BLUE TIDE RETURNS FROM TYBEE

RED KEENAN K. O.'s JIMMY WILDE IN FIRST ROUND

Popular Benning Boxer Shows Class; Last Week's Fights Were Great Success.

Two thousand fight fans saw Red Keenan, Fort Benning bantam knock out Jimmie Wilde of Atlanta in the first round of their scheduled ten round go at Gowdy Field, on the night of the 22nd.

They also saw several of the best three round bouts put on here this year, besides the returns from the Dempsey-Tunney go were announced from the ring between rounds. The main go was short and sweet, Wilde was willing to fight, and started the round off on the offensive, sticking a snappy left jab in the Redtops face at long range, but Jimmie had lots to learn, Keenan worked him into a corner and then bored in shooting both hands to the body, Red stuck a hard left to the stomach that almost doubled Wilde up, crossing the right to the chin, when Wilde waked up Red was dressed and already to go to town.

The best three round fight of the evening was between Bat Phillips, Infantry School Det. and Kid Colombo, 29th Infantry. Both boys started off like a whirlwind, each taking one to give one, the second round went the same way until Phillips caught the Kid on the button, Colombo was on his feet at eight with Phillips trying for the Kao., the bell probably saved the doughboy, the third round saw them at it again, the final bell saw both boys punch drunk and groggy, but still showing leather, Phillips won the decision, but both boys put up a great fight, and the fans are rearing to see them in action again. Baby Asher continued to knock 'em cold when he hit one Mr. Wadkins of Columbus so hard in the first round that he departed at the end of the round, no explanations were necessary.

Blondie Parker of the I. S. D. announces that he chooses one Chambers of Columbus for the next card, Chambers has won over Benning fighters on two occasions here, but Parker says that he happens to have his poison.

Battling J. D. has promised to have them primed for the next card, Harris and Williams have won every bout they have fought in here, Whiskers put the finishing touches to Young Bob Lawson in his last fight here.

Rufus Miles of Columbus and cities further west, will probably meet Soldier Gorman of the Infantry School Det. at the next slugfest.

Pvt. Gormna has certainly picked himself some job when he challenged Ramblin Rufus for that boy can certainly sling leather, but Gorman is plenty fast, and we are all pulling for him to bring home the bacon.

ALL ARMY TEAM BACK AT BENNING; GREAT TEAM APPARENT

Major Van Fleet's Charges Return Here, Showing Marked Enthusiasm and Excellent Physical Condition.

The football material from which the Blue Tide, greatet of all army football machines is bein made, has returned to Fort Benningafter a month's workout at Tybee Bech.

The actual building is now underway, the builders are experts and the material is the bes to be found in the U. S. Army.

Major Van Fleet head coach has charge of the building, and he is being assisted by Capt. Berry, Capt. Charles Mabbutt, Capt Heilman, Lt. Yeomans, Lt. "Red" Reder and Lt. Baxter.

At the present time the Blue Tide is divided in three separate parts, Capt. Berry and Capt. Mabbutt are building the line, Lt. Yeoman and Lt. Reeder have charge of the backfield while Lt. Baxter who was Captain of the 1926 Army team is developing the ends.

When these parts are finished and assembled and the finishing touches put on the Blue Tide will be ready to roll over all opposition, although the real rolling is going to take place in Washington, Nov. 19th.

As yet it is too early to remark on any individual player, but they all look mighty good, and the indications are that this will be a great year for the army football followers.

SCORE BOARD TO PORTRAY WORLD SERIES GAMES

Great American Classic Will Be Shown to Benningites at Gowdy Field

The World Series games will be shown to Fort Benning baseball enthusiasts this year in a bigger, better, and more realistic form than ever before. A new sheet-steel board has been constructed for the portrayal of the plays—one which will show the Gowdy Field spectators every bit of action in the big games except the playing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The score board, which will be manned by a selected group of baseball experts—some selected because they are tall enough to work the spotters in the outfield positions, others because they are short and compact enough to manipulate the bat, the 3rd base coacher, the inning markers, and the slide showing the number of outs, all without causing a traffic jam behind the scenes—was designed by Lieutenant Colonel P. S. Bond, Corps of Engineers, and built by the the Quartermaster Corps, the actual work being done by Mr. Lloyd Hodges, mechanic at the post roundhouse, Corporal Raymond Twigg, I. S. D., and Sgt. Otto Schulze. Corporal Twigg and Sgt. Schulze are now busy putting the finishing touches on the board—fencing and painting the field, constructing dugouts for the two teams, and attending to the thousand and one other details necessary to make a field fit for a World Series.

The first game will be played on the afternoon of October 5, telegraphic returns being received through a Signal Corps line on Gowdy Field, and translated into action by the board crew.

"Com-pa-nee atten-shun," bawled the drill sergeant to the awkward squad. "Com-pa-nee, lift up your left leg and hold it straight out in front of you."

By mistake one member held up his right leg which brought it out side by side with his neighbor's left leg.

"And who is the bloomin' galoot over there holding up both legs!" shouted the hard-boiled sergeant disgustedly.

He (singing)—When the sun has gone to rest, that's the time that I love best.

ARE WE AS BAD AS ALL THAT?

Speaking to a group of senior officers at the War College a little while ago, Major General Charles P. Summerall, the army's distinguished chief of staff, told a despressing story. Discussing future warfare and the ability of the United States to come with it, General Summerall made this pointed remark:

"We have never fought a war with trained or equipped trooops and we shall never do so. It is inconsistent with our form of government and the psychology of our people to maintain adequate military preparedness. They would rather pay the price that has followed every war than spend a part of the amount in preserving peace."

Lamentably enough, this is a painfully accurate analysis. Made by an expert soldier speaking to an audience which neither needed nor wanted to have the facts glossed over, it takes on added significane. So indequate is the state of our national defense that one shudders to think of the consequences were we to face a well equipped land enemy single-handed. Even if the risk to our lives and the lievs of those we love is removed from the argument, a few simple facts clearly prove that our unpreparedness is economically unsound.

Our national wealth—and this phrase excludes credits and currency—for 1925, the latest available year, was $355,300,000,000 according to a report by the National Industrial Conference Board. The current appropriation for the War Department, including many non-military activities, such as river and harbor work, was about $120,000,000. Even adding in the appropriation for the navy, we find that the amount spent in insuring our wealth against aggression is only about .0140 per cent. of the total. If we maintain such a low rate of insurance when our most priceless possessions are at stake we have only ourselves to blame if war destroys and impoverishes us.

It seems impossible for our people to see the handwriting on the wall. This probably explains why General Summerall spoke in a resigned tone of our unpreparedness, evidently assuming that a people which had not learned the obvious lessons from the last war is deaf to reason and that only a painful recovery from an ignominious defeat could make us see the light.—New York Tribune.

Quartermaster Corps

Detachment Quartermaster Corps

Monday was circus day in Columbus and quite a few of the boys visited the animals and other rare attractions. All had an enjoyable time, but refused to believe Scope's theory after seeing the monkeys.

Vernon Thomas, messenger de-luxe, of the Quartermaster's office, has been promoted during the past week and no one ever deserved a promotion more than he. He has been smiling or the past two years and more with never a grumble. We hope to see him advance even further along the road before long.

Charles Dollar, one of the print shop Corporals, demands a recount in the Tunney-Dempsey battle. He has taken an involuntary stay-at-home pledge for the next two months. In the meantime Frank Kirksey goes merrily on his way with a smile. Better luck next time, Charley.

For some unaccountable reason, Mr. Bewley, Chief Clerk of the Quartermaster Corps, doesn't like the word "Auburn." He must have piked the loser last year in the Georgia-Auburn battle.

The "casino battle goes on and on and on, nightly in the lower squad room. At the present time Knoblock and Ford are leading but are closely pushed by Wiggins and Davis.

Phipps and Sims should turn in their chairs, for they never use them. They are having a long distance bunk endurance contest with both participants running neck and neck. We believe, however, that Sims will gain a slight lead during the week next following pay day.

Ye Olde Printe Shoppe Gossipe

The summer Mailing List crop is about harvested and stored away in the Academic Department granaries. The fields will soon be cleared and we may then expect to devote the long winter months of the school year to cores—an endless stream of small jobs.

Santa Claus dropped in the other day and left us without a "ninteen dollar and a quarter" man in the shop.

Cpl. Manning figures that at his present rate of output (3,000 copies per day) he may finish the Daily Bulletin job before the Christmas holidays.

Subsequent to the completion of an animated building program that has to do wi'h the rear end of the shop, the press has announced that Sir Charles Dollar has been designated Knight of the Bath.

Grandma Gossip, alias Tabloid Trout, has been eating out his heart, knawing his nails, pulling his ear in a desperate effort to stir up some sort of a scandal this past week. Somebody had better give him the occasion to talk, or he will surely burst.

All the labor, time and expense Mr. Smith has put out in giving his Ford "that school girl complexion" it now boasts is in a fair way of having been squandered in vain. Smith has contemplated sacrificing the proverbial fatted lamb on the altar of the Rain Gods praying they lend their aid and fill some of the chuck holes of the road between here and the Quartermaster's office.

Cpl. Harry Smith said something to the effect that being a Jew has its good points at time. As proof he points out the mid-week pass given him because of his affiliation with a certain ancient creed.

Job Number 132, perhaps a little better known to the laity as the new Telephone Directory, is getting well under way.

I. S. D. NOTES

The Smoker given by the Infantry School Det. last Friday night was a huge success in every way, Major Bootz made a short but interesting talk, then the Detachmenteers sat down to a real Dutch lunch prepared by Staff Sgt. Bayliss and his kitchen force, after consuming great quantities of sandwiches and assisting it down with cold bottles of the nearest beer obtainable, every one lit a cigarette or cogar (there were plenty of each) and enjoyed an evening of wit and humor.

The music furnished by the Harris sisters was excellent and met with great approval, then the talented leather pushers of the outfit put on a couple of bouts that were full of action. Harry Manning and Al Durden put on a blackface act that was funny although they were both acting natural, Bond and Miller actors of real merit, kept the house in a roar for thirty minutes with their wise cracks and witty songs. A quartette from the 24th sang some old fashioned lullabys that were great, but when they sang the old original "Ham And Eggs" they brought down the house.

The 29th Infantry Orchestra furnished music for the occasion, and they were plenty good, the buck and wing dancing put on by two members of the 24th Infantry was hot stuff and got a big round of applause.

A sleight of hand artist did his stuff with the cards and he was clever, he also took a solid steel ring off of a perfectly good string, while two officers held the ends of the string, he was a good magician but a darn poor poet. Well here is hoping we have another smoker before long.

1st Sergt. Glenn is back with the Detachment again after enjoying a nice long furlough down in Alabama.

Sergt. Glenn reports good fishing and an unusually nice crop of chickens this year he also arrived back in time to help enjoy the Smoker, and if appearances count for anything, he sure was enjoying himself.

Well Pvt. Boggs hocked the old family flat iron that he brought all the way from Bugleville, Arkansas, and bet the works on Tunney, Attaboy Boggs, be sure you are right then let 'er go.

Private Adams wishes to announce that "EGGS" from now on means the same thing to him, that a red cloth means to a Spanish bull.

Tubby and Lonnie better known as the Katsanjammer Kids seem to have quite a bit of fun lately trying to figure out what would be the proper article for Spud Murphy's birthday present, Sergt. Ezell solved the problem by suggesting a suit of Lindburgh pajamas, now what we want to know is when does Spuds birthday arrive.

What's this we hear about some Sergt. that got so mad with himself for betting on Dempsey, that he hauled of and smacked himself in the eye?

We would like to correct the following mistake, Pvt. Lonnie Crawford is not going to Italy, he never saw a spaghetti tree and he intends to spend Xmas at home down in Poplar Springs, Ga.

AIR DEFENSE FOR PANAMA AND HIWAII

Representative James of Michigan, who handled most of the military legislation at the last congress, having nearly completed a long tour of inspection, reports that Panama and Hawaii need twice as many airplanes as are to be made available under present appropriation plans. He reports the need of enlarged landing fields and improved ground facilities. And he believes the $150,000,000,000 five year army air program should be revised and expended.

Mere layman's common sense should suggest that Congressman James' recommendations should be heeded. No two key points of our scheme of national defense are more vital than the Panama canal and Hawaii. Our whole naval policy is based on the integrity of the canal and the command of the eastern Pacific afforded by the Hawaiian islands. And both are potentially open to hositle attack, especially by aircraft. The Panama canal is isolated among foreign nations and surrounded by the possessions of first class European powers. Everything west of the Hawaiian islands except the Philippines, Guam, and the American Sameas is foreign.

The canal is particularly vulnerable since it is within easy air flight from a number of froeign bases, and since one fortunately placed projectile from a bombing plane might destroy a lock or cause a slide and thereby cripple the canal entirely for days or weeks.—Chicago Tribune.

May—So you told Charlie you loved him, after all?

Mary—Yes, I didn't want to, but he just squeezed it out of me."—Everybody's Weekly.

1st Bn. Hq. Company

We have many humerous things but we have never seen anything quite as funny as:

Barnwell wearing Shaver's hat.

Shaver telling Black how far he would have been if Black hadn't have called him. (Answer—About four lengths of a half wit, Use Yourself as a measure.)

Romines trying to say, "fellows."

Tiny Rambole's proopsed Channel swim.

Evans knees saying, 'Let me by this time and I will let you by next time."

Cpl. Black eating mayonnaise.

"Captain" Kidd has a fine ear for music. The other day he was sitting in his tent humming and picking a tune in perfect rhythem. His pick stood well the strain of his syncopation. One could imagine the scene if he knew the words of Berlin's song hit "All Alone". Then came the climax, he stroked the touching chord. "Captain" went straight up in the air, his humming changed to a growl, his pick had stopped. As he came down he muttered,"*?"—"Durn that tooth."

TERRY TORY.

Company "A"

Corp. Houchens has returned from his re-enlistment furlough and reports that he had an enjoyable time but is glad to get back ::home."

The "A" Company basket-ball team is shaping up well and will give the other teams a run for their money.

The "Demonstration Platoon" is working hard under the leadership of Lieut. Newman and is prepared to demonstrate conclusively why the 29th "leads the way."

POWELL.

Company "B"

Several men in the company have decided to develope their muscles and have gone out for Wednesday afternoon Athletics. Sgts. Bierman and Stark, and Cpls. Rogers and Boley are among this groupe, every Wednesday afternoon they may be seen developing their muscles on the Recreation room porch by playing Pinochle.

The company combat, and platoon are working very deligently. We hope they win the coveted Green target this year, and it should be an easy matter with the material, and instructors they have.

Our Basket ball team "Mopped" up with "C" company last Wednesday. Company "C" was so badly beaten that they quit after the first half. The score was something like 20 to 6.

Cook Deatherage is developing into a champion boxer, he intends to challenge Tunney soon.

Can you imagine this:

Cpl. Skipper with a handsome, smiling face.

Sgt. Humphrey using profane language.

Pvt. Lockhart spending a Dollar.

Sgt. McFadden staying in camp one night during the month.

BOLEY.

Company "C"

Corp. Stanley Billiter, otherwise known as Boc How, was discharged the 26th. It took a long time to complete that hitch but he finally got it in.

Jesse H. Griffin is another one of the recruits the 22nd is sending to the 29th. He came to this company from Co. "C' of the 2nd.

Corp. Mitcham has returned from furlough.

Our fighting doughboy W. B. Smith and N. A. Walters have returned from Tybee. They both seem to be in excellent condition.

JOHN L. BIGGERSTAFF.

Company "D"

Wonder how each corporal in the company liked his job of unloading 17 belts of amunition by hand. Pretty soft, at that. Only 4,250 rounds each.

Clyde B. Anderson, has returned to the organization for 3 more years. His return was speeded by the fact that Dempsey lost to Tunney. Clyde says he was betting on Dempsey, and would split with Tuney if he lost. He was betting ten dolars.

Speaking of the Dempsey-Tuney affray, Sgt. Vines, called out at diner next day, for the Dempsey fans only to come in for chow. When asked if Tuneny Fans could also eat, he replied that they had won enough to buy their chow. Sgt. Vines, eat in town that night.

The reported for the Columbus, Enquirer-Sun said that "Kennedy, of Co. 'D" 29th Infantry surprised the spectators by winning from Battling Sam." Beg your pardon, but all "D" Company knew the outcome of that fight before it was put on, Kennedy is an exceptional fighter, fast, clever with his mitts, and has plenty of (Nerve).

We have great confidence on him and expect to see him among the leading light of boxing in a short while.

Prizes for high-score in Machine Gun Marksmanship were awarded to the following men: Pfc. Skelton, High score in Company "A", Walton watch. Pfc. Simmons, Second High score in Co. Walthan watch; Cpl. Kinney, Third High score in Co. a set of Military Hair Brushes; Pfc. Casey Highest score recruit, Prize: Elgin watch; Cpl. Clapton, Highest Squad average, Elgin watch; Cpl. Whitaker, second high Squad average, Elgin watch.

Well I guess there will be plenty of time in the company now, don't you think?

JACK CARMEN.

Company "E"

Quite a few of the boys are not feeling so well from the effects of the Dempsey fight. Everybody was betting on Dempsey. We have lost one of our good all-round athlete Corp., Oikari last week by the discharge route.

Sgt. "Fat" Franz is back from Tybee

Island from traning with the Infantry Football squad and is looking like he could knock a brick wall over. Corp. J. Borders is getting to be very classy these days, drives Chryslers, turns them over, pays for them and then tries it all over again. I guess he will have to lay off for another three years—his re-enlistment bonus is shot. Sgt. Company "F"

The peaceful quiet of our company street was rudely disturbed last Sunday by the clattreing of an ancient car and low and behold the occupant of this rambling wreck was no other than our Tennessee friend Cpl. Ernest Costello, who having eaten so much was given this vehicle and told to return to the everwelcoming arms of his Uncle who was the only one able to keep him in proper victuals. There are some that return from furlough thin—but not this man, verily he has put on weight so that he has become a rival to "Tuba."

This company has had the misfortune to lose First Sergeant, Wiliam C. Reddy, who having long administrated to this vageries of this excellent company was called from us to assume more useful duties and receive the well earned reward of a good soldier—the highest honor that can be placed upon an enlisted man——congratulations from your old outfit, Master Sergeant Reddy.

His place has been ably taken by, now First Sergeant Williams, who has been selected for this important duty.

This organization's Company Football Team is coming along in fine shape and we are now looking for games—to be played Sunday. Any one interested give us a call.

O. W. NELSON.

Company "H"

Corporal Dewey Davis has acquired another of Henry's famous chariots in the form of a cut down Lizzie. He has named her "Sal." We wonder for whom the pile of junk was chirstened? Now the boys go around singing a new ballad:

Davis had some money.
It didn't go very far.
He spent it on his honey,
And a Lousey old Ford Car.—(Murphy.)

Corporal Thurman G. Meadows is having a hard time with his "Carburator." It seems that he has to look all over the Parade Ground to locate him whenever he wants him. "Carburator" says that Corporal Pieters reminds him of a Chevrolet, which means, literally speaking, in French, "little goat."

I take this opportunity to corerct the error of last week, in whcih I stated that First Sergeant Craine's red socks were "Joe Gillman Specials." The line should have read "Sears-Roebuck's Exceptional Bargain Introducer."

Sergeant Cody has been giving this department of the Company quite a bit of trouble, due, I suppose, to the fact that he has not been mentioned in these columns for the past few months. If he dosen't do something out of the ordinary, he will have to wait a long time before he gets in again. I think that he is peeved because we failed to mention the fact that he bought a new Essex a few months back. Let's hope that he will do something in the near futrure that will be more worthy of mention in these sacred columns.

Corporal Ryan and Private O'Brien are going to Atlantic City in the near future to attend the beauty contests. No they are not going as spectators, They are going as entrants.

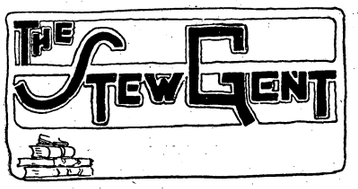
The Reveille Legging Co.
Leavenworth, Kansas



Things have been moving! A few days after the opening exercises and Col. Cocheau's remark about "no tricks" (twenty minutes after which they sprang 'stack arms" on us and threw two companies into a deuce of a jam) the Columbus Chamber of Commerce gave areception for the student officers and wives, that is, for those who have wives. I had suffered so much during those three days at 106 in the shade (according to the thermometer at the ice plant) that I decided to go. When I got there, I was surprised at the small number present, especially with that fine lot of punch and sandwiches. My surprise didn't last long for, shortly afterward, was tipped off that "refreshments" were being served on the third floor. When I got there, it looked like a reunion before the Army-Navy game. Everybody and his wife was there. No wonder everyone spent three minutes on the first floor and the rest of the three hours above! Except for the fact that I got so hot the color of the lining of my blouse melted onto a new white shirt, it was a nice day.

I see where I've got to become a politician and a handshaker if I'm to amount to angthing here. One of my friends, who occupies considerably more than the regulation 22 inches in the front rank of Company "B", put out a general invitation to a "tea" at his home one Wednesday afternoon, presumably to celebrate an addition to the family. I suspected some sculduggery afoot in this general invitation to both companies. It came out this week when this bird got himself elected representative on the board for the Officer's Club. Even if he doesn't carry much influence, he will cary lot of weight into those gatherings. Personally I think it's a shame some bachelor wasn't given the job. How can a lot of married men keep that army of women employes at the club offices busy? Incidentally, I think it's going kinda strong or this Lieutenant to make the wife help further his political ambitions.

I enjoyed a good one this week! About the time we were sweltering in the heat with rifle marksmanship at 106 in the shade and the sandburs, with a lot of gristly sand thrown in for added pleasure, and everyone of us was wondering whether he'd survive the day or be next for a ride to the hospital, one of Captain Stewart's young proteges got himself quoted in the Columbus papers saying, "I never felt better in my life. You may tell the public they may expect the best." We all wanted to choke him or call him doggone pervaricator. Well, I had to laugh when I saw this same bird carrying the "bolo" in Company "C" after making 29 at 200 standing. I concluded he either was misquoted, was a little previous or had once engaged in athletics in Spain. Verily, I had to laugh!

Now that the class has elected a lot of useless officers, I think it might justify its existence b ydoing something constructive. It oocurred to me that it would be nice thing to make that little fellow, who daily gives us the salute as our "dinky" passes his home, class mascot. The boy reserves recognition!

Going back to that bird who 'never felt better in his life," I wonder what Capt. Venable thinks of the Company "C" expert who got ten straight misses at 500 yards finally to wake up with a 300 yard elevation.

Colonel Cocheau told us they were constantly watching for instructor material. I don't think I'm interested! I had an experience the other night when I took a girl to the Country Club dance that cured me. I never got a whole dance or even half a dance with her. Every time I'd get going, some stag would cut in. When I came in after the intermission. I hadn't gone ten steps and the same thing happened. In fact, it kept on happening. I don't think I danced twenty minutes with her all evening! Every time I'd start, someone would cut in. This got more than funny so I started a little G-2 work of my own. I discovered most of the stags were officers of the 29th. I concluded that either there weren't any girls worth taking to a dance or, if there were, they didn't know them. If that's the situation here as regards "permanent personnel," I don't want to be kept here after June. Or is it, that it's near the end of the month?

Why date and transport a girl to a dance, buy her refreshments during the dance and supper afterwards, take her home and then travel ten miles back to camp if you can't get even half a dance with her all evening? It seems to me that this obnoxious situation could be met by restricting all cut-ins until after the first encore so that those of us who bring girls might see them occasionally. Some of these fellows even cut in during the last dance, which is a new one on me. The same thing occurred at the hop Friday at the Polo Club. We had a rule of "bring your own" at affairs in the last regiment I was in. Something of the sort might help make dances more enjoyable for some of us here.

Capt. Venable told us before he dismissed us Saturday morning," "Watch your conduct over the week-end." I think he meant to say, "Watch the 29th over the week-end."

ALL ARMY TEAM MAKES DEBUT TOMORROW

DOUGHBOYS PLAY MILLIGAN SATURDAY; BENNING FOOTBALL SEASON IS OPENED

Interest and Enthusiasm Very Much Pronounced Throughout Entire Garrison. Team In Finest Condition

The All Army football team will open its season Saturday with the gridders from Mililgan College as its first opponents. The game will be played in the Doughboy stadium and will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

When originally scheduled the contest was looked on more or less as a preliminary canter for the soldier team, but a survey of the sport sheets shows that this Milligan College aggregation defeated King College something like 38 to 6, and unless the King lads have a much weaker team this year than they possessed in 1926, this indicates more than a little prowess on the part of the Milliganites. Last year the Doughboys defeated King, 20 to 0.

An examination of the Spalding Guide discloses the fact that the Milligan College team hails from Milligan College, Tenn.—whereever that may be—that Wade Dennis, who plays fullback, is captain of the eleven; that Tobe Edwards, a Georgia Tech product, is coach; and that Claude Love is manager.

Further investigation brings to light the fact that in 1926 these Milligan boys played 9 games, of which they won 3, lost 5 and tied 1.

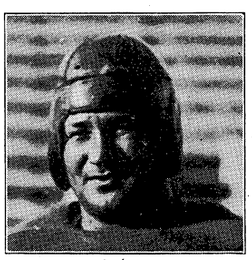
Beyond these facts, nothing is known of the visitors.

As for the Doughboys, the coaches have been driving them at a fast pace, and all reports from Fort Benning are to the effect that the soldier prospects are brighter than they have ever been in the past. The squad is heavy and fast and has been worked into excellent condition by a month's preliminary training at Tybee and several week's intensive prepping out at the Fort.

No indication of the team that will take the field for the opening kickoff has been given by Head Coach Major Van Fleet, but it is thought probable that almost all members of the squad will see action at one time or another during the four periods of play.

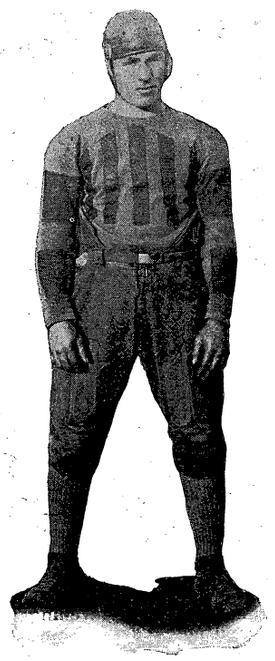
Old time favorites who are almost certain to be seen in action include Kjelstrom, Bertelman, Franz, "Red" Lindsey and Mitsen.

: Fort Benning Satellites :



BERTELMAN
Star linesman of the Blue Tide. He is not at home on the side lines.

KJELSTROM
Benning's best all around athlete—baseball, football, basketball, track. More than expert rifle shot and Anti-Marine.



"RED" LINDSEY
Popular Fort Benning athlete—good at any position. Be careful "Gyrenes."

MECHANICAL SCORE-BOARD PLEASES FORT BENNING FANS

The new steel score board that has just been completed at Gowdy Field, gave the large crowd of fans that were out for the opening game of the world series, a thrill that was second only to seeing the real game.

Every play was shown and executed as the game progressed. The crowd got quite a kick out of seeing the Pirate outfielders back up when the Bambino came to bat.

The big fellow was not able to put over one of his famous circuit clouts, but he was there with the willow, getting a trio of hits.

The new board shows everything but the umpire. The coaches can be seen doing their stuff at first and third. The dugouts stand out in full view. In fact the board is a big success in every way and is highly appreciated by the large number of baseball followers here.

BATTLING J. D. PEAKS TO MEET ROY CLARK HERE OCTOBER 13th

If Battling J. D. doesn't have a ring full of trouble when he meets Roy Clarke here next Thursday night, I am a poor guesser.

Clarke is only seven feet tall, and only weighs 220 pounds with his fighting clothes on, and don't think for a minute he is some Alabama woodchopper, not this boy. Clarke was among the fighters in Dempsey's training camp when he trained for his first fight with Tunney, he has met some good men in the heavyweight division and his fight record shows quite a few victory via; the kao trail.

But J. D. does not seem to be worrying the least bit, he says that he is going to be sure and get him in the center of the ring for the Kao., for he does not want him to lodge on the ropes.

There is no use of saying that the preliminary bouts will be good, for there are a couple of matches that should be the best yet, a return bout between Philips and Colombo, and the go betwen Chambers of Columbus and Whitey Parker of the I. S. D. Whiskers Harris and Leaping Williams from the 24th wil lalso be on the crad, and that always means action, we are forced to change Baby Ashers name to Ko. Asher, he will probably do his stuff if a suitable opponent shows up, in fact the preliminarys' are going to be the best, and fight fans who have wanted to see if Battling J. D. could fight when he had to step out, why this is going to be one grand opportunity.

The fights will be held at Gowdy Field, the bouts to begin at 7:30, box seats $1.00 ringside 50c, general admission tewbits.

Phone 146—City 610

A reception for officers recently arrived at Fort Benning will be held this evening at nine o'clock in the garrison gymnasium. In the receiving line will be Brigadier General and Mrs. Edgar T. Collins, Colonel and Mrs. Frank S. Cocheu, Colonel and Mrs. George W. Helms, Colonel and Mrs. Paul C. Galleher, Mayor and Mrs. Homer Dimon, Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes Browne and Mr. Henry B. Crawford.

DANCE AT RALSTON THIS EVENING

From present indications the dance this evening at the Ralston Hotel will be a most delightful affair.

This is the first of a series of dances planed especially for members of the High School and other dancing sets of Columbus and it is expected that they wil prove most popular with the young people of Columbus.

Good music will be provided and there will always be champerones. The chaperones for this evening will be: Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Somers.

Among the visitors who will be present are: Miss Fauteroy Moon, Miss Alice Ferrell Fullr Calloway and Will Morgan, of LaGrange, Steve Clements, of Woodberry, Rhodes Boynton, of Albany, Ernest Potter, Donald May, Charlie Rush, Kenneth Ward and Fort Ward, of Auburn.

Dancing will begin at nine o'clock and a cordial invitation is extended to the dancing contingent of Columbus and Fort Benning.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Fort Benning Dramatic Club will make its initial bow to the new members of the garrison with its annual Stunt Night on Saturday night, October 15th, at 8:30 P. M., in the Biglerville Mess. All officers on duty at Fort Benning and their families are cordially invited to attend.

An even "bigger and better" program has been prepared and newcomers can enjoy this evening in peace as the committee has the evening fully scheduled and no calls will be made on unsuspecting guests.

In the past "Stunt Nights" have been open to members of the Dramatic Club only and this departure will give an opportunity for newcomers and prospective members to come and get acquainted before the regular season of plays commences.

LADIES RIDING CLASS

The ladies riding class started Tuesday with 156 ladies registered. This great increase from 115 last year and 95 the year before necessitated the formation of five platoons.

Every horse in the Infantry School stables than can be ridden by a lady—beginner or experienced — has been used yet the 29th Infantry and the 83rd Field Artillery have been asked to provide mounts for the ladies from their organizations.

The cooperation of all organizations has enabled this large number of fair equestriennes to be instructed in riding—than which there is no greater pleasure or more profitable exercise.

The platoon instructors are Major H. J. M. Smith, Senior Instructor for the past two years and largely responsible for the excellent spirit in horsemanship which seems to nearly dominate the garrison; Captain P. B. Rogers, in charge of the Infantry School stables and M. F. H.; Captain R. A. McClure; Lt. A. R. C. Sander and Lt. O C. Mood. Two are bald, two affect mustaches, all are married. We cannot understand the ladies—they must be sincere in their love of riding or else hope for that gracious supernumary instructor — "Interest Destroying" Dan Mallan to take their platoons.

EMERGENCY AUTO SERVICE

In accordance with the policy of the Post Exchange Automobile Service Department they have installed under Gowdy Baseball Stand, telephone 177, an Emergency Tire, Gasoline and Wrecker Service up to 3 a. m., each day after regular closing hours. This service we feel sure will be greatly appreciated by all.

AN EVENING OF MUSIC, COMEDY AND NOISE

The final Harmonica Contest was staged at the Main Theatre, Fort Benning, Tuesday evening, Ovt. 4. Six contestants participated, each, of whom, was given the privilege of selecting any of the eight single read instruments on the table, and playing selections of their own choice. Some of the music rendered was exceedingly good, while some of it dragged on the good nature of the audience. Pieces rendered were a combination of rag time, railroad trains with their whistles, escaping steam and grinding brakes, and semi-classical airs. Judging from the voluminous applause rendered by the audience, the half hour spent in this Harmonica musicale, was a huge success.

The following men participated:

Pvt. S. L. Cohen, Company "B", 15th Tanks.

Pvt. S. H. Gilley, Company "B", 15th Tanks.

Pvt. J. D. Wright, Battery "B", 83rd Field Artilltry.

Pvt. Roy C. Nelson, Battery "C", 83rd Field Artillery.

Pvt. J. R. Aldridge, Medical Department.

Pvt. Charl Sams, Hdqrs. Battery, 83rd Field Artillery.

The judges of the contest were Musicians Metzgar, Villa and Orlando, of the Main Theater Orchestra. At the termination of the contest they disagreed as to the winner and each contestant again faced the audience, who applauded in an effort to aid the judges in their decision by popular acclaim. The final decision gave Private Cohen, 1st prize, Pvt. Nelson, 2nd, Private Gilley, 3rd. Valuable prizes consisting of musical instruments furnished by the Hohner Harmonica Company were awarded the fortunate winners of this contest. The Theatre management expresses their appreciation to the contestants for the keen interest whcih they displayed and the Juvenile Comedies and the Hohner Harmonica Company, for their splendid support on this occasion.

Interest In World Series

Great interest is being displayed at Fort Benning in this year's World Series which is now in progress. The Athletic Association in the Garrison is to be very much complimented for the most efficient way in which the Playograph in Gowdy Field is being manipulated.

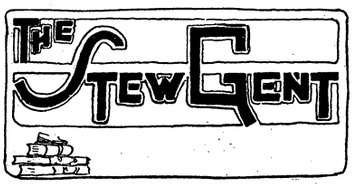
Columbus baseball fans are receiving the same treat as we are enjoying at Benning, from the Columbus Ledger. The Ledger has gone so far as to repeat each days game at seven o'clock in the evening for the benefit of those who are unable to view the Ledger's Playograph in the afternoon.

Regarding the World Series the Ledger says editorially:

The World Series is attracting unusual attention this year. Not until the last minute was it certain which two clubs would be the contestants. In the American League, of course, the Yankees have long been sitting on top of the world, only waiting to see what team they would have to meet after winning their own pennant with the greatest ease. But in the National League the struggle of the four leading clubs was intense, and the issue doubtful, until the very last week of the season. Too late, when they were far behind, the Giants started a splendid rally and almost pushed to the front, but they finally faltered, as did the teams from Chicago and St. Louis, so that the Pittsburgh nine won by a nose. Perhaps it is just as well for the larger and national interest in baseball that we are not to have again the spectacle of two New York clubs striving for supremacy.

The series promises to be full of excitement. The baseball experts gravely go through their usual process of balancing one team against the other, player by player, and inclining to victory for one or the other as personal tastes and preferences may dictate. Past history of baseball has shown how precarious are most of these prophecies. But there can be no mistake in predicting glorious battles between the Yankees and the Pirates. Especially is there a probability of free hitting, which always delights the crowd, the Times observes. New York will have the famous Dioscuri of home-run hitters, Ruth and Gehrig. Will these Pittsburgh pitchers be able to baffle them—pitch to them or pass them? If it comes to batting, the Pirates point with pride to the Waner brothers. One of them, although only in his first year in the National League, leads it in hitting, while the younger Waner, fresh from Oklahoma, is only a step or two behind. It is said that some one asked the brothers if there were any more at home like them. The answer was that, while they were pretty good, they had a younger brother who would soon come along to outshine them both.

In addition to bringing the big series to Columbus, via the Playograph system, The Ledger will publish in its regular edition the complete Associated Press report of the games day by day, thus rendering a double service to its patrons.



Well, I'm offering alibis! I missed "expert" by three points and feel pretty punk about it. However, there's some consolation in knowing that Essifi and Boyles of the 17th Frissell, Bassett and a lot of other crack shots who generally bat around 317 to 320 also "struck out." Capt. Venable isn't any sorrier over that rotten mess of ammunition and bad weather than the 126 of the class who failed to make it. Next time I fire for record, I'm going to wait for better weather, that is, if I have anything to say about it. It was tough to see all the hard work of Capts. Brian, Withers, DeWare and Olmstead turn out with this result.

Speaking of instructors, that fellow Jones who is telling us about the automatic rifle sure knows his spare parts! He spills dope about that iron as smoothly as water runs off a duck's back. I hope he'll have better luck making experts out of us than they had with the rifle. I came here expecting at least to remain the expert I am and to collect a few more bars for my medal. So far I'm minus one I had when I arrived.

I don't think I can take much stock in Col. Cocheu's assurances of "no tricks" since they sprang "stack arms" and this "cadence drill" on us. I had just come out of a doze when Capt. Olmstead, looking me straight in the eye as if I'd done something and got caught, said, "March the platoon in!" Well, they did everything but wreck the parade grounds. The dust looked about as thick as when Lt. Deaderick cut gashes and ruts into it trying to come down to quick time from the double. I sure mopped the water off my brow when I got that gang back to the locker room! For tieing them up in a knot, this cadence stuff is guaranteed to do it quicker than a cat in fly paper. When you get trying that drill you feel just like Major Mulhall of Co. "C" did when he shot a "possible" at 500 yards rapid to find he was on the wrong target.

Col. Cocheu must have felt sorry for us for this week he confidentally tipped off Capt. Graham to teach us to execute "stack arms". Now I feel better but it won't last long for I understand they plan to test us in close order drill with troops from the 29th. I only wish the troops were officers of that outfit so I could get back at them for stagging to parties and cutting in on me every dance and twice as often during the "Home, Sweet Home" Number.

I noticed at the Muscogee Club party Saturday that some of the student-officers were quick to learn the tricks of the permanent personnel. Some of them now also stag and dance all night with the girls the rest of us bring. Well, tonight at the big reception they'll be cutting in on what they think are a lot of Columbus girls to find out they're wives of officers. I noticed the artillery also is in as bad a situation, on this score as the 29th. I hope they bring Club dance. If these bozos start taking my girl away from 'em, I'm going to hand them some of their own medicine and cut right back.

Capt. Gorder told me today he's with me "again this cadence drill." I ask him why and he said his feet got mixed up and he gave "Column half left" when he meant "Column half right" and wrapped the first platoon of Co. "B" around a telephone pole. If it hadn't been for Capt. Olmstead being on hand they'd still be wrapped.

Capt. Magill is out with blood in his eyes. The other night it seems that some of Lt. Criswell's friends in the 29th caled him up and asked him to give "Maggie" some much needed help in this cadence drill, that Maggie would appreciate the assistance. For Criswell it was a fine excuse to get away from home so he tells the wife he's going to help Magill. Imagine the wife's surprise when someone calls her on the phone and asks for Criswell. She says, "Why he's at Capt. Magill's quarters" and then hears, "Why this is Capt. Magill. He hasn't arrived here yet." Poor Criswell! He won't get a pass now for the rest of the year!

I hope Capt. Dunlop gets together with Capt. Walker or the Post Exchange Officer to collect for our Athletic Association tickets before Saturday's game otherwise some of us new arrivals won't see the game. Generally that fellow Dunnie knows his stuff except when he quotes over-enthusiastic Mexican athletes.

Morale is picking up among the "shock troops" Pole, swimming, golf, half days off during the world series except for the poor students, hops, football games, homes for well trained male cats, dancing classes and dramatics certainly sound like someone ought to be satisfied. Now, if we can get some of these birds who have been on duty too long with mule drawn outfits, to lower their voice when talking to human beings and brother officers, we'll be able to get some rest nights and up to seven mornings. When some of these bozos start broadcasting at 6 a. m., and slamming screen doors as they come and go, you've got about as much chance of resting as with a corral full of braying burros alongside. A little duty with a rifle company might teach them that the voice should be raised only enough to be heard by the few being addressed. I don't think you could ever teach a bachelor to close a screen door quietly behind him!

I expect Capt. DeWare will soon hear a lot of new alibis that Capt. Venable didn't get. At any rate he's taught us, "when a soldier makes a mistake, he should be corrected!" I'm going to consult Sgt. Hill about that for I think he put that dope out about 18 years ago. And then they tell us tactics are ever changing! I hope DeWare shows us and especially me how to shoot that iron. I might want to use it some night to send to the happy hunting grounds that prize dumbell of the reservation who hooks his car in front of Joe Bush's quarters at 2 a. m., until the whole neighborhood is awakened. I wonder how he'd like to have a few flat tires all of a sudden?

This swimming instruction in December still worries me. Maybe that's why we're issued bayonets. They ought to come in handy to chop holes in the ice. I understand if the ice water doesn't get us those afternoons, they still have Capt. Brown here. Brown says he's going to exempt Lt. Deaderick from pulling himself up that 60-foot rope. Says he isn't taking any chances on having the roof torn down.

I think it looks as if I'd have to buy a car. With a home that isn't a home, I haven't anywhere to take my friends from town I want to give them a drink of ice water. Maybe I'm being protected from such accidents as Lt. Brine had this week when a 50-pound cake of ice fell on his foot when he went to get a bottle of ginger ale (?) out of his ice-box. That's tough luck but he doesn't know how lucky he is to get out of this cadence drill stuff. However, he can watch Lt. Shephard do his demonstrations in the "School of the Soldier." If that boy wasn't married the bachelors of the 29th could well use him as a decoy to meet Columbus girls so they wouldn't have to stag to dances, in fact, I think if they did, they'd get so many they could help out the artillery with a few surplus ones. This boy Newman of the 29th is no mean looker himself but he'ell never get to first base with the girls or the student officers until he sounds off a little louder. Like the girls, these officers, want cave-man tactics. You can tell he's never had "command and leadership." Between Shepard and Newman, you have to admit there are some good looking youngsters in the 29th. In view of this I can't understand why they don't know more of the opposite sex.

We were off the "air" last week due to lack o news, but "come on" again this week.

Drilling in this company has sowed up and Communication School starts, with studies in wire work, Message Center and Radio. By looking over the personnel of the company it seems that we are going to have an excellent communication platoon, with the able assistance of Lieutenant Privatt, our instructor.

Concerning the Vaudeville, we have been wondering why two members of this company always demand front row seats. we don't know unless it is——

Staff Sergeant Kjelstrom, the "Red Grange" of the 29th Infantry, is now back from Tybee in wonderful form, ready to rip holes in many lines on the Post football field.

WM. B. SMITH.

1st Bn., Hdqrs. Co.

Perkins still insists on his service club visits. We happen to know that the little flapper waitress has left this vicinity. Great mystery involved. What can be the great magnetic force which draws our "Cy" to this edifice of amusement. The committee, which was appointed several weeks ago, to look into the matter, seems to have gone to sleep on the job. We have seen some of them also making pilgrimages to the club. Maybe they have found the attraction.

We wish you fellows would wake up and give us somthing to talk about beside Black and Perkins. Are they the only ones who can make history in this company. There are lots of good things we would like to tell you but this sheet is always censored by our good man, Staff. Sergeant Justice.

We might tell you that some of us are about to call Sgt. Sanders, Buffalo Bill because he is not afraid to ride in that bucking Ford of his.

TERRY TOREY.

Company "C"

Corporal Adams and his squad ran the Chief of Infantry Combat Problem yesterday and seemed to have done very good.

Pvt. Cl. Harry E. Wagner has left on a ninety day furlough.

Rct. Simmons one of the new men of this company is to be discharged today. Another man too young for the service.

Pfc. Maddox returned from a thirty day furlough yesterday.

JOHN L. BIGGERSTAFF.

Com-any "E"

The Chief of Infantry Combat Squad of Co. "E", is all cocked and primed for the record run October 3, 1927, and we hope to win the event with Corp. Boling in charge of the gunners.

Corp. Dollar came in the other morning from town with his lips painted up—It looks like he is getting heavy with the ladies' here lately. We have about fifteen men coming in from furlough and about the same going out on furlough.

Sgt. Williams, Corp. Boling and Snider are among the new furloughs that are going out.

The boys have been hitting the show line for Vaudeville tickets the past two weeks. Everybody is going to the vaudeville every night.

We are still longing to move in our new barracks. Hope we will be in them before Winter.

I. M. Y.

Company "F"

We have two new corporals this week. Pfc. Miller and Pvt. Ruso have been thus elevated.

Our football team tasted defeat for the first time last Sunday, the Hq. Co., 83rd. Field Artillery last Saturday, and this does not discourage our heroes, who hold themselves open for challenges from all.

This organization's chief of Infantry's Combat Squad has a good chance of winning, the results having not been announced, so sayeth their able squad leader, Cpl. Gasser.

—O. W. Nelson

Company "H"

Drill season is now under full sway. We are now taking up cart drill and extended order drill. Some of the Recruits in the Company are hoping that the Demonstration season will soon be here. All that we have to say, is that they will be more than glad when the season ends.

The Company football team is showing good form. They played "B" Battery 83rd. Field Artillery ast Saturday, and were defeated 13-0. This was the first scrimmage that the team had had for this year, and we find that they will take up quite a bit of it before they undertake to play another game. Any teams desiring to meet us on this year's schedule, please communicate with the Orderly Room, Company "H", 29th Infantry. We will be glad to give you a place on our schedule.

Football in the 83rd Headquarters Battery (The Green Wave)

Twenty-four Huskie ground busters, answered to the call of the coach, two weeks ago today and have been rounded into a well built machine, Lt. Schwarze is head coach and through his never ceasing efforts, has built up the highest morale ever enjoyed by a Headquarters Battery Team in any sport. Two sets of backs are showing more speed as each day passes, the first lineup has not yet been picked and according to the way these boys are stepping, it will take some tall figuring to decide who, will be the first to take the field on Oct. 19 against our old rivals Battery "B".

The backfield material is far above average, having five veterans of last year's Battalion Team, the backs are Derrick, Leonad, McLeod, Vanderpool, Beuaregard, Arnold, Douglas and McAuliffe, the four last named are to work at quarter. The end position is well taken care of with Koski, Daily, Lewis, Tucker, Powell and Pike, the last named is a new comer and shows up well. The tackles are Hill, Farmer and Cole of last year's Battalion team, and Munroe another new face that will bear watching. Then comes the guards Anthony, Cherry, McCullough, Tilley, Wilson and Bryant, Anthony will be remembered as one of the mainstays of last year's 83rd representatives in the Intra-Mural. The snapper-back position will be filled by Lanee, with Beanpole Cole and Anthony to press him.

The Combat has taken the Championship Trophys for 1927 in Basket-ball and Baseball in the Battalion, and we are going after that Football Trophy, more determined than ever and I don't mean maybe.

After battling on even terms for nearly three quarters last Sunday the "F" Company boys finally cracked before terrific line smashes and off tackle thrusts by Douglas, Derrick, McLeod and Beuregard, these fleetfooted boys are showing up well and are certainly going to make themselves hard to stop in the coming Battery Series. of the forth quarter the Artillery opened up with a dazzling aerial attack that set heads swimming, even the Referee. Here it is McAuliffe passed to Derrick for fifteen yards, Derrick to Douglas netted ten more, Douglas to McAuliffe gets fifteen and another Douglas to McAuliffe was incomplete, McLeod goes off tackle for eight yards and a pass Douglas to McAuliffe twenty yards and a touchdown.

At this stage "F" Co. elected to kick, Ripple kicked to Derrick on the thity yard strip who ran it back Fifteen, on the next play, Derrick kicked to Ripple, who let the ball slip through his hands and as a result he was finally stopped behind his own goal line by Beuregard, for a safety. The "F" lads got the ball on their own Thirty Yard line and after a series of line plays were unsuccessful, they went to the air, the first pass was intercepted by an alert Red Leg who waltzed thirty-five yards behind perfect interference for a touchdown, this ended the scoring for the day.

For the Hdqrs. Battery team there was no starring it took the entire team to win, and it was a well earned victory. For the "F" Co. Club, Ripple was probably the outstanding star, making good gains off tackle and around ends. The entire line of the two nine outfits showed that they are fighting men and they are entitled to much praise.

Quartermaster Corps

Captain Massey, of the Useful Utilities Department, and Captain Littell, of the Brave Billeting Branch, went fishing last Tuesday afternoon. And thereby hangs a tail. Yessir! It is rumored that Captain Massey fell into the lake, maybe to catch the fishes barehanded, but—they brought home the bacon, or rather the fry, as they came staggering home under a load of four 20-lb. fish. (Note: This cannot be verified, as the matter was not reported to the News reporter until the next week—so therefore the word of Captain Littell and Captain Massey will be accepted.)

Lt. Allison, he being the Constructing Quartermaster, came into the office Monday morning trodding the air and not deigning to give any one a glance. Finally, the humble scribe, brushing up on her courage, timidly asked if some money had been left him, and he said: "Money! Ye Gods, no! Something better than the filthy lucre! I'm a proud father, I am—my son was born Saturday! I am now a senior!" All of which is quite just reason for being proud.

Miss Bubye Kennon, of the Transportation Branch, has just returned from a vacation spent in Atlanta and various other towns. She brought back with her a permanent wave and a heavy coat of sunburn.

Mrs. Clara Blount, of the Billeting Branch, is still out on her leave, and reports are seeping out that when she does condescend to return to work she will dazzle the bunch with a flock of new gowns she is creating during her leave.

Miss Beatrice Davis, Constructing Quartermistress, goes on leave Monday. She will join her sister in Tallahassee and from Tallahassee they will go to spend two weeks at her sister's cottage at Lanark-On-The Gulf, and two weeks with Senator and Mrs. H. N. Walker at Waulkulla Beach.

Mr. Markey, of the Fiscal Branch, has just finished remodeling his home, and it rather resembles the home of some steel king or master of finance. It also has had a new Radiola installed in it.

Mrs. Drane, of the Purchase Branch, has been busily entertaining the past week, having as her guests Captain and Mrs. Hilton and family. Next week she is expecting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Craig, of Memphis, Tenn., to visit her. (What with her new bob and permanent wave, Mrs. Drane seems to bloom younger every day!)

Ye Olde Print Shoppe Gossipe

All shop records were certainly broken last week by the amazing short time it took the boys to get out the new telephone directory. A few of us hardly knew that the annual bugbear was in the shop when—presto, a young army from Headquarters was taking the finished product out to place it in distribution.

The long arm of fate has reached out and snatched a thing from our midst which we have long cherished and held dear. It is understood that we may no longer look forward to the semi-daily call of Alice from Message Center. How we will ever bear the monotony of print shop routine unbroken by the morning and afternoon call of Sunshine Cleveland is more than we have been able to figure out.

That Ford has sure turned a meek genteel lad that was Bicknell into a present day man of the world.

Pfc. Trout, jockey of the mighty Mirhley press, is leaving today for the races in old "Kentuck." Lord, how we would like to go along.

Pvts. McCurrey and Prentice, Co.'s B and A of the 29th Infantry, are on detached service at the print shop.

Mr. Smith, shop foreman, has taken a short vacation. He did not say where he was going but something whispers that he took a shotgun and a pair of gummed boots along.

CAPTAIN CHARLES MABBUTT, Q. M. C.

Besides taking over the duties of Property Officer since coming to Fort Benning, Captain Charles Mabbutt has been appointed assistant Athletic Director. Capt. Mabbutt is also boxing instructor, and since taking charge of the Benning fighters, they have improved one hundred percent. Among the Benning fighters is to be found the all-service middleweight champ also the 4th Corps area bantamweight champion and one heavyweight that will be army champion in that class if ever given the opportunity to meet the present titleholder.

We Rent and Sell Electric Floor Waxers. Max Rosenberg Co., Phone 278.

Captain Mabbutt has been assisting Major Van Fleet in getting the army football squad in shape for the coming season, Captain Mabbutt holds the remarkable record of playing football for twenty-three years, and having time out called on him one time, and there was a time when football was a real rough affair.

Frenchy is no ordinary dog by a jug full, climbing ladders, jumping hurdles, locating and retrieving are matters of supreme ease for this dog, who displays intelligence that is almost human.

15TH TANKS

Tankers Retain Lead in Motion Picture Attendance

For the third successive month the 15th Tank Battalion has retained the lead in the sale of U. S. Army Motion Picture Coupons by a safe margin over the two local Infantry Regiments, and the Artillery Battalion. This attendance is based upon the authorized strength of the Units mentioned in this interesting and friendly competition. The men of "C" company for four straight months bought more books than any other organization in the Battalion. This percentage of attendance at the movies is certainly commendable on the part of the Tankers who enjoy such wholesome, educational entertainment as the Fort Benning theaters are now showing, and we hope that more men will attend these shows. The very best shows in America are being brought here by Captain Doll, some of which cost as much as seventy-five cents admittance and more at other places. During October some of the greatest motion pictures ever shown in this or any other country will be on the screen at the local theaters and Tankers should not miss the opportunity to see all of them.

Lt. Hubert W. Keith is away for a few days on a short vacation. We hope he enjoys the brief leave as all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so 'tis said.

A CASE OF DOUBLE IDENTITY

What is this we hear about Bowers and "Peg" Mays being one and the same person at our last Battalion inspection? Page Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Effective Monday, September 26th, truck drivers will be given 24 hour passes for the best looking truck in the park, at the end of each week. What price "Elbow Grease?"

Charleston, Black Bottom and all latest dancing steps taught free by mail. Write Reuben M. Moore, Hq. Co., 15th Tank Bn., for particulars.

Stickney (affectionately known as Salesman Sam) is to be discharged this coming Saturday. He says he is going to leave the army flat. Better change your mind, Stickney, this is a "crool, crool woild." The advice of a man who knows.

Battalion Headquarters was given a shaking up last week when the clerks received the edict of HAIRCUTS or TRIALS. We know that these sheiks will have to stay in camp until the fuzz starts to bloom again. Tough luck, boys, but it is just as hard on the girls.

Company "A"

The Inspection of this company last Saturday, by the Battalion Commander, went off fine. The men deserve credit for their efforts in helping it to do so. Corp. Willingham was noted for having the best polished canteen throughout the inspection. The appearance of equipment in "A" Company was the standard.

We can't keep from "popping off" about our mess hall, our Mess Sergeant and his able assistents. We certainly have one of the best, if not the best mess hall in the post, and the "chow" we are now getting is fit for a king.

When a man goes out for full field inspection and forgets his gun, we do not know whether to call him absent minded or just plain dumb.

From the looks of some of the football players, who have returned from Tybee Beach, Ga., that must be a great place for reducing. (Overweights should take notice).

Company "B"

Pvts. Montondon and Garner paid a visit to the food emporium.

A certain private was overheard in the Tank Park. Ask Carver what it was about.

Corp. Sealey can smoke as many cigars as he chooses since Corp. Martin picked Dempsey to win. Most people from Georgia are lucky, though.

Some one asked Reed how he liked the picture show. Reed says that the music was so loud that he could not hear what the actor had to say.

Anyone who wishes to exchange some old shoes for a good luck piece see Hodges before next inspection.

Cracker Hunt is back for duty with the company after being on duty with the 24th Infantry. (Atta boy, Cracker, keep it up.)

Sheik Williams and Poisso are thinking of buying out of the army and going into the banking business. The only worry they have is financial.

The Grey Eagle was 49 years young on Sunday, September 25th, 1927. He came into this world with a roar, and has been roaring ever since. The Tiger and the cooks presented a cake at dinner. The only remarks the Eagle made were that he hoped that the next forty-nine years would be as happy as the preceding ones. He tells a story on himself which goes as follows: He claims that he is the only one left out of triplets. Everyone came from miles around to see the three babies. Everyone drank to their health and happiness. One big Harp remarked to the Eagle's father; If I had anything to do with them I would drown the two on the outside. The Eagle was in the midde.

Gammage Stood in at 6 a. m., September 26th, 1927. Reported some heavy weather. The good ship Partnership will be decked and overhauled, also a new coat of paint starboard. The engine also needs a new cylinder head.

Sweat received a card from Philbeck last week saying that he was coming home.

Company "C"

Economy seems to be a practice among our amateur photographers. A film with six negatives will not very clearly show 5 pictures of the owner and also 2 of his partner.

The Orderly competition in the Company is very strong at present. Pvt. Chol missed orderly last time. Better luck next time Chol. Pvt. Boudreaux made orderly on his last guard. Pvt. Boudreaux has mounted guard 20 times and has 16 orderlies to his credit. Boudreaux's record is one to be proud of, as he has been here less than a year and has had no previous military service.

Sgt. Wade has returned from a furlough which he spent in Cordele, Georgia. He reports that work is scare and wages poor.

Work on the company display tank is going forward at a fast rate. Cpl. Mattson and Pfc. Linkwald will take the tank to Columbus for the Chattahoochee Valley Fair, October 10 to 15th.

The company made a good showing in the last Battalion full field inspection. All equipment was in good shape as well as the barracks and the grounds around them.

Private Elijah Shivers has joined the company after a period of quarantine and has been placed on Special Duty in connection with Recruit Drill.

1st Lt. Niles has completed the swimming instruction of the recruits. Of the fifty men only two failed to swim the required fifty yards. These two men are under the instruction of the life guards at the pool.

1st Lt. Davis is still assisting Capt. Mabbutt at the Motor Section of the QMC. This is the transportation section of the QMC. Just how long he will be away we haven't heard but we know he is putting out.

COMMONWEALTH BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

Due to the unusual demands for loans in Columbus and vicinity the Commonwealth Building and Loan Association has made remarkable progress in that its directors declared a quarterly dividend of 7 per cent. per annum which was paid October 1.

The association has sold more than a half million dollars of its Running Capital stock and has been able to loan its money almost as soon as it was paid in.

The Commonwealth Building and Loan Association has filled a long felt need in this vicinity. The confidences of the citizens of this community has been won as shown by the large number of members and unusually large subscriptions by substantial business and professional men.

The safest and most profitable investment offered people of little means, today is shown in the opportunity given them by the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Georgia. These Associations are governed by strict state regulations. The State of Georgia requires that all funds of a Mutual Building and Loan Association be loaned only on first mortgages on improved real estate after they have been carefully appraised and with ample margin for safety. Expenses of operation of an association are absolutely limited by rules and regulations of the state governing and supervising all organizations. Not a penny paid in on the par value of shares can be used for any expense whatsoever. The association must have first mortgages on real estate or cash on hand or in the bank for every dollar paid by these shareholders on their pass books.

These restrictions, it will be seen absolutely protect those who have invested their money in these associations and insure their continued value to the community of which they are a part.

An exceptional opportunity is offered those who wish to place their savings in a safe and profitable investment as well as to those who desire to build or buy a home.

The Commonwealth Building and Loan Association takes pride in offering to the general public an opportunity to share in its prosperity also boasts of four features, namely: Absolute Safety of Principle, Full Earning Power, Availability, Tax Free.

BATTLING "J. D." WINS BY DECISION OVER "ACE" CLARKE

Crowd of Twenty-five Hundred Witness Exciting Main Event and Excellent "Prelims"

(By AL DURDEN)

Another of Walk Millers fighters who fight, caught a midnight train for Atlanta bearing the same sad news that Mr. Miller has heard twice before. When J. D. disposed of Charley King and King Solomon so easily, Mr. Miller wired that he would send Ace Clarke his leading heavyweight fighter down to Fort Benning and that all that would be left of Battling J. D. would be his serial number.

Ace came and Ace went, and although Clarke went the ten rounds he never had a chance to win unless he could have landed a lucky punch for a K. O. J. D.

ENQUIRER-SUN'S CAMPAIGN CREATES MUCH INTEREST IN THE POST

The Subscription Campaign just announced by The Enquirer-Sun is creating real interest at the Post and it is expected that the next issue of The Infantry News will contain the name of an active candidate from Fort Benning.

The prizes to be awarded are indeed unusually valuable. They consist of five closed automobiles; a $1825.00 Nash Advanced Six Sedan, a $1250.00 Oldsmobile Landau Sedan, a $950.00 Essex Super Six Coach and two $702.00 Chevrolet Coaches. Then there are two Orthophonic Victrolas, Credenza models, value $300.00 each and cash awards. Every candadate who does not win a prize is guaranteed a cash commission equal to 20 per cent. of subscription money obtained.

Here's hoping that we will have the winner of the grand prize—the Nash Advanced Six Sedan, right here at the Post.

BENNING'S BLUE TIDE DEFEATS MILLIGAN COLLEGE IN FAST GRID BATTLE

Yeomans, Reeder and Thompson Star For The Infantry Eleven; Rain Slows Up Game

The Blue Tide swept over the field at the Doughboy Stadium last Saturday afternoon carrying the fighting Buffaloes from Milligan College down to a 20 to 7 defeat. Although beaten, the Buffaloes fought hard and threw a big scare into the army machine when they scored a touchdown in the first three minutes of play, the Army kicked off Milligan bringing the ball back to the 40 yard line, after two scrimmages, Dennis threw a pass to McGeehee who streaked down the entire field for a touchdown, goal was kicked a moment later, this ended the scoring for Milligan, but they never gave up the fight, and on several occasions had the Infantry line in the shadow of their goal posts.

Although a fine evening for ducks, a steady rain falling during the entire game, the spirit of the Benning followers was not dampened in the least.

Owing to the slippery ball fumbles were frequent on both sides, the Doughboys evened the score in the first quarter, when they made a steady march down the field on straight line plays for a touchdown, kicking goal to tie, they scored again in the second quarter but failed on the try for goal.

In the third quarter the Buffaloes threatened twice, but fumbles were costly each time, as there was a Doughboy covering the pigskin after each misplay.

In the fourth the Army put the game on ice, Jimmy Thompson carrying the ball over on a pretty thirty yard run, Yeomans punting the ball over for the

WOMAN'S CLUB

Place of meeting—Polo Club.
Date—First and third Monday.
Next meeting—Monday, October 17th.
Time—4:00 P. M.

On next Monday afternoon at the Polo Club at four o'clock the Infantry School Woman's Clubs will be "at home" to the ladies of the comand. Individual invitations with a letter telling something of the history of the Club, and a little application for membership, have been sent to every woman whose name appears in the new telephone directory and it is earnestly hoped that no one fails to get her invitation. The Club wants you to come to get acquainted with new people, to renew former acquaintances, and to learn what the Woman's Club has to offer. There is nothing obligatory in accepting the invitation to the tea. You will be welcome whether you join the Club or not; but if you do join, the Club will be made better by your presence. The Club offers an intellectual outlet for the women of the garrison. It endeavors to be a source of entertainment, instruction, information and inspiration. It has a two-fold policy.

1. General Meetings.

Twice a month on the first and third Mondays', programs of general interest, such as music exhibitions, demonstrations, lectures, dramatic readings, dancing and International News are presented. After each program a "cupo" tea is served offering charming informal opportunity to form new friendships and strengthen old ones.

2. Departmental Clubs:

To meet the varied interests of the members, the Club has departments where great opportunities for self activities are offered. People enjoy doing what interests them and in these sub-clubs like-minded people find each other.

Last year there was a Literary Club of fifty members and those who belonged to it felt that they wouldn't have missed it for anything. Mrs. Philip Peyton who so ably led it, has consented to do so again and the field of interest is broader and even more promising this year for her program guides us in Contemporary World Literature.

There was a Home Economics Club last year which seriously studied the theory and practice of cookery and Home Management, an excellent thing to do, and was excellently done.

There was an Arts and Crafts Club which did so many lovely things which give the touch to a home and which generally takes much money to buy. Some capable leaders have consented to lead this group age in (when she returns from her honeymoon?)

The sub-clubs in themselves are worth far more than the General Club, dues $3.00 payable in advance. Yet any member of the club is entitled to belong to any or of all of these clubs—or if you prefer, you can belong to the Woman's Club without joining any of these departmental clubs.

You cannot however belong to departmental club without paying your General Club dues. Going to the General Meeting is of course optional, but the Woman's Club is responsible for these departmental clubs, membership in it is essential to enjoying the privilege it offers through its various channels.

Plan now to meet your friends at the Polo Club next Monday at four.

To Dry-Clean Hose
Is Hardly Practical

It's a bitter experience to buy a pair of radiant glossy hose; to wear them once; to wash them, and then to see the fine glow disappear entirely. It's hardly practical to have your hose dry-cleaned.

The solution is to buy McCallum hosiery. Wash them as much as you like—until they are worn out—they will retain a fine silken glow.

The secret of this lustre is one of the McCallum exclusive processes.

SATURDAY,OCT. 15

"THE COVERED WAGON," starring Lois Wilson with Ernest Torrence and J. Warren Kerrigan in a tremendous picture pulating with life and throb with emotion and thrills. It is a story of America in its making and is staged in the unchanted wastes of the West. The lot is bound by the threads of a love theme of wonderous appeal.

"Hire A Hall."—K. Kat.

SUNDAY, OCT. 16

"CHANG"—This Paramount picture is a type different from anything heretofore shown on the screen. Those entitled to stardom are the photographers who pierced the wild jungles of Siam and braved the innumberable lurking dangers of the uncivilized inhabitants and ferocious beasts. The locale was actually a three weeks journey inland from the nearest inhabitants. Chang, in Siamese, means elephant. The story may be considered an epic drama depicting the story of the lives of three human beings in their struggle for existance in one of the world's wildest regions.

"Pathe News."

MONDAY, OCT. 17

"HULA," starring Clara Bow in a volcano of the films with an Hawaian setting. Imagine the heartbreaking Clara dancing through life in a grass skirt. The story is said to be an authentic, poigant portrayal of a pleasure-mad, carefree, wayward miss, in an environment of pleasure-mad island inhabitants. You'll like it.

"Golf Widows."—Imperial Comedy.

TUESDAY, OCT. 18

"THE CALLAHANS and THE MURPHEYS," featuring Marie Dressler, Polly Moran, Sally O'Neil and Lawrence Gray in one prolonged howl of screen mirth. It chronicles the hilarious combats, fueds, quarrels and econciliations between two neighboring Irish families of the New York tennements. Two lovable but belligerant Irish mothers raise their broods next door. Wealth comes to one family, romance to both, then misunderstanding and what looks like tragedy becomes comedy of the gayest type.

"Crimson Flash No. 5."

WEDNESDAY, OCT 19

"THE WAY OF ALL FLESH," starring Emil Jannings in an intense soul-stirring drama portraying the struggle of soul against flesh It is the story of a home loving, God fearing man who falls for the sirens, casts his beautiful life behind him, basks in revelry and finally becomes obscure to the better world. Years later, as a derelict, he is again thrown into the environment of classical music, his heart longs for the beauties of the past and there is an awakening.

"Rolling Along."—Sport Comedy.

THURSDAY, OCT. 20

"TWELVE MILES OUT," starring John Gilbert and Ernest Torrence in a maratime thriller. It is the story of a daredevil motorcycle rider of a whirl of death in a side show concession. He is double crossed in love by a bootlegger and becomes a hijacker prying upon the activities of his arch enemy. The story leads to sea, terrible fistic and gun brawls ensue. The revenue service prevents loss of life, law breakers are punished and eventually human hearts win. The story is an exciting romance.

"Soup To Nuts."—Christie Comedy.

FRIDAY, OCT. 21

"WE'RE ALL GAMBLERS," starring Thomas Meighan. Tom begins as a prize fighter; by force of a powerful personality he battles his way to Broadway success as a night club proprietor. An aristocratic society woman falls in love with him and he with her, but neither will admit it until forced by circumstances.

"Pathe News."

SATURDAY, OCT. 22

"GRINNING GUNS," starring Jack Hoxie in a different kind of western story. Political schemers in a blood tingling battle with publishers of the newspaper in a two gun town of the bad lands form the back ground for this story of fighting, riding, romance and intrigue.

"Vanishing William."—Whirlwind Comedy.

Army Polo

The first Army Polo team to enter into an Open Polo Championship Tournament performed with very great credit at Meadowbrook Long Island the week of September twenty-ninth. The Army team was considered by those who witnessed the contests and by Polo experts as being one of the seven top-notch teams competing in the Tournament of 1927 for the Championship of America.

post in the process and sending himself catapulting out of the saddle for a dreadful spill. After some moments he remounted to finish the game at flying pace."

extra point. Changes were frequent in the line up, Major Van Fleet giving almost the entire squad a chance to get in the fight, although the Doughboy machine is not yet finished by any means, the prospects are very bright for a great year for the Doughboys.

The "Romping Reeder" showed the fans that he is as good at the pigskin game as he was with the ole horsehide, and it seems that he will be an even bigger favorite with the fans on the gridron than he was on the diamond.

Lt. Yeomans gave the crowd a sample of the stuff that made him famous in the football world while attending West Point, and he seems to be plenty fitting.

The fans were there with the glad hand of welcome for the Old Guard as they came on the field, Lindsey, Kelly, Franz and Jimmie Thompson, were all given a big hand, but still the fans were calling for Big Bertha and Enie Sweenie, and in the last few minutes a play, a roar went up as Big Bertha went rolling out to take his lace in the Army line, Sweenie followed a moment later and was given the glad hand. There is no praise for any individual, but the fans of Fort Benning are satisfied with the brand of players that are representing them on the football field this season, and the team can rest assured that no matter when or where, Fort Benning is for them to the last ditch. (WHITE LINE).

The Blue Tide will meet High Point College here Oct. 21, at the present there is no dope available on High Point's team, but we are not worrying about who they are for they will probably carry three round decision from Brault of the 29th Infantry this was one of the best bouts on the card.

Head of Columbus punished Carter of the M. P.'s right sharply, Head winning decision, Buddy Myers, Tanker, and Kennedy of the 29th fought a draw, this was a good fight.

Chambers of Columbus who had won his first two fights at Benning, met his Waterloo when he was matched with Whitey Parker of the I. S. D., Whitey had Mr. Chambers on the road to dreamland when the bell went in the third round.

Marquette and Funderberg both here with the football team, fought three rounds to a draw, these boys were in the heavyweight class and put up a good exhibition.

The card was one of the best ever put on here, and every one went home satisfied but the cry that is going round now is "Bring on Tiger Flowers."

SGT. WISEMAN COMMISSIONED 2nd LT. INFANTRY, U. S. A.

Prominent Athlete; Efficient Soldier, and High Class Gentleman

Sergeant Vera H. Wiseman, Company "B" 15th Tank Battalion, locally prominent athlete, and all round, high class soldier has been commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry, United States Army, with rank from June 16th, 1927, and ordered to report to the Commanding Officer, Fort Screven, Georgia for duty. Lieutenant Wiseman entered the military service as a recruit in July, 1924, and his first station was Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska. Shortly after his arrival there he attracted the attention of his superiors by his phenomenal grasp, and quick absorption of things military, and the efficient, conscientious performance of all duties assigned him, with the result that he reached the non-commissioned grade of sergeant within eighteen months after his enlistment. For instance, reaching the far North just in time for the supplementary firing season with the rifles he amazed the garrison by making the unprecedented score of 325, an unheard of accomplishment for a mere recruit, and in the two successive seasons he retained his expert rifle qualification with scores of 310 and 318 respectively. With the Automatic rifle he made about 100 points more than the required qualification, and on the bayonet course he attained the percentage of 100, and that's an achievement for any one to be proud of.

While in Alaska he was outstanding in such athletics that the climate conditions of that country permitted, especially basket-ball which is the main recreational sport outside of hunting. There was one foot-ball game between companies, "E" and "F" of the Seventh Infantry played in the snow, and Wiseman participated in this contest and his organization won by the narrow margin of 6 to 0. With his two year foreign tour about to be terminated in 1926, his record up North as a soldier and athlete had drifted down to the officials in Fort Benning Athletic Office, and to this Battalion which made his transfer in grade to this station a matter of mere routine and thus he became a "Terrible Tanker". Making the long trip through the Panama Canal he arrived here about October first, and immediately became prominent in athletics, especially in foot-ball, basket-ball, swimming, and field and track meets. Last fall as quarter-back on the Tank team he piloted his eleven to the Garrison Football Championship which was the first time the Tankers had been successful in winning this coveted honor. While everyone in the Battalion regrets to see this young officer leave the Tanks, for as a non-commissioned officer he enjoyed great popularity with the men and was held in the highest esteem by all officers in the Unit, yet they wish him all the success possible and predict that a brilliant career will be his in the Army.

SERGEANT DARK AND CORPORAL FELBER ARE INFANTRY LIEUTENANTS

The Twenty-ninth Infantry last week lost two of its most efficient and most popular non-commissioned officers in the persons of Sergeant Joe Dark and Corporal Joseph G. Felber who have been appointed Second Lieutenants of Infantry.

These young officers are an excellent example of the highest type of young manhood to be found in any walk of life today. Both are industrious, conscientious men who will make every endeavor to properly execute their oath of office, bringing credit to themselves and their profession.

Lieutenant Felber, first entered the service as a Cadet at the West Point Military Academy, in July Nineteen hundred twenty-three but because of defiency in mathematics was discharged in February of the following year. Not to be daunted in his desire to become an officer Lieutenant Felber hearing of the advantages of the Twenty-ninth Infantry due to its being selected by the War Department as an organization with which to train the officers of the army, Lieutenant Felber entered the ranks as a soldier in March Nineteen hundred twenty-five. Because of his phenomenal ability to grasp things quickly and correctly he was appointed corporal in a few weeks after being assigned to the organization.

Lieutenant Dark, though his military career has not been as colorful as that of Lieutenant Felber's has been just as impressive. He entered the service in October Ninteen twenty-four. Three months after enlistment was appointed corporal and entered the non-commissioned officers school then being held in the regiment from which class he graduated with the highest honor that year.

The 24th Infantry football team saw its first action last Saturday when it journed to Nashville and played the Moorehouse College squad. The score was 20 to 0 in favor of the Nashville team. Two touchdowns were made in the first quarter by the college team after which the doughboys tightened up and held the Moorehouse team to another touchdown. The game was interesting from start to finish and proved of value to the 24th Infantry team even though it suffered defeat. Captain M. E. Craig, who has charge of the team was well pleased with the showing made in the first game of the season and predicted a successful season for the 24th football squad. With a total of twenty-five players on the squad a good all-round team should be produced within the next few weeks. Football fans at Fort Benning may look forward to some hard fought games on the local gridiron this year when the 24th Infantry team gets under way. The game scheduled with Roger Williams for next Saturday has been postponed but it is hoped that another game will be scheduled to replace it.

Colonel Johnson Returns to Duty.

Colonel W. C. Johnson, commanding the regiment, returned last week from a six weeks trip to Washington and points in New England.

Mrs. Johnson will be at home to the ladies of the regiment next Tuesday, October 18th, for the purpose of organizing a ladies regimental bridge-mah jong club.

This is the first social event in the regiment this season. The regiment will hold a dance at the Polo Club on Friday, October 21st. The permanent hop committee of the regiment was appointed last Monday. Captain R. M. Winfield, Lieuts. R. S. Mackie, and E. I. Stewart are members of this committee.

I. S. D. NOTES

Get your suitcase packed and your blankets rolled, for Monday is moving day, and everything goes but the bedbugs, the 29th attended to that.

The tents will be warmer and more comfortable during the winter than the wooden barracks were, for one of those little stoves certainly does warm things up while with one stove in the barracks, every one had to crowd around, and your back would scorch while your front was freezing.

Pfc. Knox played the Auto Exchange during the summer and dropped quite a bit of dough, Mr. Knox says that after making a few small investments in the Ford exchange and having varied success, that he played a tip and punged on Auburn stock, losing his entire fortune along with over six dollars worth of barber checks.

Corp. Virgil Earl Morris has returned to us again afte rexploring the wilds of Fort Valley and surrounding territory, he reports that Peaches of all varieties are plentiful there, of course at this season there are no fresh ones, but there are plenty of them "canned" and occasionally you find one that is actually stewed.

Pfc. Garner and his rambling Lizzie have arrived back with the flock after making a tour to Florida and Mississippi during his two months leave. Garner gave the ole bus an overhauling a few days ago and both now seem to be as good as ever.

Yes Millet, I think you are right to stop smoking if you really intend to marry the girl, for all of the nickels squandered on cigarettes will some day help buy the babies shoes.

Pfc. Jobs dropped in a few days ago and asked if he could get a little assistance on a delicate subject, as we are always ready to help a friend, why we told him to shoot, but if the young lady fails to understand what he said he wanted us to help him make her understand in the said letter, why we just can't help it, for I did all my proposing nearly fifteen years ago, but here is hoping.

I. S. D. Mess was up in fourth place in the standing of messes in the Sept., report, when you realize that our mess feeds about four hundred men, and that instead of the usual three, that six chows are put out daily, why fourth place is nothing to be ashamed of.

Editor's Note—The Infantry School Detachment is to be congratulated upon their mess.

When you are tired and worn out after a hard days work, just drop over to the recreation room, get your favorite magazine, sit down in a cozy corner in one of the big easy chairs and read a good story, there is also a big radiola with records of all the latest song hits, four pool tables in excellent condition, all at your service. These comforts were furnished by the Detachment, but the credit for the condition of everything goes to Pfc. Ray or rather Daddy Ray, he is always on the job, keeping everything neat and you can always find books, pool cues, etc.; in their proper place.

Since taking over the work of circulation manager for the Infantry News, Seaby Calhoun has proved to be an excellant man for that position, his work having proved highly satisfactory.

Professer P. Gap of Tennessee once, but now with the Benning School, says that since coming in contact with Calhoun and Al Durden, he has decided that the state of Tennessee owes Prof. Scopes an apology.

We are sorry Spud, but you should have told us that you didn't want any of Lingberg's ole clothes.

The Infantry School Det. points with pride to the following letter of thanks to Pvt. Willoughby Lynch of this organization:

These are moving days for this company, we having been assigned to the barracks the Howitzer Company vacated so as to take quarters in the new barracks. This company is also on fire guard this week, so the boys have not been very far away from "home," and consequently have given the editor no chance or reason to write up any scandals, rumors or reports of the doings of the bold and venturesome.

Sergeant Frank C. Davis, who has been on furlough the past month or so is back, but not officially, as there are a few nickels at the fair in Columbus, that must be collected first, after which we exect to see him back for duty.

This Company has always, in the past, messed with Company "H," but now that we are by ourselves we have our own mess supervised by Sgt. Wadford our Mess Sergeant, who sure does know his stuff. We hope he keeps up the good work and always remember the saying, "An Army marches on its stomach."

WM. B. SMITH.

1st Bn., Hdqrs. and Hdqrs. Co.

Caskie Green recently returned from furlough. The next day the mailman was loaded down with letters written by Caskie, headed for Tenn. We guess he must have a harem somewhere in the sticks. Are you high sheik, Caskie? As soon as he returned some young thing in Columbus stuck him for a wrist watch, Can You Beat It?

The Articles of War were read to the company, Saturday. The question came up about time lost in the stockade. Kuykendall asked, "Supposing that a man has already did done ten days before he is acquited." Tell us, was it funny? If it wasn't why did it bring a laugh?

GUY ROPES.

Company "A"

Corporal Lawrence A .Beck has lately been promoted to the much coveted grade of Sergeant and is hereby received into the Benevolent Order of Three-Stripers. The initiation will take place soon.

Pfc. Morgan is now a "Narrow-guage" having received his stripes on October 3rd.

Sergeant John B. Hudson, upon his return from furlough, notified the scribe and the world at large that he had made the journey to the Altar with his blushing bride-to-be and came away a married man. Congratulations, John. (You won't get any sympathy here.)

SNOOKS.

Company "C"

Claude T. Smithson was promoted to the rank of corporal and we are all glad to see him made, as he well deserves it.

Sgt. Mansfield, Pvt. H. L. Smith and Pvt. Berryhill left on furlough Saturday the 8th.

We are wondering what it is that takes a certain small dark haired sergeant down to Columbus so much lately. We notice that since he has been going to Columbus he has stopped talking so much of leaving the service.

"Ochilly" Preston has put in his papers to buy out. He says he is going back to the farm to milk the cows and chickens.

Company "C" seems to like their new quarters very well. The men are taking to the new order of things okay.

JOHN L. BIGGERSTAFF.

Company "D"

Our popular young sergeant, Joseph L. Dark, received his commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Regular Army, and has been assigned to the 8th U. S. Infantry, stationed at Fort. Moultrie, South Carolina. The 8th Infantry is fortunate in securing the services of Lt. Dark, who we are sure will be as popular an officer as he was a non-com.

The best wishes of the entire company go with you, Joe.

Sgt. ang, beter known as Goofy, thought that the cranberry sauce served with the turkey dinner Sunday, was jelly, and mixed it with his ice-cream. Sgt. Hines followed his example and had to throw his ice-cream away, although Lang said that his was delicious.

JACK CARMEN.

Company "E"

Company "E", has been doing extended order drill the past week. Our Mess Sergeant Zed Buford who has been on an extended trip to Harris County and while there he has slightly put on the appearance of a Bolshevist. He lost his furlough while fishing and had the misfortune of falling in Mulberry Creek. We are glad to have him back with us.

We had quite a few boys coming back from furlough and they are glad to be back.

Corp. Joe Felber has received his commission as Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Army and goes to 8th Infantry at Fort Moultrie, Ga. The company was sure glad to see him get it.

I. M. Y.

Company "F"

This organization has left its old home and tents and with much rejoicing and lots of sweat have moved into our palatial quarters in the new 29th Infantry Barracks. This move was the occasion for lots of toil but the move was sure welcome, for those tents—are not what they used to be. Our first meal (Monday noon) in the new quarters was made more pleasant by the presence of Capt. Holmes E. Dager, who celebrated with us.

Sunday was the day—Our company football team made a strong comeback and upset the dope by decisively defeating Hq. Company 83rd Field Artillery, who had beaten us previously. Pfc. Armstead was injured, but we are glad to announce that he is improving nicely.

Oh! You clothes racks—the reason for many a da'. But while there is lumber and "Shorty" is still a going, we have hope. In the sweet bye and bye we may hang our clothes on the racks instead of the floor. But why worry—We are all moved in and just about setted, all except 'Mexican Joe" who has been a little lonesome and has been showing it by singing long and mournfully.

O. W. NELSON.

Howitzer Co.

The company welcomes back to duty Sgt. Tom Tompkins just reporting from a ninty day furlough and Cpl. Clarence Rogers who had only thirty days, but we hope he had just as grand a time.

The entire company on last Wednesday night enjoyed a very pleasant evening in the Twenty-ninth Infantry Theatre watching the Ed Gardinier Prancing Around Show.

Three other N. C. O.'s left the first of the month on thirty and sixty day furloughs, Cpl. H. Smith, Cpl. A. B. Thomas and Cpl. Fate Thomas. Here's hoping they enjoy their vacation immensely.

Company "A"

Well, well, you should have been here when the shell oxploded and blew up the well organized hand of "Night Riders." For a few minutes things were flying high. About 9 o'clock the good ship (without a top) took off, (a wonderful take off) only to make a forced landing within a few yards of the old flag pole foundation. The chief pilot miraculously escaped injury, and only he himself can explain the situation (if he can remember). But here is the best part of it, the pilot seemed to have disappeared immediately after the landing. We thought that maybe his parachute failed to work and that he had fallen in one of the trees or yards in that vicinity, so we had a very dependable scout sent out to bring him in. In the meantime the good ship was hauled to the hanger under the baseball stadium for repairs. Then later on the scout returned and gave news that the pilot had departed for the city. Think of it, after having a remarkable escape like that, he trots off to town for a good time without showing himself to the crowds that were surging around. Later on the scout thought he would carry on, so he proceeded to town in search of the pilot, and during his reconnoitering he seems to have disappeared. We haven't the facts yet, but rumors say that he was taken into custody and indefinitely detained by the Sity Officials. Whether he was taken in for operating a sleuthe office without a license, or not, we don't know. We can only await his return before giving out any further information.

The "Night Riders" had a conference concerning the new member they initiated a few days ago. They thought he was a D. C. I., or something, for he hasn't been seen in the car since and the well—organized band is a thing of the past.

Company "B"

Makes Comandant's Orderly First Time On Battalion Guard

George Fountain of Waycross, Georgia walked into the Fort Benning Recruiting Office on the ninth day of September and enlisted for this Battalion, and was sent to "B" company. On Tuesday, of this week, less than one month after joining his organization, less time spent in the Recruit Center, he went on as a member of the Battalion Guard for the first time and was selected as orderly for The Commandant, The Infantry School, and now the old timers in the otufit are wondering just who this Georgia Cracker is. Well, he served more than seven years in the Coast Artillery, and was recently discharged as Corporal from Battery "B" 51st C. A. C. with character Excellent, and right away decided he wanted to try a hitch in the TANKS. There is always a vacancy waiting in the non-commissioned grade or high specialist rating for men of the type of Fountain.

Pvt. Duncan started off with Commandants orderly Saturday, followed by Pvt. McCollum Sunday and Pvt. Fountain Monday Fountain has only been with us a week, but he is not a recruit by any means. He had in six years service before joining the Tanks, but he has picked up the old "B" company spirit very quick. (Atta boy, keep it up.)

Tiger in addition to supervising the mess, is painting animals on Tanks. They are fine looking animals too.

Cogo is some sheik. He carries a gold compact, and everything clears the way for Cogo.

The new equipment for the pool table is going through a busy season.

No, Blondie is not thinking of venturing on the sea of matrimony. Said his girl had not received her raise as yet. He has his buffer and is all sheiked up for the coming world series.

First Sergeant, to Sgt. Hunt, "Say, Hunt, where did you get those two canals?"

Sergeant Hunt, "Those are not canals, they're my dress shoes."

Company "C"

Lieut. Dunn has returned to duty with the company after having spent a short leave at his home in Mississippi where he was called owing to illness of a member of his family. We are all glad to have Lt. Dunn back with the company.

The Mess again rated first place in the Battalion and tied for third place in the Post as a result of the September inspection. A consistent rating of Excellent certainly speaks well for Corp Cassidy and his staff of cooks and kitchen police.

Private Nourse was again taken to the station hospital at an early hour Monday morning.

Privates Hensley and Macey of the recruit squad are enjoying a five day furlough at their homes. They are granted these furloughs for excellent performance of duty.

All members of our company that were granted furloughs for the month of September have returned. All reported having had an excellent time.

Pay Day has again passed and we note with pride that excess spending money did not result in anyone being AWOL. No AWOL since September 1st. speaks well for the morale of the company. We are getting better everyday in everyway.

Corp. Cassidy is spending a few days in Atlanta. We all wish him a pleasant time.

Hqs. Company

Pvts. Harris and Black have reported from 30 day furloughs. Harris said he finally got rid of that "load of wood."

Bingham wants to know how a deaf and dumb boy can say his prayers when he has a sore finger.

Tom Hopkins has been seen reading the society column of the Columbus Enquirer-Sun. We believe that he is trying to hide the fact from us that he is one of the elite.

We have our own private opinion of the man who borrows a piece of wearing apparel from one person gratis for the purpose of loaning it to another man for renumeration. Financial coup, eh, what!!

And while we are on the subject, what is this we hear about the fellow who takes a three day pass and spends it with Howard?

There are now two famous "Jawbones" to be handed down to posterity. 1st—The Jawbone that Samson used when he knocked forty thousand Philistines for a loop. 2nd—The Jawbone that "Candy" used when he knocked "Hawshaw's" hope of breaking into the Jfl Pierpont Morgan class for a row of eiderdown curtain hangers, by absotootly and posolutely refusing to be the goat in "Hawks" get-rich-quick scheme. "Candy" announced to all and sundry that he was triply blankety blanked if anyone got a dime out of him. Look out now!!

ARMY-HIGH POINT GAME THIS AFTERNOON

Polo Season Officially Opened Last Sunday

SHANNON FIELD WAS SCENE OF FAST GAMES LAST SUNDAY

Opening Games of Polo Season Are Most Exciting Throughout; Capt. Forsythe Stars For Freebooters

Two thousand enthusiastic followers of the mounted mallet game, were given the treat of a lifetime Sunday afternoon at the opening of the 1927-1927 polo season at Shannon Field.

The opening game between the Freebooters and Students was a hard and closely fought battle, victory hanging in the balance until the game was over, the hard riding Freebooters taking a close decision 4 to 3.

Captain Forsythe led the Freebooters attack, playing a great game, and also copping the honors of scoring the first goal of the season, when he drove the little white pellet home in the first chukker for the Freebooters initial counter.

The Students played a great game, and forced the veteran Freebooters to fight as they had never fought before to win over the hard riding Greencoats.

In the last period with score standing three all, and both teams staging a last desperate rally to win, Lt. Oliver of the Freebooters drove over the goal that won the opening victory for the yellowjacketed Freebooters.

The second game was a hotly contested match between the Demonstrationists from the 29th Infantry and the Galloping Caisson Riders from the 83rd Field Artillery. This match was even harder fought than the first one, and the finish found the score tied at three all.

Both teams showed a good defensive as well as offensive game, hard riding and exceptionally good work with the mallet featuring the contest. From the caliber of polo shown in the opening games, this season should be one of the greatest ever known by Fort Benning poloist, besides still having the best of last years' players in the saddle again this season, there are several new players that seem to be able to play this game of mounted croquet, as it should be played.

Sunday afternoon will find Shannon Field in the throes of battle again, and if it is excitement you crave, just come out, the only thing missing is the wild steers, lassoes and gun play.

Colonel Frank S. Cocheu, Infantry, U. S. A., was on October seventeenth promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, U. S. A. General Cocheu's promotion came as no surprise to Fort Benning personnel or to the commissioned personnel of the Army at large. General Cocheu has had a long and distinguished career in the Army. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for conspicuous service overseas and has served, on several occasions, on the General Staff.

HIGH POINTERS ARE HERE FOR GAME WITH BLUE TIDE TODAY

North Carolinians are Expected To Furnish Substantial Resistance; Pointers Have Fast Backfield

By Capt. S. L. Dunlop
(From The Columbus Ledger.)

While restless football fans are waiting for the great Georgia-Auburn classic on Saturday they will have a wonderful opportunity to whet their appetites for it by witnessing a corking good football game in Doughboy Stadium out at Fort Benning on Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. At that time the soldiers tangle with a strong aggregation from High Point college, up North Carolina way.

This game was originally scheduled for Saturday, October 22, but when it was learned that the Georgia-Auburn game had been shifted to that date the change to Friday afternoon was effected in order that the Fort fans might see the Georgia-Auburn game, and the Columbus fans might see the All-Army-High Point game.

Good Game Seen

Advanced dope shows that the High Pointers are pointing for the Benning game. The gridiron warriors from the Tarheel state will put a team against the Benningites that will weigh man for man right along with the president's cup men. Information coming in from the High Point is to the effect that the visitors have a line that will average well over 185 pounds per, and a backfield tipping the scales close to 170 each. The spot light there reveals Perdue, Alphers and Heath as sterling backfield performers with versatility galore. Perdue, the report goes, is the best all round backfield performer on the squad, doing all things exceptionally well. Tilberts is another big asset in the backfield and is of the plunging type. He is the Point battering ram. Heath is the shifty type, fast and clever, and a dangerous man in a broken field. He is also good at adding three-pointers by the drop kick route.

Great Tackles

Blosser, McMannis and Dixon are steller end men, and with two gaint tackles, Hutton at 220, and Snyder at 225, makes it difficult for opposing ball toters. Synder is rated as an exceptionally good linesman and it is not hard to imagine that this is so. Thompson, a 175 pound guard is shifty, fast and husky. He is rated as one of the best all round footballers on the visiting squad. Add to this list of husky

BATTERY LEAGUE SEASON OPENED ON WEDNESDAY; TWO BRILLIANT GAMES

Bulldogs from Battery "A" Met The "Red Terrors" of Battery "B" in First Game

By Al Durden

The Caisson Riders from the 83rd Field Artillery celebrated the opening of the Battery League football season at the Doughboy Stadium, Wednesday afternoon, with two hard fought scoreless games.

Noted for their fighting spirit and gameness against outside oppositions, the Redcords display the same spirit when they mix and mingle for battalion supremacy among themselves, and they certainly lived up to their reputation Wednesday.

The Bulldogs from "A" Bat. met the Red Terrors of Bat. "B" in the first game, Thompson kicked off for the Bulldogs and the battle was on, it was the Terrors ball on their 30 yard line, Plummer went around right end for 20 yards on the first play, Plummer picked an opening for 10 yards on the next play, Bernard then hit center for 5 yds., the Bulldogs recovered the ball on a Terror fumble on their 20 yard line, Hunt punted and when Taylor fumbled the ball it was the "A" Bat.'s ball on the Terrors 20 yard mark.

Owen's try for field goal was short, the first half ended with the Terrors on the Bulldogs 20 yard line.

The last half saw each team fighting desperately, and their supporters in the stands begging for a touchdown, it seemed that the Bulldog line must crumble before the repeated smashes of the raging Terrors, and although fighting in the shadows of their own goal post on several occasions, the Bulldog line was still unsullied at the final whistle.

The playing of Bernard scrappy Terror quarterback was the feature of the game, Hunt and Thompson for the Bulldogs also played a great game.

MISS BETTY COLLINS AND MRS. BEN VENABLE SHARE HONORS WEDNESDAY

Miss Betty Collins, whose marriage Tuesday to Captain Allison Barnette will be an event of social interest among army and civilian circles, and Mrs. Ben Venable, who before her marriage this summer was Miss Augusta Turner, shared honors on Wednesday when Mrs. Frank Foley entertained with a luncheon at the Log Cabin.

The Cabin was beautiful in its decorations of autumn leaves, pines and bright red berries, which formed an effective setting for the attractive table in its gay Hallowe'en decorations. An orange linen cover was used on the table and in the center two large yellow pumpkins with eyes, ears, nose and mouth of colorful vegetables were placed among trailing green vines. The table was completed with orange candles and Hallowe'en nut cups filled with salted almonds.

Mrs. Foley presented her honor guests with hand embroidered linen towels.

Covers were laid for ten and those present were:

Miss Betty Collins, Mrs. Ben Venable, Miss Helen Hurlburt, of Chicago, Mrs. Ernest Dismukes, Mrs. Curtis Jordan, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Tracy Davis, Mrs. Drane Bullock, Mrs. Perry Borom and Mrs. Foley.

THEATERS

OCT. 22, TO OCT. 29, INCL.

SATURDAY, OCT. 22

"GRINNING GUNS," starring Jack Hoxie in a different kind of western story. Political schemers in a blood tingling battle with publishers of the newspaper in a two gun town of the bad lands forms the back ground for this story of fighting, riding, romance and intrigue.

"Vanishing William."—Whirlwind Comedy.

SUNDAY, OCT. 23

"BEN HUR," one of the world's mightest attractions. It stars Raymon Navarro with Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy, Betty Bronson and is backed by an exceedingly strong cast. Seven years were devoted to preparations for this picture and three years in producing it. This masterpiece in literature, from the pen of the famous Lew Wallace, is a combination of feats of heroism, sanctity and romance. It is a tale of The Christ, beginning in Jerusalem during the reign of King Herod. Ben Hur, the son of a wealthy family, is taken prisoner in Jerusalem—he is sentenced to serve as a galley slave for life; his family is driven into cruel imprisement. During a conflict between the Roman fleet and pirates, the commander's galley is sunk, and Ben Hur, through his bravery, wins the favor of Arius, a wealthy Roman. Through his intelligence, nobility and powerful physique, he rises rapidly to fame. Among the numerous thrilling incidents of this story, is the exciting chariott race wherein Ben Hur not only wins but also crushes his arch enemy, Messala, a great Roman soldier. The delightful romance with Esthes smoothes the rough tension of the theme. This is probably the greatest production that will ever be shown upon the Fort Benning screens.

"Radion Controlled."—Fables.

"Paramount News."—Only Four Days Old.

MONDAY, OCT 24

"SPECIAL MATTINEE," 2:15 P. M., Main Theatre.

Evening Show usuál hours all theatres.

"BUGLE CALL," starring Jackie Coogan in his first near-grown-up role. In this picture you see the once little Jackie with a hair cut, but you'll love him just the same. He plays the part of a bugle boy in a cavalry post on the American frontier of the 70's. Many historic incidents of plains fighting were reproduced for this film. It possesses a romance of stepmotherhood.

The special matinee is offered so that school children may have an opportunity of seeing this picture. Prices, Adults, 15c, Children 10c.

TUESDAY, OCT. 25

"MOJAVE KID," starring Bob Steele in a Western filled with melodramatic thrills and fast physical action. The story is sensational, has plenty of shooting and spectacular riding. Buried treasure—Aztec ruins—the Mojave Desert, and a mighty love story feature in this picture.

"Crimson Flash No. 6."

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 26

"MADAME POMPADOUR," starring Dorothy Gish with Antonio Moreno in a very real episode from the life of France's most colorful woman, the Cleopatra of the court of Louis XV. It depicts romance and dashing adventure in the days of Parisian pomp and ceremony.

"Wonders of the Waste Line."—Standard Comedy.

THURSDAY, OCT. 27

"CLANCY'S KOSHER WEDDING," starring George Sidney with a splendid comedy cast. The story is brim full of laughs; the scenes at the picnic in the park where everybody takes part in the fight, where Irish fight Jews and Jews fight Irish, should cause roars of hilarity. The fun is of the good sort, there is an absence of beer kegs and bottles and none of the characters act disgracefully, consequently neither our Irish or Hebrew Benningites will be offended. George Sidney stands up to his usual reputation as a star comedian.

"Pathe News."

FRIDAY, OCT. 28

"SHANGHAID," featuring Ralph Ince and Patsy Ruth Miller in a strong melodrama of the sea and of the underworld of San Francisco. The story jumps from a wild cabaret in the fast district of Frisco to the turbulant wave of a lashing sea where the rough men at the mast battle with the human as well as the elements of nature. The story grips the audience with its suspense all the way through.

"Maid in Morocco."—Lupinsa Lane.

"Pathe News."

SATURDAY, OCT. 29

"NEVADA," starring Gary Cooper in a tale of the west, when a man's best friends were his horse and his gun, and women were heroines. It depicts the era in which the Old West was beginning to fade and the lawful element was serving notice that outlawry would no longer be tolerated.

"The Movies."—Hamilton Comedy.

Park at C. A. Morgan & Co. Open till 10 o'clock. Soft Drinks, Drugs and Cigars.

ACCOMODATION MATINEE AT MAIN THEATRE

Jackie Coogan will be in Fort Benning, not in person, but on the silver screen, next Monday. Jackie is going to play the part of a Bugle Boy in the movie, "The Bugle Call." Many parents do not favor their children attending the theatre evenings during school days, consequently, arrangements have been made whereby a special afternoon matinee will be run. This will take place at 2:15 P. M., Monday, Oct. 24. A complete program will be presented on this occasion including Fables or some other good comedy film. Music will accompany the pictures. Unusual week-day prices will maintain.

Major Van Fleet, head coach of the All-Army team has been driving his charges for the past week and sees victory for them Friday afternoon but only after the hardest kind of a battle. The dope bears him out in this. Here it is. The Army team defeated the Milligan Buffaloes 20 to 7 with some good breaks on recovering fumbles on a slippery field. The Buffaloes, as evryone conceeds, would have been hard to beat on a dry day. Yet High Point did that very trick only last Saturday rather decisivlev.

29TH INF.

1st Bn., Hdqrs. Co.

Believe it or not:—The 1st Sgt. finally secured quarters on the Rersevation. What will be the next object Top, teaching the company how to drill?

The funiest thing yet is a certain left guide trying to get his steps cut down to thirty inches at parades, don't worry big boy you are not the worst in the world yet.

Cpl. Goodin is gradually tuneing in on the duties of the Supply Sgt., better look out "Walt" you will get rolled.

Private Reiman has requested a transfer to the West Point Military Academy Detachment, going to instruct Cadets eh!?

Private Barnwell, the latest addition to the Hdqrs. Staff says he is progressing rapidly in office work, that he has learned how to build fires in the heaters.

MARK MY WORD.

Company "A"

Corp. Irvine and Pvts. Ayers and Polston returned from 45 day furlough and reports cold weather in the polar regions of South Georgia and Alabama.

The Drill Platoon has finished its demonstrations and a lot of K. P.'s and guards are in store for its members.

The entire company will soon be outfitted with Pershing Style Caps "watch our smoke."

POWELL.

Company "B"

Due to the fact that Company "B" has been moving into the new barracks we have had no time to write news. Now that we are here we will make our appearance once again.

Every one is very much pleased with the new quarters and are endeavoring to have the best in the Regiment, same as when in the old tents.

Sgt. Robert Stark is leaving today for the hills of "Fair Tennessee", luck to you Sgt. hope you don't join onto one of the fair dames up there.

Wonder what is wrong with the Bevlin brothers, Dodge every morning it has a flat tire, maybe it is a "Flat Tire."

The Mintz brothers are back from furlough and reported having a very fine time in N. C., didn't notice any tar on their heels, must have moved pretty fast while there.

Sgt. Nagel has a very famous saying, it is "she sleeps, but not alone; give me a cigarette soldier.

E PLURIBUS UNUM.

Company "C"

I wonder who the recruit was, who said, "Hold your hat, we're going to do "To the rear, March."

Why is it that everyone lifts his feet off the floor when Lancaster starts talking.

Pvt. Turner—"Well, I am glad I am sleeping close to a radiator, I'll keep warm this winter."

Pvt. Lee—"That's no radiator, that's a steam heater. Whoever saw a radiator like that on a car."

When a man gets three straight pat hands beaten he should quit playing poker, but he will not. Ask the Creeper, he knows.

"Lighting" our wandering recruit has returned to us from a short tri to Jefferson Barracks.

Pvt. House has returned from furlough and is ready to buck the buckers off the map.

JOHN L. BIGGERSTAFF.

Company "E"

We are glad to have Captain Rutledge back and sorry to see Captain House leave.

Our Mess Sergeant, Zed Buford, Supply Sergeant Grouch Johnson and Sgt. Shorty New seem to be struck on Harris County for some reason or other. I don't know whether they are hunting the mess Sergeant's Furlough or the hole he made in Mulberry Creek when he fell in last week or maybe they like to play in the red mud on the hills over there.

Company "E" started moving into the new barracks Monday and finished up Tuesday. These quarters are a great improvement over the tents. The Moral is about fifty percent. higher now, everyone sem to like the new barracks fine.

Private First Class Walker goes to town every night and comes back to find a supply room on his bunk.

Our supply sgt. Grougch Johnson and his assistant Corporal Jacobs have their supply room and Attic in fine shape and better condition than any in the regiment. I guess the boys will get hot under the collar now since woolen period has arrived. We also have the best location in the new barracks it is near the Post Office, Bus station and Post Theatre and can plainly see all the football and baseball games from the cupola on top of our quarters.

There will be a great increase in the sale of rubber soles and heels now I believe since we arrived in the new barracks as the boys don't like to pull off their hobnails when coming in after 9:30 and will buy rubber heels

I. M. Y.

Company "F"

Our Company Team is getting better and better—Last Sunday we were the victors in a very close game with Battery "C", 83rd. The score 6-0 indicates the closeness of the game—which was hard fought all thru. Clean sportsmanship was displayed by both sides. This Company has got a good team and they know their football—It is hoped that they receive more support from this organization in the form of a solid cheering section in the next game. McFadden and Gasser can't do all the heavy cheering for the entire company.

Remember we are the coming Bn. champs. What you say?

Pfc. Hugo has departed for parts unknown (?) to spend a thirty day furlough.

O. W. NELSON.

Company "H"

We have been absent from this column this past week because of the general work that had to be done in connection with moving to the new barracks. We commenced our moving at 6:15 Tuesday morning, and by noon of the same day, we had it all done but the policing of the old quarters and the shouting. Of course, we had to leave the old quarters in good condition, and we proceeded to do it; even to patching up Nellie's old hitching post. Cody's "Novelty Shop" was the hardest part of the whole job. From this department of the organization, we moved everything from "Gatling" Guns to bed room slippers—for the benefit of the ladies, we wish to state that we didn't move any "mules—."

Taking the Company as a whole, everything is better up here in the new barracks. The third platoon is not included in the "WHOLE" but IN THE HOLE.

FORT SAM HOUSTON, TEXAS

They had the misfortune to be wished off to the other side of "G" Company, which makes them stretch a mean limb to get out in time for Reveille. I think that Corporal Lowe is very much in love with his quarters over in the third platoon . . . . . NOT!

Just the other day, Private Keowen greeted Sergeant "Archibald" Whittington in the hall way. In reply to his greeting, "Archibald" presented the pass word "What cha gonna say, Keowen?" with thw usual nasal accent on the last word. Keowen then asked Archie if he had any throat latches. Whittington asked for what purpose he was going to use the throat latches, and just what did he mean by throat latches. Keowen then said, "You know those leather straps that go on these campaign hats? Well that is what I want. "Laugh that off."

Now is the time for all good soldiers to have those Woolen clothes cut and altered to look their best. We are wondering what those Recruits who have none will do? We surmise that they will have to do the best that they can with blankets and the likes of that. It won't be long now before we will have the new type caps, and ye scribe for one, will be very pleased to get them.

Here's to the coming football season, may the best team win as it did two years ago.

BERNARD B. SWAYZE.

Hdqrs. Co., 2nd Bn.

We are now fairly settled in our new quarters, the old Howitzer Company barracks, and getting along fine. We have our own mess which is sure a fine one and everyone seems to be satisfied with conditions in general.

The lone "Black Sheep" Pvt. Hedge, who has been on a nice long vacation, is now back with us for duty.

Our recreation room orderly is now a very short timer, and from what he says he is going to leave us for good shortly, per ETS, but a little bird told us different.

Cpl. Lamastus, is now back after a two months furlough in the wiles of "Kentucky!" He said he had a wonderful time and we bet he did.

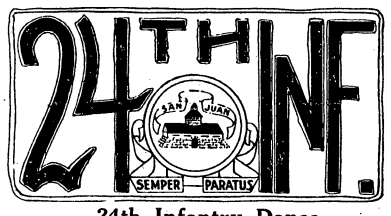
WM. B. SMITH.

"BUD" SITLER FAVORITE WITH BENNING FANS

If you have been attending the prize fights held at Fort Benning, I know you have noticed a daper young fellow, who some times does the announcing, or acts as referee and when not doing this he is pretty sure to be found in some fighters corner using the bottle and towel and giving advice between rounds.

Several people have aksed me who he is—that is "Bud" Sitler a member of the Vet. Corps, and he certainly knows his stuff, when it's fights and prize-fighters. Sitler is one of the best announcers we have ever had, he speaks loud enough and plain enough, he always adds a little flavor to everything that goes good with the crowd, he did the announcing for the Columbus Ledger for the Dempsey-Tunney bout, and he kept the large crowd that were assembled to hear the fight returns, in the best of spirits during the wait for news from the ringside, with his line of wit and humor.

He is a veteran among Army fighters, he was assistant trainer to Spike Webb helping to round the American fighters in shape for the Inter-Allied games that were held in Paris in 1918. In 1926, he had charge of the boxing team that represented the Southern Dept., of the 2nd Corps Area, in the tournament held at the N. G. Armory, Watertown, N. Y., his team taking six of the eight places.



24th Infantry Dance

The first of a series of dances to be given by the 24th Infantry will be held this evening at the Polo Club. It will be the first social function the regiment has had this year.

The regimental orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Colonel Wait C. Johnson, commanding the regiment, and Mrs. Johnson will entertain at dinner preceding the dance for the following guests: General G. H. Jamerson, Major and Mrs. C. E. Coates, Madame Coates, Major and Mrs. Edwin Butcher, Captain and Mrs. E. F. Paynter, Captain and Mrs. H. M. Gwynn, Miss Hockstetter, Captain and Mrs. R. M. Winfred, Captain G. C. Christenberry, Captain and Ms. C. L. Steel, Captain and Mrs. W. W. Jenna, Captain and Mrs. W. D. McCord, Captain and Mrs. E. L. Tupper, Captain and Mrs. F. C. Schmidt, Captain and Mrs. R. G. Sherman, Lieutenant and Mrs. E. P. Earle and Lieutenantand Mrs. Waine Archer.

Captain and Mrs. John C. Newton will entertain at dinner preceeding the dance Major and Mrs. E. F. Harding, Lieutenant and Mrs. K. M. Martens, and Lieutenant and Mrs. C. E. Boyles.

Bridge Club Organized

Mrs. W. C. Johnson was host to the ladies of the 24th Infantry at Fort Benning last Tuesday at her quarters. At this time a bridge club was organized with Mrs. Johnson as president and Mrs. R. S. Mackie as secretary. The club will meet twice monthly. Mrs. E. O. Power will entertain at the next meeting.

The regimental football team has put in a good week of hard practice and will be ready to meet their first foe of the season in The Infantry School stadium next Saturday, October 28th when Americus Inistitute, of Americus, Ga., journeys to Fort Benning for the game. Some very good material has developed within the past week and Captain M. E. Craig, who is coaching the doughboy team, is confident that the team will make a very creditabe showing next Saturday. On November 4th, the team will go to Atlanta where it will meet the Clark University aggregation. On November 12th, the Elks Club, of Chattanooga will come to Fort Benning to meet the 24th team. The Elks have a very strong team and have been defeated only once during the past four football seasons, a record of which any team might well be proud. It is quite probable that the Elks will play the return game with the 24th Infantry at Fort Benning on November 19th. However, nothing definite has been agreed upon for this date. With the games of the All-Army squad and the 24th Infantry football struggles will be a common sight on the gridiron of the Infantry School Stadium .

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The Children's School is sponsoring a Hallowe'en Party on Friday afternoon, October Twenty-eighth at three o'clock at the Hop Room. There will be grab bags, fish ponds and all forms of amusement for the little folks, and entertainment for the "grown-ups" as well; for there will be special dances by the pupils of Miss Anna Dozier and Miss Agnes Harrison. This is a treat as everyone knows. We hope that everyone will come and enjoy our party and help us buy some new desks. Admission 10c.

I. S. D. NOTES

Well we are all settled in our new home, down in the tented city and every one is tickled to death with the change, except a few habitual growlers and they are to be found in all outfits.

Four men are assigned to each tent, one corporal and three privates, Corp. Whitson claims to have picked the prize winning three when he drew Perfessor Duke, Detective Barnes and one Bebe Daniels.

Corp. Woidyla has returned to the fold after spending his re-enlistment furlough in the Magic City of Pittsburg, welcome back Corp. we are all glad to have you with us again.

Wonder who the fellow was that was seen going to town with the Straw Katty on? Singletary! didn't you know that summer was over?

John Foster one of our newly made Corp. was seen exchanging Barber Checks for Bus Tickets the other day, wonder why all the excitement Foster?

Corporal Prince our fighting Parson, seemed to be a little slow in blocking, or rather the Brother crossed him with a left after feinting with a right.

No Lonnie:we understand you can't turn the other side when you get smacked on the nose, but you should never forget that a soldier gets paid to fight.

In a few days the sign over the old 29th Post Exchange will read: Warnie Beare and Harry Stein (See Us, Before The Major Sees You.)

Pvt. Moye is figuring on leaving the service when he has finished the present hitch, he has purchased a farm down near Coon Hollow, Alabama. Moye is figuring on pop corn and peanuts as a staple investment (Good Luck Moye.)

Jazz Magoni manager of the Battle-axe volley ball team composed of players from weapon section, challenges all comers for games, for more information see either Mr. Sgt. Magoni or Mr. Sgt. Wolfe.

When they get too rough for any one else just send them over to the I. S. D. one prize fighter named Chambers of Columbus, Ga., had licked every soldier he fought in Benning, but when he mixed and mingled with one Whitey Parker of the I. S. D., he returned to Columbus with the nicest licking he ever had.

Jackie Philips is at home on furlough, he writes that aligator races are the fastest things what am down there (in Waucoola, Fla.)

BOB LAWSON TO MEET BATTLING J. D. HERE OCT. 27

Bob Lawson one of the leading colored fighters in the ring today, will meet Battling J. D. Peakes, 24th Infantry, here Oct. 27, in the main go of the card to be held here.

This will be one of the best fights ever witnessed in a Fort Benning ring, Lawson and Peake both weigh in around 180 pounds.

Lawson is the property of Walt Miller, Atlanta promoter who has made three attempts to clip J. D.'s wings, but has failed each time, two of his fighters losing by the K. O., and Ace Clarke the last fighter to show here took a terrible licking for ten rounds, Bob Lawson is the man Miller is sending against the soldier battler in a last attempt to stop him.

Lawson attracted considerable attention in fightdom when he gave Paul Berlenbach one of the toughest fights of his career. In fact although losing by a knockout, Lawson had Berlenbach in a bad way and it was a toss up to pick the winner until Lawson was counted out.

Battling J. D. is one of the cleverest fighters to ever show his wares here and every one has about come to the conclusion that Squak Miller has yet to find the fighter that can stop the fast battling soldier.

INFANTRY SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

The first meeting of the Infantry School Glee Club was held at the Officers Club on Tuesday evening, October 18. A program for the first half of the school year was adopted which will confine the activities of the club to purely choral work. Several four-part songs were studied and sung and the music for the Armstice Day Pageant was rehearsed.

The number of excellent voices heard gave promise of a year of unparalleled success.

Marshall, Jr., has been appointed as Assistant Commandant, The Infantry School, Colonel Marshall is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, 1901, an honor graduate of the Infantry and Calavry School, standing number one in his class in 1907. A graduate of the Army Staff College, 1908, he is now on the initial General Staff Corps eligibility list, published on the 5th of June, 1917.

Colonel Marshall went to France with the First Division as Assistant Chief of Staff. He continued in this position until he was sent to the Operations Section of the General Staff at G. H. Q., at the time of the Soissons fight. He was then engaged in plans for the St. Mihiel offensive for several weeks, and went with these plans to newly-formed eHadquarters of the First Army.

He remained with the Operations Section of the First Army throughout the St. Mihiel action, and, shortly after the Meuse-Argonne battle developed, he was formally relieved from duty at G. H. Q., and made Assistant Chief of Staff and Chief of Operations Section of the First Army. He continued in this capacity until the Armistice, though during the past few days he was under orders to join the Eighth Army Corps as Chief of Staff.

He joined this Corps immediately after the Armistice and remained as its Chief of Staff until the Spring of 1919, when, just before its demobilization, he was called to G. H. Q., and sent on a tour of lecturing to explain to the officers of the A. E. F., what had occured between the time of General Pershings arrival in France and the date of the Armistice.

Before finishing this duty the Commander-in-Chief detailed him as his Aide.

Colonel Marshall was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service during the World War, and in addition was decorated by many of the Allied Nations.

He has recently returned from a three-year's tour of duty with the 15th Infantry in China, and just prior to his detail to the Infantry School was on duty as an instructor at the Army War College, Washington, D. C.

Colonel Marshall is known and acknowledged throughout our Army as one of its ablest and most brilliant officers.

ALL ARMY TEAM MAKES FINE SHOWING AGAINST AUBURN

Score is Even at End of First Quarter; Many Army Regulars Kept Out of Game Due to Injuries.

Unable to penetrate the Doughboy line while most of their attempted passes were knocked down or fell into the hands of a waiting Doughboy, the Tigers were never able to threaten the Army goal line after they had made a touchdown in the first minute of play when Birdsong fumbled Auburns kickoff on his fifteen yard line, Sellers of Auburn scooping the ball and going for a touchdown, a place kick added the extra point.

It brought joy to the hearts of Doughboy fans, to see the Army line stop plunging Tiger backs in their tracks on defense, while the Tiger defense crumbled before the fury of the Doughboy attack in the third quarter, only ceasing when Yeomans shoved the pigskin across Auburn's last white line for a touchdown, Butler adding the extra point from place

After the game while he thought no one was looking, Major Van Fleet pilot of the rolling Tide let a real honest to goodness smile spread al over his face, and it could only mean but one thing, the Tide is changing (for better). Although not showing as it must, the ole fight was there yesterday, Big Lucas showed his fighting face for a moment as he hit the Tiger line liqe a Texas cyclone, Umberger played a great game at fullback, hitting the line hard and getting away for 45 yards on one play, Griggs who relieved him is a line smasher himself, he made the Tigers give ground on every play in the last quarter, Mitzen, Wargo, and Ward are hitting their stride while Tate was looking like a million dollars at Quarterback, Yeomans had Auburn Rats eyes popping with his punting, the reliable Red Lindsey got in on the last quarter and showed that he is the same fighting Redhead of old, Riffle, Berish, and Butler made the best of their opportunity while in the fight, and all of them can certainly do their football, Riffle showed that he can also lay the ole toe on the pellet. Another secret, that fighting spirit is catching, a bunch of those solemn ole war horses on the side line didn't show much interest at the beginning, but as the fight got under way they began to get itchy and before the end they were rearing to get in there and fight, yes sir, that gang has finally waked up and now you are going to see the dust fly, because there are two many men on the squad, someone has to go

REAL GRID BATTLE IS EXPECTED WITH COLLEGIANS TOMORROW

The Infantry Team Defeated Newberry Last Year; Will Meet Much Stronger Team This Year

The All-Army team will be seen in action tomorrow afternoon on the local gridiron when Newberry College comes to Fort Benning. The game will start at 2:30 P. M.

A real tussle is anticipated by football fans who are in touch with the records of these two teams. The Newberry boys have played the Paris Island Marines this year coming out on the small end of a 24-14 score. Fort Benning defeated Newberry last year by the score of 16-7, and dope has it that the game tomorrow will be one of plenty of action from start to finish.

Major Van Fleet's squad is in good shape for the game tomorrow, most of the cripples being able to function now. The game with Auburn Wednesday was good practice for the team and many profitable lessons were learned in that struggle. That game resulted in a tie score, the Auburn boys making their lone touchdown on a fluke.

However, the score indicates that the Auburn boys played a wonderful game as well as the All-Army squad, and both profited thereby.

Tomorrow's game should be one of the best on the local field this year.

GALLOPING GUNNERS DEFEAT VETERAN FREEBOOTERS

By AL DURDEN

The Redlegs from the 83rd Field Artillery turned the ole dope bucket upside down and then gave it an extra kick, when they routed the dashing yellow-jacket Freebooters on Shannon Field, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23.

The Students showed the Demonstrationist from the 29th a new bag of tricks in the opening gmae, gathering 10 markers while the mounted Footsloggers could only collect the small sum of three.

The Students team flashed a dashing offensive attack, outriding the Bluecords and keeping them on the defensive at all times.

The Students got busy in the first period, Capt. Scott and Lt. Farmer each scoring one goal for the Students, the Doughboys came back in the second period and put up their best fight of the game, Captain "Pinky" Burres shooting goal from a foul while Lt. McDonald

SORREL TOPPED SOLDIER DECISIVELY DEFEATS FAST COLUMBUS SCRAPPER

Fort Benning's Favorite Boxer Wins With A Technical Knockout in Seventh Round

By HENRY AVERILL

The long-standing Keenan-Kendrick feud was settled once and for all at Fort Benning last night when the red headed soldier pounded the curly haired Columbusite so severely that he was unable to answer the bell for the eighth round of a scheduled ten round encounter in the Gowdy Field ring. A withering two-handed attack by the military man, against which Micky could advance no argument save a turtle-like defense, closed the books for good. No promoter would dare match the boys again after Kendrick's pitiful showing last night.

Micky was game, there's no denying that fact. Micky called into play all the covering tactics he has learned from a long ring career. Micky showed an outstanding ability to take all Red had to offer and still smile back through a carmine coated countenance. But gone was the ability to strike back. Gone was the old one-two the blonde boy from Columbus used to land on his hapless opponent. It wasn't the Micky of old. On last night's form Micky is through as a fighter. He showed absolutely nothing except an indomitable spirit and the ghost of a once dangerous wallop.

At that, Keenan didn't have the pleasure of standing in a neutral corner and hearing the referee toll "Ten" over the prostrate form of his stricken foe. Only once did the red head send his vis-a-vis to the mat. Just as the seventh round was about to close Kendrick went down from a solid right to the jaw, but it didn't carry power enough to keep him there. Micky was intently watching the referee's count, ready to rise as "Nine" was called, but the bell stopped proceedings as Lieutenant O'Neill, third man in the ring reached "Seven."

Towel Tossed

At this point in the proceedings the Columbus boy's seconds adopted a course which was nothing if not reasonable. They conceded the fight, and Red was awarded the verdict on a technical knockout. This step should have been taken several rounds earlier, as Micky was outclassed from the opening gong and had no more chance than the proverbial celluloid dog chasing an asbestos cat through the justly famous lower regions.

BARNETT-COLLINS WEDDING BRILLIANT EVENT.

The most brilliant event of the fall was the wedding on Tuesday of Miss Betty Collins, daughter of General and Mrs. Edgar T. Collins, and Captain Allison J. Barnett, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, at Fort Benning, at high noon Tuesday. Dr. S. A. Wragg, rector of Trinity church, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a representative assembly of relatives and friends from Fort Benning and Columbus.

The entire lower floors of the old Colonial mansion was thrown together and beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, southern smilax and white chrysanthemums.

The darwing room, where the ceremony was performed, was banked with palms and ferns and at one end was an improvised altar formed of slender palms interpersed with tall flower standards, filled with snowy chrysantthemums. A soft glow from numerous candles was cast over the entire scene and added beauty and sanctity to the ceremony. An aisle leading to the altar was formed by white pedestals which were connected with garlands of smilax tied with silver ribbon.

An appropriate program of prenuptial music was rendered by a string orchestra and during the ceremony "O Promise Me," was softly played.

To the first strains of Meendelsohn's wedding march. Miss Helen Hulburt of Chicago, the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, came down the broad stairway and passing up the aisle took her place by the altar. Miss Hulburt's dress was an exquisite period gown of nile green georgette and chiffon velvet and with this she wore a large picture hat of green. He costume was completed by her bouquet of shell pink roses.

The beautiful young bride was a picture of girlish loveliness as she descended the stairway on the arm of her father by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom an dhis best man, Captain William C. DeWare.

The bride's wedding dress was a period model of silver lace over heavy ivory satin and was unusually becoming to her brunette type of beauty. A graceful tulle veil, set off by a coronet of pearls, added a touch of stateliness to the youthful figure. She carried a shower bouquet of vally lillies.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The bride's table was exquisite with its cover of handsome lace. In the center was a silver epergne filled with white chrysanthemums and all silver condlesticks held burning white tapers, which were twined with dainty fern and tied with silver ribbon. Completing the decorations were smaller bouquets of white chrysanthemums. At one end of the table was the bride's cake, which was beautifully embossed in valley lillies and at the other end was the coffee service.

The bride carried out an old army custom by cutting the cake with the groom's saber.

Captain and Mrs. Barnett left immediately for a motor trip of several weeks and upon their return will be at home in th attractive new quarters of Captain Barnett. The bride's traveling dress was a tailleur of navy blue trimmed with rich embroidery of red, gold and black. With this she wore a small hat and accessories to match.

Mrs. Collins, mother of the bride, was very handsome in a costume of turquoise and silver trimmed with wide bands of black fox fur, with which she wore a pitcture hat of black. Her flowers were pink roses and violets.

Mrs. Barnett, of Louisville, Ky., the groom's mother, was lovely in a handsome hat of black with rare lace. Her corsage was of white roses and violets.

Mrs. Cooper of Nashville, a sister of the groom, wore an exquisite dress of gold and brown, her costume being completed by a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Barnett, who has gained a wide popularity both at Fort Benning and Columbus by her charming and vivacious personality, is a true daughter of the army, as on her maternal side her military ancestors go back to the Revolutionary war. Her mother is the daughter of a General Van Horn, of the Infantry.

Captain Barnett comes of an old distinguished Kentucky family, which has long been identified with the political and social life of that state.

He has been stationed at Fort Benning for several years as instructor.

Captain and Mrs. Barnett will be at home about the first of November.

MUSICAL TREAT FOR BENNING

Orchestral selections presenting enthrilling music was rendered at the Main Theatre, Sunday night Oct. 23, on the occasion of the presenting of "Ben Hur," the historic masterpiece from the pen of Lew Wallace. For the past two weeks rehearsals were conducted almost daily by the Main Theatre Orchestra in preparation for this occasion. The management of the Main Theatre was fortunate in securing the services of Captain George L. King, who has consented to conduct the orchestra during the presentation of this picture. Sergeant Ralph R. Wright, music librarian for the 29th Infantry band and Main Theatre Orchestra leader in conjunction with Captain King have devoted considerable time to selecting appropriate music to insure proper synchronization to the theme of the picture. Although the Main Theatre music library contains some 20,000 selections, sufficient music of the type desired, was not available and Capt. King rose to the occasion and composed four numbers appropriate to parts of the story. They are as follows: "The Love Theme," "Christ Theme," "Chariot Theme," and an interpolation for "The Valley of Death" scene of Dens Domini Deus from "Gloria" of military mass in "E" flat.

To insure the unqualified musical success for the evening the Main Theatre Orchestra was augmented by an additional number of specially selected musicians.

Gen. Summerall and Army Housing

It is quite probable that no Chief of Staff of the Army has so endeared himself to the service as has Maj. General Charles P. Summerall, who so forcibly brought before the public this week the housing conditions of the Army. The Army has dropped out of the limelight since the last echo of the World War died away but since the country is committed to a policy of adequate defense there should be no argument abuot adequate housing facilities for the men who are looked to for defensive measures.

General Summerall has laid the whole matter before the President and Herbert E. Lord, director of the budget. He has shown them why the Army needs a larger building program if vast numbers of men are to be made comfortable. In nearly every post in the service war time wooden barracks quarter both officers and enlisted men. There are practically no funds for the repair of these buildings which are rapidly deteriorating. They are lossely built and there is a great waste of fuel, the occupants of the buildings being only partly omfortable.

Officers in the Army look forward to the re-enlistment of men of high type but scores do not re-enlist because of living conditions and the lack of interest Congress shows in the Army. The Army is constantly being recruited with raw material. Three years' service and the majority is discharged never to come back. Soldiering is a profession and an honorable one. The country's high officials should be made to realize it and provide at least meager creature comforts for those of the rank and file.

It has taken General Summerall to bring the matter before the President and the whole country. The greatest newspapers in the nation have taken up his cry and the housing problem looks more encouraging today than it has since the close of the war.—5th Corps News.

They had one of their usual tiffs, because hubby came home late for dinner.

"You're always late," she said indignatly. "You were late at the church the day we were married."

"Yes," he said bitterly, "but I wasn't late enough."—Laughter.

made a pretty shot from the field for their second goal. Capt. Halloran saved the Students from a goose egg in this eriod, hitting one between the uprights for a Student tally.

The Student opened up the fire works in the third period, they carted the ball across the field so fast and often it was difficult to keep track of it, when the dust of battle had blown away Capt. Boyer and Lt. Soule had added two more goals to the Students total. In the fourth period Shannon Field reminded one of a Kansas Cyclone, great clouds of dust swirled up, occasional glimpses of arms, legs, helmets and flying mallets, while shrieks, snorts and warhoops rent the air, at the end of the period a close check showed one more for the Students' Capt. Taylor being named the contributor.

The Students added two more to their sore sheet in the fifth when Capt. Scott scored a goal from safety 60 yard line and Lt. Locket made one from the field. The Students put the lid on tight in the last period when Lt. Soule, Capt. Halloran and Capt. Taylor scored a goal each.

Line up and Summary:
STUDENTS:
No. 1—Lockett, Halloran.
No. 2—Boyer, Soule.

SECOND GAME

The biggest upset Benning Polo has ever had came in the second game, when the Caisson Riders handed the famous Freebooters the drubbing of their young lives.

The Artillery displayed a wonderful brand of polo, combining excellent riding with hard hitting and beautiful teamwork.

It seems that the Freebooters intentions were to try out some new combinations against the Gunners, well those new combination certainly had a bad afternoon, and froma spectators point of view the old coms didn't seem to be having so awful much fun.

It looked like a walkover for the Freebooters at the beginning, Major Lyman came out of the first scrimmage with the ball taking it down the field to Capt. McClure, who made a clean pickup and scored goal. On the next play Capt. Forsythe carried the ball across the field only to miss goal by a fraction, again in the second period the Freebooters carreid the ball down the field Capt. Mallon shooting goal. At this time the Atillery seemed to find the range, opening up a counter attack that netted them one goal in this period, in the fourth period the Gunners came from behind to tie the score, in the fifth the Artillery barrage dove the Freebooters to cover, Lt. Murphy carried the ball across the field and out of bounds near the goal, Lieut. Grubbs put the ball over for a goal on the play in, Lt. Grubbs preceded to go on a range adding two more goals in the final period, and seemed to be just getting ready to go into action at the final whistle.

Lineup and Summary:
FREEBOOTERS:
No. 1—Forsythe, Oliver.
No. 2—McClure, Mood.
No. 3—Lyman, Mallon.
No. 4—Wisner, Smith.
ARTILLERY:
No. 1—Grubbs, Dawson.
No. 2—Gunesey, Clark.
No. 3—Murphy, Strebehnn.
No. 4—Avera, Jones.

back, and a few weeks ago they all wanted to go home, today they are all fighting to stay and why? Because the Army hates a quitter, and when a man that can do, deliberately lays down and won't, for the simple reason that he has a grouch, why that man is a quitter. But Americans are not quitters and although a few players have been off their game Major Van Fleet knew that the ole fight was there, and they are fighting, if you doubt it go out to practice, the men that go back to their outfits will be men that lost out to a man that was a little better, for there is no room for quitters in our ARMY.

24TH INFANTRY DINNER

The officers and ladies of the 24th Infantry will hold a dinner next Tuesday evening at 6:45 in Mess Hall No. 3 to celebrate the 48th anniversary of the formation of this famous Infantry organization. All officers at Fort Benning who were ever assigned to this regiment are cordially invited to attend this dinner. After the dinner the enlisted men will hold two minstrel shows in the regimental service club.

All Things Come To Him Who Waits. At the Chattahoochee Valley Fair, our hero "Gus" Pate captured First Prize at the "Poultry Show" with little or no opposition. Altho' we were not selected as judges, from the looks of the chicken he grabbed all we can say is that the judges really had no choice in the matter. Our "Adonis" Reuben ran a close Second. With figures like these two "Apollos" what chance have we "humans?"

Our own 'Sheik" Reuben was all dolled up in his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes last Saturday and was seen ogling all ahe pretty girls that passed. When asked who the girl was he was just with, he replied "Which one?"

C. A. Bradley left on a 10 day furlough to Pratt City, Ala., on account of his mother being ill. We all wish Mrs. Bradley a speedy recovery.

Our football team will probably play "B" Company early next week. Our line is good and the backfield is perfect. All we can say is "Hqrs., Co.," do your stuff and HOW.

Company "A"

This company being detailed as the additional Fire Guard Company for this work, we had the chance to prove our ability as fire fighters Monday afternoon. A fire on the reservation about ten miles out was reported at 1:00 p. m. The company was immediately loaded on trucks and carried to the fire. They did excellent work to overcome the vast lead that the fire had, considering the weather conditions and the amount of time lost in arriving at the fire.

Corp. Willingham and Privates McKee, Tomberlin and Braud have returned to the company after being on detached service in connection with the Chattahoochee Valley Exposition at Columbus, Georgia.

Private James L. Ventry has been granted a ten day furlough.

The company regrets to learn that Corp. Duhen has been confined to the station hospital. We hope to have him back soon.

Corp. Smith has been trying to figure out how a short dress on a woman will make a man look longer.

TANKERS OPEN BATTALION LEAGUE; HQ'S WIN OVER B CO.

The Terrible Tankers staged a demonstration in the Doughboy Stadium, Tuesday evening that was filled with action from the word go.

Twenty-two husky Tankers reresenting Hdqrs. Co. and "B" Co., of the 15th Tank Bn., smashed and battered each other through four quarters of heads up football, the finish showed that Hq. had scored one touchdown and had added the extra point, while "B" Co. had been unable to register.

Both teams fought hard but were unable to score in the first quarter, in the second quarter Hdq. put the ball on "B"'s 20 yard line, Wright went around right end on the next play for 20 yards and a touchdown, the Referee gave Hdq. the extra point when a "B" man was offside on the kick.

This ended the scoring for either side, the last two quarters being a seesaw affair with neither team being able to score.

Both teams fought hard and displayed a highclass brand of football, in fact some of the players looked entirely to good for Battalion's teams, the playing of Vallery and Gullett for "B" and Sully Sullivan and Wright for Hdqrs., was the feature of the game.

Football Game Today

The 24th Infantry football team will display its ability today on the doughboy stadium gridiron when it meets Americus Institute at 2:30 p. m. Captain M. E. Craig, coach of the team, has been putting his team through some hard workouts during the past two weeks and is confident that his team will make a creditable showing against the Americus team today. With the line-up of the team there are five veteran players of the doughboy regiment from whom a great deal is expected in the battle today.

The probable line-up for the game today is as follows:

Whote, LE; Bryce, LT; Kilgore, LG; Sellers, C; (team Capt.); Johnson, RG; Allen, RT; Harris, RE; Baugh, QB; Vance, RHB; Tillis, LHB; eHard, FB.

The following men have played on the team in past seasons; Bryce, Kilgore, Johnson, Sellers and Baugh. Heard, who is at full back has played before and great expectations of this big fellow prevail thoroughout the regiment.

The regiment wil march in formation to the stadium where they wil lsing the Infantry song and the regimental song. Private Sloan Williams will lead the cheering for his team.

Officers Return to Duty

Captains E. M. S. Stewart and James L. Ballard have recently returned to the regiment after taking extension leaves. Captain tSewart has taken command of Company "F" relieving Capt. W. W. Jenna who is now adjutant of the First Battalion. Captain Ballard is in command of Headquarters Company.

Lieutenant R. S. Mackie has been relieved as regimental supply officer due to the return of Captain W. B. Wilson, who has been at Camp Perry for the past summer with the Infantry rifle team. Lieut. Mackie is now adjutant of the Second Battalion.

I. S. D. NOTES

Spud Murphy of the 3rd section told Spud Murphy of the orderly room, that Spud Murphy of the 83rd Field Artillery told him that Spud Murphy of Hdqrs., Co., 29th Infantry had received a letter from a Mrs. Spud Murphy of Boston, who was trying to locate her husband who was a soldier at Fort Benning.

The Pershing bill caps certainly look classy, and for once it seems that the entire Detachment is of the same opinion.

But one Grennie wrote home to the folks, that he was sending his picture dressed in one of Russian Bill's caps (Oh, dern it).

The following sign, was found attached to Pvt. Knox's Auburn car yesterday morning, (THE WRECK OF OLE 97.)

Barring accidents it is almost a sure thing that Chief Ryan will hlod a regular berth on the Blue Tide's first string, Corp. Schnell is looking good at practice and also has a good chance to make the team, both men have worked hard to make the team, and have shown a fine fighting spirit at al times.

Ochille has been incorporated, Felton Ezell was appointed mayor, and J. O. Willingham Fire Chief, the vacancy for Chief of Police has not been filled. Mayor Ezell announces that there will be no speed limit and that a man will only be charged with being drunk after he goes to the undertaker. LONG LIVE OH: CHILLE.

One of the warmest and neatest tents in the detachment is the one occupied by Corp. "Papa John" Fat Reynolds, Swede Christianson and Fritz Holman, the floor is neatly covered while the sides of the tent has been sealed with beaver board. When ye scribe dropped in for a friendly chat refreshments were served from a large bag of malagar grapes and a cartoon of camel cigarettes by the Corp. of the tent.

Pvts. Millet and Calhoun wil accompany Pvt. Moye to his farm down in Coon Hollow whe nthey get out of the war. Millett who is studying chemistry, is going to test out a soution which he is sure will remove the door from skunk fur without injuring the value of the fur, Calhoun who is a trapper of wide rep, will spend his time trapping, while Moye is going to do the hide removing.

Mr. Sgt. Wm. Bishop has returned to the fold after spending an extended vacation with relatives and friends, up in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. Sgt. Bishop said that he had a wonderful time but was gettinga little lonesome for the ole gang again, we wonder if there were any June's on the Trail of The Lonesome Pine.

TALENTED MUSICIAN PLAYS AT MAIN THEATRE

Sunday night, Oct. 16, Staff Sergeant Benjamin F. Meeks, rendered two classical trombone solos from the orchestra pit of the Main Theatre. The voluminous applause of the audience bore evidence of their keen appreciation of his efforts. Sgt. Meeks has just rejoined the 29th Infantry orchestra and band after an absence of one and one-half years, during which time he attended the Army Music School at Washington, D. C. On Sept. 15, 1927, Sgt. Meeks received his diploma classifying him as a graduate soloist from the Army School of Music.

Take notice Chandler, your friend has returned.

Cock Robin launched an arrow into the air
It fell to earth—or concrete rather
He is wearing a bandage on his head now.

We heard from Stanley Billiter the other day. He had been up to Detroit to see Pop Kesack and he tells us it is the same old Pop.

Griffin, Lancaster and Aiken had a very interesting time on the road from Atlanta here. It will not cost much to repair the car.

JOHN L. BIGGERSTAFF.

Company "D"

Another very efficient corporal has been added to the Sergeants list. His name being Corporal Whitaker. Every one is well pleased.

