Mission of the Officer Candidate Program of the United States Army Infantry School

"To develop selected personnel to be Second Lieutenants of the Army of the United States who will be capable of performing duties appropriate to their grade in Infantry units, and who, with a minimum of additional branch training, will be prepared to serve as Second Lieutenants of other branches designated by the Department of the Army. The secondary mission is to serve as a basis for mobilization as the needs of the service require."

The Officer Candidate Course at the United States Army Infantry School is a period of transition, training, and leadership development for selected enlisted men and warrant officers who have demonstrated leadership potential, which prepares them to assume the increased responsibilities of a commissioned officer.

ACADEMICS

The attaining of professional knowledge enables the officer candidate to successfully assume the duties of a second lieutenant upon graduation. Thus, one of the principle duties of each candidate is to study, understand and retain the instruction presented. Study time is allotted each day in the evenings. During this time the officer candidate prepares for the following day's classes.

Class time comprises over seventy-five percent of the officer candidates' daily schedule, in which fundamentals, theories, and controlled problems are analyzed and learned. Later phases of instruction enable the Officer Candidate to demonstrate his acquired knowledge through practical exercise.

OFFICER CANDIDATE PRAYER

ALMIGHTY GOD, WE WHO WILL SOON BECOME LEADERS OF MEN, COME TO YOU FOR GUIDANCE IN THIS AWESOME RESPONSIBILITY.

WE PRAY FOR HUMILITY, O LORD, THAT ANY EXISTING SELFISHNESS, ARROGANCE, AND VANITY MAY BE REMOVED FROM OUR LIVES.

GRANT US PATIENCE IN DEALING WITH THE MISTAKES OF OUR FELLOW MAN. LET US NEVER FORGET THAT NO MAN IS PERFECT, BUT THAT PERFECTION FOR FRAGILE HUMANS IS TRYING EACH DAY TO BE BETTER THAN THE DAY BEFORE.

KEEP EVER BEFORE US OUR GOAL, WHICH IS NOT TO PERPETRATE WAR BUT TO SAFEGUARD YOUR GREATEST GIFT TO MAN — FREEDOM.

LET US NEVER FORGET OUR DUTY TO THE MEN WHOM WE WILL LEAD. MAY WE INSTILL IN THEM THE QUALITIES OF HONOR, INTEGRITY, AND DUTY.

REMIND US THAT WISDOM IS NOT GAINED IN AN HOUR, A DAY, OR A YEAR BUT THAT IT IS A PROCESS THAT CONTINUES ALL THE DAYS OF OUR LIVES.

GIVE US COURAGE, O LORD, IN THE FACE OF DANGER. KEEP US PURE IN HEART, CLEAN IN MIND, AND STRONG OF PURPOSE.

MAY YOU ALWAYS BE NEAR, TO GUIDE US IN OUR DECISIONS, COMFORT US IN OUR FAILURES, AND KEEP US HUMBLE IN OUR SUCCESSSES.

WE ASK YOUR DIVINE BLESSINGS AS WE CONTINUE TO PREPARE FOR THE GREAT HONOR OF SERVING OUR COUNTRY.

WALK CLOSE TO US ALWAYS, OUR FATHER, THAT WE MAY NOT FAIL. AMEN

THE BEGINNING . . .

It doesn't take the new officer candidate very long to become familiarized with the Officer Candidate Program. The first day is regarded by many as "The Longest Day". As part of the transition, your insignias are removed. You are no longer CWO, Sergeant, PFC, but Candidate. In that first day you never thought you could be made to remember so much in so short a time, and Senior Candidates insure that you don't forget. From now on you're on the move.

there to assist us in everything with expertise ...

PHYSICAL COMBAT TRAINING

Stamina, endurance, aggressiveness are but a few of the qualities developed through the Physical Combat Training Program. Many hours are spent in the sawdust pit learning the finer points of hand to hand combat. On the bayonet field, practical exercise is performed with pugil sticks. The physical strength of one individual over another is not essential, but rather the finess of executing correct offensive and defensive movements. The final graded test for endurance is the Physical Combat Proficiency Test. The physical training received by the officer candidate not only strengthens him physically, but also strengthens him mentally to better enable him to cope with the rigors of combat.

LEADERSHIP REACTION COURSE

... is a test of leadership potential and ingenuity. The Course is designed to require the Officer Candidate to exercise leadership traits in solving situational problems, thereby providing him and the instructor with a basis for identifying and improving his personality weaknesses.

