December 1941, at the Agno River, Luzon, Philippine Islands. While serving as commander of a unit designated to cover the withdrawal of troops, Colonel Fowler, sensing impending panic and disorder among the withdrawing troops which would have resulted in the annihilation by an enemy force overwhelmingly superior in number, without regard for his personal safety, fearlessly exposed himself to oncoming vehicles propelled by armed, fear-crazed drivers and, under intense enemy fire succeeded in reorganizing the troops into orderly fighting groups, thus permitting successful completion of the mission. The exemplary heroism displayed by Colonel Fowler in the face of enemy fire and his constant, fearless leadership under adverse conditions reflect great credit on himself and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Charles H. Marcy, O738436, Air Corps, Army of the United States, displayed heroism while serving as pilot of a B-17 aircraft on a combat mission to Berlin, Germany, on 29 April 1944. Just prior to bombs away, Lieutenant Marcy was wounded by a burst of flak, but he continued to fly the airplane and drop bombs on the target. Forced out of formation, the bomber was attacked by enemy fighters, which set it afire, and Lieutenant Marcy was wounded again. Despite his painful wounds, Lieutenant Marcy held the airplane in level flight while the crew made good their escape. The cool courage and heroic devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Marcy on this occasion reflect the highest credit on himself and the Army Air Forces.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant Ronald K. Bowman (Army service No. RA33853144) (then private first class), Transportation Corps (then Infantry), United States Army, a member of Company F, 328th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Germany on 17 February 1945. During an attack on enemy positions within the city blocks of Fraulautern, his platoon was caught in an open lot in a cross-fire of German machine guns and his platoon leader was killed. While two riflemen covered his movements from a building, Sergeant Bowman jumped through a window into the open lot and rushed the German machine-gun position on his right flank. Although wounded by enemy fire, he reached the enemy position and tossed grenades into the building, thus destroying the weapon and capturing the crew. This action allowed the remaining able men to resume the attack and to evacuate the wounded.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. ATTENDANCE AT MEETINGS OF TECHNICAL, SCIENTIFIC, PROFESSIONAL, AND OTHER SIMILAR PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS

1. Authority for expenditures by the Department of the Army incident to attendance of official representatives of the Army at meetings of private organizations (in addition to that contained in section 67, National Defense Act of 3 June 1916, as amended (45 Stat. 406; 32 U. S. C. 22; M. L. 1939, sec. 1307)), or at meetings of international organizations, nongovernmental in character, is provided in section 607 of the current Department of Defense appropriation act (JAAF Bul. 34, 1949) as follows:

Appropriations contained in this Act available for travel shall be available for all expenses incident to attendance at meetings of technical, scientific, professional, or other similar organizations.

This act and other applicable statutes (cited in AR 1-210) do not permit the Department to have membership representation in any private organization or authorize the payment of membership dues and fees or any expense incident to the membership attendance of any person at a meeting of the members of a private (non-Government) organization. Any attendance pursuant to the authorization herein provided will, accordingly, be limited to nonmembership (liaison) attendance.

2. It is the policy of the Department of the Army, subject to availability of funds and to established policies governing participation of the Department of Defense in the activities of private organizations (as set forth in AR 1-210), to authorize attendance of Department of the Army personnel at such meetings of technical, scientific, professional, and other similar organizations, which will—

- a. Facilitate the execution of assigned missions and programs.
- b. Enable the Department to maintain an effective professional and scientific corps by keeping abreast of current developments in technical, scientific, and professional subjects related to the work of the Department, when other practicable means are not available.
- c. Permit the presentation to such meetings of contributions which will add to the body of scientific and professional knowledge.

3. Authority is delegated as follows to approve attendance of military and civilian personnel on a nonmembership (liaison) basis at a meeting of a technical, scientific, professional, or other similar organization:

a. A meeting of Army staff or service interest and held within the United States—

- (1) Chief of Staff (for the Department of the Army General and Special Staffs).
- (2) Heads of administrative and technical staffs and services.

b. A meeting primarily of local interest to such command and held within the United States, whether within or without the area of that command, and in the latter case only after coordination with the commander of the area in which the meeting is to be held—

- (1) Commanding generals of continental armies.
- (2) Commanding General, Military District of Washington.

c. A meeting held outside the United States, provided it is not governmental or international in character, is of local interest to such command and is held within the area of that command—

Commanding generals of oversea commands.

d. An official to whom this authority is delegated may designate his deputy or executive officer to act and sign for him when necessary, but this authority will not be further delegated without prior approval of the Secretary of the Army. Travel orders issued pursuant to this delegation shall state that such orders are issued "Under authority of the Secretary of the Army, dated 29 March 1950," and shall name the individual who is to perform the travel, designate him as liaison representative of the Department, specify the date and place of the meeting, and direct his nonmembership (liaison) attendance thereat for a stated purpose.

e. Expenses incurred by liaison representatives shall be reimbursed from funds available for travel (as authorized by the current appropriation act). In addition to the usual reimbursement for travel and transportation expenses authorized in existing laws and regulations relating to travel of military and civilian personnel, such reimbursement may include nonmember (guest) registration or entrance fees which may have been incurred as a prerequisite to admission. Such expenses shall be paid, in each case, from travel funds available to the agency which required liaison representation at the particular meeting.

f. Attendance at a meeting of any private international organization, wherever held, will require the advance authorization of the Secretary of the Army. Recommendations for such authorization will be forwarded through channels and will include a description of the organization involved, purpose of the meeting, need for Department of the Army representation, and qualifications of the proposed representative.

g. The Chief of Staff, or his designee, will continue to administer the authority contained in section 67, National Defense Act of 3 June 1916, as amended (45 Stat. 406; 32 U.S.C. 22; M. L. 1939, sec. 1307) pertaining to the National Guard Association of the United States and the Adjutants General Association.

4. The liberal authority granted by Congress for the current fiscal year, which is subject to annual revision, must not be abused. It is incumbent upon the Chief of Staff, the heads of administrative and technical staffs and services, and commanders to whom this authority is delegated to assure that such authority is administered judiciously and that full information in support of its usage is maintained.

I. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Sylvester C. Bitter, Jr., O1305002, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 305th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy near Deposito, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 8 December 1944. During an attack his platoon was held up by intense fire from a well dug-in strong point. Seeing that his men were being disorganized by this fire, he determined to attack. Organizing the platoon, he led the assault and the men, inspired by his example, overran the position. In this gallant action, Lieutenant Bitter was killed. His fearless example reflects great credit on himself and the United States Infantry.

Private José Guevarra (Service No. 10303399), Infantry, Philippine Scouts, a member of Company II, 57th Infantry, Philippine Scouts, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Bataan from 27 to 29 January 1942. As a member of the battalion that destroyed the enemy forces on Lungos Kawayan Point, his courageous actions were an inspiration to his comrades. Private Guevarra's heroic achievements reflect great credit on himself and the Philippine Scouts.

II. SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers, enlisted men, and civilian:

Captain Brewster G. Gallup, O317319, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by courageous action on 18 April 1942. During an intense bombardment of Corregidor by enemy batteries on Bataan, a shell fragment cut the halyard of the fortress flag. As the colors descended, Captain Gallup and two comrades ran to the pole, gathered the flag in their arms, and kept it from touching the ground. Working fast, despite the furious shelling, they repaired the halyard and raised the flag again. This conspicuous act of gallantry was an inspiration to the heroic defenders of the Philippines.

Staff Sergeant Lawrence M. McQueeney (Service No. RA6981614) (then sergeant), Corps of Military Police, United States Army, a member of Military Police Company, II Philippine Corps, displayed gallantry in action near Lamoza, Bataan, on 5 April 1942. During a bombing raid, he voluntarily left his place of shelter to rescue a severely wounded man who was trapped in an inclosed fox hole and endangered by exploding ammunition. Sergeant McQueeney's courage and complete disregard for safety reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Staff Sergeant Harold R. Morter, Jr. (Service No. 36086629) (then private first class), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 63d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy near Munoz, Nueva Ecija, Luzon, on 7 February 1945. After a heavy tank battle the night before, his platoon was mopping up a large enemy force. Approaching a deep ditch, the platoon was held up by a barrage of hand grenades. Without thought of his safety, he crawled to the ditch, after throwing two grenades, rushed the position, and in hand-to-hand combat killed three of the enemy. Sergeant Morter's heroic action enabled the platoon to advance and complete its mission.

Honorio Punongbayan, Filipino civilian, distinguished himself by courageous action on 18 April 1942. During an intense bombardment of Corregidor by enemy batteries on Bataan, a shell fragment cut the halyard of the fortress flag. As the colors descended, Mr. Punongbayan and two soldiers ran to the pole, gathered the flag in their arms, and kept it from touching the ground. Working fast, despite the furious shelling, they repaired the halyard and raised the flag again. This conspicuous act of gallantry was an inspiration to the heroic defenders of the Philippines.

Colonel Henry J. Royall, O18242 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 334th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Linnich, Germany, on 30 November and 1 December 1944. He led his battalion with a display of calm courage and fighting spirit to a successful capture of terrain features essential to a planned crossing of the Roer River. Exposing himself to ground fire in the forward rifle areas, he furnished the example necessary to keep the battalion advancing. During the action he suffered severe shocks and concussion from enemy shell fire and was wounded by small-arms fire. By his fearless leadership and devotion to duty, Colonel Royall fully upheld the finest traditions of the United States Infantry. (Par. 4, sec. VII, DA General Orders 27, 1948, pertaining to the award of the Bronze Star Medal (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) to Colonel Royall for meritorious achievement during the same period is rescinded.)

Major John D. Semken, Sherwood Rangers Yeomanry, British Army, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy in Germany on 18 November 1944. As leader of a British tank squadron, his superior direction of these supporting elements contributed in a large measure to the success of the entire operation. The military skill and aggressive leadership displayed on this occasion by Major Semken reflect high credit on himself and the military service of his country.

I. MEDAL OF HONOR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty during the period indicated is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Isadore S. Jachman (Service No. 13136814) Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of the 513th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty at Flamierge, Belgium, on 4 January 1945. When his company was pinned down by enemy artillery, mortar, and small-arms fire, two hostile tanks attacked the unit, inflicting heavy casualties. Sergeant Jachman, seeing the desperate plight of his comrades, left his place of cover and, with total disregard for safety, dashed across open ground through a hail of fire. Seizing a bazooka from a fallen comrade, he advanced on the tanks, which concentrated their fire on him. Firing the weapon alone, he damaged one tank and forced both tanks to retire. Sergeant Jachman's heroic action, in which he suffered fatal wounds, disrupted the entire enemy attack, and reflects the highest credit on himself and the 513th Parachute Infantry Regiment. (Sec. I, WD General Orders 25, 1947, pertaining to the award of the Distinguished-Service Cross (posthumous) to Staff Sergeant Jachman, for extraordinary heroism in action on the same date, is rescinded.)

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class Caliste A. Callahan (Service No. 434002), United States Marine Corps, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action in the Southwest Pacific area on 28 December 1943. When heavy enemy mortar, machine-gun, and rifle fire from a heavily fortified series of concealed pillboxes and rifle pits held up the advance of a combat patrol of the 1st Marine Parachute Battalion, whose mission was to destroy an enemy outpost ½ mile east of the Borokina River, Bougainville, Solomon Islands, Private Callahan and a comrade moved forward in the face of the hostile fire and quickly destroyed two emplacements with grenades and demolition charges. Then, on his own initiative, he charged forward to the remaining positions, where he engaged in fierce hand-to-hand combat and inflicted severe casualties before he was killed. Through his intrepid, voluntary assault without regard for his safety and at the cost of his life, Private Callahan enabled his patrol to overcome the enemy and continue the advance, thereby setting a lasting example of heroism for his comrades-in-arms.