Capt. House was recently assigned to Company "D". We all hope Capt. House will enjoy his stay.

The non-commissioned officers presented 2nd Lt. Dark a very beautiful saber. Every one has a very bad habit of saying "Hello Joe." It can't be helped.

Company "E"

Well fellows after two weeks in the new barracks we like them fine, I think everyone likes it fine here if they could only get some of these farmers to stay in bed, they will get up at four in the morning and start running around with their hobnails, and it is impossible for any one to sleep but I don't guess they are responsible as they were born that way. We have a nice Corporal wearing a black eye, that is a black shade over his eye by the way it happened to be Mr. Bob Miscar, the reason for it is unknown. Fellows they tell me you football hounds had better watch out because there is going to be as strong one as the Co. has ever saw before. Nobody has bummed a cigarette for the last few days as the Chesterfield Cigarette company presented each and every one in this outfit three packs of Chesterfields, THEY SATISFY, Grief has come to the fellow members of the company as we have lost our dining room orderly. It was heartbreaking to see old Ky. JOE BASHAM leave us but the hills and blue grass calls him and he can't stay with us. J. R. H.

Company "F"

We are beginning to think that our "Harvey" has a cortgage on 2nd Orderly —he sure grabs it off when this Co. is on guard.

Our football team is still going strong —where are we going to set that Bn. Cup? Last Sunday we grabbed an easy game away from the 83rd. They were beat to the tune of twenty to two. Ask Hawkins how they got their two.

Sgt. Carlin and Pfc. Van Winkle want to know whether or not they can take that "Hike" to Sulphur Springs on their own transportation? Answer: Yes.

BLARNEY.

Company "G"

Well, after living in the tents for about eight years we are now in the new barracks, the finest thing that ever happened to the 29th.

Cpl. Hays, Chief Bugler in the Army is getting all the good men from the good old state of Tennessee together this coming Sunday at 9:00 a. m., if there is any men in the Q. M. C., from Tennessee, Cpl. Hays, would like to have them come over to "G" Co. 29th.

Pvt. Duplechin is strutting his stuff around the rcreation room he is showing the Rcts. books with war pictures in them.

Sgt. Shafner is back from fur. We are glad to see you back Sgt.

Sgt. Swaney has just played another game of checkers. His last move was to Columbus.

Pvt. Johnson, W. was on post at the old Hospital the other night, the O. D. came to inspect the relief and asked Johnson for his special orders the latter pulled them from his pocket and handed them to him. WAR-SET.

The Infantry School Woman's Club began its New Year with a beautiful tea at the Polo Club on the third Monday of this month.

The Club House was decorated with a profusion of Autumns colorful flowers gracefully arranged in Oriental vases, and made a lovely setting forthe hundreds of guests who came to enjoy the club's hospitality and to learn about the Clubs plans for the year. The house was literally packed, and what with the delightful music, the dainty refreshments served from an exquisitively appetite tea table, and the spontaneous paying of dues one can get no other impression than that the tea was all that heart could desire, and that the Woman's Club is going to be the biggest and best thing a woman at Benning can be associated with.

The Literary Dept. of the Club met Thursday to roanize, and its roster records record sixty-five names. Mrs. Philip Peyton is Leader, her plans for the year is Contemporary World Literature.

The six of the Club makes it necessary to meet at the Polo Club.

On next Monday, Oct. 31 at 2 o'clock the first program of the series will be presented as follows: Over Irelands Half-Dood a glimpse into the political and literary situation of present day Ireland.—Mrs. Vinson.

Autobigraphies and Reveries by William Butler Yeats—Mrs. Keith.

Hangman's House by Donn Byrne—Mrs. Ryer.

Comedy—The Rising of the Moon—by Lady Gregory—Mrs. Landis.

The Home Economics Dept. organized met at the home of Mrs. Walter Scott on Tuesday. This Club offers two very interesting courses—one in cookery, and one in sewing. Mrs. Butler Knight and Mrs. Scott will have the leadership of the cooking. Mrs. Robert L. Bacon will teach the sewing.

The Sewing Group was divided in two Sections, "A" to meet next Monday at 9 a. m., at Mrs. Bacon's Qtrs., and Section "B" to meet at Mrs. Bacon's Qtrs., on Thursday at 1:30.

The Cooking Class will have its first lesson on Thursday of next week at Mrs. Scott's home at 1:30.

The Arts and Crafts Club organized on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Ralph W. Kingman.

There were about thirty present and their first project is the making of lamp shades. Mrs. W. W. Ashurt will conduct these lessons; the class to meet at her home at Lorena Hall 1133 2nd Ave., Columbus. Later Mrs. J. D. Forsythe will take charge of the Club and conduct it along lines begun last year.

It is an inspiring thing to see how willingly the leaders of each of these sub-clubs give of their time and their genius for the joy for the joy of sharing with other things which have enriched their lives. Each is an expert who at great cost of time and expense, has learned to be outstandingly proficient in her special field. They receive no renumeration save gratitude. That is the type of woman that makes the Woman's Club fine—You had better join.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY A SUCCESS

The Hallowe'en party which was held at the Hop Room Friday afternoon for the benefit of the Children's school was a big success in every way.

The children dressed in Hallowe'en Costume had a wonderful time, there were games and grabbags, but the greatest fun of all was the Monoplane, The Spirit of St. Louis which was filled with gifts for every one.

The program by pupils of Misses Dozier and Harrison was enjoyed by the grown-ups present as much as the children, the music was furnished by the 24th Infantry Orchestra.

The dance program was as follows:

Betty Lumus ..... Lullaby.
Evelyn Ansfield ..... Jazz
Rebecca Knight ..... Chinese
Lydia Barr ..... Kewpie Bride
Anna Renfrow ..... Balloon Dance
Carolyn Calaway ..... Acrobatic Dancer
Eleanor Ellis and Sarah Louise Watson, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

24th INFANTRY OBSERVES 58th ANNIVERSARY

HIGH RANKING GERMAN OFFICER TO VISIT BENNING NOV. 12

General W. Heye Will Be Guest of Commandant Next Saturday; 29th Infantry Will Stage Review

General Wilhelm f. r. Heye, chief of staff of the German army, who is on a tour of the United States will visit Fort Benning next Saturday, November 12th. General Heye is scheduled to arrive here about eleven o'clock on that day, and immediately upon arrival will go to the office of The Commandant where he will be officially received by General E. T. Collins and staff. After making the official call at post headquarters, General Heye will be escorted to the parade grounds of the 29th Infantry where that regiment will honor the distinguished visitor with a review.

General Heye will be a guest of General E. T. Collins at lunch after which he will leave Fort Benning for Washington according to plans at the present time.

The distinguished guest will be accorded full military honors upon arrival and departure from Fort Benning. He will be met by the 29th Infantry band and an esort company from the 29th Infantry at the Upatoi bridge. A battery from the 83rd Field Artillery will fire the proper salute at that time. Upon departure from the quarters of The Commandant, a guard of honor company will be formed on the driveway and will render the proper salute.

Colonel A. L. Conger, military attached at Berlin will accompany General Heye.

24TH INFANTRY PLAYS CLARK TODAY

The 24th Infantry football team will jorney to Atlanta today where it will meet the football squad of Clark University this afternoon. Clark has a strong team this year and have been defeated only once during the season thus far, and that defeat being at the hands of the strong Tuskegee team. That score was 28 to 12.

Captain M. E. Craig, head coach of the doughboy team was well pleased with the showing made by the team in the Americus game last week and anticipates victory in the Georgia capitol today. He has been putting his quad through some hard scrimmages this week and the men are in excellent condition.

He has announced that the line-up will be practically the same today as it was in the Americus game.

RETIREMENT HONORS GIVEN TO TWENTY-NINTH INFANTRY SOLDIER

1st Sgt. Joseph A. Barton Leaves Service; Gift Presented at Dinner Last Thursday

Serving the last seven of thirty years in Company "C", 29th Infantry, First Sergeant Joseph A. Barton retired from the service last Thursday, October 26, 1927.

Sergeant Barton was the guest at a dinner held in his honor last Saturday evening in the dining room of Company "C." Many officers of the regiment were present at the dinner to assist to give Sergeant Barton a royal send-off.

Lieut.-Col. J. F. Franklin presented Sergeant Barton with a gold watch as a parting gift of the officers and enlisted men of company "C." Major E. P. Griswold, in a speech at the dinner, congratulated Sgt. Barton on his long and faithful service and on behalf of the officers and men of the battalion, wished him well in his new undertaking in civil life.

Sgt. Barton has accepted a position with the Swift Packing Company of Chicago and he will reside in Berwyn, Illinois.

Col. Wait C. Johnson

Colonel Johnson has been in command of the 24th Infantry since January 1, 1925. He is also president of the Infantry School Athletic Assn.

BLUE TIDE WILL PLAY STRONG FLORIDA TEAM HERE TOMORROW

This Will be Last Game played On Local Field Until December 10th

The fooball fans of Benning will see the Blue Tide go into action against the Florida Reserves here Saturday afternoon in their last appearance here until December 10.

Following the game Saturday the Tide will move northward to meet some of the best football teams in the country.

Athough not classed as a first string team, the Florida University reserves are men who are ready for the regular team next season, or men who were shoved out of a regular berth on the first string by men were just a little better.

But they will show a line strong enough to give Doughboys a very busy afternoon, in fact they are classed as the strongest football team to play here this season.

THE STUDENTS' GOSSIP RUNS WILD

Well, the social season is on. Now that the big student reception has come and gone, the open season for rabbits, teas, bridgees, coons, tea dansants, etc., has begun. Yes, the general was there, so was the mayor. It took most all night to get the guests thru the line. That crowd reminded me of the crowd waiting to buy seats to the world's series games in St. Louis last year. It was a fine party and showed organization and headwork. The decorations were splendid.

I think we owe a debt to Capts. Jones and DeWare for taking some of the sting out of the world series holidays by keeping us informed of the progress of the games during automatic rifle and pistol instruction. But that wasn't the only kick I got out of automatic rifle work.

All week during preliminary Lts. Frissell and Cavender had been kidding Capts. Clay and Bollenbeck about their unfamiliarity with that rifle. "I've taught this thing for four years at the Presidio," said Frissell. Those two youngsters razzed their group partners day after day. But even a worm turns. When Frissell and Cavendar made shot groups, it took nearly two sheets of paper to cover the so-called "group" while Clay, and Bollenback made good groups. When the best grouper of each target entered the competition, needless to say Frissell and Cavendar were not there. Lieutenants will be Lieutenants!

Those boys over in Company "B" have been stepping out like a house afire since Company "C" outshot them with the rifle. Since then they've run away

BENNING DOUGHBOY REGIMENT HAS GALA DAY ON TUESDAY

Military Contests Feature Program; Dinner and Minstrel Show Entertain Guests

Last Tuesday was a big day for the members of the 24th Infantry. That day was set aside to properly celebrate the 58th anniversary of the formation of that regiment which is known throughout the country for its performance in the famous battle on San Juan Hill.

The entire regiment gathered at nine o'clock last Tuesday morning in the regimental service clubs where the well known regimental band furnished splendid music. After invocation by Chaplain A. W. Thomas, the famous regimental quartet rendered several appropriate numbers for the occasion. Privates F. Williams, A. Williams, George Brown, and Sgt. William Woods are members of the quartet. Capt. Jenna has charge of the quartet.

The next number, "remarks by the newest recruit," was one of the hits of the day. There could be no question when Pvt. Roosevelt Gibson of Co. "G" marched manfully up on the stage that he was the youngest recruit in the regiment. Like the soldier he hopes to be he spoke his little piece braverly and told a very sympathetic audience that though he was now the newest recruit he hoped some day to be the oldest soldier.

Sgt. McCauley of Co. "B" as the oldest soldier in the regiment had a difficult task in following the newest recruit, but the sergeant was more than equal to the occasion and his witticisms and fatherly advice to younger soldiers ending with an admonition to "always wear red flannel across the tummy" brought down the house.

The Commanding Officer of the regiment, Colonel Wait C. Johnson, gave an outstanding address to the assembled officers and men of the twenty-fourth. He briefly reviewed the war history of the regiment; spoke, as was fitting, of the remarkable heroism of this organization when to a man they volunteered to nurse the yellow fever striken in Cuba —this at a time when yellow fever prevention was unknown and the war was over. He spoke of the difficulties of their present service, their commendable efforts to faithfully fulfill whatever duties assigned them in a spirit worthy of a soldier. For the excellent results and frequent commendations received he gave full credit to the non-commissioned officers as the back bone of his regiment.

Individual men mentioned by the Colonel were Cpl. McGuire of Co. "B" for his soldierly bearing, conduct and attention to duty; Pvt. J. D. Peaks for his sportsmanship and high moral qualities. The popularity of the band as evidenced by the frequent invitations to visit neighboring towns and cities and the commendations received while there was commented upon.

Colonel Johnson laid mark stress on the advantage of sports and the true meaning of sportsmanship guide them out only in their games, but in all their relations with their fellow men.

The Colonel's address was folowed by the mass singing of the regiment of those inspiring and moving spirituals which is making the 24th Infantry famous throughout the army.

The exercises were closed with the singing of the regimental song and the national anthem.

In a hollow square formed by the compaines of the regiment the field events were run off. The keenest interest was displayed and the judges, under Major Butcher, ound the competition so keen and the events so closely contested that it was with the greatest difficulty that winers could be decided upon.

In the first event, "The best dressed N. C. O." it was immediately apparent that the judges would have their hands full in selecting a winner and two places from the spick and span contingent of N. C. O.'s. After very careful checking the honor fell to Cpl. Green, Co. "C". Second place was won by Sgt. Thornhill, Hdqrs., Co., and third place to Sgt. Campbell of Co. "E".

The next event, The best dressed private, the judges were confronted with the same difficulties. It was finally won by Pvt. Barnett, Co. "E"; second place to Pvt. White, Co. "F", and third place to Pvt. Brown of the Band.

The best drilled squad was the third event. Each rifle company had entered two squads and the judges would have been at a loss to determine the most proficient squad had it not been for the over zealousness of some of the members which led them to beat the count and their fellow squad members. The judges announced Cpl. Hayward's squad of Co. "E" as the winner, Cpl. Twitty of Co. "A" as second and Cpl. Davis of Co. "G" was third.

The fourth event, the Manual of Arms was a severe strain on the contestants, not only on their knowledge of the proper manipulation of the weapon but in their ability to remain cool and collected while hundreds cheered as the elimination process weeded out those whose attention wavered for a moment and those who remained on to fight. The final winners were: Pvt. Alexander of Co. "F"; second, Sgt. Toomer of Co. "E" and third, Pvt. Berry of Hdqrs. Co.

The three legged race amazed most of the spectators with the ability of the greater part of the contestants to run with apparent ease when one leg was strapped to that of another man's. Excellent time was made and about six couples finished approximately together. The honors were give to:

First—Pvts. Franklin and Sengai, Hdqrs. Co.; Second—Ruby and Swain, Co. "B"; Third—Brown and Haskell, Service Company.

The final event of the day was the Tug of War between the first and second battalions and the combined Headquarters and Service companies. The first battalion won rather handily from the second but found a Tartar in the combined Service and Headquarters companies. The struggle lasted the entire two minutes with the spectators cheering madly their respective favorite. At the expiration of the time limit the Headquarters and Service Companies were found to have had the best of it.

The Commanding Officer, Col. Johnson, awarded the prizes to the winners and to the men in second and third places. The organization with the highest number of points was Headquarters Co., commanded by Capt. Ballard with a total of twenty points. Second place for organizations was won by Company "E", commanded by Capt. Winfield, with a total of fifteen points.

In the evening, the present and former officers and their guests together with The Commandant, Gen. Edgar T. Collins, Mayor Dimon, of Columbus, General Reeves and Jamerson gathered at Mess Hall No. 3 where Capt. A. B. Helsley, as host had prepared a delicious dinner. Following the dinner the guests went to the regimental service club where two minstrel shows were put on by local talent in the regiment.

The work of Harper and Kilgore as joksters and the singing of Ross of Co. "B" made a hit with the audience. Sergeant Scipio's famous orchestra furnished excellent music during the dinner and at the show.

with all the honors there were. Curtis came out to win the best shot group honors with the automatic and when the finals in magazine changing occurred, Lts. Essig and Brown of Co. "B" fought it out with Essig winner.

When old Jup Pluvius ran us into the gym to close up our drill Tuesday morning, Co. "B" had about 6 entries in the manual of arms finals while two were left for "C". The competition finally left Wiener representing Co. "C" and Lts. Curtis and Kovarik for Co. "B". First Wiener went out and then Joe pulled one that left the field clear for Curtis who was crowned champ.

Cap Graham's cadence drill still has us buffalowed, though we're hoping some day it'll sink thru the cranium. I've doped it out that if I ever get the platoon to march out or back I'll just give them everything there is except "Execute squads right and halt." I'll have them do squads right and squads left, halt and forward and count the cadence. That ought to eliminate that trick movement that nobody ever gets including Mike Halloran and Capt. Canella. Capt. Olmstead handed Canella a left-handed one Wednesday when, in explaining "right turn," he said, "Now, let's see, you have about a 12 inch foot, haven't you?" Canella readily said, "yes, sir."

Mike continues to give the boys in Co. "B" a treat. Between Mike and Deaderick and Canella time will never get dull in that outfit. When Mike's squad hears any command that contains the world's "by squads," they invariably do "squads right." They are the last squad in the platoon and have always gone forward because that's the only way that platoon can move to get away from its locker building. The other day they were on the right of the line and when "left by squads was given," Mike Koarik, Canella and the whole outfit went straight out parallel to the first squad on the left of the line, Mike finally woke up in time to gallop his squad over to where the company was. Mike wins the fur lined gaboon. After taking one of those 29th Infantry squads and telling them how to do "squads right," Mike hesitates a second before having them do it, then gets the brilliant idea that perhaps he omitted something, so he impressed the squad with his superior knowledge of drill by saying, "Is that right or have I left out something." The rest of Mike's own squad leaned over backwards when that got loose!

When it comes to getting the most out of the platoon this boy Deaderick takes the cake. After trying to get them to do a movement or two without much success, he turns to Capt. Olmstead and says, " A bunch of soldiers wouldn't drill like this. They'd get something right." It seems that Canella fololwed the guide instead of executing squads left and threw the company into a mess.

Now that Curtis DeWare has us on the pistol range, we expect to hear a re-opening of that hot lingo between "Windy" Essig and "Squirt" Cole with some dramatics thrown in by Boyles.

Deaderick is still chukling over the fact that when he anounced, "Get your pistol score books in the orderly room" about a dozen of his fellow officers made a mad rush for the room.

I've got a new idea that ought to work and that's about Sunday calling on our married friends in town. I called on a few officers Sunday and at each house two or three other officers and wives also came in. Why wouldn't it be a good idea just to hand these others your calling card and call it a visit? I would have gotten about nine calls in Sunday afternoon instead of only two had I had this bright idea then.

I think we ought to organize a Society for the Preventio nof Animals. When Capt. Butler Knight arrived the other day, someone told him his locker was unlocked. Butler finds a string in a peculiar position inside so he pulls it and down comes a can of water someone had planted overhead.

SPECIAL MUSIC SUNDAY NIGHT

Captain George L. King has resurrected some old time pieces for the movies Sunday night when music of Spanish-American war days will be heard by the audience, many of whom, no doubt, have no memories of those stirring days. This war brought forth very popular songs, one of the most prominent being "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town."

"Rough Riders" will be a stirring picture and with popular music of the days of '98 the scenes in that picture will become very realistic.

Capt. F. S. Doll, post recreation officer has extended to all veterans of that war,both in the city of Columbus and at Fort Benning, an invitation to be guests of the theater Sunday night. The boys of '98 should receive a rousing reception.

POPULAR COUPLE OF FT. BENNING MARRIED LAST WEEK.

A wedding of manifest interest throughout the length and breadth of the Army was that of Miss Mary Pendleton and Captain John D. Forsythe which took place on Wednesday evening, October 26th at eight-thiry at the home of the bride's parents, Colonel and Mrs. J. Harris Pendleton, Lieutenant H. H. Fay officiating.

Regal in its sacred simplicity was this marriage, performed in the presence of only three witnesses—who make up their innermost circle—Father, Mother, and best friend. The mantle of the living room become their alteor ,aETA ing room became their altar, made stately with white chrysanthemums and silver candlesticks holding white burning tapers.

The bride, always dainty and beautiful, was exquisitely lovely in her bridal dress of white tulle over satin with long tulle viel held in place by a cornet of rare lace. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of yellow roses and lillies of the valley. Her father accompanied her to the altar where she was met by the groom and his best man, Captain William De Ware.

The ceremony was immediately followed by a reception and dance at the Polo Club where the many friends of this popular young couple had opportunity to shower congratulations upon them.

Captain and Mrs. Forsythe have now returned from their honeymoon and are at home in their rustic bungalow in Block 15.

Mrs. Forsythe, as Miss Mary Pendleton was one of the most popular girls of the Army. In her are combined those qualities which make the ideal type of young woman-hood, beauty, grace, charm, and ability. As a student in the Mahoney School of Art in Washington, D. C., her ability attarcted marked attention. Last year she ably lead the Arts and Crafts. Department of the Woman's Club and will continue her programme with the group during this year.

Captain Forsythe is assistant adjutant of the post and is one of the most efficient and most popular officers at Fort Benning.

The Officers and Ladies of the 29th Infantry each month have a regimental party, usually a dance, but October will stand out as delightfully different, for on Thursday afternoon, October 27th when the shadows began to lengthen, some two hundred guests, including present and former officers of the regiment, and several very distinguished visitors, gathered around long tables set in a natural amphitheatre just off the Marne road or a genuine, typical, Souther Barbecue. There was barbecue lamb and pork, brunswick stew, pickles, olives, sliced tomatoes, lettuce salad, ice-cream, coffee, and beer. The regimental band played those tunes dear to the Infantry, and after the barbecue was over, the guests gathered in great circles around a huge bonfire and sang Southern songs By the Light of the Moon.

"An ever-growing patronage tells our story"

Place—Polo Club.

Date—First and Third Mondays.

Next Meeting—Monday, November 7th.

Time—2:15.

The Infantry School Woman's Club will assemble next Monday afternoon at the Polo Club for its first general meeting and a program of much interest will be given. Major Frank Green, Director of Red Cross Activities, who spent four months in the devastated area of Louisiana when the Mississippi went on her mighty rampage this spring, is going to tell something of heroic work in the four refugee camps which took care of 17,000 helpless and homeless people, something of the queer and ridiculous things that happen despite the fact that laughter was followed by tears, something of the unforgetable situations which are so indelibly fixed in his mind. He calls his talk "Some Interesting Sidelights of the Great Mississippi Flood."

There will be lovely music. Three of the Post's best loved musicians will present:

I. Marchita—by Victor Schetzinger.

II. Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing—by Godfrey Nutting.

Mrs. Alice Miller and Mrs. Marion Boyd singing the duets, Mrs. Edwin Butcher accompanying.

After the program tea will be served.

The Department Clubs have been organized by most apable leaders and the work of the club year is already under way.

The Arts and Crafts Club is busy learning new and lovely ways to make shades. These lessons are being taught by Mrs. W. W. Ashurst at her apartment in Lorena Hall.

The Cooking Club had its first practical work on Thursday of this week when they met with Mrs. Walter Scott. They are interested in making a study of, in Holiday Cookery in preparation for Thanksgiving and Christmas needs.

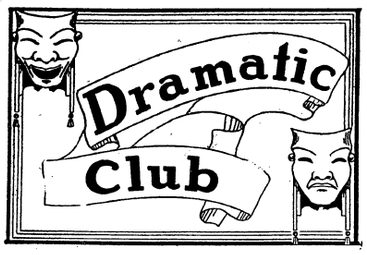
The Sewing Club has had one lesson in practical dressmaking. This club is divied into two groups and both are taught by Mrs. Robert L. Bacon.

The Literary Club had its first program on Monday. There are 79 members in this group and the meetings henceforth will be at the Polo Club at 2:00 o'clock on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The subject of Mondays program was Contemporary Irish Literature. Mrs. Vinson gave the orientation in a talk which she called "Over Ireland's Half-door." This was a glimpse into the political and literary situation in present-day Ireland. In bringing out what Irish Literature is doing for Ireland she showed what all great literature does for every country.

Mrs. Philip Peyton gave a most interesting talk on James Joyce and the great poet George W. Russell, "A. E." Mystic of Ireland.

The outstanding piece of Non-fiction of the year "The Autobiography of Yeats" was well reviewed by Mrs. H. W. Keith, and Mrs. Charles W. Ryder, who knows personally Donn Byrne, gave an interesting "Close up" of his literary career and a charming resume of his Hongman's House.

The program was concluded by that delightful one-act play of Lady Gregory's—"The Rising of the Moon" excellently done by Mrs. John F. Landis.



"The first program of one act plays for the current season wil lbe given by The Infantry School Dramatic Club in the 29th Infantry Theatre Saturday evening, November 5th at 8:30 p. m. For this presentation 'the Dickey Bird" and "Thank You Doctor" a melodramatic farce have been selected. The production will be open to members of the Dramatic Club and their guests only. Each member may bring two guests. All members are requested to be in their seats at 8:30 p. m., as no one will be permitted to enter during the progress of the first play."

CO-EDS CAN'T SWIM

Co-eds at Emory University are up in arms over a recent ruling by the athletic council that the members of the fair sex will be barred from the campus swimming pool when it is reopened next spring.

Just the reason for this unusual ruling has not ben made public, but, suffice to say, the young ladies will be heard from when the ruling becomes effective. Several of the prominent co-eds have already raised their voices in protest against this seemingly absurb action.

They All Have "IT"

HOWEVER you interpret "It", charm, personality, youth or beauty, we all know by now that "It" is the most desirable possession in the world. You want it, and you want the clothes you wear to have it!

There's a sparkling vivacity, an unexpected demureness, a young naivety about our fashions which come as close to being "It" as anything we know of!

"Yes Madam, We Have It,,

The most important service any store can give is to have the goods its customers want.

When you desire some particular style, the fact that a store may have thousands of other things is of small moment to you. You are concerned about that particular one.

This store is so keenly alert to the preference and desires of the shoppers of this community that a shopper usually finds our selections beyond her expectations. Quite often a shopper asks for a special item which she herself thinks would hardly be here but wants to make sure—and then is delightfully surprised to have the salesperson say, "Yes Madam, we have it."

CONGRATULATIONS TO THAT FAMOUS OLD REGIMENT, THE 24TH INFANTRY, ON ITS 58TH BIRTHDAY.

With the publication of this issue, a new editor takes pen in hand, or pecks on the typewriter keys with much vigor in an endeavor to put out a good newspaper. And with that naturally comes the question of what is a good newspaper. To the editor's mind a real paper is one that prints the news.

Journalism in the army is reaching a high point in the number of periodicals. Most every post of any size maintains a newspaper to disseminate the news of the post, covering athletics, society, company organization activities, and, in addition, items of general interest to all officers and enlisted men throughout the service.

Such will be the policy of The Infantry School News as it has been in the past. And with this little announcement, the editor invites all subscribers or others to make criticisms or suggestions for the betterment of Y O U R paper. And, too, a phone call on anything which you think would make interesting reading for the paper will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you.

One of the features of this issue is the initiating of a weekly calendar which records the events of next week. It is believed that this little feature will be an asset to everyone—a weekly reminder. Look it up and here's hoping that you like it and approve. You can help keep this up-to-date. If your club or some other activity is omitted please phone the office and it will be given immediate attention.

It is to be regretted that more write-ups on individual members of the 24th Infantry is impossible due to lack of space. There are several members who have had long and faithful service and deserve honorable mention. For instance, Sergeant McCauly has had over thirty years of service and is the only man in the regiment who went up San Juan Hill. A little story on the sergeant is forth coming in the near future.

NEW BARRACKS AT FORT LEWIS

That building activities in the army have become more or less universal is evidenced by the following story from the Third Division Review published at Fort Lewis, Wash:

"Much activity is going on in the 10th F. A. area where the great new barracks being rushed to completion by the Guthrie Construction Company of Portland, Oregon, are doing all that is humanly possible, despite the periodic rain storms that prevent exterior work at times from being completed. Reports from those in charge are that eighty per cent. of the work is completed and with favorable weather the men of the 10th Field Artillery will sit down to their Thanksgiving Feast in the new structure on that day.

With painters rushing the finishing touches on the interior of the several units, plumbers putting in the final equipment and doors and windows being placed, the great edifice that occupies what is equivalent to a city block presents a majestic appearance from any angle as the casual observer looks upon one of the future fine works of architecture. With the old buildings in this area that detract and in a measure conceal the beauty of this new and permanent barracks removed, and lawns planted, this area will present an attractive regimental setting, that will be in keeping with the background where the snow capped Mt. Rainier will reflect the resplendent sunlight from off its graceful sides.

No little interest is manifested by the troops of the 10th Field Artillery who look with anticipation to their future new home where with every convenience housed under one roof a satisfied and contented regiment will find a new urge to carry on."

CONSTRUCTION WORK AT FORT SAM HOUSTON

The first actual construction work started Monday of this week on the building program for oFrt Sam Houston. The old water main on Shirley Street is being removed and will be relaid along the new street, where it will not interfere with the building program for the barracks.

Civilian labor is being used in the construction work and a large force of civilians started work removing the water mains. Under the new building program plans, the present location of Shirley Street, near new division headquarters, will be changed. Therefore, the removal of the water mains was necessary.

The next step in the new construction program will be the removal of the large telephone cable and telephone poles running parrallel to Shirley Street. This work will be under the direction of the Signal Corps and will be a gigantic proposition. The large cable, serving approximately four hundred patrons, will be moved without interfering with the telephone service of a single phone on the cable. This will require a great amount of labor and skill.

Construction work on the barracks will not begin before at least a month, according to information received from Captain Parker's office.

Bids or construction were opened on Saturday of last week, and twenty bids were submitted. An abstract of these bids will be submitted to the Quartermaster General before any one of the bids are accepted.—2nd Div. Review.

THE COLORED SOLDIER IN THE SANTIAGO CAMPAIGN

Colonel James A. Moss, formerly an officer with the 24th Infantry said this of the colored soldier as a fighting man: "The galant and heroic work of the 24th Inafntry at San Juan Hill has won for the regiment the admiration of the whole nation. After the battle in which the regiment lost, killed and wounded, over forty per cent., they volunteered to go to Siboney and act as nurses in the yellow fever hospital, thus facing a foe to be feared more than bullets. A number of those engaged in this work contracted fever and died, but their places were at once filled by others of the regiment. Indeed, we cannot hear their story without doffing our hats and saying, "All honor to the brave and gallant 24th."

SALE OF GOVERNORS ISLAND NOT LIKELY

President Coolidge, it was stated officially at the White House on October 21, doubts very much whether the Army would favor the sale fo Governors Island in New York harbor.

This statement was made on behalf of the President in commenting upon the suggestion of Representative McGregor of Buffalo, N. Y., that Governors Island be sold.

The President, it was said, has made only a casual investigation into the question of the sale of the island, but he was advised that it was thought it should be kept by the War Department for military purposes.

CLUB OFFICERS ELECTED

Officials of the Fort Benning Officers Club were recently selected by popular vote of members of the club.

Colonel Paul E. Gallaher was elected as president for the ensuing year. Other officials elected were as follows: Vice-President, Major P. B. Peyton; board of governors, Majors O. W. Griswold, E. F. Rice, R. W. Dusenbury and Edwin Butcher and Lieut. Geo. S. Deadrick. Capt. E. E. Walker was elected as secretary.

Make room for, "Gallopin' Battery "C", we haven't been in the 'News' for some time but we are back to stay."

We have with us a new Battery Commander, Capt. Everett Busch. We are glad to welcome Capt. Busch as Battery Commander of one of the best organizations in the Army. We have the best non-commissioned officers in the Army from the 1st Sergeant down to the Junior Corporal, and a spirit of co-operation that can't be beat. With this combination and our Battery Commander we expect to go over the top in all our activities be it Gunner eexamination or football.

Lieut. Reichle, our Battery Commander prior to the arrival of Capt. Busch, is still with us as Executive Officer.

We were sorry to loose Lieut. Foster to Battery "B". He is an excellent instructor and leaves a host of friends in this Organization.

Corporal Hood was born in Tennessee but we understand that he has traveled restrictively.

Corporal Mallard as been accused of punching himself in the jaw, he has the punch-ask Barksdale—but one of our Shetland onies gets the blame for his visit to the hospital.

Sergeant Alleman was discharged per ETS, the 29th. We wish him success in civilian life.

Private 1st Class Cassady has returned from a thirty day furlough in South Carolina. He reports an enjoyable time but looks rather hungry.

Private Andrew J. Gilmore has reported for duty, having been transferred to this Organization from the 15th Tanks. We are glad to extend a welcome to Private Gilmore. We admire his choice of an organization.

We are pulling for our football squad. They are practicing hard and we are confident that we will again have a championship team.

A Smoker was given by The Opossum Club, Saturday night, Oct. 29th. The music was fine. The "Eats and Smokes" were fine. The Entertainment and Refreshment Committee are to be congratulated for their excellent program.

It has been reported that "Speedy" Nelson couldn't be induced to board the train when he enlisted, until the conductor nailed a pair of plow handles on the door. We suppose he is longing for the feel of a pair now, as he is trying to secure his discharge.

When "Ploughboy" Dean first came to Camp, he was out walking one day when an aeroplane flew over his head and he started to run; the aeroplane landed in front of him and the pilot got out of his Ship and approached "Ploughboy," who extended his hand and exclaimed, "hello Saint Peter before God I liked to not knowed you!"

P. C. Davis is getting along fine, thank you. He has learned the difference between saddle soap and axle grease.

Does any one know a cure for seasickness if so report to Corporal Knox. He has started a voyage on the Sea of Matrimony. BILL! BILL! why in the devil don't you open that door.

Corporal Johnson wishes to know the duties of Number 1, Back on the football squad. Atta Boy!

WOW! et the Caissons roll.

The hour was late. All was hushed and dark. Suddenly the stillness was broken by a crash from upstairs.

"G-g-g-g-good Heavens, what was that, d-d-darling?" exclaimed the timid young man.

"Merely father dropping a hint," replied the girl, quite unalarmed.—London Tid-Bits.

I. S. D. NOTES

The Infantry School Detachment has finished moving to the new area assigned to them, down in the tented area, the mess halls have been finished. It is the opinion of the writer that the I. S. D. Mess shall take first place hereafter. The mess halls have just been painted by the entire command, with Major Henry A. Bootz as the efficient supervisor, the mess halls are for inspection to the entire command. We have one of the best mess halls on the post, if not the best, not excusing the new barracks, if there were such a thing as a pennant we certainly would take it; and no doubt with our efficient kitchen force we would have notrouble holding it.

The Orderly Room, Mess Halls and Recreation Rooms are all looking mighty smart and spruce with new signs out in front and their enternal workings touched up, and in some instances covered up, with good new paint.

We are pleased to report the addition of two new cooks to our outfit. Privates Fulford and Black arrayed in white caps and aprons add quite an oscarsque touch to our kitchen. Good cooks too.

We are given to understand that lectures will be given freely, eloquently and eagerly by no less personages than Corporal Astyanax S. Douglas and Private Jack Ryan, upon the terrible evils of ditches.

Eleven horse shoeing students are coming to abide with us while learning the are of "'oofing 'orses." Welcome!

We'd like muchly to report that Corporal Lane had bought some cigarettes but the editor won't publish lies.

"TUBA" has returned from the hospital and it wasn't what you thought it was at all. Still we're glad he's out even if our ration has gone up two cents a day per man since his return.

'Tis understood that Terrible Tony, Baker May's Man of Much Muscle, (also of late a Specialist 6th) was a brick maker before coming to the sheltering arms of our mutual Uncle. One need'nt a Quida Board to discover that after looking at the bread sliced by his ample hand.

A great loss has been sustained by those interested in the Before and After Picture Business. One Luther Downey upon his entrance to the I. S. D. weighed 164 lbs. The scales now grade a mere 194 at his approach. Who says our Mess Sergeant Bayliss don't know his stuff? We understand said L. D. has put in a request through Dad Richardson for a rubber uniform.

We hand the laurel to the instrumentalist in Co. "A", who strums the one stringed, banjo, uke or what-have-you. The man is surely a genius for never before in musical history have so many weird and assorted sonuds been drawn from a cats innards.

The M. P. Section have started work on their company street and garden. Private Walter Martin has been designated the Burbank in the latter instance and we are waiting for an opportune time to swipe a few orchids or beautiful blooms. Good work and it looks fine!

For the information of the other small potatoes mentioned in this column last week, Spud Murphy of the Orderly Room, wishes it understood that a wife in Boston could not possibly belong to him, for the simple reason that he doesn't do foolish things and a wife so far away as Boston is a foolish investment for practical purposes.

"The time has come," the Major said.
The outfit groaned, "Alas!"
To talk of coats and Pershing Caps,
And highly polished Brass.
(With many apologies to Mr. Carol.)

WE WONDER

If Pfister were entirely sober when he bought that sweater?

What God gave Massey in place of a human jaw bone?

Who gave Mitchell lessons in grace and posture?

Why Stanfield's friend won't trust him to get to town on the bus?

What really happened to Jack Ryan's nose?

Also To Detweilder's shape?

Corporal aFirfax has returned safely after a pleasant furlough spent along with his money, in Atlanta.

The Major has supplied us with coverings for the floors of the tents. Makes 'em pretty snug and much more comfortable to walk on. 'Tis told that one Sgt. McPherson while laying this covering hit, and forciably his finger with a hammer and in approved army style gave vent to an expression while not quoted in real polite society is both Anglo Saxon and very relieving. His tenty Sgt. Clarke chided him, "Alright Mac, don't speak of love when there's so much work to be done."

We have a new Sergeant and five Corporals in the Detachment. Many good wishes to Sergeant McPherson and Corporals Lane, Kline, Smith, Morris, Boggs and Foster.

It is a pity that Sergeant Carroll has had the had luck to get rid of that jinx charge of Quarters job in time to take the hike with the Company. We feel for you Sarge., yet we can't quite reach you. Don't let Bob rub it in too hard, you know that he enjoys it very much.

Pvts. Willie G. Bowles and Cecil B. Coates have ben promoted to the grade of Corporal, and as such they will be respected by all members of this command.

THE BENNING NAIL-NABBER

(By Sgt. A. B. Dowling, Eng.)

When the technicians over on Engineer Hill first considered the possibility of riding the Fort Benning roads, streets, avenues and parking places of the ubiquitous nail they drew up the plans for a Mobile magnet; a magnet of such colossal proportions that it would attract to its surface all and sundry nails, tacks, spikes, wire, and the multifarious bits of iron and steel that form a constant menace to the piece of mind of the local motorists. The results far exceeded their expectations. Everything seems to be attracted by the magnet.

Wherever you see a small procession following a queer looking six wheeled truck about the reservation; or perhaps a craning crowd of spectators earnestly regarding the usually uninteresting surface of the local highway, there you may expect to find the industrious magnet busily garnering its harvest of potential punctures, and incidentally attrcating the attention of everyone it passes. There is no exception to this attraction; either of rank or file or social condition.

The device itself has an entirely local history. Consisting of a White truck with a trailer improvised from a caisson gear, the magnet is suspended below the trailer by heavy chains—mounted in the truck is a Portable Field Lighting plant with a 5 KW capacity: The magnet itself weighs about two tons and at full strength is capable of lifting seven standard length steel rails. The Engineers were fortunate in securing a magnet from the local Quartermaster storage, thus saving themselves the trouble of winding a new one. The caisson gear was borrowed from the local Ordnance Department and the truck is Engineer equipment as is also the field lighting plant. The magnet of course operates only when the power plant is in operation.

The idea of operating a device for picking up loose nails and other puncturing agents is not new. Captain James F. C. Hyde, commanding Company "A" th Engineers has been considering putting such a device in operation for some time. The only drawback was the matter of fuel. This difficulty was recently removed by the offer of Mr. Austell, of the Post Exchange Filling Station, to furnish the necessary gas to run the plant. Mr. Austell's offer brought about a novel situation. The chief reason for operating the magnet is of course to eliminate, in so far as possible, the puncture hazard on the reservation, but oddly enough the Post Exchange Tire Repair shop was profiting greatly through the constantly increasing number of punctures. And there you have the situation of the local Post Exchange paying out good money for the purpose of doing away with a highly lucrative business.

Amusing incidents occur daily as the truck travels around on its errand of mercy. We quote Sergeant Dolphus Greenfield, conductor of the Engineer nail-nabber.

"The other day I was going up the road toward the hospital and everything seemed to be working fine when I heard a noise in back of me that sounded like I had picked up a bunch of wash boilers. I stopped the truck and went back to see what had happened and I darned near stepped into an open sewer manhole. The blamed magnet had swiped the lid. And then coming down the other side of the street it pulled off another lid."

The sergeant is becoming absent-minded since he started operating the magnet. The other day he was explaining to several ladies the principle of the machine while the driver was making a trip around the block. On lady asked him if he thought that the magnet would pick up her ring. We believe that the Sergeant glaced at her ring—at least we know that he said:

"No, Ma'm. You see lady it won't pick up nothin' that's made of brass or copper or such stuff."

But, Sergeant," the lady remonstrated, with sweet patience, "you see my ring isn't either brass or copper; in fact it is made of platinum."

Just then the truck came back down the street and the Sergeant must have felt the attraction of the magnet for he left hurriedly.

That the Mobile magnet is doing good service is amply attested to by the ever increasing pile of junk accumulating outside the Engineer garage. One days haul filled a packing box and must have weighed at least three hundred pounds. There was a good G. I. can-full of the junk. On an average the magnet picks up about one hundred pounds of old rusty nails and sharp-edged bits of steel and iron each day. When you consider that this stuff all comes right out of the very wheel tracks of the Benning Auto Traffic the funny looking little trailer behind the big truck assumes a tremendous significance, and the broad-minded attitude of the Post Exchange in giving financial backing to the Engineers in operating their "nail-nabber" should make a nespecial appeal to every Benningite.

24TH INFANTRY CRUSH AMERICUS INSTITUTE

Soldiers Hold Demonstration for Commandant; Win Game by 72 to 6

(By Al Durden)

The 24th Infantry's first ceremonies in connection with their Organization Day program began last Friday afternoon on the field at Doughboy Stadium when the regiment's football squad made its initial appearance before home fans. The doughboys played Americus Institute on that day. The local team crushed the visitors to the tune of 72 to 6.

One of the main features of the game was the exhibition put over by the entire regiment which marched to the Doughboy Stadium and entertained the spectators with mass singing and cheering. The regiment formed in mass formation in front of the boxes occupied by General and Mrs. Edgar T. Collins and Colonel and Mrs. Wait C. Johnson, the former being The Commandant of The Infantry School and the latter commanding officer of the 24th Infantry.

The regiment has a universal reputation throughout the army for its mass singing and rarely does a distinguished visitor to Fort Benning ever miss the mass singing exercises of this regiment. There were about six hundred voices raised over tops of the bleachers of Doughboy Stadium last Friday in perfect harmony, the deep mellow bassos mingling perfectly with the well trained tenor and soprano. After the singing of "Follow Me" and the regimental song, the companies marched to their respective places in the south bleachers where organized cheering held the attention of the spectators. The cheering was comparable to any college pep that ever put out for its football. It was of such volume and put over with percision that put fight into their team and made the heart of the opposing forces take extra beats as it rolled over the tops of the stadium.

THE GAME

Colilns kicked off for the Infantry, it was the Visitors ball on their 25 yard line, after four attempts to make a gain they punted to Infantrys 40 yard strip. On the first play Heard ripped through the visitors line for 30 yards, Infantry made first down on four straight line bucks, on the next play Baugh ploughed through for a touch down.

The Collegians never had a chance, the driving Doughboys ripped their line to shreds, the playing of B. G. Heard, Collins and Tillis was the miggest feature of the game, although the whole Infantry squad played a fast game of football. Several passes that were good for 50 yard gains were completed by the soldier team, starting their first string in the first quarter the Happy Hearts sent in their entire second string in the second quarter and although second string players they certainly made a noise like first string men, so fast and furious was their attack that three touch downs with the extra points attached had been added to their credit before the Quarter was over. Then to add to their joy, the first team went on the field in the third quarter and when a punt was fumbled on their 15 yard mark, the much battered Collegians caught them flat footed on the next play, their first fleet-footed quarterback skirting right end for 15 yards and a touch down. For some unknown reason the second team of the Happy Hearts cheered louder and longer than anybody.

Although not given enough opposition by the visiting team to show their real fighting strength, there is no doubt in the minds of the spectators that the 24th Infantry football team will be able to hold their own against any and all opposition during the present season.

Although smothered under a 72 to 6 score, the Americus Institute put up a game though losing fight, and never during the game did they offer any unnecessary protest or argument; they showed that algthough with no chance to win they played a clean game and were good losers.

NEWBERRY COLEGE LOST IN TIDAL WAVE AT BENNING

Collegians No Match For All-Army Football Team

By AL DURDEN

Displaying a line smashing and aerial attack that swept every obstacle before it the Blue Tide vanquished the Newberry football team on the field at the Doughboy Stadium, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 29, by the one sided score 34-0. On two occasions the visitors carried the oval to the Doughboys 5 yard mark, each time it was due to a fumble by the Army team, but each time the Soldier line proved an immovable barrier to the redshirted Palmettions.

The fighting spirit that has been smouldering in the Blue Tide ranks flamed higher and fiercer in Saturdays game than on any previous occasion, although it was very much in evidence in the Army-Auburn affray.

Red Reeder and Fat Franz are going to give opposing teams trouble by the air route with Reeder serving and Franz receiving they completed five passes for good gains one for 35 yards.

Nearly every man on the Army squad got in the game, changes thick and fast, Major Van Fleet is going to have to use the ax again soon for the quad is still over strength, but every man on the squad is making the fight of his life to stay, but as is always (May The Best Man Win.)

Fumbling in the first quarter marred the Doughboy's offensive, but after the first three minutes of play the rolling Tide rolled steadily forward. Driggs proved a human piledriver at fullback, while every man of the Army squad showed plenty of fight and gameness during their stay in the game. In spite of the one sided score the game was a thoroughly interesting affair tho played in weather that was more suitable for baseball than for the gridiron past time.

The Palmettoians presented a hard fighting, clean playing team that won the admiration of the stands.

CAISSON RIDERS POLOIST LOSE TO STUDENT TEAM

Gunners Drop From First Place; Doughboys and Freebooters in Tie

Fort Benning's mounted mallet wielders furnished the huge crowd of spectators assembled at Shannon Field Sunday afternoon with three close and exciting games of polo.

The first game, a three period affair was between the Galloping Gunners and the Students. It was a hard fought game the Artillery fighting to hold the lead which they gained in their victory over the Freebooters last week, while the Students were fighting to move into first place.

Both teams played wonderful polo, but the Schoolboys spiked the Redcords guns in the last period to win 4-2.

In the second game the Doughboys from the 29th held the dashing Freebooters to a tie score during three periods of sweat and dust.

Although playing the same dashing, hard hitting game of former seasons the veteran Freebooters are meeting with the strongest opposition from opposing teams here that they have ever encountered.

It looks like the fight for first place will be between the Galoping Gunners and the boys from the little Red Schoolhouse, but you can never tell this early in the season.

The nightcap was played by two teams known as the Infantry School and the Meadow Larks the players for each team being picked from the four regular teams.

The game was fast and furious and at the final bell the boys from the house of learning were declared the victors by a 6 to 5 score.

BATTLING J. D. PEAKES WILL FIGHT JAMAICA KID HERE NOVEMBER 8TH

Leading Colored Lightheavy Contender Will Come Here From New York to Try to End Soldier's String of Wins.

(By Al Durden)

After three unsuccessful attempts to send a fighter here that could stop Battling J. D., Walk Miller told the world that he would send fighting Bob Lawson to do the job, but for some unknown reason after being matched with the Doughboy, Lawson injured his hand and the bout was cancelled.

Captain Charles Mabbutt at once got busy, getting in touch with Willie Gibbs, New York fight promoter and a presonal friend.

Mr. Gibbs is sending Jamaica Kid one of the best colored lightheavys in the game today to meet the soldier battler.

Jamaica Kid fought Jack DeLaney at the Polo Grounds in April for the lightheavy belt and was holding his own with the hard hitting DeLaney until he stepped into one of Jacks' famous uppercuts in the ninth round, and of course it is unnecessary to explain.

Battling J. D. Peakes has been picked by some of the best fight experts as one of the cleverest army fighters in the game, quite a few men who know the fight game and most of the armys leading fighters say that he is one of the best fighters in the service today.

The preliminary card for this fight will bring together some of the best boys in Benning and Columbus and that always means action.

TANKER HIGHLY HONORED; ELECTED CAPTAIN ALL-ARMY FOOTBALL TEAM

(By Lieut. Clyde Grady)

At a meeting of the members of the All-Army football squad held in Fort Benning Private First Class Specialist Third Class Clarence P. Costello of Headquarters Company, Fifteenth Tank Battalion was signally honored by being elected Captain of this year's Army team by his fellow-players. He also was first choice of the coaching staff for the position.

This is probably the greatest athletic compliment that can be paid a man wearing the uniform of a soldier. Those composing the squad are enlisted men and officers who have been outstanding football stars in their localities, or as members for instance of Corps Area aggregations or as prominent players at the Military Academy. These stars picked from the various branches of the Army service throughout the country; men noted for their gridiron powers are sent to Fort Benning for training and advanced instruction by celebrated football coaches.

The newly elected captain came to Fort Benning in October of last year from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and immediately was given a pemanent berth with the Infantry School team as it was designated at that time. Weighing only one hundred and eighty one pounds which is rather light for the line, yet he proved a tower of strength in the tackle and guard positions. Hhe participated in the remaining scheduled contests of the Army squad including the game against the Marines in Washington for the President's Cup.

When the Infantry School team disbanded at the close of the regular football season Costello returned to his Unit where he became at once an active participant in the various sports and athletics advocated by his outfit. As a member of the Tank Battalion squad he was in every game of the Fort Benning Intra-Mural series and to his skill and phenominal playing goes a large amount of the credit for the Tanks winning every one of their games, and eventually the Garrison Championship.

He also proved himself a valuable member of the Tank baseball nine, and especially was he qualified forany infield position, more particularly second or third base. When the Unit basketball quintet came into existence there was Costello on hand, and he proved one of its strongest members. At the Battalion Field and Track meet he was one of the outstanding contenders for honors. Thus it may be said that he is an all around athlete.

HIS MILITARY RECORD

Costello is a World War veteran with overseas service on the firing line. Enlisting in Company "C" 64th Infantry in May 1917 when just twenty-one years of age he went to France early in the game,and took part in some of greatest battles of the war. He made an excelent record over there and at the conclusion of hostilities he was discharged as a sergeant which was very commendable considering this was his first enlistment. With two additional honorable discharges from the Army as a Sergeant he has to his credit approximately nine military service.

Costello's record as a soldier is just as outstanding as that ofan athlete. While with the Eleventh Infantryat Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, in 1925 he qualified as an expert rifleman, and repeated the performance in 1926—just before he came here—with the phenominal score of 319 out of a possible of 350,, and that's something any soldier would be pleased to have on his record. On the bayonet course he made the grade of expert with 93 per cent., and that's an accomplishment any rifleman is proud of and justly so. These performances are all more remarkable when it is considered that Costello is rated as a clerk with practically al lhis work in a personnel office, and it might be said without exaggeration that in these duties he has no peers in his grade and few equals.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary Costello of 50 South 3rd Avenue, Jessup, Pennsylvania, and briefly this is the record of the Captain of the All-Army Football team.

SPORTOPICS

(By Al)

Baseball still boasts of Barefoot Joe Jackson, but Fort Benning has produced Shoeless Bill Sweeney of football.

A few weeks past the Blue Tide motored over to Auburn College for a friendly practice game.

Being delayed going over the Army team arrived very late, the teams being hurried on the field.

Bill Sweeney an army back carried the ball on the first play, going through a hole in the Auburn line, William started for a touchdown.

Eluding two Auburn tackles it looked like a sure touchdown, but yelling Army rooters were shocked to see William do a triple dive in midfield, letting the ball go rolling down the field to be scooped by an Auburn player.

Time out was called, the players rushed to pick Sweeney up, and then it was found William had forgot his shoes, and with an open field had been tackled by an Alabama sandspur, MEET SHOELESS BILL.

15TH TANKS

Company "B"

Hump and Tum joined the Order of the Garter on the night of October 12, 1927, and they both made a good job of it. The Order of the Grater was established by Edward III in 1344. Either B. C. or A. D. they didn't know which. The motto of the order is as follows: "Honi Soit Qua Mali Pence," which means "Evil to him who evil thinks." Hump was misinformed as to the proper place to wear the Garter, so he went home with said Garter around his neck. It is quite evident that Tom got his information from the Nehi Co., for he went home with his Garter on his left knee. Both of these Gentlemen are going to England to receive their final degree.

Company "C"

Pvt. Aucoin has been granted a thirty day furlough to visit his people in New Orleans, La. This soldier has served one year in this company without anything on his record but excellent work.

Privates Fowler, Hensley, Knapp, Macy and Revels have been relieved from special duty in connection with recruit instruction. They are well qualified to fill the vacancies they enlisted for.

Corporal Mattson, and Pvts. Linkwald and Dean have returned from the Fair and report having had a good time. Dean says that he don't want any more Fair in his unless it is on his own time. He went to work at 5 a. m., and quit at 9 p. m. Dean was on K. P. and Corp. Mattson and Pvt. Linkwald were busy explaining the working of the Tanks to the visitors.

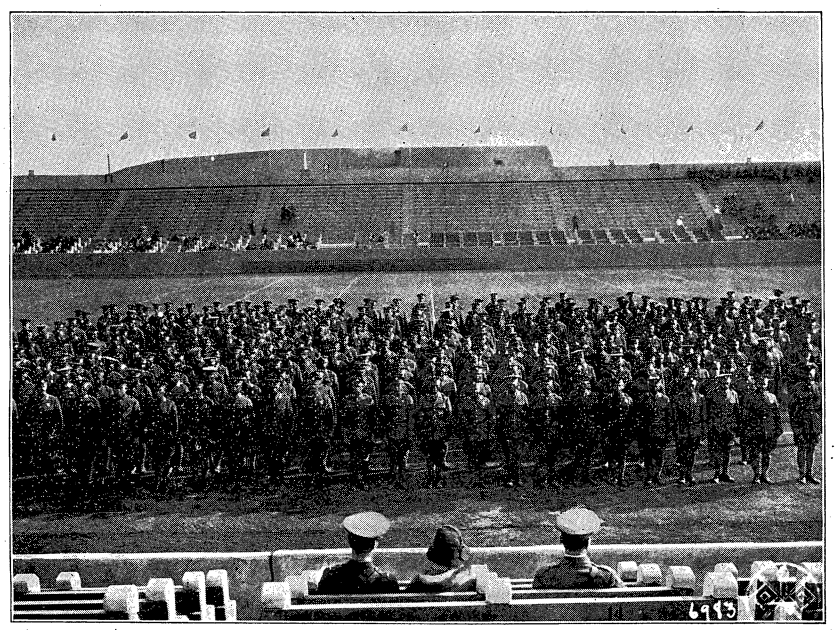
To hit a bull's eye traget one-half the size of a dime, that is 5-16 of an inch in diameter, at a distance of 50 feet, using a 22 cablier rifle, requires steady nerves and thorough training in rifle marksmanship. To hit it 22 consecutive times denotes an expert. That is the accomplishment of Capt. C. L. Steel, 24th Infantry, in the small-bore rifle competition held among the Infantry regiments of the Regular Army stationed within the continental limits of the United States, on March 2, 1927.

The match was conducted under the auspices of the 7th Infantry, stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Wash. Each regimental team was composed of ten men who shot the prescribed course on the afternoon of that date. The results were immediately telegraphed to the sponsoring regiment and the targets, with a verifications of the scores, sent by mail.

The 24th Infantry team was coached by Capt. E. T. Jones, of that regiment. Under his direction a special target range with canvas covering, as a protection against sun and rain, was built. The team had been in training for about three weeks and had done consistently good shooting. All the fine points of excellent marksmanship had been utilized. However, on the dav of the competition the team encountered very unfavorable weather conditions. The day was cold and raw, the light dark and changing, the barometer registered 29.52, the thermometer 31, the hygrometer 85, and 25-mile-an-hour wind was blowing from the right. The team overcome this handicap and demonstrated the ability to shoot accurately and to hit the mark.

Sgt. Scott Bradford, service company, made the highest score by securing 379 points out of a possible 400. The other members of the team, in order of their proficinecy, are: Sgt. Charley Harrison, headquarters company; Cpl. Claude Rollins, company "B"; Cpl. Troy Berrien, company "E"; Sgt. Charlie Burris, company "F"; Cpl. Floyd Hairston, company "I"; 1st Sgt. Julius Jennings, company "C"; Pvt. (1st class) James Fletcher, company "F"; Capt. C. L. Steel and 1st Sgt. John R. Gunn, company "F".

The totals made by the team at the various positions were: Prone, 984; sitting, 981; kneeling, 929, and standing, 775, making a grand total of 3,669 out of a possible 4,000. In accordance with the rules of the match, officers of the competing regiments served as officials at the shooting done by their own team. Those of the 24th Infantry were Lieut. Col. Jason M. Walling and 1st Lieut. Robb S. Mackie.



A view of the 24th Infantry assembled on Doughboy Stadium football field last Friday afternoon before the Americus game. Seated in the bleachers are left to right, Lieut. R. C. Oliver, aide to General Collins, Mrs. Collins, and The Commandant, Gen. E. T. Collins. The regiment sang the regimental song and "Follow Me" during this formation.

24TH HAS HAD VARIED SERVICE

From its organization in 1869 until 1897 the regiment participated in skirmishes with Indians and Mexican bandits along the Mexican Border. During the Spanish-American War, on July 1, 1898, it assisted in the capture of San Juan Hill, Cuba. From July 15, 1898 the regiment was assigned the duty of nursing the sick at the Yellow Fever Camp at Siboney, where they remained until August 26th, and sailed for the States. On July 23, 1899 the first Battalion of the regiment arrived in Manila to assist in quelling uprisings among the natives; especially the Moros. The remaining battalions arrived a few weeks later when many skirmishes occured throughout the Islands until 1902. Participated in demonstration of Pershing Expedition, Mexico, 1916. Drove the Villista forces out of Jaurez, Mexico, June 16, 1919.

Athletics have always been encouraged in the regiment, but the men have had very few opportunities to compete with other organizations. The first opportunity of this nature was in the Philppines in 1906-1907, in the Department and Division athletic meets, where the 24th Infantry athletes annexed many first places. Wherever stationed, the regiment has aquited itself most creditably in all atheletic competitions since that date. Baseball, Football, Basket-ball and Track are the principal sports engaged in, with baseball leading in favor, and football a close second.

During the past summer the regimental baseball teams were always within a few games of the top of the Benning league and in 1925 and 1926, the Reds won the post championship series. The regiment boast of a strong football squad this year and has already demonstrated its ability on the local gridiron.

INTELLIGENT RATTLER

That a snake can show gratitude is the moral of this tale from Opelika, Alabama. Jim Curtis found a rattlesnake caught beneath a boulder, and instead of killing it, released it. The snake followed him home and took up residence in his bachelor's quarters. Affection developed between the two and Jim prepared a place at the foot of his bed for the snake to sleep. One night he missed the rattler and lighting a lamp found a burglar in an adjoining room caught in the coils of the snake, which had put the end of its tail out the window and was rattling for the police.

Sergeant Herbert E. Smith, of the staff of The Recruiting News has been assigned to accompany the All-Army team as presss representative. Smith is a veteran in newspaper and publicity work and the team is fortunate in having a publicity man of his experience with it. ALL ARMY TEAM LEFT FOR NORTHERN INVASION ON LAST WEDNESDAY

Commandant Bids Team Farewell; Will Play Marines Next Saturday in Washington

The All-Army team left Fort Benning early Wednesday morning for Baltimore, where they will meet the fast Western Maryland squad this afternoon. From all reports the Maryland squad will show the All-Army aggregation a good game, which will put Major Van Fleet's outfit in good condition for the game of the season in Washington next Saturday.

The Commandant, General E. T. Collins, made a farewell address to the squad on the local gridiron Tuesday morning, in which he stated he was confident the team would make an excellent showing in the Marine game. He told the players that from all indications the team this year, in his opinion, was the strongest army team that has ever been gathered here for the annual Marine clash. In closing he wished the team the best of luck on their trip and was quite confident that the All-Army squad would make a good fight in the big game next Saturday.

After the Marine game next Saturday the army squad will be seen in action at Columbus, Ohio, where it meets the Georgetown Alumni, and three days later the Orange Athletic Association at Orange, N. J. In Philadelphia the team will play the Paris Island Marines on December 3. The Blue Tide will then turn its face homeward and the team will again be seen on the gridiron of the Doughboy Stadium on December 10.

No definite arrangements have been made as yet as to what team will be played here on that date.

Library and Service Club

Post Library Receives New Books

The Library announces the addition of a few new books to its shelves. Five, to be exact, as follows:

"Mother India" by Katherine Mayo, the writer of "Isles of Fear!" This new book of Miss Mayo's talks in a fearless manner of existing conditions in India, dealing especially with the customs, hygiene, or rather "lack of hygiene" would more aptly express it, religions, inhibi*tions, and general manner* of living. Miss Mayo's work is the result of personal observation, and though there are quoted many statistics, their dryness is lost in her more than merely interesting description of the idiosyncraisies of this nation of 350,000,000 people.

"The Bacchante" by Robert Hichens, serialized in the Cosmopolitan, and published in book form this year. It tells the tale of a woman with a devil in her soul, of her refusal to disown her baby born out of wedlock, and of her career. With London as its setting, and the theatre to lend it color, it provides an interesting character study.

"Wall-flower"—Temple Bailey's latest. Readers of "The Blue Window" will be glad of this opportunity to read yet another of Miss Bailey's Charming romances. The story concerns two young ladies, sisters and Southerners, and of their search for happiness.

"The Grandmothers" by Glenway Wescott, winner of the Harper Prize, and causing universal comment wherever read. One sees, in this novel, through the eyes of a grandson, America as it used to be.

And last, but far from least, "Now East, Now West," by Susan Ertz, who scored quite a success with afternoon."

Besides these, four other books have been ordered and will be plaed on the shelves as soon as they arrive. They are:

"Caste"—Cosmo Hamilton.

"Fighting Blood"—Donal Hamilton Haines.

"Half a Clew"—Richard H. Watkins.

"Strange Woman"—Elmer Davis.

While on the subject of books, the Library wishes to ask its readers for help in selecting books for addition to the shelves from time to time. Under one of its present policies of purchasing new books, the Library is allowed to add approximately ten volumes each month to its present listing. Provided that these be publications of the current year.

The Library wishes that its readers would take a more active part in the selection of these books and bring to the attention of the Librarian recent publications, both Fiction and Non-Fiction, that are causing comment. It is obviously impossible, without help of a constructive nature, for the Librarian to select books that will be pleasing to all of our readers, but with the assistance of those of our readers who are willing to take an interest in this phase of our work, we feel confident that we will be able to please the greater majority. After all, that is the most to be expected of us. Let us know what you would like to read, be it romances, mysteries, adventure or what-not. If it is good and if it is new, we will get it.

Service Club Has New Hostess

The Service Club wishes to extend through this column, greetings to our Hostess, Mrs. L. W. Brittain, who is already well known to many of the garrison personnel as the daughter of Master Sgt. Wililam J. Stewart of the Infantry School Detachment. Mrs. Brittain comes to us with a complete knowledge of the details of this work, having acted as Hostess at the Y. M. C. A. at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, Texas, for a long period of time. During the course of her work this college, it was not unusual for her to have under her immediate care, upwards of two thousand girls, and, from the enviable record which she carried away with her from there, we feel sure that she will make quite a success of her new work. In fact, we might remark, from the manner in which Mrs. Brittain has taken over the reins so soon after arrival, that we feel confident that the social affairs of the club will be even more successful than ever before. Outside of her own personal qualifications, just being Sgt. Stewart's daughter is more than enough to recommend her to the entire garrison. And while on the subject we might say that in obtaining Mrs. Brittain's service for the Service Club, we have just one more evidence of Captain Doll's interest in our affairs, and of his policy of getting for the Enlisted men everything possible for their welfare.

THEATERS

The Infantry School News will publish in each week's issue, a brief, clear and concise description of the motion pictures to be shown at Fort Benning theatres the next seven days.

NOV. 12 TO NOV. 19, INCL.

SATURDAY, NOV. 12

"CHAIN LIGHTNING," starring Buck Jones in a whirlwind of adventure in the cattle rustling wilds of Arizona. A gripping romance wins the heart while thundering hoofs and hair raising thrills stir the pulse to fever heat.

"The Last Word."—Helen and Warren.

SUNDAY, NOV. 13

"IS ZAT SO," starring George O'Brien with Edmond Lowe in a genuinely funny farce-comedy replete with romance for the ladies and tense melodrama for the men. It is a combination of New York society, prize fighting, drunken orgies and the melo-dramatic results of double-crossing among the populace of Fifth avenue. Pathos, laughter and tingling suspenses as well as some very fine "gripping" love scenes characterize this story. It is based upon the sensational Broadway comedy-drama hit by James Gleason and Richard Faber. The New York American characterized this play as being "Quite Gorgeously Low-Brow." To figure out what that means, you'll have to see the show. It's worth it.

"Variety."

"Pathe News."

MONDAY, NOV. 14

"THE DEVIL'S SADDLE," starring Ken Maynard in a story of daring and blood-tingling adventure. It is an epic story of the early west containing an unusual expose of here-to-fore unrecorded Indian Ceremonials. The picture was screened in the dangerous Hope Reservation in the heart of the Mojave Desert. During the making of this film "Ken," in several instances, risked his life in hazardous undertakings. It's brim full of ACTION.

"Hot Dogie." Walter Heirs Comedy.

TUESDAY, NOV. 15

"JAKE THE PLUMBER," starring Jess de Vorska, whose devilish eyes contain pools of passionate liquid fire. The story opens up in a plumbing shop and ends in the gripping throes of the race track at Tiajuana. Harem-scarem Jake, the flaming youth of torch and soldering iron, with a face that only a mother could love and a lovers complex that would "bust" up any Sultan Harem, furnishes many thrills as well as much rapid-fire comedy.

"Crimson Flash No. 9."

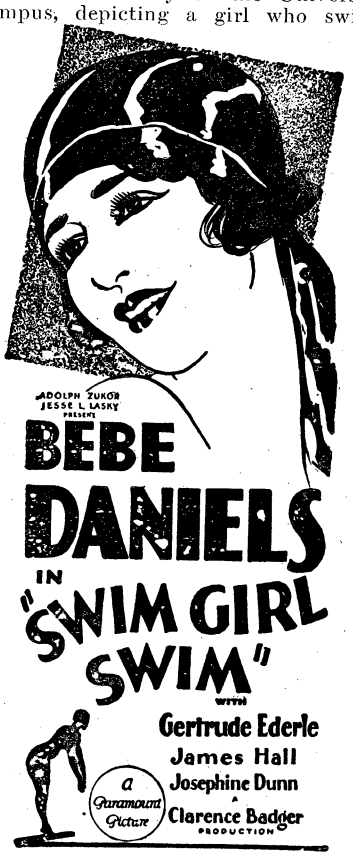
WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16

"BROADWAY NIGHTS," featuring Lois Wilson and Sam Hardy in an aultra modern drama portraying the gaiest and the saddest sides of the Great White Way. The plot is strong; it concerns two vaudevillians whose ambition it is to become stars on Broadway. The atmosphere carries you back-stage, behind kitchens of night clubs and speak-easies and the underworld of New York's Hell's Kitchen. Ladies silk stockings and more silk than publication will stand strike the orbes most dazzlingly.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, NOV. 17

"SWIM GIRL SWIM," starring Bebe Daniels in a story of the University Campus, depicting a girl who swims



the channel, although she doesn't know how to swim a stroke. The captivating Bebe will win your heart with her college capers and rapid fire comedy. She is backed by none other than "Trudy" (Gertrude Ederly), whose powerful equatic strokes mastered the English Channel. Trudy, in this picture, presents some very interesting master strokes and Bebe comicly endeavors to beat her.

FRIDAY, NOV. 18

"THE DROP KICK," starring Richard Barthelmess in a smashing college football story thoroughly appropriate for this season of the year. Ten national football stars featured in the preparation of this production. It is an expose of the inside dope on college athletics. The story is cleverly entertaining, being replete with thrills and much modey. It is flavored with the keen excitement of a big football game. A captivating romance delightfully softens many hard knocks in the play. It was staged in the historic Rose Bowl at Pasadena, California.

"Pathe News."

SATURDAY, NOV. 19

"TUMBLING RIVER," starring Tom Mix with his remarkable horse, Tony. In this story Tom is the owner of a large ranch; horse thieves steal one of his favorite thoroughbreads; in the thrilling pursuit Tom stops at a wealthy cattle man's ranch—the daughter falls in love with Tom—the emnity of the burley foreman is incurred and Tom, through many thrilling scenes, combats his way to success in his undertakings. This picture is Mix's seventy-second screen success.

"Not The Type." Van Bibber Comedy.

FORT BENNING MOVIES NOT A MONEY-MAKING ACTIVITY

The moving picture theatres are not operated for the purpose of making money. The are maintained in order to afford the personnel of Fort Benning clean enjoyable entertainment. You see at our theatres many pictures at a cost of only 15c or 25c which are being shown simultaneously in New York and other big cities at prices ranging up to $3.00.

In addition to affording amusement, the pictures are educational; for instance: News reels shown three nights per week present the most important events of the day, and reach the four corners of the globe. Many of the most interesting feature pictures are based upon historic facts. The foremost actors and actresses of the world appear on our silver screens; were it not for our movies most of us would never have the privilege of seeing these stage celebrities.

Music rendered at our theatres will compare favorably with that played in any theatre south of Washington. Several members of the Main Theatre orchestra have, in civilian life, played in some of the finest musical organizations in the United States. Preparing orchestrations for feature pictures is a matter requiring the highest type of professional skill. The music is rendered in such a manner that every feeling portrayed on the screen is accentuated by appropriate musical strains; when the actors dance, dance music is played, when a murder is committed the depth of the music intensifies the sensation, when a human being plunges from the dizzy heights of a precipice, the roll of the drum follows his fall until the crash of the base announces his landing; Oriental music is played when Chinese appear in the News reel. Many other instances could be sighted. This, in the vernacular of the moving picture man, is called "cueing" the picture.

A constant effort is being made to give our theatres a real theatre atmosphere, thereby making patrons feel the environment they experience when attending play houses on the great white ways of our large cities.

The Fort Benning theatres are your theatres. They are run by your personnel for your enjoyment. Patronize them and get the full benefit of the privileges they offer. If your friend says he doesn't enjoy movies it means that he doesn't know them. Drag him in to one of our good shows—he'll change his attitude and become another of our 1800 movie fans.

SPANISH AMERICAN WAR PICTURE TO BE RE-SHOWN AT FORT BENNING

Telegraphic arrangements have been made for re-showing the popular feature picture "The Rough Riders."

The theatre management is pleased to inform the people of Fort Benning that "The Rough Riders" will be screened at all Fort Benning theatres Saturday night, December 17, at 15c admission charge.

RED CROSS NURSES AID IN EVERY GREAT DISASTER

Two major disasters, the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi flood, required the services of Red Cross nurses in large numbers over a long period of time in the past year.

In the Florida storm, service of 350 nurses is reported. It is estimated that about 100 others assisted in the first few days as volunteers. The total number of nurses in the Mississippi valley flood was approximately 200. In every major disaster the services of Red Cross nurses are needed, lending added importance to the enrolled reserved which now numbers more than 45,000 Red Cross nurses. These nurses are available for any emergency, though they are on duty in hospitals and in private practice. They constitute the reserve of the Army and Navy nurse corps in time of war.

Besides emergency duty, Red Cross nurses assisted materially in many local services, Chapter reports to National Headquarters indicate. The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, it is pointed out, is an opportunity for everyone to become identified with the Red Cross.

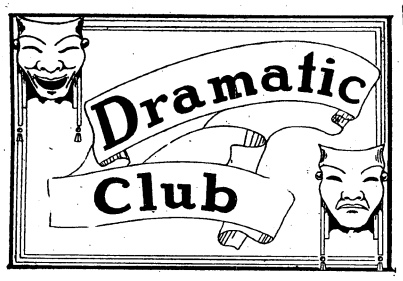
THE Vogue
"An ever-growing patronage tells our story"



In the Dramatic Club's first performance of the season, given last Saturday evening in the 29th Infantry Theatre can be taken as a criterion for what is to follow, an unusually successful season is awaiting it. An initial program to a highly enthusiastic audience with the last seat in the house occupied as the curtain rises surely augers well. "The Dickey Bird" a drama in one act by Harvey O'. Higgins and Harriet Ford, the first number was concerned with the tribulations of the modern triangle—the former wife, the present wife and the much married husband. All would have been well had the wives not met with the husband present. Roberta Bruce as Mrs. Griffeths the first wife was much too attractive a personality to have been deserted by Major Ralph A. Jones as Richard P. Bowen, the husband, especially when you consider that at the time of the alleged desertion he had not yet seen the second wife Emily, as played by Dorothy Townshend Oliver. Had he seen Emily before the desertion, we might have—but that is another story. Helen Whitford Norris as Hedwig, the maid, was delightful in showing how stupid an otherwise perfect servant may be—always at the wrong time.

We didn't have the usual opportunity of seeing the director, Ella Adair Roberts, but she must have left the stage conscious of having turned out a mighty creditable performance.

The intermission which to the credit of all concerned was of normal and not amateurish length, was followed by "Thank You Doctor," a melodramatic farce by Gilbert Emery. The director, Lieut. Clifford H. Boyles, a newcomer to Fort Benning, will be of much assistance in future productions judging by the success of his initial offering. The scene was layed in the office of Doctor Guernsey a famous specialist, played by Lieut. Col. Ralph W. Kingman. Though his particular specialty was apparently "Nuts," the characterization was perfect and drew commendation even from the Medical Corps. Major Albert S. Peake as Denny Cort, a jewelry salesman who had lost a string of pearls and about lost his reason in consequence was in line for skillful treatment when the pearls were discovered in the possession of Mrs. Lester, played by Adele Murphy. She was a first class crook—we refer to Mrs. Lester. Lieut. Lee M. Hester as George Houston, a defective who turned out to be a detective, handled the rather difficult problem of simulating insantity without overdoing it very creditably. Josephine Brine as Lucille Gray a nurse, has surely missed her calling. She is the answer to why patients don't want to get well. Her professional manner was excellent.

A word of praise is due the stage manager, Captain Theodore Schmidt, and his assistant Captain Leon E. Norris. The settings were well worked out and everything went like clock work. This is the last thing to expect in amateur performances and is an attainment of which the Dramatic Club can well be proud.

HUMES
for MUSIC

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—November 21st.
Time—2:15.

The Infantry School Woman's Club met Monday afternoon at the Polo Club with a group of some seventy-five representative women in attendance. The house committee had the place artistically decorated with green pine and georgeous autumn leaves with baskets of chrysanthemums here and there.

Major Frank Green, Director of the American Red Cross in this division made an illuminating talk on the Red Cross Relief Work especially applied to the Great Mississippi Flood. He showed charts, graphs and maps to make vivid the points he wished to put across. He gave both the statistical and the human side of the flood. Major Green is a doer of deeds, an indefatigable worker, and his going among people in their distress year after year has made him one of the best loved representatives of that great organization whose mission is to minister to those crushed by calamity.

The music is one of the loveliest features of each club program and Monday's offering was of the best Benning can boast. Mrs. Edwin Butcher accompanied Mrs. Edgar S. Miller and Mrs. Leonard Boyd who sang "Marcheta" by Victor Schetzinger and "Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing" by Godfrey Nutting.

Mrs. Ladd and Mrs. Mickelwaite were hostesses at tea. The table was lonely with its handsome Canton linen tea cltoh, its bowl of yellow and white chrysanthemums and silver candle sticks holding long yellow candles. Mrs. Ahrends poured tea while Mrs. Kingman presided at the coffee urn.

The Literary Club meets next Monday afternoon at 2:00 at the Polo Club. The contemporary literature of Spain will be introduced by Mrs. George Winton, and the following program will be presented:

The Mob—Blasco Ibanez—by Mrs. W. W. Brier, Jr.
Mirafor—Concha Espina — by Mrs. Frank Green.
Courts and Countries—Princess Eulalia and One-Act Farce—Benavente—by Mrs. Leon Norris.

SEVENTH ENGINEERS CELEBRATE ORGANIZATION DAY

Captain James F. C. Hyde's bridge-building Engineers took time off from their not too arduous duties last Friday to celebrate the organization day of the regiment. The program opened with interesting speeches by Colonel P. S. Bond, C. E. Captain James F. C. Hyde, and Sgt. Marcus D. O'Neal, Infantry. Sergeant O'Neal, a guest of honor, contributed interestingly to the affair with his recollections of the event which transpired on the 5th of November, 1918. "Red" O'Neal, then a Captain in the 6th Infantry, led the doughboy company that supported the Seventh Engineers in their memorable feat of briding the Meuse River and East Canal in the face of a concerted enemy machine gun and artillery fire. It was in commemoration of this event that the 5th of November was selected as Organization Day by the regiment.

The program included a highly exciting relay race; a rather one-sided tug of war; and a mule race that featured many upsets. A bontiful repast concluded the affair, after which General Jamerson presented prizes to the winners of the days events. Colonel Wetherill of the Fifth Divisions and Major Russ, were notable guests of honor.

Two enlisted men, who served with the Seventh, overseas are still present. 1st Sergeant Gensch and Corporal Willard both saw action at the Meuse crossing. Mr. Sgt. Morrison, 8th Engineers, (attached to the 7th Engineers) is stationed at Benning, but was absent on furlough.

The Seventh is not an old regiment. Born of the expansion of the 1st Engineers in 1917, by War Department Orders, the various units of the outfit assembled at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas for nearly a year's extensive training. Proceeding to France the Seventh first saw action in the Anould Sector, Alsace followed by the St. Die and Frapelle Sectors. Fighting in the St. Mihiel the regiment got its first taste of open fighting. It was in the Meuse-Argonne however that the Seventh made history. Ferme da Madelaine, Bois des Rappes, and numerous other engagements gave the regiment the background for its motto: Seven Times Tested By Fire.

LEAVENWORTH PROVISIONAL OFFICERS HOLD DINNER-DANCE

The officers at Fort Benning who were members of the first provisional class at Fort Leavenworth in 1916 held a dinner-dance last Friday evening at the Polo Club.

The tables were arranged in the form of a U and were very beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums. There were twnty-one couples present. A novel idea in seating arrangements for a dinner was introduced. After each course the officers moved two places to the right, thereby making the party very informal and giving everyone an opportunity to get acquainted with the ladies. The ladies wore large tags bearing their names. In this manner everyone knew each other before the dinner was completed and the dance proved to be a very successful and enjoyable affair.

The club furnished a delicious grilled steak dinner and Sgt. Scipio's famous orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

Major C. R. Huebner is president of the class. The club will hold monthly dinner-dances this season and a farewell dinner at the close of the year is contemplated at this time.

The hop committees is composed of Major Febeger, Captains Cubin and Steel.

This issue is dedicated to those Americans who made the supreme sacrifice before eleven o'clock of the morning of November 11, 1918.

This issue has been dedicated to those Americans who made the supreme sacrifice during the World War.

The facts concerning the signing of the armistice are well known to all Americans. It proved to be the signal for the cessation of hostilities and to again resume a status of peace among all nations of the world.

The status of peace has remained since that time among most of the nations. The American people have assumed an attitude, it seems, that there will never be other wars, that preparation or the maintaining of an adequate defense is useless expenditure of public wealth. The national defense act of 1920 has not been fulfilled to its fullest provisions, and as a consequence, the peace time army of today is only a little larger than that maintained before 1917.

It seems that we have gone a bit too far in assuming the assurance that peace will reign supreme for all times. The words of the Father of Our Country: "In time of peace, prepare for war" should be the watchwords of our nation to-day. Our defense should be conservative, but, at the same time, should be on a par with the defense of other nations.

No one who served in the World War desires another. The celebration of armistice day should include an inventory of present day defense needs together with reverence of those who were sacrificed in that struggle ten years ago.

News from the army contingent in the city of Columbus in this paper is more or less conspicuous for its absence. The army folks in town are as much a part of Fort Benning as those who live on the post. Possibly they do not feel that way but perhaps social news of the life of those in town published in this paper may bring both together—at least will become known to each other. The News invites letters or items of interest from those living in Columbus.

The people of Fort Benning extend the best of LUCK to the All-Army team which left Wednesday for its northern invasion. We hope that the team has a very successful trip, and from all indications we anticipate the team will bring home the bacon. We have been very fortunate in being able to see this fine buch of army warriors develop into a fast, aggressive, hard-hitting and strong defensive football squad.

The eleventh annual roll call for the American Red Cross began to-day. A membership of 5,000,000 is wanted this year. Fort Benning should go over the top 100 per cent. strong on this worthy undertaking. The News of next week will carry stories of work done by this organization within recent months.

Company "A" of the 7th Engineers was another outfit at Ft. Benning which had an anniversary last week. It is regretted that the News was unaware of that fact, as due recognition should have been given this splendid organization. We extend congratulations to Capt. Hyde's outfit.

We are sorry to note the absence of news from several organizations at Fort Benning. Of course, if we had news from every outfit there wouldn't be room for all in one week, but there could be something from each every other week or so. We invite news notes from every organization here and will endeavor to give space to each one as often as possible.

THE STUDENTS GOSSIP RUNS WILD

Now that along with practically all of the class 1 also made expert with the automatic rifle, I feel much better. Things seems a lot rosier for me. Only eleven of the bunch failed to make expert with that wicked weapon and the class average of 564 was 16 points higher than any other class. How's that for a record for the class of 1928 boys?

Well that's the way we do things. They will point back to us boys and say: "Well that was some class, that was." I'm sorry they did so well because it got Captain Jones so enthusiastic about our knowledge of the weapon that he started to ask some questions in the exam last Thursday. When he sees those papers he'll know that a lot of us don't know as much as he thought we did. Most of us know, though, that the weapon has a ramp stuck away somewhere. That's something we didn't know about until we saw the questions on the exam. I thought a ramp was something that Lieuts. Brinkley and Rodgers used with which to run a tank onto a truck or a flat car. I know better now. That's one thing that I learned last week.

That fellow Jones sure did put across his course in number one fashion. As for being lucky for weather when we fired record, he must have been born with a lucky star looking right down on him. Would that Capts. DeWare and Venable have had some of that gaze of the lucky star.

Captain Graham closed his close order drill with a splendid demonstration of a battalion parade by the first battalion of the 29th Infantry. Company "A", commanded by Captain McKechnie with Lieut. Walsh as adjutant, put over a fine guard mount. It was sure a pleasure to see those "shock troops" in action, for they sure know their stuff.

We had the pleasure of having with us for a few hours recenty some of the signal and communication officers. Captain Cushman received a big ovation when he came back to Company "B."

I thought our worries were over when we finished the automatic but they tell me the dinky will continue to take us southward some more. There's just one good thing about that. Every time it passes that brick pile near the laundry Cole, Frissell, Bassett, Deadrich and a few other loquatious lieutenants, who still have to learn that lieutenants should be seen and not heard, suddenly become as quiet as a mouse. The reason for this is that when Mike Halloran sees that pile he thinks its an ammunition dump and starts to go over the side and pick up a few.

Majors Butcher and Miller and Capt. Pleas B. Rodgers are giving us some rare entertainment on coon hunts. They took me out one night. When they heard I was a recruit they say to each other, "Let's give this guy something to write home about," so they proceed to have Claude and Pete tree not one but two coons for me. Well, one of them got away but the trusty dogs treed him again only to let him get loose a second time. Just before Claude sailed forth on a hot scent Cap' Rodgers whispers to him "Now, Claude, do your stuff," so he ups a foxes me on this coon hunt by "treeing" the coon in a hole in the river bank. Sgt. Tweed dug in behind Mr. Coon and pulled him out by the tail. It was a new one on me!

There ought to be some great baseball next spring when the students and faculty meet. Some of each got plenty of preliminary practice at the football game Saturday when those seats began to fly. I noticed Joe Hinton, Jim Urquhardt, Buddy Payne, Margill, Bonwell, Muller, Marshall, Joe Bush and Curtis DeWare getting some catching practice. Curtis turned around and threw a few dirty looks upward but the gang apparently didn't catch the signal for the seats continued to bristle along just the same.

A lot of good singers are missing the time of their lives by not lining up with the Glee Club, which meets Tuesdays at the club. Even with Capt. Jeffres sheiking all the ladies, there still is a chance for some of the rest of us. It's a fine crowd and some good times seem to be in store.

Quartermaster Corps

Ye Olde Printe Shoppe Gossipe

The Linotype men are now at work on what will very likely prove to be one of the biggest jobs of the year. It is a book of about one hundred and seventy pages, listing the names and addresses of cadets who attended training at the Citizens Military Training Camps during the summers of 1926 and 1927. Two thousand copies will be run.

Pvt. Heisler is working nights now to speed up the composition of rush jobs. With no one around to bother him his Linotype is surely giving a good account of itself.

Another interesting job being turned out this week is the copper plate tablets to be used to mark the rifle and machine gun ranges of the post. People visiting the shop this past week have commented upon the method used to gain the desired effects and their questions have been many. It is an old story to printers—the copper-plate process—but it never fails to arouse wierd conjecture on the part of those who are not familiar with the comparatively elementary methods used. It is simply a matter of painting the words of the legend, together with a border, on a piece of copper and baking the paint with the flame of a blow-torch. The plate is then placed in a tank of acid, which eats into the copper but will not act on the painted surfaces. Thus the letters are left standing out about a quarter of an inch and after removing the paint and polishing the trick is done. No, the words are NOT glued or soldered on.

When a job like the one mentioned above lands in the shop Foreman Smith sometimes registers a horrible howl, but some of us having a sneaking idea that he does not mean literally what he says. As a matter of fact it is an opprotunity to allow that flame of genuis to shine before our eyes. Recently he mentioned something to the effect that if he hid his lamp under the proverbial bushel much longer it might be in danger of flickering out.

Cpl. Harry Smith bid godspeed to three thousand recruiting posters a couple of days ago. Think of what he will have to face before the bar at the day of judgment.

In proofreading this poster job we learned how to spell Memphis. The proof had been okayed and the two colored run started when Mr. Davidson chanced to remark that the third letter in the word Memphis was not an 'n'. The change was made and the job finished, but Cpl. Smith who fed it through the press will go on forever, it seems. A new proof reader is demanded.

Pfc. Webb got back from re-enlistment furlough just in time to tease eighty thousand laundry slips out of the mighty Miehle.

Pfc. Rolka purchased out last week. Detroit is better off just one good hand compositor.

We got a couple of cards from Pfc. Trout. Right now he is in Cincinnati trying to get a corner on the race track gamle money. He writes that the ponies had better snap out of their stuff or Uncle Sam may have to furnish him with transportation home.—J. E. M.

QUARTERMASTER ACTIVITIES RUN BY EXPERIENCED OFFICIALS

The Quartemaster activities cover a large area of Fort Benning, and to the uninitiates are somtimes hard to locate. The Quartermaster, Billeting Officer, Purchasing and Contracting Officer, Transportation Officer, and Utilities Officer are all located in the long, one-story building about three hundred yards in rear o the oPst Ofice and Fire Department.

Lt. Col. A. B. Warfield is Quartermaster. Captain A. L. Littell is Billeting, tation Officer, and Commanding Officer o the Detachment, Quartermaster Corps. Captain S. B. Massey is Utilities Officer and Fire Marshall. All of these officers are ready at all times to render any assistance to any member of the personnel at the Infantry School.

Next, at the Commissary, we fine Captain E. J. Buckbee in charge of the most important activity of all, in the eyes of the enlisted personnel at least. The place from which comes the beans. Across the street is the laundry, Mr. Blair directly in charge, where all the ditry work is done. Then at Warehouse No. 24 is the Property Ofice, where can be found Major Everett D. Barlow and Captain Fred T. Neville, Chief of Supplies and Property Officre, respectively. But there are so many divisions of the Warehouse that some of the enlisted men should be mentioned. First is Corporal Walter E. Cross, better known as "Baldy," who is handy man, shipping and receiving clerk and nurse for Rosenbalm, the furniture repairman. If you have baggage in town to bring out or baggage in camp to go to town, just get in touch with "Baldy" and the rest is easy. He is an army of men all by himself. If you want advice os to the technicalities, get in touch with Mr. Woolbright, he of the large voice and pleasant smile.

At Warehouse No. 8 are Sgt. Street and Corporal Butler, who can issue anything from a bridle rein to a piano and never lose theoir temper. At Warehouse No. 27 we find Staff Sgt. Benton, who can fit a double-jointed, knock-kneed elephant in a suit of clothes, and issue enough tentage for a flood relief in a few hours; and he does it left handed.

There are numerous others of the Quartermaster Corps at all of these places ready to give you the world, at any time, provided you are entitled to it.

29TH INF.

Hdqrs. Co., 2nd Bn.

We are back in print again after a week or so when news was scarce and work was a plenty. We all have a nice big long hike every day for exercise and we don't mind it a bit, getting used to it now.

Cpl. Mincy and Cpl. Lamastus are now back from their 60-day "furlong." Mincy spent his in the swamps of Tennessee and Lamastus spent his in the hills of Kentucky. We are all glad to see them back and we hope they will stay with us (for the next 29 years.)

Our First Sgt. really and truly made out last month's collection sheet without one cuss word, and if you knew him as well as I you would wonder how in the world he could do such a wonderful thing. More power to you "Howard," good work.

Cpl. Johnson and Pfc. Bean have both left on a 60-day furlough that will be spent in the swampy state. They left us happy with a smile and borrowed money, and we all wonder how they will ever get back. Time will tell.

William B. Smith.

Company "E"

Red Easterwood and Slim Boling have returned to the company from furlough and are really doing duty for once. Franz was on the job as usual in the football game with Florida and played a fine game. "Dog" McGuire is the pool room sergeant now and everybody pays for pool. Ben Thomas, the veteran bugler of the company, is back from furlough and bucking every time you see him. Our First Sergeant "Hi Davis" is on a furlough now but everybody wants him back. We all were very sorry to hear that he lost his baby girl last week.

The old football team is now in action and will play a game Wednesday. Let's go, boys. Oikari is on his way back to Company "E" and we are sure glad to hear it. He will sure help our football team.

—J. R. H.

Company "F"

The Company "F" football team is speedily rounding into shape and from all appearances should win the battalion cup. The first "for record" will be played with "H" Company Wednesday. It promises to be a real contest and will certainly warrant a large attendance.

The famous "Pucci and Settle Monkey Act" under contract to Barnum and Bailey, Ringling Bros. Circus, has been indefinitely disbanded owing to the fact that Mr. Settle is in the hospital recovering from a recent football game.

When a session of skull practice was called for the football team the other night, Bull Pollard appeared wearing his head gear. Wonder if he wears his raincoat to take a shower?

Corporal Lane returned from his pass with a visage resembling a battlefield. He sticks to the alibi that he fell off a motorcycle while asleep. He happened to be riding with Wilson too. Can you imagine that?

—Kinneth Clark.

Company "G"

We are starting out with a good Football Team. We have played one good tight game with Co. H. We have lost a hard game to 1st Bn. This is only a Co. Team. Keep up the good work team.

Acting Cpl. Covington has his squad in fine shape. While at drill one day he told his No. 1 of the front rank to swallow the piovet in squad right.

Sergt. Swaney is playing checkers again, his last move is in block W. Stay with us this time Jess.

"Day Break" Foster has just gotten out of the hospital and is getting his upper lip in shape, he likes to blow Mail Call, who is the DAME.

We have five new Corporals in the Co. who are excellent men for the job. We congratulate them.

The Asst. Co. Clerk is oiling his shoes. He suspects that he will be the Company Commanders runner in the coming demonstrations. Step to it!

Sergt. Simpson is turning a squad of Rcts. to the Co. for duty, just watch us go over the top.

WAR SET.

24TH INF.

Captain Hugh Barclay

One of the most recent arrivals to the 24th Infantry is Capt. Hugh Barclay, who until a short time ago was Military Attache to the American Embassy at Rio Janeiro, Brazil. Capt. Barclay was formerly a member of the 34th Infantry, having served with that regiment continuously from August, 1917, to March, 1924. Capt. and Mrs. Barclay are stopping temporarily at the Ralston Hotel.

Clark University Too Fast for Twenty-fourth Infantry

In one of the best football games seen in Atlanta this year, the 24th Infantry went down to defeat before the fast Clark University. Until the end of the third quarter neither side had been able to cross the other's goal line, then on a fumble by the 24th Infantry on their own 20 yard line the Clark University backs pushed the ball over for the first touchdown. In the fourth period they scored twice, bringing the final count of the game 20 to 2. The work of Tillis, Heard, Baugh and Collins of the 24th Infantry, was particularly outstanding.

24th Infantry Versus Chattanooga Elks

On Saturday, Nov. 12th, the 24th Infantry football team will meet one of the best colored teams of the south, the Chattanooga Elks. In four years this team has lost only one game. Smarting under the defeat of last Friday by Clark University, the 24th Infantry team to a man is ready to put up the fight of their football careers. The game will be called at 2:30 P. M., Saturday, Nov. 12th, at the Doughboy Stadium, Fort Benning.

We have never been greatly impressed with poetry, exept that which we happen to write, bu the following written by Margaret E. Sangster, should commend itself to all:

If I had known in the morning z zzzz
zHow wearily all the day
The words unkind
Would trouble my mind
I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you needless pain;
But we vex our own
With look and tone
We might never take back again.

For, though in the quiet evening,
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it might be
That never for me
The pain of heart should cease.
How many go forth in the morning
That never come home at night;
And hearts have broken
For harsh words spoken
That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thoughts for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometime guests,
But oft for "our own"
The bitter tone.
Though we love "our own" the best,
Ah, lips with the curve impatient,
Ah, brow with the look of scorn,
'Twere a cruel fate
Were the night too late
To undo the work of morn!

Read it again, if you haven't already seen the beauty and the sweetness of it. And it is worth reading again, even if you have.

QUARTERMASTERS BEAT MEDICOS ON THE LINKS

Other Interesting Items from the Service to the Line Outfit

Joy now reigns supreme in the ranks of the Quartermasters, for did they not hand the sassy Medicos the drubbing of their young lives on the golf links Sunday. The bold doctors, who have twice defeated the Wheel-Key-And-Sabre men in this game of socking the elusive pill, challenged them again, claiming that the trophy in the golf club needed another inscription (at the expense of the Quartermasters), and the QM'ers, always ready to defend the honor of their branch, went on the links Sunday with a "do-or-die" glint in their eyes, and they came out victorious. Colonel Warfield's Quartermasters winning three of the four matches.

Now is the season of autumn-leaves, sparkling nights, lovely moons—and bad colds, and the Quartermaster office personnel have enjoyed all of the above. Hardest hit by the latter are Mr. Bewley, the Chief Clerk of the Quartermaster Corps, and Mr. Ford, Principal Clerk of Utilities Branch. Mr. Bewley was forced to remain home a day to get over his cold, and Mr. Ford enjoyed a light cast of flu. They are both back at work now, and with the exception that the noses of both of these individuals are a bit—rosy, one would never know they were getting over a cold.

The Quartermasters, as a whole, are quite fond of hunting—various things. Saturday night, a coon hunt held on the reservation numbered among its members, from the "Service-to-the-Line" squad, Miss Ruby Kennon, of the Transportation Branch, Miss Beatrice Davis from the Constructing Quartermaster's Office, Captain Massey from Utilities, Mr. Tibbs from Utilities, Captain Littell from Fiscal Branch, and Mr. Jones, Captain Massey's brother-in-law. Although they were not rewarded for their efforts by bagging any game, they greatly enjoyed the privilege of being able to sit down around the campfire and rest after the hunt (said hunt extending over a course of many miles), and eating a hot midnight supper.

Those indefatigable hunters, Captains Massey and Littell, went up the river on a hunting trip a week-end ago, prepared to hunt for anything that turned up. History is silent as to the quantity of game bagged.

Mr. Markey, custodian of the payrolls, has also been out in the great open spaces, only he has ben fishing and not hunting. He reports however, that the moon was not right for fishing, and the fish he enjoyed for supper that evening, were purchased from Spanos, in Columbus.

Mrs. Drane came to the office Monday with numerous dark stains on her fingers. Many horrified gasps arose, for it was feared that some terrible accident had occured, but it turned out that she had only been painting her floors, and the stain had gotten on her fingers and could not be washed off. Everything is being made in readiness at the new Casa Drane, on 5th Avenue, to receive Mrs. Drane's sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Craig, of Memphis, Tennessee, who are planning to visit in Columbus for an indefinite length of time.

Miss Pettie Light, who keeps the many files of the Quartermaster Office in perfect shape, has been seen walking home many afternoons. As she lives in 23 block, which is about a mile from the office, suspicious persons were of the opinion that "Pet" was trying to reduce. However, she says she is only walking for the pleasure of it, and has no ulterior motive of shedding superfluous poundage.

Miss Beatrice Davis, of the Constructing Quartermaster's Office, has returned from a leave spent in Florida and Georgia, and makes the statement that while vacation are nice things—still it's always good to get back home again. Until Congress gives the Constructing Quartermaster some more funds to build with, she is shedding the sunshine of her presence down at the Commissary.

Miss Mary Harris, who holds down the position of stenographer to Colonel Warfield and Mr. Bewley, is getting literary! Yes sir! We distinctly saw a copy of some of Shaw's and Well's books in the drawer of her desk! And she has always been such a nice girl!

Mr. H. B. Hug, of Transportation, has also returned from leave. As he is the chicken monarch (feathered variety), of Cusseta, he spent his leave building additional housing facilities for his white leghorns, and Rhode Island reds. He also laid plans for a garden, and when he returned to the office, stated that he felt much better after his sojourn close to nature.

"Marge" Zettler, the charming "trouble-clerk" of Utilities, is undecided on a very important question. Should she let it grow, or keep it bobbed?

Mrs. Blount, of the Billeting Branch, spent a very delightful week-end in Atlanta, as the guest of her sister.

On the snow clad wastes of Valley Forge,
You can trace his bleeding feet.
In tropic swamp and jungle,
His drums resound their beat.

His bugles sound their reveille,
On many a western plain;
And war-torn France on his approach,
Takes courage once again.

At Bunker Hill, at New Orleans,
On Buena Vista's field,
Gettysburg and San Juan Hill,
The face he made to yield.

Dusty, footsore, bleeding;
Lost in "no mans" land;
The Infantry are holding on,
They can do no less than stand.

The artillery prepares the way,
The cavalry rides past,
But the Infantry drives home the charge,
And wins the peace at last.

—SIDNEY V. KIBBY.

During a speech on "Marriage and After," the lecturer said that old married men should kiss their wives as they did when they were a year or two married.

Meeting the lecturer the next day, an old man said: "It's no good, mister."

"What isn't?" asked the lecturer.

"Well," said the man, "when I went home after the lecture last night and kissed my wife, she said, 'What's gone wrong with you, you old idiot,?"—Laughter.

The taxi sped way soon leaving the glimmering lights of the city far behind. As Fred looked out of the cab window into the moonlight night, he noticed that they were in the country. Suddenly the car stoped at a lonely spot.

"What are you stopping for?" demanded Fred indignantly.

"I heard the young lady say 'Stop'," replied the taxi driver.

"Well, she wasn't talking to you, was she?"—Laughter.

29th CO. TEAMS START FOOTBALL LEAGUE WEDNESDAY

TWO FAST MUDDY GAMES PLAYED IN DOUGHBOY STADIUM

The company league of the 29th Infantry opened Wednesday afternoon with two hard fought games on a wet and muddy field in Doughboy Stadium. Company "F" took the opening game from Company "H," after four quarters of hard fighting amid a sea of mud and water. The score was 12 to 0.

Companies "B" and "E,' old rivals on the gridiron, was the second game of the day which resulted in a tie, neither team able to cross the goal during the four quarters.

Following the heavy rain of Wednesday morning found the field a sea of much which resembled a Georgia frog pond. Added to that spectacle, twenty-two husky soldiers mixing and mingling it wasn't long before it looked like a scene from the Mississippi flood district with the referee playing the part of the last survivor.

If Wednesday's game may be taken as a criteron of the 29th Infantry football struggles, some real hard games may be anticipated by football fans at Benning.

BABY GATORS SWAMPED BY ROLLING ARMY TIDE

(By Al Durden)

The Baby Gators from the Fountain of Youth found the briny salt of the big Blue Tide to strong for their baby throats last Saturday afternoon.

Opening the game with a smashing driving attack, the Doughboys ripped the Gator line to pieces.

Big Daley, 240 pound Army tackle crashed through the Gator line at will, breaking up plays, blocking punts, while Sweeney and Htuchinson ran punts back through the Florida line for long gains.

Driggs ran through the Gator wall for good gains on almost every attempt.

It was the Gators ball on their fourteen yard line in the first few minutes of play, Fleming attempted to kick out of danger, but Big Daley broke through the Gator line, blocking the punt which bounded back of the Gator's goal line. Daley followed the ball, falling on the pigskin for a touchdown.

There is no need to go into details of the scoring from then on, the Doughboys adding another touchdown in the first period, Riffle added the extra point from placement.

In the second quarter Chief Ryan carried the ball over for a touchdown, while a Floridian was thrown behind his own goal line for a safety, as he attempted to run a bad pass out onto the field of play.

Again in the third quarter Hutchinson carried the ball over for a touchdown Kjelstrom kicking the extra point.

In the final quarter Uffalussey, who has been out of the game quite a while due to injuries, went in and showed he was O. K. again by carrying the pigskin over for the final touchdown.

On defense the soldiers returned to yield the invaders a single first down until the last of the fourth quarter.

Three smashes at the line a pretty pass, and a 13 yard dash around right end by McEwan moved the Gators forward three times in the last quarter, but with the ball on the Tide's 5 yard strip the Floridians failed by inches to make the necessary yardage.

MEADOWLARKS FALL BEFORE INFANTRY SCHOOL REGULARS

Infantry School Polo Team Leaves for Fort Oglethorpe to Meet Sixth Calvary

Covering Shannon Field like the dew covers Dixie, driving the Meadowlarks to the four points of the compass by the fury of their attack, The Infantry School Regulars fully demonstrated to the large crowd of spectators, their ability to cope with the Sixth Calvary polo team last season champions, when the two meet at Fort Oglethorpe in a three game series, the first game to be played Thursday, Nov. 10.

The game between the Meadowlarks and Infantry School teams last Sunday afternoon was an eight period affair, the Regulars winning 11 to 4.

The first four periods saw the Larks go scoreless while the Veterans turned every opportunity into a score, their teamwork was wonderful, while they showed accuracy as well as plenty of driving power behind their shots.

Although the feathered four fought back hard in the last half they could only acount for four points while the Infantry sheet showed a total of eleven. Meeting defeat at the hands of the doughty Calvarymen last season, the Infantry has high hopes of reversing the decision in the coming series.

The probable lineup of the team for the coming games will be: 1, Major Lyman; 2, Lieut. Gurnsey; 3, Captain Burress; 4, Major Smith. Captains McClure and Whisner wil laccompany the squad as substitute players.

Four ladies from the Fort Benning contingent of equisterrennes will be seen at the Chattanooga horse show.

Mrs. Landis, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Bishop, and Mrs. Forsythe will enter the jumping and gaited class.

PEAKES WRITES LETTER TO FIGHT FANS

Fort Benning, Ga.,
Nov. 9, 1927.

Infantry School News,
Ft. Benning, Ga.

I am delighted at my success in defeating all opponents seleted for me up to and including this writing.

I owe my popularity in puglistic circles to my Commanding Officer, Colonel Wait C. Johnson, who gave me Fifty Dollars additional for my defeat of Jamacia Kid.

I take this means of thanking the fans for their ardent support and assure them that my desire always in entering the ring is to knock out my opponent as soon as possible after the first gong.

My next bout through the courtesy of the Military autorities will be in Twin Cities, Minnesota. I am sure that I carry the well wishes of the garrison with me.

There is a rumor that I am going to purchase my discharge. This I wish to deny, as I desire to stick by my C. O. and Fort Benning as long as the fans want to see me in action.

BATTLING J. D. PEAKES KNOCKS OUT JAMAICA KID IN SECOND ROUND

Battle Scarred Veteran No Match For Doughboy From Happy Heart Regiment

(By Al Durden)

Facing a steady rain, over two thousand fight fans gathered at Gowdy Field, Tuesday night to see the Jamaica Kid of New York City, heralded as one of the leading lightheavy contenders, murder Battling J. D. Peakes of the 24th Infantry.

The nearest the Kid came to hurting anybody was when he fell on Bud Sitlers foot after stopping one of J. D.'s rights in the second round.

The New Yorker never had a chance with the hard hitting Doughboy, a terrific left hook that never landed, and some very fancy rope work seemed to be his entire bag of tricks.

Never able to land a telling blow on the phantom soldier, the Kid was an easy mark for Peake's hooks and jabs.

The first round was tame with Peakes forcing the fighting, early in the second round J. D. whipped over a right swing that started over near the third base line and ended just below Jamaica Kid's left ear.

This blow ended the fight, although the oldtimer struggled to his feet at the count of five, he went down for keeps when Peakes stepped in with a left to the button.

Three Rounders Please Crowd

Nick Carter of the fighting M. P.'s and Peanut Herring of Girard opened hostilities, fighting three slashing rounds to a draw.

"Eat" Hardy of the Electric City left jabbed his way to a decisive victory over Benny Leonard of the Galloping Gunners.

Both boys were willing and there was plenty of action all the way, but Hardy had Benny in a bad way at the bell.

Baby Asher the doughboy kao artist, added another scalp to his heavily laden belt when he stowed Pinky Kline of Columbus away early in the second round.

S. O. Rich of Columbus started out to put the quietus on Blondie Parker of the Green Cord outfit, but when Blondie landed a smashing uppercut to the button in the second round, Rich went to sleep with his work still unfinished.

Young Childress of the Caisson Riders picked a lemon when he drew Red Kent of Columbus for his sparring mate.

The fighting redhead ran true to form when he put the Gunner down for the count in the third round.

J. Pluvius here put an end to hostilities by raising the flood gates a few feet above the high water mark.

LIEUT. O'NIELL IN CHARGE OF BENNING BOXING BOUTS

To be selected to fill the shoes of Captain Charles J. Mabbutt in the handling of the boxing bouts during the absence of the big trainer falls to Lieut. George P. O'Neill, of the 15th Tank Battalion. Captain Mabbutt is with the All-Army football squad on its journey to points east and north.

That the place will be filled with much credit is the opinion of boxing fans here as Lieut. O'Neill takes over his duties with heaps of experience as a guide.

O'Neill graduated from West Point with the class of 1924 and while at the Point was a member of the boxing squad and was considerably in the limelight during his last school year there. After graduation he never lost interest in the manly art as he has had much to do with boxing in the 15th Tank Battalion where he has given much instruction during the past few years. He is arranging at the present time a boxing tournament between the outfits of the tank battalion. He has also been affiliated with boxing matters pertaining to the post and is well known to fight fans.

BENNING HUNTSMEN HOLD FIRST HUNT

Enjoyable Time Had By Everyone; Chase Leads Hunters Over 12 Mile Course

The hills and dale of the reservation echoed and re-echoed with volumes of the sweetest music known to a true huntsman's ears, early Sunday morning. It was a pack of full blooded deep throated fox hounds in full cry, and although it wasn't a fleeing reynard in front, the spirit of the hunt resounded in the Redbones wail. Faint and far away would come the cry as the trail of the drag led down into deep ravines then as the trail led up among the hills, the cry of the pack could be heard for miles.

Although knowing there would be no kill, the hunters followed with the same zeal and zest as though a golden brush was awaiting the first one to arrive at the finish.

The hunt whetted the appetites for a real breakfast, which was served at the Polo Club after the huntsman had re-assembled.

The room was decorated with the numerous trophies of previous hunts.

After breakfast was finished, the Master spoke briefly to the assembled huntsmen, emphasizing the fact that the hunt was what the individual rider made it. He also prophesized many pleasant hunts in store for the present season. The entire hunt then joined in singing the favorite songs of the hunt, "John Peel", "Drink Puppy Drink," "A Hunting We Will Go," and then broke up to assemble at the water tanks next Sunday at 5 a. m., for a wild cat hunt.

RECRUIT WITNESSES HIS FIRST GRIDIRON CONTEST

(By a Tanker)

Dear Ma:

Since I wrote to you the last time I have been to a football game. You remember when we used to read about them, and wonder how it was played, don't you? Well, I wish you could have been with me and seen this one. There are 11 men on each side and about 50 on the benches. There was a lot of arguing going on and a guy in knee britches threw a piece of money, for some reason unknown to me, and then the teams came out on the field. Honestly them guys had enough gear to keep 'em from getting hurt if they was bumped by a engine. One team lined up with all their men on one line, and the other was scattered all over the place. Some guy held up his hand like he was in school and wanted something, and pretty soon a feller on the other team held up his hand the same way. Then this guy in the short britches blew a whistle, and I'll be darned if a guy didn't sneak up and kick that ball like he wanted to bust it. Then they tore down the field like all get out. The feller that caught the ball was hit by about six at once and I thought they was trying to kill him.

The whistle blew again and both teams lined up, the ball come sailing back to one of the men and he tore out, but didn't get far, they was too many in front of him. Finally one guy got away from all the rest and run all the way down the field for what a feller told me was a touchdown. The teams lined up to try to kick a goal, but it went outside the poles. Then they all lined up the way they was when it started and darned if that same bozo didn't sneak up there and kick the ball again. The way they slammed one another around was a caution. I swear I don't ever want to play that game, if they has to hate each other like that. I don't think much of it and don't see no sense to it at all. They just kicks the ball around and once in a while they throws it, the rest of the time they jest pile up and knock the tar out of each other. Well, Ma, there ain't no more news, so I will close hoping to hear from you soon.

Your Loving Son,
JACK.

Battery "C"

Private Gentry has secured his discharge by Purchase. He thinks he will like civilian life better. We wish him success in his new work.

Corporal Hancock is taking a rest cure after his fine work on the football squad. He is spending two weeks at his home in Mississippi.

Private Nugent is spending a thirty day sick leave at his home. We hope he will return fully recovered.

We wonder why:

Clark made a flying trip somewhere in Georgia.

"Spotlight" can't keep in step.

Pascal stays away from Alabama.

Parker uses hair tonic.

"The Veterinarian's Son", smiles, says good morning and salutes with his fingers spread all over his face.

Privates Ist Class Lyda is learning to ride. It is reported that he is taking lessons on the wooden horse on the Polo Field.

Private Snow took a three day pass, pay day. He reports a happy time spent in some remote tourist camp. Look out Snow, beware of "Wild Women."

Private Hancock claims that he would be absolutely satisfied if he could awaken every morning to the music made by a certain barn yard fowl.

Did you hear about the "Top" trying to grow a mustache? It done right well for a few days then it began to curl. No one thought anything about that, but later it completely disappeared. He got so "Hard Boiled" that he scared it to death.

Adventures of Private Horn

Wednesday A. M.

Private Horn mounted on the B. C. Reel Cart.

Gunner Cpl: Cannoneers Post. Horn you're a Cannoneer. Horn takes his Post protesting that he is in the Detail.

Detail Sgt. Horn, as you were. Horn returns to the Reel Cart.

Sgt. No. 2: Horn you're wanted at the Stables. Horn goes to the Stables.

Stable Sgt.: Horn get your tools and come back over here and do some carpenter work. Horn goes to quarters and gets his tools and gets back to the Gun Park.

Gunner Cpl.: Horn the Lieutenant said for you to work here. Horn starts to work.

Stable Orderly: Yelling. Horn the Captain telephoned for you to come up and do some work on his quarters. So ended the forenoon.

Wednesday P. M.

Horn asks all Corporals, Sergeants and Lieutenants what his duties are for the afternoon. He can't find out anything. He decides to go to town. He gets all dolled up and steps out of his tent. The 1st Sergeant yells, "Horn you're on K. P."

"Katie" the Chief of the 1st Section and the Battery's only Society Sheik—while out riding last night—met with a comical accident. His so called "Shiver Bill" sprung a leak in the rear section and spilled out an a sortment of tin cans, cogs, etc., including an axle, which caused "Katie" to put in a hurry call to the nearest garage, causing much confusion in said garage. They finally arrived on the scene with plenty of tools including a can opener. After much jacking up and frequent discussions and some cussing "Katie's" car was towed to the garage where it received three shots of TNT the price being the contents of "Katie's" pocket book. It now reposes on the Parking line of Battery "C" and receives frequent solicitous visits from "Katie's" and his "Side Kick", "Mugs" Martin.

"Abie" Barksdale, alias Cpl. Barksdale, after winning all the Canteen Checks in sight, finally borrowing enough civilian clothes to wear to town. Sam Fare fixes him up two lunches. He "Jawbones" the 1st Sergeant for a ride. He must have got a shot of Alabama corn for he was found later standing on a corner eating his sandwiches and yelling, peanuts five cents a bag. Troy E. Weems.

I. S. D. NOTES

A general inspection was given our entire area by General Collins, Major Russ, and Lieutenant Oliver, on Thursday, November 3rd. We are more than pleased to report that Major Bootz was highly complimented on the condition and appearance of each unit in particular, and being only human, we can feel, after the efforts put forward by the men and Major Bootz, that this figurative pat on the back, is indeed worth while.

Thru the kindly and combined efforts of Mrs. Fay and Mrs. Bootz our Recreation Room and Mess Hall windows have assumed a gala air, and resemble in color and daintiness, tho' certainly more amply clad, a gay and young ballet dancer. The entire Detachment extends its thanks to these two ladies.

Private Traut has returned from a thirty day furlough and is again on duty at YE OLDE PRINT SHOPPE, sandwiching tales of the far West and a Rookie on a Race Track, between various set-ups. We conclude that there is more filling than crust to this sandwich.

Lonnie stoutly maintains that there is nothing puzzling about a conundrum.

We understand that Dad Richardson has been performing a few little miracles on his own hook. For example the other morning he said "Take up Thy Bed and Walk" and lo and behold, several persons were seen hot footing it to the supply room mattresses in hand.

Thought for these nights . . . . "Many are cold, but Few are Frozen."

We are pleased to welcome to this organization from the 29th Infantry Privates Bates, Brewer, Campbell, Cox and Hebert.

Our lists of boxers grows with time. We have under the I. S. D. Battling Sam, Whitey Parker, Bud Gorman, Cosmer Carter and Jesse Phillips. Whitey showed up well in his last two bouts with Chambers of Columbus, and the Detachments wishes and will goes with all of our men into the ring.

In this day of de-bunking heroes and sheroes perhaps the following is in keeping:

Soloman and David led merry, merry lives,
They had many, many kegs of wine,
And many, many wives,
But old age o'er took them,
Causing many, many qualms,
So Soloman wrote the Proverbs,
And David wrote the Psalms.

Relying upon Mr. Dana's theory that were a man to bite a dog it would be news for the simple reason that no one ever heard of such a thing, we submit the following: Bow Wow Adams was seen peeping, somewhat cautiously it is true, into the latest edition of HARPERS.

No Johnnie F., neither Mr. Grimm nor Mr. Anderson wrote the 18th Amendment.

Privates McLean, Enzman, Wheeler and Singletary have been made Privates First Class. Knowing, as we do the idealistic state of these young gentlemen's minds, and knowing too that for this very reason the nine dollars per means practically nothing, we hasten to offer our congratulations. J. G. H.

WESTERN MARYLAND DEFEATS DOUGHBOYS AT BALTIMORE STADIUM

23,000 Spectators See Green Terrors Win Over Army Team with Baffling Aerial Attack

Although losing their first game away from home, the Doughboys are still confident of winning over the Marines Saturday, November 19.

In losing to Western Maryland they lost to one of the Country's strongest football teams, as comparitive scores will show.

The Terrors won over Bucknell University by the one sided score of 41 to 0, the best West Point could do against Bucknell was 34 to 0. And the Point is picked for first place honors in the football world this year.

Some of the Tides first string men warmed the bench during the entire game at Baltimore, while others that we know will bear the brunt of Devil Dogs attack in the coming clash, were in only for short periods.

The Catholic University Stadium will be filled to overflowing Saturday, when the Doughboy faces the Leatherneck before a cheering throng of football fans made up of every grade and rank in the Service, from the highest ranking Officials to the lowliest Johnny Buck.

For one short hour every thing will be forgotten but the twenty-one husky sons of the Service, raging, rushing and striving for suppremacy on the football field.

The triumphant yell of Johnny Buck will mingle with the bellowing roar of his hard boiled C. O., as the plunging Doughboy backs drive down the field.

While pokerfaced fire eating Marine Oficers will do a blackbottom on their new dress caps, when a fleet footed Devil Dog puts the pigskin behind the Doughboys last white line.

ARMY VS. WESTERN MARYLAND:

The Collegians scored their first touchdown in the first five minutes of play, Yeomans kicked off for the Army, Olear took the punt on his five yard line, running the ball back to the thirty yard strip before being brought down.

A long pass Neal to Chambers preceded by to two rushes carried the ball to the Army 18 yard line, Chambers and Gomsak went through the Army line for another first down. Miller took a short pass, going around Armys' right tackle for a touchdown.

Chambers interception of an Army pass and run for 60 yards accounted for the second Western Maryland touchdown shortly after the next kick-off.

Neal got away for a 35 yard run putting the ball on the Armys' 20 yard line paving the way for the Terrors third touchdown in the opening quarter.

A short pass Neal to Chambers put the ball on the 11 yard strip, Neal took a short pass back of his own line going between Army's left tackle and end for a touchdown.

The Army braced in the second quarter, fighting the Collegians to a finish,

AMERICAN LEGION POST HOLDS MEETING ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Captain Saulnier's Address Featured Meeting; Poppy Sale Results Were Announced

A meeting of the Charles S. Harrison post of the American Legion was held at Fort Benning last Tuesday evening.

The meeting was presided over by Commander Brown, and after the regular business meeting the legion had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting talk by the Vice-Commander, Captain Stanley G. Saulnier, who has just returned from Paris.

Captain Saulnier attended the Legion convention in Paris in September and after the convention took an extended tour of the country visiting many of the battlefields where he saw action with the 23rd Infantry of the Second Division. Old veterans who can still recall memories of shell torn village and fields covered with barbed wire entanglements, trenches and shell holes listened in wonder as Captain Saulnier told of the changes which have taken place within the last nine years. Flourishing villages have sprung from the ruins of the dead, and where once long lines of trenches lay like serpents across the shell torn areas, there now may be seen firtle fields and vineyards which have erased the signs of the invader's trails. The attitude of the French people towards the Americans brought forth great praise from Captain Saulnier. He stated that all Americans were received with open arms by the people, moreso it seemed than was the case when first American troops landed on French soil to take up the cause of the Allies. The big parade in Paris was to his mind the greatest spectacle of his visit to France.

The Harrison post announced as a closing feature of the business meeting that it had raised over $1300 in the poppy sale last week.

Announcement was also made that January 1, 1928 is the time limit placed on the filing of applications for adjusted compensation by veterans. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from the adjutant, Chas. S. Harrison Post. He will be glad to assist in the filing of applications.

Lieutenant-Colonel G. C. Marshall arrived at Fort Benning last week and on Monday became the assistant Commandant of The Infantry School vice General F. S. Cocheu who left for Fort Monroe to take the refresher course at the Coast Artillery School.

He has recently returned from China where he was on duty with the 15th Infantry, and just prior to detail at the Infantry School was on duty as instructor at the Army War College in Washington.

Colonel Marshall is known and acknowledged throughout the army as one of its ablest and most brilliant officers.

WESTERN MARYLAND DEFEATS DOUGHBOYS AT BALTIMORE STADIUM ARMISTICE DAY

but when a Marylander recovered a muffed punt on Army's 19 yard line, two line plunges and a short pass accounted for a touchdown.

A screen pass to Neal, rushes by Miller, Gomsak and Chambers and an off-tackle sprint by Neal, advanced the ball 40 yards to the Armys' 15 yard line at the beginning of the third quarter. A forward pass Neal to Miller accounted for the touchdown.

Good kicking by Riffle and Reeder and better playing by the Army line, kept the Collegians on the defensive during the rest of the quarter.

At the beginning of the last period the Terrors started a drive from the Armys' 37 yard line, quickly making a touchdown, Neal going through guard fro a long gain.

Neals 60 yard romp after catching a forward pass paved the way for the seventh and final touchdown, which Gomsak scored on a plunge from the 1 foot line.

The closing minutes were devoted to a futile passing flurry which netted them three first downs but the whistle found the teams in midfield.

THE DANCE AT THE SERVICE CLUB

(By Ye Reporter)

Instead of the usual "Last Night at the Service Club the Second Weekly" and so on, Ye Reporter is going to try to give the folks a look in on the dance as it is danced, although with Scippio and his gang hitting hot and heavy on "Ain't She Sweet" he fears that he will have a tough job of it.

I mean, the boys are sure hot tonight and the floor is crowded as usual. Quite a good crowd, and though Ye Reporter has only just arrived on the scene, it seems as though everybody is happy. And how!

Saw "Slates" hitting them hard and heavy. How that boy does trip the light fantastic! We are willing to lay odds that he isn't giving out the address of a certain charming brunette.

Ye Reporter would like to know where Parker, The Sheik of the I. S. D. got that grey "westcutt" he's sporting so bravely. If he doesn't get them with that, he never will.

We notice that Cpl. Pell, our Librarian of course, has gotten rid of that embryonic, misplaced eyebrow of his especially for the dance. Coming clean from the Library, we might remark.

One hears that Pfister, I. S. D. is attending.

Hitting "Dirah" now, and, according to the way the bunch is hollowering for it, the curfew ain't gonna ring tonight.

Ye Reporter notes a lot of new faces and is sorry that he can't find out who they all are. Some of them he would like to write up, but there are one or two,—Maybe I had better not mention it.

Sgt. Brown is back in the fold again, It's quite a time since we've seen you and your gang, Sargent, come again.

Swung into the "Missouri Waltz" and Ye Reporter has spotted Sweeney just lapping it up. Too bad you had to come in uniform, Sweeney, 'cause you've lost a wonderful chance to show the girls that "Tin Hat" of yours.

Sgt. Matthews, our "Old Reliable," is very much in the dance. Who can blame him? With a girl like his to come with, what other inducement would he want?

"Bill" Stewart, we note, is firmly entrenched behind the cash drawer. Just the man for the job, and that leaves "Shap" free to dance with the Mrs. not to forget certain other—stop right there.

But to return to Sgt. Stewart, as we would like to have the opportunity of doing many times over, one can trust him not to let any of the "chow-hounds" crash past him. Not past his eagle eye, No Sir! And it's not with every "Treasuring" job that you are served music, is it, "Bill?"

The "Boys" have struck into a slow drag, and Ye Reporter must leave his machine and see how the crowd is taking it. If they are running true to form, they'll make Scippio wish he never started it before he gets through.

Just as I thought, they're crying for more. And right now Ye Reporter is going to say that a number like this is sure a trap-drummer's paradise. Any of you incipient, rudimentary, undeveloped followers of the "Snare" who would like to see trap-drumming as IS trap-drumming, just drop around to the Service Club on Dance Night—Whoy, every Wednesday, of course—and cast your respectful eye on Sloane Williams when he's hot—and that's most al the time. The speak in the vernacular, there's a baby who "knows his Bermudas." And how?

"Black Horse Stomp"—Red hot, I mean. And our own Henry has arrived. Who? Corporal Echlin, of course, what dance is complete without him? And he's right into it already, you can bank on it that he'll get his two-bits worth.

"Bill" Stewart has just made a little speech in order to straighten out this civilian clothes question, and Ye Reporter is going to tell you all about it, so that those who have missed this dance will not be disappointed in the future. We regret that the uniform regulations will not permit us to allow the boys to attend in "civvys," but an order's an order, so polish up your brass and come in your best. The girls will love you just the same.

Ye Reporter has had a hard time keeping up with Mrs. Brittain, 'cause she sure is every old place at once. Seems to know just where she is needed all the time. But just now she came in for a pencil, and when Ye Reporter offered his one and only, it was refused. We caught something about our "old pencils being harder than her head" which implies a reasonable doubt in the mind of Ye Reporter as to the efficacy of the tools of his trade.

Rrefreshments are being served during an intermission, but from the way they are disappearing Ye Reporter, we are afraid, will go home still thirsty. But he is going to make a man-sized attempt to drown himself in the punchbowl, so this column will suffer accordingly. I'll let you know next week whether I make it or not.

Before we close, we want to take an opportunity of thanking all the ladies who attended for turning out in such strength and making the affair the success that it is. Keep coming like you do, and we sure will make everybody sit up and take notice. A dance without women is like a cigarette and no matches. But according to that the boys ought to be suffering from tobacco-heart tomorrow.

And though Ye Reporter has ommented now and then during the course of his drivel, on the Orchestra, he feels the urge to say just a bit more. We have heard music from Halifax to Oshkosh, but the boys from the 24th have sure got an edge on them all. After all, the music puts the spirit into the dnace, so we must thank the orchestra for their efforts of the evening. Ye Reporter has attended various dances in Columbus and paid out a great deal more of the filthy lucre there, than up here, none of the exponents of rythmic harmonics that Ye Reporter has heard locally, can hold a candle to the gang that played here tonight. And a word to you terpsichoreans; give the orchestra a hand when they please you. It is our own private opinion that the orchestra will "break a leg" playing, if you encourage them. So give them a hand! Nuff said.

Ye Reporter.

"Man, where did you get those black eyes?"

"It's this way, Sam—going to a masquerade tonight and couldn't afford a mask."—Ohio State Sun Dial.

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—November 21st.
Time—2:15.

The Program Committee of the Infantry School Woman's Club has a most interesting plan for the meeting on next Monday afternoon. It is as follows:

"My Experiences among the Indians"—Lt. H. H. Fay—Group of Indian Songs—Sung by Capt. Rutledge, Mrs. Barker. With Mrs. Hester accompanying.

Lt. Fay was a missionary among the Indians prior to the war and it has been said on good authority that he knows more about the Indians than any living white man. He is a master of their sign language and he knows thousands of interesting things about these people whose romance belongs for the greater part to a day that is gone. You will be charmed by his talk—not only what he says but how he says it and you will remember with delight this program for after Lt. Fay's talk, Captain Rutledge and Mrs. Barker will sing some beautiful Indian songs. Indian music has an unfailing charm peculiarly its own and when interpreted by these musicians it will be perfectly presented.

After the program Mrs. Ahrends and Mrs. Shepard will be hostesses at tea.

The Literary department of the Club met Monday at the Polo Club and its roster recorded 86 names. This is a good sign for it shows that many women are actively interested in a more or less serious study of contemporary literature. More over some of the husbands are so interested that they have asked for permission to come too!

When a red-blooded man wants to come to a Woman's Club you may know that worth while things are being attempted. This genuine compliment will undoubtedly open the literary club to better its best. The following program of contemporary Spanish Literature was excellently presented:

Fore Word:—Written by Mrs. Winton and read by Mrs. Peyton—The mob—Blasco Ibanez reviewed by Mrs. Brier.

One-act play—"No Smoking"—Jacinto Benavente—read by Mrs. Avera.

Mirafor—Concha Espina (Spain's greatest woman writer.) Retold by Mrs. Green.

Counts and Countries—Infanta Eulalia Reviewed by Mrs. Norris.

At the next meeting Mrs. Paul Goode will present her French program.

'What," asked the ethered girl in the pink blouse, of a young man who was staying rather late, "What do you consider God's greatest gift to man?"

"Woman, everytime," said he, with an engaging smile.

"Oh, no," she answered with a yawn, 'it's sleep."

"Next to woman," returned he gallantly.

Then she rose with considerable hauteur and walked upstairs, while he hustled around for his hat, wondering what had happened.—Laughter.

AMERICAN LEGION HAS POPPY SALE AT BENNING

The annual poppy sale was held at Fort Benning on November 10th. The committee of ladies, headed by Mrs. R. H. Fletcher, Jr., were out early on that morning and all avenues of approach were well guarded by her corps of workers, heavily laden with baskets containing the reminders of "Flanders Fields." So efficiently was the poppy sale drive conducted that the donations received this year far exceeded those of former years. The sale was "put over" in army style by army ladies, who, for the time being put aside the riding classes, bridge dinners, the babies, or the favorite book, to lend a helping hand to the Legion.

The amount collected here was turned over to the Charles S. Harrison oPst, No. 35, which has a joint membership divided between Columbus and Fort Benning.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE PRAISES RED CROSS

"The American Red Cross has a foremost place in the ranks of distinctive American institutions which we honor and loyally support. It has become an intimate part of our every day life. To it we turn instinctively and confidently when sudden calamities occur.

"We have had frequent occasions to witness its readiness for instant and effective response at the call to duty.

"We have tested the Red Cross in war and in peace. It has never failed us. It never will so long as it holds your support.

"As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I earnestly ask all our citizens to renew their membership in this legion of mercy."

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

THE ARMY NOT A PENAL INSTITUTION

Accused of a "very serious offense," a young man was taken before a magistrate in a Tennessee town. After deliberation, the court gave the man his choice of going to trial or enlisting in the United States Army. The prisoner voted to join the army, and went to Memphis under bond for the purpose of enlisting. But the recruiting officer at Memphis refused to accept him. The recruiting officer explained that he did not look upon the United States Army as a penal institution and does not accept men whose purpose is to escape punishment for offenses committed in civil life.

Commenting upon this incident, The Memphis Commercial Appeal says:

We may well imagine what sort of a military machine this Government would have if it were composed of outlaws and men with criminal tendencies. Those who hold to the delusion that the United States Army is a hodge-podge of undesirables and ne'er-do-wells need to be enlightened. The words of the recruiting officer are plain enough.

Maybe the West Tennessee magistrate who sent the young man here is a bit muddled in his geography and thought he was living in Central America.

A decision like this might prove entirely acceptable to the officers of a Nicaraguan army, for instance, but it cannot hold in the shadow of the Stars and Stripes.

We hold with the recruiting officer and the editor of The Commercial Appeal. Men in the army and navy do not feel complimented when hard-boiled eggs from civil life knock at their doors for admittance.—Montgomery Advertiser.

THE STUDENTS GOSSIP RUNS WILD

Now that we've put Captain Jones' automatic rifle course behind us and annexed another expert rating to our laurels, we're hitting the ball now on the bayonet course under Captain Hudson, grenade under Captain Olmstead and combat practice under Captain Withers. I guess Captain Hudson thought he had Deadrick stimped on going over that wall but George foxed him by coming out one day with a pair of shoes all full of spikes. George had to wear them again for they let us out of the course that day. Next day George eased up and took a close look at the wall and, lo and behold, finds a loose board projecting enough to allow a good football. Result: George made the wall the first time. I understand a few of the boys showed this defect to the instructor and that henceforth they'll have to go over without the board.

Well, we had a big time last Thursday night at the Country Club. The permanent Benningites and the students were well represented and now we're all looking forward to more of those nights, which are usually a complete success.

I'm told that the Glee Club will be bigger and better than ever since Jim Urquhart, Joe Bush, Buddy Payne, Fat Birks and a few more students are turning out with some vocal cords to perform with. There's wild rumor afloat that Jim is going to take prominent part in the operatta for late in January. I'm glad that some one in Company "C" is coming to the front.

Those boys in Company "B" sure are stepping out of late. Last week Captain Joiner led a selected section in a masketry problem o nthe heels of a section of Company "C". When it was over, Captain Withers announced that this section had gotten closer to the object than any other section in the history of the school. Austin, Ellis and Birks were the squad leaders.

Company "B" again did the honors Thursday when a selected section in charge of its "Top Kick" put on a demonstrations of fire fight under a gas and smoke attack and followed it by showing how to hit targets obscured by smoke. Later, sections from both companies fired at aerial targets.

The drag hunt Sunday brought out a goodly representation of students. Three officers and one woman took croppers but all members of Company "C" came thorugh with a perfect score. It seems the field artillery staged the best demonstration of dismounting. It was a fine affair. The breakfast and the singing afterwards were inspiring, even if it was nearly time for the polo game before our table was served. Captains DeWare and Whisner sure looked stunning in those red coats and black caps.

Mike Halloran has been doing some stellar work with the mallet in polo games. It has been explained that the reason for this is the name of the field which is particularly favorable to a Free Stater. The boys of Co. "B" will be glad when they don't have to use that dinky and more for every time the train passes that brick pile behind the bakery, a whole squad including the second in command have to hold Mike in the car to keep him from collceting an armfull of "amunition." I hope the pile stays there, for the time it takes to get past it is the only time some of those lieutenants, whose constant chatter monopolizes the atmosphere so that even the radios around the post can't break thru, are quiet.

I noticed that the post mess inspection report gave a lot of fine standings but didn't even mention the Biglerville Mess. I understand it was disqualified because the menu never changes.

Well, I see where I get up at 4:30 again Sunday to take in my second wild cat hunt. Joe Bush, Ham and I had a big time at the last one even if we were shown the orders on breakfast uniform at the mess later.

THE PHANTOM OF CREEL MARSH

An old legend that may be of interest to the members of the Hunt Club is still told and remembered by some of the old residents of the Bradley plantation.

Long years ago the story goes, a slave name Nero, ran away from one of the large plantations that are now a part of the reservation.

His owner with several more men and dogs went in pursuit of the runaway who sought safety in wilds of the Chattahoochee swamps.

Unable to find any trace of the runaway, the pursuers had given up the chase and were returning toward home, when by a freak chance one of the dogs discovered Nero hiding in some thick underbrush.

Fleeing in terror before men and dogs, the runaway found himself cut off from all escape when he came to the river bank.

With his pursuers rushing down upon him, he turned with a loud scream plunged into the swirling waters.

Very little was said about the tragedy and it was almost forgotten, until a party of hunters a few weeks later while on a coonhunt, were thrilled to hear the pack open up in full cry, in a small ravine known as Creel marsh.

Expecting the fleeing coon to be caught on the ground, the hunters followed in hot pursuit, so as to be present at the kill.

The chase led straight to the river bank, and just as it seemed that the hounds were ready to pounce upon their prey, the high piercing scream of a human in distress sounded clearly above the yelping pack.

The hunters stopped as though paralized, a moment later and the pack came slinking to heel with tails tucked and ears flat, casting backward glances toward the now slient river.

And old timers will tell you that the ghost of Nero still haunts Creel marsh, they say that many times hunters who have wandered that way between the hours of midnight and dawn came back to tell in whispers of the Ghost of Creel marsh.

The hours between midnight and dawn seem to be the ghost walking hours the ghost never having been known to make its appearance before the midnight hour.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER BREAKS AUTO RECORD

Three American made stock cars, two Studebaker Commander sport roadsters and a Studebaker Commander Sedan, have established a new world record for speed and endurance, each one traveling 25,000 miles in less than that many minutes on the Atlantic City speedway.

No machine made by man ever traveled that fast. The two sport cars finished the race together with an average speed of 65.31 miles per hour. The third car while traveling at a greater speed than 65 miles an hour turned over, was righted, hurriedly repaired and sent on its way. Despite the fact that two hours were lost in getting the sedan back on the track, this car finished the distance with an average speed of 61.98 miles per hour, which in itself established a record considering the handicap it encountered.

A car traveling 25,000 miles in 23,000 minutes is a feat which can hardly be grasped by even the most active imagination. The 20th century limited which runs between New York and Chicago in 20 hours, averages only 48 miles per hour.

This splendid car is handled by Kyle Bros. Auto Company in Columbus.

The 15th Infantry has reassembled again at the compound in Tientsin after spending the past summer and fall on manuevers and completion of regular target season at Camp Dabney.

The 11th Infantry at Fort Benj. Harrison, Indiana celebrated organization day on November 5th with appropriate ceremonies. Captains George L. King and J. F. Hyde, of Fort Benning were among those officers who sent messages of congratulations to their old outfit.

The bank account of the private soldier showed a very healthy balance of almost two million dollars on June 30th according to report of the Chief of Finance. Thrifty soldiers quitting the service during the past fiscal year withdrew over one and one-half million dollars in deposits and about forty-two thousand dollars in interest on deposits.