Each Candidate is given the opportunity to be the leader of his team. He must analyze the situation, formulate plans, and then direct the accomplishment of his mission within a specified time.

The course involves land and water situations and there are times when the "most obvious ways" are "dampened . . ."

WEAPONS

As in any profession, the skilled worker has certain "tools of his trade". For the Infantryman the tools are many weapons which vary from small caliber to the larger sophisticated types. During weapons training the officer candidate learns not only how to fire, but the mechanical characteristics and capabilities of individual weapons as well.

Proficiency is the key to handling all weapons organic to Infantry units. As a potential platoon leader, the officer candidate must learn to operate and be able to teach his men the steps necessary to maintain proficiency. Without such knowledge the tools of combat are useless.

EXAMINATIONS

As in all fields of education, retention of knowledge is measured through examination. Exams are scheduled throughout the entire course with several unannounced quizzes. This is where daily study and class participation is necessary. The entire course comprises a 1,000 point grading system of which a student must attain a 700 point average.

Just as other fields of endeavor are becoming more and more demanding academically, so too is the Infantry Officer Candidate Program. With modern electronic equipment, examinations are graded instantaneously. The student finds himself competing against his classmates for both academic and leadership honors. No longer is the potential officer solely measured by leadership ability, but rather the balance of leadership and academics. A good leader must be able to think as well as lead.

MAINTENANCE

Peer under a hood, check water, battery, fan belt, fluid levels . . . these are steps learned in proper maintenance. As a platoon leader you may be responsible for the equipment.

Where to look, what to check, and how to inspect equipment is all taught in class. The students are then given vehicles to inspect for areas that do not measure up to standard, and record deficiencies noted.

COMMUNICATIONS

The backbone of the Infantry is communications. Essential to all operations is control, and without communication, control is impossible. Whether it be voice commands shouted from one position to another, a squad leader signalling his men, or transmission from the Company Commander to the platoon leader, communications is the connecting factor.

The Officer Candidate learns to operate many varied types of radio equipment both in the classroom and the field. These radios vary from the hand and shoulder carried radios to the larger vehicular mounted radios.

TACTICS

The primary mission of the Infantry Officer Candidate Course is to produce qualified Lieutenants of Infantry. To attain this goal over fifty percent of the Officer Candidate Program is devoted to combined arms tactics.

The basic rudiments of leadership from the smallest unit tactics, the rifle squad, to the larger company and Infantry Team Tactics, along with

"School Solutions" are thoroughly discussed in classroom instruction followed by long hours of practical field exercise. The officer candidate is placed in tactical situations and given the opportunity to apply his knowledge of tactics. He soon learns that without a sound knowledge of Infantry tactics and proper utilization of supporting elements, the mission cannot be accomplished without the needless loss of lives and material.

WELDON'S WARRIORS

As individuals we arrived at beloved Building 2833 on the 8th and 9th of April, but the second platoon wasn't born until Tuesday, the 11th. We met each other out on the sidewalk and met Lieutenant Weldon in the latrine. That was the first of many meetings with the chief that we held in the latrine until we decided it was too crowded. The meetings were then shifted to the isle in the bay, a smaller but more convenient clubhouse. We took an immediate liking to Lieutenant Weldon and soon all of us were yelling "what?" and trying to imitate the famous Arkansas accent. Under the confused leadership of our first Platoon Leader, OC Gyuricza, we were a motley crew with baggy fatigues that somehow wrinkled and untucked themselves before we got to reveille. "Stracness" hid like the "Ghost of Christmas to come in the elusive future."

With visions of post passes dancing in our heads, we cleaned and polished for the IG in our 4th week. Much to our dismay, we not only didn't clean very well, but OC Garrison left his footlocker open for the inspection.

In our 9th week we tackled Ranger bivouac with lots of confidence, two canteens of water, and what felt like a ton of equipment. We followed OC Castleton over nearly every hill in Stuart County, got thirsty and tired, were bitten by every kind of insect known, and finally emerged from the jungles surprisingly well.

Soon after we passed the Ranger Test we turned "black" and celebrated the occasion with our Intermediate party! There we watched OC Gyuricza make fun of Lieutenant Weldon, and many officially ended 14 weeks without girls by taking blind dates. OC Carter and OC Fink celebrated further by buying cars the next day.

Being "black" brought weekend passes, more free time and more privileges. It was about this time that we started our projects, and OC Grahn, OC Cooper, and OC Frank wired Lieutenant Weldon's office to furnish the Chief with his panel of switches.