III..SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following named officers:

First Lieutenant Carl F. Cooke, O1012409, Cavalry, Army of the United States, a member of Troop C, 87th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy at Meijel, Holland. On 27 October 1944, Lieutenant Cooke's squadron received the brunt of a powerful German attack consisting of armor and infantry in at least brigade size aimed at splitting British and American forces. The point of the attack struck his troop and forced the leading platoons to withdraw. Realizing the critical situation, he volunteered to lead his platoon in a counterattack. His unit stalled the attack and forced the enemy to withdraw with heavy casualties. During the action he was killed by an enemy sniper. Lieutenant Cooke's courage and leadership were an inspiration to the entire squadron and reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

First Lieutenant Daniel W. Griswold, O391006, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company K, 31st Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic action against the enemy on 21 January 1942 near Abucay Hacienda, Bataan. As company commander, he led his unit forward, contacted the enemy, and wiped out a Japanese force that had penetrated the stabilized line. Lieutenant Griswold's heroic actions during this engagement reflect great credit on himself and his company.

IV..SILVER STAR.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted man:

Technical Sergeant William H. Costello (Service No. 13021331), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company C, 26th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Eilendorf, Germany. On 28 October 1944, he was directing mortar fire in support of a patrol assaulting an enemy pillbox. Antipersonnel mines and mortar fire stalled the patrol and forced its withdrawal, leaving a wounded man in the mine field. Seeing the man helpless, Sergeant Costello, with utter disregard for his safety, dashed to the man's aid and while carrying him to safety was severely wounded. Sergeant Costello's daring rescue of a comrade in arms was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Infantry.

2. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star (first Oak-Leaf Cluster) for gallantry in action during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Colonel Floyd E. Dunn, O16261 (then lieutenant colonel), Infantry, United States Army, a member of the 182d Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action against the enemy on Bougainville, British Solomon Islands, from 21 to 27 March 1944. Upon taking command of the regiment, then engaged in close contact with the enemy, he immediately made a personal reconnaissance of the regimental lines, including the most forward positions, literally in the face of the enemy. He repeatedly exposed himself in visiting forward elements, personally inspecting and test-firing weapons under close observation of the enemy. His presence in the most forward areas, as well as the supervision he gave to all details of the tactics of his regiment, was an inspiration to the men, and greatly improved the positions and effectiveness of the units during their stubborn holding efforts and subsequent annihilation of the enemy on Hill 260. Colonel Dunn's courageous leadership, tactical ability, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the United States Army. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device to Colonel Dunn, for heroic achievement during the same period, published in sec. I, General Orders 56, Headquarters, Americal Division, 13 April 1944.)

V. LEGION OF MERIT.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer:

Major Donald M. Kerr, O901773, Transportation Corps, Army of the United States. August 1944 to February 1945.

VI. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. VIII, WD General Orders 53, 1946, pertaining to the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Colonel Amoroso, for meritorious service from December 1941 to April 1942, is rescinded.)

Lieutenant Colonel Shelby L. Gillette, O30727 (then major), Quartermaster Corps, United States Army. December 1943 to September 1944. VIII. SOLDIER'S MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (WD Bul. 8, 1926), the Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named enlisted men:

Private First Class Roland E. Burley (Service No. RA33574550), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 31st Infantry Regiment, displayed heroism while on a beach party at Ishikahi Beach, Hokkaido, Japan, on 17 July 1949. Upon hearing cries of distress from a group of Japanese nationals who were swimming, Private Burley, with four of his companions, plunged into the sea. With complete disregard for safety, he fought through 100 yards of rough sea and heavy breakers and succeeded in bringing one of the Japanese safely to shore. The heroism and quick thinking displayed by Private Burley reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class Royce H. Claffin (Service No. RA11202027) (then private), Cavalry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism off Vieques Island, Puerto Rico, on 5 March 1950. While on a swimming party, he saw one of his comrades struggling in treacherous waters. Although tired from a long swim in the dangerous current, he swam to the exhausted man and, by great physical effort, towed him to shore. Private Claffin's brave act and complete disregard for personal safety reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Private First Class William C. Leathers, Jr. (Service No. 21288200), Field Artillery, Massachusetts National Guard, a member of Battery A, 102d Field Artillery Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism on Long Island Sound on 19 July 1949. When a fellow member of his battery fell overboard during a fishing trip, Private Leathers unhesitatingly dived overboard, fully clothed, to swim to his rescue. Although the victim was unable to swim and had gone down several times, Private Leathers skillfully managed to overcome his struggles and keep his head above water until a boat reached them. By his conspicuous courage and disregard for personal safety, Private Leathers upheld the finest traditions of the military service.

Private First Class William H. White. (Service No. RA14328369), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 30th Infantry Regiment, displayed heroism while participating in Operation Portrex, near Isla Vieques, in the Caribbean Sea on 8 March 1950. During invasion exercises, Private White and his section were aboard a landing craft approaching the beach at Vieques. About 150 yards from the beach, the craft sank, leaving the combat-equipped troops floating. Relief boats were sent immediately to the scene, but because of the excitement and sudden sinking some of the men were unable to discard their equipment. Private White, seeing a soldier in difficulty, swam to him, gave him his life preserver, and assisted him to the nearest rescue boat. Private White's disregard for personal safety, his initiative, and devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Medal (second Oak-Leaf Cluster) for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant General James A. Van Fleet, O3847, United States Army. February 1948 to July 1950.

II. SILVER STAR.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Lieutenant Colonel Wayne P. Litz, O30304, Signal Corps, United States Army, as Signal Officer, 37th Infantry Division, displayed gallantry in action on 13 June 1945 in Northern Luzon, Philippine Islands. While on a personal reconnaissance for the division commander in the town of Santiago, he became involved in the battle to secure the town before he could finish his mission. After completing the reconnaissance, he began the return drive to the division command post. As he approached Oriong Pass Colonel Litz heard firing and, on entering the pass, found the enemy about to cut the division's axial road. Realizing the desperate situation he determined to run the gantlet of hostile fire. Pushing his vehicle to the limit, over the narrow twisting road, nearly blocked by disabled vehicles, he cleared the pass and, arriving at headquarters, reported the critical situation. Colonel Litz's devotion to duty, his courage under fire, and prompt judgment reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

Captain Felix W. Stanley, O36428 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company H, 501st Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy near Carentan, France, on 12 June 1944. Directed to seize Hill 30 which dominated the city, he led his company across a river and through a waist-deep swamp to the first approach of the hill. Advancing on the hill, unsupported by artillery and aided only by a smoke screen, the company was pinned down by enemy machine gun, mortar, and a direct-fire 20-mm gun. Realizing the desperate position of his unit, he, with two other men, assaulted the 20-mm gun and knocked it out. The enemy then counterattacked and by skillful use of his support platoon Captain Stanley repulsed and disorganized the attack. Seizing the opportunity to advance, he led the company in a charge up the hill and secured the position. Captain Stanley's heroic action in taking this vital hill reflects great credit on himself and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the parachute infantry.

Master Sergeant James K. Vann (Service No. AF6816419), United States Air Force (then second lieutenant, O890264, Infantry), a member of the 1st Battalion, 22d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on Bataan. On 10 February 1942, he volunteered to accompany an officer patrol that made a daylight reconnaissance of the enemy lines. Vital information gathered by this patrol was used to plan a successful attack on the Japanese position. Sergeant Vann's willingness to accept and carry out hazardous missions made a noteworthy contribution to the continued effectiveness of the 22d Infantry Regiment, Philippine Army.

First Lieutenant Wayne E. Winans, O1238990, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action near Ste. Marie Du Mont, France, on 6 June 1944. During a stalled attack against an enemy battery position, Lieutenant Winans volunteered to lead a small flanking patrol. Covered by his men and armed with a rocket launcher, he crawled up a ditch and, from a distance of 15 yards, fired into the position. His attack demoralized the enemy and the position was reduced. Lieutenant Winans' heroic action, in which he was wounded, resulted in the capture of the enemy battery and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

First Lieutenant Jake K. Young, O2055192 (then first sergeant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company G, 180th Infantry Regiment, displayed gallantry in action on 25 July 1943, near Cefalu, Sicily. During an attack, intense small-arms and artillery fire pinned his company down and wounded the company commander. Realizing the serious situation, he calmly moved among the men, reorganized the company and, coordinating its fire and movement, forced the enemy to withdraw. He then directed the attack against a strong enemy position on a dominant hill. As the attack progressed, the leader of the assault platoon became a casualty. Lieutenant Young personally took command of the platoon, led the attack, and secured the hill. His prompt and courageous actions during the engagement reflect great credit on himself and his organization.

III. LEGION OF MERIT.—1. By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 20 July 1942 (sec. III, WD Bul. 40, 1942) and Executive Order 9260, 29 October 1942 (sec. I, WD Bul. 54, 1942), the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Lieutenant Colonel James R. Gilbert, O51689, Adjutant General's Corps, United States Army. July 1945 to October 1948.

Colonel James P. Growdon, O155229, Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States. November 1943 to July 1944.

Brigadier General William O'Dwyer, O464406, Army of the United States. October 1942 to January 1945.

Colonel Sidney S. Rubenstein, O235133 (then lieutenant colonel), Air Corps, Army of the United States. May 1945 to August 1946. Captain John F. Christianson, O960853, Medical Corps, Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroism at Coronado Beach, Chame, Republic of Panama, on 5 September 1949. While vacationing at the beach, he was attracted by cries of distress from two women and one man who had been swept into the ocean. Plunging into the water, he swam to the party, grasped the women by the hair, and towed them to shore. Upon reaching shallow water, other bathers relieved him and carried the women to safety. Captain Christianson then noticed that another officer who had aided in the rescue was in trouble. Swimming to his aid, he grasped the officer's hair, hauled him to shore, and began artificial respiration in an attempt to revive him. The outstanding initiative and courage displayed by Captain Christianson in voluntarily risking his life reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Corporal Wallace R. Evans (Service No. RA36690076), Corps of Military Police, United States Army, a member of the 88th Military Police Company, displayed heroism on 21 June 1950 at Fort Jay, Governors Island, New York. Securing a flashlight, he called to a neighbor to notify the military police and, half dressed, ran down stairs and out to the seawall, where he saw a man struggling in the water about 40 yards out. Without waiting for help and with full awareness of the treachery of the tides and currents, rock, and unknown depth of the water, he dived into the sea, swam to the man, calmed him, and by great effort towed him to the seawall. With the help of new arrivals, the victim was removed from the water to safety and recovery. Corporal Evans' heroic actions reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

In the subsequent action, enemy infantry surrounded the second tank and wounded its exposed commander. Overwhelmed, the commander ordered the vehicle abandoned. Provisional DUKW Battery, 7th Infantry Division.	NAVY UNIT COMMENDATION awarded by the Secretary of the Navy. The citation reads as follows: For outstanding heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the assault and capture of Eniwetok Atoll, Marshall Islands, from February 17 to 22, 1944. As a unit of a Task Force, assembled only two days prior to departure for Eniwetok Atoll, the Twenty-second Marines, Reinforced, landed in whole or in part on Engebi, Eniwetok and Parry Islands in rapid succession and launched aggressive attacks in the face of heavy machine-gun and mortar fire from well camouflaged enemy dugouts and foxholes. With simultaneous landings and reconnaissance missions on numerous other small islands, they overcame all resistance within six days, destroying a known 2,665 of the Japanese and capturing 66 prisoners. By their courage and determination, despite the difficulties and hardships involved in repeated reembarkations and landings from day to day, these gallant officers and men made available to our forces in the Pacific Area an advanced base with large anchorage facilities and an established airfield, thereby contributing materially to the successful conduct of the war. Their sustained endurance, fortitude and fighting spirit throughout this operation reflect the highest credit on the Twenty-second Marines, Reinforced, and on the United States Naval Service.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., 25 October 1950

The Department of the Army announces with deep regret the death of the Honorable HENRY LEWIS STIMSON, at Highhold, West Hills, New York, on 20 October 1950.