The 11th Infantry polo team won the deciding game last Sunday in the Fort Harrison fall polo meet with the 3rd Field Artillery stationed there. The score was 9 to 2 in the final game. Captain DeLong and Lieutenant Beal Rees, and Dulaney were members of the winning squad. Lieut. F. J. Tate and Capt. M. L. McCreary were outstanding players on the losing team.

Vacancies for cadetships at the U. S. Military Academy next year exist in forty-six states, according to recent announcement. In addition to the vacancies existing in the states, it was pointed out that 35 vacancies exist for young men whose fathers were killed in battle during the World War. Forty vacancies were thus created by special act of Congress in 1926.

The football team of the 23rd Infantry at Fort Sam Houston took the post championship last Saturday in defeating the 9th Infantry. Only one touchdown was scored against this team during the entire season.

FORMER TANKER RE-ENLISTS; PROMINENT RECREATION MAN

Former Staff Sergeant Maurice W. Squirrel, formerly of Company "B", 15th Tank Battalion re-enlisted several days ago in his old organization here.

He was given the glad hand of welcome upon his return to the fold, and was also made corporal the day that he signed on the dotted line.

Corporal Squirrel served with the Canadian army during the World War, and there is no need to go into details, when his record show that he was a member of the First British Columbia Regiment which was known as "The Little Black Devils."

At the end of the war he returned to the states, enlisting in the Heavy Tankers at Camp Meade, Maryland, in 1919.

In his first hitch under Old Glory, he was promoted to the grade of Staff Sergeant. He came to Benning with Company "B", 15th Tanks. He was discharged in 1922, and re-enlisted for another three years.

Corporal Squirrel is a prominent recreation worker and to him is due considerable credit for initiating swimimng in this unit, and many of the experts in this form of recreation can be traced to his ability as an instructor.

Corporal Squirerl holds a Commission as Second Lieutenant, Infantry (Tanks), in the Officers Reserve Corps.

I. S. D. NOTES

The outfit has a snappy air. Due, undoubtedly to inspection falling this week, the new Pershing caps having just been received, the order on overcoats being all an overcoat should be, and the ever watchful eye of the Major.

At the Hospital lately Captain Gilhus diagnosed Corporal Taylor's case as "Constitutional Inertia," whereupon said Corporal answered, "I knew the Major was wrong. He said I was just plain lazy."

We're darn lucky in a lot of ways. Take the past Poppy Day for example. The flowers were sold for the American Legion, to furnish funds, to bring smokes and little luxuries to the men that are still in the hospital, wounded and maimed from the late war. They've been there too, for ten years. After ten years in a bed of suffering, being broke or cold once-in-a-while, or having a few of the other ailments that human flesh is heir to, don't mean so much in the way of hardship.

Preparation are under way to make this Thanksgiving Dinner, a gala affair. Thank somebody you're 'Chicken', or a 'Buzzard', or any of the other members of the zoo or Streets, so often designated in these parts, be thankful you're anything but a turkey. What could be a more ignoble end than to grow up to be a self-respecting turkey only to be devoured by, well say, Corporal Willingham.

We are pleased to welcome to the Detachment Sergeant White. The Sergeant drives for General Collins and always lends an added air of smartness to the Cadillac.

Subscriptions have been entered for a number of magazines and newspapers for the Recreation Room by the Major. The former have been divided so as to meet all tastes and the latter selected geographically to furnish news to the men from all sections of the country.

Fat Reynolds almost got sent to Panama. They've been holding off tho' till they find a transport big enough. The Detachment says, "Suits Us!"

We understand that the men of this outfit on duty at Headquarters are getting up a petition to have issued to them small scooters or bicycles. The Post Exchange prefers velocopedes. The Service Club en mass has given no opinion as yet but Brown we understand wants a wheeled bed equipped with a motor and steering appartus.

It is good to know that Private Curtis Lowry continues to improve. The Detachment are all wishing for his rapid mend.

Master Sergeant Chitwood is back from Walter Reed. Welcome home.

Company G

The recent reorganization of the regiment has made it possible for the promotion of four of our best privates to the grade of corporal . Their names are as follows in order of rank, respectively: Henry Boger, Herman Seats, Willie Winston, and King Davis.

This company is the proud possessor of six of the most famous football players of the regimental team, namely, Sellers, Battles, Tillis, Brice, Tholmer, and Hodgers. We are glad to have such athletes and wish them success always.

The 24th Infantry Band is attached to this company for administration and our company commander, Captain Albert B. Helsley, is commanding both, the company and band.

The members of the company and band are wondering what made a certain bandman, who left the service one year ago with the intention of not returning, reenlist. He states that he has worked in coal mines and on other various hard jobs but not does state what necessitated his coming back to the good old army. His name we shall not mention, but we are glad to have Private David Mason with us again.

Some of the members of the company are wondering why the Headquarters Company had one of our best privates first class and acting corporal attached to it for the purpose of driving a "Jarhead" team. His name is a secret, but good-bye Private First Class Joseph Sanko; we hope that you will return some day.

Farming does not sem to be very much this year, especially in the States of Louisiana and Georgia, because three young gentlemen from those states seemingly about twenty-three years of age, respectively, have recently enlisted in the Regiment and have been assigned to this company and we are glad to have them with us and wish them a happy and successful career in the military service. They are: Jason J. Jackson, Romalus Lewis, and Frederick Tomba.

Our Private First Class Julius Haley recently went on a months' furlough. We wish him the best of vacations.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The one hour programs at the YMCA each Sunday Afternoon are well worth attending. The concert rendered by the regimental band on last Sunday was one of the best ever heard in these parts. The regimental quartet is also to be commended for its splendid singing on the previous Sunday. It is hoped that soon the glee club might also appear in a program. Be on look out for notices. On Nov. 27, the ladies will render a program. If you are in town on Sunday afternoon come by the "Y". The meetings are strickly one hour (4 to 5 p. m.)

When in town stop at the YMCA. There you will find checkers, radio, ping pong, library, billiard tables, swimming pool, hot and cold baths, nice beds, aid station, etc. The Fort Benning Bus stops at the YMCA. Catch it there.

Ye Olde Printe Shoppe Gossipe

Mr. Norwood, formerly Pfc. Norwood of the I. S. D. and for two years an army printer, wrote us from some place over in Alabama the other day. He has purchased an equity in a printing plant and assures us that it is "doing well by him." Things of this sort make us feel mighty darn good. It is good deal the same as having an alumnus of ones alma mater make good. Sort of encourages those of us who have not as yet received our sheepskins from Ye Olde Printe Shoppe Tech.

Corpl. Dubenowski, Asst. Shop foreman, left last week for Atlanta on a ninety day furlough.

Corpl. Harry Smith, of the Platen presses, is acting assistant shop foreman during Dubies' absence. With all due respects to "The Wandering Jew," it must be said that his methods are novel. However it cannot be denied that he gets results—and its spelt with a capital R.

What, with operating the mighty Miehle, conducting his Associated News Service, organizing his Greatest Liers Club, and tending the print shop pup, Trout is one engrossed lad. Careful, Grandma, it's the pace that kills.

We heard a good one on Battling Sam the other day but when someone proposed to have it placed in the News Gossip Sam's dark frown seemed to spell assault and battery so dangerously that we will have to find some other way to let you in on this tit-bit. Perhaps the best way to advertise it would be to whisper it to Grandma, giving him to understand that it is strictly confidential.

Foreman Smith is resting up a bit on pass this week.

Pvt. Phillips, a Mabutt prodigy, has returned from a thirty day workout in Florida.

For some reason the visit of a high ranking officer to the post seems to have about the same effect on the print shop as the Grandmother had on the style of Cinderella's gown. The old cow barn blossomed out like a Boston Debautante!

"DADDY" OF 'EM ALL CAUGHT BY BENNING WILD CAT HUNTERS SUNDAY

Sunday morning, 5 a. m., found the members of the Infantry School Hunting Club assembled at the water tanks with the eager pack straining at the leash.

Early after the hunters had got under way, "Ole Pete" opened up to let the world know that he had crossed the trail of a midnight rambler.

Straight away over hills and valley the trail led, but the huntsmen quickly realized that time was being wasted, for Pete had picked up the trail of a red fox, and fox hunting and cat hunting are different stories.

The pack was quickly "collected", and turned back toward the swamps and marshes, the lair of the wildcat and racoon.

Down near the head of McMurrin Creek "Ole Pete" again "gave voice," a moment later Marys high treble mixed and mingled with the old boys deep bass.

There was no trail to the hills this time, into the thickest of the marsh it led, and there was no mistake now, that a fleeing wildcat led the act.

The wildcat will dodge and circle in the marshy swamp lands with the cunning of "Ole Brer Rabbit", but when hard pressed can lead the hounds a merry chase. Sunday was no exception, the first thirty minutes Mr. Kitty used up his entire bag of tricks trying to elude his pursuers.

But an old hound is mighty hard to fool, finding he could not shake them off the cat started stepping out, but the yelping pack beat him at his own game, making his last stand in the thick undergrowth on the banks of Harps pond, the cat went to his death fighting (Like a Wildcat.)

The cat was one of the largest ever catured in this section of the country, weighing 38 pounds and measuring 54 inches tip to tip.

Drag hunt next Sunday starting from Polo Club over a moderate ten mile course.

Company "E"

After a hard football game last Wednesday all the boys around the company are very sore. As you know that was our first game and we worked hard to make it a winner. The line of the fighting "G" Company would not let us through, so we decided to do them the same. We have to let you know what a short timer has to say and Speedy DeMott says "It won't be long now." We are losing hom but have Corpl. Myers to take his place.

Pvt. Bass has gone to the kitchen and has taken up the trade of a cook. In two weeks he will be the largest man in the post.

If any of you fellows happen to be around town and see a soldier by the name of Jacobs, find out what he is doing. What ever it is the company seems to be worried and he will not explain no way whatsover.

We want each and every one of you to come and see our game next Wednesday against "F" Company and watch us walk away with them.

—J. R. H.

Company "F"

Driving through to a victory over "H" Co. on a muddy field, Wednesday afternoon, Co. "F"'s football team displayed a powerful aggregation that should have no trouble in winning the Battalion cup this year.

The game was not as close as the score indicates. "F" Co. retained possession of the ball most of the game but fumbling caused by the wet ball was "H" Co.'s" chief defense, from having their goal crossed a half-dozen more times. If the field had been dry the score would probably have been 52 to 0 instead of 12 to 0.

There were no particular stars on the "F" Co. eleven. Every man held down his position and played real football. The line repeatedly charged through to throw "H" Co. for losses and the backfield functioned like clockwork.

In the first quarter with Ripple circling the ends for long gains, Barron hitting the center of the line and by means of the aerial route, "F" Co. scored their first touchdown. A pretty pass from Ripple to Carpenter put the ball across the line. The second marker came inthe third quarter when Ripple circled right end to cross the goal line from the 25 yard line. Straight footbal had carried the ball most of the way up the field.

"A" Co. started another drive from their 42 yd. line, a pass Bennett to Smith netted 15 yds, and 1st down, Bennett smashes through for 12 yds. for the 2nd 1st down, Segrist got away for 22 yds. on a long end run.

The end of the first quarter found the ball in "A"'s possession on Hdqr's. 7 yd. line. "A" carried the ball to Hdqr's. 1 yd. line, but here the boys from the brain section tightened up and held.

In the fourth quarter two completed passes, Bennett to Cawthorne and Bennett to Smith put the ball on Hdqr's. 18 yd. strip.

Two plunges by Bennett and Segrist put the ball on Hdqr's. one yd. line, with second down and one to get it looked like "A" Co. must score, but the fighting Hdqrs. line held like a stonewall, the last rush finding the ball o ntheir 4 inch line.

Hdqrs. punted out of danger, the game ending with the ball near the center of the field.

Both teams put up a great fight, the game was cleanly played both teams fighting hard to win but showing themselves true sportsmen.

RED KEENAN MEETS SAILOR STETSON HERE IN TEN ROUND BOUT NOVEMBER 22

A card that should be fast and full of action from start to finish has been arranged for next Tuesday night at Gowdy Field.

Benning fans will get a chance to see their fighting Redhead wreck vengeance on Sailor Stetson of Montgomery.

At their last meeting which took place over in the Alabama town, Mr. Stetson showed the Doughboy an awful busy evening, and when Red sprained his foot in the ninth round, they do say over in Alabama, that them two boys were certainly slinging leather at each other.

If the soldier from the flying field stays six rounds with the Blonde from Columbus you are certainly going to see some action, for Kent certainly believes in plenty of action, Kid Andreis an unknown quality here.

The three rounders will be fast and furious as usual, several kao artists are being matched, so lets go, TUESDAY NIGHT.

ARTILLERY BARRAGE TURNS BACK TERRIBLE TANKERS IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Large Crowd Turns Out To See Service Teams Clash In Bennefit Game At Memorial Stadium, Saturday November 12

The Caisson Riders from the 83rd F. A. who are noted for their ability to upset the dopebucket at the most unexpected time, ran true to form when they defeated the Terrible Tankers 12 to 7, at the Memorial Stadium, Columbus, Nov. 12.

The game Saturday, a benefit game, the proceeds going to the widows and orphans of the Spanish War Veterans.

The officials of the Spanish War Vets. who sponsored the game, stated that it was a great success in every way, the officiating being of the highest standard, while the gate proceeds were much above expectations.

The Redlegs took the lead in the first quarter, when Phillips, Gunner's fullback went off tackle for a long gain and touchdown, the extra point was missed.

Score: Artillery 6; Tankers 0.

The second quarter found the Tankers moving steadily toward the Artillery goal line, but Derrick the Galloping Ghost from the Combat Train, pulled down a Tank pass on his own twenty yard line, carrying the ball seventy yards before he was brought down. On the next play, McAuliffe who had substituted for Thomps n, threw a pass to Pike, who went over for the second Artillery touchodwn.

Score: Artillery 12; Tanks 0.

With Derrick and Phillips slipping through their line like a pair of greased seals, the Tankers found the Artillery line a stonewall at every point.

Taking to the air in the last quarter, the Tankers carried the ball deep into Gunner territory, here a long pass, Wright to Bennett gave the Tanks their lone touchdown, Bennett kicked goal for the extra point.

Score: Artillery 12; Tanks 7.

A big sprinkling of Tankers and Artillerymen were present, to root for their respective teams.

The large crowd of civilians were about evenly divided, each team being loyally supported from the stands.

24TH DOUGHBOYS SLAUGHTER INVADERS ON FOOTBALL FIELD AT DOUGHBOY STADIUM

The 24th Infantry football team ran roughshod over the Chattanooga Elks, highly touted colored football team, here Saturday afternoon.

The playing of Heard, Tillis and Leaping Willis, featured for the first team, while Bambino Williams and Dazzy Vance were the outstanding stars for the second string team.

One of the main features of the game was the exhibition put over by the entire regiment which marched to the Doughboy Stadium and entertained the spectators with mass singing and cheering.

The regiment formed in front of the boxes occupied by General Edgar T. Collins, The Commandant of The Infantry School, and General Wilhelm Fr. Heye, Chief of Staff, German Army.

General Heye was the guest of the Commandant during his visit here on his extended tour of inspection.

THE GAME

Heard kicked off for the Army, when an Elk fumbled Collins recovered for the soldiers. Heard smashed through the line for fifteen yards on the first play, Tillis then made thirty yards around right end, Heard drove straight through the line on next play for a touchdown.

In the last of the first quarter, Leaping Williams dropped back to hurl a pass, but when he fumbled the ball, he made a quick recovery, and brought the crowd to their feet when he raced seventy yards through the entire Elk team for a touchdown.

The second team came on the field in the second quarter and Fendale Williams and Vance took up the reins with the same vim of Heard and Tillis.

There is no need to go into details of the plays, the soldiers were entirely to strong for the visiting team.

With the score standing 57 to 0 in the last of the fourth quarter, Fendale Williams kicked a field goal from the twenty yard strip to make the final score an even 60 to 0 in favor of the HAPPY HEARTS.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES BUSY THE PAST YEAR

During the past year the Red Cross handled relief work for seventy-seven disasters which wrought death and destruction to all parts of the country. Mine explosions, cloudbursts, fires, floods, epidemics, torandoes, and hail storms were included among the catastrophes which made relief work necessary. The Red Cross was there every time.

The army and navy and other governmental departments cooperated with railroads, and countless other commercial establishments in some cases to make relief work effectively immediately.

One railroad, for instance, set its Pullman cars on side tracks for nurses and doctors to use and one taxicab company offered forty thousand cars for Red Cross work.

A recent instance of Red Cross relief work is the New England floods where 8,000 people have been aided by Red Cross workers.

See the Red Cross when you want information on government bonus, complicated claims, sickness at home, employment conditions at certain times and places, and facts concerning missing relatives. The Red Cross will help you—all you have to do is to see them.

If you want training in life saving and first aid, home hygiene and care of the sick, look up the Red Cross.

WHY DOES THE RED CROSS have forty thousand nurses registered? Because first the nurses by law form the army reserve and, second, many of them must be immediately available when big tornadoes and floods strike in the country. When needed they are drawn from the civilian hospitals where they are regularly employed and assigned according to a plan worked out years ago.

WHY SHOULD THE RED CROSS have over 100,000 trained Life Savers and WHO ARE THEY?

They are needed to teach water safety and to prevent unnecessary loss of life by drowning, asphyxiation and certain kinds of shock which affect persons in the same as drowning.

They are specially selected army and navy officers and enlisted men, teachers, athletic directors, other men and women and specially recommended young people, boy and girl scouts for instance.

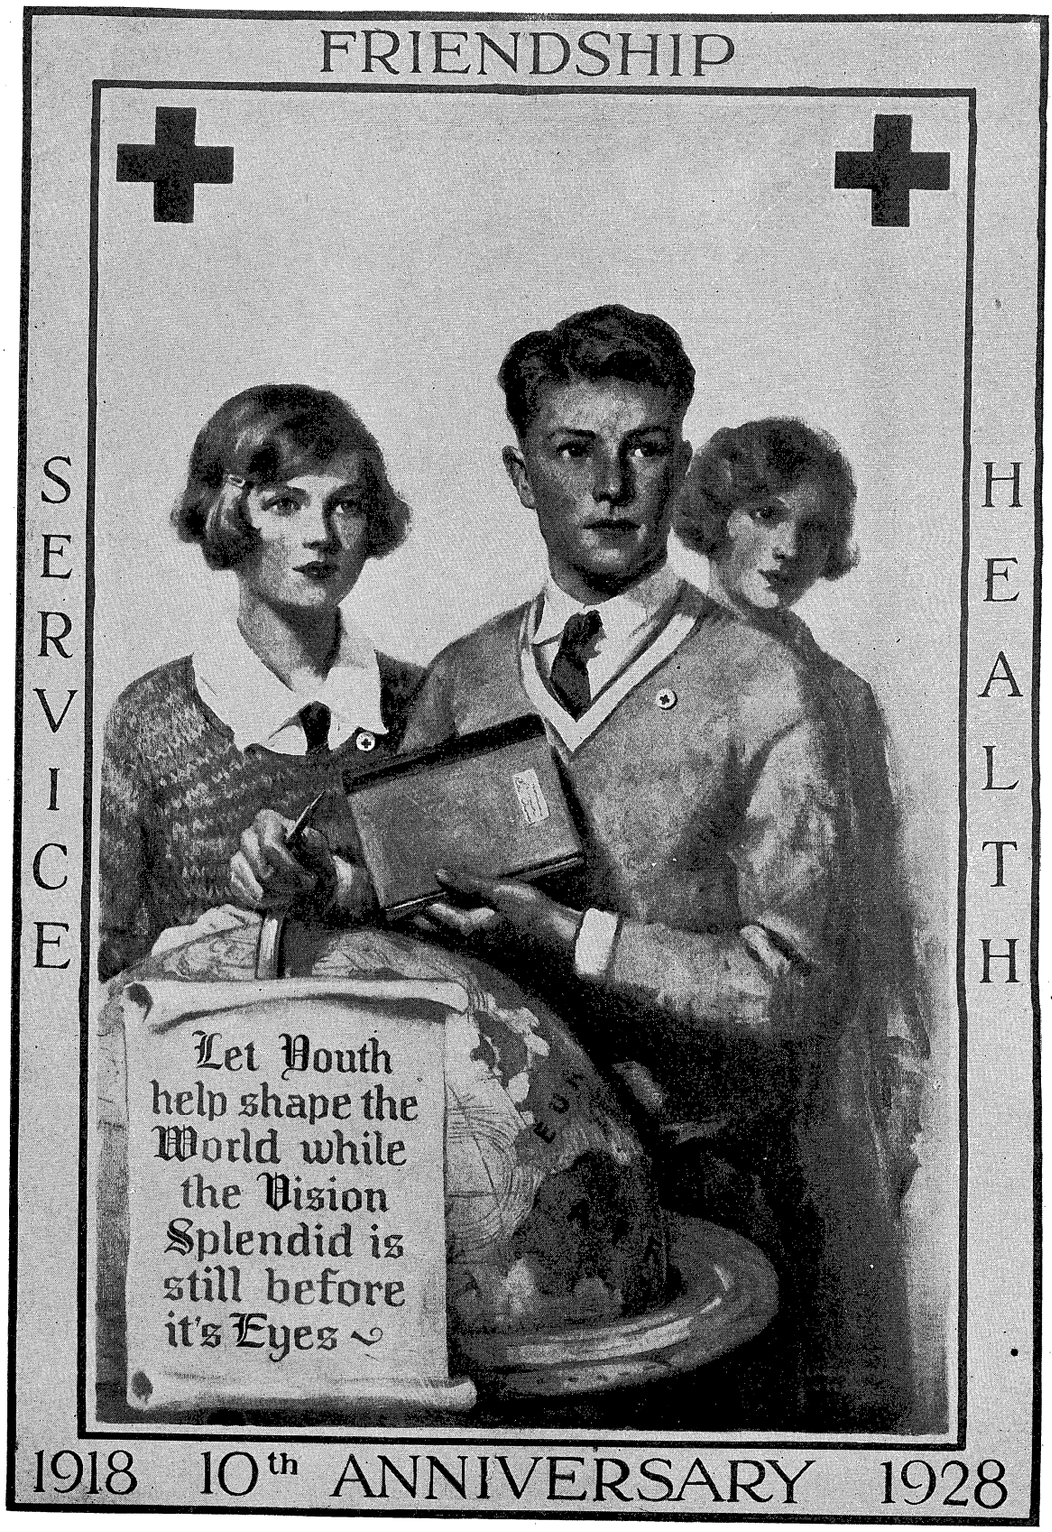
OFFICIAL WEATHER REPORT; OCTOBER WAS MOST IDEAL MONTH IN GEORGIA

General Summary

October, 1927, was one of the finest fall months on record in Georgia. Temperatures averaged decidedly above the normal over the State, and the rainfall was light. Most of the precipitation occurred duing the first 13 days, followed by a long period from the 14th to the close of the month of delightful dry, clear, sunny weather.

After the last rain on the 13th, the weather turned moderately cold, with a minimum temperature as low as 27* in the extreme northeast and killing frost in the extereme north, and the temperature remained below normal for a week; this period afforded a most perfect example of what is usually designated "Indian Summer." The last 10 days of the month were decidedly warm.

Toward the close of October the drought began to be severe, and springs, wells, and small streams were reported drying up. The drought also had the effect of hardening the soil and preventing fall plowing, and consequently the seeding of winter grains by the close of the month was behind the average, but on the other hand conditions were decidedly favorable for all harvesting operations. A larger yield of cotton resulted from the fav rable weather, and all other crops were housed in good condition. On the whole, October was as nearly an ideal month as possible.



The Junior Red Cross is a very active organization in the public schools of America. The work done by this organization is what might be called "service to the line." The active workers of the society are backed up by 6,000,000 youngsters in schools who assist very materially in the work of the A. R. C.

Ten years ago the world was torn to pieces with strife. The American Red Cross was doing all it could to make the horrors of war less frightful, and the school children of the United States insisted on a share in that work. So the President of the United States, who is always President of the American Red Cross as well, issued a proclamation saying that the schools of the country might enroll as Junior members of the older organization. By hundreds and thousand the schools came in, and it was not long before garments made by Junior members and money earned by Junior members came in, too, by hundreds and thousands and at last even by millions. Because of the Junior membership in America many orphaned children in Europe were clothed, many hungry children were fed, many destitute children were sheltered and cared for. And when the worst of the need was over, the Junior members found that still they might do things to help at home and abroad, and many of them said: "We will go on as Junior members of the American Red Cross." Some schools have had an unbroken membership for all these ten years, and they are to have a special certificate. Does your school deserve one of these?

Battery "A"

We are back in the print again, after several months of work and pleasure (mostly work.) Nevertheless we are beginning to be organized as a horse drawn battery, which has been a great success to present time. We expect to be rated as the best firing battery in the battalion. We have the best of instructors for a horse drawn battery and we are confident of having a well organized battery. This week has been very busy for everyone, as we have been on the range for the past few days firing demonstrations for the Infantry School, which have proved to be very successful ones.

Well fellows. have you ever had the experience of having your girl friend to call you in the early afternoon and having a little "love chat," thereafter you cannot resist from making an evennig date, which most every young "Sheik" will do, and then you will visit the barber shop and get all shined up and just about the time your'e getting all set for your date, "The Top Kick" will yell your name and tell you to draw your gun and go on 'G'uard." Ask "Key Boy," alias Corpl. Neal. ' Tuff luck, Monk.

Privates Dukes and Todd are now back from their 15-day furlough, which was spent in Alabama and Georgia. We are all glad to see them back and hope they will stay with us (until retired.)

Well Avera, you'd better stay away from Alabama. Lodging is very 'discomfortable."

"Cheer up Boyce," it won't last long, nothing does.

Hdqrs. Battery and Combat Train

Sergeant LaPine has returned from a 90-day furlough. We understand that the Sergeant gave the ladies of Houston, Texas, a treat as a shoe salesman.

Tilley the Toiler, our battery clerk, is one of the color guards. He says if he continues to ride he wants the horse's back upholstered.

Amos Roberson has a new job for the winter providing that he keeps clean.

Gadjet, our ex-mess Sergeant, thought that Custer's last stand was a place where they sold "hot dogs."

Our battalion football team, under the leadership of Lt. Plummer and Corporal McAuliffe are rounding out in good shape for the coming intermurial league.

Our battery won the battalion football series. More power to the Combat Train.

The latest report from the picket line is that Sergeant Roper has turned out to be a sheik.

Sergeant Hoban our battalion clerk wonders why the Post theatre don't provide cushions for their patrons.

Battery "C"

Private Sande and Phillips have joined the organization after spending fourteen days in Recruit Center.

Private 1st Class Goodwin has returned to duty after spending several days in the hospital. Glad to have you back, Goodwin.

Will some one please tell "a certain bunch of men" the proper uniform for reveille? We're not mentioning any names, but they belong to the first two sections.

The kitchen force received a bag of mail a few days ago. Recipes we suppose. Tharp didn't get any. The boat from Borneo failed to arrive.

Sgt. Martin to Pvt. Baumgardner: Baumgardner, do you ever have sudden spells of consciousness.

Baumgardner: No. Sergeant, you can't kid me.

Sgt. Hall has recovered from his recent illness and is back for duty still holding his title as "Champion Growler." He has resumed his favorite pastime and sits and growls if he has an "Ace in the Hole."

We have heard of reviews for Generals, Colonels, etc., but it remained for Private Jones to pull the first review for aeroplanes. It was a fine show while it lasted and very thrilling. Every one came through alright but Private Connor. He was so excited that he swallowed a big chew of "Mail Pouch."

Sgt. Gehm, the sandwich man, had tough luck yesterday. Brandy gave him a kick in "No Man's Land." The veterinarian rendered first aid and now someone has been cruel enough to intimate that Gehm is "Sick in Stables."

There are three men of this organization who were detailed by an officer to clip horses on Armistice day. One shot the fuse in the fuse box so they couldn't use the electric clippers and another hid the "Head" from the hand clippers. So that finished the clipping detail. That beating the detail scientifically.

Private Grider has enlisted and joined the organization. Private Grider has about sixteen years service as a cook and Mess. Sergeant. We are very glad to have Grider, as we are loosing our mess sergeant by retirement and Grider will be available to replace him.

SMOKER IS BIG SUCCESS

A smoker was held by the members of the Combat Train, 83rd F. A., Thursday night, November 10.

The members of the battalion assembled in the recreation room, where a table piled high with plenty of good things to eat and many pitchers of the beer thats near was served.

After everyone had got on the outside of as much eats as was possible, cigarettes and cigars were served to everyone.

The Twenty-Fourth Infantry orchestra furnished music for the occasion and they never furnish anything but the best.

A quartet from the 24th Infantry sang several selections that brought much applause, their singing being one of the features of the evening.

Sambo and Munro, known as the mismated twins, did a blackface act that kept the house in a roar for fifteen minutes.

Sgt. McAuliffe, who led the Combat Train football team to the battery championship this year, thanked the players for their fighting spirit and willingness to put forth their all for the team, while he commended the other members of the battery for their loyalty to the team in lending their support from the stands by their presence and their roaring cheers of encouragement.

SEEK SERVICES OF RETIRED SOLDIERS

According to a letter recently received by the Adjutant General of the Army from U. S. Grand, 3rd, Director of Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital, Washington, D. C., retired soldiers are very much in demand as guards for the Federal buildings and parks. Under authority contained in an Executive Order of 1925, men retired from any of the uniformed services may be appointed to these positions without regard to civil service rules.

Colonel Grant states that he has found retired soldiers excellent guards, and that the applications being received for such positions now are not nearly proportionate to the vacancies which are occurring. He therefore wishes to receive applications from all who are interested. Address applications to the Director of Public Parks of the National Capital, Washington, D. C.

29TH TEAMS PLAY WEDNESDAY

ENLISTED MEN'S DANCE AT SERVICE CLUB WAS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Sgt. Duvall and Mrs. Ingram Capture First Prize For Costume; Most Successful Dance of Its Kind Held Here

One of the best social events of the year for Enlisted Men was run off at the Service Club on Thanksgiving Eve. The crowd was just about the same as always turns out for the regular weekly dances—which means that it was a good one. But in addition to the regular comers there were many new faces to be seen. And after the success of the one, we are sure that they will be seen regularly from now on.

It was a costume affair, and, with pardonable pride, we would like to say that it will be many a day before such a variety of costume will be seen again in this post. Turkish ladies, Russian Gentlemen, Dutch Girls, Pierrots, Hula-Hulas, Clementines, Little Boys Blue, and a score of others that we have the inclination but not the space to describe. There were favors for everyone, including the children, who are apt to be forgotten at many an affair for grown-ups. But our Hostess, Mrs. Brittain is not the kind to forget the children.

The hall was decorated in streamers of orange and black, strung from the four corners to the center in interlacing loops. Pumpkins were placed over the electric globes and the chandeliers were wrapped in orange so that the entire place took on a golden glow which added a great deal to the effectiveness of the costumes.

The 24th Infantry, as usual, provided the music, and they sure came with the Thanksgiving spirit, and kept it with them all through the evening. Those boys are just naturally good, but for this dance they seemed to put themselves out even a little more than ever. The dancers seemed to appreciat this, themselves, for they gave the "Musickers" a darned good hand. That's what the boys like.

Sgt. Andrew Duvall was on hand costumed as a Russian in a scarlet blouse, blue pantaloons, boots and plenty of gold braid. All he needed was a set of sleighbells to make Peter the Great turn over in his grave with envy.

Mrs. Kreilick was dressed as a Pierrot in white, but with red hearts all over her instead of the conventional magnified polka-dots.

Miss Annie Lee Byrd of Columbus made a more than merely attractive Turkess, and we are sure that she made everyone on the floor believe that there was something deeper than water in the Hellespont.

And we mustn't forget, but how could we, Mrs. Louise Gibson. She sure knows just what to wear, or rather just what NOT to wear. After seeing her as a Hula we feel that we must forswear our allegiance to Clara Bow.

At ten o'clock a Grand March was

Infantry Officer of Long Service Appointed on Important Board; Formerly Chief of Staff First Corps Area

Colonel Charles D. Roberts recently reported to Fort Benning for duty with the Infantry School and has been appointed director of the Infantry Board.

He reached his majority in 1916 but upon the entrance of the United States in the World War a year later he was advanced to the grade of colonel. He served practically the entire war as chief of staff of the 81st ("Wildcat") division receiving the Distinguished Service Medal and Medal of Honor at the end of hostilities. FT. BENNING SCHOOL ENTERTAINS COLUMBUS YOUNGSTERS

The children of the post school were hosts to the youngsters of the North Highlands School in Columbus at the Main Theater last Friday afternoon. Captain Doll's German police dog "Cap" entertained the audience with tricks and his performance was comparable to anything that was ever put on by Rin Tin Tin. The children enjoyed this phase of the entertainment immensely. In addition to his performance, there were five reels of movies, which brought forth loud tones of delight eminating from the theater.

FIRST AWARDS OF SOLDIERS MEDALS BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Four Officers and Seven Enlisted Men Receive New Medals for Peace Time Heroism; Lake Denmark Heroes Awarded

The Soldier's Medal, a medal recently authorized by Congress, has been awarded to eleven members of the regular Army for meritous services during 1926.

Four officers and seven enlisted men were awarded the Soldiers Medal for saving lives and devotion to duty performed at great risk.

Heretofore services performed in peace which were accompanied with great risk to the lives of the members of the regular Army, were recognized by special commendation in orders, or by the Life Saving Medal awarded on recommendation to the Treasury Department. The new medal will bring appropriate recognition to the heroes who at the total disregard of their own lives, have stood devoted to duty, in peace as well as in war. The new medal may be awarded in cases where the highest recognition is merited, regardless of the deed performed.

In the eleven instances of award of The Soldier's Medal for services performed during 1926, four instances were saving of lives and three others were accomplished by the recipients fighting a devastating fire in an Ordinance Reserve Depot where much high explosive was stored.

In the four remaining instances the heroes at great personal risk entered the burning area at the Lake Denmark Naval Ammunition Depot to search for the body of a comrade, who had been killed early in the explosion.

Four officers of the regular Army, Major Norman F. Ramsey, Major Herman H. Zornig, Captain John G. Holmes and Captain John P. Harris, of the Ordinance Corps, were members of a party which at great danger from bursting shells and burning explosives succeeded in locating and removing the body of an officer from the danger zone.

Technical Sergeant Christian J. Vogt, Ordinance Depot, took a leading part in the search for and rescue of the body of an officer, who was killed in the same explosion.

On August 18, 1926, Privates first class John F. Burns and James P. Martin, distinguished themselves by driving a fire truck into the explosion area during a fire at Pig Point, Va. Ordinance Reserve Depot.

Staff Sergeant Arlie L. Downey, Finance Department, at great risk from high explosives rescued an injured woman from Lake Denmark Ammunition Depot, July 10, 1926.

Warrant Officer James K. Wilson, Fort McPherson, Ga. Scoutmaster of Troop No. 1 Boy Scouts of America, saved a scout from drowning in Cooper's Lake on August 12, 1926.

MARINES CAPTURE PRESIDENT'S CUP FOR ANOTHER SEASON

20,000 People Witness All-Service Championship Struggle in Washington; Army Team Threatens Goal in First Period

(Special to News)

The Marines again won the President's cup in a struggle at the Catholic University Stadium in Washington last Saturday. Any one who saw that game will remember it as one of thrills, and of course, one in which all the high ranking officers of the sea fighters and the army attended, and the only one President Coolidge saw this year. The Secretaries of the Navy and War were there, General Summerall, the chief of staff, and last but not least Gene Tunney, the world's heavyweight boxing champ was on hand to see the Marines perform.

Many people attended that game with full expectations of seeing the sea fighters run rough-shod over the All-Army but instead they saw the army warriors make an orderly retreat instead of being shoved back in a mob formation. The army yielded stubbornly and in the first quarter took the pigskin down the field within a few yards of the goal. This was the only time that the Marines were threatened seriously throughout the entire game but more than once the All-Army warriors took the ball for substantial gains which made the huge crowd of spectators arise from their seats. The army squad produced some real thrills as well as the marines even though the score would indicate all honors to the Marines. It is the opinion of more than one expert on gridiron affairs that had it not been for the ball-carrying ace of the Leathernecks, Jim Levey, that the probabilities are that the game would have resulted in a tie score. Alan Shapely, a former star of Annapolis also was a thorn in the side of the strong line of the All-Army squad. He was able to make good gains against the superior defense of the army warriors. The Marines won the game by the air route after making futile attempts to pierce the line against men like Bertleman, the "bulwark" of the Army line. Levey, Shapely and Duncan were the trio that put over the pigskin with the air route as their best offensive.

Not only Coach Van Fleet and his assistants inspired the All-Army team but Major-General Summerall added impetus to the fighting spirit of the army squad when he gave them a few words of encouragement in the dressing room immediately before the game. Many believe this helped the army team in their strong offensive in the first quarter when they carried the ball to the 4 yard line to lose the ball on downs. The army team made two first downs during the entire game.

Bertleman, of the 15th Tank Battalion, the big 240 pound tackle held the Marine offensive in a manner that bewildered

29TH INF.

1st Bn., Hdqrs. Co.

We have quite a few aspirants to the battalion football squad. Among those present at roll call this afternoon were Corp. Black, Pvts. English and Cowan.

Pvt. Wilkerson wanted to play left quarterback, but as there were no vacancies he wouldn't play at all.

Corp. Soandso got promoted, he ranks "PAPA" now. Congrats. Corp. Wallace just returned from furlough and Corp. Hudspeth is taking his place. Hudspeth says that he is a barber but all of us know that he is the best plastic surgerer in these parts and the best part of it is that he just uses a razor.

Were hoping our "Pug" wins his fight.

H. F. R.

Company "D"

The company is losing one of its best non-coms today. Sgt. Weyer of Shreveport, La., is going home, so he says. Good luck Sgt. Corp. Clapton is also leaving in about ten days. Look out China.

By the way our boys are turning out for football for the 1st Bat., you may be able to call it Co. "D" team.

The "Third Platoon" better known as the "Lost Platoon" of this company is sure making the 1st and 2nd Platoon look sick. Our main reason is our motto—"One for all, all for one!"

For the benefit of the Officers enrolled at the Infantry School, we will announce our officers: Capt. W. A. Burress, commanding; 1st Lt. Rubenstein, 2nd Lt. Van Hounten and 2nd Lt. Cornog.

As ever, Swan.

Company "E"

Company "E", was a busy outfit during the past week, rehearsing and pulling the demonstration "A Regiment in Attack." It was an interesting problem enjoyed by all.

Private Lemaire is losing a lot of flesh these days, I think he blows the cornet too much. Pvt. Buckner, H. one of our hash slingers, has come out and joined the football team. The only thing to do now "BUCK" is hit 'em hard. He will make a good player if he can keep warm, he sleeps under 11 blankets.

Sgt. Arevalo is taking on a new stack this week. We are sorry to lose Corp. DeMott who is returning to civil life by way of the E. T. S. route.

The boys want to know who gives the pass word "Chocolate Drop." I wonder who? (BRT).

J. R. H.

Company "G"

Act. Mess Sgt. Dolihite has just returned from a six weeks furlough. He spent most of his time visiting friends in Chiley. Rot Morris saw a couple cooks helping him bring his barrack bags down stairs he asked him if he was moving the Supply Room. The reply was H—— no. Thats the stuff Dolly. We are glad to have you back with us.

Sgt. Swaney quit the married men's motorize club. He is now hiking. You haven't so far to go Jesse. Warset makes it daily, by the numbers, in time to shu his Rot. to the breakfast table.

PFC. Rimes is now in charge of our Recreation Room. He told LaBlanc and Waldrop that he would straighten the place and make it a good place to hang OUT.

Rot Campbell just arrived to the Co. from Rot Center. After staying there 8 months he has to be good now. Glad to have you back.

Our Mechanic quit going to town so much. Whats the matter Lemay, to cold to ride the Bus?

We have a barber at last Private Manley from the I. S. D. and he sure knows his scissors. Keep up the good work old fellow we'll stick with you.

Rct. Fanguy is becoming a real athlete. Sgt. Southerland told him he would be Bn. Com. runner and Fanguy said, "I forgot to bring my running shoes with me Sgt."

The way Gilmore is pecking at Ewing's Corona you would think he is trying to roll Weber out of his job. Pvt. Gilmore uses the latest Hunt and Peck system. This method permitting him to have the eraser on his little finger, that good for nothing elsa. (Warset).

STUDENT OFFICERS REGAIN HEALTH AND AGAIN IN SCHOOL

Two student officers of the company officers class have again resumed their studies at the Infantry School after a short period of absence due to sickness. Captain C. C. Joiner is back in the ranks of Company B and Captain Leron P. Stewart is again commanding Company C after sufficiently recovering from burns sustained in the grenade class last week.

Lieutenant K. M. Maertens sustained a broken leg on the bayonet course last week. He is getting along very nicely but unable as yet to be with his company.

LANTZ RETURNS TO DUTY

Private 1st Class Warren Lantz returned to duty last Monday after spending several weeks on furlough with relatives in Norfolk, Va. Lantz is a member of the I. S. D. and has been connected with the News staff for some months.

"REJOUVENATION OF AUNT MARY," featuring Phyllis Haver and Harrison Ford in a screen version of the famous stage success by Anne Warner. It is a scintillating comedy abounding in thrills, ills, chills and spills. You'll be surprised when you see what becomes of the old dame, Aunt Mary when she throws out the undertaker, the "pill roller" and the tombstone maker. Speeders, speed cops, traffic courts, night clubs, surgical instruments and a myriad of other laughing gas promoters will warm you up with glittering giggles.

Pathe News.

SATURDAY, NOV. 26

"MARRIAGE CLAUSE," starring Billie Dove with Francis X. Bushman in a powerful melodrama of a woman's great love for her man—of how she sacrificed his love that she might achieve stage fame, and broke her heart. It depicts the fascinating secrets of the footlights, the colorful glamour of life back stage and the souls of those who aspire to fame before the brilliant spot.

"Tale of Two Kittens."—K. Kat.

SUNDAY, NOV. 27

"CAMILLE," starring Norma Talmadge in a modern version of this celebrated Parisian romance from the noted pen of Alexander Dumas. The story, laid in Paris, depicts the romance of Camille, who, through her thirst for beauty, flies to the arms of Count de Varville and becomes a famous courtesan. Men feared her because she was so beautiful, but one forgot fear, fortune and the city's gossip to bring her the first tender love her fevered young life had ever known. In this ultra modernized version, Norma attired in super-luxuriant gowns, sets the world of fashion aflame. Her 1927 conception of this Parisian charmer does not provide her limbs with stockings and bare ankled, fragile feet pick their imperious way along a pathway of broken hearts.

"Water Sprites." Sport Comedy.

Pathe News.

SPECIAL—During the intermission Sunday evening an opportunity will be afforded the audience to see and hear the latest model Orthophonic Victrola. This remarkable instrument will start without the aid of human hands, and change its records automatically.

MONDAY, NOV. 28

"SHANGHAI BOUND," starring Richard Dix with Mary Brien in a story laid in war town hunger mad China. It is a melodramatic romance between a bucko-boat captain and the aristocratic daughter of the boats millionaire owner. Dix, as the boat's captain, rescues Americans from the clutches of blood-thirsty Yangtse river pirates and then proceeds to fight his way down the stream toward Shanghai and the shelter of a dreadnaught. The picture is filled with spectacular thrills. Its scenes are authentic reproductions of the Yangtse river and the life of those unfortunate mortals who abound along its banks.

"Big Business." Imperial Comedy.

TUESDAY, NOV. 29

"TURKISH DELIGHT," featuring Rudolph Schildkraut with Julia Faye and Keneth Thompson in a rip-roaring new type of story, which carries you from a dingy rug shop in lower New York to the tinsel and glitter of a Turkish Harem, packed with beautiful women. The theme deals with a woman hater who inherits a harem and finds himself in hot water from start to finish. It is punctuated with scores of laughs. This picture is a screen version of the comical story by Irvin S. Cobb.

"Framed." Hamilton Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 30

"COLEEN," starring Madge Bellamy with a well chosen cast of players of Galic origin. It is a happy comedy drama in which Madge plays the part of a charming Irish lass. The story opens in the out door environs of the merald Isle and travels in the throes of romance to the exciting atmosphere of the American race track where thrills of the turf grip the participants in a rapid succession of thrilling scenes. Splashes of Irish wit and comedy are generously sprinkled throughout the play.

Paramount News.

THURSDAY, DEC. 1

"THE WRECK OF THE HESPERUS," a beautiful picturization of Longfellow's world-famed ballad featuring Virginia Bradford, Frank Marion, Alan Hale and Sara de Grasse. The story depicts a terrible storm at sea, the horrors of a ship wreck and the heroic deeds of hardy seamen in effecting the rescue. The exciting scenes are bound together by the threads of a sweet romaence among the whole souled seafaring people of New England in the year 1839. There is a fine comedy relief for the many scenes of tense action. For the filming of this picture a 250 foot ship was actually wrecked, being pounded to pieces in the throes of a horrible storm at sea. This is cnsidoered one of the most gigantic fetes of filmdom.

"No Publicity." Horton Comedy.

FRIDAY, DEC. 2

"ONE WOMAN TO ANOTHER," Starring Florence Vedor with Theodore Von Eltz in a light drama depicting the story of a girl who realizes that her fiance is slipping away from her and through some, more or less clever ruses, engages in the enormous task of winning him back to her.

THE BIG PARADE HERE DECEMBER 11, 1927

TELEGRAM:

19nx 14Govt.

P. N. Washington, D. C., 1023 a Nov. 25, 1927.

Ass't. Recreation Officer, Fort Benning, Ga.

Big Parade booked December eleventh Annie Laurie and Two Lip Time canceled this date.

U. S. Army Motion Picture Service.

The telegraph wires for the last four days have been kept hot between Fort Benning and Washington by the Theatre Department of this post. When the list of motion picture bookings for December were received "The Big Parade" was not included. Annie Laurie was booked for December 11. Of course this is a good picture but the theatre office had intimated that "The Big Parade" would be shown in December, consequently a fight was precipitated and the above telegram is the final outcome—another triumph for Fort Benning.

This marvelous $2.00 road show will be shown at all Fort Benning theatres Sunday evening, Dec. 11, at the popular prices of 25c and 10c.

This stupendous production is now starting its 63rd consecutive week at The Astor Theatre, New York City. It has broken all existing long run records for marvels of the silver screen. There are at present eight companies of "The Big Parade" on a tour playing the leading road show houses in the United States.

One of the important factors of the presentation at Fort Benning will be the rendering of the music score. For this occasion the Main Theatre orchestra will be materially augmented and we hope it will be under the leadership of Capt. George L. King, with the assistance of Sergeant Ralph R. Wright. The music alone will be worth double the price of admission. The Fort Benning theatre department maintains its policy of the best for Fort Benning's enjoyment. Don't fail to reserve the evening of December 11.

BENNING AIRDOME OPENED LAST TUESDAY NIGHT

The Benning Park airdome located at the corner of Benning and Cusseta Roads opened last Tuesday evening with dancing and an excellent program of vaudeville. The dancing was free.

The airdome is a new building having an exterior measurement of 100x60 feet. At one end of the hall is a large stage with good equipment, and in the center of the main building the floor has been constructed for good dancing. The dance floor is railed and seats have been arranged outside the railing for spectators to view both the dancing and vaudeville stage. The arrangement is comparable to any large dance hall in any city.

The entertainment Tuesday night was of a high order, the Davis players putting on an excellent program and the "Midnight Serenaders" furnishing excellent music for the dancers.

Messrs. Len Davis, R. T. Shirling and William Arthur are the owners and managers of the airdome. They have all had considerable experience in this work.

I. S. D. NOTES

The poet was wrong again. Its the Winter, especially after dark, and not the Springtime, in which a young man's fancy, lightly turns to thoughts of love.

Bow-Wows says that Bates, like the proverbial cat and bad penny, came back.

Not very long ago a certain Corporal of Fire House No. 2, while glancing at the Detachment Bulletin board saw a notice asking for a married man to act as range guard, with quarters furnished.

Seizing the opportunity the said Corp. hurried to Columbus, going at once to the lady of his dreams he spilled the proposition. An agreement was quickly reached. Could you advance the necessary funds for the license? Asked the Corporal, but lo, and behold the young lady was also financially embarrassed. Hurrying back to camp the Corp. was unable to raise the needed two smackers. When he had given up all hope, and the sum was about sunk, the telephone tinkled sharply, the call was for him.

Hello, said he, That you dear? a sweet voice asked. "Listen I have the money come at once," she said. Oh glory, yelled the Corp.

A moment later as he rushed out to catch a bus, he glanced at the bulletin board, "Jumping Sidewinders" the notice was removed, the vacancy was already filled.

Finis: A disappointed girl, and a Corp, at Station No. 2, who won' tread the B. B.

The foregoing, the writer firmly believes, could have been sold to TRUE STORIES, but stamps and money being along with energy low, and generosity on the rise, the story is given to you gratis.

Due to our Detachment Commander's willingness to furnish anything that will add to the comfort and pleasure of the members of the Det. While Pfc. Ray who looks after our recreation room gives his work there his undivided attention, there is no doubt in the mind of the writer that the I. S. D. recreation room is one of the best in the service.

Private Jesse Phillips of puglistic and Print Shop Fame has returned from a furlough spent in the wilds of Florida. Had a nice time too from all accounts but we're glad he's back and are looking forward to seeing him box, and we mean box, again real soon.

Just supposin' you had ben on furlough,
And the horses hadn't ran as you predicted,
And you'd bee nbaptised GRANDMA in your absence,
And you weren't a CHICKEN anymore,
And your dog got careless,
And had to be cashed in,
And you had lots of work to do,
And somebody sent you a package from Germany,
With SIX DOLLARS DUTY charges,
And you paid it and opened it
And the thing inside went "GRANDMA A A ! "
Wouldn't you be mad too?
The weather has been cold.

The following was relayed from the Chaplain:

A timid little Rookie,
To the Mission Box did come,
He put therein a penny,
And waited for his gum.

The Detachment has invited all the married men and their families to be with us for dinner on Thanksgiving. By the time you read this the even twill be over-but all of us are looking forward to the feast at this writing.

The First Sergeant caught the Company Mechanic driving a nail the other morning. Hope is held out for the First Sergeant's recovery. J. G. H.

Next Meeting—December 5th.
Time—2:15.

The Infantry School Woman's Club met Monday afternoon for a meeting that will stand out in a year of excellent programs. Lt. Fay found an interested listener in every chair in the house and his talk on the Indians was intensely worthwhile. Knowing them first hand and loving them as he does they had a sympathetic interpreter who spoke with authority on the many and varied phases of Indian life with legend and its reality. He told of the sign, language and so lucid was his explanation that we felt it was easy to understand until we learned that there were 1500 of these signs which were the basic of their language, and that these were modified so that an Indian of one tribe can scarcely understand one of another tribe and then we gave up! He mentioned Sequoia as the author of the ne authoriative book on the sign language and we were interested to learn that Mrs. Piburn, a Princess of the Cherokee, who was here at Benning for two years, was model for the statue of Sequoia, now in the Hall of Fame. One especially interesting legend he related explained why white men have to shave. 'Twas because a "pale face", found almost dying from hunger, thirst, and exhaustion on the plains, was received by a squaw who in secret gave him water and food. The food was meat of the buffalo—that flesh set apart as food for the Indian alone—and tho' the food saved his life, on his face appeared the whiskers of the buffalo and he and his race have had to shave them off daily ever since!

Mrs. Barker sang "Ho, Ye Warriors', that marvelous song which so powerfully portrays the Indian belief in thought transferance. The squaws at their village gather together around the camp fire and sing songs of bravery, courage, and daring into the mind, heart, and soul of their warriors. Then that beautiful love song, "The Lord of the sky blue Water and finally, "The Moon Drops Low" the song propretic of the passing of the Indian race. Her beautiful lyric voice was ideal for these songs now full of power, now plaintive with the melody of lost love and fading glory.

Mrs. Ahrends and Mrs. Shepherd were hostesses at a charming tea following the program.

On next Monday the Literary Club will meet at 2 o'clock sharp for a program on Contemporary French literature. Mrs. Paul Goode will present this study and that is assurance enough that it will be scholarly.

THANKSGIVING

Could they have seen these golden days,
How would our Fathers wonder and praise.
Come, let us glad voices raise.

THE MARINE VICTORY

Again the Leathernecks have the President's cup for another year. The All-Army will now have to sit back and await another gridiron season before attempting again to capture the coveted prize. The game last Saturday was a good one, and, from authentic reports the All-Army team surprised ardent supporters in the manner in which they stemmed the tide of the Marines. Reports from the squad here were very discouraging and everyone was dubious about the victory for the home team. However, the offensive in the first quarter showed the old fighting spirit; the defensive was far above expectations. Never once did the All-Army falter in their stong defense, and on several occasions, turning that defense through intercepted passes to the offense.

Several Fort Benning men were outstanding players. However, all members of the team that participated in Saturday's game demonstrated their ability in this game of games.

Congratulations to the team on their game Saturday. We are still confident of victory in the other games to come.

"We strive to please." That is, if your paper fails to reach you please call the office and an investigation will be made as to why you did not get the paper. Accidents will happen. Subscribers to the NEWS are increasing each week and we don't like to drop good customers because they fail to get their paper through some unavoidable mistake. We will appreciate your co-operation in this matter.

THE WEAPONS OF THE ARMY

It has already been disclosed that the weapons now in the hands of the army are ancient designs so far outmatched by modern equipment that our soldiers would be helpless in the face of a properly armed enemy, and that the new tanks and rifles made so much of exist only as models and in insignificant number. Now it is disclosed that the army's ammunition reserve is so small that it would last an army of a million men—the number we should raise immediately in case of a major war—only an hour.

One hour's supply of ammunition for antiquated weapons. It is a spectacle that should rejoice the hearts of the supine pacifists and make advocates of preparedness in the most potentially powerful nation on earth rush to the support of their army.

It is the plan of the ordnance department, first, to be able to manufacture enough of any particular type of weapon so that it may be placed in the hands of the troops for actual service test; second, to be able to manufacture enough of the tools necessary in making tested weapons so that at least two private manufacturers for each weapon will be able to commence an immediate output of the weapon in case of emergency.

There is so much common sense in the plan that it can not be refused. New weapons are useless unless they have been tested under realistic conditions, and they might well not exist if they cannot be manufactured in quantity when the need for them comes.

When criminals began the use of automobiles we gave our policemen automobiles. When criminals began the use of automatics and machine guns we gave our policemen repeaters, machine guns and tear gas bombs. But our army we permit to go along with what they have while the rest of the world modernize their defense. Are we treating our policemen more fairly than our soldiers? Are we to protect our homes, property and lives, but leave our nation, our national property, and our life as a nation without proper defense?—Chicago Tribune.

COMPANY OFFICERS CLASS APPRECIATE THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY

Other Interesting Dope For the Students

Who ever drew up the school schedule for the company officers' course must once have been a student himself for only a student could appreciate Thanksgiving coming on the heels of that map reading exam!

Most of us have decided we'd better quit discussing it, for the more we check up the more mistakes we discover. Next time we make a map, we're not going to have the names of two counties plastered up and down a simple little creek. After showing the Armory creek emptying into the Chattanoochee because that name appeared on the river, they tell me that was merely the county boundary and not the name of the creek.

After finding a peach of a steep slope and racking my brain doping whether to divide or multiply by .6 to change degrees into per cent or whatisit and feeling like a million dollars when I got the right solution, I find I had this slope on the wrong road. It's too bad equitation doesn't come earlier so we'd be better acquainted with the ground, so when Mac asks for some detailed information about certain hills as he did of Willie Praether about Greenwood Hill, we could stand right up like Willie and give it correctly and without fear of contradiction. Willie sure knew that hill!

Now that map reading is over, I doubt if Kovarik now knows any more about it than Randle. Between Captains McGee, Wiener, Canella and Halloran, some fancy solutions could be turned out. These boys seemed to be "sweating blood" Wednesday morning. Incidentally, they tell me that Mike won't graduate if he doesn't quit hitting Capt. Olmstead in a mile. That probably is why pace the face with his mallet during polo games. Now that Mike's thru the grenade course, he thinks he can take liberties with the instructor. That's hardly a nice way to treat the best-liked instructor of them all! Incidentally, Capt. Olmstead reports that about 50 per cent of the class qualified as "Grenadiers."

"Station Deaderick" continues to broadcast daily from 8 to 4. It is reported George is practicing up to go into the radio business when he graduates which accounts for the non-stop conversation records he now is undisputed holder of. I understand many bets were made that he would never be able to make a stride scale because he wouldn't be able to keep quiet long enough to pace clocks were provided. George had Capt. Knight all worked up about that question on the back of the last exam sheet in bayonet. It has been explained that no questions were put on the back of any sheets otherwise Capt. Morrow wouldn't have had paper enough to write on.

Ben Jacobs distinguished himself by bringing home the bacon for Capt. Cushman's command by showing his heels to all the boys in the final elimination over the obstacle wall. All I got out of it was an "also ran." However, I didn't fall down as some of them did.

Capt. Stewart sure will welcome gym work. He hopes that it will speed up McGee's feet so when phosphorus grenades start cutting up again, McGee will be able to stay on his feet and not fall down again. We were all glad to see Stewart back with us again in time to write that exam on contours, slopes, degrees, minutes, yards, grids, bench marks, azimuths and "geesmaw." Right here let me announce that over in India I saw Mohammedans facing west when saying their prayers. McMahon says they all face east.

The dope is out on bayonet. Capt. Hudson says that 33 made "expert." Being one of the "3" the pang of missing rifle expert by three points becomes somewhat easier to bear. Let's see, lost rifle and pistol expert but collected automatic and bayonet expert; looks sort of evened up so far.

Even if we don't know much about map reading, after listening to Capt. McMahon, we do know how to make a dull subject unusually interesting. The fund of stories that fellow has is a marvel. Thank goodness we now know what alidade means and to have our next wedding picture taken standing up. We'll all be as sorry to part with McMahon as we were to leave Olmstead, which is saying a lot. We hope he's not as free with the red pencil as Capt. Withers. After getting the musketry exam back the class feels it owes Withers a Christmas present of a gross of red pencils.

Col. Marshall's announcement of having next year's students prepare their map reading dope at home stations before they come here, made most of this year's class glad they're here now. However, we were glad to get to know the new assistant commandant.

I'm sorry someone hasn't given Lt. Sanders credit for accomplishment. "Sande" broke all school records with the automatic rifle when he made 661 for record, breaking Capt. Hilton's previous mark by one point.

I went to the hospital the other day to see my friend Jim Urquhart whose infected foot was lanced Monday. Before I got out his room looked like a convention of C company. If Jim knew what a stiff map reading exam he missed, he'd have both feet lanced! At any rate he was glad to see McGill, Wiener, Bassett, Payne and the rest.

After having his squad behind all the rest in digging an emplacement for Livens projectors, Mike Halloran will have a hard time establishing his ancestry. You'd think a squad straw-bossed by an Irisher would be all thru, packed up and home before the others were half way but such wasn't the case. Here's one thing Mike won't write home about!

The girls have it up now on the men on croppers at drag hunts. The Misses Hill and Russ did the honors this time. The Artillery, as usual, manages to stay in the limelight. The doughboys will have to do a lot of circus stunts if they ever hope to catch up! Speaking of doughboys, that was a fine party the 29th had at the hop room last week, even if that collection for Col. Helms didn't get under way. Mrs. Newman and Col. Delaplane took first prizes for costumes.

ENLISTED MEN'S DANCE AT SERVICE CLUB BRILLIANT AFFAIR

held during which all those who wished to compete for the prizes paraded before the judges, Major and Mrs. Henry A Bootz, Capt. and Mrs. F. S. Doll, and Mrs. Brittain. There were so many entrants that the judges were at loss for a while to decide, but they finally agreed that the First Prize for Ladies should go to Mrs. Dan Ingram of Columbus, and the First Prize for Gentlemen to Sgt. Andrew Duvall of the Quartermaster Corps.

Mrs. Ingram won First Place with a Gypsy costume made up of all the colors in the rainbow. A skirt of scarlet sateen and a waist of white voile, over which she wore a black sateen bolero trimmed with gold braid and a lot of colored bead gadgets A many-hued scarf around her waist, necklaces of every color, a red kerchief on her head, and red slippers. Not being a fashion reporter, we are not able to go into the many details that went into the making of her costume, but from the result, ensemble, we are sure that the judges made an excellent choice.

As to Sgt. Duvall, winner of the Gentlemen's Prize, we have commented on him earlier in this column, and so have nothing more to say.

The Dance Committee was very pleased at having Major and Mrs. Bootz and Capt. and Mrs. Doll attend the dance and doubly pleased by their consenting to act as judges. Their selections of prize winners gave all those attending ample evidence of their fitness to judge, and the Dance Committee hopes that they will have the opportunity of entertaining them at all of the dances to be held in the future at the Service Club.

During the intermission at 10:30, refreshments were served, consisting of assorted cakes and punch.

Due to the evening in general and to the crowd in particular the dance ran until 12:30 instead of closing down at 11:30, the usual time. Everyone was in such good spirits that the Dance Committee felt that this was the least that they could do to start off the holidays in the right way. Thanksgiving comes only once a year, to use a trite phrase, and we are sure that everyone who attended the Thanksgiving Dance at the Service Club will feel sure that they have started off right and will continue to enjoy themselves until time to carry on with their individual work once again. And in closing the Dance Committee wishes to express the hope that all those who have taken advantage of the social activities at the Service Club will continue to do so in the future and also let their friends in on the good times to be had in Fort Benning. Remember, invitations are sent out each week to all the ladies who like to attend the weekly dances, so if you have friends who wish to come, be sure to send in their names to Sgt. Walter A. Shepherd at the Service Club, or call Fort Benning 101 and get their names on the list.

The dance was a great success, greater than the wildest of our hopes, and we want to make all of the rest to come even better. We can only do this if the ladies support us. So far they have, and we hope they will keep up the good work.

Officers Have Hunting Expedition

Quite a number of officers of the 24th Infantry took time out from their arduous duties last Monday and took to the tall timbers on a hunting expedition. We have been unable to find out any details; everything seems to be a dark secret about the trip. At any rate the outfit was a deserted village so far as Sam Browne belts were concerned last Monday morning. It is understood, however, that some of the officers who went on the expedition can now sign their certificate of exercise with a clear conscience even though the facts as to the amount of game brought home is somewhat hazy.

First Sergeant Johnson, Company A, 24th Inf., brought in one of the biggest raccoons killed this season. It weighed slightly over fifteen pounds.

Monographs are Given by 24th Officers

The series of monographs by officers of the 24th Infantry opened on Nov. 14th with an excellent talk by Captain E. M. S. Steward on the military study of Peru. Capt. Steward was formerly military attache to Peru, where he served for four years. His experience in South America and his study of the military conditions of the country enabled him to graphically picture the military affairs of Peru in particular and its relation to the other South American republics. His talk was most interesting and instructive.

The second monograph was by Captain H. M. Gwynn, former military attache to the turbulant Central American states. He gave a very brief outline of these republics and the difficulties which have caused the recent troubles in Nicaragura. His talk was highly enjoyed and showed a thorough study of conditions in Central American states had been made and that Captain Gwynn's experience there had been a most profitable one.

Captain John C. Newton gave his monograph on the Rumanian campaign in which he gave the reasons for this country's entrance into the war and why they sided with the Allied cause. The campaign plans were discussed in full. His talk was also most interesting to the military student.

Company "G"

We have quite a few members of the company now trying out for a basketball team. They are making a good showing and our team Captain, Pvt. 1cl. Slone Williams, knows all the new data and is not hesitating about putting it out to them. They are as follows: Sgt. Herbert Williams, Sgt. William R. Powell, Corp. Elmer Trammell, Pvts. 1cl. Riley, Brice, Laurence Tillis, Harold Tholmer, Ollie J. Thibbodeaux, Cyprien W. Stokes, Herman Hodgers, Pvts. Laurin E. Decuir, Willie Rachal and Rosevelt Gibson.

This is a 100 per cent. company, physically, for it has no members sick in hospital and we are hoping that it will continue to be one of the 100 per cent. physical companies of the regiment.

Our mess hall, Mess Hall No. 3, has been one of the best mess halls of the regiment for sometme and we hope that it will continue to be so. Due to the generosity of our mess officer, Captain Albert B. Helsley and our mess sergeant, Sergeant Fred C. Wright, the feeding in our mess has been such that we have not heard a single grumble from any member of the company since they have been acting in their respective capacity. They are assisted by our remarkable mess corporal, Corporal David King.

G. I. caps are getting to be things of the past so far as our company is concerned, for our company commander has arranged and equipped the entire company, with the exception of a few recruits, with the "Pershing-Bill Caps." These caps increase the appearance of the company about 50 per cent.

FREEBOOTERS AND STUDENTS ARE VICTORS IN SUNDAY POLO GAMES

Freebooters Get Revenge for Former Defeat at Hands of Galloping Gunners, While Students Down Demonstrationists.

Flying a black flag with a death head emblem, the Buccaneers led by Major H. J. M. Smith, played rings around the Caisson Riders from the 83rd F. A. to win 8 to 4 in a fast and highly interesting game of polo Sunday afternoon at Shannon Field.

In their first game of the season played several weeks ago the Galloping Gunners scuttled the Pirates boats, but with a revamped lineup the Sea Robbers came back strong Sunday to reap revenge and make the score even at one all.

With Captain Jack Forsythe leading the attack at No. 1 position, Major Lyman at No. 2, Captain McClure at No. 3, and Major Smith, Buccaneer Chieftain, at No. 4, gave one of the greatest exhibitions of team work ever witnessed on Shannon Field. The Gunners were never able to score against the Pirates first string four, all of their scores being made against the second string, while all of the Freebooter scores were made by the regular combination.

Carrying every thing before them, the Freebooters rolled up a quartet of goals in the second period, Captain Jack accounting for a pair of them.

The third stanza was scoreless for the Pirates when subs relieved the regulars, the Gunners scoring one.

Again in the fourth period the regulars raged down the field, scoring three goals before the end of the period.

The Gunners fought hard every minute of the game, but were unable to stop the rush of the yellow jacketed followers of the Treasure Island Tribe.

STUDENTS 10, DOUGHBOYS 1

The second contest was a walkaway for the Greenshirts from the house of learning, flashing two well drilled hard riding combinations, that kept the Doughboys fighting a defensive fight all the way.

Fighting stubbornly, the Bluecords held the Students on even terms during the first two periods.

In the third period the Infantry line broke before the driving Student attack, when the dust of battle lifted the Scholars had four scores to their credit.

Captain Burress accounted for the lone Doughboy score while the hard riding Students collected ten to their credit.

There is no need to go into details, as the score speaks for itself, the playing of Soule and Prather for the Students was the feature of the game.

GENERAL SHORT TO TAKE REFRESHER COURSE HERE

General Walter C. Short, recently promoted to that grade has been detailed to take the refresher course at the Infantry School and will arrive at Fort Benning shortly after the first of the year. He is at present attending the air service school at Langley Field, Va.

The Commandant Expresses Appreciation in Letter to Major Smith.

Headquarters Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia

Fort Benning, Georgia.

My dear General:

Permit me to express to you our appreciation of the very great contribution made to our annual horse show by the team of ladies and officers from the Infantry School.

By their excellent horsemanship, under the skillful leadership of Major Smith, they were a marked feature in every class in which they entered and in all features in which they were not winners, they gave the Cavalry a hard contest and a good fight.

I think, however, that the outstanding characteristic of your team was their splendid sportsmanship and on that point we of this garrison are a unit in declaring that it was perfect and that you and your command are to be congratulated on your fine representatives.

We hope that the happy relations existing between the two commands will continue to the advantage of us both and that we may soon have the pleasure of having some of you with us again.

Very truly yours,
T. A. Roberts,
Colonel, 6th Cavalry,
Commanding.

Quite a few were heard to remark at the beginning of the football season that "Big Bertha" was through.

Last Saturday when the All-Army played the Marines in Washington, the deadly tackling of the big boy was the feature of the game.

1st Sergeant Bertleman better known on the football field as "Big Bertha", after 21 years of football, came through Saturday with one of the greatest games of his career.

Umberger playing at full back for the Army also carried the brunt of the battle to the Marines.

Time and again he smashed the Marine line for yardage, only to see his work spoiled by an Army fumble or an intercepted pass.

Although we are not offering any alibis, it was tough luck that Lt. Yeomans was in no condition to play due to previous injuries, and Fat Franz star Doughboy end should be injured early in the game.

Yeomans' passing and Franz's receiving had been expected to give the Leathernecks quite a bit of trouble.

Butler at right end fought hard to check a Marine victory, but was finally forced to give up the fight after being injured twice.

Wargo at guard and Red Lindsey at center deserve honorable mention, the two redheads gave their all and never acknowledged defeat.

The Army team fought, and although losing, it was through no lack of fighting spirit that they lost.

Some one had to win and it seems that the best team won, and next year there will be another game. We will wait for it.

BATTLING J. D. WILL FIGHT IN MINNEAPOLIS IN DEC.

Battling J. D. Peakes left Columbus Sunday for Minneapolis, Minn., where he will meet some of the leading fighters in the lightheavy class.

Peakes created quite a sensation in the bigtime fight circles by his sensational two round knockout over Jamacia Kid at Fort Benning a few weeks ago.

Peakes is a member of the 24th Infantry, and since joining that organization, he has fully demonstrated his ability as a fighter, besides carrying on the duties of a soldier in a highly efficient manner.

Quickly fighting his way to the top among the army fighters, he has to his credit an unbroken string of victories over some of the leading fighters, Charley King took the count in the first round, King Soloman could not weather the second round, the Alabama Wildcat lasted just thirty seconds, while "Ace Clarke", Walk Miller's highly touted heavyweight lasted ten rounds but took an awful beating.

Willie Gibbs brought the "Jamacia Kid" down from New York, to pick up some easy money. Mr. Gibbs was laying two to one on the "Kid", and he was getting it covered.

The Kid came out in the first round with a smile of perfect satisfaction spreading over his face, they lifted him out feet first in the second round, when Peakes landed a pile driving right over the heart, followed by a left cross to the button that would not be denied.

Battling J. D. will return to Benning about the 20th of December and will probably fight here again in January.

the sea dogs. Extremely active despite his size Bertleman was in every defensive play pulling down ball carriers and more than once throwing them for a loss. He no doubt proved to be the outstanding army player. Reeder, Sweeney and Umberger gave good accounts during the time they were in action. Reeder featured in the army forward pass game while Umberger hit the sea dog's line for gains time after time. Butler at right end also deserves honorable mention. He struck through the game and gave a good account of himself every time the play came his way. He received a pass from Reeder and made a 22 yard gain; then Sweeney took a pass and Umberger hit the line for substantial gains. A pass to Butler from Reeder was intercepted and the offense of the army then, it seemed, began to weaken. This all happened in the first quarter when the army team played in Marine territory mos of the time.

During the first of the last quarter, the army marched to the center of the field and it looked as though the Marines were again to be on the defensive. This rally was halted when Levey intercepted a pass and almost broke loose for a touchdown. Punts were then in order and then Shapely heaved a long pass to Levey who caught the ball with his back to the thrower and ran 45 yards for the second touchdown for the Marines. The game soon ended with the ball in army's possession.

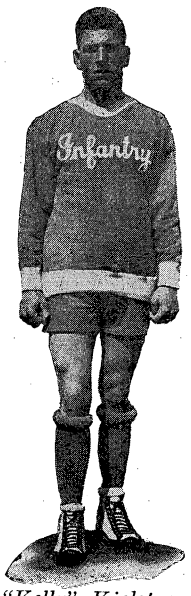
President and Mrs. Coolidge See the Game

Facing the chilly November blasts, President and Mrs. Coolidge watched a hard fighting Army team go down to defeat before the Devil Dogs from Quantico at the Catholic University Stadium, in their annual clash Saturday Nov. 19.

The presidental party remained in a box on the Marine side during the first half of the game, and then moved to the Army side. They were seated in a box with Secretary of the Navy, Wilbur and Major General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps. The President seemed to mind the chill air and kept his furlined great coat wraped closely about him.



"Kelly" Kjelstrom
After several weeks of absence, "Kelly" was again in action in Saturday's game with the Leathernecks.

Gene Tunney was given a big hand when he was escorted on the field by Representative Britton of Illinois, the Marine regiment from Quantico giving their former comrade greeting with three lusty "Rahs".

Nick Altrock famous baseball comedian, added hsi share to the days fun, dressed in a Marine football uniform, he was joyously received by the crowd.

His activities were ended by the arrival of a dilapidated hearse drawn by two tiny mules, into which he was unceremoniously bundled. As the hearse searted to draw away the Marine band commenced to play the funeral dirge. Nick rolled from the hearse and ran to the side of Gene Tunney, grasping Gene by the arm, begging for his protection. Sergt. Maj. Jiggs II, Marine mascot was picked up by Altrock and the three were photographed.

While the first half of the game was in progress, soldiers scaled the hill to the west of the Stadium in an effort to capture the Marine Standard.

The Marine sent half of their regiment to save the standard, while the remainder staged a counter attack, capturing the Army mule.

Between halves the Marines liberated a balloon with an effigy of the Army mule attached.

At the finish of the game the two teams were lined up in front of the Presidential box while Capt. Richard Duncan, of the Marines, and Capt. Russel Reeder of the Army team, stepped forward to be greeted by their commander in chief.

President Coolidge presented the President's Cup to Capt. Duncan and remarked: "The game was well played and you deserved to win, I enjoyed it very much."

This was the second game of football attended by President Coolidge since he entered the White House.

"Red" Lindsey played his usual game Saturday. He remained at center throughout the entire game.

KEENAN WINS OVER STETSON BY KAO IN FIFTH ROUND

Going after his man from the tap of the first gong, Red Keenan never let up until he had wiped out the stain of a former defeat at the hands of his opponent by a knockout in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout held here last Tuesday night.

The fight was a rough and tumble affair with Keenan having all the better of it, except the fourth round, when Stetson made a game rally that had Keenan giving ground before his attack.

Jackie Phillips from the Green Cord outfit and "Sonny" Vogt of the Terrible Tankers opened hostilities, although game and willing the youngster was no match for the hard hitting Greenie, Phillips winning by a K. O. in the second round.

"Young" Pieters, lightweight champion of the garrison, and Bobby Waldon, of Columbus, fought three fast rounds to a draw, both boys showed a willingness to mix it up at all times. This was one of the best fights of the evening.

Peanut Herring hit M. P. Carter three times on the left ear with a sweeping overhand right. Carter evened the score by jabbing Peanut's complexion the same number of times with a very wicked right. A draw verdict was very satisfactory.

Myers, of the Tanks, and Kline, of Columbus, fought three slashing rounds that were crowded with action from start to finish. Myers took the opening round but Kline even things up in the second. The third was fast and furious without either getting a noticeable advantage. The decision was a draw.

Westbrooks, from the Bluecords, took the decision over Jackie Owens, of Columbus.

BATTERY "C" COMPANY CLERK GETS SUBSCRIBERS

Private Weems Brings in 27 Names For the News

One day last week there appeared in the office of the editor of the NEWS a tall chap with a military manner and snap of an old timer. The editor looked him over wondering who he could be, and what business he had with him. This soldier said he wanted to talk about getting subscriptions for the best weekly service paper in the army. Well we know he'd hit the right office, so we talked things over with him.

He said his name was Troy Weems, of Battery "C," 83rd Field Artillery Battalion, right here at Fort Benning, and that he knew there were a lot of galloping gunners who wanted to take the NEWS and hundreds of them wanted to send the paper home so the folks "back home" could see what was going on here at Fort Benning. Well we told Weems to go to it, and we know that he did. Well, as a result of our talk with Weems a subscription contest was started in the artillery outfit the other day and in two days we heard from Weems. We knew we'd hear something from him.

Tuesday afternoon Weems bounced into the NEWS office with twenty-seven subscribers that he had gotten in his outfit in two days. Some work we'll say. He is sure setting a pace for the artillery boys, and if we're not missing our guess he'll bring the largest number of of subscribers to the paper in the artillery. Most of his subscribers are having the paper sent to their home. That's a fine spirit. It keeps the folks "back home" in touch with what's going on here—and there's plenty of action at Fort Benning.

The contest will close next Tuesday and we think there'll be over 200 new subscribers on the list of the NEWS when the contest is over. The man who brings in the highest number of subscribers from each battery will get a free pass to the movies at the Main Theater for the month of December.

Private Weems is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weems, of Strawberry Plains, Tenn. He is on his second enlistment, having served with the 12th F. A. at Fort Sam Houston and with the 12th Coast Artillery at Fort Eustis, Va.

Battery "A"

Private Lewis has joined the organization, after spending fourteen days in Recruit Center.

Private Dozier left this week on a fifteen-day furlough to his home in South Carolina. We all wish him good luck while on leave.

It is good to know that Sergeant McCann continues to improve. The battery are all wishing for his rapid mend.

(WHOA, "THERE," "WHOA",)
("HORSES")

It has been recommended that the Supply Sergeant draw roller skates for our stable sergeant, as he happened to get left while out Saturday A. M. for review. He dismounted and did, or said, something to her that didn't seem to please very much, so she left him on the field to hike it back to the stable shack. I'm sure he was disappointed, and so are we. Better have her tamed next time you take her out for a ride, Horace.

One of our N. C. O.'s thinks he's going north (North Highlands perhaps or parts unknown) as he makes an inquiry at the supply room to draw a winter cap. No issue made. Tuff luck Tillie. See "Kel." I'm sure you can borrow one.

Never mind standing at attention while talking over the telephone Pat, "this is Sgt. P."

Wonder why the "Detail" wants the lights turned on, which caused a 10 minute delay.

A. G. S.

Battery "B"

Our mess hall has been the scene of several severe battles. Drastic action became necessary when our big cook Gulledge assaulted Private Brooker (more commonly known as Walt Wallet.) It is suggested that our worthy mess sergeant keep these two separate as much as possible in the future. Those old chums LaCroix and Treille were also seen with darkened eyes. It is not known what kind of "make-up" they use. It looks good any way.

1st Lt. Foster is carrying on the work of Captain Winton during our battery commander's leave. We think we have been fortunate in securing so able a battery commander.

Our 1st Sergeant Joe Vogt seems to think that "B" battery is the best mounted battery in the U. S. Army. If there is any question about this interview Sgt. Vogt.

Jim Ming is worried because he thinks his girl no longer loves him. He has been asking his friends what their opinions are. "Even his best friends won't tell him."

—B. S. T.

Battery "C"

Our mess sergeant, Sergeant Vincent, was placed on reitred list by War Department Orders on November 18, 1927, after more than thirty years of honorable service in the Army. Sergeant Vincent was only with us for a short time, but during this time he became very popular with the men and as a testimonal of our regard we purchased a watch, which Capt. Busch, our battery commander, presented Sergeant Vincent on behalf of the organization. Sergeant Vincent accepted this gift in the spirit in which it was given—the true comradeship of one soldier for another. The men of this organization, one and all, bid Sergeant Vincent godspeed and trust that he will live many happy years to enjoy the fruits of his service as a soldier.

Cpl. Hancock and Private Hrvey have returned to duty, after spending some time on furlough. They both look well and fit and we are glad to have them back.

Grider has received his warrant as a sergeant and takes the place of Sergeant Vincent as mess sergeant, and we are glad to say that he has made a fine start. We are glad to have an "Old Timer" like Sergeant Grider, especially as he has had so much experience in the mess department.

Recruit Frady comes into the orderly room and says to the 1st Sgt. "Sergeant, I would like to draw some canteen checks. I ain't got no shoap and I ain't got no shine." Can you beat it?

Pvt. Graham, our battery clerk, has purchased his discharge and will assist his father on his "Sardine Ranch." Pvt. Graham has qualified as an expert horseman, which will no doubt be an asset to him during the round-up season.

Troy E. Weems.

Combat Train

Corporal Vines is enjoying a 30-day furlough at his pecan ranch in South Georgia.

Corporal Osbon has joined the battery from a 30-day furlough.

Cook Kirby and Gadjet made a tour of inspection in the vicinity of North Highlands. Kirby pulled up to a filling station and asked for a quart of red oil. The clerk at the filling station repeated it to Kirby and Gadjet says, "Yes, we want it for our tail light is out."

Half of the battery celebrated last night. No one knows just why the celebration occurred, but it is understood a great discovery was made.

Corporal Cole has been added to the battalion football squad and great results are expected from him. To get in shape, "beanpole" will have to discontinue eating peanuts and take enough money to town to buy a real meal. Any way, Pendleton might hear about it and get jealous.

LIEUT. FOSTER IN COMMAND BATTERY "B"

Lieut. Ivan L. Foster is now in command of Battery B during the absence of Capt. G. P. Winton, now on leave of absence.

Lieut. Foster has recently joined the 83rd from R. O. T. C. duty at the University of Illinois where he was stationed for five years. He is a graduate of both the Infantry and Field Artillery service schools in the classes of 1921 and 1922, respectively.

CHIEF OF INFANTRY PRAISES MORALE OF DOUGHBOY

General Allen Makes Annual Report; Infantry Agent for Physical Development of Youth

Infantry Board Mentioned

Morale of the Infantry:—Morale and esprit de corps in the Infantry are generally satisfactory. The following quoted from the last annual report is repeated: "In some units there exists a very high degree of satisfaction with the service and an exceptional enthusiasm for the organization, while in others this condition is not so pronounced. Organizations of high esprit and morale are uniformly found in posts of permanent construction." A gradual general improvement in the contentment of the soldier should become apparent during the coming year as a result of what has been accomplished this fiscal year in improving the ration and in bettering housing conditions.

Athleticss—The Infantryman must be well-fitted physically to endure fatiguing marches, exposure, and the various hardships incident to combat with the enemy. It is therefore appropriate that the Infantry should make a special effort to promote the physical well-being of its personnel Athletic games accomplish more than the physical development of the soldier. They develop in the individual characteristics of leadership and a spirit of team-play, both of which are essential in Infantry combat. They also constitute a vital element in building up and maintaining a high individual and organization morale. For these reasons all forms of athletic training and development constitute an essential part of military training and the officer and noncommissioned officer must be as well qualified t oconduct this phase of training as any other phase.

Training of Organizationss—The increase in the percentage of service school graduates on duty with the regiments is promoting a better understanding of the best training methods and training management.

The results of inspections during the past year indicate a general improvement in training throughout the Infantry and a conscientious effort on the part of all concerned to correct defects noted at previous inspections. In so far as training is concerned the preparedness of the Infantry for field service is regarded as generally satisfactory.

In the years immediately following the World War there developed a strong tendency unduly to emphasize the so-called tactical training at the expense of basic disciplinary training. Neglect of basic training, on any grounds whatsoever, invariably may be expected to result in lack of military bearing, appearance and set-up, slack or perfunctory performance of duty, and lowered morale. Happily, the past year has seen great improvement in the attention paid to this fundamental training, and the re-

BIG BENEFIT COSTUME DANCE BY SERVICE CLUB TUESDAY NIGHT

Two Jazz Orchestras Will Furnish Music for Dance at Gymnasium; Two Attractive Prizes Given

A costume dance of big proportions will be held at the Gymnasium, Fort Benning, Tuesday evening, Dec. 6. This dance is sponsored by the Service Club No. 1 dance committee, and will take the place of the regular Wednesday dance for next week.

Two Jazzy Jazz orchestras will furnish a multitude of jazz for the occasion—there won't be a minutes' rest—when one orchestra stops playing the other will immediately strike up the strains of jazzbo. These music players will compete with each other for supremacy, and the dance crowd will be the judge—tin pans will be the weired and wild means of determining jazz leadership.

If you don't have weak ankles when you leave the dance floor it will be all your fault, because the music will be there. The floor will have springs in it, and entire spirit of the occasion will be exhilerating beyond description.

Refreshments: Plenty of the kind your fevered throat requires.

Prizes: Oh yes, there will be one attractive prize for the best lady's costume and one for the best man's. Put on your gayest colors.

Ladies will be provided as usual; they are the right kind. The Howard Bus Company will furnish transportation for the fair ones, they'll help you—help them enjoy the evening. Transportation will be provided for those in the post upon request.

Plans are now in progress to make this the biggest enlisted men's affair Fort Benning has ever witnessed.

Admission will be 50c, and the entire proceeds will be given to the Fort Benning Children's School. Come and "dance your heels off." If you don't dance drop in and look on—you'll get a dollar's worth of kick out of it.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Sunday afternoon, Company "B", the football champs of the first battalion of the 29th Infantry will play the undefeated Company "F" team for the regimental company championship.

This will be a hard struggle as both teams are very evenly matched. A good crowd will turn out to see this game.

MAJ. RONALD M. HOLLOCK WILL BE NEW JUDGE ADVOCATE AT BENNING

Officer Arrives Here For Duty With Infantry School After Three Years Service in Panama

Major Ronald M. Hollock, Judge Advocate General's Department, arrived at Fort Benning the first of this week to relieve Major John A. Parker, J. A. G. D., who will soon leave for duty with the Panama Canal Department. Major Hollock will report for duty next Wednesday, at which time his term of foreign service officially expires, he being on a leave status at the present time.

Major Hollock has just returned from duty in the Panama Canal division, arriving in New York on September 28th. Since that time he has taken an extended automobile tour throughout the New England states and the middle west, visiting at his home in Chicago and other points in that section of the country.

He is a native of the state of Virginia but in early boyhood his parents moved to central Illinois and he later moved to Chicago, where he practiced law prior to the World War. He attended the law school of Northwestern University in Chicago, from which institution he received his law degree. Prior to that time he attended Eastern Illinois Normal School at Macomb, Ill.

During the war Major Hollock served in the J. A. G. Department, in which branch of service he was appointed his present rank in the regular army on July 1, 1920. He served for some time at Camp Custer as camp inspector. He has also served at headquarters, 6th Corps Area, Chicago and at Fort Sheridan.

Major Hollock's sister, who will reside with him, will arrive at Fort Benning within a short time.

COMPANY OFFICERS CLASS COMPLETE GRENADE COURSE

The company officers class of the Infantry School completed the grenade course last week. Captain M. E. Olmstead was the instructor. Although this course has not yet become a part of the Training Regulations it has been recommended and will probably be adopted within a short time. Captain Olmstead was well pleased with the results obtained in this class considering the short practice before throwing for record. A mark of 33 was considered as qualified as expert.

Captain J. A. Boyers and Lieut. Geo. W. Smythe led the class with a total of 38 points. The following officers made a grade of 37: Captain W. W. Ashhurst, Lieut. W. A. Cole, Captain E. C. Flegel, Lieut. J. C. Horne, Lieut. L. C. Jaynes, Captain, J. W. O'Daniel, Captain C. C. Wastfall. Those officers who qualified as experts with a grade of 36: Captain J. J. Wilson, Lieut. R. O. TEN ORGANIZATIONS REPORT 100 PERCENT IN RED CROSS DRIVE

School for Bakers and Cooks First Outfit to Get Members For Eleventh Annual Drive

Incomplete returns from the Eleventh Annual Red Cross membership campaign show that the Roll Call Committee under the chairmanship of Major Lawrence W. Young, has won a number of 100 per cent. membership flags for various organization stationed here of the Infantry School and stands a chance of winning and honor flag from the National Headquarters of the Red Cross.

Organizations and activities which first reported 100 per cent. membership are listed below:

School for Bakers and Cooks
Quartermaster Detachment
Company "A," 15th Tank Battalion
Company "B," 15th Tank Battalion
Officers, 15th Tank Battalion
Officers, 24th Infantry
Officers, Hdqrs. Infantry School
Military Police Company
Finance Detachment
Infantry Board

Emphasis is being laid upon the fact that this is a Roll Call of old and new members and not a solicitation for contributions or donations which if less than $1.00 do not constitute a membership fee nor entitle the individual to the membership button.

Infantry School personnel by enrolling as members are showing a lively interest in an organization which renders service throughout the nation and wherever else Americans are found.

CAPT. GUSTAV J. BRAUN ORDERED TO WASHINGTON

Captain Gustav J. Braun, who for the past eight years has been connected with the Infantry School at Fort Benning, both as a student and instructor, has received orders which transfer him to the Army War College at Washington. It is not known as yet to what duties he will be assigned at his new station.

Captain Braun graduated from the company officer's class of the Infantry School in 1925, and the following year was a special student at the University of Michigan. He returned to Benning after completing that course and has been on the school staff since that time.

Prior to the late war, Captain Braun was in charge of athletics of the Indianapolis public school system.

He leaves Fort Benning with much regret after spending a greater part of his service here. His many friends extend to him best wishes in his future duties.

BITS OF FOOTBALL HISTORY

From Spalding's Intercollegiate Football Guide Published by American Sports Publishing Co.

Out from the ranks of the pioneer football men in the fall of 1862 appeared a young genius, seventeen years old by the name of Gerrit Smith Miller.

This young man organized a group of comrades at Boston into the Oneida Football Club, and as their captain, led them into a series of formal games.

This incident presents the first definite and formal football organization in the annals of the American game, and is coincident with the formal organization of football in England, for it was not until December 1, 1863, that the football men of England, who played exclusively a kicking game, assembled in the Free Masons Tavern in London and founded the London Football Association, whence comes our word "Association" and its humorous derivative, "Soccer."

In this anniversary year it is particularly gratifying that Gerrit Smith Miller and six of his comrades, all of whom are over eighty years old, are still living and frequently to be seen on the sidelines of our great football games.

The names of these living pioneers of the great institution of American football are: Gerrit Smith Miller, founder and captain; Edward Lincoln Arnold, Edward Bowditch, Robert Means Lawerence, Jame De Wolf Lovett, Francis Greenwood Peabody, Winthrop Saltonstall Scudder. It will be noticed that these names are not only luminous in the football history of America, but they are illustrious as well in the civic life of this nation.

Eary Intercollegiate Contests

A fortunate incident in the evolution of intercollegiate football was the nearness to one another of Princeton and Rutgers. At each one of these colleges from the earliest time a crude form of football had flourished. Naturally, the evolution of the sport was along similar lines and the playing rules almost identical. This happy coincidence led to a challenge from Rutgers to Princeton in the fall of 1869, and thus on November the 6th in that year, at Rutgers, was waged the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the world, Rutgers winning by six goals to Princeton's four. This latter game, of course, was played under a modification of the "association code." In the following year, 1870, Columbia joined Princeton and Rutgers in intercollegiate strife. In 1872, Yale appeared in a contest with Columbia, which Columbia won. In 1873 Princeton and Yale met at New Haven, the rules still being of an "association" type and Princeton won by three goals to Yale's none.

Dr. Henry Moffat, a member of the victorious Princeton team of that year, died at his home in Yonkers, N. Y., March 25, 1926. He was seventy-one years old. Dr. Moffat was born in Princeton in 1855, the son of the Rev. James C. Moffat, of the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary. Besides playing football at Princeton, he was a member of the baseball team in 1875. He was also a member of the famous "Apple Tree Gang," which started golf in this country.

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—December 5th.
Time—2:15.

On next Monday afternoon there will be a meeting of the Infantry School Woman's Club which will be of very special interest. With the literary, artistic and industrial awakening that is now taking place in the South, no part of America is looked to with so much interest and expectation. As new factories rear their giant smoke stacks along streams where once was heard only the rippling of the water and the singing of the birds now the hum of machinery sounds the progressive march of industry and prosperity; as art collections of contemporary masters are exhibited in Columbus, Atlanta, Birmingham and other cities and new museums of fine art are there steadily even if slowly growing; so is there as great a stride forward in literary production. Where ever the literary lantern sheds its light there has ever been an interest in folk lore.

These primitive stories, for ages unrecorded, but passd on by word of mouth from one generation to the next, have an unfailing fascination and charm. The South, of all America is richest in folk lore. "Uncle Remus"—Joel Chandler Harris, is the greatest of all who have tried to preserve the negro folk tales but many have worthily followed in his footsteps and today New York's critical audience is held spell-bound by the folk plays of Paul Green who wirtes at Chapel Hill, where he is a professor at the University of North Carolina. Much is being done in the way of using Southern folk lore as literary material of outstanding worth and for this reason and for its own sake, all of us will have a vital interest in the programs to be presented next Monday afternoon. It is as follows:

Southern Folf Lore—a talk given by Miss Zoe Dobbs, who is Dean of Women at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala. She is a very brilliant woman in her own rights and comes from a family of very superior people, her brother being Bishop Dobbs so well known throughout Southern Methodism.

Group of Negro Folk Songs—by Mrs. Jacob Moon whose lovely voice is so well known at Benning.

After the program tea will be served.

The Literary Club met on Monday afternoon at the Polo Club at which time a most superior program on contemporary French Literature was presented. Mrs. Paul R. Good was in charge and her introduction to the study of French Literature was one of the most carefully, thoughtfully, skillfully and excellently prepared treatises it has ever been our privilege to hear. It had back of it years of study of French literature, with its comparisons and contrasts with Anglo-Saxon and a keen appreciation of those finer points typically French. When she finished reading it one felt that it would be wonderful if she would begin at the beginning and give it all over so "full of meat" it was. Each person on the program was exceptionally good. Mrs. Wickliffe's review of Andre Siegfried's "America Comes of Age" was intensely interesting and the club chuckled often at the picture of us reflected by this Frenchman's mirror. Mrs. Wickliffe, artist that she is, crystalized her opinion by saying that tho' the subjcet might approach truth it was badly out of focus.

Mrs. Hester reviewed Leon Pierre-Quint's "Life and Times of Marcel Proust" in a way that brought vividly before us the extraordinary existence of this brilliant eccentric writer, handicapped from childhood by asthma so that he was literally robbed of the breath of life who withal became the sensation of the discriminating devotees of literature by his masterful writings of psycho-analytical nature.

Mrs. Goode reviewed Andre' Gide's new novel "The Counterfeiters" giving us an interesting acquaintance with the plot, style and technique. She read one short selection, a graphic incident so skillfully related that it proved an excellent illustration of the perfect craftsmanship of the French writer.

The next meeting of the Literary Club with the Monday,, December 12th at which time Mrs. Charles W. Ryder will present her Russian program. It will be as follows:

1. Introduction—Mrs. Ryder.
2. "Pages from my Life" — Feodor Chaliapine, by Mrs. Fox.
3. "Decadence"—Maxim Gorby, by Mrs. Cotton.
4. Short Story — Tchekof, by Mrs. O'Hare.

It is interesting to see how this Literary Club has grown. From a small, eager group who at one time could gather around a fireside in a wee cottage this club has grown so much that one member said on last Monday, "Soon we will be too big to meet in the Polo Club."

How far a little candle throws its beam!

When the ladies in charge were clearing up the left-overs after a Sunday school picnic given to children of the poor quarter, several slices of cake were found which they did not wish to carry home.

One said to a small lad who was already asthmatic from gorging, "Here, boy, won't you have another slice of cake?"

"Well,' he replied, taking it rather listlessly. "I guess I can still chaw, but I can't swaller."

Not proving very successful at his profession the young doctor went west to practice where the trade was less exacting.

A few years afterwards he was met by an old chum, who kindly inquired how he was progressing.

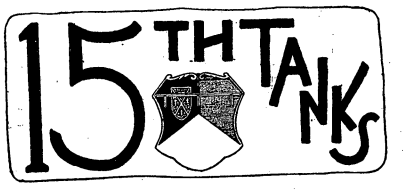
"Fairly, fairly," he replied. "I have just had a confinement case."

"Successful? Boy or Girl?"

"Girl—it died.'

"Sorry—and the mother?"

"She died, but by the help of Providence I hope to save the father."—Laughter.



Company "A"

Things are moving along fine in the outfit now and we are all glad that the nerve-raking football champ has been decided. Old "A" Company came thru just as we expected altho we wanted that big cup pretty badly. However, we held our own and are satisfied with the results.

Sergeant Faulk is with us again after re-enlisting the other day. He is now on a three month's furlough.

Guard duty is coming on pretty fast now but with some of our men back from a little vacation that helps out a little.

Private Bloodworth appreciates a pool game. He said the other day that he didn't see why a man wants to shoot them balls in the pockets and then put 'em back on the table again. A queer guy, eh?

Company "B"

We sure put out some dinner last Thanksgiving. We have it on mighty good authority that that dinner was the best dinner that was ever put on a table by anybody anyplace. That's going some, we'll say. The mess sergeant sure was on the job, and to say that Sgt. Emanuel Flower knows his stuff, is putting it very lightly. The cooks, too, deserve a great deal of credit 'cause they sure did put out on that dinner.

That's the rep that "B" Company has attained here—always the best of everything.

Sgt. Hatfield: "What are you looking at?"

Sgt. Tomaak: "Looking at this ad on how to grow hair."

The well known Brother Philbeck Norton led the singing the other night after that big turkey dinner. It looked like the third platoon had gotten religion.

We wonder why Wakefield was catching turkeys the other night in his sleep.

Flash Imel expects to spend the holidays in Bogon, La.

Cue Ball Clark had a motor accident the other night—he found out that his head was harder, which he didn't believe before that. "Learn something every day."

"Did he tell you any off-color stories?"

"I don't know; it was dark."—C. C. N. Y. Mercury.

SPECIAL: During the intermission The Happy-Go-Lucky quartette will render negro spirituals and comedy songs. This melody four is good.

"FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE," starring Ben Lyons, George Sidney and Ford Sterling in a gripping drama of the other side of college life. It is the story of a young man who came from obscurity into the limelight of his college. Fate started to force him back into Hell's kitchen, but love turned the tide and sent him to victory, glory, and the arms of those whose faith in him had never faltered. Many thrilling college sports feature in this play. Its intensities are relieved by splashes of sprite comedy cleverly interspensed.

"SPRING FEVER," starring William Haines with Joan Crawford, George K. Arthur and a strong supporting cast in a hilarious screen romance. It is a lilting comedy of the golf course in which Haines plays the part of a shipping clerk who becomes a golf expert. In this role he accomplishes the difficult fete of driving a golf ball off of the crystal of a watch without breaking it. A thrilling duel is fought with golf clubs and a box of balls as weapons, most everybody gets hit excepting the antagonist—the fight ends disastrously when a ball is plugged into a big hornets nest. You'll enjoy this comedy.

"A Goofy Gob," Christie Comedy .

FRIDAY, DEC. 9th

"GENTLEMEN OF PARIS," starring Adolphe Menjou in a combination of sophisticated comedy and emotional dramatics, done in the irresistable Menjou manner. He had all a gentleman's virtues—his only vice (if it be such) was bing fond of the ladies. This picture, staged against the absorbing back ground of Parisian envirous in the great shadows of the Eifel Tower, carries you into the heart of higher social life, where the glitter of jewels dazzels the retina to the exclusion of the thinly bedecked wearers.

CAPTAIN McCORD MOVED TO NEW ADDRESS

Captain W. D. McCord, 24th Infantry, now one of the assistants to the Post Exchange Officer, has moved to 1520 20th Street, in Columbus.

A little girl was put in an upper berth for the first time. She kept crying till her mother told her not to be afraid because God would watch over her.

"Mother, are you there?" she cried.

"Yes."

"Father, are you there?"

"Yeah—"

A fellow passenger lost all patience at this point and bellowed forth: "We're all here! Your father and mother and brothers and sisters and aunts and uncles and cousins. All here; now go to sleep."

There was a pause, then, very softly: "Mamma!"

"Well?"

"Was that God?"

A colored man was leaning against the fence in front of his home, his face a picture of misery. A white friend of his happened by.

"What's the matter, Sam?" he asked. "Never saw you look so gloomy."

"Ah's had de toughest luck," mourned Sam. "Somebody opened de do to mah hen-house an' all de chickens done flew de coop."

"Oh, don't let that worry you. You know the old saying that chickens will come home to roost."

"Yassuh, dat s de trouble. Dem chicken ain't comin' home—dey's went."—American Legion Monthly.

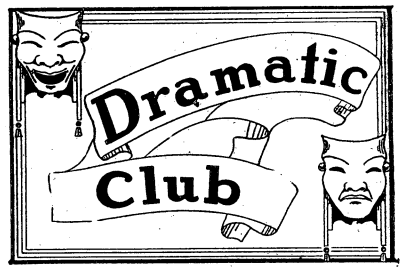
THE ARMY IN PEACE

The War Department lost no time in responding to President Coolidge's orders to co-operate in every way possible in aiding the flood sufferers in New England. Additional air planes have been turned over to Major-General Preston Brown, commanding the First Corps Area, supplementing those already at the Boston airport, and the army fliers of Mitchell Field are also available for service if needed. Radio field stations will be set up in the stricken area for use until telephone and telegraph lines and mail service can be restored. Reports of the extent of the disaster are still meager, but Secretary of War Davis says the army is already doing all within its power to aid in the rescue work. The valuable service it performed during the Mississippi river flood last spring and the added experience gained in that task provide assurance that it will aid materially in reducing the suffering and loss in the New England valleys. In these recent emergencies the army has demonstrated that it is indispensable in peace no less than in war.—Philadelphia Ledger.

One freezing night, the surburban Bobby had emptied his little flask an hour previously. The cold increased, and he forsook his beat, wending his way homewards to get his overcoat. Throwing some gravel at the window, he roused his wife, asking her to throw his coat down to him. This she did, also throwing him a kiss. Returning to his beat, he met a brother policeman on point duty.

"Cold night, Bill, isn't it?" he said to his pal.

"Ain't it?" Then, looking at him curiously, he observed: "But, Jim—er—how long have you been a sergeant?"—Laughter.



The program arranged by the Infantry School Dramatic Club for Saturday evening, December 10th, has even more variety than usual, including a farce, a fantasy and a detective play.

Those members who contemplate giving dinners before the program are urged to plan to arrive at the 29th Infantry Theatre before 8:30 P. M., as late comers cause no little embarressment to those in charge of the entertainment.

Mr. Swivel was much perturbed to find that the three pounds of meat which he had purchased for dinner had mysteriously disappeared. His wife, aiding in the search and noticing what she took to be a guilty look on the face of the family cat, pointed to it and said: "There is the meat."

"Why, no," objected Swivel, "that little thing wouldn't get away with three pounds of meat. Still, let's weigh her and find out.'

They did so. The scales registered an even three pounds.

"Yes," he admitted in puzzled tones, "there's the meat all right, but where's the cat?"

I. S. D. NOTES

SERGT. LOGAN DUFF HAS WONDERFUL RECORD

With twenty-seven years of honorable service to his credit Sergeant Logan Duff of the Infantry School Detachment, has also set a record in army baseball that has never been equaled.

He has served well in the Coast Artillery, in the Tenth, Twenty-second and Fifteenth Infantry. Forty-five years old he is the oldest active pitcher in the Army.

The Cotton States League saw his twirling in 1902-1903. Ten years later he slipped them over the pan in the Panama League. He won a championship for the Wilkes-Marks Hardware Company in the "Winter Circuit" in San Antonio.

In 1922 he won the "Little World Series" at Fort Benning, for the I. S. D., turning back the 29th Infantry in the final contest with a no hit no run game.

In games won he counts over 450; in games lost less than 100. He can still slip them down the alley, baseballs from the box or bullets from a machine gun in an expert fashion that puts shame to many a youngster.

The 'Gang" spent the week end on a camping trip out in the vicinity of O' Chille. They arrived back at the Detachment Sunday afternoon, foot sore and hungry.

The members of the "Gang" include Corporals Whitson, Campbell and Pash, Privates Allen, Naquin, Allen and Byrd.

Tubba Naquin acted as guide and came within fifteen miles of the place that they were looking for. Byrd managed to get lost Sunday but was recovered in time to make first chow for supper.

The "Gang" will spend the Xmas holidays in the woods if the weather permits, and they are looking forward to a big Xmas.

Corporal Morgan who has been in the hospital for the past two months with a broken foot, has returned to duty with the third section.

Corporal Jay Roan has purchased his discharge and is going down to Gopher Springs, Ala. where he is going to open up a movie theatre.

You can never judge a fellow from appearance. Besides being an expert draftsman, a darn good musician, and one of the best tenors in the outfit, Sergeant Davis can also shake a wicked hoof, and is plenty popular with the fairer sex.

Mr. Sergt. "Snappy" Bennett was seen looking over the price list of one of the leading furniture stores a few days ago, a big double bed and all the trimmings seemed to be the chosen article. (Wonder what that means).

Mr. Sergt. William Colling formerly with the Fifteenth Infantry stationed at Tientsin, China, arrived here Nov. 24th adn is now a member of the Infantry School Detachment. He has been assigned to duty at Post Headquarters.

Pfc. William E. Bennefield was a civilian for a few minutes last week, but he hurriedly held up his good right hand and said "I will" for three more years with the Green Hats. "Attaboy Bennie."

WHO'S WHO!

Twenty-eight years ago a young lad from the blue grass regions of "Old Kaintuck," enlisted in the service of the U. S. Army.

Today if you step into the Infantry School Detachment barber shop, you will see a pleasant faced fellow in charge, who is known by every member of the Detachment as "Bear."

This is Warnie Beare the same good natured lad who left the land of the blue grass and fast horses nearly thirty years ago to follow the colors of the U. S. A.

Sixteen years of Beare's service was spent in the Coast Artillery and during this period he was promoted to the grade of Master Gunner, the highest rating that an enlisted man can hold in this branch of the service.

PVT. WARNIE BEARE
Infantry School Detachment

In 1918 he left the 'Cosmoline Slingers," re-enlisting with the 29th Infantry at Fort Benning.

After serving two enlistments with the Doughboy outfit, he re-enlisted in the Infantry School Detachment in June, 1923.

Since becoming a member of the Green Cord outfit he has proven himself to be an excellent soldier and is held in the highest esteem by the officers and men of the detachment.

"It won't be long now" and Warnie will retire from the service to go back to civilian life again, but no matter where he goes, he will always be remembered by his "Buddies" back in the old outfit as "Old Bear."

RED CROSS DRIVE REACHED HIGH MARK

B and C School First to Reach 100 Per Cent.

The 11th Annual Red Cross drive was a success from all reports and organizations at Fort Benning reported a greater percentage of memberships this year than any before. The School for Bakers and Cooks was the first outfit to get one hundred per cent. There are forty-eight men in this outfit, eleven of whom are from Fort Benning and the remainder from other stations within the Fourth Corps. Three hours after the drive was opened this organization, commanded by Captain H. C. Johnanson, reported to Major L. W. Young, in charge of drive, that the men had come through one hundred per cent.

The headquarters, The Infantry School also reported one hundred per cent. and several other outfits were very near the high water mark. Company A, 7th Engineers, and Co. C, 1st Gas Regiment, were near the desired goal.

THANK YOU, MR. WOODALL.

The current issue of the Infantry School News came to hand at the usual time. Perusing its valued columns, we find them bright, breezy and bustling, but not at all bellicose, even if it is a military journal, with Mars a special contributing editor.—From "Good Morning" column, Columbus, Ga., Enquirer-Sun, Nov. 30, 1927.

THE MARINE GAME

Again we desire to remind the readers of this paper of the Marine Game. As was promised, this paper received special letter on this service struggle which was published in last week's issue. It was also our desire to print the details of the game but due to lack of space it had to be omitted. Elsewhere in this issue will be found the game as played during each quarter, and we are publishing it this week, even though late, because we are quite sure many Fort Benning people will be interested in the game fight that the All-Army team put up for the championship this year.

THE AMERICAN LEGION DRIVE

In this issue is carried a story about the American Legion drive. It would be useless to carry an editorial as to the great benefits to be derived from membership in this wonderful organization of veterans of the late war. Everyone is aware of the important legislation that the Legion is supporting in the next session of Congress. The Chas. S. Harrison Post is the fifth largest in the Legion and it's membership includes many men at Fort Benning who were decorated for bravery on the battlefields of France. It's officers are those, in most cases, who saw active service, and have taken a vital interest in the Legion since the day it was first organized. This post has always led other posts of the state of Georgia in membership drives—and we sincerely hope that this year will be a banner year for the Charles S. Harrison Post.

Don't forget that the drive is over on December 10th. Join N O W .

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The NEWS is glad to announce to its readers that this paper will receive a complete report on the recommendations of the Board of General Officers on the promotion-retirement legislation as soon as it is made public. This will no doubt be within a few days.

The Infantry Association in Washington will send this in detail to the NEWS.

If the recommendations are received here the first part of the week present plans contemplate the publishing of an extra edition.

An announcement will be made in the Daily Bulletin at the time of receipt here.

Watch the Daily Bulletin.

GENERAL COLLINS IN WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

The Commandant Member of Classification Board

General Edgar T. Collins, the Commandant of The Infantry School is spending this week in Washington to attend a meeting of the board of officers appointed annually to classify officers. This board met the latter part of September, at which time General Collins attended the meeting. A seconnd meeting of this board was called Monday. General Collings will probably return to Fort Benning today.

During his absence, Colonel Charles D. Roberts, director of The Infantry Board, the officer next senior in rank, has been in command of the post.

ARMY-NAVY PLAYED THEIR 30TH GAME SATURDAY; RECORDS OF FORMER GAMES GIVEN

On November 26th at the Polo Grounds, New York City, the football teams of the Military and Naval Academies met for the thirtieth time.

The history of this contest goes back to 1890. In that year the cadets secured permission to purchase a football and to play with it. They were required to wear dress uniforms while playing with it, however. Only two of the cadets had ever seen a football game. When Navy learned that Army had a football team their team offered to come to West Point for a game. This offer was eagerly accepted. The game resulted in a defeat for the Army, 24-0. The next year, 1891, Dr. Harry L. Williams, a Yale graduate and football enthusiast, offered his services as a coach. Dr. Williams who lived in Newburgh, came to West Point twice a week at his own expense to teach the cadets how to play football. His team defeated the Navy at Annapolis that year 32-16. For the next two years the games alternated at West Point and Annapolis. After a break of five years the games were resumed in 1899 in a contest at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. From then on the game has been a fixture except in 1909, when the West Point schedule was called off following a fatal injury to a cadet, and during the war years of 1917 and 1918.

The complete record follows:

Year	Army	Navy	Year	Army	Navy
1890	0	24	1911	0	3
1891	32	16	1912	0	6
1892	4	12	1913	22	9

AMERICAN LEGION DRIVE IS ON

Fort Benning Members Busy; Hope For Biggest in History.

The Charles S. Harrison Post, composed of veterans of the city of Columbus and Fort Benning is now pulling off one of the biggest membership drives held in the history of the local organization. At a meeting of the post held last Tuesday evening, Commander J. W. Brown appointed teams for the contest and the drive was then officially began. About seventy members attended this meeting and if the enthusiasm shown there could be taken as a criteron, the Harrison Post will go over the top this year better than ever before. Announcemnt was made that prizes would be awarded the team bringing in the largest number of members.

"In opening the membership drive for 1928," Commander Wright began, "I desire to impress upon you all that we have before us a task that will test our mental to its limit. Those of you who are appointed as team captains and workers must bend every effort to wind the drive up with all of last years members and scores of new ones. I feel sure that our efforts are to be rewarded and that the new year will be started with a record membership for the post. I now declare the drive started."

Membership blanks have been distributed at Fort Benning. Any one desiring additional blanks can get them from Chaplain McKenna.

MRS. KNIGHT INJURED BY FALL

Mrs. A. T. Knight, wife of Captain A. T. Knight, Academic Dept., Infantry School, was injured by a fall while riding as a member of the post equitation class last Saturday morning. She was taken to the post hospital where she is rapidly recovering and will be able to return to her home within a short time.

YE OLDE SCRIBE VISITS PROMINENT ORDERLY ROOM

While Ye Olde Scribe was lingering in the vicinity of a well known orderly room a few mornings ago, some things took place which were entirely too good to keep.

From a spectators view the scene that first met his eye was one of perfect peace.

The Top Kick was busily engaged in writing to some one over in the hills of Alabam whom he was referring to as the "Only One".

A Sergt. who is famed as having never lost an argument, and also a little bit lady shy, was propounding to the Clerk, the dangers of the fair sex and the evils of Chesterfields.

The office handy man was doing a leaning rest in the center of the room using the office broom as his main support.

Just then a car roared up and skidded to a sudden stop, and an officer got out of the car and walked into the orderly room.

For one second I had glanced from the orderly room to the car, magical transformations, lighting changes, I have never seen anything like it.

The Top Kick was busily engaged with the morning report, the Sergeant who a moment before had been using the Queen of Sheba as an example in the wickedness of women, was busily assorting the morning mail.

The Clerk was carrying on a one sided conversation over the phone, exlaining to the other party in a loud voice that canteen checks were never issued on Saturdays.

While the office handy man was doing a highland fling, using the office broom as a sparring partner.

"Wonderful, Wonderful", murmured the officer, "A fine bunch of hard working boys."

"Wonderful, Wonderful", murmured Ye Olde Scribe as he walked away.

"Where'd this handkerchief come from?"

"Handkerchief? That's your bed sheet come back from the laundry."—Northwestern Purple Parrot.

THE NEW FORD CAR DESIGNED TO MEET NEW AND MODERN CONDITIONS

The new Ford is distinctly a new and modern car, designed to meet new and modern conditions. It is more than a new automobile. It is the advanced expression of a wholly new idea in modern, economical transportation.

The minute you see it—ride in it—you will realize that it is not a mere refinement of the former Model T Ford, but a new car from radiator cap to rear axle. Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. There is nothing quite like it anywhere in design, quality and price.

The new Ford car has unusual beauty of line and color . . . It has a 40-horsepower engine . . . It will do 55 and 60 miles an hour with ease and has actually run 65 miles an hour on road tests . . . It is quiet and smooth-running at all speeds . . . It is remarkably quick on the get-away . . . It has specially-designed, mechanical, four-wheel brakes . . . It has hydraulic shock absorbers . . . It has a standard, selective sliding gear shift . . . It is quick and easy to handle in traffic and steady and sure on the open road . . . It runs 20 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline, depending on your speed . . . And it has the stamina and reliability for mile-after-mile and year-after-year service.

When you think of such features as these, you think instinctively of a car costing much more than the new Ford. The price is low in accordance with the established Ford policy. We have always held that it is better to sell a large number of cars at a small margin of profit than to sell a few cars at a large margin of profit.

Some of the Features of the New Ford Car

The new Ford is the result of years of careful planning. Every part of it has been tested and re-tested in actual practice. There is no guessing as to whether it will be a successful model. It has to be. There is no way it can escape being so, for it is the sum total of all we have learned about motor car building in the lifetime of the Ford business.

In this connection we call your attention to the new engine; the new pump, splash, and gravity oil system; the multiple dry-disc clutch; the new water pump and thermo-syphon cooling system; the new battery, coil and distributor ignition; the low center of gravity, the new thin-leaf flexible springs, and minimum unsprung weight which combine with the hydraulic shock absorbers to make the new Ford such an easy-riding car; the irreversible steering gear, with the column and the housing of the steering gear mechanism welded into a single all-steel unit; the new one-piece, welded, steel-spoke wheels; the three-quartr floating rear axle in a forged-steel housing of exceptional strength; the theft-proof, coincidental lock; and the aluminum pistons which were selected after many tests because of their light weight and heat-conducting qualities.

The new Ford has the torque tube drive. By this principle the driving stress or thrust is taken up by the tube surrounding the drive shaft, leaving the springs free to perform their normal function without any additional stress.

Steel forgings are used throughout except, of course, for the engine castings. More steel forgings, in fact, are used in the new Ford than in almost any other car, regardless of price.

New Methods Bring Greater Value at Low Price

We are able to sell this new Ford car at a low price because we have found new ways to give you greater value without a great increase in our own costs.

We make our own steel—we make our own glass—we mine our own coal—we make virtually every part used in the Ford car. But we do not charge a profit on any of these items or from these operations. We would not be playing fair with the public is we did so. Our only business is the automobile business. Our only profit is on the automobile we sell.

We never forget that the people who buy Ford cars are the people who helped to make this business big. It has always been our policy to share our profits with our customers. In one year our profits were so much larger than we expected that we voluntarily returned $50 to each customer. We would never have done that if this business had been conducted for the sole benefit of stockholders rather than to render service to the public.

There are good and substantial reasons, therefore, why the new Ford is the most unusual value ever offered in a low-price automobile.

Beautiful New Body Lines and Color Harmonies

Turn now to the pages showing the illustrations of the new Ford and note the trim, fleet beauty of the Sport Coupe, the Coupe, the Roadster, the Phaeton, the Tudor Sedan and the Fordor Sedan. Read then the description of the features of the car given in the back of this booklet and you will know why Henry Ford himself has said:

"The new Ford embodies the best results of our experience in making 15,000,000 automobiles. We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."

Quartermaster Corps

Detachment, Qrtmrs. Corps

Our dinner Thanksgiving was one of the best we have ever had. In fact, it is our belief that Mess Sgt. Trepanier, former chef of some of New York's leading hostelries, made an unusual effort to please the two hundred members and guests who were present. Among the guests present were: Colonel Marshall, Chief of the Academic Department, and his sister; Colonel Goodrich, the Post Inspector, and family; Colonel Warfield, the Quartermaster, and family; Major Spiller, Finance Officer, and family; Major Butcher, Plans and Training Officer; Captain Dunlop, Athletic Officer, and family; Mr. J. E. Reynolds of Newnan, Ga., and hosts of others too numerous to mention but welcome and remembered just the same.

Among the new arrivals in the Detachment are Staff Sgt. Michael Halloran, Sgt. John Miller, Pvt. Virgil Duncan and Pvt. Harry Clark. These men are all welcomed within the fold. May they be pleased with their new organization.

We have just learned of the promotion of Saff Sgt. Andrew Murphy, now attending school in Philadelphia, to the grade of Technical Sergeant. That indeed is an honor, for such a promotion is really earned in the Quartermaster Corps before it is secured and then through competitive examination. We are glad to have a man like Sgt. Murphy in our organization.

Mr. John N. Wolfe, Warrant Officer, has just received a commendation for his efficient work in connection with the preservation of game on the reservation. In recognition of his efficiency he was appointed Assistant Game Warden. Congratulations, Mr. Wolfe.

And last but not least we want to thank Corp. Charlie Dollar for his extra work and efforts to print for us the invitation cards and menus for the Thanksgiving dinner. They were a work of art and such men are an asset to any organization.

We are sorry that many could not accept our invitation to dinner and hope they will see their way clear at some future date to come and see just what the Q. M. C. can put out in the way of a feed.

Ye Olde Print Shoppe Gossipe

After four days leisure, or rather recreation, we are back at the old grind again.

Cpl. Boggs, of the I. S. D., invited us over Thursday morning to play a game of volley ball. Of course we accepted. No need to mention that we won four straight games, and with a handicap too—Trout and Byrd. The scores of the games were: 15-3, 15-5, 15-1, 15-6. So Cpl. Boggs, anything else you may wish to play off, call the Print Shop. We will sure entertain the Galloping Third Section with our star players: Bicknell, Pash, Heisler, Handsome Harry, Prentice and McCurrey. Perhaps we will even go so far as to throw in Traut and Byrd as added attractions.

Our Assistant Shop Foreman, Cpl. Dubenowski, who left on a three-months furlough several days ago, has turned in at the hospital with lumbago. Lumbago? We have not examined the patient as yet, but are inclined to believe that the trouble may be acute monilitis.

Something we would crave to see:
Phillips with cigarettes.
Sam with cigarettes.
Traut with cigarettes.
Possum with cigarettes.

Popular song around the shop: "Oh! What A Pal You'd Be." (Words and music by J. E. M.)

Interesting items pertaining to activities throughout the service

Troops stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont have been busy the past few weeks in assisting the American Red Cross in flood districts in that state. Another score for the Army in peace time endeavors.

The 17th Squadron football team won the post championship at Selfridge Field, Mich. last Saturday by defeating the 57th Squadron, the score being 12 to 7.

Company L, 15th Infantry, stationed at Tientsin, China recently won the Chief of Infantry's combat squad contest. This company is commanded by Capt. A. S. Champeny, a graduate of the 1925 class, The Infantry School. The first sergeant is Sgt. Nathan Aarons. This company won the contest handily by a margin of over one thousand points over its nearest competitor.
Corporal Daniel F. McDonald was corporal of the winning squad.

Fort Lincoln, North Dakota is again the home of an army organization after being vacant since 1913. The 3rd battalion of the 4th Infantry has recently moved there from Fort Lawton, Wash. It was from this post that General Geo. A. Custer set out on his ill-fatde expedition in 1876. The name of Fort Lincoln is connected with many Indian fights of the early days. The barracks are in good condition and the post is located near the city of Bismark; the climate is excellent, cool in the summer with a dry cold in the winter.

Making a total score of 2113 out of a possible 2250, the marksmen of Fort Lewis, Wash. won for the army the Burke Trophy at a recent meet at Fort Lawton. the shoot was held under the auspices of the International Pistol and Revolver Association.

POST EXCHANGE OFFICE A BUSY PLACE

Benning Store Has Splendid Offers for Xmas Buyers

Ye reporter visited the office of the Post Exchange the other day, and to say, that it is a busy little office, is putting it mildly. Major Sam McCants sits at his desk with papers galore to look over and plenty of phone calls to keep him busy. Lieut. "Ham" Kelly is right across from the Major putting forth many suggestions. "Ham" seemed to be in a suggestive mood the other day. Mr. Grimes was near by and he, too, was able to put forth many ideas and was brim full of enthusiasm as to the Xmas trade which the Post Exchange was enjoying at this time—and what was to come. But Captain W. D. McCord, just recently assigned as one of Major McCant's assistants was conspicuous for his absence. He was out making a few inspections of the sub-exchanges which, by the way, keeps him pretty busy most of the time. But we're sure that he would have had plenty of suggestions and items for interest for the paper had he been there at the time.

Well, first of all, that display of dolls in the Post Exchange is sure worth looking at and "it won't be long now" until the dollies will have all walked out of the store with Santa Claus which he will keep until that great event of the month of December. They are going fast so don't lose any time in getting over there and pick out the one for the youngster this year.

We gathered a little information during our visit there which will be of interest to everyone. First, the 29th Infantry sub-exchange has moved to a new location at the corner of Wohl and Edwards Streets, Building 35 in Block 5. Don't forget that. This exchange is in charge of Sgt. H. C. Duncan and is doing a splendid business in the demonstration outfit.

Then the candy shop, which was just recently opened and in charge of Mrs. St. Clair has proven to be an active department in the main branch of the Exchange.

All of you folks who visit the grocery store of the Post Exchange, and there are hundreds every day, will wonder what the big addition is going to be. Well, it will be the warehouse for the grocery store and in putting up this building, Major McCants said it would facilitate the handling of crates, etc. for the big store, very materially. The building is 40 feet by 80 feet and will probably be completed about the first of the year.

Those special orders which the Post Exchange anticipates this year should come in now. Lieut. Kelly was very emphatic about that matter. He said that last year many orders were taken about the 15th of December, which was the cause of delay in several orders and folks were disappointed in not getting their orders back in time for Xmas. Now is the time, he said, to put in your special orders. The sooner they are sent, the sooner will they be in your hands. And that's what everyone wants—to get their presents ready soon, and in plenty of time to send before the 25th.

There's another thing, too, that folks at Fort Benning should know about, and, especially those who are new arrivals here. If you're having a party at home and you find your stock of cigarettes running low about 8:30 P. M. you can be assured of getting them at three different places on the post at that time. The Service Club soda fount is operating until 9 P. M. every night and both the movies have a complete stock of smokes on hand until closing time. This is something worth sticking back in that brain cell for future reference. A good many people are unaware of that fact so here's hoping that someone will be benefited thereby at some future date.

Well, after spending about twenty minutes in the office getting all of the above "dope" Ye Reporter saw that things were picking up and more customers coming in so he eased out. We hope that this information will be of value to the folks at Benning. The Post Exchange is run for your convenience and all the officials there are at your service at all times.

Battery "A"

A big day was held in the Mess Hall Thanksgiving, everyone seemed to be well satisfied with everything, and I'm sure everyone was well filled, with the exception of our permanent Charge of Quarters. I think everyone will agree that his name should be changed from "KEY BOY" to "PRESCRIPTION," because he's so hard to fill.

Demonstration for the advanced class of the Infantry School was fired Monday the 28th, with Battery "A" in position on Ebbert Hill. Telephone communication was established from the Battery to the O. P. on Davis Hill in twenty-one minutes after the Battalion Commander issued his order on Davis Hill. This is a better record for time than ever accomplished by the Battery when motorized. The demonstration was very successful.

Our Battalion Football team has been training very hard for the past few weeks, and we are all sure that we will have the best Inter-Mural team in the Post. We are all wishing them the very best of success in their training.

Private Lowe, has been discharged this week, by reason of Dependency. The Battery wishes him the very best of luck in civilian life.

Does anyone know why the Supply Sergeant, doesn't stay around the Battery in the evenings here of late? Perhaps he has purchased a Sardine Ranch south west of here. We wonder when he will make a shipment of minnows.

We would like to know why, "ACORN HEAD," ducked his cigarette when he reported to———, Sergeant Brown.

That's O. K. "Spider," but don't wake up the fellows, so soon before First Call; you know how it is when a fella wants to remain in bed. A. G. S.

Battery "B"

Private Hughes, who has been in the hospital suffering from injuries sustained in an accident in town some weeks ago is again back for duty. He considers himself lucky in getting out as lightly as he did. We all hope he will soon be his former self.

There has always been a mild competition between Sections but this last week the First and Third Sections suddenly blossomed out in a real competition. The Chief of Sections were right there to help support their men.

Some of the men forgot for a while that they were in the Army. The Thanksgiving dinner made many of the fellows think they were back home on their Dad's farm. Old timers say it was the best Thanksgiving dinner they have had.

Sergeant Kersey has much of the milk of human kindness. Thanksgiving he gave a man a much needed cigarette.

Many of the men are planning to spend their Christmas at home, providing they get their furloughs?

Corporal McCarty thinks he will attend all rodeos held in the west next year. He has been trying to make his horse go through some old circus tricks but has not succeeded as yet.

Private Morphis has been seen several times lately wandering around on Hamilton Avenue. B. S. T.

Battery "C"

Thanksgiving Day is past. To some it was just another day gone by, but to Battery "C" it was a day of feasting and Thanksgiving. A day of feasting because we surely had a feast at 12:30. We of Battery "C" wish to take this means of proclaiming to the world that we, or rather our Battery Commander, Capt. Busch discovered a real Mess Sergeant in Sergeant Grider, and with the cooperation of three real cooks, Cuthrell, Fare and Land, we have a Mess to be proud of not only on Thanksgiving Day, but every day.

We don't believe in bragging, but facts speak for themselves. Hark back to your Geometry—a fact is something which needs no proof. We know that we have a real outfit all the way through. We all pull together officers and enlisted men, to keep our outfit what it is, the best Gun Battery in any man's Army.

He that toots not his own horn, yea verily it shall not be tooted. All together now Battery "C"!

MAMMA'S BOY JOINS THE HORSE DRAWN FIELD ARTILLERY

I wish I could wake up in the morning and find it only a dream,
Why didn't my Mamma teach me that things are not always what they seem.
Its right face, left face, 'till my head goes' round and 'round,
And a hardboiled Sergt. hollers, "Get in step, gol darn ye, before I knock you down."
After that is over the fun has just begun,
We've got to ride some horses at a walk, trot and a run,
'Round and 'round in a ring—now we stop for a speil,
For the Sergt. says, "That I sit on my horse, just like a bag of meal."
From there we go to the corral, to tie on the picket line,
Every one does all right but me—I get kicked by mine.
We get our grooming kits and stand in the rear of our horses, three feet from the tail.
And we get another drill, called, Grooming by Detail."
Commence grooming, on the near shoulder and then down to the knee.
Clean out his feet, make his hair shine, until he is inspected and passes as clean as he can be.
Now to the barracks and at the chow bells merry peal,
We all troop into the Mess Hall and eat a real square meal.
Along about 1 P. M., back to the stables we go,
For the harness has to be washed and the brass all polished just so.
At last about half past four some one yells that's all,
And the dear old bugler blows that famous march—Recall.
And now the day is over, at least I thought it would be,
But the 1st Sergeant says, you can't keep in step, so try a little K. P.
I wasn't raised to be a soldier, I wish I was back at Mamma's knee,
My Section Chief says: "Don't you worry son, you'll never be a soldier in the Horse Drawn Field Artillery."
I've lost my school girl complexion, the things that they have done to me—you would be surprised,
All I have left that I came here with, is my appetite, and it can't be recognized.
Turn back, turn back, OH TIME! in your flight,
And make me Mamma's Boy, again, just for tonight.

If you want to know how to do "Charge of Quarters" ask Cpl. Johnson, he'll tell you how to do it according to Regulations.

Sgt. Hall says Dwyer worked his horses six weeks without grooming them. Dwyer claims it was just a week. The 1st Sergt. says, tell it to the Marines.

And now Elkins wishes to know what these Marines are. He must have a sad story to tell.

It is reported that Dean discovered a live ghost down town Saturday night.

T. WEEMS.

Combat Train

A big demonstration was held in the Mess Hall Thanksgiving Day, and every one left well-filled, well satisfied, and, well, some people will eat too much anyways.

An error which occurred in this column some two weeks ago should be corrected. Sergt. McCallum, as scribe, was not up to his ochre when he stated that Sergt. LaPine had been in Houston, giving the ladies a treat, as a shoe salesman. While LaPine did not work as a shoe salesman, it is needless to say that the ladies did enjoy his society. It was understood in Houston, that besides his pleasant company, he also possessed hidden treasures, and was, without a doubt, "giving the ladies a treat."

After the Artillery-Tank corps football game in town, Dock Farmer, one of our able linesmen, went to call on his choice girl friend. After talking for a few minutes, it was discovered that she had been to the game to see her hero in action, but not knowing, had sat on the wrong side of the Stadium. Dock got peeved and here's what she told Dock. "Doggone it, Dock, don't get mad, I didn't know which thide the Artillery was sitting on."

To get the best results you will have to try that quotation on your piano as she is tongue-tied, and talks with a lisp. Dock thinks it's cute, but it is only natural.

Derrick, our "Phanom Ghost" will be out of the line-up for a few days, as he was taken very ill at his home in tent No. 8. It is understood that the tent was thoroughly cleaned up, and even a little paint added here and there. Also Derrick took off his shoes and proceeded with his 'annual'. After being all washed up himself and having the tent cleaned up too, the new atmosphere gave him a very serious attack of distemper. Ed Roper, our Stable Sergeant gave his a dose of medicine and repeated at regular intervals, as he would for any other horse.

Corporals Ennis and Spivey, have purchased a couple of discharges (one each) and are going to try life in the "Great Without"—mostly without. Here's hoping that they have the best of luck, as tey surely have the best of luck, as they surely have the best wishes of the entire Battery.

If Sergt. Roper would explain just what it was that so resembled a big truck, wrecked, on a certain bridge, it would certainly relieve the curiosity of those who saw it.

Who is the truck-horse in the Artillery back-field? Speak now, or forever hol dyour peace. We know you.

Sergt. Reed had his overcoat relined at our Battalion Tailor shop and the question is this: Where did Mr. Goldsmith get the lining? Ask Douglas.

The matter of economy which has been pondered over by a large number of great minds, and is being studied day in and day out, has at last come to a climax. The greatest economist of the day has been discovered. While it is yet too early to give out who he really is, there is no harm in saying that he is a corporal in this battery. A tall, slender one, by the way. He broke all previous records of economy by going to town with ten cents, coming back with the same ten cents, eating supper in the battery, and then going back to town again with the same dime. Whether or not he still has the ten cents is uncertain, but it is needless to say that he had a dime he next morning. I don't see how they do it; I don't know where this boy goes. He says he's a corporal in the Army but he's a Master Sergeant in that place. While he may be a Master Sergeant there it is rumored that he throws a nasty dish cloth around the dishes in that place, and pulls a snappy Kitchen Police.

It was rumored that Sergt. Dodd was kidnapped, but after a strenuous search he was discovered at the home of one of his friends on Front Street.

Our big brutal guard has returned from the hospital where he was sent up with a small "Charley-horse" on his right leg. Since Anohtny's return, when questioned, all he says is "I ain't talking."

PRIVATE WEEMS MAKES RECORD AS SUBSCRIPTION CANVASSER

Battery "C" Clerk Procures Largest Number in Artillery Outfit.

The subscription contest in the battalion of the 83rd Field Artillery closed Wednesday morning and after final count by phone and otherwise it was found that Private Troy Weems, battery clerk of C battery had procured a total of 72 new subscribers to the NEWS. Some record, we'll say. Tuesday afternoon Weems came to the NEWS office with a total of 60 subscribers. About four o'clock that afternoon he called up and said he had five more and then Wednesday morning before closing hour Weems called and said he had seven more making a total of 72. Weems worked right up to the last minute and certainly demonstrated what a man can do who works hard enough and doesn't lose enthusiasm from beginning to end.

Corp. Sadler Got 64

Not far behind Weems was Corporal Alton G. Sadler, company clerk of Battery A who worked until the last minute arriving at the NEWS office about five minutes to eight with three more subscribers making his grand total number 64 new names for the NEWS. Battery A proved to be a dark horse in the race as no one hand anticipated that Capt. Clark's battery was working so hard on the contest until there were 61 names turned in late Tuesday evening and he brought three more in early Wednesday.

Battery B came third in standing with a total of 38 new names procured by Private Wilemon and Headquarters and Combat Train, which is a smaller outfit than the batteries came last with a total of 28 new subscribers. Sergeant Dodd worked in the latter outfit.

Free Pass to Movies

As a result of the work that was done in each organization of the artillery outfit the NEWS will present to each of the men in each battery who secured the largest number of names a free pass to the movies for the month of December. It seems that there was a one man in contest in each battery but with the work that the artillery boys are doing these days the NEWS is well pleased with results, and as we said before, has been far above our expectations when the contest began.

"Them's my words."

"How did you do it?"

This company has been off the air for a few days, due not only to lack of news but also the ambition to write, having eaten so much turkey on Thanksgiving day. Now that we are back in print again I must stat off telling the world what a wonderful company that we have. It seems that every time we pull a guard in this company we are bound to have an orderly or two. On this detail guard, if we furnish two men we get first and second orderly, and if it is only one man that we are to furnish we get first orderly. The boys sure do know how to buck in this company.

Starting this week we are all going to get plenty of practice grooming horses, as every morning we send a detail to the stables to clean up the "nags." Tom Mix won't have a chance when some of these boys finish their three years. How about it Bennett?

Carnes, our "Bully of the town" company clerk, is now enjoying himself with a three month re-enlistment furlough in the wilds of Alabama. We expect a lot from Carnes next summer when the baseball season starts.

—Wm. B. Smith.

Company "E"

After a real good Thanksgiving last week everything has been going just fine. Our Mess Sargeant Zed Buford, sure knows how to put out the good chow. We sure enjoyed the holidays during the week since Thanksgiving, and are sure that everyone had a grand time.

Private Walter King is one of the boys that helped fix up the good dinner. He had just returned from a furlough. That's the boy "Wait," we are all glad to have you back with us.

We have some very good men turning out for battalion football, and are sure that they will make a good showing on the team, Cpls. Moore and Oikari, Pvts. McGuire, Marquette and Dean, W. They are going to put out everything they have so that the old "Second Bat" can walk away with the honors as they have always done before. Let's go boys, we are all for you.

Bugler Campbell has been turned to duty as one of the "wind jammers" and he is just crazy to pull his first guard.

Sgt. Dalby has about ceased going to town. What is the matter, too cold to ride in an open car or is your connecting rod broke?

Our First Sergeant "Hi" Davis is on furlough now and his old shooting eye is doing it's stuff, hunting about every day and bringing home a load of game every time.

—J. R. H.

Company "G"

We are lucky in getting Pete Magagna assigned to our company, one of the best basketball players in the post.

Our Thanksgiving dinner was put over in fine shape. We have got to hand it to Sgt. Brown for putting on such an excellent dinner.

Sgt. Folsom is just returning from a sixty day furlough. We are glad to have you back, sergeant.

Cpl. Hodges is seen going to town with Sgt. Southerland every night. Tell us when it happened question mark.

Cpl. Creamer was seen in Kress' buying a lot of note books and pencils. He asked the lady if they had pencils with large erasers. He wants pencils with large erasers.

Cpl. Taylor is going on a sixty-day furlough. We wish you luck, Corporal.

Cpl. Notgrass is taking out another three year stack. Luck to you Cpl.

Pvt. Tidwell was sent back to the Recruit Center to finish his fourteen days.

Pvt. Hill, of the Sunday School class, was on the job Sunday morning.

Rct. Cobb was told to go to the Supply Room and get a Front Sight cover for his rifle. "Why," he asked. "It is not raining."

—John Simpson.

Company "H"

Private 1st Class Willie C. Becknell has established a record on fast furloughs. He has just returned from one of those sixty-day furloughs. He had been on furlough six days when he rejoined the organization. Atta boy, Beck.