We survived mortar training thanks only to the 11C's and Sergeant Black; then forged ahead to the armor problem in which Big Fox, OC Cooper, OC Feagin, OC Dudley and OC Gyuricza demonstrated their ability to get mixed up trying to follow each other, and OC French demonstrated his ability to fall asleep in a moving tank. As we approached the 18th week, activities increased until the week before our Senior Status open house when the whole company scurried and polished once again, this time to show our pride in OCS.

A "You Are There" picture would show OC Ellison running around trying to figure out what was happening; OC Goldstone desperately trying to straighten out the confusion; OC's Garrison and Gooch trying to finish the name tags in time. OC Clifford is screaming for a carton for the bulletin board; OC's Goodspeed, Carter, Cooper and Big Fox are counting the days until their girls arrive; OC Dotters is taking a candid picture of OC Dolan sleeping, while OC Drewry scurries to get some shaving cream. OC Embry is eyeballing the laundry list; and OC DeMailo is practicing salutes in front of the mirror. OC Ellsworth is practicing to be a Tac by dropping OC Eshleman and OC Cronin; OC Deese is polishing his boots and OC Clapp is figuring out our averages. OC Clapp is trying to figure out our averages! OC Dunham is trying to figure out why he was on the chain of command and OC West is wondering how he got assigned to such a nutty platoon.

Downstairs, OC Castille is typing his paperwork; OC's Grahn and Frank are arguing over where to put the flood lights over the fountain. OC's Davidson and Ferguson are frantically trying to finish their paper fireplace in time; and OC Hall is hiding in the supply room. OC Dial is still giving his book report. Somehow we got everything done in time and everyone apparently was impressed—in fact, WE were impressed so it must have been good.

Saturday night we had our Senior Status Formal which must have been a success because everyone was bored silly. Dancing with that band was something like marching with OC Feagin calling cadence. Of course OC Dial and Ernie didn't seem to mind (in fact they didn't seem to dance) and OC Garrison was so busy thanking OC Gooch for the date that he didn't notice. OC's Drewry, Feagin, and Casey, in the band "The Low-Crawlers," played during the hired band's break, and were doing quite well until someone noticed that we were starting to enjoy ourselves and then made them stop.

We were awarded the weekend off and returned Sunday night to start recovering from the shock of turning "Blue." We thought our only problem was to learn to return salutes, but OCS started Monday morning!! Complete disaster struck when Lieutenant Weldon proved the pen was mightier than the blue helmet liner, by neatly filling out form FB 510 (the infamous Demerit Slip) for each of us; thus causing many weekend Romeos to play welcome to the barracks their first senior weekend.

THE PRO'S

A description of our first days at OCS might well have come from Dickens: "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times." To be sure, it was the best of times; we felt a certain pride at being accepted to OCS. It was also the worst of times! The scourge of Junior Candidates, "The Blues", soon set upon us.

A great many of our initial fears were dispelled when we first met our tactical officer, Lt. James Sargent. Our conception of the tactical officer was brought down into proportion by his avowed liking of fast cars, fine wine, and finer women. However, we never took advantage of his steady disposition. His quick wit and wry tongue were equal, if not superior, to the harassment meted out by the other tactical officers.

Our platoon seemed to gel almost immediately. Our first concern was with an IG three weeks away. In preparing for this, cooperation, teamwork and esprit de corps were developed. The days slipped by rapidly and the lighter side of OCS became apparent.

"Buff-Knuckles" vs. the "Do-Gooders" (They're a strange breed!); awarded to OC "Rain Check", Inman the Noble Price Prize—three bamboo splints and a rubber band; to OC Hesli a set of pass keys to the Martinique and a big brass door knocker; to OC Hansen the Core Award; for eloquence and verbosity—Furthermore, awarded to C "Surf" Kiriwood, Metrecal Award to OC's Higgins and Henry. urthermore, awarded to C "Surf" Kiriwood, the Better Business Bureau's plaque for economic contribution to Columbus; the Waverly Wafers Award to Jones, Delta; the coveted Jean Paul Satre prize to OC "Foggy" Hawthorne for his unusual awareness, consciousness, and insight; and the Skull and Bones tap given to OC's Kiefer, Hudgens, Hartsfield, Gurganus, and Kleiner for cohesion and collective conscience.