Mr. STIMSON was born in New York City on 21 September 1867. Admitted to the bar of New York State in 1891, he entered public service as United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York in 1906, and was the Republican candidate for Governor of New York in 1910. President Taft appointed Mr. STIMSON Secretary of War, in which capacity he served from 1911 to 1913. He was delegate-at-large to the New York Constitutional Convention in 1915, and special representative of President Coolidge to Nicaragua in 1927. He served as Governor General of the Philippine Islands from 1927 to 1929 and as Secretary of State in the Cabinet of President Hoover from 1929 to 1933.

Mr. STIMSON first entered military service as a member of the New York National Guard in 1898. He was commissioned a major in the Officers Reserve Corps on 28 May 1917, and placed on active duty in June 1917. Promoted to lieutenant colonel, Field Artillery, National Army, he was assigned to command of the 2d Battalion, 305th Field Artillery of the 77th Division. He served in both the American and British Expeditionary Forces in 1918 until his discharge from active service in December of that year. Subsequent to World War I, he was commissioned colonel of Field Artillery in the Officers Reserve Corps in December 1921, and brigadier general in that Corps in 1922.

Mr. STIMSON was awarded the decoration of the Ordre de l'Etoile (officer) by the French Government in 1919 and the Distinguished-Service Medal by the President of the United States in 1945.

On 10 July 1940, Mr. STIMSON assumed the Office of Secretary of War for the second time and, throughout the most critical period in the history of the Nation, he administered the affairs of the Army with great wisdom, steadfast purpose, and untiring zeal until complete victory was achieved. Mr. STIMSON's selfless character and integrity unflinchingly placed the service of his country above his own personal interest. In the passing of this distinguished citizen and soldier, the country and the Army have sustained an irreparable loss.

LIST OF UNITS AND CITATIONS	II
RESCISSIONS	III

I. GENERAL.—1. Confirmation.—The following list of units of the United States Army to which decorations have been awarded by cobelligerent foreign governments during World War II, together with the citations therefor, is confirmed in accordance with current regulations.

2. Wearing of foreign decorations.—The wearing of foreign decorations by individuals will be in accordance with AR 260-15 and the following:

a. French and Belgian Fourrageres.—Normally, two citations are required before a unit becomes eligible for the award of the Fourragere. The award of the Fourragere is not automatic, but must be specifically authorized by decree of the respective foreign government. A citation in orders or award of the Croix de Guerre to a unit does not authorize the wearing of the decoration by an individual. Likewise, no award of the Croix de Guerre to an individual will serve to constitute eligibility to wear the Fourragere. The Fourragere may be worn permanently by individuals who participated with the unit in both actions for which the unit was cited. The French Fourragere may be worn temporarily by individuals assigned to the unit subsequent to the time the award was made, but only so long as they remain with such unit. The Belgian Fourragere is not authorized to be worn temporarily.

b. Netherlands Orange Lanyard.—The Netherlands Orange Lanyard may be worn permanently by individuals who participated with the unit in the action for which it was cited and temporary wearing of the Lanyard is not authorized.

II. LIST OF UNITS AND CITATIONS.—3. Divisions.

1ST INFANTRY DIVISION

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 279, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

An elite unit, heir of the noblest traditions of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division, which covered itself with glory during the war of 1914-18. Placed under the command of General JUIN, Chief of the French Army Detachment, at the beginning of the Tunisian Campaign in 1943, distinguished itself in the Ouseltia valley, supporting effectively the French 19th A. C., and repulsing a strong German offensive. In March 1943, it received the shock of the enemy offensive at Kasserine, and after hard fighting, stopped the German armor and took successively Gafsa and El Guettar, at the price of great sacrifices. In April 1943, it strongly attacked near Beja and menaced Mateur in such a way that at the beginning of May, Mateur fell, opening the way to Tunis.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 280, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

of Mons, under heavy pressure, destroyed an enemy pocket, including approximately 9,000 men of the 348th Infantry Division of the 18th German Air Army, and of the 6th Parachute Division. During this operation, the 1st Infantry Division of the United States Army and the attached units, after valiant efforts, captured more than 5,000 prisoners, killed or wounded 4,000 enemy soldiers and captured or destroyed more than 1,500 vehicles and 40 tanks. The Division also took the Commanding Officer of the 6th German Airborne Division, prisoner.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1395, 20 November 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The Division fought against the enemy in the northern flank of the German counteroffensive in the Ardennes in the area of Eupen-Malmedy. These counterattacks were launched by the enemy on 28 and 30 December 1944, but they were repulsed after heavy combat. This action prevented the expansion of the critical break-through. Independently of the strenuous defense, a strong base was established that later formed the pivot of attacks against western penetrations of the enemy. After the enemy counterattacks were efficiently stopped, the 1st Infantry Division of the U. S. Army and the attached units pushed forward to reduce the pockets and throw the enemy out of Belgian territory. On 2 September 1944, at 0930, its reconnaissance elements crossed the Belgian border near Rume. These were the first American troops to enter Belgium and this marked the beginning of the liberation of the country. The Division fought violently and threw back the enemy on the Albert Canal. This Division liberated the towns of Tournai, Wavre, Tirlemont and Hasselt.

Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

During the German offensive in the Ardennes, in December 1944, the 2d Armored Division was located in Germany, on the banks of the Roer River between Linnich and Julich. On 21 December 1944, it received orders to proceed to the region of Havelange, Avin Clavier. This movement of more than 100 miles was accomplished in less than 24 hours and on 23 December 1944, the Division established contact with hostile forces at Celles. From the 23d to the 28th of December 1944, violent engagements developed in the Celles salient and brought about the total destruction of the spearhead division of the Fifth Panzer Army. This victory blocked the German advance and prevented it from reaching the Meuse. From thence on, the Division pushed back the enemy forces and, after having retaken many communities of the Ardennes region, it liberated the town of Houffalize.

BELGIAN FOURRAGERE (1940), awarded under Decree No. 514, 22 May 1945, as amended by Decree No. 3864, 28 April 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A unit inspired by the highest sentiments of duty. On 8 August 1944, it was charged with destroying a bridge 5 kms. back of the enemy lines, in the region of Lonlay l'Abbaye. It accomplished its mission with the most absolute contempt for danger. Finding the bridge occupied, the 2d Platoon attacked and accomplished its task under enemy fire, evincing the finest qualities of bravery and army discipline.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This magnificent Battalion is animated by the greatest sacrificial spirit. During a long offensive, which lasted from 14 to 28 November 1944 and which was to lead the 2d Armored Division from the Puffendorf to the Roer, they courageously attacked a powerful antitank pit, heavily mined and protected by heavy artillery. In spite of serious losses, they crossed the pit and followed up their initial success by seizing Eldernan, Mertzenhausen and Barmen, thus permitting the 2d Armored Division to attain its objectives.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A fine unit inspired by the best qualities of courage and combativeness. It was particularly outstanding during the period from 8 to 14 August 1944, during the combat in the neighborhood of Mortain. Isolated and lacking supplies, it valiantly supported numerous counterattacks and took by storm positions of vitally strategic importance.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A fine combat unit, spirited and animated by exceptional courage. It distinguished itself particularly during the operation in Normandy, near Grimesnil, on 29 and 30 July 1944. Its mission was to capture a road by which the German forces were withdrawing. It withstood, without weakening, the attack of an enemy column of 2,500 men and 90 vehicles, during more than 6 hours of fierce hand-to-hand fighting. In spite of the enemy numerical superiority of 4 to 1, it destroyed this enemy force, killing 450 men and taking 900 prisoners. This brilliant action contributed to the annihilation of the enemy forces in Normandy and success of the Allied landing.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A magnificent unit, very combative and possessive to the highest degree, the qualities of fighters. It distinguished itself by its series of bold actions from 20 July to 12 August 1944, in the region of St. Lo. It overcame successively strong resistance at Willebaudon, Tessy-Sur-Vire and Gathemo, taking many prisoners and destroying a considerable amount of war material. This unit aided in securing, in a brilliant manner, the success of the Allied landing.

nil, on 29 and 30 July 1944. Its mission was to capture a road by which the German forces were withdrawing. It withstood, without weakening, the attack of an enemy column of 2,500 men and 90 vehicles, during more than 6 hours of fierce hand-to-hand fighting. In spite of the enemy numerical superiority of 4 to 1, it destroyed this enemy force, killing 450 men and taking 900 prisoners. This brilliant action contributed to the annihilation of the enemy forces in Normandy and success of the Allied landing.

FRENCH CRIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A choice unit which fought brilliantly in the region of St. Denis le Gast. On 30 July 1944, it was attacked by an armored column which had succeeded in penetrating its formation. It reacted immediately with all its means and, after 2 hours of furious combat, the enemy was routed, leaving on the ground 97 vehicles and 1,200 dead.

During the period 13 to 19 December 1944, the 2d Infantry Division with attached units received the order to cease its participation in the great attack in which it was completely engaged. It was ordered then to play the principal part in the constitution of the "North Shoulder" of the Ardennes. This was accomplished by resistance, as a stone wall, the enemy attack, in a way to limit and check it and to give our forces the time and the opportunity to organize the struggle against the German plan. Its operation led to an absolute success under the most difficult conditions of pressure and climate.

French Republic, with the following citation:

An elite Division which has remained faithful to the traditions of courage and sacrifice which it had already made during the last war, when it won the nickname "Rock of the Marne." Under the vigorous impetus of an energetic chief and skilled maneuverer, General O'Daniel, it fought without interruption for 169 days, from the Mediterranean beaches to the banks of the Rhine. Placed under the command of the Commanding General of the 1st French Army, for the operations of the Alsace pocket, it contributed greatly, by the power of its repeated attacks, to the victorious battle of Colmar. During the night of January 23 to 24, 1945, it succeeded in crossing, by surprise, the Fecht and Ill and in taking the first enemy position, in spite of a violent snow-storm and a field of action sown with obstacles. Allowing the adversary no respite and pushing its action harder and harder, it crossed the Colmar Canal in order to circle and conquer by sheer fighting, the city of Neuf-Brisach, thereby cutting one of the two remaining routes of retreat left to the German troops still defending the Colmar region. It captured during these actions, more than 4,000 prisoners thus concluding brilliantly the series of glorious operations which took place from the Mediterranean to the Rhine.

In less than 10 days, the unit decisively overcame the German counterattacks, freed Rennes, Vannes, and Nantes and confined the enemy to Lorient. LUXEMBOURG CROIX DE GUERRE, 1940-1945, awarded by Decree dated 31 October 1949, by the Minister of the Armed Forces, Luxembourg, with the following citation:

The 28th Infantry Division, Army of the United States, is cited and awarded the Croix de Guerre, 1940-1945, for military operations during the month of September 1944 in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg which resulted in the driving of the German Army from Luxembourg soil and the liberation of Luxembourg from the Nazis, thereby restoring to the citizens of Luxembourg their basic individual rights. During these operations, the 28th Infantry Division swept on a north-south line through Luxembourg, liberating the Esleck, including the towns of Wiltz, Clerveaux, Weiswampach, and Trois-Vierges. One combat team of the division, the 112th Combat Team, took part in the liberation of Luxembourg City on 10 September 1944. Later, during the month of December 1944, the same Division, suffering extremely heavy casualties, gallantly defended Luxembourg soil in the Battle of the Bulge, taking the full impact of the German assault on its division front, and delaying the advance of elements of nine German divisions for four days, thereby allowing reinforcements to assemble at Bastogne, Belgium, and stop the German advance.