The latest song hit of the season is that melodious refrain '"Mfa." You know how it goes, '"Mfareva blowin' bubbles"——. This song was brought to life by Sergeant "Gunner" DePratt.

Corporal "Prancing Around" Meadows is having a gorgeous time with his Recruits. He gorges this down and he gorges that down. He is bringing them around into shape in good order though.

Corporal Clinton A. J. Causey, (we understand that the "A. J." is for Andrew Jackson) is due for discharge in a few days. We all hope that he will decide to take on another hitch with the best organization in the Army, and stay with us for another three years. Corporal Causey is an efficient, hardworking and conscientious soldier. It may be truly said of him that he has always been an asset to the organization, always working for the glory of the company and the regiment. In the event that Corporal Causey decides to return to civilian life permanently, we all wish him the best of luck, much happiness and continued good health. Men, my hat is off to Corporal Causey.

Sergeant "Gunner" DePratt has started to training again for the fights that might come. His hand is now in excellent condition, and you know what that good right hand means to the opponent.

The Gunner is taking his training very seriously and working hard at it. He says that in a month or two that he will be ready for any and all comers. I, for one, will be glad to see him in action again. To those who desire the information, let it be known that Company "H" 29th Infantry is behind him, and believe that he will come through with flying colors. We know that when the Gunner steps into the ring that something is going to happen, and we believe that we know what that "something" is.

We have unearthed another name for our versatile athlete, Sergeant James C. Poe. It was noticed on the football practice field Monday afternoon that the coach referred to him as "Edgar Allen Poe." He is the composer of that wonderful ballad, "Mama, pull the curtains down, here comes the bill collector."

Just a message to the Scribes from other organizations of the 29th Infantry: Meet me in the News.

—Bernard B. Swayze.

CHIEF OF INFANTRY PRAISE MORALE OF DOUGHBOY

sults of inspections indicate a general appreciation throughout the Infantry of the fact that basic disciplinary training is the indispensable foundation upon which all other military training must rest.

Marksmanships—It has been demonstrated again and again, that keenness of vision which insures clear definition of the bull's eye by the firer is not essential to making a good score. In fact, a man with such poor vision that he can not see the bull's eye but can see the target, can, if properly instructed, shoot sufficiently well to quality as marksman or even better. Naturally, such a man can not compete successfully with the keener visioned expert shots of an organization but, by proper instruction, he can be improved sufficiently well to be an addition and not a detriment to the target record of his organization.

Small bore target practice:—Since 1920 there has grown up among civilian riflemen, fostered and encouraged by the National Rifle Association, a form of target practice and competition known as "smale bore" shooting.

During the current year "small bore target practice" has received official recognition in the Army as a preliminary to range practice with the caliber .30 service ammunition and for purposes of small bore competition firing.

The Ordnance Department has developed a most satisfactory small bore rifle, of approximately the same weight and dimensions as the service rifle, using the caliber .22 long rifle cartridge, and possessing extreme accuracy up to a range of 200 yards.

Small bore target practice and competition matches constitute a fine sport, greatly increasing interest in rifle shooting, and occupying an important place in military training. Small bore target practice is a most valuable part of training preparatory to range practice with caliber .30 service ammunition, but is in no sense intended to replace such range firing. The human tendency to flinch at the instant the rifle is fired, caused primarily by improper trigger squeezing in anticipation of the noise of discharge or the shock of recoil of service ammunition, can be overcome only by training involving the actual firing of that ammunition.

Skirmish fire:—As a result of reports indicating that musketry training is not keeping pace with the progress being made in rifle marksmanship, the War Department has directed that a skirmish run or its equivalent be added. It is believed this exercise, making less abrupt to the soldier the transition from black and white targets to the field targets of the more advanced combat exercises, will prove of great training value in the development of battlefield shots, and its use (within the prescribed ammunition allowance) is encouraged by the Chief of Infantry.

Training Films:—The Infantry School has completed studies and preliminary plans for making training films for use in the tactical instruction of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, National Guard, and Citizens' Military Training Camps, where terrain and troops are not available. These films will cover such subjects as scouting and patrolling, the Infantry company in the attack and the Infantry company in the defense, and will be pictured by a combination of location shots showing troops in various stages of the exercise, and the principles employed in animated cartoons.

The Department of Experiment at the Infantry School:—This department fulfills a genuine need in Infantry development by subjecting to exhaustive test, items of equipment, etc., which are being considered. It functions in conjunction with the other departments of the Infantry School and with the Infantry Board. During the period of this report there were completed tests on twenty-three items, many of which are of great importance. There are at present being conducted, tests of nineteen items, among the more important being such items as the following: Infantry auxiliary weapons, telephones, Infantry pack modification, Infantry carts, power carts, Phillips pack saddle equipment, antiaircraft machine-gun mounts, and antiaircraft machine-gun training facilities.

The outstanding accomplishment during the year was the development of a wheeled mount for the .30 caliber machine-gun, embodying the features of increased mobility, increased carrying capacity for ammunition, antiaircraft adaptability and a fixed T-base.

Infantry School Housing:—The following, quoted from the report of the Commandant of the Infantry School expresses clearly the most serious handicap under which the Infantry School is operating:

"Housing remains the outstanding need of the command. During the year 225 officers lived on a rental status in the City of Columbus. These officers are required to provide and operate, without reimbursement, their own transportation daily to and from the school. Many of them are of junior grade and cannot find in the City of Columbus, nor could they find elsewhere, suitable living accommodations within the rental allowance paid them."

Movement of the Tank School to Fort Benning, Georgia:—The eventual move of the Tank School from Camp Meade, Maryland, to Fort Benning, Georgia, provided for in a decision of the War Department, is considered to be an important Infantry matter. While this move will, of necessity, be delayed until the necessary shop and other housing facilities are constructed, the eventual concentration of all classes of Infantry instruction at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, will tend to efficiency of instruction and the production of better equipped graduates from both the Infantry School and the Tank School. It will also effect an economy. The above reasons make the early consummation of the move most desirable.

Reserve Officers' Training Corps:—After eight years of operation it is believed that the Reserve Officers' Training Corps project must be called a success. As regards the Infantry, the mission of providing satisfactory reserve officers is being fully and competently met. In general, there can be no doubt but that this project is one of the most important with which the War Department is concerned.

Antiaircraft Defense: — The trend of modern tactics clearly indicates that, in addition to the protection furnished by the Air Corps and by troops of the antiaircraft service it is imperative that combatant troops on the march, in bivouac, and in battle, be able to protect themselves from air attack.

This protection may be obtained as a result of training that will insure: prompt discovery of hostile aircraft; rapid and orderly dispositions to reduce the effectiveness of air attack; use of cover, including camouflage; and timely effective fire against aircraft.

The Infantry School and the Infantry Board are continuing an intensive study of Infantry defense against aircraft. This study is being carried on in cooperation with the other branches, especially the Coast Artillery and the Ordnance Department.

There has been constructed at Fort Benning an aerial target range for 1000" firing at moving targets and experiments are in progress to determine effective methods of training riflemen and machine-gunners in accurate firing at aircraft. While these experiments are being conducted primarily to discover the most profitable means and methods of employment of the present Infantry armament and organization, they also include study to determine the desirability of changes in existing organization, or armament.

There has been developed at Fort Benning a wheeled mount for the .30 caliber machine-gun and an antiaircraft adapter whereby the machine-gun may be transported in a position of instant readiness for firing at aircraft. The model of mount and adapter have had a sufficiently extended test to demonstrate that sound principles of construction have been observed. It is reasonable to believe that further development of this method of transport will, so far as .30 caliber machine-gun fire is concerned, solve the problem of protecting marching Infantry from air attack. Also it is possible this method of transport may be utilized for the .50 caliber machine-gun should experiments indicate the advisability of adding this weapon to the Infantry armament.

Improvement in Arms and Equipment:—Recommendations based upon the results of the tests have been approved by the War Department, as follows:

Mortar, Infantry 77mm. M 1—This mortar will replace the less effective smooth bore, muzzle loading 3" trench mortar. The new weapon, a rifled, breech loading mortar, has greater range and is more accurate, powerful, and safe, than the trench mortar.

37mm. gun, model 1925-E—This Infantry gun was designed to replace the 37 mm. gun now in service. It is superior to the former model primarily in its ability to pierce armor plate, and in rapidity and ease of traverse. These elements make of it a more efficient antitank weapon.

Ammunition, caliber .22, in lieu of Caliber .30 gallery practice ammunition for use in small bore practice. This is a marked improvement over the old type gallery practice ammunition. Its relatively low cost compared to the caliber .30 gallery practice ammunition and the enthusiasm with which it has been received by all troops, indicate that its use will result in both an eventual saving of money and increased efficiency.

Fire extinguisher, Foamite 2 1-2 gallon type for Mark VIII heavy tank. One of the serious problems of operation of the Mark VIII tank has been that of fire prevention and fire control. Tests of various fire extinguishers have resulted in the adoption of the above type. Its use will materially reduce the fire hazard in the Mark VIII tank and add much to the personal safety of the tank crew.

Sub-Caliber Gun, Caliber .30 for the 6-Pdr. gun on Mark VIII heavy tank. The difficulties encountered in the manufacture of a suitable sub-caliber for the 6-Pdr. tank gun have been overcome by the Ordnance Department. A few of these tubes are now in use and have proven entirely satisfactory. Target practice with the 6-Pdr. tank gun, sufficiently comprehensive to maintain the efficiency of the gunners, is now possible within the reduced appropriations.

The following items are being studied and will be reported upon as soon as such action is considered to be warranted:

Helmet—Several types of helmets designed to replace the present issue have been tested by the Inafntry Board but none so far tested have been found to be superior to the helmet now in use. The Infantry Board is at present attempting to design, with the materials and means on hand at the Infantry School, a helmet which will better meet the Infantry requirements.

Pistol grip stock for rifle—The present rifle can be improved if provided with a pistol grip stock. Several types have already been tested and as a result new stocks have been manufactured which conform to measurements obtained from the tests. These latter are now being subjected to tests.

Semi-automatic rifles — Development and tests of the semi-automatic shoulder rifle have progressed to the point where it is assured that such a weapon, satisfactory to the using service, from both a ballistic and mechanical standpoint, can be produced.

Light cross-country truck—In order to develop a cargo vehicle capable of moving across country, the Ordnance Department submitted a 6-wheel, 4 rear wheel drive, light cross-country truck designed to carry 750 lbs. The Infantry Board in a preliminary test found that this vehicle does not meet the requirements of Infantry for a cross-country vehicle on account of insufficient cargo capacity and unsatisfactory body design. Its cross-country capabilities were found to be limited by insufficient ground clearance and a tendency to dig in. Further development and test will be carried on.

Power Cart—There is now being tested by the Infantry Board a small power cart designed by the Ordnance Department for possible use as a carrier for machine-guns and other auxiliary Infantry weapons. It is constructed on the order of caterpillar tread vehicles and is a promising vehicle for carrying light loads across country.

Armored cross-country cars—The Ordnance Department, at the request of the Chief of Infantry, has initiated studies as the preliminary step toward the development of such a vehicle. These studies include applying a detachable shield to the cross-country car, recently standarized.

Leggins, canvas—A company of the 29th Infantry has been issued for test canvas leggins similar to those in use prior to the World War. From this test it is hoped to determine a suitable leggin to replace the spiral puttee now worn. The latter is an unsightly garment and causes binding of the legs.

Uniforms, cotton khaki—The unsatisfactory dye used in the production of olive drab cotton khaki continues to be a matter of concern both to the wearer and to the producer. A company of the 24th Infantry will make a service test of khaki uniforms now being made at the Quartermaster Depot, Philadelphia. The olive drab cotton khaki used in these uniforms has recently been procured by the Quartermaster Department, and is considered to be a fast color. The test will be conducted under the supervision of the Infantry Board.

Cross country transportation—The need for cross country motor transportation which will enable Infantry units to move where there are no roads, has resulted in the development of various types of cross-country vehicles each of which has been given a limited test. Due to lack of funds it has been impossible up to the present date to conduct the necessary field tests to determine what improvements and modifications should be made before reaching a decision as to the suitability of any vehicle being approved as standard for issue.

Reduction of the Infantry Pack:—The reduction in the amount of ammunition, rations, and equipment formerly carried on the person, has had the effect of reducing the weight of the Infantry pack from 77 pounds to about 52 pounds. This reduction was accomplished by authorizing to be carried on the trains, until entering the combat areas, such items as gas masks, steel helmets, overcoats, reserve rations and extra ammunition.

This action will have the important effect of increasing the nobility of the Infantry and should bring the Infantry soldier into the combat area in better condition to meet the physical demands of combat and in a higher state of morale.

The Infantry Board:—The functioning of the Infantry Board has been most satisfactory and its recommendations, opinions, studies, etc., have been of great value to the Chief of Infantry in connection with the many important matters that have been referred to him during the year.

Library and Service Club

Continuing the Library's policy of adding each month to its list of current books, the following books have been put on the shelves for the month of December:

"KITTY" by Warwick Deeping—The story of a modern English girl's fight for the man she loves, of the fight within herself between those ancient irreconcilables, personal happiness and personal independence. Those who have read "Sorrell and Son" and "Doomsday" will be more than pleased with Kitty, as characterized by Warwick Deeping, who has earned for himself a reputation of handling themes, essentially broad, with a sure touch, and who has always abhorred the trivial in his work.

"DEATH COMES FOR THE ARCHBISHOP" by Willa Cather—A romance of the Southwest in the days of Kit Carson, concerning a young French priest and his career up to the time of his death. With a savage yet beautiful background, and carrying throughout a notable romance, it forms one of the most distinguished novels of the season.

"REBELLION" by Mateel Howe Farnham—Out of 1500 manuscripts submitted to the judgment of Dodd, Mead and Company and Pictorial Review during the year 1926, this first novel of a new author was selected as the best. It is a drama of the inevitable revolt of one generation against the one which preceded it and gave it birth, an affecting story of an age which loves but will not understand, and of youth continually reaching out for new scenes, new adventures, new aspirations.

"DUSTY ANSWER" by Rosamond Lehman—"A remarkable book. It is not often that one can say with confidence . . . . . that it reveals new possibilities in literature. It is a study of modern youth, and its outlook is entirely that of the present day. It traces the development of the character of its heroine . . . . . from childhood . . . . . through her career at Cambridge . . . . . The modern young woman . . . . . has never been depicted with more honesty, or with a more exquisite art." Alfred Noyes in the London Times.

"JALNA" by Mazo de la Roche—The ATLANTIC MONTHLY prize of $10,000 "for the most interesting novel of any kind, sort, or description," submitted by an writer, "whether born in London or Indianapolis," was awarded to Miss de la Roche for this novel. Set in Canada, it concerns an English family transplanted there from India, the activities and the life of a clan. The portraiture of the characters is most versatile, some engaging, some ugly, some eccentric, but founded on the substantial basis of humor and vitality.

"DAYBREAK" by Arthur Schnitzler—Schnitzler's notebooks are crammed to the covers with unwritten books. Daybreak held its place among his notes for thirty-five years from the time in which it appeared as an eight-page sketch. At that time it was to him an unimportant piece of work, a mere outline of a situation. But it bothered him. Here we have the novelette: the mature work of a mature artist.

And last, but far from least, three American Plays.

"WHAT PRICE GLORY," "THE FIRST FLIGHT," and "THE BUCCANEER" contained in one volume by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson. "WHAT PRICE GLORY" opened in September, 1924 at the Plymouth Theatre, New York City, and was accompanied by an outburst of enthusiasm by both critics and public. Its appearance in this volume represents the first time tha tthe text of "WHAT PRICE GLORY" has been published in any form.

"THE FIRST FLIGHT" is based on an episode in the life of Andrew Jackson when he was twenty-one years of age.

"THE BUCCANEER" concerns William Morgan, the pirate, and was presented in 1925 with William Farnum in the title role.

"BUT GENTLEMEN MARRY BRUNETTES" and "UNFORBIDDEN FRUIT" were also ordered, but the Library received a notice from the publishers to the effect that the publishing date on these two books has been held up until 1928. These books will be added as soon as they are obtainable. "MOON OF MADNESS" by Sax Rohmer was also ordered, but has not been delivered. This book will be placed in circulation on its arrival.

The Library is preparing a list for purchase during the month of December, and requests that any suggestions concerning new books, both Fiction and Non-Fiction, be handed in to the Librarian before the 10th of the month.

TANKS CHAMPIONSHIP FOOTBALL SERIES END IN TIE

Hdrs. and "A" Company Teams Each Awarded Cup for Season.

During the inter-organization series in the 15th Tank Battalion, Headquarters and "A" Company were tied for first place at the end of the series.

An extra game was played to decide the championship and this game ended in a tie score, each team scoring one touch down but each failing to add the extra point.

A second game was arranged, and this proved to be one of the hardest fought games ever witnessed here, the game ending in a scoreless tie, neither team being able to score.

The teams were so evenly matched that it seemed useless to prolong the struggle, and the men had played so faithfully, conscientiously, and sportsmanlike in every game that Major Miller decided to give each team a handsome silver cup suitably engraved.

The Fifteenth Tank Battalion Weekly, edited by Lieutenant Clyde Grady, donated one of the cups that will be presented to the two winners.

Under the able coaching of Lt. Cobb and Lt. Foster, "A" Company turned out one of the fastest company teams in the garrison. With scrappy "Knub" Bennett, captain, leading the attack, the Baby Tankers were always on the offensive, although on defense their line always proved a stonewall against the drives and smashes of their opponents.

Headquarters Company football team, coached by Lt. McElroy, while not as fast as their lighter opponents, was by far the best defensive team.

In the last game against the Baby Tanks, it was "A" Company's ball on Headquarters one yard line and three downs to make it in. The last down found the ball on Headquarters one yard line. They had held like only Tankers can hold.

"Sully" Sullivan, captain and fullback, shared honors with Wright, quarterback, in the team's success, their playing being a big factor in carrying the team to the championship.

But to the other members of the team go just as much credit, for every man on the team did his bit, and it takes eleven men to make a football team.

The last game played between Headquarters and "A" Companies, and although there were several injuries, the men tackled hard and clean.

It was a most successful series which provided high class entertainment for everyone, and all officers and men responsible for these fine games have the thanks of the entire garrison.

DRAG HUNT AND HUNT BREAKFAST SUNDAY, DEC. 4.

The Officer's Club will conduct a drag hunt Sunday morning. The hunters will assemble at the Polo Club at 8:00 A. M.

Breakfast will be served at the Polo Club after the hunt, at 9:45 A. M.

The list of horses will be posted on the bulletin board of the Officer's Club at 12:45 P. M. Tuesday. These horses will meet riders at the Polo Club.

In case of inclement weather the telephone operator will be notified before 6 00 A. M. December 4, if the hunt and breakfast are called off.

If the fields are too wet for cross country riding the hunt will be held as a controlled ride.

STUDENTS WIN OVER REDLEGS; PIRATES CAPTURE 29TH INF.

Students and Freebooters Will Clash in Sunday's Game

Under ideal weather conditions and before one of the largest crowd of spectators ever assembled at Shannon Field, the Students and Redlegs opened hostilities at Shannon Field last Sunday afternoon.

The Scholars started things off with a rush, scoring four goals in the first period, while the Caisson Riders could collect only one.

Outplayed at every turn the Gunners defense crumbled before the hard riding and accurate hitting of the Student four, the final score being 8-3 in favor of the boys from the house of knowledge.

The Students used two complete teams with one extra player, in Sundays contest. Their play was high class in all respects, and from the present outlook a heated struggle between the Greenies and Frebooters for th garrison championship is due when the tourney for the Dierk trophy gets underway.

Freebooters vs. Doughboys

The second game was hotly contested affair between the Pirates led by Major H. J. M. Smith and the fighting Doughboys under Captain "Pinky" Burress.

Taking an early lead in the opening chukker the Doughboys forced the Freebooters to the limit to overcome their two point lead gained in the opening period.

In the third period the Buccaneers scored twice while the Doughboys could only count one, in the fourth period the Freebooters accounted for a trio of goals to go into the lead which they held during the remainder of the game.

The final score being 10 to 7, in favor of the Pirate Clan.

BRIDLE PATHS OF FT. BENNING

(By Lt. G. A. Hadsell, Inf.)

It is offered as an approved solution that many student officers are missing something when they pass up the opportunity for recreation, exploration, and self improvement that pleasure riding at Fort Benning affords. This solution is submitted even in the face of the objection that for many Infantrymen, who have regarded the horse as an unsympathetic beast mounted on stilts, riding is by no means a pleasure, but rather a duty called Equitation prescribed by official ukase. This objection fails, however, before the facts. For it is always possible to select an animal of stability, decorum, and a placid bovine eye. And, of course, no pleasure rider need extend his charger beyond a fast walk unless he feels a specific urge for a more break neck, soul shaking gait.

One does not have to be a sentimentalist to find beauty in a jaunt over a woodsy trail. Even the most hard boiled realist will enjoy the riot of color in autumn foliage, scrub oaks turned golden brown, yellow, and bright red, against the never failing background of tall green pines. A dim path, strewn with pine needles along some tawny southland stream, through tangles of vines, and under festoons of spanish moss, may, moreover awaken a mild thrill of exploration in the most unimaginative of persons.

As for self improvement, each jog over a red and yellow clay road is a potential tactical ride. No limit has been fixed to the number of strategic positions one may select for future wars between the Reds and Blues along the already blood stained and battle scarred slopes from Strickland Ridge to Humphreys Hill. For the enthusiastic map reader and sketcher a soul satisfying wealth of regulation thirty foot timber fills the eye from almost any hill top. Snarls of logical, or illogical contours, to suit the individual fancy, may be mentally wound around each topographical crest his faithful caballo mounts. And last but not least, the pleasure rider may justly consider his experiences, bruises, and scars, if any, in the light of a "dry run" for Equitation later on.

"GALLOPING GUNNERS" WORKING HARD FOR OPENING OF INTRA-MURAL LEAGUE

83rd Field Artillery Boys in Practice

With the inter-organization football series over, the Galloping Gunners football squad is working hard to be ready for the opening of the Intra-Mural league, which will open about December 20.

Lt. Thomas F. Plummer, head coach of the "Gunner" squad this season, is wearing a satisfied smile, and from all indications the Redlegs are going to be well up in the running in the coming series.

Sergt. McAuliffe, captain of the Combat Train, battery champions, will be captain of the "Gunners" this season. He will play quarterback, and any football fan here knows that "Ole Mac" is one of the best.

Derrick, playing his first year of army football, is going to be a valuable man in the backfield, while Hancock, Arnold, LaPine and Phillips are looking good in the line.

Bernard, who played a great game in the backfield for "B" battery during the little series, will be numbered among the regulars, while Wargo and Jeffords, who are now with the All-Army team, will be added to the lineup as soon as they return.

Hancock, star end for "C" Battery who has been suffering from a sprained knee, is able to get back in harness again, and although still limping, he will be in shape for the opening of the league.

The battle for a regular place on the Battalion team is growing warmer, as the time for the axe to fall nears, and although someone will have to go, it seems that in some cases the toss of a coin will have to decide the issue, as it is next to impossible to pick the better man.

24TH INF. TO MEET STRONG A. & M. INSTITUTE HERE SAT.

The South Carolina A. & M. Institute football team from Orangeburg, S. C., will play the fast 24th Infantry team at the Doughboy Stadium, Saturday at 2:30 P. M.

The visitors from the Palmetto State boast a clean slate for the season having won every game played to date.

Saturday's game should be a hard fought affair, for if the visiting team can withstand the plunge of the Happy Hearts backfield, they will do something no other team has done this season.

Advance dope has it that the visitors are confident of victory in the coming battle, and that they expect to finish the season undefeated as this is their last game of the season.

They probably have never heard of Heard, Tillis and Collins, or they probably would not feel so sure of winning.

ARMY-NAVY GAME BY QUARTERS

Editor's Note—Due to lack of space last week it was impossible to publish the game of Nov. 19th in full other than our special letter on the game. Thinking many people at Ft. Benning would be interested to read the full details of the game we are giving an account of the game as published by the Washington Star:

First Quarter

Taking the Army kick-off, the Marines, with Levy and Brunelle hitting the line, advanced to midfield, then had to punt. An Army fumble later gave the Marines the ball within 25 yards of the foe's goal, but a Marine forward was intercepted and Army carried the attack to the Marines' 20-yard line before it was held for downs. A 20-yard pass, Reeder to Butler, was a feature of the Doughboys' advance.

After an exchange of punts the Army again went into the air and made a 25-yard forward, Reeder to Sweeney. A 15-yard penalty against the Marines then moved Army to its opponent's 20-yard line. Here Army's attack was stopped when Brunelle intercepted a pass. Levy broke through for a 25-yard gain. The Marines continued their onslaught until the Army 40-yard line was reached, where a fourth down forward pass was grounded to turn the ball over to the Doughboys as the quarter ended. Score: Marines, 0; Army, 0.

Second Quarter

Army had to punt shortly after the second quarter started, Sweeney booting the ball to Marines' 23-yard line. After barely reeling off a couple of first downs, the Marine attack moved to Army's 25-yard line, due to a 30-yard run by Levy after crashing through the Army forward wall. Levy then swung around the Army left end to another first down on the 15-yard line. He was hurt severely when tackled and had to give way to Shapley.

The Marines lunged desperately at the Army line, but the doughboys held firmly and took the ball on downs on their 6-yard line. After two rushes, Yeomans kicked to Army's 37-yard line. A pass, Brunelle to Duncan, was long enough for a first down. A line attack brought another first down on the 13-yard line. The Marines attempted forward passes, and after two had been knocked down, Clarke intercepted one for Army on his 30-yard line.

On the next play Army was penalized 5 yards, then a pass from Kjelstrom was intercepted by Shapley, who was downed as he caught the ball. A play later Duncan got around Army's left end and went through a broken field 31 yards to a touchdown. Woods kicked the extra point. Army received the kick-off but soon punted. Yeoman's rolling kick went dead near the sideline at the Marines' 5-yard stripe. Shapley got away for a 20-yard run just before the quarter ended. Score: Marines, 7; Army, 0.

Third Quarter

Shortly after taking the kick-off the Army punted and the Marines launched an attack from their 38-yard line. The Marines promptly punted to Army's 25-yard line and were attacking again at midfield when Woods intercepted a pass. The attack was short lived, however, as a Marine fumble was recovered by Daly on his 45-yard line. Army soon was forced to kick, though, and the Marines started again from their 30-yard line.

After reeling off two first downs, the Marines punted to Army's 16-yard line. Hutchinson made a fine return punt for Army, but Shapley got the ball back 15 yards to midfield for Marines. Levy returned to the game at this point and made a 15-yard end run for the Leathernecks. Then the Army braced and took the ball on downs. Line plunges quickly brought a first down. The quarter ended with Army in possession of the ball on its 38-yard line.

Score: Marines, 7; Army, 0.

Two plays later Shapley threw a 15-yard pass to Levy, and the latter ran 35 yards more to a touchdown. With Shapley holding the ball Woods place-kicked the extra point.

Score: Marines, 14; Army, 0.

Fourth Period

At the start of the fourth quarter Levy intercepted an Army pass, but Getz of the Marines was caught roughing Bertleman, who had tackled the catch of the pass. Getz was banished from the game and the Marines sent back to their 23-yard line as a penalty for the unnecessary roughness. The Marines punted to Army's 27-yard stripe. Army soon kicked outside at midfield.

Army took the kick-off and went into the air with its attack. Two of three passes succeeded and with a 3-yard plunge brought two first downs that moved play to midfield. Army then failed to complete two successive passes and was penalized 5 yards. Army punted and Duncan made a fair catch on his 25-yard line. Three plays, with Shapley carrying the ball, brought a first down at midfield.

Soon after the Marines punted to a touchback. Army rushed the ball to a first down before a pass was intercepted at its 45-yard line. The Marines kicked again, sending the ball outside at Army's 10-yard line. In the first play thereafter the Marines were penalized 15 yards for holding. Then Hart intercepted a pass and got back to Army's 15-yard line as the game ended.

Score: Marines, 14; Army, 0.

Only twenty-two more days until Christmas, which reminds us of a Santa Claus story we heard some time ago:

It seems, the way we heard the story, that Henry Ford with his friends; Mr. Firestone; Mr. Burroughs, and Mr. Edison, were traveling by car through the West Virginia hill country when as evening approached they found that one of their headlights was not working. Shortly after this discovery they came to a small wayside gas station, and Mr. Ford stopped the car and went in to purchase a new bulb.

"Have you?" he inquired, "any Edison light bulbs?"

The bright looking young chap in charge of the station admitted that he had. "That's the only kind I ever carry," he said.

"Well," siad Mr. Ford, "maybe you will be interested in knowing that Mr. Edison is out here in the car with me."

The young man seemed duly impressed as he handed Mr. Ford his change. While he was replacing the light Mr. Ford noticed that one of his rear tires was flat. The tire was in such bad shape he decided to buy a new one.

"Young man" he addressed the gas station attendant, "I need a new casing but I must insist on Firestone tires."

"That's the very kind I have," the young man replied.

"Well," said Mr. Ford "perhaps you'll be interested in knowing that Mr. Firestone, himself is out in my car."

Again the young man seemed duly impressed, and then while he was busy picking out the right size tire, Mr. Ford added, "Of course you dnd't know it, but I am Henry Ford."

The young man made no remark, but went right ahead with the work of replacing the old tire. As he took his wrench and began removing the rim nuts Mr. Burroughs the venerable naturalist leaned over the door and remarker, "Good Evening, young man."

For some startled seconds the young fellow gazed up into the cheerful, kindly face above him buried in a luxuriant growth of white beard. And then he cried "Now if you tell me that you're Santa Claus, I'll crown you with this wrench."

Another story which is a little out of season now, but still worth telling:

We have a custom here at Benning, especially among those officers who live in Columbus, Georgia, of carrying home a block of ice on the running board of the family car. It is an economical habit due to the unusually low price of ice on the reservation.

Some time ago a certain genial Lieut. Colonel, head of one of the Academic Departments, was driving homeward with his usual quota of ice on the running board. Suddenly he was aware of a motorcycle chugging earnestly at his side. Recognizing the motorcyclist as a Speed Cop the Colonel parked patiently at the roadside.

"Say", demanded the Gentleman of the law, "Didn't you know that you were exceeding the speed limit?"

The Colonel, recognizing the futility of reuonstrance, admitted that perhaps he had been driving a bit too fast. "To tell the truth, Officer," he explained "My mind was not on my driving. Would you believe that cake of ice there on the running board weighed one hundred pounds when I left the post.

The Cop eyed the cake of ice which appeared to weigh about forty pounds. "No, sir," he admitted, "I certainly wouldn't."

"Well that's just the trouble," exclaimed the Colonel, "I was driving along as fast as I dared, hoping to get a little of it home to my wife and child."

The Law looked at the dwindling cake of ice and then at the Colonel. "Well, sir," he said, "You'd better hurry alnog."

SECRET LIES IN THE DISTILLATION AND NOT THE COLORING

Much has been read about, talked about, heard about, and discussed about this funny colored gasoline of late, why it is colored, and for why the reason, etc. Certain press reports a short while back even indicated that the Quartermaster General had considered recommendations for Motor Transport authorities to color all gasoline issued for government purposes, and to color it with the same color corresponding to the organization to which issued. For instance, to the Infantry, blue, to the Artillery, red, to the Engineers, stripped; and on down through the various branches.

Colored gasoline is being used in Panama this day, largely to prevent theft of same. As for that particular matter, the Panamanians have nothing on Fort Sam Houstonites, for this red-colored gasoline is now being used by a number of motorists, who are becoming very fond not only of the quality, the smell, the mileage, but of its general all round results. However, there are a few skeptics who think that there is something wrong with this red-colored gas, that it is harmful, that the red in the gas has dangerous chemical effects, etc. This writer overheard an explanation of this red-colored Kilnoc gasoline up at the Post Exchange a few days ago, and is passing this on to Review readers, not as an advertisement, but to correct the false impression.

Just like some others, we thought there might be something chemically wrong with the red coloring substance, that is was probably some carbon removing substance placed in the gasoline. However, we learned that the entire difference between this gas and the other gas was in the distillation. We heard a lot of technical terms in the discussion, but after it is all boiled down, it simply remains in the manner of the distillation, the distinction between the old fashioned distillation methods and the new process of manufacturing this Kilnoc gasoline. This latter gas is manufactured through high pressure stills, and, in this operation, the heavy oil, containing no gasoline, is converted into gasoline of a certain "unsaturated aromatic, napthene and paraffine hydrocarbon series." These unsaturated hydrocarbons, under pressure, have a tendency to burn slowly rather than to explode violently, and so modifies the combustion in the motor that there is no knocking. The secret of this is that a given amount of energy if applied at a single instant against a heavy drum will only dent the drum, but not move it. On the other hand if this same amount of energy is applied in a sustained push it will start the drum rolling unharmed. This modified combustion thus prevents the knocking.

Hence, the advantages of this particular gasoline are found in the refining process, itself, and not in the coloring that is put in the gas. In the refining process all foreign substances are removed and the gasoline comes out water white. The reason for the coloring, then, is not to give the gasoline line its exceptional qualities, but to distinguish it from other gasoline. — Camp Normoyle News.

COMPANY F WINS 29th INF. FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

COSTUME DANCE AT SERVICE CLUB WAS HUGE SUCCESS TUESDAY

Sergeant Brown and Miss Holy Win First Prizes; Bakers and Cooks Schools Furnish Excellent Eats

The dance at the Gymnasium on last Tuesday night, given by the Service Club Dance Committee for the benefit of the Children's School, was a great success. The crowd turned out "en masse", but due to the size of the floor there was plenty of room for everyone who cared to, to dance. And it seemed that most of them cared to, to judge by the way the floor was filled.

The 24th Infantry donated the services of two orchestras which provided continual music from 8:30 until 12:00. About them nothing further need be said. Their reputation is already made and their music on that night was well up to scratch.

Capt. Hans C. Johnson, Q. M. C., of the B. & C. School provided five hundred excellent sandwiches and two large cakes which were sold at a very reasonable price by the Ladies Committee, consisting of Mrs. William J. Stewart, Mrs. P. Fortner, Mrs. P. J. McNulty, Mrs. Byron E. Engle, Mrs. Blance Michelson, Mrs. Chester Gray and last but far from least, the Service Club Hostess, Mrs. Inez Brittain. The Chero-Cola Co. of Columbus donated the bottled drinks, which were sold, as usual, under the able supervision of Sergt. Hendricks, the profits of which also went to the Children's School.

The Service Club Dance Committee, consisting of Mr. Sergt. William J. Stewart, Mr. Sergt. "Jazz" Magoni, Tech. Sergt. Byron E. Engle, and Sergts. Matthews and Perkins took care of all the details attendants on running off the dance in a very able manner.

After the show let out at the Main Theatre, Major and Mrs. Daniel H. Torrey, Major and Mrs. William L. Roberts, Major and Mrs. Henry A. Bootz, and Capt. and Mrs. Clark K. Fales dropped in to "looksee" and the ladies of their party were immediately appointed judges to select the prize-winning costume.

The Prize for the Ladies, a leather travelling case of "over-night" size, filled with exquisite stationery, was won by Miss Rosie Holy of Columbus. Her costume consisted of a green satin bodice and a skirt of rainbow colored ruffled tulle, and for head-dress she wore a rhinestone bandeau.

Sergt. Brown, lord and master of the diet for Company G., 29th Infantry, walked away with the prize for the best Gentleman's dress with his stand-by, a "black-face" make-up. The pre-eminent feature of his attire was a necktie of

REPORT OF ADJUTANT GENERAL OF ARMY MADE LAST WEEK

Annual Report of General Wahl Reveals Interesting Facts; Reduction in Desertions Cited

The actual strength of the army at the end of the fiscal year 1927 was 133,268 men, of whom 12,076 were commissioned officers, 1,263 warrant officers, and 119,929 enlisted men. The Adjutant General of the Army, Maj. Gen. Lutz Wahl, presents the numerical data in his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, made public November 29th.

The fiscal year 1927 saw the completion of the demobilization of the world war army, said Gen. Wahl. On November 11, 1926, he said, the last emergency case, a world war non-regular officer, who for several years had been undergoing treatment for physical reconstruction, was discharged from Walter Reid Hospital, Washington, D. C., thereby completing demobilization.

Greater care exercised in the selection of recruits for the army resulted in a decrease in the number of desertions during the fiscal year, Gen. Wahl stated. The percentage of desertions for the fiscal year was 6.07 as compared with 7.26 for the previous fiscal year.

The full text of the official summary of Gen. Wahl's annual report follows:

The act of congress approved July 2, 1926 (the Air Corps Act), provides that the authorized commissioned strength prescribed by the act of June 2, 1920, be increased by 403, this increase to be distributed over a five-year period beginning July 1, 1926; and not to exceed one-fifth of the total increase to be made during the first year.

On November 11, 1926, the last emergency (world war non-regular) officer, who for several years had been undergoing treatment for physical reconstruction, was discharged at the Walter Reid General Hospital, Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C., thereby completing the demobilization of the world war army.

The actual strength of the army on June 30, 1927, by classe sof personnel, is shown below:

Commissioned officers: Regular army, 11,816; Philippine scouts, 97; retired (regular army and Philippine scouts), on active duty, 163; total commissioned officers, 12,076.

Total warrant officers (including 1 retired on active duty), 1,263.

Total enlisted men (including 25 retired on active duty and 6,863 Philippine scouts), 119,929.

Aggregate, 133,268.

In addition to all of the foregoing, there were 681 army nurses (498 regular and 183 reserve), 34 contract surgeons

ALL-ARMY TEAM HUMBLES PARRIS ISLAND MARINES IN GAME LAST SATURDAY

Franz and Yeoman Star for Army Squad; Driggs Praised for Dazzling Line Plunging

In a game surrounded with all the pomp and ceremony of our service gridiron romp, the Army Service team from Fort Benning rolled over the Marines from Parris Island at Franklin Field yesterday afternoon, 39 to 12. Twenty thousand spectators, with the music of six bands pounding their eardrums, saw the Soldiers, inspired by the brilliant play of Quarter-back Yeomans, former West Point star, saw them pile up five touchdowns in the first half and one in the second.

Meanwhile, the Marines, scoring only one touchdown in the second period, rallied in the second half to match the Army's one touchdown during the second thirty minutes, when Ryckman, their crack quarter-back, broke through and ran 61 yards that only ended when he had crossed the Army's goal line.

This run came late in the third period. In the closing moments of the game the Army retaliated by marching 54 yards for a touchdown with Driggs and Kjelstrom reeling off all the yardage in a magnificent display of line bucking.

It was a bitter struggle with the Marines outclassed in the first half and helpless before the dashing play of the entire Army team led by the clever Yeomans, but rallied in the second half to give the Regulars a stern battle from start to finish. The performance of the two rival quarterbacks, Ryckman for the Marines, and Yeomans for the Army, combined with the dazzling line plunging of Driggs, Army fullback, featured a game that if played in midseason on Franklin Field would be written as one of the gridiron classics of the season.

Ruth Elder Sees Game

There was a band in every section of the field before the game started. The Marine band took its position immediately in front of the north stand, while the various American Legion Posts drilled in the middle of the gridiron.

Ruth Elder entered the stadium with Colonel Waite C. Johnson, 24th Infantry of Fort Benning, and Colonel Clarence Chamberlin and his wife. Before taking the seat in the north stand, she paused to greet a number of disabled war veterans.

The eleven from Fort Benning was ably handled by the stout-hearted Yeomans, displaying an offense in the first half that showed both power and deception. The drive of the Soldiers carried everything before it during the first hour of football.

The Army eleven had been coached in the plays of Knute Rockne and his famed

CAPTAIN LOVETT'S OUTFIT CARRIED OFF HONORS IN FAST, INTERESTING GAME

Ripple Breaks Through Company "B" Line For Big Gains; Final Score 7 to 6.

The football team of Company F, 29th Infantry, commanded by Captain Ralph B. Lovett carried off the regimental company football championship of the 29th Infantry this year. The championship game was played Sunday afternoon on the gridiron of Doughboy Stadium and from the spectator's point of view, was the most spectacular game of football played at Fort Benning this season. The grand stands were filled with strong supporters for both teams and the cheering and enthusiasm was at a high pitch during the entire fray. Company B, commanded by Capt. J. H. Rustemeyer, was the losing team. His team threatened the goal at several stages, and the last play of the game Barr, Company B, received a long pass and it looked as though he was gone for a touchdown when he was downed by Hawkins. That ended the game with the ball in possession of Company B.

The game was fast and hard fought from start to finish, Ripple at quarterback and "Stubby" Barron playing halfback were the outstanding stars of the game, and it was largely through their exceptional running and passing that the laurels of victory went to the winners.

Rompolski at quarterback and Loper at left end played a great game for B Company, Loper running 35 yards for a touchdown when he intercepted a pass on Company F's 35 yard line.

Nortez, big two hundred and fifty pound guard, scooped an F Company fumble on the 50 yard mark in the third quarter, and with a thirty foot lead and an open field headed for F Company's last white mark and the championship, but alas, we don't wonder why nobody loves a fat man, with the entire B Company team running interference and an open field ahead Mr. Nortez let a championship slip away when he was felled at the 10 yard line with the entire F Company team piling on top of him.

When McFadden threw a pass over the goal line with nobody at home, F Company quickly got busy and booted the ole pigskin to safer territory.

With a minute to play, B Company turned loose a flurry of passes, the last one coming close to turning the trick, with 15 seconds to play, Rompolski threw a pass thirty yards to Barr, who caught it and would have been on his way but for a lightning tackle by Hawkins that cut his run short, the whistle ended the battle.

FORT BENNING SOLDIER HONORED BY LOCAL LODGE

At a meeting held in Columbus last Monday night, Master Sergeant Jesse E. Stewart was elected for his second term as Council Commander of the Woodmen of the World.

Sergt. Stewart is well known to Fort Benning having been in charge of the recruiting office here since March, 1914. He first enlisted in the service in the 11th Cavalry in 1914 serving at Fort Oglethorpe and going with his troop to the Mexican border in 1916. He was on the punitive expedition into Mexico and remained there until wounded when he was relieved and sent back to the States for discharge due to physical disability. He remained out of the service only a short time, however, when he re-enlisted at Atlanta and was assigned to the recruiting service in which branch he has served continuously since. During the war, Sergt. Stewart served at Fort Thomas, Ky. where he was assistant in charge of handling the thousands of war time recruits that were sent through that recruit depot.

His many friends at Fort Benning extend him congratulations on his recent honor conferred by his lodge.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR BENNING SOLDIER

Private Howard Evans, Infantry School Detachment, who died last week at the post hospital, was buried at his home at Cordele, Georgia, last Sunday. The funeral rites were in charge of the Cordele American Legion post and the pallbearers were members of that organization.

Private Evans was survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Evans, who have the sympathy of Fort Benning in their bereavement.

BENNING CHILDREN WILL HELP SANTA CLAUS THIS YEAR

Fort Benning school youngsters are getting ready for old Santa Claus this year. They are bringing slightly used toys and out-grown clothes to the school and the toys will be painted and the dolls dressed up. The pupils are doing that work in the afternoons. These will be given to Santa Claus when they are fixed up and Santa will give these things to youngsters who do not have as many toys and nice things as other youngsters. All the school children are thrilled at being one of Santa's helpers this year.

FRIDAY, DEC. 9

"GENTLEMEN OF PARIS," starring Adolphe Menjou in a combination of sophisticated comedy and emotional dramatics, done in the irresistable Menjou manner. He had all a gentleman's virtues—his only vice (if it be such) was being fond of the ladies. This picture, staged against the absorbing background of Parisian envirous in the great shadows of the Eifel Tower, carries you into the heart of higher social life, where the glitter of jewels dazzels the retina to the exclusion of the thinly bedecked wearers.

Second showing of this celebrated comedy
If you haven't seen it
Don't miss this last chance
If you have seen it you'll want to see it again.

"ROOKIES," starring Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, the world's greatest comedy team in seven reels of mirth, side splitting from start to finish. It is the hilarious tale of a chap who goes to training camp to escape the clutches of the law; he ran into enough escapades, laughs and romance to last him a life time and enough trouble to make him long for jail. Miss your dinner rather than miss this lip cracking picture.

"Hello Lafayette." Imperial.

SUNDAY, DEC. 11

"THE BIG PARADE," starring John Gilbert and Rena Adoree backed by an all star cast. This is precisely the same "Big Parade" which has traveled the continent as a road show at prices ranging up to $2.50 per seat. It will be shown at our theatres for 25c. This tremendous story depicts powerful scenes of bravery, enormous troop movements, super exciting scenes on the battlefield and a remarkable combination of pathos and comedy which brings tears one moment and volumes of laughter the next. It is staged under the able direction of King Vidor. The story is from the pen of Captain Lawrence Stallings, the well known veteran of the A. E. F., playwright, novelist and journalist, who has contributed more than any other man to our knowledge of life in France during the great world crisis. This picture was secured with difficulty for Fort Benning. It is doubtful if a second showing can be secured for some time to come. Don't miss this marvelous production. It is the outstanding feature of the year. The Regular Army made this picture what it is.

MONDAY, DEC. 12

"OUT ALL NIGHT," starring Reginald Denny with Marion Nixon in a rollicking frolic aboard a trans-Atlantic liner where anything can happen and does. It is a scintillating squint at the troubles of a newly wedded husband who pretended he was a ship's doctor in order to travel with his newly won wife. Denny's knack of getting into trouble and out of it was never more in evidence than in this fascinating farce.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 2."

TUESDAY, DEC. 13

"PAINTED PONIES," starring Hoot Gibson in another one of his high powered thrilling westerns. It is a gripping story of a girl whose father ran a Merry-Go-Round, and her battle against a bad man of the meanest sort. Complete rodio scenes—broncho busting, trick riding, steer roping, thrilling, astounding feats of fearless riding and remarkable skill feature in this picture.

"Just a Husband." Hellen and Warren comedy.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 14

"OVER THE HILL TO THE POOR HOUSE," starring Mary Carr and Johny Walker in a re-issue of this strong play. The very unpretentious plainness of its characters and the atmosphere makes it the more impressive. The sincerity of its drama will touch the heart of everyone. It is a picture of mother love that you'll never forget. This is an old, but keenly interesting picture. It was especially requested by several members of this station.

THURSDAY, DEC. 15

"FAIR CO-ED," starring Marion Davies in a highly amusing picture of American college life. Marion appears as the campus siren in this mile-a-minute laugh riot—books mean nothing to her—but the havoc she causes in masculine hearts is nobody's business—the whole country falls for her. The story is filled with athletic fetes. Basketball and other games of keen competition compel interest from the start. Of course a captivating romance binds the sprite threads.

"Time Flies." Lupino Lane comedy.

FRIDAY, DEC. 16

"THE CHINESE PARROT," starring Marian Nixon and Hobart Bosworth with an all star cast. It is one of those rare pictures, so strange, so weird and so gripping, that it baffles description. The story is based on the unfathomable theft of a string of world renowned pearls—the key to the mystery is held by a Chinese parrot. It is from Earl Derr Bigger's famous Saturday Evening Post story.

24TH INFANTRY HOLD REGIMENTAL HOP

The 24th Infantry's monthly regimental hop was held last Friday evening at the Polo Club. The hop was a great success. The club was tastefully decorated and a huge fire of logs was an enjoyable contrast to the cold rain which held forth at the time.

In the receiving line were Major and Mrs. Edwin Butcher, Captain and Mrs. C. L. Steel, Captain and Mrs. P. B. Rogers, and ieut. and Mrs. E. P. Sarle.

Sergeant Scipio's orchestra furnished splendid jazzy music.

The success of these monthly affairs is apparent if judged by the large attendance not only from officers and ladies of the 24th Infantry, but from members of the garrison as well.

The committee consisting of Captains Winfield and Jenna, and Lieut. R. S. Mackie are to be congratulated on the success of the hops.

The Suzanne Keener recital on Monday evening sponsored by the Three Arts League of Columbus was attended by many from Fort Benning, who love the finer things. It is of interest to know that Suzanne Keener and Mrs. Cecil Rutledge, one of our own most gifted musicians, were close friends during their years of study at the Conservatory in Indianapolis. Mrs. Rutledge was with her for a little visit in the afternoon at the hotel and she said that the artist was so hoarse she could scarcely talk, due in small part to the fatigue of a nine weeks concert tour and in large part to the irritation suffered from the excessive smoke at the Sigmu Nu banquet in Atlanta on Saturday where she sang. Despite this handicap she accredited herself nobly a few hours later.

MANY BENNING OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN IN "BIG PARADE."

Fort Benning officers and enlisted men will be seen in action at the moving picture theatres here Sunday in the "Big Parade." Some of the officers are permanently stationed here while others are students in the big Infantry School. The enlisted personnel are with organizations at Benning.

The officers here who saw action in this master moving picture production are: Major Henry A. Bootz, who is in command of the Infantry School Detachment; Captains Roy F. Hall, Edward J. Rehmann and Ercil D. Porter, Lieutenants Mark H. Doty, Melvin R. Finney, David L. Hardee, Harry W. Killpack, Charles R. Landon, Landon J. Lockett, Howard E. Pulliam, Douglas H. Rubinstein, A. J. MacKenzie, Stanley Partridge, and B. C. Cavender.

The enlisted men who participated in the taking of this picture are Private First Class H. B. Maynard, I. S. D.; Corporal George Russo, 29th Infantry, and Private Eddie Curry, 83rd Field Artillery.

Made At Fort Sam Houston

This picture was produced at Fort Sam Houston, the home of the famous 2nd Division, of which the above named officers and enlisted men were members at the time. This outfit spent practically three months in the field while movie directors told them how to do it—and it was done. As a consequence the "Big Parade" is probably the most talked of as the greatest war picture ever made for a moving picture loving American public. The entire 2nd Division was used in this picture including the truck trains.

The picture was made in the summer of 1925. Just use your imagination, if you please and picture yourself in the heat of Texas—and intense heat there as found no other place—with a trench coat and helmet and tramping along the dusty road until time to deploy at double time. That's what those who were a part of this wonderful picture went through—almost actual warfare, if you please, leaving out the shellfire. All the hardships of war were portrayed and almost suffered in the making of this masterpiece. So well were the troops trained that rehearsals for the picture were unnecessary.

The Picture

Three American boys of widely different walks of life are blended together by the draft in that glorious fighting unit—the infantry squad, and became buddies.

John Gilbert, as James Apperson, a scion of elite society, is the hero of the play, and falls in love with a little French peasant girl while his outfit is in training back of the lines.

You will fall in love with Renee Adoree yourself. She never could quite understand why the boys would not let her watch them bathe in the creek (no bathing suits were taken overseas). Jim taught her to chew gum in the American fashion, and the delicious way in which she does it will send you to the lobby to get a package.

She, in turn shows the boys how to keep house in their billet, (a French barn) amongst the cows, hogs, sheep and horses.

Tom O'Brien, as a chunky barkeeper from New York, is the real 'Tough' of the three. He has a lot of trouble with a girl back home, who forgets to write. Never could get used to the things French that were so unlike New York. Very unhappy, till they were ordered to the front.

Karl Dane, as the typical American, almost stole the picture from Gilbert and Miss Adoree. He was of the tall, lean, lanky type, chewed tobacco, the juice of which he expectorated with deadly accuracy. At one time he actually stopped the charge of a bulldog, by filling his eyes with tobacco juice.

This picture was the making into stars of Miss Adoree, O'Brien and Dane. John Gilbert, of course needed no further opportunity. The work of this four in The Big Parade was perfect. Miss Adoree is in truth a French girl.

The sudden flurry and excitement of the order to go to the front throws all the love affairs of the little village into desolate wrecks. And you can feel the ominous tension in the air as the truck trains pull out.

Even as the company arrives behind the front they are deployed off the road, and into the fight.

Side by side these boys fight through, and we come to the trench scene in night operations.

This scene where the boys crawl and fight hand to hand in the mud and shell holes is, without doubt, the most dramatic, thrilling, and beautiful one ever made of any kind of warfare. And let us warn you to go ahead and cry, for cry you certainly will, as you watch the spurting fire of the enemy machine gun end the misery of most of the little squad. And when you see the machine gun bullets cutting Jim to pieces, you feel that you are in the fight yourself, and find yourself shrinking from the roaring gun when you see it firing square into your face.

And the love scene at the end! There is nothing higher in moving picture art than this. Feel the pathos and loneliness of the little French girl, plowing in the field with her mother, knowing that her "Jeem" is lost forever. Feel with her the world of utter blackness that faces her to the end.

WORLD FAMED MUSICAL DIRECTORS PREPARE ORCHESTRATION MAIN THEATRE

For the feature picture, "Big Parade" at Main Theatre, Sunday evening, Dec. 11, there has been rented a complete musical score which was composed and compiled for the regular New York production. Dr. Wm. Axt composer, and Dr. Mendoza conductor, collaborated in the making of this score and audiences throughout the country are wild in their enthusiasm over the fittingness and artistry of this work.

Embodied in the score are many of the songs which were sung by the Doughboys overseas. In many cases, entire short symphonies are built upon themes or snatches of such popular songs as "Over There," "Mille from Armintieres," and When Yankee Doodle Learned to Parlez Vous Francais." In some places two or more ditties are woven together in a contrapuntal style which more than captivates the listener. Dr. Axt's own specially composed numbers are outstanding for their stirring rhythm and martial flavor, and the adaptation of short semi-classics for the love scenes, shows the master touch of an excellent arranger.

The object of moving picture music is to enhance the picture, but never to be predominant and the aim of every director is not to have the listener say "I thought the music was wonderful," but rather, "How wonderfully the music fitted the picture." Such a score is that to be used in "The Big Parade." On Sunday the Main Theatre orchestra will be supplemented by additional string, wood wind and brass instruments. Sergt. Wright's aggregation has been getting steadily better for the last year, and all told, their remarkable improvement over former days is a pleasing commentary upon Sergt. Wright's ability.

The orchestra will be under the able direction of Capt. Geo. L. King for the Sunday evening's performance.

IT SPEAKS WELL FOR LITTLE OLD RELIABLE REGULAR ARMY

It is pleasing to read in an official report that during the last three years more than one-half of the enlisted men discharged from the regular army re-enlisted within three months. The exact figures are 48,125 men, or 57.8 per cent. of those whose term of enlistment expired in that period.

The American people have tucked away in the corner of their heart a very warm spot for the regular army. The part this little force played in blazing the way for civilization across a savage continent, its uncanny reliability in times of emergency, its resourcefulness in supplying military education to hurriedly assembled millions of raw American recruits in those early divisions first thrown into the fighting line in France, are a record to command affection and admiration.

And now re-enlistments tell a story of affection of the men themselves for the service. It bespeaks the high character of the army in peace as well as in war. After all that is a very trying test. But it is the Army's splendid qualities in peace that have made it so effective in time of trouble.—San Francisco Chronicle.

COSTUME DANCE AT SERVICE CLUB WAS HUGE SUCCESS TUESDAY NIGHT

gargantuan proportions and of a startling vermilion shade, which, in the opinion of the reporter, was more than enough to prejudice the judges in his favor. The award was a genuine, cowhide, leather stitched bill fold.

The selection of prize winners, to judge by the enthusiastic approval of the dancers, was entirely in accord with the opinion of the majority of those present, which fact we are very glad to report. Judging, be it of costumes, babies, or beauties, is always a ticklish operation, an office always open to criticism and comment, but in this particular instance, by the sageness of their decision, the judges left themselves open only to approbation.

Their were several highlights in the course of the dance, unexpected to be sure, but all the more welcome by their unexpectedness. The first of them came shortly after the Grand March and the selection of Prize-Winners, and was announced by Captain F. S. Doll, the Asst. Recreation Officer. Attired in a baker's cap and coat, Capt. Doll took the rostrum for a moment to introduce Pvt. John Lane of the 8th Infantry, Fort Moultrie, S. C., who is attending the B. & C. School in this post. Lane, accompanied by Sgt. Scippio, 24th Infantry, put on a few warbling numbers which were very well received.

A little later another amusing incident occurred. Mrs. McNulty, with Sgt. Byron E. Engle of the Finance Dept. acting as bus-boy, was peddling sandwiches in the immediate vicinity of the orchestral dias. Some big-hearted philanthropist, evidently noting the signs of famine making their appearance on the phsysiognomies of the music makers, tossed a bucy-fifty on the tray to pay for sandwiches for them. Enter the villian. Sloane Williams, the 24th Infantry's long-legged, limber-fingered, snare-artist, while getting his sandwich, "appropriated" the afore-mentioned "Filthy lucre" which lay on the tray under his fingers, not for his own use, you understand, but merely as a little joke on Mrs. P. J. But one can't get away with that sort of stuff on her. She has too good an eagle eye for that, and besides, Williams laughed too hard and too long about it. HE thought it was pretty rich.

Mrs. "Mac" took a firm stance on the dance floor directly in front of the drums, and transferred the erring Williams with a piercing gaze. The conversation which followed was along the following lines.

"Williams!"
"Yes, MAM!"
"What did you take that money for?"
"I didn't take that money, man, I just "borrowed" it for a joke."
"You have a very peculiar sense of humor, Williams."
"Yes, MAM!"
"My rates of interest to "borrowers" is high, Williams."
"Yes, MAM!"
"That's cost you an extra four bits, Williams, so come across with two bucks."
"Yes, MAM!" and Williams reached for his trousers pocket.

Mrs. McNulty retired victorious with an extra "half" for the School "kitty" and Williams returned to his drums, richer in the ways of women, but poorer in pocket. We venture to state that it will be many moons before he tries to put anything over on her again.

Shortly after this, the intermission ended, and the orchestra struck into "Ain't She Sweet" as a starter. They had barely begun, when Pvt. J. C. Hitchner, of Company F, 29th Infantry, hopped up onto the stand with a clarinet in his hand and started to play with them. In a very short time, the front of the dias was crowded with listeners, enthusiastic listeners, too. That boy was hot. He played the number through and started into the next, this time with some more amateur assistance. Sgt. Pierre W. Fox, of the "Pill-rollers" chased Sloane Williams away from snare-drums and took the helm himself. He was wearing a green, checked, gingham, romper with socks and shoes to finish off, and with the sticks alive in his hands added to the facial characteristics and natural born inclinations of a comedian, he was a riot. Hitchner changed off to a saxaphone and kept on going, but they closed off all too soon. Hitchner already has a reputation as a singer and as a stringed instrument player, but last night adds more scalps to his belt. Which only goes to prove that there is plenty of amateur talent lying dormant in the various outfits in this post, merely needing the psychological moment to awaken it.

In closing we want to thank the various persons and organizations who were instrumental in making the affair so great a success as it turned out to be. Captain Hans J. Johanson, of the B. & C. School, for his donation of "eats"; Captain F. S. Doll, the Asst. Recreation Officer, for his attention to the inevitable detail which occurs and which must be taken care of, and for the unswerving interest he has for the enlisted men; both the Ladies' and the Gentlemen's Committee for the able manner in which they performed their duties; Sgt. Scippio and Sgt. Woods, for their selection of musicians, and for their playing; the 24th Infantry orchestras, for "Putting-out" so hard as they did on that night of nights; the Howard Bus Company of Columbus, for the many courtesies which they have extended; the Chero-Cola Company of Columbus, for donating the "drinks"; Pvts. Chastain and Milligan of the B. & C. School, for donating their services at the lunch counter and particularly for staying on the job all through the night, which we know was hard for them to do; Pvt. John Goodwin of the Motor Transport, for donating his services as driver of the Post Bus; Pvt. John Lane, of the B. & C. School, for his Whistling; Sgt. Pierre W. Fox and Pvt. J. C. Hitchner, for their impromptu entertainment ;and lastly, the commissioned personnel who dropped in to say "Hello" and to indicate their interest in the social affairs of the elisted men.

Major Daniel H. Torrey, Post Adjutant, expressed his approval of the way the affair was managed by personally congratulating the various committees on their efficiency, and also expressed the wish that all future affairs in which they have a part, be equally successful.

COMMENDATION

The following letter from Columbus Roll Call Chairman, American Red Cross is published for the information of all concerned:

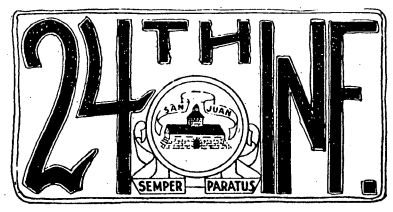
MAJOR VAN FLEET NOW STUDENT AT INFANTRY SCHOOL

Major J. A. Van Fleet, who has been head coach of the All-Army football team this year has been relieved from that duty and reported to the Infantry School as a student of the advanced class this year.



The officers of the regiment continued with monographs last week. On November 28th, Capt. R. Q. Whitten gave an extremely interesting talk on a phase of the World War. His subject, embracing the Montdidier-Nayon offensive covered the event leading up to the second battle of the Marne. The pocketing of the Germans in a huge salient, their efforts to extricate themselves, and the decisions were described in clear cut detail by Capt. Whitten. His interesting talk showed that he had made a thorough study of the situations that existed in this campaign.

Captain James L. Ballard chose as his subject the battle of Austerlitz. While he chose to go back to a period of one hundred and twenty years, his graphic description of one of Napoleon's greatest battles supplemented by some maps, brought the events of that day clearly before the eyes of the listeners. The training and discipline of an army that marched from the English channel to Austerlitz in forty-five days, and then aided by the genius of Napoleon, won one of the greatest battles of the world. This battle is still a matter of amazement and admiration to this day. Captain Ballard is to be congratulated on his very excellent monograph.

Captain Hite on Leave

Captain John M. Hite left on a fifteen day's leave of absence Monday, which he will spend at his home in Topeka, Kansas, where his father is dangerously ill.

Lieut. Greene Joins 24th

Lieut. Joseph I. Greene joined the regiment last Saturday from duty in Panama. Standing out in solitary estate, Lieut. Greene is the only second lieutenant with the regiment. He is a graduate of West Point, '23, and after graduation served with the 16th Infantry and later with the 33rd Infantry in Panama. It was at the latter station that Lieut. Greene played No. 1 on the army polo team that held the championship of the Isthmus.

Basketball League Opened

The 24th Infantry basketball league opened last Wednesday evening. Each company is represented by a team which will play for the regimental championship. The games will be played every Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2:15. A regimental team will soon be selected by Capt. M. E. Craig and try outs for this team will be held on Wednesday nights at the Post Gym.

Hunting Trips

Sgt. Harrison Hogan, of Company "E," like another well known 24th doughboy went a'hunting. He hunted all around with a considerable well armed party and the necessary four legged scouts. The hounds discovered a joyous scent, the armed party followed, the trail led on and on, thru fields, marshes, deep woods, and then—the rest of the story is a little vague. Hogan, when he returned a couple of days later was of the opinion it might have been a b'ar. Whatever the nature of the pursued there seems to have been a great deal of dispersion at this point among the pursurers. The hounds and the rest of the party have not been heard from as we go to press.

Company "G"

Thursday, November 24th, 1927, being Thanksgiving, was an enjoyable day with this company. We had one of the best dinners of the regiment on that day. Our cooks, namely, Wilton Jones, Willie Arnold, Elijah L. Peters, and Doc Williams, worked faithfully, punctually and energetically preparing for this day. The entire company extended praises to them for their services. This dinner was enjoyed by our company commander, Captain Albert B. Helsley, his guests, the company and its guests. The space the writer desires to use is inadequate to give the names of the guests or the menu, therefore, they are omitted with much regret. An orchestra consisting of Willie B. Woods, Frank Ruffin, Harvey Rhodes, Rosevelt Davis, Elwood Lyle, Alfred Williams, Laurin Decuir, Dorsey Battle and Rudolph Riley, from our band, rendered the latest jazz music from "Broadway" to us during our dinner, which was enjoyed by all. Our Mess Sergeant, Sergeant Fred C. Wright, was solely responsible for the management of this dinner, which was given without any embarrassment whatsoever. Our mess corporal, Corporal David King, put forth every effort to carry out the policy of the mess officer and mess sergeant on this occasion, as usual. The policy adopted to govern this day carried it thru just like an airplane gliding thru the air. The willingness of our K. P.'s to clean the pots and waiters to serve the tables seemed somewhat within the superlative degree. This dinner was given in our mess, Mess Hall No. 3.

The musical revue and light comedy "Little Miss Enemy" given by the 24th Infantry players Thursday, November 24th, Thanksgiving, had four members of our company, namely, Walter Bennett, Floyd Lamar, Herman Seats and James A. Ross, participating therein and we are glad to know that we have such talent in our company.

Our Private First Class Julius Hailey has recently returned from a month's furlough. He states that he has a sojourn of pleasure and happiness. We are glad to have him back with us and are glad to know that he has had such a sojourn.

Our company is getting to be a "pace setting" company for the regiment. We have just about completed a new recreation hall, which, apparently, will be the best one of the regiment, when completed. We also have a beautiful flower yard which has just been completed by the labor of our company commander, Captain Albert B. Helsley, and other members of the company. This flower yard will be in bloom in the spring of the ensuing year and all members of the garrison are cordially invited to come around and "smoke" it over.

Our famous football players, namely, Sellers, Tillis, Tholmer, Hodgers, Brice and Battle, have been returned to the company for duty. We are glad to have them back for duty and are glad to know that they succeeded while thereout.

We have what you want in music and 878 cadets at the military academy, in service on June 30, 1927, making altogether 134,861 individuals in the military service of the United States on that date.

REPORT OF ADJUTANT GENERAL OF ARMY MADE LAST WEEK

The grades of the 114 commissioned officers who resigned during the fiscal year were as follows: Lieutenant colonel, 2; major, 11; captain, 27; first lieutenant, 35; second lieutenant, 39.

The branches of service represented were as follows: Judge advocate general's department, 1; quartermaster corps, 6; medical department, 22; finance department, 1; corps of engineers, 6; ordnance department, 1; signal corps, 1; corps of chaplains, 1; cavalry, 6; field artillery, 20; coast artillery corps, 14; infantry, 27; air corps, 8.

Care in Enlistments Reduces Desertions

For several years past the question of reducing the number of desertions in the army has been the subject of constant study in the War Department, and various plans looking to a betterment of existing conditions have been considered. During the fiscal year covered by this report intelligence tests for recruits were introduced experimentally in each corps area in addition to other precautions enjoined upon recruiting personnel.

Greater care has been taken in the selection of recruits, with the result that the decrease in desertions noted in the annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, was more pronounced during the year ended June 30, 1927. The losses from all causes among enlisted men duirng the year aggregated 71,015.

As there were 119,929 enlisted men in the army on June 30, 1927, and 71,015 others had been separated from the service during the preceding twelve months, 190,944 represents the total number of enlistment contracts in force during the year. Based upon this figure the percentage of reported desertions for the year is 6.07 as compared with 7.26 for the previous fiscal year.

During the fiscal year a grand total of 16,889 reserve officers underwent a period of training.

On June 30, 1927, the close of the last academic year, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps consisted of 325 units with a grand total enrollment of 108,957, an increase of 2,179 over the preceding year.

The Military Training Camps Association assisted materially in the procurement of candidates for the Citizen's Military Training Camps. Many other leading civilian organizations took an active interest in this campaign. The American Legion Auxiliary is now conducting a successful Citizens' Military Training Camp poster contest. Sixty-five educational institutions throughout the United States have shown their interest in the Citizens' Military Training Camps by offering scholarships to selected candidates at these camps.

Cadets Commissioned

The Military Training Camps Association has been very active in securing these scholarships. The boards of education in six different states have authorized high school credits for Citizens' Military Training Camp attendance, while the state-boards of education in three additional states have recommended that such credits be given.

For the first time in the history of the military-academy the members of the graduating class were appointed second lieutenants in the several combatant branches of the regular army on graduation day and their commissions delivered to them as a part of the graduation exercises.

The successful accomplishment of this procedure was effected by a carefully planned adjustment of the administrative work of this office and the thorough cooperation of the West Point authorities, and resulted in the elimination of considerable clerical work heretofore necessary, such as the issuance of letters of appointment, mailing of commissions, etc.

Delays in accepting appointments were thus prevented, and the status of the graduate with respect to pay and rank was immediately fixed. Moreover, each graduate, under the new arrangement, departs from West Point holding the position for which he has been striving for four hard years.

Of the 2,071 commissioned officers of the regular army, exclusive of Philippine scouts officers, on the retired list on June 30, 1927, 60, or approximately 2.9 per cent, had served in the United States army, navy, or Marine Corps, otherwise than as cadets, prior to April 9, 1865, as against 3.6 per cent. on June 30, 1926.

15TH TANKS

Company "A"

We extend a hearty welcome to the members of the All-Army football team upon their return to this station.

Sergeant Pie Trainer says it will be a relief for him to get back to his quarters in the Tank park. He has been acting 1st Sergeant during 1st Sergeant Bertelman's absence with the All-Army football team.

During the month of November the Mess of Company "A" stood second place in the rating of messes in the Garrison. This is an excellent showing and we wish to express our appreciation to the entire mess personnel.

Wonder who this notorious is that "Burhead" and "Cueball" Smith, are talking about. We have learned that he is about three years old but that is all the dope available on him.

Company "B"

Corporal Sealy can't sleep at night, so he makes up for it in the day time, and take it from us that boy sure can pound his ear. It takes four men to wake him up for chow—some record eh? Correct.

We don't know what's wrong with White, but he seems to be following in Cueball Clark's footsteps — after putting on one on his pistol belts for guard, he then tried to put on another. Smatter Boy?

Vallery Frank and the orderly room sheik hopped off to Atlanta Friday to see the Georgia-Tech struggle. Frank said when leaving that they would probably be in the shirt tail parade.

Capt. Kigo goes White one better. He poured his coffee cup full of soup. Wake up Kigo.

Every man eligible for the American Legion in "B" Company has joined.

A doctor was taking the temperature of a stock broker who was suffering from a high fever. 'It's gone to 104," he announced in a hushed voice, with his eyes on the thermometer. The dazed patient slowly raised himself on his elbow. "Sell, sell" he shouted, as he relapsed into unconsciousness again.

TANK AND 24TH INFANTRY MESSES TIE FOR FIRST HONORS

Company "C," 15th Tank Battalion, and Mess No. 5, of the 24th Infantry, tied for first place as a result of the scoring made by the medcal nspector at Fort Benning last month. This is the standing for the entire month of November.

Four organizations tied for second honors. They were Company "A," 15th Tank Battalion, Company "C," 1st Gas Regiment; Battery "C," 83rd Field Artillery, and the Hospital mess.

Mess No. 4, 24th Infantry, Infantry School Detachment, Mess No. 3, 24th Infantry, Hq. Co., 2nd Battalion, 29th Infantry, and Company "B," 15th Tank Battalion, all tied for third place.

The above messes, although scoring the same as others in above case, were rated as "Excellent."

COMPANY "F" WINS 29TH FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Game

Rompolski kicked off, Ripple running the ball back to his 45 yard line, with Ripple or Barron carrying the ball, F Company marched down the field making four first downs before B Company finally held on their 15 yard line, Rompolski punted to B's 40 yard line, Barr intercepted a pass but was downed in his tracks, o nthe first play B Company, fumbled and Palmer recovered for F.

Ripple made fifteen yards around right end on the first play, two penalties in a row put the ball on B Company's 5 yard line at the end of the first quarter. Score 0—0.

Two line plunges with Ripple carrying the ball gave F Company a touchdown early in the second quarter. With B Company players expecting Ripple to kick for the extra point, Harbson caught them flatfooted when he carried the ball over for the extra and winning point.

With a minute left in the second quarter, Loper recovered a fumble racing 40 yards for a touchdown, the try for extra point was blocked. End of the second quarter. Score F 7—B 6.

The third quarter was a scoreless affair with both teams fighting hard for a touchdown. On an attempted pass Nortez recovered an F Company fumble carrying the ball to F Company's 10 yard strip before he was downed.

Led by Ripple in the last period F Company rushed the ball down the field, B holding on their 10 yard line. B Company opened up an aerial attack in the last few minutes of play that came close but not close enough to bring a touchdown. With 15 seconds to play Rompolski threw a long pass to Barr who made a perfect catch Ripple nailing him in his tracks.

A second later and the whistle put an end to hostilities amid the yells of the victorious Second Bat's. The final score F 7—B 6.

WOMAN WINS HONOR IN EARLY AMERICAN CAMPAIGN

Records at Fort Niagara, New York, headquarters of the 28th Infantry, First Division, show that a woman fought in the American Army at that place on November 21, 1812, and was cited for bravery, and for "fortitude equal to the Maid of Orleans."

This American Jeanne d' Arc was Mrs. Fanny Doyle, wife of Private Doyle, of the Artillery. Her husband had been taken prisoner by the British.

Termination of an Armistice between the Americans and British resulted on November 21, 1812, in the British, at 7:30 A. M. beginning a bombardment of Fort Niagara, which lasted until dusk. It was a terrific bombardment. Fort Niagara's batteries replied sending "hot shot" into the village of Newark, now Niagara-on-the-Lake, Canada, and into Fort George, which is almost opposite the quarters of the present Post Commander at Fort Niagara, New York. More than two thousand balls of "hot shot" are said to have been fired into Fort Niagara.

While the bombardment was at its height, Mrs. Doyle cared for the preparation of "hot shot" for a six pounder in the old Fort. The Commanding Officer cited her valor thus:

"An instance of extraordinary bravery in a female (the wife of one Doyle, a private in the United States Artillery, made a prisoner at Queenstown), I cannot pass over. During the most tremendous cannonading I have ever seen, she attended the six pounder on the Mess House with red hot shot and showed fortitude equal to the Maid of Orleans."

"Hot shot" were the solid shot used in the old muzzle loading cannon of that period, heated until they were red hot, they were loaded into the cannon by means of tongs, the wadding on the powder charge preventing contact between the two.

They were heated in a brazier filled with charcoal placed near the cannon, the red hot shot being quickly loaded and fired, would immediately start a fire if it came in contact with anything inflamable.

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—December 19th.
Time—2:15.

On last Monday afternoon we had a breathless time at the General meeting of the Woman's Club. There were at least one hundred women assembled to hear a program that had been prophecied as of very special interest, for we were have a speaker from away tell us of Southern Folk Lore and Mrs. Moon was to sing some Folk melodies. Mrs. Johnson, the excellent president of the club, called the meeting to order as if all were well, and after the business she announced that she was still expecting the speaker whom we had expected to address us but as yet she had not arrived so we would proceed with the program. Mrs. Jacob Moon was presented and she made a most interesting talk on negro music. She quoted some student of music who said that perhaps the gift of song was given to the negro as compensation for being colored for they all sing and they sing under all circumstances. They sing at work, at play, when they are happy, and when they are grief stricken. Negro songs she divided into four groups.

1. The Spirituals—those beautiful songs like "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Down by the River Side," "Little David, Play on your Harp," etc. which have been published, and recorded on victrola records, and made famous through the medium of concerts the world over by the Fisk University Jubilee singers. These songs are their sacred songs and no matter how absurd or ridiculous the words may sometimes appear, they are never to be laughed at for the melody, the harmony elevates them to the sanctity for which they were intended.

2. The Love Songs—which are few.

3. The Blues—originated by a negro from Memphis, and later used as the inspiration for Modern Jazz though the Jazz is a desecration and a degradation of the original.

4. The Working Songs—in this group there are chopping songs, picking songs, railroad songs, boat-loading songs, concert songs, each one of which has a district rhythm which suits that particular work and a song leader takes the place of a foreman, the work proceeding exactly in time with the song. As her talk developed Mrs. Moon, playing her own accompaniment on her guitar, sang excellent examples of each group. Her selections were especially interesting because she gave several unrecorded songs which she perhaps will publish. Her lovely Southern voice was ideal for these plaintive spirituals and love songs, and she caught and passed on the spirit of the working songs in a remarkable way.

And during all this the expected speaker was still being expected! Mrs. Johnson asked Mrs. Vinson if she would give an Uncle Remus story on a minute's notice and she responded with "Brer Rabbit and the Mosquitoes."

And lo! When she had finished Miss Dobbs was there, and she was just windblown enough to take away the high-brow dignity and formality that might have been, and clever enough to capitalize her experiences which caused the delay, as real vital instances of her folk-talk and casting aside the scholarly prepared study of folk-lore she just talked to us in a free, informal, charming way. She is a philologist and her chief interest in folk lore is its contribution to language and literature and its value as a record in the progress of human development. She knows mountain folk first hand as does she also know the negro. The mountaineer of the South are in the isolated regions living exactly as their forebears lived in the "Days of Good Queen Bess" the wheels of time having stopped for them in the 18th Century as far as progress is concerned. The tales they tell, the songs they sing, and the speech they use tally almost xactly with that of the Elizabethton age.

She reminded us that folk tales are world tales; the same ideas that were expressed in the classic myths of great beauty are told in repulsive terms on barbaric islands today. They are as truly the tales of the cannibals as they were of the learned Greeks for the savage knows no language nor realm save his own and has inherited the lore from his own folk. To make one concrete example she showed us how Brer Rabbit is to the negro what Beowuff was to the Anglo-Saxon. He the shyest, timidest, weakest, most defenseless little animal of all the beasts, by appearing guileless, gets the better of the cunning, strong "critters" and goes about bragging as tho' he had met them on their own plane and outwitted them. The counterpart is found in the attitude of negro in his relations with white people. Token 300 years ago from an uncivilized country and set down among a people who for thousands of years have had the benefits of civilization, they find themselves as defenseless as Brer Rabbit among the Foxes. So they, unable to fit into our moral or social standards disregard them and do as they please, thinking that nothing is wrong if they are not caught. If caught they are apparently the most innocent beings on earth and if by chance they get away with it how they brag! She recognized the great progress that certain leaders have made towards race development in these few years and pointed out the far-reaching effects in greater usefulness for the negro race, but her talk had of course to do with folk-lore and the great majority of the negro race belongs as yet to the folk-period. She told in an intimately way an Uncle Remus story and read parts of Irwin Russell's famous epic of the plantation negro "Christmas in de Quarters." As an encore she gave Betsy Hamilton's quaint little poem "Stealir 'dem Britches" so true to the philosophy of the negro. This old darkie had "busted his britches" shouting at the big meeting, and he stole some out of the white man's store to be baptized in. At his trial he failed to convince the judge and jury that he was in the right and was sentenced to a term in the chain gang. He knew however that the Lord understood just exactly how it was and would never hold it against him for he was "jes bleeged fer to have dem bretches t obe baptized in."

In conclusion a quartet from the 24th Infantry sang unaccompanied, a group of their own spirituals followed by an original love song, "Every Soldier's Gal is my Gal." All of which were enthusiastically received.

After the program Mrs. Torrey and Mrs. Wilson were hostesses at tea. The table was particularly lovely with its elaborately embroidered canton linen cloth and its handsome silver services over which Mrs. Warfield and Mrs. Bowman so charmingly presided.

The club women of Columbus will honor the members of the Infantry School Woman's Club with a special program and tea on Thursday, Dec. 15th, at the Harmony Club at 3:00. This is an unusual and very lovely courtesy extended us by the most prominent women of Columbus and it is earnestly hoped thata all club members will reserve this date —Thursday of next week—and let nothing interfere with your enjoying their gracious hospitality.

The Harmony Club is on Twelfth St. about one block from the railroad station. Tis a large building with great colonial columns, easy to find.

Battery "A"

Private Dozier returned last week-end from a 15-day furlough spent at his home in South Carolina. Reports that he had a great time through the holidays.

It has been reported that our Battery mechanic has been working on the Battalion guard tents, and has been trying to make them more comfortable, but it seems as though he has made an "Air Cooler" out of one of them, as he hangs the door and leaves about 18 inches between the door and the casing. Perhaps he left it that way so Old Gadget could get in when he got cold. Say Peck you'd better report to your assistant, R. J., and get some instructions on hanging doors.

One of our Husky Cannoneers and our Student Blacksmith engaged in a friendly bout the other day without the gloves. The verdict was not awarded as the bout was stopped, never-theless it was great for awhile.

Battery "B"

Captain Winton is back with us, after a month's leave of absence. We are very glad to have him with us again.

Sometime Waldrop may say to the wrong man: "Don't get hard with me Buddy."

Private Strother is very fond of stick candy and peanut brittle. One may even see him eating it on the streets on his way to church.

Corporal Wargo and Private Jeffers are back with us after their strenuous duty on the All-Army football team. They enjoyed their trip north very much.

Private (Corporal) Howard has expressed his opinion that his horse, Bones, will take the blue ribbon at the horse show.

We are glad to say that on December 6th our outfit went on an all day road mach on which Sergeant Antley, our noble mess sergeant, had to carry his famous bean gun, the rolling kitchen, out in the field. Also our wagoner, Private Morphis, better known as 'The Chaplin,' had to present himself with his four line team to pull that worthy bean gun.

Corporal McWilliams has returned from a sixty-day furlough. He says that the girls in Mississippi are even prettier than he used to think. That is going some Mac.

—B. S. T.

Battery "C"

Private Nugent has returned from sick leave very much improved in health. We are all glad to see him back.

Private Hancock is our new barber. He stays on the job and we all believe that he will make good.

MALE HELP WANTED:—Wanter, a private secretary by Weems; a bookkeeper by Snow; and a boy to shine shoes at the barber shop. Apply at Tent No. 11. Unless you have ancestors, do not apply.

WANTED: A left-hand monkey wrench, a four legged tripod, and a pair horseshoe stretchers. Shaw & Parker.

A green little "rookie" in a green little way,
Tried to groom the heels of TNT one day.
Now the green little grass tenderly

O'er the green little "rookie's" green little grave.

Assistance is requested for one Sergeant Gannon, a reputed member of this organization. He is very much in need of a pair of shoes, or at least, to judge from appearances, he seems to be. He is seen prowling around the Battery Area every night with nothing on his tender feet, but his "trusty" house slippers. Any donations in cash, old shoes, shoe soles or horse shoes will be appreciated. Turn over all donations to Sergeant Gehm, who will see that they are put to their proper use.

P. S. No old shoes can be accepted under size 14 1-2 EE.

Who is Doc Crandell? No one seems to know very much about it, but we heard a man answer to that name last pay day. Dame Rumor says, "He backed up to the pay table with hand extended to receive his pay." We don't suppose that he was ashamed to face the Captain, for its doubtful whether he would have been recognized or not, he being a stranger around the battery. Upon further inquiry it has been escertained that Crandell is the name of our Supply Sergeant. We knew we had one somewhere.

"Chicken" Allen and "Ruby" Vanderslice have changed their sleeping quarters. "Pop" Brantley claims that they gave the horses distemper.

Bill Mallard went hunting one day. He saw something running along on the ground and out through the bushes. "Kitty, Kitty!" he called. It kept on going, so Bill ran after it and caught it.—That's all, except that Bill had to bury his clothes.

When Newbern went to the Recruiting Office to apply for enlistment in the horse-drawn Field Artillery, the Recruiting Officer asked him if he could drive horses. He replied, "Yes I am a good pilot." He was enlisted at once and has been a pilot ever since.

ONE OUT OF SEVEN OFFICERS FORMERLY ENLISTED MEN

One out of every seven commissioned officers of the regular army has risen from the ranks, according to the annual report of the Adjutant General of the Army recently made public. On June 30, 1927, there were 11,913 officers in the army. Of this total, the following numbers came from among the enlisted personnel of the various branches: regular army, 1,166; national army, 277; enlisted reserve corps, 212; national guard, 275; volunteer enlisted men, 17. Among the officers of the air corps 32 were commissioned from status of flying cadet.

SURGEON GENERAL MAKES REPORT OF DISEASE FOR PAST YEAR

Increase in the incidence of practically all groups of diseases occurred in the United States army during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, the annual rate of admissions for diseases per 1,000 men being 561.86, as compared with 518.04 per 1,000 men for the preceding fiscal year, the surgeon general of the army, Maj. Gen. M. W. Ireland, declared in his annual report made public November 29.

The incident of disease, taking the rate for all diseases, General Ireland pointed out in his report, was greater than it has been since 1920, when it was 706.79. It was stated in the report that the incident of diseases for the fiscal year 1926 was "the lowest ever recorded from diseases only in the history of the army" and that the advance for the fiscal year 1927 was unusual. The increase for 1927 in all classes, except that for epidemic, epidemic and infectious diseases, diseases of the respiratory system and those of the digestive system "was insignificant" according to the report.

The annual death rate per 1,000 for the total army for all causes during the calendar year 1926 was 3.94 per 1,000, as compared with 3.77 for 1925, the report stated. The "absolute number of deaths was 522 in 1926 and 512 in 1925," the report added, declaring that the death rate for 1926 was higher thna for any year since 1922, when it was 4.56.

WHY THE CADET UNIFORM IS GRAY

Thousands who saw the Army football team defeat the Navy at the Polo Grounds, New York, and who remarked on the blue of the middies as contrasted with the gray of the cadets, may not have known that the cadet gray was the color adopted for cadet uniforms at West Point in 1815 in hono rof Scott's Brigade's heroic work in the battle of Chippewa, 1814, fought several miles from Fort Niagara, New York, but on the Canadian side.

The battle was a meeting engagement between forces of the regular Army of the United States and the Regular Army of Great Britain, an dthe victory of the American troops gave them an esprit not hitherto possessed, being an important engagement, like the battle of Cantigny in the World War, because it showed the mettle and skill and valor and bravery of the Regular Army. Blue cloth was not available for uniforms so Scott's Brigade wore gray. In 1815 an order was issued b ythe War Department making gray the color for cadet uniforms in commemoration of Scott's success.

GALLOPING GUNNERS MEET TERRIBLE TANKERS IN OPENING GAME OF INTRA-MURAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

First Game Will Be Played Dec. 14th

Wednesday afternoon, December 14, the Intra-Mural football season will open with the Terrible Tankers, last year's champions, and the Galloping Gunners, from the 83rd F. A., playing the first game.

Although picked by quite a few as the favorites for championship honors this season, the Terrible Tankers will meet a worthy foe to test their steel when they clash with the Caisson Riders.

Picking the winner in this year's race will not be an easy job. The Tankers should win if we believe in the old "dope bucket," but kicking over dope buckets has become a national pasttime, especially in football.

The Tankers have Lindsey, Bertleman, Ward, Daley and Stewart, first string men with the All-Army team, while Bennet, Vallery, Sullivan, Wright, Smith and Segrest, who have been playing with the company teams in the Battalion series, are among the best players in the garrison.

Although having one of the lightest teams in the league, the Gunners are going to be a world of trouble to their opponents.

What they haven't got in weight, they can more than account for in speed, their backfield being by far the fastest in the league. Their passing game is going to carry them a long ways toward first place in the coming series.

McAuliffe, team captain, is one of the best quarterbacks in the garrison, while Jeffords, LaPine, Wargo, Phillips and Hancock are exceptionally good players. Derrick and Bernard, backfield men playing their first year of army football, will bear watching in the coming battles.

The Second Bats, led by the "Old Reliable" Kjelstrom, are working for the coming series and it is rumored that they have high hopes of the cup coming over to the new brick barracks after the series.

Kelly, Franz, Thompson and Mitzen returned with the All-Army team December 3rd and lost no time in getting busy for the opening of the Intra-Mural.

Ripple and Barron, playing their first year with the Doughboys, are going to help strengthen the Kelly backfield. Both of these men are fast and they both certainly know their football, which they have already proven in the company series.

The First Bats are not putting out any publicity. "When the time comes we will be ready," and if rumors are true the 1st Bats are going to be as good as their word. In a practice game against the Red Legs several new men showed promise of being heard from later. The line plunging of Brown, of "D" Company, attracted attention. He smashed holes in the Gunner's line for gains on several occasions, while McFadden, Rompolski and Loper have been playing a great game this season.

Lt. "Red" Reeder will coach the 1st Bats if his injuries, sustained in the All-Army-Marine game will allow. Lt. Reeder was captain of the All-Army team and was injured in the first quarter after the Army had made a steady advance down the field, several gains being due to his accurate passing. He attempted to stay in the game despite his injuries, but was forced to leave the game. He had broken the small bone in his right leg.

Every fan in the garrison is wishing the "Romping Reeder" a speedy recovery, for it won't be long before the horse hide will take the place of the pigskin, and first base is no place for a cripple.

When Prospect Park, Brooklyn, was in the early stages of development at a meeting of the commissioners a proposition was made that about a dozen gondolas should be purchased to add to the picturesqueness of the lake.

An Irish member, with an eye to economy rose and protested against what he termed "needless extravagance." "If," said he, "we really need so many, why not order two,——one male and one female and then let Nature take itscourse?" —Laughter.

(By Al)

Near the end of the last quarter of the All-Army-Marine game, when the Army's last hope for victory had vanished, an Army player was taken from the game. He had played a game that had brought forth thunderous roars of applause fro mthe crowded stands. As he came limping off the field President and Mrs. Coolidge arose with the great throng to cheer him for work well done. He had withstood the brunt of the Marines fiercest attacks like a stonewall, he had stopped the fleetfooted Levy, and had refused to go from the game in the second quarter when an old injury was reopened. He had took it all with a smile, members of the team say that after he was hurt, that he would laugh in the face of the snarling Devil Dogs, while waiting for the quarterbacks signal.

As he came of the field he slumped down near the sidelines, burying his face in his arms he cried like a child. An Army officer wearing the insigna of a Colonel, came over to him telling what a wonderful game he had played and how. But here the Colonel's voice grew husky, a mist dampened his eyes, a moment later he was beside the doughboy with an arm around his shoulder. Fighters both of them with the heart of a child and a spirit that will never admit defeat.

Every member of the All-Army team left for his organization at the end of the past season with the one big idea, that he was going to make the team next season and that the Quantico Marines would be the losers when the All-Army Marine game is over next November. Although quite a few of the players did not return to Benning with the team, every player that Ye Olde Scribe interviewed was just longing for next year and another chance at the Devil Dogs. And every man is of the opinion that the All-Army team will bring two cups instead of one back when they return next year.

Weenie Skeeney will not be able to play football this season with the battalion team, as he is suffering from a broken collar bone.

Although Sweeney doesn't like to be a cripple, he stills gets quite a bit of consolation out of the fact that he broke it against a Marine's head.

Until he was injured Sweeney had been playin ga great game against the Marines and he finished the quarter out with a broken shoulder.

J. Happy Long of Hdqrs. Company, 29th Infantry, will be seen in action on the 1st Bats football team as soon as he recovers from injuries sustained in a washout Decmeber 3rd. J. Happy is a backfield man, and is said to be plenty fast.

NEWS FOOTBALL TROPHY

The Infantry School News will present a cup to the winning team in the Intra-Mural football league this year. This cup will be presented to the winner to keep as a part of trophies of that organization. The cup will not be passed on from one winner to another as the case of the baseball trophy.

The 15th Tank Battalion won the NEWS cup last year.

DOUGHBOY CAGEMEN MEET PIEDMONT COLLEGE IN OPENING GAME DEC. 21

The basketball schedule for the Infantry School for the coming season has not been fully arraigned yet, but there are some interesting games in store for the followers of the cage game here. Prominent on the schedule are Olson's Terrible Swedes, one of the fastest professional teams in the country.

The Doughboy team this year will be coached by Captain Paul Steele. The prospects this year are bright with all of last year's players with the team and several new candidates, among whom seem to be a number of promising players.

On January 5th, Olson will bring his Terrible Swedes here for a game. This game is worth traveling miles to see. Every man on the visiting team is a past wizard at the game. They won over the Doughboys here last year 56 to 33, and the Doughboy five was one of the best in the South.

Piedmont College will be here for the opening game on December 21st. The Doughboys are working hard to get into shape for the game.

It is too early to pick a line-up for the first game, but it is a safe bet that Roosma, Newman, Berry and Franz won't be so far away when the whistle blows.

COMPANY OFFICERS CLASS DEEP IN MACHINE GUN WORK

Wierd and mystifying things seem to be going on in the company officers' classes. Over in Doughboy stadium where they're undergoing machine gun drill you hear Capt. Collins advising them "not to waste too much time petting." In their sleep you hear "The extractor cam plunger rides over the top of the extractor cam and the extractor feed cam and is forced in by the beveled edge of the extractor feed cam" and a lot about "breach lock cam," "barrel plunger spring," "cover extractor cam," "sear pin spring," etc. Next thing we'll hear will be Sam Wiener going to the hospital for pinching his fingers under the cover while practicing unloading in his sleep. At any rate, Capt. Collins, who is giving us machine gun drill, and Capt. Wharton, who has mechanical training, sure are putting the boys through the paces and doing it in an unusually thorough manner, despite the fact that at every class we are reminded that "Sgt. McNulty is 48 years old."

The novelty of conducting instruction in the stadium with a radio microphone and amplifiers was used by Capt. Collins but before the captain had a chance to say anything through it, Company "B's" broadcasting station simply couldn't resist the temptation to do what he has been practicing eight hours a day for three months. So the first thing we heard was George Deaderick.

The machine gun work is sure getting the boys all worked up. Even before the weather man broke up the horse show, you could see Babbett, Boatner, McAllister and yours truly shouting "Range 900, paster No. " and cutting up Biglerville sod. It has McAllister so confused that he dated his position on May 6th. Perhaps that's due to the fact that Mac is thinking about the approaching arrival of his family.

Just to change the subject, wonder what the Country Club dance last Saturday would have been without the army? All five couples were army folks. It has been pleasant to note the "dragging" to these parties. The 83rd at least is learning. Instead of taking no one as the 29th is noted for, the artillery boys at least bring one girl to three officers.

Seems as though all we hear these instructors talking about is examinations. We were told there would only be five in the machine gun class. By this time they ought to know that exams are about as popular as a provost marshal.

One thing we're thankful for—no mongraphs. That's one of the few reasons one should be thankful that he isn't in the advanced class.

Incidentially, these instructors are sure there. I met a good looking girl of the type that gentlemen prefer the other day and for an hour all I heard was: "Isn't Capt. DeWare wonderful?" No wonder he denies being president of the Bachelôr's Protective Association. —J. W. B.

"BIG PARADE" PICTURE DRAWS RECORD CROWDS TO POST THEATRES

War Time Moving Picture Crowds Benning Theaters Last Sunday Night; Attendance was 2139

The moving picture, "Big Parade," drew a record breaking crowd at Fort Benning theaters last Sunday evening. The total attendance at the various theaters was as follows: Main Theater, 1,520; 29th Infantry Theater, 312; 24th Infantry Theater, 307. The next best record for attendance at Fort Benning theaters was the showing of the picture, "Behind the Front," which drew a total of 1,918 patrons.

The capacity of the Main Theater is 1,294, and in order to relieve the contemplated congestion, Capt. F. S. Doll, assistant recreation officer in charge of theaters, had 170 chairs placed throughout the theater. The remainder of the crowded house were forced to stand during the entire prformance.

The crowd which had planned to attend the show at the Main Theater formed a line as early as six o'clock Sunday evening, this line extending from the ticket booth to the south corner of the post gymnasium. Additional military police were detailed to handle the big crowd and under the command of Sgt. James C. Lay, handled the situation very efficiently and in a courteous manner. The ushers were handled under the direction of Sgt. W. C. Shepard.

Several organizations of Fort Benning reserved seats for this picture among which were Company A, 29th Infantry, commanded by Capt. A. R. MacKechnie, with 110 reserved seats, and Headquarters Co., 2nd Battalion, 29th Infantry, commanded by Lieut. K. K. Tatom, which had 65 seats reserved.

Appropriate Music Rendered

Those who have seen this great war picture, probably the greatest that will ever be produced, know that appropriate music is a necessity to properly show the war time scenes of the Big Parade. Capt. George L. King had charge of the big Main Theater orchestra in the rendition of the excellent music for this picture. He was assisted by Sgt. R. R. Wright. Two rehearsals were held previous to Sunday night and Captain King personally conducted the music at the show.

Combinations of wartime songs and firing of a pistol to make the explosion of shells more realistic were cleverly arranged to emphasize the theme of the picture. It is said that the music for this picture was the most difficult ever played by the fourteen members of the Main Theater orchestra.

ASS'T SECRETARY OF WAR VISITS FORT BENNING MONDAY

Hanford MacNider Makes Flying Trip to Benning From Fort Bragg; Makes Two Hour Inspection

Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider flew to Fort Benning Monday afternoon from Fort Bragg, N. C., and made a two-hour inspection of the post. He left at 3 o'clock for Maxwell Field, Ala.

Secretary MacNider arrived at Fort Benning about 12:30 o'clock in a Curtis observation plane piloted by Capt. R. B. Erwin. Immediately upon arrival at Benning he was met by General E. T. Collin, the commandant, with whom he had lunch. After lunch he was take nover the reservation visiting the athletic field, the academic department of the Infantry School, the new bakery and the new barracks of the 29th Infantry. The inspection was very informal as he did not desire to visit here since his trip was primarily for the purpose of the inspection of flying fields. However, on the way to Maxwell Field, Secretary MacNider desired to make his initial visit to the home of the Infantry School. He was very favorably impressed with the appearance of activtiies at Fort Benning.

CAPTAIN BEEBE RETURNS TO FORT BENNING

Captain L. C. Beebe arrived at Fort Benning the first of the week to take up his duties as one of the instructors of the Infantry School. Capt. McRae, retired, and has recently been aide to General McRae shortly before the latter's retirement.

BOARD OF GENERAL OFFICERS MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS ON PROMOTION AND RETIREMENT

The Present Promotion List to Remain; Promotion of Captains and Lieutenants Based on Length of Service

PROFESSIONAL EXAMS OFFICERS RECOMMENDED

Commisioned Grades to Be Redistributed on New Percentage Basis. Chiefs of Branches to Be Appointed From Major-Generals of the Line; Important Change Recommended.

Editor's Note: This story released on the morning of December 17th.

The recommendations made by the board of general officers was released for publication on Saturday, December 17th. The Infantry Association telegraphed the Infantry School News the salient features of the recommendations which are embodied in this story on important legislation recommended by the board. The board, headed by Major-General Mason Patrick, met for the first time the first part of September and at different intervals until only a few weeks ago when its recommendations were sent to the War Department, and from there to the Bureau of Budget to ascertian the effect of such legislation as recommended would have upon appropriati ns for the coming year. Apparently the recommendations as made were approved by the Bureau before submission to oCngress for action.

Committee Will Meet

As has been mentioned in several service papers of Washington the Senate and House Military Affairs Committees will probably receive the recommendations today and soon afterwards a subcommittee composed of members of both Senate and House will meet and study recommendation embodied in the report of General Officers. It seems to be the opinion of many familiar with the status of the legislation that the subcommittee will immediately begin to study the report and that some action may be contemplated within a very short time. However, this is only based on rumors.

Whole Army Study Problem

Not only has the Board of General Officers made a study of this legislation proposed which is probably the most important contemplated since the passing of the National Defense Act of June 4, 1920, but practically all officers of the service have been permitted to study the situation. Hundreds of officers have

If you want to feel that glorious little thrill that you used to always feel creep up and down your spine at Christmas time—if you are just a little short of the real Christmas Spirit and want to catch it come to the Polo Club next Monday and enjoy the Christmas program and party that will follow it. The program is fascinating; for some ten women who have spent Christmas in as many foreign countries will tell us how the coming of St. Nicholas or Kris Kringle, or Father Freeze or the Christmas Angel or the Three Kings is planned for and celebrated in lands across the sea. They will give briefly the outstanding Christmas customs which characterize each country, and interspersed with these charming talks will be the loveliest Christmas music. A quartet composed of Mrs. Griswold, Mrs. King, Capt. Paynter and Capt. Boyd will sing a group of wrold famous carols. Mrs. Partridge will sing "And Old French Carol," by Liddle, and Capt. Rutledge will sing "The Birthday of the King," by Neidlenger. Mrs. Butcher will accompany each. The program will close with a beautiful story which perfectly expresses the real spirit of giving, "Why the Chimes Rang," told by Mrs. Frank Green ,the musical accompaniment being played by Mrs. Butcher.

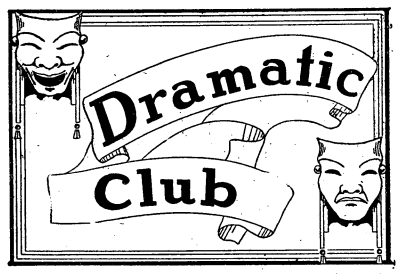
After the program Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Ryder will be hostesses at a Christmas Tea.

Mrs. Ryder presented a most interesting program on Contemporary Russian Literature at the meeting of the Literary Club on last Monday. In her introduction Mrs. Ryder gave with sympathetic understanding the political situation of presen-day Russia and the effect of the revolutionary turmoil on all artistic production. The czar of Russia from time immemorial have conspired with the Greek Catholic Church to keep the masses in ignorance and to rule by might alone. Under the new regime the plans of the old have been rent asunder and more or less inexperienced leaders are trying to work out a sloution to their mighty political, social and financial problems which years will have to test out before they can be pronounced as good. The people of Russia have a ray of hope under the Soviet rule and some day perhaps all will be well. There is a new literature in Russia full of fundamental realism and while technique may be noticeably lacking these new writers are giving interesting things.

Mrs. Fox reviewed "Pages from My Life," by Feodor Chaliapine, in a fascinating way. She showed, by well chosen selections which she read, Chaliapine from the days when he was a poverty-stricken peasant lad with a drunken father and a mother forced to be a beggar, to the day when he shone forth as the central star in the Metropolitan Opero stage. The style is free and easy and Chaliapine proves himself in this autobiography an excellent story-teller as well as singer.

Mrs. Cotton presented "Decadence," by Maxim Gorky, making the story of the peasant family depicted there live before us in its gloomy unhappiness.

Mrs. O'Hara talked interestingly of Tchekoff, Russia's foremost dramatist and writer of short stories. She pictures the inactivity, the vacillation, characteristic of the Russian people as expressed in "The Cherry Orchard" and other plays. Then she read a short story "In Exile" in which the cold blast of Siberia brings a consumptive death to the characters and a chill to our very bones. This was, all in all, a most interesting program and had a charming informality about it in the sort of round table discussion which spontaneously followed. Mrs. Peyton and Mrs. Johnston, for instance, recalled the first time Chaliapine appeared in New York at the Hippidrome when the Russian audience burst into applause at his appearance and he was furious with them because their applause was ill-timed and though he loved their approval, he sternly rebuked them for not waiting till his songs wer eover to express their pride in and love for him!



FORT BENNING CLUB ENTERTAINS LARGE AUDIENCE

The Infantry School Dramatic Club held its second program of the year last Saturday evening in the 29th Infantry. The theater was packed and in hearty response to requests that all members be present early, the theater was crowded at the initial performance of the evening.

The first number, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," made us all doubly thankful that they don't. Directed by Captain J. K. Rice, it was developed into a first rate comedy in all respects. The honors for the cast were evenly divided between Captains A. B. Helsley, C. W. Christenberry, Harry M. Gwynn, and E. M. S. Steward, as John, Bob, George and Marc.

"The Grill", a melodrama directed by Mrs. Garland J. Avera, followed. It was truly a case of "button, button, who's got the button" except that in this case the button consisted of some well nigh priceless documents which, we were given to understand, would convict everyone from the mayor down to the lowliest street cleaner of every crime ever known to rotten politics, that is, everyone except the blustering, dulldozing Commissioner of Police, played by Captain Paul R. Goode, who in the end turned out to be the arch fiend, master mind or "what have you." Captain J. Lawton Collins as the district attorney, and Mrs. W. A. Burress as the district attorney's wife, were both so anxious to assume full responsibility for the loss that naturally they were both innocent, while Mrs. H. D. Criswell as The Maid was so innocent that she of course turned out to be the tool of the crooked police commissioner. It was all very well done.

"The Vanishing Princess," a magical fantasy directed by Captain J. C. Newton, was the final number on the program. It was indeed one of the most delightful bits the Dramatic Club has so far offered us. Preceded by the singing of a Christmas carol back stage, the action carried on through the trials and tribulations of a poor, aged magician whose only friend in the world appeared to be "Miss Cindy," altogether a most delightful bit of Polyanna. Undaunted by even the harsh alndlord she fights he raged master's battles, provides him with food and finally, through her charm, drams home on Christmas eve the old magician's missing son. Mrs. O. C. Mood, as "Cindy," was charming. She danced and pouted and smiled her way into the hearts of everyone present. Captain B. W. Venable's portrayal of the egotistical, arrogant landlord left nothing to the imagination. Captain B. B. McMahon as the magician's missing son, the world's medicinal benefactor and Miss Cindy's heroic king, was as skilful a lover and tender prodigal as he was a dispenser of cure alls. The characterization of Matinka, the aged magician, by Captain T. H. W. Duke was well nigh perfect.

The stage manager, Captain Feodore Schmidt, and his assistants, Captains L. E. Norris, and E. F. Paynter are entitled to a generous share of the credit for the success of the program. The settings were all of the fihst order and in "The Vanishing Princess," in particular, required a large amountof skill and ingenuity.

An innovation was afforded in the incidental music which was furnished by a newly Officers' Orchestra, directed by Captain eGorge L. King, and consisting of Captains H. D. Birks, E. W. Grimmer, F. J. Heraty, Lieutenants P. A. Reichle and F. J. Vida as violinists; Lieutenant L. A. Diller, saxaphone; Captain Fred During, cornet; Captain H. R. Simmons, trombone, and Mrs. Edwin Butcher as pianist. It is only by such co-operation as this, which is received from all individuals and activities in the Garrison, that the Dramatic Club has been able to make such rapid strides in its short existence.

After the performance an informal hop was held in the Polo Club in honor of the members of the cast.

THEATERS

DEC. 16 TO DEC. 23, INCL.

FRIDAY, DEC. 16

"THE CHINESE PARROT," starring Marian Nixon and Hobart Bosworth with an all star cast. It is one of those rare pictures, so strange, so weird and so gripping, that it baffles description. The story is based on the unfathomable theft of a string of world renowned pearls—the key to the mystery is held by a Chinese parrot. It is from Earl Derr Bigger's famous Saturday Evening Post story.

Pathe News.

SATURDAY, DEC. 17

"THE ROUGH RIDERS," returned to Fort Benning by popular demand. It is a Spanish-American War epic drama starring Noah Beery with Charles Farrell, George Bancroft, Charles Emmett Mack, Harry Astor and Frank Hopper. 1898 — Cuba, struggling for liberty, Spanish oppression, American protests. Suddenly the United States battleship, "Marine" is blown up—war is declared. Theodore Roosevelt issues a call for volunteers; cowboys, outlaws, adventurers, millionaires and dudes respond to his call. Horses arrive, by mistake they are wild and unbroken. Imagine this band mounting their four hundred bucking bronchos. The band concert —when a pistol crack started every rough rider to popping his gun and sent the citizens of San Antonio hunting cover. The regiment leaves for Cuba. Food becomes scarce, terrible fever takes its toll—the horrors of war are revealed. A series of skirmishes climaxing the never-to-be-forgotten charge up San Juan Hill. The home coming and many other gripping scenes. The above are the highlights of this powerful picture. The stirring scenes are bound together by the threads of a gripping romance. This marvelous picture will teach you history, constantly grip your attention with thrills and cause you tears and laughter. Don't miss it.

"Scrambled Yeggs." Krazy Kat.

SUNDAY, DEC. 18

"SPECIAL"—The Happy-Go-Lucky quartette of the 24th Infantry will render spirituals, comedy and harmony numbers during the intermission. They are good.

"SMILE, BROTHER, SMILE," starring Dorothy Mackaill with Jack Mulhall in one of the biggest laugh specials of the screen. The story is based on a traveling salesman who has a sweetheart in every town. He continually beats the marriage game until a wise dame corners, captures and clinches him, then his real jocular troubles start. Ordinary traveling salesmen are funny—this one caps the climax as an eradication of the "blues" —Its laughs from start to finish, then more laughs.

MONDAY, DEC. 19

"THE LAND BEYOND LAW," starring Ken Maynard in six reels of thrilling southwestern highwaymanry. It is an authentic historical story of New Mexico embodying the tense conflict between lawless cattle barrons and the daring nesters and of the brave men who risked their lives to establish and uphold the law.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 2." An excellent mystery serial, each episode of which is in itself interest absorbing.

TUESDAY, DEC. 20

"LOVE OF SUNYA," starring Gloria Swanson in this remarkable story of mysticism. In this picture Gloria plays five distinct roles, each time portraying the lives she will lead in future generations. She appears as an Egyptian who calmly faces death with her lover, a modern young girl, a struggling prematurely aged school teacher, a tempermental prima dona and finally as the wife of a millionaire. This film is quite out of the ordinary.

"Bathing Suitor." Imperial Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 21

"METROPOLIS,"—A German film considered one of the most powerful and lavish productions ever produced either abroad or in America. It pictures a city thousands of years from now. The rich people live on the top of the earth while the workers' homes are deep down in the bowels. Machinery predominates the human—the master mind has a souless automaton made and directs it to preach contentment to the workman. Instead it advises them to leave their machines and revolt. The settings are colossal, the theme is highly fantastic and the photography is exquisite. Alfred Abel, the star, is backed by a strong European cast.

Paramount News.

THURSDAY, DEC. 22

"NOW WE'RE IN THE AIR," starring Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in a comedy of excitement, thrills, suspense and a little romance. It is a laugh riot from start to finish. Beery and Hatton, as two ships stokers, are made ill even by a roller-coaster—suddenly they find themselves blown into the air service during war time. The locale of the story is France and Germany.

"Hot Papa." Jack Duffy Comedy.

FRIDAY, DEC. 23

"THE STOLEN BRIDE," starring Billie Dove. Her father had sacrificed her beauty to the beast, but had failed to consider the fighting love of the man who owned her heart. On her wedding night she was stolen from the groom-to-be and then risked her life to protect her kidnapper. The setting is among the aristocracy of Hungary.

"FAT FRANZ"

One of the Most Popular Athletes in the United States Army

Sergeant George F. Franz was born in Erie, Pa., April 8, 1900. Enlisting as a member of Company K, 29th Infantry, in January, 1921, Franz made his debut in army athletics, by winning a regular berth at shortstop on the Battalion baseball team during the 1921 season. Since then he has been rated as one of the best infielders in army baseball circles.

He was a candidate for the football squad that season and won regular place on the team. The past season as a member of the All-Army Tea, Franz attracted the attention of some or the country's leading football experts. In the game against the Marines, played at Philadel-dhia, Dec. 3rd, for the Southern Service Championship, Franz was the high scorer of the game. He contributed fourteen points to the Army total.

He has been a member of the Infnatry School Basket Ball team for the past three seasons and the doughboy cagemen are among the best in the country as their past records will show. He will be seen in action again this year, the season opening here Dec. 21 with Piedmont College.

Sergeant Franz is now a member of Company E, 29th Infantry. He has had several offers for tryouts in the Southeastern and South Atlantic Baseball Leagues, but "Fat" says that he will never leave the Service until the President's Cup Game is won by an Army team, if he has to retire in the Service to see it. Although he joins with the other members of the All-Army Team in the belief that next year will see an Army victory.

I. S. D. NOTES

We are glad to welcome to the Detachment the following men from the 29th Infantry: Pfc. Abour, Doyle and Reeves; Privates Griffin, Smith, McQuaig, Babazon, Wright, Waldrop, Richardson and Reagan. We know that the "Soldiers' Home" will appeal to them.

The Barbar Shop has been moved into permanent quarters and Doctor Beare is ready and willing to disperse beauty by the "two-bitfulls." Austin Massey and Nicholson take notice.

Captain Berry has returned to the Detachment after a long trip with the Army football team. We're glad to have him back and things should pick up now with the basket ball season coming on and the men all interested in athletics, even if we didn't have an eleven this year.

Do you know 'how-come' Corporal Devine got his job as Mess Orderly? He used to be a street car conductor. Yeh! Fill 'em up in front!

Nine days 'till Christmas. Have you bought your postal cards?

Sergeant Lykins has returned from furlough spent in Chicago and other foreign parts. Welcome home.

They say that Lonnie staggered into Chancellor's a little bit the worse, or better (depending whether or not you're anti or pro) for the stuff that keeps faith in the Irish and Scotch. A dapper clerk approached and smilingly said, "And what is your pleasure, sir?"

"Well," said Lonnie, "drinking is my pleasure, but I came in here to buy a hat."

We now have several student cooks from the Cook's and Baker's School in our kitchen. We're glad to have them with us on flap-jack mornings, if the Mess Hall had big glass windows, you'd think you were at Times Square looking in at Mister Child's establishment.

The men of the Detachment voluntarily gave $227.30 for the Xmas Tree Fund for the children of this outfit. This should lighten the burdens o fthe well known bewhiskered Saint.

ENGINEER'S MAGAZINE IS COMMENDED FOR SPLENDID FEATURE

Company A, 7th Engineers, commanded by Capt. J. F. C. Hyde, publish a very interesting monthly magazine under the name of "Pontonier." The magazine is very ably edited by Sgt. A. B. Dowling, who is a contributor of many articles for the Infantry School News.

The November issue of this magazine carried a very interesting feature in the form of a story on the Ft. Benning Main Theater, written by Sgt. Dowling. Capt. F. S. Doll was so favorably impressed with the story that the following letter was sent to the Pontonier in appreciation of the story:

Dear Editor Pontonier:

On the occasion of the publication of the anniversary number of the Pontonier, I want to express our gratitude for the interesting article which you published on the Main Theater of Fort Benning. This write-up was thoroughly in keeping with the aggressive attitude of your paper.

A pamphlet of this character not only lets the service know that the 7th Engineers are on the map, but, also, makes it feel that your organization is in the service for the benefit of the service at large.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) F. S. DOLL,
Capt. Infantry, Asst. Recreation Officer.

ABSORBING COURAGE

If there is one result obtained in army training that stands out more than another and draws admiration for the youthful enlisted man, whether he wins or loses, in his games on the field or roped arena, it is that fearlessness to tackle on his own initiative any problem that calls for courage and self-reliance. There are times when he will pit himself against most decisive odds and endure a gruelling, like a hero.

Though previous to his entrance into the service he may have been timid and backward, the spirit of the army serves as a background for his incentive while associations with his fellow buddies give him a persistent courage and confidence that carry him a long ways to success.

Whoever has attended a fight card staged at an army post, noted the fearless youthful contestants, as they crawled into the roped arena, their cool expression, though their scientific knowledge of boxing was least, seemed to bespeak success and confidence, beheld them take or give a severe drubbing, will marvel at the spirit that sends generous youths, who in their full strength furnish thrills and entertainment for the enthusiasts who urge them on to battle.

To endure three or four rounds of fast and furious fighting take and give, when pain and punishment are involved, with a consequent soreness for several days, are self-invited punishments that only buoyant, courageous youth, who laughs at pain could endure. Not only does the army train men for National defense but it fits them physically for self-defense, a most important asset in life's battle.

MILITARY TRAINING

Fort Worth, Texas, Press Gives Vivid Description of Value of Army Training

There were three or four of us sitting there at lunch and somehow the talk got around to military training. One of the group was hostile—bitterly hostile to military training. And he was eloquent, and developed a plausible argument, and yet . . . A man as he goes along, picks up sensations which remain with him always. Pictures which he can never wholly forget. At times these pictures become dim, for there are new scenes, other business, changing experiences, but the fragment of a song, a woman's laugh, the face of a boyhood friend—these will blow the dust of years off these pictures, and then stand forth again, sharp as an etching.

No man who has ever stood retreat formation in the army can forget it. There are the long lines of motionless figures, and a silent world that seems to have suddenly stopped still. A flag flutters lazily, and there is no other movement. Then, sweet and clear, there comes the first plaintive note of a bugle. The flag flutters again, drops; and the sun sinks. There is another bugle note, and adjutant barks. The long line breaks, wheel, and march away. And the world starts moving again. There is another picture: a line of men on the march, rifles slung, shoulders swinging, a song running through the column. Dust clouds rise and clog the mouth and nose; rifle slings burn the shoulders; a white hot sun hurls silver lances at the peaked crown of army hats. Then sweat gathers under the hat band, trickles down into the eyes.

One stumbles, can hardly catch up with his file. A hill looms ahead, and no command to halt and rest. The column strains forward and upward, leather creaks, canteens jingle.

How far now? Only half way? And so the head is bent, and the column plows on. One's legs tremble. He can't make it, can't make it, can't make it. Give up? Fall out? Sit by the road a spell? No!—and so he plows on.

An age, it seems, and the top of that hill is reached. Then packs come off, rifles are unslung. Grooping men mouth tepid canteens. But rest comes swiftly into weary flesh. Cigaretts are lit, the column is off again, packs bobbing, shoulders swinging, and a song running thru the line.

And there's still another picture: long lines of pup tents studding the ground like brown toadstools, cooks' fires gleaming and the smell of food. Cigarets glowing in the purple dusk, groups lies here and there, talking in low buzzing tones. There comes the guble again, a sad, wild, haunting strain. Lights wink out, a laugh floats up, is broken short, and the long lines sleep while hob-nailed shoes pace to and fro in sentry go. No man can forget these pictures. To one who spends his time at a desk, and has grown large in the waist and short in the wind they come back to mock him.

He longs for the feel of the rifle sling across his shoulder and the sweat running down his waist. He longs for the gaff of the march, for the smell of the chow line, and the feel of the shovel in his palm. He longs to train his rifle on a dancing target as heat waves ripple across the waving grass. He longs for complete weariness and gnawing hunger—and the food and rest that follows after.

But he's fat, and he's soft and—he's thru. He hated it and he cursed it, but he'd give his soul to have it back again.

These are sensations which come but once in the life of a man. But to some who have not had them, they are still available. The bugles blow sweetly across a hundred parade grounds, and there are hob-nailed boots still tramping the wide, brown road; cooks' fires still glimmer in the dusk, and heat waves still ripple across the target range.

The U. S. Army has its camps open to America's youth. These camps will buffet them, will toughen them, will discipline them. At the same time, there they will learn obedience, self-control; there they will learn to think, to co-ordinate minds and bodies. Military life does not incite one to blood lust, but it does breed a love for the life out under the great blue sky, it breeds a respect for the laws of nature, and for the laws of man.

Military training is not militarism. No one need fear for a boy taking it. He will work there, will play there. He will march and drill and peel potatoes, and learn a lot about hygiene. But he'll come back clear-eyed and bronzed. He'll sweat, and the smell of sweat is fatal to the jelly-bean.—Ft. Worth Press.

MAXWELL FIELD HAS PLENTY OF ACTIVITY

Interesting Artcle on 4th Corps Flying Center

(Lt. D. D. Arnold, A. C.)

The Fourth Divisional Observation Air Corps assigned to the Fourth Corps Area is located at Maxwell Field near Montgomery, Ala. The field has been the scene of Aeronautical activity since the early development of aircraft. It was first used by the Wright Brothers in their pioneer days of experimental and practice flying. Following the World War, the station was used as an airplane repair depot, employing a large number of civilian mechanics.

A new barrack building is now under construction, which will be completed in the spring of 1928. It will house all Air Corps units, Detachments of the Quartermaster and Signal Corps and Finance department. A contract has been let for the construction of a large number of non-commissioned officers quarters, which will be ready by next spring. Technical buildings and additional quarters are planned for construction during the coming year.

At present the Bureau of Forestry of the State of Alabama is engaged in supplying shade trees. The entire personnel of the post is more than grateful to the State of Alabama for help in doing this much needed and good work.

All of the activity, however, is not entirely confined to the construction of new buildings. 18 officers and 123 enlisted men are doing their best in order that they might co-operate with the other arms of the Army in this part of the United States. Each day, according to schedule, airplanes come and go on their various missions which carry them throughout the Southeastern part of the country. Frequently trips extend beyond the limits of the Corps Area to Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland. The Fourth Photo Section has several highly important Aerial Photographic missions on hand, which include the making of mosaic maps of the areas covered by Fort Benning, Georgia, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and Fort McPherson, Georgia. About the middle of December the abandoned Pee Dee river bridge located in North Carolina will be turned over to the government for testing the destructive effect of Aerial bombs and Field Artillery. The Photo Section will participate in these tests with the 22nd Observation Squadron and a Bombardment Squadron from Langley Field, Va. It was the Fourth Photo Section that played an important part in the survey of the Tennessee river valley during the past year and a half. There were over 15,000 aerial negatives taken and approximately 46,000 prints were made from these films for use on the project by the U. S. Engineers. This was perhaps the most extensive photographic mission ever accomplished.

The 22nd Squadron frequently engages with Fort Barrancas, Florida, in experiments on the burst of anti-aircraft shells and also with Fort Benning in Infantry Contact problems and anti-aircraft shell fire directed on large linen targets towed at various altitudes by airplanes over the batteries. Not all of the missions have to do with guns and shell fire, however, as was demonstrated recently when an air corps man, suddenly in need of immediate surgical attention, was transported quickly and safely to the hospital at Fort Benning.

On December 12th, the 22nd Squadron left their station to engage in field exercises near Troy, Ala. Complete equipment on motor trucks enabled the squadron to operate as successfully from the temporary base as from their home station. The entire personnel were housed under canvass during the manouvers.

Social activities on the post include weekly parties at the Officers Club with a different hostess each week in charge of the entertainment. The enlisted personnel also have recreation in the form of dances, parties and entertainment given in their own club rooms.

To aid veterans or relatives of dead soldiers, the adjutant of the Chas. S. Harrison Post at Fort Benning will assist in the making of the applications.

Any honorably discharged veteran who served in the army, navy, or marine corps for more than sixty days between April 6, 1917 and July 1, 1919, proviidng he began his services before the armistice, is eligible for the benefits provided under the law.

GEOG'FRY

By Maj. Herbert E. Page

All the kids in our school
Hate Geog'fry best of all,
But I'm not like other kids ,
Not me, you bet atall.

'Cause my dad's a military man,
An' all my life it seems
I've just been travelin' 'round
Learning Geog'fry in my dreams,

I'm only 9 now, you know
But the places I've been—let me see,
First was Ancon Hospital
In the Canal Zone—Ward B.

My mom says that's the place
Where big, old Mr. Stork
Left me all pink and lanky,
But first I 'members was was New York

Then came my little sister
'Way up in Chiriqui,
Dad was back in Panama
An' 'course he took little me.

Next came 'Frisco and Indiana
Then Washington Barracks D. C.
But soon we were movin' again
Down to North Carolina—Artillery.

From there my dad an' mom
With me an' little sis
Took a long dusty ride
Down to Texas—Fort Bliss.

Oh yes I forgot about Camp Dix
In New Jersey, and Raritan;
Geog'fry ain't so hard for me
'Cause dad's a military man.

Quartermaster Corps

BAKERS AND COOKS SCHOOL BUSY FOR XMAS RUSH

Other Interesting Items for the Service to the Line Outfit.

As the Quartermaster Corps is in the habit of getting "bawled out" for everything that happens in this grand old cantonment, during the recent week, when every day brought forth rain—and more rain—someone was heard to remark, "Ye Gods; Why doesn't somebody call up the Quartermaster Corps, and tell them for the luvva Mike to do something to stop this rain!" (However, it's all in a life, and we've gotten use to it!)

The time for Saint Nick's annual visit is close at hand, and over at the bakery, Captain Johansen's crew of bakers and cooks are putting out fruit cakes galore, all with raisins 'n nuts 'n citron 'n chocolate!! And maybe they're not good! Ask your scribe—she knows!

And speaking Christmas, and Saint Nicholas, and allied subjects, Mr. Ford at Utilities is growing his annual crop of whiskers for use around Christmas (On Christmas Eve, Mr. Ford may be seen gallivanting up around the roof and chimney-top, as alas! he has one of those Santa Claus complexes! When Christmas Eve rolls around, he can't resist the allure of being the good old Saint, and donning the traditional red suit trimmed with fur, and hence the whiskers—as several years ago he lost his false set, and since then has never bought another. He's a strong advocate of "Grow your own!"

The office force received the shock of their lives the other morning when Mr. Oscar Nance (he of Transportation Branch) came riding up in a bran' new Nash! We wouldn't have minded so much had it been some silent, subdued shade, but no! Oscar likes red! Can it be true—Oh, can it be true—that our Mr. Nance has—'er—fallen for a certain charming young lady, whose blue eyes just won't behave?

Captain and Mrs. Buckbee, who have been moving out to the post from town since November 10, report that they are making very satisfactory progress, and hope to be settled comfortably by next August.

The month of November ushered in a lot of bad luck for the QM'ers in the way of bodily ills. First Mr. Bewley, chief clerk, and Mr. Ford of Utilities had terrible colds—then Miss Beatrice Davis, of the Constructing Quartermaster's office, had a terrible siege of fever—Mrs. Clara Blount, of the Billeting Branch was next on the program, and was on sick leave for a day—now Miss Ruby Kennon, of Transportation, is "laid up". Captain Buckbee, of the Commissary, limped around several days with a sprained toe, but today he states that the injured member is completely well. Mr. Ford also states that he has recovered from his Thanksgiving feast—said feast having tempted him to go beyond the bounds of discretion.

Mrs. J. B. Craig, of Memphis, Tenn., who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Drane of the Purchasing Branch, has returned home.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Drane, of the Purchasing Branch, on the death of her brother-in-law, Judge Dunham, of Buena Vista. Just as the polls were closing, announcing that Judge Dunham had won the mayoralty of Buena Vista, he dropped dead of heart failure.

An occasion for great rejoicing among the personel of the garrison—contracts to install new water pipes throughout the entire post, are being let at the Purchasing Branch.

The fame of the Fort Benning roundhouse has spread all over the army world, and nearly every month brings in a crippled locomotive to be made new by our repairmen. This month, the Transportation Branch shipped a Baldwin Locomotive to Fort Bragg, and Mr. Stewart G. Brown accompanied it as messenger. He will bring back a saddle tank locomotive to be repaired in the famous Fort Benning shops.

We wonder who's keeping such a pretty vase of roses (roses in December, mind you) on our Margie's desk every day!!?

TANK SOLDIER HAS HAD VARIED CAREER IN ARMY

"Red" Lindsey Enlisted in 1918; Made Excellent Record on Army Team

Several weeks ago when the All-Army squad were in action on the field of football in Washington against the Marine outfit, there was one man in the fray who has seen plenty of action ever since he joined the forces of Uncle Sam 'way back in 1918. That was Sergeant Horace ("Red") Lindsey, of Company "A," 15th Tank Battalion. Lindsey played at center the past year on the All-Army team and held his position throughout practically every game during the season.

Lindsey enlisted in July, 1918, at Tulsa, Oklahoma. He was sent to the Field Artillery Replacement depot at Camp Taylor, Ky., and a few months later was sent to France, where he was finally assigned to the 35th Division. It was very shortly afterward, however, that the enemy forces heard of "Red's" arrival and decided to sign the armistice.

He was later transferred to the 236th M. P. Company and remained in France until the summer of 1919, when he was returned to the States and sent to Camp Pike for discharge as a private first class. He was not content, however, to give up the alluring life with Uncle Sam, so re-enlisted for one year with Co. "A," 344th Tank Battalion and served at Camp Meade, Md., until April, 1920, when he was discharged as a corporal. A few months later he re-enlisted in the 15th Tank Battalion at Fort Benning and was made a sergeant a few months later, which grade he now holds.

Lindsey has been a prominent athlete at Fort Benning and has been the driving power back of the 15th Tanks athletic teams. He is now captain of the Tanks Intra-Mural football squad which position he held last year and brought his team to victory in the league. He hopes to do the same this year.

His home is Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Interesting items pertaining to activities throughout the service

A recent rumor to the effect that one battalion of the 11th Infantry and the 5th Tank Platoon at Fort Benj. Harrison, Indiana, would be moved to Camp Knox for permanent station has aroused action among organizations of the city of Indianapolis to the extent that twenty-seven clubs of that city headed by big business hen have sent resolutions to Congress asking that $7,000 be spent in the repair of buildings at Fort Harrison. It is thought that their efforts will keep these troops at the Indiana post. It was estimated that it would cost $11,000 to move the troops to Camp Knox.

A formal reception and dance will be held at Fort Harrison this evening in honor of General G. H. Jamerson, recently assigned there to command the 10th Brigade. Gen. Jamerson recently completed the refresher course at the Infantry School.

A big ice plant is being planned for construction at Fort Sam Houston. The capacity of the plant will be 120,000 pound per day. At the present time the government is paying $4.50 per thousand for ice, while with the new plant the cost will be about $2 per thousand pounds.

One of the most disastrous fires that has occurred at Fort Sam Houston occurred last week when the barracks building of Co. K, 9th Infantry, burned to the ground. One soldier was fatally burned while another was seriously burned in the fire.

HOW THE CHATTAHOOCHEE GOT ITS NAME

(Lt. G. A. Hadsell)

This, little boys and girls, is no bedtime story. It's origin, while lost in the faint dawning of history may be traced to no less an authority on local tradition than Major Mulhall. It seems that long before the essential ingredient of the mint julip degenerated into an anti-freeze for radiators on sketching days, there were two Indians, Pat and Mike. Pat and Mike belonged to an ancient brand of War Whoops who infested this region long ago when the quaint custom of measuring corn by the bushel still persisted.

One day these two redskins in full Blue war paint beshouldered their tomahawks, brick bats, and shillelaghs and sallied forth from the ancestral teepee on an azimuth of two hundred and forty-nine degrees. As the peace pipe had been rudely shattered and war recently declared, Blue East and Red, West, soon found themselves in hostile territory. Threading the silent aisles of the virgin forest they came to the red clay banks of a broad brown river whose name they did not know.

Mike bent down, his hawklike eyes searching the leaf mold for tracks of hostile moccasins. An arrow, tipped with death, whizzed by his ear. The depths of the primeval forest resounded to the horrid war cry of the Reds. They were cut off! Behind them hostile bowstrings twanged sending their fatal messengers. Ahead was the unknown river.

"Begorrah, I'm gone!" cried Mike and leapt into the stream.

Just before the tea colored waters closed over his head he called to Pat, "Follow me!"

Pat made a hasty estimate of the situation. An arrow clipped a feather from his war bonnet. Casting aside his wampum, moccasins, and shillelagh, he likewise did a bull-frog far out into the current. More arrows zipped through the air. They split the water on every side, tomahawks darkened the sun. But as swimming had been taught in Blue schools, Pat and Mike surged frward with swift strokes out of hostile range. The Reds gnashing their molars in futile rage were left burbling on the bank.

"Faith, thim murtherin' heathens nearly had us," Pat exclaimed climbing the opposite bank. Mike, bedraggled and dripping had preceded him and was wringing the water from his ears.

"And I've caught me death of cold," moaned Mike. He continued, his teeth chattering noisily, "What name wad ye name this lovely sour tastin river, Pat?" But before his brother in arms could reply he sneezed explosively. He sneezed again!

"Bdad, ye've named it yourself," said Pat.

And to this very day that same fair stream bears the name of Chattahoochee.

A small woman traveling over the Southern Pacific with her son—a boy very large for his age—handed the conductor a half-fare ticket and a whole-fare one.

The conductor scrutinized the boy critically and said, "But, mdaam, I can't pass this boy on a half-fare ticket. He is very large and has on long pants."

"Very well," replied the woman, "if that is the basis for your decision, use the whole ticket for him and the half for me."—Laughter.

A woman came into the car with five children. She busied herself seating them. A benevolent old gentleman arose and gave her his seat.

"Are these all your children, madam?" he asked, "or is it a picnic?"

"They're all mine," snapped the woman, "and it's no picnic."—Laughter.

RETIREMENT BILL WILL BE RE-INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS

Rep. Hamilton Fish, of New York, who last year introduced the 25-year enlisted men's retirement bill, has not as yet re-introduced his bill but will do so pending a conference with the War Department.

Representative Fish has not given up the fight to get this bill before Congress again, and will, upon re-introducing it make a strong effort to have immediate action taken on this legislation. He has delayed the bill in order that he might get the co-operation of the War Department before it reaches a committee hearing. In this way, it is quite assured that the bill will be acted upon favorably.

"By the way," said the gentlemanly looking person in the black broadcloth suit, "if you mention my name in connection with the accident, you may say Dr. Jebbs was called and the fractured arm suitably bandaged, or something to that effect. Dr. John Jebbs—here's my card."

"Thanks," said the reporter, looking at the card. "You are next door to Dr. Smith, I believe. Are you acquainted with him?"

"No, sir," replied Dr. Jebbs, stiffly. "We do not recognize Dr. Smith as a member of the profession. He advertises."—Calgary Eye-Opener.

THE MEANEST MAN

The following is an excerpt from the will of a Wall Street man which has recently been probated in the New York courts:

"To my wife, I leave her lover, and the knowledge that I wasn't the fool she thought I was.

"To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty years he has thought the pleasure was all mine. He was mistaken.

"To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband ever did was to marry her.

"To my valet, I leave the clothes he has been stealing from me regularly, for the last ten years. Also my fur coat that he wore last winter when I was at Palm Beach.

"To my chauffeur, I leave my cars. He almost ruined them, and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job.

"To my partner, I leave the suggestion that he take some other clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business."

"Well," said the dying business man, "you better put in a clause about my employees. To each man who has worked for me twenty years I give and bequeath $5,000."

"But," said the lawyer, "you have not been in business twenty years."

"I know it, man, but it's a good advertising."—Calgary Eye-Opener.

MODEL COMBAT FIRING OF 29TH INFANTRY PRAISED

Local Infantry Regiment's Combat Season Vividly Described in Infantry Journal

The November issue of The Infantry Journal carried in it a very interesting article describing the combat season of the 29th Infantry this year. The article was signed "O. B. Service" and is as follows:

The combat firing of the 1st Battalion, 29th Infantry, this year was splendid. It was so obviously beyond the ordinary that the writer who is in no way connected with the 29th Inf. and whose interest is solely that of a much-impressed observer, believes that a brief description of the schedule, team spirit and technique could not but be of interest and vale to anyone interested in military training.

Major O. W. Griswold commands the 1st Batalion, 29th Infantry. His energetic enthusiasm and active interest called forth the best efforts and the maximum cooperation of all. Capt. R. C. Dark, who was in charge of the musketry training of the battalion, drew u pan excellent schedule, and Capt. J. H. Rutemeyer was most successful in directing the firing on the combat range.

Pheliminary work on the parade ground and at the landscape target took up much of the time allotted to musketry exercise, but the real success of the season and the place where the most good was done was on the combat range. Here Captain Rustemeyer told each company about the work in a plain, definite, clear and concise talk. Then came the trial runs, which went off without a single mishap and with a precision and smoothness that showed that the men had mastered the essentials.

Three demonstrations, two squad problems and one section problem, with lectures interspersed, made up the schedule for each company. Corporals had a thorough opportunity to llead their squads and sergeants to learn to control their sections under simulated combat conditions and with their men firing ball ammunition.

In the demonstrations, a picked squad from Captain Dark's company showed (1) the trajectory of the bullet at the various ranges (with tracer ammunition), (2) the method of designating and picking up a concealed target by use of tracer, and (3) the method of fire distribution. In this last-named demonstration each man in the squad had tracer ammunition and a designated target. One silhouette was in front of each man. The men fired individually, in order that the observers, among whom were the company officers of the battalion and usually a number of other officers, might see how each individual acted. When the squad ceased firing, one man continued to shoot just as each member of the squad would have done if the squad had been firing on an enemy's line. The observers could easily watch the sweep from left to right, back to left, and across to the right again to cover the entire target.

In the first squad problem, which was a fire distribution exercise, the instructor explained the problem and then the squad marched onto the line and deployed. The target, which was a line of silhouettes, partially concealed, was designated and the corporal ordered the distribution of fire. Nearly every squad got good distribution.

For the next problem, the squad marched towards the firing line in close order. Suddenly the corporal was informed that he was being fired upon. The squad deployed and dropped to the prone position, every man hugging the ground. The corporal was told from where he was receiving fire, and he immediately estimated the range and designated the target. The squad then commenced firing. After it had fired one minute a new target appeared and the corporal was told that he was receiving fire from that direction. Though the targets blended into the background so effectively that it was difficult for even those who knew where they were to see them, as a general rule the squads picked them up promptly and sprayed them with automatic rifle fire.

In the third problem the section had to advance under assumed fire. The section took cover and sentout two scouts from each squad. The scouts advanced until they were informed that they were being fired upon, and were given the enemy's location. Each scout estimated the range and opened fire with tracer ammunition. The remainder of the section then built up the line by filtration. As soon as each man arrived on the line the man next to him gave him teh range and the target by saying "Range ——, watch tracer" (fired by the scouts). As soon as all men were on the line the section leader began rushing forward by squads until he was told that the fire of the enemy was getting heavier. He then reduced the number of men in the rushes. At about seventy-five or one hundred yards from the enemy the section fixed bayonets, the line arose and began moving forward, delivering fire as it advanced, and finally made the charge. So realistic was this exercise that one section got somewhat out of hand in the charge, butthis gave an opportunity for reorganization to take up the pursuit by fire. In spite of the fact that more than two-thirds of the targets were almost wholly concealed all the way down the range, although each target was at least partially visible at some range during the rush, the distribution of fire in some of these section problems was quite remarkable.