The twelfth week party was long anticipated and soon forgotten. The promise of privileges hung heavy. Onward we struggled, apprehensive, yet cocky, candidates, not to be denied that gold bar. This interim period of the twelfth to the eighteenth week found us deep in tactics. "What are you gonna do now, Platoon Leader?" "Lain, go out on point security, you know what to do!" "Muh glasses, muh glasses!"

Our eighteenth week formal came and with it more awards. To OC Hesli, for his date, the Culpepper-Waverly Scroll with the inscription, "Shades of the Waverly"; the Bob Dylan Plaque to OC's Johnson (Delta-type), and Key, for musical services in resonance; to OC and Mrs. Buster Hamann the Mayo Cliñic Propagation Award and a twenty year supply of cigars; the Most Attractive and Talented Female Trophy to OC's Hayes and Jones, Milton, for their heart-wrenching rendition of "Baby Love"; for valuable assistance and unselfish dedication to the platoon — OC's Harper, Hughes, and Horton; the Harold H. School Scroll awarded to OC Hendrickson; the Avery Special Award established by the Turtle Wax Corporation for the most outstanding floor—OC Johnson, C. and OC "Lonely Bull" Hernandez—"Take one more step and I'll shoot"; the A.M.A. Maalox Award to OC Leary for consumption, and the D. Bagg Trophy for discretion on the hunt. To OC Lain was awarded the Gentleman's Quarterly and Hart, Schafner, and Marx Award for personal appearance and superb tailoring. Finally, the Most Dubiously Distinct Award, the much coveted Anchor-Hocking Porcelain Plaque was given to OC Housley for a daringly creative display of their wares — top shelf wall locker — right!

The bar is in sight, long sought through toil and sweat. We have been put to a most rigorous test, as a platoon and as Infantry Platoon Leaders. We have passed that test and our baptism as combat platoon leaders is in the near future. We are prepared to serve anywhere in the world with the same ability and determination we have displayed here in OCS. We can be rightly proud of our accomplishment and a job well done!

LUDWIG'S FIFTH

"You'll all go Airborne . . . Couth Officer . . . Everyone light up except the Fifth . . . If you want to smoke that badly, get in the 'dying cockroach' and light up . . . Smile, Piccirillo . . . Pruette really likes those peanuts . . . Some letters you get, Peppard . . ."

2Lt. Abla, with a Texas flag in the Tac office, brought the "Texas Fifth" into the program, and for a spirited five weeks led us to some significant "firsts" in the company. We were the first to run recon patrols down Raiders Creek and the first to low-crawl the entirety of Dog Field, but our star end on the first football team in the company left us to become the aide to General Timothy.

"But we wanted a Dago, Sir . . . I vant Owen . . . Schmidt! Kommen Sie hier . . . No, you can't have the same privileges the rest of the company has . . ."

2Lt. Henry L. Vogel became our second and 1/2 Tac just in time to get us into Ranger week. "Klinck," as he was affectionately known, got us straightened out eventually, but Der Deutscher's standards and ours were always at odds, especially when it came time to leave on our 24 hour weekends.

"Ludwig's Fifth" had its personalities, too many to fully credit, but a sampling will serve to bring nostalgia for the "New Program" as we knew it. "Cigars, cigarettes, Piccirillos", or "Should a gentleman offer a lady a Piccirillo?" Back-Stabbing Bob was awarded the Dennis Rogers and Rocky Bost awards for his outstanding contributions to the platoon. Sacurato got the "Bell Telephone" award for his financial aid to that institution, while Obey buffed and the "Sundowners" prevailed nightly in the latrine. Nichols and Primeau won the "Loving Couple" award with Pe Leate and Pic close behind. Serafin and Sinayi were lovingly awarded the "Purple Neck" award, and Serio and the Perry brothers got the "Daddies of the Cycle" award, jointly. Scotty received the "Lady Bird" award for beautification, Big John, the "How-to-Blow-Your-Cool" award, Ranger Rieger, the Patrolling Committee's "Mud and Rain Operations" award, and Robbie, the "Wallace Country" award for citizenship. Doug Owens copped the "Esoteric Leader of the Cycle" award for profundity and nihilism, Fred Shultz, prematurely, the Howard Querry award for perseverance, and last, Rassmann, the "Invisible Man" award for fewest absences.

Seniors in name only, the almost "leg" Fifth finished the cycle with the awarding of the "Academics" award for consistency. We might never have made it without the "Permanent Chain of Command", made up of those stalwarts of tact and brevity, Stan Prestwood and Obey.