Under an avalanche of fire which decimated the 1st Battalion, the survivors remained at their posts skillfully manipulating their antitank arms. They stopped the wave of enemy armored forces and neutralized the enemy which had penetrated into friendly lines after heavy hand-to-hand fighting.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This regiment is inspired by the purest spirit of self-sacrifice and has very high morale. From 17 to 25 December 1944, it endured, without weakening, dangerous enemy infiltrations into the region of La Gleize and of Stoumont, in Belgium. Drawn up in two columns, one at Stoumont, the other at Habiemont, their mission being to stop the German forces, the regiment engaged in hard and bloody combat, succeeding in maintaining its position, thus permitting the arrival of reinforcements. As a result of a series of maneuvers, it contributed to the encirclement and destruction of the attacking forces.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A spirited unit animated by the finest military qualities and with exceptional courage. It acted magnificently from 6 to 12 August 1944, in the battle of Mortain, the possession of which secured the liaison between the Allied forces in Normandy and Brittany. Subjected to continual strong enemy attacks, and in spite of the encirclement, lack of provisions, medical care, and the enemy summons to surrender, it dug into the terrain and thus maintained intact the position of the Allied armies.

A magnificent unit which engaged in the battle of La Manche. It stood out especially because of its bravery and fighting spirit at the time of the attack on Hill 122, on 15 July 1944. After having taken this position, which was heavily fortified, mined and occupied by an enemy which was greatly superior in numbers, the 134th Infantry Regiment, exploiting its initial success, broke into St. Lo and engaged for 1 week an enemy who had resolved to resist at any cost.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A battalion animated by the greatest qualities of courage and combativeness. It distinguished itself in a remarkable manner during the offensive operations in the Mortain sector during the period between 10 and 13 August 1944. It was given the mission of reestablishing contact with units momentarily encircled and, heedless of losses, broke through the enemy lines and was successful in extricating a battalion that was in a critical situation. Counterattacked in turn by forces greatly superior in number, notably by SS elements, it valiantly bore the blow, thus making possible the arrival of reinforcements, which, after five hours of furious fighting, broke the German resistance.

It particularly distinguished itself from 24 November to 2 December 1944 in the Vosges, where it contributed in a decisive fashion to the victory in Alsace. Executing a daring maneuver, it seized by surprise attack, the pass and town of Sainte-Marie-aux-Mines, in spite of a very difficult terrain and the savage resistance of the enemy. Following up immediately, it occupied Ste.-Croix-aux-Mines, Rombac-Le-Franc, and Haut-Koenigsburg, broke into the place of Alsace and seized Selestat 2 December 1944, at the cost of hard fighting. This established a wide breach in the German defense system. Next, with untiring ardor and energy, and in spite of desperate counterattacks, the unit carried on daily combat, which completely broke up the defensive organization of the enemy. In the course of these actions, it took more than 3,000 prisoners and

A remarkable unit which displayed splendid endurance and exceptional fighting zeal. It distinguished itself brilliantly from 21 to 24 November 1944 in hard combat. It mopped up in the forest of Parroy and materially aided the 2d Armored French Division to break through to the Col de Saverne. In spite of heavy losses, it fought stubbornly against a dashing and fanatical enemy, preventing it from reappearing in the Vosges. It thus contributed greatly to the liberation of Baccaret, Phalsbourg, and Saverne.

Normandy. It formed part of the 82d Airborne Division and occupied central road points and river communications commanding the access to the landing beaches of the Cotentin. It sacrificed itself on the banks of the Merderet and the Douve, at Saint Sauveur le Vicomte and at Etienneville from 6 to 20 June 1944, in order to stem at all cost the advance of the German reinforcements which far outnumbered them in strength and fire power. It forced the enemy to remain on the defense, thus permitting the arrival of the main Allied force. FRENCH FOURRAGERE in the colors of the Croix de Guerre, awarded under Decision No. 161, 6 April 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1034, 4 October 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

This elite division which had gone with great élan through the campaigns of Tunisia, Sicily, Italy, Holland, and France, again distinguished itself particularly in the battle of the Ardennes from 17 to 31 December 1944. Called upon as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command in the evening of 17 December at the time when they were in the vicinity of Reims, the division was able to take up combat positions in the region of Werbomont only 24 hours later and this under very severe climatic conditions. Progressing toward Ambleve and the Salm, the division opened and maintained a corridor for the elements of four American divisions which were surrounded in the vicinity of St. Vith, thus giving new courage to the engaged units. The division had prevented the enemy from piercing the north flank of the pocket created by the offensive of Von Rundstedt and thus succeeded in saving the city of Liege and its surroundings from a second occupation by the Germans.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1034, 4 October 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

After having excelled in defensive warfare at the banks of the Salm and the Ambleve, and after having repelled successfully the repeated attacks of the best German shock troops, the 82d Airborne Division with the 508th Parachute Infantry Regiment attached, in spite of extreme cold and excessively deep snow, went on the offensive themselves and advanced to the German border, capturing 2,500 German prisoners, including five battalion commanders. This fighting was extremely valorous as the organic composition of the division handicapped the unit considerably, not having at their disposal, as any other infantry division would have, heavy weapons to support their attack. During 23 days, under most painful and adverse conditions, the veterans of the 82d Airborne Division did not cease to give a wonderful example of courage and heroism, exemplifying their fighting spirit by several remarkably brilliant actions. By its valor, the division wrote another page in heroic annals of Allied airborne troops and rendered an important service to Belgium and to the Allied cause by establishing the necessary basis for the new pursuit of the enemy toward the Rhine River.

101ST AIRBORNE DIVISION

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 367, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid airborne unit which gave proof of extraordinary heroism in the course of the Normandy landing operations on 6 June to 8 July 1944. It parachuted before dawn on the assault beach on 6 June and in spite of all sorts of difficulties, succeeded in regrouping. Attacked by important forces with violent fire, it nevertheless occupied positions of strategic importance for the landing of friendly troops. This action opened the way to La Douve and the Carentan road for the assault troops. In this way, it greatly contributed to the first phase of the liberation of France.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 828, 30 July 1945, as amended by Decree No. 1196, 22 October 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

By its glorious resistance from 22 to 27 December 1944, in the hardest time of the Battle of the Ardennes, it kept, completely isolated, the key position Bastogne. The 101st Airborne Division with its attached units caused the failure of the enemy's plan. This required a deep penetration into Belgium and this division served as a pivot to the operations of the counteroffensive which liberated the invaded territories. During these operations, because of its courage, endurance, discipline and experience in fighting, the 101st Airborne Division pushed back the unceasing attacks of the elements belonging to eight German divisions, in spite of scarce supplies. These troops and their chiefs wrote one of the most beautiful pages of military history and earned the admiration of the world and the everlasting gratitude of Belgium.

The 101st Airborne Division of the U. S. Army landed by parachute, sea-planes and small boats on 6 June 1944, on the seashore of France, and was one of the first units ready to attack the enemy in the campaign which later liberated Europe which was occupied by the Germans. It was necessary that small detachments enter into hard combat at many places to reunite themselves at the assembly points. They inflicted big losses to the enemy and the division had many losses itself while winning back important points, attacking and keeping centers of communication, bridges and high positions. The success with which these missions were performed prevented the enemy from using reinforcements which could have succeeded in preventing the landing of the VII Corps of the U. S. Army which finally participated in the liberation of Belgium.

Attacked by an enemy operating in force but filled with the desire to conquer at any cost, it remained in position and, with direct and accurate fire, kept the attackers from access to vital communications south of Manhay. Short of food, water and pharmaceutical products, the 589th Field Artillery Battalion endured three attacks without flinching, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and forced him to retire.

The units of the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command played a heroic part in the organization and maintenance of the antiaircraft defense, with a view of opening the Antwerp Port on 28 November 1944. They caused the failure of the supreme attack of V-1 bombs thrown by the Germans located in the Trier area, as well as of the areas situated at the northwest of Nimegue. Due to the unceasing efforts of the personnel belonging to these units, the matériel destruction and loss of lives for the Belgian civilians as well as for the Allied troops was held to the minimum. Fighting day and night, these military personnel performed their duty in a remarkable way. This resulted in the liberation of the harbor of Antwerp and the forwarding of supplies of ammunition to five Allied armies. The heroic behavior of these units honors very much the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command and the Allied forces.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 2509, 17 June 1946, as amended by Decree No. 4309, 26 September 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The units of the Antwerp X Antiaircraft Artillery Command, at the moment of the supreme offensive thrown by the Wehrmacht on 16 December 1944, established, without precedent against the attempts of destruction, an antiaircraft defense system of the harbor of Antwerp. The results of this heroic action, the success of which was of vital importance to the Allied cause in general, and for the maintenance of the liberation of Belgium in particular, proved so effective that the utilization of the harbor was never interrupted. The action of the officers and men, together with their unceasing efforts and their technical ability, closed the campaign with a result that outstanding success was obtained by the destruction of 97 percent of the pilotless aircraft engaged by the command.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 128, 22 July 1944, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

An outstanding observation and spotting unit under the command of Col. J. D. Ellerson. This unit completed its observation and listening posts during the winter campaign on the rain and snow-swept peaks of the Mainarde, Monna Casale, and Monna Acquafondata. From these positions they furnished, in day and night operations, extremely valuable information to the Allied counterbattery staff. From 11 May 1944, it supplied the artillery unit of the French Expeditionary Corps with an exact lay-out charted by the sound and flashes of numerous enemy guns and, in spite of losses in personnel, carried out its difficult task with admirable zeal.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable unit characterized by a spirit of collaboration, zest for battle, and magnificent military qualities. From 14 September 1944 to 8 February 1945, it operated with the I Corps of the First French Army. In spite of the violent enemy attacks, the difficulty of the terrain, and the atmospheric rigors, it tirelessly furnished the most valuable information. Thanks to this unit, more than 700 enemy artillery positions and other installations were located. Their magnificent aid contributed in a large measure to driving the Germans from the Belfort Gap and to the liberation of Alsace.

It particularly distinguished itself on 11 May 1944, at Castelforte, and in the lower Garigliano, and on the following days at Ausonia, Esperia, and Pice. It took part in the brilliant and victorious operations of Roccagera, Lenola, Colleverro, from May to June 1944, as well as in pursuit of operations up to Siena.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This shock unit particularly distinguished itself in the course of the landing operations in Normandy, 6 June 1944. At Pointe du Hoc, in spite of great losses, the unit captured, by storm, cliffs commanded by heavy guns which were captured and destroyed, thus permitting the main body of the Allied forces to land.