The outstanding features of this combat firing were:

1) The men firing were green men, few of whom had had any previous experience. They performed well, both individually and collectively.

(2) Many of the non-commissioned officers had never before led their units under similar conditions. At first they were self-conscious and nervous, but they got over this when they learned that the exercises were instruction, not tsts.

(3) The spirit and efforts of every officer and man in the battalion were remarkable.

While there may be better methods of combat instruction, better schedules, and plans of greater theoretical value, there could be no beter execution of a target combat firing schedule, no more realistic one, nor one with such attention to technique, minutiæ of detail and actual value as that of the 1st Battalion, 29th Infantry, on the Fort Benning combat range this season.

ALL-SERVICE CHAMPION KAOS TONY TORANTO IN SEVENTH ROUND

Toranto Was Leading Contender For Southern Middleweight Title.

Tony Toranto's climb toward the Southern middleweight championship honors were given a severe shock Thursdav night, Dec. 7, when he was knocked out in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round fight by Gunner DePratt, All-Service champion, at the Garrison Gymnasium, Fort Benning.

DePratt who has been unable to fight for the past three months due to a broken hand, fully demonstrated to his many admirers that his injury was thoroughly healed, and that he still carried a charge of dynamite in each mitt.

The large crowd of fight fans that packed the gymnasium Thursday night was highly pleased with the fight card present for the occasion. Captain Charles Mabbutt was given a big hand by the crowd when he made his appearance as third man in the ring after an absence of one month. Capt. Mabbutt accompanied the All-Army football team on its Eastern trip as assistant coach to Major Van Fleet.

The three-round bouts held before the main go were full of action and were the kind that please as knockouts seemed to be the order of the evening.

Brault of the 29th Inf. and Kline of Columbus, featherweights, started the fireworks with a fast three-round mix-up. Brault, who has not been showing so well of late, was back in form again, gave the tough little Columbus fighter a bad beating, putting him down for a short count in the third round, the bell saving him from a kao.

Blondie Parker continued his unbroken string of victories when he knocked out Hayward Thompson of Columbus early in the first round. Both boys started fast with Thompson on the offensive, rushing Parker to the ropes Thompson started throwing leather at the Green Cord, but it was the mistake of a lifetime, in a half crouch the Blonde suddenly lashed out with a right that landed smack on the butoon, the referee tolled the fatal ten while Thompson was drifting to dreamland.

"Baby" Asher certainly caught a Tartar when he drew Young Pratt of Columbus for his opponent, opening up an attack that kept the Doughboy covering up during the first round, Prat looked like a sure winner. Cming back in the second round Pratt started in to finish the Doughboy on sohrt notice, but he overlooked the fact that Asher still had two good hands, and when Asher suddenly clipped the Columbus Terror on the point of the chin a great change took place. Pratt went down with a foolish expression on his face but was able to fiet up at nine, falling into a clinch he managed to weather the storm until the bell. Although trying hard, Asher was not able to reach the old buton in the third round, but took the decision by a wide margin.

Doc Gainey and Battling Goolsby of 24th Inf. threw leather so fast in the first round that it was hard to decide on the winner, but Gainey settled the argument when he drove a pile driving right to Goolsby's feedbasket that put him down for the count early in the second round.

Olds and Dodson of the 24th Inf. fed leather in every form known to fightdom while the crowd yelled its self hoarse. Olds clipped Dodson on the chin in the second, Dodson would have probably been unable to regain his feet, but his head hit the corner of the ring so hard that he didn't even get to see the main go.

Smith of the 29th Infantry took a well earned decision over Montodon, of the Tank Corps, this was a good exhibition, the men are in the lightheavy divisi.n and both boys are clever fighters. Smith was sick before entering the ring but insisted on fighting.

Young Pieters of the 29th Infantry punched and jabbed Bobby Walton f olumbus for there rounds, and although a badly bruised and battered fighter, Waldon was still on his feet at the final bell.

Wilson of the 29th Infantry took a close decision from Young Vogt of the Tankers, although young at the game Young Vogt shows promise of making trouble for future mitt artists in the leather pushing game.

Westbrooks and Andy Moore started off at a fast clip, but Westbrooks was awarded the decision when Moore was forced to quit after twisting his ankle in the first round.

Main Bout

Both boys took it esay in the first round, DePratt sticking a left jab in Tony's face, Tony coming in beating a tattoo on the Gunner's ribs at the bell.

The second round found both boys warming to their work. DePratt jabbed Tony with a long left but took a one-two to the head in return. In a fierce mix-up on the ropes DePratt dropped Taranto with a choppy right to the jaw. Tony was up before the count began.

DePratt was boring in trying for a ko in the third, working Tony into a corner DePratt got in close to open up a fierce two-handed attack to the body, dropping Tony for the count of nine with a hard right over the heart. The bell saved a K. O.

With the crowd expecting a knockout in the fourth, Taranto won a place in their hearts by taking the offensive and holding DePratt to even terms during the fourth, shooting rights and lefts to the Gunner's midriff, although taking several hard smashes to the head and jaw in return.

Opening up in the fifth DePratt gave the game Mississippi Flash an awful beating, twice he went down for the count of nine but gamely crawled to his feet for more.

The sixth round found DePratt trying to end it, but Tony just wouldn't stay down and after being down twice he rallied gamely and was fighting at the bell.

DePratt was on his man from the clang of the gong i nthe seventh, a right to the jaw dropped him for nine again, a moment late ra right to the jaw dropped him for a long coutn, reeling groggily about the ring Taranto was an easy target for a right smash to the button that put him down for keeps.

Although outclassed by the Doughboy fighter, Taranto won a place in the heart of Benning fans by his show of gameness. This was the first knockout of his career. He has been referred to as the man with the iron jaw.

DePratt will probably fight Willie Ptomey here in the near future if the bout can be arranged, both boys are rearing to get in the same ring together to settle for once and always which is the better man. Attaboy DePratt.

"KELS" WIN OPENING GAME OF INTRA-MURAL SERIES FROM 1ST BATS.

Green Terrors Unable to Stop Plunging Kellys

In a game that was bitterly fought during the entire sixty minutes of play, the 2nd Bats took the opening game of the Intra-Mural series from the 1st Bats, 14 to 0.

It was the age old story of when Greek meets Greek, it was a rip snorting fight from start to finish, riot guns and poison gas being the only things barred. In the fourth and final quarter the ban was taken off with nothing barred, the final whistle stopping both teams in midair.

Doughboys in the stands yelled themselves hoarse as they urged their respective teams to "eat them alive," "knock 'em down and drag 'em out," etc. And the players certainly did their best to satisfy the wishes of their buddies in the stands.

But with the end of the game a smile drove away the fighting frown, men who a few moments before had charged each other with blood in their eyes, laughed over the game like a couple of kids, a green jersied quarterback ambled peacefully back to the barracks in company with a couple of the 2nd Bats.

Doughboys true and blue, the grandest fighters in the world be it on fields of sport or battle front, an enemy is an enemy until the fight is over, for as every one knows there is time for all things.

The Game

Kelly kicked off for the 2nd Bats, Brown ran the ball back to the Green Tide's 38-yard strip, on the first play Brown hit center for 2 yards. On the next play Birdsong was thrown for a 10-yard loss on an attempted end run. Birdsong punted to Thompson who ran the ball back to the 50-yard strip. On the first play Kelly fumbled, Darmifoal recovering for the Tidesmen. After three smashes at the line failed to make a gain Birdsong punted to Tommy Thompson who was downed on his 45-yard line. Kelly made three yards off tackle. Oikira hit center for 4 yards. On the next play Kelly picked a hole through right end for 6 yards and first down. The Tide held for downs on their 20-yard strip, but when Birdsong fumbled the ball rolled over the 1st Bats' goal line for a safety, Birdsong recovering.

Score—Kellys 2, Tide 0.

2nd Quarter

Birdsong punted. It was the Kellys ball on the Tide's 45-yard line. A pass, Kelly to Oikira, gained 25 yards. On the next play Kelly made 6 yards through center. Oikira skirted right end for 7 yards and first down on next play. With the ball on the Tide's 5-yard line Oikira crashed through for a touchdown on the first play. Kelly failed to kick goal for the extra point.

Kellys 8; Tide, 0.

Birdsong kicked off. It was the Kels ball on their 15-yard line. Thompson punted to Birdsong who was downed on the Kels 45-yard mark. Faining to gain Birdsong punted again, starting at their 30-yard mark the Kels started a drive down the field that carried them to the Tide's 20-yard line, here the Tide tightened, holding for downs. The end of the quarter battling on even terms in midfield.

3rd Quarter

Kelly kicked off. Birdsong received the kick and was downed on his 30-yard line. Birdsong fumbled the ball but recovered on his 10-yard line. Birdsong punted to Thompson who showed the fans a nifty piece of running when he went through the entire Tide line before he was downed on their 20-yard line. Kelly hit center for 6 yards. Thompson slipped around left end for six and a first down. On the next play the Kels were penalized 5 yards. Kelly threw a long pass to Franz who caugfit it over the Tide's goal line for the second touchdown. Score: Kellys 14, Tide 0. Kelly was wide again in his kick for the extra point.

Kelly took Birdsong's punt and was downed on the 50-yard line. Kelly passed to Jones for 20 yards, on the next play Kelly attempted another pass which was intercepted by Cowan who galloped to the Kels' 20-yard strip before Tommy Thompson brought him down. On the next play Harper went around right end for 19 yards, putting the ball on the Kels' 1-yard strip. Four straight plays at the line failed to carry it over, the Kels holding like a stone wall. The Kellys advanced the ball from their 1-yard line to midfield on straight line plays, Barron clipping off a 20-yard gain through center on the second play.

4th Quarter

The last quarter was a rough and tumble affair without either side being able to gain any noticeable advantage. Taking to the air in the last few minutes of play the Tidesmen turned loose a flurry f passes, but the Kellys were invincible at all times, only one pass being completed for a five-yard gain, Romploski to Brown.

Kjelstrom and Oikira starred for the Kels, while Brown, Cowan and Harper featured for the Green Tide.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Only nine days left after today to get your Xmas presents and send to the folks back home. That's all the time there is so you've got to snap out of it, make up that list if you haven't yet, get the presents, wrap them up, take 'em to the P. O. and throw 'em in the box for the next mail train. It's time to go shopping, hock your watch if necessary, Mr. Dumbjohn, and get that little package all wrapped up for your best girl friend. You don't need to blow your last sou on it, however, but just a little gift to let her know that you're still thinkin' of her back home, or some other place.

"Well, that's one side of the story. If you want to call it a story, but just a little reminder that you mustn't forget the home fireside where the home fires are probably burning like you left it some months or years ago to join Uncle Sam. Not every one can get home for Xmas as much as we'd like to be there. But while we can't get there the folks back home are probably thinking heaps about what we're doing on that big day—what kind of a time we're having and if we're doing just the thing that we should with Uncle Sam. They don't expect you to send them a big gift, but the folks would like to have a good long letter from you, Mr. Sergeant, Corporal, or Private, or of whatever rank you might be, to open on that morning or the eve before. They would appreciate a good newsy letter telling 'em about your plans for Xmas day, etc.

Don't forget to write that letter home no matter whether you send them a present or not—that will be a big gift and will make them enjoy their Xmas day that much more.

STUDENTS WIN OVER BUCCANEERS IN FIRST GAME

A large crowd of Columbus and Fort Benning polo fans saw the mighty Freebooters scuttled by the hard-riding Student team on Shannon Field Sunday afternoon in the opening game, while the Red Cords from the 83rd F. A. rode rings around the Doughboy four from the demonstrationist outfit to win the second contest.

The Pirate crew seemed to have a hard time getting underway, several easy goals being missed by inches. Taking advantage of every break of the game, the Students took a four-point lead in the first chukker and were never headed by the desperate rallies of the Freelance crew.

The fine playing of Lieut. Farmer and Capt. Boudinot for the Students was the feature of the game, although all players were on the job at all times.

Captain McClure played a great game for the Freebooters, ferquently carrying the ball for long runs, and breaking up opposing plays in great style.

Captain Pinkey Burress' mounted doughboys were unable to hold the Red Legs from the 83rd F. A., in check, the Red Cords winning 8-3.

Lt. Guernsey led the Gunners' attack, bringing the crowd to its feet when he stole the ball away from the 29th. at the very mouth of their goal, carrying it the length of the field to score for the Artillery.

Students—Freebooters

Captain Pinkey Burress starred for the Demonstrationist, playing a consistent game of high class polo.

Captain Boudinot scored the first goal for the Students in the first thirty seconds of play. A few moments later he scored the second goal from scrimmage. The Pirates rushed the ball down the field, but Capt. Boudinot recovered the ball, seting up for Capt. Halloran who scored the Student's third goal. On the nevt come in the Students scored again, Captain Taylor making a set up for Captain Halloran.

Captain Mallan for Captain Olmstead in the second chukker. Neither team scored in the second chukker.

The Freebooters scored one goal in the third period. Capt. Scott tossed to Lt. Lockett who carried the ball up the field scoring from a difficult angle with a beautiful shot.

Lt. Oliver scored early in the fourth chukker fo rthe Freebooters, the Students came back on the next throw-in, Capt. Taylor making a set-up for Lt. Prather, who scored goal. Capt. Whisner got away for a long run but missed goal by inches on the shot.

Early in the fifth period Major Smith fouled, giving the Students a No. 3 penalty shot. Lt. Jacobs shot and halved to Lt. Farmer who missed the goal by inches.

In the sixth chukker Captain McClure got the ball away from scrimmage, carrying the ball upfield, but missed goal. With both teams fighting desperately McClure again broke through the Students' defense to score just before the end of the chukker. The final score: Students 6, Freebooters 2.

Artillery—Infantry

Lt. Guernsey scored goal for the Gunners quickly after the beginning of the first chukker. A moment later Lt. Hurt took the ball down field for a long run but missed goal. McKnight of the 29th made a safety. Lt. Hurt's attempt to goal on penalty failed. The chukker ended without any more scoring.

Early in the second period Captain Clarke scored on a long shot. Burress scored for the 29th Inf. on a beautiful near side shot, making the period even.

In the third period Van Houten foiled by crossing on the throw in, giving a No. 3 penalty. Guernsey for the 83rd made penalty stroke but Burress saved goal, and played the ball out of danger only to be intercepted by the Gunners, who brought the ball back.

Guernsey scored on a difficult near-side stroke. Foul was called on Capt. Burress, a penalty No. 3. Burress intercepted the rush by 83rd after the scrimmage, carrying the ball to the mouth of the goal, McDonald scoring Guernsey, by crossing, gave the 29th penalty No. 3. The Caisson Riders intercepted the penalty and ran it up to their goal, Lt. Guernsey scoring. Toward the end of the period Captain Burress scored the fourth goal of the chukker to even the count.

Major Jones scored the only goal of the fourth period, the play being about even.

The Red Legs were playing an offensive game in the fifth chukker. McKnight got a nasty spill when his horse slipped and fell, he was unhurt and returned to the game. A moment later he took the ball n the thrown in, carrying it down the field and tossin to Van Houten who scored just before the end of the period.

In the sixth the Gunners made a nice run, each member rode through after hitting the ball once, and Hurt, the fourth man, scored. On the next go-in, Guernsey made a nice run, but the Doughboys stole goal from him, playing the ball out of danger.

On the knock in Hurt intercepted and scored the second goal of the period. The 29th staged a rally, but Guernsey took the ball at the muth of the goal to cheat the 29th of their goal. Guernsey played the ball up to the Artillery goal, he would have missed goal had not Lt. Grubbs intercepted it, and passed it squarely between the uprights just as the period ended. Final score: Artillery 8, 29th Inf. 3. Umpires: Major McCunniff and Major Cook.

SPORTOPICS

(By Al)

"I'll tell the world he can hit," were the words of Tony Toranto after his fight with Gunner DePratt last Thursday night. Tony said that he had been told that DePratt packed an awful wallop, but that he never thought it possible for a middleweight to hit like that. He said that he did not believe that anybody could take DePratt's right hook on the button without coming in contact with the said canvas. Toranto should know what he is talking about, for he has been referred to as "Iron Jaw" by some of his admirers.

I often wonder why there is no bowling alley here. There is no doubt that quite a number of the members of the Garrison would be interested in this great indoor pastime.

First Sergeant Harry Bertleman, 15tn Tanks, has been picked for All-Service football honors for the season of 1927. We all join in offering "Big Bertha" our heartiest congratulations, but the news is not surprising to the ones who have seen the big boy in action during the past season. On defense he was a stonewall against all opposition, while on the offensive he was a terror to opposing linesmen. He played his greatest game against the Quantico Marines, his playing attracting national attention.

INTRA-MURAL FOOTBALL RULES PUBLISHED TO COMMAND

The winner of the Inter-Mural Football League will be determined by points Ten points will be awarded the winner of each game and in case of a tie score each team will be awarded five points. Should there be a final tie at the end of the series, this will be played off by one game. A forfeited game will be scored 1 to 0 in favor of the team to whom the game is forfeited.

Officers will not be allowed to play in these games. Players must be bona fide members of the organizations which they represent.

Players benches for the home team will be on the north side of the field.

Officials to act as referee, umpire, head linesman and field judge will be furnished by the Athletic Association and these assignments will be published in orders. Each team will furnish one scorer and one linesman on the day of the game. These men may be either commissioned or non-commissioned officers.

All equipment for games such as football, marker, line, horns, whistles and stop watches will be furnished by the Inf. School Athletic Assciation.

The playing field will be marked and kept in condition for all games by the personnel of the Inf. School Athletic Asso.

The surgeon, Fort Benning, will direct a medical officer to be present at each game.

Protest must be made on the field to the referee. All verbal protests must be followed by a written protest to be submitted to the office of the Athletic Association within twenty-four hours after the conclusion of the game.

Each man played his position well, the game being an interesting hard-fought battle throughout.

INFANTRY SCHOOL RIDING AND HUNT CLUB HOLDS DRAG HUNT

Caisson Riders Down Fighting Doughboys in Last Contest

The Infantry School Riding and Hunt Club put on a most exciting drag hunt Sunday morning. The hunt was staged over a previously marked course leading over hills and dale, although difficult the course was not treacherous and even a novice rider could have followed the pack at fairly close range. Several rests were allowed and these afforded opportunity for horses, men and dogs to relax from the strain of the case.

The morning run was noteworthy in that it produced fewer falls than the past hunts this year. In fact the only accident of the morning was that of our good looking huntsman, Captain E. B. Whisner, who dismounted in a most ungraceful manner when his horse slipped and fell.

A fitting climax to the morning's run, was the excellent breakfast served at the Polo Club at the conclusion of the hunt.

Sgt. and Mrs. Gunn Hosts at Hunt Supper

1st Sgt. and Mrs. Jonn R. Gunn, Co. F, 24th Infantry, were hosts to a supper hunt that was enjoyed by everyone attending on the night of December 12. The hunt party motored to a point deep in the woods beyond the logging camp, and the master of the hunt unleashed the dogs and before midnight two o'possums were bagged. Then a rest around a cheerful camp fire, while Coporal Mays told some very amusing tales—in the meantime weenies, buns and coffee were being enjoyd. Those attending the hunt were: Warran Officer and Mrs. Cranson, Sgt. and Mrs. Allen, Sgt. and Mrs. Venters, Sgt. and Mrs. Curtis, Sgt. and Mrs. Dogan, Corpl. and Mrs. Mays, Mrs. Miller, Lott, Woods, Powell Johnson and Lee. The survivors of the tramp over hill and dale returned home at daybreak, tired but elated at the success of the first hunt of the season and from all reports there will be other hunts sponsored by members of the regiment.

Capt. Crowell Joins Regiment From China

Capt. H. B. Crowell joined the regiment the first of the week having arrived in New York about October 1st from duty with the 15th Infantry in China. He stated that all former Benning officers were getting along fine in their new assignments in China and were enjoying the service there, which Capt. Crowell thinks is the best in the army. Capt. Forney is in command of Co. H and Capt. Schwab is assistant plans and training officer o fthe regiment. Capt. Poage is in command of the Service Company and Capt. Buracker of Compnay E.

Captain Crowell visited with relatives in Washington and at his home in Pittsburg, Kan., before coming to Fort Benning. He has been assigned to Company E.

Death of Sgt. Sam Harris

On Dec. 10 Sgt. Sam Harris, Co. F, 24th Infantry, died at the Post Hospital from appendicitis after a short illness. Sgt. Harris, who was the mess sergeant of Co. F, was one of those high types of soldiers whose attention to duty, whose efficiency, whose loyalty commanded the admiration and respect of all those associated with him. His death is a distinct loss not only to his family and friends but to the 24th Infantry. Sgt. Harris is survived by a widow. Funeral services in which all the officers and men of the regiment will participate, took place at 1 P. M., Dec. 14th. Following the services the remains will be taken to Novasota, Tex., for final interment.

Monograph by Capt. Paul Steele

Capt. Paul Steele gave one of the most interesting monographs of the course when on Dec. 12th he spoke before the commanding officer and officers of the regiment on the subject of Turkey's participation in the world war. The inadequate preparation, the lack of trainig and equipment of the Turkish army and the serious difficulties encountered by the German Mission under General Sanders, who had been sent to assist the Turks were revelation to many who were only familiar with the Turkish defense of the Dardanelles.

"The Drop Kick." No motion picture star of today is better fitted to play the typical quarterback than "Bad-boy", the horse, that made a fake plunge, and dropped, then kicked Private Walter Brown of Service Company, 24th Infantry, after having been penalized for roughness last Saturday at the horse show on the ready line.

According to the "Dope Bucket," there is quite a mixture of dope on the basket ball games. Sergeant Brown was found looking for a stem on a basket ball because he thought it was a pumpkin. He was put out of last Saturday's game, because he did not know what it was all about.

Private Woodson (Tom Mix), is now reclining in the barracks due to forethought of a remount. He will be known from this day on as Lindy, account of his famous flight.

Private Eugene Newman when questioned at last inspection stated that he had sent his bayonet to the laundry.

At this writing Private Chunn is rapidly improving in station hospital.

Service Co. dance was called off on account of death of Sgt. Harris.

Company "G"

This company is the proud possessor of the oldest soldier in the regiment and is thought to be the oldest one in the Army. He has approximately thirty years and there months of honest and faithful service. He now weighs 310 and is about five feet and five inches in heights and looks to be about forty years in age. He is identified by ten enlistment stripes on his left arm and by the name of Corporal Henry Boger. He will probably retire during the next ensuing year; but he states, presently, that he cares not to retire.

Our remarkable mess sergeant, Seregant Fred C. Wright, seems to be providing fr the coming Yuletide. He has caused to be builded in his mess, Mess Hall No. 3, a spacious storeroom in which he seems to be storing the best of "chow" therefor.

Park at C. A. Morgan & Co. Open till 10 o'clock. Soft Drinks, Drugs and Cigars.

Hdqrs. Co., 2nd Bn.

Our Worthy First Sergeant Biggerstaff has left on a two months' furlough, which will be spent in Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee. Sgt. Biggerstaff is a great asset to the 2nd Battalion office, and his presents will be greatly noticed. But we all hope you have a good time Sgt.

Staff Sgt. Kjelstrom the "old reliable" is our "top kick" while Biggerstaff is away, and the company, although we don't see much of "Kelly" is going to get along fine under the able guidance of him.

This company grabbed off two first prizes at the informal horse show held last Saturday. Lieutenant Brier's horse won first in the entries for officers' private mounts, and Corporal Sanders and Corporal Rogers won first in the pair jumping. Both corporals are sporting new wrist watches.

We all, in this company, went to see the "Big Parade" at the main theater Sunday in a body, having had a block of seats reserved beforehand.

Here's hoping that when these notes are in print that the 2nd Bats have the first football game under their belts, and if they do, look out you Tanks.

Company "E"

After this outfit has lost so many men there is not much to say this past week. Corp. Gorey, Pfc. Denny and Pvt. Stephens and Carrion have all been discharged. Corp. Gorey is going to re-up when he spends some of his finals. About four more will leave us soon. Private Carrion has gone to his home in the far lands of Porto Rico and says he thinks he will stay there.

Pfc. Felber (brother of Shavetail Felber) has his papers in for his discharge by purchase, and says the streets of old New York are calling him. The main thing I wish to say we are very glad to have our Company Commander, Capt. Rutledge, back with us after quite a few days in the hospital. The c mpany had an inspection of quarters yesterday, Dec. 10th, by Colonel Franklin and the barracks were in fine shape. Let's go boys, keep them that way.

We are training some of our men to wrestle and they are sure doing fine. I think Red Payne is our best bet. Old Fat Franz is back in the Company now ready to "hit the line hard with the 2nd Battalion football team." "Go aFt Go," we are all with you.

The acting top kick, "Jakey Halpern," is very anxious fo rthe First Sgt. Hi Davis to come back from furlough. He says he is sick of the job.

Company "G"

Sgt. Johnson, the non-stop Supply Sgt., is sure putting out since his side kick left the country. Stay with them—Route Step.

Pvt. Weber is getting along fine in the orderly room. He knows a collection sheet from a General Order now.

A certain Sgt. in Co. G went in the barber shop to get a shave, after the barber got through shaving him he asked the Sgt. if he would like a massage. He said, "H—— NO. Not me, barber, NO MORE.

Recruit Carmichael is felling his oats around the company—because Cpl. Creamer has promised to ge: him a job at the Post Ex.

Pvt. Ray Rimes walked into the kitchen with a big black and white sweater on and said to the cook, "Say, those eggs I ate were no good. I want two more." The Cook said, "Alright, Birmingham, you will get the eggs."

Little Jodie Morris got out under age, even if he did vote for Abraham Lincoln.

Sgt. Brown, the interior decorator of Co. "G", better known as "Plow out," got first place at the non-stop dance last week. Well no wonder as he is in a non-stop outfit, when it comes to that.

Pvt. Hill and his Sunday School class are coming along fine. We are all wishing them good luck.

Those six recruits going to duty helps a little.

Buglar LaBlanc was relieved because his love lip dropped on him.

Pvt. Whitby is going to take a 15-day furlough. He asked the 1st Sgt. if he had to take all his shining material with him.

Recruit Bourque was asked by Col. Volz to show him the balance of his rifle. Little Bernard told him that he had not drawn it from the supply room yet.

Recruit McGwen is being turned to duty after completing his two months of recruit drill. Mac knows his stuff, having started his Recruit Drill in 1898.

Service Co.

Staff Sergeant Herman L. Fink returned from what was to have been a 90-day furlough, but owing to "urgent business," he stretched it to four months. How he accomplished this wonder of wonders, we have not as yet been able to figure out. Although we are inclined to think he is a better "stretcher" than he is a "business" man, there is a possibility that business in the Twin Oaks Apartments was rushing. But, in what city in this domain are the Twin Oaks Apts. located? Ask him another.

Interest at cards was again revived. Reinforced with two volumes of Hoyle's latest edition, Sgts. Fink, Miller, Klemm, Roper, Davis and Tarno are at it each evening. Fink admits being stupid while on furlough—especially at card games—he even goes farther to admit that he cheated at Fan Tan and eHarts, but he confidently hopes to be able to beat the best of them during his next furlough as a result of the assiduous practice he and the other sergeants are getting at Fan Tan, "500", Hearts, Pinochle, Bridge, or what have you.

appeared before the various boards throughout the service to give their version of what they consider would bring about rapid promotion, or at least relieve the stagnation of promotion which has existed in the army for several years. General C. P. Summerall, chief of staff, in his report this year mentioned the stagnate condition of promotion of junior officers of the service.

Professional Examination Recommended

Probably one of the most important phases of the recommendations as made by the board is to the effect that officers who become due for promotion will be required to take an examination. Many have anticipated this change of the present system which has heretofore required only a physical examination when due for advancement. Just the scope of the examination probably was not mentioned in the report, that phase no doubt being left to a board to determine that if this is adopted by the legislation.

No Change in List

The board recommended that the present promotion list remain unchanged. This is in accordance with the recommendations submitted by the various boards throughout the service which also recommended that the present list be not changed due to the discontentment which would result in the various groups so affected. It is estimated that about seventy-five per cent of the boards so recommended and no doubt the Board of General Officers abided by the results of the various boards on this phase. However, there were some boards which strongly recommended that a change be made in the list insofar as the captains and lieutenants were concerned, while other boards were just as vigorous in their recommendations that no change be made in the entire promotion list of today.

Promotion on Length of Service

The Wadsworth bill which passed the Senate last year but did not reach favorable action in the House due to the House committee desiring that the service study the personnel problem, provided that captains and lieutenants be promoted upon length of service. Captains were to be promoted after seventeen years of service, first lieutenants after ten, and second lieutenants after three. This phase of theWadsworth bill was provided for in the recommendations of the Board of General Officers submitted to Congress today. Practically ninety per cent of the boards made the recommendation that officers be promoted to the next higher grade after certain number of years service. This phase of the problem was concurred in by a great majority of officers believing that it would be the best solution of the problem of acceleration in promotion of junior officers. In the telegram received by the News there was no mention made of the proposals made by the board as to the promotion of the field officers.

One Per Cent Permitted to Leave

Another phase of the recommendations in which many officers are interested is the attrition question. In an article in a service paper recently it was stated that the board would recommend an attrition of four per cent annually, and it seems that the board virtually has so recommended in its report. To quote the telegram on this matter: "Not to exceed one per cent of promotion list officers permited leave active service annually on application and with suitable remuneration." It seems from the quotation that the board will leave the matter of remuneration to the Congressional committees for the decision as to what compensation officers will receive upon leaving the service after applications have been acted upon favorably by the War Department.

The attrition at the present time is about three per cent and with the additional one per cent as recommendations call for, it would mean that approximately one hundred and twenty-five officers of the promotion list would leave the service every year. This provision was embodied in the Wadsworth bill as passed last year, namely: that there would be four per cent attrition of officers annually.

The matter of professional examination of promotion was the next mentioned in the telegram to the News which stated as follows: "Professional examinations for all promotion below Brigadier-General and above Second Lieutenants." The consolidation of the limited and unlimited lists was next mentioned, a phase that was recommended by many of the various boards throughout the service.

Remove Strictions Retired Officers

At the present time retired officers are restricted in their civil pursuits wherein government employes are concerned. This has ben vigorously attacked by many retired officers as unjust and one that many of the boards recommended be unchanged as an injustice to officers who might be in a position to hold attractive government positions. The enactment of this legislation, no doubt, is quite probable, since it has been the butt of many protests in the service during the past few years.

Retirement Insured

To quote: "Insure retirement after thirty-five years service; give President discretionary authority retirements officers over forty years service or sixty years of age." No mention is made of the present law which provides retirement after thirty years of service upon approval by the President. The recommendations as made above would mean that upon application an officer of thirty-five years service would be insured retirement and that an officer attaining the age of sixty and having forty years service might be retired upon authority of the President whether or not he had applied for retirement. This is a change from the present system of retirement upon application only after an officer had served a certain specified number of years.

Redistribution of Grades

One of the most important phases recommended by the board was that commissioned grades to be redistributed on percentage basis. This matter has been mentioned in the various boards' reports and is a question which, no doubt, will be the subject of much study by the Congressional committees when the time for drafting a bill. If the captains and lieutenants are promoted after seventen and ten years, respectively, as recommended next year will see a larger number of captains as now provided for, although the majors will increase only a very slight number the coming year.

There were no details in the telegram to the News in the matter of change in this respect as mentioned in the report by the board.

Branch Chiefs Appointed From Line

Another radical departure from the present system is recommended by the board whereby the Chiefs of Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery and Coast Artillery will be selected from the list of Major Generals of the line. Other chiefs and assistants will be selected from eligible lists. At the present time the above chiefs are selected from among the list of colonels within the respective branches, and if the proposed legislation be enacted will be a radical departure from the manner in which selected now.

Personnel Board Provided For

In order to carry out the provisions of the recommendations that one per cent of officers of the promotion be selected for separation from the service every year, the Board of General Officers has recommended that a board of general officers be created as personnel board of five Major-Generals to be known as the replacement, classification, and eligible list board, and for the purpose of preparing list of eligibles for separation from active service. In this manner it is thought that officers who may make application for separation from the service, officers who will be selected as assistant chiefs of the various branches will be picked by this board which will probably be known as the "Personnel Board." The details as to this phase of the recommendations were not sent the News, and additional matter pertaining to the board is a matter of opinion.

The telegram further stated: "President authorized retire on recommendation General Personnel Board such number of colonels passed over for promotion as will cause annual turnover not exceed one-seventh strength that grade." This, as further stated means for maintaining average annual attrition of four per cent of number of promotion list.

NEWS DELAYED ON ACCOUNT OF BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS

Wholly contrary to the policy of the News to make its appearance on time an exception had to be made this week in order to get to its readers the foregoing account of the recommendations as made by the Board of General Officers on the promotion and retirement problem.

The News has been very fortunate in being able to get this matter to its readers due to the efforts of Major T. B. Catron, secretary of the Infantry Association, who telegraphed the News the salient features of the recommendations.

Thursday morning a letter was received from Major S. J. Chamberlin to the effect that the recommendations would be made public Saturday and that it was quite probable that the News would be sent a copy last Wednesday morning, which would have enabled the paper to give more details on this matter. It was later learned that a copy was being sent to Fort Benning from the office of Major J. Thompson, G-2, and that the Infantry Association was also sending a copy to the News which will probably arrive at Fort Benning today (Saturday). In order to get the paper to the people of Fort Benning and to be the first paper to give officers here an inkling of what had been recommended the telegram from the Infantry Association was used as a basis for the above story.

Several weeks ago the editor of the News wrote Washington and was assured that the News would get the "dope" in which officers at the Infantry School are anxious to have as soon as possible.

We take this opportunity of thanking Major Catron, Major Thompson, and Major Chamberlin for so assisting and making it possible to give to the readers the above story.

THE ADVANCED CLASS INFANTRY SCHOOL

(Maj. E. F. Harding)

On September 14th, 1927, the Advanced Class of the Infantry School, 1927-28, entered upon the course of instruction which is officially guaranteed to make the individual member invincible in battle. The class roll contains the names of 75 doughboys, one leatherneck (Major Charles E. Nutting), two dashing Cavalrymen (Capts. Boudinot and Taylor), one Knight of the Air (Capt. R. E. Cole), and one officer of the Fighting Q. M. C. (Capt. C. L. Graham). Classified according to rank the class consists of one lieutenant-colonel, twenty-one majors, and fifty-seven varieties of captains.

The senior member of the class is Lieut.-Col. Charles H. Mason, and at the other end of the class when arranged accordingly is Captain Cole. Major Harry H. Bissell (53) is the dignified father of the class. Captain Boudinot, who is just a year younger than Alexander, the Great, when he died, is our youngest member. In size the class ranges from Major DeVore, the class Goliath, six feet three in his field boots, to Capt. Pritchett, whose boast is that he is only three inches taller than Napoleon. The average weight of the class is quite low considering the percentage of field officers. The average age varies from twenty-two on Saturday to sixty-three plus on Monday morning.

Colonel Mason, who commands the company of Caesars, entered the service in 1902. He has served in Alaska, the Philippines, France and Poland, and his experience as an observer and participant in active operations eminently qualifies him for the distinguished position he now holds. His war record runs from the Pulajams campaign in Samar in 1907 to the 36th Division offensive in Champagne in 1918. He was an observer with the British forces in Mahmud campaign in Northwestern India in 1908 and served in a similar capacity on the Bolshevist front in Poland in 1919. He has had considerable service with the Military Intelligence Division and was Chief of Section at the Peace Conference. From 1917 to 1921, he was on the General Staff and from 1921 to 1927, he was on organized duty in New England. For his services in the M. I. D. with the 36th Division and at the Peace Conference he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

If Colonel Mason may be respectfully referred to as the Moses ,(Biblical references are much in vogue at Benning), who has been designated to lead the Advanced Class through the Wilderness of Tactics, Logistics, and Monographs, Majors Bissell and Baxter may be likened to Aaron and Hur who upheld the hands of the well known prophet and law giver.

Major H. H. Bissell, who shepherds the First Platoon, began hi scareer when he entered the Naval Academy in 1894. Realizing his mistake in time he left the Navy in 1897 and enlisted in the land forces. He was commissioned in 1904 and has served in the Philippines, at Vera Cruz, and wit hthe A. E. F. His last duty prior to coming to the Infantry School was with the Organized Reserves in Ohio.

Major Jere Baxter, who commands the Second Platoon, was cmmissioned in 1907. His foreign service record includes the Philippines, Hawaii, Vera Cruz, and six years on the Mexican border. His last service prior to coming to Fort Benning to be the popular monitor of the 2nd Platoon, was with the 30th Infantry at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Class Officers

The clas sofficers are Colonel Mason, president; Major Baxter, vice president; Major R. W. Dusenbury, club representative; Captain A. L. Hamblin, secretary and treasurer. In addition to the above elected officers we have Major Drollinger who has won the Croix de Questionaire so consistently that we may well consider him as one of our official spokesmen.

The Advanced Class is beginning to feel that it is a veteran organization. It received its baptism of Map Reading in early September, and since that memorable encounter it has driven in the covering forces of Cavalry and Field Engineering, and participated in a number of lively skirmishes with the Command Staff and Logistics shock troops. It is now hotly engaged in an assault upon the strong outpost position occupied by the Fourth Section, supported by written and verbal monographs, while the heavy artillery of the Tactics Section, along the main line of resistance, is already in action. It looks like a hard winter campaign ahead but we are no longer dismayed by verbal barrages and mimeographs bombardments. Having much the acquaintance of that omnipotent triumverate, Grigadier-General, "1st Brigade," Colonel 1st Infantry, and Lieutenant-Colonel, 1st Battalion, we are prepared to tackle even such hitherto insurmountable military obstacles as the correct pronunciation of this twin shibboleth of the Infantry School, "Status" and "Data." Having survived two with that arch destroyer of brilliant Infantry the formidable decimal point, we face the future with confidence.

THE INFANTRY SCHOOL— THE "QUEEN OF SCHOOLS"

(By Capt. J. W. Bollenbeck, Inf.)

If the Infantry is "The queen of battles" it is not going far astray to say, "The Infantry School is the gueen of schools." Only an officer who has been through the course given here can appreciate its value and appreciate why graduates of the school are so much sought by regimental commanders.

It is making no idle boast to say that the members of the company officers' class as well as the advanced class already feel more than repaid for coming here.

More impressive perhaps than the instruction itself is the method of instruction employed. Fortunately, the instructors have called attention to this. To the majority of students the methods of instruction have been enlightening, to many such a revelation that return to duty with organizations to put them into practice is eagerly awaited. It has been a delightful surprise to know that the instructors not only are efficient and expert in their line but also are human. The many little anecdotes and personal experiences woven into conferences goes a long way not only ni bringing home a point but in providing a mental "break." When the dryest of subjects, such as map reading and sketching, can be made probably the most interesting of all, as Capt. McMahon has done, the reputation of the school will never be in danger.

Since this story is intended primarily for the information of future students, it might be stated that the classes are divided into three companies, one for the advanced class and two for the larger or company officers' class. This story will concern principally the company officers' course.

The 171 students are divided into two companies each with its student company commander, platoon commanders, etc. They have a locker room adjoining which they form for all formations and from which they proceed to classes. Most of the instruction is practical work and is conducted outdoors. The school area in the center of the post is one mile from the rifle, pistol, automatic rifle ranges, grenade and bayonet courses and from one and one-half to two miles from the combat practice and machine gun ranges. Students are carried to these points by a "dinky" train operating on a narrow guage railroad.

School hours are normally from 8 to 11:30 and 1:15 to 4 p. m., with Wednesday and Saturday afternoons off.

The instruction schedule includes 1,190 hours of work divided as follows: 30 for lectures, 205 for conferences, 125 for demonstrations, 735 for practical work, 94 for examinations. There are eleven major subjects, weapons, close order drill, organization, instructional methods and training, physical training, signal communications, command, staff and logistics, field engineering, tactics, equitation and topography.

Weapons, which take 513 hours, have 83 for rifle marksmanship, 33 for pistol, 56 for automatic rifle, 36 for musketry, 20 for combat practice, 11 for grenades, 28 for bayonet, 192 for machine guns, 32 for 37MM gun and 22 for the 3-inch mortar.

The general subjects include 39 hours of close-order drill, 1 for military courtesy and customs of the service, 3 for administration, 15 for the Army of the United States, 4 for military history and 5 for applied psychology. Fifteen hours are devoted to organization.

Map reading, sketching and aerial photography have 83 hours, instructional methods have 24 and training 17. Physical training has 30, equitation 41, management of animals and transportation 17, signal communications 55, command, staff and logistics 79, field engineering 27 and tactics 222.

No one thing made a more favorable initial impression on incoming students than the efficient functioning of a reception committee which met all trains and conducted officers to a headquarters at the Ralston Hotel in Columbus. Here the official registration was made and all information, including program and schedule of training, housing, messing, baggage, property, finances, etc., was given out. Since officers bringing families live in the city of Columbus, 9 miles from the post, this saved unnecessary travel. Bachelors and others who were to live on the post were transported out at stated intervals.

Student officers living on the post are housed in "Biglerville," a block of 2-story frame buildings of ten rooms, each about 12 feet square, each floor having one bathroom, walls of beaverboard, a coal stove in each room and electric lighting. Orderly service is provided at an average cost of $3.50 per month. This area is one mile from the locker rooms and is connected only by a road. On account of the distance to the school area and to the city, officers living on the post are seriously handicapped without the services of an automobile though garage space is available for only one out of four cars. Bachelor officers of the faculty and of the 24th and 29th Infantry regiments also live in Biglerville whose mess is the principal post mess. The cost of meals is $1.40 per day. The Officers' Club, in the school area, serves food cafeteria style.

Officers with families find rents between $60 and $100 a month, the average being about $75. Most of them live in a section of town known as Wynnton, east of the business center and about two miles earer the post than any other portion of the city. Heat, light, gas, ice etc., is not included in this figure. Generally four married officers group for transporting themseves to the post and back, each providing his car for a tour of one week.

It has been pleasant to find uniform requirements no different than at most posts and that for range work a liberal interpretation is used. There is no preiference as to color of leather. A shooting coat is required for rifle and automatic rifle work. Dungerees are worn in machine gun training.

Training regulations for all instruction are provided on memo receipt and are augmented by special mimeographs and pamphlets published at the school. Rifles, pistols, automatic rifles are issued to each officer who generally finds it more satisfactory to do his own cleaning than to allow it to be done for cash by others.

Ft. Benning offers all of the social and athletic activities enjoyed at other schools and the larger posts. There is one large student reception and dance, two dances a month one of which generally is a dinner-dance, occasional costume or masquerade dances, tennis, swimming, golf, riding and daily movies. An activity of more than usual interest is that of the Ft. Benning Hunt which conducts drag hunts, coon and wild cat hunts. The coon hunts are held nearly every Wednesday evening, the drag and wildcat hunts alternating on Sunday mornings. The drag and wildcat hunts are so conducted that ladies may join. Cat hunts start at 5 a. m., drag hunts at 8. The latter are followed by breakfast at the Polo Club at 9:30 and are very popular. Mounts are provided by the school stables. The 97,000 acres of the reservation provide notonly sufficient contours to be found or to get tangled up in making sketches but ample room for enjoyable rides. The immense outdoor pool is the life-saver of the day in hot weather where almost everybody on the post may be found at some time or other during hot afternoons.

Semi-monthly dances are held in Columbus by the Muscogee Club and by the Country Club both of which have a special Army membership at $5 a month. Both provide opportunity for dinner parties.

Polo is a popular sport. Usually four teams, the 29th Infantry, 83rd Field Artillery, students, faculty and staff compete. Ten students make up the student team. To date they are on top.

Prospective students may be inteersted to know that the school does not open as a rule for a week to ten days after the final date given in orders for reporting. This gives students ample opportunity to prepare their quarters, uniforms, etc., for school. Troops on the post include the 29th Infantry, less one batalion, which is kept at full war strength for demonstration purposes; a battalion of the 83rd Field Artillery, the 15th Tank Battalion, the 24th Infantry, the school faculty of 80 officers and the headquarters officers as well as several smaller units.

DOUGHBOY STADIUM—BENNING'S GRIDIRON

(By Sgt. A. B. Dowling)

To the Doughboy is conceded the proud place as the Army's—the Nation's fighting man. But he has achieved more than that. A new chapter has been written into the annals of peace-time soldiering. As a rule—in peace as well as war—he has done construction work under engineer supervision, but it is our purpose in this article to set forth an exception to this rule.

The Infantry School Recreation Center Project of which Doughboy Stadium is the center-piece, so to speak, is the exception. It is in fact unique in all respects, for this big project was conceived, promoted and financed, and is being constructed by the Infantry, "on its own hook." Advice, co-operation, yes and real financial assistance has been received from sister services. But nevertheless the big project is Infantry, through and through. Infantry organizations have furnished the bulk of the funds; Infantry officers have planned it all; Infantry soldiers are doing all of the work, supervised by Infantry officers.

Never before in the history of the Army has the Infantry or any other branch undertaken on its own initiative any such task as this. Nor has any other post in the army, save only the Military Academy at West Point, a plant comparable to that which is now rapidly nearing completion at Fotr Bennnig.

How much this program will eventually include cannot well be foreseen. The works at present contemplated include the baseball park—Gowdy Field—already completed; the football field—Doughboy Stadium—completed with the exception of the west facade; a swimming pool, already in use, but in which many important improvements are contemplated; the Main Theatre, dealt with in an article in last month's Pontonier; an Officers' Club; an Enlisted Men's Club ;and an amphitheatre for basket ball, boxing and wrestling.

It was Colonel (now General) A. W. Bjornstad who first conceived the idea of a stadium. In fact so enthusiastic was General Bjornstad that on several occasions he even used his own money to meet temporary deficits while the worke was getting started. Geenral B. H. Wells, then Commandant of the Infantry School, also took a very active part in promoting the project. In fact General Wells and General Bjornstad were the fathers of the Recreation Center project.

When the plan for this big project had taken form it was submitted to the War Department for approval and permission to proceed. On March 10th, 1924, the Secretary of War gave his approval to the general plan, and the way was cleared to "carry on."

On May 12, 1924, General B. H. Wells and Colonel (now General) A. W. Bjornstad, armed respectively with a pick and a shovel formally broke the ground for the foundations of the stadium. Ten days later, on May 22nd, General Pershing, on a visit to the Post, heartily commended the project, started the concrete mixer, and poured the first bucket of concret into the foundations.

Getting under way with green men, every one of whom had to be taught his work, was a slow process. But it was undertaken with enthusiasm and patience by officers and men. It was not until September 16th that the intricate form work for the first 100 feet of the south stand of the stadium was in place, with its steel reinforcing ready to receive concrete.

A word about the personnel engaged on the stadium project. General Bjornstad, the first manager of the Recreation Center Board, was succeeded by Lt. Col. Paul S. Bond, C. E. Colonel Bond also took over the duties of engineer on the project, relieving Major Roscoe C. Crawford, C. E. Throughout the time that the main part of the stadium was under construction Captain J. Sproule was Field Engineer and Captain J. T. ellers, Lt. E. W. Peach and Lt. A. W. Moffett were his assistants. At the present time all of these officers have been relieved with the exception of Colonel Bond, who with Corporal Joseph Ruginski, 29th Infantry, remains alone of all the original detail engaged in the stadium construction.

The enlisted details on the stadium work came from practically every organization in the Post. At first two civilian finishers were employed on the concrete work; but these men were replaced almost at once by competent enlisted specialists.

Mr. Raymond E. Judd, a pleasant and efficient young chap, fresh from a Missouri college, was the only civilian employed on the job. Mr. Judd came here as a representative of the Truscon Steel Company, the firm which furnished the steel for the project. Captain Youry, Atlanta representative of the Truscon Steel Company, prepared the basic plans. The drafting and detailing for the form work on the job was done by Mr. R. E. Judd and Mr. C. S. Grimes now of the Post Exchange.

We quote Colonel Bond for an account of the early work on the stadium:

"The 16th of September, 1924, was a red letter day at the Infantry School, but an anxious one for the officers on the stadium project from the Commandant and Assistant Commandant down to the Field Engineer and his assistants. Everything had been prepared, every precaution taken; but (with the exception of Col. Bond) none of the officers had ever faced the responsibility of so large a task—the placing of one hundred and fifty yards of intricately molded concrete in a single continuous operation—anything might have happened.

In the gray of early morning a large detail of eager and enthusiastic doughboys assembled on the job. Slowly the concrete mixer began to turn, fed by a long lineof 'irish phaetons' bringing up gravel and sand. A big railroad crane with a fifty-foot boom, moving on a track in rear of the stand dumped the concrete into the superstructure through the metal chutes. All day the scene of feverish activity continued. At dark big 300 candlepower electric lights were turned on and the work continued. Suddenly disaster threatened—the concrete mixer, the heart of the plant, broke down. The work couldn't stop. An hour's cessation in pouring would have spelt ruin—for each section of the stand must be a monolith or single great piece, without a joint. But the emergency had been foreseen—disaster was averted. A little emergency mixer was rushed onto the job—and the work continued without a halt, and at 10:30 P. M. the last of the concrete was poured and the tired but happy crew of doughboys went to bed. All but the finishers—the men smoothing and troweling the exposed surfaces. They worked until daylight of September the 17th and the officers in charge stayed with them."

It was thus that the first section of Doughboy Stadium turned in twenty-four hours from flimsy wood to the solid permanence of concrete.

The second section was completed a month later, separated from the first section by an expansion joint (which opens and closes with changes of temperature). Already this early in the work the fruits of experience were evident. Starting at 6 a. m. of the 17th of October, the pouring of concrete was completed at 5 p. m. and the finishers were in bed at "taps".

Again we quote Colonel Bond: "An occasion of great interest was the removal of the form work, exposing the finished surfaces of the new concrete. It was found smooth and slid, satisfactory in both appearance and strength.

"The third section of the stands was poured on November 7th. Work began as usual at 6 a. m. and the section, including finishing was completed by Tatoo."

Meantime the baseball season, which starts early in the south, was coming on, and work on the baseball stand (Gowdy Field) was rushed. The center of the three sections of the stand was poured and finished between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. December 12th. Even the Marines couldn't have done it better, not to mention a common ordinary contractor.

The fourth and last section of the south stand of Doughboy Stadium was poured only a week later, on Dceember 19th, and again the record was broken, this section was finished between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Construction problems were not the only difficulties that faced the stadium crew. The present football field was literally covered with ancient shacks left over from the war, all of them teeming with activities of various sorts. All of these had to be move delsewhere. The "perambulating finance office," here today, there tomorrow, will long be remembered at Fort Benning. The Post Exchange, which occupied a good share of the old shacks, was moved to the underside of the south stand of the stadium, its present location, in January, 1925.

The supply of gravel for the project is a story in itself. Space permits only the mention of the fact that the Seventh Engineers built three miles of railroad to a remote source of supply and operated the plant necessary for procuring the gravel.

Work on the north stand progressed more rapidly and we find the same detail completing the last section of the north stand between 8 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. of the same day. Work on the stadium and Gowdy Field was prosecuted at the same time and finished at nearly the same time. Gowdy Field was completed just before Dedication Day which was marked by a baseball game between the World's Champion Washington Senators and the New York Giants, champions of the National League. On this day Long George Kelly of the Giants knocked the first home run over the fence. Gowdy Field was named for "Hank" Gowdy, the first big league ball player to enter the service during the war. Hank was present in person as catcher of the New York Giants and received a loving cup at the hands of General Wells.

The baseball park came as a sort of bonus to the stadium project. Economies, such as the procurementof large quantities of supplies from Muscle Shoals, resulted in the actual cost falling away below the estimates. So much money was left over that the construction of a ball park was undertaken.

To date the stadium has cost about $30,000 and the cost of Gowdy Field was $8,500 with $5,000 additional for the roof. All of which came from the Recreation Fund. Cement alone for both projects cost $6,500. In the mtater of statistics the stadium seats 9,600 persons while Gowdy Field seats 3,800. A total of 23,500 seating capacity for the entire project. It is estimated that the average cost per seat is $2.99 which is, we believe, a record for economic stadium construction. West Point Stadium cost $15.00 per seat and the average cost of stadium seats is about $10.00 Forms for the construction work were used three and sometimes five times. One hundred and ten men were employed on the average during th stadium job and 120,000 pounds of steel was used. Each 100 feet of the stands required 160 cubic yards of cement.

The stadium was dedicated at the opening game on October 15, 1925. General Allen was present and made the formal dedication. Oglethorpe University met the Doughboys, who baptised the new playing field by trouncing their college adversaries by a score of 20 to 0. Since then drills, pageants, track meets, field meets, horse shows, and football games have kept this main feature of the Recreation Center occupied.

The original plan for the stadium called for the west end being closed with a building for the housing of the Post Exchange. General Wells changed this plan and decided to close the end with a wall including two large towers in Spanish Mission style. The funds are now on hand to complete this work and

THE MAIN THEATRE

(By Sgt. A. B. Dowling)

On the stage of the Main Theater there is represented, on the back-drop, a little painted room in the left hand corner of which is a fast-closed door. Possibly, of all the thousands of theater-goers who have nightly seen that room thrughout the past year, few have thought of that little door as anything more than part of the painted back-drop—a scenic effect to offset the bare simplicity of the wall.

But behind the dingy walls of that little room—in the farther side of that little door—lies the fulfilling f a dream. For room and door, and even the stage and curtained orchestra pit are but a flimsy camouflage, hiding from an unsuspecting audience a surprise more startling than anything that has ever flickered across the theater's silver sheet.

The door is real enough. Passing through and pushing aside a protecting curtain, there is revealed a graceful prosceneum arch framing a stage fully ample for the accommodation of any theatrical production of the day. Before the stage and immediately underfoot is a commodious orchestra pit from which concrete steps lead down to a large room beneath the stage—it is evident that this room is intended for the use of the orchestra and the storing of music.

Ascending from the orchestra's private retiring room to the level of the stage it is at first difficult to appreciate the full vaulted immensity of the place. The lofty ceiling is cloaked in shadowy remoteness that defies the feeble brilliance of the incandescent lights. On the broad sweep of the platform an ordinary barrack building could be erected with room to spare. "Shades of the old 'ice plant' and Bussey's barn; what has come to pass in the Benning theatrical world,"

After a bit of futile peering into the shadowy immensity of that stage one acquires a properly humble attitude toward what is known as the Benning theater project. A hopeful attitude too; for surely with such a stage some good things must be in store for the Fort Benning theater-going public.

Of course one expects to find a dressing room or rather two—to satisfy the conventions; but here there are two rooms for the chorus alone—large, well-lighted rooms, placed n opposite sides of the building—one for the ladies and the other for the gentlemen of the chorus, and in addition eight other rooms—large, airy, well-situated—are set aside for the stars. Imagine eight stars' dressing rooms! Truly this is a theater.

But what is most unique—more unusual even than the stage itself, is the Green Room Studio. Extending from the back stage wall straight through to the rear wall of the theater building this room is a nucleus for all the activities that transpire behind the footlights. This is the room where the rehearsals are held and here the "props" are unloaded and stored. Naturally one might wonder how the great truck loads of scenery and baggage which form the bulkier part of any theatrical production, are to be brought to this room. The unloading of scenery alone would seem to entail a vast amount of back-breaking labor. But here is where the really unique feature of the Green Room becomes evident. In the back wall of the building is a doorway large enough to accommodate the heaviest cargo trucks! No back-breaking labor; no straining and heaving at unwieldy baggage. The truck simply drives right in and unloads right on the stage or in the Green Room.

In addition to these more essential features of the theater space is also provided for a large storage room and a special shop equipped for the stage carpenter. The stage, dressing rooms, storage room and shop will be steam-heated. This of course will necessitate the enlargement of the present heating plant.

The entire thater including the new addition is practically fireproof; the building being for the most part of reinforced concrete construction. No conveniences have been overlooked that can add to the comfort of patrons and performers. Very elaborate plans have been drawn up for lighting the stage. The interior of the theater will be beautifide by the addition of Spanish balconies fitted with colored awnings. The lights will be removed to the balconies and a new ceiling, featuring oak beams in a panel effect, will hide the present vista of trusses and girders. Indirect lighting and the colored spotlights conventional in all large theaters will be installed.

The auditorium, equipped for motion pictures and with a small temporary stage, was opened to the public in Feb., 1925, and is capable of seating 1,500 people. The work was carried on with funds provided by the Recreation Fund and much was accomplished with the expenditure of very little cash through the whole-hearted co-operation of the officers and enlisted personnel assigned to the task of erecting the building and installing the equipment.

The new work on the theater, which is now nearing completion, includes a stage 40 feet deep and 65 feet wide and provided with plenty of headroom for drops and scenery. In the rear of the stage are the Green Room and dressing rooms, 40 feet by 65 feet and two stories high. The stage when completed will have facilities equal to any theater and will be the best equipped show place in the Army.

The building complete cost around $20,000.00. The stage addition alone cost $6,000. The details as to the stage and interior arrangements were drawn up by a Board of Officers consisting of Col. Bond, C. E., Captain King, Infantry, Lieut. Deroin, Infantry, and Lieut. Burback, F. A. Experts from Washington will be sent down by the U. S. M. P. Service for the purpose of installing stage equipment, when the construction work is completed.

The extremely low cost of the theater is largely due to the fact that almost all the work was done by enlisted men, detailed with the Recreation Center Board. Mr. Sgt. Stratton, I. S. D., has been foreman of the work, while Staff Sergeant Lockard, I. S. D., and Corporal Ruginski, 29th Infantry, have been head carpenters.

The following named men have been on duty on construction of the theater and deserve great credit for the work they have performed:

Staff Sgt. Charles A. Lockard, Corporal Horace M. Campbell, Pvt. lcl. Bertram B. Cherry, Corporal Charles F. Lilly, Pvt. lcl Tracy O. Womack, Private Wilmer J. Nicholson, Private Terry Wilson, Private Wilmer R. Parker.

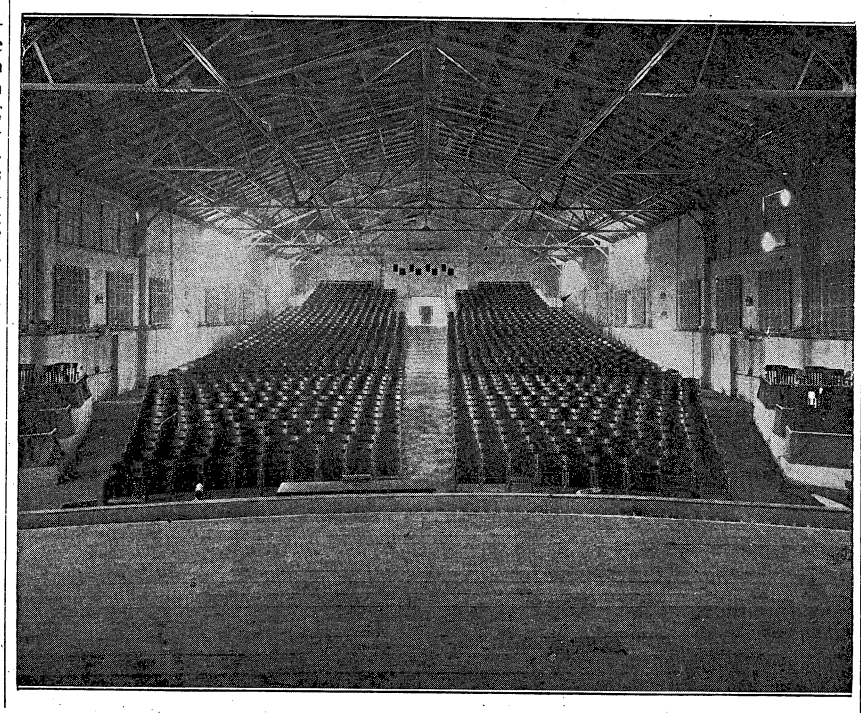
29th Infantry—Pvt. lcl Alexander R. Walinski, Corporal Joseph Ruginski, Private Willie Bivens, Private Johnie Goodrich, Private Will Owings, Corporal Clabe Sherman, Sergeant Erby B. Davis, Corporal Robert Palmer, Pvt. lcl Willie Price, Pvt. lcl James O. Payne, Private Carl J. Pacala, Private Condra G. Hodges.

15th Tank Battalion—Private Ralph Shelton, Private Hubert A. Vaughn, Private Sidney L. Cohen, Private James L. Ventry, Private James M. Garner.

24th Infantry—Pvt. Leslie Moorrisette, Pvt. M. L. Landry, Pvt. James Henderson and Pvt. William E. Nails.

There is a great future ahead for the Main Theater at Fort Benning which, with the 29th and 24th Infantry Theaters is under the direct management of Captain F. S. Doll, Infantry. Sergeant Marcus D. O'Neal—who was, by the way, a captain in the Sixth Infantry and the same red-headed Irishman that led the Doughboy attack when the Seventh Engineers bridged the Meuse at Brieulles and Dun—will still be theater manager and our good friend Miss Greer still brings a light to the gloomy crners of the lobby with the radiance of her smile.

If Captain Doll makes good on his predictions, and he never has failed yet—we should have a large season of entertainment this year. It is impossible to give a schedule of coming attractions at this time as the opening date for the new stage, has not as yet been set, but with a fine large auditorium providing comfortable seats and pleasant surroundings—and a very ample stage and dressing facilities we can feel sure of plenty of entertainment.



BENNING SOLDIER PICKS ALL-SOUTHERN TEAM

Sgt. Walter R. Reynolds, who is a member of the Quartermaster Detachment, and an ex-football star picked an All-Southern conference football squad recently. The selection was published in the Atlanta Journal. This is Reynolds' line-up:

Crowley, left end, Tech.
Tinsley, left tackle, I. S. U.
Smith, left guard, Georgia.
Pund, center, Tech.
Bowdoin, right guard, Alabama.
Pickhard, right tackle, Alabama.
Nash, right end, Georgia.
Spears quarterback (capt.) Vanderbilt.
Thomason, left halfback, Tech.
Dodson, right halfback, Tennessee.
McCrary, fullback, Georgia.

Reynolds' selection was very favorably commented on by the editor of the Journal who said that it showed he "kept abreast of the times."

Reynolds played football with the 52nd Infantry team of the A. E. F. at the quarter-back position and in 1925 with the 6th Cavalry. His home is in Newman, Ga.

construction has commenced. The cost of the additional work will be about $8,000. The towers are to be used as offices by the Post Exchange, and a soda fountain will be installed in the north tower. The Infantry School News will also occupy offices in the north tower. The decign for the addition was prepared by Major E. F. Rice, Infantry, and Mr. Ralph M. Rice, former world war officer and now a New York architect.

On the walls of the stadium there will appear the coats of arms of the various contributors to the stadium project. These coats of arms are being made by Lt. J. P. Wharton, Inf., one of the army's best known artists and sculptors. The work is being done in Duco on steel —at cost.

Interesting Stories Told About Xmas in Foreign Lands

Snappy wintry weather and the great open fireplace with a veritable Yule log burning below a mantel banked in holly put a "Christmasy" feeling in all of us who gathered at the Polo Club on Monday for the meeting of the Infantry School Woman's Club even before Mrs. Brier, chairman of the program committee, presented her perfectly charming Christmas program. The spirit of Christmas was appropriately introduced by the singing of a group of famous carols, "Silent Night," "The First Noel" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" by Mrs. Griswold, Mrs. King, Capt. Paynter and Capt. King with Mrs. Butcher accompanying. Mrs. Brier quoted Phillips Brooks, "Everywhere, Everywhere Christmas Tonight," as expressing the idea around which the program was built and then she introduced ladies who told the distinctive ways in which Christmas is celebrated in various foreign countries where they have lived.

Mrs. Joseph Kovarik, dressed in her native Bohemian costume so picturesque with its gorgeous colorful embroideries, balloon sleeves and snug little cap, brought a bit of the Old World to us as she pictured a month in Czecho-Slovakia from Dec. 6th, when Christmas really begins to Jan. 6th when it ends. December 6th is the day on which the great Russian St. Nicholas, patron saint of childhood, died, and on this day each year St. Nicholas dressed in the red and white costume known the world over, boldly rings the bell and walks in just after supper. Stockings he finds hung by the fireplace and after he questions each child personally as to his behavior he rewards the good ones with fruits and cakes and simple toys. The real Christmas begins with a fast all day on Christmas Eve which children observe as well as grown ups for they are told that by so doing they will see the Vision of the Golden King on the ceiling above them. The house is decorated with green and red—and one room is set apart especially for the Christmas Tree. This has garlands around the walls and the tree beautifully decorated with wax tapers, tinsel and symbols. A lighted candle is placed in the window so that the Christ Child will not stumble. No one except mother is allowed in this sacred room till late Christmas Eve and when the twilight church service is over and all is ready she opens the door to the delight of the household and they rush in to see the beautiful shining tree. Then dinner of boiled fish with a sauce seasoned with raisins and prunes and a cake cooked like a twist of Vienna bread is served each person cutting his individual slice of cake.

At this dinner there must be an even number of guests else death will result. No farmer's wife dare rise during the serving of the dinner for fear her hens will not lay nor sit well—nor her cows milk well. After the dinner, secrets of the future are foretold in curious fashion. A peasant maid can discover whether she will wed before the year is over by throwing a shoe over her shoulder. If the toe points towards the door she will marry soon. To discover whom you will marry you must take the tablecloth from the table without shaking the crumbs off, throw it like a bag over your shoulder and walk through the village. The first man you meet will be your husband. Mrs. Kovarik recalled her grandmother's distress when once as a young girl she walked the length of the village and didn't meet a single human being! Christmas Day brings its church service and its dinner of roast goose with dumplings, cabbage cooked with anis seed, and the many cakes for which the Bohemian housekeeper is famous. The Christmas tree is taken down on Jan. 6th, which is Three Kings Day—the day on which the three kings of old found the Babe in the Manger.

Mrs. E. S. Johnston, whose interesting childhood was spent in Porto Rico, where her father was Minister of Education, told of how the stately customs of Old Spain are carried out in Porto Rico. The sanctity of the birthday of the Child Jesus pervades every thought of Christmas there. There is no gay revelry, no exchange of gifts, no hurry and bustle about the preparation for the season as characterizes the American Christmas. The churches are beautifully decorated and have hundreds of long white tapers burning. A wonderful musical program is continuously presented during the entire day and people go from one church to another to enjoy the sacred concerts. Mrs. Johnston said that she had been to as many as twenty churches in one Christmas Day and there was a note of conscious regret that the American is so elated with the thrill and excitement of Christmas that he too often forgets that Christmas is really the birthday of his Lord. On Twelfth Night which is Jan. 6th, every child prepares for the passing of the Three Kings who are on their way to place where Jesus lay. On the doorstep a tuft of grass in a box, a cup of water and a candle are placed, the grass for the hungry camels, the water to refresh the Three Kings and the candle to light their way. When the children awaken they find grass and water and candle gone and good gifts in their place.

Mrs. Bishop who grew up in Siberia told of the snow, snow, snow of Christmas time. Perhaps a week before Christmas the father goes to the forest and cuts the tree which he conceals nearby until Christmas Eve when it is put in a room sacred to itself as in Czecho-Slovakia and what goes on and under it is a secret to all save one. Many a fond glance is made at the closed door but none dare to enter before the appointed hour. Everybody goes to church in the late afternoon, where the service lasts till the first star, which is "The Star of Bethlehem," appears, and when service is over carolers go from house to house singing. Their leader carries a baton from the end of which shines the Star of Bethlehem. After the carols are sung into the house you go and there is a moment of breathless silence and expectancy for "Grandfather Freeze" is due and may appear in a second. Grandfather Freeze wears a red suit and a great fur coat (turned wrong side out so no one recognizes whose it is!) and on his back is a pack of things dear to the heart of Russian children. After his appearance the door to the tree room is opened and everyone finds his presents placed under the tre. Then there is the dinner of boiled fish, etc., after which the young folks tell fortunes. Mrs. Bishop said that many a time she had sat in a dark room before a mirror where two candles burned and gazed to see the reflection of her future husband but never had she seen there a red-headed American! On Christmas Day in every living room there is placed a long table filled with food and drink and callers begin as early as 8 'clock to drop in and keep it up for a week—feasting continuously. The Christmas dinner is characterized by roast goose stuffed with apples. Merry indeed is Christmas in Russia where masquerade lends holiday spirit to skiing, sleighing and dancing.

Mrs. Elam Stewart told of Christmas in the Philippines where a "foreigner" must take thought of Christmas early for all packages must be on their way by Nov. 15th and belated "Thank You" notes reach you as late as March, so Christmas is kept before you in one way or another for half the year. Dominated by Spain for many years, the natives were given a church and a religion that fosters the spectacular so at Christmas time devout pilgrims bearing images of The Virgin and The Christ Child go robed through the streets, chanting and carrying burning candles to the churches. This pilgrimage should be beautiful but it is more often pitiful. At midnight all go to mass, the native to worship, the foreigner to sightsee, for all the pomp and splendor that they can possibly acquire is made the most of in the scarlet and gold and glitter of the robes and trappings of this service. Being worshipers of images they must see them in the original setting and there is always the Manger with Mary and the Babe, and the White Star. All that is awe-inspiring is used for the greater the spectacle the more worthy it is of adoration, think the ignorant. A hot climate lacks the fundamental element in our conception of Christmas and though clubs make life gay enough, there is nothing like the Christmas you love—unless you go to Bagiou where you can have a pine tree and a fire!

Mrs. Grady told of Christmas in Alaska but there they have no traditions for the Indians knew nothing of Christ till missionaries from the States went to them, a comparatively few years ago, and now they celebrate Christmas with carols and trees in a simple but similar way to our own Christmas.

Mrs. Paul Steele told of the Chinese New Year about February 10th on which they celebrate the Feast of the Lanterns. Homes and shops and streets are decorated weeks ahead for this wonderful occasion and beautiful indeed is the effect. All debts must be paid before the day of the Feast and on that one day in all the year shops are closed and they eat and gamble to their heart's content.

Mrs. McMahon recalled how Christmas was spent in Germany where early in December the city market has fir trees for sale, and toys, earthenware and cakes. On Dec. 6 St. Nicholas with a little urchin dressed in black carrying a bag of switches comes to every house and questions the children individually as to their behavior. If they have been unmistakably good St. Nicholas gives them a cookie or a toy but if they have been bad the black urchin who is the Spirit of Punishment, whips them and leaves a bundle of switches to place over the door as a future reminder. On Christmas the Christ Child, who is the Spirit of Reward, comes and brings good gifts. The German wife is busy many days baking and rasting in preparation for the days of feasting. On Christmas Eve the tree-room is opened and the lovely tree full of glowing wax tapers makes glad the hearts of the household. Especially lovely are the carols as they are sung in this land of master musicians.

Mrs. Collier told of Christmas in Merrie England in a village built many centuries ago where customs begun by the Romans are followed out each year. On Christmas Eve when the world is white with snow the bell ringers go to the Market Square and there ring out on their hard bells the Christmas carols. Father teaches son to ring the bells as in the guild days of old and the same bells are used for generations. After the bellringers, the Christmas waifs go around carrying old lanterns, sing a Christmas serenade for you and pass the hat around. On Christmas morning the chimes from the churches awaken you as they chime the carols and you eagerly have breakfast and then enjoy the tree from which presents are given. On the dinner table there may be roast turkey but there is sure to be roast beef and the dessert is always a plum pudding which is brought burning to the table. Mistletoe is hung over the entrance to the home and there is a kiss for every berry. The day after Christmas is always holiday too and is known as "Boxing Day" for the Romans used to put coins in a box and give one to each servant on this day and all who serve expect a box on Boxing Day.

Mrs. Brier recalled the glorious moonlit Christmas in Hawaii where the carols are sung to strumming ukeleles by natives who know so well how to sing and the gay street carnival late on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Littell told us how in France shoes and not stockings are placed by the chimney with care and how candy, oranges and toys are found Christmas morning. Roast duck with chestnut stuffing, and black sausage are their Christmas delicacies. There is the Mass of all Catholic countries, and the gay parties at restaurants which belong peculiarly to Paris.

Mrs. Partridge sang very beautifully "An Old French Carol," by Liddle, and Mrs. Green, our Christmas story-teller, told "Why the Chimes Rang" in a way that quickened the soul. Mrs. Butcher accompanied both Mrs. Partridge and Mrs. Green.

As a fitting finale Capt. Rutledge sang Neidlinger's "The Birthday of a King," with Mrs. Rutledge accompanying.

The exquisitely appointed tea table was placed near the fire and Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Ryder were hostesses at tea.

COLUMBUS: A PROGRESSIVE CITY

A City for Sale! One hundred years ago the sovereign State of Georgia created the City of Columbus in a tract of virgin forest below the falls of Coweta in the broad and pleasant valley of the winding Chattahoochee. The legislature, after mature deliberation, had decided that a trading post must be established in Western Georgia and the ideal spot had been found on the Coweta Reserve at the head of navigation on the Chattahoochee River.

On a spring day, in the year 1828, the work of laying out the city was begun on the twelve hundred acre tract provided by the legislature. Hostile Indians harassed the surveying parties and crews of axemen; but failed to stop the work of locating the city streets and staking out the plots of land. So soon as the survey was finished a public sale was held and the City of Columbus came into existence.

Much water has come down from "the Hills of Habersham, and out of the Valleys of Hall" since that day in 1828 when the infant voice of industry rising in the wail of a ltitle turning lathe, announced the birth of the tremendous industrial life that characterizes the City of Columbus today.

But those Georgia solons a century ago builded better than they knew. The Falls of Coweta limited the usefulness of the great river and determined the location of the city, but man has learned to progress beyond his limitations and even take advantage of them and today the tumbling waters have been turned into the potential horsepower that operates the great textile mills which crowd the river's winding course. And again at Goat Rock and Bartlett's Ferry the river is harnessed by a gigantic hydro-electric plant which established beyond dispute Columbus's right to be called the "electric City."

A major industry for every year of its existence. That is the proud boast of the City of Clumbus; a great foundry whose cannon roared on many a battle field in '61; immense textile mills, where whirring loms sing a new song of prosperity for Dixie ;gin factories, manufacturing the ingenous machines, that raised the beggar prince, Cotton, to a royal throne—but the list is too long, suffice it is to say that the City's sixty thousand homefolks are ever assured of gainful occupations.

Scenically beautiful, Columbus is a splendid example of the old South. Rose Hill the lovely residential neighborhood that greets the visitor arriving over the Hamilton Road from Atlanta shares an encircling line of hills with East Highlands and the broad boulevards and palatial homes of Wynnton. Below, the Old City spreads over the broad flats of the Chattahoochee Valley, which afford also an ideal location for the aviation field and the Chattahoochee Valley Fair Grund with its immense concrete stadium. Broadway, the City's arterial thoroughfare, is lined with shops which minister to every conceivable want of man or womankind. Here are located the big department stores and office buildings interspersed with countless specialty shops and cinema palaces. Already the retail district is overflowing into the adjacent avenues and old buildings which have stood for generations are making way for the incandescent brilliance of filling stations and automobile salesrooms.

To the stranger within her gates Columbus plays prodigal hostess. From the towering architecture of the Ralston to the colonistic beauty of the Waverly the city runs the full gamut of variety in hotel accommodations. No purse or pleasure but what may find the ideal "stopping place" among some dozen hostelries.

And the City is clean and beautiful. The broad avenues of the Old Town are vistas of overhanging verdure. Wide sidewalks are separated from the asphalted streets by spacious grass plots, meticulously clean. The older sections of the City furnish many examples of the type of Southern mansion famous in song and story. Notable among these is St. Elmo; under this spacious roof-tree dwelt Augusta Evans, when she wrote "St. Elmo," that famous "best-seller" of an elder day.

There is ample proof of the fact that Columbus is undergoing a renaissance of civic spirit. Farsighted citizens have promoted a survey to determine the economic facts in the development of the potential possibilities of the Chattahoochee River as an inland waterway.

In the Spring of 1928 a Centennial Celebration will be held commemorating the city's birth, one hundred years ago, a celebration which will picture in pageantry the development of the little trading post of 1928 to the present metropolis of Western Georgia.

Radiating from the City, there are many automobile highways. One broad concrete highway connects the City with Fort Benning—8½ miles away. Other roads lead to points equally interesting. Andersonville, famous war-time prison of the '60s, is located not far from Columbus and makes an ideal objective for a week-end auto trip. Atlanta is but five hours ride to the north of Columbus and to the south and east is the famous peach and pecan country for which the State is world famous. Across the Chatahoochee lies Alabama with Montgomery and Birmingham easily reached over splendid highways.

To the casual visitor the City of Columbus possesses great historic interest; not only for the fund of incident linked with its early development, but also for the numerous historic old mansions which afford this younger generation a glimpse of the old South. To the business man the city possesses even greater interest; the potential possibilities in the projected development of an inland waterway on the Chattahoochee, combined with the further development of the hydro-electric projects, defies the imagination to picture what the future may have in store for this thriving metropolis of the Chattahoochee Valley.—A. "FRENCHIE"

Born of Captive German Police Dog Mother in Front Line Trenches

Born in the trenches amid the thunder of artillery and the rattle of machine gun fire, Frenchie, a German police dog, has been all his life associated with the olive drab uniform of the United States Army.

Of German parentage, although born on French soil under the American flag, Frenchie's pals and protectors have always been American soldiers. In 1922 and 1923 he was mascot of the Third Corps Area football team.

Captain Charles Mabbutt and Harvey Wilcox, of El Paso, Texas, captured Frenchie's mother one day back there during the advance of the American Expeditionary Forces toward Germany. A couple of days later the animal had a litter of puppies, among them was Frenchie, as he was christened.

Frenchie became Captain Mabbutt's chum. The dog shared his master's travels, making a legion of friends among the wearers of the olive drab.

Captain Mabbutt has refused many offers to part with Frenchie. Lou Brown, purchasing agent for the Lasky Film Corporation, offered $1,000 for Frenchie for the movies. But as Captain Mabbutt says, "a friend like Frenchie cannot be bought with dollars."

MAJOR L. E. JONES

Commander of 83rd F. A. Battalion Entered Service From University of Missouri.

Graduating from the University of Missouri in 1911, in which institution he had taken a very active part in the cadet corps, Major Loyd E. Jones, commanding officer of the battalion of 83rd Field Artillery, stationed at Fort Benning, took the regular army exam the same year and during the summer of '11 became a full-fledged second lieutenant of field artillery. He has remained with his chosen branch of service to this day, and since first taking the oath as an officer with the cassion riders he has risen from the lowest rank to that of lieutenant-colonel which he attained during the World War.

Major Jones was promoted in 1916 to first lieutenant and a year later, within two months after the beginning of hostilities on April 6th, 1917, he became a captain. Promotions came fast in those days and within a very short period he was wearing the insignia of a lieutenant-colonel.

Service in the Philippines

At the beginning of the late war, Major Jones was with the 2nd Field Artillery in the Philippines. He remained there until September of 1917 when he was sent to the Presidio of San Francisco where he was an instructor in the Second Training Camp. He was later transferred to Camp Stanley, Texas, and assigned as instructor in the Third Camp for officers. Within a short time he was transferred to duty in the Office of Chief of Field Artillery where he remained until the latter part of 1919.

He was discharged from his emergency commission in 1920 and on July 1, 1920, he was made a permanent major of field artillery. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, 1924, and is a member of the General Staff Eligible List.

Major Jones took command of the 83rd F. A. Bn. on July 1, 1927, and is the second time that he has commanded this organization, having been in command a few months in 1924.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD STUNT SHOW

The girl scouts of Fort Benning under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Macklin held a stunt show at the Polo Club last Saturday afternoon which drew a large audience at the post. Each year the girls must earn their own money to pay their dues and to pay the quota from each troop. Fort Benning offers few opportunities in this respect so the girls decided that a stunt show would easily provide for the amounts necessary.

The program was excellent and was highly enjoyed by those present. Mrs. Macklin is to be congratulated on the excellent performances. The program was as follows:

Opening exercises; Polka Dance by Betty Butcher and Catherine Chunn; evening dance, by Catherine Steel and Elizabeth Archer; Dream of India, by Louise Ryder, Guila Chun and Elizabeth Rhett; playet, "Something for Santa Claus," cast of characters were Martha Petrosky, Alice Floyd, Dorothy Winton, Matlie Griswold, Elizabeth Archer, Gertrude Kurtz, and Jesse May Floyd. The concluding program was "Evening Song."

SEASON'S GREETINGS

The Infantry School News extends to its readers and advertisers best wishes for a Merry Xmas and Happy New Year.

THE ADVERTISERS OF THE NEWS

The firms whose advertisements appear in this issue represent the reliable firms of the city of Columbus and the NEWS feels that no more opportune time could be picked than the present, to say a word about the advertisers in this paper.

A great majority of the firms in this issue place their ads with the NEWS a greater part of the year. As every one well knows a newspaper or magazine is just so good and successful in proportion to the advertisers which patronize that newspaper or magazine. The Infantry School News has grown from a small paper to a large one, far greater than was ever anticipated by its organizers. The paper reaches a majority of the officers and enlisted men of Fort Benning; it reaches every Infantry regiment in the army and most every regular army post receives a copy of the NEWS. This Christmas number will reach hundreds of officers who will be in the Infantry School next year. When orders are published for the prospective students for next year each officer so ordered will receive a copy of this issue of the NEWS.

The fact that we are able to send the NEWS as indicated above, and the responsibility for its growth, has been made possible by the loyal support of the advertisers of the city of Columbus. The NEWS will not receive advertising of a questionable business concern. We take this opportunity to call the attention of the readers of this paper to the firms advertised in this issue. Your co-operation by patronizing these firms, when possible to do so, will be appreciated by the NEWS. Please mention the NEWS when trading with these firms. More than one merchant of Columbus has said: "Well, no one at Fort Benning ever mentions the fact that they read our ad in the NEWS." Of course, that is an unusual procedure but that will help the NEWS a great deal if you will remember to tell them you read it in the NEWS.

COMMANDER OF 33RD DIVISION VIOLATED ORDER TO JOIN IN ATTACK

General Haig Recalled Incident of Summer of '18

According to a recent dispatch in the New York Times, the late General Geo. Bell, Jr., commander of the 33rd Illinois Division, violated an order to join the British forces in attack in the summer of 1918. The incident in detail is as follows:

An intimate account of how an American divisional commander violated General Pershing's orders, against joining with the British in an attack, and not only "got away wth it" but was signally honored as well, was called forth as the result of Earl Haig's statement about that battle at the luncheon to American Legion delegates in London recently.

The incident to which Earl Haig referred was the participation of four companies of the 131st and 132d Infantry of the 33d Division of Illinois troops at Hamel on July 4, 1918. Dispatches in The New York Times at that time describing this battle—the first in history in which American troops fought under British command—dwelt on the importance of the American's success not only in the conduct of the operation, but in raising allied morale and showing them that Americans could fight.

According to Major Henry S. Hooker, an attorney of 61 Broadway, who was acting adjutant of the 33d Division at the time of the taking of Hamel, Earl Haig's remarks were in compliment the late General George Bell, Jr., for his courage in "disregarding an unseemly order at a critical moment."

Relied on American Support

General Bell's action, in the belief of Major Hooker, prevented a possible disaster to the British troops, which had counted on American support and had American troops already in the line on the eve of the battle. More important still, he believes, it prevented the Allies setting us down as quitters, at time when American troops had not yet fully demonstrated their worth.

"General Bell himself took the responsibility for ignoring the order against the American attack," said Major Hooker yesterday, "and in so doing ran imminent risk of being removed from his command and sent home. The success of the attack justified his action and probably saved him from punishment."

After the battle King George V went to France and personally pinned decorations on General Bell and several individual American heroes. General Pershing also was present. In the belief of Major Hooker, Earl Haig may have brought about this visit by the sovereign to prevent General Bell, whom Haig knew well and admired greatly, from being disciplined for insubordination.

"The division went into the British sector primarily for training," said Major Hooker. "It was to be used in combat only in an emergency.

"The British, expecting another big German drive, determined on the attack on Hamel because it was elevated ground and afforded the Germans a broad view over the British lines. Such an attack also would straighten out the British line and help them resist the expected attack.

Haig Asked for Troops

"Marshal Haig regarded this is an emergency and asked for troops. Ten war-strength companies were chosen and eventually were placed in position for the attack. On the eve of the battle the American high command ordered them out. Of course compliance with this would have caused great confusion, for at that late stage they could not have been withdrawn and replaced with Australian troops in time.

"It was a critical situation in which the commander on the spot knew the situation better than the high command. If we had pulled out it would have been a disaster. It was one of those times when the situation demanded that the order be disobeyed, and Bell was a big enough man to disobey it.

"Four companies, about 1,000 men, went over under the command of Colonel Abel Davis, and that proved the value of America's new army as Cantigny had proved the value of our regular army in actual combat. The event was celebrated by the Allies all over Europe and Haig was immensely grateful to us. Everyone in the division loved General Bell and we felt, has he had done the necessary thing."

Major Hooker, as Divisional Adjutant, was at headquarters as the battalion progressed and received the reports of the advance as they were sent back by the American infantry pressing ahead behind the tanks and barrage.

Even on the night before the attack, said Major Hooker, there was uncertainty as to whether or not the Americans would remain in the line. Four companies were in and General Bell ordered Colonel Davis to go ahead.

That the American doughboys grumbled when they learned a big attack by the British as in prospect and that they were excluded that the Americans remained and participated in the attack, is not mentioned in the official reports to the War Department nor in the war diaries of the companies concerned, which mention only the fact of the men taking part in the battle.

General's Official Report

Major Gen. George Bell, Jr., the regular army officer who commanded the division, in his official report said:

"The chief of the Fourth British Army on the afternoon of July 3 received orders from the British commander-in-chief to withdraw all American troops prior to the attack that was scheduled on the part of the British at 3:10 on the morning of the 4th, but the four companies (those mentioned above) were in the front line and were in such a position that he (the chief of the Fourth Army) reported to the commander-in-chief that it was impossible to withdraw them without calling off the entire assault in that sector. Accordingly the four companies participated in the British attack on the morning of July 4 at 3:10 o'clock."

The commander of the 132d Infantry was Colonel Abel Davis, now a Brigadier General in the Illinois National Guard. Colonel Joseph P. Sanborn, whose address is unknown to the department, commanded the 131st Infantry. Records are not available for July 4, 1918, on the point, but records of July 6, 1918, show that both officers were on detached service in London.

Lieutenant Colonels in Command

On July 6, 1918, the 131st was in command of Lieut. Col. James Eddy and the 132d in command of Lieut. Col. James H. Danfied, both of whose addresses are unknown.

On July 4, 1918, the day of the attack, Company C of the 131st was in command of Captain James W. Luke, whose last address, on Jan. 17, 1921, was 4937 Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Company E of the 131st was in command of Captain Carrol M. Gale, now a captain in the regular army stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Company A of the 132d was in command of Captain J. R. Weaver, now a major in the reserve corps, whose address in ninth floor of the Citizenns' Bank Building, Baltimore.

Company G of the 132d was in command of Captain William J. Masoner, whose last known address was 349 South Springfield Avenue, Chicago.

The Commandant

Brigadier-General Edgar T. Collins, The Commandant, The Infantry School, was born at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, on March 7, 1873, and in 1893 appointed to the Military Academy from the same state. He was commissioned in the Infantry in 1897, with which branch he has continued, gradually securing promotion through successive grades, reaching the grade of Major in 1916, becoming temporary colonel in the World War, and permanent colonel in 1920. He graduated from the Army School of the Line in 1910, from the Army Staff College in 1911, from the Army War College in 1917, and again from the Army War College in 1920. During the World War he served at Plattsburg Barracks Officers Training Camp, where he had previously served under General Wood in one of the first Plattsburg camps. He then became Chief of Staff of the 78th Division, observer with the French and British armies, Chief of Staff of the 85th Division, assistant to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-5, at G. H. Q., of the A. E. F., and Chief of Staff of the Sixth Army Corps. After a tour of duty as instructor at the Army War College, he was assigned to duty on the General Staff, first in the War Plans Division and then in the Operations and Training Division. He has received the following decorations: Distinguished Service Medal (United States) and Legion of Honor (France). The Distinguished Service Medal citation follows:

"Edgar T. Collins, colonel, General Staff Corps, United States Army. For exceptionally meritorious services. As Assistant to G-5, General Headquarters, and later as Chief of Staff of the 6th Army Corps, he demonstrated rare military attainments, performing his difficult tasks with unremitting zeal, rendering services of conspicuous worth to the American Expeditionary Forces."

SPORTS

ATHLETICS AT FORT BENNING DURING 1927

(By Al Durden)

Fort Benning has attained its present outstanding position in Army Athletics through the efficiency of the Infantry School Athletic Association.

Boxing

During the past year under the expert training of Captain Charles Mabbutt and Lieut. George P. O'Neill, a class of young fighters has been developed here that rank second to none in the Service. Three champions carry Benning colors.

Gunner DePratt, Company H, 29th Infantry, is the undisputed middleweight champin of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. DePratt won the title from Willie Ptomey who fought his way to the championship in the All-Service tourney, held at the Susquicentennial Exposition, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Red" Keenan, Hdq. Co., 29th Infantry, holds the bantam weight title of the 4th Corps Area. Keenan has victories to his credit over some of the leading bantams in the south. His latest win was a knockout over Steve Stetson of Montgomery, Ala.

Battling J. D. Peakes, Company A, 24th Infantry, has fully demonstrated his right to claim the Army lightheavy title. During the past year he has met and defeated some of the best heavys in the country. He has wins over Charley King, King Solomon, Ace Clark, and in his last fight here knocked out the famous Jamacia Kid in the second round.

The class of amateur fighters that hope to make the Olympic team are creating quite a sensation in the amateur ranks, Pieters, lightweight, 29th Inf.; Asher, featherweight, 29th Inf.; Parker, welterweight, I. S. D., and Smith, heavyweight, 29th Inf., stanu at the head of the class in their respective weights.

Baseball Has Successful Season

Finishing a schedule of twenty-one games with some of the leading college and professional teams in the country. The Doughboys show twelve games won against nine lost.

Dropping their opening game of the season to the Columbus Foxes, the Doughboys came back the following week to wallop the Albany Nuts, 7 to 5. Michigan State dropped three in a row to the Footsloggers, while Rochester won a close decision over the Doughboys 3 to 1. The Stormy Petrels from Oglethorpes University won one and lost one. Notre Dame tok the best two out of three, but Clemson College dropped a pair with no wins. The Florida Gators broke even in a two-game series, while the Georgia Freshman and Howard College were slaughtered in the last games of the season.

The 24th Infantry Baseball team also enjoyed a big season, making a clean sweep of all outside opposition, winning from the leading colored college and professional teams in the country.

The Jacksonville Red Caps dropped three games to the Happy Hearts, the Birmingham Black Barons, runners up in the colored National League, were forced to bow to the Soldiers, losing a three-game series to the Infantry on their home grounds in Birmingam.

The Intra-Mural League, composed of teams from different organizations, gave the sport loving personnel an interesting and exciting season.

Although getting away toa bad start, the Class "B" League, composed of Company teams, finished the season in one of the prettiest three-cornered fights imaginable, the Seventh Engineers and Howitzer Co. nosing out the Service Company in the final round. The Howitzers then took the best tw out of there from the Bridgebuilders to win the bunting.

Basketball

Last season's basket ball team, coached by Major John H. Van Vliet, was one of the best ever developed here. Although losing to Olson's Terrible Swedes, one of the fastest professional teams in the country, most of the college teams proved to be easy picking for the Doughboy Five.

To pick the best player would be next to impossible, every man was a star in his position, the teamwork of the team being the big factor in making an overwhelming majority of wins against a minor number of losses.

The members of last season's team were Major Van Vliet, coach, Lt. Johnny Roosma, Lt. Newman, Lt. Krammerer, Capt. Berry, Sgt. Kjelstrom, Sgt. Franz and Meenie Sweeney.

The same men will be seen in action here this season except Sweenie, who was injured in the All-Army-Marine football game.

La Crosse

Although it is one of the oldest of American games, La Crosse is new to most of the Benning fans. The first of the past season saw the La Crosse games poorly attended, and it also saw the Doughboys getting the worst end of the score. As the season progressed, the fellows began to get interested in this game of assault and battery, and in the meantime the Doughboys had began to learn to play the game.

The end of the season saw crowds of yelling Doughboys in the stands and a team that was winning La Crosse games representing the Army on the field. This season La Crosse will be among the first of Benning athletics, as the fellows just saw enough of it last year to get interested in this game of head cracking.

Tennis

The tennis courts at Fort Benning are among the best to be found in teh South. And due to the care of Sergt. Jimmie Donovan they are always in perfect condition.

With courts like these it is no wonder that tennis is one of the favorite pastimes during the summer months, and that we have some of the Army's leading tennis players at Fort Benning.

The Garrison Tennis Tournament held here during the past season was a big success, the spectators witnessing some very close and hard-fought matches.

It won't be long now and spring will be with us again, racquets that have been laid away during the winter will be dug out, the tennis courts that have looked s lonesome during the winter will buzz with life again.

From the wav that some of the young talent was wielding the racquet the past season, makes it look as if some of the old heads may have to step out to hold their places in line.

Polo

Led by Major H. J. Smith the Infantry School Polo Team have more than held their own with opposing teams during the past year, and have also furnished the large crowd of fans who gather at Shannon Field on Sunday afternoons a brand of polo that is well worth traveling miles to see.

This season's Garrison Tournament finds the Freebooters and Students fightin git out for first place, while the Demonstrationist and Galloping Gunners are deadlocked for third place.

The Yellowjacketed Freebooters led by Major Smith, won the Garrison championship last season, winning the final and deciding game from the Students after a hard-fought battle.

With their only chance at the trophy depending upon their ability to defeat the Freebooters, the Students played desperately and frced the Free Lancers to th limit, but the team led and coached by the doughty cavalry major proved its mettle by overcoming an early Student lead and winning in the final chukker.

Competent observers declared it the best exhibition of mounted croquet ever staged at Fort Benning.

The Galloping Gunners defeated the Demonstrationist, winning the consolation cup in a fast and exciting game 6 to 4.

Football

During the past football season the eyes of the Army have been focused on the preparations being carried on at Fort Benning for the season's classic gridiron conflict between the Quantico Marines and the All-Army for the All-Service Championship, which was played in Washington, November 19th.

Although losing to the Quantico Marines in one of the hardest fought contests ever staged between Service teams, the All-Army defeatd th Paris Island Marines, at Philadelphia, December 3rd for the Southern Service Championship.

Every member of the Army team is confident that the Army will win over the Marines next year, in fact several members of the team who are being discharged before next season, say that they are going to re-enlist with the hope of taking part in an Army victory next November.

The work of Major James A. Van Fleet, head coach, and Captain Charles Mabbut, assistant coach, in building the team was of the highest caliber. After the game with the Quantico Marines one of the men in speaking of the game said, "Sure we wanted to win for the Army, but we wanted to win for Major Van Fleet also, for an Army victory would have been a just reward for the days of work and worry he has spent in preparing us for this game."

The Intra-Mural Football League opened December 14, the 2nd Bats., 29th Infantry, winning the opening game from the 1st Bats., 29th Inf., 14 to 0 in a hard-fought game.

It looks like the race for first place will be between the 15th Tank Bn., last year's champions, and the 2nd Bats. of the 29th Inf. ,although the 83rd F. A. and the 1st Bats. are going to make the race interesting.

Judge: "How did you get in this condition?"

Prisoner: "I wash putting shome hair reshtorer on m' moustache an' th' bottle shlipped!"

THE ASSISTANT COMMANDANT

Colonel Marshall Chief of Staff of 8th Army Corps During War; Graduate of V. M. I.

Lieut.-Col. George C. Marshall, Jr., the Assistant Commandant, The Infantry School, is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, 1901, an honor graduate of the Infantry and Cavalry School, standing number one in his class in 1907. A graduate of the Army Staff College, 1908, he is now on the initial General Staff Corps eligibility list, published on the 5th of June, 1917.

Colonel Marshall went to France with the First Division as Assistant Chief of Staff. He continued in this position until he was sent to the Operations Section of the General Staff at G. H. Q., at the time of the Soissons fight. He was then engaged in plans for the St. Mihiel offensive for several weeks, and went with these plans to newly-formed Headquarters of the First Army.

He remained with the Operations Section of the First Army throughout the St. Mihiel action, and, shortly after the

Lt. Col. G. C. Marshall

Meuse-Argonne battle developed, he was formally relieved from duty at G. H. Q., and made Assistant Chief of Staff and Chief of Operations Section of the First Army. He continued in this capacity until the Armistice, though during the past few days he was under orders to join the Eighth Army Corps as Chief of Staff.

He joined this Corps immediately after the Armistice and remained as its Chief of Staff until the Spring of 1919, when, just before its demobilization, he was called to G. H. Q., and sent on a tour of lecturing to explain to the officers of the A. E. F., what had occurred between the time of General Pershings arrival in France and the date of the Armistice.

Before finishing this duty the Commander-in-chief detailed him as his Aide.

Colonel Marshall was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service during the World War, and in addition was decorated by many of the Allied Nations.

He has recently returned from a three-year's tour of duty with the 15th Infantry in China, and just prior to his detail to the Infantry School was on duty as an instructor at the Army War College, Washington, D. C.

Colonel Marshall is known and acknowledged throughout our Army as one of its ablest and most brilliant officers.

HISTORY OF 83RD FIELD ARTILLERY BATTALION

Major Jones' Organization Has Interesting Historical Record of Service

The Battalion of the 83rd Field Artillery stationed at Fort Benning has a history worthy of the pride of any officer and enlisted man serving under its colors. It is the outgrowth of a regiment of cavalry which was organized in 1832 as the battalion of Mounted Rangers, under the Act of Congress, June 15, 1832 ;reorganized a year later as the Regiment of Dragoons; designated as the First Dragoons on the organization of another regiment in 1836, and as the 1st Cavalry in 1861.

In the meantime, during the re-organization processes through which this splendid outfit under went, it was engaged in Indian warfare throughout the pioneer west. It later saw active service inth e Civil War and in the Philippines during the Insurrection in 1901.

From this historic regiment on June 4, 1917, the War Department created the 25th Cavalry under the command of Capt. C. O. Thomas, formerly of the 1st Cavalry, at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming. One- third of the peace strength of the First Cavalry was used as a nucleus for the new regiment and it was filled with volunteer recruits. Consequently the command reverted to Colonel George H. Cameron with Lieut.-Col. F. J. Koester second in command. On Aug. 1, 1917, the regiment was converted into the 83rd Field Artillery and assigned to the 8th Field Artillery Brigade of the 8th Regular Division. In February, 1918, the regiment left Fort D. A. Russell for Camp Fremont, Calif., where it joined the other two regiments of the Brigade—the 81st and 82nd Field Artillery. Several months later, the regiment went to Fort Sill, Okla., where instruction and maneuvers were carried out in preparation fo roverseas duty. The long looked for embarkation orders came at last, and the regiment sailed for France, arriving at Brest on November 9th, just two days prior to the signing of the Armistice.

Body Guard For President

It was shortly after arrival in France that the regiment, although unfortunate in arriving overseas to get into action, was fortunate in having the honor of acting as body guard for President Woodrow Wilson during his stay in Brest. On January 4, 1919, the regiment sailed for home shores, and after arrival in the States was sent to Camp Knox, Kentucky, where it arrived on January 31, 1919. The regiment was converted into a light motorized field artillery unit the latter part of the year. The regiment was equipped at this time with 75 MM guns and five-ton tractors.

Shortly after this conversion the regimental commanders were Col. M. McCloskey, Major J. W. Rumbough, Major E. P. King, Jr., and Major J. B. Anderson.

Major Jones Twice in Command

Major Loyd E. Jones, who took command of the battalion on July 1, 1927, has the distinction of being the only officer who has been twice the commanding officer of the 83rd as he previously had command during the period August 15, 1924 to October 22, 1924.

The battalion was converted into a horse-drawn outfit on May 1, 1927. The battalion has to the present time remained a demonstration battalion at the Infantry School, to illustrate to the students thereof how a battalion of field artillery should be conducted, both as to technique and tactics, during operations.

Letter of Commendation

The following letter was received by the 83rd F. A. Bn. this year which is evidence of the splendid work the battalion has done in connection with the demonstration work held at the Infantry School:

Fort Benning, Ga., May, 31, 1927.
Headquarters Infantry School,
Off. of Asst. Commandant.
Subject: Commendation.
To the C. O. 83rd F. A. Battalion,
Ft. Benning, Ga.

1. It is with satisfaction that I express my appreciation for the valuable assistance and wholehearted co-operation furnished the Academic Department by all officers and men of your command during the past year.

2. The demonstrations presented involving the employment of field artillery were of a superior order and aided materially in the successful instruction of all classes.

F. S. COCHEU,
Col. Inf., Asst. Commandant.

FRIDAY, DEC. 23

"THE STOLEN BRIDE," starring Billie Dove. Her father had sacrificed her beautiy to the beast, but had failed to consider the fighting love of the man who owned her heart. On her wedding night she was stolen from the groom-to-be and then risked her life to protect ther kidnaper. The setting is among the aristocracy of Hungary.

"Pathe News."

SATURDAY, Dec. 24

"BLACK JACK," starring Buck Jones in a whirlwind romance of lawless days of old Nevada. In this picture three lone prospectors, surrounded by desperadoes, trust the secret of their mine to the care of a faithful dog. It is an amazing story of daring and adventure, and a love that conquers all obstacles. The locale was taken against nature's majestic Californian backgrounds.

"Roman Gladiator." Animal comedy.

SUNDAY, DEC. 25

"THE CAT AND THE CANARY," starring Laura La Plante supported by a strong cast. This is a scalp-crinkling mystery that creeps over the clock to the midnight hour in a weird, wild house that is haunted. One of the six people committed a murder; weird, spooky, hair-raising happenings follow each other in rapid succession, pending the discovery of the person guilty of the crime. Though gruesome and breath extracting, bits of well chosen comedy sprinkled throughout the theme tend to relieve much of the high nerve tension induced by the story. It is the screen version of this famous stage mystery by John Willard.

"Chills and Fever." Spotlight Comedy.

"Pathe News."

MONDAY, DEC. 26

"SILK STOCKINGS," starring Laura La Plante in a whimsical, dainty farce comedy in which a pair of silk stockings, found where they shouldn't be, cause great consternation. They fought to get married, then fought while married as well—good married people do, and then fought to get unmarried. You'll enjoy this farce—it's light.

"Blake of Scotland Lard No. 4."

TUESDAY, DEC. 27

"ARIZONA WILDCAT," starring Tom Mix in a colorful romance of society crooks. This is something new in westerns. Cowboys beat a crack eastern polo team at their own game. Polo practices are with oranges, grape fruit and apples. These are new laugh producers. Tom stands up to standard as a thriller on horses in this story.

"Man About Town." O'Henry Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 28

"SUNSET DERBY," featuring Mary Astor, Wm. Collier, Jr., and Ralph Lewis in a peppy story of the race track. It is crammed full of swiftly moving action and interspersed with a delightful vein of light comedy. Two mile-a-minute horse races form the backbone of this story which starts with comedy and climaxes in romance.

"Koko Plays Pool." Inkwell Imps.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, DEC. 29

"LONE EAGLE," featuring Raymond Keane with Barbara Kent in a tremendous drama of fighting planes and fearless men in the World War. The most thrilling part of the picture is a battle for life a thousand feet up in the air. It is the story of a timid American who is thrown among veteran English airmen whose daily duty is facing death in aerial conflict. A French maiden wins his heart, spurs him on to duty and he becomes a nace. It has been reported that this is the greatest air picture ever filmed.

"Nobodies Business." Hamilton comedq.

FRIDAY, DEC. 30

"LUNATIC AT LARGE," starring Dorothy Mackaill with Leon Errol, Broadway's famous fun maker. This is a howling comedy which required an overdose of brains and brawn to play the part of a crazy man. In this picture Errol is tricked into a private sanitorium for feeble minded men of wealth.

He escapes after a series of screamingly funny adventures, and just as liberty confronts him, he pluges from the sanitorium wall into a sand pile just in time to be picked up by a steam shovel. He is then buried up to his nose in sand, gravel and clay. It's just one laugh after another.

NEW MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENT FOR FORT BENNING

Mr. Joseph H. Becker, projection engineer for the U. S. Army Motion Picture Service, arrived here from Washington, Friday, Dec. 16.

He was here for the purpose of installing new Simplex motion picture machines to take the place of the powers projectors. These new machines are the latest in moving picture projection. They will enhance the Fort Benning service materially.

In addition to the installation of new machines, Mr. Becker is making arrangements for the erection of a new silver screen at the Main Theater. When the new stage is completed, which will be about Jan. 15, 1928, the projection distance will be 178 feet or 14 feet greater than at present. The image on the new screen will be 14 feet and one inch by 18 feet and eight inches or in square measurement over 50 per cent greater than at present. Mr. Becker insures us that the light on the new screen will be as good or even better than in the past. This enlarged picture combined with the smooth running of these brand new machines will place the Main Theater's moving picture projection at the peak of perfection.

The 29th and 24th Infantry Theaters have also received Mr. Becker's attention. New LS 3 condenser systems have been installed in these show houses. This new electrical system hasi ncreased the light on these screens materially and brought the motion picture projection up to the high standard of that at the Main Theater.

Mr. Becker travels over the entire United States and the Canal Zone devoting his time to improving Army Motion Picture projection. He has been identified with the U. S. A. M. P. S. at Washington for over seven years.

Recreation and Mess Hall, Company A, 7th Engineers

ENGINEER RECREATION AND MESS HALL

Completed in the Autumn of 1926 as a part of the building project on Engineer Hill the Recreation and Mess Building of the Seventh Engineers is a splendid example of an Army interpretation of Spanish Bungalow architecture.

The building was designed and all the necessary details worked out by Sgt. Charles W. Smith, one time Captain in the Corps of Engineers in France and now the general construction man for the Seventh Engineers.

Plans for the construction of the building had been in abeyance for some time prior to 1926 and Captain James F. C. Hyde decided immediately upon his arrival at Fort Benning and assumption of command of the Seventh Engineers that the greatest need of the organization was a Day Room and adequate Mess Hall. Construction was commenced at once, the first job being the pouring of a concrete floor fr the kitchen. Work progressed rapidly from this time; one reason being the whole-hearted interest of the orgnaization which manifested itself in voluntary labor furnished by the men in the company—who turned out for work during the summer afternoon half-holidays.

The building was finished in time for the first celebration of the Regiment's organization day of November 5th, 1926. In addition to the Mess Hall and Recreation Room the building provides a tailor shop and barber shop as well as rooms for the Mess Sergeant and Cooks. The Mess Hall is large enough for the seating of 150 men, comfortably. In addition there is a room provided for the Sergeants Mess which will accommodate about twenty men.

The Recreation Room is well equipped with means for recreation. A player piano, Atwater-Kent radio, Orthophonic Victrola, and two excellent pool tables are the main features. At one end of the room there is a large fireplace which adds immensely to the cheerful aspect of the place.

The building is entirely a soldier product. Local regulations required that the fireplace be installed by the Utilities and the wiring was of course done by the Post Electrician but otherwise the Engineers did the work themselves. Sgt. Smith was assisted by Sgt. Blevins and Pct. Ed. Hudson and with willing details from the company. The painting was done by company details under the direction of Corporal Fisher and Pvt. Cymbal. Plumbing for the building was installed by Sgt. Mallory and Pvt. Collins.

A unique feature of the project is the sewage disposal. After some deliberation and consultation with Mr. Quinney a septic tank was installed. This was done in preference to the alternative plan of running a pipe line to the main sewerage line of the Post. The septic tank was planned and built by the Engineers under the direction of Captain Hyde and Lieut. P. A. Feringa, who was then on duty with the company. Staff Sergeant Allison was in charge of this part of the project.

MAJOR H. A. BOOTZ

Commander of Infantry School Detachment Has Had Interesting and Varied Career

Many of the members of the Infantry School Detachment often wonder why the Detachment Commander seems to always be able to know the very things that they had rather he would not know. In fact as one Johnny Buck said, "he must be a mind reader."

A glance back over Major Bootz's military record will show that his knowledge of the doings of a soldier were learned from actual experience, for as he often remarks, he has held every rank from a Buck to a Major, except that he never was a Bugler.

He first enlisted in Co. A, 27th Inf., July 30, 1899, serving one hitch when he re-enlisted as a member of Troop D, 4ht Cavalry, he was discharged at the end of that enlistment as sergeant.

He was a member of the 4th Field Artillery from April 23, 1903, until July 23, 1908. During this period he was, Pvt., Cook, Corporal, Sergt., Quartermaster Sergt., Regimental Sergt. Major, and Regimental Supply Sergt.

Tiring of the rolling caissons he reenlisted with the 13th Cavalry, he was a member of this organization from Sept. 15, 1908, until July 12, 1917.

He was commissioned a 2nd Lieut. on July 13, 1917, he was promoted to 1st Lieut. one month later and assigned to the 165th Infantry of the 42nd Division known as the famous Rainbow Division during the World War.

He was awarded the Croix de Guerre fo bravery by the famous Chasseurs of the 41st Battalion, at the "Ourages Blanc" on March 20, 1918. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary bravery in military operations in the Luneville Sector, March 20-21, 1918, and near Villesur-Fere, July 28, 1918, while serving as 1st. Lieut., 165th Inf. He was later cited for distinguished bravery at Landres St. George, Oct. 15, 1918.

Until Major Bootz took command of the I. S. D., most of the members of that organization were under the impression that they were not supposed to know the duties of a soldier as long as they did their duty on their respective assignments, and they acted accordingly. It was a common remark that the Green Cords were not soldiers, that they were camoflaouged civilians. But a great change took place, buttons and belt buckles were shined that had never shined before, shoes were shined, clothes pressed. Men who had ambled about the area never saluting an officer, now walked briskly with head up, and their snappy salutes rivaled that of their doughboy buddies.

Today the work of the members of the Infantry School Detachment is one hundred per cent efficient, while their appearance and soldierly bearing will rival that of any organization in the U. S. Army.

29TH INFANTRYMEN HAVE HAD INTERESTING YEAR

Demonstration Outfit Has Many Activities for Lively Doughboys

(By Bernard B. Swayze)

Down in the 29th Infantry, where the Demonstrations fly thick and fast, may be found all sorts of topics of interest. If one is inclined toward athletics, it will be easy to find one's fill of all sorts of sports down with the Demonstration Doughboys. If one's interest runs toward experimental and intelligence work—that also may be found down there where the highly polished belts abound. Just cast about for your favorite "hobby" and you will be likely to find it in the 29th Infantry.

There you will find wrestling, boxing, swimming, football, basket ball and track in the athletic line. This year, one of the Companies (Company "H") went so far as to organize a Mule Polo team. This team furnished quite a bit of amusement for the polo fans, as well as the participants in the games. Some of you may recall the comical antics of the mules on the Polo field. Was it not fun? We hope to see more of the teams from this Company during the coming season, as well as teams from other mounted organizations.

The 1st Battalion won the Regimental Wrestling Championship for the year 1926 in a hotly contested tournament. These tournaments always furnish a high quality o famusement for the spectators. The teams of the respective units have already started their training for the coming tournament. Some of the ambitious aspirants are showing no little amount of ability. From all available information, one should judge that the approaching season will be more closely contested than that of 1926.

The 2nd Battalion, however, came back for revenge on the night of January 26, 1927, when the Boxing Championship of the Regiment was decided. The "Ring Generals" from the 2nd Bat. took six of the eight bouts scheduled—losing one zq default and the other by decision. The winners in these bouts made real god material for the Post team—one, "Gunner" DePratt, of Company "H", having risen to All Service Middleweight Champion.

Company "E" then came forward and took the lead in the Sprts Field of the Regiment. On the afternoon of January 29, 1927, the basket ball team of Company "E" met the team from Company "A" to defeat them, and did. This game was the decisive game in the Regimental tournament, and gave Company "E" the right to have it's team wear the sweaters that are given to the Regimental Champions in any kind of sports.

The annual Regimental Field Meet was won by the boys from Major Bowen's outfit, the 2nd Battalion, by a large margin. One new Regimental record was established when Corporal Costello, of Company "F" won the shot put event, when he hurled the shot 41 feet 8½ inches.

To show other than Athletic ability, the members down in the "We Lead the Way" outfit decided to put a minstrel show. The "Sunshine Minstrels" as the "Troupe" was known, attracted such throngs that there was a "run" of two nights, packing the house both nights, whereas, it was originally intended to run only one night's performance. Major Bowen liked it so well that he came back for "Seconds".

The Swimming Meet, to decide the Regimental honors, was also won by the 2nd Battalions. Corporal Thompson of Company "E" displayed wonderful form and was high scorer of the regiment.

Other Regimental Championships are as follows:

Baseball—2nd Bn. (also Post Champions).

Basketball—2nd Bn. (also Post Champions).

Football (Company League)—Company "F".

Football—2nd Bn.

Move into New Barracks

Until recently the 29th Infantry has been quartered in tents since their arrival at Fort Benning. In the early part of September, the different organizations began to move to that portion of the New Barracks assigned them. Companies "A", "D", 1st Bn., Hq. Co., 2nd Bn. Hq. Co., and Band are still quartered in tents and wooden barracks. The new barracks are excellent and cnvenient, having all modern plumbing fixtures, and being well ventilated, heated and lighted.

The Regimental Non-Commissioned Officers School closed, having attained a good record. The graduation class consisted of 98 men. Corporal Kirkland, Co. "G", Pvt. Stephens, Co. "A", Pvt. H. N. Jordan, Co. "A", Pvt. Bailey, Co. "G" and Pvt. W. J. Jordan, Co. "B", were honor men.

One of the possible few places in the Army where intelligence work exists for enlisted men, is in the 29th Infantry. The instruction is divided into two classes: Basic and Specialists.

The Specialists are men picked by the Regimental Commander with the approval of the respective organization commanders of the Headquarters companies.

The scope of Instruction:

Basic:

Map Reading	30 hours
Scouting and Patrolling	40 hours
Instruments and Signals	5 hours
Prisoner's Examination	5 hours
Messages and reports	10 hours
Organization	10 hours
Unassigned	5 hours
Total	115 hours

Specialist:

Sketching Road and Area Maps	40 hours
Sketching, Panoramic	10 hours
Aerial Photographs	10 hours
Organization and Identification	20 hours
R-2 Work Sheet	30 hours
R-2 Situation Map	30 hours
Intelligence Maneuvers	10 hours
Unassigned	5 hours
Total	155 hours

At 11:30 A. M., November 12, 1927, on the 29th Infantry Parade Ground, the 29th Infantry was reviewed by General Wilhelm Fr. Heye, Chief of Staff, Germany Army. The Regiment turned out in usual good form, and the Review passed off in tip-top shape, bringing favorable comment from many.

The Rifle Squad (First Squad, 1st Platoon) from Company "B" won the honor of being selected as The Chief of Infantry's Combat Squad. This squad entered in competition against the best squads from all the Rifle Companies of the Regiment. Their percentage for the course fired was 62.2.

The squad is as follows:

Corporal Obe D. Lowe, Pvt. 1cl. William T. Kearn, Pvt. 1cl. David Davis, Pvt. 1ccl. Arthur C. Nanney, Pvt. 1cl. John A. Parkham, Pvt. Charles R. Ham, Pvt. Roy Valentine, Pvt. Northrop T. Evans.

Company A, 15th Tank Battalion.

COMPANY A, 15TH TANK BN., HAS INTERESTING HISTORY

Captain Lampke's Outfit First Organized in 1918.

Company A, 15th Tank Battalion, commanded by Captain Louis L. Lampke, the picture of which appears in this issue was first organized in 1918 as the Tank Service Detachment, Company A, 326th Tank Battalion, at St. Goosmes, France. This designation was later changed to the initial company of the 344th Tank Battalion.

Captain Lampke's company participated in the St. Midiel and Muese-Argonne drive, and the records of this organization during those engagements is well recognized by the number of casualties suffered at that time. The company returned from France in 1919 and was stationed at Camp Meade, the home of the Tank School. It was sent to Fort Benning in the spring of 1920 and stationed in the tented area which is now occupied by the battalion of the 83rd Field Artillery. In 1921, the designation of the outfit was again changed to the 15th Tank Battalion. This organization was the first to assist in clearing away the area now occupied by the 24th Infantry, and was the first tank outfit to drive tanks successfully through the 24th Infantry ravine.

Company A has participated in practically every maneuver that the 15th Tank Bn. has engaged in. In the fall of 1923 the company constructed its own tank shop and sheds.

The company has also taken a permanent part in athletics of not only the battalion but has been successful in post competitions. In 1924 it won the battalion basket ball championship, track meet in 1925. It had the distinction of being the onl ycompany in the army that had three members of the All-Army football team this year.

THE SONG OF THE QUARTERMASTER

(By Sgt. W. R. Reynolds

Gather round children and you shall hear
Of a Corps of the Army that we all hold dear,
The Quartemasters of Benning on Upatoi Creek
Are toiling to please you just six days a week.

First there's Colonel Warfield, the chief of them all,
Who takes great pleasure in answering your call;
And when work is over, in summer or fall,
On the golf course you'll find him, chasing a ball.

Then comes Major Barlow, the Chief of Supplies,
And Captain Johansen who furnishes your pies.
In charge of the salvage, there's Captain Neville,
And the Detachment Commander, Captain Littell.

Captain Buckbee, Commissary Officer, issues your beans,
And Captain Massey at Utilities fixes your screens;
Lieutenant Allison, Constructor de luxe,
Has the 29th Infantry living like Dukes.

Last but not least, of world wide renown,
Captain Mabbutt, who weighs over three hundred pounds,
Whose principal duty at the Infantry School
Is to instill in our athletes the kick of a mule.

Assisting these officers day after day
Are civil service employes who sure earn their pay,
And Sergeants and Corporals and Privates galore
Who cheerfully labor from eight until four.

To get baggage handled or furniture stored,
Telephone Corporal Cross at number four four;
He'll tell "Lindy" Ray to make a non-stop flight,
In a truck to your door and do your job right.

The two print shop corporals of well earned fame
Do all kinds of printing; Dollar and Smith are their names;
They drill every Wednesday, do charge of quarters too;
One is a Georgia "Cracker", the other a Jew.

And all over the post, wherever they fit,
You'll find some Q. M. soldier doing his bit,
At coal yard or saw mill or running a train,
Or painting a house in sunshine or rain.

So when you need us, just give us a ring,
Tell us your troubles and what tools to bring,
We'll be glad to serve you, we're yours to a man,
But when we need your help, please lend us a hand.

BAKERS AND COOKS SCHOOL ONE OF THE LARGEST

Benning Bakery Makes 3,500 Loaves of Bread Daily

Captain H. C. Johansen, Assistant Commandant of the School for Bakers and Cooks, asked the questin when he first arrived in the summer, "I wonder if the people of Benning realize how they're blessed in having the bakery school located here that they have?"

The permanent personnel will recall the little wooden shack that housed the baking school last year, and the little out-door baking oven they had, but those who came in as students this year can't imagine what a far cry this modern, up-to-date bakery is from that little wooden shack, located in front of the railroad tracks.

This project was one of the Quartermaster's pet hobbies. Ever since being assigned to Benning as Garrison Quartermaster, he had had a vision of a modern bakery, furnished with the latest improved baking equipment, but it was only this year that saw his vision materialize.

The building was constructed by the purchase and hire method, and by the use of some troop labor and post transportation and local available resources, such as sand, gravel and lumber, at a cost of $38,260.33. This figure includes the cost of all salvaged materials used and the sand and gravel and lumber produced locally, figured at the prevailing market prices. The actual funds allotted and expended, in the erection of this building, amounted to $9,482.00. It is estimated that the building, as actually erected, would have cost by the contract method, approximately $48,000, and informal opinions of contractors support this estimate.

Muscle Shoals, a Government property in Alabama, did it sshare toward allowing Fort Benning to have its modern bakery, as hollow tile and other materials were shipped from that place, and the funds which ordinarily would have been expended in buying those necessities could be used for other materials.

This bakery has a daily output of from 3,000 to 3,500 loaves of bread. If each loaf of bread baked at Benning were a brick, in a year or two, the Infantry School could boast of palatial mansion-like quarters for its personnel, and the Army Housing Problem at Upatoie Station would exist no more.

Incidentally, it seems that Benningites have a gigantic sweet tooth, as it takes from 60 to 80 dozen cookies, 4 dozen cakes, and 200 pies per day to satisfy it. At Christmas time, the sweet tooth demands ever more, and to date, 1,200 pounds of fruit cake for the Yule-tide season has been baked.

Another feature of the bakery which proves a blessing to the feminine contingent, is that Captain Johansen's School caters to parties. They take care of refreshments for approximately one dozen functions per week, and takes this worry off the hands of the hostess.

Captain Johansen keeps his schoolhouse and bake-shop open for inspection at all times, and each member of the garrison is invited, even urged by him, to come and take a look at the general cleanliness of everything, the quality of materials used and the efficiency of his school staff.

CHRISTMAS IN OTHER LANDS

(By George W. Helms, Jr.)

Nineteen hundred and twenty-seven years ago, Christmas gifts were brought for the first time to a small child who lay in a manger. Poor shepherds who had been tending their flocks around Bethlehem brought what they could; perhaps they brought a little lamb for the baby.

Then three kings came riding from the East. We are told they were called Melchoir, Gaspar and Baltzar. They brought rich gifts to lay at the feet of the infant. As we all know this baby was the Christ Child.

The season of the Christ Child's birth has ever since been a time of rejoicing and gift-giving, although each nation has its own custom. In France the feast is called Noel and the children put out their shoes to be filled with goodies. The little Russian children also use shoes. Our lovely Christmas tree comes to us from Germany.

There is a beautiful story of a great fir tree being miraculously lighted in a wild forest of Germany centuries ago. The Italian children beg St. Nicholas for their presents. Our own Santa Claus comes in a round about way from this same St. Nicholas. The Dutch who came to America and settled New Amsterdam changed the name St. Nicholas to Santa Claus. He is the same jolly Saint who stuffs the American children's stockings.

I have not meant to leave out Merrie England; from there comes the custom of the Yule Log, and there the Waits go from house to house singing Carols on Christmas Eve.

God rest you merrie gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay;
Fo Jesus Christ our Saviour
Was born on Christmas day.

Machine Company Rejoices Over New Barracks; Recreation Room Attractive Feature

Another Christmas has come. A New Year is almost here. What have we to rejoice for? Many, many things, dear friends. Think of the good things that have come our way since the ringing of the 1926 Yuletide bells! We have had good fortune shoved our way, and have taken advantage of it.

To begin with, we no longer have to tolerate the discomfort of the old tent quarters. We have a nice, new accommodating barracks in which we enjoy the pleasures of the Twenty-Ninth. There is better ventilation, better lighting, and more sanitary and accommodating plumbing.

Have you thought of the advantages for clean wholesome recreation that our recreation room affords the men of this organization? The new furniture lends a distinguished air to the appearance of our already attractive Recreation Room. There is good reading material for those who care to pass their hours of leisure in that way. A good Victrola furnishes good music, while a new radio fills in the intervals wit hmore of the better brand of music.

We have been blessed with a Mess Sergeant that surely "knows his groceries." It might be said of Sergeant "Gunner" DePratt that he is one of the best Mess Sergeants in the regiment, if not the best. He gives us a variety that will compare with anyone's bills of fare. He gives us a nice spotless, and attractive Mess Hall in which we sit to consume the repasts with which he furnishes us.

Who could ask for a better, more efficient Supply Sergeant than we have in Sergeant Cody? Sergeant Cody might fuss and fume around, but when there is something wanted, from a ladies' wig down to a mess kit fork, "Bill" can be depended on to furnish it in due time. Cody is always sure to give one a "growl", but it is with a good heart that he gives it. We are surely most fortunate in having him as our Supply Sergeant.

When you want a good hair cut and shave, give our Company Barber, Mr. O. C. Waters, of Columbus, a call. He is always there with the ready tools to give you as good service as you could wish for, and he will always give it with a smile. Mr. Waters is very popular among the men of the Company, and the Regiment as a whole.

Until recently, we have not been especially fortunate in securing good mounts for the Organization. A few months ago, we were fortunate in securing "Nellie," a horse that any one should be proud to own. It is indeed a pleasure to see Nellie in operation. She has taken quite a number of ribbons at Post and Regimental horse shows, and is god for many more. About six weeks ago, we were extremely fortunate in getting three more good horses, and they look as though they will be good for "Gobs" of ribbons.

Sergeant Clarence Martin is our Stable Sergeant, and very efficient in this capacity. He keeps the details well organized, and the stables in excellent condition. Ask the Daily Stable Details.

Take a stroll up to the fourth floor, peep in, and you will find two of Uncle Sam's most conscientious soldiers, toiling away at their respective jobs as though their lives depended upon it. Private First Class John Dyke and Private Sam Schechowitz are always there with their carpenter tool and paint brushes, improving the looks of everything that the Company has. Think of the fatigue that these two men save the rest of the Company.

We have been especially blessed in having the best administrative force that could be organized. The Company Officers are hard to beat, if at all; while O'Brien and First Sergeant Norbert L. Craine hold down their part, and leave Corporal Tribble to go to Headquarters to grind away for the whole day. He always comes through, which makes everything work more smoothly than ever.

Last but not least, think what an organization Company "H", 29th Infantry ha sproven to be! Just the best all-round organization in the Army "Nuf sed!!!!!

Santa Claus time! And who, in this blase old world, but thrills to see the shop windows all aglow with Christmas lights and treasures!

Mr. Bewley, Chief Clerk of the Q. M. Office, says he knows Christmas is here because of the number of orders for Christmas trees that were ordered.

Miss Marry Harris, of the Q. M.'ers, opines that Christmas can not be celebrated properly in this neck of the woods, s she must hie to Philadelphia where a "white Christmas" can be enjoyed.

Mrs. Drane, the songbird of the Quartermaster Corps, has been requested to sing in the midnight service Christmas Eve of Trinity Choir. Mrs. Drane is one of Columbus' best known and most popular vocal artists.

Mr. T. C. Dyke, Utilities expert young draftsman, plans to go home to Soddy, Tenn., for Christmas, where men are men —an a still puts out stuff worthy of a self-respecting still!

Santa Claus came early to Fort Benning—in the bill passed by Congress authorizing the increased ration. And since Congress handed this nice package to the Army, the men at Fort Benning have been eating many and much spareribs and pork hams. Uncle Sam certainly is making it hard for his nephews to desert him at the end of their there-year enlistments.

Colonel Warfield, as well as being a most efficient Quartermaster, Golf Director and Judge of Horse shows, has recently turned his acivities into other channels. Yessir! Colonel has recently entered the legal profession! Witness his terrible prosecution of Captain Rogers, who was arraigned before Judge Dan Mallan on a charge of deserting the Infantry School Hunt! Though Colonel Warfield prosecuted diligently, public sentiment seemed to be against an indictment, and Captain Rogers went free. However, it has been whispered about that after hearing of Colonel Warfield's noble prosecution of Captain Rogers, Mr. Clarence Darrow, the most famous lawyer in America, wired him offering a partnership in his firm. Colonel Warfield, however, had such a tender feeling for the Infantry School that he couldn't tear himself away, and wired a rejection of the offer.

P. S.—This rumor has not been officially confirmed; however, we have no doubt but that this offer actually was made—after hearing accounts of the Colonel's eloquence on this occasion.

A berry, berry Krizmus, ad a habby Jew Year! (We seem to have a terrible cold, but the sentiments are the same as of old!)

The New Ford

The following is the impression gained from one of our well known print shop Corporals, concerning the new Ford. It was founded by Abraham Lincoln and manufactured by Henry Ford, therefore its new name "Linford." Has four wheels, which go round and round, forward or backward, depending on the skill and choice of the driver. On the extreme front has a radiator which is intended for a reservoir, but probably in a few weeks will be used for watering the roads. There is also a tank which will contain a certain number of gallons of gasoline or any liquid sold as gasoline by filling stations. On the touring and sedan models, the rear seat is placed directly back of the front seat. The car will be guided by a steering wheel which will turn to the left or right but never in both directions at the same time. Entrance may be gained through the doors, or if desired, by climbing over. The sedan and coupe models will be closed cars and the roadsters will be open cars. There is also another open model called the Phaeton or some such name, which strongly resembles a touring car. This new model is considered to have a better "pick-up" than the older models.

We nominate to that Ancient and Honorable Society the lady who on a pullman crossing the Mojave Desert at scixty miles an hour pulls down the shade before retiring.

And another thing, if Captain Doll and his able associates will accept such a suggestion. Let's name our theater. Some fancy, classy name that will appeal to the public and look good in electric lights. Why not have a contest and award the person who submits the proper name a month's pass. This is just a suggestion and no offense is intended. With the class of pictures being shown "Main Theater" sounds a little flat, don't you think?

One of our railroaders decided he needed a "storm and strife" and came in with request that he be given permission to marry. But he will of necessity have to undergo single blessedness for alas! and alack! if rumor has it correctly, permission was refused. Better wait until the three years are up, son. You can't live off of love very long.

Sorry to note that Private Davis is very ill in the hospital. Hope him a speedy recovery.

He: My, but you have a smooth gear shift.

She: Say, take your hand off my knee.

SANTA BORROWS THE ARK

(Lt. G. A. Hadsell)

Way up yonder in the frozen north, in his home beyond the pole, Santa Claus, that genial saint, anxiously scanned an airplane photograph. The time was some ten days before Christmas. Reindeer pranced, sleigh bells jingled, outside the workship filled to overflowing with bright toys for boys and girls, fireless machine guns and contouring devices for student officers. A worried wrinkle disturbed Saint Nick's usually jovial countenance as he oriented the photograph by closing his eyes and dropping it on the floor, a successful method.

The airplane view showed that all was not well along the flood swollen banks of the Upatoi. There the strident clanger of battle was almost hushed. An ominous calm, in fact, pervaded the plains of Benning. In every breast Christmas spirits should have teemed, but such, alas, was not the case! Instead black gloom, like a damp, clammy blanket had descended. The Yule Log, flickering on the hearth, lacked its customary warmth. For it had rained, and rained! And it was reported that Santa Claus had no pontoon equipment.

For days clouds had wept copiously, skys had streamed. Unimproved roads became deeper than the Gulf of Mexico. True, evolution, coming to the fore, had fast grown fins and gills on machine gun crews, periscopes were improvised for observation of fire. But this was a small ray of soap. The new crop of contours, so laboriously planted on Rivet Ridge, had been swept away in the surge of rushing wat The plains beside the Upatoi made Mississippi disaster look like a dry run. But that which most furrowed Santa's brow was a fact, which, if known, would have plunged each student into the nadir of despair: the celestial Department of Experiment had failed in an attempt to graft webb feet on reindeer!

Saint Nicholas was about to pen a sorrowful epistle to his friends at Benning explaining his inability to span the raging flood, when Brother Noah strolled in.

"Why the contoured brow, friend Claus?" inquired that Biblical flood expert.

"Look at this," said old red faced Santa, proffering the airplane photograph. "How in the name of Alidade am I going to get my sleigh over that Georgia ocean?"

"Tut, tut," replied Noah, holding the photograph upside down in student fashion, "That's easy, I'll lend you the Ark."

All of which only goes to show that after these many years, old man Noah still knew his animal crackers.

1927 A VERY SUCCESSFUL GOLF YEAR

(By Beatrice Davis)

Glancing back, the year 1927, which has seemed almost to fly past on winged ...s, has been full to the brim of ...ievements at Fort Benning, in all activties.

The various activities connected with administration of the garrison have been carried through satisfactorily; new buildings have been built; various new ones planned; and the recreation activities of the post have gone forward with leaps and bounds.

Probably one of the sports that attracts the greatest number of followers, and affords the most genuine recreation, is golf; and this past year has seen the number of golf adherents increase amazingly.

The reason for this is manifold; in the first place, Benning has one of the best courses in this part of the country, and during the past year, the original nine holes was increased to eighteen holes, offering those golf-bugs who are not satisfied when they've played nine holes another nine holes over which to sock the discovery-defying white sphere.

The terrain of the land on which the course is laid is ideal for its purpose, offering beautiful fairways and greens, sand-traps—and ah; the delight of all those weilders of the mashie and niblick—the rough! Who has not had a little thrill of pleasure as he saw the ball he was playing take a nice little spin to the right or left and land in a nice roughy rough? But to make up for the roughness of the rough, the fairways and greens are equally beautiful—the greens being planted with a special grade of Bermuda grass.

This sport is under the wing of the Officers' Club, which plays godfather to almost all other similar activities. The club, of which Captain Eddie Walker is the head, has lent unsparingly of its equipment and workmen for the purpose of keeping the grounds in shape. During the past four years, since there has been a Golf Club at Benning, there has been expended out of Club funds, for the purpose of establishing and maintainin gthis golf club and course, the sum of $14,125.26. A similar course, built from civilian funds, without the aid of troop labor, would have cost in the neighborhood of fifty thousand dollars.

Lt.-Col. A. B. Warfield, Q. M. C.
Director, Golf Club

However, the one individual, who, as an individual has done more to aid golfing and golfists of Benning then anyone else, is Lt. Colonel A. B. Warfield, golf director. Himself an ardent golfist, he knows how to be the very efficient quartermaster of one of the busiest posts in the Army, and still build up a golf course as good as any in the South. Always on the alert to keep tourneys running to allow all golfers and would-be golfers to compete against players of their own golf ability, he has imbued those who are already golfers with a deeper interest in the game, and caused many new players to become devotees.

Great credit is also due the entire golf committee, of which Colonel Warfield is chairman, consisting of Captain E. E. Walker, Captain A. J. Barnett, Captain B. W. Venable, and Captain George L. King.

Another great factor in the success of the tourneys sponsored by the Tournament Committee, is the fine class of prizes given. The prizes are purchased from Club Funds, and no charge is made for entry into the tourneys.

In a thrilling tournament, played in the spring for golf championship of Benning, Captain A. J. Barnett, playing a superb game, won out over many opponents to wear the crown of undisputed champion of the Camp on the Upatoie.

In the Regimental Tourney to decide championship of the 29th Infantry Demonstrationists, Captain Griffin, stauch wielder of mashie-niblick, as well as putter and brassie, came out with top honors, in a closely contested event.

Then there is that bitter rivalry between the Medicoes and the Quartermasters, which calls for at least two terrible tussles per annum on the golf course. Neither faction will admit that the other is stronger, and so consequently many and hard-fought are the battles waged between the two branches. The year 1927 saw three matches between the two branches. In th first two, the Medicoes came out victorious, and growing over-bold, challenged the Quartermasters to a third fracas. The tone of their challenge was not—'er—particularly complimentary to the golf-ability of the Wheel-Key-and-Sabre Men, and with blood in their eye, they accepted the challenge, and decided this would be a fight to the death. Unable to cope with this spirit, although fighting nobly, the Medicoes went down to ignominous defeat between the sure-driving of the Warfieldians. This still leaves the Doctors a game ahead of the QM'ers, and the silver trophy is still resting, figuratively speaking, under the guideons of the Bakermen.

The ladies, neither, have been forgotten by the Golf Director and the Tournament Committee, and in the spring, many mixed tourneys for ladies and officers were planned, and just recently there was a special ladies' tourney, in which those feminine followers of Scotland's Classic Game could show their prowess.

All in all—this has been a very busy and successful year for the Golf Club, and its able director, Colonel Warfield, and as another year draws near, it comes bright with promise of much pleasure for those who hark to the class of a clear, bright day, and attiring themselves in comfortable loose clothes, and snatching the old golf bag, find no greater joy than listening to the z—i—p of a perfectly-driven ball.

GALLOPING GUNNERS DEFEAT FREEBOOTERS IN FAST POLO GAME SUNDAY

Dope Bucket is Upset in Sunday's Game; Students Defeat 29th Infantry

The Student mounted mallet men rode roughshod over the Mounted Doughboys at Pike Field last Sunday afternoon, winning the opening polo game 9 to 1. The Galloping Gunners gave the old dope can an extra wallop winning the second game from the Sea Robbers 5 to 3 in a game that was fast and furious from beginning to end.

The Students took an early lead in the opening game with Lieut. Farmer in the lead with three goals to his credit. Captain Pinkey Burress played a wonderful defensive game, he started at No. 3, but in reality he played them all in his attempt to stop the hard-riding Students.

In the second game the Galloping Gunners beat the Freebooters in a fast and exciting game, 5 to 3. Lt. Guernsey of the Gunners, was the star of the game and featured with his hard riding and accurate hitting.

Captain Forsythe led the Freebooters, attack making two of their three goals, but his pony turned traitor kicking one through for an Artillery score.

Captain Clark of the Artillery got a bad spill in the second period but was none the worse for wear after the game. Each team used two complete lineups. For the Gunners team "A" which played periods one, three, five and six was composed of Grubbs, Guernsey, Murphy and Hurt, while team "B" was made up of Clark, Strohben, Jones and Avera.

The Yellowjackets had Forsythe, Lyman, McClure and Smith in team "A", while Mallan, Oliver, Mood, Olmstear, Whisner and Sweet made up team "B".

have tire trouble ?

Side-wall breaks, rim-cuts, bruises and excessive tread wear are the results of under-inflation.

This condition destroys more tires than any other one factor.

Having your wheels in proper alignment is also very important. Unless this is done your tires have a dragging side motion that acts like a file, quickly wearing them away.

Come in once a week, and let us inspect your tires. It will mean a great saving to you.

15TH TANKS

Capt. L. D. Tharp, who has been in command of Company B for the past few years, left last week for Camp Meade where he will be an instructor in the Tank School at that station. Under his leadership Company B attained a great many honors on the athletic field and in demonstrations within the battalion. It was through his efforts that the company was made a member of the Red Cross life-saving organization. He leaves the battalion with the best of wishes of all officers and men.

Philbeck may have been a champion eater but Gullett goes him one better, the first in the mess hall and the last one to leave is his latest record.

For several years the world's foremost scientists have been delving in the mysteries of the old world and the ancients who were the forerunners of our present civilization. The object of their search was to find the missing link, of present day man. Fountain, the mess hall sheik, without so much costly searching and brainstorming work, thinks that he has found the said "missing link." He says that "Cue Ball" Clark, of soccor fame, fits the description perfectly. You have a marvelous imagination, Fountain.

Noble Don Carlos Real embarked to Macon, Ga., last Wednesday, Dec. 7, and discovered the fountain of youth. And from all indications he fell in said fountain.

First Sergeant Hicks, better known as the "Grey Eagle," signed as first mate on the good ship Ohio, and the last report was that he was steering her nose in a 40-mile gale in the straits of North Carolina, keeping a steady pace through a choppy sea.

We have a large firing demonstration on. And we also have a new Company Commander, Leiut. Brinkley, so let's go ahead and show him that we can put out. Rll together for our new Company Commander.

Next Saturday will see our football team in action in its first game of the Inter-Mural season, when we battle the 83rd F. A. So let's all get together and don't forget rooting has helped win many a game, and we must have the old championship again this year.

With deep regret we learn that a promising youngster's life was cut short. Sergeant and Mrs. Hedgecock's little youngster passed to the great beyond as the result of an accident. Although we sympathize with the afflicted ones, we can't help but feel that such a likeable little chap is going to a better place. Sorrows must be endured or life would not be worth living and its such sorrows as this that tests a person's character.

Company "C"

Pvts. Revels and Robertson were granted extensions on their furloughs fo rten days. Both are visiting sick relatives.

Cpls. Mallett and Lambert are trying to break into the literary world. Mallett claims to be an author of no mean ability and we all know what Lambert can do. They were discussing the theme for their coming book the ther night and we must admit it's a wonder—that they don't get shot.

Private Boutwell has been appointed corporal. Boutwell is a soldier of 11 years' service having been discharged twice as sergeant and is well qualified to hold down the job. Gradually we are improving our N. C. O. personnel.

Last Saturday most of our modern Sampsons were ordered to remove a little surplus hair. We hope that it has not affected them as it did the original Sampson. The order on the cutting did not come from a fair lady.

Private Morgan had a severe case of intoxication on a brand new five cent cigar. We think that Morgan had better wait a few more years before he tries to tackle Lady Nicotine again. The cigar had him as dizzy as Gunner DePratt of the 29th usually has his opponent.

We are openin gour training table in Company "C" in our drive for the Post football championship. If eating will win Company "C" has ninety odd winners. Some of these boys would lead any league on tackling the table. They throw the mess hall for a loss three time a day.

"Abie Levine" and our "Only Reuben Moore" were guests of "The Hotel De Gause" over the week-end. "Abe" said he didn't care so much about the extra kitchen police but it interfered with his social functions. Reuben said it was just another day with him.

Private Paul E. Moore, "Tobe May's" able assistant on the days when "Tobe" is incapacitated, is now among that select delegation who have had their names chiseled on that famous stone tablet in the Hotel Gill. Due to some sort of a misunderstanding he was unable to purchase any paving bonds.

Since "Cornbread" has erturned from furlough our old reliable sympathy quartet is in full bloom. "Cornbread" will now stand and sing "Will there be any stars in my crown" and the audience will come in like garlic with "No not one."

Louie Joris, in a scrimmage the other day hurt his "Hellebow" and "Hunkle" and a couple of "Spare-ribs." He says if this keeps up he will get hurt soon maybe, don't it.

"Top" wonders why they don't put on an old man's but at the dext fighting card. He says he wants to show some of these young sprouts some of the Delaware punches of 70.

A dressed rabbit that weighs 10 pounds is evidently a golly whopper undressed.

Company "A"

Corp. "Hook" Blake had the pleasure of spending the past week-end in the Company Area. Beter luck next time Reuben, but be sure and have your windows clean.

The first platoon is well represented on the Battalion football team with such men as Sergeant "Red" Lindsey, Corps. Willingham, Bennett and Privates Porche and Bryant.

Private "Hog" Hodnett of the second platoon has decided to go in for "shieking" now. He had his hair cut yesterday. Good for you "Hog," you are looking good now.

"Fat" Williams says shooting a riot gun is "easy money."

"Pickle Head". Benge will get plenty of sleep now. Can't go to town for two weeks.

Our First Sergeant was seen coming in from town about 4:00 a. m. (good morning) one morning last week. Wonder why the late early hours.

Private Wood, our efficient personnel clerk, has been stepping out lately. He went to town over the week-end and spent the whole amount of $3.00. Ask First Sergeant Bertleman, he knows.

"Eight Spot" Axson has just a few days to do and had bet $10.00 that he would not re-enlist. Only last night he was trying to get the man to call the bet off. Atta boy "Eight Spot". It is better to lose $10.00 than to lose a good home.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The Fort Benning Masonic lodge held its business meeting recently and elected George R. Still as Worshipful Master and H. M. Foster was re-elected as secretary.

Regular communications are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings each month.

WHO'S WHO!

When looking over the list of celebrities of Fort Benning to honor with a little write-up for this, the biggest number of the paper during the year, we were somewhat puzzled just whom to pick for it. But it didn't take long. One of the staff said, "Well, there's Bertelman, of the Tanks. He was in the limelight on the Doughboy Stadium gridiron and also as I recall it, got a good hand from President Coolidge at the big game with the Marines." Well, 'nuff said after that. We decided right away that First Sgt. Harry Bertelman, of Company A, 15th Tank Battalion, should be the subject upon which to dwell for this column this week.

Sergeant Bertelamn was born in Hawaii and it was there that he started on his athletic career in the Pacific Ocean diving for the pearls, and perhaps, for the pennies when the big army transports came that way. He developed a strong lung capacity and arms which have been a good asset for him in the games that he has played with the All-Army team. He used his arms very effectively in the Marine game in Washington. Not many sea-dogs were able to escape his reach in that great game of the year.

He enlisted with the forces of Uncle Sam in March of 1918 when he joined the 509th Engineers. He remained in the service for a year when he re-enlisted with the Third Tank Company in the Third Division. In 1921, he thought he would try real doughboy soldiering so he signed his name on the dotted line with the First Infantry but he found that his weight didn't entitle him to stay long in that outfit so he re-enlisted with the 15th Tank Battalion where he had a machine o carry him that was almost as big as himself.

He is now First Sergeant of his company—and, well, we know he has held his job for a long time and that is sufficient proof of the weight of "Big Bertha" in more ways than one.

He has been a power with the All-Army team and is much feared by the sea-dogs. Thrice has he received an ovation in the President's cup game in Washington—and we'll say the fourth time next year at this time.

BENNING NAIL-NABBER

Engineer Mobile Magnet Eliminates Many Punctures

One of the most unique collections in Fort Benning is that possessed by Captain James F. C. Hyde, commanding officer of the Seventh Engineers. It is a collection of potential punctures. Most automobilists have collected a few odd punctures, but merely in an amateur sort of way. Captain Hyde has made the thing a profession and his collection includes nails, tacks, spikes, wire and the multifarious odds and ends of iron and steel that form a constant menace to the peace of mind of local motorists.

It is a humanitarian hobby that the Captain has adopted and Fort Benning motorists should remember him in their prayers. The idea of operating a device for picking up nails and other puncturing agents, is not new. Captain Hyde has been considering the matter of putting such a device in operation for some time. The only drawback was the cost of the gasoline necessary for the operation of the required equipment. This difficulty was recently removed by the offer of Mr. Austell of the Post Exchange filling station, to furnish the gas needed for operating the plant. The action of the Post Exchange in furnishing this gasoline is in line with its established policy of giving the best service possible to its patrons. Mr. Austell realized that by minimizing the puncture hazard he would greatly increase the mileage of the tires sold by the Exchange.

One Million Potential Punctures

The device itself has an entirely local history. A two ton magnet capable of lifting seven steel rails, is suspended from a caisson gear, which is attached as a trailer to a White truck. In the truck is a portable lighting plant of 5 kilowatt capacity furnishing a 120 volt current and carrying a load of 30 amperes. This plant is connected to the magnet by heavy cables. The Engineers were lucky enough to find the magnet in the Quartermaster storage, thus saving the labor of winding a new one. The Ordnance furnished the caisson gear and the lighting plant is part of standard Engineer equipment.

Amusing incidents occur daily as the truck travels about the reservation. We quote Sergeant Dolphus Greenfield, curator of the puncture meseum who operates the nail-nabber with the assistance of Pvt. Robert James, chauffeur.

"The other day I was going up the road toward the hospital and everything seemed to be working fine when I heard a noise behind me that sounded like I had picked up a bunch of washboilers. I stopped the truck and went back to see what had happened and I darned near stepped into an open sewer manhole. The blamed magnet had swiped the cover off the sewer. And then coming down the other side of the street it swiped another sewer lid."

The Sergeant is becoming absentminded since he started operating the magnet. The other day he was explaining to several ladies the principle of the machine while the driver was making a trip around the block. One lady asked him if he thought that the magnet would pick up her ring. We believe that the Sergeant glanced at her ring—at least we know that he said:

"No, Ma'm.—You see, lady, it won't pick up nothin' that's made of brass or copper or such stuff."

"But, Sergeant," the lady remonstrated with kindly patience, "You see my ring isn't either brass or copper; in fact it is made of platinum."——

—Just then the truck came back down the street and the Sergeant must have felt the attraction of the magnet for he left hurriedly.

Quite recently the Sergeant was busy about his work when he was accosted by an officer who desired to be initiated into the mysteries of the machine. The sergeant explained with enthusiasm and as he finished the officer remarked that he had use for just exactly such a device in the rear of his quarters where he suspected the presence of many potential punctures.

"Yes sir," the sergeant agreed, heartily, noting the officer's rank but unaware of his identity. "We'll be able to get around to the Colonel's quarters in about two weeks, if nothing happens."

This did not exactly satisfy the colonel who inquired if the sergeant recognized him.

"Yes sir, Colonel," Sergeant Dolphus agreed, "but we're mighty busy; would the colonel mind giving his quarters number—we'll get there as soon as possible."

"Quarters Number Two," the colonel's reply was brief; pointed.

Dolphus never batted an eye. "Colonel," he said, "we'll be right up there this afternoon."

That the Mobile Magnet is doing good work is amply attested to by Captian Hyde's ever increasing collection. One day's haul would have just about filled a GI can. On an average the magnet picks up about one hundred pounds of junk a day. That this stuff comes right out from under the wheels of Benning's auto traffic is tremendously significant — and the broad-minded attitude of the Post Exchange in giving financial backing to the Engineers for the operation of their nail-nabber, should make an especial appeal to Benning motorists.

They were a couple of Thespians of the old brigade, and, things being mighty bad, they decided to do a barn-starming tour of the villages, with a "dramatic and historic sketch, entitled Wellington and Napoleon."

The first house they played to $25—wealth untold to them—and spent the time between houses in celebrating the event.

Came the second house. Up went the curtain, to show Wellington on the stage alone.

Three times did he try to start his lines, and each time he could do no more than stammer a few words and then completely "dry up."

Came a naccusing voice from the audience at last: "Wellington, you're drunk!"

"Drunk, am I?" he hiccoughed. "Drunk you say. Then—his—by Heavens, jush you wait till you shee Napoleon!!"—Calgary Eye-Opener.

TANKERS VANQUISH GUNNERS IN SECOND GAME OF LEAGUE

The team of the Terrible Tankers defeated the 83rd Field Artillery outfit on the gridiron of Doughboy Stadium last Saturday afternoon by the score of 21 to 0. Bertelman's team, however, found a strong and determined team in the Galloping Gunners when the first whistle sounded, for the artillerymen held the Tankers during the first half. No score was made until the third quarter when the Tanks made two touchdowns and another in the last quarter.

The playing of Bennett and Bertelman was a feature of the game, both of these men rushing the line of the artillery outfit for big gains during the last half. To pick a star played for the 83rd Field Artillery team would be a big job. Every man on the team starred at his position and showed a fighting spirit that will probably be one of the main features of the intra-mural games. The gunners knew full well that to beat the heavy tankers would be well nigh impossible. However, they played and never gave up the fight from the beginning to the end. McAuliffe, of the 83rd, started to flinging passes in the last few minutes of play and it looked as though the gunners would cross the line. Daley and "Red" Lindsey played their usual star game for the Tankers.

The Tankers made 13 first downs to the Gunners 9; completed 2 out of 6 passes while the 83rd made good 8 passes out of 28 attempts. Both teams were penalized a distance of 55 yards.

The Gunners' aerial attack threatened several times but the Tankers were able to check the attempted advance of the enemy.

GAS COMPANY HAS MADE COMFORTABLE QUARTERS

Company "C" Firs tGas Regiment has just completed a year's stay in its new location. From a sandy waste we have improved our location by planting plenty of grass and some flowers and shrubs. The buildings have been reconstructed and slabs added to the outside of the orderly and supply rooms. We built frames fr a new tent line and added slabs to these, making comfortable quarters.

This year has been a profitable and very pleasant one at Benning for us.

We have just completed the most of our demonstrations for the school and are now busy with the instruction of the different units of the permanent personnel.

Our basketball team is making wonderful progress. Captain Steele, 24th Infantry, coach of the team, is putting forth untiring efforts to develop it into the best of the Inter-Mural League of Fort Benning, and we sincerely trust that his efforts will be well awarded.

Pvt. Willard McPeeks started on a three months re-enlistment furlough last week, which he is spending at his home in the Kentucky mountains.

One unlucky doughboy had been in the hospital many months and had had so many operations that he was getting tired of them.

"Will this be the last time?" he asked, as he was being prepared for his fifteenth visit to the operating room.

"I hope so," said the surgeon; but of course I cannot say until we know how it turns out."

"Ah! well, if that's so, I think ye'd better not sew me up again this time. Just put a few buttons on."—Laughter.

I. S. D. NOTES

"A touch of kindness makes the whole world kin," and perhaps it's by this token that Christmas means so much more than any other holiday to people in all walks of life. It's a nice idea to think that for at least one day in the year, people give up the idea of self and think about doing something for the other fellow. But primarily the day is for the children. The Detachment and its heads are doing everything to make Christmas Dav happy and complete for them, and to bring this about everyone is asked to be present at our Christmas Tree and share in the happy air that seems to always linger around the kiddies when in contact with Santa Claus.

We are going to have a basket ball team with Captain K. L. Berry as coach. The following men have reported for the team: King, Tombrillo, Isham, Pfeister, Tolle, Lane, Cleveland, Caldwell, Morris, Patrick, Ryan, Boudreaux and Woidlya.

Pete Wheeler had his tonsils taken out. We were surprised to learn that he had tonsils. Scientists tell us that a constant flow of any liquor will wear away stone.

We discovered during the purchasing of Christmas gifts that the difference between a 'vase' and a 'varse' was usually about $2.50. Knowing the price of admission to the affairs given at the Service Club on Wednesday nights we conclude that they are 'dances'. Even though the recording scribe would make it appear that they were given under the direction of Mack Sennett.

Pfc. Harry Cooper has returned from a furlough spent in the land of slow horses and fast women, viz., Kentucky. Furthermore he looks the part. He informs us that strong licker and weak women are an unbeatable combination.

And lest we forget—Merrie Christmas!

UNEVEN HANGS THE EVENING HEMLINE

It's the loveliest line of all, that uneven hemline, whether it droops at the side or at the back. It's the hemline made for dancing. And it is very flattering. As is the whole evening mode, with its glory of velvet and satin, its brilliant metal cloth, sparkling rhinestones, and fluttering chiffon.

It's a mode that billows and cascades, that revels in drapes and tightly swathed hips. That features a new low decolletage in the shape of a U. It's a mode in which rose tinted beige is very new, shell pink, banana, yellow-green, electric blue black and white are prime favorites.

INFANTRY SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

Benning Organizations Will Dedicate New Main Theater Stage on January 13 and 14 With Operetta "Trial By Jury"

(By Capt. Geo. L. King)

Christmas, 1927, marks the fourth birthday of the present Infantry School Glee Club, for it was just before Christmas in 1923, that a few of Fort Benning's music-loving enthusiasts formed a small group to revive the old English practice of singing carols on Christmas Eve.

The reaction to the caroling that year was so favorable that it was decided to form a permanent organization and have regular supervised practice of choral music of various kinds. After considerable preparation and many rehearsals an invitation ocncert was given, proved successful and attracted so much favorable interest that in a short time the Infantry School Glee Club was an established institution.

The first operetta, "A Nautical Knot," was staged in the spring of 1924, in the cow barn which used to stand on the site of the present Children's School. At that time the "cow barn" was the Garrison Theater. In addition to being a theater, this building was also the favorite cote for many pigeons who, together with a raft of barn rats, used to view moving pictures and other performances from a vantage point high up in the rafters. Of course such clubbiness was bound to have its disadvantages, and, as

FIRST SERGEANT OF 29th INFANTRY RETIRED AFTER 30 YEARS SERVICE

Sgt. Goodenough Completes 30 Years; Has Been 1st Sgt. of Service Company Past Five Years

First Sergeant Miles Goodenough, Service Company, 29th Infantry, completed thirty years of service last Friday and was retired from the service on that day. Sergeant Goodenough first enlisted in Troop I, 5th Cavalry, with which organization he served for a period of seven years. He re-enlisted in 1905 with Troop M, 3rd Cavalry, and served one enlistment in that organization, re-enlisting in 1908 with Battery C, 1st Field Artillery. After serving one enlistment with field artillery he re-enlisted for service with 51st Company, Coast Artillery. In 1914 he enlisted in the 5th Infantry and served for eight years in that regiment in Franee and Germany. In 1922, he re-enlisted with the 29th Infantry of which regiment he had been a member until date of retirement.

Sergeant Goodenough served in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American War in 1898; in the Philippines from June 1, 1905 to January 16, 1908, and from October 31, 1910 to April 15, 1911. He served in France during the World War and was also a member of the A. F. in Germany with the 5th Infantry.

The last paragraph of General Orders No. 54, Headquarters, 29th Infantry, dated December 23, 1927, is as follows: "The retirement of 1st Sgt. Goodenough marks the close of a long and honorable career as a soldier of the United States. His record of service, loyalty, and application to duty is an enviable record and is one to be emulated by all men

MUSKETEERS DOWN LEE ATHLETIC CAGESTERS IN OPENING GAME HERE

Roosma Stars in Fast Game on Local Floor; School Squad Showed Fine Team Work In First Game

The Infantry School Basketball team started the season off with a rush when they ran away with the Lee Athlete Five 51 to 15 in the opening game of the season here Wednesday night.

The playing of Johnny Roosma was the main feature of the game, his phenomenal shooting gaining him the name of "Deadshot" Johnny.

In the first half he looped eight field goals for the Doughboys while in the last half he was a little off, getting only six, running up a total of twenty-eight points for the evening.

The Lee Athletes hail from Auburn, Ala. Their teamwork was perfect but the Doughboy defense kept them shooting at long range at all times.

The Musketeers flashed a game here Wednesday night that fully demonstrates their ability to cope with any five in the country, and Olson's Terrible Swedes are in for the surprise of a life time when they arrive here Jan. 5th.

"Fat" Franz was very much in evidence, his teamwork with Roosma being a big factor in the one-sided score.

The Infantry defense was perfect, every man playing his position in big league style, while on the offense their sped and snap kept the opposition guessing at all times.

Every member of the Musketeers is a star at his position and although the playing of Roosma was the feature of the game, every member of the team showed himself capable of taking care of his position at all times.

TERRIBLE TANKERS AND "KELLS" WILL BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP AT DOUGHBOY STADIUM SAT.

A Hard Game Expected Tomorrow When Strong Teams Clash

Saturday will see the end of the Intra-Mural Football season when the 15th Tank Battalion team clashes with the Second Battalion of the 19th Infantry for the garrison championship.

It is a toss-up to pick the winner. The Tanks have an all-star line with an average backfield, while the Kellys are the opposite with an all-star backfield and an average line.

There is no choice at center. "Red" Lindsey and "Brick" Berrish who will face each other at this position are both All-Army players, although if there is a shade I would have to hand it to the Redhead.

Big Bertleman, Stewart, Costello, McKelvey, Lindsey, Ward and Daley form a forward wall composed of All-Army players for the Tanks, while their hopes in the backfield will be pinned on two men, Weenie Sweenie and Knubb Bennett. Benett hits a line low and hard and is going to be hard to stop, while Sweeney is a broken field runner second to none, both of these men will bear watching.

The Kelly backfield is one of the smoothest working machines ever turned out here, if their front wall can hold the Tanks in check the Doughboys are going to be hard to stop. But if Big Bertha can pierce the Kelly line, there is going to be some plays smeared behind the line.

Thompson, Oikira, Magagnan and Kjelstrom are a great combination in the backfield for the Doughboys. Oikira is the one man I am picking to penetrate the Tankers' forward wall, while the Kelly-Franz aerial combination is going to be a big source of danger.

As is customary a champion is always a slight favorite until another takes his place, so I am giving the Caterpillar Conductors a slight edge in the coming struggle.

CADET WEBER RETURNS TO WEST POINT

Cadet Frederick R. Weber who has been the guest at the home of Col. and Mrs. R. W. Kingman for the past three months left yesterday for West Point where he will again resume his studies. He is a member of the '30 class. Mr. Weber has been connected with the Infantry School News for the past two months as advertising manager.

THE INFANTRY SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

one officer said in speaking of the pigeons' odd habits: "it's a blamed good thing cows don't fly." Incidentally, before the day of rehearsal or show, Sgt. O'Neal used to call up the Glee Club director, and shortly it became a custom for said director to assume "in addition to other duties" that of going over the theater with an air rifle to clean out the high-perched pigeons. However entertainment was scarce in those days and it seemed audiences made up for lack of physical comfort by their great tolerance for conditions and marked appreciation for plays and players.

During its first year the Glee Club put on an afternoon concert for the Women's Club, and each year since it has provided some part of an afternoon's program for that organization.

In 1924, Maj. Jos. Stilwell conceived the idea of the Armistice Day Pageant and it became a part of the Glee Club's duties. The pageant was put on for three years in succession and was omitted this year only on account of circumstances over which the Post Commander had no control.

Three cabarets (dinners), were given during the first three years, and in these, as well as invitation "Stunt Nights," many opportunities were offered for free expression of individual talent.

To date the Glee Club has put on five operettas, viz: "Nautical Knot," "El Bandido," "Pinafore," "Singbad the Sailor," and "Pirates of Penzance." Its plans for 1927-28 contemplate the staging of at least one operetta, and a program for the Women's Club is in course of preparation.

Ordinarily Glee Clubs, especially in communities where the personnel is changing yearly, are not long-lived; principally because really competent accompanists are rare. One of the reasons for the continued success of the organization here at Benning lies in this. For three years the Infantry School Glee Club has been most fortunate in having had as its assistant director and accompanist, Mrs. Edwin Butcher. Than Mrs. Butcher there is no better, more accomplished or painstaking a musician and accompanist, either in or out of the Army.

Another reason for the Glee Club's longer than ordinary existence may be attributed to the get-together spirit of team-work which has always prevailed. Its future life is assured only so long as there obtains within its ranks willingness to abide by that primal, axiomatic rule which calls for the voluntary renouncement of personal aspirations to the advancement, betterment and success of the whole ensemble.

New Stage Dedication

If nothing arises to prevent the completion of the new, big stage of the Main Theater, Jan. 13th and 14th, 1928, will mark its dedication. A double bill will be given at that time, the Infantry School Dramatic Club staging the compelling, gripping dramatic playlet, "The Drums of Oude," and the Infantry School Glee Club offering as a curtain-raiser, the well known Gilbert and Sullivan burlesque operetta, "Trial by Jury." The former takes about one hour, the operetta about fifty-five minutes. "The Drums of Oude" will be under the personal direction of the club play director, Major Geo. F. N. Dailey. A further description of the play and the operetta will appear in subsequent issues.

The officers and members of the Infantry School Glee Club take this opportunity to wish all members of the Garrison and all members of the Academic Department, best wishes for a Happy New Year.

THEATERS

DEC. 30 TO JAN. 6, INCL.

FRIDAY, DEC. 30

"LUNATIC AT LARGE," starring Dorothy Mackaill with Leon Errol, Broadway's famous fun maker. This is a howling comedy which required an overdose of brains and brawn to play the part of a crazy man. In this picture Errol is tricked into a private sanitorium for feeble minded men of wealth. He escapes after a series of screamingly funny adventures, and just as liberty confronts him, he plungen from the sanitorium wall into a sand pile just in time to be picked up by a steam shovel. He is then buried up to his nose in sand, gravel and clay. It's just one laugh after another.

"Pathe News."

SATURDAY, DEC. 31

"THE FIGHTING THREE," featuring Jack Hoxie in a picture chuck full of tense dramatic action that carries a punch in every foot of the film. It is the story of a love sick cowboy who wins an inheritance for a beautiful show girl and fights his way into her heart by blood tingling heroism. If you like excitement—here it is.

"Fire Away." Mermaid Comedy.

SUNDAY, JAN. 1

"LIFE OF RILEY," starring George Sidney and Willie Murray in a comedy which means laughs from start to finish. Sidney plays the part of a general store keeper ,who is Chief of Police and Murray the part of chief of the fire department and on the side, iceman. They are rivals for the hand of a rich widow. Complications galore are encountered. A circus with its vamping "slickers," the widow's heart stolen, an exciting fire, a burglar and a number of other occurrences form the food upn which keen komedy feasts—it's a laugh riot from start to finish.

"Topics of The Day No. 41."

"Paramount News.'

MONDAY, JAN. 2

"STARK LOVE," a Paramount picture featuring a cast composed purely of mountain folk, Helen Munday, Forest James, Silas Miracle and Reb Gragan. None of the people are "cut and dried" actors, yet the play is considered a masterpiece. It is a fierce and beautiful drama of life in the Great Smokey Mountains of North Carolina and its actors most competently portray true life in the virgin country. This picture is hailed as exceptional.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 5."

TUESDAY, JAN. 3

"FIGURES DON'T LIE," starring Esther Ralston plus Edward Southerland and Ford Sterling in six reels of riotous comedy. It is a wholesome story featuring an absent-minded business man, a pretty secretary, a young sales manager and a jealous wife, all entangled in a seashore picnic, misunderstandings and vampires. In this picture horrid tragedy turns into good comedy.

"French Fried-Neal." Burns Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4

"ALIAS THE LONE WOLF," featuring Lois Wilson and Bert Lytell.

This is a screen version of the mystery drama from the novel by Joseph Vance. It depicts the mysterious comings and goings ofa gang of eleven jewel thieves after a princely booty aboard an ocean liner. The climax is most astounding and unexpected.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, JAN. 5

"HOOK AND LADDER NO. 9." This is considered a more powerful story than "The Third Alarm." It is a thrilling human drama of love, hope, envy and self sacrifice among the fire fighters of a mighty city. Clanging gongs, shrieking sirens, roaring wheels and crackling flames impell constant excitement while elements of human intinct grip the attention in throes of dramatic appeal.

"Anything Once." Mabel Norman.

FRIDAY, JAN. 6

"ANNIE LAURIE," starring Lillian Gish with Norman Kerry in a romance of unforgetable beauty. It is a spectacular drama of Bonnie Scotland when strong bruitsh men fought for power and love. This truly Scotch story is heralded as one of the six best plays released during the month reviewed. It possesses comedy, pathos and action. You'll enjoy it.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS ACHIEVED BY FARM BOY IN BUILDING GIGANTIC ENTERPRISE

High Standards of Quality and Workmanship

Harvey S. Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, is beyond any question of doubt the dominating factor in the automobile tire industry. His leadership has been demonstrated on every important movement within the industry in recent years.

The Firestone Company has led in all major price changes, has led in downward revision, rather than upward, and is generally recognized as having the world's finest and most efficient tire factories at Akron, which even this spring were enlarged to provide a production capacity of 45,000 tires per day.

The company has not only shown the way to lower tire prices, but has just as consistently maintained or improved the quality of its products and earned reasonable dividends for its stockholders.

Firestone pioneered the development of the balloon tire and is chiefly responsible for its widespread use.

Firestone's operating methods are the last word in factory efficiency. Incidentally Firestone overhead costs are lower than those of any of the large producers of tires. The same is true of distribution costs. All the modern, efficient methods and machines are used, yet without the frills and superficial extras that add to overhead without increasing production.

From the very beginning H. S. Firestone has had a fixed policy of opposing effort to artificially increase prices of tires. With high standards of quality and workmanship his constant effort has been to increase production efficiency, improve quality and lower costs to car owners. He is always active in movements which benefit buyers of tires.

Years ago he fought the pneumatic tire combine that sought to keep him from making his type of tire, and after a great effort he won. Later the so-called "rim trust" of its day attempted to keep Firestone from getting any rims, so he built his own rim plant. Today he is the largest manufacturer of bus and truck rims in the world.

It has always been the ambition of the company to produce the materials used in the manufacture of its tires so far as it was possible to do so. To this end it owns and operates a cotton tire fabric mill in Fall River, Mass., with a floor space of eight acres and containing more than 50,000 spindles, having an annual capacity of 12,000,000 pounds. This mill makes fabric at a lower cost than the company would have to pay for it in the open market. The company has control over its product and is able to maintain its high quality standards in this manner without difficulty.

Mr. Firestone is now engaged in the greatest effort of his business career, the effort to smash the foreign controlled monopoly of the world's crude rubber supply. For years he has urged that Americans should grow their rubber. He sent his experts all over the world to study where rubber could be grown, with a view to establishing his own plantations. These men went to the Philippines, Africa, South America, Central America, Mexico and the Far East.

Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, was decided upon as the place for his major efforts and in 1923 he leased a 2000-acre plantation that had been planted in 1910 and abandoned during the war. It was soon put in good condition and is now sending highest quality rubber to the Firestone factories in Akron. Further investigation of the opportunities in that far-off land convinced Mr. Firestone that he should go into rubber growing on a vast scale. Last year he leased a million acres of the finest rubber growing land from the government of Liberia and has embarked on a campaign that, if all plans are carried out, will cost about $100,000,000.

The growth of the Firestone business has been phenomenal and of course the factories have kept pace with the demand for their products. Started in the humblest way in 1900, with no factory and only H. S. Firestone, a bookkeeper and a stenographer, the company has steadily grown and sales in 1926 were $144,000,000. The company has tire factories in Akron, Ohio, and Hamilton, Ontario; the world's greatest rim plant at Akron, where is also located a huge rubber reclaiming plant; cotton fabric mills at Fall River ;rubber clothing and footwear factory at Hudson, Mass., and a large rubber buying organization at Singapore.

Firestone has branches and warehouses in practically every important trading center in the civilized world.

The Fort Benning Post Exchange handles the Firestone tires.

FORT BENNING BOYS DEFEAT COLUMBUS HIGH

(By John Wright, Jr.)

Doughboy Stadium was the scene on the afternoon of December 18 of a hard fought game between the Fort Benning squad and Columbus High School. The Benning team was captained by George Quinney. The score, 13 to 0.

Launching an attack in the second quarter, strong enough to gain on most any team, our boys plunged and ran their way to the two-yard line where "Speedy" Helms took the ball for the remaining on a buck through right tickle. "Texas" Rehman then tried for the extra point but missed by a few inches. A few minutes later the half ended with Benning in possession of the ball in midfield. The score, 6-0.

Again in the last quarter the boys from the posy plunged their way to Columbus' thirty-yard line. Coming out of a huddle, the ball was snapped to "Texas" Rehmann who faked a cross buck and turned and raced through a hole between right tackle and end, dodged the would-be tacklers and did not stop until he was safely across the last chalk mark. He then kicked goal. Score, 13-0.

When the game ended Fort Benning was in possession of the ball and going strong to another six points. All of the fellows played great football but the playing of "Texas" Rehmann, George Quinney, John Franklin, "Speedy" Helms in the backfield and Frank Vogt at center were outstanding. The line held off the attacks of Columbus' backs like the traditional "stonewall."

A crowd of about one hundred soldiers watched the game and cheered the boys from Fort Benning.

PHILLIP LAMPKE

Mr. Phillip Lampke, age 25, son of Captain and Mrs. L. J. Lampke, died at the post hospital last Saturday morning from injuries received in an automobile accident near Columbus on the previous Monday. Mr. Lampke was a student of law at Mercer Universty, Macon, and was enroute home to spend the holidays with his parents.

Funeral services were held in the Post Chapel at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and interment in the Fort Benning cemetery. The entire garrison extends to Captain and Mrs. Lampke their deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Company "G"

Out Pvt. 1cl. Riley Brice's wife passed away on the 13th instant and the following letter was written to him by the entire company:

"Company G, 24th Infantry,
Fort Benning, Ga.,
December 13, 1927.

Our dear Brice:

We are sincerely sorry to hear of your loss. You, who have so often comforted others, are now to be comforted. And what better word can we send to you than that which Paul writes in the Second Epistle to the Corinthians: "Blessed be God, even the father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulations that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God. For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also aboundeth by Christ."

We offer our sincere sympathy in your great loss.

Most faithfully yours,
(Signed) THE COMPANY."

Our basketball team is 1,000 per cent and we wish to inform all other teams, in writing, that when they meet the "steppers" of Company G, to tip their hats to the Captain, Pvt. 1cl. Slone Williams, and shake hands wit hhis coworkers.

Company "B"

The members of Company B, 24th Infantry, are looking forward to the holidays with the necessary guard and fatigue.

The basketball team of this organization, lead by Private Theodore R. Williamson, is doing good work—might be the champions of the 24th Infantry.

Corporals Orange, Wright, Privates Deloney and Andrews decided to spend the Holidays in a distant city—far from necessary guard and fatigue.

Headquarters Co.

Pvt. William E. Branch, Jr., the baby recruit of the Co. and the youngster about whom most of the girls seem to lose their heads, has recently obtained a thirty-day furlough and has departed for his home at New Haven, Conn.

Pvt. Central Warren, better known as "Pretty Boy," and Pvt. David L. Pressley, "Slow Kid," have received letters of commendation from Capt. Hans C. Johanson for splendid work done by them while on D. S. at the Fair in Columbus. Hdgrs. Co. is proud of the boys.

We have only one man in the Hdqrs. Co., who has displayed as much nerve as Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and that is Pvt. 1cl. Specl. 4cl. D. E. O., who attempted a non-stop flight from Ft. Benning, Ga., to Kansas City, Mo., in a 19—? model Ford. He got as far as Birmingham, however.

Staff Sgt. Louis A. Scipio, who seems to have won the admiration of the entire Post, through his "Happy Seven" orchestra, recently received a letter congratulating him on his ability as an orchestra leader. Captain S. F. Doll wrote the letter.

Pvt. Edward Bailey has returned from a furlough. Although we are glad to have him back, we were sorry to learn of the death of his father.

Mocking Bird Hartis probably the most widely known private in the Company. If you could hear him sing "Down by the Riverside" you would know why.

Pvt. Chester A. Hart had told Lt. Carrington, who was making a check of clothing, of having so many different items in the laundry. He made the same "mistake" when it came to the shoe check. Lieutenant Carrington, "Hart, where are your shoes?" Pvt. Hart, "One pair on, one pair off, one pair in the laundry."

Pvt. John Thomas is on furlough for thirty days.

Pvt. Major L. Wallace has just gotten back from a furlough.

The basket ball team recently organized by the Co. is doing nicely.

Pvt. M. J. R., the double sheik, sheik of the blocks, and sheik of Columbus, has more girls than Solomon had wives. The Ford sedan accounts for it.

Pvt. 1cl. E. G. has just put in a letter for permission to get married. Which is evidence of another good man going wrong.

The first thing I wish to say is that the members of this Company and I wish each and every one in the Post a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Take warning from me and don't eat too much "Xmas." Two certain men in this Company wish to announce that any one that cannot dance call around and one Pvt. Bass will be glad to teach you. We have lost another good soldier, but he was not discharged. That is Sgt. R. B. (Digny) Williams, he has gone to Memphis, Tenn., to see if he can get some more Tennessee boys down here. He was a good fellow before leaving, b—u—t lies will make a recruiting officer go wrong.

Poor old Ben R. has lost his girl, but we don't want you to worry "Dick." Thee is another one waiting some place. Cpl. Bridges is back with us and ready to do duty once more. Glad to have you back John "ole Boy."

Say fellows, it won't be long now until our old reliable "Top Kick" Hi Davis will be back with us and then for some more good soldiering.

Company "F"

The personnel of Headquarters Squad room requests that every one entering these quarters conduct themselves in manners becoming to a gentleman. The antics of certain unruly visitors such as "Red" Carpenter and Cpl. Conley has caused such a nervous strain on the men in Headquarters that one of them tried to end a brilliant career by pluging into a thirty-foot well. Fortunately there happened to be a rescuer near by who pulled Derby to safety.

"F" Co. is well represented on the Battalion football squad by Barron, Hood Thompson, Carlin, Rippie, Wierda, Costello, Dykes, Smoot and Carpenter. With the Post Championship looming in the near future, this organization pledges its whole-hearted support to the "Kellys."

Lieut. Roosma has issued a call for basket ball candidates. As most of the last year's team are playing football there will be no regular practice sessions held until Football seasn is over.

Corporals Gasser and Hicks were the escorts of a couple members of the "fairer sex" (?) at the 2nd Bat.-1st Bat. affair last Saturday. The cheering section payed their respects in a vociferous manner and in return received a salute worthy of the occasion from Cpl. Gasser.

The bird who started the saying baseball is the national sport should glance into "F" Co.'s quarters during "poker hours."

Company "G"

Private Hill and Gouldman just returned froma fifteen-day furlough. We are glad to have them back with us.

A letter Private Gilmore sent home before Xmas reads as follows: No mon no fun your son.

Answer: From dad; to bad how sad your dad.

We lost an excellent old coldier, Sergeant Shafer, who was well liked by all members of the Company. We wish you the best of luck in your new outfit.

We've got a recruit in the Company that's a card. Littrell walked into the barber shop at the Recruit Center to get his hair cut and the barber said to Littrell, "All right, jellybean, you're next." After Littrell got out of the chair he said to the barber, "You got the jelly and left me the bean."

A certain Sergeant in the company quit asking the recruits where they come from, since Littrell told Jess that he hails from Tennessee.

The Field Artiilery's March

It was on a Tuesday morning,
Oh. Boy! It sure was cold
We lined up in the battery street
With our packs and rolls.

We marched to the stables
With our heavy load,
Then saddled up our horses
And lined upon the road.

About an hour later,
The time was seven-nine,
The Major then came over
Said, "Captain you are on time."

We mounted on our horses
And rode off flank to flank
Out the First Division Road
On past the water tank.

As we were marching
Across old Davis Hill,
I looked up in time
To see someone take a spill.

And just a little later,
The bugle sounded (Halt)
We all then dismounted
To take a smoke and talk.

We then resumed the march
On into the pines,
Then again we halted
And stretched our picket lines.

We also fed our horses
Tied them to the line,
Then we grabbed our messkits
For it was (our) time.

We then resaddled our horses
It was about three-ten,
We also passed some doughboys,
As we were marching in.

We marched up to the stables,
Dismounted one and all,
Also watered our horses
And tied them in their stall.

We were marched to our batteries
Where we were then turned free,
I wuldn't take a million
For the Field Artillery.

I. S. D. NOTES

About the Tree and Diner on Christmas Day we could write many things but Mr. Averill's article in the Enquirer-Sun took full care of the subject. We do know however that everyone enjoyed the day, and that the Tree and the Dinner added to the general spirit of Christmas that prevailed throughout the Area. Many thanks are due to the Commanding Officer, the Mess Sergeant and his assistants, as well as the First Sergeant for they all had prominent parts in bringing things around to the place, that insured a real Christmas in all details.

Ten men are out for the Detachment basket ball team and can be seen in action on the Gym floor any day after 4 o'clock. They all give promise of turning out a team that is a real one. Captain Berry, our coach, is anxious to get in touch with other outfits in the Post that are looking for games. Any day after 4 o'clock is open.

For the first time in years Jack Ryan spent Christmas in the Area.

All of the magazines subscribed for have started coming in and are in the They were so selected that they arrive Recreation Room for reading purposes. weekly, every two weeks and once a month. In this way the Detachment is insured of new reading matter at any time. All that's wanted is a little care in their handling, so that the "next fellow" gets a chance to read them when they are in good order.

FIRST BATS HOLD THIRD PLACE BY WIN OVER GUNNERS

Brown Features Game with Ninety Yard Run for Touchdown

Holding the 1st Bats. on the defensive during the first quarter in yesterday's game, the Galloping Gunners saw victory snatched form their grasp early in the second quarter when Bobby Brown scooped an Artillery fumble on his 10-yard line to gallop the length of the field for a touchdown.

A pass, Romploski to Hudgins, netted the extra point.

With the ball on the Gunners' 40-yard line in the last of the second quarter, the Doughboys made 28 yards on a reverse play, a pass, Romloski to Hudgins, from the 12-yard strip gave the 1st Bats their second touchdown. The kick for goal was blocked.

In the third quarter the Redcords worked the ball down the field to the Doughboys' 20-yard strip, a pass, McAuliffe to Pascal, netted the Gunners their first touchdown. The try for goal was wild.

Reeves playing his first year of Army football showed himself to be a world of trouble to opposing linemen when he carried the ball for three first downs in a row, crashing over for the Doughboys' last touchdown from the 5-yard strip.

Staging a desperate rally in the last quarter, the Gunners drove the Footsloggers to their 10-yard line, Phillips skirting right end for the last ten yards and a touchdown.

The Redlegs were unable ta kick goal for the extra point.

A flurry of passes in the last two minutes of play failed to net the fighting Gunners the needed seven points.

SPORTS

OLSON'S TERRIBLE SWEDES WILL PLAY DOUGHBOY CAGESTERS HERE JAN 5

Followers of the cage game will get the opportunity to see one of the country's leading professional basket ball teams in action on the night of January 5th, when the Musketeers clash with Olson's Terrible Swedes at the Past Gymnasium.

Playing a schedule of one hundred games of basket ball against some of the leading professional and semi-professional teams in the country last season, the Swedes show ninety-one wins against nine defeats.

Followers of the game who saw them play here last season are still stalking of that game. The Inf. School Team was one of the best in the South last season, but the lightning play of the Swedes kept them guessing at all times and the end of the game found the Infantry on the small end of the scoreboard.

The Musketeers are working hard for the coming game and hope to have a surprise in store for the Terrible Swedes.

The Swedes call Coffeyville, Kan., their home, but their schedule carries them over the entire country. They are the widest known professional basket ball players in the world.

TERRIBLE TANKERS SWAMP GREEN WAVE FROM 1ST BN.

Infantrymen Score Twice Without a First Down

Major Miller's Caterpillar Conductors continued to roll steadily onward toward a second garrison football championship, when they vanquished the hard-fighting Green Wave from the 1st Bats. 29th Infantry last Wednesday afternoon at the Doughboy Stadium 26 to 12.

Although with only one more obstacle between them and a second consecutive championship, the Tankers will meet the real test when they begin moving the aforementioned obstacle. This obstacle consists of a squad of pluging, fighting football players led by the indomitable Kjelstrom, and removing them is going to be some job.

It was obvious from the start of the battle that the Tankers would be the victors, unless something unexpected happened. Several things that were rather unexpected happened, but nothing could stop the Terrible Tankers once they started rolling.

With a front wall that could stop the charge of the famous "Light Brigade" the Tankers held the opponents while on defense, and this same wall was a perfect screen for Knubb Bennett as he clipped off yard after yard against the Infantrymen, while the Tanker defense held the Green Wave offense helpless.

On defense the Doughboys fought furiously holding the Tankers for downs and forcing them to kick on many occasions, but the Tank line was impregnable at all times.

Harper once recovered a fumble on the Tank 20-yard line to give the Doughboys a first down there. Four plays were run, with a net result that the Tanks took the ball on their own 46-yard line. Four 1st Bat. plays had netted a grand total of a 25-yard loss.

The Tanks scored in the first quarter. Birdsong kicked off for the 1st Bats, the Tanks were unable to gain. Daley punted to the Infantry 15-yard line, a fumble gave the Tanks the ball deep in Infantry territory.

Bennett went off tackle for a first down with room to spare. Two more plunges by Bennett put the ball on the Inf. 5-yard mark. Two attempts failed to put the ball over, but a third charge by Bennett put it over, Benett kicked goal for the extra point.

In the second quarter Bidrsong kicked to the Tankers near midfield, on the next play a Tanker back fumbled, English who played a great game for the 1st Bats. made a lighting recovery going forty yards with perfect intereference for a touchdown. Birdsong was wide in his atempt for the extra point.

The third quarter was a punting duel between Daley and Birdsong with honors ever, neither team scoring.

Just before the end of the quarter Rompolski fumbled one of Daley's long punts on his 20-yard line. An unknown Tanker covered the pigskin, the end of the quarter found the ball on the Doughboys' 14-yard strip.

The opening of the last quarter saw Bennett cover the 14 yards in two plunges for a touchdown. A moment later he kicked goal for the point.

The Tanks scored another a moment later. The Tanks kicked off, Rompolski was downed on his 30-yard line, three plays at the line and Birdsong dropped back to kick, a bad pass sent the ball back over the goal line, Birdsong scooped it and fumbled, McKelvey falling on it for a Tank touchdown, Bennett missed his first time in six trys for the extra point.

Near the end of the final period Rompolski scooped the ball on his thirty-yard line, galloping through the entire Tanker squad 70 yards for a touchdown, Birdsong missed the kick for the extra point.

LAST SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL GAME A ONE-SIDED AFFAIR WITH KELLYS WINNING

Kellys Defeat Gunners. "Fat" Franz Stars in Backfield

As usual the Gunners turned over the dope bucket, but this time it was a reverse. After playing a great game against the Tanks and holding them scoreless for the first half in the opening game, everyone expected the Gunners to give the Kels a hard fight last Saturday. Instead of a fight it was a walkover with the Gunners forming the walk.

"Fat" Franz switched from his regular position at end to the backfield and he was pure poison, in fact the Redcords just couldn't stop him.

Kelly was the outstanding player of the game. He crashed off tackle at will and the Gunner defense seemed unable to chec khim.

Although fighting a losing fight, McAuliffe, Lapine and Big Jeffres never gave up the battle fo rthe Gunners. Red Martin and Hancock fought hard to stem the tide but the efforts of these five veterans could not cope with the advancing Kellys who crashed through for six touchdowns and a final score of 40 to 0, in favor of the Kellys.

The Kellys will meet the Terrible Tankers next Saturday in the deciding game of the series, neither team has lost a game. The game next Saturday will deside the championship for the 1927 season of the Intra-Mural League.

"Speaking of funny things that happen in the boxing game makes me think of a fight I refereed while on duty with the A. E. F. boxing teams," said Captain Charles Mabbutt, Fort Benning Boxing Instructor.

One night at the Circe de Paris it was my job to referee a fight between a colored boy by the name of Willie Jackson and a white man by the name of Kid Irish. The fight was a hummer, with the chocolate baby out in front. He lambasted the Mick all around the ring for the first two rounds. He was very much elated over Old Man Opportunity knocking at his door, and you could see in his countenance that he was sure turning in a win. The third round opened up with both gladiators standing toe to toe, slinging arms and gloves that would make a Dutch windmill ashamed of itself. Just before the end of the third round the Mick stuck his glove into the colored fighter's mess-hall, nearly up to the elbow, he went to his corner at the bell full of enthusiasm. Jackson turned ashy and slowly made for a neutral corner, crawling through the ropes. I rushed across the ring, took him by the arm, asking hi mif he was not to fight any more. He looked up with a bewildered expression and shook his head, saying, "Yes, sir, Mr. Captain, but no mo' tonight."

On another night at a boxing show that we were pulling off behind the lines at a rest camp in France, I was seconding a colored boy by the name of Battling Collins, against a lad of his own color by the name of Young Jack Johnson. It was my luck to be behind a boy who did not know how to hold up his hands.

For the first few rounds he showed signs of having plenty of courage. After boxing the first round he returned to his corner, pretty much battered as he had made three trips to the canvas in the opening session. I whispered words of encouragement in his ear, telling him he was a second Joe Gans, or Sam Langford, or many other of the great boxers of his race.

He rushed out for the second round. The going was tough, he was having a far rougher voyage than the opening round. Four trips to the rosin, one eye closed, and a cauliflower ear were accumulated in round two.

Round three he caught more punches than in the two previous rounds.

When he reported to his corner at the end of the third round, he whispered through his swollen lips, "Be on the square with me, Mr. Captain, am I winning or am I losing?"

I assured him with all the eloquence of a political speaker that he was winning. "All right Mr. Officer," he said, "then I'se quitting while I'se in the lead."

CAMP MEADE FIGHTER WINS DECISION OVER MILES IN GREAT BATTLE

Leslie on Verge of KO in First Round. Captain Mabbutt Uses the Scissors

Corporal George Leslie, junior lightweight Service champion and a veteran of many ring battles, took a well earned decision over young Rufus Miles in a 10-round battle at the Fort Benning Gymnasium before a large crowd of fight mad fans, last Thursday night, December 22nd.

Quick work by Captain Charles Mabbutt saved the soldier from defeat in the early rounds. Leslie entered the ring with a beautiful pompadour that would do credit to any college sheik, but he certainly had no use for it in the squared circle. In the first mix-up in the opening round down came Leslie's curls, covering his eyes and blinding him for a moment, it was a sad moment for George. Rufus stepped in with the ole one two to the button that would have knocked out an ordinary fighter for keeps, but Leslie proved that he could take it. It is still a miracle how he weathered the first round, he staggered to his corner punch drunk and groggy.

Captain Mabbutt was ready with the trusty shears, while Willie Ptomey used the sponge and bottle, Capt. Mabbutt wielded the shears, and what a barber he turned out to be. With his locks shorn Leslie came up for the second round as good as new. He drove Rufus to cover with a two-handed body attack, taking the round by a big margin.

The fight was one of the best ever put on here and the decision though close was unquestionable. Using a body attack that Miles could not get away from Leslie piled up a lead on points that Miles could not overcome.

Although the soldier fans were a bit peeved in the third round, they quickly forgot it as the fight progressed, and Ramblin Rufus will be welcomed back in a Benning ring at any time.

Leslie won a never to be forgotten place in the hearts of Benning fans by his gameness and good sprtsmanship, Benning would like to see more of him.

Preliminaries Please Fans

The preliminaries were the best ever held here. Brault and Cline started things humming in the opener, when they went three fast and furious rounds, Brault taking a hairline decision. Bull Montondon and Mysterious Billy Smith, lightheavys, put up a good three-round battle. "Bull" revamped the obsolete pivot punch which has been barred from the swat game since the year one. Smith clearly outpointed the "Bull" pivot punch and all.

Soldier Westbrooks slugged his way to victory over Jack Owens of Columbus. Both boys put up a good fight, but the soldier was the aggressor at all times.

Red Cord Leonard and Doughboy Wilson, featherweights, put on the fight of the evening. Leonard hit Wilson with everything in sight or hearing during the first round. In the second they stood toe to toe and issued leather until Leonard collapsed and Wilson left the ring punch drunk and groggy.

Jackie Philips, battling Green Cord, gave Young Ashe of the 29th Inf. a busy three-round entertainment. Asher had been picked to win easily, but Phillips was very much there all the way. Asher was awarded a split hair decision.

"Speedy" McCullough, a hoss doctor of parts, and "Plenty" Moore of the Demonstration outfit put up a great show. "Speedy" went to sleep in a clinch, Moore made frantic efforts to chew his ear when he started snoring. Speedy managed to keep awake the remainder of the bout. Both boys finished strong.

CAPTAIN MABBUTT HAS WONDERFUL SYSTEM TO DEVELOP ARMY BOXERS

(By Al Durden.)

The day seems not far distant when the great ones and the champions of the fistic world will be the youngsters who are now being developed and trained in their leisure moments of army life. And whatever success comes to these boys will be due to Captain Charles Mabbutt and his wonderful system; a method unique in the annals of pugilism and certainly the most scientific and thorough devised.

Athletic directors in the army in all parts of the United States have started to train youngsters with boxing inclinations along the Mabbutt system. Civilian boxing teachers adopted many of the features of the Mabbutt system, which "Gentleman Jim" Corbet classified as:

The most thorough method of building up youngsters and teaching them boxing that has ever been devised.

Captain Mabbutt in discussing his way of teaching youngsters the art of self defense said: "When I was placed in charged of the soldier boys who wanted to learn boxing, I decided that every boy who came to my classes must be built from the ground up. I try to equip every boy with balance, speed, perfect heart action and strong, well functioning lungs, before I per mit them to put on a boxing glove.

The boys are forced to spend as much time as possible in the open as a starter. In the summer they are influenced to let the sun tan their bodies and faces because that toughens the skin and makes it split proof against punches.

At Camp Holabird I devised a little running track which was plowed up so that the boys could dash through soft soil, as concrete sidewalks or hard roads are very jarring on the spine. All of the road work which the boys did were over this track. I would stand in the middle of the circle and ring a bell. The boys would run as fast as they could for three minutes. I would ring the bell again and that would be the signal to walk for one minute. Then they would run for another three minutes—walk one minute and so on.

That scheme was designed to get their hearts and lungs trained to stand up under a full three-minute round of hard fighting, followed by a minute rest. At first the squads worked only four rounds on the tracks. As they became used to the strain, I increased the work on the running track until the boys worked twenty full rounds of running and walking.

One of the most difficult things for a fighter to learn is perfect balance and ability to twist and whirl around the ring without becoming dizzy. I decided to school my boys in the trick of whirling, twisting and turning. To accomplish that end I equipped each with a neck pad around which was circled a rope.

The end of the rope was attached to a bucket into which I put sand. About 30 or 40 pounds of sand were put in the buckets which the little fellows worked with. This bulk was scaled upward for each division until it reached 100 pounds for the heavyweight class.

Upon signal the boys would turn either to the right or left, swinging the bucket through the medium of the rope around their necks. They would continue to whirl around at increasing speed in one direction until ordered to reverse. Then they would whirl the other way. Weeks of practice at this made it possible for every boy in the class to whirl around everywhere from 20 to 50 times and then come to a sudden halt without being dizzy or without being off balance.

These were only a few of the stunts the boys had to do before being permitted to put on a boxing glove. For it is my conclusion that real success in boxing can only come by building up the body in the beginning.

The next step was to school the boys in the knowledge of vulnerable spots to strike when boxing. I made a chart of the human body and gave the boys blackboard talks. After that I spent a long time in learning them how to close the fist in proper fashion, how to hold the arm and wrist while striking.

When they had learned this I transformed one of my assistants into a target. I equipped him with football headgear and a baseball chest prtector. I marked the vital spots on the chest protector and headgear with red paint. Then I gave boxing gloves to each boy in turn and let him loose an attack.

I would order him to hit spot No. 5, which might mean the solar plexus, with a left hand. Then he would be instructed to hit spot No. 1, which might mean the chin, with a straight right hand. At first I called out hitting orders slowly, but as the boys learned the trick of striking the target, the action was speeded up.

As a result the best pupils learned to hit the shifting target, using first one hand or the other with lightning rapidity.

Next came schooling in defense. The boys were taught by easy stages, the art of holding up their hands, sidestepping, blocking, ducking, feinting, etc. Each one was schooled in one trick of defense until he learned it well. Then the next trick was taught him, and so on.

Finally the boys were allowed to don the gloves and indulge in real boxing matches wtih each other. I always greased the faces and bodies of the boys, as well as the gloves with carbolated vaseline. As a result the hard punches slipped off and the boys never cut or bruised each other, as is so often the case in other sparring bouts."

From the class which the Captain refers to at Holabird, he developed four army champions, who have fought some of the top notchers in the fight game. The yare: Colligan, Tritta, Wilson and Burnbrook.

Bobby Garcia, George Leslie, Willie Ptomey, Gunner DePratt and the revamped Red Keenan are products of the Mabbutt system.

"If I only had the time to give them my undivided attention I could develop a class of fighters from the material here that would make some of the top notchers sit up and take notice," Capt. Mabbutt said, speaking of the ambitious crowd of young leather pushers who gather at the Post Gym every evening, anxious to learn more of the manly art of self defense.

THINGS THE ARMY DOES BESIDES FIGHT

OMAHA, NEGRASKA—When Central High School and Technical High, bth of this city, recently met upon a local gridiron, for the inter-scholastic championship of Omaha, Wesley Laugel, captain of the former school, was lying in a hospital some distance from the field of play. None was more interested in learning of the progress of the championship game than he. Yet because of his plight he seemed doomed to have to lie abed and await the final result by telephone or messenger.

Learning of his misfortune, 1st Lieutenant Henry Du Pree, calling upon the communications platoon of the 17th Infantry, Fort Crook, Nebraska, set up a field telephne set from the football field t the bedside of the injured player, a distance of thirteen city blocks. Laugel received a play-by-play account of the contest, direct from the side-lines, and although his team lost, he could not thank the Army enough for the pleasure he had received.

TANKERS RETAIN GARRISON FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP IN FIERCE BATTLE

29th Infantrymen Unable To Cross Tank's Goal; Tank Line Held Fast Backfield

The husky Tanker crew led by "Big Bertha" Bertleman gained the rights to wear the Garrison Football Crown for another year they defeated "Kels" of the 29th Infantry in a fierce battle at the Duoghboy Stadium last Saturday afternoon 6 to 0.

A sweeping west wind during the first three quarters of the game kept the ball almost constantly in the east end of the stadium. With the wind at their backs the "Kels" kept the Tankers on the defensive during the first quarter, several passes were compelted, but the Tank line was held firm.

Beginning the second quarter with the wind in their favor, the Tanks made good use of it. A long punt went deep into Doughboy territory and when Thompson fumbled an alert Tanker recovered on the Doughboy's 20-yard mark. Knubb Benett and Sweenie, worked the ball to the "Kels" 8-yard strip and a first down, but here the Bluecord defense tightened up and held the Tankers for downs.

In the third quarter the Tanks used the wind to good advantage forcing the "Kels" back into the shadow of their goal post, Thompson's punt was short, the Tankers recovering the ball on the Infantry's 30-yard line as the quarter ended.

Straight line bucks gave the Tanks first down in the beginning of the last quarter, two rushes put the ball on the "Kels" 14-yard line. Sweeney slashed through to the 9-yard strip. Plays by Bennett and Swenie put the ball on the Doughboys 1-yard mark, Sweenie taking the ball over by hurdling mates and opponents in a reckless dive. Bennett's kick from placement was wild.

Receiving the next kick-off, Kelly ran the ball back to the middle of the field but the Doughboys were unable to make no headway against the Tank line. Punts were exchanged with no advantage. With the ball on their 30-yard line the "Kels" pulled the brainiest play of the game. Dropping back in kick formation he kicked on first down. The ball went over the safety man's head and rolled deep in Tank territory. Sweeney touched the ball but let it get away from him, Franz who had come down on the punt scooped the ball and crossed the Tank goal line, the roar that came from the 2nd Bats shoow the stands.

A moment later the cheering changed to yells of surprise when the touchdown was ruled null and vaid, it being shown in the revised rules that the Kellys were in possession of the ball on the Tanks' 25-yard line but that the touchdown did not count. With a minute to play Kelly slashed off 7 yards on the first play, a pass Kelly to Franz put the ball on the Tank's 11-yard line. Kelly tried another

GUNNER DEPRATT WILL FIGHT WILLIE PTOMEY HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

All Service Champion Will Battle Camp Meade Fighter, Middleweight Title At Stake

Willie Ptomey and Gunner DePratt have agreed to fight ten rounds winner take all to decide for once and always the oft disputed argument of who is the rightful owner of the All-Service middeweight title.

The fight will be held at the Post Gymnasium on the night of January 12, and one of the largest crowds that ever attended a fight here is expected.

Serget. Willie Ptomey of the 17th Tank Battalion, Camp Meade, Md., fought his way to the title by decisive wins over the pick of the Navy and Marine Corps, in the tourney held at the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia in 1927.

A few months later Captain Charles Mabbutt matched Ptomey and DePratt. The fight was held at the Doughboy Stadium, Ft. Benning, Ga. Ptomey was a big favorite to win, but the Doughboy fighter ended the fight with a one punch knock out ten seconds after the opening gong.

Thirty days later in a return match they fought ten fast and furious rounds, DePratt winning an unpopular decision. Hence the argument which will be decided next Thursday night at the Post Gymnasium.

DePratt weighs 162 pounds, is a fast and clever boxer, but carries a knock out wallop in either mit. Ptomey is more of the bulldog type, all ways boring in, willing to take one to give one. He is a great infighter and will give the Doughboy a busy evening if DePratt fails to pierce his armor with his high powered hooks and jabs.

Captain Charles Mabbutt who developed both fighters has not picked the winner, but he does say that there is no middleweight in the world that can take DePratt's right hook on the button without connecting with the canvas for a snooze. A champion is a champion until a better man wins ,and I am picking DePratt to keep the title in the coming fight.

Son of Capt. and Mrs. C. L. Steel Baptized Last Wednesday

One of the most impressive christenings held at Fort Benning in some time took place in the home of Capt. and Mrs. C. L. Steel on Wednesday afternoon, December 28th, when their infant son was baptized.

Before a large Christmas tree with minature figures of the holy family in Bethlehem beneath it, 1st. Lieut. Henry F. Fay performed the sacrament of baptism.

To the child was given the name of James Harris after his great grandfather, Dr. James H. Harris of Baltimore ,the Dean of the Dental School of the University of Maryland at the time of his death. The christening robes worn by James Harris Steel were the ones in which his father, Capt. Steel, had been baptized.

The god parents were Capt. and Mrs. John M. Tamraz of Fort Benning and Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Hutchins of Vancouver Barracks, Washington. Capt. and Mrs. Steel acted as proxy for Capt. and Mrs. Hutchins,

James Harris Steel is surrounded by an unusual military family, for not only is his father a soldier, but his wee brother and sister are adopted members of famous infantry units. Catherine, the eldest child, was made a daugher of the 35th Infantry in Nogales, Arizona, in 1916, and Charles was adopted as a son of the 14th Infantry in Panama in 1924.

Among those present were: Col. and Mrs. Wait C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Jr., Maj. and Mrs. Butcher, Maj. and Mrs. Young, Capt. and Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Hebbard, Capt. and Mrs. Ballard, Capt. and Mrs. Jenna, Capt. and Mrs. Lyons, Capt. and Mrs. Gwynn, Capt. and Mrs. Newton, Miss Hellen, Capt. and Mrs. Hamblen, Maj. and Mrs. Ladd, Capt. and Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Baird, Lt .and Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Kingman, Lt. and Mrs. Black, Lt. and Mrs. MacKie, Mrs. Mackie, Sr., Lt. and rs. Curren, Mr. Fitz Webbre.

Exciting Basketball Game

For those who were fortunate enough to see it, the basketball game last Friday between Cos. C. and G, 24th Inf., contained every possible thrill. Giving one of the finest exhibitions of basket ball seen on the 24th Inf. courts this year the two companies repeaedly battled each other to a tie. At the end of the first half the score stood 10 to 9 in favor of G Co. When tmie was up for the game the score was 12 to 12. At the end of the fice-minute extra period called to break the tie the board showed 14 to 14. The spectators about this time were as excited as the players and were doing fully as much jumping. The referee announced a second five minute period. After a desperate struggle Co. C won by the score of 1 7to 14. The winning of this game entitles Co. C to play Co. E for the first half regimental championship. This game will take place next Saturday at the basket ball courts of the 24th Inf.

The lineup of the two teams on last Friday was as follows:

Co. C—Harris, Carter, Heard, Coaxum, Bastine.

Co. G—Williams, Stokes, Trammel, Powell, Rachel.

Substitutes—White for Harris, Baker for Coaxum.

Regimental Basketball Games

The 24th Infantry regimental basketball team has some excellent games scheduled for the first week in January.

On Monday, Jan. 2nd, they play the colored Y. M. C. A. of Columbus at the Post Gymnasium. On Wednesday, Jan. 4th, they play Morehouse University at Atlanta. On Thursday, following the Infantry School game they will play the Morris Brown University of Atlanta.

Drill Competition of the 24th Infantry

On Thursday, December 22nd, the 24th Infantry held their close order drill competition for the year 1927 on the 24th Inf. drill field.

In the presence of the Commanding Orfficer, Col. Wait C. Johnson, officers of the regiment and guests, platoons representing the rifle companies of the regiment and two consolidated companies made up of the three rifle companies of each battalion acting as platoons, executed in turn the movements directed by the 29th Infantry judges under Capt. Rustemeyer.

Considering the fact that the 24th Infantry has but a limited opportunity to perfect itself in drill, the precision with which the varied movements were executed, the soldierly bearing of the men of the different units, were worthy of the highest commendation.

The competition was so keen that the judges had the greatest difficulty in choosing the winners. Their final selection met the general approval of those witnessing the performance, though it was recognized that in the platoon drill the cmpanies of the 1st Battalion had a more difficult task in competing with six or seven squads to their platoon against four in the 2nd Battalion. There were those, too, who considered that the forty or so pounds that Capts. Lyons, Paynter and Steele had to concede to Capts. Winfield, Steward and Helsley had considerable weight in the matter. The writer is of the opinion that the boots and spurs worn by the officers of the 2nd Battalion had a marked effect, at least they fascinated him.

The winners in the platoon competition were:

1st Place—Company E, commanded by Capt. R. M. Winfield.

2nd Place—Company F, commanded by Capt. E. M. E. Steward.

3rd Place—Company A, commanded by Capt. E. F. Paynter.

In the consolidated company drill, the 2nd Battalion, Major Butcher, Battalion Commander, was the winner. The companies representing platoons were commanded by Capts. Steward and Helsley and Lt. Stetler. The company was drilled by Capt. R. W. Winfield.

Pennants inscribed with the event will be presented to the winning units by the Commanding Officer, Col. Wait C. Johnson.

Company "G"

The Yuletide was greatly enjoyed by this company. For Xmas dinner we had our regimental executive officer, Major C. E. Coates and family, Captain and Mrs. A. B. Helsley and guests and the members of the company and their families. An orchestra from the Band rendered some of the latest jazz music while the guests enjoyed the good food prepared by the Mess Sergeant, Fred Wright.

Mcnographs

The officers, having recuperated from the strenuous holidays season will again resume the monographs. The schedule for the remainder of the lectures is as follows:

Jan. 6: Vicksburg Campaign, Lieut. MacKie.

Jan. 9: Greece in the World War, Capt. Jenna.

Jan. 13: Battle of Cantigny, Lieut. Sanders.

Hdqrs. Company

Pvt. First Class Grandison C. Barnett is back from his ten-day furlough. He evidently enjoyed it, for he wasn't seen about the company until pay day.

Pvt. James A. Franklin, the future lawyer, loked at the calendar and said, "it won't be long now." Franklin has about two weeks to do and from all indications he is quite home sick for the Lone Star State.

Lucius McFadden is spending a thirty-day furlough with his people at Sumpter, South Carolina.

Staff Sergeant Henry Moore is back with us after taking a short furlough.

Sergeant William E. Davis has moved his family from the city. He is now living in Cashtown.

Pvts. Rodgers and Beasley are getting to be short timers. They are Tennessee boys.

Daughter of Former Commander of 29th Infantry Married to Benning Officer on December 23.

Miss Elizabeth Lucille Gowen, a daughter of Col. and Mrs. James B. Gowen, of Fort Hayes, was united in marriage to Lieut. Richard Givens Prather, of Fort Benning, Ga., at a military wedding, which took place Friday evening, December 23, at 8.30 in the Officers' Club at Fort Hayes.

Christmas wreaths hung from the walls of the club and the improvised altar was made of palms and white roses. Ropes of laurel and holly marked the aisle down which the bridal party passed.

Rev. Father Albert O'Brien, O. P. of St. Patrick's church, read the nuptial service in the presence of 150 guests.

The Fort Hayes orchestra played for the wedding, the program including "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and the wedding march.

Quaint Briday Veil

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin period gown embroidered throughout in a heavy design of silver. Her veil of old lace held with orange blossoms has been treasured in the family of her mother's people for several generations. She carried white roses showered with lilies of the valley. Rhinestone buckles trimmed her white satin slippers.

Miss Mildred Gowen, as maid of honor for her sister, wore chiffon which shaded from a light yellow to a deep orange. The frock was a straight line model ornamented at one side with an orange and black flower. With this she wore gold colored slippers and stockings and she carried yellow roses.

Mrs. Gowen, mother of the bride, wore black velvet with cloth of silver and rhinestone trimmings. She wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Lieut. Prather's brother, Mr. Logan Prather, who was his best man, and Mr. Ladd, of Louisville, a close friend, were guests from out-of-town. A reception and dance followed the ceremony.

The bride attended Notre Dame academy at Baltimore, Md., for two years. Lieut. Prather was graduated from the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., in 1924. He will take his bride to Fort Benning, Ga., to live, after a trip of a few days to Chicago and a visit in Hickman, Ky., with the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Prather.—5th Corps News.

Lieut. and Mrs. Prather are now at home to their friends at 1100 5th avenue, Columbus, Ga.

A GOLFER'S PRAYER

(By Sgt. W. R. Reynolds)

Oh, God of Golf, I pray to thee,
To help me make a seventy three,
From day to day, I swing my clubs,
But still I'm classed as just a dub,
And though I striv efor birdie threes
I usually take an eight from tee,
While Bobby Jones and Ouimet,
Make less than par, and hardly sweat,
For riches others pray to thee,
And some a President would be,
I do not ask to see my name,
Or statue, in the Hall of Fame,
But ere my race on earth is run,
Please let me make, a hole-in-one.

Christmas was a happy time for the school children. They were delighted to see how wonderful their renovated toys looked when the Salvation Army called for them Thursday morning.

Instead of the usual Christmas party Captain Doll invited them to the theater to see some delightful Christmas pictures. The children sang their Christmas Carols and received boxes of goodies.

Do you think you can support my daughter in the way she has been brought up?

No, but she promised to give up drinking and gambling!

FOOTBALL AS A SPORT

The disagreement between the Army and Navy authorities which threatens the annual football game between the two institutions serves to emphasize the need of a new attitude toward intercollegiate sport. The break has come because the Army has refused to agree to a rule which would limit varsity playing to three years, whether the years were spent on a college team or on an academy team. The Navy, which has this three-year rule, feels it is at a disadvantage.

We do not hesitate to place ourselves in support of the Army's position. As we have said on several occasions, we believe that football should be played for healthful fun and recreation and that so long as a player maintains a high academic standing he should be eligible for the varsity team. In the case of the Army and Navy the question of the academic standing of the athletes does not arise, as every student must maintain an exceptionally high standard.

All through the country there seems to be an awakening to the fact that all is not well in the amateur ranks, especially in the colleges. An old Yale captain has come forward with the suggestion that Yale go back to the system which worked so well during the long reign of the late Walter Camp. In those days the varsity captain was the real dictator, usually selecting as the coach the captain of the previous year's team, with Mr. Camp as general director of coaches. It was an excellent system because it put the responsibility largely on the undergraduates, where it belongs if football is to bring out the best qualities of the players. This question of coaches reaches to the very bottom of intercollegiate sports. The coach should teach the players all he knows about the tactics and strategy of football and then leave them free to work out their own problems while in actual competition. There is much to be said, incidentally, in favor of the suggestion that the coach should take a seat in the grandstand during the game instead of giving almost constant first aid from a place on the sidelines.

Each day brings fresh instances of the growing dissatisfaction with the system that has grown up in the last twenty years. There is a feeling that sports are for the students and that management and control should be largely in their hands. What we want is the true amateur spirit, calling for hard, clean play for the fun of competition.—N. Y. Herald-Tribune.

GUM-DIPPED TIRES

Firestone Tires wear longer, because every fiber of every cord is insulated with rubber, as a result of the Gum-Dipping process.

This practically eliminates internal friction, the greatest enemy of long tire-life in ordinary tires.

ENTHUSIASM GREETS NEW CHEVROLET FEATURES

New Cars Will Be on Display at Fort Benning Tomorrow

Wildfire enthusiasm kindled throughout the country last week when the new Chevrolet line for 1928 went on display took particular account of the many mechanical innovations embodied in the new car.

Thousands who viewed the new models noted that the wheelbase was increased and bodies made roomier and more beautiful, also that the meechanical features had been developed to a measure heretofore unknown in the low price class.

Outstanding developments in the engine and chassis that received widespread endorsement were the increased speed and power of the new car, easier steering, four wheel brakes of new design, shock absorber springs marking an advanced trend toward riding comfort, and smoother engine performance.

The last mentioned features was achieved by the use of constant clearance alloy "invar strut" pistons which make for smoother, more efficient motor performance. Further contributions toward this end were gained by raising the compression ratio and by stepping up the valve lifts. Through these changes maximum power is developed.

Other changes in the engine are the addition of a breathing system to eliminate the annoyance of engine fumes; a new two-port exhaust, and a silencing engine enclosure.

The four-wheel brakes are of non-locking design—the product of Chevrolet laboratories plus the facilities of General Motors laboratories and proving grounds. Front brakes are two-shoe unenergized internals, while the rear brakes are the energized external, self wrapping type. Front and rear brakes have been proportioned to prevent side drag or pull. Each brake has an individual adjustment at the wheels while "stops" have been provided to make the adjustment process especially easy. Easy initial pedal application throws the front brakes into action. Further application throws front brakes harder into action and also brings the rear brakes into full play, so that it is possible to slide the rear wheels on dry pavement by using full pressure bu tnot the front wheels.

The effect of this, according to Chevrolet engineers is to get uniform wear on the brake lining.

The springs also are of extraordinary interest. Realizing that all uncomfortable spring action is the result of rebound after striking a bump, Chevrolet engineers set about to increase the friction of the springs and thus check the rebound.

This end was achieved by equipping the springs with special rebound checks. Two checks are on each spring located half way between the center spring shackle and the spring end. These rebound checks are inverted bow shaped steel leaves assembled under high pressure against the top of the spring leaf, the ends pressing against the top of the leaf, increasing the resistance.

So much has the spring friction been increased by this new device that the car is said to ried 50 per cent better than with old type springs. The rebound checks also offer greater resistance to bumps.

Greater ease of steering was made possible by adopting a ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism, including ball bearings in the steering knuckles, and by increasing the steering ratio from 8 to 9:5 to 1. The four inch increase in wheelbase contributes greatly to the riding quality of the car, with less pitching and better road holding ability.

The front axle has been enlarged and strengthened to accommodate the new brake attachment. A fan shroud has been added for mode efficient cooling, and a host of other details combine to make the Chevrolet for 1928 the best performing, most efficient and dependable mechanical unit ever built by the company.

TURKEY SERVED ON ARMY TRANSPORTS

Each Trooper for Overseas Service to Have 3 Pounds for His Share

A consignment of 2,200 pounds of turkey added to the stores o fthe U. S. A. Transport St. Mihiel, sailing at noon Wednesday from the army supply base in Brooklyn with 750 replacement trops for overseas service in China, the Philippines and Hawaii, promises the embarking soldiers a merrier Christmas on the high seas than their buddies will enjoy on dry land.

The individual share of each soldier aboard the St. Mihiel will be almost three pounds of turkey, as against a pound and three-quarters issued in garrison and forts.

Old-timers, familiar with the usual ratio of casualties among recruits after a day of stormy weather, are confidently expecting still larger portions being available when they sit down to the Yuletide feast. Besides the turkey, the commissary of the St. Mihiel will also hold ample supplies of plum pudding, fruits, nuts, and other "fixin's."

Simultaneous with the arrival of these experts, an entire carload of scenery was received from Washington by the Quartermatser, Fort Benning. The equipment of the stage is being pushed rapidly and it is expected that all installations will be completed before the 20th of this month.

The people of Fort Benning consider themselves extremely fortunate in having the service of these gentlemen who have been in the theater business the greater part of their lives. When their work is complete dit may well be assumed that Fort Benning will have the finest stage of any Post in the United States Army.

NEW STAGE WILL BE DEDICATED ON JANUARY 27

The announcement last week to the effect that the dedication of the new stage at the Main Theater would take place next Friday night with a program by the Gless and Dramatic Clubs was in error due to the fact that because of the holiday season much of the work on the stage was curtailed.

The opening exercises according to present plans, will be held on January 27 and 28 with operettas and plays by the above clubs.

Detailed information will appear in the News in the near future.

Sergeant Gannon entertained with an O'possum hunt one day last week. Result: No invitations, one foot race and one dead o'possum.

When is a man dangerous to have around? No, thsi is no "Sex Appeal," story. When a man picks up a railroad track and shakes off the ties, we claim he's dangerous—that's HUDGINS.

We had a real nice Xmas and a fine dinner, but our pleasure was diminished by the absence of our famous "bald-headed parson." We heard many sighs and laments, which we are lead to believe spring from the heartache caused by the departure, with our beloved, of raiment of various kinds, to say nothing of the amount of legal tender that vanished with him. To Edwards, Snow & Company we extend our sincere sympathy.

Corporal Hood has developed an artistic trait. His equipment looks like a "Stage Dor John," on a "First Night," playing Santa Claus to the leading lady.

Flippo was on guard one of these cold nights, and sad to relate, his mustache was frozen off. Too bad Flippo—your groming is all wasted.

Well, the New Year is here. Good reslutions have been made and most of them broken. We wish everyone a successful 1928.

I. S. D. NOTES

Here's everything good for 1928!

The Detachment has made rapid strides during 1927. Here we are in a New Area that excells the old one in comfort, looks and sanitation. Our Mess is better and our Recreation Room is the envy of all men from other outfits that visit us. And last but not least—the Major we hear is getting more kind hearted with time.

Have you noticed how much better the pictures at the theaters have gotten during the year? And the dances every week at the Service Club? And the assortment of books at the Library improved. Our tall Uncle is a pretty good fellow after all.

Pfister drew $13.00 pay day and asked Bow-Wow what the piece of yellow paper with a one and a zero behind it meant.

The following promotions have been made in the Detachment and congratulations are in order. Corporal Charles E. Turner to be a Sergeant; Privates First Class to be Corporals: Raymond G. Enzeman, Nevel S. Gilreath, William Parker, and Hubert Sensing.

Many will be glad to know that "Jiggs" is coming back to the I. S. D.

The coming fight between DePratt and Ptomey should prove plenty interesting. Get your tickets early. They are turned back from the Orderly Room at 3:30 P. M. on the day of the fight.

A LITTLE BIT OF HISTORY

Something For Which the Student Officers Should Be Duly Thankful

The issue of January 2nd, 1925, of The Infantry School News carried the following article which will be of interest particularly to student officers who make the daily trip to and from Columbus:

If old Jupiter Pluvius will tighten up on the heavenly rain valves and give the Campbell Construction Company something like an even break, the new Benning-Columbus highway will be completed by February 15th according to announcements made this week.

Only about one mile remains to be paved and after allowing for sufficient time for the surface to harden, the road shoud be ready for traffic within six weeks. This anouncement will be greeted with much gusto by those who have waited dayss and years for the completion of the much talked of highway.

The spring breaking, nerve racking, automobile wrecking road which for five years has been the connecting link between Columbus and Fort Benning will pass into history at that time and the two communities brought much closer together by nine miles of real honest to goodness highway.

Paving of this road has for years been a muchly mooted subject. Why the job was not undertaken before no one seems to know, but the fact remains that it was not.

The inhabitants of Fort Benning have struggled for years over a road which alternated between a sea of dust and morass of mud. More automobiles have been sent to the junk heap on the old road than on any other nine miles of road in the history of the world.

However, thanks to the county of Muscogee who paid one-half of the cost and to the federal aid program for the other half, the new road is very near a reality.

This news will be welcomed by the citizens of Columbus and those who dwell on the hills of Benning. In fact every one will be glad to hear it.

GENERAL IMMELL PRAISED BY WAR COLLEGE

Is Student At Infantry School

Washington—The completion of a 40-day course in Administrative Work by a class of 85 regular army officers and a small selected group of National Guard commanders, at the Army War College, brought added recognition and high praise to the Adjutant General of Wisconsin's citizen soldiery, General Ralph M. Immell.

General Immell was detailed to the War College by Hanford McNider, Assistant Secretary of War, following a tour of inspection of National Guard establishments made by him this summer. In his official report to the President and Secretary of War Davis, Mr. McNider declared that the Badger Guard was the finest organization in the country. He lauded, particularly, its efficiency, high morale, and General Immell's leadership and administration.

Clerk: Yes, but it will shrink considerably.

Girl: I'll take it.

SERVICE CO., 24th INFANTRY

The enlisted men of the Service Company, 24th Infantry, were the recipients of a very nice Christmas gift in the form of cigarettes from the 1927-28 Ladies Riding Classes, at The Infantry School Stables.

All of the men greatly appreciate the kind thoughtfulness of the ladies and will strive during the coming year to serve them to the very best of their ability.

Private Alton Beavers has returned from Atlanta, Ga., and will bet any one in the company that could not find any peaches on Peachtree Street last Sunday morning.

The following named men of this organization will now wear a boyish bob due to the fact that they have been requested to report fro clipping, Private Nisby, better known as sleeping beauty, and Private Woods, the polo king.

The Top Kick states that somebody is wrong, they say what you do on New Year's day you will be doing it all the year. He state sthat he will never leave Fort Benning in January any more. His trips will start about July and August. He says ask the Weather Man.

THE EDITOR'S LAMENT

Tennyson and Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $65,000—that's Genius. There are some men who can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $6,000,000—that's Capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold, stamp upon it an "eagle bird" (even with bloomers) and make ti wrth $20—that's Money. A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $1,000—that's Skill. There is a man in St. Louis who can take a 50-cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth several hundred dollars—that's Art. A merchant can take an article worth 75 cents and sell it for $1—that's Business. A woman can purchase a 75-cent hat, but prefers one that costs $27— that's Foolishness. A ditch digger wrks ten hours a day and handles several tons of earth for $1.25—that's Labor. The author of this can write a cheque for $90,000,000, but it wouldn't be worth a dime—that's Tough.

(Service News).

In honor of a recent visit paid to his factory by a party of distinguished Englishmen a well-known Detroit automobile manufacturer had a complete car assembled in something like seven minutes.

Some weeks after this feat was heralded in the daily papers the phone at the plant rang vigorously. "It is true that you assembled a car in seven minutes at your factory?" the voice asked.

"Yes," came the reply. "Why?"

"Oh, nothing," said the calm inquirer, "only I've got the car."—Laughter.

WILLIE PTOMEY WINS OVER RED WILSON BY KAO IN 3RD ROUND IN MAIN GO AT FT. BENNING LAST THURS. NIGHT

A good sized crowd of Columbus and Fort Benning fight fans saw Sgt. Willie Ptomey, Camp Meade middleweight, knock out Red Wilson of Montgomery in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here Thursday night, Dec. 28th.

Wilson was no match for the soldier battler. After doubling Wilson up with a fierce two handed boy attack in the third round, Ptomey ended matters when he smashed a left hook to the button. It was a clean Kao, Wilson being out for two minutes.

The three-round preliminaries were the main feature o fthe card. Young Pieters of the 29th Inf. and Blondie Parker of the Green Cord unit, put on the best show of the evening, fighting three fast and furious rounds to a draw. Phillips of the Detachmenteers and Asher of the Demonstrationist fought three rounds to a draw verdict. Mysterious Billy Smith threw a wet blanket over Maud Farley's hopes for a crack at Tunney, when he caused Mr. Farley to count the twinkling stars for the count of nine twice in the third round.

"Heap Big Chief" Ryan failed to scalp "Bull" Montondon of the Terrible Tanks ,but hopes to be more successful next time.

Kennedy, ex-heavyweight champion of the Swiss Navy, was Kaoed in the first round by Mraquette of the 29th Infantry.

Kid Green from the 29th Inf. gave Thompson of Columbus a nice drubbing for the decision in their there-round argument.

"Goat" Brault of the footsloggers now believes in Santa, his fight being handed him on a silver platter. He kaoed Kid Kurlie in just twelve seconds.

SPORTOPICS

(By Al)

The young aspirants to the sock and swat game that have been developed here in the past six months are now ready to hold their own with any amateur fighters in the country.

First several Garrison titles have got to be settled. Asher, the present amateur bantam ruler, has got to settle the matter with Jackie Phillips of the Green Cord outfit. In a slam, bang three-round affair on the night of the Ptomey - Wilson, Phillips held the Doughboy to a close draw decision.

Blondie Parker, of the Detachmenteers, and Young Pieters, of the Demonstrationist, are tied for honors in the welterweight class.

These boys are complaining that three rounds is not sufficient to settle these affairs, and they have made a mutual agreement to go the six round route on the DePratt-Ptomey card next Thursday night, if it can be arranged.

Still we wonder when some one will get busy and start things buzzing toward a Post Bowling Alley. There are many followers of the game here and this favorite indoor pastime would make a great hit with the personnel here.

What is the matter with Battling J. D.? Since he returned to Benning he has not shown his face among the wearers of the cauliflower ears.

"Doctor Sleepy" McCullough, of the Hoss Doctors, flings down the gauntlet to one "Slim" Moore, of the Footsloggers, for a finish fight on the next card. Moore took a close decision from "Doc" in their first meeting.

pass but it was intercepted by Bennett of the Tanks. The game ended a moment later with the ball in Tank possession.

The Argument

If the game did nothing else it furnished material for an argument which will unquestionably rage with greater fury than that over the much debated "long count" at Chicago. When, forty years from now, police are called on to separate two decrepit and tottering old men engaged in mortal combat, it will probably be learned that the causus belli was whether "Fat" Franz scored a touchdown in the dying moments of yesterday's game, as the officials said he didn't, or whether Fat Franz didn't score a touchdown in that same ultimate period, but merely recovered a fumbled punt, as the officials said he did.

Senile gentlemen who served with the Second Battalion of the Twenty-ninth Infantry will tell their sons, and grandsons, of the memorable occasion on which the beloved "Kellys" were denied at least a tie with the Terrible Tanks by the pitiable incompetency or even the unspeakable scoundrelism of the officials.

And all this because the rule makers say that a fumbled punt may be recovered b ythe kicking team, but that the ball may not be advanced beyond the spot of its recovery. But—aye, there's the rub—if the receiver of the punt gets the ball into his possession and under complete control and then fumbles—or muffs or what have you—the opponents may not only recover the ball, but may run with it.

Facts n the Case

Now to apply these principles to the case at hand. It's the Bellys' ball on their own 30-yard line, first down. There is only a minute to play. Kjelstrom drops back, as the Doughboys line up in punt formation. The stands, the Tankers, probably the officials, think that the Kel will pass or run. A kick is the most unlikely play in the category, for the Second Bats are behind and time is fleeting. But with a strong wind at his back Kjelstrom boots the ball far down the field and far over the head of the surprised Sweeney, Tank safety man.

Sweeney Touches Ball

Sweenie runs back, circles the bounding pigskin and, surrounded by an eager horde of Infantrymen, attempts to scoop the bounding oval into his arms. He juggles it, still on the dead run. Perhaps he takes a step or two, before a vengeful Kelly tackles viciously. Down goes Weenie in a heap, the ball bouncing merrily out of his arms. Fat Franz, ever on the alert, grabs it and escorts it over the goal line, as the North stands break into paeans of joy. Your correspondent, whose sympathies are with the Kellys, remarks glomily to his neighbor, "He can't score on that." This remark is made gloomily because it isn't a tuchdown, in your correspondent's opinion, althuogh he wishes it were.

The Rule

At once the argument is on. Did Sweeney have the oall in his possession and control, or didn't he? If he did Franz has scored a touchdown, if he didn't the ball belongs to the Second Battalion at the point where Franz recovered it, for the rule, Section 5 of Rule XVIII says, "A player who is off-side is put onside when the ball touches an opponent, but when a kicked ball other than a free kick is legally recovered by the kicker's side, before it has passed into the possession and control of the other side, the ball shall be declared dead at the point of recovery."

Captain K. L. Berry, a thoroughly competent and experienced official, ruled that the ball had not come into Sweeney's possession and control. Captain Berry was in position to see the play. Captain Berry's integrity is unimpeachable. The ruling was a hard blow to the Second Battalion supporers, but it was in accordance with the rules of the game as they are now written.

A plague on such a rule, perhaps, but there it is, and all the argument about it will not wipe out a line of it. At all event, Captain Berry called it as he saw it—and as many others including your correspondent saw it—and no man can do more.

COMPANY C OF THE COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE BREAKS INTO PRINT

Greetings! Comrades of Company C, and any others who care to accept our greetings. This newly incubated column is a holiday surprise prepared for you by Major Ryder.

* * *

Our company supervisor, looked upon the literary effort sof our friend Captain B of Company B and found them good. But he, like all of us, became aware of the utter impossibility of a B Company man, representing in the public prints, not only his own company, but in addition attempting the enormous and delicate job of upholding the traditions of Company C.

* * *

Let us say right here, we think Captain Bollenbeck has done splendidly. His literary merits none will deny. But, there have lately been mutterings and signs of brewing trouble among those nominated by Captain B—for his own protection we will not mention his name—to receive for Christmas a dozen bottle of Herpicide.

* * *

The ringleader of this rebellion is Captain Sherman. Yes, none other. But moreover he is quite loudly seconded by that small but mighty man, that Stephen A. Douglas among officers, who at some time in his long military career, must have been innoculated, through error, with a graphanola needle. Three guesses.

* * *

The second prize will be a copy, printed in Braille and bound in the skin of a wild ass, of Captain Bernard Butler McMahon's latest joke book. The one which concludes with that ancient Siberian folk tale about—stop me if you have heard it—the patriarch on the beach who, when asked by a flapper in a one half piece bathing suit how old he was, answered in an excited but melancholy voice, "eighty eight, gosh dern it."

* * *

We accepted the conducting of this column, temporarily, as the result of a remark made by Winnerberg, in a melancholy moment, that nowadays a man didn't have to know anything because everybody else knew it all. This reactionary thought may have been evolved from overhearing the quiet discussion the other day between Porter and Smith, O. S., on how the army should be managed, if at all.

* * *

Mind, we only said may have been, and if attacked we will take that back and deny everything. But what we started out to say was, that this business was accepted on the strength of Winnerberg's notion, i. e., that we didn't have to know anything about running a column because everybody would chip in and help. So everybody from Ashurst, William W., to Yarborough, LeRoy W., come across with a few wise cracks, limericks or what have you. By thus indicating your interest you will be grante dimmunity from dirty digs. But those who don't contribute—Oh Boy!

* * *

All contributions will be granted freedom from censorship except those of Carmine Williams and Lord LeV., Earl of Lyons. Their contributions will be gladly received, but as a precaution, will be forwarded to the street cleaning department for censor.

Quartermaster Corps

Detachment, Quartermaster Corps

Saint Nicholas has been here, the turkey has been digested, and Christmas, with all its cheer is about to pass into history. Bill Spears has convinced the world that he is the best quarterback of them all, and Tunney still remains the world champion—not having met up with Monsieur Dempsey during the holidays. Last but not least, the Quartermaster Corps is doing its stuff right along. And enjoying the holidays just the same, thank you.

Wonder is the Chrysler coupe calling daily at the post office for mail or her male. And wonder who she is? Me thinks ye scribe hears wedding bells tinkling in the not-far-distant future.

Quite a few of our members are getting to be short timers and are filling the air nightly around the barracks with word pictures of their coming civil life. But ye correspondent has a hunch that the majority will be here next year with another hitch under their belts and the memories of a wonderful furlough spent on their finals and reenlistment bonus. For instance, Dyals, Worth, Keigley, Kirksey, Trepanier, Thomas, Suttles, Reynolds and Wilson, all of which are quite an asset to any organization, and we think and hope their names will appear on the next Christmas roster.

Private Luther L. Davis and Isaac N. Dyals are on the sick list at present. We wish to extend them our sympathy, and hope that Luther and Ike will soon be with us again.

Remember, please, that the Q. M. is on the job during the holidays, as same as ever. If in trouble, call "Fire!" "Oh Doctor!," or The Q. M.!

29TH INF.

Company "E"

How was Christmas with everybody? Fine I am sure. This outfit had a swell time. First was chow and then Old Santa Claus (Corp. Boling) gave each member of this company a present. Every one thanked him and liked the way things went over. Corp. Boling decorated our mess hall and it sure looked swell. Then came the big time, DINNER. I want to tell you it sure was some meal. Although we had a late one, but we were to have our Company Commander to dine with us and as he, Capt. Rutledge, was away at the noon hour, we were detained for a while and dinner was not served until 2 P. M. Our mess Sgt. Buford sure knows his turkey. The meal he put out that day was a real feed and I think all the men that had lunch with us will agree with me. Thanks Uncle Zed and also the cooks should be highly praised in their effort to get this thing over right. We will leave Christmas go now as it has passed, and read a line or two about the company affairs. We have a big bunch of men spending the holidays at home and we sure wish them a good time. The football game, 2nd Batts and Tanks, "Gee' I almost forgot that. Did you notice how Company "E" put on the comedy after the first half? The men want to thank Lt. Haynes for helping them put it over.

Pfc. Jones, L. D., is back off thirty days furlough just in time to start running the bayonet course. Let's go on that gang by making 100 per cent. J. R. H.

FOREIGN SERVICE FOR INFANTRY OFFICERS

January Issue of Infantry Journal Gves Dope for Doughboy Officers

Officers of the infantry who anticipate foreign service for the year 1928 may do well to study the information given in the Januray issue of the Infantry Journal, in which is stated the number and probabilities for officers assignment to foreign service this year. The article is as follows:

"About 259 infantry officers will be sent on foreign service during the calendar year 1928. Any extensions of tours of officers now on foreign service, the number of which cannot be foreseen, will, of course, decrease the foreign service details correspondingly. For future foreign service the officers are placed in groups in accordance with the amount of past foreign service credit. When it is necessary to send officers to foreign service they are selected from within these groups rather than in strict accordance with the length of foreign service credit. This allows latitude in preventing changes of station before completion of normal periods of duty. The number of officers in each grade who will go to foreign service in 1928, with the approximate amount of foreign service, is:

Colonels, 4, 6 to 7 years.
Lieutenant Colonels, 3, 2 to 4 years.
Majors, 18, 1 to 2 years.
Captains, 101, ½ to 2 years.
First Lieutenants, 58, ½ to 1½ years.
Second Lieutenants, 75, 0 to ½ years.

The records indicate that there are enough captains with less than 18 months service to fill all foreign service vacancies in that grade to include 1930.

MAJOR MILLER PRESENTS CUP TO WINNING TEAM

The winning teams of the 15th Tank Battalion football league, Campanies A and Headquarters, were presented with cups yesterday morning by the battalion commander, Major E. S. Miller. These companies tied for the battalion championship after playing two games, neither team able to cross the goal line. Major Miller complimented the players of both teams on the sportsmanship displayed on the gridiron. After the tie games it was decided to present each team with a cup, it being considered useless to play more games for the winner.

The cups were presented by the 15th Tank Weekly and headquarters of the batalion.

BENNING'S NEW STAGE

The New Stage Will Be Finest in the South

Upon completion of the new stage of the Main Theater, Fort Benning will be the proud possessor of the finest stage in the South and one of the best in the United States. The only known stage combination in America superior to the new stage is that of the Theater Guild in New York.

The layout, all on one level, is compact and comfortable.

A glance at the following dimensions will convince the most skeptical that we have a real "sure enough" stage:

Stage Floor—65 feet wide, 40 feet deep.

Gridiron—43 feet above stage floor.

Proscenium Arch—32 feet wide, 18 feet high.

Off the stage in front are two large dressing rooms for stars. In the rear of the stage isa plant, on the level or the stage, containing:

One chorus dressing room 35x15 ft. (women).

One chorus dressing room 20x15 ft. (men).

Three star's rooms, 10x15 feet each.

A Green Room 40x25 feet, arranged with tackle and lights for use as a studio for making and painting sets, also for rehearsals.

A carpenter shop, wherein the stage carpenter can be as exclusive or inebriated as he wishes and no one can say him "Nay."

A small property room which will be a joy forever to old "Props."

Beneath the stage is a library and musicians room—little, maybe, but oh my! an orchestra of thirty-five pieces (including field pieces) will not be cramped.

Above the dressing rooms in rear, are two huge property rooms and a gallery for storing drops where even the rats cannot disturb them.

Through the studio and onto the stage is a driveway ten feet wide over which Liberty trucks can drive with any loads to be deposited on the stage or in the dressing rooms, without any more handling from truck to floor. Hannibal could have lost his entire flock of elephants in the place and avoided worrying a single person in Jericho.

While the stage is not the largest in the world, it is far from the smallest. It can easily handle anything in the way of a show that the Central of Georgia can bring down here.

Although the gridiron is only 43 feet above the floor—structural difficulties in raising the roof trusses (G. I., O. D. or name them yourself) that were intended for airplane hangars and not theaters, limited the height overhead—however it can handle any kind of scenery without trouble.

The electrical installations call for a maximum safe load of 50,000 watts. The Century Theater in New York never uses over 42,000—it costs too much.

The footlights are the disappearing type with cvers.

We must not forget the chorus nor the chorines. The dressing room for the gentlemen will accommodate twenty-four without crowding. Each has a comfortable portion of a well lighted and mirrored dressing table and enough coat hooks to keep him off of the floor. A modern shower completes the equipment.

The "chorines" can number thirty-six and still not feel like the proverbial sardines. And the men did not receive all the mirrors, for each can have her own individual mirror at the dressing table.

A ceiling to be placed over the entire auditorium will put the theater in a class with Brigham Young's playhouse salted down in Utah for acoustics.

The glaring house lights now among the sparrows' roost will be replaced with lights on the walls for these roosts will be hidden by the new ceiling.

The director of the Glee Club and Sgt. O'Neal can pack their air rifles and we in the audience shall no longer feel like a perfect ending of "Rookies."

The striking of the old temporary stage leaves room for 244 aditional seats in the auditorium each one of which is "the best in the house."

Dedication

The new stage will be dedicated on January 27 and 28th, 1928 (Friday and Saturday) by a double bill presented by the Infantry School Glee and Dramatic Clubs. The Glee Club presenting Gilbert & Sullivan's burlesque operetta, "Trial by Jury," and Dramatic Club staging the compelling, gripping dramatic playlet "Drums of Oude." The former takes about fifty-five minutes while the playlet requires about one hour to present.

Admission

Within the next few days each member of the Dramatic and Glee Clubs will be mailed (free of charge) one ticket which can be exchanged for a reserved seat at the theater or the Officers Club. Joint membership in both clubs entitles the member to but one ticket, and not one from each club. The general public will be admitted by tickets which will be placed on sale within the next few days at the Officers' Club. The date tickets are placed on sale and a schedule of prices will be announced later in the Daily Bulletin.

WISCONSIN OFFICERS HONOR GENERAL IMMEL

Wisconsin officers on duty at Ft. Benning honored Brigadier General Ralph H. Immel, adjutant general of Wisconsin, and Lt. Col. Forest H. Himes, 127th Infantry, W. N. G., with a dinner at the Ralston Hotel Thursday evening. Attending were Captains Samuel B. Wiener, Joseph W. Bollenbeck, James R. Urquhart, Michael E. Halloran, Earl F. Paynter, Theodore A. Baumeister, First Lieutenant Raymond MacDonald. A special program contained the Wisconsin state seal and 32nd Division insignia.

After the dinner, which was accompanied by the singing of Wisconsin songs, the post fight show was taken in.

29th INEANTRY HELD ANNUAL MAT CONTEST LAST MONDAY NIGHT

First Bats Win Four Out of Six Events; Vance Won Heavyweight Contest Over Marquette.

The large crowd of spectators who filled the 29th Infantry Theatre last Monday night were given a rare treat when the wrestling teams of the First and Second Battalions of the 29th Infantry met to settle their annual dispute as o the supremacy in this species of assault and battery.

Bouts in six classes were held, four of them being won by the First Battalion in an elimination series to determine the wrestling championship in the regiment. All of them pleased the large crowd, while men from each organization cheered and called on their favorites to win.

The first event, the 124 pound class, between Cook of the First Bats, and Alexander of the Second, was more or less tame compared wih some of the other bouts of the evening, and was won by a time advantage by Alexander.

The second match, 135 pound class, between Busse of the First Bats, and Walker of the Second Bats, was by far the best of the evening, and was decided only after two extra sessions. Each man displayed strength and skill by far superior to that of the usual amateur bout. Neither man in the first session was able to gain an advantage or hold the other for more than a few seconds at a time before the other would be out of his grasp. The bout was finally won by Busse on a time advantage.

The third match, 145 pound class, between Hall of the 1st Bats, and Payne of the Second Bats, could hardly be called a match, as the affair had hardly gotten underway when the red thatched soldier pinned Hall's shoulders to the mat.

In the 150 pound class Vannatta, of the 1st Bats, last year's champion, won over Prevat after a hard fight.

Elkins of the 1st Bats, won over Walinski n the 160 pound class, taking the first fall in one minute.

The heavyweight class was contested between Vance of the 1st Bats, and Marquette of boxing and football fame of the Second Bats. Vance was awarded the decision after a hard struggle.

The winners of Monday night's matches will meet the Special Units team next Monday night. The individual winners will be awarded sweaters properly emblemed, while the winning organization will be given a plaque, properly inscribed.

The officials were: Referee, Capt. Charles Mabbutt; Judges, Lieutenants Brier and Hediken.

Library and Service Club

Adhering to its policy of adding to its shelves each a few current noteworthy boks, the Library placed in circulation on the 1st of January the following volumes:

FICTION

"Forlorn River" by Zane Grey. Grey's place in American fiction is so well assured that nothing need be said of him. In this, his newest book, he cmbines his usual materials in his best manner. Wild horses, outlaws, love and the West go into the make-up of "Forlorn River," making a story that will appeal to all readers of Western fiction.

"Vestal Fire" by Compton Mackenzie. Biting, humorous, effervescent. An unusual novel of the fads and foibles of a decadent society. By the author of "Sylvia Scarlett," "Poor Relatins," etc.

"Hula" by Armine von Tempski. The story from which the motion picture starring Clara Bow was made. A beautiful romance of the Hawaiian Islands.

"Gallions Reach" by H. M. Tomlinson. A tale of the sea and of adventure by the author of "The Sea and the Jungle" which was acclaimed as a descriptive masterpiece. Shipwreck in the Indian Ocean and adventure on the Oriental coast.

"Right Off the Map" by C. E. Montague. Which deals of two republics in South America and of the British leader who attempts to bring about a war between them without reckoning on the soldie rof fortune who fights for him nor on the peculiarity of a woman's whims. A Book-of-the Month Club selection.

"My Heart and My Flesh" by Elizabeth Madox Roberts. Another beautifully written novel by the author of "The Time of Man." This book and "Gallions Reach" were adjudged by the New York Times to be the two outstanding works of fiction for the year 1927.

NON-FICTION

"The Two Battles of the Marne" by Marshall Foch, Marshal Joffre, Crown Prince Wilhelm, and Field Marshal con Ludendorff.

This is probably the most unusual book on World War History that has ever been published. The General Officers in command of the opposing forces tell the story of the Two Battles of the Marne from their individual viewpoints. They tell of their aims, their instructions, the actual execution of their orders, and of the results. An opportunity of studying conditions which existed in the last war on both sides, written by the men who put the machinery of war into action.

"Count Ludwig, The Sea Devil" by Lowell Thomas. This story of the only officer in the German Navy who rose to a Commission from the ranks of the ordinary seamen ,reads like a fairy tale. Yet it is the true story of this remarkable man's roving career on the high seas and of the active part he played for Germany during the course of the War. It seems almost incredible that any one man could bring about the sinking of Fourteen Allied vessels without loss of life. Yet this is only one of the almost impossible feats that Lount Luckner pulled off during the course of his adventures. Of Lowell Thomas much need not be said. Among several of his tales are those of "The First World Flight" and of "Lawrence in Arabia" which have attracted world wide attention, and "Count Luckner, The Sea Devil" is written in his usual clear, concise style, giving the reader all of the meat of the story free from technica details which tend to confuse the layman. In addition to the above listed books, the Library als placed on the shelves on the 1st of January, the First Edition of the 1928 Traveling Library consisting of Fifty Volumes of the best Fiction and Non Fiction of the past year. The complete list of the Traveling Library books is as follows:

TIME DEVOTED TO MILITARY INSTRUCTION IN C. M. T. CAMPS TO BE REDUCED

In a circular published today announcing its training policy for the Citizen's Military Training Camps for the summer of 1928, the War Department has stressed the educational and recreational features of the camps. The circular assigned as the principal mission of the training of students pursuing the basic course the inculcation of habits of discipline and obedience and the development of the manly virtues of fair play, self-respect, patiotism and good citizenship.

For the coming year the total number of hours devoted to strictly military instruction in the Basic Course has been reduced to permit increased time for group and individual athletics, swimming, and out-door exercises.

The hours pe rday for purely military instruction will be as follows:

Basic Course—4 hours, 30 minutes.
Red Course—5 hours.
White Course—5 hours, 40 minutes.
Blue Course—6 hours, 30 minutes.

Those trainees who have attended previous camps, in addition to this training ,will receive instruction in the basic principles of the profession of arms with a view to their qualification for appointment as Reserve officers.

Another new feature of interest is the authority granted camp commanders to include in the instruction prescribed guard tours for the trainees. Such instruction would result in intrusting to the student a certain responsibility in safe-guarding the camp, as well as reducing the fire hazard.

In general, the forenoons will be devted to military training, and the afternoons to athletics, recreation and only such additional military work for those students pursuing the advanced courses as may be necessary to prepare them for duty as instructors on subsequent days.

STORK WAS BUSY DURING THE PAST YEAR

THEATERS

JAN. 13, TO JAN. 20, 1928

FRIDAY, JAN. 13

"GET YOUR MAN," starring Clara Bow in a story depicting the battle of a vivacious, freedom loving American flapper. Against French tradition—a red haired flapper resolves to win the man she loves, although family honor, custom and loyalty are about to bind him for life in a loveless marriage. In this story fate, complications and the edicts of the heart taek a powerful part.

"Pathe News No. 3."

SATURDAY, JAN. 14

"FOREIGN DEVILS," starring Tim McCoy in an historical romance based upon the memorable Boxer Uprising in China. The story is by Peter B. Kyne, and depicts authentic details of the terrible siege through which members of the foreign legations went until relieved by the belated allied column from the coast. This picture is considered an educational treat from an historical standpoint, as well as first class entertainment with plenty of blood curdling thrills and romance.

"The Old Wallop." Our Gang Comedy.

SUNDAY, JAN. 15

"JESSIE JAMES," starring Fred Thompson ;it is not a western as the name is ordinarily used. It is an authentic record of one of the most amazing characters in American history. It has dash, marvelous horsemanship and some hair-raising stunts, but it also has a dramatic story as beautifully told as "The Vanishing American." Some of the most important scenes are Quantrell's retreat after the battle, Jesse's first escape from the plantation, the stage coach hold-up, the train hold-up, Jesse's escape during the dinner arranged for his surrender and the final wedding scene. Plenty of laughs punctuate the tense action of the play.

"Ginge rand Genius." Sport Comedy.

"Paramount News."

MONDAY, JAN. 16

"THE COLLEGE HERO," featuring Bobby Agnew, Pauline Garon and Ben Turpin in an exciting college story replete with action and athletic prowess. Bob and Vivian arrive as freshmen just in timeto become victims of hazing pranks, shame and consternation ensue. Bob licks the leader of the hazers and becomes his best friend. Intrigue, comedy and romance characterize the story. It terminates in a rousing football game where, in the last quarter the hero saves the day by making a spectacular goal and wins the game.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 7."

TUESDAY, JAN. 17

"MAN, WOMAN AND SIN," starring John Gilbert and Jeanne Eagles in a vivid story of newspaper life in Washington. Gilbert plays the part of the reporter hero. The story is a tense melodrama with scenes laid during the inauguration of President William Howard Taft. Thrills, romance and adventure grip the attention throughout; it is a love story with a shock and a huge surprise.

"Hesitating Horses." Alice Day Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18

"SHE'S A SHIEK," starring Bebe Daniels with William Powell and Richard Arlen in a story laid in the Sahara stamping ground of the Foreign Legion. In this play the tables are reversed on desert villains, with most of the reversing done by Bebe and a pair of Yankee comics whose antics are founded upon high seasoned hokus-pokus and joy. Bebe appears as the Shiekiest of Shiekesses.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, JAN. 19

"ON YOUR TOES," starring Reginald Denny and Barbara Worth in six reels of zesty comedy drama. Deep chested Reginald, as a mother's boy, is turned loose in roughneck surroundings. He is first a dancing master and Oh, how he dances, then he turns a prize fighter and becomes a whirlwind, but his good nature makes him chickenhearted in a fight. The schemes by which he is made mad enough to win the championship bout furnish unlimited entertainment.

"Smith's Visitors." Smith Comedy.

FRIDAY, JAN. 20

"THE GAY DEFENDER," starring Richard Dix with Thelma Todd. The heroic, romantic exploits of Joaquin Murrieta, early California's most dominant figure, supply the basis for this melodrama of the ranchos. Villainy of gold-greedy adventurers turns a lanquid aristocratic youth into a terrorizing, night riding Robin Hood. His single handed bravery stamps out oppression and wins him back both hacienda and sweetheart.

"Pathe News No. 5."

The hotel guest, slightly the worse for indulgence, staggered down to the room clerk.

"Quick," he gasped. "Get a dctor, my frien' upstairs is blind!"

" Iasked him if he could see a snake. Said he couldn't and the rooms full of em!"

FORT BENNING LOSES TALENTED MUSICIAN

The Main Theater Orchestra laments the loss of Thomas Metzgar who is leaving the Service to join The Magnolia Petroleum Refining Co. Broadcasting Band of Beaumont, Texas. Cpl. Metzgar joined the 29th Infantry bnad June 15, 1927, and has since played flute and picolo in the Main Theater Orchestra. In addition to the valuable service rendered in the pit, he has entertained the audience on several occasions with solos of select music; his programs were voluminously applauded.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 15, Cpl. Metzgar will render his final performance in the Main Theater; during the intermission he will play The Hungarian Fantasie by Wm. Popp, a highly characteristic Hungarian dance number.

Subsequent to Jan. 25, those listening in over the radio will hear the melodious notes from Musician Metzgar's flute or picolo eminating from Station KFDM at Beaumont, Texas.

An interesting golfing party indeed was that one on Sunday afternoon when Capt. and Mrs. Dahlquist, Capt. and Mrs. Walker, Capt. and Mrs. Scott, Capt. and Mrs. Johnston, Capt. and Mrs. King, Capt. and Mrs. Norris, Capt. and Mrs. Brown and Maj. and Mrs. Lewis played eighteen holes in the hopes of being guests instead of hosts at the steak supper which was to reward the winners. No wife could play with her husband, and in the final count two families won, two lost and the rest split even. After the savory dinner, the party went to the Post Theater for an evening together.

THE DUNLOPS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Unique in its every detail was the fifth wedding anniversary celebration of Capt. and Mrs. S. L. Dunlop on Tuesday evening. The guests found under their respective doors a shingle on which the following invitation was written:

"We wood like to know if you wood like to come to help us celebrate our wooden wedding on Tuesday, January 10th, at 8:30 P. M. Wod you?

The Dunnies."

The wooden idea was carried out in decorations, the centerpiece on the dining table being a wooden plateau—none other than the family bread board—on each side of which were tall wooden candlesticks, and wooden games—mah jong and dominoes—were played. So unexpectedly different was this party that all the guests "wooden" have missed it for worlds.

Mrs. E. S. Johnston was hostess at a delightful bridge party at her home on Thursday afternoon. This is the third of a series of bridge parties at which Mrs. Johnston has entertained recently.

Maj. and Mrs. Patrick McGuire celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary with an informal chow mein dinner on Monday evening. The guest list included a dozen intimate friends. After dinner cards were played.

Mrs. Casey Baker is "at home" this afternoon to a large number of friends in honor of her houseguest, Mrs. Baker, Sr.

Mrs. Robert McKie is entertaining at bridge this afternoon as a special compliment to her mother, Mrs. Robb McKie, Sr., who is spending several weeks with Lt. and Mrs. McKie.

Lt. and Mrs. E. P. Earle were hosts at a lovely dinner party on Friday honoring their guest, Miss LaDue of Washington, D. C. After the dinner the guests attended the 24th Infantry Hop.

Lt. and Mrs. Raymond P. Lovin have returned from leave delightfully spent with their people in Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—January 16th.
Time—2:15.

On next Monday afternoon the Woman's Club has the honor to present Miss Agnes Gray of New York City who will give a most interesting program of her own verse. Perhaps no young poet ever had the opportunity to appear before a more genuinely interested and appreciative audience for many will be present who knew her as a little army girl and who have watched with loving pride her artistic development. There will be others who have read her exquisite poetry in book and magazine and have wished to know the poet who has captured so much of Beauty and crystalized it in a way that calls to mind "words fitly spoken are like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Miss Gray is a poet of recognized ability. Her books of poems have found a happy reception among lovers of poetry. Wide is her horizon and what she sees she turns into poems. Many sided are her interests and her poetic treatment shows the same versatility. She writes with equal charm of places, people, landscapes ,ideas and ideals. She, as is true of many poets, has more of soul than many of us—and her religious poems are constantly published in "The Living Church", the mouthpiece of the Episcopal Church. Nor is all told when one says she is a poet, for she is a finished French scholar, at one time editing a French newspaper in that hub of the newspaper world, New York, and during the Arms Conference in Washington she was called into service as a translator. Moreover she is a charming young woman, as modest as a violet.

There will be a musical program of exceptional charm presented at appropriate intervals, and, all in all, this meeting promises to be a genuine delight.

Tea will be served at the conclusion of the program.

The Literary Club met Monday and it was to a full house that Mrs. Peyton and her co-workers presented their stimulating, thought-provoking program on contemporary English Literature.

In Mrs. Peyton's foreword she gave a masterful analysis of contemporary English Literature. To quote a bit from her, after showing convincing evidence of the great literary riches of the "right little, tight little isle," she said:

"But, considered from a contemporary standpoint, there are two Englands; the England of Galsworthy, Wells and Bennett, of Shaw, Hardy and Barrie; and the England of the young (or youngish) intellectuals, of Aldous Huxley and the Sitwells, of Stroehey, T. S. Eliot and Virginia Woolf, of David Garnet, of Joyce and the Joyceans. It is a literary England divided and sub-divided into groups through which figures of splendid independence sail on serenely—Tomlinson, C. E. Montague, E. M. Forster, Walter de la Mare—and where some of the older generation are perenially young—Hardy, Shaw and May Sinclair—and some of the new generation are prematurely and preternaturall yand oh, so wearily, old.

"The generation of Wells and Shaw wrote and still write in the great Victorian tradition that the poet and novelist and playwright should be spokesman for England, and if for England, then for the world. Their conception of literature is social. Social ideas—witness Well's "Meanwhile"—obscess them as they obscessed Byron and Shelley. The reforming spirit burns ever in their breasts. They are not troubadors, or wits, but literary statesmen. Hardy legislates for Fate, Wells for God, Shaw for Reason. They all feel a duty to England and to humanity."

In contrast to these literary statesmen hse shows the young intellectuals who laugh at the thought of presenting social ideas in their writing and who seem to say "Our there shall be 'Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die.' We'll show conclusively in our writings that there is no God, and that Sex is the most important of all subjects for discussion." Interesting indeed and so true was her explanation of literary young England for she sees them warped by their horrible war experiences. Hurled into war they grew old and cynical for all their youth, and lost the fine generous energy, the broad humanity characterizing the older writers. They are bitter, disillusioned, and they write with words barbed and stinging and saturated with gall—but for all that, they are brilliant and they give us beauty and art though they drag us through the mire.

In her far-sighted broad-mindedness Mrs. Peyton said in conclusion "that eternity is long and that the present cult of the seamy side occupies after all but an infinistessimal point in time. Experiment, change bring health eventually. The pendulum always swings. It has swung wide from the ridiculous prudery, the sickly unreal sentimentality of the last century to a nequal or perhaps farther distance in license. The pendulum will come back one of these days and swing in a more normal curve in the world of art. Be assured to change the imager that the spiral always ascends, however slowly the ascent may appear to impatient and sometimes outraged mere mortals."

Mrs. McMahon reviewed in a charming informal way Huddleston's "Gentleman Johny Burgoyne," giving us an intimate glimpse into that Revolutionary General's life so that when she finished we knew a great deal more about him than that he surrendered at Saratoga.

Mrs. Bigelow gave us a delightful acquaintance with Galsworthy's new play "Escape" in which the human side of the Britisher is interestingly foiled against his respect for the law and his love of social approval.

Mrs. Rodgers gladdened us with some charming poems of Walted de la Mare, and Mrs. Peyton reviewed in a stimulating way Bennett's "Van Guard," Well's "Meanwhile" and Laymond's "Dusty Answer."

Capt. Weston Returns From Hunting Trip

Captain William B. Weston, the genial adjutant of the 83rd, returned the first of the week from a hunting trip of ten days. We were not informed officially of the results of said hunt but from all indications, we believe that it was a most successful one.

Lieut. I. L. Foster, Battery B, acted as adjutant during his absence.

Battery "C"

The orphans of the Battery have again secured a home after being burned out. We refer to Mallard, Hodge, Upchurch and Underwood. Hodges, Upchurch and Underwood, being absent on other duties, escaped with the clothing they were wearing. Mallard was very much present—being caught doing a September Morn. Tent Number 13 seems to be unlucky.

Sergeant Hall has been discharged per E. T. S., and re-enlisted with us for three more years. Sergeant Hall is a good Non-Commissioned Officer and we are glad to keep him. He has completed over 10 years of honorable service, 6 years being in the 83rd Field Artillery Battalion.

Sadne and Winslow staged a boxing tournament one day last week. The proceeds were given to charity.

It is rumored that Edwards is the person on whom this money was bestowed. The reason being that he is about to leave his old stamping grounds and return to the Great Outside, where women are women and bootleggers sell nothing but whiskey. That being the case we can readily see that he needs all the coin that he can get hold of. We hope that after he has ta sted all the joys and experienced all the delights of being a member of that throng who travel in state underneath the fast clying cars of the Central of Georgia, that he will, at least, think of the time when he was just a driver in the Horse Artillery.

"Chicken" Allen is industriously grooming his curls. He will soon be discharged and hpes to win a home with the above mentioned curls.

Sam Fare says Georgia is alright but he likes to travel. He longs for the land of moonlight and Hula, Hula girls, where dresses are cheap and stay that way unless the hap crop fails.

CO. "L" 15TH INFANTRY WINS BLUE BANNER FOR EXCELLENT YEAR

Capt. A. S. Champeny Commands Winning Outfit; Graduate of Infantry School

Another Infantry School graduate who is now stationed in the Far East has added additional laurels when his company captured the Blue Banner of the 15th Infantry at Tientsin, China. Capt. Champeny served with the 89th Division in the World War and received the D. S. C. for gallantry in action. He is a graduate of the Infantry School, class of 1925. The following article is taken from the "Sentinel" published by the 15th Infantry in China:

"The regimental motto, 'Can Do" is no doubt applicable to the winning company of the regiment this year—Co. L. This company has quite a galaxy of individuals who have distinguished themselves in the company and regimental activities and the company record shows that its members have contributed lustily to all achievements.

The company's exploints for the last year include winning: The General Connor trophy, for ice skating; the basket ball trophy; the Sentinel cup for small bore competition; the K. M. A. cup for irfle marksmanship; the Chief of Infantry's combat cup; the bayonet cup for 1927.

The company commander, Capt. Champeny, has brought the company to a high state of efficiency. The captain is fair and impartial in dealing with the men. He inspires their confidence and is deeply interested in their welfare. The men have put much effort into all activities under him and believe that they have an unbeatable leader and company commander."

I. S. D. NOTES

The regular conductor of this column is now sojourning in the hospital, therefore the substitution. We wish him a speedy recovery.

"Jiggs" Sikorsky has again joined the Detachment and has been promoted to the grade of Sergeant. He says that after all "There is no place like home."

"Jazz" Magoni has just returned from a furlough spent in New Orleans with his brother. He reports a fine trip except for the fact that a mechanic in Selma, Ala., charged him $14.95 to put some grease in the Ford.

Private Weaver recently received a well earned promotion to the grade of Sergeant. Congratulations.

Private Troy V. Moore, recently discharged from the 29th Infantry, reenlisted for the Detachment and has been detailed on duty with the Post Gardener.

It was rumored the other day that Beare, the Barber, had converted the barber shop into a skating rink, and judging from the amount of ice removed therefrom, it was true.

Private William C. Lovell has been transferred to the Detachment from Company "D," 29th Infantry, for duty with the Communications Section of the Academic Department.

Our Assistant Supply Sergeant, one Corporal Lucius Jones, who has been counting the days until his discharge, says "It won't be long now," until I'll have three years.

Privates Guenther and Pitzer purchased their discharges last week and have returned to their homes in Pennsylvania. We wish them every success in civil life.

Dad Richardson says he has a "Rattlin" good Ford, and we can readily believe him after listening to the noise it makes when approaching.

NEW LINE OF HUDSON-ESSEX CARS ON DISPLAY TOMORROW

Advanced style is the outstanding change in the new Hudson-Essex line of cars introduced yesterday by the Muscogee Motor Co. and all Hudson-Essex dealers. Motorists have viewed the new cars simultaneously with the throngs who attended the national Automobile Show in New York City, where the Hudson-Essex line made its formal bow to the public. These new cars will be on display tomorrow at the Post Exchange from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

But though these new cars, as seen yesterday, are strikingly improved in style and beauty, Hudson-Essex has kept a keen eye as well on fundamentals of value; in fact the price on a highly important model—the Essex 4-door sedan—is reduced $40. Hudson-Essex presents this as the only 6-cylinder, 4-door sedan with a list price below the $800 level. On the other cars some prices remain the same ;others are advanced.

Series of Cars Complete

The new line offers a variety of models —10 closed cars immediately, while additional open and short type cars will be ready for the spring and summer season. These are the Hudson standard-built 4-door sedan, and the custom-built victoria, landau sedan and 7-passenger sedan on the 127-inch chassis; a coupe with rumble seat, a coach and a 4-door sedan on the 118-inch Hudson chassis; and a 4-door sedan, cach and coupe with rumble seat on the 110½-inch Essex chassis. All cars are low-hung, modern in style, and designed with a unity of line to assure them a distinctive character of their own.

Front and Side Appearance

Beginning at the very front, both Hudson and Essex cars have higher and more slender radiators. This effect is heightened by the shutters, which are cleanly patterned and vertical in design. On all cars the shutters are finished in lacquer to match the lowe rbody color.

Surmounting the radiators, on both Hudson and Essex cars, are the new sculptured radiato rornaments of classic design, representing fleetness. Motometers have been removed to the dash. Both cars are fitted with head lamps of Colonial design, and with saddle lamps of like design, mounted on the cowl. In the Hudson cars all these lamps are nickel; in the Essex the rims are nickeled while the main lamp-bodies are in brilliant black. To complete the distinctiveness of the front-end views, all cars have wide sweeping fenders, extra-narrow front body pillars and distinctively shaped visors.

From the front, the unity of design is carried around to the side by striped mouldings and the sweeping curve of the fenders. It is noticeable from the side that the roof lines are new in design, that the rear quarters are attractively curved, and that the windows are pleasingly shaped in a horizontal design. All windows are set off by recessed reveals and striping. The running boards are lower to the ground, covered with a rubber matting in pattern, and bound with aluminum strips.

Body Construction Rigid

Not only in their smart lines are the new bodies interesting; their strength and rigidity as well are exceptional. Construction is along the exclusive Hudson-Essex design of recent seasons, but is now even more rigid. At vital points in the structure re-inforcing plate and brackets have been added. Further, where the body pillars join the sills they are fastened by heavy malleable anchorages. Similar fastenings are used to secure the pillars to the heavy hardwood roof members. One large steel stamping now forms the entire rear structure of the cars, extending from one rear window around to the other.

Silence as well as strength is built into these bodies. Doors are built of three layers of stamped steel, with felt and fibre board sandwiched in as sound-deadeners. Special precautions have been taken similarly around the door locks, and a silencing pad cemented inside the cowl.

Interior Design Attractive

The new Essex bodies are roomier than in any previous cars, the low-hung effect having been obtained with no lessening of headroom. The rear quarters are designed to provide two inches additional shoulder room for the rear seat passengers. Seats are spaced to give ample room in both the front and the rear compartments. They are form fitting, well-cushioned and upholstered. Around the walls and roof the uphostery is fitted as neatly and smoothly as in custm cars; yet sections of the upholstery are removable in case of accident. Patterned velour harmonizing with the exterior car color is used.

Other details combine to give an impression of richness, in the front compartment, the panel between the windshield and dash is of distinctive burl walnut design. Just beneath, the instrument boar dis of ebony-black lacquer. Set into this background the instruments are grouped under glass—including the motometer ,oil and gasoline gauges, ammeter and speedometer. Centered beneath is th Electro-lock, while at the left is the starter button and to the right the choke control.

An important feature in Essex, as well as Hudson, is the new steering wheel. This is slender in design, formed with finger scallops, and colored on ebony black to match the instrument board. Concealed within its slender outline is extraordinary strength, for its backbone is a structure of re-enforced steel. Around this skeleton is mouded hard black rubber in an attractive design.

The whole unit, used until this year only in very expensive cars, not only enriches the appearance of the car, but also promotes both safetv and easy handling, since its wieght is sufficient to absorb all minor road shocks. The steering wheel jacket on both Hudson and Essex is nickele das far as the dash; and where it is fastened to the instrument board a ball-bearing eliminates all danger of binding. On Essex ,the steering wheel carries the parabeam light control, hand throttle and horn button; on Hudson, the hand spark advance also.

Qualitv Details Throughout

All hardware is of a uniform Colonial type. In all cars the right door in the driver's cmpartment locks from the outside, with the key inserted in the door handle; all ther doors lock from the inside by snapping the door handles forward. The automatic windshield wiper is hidden in the header over the windshield—a neat and unique construction. The rubber floor mat carries the same design as the running bard cover; carpets are of advanced quality to match the upholstery.

In accordance with 1928 styles, the coach and sedan are built with two side windows each. They slide between felt pads, against which is maintained a slight spring pressure; this minimizes looseness and rattles. In the coupe, the rear window lowers so that rumble seat passengers may speak with those inside. Window ledges are of rich burl walnut finish.

Prospects for Year

Hudson-Essex is introducing this line of cars after completing the most successful year in its history, with around 280,000 six-cylinder cars manufactured. This year's styles carry forward the principles of a year ago ,adding beauty and style to the well-known Hudson-Essex standards of value and utility. The present daily total of cars built is the largest, for this time of year, in Hudson-Essev history. The whole Hudson-Essex organization is highly confident that 1928 will establish for it a new standard of success.

GOLF-SOCIAL CLUB FORMED

(By Beatrce Davis)

While old Jupe Pluvius muttered and mumbled behind a bank of clouds last Sunday afternoon certain golf fiends at Benning—figuring that Sunday evening is always a poor time of the week to get even a scant supper, to say nothing of dinner—put their heads together, and busily plotted on the ways and means of obtaining said dinner, and at the same time, humbling some golfists who probably did not swat the old pill around the green to the same tune they did.

These master minds, who, on this Sunday afternoon so busily planned and schemed, were none other than that foursome of archgolf fiends, Captains Walker, A. E. Brown, Dahlquist and Scott. The victims of their pernicious scheming were Captains Norris, King and Johansen. After cornering their victims in a tight place, they challenged them, in a manner not conductive to inflated egos to those challenged, to a golf match—the losers to pay for dinner and movies for the winners.

Stalwart Captian Johansen, realizing the weakness of his cohorts, tried in vain for a way to side-step such a maneuver—and then suddenly hit upon an action which he thought would avert the disastrous event: "Ah! how can we play against four, when we are only three, sirs?" he quoth. Then the scheming foursome cried, "There, we have that all figured out. We'll allow you to have a player, of the golf-ability of Major Lewis or Major O. U. Mulhall to complete your foursome!" The valiant Captain was stumped—but as he also has a master mind—he put it into action, and as to be expected—a brilliant idea was the result.

"We will play on one condition—that you allow the femmes of our household to participate!" Thus the wily leader of the challenged crew spoke—thus planning to wreck the plans of the arch-golffists.

The scheming foursome was thrown into confusion—but knowing that to back down would result in a loss of prestige—they consented to the arrangement and at two o'clock—Mesdames Walker, Brown, Dahlguist, Scott, Norris, King, Johansen and Lewis were at No. 1 Tee, with the supposedly sterner members of the family circle ready to start off.

In order to circumvent the strong combination of some of the families, it was suggested that the ladies' names be placed in a hat, and "Scrambled"—thus causing the fmaily ties to be broken, insofar as the golf match went.

The following players—in the order named—started off, and won:

Mrs. Walker and Captain Johansen played Mrs. Norris and Captain King. Mrs. Walker and Captain Johansen won.

Mrs. Dahlquist and Captain Walker played Mrs. Johansen and Captain King. Mrs. Dahlquist and Captain Walker won.

Mrs. King and Major Lewis played Mrs. Brown and Captain Scott. Mrs. Brown and Captain Scott won.

Mrs. Lewis and Captain Brown played Mrs. Scott and Captain Dahlquist. Mrs. Lewis and Captain Brown won.

When the first foursome reached the 18th green, it was noticed that the rest of the matches were far behind, and on investigation it was found that the golf bags had rained full of war, and carrying the added weight slowed down the caddies so that it was thought best to stop laying the bags down—so that play was called off.

At 6 P. M., the gang gathered at Captain Johansen's School for Bakers and Cooks, where a steak dinner was served. A rich, thick, juicy, tenderloin steak, cooked as nly a cook's school could—with all the trimmings—even raw onions! Crispy hot biscuits, creamy mashed potatoes. A dinner fit for kings!

After the golfers had eaten to their heart's content, they agreed to form a little club, to play every Sunday afternoon during the winter season, thus giving the ladies of the crowd who do not ride, a chance for recreation and exercise, which they ordinarily would not have during the cold season. The next event planned was a golf match and chicken supper—for by this time the crowd was very congenial—and the arch-golffiends were chatting cozily with the challenged.

After leaving the dinner all present adjoined to the movies— thus rounding out a most pleasant afternoon's play and exercise—and as Major Mulhall would have stated, in his long, windy way (had he been questioned), "well, you see, it's this way, all's well that ends well, which reminds me of a story———"

When You Equip With Firestone
GUM-DIPPED TIRES

Firestone Tires wear longer, because every fiber of every cord is insulated with rubber, as a result of the Gum-Dipping process.

This practically eliminates internal friction, the greatest enemy of long tire-life in ordinary tires.

Gum-Dipping, exclusively Firestone, increases the strength and flexibility of the tires.

Nevertheless, Firestone prices are the lowest in tire history.

That's why you'll be "Miles Ahead" when you equip your car with these wonderful tires. Come in today!

SKETCH ON NEW CLASSES

The NEWS of next week will contain a write-up upon the interesting careers of the members of the new student officer classes at the Infantry School—Refresher and Nat. Guard-Reserve classes.

FRIDAY, THE 13TH

Notwithstanding the fact that this is Friday, the 13th, we are taking chances on publishing the first 16-page paper for the year 1928. We sincerely hope that we will be the exception to the rule for events that might happen to any undertakings on Fridays which occur on the 13th.

SCHOOL GRADUATE CRASHES PEARLY GATES!

(By Lt. G. A. Hadsell)

To those whose olfactory nerves were educated by the bounding banks of the wild Missouri, the above may recall that well known Friday fruit, fresh fish. But Biglerville's sixth day delight finds no application here. For be it known that our sources of information surpass even that student court of last appeal, the locker room rumor.

Having fought the good fight, and having never asked a question, it so happened that a certain warrior bold was wafted on a cloud to the Happy Hunting Grounds, the Elysian Fields, the Valhallaof Nordic legend. There Bugler Gabriel of the M. P. detachment directed this former student to the golden doors of the great gates. At his approach two gigantic guardian angels came to smart salute handing him at the same time two questionnaires.

Once within the inner chamber, blinded by dazzling brilliance, our hero vaguely haw the huge raised throne. His eyes accustomed to the light then discerned the towering torso of Saint Peter behind an oaken desk. The celestial recorder was frowning over what appeared to be clothing settlements and it was evident that this grim keeper of the Pearly Gates was in a sour frame of mind. The stranger trembled in the awesome presence. As a matter of fact several Seraphs had overdrawn their initial allowance of special measurement halos, and, moreover, Saint Peter had jutt paid his club bill.

The warrior coughed to attract attention. He clicked his spur chains and saluted in snappy Benning manner.

"Sir, I——," he began, somewhat apprehensively.

"Don't you be afraid, Captain," growled the high figure at the desk. Without looking up he shoved a sheaf of papers toward our pilgrim. "Here, fill out these questionanaires."

An hour later the ex-student returned to stand rigidly at attention before the desk. He gave the completed forms to the old Saint who tossed them into his out basket. This done, Saint Peter sternly asked many questions. At each successive response the fierce seamed face which had seen countless centuries, grew blacker, more like the rain cloud. Before our hero could finish his recital, suddenly Caint Peter's eyes flashed lightning. His voice lashed out in thunder!

"There is a mistake in your assignment, Captain!"

He jumped to his full impressive height and shouted, "Sergeant of the Guard, the chains!"

Twelve tall Seraphs rushed in carrying clanking links of steel. They bound the pilgrim hand and foot.

"But I hadn't finished, sir," protested the desperately struggling prisoner. "It's all in those papers I filled out. You did not read them, sir."

"Enough," cried Saint Peter. "Questionnaires are for the files." He called down to the Sergeant of the guard, guard, "Drag the culprit to the lower regions. My compliments to Brother Satan, and direct him apply white fire and red brimstone."

A silence fell. The guard formed smartly in double rank the prisoner in their midst. Then a sharp bark of command and they moved away with measured, cadenced tread. The heavy chains clinked dismally in dull metallic dirge.

At the threshold the prisoner twisted in last frantic appeal.

"Stop, there is something you must see, sir!"

"Allright," Saint Peter said wearily. "But I warn you, Captain, this delay means five thousand years of white phosphorus and yellow sulphur."

But Saint Peter gazed in astonishment at the rectangular parchment roll an angel brought him from the prisoner. At thength the hard, flinty countenance relaxed into a smile of delight. He laid the document down.

"Bring him here and strike off his chains," he ordered.

Our hero stepped forward, a free man! Saint Peter's grizzled face was wreathed with geniality as he stretched out his hand to the former student.

"Captain, allow me to congratulate you. Sergeant, bring the captain a pair of golden wings, a harp, a halo, and a memorandum receipt to sign. Let there be rejoicing in all the realm."

Saint Peter thundered again, but this time jovially, "But why didn't you tell me you were a graduate? Why didn't you tell me you held a diploma from the Infantry School?"

So be it, Amen.

TACTICAL TOPICS

(By E. F. H.)

Our Mottos "Better be damned than mentioned not at all."

(Being a colyum dedicated to the interests of the Advanced Class, the Infantry School, the United States Army and the Great American People. The Company Officee Class Scribe has nothing on us.)