A magnificent unit animated by the finest qualities of courage and combativeness. It attracted particular notice while engaged in the battle of Normandy from 21 June to 1 July 1944, at Pointe de la Hague. FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 247, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A Battalion inspired with verve and combat ardor worthy of praise. It distinguished itself during the battle of Mons on 2 September 1944. Cut off from the main body of the unit, and in a very exposed position, it endured, without weakening, the repeated attacks of an SS Battalion. Assisted by four light tanks, it attacked compelling the enemy to retreat, taking 250 prisoners. tant degree to the liberation of Belgium. On 2 September 1944, it resisted a Battalion of SS troops on the Mons road, which resulted in not only the defeat and surrender of the German unit, but also prevented a later attack upon the supply trains. On 3 September the members of the 18th Field Artillery Battalion acted as infantry to lead a tank attack against a strongly entrenched force on the outskirts of Mons.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 3311, 3 January 1947, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The 18th Field Artillery Battalion again distinguished itself during the battle of the Ardennes in December 1944 and January 1945. From its position on the north flank of that zone, it hurled back the German troops and advanced swiftly toward Malmedy and Stavelot in support of the 30th Infantry Division of the U. S. Army. It resisted the constant and fanatical break-through attacks of the enemy. On 24 December 1944, this unit received the command to go immediately into the Manhay-Grand Mesnil zone, to halt the advance of the German attack. By a night march in the snow, the battalion reached the position indicated and was attached to the 75th Infantry Division and placed in support of the 13th Armored Division. By its effective and accurate fire, the 18th Field Artillery Battalion helped localize the break-through and contributed in an invaluable manner to definitely stopping the German attack. Throughout the entire campaign, fighting to the limit of their endurance in adverse weather conditions and against constant attacks, all the members of the 18th Field Artillery Battalion conducted themselves with gallantry, devotion and determination, and contributed to the defeat of the common enemy.

Pressing the attack without respite in the face of a stubborn defense, the enemy was incapable of expanding the breach caused by this break-through. After the enemy attack had been contained successfully, the 9th United States Division and the units attached to it took up the attack themselves and forced the German army to fall back and leave the territory of Belgium in this area.

An engineer unit possessing a remarkable combative value and a very pronounced sense of heroism. From 17 to 19 December 1944, during the violent German offensive of the Ardennes, it attacked and occupied the key position of Wiltz, Luxembourg, using extremely varied fire, despite heavy losses, and in spite of enemy attacks, thus turning aside the first German elements from the road leading to their objective of Bastogne.

A crack unit which successfully completed the Tunisian, Sicilian, Italian, French, and Dutch campaigns, and distinguished itself in the battle of the Bulge from 17 to 31 December 1944. In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command; 24 hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region about Werbomont. Advancing toward the Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American Divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

The 82d United States Airborne Division, with its attached units, after having delivered a marvelous counter-offensive, thrust along the Salm and Ambleve, and after having withstood repeated attacks of the best German units, put up a stubborn resistance to all hostile measures. It progressed, in spite of the added difficulty of cold weather and a deep fall of snow, to the German frontier, capturing 2,500 prisoners, 5 of which were Battalion Commanders. Some deeds were extremely valorous, since its table of equipment presented a serious handicap, in not being able to utilize heavy equipment meant to support them in action like a normal division. A communications unit inspired by a fine spirit of abnegation with remarkable bravery. During the triumphant advance of the XX U. S. Operating very often in advance of the Infantry, obliged to fight while at work, it was always in the breach at the most critical spots, thus contributing greatly to the speed of the Allies freeing the territory of France.

A magnificent group, whose brilliant operational successes during the period from 20 August 1944 to 10 February 1945, while fighting with or in support of the 2d Armored Division (French), impel admiration. Boldly thrusting out deep reconnaissances east of the Mouldre around Crespieres and up to the Moselle near Charmes, it established a bridgehead and held it all alone. Toward Luneville and Baccarat, it engaged in protective and advance guard missions, first at Andelot and then from the Marne to the Moselle and in the La Mortagne area. It took the village of Mont, overran Vaucourt and reached the Emmersville, Gieslautern, Wadgassen line, where it held out stubbornly in spite of violent German counterattacks on 31 December 1944 and 1 January 1945. During the course of these operations, the 106th Cavalry Group showed tenacity and spirited operating efficiency of the highest praise. Never letting up in its drive, even when it had to battle against a determined enemy superior in numbers, it carried out all its assigned missions, seeking contact which the enemy was attempting to elude. This unit demonstrated the finest military attributes and incomparable battle attainments.

Outstanding for its devotion to duty and fighting spirit, the 106th Cavalry Group successfully accomplished all missions with which it was entrusted from 5 to 20 August 1944, in cooperation with the 2d French Armored Division. In a brilliant military operation of four days, the 113th Cavalry Group progressed 130 miles on a front of 20 miles, crossing Belgium between Charleroi and Brussels, in order to reach the Albert Canal and the Meuse in the Tongres area, on a mission of combat reconnaissance, without the continuous support of the other combat units of the XIX Corps, who were temporarily immobilized because of the lack of gasoline. In spite of the unknown position of the enemy, the danger of being cut off from their Corps or immobilized in enemy territory because of the lack of fuel, the firm resolution of the 113th Cavalry Group to carry on its mission was never shaken for an instant. The bravery and intelligence with which this advance was effected permitted the Allies to seize the Albert Canal line rapidly, reconnoiter the fort of Eben-Emael, the Meuse, and thus free from German domination an area of about 2,500 square miles, including hundreds of Belgian villages and towns.

By a brave maneuver, the 113th Cavalry Group, under the XIX Corps, entered into the combat sector of the VII Corps and cleared a path, while contending with the stubborn resistance of the enemy on a particularly unfavorable terrain for mechanized cavalry operations. In spite of the difficulty of the mission, the presence of two important obstacles, the Albert Canal and the Meuse, and of being separated from the XIX Corps, the 113th Cavalry Group, operating with bravery and confidence, cleared the east bank of the Meuse and thus made possible the construction of a bridge, its crossing by the 30th Infantry Division, and the attack which ensued toward the northeast to skirt the defensive works of the enemy on the Meuse.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER STAR, awarded under Decision No. 246, 15 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A gallant unit, which attracted special attention at the time of the landing operations of 6 June 1944. It was given the mission of clearing the beaches in advance of the Infantry and did its job under terrific enemy fire, on heavily mined ground. It continued to serve with the same ardor and with the utmost disregard of danger in the operations that followed. This unit displayed the finest qualities of valor and discipline.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 267, 22 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A fine combat unit spirited and animated by exceptional courage. It distinguished itself particularly during the operation in Normandy, near Grimesnil, on 29 and 30 July 1944. Its mission was to capture a road by which the German forces were withdrawing. It withstood, without weakening, the attack of an enemy column of 2,500 men and 90 vehicles, during more than 6 hours of fierce hand-to-hand fighting. In spite of the enemy numerical superiority of 4 to 1, it destroyed this enemy force, killing 450 men and taking 900 prisoners. This brilliant action contributed to the annihilation of the enemy forces in Normandy and success of the Allied landing.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 2086, 3 April 1946, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

A crack unit which successfully completed the Tunisian, Sicilian, Italian, French, and Dutch campaigns, and distinguished itself in the battle of the Bulge from 17 to 31 December 1944. In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command. Twenty-four hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region about Werbomont. Advancing toward Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by Von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 2086, 3 April 1946, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

The 82d United States Airborne Division, with its attached units, after having delivered a marvelous counteroffensive thrust along the Salm and Ambleve, and after having withstood repeated attacks of the best German units, put up a stubborn resistance to all hostile measures. It progressed, in spite of the added difficulty of cold weather and a deep fall of snow, to the German frontier, capturing 2,500 prisoners, 5 of which were battalion commanders. Some deeds were extremely valorous, since its table of equipment presented a serious handicap, in not being able to utilize heavy equipment meant to support it in action, like a normal division. For 23 days, under the most trying circumstances, the veterans of the 82d Airborne Division did not cease to be an example of heroic courage, distinguishing their combat with several brilliant actions. With its valor enhancing the traditional spirit of the Allied Airborne troops, it has rendered immense services to Belgium and to the Allied cause in establishing bases necessary for a new drive against the enemy and the Rhine.

- An elite parachute unit of magnificent bravery and well-tempered morale. During the landing operations in Provence (southern France), it found itself, on 16 August 1944, at Draguignan, completely cut off from the main body of the Allied forces. Limited to its own arms, for 5 days, it endured the furious enemy attacks which were supported by a rain of artillery and mortar fire. In spite of heavy losses, it proceeded to attack, freeing Draguignan and taking numerous prisoners, among them several of high rank in the German Army.

A unit which distinguished itself particularly during operations of the Vosges from 17 September to 13 November 1944. It was charged with supporting the II Corps of the French Army, and rendered valuable assistance in disorganizing the enemy by its fire behind the lines. Participating in the offensive of Belfort, it distinguished itself again from 14 November 1944 to 10 March 1945, by aiding with all of its fire the I Corps of the French Army, thus permitting the infantry to advance with the minimum of losses.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH SILVER-GILT STAR, awarded under Decision No. 128, 22 July 1944, by General of the Army JUIN, Commanding the French Expeditionary Corps, with the following citation:

Under the command of Lt. Col. Henry P. Ward, this unit took part in all the operations of the French Expeditionary Corps, with magnificent zeal, from the month of February 1944. On the occasion of the attack of 11 May, it contributed in a great measure by the accuracy of its shooting to the neutralizing of the enemy artillery. During the pursuit of the enemy, it contributed to their disorganization by pushing forward its batteries and by rapid and outright firing. Its actions afforded the French forces particularly efficient support.

In the evening of 17 December, when the division was in the vicinity of Reims, it was called out as a reinforcement by the Allied High Command; 24 hours later, under extremely severe climatic conditions, the division had assumed positions in the region of Werbomont. Advancing toward the Ambleve and Salm, it opened a corridor and kept contact with elements of four American divisions trapped in and about St. Vith, and by its magnificent courage, raised the morale of the units concerned. It prevented an enemy thrust in the north flank of the pocket created by Von Rundstedt's offensive and thus saved the town of Liege and its approaches from another enemy occupation.

Capturing this town on 12 November, it had to meet, one after the other, six furious counter-attacks carried out by doubled forces which brought the enemy, after street battles, to the interior of the town. It remained in possession of the town by totally destroying the attacking enemy forces. It inflicted more than 500 casualties, including those killed, wounded or prisoners.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A magnificent unit, tireless and full of bravery. During 1944, in spite of sharp resistance on the part of the enemy, it performed over 2,900 photographic missions at low altitude in unprotected planes. This action brought to the Allied Command the elements essential to the success of the landing and then of the Allied ground operations. This unit facilitated the rapid destruction of enemy communication lines and military installations. By its ability and spirit of sacrifice, it contributed greatly to the liberation of French territory.

CITED IN THE ORDER OF THE DAY of the Belgian Army, by Decree No. 1392, 20 November 1945, by Charles, Prince of Belgium, Regent of the Kingdom, with the following citation:

Exceptional heroism was displayed in combat during the period of 6th of June 1944, to the 30th of September 1944. During this time, the IX Tactical Air Command had the enormous task to assure the air-land cooperation for the benefit of the ground forces of the American and Allied Armies, at the moment of their victorious advance, which, from the Normandy beaches, led them to the initial phases of the liberation of Belgium. All along the hard period of combat operations, the intrepid pilots of the IX Tactical Air Command operated from bases situated immediately in the rear of the advance echelons of the ground forces, contributed strongly in opening a way for the land units in march, destroying the enemy centers of communication, harassing the concentrations of troops, machine-gunning and bombarding the columns of tanks and sweeping the sky of the enemy planes. The pursuit-plane bombardiers of the IX Tactical Air Command, in particular, displayed exceptional technical cleverness and science of combat at the time of their operations above Belgium. Due Exceptional services were performed from the 16th of December 1944 to the 25th of January 1945. Its staff settled at Verviers and its tactical groups were distributed on the Belgian airfields or on airfields in the north of France. The IX Tactical Air Command bore all the weight of the Ardennes counter-offensive in December 1944. Without stopping, it sent its planes away on reconnaissance missions, in very perilous atmospheric conditions, directed formations of pursuit planes and pursuit-plane bombardiers against the enemy, throwing, ceaselessly, its intrepid pilots against the concentrations of troops, the communications, the columns of tanks, and the enemy lines of supply. During these operations, it succeeded in destroying a great quantity of planes, troops, and matériel of the enemy. The increasing efforts of the pilots and of the heroic airmen of the IX Tactical Air Command, as well as the heroism and military perspicacity of their chiefs, contributed in a large measure in pushing back and defeating the enemy.