Having received a suggestion from a certain quarter, all suggestions from which we personally have so long been accustomed to heed that the process has become practically automatic, we are about to undertake the immortal task of making the future editions of the Infantry School News more eagerly devoured by the intelligentia of Ft. Benning than a hot number of La No Pariienne. Any student officer who was not hooked for the price of a year's subscription before being allowed to enroll as a member of the Advanced and Company Officers Classes, may insure himself against accident in the weekly news stand rush by sending a certified check for $1.50 to the management. The secondary objective aimed at is publicity for the Advanced Class and the individual member thereof. Until the advent of this colyum, the only way by which prominent members of this distinguished body has been able to put before the public eye has been through the medium of intelligent questions propounded to the instructors at the close of the morning and afternoon siestas. Major Drollinger has gone a step farther by employing what otherwise might be wasted time, in clarifying the more abstruse points which the instructor has touched upon, but this method, while effective, has it's drawback in that it embarrasses the instructor and causes the members of the class to be late in getting home with the ice and groceries. We believe that the advantages of the new method will appeal to everyone. We are so enthusiastic over this project that we are almost led to believe that it may ultimately, perhaps by St. Patrick's Day or thereabouts make the wearing of registration tags no longer necessary. Personally we are an ardent advocate of the wearing of identification placards as they cover up the space where the inquisitive civilian expects to find our campaign ribbon and the croix de guerre with palm, but we do not believe that the present device goes far enough. We are for bigger and better license tags. Why stop with a name, when, as Juliet says, "The rose by any other name would smell as sweet" or as we personally think, sweeter—especially after three hours of equitation. The license tags should tell us something of the man. For instance, they might appropriately give the officer's P. C. S. with a brief synopsis of his military service, including decoraiton, citation, etc., preference for foreign service stations, rating in Dun and Bradstreet (if any) and record of typhoid inoculation. No restrictions should be placed on design or demension. This might be objected to on the ground that it would result in some of our more retiring members like Capt. Heraty being mistaken at a distance for demonstration troops at a command exercise or even sandwich men boosting a new brand of tooth paste. We believe, however, that the information that the proposed placard would contain would be of great assistance as instructor conducting a conference and offer the suggestion to the school authorities for what it is worth.

If the above proposition is considered too radical, we propose as an alteration, that the registration tags at least be expanded to include a phonetic spelling of the name. This would make for more accurate designation of the victim selected to answer the next question by the instructor. Captain Gough, whose protection mechanism has taught him to answer to any name which sounds remotely like the ancestral monisher, has a most trying time of it under the present condition. He has answered questions—for the most part incorrectly—to the name of Go, Gow, Goo, Guff and Goof. At one of the conferences in signal communication, the instructor sneezed and Gough was almost on his feet when his next door neighbor, thinking that he was about to ask a question about visual signal lamps, pulled him piolently back in his chair. This historical example is to show that there is a real need for the proposed reform.

Speaking of names, we have one officer in the tenth squad who is the envy of in all. He is Cianchino who is never called upon to answer a question. Occasionally our unusually conscientious instructor makes a stab at it, becomes momentarily confused in the belief that he must have picked up a last season's Metropolitan Opera program instead of the class roll and then, recovering his customary aplomb, calls on Captain Culp.

In including this initial appearance of Jadicial Topics in the Infantry School News the Advanced Class desires to thank the Academic Board and particularly Committee "H" of the 4th Section for—Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. As the Company Officer Class scribe indicates we are here to get a military education and, but for the thoughtfulness of those in authority, the alleged holidays might have been a total loss so far as the embarrassment of out stock of military knowledge is concerned. Fortunately however, our monograph assignments had been carefully synchronized with the annual celebration of the advent of the Prina of Peace. Whether or not this policy is in keeping with the teachings of the New Testament is still a mooted question with the Academic Department which to date has not worked its way beyond the Book of Judges. should we ever be required to take this course over we hope that by that time a few strayid as will have been glearred from the justly celebrated works of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

MUST HAVE THE NEWS

"I want to pay my subscription to the NEWS. I want to be sure and get it every week, as I don't feel right when I miss it,'" said Staff Sergeant J. H. Coggin, Service Company, 29th Infantry, the other day when he came to the NEWS office with his check. Sergeant Coggin has always been a subscriber to the paper since he has been stationed at Fort Benning.

The Sergeant has had an interesting career in the service and has only a few years to go yet before retirement. The NEWS will have a little write-up on Coggin in the near future in the Who's Who column.

CITY OF BIGLERVILLE HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Collins Elected as Mayor; Six Aldermen Chosen

At last that long looked for election of officials of Biglerville has been held. Lt. Larry Collins, veteran of campaigns extending from Australia to America and from France and Germany back to the United States and Georgia, has been given the unique distinction of being chosen mayor. Than him there is no lustier lunged mortal within the boundaries of either the Muscogee or the Chattahoochee. Besides his stenatorian voice even a United States senator would appear like a crying infant. When he broadcasts, he needs no batteries, no wires, no amplifiers to make himself heard over the width and breadth of Ft. Benning's 97,000 acres. When he speaks, even the hounds, the wild pigs, the foxes and the wild wildcats scamper for cover. At least until June 1 peace and quiet, except for a few Irish affrays which usually count only as private fights, are assured for Biglerville.

Mayor Collins has announced his government as follows:

COMPANY C, COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE

ADDENDA FOR WHO'S WHO
(Home papers please copy.)

Distinguished members of the Class of 1927-1928.

Captain Wm. F. (Wild Bill) Gent, who holds the record for radio transmission and reception of forty-two words per minute. In a recent interview with the reporter he stated that his only difficulty is in understanding what he is sending when he heaches his maximum speed.

The soporific atmosphere of afternoon class was burst violently into fragments by the instructor's sudden request for a recitation from the "groggy lieutenant," who was no doubt, basking in the shade of a palm tree in one of the distant island possessions.

A suggestion for the next fight card: Battling R. T. Walker Duke versus Mighty Mickey Micklewaite. (Conversation barred.)

In order that Map Reading examinations will reach all members of the 1927-1928 class by June 1, 1930, it is requested that all members of the class keep Captain Bernard Butler McMahon advised of future changes of station.

Special Agents from the Central of Georgia Railroad have been vainly endeavoring to find a hitherto unknown section of railroad that recently appeared on an aerial photograph of Fort Benning.

There will be a very special demonstration during the Spring terrain exercises this year on the latest buzzerphone hookup. This is a patented process and was devised by our distinguished contemporary communicator, Captain R. T. W. Duke.

Duke is not in our company but genius belongs to all the world.

Following the visit of a member of the S. P. C. A. to Fort Benning on last Saturday afternoon, the Supply Section of the Academic Department has agreed to furnish pillows to Captains Huskea and Murphy. As a humanitarian measure this action is highly commendable, resulting, as it probably will, in an immediate decrease in the veterinary sick list.

Captain Schmidt, communicating communications to the communicators, "Now gentlemen, you can make all the pretty plans on paper that you want; but when it comes to working them out on the ground you will find yourselves up S-s-s-salt Creek without a paddle.

This week's column was entirely contributed by Captain Ra—nd Sh——n and Lieut. Wi—am H. Mc—e. Their battle cry is, "Shoot if you must, these old grey heads; but we'll fight it out on these lines if it takes all summer."

CORPL. CURTIS L. BENNETT

Company "A," 15th Tank Bn.

It was just about five years ago that a young lad just finishing high school decided to enlist in the service of the U. S. Army. After talking with the recruiting officer he picked the Terrible Tankers at Fort Benning, Ga., becoming a member of Company A, 15th Tank Battalion, a few days later.

Going out as a candidate for the Inf. School Football Team that season, he earned a regular berth by his gameness and line plunging ability. He was a member of the Inf. School Team for three successive years, although injuries early in the season kept him out of the line-up during the past season.

Not a bit discouraged he took over the company team winning the Company

Championship of the 15th Tank Battalion.

During the Intra-Mural Series he was the outstanding star in the Tank backfield, and his playing was a big factor in the success of the Tankers in winning the Garrison Championship.

Corporal Curtis L. Bennett has proven himself to be an excellent soldier as well as a star football player, and is held in the highest esteem by the officers and men of the organization.

"Knubb" is now spending a sixty-day furlough at his home near Fernwood, Miss., he writes that there is no fun in going fishing any more as he got so tough playing football that the mosquitoes can't even make him scratch.

FORMER BENNING OFFICER NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN ALASKA BY DROWNING

(By Lieut. Clyde Grady)

Information has just been received here of the narrow escape from death by drowning in Alaska of Lieutenant Jesse B. Smith, former resident of Columbus and Fort Benning. Lieut. Smith was rescued from the treacherous stream by Captain Edwin S. Beall, another Ex-Benningite, and two other members of the military forces in the north country, for which act of heroism in saving the life of a comrade, all three were commended by the Regimental Commander of the Seventh U. S. Infantry the headquarters of which is at Vancouver Barracks, Washington.

The following brief account of the near tragedy, which is believed to be of interest to many local people, is reproduced from the U. S. Army Recruiting News, an official War Department bulletin, published at Governors Island, New York:

"Things the Army Does Besides Fight

"Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska—Private First Class Tuffield T. Patnoe, Captain Edwin S. Beall and Lieutenant Andres S. Gamble, all of the 7th United States Infantry, stationed at this place, were recently commended in regimental orders for heroism displayed by them on August 20, 1927, when their united efforts saved a comrade from death by drowning.

"A party was crossing the Katzehin river when Lieutenant Jesse B. Smith fell overboard and was caught in the undertow current of a whirlpool. He was pulled under the water and did not rse until he had been carried for a considerable distance down the river by the rapids. At this juncture, Private Patnoe, without regard to his own safety, plunged into the icy water and went to the rescue of Lieutenant Smith. Both were being carried rapidly down the river, in momentary danger of being dashed to death against projecting rocks.

"Seeing the plight of the struggling men, Lieutenant Gamble, who was on the bank of the river, called to Captain Beall, who was nearby, and then himself plunged in and swam to the rescue. Captain Beall recognized at once that all three were in danger of being lost, and with a marked presence of mind rushed to a small uprooted tree fifty yards down the bank. This he seized and shoved into the current just in time to permit Lieutenant Gamble to grasp its extreme branches. As the three men in the stream were holding to each other, they reached the bank in safety."

Lieutenant Smith, referred to above, left here the summer of 1926 for a tour of two years foreign service at Chilkoot Barracks. He was on duty at Fort Benning for many years as Personnel Adjutant and member of the Military Police Company, and part of the time he resided in Columbus. Captain Beall was a student officer during the school session of 1922-23, and went to Alaska in September, 1923.

The Katzehin river empties into Lynn Canal, an arm of the North Pacific ocean, opposite Chilkoot Barracks and six miles below the fort. It has its source in a mightv glacier which is in fact but an atom one might say of the noted Muir ice field, a vast expanse of ice and snow 200 miles in length and 80 miles in width, and the whole setting is right in the midst of this ice accumulation of centuries.

The Katzehin valley—as well as all the others—abounds in game, principally bear, ducks, geese, grouse, an occasional moose, and on the surrounding peaks, some of which rise ten thousand feet in the sky, and covered with immemorial snow and ice, may be found goat and sheep, therefore it is one of the favorite hunting grounds of the soldiers and the naives.

It is also being continually prospected for gold, and it might be that the party were looking for outcroppings of the precious metal. The most recent gold stampede in Alaska was staged in this very valley in 1924, and every foot of soil—even out on the sand bars at low tide—was staked, and by the time the writer arrived with a few friends there was nothing left except some space up near the foot of the glacier, and there I staked out a claim and named it "Dixie."

Every stream in the north is treacherous and dangerous, and the loss of life, even among veteran guides, is not infrequent. The rivers, even though some of them are not very deep, run with lightening rapidity in their mad rush to the ocean, and it's difficult to stand up in water that reaches only to the knees. It was in September, 1924, that Lieutenant W. R. McMaster and E. M. Sutherland, graduates of the Infantry School, narrowly escaped death in the same dark, murky waters of the same river. The two officers with a sergeant whose name I do not recall, installed an outboard motor on their boat and started gaily upstream. The craft capsized and sank with their rifles and all equipment except the pistols which they had buckled on them and to that they owe their lives. Fortunately they were in close proximity to an island near the mouth of the river which empties into the sea, and on this they climbed. The tide later rose, forcing them to climb the small trees for safety, where they spent the night. The next morning they began firing their pistols and by a queer turn of fate there were three men on the north shore digging for gold. They heard the noise and rescued the party.

My advice to those officers going to Alaska as replacements for the vacancies, is never to go on any of the streams without an Indian guide of known experience and reliability of which there are several in every locality, and even with that precaution for safety, I further recommend additional life insurance in proportion to the number of dependents. — 15th Tank Weekly.

PERSONNEL OFFICER WILL NOT BE SENT TO BENNING THIS YEAR

According to a recent letter received by The Infantry School News from the Office of Chief of Infantry the policy of sending an officer to Fort Benning this year for the purpose of interviewing students officers as to probable assignments will be discontinued this year. To quote from the letter:

"The War Department has ruled that personnel officers of the different branches will not be sent to the Special or General service schools this year to obtain the preference of the students. The above decision was based on the fact that all officers are given full opportunity to express their preferences for station and duty on the prescribed preference cards furnished by the Adjutant General. That the preferences so expressed are given full consideration in making assignments together with the best interests of the service and with justice to others. The Chief of Infantry will therefore adopt a method other than the prescribed preference cards in obtaining preferences for duty and station of the student officers at Fort Benning."

15TH TANKS

Company "C"

Corporal Norman Linkwald has departed for the Gate City of the South (Atlanta), to spend three days and many dollars. We will have to listen all night to the wonders of the city after he returns.

The football players have been relieved from special duty and are now available for company duty. If they do their company duty as well as they played football they will be hard to beat. Their return to duty will also make the duty lighter on the other members of the company.

Last Saturday we had the first show down inspection in preparation for the General Inspection that is due very soon. All the equipment was in fine shape and the clothing, with the exception o fthat that has been wornout or lost in the laundry which will be replaced, is in good condition. We made a good showing last year and hope to make an even better showing this year.

The work in the tank park is going fine under the able direction of Lt. Niles. Bins and shelves have been made for the equipment and the tanks are being painted as fast as possible. The work on the tanks has been delayed on account of the many demonstrations that we have had lately but we expect to have everything ship-shape for the inspection.

Private George Winthers made orderly for the first time in quite a while and we hope that he will keep it up. Since our champion orderly bucker, Boudreaux, transferred to the Inf. Sch. Det., Company "C" has not been doing so well in the orderly bucking. With Winthers and Chol working hard we expect to have many orderlies to our credit before long.

We have heard that Private John Campbell, who has been on furlough ,is on his way back to Fort Benning from Jacksonville, Fla. Hurry back John.

HIGH RANK FOR ARMY CHAPLAINS

Secretary of War Submits Bill to Provide for More Equitable System for Spiritual Advisers

The Secretary of War has submitted to Congress a bill to provide a more equitable system of promotion for army chaplains.

The proposed bill provides that chaplains shall be promoted to the grade of captain after three years' service as first lieutenant ;to the grade of major after twelve years; to the grade of lieutenant colonel after twenty years; and to the grade of colonel after twenty-six years' service. It further provides for a chief of chaplains, with the rank of brigadier general to be appointed for a period of four years by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, from chaplains not below the grade of major.

Chief Is Now a Colonel

The present law on the subject provides the grade of colonel for the chief of chaplains, and the promotion of chaplains to the grades of captain and major are based upon five and fourteen years' service, respectively ,instead of three and twelve years as in the Medical Corps and as provided in the proposed bill.

In submitting the bill and in recommending its enactment into law, the Secretary of War states, among other things, that the purpose of the bill is to place the chaplains on an equality as to rank, pay and promotion with other officers o fthe professional and technical services. He also considers that to limit the rank of chief of chaplains to colonels, while all other chiefs of branches are major generals, is not in accordance wit hthe place of religion in the army nor with the value and importance of the moral and religious influence of the ministry in the army and in civil life.

The proposed bill has been submitted to the director of the budget who has stated it is not in conflict with the financial program of the President.

ARMY TO GET NEW AUTOS EARLY IN 1928

124 Six-Cylinder Vehicles Expected to Reach Troops in January; Brand Not Announced.

The 124 new 5-passenger cars for which the War Department asked bids last month will be purchased and ready for delivery to the army within the next thirty days, according toinformation given out by The Quartermaster General's office. The name and model of the car to be purchased had not been decided at the time The News went to press.

The Dodge, Chevrolet, Ford, Chrysler, Pontiac and Oakland have all been mentioned as likely choices, as they all come up to the specifications as outlined by the War Department as meeting the requirements of the army. All of these vehicles have recently been given exhaustive tests by army automobile engineers at Camp Holabird, the experimental hedaquarters of the Motor Transport Division of the Quartermaster Corps.

Other types of vehicles tested at Camp Holabird during the past year include the Packard automobile and the following trucks: Coleman 5-ton, Graham ¾-ton, Federal Knight, Chevrolet ¾-ton and International 1¼ ton.

Army engineers have been co-operating with commercial manufacturers with a view to producing a satisfactory 4-wheel-drive truck for military purposes. A vehicle which meets the engineering requirements and is believed will be satisfactory for field use has been developed. Two of this type have recently been purchased by the Quartermaster Corps and turned over to the Field Artillery for extensive field tests.

The Motor Transport Division of the Quartermaster Corps is now buying its own motor vehicles and equipment, which permits closer contact between the army's motor engineers and the automobile factories. Until recently all motor transport equipment, including vehicles, was purchased by the army through the Supply Service.

24TH INF.

24th Infantry Hop

On January 6th he first 24th Infantry mnthly dance of the new year was held at the Polo Club. If all the 24th Infantry dances for the year 1928 are as enjoyable as this one, the hop committee will have to prepare for further increased attendance. A large measure of the success of these hops is due to the snappy music furnished by the regimental orchestras. In the receiving line were Major and Mrs. Power, Capt. and Mrs. Wilson and Lieut. and Mrs. MacKie.

Two Officers Join Regiment

Capt. E. W. McCaskey, Jr., who recentyl joined the 24th Infantry, is a member of the famous army McCaskey family. Capt. McCaskey was commissioned a 2nd Lieut. at Fort Benjamin Harrison on June 5, 1917, and assigned to the 46th Inf. In December, 1917, he was transferred to the 26th Machine Gun Battalion at Camp Zachary Taylor. In March, 1919, he was transferred to the 29th Inf. at Camp Beauregard, La., the regiment later moving to Camp Shelby, Miss., and in October, 1919, to Fort Benning. From 1920 to 1921 Capt. McCaskey was a member of the Calvary School. From 1921 to 1922 he was an instructor in the Department of General Subjects at Fort Benning. In December, 1922, he was transferred to the 12th Inf., Fort Washington, Md., and from 1923 to 1924 he was a member of the 57th Philippine Scouts. In 1925 he was transferred to the 6th Inf., Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he remained until his assignment to the 24th Inf. Capt. McCaskey is now a member of the Service Company, 24th Inf. Until the arrival of his family Capt. McCaskey is occupying quarters 21-172.

Capt. W. B. Tuttle, who has just joined the 24th Inf. from the 15th Inf. in China, was commissioned a 2nd Lt. on June 16, 1927, and assigned to the 3rd Inf. After considerable service on the Mexican border the 3rd Inf. was ordered to Camp Sherman in 1920 and in 1921 went to Fort Snelling. At this post Capt. Tuttle was the regimental adjutant and the post polo representative. From 1924 to 1927 he was with the 15th Inf. in China. Capt. Tuttle has been assigned to the command of Co. "B," 24th Inf. Capt. Tuttle and family are temporarily at the Ralston hotel.

Capt. Helsley Gave Interesting Lecture

Capt. A. B. Helsley on January 9th completed his monograph on the 1st Division Offensive Between Oct. 1-10, 1028. This monograph was given in two parts. The first dealt with the original advance of the 1st Division; the second the attack of the 1st Battalion of the 16th Inf. to dislodge the enemy from Hill 272. This was unquestionably one of the best monographs given this year. Capt. Helsley, who was present throughout the offensive, had in addition to personal observation, a thorough knowledge of the tactical employment of all units engaged.

GOSSIP ABOUT THE COMPANY OFFICERS STUDENTS ARE NOW OVER THE "HUMP"

Now that the middle of January has come, morale among the student-officers has gone up fifty degrees. They're over the "hump" now leaving only one real "hump" to contend with. Most of them are hoping that the Medical Corps will do what it can this month to reduce that.

The arrival of Guard and Reserve field officers brought many acquaintances to Biglerville and the boys have welcomed home state friends with open arms. Golf, coon, drag and cat hunts, dinners and whatnot are being enjoyed by the visitors. Mayor Collins of Biglerville has been setting a good example. It is suspected that he is preparing his political machine for a run in Massachusetts. Being already well known to President Coolidge, his chances are reputed excellent. Rumors are that he first contemplates running for Adjutant General of that state. However, this may be only a "dry run."

Joiner, Payne, Hadsell and some of the boys who spent the holidays looking after their interests in New York, have been "swapping" experiences with Diller, who was able after much effect, to break away long enough to visit "relatives" at Louisville. Even Machle managed to leave Columbus interests long enough for a visit north.

New year's resolutions seem to have made a pretty good start. Now that Duke and McGee are not always present in the same class front row seats no longer sell at a premium and the instruction goes on without interruption. Most of the class is looking forward with considerable anxiety to equitation which Company B starts next week. With such horsemen to compete with as Capt. Duke who has had 35 years experience riding, most of us do not expect to shine in this enterprise. As Capt. Pearson said, after the first day most of us will be wishing the pad the medicos put on our arm the other day were transferred elsewhere. Some of the boys have been getting some advance dop. It is reported that they already have learned that one mounts on the left side and sticks the left foot into the stirrup first.

Mike Halloran's morale has gone down since the holidays and rain knocked out a few polo games. Not having Olmstead about to practice on with his mallet has put Mike entirely off form. However, it has given "Chick" a chance to allow his face to heal up. The student team will be handicapped for a time since Lt. Farmer broke a collar bone on a drag hunt Sunday. Lt. Landon also went over when his horse fell but, after some bandaging, was able to be about. If these boys were trying to improve on that demonstration of a perfect cropper staged by Lt. O'Neill of the Tanks durin gthe holidays, they might just as well quit for that fall was perfect.

The vacation seems to have done lots of good. Lt. Machle, wh got so worried over map reading and machine guns and put his half dollar under his pillow instead of his watch, now again puts the watch under the pillow.

Someone in the Advanced Class got the idea that we owed somebody something and announced to the company officers' class that they were going to start repaying, that the company officers' students could join in if they wanted to. The latter apparently didn't think they owed anyone anything and failed to warm up to the idea.

The new year already has reduced the population of Biglerville only these boys took the step sme time ago. McAllister and Hinton have moved into Columbus and Lt. McKnight "went and did it" during the holidays. With Childs, Prather and Knight all new bridegrooms since September, business seems to be picking up. Columbus rapidly is replacing Leavenworth as the "Mother of the Army."

29th Infantry Busy with School Work

Believing in the ancient maximum, "unless one is progressing deterioration and complete abolition will soon follow," the Twenty-ninth Infantry is following its policy of previous years of conducting schools in the regiment which will increase its efficiency. Thereby strengthening more fully its motto "We Lead the Way," and at the same time help the personnel of the regiment so that upon the completion of their studies they may return to their organizations better qualified in their work and as leaders.

The schools and the scope of their instruction that are now in progress within the regiment are as follows:

The Non-Commissioned Officers, or N. C. O. School as it is more commonly called, has as students select men from the line companies of the regiment who have been chosen for this detail by their company commanders because of exceptional qualitis as soldiers and leaders. Their instruction begins with the lowest phase and continuing onward to include map reading, physical training, operation and control of small arms, musketry, bayonet instruction and minor tactics.

The Intelligence School is made up of men from the headquarters intelligence platoons of the regiment they being selcted in the same manner as the men for the N. C. O. School. The name itself is self explanatory of the work of the schol, the men are taught map reading, marches, several of them being made by the students by day and by night, with and without compasses, establishing and methods of operating observation posts, scouting and patroling, in general every means and method of obtaining information of enemy forces and at the same time directly or indirectly directing or advising their own forces as to the proper course to follow.

The Elementary Education School has for its purpose the instruction of men in the regiment who in their early childhood were unfortunate in being unable to attend school, thus depriving them of one of the writer's opinion one of the greatest necessities of this age. Here these men are taught the fundamentals of a basic education so that upon the completion of the course if they so desire they may by self application pursue their studies and in time educate themselves.

The School of Equatation consists of the Mounted men of the regiment. These men may be seen daily studying correct horsemanship, correcting and perfecting themselves as riders. So thorough is the course of instruction if upon the completion of the course they have heeded and practiced their teachings they may rival cavalrymen in horsemanship and riding skill.

Sergeant Roy W. Miller Appointed First Sergeant, Service Company

Sergeant Roy W. Miller was born in Johnstown, Tenn., Aug. 11, 1898, finishing high school there he took a business course as expert accountant and bookkeeper but he was destined never to be able to follow this profession.

April 4, 1927, he enlisted in the Service wehn he was quickly promoted to the grade of Sergeant, in the latter part of 1917, he was commissioned, serving during the war as a second lieutenant.

At the end of the war he returned to Johnstown to take up his work in civilian life again, but something was missing; he longed for the old carefree life again. A short time later he re-enlisted with the 23rd Infantry, serving with this organization until 1925, his records show that he was an excellent soldier, he was discharged as sergeant with character excellent.

He became a member of the 29th Infantry in 1925, re-enlisting as a member of the Service Compnay, where he has made a host of friends among the members of the organization.

Sergt. Miller's many friends join in hoping he gives full current to the new born zeal of office, and endeavors to express the sense of honor conferred upon him, by an unmitigated activity in the discharge of his duties as First Sergeant.

Subject: News Notes from this Organization.

To: The Editor, The Infantry School News.

We are getting alng fine in this company lately although we believe in changing 1st Sergeants often. The real one Sergeant Biggerstaff, is on a 60-day furlough and the acting one is on a 10-day vacation. (Have a god time "Kelly.") This leaves Sgt. Bennett in charge of the ship which he is handling nicely. Oh well we know how.

The old Second Bns. are having a bad time lately having lost the football championship and then to cap the climax, the 1st Bn. beats us out in wrestling. The next in line is the basket ball championship and this company is going to put in a strong bid for it. Our team is coming along fine and with the able support of the "old reliable" Kjelstrom we are going out to beat them all.

Private Radford, who has been on a long vacation of about 9 months, has just turned in and promises to be a good soldier from now on.

—WM. B. SMITH.

Company "C"

Sgt. Barlow Swall took n another three year stack. Another "regular" staying in the Army.

Pvt. Lavender was given a discharge by minority, just one of the few who couldn't stand getting up these cold mornings.

Pvt. Sutherland decided he could do better in civil life; we wish him the best of luck.

The men in the Company are wondering what is the attraction down town or at least what draws one of our newly made Corporals in that direction so often.

We are having quite a few promotions in the Company. Those fellows sure deserved everything they received. Corporal John L. Biggerstaff, better known as Jiggs, is proudly sporting his three stripes, more power to you Jiggs. Pvt. 1cl (Jawbone) Hayes is next in line so he is wearing two stripes, but it has been told around the Company that he is afraid to go to sleep for fear that he will awake to find it only a dream.

Pvt. Morgan has just returned from a fifteen-day furlough just in time to run the Bayonet course. What about it gang, who says we can't made it a hundred per cent.

—J. V. C.

Company "E"

The thing we want this Company to think about is 100 per cent on the Bayonet Court. Of course it is going to be hard to beat this outfit, but watch our smoke. With all these fast men coming off furlough we will show you something.

Under the supervision of Lieut. Gilbreth and Sgt. "Hi" Davis, Company "E" Basket Ball Team is now in such condition that the whole team says that they are expecting to take the cup again this year. That's the spirit and we are all backing you up.

We have some skilled men in the Company that have turned in their names to attend the West Point Preparatory School. Corporal Perryman leads the list with Privates Crane, Exner, Stamper and Creasy. We wish them the best of luck.

Private First Class Gause is fixing to take on another stack of three (3) years. Glad to have you back in "E" Co. "Herb." It seems that every one is re-enlisting these days.

—J. H. R.

Company "G"

We have a new man in the Company by the name of Houle (Hula). Bates said that he would like to see him dance the "Hula Hula."

Corporal Creamer sent the C. O. a letter which reads as follows: Please extend my A. W. O. L. three days. Pvt. Creamer, Columbus, Ga.

We've got to hand it to War Set for getting a 24-hour pass for being the best N. C. O. on Guard. It was War Set's first guard in about ten yeasr, as he has been drilling all the time. Fine work Right Step.

Sergeant Southerland sure knows his readers.

Sergeant Richardson sure is going high. He has moved up on the third floor now.

Corporal Maynard is on the job drilling recruits and he sure is doing fine considering the material.

Well well! Corporal Tate made the grade this time. Stick with them Corporal.

Acting Corporal Covington sure knows the work in the kitchen. He showed Fry how to do K. P.

We are glad to see Corporal Kirkland and Berrong back on the job.

Corporal Morgan sure is strutting his stuff. We are glad to see you get it. Stay with them Dug.

We have Corporal Mansfield with us now. He sure can shoot a rifle and that isn't all Company "C" will be out of luck this year when they take up range work.

We are sorry to state that Sergeant Foltar and Private Gouldman are confined to the Hospital for a few days. These Christmas hangovers will come on, especially after indulging in expensive Scotch.

OFFICERS' MONOGRAPHS WILL BE COMPLETED NEXT WEEK

BENNING CAGESTERS LOSE HARD FOUGHT GAME TO OLSON'S SWEDES

Johnnie Roosma is High Point Man

Olson's Terrible Swedes handed the Infantry School Basketeers their first defeat f the season after a hard battle before one of the largest crowd of spectators that ever witnessed a basketball game here, at the Post Gymnasium on the nightof Jan. 5th.

The Musketeers forced the Swedes to play their best to win, and the large crowd was treated toa game of basketball seldom equalled on any court.

The main feature of the game was the playing of Franz and Roosma for the Infantry. Roosma was credited with nine field gals and four foul goals for a total of 22 points for the evening, his nearest competitor was Byers, Swede forward, who had thirteen points to his credit. Fat Franz dribbled rings round the visitors, his trick dribbling and passing as well as ball snatching makin gthe visitors look foolish n several occasions.

The team play of the Swedes was perfection itself, they never seemed to hurry but in the perfect technique of passing uncanny accuracy in shooting and general savoir faireon the goal they showed us all something. Each man knew just what he was supposed to do and did it without undue haste or apparent exertion, yet with exceeding efficiency.

Lineup and Summary:

Infantry	Field	Foul	Total
Roosma, F.	9	4	22
Kammerer, F	3	0	6

SPORTOPICS

(By Al)

The "Fighting Redtop" has returned to the fold after spending sixty days' furlough in the wilds of Alabama. Keenan looks like he is in tiptop condition, and he says that he is raring for a scrap. Red says that he would like very much to give Stetson a chance to prove which is the better man if the bout can be arranged.

Johnny Roosma proved his ability to loop baskets with the best of them, when he made Olson's Swedes sit up and take notice in the game played between he Infantry School and the Swedes here January 7th. In fact Olson himself said that Roosma was one of the best shots he ever saw, and that is saying something, for there is no doubt that Olson is classed as one of the greatest basketball players in the world.

The Terrible Tankers promise to be a big threat in baseball this season. They have added several new players to their number, while in Lt. A. L. Cobb they have one of the best choaches in the Garrison.

Only a few more short weeks and springtime will be here with its sunshine, flowers and honest to goodness baseball weather.

The horsehide artists are already talking baseball. Fat Franz was presented with a new bat by one of his many admirers some time ago and he is raring to start using it. McGaha and Logan Duff, two young pitchers, have been working out their pitching arms during the warm days and both say that this year s going to be one of their best.

ALL-BENNING FOOTBALL TEAM FOR 1927

(By Al Durden)

Before naming the players listed below who in my estimation are the best players at their respective positions, I know that quite a few will differ with my judgement.

Many of the critics pick Berrish over Lindsey for center, and there is no doubt that the scrappy center from the Second Bats is a great player, but if there is an edge I have to give it to the Redhead.

Sweeney is an overwhelming favorite at quarterback, Kjelstrom rules at fullback, althougn Brown of the First Bats played a great game at that position this year.

"Knubb" Bennett has proved his right as a halfback, while on a toss up Tommie Thompson squeezes Oikira out for the other back position.

There is no argument about Franz at left end. English of the First Bats is appointed guardian of the right flank. Bertleman and Daley of the Terrible Tankers are by far the best tackles to be found here.

The position of guard goes to Stewart of the Tanks and Clarke of the First Battalion, although Jeffords of the Artillery and Costello of the Tanks are very close seconds.

Line up:

Franz	LE
Bertleman	LT
Stewart	RG
Lindsey	C
Clarke	LG
Daley	RT
English	RE
Sweeney	QB
Thompson	RHB
Bennett	LHB
Kjelstrom	FB

Substitutes: Brown, McAuliffe, Oikira, Jefferies, Berrish.

BENNING MUSKETEERS WIN OVER CAGESTERS FROM LAND OF FLOWERS

The Collegian Basketeers from the land of alligators and orange blossoms, threw quite a scare into the Benning Musketeers on the Post Gym court last Saturday night when they ran up a six-point lead before the Doughboys had registered in the opening quarter.

Coach Steel had rather planned to play his second string men during the most of the game, as it was not expected that the college lads would furnish any great opposition, but when the boys from the land of flowers had scored six points while the Doughboys still carried a lone zero, Roosma and his mates were rushed to the rescue.

At the end of the first half the soldiers had regained the lead, the score showing Benning 24 against the visitors 20, but this was still too close to be comfortable, the first stringers staying in until the last two minutes of play.

Red Newman, one of Benning's star basketeers, who has been out of the game on accountof injuries, made his 1928 debut, relieveing Strickler at center in the last few minutes of play.

The Doughboys pulled away from the visitors in the last half the final score being 56 to 32 in favor of the Doughboys.

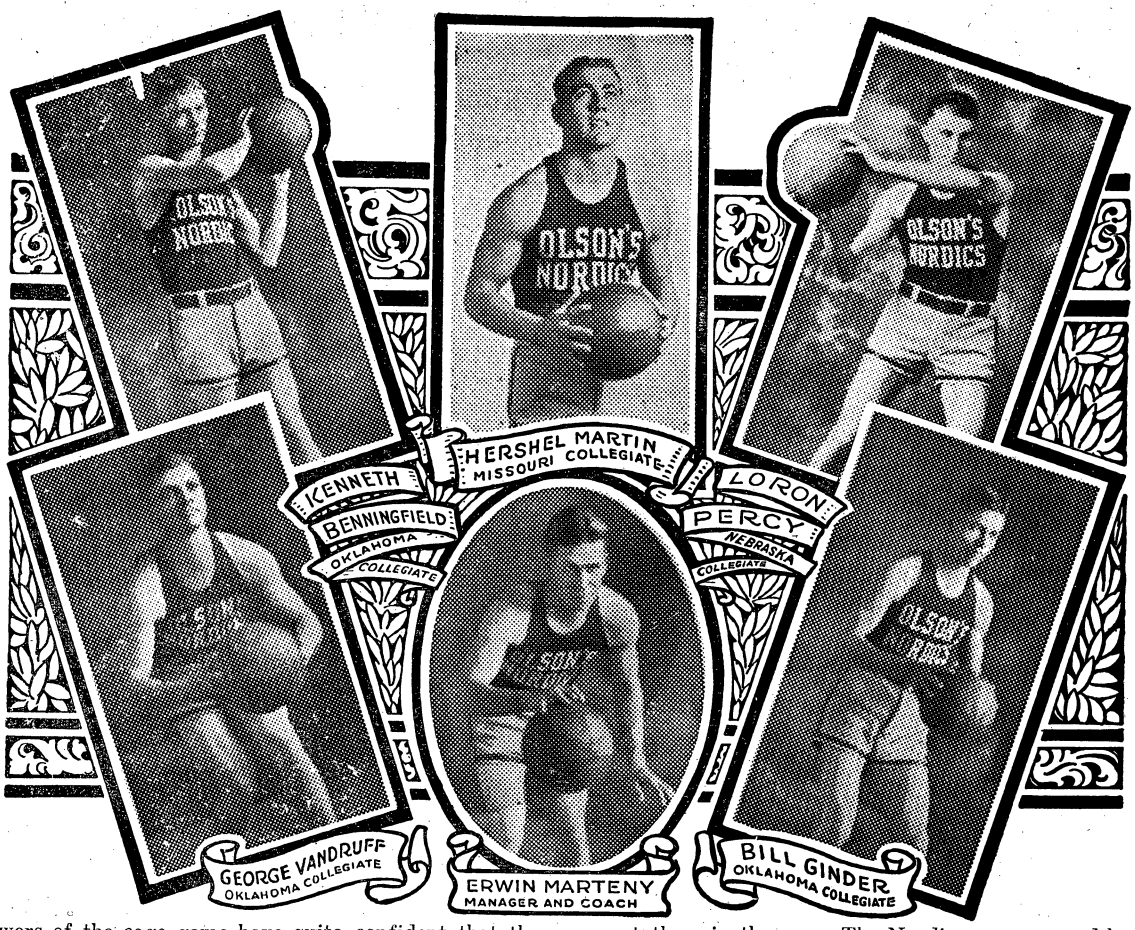
BENNING BASKETEERS—OLSON'S NORDICS HERE JANUARY 19TH



Followers of the cage game have quite a treat in store during the next couple of weeks when some of the leading basket ball teams of the country will oppose the Benning Musketeers at the Post Gymnasium.

On the night of Jannary 14th the Schofield Five will journey over from Macon for a game. This team is composed of all-star players and have not lost a game this season. The Musketeers are confident that they can put them in the lost column.

The Jewish Educational Alliance team from Savanah, Ga., will be the Doughboys next opponent. They will be here for a game January 17th. Nothing is known of the strength of this team but if it compares with their teams of past seasons it will be a very interesting evening.

Last but not least will be Olson's Nordics, a professional team as good as Olsn's Swedes who showed here some time ago. The Nordics are managed by Swede Olson and are made up of the same brand of players that compose the Terrible Swedes. This game will be played on the night of January 19th, and will no doubt be the feature game of the trio that will be played.

ALL-ARMY TEAM PRAISED IN LETTER

Headquarters 79th Division,
Schuylkill Arsenal,
Philadelphia, Dec. 5, 1927.

Major General Robert H. Allen,
Chie fof Infantry,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Allen:

Perhaps you will be interested in the observations of someone not connected with the army team upon the football game of last Saturday at Franklin Field, this city.

I had the pleasure of witnessing the triumph of our team over the marine aggregation, and you, and all of us, have every reason to be proud of the men who represented the army so successfully and so creditably.

They were quartered for several days prior to the game at the Q. M. School here at the Arsenal, and made a good impression on all of us by their fine husky appearance and good behavior.

At the game their superiority to the marine team was manifest from the start, not only in weight but in skill. Their training had obviously been of the highest order, nad the way they handled themselves on the wet slippery field was most creditable. There was a noticeable lack of fumbling in the forward passes and in the catching the ball on long punts.

It was, of course, a great satisfaction to us of the army to have our team show up so well. Philadelphia knows little of the army, and it was a fine thing to have the game here result as it did, for we need favorable publicity in a place where I am frequently asked if I am "stationed at the Navy Yard!" It would be a fine thing if we could have the game here each year. Unfortunately our army activities are so scattered and inconspicuous, what with the absence of any considerable garrison near here, that anything that serves to bring a little publicity fo rthe army is very desirable. The Army Band was a real asset and made a most favorable impression in its several appearances.

Colonel, Infantry, DOL.

DRAG HUNT A SUCCESS LAST SUNDAY

One of the biggest and most successfuly drag hunts given by the Officer's Club was held last Sunday morning. Several casualties resulted, however, when Mrs. J. W. Darr, wife of Lieut. Darr, was thrown and seriously hurt. She is now at the Post Hospital and is improving according to reports. Lieut. "Jack" Farmer sustained a broken collar bone and Captain Whisner, the "royal whip," was thrown as was Mrs. A. R. C. Sander.

Sergeant Tweed appeared in the hunt all decked out in his new red coat, helmets and white breeches which were presented to him as a Xmas present by the Hunt Club this year.

COL. DOANE NEW INSTRUCTOR WITH CALIFORNIA GUARD

Graduate of Infantry School Gets New Assignment

Colonel W. G. Doane has recently been assigned to the 159th Infantry, California National Guard, as instructor. Colonel Doane's record as giveh in the California Guardsmen, official publication of the national guard of that state, is as follows:

CAPTAIN HITE RETURNS TO FORT BENNING

Capt. J. M. Hite, 24th Infantry, formerly editor of the Infantry School News, returned to Fort Benning last week, after taking a month's leave of absence at his home in Topeka, Kan. The many friends of Captain Hite will be sorry to learn of the recent death of his father, Judge D. R. Hite, of Topeka, who was formerly Attorney-General of the state of Kansas.

Mrs. Brown: "I don't believe Mabel's young man is just all we thought he was, Bill."

Mr. Brown: "What is the trouble now?"

Mrs. Brown: "He has hung his hat over the keyhole."

NEW BARRACKS ... BE COMPLETED SOON

AMATEUR FIGHTERS WILL HOLD BIG TOURNAMENT IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Capt. Mabbutt Made Member of National Boxing Commission; Ft. Benning Will Be Represented

The interest of the public in the work of the fighters of the amateur class has grown until it now rivals that of the professional leather pushers.

Some of the youngsters who have been taught the manly art of self defense under the expert teaching of Capt. Charles Mabbutt, Army boxing instructor, and his assistant, Lt. O'Neal, during the past year will carry the colors of Fort Benning in the coming Amateur Boxing Tournament against the best amateur fighters to be found in the United States.

The Amateur Tournament which will be held under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United Sttaes, has stirred up quite a bit of interest throughout the country. Already offers have been received from the following places: Mr. H. C. Brennan of Michigan Association, Mr. Robert L. Probst of the Western Association, Roy F. Stadel of the Niagara Association and Mr. A. J. Bechtold of the Ohio Association. The Cleveland Athletic Club and San Francisco also telegraphed a very favorable bid.

The members of the A. A. U. Boxing Committee will decide where the tournament will be held by votes, the offers of ach person or association being considered and the one getting the highest number of votes will be awarded the tournament.

Fort Benning is in the South Eastern District, and the amateur fighters here must compete with the fighters of the other teams tha belong to the South Eastern District to gain a place on the team that will represent this district in the big tournament.

Fort Benning should be represented in three weights, Mysterious Billy Smith should easily stop anything in the light heavy class, while Pieters or Parker will surely make the going warm in the one thirty-five class. In the featherweight class Jack Phillips and Asher will have to decide who will make the trip, but either one will give a good account of himself. We have a crop of heavies that have yet to show their wares, Clarke, Daley, Montondon and Marquette being logical contenders for the Garrison heavyweight crown.

An item of interest to the Benning fight fans is the appointment of Captain Charles Mabbutt as a member of the National Boxing Committee, at a meeting of the A. A. U., Jan. 7, 1928.

Captain Mabbutt is also chairman of the Boxing Committee of the Southeast-

BENNING'S NEW STAGE WILL BE DEDICATED FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Dramatic and Glee Clubs Will Present Plays Opening Nights; Splendid Productions Will Feature

As announced in last week's issue of The Infantry School News, Benning's new stage will be formally opened next Friday and Saturday evenings, January 27 and 28, by a double bill to be presented by the Infantry School Glee and Dramatic Clubs. These organizations have been working on their productions for some weeks and from present indications this presentation of plays by these two prominent organizations of Fort Benning will be the best in their history.

A brief description of the two productions follow:

"Trial By Jury"

Gilbert and Sullivan's burlesque operetta to be presented by the Glee Club is a one-act operetta. The subject for this act is a breach of promise suit; the setting, a court of justice, and the treatment, a travesty of legal proceedings.

Edwin, a man of fickle tastes, has deserted his Angelina. In extenuation of his conduct he declares that he is only obeying "Nature's" laws, for "Nature is ever-changing."

The Judge, who philanders first of all with one of the bridesmiads, and then with the jilted bride herself, precedes the

REFRESHER CLASS AT INFANTRY SCHOOL COMPRISES FOUR GENERALS

Generals Howland, Short, Rosenbaum, and Lott in New Class; Brief History of Service Given

The Refresher class at the Infantry School at the present time is the largest class of its kind ever held here—not in numbers, but in rank. Never at any other time were there four generals assembled in one class before. And all of the aforesaid newly made brigadiers were just recently promoted to their present grades. One of the members of the class—General Howland—received his star as a Christmas present, his date of rank being on December 25, 1927.

Making a study of the careers of these officers has been a most interesting one. One feature of the result of this study is the fact that all of the members of the class are all within one year of each other in so far as age is concerned. They are all 56 years of age with the exception of one who is the senior; and then he is not over one year the senior. Of course we're not telling any secrets for all can very easily look up the old Register and find out the age, and life history of any officer of the U. S. A. Another thing: all of the newly made generals have seen quite a bit of service in the Philippines during the days of the Insur-

First Battalion Stages Maneuver

The entire First Battalion last Monday night staged one of the most successful problems ever to be conducted at the University School according to those who witnessed the maneuver.

At 5 o'clock all of the companies of the battalion with Howitzer Company attached had assembled at the water tanks on the First Division road in readiness to move out. Immediately after the battlion had assembled the battalion commander, Major Griswold, assembled the officers of the battalion, explained to them the purpose of the problem and issued final orders.

Here they waited till darkness before starting on their night's work when they set out along the Ohio road with companies in column distances of from two to three hundred yards. Here the real test began. Each officer and platoon leader had been given a definite bearing on which to march and assemble, the place of assembly being in the Fourth Infantry Woods, with their line of march being over open ground, ditches, through woods that in places were thick with underbrush, talking, smoking or any use of lights were prohibited or to be brief the march was conducted as if it were an actual combat condition.

When the companies arrived at the selected point in the Fourth Infantry Woods they were met by their company commanders with scouts who had reconnoitered the new position, Maxley Ridge and Lumpkin Ridge, and guided them into them. Immediately on their arrival the companies deployed to establish their line of attack.

After each company had established its proper position the company commanders of each company reported that fact to the Battalion Commander who was stationed at Hook Range Huse. When the last company had reported, the troops were assembled and marched in to their respective organizations where they were served with lunches.

Th officers of the battalion were served with lunches at Company "B" through the courtesy of its Company Commander, Capt. Rustemeyer.

Hdqrs. Co., 2nd Bn.

Our acting "Top Kick" is now back on the job after a 10 days vacation which was spent, part of the time away from the Post. "Kelly" is also sporting his new watch that was presented to him yesterday by the Battalion Commander, for his fine record on the rifle range last year, he being high man in the Regiment.

Our Company Clerk, Private Carnes is also back after a 60-day furlough which was spent in Alabama. We hope Carnes didn't get the "home fever" while he was away, because we will have good use of him when the baseball season starts. Pvt. Hitchner who has been doing company clerk's work at Hqrs. is now doing duty with the company, as it was thought that he had forgotten how to handle a rifle.

Our Company Basketball team is coming along nicely under the able guidance of Sgt. Kjelstrom ,and we expect to give the other teams in the Regiment a run for their money.

FRIDAY, JAN. 20

"THE GAY DEFENDER," starring Richard Dix with Thelma Todd. The heroic, romantic exploints of Joaquin Murrieta, early California's most dominant figure, supply the basis for this melodrama of the ranchos. Villiany of gold-greedy adventurers turns a lansuid aristocratic youth into a terrorizing, night riding Robin Hood. His single handed bravery stamps out oppression and wins him back both hacienda and sweetheart.

"Pathe News No. 5."

SATURDAY, JAN. 21

"BACK TO GOD'S COUNTRY," starring Renee Adoree in a screen version of the novel by James Oliver Curwood. It is a vivid human romance of the wild waste lands of the north, portraying the undying love of a French trapper's daughter for an American Engineer who woed and won her "Back to God's Country."

"Oh Mummy." Jimmy Adams comedy.

SUNDAY, JAN. 22

"WHAT PRICE GLORY," featuring Edmond Lowe, Dolores Del Rio and Victor McLaglen in one of the most powerfully emotional pictures on the screen today. One singular feature is the fact that there is not a villian in the play. It is the story of two soldiers of fortune; they are first shown in China, then in the Philippines and finally in major operations of the World War. These men are partners in war but rivals when it comes to captivating the gentler sex. Dolores plays the part of a highly attracive French girl over whom these soldiers contend. Over 125 tons, think of it, "tons" of T. N. T. were used for detonations in the battle scenes. More than 100 miles of film were used in "shooting" the picture. It is considered more powerful and spectacular than "The Big Parade" and "Ben Hur."

"Paramount News."

MONDAY, JAN. 23

"THE FLYING U RANCH," starring Tom Tyler in a story dealing with a young ctatle ranger who is assigned to the Flying U to apprehend a notorious rustler—he appears as a Mexican Senor, makes himself generally disliked and falls in love with the ranch owner's sister-in-law just returning from college. He proves himself to be prety decent after all, fulfills his mission ,and saves the girl from a perilous situation. It contains the usual smash, flames and spirit which dominate the acting of Tyler and his pals.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 8."

TUESDAY. JAN. 24

"THE MAGIC FLAME," starring Ronald Colman and Vilma Bankey. The action of the story occurs in a Mediterranean country, Barretti's circus furnishing the background against which Vilma and Ronald make love. Coleman plays a dual part; it is when Colman, the clown, has triumphed over Colman the count that the locale is switched to the Royal Court where the clown is accepted as King of Illyria. When Vilma arrives at court t oavenge the murder of her lover, the clown, she does not suspect the true identity of the Monarch. The disintanglement of this tense situation furnishes a keenly interesting story.

"SHORT SOCKS." Vernon Comedy.

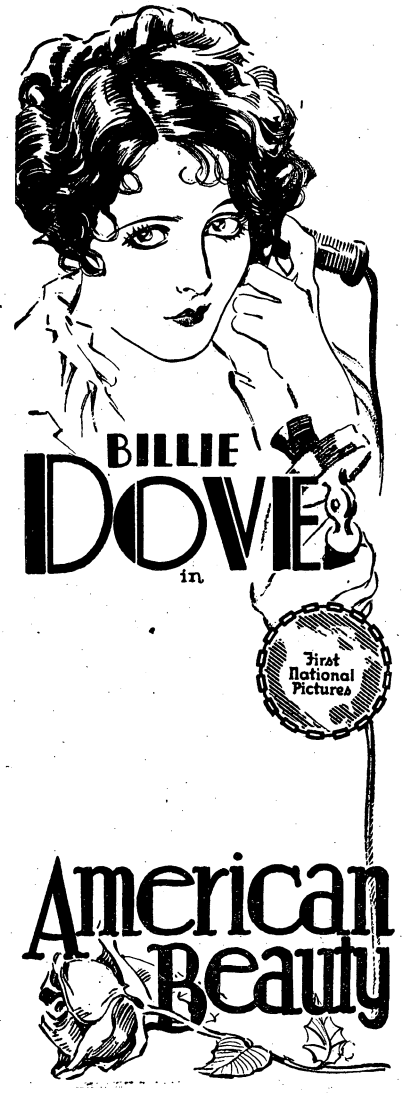
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 25

"BECKY," featuring Sally O'Neal and Owen Moore. This is a lavish spectacular Cosmopolitan story depicting the life of a girl of Irish-Jewish extraction who aspires to stage fame. She loses her department store job, then fate steps in and her rise starts—she meets with pleasant surprises and heart rending disappointments, both professionally and romnatically. She finally learns the real difference between a boiled shirt and a gentleman. Back stage life, intrigue and comedy sketches characterize the story.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, JAN. 26

"AMERICAN BEAUTY," starring Billie Dove with Lloyd Hughes in a story



wherein "Billie" solves the difficult problem of a beautiful girl who has no money but of marriage—it is the whimsical story conceals the fact behind a screen of pretense in order to catch a millioniare for a husband. She finally catches the millionaire in her net then discovers he isn't such a catch after all. Tens edramatic moments in this play are cleverly cloaked in strains of skillful comedy.

"Flirty Fourflusher." Sennett Comedy.

FRIDAY, JAN. 27

"THE HAVESTER," from the famous novel by Gene Stratton Porter, starring Natalie Kingston. The locale of the story is the Limberlost estate in northeastern Indiana on the shore of Sylvan Lake where nature's beauties abound. It is a romance of plain people of the back woods country and most beautifully portrays the finer elements of human character as contrasted with avarice and brutality. The pictures were actually taken at the author's home under the able direction of J. Leo Meehan.

"Pathe News No. 7."

Angelica: Joe's new speedster is awfully cute.

Betty: Yes you ought to see it play dead on a lonely road.

MRS. GRADY AND MRS. MORROW ENTERTAIN AT LOG CABIN

Friday, the thirteenth, proved a propitious party date, six very interesting affairs having been given on that day.

Mrs. Eugene Morrow and Mrs. Clyde Grady entertained ten tables of bridge at the Log Cabin on Friday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Charles M. Johnson, the guest of Col. and Mrs. Wait C. Johnson, and Miss Margaret Graham, the guest of Capt. and Mrs. Butler L. Knight. Rubber bridge was played and at the conclusion of the game the tables were laid with covers of rainbow hues, with candle and nut cups to match. A pretty sight it was to see in the dusky twilight a rose table here, an orange one there, then a blue, a green, a yellow, an orchid and so on. A savory salad followed by delicious ices was served.

The following ladies deny that Friday the thirteenth brings bad luck, for they won dainty handpainted boudoir candlesticks and candles which also carried out the rainbow colors: Mrs. Wait C. Johnson, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Dahlquist, Mrs. Kilburn, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Childs, Miss Kate Snyder, Mrs. Becque, Mrs. Warfield and Mrs. Vinson. The honorees were presented similar honors.

Mrs. Robb MacKie, Jr., complimented Miss Louise LaDue, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Lt. and Mrs. E. O. Earle, with a small bridge tea on Friday. There were twelve players, Mrs. Ralph Watkins winning high score prize and Mrs. Ira Black second. Six friends came in as special guests for tea.

Mrs. J. C. Baker complimented her guest, Mrs. J. D. Baker, of Berkeley, Calif., with a delightful tea on Friday.

Col. and Mrs. Ralph W. Kingman honored their guest, Miss Agnes Gray, of New York City, with a beautiful dinner party before the Officers Club dance. There were fourteen guests: Miss Gray, Miss Louise LaDue, Lt and Mrs. Earle, Capt. and Mrs. Brett, Capt. and Mrs. Rice, Capt. DeWare, Lt. Lt. Burdock, Lt. Hadsell, Lt. Strohbehn.

Maj. and Mrs. Ralph A. Jones entertained at a very large and very delightful buffet supper, their guests going later to the dance. There were thirty-six who partook of this hospitality.

Miss Agnes Gray, the honored guest of Mrs. Ralph Kingman, has been shown charming courtesies since the moment of her arrival. On Thursday Mrs. Kingman had a party of four to lunch at Mrs. Young's Grill. On Thursday afternoon Miss Gray was Mrs. Ahrend's guest at bridge, in the evening she attended the Artillery bridge party given at the Artillery Club. On Friday she was guest of honor at a dinner party. Saturday she was honored with a lovely tea, and on Sunday, after the Polo game, Col. and Mrs. Kingman were "at home" to a large group of friends. Monday Mrs. Brier entertained at lunch in her honor. Tuesday she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Harris. Wednesday Mrs. Vinson was hostess at a bridge luncheon for her and Thursday she was Mrs. Bishop's guest at a bridge tea.

* * *

Mrs. Jarrett M. Huddleston, Sr., of Washington, D. C., who has been the guest for several weeks of her son and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. J. M. Huddleston, Jr., will return on Saturday to her home. On Sunday evening Mrs. Huddleston, Jr., had as her guest to supper Mr. George Rothwell Brown, also of Washington, D. C., who spent a few days of last week as the guest of his son, Lt. Rothwell H. Brown, of the 29th Infantry.

On Tuesday afternoon the regimental bridge clubs met. Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. James Bolt were hostesses to the 29th club at their club rooms. There were eight tables of players and Mrs. Robert Case won first prize, a magazine rack, Mrs. Henry Brandhorst second, an ice tub with tongs. After the game sandwiches and coffee were served.

Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. H. S. Kelley entertained the ladies of the 24th at Mrs. Scott's home. There were about forty present and the first, second and third prizes were won by Mrs. Curren, Mrs. Paul Steele and Mrs. Earle, respectively. The dainty lemon ice which was served was very acceptable on that warm January afternoon.

The Tank club met with Mrs. Emmett Emanuel. There were three tables and the first prize was won by Mrs. Macklin, the second by Mrs. Reed and the third by Mrs. Dietz. When the game was over Mrs. Emanuel served a salad course with tea.

* * *

On Tuesday of last week Maj. and Mrs. R. A. Jones were hosts at a very charming dinner party. Their guests were Maj and Mrs. Fletcher, their mother and father, Capt. and Mrs. Fletcher, who are making their son and daughter a visit, Maj and Mrs. Torrey, Col. and Mrs. Mason, and Col. and Mrs. Baker.

On Wednesday at one Mrs. W. H. Vinson entertained eighteen friends at a bridge luncheon in honor of Miss Agnes Gray. Red and white was the color note, which was carried out in flowers, candles and in the menu. After lunch tables were arranged for bridge and just before the game began Mrs. Kingman in a unique way announced that Miss Gray had that morning written two poems which she had begged her to bring along and read to us. Amid applause of anticipatory delight, she modestly arose and read them, one "A Visitor Rides at Benning" based on her recent experience in the riding class, and the second a sonnet written at the request of the Writers Club of Atlanta for use Thursday, Jan. 19th, at their celebration of Robert E. Lee's birthday. It was inspired by the Valentine statue of the great general which shows him asleep on the battlefield. This statue is in the chapel at Washington and Lee University, and those who read Miss Gray's sonnet will find a sublimity there which brings immortality nearer. The first poem appears in this issue of the News. You will see for yourself how charmingly she turns so-called unpoetic material into a delightful poem. The wide range expressed on these poems prove again her versatility as a writer.

The game was then played and the first prize, a rose chiffon boudoir pillow, was won by Mrs. Brier, the second, a novelty jar of French powder, was won by Mrs. Grady, and the honoree was given a handmade handkerchief. The guests were: Miss Gray, Mrs. Kingman, Mrs. Spiller, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Micklewait, Mrs. Brandhorst, Mrs. Prather, Mrs. Knight, Miss Graham, Mrs. Grady, Mrs. Hardee, Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. Rutledge, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Dager, Mrs. Dahlquist and Mrs. Brier.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Raymond Bishop honored Mrs. Charles M. Johnson with a large lovely bridge party at the 29th Club rooms.

Mrs. Edwin Butcher was hostess at a lovely luncheon on Thursday.

Mrs. Harry Collins entertained her Tuesday afternoon bridge club on that day. There were three tables of players and Mrs. Wharton won high score prize, Mrs. Hardee second.

* * *

Kirven's
ESTABLISHED 1876

Place—Polo Club.
Date—First and Third Mondays.
Next Meeting—February 6th.
Time—2:15.

On Monday afternoon there assembled at the Polo Club more than a hundred members of the Infantry School Woman's Club, and a group of Columbus clubwomen who were specially invited to be present on an occasion which will as long as life shall last be a joy to remember. For Miss Agnes Gray read some of her exquisite verse. Not often in the span of one's life can there come such an inspiration and uplift as was experienced on Monday when the entire audience was literally transported to a realm of joyous beauty. As this dainty gifted girl, whose name is written already among the great, combined beauty of imagery with beauty of word and form and voice and feeling she expressed with perfect sincerity her poetry. She has a brilliant mind, well stored with a scholar's lore, and a heart and soul that respond in a sublime way to the finer things. From the moment the program began till it was all too soon brought to a close, the audience was spell-bound and half smiles (which express the finer things far better than whole ones) and tear-filled eyes were unbidden attestations of genuine appreciation.

From "Shepherd to The Poet," where the plain, hardy practical man of the Irish hills expresses his idea about poets and ends his meditation with amazement that even God could make from the same clay poets and "useful men"—to her conclusion with "Wild Roses" that refuse to be tamed there followed in quick succession such lovely poems that it was like a necklace of faultless pearls perfectly matched and graduated, the big center ones being possibly "The Unknown Soldier," and "Ballet Russe."

And surely the poet's soul found delight in the music which introduced the program and which was presented at appropriate intervals. Mrs. Edgar Miller and Mrs. Leonard Boyd sang together "Sunbeams," by London Ronald, and "Nearest and Dearest" by Caracciola. At the first interlude Mrs. Miller sang "Ship o' Dreams" by Herbert Francis, and "Elf and Fairy" by Dinsmore. Later Mrs. Boyd concluded the musical program with "Slumber" by Gretchaninoff and "Wind in the South" by John Prindle Scott, Mrs. Edwin Butcher accompanying throughout. Especially happy was the choice of musicians and their choice of songs was ideal embodying as they did the spirit of airy, fairy lightness, and loveliness.

After the program Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Randolph were hostesse at tea. On the table was a gorgeous Catnon linen tea cloth and the centerpiece was a handsome silver bowl filled with pink Killarney roses and orchid ageratum. Four tall silver candlesticks held orchid tapers burning. Mrs. Philip B. Peyton poured coffe and Mrs. Charles D. Roberts presided at the tea service.

The Literary Club will meet next Monday, Jan. 23, at the Polo Club at 2:00 at which time Mrs. Vinson will present her program of Contemporary Scandinavian Literature. It will be as follows:

Foreword: Realism in Scandinavian Literature, Mrs. Vinson.

Non-fiction—Roald Amundsen's "My Life as an Explorer", Mrs. Spiller.

Fiction—Hildur Divelius' "The Minister's Daughter," Mrs. Kingman.

Drama—Stringberg's "The Stronger," Mrs. Peake.

—Mrs. W. H. Vinson.

BEE'S BUZZINGS

(By Beatrice Davis)

This colyum herewith announces its appearance. It isn't the outgrowth of any great idea, o rmovement—like Topsy, it just growed." It will be a very unusual colyum—for it seeks no great reform—has no desire to uplift any society or thing. It merely seeks to amuse for a few moments.

It starts off its journalistic career with this pertinent paragraph:
"Laugh, and the world laughs with you; Cry, and you streak your rouge. . ."

Of course, a newly made colyumnist must interview the most important personages in a township, or fort. In this instance, ye colyumnist interviewed none other than the Bishop of Biglerville—or rather not Bishop—but Potentate of Bachelors, or Mogul of Twenty-One—Lt. Larry Collins.

When interviewed, the Mayor stated, "I stand in my own boots, and wear no man's Sam Browne! And, if there is any chance that I was elected to this present high office by some powerful ring of politicians—I herewith formally make the announcement that I positively will not, in any wise, interfere with the post as it is run today. I feel that the powers-that-be have the situation well in hand, and I do not feel it incumbent upon me to suggest changes."

Worthy sentiments for one holding such high office!

Ad appearing in one of the daily papers not long ago, "Wanted—Furnished room for young man with garage."

"Mother, may I go out to neck?
Yes, my darling Palma,
And ask your boy-friend if he knows
Someone to ask for mama."

The curly-haired maiden of seven summers, and we presume, as many winters, faced the stren judge.

"My child, you admit that you killed your father—and still you state that there were mitigating circumstances—that you have adequate defense?"

"I do," sweet Mable replied, a sad little frown on her childish brow, "but it was the best for him."

"How do you know it was?" the stern Judge cried. He was hurt to see such a baby brought up before him.

"It was this way, Judge," the child began, " Iasked him to tell me a bed-time story one night——"

"The night of the murder?" the Prosecuting Attorney put in.

"If you insist on applying that horrid name for it—yes," Mable affirmed, "but for myself, I consider it humane, and justified."

"Proceed with your account," the Judge called.

"Beginning anew—I had asked poor, dear father to tell me a bedtime story," the baby answered, and then seemed to be overcome with just the thought, for th salty tears began to fall. She quickly regained her poise, however, and continued. "He started off the bedtime story by saying that there was once a family who stayed at home nearly every evening, and listened to the radio instead of gadding about—that the mother didn't play bridge every afternoon and evening, and that the father didn't belong to every Club going, and attend every Girl Review that came to town. Going on with his story he stated that the son stayed in at night to study and fit himself for a career as a useful citizen for his country, instead of dancing and drinking the rotten stuff they serve and sell nowadays, and that the daughter never rouged—or necked——"

"Yes," the judge leaned forward breathless.

"I stopped the story at this point, and asked poor father if he really believed such a family existed."

"Go on, go on!" the judge cried.

"Poor father answered 'yes'——"

"What happened?" cried the horror-strucken Prosecuting Attorney.

"And so," Mable stopped a moment to wipe the tears from her babyish eyes, "I shot him—to preserve his illusions."

"Acquitted," crie dthe Judge, his heart going out to the child for her heroism—and at this, the mob surged forward, and Mable, the childish heroine o fthe day, was carried out on the shoulders of the wildly-huzzah-ing crowd, while hats were tossed in the air, and a babel of excited voices offered congratulations.

Sadie, the Flapper Stenographer of the firm of Cheatham and Swindellham, after attending a heavy lecture on the ancient Green religion—their gods and goddesses, etc., stretched her arms above her head, and yawned sleepily, "Mer-cury—but I wisht I was in the arms of Morphine."

Sollie dashed madly up, "Say, have you heard about Arthur?"

"No, tell me!" breathlessly she cried.

"Oh, you must know Arthur-mometer," Sollie answered, greatly pleased. "And, listen, I know a lot of other good nes! Have you heard what the man said when he was asked, 'Say who was that lady I seen yo uwith last night?'—at this, she pasted him on the bean with a package of Irsih confetti, and left him blissfully unconscious.

An exclusive feature of this department will be the short story contest to b econducted, beginning next week. The rules are very strict; but hurry and write your story—it may win the grand prize! The rules are this: It must be a short story of not over, nor less than, 10,000 words in length. It must be an epic; positively nothing less than an epic accepted, and super-epics preferred; it must be clean, virile—and strong—as no trashy stuff is ever read by the public.

One short story, from the pen of Violetta Anatasia Charlotte-Russe Smith has already been received. Miss Charlotte-Russe-Smith says, as she hands us her document of human hearts: "I only write this in the hope that it will save some other maiden from the pit-falls in which I fell. Up until Iwas thirty-nine years old, I was just as happy and carefree as a girl could be—until—the serpent entered my garden of Eden, and girlishly, I fell head over heels in love with our ice-man." This document is guaranteed to cause the most blase and rock-hearted to shed weeps as Miss Smith unfolds this tale of brave hearts, and cruel circumstances. The name is "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," or "A Young Girl's Temptations in the Big City."

Look for the first big installment—it begins in next week's issue. Your copy of this issue will be reserved for you by immediately sending certified check for 20$ to Manager, "Short Story Department, Infantry School News." An extra press has been added to the printing department, to take care of the added circulation that the printing of this story of virtue triumphant is bound to bring about!

Sadie says she knows a man so bashful he blushes to see salad dressing.

Which brings the initial effort of this colyum to finis!

Battery "B"

Sergeant Simpson was greatly disappointed in not being able to secure an 80-day furlough but he finally accepted a 60-day furlough and left for parts unknown. After two whole days absence who should put in his appearance but Simp. He says its a Cruel, Cruel world.

Corporal Johnson says that three years in Battery "B" is not enough. He also has his eyes on the six-bit bonus.

Sergeant Antley is planning on making his second attempt at running a poultry farm. We all hope that he will have better success than before.

Private Rains, that blue-eyed Texan, is purchasing his discharge so that he may go back to the wild and woolly west.

Sergeant Gardner was able to crowd a 60-day furlough into 5 days. How did you do it Archie?

A week or more ago one of the Panther's section horses got loose and paid him a visit, but the Panther was not at home so the Battery Pet, better known as 1056, turned loose n his bunk and gave it a sleigh ride.

Battery "C"

Sergeant Martin is seriously considering ordering one wife F. O. B. He has to date subscribed for at least five of the leading matrimonial magazines. He can't decide which he prefers, a blond or a brunete.

Certain members of the Battery have been compelled to get a hair cuit, G. I. 'Tis sad to see the heads once adorned with curly locks. "Abie" Barksdale was among the number, buttrust him to pull a new one—he saved a bunch in front which looks like a G. I. foretop.

The Battery is on fire guard this week and we have several homesick married men, notably Corporal Knox.

The Battery Commander was pleased with the equipment displayed for inspection Saturday and no doubt surprised in many cases. The boys are snapping these days. There are several reasons for this, one being the splendid leadership of our officers and the ability to handle men typified by our Battery Commander, Captain Busch. We invite anyone to look over our records for AWOL and desertion, our Mess or any other part of the organization. We have a good Battery and are proud of it. THERE IS A REASON.

P. C. Davis received a letter written in some language other than English. No, it isn't Hebrew; it came from Phenix City.

The owls are grooming their feathers and taking and taking music lessons—so Crownover reports from the wilds of Tennessee.

Jackson is a short timer now. Just a mere matter of months. If he leaves us he'll soon be back. Should he go home he will be among strangers, for the old coons are all dead and the young ones never knew him.

Who got Moore's breeches? "Abie" you should be ashamed.

This introduces Mr. Gerson E. Garner, LaGrange, Georgia. He never heard a joke without a comeback; was never busted playing black jack; is a famous poker player; a trainer of dice; a pool shark; the conqueror of TNT and never met his equal but one time—ask him how he lost his teeth.

Supply Sergeant Crandell has reorganized his office force. He now has an Adjutant and Personnel Adjutant and between the three you can find out 'most anything, if you wait long enough.

BENNING'S NEW STAGE WILL BE DEDICATED NEXT WEEK

hearing of the case with a rollicking biographical (almost biological) song. This describes how, when a young barrister, he found a way to success by courting a rich atorney's "elderly, ugly daughter."

Counsel for the plaintiff tells of the "honeyed" hours between the couple that has made one "secluded spot" a bower and another "an Arcadian Vale."

The Defendant's offer to marry one love today, if he may marry another tomorrow, is rejected by Counsel on the ground that: "to marry two at once is 'Burglaree'." The faithless swain thereupon besmirches his own character with a view to mitigating the damages. The Lady, on the other hand, makes a parade of her devotion; also with a view to enhancing the damages.

In the end the Judge, unable to reconcile the parties (because of the 18th Amendment), throws his papers and books about, comes down the steps into the courtroom, and promises to marry the lady himself.

This, he holds, demonstrates that: "though his law is fudge, of beauty he's a judge," and, "as the impressionable jury choruses"—"A Good Judge Too."

The musical numbers follow:

Musical Numbers

1. Opening chorus, "Hark the Hour," usher's solo, "Now Jurymen," and chorus, "From Bias Free."

1-a. Defendant's entrance, chorus, "Monster Dread," and solo, "Hear Me."

2. Solo, deefndant, "Tink-a-tank" and chorus, leading to recitation by usher, "Silence in Court."

3. Entrance of Judge, "All Hail" chorus; response, "He'll Tell Us How," leading into:

4. Judge's song, followed by chorus, "For He is . . ."

5. Recitation and solo, "Kneel Jurymen" by Usher; chorus, "We'll Try," and quartette, "They'll Try."

6. Scene: "Where is the Plaintiff?" Bridesmaid's entrance and chorus; solo, plaintiff; and chorus, "Happy Be Thy Life, Oh Maid," by Ensemble.

7. Recitation by Judge, Foreman and Bridesmaids; chorus by Jury, terminating with, "Ah Monster," Judy.

8. Recitations and solos; Counsel, "With a sense," "See My Client," "Swiftly Fled," "Picture Them"; responses by chorus, terminating with trio and chorus, "Cheer Up."

9. Concerted number (with action), Judge, Foreman, Plaintiff, Jury and chorus.

10. Solo, defendant, "Listen I Pray."

11. Scene and recitation by Judge, Counsel, Jury, chorus and usher.

12. Sextette, "A Nice Dilemma," by Judge, Counsel, Plaintiff, Defendant, Usher, Foreman, leading into a Coro.

13. Finale: Duet, "I love him" vs. "I smoke," Plaintiff and Defendant.

Chorus, "Fairly Active."

Recitation: "The Question," Judge, after which, "We Do Object," scene, mixed, "Furies Seize You," Judge.

Incidental solos: Plaintiff, Defendant and Usher.

"We've Settled With the Job," entire ensemble.

"The Drums of Oude"

This play, by Austin Strong, will be the vehicle by which the Infantry School Dramatic Club will do its share in dedicating the new stage. Though played professionally in England for a spectacular two years' run, it has never been produced publically in this country. Filled with dramatic action from the rising of the curtain we follow Captain Hector McGregor, commandant of the Highlander garrison at Oude through mutiny, wassacre and terror, faced at all times by overwhelming odds. His task is doubled by the presence in the garrison of his life long sweetheart but with superhuman fortitude he is outwardly cheerful even when he sees the lowly chupattie cake—ordinarily the bread of India, but in this instance the signal that all was set for the rebellion and massacres—passed before his very eyes. Actual and fancied grievances, spurred on by agitators working with blazing success ;36,000 British against 257,000 trained and equipped native troops; the flame of revolt well nigh ending Fritish domination in India; regiments mutinying en masse; relieving columns which could never apparently arrive fighting against forces often five times their strength—such is the background against which "The Drums of Oude" is projected.

MANY FROM ARMY ENTER WEST POINT

Success of the effort launched twelve years ago to draw a proportion of the cadets at West Point from the ranks of the regular army and National Guard is indicated in War Department figures published Jan. 7, 1928, showing a total of 599 admissions to the academy from these sources during the period.

In addition, hundreds of young men desiring to win appointment to the military academy have joined both the regular army and the National Guard.

GALLOPING GUNNERS AND STUDENTS ARE VICTORS IN SUNDAY POLO

Students Vanquish Freebooters While Gunners Rout Infantry

Shannon Field was again a field of action last Supnday afternoon. Hundreds of interested spectators watched while Benning polo teams fought for supremacy in the mounted mallet game.

The Galloping Gunners from the 83rd F. A. drove the mounted Doughboys from the 29th Infantry to cover in the initial contest.

Led by Lt. Grubbs the Gunners stormed the Duoghboy goal repeatedly and although Captain Pinkey Burress and his crew put up a stubborn fight the Gunners won 8 to 1.

The second contest was won by the Student Four over the once mighty Freebooters, 9 to 3.

Led by Captain Boyers the Students easily swept the field before them, winning over the once hard-riding Sea Robbers with ease. During the first period the Freebooters flashed some of their old time fight and fire, holding the Students scoreless. But in the next period the Yellowjackets gave ground before the Student attack and were completely outclassed during the remainder of the game.

TWENTY-NINTH INFANTRY HOWITZER COMPANY

Yes we are still at the same location and business is good, thank you. (Too god, in fact.)

It has been so long since we have had anything in print that I do not know just what has been the highest of the high lights to tell about, but, some of them are:

Cpl. Corn has been dsicharged via. E. T. S. O yes he did, for three more in the same place, and we are all glad to hear it too.

Cpl. Miller has returned from a sixty-day furlough. That is, a soldier by that name has returned to duty, but, the Cpl. Miller who we have always known was a larger man by about twenty-five pounds.

Cpl. Melson has returned from a thirty-day furlough but, I guess he didn't have as far to go as Cpl. Miller for he has added avoirdupois to his anatomy.

Sgt. Wallace has gone on a ninety-day furlough. He says his home is in St. Louis but he was last heard of in New Orleans. That is a rather indirect route Sergeant but that cold spel lshall have been lifted by the time you reach your destination.

When it was announced that Sgt. Yearty was to lecture to the company they all drew gas masks. Don't get excited now, the lectures are on chemical warfare.

If you have not had an opportunity to see ribbons they issue at horse shows go to Lt. McDonald, Sgt. Morrow and Pvt. Taylor and they will show you a string of them that they won at the last show.

P. F. C. Maurer is acting Mess Sergeant during the time that Sgt. Cummings is on a furlough. My opinion is that, that is the proper place for him as he has just returned from a long furlough too.

Our basketball team is turning out regularly for practice and looks strong although two of our players are on furlough. We expect to give the best teams some good competition.

The team is as follows: Makoski, R. F.; Faircloth, L. F., McGovern, C.; Vaugh, R. G.; Newton, L. G.

Wrestling is a sport that has been recently introduced into the Howitzer Co., although this is the first year that the Howitzer Company has attempted to produce a wrestling team there are indications of a good team, a sthere are a few experienced men and several promising green men who are working out daily.

Our wrestling coach (who is also the coach of the special units) is Lieutenant Griffith. Lieutenant Griffith is a former member of the West Point Academy Wrestling Team. The Lieutenant understands wrestling in ever detail, and he knows how to develop green men in a short time.

So, although we are a small company we hope to do our share towards helping the special units win the Battalion wrestling championship of '28.

—Arden Leverich.

BATTALION LEAGUE OPENED

The Second Battalion, 29th Infantry, opened their Company Basketball league with a double header played between Bn. Hq. Co. vs. "E" Company and "G" Company vs. "H" Company.

The first game was between "E" Company, Battalion champions, and 2nd Bn. Hq. Co. "E" Company won the game by a score of 39 to 16. Stamper, "E" Co., was the high goal man of both teams with seven (7) baskets to his credit and one free shot. Oikari, "E" Co., second with six (6) baskets to his credit. Kjelstrom of Bn. Hq. Co., was third with five (5) baskets to his credit.

Kjelstrom was by far the outstanding player of the 2nd Bn. Hq. Co. team. He played in the regular "Kelly" style, hard and clean.

It was hard to pick the "E" Company outstanding star, as both forwards made plenty of baskets and the old stand-by, Franz, did not go into the game until the second half.

The second game:

"G" Company won the game by the score of 41 to 14. Baugh of "G" Co., was high goal man of the game with seven (7) baskets to his credit. He and Newman were fighting for outstanding man of the team. Magagnon, the star man of the team did not play. Robertson "H" Co. (center) was their outstanding man and played a good game of basketball.

MILITARY TRAINING VALUABLE EDUCATION

Military training as a part of education is no new thing. The ancient Greeks, who were wise in this matter of boy rearing, required every boy for at least two years of his life to take a course similar to that given by our best military schools of today. This training was designed to develop the disciplined will, the sturdy physique, the moral qualities of loyalty, responsibility, devotion to duty that are assets to individuals and to nations.

Modern military schools recognize the value of these qualities. They are planned to inspire and develop. Academic work is more successful when carried on in the atmosphere of thoroughness, fidelity to duty and promptitude of the military school. Studies are made more effective by proper physical development and robust health that come with military training.

The American boy is of sturdy fiber. He is intelligent, fearless, but often careless and impatient of restraint. In a military school he meets a wholesome discipline that he recognizes without resentment because it is impartial. He learns the meaning of the decisive "yes" and "No." Obedience, the obligation to duty, respect for authority, the code of honor and manliness are presented to him in terms he can understand—they are part of his daily life.

In the classroom he is held to a high standard of accomplishment. Lessons are done with the same precision and orderliness that obtain on parade and in quarters. The invaluable habit of finishing what he has begun operates everywhere.

Through military training he benefits physically. Regular hours, regular exercise, careful oversight mean hard muscles, a straight, sturdy, perfectly disciplined body.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

COMPANY C, COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE

Last week's remarks still hold for the Sketching and Aerial Photograph exams. Get on the mailing list.

Big Wilson crabbed all day Friday last, because he got a satisfactory in May Reading. Can you beat it! "Yes," he growled, "I'd rather have flunked and maintained my self respect. You didn't see the insulting remarks written all over my paper."

And our company horseshoer got by. That horseshoeing picture portrayed Pop in a characteristic pose. Call it registering uncertainty, caution, nausea or some variet yof gastrinomical disturbance; it is reported an exact reproduction of his expression when introduced to the wall in bayonet.

Wisconsin is a beautiful state with its broad vistas and lovely green hills and dales. It's lakes and streams full of sporting bass and trout waiting for modern Isaac Waltons imbued with a proper reverence for the piscatorial art. Beautiful women and brave men! Even Kentucky cannot rival the former and the 32nd Division made an heroic record during the war. What we are getting at is that some of our comrades seem to be killing two birds in one bush. Hiding the groceries and flirting with the Wisconsin Guard.

By the way, no one has applied to take the Basic Course at the Keeley Institute next year, under the Act of Congress authorizing attendance at civilian institutions.

Lieut. Potter with a EE 5 telephone. "Hello, yes—the communications officer? Yes, here Captain Murphy is now on a horse. No! No!—not in a hearse—ON A HORSE! Wait a minute, I'll lift the phone up to him." (Captain Murphy talks and suddenly the connection is broken). Lieut. Potter again, "Yes, Captain Murphy is still here. The horse backed away and pulled up the ground rod. Just a minute please, I'll lift the telephone up to him again."

Applied Communications. C. P. 2nd Battalion established and awaiting the trunk line from regiment. Regimental Communications Officer Jim Mathews appears on foot in the distance. He is besmeared from head to foot with mud and slime. Not a lovely sight, almost unrecognizable. He calls in a weak voice, "Send me two runners to help pull my horse through this bog." "Where is the trunk line, Captain Mathews?" sounds an earnest and red appled voice in response. "Never mind the trunk line, never mind any of that damned junk! Get those runers over here. I want you birds to know I signed up for all that property."

Thomas Stark, "The curiosity and wonderment manifested by members of the medical examining board as to why and how I have lived so long, has caused me sufficient embarrassment to justify my being placed on the retired list as a colonel."

TACTICAL TOPICS
(By E. F. H.)

"Better be damned than mentioned not at all."

Mostly About Monographs

This is the open season for verbal monographs and the Advanced Class is now enjoying the best get-rich-quick course in Military History that we know of. As Captain Russel, of the Immortal Tenth Squad, aptly remarked, "These confounded monographs are getting so interesting that I can't get caught up on my sleep."

Colonel Mason led off with Alexander and the meteoric career of the first of the great Captains had nothing on the Colonel's monograph. Like Alexander it covered a lot of ground in an incredibly short time and like the career of the youthful conqueror himself, it was cut off at the height of itstriumphal progress. We really wanted to hear the rest of it but the buzzer operated by E. Squire Lewis is as inexorable as the scissors of Atropos. Not even our senior member and Class President was allowed to over run his time.

We suspect Major Lewis of a sinister motive in cutting short the artistically illustrated discourses of our eloquent monographers. He has the low down on all of those old birds, whose victories and defeats we are trying to chronicle, in our twenty-five minutes under the flood light and he doesn't want some amateur Clausewitz to steal his thunder by telling it all. Our own monograph limped off the platform with its tail cut off close to the spine, thereby depriving the Advnaced Class of our masterly analysis of the campaign that would have enabled those who had remained awake to "max" the next marked problem. If America loses her next war we will know where to place the blame.

This "colyum" is not written with a veiw of boosting anyone's stock and we can't take up valuable advertising space citing the individual members of the Advanced Class for the excellence of their monographs. Any monograph that gets mentioned in these notes have got to be either very good or very bad. Qualifying in the first named category, we had one by Captain Fagg that made the boys sit up and take notice. Fagg is one of those quiet hombres who fool you. We had setled down in our chairs expecting to concentrate on our own monographs, which was the next one up, when Fagg launched upon his illuminating and highly entertaining satire upon the strategy of 1812, compelling our atention and causing us to more or less foozle our own subject when we took the floor. The next time we give a monograph we shall endeavor to choose the man we follow with more care.

Easley, Hess and Culin are among those whose monographs have appealed to us as possessing a high degree of excellence. Also the performance by McLean and his trained map-changing chorus deserves honorable mention. There have been others just as good as these but we neglected to keep records and besides we are afraid of being accused of unduly influencing Committee "H" if we attempt to comment favorably upon all who deserve it.

The annual physical exam has come and gone and, so far as we know, everybody maxed it. We nearly got in bad ourselves, not with the medicos, but with one of our classmates. Meeting one of our members in his B. V. Ds. we thought-lessly greeted him, in our cordial western fashion, with the remark, "Hello, Grimmer, you're too fat." "For God's sake not so loud," whispered Grimmer, in dismay, "I don't want them to notice it."

The Assistant Commandant took the physical along with the Advanced Class. He was traveling incognito (only an expert can tell the difference in the buff) nd the following dialogue was overheard:

Col. Marshall, noting his blood pressure, as recorded, "That's rather high, isn't it?"

Major McGuire: "Don't let that worry you, Captain; it will come back to normal when you get your monograph off your chest."

Distinguished Soldier Honored

The Advanced Class notes with pride the recent elevation of one of its members to an important public office. Captain McKee has been elected Prohibition Enforcement Agent for Biglerville. The price of corn immediately jumped to $25 a keg and is still holding firm at that price.

Gems From the Monographs

Johnson, speaking of Neuve Chapelle: "The British officers having all been killed or wounded, the thin red line was ableto advance."

Luck (with feeling), speaking of the First Battle of Bull Run, "General Bee died that day but his memorial words will live forever."

Fagg (speakin gof 1812): "Harrison changed his mind and ordered the cavalry to charge. Poor tactics, but here's an historical example, the cavalry won a battle."

Simmons Explains; Grave Military Military Scandal Averted

At the conclusion of Colonel Marshall's brief talk on Tactics the customary silence, which regulations prescribe for the reception of an address by a member of the school faculty, was rudely shattered by a vigorous applause by Captain Simmons. Consternation was written on every countenance and during the intermission, rumors were rife as to the cause of the unusual demonstration. One group maintained that the irrepressible captain was trying to steal a march on his classmates. Another took the more charitable attiture that the Captain had slept during the discourse and had applauded automatically under the impression that the Colonel had just completed a monograph upon the Moose-Oregon offensive.

Fortunately, the Infantry School News reporter was on the job and secured a statement from Captain Simmons to the effect that he had been so intensely interested in what the Assistant Commandant was saying, that he had forgotten where he was and that his enthusiastic applause was merely an expression of involuntary appreciation for what he considered a rattling good speech. Unless someone comes forward with a still more ingenious explanation, Captain Simmons will be awarded this week's prize in the Infantry School News Alibi contest.

A VISITOR RIDES AT BENNING

In paddock with the Ladies' Class
I boldly rode today,
In every borrowed plume that I
Could steal or beg away.

My mount was Uncle Sam's—a horse,
As fine as Benning boasts;
My shirt it was mine hostess's
The tie it was mine host's.

The trim and natty coat was lent
By Mrs. M. to me;
The jaunty breeches, spick and span
Belonged to Mrs. E.

My riding hat was begged from Kate,
The boots from Mrs. Cook;
But this—alas, was all my own
The tumble that I took.

—Agnes Kendrick Gray.

WHO'S WHO!

CORP. LONNIE RIPPLE
Co. "F," 29th Infantry

Corporal Lonnie Ripple, fleetfooted doughboy quarterback, has been one of the outstanding stars in Intra-Mural football at Fort Benning during the 1927 season.

As a member of the strong Company "F," 29th Infantry, team, his playing at quarterback position was a big factor in the success of that company during the company series, Company "F" winning the championship of the 29th Infantry.

Later as a member of the Second Battalion team during the Intra-Mural struggle, he played a fast, flashy game and was a big favorite with the boys who gave their support from the stands.

Corporal Ripple is only twenty-two years old, and this was his first year of army football. He had starred as a member of his high school team at his home in Kansas City, Kan., before enlisting in the army.

Judging by the brand of football he played during the past season he is going to give someone a fight for a regular berth on the Big Blue Tide next season.

Corporal Ripple is a broken field runner of the hip twisting change of pace type, an exceptionally hard man to tackle. His wide end runs and his ability to run punts back gained probably half the distance made by "F" Company's team during the past season.

He is also an excellent soldier. His record is of the highest type and since becoming a member of Company "F," he has gained the friendship and admiration of everyone.

A NOVICE HUNTSMAN TAKES THE PEN IN HAND

Biglerville, Ga.,
January 20, 1928.

Dear friend Otto:

Remember when we kids in the gas house district hunted hunks of coal from the engines down by the tracks? Well, that ain't it, see. In this here now, Brain Factory, where the Queen of Battles got crowned, they got another kind of Hunt. Nothing lost, you understand, it's just a name, like Monograph.

Well, Otto, the other day, feeling careless, I look up this Insurance feller, and then sign up for a horse. For a Hunt, you gotta have a horse, see. Horses is unique animals with stifled hips, or emotions, or something. And they're what the tall derbies call intellectual. I mean, if you talk to them in anything but Polak or Scandahoovian, they understand you, maybe. I heard that one in a class. But anyways, you gotta get a horse.

In the lottery I draw a equine she yegg with the moniker of Mabel. In spite of the handle, this Mabel horse ain't no lady. She has more joints than Broadway and when you ease her into second, she frequently hits you where you'd least expect behind your back. I mean she's got a gait like a picket fence and a motion like a flivver old enough to vote, bucking a Georgia road. But in high, boy, what I mean she is fast! When Mabel departs at a gallop it takes two weeks to walk back.

On this Hunt, trees, hills and gulleys whizz past faster than wise cracks in a mapping lecture. Sometimes one of the boys does a Wales when we leap a ditch, and dismounts to sort of feel out the ground, a reconnaissance with force, the military sharps would call it. But lucky for me, it's a tie each time "We" crash, and that's no lindberger either. I mean my trajectory and Mabel's are about the same, so when I open my eyes at the top of the next alp, though I'm generally Northeast or Southwest of the saddle, we can both be plotted on the same map.

We hop off at one hill and about two whoops and a holloa up the next slope there's a tree with a limb like a baseball bat rushing at us like a millionaires' express. I hauls away on the port hawser, but Mabel figures this limb won't get her, but merely eliminates me which she won't mind at all. Just as I start to lisp, "Good morning, Saint Peter," Mabel decides the grass is greener and it's more God's country over to the left where the rest of the Hunt is humping along. So we cut over into the crowd. Some dame behind me whoops, "Foul!" It looks more like a strike to me, but I'm in no condition to call them very close. Probably this fair one is right, at that. Besides, when I get a chance to shift my lamps to the rear, I see she makes Cleopatra look like a wooden Indian. And when they're that good looking they don't need to be right.

Well, Otto, when we get back to the club house we have a couple of javas and some other fodder. What I mean, it hits the spot, too. About half an hour after that when I'm almost breathing normal again, the boys and girls gang the steinway and we burst into song, more or less. First they sing a dog's drinking song. That must be where that wise crack about every dog having his day, came from. Next they carol the "Boot Song" from Sears Roebuck. Yeah, "John Peel," that's the one. These melodies may be old but they sure put the English on their grace notes.

Well, Otto, gotta catch a little shut eye.

Hoping you are the same, your friend,
Hag.

NEW MANUAL OF COURTS-MARTIAL EFFECTIVE SOON

The President has issued an executive order making the newly adopted Maunal of Courts-Martial effective April 1, 1928. The manual is now on the press, and it is expected that the first will be ready for distribution some time this month. The first issue will be sent to the outlying areas first and the last to the regions close to Washington. The effect of this is that all units receive the publiceation about the same time. By the first of February it is expected that all commands will have received copies of the new manual.

The new manual is less than half the size of the one now in use. It is understood that the method of procedure is much shortened and simplified and will be more effective in its operation.

The present Manual of Courts-Martial was printed in 1920 and became effective February 4, 1921. This was a revision of the 1917 edition.

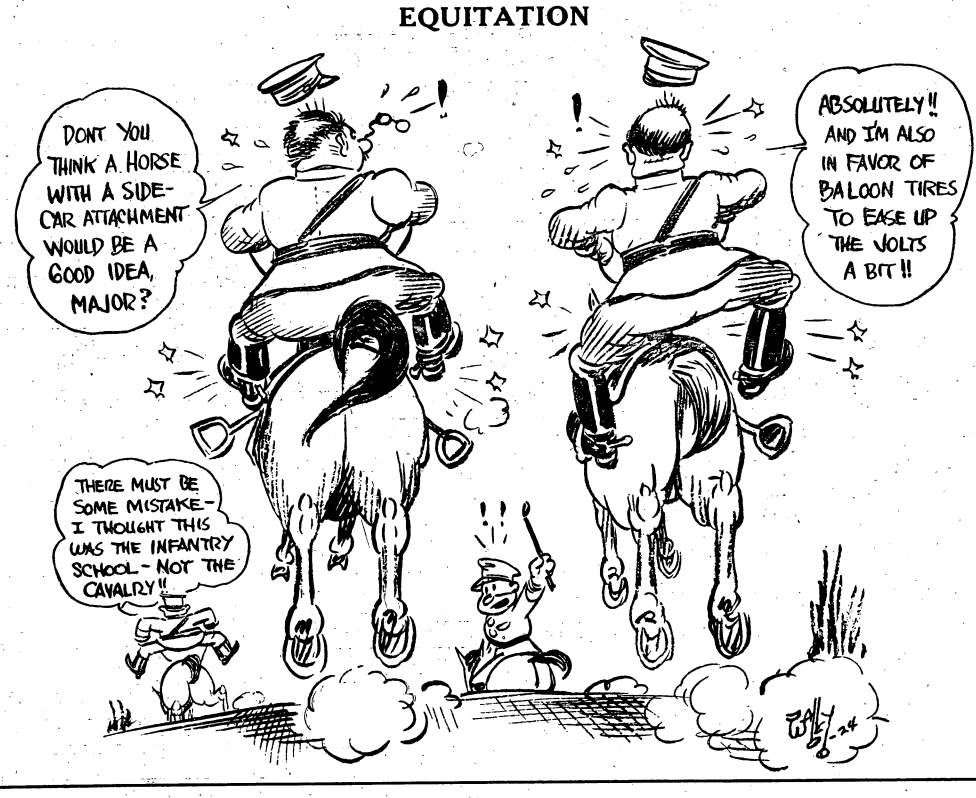
EQUITATION



PROCLAMATION!

To the citizenry of Biglerville, free and independent by the grace of the War Department, one marine and the houseowners of Columbus; Greetings:

"Whereas, there has been an honorable election at which the opposition's machine guns were permanently jammed and which resulted in my election, I desire to thank my numerous supporters, Bostonian or Parisian, and, to show my generosity do declare a general amnesty to all opponents and request my supporters now to return to the Third Section the election equipment borrowed for use during the campaign;

"Whereas, my platform was only strong enough to stand on until the success of the election was assured, it is now to be turned in for salvage;

"Whereas, the memorandum, on which my pre-election promises were written, has been lost, destroyed or stolen through no fault of my own and all jobs are now filled, patronage will be by air mail only;

"Whereas, my party has inspired the community witha high degree of increasing prosperity as evidenced by the fact that where formerly there were but two cars to every garage there are now five in our village;

"Whereas, the auto owners without garages would have a just complaint, my administration will not repair the leaky roofs on existing garages giving all paint jobs an even break on the action of the clements:

"Whereas, great dangers to my good citizens will ever be present during this year of 366 days, I ask whole-hearted and united support in any defensive policy my board of aldermen may propound."

Given this 20th day of January of the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-eight at Hotel de Ville, Biglerville.

LAWRENCE C. COLLINS,
Mayor.

Attest:
HAYDON L. BOATNER,
City Clerk.

When interviewed by a News reporter, Mayor Collins added:

"I note with pride the recent increase in population in the arrival of some twenty-four National Guard officers and Generals Howland, Lott, Rosenbaum and Immel and the interest taken by my citizens in receiving and entertaining them. This extraordinary spirit of comradeship is highly gratifying but is only typical of the superior qualities of all residents of Biglerville.

"I trust that the practice of playing radios and phonographs, honking horns, and of having regimental reunions at all hours of the night will continue as in the past. It makes for rest, peace of mind and contentment of the neighbors and, in some instances, tends to develop the accurate throwing ability required of expert grenadiers. In some ways it aids in developing a fast flow of language in those not prone to rapid, short, emphatic talk.

"I trust that, as in the past, curfew will be observed at nine o'clock and that all children will be taken off the streets at that hour so that serious study may go on uninterrupted. Quiet also will be assured by the activity of my official dog catcher.

"Upon the recommendation of Supt. of Nurses Payne, I have induced our Congress to appropriate $200,000 for the construction of new quarters for our hardworking nurses, who form such an integral and important part of our village.

"There still remain many streets to be named. I have taken this serious matter up with Captains McClure and Rogers and have received their assurances that in the near future the riding class will visit Biglerville and attempt to assist in solving this weighty municipal problem.

"It is with greatest joy and profound satisfaction that I point out to the world that my subjects are of not exemplary type that no jail, no guardhouse, dungeon, brig or calaboose is necessary in our village."

QUARTERMASTER CORPS

Mrs. Clara Blount, of Billeting—comes to work in a brand-new black and white checked dress—and a cold. Now, this is not at all as it should be, for who, in this lnad, can show a new dress and a cold off at the same time? They clash for supremacy. However, as Mrs. Blount is a most unusual person—the new dress looks wnderful on her, and the cold shows up hardly at all. Alack! that we can't all be such favored mortals! When we have colds—our noses absolutely dominate the ensemble—blooming forth gay and unashamed!

Although Rube steadily denies it—we have a sneaking suspicion that the Transportation Lady, following in the footsteps of the blonde from the Construction Quartermaster's Office, is letting her hair grow. We knew Rube couldn't stand the sight of our golden(?) locks growing in such profusion ,and would sooner or later succumb to the superior carm of long locks.

Mrs. Drane, herself a song-bird of undenied ability, journeyed over to Macon to listen to the grand opera put on in that city by the San Carlos Opera Company. "Il Trovatore" was the dish for that evening, and Mrs. Drane reports that "standing room only" was available.

We knew all along that Mr. Mary would do something to add to the glory and luster of the Quartermaster's Office, and lo and behold! he has justified every confidence we ever had in him! He has brought added greatness to the office, by being elected President of the local Warrant Officers' Association.

Captain Massey, as ever the imperturbable Master of Utilities; for a period of time, approximately ten minutes, was actually seen sitting at his desk, and not dashing around the post attending to the various functions of his Utilities Branch. This can be vouched for by ye scribe—although many people will doubt it.

"Margie" Zettler, Peter Pan Girl of Utilities, is wearing a diamond ring; a solitaire at that! Don't get excited, thought gentle reader, for it was on the wrong finger! We would never get over it if Margie actually were to ever grow up, and wear a diamond on the finger on which diamonds are supposed to be worn when they mean something!

Mr. Ford and Mr. Chambers, both of the Utilities Office Force, went hunting, and were very fortunate. They caught a cold, shot two boxes of shells, got very tired, and ran a mile to get out of a storm. (Note: Not for a Camel, this time).

Pvt. Street, of the Detachment, Quartermaster Corps, was wearing one of those "I-told-you-so" smiles the morning after the Ptomey-DePratt fracas, when ye scribe hove into view. It seems that Street was exulting over the fact that DePratt was no beaten, and Ptomey the victor, as the correspondent had freely predicted would happen.

An idea of the gigantic job Utilities has is illustrated by the fact that in the last cold spell, there were over a thousand breaks in the water service system, which had to be mended. This job of mending, as usal, to the ever-smiling and ever-ready Utilities Branch.

However, the greatest job of utilities at the present time, is getting out plans for the Recreation Center Board.

Our Colonel will, upon adroit questioning, admit that he still has a sneaking liking for the game in which little white balls are knocked ver a grassed area by clubs; of which clubs there are many styles. Tennyrtae, he was seen in a pair of plus-fours the past Sunday, with a suspicious looking bag in his car, heading toward the l—ks. (We can't give him away altogether. He might like to keep it a secret what his favorite game is.)

—B. Davis.

Frost: "Nobody will steal my snow shovel this winter."

Bite: "Is zat so?"

Frost: "No. I've just discovered that it's under ten tons of coal in the cellar."

POLO GAMES SUNDAY

DAPHNE DAWSON

Miss Paphne May Dawson, the lovely little daughter of Lieutenant and Mrs. James T. Dawson, 83rd Field Artillery, died at the Post Hospital last Friday evening after a short illness. The many friends of Lieut. and Mrs. Dawson extend to them their deepest sympathy.

MUSICAL COMEDY SENSATION COMING TO SPRINGER JAN. 28

Lawrence Schwab and Frank Mandel, who have given the stage such musical comedy successes as "The Gingham Girl," "The Desert Song," and "Good News" will send "Queen High" to Springer Theatre on January 28th, matinee and night. The company is headed by Eddie Garvie, noted musical comedy star of many Broadway successes, and Dave Mallen, who scored so heavily in the comedy role in "Rose Marie." Others in the cast are Margaret Lee, who played the leading feminine role in "No, No, Nanette; Neil Collins of "Student Prince" fame; Carrie Glenn, leading woman with Al Jolson for three seasons; Mary Marlyn, one of the important principals of "Blossom Time"; Georgette Armfield, marvelous dancer from George White's "Scandals"; Thomas Hudson, with the "Passing Show" for several seasons; Danny O'Donnell, last year with "Artists and Models"; Arlyne White and Dorothea Dunn,known as "Queens of the Dance"; and others. In addition to the principals, there is a beauty chorus, who besides merely adding to the pictorial embellishment of the comedy, can really sing and dance. The company carries its own orchestra.

"Queen High" is the old farce "A Pair of Sixes" by Edward Peple, decked out with sparkling tunes by Lewis E. Gensler and good lyrics by B. G. DeSylva. The producers have wisely retained most of the farce, which was one of the most amusing of its time, and Gensler has a half dozen tunes that, when they were first heard, were sure of a radio and recording future. "Cross Your Heart" is an old friend by now. "Don't Forget" is another. An odd title to give a song you just could not forget. There are many others in "Queen High" that run these two close second for popularity.

Mazie: Is your boy friend a one-arm drievr?

Mamie: Not him. He takes a taxi and uses both arms.

Little Mary: "Nurse, fill I ever have a mustache on my lip like daddy, when I grow up?"

Nurse: "Pretty often, dear, I expect!"

25 YEAR BILL INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE

American Legion Posts of United States Are Backing Passage of Act

Representative J. L. Hooper of Michigan has introduced the much-talked-of 25-year retirement bill for the enlisted men of the United States Army to the legislature, according to late press reports. The bill has the united support of the thousands of American Legion posts throughout the United States, and it is the general opinion that the bill will pass without any trouble or changes.

The bill provides that all existing laws, statutes and regulations as amended, bearing upon the ertirement of enlisted men of the Army are hereby further amended to provide that when an enlisted man shall have served 25 years, computing as double time all foreign service credited prior to August 24, 1912, in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps, or in all, he shall upon making application to the President, be placed upon the retired list, with the pay and allowances and such other benefits as are now provided by law for retirement of enlisted men of the Army at 30 years, including retirement with the pay and allowances of warrant officers of the Army of those enlisted men who held temporary commissions during the World War, as provided in section 127a, National Defense Act, as amended by the act of July 12, 1924.

Representative Wurzbach of Texas has introduced a bill making the base pay of enlisted men of the fourth grade $60 per month ;a bill making the base pay of the fifth grade $54 per month and a bill amending the act of March p, 1907, so as to give retired enlisted men $18 per month in lieu of rations and clothing and $12 in lieu of quarters, fuel and light, instead of $9.50 and $6.25, respectively.

Representative J. J. McSwain of South Carolina proposes in a bill that hereafter enlisted men of the Army shall receive as a permanent addition to their pay, an increase of 10 per centum of their base pay upon completion of the first four years of enlisted service and an additiona lincrease of 5 per centum for each four years' service thereafter, the total not to exceed 25 per centum. He also proposed that hereafter an enlisted man of the Regular Army may, upon the completion of 20 years' service in the Regular Army, be transferred to the Regular Army reserve, which is hereby created, with a rate of pay equal to one-half of the pay which he is receiving at that time, and upon the completion of 30 years' service, including service in the Regular Army reserve, he may be placed on the retired list of the army by the President, with 75 per centum of the pay which he was receiving at the time of his transfer to the Regular Army reserve, and with a cash allowance of $15.75 per month in addition.

"GREAT THINGS"

When we speak of great men?
We say the millionaire
And never think just what we mean,
But they are great we do declare.

But a gink I am and wonder,
Just what the word great means,
It's hard to tell, but something big,
Is what the word great seems.

For example, when the cannon roar,
The battle cries third alarm,
'Tis the boys in brown, that break them down,
Or the great big boy in uniform.

And when the battle is over,
Great is the force of arms,
We stand back proudly,
And admire the boy in uniform.

GOSSIP FROM COMPANY "B" AT BIGLERVILLE

We thought the student officers would distinguish themselves before they left Benning. For years the school authorities have been confronted with the dilemma of naming hills, streams and creeks of the post but it was not until equitation started that a solution of the problem was found. Company B solved one by giving an unknown creek a name. It now is called Bryan Creek, named after Lt. Bryan and because his mount (it wasn't Jason) there decided to take a roll in the creek with Bryan up. At this rate there won't be many landmarks left for Company C to help name. We are learning many things about horses that even the instructors didn't know, viz., Capt. Duke's information that he has seen a horse asleep while walking.

They're telling us a lot of strange things in this equitation and animal management course, one of which was that a horse could hear just as well when you're on your back on the ground as when on his own back. Capt. McClure told us to pull on the rein "so as to let the horse know what's coming off." Just as if he needed to have anything done to tell him that! After Lt. Col. Hill's talk about the points of a horse, there aren't any Gypsies going to sell us horses with broken tails! We also hope to save ourselves that $1,000 which he says he would have saved had he employed a veterinarian when buying mounts.

Joe Hinton added to student laurels when he went into the basketball game against Schofield Saturday and scored the basket that tied the score. Capt. Wilson showed his mettle refereeing the DePratt-Ptomey fight.

There haven't been many cats caught on wildcat hunts of late, so Mayor Collins of Biglerville told the populace to get busy, so Sunday saw both companies well represented. Company C had Perkins, Lockett, Landon, Ware and Schaefer, while from Co. B were Cushman, Ellis, Bragan, Hadsell, Night School Superintendent Diller, Chief of Police Bonwell, Hazeltine and the "fust sahgeant." It might be explained that Diller was attracted by the spirit of the hunt, not the number of ladies present. However, his presence made all the girls feel repaid for coming out. With such a distinguished group of hunters in the field, no less than the finest "kill" in years occurred.

It was pleasing to see our friends of the Guard on hand in the presence of Lt. Col. Himes, of Wisconsin, Majors Jones, of Virginia, and Johnston, of Colorado. Major Lamb had good intentions but one of Major Smith's mounts got a little rough in a lesson in rapid but silent dismounting Saturday, so the major thought he'd rest up a bit first.

No one suspected that the arrival of the Guard officers would start a new social whirl going but the season is on in full blast. The Wisconsin students organized and gave a splendid dinner to Brigadier General Immel of Wisconsin and Lt. Col. Himes at which some original songs were sung. One of these concerned a distinguished member of Company B and an future 29th Infantryman and went like this, "Mike Halloran is full of tricks, parlez vous; Biffs instructors with polo sticks, parlez vous; The only trouble with our Mike, An Irishman's always picking a fight, Hinkey Dinkey, parlez vous." There also was one about Sam Wiener but since it wasn't true, we won't tell it.

Speaking of prospective 29th Infantrymen, reminds us of a bright one Mayor Collins sprung last week on his friend August Dawson Sanders. Larry says, "The first of June will be the last of August." This produced a big laugh for Jeffres. Smith, Babbitt, Winstead and other late members of the old 5th Infantry from which Larry and "Sande" both came.

Capt. McMahon surprised both classes by getting the map reading exams back last Friday about the same time that the Company C scribe took a shot at Mac. To all but fourteen it was unmistakable evidence that "there is a Santa Claus." When Capt. Pearson and Capt. Sweet returned those exams in wire and communications, we felt all the more convinced of this fact even in spite of Capt. Pearson's mistletoe story. Getting those exams back with "Satisfactory" on them was as great a relief as the arrival of that pigeon at the brigade commanders' headquarters.

The Advanced Class hass been entertaining us with monographs of late. That given by Capt. Simmons was a knockout. It ought to be mimeographed and sent to all colonels in the army. Capt. Purdy also gave us a good one. It was pleasing to see three distinguished residents of Biglerville, Major Baxter, Justice of the Peace, McGovern and Alderman Barnes also present interesting talks.

Students are playing an active part in the Glee and Dramatic Clubs who will put on a joint show at the Main Theater the latter part of the month. We attended the rehearsal of the Glee Club's stunt the other night and were pleasantly surprised. Anybody who misses hearing that operetta is going to feel sorry for it's a "knockout." With George Smythe taking the stellar role, with Urquhart, Moon and Diller lending a hand what show would not be a success?

We note with regret that the 83rd Field Artillery officers are backsliding. It's hard on the girls when three stag to two events the same night, one of which was the Country Club dance. Some time ago all three had one girl among them but this time even the one was absent. Lt must be terrible to be broke. Won't someone please introduce them to a few girls or loan them the "wherewithal?"

Quartermaster Corps

Detachment Qrtrs. Corps

The crash of broken New Year's resolutions is now being heard and everything is getting back to normal after the holidays. But what a grand and glorious time we did have! Christmas, payday and New Year all rolled into one and given us by our commanders, and we would like to rise and wish that they had just as grand and glorious time as we, if not more so.

It takes the patience of Job, the wisdom of Solomon, and the diplomacy of Mr. Morrow, to say nothing of the wit of Will Rogers to carry out the duties which belong to the office of Mr. Bewley, our Chief Clerk. But he does so and very efficiently.

Another person connected with the Quartermaster Corps, whom we all love. She bawls us out when we do wrong, visits us when sick, cheers us when we're blue, and her sweet voice singing some beautiful hymn is the last sung over our dead bodies. In addition, she daily performs her duties in the purchasing and contracting office. I am speaking of Mrs. Drane. May she live long and prosper.

And there are others in the office of the Quartermaster who are daily doing their little bit and are just as essential to our well being as those who wear the uniform. Everyone knows Miss Beatrice Davis, who reads the Enquirer. Her boxing stories are very, very good for one of the opposite, so-called weaker, sex. She is one of the stenographers of the Quartermsater Corps. To enumerate them all would be quite a task, but I believe the paper of the Post would not be complete without paying due notice to them all.

Our hospital list is increased by the additional of Private Hyde, lately of the Engineers. We hope he will soon be up and about and able to walk a mile for a Camel or any other animal of the menagerie.

REFRESHER CLASS AT INFANTRY SCHOOL COMPRISES FOUR GENERALS

rection, and several have been there a few times since. All of them have had considerable amount of foreign service and held important assignments during the World War. We do not wish to give all the details of the service of the class but just a few important facts about each one, as follows:

Gen. C. R. Howland

Graduate of West Point in 1891 and assigned to 20th Infantry; served on staff of General Wheaton in the Philippines during insurrection days; on duty in the office of Judge Advocate General in Washington from 1907 to 1912 and was author of Digest of Opinions in 1912. In 1917, Gen. Howland was in command of the disclipinary barracks at Alcatraz; ordered to Camp Grant to command the 343rd Infantry of the 83rd Division. He took this regiment to France and commanded it until the armistice; commanded 165th Infantry on march into Germany. Since the World War, he has been on duty as follows: Instructor at Leavenworth, command of 14th Infantry, Panama; chief of staff of 3rd Division at Fort Lewis at time of appointed last month. Gen. Howland is a graduate of law at the National University Law School in Washington and holds degree of A. M. at Oberlin College, Ohio. He is a graduate of general staff school, 1921, an honor graduate of school of the line, 1920. Also graduate of War College, class 1927. General Howland is the author of "Military History of the World War," which was published in 1923. Gen. Howland will take command of the 3rd Artillery Brigade at Fort Lewis upon completion of the course here.

Gen. W. C. Short

General Short early took to the study of things military, having graduated from the Michigan Military Academy and for two years was on the faculty of that school as an instructor in the saber. He received an appointment as second lieutenant of cavalry in 1891 and has served in that branch continuously. He was with the 6th Cavalry at the Battle of San Juan Hill and was wounded in that engagement. He was recommended for brevet and cited in orders for gallantry in that famous battle. He has served in the Philippines. He has had much to do with the formation of the mounted service schools, having been on the staff of the school at Fort Riley both in 1903 and in 1908 where he served for some time. He is a graduate of the French Cavalry school, 1908. General Short was retained in the United States during the World War, where he assisted in the organization of the following units: 337th Infantry, 315th Cavalry, 312th Cavalry, 71st and 72nd Field Artillery. He was in command of the 8th Infantry during the later part of the war when promoted to the rank of brigadier-general and assigned to command of 32nd Infantry brigade at Camp Kearney, Calif. He was detailed to the Inspector General's Dept. in 1923 with station at the Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., and was on this duty when he was recently promoted to the grade of permanent brigadier-general. He has been assigned to command a brigade of the First Division upon completion of the refresher school.

Gen. O. B. Rosenbaum

General Rosenbaum was assigned to duty with the general staff in 1924 and at the time of recent appointment held a very important detail with the G. S. in Washington. He is a graduate of West Point, 1894, and was assigned to duty with infantry; went to Cuba and participated in the campaign against Santiago and was recommended for brevet for gallantry in action there. He has served in the Philippines; R. O. C. duty at the West Texas M. A. [illegible]ed in the I. G. D. and was on that duty in Washington at the outbreak of the World War. During the World War, Gen. Rosenbaum commanded the following units: 315th Infantry; promoted to B. G. and in command of 173rd Brigade; 155th Infantry Brigade. He was sent overseas in command of the former brigade and upon return to the States was placed in charge of demobilization at Camp Gordon. He is a graduate of the following schools: School of the Line, 1922; General Staff School, 1923; Army War College, 1924. General Rosenbaum has been assigned to a brigade of the First Division.

Gen. A. G. Lott

On Dec. 21, 1927, the subject of this brief sketch was a colonel and chief of staff of the Hiawaiian Department. The next day he was promoted to his present grade and ordered to command of the 8th Infantry Brigade at Fort McPherson upon completion of the Refresher course at the Infantry School. Gen. Lott hails from the state of Kansas and as a young man he taught school until he took a competitive examination for appointment to the U. S. M. A. He was successful and entered West Point in 1892. General Lott has served practically all of his service in the cavalry, and his service has been confined to a great extent to duty west of the Mississippi. He is a graduate of the School of the Line, General Staff School and of the Army War College. He was awarded the D. S. M. for service during the World War. During the World War he was on duty in Washington, chief of staff of the 12th Division, executive officer, Camp Devens and in France after the armistice.

"Yes sir," explained Gayboye as he and a friend made their way homeward at three A. M. "When in Rome do as the Romans do, that's my motto."

"You guys are in Chicago now," growled a voice from a dark doorway, "just hand over your cash and jewelry and make it snappy."

SAVANNAH BASKETEERS ARE VANQUISHED 86 TO 27 BY MUSKETEERS

Starting an offensive attack in the first period that never ceased during the entire game the Benning Musketeers swamped the Jewish Educational Alliance basketball team from Savannah, Ga., at the Garrison Gymnasium Tuesday night, 86 to 27.

The visitors were completely outclassed and were forced to play a defensive game. Most of their shooting was at long range as the Doughboys very seldom let them get near their basket.

The playing of Johnny Roosma was the the big feature of the game, he shot twenty-two field goals and four from the foul strip for a total of 48 points. Some shooting.

The Miami Club Basketeers from the land of sunshine and mosquitoes will play the Musketeers here Saturday night. This team has been recognized by sport critics as one of the best amateur teams ever produced in the South. A list of wins over other strong teams disclose their power.

Most noticeable of these was their 40 to 27 win over the famous Pacific Mills Five. This was the first reverse for Pacific Mills in two seasons. The Floridians also hold victories over Goldsboro, Newport News, Burk Co. of Norfolk and Rocky Mt., all were by large scores. Their last game was won over the Atlantic Coast Line team by the one-sided score of 80 to 31.

This game should be highly interesting as the Doughboys play this game of basket looping in a way that causes opposing teams to sit up and take notice.

Following the basket tossers from the home of the copperheads and mud turtles, Olson's Nordics will play a return game here Monday night, January 23. There is no need to go into details, for we know that this will be a highly interesting affair.

"A lady came into our store the other day, threw a fit, and we laid her on the counter. A m oment after a cop came in and arrested her."

"What did he arrest her for?"

"Why, for counterfeiting, of course."

MACONITES TAKE CLOSE DECISION FROM BENNING CAGESTERS; SCORE 46 TO 43

In a game that was filled with thrills from the first to the last whistle, the Schofield Basketeers of the Central City finally nosed out the fighting Doughboy five to win 46 to 43, at the Garrison Gymnasium last Saturday night.

Going into the last half with the visitors leading by a 24 to 15 score, the Musketeers brought the crowd to their feet with a hair raising rally that quickly cut down the lead to even terms. A counter rally that put them out in front again. The last few minutes of play was fast and furious with the visitors holding the advantage by a three-point margin at the finish.

"Round Boy" Franz dribbled rings around the visitors and with "Deadshot" Johnnie in his old position the score would have probably been a wee bit different, for it will be hard to find a combination like the Franz-Roosma pair.

"Red" Newman, who has been out with injuries during most of the season, was back in the game. His playing was a big feature, an even dozen field goals being credited to his account.

Ole Man KL had a busy afternoon but gave a good account of himself. His great defensive work was a big factor in holding the visitors on even terms.

The visitors presented one of the fastest, well balanced teams seen here and they gave the fans a good exhibition of snappy passing and basket tossing. Greene starred on the Mercer University team last year. He was packed as one of the best centers in the South.

THINGS THE ARMY DOES BESIDES FIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal.—In response to a call from a local physician, Lieutenant Walter K. Burgess, Air Corps, United States Army, accompanied by a mechanic, hopped off from Clover Field, near Santa Monica, shortly after noon yesterday with a consignment of infantile paralysis serum to Phoenix, Arizona, where several new cases of the disease had developed in the face of an exhausted supply of antitoxin.

It was a race against time, in which minutes meant lives, and although Lieutentnt Burgess had never navigated the route to Phoenix, he landed there in time, and delivered the serum intact.

The landing, however, was not without its thrills, which nearly resulter in a tragedy. Arriving in the darkness, the pilot missed the landing field at Phoenix entirely, and came to earth in the desert north of the city, where dath was missed by a close margin.

After the arrival at the Arizona city, it was learned that shortly after he had left Clover Feild, Lieutenant Burgess discovered that the plane he was flying was unsuited to a long sustained flight. He therefore stopped at March Field, Riverside, California, and changed ships.

A keen-eyed North Georgia mountaineer led his overgrown son into the nearby schoolhouse.

"This here boy's arter learnin'," he announced, "what's yer bill o' fare?"

"Our curriculum, sir," corrected the school mistress, "embraces geography, arithmetic, trigonometry". . .

"That'll do," interrupted the father, "that'll do. Fix him up with trigonometry. He's the only poor shot in the family!"

CAGESTERS FROM C. W. S. VICTORS OVER HOWITZERS IN CLOSE GAME

In their first practice game of the season, the C. W. S. cagesters from Co. F, First Gas Regiment, turned in a win over the Howitzer Five from the 29th Inf. after a close fought game.

Although a bit rough the game was a highly interesting affair and was hotly contested by both teams.

The playing of Lawrence at forward was the main feature of the game, half the total of the C. W. S. scores were credited to his accuracy in looping the basket.

Day, playing center position for the Doughboys, was the mainstay of the losers. He played a great game at center and also accounted for eight of the Howitzer points.

The C. W. S. basketball team promises to be a strong contender in the coming Company Series, which will open some time in the near future.

Score—C. W. S., 20; Howitzer Co., 18.

DePRATT-PTOMEY FIGHT DRAW IN FURIOUS TEN ROUND BATTLE

DePratt Outpunches Camp Meade Battler, But Ptomey's Aggressiveness Earns Him Draw

(By Al Durden)

Willie Ptomey has returned to the home of the Terrible Tankers at Camp Meade, Md., leaving the All-Service middleweight crown still in possession of the Blonde Battler of the 29th Inf.

This was Ptomey's second attempt to regain the coveted title that he lost to Gunner DePratt nearly one year ago when the Tanker battler took the count early in the first round of a scheduled ten round fight.

The fight between these two boys last Thursday night was declared the best ever seen here since fights have been promoted here, and every available seat in the large Garrison Gymnasium was occupied by an interested spectator.

The fight was fast and furious during the entire ten rounds and the large audience was kept in a continual roar as first one fighter and then the other gained an advantage. Although a visiting fighter, Ptomey was amply supported by the 15th Tank Bn. and the Inf. School Det., while the large number of civilian fans were about evenly divided in picking their favorite.

Bill Ptomey made one grand mistake when he planned to win the fight by outslugging the piledriving Doughboy. For five rounds he followed this tactis and for five rounds he never took a single round. Changing his tactis in the sixth round he started using a left hook with a right cross that caught the Doughboy napping several times, but DePratt demonstrated his ability to take them when he took several of Ptomey's wallops flush on the button without flinching.

Although DePratt was credited with the first five rounds the decision was close and the same thing goes for the last five. The decision was the same as the fight, one of the best that could have been given.

The large crowd as well as the fighters were highly pleased with the work of the referee, Captain Wilson, and it is hoped he will give the followers of the cauliflower ears a chance to see more of him as third man in the squared circle.

Prelims

Although a couple of the three rounders were not up to standard last Thoursday night, as a whole the crowd was well pleased with them.

Hayward Thompson, of Columbus, who was won a warm spot in the hearts of Benning fight fans by his willingness and gameness, came through with a win over one "Zack" of the Medicos in the opening bout.

Battling Sam, of the Green Cords, was feeding Herring, of Columbus, plenty of leather, but when he sank a right below the belt Mr. Herring was carried out feet first, but was winner on a foul.

Mysterous Billy Smith toyed with Hilburn, of the Medicos during the first round. Billy came out for blood in the second, a right to the chowhall followed by a left hook to the Medicos' jaw, ended the fight on short notice.

M. P. Carter evened an old score with Head, of Columbus, in their first fight here. Head socked the Gum Shoe from pillar to post, but Thursday night Carter turned the tables, lambasting the Columbus midget with everything but the waterbucket.

"Cyclone Jack" Phillips, pride of Major Bootz's Detachmenteers, raked Hendrix, of Columbus, fore and aft with showers of lefts and rights during the first round of their mix up. When Hendrix came to his corner at the bell his seconds were waiting with the shears, a moment later his flowing tresses were being wafted over the floor by the evening breeze, five seconds after the opening gong of the second round Hendrix drifted to dreamland under the effects of the Green Cord's smashing right to the jaw.

"Eight Cylinder" Olds, of the 24th Inf., continued his unbroken string of Kao. victories when he knocked out "Livertone" Dodson in the third round.

"Swede" Olson, of the 24th Inf. was no match fo r"Doc" Gainey of the same organization, Gainey winning on a technical Kao. in the second round.

The last three-round exhibition was a slashing three-round battle between Blondie Parker, I. S. D., and Young Pietres, 29th Infantry, at the end of three rounds the fight was declared a draw, but Pieters was able to gain enough advantage in the extra round to gain the decision. This was the best amateur fight of the evening.

The card was by far one of the best ever witnessed here and there is no doubt if cards like this can be continued that the fight game here will go a long ways, for every one was bubbling over with satisfaction over the evening's entertainment.

I. S. D. NOTES

Iu reply to the usurper that took over this column last week, and flatteringly apologized for so doing, we wish it understood that if 'sojouring' means dying of slow starvation, then that is exactly what we were doing. The old 'mid pleasures and palaces' business is right!

Enoch West has left us and gone out into the hard cruel world, to wrest from whosis, a living. The P. X. will miss him and look far and wide before finding a cashier who can drop canteen checks with such a graceful air of boredom as could Enoch. Its all in the point of view. To him they were only bits of pasteboard but to us they were "why haven't you more money in your envelope this month soldier?" We wish him well in the new ventures.

The Detachment is having a dance and entertainment at the 29th Infantry Theater on Tuesday night, January 24th. Elaborate preparations are underway that promise fine music, eats and lots of stunts. The Detachment has been held down in the matter of Smokers and Dances since moveing to the new area, on account of the very necessary things that we had to do to get in shape. Now that we've reached the perfect thirty-six in Detachments the Major promises Smokers and Affairs with more frequency, providing that the first few are successful. The committee in charge is composed of Decker, Leonard, Lynch and McPherson with Master Sergeant Stratton as chairman. Any helpful hints are welcomed and the Detachment and its friends are invited.

Have you seen the new Detachment Truck? Very brave looking in black trimmed with yellow and a product of the famous brothers named, and aptly, Dodge. We understand its a lady truck, for the driver has been seen to pat its hood and mid-riff in kind regard and was on at least one occasion heard to murmur something that sounded very much like "Carrie."

No, it wasn't a fit than Lane had. He got his shoes shined in the Barber Shop and then remembered that they belonged to Bob Hamilton!

Crawford is back from a furlough spent in South Georgia. Upon being interviewed he said yes three times before we could ask a question, so we naturally suppose that he did. Welcome back.

DEDICATION NEW STAGE TONIGHT

ARMY RELIEF SOCIETY OPEN ANNUAL DRIVE AT FORT BENNING

Officers of Army Relief Organization Chosen; Drive Will Continue During Month of February

The annual drive for funds for the Army Relief Society was formally opened yesterday morning after a conference with unit commanders of Fort Benning in the office of The Commandant, General E. T. Collins. General Collins spoke of the work of this organization to unit commanders, in order that all might understand just what the Army Relief Society is doing in its work in the army today.

Officers of the local branch of the Society were chosen at a meeting held at Fort Benning last week. The officers elected were President, Mrs. D. H. Torrey; First Vice-Pres., Mrs. C. D. Roberts; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. B. G. Ferris. Plans are now under way for the selection of the various sections of the Society at Fort Benning. Leaders of the various sections within regiments and separate units will be anounced within a few days. The branch officials as announced above will have full charge of the drive here.

Purpose of the Society

The purpose of the Army Relief Society as stated in the certificate of corporation is "to collect funds and provide relief in case of emergency for dependent widows and orphans of officers and enlisted men of the regular army of the United States.

Further, to aid in securing employment for them and to solicit and create scholarships and supervise educational opportunities for such orphan children."

The main office of the Society is located in the city of New York but there are branch offices in practically every regular army post and calls for assistance should be made to the local branch and not to the main office.

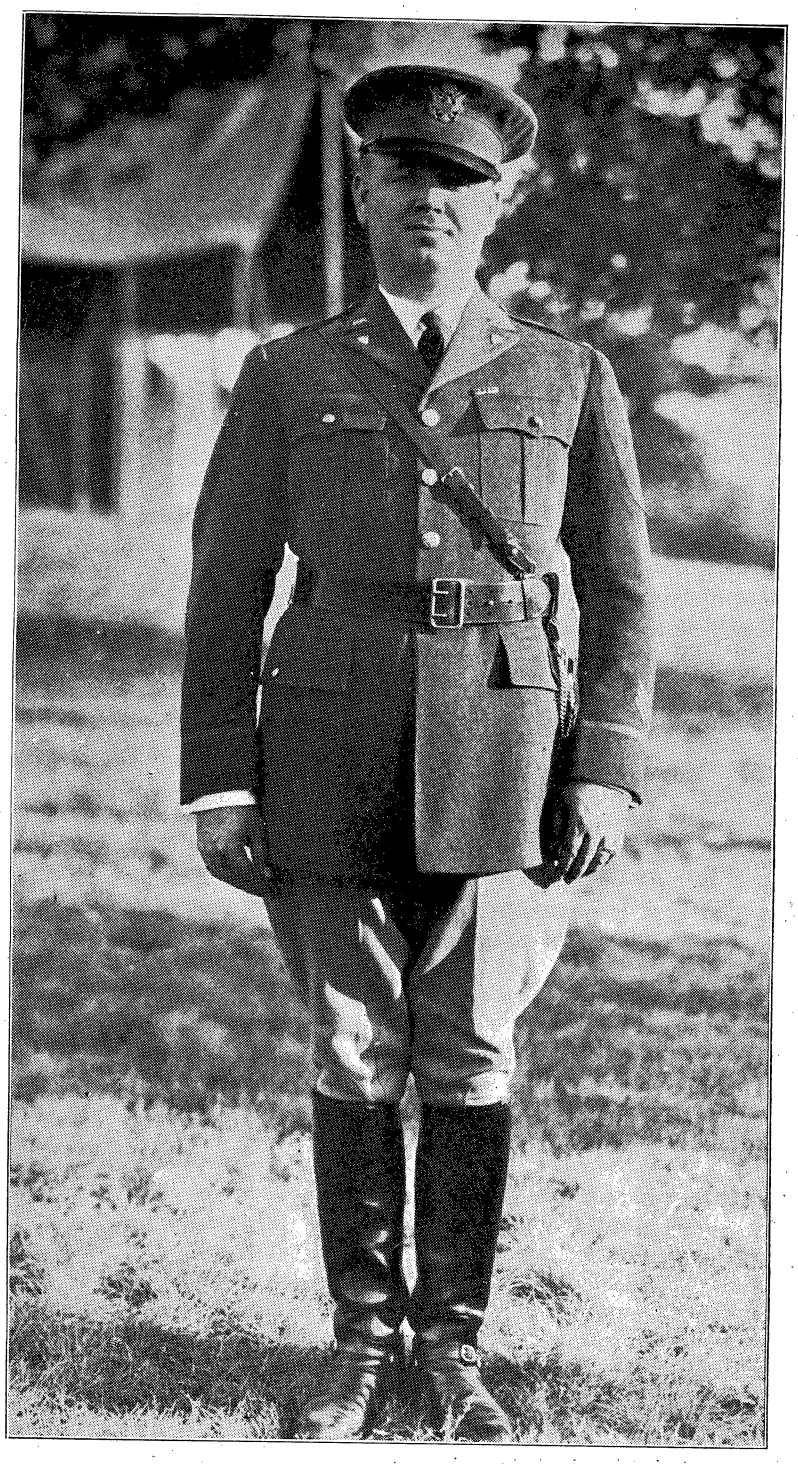
In order to properly carry on its work the Society has the following committees: Committee on Relief, Education, Clothing.

More details of the work of this organization will appear in the News of next week. Additional information on the local drive will also appear next week.

LIEUT. CONNOR AT DENVER

Lieut. J. M. Connor, who was on duty as post finance officer here last summer while Major E. B. Spiller was on leave of absence, has recently been transferred to duty at Fitzsimmons Hospital, Denver, as disbursing officer. He was formerly stationed at corps headquarters Atlanta.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF WISCONSIN



Brig-Gen. Ralph M. Immell

The Adjutant General of the state of Wisconsin, who is now a student at the Infantry School, is no doubt the youngest officer in the United States that holds that important position of head of troops in his state. General Immell is now 33 years of age, and has held his present position for the past four years.

Graduating from the second officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., in 1917 he was immediately appointed provisional lieutenant of infantry. He was sent to France in January of 1918 and assigned to the 101st Infantry of the 26th Division and served with this

FRIDAY, JAN. 27

"THE HARVESTER," from the famous novel by Gene Straton Porter, starirng Natalie Kingston. The locale of the stoy is the Limberlost estate in northeastern Indiana on the shore of Sulvan Lake where nature's beauties abound. It is a romance of plain people of the back woods cuntry and most beautifully portrays the finer elements of human character as contrasted with avarice and brutality. The pictures were actually taken at the author's home under the able direction of J. Leo Meehan.

"Pathe News No. 7."

SATURDAY, JAN. 28

(Special Note—This is an outstanding juvenile night.)

"THE BOY RIDER," featuring Buzz Barton, thirteen-year-old screen star. After less than one year playing juvenile parts in western pictures with Tom Tyler, freckle face lad proved so clever in his work and so fearless in his riding ability that he has been elevated to stardom by F. B. O. This is his initial introduction playing the leading role. In this picture Buzz escapes from cruel bandit guardians and joins forces with an old prospector who has grown tired of civilization, they arrive at their new haunts and are arrested by the new sheriff as members of an outlaw gang. They escape from jail, rescut a girl from bandits and trail rapidly through a series of exciting adventures.

"Baby Brother," Our Gang.

SUNDAY, JAN. 29

"LOVES OF CARMEN," starring Dolores Del Rio with Victor McLaglen and Don Alvarado in a story of fierce loves

WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

LOVES OF CARMEN

and hates of Spanish hearts. Glamorous Spain is shown at the height of its picturesque beauty. It is the powerful picture of Carmen, the Gypsy girl, who betrayed her soul on the alter of passion. Toreodores, in their bull fighting apparel, smugglers, bandits, fierce love making, jealousies, life among the elete of Spain and terrible dungeons ae all most vividly portrayed in this tense melodrama.

"Hole in One." Fables.

"Paramount News."

MONDAY, JAN. 30

"THE SPOT LIGHT," starring Esther Ralston in a fast moving story of stage life in which the timid New England girl with a colorless personality is transformed into a dazzling star with exotic clothing and a Russian accent only to almost lose the love that the transformation has given her. The locale is back stage, first in a small town theater, then on Broadway. The story lays bare many secrets of back stage life. It is filled with flashes of humor.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 9."

TUESDAY, JAN .31

"THE THIRTEENTH JUROR," starring Francis X. Bushman and Anna Q. Nilsson in a thrilling and chilling melodrama that will baffle and amuse. A murder—the law—the court—its jury. Would you convict this man on circumstantial evidence? A motive for the crime is established, a threat to kill is made by the accused in presence of witnesses, the accused is found near the body, the accused left home with the intent to avenge an insult. Yet; no witness saw the murder committed, the accused did not carry a gun, the bullet that killed the policeman came from his own gun, the reputation of the accused is of the highest type, and the dead man had other enemies. This story is tensely absorbing.

"Cupid and the Clock." O'Henry.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 1

"A HARP IN HOCK," starring Rudolph Childkraut and Junior Conghan. In this story a Hebrew pawnbroker brings a freckle-faced, two-fisted son of Erin to Aemrica and tries to make a pawnbroker out of him. There's comedy galore and pathos too. The story threads itself about a sweet love theme between a saucy east side flapper and a physician who was formally a European Officer. It is a fine picture of Ghetto life.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, FEB. 2

"THE BLOOD SHIP," starring Hobart Bosworth with Richard Arlen and Jacquelin Logan. This story brings back in scenes of stirring intensity the colorful days of a bygone era of the old water front of 'Frisco. The lodging house of "The Knitting Swede" from which seamen were shanghaied aboard outgoing hell ships, a mutiny because of the fiendish brutality of a ship's captain and his festial first mate ,and a life and death struggle which terminates in a thrilling climax. Through it all the sweet romance of youth plays upon the heart-strings. It is a "he-man" story.

"Rumors to Rent." Helen and Warren Comedy.

FRIDAY, FEB. 2

"BREAKFAST AT SUNRISE," starring Constance Talmadge in a Frenchy farce at Rivoli. It is the rollicking story of one of the strangest marriages ever filmed. The glamour of Paris with twin beds to spice it plus catchy scenes. Any French story is alluring, this combines sprite comedy which adds hearty laughter to the teasing attractiveness of the story.

"Pathe News, No. 9."

The Literary Club met on Monday afternoon at which time a Scandinavian program was presented.

In the foreword, "Realism in Scandinavian Literature," it was stated that from under the shadow of the North Pole has come the most dynamic realism to be found in the world's literature. These Vikings of the Pen dare as dangerous explorations in their search for Truth in Life as did and still do the fearless Norsemen in their efforts to discover new lands and new scientific data. Realism in literature is concerned with three dominant themes; sex, social injustice, and what may be called individual self-fulfillment. The realists of the world at large have placed the emphasis on the first two, but among the Scandinavians the tendency has been to treat truthfully but move over as rapidly as possible, the relationship of the human self to the other sex and to the social group on to that vital third element, its relationship to its own self—which is the profound study of the forces that impell and direct all lives.

"You alone can free yourself," "To thine ownself be true, "The Kingdom of God is within you," crystalize much of the philosophy of the Scandinavian, especially of the Norwegians whose mighty dramas have revolutionized the play-writing world. To the Scandinavian loss of life is a mere incident but loss of soul is what is important. Every play is based on that something which is more and greater than life—and the struggle is terrific for its consequences are eternal. Shakespeare always used a person upon whom the destiny of a nation rested as a hero for his tragedies but the Norwegian may take for his, a kitchen knave, the battle for his soul taking place among pots and plans, but the struggle is as royal and as important as any Macbeth encountered for more than life is at stake.

Individual responsibility which no thinking being can shun is the keynote of Norse literature and makes it throb with vital interest and tremendous power.

The Scandinavian portrays his habits of life in the style of his writing. His cold, barren country, rugged and jagged, makes him do with a vengeance what he does, and there is no time lost in the doing. The style is simple, sentences short, action quick. All is said and done with vivid clearness. There are almost no qualifying adjectives. Truth is unvarnished and it flashes like lightning against the midnight sky. Intensity, more than any one word best expresses the style of the Scandinavian.