It established its headquarters at Arlon on 1 October 1944, and its groups of pursuit planes, reconnaissance and light bombers were installed in the airfields of Beauvechain, Le Culot, La Bruyere, St. Trond, Ophoeven, and Asch. From all of these operation bases, situated in Belgium, the XXIX Tactical Air Command was able to organize and execute, under extremely difficult atmospheric conditions, missions of protecting the land forces, harassing columns and concentrations of enemy troops, and destruction of matériel, food and centers of communications used by the enemy.

vast concentrations of German Armored troops in the region of Malmedy. From 24 to 28 December 1944, the XXIX Tactical Air Command distinguished itself by the unceasing support it gave the land forces. In these 4 days, it made 145 sorties against the enemy, destroying 27 enemy planes, 34 tanks, 391 car transports, 31 armored tanks, 14 staff cars, 12 locomotives and 102 trains, including tank loadings. 556 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy during these operations which took place in Bastogne, St. Vith, Houffalize, St. Hubert, and Celles. From 1 to 15 January 1945, the planes of the XXIX Tactical Air Command pursued the enemy stubbornly in his retreat from Belgium, harassing the infantry columns and machine-gunning the tanks. They inflicted irreparable and decisive losses on the enemy at St. Vith and Vielsalm and Houffalize. The unceasing and heroic efforts of all the officers, warrant officers, and soldiers, from all the units of the XXIX Tactical Air Command, permitted this command to organize and execute the missions which were assigned to it. A glorious and decisive part belongs to them in the defeat of the enemy during the battle of the Ardennes. They contributed in a large part, because of their military virtue, to the liberation of Belgium.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 44, 8 August 1944, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

During April, May, and June 1944, it performed a very important part in the preparation and support of the Allied offensive actions which opened on 11 May 1944, in central Italy. It attacked the rear lines of the large opposing German forces in order to aid the French Army and particularly distinguished itself by the following actions: (1) On 12 May 1944, participated in the attack and destruction of an enemy division command post; (2) on 18 May 1944, attacked bridges and important communications lines; (3) on 24, 25, and 30 May 1944, it destroyed bridges completely, preventing any movement of enemy troops. Within that period, during which it flew more than 5,000 sorties, it dropped upon the enemy more than 10,000 tons of bombs, downed several fighter planes, and lost only 20 planes to the enemy due to antiaircraft. Skilled and formidable fighters, their results testify to the efficiency and tactical skill of the personnel and to the high competence and the experienced technique of the command.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable combat unit, possessing the finest military and professional qualities. It distinguished itself brilliantly from 25 June to 31 December 1944, during the massive raids on Germany, by accomplishing numerous hazardous missions and dropping over 13,000 tons of explosives on vital enemy centers which were stubbornly defended by numerous fighter planes and by a concentrated and murderous antiaircraft defense. In addition, it boldly parachuted supplies for the use of the French forces of the interior. By its sustained and effective action, it thus contributed to the collapse of the common enemy and to the liberation of France.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable reconnaissance unit, which was present on every Mediterranean battlefield from December 1942 to July 1944. The 111th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron contributed greatly to the destruction of enemy personnel with the number of reconnaissance missions executed over enemy lines in spite of heavy antiaircraft fire, with the value and accuracy of the information gathered, and with the adjustment of friendly artillery fire while in flight. Its excellent work made itself felt in the most critical situations in the battle in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, notably in the early part of 1943. It protected ship convoys by taking bearings and destroying enemy submarines. During the campaign in Sicily, in 1943, at the time of the landing at Salerno and especially during the campaign in Italy, it gave excellent protection to the victorious advance of the French Expeditionary Corps from the Garigliano to Siena. It performed a series of brilliant feats of arms, the principal ones which were during the break-through north of Cassino. It destroyed enemy communication lines and numerous bridges, among others, that of Pontecorvo which was of capital importance, before and after the large scale offensive against the Hitler line. Moreover, in the midst of combat, it trained the French reconnaissance group 2/33 of which profited by methods that had proven their effectiveness. Through the courage and ability of its crews during the course of 2,350 missions, totaling 9,250 flying hours, it contributed greatly to the collapse of the Axis forces in the Mediterranean Theater.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 236, 8 July 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

This is a brilliant American Fighter Group. Under the stimulus of its commander, Col. Leonard C. Lydon, it contributed especially valuable and effective aid to the French Expeditionary Corps during the campaigns of Italy and France. Due to the skill and courage of its pilots, many vital enemy objectives were destroyed in the break-through of the sector of the lower Garigliano. Their action permitted the French troops to accomplish their mission which was to capture Rome. On 20 May 1944, it dealt severe blows to the enemy communications system between Vallecorsa, Frosinone, and Ceprano. This prevented the enemy transports from escaping the combined Franco-American attack. By murderous attacks of its fighter-bomber Thunderbolts on the day of the invasion of the south of France, it collaborated brilliantly with the French troops, in spite of the desperate resistance of the enemy. From 20 January to 9 February 1945, it participated in the reduction of the pocket of Colmar, permitting the First French Army to drive the enemy from the left bank of the Rhine. This unit is cited as an example of successful work and continued collaboration between the French and American units.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid fighter group, distinguished for its heroism and its dash. During a surprise air attack (1 January 1945) on the airdrome occupied by this unit, it took off with courage and resolution under the machine-gun fire of German planes. Thanks to its remarkable combativeness, it succeeded in stopping the enemy attack by shooting down 23 of the assailants. Through this brilliant feat of arms, it restored to normal a situation that was considered critical and pregnant with consequences for the Allied forces, thus contributing to the maintenance of Allied pressure on the German Army and to a more rapid liberation of France.

its extraordinary endurance. It has to its credit more than 1,000 enemy planes destroyed or damaged. From the time it reached the line, on 1 December 1943, until 31 December 1944, it distinguished itself by its brilliant feats of arms. It furnished efficient and incessant air cover for the troops which landed in Normandy and advanced victoriously into central France by making 519 sorties, in spite of difficulty in supply and repair. It escorted bombers to Germany over great distances, destroying during the course of these raids, 324 enemy planes. In a bitter struggle, conducted often in the ratio of 10 to 1, it shot down 51 and 39 enemy planes, respectively, in the skies of France on 25 August 1944 and 12 September 1944. While on missions to machine-gun and bomb military objectives, it caused the additional destruction of 560 military transports, 490 locomotives, 1,120 cars, 14 bridges and 609 factories and military buildings. It greatly contributed to the collapse of the enemy forces and to the liberation of French soil.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A remarkable unit that is ardent and animated with the finest spirit of sacrifice. It distinguished itself brilliantly during the period from 11 February 1944 to 15 January 1945, by performing numerous and perilous escort missions involving machine-gun fire on ground targets and dropping equipment by parachute. The principal builder of Allied air supremacy had, by 18 November 1944, shot down the impressive number of 426 enemy planes and inaugurated new combat tactics by machine-gunning ground targets in the heart of Germany. By its military valor and its remarkable courage, it hastened the liberation of French territory.

It established the magnificent record of never permitting the loss of an escorted bomber by an enemy plane. From 1 March 1944, to 6 June 1944, this group attacked all important centers of communication in northern France, especially the bridges of the Seine River and of the Loire River and the airports of Gael, Saint Omer, and Abbeville. It actively participated in the battle of Normandy and in the surrender of St-Lo and Vire, including the capture of 20,000 German soldiers in the south of the Loire River. From 1 until 10 January 1945, which was a very critical period, it performed a great number of very successful missions in direct support of the 2d Armored Division. During that difficult period, it brought down 20 enemy planes and damaged 6 others. It destroyed numerous buildings, vehicles, trucks, and routes of communication of the enemy. This unit contributed greatly to the liberation of France and the final victory.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A magnificent combat unit, remarkable for its extraordinary heroism, its highly developed sense of duty, and a great tenacity in performing missions. It distinguished itself during the campaign in France. On numerous combat missions brilliantly conducted, especially from 1 to 10 August 1944, it hammered the enemy rear relentlessly, enabling the forces of liberation in Normandy to break through the Normandy front. From 11 to 15 August 1944, it neutralized the Falaise pocket with a deluge of fire and steel, always keeping planes in the air, in spite of difficulties of all kinds. On 17 August, it protected the French 2d Armored Division and opened for it the road to the capital. During the month of August 1944, it destroyed 36 enemy planes, 421 vehicles, 52 tanks, 22 locomotives, 899 cars, 12 bridges and ammunition dumps. It greatly contributed to the collapse of the German forces and to the success of the decisive campaign in Normandy.

It played an important role in the Allied victory by rapid and timely actions during the course of more than 2,500 sorties, notably from 6 June 1944, to 14 September 1944. It paralyzed the enemy reinforcements on their way to the Normandy beaches with its destructive power and hastened the enemy defeat by its offensives in support of the Allied ground forces which were driving through France. Within a little over 3 months, it destroyed 17 bridges, 17 gasoline dumps, 9 fortifications, and attacked 5 troop concentrations, 4 classified yards, and other important targets. Through the

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A magnificent fighter unit, full of dash, tenacious and brave beyond all praise. It distinguished itself brilliantly during the campaign of Normandy on 29, 30, and 31 July 1944, by continuously providing air cover and protection for the shock columns of four armored divisions. In spite of losses and enemy anti-aircraft fire which was very dangerous by reason of a low ceiling, it contributed greatly to the success of the decisive break-through of the American First Army to the west of St.-Lo. During these 3 days, it attacked numerous targets on the ground, destroying 94 tanks and over 300 vehicles, and stopped the enemy attack by destroying 13 Focke-Wulf 190's and Messerschmitt 109's. Besides, in response to the appeals of the French forces of the interior, in Brittany, it furnished aid and protection. By its presence in the sky above Brittany, it gave encouragement to the resistance forces in the peninsula.

FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE WITH PALM, awarded under Decision No. 332, 17 September 1946, by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic, with the following citation:

A splendid unit, distinguished for its exceptional heroism, military valor and profound sense of duty. Its mission was to transport by plane-towed gliders, airborne troops charged with invading Normandy. It accomplished this dangerous, delicate, and essential task with sureness, precision, and speed, on the nights of 5 to 6 June 1944, during the next 2 days. In spite of violent enemy resistance and numerous ground obstacles, it attained the specific ground objectives, with very light losses, thanks to the ability of the pilots. It made it possible for the airborne troops to regroup rapidly and inject timely confusion into the enemy zone exposed to the frontal attack of the bulk of the landing forces. Through the courage and ability of its pilots, it executed its mission brilliantly and contributed materially to the collapse of the Atlantic wall and to the liberation of France.

A magnificent unit which nobly distinguished itself by opening hostilities against the Fortress Europe on 6 June 1944, in a brilliant feat of arms. It again distinguished itself from 20 to 28 August 1944, during the famous dash of the American 3d Army through France. It provided constant supplies of all kinds for the armored units dashing like arrows in pursuit of the enemy who was falling back of Metz. It piloted unprotected planes without armor or armament and landed on fields that had barely been liberated which were still full of mines, obstacles and shell holes. The crews of the 434th Troop Carrier Group completed 520 sorties and transported by night and by day in all sorts of weather about 3 million liters of gasoline, heavy oil and ammunition, and evacuated about 2,000 seriously wounded men from the front. Through their energy, their magnificent skill as aviators, and their coolness, these crews made a great contribution to the rapid liberation of the soil of France.

A magnificent formation which was animated with splendid courage and which gave proof of exceptional heroism and military valor. It distinguished itself brilliantly on the nights of 5 June and 7 June 1944, when the Allies landed. It successfully executed its delicate and dangerous mission on which depended the success of the airborne troop attack on the enemy rear lines in Normandy. It piloted planes with gliders without armor or armament. It arrived over the ground objectives in close formation, thus making it possible for the airborne troops to regroup rapidly and open combat immediately with all their means, in spite of a sharp enemy resistance. Through the courage and ability of its pilots, it made a remarkable contribution to the initial effort for the liberation of French territory.

A remarkable unit which proved its worth by opening the invasion route to the Allied forces on 6 June 1944, in Normandy, in a brilliant feat of arms. This exploit was repeated on 15 August 1944, when the Allies landed in Provence. The airborne invasion troops were transported in two missions. With unarmed and unprotected planes, towing heavy gliders, it took off from its base in Italy and crossed the Ligurian Sea. In spite of sharp enemy resistance, it crossed the coast of Provence and flew deep into the country in close formation, landing parachutists and gliders in a rather narrow zone which facilitated their essential regrouping for the success of the operation. Thus it was possible, through the ability and coolness of its crews, to hurl at the enemy's rear an important force consisting of 1,500 men, 70 pieces of artillery and several tons of ammunition and equipment, which contributed greatly to the rapid conquest of southern France.

It distinguished itself brilliantly in air operations over occupied territories and Germany from 1 December 1943 to 1 February 1945. It made 225 combat missions and dropped over 13,000 tons of bombs on vital German centers, in spite of sharp enemy resistance, which cost it 97 planes as against 142 enemy planes shot down or damaged. By its sacrifices, its tireless devotion, and its excellent crew work, it made a great contribution to the liberation of French territory.

V. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), the following unit is cited under the provisions of AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The 24th Infantry Division and the attached 441st Counter Intelligence Corps Team is cited for exceptionally outstanding performance of duty and extraordinary heroism in combat against numerically superior enemy forces in Korea during the period 2 July to 15 September 1950. When the gravity of the military situation in South Korea, and shortage of immediately available transportation necessitated piecemeal commitment of the division, despite its one-third shortage in all essential elements, the division faced an enemy force estimated to be a completely equipped corps, delayed this force and limited its advance. Stubbornly resisting the enemy's drive from Osan, where the advance force of two companies bravely blunted the driving onslaught, the division, though outnumbered, out-gunned, and outarmored in the face of continual frontal attacks, intense guerrilla activities and infiltration of exposed flanks, succeeded in delaying the enemy's main effort until United Nations reinforcements arrived in the critical combat zone. Fighting in the streets of Taejon, where the Division Commander himself led rocket launcher assaults, the enemy was made to pay dearly for every mile gained. Time and time again fierce fighting took place throughout the delaying action when front line units decimated waves of attacking enemy with rifle, machine-gun and artillery fire, then killed the remnants that reached their position with bayonet and grenades. On 24 July, when a grave threat to the vital port of Pusan was made by superior enemy forces from the west, the division was called upon to meet this crisis. With only 2 days rest, the 24th Infantry Division met this critical menace and foiled the enemy's attacks; battalions and companies tenaciously gave ground, exacting a heavy toll of enemy dead and stopped this advance. Moving to a sector on the central Nakdong River front it resisted and later eliminated a dangerous enemy bridgehead that threatened the entire United Nations beachhead. This determined and successful attack completely destroyed one enemy division as a fighting force. The division again distinguished itself in early September when it reinforced a Republic of Korea unit whose lines had been breached in the Kyongju-Pohang sector. By skillful strong attacks this last serious threat to the final defensive area was eliminated. Throughout the entire period of this heroic action, officers and men distinguished themselves by conspicuous gallantry and courage. Service troops fought side-by-side with riflemen, supply and medical personnel performed their missions despite enemy infiltration and flank penetrations. Engineers fought as infantry and stopped hostile assaults with mines and demolitions. Artillerymen fought off attackers to keep their guns in action, in fact every man in the division was engaged in battle. The individual and collective heroism displayed by all ranks of the 24th Infantry Division in its valiant stand against great odds reflect the highest credit upon itself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the periods indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named officer and enlisted man:

Corporal Coleman C. Ellison (Service No. RA14326811) (then private), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company B, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy near Chung Chon-ni, Korea, on 2 August 1950. While advancing with his company across a bridge west of Chung Chon-ni, he spotted a group of the enemy in a gully attempting to flank the column. Realizing the danger, Corporal Ellison, although not a squad leader, on his own initiative collected and led a squad, attacked, and destroyed this group. After advancing a short distance, the column was ambushed and received devastatingly accurate machine-gun, mortar, and 20-mm fire from the front and flanks. An estimated 100 enemy were in position on the right flank on top of a rolling cliff and their heavy fire was inflicting many casualties. Corporal Ellison ran to the base of the cliff and started climbing. This daring action inspired the platoon to follow, scale the cliff, and assault the hostile position. Reaching the top of the cliff, the platoon was pinned down by heavy enemy fire. Seeing this desperate situation, Corporal Ellison sprang up and dashed to the enemy's flank, where he laid down accurate enfilade fire on the position. Expendng his ammunition, he continued to advance, throwing grenades that destroyed the machine guns holding up the platoon's advance. Out of grenades, he ran to the platoon's position and seizing an automatic rifle from a wounded comrade, returned to the crest of the hill firing as he ran. The tenacious fearlessness of his frontal assault in the face of overwhelming odds and the devastating accuracy of his fire completely disrupted the enemy. In this action he killed 18 and routed the force, thereby enabling his platoon to take the hill and relieve the trapped column on the road below. Corporal Ellison's inspiring leadership and sustained heroism reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

First Lieutenant James A. Harris, Jr., O2204091 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company E, 27th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Hwanggan, Korea, on 28 July 1950. When the enemy set up an observation post on a dominant hill and repulsed all attempts to be dislodged, he organized a patrol of seven men to take the hill. Climbing the precipitous slope, he led the patrol in a daring frontal assault against an estimated 40 enemy soldiers armed with automatic weapons and supported by mortars and artillery. Storming the position, his patrol routed the enemy in a bitter hour-long fight. When the hill was secured, 21 enemy dead were counted and nine machine guns and numerous maps were captured. Lieutenant Harris' conspicuous gallantry and superb fighting leadership enabled his unit to capture an important terrain feature and reflect great credit on himself and the United States Infantry.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished-Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant John R. Hardy, O2007768, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company E, 35th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Kuhe-ri, Korea. On 25 August 1950, his unit was providing fire cover for a patrol crossing the Nan River. As the first assault boat reached the enemy-held shore and the troops deployed, they were subjected to intense small-arms fire from three sides. Observing that the patrol's position was untenable, the company commander ordered an immediate withdrawal, but hardly had the order been given when the patrol leader was killed. The remaining eight men reentered the boat and started to return, barely getting underway when six were wounded by the intense enemy fire and the boat adrift started moving toward the enemy shore. Seeing the helpless plight of his comrades and disregarding the hail of enemy fire, Lieutenant Hardy plunged into the swift current, swam 60 yards to the boat, retrieved it, and succeeded in towing it safely to the friendly shore. This prompt display of outstanding heroism by Lieutenant Hardy reflects great credit on himself and is in keeping with the finest traditions of the Army of the United States.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named officer:

Major General William F. Dean, O15453, Infantry, United States Army, Commanding General, 24th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the repeated risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty in Taejon, Korea, on 20 and 21 July 1950. In command of a unit suddenly relieved from occupation duties in Japan and as yet untried in combat, faced with a ruthless and determined enemy, highly trained and overwhelmingly superior in numbers, he felt it his duty to take action, which to a man of his military experience and knowledge was clearly apt to result in his death. He personally and alone attacked an enemy tank while armed only with a hand grenade. He also directed the fire of his own tanks from an exposed position with neither cover nor concealment while under observed artillery and small-arms fire. When the town of Taejon was finally overrun, he refused to insure his own safety by leaving with the leading elements, but remained behind organizing his retreating forces, directing stragglers, and was last seen assisting the wounded to a place of safety. These actions indicate that General Dean felt it necessary to sustain the courage and resolution of his troops by examples of excessive gallantry committed always at the threatened portions of his front lines. The magnificent response of his unit to this willing and cheerful sacrifice, made with full knowledge of its certain cost, is history. The success of this phase of the campaign is in large measure due to General Dean's heroic leadership, courageous and loyal devotion to his men, and his complete disregard for personal safety.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named officer:

First Lieutenant Frederick F. Henry, O2907676, Infantry, Army of the United States, Company F, 38th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action on 1 September 1950 in the vicinity of Am-Dong, Korea. His platoon was holding a strategic ridge near the town when they were attacked by a superior enemy force, supported by heavy mortar and artillery fire. Seeing his platoon disorganized by this fanatical assault, he left his fox hole and moving along the line ordered his men to stay in place and keep firing. Encouraged by this heroic action the platoon reformed a defense line and rained devastating fire on the enemy, checking his advance. Enemy fire had knocked out all communications and Lieutenant Henry was unable to determine whether or not the main line of resistance was alerted to this heavy attack. On his own initiative, although severely wounded, he decided to hold his position as long as possible and ordered the wounded evacuated and their weapons and ammunition brought to him. Establishing a one-man defensive position, he ordered the platoon's withdrawal and despite his wound and with complete disregard for himself remained behind to cover the movement. When last seen he was singlehandedly firing all available weapons so effectively that he caused an estimated 50 enemy casualties. His ammunition was soon expended and his position overrun, but this intrepid action saved the platoon and halted the enemy's advance until the main line of resistance was prepared to throw back the attack. Lieutenant Henry's outstanding gallantry and noble self-sacrifice above and beyond the call of duty reflect the highest honor on him and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

Master Sergeant Travis E. Watkins, (Service No. RA6295287), Infantry, United States Army, Company H, 9th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against an enemy near Yongsan, Korea, from 31 August through 3 September 1950. When an overwhelming enemy force broke through and isolated thirty men of his unit he took command, established a perimeter defense and directed action which repelled continuous, fanatical enemy assaults. With his group completely surrounded and cut off, he moved from foxhole to foxhole exposing himself to enemy fire, giving instructions and offering encouragement to his men. Later when the need for ammunition and grenades became critical he shot two enemy soldiers fifty yards outside the perimeter and went out alone for their ammunition and weapons. As he picked up their weapons he was attacked by three others and wounded. Returning their fire he killed all three and gathering up the weapons of the five enemy dead returned to his amazed comrades. During a later assault, six enemy soldiers gained a defiladed spot and began to throw grenades into the perimeter making it untenable. Realizing the desperate situation and disregarding his wound he rose from his foxhole to engage them with rifle fire. Although immediately hit by a burst from an enemy machine gun he continued to fire until he had killed the grenade throwers. With this threat eliminated he collapsed and despite being paralyzed from the waist down, encouraged his men to hold on. He refused all food saying it for his comrades and when it became apparent that help would not arrive in time to hold the position ordered his men to escape to friendly lines. Refusing evacuation as his hopeless condition would burden his comrades he remained in his position and cheerfully wished them luck. Through his aggressive leadership and intrepid actions, this small force destroyed nearly five hundred of the enemy before abandoning their position. Sergeant Watkins' sustained personal bravery and noble self-sacrifice reflect the highest glory upon himself and is in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the Army of the United States.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded posthumously by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Charles W. Turner (Service No. RA 20 157 371), Armor, United States Army, 2d Reconnaissance Company, 2d Infantry Division, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Yongsan, Korea. On 1 September 1950 a large enemy force launched a mortar and automatic-weapon-supported assault against his platoon. Sergeant Turner, a section leader, quickly organized his unit for defense and then observed that the attack was directed at the tank section 100 yards away. Leaving his secured section, he dashed through a hail of fire to the threatened position and mounting a tank, manned the exposed turret machine gun. Disregarding the intense enemy fire, he calmly held this position, delivering deadly accurate fire and pointing out targets for the tank's 75-mm gun. His action resulted in the destruction of seven enemy machine-gun nests. Although severely wounded, he remained at the gun shouting encouragement to his comrades. During the action the tank received over 50 direct hits; the periscopes and antenna were shot away and three rounds hit the machine-gun mount. Despite this fire he remained at his post until a burst of enemy fire cost him his life. This intrepid and heroic performance enabled the platoon to withdraw and later launch an attack which routed the enemy. Sergeant Turner's valor and example reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the esteemed traditions of the United States Army.