Mrs. Edwin Spiller gave a most excellent review of Roald Amundsen's "My Life as an Explorer." Her introduction was particularly interesting as she delineated the various phases of biography and the individual contribution of each to the store of human knowledge.

Mrs. Ralph Kingman reviewed that modern classic, "The Minister's Daughter," by Dixelius. Her individual reaction to the characters and to the author's cryptic way of saying things made her review unique. The book is almost devoid of humor in its tragic intensity but Mrs. Kingman brought a number of laughs by her recital.

Mrs. Albert Peake spoke briefly of that Shakespeare of Sweden, the great erratic August Strindberg, before reading his playlet, "The Stronger." Mrs. Peake is a gifted interpreter of dramatic art and as she read this unusual dialogue (dialogue it is, despite the fact that one character never utters a word!) she carried her audience all through the various degrees of feeling from casual greeting to righteous indignation and spiritual triumph. For in the play a wife's former friend has had an affair with the speaker's husband and has caused him to force his wife to adopt the friend's taste sand interests which to do is like gall to the wife, but she has endured patiently and has succeeded in winning and keeping his love—and now while the erstwhile friend sits alone in a cafe on Christmas Eve the wife takes occasion to thank her for teaching her husband how to love and arises to go home and love him.

Mrs. Vinson briefly reviewed Selma Lagerlof's newest novel "Charlotte Lowenskold," Rolvoag's "Giants in the Earth" and Bjomson's mystic play, "Beyond Human Power."

Entered as second class mail matter, April 12, 1924, at the post office at Fort Benning, Ga., under the act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, act of October 3, 1917, authorized August 27, 1924.

The old saying that the "early bird gets the worm" is quite applicable to the fact that the writer of early news for this paper is sure to get his news in the paper. Tuesday morning a representative from one of the biggest organizations at Fort Benning appeared in the office of the NEWS with all the news items from every company in his regiment. Needless to say the news arrived in time to be sure of publication this week. In other words, first come first served.

We don't like to reiterate this fact again but it is important that the items arrive at the NEWS office on time every week. Items which are sent—and most every week this occurs—and reach the office Thursday morning have little chance of publication.

TACTICAL TOPICS

More About Monographs

The way the embryo Von Moltkes of the Advanced Class put on the last batch of monographs fills us with pride. They have not only been particularily well done from a military, literary and oratorical viewpoint but for number and variety of "rabbits" that have been pulled out of the hat, they have hung up a new record at the Infantry School. Take Golf Champion O'Hare's life-size portrait of the Crown Prince driving a trolley car from Berlin to Verdun, for instance, or Russell's clever CANTIGNY acrostic, which we reprint for the Company Officers' Class and the permanent personnel:

C an
A merica's
N ew
T roops
I mpede
G ermany
N ow?
Y ec.

And consider the one-act melodrama by Tragedian Hobbs who, having occasion during the course of his monograph upon the last Russian Offensive, to assassinate the notorious Rasputin, seized a loaded cap pistol from the table and fired point blank at the silhouette of he sinister monk, which he had previously pinned on his map. This unique display of histrionic talent so unnerved us that we sat on the edge of our chair until this act was over, half expecting that the headman in the show would dramatize the collapse of Russia by the Samsonian expedient of pulling down about our ears the flimsy temple of military education in which the exhibition was being staged. (We hope that these apt and frequent references to Biblical history will not be forgotten when the marked problems are graded.)

Truly these much reviled monographs reveal much unexpected and varied talent. For instance, we all know now, that the world lost a great evangelist when Brother Bigelow decided that destiny had marked him for the American Hannibal. In our time we have listened to some impressive harrangues by Billy Sunday, W. J. Bryan and the Rev. J. J. O'Hare, of the Anti-Saloon League, but we have never come so near to hitting the sawdust trail as we were during the latter stages of Brother Bigelow's discourse. If, at the conclusion of his appeal, he had suddenly called upon Elder Bissel to lead us in prayer there is no telling how many souls might have been saved.

There have been so many really excellent monographs since the last issue of the Infantry School News, that we hesitate to single out anyone for special commendation for fear that at least a half dozen others who are equally worthy of this signal honor will feel slighted. The one on the Palestine campaign by Captain Tiffany, however, certainly calls for passing mention in the notes. Nor should we fail to comment upon the monograph by the immaculate chairman of Committee "H" himself, supplementing the remarks of Captain Tiffany. Major Lewis, with Chapter 14 of the 1st book of Samuel for one of his unimpeachable references, showed how the nine Principles of War were applied in the Battle of Mickmash and vindicated the use of the Bible as a military text book at the Infantry School. There being no one to operate the electric signalling devices, which have been fatal to some of our ablest monographers, the erudite Major defeated both the Philistines and the Turks and covered 3000 years of military history without annoyance from higher authority.

The personal experience monographs have been particularly interesting. The Company Officers' Scribe scooped us by beating us to the mention of Simmons' entertaining description of the trials of a 37mm Platoon Commander during the War for Democracy. In a somewhat different vein, but equally illuminating, were the experiences of Major Dusenbury and Capt. During while Major Drollinger, with the class at his mercy for an uninterrupted twenty-five minutes, kept it in a state of sustained interest during the entire period. This, we assure you, is no mean accomplishment in view of the number of times that the class has listened, with visibly restrained enthusiasm, t othe same speaker.

The monographs ended in a blaze of glory on Saturday morning. Rehmann gave us a good one in the operations of the 2nd Division between Nov. 1 and No. 11, 1918, and three of our battle scarred veterans, Moss, Hilton and Lee, gave personal experience monographs that were unhesitatingly awarded big fat "As" by the Class Reporter. Whether or not this opinion of the Fourth Estate was confirmed by the hard-boiled marking committee of the Fourth Section, is a matter upon which we have not yet been informed.

Captain Cole, the stormy petrel of the Advanced Class, chose for his text a passage from Psalms, "Yea, he did fly on the wings of the wind" and made a valiant effort to condense into a twenty-five minute philippic, his unflattering view upon our National Air Policy. This eagle of the air is a fighting cock on the platform. (Being referred to as three birds in one paragraph ought to satisfy even an aviator.

Well Known Medico Rebuked by Mayor

Doc Martin is in receipt of the following telegram (collect) from the Mayor of Chicago:

"Have just learned with deep regret that a citizen of Chicago has so forgotten his former 100 per cent. American status as to deliver a monograph upon the British operations in the World War. I am greatly distressed that you, whom I have always regarded as a loyal constituent, should not have elected to deliver a personal experience monograph upon some pertinent and patriotic theme such as the Gang Wars on the Lake Shore front. Your good standing can be redeemed only by the prompt enrollment of all members of the Advanced Class in the America First League."

Captain Martin wishes to announce, through the Infantry School News, that he will receive subscriptions at his quarters daily between the hours of 5 and 6 A. M. except on Sundays and British holidays.

Advanced Class Scribe Confesses Failure

For a few blissful days we thought that our announced policy of pitiless publicity was succeeding. Captain Heraty had become almost inarticulate and Golf Champion O'Hare reported officially that he had observed Major Drollinger twice restrain an almost irresistable impulse to ask a question, "Ah dream, too bright to last." Under the impression that his benighted classmates were laboring under a misapprehension sa regards Major Hill's pronouncement, ex cathedra, on the subject of camouflage, zib, the Clarifier, took the flor and straightened things out. We have been enlightened tactically but our cherished theories on the power of the press save been destroyed.

Gems From the Monographs

O'Hare, speaking of Verdun, "The German,s conforming t otheir well-known practice of initiating great offensives on National Holidays, launched the attack on March 17th."

Doc Martin, of Chicago, discussing the British Operations in Flanders, "As regards the delivery of a monograph, it is my professional opinion that the after pains are almost as bar as the labor."

Seamon, giving every word the approved Infantry School pronounciation, "From this mass of detail and the other assembled data concerning -the allied operations on this front, I am confident that future historians and monographers will unquestionably concede that the status of the 3rd Battalion Infantry was thatof shock troops."

Root, speaking of the relief of the Marines by the 7th Infantry, "This is another historical example; a regiment of infantry replacing a brigade of marines."

Moss, after describing the capture of a German pill box by a maneuver against its rear, "This is an historical example of attacking the enemy in 'de-tail'."

COMPANY C, COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE

This week we nominate to receive the hand massarged pointer, Captain J. L. Collins. Because he has alreday sold us the aiming circle for his own terms. Because he can talk on machine guns or probably most anything else longer, more enthusiastically and without running out of soap, faster than any other person in the word. Because he is a perfect example of civilization between tongue and cerebellum. And finally, because he does not make us thirsty by drinking a glass of water.

We very much miss the influence of our ex-classmates. Skaggs and Lawrence on Silent Sam.

In teaching, a story should always illustrate a point; but we'll be dogged if we can remember exactly what point Capt. King intended that two hundred pounds of tea story to bring out. It had something to do with the inductive method; from a part to the whole or was it the other way around.

It is strongly urged that an additional member be added to the Fifth Section to compile and arrange illustrations used by instructors during the year. The final and concluding bundle each year sent out to subscribers of the mailing list should by all means contain this pamphlet. For this position Lord Le V., Earl of Lyons, recommended.

Hawkeye Wilson has demanded, and received, an apology from the conductor of this column. Hawkeye contributed three paragraphs last week and then, contrary t oour announced policy, his name was mentioned elsewhere in the column with reference to the insulting rewards on his map reading exam. He claims we double-crossed him.

We haven't mentioned the horseshoeing course this week but there isn't anything very funny about freezing to death.

And gymnasium! Some of these figures have been acquired at great cost, and now to alter them! There is nothing very funny about that either. We did enjoy reverting to sketching Monday afternoon and making a closed traverse around the golf course.

SAW DUST

(A. J. Nichols)

It has been one of our long cherished and secret ambitions to use the editorial "we." And here we are all blossomed out as the editor of a column, in which, subject of courseto the whims of the Editor, we can disport ourselves at will. Our only promise to our dear public is that we shall not use the words, "ye editor," "colyum" and "made the supreme sacrifice" in this column. We feel that our readers will suffer enough without inflicting these well worn antiques upon them.

As a preliminary to the Nite Ride to be held for the enlisted men of the 29th Infantry, three officers rode the course last Saturday afternoon under the same conditions the contestants will ride it, with exception of darkness. One of the officers got lost and failed to put in an appearance at one of the stations. We are wondering now, whether the ride is too difficult or if the officer-rider wasn't suffering just a little from "buck-fever."

In the lobby of the Post (or is it Garrison) Theater we noticed the display board of the Dramatic Club. Among other celebrities we noted our old friend, "Johnny" Walker. We are going to see this show but with many misgivings. We are laying a little bet of five to two that "Johnny" forgets himself to the extent of calling out, "the ration wagons are from two to five miles in rear." Anyway we will give even money on his saying, "schematic" or "diagrammatic." We didn't see any pictures of the Glee Club performers, but we understand they are also on the programme (we always spell 'program' like that; it suits our particular style of beauty better). Just found out that the vehicle of the Glee Club is "Trial by Jury." We are familiar enough with George King's work to know that it will be good.

We had a very interesting caller this morning. A soldier from the Experimental Range called at our office with the request that a newly assigned recruit, Private Guy C. Rhodes, Company "C", 29th Infantry, be allowed to visit his grandfather at the Experimental Range. Upon investigation we found that Private Rhodes' grandfather was none other than Sergeant J. P. Foster, I. S. D., himself a soldier of some twenty-seven years service.

Sergeant Frank C. Davis, 2nd Battalion Headquarters Company, 29th Infantry, painted the drop curtain used by the Dramatic Club in their presentation of "The Drums of Oude." A very creditable piece of work, don't you think.

George Deadrick's grave ,over near the Stadium, is nearing completion and it has been rumored about that there have been several volunteers for the job of getting George ready for its occupancy. Our guess is, that it will take several for this job, knowing as we do the "beef and brawn" of this one-time ruler of the "Loggers."

Our congratulations to those who have labored long and faithfully to give Fort Benning the finest stage in the South. It is a fitting addition to the World's Greatest Military School. Our toast is, "May all the shows given there be as good as the stage from which they are presented."

Captain "Bertie" MacMahon, the genial instructor in Map Reading and other Arts, is responsible for this one:

"It seems that back in the days of the Empire, a newly commissioned officer was appointed Summary Court Officer of a National Army regiment. Among his first cases was one involving the introduction of intoxicating liquors onto the reservation. After hearing the evidence in the case, Hizoner, the court, was somewhat uncertain as to whether the evidence warranted a verdict of 'guilty' or 'acquittal.' After a slight hesitation, he summed up the case for the United States as follows, 'Smith, I find you guilty as charged and sentence you to be confined at hard labor for two months and to forfeit two-thirds of your pay for a like period. If you are guilty you are getting off darned easy ;if you are not guilty, it will be a hell of a good lesson to the rest of the boys.'"

We had just arrived at the point where we were going to write a few letters of thanks to our well wishers of the holidays. For the purpose of buying stamps, etc., we had very conscientiously saved $1.50. Imagine our consternation when we went to the old uniform hanging in our closet, wherein the $1.50 was cached and found it (the $1.50) gone. After a few tactful questions, we were able to extract a confession from T. W.* It seems our $1.50 went to the Woman's Club or for bridge tallies, or something, anyway it had been spent. We wonder if brother officers suffer these same litle humiliations and if so, whether or not there is something we can do about it collectively. (This last word is not meant as a pun).

We have been told that Lieut. William E. Smith of the Compnay Officer's Class has quit physical training. The first requirement was that the class execute the deadman's drop—Bill did it.

THE PERSONAGE OF THE WEEK

1st Lieut. Lawrence C. Collins, Infantry, who, as Mayor of Biglerville, has succeeded in cleaning up his city in a way that can be compared only with Smedley Butler's work in Philadelphia.

P. S. If the Editor will listen to reason and the demands of his reading public, we will see you next week.

Hear Ye, we have a satirist among us. Col. Isbill will assist Capt. Nichols in getting out the Humor Section of the Year Book. Sgt. Davis is leaving us via the E. T. S. rute but he says that he will be back. Aye, and Cpl. Bagley is leaving the same day. His last words were, "Verily I say unto you that ere twenty-four have passed I shall again be a member of the Army. Cpl. Hudspeth returned from home where he spent thirty days. He hasn't said much since his return. A person in love never does. I think personally that love is just another way of incapacitating one for full performance of military duty. Eh, what?

—H. F. R.

Hdqrs. Co., 2nd Bn.

Th mad scramble for the 2nd Battalion basketball championship is now under way and this company has had two games and as many losses. The first game after holding Co. "E" to a score of 9 to 11, was turned into a landslide for Company "E", the final score being some thing like 39 to 15. The second game was much closer and appeared to be anyone's game up to the last whistle. It was won by Company "F" after a game featured by good guarding and fast basketball. Our only star but a real star was Kjelstrom who played his same hard game.

Our worthy First Sergeant, Biggerstaft, who has been spending two months furlough in the peach country is due back pretty soon and the men in the company will be glad for then soldiering will begin.

—Wm. B. Smith.

"I don't understand why they have to have all these fires when we are on fire guard."

"Yes, that is just it. They wait until we get on fire guard and then H—— breaks out."

"I was just getting all wrapped up in a 'True Story' when charge of quarters yells, "Fire, fire, everyone outside." I believed it to be another drill and took my time getting ut and arrived just in time to find the roll had been called and I was caught short."

"Well I guess you know what they call that in the Hebrew Lighter than Air Craft don't you?"

"Yeah, and the same thing applies to the Nicaraguan situationI guess."

The above is a part of a conversation that was heard in the hall the other evening.

Personally I do not see why one should complain. If we did not have fires it would be a week thrown away.

Who was the man who said he was going to buy out as soon as he returned from furlough? He got his ration check all right but he is still hanging around. Still cold in Tennessee I guess.

Sgt. Cummings has returned from a furlough. Glad to see you back again Sergeant. Not because you are the Mess Sgt. all together either.

Pvt. Balentine is back from furlough and doesn't look s bad except that in his eyes there is that look of a "Dying Calf" and he hasn't the appetite that he had before he left.

Pvt. Hickle, E. J., is also back from furlough and he is going in a sort of daze and in his sleep he is continually muttering, "O, Darling, how I love you, just one more kiss before I leave."

Better snap out of that Hickle for remember "Women" got more men than the World War.

Our Windjammer (Nig Arter) returns safely from furlough spent in Columbus, Ga. Nig says that in Columbus you can string beans but you can't bull frogs. Wonder why?

Pvt. Norton, one of our representatives in the game of grapple, was defeated the other night after a hard try.

Norton did fine though, as far as he went. (Even though it was only on his left ear). An ear like that is something we cannot all have and, is something all grapplers and pugs are proud of.

—Arden A. Leverich.

Company "C"

Mr. Robert H. Mitcham was discharged by the way o fpurchase, the entire Company wishes you luck in civil life, Mitch. old boy.

Pvt. Clardy has been promoted to the high office of Company Mechanic. Everyone thinks Gene will do well on this new job; he has had so much experience with these Georgia buggies."

Pvts. Dowdle and Dicks are sure learning the art of cooking fast, only a few of us have to take soda after each meal nowdays.

We have several new recruits that joined the Company lately, and they are showing the true spirit in geting there equipment in first class shape.

Pvt. Bennett has composed a poem, named the "Broken Hearted Soldier" which will be in this paper before long. Ye scribe thinks there is someone deeply in love.

Speaking of basket ball that was a hard-fought game with "B" Company last Friday afternoon. It was anyone's game until the last few minutes of play when "B" Company staged a rally and shoved over the three winning points. Score, "B" Company 15, "C" Company 12. Better luck next time fellows.

Pvt. Haley has returned from a thirty-day furlough reporting a scrumptious time but was sure glad to get back before all the beans gave out.

—J. V. C.

Company "D"

The night problem held a week ago sure made a hit with members of this organization ;the main reason was—four meals. Thanks to the Mess Officer, Lt. Cornog.

Any one wishing to ride in a Death Trap will kindly wait till the latter part of next week and take a ride in Cpl. Monan's ground airplane. The machine is on exhibition at Co. "D" Corral.

Checker playing is at its height. The best we have are Sgt. Phillips and Pvt. Best. Therre are a few recruits at the game, but they are not worth mentioning.

The following men hail from Louisiana and were recruited by Pvt. Rovicheaux while on furlough, Pvt. Rodgers, Pvt. L. Grange, and Pvt. Robicheaux.

Bring our announcements to a close, I would like to add one more, that being Pfc. Carpenter has only a few more days to go and the Company would like to see him re-enlist.

—Swna.

Company "E"

Well fellows, I guess we can have some growling around the Company now as we have back with us after a well spent furlough Sgt. William (Grouch) Johnson, our Supply Sgt. Glad to have you back Grouch. How do you men in the other companies like the way our basket ball teams are coming aolng. The old "E" Company team, as always, is going strong. We have played two games and won both. That's the spirit "E" Company has, "win all the time."

Did you know that this week we run the bayonet course for record and the boys say they are going to give the other companies something to shoot at to beat us. I am thinking we will get more to eat here as Cpl. Easterwood and Pvt. Dean have started eating ut on the farm where they work. Pvt. Creasy is now the shiek of the orderly room and is learning the typist trade.

We have a few new recruits in the company and the boys say they will have to make good soldiers out of them too.

Cpl. Borders will not be seen around the Company much for a while as he has his car (my mistake) I mean Ford, out of the hospital, so if any of you fellows are down on "Jaw Bone" corner just look fr him and he will bring you out.

We regret we have lost a man this week. Pvt. Brush thought he would like it better out in the nine million.

—J. R. H.

Company "F"

Under the capable leadership and under the watchful eye of Capt. Lovett, the "F" Company basketball team is slowly rounding into shape and with a wealth of material should be contenders for the Bn. Championship. In the first practice games the team has shown plenty of speed and aggressiveness but our basket shooting can stand a little improvement. More power to our team—for this is a good company and our athletic prowess is just one of the ways that we have to prove that we "know our stuff."

The Company has taken the bayonet course by storm and although the complete results have not been announced, it may be assured that we will be near the top of the list.

There has been so many that have just returned from furlough that it would be impossible to give space to each one—but everyone has reported that they had a fine time and that times are bad on the outside (especially the reups).

—S. Carline.

Company "G"

The company basket ball team made its debut of the season in a fast and furious game with Company "H". The "G" boys proved themselves superior to the "H" boys by piling up a score of 41 to 12. Pete Magagna has drilled his team into a fast passing combination that is hard to beat. The prospects for a Company "G" this season looks good, although they have several hard games on schedule.

In the last few minutes of the game the Company "G" second team gave the Machine Gunners a run for their money. Little Heartie Bates proved a star for the "Seconds" with his fast floor work and dead eye "snowbird" shots.

Cook Smith received a letter addressed "Captain Smith." He showed it to the K. P.'s that day and they sure stepped around.

Barber Manley has been getting rather frisky since he has taken his turn on the Bayonet Course. He has been taking Hill V. on for a few rounds. The bayonet course sure makes a man feel good (believe it r not).

Acting Corporal Littrell told Sgt. Richardson that he was going to transfer to the Service Company where he could get better service.

Red Wilson is going on a three-month furlough soon. "Have a good time Red but don't take any wooden nickles."

Officer f the Day asked Pvt. Bonds what his orders were on a certain remote post. In that snappy manner of his, Pvt. Bonds replied, "I walk my post from flank to flank and salute all officers from rank to rank."

We regret to state that Bugler Morris was injured while on the Bayonet Course and is confined to the hospital.

SCHOFIELDS BASKETEERS PLAY MUSKETEERS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Game Will Start at 6:45. Nordic Cagesters Win Squally Contest in Return Game Here, 34 to 27.

In a game that was marred by fouls and squabbles Olson's Nordics won Monday night's contest from the Benning Musketeers by a desperate rally in the last minute of play. The final score being 34 to 27 in favor of the visitors.

At the end of the first half the Nordics were leading the Doughboys by three points. Early in the second half the Musketeers cut down the lead to a tie at 20 all. Toward the end of the last period the soldiers were leading 24 to 20, but with the score tied at 27 all, the visitors staged a rally that netted them seven points and the game in the last minute of play.

Johnnie Roosma was high scorer of the game with seventeen points to his credit. Although this is a very low score for Roosma it seems that it was a bad evening fr every one in basket looping.

Schofields vs. Fort Benning

The strong Schofield basketball team that carried the scalp of the Infantry Cagesters back to Macon with them on their last appearance here, will be here for a game Saturday night.

With Kammerer and Roosma back in the line-up the Doughboys are confident that they can avenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of the visitors in the first game played here.

The Schofield Five is one of the strongest teams to show here this season. They have a team that carries several all-star college players on its line-up. They have not been defeated this season.

POLO TOURNAMENT PLANNED FOR MARCH

At a meeting of the captains of the various polo teams at Fort Benning last week it was decided to hold a tournament here the first week in March. There will be a tournmaent among the "A" teams and among the "B" teams.

The "A" tournament will be a "round robin" affair to be played on March 4, 7, and 11, two games each day. The winner will be determined on a percentage basis, each game will be six periods.

The "B" tournament will be played as an elimination contest on March 14, and 18; conditions of play same as above.

To explain what is meant by the above tournaments, there are four regular polo teams at Fort Benning, namely: 29th Infantry, Freebooters, Students and 83rd Field Artillery. Each team has two squads. The first squad of each team will be in the "A" tournament and the second squads will comprise those playing in the "B" tournament.

The team which will represent Fort Benning in any tournament with outside teams will be selected in the near future.

It is contmplated to make a charge for attendance of spectators at the polo games here. Members of the Officer's Club will be admitted free. Nothing definite, however, has been decided as to the price of admission. Announcement will be made soon.

THE NEW PONTIAC AND OAKLAND CARS

Your attention is invited to the advertisement on the back page of this issue of the new Pontiac and Oakland cars which will be on display at the Post Exchange tomorrow.

Vividly beautiful in a complete line of new body styles by Fisher, mechanically enhnaced by numerous notable engineering advancements ,offered at no increase in price—the New Series Pontiac Six now provides even greater superiority over all other low priced Sixes than it ever offered in the past.

Its smart new body types suggest the power and speed that are harnessed beneath its hood. With higher hood and cowl, higher, narrower appearing radiators and sweeping, full crowned fenders they impress everyone who sees them as the final word in motor car style, grace and distinction.

All-American—that's the word. And no other word describes it!

American principles of design. American standards of beauty. American stamina and endurance. The pride of America's greatest proving ground, the product of American craftsmen using American precision-production methods . . . that's the new Oakland All-American Six!

The minute you see it you'll say, "That's the car!"

A big, rugged, brilliantly beautiful Six. With mastery in every detail of its Fisher bodies—the mastery of America's master builders. Flashing performance. Abundant speed. The stamina to endure—to duplicate the first fresh, exhilirating miles one year—two years—five years from the day you buy it . . . that's the Oakland All-American Six!

Under the hood an impressive engine. 212 cubic inches in displacement. A hurricane for power. Yet silken-smooth and silent as a whisper. Entirely new in principle and design. Counterbalanced crankshaft over 78 pounds in weight—four bronze-backed bearings—the Harmonic Balancer, Oakland's rubber silencing principle, and a new type of combustion chamber designed to eliminate both vibration and roughness.

ARMY DAUGHTERS MEET

A meeting of the daughters of Army Officers was held at the quarters of Mrs. C. D. Roberts on Friday, January 20th. After a brief presentation of the need and desirability for some society of Daughters of the Army, there was a general discussion by everyone present, and it was unanimously decided to form a society. A president and secretary-treasurer were elected and a committee was appointed to draft a Constitution and By-Laws which will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Mrs. Charles D. Roberts was elected president and Mrs. James L. Ballard, secretary-treasurer.

There are between 30 and 40 daughters of Regular Army Officers stationed at Fort Benning and there were 23 present at the meeting.

There were two very interesting members of the new Society present, Mrs. Eugene O. Fechet and Miss Agnes Kendrick Gray. Mrs. Fechet's father was Capt. Thomas J. Montgomery who graduated from the Military Academy in 1845, and who served throughout the Mexican War and died at the early age of 32 years.

Miss Gray's father was Col. W. W. Gray of the Medical Corps. Miss Gray who is a poetess of some reputation, has been a recent guest of Mrs. Kingman and is well known at Ft. Benning.

Those present at the meeting were:
Mrs. C. D. Roberts, nee Bradford.
Mrs. Harris Pendleton, nee Sanno.
Mrs. J. L. Collins, nee Easterbrook.
Mrs. D. L. Adams, nee Naylor.
Mrs. M. Kilburn, nee Fechet.
Miss Jane Kilburn.
Mrs. Malcom Lindsey, nee Bond.
Mrs. Eugene O. Fechet, nee Montgomery.
Mrs. J. L. Bolt, nee Eltinge.
Mrs. E. J. Walsh, nee Roach.
Mrs. Tom Fox, nee Berry.
Mrs. J. D. Forsythe, nee Pendleton.
Mrs. J. L. Ballard, nee Carnachan.
Mrs. L. C. Beebe, nee McRae.
Mrs. R. W. Kingman, nee Cochran.
Mrs. C. E. Coates, nee Bishop.
Mrs. J. E. McCammon, nee Bishop.
Mrs. C. L. Bolte, nee Poore.
Mrs. N. M. Walker, nee Wyke.
Mrs. C. H. Mason, nee Smith.
Miss Agnes Gray.
Mrs. G. R. Cook, nee Frederick.
Mrs. J. K. Rice, nee Ord-Kemple.

The next meeting will be held at the quarters of Mrs. J. L. Ballard at 2:30 p. m., Thursday, February 16th, and it is earnestly hoped that all the daughters of Regular Army Officers at Fort Benning will be present at the meeting, which will be an important one.

Majorie Wood, leading woman with Richard Bennett in "The Barker" at the Springer Theater, Feb. 7th.

"My first appearance in a dramatic role was with Frank Keenan in "The Pawn", said Marjorie Wood, who is now playing with Richard Bennett in "The Barker," "and the engagement came at a time when I had almost resigned myself to the fate of being cast for comedienne parts for the balance of my career. It was through the kindly aid of Mrs. Keenan that my wish was fulfilled and I was able to do what I had wanted to do for such a long time. Morris Gest saw me in 'The Pawn' and and my engagement in 'Chu Chin Chow' followed and in which I played the Desert Woman for three years. Last season the major portion was spent in George M. Cohan's drama 'Yellow.' After that came the role of Carrie in 'The Barker' for which I was chosen by the producer, Charles L. Wagner. No one ever things of me as a comedienne and no doubt the struggle to convince any producer as to my ability in that direction would again need the friendly aid of a Mrs. Keenan."

Miss Wood has just completde a run of 200 performances with Richard Bennett in "The Barker" at the Blackstone Theater, Chicago, the greatest run in that theater since the days of the late Franch Bacon in "Lightnin." The role of Carrie is an extremely difficult one to play and the Chicago critics were unanimous i ntheir praise of Miss Wood's wrk, which never wavered during the long hot summer months of the run of this great play of American tent show life in Chicago.

THE MEMORY OF A QUAINT OLD ARMY CUSTOM

(By a Censorious Old Person)

"Do you object to smoke?"

The Army does change; for better or for worse I some times wonder?

Well now people smoke for better or for worse. For me it is much worse, as their smoke makes me, many times, have to give up the pleasures of Fort Benning ;as I can't go to base ball, the smoke drives me away from the bleachers and the football games the same.

At the Hunt Breakfasts the early nonriders arrive and smoke so that the polo club is so beclouded in smoke that when the hunt arrives, one can hardly distinguish the gay red coats of the handsome whips through the gray atmosphere.

Basket ball has been my joy, my one athletic interest.

The "No Smoking" sign in the old gymnasium has been observed and obeyed.

But Saturday night I realized I might have to give that up too as the young Major who sat by me held an old cigar stump, a smoldering old cigar stump, in his hand, a dear old treasure to him not to be parted with for ladies' comfort or General's orders. The evil smoke yet enveloped me like a London Joy and stumps the haze that hung over and armed me, from it, I had to give up trying to see the game, those joyful running players the very sight of which delegates my wrong soul.

I gave up trying to see them stinging my eyes—and recalled dear quaint, old Army Custom and times when ladies did not smoke, and gentlemen did not in a lady's presence, when holding a smoking old weed in the presence of ladies would have been impossible.

The next day I took the locksmith from the I. M. Carpenter shop in my car to my quarters to fix the lock of my guest trunk.

Before entering my car he threw away his freshly lighted cigarette, with a polite apology for smoking in my presence. The first time such a courtesy has been shown me in many years. I appreciate it and told him so.

Then came "What Price Glory" to the Main Theater. The audience was requested to refrain from smoking. Had I known that I too could have seen a movie.

Staff Sergeant Sam Taggart, who has been on duty at the Finance Office here for the past four years left this week for Fort Barrancas, Florida, for duty in the finance office there. The many friends of Sgt. Taggart wish him success at his new station.

BENNING'S NEW STAGE DEDICATED LAST WEEK

Infantry School Clubs Present Splendid Plays For Opening Nights

A large audience of Fort Benning and Columbus society greeted the Infantry School Glee and Dramatic Clubs on last Friday and Saturday evenings at the Main Theater for the dedication of the new stage. This stage which has been described in recent issues of the News is considered one of the finest and best equipped in the United States.

"Trial by Jury"

The first presentation of the opening nights was the operetta, above named, by the Inf. School Glee Club. The stage settings and costumes were unusually attractive. Especially pleasing were the costumes worn by the bridesmaids. The leading character, that of bride, was taken by Mrs. E. S. Barker, who was most charming in her wedding robe of satin and tulle. Mrs. Barker delighted the large audiences with her clear and high soprano voice and splendid acting. She is a very talented musician and her signing was one of the outstanding features of the opening nights.

Capt. H. C. Luck ,as the bridegroom, was exceptionally good as was Capt. Earl Paynter, as Counsel, and Lieut. G. W. Smythe, as Judge.

The chorus work was splendid and showed careful preparation and training not often to be found in amateur performances.

Much credit for this performance is due Capt. George L. King who has worked incessantly in making this operetta the success that it proved to be. Mrs. Edwin Butcher was the accompanist for the orchestra.

"Drums of Oude"

The Infantry School Dramtic Club presented Austin Strong's one-act drama of the Indian Sepoy rebellion, "The Drums of Oude," directed by Major George F. N. Dailey. To Major Dailey a large measure of credit is due, for his indefatigable energy, and his comprehensive grasp of the picture to be portrayed, went far to make the production the success that it proved to be.

Captain William M. Hutson as Captain Hector McGregor and Captain D. H. Mallan as Lieutenant Alan Hartley of the Highlanders were excellent in their roles. The contrast between McGregor, the coll, imperturbable old soldier, wise in the ways of India and its people, and Hartley the enthusiastic, red-blooded youngster, just out from England, was well drawn. Captain Charles L. Bolte tok full advantage of his part of Sergeant McDougal. We were particularly pleased with his realism in the use of breathing and body movement to further the effect of excitement and haste.

Captain Nelson M. Walker and Lieut. John H. Becque as the two Hindustani servants, did an excellent piece of pantomine. With no lines to help them, their portrayal of the slinking, cringing, crafty natives was perfect. Lieut. Lawrence A. Dietz as Stewart, the sentry, and Lieut. Welborn B. Griffith, Jr., as a private, made the best of their opportunity in small roles.

Roberta Linnell Bruce as Mrs. Jack Clayton, Hartley's sister and a girl of the old army, was if possible, more charming than ever. Her portrayal was delightful. A great deal of credit is due the operating staff for their part in the success of the production, for the scenic and lighting effects were the best that have been seen in this post.

Down at Camp Taylor in 1917 a negro outfit was lined up before the clerk for preliminary paper work.

"Name and address," demanded the clerk of one husky recruit.

"Huh?"

"What is your name and address?"

"Yo' ought to know," said Rastus. "Yo' sent fo' me."

THE M. P. WAS RIGHT

Late one night during the frigid-air period earlier in the month, one of Captain Shamotulski's alert military police observed a motor car bearing a Missouri license traveling south on the Benning Highway in excess of the speed regulations. As is customary in such cases, its driver, Lieutenant Bassett of the Company Officers Class, was directed to "reply by indorsement hereon." To serve as a guide for our Benning bachelors when driving to quarters after an evening in Columbus, the corresponrence in this case is reproduced in full below:

HAYES—BROWN

Beautiful indeed was the impressive military ceremony which united in marriage Miss Virginia Hayes, daughter of Major and Mrs. Daniel J. Hayes of Baltimore, and Lieutenant Rothwell Hutton Brown of Fort Benning, on Monday, January 30th, at the Protestant chapel at 7 o'clock in the evening, Chaplain John R. Wright officiating. The ring ceremony was used and the vows were made in the presence of a large assemblage of friends.

The chapel was artistically decorated, using Southern evergreens in the background and graceful palms in the foreground. Formal white satin altar cloths were used and a white satin kneeling bench marked the place where this charming young couple plighted their troth. Through the foliage tall white cathedral tapers shed their mellow light and on each side of the kneeling ebnch stood a tall sacred seven-branch cnadelabrum holding low burning tapers.

The 29th Infantry Orchestra presented lavely pre-nuptial music and immediately preceding the ceremony Captain Cecil Rutledge sang "At Dawning" and "O Promise Me," Mrs. Rutledge accompanying.

At the initial strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by the Twenty-Ninth Orchestra, the groomsmen entered and took their places before the altar rail. Theq were: Lieut. Kammerer, Lieut. Jeter, Lieut. Gilbreth, Lieut. Strickler, Lieut. Hedekin, Lieut. Cornog, Lieut. Galbreath, Lieut. Von Houten, Lieut. Reeder and Lieut. Griffeth, all of whom serve with the groom in the Twenty-Ninth Infantry.

Miss Margaret Casaday of Fort McPherson, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Casaday, was maid of honor and only attendant. She entered alone wearing an exquisite gown of pale blue chiffon over rainbow satin with a picture hat of the same material. She carried a huge arm bouquet of pink roses.

The lovely young bride entered on the arm of her brother, Captain William Maine Hutson who escorted her to the altar where she was met by the groom and his best man, Captain Jarrett M. Huddleston. The bride was a picture of loveliness in her handsome wedding attire. Her lovely dress was of lustrous ivory satin crepe made in period fashion with a snug bodice and bouffant skirt. Rare princess lace embroidered with seed pearls was used at the low round neck and in the full skirt. Her long misty veil was of real rose point and was held to her dark hair with a circlet of orange blossoms. In her arms she carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with dainty lilies of the valley.

As the ceremony was concluded and the orchestra pealed forth Mendelssohn's wedding march the groomsmen formed an aisle with crossed sabres through which the bride and grom left the church.

Immediately after the marriage the wedding party and a number of honored friends motored to the Log Cabin where an elegant weding supper was served. The guests were seated at one long table which was beautifully appointed. Low bowls of yellow roses were used at intervals and between them tall white candles tied with filmy tulle burned. Dainty bride place-cards marked the places for the following guests: Lieut. and Mrs. Brown, Col. and Mrs. Delaplane, Maj. and Mrs. Bowen, Capt. and Mrs. Dager, Miss Mae Parent, Capt. Hutson, Miss Margaret Casaday, Lieut. Von Houten, Capt. and Mrs. Bolte, Capt. and Mrs. Huddleston, Capt. and Mrs. Rutledge, Mrs. Hayes, Capt. and Mrs. Lovett, Chaplain and Mrs. Wright.

Later in the evening the bride changed her weding gown for her going away costume—a smart dark blue ensemble with hat, gloves and accessories to match. Lt. and Mrs. Brown left shortly after for Atlanta where they are spending their honeymoon.

PARENT—HUTSON

At midnight on Monday, January 30th, in the Protestant Chapel before the same lovely altar that Captain William Maine Hutson had a few hours earlier escorted his sister, Miss Virginia Hayes, to become the bride of Lieutenant Rothwell H. Brown, he and Miss Mae Parent were married by Chaplain John R. Wright, the orchestra from the Twenty-ninth Infantry furnishing the bridal music.

Captain Hutson and Miss Parent were to be married on February 8th and while at the weding supper at the Log Cabin which followed the Hayes-Brown wedding it was suggested that now would be a most opportune time for the second wedding since the chapel was decorated the contracting party present with the minister, and the musicians ready at a moment's call. When the bride-elect gave her consent special arrangements were made by phone calls and when the wedding party returned to the post the chapel was glowing with lights, the musicians in their places, the officers and ladies of the Third Section of Academic Department of the Infantry School in which Capt. Hutson is an instructor, the officers and ladies who were cast with Capt. Hutson in the latest production of the Dramatic Club, "The Drums of Oude," and many interested friends were seated in the chapel ready to witness another impressive military ceremony.

The gromsmen, Lt. Haynes, Capt. Huddleston, Lt. Gilbreth, Lt. Strickler, Lt. Griffeth, Lt. Jeter, Lt. Cornog and Lt. Von Houten were first to enter and take their places before the altar.

Then came Miss Glenn Jones of Columbus, maid of honor, wearing a black ensemble with hat to match and carrying pink roses.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by Col. Channing E. Delaplane and by him given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Captain Charles L. Bolte.

The bride wore a becoming blue ensemble with hat, gloves, shoes and accessories to match, and in her arm she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

Captain and Mrs. Hutson left Tuesday for Aiken, South Carolina, where they will spend a week after which they will be at home to their friends in the rustic bungalow on the First Division road near the Polo Club.

There are many officers stationed at Benning, McPherson, Oglethorpe, Barancas and other nearby posts who are in easy motoring distance of this chosen meeting place and it is earnestly hoped that all who possibly can will avail themselves of this opportunity to get together and relieve the "Battle of Coblenz" and other similar engagements. Warm Springs is a unique place, having a delightfully warm swimming pool constantly refilled with natural warm water. Nearby are cold springs the waters of which are used by the government for large fisheries. There is a modern hotel where you are assured of every comfort and convnience. BIDS AUTHORIZED ON NEW BUILDINGS AT BENNING

Quartermaster Receives Authority To Receive Bids on Projects on March 12; Changes Made on 29th Infantry Barracks

Lieut. W. M. Allison, Construction Quartermaster at Fort Benning, received notice last Thursday to receive bids on the new additions to the hospital which was authorized by the Deficiency Bill which passed in Congress several weeks ago. At the same time he was instructed to delay the bids on the addition to the new 29th Infantry Barracks pending the receipt of contemplated revision of plans in this addition. Nothing definite is known as to what extent this change will be but it is understood that the changes contemplated will provide more storage space for the companies which will occupy this new section.

The specific instructions for the bids on the hospital group will include Ward Buildings A and B, connecting corridors A and B, and the necessary utilities pertaining to those additions. The bids will be opened at Fort Benning on March 12. The new construction projects at Fort Benning are under the direction of Lieut. Allison who has had considerable experience in this branch of the Quartermaster Corps. He will be assisted by Mr. Guy Cooper, superintendent of construction at Benning.

NEW CLASS OPENED

The non-commissioned officers' class of the Infantry School was formally opened in Assembly Hall No. 8 last Wednesday morning. The Commandant, Gen. E. T. Collins, made a short speech of welcome which was enthusiastically received by the new class.

There are about fifty men of the new class and most every national guard division of the country is represented in this class. Capt. E. L. Rice is the supervisor of the class.

HIGHLIGHTS On The LOWDOWNS

By G. V. W.

1st Stude: What is this coronary band Col. Hill talks about?

2nd Ditto: Why, hat's the ring on the third molar that you tell his age by.

It was very edifying to the class to learn that Captain King knows where to stand on all important occasions. Second hand copies of Moss will now, no doubt, rise in value at the Book Shop. Have you tried the side-stride stand, Cap.?

The handsome and embarrassing young veterinary officer who discussed the feeding of animals added to the knowledge of the class materially when he gave out the water content of one of the articles of forage. This was the first we knew that horses had a predilection for this article and in the future we will be more careful when near his east sid.

Seems that nowadays no one is content until they have shown up our school by her, Geo. Washington. Until Maj. Lewis enlightened us we had always believed that if Braddock had only listened to Geo. and let him and his Virginia militia fight the battle that the unofrtunate occurrence at the Monongahela would not have saddened our youth. It seems thta times have not changed and that the trained soldier still churlishly refuses to let the dashing young amateur win the war for him. Ah well; lack a day.

Instructor: You, Lieutenant with the pipe in your mouth, tell the class what is the matter with the shoeing of this animal.

Stude: Well, he is too long in front, has no expansion, is high on the outside of the right and on the inside of the left, and the nails are driven in old nail holes.

Instructor: Well, ah——hardly. This animal, gentlemen, illustrates an example of excellent shoeing in all respects and you will rarely see a better shod animal.

After the Musketry Instructor had made us scared to death to say "Two fingers left" the Machine Gunners come along and get us right back in our old habits again. Now for gosh sakes which is it?

Since Venable's tag-guessing game appeared it is said that Jake Moon does not need to wear a red light when walking at night.

The sketches are back. Some, it is said, were made on the field.

The animated twin act by Major "DeWice" Lange and Captain "Ramsbottom" King was enjoyed by one and all. Many men who had held the advanced class somewhat in awe because of the beautiful maps decided that they were only human after all. Especially after seeing the mounted infantryman.

Captain Ambrose is still short some fifty caliber souvenirs. And at $1.05 apiece, too. The class is surely disappointed at not getting to see the big babies work. Isn't there a chance yet?

The school sure has a bum weather prophet. Every time we are billed to see an interesting demonstration it is either wet or cold or both. We drilled with the MGs in a fine rainstorm and sat "chillily" through the Direct Fire demonstrations. Captain Venable does much beter. Handicap of 3.

One stude bemoaned Captain King's lack of handkerchief only to find that the Captain had told Major Lange beforehand that he was going to snivel. That was just another "Little DeWice."

It is no longer healthy to sit in motor cars and listen to lectures.

We think that the clever bird that submitted four subjects for his fifteen-minute speech all of which could be covered by the same talk is just too cute for words. Don't foll yourself kiddo, the enemy is always to be credited with as good brains as you have.

Captain Lundy is making a collection of all the rumors that were started by his day's absence while sick. He claims that the report that he had died was grossly exaggerated. (Apologies Mark).

We have learned from Major Lange how and why not to do all the things he does while lecturing. If you know what I mean.

The class has become much brighter since Colonel Marshall gave his enlightening talk.

The old question in regard to whether the white shirt or the OD shirt is regulation for "A" uniform is still debated. Either or ayther was the last word we had, but not neither nor nither. Oh heck, what was I saying?

THE ORIGIN OF LEAP YEAR

In this quadrennial round up of bashful cowboys, it might be well, when bulldogging the verbal bovine, to investigate the source of the present menace. Some experts on military history firmly aver that the Biblical flapper, Delilah, sntached bold Sampson baldheaded during the earliest leap year. The better opinion, however, seems to hold that it wa snot until 44 B. C. that leap year got in its dirtiest work.

You doubtless remember that by 46 B. C. another immortal had joined the firmament in which was to shine the great N of Napoleon, and in which already gleamed the golden helmet of the Macedonian smart Alec, who at the age of thirty-three died, having no more worlds to conquer. By 46 B. C., then, Julius Caesar, dictator of the seven seas and the lands they washed, sat triumphant in Imperial Rome. Caesar, having defeated all who came against him, casting about for other sports, turned to making master schedules and decided to revise the calendar. He therefore called to Capitolene Hill an eminent Alexandrian astronomer, an old hot dog called Sosigenes. In order to make up time lost in various ten minute breaks since the dawn of man, they devised the strategem of adding an extra day, the 29th of February, to each fourth year. This as we shall see, wa sa fatal error.

Now it came to pass that two years later, in 44 B. C., the eagles of the legions once more scented the van of battle. Though the Garlic Wars were six years past, it now transpired that an evil aroma had arisen from the rampant Spanish Onion. When the tall galleys had dpearted from the Tiber, and the wails of lovelorn maidens supplanted the ring of marching feet on the cobbles of the seven hills of Rome, certain batchelor damsels neglected in teh tender partings ,concocted a vile plot. The conspirators assigned as "D" day, the fateful 29th of February.

These unwomanly members of what optimists term the fair sex schemed to fall upon such unfortunates as were passed by in the selection of Caesar's soldiers, and marry them in a heap. And so, sad to relate, it came about. Preceded by a twenty minute concentration of the insidious perfume of orange blossoms, many a timorous youth was snatched from single glessedness and led quaking to the altar. Thus, on the extra day of this first year evenly divisible by four of the Julian Calendar, these brazen damsels lept upon their defenseless prey, thereby blighting each fourth year thereafter with the name of Leap Year.

As a tragic aftermath; on the 15th of March, 44 B. C., less than three weeks later, Julius Caesar, illustrious Captain o fthe ages, was struck down in the Senate Chamber by the hand of one Brutus who was a victim of this first leap year. Had noble Caesar refrained from mixing his dates, and never turned to making master schedules, history might have taken a different course, and great Caesar's ghost never have walked home from the Ides of March.

SAW DUST
(A. J. Nichols)

Here we are on our second consecutive week as a columnist. We believe you like our column but the Editor is somewhat dubious. So please put in a good word for us. He has threatened to cut us off and you can do good a whole lot toward preventing this catastrophe by calling him up or writing him a note telling him you will cancel your subscription, etc., if he cuts us out. Our telephone number is 537 and if you can't get an audience with the Editor, call us up—we will listen.

It seems that every successful columnist must conduct some sort of a contest and, in order not to be an exception to the rule, we are going to start one among the good housewives of the Garrison. We are extremely fond of home made fruit cake and it appears to us that it would be a very practicable thing to conduct a contest to determine the prize fruit cake baker on the Post. The rules of this contest are very simple. Bake your cake and send it to us. We shall taste each cake and decide upon its merits and so determine the winner. The winner shall be announced as the "personage of the week" and all other entrants shall have their names mentioned in this column, it therefore being impossible for contestants to lose. Cakes should preferably weigh not less than one pound. If this contest is a success, we shall conduct others just as interesting. Our mouth has already started watering over the prospects of our position as sole judge.

We got a summons the other day from Bob Hall and hurried over to the Club with those misgiving and fears that accompany such a call. Upon arrival, we were acquainted with the horrible truth, our account was overdrawn. We could not understand this condition of our finances and after covering up the deficit, we began a thorough investigation. This investigation ended with a confession from T. W.* that she had purchased our Christmas present and had drawn a check for that purpose. To keep us fram knowing what it cost, she had not entered it in the check boon and had nt told us about it for the same reason. Our Christmas present was to be a surprise—it WAS. Woman, thy name is adversity.

Captain Doll, the very efficient manager of the Main Theater, has been giving the movie patrons of Fort Benning the best pictures obtainable. While we are not a "movie fan" we do enjoy a good picture now and then and the advance list for February is replete with excellent shows. We can recommend the two in which Evelyn Brent is starred, "Beau Sabreur" and "Last Command." They are both worth seeing. Captain Doll's work at the Garrison Library also deserves considerable commendation. He is doing the Post a very creditable service in furnishing us with good pictures and good books.

It seems that more can happen while one is on a 30-day leave than during all the rest of the 11 months of the year. We noticed in a recent daily bulletin that Captain Dage rhas lost another dog. one that answers to the name of "Cap." We thought we knew all of Captain Dager's dogs but we evidently got behind when we went on leave. We knew "Cheese" before his untimely but gallant dath, used to share our chair with him and stroke his head by the hour; we know "Crackers" rather intimately and we are on speaking terms with "Mac," but "Cap" must be "some litle old country dog we never even heard of."

The horror of horrors has happened. We had guests at our home the other night who showed such rank indiscretion as 'to use the guest towels in our bathroom. T. W.* was furious.

We sometime think that those of us who are stationed here at Benning are not altogether appreciative of the facilities offered here for our enjoyment. The other day we got on our horse and with our two dogs, "Jack" and "Snoopy," took a ride through the woods ,out along the Upatoi Trail. We could not help but compare our opportunity with those stationed in posts in the northern United States weher, at this season of the year, snow and zero weather prevail. The woods were beautiful and the temperature was just right for the ten-mile ride we enjoyed.

We saw the double bill offered by the Dramatic Club and the Glee Club and considering the fact we couldn't hear very much of what was being said due to our remoteness from the stage, it was a highly successful evening. To Captain L. E. Norris, as the Usher, goes the honor of being the first person to publicly appear on the new stage. Our bet on Johny Walker referring to "Combat wagons, etc." was lost because Major Dialey apparently had the same fears we had and cut "Johnny" off without a word. We won the moral victory, however, because during the entire evening "Johnny" was never more than a few feet away from the "munition's distributing point"—the magazine.

THE ARMY RELIEF SOCIETY

In the issue of last week's NEWS there was carried an important announcement to the effect the drive of the Army Relief Society would begin within a few days. Mrs. D. H. Torrey, president of the Fort Benning stated several days ago that the respective organizations of The Infantry School were now being organized into the various sections consisting of at least twenty-five officers for the purpose of the drive.

From year to year, it is no unusual thing to see newspaper items concerning entertainments in various parts of the United States for the purpose of raising funds to carry on the work of this wonderful organization. However, entertainments of this kind are expensive and it has been decided that there will be no functions of any kind at Fort Benning for the drive this year, inasmuch as the money derived therefrom will have to be partially expended to carry on such functions. Instead, an appeal to each officer and enlisted man at the Infantry School will be made, and it is felt that once the real purposes of the Society becomes well known to all the personnel here, that Fort Benning will be near the top of the list of all branches this year.

The purpose of the Society is "to collect funds and provide relief in cases of emergency for dependent widows of officers and enlisted men of the regular army of the United States. Further, to aid in securing employment for them and to create scholarships and supervise educational opportunities for such orphan children."

The following committees are maintained at the headquarters of the Society in New York to properly carry on the work: Relief, Education and Clothing.

Relief Committee

The Chairman of the Relief Committee made a report for the year ending April, 1927, which we quote as follows: "This year the committee has helped 118 families, of which 62 are families of enlisted men, and 56 are families of officers. Among this group were 122 children, 10 single women, many widows—all needing financial assistance and friendly advice in adjusting their lives to changed circumstances."

To proceed further herein is stated some of the specific instances wherein widows and orphans were assisted by the work of this committee. One widow who was left financially involved and burdened with debts was helped with a check which defrayed doctor's bills and a greater part of funeral expenses. In this particular case, the adjutant of the regiment to which this officer belonged appealed to the Society which responded promptly, by telegraph, to the relief of this widow.

A widow with three children has had to be helped over a hard period. Her husband had bought a home on the instalment plan before he was killed in an aeroplane accident. Had the Army Relief Society failed to exist, this young widow would have lost all money that had been paid into this home.

Several very feeble aged women are on the list for help. One was in a hospital the past year and was visited by a member of the Relief Committee. After conversing with the patient a check for $200 was dispatched to the relief of this sick woman.

No story relative to the assistance of families of officers and enlisted men is quite complete without the mention of babies. The outstanding one for the past year is that of twins now living in Seattle. The father, a sergeant, living in Hiawaii developed heart trouble and died very suddenly; there were three small children and no funds. The Society with an emergency check helped close up the widow's affairs. She took passage on a transport for her parent's home. In mid-ocean twins were born. The Army Relief's check that goes to her every month buys milk for the children and helps pay the rent. The mother's letters are filled with good news about the family that is now happy—because of the work of the Army Relief Society.

Does not this story alone cause one to think of the great good that the army's own charitable organization is carrying on—very silently from day to day. Remember, this article deals with only one phase of the work. The other two committees—educational and clothing—are doing work that would fill anyone's heart with joy were they to realize that they had a part in the fulfillment of this splendid work of the army's own organization.

The NEWS of next week will tell more touching stories of the work of the Society in the matter of the education of the orphans of officers and enlisted men. Do not fail to read it.

And don't forget that the work of the Society extends to widows and families of both officers and enlisted men.

TACTICAL TOPICS
(By E. F. H.)

"Better be damned than mentioned not at all."

We are over the hump. Captain Russel, who seems to have a flair for statistics as well as acrostics, informed us the other day that, on Monday last at 10 A. M., we completed one-half the number of hours on the Advanced Class schedule of instruction. We have been afraid to cheer up for fear that he may have made a mistake in the opposite direction.

Have you noticed how the Infantry School News is pepping up? Several amateur columnists, besides myself, have entered the field and the paper is no longer the colorless supplement to the official bulletin that it was. Major McCuniff, who escaped the strong arm subscription squad of the Infantry School Reception Committee, recently announced his intentions to subscribe and we have personally observed several officers reading it with apparent interest. Also we have heard from a reliable source that Major Drollinger now peruses Tactical Topics before taking up the latest thirty-page gratuitious issue memeograph dealing with employment of machine guns in jungle warfare, submarine operations or whatnot.

In passing, we make bold to suggest that "The Amateur Huntsman" who signs himself "Hag" give us some more of his stuff. Weekly contributions from his pen will greatly assist us in our laudable ambition to make the News the most popular periodical on the post.

Speaking of amateur huntsman, the Advanced Class was well represented at the last involuntary dismounting exercises, which are held bi-weekly, under the auspices of the Drag Hunt Association. Paul Revere Lancaster and M. F. H. Cotton limped into the 8 o'clock Monday morning class wearing visible evidence of their recent initiation into the exclusive Prince of Wales Club. Nor are these the only casualties which our horsey set has suffered. Someone crowned our leading poloist, Captain Boudinot, with a mallet and his dashing colleague, Cowboy Joe Taylor, in his famous monograph gallop, came a cropper when he tried to override the Committee "H" buzzer.

Tactics Made Easy

Special Situation (Blue): An enemy thrust along the wooded ravine on the right (west) flank has penetrated the left (east) of the east strong point of the center of resistance on the west flank, etc.

Moss (in a stage whisper, after spending fifteen minutes in trying to get his bearings), "Whoever boxed this compass must have been looking at a roulette wheel."

Major Huebner: Just remember that one yard of double apron fence takes 10 lbs.

Lancaster (sotto voce): Ten pounds of what?

Simmons (ditto): Post Holes.

Advanced Class Likes Monographs

At a recent meeting of the Advanced Class Soviet it was decided by a close and dubious vote that the generous offer of the Fourth Section to mimeograph eighty subscription sets of abbreviated monographs be accepted. The committee selected to perpetrate this literary and historical atrocity is under the direction of Commissar Hobbs, whose dramatic impersonation of the assassin of Rasputin has been favorably commented upon in this column. It is understood that Commissar Moreno has consented to write the preface. As this distinguished Commissar is known to possess revolutionary views on monographs in general and on this volume of Tabloid Monographs in particular, his foreword is being awaited with interest.

Luck Scores Again

It was the privilege of the theater-going public of Fort Benning to witness two highly creditable performances last week. The musical feature was Gilbert & Sullivan "Trial by Jury," ably directed by Captain George King and it was followed by a wonderfully well-staged performance of "The Drums of Oude" for which Major Daily, our leading exponent of correct Combat Orders, was responsible.

Captain Enrico Luck, of the Advanced Class, sang the important role of The Defendant in "Trial By Jury." Before hearing the celebrated tenor, we had about come to the conclusion that Professor McCunniff's "Lydia Pinkham" was the greatest musical triumph which the class was destined to achieve but we unhestitatingly give the palm to Captain Luck. He can act as well as sing and we shall look forward to seeing and hearing him in subsequent Glee Club productions.

A less conspicuous but highly important part in the above mentioned performance was that of Captain Grimmer who played first violin in the orchestra. It is quite evident that we possess quite a wealth of musical as well as military talent and if the School Faculty was not so intent upon making Caeser's out of us we might develope a couple of Leonardo de Vincis. But to serve both Man and the Muses is a difficult matter—almost as difficult as the service of God and Mammon.

Refreshers Graduate

The graduation exercises of the Refresher Class were held on Monday afternoon in Assembly Hall No. 2. The stage was attractively decorated with a 16x6-inch reproduction of a section of the Gettysburg map. The exercises took the form of fifteen-minute talks delivered by members of the class. At the conclusion of the last address Brother Bigelow and Bishop O'Hare were observed leaving the hall in a state of profound depression.

COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE

Company C

Questionnaire for Company Officers Class:

In order to organize the company officers' class for Equitation, each student officer will answer the questions listed below and return this paper within twenty-four hours:

(1) Have you ever riden horseback? Sure.

(2) How long? Till I fell off.

(3) Have you ever taken a course in Equitation? No.

(4) Have you ever jumped a horse? Don't be silly.

(5) Have you ever schooled a horse? I know of nothing I could teach an intelligent horse.

(6) Would you prefer to be placed in a Beginners, Intermediate or Advanced Platoon? Let your conscience be your guide.

(Signature) Eugene E. Morrow,
Captain, Infantry.

Another illusion shattered! The opinion has long been held that an officer owning a car of imposing make would, by his (financial) brillance, be immune from criticism. But not so. A Pierce-Arrow doesn't dazzle one Irishman we know.

Notestein has never been mentioned in this colmn, so here is one on him. You will notice that in the roster of students he lacks a midle initial. For military purposes this is considered a serious shortage. The other day when pressed for a middle initial for this auto registration card he shot back, "Say, did you ever head of Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte, George Washington or Abraham Lincoln? Well that's me—just James Notestein." And that ended that.

LANDON J. LOCKETT
(With opologies to Hugh Lincoln)

Four and twenty bonny boys,
Were playing basket ba',
And by it came Landon J.
And he played oer them a'.

He kicked the ba with his right foot,
And catchd it wi his knee,
And tuched it neath his brwney arm,
And down the floor did flee.

"Throw down the ba, ye big acorn, Throw down the ba to me!"
"Never a bit," says the biy acorn,
"Till up to me come ye."

McGee, who was present at the coon hunt last week, swears with a mighty swear that n coon was killed that night. He contends that the youthful lit'le animal sneaked up close to the fire and laughe ditself to death.

It seems that neither the coon nor the hunt provided the most entertainment.

It has been found necessary to appoint a committee to make inquiry into polo publicity. It seems that the press agent of the Freebooters has taken sick or something and the countryside is left without knowledge of their mental state and polo prowess, following a recent sound drubbing at the hands of the lowly undergraduates.

Budy Payne says to be sure and mention the remarkable way Company C machine gunners employed scissors Monday and separated an aeroplane target from its means of locomotion.

That reminds us of a scissors story about Sam but everybody has heard it so we wont take time to repeat it here.

Oh, the wind blows cold in the wintertime

Scene from the Musical Romance, "My Maryland."

"MY MARYLAND" MUSICAL ROMANCE OF WAR BETWEEN STATES WILL BE AT SPRINGER FEBRUARY 10TH AND 11TH

"My Maryland," a musical romance based upon the period of the War Between the States, will be shown at the Springer Opera House, February 10th and 11th. The story that the play unfolds will take theatergoers back to the days of "Barbara Freitchie," the drama upon which the theme of the musical play is based. We all know about Barbara Freitchie being transformed from an old and wrinkled woman to a beautiful and attractive southern girl, and the incident —or is it a myth—of the Hagerstown woman who displayed her American flag in the face of Stonewall Jackson's troops.

It is a romantic incident upon which the play is based—the love of a Southern girl for a Yankee officer in war times.

The musical play tracks very closely the dramatic story. It is made most attractive by the interpolation of a number of excellent singing numbers, both for the chorus and the principals. There are musical selections, both by boys in blue and "Rebs" in gray. There are moments in the production when the Southern heart is stirred by memories and teachings brought to mind by familiar songs of war-time sentiment. The division of interest is sufficiently equitable to give a sympathizer with either side a thrill at intervals. The women in the chorus are very attractive and know how to sing, as do the men.

NIGHT PATROL RIDE WAS A BIG SUCCESS

The niglit patrol ride for enlisted men, the second ever to have been held at Benning ,was held last Thursday night and was a success.

The Twenty-Ninth Infantry Theater was the home station. From that point the seven teams, one from each mounted organization in the regiment, consisting of forty-two riders working in pairs started on their respective patrols. All along the route were stations where each pair of riders were required to chck in and out. Thse stations were kept in communication with the home station at the Twenty-Ninth Infantry Theater by telephone.

In the Twenty-Ninth Infantry Theater a large map had been drawn showing the different routes and stations to be made during the patrol, also a progress chart showing the progress of each pair of riders was placed so that those who had assembled to witness the ride knew exactly where their favorites were.

Brig. Gen. Collins and family were present and stayed till late in the evening. Gen. Collins expressed himself as being well pleased with the interest and part being shown by both contestants and specators.

The Regimental Commander, Lt. Col. Delaplane and Lt. Col. Franklin, were present and stayed throughout the entire exercise and expressed themselves as being more than pleased with the results.

During the evening the Athletic and Recreation Office served hot coffee and doughnuts to both contentants and spectators.

The winning pairs are as follows: 1st place, Cpls. Geo. L. Rogers and Julian Sanders, 2nd Bn. Hqs.; Cpl. Herbert Smith and Pfc. Johnson Norman, Hq. Co.; 2nd place, Egt. Raymond Sterling and Pvt. Harold E. Taylor, Hq. Co.; 3rd place, Fred A. Goodwin and Pfc. Conrad A. Wiggins, Co. "D".

Winning Company: 1st, Howitzer Company; 2nd, Company "D".

Company "E"

Company E's galloping basketball team has won all of their basketball games so far and has only to defeat the G Co. team to win the Batalion cup. Corporal Oikari and Sgt. Franz were the stars of our last game. Corp. Oikari was high man of the game with 10 baskets to his credit.

Private Durrett has returned from Fort McPherson, Ga., where he was attending the West Point Preparatory School fr West Point. He was making the examinations O. K. but he failed in his last physical examination and was returned to his organization. The Company hopes he gets in good physical condition for the next one coming off next year.

We had seven recruits to join the company from Recruit Center this week and they are husky looking bys—good looking fotball material. These seven recruits are now under the able instruction of Corp. Smith, O., learning the first steps of military curriculum. Sgt. Jakey Halpern seems to be enjoying Fort Benning, Ga., these days, conversing on the 20-year retirement bill, his future in civil life, on half of his pay while out. Company "E" has just completed the record Bayonet Regular Season and has a fine showing. Corp. Furman is the high man of the Company, winning $5.00 Post Exchange checks. It is believed that when the scores are finally totaled up Company "E" will be high Company of the Regiment. First Sgt. Davis is one of our high Expert Bayonet men of the recird season this year. Sergeant Davis although crippled in the left knee in the Battalion Baseball season the first of last season is still showing the boys how to run the course in less than 45 seconds. When Sgt. (Grouch) Johnson came back from furlough last week ,to his surprise he found the supply room not up to standard. He soon had things humming around in the supply room. He is one of the most efficient Supply Sergeants in the world.

—I. M. Y.

Company "C"

Mr. Herbert L. Smith was discharged by reason of ETS, and decided he could do better on the outside.

Due to the fine coaching the Company is making rapid progress on the Bayonet Course.

We wonder who the innocent young soldier was, that had to be told why and what for, when a Non-Commissioned Officer yelled outside.

Who is the Corporal that hates to make up his bunk every morning. We heard that he was going to hire a paper boy for that purpose and pay him the high slaary of ten cents per bed.

2nd Battalion Basket Ball Game

Due to the cold weather today the two games of the 2nd Battalion 29th Infantry series were played in the Post Gym. Both games were hard-fought and marked improvement is being shown by all teams that take the floor.

The first game was between the 2nd Bn. Hq. C. and "G" Co. It was a hard fought game. At the end of the game the score was 19-19 and at the end of the extra five minutes "G" Co. had 23 and 2nd Bn. Hq. Co. had 20. Kjelstrom was the high goal man of the two teams with four baskets to his credit and his team mate Boozer was close on his heels for honors of their team, Magana and Newman were the outstanding men by far of "G" Co. They both played the floor very well and were always in the play.

The second game today was between "E" Company and "F" Company. "E" Company won by the score of 36-14. At the end of the first half the score was not very large and "E" Company had a small lead. In the second half Oikari of "E" Company found the basket and he could not miss. He was high man of the game with ten baskets to his credit, eight of which were made in the second half. Franz played the floor in his usual good style. Clark and Dilley, bth of "F" Company, were the top men in a hard clean fighting team that looks much better every time it takes the floor.

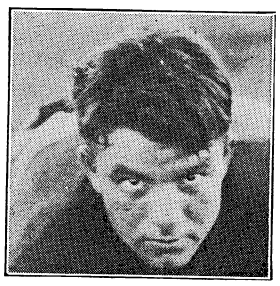
15th TANKS

CORPORAL WILLIAM SWEENEY
15th Tank Battalion



Here we present to you "Shoeless Bill" Sweeney of the Terrible Tankers. Bill is noted for his line hurdling, hip twisting, and is the fire-eating quarterback who was picked by all football critics of Fort Benning as a member of the All-Benning football team for the past year.

He first came into prominence in San Antonio several years ago when Capt. K. L. Berry was coaching a regimental team of which our sketch was a member. Owing to injuries he was supposed to be in the hospital but every game his team played saw Bill on the sidelines. He was intensely interested in the game, and when people are so keenly interested that they leave the sick bed, those higher up generally take note thereof.

That season found the teams of the 2nd Div. and Brooks Field evenly matched for the corps championship. In the midst of this noted game found Sweeney on the sidelines, but not as a spectator, but in the uniform of his team. With four minutes to play the doughboys gained possession of the ball on their 20 yard line. Although still limping from injuries Bill persuaded Captain K. L. to send him in the fray. It was a pinch and K. L. had a hunch so in went Bill. The stands yelled for a pass to Bill. The pigskin was suddenly seen to rise in the air for forty-five yards and out of the pack of players a runner wearing the doughboy blue and under his good right arm was the coveted football that he had snatched from the air to scamper the remaining yards for a touchdown. That runner was Sweeney.

He acquired the name of "Shoeless Bill" during the past football season. When the Blue Tide squad went to Auburn to play a practice game he forgot his shoes. Undaunted, Bill begged to play shoeless but an Alabama sandspur put him out during the first minutes of the game. Hence the nickname herein given.

A three year enlistment with the 17th Tanks at Camp Meade followed by three more with the 23rd Infantry with discharges marked "Excellent" found Bill enlisted again with the Benning Tankers on May 12, 1924. He is now doing his second hitch with the local outfit. Besides football, he is a member of the Infantry School basketball, la crosse and soccer teams and is also a member of the Tanks swimming team. He is one of the army's most versatile athletes. He is a member of Company "B," 15th Tanks.

Headquarters Company

Another member has let himself be known; he is now a full fledged member of the "Black Mask Hair Growing" brigade. We are about to believe that they are trying to make people think that they are brothers to the "Seven Southerland Sisters." Be sure to keep your hat on Tankersly or the woodpeckers are liable t puncture your block.

Sergt. Smith says that he is going to buy Nelson a wrist watch, it is too much trouble to look through the pigeon holes in the guard house to get the time.

Company "A"

Corp. Fountain who has just finished a course o finstruction, and returned from, the Army Finance School, Washington, D. C., due to the high percentage attained in an examination of the subjects concerned, has been recommended for appointment as 2nd Lieutenant in the Finance Reserve. We blieve that Corp. Fountain has th required qualifications and wish him the best of luck in his examinations.

Wonder why a washing machine salesman was looking for Sergt. Trainer. Come on, Trainer, tell us about it.

The inspection of the company by the Battalion Commander last Saturday went off fine. There were a few discrepancies noted which will be thoroughly corrected for the next inspection.

Company "B"

Another feature in our long list of fame. We went over in first class shape for the Commanding Officers inspection. The Battalion Officers were all puzzled and still cannot figure out how the men in this company put such shine on their shoes.

Every one get braced, the Grey Eagle is on his way home and is due here Feb. 4. Take to the boats men, women and children first.

Pvt. Irvin was highly commended by Major Miller at the Bn. Inspection, Saturday. The Bn. Commander said Pvt. Irvin's shoes were the best he had ever seen in the army. Some boost Tiney. And he is on special duty at that.

Majorie Wood, leading woman with Richard Bennett in "The Barker" at the Springer Theater, Feb. 7th.

"My first appearance in a dramatic role was with Frank Keenan in "The Pawn", said Marjorie Wood, who is now playing with Richard Bennett in "The Barker," "and the engagement came at a time when I had almost resigned myself to the fate of being cast for comedienne parts for the balance of my career. It was through the kindly aid of Mrs. Keenan that my wish was fulfilled and I was able to do what I had wanted to do for such a long time. Morris Gest saw me in 'The Pawn' and and my engagement in 'Chu Chin Chow' followed and in which I played the Desert Woman for three years. Last season the major portion was spent in George M. Cohan's drama 'Yellow.' After that came the role of Carrie in 'The Barker' for which I was chosen by the producer, Charles L. Wagner. No one ever things of me as a comedienne and no doubt the strug-

A GYMKHANA

What is a Gymkhana? A Gymkhana is a mounted field meet. When Benning riders assemble at Shannon Field next Wednesday afternoon, spectators will witness mounted events that would make the stories of "The James Boys" and "Buffalo William" read like "True Confessions."

The program spells action from the word "Go." The opening event is the "Enlisted Men's Novelty Race." Two men from each mounted organization will take part in this event. The contestants will be mounted on an Ole Mo. Mule minus saddle or bridle. They start at scratch, gallop to line, dismount, put on suit of fatigue clothes, mount, ride to second line, dismount, drink bottle of Chera-Cola, mount, gallop to end of polo field and return to starting point. This may read easy, but before Maud and Johnnie Buck get through doing their stuff in the curtain raiser the two Black Crows will sound like a funeral service.

Again in the third event you see action galore and laughs by the barrel. It is between the ladies. The contestants ride around a circle of chairs at gait requested. There will be chairs for all less one. At a whistle signal the fair ones dismount and attempt to get seated without letting go their mount. Some one is sure to be left. At the whistle the ride is continued, this is carried on until the contestants are eliminated and the winner is determined. To see a little lady weighing about ninty-five pounds trying to drag a fifteen hundred pound horse to a vacant seat, or to see four ladies struggling over one chair. OH MIN!

There will be tests of skill for the mounted mallet men of the four Benning clubs. The Gunners of the 83rd F. A. won the high point score in the polo events last year.

One of the feature events of the meet will be the Pair Novelty race. In this race an officer and a lady will compose a pair. Starting from scratch the pairs ride to a large taupalin where the officer dismounts and crawls under the paulin while the lady leads his norse around to the point of exit. Then continue to a narrow railing, here the officer dismounts and does a slack wire stunt for thirty feet using the edge of the board instead of a wire. Next is a tub filled with water in which pretty red apples are floating, he must catch one of these little objects by biting it and lifting it from the water with his teeth. Thence to a stand where he has to eat six dry soda crackers without any drinks and proceed to the finish line and whistle. That is, whistle a tune recognizable by the judge. After considerable neck stretching the first thing to come forth is cracker crumbs, later the tune. Capt. E. B. Whisner and Mrs. Landis were last year's winners. The tune whistled was "How dry I am."

Contestants may wear uniforms or sport clothing or a combination of both.

An inexpensive trophy will be awarded winners of all first places. Ribbons will be awarded for first and second places. The Gymkhana will be under the supervision of the Academic Department.

Officials are designated as follows and will be ineligible to compete: Manager—Major H. J. M. Smith, Cavalry; Secretary—Captain Robert A. McClure, Infantry.

A uniformed porter stood at the door of the saloon. He thrust out a hungry-looking palm.

"You are not going to forget me, sir?" the porter anxiously enquired.

The departing guest took the outstretched hand and shook it heartily.

"No," he returned, "I'll write you."

About the Paddock

POLO

Last Sunday saw Jimmie Boyer's clan romp to an easy victory over the 83d F. A. and Major Smith's Freebooters again scalped the 29th Infantry.

Both games were fast and well played. In the first game the Artillerymen rode hard and kept going but th hitting and team work of the students was too much for them and they ha dto be content with three out o fthe 12 goals scored. The stick work of the student team was remarkably god Sunday, few tries for goal going over the back line. Lt. Jacobs' play on defense at back for the Greens was practically without a fault while the riding and stroking of Captain Boyer was strong as usual and shooting from any angle. All members of the Artillery team hit well and rode hard but they seldom had a chance to threaten the Students' goal.

In the second game Major Smith and Major Lyman led their two combinations in pretty rough fashion all over the territory of the 29th, scoring 7 goals while "Pinkey" Burrus was unable to score his usual goal against them although both he and his team played courageously and fought hard until the final bell.

Although every one connected with polo here play the game with the highest type of good sportsmanship, there is a tendency on the part of many to practice cross field play. This, of course is good defense, as a last resort, but it is poor polo and dangerous. As long as the play is going up and down the field it makes no difference how fast it becomes—and it will speed up—but the moment it commences to cross the field there is great danger of crashing. Even though a team gets the short end of the score they will gain much more from the practice if they stick to the first cardinal principle of fast polo—keep the play going up and down the field.

The line-up Sunday:

Students—1, Lockett-Halloran; 2, Boyer-Boatner; 3, Scott-Prather; 4, Jacobs-Taylor.

83rd F. A.—1, Grubbs-Clark; 2, Guernsey-Strobehn; 3, Murphy-Jones; 4, Hurt-Avera.

Freebooters — 1, Forsythe-Mallan-Green; 2, McClure-Oliver; 3, Smith-Lyman; 4, Whisner-Sweet.

29th Inf.—1, McNight-Jeter; 2, Van Houten-McDonough; 3, Goode-Crnog; 4, Burrus.

Several near accidents occurred but Captain Halloran was the only player who was spilled. He had a very serious collision with Prather and was badly shaken up.

Captain Boudinot who was injured a few days ago was unable to play but is improving quite rapidly.

Captain A. D. Cameron who was pretty badly shaken up and bruised about the head and face on the last drag hunt is geting back into work again.

Mrs. T. G. Bond whose horse crashed with her at the last jump on the recent drag hunt has recovered from the shock of her fall and is able to ride again.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The second battalion, 29th Infantry basketball season closed last Tuesday night, Compnay E being the victor for the season winning all games played.

Company G won 3 games and lost 1; Company F won 2 and lost 2; Battalion Hq. Co. won 1 and lost 3; Company H lost all of their four games played.

A WINNING TEAM

The old saying that "Good things come in small packages" is being proven by the C. W. S. basketball team in a way that is leaving no doubt in the minds of their opponents that the above saying is absolutely true.

From an organization of fifty men to pick from, the boys from Company "C" First Gas Regiment, have turned out a basketball team this season that has defeated teams representing organizations many times the size of the little Gas company.

They hold victories over several of the local fives from Columbus and to date have yet to be put in the lost column.

Although small, the Gassers are loud. When five men are playing the game, forty-five more are lending their aid from the side lines; in fact the Company spirit is 100 per cent. for the team. And a fighting spirit backed by any outfit is sure to bring good results, which is doubly proven in the success of the C. W. S. Cagesters.

This company is commanded by Lt. J. H. Becque.

MUSKETEERS WIN OVER SCHOFIELD FIVE IN SPECTACULAR COURT BATTLE

The winning string of Schofield's Basketeers of Macon, Ga., was finally clipped last Saturday night when they fell before the Benning Musketeers in a spectacular battle on the Benning Court 69 to 54.

Three times have the lads from the Central City mixed and mingled with the Benning Cagesters and on each occasion a fast and hard fought game has been played. By winning the last game Benning has taken the best two out of three, as they were tied at one each ebfore this game.

The "Boilermakers" put up a hard fight, but Roosma & Co., were looping the ld hoop from all angles, the end of the first half found Benning leading 36 to 19.

In the last half the visitors staged a game rally but they were short sixteen points at the final gun. Johnnie Roosma was kind of careless like with the ball, letting it fall through the hoop for a high total of 38 points. Greene for the visitors was second high with 19 points.

"TANKS" GRANTHAM WILL FIGHT GEORGE LESLIE HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Grantham Is Picked To Win Over Camp Meade Battler

Followers of the "Rock 'em and Sock 'em" pastime will have the pleasure of watching two of our old Uncle's leading lightweight fighters mix and mingle in the squared circle next Wednesday night at the garrison gymnasium. "Tanks" Grantham needs no introduction to Benning fightdom. Any fan that knows "Tanks" will tell you that if he is the "Tanks" of old, that Leslie is in for a very strenuous evening.

Leslie is the rugged give and take type of fighter, and he fully demonstrated his ability to do both in his first showing here. His game rall yafter the first round in his fight with Miles won Leslie a host of admirers here, and he will be ably supported from the ringside when he squares off with the Benning fighter Wednesday night.

Captain Mabbutt has not yet decided on the contestants in the amateur bouts, several heavyweights are claiming to be the best in town. For instance, Clarke, Marquette, Daley, Montondon and one unknown, and there is only one thing to do, "Eliminate."

Several of the favorites in the lighter classes will be on the card, and a very interesting evening is in store for followers of the cauliflower ears.

BOY RANGERS AT FT. BENNING

On Monday evening, the Boy Rangers met at their cabin for initiation and tribal adoption rites. Lieutenant Wayne C. Smith, Ranger Guide, was in charge of the ceremonies. Major M. C. Stayer and Captain Johanson were interested spectators. There are twenty-six boys in the Fort Benning Lodge. Every Ranger has an Indian name which actually belonged to an India of his tribe. We have two tribes o the Reservation—Sioux whose chief is Charles Heedreth, and Chevennes, whose chief is George Winton.

The Boy Ranger idea is that boys between the ages of eight and twelve should have an organization of their own—adapted to their particular needs. It is not in any sense a Junior Scout organization, but is built upon an independent idea.

The following boys are members of Fort Benning Lodge 332:

K. L. Berry, Jr., Billie Brier, Jimmie Ballard, Bobbie Ballard, Henry Bootz, Jr., Reid Clark, Rbert Dickson, Benjamin Ferris, Jimmy Hyde, Hope Heedreth, Charles Heedreth, Jerry Huddlesston, Lloyd Jones, J., Martin Johanson, Hugh Lange, Harrison MacGregor, Kenneth Micklewaite, Jerry McMahon, John McElroy, Ernest Peterson, Douglas Rubenstein, Billie Stayer, Russell Wahl, Bob Winfield, Jack Van Vliet, Past Sachem.

I. S. D. NOTES

The Infantry School Detachment Dance and Entertainment that was given on January 24th, at the 29th Infantry Theater, was in every way a great success. The stunts were amusing and cleverly conceived and the eats hit home. The Major promiss Smokers and more "Gt-togthers" in the future.

Corp. Jones has returned from a two weeks' furlough spent in the wayward town of Columbus. We are glad he has returned for with his instinct to detect things we are holding high hopes for the recovery of several handkerchiefs and two sets of unmentionables.

We have three new men in the Detachment. Privates Nanney and Cross have come over from the 20th Infantry, and Private Birdsong who has re-enlisted with us after four years spent with the Leathernecks. They are all welcome and we know they'll like the outfit.

The Detachment will be glad to know that Corporal Virgil Morris is improving from his recent serious illness.

24TH INF.

MONOGRAPH

On Jan. 20th, Capt. P. B. Rogers gave a most instructive talk on the care of the horse. He cited many interesting side lights of the World War where the failure to understand the possibilities and limitations of the horse prevented large cavalry units from participating in particular engagements.

The first battle of Bull Run was the subject of Lt. W. A. Stetler's monograph delivered on Jan. 23rd.

On Jan. 27th, Capt. John M. Hite spoke on the offensive of the 35th Division in the Meuse-Argonne. Extremely interesting details were given regarding the work of this division during this great American offensive in September.

Lieut. R. S. MacKie of the 24th Infantry, has been relieved as adjutant of the 2nd Battalion and detailed as a member of the Recreation Center Board of the Post.

Capt. W. W. Jenna, in addition to his duties as adjutant of the 1st Battalion, has been appointed Recreation Officer of the 24th Infantry.

Parker and Phillips are training for the purpose of making the Olympic team, that goes to the meet in Stockholm in May. It will be a fine thing if the I. S. D. could have two representatives at this the greatest of all amateur athletic meets.

The Detachment is to 'put up' about fifty of National Guards during a period of four months that they are to be here for school and training. We take this opportunity of welcoming them.

Have you noticed the Plough Boy lately? He took a three-day pass and came back with his face lifted! At least it looks that way but we understand that the rejuvenator really wore skirts and had bobbed hair.

GUARD MOUNT

The competitive guard mount held between selected units o fthe 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 24th Infantry, was won on January 26th, by the 2nd Battalion, commanded by Major Butcher, with a score of 82 points.

The 1st Battalion, commanded by Major Power, compeed on January 12th, making a score of 72.

SGT. HARRY WHEELER ASSIGNED TO N. G. DUTY

Orders have just been received detailing Sgt. Harry Wheeler, Company C, 24th Infantry, as sergeant-instructor to the Illinois National Guard at Chicago, Ill.

The selection of Sgt. Wheeler for this important and very desirable detail is the result of the excellent service that Sgt. Wheeler has rendered thorughout the entire 27 years of his military career. Entering the army in October, 1900, Sgt. Wheeler was assigned to Co. "I", 24th Inf., he served practically continually from that time to the present date in the 24th Infantry. From March, 1916, to February, 1917, he was a member of the Punitive Expedition into Mexico. Upon the entrance of the United States into the World War, Sgt. Wheeler became a student at the 1st Officers Training Camp at Des Moines, Iowa. From this training camp he was commissioned a first lieutenant. He was subsequently sent overseas where he saw active service in the line. For his services he was promoted to a captain. Sgt. Wheeler holds a commission as Captain, O. R. C., Infantry Section.

Hdqrs. Battery and Combat Train

Our First Sergeant returned from a hunting trip, which was successful. He brought back a wild cat and a grey fox glove.

Our basketball team is rounding up in good shape for the battalion series. We expect to win the battalion cup again this year.

The "Squirrel" has come home. Back to the barn yards for yours, Mac, midst the horses, new mown hay, goat and that fragrant smell of oats for the horses. It is rumored that the grey eagle will take his place.

Burhead Arnold's new quarters are some where on 4th. Number of the homestead given on request. Corporal Waters spends a great deal of his time there. It is known as the H. P. Club.

Roberson and his mules got mixed up in a runaway caused by a dog who got scared at Amos' face and went to bite Amos and bit one o fthe mules instead. The dog was evidently one of the Ben Turpin breed. Got things crossed.

Sergeant Dodd mounted on King's Mountain was severely rebuked by the Lieutenant for racing his motor going down hill.

Day by day in every way Garretson grows wilder and wilder, and the only excuse he has for anything is that he is too short a timer to worry.

The late tsreport from the Post Laundry was that a bundle of laundry was found unmarked, but the laundry clerk swears that it was Private Hirtzler's while Hirtzler claims it belongs to Snakes Bryant. Anyway there isn't much difference.

Battery "A"

Sergeant Temples and Pvt. 1Cl. Acosta were discharged last week per (E. T. S.) Sergeant Temples and Acosta have taken on another stack with Uncle Sam at this station, good idea fellws, glad to have you with us for another hitch.

Privates Brown, Fairbanks and Usher, have joined the organization after spending 14 days at Recruit Center.

Our basketball team is getting in good shape for the coming series of the battalion championship games, which we expect to win this year.

Our permanent Charge of Quarters, is so lazy he will sit down in front of the Mess Hall door and wait until smeone pushes him in before he will eat.

Private Peck, our battery mechanic, was ordered to go out for mounted drill the other day, which was very successful until his horse stopped, and he dismounted and started cranking his tail thinking it was a GMC or an FWD truck, from the bump on his nose, the spark plug must have had an awful kick.

—A. G. S.

Battery "B"

Corporal Welter, our acting Supply Sergeant, has made great strides in his new work. He has secured Chaplain Morphis as his personal dog robber. The Chaplain starts upon his new duties the first of February.

Dad Murphy has returned from a fishing trip and vacation spent in Pensacola, Fla.

Private Scopes (Fields) is leaving us for two months. He intends to visit some friends in South Carelinky.

Private Meadows and "Red" Harper have traded jobs. Glad to see you with us again Homer.

Bob Davis has been limping around with his foot in a bandage. He is always putting his foot in it.

Freddie Davis says that they have a new Frd in his home town. He tried to get a furlough so that he could go home nad see it but was unable to do so. Freddie says he always is left out in the rain when they have a holiday at home.

Battery "C"

Corporal Allen has returned to duty after a serious illness in the Hospital. We are all glad to have him back. He is a short timer now but we hope to be able to induce him to stay with us for another three years.

Every hting is so quiet around the Battery (no AWOLS or desertions) that the Battery Clerk is scared of his job. He doesn't have much to do now but make out the payroll.

Sergeant Crandell, our esteemed Supply Sergeant, has a new job in Battalion Headquarters. We will loose a good Supply Sergeant but we have another to take his place—Sergeant Thomas W. Chewning. When in need of a good man, apply to Battery "C".

We hear that Jackson is going in the kitchen. No doubt he has decided to stay with us—providing he doesn't burn the coffee.

Corporal Miller stretched a 24-hour pass to Greenville, S. C., and return.

We have received three men from the Recruit Center, Privates Chavis, Cotton and Henry. Private Chavis is a previous service man, having been discharged from the 16th Field Artillery in the grade of Corporal, Character "Excellent." We are always glad to have additions to our Battery, especially men who have had previous service.

Sergeant Grider has secured quarters on the reservation. We are glad of this for it makes it more convenient for him.

Yes, Sergeant Hall is still with us. You can hear him growl occasionally, but pay day is here and he will soon be happy.

The great and nly Thomas S. Moore has a grouch. We don't know what it is all about, for he got his breeches back.

10,010 ON HONOR ROLL OF U. S. ARMY RECENTLY PRINTED

Great Volume Will Give List of Government Decorations From 1862 to 1926

A volume of 845 pages, containing the list, alphabetically arranged, of all military decorations awarded in or by the army from 1862 to 1926 has been published in Washington, D. C. This great book contains ten thousand and ten names. Before 1862 there were no American military decorations.

In addition to the American soldiers and officers whose deeds were recorded in the accompanying citations, the book contains the lists of awards of both the Cross and Service Medal to foreign soldiers and civilians. Only American soldiers can receive the Medal of Honor, the sole exceptions from that rule being in connection with awards to the Unknown soldiers of the Allies.

Six Distinguished Service Medals have been awarded to citizens of other countries, including Pietro Chutro, a doctor of Argentina, who conducted a clinic in Paris for training military medical officers; Serge A. Mest cherinoff, a Russian Lieutenant Colonel, who served as an attache in France and later as aide to the King of Montenegro; three Rumanian officers and the late Field Marshal Mischich of the Serbian forces. WHO'S WHO!

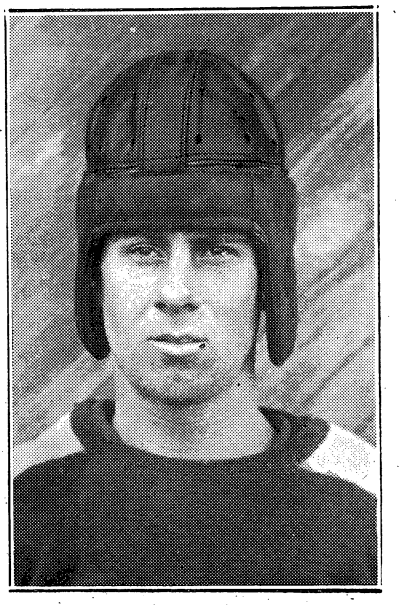
PFC. SHERMAN DERRICK
Hdq. Batt. 83rd F. A.



The state of Louisiana has long been noted for its fertile valleys, beautiful women and Southern hospitality. Since enlisting in the Service Pfc. Sherman Derrick has fully demonstrated that they also produce some exceptionally good men "Down where the cotton blossoms bloom.."

Pfc. Derrick was born at Leesville, La. Upon completion of high school in June, 1925, he enlisted ni the Service Dec. 28, 1925, being assigned to Hdq. Batt. 83rd Field Artillery. Since becoming a member of this organization Pfc. Derrick has proven himself to be reliable, competent and faithful in the discharge of his duties as a soldier and is held in the highest esteem by his superior officers. He is a member of the Communication Section and is an expert in this line of work.

Pfc. Derrick has held a regular position on the Caisson Rider's baseball, basketball and football teams for the past two seasons. His broken field running and line plunging was responsible for many of the yards gained by the artillery football team last season. His playing on the Battery team was a big factor in bringing the Battalion Battery Championship to Headquarters Batt. in the 1927 Battery Series.

The Army takes pride in the development of men of this caliber for it is through men of this type that the outside world is beginning to learn that the Army Builds Men.

Pfc. Derrick's home is at Leesville, La. He is the son of Dr. A. P. Derrick, a praminent and well known physician of that place.

RESULTS AT RIVET (RIVAY) OVAL FEBRUARY 6th

(By Jason)

A fair crowd turned out for yesterday's sport at the famous old track southeast of Cook's Ridge. Despite the condition of the going some excellent skirmishing was furnished. The slowness of the track, however, failed to dim the ardor and enthusiasm of the patrons.

Von Gremp put the form players on the right side of the ledger by romping in an easy winner in the opener. This son of Moss has started a comeback, having placed in his last three starts.

Alex Magee was a handy winner in the second, a claiming affair for maidens. Rounding the first turn it was apparent that Alex had found the right hole. Matthews, a heavily played second choice, threatened at the head of the stretch but Maggie's jockey let out an extra wrap to win going away. The old boy rewarded his backers by paying $17.60 for $2.00.

Platoon Sergeant, a stablemate of Alex's, gave his backers many an anxious moment in the third, a selling affair. The Sergeant was content to follow the field until the last quarter pole at which point the rider gave him his head. Going wide at the turn for a moment it appeared as if horse and jockey were headed for the munition dump. It required a herculean effort to straighten him out. Once headed for home this campaigner of many seasons lost little time in cutting down the gap of the leaders to get up in the last stride to win the width of a red whisker. This dougle win for Coon Hunt stable was timely as considerable unfavorable criticism has been heard by track followers anent the insisttence of the owners feeding the new No. 3 type oat.

Nevins, a newcomer, accounted for the fourth. This sprightly four-year-old who has been racing in the north was extremely fractious at the barrier. Veteran racegoers knowing the gelding's staying powers cashed in handsomely for the moment the barrier was sprung little question was left as to the winner.

In the feature a handicap for all ages, with a weight allowance for non-winners at this meeting, Paragraph 406, out of FSR and TR was a conspicuous starter. Quoted at 15 to 1 in the books with Wilson a stride, seasoned track followers were loath to follow this stable's entry. As the horses lined up at the mile post it was noticed that the boy was unable to get his mount headed in the proper direction. This may have been due to the horse's racing on foreign tracks where the system of racing is just the reverse of ours. The track officials will refuse to accept any more entries from the owners until the horse has gone through the barrier schooling. Old Academic who has been racing in these parts the past four seasons won in a canter paying even money to his supporters.

Prather equipped with blinkers and spurs romped home in front in the curtain event. Taking an outside position and keeping the leaders always within reach he steadily advanced to the last furlong to win going away. Wear threatened when within sight of the goal. The latter ,too, will need more schooling in the mrning workouts as the horse has shown a disposition to blind racing a trait not uncommon.

24TH INF.

SEMPER PARATUS

LIEUT R. C. SANDERS

Orders have been received directing Lieut. Sanders of the 24th Inf. to proceed to China for station. The officers of the regiment will deeply regret the loss of Lieut. and Mrs. Sanders, but congratulate them on receiving such a desirable foreign station.

The 24th Infantry basket ball team won a very exciting and well played game from Tuskegee on Feb. 7th at the Post Gymnasium, to the score of 42 to 39.

Monographs

On Feb. 3rd, Lieut. R. C. Sanders gave an excellent monograph on the Battle of Cantigny. The carefully directed rehearsals held just prior to the engagement, the tactical employment of the various units befor eand durnig the battle, and the importance of this engagement towards independent American participation in the war, were graphically told.

On Feb. 6th and 7th, Capt. W. W. Jenna gave one of the most interesting and carefully prepared monographs held during the entire course. Capt. Jenna, who had been military atache to Greece during the World War, chose as his subject, "Greek Participation in the World War." With an intimate knowledge of his subject, he had supplemented that with a careful study of politics that complicated the Allies dealing with Greece. The efforts of Venizelos to gain place and power for himself were vividly told, as were the more patriotic and manly action of King Constantine.

29th INFANTRY DRAG HUNT

While the majority of the men of the 29th Infantry last Tuesday morning were spending the early morning hours either in undisturbed slumber, dreaming dreams or wondering how long it would be till first call would sound, which would be the cause of having to crawl from between comfortable covers and make preparations to start the day's work, several others were of the regiment had been served with an early breakfast and holding to reins of steeds that were champing bits in eagerness to be under way.

The cause of this early and unusual energy was a drag hunt that was being given for the enlisted men of the regiment, the first ever to have been staged by them.

The field was made up of seventy-five men and the only thing that kept it from being larger was the lack of mounts as every available mount in the regiment was used even to include the Army Mule to whose credit it must be said proved to be as capable a mount as any of the horses. The men were accompanied by their Regimental Commander, Lt. Col. Delaplane, Lt. Col. Franklin, Capt. Goode and Lieut. Brier they showing as much interest and enthusiasm over the hunt as the more youthful riders.

FEB. 10 to FEB. 17, INCL.

FRIDAY, FEB. 10

"HIGH SCHOOL HERO," featuring Sally Phipps with John Darrow, Charlie Paddock and Nick Stewart. It is a happy comedy drama of rampant youth in a basketball romance, pulsating with life and running over with laughter. This story depicts the loves and games of high school life. Its success is principally due to the fact that the younger generation plays those parts that bring out the high lights of high school enthusiasm.

"Pathe News No. 11."

SATURDAY, FEB. 11

"GALLOPING FURY," starring Hoot Gibson in a story taken from the pen of Peter B. Kyne. It concerns a bunch of vowboys who discovered beauty mud on the back ranch and had to outwit a moneyed gang of sharp business men to save their ranch. It is filled with laughs and thrills.

"Yale vs. Harvard." Our Gang Comedy.

SUNDAY, FEB. 12

"BEAU SABRUER," the sequel to Beau Geste, featuring Gary Cooper, Evelyn Brent, Noah Berry and William Powell. This is another story of the Foreign Legion filled with weird intrigue and great action. It tells of a French officer who vows never to look at another woman, then he meets one and falls in love with her while on a mission for his country. Most of the scenes are laid in the vast Sahara Desert of Africa where human beings exist only through cunning and the survival of the fittest. This picture is considered by many to be even greater than Beau Geste.

"Paramount News."

MONDAY, FEB. 13

"HONEY MOON HATE," starring Florence Vidor and Tullio Carminati in a fast moving romantic comedy. It is a modern idea of "Taming of the Shrew," and boasts thrills and speedy action. The story is a snappy romance in the old world environment provided by Venice, Italy, with its strumming guitars and shooting waters. Florence Vidor plays a role that is fiery and tempestous. Laughs are as plentiful as are the keen heart interest factors.

"Blake of Scotland Yard No. 11."

TUESDAY, FEB. 14

"CONEY ISLAND," starring Lois Wilson in a thrilling melodrama of the world's greatest playground where the carefree carnival of merriment persists day in and day out throughout the year. This story portrays the inner life of the show people behind the scenes of this seething pleasure resort. Though a millionaire, young Cameron was willing to fight for his Coney Island sweetheart and through she had been wronged, a New York chorus girl fought to help him. These two lives from opposite ends of society's world eventually find contentment after a terrific struggle.

"Small Town Princess." Sennet Comedy.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 15

"GAY RETREAT," featuring Sammy Cohen, Ted McNamara and Gene Cameron in a comedy classic of war daze and Parision Nights. The story deals with the sleep walking son of a millionaire who enlists in an ambulance company, and his two faithful attendants who lead a life of comical hades endeavoring to keep him out of trouble. It is a series of laughable situations. A very intriguing romance, for each one of the trio forms the theme about which this comedy is wound.

"Paramount News."

THURSDAY, FEB. 16

"PUBLICITY MADNESS," starring Lois Moran and Edmond Lowe in a story of constant moving mirth. It is the humorous tale of a super-salesman who aviates his way to wealth, fame and love on the much heralded Hamaiian "Hop." His romantic and business adventures as a fresh soap salesman, promoting an antiquated firm into a flourishing concern through utterly ridiculous publicity schemes, furnishes a continuity of hilarious laughs.

"Kitty From Killarney." Alice Day.

FRIDAY, FEB. 17

"LOVE AND LEARN, starring Esther Ralston in a comedy farce in which Esther portrays the role of a comedienne. The girl comes home from college, finds her parents verging on divorce and decides to get into trouble herself in order to give them something else to worry about. She succeeds and wins a husband in the bargain.

"Pathe News No. 13."

Detachment Notes

A short story: On the morning report of February 1, 1928, the remark appears, "Pvt. Davis, L. L., duty to furlough 30 days." On the morning report of February 4, 1928, "Pvt. Davis, L. L., furlough to duty." Write your own comments.

Private First Class, Messenger de luxe, Vernon Thomas is about to be discharged. In fact by the time these lines reach your eyes he will have been discharged. But the boy has brains; he is sticking to the best friend he ever had. The Army.

Sergeant Joseph A. Trepanier has left us via the expiration route, but it is believed he will re-enlist at some other post. We haven't heard yet. Technical Sergeant Wagner is now Mess Sergeant in addition to his duties as First Sergeant.

Frank Kirksey is enjoying a re-enlistment furlough in Nashville, Tenn. Sgt. Worth is also taking one over in LaGrange, Georgia. Isaac N. Dyals is at Jesup, Georgia, recuperating from an operation. We want all these boys to have a great time for they deserve it, all having lately completed three years and taken on a new stack.

Private Leonard F. Sims is now Dining Room Orderly, but we have a hunch that in about six weeks he is going to be on another job, fo ra certain more or less well known Sergeant is going to also take on another three years and a re-enlistment furlough, and I believe that Wagner will have to seek another dining room orderly pro tem.

Our furniture repairman, Pvt. Rosenbalm, has been promoted and deservedly. He is capable of turning out the very best "antiques' 'on short notice. .

The Daughters of the United States Army will meet with Mrs. James L. Ballard on Thursday, February 16th, at 2:30 at her home. This is a most important meeting and it is earnestly desired that every girl sixteen or older who is a daughter of the Army will let nothing interfere with her being present. This interesting new organization was the inspiration of Mrs. Charles D. Roberts, and it has for its immediate purpose the identification of girls whose fathers or forefathers were Army officers and the promotion of good fellowship among this group for the sake o fother days as well as for the present. When a girl marries her father's name of course is exchanged for a new name and so often friends of her mother and father would gladly do much to make her happy if they knew that she was the daughter of "so-and-so" but if they had failed to see announcements of her marriage and a new Mrs. Somebody arrived on a past—she would be just one more among many, and perhaps spend some lonely hours which could be joyous if seasoned with the friends of other days. The constitution and by-laws are receiving most careful consideration and when all is perfected it is the hope of this Benning "charter" organization that a similar organization will be formed in every post i nthe Army so that Army girls can keep in close touch with each other and keep bound fast the ties of loving friendship.

A trip to Paris! Right into the luxurious perfume shops, and modiste's shops—on into cabarets, and apache dens—up to Quasimodo's far-famed tower of Notre Dame and down through the sewers once trod by Jean Val Jean—then out into the open country and on to the battlefields where so many of our loved ones faced death a few short years ago. Such was the trip Capt. Stanley M. Saulnier took the members of the Woman's Club on when they met Monday afternoon, for Capt. Saulnier has just recently returned from his tour with the American Legion.

His story of their reception and their entertainment was as delightful as his telling of chic shops so interesting to any feminine audience.

The France he knew before was a dirty France, cluttered up by years of war, but the France of today is spic and span. Desolate battle grounds are now fertile fields and the sound of the hammer and the saw tell the story of a great reconstruction. Capt. Saulnier reviewed the history of France—and it is the story of war after war. This liberty-loving people has ever and anon been challenged; so many times from without, but sometimes from within when kings and tyrants have tried to crush the spirit of the masses. But France will be free and for her liberty she valiantly pays the price. So the French people are accustomed to war. They soon adjust themselves and ere long the wasted places are verdant with food and grain. Such was the condition of rural France as the Legionnaires sow it a few weeks ago.

Miss Anna Dozier, charming and talented dancer of Columbus, did two lovely dances in costume. She was accompanied by Mrs. Walter Byrd of Columbus.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Edgar S. Miller and Mrs. Charles D. Roberts were hostesses at tea. On the table was a handsome canton linen cloth embroidered in the Sacred Dragon. The centerpiece was a low silver bowl holding pink japonicas. Four silver candlesticks held pink burning tapers. Mrs. Butler very graciously presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. Caswell poured tea.

The Literary Club meets next Monday at which time Mrs. George P. Winton will present her program of Latin-American Literature of today. The program is as follows:

1. Foreword—Mrs. Winton.
2. Non-fiction: The Life of Bernal Draz—Mrs. Albert B. Helsley.
3. Fiction: (a) "Maria" by Jorge Isaacs, Mrs. Kenneth March; (b) "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" Thornton Wilder, Mrs. E. M. S. Steward.

This program will be especially interesting because two of the ladies have lived in South America and know first hand the scenes of their novels.

The Arts and Crafts Club met Wednesday morning at their craftroom in Building 91. This group is under the direction of Mrs. John Forsythe who is most talented and who is eager to help those interested to make lovely things for the home.

The cooking department of the Home Economics Club met Thursday with Mrs. Walter Scott. Her attractive kitchen is the laboritory for this group and from it many tantalizing tasty foods go out.

General Collins Contributes To Service Publication

The February issue of The Army and Navy Courier, published at San Antonio, Texas, carried a very interesting article by General E. T. Collins, Commandant of the Infantry School. The article was entitled "The Infantry School, A Link in the Chain of National Defense." The subject matter dealt with the history of the school and the course of instruction here. General Collin's picture appeared in this number.

NO, IT'S A BOY

The Infantry School News was informed several days ago of a very serious error that appeared in last week's issue. Under the birth columns for the previous week appeared an announcement to the effect that a daughter had arrived at the home of Capt. and Mrs. C. A. Pritchett. Telephone calls and written messages informed us of the fact that the Stork had presented an eight and one-half pound son, instead, C. A. Jr.. Congratulations on the new member of the Advanced Class.

THE ARMY RELIEF SOCIETY

In last week's issue we endeavored to protray to our readers something of the splendid work of the Society's relief committee. This week we desire to invite the attention of our readers to the work of the Education Committee.

We quote herewith the report of this committee for the year ending in April, 1927: "We have 72 children under our care at this time. During the past year we have dropped 21 children from our list, most of them having fitted themselves to take positions which make them self-supporting. Our cases range from a little tot of four years to the wife of a Lieut-Col. who, after a fruitless struggle to support herself for several years, finally allowed us to take a secretarial course which enabled her to have hopes of independence.

"It being the policy to keep the children with their mothers whenever possible, most of the children have attended public schools; four of these have graduated and two of them have permanent positions and are also taking night school courses. Another graduate has entered aviation school in Texas; two are attending an agrciultural school; one will enter West Point this spring; six girls have graduated from business schools and are in line for important positions; two girls have graduated from Normal Schools and one of them is teaching with prospects for advancement in the near future.

"This is an outstanding case: One of our girls who has taken a course at Teacher's College has overcome a great physical handicap, graduated, and will get her Master's degree this year; already this girl has been offered several positions to teach French with salaries as high as $275 per month.

"Our greatest pride, however, is the family of a non-commissioned officer. The eldest girl asked help for her mother, who with four children to care for, was working all day in a shirt factory and was rapidly losing her sight. Investigation showed that this same girl was working all day herself and attending high school at night. She had since graduated and has an excellent position, while the second girl is following hr example. By allowing the mother the $40 per month she earned at the factory, the trouble with her eyes has been arrested and she is saved, we hope, to years of usefulness to the family she is bringing up so successfully."

We could go on and on with examples showing the splendid work of one of the most important committes of the Society. These few stories alone should bring to every one the seriousness of the drive which is now on for the Society. Today we are healthy and see nothing but a bright future for our families, but who knows what the morrow will bring? You may need the help of this splendid organization—the Army's own relief organization. The drive is now on at Fort Benning.

Don't forget that the work of the Society is extended to the widows and orphans of BOTH officers and enlisted men.

Canvas Leggins

Although official approval has not yet been given by the War Department to adoption of the spat, or canvas, type of legging, the indications are that the form of legging will be adopted for foot troppers of the Regular Army. Extensive and thorough tests have been conducted during the past several months of various sorts of canvas leggings by the Infantry Board at Fort Benning, Ga., and the fact that all of the War Department branches have sanctioned the canvas type of legging for the dismounted organizations of the Army forecasts its ultimate adoption by the department as standard issue of equipment.

TACTICAL TOPICS
(By E. F. H.)

"Better be damned than mentioned not at all."

This business of obtaining a military education is just one damned thing after another. Having consumed a large meal of scrambled historical examples, it might be supposed that time would be allowed for the mental digestive process to function. It is a far cry from the fall of Jerico to the Armistice and we suspect that a cross section of the military knowledge of the Advanced Class would look something like a Greenwich Village exhibition of futurist art. Into this confused mass of military folk here, Major Huebner has injected a comprehensive course of supply. The first three treatments have resulted in an immune reaction but we hope, ultimately, to learn something of the complicated processes by which Captain Heraty's beding roll will be delivered to him on the field of battle. Meanwhile, if it were not for our Puritanical inhibitions and respect for the law, we would feel sorely tempted to go out into the highways and by-ways and acquire a 5-gallon keg of corn likker to see us through this course.

One of the many features of the Course of Supply which make us unhappy is the amount of homework required. We feel that we have enough out-of-school supply details to attend to without any additions. Anyone visiting the Post Exchange, Commissary and Ice Plant at 4:00 P. M., would be impressed with the vast number of intensely practical supply problems which are being solved daily by the devoted husbands and fathers of the Advanced Class. Personally, this family S. O. S. mission is not to our liking. It lowers our morale for, try as we will, we are unable to conjure up a mental picture of N. Ponaparte or E. Lewis lugging a double-arm full of groceries down the Rue de la Paix or Lumpkin Road as the case may be. Moreover, the look of sympathy which the traffic M. P., on the corner, wears when he opens the door of the one-ton delivery truck, which we use for transportation purposes ,in order to permit us to deposit a sack of spuds, causes us acute distress. To make matters worse, this usually occurs about the time that Ambassador McLean leans back in his gilded chariot and says, "Home, James." All of which puts us in an unfavorable frame of mind for staking out a complicated supply problem when we get home.

On Friday last, Major Ferris broke a long established Acdaemic Department precedent by calling on Captain Cianchini to answer a question. There was no hesitation and the name was correctly pronounced, thus affording the class a practical illustration of what thorough preparedness is able to accomplihs. Cianchini was completely surprised and routed.

Two weeks ago we handed in for publication, in this column, an item commenting favorably upon Captain Overstreet's oration on Robert E. Lee, which was delivered before the Kiwanis Club of Columbus. For some unknown reason the item was suppressed and the distinguished monographer's effort did not receive the publicity which it no doubt deserved.

The Advanced Class acquired a new recruit on January 31. His name is Clifton A. Pritchett, Jr., and he weighs 8½ pounds. Father Pritchett is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Captain Hamblen, the Lord High Chancellor of the Exchequer, achieved a unique record in the last monograph quiz by answering incorrectly all of the questions pertaining to his own monograph.

At the suggestion of Captain Grimmer, the Academic Board has decided to include an electrive course in Botany in the Infantry School curriculum. At the last tactical walk, the Captain mistook a thorn bush for the inevitable china berry tree, which caused him to make a mistake of 180 degres in his magnetic azimuth and resulted in his attacking himself in rear and severing his own lines of communication. Now if some electrical genius will onl yinvent a radia divining rod for the location of co-ordinates on the ground, future classes may be able to determine regimental boundaries without the use of a transit.

Comrades in Arms

It has recently come to our knwledge that our own Major Bissel was a one-time buddie of Tom Mix, the famous screen idol. They served in the same outfit during the Spanish American War and when Mr. Mix withdrew from the service Majo rBissel presented him with a handsome fur lined trunk.

A Hint for Toastmasters

Lincoln As a Modern Doughboy

A brief examination of the Mss. of Captain Murphy's article appearing in this week's News brings to light what may be considered as another interesting historical example. Apparently Lincoln was a real Doughboy. He could fire one more shot (even though it was within the limits of the camp and caused his arrest), he could advance one more step (witness his long walk after discharge), apparently such travel was considered as being "inconnection with Organized Reserve activity" as the officers who have recently come from that duty will agree ;and though he refused "to give one more dollar," (he reported for drill instead), we still maintain he had the Spirit of the Infantry. The matter is refered to Captian King of the Fourth Section for proper consideration.

BARBARA FRIETCHIE

Barbara Freitchie was born in Lancaster, Pa., December 3, 1776, and is said to have poured tea for Washington and his Staff when they visited Frederick in 1791. She was therefore 96 years old when Stonewall Jackson marched through Frederick Sept. 5, 1862. Her sympathies were always strongly with the Union, and she would at times speak sharply to the Confederate soldiers who passed the door of her house on Patrick Street.

Her relatives scolded her for these acts of indiscretion, fearing that harm would come to her. On Sept. 6, it was evident that something had happened to disturb her, but it was not until a month later that she finally told her niece, Mrs. Henshaw, what had actually occurred.

Miss Eleanor D. Abbott, great grandniece of Barbara, says in her pamphlet: "Barbara's account of this incident follows: Hearing the troops were apprachng, she took her silk flag from between the leaves of the family Bible and stepped out on her front porch, thinking they were Union soldiers. Immediately an officer rode up saying, "Granny give me your flag." "You can't have it," she said, and then she noticed the gray uniforms, but she continued waving her flag. He spoke to the men, and they turned, facing her. She thought they meant to fire on her, but instead the officer rode a short distance to Mill alley, returning in a moment with another officer. This officer said to her, "Give me your flag, Granny, and I will stick it in my horse's head." "No, you can't have it," she said. One of the men called out, "Shoot her damned head off." The officer turned angrily upon him, saying, "If you harm a hair of her head I'll shoot yu down like a dog." Then turning to the trembling old lady, he said, "Go on Granny, wave your flag as much as you please."

COMPANY OFFICERS COURSE

Company C

A great need has been felt by some of the members of the 1927-1928 Company Officers Class for a class motto. To try and fill this need the following is respectfully and timidly suggested to a virile class including two Marines. The apologies are due Walt Whitman:

Myself and mine gymnastic ever,
To stand the cold and heat, to take good aim with a gun, to sail a boat, to manage horses, to beget superb children,
To speak readily and clearly, to feel at home among common coldiers,
And to hold our own in terrible positions in field or assembly hall.

Needn't Boast, We Had Them Too

London, Feb. 3.—(A.P.)— * * * The body was born on the gun carriages on which had been mounted the gun which fired Britain's first short in the World War.—(Columbus Ledger.)

General Immel Honored

Brigadier General Ralph M. Immel, adjutant general of Wisconsin, was the recent guest of honor at a dinner given by Captain Joseph W. Bollenbeck, at Fort Benning. Among those present: Lieut. Col. Forest H. Himes, Disconsin National Guard; Lieut. and Mrs. Richard O. Bassett and Lieut. and Mrs. William Donegan.—(Columbus Ledger.)

The most startling event of the past week was the unexpected transfer of Captain Joseph W. Bollenbeck to the fileclosers of Company C. If our company is called on to function as a disciplinary battalion by gosh we can do that too. Sic 'em McGee.

Say, Jack Nichols, you chose a bum monicker for you. Why didn't you call your column Broken Bottles or something like that? When I knew you in '17 round Noo York you wasn't foolin' round with no saw dust. Course there was no T. W.* then neither. That makes a difference sometimes.

We used a map last week. A special map, large and in two parts. It was pasted on the wall. Everybody could see that the roads didn't meet and the contours were fuzzy. We used it in indirect machine gun fire. Oh, it was such a rotten map! If we had been an instructor in sketching we would have given it Satisfactory because we are chicken hearted, but we would have put M. H. K. on it in big letters and a lot of other insulting remarks all over it. Oh it was such a rotten map! Gentlemen, that map was made, half of it the day before New Year's and the other half the day after New Year's. AND GENTLEMEN, THAT MAP I AM TALKING ABOUT WAS MADE BY CAPTAIN BERNARD BUTLER McMAHON!!!!

COMPANY B, COMPANY OFFICERS CLASS

Equitation and fiften-minute talks are keeping the company officers' class on edge. Even Bill Smith, who normally worries over nothing but "but how come it took eight strokes to make that hole" was caught mumbling his speech to himself as he picked his way over the off sideof Maxey Ridge last Monday morning. After hearing Major Lange urge "rehearse, rehearse, rehearse," some of the boys felt like saying "Go ahead bring on the hearse." Every imaginable stunt was tried. Lt. Machle slept on his notes, while Al Rush missed lunch for a final rehearsal.

As the course gets along some of the boys are getting franker—also some of the instructors. Note First Sergt. McGee asking, "Do you want us to give all these jawbone orders even if we know they can't be executed?" McGee started something, for scarcely five minutes later Capt. Wilson put forth some new tactical principles and backed them up 15 to 1. Little did McGee realize that he was putting wrong words into use, for next morning Capt. Dalquist let this one loose, "You have to suit those problems to non-coms and private and not jawbone organizations made up of officers as we have here."

Even Von Gremp slipped a hot one across, during a critique, he said, "I realize now I made a mistake thinking these men were officers." With all this is it to be wondered Capt. Dahlquist said, "Be sure you can solve your problem yourself."

They certainly are getting quite frank about things. No sooner had the students been inspected by Lt. Col. Marshall when at the next appearance the class was notified, "The uniform hereafter will be unionalls." Members of Company C are elated because the Assistant Commandant sent Capt. Stewart a letter complimenting him on the appearance of Company C at the uniform inspection.

In spite of that commendation Lt. Bassett got for telling the truth officers are a bit skeptical about it all. The inside dope on this seems to be that it wasn't an M. P. at all who reported Bassett but the Provost Marshall himself.

Just to show Capts. Cotton and Lancaster of the advanced class that they cannot corner the limelight by spectacular croppers, Lt. Carrington and Mayor Collins of Company C, also bit the dust out on Riviera Trail, they now have Bushe Bend where Joe Bush's mount tried to slide into second with his hind feet. By way of limbering up exercises Lt. Atkinson has started leap-frogging over his horse's neck at hurdles. We'll admit it was some stunt to dismount over the horse's ears and still land on one's feet.

Some of these boys simply can't remember that necking is not a daytime pastime, especially in Major Smith's paddocks.

The class is glad to see Capts. Birk and Cameron and Lts. Farmer and Brogan back on the job after sad experiences with sand mounts. Cameron and Farmer both were incapacitated by "Don't." To the credit of Hadsell and Cameron, it must be said that their croppers on that drag hunt made the score two all for Companies A and B.

We attended the farewell dinner of the National Guard field officers Wednesday night and enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant evening. The songs that class sang were well worth the price of admission. New York, Oregon and Wisconsin were well represented. General Immel of Wisconsin gave a splendid talk.

Capt. McClure "let the cat out of the bag" when he put out that whereas thirty-five of Company "B" asked to be assigned to the advanced riding platoon nly ten out of Company C asked for the advanced platoon and about thirty-five for the beginners class. "The trouble is they saw that Life O'Riley picture," he says. The report is that so far as Capt. McGee and Morrow are concerned, they would just as soon draw a bye on equitation.

Some of the boys are getting so hot over this machine gun work under Capts. Dahlquist, Ambrose and Collins cousins that they literally are burning up. One of these is Capt. O'Daniel who got so hot that the problem he was holding went up in smoke in his hands. This has caused a few to assume a "High Hat" attitude, among them "Soulay," "Miklay" and "Smythe" who argues that his name is not Smith.

(A. J. Nichols)

We met Bob Bacon, the Assistant the Judge-Advocate General of Fort Benning, the other day in the "foyer" of the Officers Club and Bob said some very unpleasant things about our column. We don't know why these things were said unless we failed to mention Bob's name or because we happen to owe Bob two dollars. With this paragraph, one of these objections have been removed and we hope to see Bob become a little more friendly. However, we cannot hold out much promise for the two dollars.

We went to the Hayes-Brown wedding last week. The bride was beautiful, the groom was nervous and all-in-all it was such a swell affair we had to use puffed rice. We went home too early to witness the second ceremony which took place at midnight. Our best wishes to all four of the happy ones. Leap year has made a very promising start at the Infantry School.

The Sojourners are to have a big night on the 21st of February. The presiding officers of the organization are exceedingly anxious for a large turnout. In various capacities, we attended more meetings last year than some o fthe regular members, although we are not a Sojourner. This statement should mean something to those members who have been delinquent in attendance. We are helping arrange the ntrtainment programme for the 21st and all Sojourners should attend as a measure of self-defense and in order to safeguard their personal interests.

There is a new baby boy in our neighborhood. C. A. Junior having arrived at the home of Captain and Mrs. Pritchett on the last day of January. Ours is a good neighborhood and, during our short stay in Block 20, there have been four babies added to the population of Fort Benning from this popular residential section.

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL

Friday, February third, Katherine Knight celebrated her fourth birthday by having a party at kindergarten. The table was most attractive, the Valentine idea being used. There were red costume crackers, toys and Valentines for each child, chocolates and goodies and best of all, each guest had an individual cake, with a tiny candle which was burning when they marched in to their places. Every one had a wonderful time and we think it was lovely of Katherine to celebrate her birthday in this way.

Friday afternoon at the movies we had a surprise. Russell Wall played some selections on his saxaphone and he did it splendidly. We were proud of him.

Hdqrs. Battery and Combat Train

The old Combat Basketeers are out in great style, with another championship and cup in sight. Fortunately, we have the same team as last year, and plenty of new material on hand. The old timers from last year are Douglas, Derrick, LaPine, Reed and McCloud, and among the new men that show promise, are: Pike, Jones, Foster, Hirsler and Baker. So it looks like plenty of action in the coming battery series.

Well, Waterhead Roberson has been promoted to the rnak of Private First Class for sleeping with the dogs while Gadget and the rest of the family were over the hill.

There is lots of competition in this organization since Staff Sergeant McCallum returned to the barnyard. Sergeants Reed and LaPine are still in the race, and Sergeant Dood was going good until the wind blew his hat out of the ring.

They tell me that a lot of the Corporals and Privates First Class have been bucking quite a bit lately. Looks like the axe is going to fall.

Bolton and Taylor are among the one stripers now. Keep up the good work, boys.

Among our latest shipment of recruits, we were very fortunate in obtaining Antonio Catalanotte, World War veteran, having served in the 82nd All American Division, and after receiving his excellent discharge, he was for about eight years very successful in the fruit business at Tampa, Florida. But Tony being popular with the ladies, finally found himself broke and out in the street. So coming back to Uncle Sam, he has started to be a carpenter. If you don't believe it, just take a look at the airplane hangar between "B" and "C" Batteries tents.

—M. C.

Battery "A"

Private Thompson left last week for Fort Sill, Okla., to attend the communication school there. We all wish him the evry best of success in his training.

Private Capps left this week on a 10-day furlough for his home in Carolina.

Private 1cl. Patrick has been appointed Corporal this month. We are all glad to see him get the promotion and wish him the very best of success in the future.

Private 1cl. Chandler will be discharged during this month per E. T. S. Well "Chick", we want you to stay with us for another period of (3).

Sergeant McCann has been turned to duty, from sick in quarters. We are all glad to see you doing duty Mc.

Boy, she sure can swing a wicked slipper. If doubtful, ask ECB, he knows. I would have known but it happened to hit where I had once been.

—A. G. S.

Battery "B"

Gunners' examination has just ended with 100 per cent. qualification for men of the Battery.

We regret to announce that Sergeant Antley has decided to try civilian life for awhile before re-enlisting. We all join in wishing for him a prosperous future.

Corporal Welter, we hear, has arrnaged to pay his transportation to and from Columbus by the month now. Maybe there is a young lady in the affair.

Private Tucker has just left on a sixty-day furlough. Preparations have already been made to give hi ma sleigh ride on the night of his return.

Owing to the rainy weather, the Battery Commander has decided that we will not take the usual weekly road march scheduled for today. Corporal Davis has expressed his thanks already for the rain.

We are all endeavoring to hold our place as the best Battery in the best Battalion in the best Army in the world.

—J. R. M.

Battery "C"

Drivers and cannoneers arrived at stables at 7:20 A. M., harnessing and hitching was completed in approximately thirty-five miuntes.

Battery left Park at 8:01 A. M. following Old Trail, Davis Hill, Brown Ridge, BM 303, BM 398, Frey Ridge, Roswell Ridge, Cusseta Road, to Harmony Church.

The B. C. Detail under Sergeant Hall, who preceded the Battery and marked the route, repaired bridges over two branches of Heriot Creek. The crossing only required about fifteen minutes. The second bridge was barely wide enough to take a carriage.

The leading section in charge of Sergeant Gannon, broke about eighteen inches of fthe floor boards, making it more difficult for the remainder of the Battery to cross.

Clark—mule skinner of the Rolling Kitchen—broke a pole which he replaced and had the kitchen at Harmony Church when the Battery arrived.

Camp was made at Harmony Church, tents pitched and equipment inspected. Equipment in excellent condition.

Lunch was served and, as usual, Sergeant Grider had a real feed, and but for the presence of Captain Busch the Battery would probably short one 1st Lieutentant. At any rate a certain Lieutenant enjoyed his lunch—to judge from the quantities consumed.

After lunch and stables the Battery prepared to move. The Section Section, under Sergeant Martin, completed striking tents, harnessing and hitching in twenty-four minutes. The other Sections were not far behind being ready to move in twenty-seven minutes.

The Battery moved from the camping place, Harmony Church, via First Division Road to the Post, arriving in Park at 4:48 P. M.

Clark had some more bad luck. A mule fell down under the pole and got on the other side. The harness had to be cut to get him out. Clark said he know that mule belonged on the other side after he went under the pole and changed.

Actual marching time for march, 4 hours and 20 minutes.

Distance marched: 16.8 miles.

Average rate of speed: 3 6-7 miles per hour approximately.

Our young friend from Phenix City, Mr. P. C. Davis, has just completed his tour of guard duty. We hear from various sources that P. C. is strictly military while walking Post. While walking post in his best military manner he was accosted by the Officer of the Day who asked him to say his General Orders. P. C. came to attention and started by saying, "Duties of No. 1 in service of the piece. The Officer of the Day, no doubt started asked him what he was doing. We have no record of his reply but suppose he was ready with the duties of "No. 2." It seems that P. C. has been overworking in his efforts to qualify as a 2nd class gunner. He has forgot everything else, except meal time, and perhaps he will forget that later and give the Mess Sergeant a chance to catch up with his reserve.

Pfc. Crownover has returned from a 30-day furlough spent at his home in Tennessee.

The Battery is progressing rapidly through the 2nd class gunners instruction and examination. The B. C. Detail continues to hold the highest percentage, closely followed by the remaining sections.

Corporal Johnson has a new job as recruit instructor. Tell it to them Corporal.

Oh! yes, some one wants to know who lost a saddle blanket last Saturday. Further information can be secured from Sergeant Workman.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN in 1858

A photograph of Mr. Lincoln taken at the time of his political campaign for U. S. Senator in 1858. (From photograph loaned by the author.)

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, DOUGHBOY

By Capt. James P. Murphy, Inf.

Being an account of Captain Abraham Lincoln's service in the Fourth Illinois Volunteer Infantry, during the Black Hawk Indian War, 1832.

At the outbreak of the Black Hawk War, early in 1832, Abraham Lincoln's employer, Denton Offut, having failed in business, closed his small store in the frontier village of New Salem, Illinois, and departed for parts unknown. Lincoln was out of a job.

The question with him was, whether to remain at New Salem, picking up such jobs as he could find to do or to seek "fields afresh and pastures new," when a messenger on a day in April rode into New Salem and posted and scattered about the stores,a proclamation from the Governor of Illinois calling upon the militia of this section of the state to rendezvous at Beardstown on April 22nd to put down the uprising of the tribe of Sacs Indians under Chief Black Hawk. This was a turning point in Lincoln's life and though he did not realize it, at the time, his subsequent political career was shaped that day.

Previous to this time, Lincoln had become a member of the militia and had been elected captain of the New Salem company, which had been accustomed to meet for drill twice a year—every able-bodied male inhabitant of legal age, under the laws of the state, being regarded as a member and required to so meet for drill, under penalty of a fine of one dollar. Dollars being scarce articles in those days, it is needless to say there were no "slackers." Upon reading this proclamation, Lincoln immediately seized paper and his quill pen and, making an appropriate heading, "that the undersigned agree to volunteer, etc." at the top of the sheet, signed the same and invited others to join him in raising a company. It seems that one James O. Kirkpatrick, who was the owner of a sawmill a few miles up the river from New Salem, was at the same time busy along the same line. Learning that there were two lists of signers, a meeting of all volunteers at Richland, a few miles south of New Salem, was arranged. Here these volunteers met, a temporary muster roll was made out and officers tentatively elected. Kirkpatrick was ambitious to be captain but the Clary's Grove boys, a hardy group of clannish Hibernian pioneers, took control of the election and determined to choose as their company commander their friend and idol, Abe Lincoln. Quietly circulating among the crowd, they spread their propaganda until assured of a clear majority in Abe's favor, and when the time came for election of Captain, it was suggested and agreed that Kirkpatrick and Lincoln should step out to the front, and all those favoring Kirkpatrick for Captain, should fall in behind him and those favoring Lincoln should line up behind him. This was done and Lincoln's line was twice as long as Kirkpatrick's. Lincoln afterwards said that never in his life had he desired anything so much as he then desired to beat Kirkpatrick for captain. Kirkpatrick, after his defeat for captain, dropped out of the company.

On being elected captain, Lincoln replied to a brief response of modest and thankful acceptance. It was the first official trust ever turned over to his keeping, and he prized it and the distinction it gave him more than any which in after years fell to his lot. His company savored strongly of the Clary's Grove order, and though daring enough in the presence of danger, were difficult to bring down to the inflexibilities of military discipline. Each one seemed perfectly able and willing to care for himself, and while the captain's authority was respectfully observed, yet, they were none the less a crowd of generous ruffians."

These men, after agreeing upon the things necessary to take along, parted to meet at Beardstown, where the election of Lincoln as captain was officially confirmed on the 21st day of April, 1832. It is inteersting to note that Jack Armstrong, with whom Lincoln had wrestled and thrown, was Lincoln's first sergeant in this company. Becoming a part of the Fourth Regiment of Volunteers in General Whiteside's brigade, they went from Beardstown to Rock Island, thence up the Rock River to a point near Rockford and thence south to Ottawa where they remained until mustered out of the service on May 27th, 1932.

Lincoln's knowledge of drill and tactics was limited and on one occasion, being compelled to pass through a narrow gate with his company and being unable t othink of the proper command, halted the company and said, "This company will disband and immediately fall in again inside this gate." At another time Lincoln violated an order of his superior officer by firing a gun within 50 yards of camp, and was arrested and deprived of his sword for a day. Again one of his men got into the officers' quarters and helped himself to a quantity of liquors which he distributed among his friends. The next morning Lincoln had but a handful of men sober enough to march and the balance were left to come on after becoming sober. Lincoln knew nothing about their taking the liquor but was arrested and required to wear a wooden sword for two days.

During this war the nearest Lincoln got to any battle was at Kellog's Springs on June 25th, at which place he arrived shortly after the skirmish and helped to bury the five men who had been killed and scalped by the Indians.

The term of enlistment of Lincoln's company had now expired and the mapority, tiring of the service, the novelty of which had worn off, and longing for the comforts of home, refused to either re-enlist or render further service. They turned their faces homeward, each with his appetite for military glory well satisfied. But the war was not over, and the mighty Black Hawk was still east of the Mississippi. A few remained and re-enlisted. Among them was Lincoln who entered the company of Elijah Lles as a dignified private on May 27th. This enlistment was for twenty days and on June 16th, the company was mustered out. On the same day Lincoln re-enlisted in Captain Earley's company and was mustered out at Whitewater, Wisconsin, on July 10th, 1832. On the preceding night, Lincoln's horse, a private mount, had been stolen and he was obliged to walk from there to Peoria, Illinois. At Peoria, Lincoln and a companion bought a canoe and paddled down the Illinois River to Havana, where they sold the canoe and walked across the country to New Salem.

It has pleased some of Mr. Lincoln's biographers to attribute his re-enlistments to pure patriotism on his part and a conscientious desire to serve his country. From the standpoint of sentiment that is a comfortable view to take of it; but I have strong reason to believe that Mr. Lincoln never entertained such serious notions of the campaign. In fact, my information comes from the best authority, though indirectly through authentic sources, to be had in the matter—the soldier himself. Lincoln had no home; he had cut loose from his parents; he left behind him no anxious wide and children; and no chair before a warm fireside remained vacant for him, and finally, he was out of a job and could do nothing better than re-enlist again.

However much in later years he may have pretended to ridicule the disasters of the Black Hawk War, or the part he took in it, yet he was proud of it after all. When Congress, along in the fifties, granted him a lang warrant for his service he was greatly pleased. He located on tracts in Iowa and Illinois and died owning land under this warrant.

The return of the Black Hawk warriors to New Salem occurred in the month of August, but a short time before the general election. A new Legislature was to be chosen, and as Lincoln had declared to his comrades in the service he would, and in obedience to the effusive declaration of principles which he had issued over his signature in March, before he went to war, he presented himself to the people of his newly adopted county as a candidate for the Legislature. His political career, begun under these circumstances, was to be more varied than he realized. Though his military career was brief, "he also served." His comrades remained loyal to him and their belief in his integrity and honesty of purpose was later justified.

FIRST FIFTEEN MINUTE TALK

(Circa 326 B. C.)

While quarter hour word barrages blast the shock troops from shut eye positions along the Upatoi, it may be mentioned that Demosthenes, of ancient Greece, started this anti-soporific gas attack. He, as we all remember, was the cagey birdie who gargled little pebbles by the blue Aegean's shore to improve his presentation. We must not confuse him with his compatriot, Diogenes, who boasted a bath tub and searched the streets of Athens looking fr an honest man. For Demosthenes knew his Greeks too well to indulge in such flights of fancy.

If addition may be trusted, it was two thousand, two hundred and fifty-four years ago, at ten of a Thursday evening, that the great Grecian spell binder, with a mixed gathering of fellow Athenians, sat in a more or less friendly game of bridge. Mrs. Demosthenes, his lovely better half, being hostess, circulated from table to table avidly absorbing the social dirt so freely flung about those so unfortunate as to be absent. Peering over her guests' shoulders she made timely wise cracks upon the playing of each hand. This contributed immensely to the enjoyment of the evening.

Toward the ceiling of the classic hall lazily drifted tenuous wisps of smoke, for in those days the Athenian social whirl was hot stuff. A tinkle of ice in judiciously filled glasses made a pleasant convivial noise. And as is often the case when the ladies are present, all was peaceful and placid, like the hour before dawn on the Western Front.

About the end of the third chukker, Demosthenes, who had held hands like feet all evening, passed, not out, but the bid for the ninth consecutive time. His partner, an ample dowager of considerable perimeter, shot an intensely sour look from beneath the mascara. Then with a catty chuckle she gurgled girlishly, "Who was that pretty blonde I saw you come out of the Delphic Oracle with last night, Mr. Demosthenes?"

Demosthenes, startled, glanced up swiftly. The wifely eye was fixed upon him in accusation. He coughed to throttle his adam's apple down to a normal cyclic rate. Only the rigorous military discipline of his youth kept him from bending a candle stick over the coiffure of the stylish stout who had so scattered the frijoles. His face became red as a Biglerville beet.

"Madame," he stuttered, "I don't know any blondes, and besides it was the Parthenon, not the Delphic."

So speaking, he delivered a vicious kick under the table toward the lady's well upholstered shin. Unfortunately, he intercepted the shapely shank of the other fair member of the foursome, who, thinking it a signal nearly jumped out of her rompers and bid three hearts. Her partner groaned loudly and threw a grand slam in spades out the window.

At this point Mrs. Demosthenes took a hand in the game. Guests at other tables scenting carnage tossed their cards away and gathered round. A hush, pregnant with lethal possibilities, descended. Bending gracefully over her husband's chair, one fist clenched in an unconscious gesture, Mrs. Demosthenes broke the silence.

"What's this about you and a blonde, darling?" she purred in tigerish tones.

With eyes glazed, Demosthenes rose abruptly to deliver the most striking string of alibis of his whole long and brilliant oratorical career. History records it as the first fifteen-minute talk. And was it good! It had t be!

What happened next, is as Mr. Kipling would say, "Another story." But it is interesting to note, in passing, that Demosthenes lived to take poison some years later.

THREE ARTS LEAGUE WILL OFFER SPLENDID PRODUCTION IN COLUMBUS TUESDAY NIGHT

On next Tuesday evening, Feb. 14th, at the High School auditorium in Columbus, the Three Arts League will present the third of the series of its attractions for the season, "Mr. Pim Passes By." So successful were the first two performances that the most skeptical and critical of ticket holders were awaiting the next of the series with eagerness. The Three Arts League has established for itself an enviable name in the City of Columbus and the merits of the coming number are conceded by the public in advance.

This production will be given by the New York Theater Guild which has gained a nation-wide reputation as producers of wholesome and worthwhile entertainments. The Guild was organized in 1919, an outgrowth of the famous Washington Square Players. The company which will appear in Columbus next Tuesday will be headed by Florence Eldridge and George Gaul, both well known players who have been with this organization for some time and are well known in theatrical circles in New York.

The play which they will produce Tuesday—"Mr. Pim Passes By"—is described "as a comedy light as thistledown and pure fun all the way through. It offers no strain on the mind." Throughout the play runs a delightful love story played by a pair of charming youngsters.

The Three Arts League is very anxious to have a large audience of Fort Benning lovers of wholesome dramatics and it believes that this production will especially appeal to members of The Infantry School Dramatic Club.

Seats may be reserved at the Humes Music Company today, Friday, Feb. 10th, by the kuarantors and season ticket holders. On Saturday, Feb. 11th, and on next Monday and Tuesday, single seats will be available for Fort Benning people who desire to see this splendid production.

THE MODEST OFFICER

The officer arrived before the Heavenly gates and found things were as fine aloft as he had been led to believe. One of the Receiving Angels took him in charge and asked if there was any thing in particular he wanted.

"Stand at ease," said the officer, "I want choir music and it behooves you to bring me 10,000 soprano singers!"

"An unusual request," commented the Angel, "but you shall have them—anything else?"

"Just one other thing. I haven't very much to say at this time, also bring me 10,000 tenors. That's all for the present."

"Well, 'er, how about the bassos?" inquired the Angel.

"Have the sopranos and the tenors gather around me at a double time and I will sing bass," ordered the modest officer. —Anonymous.