This general order will be brought to the attention of all personnel by posting conspicuously on bulletin boards in unit areas.

AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR

By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Medal of Honor for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty is awarded by the Department of the Army in the name of Congress to the following-named enlisted man:

Private First Class Melvin L. Brown (Service No. RA 13 303 715), Corps of Engineers, United States Army, Company D, 8th Engineer Combat Battalion, distinguished himself by conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against an enemy on 4 September 1950, near Kasan, Korea. While his platoon was securing Hill 755 (the Walled City) the enemy, using heavy automatic weapons and small arms, counterattacked. Taking a position on a 50-foot-high wall, he delivered heavy rifle fire on the enemy. His ammunition was soon expended and although wounded he remained at his post and threw his few grenades into the attackers, causing many casualties. When his supply of grenades was exhausted his comrades from nearby fox holes tossed others to him and he left his position, braving a hail of fire, to retrieve and throw them at the enemy. The attackers continued to assault his position and Private Brown, weaponless, drew his intrenching tool from his pack and calmly waited until they, one by one, peered over the wall, delivering each a crushing blow upon the head. Knocking 10 or 12 enemy from the wall, his daring action so inspired his platoon that they repelled the attack and held their position. Private Brown's extraordinary heroism, gallantry, and intrepidity reflect the highest credit on himself and are in keeping with the honored traditions of the military service.

I. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE CROSS.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against an enemy during the period indicated is awarded posthumously to the following-named enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Robert E. Dare (Service No. RA 6794378), Infantry, United States Army, a member of Company K, 34th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action near Taejon, Korea, on 20 July 1950. His platoon was leading the company advance along the airport road when it was dispersed into the rice paddies and pinned down by cross-fire from six hostile tanks and an estimated enemy battalion. Sergeant Dare, assistant squad leader, with utter disregard for his safety, exposed himself to the intense fire to take command of the platoon. Displaying outstanding leadership and courage, he personally directed the fire of his machine-gun squad, reorganized the platoon, and ordered its withdrawal to a defensive position. During this action he was critically wounded, but continued to command the platoon. Refusing aid, he ordered his men to leave him behind and withdraw to a secure position. His initiative, aggressiveness, and gallantry during this engagement cost him his life but saved many of his comrades. Sergeant Dare's heroic action reflects the highest credit on himself and upholds the finest traditions of the military service.

II. DISTINGUISHED-SERVICE MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (WD Bul. 43, 1918), the Distinguished Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in a position of great responsibility during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers:

Major Edward A. McCarthy, O291380, Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Headquarters 2d Battalion, 105th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by gallantry in action against the enemy on 21 June and 7 July 1944 at Saipan, Marianas Islands. When the battalion command post was shelled on 21 June, causing several casualties, Major McCarthy, with total disregard for the explosions, quickly dispersed the personnel, directed evacuation of the wounded, and reorganized the command post. On 7 July, while Major McCarthy was in command of the battalion, a fanatical enemy attack rendered the unit's position untenable. Major McCarthy ordered a withdrawal to a more favorable position. During the withdrawal, enemy fire disorganized the unit. Major McCarthy, exposing himself to hostile machine-gun and mortar fire, moved to a position from which he rallied the battalion, reformed it, and checked the attack. Inspired by his courageous example, the troops beat off wave after wave of attackers and held their positions until relief arrived. The quick thinking and gallant actions of Major McCarthy reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device to Major McCarthy, for service during the same period, published in General Orders 68, Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Middle Pacific, 27 May 1946.)

Captain Robert W. Cook, O1338442, Infantry, United States Army, a member of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. On 23 October 1950, a civilian lineman working on a power line suffered severe shock and burns from contact with a live wire. Captain Cook, seeing the man suspended by his safety belt and in great pain, secured a ladder and a fire extinguisher, climbed the pole, and, at great risk to himself from possible electric shock or fall from the ladder, succeeded in partially extinguishing the flames. The initiative and courage displayed by Captain Cook reflect great credit on himself and the military service.

Captain Ralph M. Wymer, O478018, Medical Corps, United States Army, a member of Medical Company, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. On 23 October 1950, a civilian lineman working on a power line touched a live wire and suffered severe shock. Seeing the man suspended by his safety belt, with clothing afire, Captain Wymer, without hesitation, climbed the ladder, put out the fire, and attempted to cut the live wire. When the power was finally turned off and the victim lowered to the ground, he administered first-aid treatment. Captain Wymer's courageous act reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

VIII. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—1. By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the period indicated is awarded to the following-named officer:

Lieutenant Colonel Hunter B. Gainer, O416082 (then major), Infantry, Army of the United States. June 1943 to August 1944.

Captain Alfonse E. Miele, O12754 (then first lieutenant), Air Corps, United States Army. 15 July 1944.

IX. BRONZE STAR MEDAL.—By direction of the President, under Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944 (sec. II, WD Bul. 3, 1944), the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States during the periods indicated is awarded to the following-named officers and enlisted man:

Sergeant First Class Frederick W. Heffner (Service No. RA6944877) (then private), Infantry, a member of Company I, 112th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroic achievement on 2 February 1945 in the vicinity of Colwar, France. When his platoon was pinned down by German heavy machine-gun fire, he braved the hail of enemy fire to move two of his wounded comrades to the shelter of an abandoned German mortar emplacement. He then, without regard for his safety, moved into a position where he was able to silence the enemy gun with his automatic rifle. This action enabled the platoon to move on with the company and reach the objective without any further loss. Sergeant Heffner's courageous action in the face of heavy enemy fire is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service.

Lieutenant Colonel O'Neill K. Kane, O18150, General Staff Corps (Armor), United States Army, as commanding officer, 776th Amphibian Tank Battalion, distinguished himself by heroism achievement during the landing near Palompon, Leyte, Philippine Islands, on 25 December 1944. He accompanied the first wave ashore and immediately located the only access route inland from the beach. Leading the task force inland, he encountered a strong anti-tank gun that threatened the entire landing beach. With complete disregard for his safety, he dashed forward in his thinly armored amphibious tank and neutralized this hostile gun. Colonel Kane's initiative and fearless leadership made a direct contribution to the early capture of the important port of Palompon. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Lieutenant Colonel Kane, for meritorious service from 19 to 23 December 1944, published in General Orders 449, Headquarters, 77th Infantry Division, 23 November 1945.)

Captain Robert W. Landies, Jr., O1319292 (then first lieutenant), Infantry, Army of the United States, a member of Company B, 357th Infantry Regiment, distinguished himself by heroism in action at Maizieres-les-Metz, France, on 30 October 1944. During the attack on the town, he led his men through constant enemy fire, repeatedly exposing himself to direct fire, while personally cutting enemy communication lines and placing demolition charges against underground machine-gun emplacements. He was twice knocked down by mortar fire, but directed the advance with such skill and courage that the mission was quickly accomplished. Captain Landies' courageous leadership and example reflect great credit on himself and the Army of the United States. (This award supersedes the award of the Bronze Star Medal to Captain Landies, for heroic achievement on the same date, published in section II, General Orders 90, Headquarters, 90th Infantry Division, 4 February 1945.)

XI. BATTLE HONORS.—As authorized by Executive Order 9396 (sec. I, WD Bul. 22, 1943), superseding Executive Order 9075 (sec. III, WD Bul. 11, 1942), citation of the following unit in the general orders indicated is confirmed in accordance with AR 260-15 in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of deserved honor and distinction. The citation reads as follows:

The French Battalion, United Nations Forces in Korea, displayed extraordinary heroism in action against an armed enemy in the vicinity of Chipyeongui, Korea, during the period 30 January to 2 February 1951. Advancing to the north as a part of the 23d Regimental Combat Team, 2d Infantry Division, with the mission of locating and engaging the Forty-Second Chinese Army whose position was not known, the French Battalion, together with a battalion of American infantry supported by artillery and tanks, began their attack from the Chonsan-Tanguri assembly area up the Kumdang Chon Valley at 310000 January. Advancing over the rugged, mountainous terrain, the attack progressed slowly until the French Battalion, on the left of the two advancing units, seized Hill 453, a critical terrain feature which not only dominated the area to the south, but also overlooked a northern valley divided by two ridges through which twin railroad tunnels ran on an east-west axis. With the French on this hill, the remainder of the objective was taken without opposition at 1815 hours and the force immediately began occupation and organization of the high ground around the tunnels. One company of the French Battalion was placed on Hill 453 and the remainder of the Battalion deployed on the ridges to the north, making up the western half of the perimeter. At 0600 hours on the morning of 1 February, after the American battalion on the eastern half of the perimeter had been under attack for over an hour, the French Battalion was attacked by the 373d Chinese Infantry Regiment, which by 1020 hours had employed its entire strength and had reached the crest of Hill 453. The French company on the hill counter-attacked with bayonet and drove the enemy back. By noon, elements of another Chinese regiment had gained a high, rocky hill on the northwest corner of the perimeter from which they brought direct machine-gun fire down onto the area and the force command post. The French 3d Company, deploying along the crest, attacked this lodgment under cover of direct recoilless rifle and tank fire, drove the enemy off, and restored the lines. The crisis came in the early afternoon with the French 1st and 3d Companies still under heavy attack and no air support available because of the ground fog which had covered the area throughout the morning. However, at this juncture the fog lifted. Twenty-four fighter aircraft sorties were brought in, and observed mortar and artillery fire were placed on the masses of attacking enemy. Under this firepower, the enemy broke off and withdrew at 1800 hours, just as a fresh American battalion arrived from the south. On the next day, 1,800 dead Chinese soldiers were actually counted in front of the perimeter, the majority of whom were in front of the French Battalion's position. Also, of a total of 225 casualties suffered by the task force, 125 were among the companies of the French Battalion. As a result of the gallant actions of this splendid fighting unit of French volunteers, representing 50 percent of the infantry in the force, the position was held and the 373d Chinese Infantry Regiment was routed. These actions, coupled with the equally heroic stand of the 3d Battalion, 23d Regimental Combat Team, on the other half of the perimeter where the Chinese 374th Infantry Regiment was destroyed, cost the enemy an estimated 3,600 casualties and put the 125th Chinese Division out of action as an effective fighting unit, thus enabling the 23d Regimental Combat Team to continue its advance. The extraordinary heroism, aggressiveness, and esprit de corps displayed by the French Battalion, United Nations Forces in Korea, during this period reflect great credit on the arms of the Republic of France and the United Nations. (General Orders 86, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, Korea, 20 February 1951.)
